CF&O renamed Facilities Management

By Jeff Samoray, OU Web Writer

Oakland University's Campus Facilities and Operations Office has been renamed Facilities Management, effective March 1. The change in name is a result of a combination of functions previously served by CF&O and Facilities Management.

Though the name has changed, the services offered have not, said Rusty Postlewait, associate vice president for Facilities Management.

"Previously, I supervised two functions: Janet Hepburn in Capital Planning and Design, and Alan Miller in CF&O," Postlewait said. "Alan supervised the functions of custodial, grounds maintenance, heating/cooling maintenance, plumbing/electrical maintenance, structural maintenance, the university engineer and the business office. When Alan retired at the beginning of March, his position was not backfilled, and I simply assumed his duties with mine. To do that, I made a couple of internal changes to combine some functions for easier supervision. So, to the serviced community, we intend for the changes to be invisible."

The phone numbers for the departments previously under the CF&O name remain the same. For more information, contact Diane Bruglio, executive secretary, at (248) 370-2160.
