WALLS OF THE OAKLAND CENTER COME TUMBLING DOWN

Oakland Center activities began to crumble last week with the breakthrough of construction workers involved in the current expansion and remodeling. The Scholar Shop is shipping out to its summer quarters at Trumbull Terrace, the Pickwick Room will set up temporary quarters in Vandenberg Hall, and the Off Campus will reopen "at various places on the campus," in the words of Edward E. Birch.

Construction crews will take over the maintenance corridor, Activities Center, and grill on May 1. The Activities Center will be relocated upstairs, MGM Cleaners will move into the coat rack area on the main floor, and temporary grill service will be provided in one of the cafeterias. Birch reports that the present grill and Activities Center areas should be ready to serve as the new Book Store by August, and that construction priority has been given for finishing the new grill (to be called the Rathskeller) in the lower floor expansion area. He hopes the Rathskeller will be completed by September.

The $2.4-million project, which will add 40,000 square feet of new building space to the Center, is scheduled to be completed by December.

O, TO BE IN ENGLAND OU staffers have a chance to hop onto two charter flights to Europe that are being organized by the MSU Union Board. There is an eight-week trip, June 27-August 26, for $241 and a 12-week one, June 24-September 16, for $212. Chartered Caledonia jets will provide round trips from Detroit to London. Those interested should sign up immediately at the Student Activities Center, on the lower floor of the Oakland Center. You can get more information by stopping by there or by calling extension 2182.

HEAD PUBLIC SAFETY Chancellor Varner has designated Officer Al Klug as sergeant and Dean of Students Thomas Dutton as acting director of the Department of Public Safety, pending the hiring of a new director. The post became vacant last week when Thomas D. Strong, who resigned earlier, left the University to resume his career in the U.S. Secret Service. Strong is working as an agent in the Newark, N. J., office of the federal agency.

DETTMAN BOOK REPRINTED The second edition of a textbook by John W. Dettman (mathematics), entitled Mathematical Methods in Physics and Engineering, has just been published by McGraw-Hill.

OFFER FROM NO. 1 David H. Jones (purchasing) reports that an agreement has been made through which University staffers can get a discount from Hertz Corp. for cars and trucks rented on a personal basis only. The discount amounts to 20 percent on car rentals in the U. S. (including Alaska and Hawaii) and Canada, and 10 percent on car rentals elsewhere as well as on truck rentals in the U. S. and Canada. To be eligible, faculty and staff members must obtain credential cards and reserve cars directly through a Hertz office, rather than a travel agency. Applications for credential cards should be addressed to Mr. Richard Green, The Hertz Corp., 1041 Washington Blvd., Detroit 48226. For further information call Jones at extension 2351.

HEADING FOR ORLEANS Provost Donald D. O'Dowd has been invited to write a background paper for and participate in a conference of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, to be held April 13-16 in New Orleans. O'Dowd's paper will deal with the theme "The Dean and Student Emotional Development." The entire program is devoted to the role of deans of students.

FUNDS AND GAMES Two articles by Carol Andreas (sociology) appear in the current issue of the Journal of Social Issues. They are titled, "To Receive From Kings. . .," an examination of government-to-government aid and its unintended consequences, and "War Toys and the Peace Movement." Mrs. Andreas and her husband, Carl, also are building a home in the faculty subdivision, on "Out-Lot A" at the bend in Heidelberg Drive.

PUBLISHED IN FRANCE An article by Nalin J. Unaker (biology) was accepted recently to be published in a French electron microscopy journal, Journal de Microscopie. The article, entitled "Ultrastructural Alterations Induced in Mouse Hepatic Cells by Sub-acute Carbon Tetrachloride Intoxication," is based on investigation carried out under a research grant awarded to Unaker by the National Cancer Institute.

STUDENT ART SHOWN The annual Student Art Exhibition will begin with an opening tea at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Art Gallery. As in the past, many of the works are for sale. Gallery hours are 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. daily (closed on Mondays).

IN TYPE AND ON TUBE A poem by Michael Heffernan (English) has been accepted for publication in a forthcoming issue of Poetry. Heffernan also will appear on the program "Title Hunt" over UHF television station WTVS, Channel 56, at 7 p.m. Monday, March 31.

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY Another reminder for faculty planning to participate in the April Commencement: Wednesday is the deadline for ordering caps and gowns.

'U' PLAYS HOST TO AAU OPEN SWIMMING AND DIVING CHAMPIONSHIPS

The University will play host this weekend to the biggest swim meet in the school's history. Competitors from throughout the Midwest will be here for the 1969 Region VI AAU Open Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving Championships. The program will run from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 9 a.m. until the wrap-up on Sunday.

Corey Van Fleet, coordinator for the meet, said he will not know until registration deadline this week how many competitors will be on hand. The events will include 100-yard, 500-yard, and 1650-yard freestyle, 100-yard and 200-yard butterfly, backstroke and breaststroke, 200-yard individual medley, and 400-yard medley relay. Diving competition will be from the one-meter and three-meter boards.

JONES DRIVE LAUNCHED The Council on Prejudice and Discrimination last week launched the second annual fund drive for the Isaac Jones Memorial Scholarship, which honors the University's first black graduate. The goal is $2,000. Isaac Jones, who received a degree in psychology from OU in 1965 and subsequently was employed as a social worker with the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, was fatally shot on February 3, 1968, by a white attendant at a Pontiac service station. The University has received a large framed portrait of Isaac Jones, which is on display temporarily in the reception area of North Foundation Hall. The portrait will be hung in the Oakland Center after completion of the remodeling and expansion of that building. Faculty and staff interested in contributing to the fund should contact Alan Scott, 113 Oakland Center.

HAVE A BALL Faculty and staff are invited to the annual Chancellor's Ball, which will be held on Saturday, March 29, at the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills. Dinner begins at 7:30 p.m. and the dance at 9:30 p.m. The John Guthery Trio will provide dinner music and the Tommy Baldwin Orchestra, with Gwen Wells as vocalist, will provide the dance music. Dinner menu entree is prime rib of beef. Tickets ($12 per couple for the dinner-dance and $5 per couple for the dance only) are on sale at the Activities Office. Sales end on March 26 for the dinner.

FILM, LECTURE SLATED The St. John Fisher Chapel has announced the scheduling of a film and lecture at the chapel this week. At 8 p.m. today (Monday) the art film series will present "The Silence," the third in director Ingmar Bergman's trilogy on religious faith. At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday John Moeller (modern languages) will discuss "World Views of Romanticism" in the chapel's lecture series entitled "Human and Humane Values in Western Literature."

STUDENT ELECTIONS OU students will vote this week to select representatives in five official bodies, including the three student members of the University Senate. They will also select six members of the Commission on Student Life, fill 14 spots on various groups of the Student Activities Board, pick 19 for the Assembly of Arts and Sciences, and 11 for the Commuter Council.
