That's Where Trouble Began

SCHOOL BOILER EXPLOSION — Bloomfield Township volunteer firemen survey damage to the boiler room of Bloomfield Hills Junior High School caused by the explosion of two gas boilers this morning. More than 1,000 students, teachers and administrators were evacuated without injury and sent home. Damage was estimated at $25,000 to $30,000, confined to the east end of the modern one-story building. Principal William McGuire did not know when classes would be resumed, although a temporary heating system may be set up before Monday.

Romney Faction Concedes Points on Major Issues

Dems Brand Agreement Sellout to Conservative Element

LANSING (AP)—Agreement on a "compromise package" deal settling major controversial issues appeared today to have healed a threatened split in Republican ranks at the constitutional convention.

Effect of the compromise — If it sticks — would be to weld together into an unbeatable combination the GOP's conservative — rural bloc of delegates and the forces of George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, probable Republican candidate for governor.

Republican delegates outnumber Democrats, 99-6.

"This could wrap up the whole convention," commented one delegate.

Romney confirmed to newsmen that he had indicated willingness in the GOP caucus to accept the compromise package, even though it fell short of what he sought earlier in the convention. He explained:

"In view of the opposition to the convention and the fact that most delegates came from areas that voted against it, I feel that we are achieving a remarkable degree of improvement in the constitution."

Democrats branded the deal as a sellout by Romney to the conservative bloc.

"If Romney bought this deal, he'll have to wear his pajamas all the time — because the farmers have traded him out of his pants," said William Marshall, D-Taylor.

The Democratic caucus leader, Adelaide Hart of Detroit, declared:

"This is a complete sellout. It's quite evident that Romney would be at the mercy of the conservative Republicans in the legislature if he is compromising his so-called principle this early in the game."

The agreement covered such subjects as an elective vs. appointive administrative board, legislative reapportionment, the 15-mile property tax limitation and earmarking of tax revenues.

Search Sea Near Guam for Plane Lost With 107

MANILA (AP) — U.S. military planes and ships panned a hunt between Guam and the Philippines today for a chartered airliner which vanished at sea with 107 persons, chiefly American Army men, on a flight to war-torn South Viet Nam.

A full 24 hours has passed since the four-engine Super Constellation, owned by the California-based Flying Tiger Line, radioed its last message.

This was a routine report to Guam from a position 270 miles west of that U.S. base in the western Pacific, as it headed for Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila.

Search craft crisscrossed 75,000 square miles of the Pacific fruitlessly by daylight and were continuing through last night. Weather was excellent and the sea normal.

The Super Constellation carried a crew of 11 Americans.

Pilot's Life Exciting in Years Past

NEW YORK (UPI)—Capt. Gregory P. Thomas, pilot of the troop-carrying Constellation that is missing in the Pacific, crashed once before — and emerged a hero for what he did.

Adventure, high excitement and near tragedy all have been a part of the 48-year-old pilot's life.

Only last week he battled the sea for his life while sailing aboard his 45-foot yacht, Maytime, when caught in the vicious storm which swept the eastern seaboard.

A close friend, Roger Korkey, a 23-year-old electronics engineer who moors his boat next to Thomas' in the pilot's home town of Red Bank, N. J., said they both had spent three touchy days aboard the Maytime during the storm.

Despite high waves and gale winds, Korkey said, "We took the storm well. There was only minor damage to the Maytime."

FLEW SPITFIRE — Korkey said that even in his short acquaintance with Thomas, he learned the pilot had been through a lifetime of harrowing experiences.

Thomas flew Spitfires against the Nazis for the British even before the United States entered World War II. Then he flew with the U.S. Air Force as a major.

But one of Thomas' tightest spots was a crash-landing in New York's Jamaica Bay shortly after takeoff in a DC-6A on June 21, 1957.

All nine crew members aboard the propeller craft escaped with their lives when Thomas set the plane down on an isolated sandbar after he lost power in all four engines. Three crew members were injured, but only a stewardess required hospitalization for shock and bruises.

Thomas was only the second person ever cited by the "Order of Distinguished" for a heroic performance. He was awarded for crash-landing the plane in an isolated area rather than risking going down in a populated area by attempting to return to the airport.

The award came from an organization made up of Army and Air Corps pilots who held pilot ratings prior to the 1918 armistice.

Thomas' feat was hailed as the "outstanding pilot performance of the year." He was bound at the time from New York for Dover, Del., to pick up a cargo for Chateaux, France.

On learning he had been scratched the Air Force major,

K Rattles New 'Global Rocket'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today threatened the United States with what he called a global rocket, invulnerable to antimissile defenses.

At the same time he announced that the Soviet Union has put a new space vehicle in orbit.

Khrushchev said all American efforts to interdict the new weapon — as he described it, would be in vain.

"The time has passed when the Americans can feel defended from the consequences of war," he said.

Khrushchev gave no details in what stage of development the so-called weapon might be.

'CAMPAIGN' SPEECH

He made his remarks in the course of an election rally, preliminary to Sunday's voting in the Soviet Union. Earlier at the rally he had announced ordering of a new space vehicle.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said it was "an artificial earth satellite launched with a view to continuing the Soviet program of outer space research."

There was no announcement whether a man or other living being was aboard.

In Cambridge, Mass., Smithsonian astrophysical observatory scientists reported a coded radio signal has been picked up which apparently is that of the new Russian Sputnik.

They said the fact that a coded signal was being transmitted, rather than a voice signal, indicated that the vehicle had no man aboard.

Khrushchev made his statement about the global rocket to reinforce his views on the current disarmament negotiations at Geneva.

Referring to Western proposals for an effective control system, he said "We will never agree to this."

A control system, he argued, would be nothing but an espionage service for the West.

BOASTS OF ROCKETS

Khrushchev boasted that the Soviet Union has better means of delivering nuclear bombs — mighty intercontinental rockets — than does the West.

He added that in these days men would have to be insane to begin a nuclear war.

He said there are some signs that the international atmosphere is improving but "the situation still remains complicated and tense."

This is so, he continued, because the Western powers have the idea of giving up their weapons.

K Says He Won't Put Off Signing Separate Treaty Endlessly

From Our News Wires
MOSCOW — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that "the road to the east is closed" forever to the Western powers through Berlin.

Khrushchev promised patience in settling the German question, but asserted the Soviet Union "can not delay endlessly the solution of this important task."

Addressing an election rally in the Kremlin, he said the Soviet Union is not committed to a "fatal" course in signing a peace treaty with East Germany but that his aim continues to be establishment of West Berlin as a free, demilitarized city and liquidation of the occupation regime there.

An agreement by the West to this solution he said, would help restore the spirit of cooperation between the Soviet Union and its former allies.

The Western powers, Khrushchev said, must recognize that two German states exist, one of which is developing along the path of communism.

DONALD K. SLAYTON M. SCOTT CARPENTER

U.S. Astronaut Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—A heart condition detected more than two years ago will keep astronaut Donald K. Slayton from becoming the next American to venture into space.

The assignment of following along the trail blazed by John H. Glenn Jr. will go instead to M. Scott Carpenter, another member of the seven-man Mercury space team.

The switch in plans was announced Thursday night by the NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE ADMINISTRATION Earlier in the day an Air Force medical board had reviewed Slayton's condition — an "erratic heart rate" — and advised against his attempting the physically trying space mission.

Discuss Sonic Booms for Breaking Up Ice

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Sonic booms may be used for an early breakup of the largest ice accumulation on Lake Superior since the late 1800s.

It also gives the editors and publishers a chance to talk over state and local problems, according to Kennedy.

The sonic boom — shock waves set off when a plane goes through the sound barrier — have been used to break up snow accumulations to avert avalanches.

Pontiac General Hospital played host to more than 1,000 Pontiac area students last year in an effort to bolster interest in hospital careers, especially in areas where there is a critical need for trained personnel.

The career day program began in 1960 and has become an integral part of the hospital's day-to-day activities, according to Irene McNamara, public relations director.

Several career day programs have been held already this year, the most recent for some 60 ninth-grade students at Waterford Kettering High School last week and another 60 juniors and seniors in physiology classes at Rochester High School this morning.

There are 276 occupations at Pontiac General and each program attempts to give highlights of each occupation while placing emphasis on those that offer immediate employment to students upon graduation.

"There are many occupations having a critical need for trained personnel," said Mrs. McNamara. "Included in these are medicine, and its allied specialties, nursing, medical technology, medical record librarians, executive dietitians, laboratory technicians, hospital management people and physical therapists."

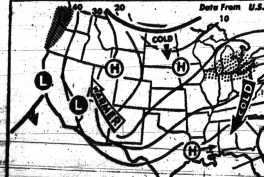

Dr. Everett Gustafson, chief of staff, was one of the pioneer instructors of the program and frequently takes part in the student lectures and tours.

Facilities and procedures that students observe include the X-ray department, clinical and pathology labs, electrocardiograph department, and the physical and occupational therapy units.

Other areas of the hospital are covered in a color slide program.

Jane Hart, Jerrie Cobb Talk to Vice President, Who Listens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's Jane Hart and Oklahoma's Jerrie Cobb agreed they didn't exactly get Vice President Lyndon Johnson in their orbit, but did get a "very gracious" hearing in urging him Thursday to join their campaign for the United States to be first with a woman in space.

"We weren't discouraged," the two women agreed, although Johnson told them he has no authority to make decisions in the space field; that's all up to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"He was very interested," said the 40-year-old Mrs. Hart, a flyer in her own right, mother of eight, and wife of Michigan's Sen. Philip A. Hart.

TO PUSH IDEA — "We will continue to do everything possible to get this across," said the 31-year-old Miss Cobb, record-holding woman pilot who successfully has completed more of the psychological and physical tests for space flight than any other woman and presumably might become the country's first astronaut.

The women said they told Johnson that the United States will lose another space race to the Russians if NASA doesn't start training a woman for space flight soon. They predicted the first woman to fly into orbit by September.

Johnson made no statement to the women and did not emerge from his office to pose with the women for photographs.

"We didn't really ask him to do anything," Mrs. Hart said. "We just wanted to talk with the vice president on a subject — space — in which I'm very interested."

Earlier Mrs. Hart had told him she hoped Johnson, as chairman of the National Space Council, would put in a good word with NASA for a woman-in-space.

Commercial airline officials said the Soviet flights tonight represented no danger to Allied planes.

The Russian controller of the four-power air safety center said four Soviet transports would fly in the Berlin-Hamag corridor between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. (1 p.m. and 2 p.m. EST).

The flight plans of the Russian aircraft would place them in the air between 15 and 30 minutes away from Pan American Airways and British European Airways planes carrying passengers in the corridor.

"This is a safe enough interval," a commercial airline official said. "There is no danger."

PLANS CHANGED — The announcement indicated a deviation from previous Soviet harassment tactics that have brought warnings of Western counter-action.

In the past, on day flights, Russian planes submitted to the air safety center placed Soviet transports in the air at the same time and altitude as Western aircraft. Although there were no incidents, the danger of collisions existed.

New Record Tallied in Flooded Houses

A record 1.5 million gallons of water were pumped out of some 75 flooded homes this week by the Waterford Township fire department.

"I wasn't only basements that were flooded," Fire Chief Elmer Fongbender said. "Several basementless homes had water on the floor."

The worst previous year for home flooding was 1959 when nearly one million gallons was extracted from residences. "We did it all from the fire trucks then," Fongbender said. "This year we had a truck and four portable pumps doing the job."

The fire department might still be pumping if the temperature hadn't dipped Thursday temporarily halting the thaw.

2 Suspects Arrested in Burglary Attempt

Two burglary suspects were arrested early this morning when a police-patrol car and reported glass had been smashed out of the front door of Vito's Market, 94 Oakland Avenue.

Officers said they apprehended one of the suspects, Lawrence Bessey, 40, 121 Lafayette St., hiding beneath the store's cash register. Edward P. Webb, 43, no address, was arrested near the store.

Both were scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court today.

NO SPACE — Mrs. Philip A. Hart and Jerrie Cobb (right) talk with newsmen outside the office of Vice President Lyndon Johnson after seeing him about the possibility of backing a space program for women. Both are pilots. Johnson was "interested" but he said there was little he could do to further their hopes of putting a woman into orbit.

The Soviet Union rejected President Kennedy's terms for a test ban Resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere next month appears inevitable as a result.

The Soviets once more refused to accept foreign inspectors on their territory to check against violations of a test ban. They appeared certain to maintain their opposition to international inspection where all other disarmament measures were concerned.

Russia Charges U.S. Seeking N-Test Race

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union accused the United States today of seeking resumption of a nuclear arms testing race and said American negotiations in Geneva were aimed at avoiding a "serious approach" to this problem.

This charge from Soviet Ambassador Semyon Tassapapir appears to represent an attempt by the Kremlin to make the United States shoulder blame for any new round of nuclear test explosions.

It came as Eastern and Western groupings in the 17-nation disarmament conference began openly to woo the eight countries in the mid-dle section — Brazil, India, Mexico, the United Arab Republic, Sweden, Burma, Nigeria and Ethiopia.

The "eight middle men," as they have been dubbed, began their own careful moves in the conference to keep the United States and the Soviet Union negotiating on the widest possible range of disarmament and nuclear testing problems.

As a first step India's V. K. Krishna Menon called on the conference to switch its emphasis to separate from the water rate in intermediate sessions by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of the complex disarmament problem.

Rusk, who supported Menon's suggestion, met with the Indian delegation head immediately after the conference session.

Detroit Water Costs Less Than Expected

With Detroit pumping the water, the proposed rate was $1.40 per 100 gallons. By doing its own pumping, Pontiac will lower that rate to $1.40.

The study estimated the total project cost at $3,867,000 to be financed by a revenue bond issue.

Separate from the water rate change would be a hike in sewage cost to customers estimated to be about 25 cents more than their current quarterly bills for sewage.

No rate hikes will become effective until Detroit water is in the city's water mains. The date set for the changeover is July 1.

Knifepoint Robbery in Pontiac Alleged

A Highland Park man told Pontiac police he was robbed at knifepoint early this morning when two men jumped into his car while it was stopped at a red light at Bagley and Wessan streets.

They ordered him to drive around the block and then they said, where they robbed him of $13 and fled on foot.

Airport Opponents Urge Lansing 'Visit'

A delegation of 300 to "call on" state legislators in Lansing was urged last night at a meeting of opponents to Oakland County's proposed jet airport.

A mimeographed sheet distributed at the meeting charged the bill, which also gives the DPW budget assessment power, would be appointed officials not responsible to voters.

HISTS BILL — "This bill looks innocuous," Hodge said, "but it's about as innocuous as a sidewinding rattlesnake."

Hodge also urged the association, which claims 144 members, to "hammer" the argument throughout the county that the airport would "cost an untold amount of money."

Gordon Ladd, organizing chairman of the association, said the airport could cost as much as $20 million, or $450 per Oakland County family.

The group, organized to "fight" by every available means, the establishment of a jet airport in the rural, residential area of Oakland County and "to oppose the government by secret committees and 'backstage deals' plans to circulate petitions and seek grounds for court action."

Present at the meeting was Detroit public relations expert William H. Botsford, who was hired by successful opponents to Detroit's proposed airport in Warren in 1955.

Also present was Orion Township Supervisor John Lester. The township board has scheduled a special meeting on the airport issue for March 27.

$2.5 Million Housing Development Planned in Bloomfield Hills

A $2.5 million custom home development in Bloomfield Hills will get under way in two weeks, it was announced today.

Sixty-eight colonial-styled homes, ranging in price from $25,000 to $35,000, will be constructed on the north side of East Long Lake Road, west of Eastways Road.

The property, immediately adjacent to the Bloomfield Open Golf Club, is being developed by the Alden Construction Co., Detroit.

The Birmingham real estate firm of Snyder, Kinney & Bennett said the property was sold to Harry Shapiro and David Freeman, partners in the construction company, for more than $400,000.

LARGEST TRANSACTION

The sale of the platted property makes it the largest transaction of vacant property in the city, according to the Realtors.

City Clerk Robert J. Stadler said the property, platted many years ago, never developed because of the lack of sewer facilities in the city, is known as Bloomfield Sites Subdivision. The name is expected to be changed.

"With sewer lines nearly complete, the city will realize a growth in the future that wasn't possible in the past," said Stadler.

He said the construction of the sewer system is on schedule and should be completed by June.

In addition to the installation of sewers, Shapiro and Freeman have planned blacktopped roads, gas and the usual utility services for the new community.

Hear Requests for Wage Boosts in Waterford

A request for wage boosts and added fringe benefits for non-teaching employees of the Waterford Township School District was referred to the personnel committee of the school board last night.

The employee group seeks a $36-per-year wage boost over the next five years and increased school district participation in hospitalization insurance payments.

Also sought is a holiday the Friday after Thanksgiving and holidays off before Christmas and New Year's.

Bus drivers, in a separate request, are seeking a flat increase of 10 cents an hour.

Edmund Windeler, chairman of the personnel committee, has called a meeting March 29 on the wage proposals. The committee will also have on its agenda a proposed calendar for the 1962-63 school year submitted by a teacher group.

The professional problems committee of the Waterford Education Association proposes two changes in the calendar drafted earlier by school administrators. The group would have the Christmas vacation end on January 2 rather than January 1, and suggests that the school year end June 13 instead of June 14.

Work Needed, CD Chief Says

'County's Not Ready for Attack'

Oakland County is not "adequately prepared" to meet a Civil Defense emergency — and neither is any other civil defense agency in the United States.

John Madole, the county's civil defense director, expresses this opinion in a report on "The Current Status of the County Office of Civil Defense."

Because of the possible "magnitude" of an emergency created by today's modern weapons, Madole says:

"We can only strive to prepare ourselves as best we can."

This preparedness in Oakland County, he said, has been improving during recent months.

ONE BRIGHT SPOT

In his report, aimed at the "people of Oakland County," Madole surveys a wide range of area civil defense activities.

The "brightest spot in our program," he says, is the development of the county radiological program. This program has produced instructors to provide radiological training throughout the county.

In addition, at least 18 different spots in the county — designated as "fixed monitoring points" — will be equipped with radiological kits containing Geiger counters and other instruments.

But there are defects in the civil defense setup, Madole says.

A "glaring deficiency," as he calls it, is the lack of communications units.

To help remedy the situation, a monitor will be edited by Madole's new assistant director, Howard Rubin, to be distributed to various agencies starting about April 1.

What about the County Emergency Operating Center, which was planned in 1957?

"Still under consideration," says Madole, "and awaiting further information from the federal government."

EMERGENCY CENTER

Meanwhile, three rooms in the basement of the former Contagious Hospital Building have been converted to an Emergency Center. Other developments noted in Madole's report:

Four 200-bed emergency hospitals are being stored in the county, to be used only under enemy attack or in major disaster.

A survey was conducted to determine suitable buildings in which to house community shelters and a list of these sites will be compiled soon.

After a shaky start, there is now reliability in the radioed warning system through the State Police and Sheriff Department.

Still, Madole is not satisfied — and he wonders how anyone who faces defense problems squarely can be.

Gather Books for Nigeria

LANSING — A collection drive by students, faculty members and societies at Michigan State University has netted 1,500 books so far for the University of Nigeria. Michigan State is conducting an advertising program for the African university.

Flying Tiger Started in '46

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — The Flying Tiger Line, billed as the world's largest aerial freight and charter passenger carrier, was founded only 16 years ago by a group of near-legendary American World War II pilots with just one plane.

The line, which had had no previous passenger fatalities, was involved in two separate mishaps Thursday.

It took its name from the famed Flying Tiger of Gen. Claire Chennault who hunted Japanese air lanes in China before the United States entered World War II.

From the lone plane, the line was built up to a fleet of 22 modern aircraft this year — 12 Lockheed Super H Constellations and 10 Canadian-built CL44 turbo jet crafts.

5 CREWMEN KILLED

Its last fatal crash was in 1958 when five crewmen were killed in Japan.

From the start the line bucked tremendous odds to stay solvent. Its officials used their imaginations freely and came up with many air transportation firsts.

It was the first line to contract to carry animals and built up a booming business transporting race horses throughout the country. It has carried a number of famous horses — Exile — and an equine celebrity — Trigger, the famed steed of cowboy actor Roy Rogers.

Prime mover in the establishment of the new line was Robert W. Prescott, its president from the start.

The line got a big boost during its early days when it got a contract to fly supplies to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces in Japan. As the line grew, it emerged as a solid figure in the aerial transportation picture — a far cry from its meager beginning.

Bids In Today on Offshore Oil, Gas Lease Sale

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The government winds up its big offshore oil and gas lease sale today with a prediction that bids will soar to an industry record of between $300-$400 million.

Bids were in on 308 parcels of submerged land off Louisiana and 30 off Texas. The Gulf of Mexico's waters are 100 to 500 feet deep here.

John L. Rankin, local manager of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, said that a first session bid total Tuesday of $177.8 million — the final figure with four rejected bids — is "pretty much in line with what we expected."

Rankin forecast the final figure between $300-$400 million.

Production Climbs Steadily

Compact Convertibles Bring Dreams Into the Garage

By BEN FOLEGAN
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT — More Americans than ever are showing a willingness to spend a couple of hundred dollars extra to have the roof of their car made of canvas than of steel.

That's another way of saying convertibles are booming as never before.

The auto industry marked a great day back in 1910 when Cadillac became the first manufacturer to make fully enclosed bodies standard equipment. But almost ever since then the public, or a small segment of it, has been in love with open top cars.

The convertible, which provides the luxury of top-down driving with the practicality of a roof over your head when it rains, or in cold weather, has been an expensive car. Often it is the most expensive model of a particular line.

Despite the price, this body style has shown a slow but steady increase in popularity over the past 10 years, from less than 1 per cent of all sales in 1954 to a record 4.5 per cent in 1961.

From all indications the percentage is due for a big jump this year and the major reason is the addition of convertibles for the first time in five of the compact cars.

Studebaker-Packard was the first manufacturer to market a compact convertible, starting in the 1960 model year. The Lark was joined by the Rambler American in 1961. And for 1962 soft tops were added by Buick Special, Pontiac Tempest, Oldsmobile F85, Chevy II and, starting next month, Corvair.

Traditionally convertibles have made absolutely no dent on sales statistics in mid-winter. They are warm weather cars and the advent of spring normally brings their first selling spurt.

However, consider these production figures for the 1962 model year:

Buick through February devoted 15 per cent of its Buick Special output to convertibles. At Oldsmobile, F85 soft tops were running 33.7 per cent of total compact car production. Pontiac through December built 5,318 Tempest convertibles, or 11 per cent of its total.

In the 1961 model year Rambler allotted 9.5 per cent of its American output to convertibles. This year so far it is running 8.5 per cent with increases due soon. Studebaker, behind on its projected schedules because of a six-week strike, devoted only 1.3 per cent of its production through January to convertibles. It, too, will increase.

The compact cars have been able to bring down the price of these styles to a point where many buyers who had looked and wished in past years now can afford to buy. The sticker price spread between the least expensive compact convertible (Rambler American) and the least expensive standard size convertible (Chevrolet Impala) is $325. And all of the compacts offer models below the Impala figure of $2,919.

But even so, the smaller cars the soft-top model runs from $240 to $500 more than a four-door sedan in the comparable series. The smallest spread seems to be in the new Chevy II. Among standard lines the smallest spread between six-year-old models is $237 for sedans and convertibles in both Ford and Chevrolet.

Irish Envoy Brings Shamrocks to Kennedy
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and the Irish ambassador are getting together Saturday — St. Patrick's Day.

The White House said Thursday the ambassador is coming in to present some shamrocks from the old sod.

4 Die in Rome Storm

President Will Speak in New Orleans May 4

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will speak in New Orleans May 4, the White House announced Thursday.

followed by several hours a state dinner by Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., that Kennedy would make a major foreign policy speech in New Orleans on that day.

Yea, It's St. Pat's Day - And That's No Blarney

Another Paddy's Day is here, and two things are significant. Spring is close at hand and the Irish will cut loose and celebrate as they always have in the past.

A good many of our Irish, like President Kennedy — the family name was once Cennedigh — have roots going back more than one generation. The 1960 census shows 1,773,312 native plus first generation Irish residents. This is a little off from the all-time high in 1890.

Actually, Great Britain has replaced the United States as the nation to which most Irish emigrate. Even the non-Irish recognize St. Patrick's Day, which is a kind of jointly owned Irish-American holiday.

The official call of the day on President KENNEDY will be made by THOMAS J. KIERNAN, the Irish ambassador, and, of course, he will present a gift of shamrocks.

Traditionally, this day is celebrated by as many non-Irish as Irish. And there will be talk of blarney and leprechauns, Kilbarney and the fair city of Dublin. A lot of those partaking of the bock beer and telling Irish stories may have names as un-Irish as Cohen.

In Dublin it's a legal holiday, and the pubs are closed. In New York they have a big parade, but it is only a social holiday.

All in all, it's a great day for the Irish.

(With Permission of The Saturday Evening Post)

By BILLY GRAHAM

There is a movement gathering momentum to take the traditional concept of God out of our national life. If this movement succeeds, in God We Trust will be taken from our coins, the Bible will be removed from our courthouses, future Presidents will be sworn into office with their hand on a copy of the Constitution and chaplains will be removed from the Armed Forces.

The issue of prayers in public schools is now before the Supreme Court and, if the Court decrees negatively, another victory will be gained by those forces which conspire to remove faith in God from the public conscience.

Christmas in the school becomes a sharper issue. Many have already ruled out the singing of carols in the classroom. Those who are trying to remove God are rewriting history and distorting the truth. But they are only a tiny minority. Most Americans still believe in God themselves but want their leaders to have faith in God. The Associated Press recently reported the findings of Dr. Paul Bussard, editor of the Catholic Digest, who learned that 99 per cent of the American people believe in God; that 77 per cent believe in the hereafter; and that 75 per cent believe religion is important.

Our forefathers meant this nation to be free from religious domination. The men who built America were primarily victims of oppression. They felt that the terrors of the wilderness were as nothing to that of government oppression of religious faith. But the founding fathers in their determination to have freedom of religion never meant to have freedom from religion. Separation of church and state in no way implies separation of religion and state affairs. They are spiritually inseparable.

The Preamble of our national Constitution speaks of "the blessing of liberty." The men at Philadelphia could never have written that document if they had not had faith in God. "I have lived a long time," Franklin told the delegates to the Constitutional Convention, "and the longer I live the more convincing proofs I see of this truth that God governs in the affairs of men. I firmly believe this."

Early American history was forged in the fire of a burning faith in God. Many early settlers came to America with one goal in mind—namely, to advance the Kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The tremendous prosperity, power and blessing which America has enjoyed through the years came because we as a nation have honored God. It is, I believe, a direct fulfillment of the promise, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." Abraham Lincoln said during the Civil War, "I have so many evidences of God's direction that I cannot doubt. This power comes from above." This was the faith of our fathers.

Ours is a freedom that will evaporate if the foundations upon which it has been built are taken away. I'm not so sure we would continue to be free if our men in public life had no faith in God.

Castro has shown us how easy it is to rationalize, postpone elections, justify tyranny in the name of land reform or some other benevolence. A dictator convinced that destiny lies in his own hands is bound to be proud, ruthless and ultimately destructive. Public officials must have a sense of historical destiny in order to give a nation the right kind of direction. God alone can give to public officials this ability.

We are living in the most critical period in American history. We are faced with the possible destruction of our entire civilization. With a militant, atheistic communism threatening to bury us, we need to rediscover our national destiny. The American atheist administering a public office has essentially conceded the battle to communism. By his atheism he underwrites in principle the Communist, materialistic, nonspiritual concept of life. He has surrendered spiritual, moral and rational arguments against communism.

The Man About Town

Roads and Canals

Pontiac Has Led Michigan; Both Actual and Projected

By JOE HAAS

History proves that Pontiac is the logical place for the manufacture of GM's 75-million-car. This has been Michigan's transportation hub since the days of Chief Pontiac. It still is true. The Indian bypaths through the primeval forest centered here, where the main Saginaw Trail forded the river, and the story of our toll road supremacy was told in this column yesterday.

Added to all this is the fact that early surveyors mapped out Pontiac as the canal center of the state. Water transportation then was considered necessary for colonization. These early maps show projected canals leading east to Lake St. Clair, south to the Detroit River, southwest to a point on Lake Michigan opposite Chicago, northwest to Owosso, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven, north to Saginaw and northeast to the Thumb section.

They were generally laid out to follow our river valleys, getting their water from these streams, and utilizing the locks for water power to drive mills in their communities.

The coming of the railroads put a stop to the canal building, but the railroad promoters were not sure of their experiment, as the Detroit and Pontiac franchise gave them the right to build a canal if the railroad was not found feasible—or they could establish a bank.

The only canal actually dug was on the stretch between Pontiac and Mt. Clemens. The distance when it reached Rochester from the east. It was in use several years.

The funds for its excavation came from England and Germany, and it was dug by hand labor, with shovels and spades, at 50 cents per day. It generally follows the Clinton River, and still can be plainly traced, after an erosion of 140 years. The coming of the railroads caused a withdrawal of its financial backing.

But, let it be known to GM and everybody else, that over ten times the miles of waterway work in Michigan was that done on the Pontiac project.

'Hope It Holds'

David Lawrence Asks:

Should 'Neutrals' Get Tax Money?

WASHINGTON — The "image" of America which other countries are being given today is marked by some unwitting distortions.

Is Jacqueline Kennedy, for instance, giving to the people of India the true "image" of present-day America, particularly in its profound sympathy for the hungry and the sick and for the tens of thousands who sleep nightly in the streets of India's cities for lack of homes?

There is talk now of a visit to India next summer by President and Mrs. Kennedy. Is India's government deserving of all this attention? How does the news of these happenings affect the American people who are being asked to put up their tax money for "foreign aid"?

President Kennedy in his news conference Wednesday said that members of Congress make "vigorous speeches against communists and call for a policy of victory" but do not go along with the foreign-aid program of nearly $5 billion proposed by the Administration to fight communism.

Almost everyone in Congress, of course, would be for "foreign aid." If there were any degree of certainty that the money would be of some avail and would help to defeat international communism, the news from India itself has been far from good.

Prime Minister Nehru in his country and is entertained there. Naturally, it is of political value to Mr. Nehru to give the impression to his people that the United States likes India and will continue to pour out its billions even if India keeps on with her "non-alignment" policies. But, fortunately, the American press prints the news—and what has been happening in India indicates that the victory over communism is more remote than ever.

Within the last few weeks, a national election has been held there. Nehru's party has won out. The support from the Communist side was noticeable, especially as Krishna Menon, arch-foe of the United States, won the biggest victory of all.

He is defense minister in Nehru's cabinet and, although occasionally denying that he is a Communist, says the Communist side of the game right along, especially in the United Nations and behind the scenes in Europe and Asia. Menon's opponent took him "over the jumps" for his pro-Communist attitude.

Now, if his date was with someone who might have done him harm, or if he had to make his way home through a dangerous area, your nervousness would have been justified, and he'd be doing you as justice if he said you were being neurotic.

But if his date was with a fellow student or a nice girl, and if this outing took him no further than the vicinity of your home, and if, under these circumstances, you still stayed up for his return, worried unduly and unnecessarily and then rebuked him for his delayed homecoming, he'd be justified in stating that you suffered from anxiety neurosis.

In other words, you're merely being "nervous" if your worry were justified by circumstances and if your anxiety disappeared when the circumstances no longer justified any feeling of apprehension. You'd be showing the signs of an "anxiety neurosis" if circumstances, but it was in vain. For Communist support was strong enough to give Menon the victory.

Prime Minister Nehru, who campaigned for him, never seems to be able to shake loose from the so-called "intellectual" influence Menon has exerted over him for many years.

Also, not so long ago the Nehru government suddenly brushed aside negotiations and by military force seized the ancient territory of Goa, which had been held by Portugal for centuries. The United States government didn't express its horror over this, though the American press did. The United States possibly has lost the friendship of Portugal.

The President in his statement oversimplified the position of many members of Congress who oppose his foreign-aid program. Most of them are in favor of the principle of foreign aid, but they don't believe in wasting the taxpayers' money on governments which "are taking America for a ride."

There is every reason for expressing a humanitarian desire to help the hundreds of millions of unfortunate human beings in India. But the real point is whether a blind extension of financial aid, without any program that really offers the promise of attaining our objectives, should be authorized.

India's government carries on intimate relations with the Communist regime in the Soviet Union, which considers Nehru a valuable ally. America's current policy is to tolerate all this as "neutrality." But the American people like "neutrality," too—at least for their dollars. They would prefer "nonalignment" with any country that is tied up with the Communists to the point where the latter's apparatus—controlled from Moscow—can play an influential part in any outside election. (Copyright, 1962)

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Is Your Worry Justified? Then It Isn't Neurotic

Q—Ever since my son has gone to medical school, all I hear is "neurosis." If I'm nervous about something, he says I'm a "neurotic." If I worry, he says it's my "neurosis." What's the difference between being nervous and being neurotic? What's the difference between worrying and having a neurosis?

A—You've asked a good question, dear mother. First off, let me tell you about your son. He's just like most medical students. They see everything in terms of illness or disease.

I remember a wise instructor of my student days who warned our all-male class of the danger that faced us. "You boys," he said, "will soon have every symptom you hear about, maybe including morning sickness."

Now as to the differences you ask. Where does nervousness leave off and a neurosis begin? Where does worrying end and an anxiety neurosis come into the picture?

Let's reduce both questions to a specific instance for there's no definite yardstick with which to make a measurement.

Suppose your son goes out on a date and doesn't get home by midnight. You wait up for him and, when he comes in, you rebuke him because you've been nervous about his safety.

Now, if his date was with someone who might have done him harm, or if he had to make his way home through a dangerous area, your nervousness would have been justified, and he'd be doing you as justice if he said you were being neurotic.

But if his date was with a fellow student or a nice girl, and if this outing took him no further than the vicinity of your home, and if, under these circumstances, you still stayed up for his return, worried unduly and unnecessarily and then rebuked him for his delayed homecoming, he'd be justified in stating that you suffered from anxiety neurosis.

In other words, you're merely being "nervous" if your worry were justified by circumstances and if your anxiety disappeared when the circumstances no longer justified any feeling of apprehension. You'd be showing the signs of an "anxiety neurosis" if circumstances did not warrant the extent and duration of the "worry" you suffered and the rebuke you administered to him.

Like the Einstein theory, it's all a matter of relativity. That's why you find doctors and even nerve specialists disagreeing as to the sanity of a prisoner when they are called as "experts" in court procedures.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Learn What's Inherited, Acquired

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE L-460: Princess Anne of England celebrated her 11th birthday at Balmoral Castle, in Scotland.

And in describing Anne, one of the talented British newspaper writers said she inherited her love of horses from her mother.

To tie in the whole family, I suppose, he added:

"From her aunt, Princess Margaret, she inherited her talent for horsemanship."

Many Americans also fail to distinguish between what is inherited and what is acquired. Princess Anne did NOT inherit her love of horses, or her love of sports or her talent for horsemanship, or her love of music or of playing cowboy and Indians.

All these are clusters of habits that have been acquired by the very same route that a child learns to like hamburgers or hot dogs in preference to a T-bone steak or fried chicken.

HEREDITY vs. ENVIRONMENT

A child also does not inherit his piano playing or violin skill, nor his ability to use English or multiply correctly. What each child does inherit is a tendency to a certain height and chassis formation. In addition, he inherits a mental "motor" called the brain, that has its

Japanese Girl Has Hopes of Coming to America

I am a Japanese girl of 24. My present occupation is dress designing.

I have heard a great many times about opportunities in your country without the discrimination of sex. So I have long wished to go to the States and study room decorating.

Are there any of your people who might be interested in employing an able Japanese girl as a housemaid for one year?

I am convinced that I can be helpful. I shall be content if they pay me modest wages. Since my ambition is to become an interior decorator, I want them to allow me to go to night school.

Also, as I cannot afford to go to the States, I would appreciate it very much if they would be generous enough to offer me the fare. I will pay it back as soon as possible.

Feels Dog Survey Is Excellent Idea

It used to be a common practice for the city to employ people to go around knocking on doors asking if there were any dogs. This cost money and was unsatisfactory because some people denied having them.

It is an excellent idea to have a city employee perform two services for the price of one. There are no people who have a dog but do not want to inform on dogs than those who are subject to attack.

Dogs should be on leash, licensed and given rabies shots to protect humans. Some argue it is painful and expensive, but it is also painful and expensive when humans are bitten.

Many dogs are running loose and many are let loose when the dog warden is not on the job.

'People Can't Afford Tax Increase'

On March 20, Waterford Township voters will be voting on a 5 mill tax increase for schools, which means $11 per $1,000 valuation. This will increase our taxes on a $3,000 valuation, $33. On a $5,000 valuation, the increase will be $55 more.

Waterford has many retired people and men unemployed, who cannot afford this increase. I ask every voter to vote "no."

"horse power" is I.Q. pretty well fixed at birth. This inheritance of his chassis also involves the color of his eyes and hair, plus the shape of his nose, ears and other chassis attributes.

Let's stick to this analogy of the automobile chassis and motor, for it clears up many mistaken notions about children.

If two identical automobiles come off the assembly line of a Detroit factory and one is purchased by a gangster and the other is bought by a cerylgman, note what will happen.

Those two cars will lead what might properly term very different "lives."

For the cerylgman's car will help build people to church or even take the sick to the hospital. It will carry the preacher to homes where shut-ins need solace and spiritual hope.

The gangster's car, however, will hide in the shadows and carry Tommy guns or sawed-off shotguns for shooting down rival mobsters.

Will this be an aid to murder and a conveyor of illicit profits from lawless gambling, bootlegging, etc.

At the moment these two cars come off the assembly line in Detroit, they were alike. Nobody at that moment could have predicted their future "career."

And the same is true of children. Whether they will like music or math or enjoy fishing or hate it, or shun people or like crowds, will depend on how they are treated after birth.

Even the matter of love is only an inherited "potential." Whether we should have (and men have) sexualty, vs. the opposite sex or

Wants Art Gallery To Be Good One

Many writers express a desire for an art gallery. I have been amazed by the way people in our southern states seem to have pride in their cultural heritage. Here, anything from yellerface is destroyed to make way for the new.

The Press published a letter from me objecting to the way art judges favor the so-called modern art. Serious painters have begun to be more and more reluctant to exhibit.

When I visited the Gibbs Gallery in Charleston, S. C., there was a large room filled with marvelous paintings. This room was jammed with visitors. In another large room was the modern art. I saw no one there. People would see what was on display and walk away.

A good art gallery in Pontiac would be very inspirational, but the old courthouse property is too valuable to use to hang paper dolls and paintings that look like dirty towels.

Russian Envoy Talks of Peace, Thomas Jefferson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's new ambassador to the United States has arrived in the capital speaking of peace and Thomas Jefferson in a friendly manner.

U.S. protocol officials were at Union Station Thursday to extend a polite but correct reception to Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. Like his predecessor, Mikhail A. (Smiling Mike) Menshikov, Dobrynin affected an outwardly friendly manner.

He called for a joint U.S.-Soviet effort to turn the world toward peace and away from "the avalanche of a nuclear war." And he quoted an 1809 statement by Jefferson — "a great American" — that there is a remarkable similarity between the United States and Russia.

The ambassador's wife, Irina, added to the peace talk. She said she believes "everybody wants peace all over the world" and "all the women want peace for their children." The Dobryns have a 14-year-old daughter, Yelena.

Incomplete Data for Washington

U.S. Copters and Planes Shot Up in Viet Nam, Says One Source

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An authoritative American source said today "U.S. helicopters and planes here 'got shot up' nearly every day, and I think a lot of these incidents are never reported to Washington."

The source took issue with a Washington report that not one U.S. helicopter has been shot down and only three hit by Communist bullets in the war between President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces and Viet Cong guerrillas.

The source here said one U.S. helicopter was "unquestionably" brought down by Viet Cong ground fire on a mission last month at Hung My, on the southern tip of Viet Nam. "A Communist round got that ship in a rotor blade, which caused it to crash," he said.

ONE GI KILLED

Other high military sources said between 11 and 13 U.S. Army helicopters have been hit by Communist small arms but sustained only minor damage and returned safely to their bases.

One American soldier, Spec. 4 James T. Davis of Livingston, Tenn., has been killed by Communist bullets since 1959, sources said. He went down shooting while riding in a truck with Vietnamese troops who were ambushed near Saigon last December. American troops go on "combat-type training missions" with South Vietnamese units regularly, but are under orders to shoot back only if fired on.

Republicans Stick by Party Line

State Tax Bill Package Buried by 19-10 Vote

LANISING (AP) — Senate Republicans so far are sticking to the party line when it comes time to count noses on the burning issue of income or business taxes. Some rebel and moderate Republicans say, however, they may jump the line before the legislative session is over.

The preliminary test of strength was held when Democratic-controlled Gov. Swainson's package of tax bills in the Senate. These are built around a 3½ per cent personal and corporate income tax.

Democrats asked that the bills be laid on the table — a move to make them immediately available for debate and vote.

If this were not done, they would go to the Senate taxation committee and certain death.

VOTE 19-10

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings, R-Holland, had declared: "No income tax bill shall ever pass beyond the door of this committee."

The test vote was 19-10. The Democrats voted in a block to bring the bills out. The Republicans had 19 against it with two of their members declining to vote.

These were Sens. John W. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge, and Stanley G. Thayer, R-Ann Arbor.

The Senate moderates said after words they were caught off base and weren't prepared for the Democratic move today.

"They have too many chiefs and too few Indians," said Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Pontiac. Roberts indicated the liberals were ready to swing their power behind the Democratic move to bring the bills out but were caught by surprise by the action today. Two Democratic Senate leaders gave him a different set of signals, he said.

There was some tricky maneuvering and some angry speeches before the vote was taken. Some bitter words were said afterward.

DON'T KICK US

"If you want to shoot us, shoot us in the head," said Geerlings. "Don't kick us in the hind end."

Geerlings was talking of the move to take the tax decision away from his committee.

"My mother used to kiss me when I needed to be kissed and spank me when I needed to be spanked," retorted Sen. Charles S. Bloody, D-Detroit.

Lack of Men, Time Delay Recheck of State Dept. Employees

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — John W. Hanes Jr., head of State Department security under President Eisenhower, and present administrators Roger W. Jones and William O. Roswell agree on two key points.

1. The State Department is not "filled" with pro-Communists, security risks, disloyal men and women or people soft on communism, as the department's extremists often allege.
2. Security should not be 90 per cent perfect or even 99 per cent perfect. Ideally, it should be 100 per cent perfect.

Recommend Six Steps to Better Security Setup

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Experienced investigators recommend these immediate steps to improve State Department security:

1. The hiring of four specialists in psychological and psychiatric testing to develop a more modern system of screening new applicants.
2. A greater use of lie detectors to determine the truthfulness of new applicants and to aid in ferreting out psychotics and extreme neurotics.
3. The elimination of incompetent men at early stages in their careers, preferably before they have been with the State Department for more than six years.
4. A great improvement in the security files of State Department employees so that these files will match in their completeness those of certain other government departments.
5. A tougher clamp-down on foreign service and other employees who, though not security risks, may be "unsuitable" because of extremely bad judgment, emotional over-involvement with a particular group or philosophy in another country, or certain bad habits or associations.
6. Clearer assignment of responsibility within the department and closer supervision by the chieftains of the men under them.

The men who make these statements have seen the security records of the individuals — unidentified to this reporter — of whom they speak.

How have these men gotten to the positions they hold? Why are they not dismissed? The answers are complicated.

The State Department has had a modern security system for only a relatively few years. Many of its 14,000 employees were hired before there was an adequate system.

Security chief Roswell says that he was hired many years ago after only a quick check with the postmaster of his home town.

There has been an attempt in recent years to give every Foreign Service Officer and every other employee a check. Studies have been made to get at the more obviously suspicious matters in the files of all employees.

HARD TO BE THOROUGH
A great many individuals have been checked intensively. But there has never been the time nor the personnel to make the kind of thorough search of records that State Department security officers past and present would like to have.

Security men admit that a thorough checkup on all present employees of the department would be very difficult. Much material pertinent to an evaluation of employees as security risks is scattered through many files.

Key information that bears on the security reliability of Foreign Service officers is buried away in these varied files. It is buried, not deliberately, but simply because no one has ever had time to cross file material so that it would be readily usable by security men.

The recent 15 per cent cut in the State Department's domestic investigation, evaluation and allied officer staffs will indefinitely delay this fine check of all department personnel.

It will indefinitely delay the completion and organization of the files to readily permit the thorough investigations that working security officers believe should be carried out.

State Department security men have other problems.

There is no agreed, scientific way to determine whether a man or woman will be a security risk or not. There is no agreement on some areas on precisely what things are damning and which are not.

For example, a security officer says that after thorough study of a particular man, he found that according to regulations and evidence he could not rule the man a security risk. But at the same time, and this security officer: "If the decision had been mine, I would not have had him in the State Department."

"I could find no evidence that the man had broken any security rules, but his judgments were consistently so bad for the United States and so helpful to the Com to be not in our best interests," munitists that I considered his work."

Then there was the case of Irvin Scarbeck, convicted of supplying U.S. secrets to Communist agents in Poland.

A recent complete restudy of Scarbeck's entire record up to the time he played ball with the Reds has baffled security officers.

The can still find nothing in his pre-Poland record by which they believe they could have foretold that Scarbeck was a security or loyalty risk.

Security men say there is a certain tendency not to brand a man a security risk if there is no proof — even if the man's record puts a lie, of a Stanford, Calif., was the very strong doubt of his reliability in the security man's mind.

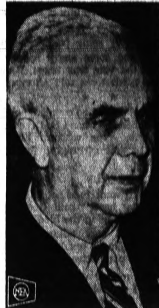

There is also a tendency to resolve a doubt in favor of the man — passing an incident or incidents in his record as "youthful folly."

Security men are sometimes over-judged "mistake" on doubtful cases. Security men who report these problems say they don't believe the number of the wrong men who get through these screenings is large. But there is a worry on the working level that the few who get through are too many. (End Series)

Only Two Bids Received on Space Laboratory

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The U.S. Engineers received only two bids Thursday on the first contract for a $30 million space laboratory to direct preparations for manned flight to the moon.

Ground Rules in Doubt for GIs in S. Viet Nam

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is finding it harder to portray its military men in South Viet Nam as purely adeline coaches in the war against Communist guerrillas.

A reporter raised the point at a news conference Thursday when he told Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara "there is some confusion as to the U.S. military role in South Viet Nam."

McNamara sought to make it very clear that the United States

Further questioning brought out that the fire was returned by Americans from aircraft as well as on the ground.

For some time American specialists in guerrilla warfare have accompanied Vietnamese army units into the jungles and rice paddies where the Communist Viet Cong lurk. On occasion, they have found themselves in the midst of shooting while aiding the Vietnamese in on the job training.

How does an American in such a situation know when bullets are aimed at him alone? Can he be expected to take the time to make sure before firing himself? No body here has spelled out the ground rules that explicitly:

Boy, 2, Electrocuted in Mishap at Home

DETROIT (AP)—The electric toaster was bright and shiny. Two-year-old Jeffrey A. Gaudin climbed up on a kitchen chair in his suburban Nankin township home to see the toaster at closer range.

Jeffery saw his own reflection. Leaning over a metal border around a formica counter, he kissed his reflection.

Jeffery fell dead. A coroner's verdict held it accidental electrocution.

is in South Viet Nam at that government's request, to supply training and equipment — not to fight.

"The Americans are under instructions not to fire unless fired upon," he said, "and this is the basic rule of engagement as it relates to our forces in South Viet Nam."

The Pentagon chief acknowledged some sporadic fire has been aimed at U.S. personnel "and in a few minor instances they have had to return that fire in self protection."

Stolen Masterpieces Found Near Florence

COMO, Italy (AP)—Police announced Thursday the recovery of 25 stolen paintings valued at $480,000. They were taken last December from a villa here.

The masterpieces were found near Florence following the arrest Wednesday of Ambrogio Gatti, 41, police said.

Investigators did not say whether Gatti had any part in the theft but revealed he had indicated how to find the paintings. The paintings included works by Canaletto, Corot, Fattori and Jacques and were stolen from a private mansion owned by Nedda Mieli Grassi.

Motorist Faces Assault Charge for Crashing Car

CHICAGO (AP)—A charge of assault with intent to commit murder was lodged Thursday against a motorist who police said deliberately crashed his car into a building in a fit of anger.

The motorist, Jose A. Jaure, 32, suffered a broken jaw. Also injured were Jaure's girl friend, Annabelle Mattingly, 22, and her sister, Patricia Malay, 21. Miss Mattingly's ankles were fractured and Mrs. Malay suffered internal injuries.

Miss Mattingly signed the complaint against Jaure. She told police he drove the car into the building after they had argued.

Measure Sent to JFK

Pension Fund Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (U) — Congress has sent President Kennedy legislation to set up tighter protection for $60 billion in pension and welfare funds.

The Senate Thursday cleared a compromised version of the bill by voice vote soon after the House passed it 283 to 108.

An effort by House Republicans to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference was defeated on a 217-182 roll call vote.

This was the second important item on Kennedy's legislative program.

The pension-welfare plan bill is designed to prevent wrongdoing in connection with funds set up for the benefit of an estimated 90 million Americans.

Hart Wants U.S. to Aid Refugees

Would Help Them Find Jobs After They Flee Communism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee has recommended that the United States do more to help rehabilitate refugees, particularly the millions who have fled the "self-proclaimed paradise of communism."

In a report expected to be filed shortly with the Senate, the subcommittee said refugee programs up to now have been limited mostly to supplying food, clothing, housing and medical care.

This aid, the subcommittee said, is insufficient to make great numbers of refugees self-supporting. The resulting discontentment "provides the troubled waters in which anti-democratic and totalitarian forces breed and multiply," it said.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., urged more assistance in cash and surplus American food as one way to rehabilitate those who "voted with their feet, leaving all to find freedom." It also suggested emphasis on elementary and vocational training.

It said the continuing flight of refugees from Red China pose almost insoluble problems for Hong Kong, probably the most densely populated area on earth.

If you want a lawn to be proud of, spend five minutes reading this message.

"Give me one Saturday morning of honest effort and I will guarantee you a better lawn — no matter how much crabgrass there is around"

says your Scotts Dealer

DURING the past four years millions of lawn owners have won the battle against crabgrass. They have used a remarkable new lawn aid called HALTS and now enjoy the reward of a better lawn.

Crabgrass, one of nature's most prolific weeds, is an annual that starts from seed each year. These seeds may be in the soil from last year's plants or carried over from previous years. Or they may have been blown in or washed in from the neighborhood.

Your lawn need not be infested with crabgrass this year

These crabgrass seeds need not come up this year. You can stop them by putting down an invisible barrier of HALTS — the sooner the better, in any event before the third or fourth spring mowing. Halts is a clean, granular material. Applying it is a simple matter. With the Scotts Spreader you quickly blanket the entire lawn. Each tiny particle of Halts is more than a match for the wildest crabgrass plant. It lies in wait; then strikes as crabgrass sprouts.

What you need to know

1. Realize if you or your neighbors had crabgrass last year, you will have it this year.
2. Realize you can stop it before it comes up.
3. Realize you can plant new grass the same day.
4. Realize you can fertilize at the same time — on the same day.
5. Realize you can do the whole job in 90 minutes on a 50 x 100 ft lawn.

sturdiness to your lawn and gives your new grass the strong start it needs.

Scotts guarantees your success

Your Scotts Dealer is ready to help you grow a better lawn with the research, advice and products of O M Scott & Sons — a firm that has offered this guarantee throughout its 90 year history: You must be satisfied or your money back. This can so easily be your year to have a better lawn. Next Astronaut Willing to Give His Life

By HOWARD BENDER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Michael Scott Carpenter, selected suddenly as America's next space pilot, has said often that the conquest of space is an adventure he's willing to give his life for.

The risks, he says, are far overshadowed by the challenge, the chance to be a pioneer in manned exploration of the universe.

Carpenter, 38, a Navy commander, was picked Thursday to ride the next Project Mercury capsule into orbit. His selection by Mercury officials followed disclosure that the designated pilot, Air Force Maj. Donald R. Slayton, has heart trouble.

Carpenter's flight is intended to be very similar to John H. Glenn Jr.'s three-time-around-the-world orbit on Feb. 20. It is scheduled for some time in May. Carpenter was Glenn's backup pilot and worked closely with him for months.

DREAMS OF SPACE
This nation's next space pilot has dreamed often of traveling into the unknown void of space.

"Riding the centrifuge," Carpenter says, "I imagine sometimes that I'm not in the flight simulator at all, but in the very capsule itself."

"There can be no substitute, though, for the thrilling reality of the moment when the astronaut realizes he's finally in a good orbit. It will be a moment when he can start to appreciate some new and wonderful sensations."

With four children, the handsome, Colorado-born Carpenter has the largest family of the astronaut team. The children are Mark Scott, 12; Robin Jay, 8; Kristine Elaine, 6; and Candace Noxon, 5. A fifth child died in 1951 at the age of 6 months.

Carpenter's attractive wife Rene shares his space role intimately. When they are separated for long periods by his rigorous training program, they write long letters. He tells in detail of the progress of Project Mercury and Rene says she once sent her 17 pages.

They long ago learned to live with the prospect of danger in his job. Rene recalls a time when she wasn't so adjusted. She said that when he was a test pilot at Potomac, Md., she became extremely nervous whenever he didn't show up at 6 o'clock on the dot for dinner.

But they often discussed the risks involved and now spend little time worrying about them.

Both are natives of Boulder, Colo., where Carpenter was born May 1, 1925.

ENGINEERING GRADUATE
He began his flying career in 1943 in the Navy's V5 training program at Colorado College. After World War II, he entered the University of Colorado and in 1949 received a degree in aeronautical engineering.

After graduation he joined the Navy and became an airborne electronics expert. During the Korean War he was involved in antisubmarine patrol, shipping surveillance and aerial mining in the Yellow and South China seas and in the Formosa Straits.

He graduated from the Navy test pilot school in 1954 and began the hazardous testing task which qualified him as a Project Mercury astronaut.

A specialist in navigation and communications, Carpenter has helped develop an efficient communications system for the Mercury capsule.

Carpenter spends as much of his free time as possible with his family at their home at Langley, Air Force Base, Va., home of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's manned space flight center. He enjoys archery, skin-diving and skiing. While on Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas during Glenn's post-flight debriefing, Carpenter rescued a skindiver in distress. He is an Episcopalian.

Carpenter feels that one of the greatest blessings of being named an astronaut is that it rescued him from a two-year tour of duty on an aircraft carrier. His astronaut orders arrived hours before the ship was to carry him to the South Pacific on a non-flying job.

Bus Line in Straits --- So Citizens Buy It

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—It didn't take residents of this city of 30,000 long to figure out a way to stop a suspension of public bus service—they bought out the company.

Several months ago the Zanesville Rapid Transit Co. announced that it was being forced to stop its bus service here because of increased operating costs and a drop in revenues.

Residents estimated that with $15,000, a down payment could be made on the 24 buses operated by the company and initial operating expenses could be met to take over the faltering firm.

In 15 days the goal was more than doubled, and Thursday officials proudly announced a yet-to-be formed company has $33,000 in its treasury.

CHILDREN HELP
Donations came from school children, elderly persons, merchants, civic groups and $3,600 from the local bus drivers' union.

The money was given on the understanding that it may never be repaid. However, officials are hopeful dividends can be issued to the donors when the official company is formed.

The present company, which has been operating without a charter since Feb. 18, plans to sell its buses for $25,000. A date for the transaction has not been set.

Expect JFK to Air Transportation Jam

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A presidential message dealing with the plight and problems of transportation in cities and the nation, enacted last year and delayed this year, now is expected to go to Congress some time next week.

One major phase of it will deal with the perplexing question of how to get people in and out of the country's big cities which are growing bigger and are clogged with traffic.

Various surveys and experts, and some members of Congress, have recommended a system of federal loans and grants to states and communities to help them toward a solution.

But one thing which apparently has been holding back the transportation message for months is the complexity and cost of undertaking transportation programs.

Clerical Leader Dead

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Lester H. Cleve, 73, prominent clergyman and political leader, died Thursday of cancer.

Small Boat Saves 3 From Sinking Vessel

ADAK, Alaska (UPI)—A small fishing boat answering a "May Day" call for help from a sinking larger vessel saved the lives of its captain and two crewmen last night in icy waters off the Aleutian Islands.

The 120-foot Seaventure, out of Seattle, Wash., had radioed during the afternoon that it was sinking from the effect of 35-knot winds and eight-foot sea swells. Two Coast Guard planes, the Navy tug USS Abanaki and a private seagoing tug, the Mohawk, began racing to the stricken vessel's aid.

But a small fishing boat, the Silver Wave, reached the Seaventure ahead and took the three men off about 15 miles east of this Aleutian Island naval base. The Coast Guard said no one else was aboard.

He Becomes a Whipped Dog

Young Man Who Weds for Money Loses Everything

By MA. BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Do you want to marry a really wealthy woman?

BOYLE
There is a common saying among men that the ideal wife would be a pretty girl without vocal cords who had a loving disposition—and also just happened to own a prosperous liquor store.

One cannot quarrel with this dream. It raises a picture of potential wedded bliss that seems ideal to many thoughtful members of the male sex. A girl like that sure could be nice to come home to.

But the crimp-poketted young fellow who yearns to throw in his marital lot with a financially loaded lady just doesn't realize the trouble he'd know. No poverty of purse is as hard for a real man to bear as the spiritual poverty that comes with being a rich woman's toy.

AN EXAMPLE
Let me give you a true-life example. Only the names and a few circumstances have been changed. Mark was a big, handsome, gay, witty, charming young fellow.

Smart, too. The executives in his business firm saw a real future for him.
Then Dolly met him. Dolly was beautiful, possessive and rich. Not just ordinary rich. Real rich. Mark and Dolly fell deeply in love. And Dolly, who always got what she wanted, decided that what she wanted most was Mark. Finally, she bluntly asked him why he hadn't proposed.

He explained he couldn't support her in the way she liked to live. "What's money?" she asked lightly. "I've got more than we could spend in 10 generations."

She left after him and so, despite Mark's qualms, they were married.

USUAL TRAGEDY
"It's usually tragic for a poor man to marry money. But maybe not for Mark. He does have real character and independence."

Mark kept on working. But after a year the life of a housewife began to bore Dolly. She liked to travel. She talked Mark into quitting his job, gave him a big checking account of his own so he'd have a feeling of freedom.

Soon they were moving solely in Dolly's fast international set. Mark seldom saw any of his old friends.

Some years later I traveled to a city in which they had one of their mansions. Mark drove up and beeped the horn of an expensive cream-colored convertible. "Dolly gave it to me for my birthday," he said.

Mark looked tired, heavier and disappointed. He explained he had developed chronic ulcers. On the drive to his home he said he was desperately unhappy, that his wife's money had become a burden, that he felt he had lost his own self-respect and the respect of others.

When I asked him why he didn't get a divorce, he said, "I'm still in love with Dolly."
"Well, why don't you go back to work and make her live on what you earn?" I asked.
"She couldn't," Mark said. "It's too late for her to change. I guess there really is no way out."

The three of us had a gay evening at a night club. But Mark danced with a woman Dolly didn't like, and there was a bitter quarrel on the way home.

"I thought you were going to drive me in that fancy new convertible," I said, surprised.
"I can't," said Mark. "Dolly took it away from me this morning—ing—for dancing with that woman last night."

It wasn't many months after that I read of Mark's death. Somehow it didn't startle me. It was the only way Mark could escape the misery that went with Dolly's money.

But even then he didn't quite make it. Over Mark's grave Dolly erected the most expensive tombstone in the cemetery.

People who pass by it murmur: "Boy, he must have been really rich! It's a shame anybody with all that dough had to die."

Device Makes Quick Color Prints Without Darkroom

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newswriters

A remarkable development in automatic, amplified, quick color printing from color negatives is announced by the Pavelle Corp., of Rockville Center, New York City.

It permits amateur photographers to make slightly enlarged color prints at home without a darkroom with practically no effort. The process takes three minutes and requires no technical skill.

the process at the firm's White Plains, N. Y., research lab just prior to its recent public unveiling at the photo trade show in Chicago. I brought my own color negatives and made my own color prints with a few moments' instruction.

The complete process, except for washing and drying, takes place in a plastic machine which resembles a slide projector. The machine's full name is the P100 Automatic Daylight Color Printer-Processor. It has a front (process) ing) and rear (light source) compartment and a set of dials (Control) along the side.

The color negative fits in a negative holder in the rear compartment. The processing tray slides into the front compartment. There are two sections for only two chemical solutions: a color developer and a bleach-dix. A roll of special color printing material is also in the front compartment.

The P100 is plugged into an electric outlet to start the machine working. Its brain is a miniature analog computer which analyzes a color negative and determines its color balance and exposure in a matter of seconds. This is done by turning three dials, one at a time, until a pointer on each dial is brought to a center point. Two of the dials select the proper color filter combinations and a third dial electronically gauges the proper exposure.

The selected exposure is timed while a knob is pressed which turns on the enlarger lamp in the rear compartment — a standard photoflood. This exposes a fixed focus enlargement on the special print material in the front compartment. Pressing another knob in front, slices off the exposed print and starts it on its automatic route through the two processing solutions. At the end of three minutes the completed color print emerges through a groove in the front. It must be thoroughly washed up to eight minutes) then dried.

CHANGE COLOR BALANCE
After seeing the print, photographers can deliberately change the color balance or make color corrections to suit their own taste or creative urge by shifting the pointers on the color filter knob.

The P100 handles roll film color negatives from 35mm to 2 1/4" x 2 1/4". Color prints range from wallet size (2 1/2" x 3 1/2")

Defense Radar Gets Blame

Fails to Notify Pilot Plane's on Dangerous Course in Alaska

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), for the first time Thursday blamed air defense radar for failing to prevent the crash of a commercial airliner.

The CAB said radar was tracking a Pacific Northern Airlines Constellation just before it crashed into an Alaskan mountain peak June 14, 1960, but did not warn either the crew or the nearest federal air traffic control center that the plane was off course.

The CAB said the accident, in which all 28 passengers and five crew members died, was caused primarily by the pilots' failure to use all available navigational aids. The board said if such aids had been used, the plane would not have wandered away from its prescribed airway.

But the CAB added that a contributing factor "was the failure of air defense radar, which had been tracking the aircraft, to notify either ARTCC (Air Route Traffic Control Center) or the crew that the aircraft was proceeding on a dangerous course."

The Constellation was climbing to an assigned altitude of 10,000 feet when it crunched into Mt. Gilbert, a 9,646-foot peak 28 miles to the right of the flight's intended course. The plane had just left Cordova, Alaska, bound for Anchorage.

Palm Springs Will Host JFK for Two Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is going to spend two full days in the swank Palm Springs area of California, next weekend and then make an overnight return flight to Washington.

The White House outlined details of the trip Thursday. An itinerary was put together when Kennedy accepted an invitation to speak and receive an honorary degree at the University of California at Berkeley on Friday, March 23. While he is on the West Coast he will drop in at Vandenberg Air Force Base and look over its vast missile operations, then go on to Palm Springs for a weekend of relaxation.

Let Him Rant and Rave—Abby

Don't Take It Seriously

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks I'm Houdini. He expects me to do everything with both my hands tied behind my back. He likes to give big parties, but when the bills come he says I'm trying to send him to the poorhouse.

ABBY

When we are up late the night before, he tells me not to get up early in the morning, but raises Cain because there's no breakfast. Please print this with any suggestions you may have.

NO HOUDINI DEAR NO: When your husband snorts and growls, don't take him seriously. He realizes that his demands are impossible. He also knows you aren't Houdini. If you were, you'd have made him disappear years ago.

DEAR ABBY: We frequently have weekend guests. Before retiring I say, "We will serve breakfast at 9 a.m." One of my husband's aunts is an early riser and she is up and dressed and prowling around the kitchen at 6:00 getting her own breakfast. I do not like anyone in my kitchen, and I do not care to get up with the chickens to serve my guests at that hour. Have you a solution?

UPSET HOSTESS: Either give your early-rising guest a "survival kit" before she retires or be a good sport and let her use your kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: My problems are my two sons, 8 and 11. I can't take them anywhere because of the way they act. They are forever fighting with each other. I've had friends and relatives tell me please if I come over to leave the boys home. My neighbors chase them out of their yards and don't want their children playing with mine. My boys are human, Abby, and it hurts me to see them treated this way. Sometimes I feel like knocking their heads off but I have never hit them and it's too late to start now. What should I do?

MRS. Z. DEAR MRS. Z.: Unfortunately your sons are paying the price for what you failed to teach them years ago. Help them by explaining that unless they control their tempers and learn to get along with each other (and others) they will have no friends and will never be welcome anywhere. Keep them apart until they learn you mean business. And keep them home until they shape up.

Mother's Illness Greatly Upsets Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
How is a child taught consideration for his parents? My sister has been quite sick with the flu. On the night she was running her highest temperature, her 4-year-old boy refused to let his father or me bring him a glass of water at bedtime and made his mother get out of bed and get it for him. He showed no interest in her illness but screamed until she gave him what he wanted.

ANSWER: It wasn't a glass of water that he wanted. What he screamed for was reassurance that his mother was still able to serve him.

Little children can get scary ideas about us when we are ill. Doctors are called and the house is heavy with an atmosphere of anxiety. They can conclude that we intend to abandon them, withdrawing our services from them forever.

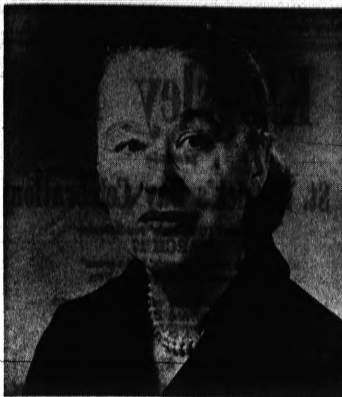

YOU BE CONSIDERATE
So what our relatives should say to them on these occasions is: "Mommy is not going to leave you. She'll bring you your water again as soon as she feels better, but right now you'll have to put up with me."

In people of your little nephews' age "consideration" for their mothers has not been developed. Mothers still exist as part of them. As before birth, they used "mother's" lungs to breathe with and later used her body for food and locomotion, they continue for some time to regard her as an extension of themselves.

Her legs are for running to them when they call her; her hands are for reaching up to candy jars. Like Aladdin's obedient genie, mother lives only to serve them.

When she falls sick, they are frightened. To comprehend their serving giants as vulnerable to weakness shakes the foundation of their power in the world.

As they see us accepting ourselves as humans in need of consideration, they gradually outgrow their view of us as invulnerable giants of power — and can occasionally give us human consideration, too.

NILA MAGIDOFF

'Nila' to Describe Visit to Ex-Homeland, Russia

"I Return to Russia as an American" will be the subject of Nila Magidoff's lecture to Pontiac Oakland Town Hall members Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in the Huron Theater.

This first-hand account of the human element in Russia today will be presented by the heroine of the best seller "Nila." Wife of former new correspondent Robert Magidoff, who broadcast from Moscow during the war years, Nila experienced years of hardship before their marriage in Moscow in 1937.

Nila was a factory worker, a merchant marine and clothes designer, who survived Siberian exile and extreme poverty to become a writer and noted Moscow newspaperwoman.

What groups throughout the nation have discovered as Nila's most amazing feature is the "energy, vivacity and irrepressible sense of humor" that carried her through these adventures.

After living for years in America and finally becoming a citizen, Nila revisited Russia in 1958 to see how living conditions had changed. She traveled with her friend and biographer, Willie Snow Ethridge.

Nila's lecture, the last of the season, will be followed by a celebrity luncheon at Devon Gables. Reservations may be placed with Mrs. Clyde Deering of Ottawa Drive.

Tickets for the 1962-63 season are available through Mrs. Cecil McCullum. Program chairman for Pontiac Oakland Town Hall is Mrs. Maxwell Shadley.

Delegates to the one-day affair are expected from across Canada and the United States. Business sessions, a luncheon, banquet, entertainment and dance are scheduled at the auditorium and in Memorial Convention Hall. Convention Headquarters will be the Hotel Norton-Palmer.

The TBPA affords an opportunity for those with common interests to meet regularly. Charter flights to and from the British Isles out of New York are arranged. Parents attend a convention each year in England.

Convention chairman, Mrs. Rans Blondo of St. Clair Shores, has extended a welcome to British women who are eligible for membership. Tickets will be available to non-members after May 15. Husbands are invited to participate.

Nine delegates from England will be present, including the president, Councillor Mrs. M. Bamker, former mayor of Southport, Lancashire, England.

Oakland Girl Scouts

They're Still Camping Out

Girl Scouts of today feel as much at "home on the range by campfire light" as scouts did when Juliette Low founded the Girl Scouts in America in 1912.

Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council offers three types of camping: troop, day and resident, for girls from 7 to 17.

Troop camping is done by one group and its leaders who plan and set up their own camp for one night, or perhaps longer, on sites approved by the council. It may be a simple experience in outdoor living such as a mobile camping trip or it may involve primitive camping.

Day camping provides outdoor program opportunities in its least expensive form, by the day, near home. Day camp groups are divided into units which concentrate on outdoor skills and activities. Some 13 day camps are planned throughout the council for this summer.

SUSTAINED PROGRAM
At Camp Sherwood, the resident camp operated by the council, the girls experience a sustained camping program of round-the-clock living with girls of their own age level. Program activities include swimming, boating, hiking, cook-outs, nature study and campcraft.

While Brownies, the youngest group, do not go troop camping, they can, however, go on a Brownie holiday, spending a few days at a cottage, farmhouse or cabin with their leaders or mothers.

They may also attend day or resident camp with units of girls of their own age. At Camp Sherwood they become accustomed to sleeping in cabins, making their own beds, taking care of personal belongings and sharing the campkeeping tasks.

Intermediate Scouts go on progressive hikes and cook-outs leading to troop camping overnight in a backyard or a week-end at Camp Sherwood. The Scouts bring home expertise in camping skills and make outdoor equipment such as knapsacks, broilers and stoves.

Senior Scouts enjoy such specialized programs as Ranger Aide or Trail Blazer. At resident camp, they develop their camping knowledge and gradually assume greater responsibility for self-government.

Sometimes they share their special skills by assisting camp personnel as program, hospital, office or library aides.

In Girl Scout camping, as in the entire Scouting program, groups are kept small enough to enable the girls to develop individually and learn to work with others. Democratic troop government is stressed. Trained adult leaders who enjoy outdoor living and are concerned with the development of youth carry out the program.

For 'Guinness' Sakes, Did You Know---

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — A new book, which will hit the stands next Monday, is literally "The Most." It is also the least. The greatest. The smallest. The longest and shortest and conflict and cheapest record book on record. It has everything, along with a lot of nothing, to use in starting conversations and stopping arguments. They call it "The Guinness Book of World Records."

I opened it at random and found myself among the sports record pages. There I discovered: "The smallest full grown fish ever caught is a schindleria praematurus in Samoa, weighing 1/14,000th of an ounce."

What a fish story for the next session of the bridge club!

Backtracking, I found myself under accidents and disasters. The greatest disaster toll was 75,000,000 killed by the black death (bubonic plague), 1347-51. Poor runners-up, the influenza epidemic of April-November 1918, with 21,640,000 deaths.

Flipped the pages and discovered that "the longest moustache on record is that of Masoudy Din, a Brahmin of Bombay, which in nine years has grown to an extended span of 76 inches and costs $36.40 per year in upkeep."

But that's nothing. In 1885, a 15-year-old girl established a record by yawning continuously for a period of five weeks.

The best-selling book of all time is, of course, the Bible.

Next best-seller: Dr. Benjamin Spock's "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care." And here's another literary note to nameste your friends: The best-selling novel of all time is Grace Metalious' "Peyton Place," with 11,000,000 copies sold by 1961.

$7 MILLION A WEEK

In this book, there is something to interest everyone; economists, for instance, may like to know that the man with the highest income in the world is 65-year-old His Highness, Sir Abdulah Al-Salam Al Subah, ruler of Kuwait, with an estimated $7,200,000 a week. Tax-free.

And the poorest people in the world are 42 surviving Pituh found in the Northern Territory of Australia in July 1957. They subsist with water from leak holes and by eating rats.

The most costly land in the world is that in the City of London.

The heaviest smokers in the world are the white population of the Union of South Africa. (Nervous, eh?). Second heaviest is the U.S.A., where 58 per cent of men and 36 per cent of women over 15 smoke.

BORGE TOPS TV

Only TV transmission to achieve a reaction index (rating) of 98 was the BBC's broadcast of the wedding of HRH Princess Margaret. The world's highest paid TV performer is Victor Borge; on one hour-long CBS telecast he made $175,000, or $2,917 a minute.

As if you didn't know, the commonest illness in the world is nasopharyngitis, or the common cold. The commonest disease is dental caries, or tooth decay.

You think you have a tough job? The greatest number of children produced by a mother is that of the wife of a Russian, Fedor Vassilet, who in 27 complements, gave birth to 27 children (16 pairs of twins, 7 sets of triplets, 4 sets of quadruplets).

Speaking of physical fitness, the duration record for walking on-hand is 871 miles. In 1900, Johann Hunsinger hand-walked from Vienna to Paris, averaging 1.78 m.p.h.

Most prolific murder in history was a man, Hercules Webster Whodget (1890), who disposed of some 130 women in Chicago. Most active murderer was Bella Gussone (1939-1961) who killed a relatively modest 28 in La Porte, Ind.

But the country with the highest over-all murder rate (as late as 1958) is Mexico, which averaged 42.64 homicides a day. There is no death penalty, and 56.6 per cent of murderers are freed.

This book is full of such goodies—as well as with documented records in every conceivable field of human endeavor. If you, like me, are fascinated by the most of the best and worst, you will read it. And then, at the next cocktail party, you may set a new world's nonstop talking record (133 hours, in 1955).

Ohio Faculty Has Beautiful Home for a Retreat

ZALESKI, Ohio — Ohio University at Athens now has a ready-made vacation spot for faculty members.

It's a beautiful century-old home on spacious grounds at Zaleski, about 25 miles away by road from the Athens campus. The house and grounds were presented to the university by Miss Margaret Jane Fischer, who now lives in New York City.

The house, built by Miss Fischer's grandfather, one of the area's original settlers, is completely furnished down to the table linen. Ohio University is using it as a faculty vacation spot, study retreat, conference headquarters and—under faculty supervision—has let students hold weekend meetings at "Fischer House."

Marketing charges consumed 66 per cent of the $28 billion Americans spent last year for farm food products.

'Dying Race' Grows, Australia Reports

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—The native aborigines—often called a "dying race"—are increasing in Australia's Northern Territory.

Welfare Director Harry Giese told the Legislative Council the Territory's native population is 18,000.

But, he added, the birth rate indicates there would be 18,000 by 1965 and 20,000 by 1980.

There are some 40,000 full-blooded aborigines in Australia today, compared with an estimated 300,000 when the white man arrived in 1788.

Students Lend Hand

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — When it came time to move some 80,000 books to a new library at Indiana State College the students came to the rescue. Scores of students made two or three trips daily from the old library to the new building—and each time carried a bundle of books.

People who fly into a rage at ways make a bad landing.

Salutes Central's 2 Publications as Timely Informers, Keepsakes

By WADE WILKINSON

One of the easiest ways to find out about Pontiac Central High School is to read its student publications. That is why people are so impressed when they pick up a copy of the school paper, the Quiver, or look at one of the yearbooks, a Quiver.

Depending on the Student Union for mass distribution, these two publications attempt to keep the student body informed of the latest happenings, and serve as keepsakes in the years ahead.

The Quiver is the annually published yearbook containing the highlights of the school year. This year's final deadline when all of the many pictures and page layouts must be in is April 12. Already partially printed, the Quiver will be ready for distribution May 28.

PLAN CONTEST
This year the Quiver is planning a cover contest. All students are asked to enter a design for the following year's publication. The entry deadline is May 25.

A number of new techniques are being used to make the Quiver stand out among yearbooks. There will be fewer but larger pictures which will be "cropped" and "bleeded" in unique manners throughout the yearbook.

Featured will be 28 pages by the nationally known yearbook photographer, Irving Lloyd and his candid camera.

The Quiver is the biweekly school newspaper of Pontiac Central High School. Every other Friday students receive a copy filled with news articles and sports stories of vital importance.

INFORMS ALL
Schedules and announcements of coming events are all covered by the Quiver as it fulfills its duty to inform its readers of the activities going on around the school.

The Quiver is well known around the state and out, due to the large scale exchange program carried on with other school newspapers.

The photography techniques used by the Quiver have drawn wide acclaim, and are used as examples of "the best" at journalism conferences throughout the state, as are some of the writing styles. Numerous awards have been captured in the various contests the Quiver has completed in.

Activities of this sort are only as good as their members and this is where the students themselves enter the picture. Both the Quiver and the Tomahawk are staffed completely by students who give up their time and energy to aid their school while learning the "ins and outs" of the publishing profession.

ADVISE STUDENTS
The Quiver is advised by Kenneth Brown, journalism instructor.

Members of the staff of the Tomahawk are as follows: co-

Others are sports editor, Bob Bedford; faculty editor, Susie Dawe; underclassmen, Kathy LaCure; activities, John Cline and Judy Hillman; and seniors editor, Yolanda Perazzo.

Hubert Thomas Kneidmeyer, until last month, was adult adviser to the Tomahawk, when he retired to counseling; died recently. In tribute to Mr. "K" and the intangible something he supplied to all who knew him, a scholarship fund is being raised for some 1962 graduating senior.

NO 'DUMMY' BUSINESS — Pontiac Central High's two publications, the school paper, Tomahawk, and yearbook, the Quiver, do unite in times of business. Here a Quiver editor, left, Mary Stehr, listens in on a discussion about

'dummying' skills or planning a page for print. Representing the Tomahawk is editor Micki King (center) and Quiver advisor Kenneth Brown. Both publications depend on the Student Union for mass distribution.

New St. Mike Trophy Sparks Smiles, Hope Oxford Debaters Win in District

By SHARON RODDEN
The students and faculty at St. Michael High School have been wearing non-diminishing smiles and eager hopes throughout this week.

The reason for the smiles and hopes stems from a brand new trophy that now sits in the trophy case. The trophy signifies that our team, in beating St. Mary's of Royal Oak Saturday night, is now the Class C District Champions.

The boys journeyed to Ypsilanti on Wednesday night to compete in the Regionals with Ann Arbor University High School. The bright posters displayed in the halls might have been an extra incentive to the 100 "plus" Michellite rosters who accompanied them with confidence in their ability.

TOTAL MISMATCH
Reds and pinks, purples and oranges, plaids and stripes, and checks and dots formed a conglomeration of mismatches. Thursday-afternoon when the seniors proclaimed Senior girls' "Freshmen Day" and senior boys' "Tenny Day."

"Anything goes" seemed to be the favorite slogan as every student got into the act of being freshmen again. The girls were the center of attraction with their mismatched skirts and sweaters while the boys had equal fun decked out in their old tennis shoes and old hats — in general, anything old and crazy that they could find.

The freshmen, through careful observation, chose Joan Klinkhamer and Charlie Daal as the "Best dressed freshmen of the day" and presented each of them with a coveted jar of Gerber's baby food.

OFFERS CONTRAST
In contrast to the "senior's" follies, Wednesday was a "Day of Recollection." Father Thomas Frazer was welcomed to conduct the all-day affair consisting of interesting spiritual talks and spiritual readings which helped to induce a more religious atmosphere to the Lenten season.

The charter for the Aquinas Chapter of the National Honor Society has finally arrived.

At this time the students will first be allowed to meet the judges and explain their projects in detail. Then the judges will evaluate the projects in private and give their final decision.

SHAPE SCENES
Juniors of Waterford are busy doing last-minute organizational jobs as they piece together scenes in Junior Showboat before final rehearsals begin Monday.

The theme of the traditional variety show this year is "Showboat Around the World." This novel idea of taking the Showboat scenes from continent to continent was the idea of the scriptwriting committee and other Waterford students under the direction of Gilbert Bergsrud, a WTHS speech teacher. Patricia Holt, a social studies teacher, is the choreographer of three scenes for the show.

The ticket and program committee have recently got together and decided to have the tickets in gold and the programs in blue. This follows the tradition of the school's color. Tickets may be purchased from any junior from now until next Friday when the production will be presented to the public.

Forensic students participating in the Local Forensic Contest were meeting today during fifth and sixth hours. This meeting was held to determine what students would participate in the District Contest. Announcement of the winners will be in the near future.

Squad to Try Regional, Singers Rate 'Superior' in Vocalist Festival

By ANN PICKFORD

Oxford High School has, of late, been winning honors in various fields. It has been announced to the students that the debate squad had won the District Championship and is now eligible for the regionals.

Janet Langley and Gerry Phillips were among six entries from Oxford in the recent District Vocal Solo and Ensemble Festival at Wayne State University. Both received "Superior" ratings for their solo numbers.

Janey, who plans to take a course in music at Western Michigan next year, has attended solo-ensemble festivals previously.

This year one of her numbers was Mozart's "Cradle Song." She also uses her alto voice to cheer for the Oxford Wildcats on the varsity cheerleading squad. The judge complimented her on her expression and interpretation.

Gerry, also planning a musical career at the University of Minnesota, sang "The Blind Pilgrimage" by Robert C. Clarke for one of his numbers. Gerry, a wide-ranged tenor who plays basketball on the Oxford varsity team, was praised for his excellent diction and full tone.

Norma Geisler, participating for the first time in the festival, received an "excellent" (2) rating.

Gilpatric Says U.S. May Limit Its Retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric says the United States might retaliate in a limited way if it were attacked.

In discussing possible U.S. strategy Thursday night at a meeting of the Electronic Industries Association, Gilpatric said the thinking has been "in terms of not total retaliation but in terms of response."

It might not prevail. He explained: "It might not, for example, be our objective to inflict maximum damage on the enemy. Instead, our primary purpose might be to bring the conflict to an end favorable to us to minimize damage inflicted on ourselves, our allies and neutrals."

Algerian Treaty Appears Nearer

French, Rebels Reach Compromise on Role of the Moslem Army

EVIAN, France (AP) — Prospects for a French-Algerian cease-fire appeared improved today following agreement on the role of the rebel army in the period between the armistice and independence of the North African territory.

Both French and Algerian informants at the peace talks predicted a cease-fire might be proclaimed over the weekend by President Charles de Gaulle and the rebel premier, Ben Youssef Ben Khedda.

The informants reported general progress Thursday in a long day of negotiations after the talks had appeared headed for deadlock.

The two delegations agreed that the rebel army units would retain the positions they hold in the Algerian interior—and would have some freedom of movement around those positions. Previously the French had demanded that they be closely confined to certain camps or areas.

Sources said the negotiators were approaching another compromise on the fate of thousands of Algerian political prisoners in French jails.

The Nationalists originally demanded a general amnesty for them. The French insisted on dealing with each case individually. The compromise would let most go free but provide for a six-man commission, including rebel representation, to look into disputed cases.

East German Guard Flees; Halted by Pals

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards shot down a comrade trying to flee to the West during the night, West Berlin police reported today.

A Western police patrol saw the guard run and then collapse after three or four shots were heard. East German guards bandaged the man's head and took him away.

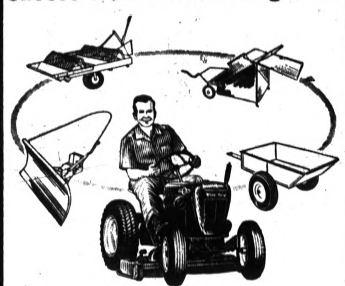

Western police also reported that an East German escaped in the darkness by sliding down a rope from a house on the border. He broke his ankle and went to a hospital.

Bullets Only Clues in Assassination Try

DETROIT (UPI) — Two spent bullets were the only clues police had today in the attempted assassination of Detroit coal executive Harold Mittle; 49.

The slugs were taken from Mittle's car. Police said an examination indicated they were from a .30 caliber pistol of foreign make. Mittle narrowly escaped death Thursday when a gunman fired two shots at him in the garage of Mittle's Grasse Pointe Park home. Police said Mittle's quick reaction — he dropped to the floor when he heard the scuffling of feet — probably saved his life.

MSUO's Student Senate Collapses... No Interest

Student government at Michigan State University Oakland has dissolved itself.

The Student Senate voted itself out of the legislative-representative role after calling off today's scheduled elections when only 20 candidates applied for 20 seats.

Also frozen have been $500 in collected student government tax funds. The 50-cents-a-semester tax will continue to be collected.

In a parting gesture the senate also okayed an additional $1-a-semester assessment to be collected in student fees to support the student newspaper, "The Oakland Observer." Originally, the students were to have been given a chance to vote on this fee in today's election.

Paul Turk, executive secretary of the dormant senate, said today the actions were taken "to emphasize the lack of participation by students has made student government meaningless."

House Passes Welfare Bill

$325-Million Measure Includes Hike in Relief Not Sought by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a $325-million welfare bill, including a $100-million boost in relief payments which was not sought by President Kennedy.

The bill makes a series of administration-sponsored changes in the federal-state welfare program.

It passed the House Thursday on a 319-80 roll call vote. Before sending it to the Senate, the House rejected, 231 to 156, a Republican-backed move to lop off the extra relief payments.

That provision would revise the federal-state formula for payments financing relief of needy, aged, disabled and blind persons. The net effect would be an increase of about $4 monthly in the federal contribution.

It would increase the top possible federal-state payment to $70 a month, at a total price tag of $14 million.

Republicans also objected to a provision boosting from 50 to 75 grants for state programs aimed at rehabilitation and self-sufficiency for people on relief rolls. But there was no formal move to eliminate that section.

"Government," he added, "is only as strong as those it governs."

TO STUDY PROBLEM

The dean of students is expected to establish a steering committee to study student representation and election procedures to a new government body, if one is formed.

However, Turk said, no action to re-establish student government was likely until September.

Dean of students Duncan Sells today added:

"When the students feel a need for student government I'm sure it will be re-established. There will be no move taken on our part to place a student government on the student. The student steering committee which probably will be appointed next week will serve a liaison function between the administration and the students."

45 Rebels Killed in Offensive by South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government forces reportedly have killed 45 Viet Cong rebels and captured 67 within 24 hours after launching an offensive 100 miles west of Saigon, near the Cambodian frontier.

Informal sources said several companies of Vietnamese troops supported by U.S. Army helicopters attacked a band of about 100 Communists in An Giang Province after American B-57 fighter bombers struck from the air.

Government soldiers pushed forward but a number of the rebels were believed to have escaped across the Cambodian border.

Red guerrillas ambushed a company of South Viet Nam Civil Guards Wednesday in Phuoc Thang Province. The government said 24 were killed, 19 wounded and 29 missing. Among the wounded was the local district chief and the wives of two civil guards.

Thailand to Fight Reds

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Prime Minister Marshal Sarit Thanarat pledged his government will fight to the very end against Communist attempts to subvert this country.

The Ecuadorian Andes are dominated by 30,961-foot mountain described by Bolivar as "the watchtower of the universe" by El Chimborazo, the South American liberator Simon Bolivar.

Yankees Take 4th Straight

Mantle Homer Hands Redlegs Fifth Setback

Long Homers Twice,
Tom Davis Gets 3rd
in Three Days

By The Associated Press
The New York Yankees have stretched their winning streak to four over Cincinnati by beating the National League pennant winners in their first meeting since the 1961 World Series, and extended the Reds' streak of futility.

Mickey Mantle powered an early lead with a three-run homer in the first inning as the world champion Yankees boosted their unbeaten streak to 11 games with an 8-3 victory over the Reds at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

It was the Yankees' first encounter with National League competition and maintained the only unblemished exhibition record. The Reds are 1-5.

BASES EMPTY
Cincy's attack has produced 42 hits so far but only 14 runs. All five of its homers have come with the bases empty, and the pitching staff has been collected for 52 runs. The Yanks collected nine hits, rookie shortstop Phil Linz stroking three for two RBIs, while Bud Daley, Rolfe Sheldon and Marshall Bridges checked Cincinnati on six hits. Frank Robinson's double was the Reds' only extra-base blow.

In other games, Boston edged San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings at Phoenix, Washington whopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-4 at Pompano Beach, Kansas City whipped Minnesota 7-3 at West Palm Beach, Chicago's Cubs defeated the Los Angeles Angels 7-3 at Mesa and Houston beat Cleveland 4-2 at Apache Junction.

The New York Mets-Pittsburgh and Philadelphia-Milwaukee games were canceled due to rain. Baltimore and St. Louis were not scheduled.

TWO HOMERS
The Senators' Dave Long hit two homers and Joe Hicks one against the Dodgers, who retaliated with Tommy Davis' third in three days and one by pitcher Larry Sherry. The A's got five runs in the second three on Manny Jimenez' homer and handed the winless Twins their sixth defeat.

Home runs by Bob Will and Ken Hubbs carried the Cubs to their triumph over the Angels as Glen Hobbie became the first Chicago pitcher to go five innings. The Cubs were outlasted 7-4 by the Indians, who used Mel Roach's homer for all their runs.

Arroyo Fears for Job, Wants Whitey Rescued

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Whitey Ford, the Yankees' brilliant left-hander, is living in a rented apartment on the beach, only a short distance from the Atlantic Ocean. When the high waves hit here recently, it was feared for a time that Ford's apartment, along with others in the vicinity, would be swept away. The most worried was Luis Arroyo, who gained a reputation last year as Ford's No. 1 rescue artist.

"Go get Ford out of there quickly," Arroyo shouted during the height of the storm, "or I'm out of a job."

Hutch Doesn't Expect Effect From Series

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Freddie Hutchinson isn't a man wandering through a 'world of make believe, unable to comprehend that last season really happened and wondering whether some freak of fate it could come up again.

Freddie only likes to remember last season up to a point, the days when his scorned Cincinnati Reds won the National League pennant and before they lost the World Series to the New York Yankees. The ones since then have been a kind of a nightmare.

"All I've heard since then has been what happened to the Reds," he admitted.

Hutch, a rugged, powerful man with a jutting jaw and a stern exterior which hides a warm friendliness, has a ready answer.

Wolverines Lose, 5-4; Michigan Tech Plays in Semifinal Tonight

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—St. Lawrence goes against Michigan Tech in a semifinal of the NCAA Hockey Tournament tonight with the winner to meet surprise Clarkson for the national title Saturday.

Clarkson, a three-time entrant in the semifinals, made the championship round for the first time Thursday night, fighting off a Michigan rally for a 5-4 victory. "The kids played a great game," Coach Len Ceglarski beamed, "and goalie Wayne Gibbons was tremendous."

KEY TOPICS
Gibbons, who turned in 24 saves, was the key man in fighting off Michigan's last period rush that threatened to overtake Clarkson's early lead. The Golden Knights led a 4-2 lead going into the final period but Michigan Capt. Gordon Beren broke through for a pair of goals to put the Wolverines in contention again.

His first closed it to 4-3 but Gordy Adams scored Clarkson's final goal before Berenson again scored with less than three minutes to go. Gibbons was under constant pressure the rest of the way.

Other Clarkson scorers were Lawlor, Bert Halliwell, Bob Taylor and Roger Purdie.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.

why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product

2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

Bill on Foxes Gains Strength in House

Seek Bounty Repeal

LANSING (AP)—A move to repeal Michigan's ancient bounty on foxes, often proposed and always defeated, is showing surprising strength in the House.

A bill to do away with the $5 bounty died in the House conservation committee but the proposal picked up a 48-26 vote in preliminary debate yesterday when it came up as an amendment to another bill.

House Speaker Don R. Pear, R-Buchanan, ruled that the amendment had nothing to do with the original bill and threw it out. Heated by the show of support, Rep. Joseph A. Gillis, D-Detroit, the sponsor, said he would try to attach it to another bill.

The House approved bills to allow special seasons on brown trout, muskies and northern pike and routed them to the Senate.

Meanwhile, Rep. Hans C. Rasmussen, R-Ladington, complained that the four Democrats on the House fish and fisheries committee proceeded to kill a compromise plan to increase fishing license fees. He in turn was accused by Rep. Joseph S. Mack, D-Detroit, of killing a bill to open Porcupine Mountains state park to selective timber cutting by refusing to call a meeting of the conservation committee, which Rasmussen leads.

LED OPPOSITION
Rep. Lucille H. McCollough, D-Deerborn, led the fight against repeal of the fox bounty, which cost the state a record $171,000 last year.

Gillis and Reps. Lester J. Allen, R-Rhodes, and Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, backed the measure.

"It is some state of affairs if we charge to pay farmers to kill foxes that are destroying their poultry or causing any other damage," said Law.

A fish bill passed would empower state conservation director Gerald E. Eddy to designate certain waters before and after the regular season, an authority now limited to rainbow trout. Special seasons could open the first Saturday in April, a week earlier than the law now permits.

Another measure would remove muskies as virtually year-around legal game fish and set up a season running from June to Oct. 31 on inland waters and Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers. Varying seasons would be set up on the Great Lakes. The same bill would permit closing of certain areas to northern pike fishermen at the discretion of the conservation director.

Rasmussen said Democrats styled Republican moves to pump cash into the state conservation treasury by boosting fishing license fees. The bill proposed to raise the resident fee from $2 to $12.50, charge nonresidents $1.50, boost the trout stamp from $2 to $3 and charge Great Lakes fishermen $1.50. It would have raised $1.5 million a year.

Compromise plan would have limited the increases to a $2 charge for wives of anglers, presently exempt, and levied a $1.50 fee on anglers fishing the Great Lakes from boats. Pier fishermen would continue to be exempt.

Because of the hospitalization of Rep. Gail Handy, R-Eau Claire, GOP members of the fish and fisheries committee lacked a majority to get the bill to the floor and the four Democrats avoided a vote by failing to show up for the final meeting, Rasmussen said.

'The Crusher' to Rattle
Ricki "The Crusher" Cortez will meet "The Great European Champ" Kurt Von Stroheim in one of the three rousing bouts at the Pontiac Armory tonight. In the other matches "LaBestia" The Beast faces Lou Kline and The Great Bolo versus Toni Paris.

St. Mike Back in Action Tonight

By CHUCK ABRAH

St. Michael was on the road to Ypsilanti today to play its second regional basketball game at the Eastern Michigan University field-house.

The Shamrocks tangle with Adrian Madison in the nightcap of a Class C semifinal doubleheader at 8:30. Addition and Detroit All Saints meet at 7.

Two of the state's top teams in the class will settle the Fordale crown tonight when Capac plays defending state champion Grosse Pointe St. Paul at 8.

Capac stayed unbeaten by slumping Mt. Clemens' St. Mary 29-37 last night. St. Paul also had an easy time slugging St. Cyril, 56-38.

Featuring excellent rebounding and hustling, St. Mike has been a tournament surprise after a 6-0 regular season. The Shamrocks handed Ann Arbor University High an 11-point romp at Ypsilanti Wednesday.

HAVE BEEN STEADY

Charlie Daul, Jim Hurren and Larry Sonnenberg have been steady scorers. Daul, Hurren and sophomore Mike Pope have worked well on the backboards. They will likely start along with Bill Harding.

Max Hurst and Stu Hindhus have performed well in reserve and will likely see considerable action.

Adrian drew a bye into the semis. The Trojans had a 6-12 regular season record and were 1-9 in their Lenawee County loop. Captain Ken Hooker and Dexter Church have been the top stars. Church is the high point man with a 12 per game average.

Capac had its usual good balance in leading all the way. John Scheuer hit 14. Ken Kobayashi 12. Dan Pez and Rick Hawks 11 each. Gary Schick's 19 paced the Pointers.

THEY WON — Two Clarkson cheerleaders embrace after the Wolves had topped Clarkson in a close game at Pontiac Northern Thursday. Clarkson will play Northville for the Class B regional crown Saturday.

The Buckeyes at Iowa City, and the Bearcats are favored over Western Kentucky and Creighton, respectively.

In the other games Kentucky with soph sensation Cotton Nash

is favored over Butler at Iowa City, Colorado over Texas Tech at Manhattan, Oregon State over Pepperdine and UCLA over Utah State at Provo, Utah. St. Joseph's over Wake Forest and Villanova over NYU at College Park, Md.

In the NCAA Small College Tourney at Evansville, Ind., Westminster, the defending champion, was eliminated in the quarterfinals by Mt. St. Mary's 43-39. Prep Front

By DON VOGEL

Words of discontent can always be heard when the state basketball tournament rolls around.

Officiating, playing conditions and distance of travel are the biggest gripes. These are minor complaints compared with another one that keeps popping up.

Coaches and fans are becoming more disturbed each March with teams playing on their own floors in the regionals. This, they say, isn't fair.

And it isn't really what you would call cricket. Livonia Bentley stands a chance of reaching the state Class A quarterfinals tonight by beating Pontiac Central. The game is on the Bentley court.

HOME FLOOR

Willow Run would be in the same position, and it has been in years past, if it wasn't for River Rouge, Ferndale got tripped in the district or the Eagles would be at home for regional play.

East Detroit is another school

In the same position. There are others in the state.

Not only do all these schools get the opportunity to play at home in regionals, they also had the same advantage in district eliminations. There is one way for the state to eliminate this situation. And that is for the Michigan High School Athletic Association to set up the tournaments so that no team plays on its own floor in district, regional or quarter-final competition.

There is one drawback to this plan.

Half the district sites would suddenly be taken off the available list. The majority of school officials where games are played like the extra money that comes from tournament games.

They would claim that if the home team was sent elsewhere, the gate receipts would decline to such a point as to not make it practical to hold a district tournament.

Fans of a winning school will follow their team anywhere, particularly in schools below the Class A level. Fans of a losing school will stay home whether or not the team is playing on its own floor.

SHOULD TRY
The MHSAA would do well to arrange district play next year with no team playing at home. District assignments for regional winners could be arranged so that the same thing applies.

This would take more paper work, phone calls and other contacts, but it might work. Then again it might prove to be a first class idea — financially.

There is only one way to find out. And that is to try it once or twice.

THE PROGNOSTICATOR
After being rudely jolted by the defeat of three of our district predictions, we will put the seal of doom on four more teams. After much crystal ball gazing, we like the following to be crowned state champs:

CLASS A — Saginaw High. The Trojans can do everything a little better than any Detroit prepender to the throne room.

CLASS B — River Rouge. Need we say more?

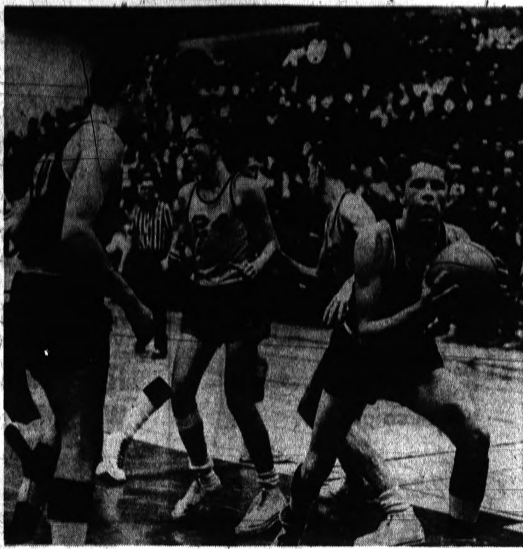

CLASS C — Capac. But first comes Grosse Pointe St. Paul, Perry, etc.

CLASS D — Champion, of course. And with these words of wisdom, The Prognosticator cracks his crystal ball until next fall when the gridirons come alive.

Pontiac Table Netters Defeat Ford Team, 9-8

Led by Howard Heckman's third straight, the Pontiac Table Tennis All-Stars defeated an All-Star Ford team, 9-8 at Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn.

Percy Second, Don Waterman, and Al Jenkie accounted for two wins each for the local team which has made it three in a row over all-star opponents.

WHAT NOW? — John Miller of Clawson appears to be figuring a way to get rid of the ball. Standing next to him is teammate Tom McArthur. Clawson players are Chuck Funk (24) and Bob Osgood (32). This action took place Thursday night at Pontiac Northern.

California Mother Eyes 1st Yankee Skate Crown

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Roles Pursley, 20-year-old mother from Arcadia, Calif., carrying U.S. hopes for its first title at the World Figure Skating Championships, was in a strong position today for her attempt to annex the women's crown.

She was the only woman to make the U.S. team that lost its top skaters in a plane crash at Brussels 13 months ago.

Mrs. Pursley, bronze medalist in the 1960 Olympics, had 33.0 points after the first two of six compulsory figures. Miss Dijkstra led with 34.9, followed by Regine Heitzer of Austria with 33.8 and Canada's Wendy Griner with 33.6.

MORE POINTS
After the third figure, Miss Dijkstra still led with 56.1, followed by Miss Griner at 54.1. Miss Heitzer dropped to third with 54.9 and Mrs. Pursley remained fourth at 53.5.

Canada's Donald Jackson took the men's singles crown Thursday with an outstanding free skating exhibition that brought him from behind to finish in front of Karel Divin of Czechoslovakia for Canada's second title.

The American team was led by National Champion Monty Hoyt of Denver, who finished in sixth place on his fine free skating performance. Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., placed eighth.

In the women's division, Vicki Fisher of Minneapolis was tied for seventh place and Lorraine Handon of Boston held 10th. Donothy Ann Nelson and Pieter Kolten of Lake Placid, N.Y., and Yvonne Littlefield and Peter Betts of Los Angeles were seventh and eighth, respectively, in the dance competition.

Slaters rolled the high team series when they fashioned a 2,833 in a three point win over Oakland Vending at 2,665. Biemar Im shot 834 in winning three games from Sparks Griffin at 2,572. West Side Lanes had a three point win over Huron Bowl 2,821 to 2,755, 300 Bowl Lounge took three from Ben Pyke & Sons 2,810 to 2,712.

Spartan Air Conditioning and Jerry Perna's Five hooked up in the best duel of the night. Spartan won 2,853 to 2,823 for three points. High team games were rolled by 300 at 1,011 and Perna's Five 1,005.

Urges Speed Up in Moon Probe

Scientist Says Reds Could Shoot Down U.S. Spacecrafts From There

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the Soviets reach the moon first, they could get away with shooting down U.S. spacecrafts that try to land there.

A prominent space scientist thinks they could if they set up a network of bases before the Americans arrived.

COULD TAKE MORE — Dandridge Cole, analyst for the missile and space vehicle department of General Electric Co., gave this opinion at a meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences Thursday night.

"If Russia sets up a base at each lunar pole and four around the equator, they could then lay claim to the whole moon and threaten to shoot down any aggressor," he said.

PROTESTS MEANINGLESS — "If we did attempt a landing and our vehicle was shot down, our protests would carry no more weight than in previous cases when our aircraft have been shot down. A retaliatory attack against their moon bases would be aggression in the eyes of the world and might well lead to nuclear war."

Unless the United States speeds up its moon-landing program, Cole said, the Soviet Union could beat us to the moon by as much as four years.

Cole said the moon is as strategically important as the Panama Canal.

Company Seeks Grain Shipments to Red Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials say a West Coast export company has applied for permission to ship 10.5 million tons of wheat and barley to Communist China and North Korea.

The permit applications of the International Trading Corp., of Seattle, Wash., are under study at the Commerce Department, the officials said Thursday. Officials of the firm declined comment.

The amount of grain covered by the applications would have a value of close to $600 million, it was reported.

One application is for a permit to export 750,000 tons of wheat and the same amount of barley to North Korea in each of the next three years.

The other application seeks permission to export 1 million tons of wheat and the same quantity of barley to Red China in each of three years.

Locals Choose Pontiac Woman

Mrs. Marie Larrison Chairman of Mental Hospital Conference

Mrs. Marie Larrison, president of Pontiac State Hospital Local 49, AFL-CIO, was elected chairman of the conference of mental hospital local unions at an organizational meeting held last night at the Walden Hotel.

Mrs. Larrison lives at 870 Otter Ave., Waterford Township.

Seventy-one delegates from Caro State Hospital Local 831, Lapeer State Hospital Local 567, and Norville State Hospital Local 888 met with the Pontiac local to organize the conference.

James Hodges, assistant director of the Mental Health Department, and Ivan Estes, chief mental health personnel officer, both of Lansing, were guests at the banquet which opened the conference. Both were speakers at the business meeting which followed.

Hodges discussed some of the financial and budgetary problems of the department, and Estes covered some of the personnel aspects of mental health work. Emphasis was placed on the need for a sufficient number of adequately trained personnel to do the job that has to be done.

Frank Berry, president of Local 566, was elected co-chairman. Robert Rossens, president of Local 567, was elected secretary.

The group voted to meet April 17 at 6:30 p.m. at the Sportsman's Club in Waterford Township for their next dinner and business meeting.

At 3 p.m. the Executive Committee of the Michigan State Employees Union's Mental Health Policy Committee held a negotiating session at the Walden Hotel with Hodges and Estes.

The five member committee represents 16 mental hospitals. On the agenda were discussions of classifications, examinations, and employee counseling. The next session is set for May 24 in Lansing.

Candidate, Wife Fail to Cast Two Vital Votes

SUMMERTON, S.C. (UPI) — H. B. Davis Jr., campaigned hard for a city council seat and political observers predicted the race would be close.

Davis took his wife to the polls Thursday to cast their ballots. They were unable to find their voting certificates, however, and were not allowed to vote.

When the final tabulations were in Thursday night, Davis had lost — by one vote.

McNamara, AF Clash on 'RS70s'

Secretary Says Whoo to the B70s, 'Not Fitted for ICBM Job'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force worked at fever pitch to prepare a new brief for the 3,000 mile-on-hour RS70 airplane today, hoping to batter down some of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's stout resistance.

McNamara struck with sledgehammer blows Thursday at demands of powerful congressmen that development of the RS70, formerly called the B70, be expanded.

Taking his case to the public, McNamara issued a 2,500-word highly technical statement to explain why he favors a go-slow approach on the radical flying machine.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., and the House Armed Services Committee support Air Force proposals. They will ask the House Wednesday to approve a bill which would direct the Pentagon to spend $490 million of the plane next year — the exact amount the Air Force wants. McNamara has asked for $171 million.

The RS70, once envisioned purely as a bomber, now is proposed as a reconnaissance and missile-carrying aircraft to be ready by 1967 to complement the arsenal of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

McNamara said that if the plane has any future role at all, that would be it. But he said the electronic gear it would need to do reconnaissance and fire missiles while flying 30 miles a minute at 70,000 feet was beyond the current ability of U.S. technology.

Look, Ma, 700 Million Cavities

Nation Down in Mouth

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Americans find it hard to smile these days, there's a reason. They've got 700 million unfilled cavities in their mouths.

The man who reported this tooth gap is Dr. Donald J. Galagan, chief of the Public Health Service's dental resources.

Galagan, whose testimony was made public Thursday by a House Appropriations subcommittee, said half the people in the United States over 50 haven't got a natural tooth in their heads.

To compound the difficulty, he added, the number of dentists has dropped from 58 per 100,000 population 30 years ago to 46 today.

NY, N. Carolina Termed Disaster Areas; to Get Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today designated as major disaster areas the coastal region of New York and North Carolina which suffered severe damage from an Atlantic storm.

The designation makes the areas eligible for federal aid in restoring public facilities. Storm-hit sections of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia had been made eligible by an earlier declaration.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the amount of federal aid has not been determined and must await the completion of studies by the Office of Emergency Planning.

They Refused to Register U.S. Arrests Two Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — Two top-ranking American Reds, Gus Hall and Benjamin J. Davis, have been arrested in the first crackdown on Communist party officials who refuse to register the party with the government under the Subversive Activities Control Act.

They were allowed to go free overnight, but were ordered to post bail of $5,000 each today. Hall, 51, and Davis, 58, were arrested by federal agents.

New Trial Ordered in Damage Claim

LANSING (UPI) — The State Supreme Court today ordered a new trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on a $4.5 million damage suit for malicious prosecution filed by Detroit scrap dealer Carl Renda.

Renda received a $400,000 judgment against the United Auto Workers Union and several of its officers in the case, which stemmed from the 1948 attempted assassination of UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

President's Mother Quite Comfortable

BOSTON (UPI) — Mrs. Rose Kennedy, the President's mother, remained "quite comfortable" today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital where she is recuperating from major surgery.

Mrs. Kennedy, 71, probably will remain at the hospital for at least another week, according to her physician, Dr. Roy J. Hefferman.

She was operated on last Tuesday for a pelvic hernia which had troubled her for some time.

House Unit OKs More Funds for Interior Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $72,803,350 boost in funds to operate the Interior Department and related agencies during the year starting July 1.

But the $68,595,000 it allotted in a bill sent to the House for debate next week was $2,078,000 less than President Kennedy had requested for the coming fiscal period.

The committee said it was concerned about the department's repeated requests for more money but added that adequate provision must be made to preserve and develop national forests and parks, fish and wildlife, public lands and minerals and provide for the education and care of Indians.

Big Tax on Tobacco

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tobacco is the most heavily taxed of all agricultural products, according to Tobacco News. The excise tax collected is $3 billion a year — three times as much as tobacco farmers get for their crops.

Guatemala City Seized by Army to Halt Disorder

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI) — The army today seized control of Guatemala City to halt pillaging and disorders.

An army communique said the action was taken to safeguard the citizenry "in view of the events of recent days." At least 13 persons have been killed in the past three days in what the government has classified as "extra-constitutional subversion."

The army warned it would act "with the necessary severity" to halt street rioting. It banned public assemblies, cut down the speed limit within the city to 20 m.p.h., warned citizens to immediately follow army orders and forbade work stoppages.

Mrs. Rockefeller, Governor Divorced

RENO (AP) — Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller today in proceedings that took little more than 10 minutes, Mrs. Rockefeller filed the action to end her 31-year marriage the day after completing legal residence permitting her to obtain a quickie Nevada divorce.

Attorney William K. Woodburn had conferred with a district court judge in Reno Thursday in preparation for the filing.

Blue Grass Popular

FARGO, N. D. (UPI) — Kentucky blue grass is the most popular lawn grass for North Dakota. But anywhere, good grass seed properly covered in rich topsoil and supplied with enough moisture should develop into a green lawn within 10 days if temperatures are 70 degrees or above.

Labor Pact Features Job Security Clause

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO announced Thursday the signing of a nationwide contract for production workers in the glass, container industry and described one of its provisions as a new breakthrough in the area of job security.

The announcement stressed an agreement which provides for preferential hiring consideration, in any plant involved in the contract, for workers who lose their jobs through a reduction in force or closure of any other such plant.

AFL-CIO officials described that provision as the first of its kind negotiated on a nationwide basis, except for a contract worked out earlier this year, by the same industry with some 8,000 highly skilled machine operators as a separate group.

Locks Its Doors, Gets Busy

House Knocks Out One-Man Jury Law

LANSING (U.P.)—Bills to repeal Michigan's one-man Grand Jury law and strengthen laws outlawing the Communist party in the state moved ahead in the legislature today.

With virtually no debate, the house approved the one-man jury repealer, 59-42 Thursday and steered it to the Senate for the fourth time in recent years.

Several Democrats assailed the anti-Communist bill as superfluous and unnecessary, but it plowed forward to the voting stage.

With more than 150 bills to deal with this week and next, House members knuckled down to work seriously and ordered every member without an excuse to be at his desk and stay there. All doors were locked.

State police were dispatched Thursday to find Rep. O. Roosevelt Diggs, D-Detroit, who has the most attendance record of the 1962 session. They were unable to find him before the session adjourned but John Klingenberg, the sergeant at arms, vowed to "keep looking all night if I have to."

TO PICK UP PAY

Fellow Democrats complained that Diggs has rarely showed up except to pick up his biweekly paycheck.

Rep. Joseph A. Gills, D-Detroit, told House members that the legislature already has passed six bills dealing with Communists, starting in 1919. They make it a felony to advocate violent overthrow of the government prohibit carrying of Red flags in public assemblies, require foreign agents and Communists to register with the state and set up the subversive activities investigative division in the state police.

"Let's not try to anticipate what the court will do," said Rep. Frederic C. Marshall, R-Allen, the sponsor of several anti-Communist bills. "This bill will have the effect of throwing the Communist rats out as a political party in Michigan."

"There is no harm in having another law on the books outlawing Communists," said Rep. Roy H. Baighnam, R-Battle Creek.

Lawnmowers rebuffed Gills' move to repeal existing laws and incorporate them all in a new omnibus anti-Communist law.

JFK Launches Easter Seal Drive for 1962

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Kennedy launched the 1962 Easter Seal campaign Thursday by receiving the first sheet of seals from 10-year-old Tommy Doyle.

After presenting the seals to the President, Tommy, who is from Manhattan Beach, Calif., asked Kennedy to autograph a kick-ball for him.

While reaching for a pen, Kennedy dropped the seals.

Funds from the seals help support treatment of crippled children.

Tommy, a victim of polio, was accompanied to the White House by Mrs. Morton B. Phillips, chairman of the 1962 campaign, and Elwood M. Brooks, of Denver, president of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Needle of Light to Aim at Moon

Scientists at Ann Arbor to Beam Red Dart as Time Experiment

WASHINGTON (AP)—American scientists are planning soon to beam a powerful red light at the moon, hoping it will be reflected back to earth.

Although theoretically the beam would be strong enough to be visible for 20 million miles, the scientists say little of the experiment will actually be seen.

People living near the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor—where the experiment will be conducted—may see the beam as a spectacular red needle in the sky. But they will have to look sharp, for the light will dart out in pulses of a fraction of a second.

The hope is, said physicist Peter A. Franken of the university staff, that some of the beam can be bounced off one of the moon's highly reflective craters—making a round trip between the earth and moon in 2½ seconds.

All this, he said in a report prepared for the Optical Society of America, amplified at a news conference, will be part of an experiment to explore further possible uses of devices called "Lasers."

"Laser" stands for "light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation." It is an experimental instrument to amplify and sharpen relatively weak waves of light to produce a very narrow, powerful beam.

Franken said the Michigan tests are scheduled to begin in a week or so.

Glenn Predicts Modifications in Space Craft

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn, riding in a slow-moving golf cart, told newsmen Thursday that the next space capsule to whirl at 17,000 miles an hour around the earth will be modified.

He did not say what changes would be made.

Glenn was here to visit with engineers and technicians at McDonnell Aircraft Corp., space capsule builders. The golf cart was used to transport visitors around the firm's vast manufacturing complex.

Glenn also held a reunion with the Friendship 7 capsule in which he orbited the earth three times last month.

The capsule was shipped here Wednesday for final examination before it is prepared for permanent display in the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

Teacher Pay-Rate Plan Proposed at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — A proposal to make teacher salary rates proportional to a teacher's education has been presented to the Lake Orion Board of Education.

Prepared by the salary committee of the district's educational association, the proposal asks adoption of an index — or percentage — type of salary schedule.

If adopted, the plan would index teachers according to the extent of their training and education and assign each teacher a ratio.

When salary increases are approved by the board, a teacher's salary would be raised according to this ratio instead of by an across-the-board figure under the present system.

An across-the-board increase gives the teacher, with only three years' training the same hike received by the teacher with a master's degree and additional credit hours.

The new system, which would cost $705,000, would also arrive at starting salaries the same way, although salaries of current teachers would not be changed.

Salaries would be figured from a base of $4,500. A teacher with three years' training and one year of experience would have an index of 1.00, and start with a salary of $4,500. Index for teacher with a bachelor's degree would be five per cent higher. The same ratios would apply to increases.

EVERY CREDIT HOUR

The new schedule would also provide higher pay for teacher with credit hours beyond their master's degrees. The present system does not differentiate these from teachers without additional credit hours.

If adopted, the change would raise the maximum salary for a teacher with a BA from $6,250 to $7,500, and for a teacher with an MA from $6,700 to $7,425.

The committee, composed of teachers from the education association and one school board member, backed up its recommendation with figures showing all 28 other Oakland County school districts with higher maximum salaries for the BA level, 24 with higher maximums for the MA level, 26 with higher minimum salaries on the MA level and 19 with higher minimum on the BA level.

School Supt. A. A. Reed said adoption of the new salary system would cost considerably more than the current approach. Either additional millage or state aid would be required to finance it, he said.

Addition of six new teachers is included in the estimate of $702,000 to implement the proposal.

Reed has also told the school board that it will face a serious problem of inadequate classroom space throughout the school district in September 1963, unless steps are taken to provide additional facilities.

A citizen's committee is now studying this problem.

Enrollment in the Lake Orion school district has increased four per cent in each of the last two years.

Providing additional space also poses a money problem. More millage or state and federal aid are the possibilities under consideration.

Per capita valuation for the school district is $7.15 in assessed valuation for each school child compared to $12.01 for Oakland County as a whole.

Cancel Permit for Dump Site Near Oxford

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — After hearing complaints from a delegation of 24 residents about smoke, soot and odors from an industrial dump a mile north of Oxford, the Township Board has canceled the dump's permit.

Thirty-day cancellation notices have been sent to Ray Industries, owner of the property, and to A. Gorno Co. of Dearborn, a waste disposal firm that hauls four to 10 loads of slag and other refuse to the dump a day.

Fires of unknown origin have started up in the dump in recent months. The latest has been burning for about a month, according to township Clerk Herbert V. Rahm. Attempts to stifle the fire with slag have only been partially successful, and the fire is still smoldering.

The dump is an industrial fill in a gravel pit abandoned by American Aggregates Co.

The following year, millage that was approved in 1959 will expire and voters again will have to be asked that it be continued.

Three to Speak Religious Vows

Brothers End 3 Years of Training at Area Jesuit College

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Three Jesuit brothers will take perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedience Monday in the Jesuit Community Chapel at Columbiere College here.

The vows follow completion of 2 1/2 years of spiritual and technical training at the novitiate of the Detroit Province of the Society of Jesus.

The Rev. Louis J. Lippis, S.J., master of novices brothers, will receive the vows of the three men who entered the order in September 1959.

Those who will pronounce the vows are Brother Robert C. Favagrossa of Cleveland, Ohio; Brother Albert H. Arens of Crystal Lake, Ill.; and Brother Paul C. Markus of Grafton, Ohio.

The three will leave for Milford Novitiate, Milford, Ohio, shortly afterward to continue their technical training.

As brothers in the Society of Jesus they will assist with the work of the order by prayer, meditation and by doing the manual work in the Jesuit communities.

Group Will Report on Avondale Schools

The Avondale Schools Citizens Committee will present to the board of education Monday its report on current and future needs of the school district.

Climaxing months of study by the committee on finances, school plants, educational programs, community needs and public relations, the report will include recommendations based on its findings.

Part of the report will deal with a plan to reorganize the school system's grade setup to put the sixth grade back in the elementary schools. This would change the present 5-3-4 arrangement to 6-3-3, the conventional system.

Plane Carrying 107 Vanishes Over Sea

MANILA (AP) — U.S. military planes and ships pressed a hunt between Guam and the Philippines today for a chartered airliner which vanished at sea with 107 persons, chiefly American Army men, on a flight to war-torn South Viet Nam.

A full 24 hours has passed since the four-engine Super Constellation, owned by the California-based Flying Tiger Line, radioed its last message.

This was a routine report to Guam from a position 270 miles west of that U.S. base in the western Pacific, as it headed for Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila.

Search craft crisscrossed 75,000 square miles of the Pacific fruitlessly by daylight and were continuing through last night. Weather was excellent and the sea normal.

The Super Constellation carried a crew of 11 Americans,

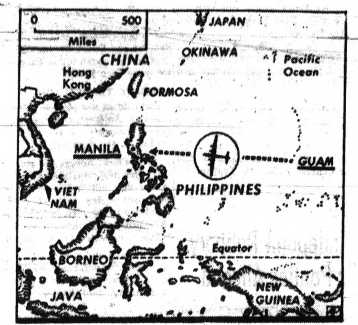

93 U.S. Army personnel and 3 South Vietnamese, Travis Air Force Base in California said. Four women were among the crew.

Military sources in Saigon assumed the troops were due to bolster the American forces backing South Viet Nam's government in its war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Verification of the loss of the plane would make the troops indirect casualties of that struggle.

The loss of all aboard also would mark the third worst disaster in aviation history involving a single plane.

This is the second recent incident involving U.S. servicemen flying on chartered planes.

MISSING IN PACIFIC — Broken line on the map indicates the route of a U. S. Air Force chartered plane missing on a flight from Guam to Manila over the Pacific Ocean. There were 107 aboard the Flying Tiger craft, Capt. Gregory Thomas, 48, is the pilot. He flew Spitfires against the Nazis for the British before the U. S. entered World War II.

Nikita Announces Orbiting of New Space Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev today threatened the United States with what he called a "global rocket," invulnerable to antimissile defenses.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced at an election meeting today the Soviet Union has launched a new space vehicle and that it is in orbit. Later Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced it was an artificial earth satellite launched with a view to continuing the Soviet program of outer space research. There was no immediate announcement whether a man or any other living being was aboard.

Discuss Sonic Booms for Breaking Up Ice

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Sonic booms set off when a plane goes over the sound barrier — have been used to break up snow accumulations to avert avalanches.

Their use in breaking up ice has been discussed with officials at the Duluth Air Force Base, F106 jets which can travel over 1,500 M.P.H. would have to fly at relatively low altitudes to damage the ice.

Pilot's Life Exciting in Years Past

NEW YORK (UPI) — Capt. Gregory P. Thomas, pilot of the troop-carrying Constellation that is missing in the Pacific, crashed once before, and emerged a hero for what he did.

Adventure, high excitement and near tragedy all have been a part of the 48-year-old pilot's life.

Only last week he battled the sea for his life while sailing aboard his 55-foot yacht, Mayling, when caught in the vicious storm which swept the eastern seaboard.

A close friend, Roger Korky, a 23-year-old electronics engineer who moors his boat next to Thomas' in the pilot's home town of Red Bank, N. J., said they both had spent three lousy days aboard the Mayling during the storm.

Despite high waves and gale winds, Korky said, "We took the storm well. There was only minor damage to the Mayling."

FLYING SPITFIRE

Korky said that even in his short acquaintance with Thomas, he learned the pilot had been through a lifetime of harrowing experiences.

Thomas flew Spitfires against the Nazis for the British even before the United States entered World War II. Then he flew with the U.S. Air Force as a major.

But one of Thomas' tightest spots was a crash-landing in New York's Jamaica Bay shortly after takeoff in a DC-6A on June 21, 1957.

All nine crew members aboard the propeller craft escaped with their lives when Thomas set the plane down on an isolated sandbar after the last power in all four engines. Three crew members were injured, but only a stewardess required hospitalization for shock and bruises.

Thomas was only the second person ever cited by the "Order of Distinguished Flying Cross" for a heroic performance. He was praised for crash-landing the plane in an isolated area rather than risking going down in a populated area by attempting to return to the airport.

The award came from an organization made up of Army and Air Corps pilots who held pilot ratings prior to the 1918 armistice.

Thomas' feat was hailed as the "outstanding pilot performance of the year." He was bound at the time from New York for Dover, Del., to pick up a cargo for Chateaux, France.

Romney Accepts Compromise on Major Issues

Expected to Holt Split in Party Ranks; Dems Call It Sellout

LANSING (AP) — Agreement on a compromise package deal settling major controversial issues appeared today to have healed a threatened split in Republican ranks at the constitutional convention.

Effect of the compromise — if it sticks — would be to weld together into an unbeatable combination the GOP's conservative-rural block of delegates and the forces of George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, probable Republican candidate for governor.

Republican delegates outnumber Democrats, 99-45.

"This could wrap up the whole convention," commented one delegate.

Romney confirmed to newsmen that he had indicated willingness in the GOP caucus to accept the compromise package, even though it fell short of what he sought earlier in the convention. He explained:

"In view of the opposition to the convention and the fact that most delegates come from areas that voted against it, I feel that we are achieving a remarkable degree of improvement in the constitution."

Democrats branded the deal as a sellout by Romney to the conservative bloc.

"If Romney bought this deal, he'll have to wear his pajamas all the time — because the farmers have traded him out of his pants," said William Marshall, D-Taylor.

The Democratic caucus leader, Adelaide Hart of Detroit, declared:

Boiler Explodes; Evacuate School

970 Students, Teachers Safe at Junior High in Bloomfield Hills

Some 970 students and teachers evacuated Bloomfield Hills Junior High school today when a boiler exploded in the basement. There were no injuries, the sheriff's department reported.

The school is located on Quattron Road west of Telegraph Road.

An orderly evacuation was completed within several minutes of the blast as Bloomfield Township fire trucks arrived at the scene.

Firemen said the explosion was caused by internal combustion in a gas-fed boiler.

Damage was confined to the basement boiler room of the one-story brick and glass building.

Students were sent home for the day when it was discovered that a second boiler couldn't provide heat for the entire building.

Springlike Weekend Heading Our Way!

Morning smile-and-sun, w.m.p.s. later today and variable Saturday. Twenty-five was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading was 33 at 1 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency said today that astronaut Donald K. Slayton from becoming the next American to venture into space.

The assignment of Slayton's replacement will go instead to M. Scott Carpenter, another member of the seven-man Mercury space condition detected more than two years ago will keep astronaut Slayton from becoming the next American to venture into space.

City Told Detroit Water Costs Less Than Expected

City commissioners got their first look last night at what it will cost the city to convert Detroit water and what it will cost homeowners to use the water.

At an informal meeting, they heard a Jones, Henry & Williams representative say water bills would not increase as much as had previously been estimated.

News Flashes

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that "the road to the east is closed . . . forever" to the Western powers through Berlin.

RENO, Nevada (AP) — Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller filed for a divorce today from the governor of New York.

Has a Lot to Learn

Generally, residential water bills would more than double, and industrial bills more than triple. A major reason for the anticipated cost reduction to customers is that the city will build and maintain its own pumping station.

With Detroit pumping the water, the proposed rate was $1.51 per thousand cubic feet. By doing its own pumping, Pontiac will lower that rate to $1.40.

The study estimated the total project cost at $3,987,000, to be financed by a revenue bond issue. Separate from the water rate change would be a hike in sewage cost to customers estimated to be about 25 cents more than their current quarterly bills for sewage.

No rate hikers will become effective until Detroit water is in the city's water mains. The date set for the changeover is July 1, 1963.

Student Career Day Program Draws 1,000 to City Hospital

Pontiac General Hospital played host to more than 1,000 Pontiac area students last year in an effort to bolster interest in hospital careers, especially in areas where there is a critical need for trained personnel.

The career day program begun in 1960 has become an integral part of the hospital's day-to-day activities, according to Irene McNamara, public relations director.

Several career day programs have been held already this year, the most recent for some 60 ninth grade students at Waterford Kettering High School last month and another 60 juniors and seniors in physiology classes at Rochester High School this month.

There are 276 occupations at Pontiac General and each program attempts to give highlights of each occupation while placing emphasis on those that offer immediate employment to students upon graduation.

"There are many occupations having a critical need for trained personnel," said Mrs. McNamara. Included in these are medicine and its allied specialties, nurses, medical technologists, medical record librarians, executive dietitians, laboratory technicians, hospital management people and physical therapists.

Dr. Everett Gustafson, chief of staff, was one of the pioneer instigators of the program and frequently takes part in the student lectures and tours.

Facilities and procedures that students observe include the X-ray department, clinical and pathology labs, electrocardiograph department, and the physical and occupational therapy units.

Other areas of the hospital are covered in a color slide program.

Reds to Fly Lane Again

BERLIN (UPI) — The Russians today scheduled night flights in the air corridors to Berlin, but they did not conflict with Western flights.

In a new tactic, the Russians filed flight plans that placed their military transports in the air at times that did not coincide with Western flights.

Commercial airline officials said the Soviet flight tonight represented no danger to Allied planes.

The Russian controller at the four-power air safety center said four Soviet transports would fly in the Berlin-Hamilton corridor between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. (1 p.m. and 2 p.m. EST).

The flight plans of the Russian aircraft would place them in the air between 15 and 30 minutes away from Pan American Airways and British European Airways carrying passengers in the corridor.

"This is a safe enough interval," a commercial airline official said. "There is no danger."

PLANS CHANGED

The announcement indicated a deviation from previous Soviet harassment tactics that have brought warnings of Western counter-acting.

In the past, on day flights, Russian planes submitted to the safety center placed Soviet transports in the air at the same time and altitude as Western aircraft. Although there were no incidents, the danger of collisions existed.

Woman in Orbit Topic at Capital

Jane Hart, Jerrie Cobb Talk to Vice President, Who Listens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's Jane Hart and Oklahoma's Jerrie Cobb agreed they didn't exactly get Vice President Lyndon Johnson in their orbit, but did get a "very gracious" hearing in urging him Thursday to join their campaign for the United States to be first with a woman in space.

"We weren't discouraged," the two women agreed, although Johnson told them he has no authority to make decisions in the space field; that it's all up to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"He was very interested," said the 40-year-old Mrs. Hart, a flier in her own right, mother of eight and wife of Michigan's Sen. Philip A. Hart.

TO PUSH IDEA

"We will continue to do everything possible to get this across," said the 35-year-old Miss Cobb, a record-holding woman pilot who successfully has completed more of the psychological and physical tests for space flight than any other woman and presumably might become the country's first astronaut.

The women said they told Johnson that the United States will lose another space race to the Russians if NASA doesn't start training a woman for space flight soon. They predicted the Soviet Union will put a woman into orbit by September.

Johnson made no statement to newsmen and did not emerge from his office to pose with the women for photographers.

"We didn't really ask him to do anything," Mrs. Hart said. "We just wanted to get with the president on a subject of space in which he is very interested."

Call on Rusk, Gromyko for Prompt Negotiations

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged the United States today with sabotaging the nuclear test ban talks here to clear the way for resumption of American atmospheric blasts in the Pacific next month.

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference called on Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today to start prompt informal negotiations on their rival disarmament plans.

The main proposal by India, came in the third session of the conference after Brazilian Foreign Minister Francisco Sao Thiago Dantas urged the nuclear powers to carry out negotiations to the extreme limit of compromise. He said the smaller nations can play an important role in getting together by negotiation.

MEETS WITH MENON

With much formal speechmaking remaining, and the foreign ministers expected to be in Geneva only about a week more, Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon urged that Rusk and Gromyko as well as other delegation leaders waste no time in getting together for informal talks.

Rusk, who supported Menon's suggestion, met with the Indian delegation head immediately after the conference session.

Conference prospects suffered a blow Thursday night when the Soviet Union rejected President Kennedy's terms for a test ban. Two other ad hoc positions — on tests in the atmosphere next month — appeared inevitable as a result.

The Soviets once more refused to accept foreign inspectors on their territory to check against possible test ban. They appeared certain to maintain this opposition to international inspection.

Cavanagh Set to Levy City Tax

If Legislature Ignores Detroit Plight, Mayor Has 1 Pct. Plan Ready

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh says he is prepared to include a 1 percent city income tax to balance the Detroit budget he must submit to city council by April 10 if the legislature refuses to provide some assistance.

"It is necessary that I submit to council a balanced budget," the mayor said, "and I can only do this by including a new source of revenue."

"However, council has until May 1 to close its budget. Therefore, if the legislature in the meantime provides us with adequate revenue, our budget plans can be changed."

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) said in Lansing his House Taxation Committee would be asked to schedule hearings before April 10 on a city-county income tax proposed by Cavanagh as an alternative to a statewide income tax, which he favors.

New Record Tallied in Flooded Houses

A record 15 million gallons of water were pumped out of some 75 flooded homes this week by the Waterford Township fire department.

"It wasn't only basements that were flooded, Fire Chief Elmer Fongbender said. "Several basements had water on the floor."

The worst previous year for flooding in Waterford was 1959 when over one million gallons was extracted from residences. "We did it all from the fire trucks then," Fongbender said. "This time we had a truck and four portable pumps doing the job."

The fire department might still be pumping if the temperature hadn't dipped Thursday temporarily halting the thaw.

County Roads to Get Full Weight Restrictions

All roads in Oakland County will be under full weight restrictions starting Monday, according to Weighmaster Tom Kennedy.

Approved truck weight under the restriction is set by Kennedy's office.

Jackie Enters Benares

BENARES, India (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy sailed the holy Ganges River today past Hindu pilgrims and water buffalo bathing in the muddy waters and bodies burning on sacred pyres along the shore.

A servant, unharmed in a car accident, held a white parasol over Mrs. Kennedy's head as her 40-foot motor launch made a 65-minute cruise three miles up the river past the holy city, which Hindus consider a gateway to heaven.

Ashore, temple bells rang. Hindu priests burned ritual incense and thousands of Indians gathered to watch America's First Lady pass. Others attended the ceremonial cremations.

Hart and Jerrie Cobb (right) talk with newsmen outside the office of Vice President Lyndon Johnson after seeing him about the possibility of backing a space program for women. Both are pilots. Johnson was "interested" but he said there was little he could do to further their hopes of putting a woman into orbit.

Quadros Claims U.S. Wanted Aid in Cuban Thrust

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Janio Quadros declared Thursday night a U.S. State Department official had implied to him that the United States wanted Latin American nations to join in some kind of military action against Cuba.

Quadros, in his first public address since he resigned the presidency last August, said the implication came from Adolph Berle, a U.S. State Department official, a month before the abortive Cuban invasion last April. Berle was then the State Department's coordinator of Latin American affairs.

Quadros said Berle visited him last March and "he implied the United States was interested in joint action by the continental family — political, economic and even military nature against the Caribbean nation. I rejected him politely but firmly."

15 Safe in Crash Landing

CAIRO (UPI) — A United Arab Airlines Viscount carrying 10 American tourists and five crew members crashed landed last night in the Sudan but all aboard were safe, the semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said today.

The aircraft, a four-engine turboprop, was on a flight from Cairo to Khartoum. It was reported to have crashed in a desert area about 100 miles from Khartoum.

The plane was carrying 15 people in all. All were reported to be uninjured.

provision under which the governor would appoint the members of the board, sometimes referred to as the chief executive's "cabinet."

Under the proposed compromise, the state treasurer would be appointed directly by the governor. The secretary of state and attorney general would continue to be elected by the people.

Two other ad hoc positions — highway commissioner and state superintendent of public instruction — would become appointive, but not directly by the governor.

Airport Opponents Urge Lansing 'Visit'

A delegation of 200 to "call on state legislators in Lansing was urged last night at a meeting of opponents to Oakland County's proposed jet airport.

Attorney Robert Hodge of Pontiac Township, told some 60 area residents at a meeting at Oakland County that a bill before the State Senate to empower the county DPW to build and operate an airport "is poison" and must be defeated.

Hodge and other organizers of the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association also called for a letter-writing campaign against the bill to legislators from Oakland County and to Gov. John B. Swainson.

A mimeographed sheet distributed at the meeting charged the bill, which also gives the DPW broad assessment power, would mean unlimited use of tax money by appointed officials not responsible to voters.

HTS BILL

"This bill looks innocuous," Hodge said. "It's about as innocuous as a sidewinder rattlesnake."

Hodge also urged the association, which claims 144 members, to "hammer" the argument throughout the county that the airport would "cost an untold amount of money."

Gordon Ladd, organizing chairman of the association, said the airport could cost as much as $300 million, or $450,000 per Oakland County family.

Group Organized to 'Fight' by Every Available Means, the Establishment of a Jet Airport in the Rural, Residential Area of Oakland County

The group, organized to "fight by every available means, the establishment of a jet airport in the rural, residential area of Oakland County" and "to oppose the government by accreted powers, would mean unlimited use of tax money by appointed officials not responsible to voters."

Present at the meeting was William H. Botsford, who was hired by successful opponents to Detroit's proposed airport in Warren in 1955.

Also present was Orion Township Supervisor John Lessiter. The township board has announced a special meeting on the airport issue for March 27.

The Day in Birmingham

To Present Third Report by 7 Con-Con Delegates

BIRMINGHAM — The third in a series of progress reports by Oakland County's seven constitutional convention delegates will be held March 24 at the Birmingham Community House.

The admission-free briefing, to be followed by a question and answer period by delegates and those in attendance, is scheduled to begin 9:30 a.m.

The meetings are jointly sponsored by the Citizens League and the Oakland Citizens League. A total of 400 persons has attended the two previous programs.

Delegates at the meeting will be George Morrison, Richard Kahn, Raymond L. King, Henry L. Woolfenden, Richard Van Dusen, Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and Lee Walker.

Marion E. Goodale, headmaster of Kingswood School, Cranbrook, has been named a member of the National Advisory Council of the Reading Reform Foundation.

New Subdivision to Start Soon

$2.5 Million Housing Development Planned in Bloomfield Hills

A $2.5-million custom-home development in Bloomfield Hills will get under way in two weeks, it was announced today.

Sixty-eight colonial-styled homes ranging in price from $32,500 to $35,000, will be constructed on the north side of East Long Lake Road, west of Eastways Road.

The property, immediately adjacent to the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, is being developed by the Alden Construction Co., Detroit.

The Birmingham real estate firm of Snyder, Kinney & Bennett said the property was sold to Harry Shapiro and David Freeman, who are in the construction company for more than $200,000.

The sale of the property, which is the largest transaction of recent property in the city, according to the realtors.

City Clerk Robert J. Stadler said the property, platted many years ago but never developed because of the lack of sewer facilities, the city is known as Bloomfield Hills Subdivision. The name is expected to be changed.

"With sewer lines nearly complete, the city will realize a growth in the future that wasn't possible in the past," said Stadler.

Knife-point Robbery in Pontiac Alleged

A Highland Park man told Pontiac police he was robbed at knife-point early this morning when two men hopped into his car while it was stopped for a red light at the intersection of 10th and 11th streets.

The victim, 21-year-old Thomas C. Edwards said his assailants jumped into the front seat from the passenger's side and one put a knife to his throat.

They ordered him to drive around the block and then to a house where they robbed him of $13 and fled on foot.

Hear Requests for Wage Boosts in Waterford

A request for wage boosts and added fringe benefits for non-teaching employees of the Waterford Township School District was referred to the personnel committee of the school board last night.

The employee group seeks a $50-per-year wage boost over the next five years and increased school district participation in hospitalization insurance payments.

Also sought is a holiday the Friday after Thanksgiving and half days off before Christmas and New Year's.

But drivers, in a separate request, are seeking a flat increase of 10 cents an hour.

Graham Wouldn't Build Shelter for Himself

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Thursday that community shelter plans that he never would construct a shelter for himself.

"If I as a minister build a fallout shelter I would seem to lack faith," he said.

Edmund Byrne, chairman of the personnel committee, has called a meeting March 29 on the wage proposals. The committee will also have on its agenda a proposed calendar for the 1962-63 school year submitted by a teacher group.

The professional problems committee of the Waterford Education Association, however, would mean unlimited use of tax money by appointed officials not responsible to voters.

HTS BILL

"This bill looks innocuous," Hodge said. "It's about as innocuous as a sidewinder rattlesnake."

Hodge also urged the association, which claims 144 members, to "hammer" the argument throughout the county that the airport would "cost an untold amount of money."

Gordon Ladd, organizing chairman of the association, said the airport could cost as much as $300 million, or $450,000 per Oakland County family.

Group Organized to 'Fight' by Every Available Means, the Establishment of a Jet Airport in the Rural, Residential Area of Oakland County

The group, organized to "fight by every available means, the establishment of a jet airport in the rural, residential area of Oakland County" and "to oppose the government by accreted powers, would mean unlimited use of tax money by appointed officials not responsible to voters."

Present at the meeting was William H. Botsford, who was hired by successful opponents to Detroit's proposed airport in Warren in 1955.

Also present was Orion Township Supervisor John Lessiter. The township board has announced a special meeting on the airport issue for March 27.

Compact Convertibles Bring Dreams Into the Garage

By BEN PHILGOSAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — More Americans than ever are showing a willingness to spend a couple of hundred dollars extra to have the roof of their car made of canvas than of steel.

That's another way of saying convertibles are hogging as never before.

The auto industry marked a great day back in 1910 when Cadillac became the first manufacturer to make fully enclosed bodies standard equipment. But almost ever since then the public, or a small segment of it, has been in love with open top cars.

The convertible, which provides the luxury of top-down driving with the practicality of a roof over your head when it rains, or in cold weather, has been an expensive car. Often it is the most expensive model of a particular line.

Despite the price, this body style has shown a slow but steady increase in popularity over the past 10 years, from less than 3 per cent of all sales in 1954 to a record 4.5 per cent in 1961.

From all indications the percentage is due for a big jump this year and the major reason is the addition of convertibles for the first time in five of the compact cars.

Studebaker-Packard was the first manufacturer to market a compact convertible, starting in the 1960 model year. The Lark was joined by the Rambler American in 1961. And for 1962 soft tops were added by Buick-Special, Pontiac-Ten, Oldsmobile-F85, Chevy-II and, starting next month, Corvair.

Traditionally convertibles have made absolutely no dent on sales statistics in mid-winter. They are warm weather cars and the advent of spring normally brings their first selling spurt.

However, consider these production figures for the 1962 model year:

Buick through February devoted 15 per cent of its Buick Special output to convertibles. At Oldsmobile, F85 soft tops were running 15.7 per cent of total compact car production. Pontiac through December built 5,315 Tempest convertibles, or 11 per cent of its total.

In the 1961 model year Rambler allotted 9.5 per cent of its American output to convertibles. This year so far it is running 8.5 per cent with increases due soon.

Studebaker, behind on its projected schedules because of a six-week strike, devoted only 1.3 per cent of its production through January to convertibles. It, too, will increase.

The compact cars have been able to bring down the price of these styles to a point where many buyers who had looked and wished in past years now can afford to buy. The sticker price spread between the least expensive compact convertible (Rambler American) and the least expensive standard size convertible (Chevrolet Impala) is $755. And all of the compacts offer models below the Impala figure of $2,919.

But even in the smaller cars the soft-top model runs from $240 to $400 more than a four-door sedan in the comparable series. The smallest spread seems to be in the new Chevy II. Among standard

All you need to open a freedom account is $18.75 and some of the old-fashioned patriotism that's helped make America the strong, free nation we live in today.

The $18.75 buys a U.S. Savings Bond that'll be worth $25.00 to you later on. So one thing you get from a freedom account is money.

But that's only part of what you get. The dollars you put into U.S. Savings Bonds give our Government the extra muscle it needs to preserve freedom for the future—the freedom that Jefferson, Paine, and Franklin helped to build for us.

You'll find your freedom account number on every U.S. Savings Bond you buy. It's just below and to the right of your name. (Pretty good proof of ownership, too.)

MSUO's Student Senate Collapses... No Interest

Student government at Michigan State University Oakland has dissolved itself. The Student Senate voted itself out of the legislative representative role after calling off today's scheduled elections when only 20 candidates applied for 20 seats.

Also frozen have been $500 in collected student government funds. The 50-cent-a-semester tax will continue to be collected.

In a parting gesture the senate also okayed an additional $1-a-semester assessment to be collected in student fees to support the student newspaper, "The Oakland Observer." Originally, the students were to have been given a chance to vote on this fee in today's election.

Paul Turk, executive secretary of the dormant senate, said today the actions were taken "to emphasize the lack of participation by students in made student government meaningless."

"Government," he added, "is only as strong as those it governs."

TO STUDY PROBLEM

The dean of students is expected to establish a steering committee to study student representation and election procedures to a new government body, if one is formed.

However, Turk said, no action to re-establish student government was likely until September.

Dean of students Duncan Sells today added:

"When the students feel a need for student government I'm sure it will be re-established. There will be no move taken on our part to place a student government on the student. The student steering committee which probably will be appointed next week will serve a liaison function between the administration and the students."

Sells also said a Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, newly formed earlier this semester, would study the collapse of student self-government.

St. Mike Back in Action Tonight

By CHUCK ABRAH

St. Michael was on the road to Ypsilanti today to play its second regional basketball game at the Eastern Michigan University field-house.

The Shamrocks tangled with Adrian Madison in the nightcap of a Class C semifinal doubleheader at 6:30. Addison and Detroit All Saints meet at 7.

Two of the state's top teams in the class will settle the Fordale crown tonight when Capac plays defending state champion Grosse Pointe St. Paul at 8.

Capac stayed unbeaten by slaming Mt. Clemens St. Mary 59-37 last night. St. Paul also had an easy time blanking St. Cyril, 56-39. Featuring excellent rebounding and hustling, St. Mike has been a tournament surprise after a 6-9 regular season. The Shamrocks handed Ann Arbor University High an 11-point trouncing at Ypsilanti Wednesday.

HAVE BEEN STEADY

Charlie Daul, Jim Hurren and Larry Sonnenberg have been steady scorers. Daul, Hurren and sophomore Mike Pope have worked well on the backboards. They will likely start along with Bill Harding.

Max Havel and Stu Hildreth have performed well in reserve and will likely see considerable action.

Adrian drew a bye into the semis. The Trojans had a 6-12 regular season record and were 1-9 in their Lenawee County loop. Captain Ken Hooker and Dexter Church have been the top stars. Church is the high point man with a 17 per game average.

Capac had its usual good balance in leading all the way. John Schaefer hit 14, Ken Kobayashi 12, Dan Peitz and Rick Hawks 11 each. Gary Schick's 19 paced the Pointers.

THEY WON — Two Clarkson cheerleaders embrace after the Wolves had topped Clawson in a close game at Pontiac Northern Thursday. Clarkson will play Northville for the Class B regional crown Saturday.

4 Doubleheaders Feature OSU, Cincinnati

NCAA Has Big Slate

By The Associated Press

The final countdown to determine the 1962 National Collegiate basketball champion starts tonight.

Doubleheaders at four regional sites in the NCAA tourney will pare the field to eight teams and Saturday night's regional finals will cut the field to four for the national semifinals and final at Louisville, Ky. next week.

The main interest will be on the games at Iowa City and Manhattan, Kan., with the appearance of defending champion, Cincinnati, and top-ranked Ohio State.

OSU FAVORITE

The Buckeyes at Iowa City, and the Bearcats are favored over Western Kentucky and Creighton, respectively.

is favored over Butler at Iowa City, Colorado over Texas Tech at Manhattan, Oregon State over Pepperdine and UCLA over Utah State at Provo, Utah, St. Joseph's over Wake Forest and Villanova over NYU at College Park, Md.

In the NCAA Small College Tourney at Evansville, Ind., Western, the defending champion, was eliminated in the quarter-finals by Mt. St. Mary's 45-39. Sacramento State, Nebraska Wesleyan and Southern Illinois also reached the semifinals. Sacramento State, the defending champion, was defeated by Valparaiso 61-54. Nebraska Wesleyan humbled Southeast Missouri 71-61 in overtime and Southern Illinois beat Northeastern 73-57.

Westminster (Pa.) and Prairie View (Tex.), the top-seeded teams, won again in the NAIA tourney at Kansas City, this time in the quarter-finals. Westminster defeated Orange (Calif.) State 63-55, Prairie View downed Arizona State College 86-48. Western Illinois took Carson Newman 84-60 and Southeastern Oklahoma defeated Ferris 69-49.

In tonight's NCAA semifinals at Evansville it's Mt. St. Mary's vs. Southern Illinois and Nebraska Wesleyan vs. Sacramento State. In the NAIA round of four at Kansas City, it's Westminster vs. Southeastern Oklahoma and Western Illinois vs. Prairie View.

Providence Eliminated

Temple, Dayton NIT Victors

NEW YORK (AP) — Temple's, more for the Wheatshockers, was high for the losers with 18 points and grabbed 11 rebounds.

The first round will be completed in a Saturday afternoon program pairing Holy Cross (19-5) against Colorado State University (18-8) and Navy (13-7) against Duquesne (20-5). The Navy-Duquesne game will be nationally televised (NBC) at 4 p.m. EST.

Temple advanced with an 86-76 overtime thriller over defending champion Providence Thursday night before a Madison Square Garden crowd of 13,895 after Dayton beat Wichita 79-71. The Owls take on Loyola of Chicago next while the Flyers go after Houston.

Earl Proctor culminated Temple's comeback against Providence with a 25-foot jump shot that whistled through just two seconds before the end of regulation time and pulled the Owls into a 74-74 tie. Then in the extra period, the 6-foot-3 senior made an all-important steal under the Friars' basket, pulled off a pair of vital rebounds, and sank two free throws for the clincher.

BIG RALLY

Providence poured in 14 straight points after intermission, pushing from six behind into a 44-38 lead and outscored the smaller Owls 18-2 during a 6-minute stretch. They still had a 74-69 advantage with 38 seconds to go—but it wasn't enough.

Gordie Hatten, teaming with brother Tom in the Dayton backcourt, was an all-around sparkler to go with his playmaking and fine defensive work.

Jo-Jo's Ousted at Detroit

T&C Quintet 'C' Champs

Town & Country won the Class C City League basketball championship Thursday night with a 41-31 victory over the Wallace Outlets in the finals of their playoffs at Pontiac Central.

The T&C eagles erected a 22-13 halftime lead and coasted to victory. Lymus Grant paced T&C with 14 points.

Jo-Jo's quintet, Pontiac's Class D champ, played its poorest game of the season and suffered a 61-32 licking from Detroit in the semis of the Inter-City Recreation Association tourney at Lasky Gymnasium.

Willie Peck, Jo-Jo's leading scorer, made only two points. Willie Hatten and Milford Hillie paced the losers with 9 and 8 points, respectively. Woody Leatherwood bagged 19 for the winners.

Ready to Sign

Patterson and Liston Set to Ink Contracts or Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Sonny Liston are scheduled to sign for a title fight today that may be the biggest money-maker of them all.

Both Patterson and the controversial challenger from Philadelphia are expected to be present for the signing ceremony at a midtown hotel.

The date and date of the fight have not been disclosed, but it is expected to be held in a New York ball park in late June or early July.

BIG GROSS

The fight is expected to gross more than $3 million at the gate and from ancillary rights. Some estimates have ranged as high as $10 million.

Patterson will get about 55 per cent of it. Liston will receive 12 1/2 per cent. The contract also calls for a return bout clause, approved by Patterson, should Liston win.

His Private Plaything

Walt Spends Millions More on Disneyland

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

THOMAS

Everyone knows that Disneyland is the private plaything of an overgrown Missouri boy named Walt Disney. It is a tribute to his humanitarianism that he allows the rest of the world to share his hobby. Almost 30 million people have done so.

Following an annual custom, he lunched with Walt to find out what he has up his sleeve for Disneyland's eighth year.

LOTS OF THINGS
"Lots of things," he said. "We are spending $7 million on new features this year. Let me tell you, it was easier to get 7 million out of them (the Bankers) this year than it was to get 2 million a few years ago. When you've had a good year, you don't have to do much convincing."

The new outlay will bring the total to $44 million that Disney has sunk into the entire orange grove in Anaheim. While its imitations around the country have faded, Disneyland continues to boom. Walt intends to keep it that way.

One big item for this year is a complete refurbishing of the jungle ride in Adventureland. It has been a top attraction since the opening of the park in 1955, but Walt isn't satisfied. The new additions will include a complete African safari with lions, zebras, jackals, hyenas, etc., plus a bathing pool where a couple-dozen elephants will splash and squirt.

A TREE HOUSE
A new attraction will be a tree house towering 70 feet above Anaheim. It will be reminiscent of the one Disney used in "Swiss Family Robinson," and will include three separate homes.

The new season will bring an increase of eating places at Disneyland. One of the restaurants will overlook the jungle and will feature a symphony of singing birds. Disney proudly displayed some of the models in the studio shop—brilliantly plumed animals with innards of gums and gears and diap, their wings.

Also in the works: A safari shooting gallery where visitors can shoot at animated beasts; a New Orleans square overlooking the river; a haunted house full of all kinds of spooks; a thieves' market shopping area. Some of these will be open to the public in 1963.

Minister's Idea for Missions

Collects Discarded Hospital Equipment

PERU, Ill. (AP)—A minister in this northern Illinois town has given a new twist to the old-fashioned rummage sale as he hopes his variation will grow into a nationwide effort to help foreign missionaries.

The Rev. Ralph Burlingham, pastor of the Peru Congregational Church, suggests churches and individuals collect discarded but usable medical equipment—outmoded X-ray machines, operating tables, needles, syringes and the like—and ship them to remote areas where churchmen tell him they are needed sorely.

He is convinced such equipment is in good supply in hospital storerooms across the country and with hardly any effort at all he has collected a couple of cast-off operating tables and an operating room light originally valued at $5,300.

A chance observation of a new X-ray machine in his home town hospital and an article he read in a church publication gave the Rev. Mr. Burlingham his idea.

The article, written by Dr. Ben

Heebster, president of the United Church of Christ, described the lack of equipment in overseas mission stations and hospitals.

What happened is the local hospital's old X-ray machine? The Rev. Mr. Burlingham wondered when he read the article.

LISTS EQUIPMENT
A telephone call established that the old machine was junked after the new equipment was installed. He then broadened his survey to determine what equipment was wanted and what was available.

He fired off letters to 13 mission doctors. He visited or made telephone calls to hospitals in central Illinois and Chicago. He contacted the Church World Service Agency of the National Council of Churches to learn what was being done along that line.

Typical of the list of needs was the reply from Dr. Hale Henry

Cook, a missionary in India. He needed any hospital utensils of stainless steel, operating tables with standard adjustments, bedside lecture tables, steel cabinets, one-use needles, syringes, intravenous tubing sets, X-ray cassettes, adjustable over-bed tables, portable, battery-operated electrocardiograph, repairable operating room instruments of stainless steel and stretchers.

The Illinois minister already has received offers of cooperation from two hospitals in Chicago and three in downstate Illinois.

Station Seeks Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission says it has received an application from WMP, Harroch, Mich., for a change of frequency from 520 to 1100 kilocycles and for a change to unlimited hours, operating on one kilowatt days and 250 kilowatts nights.

The announcement stressed an AFL-CIO official described that provision as the first of its kind negotiated on a nationwide basis, except for a contract worked out earlier this year by the same industry with some 8,000 highly skilled machine operators as a separate group.
