

Gen. Marshall Succumbs After Long Illness

Tunnel Frantically for 3 in Mine Shaft

SILVERPEAK, Nev. (AP)—Persistent in the face of discouraging odds, rescue teams tunneled into a hill from three different directions today, trying to reach three men trapped or crushed by a mine shaft cave-in.

The shaft collapsed Friday at the Mohawk silver mine in a once-rich district south of this tiny western Nevada community.

"The odds are against the men being alive," said James Wike, business manager of the mine. "But there is still that hope."

"We're going to work around the clock until we find them. Dead or alive."

Wike couldn't guess how long it might take to rescue the men.

"We don't know exactly where they are," he said. They were working between the 200 and 300-foot level, but they could have had a warning, and gone somewhere else. There are smaller tunnels leading off the one they were working in.

"We're drilling in from the 200-foot level and from the 300-foot level. And we've got men going down an old shaft and trying to come up underneath them."

The missing men are Bill Delorme of Redding, Calif., James Robinson of Mina, Nev., and Sam Sickles of Tonopah, Nev. Robinson and Sickles are married and Wike said Sickles has adult children. Robinson's wife stood outside the mine Friday as rescuers took turns working in three-man teams in the narrow tunnels.

Russell Joy, the only doctor in the area, was there too.

"I'm afraid that my services won't be required," the doctor said.

Wike estimated the cave-in occurred in the early morning hours. "About 2:30," he said, "some of the boys in camp heard a rumble. But they didn't figure it was a cave-in and they went back to sleep. Then when the day shift started to go to work they found the cave-in."

The three men were working a night shift, loading ore into cars. They weren't using explosives. Wike said the cave-in was unexplained.

Steel Industry Ponders Union Offer in Secret

Mull Over Compromise Proposal to Bring End to 95-Day Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel industry leaders kept secret today the place of a meeting that could decide the outcome of the 95-day steel strike.

They had been expected to meet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 10 a.m. to consider a union compromise offer.

But at that hour none had appeared.

There was no immediate announcement as to where they would gather.

The meeting was to have taken place in the Waldorf suite of A. B. Homer, president of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

The leaders, representing 12 major steel companies, were seen leaving the Park Lane Hotel shortly before 10 a.m. they strolled along Park Avenue as though heading for the Waldorf.

But they had switched their plans and never arrived there.

The union was reported to have put before the industry leaders a scaled-down proposal calling for about 21 cents an hour in wage and benefit gains over a two-year period.

Acceptance of the offer would end the strike. The industry had the alternatives of rejecting it or offering a counter-proposal.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said in Washington he was optimistic that a settlement could be reached to avoid a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Such a court order, unwanted by either the industry or the Steelworkers Union, likely will be sought by the government next week barring a weekend peace pact.

"The parties are closer together than they have been since the negotiations started," Mitchell said Friday night. The steel labor dispute has been going on for six months.

There were indications that the government, although still wanting to avoid a labor pact that would force an inflationary boost in steel prices, now considers that ending the strike is an equal if not overriding consideration.

The industry's negotiators are due to rush back to Washington this afternoon to give Union President David M. McDonald their answer on his latest offer.

The reply could take the form of a counter proposal.

It was noted that the union's new offer, paring down prior money demands about a third, would do nothing toward meeting the management demand for more freedom in changing work practices to gain economies. The industry probably will want some concession here, even a token one.

The union proposal of around 10 cents an hour in each of two years was designed to have an antiinflationary appeal by concentrating the money exclusively in insurance, pension and other benefits for the first year. The second year's installment would be in a wage hike.

GENERAL GEORGE C. MARSHALL

Marshall Plan Called Most Generous Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—Years later, a British official described the Marshall Plan as "one of the most—if not the most—generous, magnanimous acts in history."

And history will always link the name of Gen. George C. Marshall with it.

The world knows the program that pumped economic life into war-ravaged Europe as the Marshall Plan.

On June 5, 1947, Marshall, then secretary of state, addressed commencement exercises at Harvard University and called for a massive outpouring of gifts and loans to pull Europe away from economic disaster.

Marshall promised no strings. He offered the aid even to the Soviet Union and its satellites.

But the Soviets attacked the plan from the start. At first Czechoslovakia accepted an invitation to the founding conference but, under Moscow's orders, it withdrew.

Soon the plan was regarded as the West's major bulwark against communism. In the first month of operation, its economic aid was credited with the defeat of Communists in the Italian elections.

The Economic Cooperation Administration, which administered the funds under the plan, turned over 12½ billion dollars of aid to Europe in its four years.

The Marshall Plan, in effect, ended on Dec. 31, 1951, when the Mutual Security Agency took over the ECA's job. Assistance was largely for military, not economic, purpose now.

In 1953, Marshall received the Nobel Peace Prize for fathering his historic plan.

Directed U.S. Military in Second World War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, who guided America's armed might in World War II and created the postwar Marshall Plan to safeguard free nations against communism, died at 78.

Marshall had been seriously ill since he suffered a stroke last Jan. 15 at his winter home in Pinehurst, N. C. He was brought to Walter Reed Army Hospital March 11. Death came to him there Friday evening.

Perhaps no man of his time had been called great by so many of his countrymen as George Catlett Marshall.

Three presidents—Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower—almost revered his awesome abilities as a soldier, statesman and diplomat.

He led the gigantic war machine of the United States as Army chief of staff throughout World War II.

Then in the evening of his life he was recalled to duty as secretary of state and again, during the Korean War, as secretary of defense.

For his formulation of the Marshall Plan, which bolstered free nations of the West with massive

Laud Man, Soldier, Statesman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—General of the Army George Catlett Marshall proved his military genius fighting tyranny in three wars and then won the Nobel Prize as a toiler for peace.

President Eisenhower, whose own rise to military glory was helped greatly by Marshall, led the worldwide tributes to the five-star general whose Marshall Plan is credited with saving Europe from economic collapse after World War II and ebbing the tide of communism there.

Eisenhower said Marshall's death was a "cause for profound grief throughout the United States." The President praised Marshall as "one of the distinction to service and duty, an outpouring, an example of devoted military leaders of our standing American."

Former President Truman, who entrusted Marshall with three important posts after World War II, praised his one-time adviser as "a great general, a great secretary of state and a great secretary of defense... one of the great men of the period."

In London, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said Marshall was "a great man and we deeply regret his death."

General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, one of Marshall's hand-picked assistants, sent a warm personal letter to Mrs. Marshall expressing "deep and heartfelt sympathy."

He said history would remember Marshall, "not only as he is now — as one of the nation's greatest soldiers and statesmen — but as one of the few great Americans of all times."

WORLD PRAISES HIM
Secretary of State Christian A. Herter — "His quiet dedication, his energy, his foresight and his humility stand as shining guideposts to all who follow in his footsteps."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd — "A great man and we deeply regret his death." He said the Marshall Plan first formulated by the late general to assist in Europe's economic recovery after the chaos of World War II was a plan "which saved western Europe and a critical period."

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy — "Americans have lost one of the great men of our generation. In three diverse fields... he served his country with wholehearted devotion and distinction."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn — "I considered him one of the ablest men I ever met, in the army or out of the army."

Overcast Will Stay for Another Day

Skies will continue to be overcast through Sunday with high temperatures from 52-56. Tonight's low will dip to near 40 degrees.

The weatherman said Monday will be somewhat warmer but Tuesday and Wednesday will be cool again. Precipitation will average less than one-quarter inch as showers late Monday or Tuesday.

From 10:15 a.m. yesterday until the same time today .01 of an inch of rain fell in Pontiac. Winds northwesterly at eight miles an hour this morning will diminish tonight and become westerly at 8 to 12 miles tomorrow.

Forty-six was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac recorded 8 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 49.

Family Service — A UF Agency

Their Boy Went Wrong

The parents never asked themselves why their boy went wrong. His mother grew hysterical when police brought her 15-year-old son — let us call him Jim my — home from school.

"You've never been any good, you'll never be any good," she screamed.

The furious father called the youth "a disgrace to the family."

"I want nothing to do with you," he snapped at his son.

Jimmy, during the summer, had become involved with a gang of teenage hoodlums. He was caught in a burglary and freely admitted to police stealing bicycles, loot from store counters.

BLAME EACH OTHER

From condemnation of their son, the parents soon started blaming each other for his getting into trouble.

A psychiatrist recommended they contact the Oakland County Family Service, a United Fund agency.

Although devoted largely to marriage counseling, the organization deals with almost any type of family problem.

Many of its clients have marriage problems, but others are concerned with parent-child difficulties, problems of the aged, of the adolescent, of physical and mental handicaps and illnesses, and financial troubles.

Individual interviews with Jimmy, the mother and father were held by a social worker over several months.

WANTED ATTENTION

A clue to the trouble in Jimmy's family came when the boy said he stole "to get attention."

Patient questioning of the mother disclosed that her parents had been cool and aloof toward each other and had displayed little interest in her activities of whereabouts.

What she saw as a child influenced her later in life.

Her relationship with her husband was a distant one. Jimmy came and went as he pleased.

Jimmy's father, a busy professional man, had spent little time with his son. He admitted he had assumed a dictatorial attitude toward the boy.

Much of the time the parents quarreled in the home. Jimmy remained in the background.

EYE PROBLEM

As the story unfolded, the parents began to see the problem in a different light. The boy received the affection he needed and the family became a much more closely knit unit.

Last year the agency's Pontiac office dealt with the problems of 800 families. Each month the office receives some 40 new applications.

Organized in Pontiac in 1946, the agency now has its headquarters in Birmingham and branches in Pontiac and South Oakland County.

The local branch consists of Mrs. Margarita Davis, district supervisor, and three trained social workers.

Fees are charged if clients can afford them. But no one is refused aid, stressed Robert J. Jones, the agency's executive officer.

Fees this year will amount to about $800. The rest of the Pontiac office's $40,000 budget comes from United Fund dollars.

Girl Testifies on Police Death

13-Year-Old Cries, but Will Not Change Story Despite Sharp Quiz

BRIGHTON — Sometimes in tears under questioning, Lillian Padgett, 13, testified as a prosecution witness in ex-convict Alvin Karpis' murder examination yesterday.

The schoolgirl told justice court that she saw Knight driving through her native town of Argente Sept. 3 in the car of a state trooper.

The trooper was driving the car and Knight was in the back seat, Lillian said.

Knight is charged with murder in the fatal shooting that day of taxpayer Albert Souden. Souden vanished Sept. 3 when going to question Knight about a burglary. His body was found in a shallow grave near Argente a few days later.

The examination now in adjournment until Tuesday, is to determine whether Knight should be held for trial. He denies he killed Souden.

While Lillian was on the stand, prosecutor Wilfred H. Erwin and defense attorney Martin J. Lavan clashed on the latter's treatment of the witness.

At one time Erwin accused Lavan of "brutal" treatment of the girl. He withdrew the remark at Lavan's protest. However, he also said "I've seen hardened criminals who weren't cross-examined as rigorously as this."

Policeman Shoots Wife, Lawyer, Self

BOSTON (AP)—A police officer once decorated for heroism shot his wife and her attorney Friday and then committed suicide.

Patrolman George W. Allen, 38, went on a shooting spree on the steps of Suffolk County Court-house shortly after a judge ordered him to pay his wife $50 a week for support.

His wife Mary, 35, mother of two children, was shot in the head. Her condition was listed as critical.

Third victim was Joseph S. Oteri, 28, counsel for Mrs. Allen in a separate support case. Oteri was shot three times. His condition was good.

Allen, who received the police medal of honor in 1957 for capturing an armed bank robber, died three hours after the shooting. He had shot himself in the head.

Most of Nation Basking in Sun, Few Showers

By The Associated Press

Fair autumnal weather sparkled over most of the nation today. Only scattered showers in the Gulf states and Carolinas and a new push of icy Canadian air from the Rockies in Wyoming marred the crisp, clear day.

The rainfall ranged from a trace to one inch Friday night. Miami recorded 1.4 inch and Daytona Beach, Fla., was drenched with one inch in an hour.

Other very light showers dampened widely scattered areas from Mississippi to the Carolinas.

Florida's cold plunging southward from Canada during the past 26 hours and caused temperatures to drop in areas from Wyoming to Nebraska and the Dakotas and eastward to the upper Mississippi valley.

Red Trade May Start With Copters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A million-dollar Soviet purchase of U. S. helicopters may be the first tangible commercial outcome of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit with President Eisenhower.

Vladimir S. Alkhimov, commercial counselor for the Soviet Embassy, indicated today the Soviets want two and probably three of the choppers, which so delighted Khrushchev when Eisenhower took him riding.

Khrushchev said he wanted the Eisenhower version—and that is what his purchasing agents are after, even though it's likely to cost a tidy sum.

The commercial model of the Sikorsky S58 helicopter, Eisenhower uses sells for around $200,000. But with extras added, as in the two craft supplied for presidential flights by the Army and Marine Corps, the cost mounts closer to $400,000.

These planes boast such niceties as bullet-proof fuel tanks, air-conditioning, soundproofing and special communications gear. And the Soviets want to patch this on the craft for Khrushchev.

Third victim was Joseph S. Oteri, 28, counsel for Mrs. Allen in a separate support case. Oteri was shot three times. His condition was good.

Gen. Marshall Succumbs After Lengthy Illness

Marshall, the role of supreme commander of the Normandy invasion. But the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt told him, "I feel I could not sleep at night with you out of the country."

"Of course I wanted to get out of Washington," Marshall said, reminiscing years later. "I'm a soldier. But I had no choice. President Roosevelt wanted me to stay in Washington."

It was President Harry S. Truman who called Marshall back from his postwar retirement at his comfortable, historic home in Leesburg, Va.

Truman, who once called Marshall "the greatest living American," first sent him on a fruitless mission to China, to try to reconcile the Communist and Nationalist forces who were dividing the country.

Then he was named secretary of state, a job far removed from the experience of 45 years in the Army. Marshall held it for two years, troubled years in which the Cold War pattern became set.

He resigned as secretary of state only because a serious operation marriage.

Alumni Get Degrees, Awards

Honor U. of M. Medicos

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Two honorary degrees and nine citations and awards were presented today at the annual University of Michigan medical honors convocation.

The convocation closed a three-day meeting of the seventh Triennial Medical Alumni Conference, which drew nearly 500 doctors from throughout the United States.

Recipients of honorary doctor of law degrees were Dr. Frederick A. Collier, past president of the American Surgical Assn. and Citations and awards were presented to U. of M. students and instructors. The senior award was won by Dr. John R. G. Gosling, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology.

Top student award was the $500 Borden Award, to Dr. Arthur J. Vander, who was graduated last June and is now interning at New York Hospital, New York City. He was cited for his research on the stop-flow technique of kidney function.

Eugene R. Top, Kalamazoo, won the Phi Delta Epsilon award for scholastic honors in freshman anatomy.

Other winners included Dr. Kuochuan Quan, of Manila, Philippines, who received $200 for the best paper in the field of industrial medicine. Dr. Guan was graduated last June and is now interning at Washington Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Officers found Beth MacDonald, 38, conscious and hysterical, sitting in the kitchen. On the floor was the body of her son Jeffrey. He had been stabbed in the back four times, in the heart once with an 8-inch carving knife.

Scott MacDonald, 18 months old, lay under his kitchen crib. He had been stabbed several times but was listed in fair condition later at a hospital.

Police Chief Robert Triano said Mrs. MacDonald offered no report. He had returned from school and walked into the kitchen. His mother shouted, "You're next!" and nicked him slightly with the knife. He fled to the home of a neighbor, who called police.

Mrs. MacDonald offered no resistance when officers arrived. She said she had wanted to kill all three boys, then take her own life. She gave no reason, Chief Triano said.

She was taken to the State Hospital at Middletown for observation while police prepared a warrant charging her with murder and aggravated assault.

The father, Edward H. MacDonald, 31, was at his job at a local manufacturing company when the stabbings occurred.

They said the major loss of life resulted from a landslide on northern Okinawa, which killed at least 20.

There were no deaths reported among American military or civilian personnel.

Get Quarter Million Dollars in Gem Theft

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Two robbers took some $250,000 in gems from a jewelry store late Friday.

One held a gun, the other a switchblade knife. They forced the co-owners, Alec Jackson and Miss Rose Blase, into the office and bound them with adhesive tape.

The gunman warned: "The first one that moves gets six caps. This gun is loaded."

Then four men entered the store—a deliveryman, a customer and two business associates of the owners. The robbers calmly forced them to lie on the office floor alongside the owners and taped them also.

"Don't turn and look at me, or I'll kill you in the head," one of the thieves told the captives.

The pair stripped an open safe of the jewelry and $800 in cash, emptied the wallets of the four men who had entered, and fled through the rear door.

20 Race Horses Killed in Blaze

Stable Fire Destroys Big Money Winner as Rescue Attempts Fail

WEST GREENWICH, R. I. (AP)—At least 20 thoroughbred race horses, including famed money winner Park Dandy, were destroyed early today when fire raced through the stable barn of William J. (Jim) Beattie.

Beattie, wealthy lace manufacturer and sportsman, and a groom managed to save four thoroughbreds before being driven out of the smoke-filled barn by flames.

Park Dandy was the highest money winning New England-bred or owned horse. The 9-year-old had earnings of $164,000 during eight racing seasons. The wins included the $33,200 Ohio Buckeye Handicap and the $34,525 Canadian Championship.

Beattie said the horses were "the best I ever raised" and placed the value of some of them at $10,000 to $20,000 each.

"If I'd had a gas mask and a light, I could have saved them," he moaned.

Unofficial estimates of damage ranged up to $175,000. Fire fighters said the blaze apparently had started in new, wet sawdust.

Ike's Purse Worries Mansfield

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Senate assistant majority leader Mike Mansfield is a kindly, fair-minded gentleman who nearly always has a good word for President Eisenhower, despite the latter's affinity for the Republican Party.

Consequently, it is with sympathy rather than malice that Mike wonders whether Ike made a mistake in presenting visiting Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos with an automobile.

Mansfield, as a top-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is devoted to the cause of making kissing cousins out of your good neighbors to the south. For that reason he was delighted at the way Ike and Adolfo hit it off together this week.

He approves of the fact that Gen. Eisenhower dug into his own pocket—instead of the taxpayers' till—for $2,500 to buy the dark blue Ford Falcon sedan.

He is also convinced that President Mateos likes the gift, the giver, and Americans in general.

What bothers the Montana Democrat therefore, is not whether Ike's generosity disturbed our good neighbor policy, but whether he set precedent which will be embarrassing to his pocketbook.

What is going to happen, Mike wonders, if each succeeding head of state who visits Washington expects Ike to give him an automobile commensurate in size with the rank and prestige of his nation?

A fire this morning apparently started by an overheated wood stove caused $1,000 damage to the One-story frame home occupied by Fang Bell at 564 Howland Ave.

The fire was confined to the kitchen. No one was injured.

Bus Overtakes Killing Woman

18 Injured on Indiana Highway; Driver Says He Missed Roadway

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP)—A woman was killed and 18 other passengers injured late Friday night when a Greyhound bus overturned on U. S. 41, three miles south of here.

State police said they had not been able to identify the dead woman. They found no identification papers and the driver could not remember where she had boarded the bus.

Twelve of the injured passengers were admitted to the Gibson County Hospital here. The others were treated at the hospital and released.

Hospital authorities said the extent of injuries to those admitted had not been determined.

The bus was en route to Chicago from St. Petersburg, Fla., with 31 passengers aboard.

The driver, Otis Rieber of Paris, Ill., who was not injured, said he had missed the roadway at the end of a dual stretch and, when he tried to get the bus back on the highway, it overturned.

State police said the dead woman was thrown through a window and crushed beneath the big bus. Princeton is in southwestern Indiana, about 30 miles north of Evansville.

Famed General Soon Will Be Subject of Book

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Historians with access to 40 hours of Gen. George C. Marshall's tape-recorded recollections hope to have the first volume of his eagerly-awaited biography ready within two years.

Marshall refused to follow the example of many of his World War II colleagues by writing his memoirs. He felt that some of the revelations might embarrass persons still alive.

But he made available to the George C. Marshall Research Foundation his personal and official papers and submitted to tape-recorded interviews with the understanding that his disclosures would not be published for some time.

U. of M. Press Club Discusses K's Visit

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's U. S. visit and the need for American economic growth in competition with Russia were discussed before the University of Michigan Press Club yesterday.

Former Moscow correspondent Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times said Khrushchev's visit might have been part of a Russian plan to find a third force to offset the growing might of Red China.

Editor Erwin D. Canham of the Christian Science Monitor urged U. S. tax reforms as a means of support for American economic growth at its present rate and to protect this country's economic lead over the Soviet.

He also urged that the U. S. begin trade with Russia, though with care.

Canham and Salisbury spoke before sessions of the press club's 42nd annual meeting.

Salisbury, a Pulitzer Prize winner, said Russia looks at China the same way the United States looks at Russia.

Uses Kitchen Knife for Heart Operation

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—A doctor used a kitchen knife for emergency chest surgery to save a man's life.

Percy Knight, 32, is doing well at Methodist Hospital. He suffered a heart attack while being examined by Dr. William B. Wallace, who said the man appeared to have died.

The physician took a kitchen knife, opened the chest cavity and massaged the heart for more than an hour until Knight could be removed to the hospital.

Got Ike's Bad Cold?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower has a heavy cold. It caused her to miss a dinner given by the President of Mexico Sunday.

Purkiss. "However, it is noted that the general fund is now committed, under various contracts, for $326,000."

"This is approximately $210,000 greater than last year. The investments will be substantially reduced during the coming months as the contracts are paid."

The director said the statement will show also a substantial reduction in the amount that has been advanced to special assessment districts.

"The condition is temporary due to the fact that much of the construction is taking place late this year," says Purkiss.

"It is anticipated that it will be necessary for the city to advance up to a total of $75,000 to $100,000. The difference depends on how much money we get from the county in connection with West Maple paving."

The report states also that a revenue loss has been realized because of tardy payments from the State.

The State normally remits approximately $300 each month to reimburse the Police Department for its work in connection with processing driver's and chauffeur's licenses.

The last receipts received by Birmingham were for the month of March.

"We have written the Auditor General's office asking for confirmation of the amounts now due and when we may anticipate receiving these various payments," says Purkiss.

"We have also inquired as to the city's share of liquor license fees which was due last June. While there may be delay in receiving this money, the revenue loss shown will be received."

Purkiss says he will report the State's reply to his queries at the City Commission meeting Monday night.

Six Are Saved by Log Message

State Hunters Attract Canada Police 'Copter After a Cold Week

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—A message written with logs on the ice of a creek guided a helicopter to six Michigan hunters stranded for a week in northern Manitoba by a freeze-up.

Five, including one woman, were picked up and flown out last night. The other remained behind with a Canadian guide to try to bring out three boats.

The party from Iron Mountain was duck hunting on Poplar Point Lake, about 270 miles northwest of Winnipeg, when a cold snap brought ice to the lake and on the Saskatchewan River leading out to the Pass.

A Canadian Mounted Police helicopter spotted the long-written message on the ice.

"OK. Food 3 days. Ice 4 inches." Flown out to the Pass, 45 miles northeast of Poplar Point Lake, were Peter Mitchell, Dr. W. H. Alexander, Fred Manilla and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Scott.

Scott's father, Russell, 63, remained behind with guide Ellie Desjarlais of the Pass, Man.

The temperatures fell to about 25 degrees above zero and there was about an inch of snow on the ground. They found shelter in a hunting lodge.

The plane which located the six and their guide yesterday dropped supplies.

Romeo Worker Killed as Car Hits Tree

A Romeo factory worker was killed early today when his car swerved off Romeo Plank road and struck a tree just north of 32-Mile road in Armada Township.

Alfred G. Peters, 23, died two miles from his home at 7200 Romeo Plank Rd.

He was discovered by a passing motorist at 5:30 a.m. State Police, who reported that Peters had been dead "for some time when he was found," said the victim may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

High Winds Forecast Worries Fire Fighters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A prediction of a high wind caused concern today as a massive, four-day-old fire continued to flourish on dust-dry brush in the hills north of Los Angeles.

The toll was one man dead, 13 injured, 8,500 acres burned. And there was no prospect of immediate control.

If all started, officials believe, when somebody carelessly flipped a cigarette.

The forecast was for winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour across ridges and passes.

Chin Up, Says Abby

Woman Is Running Animal Farm

DEAR ABBY: Why is it assumed by city folks that we people who live on farms can take on the responsibility of an unlimited number of discarded pets?

In the 14 years that we've lived on a farm, we've had over 300 dogs and cats (usually approaching motherhood) deliberately dropped off on our property.

We have kept some, given some to friends, nursed back to health those that were ailing — but there is a limit.

Some people have even abandoned sick animals who were so far gone that we have had to carry them to the vet's to have them mercifully put out of their misery. We have had it! How can we put a stop to this endless chain of cast-offs?

FARMER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: You can't. City folks will always "deliberately drop off" unwanted pets on the property of farmers because they know that people like you live on farms. They shouldn't do it—but they will.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a boy bites the tip of your ear? BERNICE
DEAR BERNICE: It means he is either teething or would like to know you better.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a swell kid. He looks kind of hoody but he isn't that way at all. He used to be wild, but he's changed. He was thrown out of school because he kicked a teacher in the cafeteria. I talked to his mother yesterday and she said they were going to let him come back to school Monday and put him on probation. Abby, my parents won't let me see him. They think he's no good. When he calls me on the phone they tell him not to call any more.

and they won't let me talk to him. How can I convince my parents that he's a good kid? They won't even give him a chance to prove himself.

TRUE LOVE
DEAR TRUE: Your parents are judging this boy on his past performance. He has a lot of "proving" to do before he is regarded as a "good kid." Until he establishes a record for consistent good behavior (and fast) don't blame your parents for keeping you apart.

DEAR ABBY: Now that the people have stopped talking about the unwed mothers, I would like to say a word about the unwed fathers.

If the parents of these unwed mothers would present the babies to the parents of the unwed fathers to raise, I am sure there would be a sharp decline in the number of illegitimate children.

Home Stretch

Stay on Diet Over Weekend

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We're heading into the home stretch of my Trick and Treat diet. Today I am printing the last two days' menus. This will enable you to shop now for ingredients you might need for Monday's menus.

If you have followed the menus, you probably can tell the difference already in the way your clothes feel and look on you.

Do not weigh until Monday morning. Most of you will find that you have lost five pounds. One word of warning! Unless you are careful those missing pounds will slip up on you soon again.

Here are the menus for tomorrow (Sunday) and (Monday).

SUNDAY
Breakfast
One-half grapefruit.
One teaspoon sugar.
One slice toast, very lightly buttered.
Two slices crisp bacon.
Coffee, one teaspoon sugar.

Lunch
Consomme with parsley.
Celery and carrot sticks.
One-half medium broiler (one to one-half pound chicken) seasoned with salt and parsley.
One-half cup cole slaw.
Peaches, two halves.
One tablespoon syrup.

Dinner
Egg omelet.
(With one teaspoon butter).
Eight ounces skim milk.
Three saltines.

MONDAY
Breakfast
Six ounces orange juice.
One-half cup oatmeal.
Four ounces skim milk and two teaspoons sugar on oatmeal.
One slice of protein bread toast.
Black coffee.

Lunch
Salad made of four tablespoons of cottage cheese, one medium tomato cut in chunks and one hard cooked egg, also cut into pieces. You can add three tablespoons of reducing dressing.
Two saltines.
Eight ounces skim milk.

Dinner
Shrimp cocktail (six medium-sized shrimp, one tablespoon of chili sauce and lemon juice).

Four ounces baked ham (cut off fat).
One cup broccoli seasoned with lemon and paprika or thyme.
Orange custard (see recipe at back of booklet).

If any of you missed the Trick and Treat diet and failed to save the clippings from the paper, or would like to have it to refer to periodically, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Trick and Treat booklet. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

NEW YORK (AP) — Alaskan Eskimos have chipped in to aid American missionary work in Greece, reports the Rev. Spiros Zodiatis, general secretary of the American Mission to Greeks, Inc.

Joyful Mother Wins Acquittal

Gazes at Her Babies After Freedom From Two Robbery Charges

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—"We got home, woke the babies up and looked at them." A joyful Mrs. Charles Anderson said that was how she celebrated her acquittal on charges of armed robbery.

The attractive blonde, a 30-year-old mother of three, was acquitted Friday night after a Federal Court jury deliberated one hour and 50 minutes.

"We haven't had a chance to look at the children for more than a few minutes all this week," she said. "Looking at them now will be my celebration."

Mrs. Anderson said she and her husband spent Thursday night at a hotel because she couldn't bear to tell the children goodbye.

Asked about future plans, she answered: "Stay at home and be quiet. I'm going to try to be fine for a few days."

JURORS WONDERFUL

She said the jurors "were wonderful," an added, "I intend to write each of them and thank them but first I have to settle down."

The verdict tore away the composure she maintained through the five-day trial.

Tears streaming down her face, she stood up, turned to her husband and said, "Let's call Duane so we can go home."

Damon, 9, is the oldest of her three children.

"Thank you, thank you," she told the jurors as they filed past her out of the courtroom.

Mrs. Anderson broke down momentarily but upon regaining her composure turned to her husband and said:

"I'm all right. For the first time in a year and a half I'm all right."

Mrs. Anderson, wife of an insurance executive, was charged with the daring noon-hour holdups of two suburban savings and loan offices last year.

TWO ROBBERIES

The first office was robbed of $6,663, the second of $1,311 three months later.

Mrs. Anderson was arrested at her suburban home May 29, 1958—one week after the second holdup. Conviction on both counts would have brought sentences of 50 years in prison and fines up to $20,000.

The government contended she needed the money to make up a shortage at an insurance company in Atlanta where she formerly worked.

She said she made up the shortage five days after the first robbery—with $1,689 her father had saved for her.

Surviving are his wife, Catherine, his mother, Mrs. Ella Wilson of Balkan, Kentucky, and children Lucy, Winfred, and Joan, four brothers and six sisters.

He was employed at GM Truck & Coach Div.

CASSIUS B. VOORHEES

Cassius B. Voorhees, 86, of 74 Henry Clay Ave. died yesterday at his residence after a long illness.

He was a retired farmer and a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Voorhees leaves his wife, Henrietta, a son, Seymour E. of Romeo, three daughters, Mrs. Irene Poole of Lake Orion, Mrs. Isabelle Bibbins of Detroit and Miss Esther Voorhees of Pontiac; six grandchildren; and 11 great-grandchildren.

Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Voorhees-Siple Chapel with burial following in the Sashabaw Cemetery.

ROBERT B. ADAMS

ROME — Service will be held 2 p.m. Sunday at the Roth's Home for Funerals for Robert B. Adams, 82, of 180 Rettell St., who died suddenly Thursday in the Community Hospital.

Burial will take place in McCafferty Cemetery. A retired crane operator, Mr. Adams is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Avis Frederick, of Romeo; and one grandson.

LAWRENCE CALLAHAN

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Moore Chapel of the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home will make service arrangements for Lawrence Callahan, 37, of 3437 Auburn Rd., who died suddenly this morning.

WALTER H. HOEHN

ROCHESTER — Service will be held 1 p.m. Tuesday at the William R. Potere Funeral Home for Walter H. Hoehn, 59, of 360 Charles Rd., who died this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital following a brief illness.

Burial will take place in White Chapel Cemetery. Surviving are three sons, Walter, Jr., of Livonia; William of Utica and Paul of Southgate; and one daughter, Mrs. Francis Arnold of Rochester; nine grandchildren, three brothers and three sisters.

ALFRED G. PETERS

ROME — Roth's Home for Funerals will handle service for Alfred G. Peters, 23, of 7200 Romeo Plank Road, who died early today. Arrangements will be announced Monday.

Deaths Elsewhere

LONDON (AP)—Major Gen. Thomas Syford Rees, 55, leader of British and Indian troops in World War II, died Thursday night. The cause of death was not announced.

TORONTO (AP)—Arturo Scotti, 49, editor-in-chief of the Italian language newspaper Corriere Canadese (Canadian Courier), died Friday. He was a native of Monza, Italy.

Good Mail Plan at Three Rivers

Idea With Advantages Over Others Studied More Than 2 Years

THREE RIVERS (UPI)—The Three Rivers Commercial says a mail plan for downtown Three Rivers has the advantages of mails in other cities and eliminates the chief disadvantage.

In a front page editorial this week, the daily newspaper said the City Planning Commission and other residents including some merchants have been studying a downtown mail plan for Three Rivers more than two years.

Similar to mails now in operation in Toledo and Kalamazoo, the Three Rivers mail plan calls for closing a section of the main street through the city and rerouting traffic one way around the area.

"We were talking about this more than four months before I ever heard of the Kalamazoo plan," one Planning Commission member was quoted as saying.

The newspaper said the Three Rivers plan would give the mail advantages—beautifully mail street and eliminate noisy through traffic—but at the same time improve the parking situation in the area.

Creating a parking problem with the loss of on-street parking has been the major complaint of mail operations at Toledo and Kalamazoo, the newspaper said.

But the Three Rivers plan would up parking from the present 54 spaces to 111 spaces in the same area, it said.

Two Injured Slightly in Waterford Crash

The daughter of Rochester Police Chief and a nurse at Pontiac General Hospital escaped serious injury when their car collided with a gravel truck yesterday.

Waterford Township Police said Barbara Howlett, 23, of 277 Romeo Rd., Rochester, and Mrs. Carol Smelser, 22, of 8 Miller St., Pontiac, suffered only minor scratches.

Both were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. The Rochester woman attempted to turn left in front of an oncoming dump truck on Williams Lake road at Gale road, Police said. The car was a total wreck, said Police.

Driver of the truck was Victor L. Robiadek, 32, of 6501 Pontiac Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

Three persons were injured slightly last night in a two-car accident at the intersection of Parke and Cottage streets.

Treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released were Angie Romeo, 32, 400 Third St.; Ann Grant, 43, 400 Fourth St.; and Shirley Grant, 20, 490 Fourth St.

The accident occurred when their auto, driven by Shirley Grant and traveling north on Parke, collided with one driven by Karl L. Zrnich, 16, 111 Center St.

Bouncing Betty Booms Her New Philosophy

By EARL WILSON

I just had a few million words with Betty Hutton. She regretted being brief, but she was busy. Betty admitted that there's one man who could handle a girl with her delicateness and shyness—Khrushchev.

"Honey, I find most men are nothing," Betty shrieked at me—rather pointedly, too—up in her suite.

"So I'm startin' to live now from inside. I'm gettin' my kicks from my church. I only want to do good things for people."

Betty had hopped up on my knees, facing me. Betty's friendly when you interview her. True, there were four other people present.

"I've become mature for the first time in my life — hell of a thing to be saying at 38," Betty laughed. "But I'm not going to wheel and deal. I back up from nobody. Why, a fellow was here today to interview me—and he almost clipped me."

Betty has shed three husbands, all talented fellows, on her way to maturity.

"With this TV schedule, a girl ain't got time for love," Betty whooped. "A girl ain't got time to go to the powder room. What do you mean I don't work Saturdays and Sundays? Sure I don't. I have 18 writers there. I haven't been outdoors in so long."

Betty was unfortunately off my lap now. She was vooming and zooming, answering doorbells, looking at her laundered lingerie and giving an interview over her shoulder.

"I work back to back with me," Betty announced — to which I said "Huh?"

"Do two shows a week! The pastor of my church (the Beverly Hills Lutheran) comes to my studio every other day. The crew yells 'Hi Pastor!' You should have seen my cotton-pickin' house when the Sunday school kids came over to do the Easter show. The pastor said 'Why shouldn't a church show be as good as one in Vegas?'"

"Well, honey, the parents were raising hell because I was so tough on the kids. I wouldn't let 'em up."

"That little crippled girl walked so firmly, and that stuttering boy spoke up brilliantly. The parents were so proud."

Betty confided that her pastor's advice is always with her in the madness of Madison Av. "When you look at a person and you're in doubt, think of God, and their eyes will soften."

Betty had decided that her new series had to be on at 8 p.m.—a choice time—to which Abe Lastfogel, the big agent, said: "You out of your cotton-pickin' mind?"

Next scene: They tell Betty that some prospective sponsors in Battle Creek are looking at the pilot film. "Echo me again!" yelled Betty. "You say Battle Creek? That's where I was born. We're in!"

And she was: CBS 8 p.m., N.Y. time. "My church again," Betty nodded significantly.

"Doing things for people," she said, "is the only thing I get a charge out of. God has given me so much knowledge."

"What if you get tired of TV?" I asked Betty.

"I guess I can always cut out," Betty said with a smile, "and just teach Sunday school."

Quiz Removal Brings Shock

Producer Claims That Honest Shows Suffer Because of Phonies

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am stunned. Honest programs are taking the rap because there have been phony ones."

This was the reaction Friday of Walt Framer, independent producer of "The Big Pay-Off," one of the television quiz shows to be dropped by the Columbia Broadcasting System in the wake of disclosures that some top TV quizzes were fixed.

Framer's statement followed an announcement in New Orleans by CBS President Frank Stanton that his network is eliminating all TV shows involving awards of big money or expensive prizes.

Stanton identified the shows to be canceled as "The Big Pay-Off," "Top Dollar," and "Name That Tune."

Since last year CBS has abandoned "Dotto," "The $64,000 Question," and "The $64,000 Challenge," and "For Love or Money."

NBC had no comment on the Stanton announcement, made before a meeting of radio and TV news directors.

ABC has none.

The American Broadcasting Co. said it had no shows in the quiz category. It said its audience participation shows consisted of stunts, music and comedy.

The House Investigating subcommittee, which has been concentrating on NBC's "Twenty-One" and other NBC quiz programs no longer on the air, is in recess until Nov. 2.

Charles Van Doren, Columbia University English instructor and winner of $129,000 on "Twenty-One," is under subpoena to testify when hearings are resumed.

Van Doren has said he was not coached on the "Twenty-One" show.

CBS shows not mentioned by Stanton, and apparently to be retained, are "What's My Line," "I've Got a Secret," "To Tell the Truth," and "G.E. College Bowl."

A contestant can win only $30 on "What's My Line." "To Tell the Truth" pays those who stump the panel a maximum of $1,000 to be divided among three persons.

"I've Got a Secret" is a panel show in which a prize of only $80 is involved.

"G.E. College Bowl" sends up to $1,500 to the college represented by a victorious team of students.

Four persons were injured last night when their car jumped over the curb on Baldwin avenue, hitting a parked car and two gas station signs.

The driver, William Green, 24, of 18 Fairgrove Ave., and Sheila Rice, 23, of Detroit, were admitted for treatment at Pontiac General Hospital. Both men were reported in satisfactory condition.

Green suffered a head injury and Rice severe face cuts.

Judy Hill, 18, and Ralph L. Allison, 20, both of Detroit, were treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General and released.

Witnesses told Pontiac police that the car was traveling south on Baldwin when it jumped the curb at Brockman's Standard service station, 1019 Baldwin Ave.

Jobless Total to Grow

Auto Layoffs Top 60,000

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto industry layoffs due to the steel strike topped the 60,000 mark today and more were scheduled for next week.

General Motors, hardest hit by steel shortages, estimated its layoffs nationwide at 60,000 as of Friday.

In St. Louis, Chevrolet and Fisher Body Division officials said they would have to send home 4,500 production workers Monday. And other Chevrolet and Fisher plants at Atlanta planned to lay off about 2,350 workers Monday and another 445 Tuesday.

Ford has not yet reported any layoffs or production cutbacks.

Chrysler Corp. laid off 300 men at a suburban Detroit plant this week and announced all its plants will work five days next week, except the Imperial plant at Dearborn, which will be closed Monday because of steel shortages.

Michigan was hardest hit by the auto layoffs. The State Employment Security Commission reported that unemployment in the state due to the steel strike will reach 58,000 by the end of this month, most of the idled workers being in the auto industry.

The commission said 32,000 Michigan workers were out of work as of Friday, due to the strike, not including the 22,000 steel workers on strike in this state.

The commission said the jobless totals for Michigan will grow for about a month after the steel strike ends because it will take that long to build up steel supplies.

Buckingham Guards Retreat Behind Bars

LONDON (AP)—The Buckingham Palace guards carried out their strategic withdrawal quietly and with chins firm today.

They retreated to a safe position behind bars—to get away from the close-range fire of ill-mannered tourists, camera fans, publicity-seeking film stars and jeering small boys.

For the last 100 years, the elite guardsmen—those chaps in bright red coats and big bearskin hats (you can't see their eyes)—paced their sentry posts outside the railings in front of the palace.

Now, under orders from the War Office, they have pulled back 50 yards inside the railings and are only one yard in front of the palace itself.

Will the marching disturb the royal family?

To deaden the sound of the sentries' boots, four new strips of asphalt have been laid immediately in front of the palace. The guards will pace 17 steps instead of the 21 they marched outside the railings.

The War Office ordered the retreat because, in recent months, harassment by tourists became too much.

In one incident last summer, a guardsman who couldn't stand it any longer kicked an American woman on the shin. (He was confined to barracks although nobody ever admitted that was the reason.)

And who will guard the palace gates now?

The London police, same as before.
