Proxmire became the first Democrat elected to the Senate by this state in 25 years.

He scored his victory over Republican three-time governor Walter J. Kohler, a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower and twice a victor over Proxmire in races for the governor's post.

The election is for the 16 months remaining of McCarthy's term. Proxmire will take office as soon as he is accredited by the State

A host of General Motors and Pontiac Motor Division officials, headed by GM President Harlow H. Curtice, will be honored by Pontiac citizens at a reception today which will conclude the citywide observance of Pontiac Motor Division's 50th anniversary.

Sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the reception will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Elks Temple.

Tickets, at $3 each, are still available at the chamber's office. The affair is open to the public.

While no formal program is planned, Curtice is expected to speak briefly.

50th Anniversary Event at Wisner Attracts 9,000

Music, Dancing Acts Bring Long Applause From Capacity Crowd

By DICK SAUNDERS

Pontiac Motor Division's 50th anniversary show at Wisner Stadium last night was a booming success, with music, dancing and plenty of laughs for the 9,000 area residents that packed the stands and seats to see the star-studded entertainment.

The swinging Johnny Long band serenaded spectators with an array of song hits for almost 45 minutes before the big show began.

After ending the pre-show concert with a rousing "One O'clock Jump," Monroe Osmun of the downtown merchants assn. took the spotlight, paying tribute to Pontiac Motor, and formally introducing the show.

Following band vocalist Debbie Brown's selections, Long introduced jazz trombonist Mickey Gravine with "The Cotton Pickers," a dixieland combo made up of band members.

They romped through a stimulating five-minute version of "The Saints Go Marching In."

Osmun then introduced S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac Motor general manager. Mayor William Donaldson, A. C. Girard, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, and Howard Powers, resident of the Chamber of Commerce.

Knudsen presented Mrs. Wayne Lidgard of Auburn Heights with the keys to the special golden Pontiac which she won. As part of the 50th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lidgard came to the stand with their entire family to receive the award. As Mrs. Lidgard thanked everyone and happily managed to say, "It's wonderful," her son Bruce, 15 months burst into tears, much to the crowd's delight.

Next on the program was an acrobatic dance trio — the Terry Sisters. After they amazed the crowd with their rope-skipping act, the noted harpist, Robert Maxwell took the spotlight.

Colorado Prison Rioters Cause 1 Death, Injury to 4

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — An inmate of the Colorado State Reformatory was shot to death and four others were wounded last night in a wild, 45-minute riot by 125 prisoners.

They were locked inside a cell block with three guards but soon 60 officers, armed and shooting, broke it up. Warden S. Thomas opened fire first.

"It was going really bad by the time I arrived," Thomas said later. "I saw what had to be done, and I set the example. I started firing."

In the turmoil of flying chairs, swinging fists, bunk fires and passing bullets, Evaristo Gomez, 23, was killed.

Three other inmates in the thick of the fight were shot in the leg and a bullet hit another in his finger.

Two guards were beaten unconscious.

One of them, Robert Allinger, 47, threw the lock that prevented any of the youths from fleeing. He and guard Sam Montgomery, 45, were then badly beaten.

They were marching more than 200 of the camp's nearly 400 inmates into the cell block after dinner and recreation. Many were still outside the cell block when those inside suddenly grabbed chairs and began plummeting from two guards with their fists and clubs.

Teamsters Talk About Future

Heated Discussion Held on AFL-CIO Relations and Charges Made

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two days of heated discussion may produce a decision by Teamster leaders today that could determine the future of the big union's relationship to the AFL-CIO.

Being thrashed out by the Teamster executive board in a secret meeting is the union's answer to charges by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee that the union is dominated by corrupt influences.

Key figure in the executive board sessions is James R. Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters and the odds-on choice to be the next president of the union.

The Ethical Practices Committee yesterday included charges against Hoffa in its report on the allegedly improper Teamster activities.

Hoffa and retiring President Dave Beck came out of yesterday's session refusing to divulge any information about the course of the discussions, during which loud and angry voices were heard by reporters waiting outside.

Both men showed little concern for the new action by the Ethical Practices Committee. The attitude of the entire board, for that matter, was aptly summed up by Thomas L. Hickey, a vice president from New York.

Flu Vaccine Amount May Top Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today a larger-than-expected amount of Asian flu vaccine may be available by the first of the year.

The Public Health Service chief said manufacturers now expect to produce between 80 million and 85 million doses of vaccine by Jan. 1. The original goal announced earlier was 60 million doses by Feb. 1.

Burney gave the new figures in an interview in connection with a meeting of the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers of the United States. The group opened a two-day conference yesterday to map plans for combatting possible large-scale outbreaks of the flu this fall or winter.

Argentine Ferry Sinks

BUENOS AIRES (INS) — An Argentine ferry sank in the River Plate during the night after colliding with an American freighter. First reports said no one was killed but that several persons were injured. One report said the ferry, the 3,754-ton Ciudad da Buenos, had 300 passengers aboard.

Confidential Trial Nearing End; Mexico Ousts Actress de Scaffa

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The long trial of Confidential magazine on criminal libel charges starts down the home stretch today.

Defense Attorney Arthur J. Crowley said he will wind up his case today or Friday. The trial is in recess tomorrow.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritz said his rebuttal testimony will be completed next week. The case will be in recess Monday for Labor Day.

Meanwhile, in Mexico City Interior Ministry officials said that actress Francesca de Scaffa, who figured in testimony in the Confidential trial, has been found in a suburban hideout. She was given 72 hours to leave Mexico.

Miss de Scaffa dropped from sight earlier this month. At first officials believed she had left the country.

The defense case moved toward an end yesterday with an attorney's testimony that he stopped a proposed war between Confidential and the movie industry.

Albert De Stefano, attorney for Confidential magazine, said he rejected an editorial written by former Confidential editor Howard Rushmore about a reported "movie industry war chest to fight Confidential."

De Stefano said the editorial was entitled "Hollywood Against Confidential."

Consumers Power to Get More Gas for Heating

There was a prospect today that some Pontiac area homeowners may have their applications for gas for heating purposes filled, as the State Public Service Commission approved a Consumers Power Co. proposal to add 20,000 new customers.

The new service would be extended on the basis of prorating the new permits to the existing backlog of demand.

The bulk of the allocation will go to the Southeast Division of the company which includes Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties. Of the 20,000 new customers, this division would receive 11,602 connections.

Exactly how many area homeowners would be served was not immediately known as Edward L. Karkau, district manager, was unavailable for comment.

Earlier this month he said there were 35,211 applicants in the Pontiac area awaiting gas for heating purposes. The company says it has 179,000 applications on file.

The commission order specified that one half of attachments in each division be reserved for reversion customers, that is those with other sources of fuel wishing to switch to gas.

The company has made further openings for customers possible by the purchase of 38 gas wells located near Holland.

U. of M. Survey 'Proves' Old Idea

Cut Case Load to Improve Service

By DONN SHELTON

A University of Michigan survey has "proved" what local social workers knew a long time ago, that "special training and reduced case loads can improve services" rendered in the state's $26 million aid to dependent children (ADC) program.

"It stands to reason that a person with special training and/or less work to do could do a better job," points out Miss Ora Hinckley, supervisor of the Oakland County Bureau of Social Aid, a state agency with county offices.

The study was conducted by the U. of M. School of Social Work, in cooperation with the State Department of Social Welfare.

The project was conducted with ADC case workers in Genesee, Oakland, Lenawee, Monroe and Saginaw counties. In Oakland county the subject involved reduced case loads for the workers in the project.

In the research, five case workers handled case loads of 55 ADC cases for three months. Under present conditions, similar case workers have case loads of 90 or more.

While the total results of the survey haven't been released yet (they are due in a month, university officials say), Miss Hinckley said her staff had learned many things during the testing which have already been utilized to improve the program.

Specifying certain case workers to handle only ADC cases is such an advancement stemming from the research program, she said. The bureau also handles old age assistance, assistance for the blind and assistance for the totally disabled.

IMPOSSIBLE NOW

While methods like special training and reduced case loads are nice to talk about, they are "just financially impossible right now," Miss Hinckley says.

There are 21 case workers in the Oakland County bureau. The bureau has on its books more than 3,300 cases, with applications pending for more. Thus, reducing case loads is a case of having more money to hire additional workers—or depriving families of assistance.

Of the 21 workers, only five took college work in social work. All are required to have at least two years of college training, in any field.

Added to these problems of big loads and little special training, is the turnover problem. The bureau is a civil service organization, with no experience required for working there.

Most social work agencies demand experience in their newcomers, and the county bureau has become training grounds for workers to gain experience in order to qualify for another job.

Most young case workers don't last more than a year and a half, Miss Hinckley says.

The whole welfare problem is growing, she notes, and produces figures to show that there has been a steady rise in cases every month since December, 1955, in Oakland county.

The county itself is third in the state by case load, far behind Wayne and close to Kent, which includes Grand Rapids.

The Oakland County bureau handles presently 726 ADC cases, 2,500 old age assistance cases, 44 assistance to the blind cases and 94 totally disabled cases.

The total monetary disbursement to Oakland County families via the bureau is $3,000,000 yearly—and going up. The total state payment is more than $25,000,000 yearly.

Team Holds Key to Crusade

Billy Graham Earns Trust, Respect of All

(This is the third of four articles summing up the effects of the Billy Graham New York crusade, which ends this weekend, and showing how the Graham team works.)

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Bursting with a personal exhilaration that one wouldn't be likely to observe even at the most boisterous New Year's Eve party, Miss Ethel Waters nightly sings out her heart and larynx as a member of Billy Graham's 1,500 voice crusade choir.

Miss Waters is the only so-called "celebrity" whom the members of the Graham team will talk about. That is because "Ethel has loved Christ for years, and everybody knows it," says Jerry Beavan, Billy's executive secretary and press chief.

It is equally known that several, perhaps dozens, of famous personalities in America are "new Christians," converted during the Madison Square Garden crusade; but the team isn't talking.

"In the medieval days the church was considered 'sanctuary,' and it was a place of safety for all men," explained Beavan amiably. "That's the way Billy feels about it. We never give out the names of persons who make 'decisions' because the relationship of a man and his God is a very personal thing."

RESPECT, TRUST

"It's one reason people respect Billy. They know they can trust him."

Beavan, like most members of the team, resembles a handsome college halfback, though he's old enough to have been a Graham colleague for 10 years, and before that a newspaper reporter, advertising agency man and midwest college professor.

Part of his fitness comes from playing golf, a game he was lured into after Billy insisted on buying him a set of clubs in Scotland.

Billy shoots in the low 90's, is neither proud nor ashamed of his game, but apparently is somewhat of a stickler for physical fitness. In an interview in a hotel room, he gave me some hints as to how he feels on the subject.

"I believe," he said, "that television can either be a great help in a home, or a great detriment. You've read reports about how our American young people are, compared with children in other parts of the world."

"We make our own children (Billy and Ruth Graham have four) stay out all afternoon, every good day. We don't want them in the house. In return, we let them watch two television shows a day."

Billy admits he takes vitamins, "chemical as well as spiritual," to keep up his strength. He has lost 12 pounds during the New York crusade (normal weight 182; present weight 170) contrasted to 22 in his rigorous London stay. Lately he has felt the need for rest — yet companions insist these last days he has preached more strongly than ever.

Graham's answer is a slice of the scripture: "My strength is made perfect in weakness." Which means that, in the extra effort to overcome fatigue, comes more power than before.

SPECTATOR

When he is speaking, the evangelist claims, he does not feel a physical sensation of energy expending itself. "I feel more like a spectator on the sidelines, watching God at work." For a moment, describing that feeling, he looks puzzled. "I'm always as amazed as everyone else is when I watch people come forward to declare themselves to God..."

"It's not me that's done it, I mean I KNOW it's God. There's nothing else." Graham, always impeccably and modestly dressed himself, likes his workers to be well groomed. The theory, said Beavan, is that if soldiers must be neat because they represent the U.S. government — how much neater should be the men who represent Christ.

When a team member is too busy to get a haircut, for instance, Bill sometimes will say, "Here's a dollar and a half-hour for the barber."

When Graham occasionally is too absorbed to remember his coiffure, a team member is likely to let go the offhand remark, "Whose turn is it to get ribbons for Billy's hair?"

FRIENDLY JOKES

The friendly banter that exists among Graham's crew (11 "key members," each with a specialized job) is one of the greatest delights in Billy's constantly hectic life. "Our main problem," says one of the team, "is to keep Bill from doing too much." "Let God keep him anointed," says another, "we'll keep him humble."

The team's gently happy approach to life has also enchanted thousands of the new converts, who have made "decisions for Christ" during the crusade.

"I always thought people who were very religious were a bunch of squares," said one, "but they're not. They're more fun than anybody I ever knew. I didn't realize there were so many really funny clean jokes."

(Tomorrow: A woman who made a "decision for Christ" describes her experience.)

BROTHER BEATER — Geraldine Roach, 14, of 770 Pensacola St., has come up with a way to beat her brother, when it comes to coping top honors for prize rabbits at the Michigan State Fair, which opens Friday. The rabbit here is Sandy, 1956 Grand Champion, with whom her brother, Leland, 17, took one of the seven prizes. Geraldine is raising a different breed, has high hopes for this year.

7 Days Since Exposure

Ike Shows No Sign of Flu

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appears to have advanced against exposures which occur in 10 to 14 days, Trotter said, to build up an immunity after an inoculation.

The President has shown no sign of developing the flu. He played golf yesterday afternoon and later went to Walter Reed Army Hospital to visit Mrs. Eisenhower, who is recuperating from surgery Aug. 6.

But he still has to keep his fingers crossed awhile against the possibility of contracting the disease.

Seven days now have passed since the President came in contact with two persons — one a member of his staff, the other a photographer — who later developed mild cases of what has been diagnosed tentatively as Asian flu.

Dr. Yates Trotter of the U.S. Public Health Service has said the usual incubation period for that type of flu is one to three days, but that development of illness may take as long as seven days after exposure in exceptional cases.

So it appears, on the basis of what Trotter said, that Eisenhower is not going to get the flu as a result of the two suspected exposures last week. But it isn't known for sure whether he may have been exposed again later in the week, and—if he was—whether the disease might develop as a result.

Eisenhower was inoculated against Asian flu last Monday. But the vaccine is not effective

Gunmen Hold Up Train in Canada, Take Cash

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (AP) — Three gunmen held up a Canadian National Railway mail car crew on a moving train between Woodstock and Ingersoll early today and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash when the train stopped at Ingersoll. Woodstock is 150 miles northeast of Detroit.

The bandits are believed to have boarded the train dressed as railway employees at Woodstock, 22 miles east of London. During the seven-mile trip to Ingersoll they appeared wearing masks, held the eight-man mail car crew at gunpoint and smashed open a mail bag.

The crew was locked in a washroom before the robbers alighted from the train at Ingersoll.

City Commission Meets Tonight

Expect to Vote Hospital Vote Date

City commissioners' primary attention tonight will be directed toward a report from Pontiac's bond attorney in which he is expected to outline financial details of the proposed fall vote to equip Pontiac General Hospital.

Commissioners, after hearing the report, are expected to set the date for the $350,000 general obligation bond election.

Fifteen of the 29 items facing the commission deal with the city's continuing public works program.

Included are two public hearings on special assessment rolls covering a proposed storm drain in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genesee, and Telegraph, and for a curb, gutter, and related work project slated for Homestead drive from Astor to East Boulevard.

A third public hearing will concern a proposal to change the name of Dix street between Warner and Hess streets to Howard McNeill street.

Commissioners, meeting a night later than their usual Tuesday session because of last night's celebration show, will hear a letter from S. E. Knudson, Pontiac Motor Division general manager, thanking the city for its participation in the Aug. 19 parade honoring the 50th anniversary of the industry.

Bids received Monday for more sidewalk projects in Pontiac will be acted on tonight.

Two requests for changes in package beer and wine licenses in the city have been placed on the agenda.

A request for street improvements of Livingston avenue from Blaine to Stanley has been made by Allen A. Saltz, Detroit builder.

Making up the rest of the docket are seven engineer estimates on proposed projects, and resolutions to receive four special assessment rolls on other projects.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said at least five Russian warships were known to have passed through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean in the past three weeks.

"And who may know about submarines?" he added.

A heavy Russian cruiser and a small escort vessel passed Gibraltar early Sunday with all lights blacked out.

Some small vessels of the U.S. 6th Fleet, meanwhile, canceled previous plans to visit ports on the Spanish and French coasts and headed for unknown destinations.

Navy spokesmen in Washington said orders had gone to the 6th Fleet to remain at sea in the Mediterranean for the time being.

They left the whereabouts of the fleet units shrouded in secrecy and would say only that units of the fleet are operating in the Mediterranean "on a training mission" in preparation for joint NATO exercises.

'GOD OF BINGLES' — In honor of one of the immortals of major league baseball, some enterprising souvenir man around Pittsburgh produced the little plaster cartoon of John P. (Honus) Wagner, above. The inscription is self-explanatory. Wagner is a half-of-famer, one of the game's greatest shortstops. He died a few years ago. Figure is owned by Edwin Matthews, Pontiac man.

Fort Wayne Strong in Defense of Title

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Fort Wayne, Ind., won the third straight game in defense of its national Non-Pro Baseball Title last night while a three-time champion, the Wichita Bombers, fell by the wayside.

Pea Ridge, N. C., dumped the Bombers from the double elimination tournament 6-2 and advanced to the fifth round.

Fort Wayne had little trouble in defeating Peoria, Ill., 9-1. Milwaukee, Wis., won from Johnstown, N. Y., 10-1.

Tonight Colonial Heights, Va., goes against Grand Rapids, Mich., in a fourth round game. The loser will be eliminated.

low-legged, stocky Dutchman was the rage of the Pennsylvania metropolis sports-minded residents, particularly the baseball fans.

John P. (Honus) Wagner, Pirates' shortstop, became one of the greatest names in major league ball, for his great hitting and fielding ability, and for his terrific spirit. Wagner died a few years ago. He was named long ago to the Hall of Fame.

In his heyday, around 1908-10, Honus was "cast" in plaster, for little bookends, or ornaments. Many of them were distributed in the Pittsburgh area and one was given Edwin Matthews, 80 State boy.

For many years the little-statue was at the home of Matthews' mother in Blandburg, Pa. When she died in July, Edwin returned to the home. He brought the figure back, and now prizes it highly.
