

Board takes SA investment position

The OU Board of Trustees has voted 6-1 to retain stock and investments in firms and corporations doing business with South Africa.

The board will work within the corporate structure and seek the support of other institutions in advancing the Sullivan Principles and effecting positive change in South Africa.

The decision came almost two years from the date the administration first brought a South African investment policy before the Board.

Since that time there have been position papers, open hearings, and the deliberations of a three-member committee of the Board of Trustees named to make a recommendation to the full board.

When those members, Trustees Richard H. Headlee, Alex C. Mair, and Ken Morris, were unable to reach a decision, three minority reports were presented for consideration at the April 16 meeting.

After considerable discussion and defeat of a motion that the university sell all of its shares of stock except for one share in each firm, the board approved a recommendation by Trustee Arthur W. Saltzman.

The Saltzman Recommendations

That the Board of Trustees go on record in support of the Sullivan Principles.

That the secretary to the board notify each corporation in which Oakland University is a shareholder of the adoption of the Sullivan Principles by the university.

That as part of the notification to the corporation, a request be made to the officers of the corporation that they report at the company's annual meeting and to the university the company's efforts in implementing the Sullivan Principles. In addition, the university shall request that such a report be submitted to Oakland on a regular basis.

That the university take appropriate actions to implement the recommendation proposed by Richard Headlee for an education program which includes coordinated efforts with other institutions.

Details of the Headlee recommendations need to be worked out, but they call for a campus information program and even classes dealing with the issue of apartheid and with the manner in which corporations are governed.

In addition, an advisory group perhaps formed from these education sessions would advise the Board of Trustees on issues. When the board felt strongly about an issue, there could be communication with other governing boards in the state to see if a common position could be achieved. Then the boards would vote stock in a block at shareholder meetings.

Voting for the Saltzman motion were Trustees Ruth Adams, Headlee, Marvin L. Katke, Mair, Morris, and Saltzman. Voting against the motion was chairperson David B. Lewis. Trustee David Handleman was forced to leave the campus because of illness and was not present for the discussion and vote.

Sullivan principles

Non-segregation of the races in all eating, comfort, and work facilities.

Equal and fair employment practices for all employees.

Equal pay for all employees doing equal or comparable work for the same period of time.

Initiation of and development of training programs that will prepare, in substantial numbers, blacks and other non-whites for supervisory, administrative, clerical, and technical jobs.

Increasing the number of blacks and other non-whites in management and supervisory positions.

Improving the quality of employees' lives outside the work environment in such areas as housing, transportation, schooling, recreation, and health facilities.

More board actions

In other actions, the board accepted $92,210 in gifts and grants, increased the Area Hall Council fee from $4 to $5.50, and passed a resolution honoring basketball player Helen Shereda. The board approved a revision of the Administrative-Professional continuing contract policies and procedures and authorized the president or his representative to seek court clarification of a sewer contract dispute between Oakland University and Pontiac Township.

Med school clears Senate

The University Senate has approved a recommendation calling for the establishment of a regional, decentralized medical education program at OU.

The April 16 vote of 26 for, 10 against, with one abstention, clears the way for Board of Trustees consideration.

The med school recommendation and supporting principles of implementation were virtually unchanged from the material published in the April 3 issue of the OU News. However, an additional principle was added at the April 16 meeting. It called for a commitment to the highest levels of excellence in teaching and research.

A four-member board committee has been appointed to study the question of medical education at OU and to make a recommendation to the full board.

Members of the committee are Ruth Adams, David Handleman, Marvin L. Katke, and Arthur W. Saltzman.

University officials will meet shortly with the trustee committee for further discussion of the medical school question. It is hoped the matter may be ready for board consideration as early as June.

A medical and health education feasibility study financed by the State Legislature has been drafted and will be submitted to the state following board action. The report concludes that there is a need for specialized physician training in the 12 county OU service area. Those physician needs are identified in the areas of geriatrics and gerontology, family practice, and industrial medicine. The recommendation on whether or not those physicians should or could be trained at OU will be included in the final study report to the State Legislature.

In other actions on April 16 the Senate approved a motion to establish a graduate program leading to a Master of Arts in Sociology. The date of implementation is subject to the availability of requisite resources.

Career program

An "Education Careers Reception," sponsored by the Career Advising and Placement Office in cooperation with the School of Human and Educational Services, will be held May 7 from 2-4:30 p.m. in Lounge #2 of the Oakland Center. The reception gives school district personnel and teacher candidates an opportunity to chat on an informal basis. Teacher candidates are encouraged to attend this reception and ask those questions that will best aid them in planning their job search as well as career planning. Students are encouraged to call Career Advising and Placement at 377-3250 by May 2 to confirm their attendance at this program.

Dance marathon

OU students raised $2,794 in a recent dance marathon. The check was presented April 16 to representatives of the Michigan Heart Fund.

Students danced for 15 hours and three couples won prizes for attracting the most pledges during their dancing. Winning a first prize of $200 were Julie Hall and Robert L. Harris; second place prize of dinner for two at Charlie's Crab went to June Rice and Anthony Sullivan; and third place for Marty Testasecca and Karen Benigni won that couple his and her haircuts.

Rogers, Zielinski win Wilson awards

MarySue Rogers and Michael Zielinski are the recipients of the Matilda R. and Alfred G. Wilson Awards to be presented at the May 31 commencement exercises.

Each winner receives a $500 cash award and a medallion.

The highly covered annual awards are based on scholarship and contributions to the university community.

Rogers is a December, 1979 graduate who majored in public policy and administration and Zielinski completed his work this semester as a pre-med student majoring in biology.

Active in University Congress, Rogers served that body as executive assistant and as president. Additional activities include intramural athletics, Area Hall Council, OU Orchestra, Student Senator to the University Senate, and service on the Oakland Sail Board of Directors. She was a Student Life Scholar, recipient of the Anibal Burgun Scholarship, a recipient of a Michigan Competitive Scholarship, and a member of the National Honor Society.

Zielinski was a teaching assistant in the Department of Biological Sciences and a recipient of Upperclass Achievement and UAW Scholarships. He served as a head resident, as a tutor in the Detroit Public School System, served the community by work in nursing home and hospital emergency room settings, and he served as student representative to the Honors College Council. He was a member of the Executive Committee of the Pre-Med Society, a member of the OU Biological Society and vice-president of the Pre-Med Society. He was active in intramural athletics and coached a student basketball team for four years.
