U.S. Okays $1.8 Million in County Sewage Grants

Federal grants totaling nearly $1.8 million toward sewage construction projects in Oakland County have been approved by the federal government, County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry announced yesterday.

He said the amount includes $1.4 million toward the $6.9-million Dequindre Interceptor Sewer, which will carry waste from 14 municipalities in the county's Southeastern Sewage Disposal District into the Detroit system for treatment.

The rest of the grants, totaling $410,115, will be applied to enclosing 2,000 feet of the Red Run Drain in Madison Heights, Barry said.

It will enclose the existing open cut drain from where it connects with the 12 Towns Storm Drain, now under construction, at 12-Mile Road and Campbell Road to Stephenson Highway.

The same 14 communities will benefit from the second project, according to Barry.

They are Birmingham, Berkley, Clawson, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak, Royal Oak Township, Southfield, and Troy.

He said the grants will not only reduce the financial burden to these communities but will enable work to get under way in January instead of June.

He said he also has been notified by the Federal Water Resources Commission that the county is likely to get an additional $2.9 million toward both projects.

U.S. Ignores Rocket Swap Plan

U.S. Tells U.N. Cuba Build-Up Is Dangerous

Stevenson Tells Thant Russians Continuing Missile Construction

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United States told the United Nations, in a letter published today, that a continued Soviet build-up of missile sites in Cuba is "dangerous."

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson sent the letter to U.N. acting Secretary General U Thant last night after Thant disclosed that the United States and the Soviet Union had agreed to try to avoid a confrontation at sea in the U.S. arms blockade around Cuba.

Stevenson's message transmitted to Thant a copy of yesterday's White House statement saying that in Cuba, "The Soviets are rapidly continuing their construction of missile support and launch facilities and serious attempts are under way to camouflage their efforts."

"I would appreciate it," he wrote the secretary general, "if you would circulate this letter and the information on this dangerous situation as a security council document."

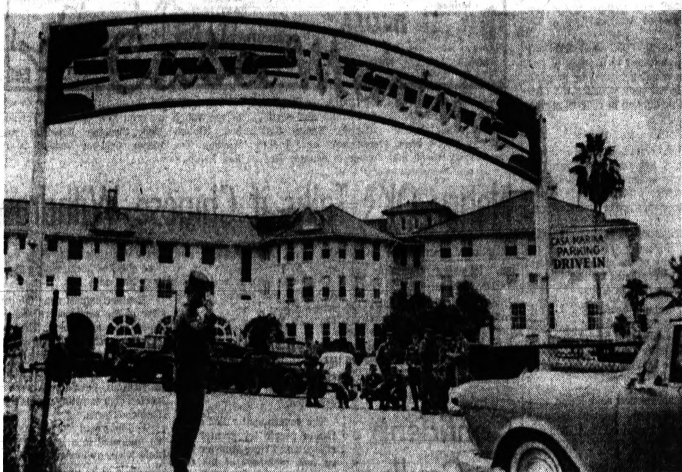

A U.N. spokesman said Thant had not received a new message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, reported by Moscow radio, containing a Soviet offer to negotiate an agreement through Thant for the removal of U.S. missile bases from Turkey and Soviet missile bases from Cuba.

MEETS WITH STRATEGISTS — In Washington, President Kennedy met with his diplomatic and military strategists and was reported giving searching study to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest proposal for solving the Cuban crisis — a swap involving removal of Soviet missiles in Cuba for removal of U.S. missiles in Turkey.

But the immediate, No. 1 issue, as U.S. officials saw it, was whether the Soviet leader would order his missile men to stop work without delay on the nuclear weapons bases they have been building in Cuba.

Thus far, Kennedy has confined U.S. action to a naval blockade around Cuba to prevent war goods and rocket parts from reaching the Cuban missile sites. The U.S. government is trying to make clear to Russia and the world that unless this issue is resolved, the blockade situation will be in hand.

TROOPS MOVE TO HOTEL — A sentry salutes an incoming car at the gate of the Casa Marina hotel at Key West, Fla., as the military build-up along the Florida Keys is continued by the U.S. Army. The hotel is occupied by Army troops recently moved into the city as part of the top-secret preparations. Military authorities have deployed their battle-equipped troops, trucks, arms and equipment all along the 165-mile length of the Keys.

Decision Could Be Near

Clear Way for Invasion?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration appeared today to be preparing the ground for possible bombing or invasion of Cuba unless it starts dismantling its Russian-made missiles and their bases soon.

A White House statement indicated time may be short before

President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed separately to avoid an immediate showdown at sea while diplomatic efforts are made to find a peaceful solution.

But looming in the background has been the other prong of Kennedy's objective — to secure the eventual withdrawal of the offensive weapons already on the island.

Twice this week, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara directed newsmen's attention to Kennedy's broadcast statement Monday that "should these offensive military preparations continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified."

"I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities; and I trust that in the interest of both the Cuban people and the Soviet technicians at these sites, the hazards to all concerned of continuing this threat will be recognized."

DIRECTED TO STATEMENT — And Friday State Department spokesman Lincoln White called newsmen's attention to the same portion of Kennedy's statement.

News Analysis

The United States makes a decision on how far to go in neutralizing the missile threat.

It said Friday that aerial reconnaissance had shown that as late as Thursday Russian technicians were rushing work on launch bases for 1,200-mile intermediate range rockets.

"The activity at these sites apparently is directed at achieving a full operational capability as soon as possible," the White House said.

"There is no evidence to date indicating that there is any intention to dismantle or discontinue work on these missile sites."

"On the contrary, the Soviets are rapidly continuing their construction of missile support and launch facilities."

SITUATION WELL IN HAND — The Navy apparently had the blockade situation well in hand will address the gathering. The $10-a-plate dinner, major fund-raising event for Oakland Democrats, is expected to have an attendance of at least 600 persons.

Among the guests will be Neil Staebler, Democratic candidate for congressman at large, and George J. Fulkerson, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 18th District.

Both Senator Hart and Gov. Swainson recently have been briefed on the Cuban situation by the U.S. State Department, Levin pointed out.

18th District Dem Dinner to Feature Hart, Swainson

The Oakland County Democratic Committee's 18th district Congressional dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave.

Sander M. Levin, committee chairman, issued the reminder today. The major speaker will be Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Michigan, who will talk about the Cuban crisis.

Candidates End Debates on TV

Cuban Situation Casts Shadow on Encounter

From Our News Wires
DETROIT — The tense international situation cast a sobering shadow last night over the last of three television debates between Gov. John Swainson and his Republican challenger, George Romney.

Both candidates were grim and unsmiling during most of the 30-minute program, and both alluded to the Cuban crisis in trying to explain why they should be elected governor of Michigan for the next two years.

Most of the debate was a review of what the candidates said in their earlier encounters or have been saying on the campaign trail.

The governor took a bitter verbal swipe at Republican State Chairman George Van Peursem for his comments on President Kennedy's Cuban action.

HITS REPUBLICAN — "It was a disgusting statement that (Van Peursem) made three days ago . . . implying that Khrushchev wants Democrats elected so that communism can take over in the United States," Swainson said. "This is political leadership and responsibility? It was a terrible statement."

Asked by newsmen for his reaction, Romney said he did not even know what Van Peursem had said, and commented:

"What George Van Peursem said certainly has no reference to any viewpoint of mine because I didn't even know what he had said."

Nikita Urges Cuba, Turkey Both Disarmed

Kennedy Says Soviet Must Close Bases Before Talks Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House declared today Russia must stop work on its missile sites in Cuba, render offensive weapons in Cuba inoperable and cease shipping arms to the Castro government before the United States can consider any proposals to settle the crisis in this hemisphere.

The White House thus replied to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's offer earlier today to withdraw offensive weapons from Cuba if the United States would pull rockets out of Turkey.

Work on missile sites is proceeding "at a rapid pace" in Cuba the White House said.

"The first imperative must be to deal with this immediate threat under which no sensible negotiation can proceed," the White House said.

As for Khrushchev's call for removal of missiles from Turkey, the White House said the Western Allies have long "taken the lead in seeking properly inspected arms limitation on both sides."

It added: "These efforts can continue as soon as the present Soviet-created threat is ended."

Khrushchev's proposal was reported in a Moscow radio broadcast. It said the information was contained in messages sent to President Kennedy and U Thant, acting secretary general of the United Nations. It proposed that Thant act as an agent in carrying out the necessary negotiations.

President Kennedy thus did not reject Khrushchev's proposal out of hand but did establish firm conditions for any negotiations between Washington and Moscow.

In effect he challenged Khrushchev to demonstrate good faith by dismantling missile bases in Cuba before the United States and the Soviet Union consider any plan to settle the hazardous dispute.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Khrushchev had not yet received from Moscow the text of Khrushchev's proposal but had examined it on the basis of news reports.

Kennedy had received a separate message from Khrushchev late Friday night, but Salinger said it differed from the one broadcast today from Moscow.

Kennedy has not yet directly replied to Khrushchev on either of the Soviet leader's communications.

Salinger said it is unlikely the White House will have anything (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

See Warming Trend Through Sunday

A gradual warming trend through Sunday is the welcome weather forecast for the Pontiac area. Partly cloudy skies are also predicted.

Following a low of 35 this evening, the temperature is expected to reach a high of 55 tomorrow.

The outlook for Monday is partly cloudy with not much change in temperatures.

Winds today are from the southwest at eight to 18 miles per hour. Twenty-eight was the lowest temperature reading preceding 6 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the mercury had risen to 43.

Resident Takes Pride in UF

In support of the current Pontiac Area United Fund Drive, Abe Cohen, executive vice president of Pontiac's Standard Electric Co., today issued the following statement:

"As a resident of this community, I look with pride at the list of 54 worthy agencies that share every dollar given to Pontiac Area United Fund."

"This brings back memories of my boyhood when raising of funds for charity was not organized as it is now."

RECALL DONATION APPEALS — "Recall when self-appointed committees of two, or three neighbors would call at our home asking for a donation of food, clothing or cash for the benefit of a destitute neighbor who was in need."

"It was not so long ago that most of us can remember when each organization ran its individual campaigns for funds. Weekly we had requests from various charitable organizations."

"These memories prove very forcefully to me how efficiently our contributions to the United Fund are used."

"I ask all to please give and remember, 'One Gift Works Many Wonders.'"

COLDWATER (UPI) — "We sort of expected twins," Harry Stickney of nearby Grind said today. "But we weren't ready for four of them."

Stickney said he and his wife, Phyllis, 26, were "pretty shocked" when she gave birth yesterday to quadruplet sons at the Branch County Community Health Center.

The babies, ranging in weight from four pounds to five pounds, six ounces, are in good condition. They were placed in incubators after birth as a precautionary measure.

A 26-year-old gas station operator, Stickney said, "The biggest problem right now is finding names for the four of them."

The couple has three other children, Marilyn, 7, Patty Ann, 4, and Wayne, 2.

Washington Prey Goes Hunting

News Sources Pull Switch on Reporter

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON—An unnerving thing happened just before 6 a.m. Thursday at the Pentagon.

A correspondent whose New York morning paper had kept its presses cocked all night, ready to absorb costly overtime in order to get any startling information from the Defense Department, had stayed awake all night practically on the laps of four top information officers.

From those four would flow all word about interceptions of Russian freighters, the firing of the first shots, perhaps even the announcement that some out in Cuba shot an atomic missile and thus brought about the Strategic Air Command's attack on the Soviet Union.

Well, just before 6 o'clock, all four officers leaped from their chairs and hurried down a Pentagon corridor. The correspondent raced breathlessly after them.

"What's up, men?" he shouted excitedly.

"Colonel Zileh's office has a television set; we want to hear the news," one said.

It was generally a bad day for the scores of newsmen who are here at this customary fount of information covering the crisis.

There was a lot of news Thursday, but it came out of the U.N., Moscow, New York City, the Vatican and other places.

At the White House, Pentagon and State Department, hardly a mimeograph machine whirled. Official spokesmen were struck dumb.

The hardest news came not from the President or Defense Secretary McNamara but from Congressmen Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, Victor Anfuso of New York and New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes.

They were among those half a dozen regional groups of congressmen and governors "briefed" on the situation by Defense Department people during the day.

They do not appear to have to conform with the quasi-censorship which the White House and Pentagon have put on the press, radio and TV.

Trusting a newsworthy secret to a congressman who is running for office—to paraphrase and old Russian proverb—is like sending a rabbit to guard the cabbage patch.

Add Clouded Crystal Balls: "President Kennedy, on his barnstorming tours, keeps being told by his aides:

Bear down on pocketbook issues. Forget talk about foreign policy. Forget Cuba—it's really far down on the list of issues that will count."

At what point does a cargo stop being "defensive" and become "offensive"?

Petroleum apparently has been declared "defensive," but it could be refined into fuel for Castro's

MIGS and medium jet bombers, and help get his missiles off their pads, move his tanks, trucks, etc.

We once sold the broken down and rusty Sixth Avenue subway to Japan, and they hit us on the head at Pearl Harbor with bits of it, retooled.

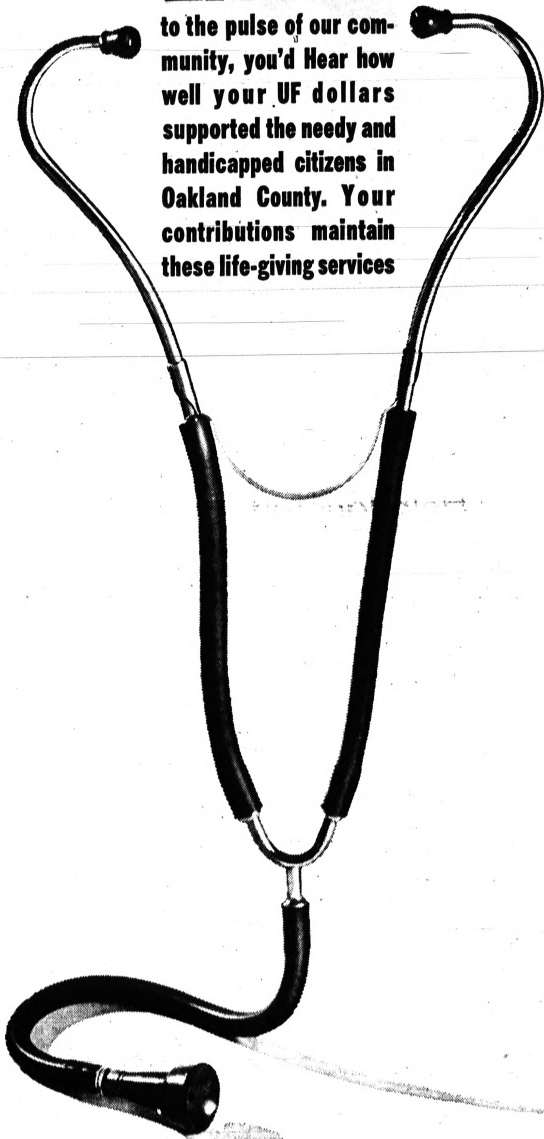

We sold them shiploads of cotton, and they made gunpowder out of it.

A Russian ship filled with Spam might, under certain circumstances, be considered dangerous if it reached hungry troops and "technicians."

Ambassador Stevenson was at a great disadvantage when he tried to make Ambassador Zorin admit he was lying about those Soviet missiles in Cuba.

William S. Broomfield Best Qualified for Post

In the upcoming Nov. 6 election Oakland County residents will be voting for a member of the House of Representatives from the 18th District.

Candidates seeking the post are Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, R-Royal Oak, and GEORGE J. FULKERSON, D-Bloomfield Township.

With the world BROOMFIELD crises as they are, careful selection is needed in all government posts to assure us experienced leadership. During the six years that BROOMFIELD has served as congressman his record speaks for itself.

His colleagues thought enough of his qualifications and ability to appoint him to the important Foreign Affairs Committee on which he now serves. His work with this group on matters affecting all of us has been outstanding.

When it comes to serving his constituents and growing Oakland County in particular, we can personally attest to BROOMFIELD's effectiveness.

He has worked tirelessly against government waste and has spent untold hours working for some type of controls (strings) on foreign aid.

This newspaper feels that his experience is valuable for the people of the 18th District. His opponent, GEORGE FULKERSON, is an able attorney, but we do not feel that his qualifications are convincing enough to make him a better candidate.

With so much formidable work facing the new Congress we recommend returning Congressman BROOMFIELD to office.

UF Goal Is Challenge -- Let's Strive to Meet It

The Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign is now under way and progressing nicely. If we are to maintain the record of recent years in making the goal, there must be a strong response in the next few days.

Successes of the last several years not only have provided the funds needed for the worthy services maintained, but have signified the responsive hearts of the citizens of our area.

Backing this once-a-year drive is to your benefit. It assures you that you will not be approached throughout the year for more money by any of the United Fund agencies.

The challenge is a strong one. It should be met.

Specific Rules a Must Before Summit Session

Pressure for a summit meeting over Cuba continues to build up. It appears quite evident that Soviet Premier KHRUSHCHEV is angling to hold such a parley.

The fact that on Oct. 24 he asked for a "top-level meeting" is significant of his intentions. Actually, there is a great deal of sentiment in this country favoring some such get-together. A recent advertisement in the New York Times carried the names of 450 faculty members of universities and colleges suggesting a meeting between the two chiefs of state at the earliest possible date.

Unquestionably, in this nuclear age it is unthinkable to shoot it out. It would seem reasonable to expect that sooner or later KENNEDY and KHRUSHCHEV must talk it out.

The ground rules for summitry talks must be enforced if any solid gain can be expected. In the past, Khrushchev met twice with Eisenhower, and a third talk was called off. He took a rather dim view of the results from such meetings.

The KENNEDY administration insists on some prerequisites which would make it possible for some accomplishment if such summit sessions were held.

President Kennedy is absolutely right in asking that certain conditions be followed before any top-level talks get under way. If Khrushchev and the Soviets will not agree on important points before a talk, a summit meeting might only add fuel to the fire.

Should a summit fail it could add to tensions rather than reduce them.

Operation on Heart

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
"Don't eat too much breakfast--you're going to see an operation," was the word passed out in advance of one of the sessions of an Associated Press meeting in Minneapolis attended by Press Managing Editor Harry J. Reed.

The operation turned out to be a filmed presentation of open heart surgery--not exactly a tranquilizing spectacle for laymen.

During the showing, after five doughty newsmen had passed out, a weak appeal was heard, "Is there a doctor in the house?" There was--but he wasn't immediately available... was pretty busy running the projector at the moment!

The MAT hears that a Purple Heart was awarded to each of the Fearless Five who reeled under exposure to the human heart.

My good friend from Clarkson Glenn Randall president of Pontiac Optimist Club, believes in striking while the iron's hot. In fact, if the iron cools a bit before the strike, he's one, with his enthusiasm, to hit it up a little.

But the iron was still smoking when he dropped in a few days ago, after seeing column reference to the OPTIMIST'S CREED, published by the National Do-Not Institute. Not to be outdone, he presented a miniature plaque bearing THE OPTIMIST CREED of his INTERNATIONAL organization.

The creed is such a fine exposition of weekday philosophy, conducive to inner peace and enjoyment that it is offered here:

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind... To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet... To make all your friends feel that there is something in them... To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and expect only the best... To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own... To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile... To give so much to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others... To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, too happy to permit presence of trouble.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

Joseph Smith, founder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, taught by the example of his life -- and death -- the lesson of perseverance in faith.

From a nucleus of Smith and five others, the Latter-day Saints (or Mormons, as they are more generally known) have grown in 132 years to a denomination of 1,647,524. Before they found a home in Utah, the Mormons were driven from Ohio, Illinois and Missouri. It was at Nauvoo, Ill., that Joseph Smith was killed by those who thought his teachings strange.

There is an old saying that the blood of martyrs is the seed of the church. Rising above the adversity and cruelty that beset them at every turn, the followers of Joseph Smith today form one of the most highly respected religious groups in America.

Misinformed About Halloween?

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

It is perfectly natural to assume that Halloween (All Hallows Eve) draws its character, as it does its name, from the day it precedes. Halloween is the night before the Christian Church honors all its saints, known and unknown. Therefore, anyone would say, the superstitions about the dead roaming the earth on Oct. 31 must be directly connected with Nov. 1 -- All Saints' Day.

The fact is that the Druids probably have a lot more to do with Wednesday's activities than Christianity does. A night like Halloween was going on long before Christianity.

Furthermore, this pre-Christian night of roaming spirits was always around the first of November, whereas All Saints' Day, when the Christians finally did bring it into existence, was set for May 13. When Christianity moved it to November 1, it did not create a night of revelry, it merely found one already going, and going strong.

Really, now, when you think about it, what possible reason could there be for saints to get out and tear things up on the night before the Church solemnly and affectionately commemorates them? Such behavior is not consistent with either the occasion or the nature of saints.

From the Druid point of view, a night of chaos and destruction would not be surprising. They believed in the transmigration of souls and they believed that on this night, Saman, the Lord of Death, called together all the wicked souls that had for the past twelve months been confined to the bodies of animals.

Considering that these suddenly released souls were wicked in the first place, and that they had been pent up in the bodies of dogs, cats, pigs, etc., for a whole year, one certainly might expect some kind of explosion when they were all turned loose.

Certainly it is the Druid idea rather than anything remotely Christian that sets the tone of Halloween.

SOME SUPERSTITIONS
Here are some Halloween superstitions. It is hard to believe, but completely true, that people once took these ideas seriously:

Any child born on Halloween will, through his childhood and youth, be able to communicate with spirits.

Some of the wraiths who wander abroad are not the ghosts of the dead but the spirits of living persons who have the power to leave their bodies.

All the souls in Purgatory are released for forty-eight hours. They are thus free for two nights. This is plainly an association of the Druid and Christian notions, a strange confusion of Purgatory and the Druid transfer of human souls to the bodies of animals.

NOT CHRISTIAN
Do you see anything Christian in all this? In all honesty, your columnist sees little connection between All Saints', or All Hallows' Day, and the Eve that precedes it.

Two things can happen at the crossroads on Wednesday night: one is that if you listen to the wind there, it will whisper to you all the important things that will happen in your life during the year to come.

The other is that if you will sit there on a three-legged stool while the church clock strikes twelve you will hear the bell distinctly pronounce the names of all those parishioners who are to die within the year. It would be pretty hard to fulfill the necessary conditions nowadays, if you live in, for example, New York.

To insure the fertility of your fields in the next growing season, you should walk all the way around your farm, carrying a lighted torch.

Washington Notebook:

Progress Is Needed for Alliance

WASHINGTON (NEA) -- Latin American diplomats' diagnosis of what's wrong with the Alliance for Progress is that it has too much alliance and not enough progress.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, speaking at a background briefing for newsmen, was giving reporters the ground rules for quoting him. Nothing could be attributed to him, he said, but only to "an American official."

Then with a wry grin he explained that he was embarrassed last year after a similar conference when he watched a television report which, in careful compliance with the rules, quoted an unnamed "high official." But all the time they were quoting him, said Rusk, "they showed a big picture of me on the screen, behind the newscaster. This," said the secretary somewhat sheepishly, "was not quite what we had in mind."

U.S. Ambassador-at-large Llewellyn E. Thompson, just returned to Washington after five years in Moscow, reports that the Russians now are allowed to show a little sense of humor.

One story told is about Nikita Khrushchev on an inspection trip to Novocherkassk, where there were recent food price riots.

Voice of the People:

'Important for Americans to Support the President'

We should be thankful we live in a country where we can say what we think without fear. We should all do our part and stand behind our leader. It isn't the Cuban people who want war, but the leaders of their country. And if our country was under communism, we wouldn't have any say in the matter either.

'Petitioned Against Proposed Bar'

A majority of people living within a block of a proposed bar signed a petition against it. It was passed by the commission 6 to 1. Since the owner of the building owns property on either side and behind the bar, his lawyer and the intended owner of the bar claimed the people within 500 feet were for it. Our homes border this property, yet we had nothing to say about it. We are the ones who will have to put up with the drunks.

Six of these commissioners don't live in District 4. Let's see how they vote when someone puts a bar in their district.

Demerol and Morphine Both Bring Addiction

Pains in chest. Demerol by injection is the only relief. Desperately need your view... (E. F. K.)

Ans. -- Demerol is virtually morphine. I consider it more likely to produce addiction than a morphine is.

I wrote you several weeks ago expressing surprise that you endorse fluoridation of municipal water supplies.

I pointed out the Communist support behind it. (D. E. G.)

Ans. -- That's ridiculous.

I took advantage of your advice on the iodine ration 18 years ago and it has kept me in fine health ever since. (J. S.)

Ans. -- Most people, living in the Great Lakes region, would probably benefit from it. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for "The Iodine Ration."

Please recommend the best means of removing hair from the legs... (Miss R. D.)

Ans. -- Mix two teaspoons of fresh barium sulfide with three teaspoons of zinc oxide and three teaspoons of cornstarch.

Moisten this with water to make a paste. Apply to hairy surface and allow to remain 10 minutes -- or less time if any burning sensation. Scrape off paste and hairs with smooth wooden blade, and wash skin with several rinsings of warm water. Some women prefer simple shaving with safety razor. Every girl to her taste.

When a drunk is converted to sobriety or abstinance, is the chromosome changed before or in consequence of his reform? (M. P.)

Ans. -- I'm afraid I wouldn't know a chromosome if I met one.

Signed letters, not more than one per column, are welcome pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not discreditable to the profession, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Richard Nixon recently revealed he had not believed in polls, ever since 1948.

What shook his faith more than anything was that in the 1960 campaign a well-known pollster predicted that Ohio, California, and some other states would go Democratic -- which they didn't. Nixon's main quarrel with the pollster, says Morgan, is: "The only thing he was right about was the final analysis."

Federal Aviation Administrator Najeab Halaby was introduced at a luncheon recently as, "The man with a new nickname -- 'Hot Water Halaby'."

Another man given a new Washington nickname is first Boston Corp. President George D. Woods, who is being mentioned as a possible successor to retiring International Bank President Eugene R. Black. In memory of the New Hampshire conference where the so-called World Bank was dreamed up, its next possible head is being called "Bretton" Woods.

Northern Rhodesia's Election to Be Extremely Complicated

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)— Nearly 130,000 black and white voters will cast ballots Tuesday in Northern Rhodesia's first general elections.

The elections are aimed at setting this British protectorate in central Africa on its way to independence, and they are complicated.

For weeks, government information officers have traveled along dirt roads and bush paths to explain to largely illiterate villagers an electoral system that would baffle even the most sophisticated democracies.

First they have explained who qualifies for the upper roll of voters and who for the lower roll, depending on income, educational standards and social position.

Then they have illustrated how one-third of the elected seats in the new legislative council are to be filled on the basis of a multi-racial vote.

They have done this with colorful posters, symbols and films shown in village meeting halls, churches and canteens.

Finally, this picture has emerged: the general elections will fill 45 seats. Upper and lower roll voters will send 15 members each to the legislature. That will mean, in effect, 15 Europeans, supported by mostly white upper-roll voters, and 15 Africans who will represent the all-African lower-roll voters.

MULTIRACIALISM

But to ensure that the new legislative council would not be formed on the basis of a straight racial contest, the British government introduced multiracial constituencies.

For the purpose of multiracialism, the country has been divided into seven constituencies yielding two legislators each.

To be elected in a "national" constituency, a white candidate must poll 10 per cent of the African roll plus 20 per cent of the upper, or largely white, roll. The opposite applies to an African candidate.

This procedure adds 14 "national" members to the council. In addition, one Asian member is elected from a simple majority of the registered Asian voters.

Introduction of the multiracial or "national" constituencies means that the elections will be a test in race relations. Or at least, British constitutional experts meant it to be that way. But observers on the spot think it will be physically impossible for either an African or a European to win 20 per cent of his own roll and still get 10 per cent of the opposite roll.

NO CONTEST?

If the national seats are not filled, by-elections will have to be held to break the impasse. If that fails, a new election might have to be held under a more workable system.

Despite the danger that the election will be a "no contest" affair, the new system gives the territory a considerably enlarged parliamentary system.

The present legislative council—dominated by the white liberal party of Sir John Moffat—has 22 elected members, six official members and two nominated members, for a total of 30.

The new council will have 55 members, of whom 45 are to be elected, the others named by the government.

The plan has convinced the leader of Northern Rhodesia's main African party, Kenneth Kaunda, to take part in the contest.

As a leader whose basic political principle is "one man one vote" Kaunda thinks the present electoral system—which gives 7,000 whites pari with 2.34 million Africans—falls short of what he considers democracy.

But his United National Independence party (UNIP) is already the largest political organization in the country and he feels that UNIP should have parliamentary standing in the coming crucial fight to break up the Central African Federation.

U Thant Gets Wires Backing Cuba Position

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— Acting Secretary-General U Thant has received more than 600 communications from the public in the past two days, mostly backing his efforts to ease the Cuban crisis by negotiations.

U. N. sources said a substantial majority of the messages came from inside the United States, but that there also were cables from many other countries, including Germany and the Soviet Union.

Apes Fight Cold War in Frisco Zoo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sack cloth on orangutans? Not only that, the big apes in the zoo are fighting a cold war.

Power to three-fourths of the zoo's orangutans has been out since Tuesday, and officials report it will be several weeks before the deteriorated underground cables are repaired.

Meanwhile the gorillas, chimpanzees, and particularly the orangutans, are in danger of colds and pneumonia with power off to their electrically heated cages.

Warnings of layoffs, sent out earlier this week to the CPR's 60,000 employees, also were nullified, he said.

The settlement was reached at 2:45 a.m., between the CPR and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, following 14 hours of negotiations.

To Spend Week at Camp

Outing Set for Waterford Students

Despite the frigid weather, a group of over 100 youngsters from three Waterford Township elementary schools are looking forward to a week-long outing at the Waterloo Recreation Area near Chelsea.

The delegation of sixth graders from Drayton Plains, Houghton and Montclair schools will start on the trip tomorrow.

Their camp activities will include soil study, arts and crafts, geology and nature study, among others.

They will be the third of eight groups of sixth graders to take part in the school system's outdoor education program.

More than 800 youngsters will have participated by the end of next month.

One of the highlights of the week in camp is the Wednesday visit of Sgt. David Putnam and Detective Arthur Holmes of the Waterford Township police force who demonstrate the use of firearms in the course of conducting a general safety program.

TO FIRE RIFLES
After hearing about weapons utilized in law enforcement, each youngster is given the opportunity to fire a .22 caliber rifle.

Other regular camp visitors include a Conservation Department forester and experts on fish and wildlife.

Organized just three years ago by Charles H. Welsh, principal at Jayno Adams Elementary School, the educational program has expanded rapidly. Last year only five of the district's 24 elementary schools participated.

This fall 10 are taking part.

Though the children are roughing it during the day, they enjoy all the comforts of home when they retire to their cozy cabins in the evening.

A team of 10 teachers and two cooks accompanies each group for the week in camp.

"We did not even discuss the matter in cabinet," Erkin said.

Cases of measles and whooping cough in one recent year were almost 50 per cent greater than a year before, but the death rate was low.

Ford Cardinal Abandoned Because of High Costs

By BEN PELIGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT — With 323 models of the 1963 cars already on display it is sometimes difficult to remember that the one car which in Louisville, Ky., generated the most advance interest was not introduced. This was the Cardinal, which was to be a small-size Ford with a Volkswagen price tag built under go.

Then in April it was suddenly, but very officially, killed. "After long and serious consideration," said Chairman Henry Ford II in a formal announcement, "and as a result of market conditions and other factors, it has been decided not to produce such a car in the United States this year."

"This decision in no way affects plans our European companies, Ford of Britain and Ford of Germany, may have under consideration."

The British and German affiliates went right ahead and their cars are now on the market. But there has been no indication of a change of heart in Dearborn as far as American production is concerned.

In fact, at the company's annual meeting, Henry Ford eliminated all reference to "this year" and said flatly the domestic Cardinal project had been abandoned.

While Ford specifically cited market conditions, the most basic reason was cost. The company couldn't get the costs down to anything like the Volkswagen range and still sell the car at a profit.

COST TOO HIGH
Louisville sources suspected this right along. Some observers there thought Ford might change its mind when the steel price rise failed to stick. The Cardinal was killed officially just one day after United States Steel announced its intention to raise prices. Ford refused comment but it was said unofficially that costs already were out of line. Ford apparently is getting its money's worth out of the Americans Abroad Behave Much Better

NEW YORK (UPI) — The much-maligned American traveler overseas has found a defender, and one who knows of what he speaks.

Just back from Europe, Joyce C. Hall, observed:

"I was impressed with the difference in the way people (Americans) handle themselves in Europe—today—compared to 15 years ago. They are behaving more like good ambassadors."

Hall, who is chairman of the executive committee of People-to-People, was quite pleased with what he found, relating, as it does, some of the "Ugly American" complex that has grown up about the behavior of traveling Americans in foreign lands.

People-to-People, a non-governmental, nonpolitical and nonprofit organization with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., is the outgrowth of the movement started by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956 to encourage contact between Americans and people overseas in the cause of better understanding and peace.

AMBASSADORS
More plain Americans behaving as goodwill ambassadors on and individual basis is one of the principal People-to-People goals. Some 30 midwestern college students went to Europe this past summer — at their own expense — as just such ambassadors.

The first stop was West Berlin, and then they split into groups large and small, traveling through 19 nations meeting other students and just the plain people.

Two Kansas University boys hitch-hiked, some went by car, others on motorcycles or bicycles. It all grew out of People-to-People on campus, which started in Kansas and has spread to 800 schools.

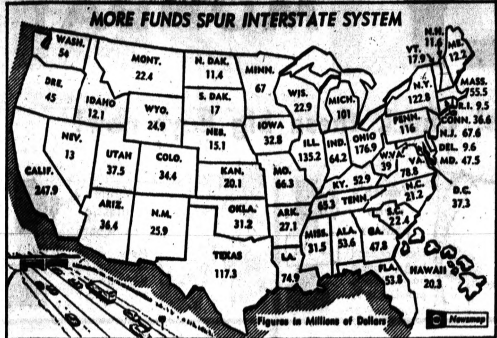

There are just as many opportunities for individual travelers to meet and get to know the people of the countries they are visiting — and it's really the only way to get the full flavor and enjoyment out of a foreign land.

Hall has a simple solution for visitors to a city or country which does not have such a program.

"If you're a newspaperman, go to the newspaper office. If you're a bricklayer, look up a bricklayer. If you're a teacher, go to

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Claude D. Souder Jr. will take a vacation, if the mosquitoes will let him. Souder, director of the Broward County antimosquito district, asked county commissioners for annual leave, "provided the mosquitoes are not plentiful at that date."

ANOTHER BOOST FOR INTERSTATE SYSTEM — The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads will pump $2.54 billion into the Interstate Highway System during the year beginning July 1, 1963. Federal aid allocations are announced early to enable states to plan projects in advance and come up with their 10 per cent share of the costs. Newspaper shows funds allotted each state by the roads bureau for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

Junior Editors Quiz on RADIO

QUESTION: You turn a dial and get different radio stations. How is this?

ANSWER: A performer sings into a microphone at a broadcasting station. Her voice makes sound waves which move at 750 miles an hour, but the "mike" turns these into electric radio waves which are broadcast from the station's sending antenna at 186,282 miles a second.

Your radio picks up these waves with its receiving antenna, which is usually built into the set. Radio waves have different "wave lengths." Each station is allowed to send out signals of only one wave length. Signals of many wave lengths crowd into your radio's "tuner." This tuner has sets of metal plates, some of which swing down between the others without touching.

When the dial is turned so that a larger area of these plates are meshed together, the radio becomes tuned to the lower wave lengths coming in; with less meshing, to high ones.

Each adjustment tunes the radio to a different wave length, so that only one station's signals can come through and be converted back into sound.

FOR YOU TO DO: After tuning, the average house radio sends the signals through five tubes before they are ready to go to the loudspeaker and be changed into sound waves. See if you can find out the job each tube has to do.

Mail Registration Forms for Halloween Contest

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has mailed 22,000 registration forms to schools in the Pontiac School District for the annual Halloween Mystery Treat Contest.

The contest is sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce to encourage youngsters to be home at a respectable hour Halloween night.

Some 165 prizes have been furnished by Jaycees for next Wednesday night.

In addition, the parks department has set the citywide Meet and Treat hour for 6:30 p.m. It is cooperating with various Parent-Teacher Association and community groups in conducting parties for youths at city schools.

"To be eligible to participate in the contest," said Leonard T. Buzz, recreation supervisor, elementary boys and girls must be home by 9 p.m."

WILL DRAW NAMES
At that time, Jaycees will draw from the registrations, names of pupils which will be phoned. If the children who are called are home, they will win a prize.

The same procedure will be followed for junior high school pupils at 10:30 p.m. and for senior high pupils at 11.

In the elementary division prizes will be a bicycle, first place and a radio, second place. For the older age groups first place prize is a wrist watch and second place, a pen and pencil set.

Third place in each age group is five silver dollars. In addition, there will be three winners of $1 each for every elementary school.

The major prizes will be delivered Wednesday night. Individual school winners will get their prizes the following day.

Home owners are requested to put on their porch lights so that children may know which homes they are welcome at for the Meet and Treat hour. "We urge all parents to encourage their youngsters who participate in the program to

Vows to Whip Reds

Chiang Still 'Fighting'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek turns 78 next Wednesday still clinging to his promise that he personally will lead his Chinese nationalists into a battle to the finish with the Communists.

Chiang has a 600,000-man army, a fleet of 140 ships and an undisclosed number of U. S. built jet aircraft.

The Navy includes destroyers, destroyer escorts, min-sweepers and frigates. The Air Force mostly flies subsonic F-86 fighters but has some F-101 and F-104 fighter-bombers.

Chiang's army was equipped by the United States where objective was to mold a strong defensive force to contain possible Communist aggression. That defensive force includes Nike-Hercules defensive missiles.

Nationalist military men concede it would be difficult to invade the mainland shores. They have no amphibious landing craft.

Going by air would be the alternative but that would be difficult because of a shortage of transport aircraft.

Moreover, the nationalists would have to rely largely on the United States for supplies for a full-scale attack on the mainland. And the U. S. has given no sign of encouraging such an attack.

HINGES ON REVOLT

Chiang's hope of going back to mainland however hinges on a mass revolt there.

In his speeches he does not ask for outside help in his "sacred" mission of recovering the mainland. He says his troops will bear the brunt of an attack and that any outside support will be welcome.

But in his "Double Tenth" anniversary speech last Oct. 10 he made it clear that the decisive help would have to come from the Chinese people themselves.

He told them in broadcasts beamed at the mainland, "Farm implements, tools, clubs and sticks, spears and pickaxes, even firewood, all are weapons with which to fight the Communists."

He promised, "I personally shall lead our anti-Communist people and our armed forces in Taiwan, Penghu (the Pescadores), Kinmen and Matsu in a united movement against the Chinese Communists."

And he said, "The Chinese Communist slogan is, 'excepting comrades, all are our enemies.' Ours, on the other hand, is 'excepting enemies, all are our comrades.'"

Chiang Kai-shek today appears in good health, apparently recovered from a prostate gland operation last May that kept him pretty much out of public view all summer. He looked fit and active during the Double Tenth celebrations.

SERVING AS PRESIDENT

He is now serving his third six-year term as president. The term expires in 1965.

His successor, both logically and constitutionally, is Vice President Chen Cheng.

But Chen, at 64, has been in poor health since more than half his stomach was removed surgically 10 years ago.

Anting is one of nature's strangest mysteries. A bird, clutching an ant in its bill, contorts itself to stroke the insect against wing and tail feathers. The bird seems to experience an almost trancelike ecstasy.

Reception at Woman's Club Follows W. Virginia Nuptials

A reception in the Woman's Club, Charleston, W. Va., followed the nuptials of Laura Jean McMillon and James McMillan Roche today in the Sacred Heart Church, Charleston. Rev. T. Edward Murray performed the morning ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the A. L. McMillons, Summersville, W. Va., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Roche, Bloomfield Hills.

The bride chose a deep ivory gown of Alencon lace and peau de soie and silk tulle veil fitted to a matching lace cap. She held a cascade of cream roses and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Carroll T. Lay of Summersville attended her niece as honor matron with the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. James Quinlan, Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Joseph K. Carter, Weirton, W. Va., who were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of moss green brocade and carried yellow roses.

On the square side, were brothers of the bride couple, Douglas Roche, Cambridge, Mass., best man, and Edward McMillon, Morgantown, W. Va., who ushered with F. Alger Boyer, Grossette, N. Y. Frank Perbanda, Detroit and Bernard Rizzo, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Silver-gray sheer wool and lace was Mrs. McMillon's selection for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in champagne peau de soie.

The bride is an alumna of West Virginia University. Mr. Roche was graduated from Holy Cross College, Harvard University Law School and Georgetown University Graduate Law School. After a Mexican wedding trip, they will live in Chicago.

Laura Jean McMillon, daughter of the A. L. McMillons, Summersville, W. Va. and James McMillan Roche, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Roche, Bloomfield Hills, were wed today in Sacred Heart Church, Charleston, W. Va.

Ends 1st MSUO Symposium

Pianist Heeds Tradition

By RALPH HUMMEL. Tradition had the last word when the first Arts Symposium of Michigan State University Oakland ended Friday evening.

The word was spoken on the keyboard by Gyorgy Sandor an ascetic pianist with a lean touch, appearing at Pontiac Northern High School's large auditorium. Sandor's sober and controlled playing reproached the whizzbang kids cavorting at keyboards in today's American concert halls.

RESPECTS INTENT

Sandor's respect for a composer's intent conquers any desire to shoot off manual fireworks merely for show, what comes out is music. It's good music — well interpreted, well controlled and well received.

A dedication to each composer's formal is Sandor's basic pattern.

This became quickly apparent in Beethoven's Sonata in E-flat Major, Opus 7. After hints in the initial Allegro, Sandor settled down to a sparse and classic approach clearly evident in the Largo.

Bursts of color took on a clear but sparkling outline. Threads of subtlety ran finely defined. The tempo showed restraint and patience.

Control and fast-fingered technique were well combined in Capriccio in B Minor, Opus 76, one of three small works of Brahms presented.

CONTROL, IMAGINATION In Liszt's sonata, "After a Lecture by Dante," control and imagination lived in peaceful coexistence yielding an exciting rendition.

Chopin's Fantasy in F Minor, Opus 49, gave an opportunity for sharp attacks correctly applied and lyrical rendition tempered by restraint.

Works by Bartok, Debussy and Scriabin rounded off the evening.

At Showers, Parties

To Fete Bride-to-Be

Joan Elizabeth Lang, daughter of the Samuel J. Langs, Bloomfield Hills, who will exchange vows with John Kemper Cannon Nov. 17 in a home ceremony, has added several parties to her bridal calendar.

Mrs. Arthur E. Moore, Royal Oak, and Mrs. Walter Gehrke, Pleasant Ridge, have planned an "around the clock" shower and luncheon, Friday, in the Orchard Lake Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Durham Jr. and the junior J. A. Frosts, have scheduled a supper party on Saturday at the First home in Birmingham.

A kitchen shower and luncheon on Nov. 7 in the Detroit Golf Club will be given by Mrs. Charles E. Letts, Pleasant Ridge, and her daughter, Mrs. Edson K. Pool of Bloomfield Township.

Today's cohostesses at a linen shower and luncheon in the Bloomfield Hills Country Club are Mrs. Gordon Robertson and daughter Joan of Birmingham. William Raisch of Ann Arbor was host at a recent dinner-party honoring Miss Lang and her fiancé. The Earl Cannons of Birmingham, parents of the future bridegroom, will give the rehearsal dinner Nov. 16 in the Village Woman's Club.

Garden Unit Sets Meeting

Members of the Waterford Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden, will attend a business meeting at 11 o'clock Thursday preceding luncheon in Ted's Restaurant.

They will then visit the Morris Greenhouse in Troy for a demonstration on Christmas decorations for the home.

Wed today in St. William's Church, Walled Lake, were Ann Reynolds Churchill, daughter of the Leslie C. Churchills, Orchard Lake, to James E. Taylor, son of the J. L. Taylors, Walled Lake.

MRS. JAMES E. TAYLOR

Taylor-Churchill Vows

Marry at Noon

A breakfast-reception in Devon Gables followed the vows of Ann Reynolds Churchill to James E. Taylor spoken before Rev. Raymond E. Jones at noon today in St. Williams Church, Walled Lake.

Medallions of re-embroidered Chantilly lace enhanced a gown of ivory peau de soie for the daughter of the Leslie C. Churchills of Orchard Lake. Her semibell skirt of unpressed pleats extended into a chapel train. She wore an organza petal head piece, French silk illusion veil and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Mrs. Ronald MacLean of Marietta, matron of honor, and Mrs. Bill Willis, Waterford and Katherine Gugel, Orchard Lake, who were bridesmaids, wore flamingo satin dresses. They carried carnations in shades of flamingo.

Richard Taylor of Kingman, Ariz., stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the J. L. Taylors, Walled Lake. Seating guests were Lloyd C. Churchills and William Mohr, both of Walled Lake.

The couple will live in the Heritage Apartments, Walled Lake after a honeymoon in Biloxi, New Orleans and the Smoky Mountains.

Absolves Sorrowing Friend of Blame for Man's Death

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN. DEAR ABBY: I work in a store and became friendly with a customer who used to confide in me. One day he told me he was in love with a beautiful, wonderful girl and was going to marry her.

When he brought her into the store for me to meet, I was dumbfounded. She was beautiful, but far from wonderful. I had known this girl for years and she had a terrible past.

Thinking she might have changed, I offered my best wishes and said nothing. He married her and she had not changed.

My friend discovered it too late and he took his own life. I feel that I am responsible because had I told him the truth he might not have married her. I failed him, Abby, and my heart is heavy with guilt.

DEAR J.: Perhaps he would have married her anyway.

You did what you thought was right at the time. Do not blame yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Our son attends College Park High School. His girl friend attends Pleasant Hill. College Park plays Pleasant Hill for their homecoming game. Does our son sit on the girl's side or should she sit on his side?

CONFUSED

SID: Confused: Your son sits with his classmates, and his date sits with him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 13-year-old stepson whose table manners are revolting! His father yells at me if I correct him or criticize him in any way.

The worst part of it is that his father doesn't even notice how dirty the boy's hands are.

The boy goes a whole day without washing them. He plays with the dog and then comes right to the dinner table. Please advise. MRS. X.

a stepson or of your own blood and bone. He should be taught cleanliness. Announce that everyone must clean hands or he can eat alone. And stick to it. . . if YOU have to eat by yourself in the kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: I think our postal service is disgusting. My father has ordered several things through the mail and when they arrive they are either bent, broken or cracked. Several people in our neighborhood have the same complaint.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't blame the postal system. Packages must be properly WRAPPED in order to be delivered in good condition.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

No Calorie Counting

Planned Meals Ease Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When a woman wants to lose weight I think it is easier for her to follow planned meals than to count calories herself. On the reducing diet the calories have already been counted for her. All she has to do is to stick to the menus.

The efficiency of such a diet is even greater when it gives her a rapid loss of a few pounds. That is why I sometimes offer short reducing diets in my column.

You will discover that you can have great variety on the reducing diet. You do not have to live on cottage cheese and lettuce leaves, although these are excellent foods.

You will discover that it is mostly a question of smaller quantities, no in-between snacking and a new way of preparing foods. Fried foods must be forgotten for the time being. Lemon juice and herbs are a big help as are the low calorie foods on the market.

Here are the menus

If you are following my trick and treat diet this week:

BREAKFAST

Three-fourths cup dry cereal

Two teaspoons sugar

One-half banana, sliced

Black coffee

LUNCHEON

Salad (12 5-inch asparagus spears, cut in pieces. Two hard cooked eggs and six green olives cut in pieces. Two or three tablespoons tomato dressing)

Two Rye-Krings

Eight ounces skim milk

DINNER

Four ounces of baked fish (broiled with just a touch of olive oil flavored with angostura bitters, plus a little lemon juice)

Two-thirds cup spinach (flavor this with a sprinkling of savory, or vinegar)

One small baked potato

One orange

Here are the menus for tomorrow:

BREAKFAST

One-half grapefruit, one teaspoon sugar

One slice toast, very lightly buttered

Two slices crisp bacon

Coffee, one teaspoon sugar

DINNER

Consomme with parsley

Celery and carrot sticks

One-half medium broiler (one to one-half pound chicken or one good slice roasted chicken)

One medium baked potato seasoned with salt and parsley

One-half cup cole slaw

Peaches, two halves, one tablespoon syrup

SUPPER

Egg omelet (with one teaspoon butter)

Eight ounces skim milk

Three satines

If you would like to have this

Reducing is easier if you follow planned meals—like the ones being offered in Josephine Lowman's trick or treat diet.

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you attend the "Antique, Art and Treasures" show at Temple Beth Jacob any time between Oct. 28-30, you will be able to enjoy some unusual foods.

Mrs. Irving Steinman who is a superb cook has been making Matzo Ball Soup for the occasion. She shares her recipe with our readers today.

This soup freezes very well, Mrs. Steinman says.

MATZO BALL SOUP

By Mrs. Irving Steinman

chicken soup

2 jumbo size eggs

salt and pepper

dash of garlic powder

1/2 cup matzo meal

Beat eggs very light. Add seasonings and beat in matzo meal gradually. The mixture must not be too thick or you will have hard little matzo balls.

Wet your palms with ice water. Using a dessert spoon of dough, roll it into a ball and add to boiling chicken soup. This amount of dough will make 10-14 balls.

Cook from 30-40 minutes. The longer cooking won't spoil the dish. If the company or your husband are late, don't worry.

Turners Make Living Easy

SANCTUARY VIEW — This is a favorite spot of the charming Mrs. Turner as she gazes out on a panorama of hills, woods and Lake Gilbert. Wildlife seem to know they will be protected because of their profusion. The huge plate glass window is framed with greenery inside and out, giving the big sprawling house a feeling of summer when its well into fall and winter.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A bit of wild northern Michigan infolds one of the most secluded and smallest subdivisions in the state, just 1,000 yards off busy Telegraph Road in Bloomfield Hills.

"God's Garden." That's what the Harold P. Turners call their 42 acres of hills and woods near Lone Pine Road which up until now has never been photographed for publication by any newspaper.

Turner, modern-design architect who was associated with Frank Lloyd Wright for more than 12 years, is a quiet, modest man who has been determined to maintain complete privacy in his personal life.

This he has achieved to the nth degree by creating the tiny subdivision known as the Organic Homes Building Corporation. Only four cut stone and virgin wood homes blend into the rolling hillsides. Three of them are Turner's creations and the other designed by his one-time assistant.

Plate glass that extends as high as 16 feet seems to be buried in the indoor-outdoor planters. Because of identical planting of shrubs and vines, it takes concentrated scrutiny to tell where the vast flow of greenery begins and ends.

A winding drive ends in the spacious Turner carport. Everything seems to have a breath-taking openness that is so characteristic of the Wright design. Turner's own studio on the top level overlooking private Lake Gilbert is the area where he creates not only beautiful sweeping houses, but does modern sculpture and oil paintings.

Wide carpeted stairs lead down to 15-year old Donna Turner's hobby-spot-bedroom. Farther down is the gigantic living area with two floor-to-ceiling cut stone fireplaces — stones acquired on the property.

Big comfortable chairs and sofas arranged for easy living abound. One-quarter inch thick plate glass windows that bring the outdoors right inside are everywhere. Delicate green vines — heavy with healthy foliage — start in the floor planter and extend up over the windows and onto the ceiling.

Where the carpeting ends, soft colored slate flooring begins — easy to clean — delightful to see. This same slate seems to walk right through the plate glass onto an enormous terrace that resembles a huge balcony overlooking the lake.

Every one of the Turner-designed houses has its own tiny greenhouse. All have the slate flooring, the thick plate glass (storm glass unnecessary) and the non-conforming plans lacking in many present day houses.

There is no upkeep in Turner's homes. Glass, brick walls and swamp cypress from Florida do not need attention. They improve with age. There are few doors. Tiny semi-circular brick halls are so arranged that strictest privacy prevails. Steps up, steps down, each bedroom with a private bath and small sun porches. Hexagon shaped fireplaces, open rooms and slant-up ceilings are all symbolic of these great homes.

The 40 sheep and 2,000 chickens can be heard in the Turner's huge barns about an eighth of a mile to the north of the house. The sheep are kept especially for the enjoyment of Birmingham and Bloomfield tots who make an annual pilgrimage to the Turner property.

The tiny subdivision, so close to the hustle-bustle of a big metropolitan area — and yet so far — is surely a private affair. And that's exactly the way the people living there plan to keep it.

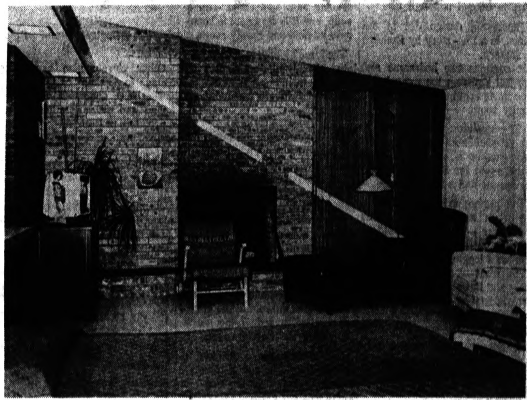

SCULPTURE HOBBY — Here Harold Turner relaxes as he puts some of the finishing touches to a sculptured head. He uses no models — just his imagination. His self-designed strictly-for-living home is a delight for art enthusiasts. The entire state of Michigan is sprinkled with Turner-designed homes which encourage a no-uptake note as well as breathtaking openness.

HILLSIDE HOUSE — That's exactly what this enormous free-flowing house is built into. The Turners have been a long time getting it the way they want it, but there are few houses in Michigan more livable. Four huge fireplaces add sparkle and warmth to the hospitality that abounds there.

SUNLIGHT REFLECTIONS — Guests are welcomed into this huge bedroom with its slant-ceiling, thick carpeting and freedom for sleeping. Here again, Turner has designed various angles for the wood-wall installations. There is an air of space, quietude and restful living throughout the entire house.

COZY SPOT — Cut stone, soft red brick and the mellowed tones of Florida swamp cypress blend together in this particularly friendly spot of the Turner home. Throughout the entire house there are cozy spots. Some are for hobby-work, others for good conversation, but mostly it's the view that is one of the most captivating features.

FIRST ART — Entitled "Melody," this note was hewn out of solid concrete by the artistic Turner and won a national prize. It was only the first of many sculptures he completed in his spare time from designing magnificent homes. His houses are custom-made. First Turner studies the customer's way of life, then designs the house to fit his needs. Most are inconspicuously blended into wooded hillsides.

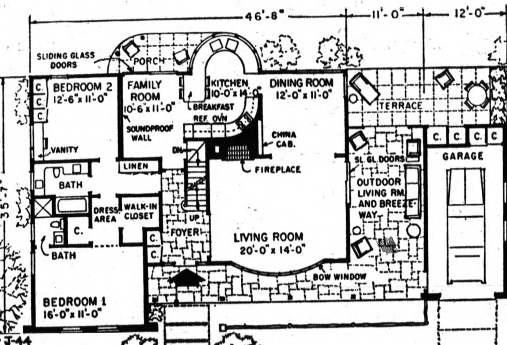

OPEN STAIRWAY — Everything's open. The stairs are wide and carpeted. Chairs and sofas have the inviting look that predominates through the Turners' big home. Their daughter Donna's colored picture at the top of this level is a focal point. Her bedroom is to the left-filled with treasures of a 15-year-old girl, including a miniature pool table.

LUXURIOUS BUT MODEST — The living area of this house is only 47 feet wide, but the straight roofline also covers an 11 foot wide breezeway and the garage, dramatically

FLOOR PLANS — Living area of house contains 1,413 square feet on main floor not counting garage and porches. Expansion second floor contains 833 square feet. Unusual

Superbly Planned Kitchen Features House of Week

By JULES LOH

When the average housewife goes looking at new homes, usually she first makes a long and careful survey of the kitchen — then decides whether to look at the rest of the house.

Not only must today's kitchen be a bright and efficient house-keeping control center, but it must be a pleasant place for the rest of the family to congregate (isn't that what always happens?) without interfering with Mom.

Seldom does a kitchen meet this test as superbly as the kitchen of today's House of the Week. And, happily, the rest of the house is equally exciting, functional and fetching.

The house, design J44 in the series, is a 1½-story by Rudolph A. Matern.

It contains two bedrooms and two full baths on the main level plus living room, dining room and family room.

The upstairs, which needn't be finished until family expansion makes it necessary, contains room for two extra large bedrooms and a third bath.

The garage is separated from the main house by a covered breezeway — actually an outdoor living room — which flows around front to a loggia.

The front treatment of loggia, posts and flat arches tied into the straight roof creates the impression of luxurious width.

DIMENSIONS

Actually the house itself is only 46 feet, 8 inches wide, extended by the 11 foot wide breezeway and 12 foot wide garage. Its depth is 35 feet, 7 inches.

The house contains 1,413 square feet of living area on the main level, not counting the garage and porches; and 833 square feet of expansion room on the second floor.

The flagstone of the breeze-increasing the width inexpensively. House contains two bedrooms and two full baths on main level, with expansion room above for two more bedrooms and a third bath.

kitchen design keeps everything within easy reach, makes clean-up a snap, and offers complete view of back yard.

way and porch continues dramatically into the large central foyer of the home, successfully integrating indoor and outdoor areas.

Beyond the breezeway and in back of the garage is a rear terrace, further enhancing the outdoor features.

The circular kitchen of this house not only is unusual in appearance but also in function. It completely eliminates the wasted space of corners, puts all the facilities and counters within easy reach and saves countless steps.

The breakfast table is a continuation of the counter, making serving easy and clean — up a snap, and it is arranged to separate kitchen and family room.

The family kitcheners are thus isolated, though in effect right in the same room, and no traffic whatsoever has to cross the kitchen work area.

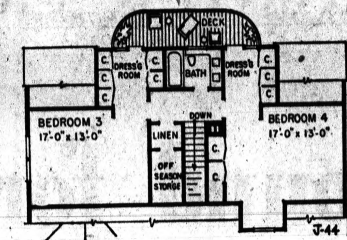

The entire wall of the semicircle is made of glass, giving a fence-to-fence view of the whole backyard besides letting in an enormous amount of natural light and fresh air.

The projection, like a large bow window, also adds interest to the rear view of the house.

An added, if indirect, benefit of the kitchen design is the open deck on the second floor. It's a deck facing the roof of the kitchen projection and of the porch adjoining the family room.

Both upstairs bedrooms have access to the deck, and it makes a pleasant and private spot for warm weather evening relaxation.

Handymen Give Tips to Do-It-Yourselfers

Home handymen like to pass along bits of information they have picked up over the years and which might be helpful to others. Here are some tips that may be of assistance to you around the house and in the workshop.

When trying to hammer a small nail or brad in a corner where space is at a premium, hold the nail or brad with a pair of ordinary tweezers.

When using pliers or a wrench on a surface which might be damaged by the metal, wrap adhesive tape around the jaws of the tool.

When you have to scrape off old

Two-Way Wall for Basement Facility Will Start Recreation Room

Looking for a "starter" for a full basement modernization project? An available free plan shows how a two-way plumbing wall can service a refreshment bar on one side and a powder room on the other. This area can serve as the nucleus of a modern basement recreation room.

One of the features of this plan is a hinged refreshment bar that can be pushed flush against the wall when not in use. This arrangement not only is a space saver, but it enables parents to lock supplies against the wall so that children can not get at them.

The walls, bar, lavatory and sink counters shown in the free plan are covered with plastic-surfaced Marflex, which can be cleaned with a damp cloth. High-fidelity woodgrain panels are used in the recreation room area, while distinctive marble and pastel panels are utilized in the powder room.

Marflex, which is available at local lumber dealers, is highly-resistant to heat, stains, moisture and hard wear. Its tempered hardwood base will not dent or crack from bumps.

A free copy of the plan showing how to build a bar-powder room off a two-way plumbing wall can be obtained by writing a postcard to the Home Service Bureau, Marsh Wall Products, Inc., Dover, Ohio. Ask for plan No. 101.

Replies indicate that, for the most part, city girls and country girls realize what they are missing but prefer what they've got.

Among the advantages of big cities cited by the respondents were: Wider opportunities for educational betterment, job choice, cultural and entertainment pursuits, meeting people—including men.

Small town proponents mentioned cheaper living, friendly atmosphere, cleaner air, more space, centralized shopping, relaxed living.

Disadvantages of large cities listed were pressure, a constant rush to get nowhere, slums, crime, dirty air, traffic, a fenced-in feeling. Small-town disadvantages were limited opportunities, less pay.

A number said that small town bosses sometimes take advantage of employees because there are few jobs and many candidates for them.

Want New House? Don't Give Up All

Countless families are depriving themselves of badly needed houses because of exaggerated fears as to the financial consequences.

Various anxieties come to mind as young couples struggle to decide whether to make the home investment. Price tags are a familiar deterrent — especially when they are far in excess of the annual family income.

Some couples are concerned that to get a home, they'll have to give up a new car, a summer vacation trip, a TV set or simple pleasures, such as an occasional night out for dinner.

These and other implications should be carefully weighed. But it's not necessarily a proposition of "giving Peter to pay Paul." There are ways to procure and pay for a good home without putting the straitjacket on other necessities and pleasures of family living.

Many young couples who are in need of first homes or their own would do well to emulate the example of successful "second home" planners. "Second homes" — or vacation homes — are built in pleasantly secluded locales. However, the sites are often within convenient distances of cities, occasionally in newly developed suburban areas.

In such instances, there are no serious logistical problems in going to and returning from offices, schools and shopping centers. And, because of the location, the lot can usually be obtained at far lower cost than its counterpart in the city's heart.

QUESTION: We have excessive moisture in our house and have been told that it is due to the crawl space underneath the house. However, the crawl space is well ventilated and the dirt does not appear to be wet. Can you tell us if the crawl space is the cause of the trouble and whether the condition can be corrected?

ANSWER: Excessive moisture in a house can be due to a number of causes. We can't say for certain that the crawl space is responsible in this case, but the chances are that it is.

The moisture coming up from the ground evaporates and passes upward into the house through the walls and floors.

The rise of this moisture can be halted by using some kind of vapor barrier, such as roll roofing or a polyethylene film.

Try to Be Objective in Judging Home

How does your house look to others?

Inspect your rooms as you'd expect others to look at them, not with the familiarity that overlooks their shortcomings.

Go through your home, room by room, as if you were a visitor from the census bureau, and you will be amazed at your findings.

Incidentally, the census bureau classed three million homes as dilapidated compared with 4.5 million ten years ago.

That shows that more families are upgrading their homes, the service bureau says.

Refrigeration Progress

Progress in the development of refrigerators that chill by electricity and have no moving parts, is reported by the October issue of The American Home Magazine. Three manufacturers, the magazine says, have announced the production of thermoelectric models.

It is spread on the ground within the crawl space, overlapped about six inches.

While it is true that excessive moisture in the ground usually is visible, there are times when it is not.

This is especially true when the soil in the crawl space is clay. If you have an old small rug or something similar that is closely woven, place it on the ground within the crawl space and weigh down the edges with stones.

Take it up in a few days. If the bottom of the rug is damp, excessive moisture is present no matter what the appearance of the ground.

QUESTION: We bought a second-hand end table which is painted a dull black. We would like to keep the black color, but want to give it a glossy finish. Can we apply lacquer directly over the paint?

ANSWER: It is not wise to apply lacquer over paint, since the solvent in the lacquer may soften the paint film. You have a number of choices to achieve the desired effect.

You can remove all grease and dirt from the old paint and go over the surface with glossy black paint. You can give the old paint, if it's in good condition, a coat of varnish. Or you can remove the present finish with varnish remover and put on a new finish of black lacquer.

QUESTION: Our contractor recently replaced a hydronic heating for a new home we're having built. Can you tell us something about it?

ANSWER: A hydronic heating system consists of hot water which is forced, circulated through small pipes in the baseboard, floors, ceilings and walls. But why not have your contractor explain it to you in more detail?

QUESTION: We have been thinking about having our kitchen completely remodeled, since it is very old-fashioned. We'd like to have an architect draw up the plans for us, but wonder whether this is absolutely necessary. What is your advice?

ANSWER: As long as you used the words absolutely necessary, the answer is no, it isn't absolutely necessary to have an architect draw up the plans.

You can make your own rough sketch, show it to your contractor and have him make suggestions, since he might note desired changes which are impractical.

But if you are willing to spend the money to hire an architect, you will be purchasing more than merely a set of plans. He will supervise the entire job, see that the right materials are used, that the terms of the contract are fulfilled and that, all in all, you are getting your money's worth.

In some cases, where special conditions exist, he can save you as much or more money than his fee.

If you decide to use an architect, be ready ahead of time to explain your needs in detail. You may, for instance, consider it vital that there be a minimum amount of walking from one appliance to another.

He can then plan his design accordingly. Another person may not consider the saving of steps important, but may place a high value on more storage space. Get all your wants and needs set in your mind before you see the architect and both of you can save time.

MASCULINE RETREAT — A study in blue and gold, this strictly masculine room features a superb damask material in royal blue with an overbloom of mustard-beige attached directly to one wall of the room and panel insets on the opposite storage wall.

Panel flanking the bookcase conceal stemware at the left and hi-fi equipment at the right. Moldings are painted mustard gold against deep blue. A collection of sketches, portraits and caricatures hanging above the fine antique desk, personalizes the room.

How to Conserve Space in Workshop

Do . . . remember that, for those who have a minimum amount of home workshop space at their disposal, it is important to assign a storage space to every tool or piece of material.

Do . . . store all small hardware—nuts, bolts, cotter pins, etc.—in small glass jars, nailing the tops of the jars to the underside of a shelf so that the items are both visible and handy.

Do . . . use overhead space for the storage of lumber, doing it with ready-made metal suspension racks or wooden ones which you can make yourself.

Do . . . position tools so that long pieces of wood and other materials can be extended through an open window or door while being cut.

Don't . . . forget that, for paint and other self-stored items, you can make excellent use of adjustable shelves, storing items of the same height on each shelf.

Don't . . . neglect the advantages of casters on power tool stands, since they enable the machines to be placed against the wall when not in use.

Don't . . . overlook the use of perforated hard board, which sometimes provides a perfect answer to the problem of space, when it is not being used.

permitting a wall to be utilized for hanging tools.

Don't . . . forget that, by building a sliding board into the workbench, like the cutting board on many modern sink tables, you can push the board out of the way when it is not being used.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

INTERESTING BLEVEL HOME—This plan features stairway from the middle-level foyer up to the living area and down to garage and playroom level. There is a dramatic view from the foyer, looking up through the living room to the dining room and balcony beyond. The bedrooms are completely separate, the two in front sharing a closet wall. The house, Homes for American Plan, HAZ29C, was designed by Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N.Y. It has 1,236 square feet for living and bedroom areas.

Manufactured homes are gaining such a solid position in the home building industry that one of every eight new homes built this year will be prefabricated. Only one in 30 was in 1950.

Try Change of Scene in Your Kitchen

For mother, autumn is simply back-to-routine time. There's no new classroom, no new teacher for her — just the house, all to herself. All of a sudden, the peace and quiet she's longed for seem like empty silence. Poor mom!

"If you have the autumn doldrums," says Mary Ann Willis, decorating consultant, "you need a change of scene. Not a sea voyage or trip to the tropics, but a change of scene right in your own kitchen."

But how do you manage that?

New Finishes Last Longer

You're a lucky girl if your home has lots of wood—don't knock it!

Nothing looks quite so rich as the polished gleam of wood surfaces—and these days it takes very little trouble to keep them glossy.

Probably the newest way to save on elbow grease is to apply a urethane coating to woodwork, floors and furniture. Extremely resistant to dirt and to all kinds of damage, these urethane finishes are said to have twice the lifespan of floor varnishes and to last three times as long as furniture varnish.

According to suppliers of urethane chemicals used in these coatings, no waxing or polishing is needed on urethane-coated wood.

Urethane finishes, sold in hardware and department stores, come in high, flat or medium gloss. Applied by brush, roller or spray, they dry in two to four hours (you can put two coats on in the morning, turn the kids loose by mid-afternoon). Urethane finishes resist not only the spin of Junior's top or the scrape of his roller skates, but all kinds of stains: food, grease, alcohol, water, chemicals.

Rope Ladders Available

To speed escape from the second story in case of a home fire, chain and rope ladders are available which are attached by brackets under the window, reports the October issue of The American Home Magazine. When not in use, the ladders can be folded up neatly in a box on the floor.

Remodeling is expensive; rearranging furniture is impossible; and repainting may be unnecessary. Miss Willis has a much easier solution in mind.

Start with the windows, she advises. If curtains or valances are limp from that last siege of hot, humid summer weather, give them a thorough sun-and-starch treatment.

Better yet, store them away and try an altogether new window treatment, perhaps one that will let in more daylight as the sun moves south and skies go gray.

"Don't be afraid to dispense with curtains altogether," she urges. "Instead, flank your windows with a collection of colorful wall decorations. You might, for example, use the new deep-dimensional plaques which can be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

"A pair of old-time wooden scoops, one filled with real-looking yellow apples and the other loaded with jumbo strawberries, would add a bright note over a kitchen sink."

Here, incidentally, is your chance to have some real fun with wall decorations, says Miss Willis. You might, for example, turn one wall into a miniature art gallery. Let it be functional as well as entertaining by using an attractive thermometer or clock for the focal point.

Look through your collection of calendars for pictures you'd like to keep in sight. Check the attic for old frames or buy unfinished ones at the dime store and paint them to match your kitchen.

"Probably the children will want to contribute artwork they've done in school," predicts Miss Willis. "To keep peace in the family — and good taste in your kitchen — reserve one large frame for juvenile masterpieces and let the youngsters take week-ly turns at filling it."

Science Ahead in Fight to End Blazes in Home

The day may come when it will be almost impossible for a fire to start accidentally in your home. But the complete use of fireproof materials is still a long way off, from a practical standpoint.

Science is making considerable progress, however, in the fight to reduce the large loss of life and huge property damage every year from home fires.

One way in which this is being done is by the creation of fireproof or fire retardant additions to materials that ordinarily would burn easily.

Fire retardant paints are one of the products which it is hoped will slow down the fire once it starts.

These paints cannot, of course, prevent fires. They can only keep them from spreading too rapidly. The valuable minutes which are saved can mean the difference between a minor blaze and a tragic one.

These paints work in one or more of three ways. When the temperature reaches a given point, some of these paints release vapors such as carbon dioxide and nitrogen which not only do not support combustion, but which often help to put fires out by starving them of oxygen the way certain fire extinguishers do.

OTHERS SWELL UP. Other fire retardant paints work by swelling or bubbling up to form a honeycombed, foam-like layer that insulates the surface beneath and prevents it from reaching a temperature at which it will burn or release harmful fumes.

This process also insulates iron and steel structural members to keep them from buckling.

A third type of fire retardant paint forms a glassed surface which keeps the underlayer from reaching the point of ignition.

Fire retardant paints are available in both flat and gloss finishes and in a variety of colors.

They can be applied over any surface by brush, roller and spray, and generally do not require a special primer. They are especially recommended for furnace rooms, garages, bedrooms, hallways and stairwells.

If you apply these paints, do not be lulled into neglecting usual safety precautions. Again we remind you: these paints only slow down fires. They do not prevent them from breaking out.

New Plywood Paneling Scuff, Stain Resistant

Years of research in America's owner maintenance problems for most elaborate wood research center has resulted in a new, moderately priced prefinished plywood paneling that is scuff and stain resistant and can be easily wiped clean.

Gunslock, introduced by Simpson Timber Co., may prove to be the answer to solving many home owners' problems.

Home owners agree that one of the most difficult and time-consuming phases of house-cleaning is caring for walls. Kitchen walls are especially difficult to maintain, usually requiring repainting or refinishing every two years.

Dirty fingerprints, crayons and lipstick are easily removed from these new real wood panels with any common household cleaning fluid—without affecting the finish and appearance of the paneling.

The hard, durable resinous surface also resists alcohol, detergents, vinegar and even hot fats and boiling water.

Nine real wood faces include antique and natural birch; walnut; cherry; knotty pine; red oak; knotty red cedar; and natural and sandalwood lauan.

The panels can be quickly installed by anyone with only a hammer, nails and putty stick. If preferred, contact adhesives may be used.

For further information on this product see any local Simpson lumber dealer or write: Simpson Timber Co., 2043 G Washington Building, Seattle 1, Wash.

DUAL PURPOSE — This unique divider serves as an interesting piece of furniture on one side, and as a chin-glass cupboard on the other. It is constructed in two sections hinged together in the center, making it even more versatile. The wooden panels are on sliding tracks. An easy project to build when following a pattern. This can be obtained by sending $1 for divider pattern No. 225 to Steve Ellington, Pontiac Press Pattern Dept. Van Nuys, Calif.

Room Divider Versatile With Single Purpose

The room divider pictured here with pretty television actress Maryellen Smith has a single purpose and a dual personality.

It is made up of two sections, hinged in the middle. It may be used as pictured or folded at right angles and placed neatly in a corner.

On the sections may be used separately with the walk-thru between them. That gives you three decorating possibilities.

The divider has a dual personality. One side is decorated to face the living room and the other to face the dining area. This gives you separation with decoration.

New Type Tile Needs No Wax

The time has come when women don't have to wax their floors anymore.

After years of research, scientists have come up with a new flooring that never requires waxing.

For the first time, homemakers can get textured-surface Travertine, a solid vinyl tile that may be cleaned simply by mopping with a mild detergent and water.

The new tile is styled for floor designs that fit in with the decor of any room in the house—living rooms; dining rooms; kitchens; bedrooms; dens; bedrooms, playrooms and hallways.

In extensive laboratory tests, engineers have created a special finish for the new tile that has resistance to wear and makes waxing unnecessary.

Another advantage of the new Travertine is that it has a textured surface as real as actual marble.

And it comes in straight-edge as well as beveled-edge squares which can be installed to look like blocks of actual travertine, a marble formation long popular in home design.

The new no-waxing tile can be installed directly on top of existing resilient tile flooring.

Travertine is available in six distinctive color styles—off white, natural beige, antique red, old ivory, moss green and forest gray. It comes in 12x12-inch and 12x18-inch thicknesses in standard sizes of 9/8-inch, 12x18-inch and untrimmed 37x37-inch as well as a half dozen special sizes.

The time has come when women don't have to wax their floors anymore.

For the first time, homemakers can get textured-surface Travertine, a solid vinyl tile that may be cleaned simply by mopping with a mild detergent and water, according to its producer.

The new tile is luxuriously styled for interesting floor designs that fit in with the decor of any room in the house—living rooms, dining rooms, kitchens, bedrooms, dens, bedrooms, playrooms and hallways.

TRIPLE PURPOSE — This unique furniture piece shown, with NBC's actress Marianna Hill, has countless uses. It serves as a coffee table and the magazine rack extends across the front, keeping magazines visible and orderly. Just lift the top and there is a roomy chest for holding all sorts of things. Casters under it make this item easy to move into a spot as a low room divider. To obtain the pattern No. 275 send $1 to Steve Ellington, Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383 Van Nuys, Calif.

Be Prepared for Home Fire

Closed Door Can Save Lives

A closed bedroom door may save your child's life in case of fire.

That's one of the conclusions of an article on home fires in the October issue of The American Home Magazine.

Every hour, 40 homes are destroyed or damaged by fire, somewhere in the U.S., and every hour and a quarter, one person—most frequently a child or an elderly person—dies in a house fire.

Most people do not die from burns but from the inhaling of hot smoke and lethal gases, the article reports. This underlines the need for keeping bedroom doors closed at night to keep back poisonous smoke and heat.

Also important is a pre-heard family escape plan. Children should be trained, the magazine says, not to open the door to run to their parents but to stand by an open window.

Unless the passage between you and your children's bedroom is clear of smoke and fire, adults are advised not to rush across. They should escape through their own room and rescue young children or elderly persons through windows from the outside.

OTHER PRECAUTIONS

1. Advise baby sitters of the escape plan and choose sitters who are not likely to panic in case of fire.
2. Don't leave rubbish, kindling, paint or other materials near the furnace. Keep gasoline for mowers or motors in an appropriate safety can.
3. Do not empty ashtrays at night but set them in the center of a table or counter top.
4. Make a nightly inspection for smoldering cigarette butts and butts that may have fallen to the floor or between chair cushions. Make sure the oven and the burners are turned off and see if the heater is operating correctly.

To awaken the family in time to escape before heat, smoke and gases have made much headway, an automatic fire detector or alarm system is needed.

At present, the magazine reports, there's no smoke detection system inexpensive enough for home use.

There are, however, detection systems which sound an alarm when the temperature reaches a certain level. For fuller protection, these detectors should be located throughout the house.

Fire prevention authorities declare that it is a matter of statistical record that at least 90 per cent of all fires in the U.S. could be prevented.

Record albums should be stored on edge, never stacked flat, to prevent warping.

You may want to line up the television, radio, record-player and records along a single wall to form a music center.

Don't forget that sound equipment builds up heat and should be installed so that air can circulate behind it. Unless you have a specially-built cabinet or "music wall," free-standing open shelving is your best bet.

PREPARING CANNISTERS—Ralph Bartley of 189 Oliver St., Carol Magner of 643 E. Tenney Ave. (center) and Ethel Eugene of 417 Lowell St. are getting cannisters ready for the United Nations International Emergency Children's Fund collection next week. These young people of Oakland Park Methodist Church will collect funds Tuesday evening in the area of Perry, Glenwood, Joslyn and Kennett streets.

Witches, Goblins, Spacemen Collect Coins

Hundreds of Pontiac area children wearing masks of witches, goblins, skeletons and spacemen will collect pennies, nickels and dimes again this year for the welfare of children all over the world.

Boys and girls accompanied by adults will ring doorbells and carry cartons marked with United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The youngsters may be identified by a sticker and tag showing the silhouette of a mother and child in black on an orange background.

Only bearers of this identification are authorized to collect "treats" of coins for UNICEF.

"Trick or treat" pennies go to about 100 countries where a glass of milk is a real holiday treat.

A penny which drops into a child's carton will mean vaccine to protect a youngster in South America from tuberculosis; or five cups of milk in Asia.

Three cents can represent the penicillin to cure a child crippled by yaws in Africa, and 20 cents may mean the antibiotics to save a young European victim of trachoma from blindness.

The sanctuary will seat 788 people with the choir space seating 82 in the divided chancel. The buff colored brick walls with stone window trim and the white ceiling give the appearance of unlimited height experienced in a Gothic Cathedral. The emphasis of the sanctuary is toward the cross in the chancel.

The Sanctuary opens into a garden court. The chapel which is in the court will seat 144 people.

Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, minister of the Gothic styled church on West Lake Road said "The success of the Kirk's vesper services during the past two years has led to an even more significant repertoire for the coming season."

Dr. Mason's program will include: "Voluntary and Trumpet Tune" by Boyce and "Four Pieces" by Dandrieu.

Other numbers will be "Canonic Variations of the Christmas Hymn, 'From Heaven High'" by S. Bach, "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by J. S. Bach, "Three Dances of Death" by Albin, Prelude on "Were You There" Sowerby and Fantasy on "A Mighty Fortress" Regner.

Radio Network, Korea Receives Recognition

For the second time in two years, the Christian Radio Network in Korea has received recognition from that government for outstanding service.

The Order of Cultural Merit national medal was recently presented in Washington, D.C. to the Rev. Otto DeCamp, "in recognition and appreciation of his long and dedicated service and for developing the first civilized broadcasting system in Korea."

Only six such medals have been awarded in the history of the Korean Republic. In the ceremony at the Korean Embassy in Washington, the Korean Ambassador to the U.S., General Il Kwon Chung, bestowed the medal.

The citation noted that since December 1948, Mr. DeCamp, a United Presbyterian missionary and director of Station HUKY in Seoul, "overcame every difficulty during the Korean War and made it possible to activate the Seoul Christian Broadcasting Station."

Subsequently stations have been set up in Taegu, Pusan, Kwangju and Yri to form the first Christian broadcasting network anywhere.

In 1960, HUKY received its first certificate of commendation for "prompt and impartial dissemination of the truth and for its resistance to all undue political pressures" in its broadcasts.

The network is supported by several U.S. and Canadian donations through RAVEMCOO, the radio and visual education, mass communications committee of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches, and by Korean churches.

Group Urges Slash in Hunting License

BAY CITY (AP)—The East Michigan Tourist Association yesterday was on record favoring cheaper hunting and fishing licenses for non-Michigan residents.

Meeting here yesterday, the association proposed a cut in non-resident licenses from $35 to $10. The association elected Cliff Abbs, West Branch hardware dealer, to succeed Emil Bucholz, publisher of the Clarion County Cleaver of Harrison, as president.

Hughed Giesel of Bay City was elected treasurer, and four new vice-presidents were elected. They are Frank Catto of Lansing, Ron Gamble of Greenbush, Ted Benton of Houghton Lake, and Dr. Francis Letchfield of Pinconning.

Missing Wife Found in the Wrong Room

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

North's hand was full of point count, but it really wasn't too good. Doubleton queen-jacks often aren't worth more than two small cards and that is just what happened to his club honors.

JACOBY

West cashed the ace and king of clubs and shifted to the ten of diamonds. East's ace took dummy's queen and the jack was returned.

Dummy won with the king and after trumps were drawn South played his ace of hearts. West's singleton king dropped and South claimed the balance.

There is no question, but that South was lucky. On the other hand there was nothing I might add about it. It was smart luck. South missed the ten-nine-eight.

of hearts as well as the king and deuce.

If he went over to dummy and led the queen of hearts he would have to lose a heart trick irrespective of who had the king or how many times it was guarded.

There was only one way for South to make his contract, and that was to play for a singleton king.

South gave the cards a chance to work for him.

Walled Lake I-L Champ as PNH Ousts Waterford, 18-13

Huskies Stun Skipper 11 With Late TD

Winners Keep Trophy on Fancy Pass Play, Spoil Homecoming

By JERE CRAIG
Pontiac Central High School used a little razzle dazle and good hard-nose football to pin a last minute 18-13 defeat on the Waterford Skippers Friday night.

The defeat cost Stu Thorell's club a share of the Inter-Lakes trophy as Walled Lake defeated Berkley, 35-6. It also cost a heavy gloom over Waterford's homecoming weekend.

Trailing 13-13 with 1:20 left to play, the visiting Huskies took possession of the football at their own 27-yard line. After two incomplete passes, quarterback Jim Kimmel passed to end Tom Nichols for a first down at the 40.

It was then that PNH executed what might be its last play of the season. Kimmel dropped back to pass and flipped a short screen pass to Mike Marcum who stumbled while making a one-handed grab. Marcum regained his balance and quickly leaped a long, high pass downfield where Dennis Hubble gathered it in behind three Waterford backs.

Teammate Nichols threw the one-block Hubble needed and the lanky end outtraced the startled defenders to the end zone with 46 seconds remaining in the game.

Waterford ran three plays following the kick off but Bob Readler's final pass was intercepted by Jim De Flavia as the game ended.

The contest was a seesaw struggle with the Skippers storming back twice from six-point deficits to forge a one-point lead entering the final quarter on Clark Lemaux's run for the conversion following the second Waterford score.

MARCUM SCORES
Marcum had given PNH an early lead when he caught Kimmel's fourth down pass for a 14-yard touchdown. The play culminated a 53-yard drive.

The home team countered with a 75-yard drive that tied the game with two minutes remaining in the first half. Lee Kester, the big offensive gun for the Skippers all night, started driving the drive.

He ran 18 yards for a first down at the Huskies' 20. Three plays later, he drove 14 yards off tackle for the six points.

The Huskies scored the first time they had the ball in the third quarter. Halfback Don Weyer took a handoff, broke off his right tackle and cut to the sideline behind beautiful blocking for a 70-yard scoring ramble.

The gold-and-blue clad Skippers then drove 65 yards in five plays. Kester ran around right end, shook off three PNH tacklers and scored from 54 yards out to tie the game. Lemaux added the go-ahead PAT.

PNH quickly drove down the field 51 yards only to be stymied by a lost fumble at the Waterford nine before unloading the big bomb.

The victory enabled Ed Heikkinen's Red and White to retain possession of the Jimmy Day Amvet Post No. 12 trophy, which they won last season. It also squared the Huskies' I-L leg at 2-2-1, tying them with Berkley for fourth place. Waterford finished its conference season with a 3-2 mark, tied with Farmington as runner-ups.

Vikings Spank Berkley, 33-6

BY NAT LEMMERMAN
"Congratulations, champ," said Walled Lake coach Dave Smith, over and over, becoming happier each time he greeted another of his gridders after the Vikings had rolled to a 33-6 rout of Berkley's Bears last night.

It's the fourth year in a row the Vikings have reigned atop the Inter-Lakes League, and Smith was happier that Pontiac Northern had made it possible for the Vikings to be the undisputed champions than he was about the win over Berkley.

"It's sure great not to have that 'co' before the champ," Ed (PNH coach Heikkinen) said he'd take care of Waterford if we did and he sure kept his promise.

FARMINGTON WINS
In the other league game, Farmington rolled over Southfield, 46-0 to finish in a second place tie with Waterford with a 3-2 mark.

Ray Leach tied the school record for touchdowns by hitting pay dirt five times on runs of one, five, 23, 27 and 37 yards. He gained 143 yards in 13 carries. Leach is a 5-10 and 170 pound sophomore fullback.

The other Farmington tally was a five yard pass from Tom Kaufman to Dale Pitcock. Mike Gilder added the four points.

Southfield scored in the first period to make it 13-0 on an 87 yard kickoff return by Jim Larson.

VIKINGS HIT FAST
Put together a 52-yard TD run on a pass interception with a 72-yard scoring aerial, four interceptions and some good ball control and you have the picture of the Vikings took into intermission.

Walled Lake, taking 12 plays, completed a 61-yard drive after the opening kickoff with QB

Rich Trudeau scoring on a 18-yard rollout.

Jim Bales, star Viking linebacker, scored the second TD on the interception, and after Bob Wosniak swiped another Bear pass moments later in the second period at the Berkley 28, Pete Woodward scored from the one.

Trudeau connected with Ron Wik on the 72-yard TD pass with 19 seconds left in the half.

In an uneventful second half which saw Smith get everyone into the game, the Vikings scored with 10:43 left in the game on a five-yard run by Wayne Mervin.

Berkley got on the scoreboard with 1:39 left in the game as QB Dick Kaskuri sneaked over from the 2 to climax a 58-yard drive.

"How many teams can lose a star quarterback like John Thomas and keep on rolling? Trudeau's really done a good job for us the past two weeks," said Smith.

Saginaw Laces PCH, 35-7

Chiefs Numbered by Trojans in 2nd Half Rout

Smallest Crowd Sees Pontiac Central Put in Deep Freeze

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Central's grid fortunes hit rock bottom last night.

The Chiefs, once given an outside chance to win the Saginaw Valley Conference title, were crushed by Saginaw High, 35-7, at Wmner Stadium.

The 600 fans, smallest crowd in the SVC this season, were numbed by the 34-degree weather and the complete collapse of PCH in the second half.

Saginaw took a 6-0 record into the game. The happy Trojans carried coach Jim Brownlee off the field and whooped it up in the locker room.

They had reason to be happy. They were lucky to leave the field at halftime with the game knotted 7-7. PCH stormed up and down the field, netting 214 yards rushing in the opening half.

NO GAIN — Pontiac Central's Charlie Humphrey is stopped at the line of scrimmage by Jerry Patton (73) and Bernie Taylor (37) of Saginaw as Bo Minnich (38) moves up. The Trojans won, 35-7.

PCH THWARTED
Two scoring marches were thwarted inside the endgame 20 yard line on a fumble. Saginaw gained only 30 yards rushing, but the Trojans chalked up 39 in the air. An early aerial barrage netted a TD in the first quarter.

With 2:04 remaining in the half, PCH struck with devastating suddenness as Charlie Humphrey broke loose over left tackle and raced 80 yards.

The second half was a nightmare for the once-proud Chiefs.

They fumbled on the second play after the kickoff, Saginaw recovered and the rout was on. The Trojans scored in three plays from the PCH 15 and suddenly realized they had a good chance for victory.

The Trojans really started hitting and Central felt apart on offense and defense. The Trojans stormed on the ground for 185 yards in the second half, including PCH to 12 and one first down.

Central's wounded started streaming to the sideline early in the second half. Guard Wayne Lee didn't dress for the game because of a leg injury.

Joining him on the sideline before the game was over were halfback Jesse Hodges (ankle), fullback Tom Lewis (knee), center Bill Church (leg) and fullback Chuck Stein (hip). Guard Ed McGhee (leg) and linebacker John Marcoux (leg) finished the game but their effectiveness was impaired.

Six fumbles, two lost, handicapped the Chiefs who lost their fourth game against two wins and a tie. They remained in seventh place ahead of the Trojans and Arthur Hill.

Humphrey gained 136 yards in 18 carries and Lewis picked up 77 in 11 tries. Frank Scott, who scored three TDs, led Saginaw with 86 in nine attempts. He didn't see action until the second half.

The victory was the first loop for Jack Fitzpatrick's Lapeer squad, and gave it a 3-4 overall mark. Jim Larkin's Kettering team is now 2-4-1 overall, finished 1-3-1 in the loop.

It was the fourth shutout suffered by the Captains this season.

Valley Loop in Shakeup
The Saginaw Valley Conference went through a drastic shakeup last night.

Bay City Handy was ordered by Valley principals to forfeit its victories over Arthur Hill and Midland. The Wildcats also forfeited the win over Alpena because of an ineligible player.

Handy then took it out on Flint Southwestern, 19-0. Midland upset Bay City Central 25-19 and rode the forfeit win over Handy into first place. Arthur Hill dumped Muskegon Catholic 25-6 in a non-league.

DEFECTION — The Waterford Hub fan in the above photo is a picture of dejection after the Skippers' 18-13 loss to Pontiac Northern last night. In the bottom photo Stan Grant, defensive halfback, finds it hard to believe that the game has ended and Waterford lost. He slowly gets up off the field as Northern players happily move onto the field.

North Farmington Is 27-0 League Winner

North Farmington assured itself of a winning season by whipping Southgate, 27-0, in a Tri-River League game last night.

After a scoreless first half, Bob Huth went 41 yards in the third period and Rick Carpenter went one yard. In the final period, Lee Martilla went three yards and Andy Lansing passed 40 yards to Hank Lansberg.

Jim Aceri booted two points and Larry Roberts in the third period and Rick Carpenter went one yard. In the final period, Lee Martilla went three yards and Andy Lansing passed 40 yards to Hank Lansberg.

Maples Rout East Detroit

Roseville Upsets Ferndale, 16-13

Roseville paid its Eastern Michigan League "inflation fee" 1-1-1 last night, but Birmingham Seaholm probably wishes the Wildcats hadn't.

Roseville, slated to enter the loop officially next year, pulled one of the prep season's biggest upsets by handing EML leader Ferndale its first loss of the fall, 16-13, on a last-half flurry.

The game didn't count in the standings, so the "Dales still sport a 4-0 ledger. But the setback spotted their chances of a perfect season and are liable to make them mad enough to spell trouble for their final two loop foes.

Thus, the outlook doesn't seem so good for Seaholm, 36-13 victor over East Detroit last night. That game ended the Maples' league slate at 5-1, but they were — and still are — depending on a future Ferndale loss.

HUSKIE PRIZE — Pontiac Northern players happily display the Amvet trophy they regained from Waterford 1-1-1 last night after posting an 18-13 victory. The all-time series between PNH and Waterford now stands 2-1-1 for the Huskies.

DALES LEAD

Ferndale carried a 13-7 lead into the third quarter against Roseville before a Dick Knox-Dick Jim Cuyler pass good for 31 yards tied the count. Tom DeMay's second conversion put the Wildcats ahead to stay. They led the victory in the final period with a safety.

Jeff Hicks' two TDs in the third quarter gave Ferndale the halftime lead. Hicks ran 23 yards for one and pulled in a 27-yard pass from Bob Super for the other.

The loss ended a six-game winning streak for Frank Jeram's squad, and marked the first time this fall it had allowed more than one touchdown in a contest.

Senior halfback Jack Harvey stole the show in Seaholm's easy win over East Detroit, tallying four of the team's five touchdowns. Harvey ran 40, 1 and 2 yards and received a 21-yard aerial from Dick Weaver for his six pointers.

Bob Droghda's 63-yard scamper accounted for the other Seaholm TD, while Brent Miller kicked four of five conversions. The Maples' Craig Johnson blocked a punt to add a safety for good measure.

Other EML action saw Mt. Clemens edge Hazel Park, 13-4, holding on to a 13-0 halftime lead. Jessie Johnson (3 yards) and Darwell Campbell (23) provided the HP scoring, while Ken Kirkham's 12-yard dash gave the losers their only tally in the third period.

Port Huron is at Kimball to night.

World Designed for Families

Bachelors Suffering Severely

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—I have been married so long I sometimes forget how the other half lives.

A reminder came my way the other day in the person of a young man-about-town whose passion for anonymity prompted me to refer to him here as Sam Freeloader.

I didn't think that Freeloader had a care in the world, but when he stopped by my desk it was plain to see that something was troubling him.

"You are justly revered for your willingness to take up the cudgels on behalf of worthy problems that left-handed people have. The world is set up for the convenience of right-handed people. It's much the same way with bachelors."

"The world is set up for the convenience of married people. There is an organized conspiracy in America to make bachelor life untenable."

"That is a series charge," I cautions," he said. "Why don't you write something about the plight of bachelors?"

OUT OF STEP
"I wasn't aware that bachelors were in need of aid and comfort," I replied. "It seems to me they have the situation well in hand."

"Not so," said Freeloader. "Everyone knows about the said. 'Do you have any evidence to support it?'"

"Take such an ordinary necessity of life as bread," Freeloader said. "Bread only is sold in large loaves. If a bachelor doesn't get an invitation to dinner and is forced to fix something to eat in his apartment, he's got to buy a whole loaf of bread."

"It may be two weeks before he dines at home again. By that time the bread will be moldy and he has to buy another loaf."

"Pie is the same way. Did you ever try to buy a single slice of pie?"

"That is indeed a severe hardship," I said. "Are there other hardships?"

"Almost all appliances are antibachelor," Freeloader asserted. "Look at the refrigerator. It has a lot of space for food, which we don't need, and just a small compartment for ice cubes."

NEED MORE ICE
"Why can't they make a refrigerator that is 90 per cent ice cubes and 10 per cent food? Why can't they make a bachelor-sized loaf of bread?"

"I can see your point," I said. "Anything else?"

"Yes," he said, bitterly. "Just once I would like to find something that isn't cheaper by the dozen. There ought to be some things that are cheaper if you only buy one."

"You might as well face it," I told him. "The only thing cheaper in the singular form is a wife."

'Future City' Goes on Road

The recently completed scale model of Pontiac's Central Business District of the future, is going on the road.

It has been on display in the main floor lobby at City Hall since being presented to the City Commission Sept. 4 by Geer Associates Planning Consultants, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills.

The 3-1/2-foot model was moved to a display case at Community National Bank yesterday.

It will be displayed at other downtown locations in the future so the general public can see what future developments are proposed for downtown Pontiac.

The model depicts downtown Pontiac as it would look if the city and downtown Pontiac Business Association initiate proposals made in the $40,000 Central Business District Plan developed by Geer earlier this year.

U.S. Okays $1.8 Million in County Sewage Grants

Federal grants totaling nearly $1.8 million toward sewage construction projects in Oakland County have been approved by the federal government, County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry announced yesterday.

He said the amount includes $1.4 million toward the $6.9-million Dequindre Interceptor Sewer, which will carry waste from 14 municipalities in the county's Southeastern Sewage Disposal District into the Detroit system for treatment.

The rest of the grants, totaling $410,115, will be applied to enclosing 2,900 feet of the River Drain in Madison Heights, Barry said.

It will enclose the existing open cut drain from where it connects with the 12 Towns Drain, now under construction, at 12-Mile Road and Campbell Road to Stephenson Highway.

The same 14 communities will benefit from the second project, according to Barry.

They are Birmingham, Berkeley, Clawson, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Huntington Woods, Madison Heights, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak, Royal Oak Township, Southfield, and Troy.

He said the grants will not only reduce the financial burden to these communities but will enable work to get under way in January instead of June.

He said he also has been notified by the Federal Water Resources Commission that the county is likely to get an additional $2.9 million toward both projects under the Public Works Acceleration Act to create more jobs.

This would raise the federal (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

K Urges Cuba, Turkey Disarmed

JFK Studies Red Proposal With Advisors

President Meets With His Key Aides on K Missile Base Move

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy met with his key strategy advisers in the Cuban crisis today to study the new proposal made by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev, in a personal letter to Kennedy, offered to withdraw all "offensive" forces from Cuba if the United States would withdraw "similar" weapons from Turkey.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said "We will have no present comment" on the Khrushchev letter which was received by the President last night.

The message from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev broadcast today by Moscow radio differed from a communication President Kennedy received last night from the Soviet leader.

White House sources said the message received last night made no mention of Turkey.

At the time that Moscow radio was announcing the sending of the letter, Kennedy went into a session with the special staff group of the national security council which has been convening daily on the Cuban crisis.

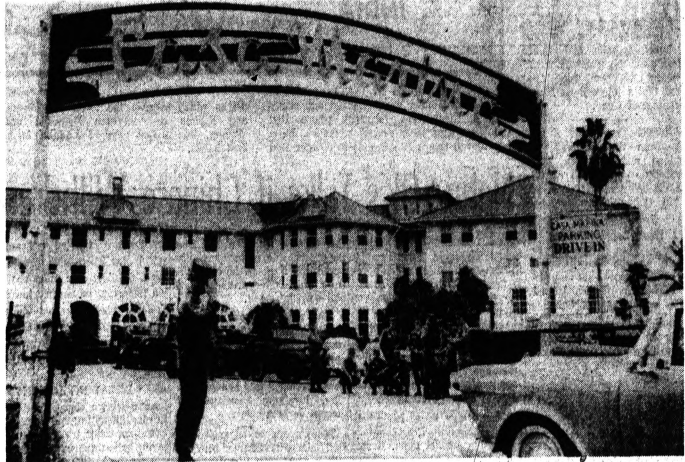

CONFERENCES DUE
After his meeting with the top level policy group, Kennedy's schedule called for him to meet with a special government civil defense committee headed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The chief executive was expected to engage in a series of weekend conferences on ways to compel the Russians to remove their missile bases from Cuba.

Thus far, Kennedy has confined U.S. action to a naval blockade around Cuba to prevent war goods and rocket parts from reaching the Cuban missile sites.

The U.S. government is trying to make clear to Russia and the world that unless this issue is resolved, "Further action will be justified," as President Kennedy said in his speech Monday night announcing the arms blockade order.

The State Department Friday reaffirmed Kennedy's warning of further action and the White (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

TROOPS MOVE TO HOTEL — A sentry salutes an incoming car at the gate of the Casa Marina hotel at Key West, Fla., as the military build-up along the Florida Keys is continued by the U.S. Army. The hotel is occupied by Army troops recently moved into the city as part of the top-secret preparations. Military authorities have deployed their battle-equipped troops, trucks, arms and equipment all along the 165-miles length of the Keys.

Decision Could Be Near

Clear Way for Invasion?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration appeared today to be preparing the ground for possible bombing or invasion of Cuba unless it starts dismantling its Russian-made missiles and their bases soon.

A White House statement indicated time may be short before the missile threat.

Twice this week, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara directed newsmen's attention to Kennedy's broadcast statement Monday that: "should these offensive military preparations continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified."

"I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities; and I trust that in the interest of both the Cuban people and the Soviet technicians at these sites, the hazards to all concerned of continuing this threat will be recognized."

DIRECTED TO STATEMENT
And Friday State Department spokesman Lincoln White called newsmen's attention to the same portion of Kennedy's statement.

But looming in the background has been the other prong of Kennedy's objective—to secure the eventual withdrawal of the offensive weapons already on the island.

It said Friday that aerial reconnaissance had shown that as late as Thursday Russian technicians were rushing work on launch bases for 1,200-mile mobile missiles and 2,500-mile intermediate range rockets.

"The activity at these sites apparently is directed at achieving a full operational capability as soon as possible," the White House said.

"There is no evidence to date indicating that there is any intention to dismantle or discontinue work on these missile sites."

"On the contrary, the Soviets are rapidly continuing their construction of missile support and launch facilities."

Candidates End Debates on TV

Cuban Situation Casts Shadow on Encounter

From Our News Wires
DETROIT — The tense international situation cast a sobering shadow last night over the last of three television debates between Gov. John Swainson and his Republican challenger, George Romney.

Both candidates were grim and unsmiling during most of the 30-minute program, and both alluded to the Cuban crisis in trying to explain why they should be elected governor of Michigan for the next two years.

Most of the debate was a review of what the candidates said in their earlier encounters or have been saying on the campaign trail.

The governor took a bitter verbal swipe at Republican State Chairman George Van Puseum for his comments on President Kennedy's Cuban action.

HITS REPUBLICAN
"It was a disgusting statement (Van Puseum) made three days ago... implying that Khrushchev wants Democrats elected so that communism can take over in the United States," Swainson said. "This is political leeching and responsibility? It was a terrible statement."

Asked by newsmen for his reaction, Romney said he did not even know what Van Puseum had said, and commented:

"What George Van Puseum said certainly has no reference to any viewpoint of mine because I didn't even know what he had said."

K, Gromyko Both Told JFK Bases 'Defensive'

NEW YORK (AP) — Both Soviet Premier Khrushchev and his foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, assured President Kennedy last week that the Soviet military buildup in Cuba was purely defensive, The New York Times reported today.

A Washington dispatch by Max Frankel said Kennedy's discussion on Cuba with Gromyko took up about half of the 2-hour and 15-minute conference in the White House Oct. 8, four days before the U.S. imposed its blockade against missile shipments.

Gromyko emphasized "frankness" in his talk with Kennedy, as did Khrushchev in his three-hour talk last week with U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler in Moscow, the newspaper said.

A detailed account of the Gromyko-Kennedy talk, the newspaper said, "shows that the President never confronted the Soviet diplomat with his evidence of medium-range missiles and bombers in Cuba."

Nor did Kennedy, the story continued, betray his intention to take forceful action to block further shipments and to have the bases dismantled.

Khrushchev, in his talk with Kohler, The Times said, told the ambassador "there should be no concern about the fishing port A.C. saw planned to build for the Castro government, for it would be just that."

Kennedy, in his Monday address to the nation, quoted the "defensive" definition by Gromyko in connection with arms to Cuba, and then accused the Soviet leaders of having made false statements.

Wants Rockets Removed From Both Nations

Soviet Chief Puts Deadline on Offer to Negotiate Swap

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today rejected Russia's proposal to trade Soviet missile bases in Cuba for U.S. bases in Turkey. He demanded that the Cuban rocket sites be dismantled under international inspection.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy today he is ready to withdraw offensive weapons from Cuba if the United States will pull its rockets out of Turkey.

In his message, as broadcast by Moscow radio, he asserted that all weapons now stationed in Cuba are under direct Soviet military control.

He proposed that U. Thant, acting secretary-general of the United Nations, act as agent in negotiating an agreement and that the United Nations itself act to guarantee compliance by sending inspectors to Cuba and Turkey.

But, he added, any such agreement should be concluded in two or three weeks — "certainly no more than a month."

The Soviet premier also suggested a declaration before the United Nations pledging Soviet noninterference in the internal affairs of Turkey, coupled with a similar U.S. commitment on Cuba.

In Washington, the White House reported today that President Kennedy had received another message from Khrushchev, but declined comment on it for the present.

Khrushchev's offer was made in a message sent to President Kennedy and to Acting Secretary General U. Thant of the United Nations.

The message to Kennedy was broadcast by Moscow radio.

The Soviet premier offered to withdraw from Cuba the weapons the President considered offensive and would declare this pledge to the United Nations.

He said it was unfair to expect the Soviet Union to withdraw weapons from Cuba when rockets on American bases in Turkey were pointed at the Soviet Union.

(In Washington, press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy received a letter from Khrushchev late Friday night.)

"We will have no present comment on it," Salinger said.

WANT TO CHECK
(The White House presumably wanted to compare the message received by Kennedy with the text of it as reported by the Russian news agency Tass before making any comment.)

Governors Get CD Briefing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight governors were briefed at the Pentagon today on ways of protecting the civilian population from nuclear attack. They were to talk civil defense with President Kennedy at the White House later.

Eleven governors originally were scheduled to attend, but three of them sent top civil defense officials as their representatives. Their first closed briefing at the Pentagon was by Central Intelligence Agency Chief John A. McCone.

See Warming Trend Through Sunday

A gradual warming trend through Sunday is the welcome weather forecast for the Pontiac area. Partly cloudy skies are also predicted.

Following a low of 35 this evening, the temperature is expected to reach a high of 55 tomorrow.

The outlook for Monday is partly cloudy with not much change in temperatures.

Winds today are from the southwest at eight to 18 miles per hour. Twenty-eight was the lowest temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 1 p.m. the mercury had risen to 42.

Resident Takes Pride in UF

ABE COHEN

In support of the current Pontiac Area United Fund Drive, Abe Cohen, executive vice president of Pontiac's Standard Electric Co., today issued the following statement:

"As a resident of this community, I look with pride at the list of 54 worthy agencies that share every dollar given to Pontiac Area United Fund.

"This brings back memories of my boyhood when raising of funds for charity was not organized as it is now.

RECALL DONATION APPEALS
"Recall when self-

pointed committees of two or three neighbors would call at our home asking for a donation of food, clothing or cash for the benefit of a destitute neighbor who was in need.

"It was not so long ago that most of us can remember when each organization ran its individual campaigns for funds. Weekly we had requests from various charitable organizations.

"These memories prove very forcefully to me how efficiently our contributions to the United Fund are used.

"I ask all to please give and remember, 'One Gift Works Many Wonders.'"

State Man 'Pretty Shocked'

Quadruplets Surprise State Pair

COLDWATER (UPI) — "We sort of expected twins," Harry Stickney of nearby Girard said today. "But we weren't ready for four of them."

Stickney said he and his wife, Phyllis, 26, were "pretty shocked" when she gave birth yesterday to quadruplets sons at the Branch County Community Health Center.

The couple has three other children, Marilyn, 7, Patty Ann, 6, and Wayne, 2.

The babies, ranging in weight from four pounds to five pounds, six ounces, are in good condition. They were placed in incubators after birth as a precautionary measure.

William S. Broomfield
Best Qualified for Post

In the upcoming Nov. 6 election Oakland County residents will be voting for a member of the House of Representatives from the 18th District.

Candidates seeking the post are Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, R-Royal Oak, and GEORGE J. FULKERSON, D-Bloomfield Township.

With the world

BROOMFIELD crises as they are, careful selection is needed in all government posts to assure us experienced leadership. During the six years that BROOMFIELD has served as congressman his record speaks for itself.

His colleagues thought enough of his qualifications and ability to appoint him to the important

Foreign Affairs Committee on which he now serves. His work with this group on matters affecting all of us has been outstanding.

When it comes to serving his constituents and growing Oakland

County in particular, we can personally attest to BROOMFIELD's effectiveness.

He has worked tirelessly against government waste and has spent untold hours working for some type of controls

(strings) on foreign aid.

This newspaper feels that his experience is valuable for the people of the 18th District. His opponent,

GEORGE FULKERSON, is an able attorney, but we do not feel that his qualifications are convincing enough to make him a better candidate.

With so much formidable work facing the new Congress we recommend returning Congressman

BROOMFIELD to office.

UF Goal Is Challenge --

Let's Strive to Meet It

The Pontiac Area United Fund

Campaign is now under way and progressing nicely. If we are to maintain the record of recent years in making the goal, there must be a strong response in the next few days.

Successes of the last several years not only have provided the funds needed for the worthy services maintained, but have signified the responsive hearts of the citizens of our area.

Backing this once-a-year drive is your benefit. It assures you that you will not be approached throughout the year for more money by any of the United Fund agencies.

The challenge is a strong one. It should be met.

Specific Rules a Must

Before Summit Session

Pressure for a summit meeting over Cuba continues to build up.

It appears quite evident that Soviet

Premier KHRUSHCHEV is angling to hold such a parley.

The fact that on Oct. 24 he asked for a "top-level meeting" is significant of his intentions. Actually, there is a great deal of sentiment in this country favoring some such get-together. A recent advertisement in the New York Times carried the names of 450 faculty members of universities and colleges suggesting a meeting between the two chiefs of state at the earliest possible date.

Unquestionably, in this nuclear age it is unthinkable to shoot it out.

It would seem reasonable to expect that sooner or later KENNEDY and KHRUSHCHEV must talk it out.

The ground rules for summitry talks must be enforced if any solid gain can be expected. In the past,

Khrushchev met twice with Eisenhower, and a third talk was called off. It took a rather dim view of the results from such meetings.

The KENNEDY administration insists on some prerequisites which would make it possible for some accomplishment if such summit sessions were held.

President Kennedy is absolutely right in asking that certain conditions be followed before any top-level talks get under way. If Khrushchev and the Soviets will not agree on important points before a talk, a summit meeting might only add fuel to the fire.

Should a summit fail it could add to tensions rather than reduce them.

Operation on Heart

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

"Don't eat too much breakfast—your going to see an operation," was the word passed out in advance of one of the sessions of an Associated Press meeting in Minneapolis attended by Press Managing Editor

Harry J. Reed

The operation turned out to be a filmed presentation of open heart surgery—not exactly a tranquilizing spectacle for laymen.

During the showing, after five doughty newsmen had passed out, a weak appeal was heard, "Is there a doctor in the house?" There was — but he wasn't immediately available. . . .

was pretty busy running the projector

at the moment!

My good friend from Clarkson

Glenn Randall

president of Pontiac Optimist Club, believes in striking while the iron's hot. In fact, if the iron cools a bit before the strike, he's one, with his enthusiasm, to hit it up a little.

But the iron was still smoking when he dropped in a few days ago, after seeing column reference to the OPTIMIST'S

CREED, published by the National De-mophilic Institute. Not to be outdone, he presented a miniature plaque bearing THE

OPTIMIST CREED of his INTERNA-

TIONAL organization.

The creed is such a fine exposition of workday philosophy, conducive to inner peace and enjoyment that it is offered here:

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your piece of mind. . . . To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. . . . To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. . . . To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and expect only the best. . . .

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. . . .

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. . . . To give so much to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others. . . . To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit possession of trouble.

Some of the wraiths who wander abroad are not the ghosts of the dead but the spirits of living persons who have the power to leave their bodies.

All the souls in Purgatory are released for forty-eight hours.

They are thus free for two nights.

This is plainly an association of the Druid and Christian notions, a strange confusion of Purgatory and the Druid transfer of human souls to the bodies of animals.

The wind blowing over a corpse on Halloween night will bring audible sighs into any home where there will be a death within the coming year.

Two things can happen at the crossroads on Wednesday night:

one is that if you listen to the wind there, it will whisper to you all the important things that will happen in your life during the year to come.

The other is that if you will sit there on a three-legged stool while the church clock strikes twelve you will hear the bell distinctly pronounce the names of all those parishioners who are to die within the year. It would be pretty hard to fulfill the necessary conditions nowadays, if you live in, for example, New York.

To insure the fertility of your fields in the next growing season, you should walk all the way around your farm, carrying a lighted torch.

Any gambler who wishes to insure good luck at the tables should hide under a blackberry bush and invoke the Devil.

If you hear footsteps behind you, don't look around. It is the dead who are following you, and if you should catch the glance of one of them you, too, will die. As Sat-chell Paige said, "Don't look back, something might be gaining on you."

Do you see anything Christian in all this? In all honesty, your columnist sees little connection between All Saints', or All Hollow's

Day, and the Eve that precedes it.
