Birthday fete is Nov. 9

Oakland's 20th Anniversary Birthday Party is underway! On November 9 the university community is invited to a spectacular extravaganza of cakes, clowns, music, movies, games, prizes, and much celebration.

The university-sponsored event is all fun, and all free. This all-day event will begin with a cake-cutting ceremony at noon in the Crockery.

Performances by the Meadowbrook Estate and many other groups are scheduled throughout the day for the enjoyment of all attending. Hourly drawings for prizes donated to the university will occur between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m., with a special grand prize to be given away at 7 p.m.

Presentations to original 1959 university faculty, staff, and students will commence at 4:30 p.m. A dinner for all at 1959 prices is scheduled for the evening; tickets must be purchased in advance at either the CIPO or Congress office.

The movie, "A Hard Day's Night" by the Beatles will be shown at 7:30 p.m. with a dance climaxing the day at 9 p.m. Two bands will be alternately playing with a rock/disco format throughout the evening.

Wilson Award nominees

The Wilson Awards Committee encourages all students, faculty and staff to submit names of outstanding senior men and women students whom they believe should be considered for the prestigious Marilda R. and Alfred G. Wilson Awards. Nomination forms will be mailed to the various academic departments and will also be available from Patricia Houtz, 101 North Foundation 7-3340. The deadline date for returning the forms is Friday, December 14.

The two senior students selected to receive the awards are judged on their contributions as scholars, leaders and responsible citizens of the institution— noting especially if they have shown an interest in the social problems of our community and our society. The selections must be made from students who were graduated in June, August and December of 1979 or who will complete their graduation requirements by April of 1980.

Globe lecture

C. Walter Hodges, internationally known Shakespearean scholar, theatre historian, and writer and illustrator of award-winning children's books, will give a lecture on the Globe Theatre Nov. 2.

The free slide-lecture program begins at 3 p.m. in the Fireside Lounge of the Oakland Center. A question and answer period will follow.

Hodges is the author of the Globe Restored, Shakespeare's Second Globe, The Missing Monument, and the award-winning Shakespeare's Theatre.

He will speak about what is known about the Globe, the single most important theatre building in the history of the western world, and about its proposed reconstruction in Detroit.

Hodges is a free lance writer and artist whose permanent home is in London, England. He is now in residence at Wayne State University.

The Arbors, a highly successful singing group named after the City of Ann Arbor, will appear in concert at Oakland University Friday, Nov. 2.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. performance in Varner Recital Hall are available at the door at $6 general admission and $4.50 for OU students and senior citizens.

The quartet is well known on the nightclub circuit and for several hit recordings issued in the late 1960s. It is one of the most recorded groups in America in terms of its radio and TV commercials.

The Arbors singles include "A Symphony for Susan" and "Graduation Day." While not identified in the commercials, they are the singing voices for the Schlitz beer ads, the Jolly Green Giant jingles, and the Texaco ads, among others.

Three members of the quartet, identical twins Ed and Fred Farren and Scott Herrick, were members of the University of Michigan Glee Club in the early 1960s. They recruited Herrick's brother Tom to become the fourth member of the quartet.

Arbors perform Nov. 2

The Arbors are noted for presenting a "mellow" concert that will mix barbershop harmony, old ballads, and contemporary works in a listenable, easy style. When they are not touring Chicago serves as their current home base.
