

Thursday, August 16, 2001

OU road, main parking lot to reopen early

By Jennifer Charney, OU Staff Writer

Oakland University's repaired main parking lot (P-1) and Meadow Brook Road will reopen ahead of schedule.

Because of favorable construction weather and contractors working extended hours, the south half of P-1, across from North and South Foundation Halls, will be available for parking Monday, August 20; the rest of the lot will open later in the week, said Rusty Postlewait, associate vice president for facilities management. The lot is west of North and South Foundation Halls, Wilson Hall, Meadow Brook Theatre and Graham Health Center.

Meadow Brook Road will reopen to traffic on Monday, August 27. The road was closed to repair broken pavement and a deteriorated culvert and embankment.

"We're pleased that the work will be complete well before the fall term," said Postlewait. "We appreciate everyone's patience."

SUMMARY

Oakland University's repaired main parking lot (P-1) and Meadow Brook Road will reopen ahead of schedule.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Thursday, August 16, 2001

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Thursday, August 16, 2001

Article Start Date: Friday, December 5, 2003