Apollo 11 Crew . . . . . Lands in Pacific

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — The men who opened the Moon Age returned to their home planet today, blazing back through the earth's atmosphere to a landing in the Pacific about nine miles from this recovery ship where President Nixon waited to greet the space heroes.

The Apollo 11 ship, carrying Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins, hit the water at 11:50 p.m. EST, climaxing an adventure in which two men walked the surface of the moon for the first time.

Related Stories, Pictures, Pages B-8, B-9, B-13, E-16

On landing, Apollo 11 turned upside down in the three-to-six-foot waves and the astronauts inflated flotation bags to right it. The same thing happened to Apollo 7 when it landed last October.

"We're still in stable 2 (upside down)," Armstrong reported, "but slowly righting ourselves."

LANDING NOT VISIBLE

"Stable 1," he called out.

The landing was not visible from the carrier because of a combination of a hazy sky and the fact that it was just after dawn in the Pacific.

Like hundreds of sailors on the deck, Nixon craned and peered through binoculars as he tried to see the descending craft.

The first report from the recovery forces said the crew was in "excellent" condition.

Live television from the ship showed Nixon peering toward the horizon. When word came that the astronauts were safely down, he clasped his hands and smiled. With the President was Col. Frank Borman, who commanded last December's Apollo 8 moon orbit flight, Secretary of State William Rogers, and space administrator Thomas O. Paine.

WON'T SHAKE HANDS

The Hornet, stationed about 950 miles southwest of Hawaii, steamed toward the landing point.

Because of strict quarantine measures, Nixon will not shake hands with the astronauts. They will put on isolation suits and be transferred from a helicopter to an airtight silver trailer below decks. This will be their home during a 2½-day sea-air trip to a quarantine facility at the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex.

After Apollo 11 was righted in the water, frogmen jumped into the sea from helicopters and attached additional flotation collars to make it stable some 15 minutes after touchdown.

The touchdown ended a flight of 8 days, 3 hours 18 minutes during which Apollo 11 traveled more than 750,000 miles.

NAMES ETCHED

Armstrong and Aldrin etched their names beside history's great explorers on Sunday when they flew the fragile craft named Eagle to man's first landing on the moon.

Hours later, Armstrong, then Aldrin, strode the lunar surface, leaving their footprints in the powdery terrain.

★ ★ ★

On Monday, in another gripping moment in this drama of the ages, Armstrong and Aldrin blasted Eagle off the moon and rejoined Collins orbiting overhead in the command ship, Columbia.

They fired themselves out of lunar orbit to start a leisurely 60-hour return trip.

JETTISON MODULE

Before hitting the atmosphere today, the astronauts jettisoned a service module attached to the command ship. The shedding of this equipment bay exposed the heat shield and reduced Apollo 11's weight from about 32,000 to 12,000 pounds.

"You're go for landing," mission control told Apollo 11.

They slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere, at 400,000 feet altitude, like a speeding bulet. Their 24,602-mile-an-hour speed was dramatically slowed by the thickening atmosphere, and forces six times the pull of gravity pressed the spacemen against their couches.

During the hottest part of reentry, ionized gases enveloped the plunging spaceship and blocked radio communications for more than three minutes.

LAST LOOK

Before losing contact, Armstrong took a last look at the scene of Sunday's adventure and reported: "We have the moon in the field of view right now."

While Apollo 11 still was in the blackout period, its fiery plunge was sighted by tracking plane, which made radio contact.

Five minutes before landing three small parachutes popped out to stabilize the craft. Seconds later, at 10,000 feet, three main 83.5-foot chutes blossomed majestically and Apollo 11 floated gently downward into the Pacific at 22 m.p.h.

Originally, Apollo 11 was to have landed 250 miles to the west. But a forecast of thundershowers for that area prompted a change. The astronauts steered to the new site by changing the angle of the spaceship as they dipped into the atmosphere. It was the first time in the Apollo program that manual action had to be taken to change the course of a ship during reentry.

Kennedy Probe Has 'a Long Way to Go'

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The investigation into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident "isn't completed—not by a long shot," a Registry of Motor Vehicles supervisor says.

The supervisor, George W. Kennedy, no relation to the senator, commented yesterday after the state agency announced in Boston it had suspended the senator's driver's license because of the accident late last week.

Registry officials noted temporary suspension of a license is "fairly routine in cases involving a fatality."

The suspension was based on a preliminary finding that the 37-year-old Massachusetts Democrat was at fault in the accident, on an island off Martha's Vineyard, which claimed the life of Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary. Kennedy has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

UNTIL FORMAL HEARING

The registry said suspension of the senator's license will remain in effect until a formal hearing is conducted.

The hearing is to be held here Monday on the complaint accusing Kennedy of leaving the accident scene.

Its purpose will be to determine whether a summons should be issued against Kennedy, bringing him to trial.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominic C. Arena still wants to find out what happened in the time between the accident and the time Kennedy reported it.

★ ★ ★

"He's going to have to prove where he was between 1 and 9," Arena told newsmen yesterday.

"We are satisfied that the accident was an accident," the chief continued. "What happened afterward is the reason for the (leaving the scene) complaint."

PARTY ON ISLAND

Arena said he wanted particularly to talk with the persons who were reported

6 Egyptian Jets Downed After Nasser Threat

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets shot down six Egyptian MIGs in renewed air and ground fighting along the Suez Canal today, the army announced, following a threat by President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Egypt now is ready to fight to regain Arab territories.

While Israeli officials reported six MIG fighters downed, other Israeli military sources said the total of the Egyptian aircraft brought down was nine.

★ ★ ★

As the jets fought, Israeli and Egyptian guns blazed across the 103-mile canal which now divides Egypt from the Sinai Peninsula, seized by the Israelis in the June 1967 war.

The Israelis said their jets attacked Egyptian gun positions in the third air strike across the canal since Sunday.

'DRIVEN OFF'

A military spokesman in Cairo reported air and ground fighting was under way along the Suez Canal.

He said Israeli jets swept over Egyptian air defense positions but were driven off by antiaircraft fire and jet fighters.

★ ★ ★

Nasser made his threat to go on the offensive in a speech in Cairo yesterday.

Commenting on the speech, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of Israel told newsmen: "The Egyptians may renew the war and bomb Tel Aviv."

'MUST BE READY'

He added that Nasser apparently believes a new war with Israel already has begun.

Dayan stressed, however, he does not think a full-scale war is imminent this summer. But he said Israel would have to be "prepared for everything Nasser said he might do."

Shower Clouds Expected to Exit

Showers or thundershowers forecast for late today are expected to move toward the east, leaving skies clear and temperatures somewhat cooler tonight, with the low 56 to 63.

Skies will be sunny and temperatures will climb into the upper 70s tomorrow. Generally fair and warm is the prediction for Saturday.

Seventy was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had soared to 86 by 2 p.m.

Area Klansmen Dream of Military Strike Force

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of a series on the Pontiac Ku Klux Klan.)

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

Deep down, I think my Klan brothers will love this exposure.

They are a secret group, but secrecy bugs them. Local, state and federal police officials are fairly well aware of the Klan activities, too.

★ ★ ★

As in all extremist groups, however, the kooks are attracted, and there exists the element of unanticipated reaction. As one police official put it, "You just never know."

ADCOCK

One year ago, for instance, the Pontiac Klan attempted to organize a military strike force — for emergency activation. The move failed, due to internal squabbling over leadership and general apathy.

MILITARY DREAM

However, on Sunday, July 6, Alex Distel, 26, of 1108 Holbrook, Waterford Township, took it upon himself to organize a strike force.

It was all he could talk about, the "Confederacy," as he termed the strike force. He planned to train the men in survival techniques, weapons use, communications, medical care and food storage.

Distel's dream of leading a military squad against a band of "big black niggers," as he likes to say, will probably never come off.

Even so, a listing of certain members' weaponry is impressive, even though it accounts for only those weapons legally registered:

● Distel: (1) Browning pistol, 32-caliber nine-shot; (2) EIG 22-caliber six-shot revolver; and (3) the powerful Colt Python revolver, 357-magnum six-shot.

● Jack Ellis, 40, of 325 Wise, White Lake Township: (1) Ruger 22-caliber nine-shot pistol; (2) Reck 6.35-caliber eight-shot pistol; (3) J. C. Higgins Ranger revolver, 22-caliber nine-shot; and (4) Iver Johnson target revolver, 22-caliber eight-shot — the same kind of weapon used by Sirhan Sirhan to assassinate Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

● Bobbie C. Harper, 25, of 5426 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township: Rohm revolver, 22-caliber six-shot.

● Patrick Galloway, 34, of 483 Tallahassee: (1) Spesco Falcon automatic pistol, 25-caliber seven shot; and (2) Spesco Falcon automatic pistol, 25-caliber seven-shot.

● Neil MacKinnon, 34, of 1730 Bolton, Walled Lake: (1) Smith and Wesson Highway Patrolman model revolver, 357-magnum six-shot, considered an extremely high-powered pistol; (2) Colt 45 six-shot automatic pistol; (3) Ruger Blackhawk 30-6 rifle; (4) 22-caliber derringer; and (5) Ruger 22-caliber six-shot revolver.

PERMIT HOLDERS

Galloway, Ellis and MacKinnon are holders of permits to carry concealed weapons.

Strike Goes On in Waterford

By TOM TERP

More than 40 Waterford Township employes are still on strike.

They walked off their jobs yesterday morning and picketed in front of three township buildings. Spokesmen said today the employes would stay home from work until a new contract is settled.

The strikers include all township employes except policemen and firemen, whose contracts were ratified Monday giving them pay hikes of about $1,600 each per year.

Pickets appeared yesterday and again today in front of the Township Hall as well as the water and building department offices.

OFFICIALS 'INDIFFERENT'

They said yesterday money was the big issue in their dispute with the township and accused township officials of indifference and bad bargaining.

"Elmer Johnson (township supervisor) doesn't even know what our complaints are — furthermore, I don't even think he cares," declared AFL-CIO Council 23 spokesman Harvey Clark.

"We have been bargaining in good faith for nearly 12 months now, and we're regressing instead of progressing," Clark said.

He also charged township negotiators with failing to bargain in good faith, saying the offer made to the workers two weeks ago has since been reduced.

STATE MEDIATORS

"They made an offer that was unacceptable, and then they turned around and made a lower offer," he charged.

The last five months of negotiations have been held under the guidance of state mediators, but an agreement still has not been reached.

Supermarts Hit 'Pact'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. and the Acme supermarket chain say a secret agreement between a group of railroads and western fruit and vegetable growers could cost the nation's housewives $8 million.

★ ★ ★

The supermarkets made the charge in a petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday in protest to a proposed 21 per cent freight hike for vegetables and melons. The supermarkets said the railroads worked out a plan to give western growers a rebate in exchange for support of the freight increase.

Education, Hospital Building Budgets Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today to increase federal spending for education and hospital construction above President Nixon's requests.

The committee added $123.4 million to Nixon's budget for the Office of Education and $104 million to the hospital construction program.

* * *

The increases, along with cuts in many other programs, produced a $16.6 billion appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor that is $155.8 million more than Nixon asked for.

* * *

It is the second time this week the committee has increased the administration's budget. It added $58 million Monday to the appropriations requested for three other departments.

CUTS ORDERED

Nixon ordered a new round of spending cuts Tuesday and blamed Congress for adding $1 billion so far this year to his budget proposals.

The increases in education funds approved by the committee were mostly for elementary and secondary school programs and vocational education.

There is a strong likelihood the House will vote an even bigger increase when the bill gets to the floor next week because one administration cut left intact by the committee would greatly reduce a program with wide congressional support.

The program provides payments to school districts affected by federal activity, and most congressional districts share in it. Nixon proposed a $318 million cutback from last year's spending which would eliminate a major part of the program. Every administration for the past 10 years has tried to cut the program but Congress has always restored at least part of the funds.

* * *

The $104 million added by the committee for hospital construction restores a cut made by the administration on the basis of its intention to shift from construction grants to a system of mortgage guarantees. The committee said such a shift was not authorized by Congress during the current fiscal year.

The bill includes $7.3 billion for welfare and medical payments, up nearly $1 billion over the previous year. In all, HEW's budget totals $15.5 billion and the Department of Labor's $977 million with scattered agencies making up the rest.

New Directors Are Elected for Brookside

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Brookside School, Cranbrook, has elected three new members to its board of directors.

They are Mrs. James H. Carmel of 1288 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Township; Stephen L. Goodale, president of Goodale and Co.; and G. Bretnell Williams, executive vice president and director of Cunningham-Limp Co.

* * *

Mrs. Carmel is on the board of Planned Parenthood Federation and American Field Service and a member of the Junior League of Women Voters.

Goodale is a member of Oakland Hills Country Club, Engineering Society of Detroit, Society of Automotive Engineers and Detroit Athletic Club.

* * *

Williams is a director of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Peoples Bank of Port Huron, Creative Capital of Michigan and director emeritus of Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Rev. John A. Henschke of 244 Hadsell will assume duties as associate director of the Institute for Advanced Pastoral Studies in Bloomfield Hills Aug. 1.

* * *

A graduate of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Oak Brook, Ill., Rev. Henschke has been working on his doctorate in adult education at Boston University.

* * *

In addition to his pastoral service, Rev. Henschke has had wide experience as a trainer in human relations.

The Pulte Home Corp., a Troy-based operation headed by William J. Pulte of 950 E. Glengarry with operations in Illinois, Maryland, Georgia and Virginia, announced an agreement in principle for the purchase of American Builders Inc. of Colorado for an undisclosed amount of common stock

* * *

Pulte said that American Builders sales have exceeded $7.5 million annually.

New directors of the Cranbrook School Alumni Association have been named. They are H. William Ives, class of 1947, 619 Overhill; Jeremy John, class of 1947, 1757 Sheffield, Birmingham; Dr. Karl F. Lutomski, class of 1955, 1200 Latham, Birmingham; and Robert J. Sukenik, class of 1950, 1760 Woodgrove.

Judge Stays Out of Fireman Case

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore today said he would not order Pontiac Fire Chief Charles D. Marion to lift the suspension of a black fireman suspended three weeks ago.

Judge Moore said he could not rule on the request because Circuit Court does not have jurisdiction in the matter.

* * *

"This matter should be left to the local civil service commission for decision. They have exclusive jurisdiction over the hiring and firing of city employes," he ruled.

* * *

Frederick Milton was suspended for four weeks by Marion because of a moustache that violated Marion's grooming code. Milton's attorney, Elbert Hatchett, sought to have the suspension lifted.

* * *

Since Milton's suspension, Daniel Sowell also has been handed a four-week suspension for the same offense, leaving Pontiac temporarily with an all-white corps of firemen.

Employes Picket Waterford

Supervisor Johnson said yesterday that he had not kept up to date on the issues. He did say township offices would remain open during the strike.

Booth, Patterson, Hays and Karlstrom, attorneys for the township, said yesterday:

"The present dispute between the township and the union has been, at the request of both parties, under state mediation.

WILLING TO RESUME

"Mr. Leonard Bennett has been assigned to this matter by the State Mediation Board, and when a meeting is requested by the state mediator we shall, of course, resume negotiations with the union."

Bennett could not be contacted to say when the negotiations will resume.

* * *

"We'll stay away from our jobs just as long as it takes," said Mrs. Mary Lewis of 3184 Whitfield, Waterford Township, secretary-treasurer of the local.

Mrs. Lewis said her fellow workers wanted a 35-cent pay hike effective immediately. She said township offers have been in the area of 22 cents per hour across-the-board.

RETROACTIVE HIKE

"And we want that pay hike to be retroactive, back to last December when our last contract expired," Clark added.

Township attorneys would not comment.

Included among the strikers are secretaries, building inspectors' employes, department of public works' employes and water department employes.

Average hourly wage for those on strike presently is $2.75, according to Clark.

The police and fire contracts are retroactive with pay raises effective Jan. 1 and July 1 this year and Jan. 1 and July 1 next year. Johnson said he has not yet figured the total cost of raises.

Report Expected Today on Police Brutality Charge

Despite a police group's contention that its findings might prejudice a trial board, the Pontiac Human Relations Commission says it will make public a report on its investigation into brutality charges made against two city policemen.

Chairman Samuel A. Baker said the commission would reveal its findings today.

* * *

Baker received a telegram Tuesday from the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) urging delay of the report until after the trial board hearing called for by Police Chief William K. Hanger.

"The Pontiac Police Officers Association hereby advises that any action on the part of the Pontiac Human Relations Commission to prejudge the facts of this case prior to the hearing before the Police Trial Board would be considered as extremely prejudicial to the rights of Officers (Raymond) Hawks and (Carl) Yuill," said the telegram.

DECIDED LAST NIGHT

Baker said the commission decided late last night it could not withhold its findings.

"We are acting on behalf of the entire community, and we feel we cannot withhold the findings and recommendations we have made," he said.

Arrested and charged with resisting arrest were Elick Shorter, 25 and Kenneth Walker, 27. Walker also faces a charge of creating a disturbance in the incident July 10 at the Hayes Jones Center, 235 Wessen.

McCarthy Says He Won't Run

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy said today he would not run for reelection as senator in Minnesota or any other state.

* * *

The Minnesota Democrat made the announcement at a news conference after conferring with officials of the Democratic Farmer Labor party for the past two days.

* * *

"I'm reaffirming what I said in the past so that potential candidates may declare what they want to do in the next few months," the senator said.

* * *

GM Truck Has Good Mid-July

Mid-July truck sales for GMC Truck & Coach Division were at their highest level in 19 years, Martin J. Caserio, a vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, reported today.

Truck sales of 3,926 in the middle 10 days of July were 11.8 per cent above the 3,512 deliveries last year and second only to the all-time record of 5,414 for the period set in 1950, he said.

* * *

Calendar year GMC truck sales of 83,603 through July 20 were at their highest level in history, six per cent above the former record of 78,844 established over the same span last year, Caserio said.

Combined truck and coach sales through July 20 totaled 84,695 units, also a record for the division.

'Kennedy Probe Far From Finished'

to have attended a party with Kennedy and Miss Kopechne on Chappaquiddick Island prior to the accident.

Kennedy remained in seclusion yesterday at his home on Squaw Island, near the Kennedy family compound in Hyannis Port.

Miss Esther Newburg, one of several young women who reportedly attended the party, was quoted in a copyright story yesterday in the Worcester, Mass., Gazette as saying she and the four other girls at the party didn't learn of the accident until Saturday morning.

In an interview with the New York Daily News, Miss Newburg was quoted further as saying that she couldn't believe any of the men who remained behind knew about the accident either.

In the Daily News account, Miss Newburg said: "The few times I saw them (the men) during the night they were perfectly calm, and I can't believe they would be calm if they knew about it."

Girls' Bodies Found

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Police pressed an "around-the-clock investigation" today for the killer of two girls whose nude and gagged bodies were found in a beach house they rented.

The girls, Suzanna M. Shepherd, 19, of Orange Grove and Katherine J. Waggoner, 20, of Wool Market, both villages near Biloxi, were bludgeoned to death, apparently with a blunt instrument.

Kelley Urges Panel to Expedite Control of Great Lakes Levels

CHOW TIME—Farmington Elks Lodge members (from left) Kirk Algero, cook; Bill O'Conner, lecturing knight; and bill Everhart, ox roast chairman, prepare an ox for roasting in the annual kickoff of the Farmington Founders Festival. Beginning today, downtown Farmington is full of special booths and special events. The highlight of the three-day festival is a parade featuring Gov. William Milliken Saturday morning.

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — The Great Lakes Commission was urged yesterday to seek ways to regulate the water levels of the five Great Lakes to lessen the impact of changing water conditions.

Contrasting the extremely low water levels of the early 1960s to today's abnormally high levels, Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said "common sense dictates that proper control of these drastic fluctuations of our water levels must be found."

Kelley, vice chairman of the commission, called on the group to urge Congress to appropriate funds for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to complete a Great Lakes water control survey.

He suggested that the U.S. State Department be requested to ask Canada to reduce the amount of water presently diverted from Lake Long-Lac-Ogoki in Ontario into Lake Superior.

"Several years ago I sponsored a conference to discuss the then serious problem of low water levels in the Great Lakes basin and the effect on various economic interests," Kelley said.

"Today we are suffering damages in the other extreme brought about by excessively high levels. This phenomenon suggests that methods must be found to keep our lake levels within reasonable bounds," he added.

The corps of engineers began a survey to establish water levels on the Great Lakes several years ago, Kelley noted, but lack of funds has not permitted them to complete the study.

"Dramatic results could be obtained if this survey could be completed and construction of proposed control work could be commenced in the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River," he said.

"Consideration should be given in asking our good neighbor to the north, Canada, through the U.S. State Department, that they cut down on the quantity of water that Canada is presently diverting from Lake Long-Lac-Ogoki," he continued.

"A reduction here would cause an immediate lowering in the Lake Superior level," he said.

* * *

The attorney general added that Canada was permitted to discharge 5,000 cubic feet of water per second into Lake Superior.

* * *

However, he said, "we have unconfirmed reports that they are diverting as much as 10,000 cubic feet per second into the lake."

Water levels in the Great Lakes presently range from six inches to over a foot above normal, said Col. Roger Barnes of the corps of engineers.

2 CONTROL FACILITIES

Barnes added that the corps operated two control facilities on the Great Lakes — on the St. Mary's River near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and the Niagara River, upstream of the falls.

Both can be used to partially control water levels, he said.

* * *

The only possible areas where additional control structures now could be built is in the Detroit River-Lake St. Clair area between Lakes Erie and Huron, he added.

However, he said, plans have been discussed to divert water to and from the Great Lakes into Canada to offset fluctuating water levels.

* * *

"During the last high water levels in the 1950s," Kelley said, "the corps of engineers estimated that the shore owners' damages exceeded $50 million along the Great Lakes.

"Today damages could be much higher because of increased development along the shorelines," he said.

5 Subdivision Road Projects to Get Under Way in August

Five subdivision road improvement projects are scheduled to get under way next month under the new revolving fund established by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

James R. Stevens, special assessments engineer for the County Road Commission reports 31 miles of gravel roads will be paved in the program. A start on nearly half of the 31 miles is expected this year.

* * *

New legislation from Lansing this year made possible the creation of the county's $500,000 revolving road fund. The fund will be administered by the road commission.

Two of the five road improvement projects are scheduled to be let out for bids on Aug. 13. Both are in Farmington Township.

OTHER BIDS

Three other projects are scheduled to be put out for bids on Aug. 27. They will launch road improvements for the townships of White Lake, Bloomfield and Farmington.

Three Farmington Township subdivisions — Guy R. Pooley, Kendallwood and Old Farm Colony — are in line for road improvements this year.

* * *

White Lake Township's Lakewood Village subdivision will receive improvements on 3.61 miles of road. The estimated cost of the paving is $298,000.

Bloomfield's Meadowlake Farms subdivision will receive 1.82 miles of paving. Total project cost is estimated at $90,000.

ONLY A START

Although only a start is expected on 6.4 miles of road in Farmington Township's Kendallwood subdivision this year, the other two projects are expected to be completed. Cost estimates on the Kendallwood paving are $318,000.

Old Farm Colony paving will cover 1.25 miles at an estimated cost of $133,090. Pooley subdivision paving will cover 1.34 miles of road at an estimated cost of $31,000.

Farmington Township will pay 10 per cent of the total costs of road improvements scheduled in the three subdivisions there. The Road Commission will contribute 10 per cent of the cost.

The balance of the financing will come out of the revolving fund to be paid back over a 10-year period by the special assessment districts.

Dry Homes Getting Emergency Water

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Wherever possible, Sylvan Manor homes, whose wells have gone dry, are being hooked up to that subdivision's partially completed water system, Township Supervisor John Doherty said today. For streets where mains have not been completed, Doherty is trying to make other emergency arrangements.

More than 30 homes have dry wells, according to Mrs. Nelson Roy of 2464 St. Joseph, whose own well went dry some 10 days ago.

* * *

Several of the wells have been dry for many months — and some since before the water system was started last year according to Doherty. He stressed that the large number of dry wells were in no way connected with building of the new water system.

Construction on the system to serve Sylvan Manor, Pine Lake Woods Estates and Pine Lake Manors began last December and was originally scheduled to be completed last month.

DATE PUSHED BACK

A delay in the delivery of a water meter valve — needed to measure the flow of water for billing to the township by Detroit — has pushed back the completion date until next month, or later.

Until that time, the township is attempting to hook up homes to any lines that have already been tested and approved just to give people water. Doherty said that, legally, the township could not hook up any home to those parts of the system that have not been tested.

The subdivision was built in the early 1950s, with some of the wells going down as far as 180 feet. In 1967, a move to put in a water system was organized despite considerable opposition. The Novi Construction Co. is doing the work.

* * *

Mrs. Roy commented that she felt a little like a pioneer. She reported that residents are forced to pick up jugs of water at the laundromat for cooking and washing and to beg friends to let them in to take baths.

Kuhn Continues to Press Kelley on Indictments

LANSING (AP) — An Oakland County lawmaker again is demanding that Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reveal the status of some 27 indictments issued about two years ago by one man grand juries.

The Attorney General, meanwhile, told Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, that he "regrets the necessity of taking the time out of the important business of the state to repeatedly respond to (him) about matters of which he is totally ignorant."

* * *

Kuhn wrote Kelley late last week, asking the status of indictments brought by the Pratt and Thorburn grand juries in Oakland County.

Kuhn yesterday sent another letter to the attorney general, asking him to "make public the entire list of indictments, the date each was issued, the individuals involved, for what purpose issued and what, if any, legal action has been taken by your office since the date of issuance."

* * *

WAYNE INDICTMENTS

He sought similar information about indictments handed down by the Piggins and Bowles grand juries in Wayne County.

"It is imperative that as a result of the vast sums of public taxpayers' dollars spent in calling and conducting one-man grand juries (some have cost more than $250,000) every legal effort possible should be made to bring these cases to prosecution," Kuhn wrote.

* * *

"Considering the new Oakland County grand jury about to begin (Aug. 1), we cannot continue the practice of building up a tremendous backlog of serious criminal indictments without expeditious legal action to follow," he said.

Early last year Kelley asked for records of the grand juries to prepare prosecution of those indictments, a spokesman said. The state Supreme Court twice denied that access to records.

LEGAL BARRIERS

At Kelley's request, the spokesman said, Rep. Marvin Stempien, D-Livonia, introduced legislation that would have allowed prosecuting agencies to use the records of grand juries after conclusion of the grand juror's term to prepare for prosecutions. That measure never made it out of committee.

"Despite these legal barriers, we are in the process of preparing (prosecution)," said Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan.

* * *

"If we can take time from responding to Sen. Kuhn's epistles we can get on with the business of preparing these prosecutions," he said.

The list of indictments sought by Kuhn already is a matter of record, he added.

New Law Eases State Regulation on Bond Issues

LANSING (AP) — A bill reducing the requirement for publication by a municipality of notice of intent to issue revenue bonds has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken.

* * *

Instead of publishing the entire text of the proposed bond issue, the municipality may only publish the notice of intent plus a statement of the amount of the bond issue.

Other bills signed would:

- Permit second-class school districts to temporarily use gifts made for operating purposes for other purposes.
- Extend indefinitely an act allowing Wayne County school districts in contract with the county for use of the Wayne County Child Development Center.
- Repeal a 1960 act which provided for medical assistance to the aged to come from the federal Kerr-Mills program. The funding now comes under the medicaid program.

Space Trip Would Choke Up Hens

EAST LANSING (AP) — People and monkeys may make it in outer space—but a chicken would lay an egg as an astronaut.

So say Michigan State University poultry experts who point to the problems of gravity and gurgling down food

* * *

"A chicken takes a gulp of water in its bill, holds its head up in the air and allows the water to run down its throat," explains Dr. Howard Zindel, chairman of the MSU poultry science department.

"It has no swallowing mechanism, like people. It couldn't survive by itself unless you force fed it," Zindel said.

* * *

"I don't think a chicken could go into space and live for very long."

Birmingham Motel Robbed of $1,125 by 3 Young Men

BIRMINGHAM — Three young men robbed the Village Inn Motel, 300 N. Hunter, of about $1,125 in cash and checks last night, police said.

* * *

Police reported the three men, all described as about 20, entered the motel at 9:45 p.m. and forced the two desk clerks, Fred Dice and Richard Stirnmann, to lie on the floor.

* * *

One of the suspects held the clerks at gunpoint while they were being tied and gagged by the other two.

The bandits then cleaned out the register and fled on foot. Police have no leads on the case as yet.

Novi OKs Woman as City Comptroller

NOVI — The appointment of Mrs. Francis Gow as city comptroller was approved by the City Council in the third of three meetings to cover this week's council agenda.

Talk — but not much else — occurred at the marathon three-day council meeting which ended last night, according to City Manager Harold Ackley.

Monday night, the council spent the evening investigating the request of Empire Taxi Co., Farmington, for a taxicab license. Currently there is only one taxi cab service, The Star Cab Co., in Novi.

Several council members apparently objected to issuing another license because they believed that there was not enough business for two companies.

MATTER POSTPONED

The matter was finally postponed until the next meeting where the Empire Cab Co. will have a chance to prove that the demand is great enough for two companies.

Tuesday evening, the council met with the fire department. They took an inventory of equipment.

The appointment of Mrs. Gow, at a salary of $7,500, to the new position recently created by a special ordinance was the major item last night.

In other business, the council approved a contract with Johnson and Anderson Inc. (J&A) for specifications on the proposed drainage and paving of Meadowbrook between Nine and 10 Mile roads. Contract cost is $9,200.

The council also authorized Ackley to find a means to finance the paving of Nine Mile between Novi and Meadowbrook roads. A study by J&A projected the cost at about $10,000.

Burned Child Is Home

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Sallie Kyllonen came home, and it was unlike a homecoming for any other 6-year-old.

Sallie, burned over 60 per cent of her body in an accidental fire, is te daughter of the Ronald Kyllonens of Buell Road.

* * *

"She's home temporarily," Mrs. Kyllonen explained, "but she's home."

In a year Sallie will return to Children's Hospital in Detroit for plastic surgery. Before that, she will return to the room in which she spent the last four months for more skin grafts.

AID BY READERS

"We just don't know when she'll return for further treatment," Mrs. Kyllonen explained. "It will depend on her progress in healing here at home."

For Sallie, who was too young to understand the pain she underwent and too young to understand why the doctors had to inflict more pain to cure her, the hospital ordeal was lightened by the generous readers of The Pontiac Press.

"The day after the first article came out (April 25) we went to the hospital and 200 cards had been delivered to Sallie's room. The day after that, we had 100 more and, each day for a week, there would be 40 or 50," Mrs. Kyllonen related.

"In all, there must have been more than 500 cards. It took us four shopping bags and a big cardboard box to get them out of the room.

GIFTS STREAM IN

"And the gifts. People from all over would send in stuffed animals, coloring books and crayons and dolls and books.

"There were so many toys that Sallie couldn't possibly use them all . . . When you're in Children's Hospital for four long months, you see a lot and learn a lot . . . You feel so sorry for those darned kids . . . Some of them don't have any parents and no one to send cards and little gifts.

* * *

"We gave about half of the gifts to the hospital when we left. You should have seen the other kids there at the hospital . . . They were just as delighted as Sallie was when she first got them," Mrs. Kyllonen said.

The money to the Sallie Kyllonen fund at the Wayne-Oakland Bank, P.O. Box 220, Rochester 48063, is still coming in. To date, more than $5,000 has been donated for Sallie's medical expenses.

'SALLIE AMAZED'

"Sallie was so amazed that so many people she didn't know and never would know have sent her cards and gifts . . . It's just amazing," Mrs. Kyllonen said.

At home, Sallie is doing very well. She has lost the use of one arm for awhile and her head is not erect, but she is healing, and plastic surgery will probably help.

* * *

"She is still quite self-conscious about her appearance," Mrs. Kyllonen said. "Otherwise, she is cheerful and playing just like she used to."

Bad Wiring Sparks Basement Blaze in Elba Restaurant

ELBA TOWNSHIP — Fire swept through the basement portion of Smith's Drive-In, 3565 Davison, last night, causing extensive smoke and water damage to the building.

Reports state that the fire, caused by faulty electrical wiring, broke out at 9:05 p.m. in this small community west of Lapeer.

Fire crews from Elba and Hadley townships and Lapeer battled the blaze for four hours, confining the fire to the basement. There were no injuries, as the restaurant had been closed since 6 p.m.

Camp Shapes Adults of Future

"The child is the father of the man" was the adage offered by William Wordsworth centuries ago. This principle is used today by Frog Hollow Day Camp.

"Not only do we attempt to teach the youths how to identify various animals, but also to become better future citizens," explained camp Director David Weatherell.

★ ★ ★

How does this shaping take place? By "roughing it" at the Pontiac Lake Recreation area, 7800 Gale, Waterford Township.

Camp fire building, field hikes, swimming, fishing, and learning woodcraft under the direction of qualified camp leaders are all in a week's programs at the camp.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The youngsters learn though, that it takes more than rubbing two sticks together to make a fire.

Activities such as field trips, provides the boys and girls at an early age, with background information that will be helpful throughout their lives. Camping skills, swimming safety, and wildlife study, are only a few assets gained by attending day camp.

One of the main points experienced by being a member of Frog Hollow though, is "compatibility." Youngsters from all over the Pontiac school area, are mixed together in one gigantic "melting pot." Together, they not only learn the woods and fields like the back of their hands, but also the hands of their neighbor.

By guiding, yet not stifling creativity and individuality, Frog Hollow begins with the youth of today, and helps to shape adults of tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Frog Hollow, cosponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, and the Pontiac School District, operates five days a week from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All children ages 7-11 who live within the Pontiac school area are eligible to join Frog Hollow. Registration for the final camp session this summer, Aug. 4 — 8, is now at City Hall.

Few Using GI Bill

Only one returning veteran in five is taking advantage of the "Cold War" GI Bill, compared to one in two returning vets a generation ago. Federal officials are seeking the answer to why so few young vets are turning in their weapons for schoolbooks.

Nearly 20 per cent of the 2.7 million Vietnam vets released from service have not completed high school, yet only four per cent have applied for a special high school studies subsidy.

★ ★ ★

One reason so few Viet vets are not trading the wars of the rice paddy for the campus street battle is that the current GI bill is nowhere near the old one in generosity. World War II vets got full tuition, books and materials, and a living allowance, too.

★ ★ ★

The current version provides an allowance only, the amount based upon marital status and number of dependents.

Another reason may be that World War II saw a total mobilization, with no deferments for ordinary studies beyond high school. When the war ended, not only were those whose educations had been interrupted ready to resume the textbook grind, but they were joined by millions of Depression-born youths who suddenly had the means to attend college.

★ ★ ★

However, the Vietnam war has been fought largely by those without the inclination or aptitude for college. The middle-class youth who goes to college as a matter of course, is draft-exempt until he has completed that cap and gown walk. He has little need of the GI bill when he returns.

★ ★ ★

President Nixon has set up a committee on Vietnam Veterans to study the problem, with the purpose of finding new programs for a new generation of veterans. There is concern that a high number of returning veterans are not seeking to better themselves educationally, and thus better our Nation.

Junk Yard in Outer Space

America has made a clean sweep in the space race to the moon, but the same cannot be said for the moon or space itself.

We are litterbugs.

Before Apollo 11's Eagle departed for home, there were remains of 22 American and Soviet unmanned lunar probes cluttering up the desolate landsc—oops—moonscape.

★ ★ ★

Astronauts Aldrin and Armstrong added materially to this space junk yard, leaving about $1 million worth of equipment around their landing site.

★ ★ ★

Before the Apollo 11 blastoff, there were 1,730 man-made objects bounding around in space. Although the Russians and the U.S. have scattered most of the debris, France, Britain, Canada and Italy have added to the total, using American rockets.

Will future space travelers have to study charts of the "space wrecks" to avoid piling up on reefs of refuse?

Ancestry Clue in Earwax

Science has dealt another blow to family life. The venerable "ear-washing" situation may be ripped away from the family norm.

Scientists are studying earwax to determine where people came from. This is not part of the sex education study. They already know where people come from, they mean geographically.

★ ★ ★

Apparently a moist type of earwax indicates ancestors in one area, and a dry formation points at a different location.

★ ★ ★

Now Junior can defend his inadequacies and inaccuracies in the shower or tub. If his ears aren't clean, why, it's all for the advancement of science, Dad.

Please, Mr. Scientist, don't begin studying fingernails next. Parents couldn't take it.

Wallace Has Eye on Governor's Race

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Evidence mounts that George Wallace is edging closer to another try for the Alabama governorship in 1970.

BIOSSAT

Some citizen petitions urging him to run were circulated for awhile in Jefferson County, centered on Birmingham.

Observers in Alabama say this was probably undertaken at the instigation of Wallace himself, with the aim of establishing some kind of rock-bottom measure of his current popularity in the state. Jefferson County never has been one of his strong areas.

★ ★ ★

The word is that petitions, now withdrawn, developed a fairly good response.

Wallace earlier answered all queries as to his 1970 intentions with a fairly strong negative, while not quite closing the door.

LANGUAGE SOFTENS

Recently his language has softened. In his own state, he told a questioner: "I'll do whatever the people tell me to do." In Washington on a network panel show, he said: "I might, or I might not run."

A few months ago the common report was that he had privately assured incumbent Gov. Albert Brewer, who assumed office upon the death of Lurleen Wallace, that he would not go in 1970.

★ ★ ★

Sources indicate today that Wallace does not feel he gave Brewer anything like a flat commitment on that score.

The stress is put on an alleged statement to Brewer that the former governor then had "no plans to run." Obviously, plans can change.

REAL INTEREST

Wallace's real interest is in another presidential try in 1972, plainly not with the idea of winning but with the hope of taking more states and thus perhaps throwing the election into the House of Representatives.

By this means, he might employ his bargaining power to wring some concessions for the South from a favored major party candidate.

★ ★ ★

Wallace-watchers think he may not be sure whether he needs the Alabama governorship as a base for another presidential try. He remembers that President Nixon did all right without such a base after 1961.

Furthermore, there are risks involved. Brewer is proving a successful governor.

One state observer thinks Wallace would be hurt for 1972 if he took on Brewer, who is determined to run next year, and did not beat him by a crushing margin.

Wallace has the money to keep an extensive newsclipping dossier on both Brewer and Nixon. And he seems to have decided already that only Wallace — not Nixon — can satisfy the South in 1972.

Bob Considine Says:

Rocket Pioneer Is Forgotten

NEW YORK — The father of the liquid-propulsion rocket, Robert Hutchings Goddard (1882 - 1945) was threatened with arrest if he ever again sent one of his sizzling darts skyward in his native Worcester, Mass.

CONSIDINE

At the urging of Charles A. Lindbergh, who called upon him in 1930 to learn something about the potential of rocketry, Goddard moved his operations to Roswell, N.M., where the wide open spaces assured him of no more scoldings by urban police.

As early as 1919 the Smithsonian Institution had agreed that Goddard, a pale and somewhat withdrawn physics professor at Clark University in Worcester, was a man with a future. The institution published his treatise entitled "A Method of Reaching Extreme Altitudes."

(That booklet and another the Smithsonian published and offered for sale at 25 cents and 15 cents enjoyed an unprecedented sale in the middle 1930s, after Hitler came into power in Germany. The German Embassy in Washington virtually bought out the supply. Goddard's work was a blueprint for the V2.)

RESPIRATORY PROBLEM

Goddard had another reason for moving to the desert. He had had a serious respiratory problem for years; indeed, his life was despaired of as a child. Now, with some financial backing from Harry Guggenheim, he shipped his strange gear westward, including an ancient windmill which he had fashioned into the world's first launching pad and gantry.

In talks with Lindbergh and others, Goddard declared that there was every reason to believe that a rocket could be constructed which would be able to carry instruments as high as 75 miles above the surface of the earth, a heady thought at the time.

Lindbergh specifically asked him if a rocket could ever reach the moon. (It was at that time popular to deride Goddard as "moon mad.") Goddard said it was feasible.

He explained that such a rocket would have to be, in effect, a series of rockets: as one stage burned out, another stage would take over the job. He added that proof of an impact on the surface of the moon could be obtained by filling the final stage with magnesium and alerting earthbound observatories to train their most powerful telescopes on the lunar surface and await the tiny flash.

FRUITLESS TRIP

Early in World War II, Goddard made a trip to Washington to urge the War Department to consider long-range missile artillery. He could find nobody interested in such an outlandish proposal.

He died on Aug. 10, 1945, while working in a Navy laboratory in Annapolis, Md. The last of the V2's had long since ripped into London, descending from space at many times the speed of sound. He was a forgotten man, by and large.

Fifteen years ago, as the U.S. emerged into the Space Age on the wings of liquid propellants, the government paid a million dollars to his widow and the Guggenheim Foundation for infringing on Goddard's patents. Two years later, NASA dedicated its space center at Greenbelt, Md., to his memory. Wernher von Braun is never sparing in his praise of Goddard's pioneering.

But only a few of the millions who watched the takeoff of Apollo 11 from Cape Kennedy remembered, or even knew, that a great man once was threatened with arrest for igniting such a flight.

David Lawrence Says:

Apollo Success Boosts Further Manned Probes

WASHINGTON — The tremendous enthusiasm which the American people and other nations have displayed about the successful journey of Apollo 11 to the moon has come as a bit of a surprise to the politicians here. Many of them had thought that spending the money for such a project was a waste and an unpopular thing to do.

LAWRENCE

Now, from the President on down, the trend of comment indicates a belief that space exploration should continue until man sets foot on Mars or some other planet of our solar system.

★ ★ ★

At the White House on Tuesday, Nixon told a group of students from 60 countries he believes that "in the year 2000 we will, on this earth, have visited new worlds where there will be a form of life."

As for the funds needed for space exploration, the average expenditure per year during the last decade was about $5 billion.

INQUISITIVE NATURE

Basically, of course, there is a desire on the part of scientists to find out more about the planetary bodies of outer space.

Until recent years, any suggestions that a trip be planned for astronauts to go to Mars would have been brushed aside as impossible projects. Such ideas were considered to be in the realm of "science fiction."

Nothing, however, seems impossible for the future since two Americans have walked on the surface of the moon.

People have always wondered whether there is life on other planets and speculated on whether such life is as good as if not better than ours.

The theory that life does exist elsewhere has been advanced from time to time by many scientists who have insisted that there is no logical reason why the earth alone should support life in any form. Certainly if scientists come forward benefits will be derived from a greater knowledge of outer space and even from trips to other planets, Congress will be inclined to take a chance, just as it did with the moon program.

Conditions of gravity and atmosphere may vary to such an extent that human beings could not live on any other place except the earth.

But a whole new attitude toward further exploration is bound to develop, and there will be no end to conjecture as to what future trips may produce.

With all the excitement — as Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., suggested the other day —in the conversation between the President and the two astronauts, they forgot to take a moment to thank God that, with His help, we were permitted to explore another one of his great creations — the moon.

But the American people doubtless will do so in the church services next weekend throughout the country.

Bird Pays a Surprise Call

By L. GARY THORNE
City Editor

BATS IN THE BELFRY DEPT.:

It has been said millions are going to long remember last Sunday, recalling what they did and with whom on the day man first landed on the moon.

THORNE

As one of the millions of the more mundane, I don't think I'll forget Sunday either. But, I've got a slightly different reason.

Shortly after seven a.m. our four-year-old climbed into our bed. (The other part of the "our" is my wife.) This is not unusual. But 30 minutes later we were startled wide-eyed awake by a furious flutter as a full-grown, adult-sized sparrow dive bombed the bed. The badly frightened bird took three passes at the bed and two more at the dresser mirror.

I was struck dumb. Not my son, however. Although scared silly, he demanded I shoot the intruder. My wife advised against picking it up with my hands — something I had absolutely no intention of doing anyway. The dog stayed under the bed.

★ ★ ★

Deciding first things first, I got out of bed. Next, I reasoned that shooting the poor thing wasn't feasible. The only weapon available was a single shot .22. With my marksmanship, the sparrow would die of old age.

Being cool headed in a crisis, I decided I'd merely open a window and let the dumb bird fly out. I first opened two of the three windows equipped with screens, which didn't do a bit of good.

Finally, my wife in disgust opened the remaining window, which did not have a screen. The bird promptly made his exit.

Still unknown, is whether our Sunday morning visitor was, in fact, THE bird.

★ ★ ★

Last Friday morning we had another intruder. A bird somehow fell, climbed or flew into the draft pipe on the furnace. We listened to him flutter and flounder all day Saturday.

The only means of opening the pipe is to remove four rivets. This I could do, but rivets removed must be replaced, and this I've not yet decided exactly how to do.

★ ★ ★

In any event, the bird in the furnace — if he is still there — hasn't been heard from since Saturday night. Hopefully, the first bird was also the second bird. The repairman's visit will tell.

Yes, Sunday was a notable day regardless of what happened with the moon.

Urge More Participation in Governmental Affairs

Saturday's editorial, "Gag Rule Restricts," receives my commendation. For too long lack of citizen participation in all governmental affairs has made it possible for boards, commissions, and councils to do as they pleased. The public knew very little of what went on.

★ ★ ★

An awakened public has a right to question, to receive courteous answers and to give opinions. No one condones rabble-rousers, discourtesy or immature behavior; however, it is time for many citizens who have stood by and let things happen to get involved.

★ ★ ★

Board meetings, by law, are public meetings. Once elected, board members may legally, but not morally, do as they please. They should be responsible to the community in which they choose to serve. Let's have a little maturity and dignity from all concerned. The public image of Pontiac has been defiled too much already.

Reuther Planning Big Finale? He's Not Saying

DETROIT (AP) — The auto makers already anxiously await some inkling of what new goal Walter P. Reuther will shoot for next year in what he indicates will be his swan song bargaining for his 1.6 million-member United Auto Workers union.

He won a guaranteed annual income last time around, in 1967.

* * *

And industry anticipates he'd like to cap his UAW stewardship, stretching back 23 years to 1946, with something else big and new.

But they didn't get it Wednesday. If Reuther has a new and novel goal he refused to disclose it at a news conference at which he indicated anew he expects to step down as UAW president at 65.

TOO EARLY

He said it was too early to formulate next year's bargaining demands. But three years ago he gave long advance notice a guaranteed annual income would be a must, so the industry could make "the emotional adjustment."

He'll be 62 on Sept. 1 — Labor Day this year, incidentally — so if next year's contracts run the customary three years he will have passed 65 before their expiration Sept. 14, 1973.

* * *

Ones 1970 goal is certain to be the right of a worker to accept or reject overtime. Reuther made that plain at the news conference. It is something he has strived for and lost, just as he had a guaranteed annual income until 1967.

Another, as always, will be higher wages. But Reuther insists, as always, he'll only be asking for the workers' share of savings realized through productivity gains made through automation; not through higher car prices.

'UNACCEPTABLE INTRUSION'

Reuther told newsmen the UAW bargains on the basis of a standard 40-hour week and that "in a free society, we say the foreman doesn't have the right to determine how you live your life in your free hours.

"Management," he added, "has got to step up to that, because I don't believe the younger workers will put up with it any longer."

* * *

In times of low wages, Reuther said workers welcomed overtime, "because they needed it to feed their families," but this was no longer the case.

Reuther also said that "inescapably, technological revolution is going to shorten the workweek, but the question is how do we package the extra time to make it more meaningful."

SABBATICAL LEAVES

He said he looks with disfavor on a six-hour, five-day week, as some in his union have advocated, adding he had put more emphasis on three-day holidays and had long advocated industrial sabatical leaves.

Referring to the fact he will be 62 on Sept. 1, Reuther pointed out the union's constitution, as it now stands, requires retirement at age 65, and added: "I helped put it (the requirement) there."

"This union," he continued, "has got to have some reasonable hope of getting young blood in the leadership otherwise it'll be about yesterday, instead of tomorrow.

* * *

MORE TIME

He said he'd have more time to devote to pet projects and community endeavors.

There is speculation he may step over into management of the American Labor Alliance (ALA), a joint venture of the UAW and the Teamsters union aimed at "getting more movement into the labor movement."

* * *

It came about after the UAW's split-away from the AFL-CIO for what Reuther termed foot-dragging by the labor federation in organizing and involvement in such social projetcs as civil rights.

Reuther told the news conference a committee headed by Teamsters President Frank Fitz simmons is working out targets, budgets and tactics for organizing unorganized workers.

A commitee he heads, Reuther said, is working on the organizing of community unions, such as those among citizens in the Watts area of Los Angeles and East Los Angeles.

He said such work is now under way in St. oLuis, but gave no details, and shortly would be taken into three other communities, which he declined to name.

The UAW chieftain said he sympathizes "with kids who are in revolt against the status quo," but was against violence "because violence is nonproductive."

He recalled that members of his unions did not destroy plants in their 1930 sit-down strikes, saying "we cleaned them up and polished the machinery .... and we didn't have nonnegotiable demands and we didn't say Bill Knudsen had to go (as General Motors president) before we'd talk. What we said was 'talk with us.'"

Fremont Girl Found Well in U.P.

MARQUETTE (UPI) — Twelve year-old Cyndy Hayward of Fremont, who disappeared near her home Saturday during a community celebration, was found well and apparently unharmed here late yesterday when police chased down a car driven by an emental patient.

Police charged Leonard Hugall, 18, Fremont, with reckless driving following a chase that ended with Hugall's car stuck in a sandpile at the end of a dead-end road.

Miss Haywood reported told police that Hugall, who was to return from convalescent leave to the state hospital at Traverse City on Monday, forced her into his car at gunpoint in Fremont, a west Michigan community. She was taken to a Marquette hospital for examination.

Police were still questioning Hugall and Hayward early today to learn their path to this Upper Peninsula city.

An all-points bulletin had been issued for Hugall's car, and State Police reportedly tipped Marquette Police that it could be in their area.

Hundreds of searchers had prowled the Newaygo County area around Fremont since the weekend disappearance, and an all-out effort was scheduled for today.

Detroiter Who 'Quit' Army Is Sentenced

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — A Detroit soldier who was arrested while he sought sanctuary in a Detroit church after being absent without official leave has been sentenced to nine months at hard labor.

The soldier, Tom Sincavitch, "resigned" from the Army Reserves in June 1968. He sought sanctuary with a group of supporters at St. Joseph's Episcopal Church, but the "sanctuary" was broken by 50 federal agents who arrested Sincavitch.

He was returned to Ft. Riley, where he was later called before a court-martial on a charge of disobeying an order.

He pleaded guilty on the charge after his attorney, Mark Kadish, arranged for him to receive a nine-month sentence.

Klan's 'Dream' Is Well-Armed

The next Pontiac Klan meeting is 8 p.m. Sunday at Bemis-Olsen Post of AMVETS, 570 Oakland. It was to be a "very important" meeting, as Distel and his committee were to present their plans for the KKK "Confederacy" to the general membership.

★ ★ ★

My own entrance into the Klan went right through any "security" measures the Klan imposed.

I was a downriver resident, the home area of Michigan KKK Grand Dragon Jack Davis, and a downriver newspaper columnist. That extremely public data was never detected.

AIP NEWS SOURCE

Larry Lee, the Wayne County chairman of the American Independent party, (AIP) spoke recently before Jack Ellis' 19th District AIP meeting in Clarkston.

Larry Lee is a close acquaintance and was an almost constant AIP news source to me during the last presidential election in the heavily blue-collar downriver area.

★ ★ ★

Ellis apparently never mentioned my name to Lee when he quite obviously met with him in Clarkston as recently as one week after my installation as a Klansman.

Despite the lack of checks on me, Galloway asked me to be a member of the Klan's "intelligence committee," the purpose of which would be to check on informers.

TOO MAY KNOWN

Amusingly, Galloway warned his fellow Klansmen during the last meeting I attended that "Too many of us are known."

★ ★ ★

The Klan, Galloway emphasized, is part of the "Invisible Empire" and, as such, must remain as anonymous as possible. Galloway said that if too many Klansmen continue to be uncovered, the Pontiac unit would soon disintegrate.

As a small but vocal portion of the 19th District AIP, the Klan is apparently at its most powerful, particularly in the call for abolishment of open-housing ordinances and laws.

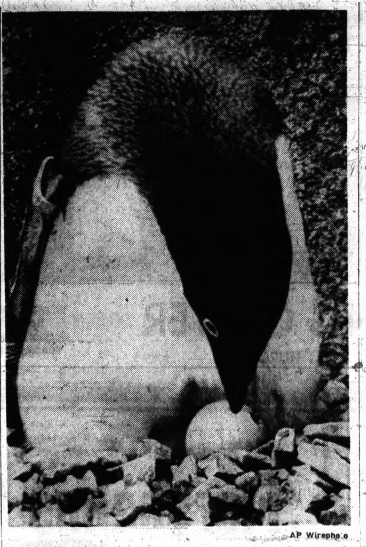

The other Klan infiltration targets are PTA groups, auxiliary police units, church lay leadership, labor unions and political parties.

PTA LEADERSHIP

In the area of schools, the Pontiac Klan has been successful in taking leadership positions in PTA groups.

One who wishes to infiltrate the Klan must observe three simple rules: (1) Be a listener, it's flattering. (2) Be an enthusiastic complimenter, it's flattering. (3) Act like you're really learning something from the half-truths, distortions and fantasies a Klansman parrots.

The first such egg hatched in captivity was hatched at Milwaukee in 1966.

20 Are Signed Up for MCOM Training

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Despite the apparent loss of further state financing, the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine at Auburn and Opdyke has 20 students signed up to begin training Sept. 15.

★ ★ ★

The Legislature last week passed a bill creating a state college of osteopathy, specifically excluding the Pontiac facility from any state funding. The bill is awaiting the governor's signature.

From the onset of legislation, officials at MCOM were optimistic that state funds would be earmarked for the Pontiac school, now under construction.

A spokesman for the college said yesterday, however, that optimism has not waned. The consensus of persons at the school who are "in the know" is that there is still a strong possibility of receiving state funds, he said.

"We have been doing our homework, and we know the cause and the game better than anybody. The outlook is that we are are prepared to negotiate with reasonable people. We plan to work harder than anyone else," the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The college, which has received nationwide publicity in its attempt to receive state support, received 500 inquiries from prospective students. Formal applications were completed by 120 persons, 76 of whom were interviewed by several members of the admissions committee of MCOM.

One of the members of the founding class is a holder of a scholarship by the auxiliary of the American Osteopathic Association, Douglas J. Wigton of 505 W. Third, Rochester.

Other area residents who plan to graduate as osteopathic physicians in 1973 are Robert E. Church of 683 Madison, Pontiac; James R. Boswell, 4332 MacQueen, West Bloomfield Township; Paul D. Flaggman, 1457 Ardmoor, Bloomfield Township; David R. Mandy of 32750 Bingham, Bingham Farms; and Ralph A. Olechowski, 2970 Hillendale, Avon Township.

Seventeen faculty members will teach basic sciences, including biochemistry, physiology, anatomy, cell biology, microbiology and pathology.

The school will start with some state funds, $242,618 appropriated by the Legislature in a budget bill July 18.

County Asked for Funds

Planning for Oakland County's sesquicentennial is expected to get under way in September with the County Board of Supervisors asked to advance $50,000 for the 1970 celebration.

Kenneth L. VanNatta, director of the county's parks and recreation department, appeared before the supervisors' local affairs committee yesterday to outline the needs of the 150th anniversary activities.

VanNatta explained additional staff personnel will be necessary for a 10-month period to work on details of the sesquicentennial.

Most other expenses connected with the sesquicentennial, VanNatta said, could be "recouped" by the county through various related activities. Amusement rides and souvenir stands, he said, could provide income with which to reimburse the county.

CENTENNIAL PROFIT

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county's board of auditors, pointed out to the committee that the city of Pontiac's centennial celebration succeeded in netting a profit several years ago.

★ ★ ★

He said with a broad-based participation from communities around the county the sesquicentennial could be a success.

The sesquicentennial celebration wil lbe climaxed in une or July next year.

182 Yanks Killed in Viet Last Week

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in Vietnam increased 23 per cent last week to 182 but were 23 per cent below the weekly average for the year, the U.S. Command reported today.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 285 government troops were killed, a decrease of 16 per cent over the previous week. Enemy casualties also dropped slightly, from 2,369 to 2,203 last week, according to the weekly casualty report.

The South Vietnamese attributed the decrease in their battle dead to a 20 per cent decrease in enemy activity. A spokesman for the U.S. Command said action picked up somewhat last week, and that the South Vietnamese report of a decrease was "their evaluation."

The total of American dead was the highest since June 22-28, soon after the start of the battlefield lull which today went into its sixth week. That week 241 U.S. troops were killed.

235 WEEKLY

The weekly average of Americans killed in combat now stands at 235 for the year. The total week before last was 148, the lowest since the first week of the year.

In the absence of large-scale fighting, almost all of the casualties since mid-June have been inflicted in scores of "small unit" contacts that occur daily and by booby traps.

Informed American sources say these contacts—involving units of 10 to 100 Americans—have been averaging about 60 per day for most of the last two weeks.

The U.S. Command said today that American field operations were continuing at normal levels. Spokesmen declined comment on a published report that the Nixon administration was preparing a major shift in the U.S. strategy of "maximum pressure" on the enemy to test whether the lull indicates an enemy move to de-escalate the war.

Top American officers in Saigon generally believe the lull is just another interim period of enemy reorganization, retraining and resupply prior to another series of attacks.

American B52 bombers carried out raids in widely scattered parts of South Vietnam as ground fighting remained light. Targets for the bombers included base camps, bunkers, tunnels and weapons positions.

Dispute With Arkansas City Pending

Air Force Base Agrees to Pay Water Bill

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The commander of Little Rock Air Force Base says the base will pay its water bill to the City of Jacksonville after all.

* * *

Col. McLyle Zumwalt said Wednesday night, "Permission has been obtained to continue monthly payments pending the final settlement of this issue."

* * *

The issue is whether Jacksonville owes the Air Force $99,137.64, plus 6 per cent interest. The Air Force claims it overpaid that amount over a 12-year period for water supplied by the community of 18,000

* * *

The Air Force general counsel in Denver, Colo., according to Jacksonville Mayor John H. Harden, had ordered the city to pay up within 30 days.

Meantime, the general counsel had told the mayor, the Air Force would withhold payment of its monthly water bill of $9,000 to $10,000, about a third of the income of the city water department.

* * *

Zumwalt said military procurement regulations govern Air Force actions in the matter, but that in this case monthly payment of the water bill would continue even though the dispute is unsettled.

* * *

Harden had said that if the Air Force didn't pay its bill by Aug. 10, "I'll pull a Castro on them and cut their water off."

Murder Trial Set for Farm Worker in Knifing Death

ALLEGAN (AP) — A 65-year-old migrant farm worker was bound over Wednesday to circuit court for trial on an open charge of murder.

The defendant, Howard Cruthird of Alton, Ill., was ordered to appear in court Aug. 4 in connection with the knife slaying William Caton, 51, Council Bluffs, Iowa, July 9 on a farm near Fennville.

* * *

The two men reportedly lived in the same house on the farm where they were employed as migrant workers.

MRS. JOHN C. FINEGAN

Birmingham Women on State Commission

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has appointed a 15-member Michigan Women's Commission with Mrs. John Finegan of Birmingham as chairman.

The commission was created by a 1968 legislative act to study and review the status of women, strengthen home life, recommend methods of overcoming discrimination against women in employment and to secure recognition of the accomplishments and contributions to the state by women.

* * *

Mrs. Neil Warren, also of Birmingham, was named vice charman.

Mrs. Finegan served as chairman of the Committee on Employment for the non-statutory 1968 Governor's Commission on the Status of Women; as it was then called, and as a member of the Committee on Vocational Guidance.

Mrs. Warren was chairman of the 1968 commission's Committee on Legal Pamphlet and served also on the Legislation and Communication Committee.

The heads of the state Departments of Civil Service, Education, Labor and Social Services will serve as ex-officio members of the commission.

TERMS

Mrs. Finegan and Mrs. Warren were appointed for terms expiring July 15, 1972 as were Mrs. Zaio Schroeder, Grosse Pointe; Mrs. Ruth Hobbs, Ann Arbor; and Dr. Myrtle Benhauer, Kalamazoo.

Appointed for terms expiring July 15, 1971, were Mrs. Clinton Canady, Lansing; Mrs. Jerome Grossman, Detroit; Mrs. Louise Walker, Lansing; Mrs. Myra Wolfgang, Detroit; and Mrs. William Shertzer, Flat Rock.

Appointed for terms expiring July 15, 1970, were Mrs. John Batso, Williamston; Mrs. Frank Harris, Detroit; Mrs. Helen Kanergy, Ironwood; Mrs. Arvilla I. Winegarden, Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Mary Yourd, Ann Arbor.

The appointments require Senate confirmation.

Elly Peterson Campaigns for Self-Help Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Elly Peterson, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, tried Wednesday to interest GOP women in the People to People program she launched in Michigan.

Speaking before a luncheon meeting of the Republican Women of Capitol Hill, Mrs. Peterson cited the combination action center—community action projects begun in Detroit. It since has spread to 10 states, she said, and will continue to win new friends and influence people.

The actual center must be located within the community to be served, staffed largely by volunteer workers to deal with people as individuals.

* * *

Mrs. Peterson said 40 junior league baseball teams were formed this year at Detroit.

Programs throughout the state include a teen-age center in Michigan's sprawling Upper Peninsula, art programs that include a university art scholarship, an interchange program of black and white families at East Lansing, and efforts to reclaim young drug addicts.

* * *

The program was launched as a non-political activity but that soon is to change because its promoters found that people needing help did not care about the politics of their helpers, she said.

POLITICAL ANIMALS

"We're political animals, so we know we have to talk in political terms" to recruit new GOP members, Mrs. Peterson said.

"This offers the greatest challenge, the greatest opportunity."

She said she will give them a chance to try for themselves, in the nation's capital, later this year.

Mother Ends Attempt to Bring Child to U.S.

HAVANA (AP) — Joanne Washington of Philadelphia says she has abandoned her attempt to take her small daughter back to the United States but that her ex-husband, an airline hijacker, "is going to bring her later when he gets things straightened out."

She says a U.S. court has awarded her custody of the child.

Washington took Jennifer during a pre-Christmas visit to Mrs. Washington's house. He brought her to Havana on a Philadelphia-to-Miami jet that he hijacked Dec. 19.

Chubby Mother Needs the Love of Her Daughter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She is very fat, and I am ashamed of her. She's a good mother, but she weighs more than 200 pounds, and eats everything she wants and plenty of it. I don't see how my daddy can stand her. I don't think he could get his arms around her.

I don't like my friends to meet her, and I don't want to go out and be seen with her.

What chance do I have to get a boyfriend when he sees HER? I know a girl is supposed to love her mother, but how can I when I don't even respect her?

I have a picture of her before she got fat and she was beautiful. She is only 30. (Sign me) ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: Every fat woman is "ashamed" of herself, but losing weight is strictly a do-it-yourself project. I will print your letter in hopes that your mother sees it, takes the hint, goes to her doctor for a check-up and a diet, latches on to "Tops" or "Weight Watchers" and becomes her "beautiful" self once again.

Meanwhile, little girl, even though your mother's appearance may not make you "proud," there are other qualities of equal or greater importance. And troubled by weight, she needs your love now more than when she was slim and "beautiful."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Around noon on Saturday a lady called and asked to talk to Tony (my husband) and I said he wasn't home (which he wasn't) and then she asked if he was out of town, I asked her who wanted to know, and she says, "It's none of your business," so I hung up on her.

She called back in about an hour and this time Tony was home, so I just stood there and let him answer her.

* * *

All he said was, "I told you not to bother me," then he hung up. I asked him who it was and he said, "Some dizzy dame who works at the plant," but he wouldn't tell me her name. Would you try to find out who she is? And do you think there is some funny business going on? He's always walked a straight line. SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If he's always walked a straight line, let it go. A man isn't responsible for who calls HIM.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just came back from a week's vacation at his parents'. It was in the high nineties all the time we were there and the nights were unbearable. I was in my eighth month with my third child.

Our bedroom had one small window and the heat was making me sick. I noticed a huge window fan stored in its original box, so since nobody else was using it I asked my father-in-law if we could use it, and he said, "You don't need it. We've had it two years and have used it only twice."

* * *

So I spent my nights sitting on the porch trying to breathe. Our eldest child stayed a week after we left, and when he came home he said, "Right after you left, Grandpa hooked up the fan. He told me not to tell you."

* * *

My husband is already talking about going back there in the spring after the baby is born, and I refuse to go. Do you blame me? STUBBORN

DEAR STUBBORN: No! And if I were you I wouldn't go back in the winter either if they're as stingy with the heat as they are with the fan.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Who said, "If I owned Hell and Texas, I'd rent out Texas and live in Hell"?

YELLOW ROSE

DEAR ROSE: P. H. Sheridan said it in a speech at Fort Clark, Tex., in 1855. And I understand the feeling between Texas and Sheridan was mutual.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 55 years old, and I am tired of hearing my generation called the "do nothing" generation. Actually, we did more for society than any generation since the caveman days.

* * *

We graduated from high school into the depression. College was strictly for rich men's sons. We didn't reject society. Society rejected us. We waited in line 40 deep for jobs the kids today would turn up their noses at. We were lined up in the cold morning hours before the place opened up if there was a smell of a job.

Kids today know nothing about things like that mainly because WE saw to it. They can put their money in the bank with confidence, because WE saw to it that the banks are federally insured.

They can to to college because WE saw to it that government would loan them money if they couldn't afford to go. Child labor is now illegal. I had an uncle who lost his arm as a boy of 10, working in a factory. He finished third grade, that's all. My father worked from dawn until nightfall, six days a week. Now we work a 40-hour week, and there is talk of less.

We have Medicare, Social Security, and civil rights legislation. All a part of OUR generation's contribution to the world today.

* * *

We don't pretend to have done a perfect job, but we've done a lot. So stop crying in your LSD, kids, get with it, and shape up. If your want to top our record, you'd better get started before it's too late. OFF MY CHEST

DEAR OFF: And it's always later than we think.

Italians Favor Tunic, Slacks for Fall Wear

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI) — The Italian fall and winter fashion collections ended as they began — showing uniformly slim shoulders and sleeves, flared skirts and countless jump suits or tunics and trousers.

Also much in evidence Wednesday were maxicoats, whose lengths ranged anywhere from just below the knee to right down to the ground. The bottom of the calf was the most common length.

Boots far outnumbered shoes, even appearing with ball gowns.

Hats ranged from snug cloches cut out over the ears to ten-gallon affairs topped with fox. There were long scarves knotted around the neck and trailing to the hem, although not nearly as many as last January.

★ ★ ★

Jewelry became less obtrusive although a few chain belts hung on, some of them suspended from waist-length necklaces.

Wool came in worsteds, often reversible, subdued plaids, tweeds, weaves dyed to look like tweeds, and some nubby boucles.

If there was one favorite color it was plum, ranging from pinky pale to clear amethyst to almost charcoal grey. Black and white, singly or together, were everywhere. Other top colors were brown, light grey, dark green and some sapphire blue and tomato red. A few designers liked pale peach, particularly in satin for evening.

Fox and lynx outnumbered the shorter-haired furs such as mink. Huge floor length maxi coats of black or white fox, some of them with an extra fold to wrap around and clutch, promised to keep the wearer warm through an arctic trek.

A Place in Space for Women

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The United States may not have a female astronaut, but women—from astronauts' wives to the seamstresses who sew spacesuits—play key roles in the space program.

Frances "Poppy" Northcutt, for example, is a 25-year-old Dayton, Tex., native who is a member of the flight dynamics support staff in mission control at the Manned Spacecraft Center. The tall, blonde mathematician is one of the first women to serve in an operational support role in mission control.

"There's less discrimination against women here than in any of the professional areas," she said.

Space center officials reported that 968 of the 4,400 government employes here are women.

No one disputes the role of astronaut wives in their husbands' work. They even are consulted about hubby's food tastes when the menus of dehydrated foods for the flight are selected.

Thousands of the miniscule electonic components in the Apollo 11 spacecraft and the Saturn 5 rocket were assembled by women workers.

FOODS

The foods to be consumed by the astronauts, a doctor and a technician while locked in their quarantine trailer after splashdown were prepared by women.

★ ★ ★

And, of course, there are the indispensible secretaries who work for National Aeronautics and Space Administration engineers and scientists, executives of space program contractors and the astronauts themselves.

Charlotte Maltese, secretary to Apollo 9 crewmen James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart, had a birthday while her astronaut bosses orbited the earth in March.

★ ★ ★

They didn't forget. The astronauts radioed to earth a musical birthday greeting.

Another woman in mission control is Larue Burbark, who designed the visual displays controllers watch to monitor a spacecraft's flight.

Dorothy Lee is an engineer at the space center whose specialty is the heat shields that protect returning spacemen from the heat of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

Inscription Made by Wedding Ring

LYONS, Mich. (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wylie moved into an old house here recently, they were puzzled to find an inscription in a front window which read: "Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Jan. 5, 1879."

Mrs. Mildred Gardner, 89, longtime resident of Lyons, explained its origin. She told the Wylies that the late Mrs. Henderson used her diamond wedding ring to scratch the inscription in the window on her wedding day.

MARILYN E. WILLIAMS

Girl Sleuth Gives Prizes

Talk about unusual summer jobs. Orchard Lake's Marilyn E. Williams has one of the most unique sun-time occupations going. She's a Sparkle Girl.

Marilyn's fascinating assignment involves inspecting service stations and awarding prizes for the ones that sparkle the most. It's all a part of a special program being conducted by the Pure Oil Division of Union Oil Company of California.

★ ★ ★

Marilyn checks some eight to ten Pure service stations in a given locale each day. She grades each of its degree of "sparkleness" and the operator of the winning station each day is awarded a special prize.

The stations are judged on overall neatness of appearance, cleanliness throughout and courtesy of the attendants. To add some mystery to the program, the service stations are not told in advance when Marilyn is coming.

★ ★ ★

Her duties will take her throughout several states between now and August.

Marilyn is a graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in special education. A tercher specializing in working with emotionally disturbed people, she holds membership in the Livonia Education Association.

Why Does It Cost So Much to Earn?

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

A never-ending problem around here is my own fault. I have regaled my children with tales of how mother earned her own way to summer camp and now I can't talk them out of being salesmen.

★ ★ ★

It's not that I don't recognize firm resolve and ingenuity when I see it, and it's not that I want to stifle any budding entrepreneurs. The only thing is, I keep thinking about how much farther ahead I'd be if I'd invested my money in AT&T shares instead of these radish seeds.

IN ADDITION

Besides seeds, I now have on hand: 39 boxes of Christmas cards (could I help it if I got late delivery, mother?); four subscriptions to a comic book featuring the exploits of a mouse in space (Just this ONCE, mother!); 50 tickets to an ice cream social that was held on May 17. (I forgot. And if I don't get the money in by Wednesday Mrs. Read will KILL me.)

★ ★ ★

"Look," I explain. "The idea is that you sell this stuff to lots of people . . ."

★ ★ ★

"Crazy!" my daughter answers from the floor where she is poring over today's mail offerings. "I can get this bicycle by selling only 350 boxes of all-occasion cards!"

★ ★ ★

"I think I have 10 boxes of those left from the last time," I warn.

★ ★ ★

"Call aunt Ruth!" my son enthuses. "Good old aunt Ruth will . . ."

"Good old mother is getting tired of the long-distance phone bills," I point out.

★ ★ ★

"Wow!" my daughter screams. "This says if I go into business selling these subscriptions I'll soon need an assistant . . ."

★ ★ ★

"This assistant is tired of the neighbors asking when they're going to get the soap they ordered."

"We'll have to write another letter asking the company," my son says, looking pointedly at me and my typewriter.

★ ★ ★

"I'll make you a package deal," I say. "Stop going into business and I'll not only send you both to camp — I'll raise your allowances!"

"Mother!" my son says with disdain. "As this ad says, we are learning to be self-reliant and preparing ourselves for the future."

★ ★ ★

"Give it up," I beg. "I'll match the money I've already spent on postage and you can both have new bicycles and a plane trip to visit aunt Ruth."

"Honestly, mother!" my daughter says, waving a brochure that promises financial freedom through monogrammed writing paper. "We're trying to be independent. We're trying to learn responsibility and (she consulted the brochure) relieve our parents of the burdens of allowances and tuition fees."

★ ★ ★

"One last offer," I plead. "Let me stop being your customer and I can afford to send you on a European tour!"

"I have to call grandmother," my son answers impatiently. "I know she'll want some of this wrapping paper with matching coasters and napkins."

Women Golfers Have a Party

The Ladies Niners at Pine Lake Country Club had guest day this week. Sixty-six women played golf, had luncheon and played cards afterwards.

A special feature was a contest for the most original "Thing" that could be made using a golf club head for the base.

Bloodmobile Will Visit 2 Locations

Summer brings a paradoxical situation in which more accidents increase the demand for blood while blood centers report a seasonal slump, according to Red Cross officials.

★ ★ ★

To help alleviate the problem, a Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the YMCA, 131 University, on Aug. 18 from 2 to 8 p.m. and at the Oakland County Courthouse, 1200 N. Telegraph, at a later date to be determined.

Remove St(r)ain of Puppy Love

Puppies and kittens are so cute that we often wish they'd never grow up, though there are moments when it seems they can't master the ropes of adulthood fast enough. For the pet who temporarily wears out his welcome, a firm but patient hand is the answer. Meanwhile, the problem that remains is how to clean carpet thoroughly without leaving a ring.

An easy solution the Glamorene Consumer Service suggests is treating the spot immediately by removing the excess and sprinkling the soiled area with dry rug cleaner. The cleaner should then be brushed in. After the cleaner has dried, usually in about 30 minutes, the area can be vacuumed as directed. Dry cleaner is especially recommended for spot jobs like this because it doesn't leave a ring.

Marilla Corwin Feted

Bride-elect Marilla G. Corwin was honored with a kitchen shower recently, hosted by Mrs. J. Alfred Hubbard and Mrs. Philip M. Hubbard at the latter's Bloomfield Hills home.

Mrs. Robert B. Oliver and Mrs. Robert R. Eldred feted the bride with a linen shower at Pine Lake Country Club.

★ ★ ★

As the Aug. 16 wedding date approaches, the bridal couple will be guests of honor at a dinner party to be given by Mrs. Margaret Baumgartner on Aug. 10.

The groom, Don Louis Rampanelli of Tempe, Ariz., and his best man, James A. Corwin Jr. will celebrate at Huron River Hunting and Fishing Club Aug. 14 while the bride and her attendants gather at the Lathrup Village home of Mrs. James A. Corwin Jr. for the spinster dinner.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The bride's aunt and uncle, the J. Robert Greenhalghs, will host the rehearsal dinner Aug. 15 in their Ottawa Drive home.

The ceremony and luncheon reception will take place in the Bloomfield Hills home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Corwin.

Dental Health

Appreciate Importance of Mouth Saliva

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

"Doctor, I seem to have so much saliva and it is annoying." This statement, or one often is heard to that effect, in dental offices.

KESSLER

Appreciate the importance of your saliva. Studies have shown that lowering the normal amount of salivary secretion has often resulted in a rise of tooth decay.

★ ★ ★

The general health of the mouth is much better when saliva is normal and in sufficient quantity. Digestion also usually is better.

You have three pairs of salivary glands—the sublinguals, the submandibulars and the parotids. They all look like clusters of tiny grapes.

The sublinguals are situated under the tip of your tongue; the submandibulars are under the border of your lower jaw; the parotids, the largest of your salivary glands, are on the side of your face in front of your ear.

MOUTH WATERS

Your mouth usually waters when you see or smell a luscious roast of beef after a hard days' work.

As son as food is inside the mouth, the salivary glands secrete both a muscous and a watery type of saliva. The dryness of the foodstuffs and the acidity have something to do with the saliva secretion.

★ ★ ★

Ptyalin, an enzyme that acts on starches, also is present in the saliva. This is the beginning of carbohydrate digestion in your body.

The salivary glands can secrete anywhere from a pint to about a half gallon of saliva per day.

Much of the spiting out of clear, normal saliva is totally unnecessary. You see this being done on public streets.

★ ★ ★

Most of it seems to be done by young men and teenagers who seem to have the mistaken idea that spitting, like smoking, is supposed to lend a masculine air.

If there is an excess of saliva in the mouth, it can be swallowed.

Baby Protection

Fasten the net over baby's carriage with snap-type clothespins or anchor this net by placing the pins at the corners, and use one or two along the sides. They add just enough weight to keep the net from blowing off.

Honor Couple

Mrs. Harry Pearce of Sylvan Lake entertained 18 guests Wednesday evening at Pine Lake Country Club. The occasion was the 25th wedding anniversary of her son and daughter-in-law, the Charles Coppersmiths, also of Sylvan Lake.

Now, Quick Test for Pregnancy

"Am I pregnant?"

This has traditionally been one of the most personal and important questions a woman asks her doctor.

And the time between question and answer has always been a most anxious — and sometimes agonizing — waiting period, both for the woman who wants to become pregnant and the one who does not.

★ ★ ★

The reason for this time lapse has been the necessity in the past for time-consuming analysis of the patient's urine in outside laboratories utilizing laboratory animals. More recently, the time lapse was shortened with the development of procedures that can be implemented in the doctor's office.

However, because these tests are often difficult to interpret, most doctors do not do tests in their own offices, but rather send them out to a lab. This can mean a wait of up to three days for results.

Today, the waiting period has been entirely eliminated with the introduction of the first practical chemical test method for doctors' use to detect pregnancy.

Now available to doctors for the first time, the test was invented by Harry W. Gordon, Ph.D., director of scientific research for Julius Schmid, Inc., a leading manufacturer of pharmaceutical and contraceptive products.

EFFECTIVE

Dr. Gordon reports that clinical tests have found the twentisec test to be as effective as any standard immunologic screening test for pregnancy now in use.

Because of the speed and reliability of the method, and the fact that no special equipment is needed, it is expected that the test will be used widely in doctors' offices as a routine examination technique, Dr. Gordon said.

Perfected after extensive research, the Twentisec test analysis is based on a color reaction that occurs when a sample of the patient's urine is mixed with a few drops of a special reagent. The doctor merely matches the specimen t. a predetermined color chart to obtain a positive (pregnant) or negative (not pregnant) reading.

★ ★ ★

Among the most important advantages provided by the Twentisec test is the ease and economy with which doctors can check all women patients of childbearing age for pregnancy as an added measure of caution, especially before prescribing certain types of drugs.

Never store linens near heat as it will dry the fibers and cause them to break.

A curved vegetable brush makes quick work and easy cleaning of the inside of the food chopper. The brush does not catch on the blades and yet quickly removes any particles of food.

U.S., Viets Reclaiming VC Stronghold

NAM CAN, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Navy and South Vietnamese authorities are trying to bring old Nam Can back to life. If they succeed, it will mean a government presence in a vast area of the Ca Mau Peninsula that long has been Vietcong country, at the southernmost tip of South Vietnam.

Involved in the effort are dangerous patrols by Navy Swift boats, probes by regional force soldiers, psychological warfare operations—and Seafloat.

★ ★ ★

That's a floating base in the middle of the Cua Long River. Anchored 200 yards from shore, Seafloat is made up of nine, joined metal pontoons, with an over-all length of 360 feet. A helicopter landing pad adjoins living and working quarters for about 60 American sailors and 25 South Vietnamese navy men.

★ ★ ★

"The people of the area are under Vietcong control," said the commodore of Seafloat, Paul A. Yost, a commander in the Coast Guard. "We feel they will come back if we can provide a long-range secure situation."

SEAFLOAT GOAL

He put the emphasis on "long-range." That is what Seafloat, its related river-boat operations and the work of the South Vietnamese are aiming to bring about.

Yost is in over-all command of the river-boat operations in this part of the peninsula.

Until last fall almost everything that moved on the rivers and canals was Vietcong or at least Vietcong-controlled.

Then the Swift boats began moving in. It wasn't, and isn't, easy.

"We get ambushed about four out of every five times," said one Navy commander.

A few days ago five Swift boats moved past Seafloat and into a smaller river about three miles away. Suddenly in front of them was a barrier, logs driven into the riverbed.

As engines were thrown into reverse, two claymore-type mines blasted from opposite banks of the river. Small arms opened up. The Swift boats became little battle wagons, hitting back with their heavy machine guns, grenade launchers and lesser weapons. Demolitions teams were put ashore and destroyed about 20 more mines near the log barrier.

"I don't know why they didn't get them off," said one youngster. "They've got everything in there. Fighting holes, get-away trails, all that. I guess we were kind of lucky."

That is the sort of war it is deep in the Mekong Delta, where there is little relation to the ups and downs of battle elsewhere across the country.

The district town of Nam Can was taken by the Vietcong during the Tet offensive in 1968. Then the government decided to give it up officially. About 2,500 people were moved 10 miles north to what had been Cai Nuoc and what was to become new Nam Can.

FREE-FIRE ZONE

Old Nam Can, abandoned, became a free-fire zone, a dumping ground for the unexpended bombs of allied planes. Its houses and other buildings were turned into rubble.

Then the Swift boats began pushing up the waterways. Seafloat followed last month. The metal pontoons and structures were towed in and Seafloat went into operation June 25. Swift boats tied up alongside and helicopters moved on and off the little landing pad.

"We learned a lot of things putting this one in," said WO I.C. Claud Jernigan, Bremerton, Wash. He had a lot to do with getting it all done. He is a 22-year man in the Navy.

This month two more of the big metal pontoons were towed in and beached on the shore next to what is left of a concrete pier at old Nam Can. Jernigan and his men sweated through a rain to get the barge-like monsters in place.

SCOUT BASE

At first they will be used for some of the work checking river traffic. Later, if everything works out, it is planned to base about 50 Kit Carson scouts there for security while work actually begins in the village. The Kit Carsons are former Vietcong who have come over to the side of the Saigon government and serve with allied military units.

Yost thinks the firepower on Seafloat deters attacks. The floating base bristles with mortars, heavy machine guns and newly developed grenade launchers that can throw a devastating shield of fire 2,200 yards with accuracy. Seafloat is in easy range of mortars and rockets, however.

The "psywar'ops," physhological warfare operations, on the South Vietnamese government side are a key part of Seafloat's function. Most of the South Vietnamese navy based here, under the direction of a lieutenant commander, are especially trained in this kind of work.

All sampans and boats moving past Seafloat are halted, searched and inspected and the persons aboard are given a political indoctrination, a lecture telling them that the government cares about them and is returning to Nam Can. They also get a plastic bag containing soap, tobacco, fishhooks, needles and thread and a government song sheet.

MEDICAL CARE

If they need it, they get medical attention. A faulty sampan engine may be repaired or given a bottle of oil.

Most of the people who move on the river are woodcutters. Charcoal-making once was important here, and it is hope the battered kilns may be restored.

"When we came in," Yost said, "there was very little movement on the river. Then slowly they began to come out. There have been more than 1,000 persons who have visited Seafloat since we got here. There are more coming in every day."

Elderly Advised to Get Active

Oakland County senior citizens would like it known that they're off their rockers.

Senior citizens, that wise old group too often thought of as being in the dormant stage of life, have put aside their rocking chairs and are taking active steps to ensure a better life for those in their so-called "twilight years."

★ ★ ★

"We can no longer sit on the sidelines," Gordon Heath, president of the Oakland County Senior Citizens Advisory Council said. "We must make ourselves a part of the active society.

"Let's not all the time look for handouts."

MAJOR CONCERN

A major concern of the council is legislation that would directly affect health care available to the elderly in Oakland County.

A senior citizen picnic was held yesterday at Lakeside Dropin Center, 539 Branch, and Charles Edwards, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, spoke on a bill that would limit funds to the county Sanatorium. Fifty persons attended.

A bill under consideration in Lansing, House Bill 2035 endangers the County Sanatorium, a facility that has won an award for being the best of its kind in the United States, Edwards explained.

Using 172 volunteers in addition to the full-time staff, the institution can provide care for $38 per day, a remarkably efficient figure in light of today's spiraling medical costs, he said.

ALMOST 100 PCT.

Presently, almost 100 per cent of that cost is provided by Medicare, insurance and state support. The new law would limit state support to $17 per patient per day.

Even with an amendment that would raise the figure to $26 per day, it is estimated Oakland County would have to pay at least $300,000 to operate the sanatorium, he added.

★ ★ ★

Edwards said a group of county officials recently went to Lansing to discuss the bill with Gov. William Milliken. The governor promised a review of the legislation, Edwards said.

Joseph Hamm, director of the senior citizens council, said they are tired of going to meetings — they want action. They want new programs to help themselves, not just handouts.

One of the council's goals of 1970, Hamm said, is to establish surplus food distribution in the drop-in centers.

AT PICNIC — Charles Edwards (center), chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, picnics yesterday with Mrs. Joseph Williams and Byrle L. Hines of the County Senior Citizens Advisory Council. Edwards spoke to the council about legislation concerning the county sanatorium.

Apollo Setup Hit

'Tighten Quarantine'

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State University scientist said yesterday he is convinced the procedures for decontaminating Apollo 11 from any clinging moon dust or possible microorganisms are inadequate.

Dr. Leroy Augenstein chairman of the MSU biophysics department said the methods are "based on conditions that are no longer true. And the question will be "Did they clean up as they should'.

"Our concern is greater now than before the shot because our original fears were justified. I wish we had found out (the planned procedures) sooner and hollered louder" Augenstein said.

The 41-year-old professor attempted unsuccessfully to change NASA plans for decontaminating the space capsule and astronauts when he first learned of them in June.

LAST-MINUTE EFFORT

Joined by another MSU scientist, Dr. Barnett Rosenberg, Augenstein testified before the U.S. Senate Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee July 10 in a last-minute effort "to secure better quarantine procedures."

NASA counted on moon dust particles distributing evenly on a surface, Augenstein said, "but the dust seems to be sticking."

There is a remote chance it could cling to the command module and not be sterilized in spite of the intense reentry temperatures, he said.

Augenstein earlier said the chances for astronauts bringing back life organisms from the moon are small, but "the consequences to mankind could be catastrophic" if they did because man would have no natural immunity.

★ ★ ★

Other scientists agree that future space probes should include "better" quarantine restrictions, Augenstein said. "We plan to ask for public hearings to determine how to tighten up procedures in future launchings."

Detroit Soldier Dies in Crash

LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — A Detroit man was one of two soldiers killed Tuesday in a head-on collision on California 17 near Los Gatos.

The victims, both assigned to Ft. Ord, were Spec. 4 Ernest J. Litts, 21, of Detroit and Pvt. Jimmy Kelly, 20, of Fruitland, Idaho.

The driver of the other car was treated for a fractured nose and other minor injuries.

Advice Offered for Cooling Milk

LANSING (AP) — Mindful of muggy summer days and sometimes careless consumers, the State Agriculture Department is telling milk - drinkers how best to keep the product cool.

"Proper temperature control is essential in the storage of milk and milk products for longer shelf life," said Director B. Dale Ball as the department prepares to distribute thermometer charts to retail milk outlets across the state.

* * *

"We want to remind folks that warm weather can be detrimental to quality," explains Kenneth Feighner, assistant to the chief of the dairy division.

"We hope the retail people will set up the little charts at the point of sale so that consumers can be aware of this," he adds, "so they'll remember that when the kids get the milk out of the refrigerator and it's 90 degrees in the kitchen, they'd best put the milk away and not leave it on the table."

IDEAL TEMPERATURE

The department sets the "ideal keeping temperature" of milk products at 33-40 degrees Farenheit. It urges caution in storing milk between 40 and 45 degrees and says storage above 45 degrees is "dangerous."

Average shelf life at 40 degrees is 10 days, the department says, while storage at 45 degrees reduces shelf life to five days.

The department adds that the purity of Michigan milk is "assured" by constant inspection of milk products "from cow to consumer."

Some 50 Dairy Division inspectors across Michigan check every dairy farm at least once every six months and every dairy bottling plant once each three months, Feighner says.

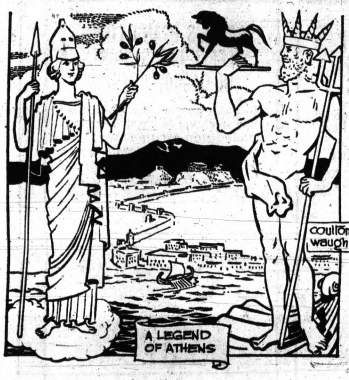

CHECK STANDARDS

"They look for clean cows, clean milk houses, clean equipment, proper cooling and general good housekeeping practices," he says. At the dairy plants, the inspectors also check for proper pasteurization.

If by chance a dairy farm fails to meet the inspection standards, the owner is given a specified time in which to comply. "The inspector goes back in about three days to see if things have been corrected," Feighner says. "If not, the farmer's permit to sell milk is taken off the wall until he can meet the reinspection standards."

Some 9,609 Michigan farmers now hold Grade A milk selling permits.

QUESTION: What is the connection between Minerva and Athens?

* * *

ANSWER: Minerva was an important goddess in ancient mythology.

We must remember that the ancient pagan gods and goddesses had little to do with our modern conception of God as being eternally good, just and omnipotent. The old gods were more like human beings, often quarrelsome, spiteful and jealous.

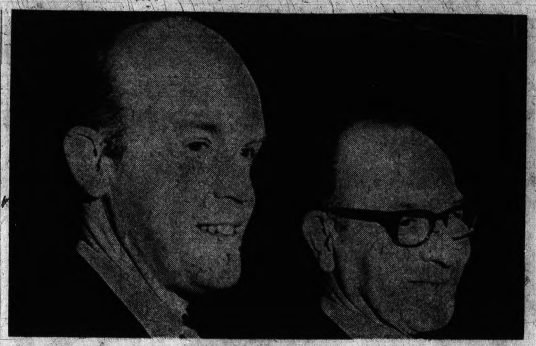

Minerva, daughter of Jupiter or Zeus, was the goddess of war and wisdom, also of arts and crafts. A fascinating legend grew up about Minerva.

The Greek people had built a wonderful temple, the Acropolis, on a flat-topped hill five miles from the Aegean Sea. Nourished by sea trade, a great city grew up near the temple.

The legend was that two of the gods, Minerva and the god of the sea, Neptune or Poisodon, held a contest to see who would serve as the special god of the wonderful city. For his gift to the city, Neptune produced the horse. But Minerva produced the olive tree — and the other gods decided this was the most useful gift.

Minerva's Greek name was Athena. Since she became the special goddess of the city, it was called Athens in her honor.

President of Osteopaths Hits AMA Merger Goal

CHICAGO (AP) — The new president of the American Osteopathic Association said Tuesday he is concerned over what he called the "sad" relationship between osteopathic physicians and the American Medical Association.

* * *

Dr. J. Scott Heatherington of Gladstone, Ore., assumed presidency of the 10,500-member organization Tuesday and told an interviewer that the AMA's goal is destruction of the AOA through merger.

* * *

The relationship between osteopaths and individual M.D.'s is "for the most part good and improving steadily," he said, but relations with their organization are poor.

* * *

He said the AMA seeks to destroy the AOA and the osteopathic discipline through amalgamation of the two organizations. This has taken place in California, where there is no distinction between M.D.s and D.O.s.

* * *

Osteopathic training differs from that of medical doctors in the emphasis on the role of the musculoskeletal system as a factor in disease and health and the manipulative therapy osteopaths perform.

There are about 309,000 M.D.s in the United States and 13,600 D.O.s.

Behind Hanoi's Words: Ho Low on Manpower and Food Items

SAIGON (AP) — The newspapers published by the Communist regime in North Vietnam must be the dullest in the world. Behind thousands of turgid words, however, they clearly disclose a regime having very hard times.

The diplomats, intelligence agents and small band of Hanoi watchers in Saigon who daily scan this mass of words make only cautious assessments. Nobody predicts any collapse or even that hard times will seriously change Hanoi's policies.

These sources do insist, however, that living conditions in the North—as painted in Hanoi's own closely controlled press—must have some effect on aging Ho Chi Minh and the men who make the basic decisions.

It has been 15 months since the American bombing of North Vietnam's heartland ended and almost nine months since the total bombing halt. Yet the North Vietnamese press still paints a picture of serious manpower shortages, morale problems, low productivity and agricultural and industrial disruption.

LITTLE CHANGE

The roads and railroads have been repaired and Haiphong's docks are handling as much or more cargo than ever, but the everyday life of the North Vietnamese appears to have changed little.

The most serious problem appears to be well-trained and motivated manpower. Such shortages are repeatedly noted, although no mention is ever made of the soldiers sent to South Vietnam.

The United States claims that about 521,000 enemy soldiers have been killed on the battlefield—not counting those who died in B52 bombing raids, from disease or from other causes.

North Vietnam's military leader, Vo Nguyen Giap, is reported to have recently admitted the loss of a half-million North Vietnamese in the South.

Complaining of low productivity, the daily Hanoi Moi—New Hanoi—reports: "Many healthy, experienced workers have gone to meet the new needs of the revolution.

PRODUCTIVITY AILING

"The numbers of workdays and work hours have declined in many places, labor discipline is lax, manpower is wasted. These deficiencies lead to a situation of labor productivity increasing slowly or not increasing at all and in places there is a tendency for productivity to decline."

To combat this, Hanoi's rulers are using the old capitalist solution of incentive pay. They call it "salary according to production."

At the Tran Phu machine shop, where this system was introduced, said Hanoi Moi, "There is an atmosphere of seething competition." The paper also noted that each lathe operator has been made responsible for his light bulb—there has been another campaign in the press about workers letting such items get onto the black market.

Noting that industrial workers make up a very small part of North Vietnam's 17 million people, Hanoi watchers do not read too much significance into these disclosures.

The shortages, however, extend deeply into the rural agricultural areas. Rice, sugar, salt and meat are rationed.

★ ★ ★

The Hanoi newspapers refer frankly to such matters, printing letters complaining of poor quality items such as matches and nuoc mam, the tangy fish sauce which is an essential item of diet.

★ ★ ★

There is little indication, however, that conditions will soon improve. The emphasis is on further belt-tightening and "ideological discipline."

U-M Institute to Test Marine Studies Tank

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — University of Michigan researchers next week will test a tank named Sublimnos, sunk in 30 feet of water in Little Dunks Bay near Tobermory, Ont., for the study of underwater animal and plant life.

Scientists from the Great Lakes Research Division of U-M's Institute of Science and Technology will use the "habitat" in a test from Monday to Aug. 2.

The eight-ton vessel, 8 feet high and 8 feet in diameter, was positioned in May under 30 feet of water at the northern tip of Bruce Peninsula, dividing Lake Huron and Ontario's Georgian Bay.

David C. Chandler, director of the research division, said seven scientists plan to test the habitat's usefulness by performing experiments to measure animal and plant life and determine the geological makeup of the lake bottom.

TWO DIVERS

Two U-M scuba divers, Robert Anderson and Lee Somers, will remain underwater for two days, using the tank as a warm-up shelter during working hours and as sleeping quarters at night.

Sublimnos can house four divers for several hours or two men indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

Anderson, a biologist, said the tank will make study of the Great Lakes simpler by allowing him and geologist Somers to stay underwater all day. Otherwise, they would waste valuable time surfacing periodically for fresh scuba tanks.

The habitat will be warmed against the 50-degree lake water with a hot water heating system based on shore. Fresh air also will be supplied from shore.

★ ★ ★

The $10,000 habitat is the first of its kind for fresh use. It was designed and is owned by Canadian physician Joseph B. MacInnis, owner of Undersea Research Ltd. in Toronto. Dr. MacInnis is internationally known for his studies of the physiological and psychological effects of deep diving on humans.

Adults Overcome Own Fears of Water

Jackson Mothers Teaching Toddlers to Swim

JACKSON (AP) — A number of Jackson mothers are teaching their toddlers to swim before they're old enough to fear the water. Several moms are overcoming their own fears as well.

Starting as young as four months, the aquababies are getting their first swimming lessons from their mothers. The early indoctrination is meant to nip a fear of the water before it has a chance to develop.

The principal instructress, Barbara Jo Christman, said the program is planned so that each child can progress at his own pace.

"I think, though, that I've had more problems with the moms than with the kids," she said. "Some of them didn't know how to swim and were afraid of the water, so we taught them."

Lancaster---Acting Way to Be One's Self

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Is an actor a mere puppet?

Not in the opinion of Burt Lancaster, the film star millionaire who started his career as a $3-a-week circus acrobat.

"Some American actors think acting is unmanly," he said. "I felt that way myself for years—that I should be doing something else. I don't now. I've found acting is a way to be myself.

* * *

"I don't think of myself as an actor in the traditional, conventional sense. Acting has become to me a way of saying what I want to say."

Lancaster, who once aspired to be an opera singer, has been saying pretty much what he wants to say since the age of 3 when, while appearing in a church nativity play, he saw a piece of gum on his shoe and startled the audience by exclaiming, "What the hell is that piece of gum doing there?"

BURT LANCASTER

EAST HARLEM RECALLED

Son of a postal clerk, Burt likes to recall the years when he and five brothers and sisters were reared in an east Harlem walkup railroad flat.

"I came from a family poor in terms of money but not in terms of courage and affection," he said.

* * *

"My childhood was a happy one. There was a lot of laughter, joy and love in my family."

Those early years, and later years when he worked around the country in menial jobs ranging from boiler stoker to road gang worker, left Lancaster with a strong sympathy for underdogs—the downtrodden and overlooked people of earth.

'GET INVOLVED'

"To me life is a commitment," he said. "You have to get involved.

"When whatever talent you have wins you prestige and success—isn't that the American dream?—you can't simply retire to an ivory tower and live there. Your talent owes a responsibility to others. You have to try to help them in some way.

"I always like the advice that Bernard Shaw gave: 'Waste yourself on the ash heap of humanity.' But actually you do something for yourself when you care for others."

Lancaster, who won an Oscar for "Elmer Gantry," likes to make films that carry a powerful social impact. His latest—and 41st—is "Castle Keep," a surrealistic war picture detailing the experiences of a group of GIs during the battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

THOUGHT OF QUITTING

Some years ago, already laden with honors and loot, Burt thought of quitting the industry, trying a new field. But now, still ruggedly trim at 55, he has shelved that idea.

"All I want to do is to go on a long as I can making films that touch people emotionally and express what I feel about life," he said. "You can't just quit because you are ahead."

* * *

When he isn't on location abroad, Burt, who shuns all forms of ostentation, lives quietly in Bel Air, Calif.

"You must preserve the privacy of self that belongs to you. It is the source of your strength," he says.

Disputed State Issues Dormant but Not Dead

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Legislative sessions come and go, but some issues seem to stay with us for years on end. The following dispatch explores some of those perennial issues which were handled in the legislative session just ended—and which undoubtedly will be handled again in future sessions.)

By CAROLE EBERLY

LANSING (UPI) — Controversial issues in the Michigan Legislature seldom die. They don't even fade away. They just hang around day after day, year after year waiting to be reconsidered.

The first part of the 1969 session was no different, leaving the controversial issues of parochiaid and abortion defeated, but eligible for review again in the near future.

★ ★ ★

The concept of giving state funds to parochial school teachers for teaching nonreligious subjects was voted down in the House May 13 by a 58-to-50 margin. The vote climaxed months of lobbying, letter writing, meetings, phone calls and threats from supporters and opponents.

However, the matter is far from dead.

ROAD TO VICTORY

Predictions of parochiaid sponsor J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, that the defeat was "only a minor skirmish on the road to victory" are not being forgotten by persons on both sides of the issue.

Currently Gov. William G. Milliken's Education Reform Commission is studying requests calling for parochiaid legislation this fall. Observers expect the blue-ribbon study group will recommend that lawmakers tackle the subject again when they return Oct. 6 for a special fall education session.

★ ★ ★

If defeated again this fall, parochiaid most assuredly will reappear as a major issue in 1970.

Another of the most controversial bills, one to allow abortion under certain circumstances, also is expected to be around next year once more despite its defeat June 12 in the Senate.

SENATE PANEL

The bill to allow abortions in cases of rape, incest or where mental or physical harm could result to the mother was referred back to the Senate committee on health, social services and retirement.

Such action means the bill may be reported out again for floor action whenever the supporters have the votes, most likely in early 1970.

Meanwhile, backers of the legislation are planning to hold public hearings in Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Kalamazoo, Jackson and Oakland County where public opinion on the issue is uncertain.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of other bills are now resting in House and Senate committees waiting for a second shot at making it through the Legislature. Included in this bunch is a bill to clamp down on peddlers of smut and pornography.

Although the bill passed the House with only three dissenting votes, the Senate Judiciary Committee did not report it out, saying it was unconstitutional.

★ ★ ★

However, next year Senate committee amendments may be offered and the bill will be off and running once again.

★ ★ ★

Other issues will pop up again this fall because they're being studied by joint legislative conference committees, hoping to come up with compromises acceptable to both the House and Senate.

'Launched' in Lowell

Early Astronaut Recalled

LOWELL (UPI) — It is a big week in Lowell.

The annual showboat festival is on and Milton Berle, the headliner, is drawing crowds and laughs, despite competition from the all-time headliners, — Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins — in their historic moon venture.

But there is a little-noticed group here, submerged in the carnival atmosphere, who can point back into history and come up with their own local astronaut. make that a would-be astronaut.

They are members of the Senior Citizens Club, which boasts one nonegenarian and six octogenarians, who remember Jarvis C. Train.

Train was a leading businessman in the late 1890s. He built the local opera house and found — the recreation park. Train became interested in the possibilities of air travel.

Despite the local scoffers, he fashioned a 10-foot yoke, fitted it around his shoulders and on each side attached three of the largest geese available. So equipped, with the townspeople watching, he jumped from the roof of one of his own buildings.

★ ★ ★

As Gerald Henry, a Lowell historian tells it, "Mr. Train did not go into orbit, but when he limped home that night, covered with goose feathers and public derision, his wife did."

Big Business Plowing Funds Into Land

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

NEW YORK — In times of inflation and public uncertainty over the economy there is a tendency among investors to seek refuge in the good earth.

Land, for all practical purposes, is constant, ever increasing in value as people increase in numbers and a growth hedge against inflationary erosion, for corporations as well as the individual homeowner.

In recent months, big business more and more has gone back to the land.

Gulf & Western, Realty Equities Corp. (REC) and Ogden Corp. have acquired major horse racing tracks, not to improve the breed but to get their hands on vast acreages of land. Madison Square Garden Corp. of New York, Campbell's Soup and National Industries have bid for other tracks

'NEW WAVE'

Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette, a prestigious "new wave" Wall Street house, has invested heavily in a 700-acre auto racing and leisure time complex at Ontario, Calif., in the Los Angeles orbit.

And T. Rowe Price of Baltimore recently set up his third mutual fund, the New Era Fund, geared as an inflationary hedge and strongly positioned in basics such as mining and land.

★ ★ ★

Jerome Deutsch, executive vice president of REC, a $200-million company based in real estate and money management, talks quite frankly about why REC has gone into horse racing.

"It's the land, not the horses," said Deutch. "Land is the base, and it's a profitable base, too."

FOR $12 MILLION

REC bought the assets of Eastern Racing, including Suffolk Downs track in Boston, for about $12 million.

It got 2,000 acres of land, 45 of which were not in productive use and situated 80 per cent in Boston and 2 per cent in Revere. Recent appraisals of the 45 acres set their value at $10 million, close to the total purchase price.

On 22 of those acres REC plans to build a 200-room motel, twin theaters and a small shopping center.

Obviously, the company will have no additional land cost for this development. The motel has favorable occupancy projection because the only nearby competition is the Logan Airport Hotel where most of the track visitors stay during the racing season.

HIGH TRAFFIC AREAS

The movie houses would be located in a high traffic area for both Boston and Revere residents.

REC is in the process of acquiring a packaging company for $6 million.

★ ★ ★

The company, which last showed earnings of $700,000 annually, leases a 350,000-square-foot manufacturing plant of which it uses only a part. The remainder is vacant.

More importantly, the plant is on a 14-acre site fronting a major traffic artery ripe for development with a shopping center, additional industrial buildings or whatever will turn a dollar.

APPRAISED VALUE

The appraised value of the land is about $4.5 million, again almost the proposed purchase price.

When REC, in a joint venture, first entered the movie theater business, it purchased 52 theaters in the centers of secondary cities.

In many cases, they included adjacent parking lots. Sometimes the property made up an entire downtown block. Several of these theaters have been taken for urban renewal, and REC got attractive condemnation awards."

U.S. Auto Industry Turns to Hard-Sell

By DAVID W. CHUTE

DETROIT (UPI) — The sales battle in the American automobile industry has concentrated more on price this year than at any time since the depression years of the 1930s.

In the midst of a rising economy and affluence for more people than ever before, the automakers and dealers have been hitting the hard-sell.

Ford's introduction of its new low-priced Maverick, brought the price battle to full bloom.

Chrysler responded by reducing its sticker price on the compact Valiant by $193. This was somewhat illisory, however, because Chrysler also reduced the dealer discount rate to 17 per cent, and also removed from the sticker price the $30 dealer preparation charge.

NOVA PRICE

GM dealers began emphasizing low prices for the Chevy Nova four-cylinder model with a tag lower than the $1,995 price tag on the Maverick. This despite the fact that the four cylinder Nova has never sold very well.

But all these moves were deceptive. Dealer mark-ups on new cars run from $300 on the lowest-priced models to around $700 on the medium-priced cars.

This is a profit margin on which they can work to make a sale by shaving their own profit. Additionally, the manufacturers run periodic campaigns in which they offer bonuses to dealers who oversell their quota, amounting to $50 or more per car. This, too, can be thrown into the pot in dickering with the customer.

In addition to the profit margin, dealers also get mark-ups on optional equipment. On the base car, the profit margin is 17 to 24 per cent of the sticker price. But on the options, the profit margin runs up to 40 per cent.

College-Return Program Set at OU for Women

An afternon program "Entree Into College," designed by the Oakland University Continuum Center for Women, has been scheduled for July 30, and is open to all women contemplating a return to college.

Mrs. Jo Ann Robbins of the center will discuss the problems, hardships, joys and rewards women may experience when returnin gto the academic community.

★ ★ ★

Educational advisor, William Jorns will cover the procedures of making the academic decision and applying for admission. Workshop sessions will follow.

There is no charge for the program. Its scope has been designed to cover all colleges, since individual goals differ as do college curriculums.

Reservations are being accepted at the continuum center for women at the university.

Two Beauties Due at Confab

DETROIT (AP)—Anita Bryan and Marilyn Van Derbur will highlight the final session of the American School Food Service Association annual convention, to be held Aug. 4-7 in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Miss Bryant was a runner-up from Oklahoma in the Miss America Pageant and is now a recording star. Miss Van Derbur is a former Miss America from Colorado.

News Is Mixed on Jail Project

Good and bad news concerning the county's proposed $8-million law enforcement building complex was received yesterday by Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

On the plus side, Murphy reported the low bidder on the contract to build the complex has agreed to extend the time on its bid for the requested 45-day period. Sorenson-Gross of Flint bid $7,181,000 on the project, $354,000 beneath the next low bidder.

Bad news is that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has still not acted on the approval of the bond sale to finance the jail complex. The commission received the county's bond sale proposal on June 24. The last commission meeting was Tuesday.

Murphy is still hopeful the county can avoid costly delays, if commission approval on the bond sale comes through this month. The apparent delay is over a question of whether the county can meet annual bond payments without exceeding the 15-mill tax limit.

Construction bids on the jail project expried on July 12, but the county has received a 45-day extension from the three low bidders, Sorenson-Gross, A. Z. Shmina & Sons Co. of Detroit which bid $7,535,000 and the J. A. Fredman Co. of Pontiac which bid $7,585,800.

Sorenson-Gross has previously indicated they might withdraw their bid due to an oversight by them of not including a $100,000 sprinkler system in their base bid offer, county officials said.

Bidders on the security equipment contracts for the jail also extended their bids. They are the Southern Steel Co. and the Decatur Iron and Steel Co. which bid $472,000 and $506,000, respectively.

Heat Wave Years Spell Death for Thousands of Americans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Heat wave!

Those two words, for hundreds or even thousands, can be condensed into one word: death.

* * *

In what the Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA) calls a "normal year" about 175 Americans die from summer heat and too much sun.

But there have been many abnormal years — heat wave years. There was a middle western heat wave in July, 1901. According to ESSA, 9,508 Americans were killed by it.

DUST BOWL YEARS

Skip to the cruel dust bowl years, 1930-1936. In that period heat killed nearly 15,000 persons. Come to 1950-1967 — more than 8,000 slain by heat and solar radiation.

The most recent great heat wave year was 1966. In July 1966, heat killed 246 persons in St. Louis alone and brought death prematurely for 40 more.

* * *

It is too early to say whether 1969 will be another heat wave killer year, or whether just the "normal" number of lives will be claimed by what the Public Health Service calls "excessive heat and insolation."

* * *

But there have been some worrisome portents. As of mid-July the Southeast and South-central part of the country had suffered three weeks of persistently hot and humid weather.

HOT IN VERMONT

The Northeast was hot, too. On July 16 Burlington, Vt., reported the highest temperature for the day since 1901, a bad year over much of the country.

ESSA records show that heat waves are hardest on dwellers of the "inner cities", on the elderly, and on persons afflicted with heart disease. Men are more likely to come down with fatal "heat stroke" than women.

* * *

Says ESSA: "Heat cramps in a 17-year-old may be heat exhaustion in someone 40, and heat stroke in a person over 60."

Coldblooded creatures like snakes and lizards can sleep away a hot spell. But when the heat and humidity persist beyond the "thermal limits" set for it by its internal conditioning apparatus, the warm-blooded organism such as man "does not doze, reptile fashion."

On the contrary, "it dies."

To get across the idea of how great a killer heat and too much sun may be, ESSA says this:

"Among our family of natural hazards, only the excessive cold of winter — not lightning, hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, earthquakes or tsunamis (sea waves) — takes a greater average toll."

So what do you do when the heat bears down? Brush up on "heat syndrome symptoms — everything from fatigue to nausea — in order to know what's happening to you. Otherwise:

* * *

- Slow down. Go where it's cooler. Dress lightly. Cut down on proteins. Drink lots of water. If you're not on a salt-restricted diet, take an occasional salt tablet to make up for what you've lost in sweating.
- Avoid sudden confrontation with the sun in the first hot days. Get out of the heat for a few hours each day. Don't get sunburned.
- If your kids are out of school, take your vacation in spring before the sun gets tough. For many, a later vacation may be too late.

* * *

"Among the aged or infirm," says ESSA, "Are many who cannot run another summer race."

Current Books

AMERICAN SCRAPBOOK by Jerome Charyn (Viking, $4.95).

Jerome Charyn's new novel is about a Japanese-American family in a U.S. detention camp during World War II.

Its bitter title, "American Scrapbook," belies the tenor of its content, which is taut, subtle eerily funny and too tragic for irony.

It is hard to say what sort of impact this novel will have. Other things have been written about our concentration camps, but we as a nation still seem to have little memory of the time thousands of guiltless Americans were imprisoned because of their race.

Perhaps this is because the event was overshadowed by the war. One would like to think that is the reason.

Timothy Ferris (UPI)

THE ROYAL FAMILY by Ralphe M. White and Graham Fisher. (McKay, $6.50).

White, Queen Elizabeth II's personal footman for eight years, and Fisher, a writer, have put together a personal, anecdotal portrait of the royal family filled with intimate glances into its private world and the daily life behind the gates of Buckingham Palace.

* * *

White and Fisher describe their royal subjects as if they were a fabulously wealthy family, with household problems like anyone else — except the family home, Buckingham Palace, has 600 rooms and a staff of more than 200.

The ceremonial duties of the queen and her family are "light years removed from ordinary life," but they remain a close and warm group.

Patricia E. Davis (UPI)

N. Viets Extend Gift Deadline for U. S. Prisoners

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said Wednesday gifts to American prisoners from their families in the United States will be received until Aug. 15 instead of the previously set deadline of this Friday.

The official Vietnam News Agency said this was reported to a group of Americans now visiting Hanoi to take over three American fliers to be released by Hanoi. North Vietnam announced on the occasion of U.S. Independence Day that American prisoners being held in Hanoi could receive gifts from their families July 4-25.

* * *

It said gifts should not be heavier than 6.6 pounds and should be routed via Moscow.

The news agency said the Americans have been in Hanoi since July 18 but did not say when the three American fliers would be turned over to them.

"Say it with Soul!"

Have you got it? You're sure with it if you have. What? Soul, honey, just plain soul . . . especially when it comes to food . . . the "in" eating and the only thing to have these days if you're planning a party.

From Maine to California, from penthouse buffet to beach party, Duchesses and Dowagers, swinging singles and big families have discovered the joys of deep fried chicken, baked country ham, baking powder biscuits and of course, "ribs", barbecued ribs that is, and was there ever better eating?

High priest of "soul cookin" in New York is Bob Jeffries. Long a master of good food in his own catering business, Bob now is executive chef of Daly's, Skitch Henderson's very "in" Manhattan restaurant. So when Pepsi-Cola wanted to plan a soul feast, naturally we went to the top and sought Bob Jeffries' counsel.

Not only did he offer advice, but he actually cooked the food for our photograph. And nobody had to suggest that the photographer's crew stay to enjoy — enjoy — they just fell to as soon as the cameras stopped clicking.

Bob's menu? Baked "Country" Ham Pepsi style, barbecued rib bits, fried chicken, baking powder biscuits and "salid". For dessert, watermelon — what else? And naturally lots of freezing cold Pepsi-Cola.

So here for your enjoyment and the soul satisfying pleasure of your friends are a group of Bob's own recipes, and as he would say himself, "It's all your's Darlin".

BARBECUE RIB BITS

2 slabs of spareribs (2 to 2-1/2 pounds each) — separated and cut into 1-inch length "rib bits"
2 cups barbecue sauce — (see below)

Place rib bits in a long shallow (non-metal) pan and pour barbecue sauce over surface. Marinate, turning often, 8 to 12 hours at room temperature.

Preheat oven to 300°F.

Place rib bits in shallow roasting pan and pour marinade sauce over surface. Roast turning often, for 2 to 2-1/2 hours.

6 to 8 servings.

SAUCE

1 1-pound can tomatoes
1/2 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 large onion — chopped
1 clove garlic — minced
1/2 cup ketchup

Combine all ingredients in large heavy pot. Place over low heat and let simmer for 30 minutes. Let stand at room temperature about one hour before using.

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
3/4 cup buttermilk

Preheat oven to 400°F.

Combine salt and baking soda in mixing bowl and rub together with the back of a wooden spoon. Add flour, baking powder and sugar. Cut in shortening with pastry cutter (or your fingers) until mixture looks like fine ground cornmeal. Add buttermilk and mix to a soft dough.

Turn out onto a floured board, roll out to about 1/2 inch thick and cut into rounds with biscuit cutter.

Place close together on baking sheet and bake in preheated 400°F. oven until lightly browned.

COLD SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

2 2-1/2 to 3 pound broiler-fryers
Salt
Pepper
3 cups flour — approximately Oil for frying

Have your butcher cut the chicken Southern Style. He will undoubtedly be familiar with this term. If not, it simply means to cut the bird into smaller pieces that are uniform in size.

Rinse each piece of chicken under cold running water. Place without drying on a long sheet of foil and sprinkle them lightly with salt and pepper and let stand 30 minutes to one hour.

Place the flour in a large bowl, add the chicken pieces and bury them in the flour.

Fill a deep heavy pot to about 3 inches of rim with oil and heat to 350°F. on a deep fat thermometer.

Take the breast, legs and second joints of one chicken from the flour, shake off excess flour from each piece and lower them gently into the hot oil. Cover the pot and let fry for 15 minutes. Turn each piece with a slotted spoon (do not break skin), cover again and cook a final 15 minutes. Remove and drain on paper toweling. Repeat with remaining breast, legs and second joints. Then fry remaining pieces.

Cool to room temperature, then wrap in foil and refrigerate until about 1 hour before serving.

Cold fried chicken is best if served cool, but not over-chilled.

BAKED COUNTRY HAM

1 10 to 12 pound whole country ham
Apple cider
Water
1 cup pineapple juice
1 cup Pepsi-Cola

Place ham in a large (non-metal) bowl and add sufficient apple cider to cover it completely. Cover bowl with a cloth and let ham soak for 24 hours.

Drain off cider, place ham in a large heavy pot and cover with fresh water. Bring water to boil, then lower heat, partially cover pot and let simmer for about 3 hours.

Lift ham from water. Remove rind and all but about one and one half inches of fat. Place in roasting pan and pour pineapple juice and Pepsi-Cola over surface. Bake, uncovered, in a 400°F. oven for 1-1/2 hours, basting often with the pan juices.

SOUL SALAD

To most people salad can mean just about anything cold, but when you're talking soul food, salad simply means sliced ripe tomatoes and chopped onion and "dressing".

4 large ripe but firm tomatoes
4-5 green onions — chopped
4 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar

Slice tomatoes, place them on a long serving platter and sprinkle with onion.

Combine remaining ingredients, beat with fork until "frothy" and pour over surface. Let stand at room temperature for about 30 minutes before serving.

Hefty Hike Is Seen for GI Bill Benefits

By JERRY T. BAULCH
AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON — There's a good chance that Congress will vote a hefty increase in GI Bill education benefits before the new school term opens this fall. The only question seems to be just how big and whether any new provisions will be tacked on.

BAULCH

The big goal is to try to encourage more veterans to take advantage of the program, both in high school and college, and to meet the rising cost of getting an education. Even the big budget cutters won't fight this very hard.

The main bill the House is considering was authored by its two experts in the field, Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., of the veterans affairs committee, and Rep. Joseph Brown, D-Calif., chairman of the education subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

The most generous bill is in the Senate, where Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., has proposed up to a $60 a month increase.

The Teague-Brown bill would raise the rate for a single veteran from $130 to $165 a month, the married rate from $155 to either $190 or $197 and the allowance for two dependents from $175 to $210 or 222. For each dependent over two the present $10 a month would be upped to $13.

COMPROMISE LIKELY

Yarborough's bill would make the rate $190 for a single veteran, $210 for one with a wife, $235 for one with two dependents but continue the $10 rate for each dependent over two.

What is likely to happen is a compromise somewhere in between the two sets of figures. But even so, the average veteran still will need other income to afford to go to college, especially if he has a family.

The final bill probably will include some provision especially designed to encourage more Vietnam era veterans who are high school dropouts to get diplomas and go on to college.

The VA estimates only about 20 per cent of post-Korean veterans are taking advantage of GI school benefits, compared with 42 per cent for Korea veterans and 50 per cent for those from World War II.

A BIT MISLEADING

But the current figure is a bit misleading because the 20 per cent rate takes into account post-Korea blanketed in with Vietnam veterans two years ago; the post-Korea veterans have been out of school so long few are interested in going back.

When Congress raised the schooling payments two years ago it provided that completing high school under the GI bill would not count against the total months of entitlement a veteran earned, so he could go to college with his full entitlement untouched.

But still, the percentage of men taking advantage of this is surprisingly low. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says 20 per cent of men leaving service now do not have a high school education and only 2.4 per cent are going back to finish.

This was the problem President Nixon mentioned when he appointed a special study group headed by the new VA administrator, Donald E. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy has been pushing in the Senate his plan for encouraging colleges and universities to set up transitional programs for homecoming GIs who need counseling and tutoring.

★ ★ ★

The House bill is expected to include a provision changing the formula for high school students from the 25 hours a week to qualify for full benefits to the normal high school measures of four units a year. This also would fit the pattern of most veterans who try for their diplomas by going to night school.

Change for Disabled

President Nixon has signed into law a bill providing that payments to disabled veterans for anatomical loss cannot be reduced after they have been in effect 20 or more years.

★ ★ ★

The problem arose, for instance, when a man lost use of an arm in service and 25 years later gained use of it. He might have been rated 70 per cent disabled which gave him $174 a month compensation and he also might have had a $47 monthly statutory award.

★ ★ ★

The law prevents him from losing his compensation since any award that has been in effect 20 years cannot be reduced. Under the old law he could lose his $47 statutory award.

Odds and Ends

The Air Force released thousands of men, as much as 11 months early, in the first half of this year in an economy move to reduce its manpower, but no more early releases are in sight in the 12 months ahead. It doesn't say a flat "no" for enlisted airmen but does for officers. The Navy has closed out its early release program but the Army and Marine Corps plans are still operating.

★ ★ ★

A lump enlistment bonus, possibly of several thousand dollars, is being studied by the Pentagon and a presidential commission searching for ways to reduce reliance on the draft and develop all-volunteer military services.

★ ★ ★

The Army and Justice departments have switched signals and asked Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird to hold up his plan to push for Supreme Court review of its June 2 decision that servicemen cannot be tried by a military court for nonservice-connected crimes. For one thing, the court seldom rehears questions unless a new point is raised. And with such points being raised in other cases headed for the court, the Army figured it's best to wait for these to see if the court — with two new justices — will overturn, or at least modify, the 5-3 decision.

More Berets

The Army has said no to branches seeking to wear berets, confining the dashing-looking headgear to the Special Forces Green Berets, but the other services are not so reluctant.

The latest is a blue beret for Air Force women, the WAFS, female nurses and medical specialists. The Air Force already has given an okay for combat control teams to wear blue berets.

Area Group Plans Protest for Biafra

A group of Pontiac area residents have organized a march on the British Consulate in Detroit to protest what they term Great Britain's sanctioning of mass starvation as an acceptable war strategy.

The demonstration, planned for 2 p.m. Monday, is to dramatize continued British sale of weapons to Nigeria in light of that country's refusal to let food and medicine into rebel Biafra, said a spokesman for the march.

"We are incensed and enraged that our leaders . . . have not spoken against (this) mass starvation," Mrs. Peter Spurck, head of the community affairs committee of the North Oakland Vicariate, said.

OFF TO JACKSON — Convicted gamblers were charged after the 1963 raid on the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights were transported from Oakland County Jail today to state prison in Jackson. The 15 convicted gambling conspirators have exhausted legal maneuvers available to them in state courts and will now serve terms ranging from one to five years. County Undersheriff Leo Hazen (far right, in suit) directs transport maneuvers.

Ambulances' Service 'Okay'

The county's ambulance service is adequate and costs the taxpayers less than the same service being provided in six neighboring counties.

This was the conclusion given to the board of supervisors local affairs committee yesterday in an ambulance service report from Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

Murphy said the county's annual cost for providing ambulance service in the county is $3,000. He reported Genesee County spends $6,000, Kent $14,000, Macomb $10,000, St. Clair $5,000 and Washtenaw $125,000 for the same service.

REASON CITED

One of the major reasons expenses are held low in Oakland County, Murphy explained, is due to what he termed a more efficient collection system.

★ ★ ★

Ambulance companies are given just 30 days in which to collect fees for their services before turning the unpaid accounts over to the county. Elsewhere the companies are allowed up to 90 days in which to attempt collection.

★ ★ ★

"If we didn't get the bad accounts before 90 days," Murphy explained, "we would have much less success in collecting them."

The time limit placed on reimbursement for ambulance service by most insurance companies does not go beyond 90 days, Murphy pointed out. "If we get the account in 30 days, we still have a good chance to retrieve the fees from them," he said.

★ ★ ★

Robert Allen, corporation counsel for the county, also made a report to the supervisors' committee yesterday on the county's responsibilities regarding ambulance service.

He pointed out the county is liable to provide the service where other municipalities within the county do not.

★ ★ ★

The county is liable for all fees not collected by the ambulance companies on county calls.

The state can withhold highway funds from counties where adequate ambulance service is not being provided by the counties, he added.

The report and the recommendation that the service is adequate will be passed along to the full board of supervisors.

A recommendation was made by the local affairs committee to continue under the county's reference library system. The board of supervisors had requested a report on the possibility of creating an expanded facility earlier this month.

EXPLAINS NEEDS

Murphy explained a capital expenditure of between $40,000 and $50,000 would be needed to "fully develop" existing facilities. He also pointed out an annual expense of between $5,000 and $6,000 would be needed to add new books and update the library.

On the suggestion that the reference library also be used as a "central filing system" for the records of all county departments and committees, Murphy stated, "you would fill it (the existing library) in one year".

★ ★ ★

Phillip O. Mastin, D-Hazel Park, asked Murphy if his department had had any problems in meeting the requests from supervisors for reference materials.

Anton J. Guyer, committee clerk for the board, joined Murphy in answering Supervisor Mastin that there had been no problems in keeping supervisors supplied with requested reference materials.

The county's reference library, established in 1953, now has more than 5,000 volumes and adds about 500 new books each year. Some 40 periodicals are also subscribed to by the library.

The library is currently housed on the second floor of the new east wing of the courthouse in the county's service center area. Mrs. Susan Puckett is the librarian.

Jackie Gleason's Losing Moon-Like Appearance

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — Since I couldn't go see the moon, I came to look at Jackie Gleason's new stomach, which used to appear similar to it.

But now Jackie's down to 220 pounds from his former cushiony 280 or 290, and continuing, he promises, to 210 after a diet of fish, eggs, meat, no fruits or vegetables, lots of water and no great reduction in booze.

WILSON

"I drink the same amount, maybe a little more, because I have more room for it now without the vegetables," the Great One said in his trailer dressing room, where he's starring in "How Do I Love Thee?" with Maureen O'Hara and Shelley Winters.

He was getting a manicure and therefore sitting down when I arrived. When he got up I was astonished at how reduced the former beer barrel was, how youthful the face.

"I thought it would be good publicity for the new television season, the New Gleason," he said. "I decided to do it in a hurry."

★ ★ ★

And he laughed at the way he hoped to surprise Art Carney with his new profile.

"If he got himself a pot, he might have to play Ralph Kramden, and me Ed Norton."

Jack's been dieting all his life. In 1958 he sliced from 288 to 178. He has two Exercycles, a weighted belt and a vibrator.

At our interview I had a lunch of tuna fish and egg salad. Jackie had nothing.

Arson Is Eyed in School Fire

Police and fire officials said yesterday they suspect arson in connection with the Tuesday night fire at Wilson Elementary School.

The school, 511 S. Sanford, was apparently set afire about 10:43 p.m.

Damages have been estimated at $5,000 despite quick action by fire and police units.

Both departments received alarms at the same time—the police were alerted by a burglar alarm that went off only moments before fire officials rushed to the scene after receiving a call.

★ ★ ★

Investigators theorize the police burglar alarm was triggered by a fire bomb thrown through a window in the office section of the building.

★ ★ ★

Damage was confined to one office. Other parts of the building received only minor smoke damage, officials said. No dollar value has yet been placed on the damage.

Investigations will continue by both departments, officials said.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Here's How to Stay Awake While Driving

BRANDSTADT

If you feel yourself getting sleepy at the wheel on a long drive, bite your tongue hard to keep awake or get off the road for a short nap.

If you must keep going at all cost, carry some hot coffee with you or take an amphetamine pill.

The latter measures are a poor substitute for sleep and should not be used habitually to keep you going beyond your normal endurance.

* * *

They have the disadvantage that they may cause nervous tension and insomnia.

The greatest danger occurs on toll roads where the monotony of driving a fairly straight line with no stops often leads to a dangerous type of hypnosis.

HAVE A PLAN

Whether for this or some other reason your car suddenly leaves the highway and plunges into a river or lake, it may save your life to have previously worked out a plan of action.

In such cases it is essential not to panic.

* * *

Under most circumstances your car will stay afloat for about three minutes.

This will give you time to roll down the window and climb out.

KICK OUT WINDOW

If you can't get out this way, open the door slowly as the car fills with water equalizing the pressure inside and outside.

* * *

If you can't open the door or window, kick a hole in the window or the windshield.

If this causes water to rush in, don't fight the current but make your escape as soon as it subsides.

* * *

If your car is completely submerged, escape through the window has been found to be easier and faster than trying to force open the door. Take a deep breath just before you climb out.

In deep water you should exhale slowly and continuously as you rise to the surface because the air you inhaled was under pressure and will expand as you ascend.

Q—Is there any cure for bedsores?

A—These sores are the result of continuous pressure usually on the shoulder blades, hips or heels.

* * *

In persons whose circulation is impaired it is often impossible to prevent them, but prevention is still the best treatment.

* * *

If the victim is an invalid he must be turned from one side to the other every hour or two and the skin over the pressure points must be kept clean and dry.

5-Hour Lunar Walk Awaits Apollo 12 Duo

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts aboard America's next moon-landing adventure, Apollo 12, plan to walk on the lunar surface twice as long as the Apollo 11 explorers. But they won't leave earth before Nov. 10 and may not go until January.

Later flights, probably beginning with Apollo 13, will take astronauts to rougher mountain regions as part of a four-year program of exploring the moon.

* * *

While a final decision has not been made, Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director, said Apollo 12 probably will try to land on a relatively flat plain in the western half of the moon near the lunar equator.

Apollo 11's landing site in the Sea of Tranquillity was also on the moon's equator, but in the east-central section of the moon's visible face.

Apollo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., 38, Richard F. Gordon Jr., 39, and Alan L. Bean, 37, are tentatively scheduled to blast off sometime between Nov. 10 and Nov. 17. But last April, Dr. Wilmot Hess, chief scientist at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, recommended that six months elasped between Apollo flights after the first lunar landing so scientists have more time to analyze rocks and photographs returned from a previous mission.

They could then apply this knowledge to the next flight, Hess said, giving scientists a better idea of what astronauts should look for to get the most out of the mission.

While Gordon remains in lunar orbit taking care of the command ship, Conrad and Bean are to take two excursions outside the lunar module (LM) for a total of more than five hours. Neil A. Armstrong walked on the moon 2 hours 14 minutes, while Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. spent 1 hour 44 minutes outside.

Because of the ease with which the Apollo 11 explorers loped around the lunar surface, however, Conrad and Bean may be allowed to stay out longer and stray farther from the LM than planners previously believed could be done safely.

MOVEMENT EASIER

"They had more mobility and were able to move about with more ease than expected," said Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, about Armstrong and Aldrin.

"It seems they were able to move along at speeds of six to eight miles an hour, and we think we can now range farther from the landing craft than we previously thought," Gilruth said.

Apollo 12 also will carry a more elaborate set of scientific experiments to leave on the lunar surface to listen for moonquakes, see if the moon has a magnetic field and study radiation streaming from the sun.

The crew has not been named for Apollo 13, but it is expected to be commanded by Alan B. Shephard Jr., America's first man in space. Flying with him probably will be Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, two rookie astronauts.

IST IN MOUNTAINS

They are expected to become the first men to land in mountainous regions of the moon, probably near the center of the moon's visible face.

"On future flights, our first priority would be to obtain samplings in the highlands," said Dr. Ted H. Foss, director for lunar geology at the Manned Spacecraft Center. "There is considerable difference between the bare plain-like area and highlands—perhaps as different as the ocen basins like the Pacific and the granite on the continents."

* * *

Apollo 14 tentatively is expected to land near the crater Censorinus, not far from where Apollo 11 touched down. Censorinus is scientifically interesting because it appears to be a new crater where geologists believe examples of deep subsurface material may be located.

* * *

"Photographs from Apollo 10 showed Censorinus would be very tough to get to," however, Foss said. "There are blocks on the edge of the crater the size of a football field and larger."

Beyond Apollo 14, scientists are considering having astronauts fly to places like the rim of the crater Tycho in the south-central section of the moon, where other samples of subsurface material are believed to be located, and near-canyon-like rills.

Some geologists believe the rills may have been formed by rivers of water formed after a near-collision with another body created a transient atmosphere around the moon. If water was there, perhaps life was also.

* * *

"As a geologist, I am tremendously excited about returning samples from the moon," said Dr. John W. Dietrich, of the center's lunar and earth sciences division.

"For the first time," he said, "we'll put some limits on the range of speculation."

He's Confident Astronauts Will Return Safely

Nixon Flies to Splash-Down Site

ABOARD THE USS ARLINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon flew to the mid-Pacific today to welcome America's moon men back home to earth.

Confident that astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins "are going to make the splash-down all right," Nixon rested overnight aboard the communications cruiser before flying to the recovery carrier USS Hornet to watch the return of Apollo 11 from the bridge.

* * *

Niron reached the Arlington at 11:38 a.m. (Pontiac time) yesterday and spoke briefly to the crew of the communications ship.

The public address system failed and the President raised his voice although few of the hundreds of white-clad sailors on deck could hear him.

ESCORTED TO SUITE

Capt. Hugh D. Murphree of the Arlington escorted the President around the flight deck then to a suite aboard the vessel.

Nixon had dinner with the command officers of the ship.

* * *

Nixon arrived by Marine helicopter at a point 900 miles southwest of Hawaii.

When the astronauts come aboard the Hornet in the early afternoon, the President will congratulate the space heroes before continuing an 11-day tour that will take him to seven countries, including Communist Romania.

PRIOR VISIT

During his flight from San Francisco to Johnston Island in the Pacific Wednesday, Nixon recalled that he had been to the island as a naval officer 25 years ago.

After his arrival at Johnston, the President immediately boarded a helicopter for the two-hour flight to the Arlington.

The weather began to turn foul late yesterday with scattered thunderstorms in the main recovery area chosen for the splash-down of the Apollo 11 capsule and its three crewmen.

The landing site was shifted 247 miles, to a point about 241 miles southeast of Johnston, but NASA officials said the change posed no great problem for the astronauts or the Hornet.

PAT IS RADIANT

Mrs. Nixon, radiant with "that aloha feeling," stayed in Hawaii while her husband was waiting for the astronauts to return home.

When asked why she was not going to be aboard the Hornet with Nixon, she said "because I wasn't invited. I usually miss the goodies."

* * *

After speaking to Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins on the Hornet, the President will fly to Guam where he will be joined by his wife.

Nixon is scheduled to visit the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, India, Pakistan, Romania and Great Britain before returning to Washington on the evening of Aug. 3.

The trip to Bucharest, Romania, where Nixon will meet with President Nicolae Ceausescu, will be the first visit by an American president to a Communist nation since World War II. President Franklin D. Roosevelt met the late Soviet dictator Josef Stalin at Yalta in 1945.

SLOW AND BUMPY

Just before departing San Francisco yesterday, the Nixons went on a slow and bumpy cable car ride up and down the city's famed hills.

The President stood on the outside running board of the quaint car riding it for about three miles to the end of the line near Fisherman's Wharf.

* * *

On the plane trip to Johnston Island, Nixon told reporters he enjoyed the cable car ride and said San Francisco was so colorful because of the great diversity of nationalities.

* * *

Speculation continued that Nixon would make a surprise stop in South Vietham, but the White House said there were no such plans "at present."

Collins Hopes Mice Stay Healthy

Mice to Be Indicator of the Trio's Health

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — He won't mind the quarantine after splash-down, says Michael Collins, as long as the mice feel okay.

The mice he spoke of are the 350 albinoes raised germ-free to help doctors determine whether the Apollo 11 astronauts picked up some unearthly germ from the moon.

Dr. William Kemmerer, space agency quarantine manager, said, "We feel sure (the mice) will serve as very excellent life detectors."

The mice are in the isolation building at the space center in Houston, awaiting the arrival of Collins, Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and the first samples of moon material brought back to earth.

18 DAYS AFTER RETURN

The three-week quarantine began the day Armstrong and Aldrin slammed shut the moon lander's hatch on the surface of the moon and lasts until 18 days after splash-down in the Pacific Ocean today.

The spacemen were handed biological isolation garments — baggy suits which totally enclose each man and filter his breath — while they were still in the Apollo ship and wore these to a trailer-like vehicle on the deck of the USS Hornet.

* * *

The trailer totally isolates them from the persons around them, and they ride in it until they get to the main isolation building at Houston, where the mice and other medical detection processes await.

Collins said before launch that the crew would be involved in lengthy briefings and technical activity even if they did not go to the moon, and would be "locked up after the flight, literally or figuratively, anyway."

'NEW BALL GAME'

"The additional imposition is negligible, provided no mice die," he said. "The mice start feeling poorly — well, that's a whole new ball game."

The building at Houston — the lunar receiving laboratory — is an $11-million facility built just to reduce the chance of any moon-raised disease germs getting free on earth.

In addition to the astronauts, it will hold the priceless rock samples they brought back and Columbia, their spacecraft.

The crew will not be too lonely in the isolation building. They'll have 14 other persons in there with them.

ENTERED BUILDING

Twelve persons, including a cook, entered the building in Houston Sunday night so doctors could check them and identify any earth bugs they normally might be carrying, said chief astronaut physician Dr. Charles Berry.

In addition to Armstrong, Collins and Aldrin, a flight doctor and a recovery technician will fly in the trailer from the Hornet to Houston and go into quarantine.

Scientists generally believe there is little chance of the Apollo 11 astronauts picking up some bug on the moon but no one will be really sure until after quarantine and no one wants to take a chance.

Music World Braces for Moon-Song Flood

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — "One-eyed monsters may parade it, but the Russians won't invade it, I'm building a honky tonk on the moon."

The inspiration for that verse and perhaps thousands of others was produced by the Apollo 11 moon mission.

* * *

Recording executives are bracing for what is expected to be an avalanche of songs about the moon, walking on the moon and space in general.

"When some great historical event happens, housewives, truck drivers, and everybody else who thinks they are songwriters start sending in all this junk," said one executive.

EXPECTING FLOOD

"Within two or three weeks, we'll get the damndest conglomeration of moon songs you have ever sen. They'll come in by the sackloads in the mail and people will bring them in of fthe streets."

There are some professional songwriters who are writing moon songs.

* * *

One is Hank Million whose hits include "Little Ole Wine Drinker Me."

It's a yarn about a man who has a dream. He stays up late watching moon activities and his girlfriend leaves.

The title is "Big Ole Moon Baby Me."

TOPS POP CHARTS

While thousands of moon songs probably are being hatched in kitchens and barrooms, a raft of moon records already are in distribution.

* * *

Record World lists "In the Year 2525" and "Good Morning Starshine" as first and third in its 100 top pops chart. The trade magazine has a singles review section on moon records blocked off for its latest issue.

* * *

Titles include: "The First Step (The Sea of Tranquillity)," "Space Oddity," "Everybody Gets to Go to the Moon," "Journey to the Moon, Part One and Part Two," "First Men on the Moon," "Sweet Lady in the Moon," and "Everyone's Gone to the Moon."

In "Everybody Gets to the Moon," writer Jimmy Webb ("By the Time I Get to Phoenix," "Wichita Lineman") writes "Isn't it a miracle that we're the generation who will touch that shiny bauble with our own two hands."

NOT SO ENTHUSIASTIC

Not all music publishers are wildly enthusiastic about the prospects of moon songs.

"We felt there would be such a plethora of product that we ducked the whole thing," said Bob McCluskey of Acuff-Rose.

Earth Menu Planned

ABOARD USS HORNET (UPI) — The Apollo 11 astronauts will have the following menu for their first day in quarantine, after returning from the moon:

* * *

Crepes Georgia, cheese omelets and bacon for breakfast; roast beef sandwich, fruit compote and vanilla cake for lunch; and sirloin steak, baked potato, green beans and apple cobbler for dinner.

BRUSHING UP FOR SPLASH-DOWN — Two sailors do some chipping and painting aboard the Apollo 11 prime recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Hornet, in the Pacific yesterday in preparation for today's splash-down. The painters are William Long (right) of Wayne Township, N.J., and Terry Bradford of Kansas City, Mo. In the background is the prime recovery helicopter for the spacecraft.

Royal Reception for Moon Rocks

SPACE CENTER (UPI) — If you think the Apollo 11 astronauts are getting a royal welcome, you should see what's planned for the rocks.

Some of the brightest people in the world have gathered at the Space Center to welcome two boxes filled with dirt and rocks, a roll of foil and a used vacuum cleaner bag.

* * *

The cargo was carried from the lunar Sea of Tranquillity via Apollo 11 and splashed down in the South Pacific today along with Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin and Michael Collins.

Then the VIP (very important property) treatment began.

HOISTED ABOARD

The lunar samples, incuding the two containers of rocks and core samples collected by Armstrong and Aldrin on teh lunar surface were hoisted aboard the carrier USS Hornet still inside the "Columbia" command ship.

The rocks, along with the films made on the moon, a strip of foil that was exposed on the lunar surface for more than one hour to collect solar particles, and the filter canister from the vacuum cleaner used to clean the astronauts' space suits, will be loaded aboard two twin-engine prop planes for a flight to Johnson Island. Then everything will be loaded aboard a C141 Air Force cargo plane for the flight to Ellington AFB near the Space Center.

* * *

A full-time security guard will be on duty at Ellington and will keep the curious away as the samples are loaded into a truck and escorted to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Space Center tomorrow.

One sample, the contingency lunar soil sample Armstrong collected first on the moon's surface, will go another route, just in case.

This sample will be placed inside the Mobile Quarantine Trailer used to transport the astronauts back to the receiving lab. it will arrive Sunday.

Once the samples are so secured and isolated, then the scientists, leading men in all areas of physical and chemical sciences, will start the job of trying to unlock the secrets they may contain.

* * *

For the lunar samples, first-class handling all the way.

Mexican Flavored Casserole Is Delicious

Here's a south-of-the-border, fiesta casserole that's a delicious meal in itself. It's easy and inexpensive to prepare and served with a green salad and hot French bread makes a perfect family luncheon or Sunday night supper.

FIESTA CASSEROLE

1 large eggplant, peeled
1 egg, lightly beaten
½ cup corn meal
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening
2 firm tomatoes, peeled
1 red onion
2 15-oz. cans chili con carne
¼ teaspoon each salt, freshly ground pepper

Melt shortening under moderate heat in 10" skillet. Cut eggplant into one inch thick slices, dip each in egg batter and coat with corn meal. Fry slices in skillet until golden brown turning once.

Butter the inside of a casserole and place crusty, brown eggplant slices in bottom. Slice tomatoes and place over eggplant. Slice red onion and place over tomatoes. Sprinkle salt and pepper over onions.

Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees and top casserole with chili con carne, cover and bake for thirty-five minutes. Serve directly from the casserole.

Many Cheeses Can Be Frozen

Many kinds of cheese can be frozen if cut in pieces of ½ pound or less and wrapped in moisture-proof wrappers. These cheeses include Brick, Camembert, Cheddar, Edam, Liederkranz, Mozzarella, Muenster, Parmesan, Port du Salut, Provolone, Romano and Swiss.

* * *

Some Limburger, Colby, Gouda and Club also freeze well. Blue, Gargonzola and Roquefort may become crumbly, but will be suited for salads.

Hot Dogs, Frankfurters, Wieners—by Any Name Are Popular

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

How much fat should there be in a hot dog? The U.S. Department of Agriculture thinks it should regulate the content to 33 per cent. Herrell DeGraff, American Meat Institute (AMI) president, thinks otherwise.

A research firm made a survey recently in four large cities. They offered samples of hot dogs containing four different ratios of fat, from 25 to 40 per cent.

Results showed that almost equal numbers of individuals liked samples in each category. Hot dogs with 30 and 35 per cent fat were the most popular.

DeGraff argues that the industry should be free to cater to all tastes. The U.S. Army buys only hot dogs with 30 per cent fat.

Michigan consumers are fortunate because our standards are tough. Dr. L. E. Dawson, professor of food science at Michigan State University, says they're among the toughest in the country and some national frankfurter producers have to make separate products to be sold in the state.

All hot dogs made or sold in Michigan must be made from skeletal muscles only; no organ meats, lips or tails can be used. And only meat, binder and seasonings are permitted.

We're not getting into the argument. The government and the AMI came to no real conclusions. Wil we say is to read labels. Shop around until you find the hot dogs you like best at the price you prefer to pay. All-beef franks cost more than those made of beef and pork.

You'll eat a lot of them: each man, woman and child in the nation consumes an average of 80 frankfurters per year.

Because wieners are already cooked, they're a real convenience food. And it won't hurt the youngsters if they eat them right out of the package.

★ ★ ★

If you're having a teen party, cater to big appetites with a hot dog loaf. You'll need a large loaf of unsliced French bread for this giant specimen.

HOT DOG LOAF

1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce with onions
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 loaf (about 22 ounces) unsliced French bread
1½ pounds frankfurters, halved lengthwise
½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In small saucepan simmer tomato sauce with onions, vinegar and Worcestershire 5 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, cut ends off bread; cut remainder into 10 slices. Now cut each slice almost through to bottom but leave bottom crust intact. Spread tomato sauce mixture over inside cut surfaces. Insert 3 frankfurter halves into each slice.

★ ★ ★

On long sheet of aluminum foil reassemble loaf; sprinkle with cheese. Bring up ends of foil and wrap loosely. Place on a baking sheet; bake at 425 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

One of the simplest ways to feed a crowd of various ages is to supply lots of hot dogs and buns and a trio of interesting toppings. Each to his own taste is the password here.

DILLED SLAW TOPPING

1 quart finely shredded cabbage
1 medium tomato, chopped
½ cup chopped dill pickle
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery seed
Dash pepper

★ ★ ★

Combine and mix all ingredients. Serve as topping for frankfurters, as desired. Makes about 1 quart.

PICKLE BEAN TOPPING

1 can (1 pound) pork and beans
1-3 cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
2 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Heat to serving temperature; stirring occasionally. Serve as topping for frankfurters, as desired. Makes about 2 cups.

RELISH CHEESE TOPPING

1 package (½ pound) pasteurized process cheese spread, at room temperature
1-3 cup undrained sweet pickle relish
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Beat cheese smooth. Blend in remaining ingredients. Serve as topping for frankfurters, as desired. Makes 1½ cups.

ON A STICK

For a truly unusual way to serve hot dogs is to serve them on a stick. This is a good picnic idea. You can heat French fries in foil on the grill at the same time you're cooking the hot dogs.

★ ★ ★

But the surprise in the meal is coating the grilled hot dogs with cheese, then dipping them into chopped nuts, crushed potatoe chips or crushed cereal flakes.

DIPPITY DOGS

6 franks
3 ounce package processed American cheese slices
¼ cup milk
6 wooden skewers

In a small sauce pan, melt cheese slices that have been cut into strips. When partially melted, add the milk and stir until smooth.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, grill franks over the hot coals. Insert each with a wooden skewer. Dip the frank into melted cheese mixture and spoon over to coat the entire frank. Raise the dippity dog and twist to remove th excess cheese.

Crispy Dippity Dog — Roll the cheese covered frank in crushed cereals, such as corn flakes or other bite size shredded wheat or rick biscuits.

Nutty Dippity Dog — Roll the cheese covered frank in chopped peanuts, cashews, walnuts or macademia nuts.

★ ★ ★

Dip 'n Chip Dog — Roll the cheese covered frank in crushed potato chips or pretzel sticks. Barbecued potato chips are great!

★ ★ ★

For a little more sophisticated way to serve franks, fill them with pineapple, wrap with bacon and glaze with marmalade.

TROPICAL FRANKS

¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup orange marmalade
10 frankfurters (about 1 lb.)
1 can (1 lb. 4 ½-oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
10 slices bacon

★ ★ ★

Combine mustard and marmalade. Cut frankfurters lengthwise to within ½-inch of other side. Spread cut surfaces with mustard-marmalade mixture; tuck 4 to 5 pineapple chunks in each frankfurter.

★ ★ ★

Wrap with bacon, fastening ends with wooden picks. Brush generously with marmalade mixture. Grill or broil until bacon is crisp, turning to cook bacon on all sides. 5 servings.

YOGI BEAR'S PICNIC — Dippity Dogs . . . to dazzle the small fry . . . are franks dipped in a melted cheese mixture and rolled in assorted snack foods. Here is a nutty dippity dog rolled in crushed cereal and a dip 'n chip dog rolled in crushed barbecued potato chips.

TOPPINGS — Frankfurters are made more interesting with a choice of three pickle-spiced accompaniments: Dilled Slaw Topping, Pickle Bean Topping and Relish Cheese Topping.

HOT DOG LOAF — Stack up a loaf of bread with frankfurters flavored with zesty tomato sauce and you have a Hot Dog Loaf.

Say Protein Prevents Shrinkage in Hamburger

Drive-in hamburgers are big business. This year people will drive in and buy about 2.5 billion of them. And the number grows every year.

Americans are crazy about the hamburger. And the good part of it all is they're getting better all the time . . . the ones you buy ready-made, that is. Of course, there are exceptions. Some places are still serving up the skimpy kind, the little dab of burned meat hiding in the catsup . . . the kind anyone can make at home.

Ever wonder why you can go buy perfectly good ground round or hamburger at the supermarket, cook it with loving care, and it still turns out like a burnt offering?

It's all in the mix. Many drive-ins are now using ingredients in their patties that keep them from cooking away. At the same time, this new kind of patty is tastier and also even more nutritious.

SOY PROTEIN

The most widely used of these anti-shrink, juice-holding ingredients is soy protein. It's a 70 percent pure protein made from the meat of the American soybean. When mixed with pure ground beef in very small quantities (usually less than 3 percent) it not only boosts protein content of the patty, but also helps the patty hold its moisture all thru cooking.

The result is a bigger, juicier, more nutritious patty that tastes a lot better. Home cooks can't yet buy soy proteins that they can mix in hamburger meat to get the same results. But there's a next best thing.

Most stores now carry frozen, pre-shaped patties. Many of these have soy protein added for better cooking and eating quality.

You'll be able to tell from cooking them and from the compliments later on. Try some out, and settle on the brand that gives you the best results.

Dishes Are Economical

Looking for hearty and economical main dishes?

Try Brunswick stew — a flavorful and colorful mixture of chicken and various vegetables, or quick beef pie — a combination of ground beef, green beans and left-over mashed potatoes.

BRUNSWICK STEW

Cut up a three-pound chicken and put in pan with 1 sliced medium onion, 1½ teaspoons salt and 3 cups liquid (water or vegetable juices and water). Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender, about 2 to 2½ hours.

Add the following cooked or canned vegetables: 2 cups tomatoes, 2 cups lima beans and 2 cups whole kernel corn. Heat. Makes 6 servings, about 1½ cups each.

QUICK BEEF PIE

Crumble 1½ pounds ground beef into large fry pan. Chop and add 1 medium onion and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook until browned and drain off excess fat.

Add 1 can condensed tomato soup, 2 cups drained, cooked or canned green beans and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cook slowly for 5 minutes. Pour into greased baking pan.

★ ★ ★

Put spoonfuls of left-over mashed potatoes (about 1½ cups) on top of meat mixture. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings, 1 cup each.

Speedy Sundaes Start With Jam

All kinds of enticing ice cream toppings can be made from jams, jellies and marmalades. Just mix with fresh fruit, heat in a small saucepan and pour over ice cream.

For a surprise, combine a small can of mandarin orange sections with slightly thawed orange juice concentrate; spoon over ice cream, then top with a teaspoon or so of grated coconut.

The Ocean Perch Remains a Favorite

Ocean perch, long a favorite with fishermen, are caught in cold Atlantic waters from Cape Cod to eastern Nova Scotia. This tasty fish was not well known commercially until after 1935 when the fishing industry began experimenting with filleting and freezing.

Ocean perch held up well under these new methods and, within a few years, this species became an important part of New England's growing fishing industry.

★ ★ ★

Pirate's Pride Perch Sandwiches stay hot for serving because the whole sandwich is wrapped in waxed paper and heated in the oven. An alternate choice for preparation of these tasty, filling sandwiches would be to serve the hot, cooked fillets, the tomato slices, and the tartar mixture between hot, toasted bun halves.

★ ★ ★

"How to Cook Ocean Perch" is a 10-page Bureau of Commercial Fisheries booklet that gives more information about ocean perch. This useful booklet contains illustrations on how to skin ocean perch fillets and follows with 24 tasty recipes for this easy-to-prepare, easy-on-the-budget seafood treat.

★ ★ ★

Send 20 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 and ask for "How To Cook Ocean Perch" (I 49.39:6).

PIRATE'S PRIDE SANDWICHES

1 pound ocean perch or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
¼ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup dry bread, cereal, or cracker crumbs
Fat for frying
6 frankfurter rolls
½ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tablespoons pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
6 slices tomatoes, cut in half
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Thaw frozen fillets. Divide into 6 portions. Combine milk, egg, salt, and pepper. Dip fish in milk and roll in crumbs. Place fish in a single layer in hot fat, in a 12-inch fry pan. Fry at a moderate heat for 4 to 5 minutes or until brown. Turn carefully.

Fry 4 to 5 minutes longer or until fish are brown and flake easily when tested with a fork. Drain on absorbent paper.

★ ★ ★

Cut rolls in half lengthwise and remove some of the soft centers. Combine onion, mayonnaise, pickle relish and mustard. Spread on rolls. Place fish on rolls. Cover with tomatoes and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Replace tops.

Wrap each sandwich in wax paper. Place rolls on a baking pan, 15 x 10 x 1 inches. Heat in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 10 to 12 minutes or until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

PIRATE'S PRIDE — Land ho! Treasure ahead! Those hungry little pirates at your house will scurry down the mast and hurry into port when Pirate's Pride Perch Sandwiches are on the menu. This tested recipe from the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries was created for the busy homemaker who doesn't have hours to spend in food preparation but wants to make sure her family is well nourished.

Fish and Fruit Salad Is Colorful

When the summer sun pushes the thermometer up, up, up, you'll need a "cool" supper to beat the heat. This Crab 'n Avocado Salad is right in step with summer and is guaranteed to perk up your appetite, too.

A colorful avocado half is filled to the brim with a delightful combination of crabmeat, cooked rice and tender canned sweet peas. You can use the handy 8½-oz. buffet size can of pears in this recipe. Mayonnaise, bottled French dressing and curry powder team up for a zippy dressing to complement the salad.

This Crab 'n Avocado Salad is almost a meal in one. Pass assorted rolls and serve a fresh fruit cup for desset to complete your special summer supper.

CRAB 'N AVOCADO SALAD

One 7½-oz. can crabmeat, drained and flaked
1 cup cooked rice
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon French dressing
One 8½-oz. can sweet peas, drained
3 large or 4 medium ripe avocados
Sliced almonds, toasted
Lettuce leaves

Combine crabmeat, rice, onion, salt, curry powder, mayonnaise and French dressing in mixing bowl. Gently stir in peas.

Cut avocados in half; remove seeds. Peel off skin. Fill center of avocados with crabmeat mixture. Garnish with almonds. Serve on lettuce-lined plate. Yield: 6 to 8 servings (3 cups crabmeat filling).

Crumbs Take Place of Flour

This recipe is a change from the usual spongecake roll.

Dusky Sponge Roll

¾ cup very fine graham-cracker crumbs
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon baking powder
4 large eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease entire inside surface of jelly roll pan (15x10x1-inch); line bottom and sides with wax paper; butter paper. On another sheet of wax paper stir together crumbs, ¾ cup of the sugar, baking powder and salt.

Separate eggs, putting whites in large mixing bowl, yolks in small mixing bowl. Beat whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar; continue to beat if necessary until mixture holds straight stiff peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Without washing beater, beat yolks and vanilla until thickened and lemon color; pour over whites and gently stir together until blended. Fold in crumb mixture, one-half at a time.

Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a 400-degree oven until center springs back when lightly touched with finger—14 minutes. Turn out on tea towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Remove paper.

Starting at 15-inch edge, fold cake and towel over about 1-inch to start roll; roll up cake and towel together. Tuck in ends of towel. Cool. Unroll; remove towel. Fill cold cake with whipped cream and fresh fruit.

Freeze-Dried Coffee Flavors Pudding

Among the special joys of summer are the tall frosted drinks that appear on country porches and town terraces, in heirloom crystal or in the new plastic tumblers.

If you are a coffee innovator, you'll find plenty of reviving drinks that start from a jar of freeze-dried coffee. This new coffee is concentrated and retains its original perked flavor, even when iced.

After a hot day of shopping, for instance, stir up a tall glass of Frosty Lemon Coffee, iced coffee that's flavored with lemon soda, sweetened with honey.

That same obliging jar of coffee will also add character and zest to summer custards, ice creams, puddings, and sauces. Smooth, creamy Peek-A-Boo Pudding starts with a mix, but that definite pizazz comes from the coffee sauce.

Serve it in style in high-rise goblets, parfaits, or sherbert glasses. And note the warm weather bonus: the entire dessert can be made without going near the range.

PEEK-A-BOO PUDDING

¼ cup milk
1½ teaspoons freeze-dried coffee
¼ cup milk
2 teaspoons sugar
Dash of cinnamon
1 cup milk
1 cup light cream
1 package (4 oz.) butterscotch instant pudding
Prepared whipped topping or whipped cream

Combine ¼ cup milk and the coffee; stir until coffee is dissolved. Add ¼ cup milk, the sugar, and cinnamon. Spoon 2 tablespoons of the sauce into each of 4 dessert dishes or custard cups.

Pour 1 cup milk and the cream into bowl. Add instant pudding. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at low speed of electric mixer 2 minutes. Spoon pudding a teaspoon at a time over sauce in dessert dishes, working from dish to dish until all pudding is used.

Garnish with whipped topping and sprinkle with additional cinnamon, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Frosty Lemon Coffee

1 level teaspoon freeze-dried coffee
1 bottle (6 oz.) lemon soda
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons honey
Ice cubes or crushed ice

Place coffee in a tall glass. Stir in lemon soda, water, and honey. Add ice. Garnish with a twist of lemon peel, if desired. Makes 1 serving.

Fudge Sauce Goes Spicy

Ever try a little cinnamon in chocolate syrup? It's fun eating over ice cream or cake. Serve it to the teen-age set. They crave novelties.

CINNAMON-FUDGE SAUCE

3 squares (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
¼ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon ground cinamon
½ cup undiluted evaporated milk or light cream
1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract
Dash salt

★ ★ ★

Melt chocolate and butter in top part of double doiler. Place over hot water to melt. Mix sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon and add. Stir in milk or light cream. Cook over hot water five to seven minutes or until thickened. Add vanilla extract and salt.

Serve warm over cake or ice cream. Two cups.

REFRESHING DUO — A kitchen jar of freeze-dried coffee provides the flavor pizazz for a creamy no-cook summer dessert and a lemon-garnished coffee cooler.

Dredge or Dust? Nearly the Same

To dredge or dust cooked foods with dry, fine particles of sugar means almost the same thing. Doughnuts are dredged, for example, when completely coated with granulated or powdered sugar to absorb surface fat.

However, cream puffs are dusted when powdered sugar is sifted on top for better appearance and extra good taste.

Dip Into Chips

For a real taste treat, try mixing finely crushed potato chips and corn flakes, half and half. Crush the corn flakes fine and mix thoroughly with the potato chips. Use them as a dip for fried chicken.

Opening lead—♦2

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand is also taken from Frank Perkins' 1937 book called "Vital Tricks."

The hand is a very simple problem in play. South has to try to make nine tricks in no-trump. He wins the first trick with his king of diamonds and analyzes the lead as fourth best from ace-jack. He counts to seven quick winners; two hearts, one diamond and four clubs. He also counts four quick losers; three diamonds and the ace of spades.

He needs to find two more winners without having to concede one more loser. He could get the two winners in hearts but would have to give up a heart trick to develop them. He can't afford to do that, so he abandons that line of play.

He can also develop two extra winners in spades without giving his opponents that extra trick. All he has to do is to find the queen of spades in the West hand.

★ ★ ★

Therefore he leads his jack of spades at trick two. If West covers, South's worries are over. If West ducks, South lets the jack ride and finesses against the queen again after the defense has taken their tricks.

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

| West | North | East | South |

| Pass | 3N.T. | Pass | ? |

You, South, hold:

♠AK984 ♥Q65 ♦AK104 ♣2

What do you do now?

A—Bid four diamonds. You are going to six somewhere but are not going to seven.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three no-trump, your partner has jumped to four spades. What do you do now?

Since this hand is taken from a book on play, there was no discussion of the bidding by Frank Perkins but we must state that it was both enterprising and successful and somehow or other we feel that any pair that bid and made three no-trump would score a top in any duplicate game.

Nixon Will Air Viet in Manila

MANILA (AP) — President Nixon is expected to concentrate on Vietnam affairs, Asian regional cooperation and U.S.-Philippines relations during his 23-hour visit to Manila this weekend.

Because it is election year here, he won't be able to avoid brushing with local politics, too.

★ ★ ★

Student and labor groups noted for anti-American sentiments have scheduled demonstrations, but Nixon is sure to receive a warm welcome.

★ ★ ★

He has been to the Philippines both as vice president and as a private citizen and is the third American president to visit this former U.S. colony.

BIG WELCOME

Dwight D. Eisenhower received a tumultuous welcome in 1960, and Lyndon B. Johnson was a major figure at the summit meeting of Vietnam allies in 1966.

Nixon is to arrive from Guam at 12:30 p.m. Saturday and depart at 11 a.m. Sunday for Jakarta, Indonesia. He will be met by President Ferdinand E. Marcos. Tens of thousands are expected to line the route from the airport to the presidential palace

An elaborate palace reception and state dinner for some 300 dignitaries is scheduled that evening.

Nixon and his aides will have several hours of private talks with Marcos and other Filipino officials.

HOTEL MEETING

Nixon is expected to leave the palace, where he will stay, for a hotel meeting with his staff and a protocol meeting with Sen. Sergio Osmena Jr., the man running against Marcos in the elections.

Nixon will not endorse either candidate, of course, but both men would like to use the visit for political advantage.

The talks on Vietnam are likely to cover the Philippines' role in event of a cease-fire.

This country has been mentioned as one that might help with postwar elections and police efforts. About 1,500 Filipino troops are assigned now to civic action and construction projects in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

On a regional level, both Nixon and Marcos have talked about the need to improve cooperation among nations in the area. They have expressed some similar ideas about how this could help meet the challenge of Communist China.

MAY DISCUSS BASES

On purely Philippine-American topics, they may discuss U.S. bases here. The large Subic Bay naval base and Clark Air Base concern some Filipinos who think the leases on them should be shortened. Others say the bases should be eliminated altogether. They employ about 60,000 Filipinos and contribute some $80 million annually to the Philippines economy.

★ ★ ★

Another likely topic is the special economic arrangements and preferential trade agreements between the countries. They rose out of the colonial period and are to end in 1974. There is nothing yet to replace them, and this has led to uncertainty that has dampened economic relations.

Navy Orders Driving Class for All Its Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy yesterday ordered its 765,000 men to learn how to drive better.

Because traffic deaths are killing more sailors than the Vietnam war, the Navy said it will require all Navy men to take the National Safety Council's defensive driving course.

★ ★ ★

During 1968, 500 Navy men were killed in traffic accidents, compared to 460 who died in combat in Vietnam that year.

"One out of every four Navy fatalities in 1968 resulted from traffic accidents," the Navy said.

DIFFICULTY ADJUSTING

The Navy apparently leads the other services in traffic accident rates, although the Pentagon supplied no figures on the Army and Air Force.

★ ★ ★

One Navy officer said studies have shown that sailors who have been at sea for several months have difficulty adjusting again to the wheel of a car.

★ ★ ★

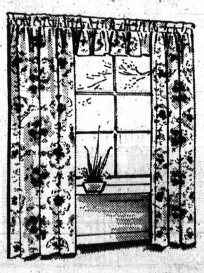

The driving course consists of eight one-hour classroom sessions designed to teach the driver how to anticipate, recognize and avoid hazardous driving situations.

Has 7-Year Streak Going

NL Frustrates AL Stars Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American League went back to the drawing board today in search of another plan to win the All-Star Game—with its two biggest stars disagreeing over the reason why the National League has now extended its superiority through seven years.

"They got more stars over there," said Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics after Wednesday's 9-3 loss to the National League.

"We don't have players like they have—like Mays, Aaron and Clemente. And we have no McCovey. And no Banks. And no Marichal. But we have a younger league than they have. Most of our players on the field were younger than theirs.

"So give us time—we'll be there."

"I have to admit we needed this game bad for league prestige," said Frank Howard of the Washington Senators. "You know you hear all this stuff about them being better. But I've played in both leagues and I think the American is as big league as the National.

"These things seem to run in cycles. Our league will be back."

Jackson, at 23 representing the AL's younger generation, and Howard, at 33 representing the AL's older generation, were the key players in the American League's plan for ending NL superiority this time around.

That plan called for loading the team with the league's top homer hitters. Jackson, with 37, and Howard, with 34, were the leading elements in a starting unit that statistically had the edge on the National League starters—179 homers to 105.

But 2 hours and 38 minutes later when the scoreboard showed the 9-3 final score, the National League had hit more homers than the American, 3-2, and had outhit them, 11-6.

Howard and Bill Freehan of Detroit collected home runs for the Americans, while Jackson failed to get the ball out of the infield in two official trips to the plate. But Willie McCovey of San Francisco hit two for the Nationals and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati one.

HOMER BATTLE

If, having lost the home run battle, the Americans decide now that pitching might have to be the answer—then it probably will help next year if Detroit's Denny McLain doesn't have a dentist's appointment.

McLain, Detroit's 14-game winner and the scheduled AL starter, took off in his private plane Tuesday night, after the game was postponed by rain, to have nine teeth capped in Detroit Wednesday morning.

His flight plan was expected to get him back to Washington in time for Wednesday's rescheduled start, but he did not appear on the American League bench until the National League was batting in the second inning.

He was too late to see the National League collect its first run in the first inning off Mel Stottlemyre on Matty Alou's leadoff single and Howard's error on Hank Aaron's fly ball.

He arrived while Bench was building the National League's lead to 3-0 with his first homer, following a single by Cleon Jones. And he was sent to the bullpen to get ready while the Americans got one back on Howard's homer.

But he still wasn't ready when the third inning opened and all he could do was watch while he warmed up in the bullpen as the National League exploded for five runs on five hits off John "Blue Moon" Odom, including McCovey's first homer.

QUICK-STEPPER — Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants does a fancy step to avoid a close pitch in the fifth inning of the All-Star game in Washington, D.C., yesterday. Willie, in a pinch hit role for the National League, flied out. Catching is Detroit's Bill Freehan.

Lions' Defense Just a Memory?

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

For more than 10 years when anyone talked about defense of the Detroit Lions, they first had to start with the name Joe Schmidt.

During the championship era of the 1950's, and into the 1960's defense was the bulwark of the Lions with Chris' Crew in the secondary, the Terrible Trio of linebackers and Fearsome Foursome up front.

Today defense-minded Schmidt is in his third year as head coach and the once-proud defense is faced with serious rebuilding problems.

"Yep, we had some great defensive units," recalled Schmidt, "I'd like to rebuild them that way again."

Only Alex Karras remains from the original Fearsome Foursome front line which included Roger Brown at defensive tackle, Darris McCord and Sam Williams at the ends.

Only Wayne Walker remains from the Terrible Trio which had Schmidt as middle linebacker and Carl Brettschneider at the other corner.

The vaunted secondary of Chris Crew featured Jack Christiansen, Jimmy David, Yale Lary and Gary Lowe. It was finally dissolved with Lary's retirement five years ago.

Karras and Jerry Rush make up the nucleus of the front four now and John Baker is the lone returnee at defensive end.

It appears that Joe Robb, holding out on his contract, will not be reporting and Larry Hand's contract squabble is still not settled.

"I hope Hand's situation is soon resolved," said Schmidt, "if it isn't, it's obvious we will have to go to the market to find one."

Even if Hand did report now, Schmidt indicated the Lions would have to alleviate the problems to bolster the defensive line.

The Lions continued twice daily drills with a big scrimmage intent for cutting the squad set for Saturday.

In an announcement this morning, offensive tackle Charlie Bradshaw officially decided on his retirement. He will devote his time to his law offices in Houston.

Swimming Mishap Halts Grid Plans

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Brian Bengtson, son of Green Bay Packers' Coach Phil Bengtson, has been lost to the Florida State football squad for the 1969 season.

The 195-pound end, who came to FSU as a quarterback, fractured a vertebra in a swimming accident near Green Bay. His father, who took over as Packer head man when Vince Lombardi retired in 1968, telephoned Coach Bill Peterson of the Seminoles about his sophomore son.

ROBBERY — Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, playing left field for the American League in the All-Star game in Washington, D.C., yesterday, leaps high above the fence to take a home run away from National League catcher Johnny Bench. In the bullpen are Mike Ryan of Philadelphia and Jerry Koosman of New York. Bench had clouted a homer earlier in the game which was won by the National loop, 9-3.

Mickey Lolich Raps McLain

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News said today that Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich was at odds with teammate Denny McLain because of his failure to get a ride back to Detroit in McLain's plane after the All-Star game in Washington Wednesday.

McLain was in Florida and Lolich was unreachable for comment.

"Denny pulled a crummy trick on me today," the Detroit paper reported.

"He McLain buzzed out of here right after he was through pitching and left me and my wife, Joyce, stranded without a ride back to Detroit. And all he says is 'that's tough. That is your problem.'

"McLain does not think about his friends or his teammates All he thinks about is himself," said Lolich.

"And look," said Lolich, "I want to see that in the paper. I have had enough of this stuff."

Lolich 13-2 and McLain 14-5 are the mainstains of the Tiger pitching staff and the team's biggest assets in their second half drive for another American League pennant.

McLain, who was scheduled to be the American League starting pitcher Wednesday in the 9-3 loss to the National League, had some dental work done in Detroit, flew to Washington in his own jet and arrived a few minutes after the game started. He worked only one inning in relief.

Said Lolich, "It really wasn't so bad that we had to get back to Detroit by ourselves. But Denny's attitude was just beautiful. When he left the game at the end of the fourth inning to get dressed, I stopepd him and asked him where he was going.

* * *

"He told me that he was in a hurry, that he had to fly to Florida or someplace. I understand he has real estate or a house near Lakeland, Fla."

Lolich said he and his wife flew to Washington Monday night in McLain's plane and that the latter even picked him up at Berz Airport in Birmingham where Lolich left his car.

Lolich said that after McLain left Washington, he got a ride to Washington's National Airport with Tiger catcher Bill Freehan and booked passage on a commercial airliner.

Granted 'Clean Slate'

Looney Is Now 'Saint'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Joe Don Looney, once known as one of the Peck's Bad Boys of pro football, says he has a new outlook and "only wants to make the team and play a lot" for the New Orleans Saints.

In four years Looney was on the roster of four different National Football League teams after quitting the University of Oklahoma squad in his senior year.

The Saints gave Looney another chance at pro football earlier this month and Coach Tom Fears says Joe Don "has a clean slate as far as I'm concerned."

JOE DON LOONEY

He was signed as a free agent by New Orleans just prior to the opening of training camp here. Now 26, married and the father of a 14-month-old daughter, Looney got out of the Army on July 4th. He spent nine months in Vietnam.

Fears said he is highly impressed so far with Looney.

Looney said he didn't get a chance to run while in Vietnam "except when there were rocket attacks." He explained that a bruised heel which kept him from putting on pads for a few days here came when he was running to a bunker in Vietnam and hit a steel railing.

"Viet Cong rockets were raining down," said Looney.

"My legs are really bothering me," he continued. "I don't mind the work, though, because I'm happy to be with the Saints."

He talked freely about his troubles with other pro teams. "I hold no grudges," he said.

Drafted by the New York Giants, Looney said he "doesn't like big cities," and asked Giants Coach Allie Sherman to trade him.

He wound up at Baltimore next and "there were no problems there." The Colts sent him to Detroit and from there he was traded to Washington.

"At both Detroit and Washington I was like a guy who walked into the garage just before the Valentine's Day Massacre," said Looney.

Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer and Redskin Coach Otto Graham "were both under pressure and you know they've since lost their jobs," said Looney.

"My trouble was that I'm sensitive or was, and I took things too personally. I'm not like that any more."

Looney told newsmen he plans to live on his 275-acre ranch at Diana, Tex., near Shreveport, La., and commute to New Orleans in his own plane "if I make the team."

McCovey's Ills Don't Hamper Bat

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Willie McCovey's knees aren't bothering him, his hip is.

But there's nothing wrong with his shoulders. You can take it from the Vice-President of the United States.

"He told me I've got the biggest shoulder swing he's ever seen," McCovey said Wednesday after accepting congratulations from Vice President Agnew for his two-home run, four-RBI binge in the National League's 9-3 All-Star Game romp over the American League.

"I'm not really sure what the Vice President meant," said the 6-foot-5 San Francisco slugger, the NL homer leader with 30 who socked a pair in Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium—his first two hits in All-Star competition.

"All I know is I have a bad hip and two bum knees," he said. "They've been bothering me off and on all year."

HIP TROUBLES

McCovey's right hip was troubling him Wednesday in the muggy Washington weather and, although he had a crack at setting an All-Star record of three homers, he wasn't unhappy when NL manager Red Schoendienst lifted him from the line-up in the sixth inning.

"As a matter of fact, I was ready to come out," he said. "The hip was bothering me a lot. I think the humid weather has a lot to do with it."

* * *

But, while he might have had difficulty shooting from the hip, his long-ball swing was in top form. After delivering a first-inning run with a ground out, he blasted a John "Blue Moon" Odom pitch 420 feet against the facade of the upper right center field stands. Then he tagged Denny McLain for a 350-foot belt that cleared the fence in right.

"I got enough of the second one so I thought it had a chance of going out," he said. "There was no doubt about the first one."

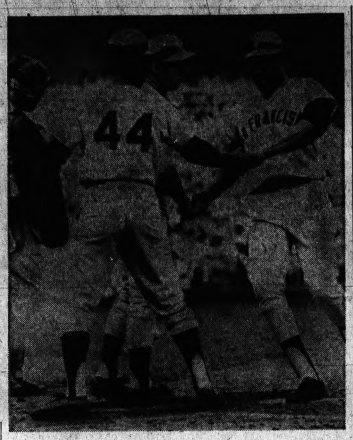

McCovey, who had never before been in Washington, found the Senators symmetrical park much to his liking. "I think all the parks should be like this one—with the same dimensions down the lines. It's not exactly a hitter's park, but the home run hitters will hit it out, and that's the way it should be.

* * *

"If all the parks were the same size, if a guy hits 30 homers and another guy hits 40, you know they hit them under the same conditions. Now, the way the parks differ in size, somebody can always hit 15 cheapies.

McCovey's home runs are tape measure shots more often than not. And he is far ahead of his 1968 pace, when he led the league with 36. But he isn't counting on himself, or anyone else, breaking Roger Maris' 1961 record of 61 homers.

"When you get to a certain point, the pitchers just stop pitching to you," he said. "When I was hot early this season, they were still challenging me. But they're not pitching to me as much anymore, and when it gets down to the last month, you know they won't be giving anybody anything."

HOMER KING — National League's Willie McCovey of San Francisco gets the welcome home treatment after clouting a home run with Hank Aaron (44) of Atlanta aboard in the third inning of the All-Star game in Washington, D.C., yesterday. The other part of the welcoming committee is Ron Santo (next batter) of Chicago. McCovey tied the All-Star game record an inning later by belting his second homer. NL won, 9-3.

State Firm Unveils Plan for $7 Million N.J. Track

DETROIT (AP) — American Raceways, Inc. of Detroit announced Wednesday plans for a $7 million auto racing track to be built in near Cherry Hill, N.J. First race at the facility, to be called Eastern International Speedway, is proposed for Aug. 23, 1970.

* * *

Lawrence H. Lopatin, president of the firm, said 803 acres along U.S. 206 in Southhampton Township, Burlington County, have been bought for the track. The site is about 11 miles south of the No. 7 interchange on the New Jersey Turnpike.

* * *

Initial seating capacity will be 25,000, said Lopatin. He said the seating will probably later be expanded to 100,000 with much additional standing room in the infield.

American Raceways owns the Michigan International Speedway at Cambridge Junction, Mich., and is building a $6 million race track near College Station, Tex. The firm also has interests in Riverside International Raceway in Southern California and Atlanta International Raceway in Georgia and manages both tracks.

* * *

The first race on the two-mile banked oval will be a 500-mile event for NASCAR grand national stock cars.

* * *

"This will be one of the key races of the 1970 NASCAR Grand National series that decides the champions of both driver and manufacturer competition," said William France Sr., president of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing. France spoke at a news conference near the site of the proposed track.

Grand Slam Leads Liberty Slowpitch

A grand-slam home run by Bill Lucas highlighted a seven-run second inning that carried Liberty Tool (11-3) to a 9-3 victory over Carpentry Engineering (8-7) last night in Walled Lake Industrial Softball.

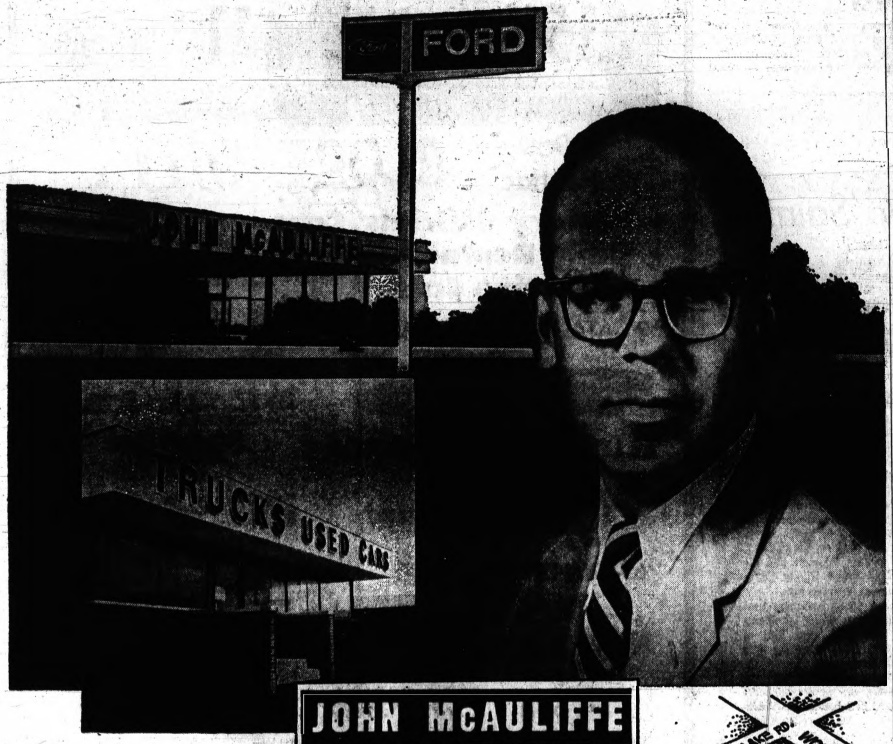

Dennis Dolman clouted a solo homer in a four-run sixth frame as Williams Research (5-9) handed Mobil Temp (0-12) a 7-1 setback.

* * *

Lawson Manufacturing (5-9) pounded out 26 hits — including 11 doubles and two triples — in posting an easy 19-3 win over Piles Industries (3-11).

WE'VE MOVED

John McAuliffe Ford, beginning their second decade of Ford Sales and Service in the greater Oakland County area, have relocated to better service their ever-growing Ford family. The closing of the 1969 model run will mean homecoming for thousands of McAuliffe Ford customers and well-wishers. While touring the new ultra-modern facilities, everyone will also enjoy big savings on new Ford Cars and Trucks, as End-of-Year Sales are now in progress.

Girls' Champ LPGA Favorite

Donna Caponi After Women's Rich Purse

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Donna Caponi, a five-year pro who won the U.S. Open last month in Pensacola, Fla., for her first tour victory, is turning out to be a flash to be reckoned with rather than a flash in the pan.

★ ★ ★

The bubbly, 24-year-old Californian tees off in the 72-hole, $35,000 LPGA Championship today at the famed Concord Hotel course as the favorite, with finishes in the top five in both her starts since the Open and "a super mental attitude."

★ ★ ★

The 15th LPGA Championship offers the richest first prize in women's golf, a little more than $5,200. The course has been shortened from its 6,900 yard par 72 standard the girls faced here last year at the Concord Open, which produced the highest scores in LPGA history. It is now 6,306 yards and par 73.

Victory Brings Share of Third

Timberlanes Gains Win in Waterford

Timberlanes (11-9) clinched a share of third place last night with a seesaw 8-5 victory over C. Weedon Construction (9-11) in Waterford Township softball.

★ ★ ★

Weedon jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the third frame but Timberlanes battled back and went ahead for good with three markers in the fifth inning. Bill Hayward's triple, Al Hayward's single, a couple of errors and Norm Ausleybrook' single produced the three runs.

★ ★ ★

The Hayward brothers along with Al Smith finished with two hits apiece, while Ted Whary collected a pair of Weedon.

Midget Bar (10-9) downed Colonial Village (3-16), 7-1, and the bar squad can tie for third with a victory over Tru-Bilt Redi Mix in their finale Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Jim Fisk flipped a five-hitter and struck out five to set the pace for Midget Bar. The winners tallied five runs in the second inning on one hit and four errors.

7-School Loop Planned

CMU After New Affiliation

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Central Michigan University, Illinois State and Northern Illinois may become a part of a new seven-school athletic conference, according to an article Wednesday in CMU's student newspaper "Life."

Dr. Samuel E. Braden, president of Illinois State, was quoted in an article by sports editor Pete Sandman as saying, "Our school, yours and Northern Illinois are among the state universities that will realign with other midwestern schools to form a new conference."

INVITATIONS

"Indiana State and Ball State have also received invitations to join the conference, which will pattern itself after the Mid-American Conference," Braden added.

★ ★ ★

One board of regents governs both Northern Illinois and Illinois State and at a meeting July 13 it granted the school permission to pursue another league affiliation.

Braden did not reveal other possible schools which would join the new conference but said, "by early September we will know the seven schools."

Northern Illinois dropped out of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (IIAC) four years ago, while Illinois State and CMU are still members. Indiana State and Ball State dropped out of the Indiana Collegiate Conference during the past year.

Braden said the main reason for forming a new league is that schools are growing at different rates and "we want schools with equal academic and athletic backgrounds and futures."

He said the "nonathletic" part of the conference could begin by fall or winter.

Ted Kjolhede, CMU basketball coach and former NAIA small college coach of the year, said "We have received an invitation (to join the new league) and we will bring it up at our meeting."

★ ★ ★

Central Michigan, Indiana State and Ball State are expected to discuss the proposals at governing board meetings within the next three months.

Four Pitchers Have Knack for Shutout Wins

Four pitchers had the shutout touch yesterday in Pontiac junior baseball.

In a pair of 3-0 Class D games, both two-hitters, Chip Lloyd struck out nine as Bloomfield Hills halted the Met Club, and Orville Campbell fanned seven in Rochester's triumph over Snack & Rack.

In Class E, Mark Davis gave up only two hits as Lakeland Athletic Association pinned a 3-0 setback on Auburn Heights Boys Club, and Glen Thorpe fired a one-hitter in Eriksen's Tigers 8-0 verdict over Talbott Construction.

KC Lineman to Sit Out '69 Season

By the Associated Press

Ernie Ladd, one of the most feared linemen in pro football, won't play this season.

Halfback Dick Bass, in contrast, is ready for a strong comeback after being hampered most of the 1968 season by injuries.

Hank Stram, coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, said Wednesday that the Chiefs and Ladd had agreed it would be best for all concerned for Ladd to sit out this season and concentrate on getting into shape for the 1970 campaign.

Ladd, a 6-foot-9, 300-pound defensive tackle, underwent surgery on his left knee last January.

"He worked on the knee very religiously since the operation, but it hasn't responded as well as we had hoped," Stram said.

BASS BETTER

Bass, the all-time leading runner for the Los Angeles Rams, said he felt great after two workouts Wednesday.

"My legs feel real good and I'm anxious to get started," the 195-pound Bass said.

The Chicago Bears held their first full-blown scrimmage and it was rookie halfback Ross Montgomery of Texas Christian who starred. He gained 24 yards in seven carries, including a two-yard TD plunge. In addition he caught three passes for 48 yards.

BEARS TRADE

The Bears also sent defensive back Curtis Gentry to the St. Louis Cardinals for receiver Bobby Lee and an undisclosed draft choice.

* * *

The San Diego Chargers tried out rookie Jeff Queen from Morgan State as a running back and Coach Sid Gillman was pleased with his speed.

Joe Pryor, a rookie end with the Houston Oilers, also apparently decided to call it quits. He left the team Wednesday.

DRILLS HAMPERED

Rain hampered the workout of the world champion New York Jets, preparing for the College All-Star game in Chicago next week, and quarterback Joe Namath took advantage of the shortened drill to attend a literary press conference to promote his forthcoming autobiography, I Can't Wait Until Tomorrow.

PATRIOTS SIGN

Rookie holdouts Rick Hackley and Steve Alexakos signed with the Boston Patriots Wednesday and worked out in full pads for the first time.

* * *

Hackley, a 6-foot-5, 276-pound offensive tackle from New Mexico State, was the American Football League club's No. 7 draft choice, and Alexakos, a 6-3, 260-pound center from San Jose State, was picked in the ninth round.

The Pats also cut two men Wednesday — veteran punter Terry Swanson and rookie left linebacker Jim Vuono from Adams State, a 16th round draft pick.

COWBOYS SWITCH

Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys is toying with the idea of trying backs Danny Reeves and Calvin Hill at tight end.

Veteran pros Pettis Norman, last year's starter, and newly acquired Mike Ditka, appeared to be the favorites for the end spot.

GIANTS CUT

Three rookie players were released by the New York football Giants Wednesday.

Those cut are defensive back Alonzo Bullie of Tuskegee; linebacker Sam Shivers of Alcorn A&M and defensive tackle Lou Gallardi of Dayton, who was New York's No. 10 draft choice this year.

The Giants now have 76 players in camp and must get down to 60 men by Aug. 1.

BROWNS TRIM

Cleveland Brown's Coach Blanton Collier cut his training camp roster to 54 Wednesday by dropping running back Tom Boutwell of Southern Mississippi, kicker Bill McWilliams of Bowdoin and linebacker Jiggy Smaha of Georgia.

* * *

Collier continued to express pleasure in running back Robert "Bo" Scott, a four-year veteran of Canadian football who is bidding for retired Ernie Green's starting fullback slot.

State Team After Babe Ruth Crown

WELLINGTON, Kansas (AP) — The Alpena Senior Babe Ruth League All-Star team has moved up another notch in the national sectional championships in Wellington, Kansas by shutting out Sedalia, Miss., 5-0.

* * *

The winning pitcher in the ballgame was Ted Luebke, who allowed only two hits while he struck out 16 in the seven-inning contest. Luebke struck out the side in the first and again in the sixth while fanning two in every other inning.

* * *

Alpena scored four runs in the first on a walk and five consecutive singles. They added one more in the sixth.

* * *

Alpena will play again on Friday when it meets the winner of the Illinois-Ohio game.

Foreign Pros in Spotlight on Eve of Canadian Open

MONTREAL (AP) — The light-hearted, good-natured fun is over and the seriousness of making every shot count starts today as the Canadian Open Golf Championship gets under way at Pinegrove Country Club in nearby St. Luc.

A total of 152 professional and amateur golfers from 12 countries tee off today in the 60th annual national championship, which carries a $125,000 purse —$25,000 to the winner.

Most of the contestants in the 72-hole tournament toured the 7,090-yard, par-72 layout leisurely Wednesday in a final tune-up.

Main attraction was a threesome of British Open winner Tony Jacklin, Bob Charles of New Zealand, runnerup to Jacklin in the British Open, and Roberto deVicenzo, third in the British tournament.

DEFENDING CHAMP

Charles is the defending Canadian Open champion.

The three played several experimental putts, after sinking the original bal, before a gallery of up to 500.

None kept a score, but an approximate count showed Jacklin at 69, DeVicenzo at 70 and Charles at 73.

Jacklin was probably the biggest winner Wednesday. He took $5 from a tournament marshall who wagered Jacklin that the golfer would not be able to clear his tee shot over a small river which runs across the fairway on the 375-yard par 4 fourth hole.

The British Open champion walloped a drive that easily cleared the small river. One observer said a drive of 225 yards would be needed to cross the river, which runs through the course seven times.

Canadian Gal Captures 3rd WMGA Event

Superb play around the greens enabled Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmhurst, Ont., to collect her third victory of the season yesterday in the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association outing at Bald Mountain.

* * *

Using only 14 putts on the front side and 16 on the back, Mrs. Panasiuk breezed around the Bald Mountain layout in 41-38—79 to gain a two-shot win over Mrs. David Mortimer of Birmingham in the field of 60 players.

Mrs. Panasiuk picked up five one-putt greens on the back nine — all for pars — and she added five more pars on the front nine.

13-Game Losing Streak Ends

Carl's Golfland snapped a 13-game losing streak in Pontiac Class A men's baseball last night with a 1-0 victory over CIO No. 594.

The truimph was only the second against 17 defeats for Golfland, while the loss left CIO at 9-11.

Chuck Johnson spun a four-hitter and struck out five to lift the victory-starved Golfland crew.

It wasn't easy. Johnson pitched out of jams in the second and fifth frames. In the second, Chet Woodmore led off with a triple for CIO, but Johnson fanned Doug Bogert, got Dale Manning on a pop to third, and after walking Willy Williams and Gene Lupino to load the bases retired the side by getting Andy Miceli on a pop to second.

ESCAPES AGAIN

In the fifth, two-out singles by Miceli and Ray Heaton put runners on first and third, but Johnson induced Dave Fagerlie to bounce out to first.

Johnson had to be tough because his teammates, who played errorless ball, managed only two hits off Manning.

The breakthrough came in the sixth for Carl's. Den Rogers walked, moved to third on a sacrifice and an error and loped home on a flight to center off the bat of John Barret.

Manning struck out four and yielded singles in the fifth and seventh frames.

Waterford Legion Hurler Misses Second No-Hitter

DISTRICT 18 AMERICAN LEGION Standings

| Troy | 11 | 10 | Milford | 2 | 15 |
| Berkley | 9 | 9 | | | |

Lefty Mike Harkey of Waterford came within a couple of outs of gaining his second straight no-hitter yesterday in American Legion baseball.

For 6⅓ innings, Harkey, who pitched a no-hitter against Clarkston Sunday, held Walled Lake hitless, but the spell was broken when a Walled Laker rifled a ball to the opposite field.

UPS RECORD

Still, Harkey and his teammates emerged with a 4-0 victory that raised their record in District American Legion to 16-5, two games ahead of second-place Madison Heights.

★ ★ ★

Harkey struck out 11 and walked only two and drove in the first Waterford run. Terry Crawford aided the cause with two RBI.

HOMER DECISIVE

Ron Schaller clouted a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh to give Clarkston a 6-5 decision over Berkley. Jeff Keyser had an earlier homer for Clarkston.

★ ★ ★

Claude Lydick went three-for-three and Joe Mitchell drove in two runs as Troy pinned a 5-2 setback on Milford.

Larry Frizzell chased home a pair of runs to lead Madison Heights to a 3-1 decision over Farmington.

A field mixup forced the postponement of the Pontiac Central-Southfield game.

U. S. Sailor Fifth Following Victory in Race Series

SANDHAMN, Sweden (AP) — Charles Shumway of Providence, R.I., won the fifth race in the 5.5 meter yachting world championships in Nemesis Wednesday.

Shumway, who headed the standings after the third race but was disqualified in the fourth Tuesday, now is in fifth place.

The Swedish Sundelin brothers, Olympic champions in Mexico, were fourth in the fifth race and retained their over-all lead ahead of France's J .E. Guillou, who was third Wednesday.

Oakland Hills Golfers Leading

An Oakland Hills pair, Dottie Keller and Helen Hanley, jumped off to a four-stroke lead yesterday in the opening round of the 10th annual 54-hole Ladies Invitational best-ball tournament at Red Run Country Club.

The Oakland Hills duo was in with a best-ball 65, while defending champions Marie Johnson of Red Run and Audrey Ash of Plum Hollow garnered a 69.

Homers Spark Bombers' Win in City Play

Home runs by Joanne Madden and Gwen Grant sparked the Bombers to a 12-2 victory over Standard Auto last night in Pontiac women's slowpitch.

Trailing 2-0 after three innings, the Bombers tallied once in the fourth, took the lead with three in the sixth and broke the game open with eight markers in the top of the seventh.

LEAD ATTACK

Joyce Harring and Linda Powell joined in the act for the Bombers with three hits apiece. Bertha Bentley picked up two singles for Standard Auto.

In other games, AMRC downed Pontiac Press, 14-2, and Gethsemane Lutheran trimmed Progressive Welder, 13-10.

Dorothy Wellens collected three hits and Maureen Daugherty and Denise St. Denaise added two each to pace AMRC. The winners scored 11 runs in the first four frames.

Donna Harned with a home run, double and single, and Marty Lawson set the pace for Gethsemane with three hits each while teammate Colleen Davis contributed a single and homer. Jo Nol and Butch Balkwell picked up three hits each for Progressive.

Champ Bob Neff Challenge of Netters

Everyone wants to beat the champion and Bob Neff, defending champion of two events in the Oakland County Open tennis tournament is geared for the challenge.

Neff, former Southfield High basketball and tennis coach, teamed up with his doubles partner Ian Wilson of Northville to set down the challenge of Morris and Ben Rosenbaum 6-3, 6-1 in a makeup match last evening at Oakland University courts.

The next opponent in the doubles event will be no easier for the Neff-Wilson duo.

Greg Stevens of Union Lake and Mike Miller of Bowling Green, Ohio defeated Clay Overson and Bob Page, 6-1, 6-1 to set up the next match for Neff and Wilson from the two winning teams.

This will be a quarterfinal match Saturday evening at 6:00 p.m.

Neff, who defeated Wilson for the seniors title last year, will also face Stevens in his next match in this event on Saturday afternoon as well, and should he get by Stevens it could possibly set up the big match of the upper bracket between Neff and Reid Rundell in Sunday morning semifinals.

★ ★ ★

In other matches yesterday, Morris Rosenbaum defeated Dick Noon, 6-0, 6-1 in senior singles.

In men's doubles, Carry Kaufman-Lunn Katz defeated Wiswell and Brandel, 6-2, 6-2, while Harvey Burdick and Norton Seeber outlasted Reed and Dovre, 6-4, 7-5.

Kaufman and Katz also won in junior doubles, 6-2, 6-1 over Motzny and Drake.

★ ★ ★

The quarterfinals of the tournament will be played all day Saturday and players who have not completed their makeup matches up to this point through Friday will be defaulted.

The semifinals are set for 10:00 and 11:30 a.m. Sunday, and the finals for 3:00 and 4:30 p.m. on the Oakland U. courts.

Tennis Tutor Scores Upset

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Luis Ayala, 36-year-old teaching pro from San Juan, P.R. scored the first major upset of the $25000 National Clay Court tournament Wednesday in defeating fifth-seeded Bob Lutz of Los Angeles 8-6, 6-2.

Lutz, who will be 22 next month, twice held set point with the score 6-5 in the first set but Ayala came back to take the next six games.

Ayala is unseeded here because he became a teaching pro 2½ years ago and was off the circuit that long. He said it was his best victory in some time because "I've only been entering two tournaments a year."

Two seeded foreigners —No. 6 Pancho Guzman of Ecuador and No. 7 Dick Crealy of Australia—also lost their second round matches at Woodstock Club Wednesday. Guzman fell to Louis Rouyer of France 2-6, 6-4, 7-5. Crealy lost to Tom Edlefsen, Fort Walton Beach, Fla., 0-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe and Nancy Richey both won their second round matches with ease.

Local Teams Reach Finals

Walled Lake and South Farmington will battle for the District 4 Little League championship at 2 p.m. Saturday in Fenton.

South Farmington reached the finals yesterday with a 10-9 triumph over Southfield West while Walled Lake moved up with a 2-0 decision over Southfield East.

Top Seed Wins

LAKE BLUFF, Ill. (AP) — Top-seeded Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., continued to bounce towards a successful title defense Wednesday when she eliminated Sue Stap of Deerfield, Ill., in the quarter-finals of the National Girls' 16-and-under Tennis Tournament.

Reliable Tumbles

Homer Hitter Spurs Conn's Win

Long-ball hitting Donald McConnor rapped a pair of home runs last night as once-beaten Conn's Clothes pinned a 6-2 setback on Miracle Lounge in city Class A men's slowpitch.

The triumph hiked Conn's league-leading mark in the American Division to 19-1. Miracle Lounge is 7-13.

EARLY BLOW

McConnor connected with Cy Green aboard with a walk to boost Conn's into a 2-0 lead in the first frame, and he cracked his solo blow in the third frame. The loungemen managed only four hits.

★ ★ ★

A suprise in the Class B. American action found Eagles No. 1230 (8-9) upsetting league-leading Reliable Transmission (14-3), 16-2.

RUNS APLENTY

The Eagles pounded out 20 hits and broke the game open with six runs in the sixth and six in the seventh. Kay Loren set the pace for the Eagles with three hits — one a home run — and he drove in four runs. Bill Dee contributed four hits.

Lloyd Clancy managed three safeties for Reliable which picked up both runs in the fifth.

In other Class B games, Pontiac Press (6-10) used one big inning to nip Grubb's Kennels (8-9), 4-3, while the Pontiac Pistons (9-7) gained a 9-3 decision over Local No. 653 (8-10).

HITS COUNT

The Pressmen managed only five hits but four of them came in the second inning and led to all of the winners' runs. Denny Long rapped a pair of singles to spark the Press. Nerd Adkins and Dick Lewis picked up two hits apiece for Grubb's. Dave Grubb contributed a solo homer.

Gene George banged out two singles and a double to spark the Pistons. The winners tallied three times in the second and closed out with three in the top of the seventh. Jim Pistro and Ralph Chapman picked up two hits each for Local 653.

Card of Thanks 1

MRS. KATTIE MAE Stephens and family would like to thank each and everyone for their kindness and sympathy in the great loss that we suffered, of our loving husband and father, Mr. J. P. Stephens.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of my husband, Gerald Lee Frick, who passed away July 24, 1968.
There is a link death cannot sever.
Love and remembrance last forever.
Sadly missed by wife Donna and daughters Penny and Peggy.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our son and brother, Gerald Lee Frick, who passed away, July 24, 1968.
Your memory is a keepsake
With which we'll never part.
Though God has you in His keeping,
We still have you in our hearts.
Sadly missed by parents, Earle and Pearl Frick and brother Russell Frick and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Lousia Maxfield, who passed away July 24, 1968:

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last;
The world's weary trouble and trials are past;
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

Sadly missed by Donald J. Caillard, grandson.

Executive Cars

FACTORY CARS

90 per cent of our cars have never been titled to a private indiv. These 1969 and 1968 models are like brand new. The bugs are ironed out, and the big new car price has been taken off, so the savings are all yours.

You must come, see, and drive these factory cars, and you will experience the ultimate in luxury driving of these factory cars. Our cars are as low as 1000 miles, and carry a full factory warranty. Come and see why, our business is just booming.

Also, we have many second car trades, that have been traded on our factory cars that you may choose for second cars for your teen-agers.

Broadcasters Blast Cigarette-Ad 'Deal'

TYRA LEA LARUE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The broadcastig industry accused the government todayof making it "a whipping boy" by cooperating with the cigarette industry's plan to stop advertising on television and radio.

The plan, which would eliminate cigarette commercials by September 1970, was announced Tuesday. Senate antismoking leaders called it a giant contribution to public health.

★ ★ ★

But broadcasting sources said the radio-television industry felt it was left out in what they called a deal between senators and cigarette makers. These sources said the industry would bitterly oppose the plan, which would cost broadcasters $240 million a year in cigarette advertising.

The broadcasters signaled their intention to fight in a National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) memo to members. Industry sources elaborated but asked not to be identified.

The broadcasters indicated they would accept the, NAB's proposal to phase out cigarette commercials gradually over the next four years. The NAB plan rejected earlier by cigarette makers and leaders of the Senate Commerce Committee, was designed to cushion broadcasters' financial losses.

Sources in the tobacco and broadcasting industries and on the Senate Commerce Committee said the NAB and the Tobacco Institute split during delicate, secret negotiations on ways to phase out broadcast cigarette advertising.

The division became so intense, sources said, that each of the two trade associations purposely announced its respective phase-out plans without consulting the other, although both were working toward the same end and under the same government pressure.

Senators involved in the smoking-health controversy denied they made a "deal" with cigarette makers. They predicted the plan to abolish cigarette commercials next year probably would go into effect despite broadcasting opposition

NO ANTITRUST VIOLATION

They said all Congress need do is to assure cigarette makers that the advertising agreement, made among nine cigarette manufacturers, would not be considered a violation of antitrust laws.

Otherwise, cigarette manufacturers fear broadcasters might be able to sue for triple their cigarette advertising losses under these laws.

Bare Bosoms? Judge Driven to Distraction

DETROIT (UPI) — Traffic Court Referee John G. Carney couldn't keep his mind off the road after listening to traffic violation cases for two hours.

"I find you guilty of driving with nothing on your bosom," Carney inadvertently told dancer Tyra Lea LaRue, 21, charged with dancing bare-busted in a local bar.

Miss LaRue, who measures 41-28-42 and said "I'm not big up there, I just have a broad back," was fined $300 for not buckling up.

Theodore Manolakas, owner of the Sip 'N' Chat bar, said he asked Miss LaRue to dance topless to test the constitutionality of a police regulation requiring pasties. He was fined $200 for allowing an act of indecent exposure in his bar.

Mystic Alters Story He Has Line on Killer

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dutch psychic Peter Hurkos toured the murder sites Wednesday of three of the seven girls slain in the Ann Arbor - Ypsilanti area in the last two years, apparently impressing the three officers who accompanied him.

He described the positions of the bodies when they were found and how the three girls were killed. His statements agreed with police reports, but much of that information has been publicized by newspapers and other media.

★ ★ ★

Police said they are following up leads given by Hurkos, although none has supplied any hard information yet.

Hurkos' earlier statement that he had a line on the killer was sreversed.

"We felt we would put this information together today, but our suspect got away," said Ed Silver, Hurkos' assistant. "What I mean is, everything applied, but Peter felt he was not the man."

'NOT THE MAN'

They said they thought they had the murderer of Dawn Basom, 13, of Ypsilanti, found strangled last April.

★ ★ ★

Hurkos said the Ann Arbor police are giving him more cooperation than he received from the Boston police when he worked on the Boston Strangler case a few years ago.

Current indications are that Hurkos will return to Los Angeles, where he does a night-club act, by the end of the week, although he said Wednesday he would stay until a killer was apprehended.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Court proceedings begin Friday for Ernest Bishop of Ann Arbor who was charged with the murder of the most recent of the seven victims. Police say there are no indications Bishop had anything to do with the previous slayings.

A Look at TV

Specials on Trip Abound

By United Press International

President Nixon's around-the-world trip, including his historic visit to Communist Romania next week, will get special coverage fro mthe television networks.

Nixon left for the Pacific yesterday to be on hand for the recovery of the Apollo 11 astronauts on their return from the moon today.

★ ★ ★

After that, the apparent highlight of his journey will be his visit to the Romanian city of Bucharest Aug. 2 and 3 — the first personal call on a Communist citadel by a president of the United States since World War II.

Tomorrow night, there will be a live NBC-TV broadcast carried by Channel 4 locally, of Nixon's arrival in Manila. The scheduled time is from 1:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. EST.

ABC-TV's coverage will include half-hour segments carried locally by Channel 7 at 11 p.m. EST Saturday and Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Further NBC-TV coverage will be carried by Channel 4 on Monday from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

Tuesday, there will be a 30-minute CBS-TV program focusing on Nixon's Bangkok trip. This broadcast will be seen locally at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

Next Thursday, meanwhile, ABC-TV will contribute an hour report on President Nixon's trip. It will be carried locally at 10 p.m. EST.

Channel 4 reported that its pickups of NBC coverage of the President's trip on Aug. 2 and 3 would be determined at a later date.

The night of Aug. 2, CBS-TV will have an hour report on the Bucharest trip, beginning at 7:30 p.m. EST on Channel 2.

★ ★ ★

Coverage on Aug. 2 by ABC-TV will include a half-hour segment that will be carried by Channel 7 at 11 p.m.

The night of Aug. 3, there will be live network coverage of the President's arrival home at Andrews Air Force Base, at 9 p.m. EST.

Soul Singer Gets a New Court Date

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Soul singer Aretha Franklin is scheduled to appear in Highland Park Municipal Court today on charges of disorderly conduct following a minor auto accident Tuesday night.

Miss Franklin missed a court appearance Wednesday, although her attorney did appear and asked for adjournment until today because Miss Franklin was distraught over the death of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of the late Martin Luther King.

★ ★ ★

The singing star was arrested Tuesday by Highland Park police after an auto accident in a parking lot and she allegedly became belligerent and swore at police.

Municipal Judge David Golden ordered Miss Franklin's $100 bond forfeited when he agreed to the one-day adjournment. He also ordered Miss Franklin to have a doctor's certificate attesting that she was under his

Houston Lifts Watering Ban

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — City Council canceled a ban on watering lawns Wednesday after a thundershower dumped .43 of an inch of rain in the downtown area.

Rain has fallen in some other sections of the city the past few days, breaking a three-week, hot dry spell.

Houston had sufficient water but suffered from a pressure problem during peak periods of use.

Town's War Deaths 'Top U. S. Average'

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Richard Spencer says this San Joaquin Valley community of 12,000 has had its 22nd fatality of the Vietnam war, Henry Reyes, a 22-year-old paratrooper killed by a booby trap during a combat mission.

Spencer said this was twice the national per capita average.

★ ★ ★

"We are quite concerned," Spencer said Wednesday, "but not bitter in any way. The community is proud that the boys of Porterville are doing their job on the front lines."

Copter Trainees Drop-In Guests

GORDONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Twenty-eight helicopters swooped down Wednesday and landed in Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Blivens' backyard.

Forty-nine student pilots, six instructors and one commander, all from Ft. Wolters, climbed down and were the Blivens' guest for an annual country dinner. The tradition began several years ago when the Blivens' son was in training at the school near Mineral Wells.

Apollo Sample of Lunar Rock Raises Hopes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Apollo 11's astronauts explored an area of the lunar surface not much bigger than a baseball diamond, but they may be bringing back pieces of rock from all over the moon.

Their reports from Tranquillity base raise the possibility that their precious load of samples could go a long way in helping scientists learn more about the moon's highlands, as well as its flatlands.

★ ★ ★

Neil A. Armstrong reported several times that he saw a large variety of rock types scattered about the small stretch of the Sea of Tranquillity which he and Edwin E. Aldrin traversed.

The different types of rocks could have been gouged out of the moon by meteoroids striking hundreds of miles away, and the chances are that some of that debris came from the rugged mountainous areas that cover much of the moon.

'GOOD CHANCE'

"You have a very good chance at a site like this of getting a good representative sampling of the moon," said Dr. Ted R. Foss, chief of the geology branch at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

"These impacting meteoroids throw this stuff all over the place, and you have got at least some statistical chance of getting a sample from any spot on the moon at any spot you happen to land."

★ ★ ★

Armstrong reported Tuesday that "I tried to take as many different types as I could in the short time we had available."

If laboratory tests show they are different from most of the lunar sea material, then scientists will have taken a major step toward determining the moon's makeup.

★ ★ ★

The big problem will be identifying the source of these rock "strangers." Man's first opportunity to find out for certain what type of material is in the moon's highlands may come next spring when Apollo 13 heads out on America's third lunar landing.

There seems to be a consensus among geologists that the highlands areas are different from the lunar seas in composition as well as topography.

Rocks a Clue to Moon Origin?

Difference in Density From Earth Is Puzzle

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — One of the puzzling facts about the moon that earthbound scientists hope actual moon rocks will help solve is the difference in the density of the moon and the earth.

The earth has a bulk density about 5½ times that of water while the moon is about 3½ times as dense.

★ ★ ★

"We can't have the same proportion of heavy to light elements, for example, in the moon that we have in the earth," said Dr. Elbert A. King of the space agency's lunar and earth sciences division prior to the flight.

He said, "This speculation then is how did the moon originate if it isn't really a daughter of the earth and some way separated from the earth in an early stage.

DENSITY THEORY

"If they were separated before they were differentiated into a nickel-iron core and a silicate rock outer layer it should have the same bulk density as the earth. It doesn't.

"So it either had to be separated at a later stage, or perhaps it's foreign body that was captured by chance when it got into the vicinity of the earth through just gravitational forces and happened to arrive at the right distance from the earth with the right velocity.

★ ★ ★

"Or, perhaps it had sort of a separate formation from the earth but nearby," he said.

"These things are still a subject of speculation and probably won't be solved at least until we see some direct samples from the lunar surface."

Moon Explorers Back to Earth

Apollo 11 Splashes Down in Pacific

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — The Apollo 11 spaceship, carrying the first men to walk on the moon, splashed down today in the Pacific Ocean.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11's moon explorers neared the end of their fantastic voyage today, streaking toward a landing in the Pacific, a greeting from their President and the strangest welcome any nation has accorded returning heroes.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins were on such an accurate course they canceled a mid-course correction that had been planned just three hours before touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Apollo 11 was to slam into the atmosphere at 24,611 miles per hour and 15 minutes later parachute to a gentle landing in the South Pacific at 12:50 p.m. EDT, about 950 miles southwest of Hawaii. The revised splashdown time was one minute later than had been announced earlier.

"The earth is really getting bigger," Collins told mission control from an altitude of 19,731 miles, two hours before the scheduled landing.

CARRIER IN PLACE

"The carrier Hornet is on station just far enough off the target point to keep

Related Stories, Pictures, Pages B-8, B-9, B-13, E-16

from getting hit," mission control reported, and also advised "the most difficult part of your mission is going to be after recovery," referring to 18 days of quarantine facing the spacemen.

★ ★ ★

"We're looking forward to all parts of it," Collins said.

"Please don't sneeze," the ground cautioned.

★ ★ ★

The landing spot was shifted 250 miles to the east last night when weathermen forecast thunderstorms for the original touchdown point. The astronauts will steer to the new site by changing the angle of the spaceship as they dip into the atmosphere.

The landing in warm Polynesian waters will climax a magnificent odyssey in which two Americans walked on the moon and opened hhe boundless frontier of space.

TREATMENT LIKE LEPERS

But on their return, they'll be treated more like lepers than conquerors of the moon.

President Nixon will be on the recovery ship, [illegible] Hornet. But he won't [illegible]. A strangely garbed frogman will greet them, not with a cheery "well done," but with a set of three biological suits and a can of disinfectant, with which he'll spray them.

★ ★ ★

On the carrier they'll be slapped into an airtight trailer which will be their home for a 2½-day sea-air trip to Houston, Tex., where they'll be isolated another 16 days.

These precautions are insurance against the remote chance the astronauts or the moon rocks they brought back harbor lunar bacteria that might harm life on earth.

President Nixon will observe the recovery operation from the bridge of the Hornet. Once the astronauts are in the trailer, he'll view them through a window and speak with them over a plugged-in telephone.

As their eight-day journey of discovery neared an end, Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins beamed a final television show to earth last night. In a moving 12 minutes, they thanked God and all the people on earth who made their trip possible.

6 Egyptian Jets Downed After Nasser Threat

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets shot down six Egyptian MIGs in renewed air and ground fighting along the Suez Canal today, the army announced, following a threat by President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Egypt now is ready to fight to regain Arab territories.

While Israeli officials reported six MIG fighters downed, other Israeli military sources said the total of the Egyptian aircraft brought down was nine.

★ ★ ★

As the jets fought, Israeli and Egyptian guns blazed across the 103-mile canal which now divides Egypt from the Sinai Peninsula, seized by the Israelis in the June 1967 war.

The Israelis said their jets attacked Egyptian gun positions in the third air strike across the canal since Sunday.

'DRIVEN OFF'

A military spokesman in Cairo reported air and ground fighting was under way along the Suez Canal.

He said Israeli jets swept over Egyptian air defense positions but were driven off by antiaircraft fire and jet fighters.

★ ★ ★

Nasser made his threat to go on the offensive in a speech in Cairo yesterday.

Commenting on the speech, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of Israel told newsmen: "The Egyptians may renew the war and bomb Tel Aviv."

AP Wirephoto

SITE OF SPLASH-DOWN — The map locates the area in the Pacific, about 950 miles southwest of Hawaii, where the Apollo 11 spacecraft was to splash down today. The landing spot was shifted 250 miles to the east from the original location because of a bad-weather prediction.

Shower Clouds Expected to Exit

Showers or thundershowers forecast for late today are expected to move toward the east, leaving skies clear and temperatures somewhat cooler tonight, with the low 56 to 63.

Skies will be sunny and temperatures will climb into the upper 70s tomorrow. Generally fair and warm is the prediction for Saturday.

Seventy was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The mercury had soared to 87 by 12:30 p.m.

Kennedy Probe 'Nowhere Near Finished'

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The investigation into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident "isn't completed—not by a long shot," a Registry of Motor Vehicles supervisor says.

The supervisor, George W. Kennedy, no relation to the senator, commented yesterday after the state agency announced in Boston it had suspended the senator's driver's license because of the accident late last week.

Registry officials noted temporary suspension of a license is "fairly routine in cases involving a fatality."

The suspension was based on a preliminary finding that the 37-year-old Massachusetts Democrat was at fault in the accident, on an island off Martha's Vineyard, which claimed the life of Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary. Kennedy has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

UNTIL FORMAL HEARING

The registry said suspension of the senator's license will remain in effect until a formal hearing is conducted

Edgartown Police Chief Dominic C. Arena still wants to find out what happened in the time between the accident and the time Kennedy reported it.

★ ★ ★

"He's going to have to prove where he was between 1 and 9," Arena told newsmen yesterday.

"We are satisfied that the accident is an accident," the chief continued. "What happened afterward is the reason for the (leaving the scene) complaint."

PARTY ON ISLAND

Arena said he wanted particularly to talk with the persons who were reported

Waterford Employes Still on Strike Today

By TOM TERP

More than 40 Waterford Township employes are still on strike.

They walked off their jobs yesterday morning and picketed in front of three township buildings. Spokesmen said today the employes would stay home from work until a new contract is settled.

The strikers include all township employes except policemen and firemen, whose contracts were ratified Monday giving them pay hikes of about $1,600 each per year.

Pickets appeared yesterday and again today in front of the Township Hall as well as the water and building department offices.

OFFICIALS 'INDIFFERENT'

They said yesterday money "was the big issue in their dispute with the township and accused township officials of indifference and bad bargaining.

"Elmer Johnson (township supervisor) doesn't even know what our complaints are — furthermore, I don't even think he cares," declared AFL-CIO Council 23 spokesman Harvey Clark.

★ ★ ★

"We have been bargaining in good faith for nearly 12 months now, and we're regressing instead of progressing," Clark said.

He also charged township negotiators with failing to bargain in good faith, saying the offer made to the workers two weeks ago has since been reduced.

STATE MEDIATORS

"They made an offer that was unacceptable, and then they turned around and made a lower offer," he charged.

The last five months of negotiations have been held under the guidance of state mediators, but an agreement still has not been reached.

Pontiac Klan's Military 'Dream' Well-Armed

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

Deep down, I think my Klan brothers will love this exposure.

They are a secret group, but secrecy bugs them. Local, state and federal police officials are fairly well aware of the Klan activities, too.

★ ★ ★

As in all extremist groups, however, the kooks are attracted, and there exists the element of unanticipated reaction. As one police official put it, "You just never know."

ADCOCK

One year ago, for instance, the Pontiac Klan attempted to organize a military strike force — for emergency activation. The move failed, due to internal squabbling over leadership and general apathy.

MILITARY DREAM

However, on Sunday, July 6, Alex Distel, 26, of 1108 Holbrook, Waterford Township, took it upon himself to organize a strike force.

It was all he could talk about, the "Confederacy," as he termed the strike force. He planned to train the men in survival techniques, weapons use, communications, medical care and food storage.

Distel's dream of leading a military squad against a band of "big black niggers," as he likes to say, will probably never come off.

Even so, a listing of certain members' weaponry is impressive, even though it accounts for only those weapons legally registered:

● Distel: (1) Browning pistol, 32-caliber nine-shot; (2) EIG 22-caliber six-shot revolver; and (3) the powerful Colt Python revolver, 357-magnum six-shot.

● Jack Ellis, 40, of 325 Wise, White Lake Township: (1) Ruger 22-caliber nine-shot pistol; (2) Reck 6.35-caliber eight-shot pistol; (3) J. C. Higgins Ranger revolver, 22-caliber nine-shot; and (4) Iver Johnson target revolver, 22-caliber eight-shot — the same kind of weapon used by Sirhan Sirhan to assassinate Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

● Bobbie C. Harper, 25, of 5426 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, Rohm revolver, 22-caliber six-shot.

● Patrick Galloway, 34, of 483 Tallahassee: (1) Spesco Falcon automatic pistol, 25-caliber seven shot; and (2) Spesco Falcon automatic pistol, 25-caliber seven-shot.

● Neil MacKinnon, 34, of 1730 Bolton, Walled Lake: (1) Smith and Wesson Highway Patrolman model revolver, 357-magnum six-shot, considered an extremely high-powered pistol; (2) a Colt 45 six-shot automatic pistol; (3) a Ruger Blackhawk 30-6 rifle; (4) a 22-caliber derringer; and (5) a Ruger 22-caliber six-shot revolver.

PERMIT HOLDERS

Galloway, Ellis and MacKinnon are holders of permits to carry concealed weapons.

Education, Hospital Building Budgets Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today to increase federal spending for education and hospital construction above President Nixon's requests.

The committee added $123.4 million to Nixon's budget for the Office of Education and $104 million to the hospital construction program.

★ ★ ★

The increases, along with cuts in many other programs, produced a $16.6 billion appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor that is $155.8 million more than Nixon asked for.

★ ★ ★

It is the second time this week the committee has increased the administration's budget. It added $58 million Monday to the appropriations requested for three other departments.

CUTS ORDERED

Nixon ordered a new round of spending cuts Tuesday and blamed Congress for adding $1 billion so far this year to his budget proposals.

The increases in education funds approved by the committee were mostly for elementary and secondary school programs and vocational education.

There is a strong likelihood the House will vote an even bigger increase when the bill gets to the floor next week because one administration cut left intact by the committee would greatly reduce a program with wide congressional support.

The program provides payments to school districts affected by federal activity, and most congressional districts share in it. Nixon proposed a $318 million cutback from last year's spending, which would emilinate a major part of the program. Every administration for the past 10 years has tried to cut the program but Congress has always restored at least part of the funds.

The $104 million added by the committee for hospital construction restores a cut made by the administration on the basis of its intention to shift from construction grants to a system of mortgage guarantees. The committee said such a shift was not authorized by Congress during the current fiscal year.

The bill includes $7.3 billion for welfare and medical payments, up nearly $1 billion over the previous year. In all, HEW's budget totals $15.5 billion and the Department of Labor's $977 million with scattered agencies making up the rest.

New Directors Are Elected for Brookside

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Brookside School, Cranbrook, has elected three new members to its board of directors.

They are Mrs. James H. Carmel of 1288 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Township; Stephen L. Goodale, president of Goodale and Co.; and G. Bretnell Williams, executive vice president and director of Cunningham-Limp Co.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Carmel is on the board of Planned Parenthood Federation and American Field Service and a member of the Junior League of Women Voters.

Goodale is a member of Oakland Hills Country Club, Engineering Society of Detroit, Society of Automotive Engineers and Detroit Athletic Club.

★ ★ ★

Williams is a director of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Peoples Bank of Port Huron, Creative Capital of Michigan and director emeritus of Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Rev. John A. Henschke of 244 Hadsell will assume duties as associate director of the Institute for Advanced Pastoral Studies in Bloomfield Hills Aug. 1.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Oak Brook, Ill., Rev. Henschke has been working on his doctorate in adult education at Boston University.

★ ★ ★

In addition to his pastoral service, Rev. Henschke has had wide experience as a trainer in human relations.

The Pulte Home Corp., a Troy-based operation headed by William J. Pulte of 950 E. Glengarry with operations in Illinois, Maryland, Georgia and Virginia, announced an agreement in principle for the purchase of American Builders Inc. of Colorado for an undisclosed amount of common stock

★ ★ ★

Pulte said that American Builders sales have exceeded $7.5 million annually.

New directors of the Cranbrook School Alumni Association have been named. They are H. William Ives, class of 1947, 619 Overhill; Jeremy John, class of 1947, 1757 Sheffield, Birmingham; Dr. Karl F. Lutomski, class of 1955, 1200 Latham, Birmingham; and Robert J. Sukenik, class of 1950, 1760 Woodgrove.

World, State News in Brief

PARIS (AP) — South Vietnam pledged today that Vietcong candidates in the free elections proposed by President Nguyen Van Thieu would be guaranteed equal opportunities and would be immune from discrimination or reprisals.

But North Vietnam and the Vietcong ignored pleas from the United States and South Vietnam to reconsider their earlier categoric rejection of the Thieu plan.

South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam told the 27th weekly meeting of the Vietnam peace talks that his government "has no intention whatsoever of giving itself some advantageous position in the proposal it has put forth. It only desires that the elections should faithfully reflect the aspirations of the South Vietnemese population."

Mafia Suspect Arrested

DETROIT (AP) — An alleged major Detroit Mafia figure, Dominic Peter Corrado, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents on kickback charges involving a million-dollar loan from a Teamsters Union pension fund.

Corrado, known as "Fat Dominic," was one of nine persons arrested across the country in connection with the case. The FBI is seeking four other persons.

Another Detroit, former Teamster business agent Samuel John Marroso, was also arrested.

The two were charged with conspiracy, violation of the welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act and the Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering Act.

Freed Briton Returns

LONDON (AP) — Haggard, pale and nervous, British lecturer Gerald Brooke returned to London in a Russian airliner today after being released from four years of Soviet imprisonment.

Brooke, 30, was released yesterday after Britian agreed to exchange Soviet spies Morris and Lola Chen for him and two young Britons held in Russia on drug charges.

Supervisor Johnson said yesterday that he had not kept up to date on the issues. He did say township offices would remain open during the strike.

Booth, Patterson, Hays and Karlstrom, attorneys for the township, said yesterday:

"The present dispute between the township and the union has been, at the request of both parties, under state mediation.

WILLING TO RESUME

"Mr. Leonard Bennett has been assigned to this matter by the State Mediation Board, and when a meeting is requested by the state mediator we shall, of course, resume negotiations with the union."

Bennett could not be contacted to say when the negotiations will resume.

"We'll stay away from our jobs just as long as it takes," said Mrs. Mary Lewis of 3184 Whitfield, Waterford Township, secretary-treasurer of the local.

Mrs. Lewis said her fellow workers wanted a 35-cent pay hike effective immediately. She said township offers have been in the area of 22 cents per hour across-the-board.

RETROACTIVE HIKE

"And we want that pay hike to be retroactive, back to last December when our last contract expired," Clark added.

Township attorneys would not comment.

Included among the strikers are secretaries, building inspectors' employes, department of public works' employes and water department employes.

Average hourly wage for those on strike presently is $2.75, according to Clark.

The police and fire contracts are retroactive with pay raises effective Jan. 1 and July 1 this year and Jan. 1 and July 1 next year. Johnson said he has not yet figured the total cost of raises.

Report Expected Today on Police Brutality Charge

Despite a police group's contention that its findings might prejudice a trial board, the Pontiac Human Relations Commission says it will make public a report on its investigation into brutality charges made against two city policemen.

Chairman Samuel A. Baker said the commission would reveal its findings today.

Baker received a telegram Tuesday from the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) urging delay of the report until after the trial board hearing called for by Police Chief William K. Hanger.

"The Pontiac Police Officers Association hereby advises that any action on the part of the Pontiac Human Relations Commission to prejudge the facts of this case prior to the hearing before the Police Trial Board would be considered as extremely prejudicial to the rights of Officers (Raymond) Hawks and (Carl) Yuill," said the telegram.

DECIDED LAST NIGHT

Baker said the commission decided late last night it could not withhold its findings.

"We are acting on behalf of the entire community, and we feel we cannot withhold the findings and recommendations we have made," he said.

★ ★ ★

Arrested and charged with resisting arrest were Elick Shorter, 25 and Kenneth Walker, 27. Walker also faces a charge of creating a disturbance in the incident July 10 at the Hayes Jones Center, 235 Wessen.

GM Truck Has Good Mid-July

Mid-July truck sales for GMC Truck & Coach Division were at their highest level in 19 years, Martin J. Caserio, a vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, reported today.

Truck sales of 3,926 in the middle 10 days of July were 11.8 per cent above the 3,512 deliveries last year and second only to the all-time record of 5,414 for the period set in 1950, he said.

★ ★ ★

Calendar year GMC truck sales of 83,603 through July 20 were at their highest level in history, six per cent above the former record of 78,844 established over the same span last year, Caserio said.

Combined truck and coach sales through July 20 totaled 84,695 units, also a record for the division.

to have attended a party with Kennedy and Miss Kopechne on Chappaquiddick Island prior to the accident.

Kennedy remained in seclusion yesterday a his home on Squaw Island, near the Kennedy family compound in Hyannis Port.

Miss Esther Newburg, one of several young women who reportedly attended the party, was quoted in a copyright story yesterday in the Worcester, Mass., Gazette as saying she and the four other girls at the party didn't learn of the accident until Saturday morning.

In an interview with the New York Daily News, Miss Newburg was quoted further as saying that she couldn't believe any of the men who remained behind knew about the accident either.

In the Daily News account, Miss Newburg said: "The few times I saw them (the men) during the night they were perfectly calm, and I can't believe they would be calm if they knew about it."

Girls' Bodies Found

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Police pressed an "around-the-clock investigation" today for the killer of two girls whose nude and gagged bodies were found in a beach house they rented.

The girls, Suzanna M. Shepherd, 19, of Orange Grove and Katherine J. Waggoner, 20, of Wool Market, both villages near Biloxi, were bludgeoned to death, apparently with a blunt instrument.

Klan's 'Dream' Is Well-Armed

The next Pontiac Klan meeting is 6 p.m. Sunday at Bemis-Olsen Post of AMVETS, 570 Oakland. It was to be a "very important" meeting, as Distel and his committee were to present their plans for the KKK "Confederacy" to the general membership.

★ ★ ★

My own entrance into the Klan went right through any "security" measures the Klan imposed.

I was a downriver resident, the home area of Michigan KKK Grand Dragon Jack Davis, and a downriver newspaper columnist. That extremely public data was never detected.

AIP NEWS SOURCE

Larry Lee, the Wayne County chairman of the American Independent party, (AIP) spoke recently before Jack Ellis' 19th District AIP meeting in Clarkston.

★ ★ ★

Larry Lee is a close acquaintance and was an almost constant AIP news source to me during the last presidential election in the heavily blue-collar downriver area.

★ ★ ★

Ellis apparently never mentioned my name to Lee when he quite obviously met with him in Clarkston as recently as one week after my installation as a Klansman.

Despite the lack of checks on me, Galloway asked me to be a member of the Klan's "intelligence committee," the purpose of which would be to check on informers.

TOO MAY KNOWN

Amusingly, Galloway warned his fellow Klansmen during the last meeting I attended that "Too many of us are known."

★ ★ ★

The Klan, Galloway emphasized, is part of the "Invisible Empire" and, as such, must remain as anonymous as possible. Galloway said that if too many Klansmen continue to be uncovered, the Pontiac unit would soon disintegrate.

As a small but vocal portion of the 19th District AIP, the Klan is apparently at its most powerful, particularly in the call for abolishment of open-housing ordinances and laws.

The other Klan infiltration targets are PTA groups, auxiliary police units, church lay leadership, labor unions and political parties.

PTA LEADERSHIP

In the area of schools, the Pontiac Klan has been successful in taking leadership positions in PTA groups.

One who wishes to infiltrate the Klan must observe three simple rules: (1) Be a listener, it's flattering. (2) Be an enthusiastic complimenter, it's flattering. (3) Act like you're really learning something from the half-truths, distortions and fantasies a Klansman parrots.

20 Are Signed Up for MCOM Training

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Despite the apparent loss of further state financing, the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine at Auburn and Opdyke has 20 students signed up to begin training Sept. 15.

★ ★ ★

The Legislature last week passed a bill creating a state college of osteopathy, specifically excluding the Pontiac facility from any state funding. The bill is awaiting the governor's signature.

From the onset of legislation, officials at MCOM were optimistic that state funds would be earmarked for the Pontiac school, now under construction.

A spokesman for the college said yesterday, however, that optimism has not waned. The consensus of persons at the school who are "in the know" is that there is still a strong possibility of receiving state funds, he said.

"We have been doing our homework, and we know the cause and the game better than anybody. The outlook is that we are are prepared to negotiate with reasonable people. We plan to work harder than anyone else," the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The college, which has received nationwide publicity in its attempt to receive state support, received 500 inquiries from prospective students. Formal applications were completed by 120 persons, 76 of whom were interviewed by several members of the admissions committee of MCOM.

One of the members of the founding class is a holder of a scholarship by the auxiliary of the American Osteopathic Association, Douglas J. Wigton of 505 W. Third, Rochester.

Other area residents who plan to graduate as osteopathic physicians in 1973 are Robert E. Church of 683 Madison, Pontiac; James R. Boswell, 4332 MacQueen, West Bloomfield Township; Paul D. Flaggman, 1457 Ardmoor, Bloomfield Township; David R. Mandy of 32750 Bingham, Bingham Farms; and Ralph A. Olechowski, 2970 Hillendale, Avon Township.

Seventeen faculty members will teach basic sciences, including biochemistry, physiology, anatomy, cell biology, microbiology and pathology.

The school will start with some state funds, $242,618 appropriated by the Legislature in a budget bill July 18.

County Asked for Funds

Planning for Oakland County's sesquicentennial is expected to get under way in September with the County Board of Supervisors asked to advance $50,000 for the 1970 celebration.

Kenneth L. VanNatta, director of the county's parks and recreation department, appeared before the supervisors' local affairs committee yesterday to outline the needs of the 150th anniversary activities.

VanNatta explained additional staff personnel will be necessary for a 10-month period to work on details of the sesquicentennial.

Most other expenses connected with the sesquicentennial, VanNatta said, could be "recouped" by the county through various related activities. Amusement rides and souvenir stands, he said, could provide income with which to reimburse the county.

CENTENNIAL PROFIT

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county's board of auditors, pointed out to the committee that the city of Pontiac's centennial celebration succeeded in netting a profit several years ago.

★ ★ ★

He said with a broad-based participation from communities around the county the sesquicentennial could be a success.

The sesquicentennial celebration wil lbe climaxed in uJne or July next year.

Italians Favor Tunic, Slacks for Fall Wear

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI) — The Italian fall and winter fashion collections ended as they began — showing uniformly slim shoulders and sleeves, flared skirts and countless jump suits or tunics and trousers.

Also much in evidence Wednesday were maxicoats, whose lengths ranged anywhere from just below the knee to right down to the ground. The bottom of the calf was the most common length.

Boots far outnumbered shoes, even appearing with ball gowns.

Hats ranged from snug cloches cut out over the ears to ten-gallon affairs topped with fox. There were long scarves knotted around the neck and trailing to the hem, although not nearly as many as last January.

★ ★ ★

Jewelry became less obtrusive although a few chain belts hung on, some of them suspended from waist-length necklaces.

Wool came in worsteds, often reversible, subdued plaids, tweeds, weaves dyed to look like tweeds, and some nubby boucles.

If there was one favorite color it was plum, ranging from pinky pale to clear amethyst to almost charcoal grey. Black and white, singly or together, were everywhere. Other top colors were brown, light grey, dark green and some sapphire blue and tomato red. A few designers liked pale peach, particularly in satin for evening.

Fox and lynx outnumbered the shorter-haired furs such as mink. Huge floor length maxi coats of black or white fox, some of them with an extra fold to wrap around and clutch, promised to keep the wearer warm through an arctic trek.

The 64-year-old nun believes that once the children realize how much fun it is to create art with their bodies, they'll be back for more. She is a member of the Sisters of the Blood of Christ and became involved in the program last summer.*

Some Consider Mobile Homes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The United States may not have a female astronaut, but women—from astronauts' wives to the seamstresses who sew spacesuits—play key roles in the space program.

Frances "Poppy" Northcutt, for example, is a 25-year-old Dayton, Tex., native who is a member of the flight dynamics support staff in mission control at the Manned Spacecraft Center. The tall, blonde mathematician is one of the first women to serve in an operational support role in mission control.

"There's less discrimination against women here than in any of the professional areas," she said.

Space center officials reported that 968 of the 4,400 government employes here are women.

No one disputes the role of astronaut wives in their husbands' work. They even are consulted about hubby's food tastes when the menus of dehydrated foods for the flight are selected.

Thousands of the miniscule electonic components in the Apollo 11 spacecraft and the Saturn 5 rocket were assembled by women workers.

FOODS

The foods to be consumed by the astronauts, a doctor and a technician while locked in their quarantine trailer after splashdown were prepared by women.

★ ★ ★

And, of course, there are the indispensible secretaries who work for National Aeronautics and Space Administration engineers and scientists, executives of space program contractors and the astronauts themselves.

Charlotte Maltese, secretary to Apollo 9 crewmen James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart, had a birthday while her astronaut bosses orbited the earth in March.

★ ★ ★

They didn't forget. The astronauts radioed to earth a musical birthday greeting.

Another woman in mission control is Larue Burbank, who designed the visual displays controllers watch to monitor a spacecraft's flight.

Dorothy Lee is an engineer at the space center whose specialty is the heat shields that protect returning spacemen from the heat of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

Inscription Made by Wedding Ring

LYONS, Mich. (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wylie moved into an old house here recently, they were puzzled to find an inscription in a front window which read: "Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Jan. 5, 1879."

Mrs. Mildred Gardner, 89, longtime resident of Lyons, explained its origin. She told the Wylies that the late Mrs. Henderson used her diamond wedding ring to scratch the inscription in the window on her wedding day.

Make Shelf Liners

Use torn shower curtains to make shelf liners. Wash them in the washing machine and, when dry, cut to desired shelf size with pinking shears. When they become soiled, all they need is a wiping off with a damp cloth.

News Is Mixed on Jail Project

Good and bad news concerning the county's proposed $9-million law enforcement building complex was received yesterday by Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

On the plus side, Murphy reported the low bidder on the contract to build the complex has agreed to extend the time on its bid for the requested 45-day period. Sorenson-Gross of Flint bid $7,181,000 on the project, $354,000 beneath the next low bidder.

Bad news is that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has still not acted on the approval of the bond sale to finance the jail complex. The commission received the county's bond sale proposal on June 24. The last commission meeting was Tuesday.

Murphy is still hopeful the county can avoid costly delays, if commission approval on the bond sale comes through this month. The apparent delay is over a question of whether the county can meet annual bond payments without exceeding the 15-mill tax limit.

Construction bids on the jail project expried on July 12, but the county has received a 45-day extension from the three low bidders, Sorenson-Gross, A. Z. Shmina & Sons Co. of Detroit which bid $7,535,000 and the J. A. Fredman Co. of Pontiac which bid $7,585,800.

Sorenson-Gross has previously indicated they might withdraw their bid due to an oversight by them of not including a $100,000 sprinkler system in their base bid offer, county officials said.

Bidders on the security equipment contracts for the jail also extended their bids. They are the Southern Steel Co. and the Decatur Iron and Steel Co. which bid $472,000 and $506,000, respectively.

Game Is Fatal

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — A table tennis game in a Rio slum touched off a brawl that killed Odete dos Santos, mother of one of the players. She was shot in a quarrel that erupted when her son was struck in the head by a hard hit ball.

City Woman Killed in Boating Accident

A Pontiac woman drowned Tuesday at a boating party celebrating her 37th birthday when she fell overboard at the Selfridge Air Force Base Marina in Macomb County.

The body of the victim, Nelda M. Gulledge, 53 Bloomfield Terrace, was recovered a short time later.

Wet Waterfalls Only Dampen Enthusiasm of Tourists

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the hottest tourist attractions in America this summer is a waterfall.

WEST

Niagara Falls, which has been dry on the American side since the flow was diverted last spring for engineering studies, is reportedly enjoying one of its best tourist seasons in years.

* * *

The conclusion to which I leap is that tourists are getting pretty blase about conventional waterfalls. The average sightseer has become sated with natural wonders and has reached the point where he can take a waterfall or leave it alone.

We probably have some tourists in this country who wouldn't walk across the street to see a waterfall, much less drive all the way to Canada.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

But a dry waterfall offers something different. Something to revive the jaded spirits of world-weary vacationers. Something you don't get a chance to see every day.

The implications of the Niagara Falls tourist boom presumably will not be lost on the operators of other tourist attractions across the country.

* * *

Even now, we may assume, enterprising promoters are making plans to stimulate more public interest in their facilities.

One natural wonder that might be ideally suited for the Niagara Falls treatment is "Old Faithful," the punctual geyser in Yellowstone National Park.

OLD MAGIC GONE

If engineers would figure out some way to keep Old Faithful from erupting on schedule, what a tourist bonanza that would create.

Many tourists no longer thrill to the sight of a geyser, particularly one that is predictable. The old magic is gone. But who among us would not jump at the chance to see Old Faithful misfire?

There is a fortune to be made if someone could acquire the rights to Crater Lake and then drain it.

* * *

Desalinate the Great Salt Lake and the hundreds of tourists now gazing upon the dripless precipice of Niagara Falls would immediately head for Utah.

Tourists, it is clear, are seeking fresh sensations—damp deserts, a fog-free London, level streets in San Francisco.

Any place so unfortunate as to have wet waterfalls might as well close down.

Rights Champion

Lobbyist Is Lauded

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

Some time in the future, when historians look back at the civil rights movement, they'll pay a lot of attention to a man most Americans never heard of: Clarence M. Mitchell Jr.

YOUNG

They'll write about demonstrations, the march on Washington, and a lot of dramatic events that captured headlines. But they'll also write about the major legislation that was passed, laws that gave Negroes the legal rights denied them for so long.

* * *

And the story of how those laws came to be passed is also the story of Clarence Mitchell's tireless efforts as a one-man civil rights lobby in Washington. He's been so effective that he has been called the 101st senator.

He recently was awarded the coveted Spingarn Medal for his outstanding contributions in the fight against racism. As director of the Washington bureau of the NAACP since 1950, there hasn't been a bill of importance to black people before the Congress that didn't find Clarence Mitchell working to make it better, to pass it, or to kill it if it was bad.

LOBBYISTS FOR POOR

You may not recognize his face when you see it on television, but there isn't a senator or representative who doesn't know Clarence Mitchell.

Clarence Mitchell is a lobbyist for America's poor and he has served them well. He helped to get the first civil rights bill in over 80 years passed in 1957. In 1964, he worked long and hard to get the great Civil Rights Act on the books.

* * *

Last year saw perhaps his greatest triumph. After one fair-housing law had been defeated, everyone agreed that another could not be passed. But Clarence Mitchell rolled up his sleeves and went to work. He told wavering congressmen how important such a bill was. He met argument with argument; encouraged the bill's supporters, counted votes, and kept after congressmen and administration officials alike. Finally, in April 1968, the fair-housing bill no one thought possible was enacted.

Too many people think equality is going to come about by shouting and through rhetoric. But open expressions of anger have to be backed up with sound legislative savvy.

SUCCESS A LESSON

Laws are made in Congress, and the civil rights movement needs shrewd men who can get those laws passed. We've been fortunate in having just such a man — Clarence Mitchell.

His success is also a lesson to those who are so impatient with the NAACP as an organization. It may not do or say things some people consider to be dramatic or exciting enough, but it has made and is making, a vital contribution to securing equality for black people.

* * *

The Urban League often gets the same kind of criticism. So do other organizations. Even CORE is attacked as being too moderate, by some whose definition of "militancy" is total irresponsibility.

What is too little understood is the need for a division of labor among the various civil rights groups. Each one has its thing that it does best.

Japanese police reported 14,255 persons died of traffic accidents in the country during 1968, an increase of 351.

Jackie Gleason's Losing Moon-Like Appearance

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — Since I couldn't go see the moon, I came to look at Jackie Gleason's new stomach, which used to appear similar to it.

But now Jackie's down to 220 pounds from his former cushiony 280 or 290, and continuing, he promises, to 210 after a diet of fish, eggs, meat, no fruits or vegetables, lots of water and no great reduction in booze.

WILSON

"I drink the same amount, maybe a little more, because I have more room for it now without the vegetables," the Great One said in his trailer dressing room, where he's starring in "How Do I Love Thee?" with Maureen O'Hara and Shelley Winters.

He was getting a manicure and therefore sitting down when I arrived. When he got up I was astonished at how reduced the former beer barrel was, how youthful the face.

"I thought it would be good publicity for the new television season, the New Gleason," he said. "I decided to do it in a hurry."

* * *

And he laughed at the way he hoped to surprise Art Carney with his new profile.

"If he got himself a pot, he might have to play Ralph Kramden, and me Ed Norton."

Jack's been dieting all his life. In 1958 he sliced from 288 to 178. He has two Exercycles, a weighted belt and a vibrator.

At our interview I had a lunch of tuna fish and egg salad. Jackie had nothing.

"I'm going to dinner tonight. I'm going to eat a thin slice of meat." He had that gleam in his eye of a dieter thinking of finally being able to eat something several hours from now.

* * *

"Yes, I feel fine," he repeated, "—except that I guess I'm going to be hungry the rest of my life."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Pearl Bailey, in a show-must-go-on performance, played her "Hello, Dolly" role after her mother's death . . . One girl too tired to view the moon landing was Miss Universe (Gloria Diaz of the Philippines), who caught up on her sleep at the Miami Beach Fontainebleau. Just like Hepburn and Streisand on the Oscars, she and Miss Finland tied. It took two fast tie-breaker votes by the judges to give her the victory by one point, with third-placer Miss Australia four points behind.

Producer David Merrick — who said he was the prettiest judge at the Miss Universe contest — refused in interviews even to mention "Oh! Calcutta!" because he claims the material is inferior.

Buddy Hackett wolfed a half-dozen hot dogs at Nathan's Times Square (but stuck to his diet by discarding the rolls) . . . Frankie Laine stars in free concerts sponsored by Pennyrich International; the company makes brassieres (but Frankie prefers to call 'em "upper underwear").

* * *

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Interior decorating is a matter of spending money you haven't got on things you don't want, to impress people you don't like—Webster's Unafraid Dictionary.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Wives (said Jackie Kahane on the David Frost Show) don't get ulcers. They're just carriers.

Dick Cavett notes that some farmers were caught growing marijuana: "The police noticed that their roosters got up every morning, and instead of crowing, they giggled." That's earl, brother.

Trading Moderately Active

Market Up in Bargain Hunt

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved higher in moderately active trading early today, with some early bargain hunting reported giving it some bounce.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 10:30 a.m. was up 1.35 at 829.30.

Advances led declines by about 100 issues.

A 13,000-share block of American Telephone & Telegraph traded at 53, unchanged. A 199,600-share block of United Air Lines traded at 29¼, off 1⅝.

Polaroid was up 2¼ at 117. Control Data gained 1⅛ to 143¾. IBM was up ½ at 320¾.

OPENING PRICES

Opening prices included:

Twentieth Century-Fox, off ¼ at 20 on 56,900 shares; Boise Cascade, off ½ at 62½ on 29,700 shares; Talley Industries, off ½ at 29½ on 24,600 shares; Continental Mortgage Investors, up 1 at 32 on 15,400 shares; and Sperry Rand, up ⅝ at 45⅜ on 9,100 shares.

★ ★ ★

The market slid to new lows for the year again Wednesday, although a bit of selective buying near the close helped it trim its losses somewhat.

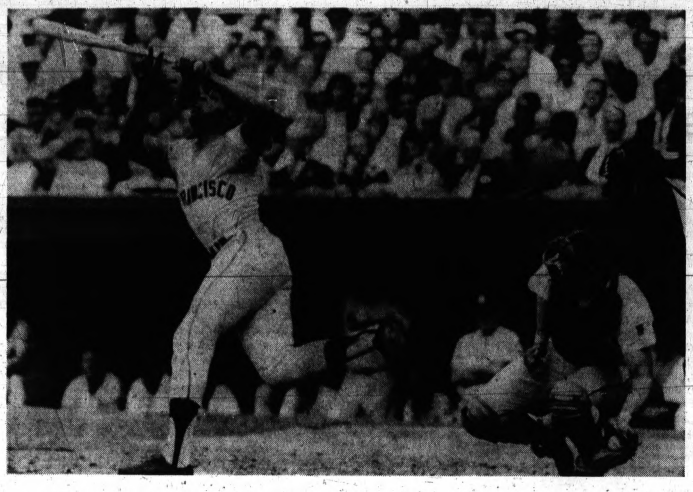

The Dow Jones Industrial average lost 6.07 to close at 827.95, a new 1969 low. The Associated Press 60-stock average lost 2.2 to 294.1, a new low for the year.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

NL Frustrates AL Stars Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American League went back to the drawing board today in search of another plan to win the All-Star Game—with its two biggest stars disagreeing over the reason why the National League has now extended its superiority through seven years.

"They got more stars over there," said Reggie Jackson of the Oakland Athletics after Wednesday's 9-3 loss to the National League.

"We don't have players like they have—like Mays, Aaron and Clemente. And we have no McCovey. And no Banks. And no Marichal. But we have a younger league than they have. Most of our players on the field were younger than theirs.

"So give us time—we'll be there."

"I have to admit we needed this game bad for league prestige," said Frank Howard of the Washington Senators. "You know you hear all this stuff about them being better. But I've played in both leagues and I think the American is as big league as the National.

"These things seem to run in cycles. Our league will be back."

Jackson, at 23 representing the AL's younger generation, and Howard, at 33 representing the AL's older generation, were the key players in the American League's plan for ending NL superiority this time around.

★ ★ ★

That plan called for loading the team with the league's top homer hitters. Jackson, with 37, and Howard, with 34, were the leading elements in a starting unit that statistically had the edge on the National League starters—179 homers to 105.

But 2 hours and 38 minutes later when the scoreboard showed the 9-3 final score, the National League had hit more homers than the American, 3-2, and had outhit them, 11-6.

Howard and Bill Freehan of Detroit collected home runs for the Americans, while Jackson failed to get the ball out of the infield in two official trips to the plate. But Willie McCovey of San Francisco hit two for the Nationals and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati one.

HOMER BATTLE

If, having lost the home run battle, the Americans decide now that pitching might have to be the answer—then it probably will help next year if Detroit's Denny McLain doesn't have a dentist's appointment.

McLain, Detroit's 14-game winner and the scheduled AL starter, took off in his private plane Tuesday night, after the game was postponed by rain, to have nine teeth capped in Detroit Wednesday morning.

★ ★ ★

His flight plan was expected to get him back to Washington in time for Wednesday's rescheduled start, but he did not appear on the American League bench until the National League was batting in the second inning.

He was too late to see the National League collect its first run in the first inning off Mel Stottlemyre on Matty Alou's leadoff single and Howard's error on Hank Aaron's fly ball.

He arrived while Bench was building the National League's lead to 3-0 with his first homer, following a single by Cleon Jones. And he was sent to the bullpen to get ready while the Americans got one back on Howard's homer.

But he still wasn't ready when the third inning opened and all he could do was watch while he warmed up in the bullpen as the National League exploded for five runs on five hits off John "Blue Moon" Odom, including McCovey's first homer.

Has .333 Average

Freehan Bright Spot for AL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Denny McLain may not have made it to the park on time to take the mound at the opening of the All-Star Game, but Detroit Tiger teammate Bill Freehan was there, collected two hits in two trips to the plate and boosted his average in All-Star competition to a hefty .333.

★ ★ ★

According to Tiger manager Mayo Smith, the skipper of the American League squad, it wouldn't have made much difference if McLain had shown up on time.

FAILS TO SHOW

Billed as the starting pitcher, McLain failed to reach the stadium until about 10 minutes after the contest started. By the time he arrived after a flying visit to his dentist in Detroit, the National Leaguers already had chalked up a one-run lead against Mel Stottlemyre and were on their way to the 9-3 rout.

Asked what it's like to have his best pitcher flying around the country, the Tiger skipper replied: "It's no more dangerous than driving on the freeways."

Freehan, who poked a homer and a single to drive in two runs, commented of his teammate's tardiness: "I was expecting it to happen." He declined to elaborate further on the incident.

For Smith, who doesn't look like he'll be the A.L. manager in next year's All-Star classic, today meant back to work for his Tigers as they begin the rest of the season in defense of their World Championship crown.

The Kansas City Royals arrived in Detroit today for the start of a four-game weekend series starting with a night contest at Tiger Stadium tonight.

Lions' Defense Just a Memory?

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

For more than 10 years when anyone talked about defense of the Detroit Lions, they first had to start with the name Joe Schmidt.

During the championship era of the 1950's, and into the 1960's defense was the bulwark of the Lions with Chris' Crew in the secondary, the Terrible Trio of linebackers and Fearsome Foursome up front.

Today defense-minded Schmidt is in his third year as head coach and the once-proud defense is faced with serious rebuilding problems.

"Yep, we had some great defensive units," recalled Schmidt. "I'd like to rebuild them that way again."

Only Alex Karras remains from the original Fearsome Foursome front line which included Roger Brown at defensive tackle, Darris McCord and Sam Williams at the ends.

Only Wayne Walker remains from the Terrible Trio which had Schmidt as middle linebacker and Carl Brettschneider at the other corner.

The vaunted secondary of Chris Crew featured Jack Christiansen, Jimmy David, Yale Lary and Gary Lowe. It was finally dissolved with Lary's retirement five years ago.

Karras and Jerry Rush make up the nucleus of the front four now and John Baker is the lone returnee at defensive end.

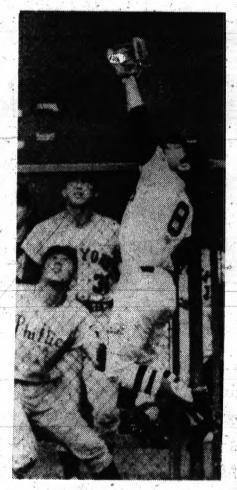

It appears that Joe Robb, holding out on his contract, will not be reporting and Larry Hand's contract squabble is still not settled.

"I hope Hand's situation is soon resolved," said Schmidt, "if it isn't, it's obvious we will have to go to the market to find one."

Even if Hand did report now, Schmidt indicated the Lions would have to alleviate the problems to bolster the defensive line.

The Lions continued twice daily drills with a big scrimmage intent for cutting the squad set for Saturday.

In an announcement this morning, offensive tackle Charlie Bradshaw officially decided on his retirement. He will devote his time to his law offices in Houston.

ROBBERY — Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, playing left field for the American League in the All-Star game in Washington, D.C., yesterday, leaps high above the fence to take a home run away from National League catcher Johnny Bench. In the bullpen are Mike Ryan of Philadelphia and Jerry Koosman of New York. Bench had clouted a homer earlier in the game which was won by the National loop, 9-3.

Swimming Mishap Halts Grid Plans

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Brian Bengtson, son of Green Bay Packers' Coach Phil Bengtson, has been lost to the Florida State football squad for the 1969 season.

The 195-pound end, who came to FSU as a quarterback, fractured a vertebra in a swimming accident near Green Bay. His father, who took over as Packer head man when Vince Lombardi retired in 1968, telephoned Coach Bill Peterson of the Seminoles about his sophomore son.

Looney Is Now 'Saint'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Joe Don Looney, once known as one of the Peck's Bad Boys of pro football, says he has a new outlook and "only wants to make the team and play a lot" for the New Orleans Saints.

In four years Looney was on the roster of four different National Football League teams after quitting the University of Oklahoma squad in his senior year.

The Saints gave Looney another chance at pro football earlier this month and Coach Tom Fears says Joe Don "has a clean slate as far as I'm concerned."

JOE DON LOONEY

He was signed as a free agent by New Orleans just prior to the opening of training camp here Nov 26, married and the father of a 14-month-old daughter, Looney got out of the Army on July 4th. He spent nine months in Vietnam.

Fears said he is highly impressed so far with Looney.

Looney said he didn't get a chance to run while in Vietnam "except when there were rocket attacks." He explained that a bruised heel which kept him from putting on pads for a few days here came when he was running to a bunker in Vietnam and hit a steel railing.

"Viet Cong rockets were raining down," said Looney.

"My legs are really bothering me," he continued. "I don't mind the work, though, because I'm happy to be with the Saints."

He talked freely about his troubles with other pro teams. "I hold no grudges," he said.

Drafted by the New York Giants, Looney said he "doesn't like big cities," and asked Giants Coach Allie Sherman to trade him.

He wound up at Baltimore next and "there were no problems there." The Colts sent him to Detroit and from there he was traded to Washington.

"At both Detroit and Washington I was like a guy who walked into the garage just before the Valentine's Day Massacre," said Looney.

Detroit Coach Harry Gilmer and Redskin Coach Otto Graham "were both under pressure and you know they've since lost their jobs," said Looney.

"My trouble was that I'm sensitive or was, and I took things too personally. I'm not like that any more."

Looney told newsmen he plans to live on his 275-acre ranch at Diana, Tex., near Shreveport, La., and commute to New Orleans in his own plane "if I make the team."
