

Ferency's Goal: Reunite Dems for Election

Special to The Pontiac Press

Michigan Democrats settled down today to the business of the April 1 spring election under an uneasy truce forged by their new state chairman, 40-year-old Zoltan A. Ferency.

Ferency staged an upset victory over incumbent John J. (Joe) Collins Saturday at the party's state convention in Grand Rapids.

Immediately he began gluing together the fragments of party unity.

He made his first efforts at closing the breach between his staunch supporter, former Gov. John B. Swainson, and other party leaders as he presided over a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee following the convention.

At the meeting, Collins, 28, said, "We certainly should all work together now as we promised we would before the convention."

Ferency climaxed a whirlwind campaign to unseat Collins — an effort begun only Thursday — when 2,234 delegates to the convention elected him by acclamation.

His victory came after Swainson, practically his lone supporter until Saturday, appeared unexpectedly before the cheering delegates and said, "You know who I'm for."

The former governor climbed out of a Detroit hospital bed against his doctor's orders to attend the convention. He ripped into the proposed new state constitution and the man who put him out of office, Gov. George Romney.

LABOR IN COMMAND
The outcome put Swainson and labor Democrats in command of the party in Michigan.

It also was a blow to the prestige of U.S. Congressman-at-large Neil Stabler, although Ferency denied it.

Swainson and Ferency won against apparently insurmountable opposition by Stabler, U.S. Senators Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart. Virtually the entire state administrative board of top elected officials was in Collins' corner, too.

However, there was evidence that Ferency was swept into office by a growing grass roots dissatisfaction with Collins' leadership. That dissatisfaction overpowered the delegates' desires not to repudiate Stabler's leadership.

Main theme of support for Collins was that the coming election (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Rate Raise Request

DETROIT (AP) — Pointing to what they termed "steadily rising health care costs in general and a greater use of needed hospital services," spokesmen for the Michigan Blue Cross - Blue Shield programs made their pitch for rate increases at a public hearing here today.

State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn presided at the hearing at which William S. McNary, Blue Cross president, and Samuel G. Whittier, Blue Shield executive director, attempted to show that without rate increases both health insurance plans will plunge into the red within a few months.

Whittier presented prepared statistics to back a claim that the state's Colburn grants Blue Shield's requested increase, averaging 23.9 per cent, the program will register a deficit of more than $2 million by February of 1965.

United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, a witness, charged the plans had failed to undertake what he called required "fundamental reforms" and that sub-riders' dollars were being "frittered away".

Canada's Defense Chief Resigns

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian Cabinet appears on the verge of falling apart today, Defense Minister Douglas Harkness, an advocate of nuclear weapons for Canada, resigned and indicated that dissolution of Parliament is near.

Such dissolution would bring April elections, with Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker seeking to restore his Conservative party to a clear-cut majority in Parliament.

Harkness in resigning said his and Diefenbaker's views were irreconcilable.

"For over two years you have been aware that I believed warheads should be supplied to the four weapons systems we have acquired which are adapted to their use," Harkness told Diefenbaker.

"Throughout this period I believed that they would be authorized at the appropriate time."

OFFERED TO QUIT
"During the last two weeks particularly, I have made absolutely clear what I considered the minimum position I could accept, and several times have offered to resign unless it was agreed to."

"It has become quite obvious during the last few days that your views and mine as to the course we should pursue for the acquisition of nuclear weapons for our armed forces are not capable of reconciliation."

"Thus it is with a great deal of regret that I now find I must tender my resignation as minister of the national defense."

"Until the last few weeks I enjoyed my 5 1/2 years as a member of your government and trust I have made some contribution to it and to Canada."

In Washington, the state department declined comment on the resignation.

Harkness said he sent the resignation to the prime minister Sunday, along with a memorandum saying he intended to make the resignation public today and later speak in the House of Commons.

TALK OF DISSOLUTION
He then hinted that the Diefenbaker Cabinet had been discussing dissolution of Parliament. He said he would make public his planned statement to Commons, if dissolution came before the Commons meeting at 2:30 p.m. today.

In the event that dissolution is not decided upon, Diefenbaker's opponents will have another try to unseat him when a vote of no confidence comes up for debate Tuesday.

The opposition Liberal party chided Harkness last Thursday about his statement, in the House of Commons, seeming to imply a split with Diefenbaker on the issue of accepting U.S. nuclear weapons.

Harkness said Jan. 28 he believed that agreement could be reached soon with Washington to make nuclear warheads available for the two Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases in Canada and for the nation's five jet interceptor squadrons.

Harkness insisted a speech by Diefenbaker Jan. 25 had been misinterpreted and that Canada was not scrapping its potential nuclear weapons carrier system.

Diefenbaker had said the strike role of the Canadian air division in Europe had been placed in doubt by the U.S. British decision at Nassau on a multinational nuclear force for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A member of Parliament from Alberta, Harkness is 59.

Formerly northern affairs minister and minister of agriculture, he assumed the defense portfolio Oct. 11, 1960, succeeding G. R. Peakes.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk took over today the job of explaining to critical senators the background of the dispute with Canada over nuclear weapons policy.

Rusk notified the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he, instead of Undersecretary George C. McChes, will appear before a subcommittee headed by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., at a closed hearing.

Concern Rises on Cuba Arms

Keating Hits Russian Build-Up of Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Donald C. Bruce, R-Ind., charged on the House floor today that the Russians sent 82 to 85 offensive missiles to Cuba rather than the 42 which the Soviets removed after the October crisis.

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — Congressional concern about a Soviet build-up in Cuba increased today, and the administration prepared to crack down harder on foreign shippers engaged in Cuban trade.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a man with a satchel full of information, is keeping the Kennedy administration hopping overtime with his charges of a Soviet arms build-up in Cuba.

Last night Keating claimed in a television interview that Soviet troops in Cuba now number about 10 times as many as were estimated by officials to be there last July. This would bring the current Soviet strength to about 80,000.

Assistant Secretary of State Edwin Martin, who appeared on the program with Keating, cautioned that estimates of Soviet troops in Cuba last July were not too accurate but said Keating's claim "is within the range of possibility."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., whose preparedness subcommittee is investigating the Cuban situation, said the United States might have to demand that Russia remove its present forces just as it demanded removal of offensive missiles and bombers.

ORDER EXPECTED
Administration authorities said today they expect an order to be issued tomorrow or Wednesday discouraging shipping to Cuba.

Earlier, informants had indicated the long-awaited move might be made today.

The order, reported still undergoing last minute revisions, is expected to ban shipments of U.S. government or government-financed cargoes aboard vessels stopping at Cuba after last Jan. 1.

It would be retroactive to that date in its application of penalties involved.

Shippers could escape the ban by removing their vessels from trade with Cuba.

A number of Western nations already have removed their ships from the Cuban trade. But 15 ships are reported still engaged in such trade as against 90 last summer.

Britain, Norway and Greece are among countries whose ships have sailed to Cuba, sometimes under charter to Soviet bloc nations.

Senator Keating said that two arms-bearing ships had arrived in the Cuban River at Sacramento, Calif., during the weekend before rescue squads fired a line to them with a special gun. The five were pulled safely across the swollen river in a saddle chair (center) and quickly huddled in blankets around a small fire on the mainland shore (bottom).

De Gaulle Angers Europe, Reds

From Our News Wires
LONDON — French President Charles de Gaulle's maneuvers to organize a French-led European bloc stirred demonstrations in West Germany, brought a protest from Moscow and provoked official huddles throughout Western Europe today.

While European capitals still boiled with reaction, the parliament members of the six-nation Common Market met for a stormy debate in Strasbourg, France, following the French veto of Britain's bid to enter the Common Market.

In Munich, hundreds of West German students demonstrated to protest the French action and express their sympathy with Britain.

Students in the capital of Bonn called a similar demonstration outside the French embassy with police permission.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, which had previously assailed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, turned on de Gaulle today because of his increased flirtation with Gen. Francisco Franco's Spain.

Pravda charged de Gaulle in tended to create a Paris-Bonn-Madrid axis that would only heighten international tension.

VISIT IN SPAIN
The paper's broadside came after Gen. Charles Ailler, chief of the French Defense Staff, flew to Madrid for talks with Spanish officials after similar visits by other French emissaries.

Pravda alleged that the French officials sought to establish a political, military and economic alliance with Franco.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, in a government policy report, said

Dies at 740 Pounds

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two weeks ago, when Charles Steinmetz weighed 670 pounds, he said: "I haven't got much time left. I crave food like an alcoholic craves alcohol."

Steinmetz, 38, died Sunday in a hospital. Doctors said he weighed 740 pounds at death a gain of 70 pounds in two weeks.

Steinmetz complained of lung congestion Saturday. It took 16 men to load him into the rear of a delivery truck for the trip to the hospital. Cause of death awaited the outcome of an autopsy.

Steinmetz, who was 68 inches tall and 70 inches around, said each pound he gained brought him nearer to death, but he couldn't stop. "Other people smoke or drink when they worry. I find myself a chicken."

At the age of 8, Steinmetz was underweight. He started gaining rapidly in his late teens. He worked 16 years as a typist, retiring on a medical pension in 1959 when he reached 585 pounds.

He said doctors told him, there was nothing organically wrong.

Landslide Hits Town Where 105 Perished

BIBLIAN, Ecuador (UPI) — A landslide struck this Andean mountain town yesterday shortly after a grief-stricken village had attended a mass funeral for 105 nuns and children who died when a school building collapsed.

A river of mud and rocks, triggered by the same winter storm which undermined the school building, plowed down the mountainside into the Turbamba section of town.

The landslide destroyed seven houses, but caused no casualties.

It struck just after victims of Friday's school tragedy were buried. Roman Catholic Archbishop Manuel Serrano Abad of Cuenca conducted religious services.

Virtually everyone in this town of 2,000 persons suffered a personal loss in the catastrophe.

The death toll rose to 105 early yesterday with the death of Sister Carolina, the mother superior of the Sacred Heart of Mary school where a chapel carved in during evening services Friday.

Four other nuns and 100 children, aged 6 to 16, also died when chapel walls, weakened by rain, gave way and sent the roof hurtling down on the worshippers.

UNDERGOING REPAIRS

Authorities said the school was undergoing repairs when the tragedy struck. A special warning had been issued against using the chapel, according to officials.

Rescue crews working in rainy weather recovered most of the crushed bodies of the children, their blue and white uniforms covered with mud from the debris. Four children were missing but presumed dead.

The number of injured being treated in hospitals here, in Cuenca, Azuay, and Cañar provinces, was put at 70. About 350 children were in the chapel when it fell.

Some families lost all their children in the catastrophe. One family had its four daughters killed and another lost a set of twins.

Juan Sevilla, Ecuador's minister of social welfare, came to Biblian from Quito to give assistance to families of the survivors.

The federal government had granted $5,000 for rescue efforts and had sent in army troops and firemen from nearby cities.

Authorities said one wall of the chapel collapsed inward after being undermined by water. It was followed by the roof and another main town yesterday shortly after a grief-stricken village had attended a mass funeral for 105 nuns and children who died when a school building collapsed.

County Dems Aided Ferency

only frustration — most district and county conventions in January decided not to endorse Collins for re-election. They were looking for a new candidate.

Ferency decided to enter the race.

Saturday, Levin and other county leaders found themselves among Collins' supporters — arguing that it was the wrong time, with the April 1 election coming up, to make a change.

By this time, support for Ferency had mushroomed — at least partly because of his forceful speeches at delegation caucuses.

Party leaders apparently were so successful in emphasizing dissatisfaction with Collins in their search for new leadership that delegates swung to his only opponent, Ferency.

Many insist that Ferency's election was not so much a triumph for Swainson over Stacker as it was a grass roots mandate for a change after losing the governorship.

The pattern of voting among Oakland County delegates showed not a rejection of Levin's leadership, but agreement with him that a change was needed.

They disagreed only on the timing, possibly because Levin had done his work too well to halt its effects.

Crashes in Frisco Fog

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Francisco Bay. The cargo was presumed destroyed.

The four who perished in the crash, all Californians, were: pilot Richard MacCallum, 42, Walnut Creek; copilot William Corryell, 48, Burbank; Albert V. Aaron, 40, and Lloyd Mulligan, 40, both of San Mateo. All were Slick Airways employees.

Aaron, an off-duty pilot, was heading home from Dallas, Tex., as was Mulligan, the maintenance foreman at Slick's, San Francisco shop.

The flight had originated in Washington, D.C., and made stops in Norfolk, Va., Dallas, Tex., and Albuquerque, N.M. The big ship had been held over San Jose for 45 minutes while visibility cleared to three-quarters of a mile at the airport.

The four injured were: John O'Neal, 46, Pittsfield, Mass., a General Electric Corp. representative who accompanied the special Navy equipment; Slick flight engineers John Walk, 41, Los Angeles, Calif., and Clarence Field, 43, Millbrae, Calif.; and Kenneth Hale, 32, San Mateo, Calif., an engineer for another air cargo line.

All were taken to the Peninsula Hospital in nearby Burlingame.

FOUGHT SMOKE

Walk battled through smoke and flame to hold open an emergency door for two of the injured passengers and help them out of the burning ship.

Almost overcome in the blazing wreck, Walk jumped clear himself while a third man crawled toward him. He was one of the four who never got out alive.

Seventy firemen battled for two hours against the flames before the four bodies could be recovered.

Romney said there would be no open dispute over the GOP state chairmanship at the Republican state convention.

"We will sit down as a group and take a careful look at the requirements of the position and the capacities of the candidates, and end up with a meeting of the minds," Romney said.

"After I get the views of the various groups, I will express my own preference."

Romney said the Democratic convention "tends to confirm a point I've been making for some time — we are not vehicles for pressure groups," he said.

County delegates voted to back the upstart winner, Zolton A. Ferency, despite Levin's recommendation to re-elect John J. (Joe) Collins.

Although some claimed this prevented Collins' camp from gathering support while Swainson rallied Ferency's forces, most district caucuses already had made their decisions.

However, the move may have affected the vote in Detroit's 16th district, the convention's largest delegation, and the last one to swing for Ferency.

Adelaide J. Hart, recently retired Detroit teacher, was elected party vice chairman. Miss Hart held the post for 10 years until two years ago.

Democrats nominated incumbent Eugene F. Black for a position on the State Supreme Court despite a move to dump him.

For a second seat on the court, they nominated Paul Adams, who lost his high court post in November to Republican-nominated Michael G. O'Hara.

Also-nominated were incumbents in educational posts. They were Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett; University of Michigan Regents Eugene Power and Donald M. D. Thurbur; Michigan State University Trustees Don Stevens and Jan B. Vanderploeg; and Leonard-Woodcock and Michael Ferrence of the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

Gerald Tuohy of Detroit, chairman of the Michigan State Tenure Commission, was nominated for a six-year term on the State Board of Education.

In a clear allusion to De Gaulle, Macmillan said there have been times in Europe's history when one nation or one man tried to exert control, but Britain is quivering such times are past.

Adenauer also declared today that despite the Soviet setback in Cuba the Communist threat to the world is as great as ever.

The 87-year-old chancellor pledged that West Germany will support a strengthened NATO under U.S. leadership to meet the threat.

In a foreword to the West German government's annual report, Adenauer promised that his country will carry its due share of the common western defense burden in 1963.

FAVORS COOPERATION

He noted growing differences between the Soviet Union and Red China but argued against "falling into the self-deception that these mean a lessening of the Communist threat to the world."

In a copyrighted interview in U.S. News and World Report, published today, Adenauer said French President Charles de Gaulle "is absolutely in favor of cooperation with the United States."

"For he is as convinced as myself that cooperation with the United States is vital to Europe, and vital to the United States," he was interviewed at Bonn last Tuesday.

SECRET MEETING

Forty politicians from Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — all the Common Market members but France — held an emergency secret meeting in the Hague over the weekend.

Dutch government sources reported they decided French President Charles de Gaulle poses "a more deadly threat to Western Europe and the free world than Russian communism."

The Dutch feared de Gaulle's bid to dominate Western Europe would "kill the growth of the Dutch economy" by cutting contacts with the United States and Britain.

March of this sentiment was likely to erupt in public today during the meeting in Strasbourg, France, of members of parliament of the six Common Market nations.

Delegates prepared for a stormy debate on the very first agenda item — a report on the Common Market economic situation by Robert Marjolin of France.

Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of the French defense staff, flew to Madrid for talks with Gen. Augustin Munoz Grandes, Spanish vice premier and national defense coordinator.

Book 2 Hoods in Dual Slaying

Mother, 2-Year-Old Shot in Gun Battle

BOSTON (AP) — Two tough Boston gunmen today were charged with murder in what police described as a love-triangle gunshot slaying of a young married woman and her 2-year-old son.

They are Rocco Balliro, 28, an escaped convict, and Albert Clocio, 33, who also has a long police record.

A third man, identified as Balliro's brother Salvatore, is still at large and the object of a wide manhunt in connection with the slayings.

Killed during a furious gun battle between three gunmen and three policemen at 2 a.m. Saturday were Mrs. Tony Zimmerman Wagner, 21, and her son Mark.

Scene of the shooting was a Roxbury apartment in which police were staked out after Balliro allegedly telephoned Mrs. Wagner that he was en route there.

Police said a romance between Rocco Balliro and Mrs. Wagner while her husband was in prison turned into jealousy when the husband was released from Concord Reformatory last Friday.

The husband, Bernard Wagner, 23, told police Rocco Balliro had warned him Friday night to stay away from his own wife. Wagner said he refused despite two wild shots fired at him by Balliro on a Dorchester street.

Police said Mrs. Wagner had decided to leave Balliro for her husband.

Last night police quoted Balliro as saying he did not know that the wild 40-shot gun battle in the Roxbury apartment was with policemen who had been hiding there.

"I thought I was shooting it out with Wagner and his friends," police quoted him as saying.

Democrat Split Will Help in Spring Election

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today he thought the power struggle between Democrats over the state party chairmanship at their weekend convention would help Republicans in the spring election.

Romney answered with a flat "yes" when the question was posed to him at his morning news conference.

To Recommend Program for Replacing Sidewalks

BIRMINGHAM — City Engineer William T. Killen tonight will recommend a sidewalk replacement program for 1963 expected to cost the city and benefiting property owners a total of $26,897.

In a report prepared for today's 8 p.m. City Commission meeting, Killen suggested that three areas be included in this year's sidewalk program.

He estimated the city's share of the cost at $11,200 and the benefiting property owners' share at $15,675.

One of the areas recommended by Killen is bounded by Lake-side Street, Quinton Road, Woodward Avenue and the south side of Oak Street.

Another is bounded by Maple Road, Henrietta Street, Brown Street and the Rouge River. The third is an area surrounded by Oak at East and Derby roads and Coolidge Highway.

A request for more crossing guards near Baldwin Elementary School by the school's PTA and a discussion of the proposed vacation of Manor Park Road also are on the agenda.

Machine Theft Closes Shop

The theft of five tons of machinery over the weekend forced an Avon Township tool plant to close shop today, according to a report from the sheriff's department.

When shop employees at DRD Manufacturing Co., 808 Rochester Road, arrived this morning, they found virtually all of the machinery gone. The workers were sent home, deputy Robert Phillips said.

According to Phillips, the thieves drove a truck into the plant after smashing a window to reach in and unlock a rear door.

They used a company fork lift to load the machinery onto the truck, he said.

The theft occurred sometime after 3:30 p.m. Saturday when the building was last checked.

Famous Art Arrives in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Two famed French artists, a confidant of the "Mother" and "The Penitent Saint Mary Magdalen," arrived from France today for a two-month display before Americans.

Guardians and lovers of art and even a distant relative of one of the grande dames of painting — were on hand to greet the pair, brought over by the U.S. Army ship, Gen. Darby.

"Everyone in America is delighted to have these paintings here for a visit," said James V. Carmichael, president of the Atlanta, Ga., art association.

The two masterpieces are destined for Atlanta for an exhibit.

must remain the highest principle for European institutions.

"The entry of England into the Common Market has special importance," he said.

In London, Prime Minister Macmillan, who last night termed the French blackball of Britain's Common Market entry as "folly as well as ingratitude," briefed his cabinet today on his unity talks with Italy. He then prepared to face another labor caucus motion in parliament — on the issue of unemployment.

At the same time, Britain's recent Liberals became the third major British party to line up behind President Kennedy's plan to lower international trade barriers.

A spokesman for the Liberal party said the British government must back Kennedy's trade liberalization program as a basic policy during the critical period following collapse of the Brussels Common Market talks.

Macmillan appeared heartened by assurances that Premier Amintore Fanfani will work with other European leaders to override the French veto of Britain's bid to join the European Economic Community.

HITS DE GAULLE

In a clear allusion to De Gaulle, Macmillan said there have been times in Europe's history when one nation or one man tried to exert control, but Britain is quivering such times are past.

back in Cuba the Communist threat to the world is as great as ever.

The 87-year-old chancellor pledged that West Germany will support a strengthened NATO under U.S. leadership to meet the threat.

In a foreword to the West German government's annual report, Adenauer promised that his country will carry its due share of the common western defense burden in 1963.

FAVORS COOPERATION

He noted growing differences between the Soviet Union and Red China but argued against "falling into the self-deception that these mean a lessening of the Communist threat to the world."

In a copyrighted interview in U.S. News and World Report, published today, Adenauer said French President Charles de Gaulle "is absolutely in favor of cooperation with the United States."

"For he is as convinced as myself that cooperation with the United States is vital to Europe, and vital to the United States," he was interviewed at Bonn last Tuesday.

SECRET MEETING

Forty politicians from Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — all the Common Market members but France — held an emergency secret meeting in the Hague over the weekend.

Dutch government sources reported they decided French President Charles de Gaulle poses "a more deadly threat to Western Europe and the free world than Russian communism."

The Dutch feared de Gaulle's bid to dominate Western Europe would "kill the growth of the Dutch economy" by cutting contacts with the United States and Britain.

March of this sentiment was likely to erupt in public today during the meeting in Strasbourg, France, of members of parliament of the six Common Market nations.

Delegates prepared for a stormy debate on the very first agenda item — a report on the Common Market economic situation by Robert Marjolin of France.

Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of the French defense staff, flew to Madrid for talks with Gen. Augustin Munoz Grandes, Spanish vice premier and national defense coordinator.

See No Relief in Icy Europe

Death Toll Hits 539
in Fresh Disasters

LONDON (AP) — Europeans shivered on in their little ice age today with no sign of early relief from the freeze.

Europe's unofficial death toll climbed to at least 539 as fresh disaster struck. In Spain's Canary Islands, off the northwest coast of Africa, a 1,000-walled hall collapsed during a storm, killing 27 persons.

Fresh blizzards dumped 15-foot snowdrifts in Britain's Kent County. Snowplows were unable to get through to some villages. Main British highways began to crack. Officials said this would add millions of dollars to the snow-clearing bill, which stands at 20 million pounds—$56 million.

London's Water Board, plagued by thousands of burst pipes, took up the idea of an enterprising private plumber and started thawing pipes by sending a huge electric charge through the pipes.

A typhoid epidemic added to the troubles of Yugoslav villagers in the Bijelo Polje area of Montenegro. More than 50 persons were hospitalized. Snowdrifts kept doctors from reaching other sufferers.

West German temperatures averaged about 5 degrees. The Rhine was still blocked to shipping.

Snow was reported from Marseille and along the Mediterranean Coast. Traffic on highways throughout France was snarled.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Jamaica's first television station, to be operated by the government-owned Jamaica Broadcasting Corp., is expected to begin broadcasting in August.

Plan Acapulco Rail Link

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government-owned national railways will begin construction work this year on a rail route between this capital and the Pacific Coast resort town of Acapulco.

Speedy Thief Moved by Power of Suggestion

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — A hoodlunk thief held up a movie theater manager at shotgun point Saturday night and escaped over an ice-covered field with $481.

The movie at the theater was "The Loneliness of a Long Distance Runner," a British film about a speedy youth sent to prison for stealing.

In the course of a 70-year life, an average human heart spends about 40 years in a state of "rest."

Profit-Sharing Law No Boon in Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexico's compulsory profit-sharing law thus far has proved to be "little more than an added, but very real, business uncertainty," a congressman reported yesterday.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., said that difficulties in administering the unique statute have made it impossible thus far to determine its real effects.

Mrs. Griffiths, in a report, submitted to the Joint Congressional Economic Committee by its subcommittee on Inter-American Economic Relationships, said there are two sharply varying views on the law's ultimate effect. She said "only the record of administration will tell which is correct."

North America has more laws than any other continent.

Romney Stumps on Weekend

Levels Blast at Enemies of New State Constitution

By United Press International
Gov. George Romney stumped central Michigan during the weekend, calling for an end to "partisanship" in the controversy raging over the new proposed state constitution.

Waging a campaign for adoption of the new document in the April 1 election, Romney told Lincoln Day rallies at Rosecommon and West Branch Saturday that its opponents are using "linguistic sleight-of-hand" to urge voters to stick with the 1908 constitution.

Romney, a member of the constitutional convention which wrote the new document, said "words are tossed about with little or no regard for their meaning" in the campaign. He said Abraham Lincoln would have been "repelled by the abuses of language."

The governor did not mention Democrats by name, although the state party convention at Grand Rapids went on record against the new constitution this weekend.

"If we are to have any understanding at all of the issues involved," Romney said, "we must be on guard against another kind of constitutional opponent — who believes misrepresentation is a more powerful weapon than truth and reason."

Romney said the documents' opponents "hope to convince the voters that the new constitution is laden with loopholes and honey-combed with hidden traps."

He warned of "great danger for the friends of good government. Just as alerts and special states of readiness are proclaimed in time of war or impending danger, I would sound an alert now for all Michigan citizens — regardless of party — and ask it continue until the election is over."

Romney urged both parties to "let partisanship sleep a while" and join a united campaign to boost the new constitution.

AVON TOWNSHIP—Mrs. Helen Williams of Rochester will speak on "The 100th Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation" at University Presbyterian Church Sunday.

She will speak at both the 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. services as the highlight of Race Relations Sunday.

Mrs. Williams is a well-known lecturer, book reviewer and owner of a Rochester bookstore. She holds a graduate degree in literature from the University of Michigan and has taught at Wayne University and the University of Chicago.

In addition, she is a nationally known authority on children's books and has been a consultant for various school systems.

Mrs. Williams will bring to the congregation an historical perspective of the Emancipation Proclamation.

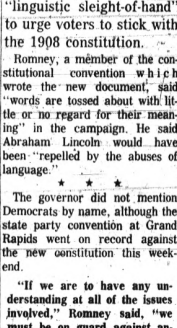

Visitors are welcome as churches across the nation celebrate the centennial of this famous document.

Church nurseries and Sunday school classes through the sixth grade are available at both services. The church is located at 1385 Adams Road, two miles south of Walton Boulevard.

Miss Lupton Speaks Vows

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Julia Marie Lupton and Charles James Gross repeated their marriage vows in a Solemn High Mass Saturday morning in St. Fabian's Church, Farmington. Rev. Francis J. Szaniawski officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. David P. Lupton, 30037 Old Bedford Road, and the late Mr. Lupton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gross, 34001 W. Thirteen Mile Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of Italian silk, designed Princess style with long, pointed sleeves and a chapel train.

A pearl crown held her fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bridal bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums.

Rachel Lupton was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Eleanor Keller, Kathleen

Officials Investigate Three Fires in Area

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Fire Department officials today were investigating causes of three fires which broke out within three hours last night and early this morning.

The most serious blaze, according to Township Fire Chief Herbert Morgan, occurred at the Cup N' Pup Restaurant, 32375 Northwestern Highway.

The restaurant fire, which was reported shortly after 12:30 a.m., destroyed about 60 per cent of the one-story concrete block building, Morgan said.

Hampered by a lack of water, West Bloomfield Township firemen were aided by tanker trucks from the Farmington Township and Franklin fire departments.

The flames were fed by fumes escaping from a ruptured gas main, according to Morgan. He said the blaze was extinguished in two hours.

$4,000 INVENTORY

The restaurant proprietor, John Thornton, told firemen he had about a $4,000 inventory in the building. There was no one in the restaurant when fire broke out.

Earlier, township firemen answered alarms just two minutes apart.

The other blazes caused $75 damage to the home of Mrs. George Devroy at 7125 Orchard Lake Road and approximately

MRS. CHARLES J. GROSS

Nursery School Has Openings

ORCHARD LAKE — Openings still are available for 3- and 4-year-olds in the second term at the Lakeland Cooperative Nursery.

The nursery is not a baby-sitting service, but a nonprofit, nonsectarian program for preschool children. It is administered by parents under the supervision of a teacher, according to officers of the organization.

The nursery, which holds its sessions at the Orchard Lake Community Church, 5171 Commerce Road, gives parents the opportunity to help their "child toward independence in his first step away from home."

Wife, Marriage Set as Discussion Topic

LAKE ORION — "A Wife's Role in Marriage," will be discussed by Dr. Jerome Fink of Pontiac at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Lake Orion Child Guidance Association.

Dr. Fink is consulting psychiatrist for the City of Pontiac and is on the staff of the Pontiac General Hospital. He is also in his third year of teaching for the University of Michigan Extension Service.

The meeting will take place in the Lake Orion Youth Center. An invitation to attend is issued to all interested women and clubs in the Lake Orion area.

To Seek Raise for Teachers

Rochester Unit Wants Percentage-Based Hike

ROCHESTER — The salary committee of the Rochester Education Association will ask for a percentage-based pay hike at tonight's board of education meeting in the high school.

"We're asking for an index salary schedule which would tend to take into consideration both experience and professional training to a fuller extent," committee chairman Robert M. Jereau, said today.

Jereau said the proposed plan would tend to attract and hold good quality teachers.

Currently, Rochester teachers are paid according to a 12-step salary schedule.

Teachers with a four-year degree start at $4,500 and receive a $200 increase for each of the first six years and a $220 pay hike for each of the second six years, reaching a maximum of $7,120.

Those with a master's degree receive the same annual increase, based on a salary of $250 more than those with a four-year degree.

TO PRESENT REPORT

In other business tonight Dr. David T. Wilder, chairman of the Citizens' School Study Committee, will present an interim report of the committee's progress.

The citizen's group is currently studying school district problems with a view toward possible improvement.

Also, board member John H. Patterson will present a statement tonight, expected to be in rebuttal to those read two weeks ago by board treasurer Wallace R. Hodges and trustee Dr. Robert E. Chandler.

Dr. Chandler reprimanded Patterson for publishing "misleading and inaccurate" articles on board activities in a weekly newspaper, and Hodges commended local school administrators who Patterson has publicly criticized.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Newlyweds Reside in Evanston, Ill.

MRS. THOMAS C. COFFEY

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Now residing in Evanston, Ill., are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Coffey, who exchanged nuptial vows in a recent ceremony at the First Congregational Church in St. Joseph.

Rev. Albert Vail officiated. The bride, the former Emogene Reisig, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Reisig of St. Joseph. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon L. Coffey of 3710 Van Stone Road.

The bride chose a gown of silk antique tulle for her wedding. It featured a scoop neckline, wrist-length sleeves, a basque bodice and a semibell skirt ending in a sweep train.

A crown of pearls and crystals held her shoulder-length bouffant veil. She carried a nosegay of cattleya orchids and stephanotis.

Mary Long of St. Joseph was maid of honor while Mrs. Jerre Hinkle of Evanston, Ill., served as bridesmaid.

On the esquire side, John C. Pearl of Ann Arbor was best man. Ushers were Robert O. Barr, Harold S. Finkelstein and Charles D. Striffler, all of Ann Arbor.

A reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony.

Superintendent Set as Featured Speaker

LAKE ORION — Schools Supt. A. A. Reed will be the featured speaker at today's 8 p.m. meeting of the Lake Orion Area PTA Council.

Reed will talk on "Future Plans of the School District." This subject is especially timely in view of the recent defeat of a proposed school bond issue, PTA officials said.

The meeting, to be held at Webster School, is open to all interested residents of the school district.

101 Dead in Traffic
EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents have taken 101 lives in Michigan so far this year, according to provisional figures compiled today by State police. The total on this date a year ago was 104.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles...de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. The most effective relief, many doctors say, comes from a bulking action, combined with a colonic nerve stimulating action. Colosoid today, INTRODUCTORY SIZE, 43¢.

only a new tablet called Colosoid gives you this special combination of 3-way overnight relief. (1) Colosoid stimulates colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize its muscular "movement." (2) Colosoid's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) Colosoid moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain. Colosoid even relieves chronic constipation overnight; yet it is clinically proved gentle even for expectant mothers. Six Lashed Together Saved in Gulf; 3 Die

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Six of nine fishermen who tied themselves together and leaped into a boiling sea when their trawler sank told today of the ordeal which claimed the lives of three companions. They were in the gulf of Mexico about 40 minutes before a Coast Guard cutter, hampered by 25-foot waves, could pull them to safety.

In all, eight men lashed together with a rope were hoisted from the gulf about 25 miles offshore Sunday by the Coast Guard cutter Nike.

Two of the eight were dead. The body of a ninth crewman, who had been knocked off the line during the rescue operation, was recovered several hours later.

The dead were Willard Hull, 44, Pensacola, Fla., and Wesley Eli Haslett, 35, of Theodore, Ala. The skipper, Max Alford, 43, suffered broken ribs.

TREATED FOR SHOCK

Treated for shock and exposure and released were John Summers, 35; John Grey, 43; John Tucker, 49; David Griggs, 21; and C. G. Smith, 50, all of Pensacola.

The men had been aboard the 57-foot Sea Horse, out of Bayou La Batre, Ala. She left that port Saturday.

Smith said the trawler began shipping water about 6:30 p.m. that day.

A gale-like north wind hit them that night, and the Sea Horse headed for port.

"The seas were beating us real bad," said Griggs. Another survivor said, "It seemed like all the seams opened up, the water was pouring in so fast."

A Coast Guard plane dropped pumps, but they were carried away by huge waves, Summers said.

After the Nike showed up at 2:50 a.m. Sunday, the crewmen, with lifebelts on, lashed themselves together and went overboard seconds before the Sea Horse sank.

TIED CLOSE
Lt. Cmdr. John A. Packard, Nike commanding officer, said the men were tied so close together the Nike crewmen could not pick up one at a time.

"We showed them with life-lines," Packard said, "but they were worn out and could hardly help themselves."

Nearly 80 per cent of the Princeton University Class of 1963 will go on to graduate study, according to the prediction of Dean J. Merrill Knapp.

It Seems to Me . . .

Balanced Budget First Step Toward Financial Stability

Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY has submitted his first budget, and the whole State of Michigan can cheer. It's a record $547 million, but it's balanced. Better days lie ahead. We're in sound hands.

For more years than taxpayers care to remember, we've drifted aimlessly in an economic morass, vaguely heading nowhere. I'm convinced we have strong, capable leadership that will now balance the budget and pay off the deficit that mounted through an indefensible period of muddling along. The Ship of State has bumped both shores, dragged bottom in midstream and swirled endlessly in financial cross currents.

But that era has ended. Gov. ROMNEY will follow the balanced budget with a comprehensive tax proposal to take this magnificent commonwealth out of the realms of the nationally incompetent and place us where we belong — and always have been.

A few years ago on a week's tour abroad, I read a Dublin headline which said: "Michigan Bankrupt." And I got kidded by compatriots from states that didn't 50% as wealthy as Michigan. But we'd acquired a bad name nationally by missing pay days and leaving millions of unpaid bills. It was exasperating, but that's the kind of management under which we existed. And the fault wasn't all Democratic. The GOP die-hards and malcontents contributed.

Gov. Romney expects to apply $33 million toward the $85-million deficit he inherited. This is a bully good step in the right direction. Everyone expects him to work out the overdraft and ultimately face the world on even keel — smiling. The taxpayers will have to disgorge a bit extra to pick up these previous debts, but everyone is anxious to get square again.

Michigan's bad national reputation has seriously damaged more than our collective pride.

Union Official Bothered . . .

LEONARD WOODCOCK, union official, says GM should reduce the price of cars because of the 1962 profits. The world's biggest corporation broke all records for total sales and all-time earnings. Automatically, this combination produces greater profits in a normal year with a well-managed company.

GM qualifies on both counts.

Government officials must be mildly amused at some of Woodcock's comments. For several years they have looked askance at the percentage of the whole automotive market which GM has captured. They've actually used the big corporation for lesser "monopolies" and now a labor leader suggests a step that would inevitably shove them still further into the lead in their main occupation. Would he want Pontiac, GMC Truck, Chevrolet, Olds, Buick and Cadillac to lower prices — and then have to close down for two months to allow the opposition to "catch up"?

Mr. Woodcock would hear from his workers in no uncertain terms, not to mention places of business in these respective communities. If GM were the sole automobile maker, the Government might have an interest when profits exceeded a normal percentage of the gross. But GM faces one of the most intensely competitive situations in our whole economic structure. Surely Mr. Woodcock is acquainted with Ford, Chrysler and American Motors.

When GM stops making a profit, Mr. Woodcock, his automotive workers and 70-odd communities can really worry. More than 99% of all car manufacturers have gone bankrupt. When that happens, jobs, invested capital and labor leaders fly out the window. I hope GM makes a profit forever and continues in business with ample money for reinvestment and expansion — especially in Pontiac. That means more jobs.

The public would like to see all prices lowered: food, shelter, clothing, TV sets, boats, etc. If unions lowered their demands for higher pay and fringe benefits, prices could be knocked down perceptibly. One of the greatest single items in our inflation has been the steady upward march of Mr. Woodcock's wage schedules and fringe values.

Perhaps unions should set the pace in lowering prices.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter.

I talked with HARRY STUHLREHR (quarterback of the Four Horsemen) in Phoenix, and he's completely opposed to letting coaches send in plays from the bench. Also, he'd abolish the huddle. . . . Overheard: "In Miami they're putting antifreeze in the sun-tan lotion." . . . SPONNY LISTON will be on the front cover of Newsweek in April — the first fighter so honored. The "good guys" are shrugged off and a man with a prison record acclaimed. . . . The Chicago Sun-Times: "KENNEDY's fiscal policy: 'Owe as you go.'"

I can't prove it but I'll bet a sugar cookie the Jaycees' coking Junior Miss contest will be held in that new intramural building on the MSU campus in the near future. . . . Purely personal nomination as an especially attractive young lady in the area: Lisa Marra (and her ma's an all-time star, too) . . . Latest from Washington: "Teddy Kennedy's so young he goes to the Senate office building on a school bus." . . . Colleges and universities across the land are raising tuitions. Like other things, the costs of providing education creep on and on.

LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI says HERNAN PELAYO, "has the one baritone voice of the last hundred years." Wonder if he ever heard me on "I Had a Dream, Dear." . . . Statistics show that the $6,000-to-$9,000-a-year income range produces the greatest percentage of divorces. . . . Automobile-minded Pontiac is interested in the fact 1963 will set a new record for bucket seats. It's running 20% right now. . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—all automobiles that have started without fail this winter; the J's—DE GAULLE.

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Steel Clamp Hurt Profits

WASHINGTON — A significant piece of news in the last few days casts doubt on the soundness of the administration's economic policy — which is that, if the government stimulates spending and thus increases the volume of sales, profits will rise.

Three of the LAWRENCE biggest steel companies have just issued their annual reports. These show that, for the year 1962, although sales went up, profits went down. They show also the toll effect of President Kennedy's error in judgment when last April he ordered governmental agencies to use all their powers to coerce the big steel companies into abandoning a proposed price increase of three tenths of a cent a pound.

The U. S. Steel Corp.'s report for 1962 has just come out. The company's sales went up by $183 million, but profits went down $6 million. A few days later, the annual reports of Bethlehem Steel Company and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation were published. They revealed the same thing — larger sales but smaller profits.

All three companies continued their reduced dividends payments. How long will investors be inclined to supply funds for new equipment if the outlook for dividends is discouraging?

Also, even after taking into account the new tax rules permitting larger depreciation reserves, the U. S. Steel Corp.'s net profits for 1962 were $6 million behind net profits for 1961.

Yet this narrow margin of profit comes when the total volume is up more than one million tons. In 1963 and again in 1965, the U. S. Steel Corporation had an output of 25 million tons of steel, but this volume has steadily gone down until it reached 18 million last year.

There have been few changes in steel prices in recent years, while expenses — largely wage costs — have steadily gone up faster than the employers could absorb them.

Even though the gross national product has risen, steel has faced a steadily decreasing volume of sales in the last few years. This is because previous high sales were due primarily to wartime conditions or to the catching up by buyers in connection with periods of recession or strikes or threats of strikes.

Price is the crucial factor in modern industry. Nowhere has it been more conclusively demonstrated that misguided labor policies have dealt a severe blow to national progress than in steel.

CRUCIAL FACTOR

This industry does a volume of $15 billion a year, and the fabricators and related manufacturing businesses do another $15 billion in sales.

So it will be worth while for the government to take a good look at what its one-sided handling of the steel controversy in April 1962 has done to a major industry.

In this very complex system of price-making, the administration intervened and slowed down a $30-billion industry. Yet Mr. Kennedy said on TV last December that, if he had it to do all over again, he would proceed exactly the same way he did before.

Perhaps last week's steel figures will be helpful in persuading the administration that the time has come to do something about the disruptive effects of high wage demands.

Bob Considine Says:

Boxing Would Get Worse if Made Illegal Again

NEW YORK — Hearings are being conducted in Albany, N.Y., which may lead to the banishment of professional boxing from the state.

The investigation was born of a combination of events, the death of Benny Paré, the feasting corruption and incompetence that prevailed in the business side of the sport, and (probably) waning revenues to the state treasury.

The nation will somehow survive if boxing becomes illegal in New York, once "the Mecca of the sport."

Boxing has been banned in New York before, and elsewhere, too. But it manages to survive and stubbornly has done so since the days when gladiators fought with fists covered by the cestus.

To attempt to run it out of New York by writ would be about as ineffective as a law barring consumption of the mad at Madison Avenue luncheons.

Boxing would simply find sneaky means of outlet. Before the Walker law re-established it legally, professional boxing was bootlegged in New York aboard barges, in shrouded cellars, and in the confines of "clubs," some of which were formed simply for the purpose of the fight and disbanded immediately when it was over.

MANLY ART

The same would happen again. The present supervisor of the game, bad as it is, would go down the sewer with the game itself, to the detriment of the poor slob who participate in a bloody business which Ruyon, who had fiscal as well as journalistic interest in boxing, once dignified with the title of The Manly Art of Self-Defense.

They would be less protected than referee Ruby Goldstein protected the dying Paré.

What boxing needs badly in New York and many other places is a divorce, a divorce from politically appointed boxing commissions.

Being a friend of the gubernatorial incumbent just isn't enough

For the present steel contract is coming up soon for possible reopening by labor.

The union leaders on the national level are said to be hesitant to ask for wage increases now, but rumblings are heard among the local leaders who have political ambitions inside the unions.

The administration could do a constructive job of education at these levels and give the steel industry a chance to recover before it is faced with more wage increases.

of a credential to rule over what can be a dangerous enterprise.

The ebb and flow of boxing commissions, influenced by the political shade of the man in the State Capitol, is as preposterous as if the White House ruled every four years on the identity of the commissioner of baseball.

U.N.'s Deceit

The Chicago Tribune

The foreign editor of the Arizona Republic has produced further documentation of the fact that the United Nations practiced the technique of the big lie to justify its assault upon President Moshe Tshombe. By the application of crushing force, the U.N. "peace-keeping" mercenaries forced Tshombe to submit to U.N.

The Arizona newspaperman, Michael Padev, demonstrates that a letter supposedly signed by eight tribal chiefs in Katanga, appealing to U.N. to destroy Tshombe's resistance and to put him under arrest, was pure invention. Seven cabled denials in response to inquiries. The U.N. may have induced one chief to sign its paper, although even this is not certain.

After U.N. published its forged Padev tried to get U.N. confirmation of the letter's existence. He was told, first, that the letter was authentic and that photostatic copies would be available. Next, he was told that U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche was bringing the original back from the Congo. Later he was informed that Bunche didn't have the letter, that U.N. had no photostat, and that the letter was in the custody of a U.N. agent in Katanga.

Then the story became that Bunche had seen a carbon of the letter, though he had talked to none of the eight supposed signers. Still later the story was that one chief had signed "in behalf of" all U.N.

'State's New Constitution Has Education Provision'

Current items about higher education point out an urgent need for an orderly procedure in the establishment of new institutions in Michigan. In the years ahead the demands placed upon junior colleges, colleges and universities will be unusually great. Our present facilities of higher education are inadequate.

Nothing demonstrates more vividly the wisdom of the provision in the new constitution for long-term over-all planning for the whole state with respect to higher education.

Presently there is no continuing agency charged with the function of studying Michigan's needs economically, technically, scientifically or culturally in education on the post high school level.

The new constitution places this responsibility of planning in the hands of the new state board of education.

This plan was worked out with great care so as to maintain the political independence of the three older universities and to guarantee such independence to all of Michigan's universities.

The Tribune has previously said about U.N. — that it cannot be trusted about anything it does. It says, particularly about what has been going on in Katanga. That the Nobel peace prize winner, Dr. Bunche, should be a party to such disreputable tactics is all but incredible, though his behavior in Katanga laid the foundation for an appraisal of shabby moral standards.

Over 18,700 Russian troops are still in Cuba, according to the reliable Cuban Student Directorate.

An unknown number is engaged in the construction of submarine bases; and some 1,000 Red bloc troops are engaged in unknown duties. Communist Cuba now has 190 MIGs including many late model MIG 21s, with a range of 700 miles, capable of carrying atomic warheads. The Russian forces are commanded by two, perhaps four Russian generals.

Although some 4,000 Russians have left Cuba, 600 came in recently, with more to come.

U.S. Woes Shake 'Calm World'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — It was like watching an unwitting guest bang into the China closet. The Kennedy administration had a different look each time another dip hit the floor.

With France it was surprise; with Russia, chagrin; with Canada, embarrassment; with Cuba, frustration. MARLOW Unpleasant happenings with all four came within a few weeks after President Kennedy thought he was looking at a much calmer world.

The full impact of the trouble with France did not hit Kennedy until after his Jan. 14 talk to Congress about the calmness. Actually, it began just a few hours before in Paris.

There President de Gaulle chose that very day to tell a news conference he would not let Britain into the Common Market and wanted no part of Kennedy's plan for a NATO multinational nuclear force.

He wants his own weapons. His timing was brutal. It caught Kennedy by surprise. Ever since the United States, Britain, and other NATO and Common Market members have been milling around, not knowing what to do next.

TOOK ADVANTAGE
Premier Khrushchev took advantage of this disarray to cross up Kennedy again. He had looked chastened and even reasonable, like a man who might be ready to do business at last, ever since Kennedy made him take his missiles out of Cuba.

At the nuclear test ban talks the Russians made a concession they had made once before but withdrawn: They would permit two or three on-site inspections in Russia to prevent cheating if there was a no-test agreement.

The United States wanted eight or 10 but this looked like progress. In an obvious attempt to encourage Khrushchev, Kennedy suspended American underground tests.

TALKS CALLED OFF
After the trouble with De Gaulle got severe, Khrushchev called off the talks. No doubt he felt he could make a better deal if the Western squabble got worse.

Then, as if things were not bad enough, the State Department goofed. Although Secretary of State Dean Rusk later said Kennedy knew nothing about it beforehand the department got so burned up at this country's Canadian ally it later apologized for the scorching.

Under an American-Canadian agreement this country was supposed to supply its neighbor with missiles and bombers. The missiles needed nuclear warheads. Under an act of Congress this country cannot give away or sell nuclear weapons.

This required American control of nuclear-tipped missiles in Canada although Canada could have joint say on when they would be used.

DIFFERENT IDEAS
Prime Minister Diefenbaker had different ideas. That Canada did not really need the missiles, and that if Canada had them she should control them. So everything stalled. The Canadians got into a hassle about it.

Last week the State Department sent Canada a stiff note, complaining about the delay and disputing Diefenbaker's arguments. His government stood pat. He complained this country was butting into Canadian affairs.

Rusk then apologized to "all Canadians" if the tone of the American note offended them. If the State Department had not handled this whole business too hastily, there would have been no need or reason to apologize.

CUBA AGAIN

Once more Cuba got on American nerves, this time because of the number of Soviet troops and weapons there. The Kennedy administration had been rather comfortable about Cuba ever since Khrushchev carted his missiles away last fall.

Now members of Congress were complaining about the size of Soviet forces in Cuba. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said there were 20,000-40,000 Soviet troops there, plus missiles and other weapons.

The Pentagon minimized the number although the Kennedy administration last fall seemed slow in catching up on the Russian missile build-up in Cuba. Now Rusk admitted the administration has "great concern."

Proposes Benefits for Retirees at 60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed today that persons be allowed to retire on Social Security at age 60 with reduced benefits.

Under present law, beneficiaries may retire at age 65 with full benefits, or at age 62 with 80 per cent of benefits. Proxmire said he would introduce legislation cutting this to age 60 with 75 per cent of full retirement benefits, at the retiree's option.

Prelude to Election Seen in Rocky Attack on JFK

ALBANY, N.Y. (U-P) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has stepped up the intensity of his attacks on President Kennedy, apparently heralding a new phase of what most observers consider a Rockefeller bid for the 1964 Republican nomination for president.

In a week-end visit the governor made to Newark, N.J., his first out-of-state political visit since his re-election, Rockefeller charged the Kennedy administration with "dismal failure" in such key areas as improving the national economy and furthering civil rights.

Big spending is a Democratic tradition in which Kennedy is indulging, Rockefeller told a $100-a-plate dinner of 1,000 New Jersey Republicans.

Earlier last week, Rockefeller criticized Kennedy for allegedly withholding information from the public on the Cuban situation and for a decision to halt underground nuclear testing to help disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

RISK FOLLOWED

Rockefeller said in Newark that a news conference by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and resumption of the underground tests followed his comments.

The governor said he was in New Jersey to talk over Republican party affairs with state leaders and to address the fund-raising dinner, but did not plan to seek support for the 1964 nomination.

"I have gone the other way," he said. "I have asked that no commitments be made."

Bernard M. Shanley, appointments officer under former President Eisenhower and a Republican national committeeman from New Jersey, told the dinner that "Like the majority of Americans, I'm for Rocky in '64."

Rockefeller has made no official announcements of his plans, but there is strong evidence he is mounting a campaign.

In his Newark speech, he pictured his fiscal record as a sound one based on pay-as-you-go financing and holding the tax line. He compared that with what he described as a costly handout philosophy of Democrats.

Baptist Missionary Killed in Formosa Accident

TAIPEI, Formosa (U-P) — Leland Charles Homer, 35, a Baptist missionary from Brown City, Mich., has been killed in a traffic accident in southwest Formosa.

Homer had spent more than 10 years here. He belonged to the Baptist Bible Fellowship with headquarters at Springfield, Mo. Police said Homer's auto hit a truck Friday.

Ceramic tile is being used by and also on exterior walls, roof. Bricklayers were in such short supply last summer in New York City that more than 5,000 were recruited from outside areas at wages higher than the $8.35 hour.

Tables Being Turned on America's Worms

MY PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — For 20 years now, they (whoever feels like thinking, writing or talking about social problems) have blamed American women for becoming domineering.

ing, proving probably that there are fads even in self-criticism. Today "they" are giving the American male his comeuppance — or, more aptly, come downance.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

The shiny new '63 attitude is that American men have defaulted, have surrendered their position of power, while women have stood helplessly by, finally taking the reins because their husbands are too weak to do so.

America's men are immature, incapable of being anything but little boys at home, a famous writer recently wrote his publisher.

"More often than not, their wives pay the bills, take care of all the finances and the decisions, and more often than not, too, these overgrown boys call their ever-patient wives 'mother'."

"They have a baby's fear of not being loved, of being abandoned."

"It is this horrible common fear which makes so many men drink too much, which makes them hang onto jobs for 'security' rather than for the love of productive work."

"It is this fear which makes them ask so much of marriage that they can give nothing."

"The writer who feels that 'Mormonism' was caused by 'no-Badism' is Sloan Wilson, a novelist who has made extremely big money from being on top of the mood of the times."

And what moods they are! He started with "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," which led the popular crusade against conformity, continued with "A Summer Place," about adultery and reported to be the highest-paying novel of all time, and now he has written "George Washington," which really rocks home the male immaturity theme.

It is the story of a middle-aged American executive who lets his wife treat him like a son — "or rather he treats her like a mother."

Sloan believes it will be his biggest seller. Reason: Americans are just beginning to wake up to the fact that the falling structure of the American home is not so much the result of a power drive by greedy, emancipated women, but rather by some innate weakness in the male personality.

I'm certain he is right, and that this theory will "sell," even though women will detest the idea as thoroughly as men do. And the reason it will sell is that, unfortunately, there is so much truth in it.

EARLIER MATURITY
Women do, physically and emotionally, mature earlier than men. Science verifies that. Throughout life they are less susceptible to physical and psychological breakdowns than men.

Because they are the bearers of the children, they are nature-equipped with protective instincts which force them to be as sane, sound of judgment and decisive as their minds, bodies and environment will allow.

Men, on the other hand, mature physically, at a later age. In a relatively prosperous peacetime society, they have no need to fight or strain for the bare necessities of life.

Comfortable living has eliminated the necessity for warriors and cave-men, and the competence of educated women has erased even the need for our antiquated, if lovely, code of etiquette.

A man needn't walk between his wife and the curb because a runaway horse is not likely to splash her with mud these days, and unhappily he and she both know it. So — robbed of his need to be strong and brave, and surrounded by intelligent, sturdy women who are prepared by nature to pamper him if he wants pampering — why should a man bother to be really a man.

It's much easier, and more fun, to be immature.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast. Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible To Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissue all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observation proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®. In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Railway Clerks Warn of Southern Pacific Strike

United Press International Railway clerks today threatened a strike against the Southern Pacific Railway. The Philadelphia Transit and Marathon Rockana, Ill., Shell Oil Refinery walkouts were settled.

The 11,000-member Clerks Brotherhood issued the strike threat Saturday night in a long dispute over automation and resultant job displacement.

The union wants a job retraining program within the company and a clause prohibiting reduction of the total work force except by natural attrition, such as death, resignations, or retirement.

The walkout, delayed twice by government intervention, would idle some 50,000 Southern Pacific workers in seven western states.

The latest development in the year-long strike threat came as the nation's worst wave of labor unrest had shown some signs of subsiding.

Settlement of the Philadelphia and Roxana strikes came one week after final settlement of the long costly Longshoremen strike which had boosted the total idled at one point to more than 125,000.

TRANSIT

Buses, trolleys, subways and elevators began rolling again last night for one million Philadelphia commuters after a 19-day strike by the Transport Workers Union.

The 5,000 union members voted overwhelmingly to accept a two-year contract calling for a 20-cent wage increase, 13 cents in fringe benefits and retention of the union-demanded no-layoff clause.

Virginia Transit Co. bus drivers in Richmond and Norfolk finished voting today on a 22-cent an-hour pay increase proposed by the federal mediation service. A union official said the results were "mighty close."

The contract expired Dec. 31, although there was no strike. The company had offered 18 cents an hour spread throughout a three-year period and the union had sought a 44-cent increase. The new contract also would be for a three-year period.

OTHER RAILROAD

Eleven nonoperating unions
East Coast railroad for the 11th day in demands for a 10.28-cent increase.

The railroad, which claims it was hurt by the Cuban crisis and can't pay the request, began limited freight operations yesterday by sending a 20-car train operated by supervisory personnel from Jacksonville to Miami. Another train was scheduled for today.

NEWSPAPERS

Eleven unions, all without contracts, continued their strike against the Cleveland Press and Plain Dealer, which haven't published since Thanksgiving.

Talks were scheduled today with several of the unions. No talks between the Newspaper Guild and the publishers were scheduled until Wednesday.

The key issue remained union security for the Guild in the Press' commercial department.
Other issues included wages, grievance procedures, transfers and exclusions from the Guild jurisdiction.

It was learned the Guild asked a minimum pay of $100 for starting reporters and photographers and a top minimum of $300 a week after four years.

In New York, negotiations resumed today with the publishers and striking printers over the two major stumbling blocks of basic wages and length of the work week.

The last reported offer made to the printers was a package of $10 per man over a two-year contract. The union demanded a package of $34.23 per week.

The Publishers Association said yesterday the nine-week-old strike had cost the 20,000 idled newspaper employees $24 million in wages and benefits.

MINES AND REFINERIES

Some 1,800 workers prepared to return to work this week at the Shell Oil Refinery at Roxana, which had been struck since Aug.
18.

Thirteen unions ratified a one-year contract calling for a five per cent wage increase with added fringe benefits. The 2,100-man work force was cut by 300 under the agreement through resignations during the strike, retirements and layoffs.

The refinery continued to operate during the strike with supervisory personnel. Negotiations broke down during much of the walkout over refusal to rehire three men the company said were responsible for damage.

A walkout of 500 miners at the Freeman coal mine near Walton-ville, Ill., ended after Hugh White, president of district 12 of the United Mine Workers, said the walkout was a contract violation.

The miners had objected to belt operators being assigned to other jobs to fill in for other miners who did not show up for work.

The 235 miners at the Freeman

No. 4 mine at Johnston City, Ill.,

voted to return to work today while their complaint was negotiated. They asked the company to increase the number of belt operators from six to 11.

OTHER

The Amalgamated Meatcutters
Union in St. Louis voted yesterday for a bargaining package of $18 more per week over a three-year period. Negotiations continued on expired contracts in Illinois and Missouri in the metropolitan St. Louis area. The meatcutters have authorized a strike.

Members of the Retail Store Employees Union ratified a one-year contract with St. Louis Kroger stores for a $5-a-week pay raise.

The next bargaining session was scheduled for Feb. 12 between the Sheet Metal Workers Union and the Holopoint Division of General Electric. The delay was made to permit 2,500 production and maintenance employees at the Barber-Colman factory in Rockford, Ill., to vote Wednesday on whether to be represented by the Sheet Metal Workers Union.

Ready for Crash Emergency, Pilot on Mountain 43 Hours

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A Navy lieutenant commander who said he was prepared in case of an airplane crash, rested today after spending 43 hours on a snow-covered mountain in western Wyoming.

"I wasn't worried," said chipper Gordon Anderson, dragged 21 miles in a toboggan-type stretcher from his crashed airplane yesterday.

Anderson's single-engine private plane crashed head-on into a five-foot blanket of snow at the 8,800-foot level of 10,864-foot Hoback Peak at dusk Friday.

Twenty-one hours later a search plane spotted Anderson leaning against the wrecked Cessna 140.
A 13-man ground party struggled through the snow in a storm and reached the injured pilot before dawn yesterday.

Anderson, 36, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, suffered a possible head injury, a broken left ankle, bruises and two black eyes. The heavy snow cushioned the plane's impact and probably saved Anderson's life.

Anderson said the crash was caused by severe air turbulence.
"I can see that old snow coming up at me, and even though I was giving it (the plane) full power that air just kept shoving me down into the mountain," he said.

"I wouldn't say it was a crash, but it was certainly not a landing. I know the country.
Made 20 or 30 trips over it.

"Of course, this winter stuff is nothing new to me. I'm from Stockholm, Maine, and I carry survival equipment.

"It wasn't a bit cold (weather observers estimated night temperatures on the peak at 15 to 20

Junior Editors' Quiz on AMOEBAS

QUESTION: Without legs, eyes or mouth, how can an amoeba move and feed?

ANSWER: — The amoeba is an amazing little animal. It resembles the billions of cells of which our bodies are composed — it's as if one of these should be a whole animal in itself, able to move around and feed.

Yet the amoeba has no organs, no head, legs, arms, nerves or heart. It's so minute you need a microscope to see it. An amoeba is just a tiny blob of protoplasm with a darker spot, the nucleus, and a kind of skin or membrane through which the amoeba can breathe and discharge waste materials.

These membranes receive impressions from outside, called "stimuli," and these cause an amoeba to move away from danger or toward food. The complicated protoplasm inside is in one of two states, either fluid (sol) or more solid and jelly-like (gel).

When an amoeba is stimulated to move, a "pseudopod" or false foot is run out, filled with sol protoplasm. Then this changes to gel and the rest of the animal is pulled up toward it. These false feet can point in any direction.

Of course, amoebas don't think and talk as our artist has imagined. They act by complicated chemical changes, not all of which we understand.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you can get the use of a microscope at school, have a teacher show you an amoeba.

By the Associated Press
At least six persons, including a South Haven woman and her two daughters, died in traffic accidents during the weekend, state police reported today.

The Associated Press weekend death count started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

An auto ran off the road and hit a bridge in Eaton County Sunday, killing Wayne Ingram, 40, of Olivet.

James Tefft, 21, of Saginaw, skidded on an icy shoulder in Saginaw County Sunday and slid into a utility pole, suffering fatal injuries.

Gary L. Glassbrook, 22, of Holt was killed Sunday in a two-car collision near the Lansing city limits.

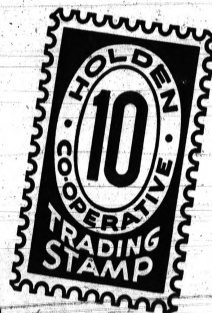

Mrs. Helen Ross, 37, and her daughters, Linda, 11, and Joan, 13, of South Haven, were killed Saturday when their station wagon and a truck crashed on ice-slick U.S. 31, six miles north of Benton Harbor.

Resort wear will be among fashions modeled by TAE Association members at their annual luncheon and style show Thursday at Oakland Hills Country Club. Mrs. Jack Gordon (left) gave program assistants Mrs. Robert Radtke and Mrs. Robert Frye a sneak preview at Davidson's dress shop in Birmingham last week. All the women live in Bloomfield Hills.

At Oakland Hills Club

TAE Fashion Show Afoot

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

TAE Association, which holds benefits for the Baptist Children's Home, has scheduled its annual luncheon and fashion show at Oakland Hills Country Club on Thursday.

Fashions will be presented by Davidson's in Birmingham, and the following members of TAE will model: Mesdames Charles Wilson Jr., Jack Gordon, Asa Sherwood, John VanAlstyne, Quentin Sickle, Robert Zimmermann and Richard Mayhew. The women have been working together since their high school years.

Chairman for this year's fund-raising program is Mrs. Robert M. Nelson, assisted by Mesdames Robert Frye, Frank Egan, Robert Radtke and Robert Meek.

Among those who have made reservations for tables at the luncheon are Mrs. Thomas Torgerson, Mrs. John Wiant, Mrs. M. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Andrew Brodie, Mrs. Bethel B. Kelley, Mrs. E. F. Cornish and Mrs. Edgar A. Guest Jr.

Mrs. Robert C. VanderKloot has invited friends of art, music and opera to her home in Bloomfield Hills Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m.

Guests will hear more about the Detroit Symphony concert Feb. 22 which is a benefit for the Detroit Adventure.

PAMELA KAY PELLOW

The Reginald Pellow of Ballantyne Road announce the engagement of their daughter Pamela Kay to Donald Perry Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Banks of South Cass Lake Road. Her fiance attends Ferris Institute, Big Rapids.

400 Attend

Pair Takes Vows

Judith Kay Wallace and John Henry Craven repeated nuptial vows before Rev. Arnold G. Hashman and some 400 guests Saturday evening in the First Assembly of God Church.

Following a church reception, the couple left for a northern ski resort. While awaiting completion of a new White Lake Township home, they will live in Auburn Heights.

Their parents are the James G. Wallaces of Highland Road, Mrs. Tsaya Craven of Clarkston and the late John H. Craven.

The bride's gown of white antique satin featured a satin-bordered court train of hand-made lace. A beaded crown caught her waterfall veil of silk illusion. Gardias, Stephanotis and ivy comprised her bouquet.

White rubrum lilies complemented burgundy velvet dresses for Patricia M. Campbell, maid of honor, Sharon Wallace, her sister's bridesmaid, Debra A. Dick and Mrs. Carl Malone of Clarkston.

Connie Hess was flower girl and Louise Kojima ring bearer. The bride's brother Larry Joe and Holly Kojima lit the candles.

Everett Howell performed the duties of best man. Richard Weber, Union Lake, ushered with Duane Presson and Robert Dombrowski.

White Cymbidium orchids complimented Mrs. Wallace's gold silk brocade ensemble and a gold-embroidered silk sheath dress for the mother of the bridegroom.

Get Honors at Ferris

Nineteen Pontiac area students are among the 566 Ferris Institute students who were named to the dean's honor list for academic excellence during the past quarter.

To qualify, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

From Pontiac are: Carl Grassi, Voorheis Road, junior, collegiate technical division; John Crump, commensior, Western Avenue; Robert Mineweaver, junior in teacher education, LeBaron Street.

In the trade and industrial division is freshman Jerry Madden, of Desota Place; Duane Johnson of Robinson Avenue and Richard Hickson, of Tilnor Drive.

From Birmingham are William Bell, Roy Pope, Alan McIntosh and Frank Honkanen, Maribeth Mosley, Steve Anderson, James Mervenne and Russell Jalbert.

Other area honors students are: David Flynn, Orchard Lake; Bradley Chase, Waterford; Daniel Williams, Rochester; Carol Fitch, Clarkston and Darryl Borst, Oxford.

Albion College music department will present the premiere performance of "Noah," a large-scale two-act opera by Anthony Taffs of the Albion music staff.

Scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday in Goodrich Chapel on campus, "Noah" will be presented in concert form by the combined efforts of 16 vocalists, the 125-member choral society, a chamber orchestra of 28 students and guest musicians.

Playing first violin in the "Noah" orchestra will be Michael von Guttenberg, Birmingham junior.

In the choral society personnel are also Joan Helper, Birmingham sophomore, Nancy Little, Bloomfield Hills junior, Gail Sedrick, Pontiac senior, John Schmidt, Birmingham junior, tenor, and George Ransford, Birmingham senior, bass.

Some 225 Michigan State University students made the all-A list for fall term 1962. They were honored at a recent dinner given by MSU President John A. Henshaw. From the Pontiac area are Jean A. Isbell, Wolfe Street; Anne E. Hughes, Birmingham; Susan D. Aitken, Bloomfield Hills; William H. Laitinen, Orchard Lake; Daniel B. Sken, Rochester, and Joyce M. Wolf, Troy.

Two drawings by Carol A. Yamasaki appear in the Winter 1963 issue of "Manuscript" magazine of creative art, writing and criticism published in Northfield, Minn. by Carleton College students.

A graduate of Kingswood School Cranbrook, and sophomore at Carleton, Miss Yamasaki is the daughter of Mrs. Minoru Yamasaki, Bloomfield Hills.

Frank Presto Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Presto of Sarvis Street, has been cast as a cavalier, a cadet and as one of the musicians in the Aquinas College production of "Cyrano de Bergerac." The play will be presented at the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Presto is a sophomore at Aquinas, majoring in art.

MSU Alumni Plan Annual Winter Dance

Plum Hollow Country Club will be decorated in green and white Feb. 15 when Michigan State University alumni of Oakland County gather for their annual winter dance.

Lewis M. Wrenn Jr. is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Working with him are William Morgan of Rochester, Mrs. Ransom Leach of Birmingham and Mrs. Richard Forbush of Southfield.

Music for the evening will be supplied by Doug Krieger and his band.

Proceeds from this dance will be used to help maintain the four Michigan State University scholarships now offered by the club to high school students in Oakland County.

Guest of Rebekahs

Mrs. Wilma Green of Hantsport, N. S., was a guest Friday evening at the meeting of Pontiac Rebekah Lodge No. 45 at the Malta Temple. Also present were visitors from lodges in District six.

Branch Plans Garden Talk

A program on organic gardening is planned by the New England Estates Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Thursday evening at 8:30 in the home of Mrs. Lester Smith on East Newland Drive.

Cohostesses will be Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. Max Hawkins.

Mrs. Helen Swan, supervisor of Self Realization Fellowship, will demonstrate flower poses and attitudes of Yogi.

Start Out Clean

Starting each day with a clean body and clean clothes should be as automatic as getting out of bed in the morning.

Perfect Tailoring, Elegant Design

Pair Conquers With Roman Look

PARIS (AP) — Simonetta and Fabiani, the husband and wife team from Italy, presented their fashion collection Friday night at a black-tie party. Their second collection features the usual sure hand in perfect tailoring and in elegant designing reflecting the Roman look.

There are no real changes but plenty of high-class clothes.

Most amusing beach outfits are completed with straw hats and coconut-shaped twin beachbags hanging on gold chains.

Black knitted jersey beach tunics are shown over brief pants. They are bordered in awning stripe contrasting colors or white.

Simonetta and Fabiani present pastel coats and little black or colored sheaths featuring all the new spring weaves. Waists are marked at a high bust line. There were little mousie (peasant) blouses in printed silk or glittering chiffon for evening. The little suits for day are backswung and trimmed with straw or decorative buttons.

The coats, Fabiani's department, are interesting. They feature deep giant folds. The biggest coats are designed on tartan lines and wrapped generously. This silhouette runs through the collection for every hour.

The evening story is as glamorous as those Roman designers can make it. Lush treatments of chiffon and glitter are concealed beneath floor length dramatic coats

Guilder-Stretching Princess Buys Her Dream Castle

By ELS OUENDAG

THE HAGUE (AP) — Holland's unmarried Crown Princess Beatrix is furnishing the dream castle she bought from her allowance. She hopes to move into the 20-room Drakestein Castle in the spring.

The pretty, blue-eyed princess, 25, first dreamed of independence and a castle of her own, when she was studying law, sociology and history at Leiden University. Life at Leiden gave her a taste of freedom and also her first romance — with fellow student Bob Steensma, now 28. But this passed and at present there are no signs of any marriage plans.

In 1959, foreseeing the end of her studies this year, the princess jumped at the opportunity of buying the small but elegant castle near her parents' home.

She was lucky because Junker Frederik Bosch van Drakestein, then owner, was choosy about the future owner of the 50-acre, 400-year-old property he inherited from his father.

She got it, even though it is known other prospective buyers outbid her. The price is not known, but since her 18th birthday, Jan. 31, 1956, Princess Beatrix has received an annual state allowance of 300,000 guilders — $84,000.

Drakestein Castle, now a shambles of scaffolding, should have been ready this year. But when the first repairs and alterations were done in 1960, it was found far more extensive restoration was needed.

Pros, Cons Argue Postage

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad that R. F. D. character wrote to bellyache about postage going up. It gives me an opportunity to let off a little steam.

Maybe he doesn't know that the Post Office Department is a public service and operates at a deficit. Also, postage cannot strike against the government and probably wouldn't if they could.

Tell this R. F. D. guy that he ought to thank God he is living in a country where he has the privilege of paying an extra penny for postage, rather than somewhere else where men are paying with their lives for freedom.

MR. CITIZEN

DEAR ABBY: In 1898, when postage was 2c, my father was employed as a barber. He earned $9 a week plus tips.

If a barber's wages had gone up in the same proportion as postage, then effective January 7th, 1963, barbers would get $22.50 a week plus tips.

Do you know of any barber who works for $22.50 a week? Does R. F. D. (the fellow who gripped about the price of postage today) know of any?

K. G. S.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with R. F. D. all the way. Why wouldn't postage go up?

If you saw all the free mailing sent by preferred personnel in the government, you'd understand it.

It's as though I owned a garage and used all the labor and material to repair my own automobile and never put a dime in the register.

Then I soaked my customers to pay for getting my own car fixed. If that is fair, my name is McGee.

CORWIN

DEAR ABBY: I was very much disturbed over a recent letter from a reader complaining about five-cent postage for letters.

People can grumble about low incomes and high taxes, but not about the postage rates.

Over the years we have had a tremendous increase in the cost of everything. I am astonished that the postage rate is not higher.

And, pray, where can you get more service for a nickel? SUE

DEAR ABBY: I am with you! The American people have shown themselves to be anything but cheap. My mail has INCREASED since postage went up!

DEAR ABBY: We have some neighbors with whom we are fairly friendly. They have two children. One is married and is living away from home, and the other is in a mental institution. When we meet I always inquire about BOTH children.

My husband says I should not ask about the one in the mental institution as I KNOW he is mentally ill. I am inclined to agree with his PHYSICAL condition, but his PHYSICAL condition is not the issue.

Would it be better not to mention the one in the institution at all? Our neighbors speak of the one in the mental institution as though he were in an ordinary hospital and they don't seem a bit embarrassed by my question.

NO MALICE

DEAR NO. Inquire about both children. In this enlightened age one does not pretend that a person who is in a mental institution is not among the living.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Daughters of Penelope Slate Card Party

Daughters of Penelope, Doris Chapter No. 157, will stage their card party, "Kupid Kapers," Thursday at the First Federal Savings of Oakland building at 7:30 p.m.

This year's president, Mrs. John Tsatsanis, is chairman of the affair. Assisting her are Bethania Gregory, tickets; Mrs. George Pappas, publicity; and Fotika Constantinou, who has arranged for Greek pastries to be on sale all evening.

Mrs. Soerates V. Sekles is in charge of door prizes while Mrs. Thomas E. Oliver heads the decorations committee.

The party is open to both men and women.

Unit to Gather

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society will hold a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Pontiac State Hospital. Following the meeting a staff doctor will conduct the members on a tour of the hospital.

Don't Open Gifts Unless First Asked

By The Emily Post Institute.
Q. My brother and his wife recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. All the guests brought gifts to the party and as the anniversary couple were busy greeting their guests I was asked to take charge of the presents.

As the presents were received I proceeded to open them and put them on display on a table with the donor's card attached. When my niece saw what I was doing she was very indignant and said that I had no right to open the gifts and that I should have left this for her mother to do.

I thought I was being helpful. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A. If your brother and his wife asked you to open the gifts and display them, you were quite right in doing so, but you should not have taken it upon yourself to open them.

Q. I have been told that it is not proper to introduce anyone as "my friend." The reason given for this is that by calling one person a friend it implies that the other is not. Will you please tell me if this is true?

A. What you were told is quite true. When introducing one friend to another friend you would say, "Mary Smith—John Jones." When introducing a friend to a new relative, it would be quite proper to say, "This is my friend Mary Smith."

Q. When invited to a dinner party, do the guests, upon entering the dining room, sit down immediately or do they stand behind their chairs and wait until the hostess is seated?

A. If there are place cards, they sit down immediately; otherwise they wait until told by the hostess where to sit.

Children Need Self-Respect Plus Love

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE.
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: We recently told our 4-year-old boy that we're expecting another child. At about the same time another boy in his play group began to push him around. Now he has resumed bed-wetting.
We are sure that it's his worry over the coming baby and his trouble with this older boy that accounts for this. We are giving him as much love as we can to help him . . .

ANSWER: Other people's love is fine—but to credit it, we all need a little self-respect.

Offer Activities for Widow

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not long ago I quoted from a woman's letter. She is a widow and loves to play the piano. Since she does not have one she is denied this pleasure and comfort. She is lonely and without friends.

You know something? People are wonderful! I have had so many letters offering the use of so many pianos, and so many other letters suggesting activities for this woman to become interested in.

The following are quotations from some of these letters. They are heartwarming and may also be helpful to some readers who live alone or who feel lost since the children left home.

"I read with interest about the lonely lady who wanted to make friends and also wanted to contact someone with a piano. She, like myself, may have lived most of her life in the city, and finds it difficult to make friends in the suburbs.

"I also play the piano. I have a small spinet. I should be very glad to hear from her."

"I read with interest the letter about the lonely widow. If she lives near us, we have a beautiful Hammond organ we would be very glad to have her play and would enjoy hearing her. If you kept her address, please pass this to her."

"Concerning the widow who wishes to have a piano at her disposal to while away the hours—I am an organist and a pianist and have both a piano and an organ in my home. Here is my proposition.

"Perhaps she could come to my house and play just for the pleasure of playing. Then, in exchange, since I have a bed spread I have been trying to finish for months, maybe she could take this home and help me with it."

"I am a married woman over 50. Last September I and a neighbor, who is a widow, took a local evening high school course for adults. (Courses in piano, sewing or what have you were offered.

"We signed for the piano course. It's a simple way to learn chords. Since this widow plays by ear, it would be easy for her. Anyway, there are men and women of all ages in our class."

"She could make friends and go to their homes to practice, in exchange for baby sitting, sewing or something. I hope she can do something like this."

"I feel so sorry for the widow. She sounds so lonesome. I wish she lived near me. I have a lovely piano and would let her play it to her heart's content."

"If my little list is worth anything, the lonely widow could do some of the things I do.

There are many activities in which a lonely widow can become interested. Part-time baby-sitting, saleswork or office work might help her make new friends, as well as supplement her income.

"I teach Sunday school. I sew with a group, for underprivileged children. I work in a garden club. I attend church three times a week. I belong to a bird-watching club.

"I enjoy a civic club. I baby-sit. I go for dinner with other widows. I work six days a week as a saleslady. I attend two good concerts each month. I have a few dates and would enjoy more if all the men didn't want to get married. I don't."

KATHLEEN ANN SEE

A June wedding is planned by Kathleen Ann See, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herald E. See of Walled Lake, and John Duane Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Rhodes of Franklin Road.

I do not have the widow's name or address. I cannot save letters after I answer them. There are too many!

I was writing the column to promote the idea that some hobby or skill like playing the piano, can be a great source of pleasure and comfort when life is made lonely by changed situations. I had no idea I would get the response I did.

If any of you would like to have my leaflet, "How to Overcome Loneliness and Self-Consciousness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 59. Address: Josephine Lowman of The Pontiac Press.

Soap Was Once Used as Money

Everyone knows that soap is one of our most valuable possessions—in terms of comfort, health, and a high standard of living.

But did you know that in 1841, during a period of civil strife in Mexico, certain Districts actually used soap as official currency? Small cakes, stamped with the official mint seal and worth about 1/10 each, took the place of scarce metals.

Unmistakable evidence indicated that much of this "money" found its way into the washbasin for sudsing purposes before being returned to circulation. However, this dual-purpose currency continued to be acceptable at stores just as long as the official stamp remained legible.

WHY QUIT SMOKING?

Q. I have been a cigarette smoker for many years. If I quit now would I be less likely to develop lung cancer, or is the damage already done?

A. Studies conducted by the American Cancer Society show that cigarette smokers who give up smoking thereby reduce the risk of developing lung cancer. This conclusion was reached after comparing smokers, ex-smokers, and non-smokers. Damaged lung cells resembling those found in bronchial cancer were present in 93 per cent of specimens from smokers, in 6 per cent of specimens from former smokers, and in only 1.2 per cent of specimens from non-smokers.

With a Typewriter

Encourage Letter Writing

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Q-449: Della D., aged 11, has a doting grandmother.

"Dr. Crane," Della's father began, "Della is fond of her grandmother, but she seldom writes her a letter."

"Yet her Grandmother does on her. So how can we tactfully prod Della into being a better correspondent?"

Most people have a dislike for the slow process of writing in longhand or script. The usual husband thus quickly delegates to his wife all such secretarial duties.

So one of the best ways to stimulate more letter writing by all age groups is to attach fun and prestige to the act of writing.

This can be done in several ways but one of the best is to have a typewriter available in your home.

You can often purchase a used machine for $50 or less, since that is all the average office is allowed on an old machine when trading it on a new model.

Yet the old machine is generally quite adequate for the needs of the average family.

ADULT PRESTIGE

In dealing with youngsters of Della's age, be sure you also associate prestige and "adultness" with the privilege of typing letters!

And get an instruction chart for the touch system of typewriting for a girl like Della can quickly learn the correct touch method.

She can thus write letters to her grandmother as part of her practice while she is learning the touch system.

Our youngest son David, when he was about Della's age, thus picked up the touch system and was averaging 10 words per minute within a few weeks, for children learn swiftly.

At our house, we also made a cash offer to all five of our Crane youngsters. When they could write 10 words per minute by the touch system, they got $25 in cash.

And for each additional 10-word increase in speed, they won another $25, until they reached a rate of 40 words.

This meant they could earn a total $100 by being able to typewrite via the touch system at the 40-word per minute speed.

When they finished high school, Mrs. Crane and I gave each one a new typewriter as a graduation gift.

Thus, we helped insure their higher grades in college, for when a student types his themes and term papers, his neat, easily read copy puts the professor in a better frame of mind. So he tends to score a "C" paper as at least a "B," etc.

Meanwhile, we parents are also assured of more frequent letters from the children while they were away at college.

For a touch typist (and even an old two-finger "hunt and pick" typist like myself) will be tempted more readily to write letters if he doesn't have to push a pen or pencil.

So I urged Della's daddy to get a typewriter, which he did. And Della responded eagerly to the "privilege" of being allowed to use it.

Meanwhile, she needed excuses to write so her mother suggested she send letters to Grandma.

Thus, everybody benefited. For typewriters encourage better spelling, too, and are thus beneficial for children in grade and high school.

Instincts Makes Work Ways Easy

No matter how primitive the facilities, women have the instinct of honing pigeons when it comes to finding better and easier ways to do their work.

While we take our washer-dryer for granted, women in the jungles of Surinam — in South American bush country — are also discovering improved methods.

Even though their washing is still done at the river's edge, those who can lay their hands on old-fashioned washboards consider this a giant step of progress over the old washday routine of flailing clothes with a rock.

George Chapman of Drayton Plains clipped four seconds off the record in winning the mid-level Boys' division of the Northern Michigan speed skating championships yesterday at Petoskey. He was timed in 36.3 for the 330-yard dash.

Norman Sneed, star quarterback of the Washington Redskins, has become the center of a new Congressional investigation. Rep. Victor Wicks (D-Okla.) wants to know why Sneed is being paid $75 a day as a Peace Corps recruiter.

Art Allen of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, won both events of the St. Paul, Minn., Winter Carnival sled races over the weekend with Siberian Huskies. Cecil Houghton of Grand Rapids was third and his wife was fourth.

Emile Griffith scored a ninth-round technical knockout over Denmark's Chris Christensen Saturday and immediately announced that he would defend his world welterweight championship against Brian Curvis of Wales early in June.

Dave DeBusschere, now playing pro basketball with the Detroit Pistons, signed a 1963 contract with the Chicago White Sox Saturday. The former U-D star pitched eight scoreless, no-hit innings in relief after being recalled from the minors.

The Polewack team of Sandusky took over first place in the Bowling of the Women's State Tournament over the weekend at Bay City with a 2,000 total. Armella White of Saginaw took first in singles with 676 and also in all-events with 1,965.

Clarkson's junior varsity basketball team defeated Holly 50-46 Friday night, instead of the Little Broncos winning as reported in Saturday's paper.

Rec Cage 5's Meet Tonight in PCH Gym

Southwest Community Club will be looking for undisputed champions in first place in the Class A Division of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Departments' basketball competition when it meets Colonial Lumber Company at 7 p.m. today in the Pontiac Central gym.

Another contest will see the Bachelors' Club and McDonald's Drive in fighting to stay ahead in the Class B Division at 8:30 p.m.

Class D activity will pair Victor Paint and Neopolitan at 7 p.m. and New Hope Baptist against The Chiefs at 8:30 p.m. in the Lincoln Junior High School gymnasium.

In Waterford Township Recreation basketball, the team with the best record and best individual scorer will be in action tonight. Unbeaten Spencer Floor Covering will play Hoyt Realty at 7:15 p.m. in the Grady Junior High School gymnasium. Spencer's John Herrington has a 19.4 average to lead all scorers in the loop.

The other Waterford contest will pit Don Nichol Insurance against Reeves Service at 8:30 p.m.

Michigan Routed by Denver, 8-3, in Hockey Game

Don Fraggomeni of Denver University blasted in three goals and an assist to spark his school to an 8-3 Western Collegiate Hockey Association victory over Michigan Saturday night.

Port Arthur, Ind., defeated Michigan Tech 4-1 and Michigan State turned back Michigan State Duluth 4-1 in non-conference action.

Michigan State goalie John Chandik stopped 47 shots as the Spartans beat Minnesota Duluth. Duluth's Bill Halbreder made 33 saves.

Hayward Ties Marks

Gary Hayward was at his best and Pontiac Northern's basketball team coasted to a 76-58 victory over Livonia Franklin Saturday night.

The lanky team captain tied the school scoring and rebounding records as the Huskies won their ninth straight game after an opening loss to Flint Southwestern.

His 34 points tied Bruce Norton's high game mark set in 1961. By hauling in 23 rebounds, Gary Hayward equaled the school standard he set at Berkley 10 days ago.

Coach Dick Hall saw PNH dart into a 15-1 first quarter lead and he began substituting freely thereafter. Eight players scored for the Huskies although Mike Burklow's 11 markers were the only other double figure production.

PNH outscored Livonia, 39-25, in the first half. Its 19 points in the second quarter was the first time in six starts Northern had not tallied 20 in the second period.

CONSISTENT SCORING

GARY HAYWARD Equals Two Records

this year, was the fifth straight victim that had relinquished at least 76 points to Northern.

Walled Lake rebounded from the Friday loss to PNH by whipping Kettering 72-51 Saturday.

The home court victory gave the Vikings revenge for an earlier nonleague setback to the Captains.

In a Saturday morning game, Cranbrook was the ungracious host as it bested Shady Side, 34-40.

The home team moved into a 32-21 halftime lead and then was content to concentrate on defense. Shady Side could only score 17 points in the second half.

The rebounding strength provided by 6-5 Jim Bailey and 6-4 Doug Fisher gave Cranbrook a 32-14 edge on the backboards. High-scoring Joe Kimball managed to score 17 points for the Cranes, two below his season's average. Fisher had 12 points.

Cranbrook is now 5-3 for the year.

Pro Ski Upset; Pine Knob Next

DRESSER, Wis. (AP)—A 25-year-old Vermont skier may have ushered in a new era of slalom ski racing Sunday when he beat out some of Europe's best to win the International Professional Ski Racing Association's Midwest race at Trollhaugen.

The IPSRA tour next will have competition at Pine Knob near Charleston Wednesday night beginning at 7:30.

Mark Moriarty of Stowe, Vt., who trains at Aspen, Colo., won the 28-gate giant slalom with runs of 35.2 and 34.8 seconds. His total time of 1 minute 10 seconds was three-tenths of a second better than runner-up Anderl Motterer of Austria.

Such noted international slalom stars as Adrian Duvailland and Stein Eriksen were disqualified. It marked the first victory for an American in the three-year history of the professional association, and was believed to be the first time in 44 years a U.S. man had beaten Europe's best in amateur or pro competition.

Another American triumph was Minneapolis' Ted Armstrong who finished seventh.

Duvailland, veteran French slalom, won Saturday's 50-gate slalom with identical time of 49.3 seconds for 1-36.6.

The professional skiers will begin arriving at Pine Knob late today and early tomorrow to practice for Wednesday's runs.

The Pine Knob races will be the first professional dual slalom nighttime competition in the country, and the first dual slalom races in Michigan. The guaranteed purse is $3,500.

In addition to the skiers named, others expected to participate include Pepl Granhammer, Ernest Hiltseker, Christian Pravda and Tony Spiss.

Earl Hill, lone entry in Class A, turned in the longest jump of the meet—148 feet. Hill collected 126.2 points with his second jump of 143 feet.

Hill's brother, Coy Hill of Ishpeming, won the veterans' crown with jumps of 142 and 144 feet for a total of 140.3 points.

Don Luokkala completed the Ishpeming sweep with his victory in Class B. Luokkala collected 134.4 points on jumps of 142 and 141 feet.

James Grammes of Pontiac finished second in B with 142-141 jumps while Walt Hyry of Berkeley was runnerup in Veterans with 136-117 jumps.

At Madison, Wisconsin, Sig Malvik, Norwegian student at Wisconsin, won the Blackhawk tournament with leaps of 169 and 176 feet.

Skating in Aspen, Colo. Chuck Ferris of Houghton added the Ruch Cup to his victories with a time of 1:12.6 in the 65-gate giant slalom.

West Skaters Tops in Speed

Friesinger a Boon to Sport on Coast

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The new frontier of United States speed skating lies in the West, and so much so that one big reason is Leo Friesinger, who will coach the American Olympic team for the 1964 winter games.

In the four years since Friesinger moved from the Midwest to the West Coast, the area has improved in speed skating stature so much that eight of the 22 members of Uncle Sam's 64 Olympic squad who competed here yesterday are westerners.

Six members of the men's team are Californians and two members of the women's team are from Montana. All have been training in the Los Angeles area under Friesinger, a native of Chicago, graduate of St. Thomas College in St. Paul and himself a former Olympian.

The eight women who will train to represent this country in the next Olympics were chosen Sunday.

They are Jeanne Ashworth, Wilmington, Del.; Barbara Lockhart, Park Ridge, Ill.; Judy Morstein and Sylvia White, both Butte, Mont.; Jeanne Omelchuk, Detroit; Karen Kaper, Chicago; Marie Lawler, Minneapolis; and Janice Smith, Rochester, N.Y.

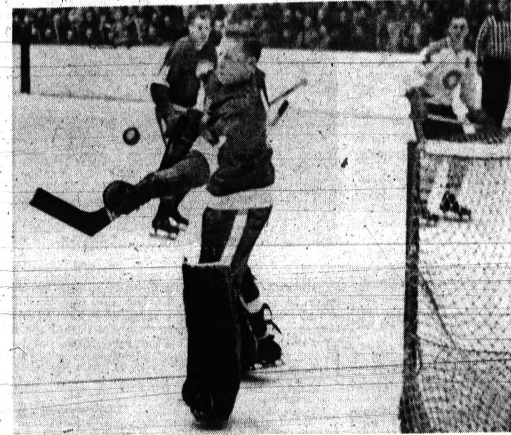

Also named Sunday to round out the 14-man men's squad were Floyd Bodbury, 1969 Olympic from St. Paul; and Wayne LeBombard, 18-year-old West Allis, Wis., youth.

Narrowly missing selection to the women's squad was Kathy Sullivan of Cheboygan, Mich.

McKinley Defeats Scott

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Top-seeded Chuck McKinley, the nation's No. 1 amateur, defeated Gene Scott, ranked eighth, to win the fourth annual Salisbury International Tennis Tournament Sunday.

Scott was the only player in the tournament to win a set from McKinley, but was defeated 6-4, 6-3, 10-8, in the final match.

Hayes Adds 2 More Victories

Jones' Winning Streak Continues

PHILADELPHIA—Like ole man river, Hayes Jones of Pontiac keeps running and just keeps winning.

Jones competed in two more meets over the weekend in the New York Milrose games and Philadelphia Enquirer games and continued his winning streak.

His 38th straight was a 50-yard victory in 6 seconds flat Saturday night.

The streak was overshadowed by the newest addition to the 16-foot pole club as DoRando Cruz, Villanova junior vaulted 16 feet and 3/4 inches.

The Villanova's feat was recorded against some pretty stiff competition. Unless finished second and John Belizta, another 16 foot vaulter, third, with Dave Turk, still another member of the exclusive club, fourth.

In other events:

Bruce Kidd, the Canadian, won the mile in 4:08.7, after having run the second fastest indoor 2-mile ever, in New York Friday night.

John Thomas won the high jump at 6-10; Texas Southern took the mile relay 3:19.5 and Georgetown the 2-mile relay 7:42.

L. Jack Yerman chalked up his third straight Inquirer title with a 1:11.2 in the 600, that wiped out the old mark of 1:11.9 set by Mal Whitfield of New York 10 years ago.

Michel Bernard of France captured the two mile in 8:57.2, beating Charles Clark of Los Angeles, who fell midway through the race but bounced up and actually led the field for four laps later on.

The Zephyr win over San Francisco was paced by Terry Dischinger's 25 points, the last two of which decided the game in the final minute.

Cincinnati, trailing Syracuse 106-104 with less than six minutes left, reeled off nine straight points, building up a comfortable margin of victory.

New York's victory over Los Angeles snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Knicks. The Lakers had won eight games straight before falling to New York.

"It was good to hear the final buzzer sound," said Abel.

Before the Wings ran out of gas, Vic Stasiuk landed heavily on Montreal's Gilles Tremblay in the season's best fist fight at Olympia. Stasiuk cuffed Tremblay hard to the head and body. The Canadian was able to land a flurry of weaker blows on Stasiuk.

Bobby Hull scored twice as the Black Hawks widened their first place lead over the dead-legged Leafs and Canadiens to four points. Stan Mikita has Chicago's other marksmen. Bob Nevin scored Toronto's goal.

Murray Oliver collected two goals for the Bruins, who beat New York after squandering a 4-2 lead. Jerry Toppazzani, Tom Williams, Forbes Kennedy and Don McKenzie scored Boston's other goals.

Jim Neilson scored twice for the Rangers and Leon Rochefort and Dean Prentice got the other goals.

'M', MSU Thinclads Fare Well in Relays

ANN ARBOR (U) — It looked like a promising track season for the University of Michigan and Michigan State University after they displayed their talent in the Michigan relays here Saturday. Although some 567 midwestern athletes competed, it was primarily a Michigan show.

The U-M took eight firsts and four seconds; Michigan State took six and six. In the meet which was sanctioned for the first time by the U.S. track and field federation. (The annual event was not sanctioned by the amateur athletic union, as it was in the past, said assistant Michigan coach Elmer Swanson.)

Miami of Ohio came in first in four events and second in three, with freshmen making a strong showing.

MSU freshmen also showed promise for coming seasons. Mike Martins set one of the two records that resulted from the meet. His mark of 1:54.2 in the 800 yard run topped the 1:53.2 meet mark set by John Cerone of Loyola of Chicago in 1961.

The only other record set was by the Michigan team in its defeat of MSU in the 200-yard shuttle hurdle relay. The Wolverines shaved one-tenth of a second off the Yost field house mark of 1:51.1 set by a Michigan team in 1960.

Dave Noyes, a Western Michigan University freshman, tied a meet mark of 1:13.9 set in 1959 by Ergas Leps, unattached.

MSU FROSH
The most successful MSU freshman was Jim Garrett, a football halfback from Columbia, S. C. Garrett, the only double winner, took first in the open competition broad jump at 23 feet 10 1/4 inches, and ran the novice 300-yard dash in :32.2.

Best performances for Michigan were by Des Ryan, who took the mile in 4:22.8; George Puce, who won the shot put with 35 feet 2 1/4 inches; and Kent Edwards, who took the 600 in 1:15.8.

John Bork of Miami (Ohio), a former National Collegiate champion in the half mile, was awarded first place in the 1,000 yard run over Darnell Mitchell of Ohio University, although both were clocked at 2:14.8.

BREAKS THE TAPE—Debbie Thompson of Frederick, Mo., breaks the tape to win the 50 yard dash in the Inquirer games at Philadelphia, Saturday night, just ahead of Julia Heine of Germany. Miss Heine, European champion and Olympic runner-up at 100 meters got off to a bad start but closed the gap from 5 1/2 to a mere inches at the tape. Miss Thompson's time was 6 seconds flat.

'M' Wins by Heroics

By The Associated Press

The big and little powers of Michigan college basketball—the Wolverines of Michigan and the Huskies of Michigan Tech—squeezed all the excitement out of weekend cage action with their last-minute victories over arch-rivals.

A crucial basket with only seconds left to play was the clincher in both triumphs Saturday.

Michigan's John Harris banged in two free throws with 39 seconds left to put the Wolverines within striking distance for their last second heroics. With only nine seconds left, Doug Herter sank the winning basket and the Wolverines defeated Michigan State 72-71.

Guard Dick Massey was the hero in Michigan Tech's 69-68 edging of Ferris Institute. The Huskies were trailing 68-67 with eight seconds left when Massey sank two free throws to clinch the victory.

In other games, Western Michigan staged a second half rally and defeated Marshall of West Virginia 95-82, the University of Detroit coasted over Western Ontario 86-70, Hakeem crashed Olivet 81-60.

Eastern Michigan toppled Adrian 104-38, Hillsdale bowed to Youngstown of Ohio 85-46, Aquinas overpowered Calvin 91-71, Lawrence Tech defeated Northwood 77-70, Buffalo humiliated Wayne State 84-64, and

Playoff Today

Nicklaus, Player Tie

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Gary Player, the little man in black, came from five strokes behind in the final round of the $50,000 Palm Springs golf classic for a tie-and-out today meets Jack Nicklaus in an 18-hole playoff. The money difference is $9,000 to $4,000.

Nicklaus went into a one-stroke lead in the second round, then maintained a five-stroke lead on the third and fourth rounds of the marathon 90-hole tournament.

But he said someone, like the witches in Macbeth, warned him: "Jack may lead the pack but watch out for the man in black."

WON BY FIVE

Player, of South Africa, usually wears black from head to toe. The two have met head-on only once before—late last summer in the "world series of golf." Nicklaus won by five strokes.

Both finished the tournament here with 345 totals. Nicklaus, late to finish, needed an eagle to win on the 482-yard, par-5 18th. His 30-foot putt missed the cup by inches. He settled for a birdie four, same as Player.

Arnold Palmer, the other member of golfing's Big Three, made one of his famous finishes with a final 67 for 349 to get himself $2,000 and a tie for fifth place. Ahead of him at 346 was Tommy Bolt, whose iron play was as deadly as most pro putting. Bolt's final round 66 won him third-place money of $3,000.

In fourth place, tied at 347, Gene Littler, who shot a last-day round of 64, and Gardner Dickenson, who had a final 68. Littler's 64 was the best individual round of the tournament. The fourth-place money was worth $2,450.

Pitt Coach Calls Untimely Timeout

By The Associated Press

Don't shed any tears for Ed Jucker and George Ireland who coach the nation's top-ranked college basketball teams, Cincinnati and Chicago Loyola.

Save your sympathy for Bob Timmons, coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

Jucker and Ireland had few worries Saturday night as their unbeaten teams rolled up their 35th and 20th straight victories, respectively. The No. 1 Bearcats, national champions, wallowed St. Louis 70-40 and the No. 2 Ramblers trampled Iowa 86-68.

DECISION HURT

Timmons, however, was perhaps the most unhappy coach in the land. Inadvertently he cost his unruly Pitt Panthers a surprise victory over West Virginia, the leaders in the Southern Conference and a team which has been in The Associated Press Top Ten several times this season.

This is what happened: Behind by 16 points early in the second half, the Panthers rallied on the hot shooting of Dave Roman to take the lead. With three seconds left the Mountaineers went ahead 68-67 on Tom Lowry's push shot. Pitt called time. When play resumed Roman threw in a 40-foot jump shot that lifted the sellout crowd of 5,222 at the Pitt Field House to its feet screaming.

But hold there—a whistle on the play. No basket, no basket. As the Pitt students, who had already hoisted Roman to their shoulders for a victory march, screamed in protest the referee ruled that just before Roman shot, two of his teammates, Tim Grgurich and Ben Jinks, had called time.

There was one second left, time for one more shot. But this time Jinks' jumper fell short. So instead of a 69-68 Pitt victory, West Virginia won 68-67.

"I felt real bad," said Timmons in an understatement. "I knew time was out when Roman scored because those were the instructions I signalled from the bench."

NO COMMENT

"I've never seen a crazier finish," the Pitt coach added.

American Freed by the Czechs

VIENNA (UPI) — Communist Czechoslovakia has freed an American held for four months on spy charges, the U.S. embassy in Prague said today.

The Czech government announced last Saturday it had released Robert Roy Budway, a Young Men's Christian Association worker from Washington, D.C. But the embassy was unable to confirm the announcement at that time.

"Budway has been released and has already left the country," an embassy spokesman told United Press International in a telephone call from Vienna to Prague.

"That is all I can tell you at this time," he said. "Any more information will have to come from the State Department in Washington."

Budway had been arrested last October on charges he tried to spy in Czechoslovakia and distributed "hostile leaflets." It was not known whether he ever came to trial.

Budway's arrest had been officially confirmed by the Czech authorities last October. A communiqué published by the official Czech news agency CTK charged the 34-year-old American with having "collected data on the defense capacity of Czechoslovakia, samples of uranium ore and disseminating hostile leaflets."

The Czechs never made public if Budway was tried on the basis of espionage charges.

Bodies Found in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Search teams found the bodies today of two U.S. Air Force captains and a Vietnamese observer killed in the crash of a B-26 fighter-bomber.

It was believed the plane was shot down while strafing Communist sampans along a canal.

A government spokesman said 58 guerrillas and 10 defenders were killed in the action 110 miles southwest of Saigon Sunday. The Communists were driven off by air strikes and a helicopter-borne company of Rangers.

57 U.S. FATALITIES
The crash brought the total of American servicemen killed in Viet Nam to 57, 29 of them in combat.

Base, Fla., said one of the B-26 was shot down at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., said one of the B-26 victims was Capt. John P. Bartley, 31, of Findlay, Ohio. His wife and two children were reported living in San Angelo, Tex.

CAR IN WHICH 3 DIED — A New Jersey couple died on the weekend when their car, shown here after the accident, collided head-on with a Greyhound bus on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. The driver of the bus was hospitalized in

June Allyson Returns to Powell's Empire

HOLLYWOOD — June Allyson, holding a script in nervous fingers, returned to the studio this week where her late husband, Dick Powell, had built his Four-Star television empire.

"It was the most difficult thing I've ever had to do," June said. "The slender blonde actress, widowed last Jan. 2, was near tears as she looked around the Republic lot where she and Powell had spent so many happy hours."

"At first I couldn't force myself to come here," she said. "But last week I'd finally reached the point where I was only falling apart once a day."

"Tom McDermott, Four-Star president, telephoned me and said he had a great part in a 'Dick Powell Theater' segment and that I should come right into the studio. I agreed. But the next day I stayed home trying to think of excuses and convincing myself I really had a cold."

But McDermott was adamant and June made the big step. After 17 years of marriage the actress has found it nearly impossible to adjust to life without her husband.

In the last few weeks of her husband's life the family moved from their Beverly Hills home to a rented apartment, and earlier this month June and her two children moved into another house.

"We're finally settled down now," June said, her voice heavy with fatigue.

DISSOLVE IN TEARS
"When Tom called I couldn't remember my own address, much less the lines of a script. I was in the new house unpacking boxes and every time I came across a picture of Richard or one of the things he was closely attached to I would dissolve in tears."

"Finally I got down to the last box and wondered what I'd do. Now I'm terribly grateful to Tom for getting me back to work."

Because June has explained at length to her youngsters the meaning of death and her own beliefs about heaven, she frequently uses the term "since daddy went away" in her conversation.

She has received thousands of letters of sympathy and understanding, and spends many hours reading them.

"I've answered almost all of them," June said. "Most of the people who write were so kind and helpful, and a lot of them suggested that I return to work."

"I retired from movies and TV in the first place because Richard loved to go out on our boat whenever he had the chance. If I was working and couldn't make it, he wouldn't go alone."

"So I became a housewife except for occasional appearances on his show. The last time I acted was last July with Richard for the opening show last fall. Now

NY's Newest Is Longest Single-Span Type

AP Photo

TO LINK BOROUGHS — Ironworkers man a temporary structure to hang cables for the Verrazano-Narrows bridge between the New York boroughs of Brooklyn and Staten Island. The tower in the center background will support the Brooklyn side of the bridge. The 325-million structure, slated for completion in 1965, will be the world's largest single-span suspension bridge.

NEW YORK (AP) — A new engineering wonder is being rushed to completion between two proud old forts that once stood guard over New York harbor.

The structure is the $325-million Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, destined to become the world's largest single span suspension bridge.

It is to be completed in 1965 and will arch majestically from Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn to Fort Wadsworth in Staten Island. On a clear day it will be visible 40 miles away.

For travelers approaching New York by sea, it will be an imposing landmark of the huge metropolis lying behind it.

Its 4,260-foot center span will be 60 feet longer than San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, now the longest between piers, and its two supporting towers will be almost 70 stories high.

If you want to compare it with other big things, the center span will be:

Almost three times the height of the Empire State Building; more than four times the length of the liner France (1,035), world's longest passenger ship; longer than the Grand Coulee Dam (4,173), nation's largest concrete dam, and one-seventh the height of Mount Everest (29,028), highest mountain in the world.

The reason a force of 1,000 men is doing a rush job is purely a matter of finance. The quicker the bridge, started in 1959, is completed, the sooner the city can start collecting tolls (probably $4 a car) and getting something back on its investment.

TOWERS COMPLETE
Both of the 600-foot towers are complete and much of the work is done on concrete anchorages large.

With the bridge in operation, its population is expected to increase 138 per cent by 1975. New apartment houses already have been started and real estate values are up 75 per cent.

In addition to providing a quicker way of reaching Staten Island, the bridge's purpose is to furnish an easier route through New York, keeping motorists out of the central business district.

"This is a beautiful bridge," said George De Canco, resident engineer and a veteran bridge and tunnel man as he looked out over the water.

"I worked on the George Washington bridge 30 years ago, but I like this one better. Just look at those lines!"

Output per production worker in the pulp and paper industry increased by 59 per cent between 1947-60, the Labor Department reports.

Soapy Sees Algeria, Says Aid to Go On

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, toured war-devastated eastern Algeria yesterday and promised American support for recovery efforts.

The former Michigan governor shook hundreds of hands of turbaned fellows (peasants) in Batna in the foothills of the snowcapped Nememcha mountains.

"We are proud to be here in the heart of the Algerian revolution," Williams said, referring to Algeria's war of independence.

Hit by Auto, Boy, 14, Injured

Curtis Olson, 14, of 573 Raackeb St., who suffered a fractured left shoulder after being struck by a car yesterday at 2:30 p.m. is in satisfactory condition today in St. Joseph Hospital.

Bill Mitchell, 59, of 239 St. St., driver of the car that hit the boy at North Perry and Montclair, told police the youth darted into the path of the auto.

A bill to revolutionize Michigan's approach to the mental health problem with community-based programs is ready for introduction early this week in the state senate.

Passage of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, is the major legislative goal this year of Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The community mental health bill would enable the county to establish its own mental health board and hire a mental health director.

Under the program, state matching funds would help the county care for mental health patients through contracts with general and private hospitals.

By permitting intensive treatment close to the homes of patients, the program would mean quicker attention and faster cure for patients, the bill's supporters say.

It also would eliminate the present overcrowding and long waiting lists of state mental hospitals, they claim.

To Study Rifle Taken From 3

Lab to Compare Bullet Used in Sniping

A 22-caliber rifle confiscated last night from three men allegedly shooting from a car in Farmington Township was to be compared today with the bullet which killed a Bloomfield Township woman Jan. 25.

Detective Sgt. Harry Maur of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said the gun and shells taken from the men were to be checked by the state police crime laboratory in East Lansing.

Maur said the weapon also will be compared with the bullet which narrowly missed a Novi woman Wednesday night.

The three men, from Madison Heights and Roseville, were detained for questioning and later released by sheriff's officers. A witness said he saw them firing the gun in an isolated section of Farmington Township yesterday evening.

Meanwhile, Bloomfield Township police today reported no new developments in the investigation of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mary Godfrey, 38, of 983 Dursley Road.

Both Mrs. Godfrey and Mrs. Gerald S. Race, 40, 28000 Dixon Road, Novi, were shot at with 22-caliber weapons.

A truck driver in Southfield told police Saturday someone had shot at his windshield, but officers could find no bullet in the cab.

Southfield authorities said the window could have been broken by a stone.

Rifts in Asia May Dominate at Conference

Lab to Compare Bullet Used in Sniping

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika, (UPI) — A series of power struggles in Asia threatened to dominate the third Afro-Asian solidarity conference opening today in Tanganyika.

African delegates were reported anxious to prevent their own problems from being buried by the Sino-Indian border dispute and unrest in southeast Asia.

Members of the Pan-American freedom movement for east central and south Africa met yesterday to map strategy for keeping African issues before the conference.

Tanganyika President Julius K. Nyerere was on hand to open the meeting in the town of Mushi.

Informed sources said Indian delegates were pressing for support in their border conflict with Red China while the Peking delegates were trying to avoid a discussion on the matter.

Area Man Named to Mediation Board

LANSING (UP)—Malcolm Lovell Jr. of 3628 Thornville Road, Metamora, was appointed to the State Labor Mediation Board today by Gov. George Romney.

Lovell will succeed Francis Coomes of East Lansing, who was not confirmed by the Senate, for the balance of his three-year term ending in 1965.

Lovell is executive vice president of Seaboard Brewery and a vice president and director of Pittsfield Village, Inc., a housing rental project at Ann Arbor. He was an assistant campaign manager of the Romney for governor committee.

The post on the three-member board pays $25 for each day the members are in session. The appointment requires senate confirmation.

Try to Discredit West Before Ban Talks Open

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union sought today to blame the United States for the continued nuclear test-ban stalemate.

The Russians appeared to be trying to discredit the Western position in the eyes of neutral nations before the 17-nation disarmament negotiations resume in Geneva Feb. 12.

The official Communist party newspaper Pravda said yesterday the Soviet delegation broke off negotiations in New York because the West had "no intention" of ending atomic tests.

The newspaper said that in light of the Kremlin's "good will" offer to accept up to three on-site inspections, "the reluctance of the United States and Great Britain to end nuclear tests had become obvious."

It said the Soviet Union thus was "forced" to break off the New York talks and throw the question back to the big disarmament conference.

There was no hint in Pravda that the Soviet Union would be willing to expand the number of on-site inspections to meet the West's minimal requirements.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — Adoption of new missile systems by U.S. allies in Europe and the Far East is pushing enrollment of foreign students at the U.S. Army Missile Command to an all-time high, its commandant said yesterday.

Col. William J. MacPherson said that by this spring, foreign students will make up about 40 per cent of the missile school's monthly average of 1,800 men enrolled for courses ranging from a few weeks to almost a year.

He said by May, the school expects to have some 750 students from 12 foreign countries in training, a 50 per cent increase over the previous high of 500 overseas students registered last fall.

The school, located on Redstone Arsenal here, graduates about 5,000 men annually.

Col. MacPherson said the foreign students are concentrating on the Hawk and Nike-Hercules air defense weapons and the Sergeant ballistic artillery missile which was recently adopted by West Germany.

The Hawk is standard for North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces and will be manufactured in five European nations.

The largest group of foreign students are the German army and air force men training with Hawk and Sergeant. Other countries represented include Belgium, Nationalist China, Denmark, France, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Norway and Turkey.

MacPherson said Korea and Japan are just beginning a cycle of training and will send in students in the spring.

Mother, 4 Children Burned to Death

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — A mother and her four children were burned to death in a blaze which destroyed their home early today.

The father was hospitalized. The mother was identified as Jane Burhenn, 33. The children ranged in age from 6 months to 13 years.

The father, Edward, suffered burns and shock in trying to rescue the family, officials said.

Ex-Foreign Aide Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — George J. Haering, 67, former U.S. Foreign Service official and authority on the St. Lawrence Seaway, died Sunday from a cerebral hemorrhage. Haering entered the Foreign Service in 1924 and held a number of foreign posts until his retirement in 1955. He was born in New York City.

Threatening Rivers Recede in Idaho

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Rivers which threatened many communities in southern Idaho receded today and workers began cleaning up the debris and repairing roads and bridges washed out by ice-choked waters.

In Pocatello, the Portneuf River created a more than three foot above flood stage Sunday. It was contained for the most part by sandbag dikes.

Waters also receded upstream from Pocatello and water was draining rapidly from badly flooded Bancroft.

Col. J. H. Biddow, district Army engineer, said about 100 homes here were affected by the high water. Fifty or so homes along the Portneuf between Idaho and Pocatello were evacuated.

Those 'Weighty' Matters Concern Phyllis Diller

By EARL WILSON

Phyllis Diller, the comedienne who would have been great even if she hadn't come from one of my old home towns, Lima, Ohio, was quite a big hit when she returned to the Blue Angel — because she admitted she wasn't home when they were passing out glamour.

"The year I lost my baby fat," she moaned, "I got middle-age spread."

Phyllis, mother of several, told her adoring husband, "I'd like to keep my weight down."

"You've got it pretty far down now," replied her husband, appraising her. "Where do you want it — down to your ankles?"

Blanche Thebom and Phyllis Curtin were among those enchanted by ex-actress Bernie Allen, now a comedian, recounting how he'd given advice to his wife on looking youthful.

Man and Space

Manpower Ratio's Space Headache

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—In cold mathematics, the manpower ratio of America's astronaut program is rather poor.

It takes only one man to fly a spaceship, but more than 30,000 to get him up and back down.

At the moment, it can't be helped. But for scientists and engineers plotting the future of man's role in space, it is a major headache.

Manned spaceflights may someday become an everyday proposition—but not as long as a force of men equal to the population of Hackensack, N. J., must be scattered to Earth's four corners for each and every mission.

The problem now is that landing techniques are a bit vague. The smallness of the early Mercury capsules dictated that the landing system be lightweight and simple. A parachute arrangement was selected for a "touchdown" in the ocean was selected.

In America's first three manned orbital flights, it worked admirably. But it was roughly akin to using the entire power output of Grand Coulee Dam just to make sure one lightbulb worked.

Of the roughly 30,000 men working on each of the three shots, the bulk was deployed in the recovery forces—centered in the Atlantic Ocean for John Glenn and Scott Carpenter, in the Pacific for Walter Schirra.

DEMAND INCREASING

The forthcoming 34-hour flight of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. will place even more stringent manpower demands on the ships, helicopters and airplanes in the recovery force. Main recovery areas will be set up in both the Atlantic and Pacific, to cover all bases.

Scientists, who sometimes indicate a disdain for money, recognize the economic limitations to this sort of thing. Anyway, as one space agency official put it, "there's something inelegant and unsophisticated about a parachute landing."

One serious proposal is the so-called "paraglider," an odd-looking bat-winged gadget that looks strikingly similar to an idea Leonardo da Vinci put on paper about the time Columbus was discovering America.

Some experts say that such a wing, about 45 feet wide, could be used with America's upcoming two-man Gemini space capsules to give the astronauts enough control to pick their return spot, perhaps on land instead of the tricky sea.

(West Texas has been proposed as a landing base, but there are hints that politics had more than a little to do with this suggestion.)

Da Vinci didn't pursue his invention. Perhaps he knew something that scientists today are just finding out.

OLD FAITHFUL

So it may be that, when the first Gemini flights are made in 1964, the astronauts will still be using the old and faithful parachute. And the oceans will again be covered with men waiting for their return.

There is one active U.S. manned spaceflight program that would end the worries of landing. It may be headed for the scrapheap.

This is the Air Force's Dyna-

Soar, or X-20, project. One national question to the matter of landing spaceships is, "Why not

That is exactly what Dyna-Soar does. It looks like a flying flatiron.

Dyna-Soar was suggested years ago. But it muddled along with little love and less money until the Air Force gave it a financial shot last year. Now, it seems, it may have been too late.

The Air Force is in a hurry to get into space in a manned way. Dyna-Soar is a 1960s-at-the-earliest proposition. The h's suiters, it is reported, are looking longingly at getting a cut of the Gemini program—perhaps four or five capsules.

The Federal Space Agency, facing a shortage of money and a

2 Blind Men Found Dead on Rail Tracks

BERESFORD, S.D. (AP)—Bodies of two blind men were found on railroad tracks northwest of Beresford Sunday. Authorities said exposure may have been the cause of death.

The victims were identified as James Tackett, 39, Spirit Lake, Iowa, and Ruben Poppen, about 50, Beresford.

Tackett had been staying with a sister. A family going to church found his body on the tracks. Popper's body was found about a half mile away. His guide dog was sitting by the body.

Concern Mounts on Cuba

Ferency's Goal: Reunite Dems for Election

Special to The Pontiac Press

Michigan Democrats settled down today to the business of the April 1 spring election under an uneasy truce forged by their new state chairman, 40-year-old Zolton A. Ferency.

Ferency staged an upset victory over incumbent John J. (Joe) Collins Saturday at the party's state convention in Grand Rapids.

Immediately he began gluing together the fragments of party unity.

He made his first efforts at closing the breach between his staunch supporter, former Gov. John B. Swainson, and other party leaders as he presided over a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee following the convention.

At the meeting, Collins, 28, said, "We certainly should all work together now as we promised we would before the convention."

Ferency climaxed a whirlwind campaign to unseat Collins — an effort begun only Thursday — when 2,234 delegates to the convention elected him by acclamation.

His victory came after Swainson, practically his lone supporter until Saturday, appeared unexpectedly before the cheering delegates and said, "You know what I'm for."

The former governor climbed out of a Detroit hospital bed against his doctor's orders to attend the convention. He ripped into the proposed new state constitution and the man who put him out of office, Gov. George Romney.

LABOR IN COMMAND
The outcome put Swainson and labor Democrats in command of the party in Michigan.

It also was a blow to the prestige of U.S. Congressman-at-large Neil Staeble, although Ferency denied it.

Swainson and Ferency won against apparently insurmountable opposition by Staeble, U.S. Senators Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart. Virtually the entire state administrative board of top elected officials was in Collins' corner, too.

However, there was evidence that Ferency was swept into office by a growing grass roots

Hike Defended by Blue Cross

Blames Care Costs in Rate Raise Request

DETROIT (U) — Pointing to what they termed "steadily rising health care costs in general and a greater use of needed hospital services," spokesmen for the Michigan Blue Cross — Blue Shield programs made their pitch for rate increases at a public hearing here today.

State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn presided at the hearing at which William S. McNary, Blue Cross president, and Sumner G. Whittier, Blue Shield executive director, attempted to show that without rate increases both health insurance plans will plunge into the red within a few months.

Whittier presented prepared statistics to back a claim that unless Colburn grants Blue Shield's requested increase, averaging 23.9 per cent, the program will register a deficit of more than $32 million by February of 1965.

McNary defended Blue Cross' requested total average increase of 29.3 per cent and said Blue Cross went nearly $5.5 million into the red in 1962.

Reweave W. Europe Strategy

Allies Gird to Counter France

From Our News Wires

Diplomats and statesmen started reweaving Allied strategy throughout Western Europe today under pressure of a virtual French rebellion against U.S. leadership.

Prime Minister Macmillan summoned his cabinet to report on his trip to Rome where he received strong Italian support for Britain's bid to get into the Common Market.

While in Rome last night Macmillan termed France's blackball of Britain's entry "folly as well as ingratitude."

Macmillan appeared heartened by assurances that Premier Amintore Fanfani will work with other European leaders to override the French veto of Britain's bid to join the European Economic Community.

"I have been very much encouraged by the unanimity of the Italian and British points of view in Rome. A setback is not the end of the journey."

HITS DE GAULLE
In a clear allusion to de Gaulle, Macmillan said there have been times in Europe's history when one nation or one man tried to exert control, but Britain is convinced such times are past.

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared today that despite the Soviet setback in Cuba the Communist threat to the world is as great as ever.

The 87-year-old chancellor pledged that West Germany will support a strengthened NATO under U.S. leadership to meet the threat.

In a foreword to the West German government's annual report, Adenauer promised that his country will carry its due share of the common Western defense burden in 1963.

"Strong military forces are and will remain the necessary prerequisites for dealing successfully in further conflicts with communism," he said.

Adenauer expressed hope that NATO soon will be given a multinational nuclear force and be able "to deter the enemy from any aggression against any point in the area covered by the alliance."

FAVORS COOPERATION

He noted growing differences between the Soviet Union and Red China but argued against "falling into the self-deception that these mean a lessening of the Communist threat to the world."

In a copyrighted interview in U.S. News and World Report, published today, Adenauer said French President Charles de

Gaulle "is absolutely in favor of cooperation with the United States."

"For he is as convinced as myself that cooperation with the United States is vital to Europe and vital to the United States."

He was interviewed at Bonn last Tuesday.

As for the split in the Western alliance, Adenauer said the first step toward restoring unity should be "to gain time so that

Election Fever Heralds Showdown in Canada

OTTAWA (U)—Election fever swept Canada today as showdown neared in the political crisis brought to a head by public U.S. demands for the Canadian government to accept nuclear weapons.

After a weekend of rumor and uncertainty, almost everyone in Ottawa agreed that the present Parliament—elected last June 18—has just about seen its last days.

It appeared to be a tossup whether Prime Minister John Diefenbaker would dissolve Parliament and call an election, or whether the three opposition parties would unite to bring down the government with a vote of no confidence.

Diefenbaker's Conservative party came out 17 seats short of a majority in last June's election.

One of the three opposition parties, Social Credit, has thrown its votes to the government in the past to keep it from defeat.

Diefenbaker is said to be defeated. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Light Snow, Freezing Rain Due Locally

Driving may be hazardous to night, as the forecast calls for light snow, occasionally mixed with a little sleet or freezing rain beginning this afternoon and continuing tonight.

The weather picture for tomorrow is mostly cloudy with a little light snow or freezing drizzle ending in the morning.

Mostly cloudy with not much change in temperature is the outlook for Wednesday.

Winds are from the south at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 9 above. At 1 p.m. the thermometer read 27.

Keating Raps Arms Build-Up by Russians

Administration Plans Harder Crackdown on Shippers to Castro

(From Our News Wires)

WASHINGTON — Congressional concern about a Soviet build-up in Cuba increased today and the administration prepared to crack down harder on foreign shippers engaged in Cuban trade.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a man with a satchel full of information, is keeping the Kennedy administration hopping overtime with his charges of a Soviet arms build-up in Cuba.

Last night Keating claimed in a television interview that Soviet troops in Cuba now number about 10 times as many as were estimated by officials to be there last July. This would bring the current Soviet strength to about 80,000.

Assistant Secretary of State Edwin Martin, who appeared on the program with Keating, cautioned that estimates of Soviet troops in Cuba last July were not too accurate but said Keating's claim "is within the range of possibility."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., whose preparedness subcommittee is investigating the Cuban situation, said the United States might have to demand that Russia remove its present forces just as it demanded removal of offensive missiles and bombers.

ORDER EXPECTED

Meanwhile, the administration was expected to issue an order today or tomorrow barring U.S. government cargoes to shipowners whose vessels have traded with Cuba since Jan. 1.

Shippers could escape the ban by removing their vessels from trade with Cuba.

A number of Western nations already have removed their ships from the Cuban trade. But 15 ships are reported still engaged in such trade as against 90 last summer.

Britain, Norway and Greece are among countries whose ships have sailed to Cuba, sometimes under charter to Soviet bloc nations.

Senator Keating said that two arms-bearing ships had arrived in Cuba from Russia between Jan. 17 and Jan. 25. He said there the Russians were building a base there.

THEY ARE BUILDING

"They are building barracks, making it a permanent installation," he said. "They are continuing to maintain medium-range missile sites. And they've been working at these activities in some parts of Cuba around the clock."

Stennis, in a separate interview with Keating prepared for New York State stations, said intelligence data suggested the Soviet build-up was designed in part to promote "blackmail, intimidation, threats of coercion, and even an invasion" in the hemisphere against smaller countries.

The shipping order has been delayed time and again since Washington authorities first unveiled a four-point plan early in October and said they intended to issue detailed regulations within days.

Kennedy said at a Dec. 12 news conference that the order would be ready within a couple of weeks.

U.S. authorities have been close-mouthed on the subject, except for hinting reasons for delay. One was the complicated nature of a regulation that could affect ships of many countries. Another was the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba.

RESCUE AT SACRAMENTO—Five young rabbit hunters (top) spent seven hours stranded on a flood-created island in the American River at Sacramento, Calif., during the weekend before rescue squads fired a line to them with a special gun. The five were pulled safely across the swollen river in a saddle chair (center) and quickly huddled in blankets around a small fire on the mainland shore (bottom).

Kennedy's Education Bill Starts on Rocky Path

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's education bill starts on its obstacle-strewn course through Congress today.

Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare, and U.S. Education Commissioner Francis Keppel launch the controversial, 24-point program with testimony before the House Education and Labor Committee.

They face stiff questioning, particularly from committee Republicans who have already served notice they want to scrap most of Kennedy's sweeping program and concentrate on one or two items.

The administration has wrapped into one bill a variety of programs that didn't get anywhere on their own in the last Congress. They include aid for elementary and high schools, junior colleges, technical institutes, colleges, graduate schools, libraries and adult education.

Chairman Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., has promised that the Education and Labor Committee will take a careful look before deciding whether to bring out one or more bills.

A chief complaint of Republicans is that the total cost of the administration package is too hard to figure. In most cases only first-year costs are given although the programs run for several years.

The administration says first-year costs will be $1.2 billion, and unofficially estimates they will run to $4.6 billion for three years. Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., says he figures the total cost at between $7 billion and $10 billion.

County Dems Helped Ferency

Leadership Pleas for Collins Go Unheeded

BY JIM DYGERT

Oakland County's 184-man delegation to the Democratic State convention played an important and somewhat ironic role in the upset victory Saturday of the party's new state chairman, Zolton A. Ferency.

Voting under the unit rule, the Oakland delegation — the convention's second largest — swung its entire support behind Ferency at a crucial moment in the contest.

The county's delegation voted 81½ to 63 for Ferency despite recommendations by county Democratic leaders to re-elect John J. (Joe) Collins.

Yet, it was action initiated by the same county leaders weeks ago to find a replacement for Collins that set off the chain of events leading to Ferency's win.

Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin told delegates in Saturday's caucus: "This county has been taking the lead in searching for strong leadership in the state Democratic party."

Levin and others in the county began meeting with state party leaders weeks ago to find "an outstanding leader" to pick up the pieces of a lost gubernatorial contest and rebuild party machinery as state chairman.

Their aim was to look beyond the only prospects mentioned until then—Collins and Ferency.

Ferency's possible candidacy came into the open shortly

Death Toll Hits 539
in Fresh Disasters

LONDON (AP) — Europeans shivered on in their little ice age today, with no sign of early relief from the freeze.

Europe's unofficial death toll climbed to at least 539 as fresh disaster struck. In Spain's Canary Islands, off the northwest coast of Africa, a town hall collapsed during a storm, killing 27 persons.

Fresh blizzards dumped 15-foot snowdrifts in Britain's Kent County. Snowplows were unable to get through to some villages. Main British highways began to crack. Officials said this would add millions of dollars to the snow-clearing bill, which stands at 20 million pounds—$56 million.

London's Water Board, plagued by thousands of burst pipes, took up the idea of an enterprising private plumber and started thawing pipes by sending a huge electric charge through the pipes.

A typhoid epidemic added to the troubles of Yugoslav villagers in the Bihać Palje area of Montenegro. More than 50 persons were hospitalized. Snowdrifts kept doctors from reaching other sufferers.

West German temperatures averaged about 5 degrees. The Rhine was still blocked to shipping.

Snow was reported from Marseille and along the Mediterranean Coast. Traffic on highways throughout France was snarled.

Profit-Sharing Law No Boon in Mexico

WASHINGTON (U) — Mexico's compulsory profit-sharing law thus far has proved to be "little more than an added, but very real, business uncertainty," a congressman reported yesterday.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., said that difficulties in administering the unique statute have made it impossible thus far to determine its real effects.

Mrs. Griffiths, in a report submitted to the Joint Congressional Economic Committee by its subcommittee on Inter-American Economic Relationships, said there are two sharply varying views on the law's ultimate effect. She said "only the record of administration will tell which is correct."

North America has more lakes than any other continent.

Mart at New Recovery Level

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler trend on balance as strike-bridge buying was reported to be as the stock market moved irregularly in lively trading early today.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. Many were unchanged.

Chrysler moved up more than a point while other auto shares did very little. Ford dipping a fraction and the others showing slight change. Chrysler directors meet this week and investors hope for some good news.

The market as a whole was at a new recovery level and at the crest of seven straight weeks of advance. Profit taking by traders was apparent but, at the same time, large blocks of selected issues at firm prices reflected a continued institutional demand. Steels showed a slightly high.

Takes Control in Rail Merger

C&O Begins Change in Absorption of B&O

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway formally took control of the Baltimore & Ohio at one minute past midnight as the first step in a proposed merger.

It was the earliest possible time such a move was possible under the terms of an Interstate Commerce Commission decision issued Dec. 31.

The lines will continue to operate separately and keep their own names during the control period, but nearly a quarter of a billion dollars will be poured into the financially distressed B&O to strengthen it and improve its earnings so that a full merger of the two carriers can take place later.

The formal transaction early today took place in the board room of the B&O in Baltimore.

The systems have more than 11,000 miles of track and annual operating revenue of $700 million and serve eight of the ten largest cities in the country—all but Los Angeles and Houston.

Because the two lines are end-to-end systems rather than parallel systems, only about 25 miles of track will have to be ripped up and most facilities of both lines can be retained.

Today's action culminated two years of activity and planning during which the ICC held numerous hearings while 400 witnesses gave some 5,000 pages of testimony for and against the merger.

The go-ahead by the ICC for the first step was given Dec. 31, but a 35-day waiting period was specified.

The C&O-B&O merger is one of three envisioned by rail leaders. The other two would combine the Pennsylvania and New York Central and the Norfolk and Western, Nickel Plate and Washburn, all of whom seek ICC approval for such alignments.

There have been a lot of changes in the 15 years. Many of the problems are called by different names. Statistics used then look pretty puny alongside today's. But the February 1948 picture shows some remarkable likenesses to 1963 reflections along with some complete turnarounds.

In that earlier February the president of a big electrical equipment company said the U. S. tax policy was drying up venture capital. The U. S. Treasury was reported fearful that a drop in personal and corporate incomes might cause a big federal deficit. Congressional plans to cut income taxes, Republican senators said, might be vetoed by President Harry S. Truman because of the Truman outlook.

Steel executives complained that profits were being squeezed by rising labor costs when they needed funds for new and more expensive mills. Too, they were worrying about an expected drop in the high demand for their products.

HOUSEWIVES HAPPIER
Housewives were happier because some food prices had just dropped. Butter, which had been around $1 a pound in New York, came down to 90 cents. The ladies also were cheered by the announcement that the nylon stocking sup—should not be worn during a panic that swept the world before the end of 1948.

Bad weather was in the news that Feb. 3, too, for tying up transportation and cutting steel production. A fuel association said that the big reason 129,000 homes were without heat was the weather in a few days was the worst weather in a generation."

Government agencies poured out record statistics: personal incomes hit a high of $187 billion, the U. S. $447 billion. The U. S. gold stocks rose to a high of $23 billion.

Threatening Rivers Recede in Idaho

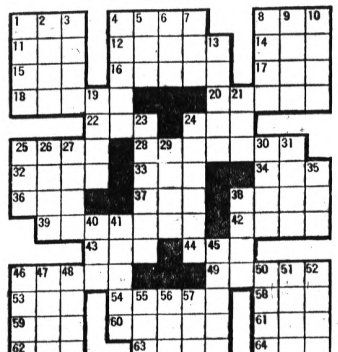

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Rivers which threatened many communities in southern Idaho receded today and workers began cleaning up the debris and repairing roads and bridges washed out by ice-choked waters.

In Pocatello, the Portneuf River crested at more than three feet above flood stage Sunday. It was contained for the most part by sandbag dikes.

Waters also receded upstream from Pocatello and water was draining rapidly from badly flooded Bancroft.

Col. J. H. Beddow, district Army engineer, said about 100 homes here were affected by the high water. Fifty or so homes along the Portneuf between Idaho and Pocatello were evacuated.

Those 'Weighty' Matters Concern Phyllis Diller

By EARL WILSON

Phyllis Diller, the comedienne who would have been great even if she hadn't come from one of my old home towns, Lima, Ohio, was quite a big hit when she returned to the Blue Angel—because she admitted she wasn't home when they were passing out glamour.

"The year I lost my baby fat," she moaned, "I got middle-age spread."

Phyllis, mother of several, told her adoring husband, "I'd like to keep my weight down."

"You've got it pretty far down now," replied her husband, appraising her. "Where do you want it—down to your ankles?"

Blanche Thebom and Phyllis Curtin were among those enchanted by ex-taxi driver Bernie Allen, now a comedian, recounting how he'd given advice to his wife on looking youthful.

"But how do I keep looking young?" she pleaded . . . and he answered, "Always hang round old people."

Susan Strasberg—the tiny beauty who could become the next sexpot—is dying to start rehearsals in "Lady of the Camellias" because she gets to die on stage. "In every movie or play I do, I die," Susan says. "Dying is getting to be my specialty—and I wonder—is that good?"

THE MIGHTY EARL . . . Tony Perkins went to arrange for a driver's test—his license had expired in Europe—and so many gal clerks stopped working to get his autograph, that a head clerk decided to rush him through "Earl's Pearls." As Joe Cotten was buying a gift for his wife Patricia Medina, a salesgirl asked "What are her measurements?" Joe replied, "Satisfactory."

QUAINT QUOTES: Are you Old-Timer enough to remember this one? "There's only one time a woman can change a male—that's when he's a baby!"

Kid Story: Selma Core asked her son, Peter, 3, why he sucked his thumb. He answered, "If I didn't, it would get dry and wouldn't taste good." . . . That's earl, brother.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Now that the meteorologists are forecasting with the help of satellites, we can find out six months ahead of time what the weather isn't going to be."

'Sunday Liquor Could Hurt Detroit Waterfront Plan'

Mrs. L. G. Rowley of Waterford Township, president of the Michigan Women's Christian Temperance Union, has charged people that Sunday liquor sales in Detroit could hamper Detroit's waterfront redevelopment program.

Mrs. Rowley, 6700 Williams, in commenting on the increased police, hospital care, ambulance calls, burglaries, absenteeism, heavy court dockets and in-Lake Erie, in commenting on the increased liability to bar owners.

She pointed to statistics showing that "for every dollar of revenue collected, there is from $1.50 to $7.50 direct alcohol-caused expense."

Expenses include increased police, hospital care, ambulance calls, burglaries, absenteeism, heavy court dockets and in-Lake Erie, in commenting on the increased liability to bar owners.

VIOLENCE IN ELECTION—Demonstrators in downtown Managua, Nicaragua, (top) throw rocks at police during a demonstration against the regime of the Somoza family as Nicaraguans balloted in the national elections yesterday. The demonstrators, about 300 in number, were followers of the opposition lead Dr. Fernando Aguero who ordered the elections boycotted. An antigovernment demonstrator (bottom) writes on the ground following the three-hour clash after being put out of action by national guardsmen.

Riot Fatal to 4 in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—presidents, 16 senators, 54 deputies and town councils throughout the country.

An insignificant opposition group (the Conservative Party of Nicaragua) led by Diego Manuel Chamorro, was trailing by a 10 to 1 margin. No matter what the final count, this party will receive one-third of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies. Nicaraguan law grants the minority that amount.

AF Chief's Mother Dies
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Elizabeth Ritzelman, mother of Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, chief of the Air Force Systems Command, died Sunday after a long illness.

Dr. Fernando Aguero Rocha, opposition leader who had called for a boycott of the national elections, was placed under house arrest. Police charged with inciting demonstrators who battled with police and troops for three hours. Fifteen rioters also were jailed.

Order was restored after Aguero and the authorities declared a truce and the opposition leader agreed to remain under house arrest. Police dropped demands that Aguero go to jail after he agreed to advise his followers to give up the demonstrations.

CALLED PUPPET
Schick, an ex-prosecutor who takes office May 1, was called a Somoza puppet by the opposition which claimed the family put him in to hold the seat until one of them could run again.

A new law invited outgoing President Luis Somoza from succeeding himself or being succeeded by any member of his family. Schick, 53, has insisted he will act independently, but he has spent most of his career serving the Somoza family. His term as president expires in 1967.

Schick's election was assured last December when Aguero decided his Conservative party would boycott the elections. He contended there was no guarantee for a genuine secret vote and an honest count.

SERVED LATE DICTATOR
Schick served as personal secretary to the late dictator, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, who was assassinated in 1956. When Somoza's son Luis succeeded him, Schick was named minister of education and later became foreign minister.
