Informational meetings held for master's program

Oakland University's School of Education and Human Services is holding informational meetings for its Master of Arts with Initial Secondary Teacher Certification (MAT) program on Monday, March 15, in Bloomfield Hills and Clinton Township. Individuals interested in earning a master's degree in teaching and Michigan teacher certification for grades 7 through 12 are invited to attend.

The Bloomfield Hills presentation is at the Doyle Center for Professional Development, 7273 Wing Lake Road, from 6 to 7 p.m. The Macomb County information session is at 5 p.m. at the Macomb Intermediate School District (MISD), located at 44001 Garfield, just south of Hall Road, in Clinton Township.

The programs are a collaborative effort between Oakland University, the Bloomfield Hills School District and the MISD. With the exception of student teaching, classes are scheduled on evenings and weekends to accommodate adult learners.

Additional program information is available on the Department of Professional Development and Education Outreach Web site or by contacting Professional Development at (248) 370-3033 or pro-development@oakland.edu.
