Cold Winds Hurling Way Into Michigan

Heavy Snows to Fall Up North; Freezing Here

Gale Warnings Go Up on Great Lakes With 40 M.P.H. Blow

By The Associated Press

Much colder snowy weather, driven by winds up to 40 miles an hour, blew into Michigan today—abruptly snapping off mild fall weather that had prevailed over most of the almost snowless state.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for the northern Lower Peninsula and all of the Upper Peninsula.

Temperatures were expected to skid into the 24-30 range in the state's southernmost counties tonight and get no higher than an even-freezing 32 anywhere tomorrow.

Gale warnings were up on the Great Lakes as the snow-filled cold snap blew in from the northwest in which a Yukon-born blizzard dropped six to eight inches of snow and knocked temperatures down as much as 40 degrees in half an hour yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau's snow warning for Michigan's upstate Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula said four inches or more could be expected today and tonight.

Snow fell heavily in some spots in Michigan overnight. Houghton, high on the Keweenah Peninsula jutting into Lake Superior, got four inches between 11 o'clock last night and 6 a.m.

Mount Pleasant, in the middle of the Lower Peninsula, had two inches by 9 a.m. A light snow was on the ground and more falling at Marquette at 8 a.m.

Some areas, including downstate Detroit and Benton Harbor, got their first snow of the season yesterday. But in the south still-warm pavements melted it as it fell.

★ ★ ★

A deep freeze moved in last night. A low of 11 was recorded at Grand Marais, and it got down to 10 at Sault Ste. Marie, Gladwin and Oscoda. A low range or 16 to 22 is the outlook tonight in the Upper Peninsula; 20 to 26 in the northern Lower Peninsula and 24 to 30 in the south.

While the forecast was enough to chill some, it brought cheer to Michigan skiing enthusiasts and resort operators.

Houghton's four inches today compared with a normal foot or so at this date and with 22 inches aground in 1950, when it started

U.S. Army Moves Quickly to Forestall East Germans

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

BERLIN — The U.S. Army moved quickly today to forestall threatened Communist East German attempts to regulate Allied traffic to Berlin.

It ordered American drivers to turn back rather than submit to such control.

The order was issued to make it impossible for the East Germans to trick an unsuspecting American into allowing an East German, rather than a Soviet officer, to handle his travel orders or other documents.

Spokesmen for the U. S. Army's Berlin command said the order was an old one, but that it was being re-published now.

This move was taken after a command conference here and in view of announced Soviet plans to transfer control of Allied traffic to and from isolated Berlin to the East German regime.

The United States, Britain and France do not recognize East Germany as a sovereign state, and refuse to accept that the East Germans have any right to interfere with official Allied traffic to free Berlin.

The U. S. Army order was believed to have been passed on as part of the standing orders to Americans manning checkpoints at the edge of West Berlin and just inside East Germany.

East German Communist boss Walter Ulbright, today said his regime is prepared to negotiate with the Allies about their access to isolated West Berlin.

Ulbright's declaration bore out

100 Autos Crack Up in LA Smog

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — More than 100 autos were involved in crashes yesterday when a thick fog bank and dense smog combined to reduce visibility to less than half a mile.

One person was killed and 110 others injured in the traffic accidents.

More smog was predicted for today.

Most of the traffic mishaps occurred early in the day when the fog was at its worst. But as the day progressed smog became worse and added to motorists' troubles by causing their eyes to water.

Many office workers stayed in their air-conditioned buildings during the lunch hour rather than face the eye-irritating blanket of dirty air which shrouded the basin area.

★ ★ ★

Air pollution control district workers, besieged by hundreds of calls from irate residents, explained the fog acted as a lid over the basin, preventing smog-causing air pollutants from escaping.

Court Blocks Airline Strike in Last Hour

Temporary Order Halts American Walkout Over Thanksgiving

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An 11th-hour court order blocked a pilots' strike at American Airlines and prevented the Thanksgiving holiday air travel crisis from becoming worse. Two other airlines are paralyzed by strikes.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. had threatened to strike American at midnight. Federal Judge Frederick V. P. Bryan issued a temporary restraining order Monday night enjoining the walkout.

Eastern Air Lines, the country's largest air passenger carrier, shut down operations Monday as flight engineers and mechanics went out.

★ ★ ★

Trans World Airlines has been struck by 6,700 machinists since Friday.

The strike at Eastern sent holiday travelers rushing for alternate accommodations.

Other airlines were expanding their schedules and railroads added facilities to handle the Thanksgiving Day throngs. But it appeared that thousands of students, servicemen and others would not get home.

Judge Bryan's order required the pilots association to show cause by Friday why it should not be enjoined from striking. If sufficient cause is not shown, the order remains in effect while negotiations continue on the association's demands for higher pay, a shorter work schedule and other rule changes.

American asked for the restraining order on the grounds that a walkout by its 1,500 pilots would violate Railway Labor Act requirements for mediation and other compulsory "cooling off" measures.

The association argued it had fulfilled all such requirements.

About 7,500 Eastern employes stopped work, and both sides prepared for what they predicted would be a long strike. A company spokesman expressed doubt that it would be settled by Christmas.

Meanwhile, Capital Airlines said it would return to normal operations by today. A machinists' strike at Capital more than a month ago has been settled.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad said the line has been carrying extra equipment since the Capital strike.

Eastern serves 124 cities in 25 states, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Bermuda. Neither party to the strike has reported any move to straighten out contract differences that touched off the strike.

City Commission Gets 1959 Budget Tonight

A 1959 operating budget, higher than last year's but designed to keep the Pontiac city property tax rate at 13.27 mills, will be proposed to the City Commission tonight by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

The city has until Jan. 31 to adopt next year's budget. The 1958 operating budget was $5,683,595.

If the administration's budget plans are not upset, Willman said, the rate of $13.27 for every $1,000 assessed valuation could be maintained for the second year.

The 13.27 mills represents the city's lowest tax rate since 1949. It was accomplished this year when commissioners trimmed 43 cents off the $13.70 rate that was in effect for four years.

In a budget message prepared for tonight, Willman was expected to predict normal increases in 1959 operating costs and a corresponding increase in property assessments.

The City Manager declined to detail the budget figures until after the commission receives his proposals tonight.

He said the proposals call for "a balanced budget, designed to maintain existing services, a reasonable capital improvement program and financial commitments to the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program."

To be offered separately from the operating budget will be budgets for the sewage treatment plant and the water department, which operate on their own revenues.

Included in the budget are provisions to pay from capital improvement funds the 1959 installment of the $950,000 which the city pledged to hospital construction last year. The installment amounts to $317,000.

Still undecided, Willman said, is how the city will meet extra repair costs in the east wing of the hospital.

Willman said the city is still attempting to reach an accurate estimate of the cost of the repairs and a plan whereby the extra money can be found.

Willman indicated the city plans to handle the repair costs outside of the city's operating budget, but believed a decision on them would have to be reached before the 1959 budget is adopted. Contractors figured the repair costs would reach $500,000, but local officials predict they will be lower.

Also still unsettled is the 1959 working agreement with city employes. Willman believed negotiations would be concluded next month.

Cloudy, Windy, Cold With Snow on Way

Cloudy, windy and turning colder, with rain tonight changing to snow flurries tomorrow is the weatherman's prediction for the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will dip to near 28 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday's high will be a freezing 32. Partly cloudy and cold with scattered snow flurries is the outlook for Thursday. Gale warnings are up on the Great Lakes.

This morning's 15-25 mile an hour winds are expected to become westerly at 35-50 miles tonight, with rain changing to snow.

Drivers Urged to Use Caution During Holiday

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has urged all motorists to exercise special caution during the Thanksgiving weekend in view of a "disturbing upturn in highway accident deaths."

Two weeks ago the governor proclaimed Nov. 16 as Traffic Safety Sunday in Michigan. Ironically, 31 persons were killed on the road that weekend—the worst weekend toll since Christmas of 1955 when 48 died.

Highway deaths in November are running 16 above the figure for the same period of 1957.

"This," Williams said yesterday "indicates motorists are relaxing their caution. If this trend continues, Thanksgiving may be a tragic holiday."

Total $584,568 Given, Pledged in Pontiac Area

Workers Hear Report on Mark-Cracking Success at Victory Luncheon

The Pontiac Area United Fund drive is over the top, with 116.5 per cent of its $501,000 goal raised.

Campaign chairman Philip J. Monaghan told workers attending a victory luncheon at noon today at the Elks Temple that $584,568 has been pledged or received.

"I'm extremely proud of the fine job registered by the 4,500 volunteer workers for the 55 community service agencies—this represents the best job they have ever done," said Monaghan.

An overflow crowd of 500 volunteer workers attending the luncheon cheered the 1958 campaign chairman as he disclosed the final figure.

Final returns from the Industrial Division under S. E. Knudsen, pushed this year's campaign far over its goal, according to Monaghan.

★ ★ ★

In spite of lower employment, Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body, GMC Truck & Coach and many of the smaller industrial firms managed to boost the average pledge and employe participation in their in-plant solicitations.

The Industrial Division raised a total of $372,346.94.

Included in today's Industrial Division report, announced by George Watson, Pontiac Manufacturers' Assn. Plants Chairman, were the final returns from the employes of Pontiac Motor Division. They pledged $116,035.

The General Motors Division is the largest single source of contributions in the area, and its employes have maintained an increasingly successful record of giving during the ten-year history of the Pontiac Area United Fund campaigns.

PRAISES EFFORTS

William Brace, plant chairman at Pontiac Motor received special recognition from Watson for "a difficult job well done."

Watson praised the fine efforts of the 1,700 foremen and supervisors in industrial plants in the Pontiac area whose jobs prevent-

Telegraph Crash Claims 4th Life

Owosso Woman, 42, Dies Today Following Saturday's Injuries

A three-car smashup which occurred on Telegraph road Saturday claimed its fourth life this morning.

One of the seven victims, Mrs. Lorraine Frazer, 42, of 728 W. Main St., Owosso, died at 10:20 a.m. after remaining on the critical list at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital since Saturday.

She had suffered head and rib injuries. Her husband, Edward, 49, and Mrs. Rose Gewirtz, 62, of Chesaning, still remained in critical condition, said the hospital.

The collision had previously claimed the lives of a Redford couple and an elderly Owosso woman. The accident took place at Kemper St. and Telegraph, in Bloomfield Township, less than a mile south of Orchard Lake Rd.

Only one of the injured escaped without serious injuries. She was Mrs. Mollie Kent, 72, of Owosso, who was treated and released from the hospital. The driver of the third car, a Pontiac woman, was uninjured.

This marked the first traffic mishap in Oakland County this year in which more than three persons died. Two other accidents, one in May and the other July, each took three lives.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A turn for the worse was reported today in the condition of Charles F. Kettering, famed automotive inventor and engineer. His condition now is serious. He is in a coma.

Dr. G. Douglas Talbott issued a bulletin which indicated the 82-year-old Kettering has suffered a second and more severe stroke. Kettering suffered a light stroke Sunday.

Dr. Talbot said "We are using all medical treatments available" for the aged "Boss Ket" whose ideas, inventions and improvements have had a profound effect on a dozen industries.

At first it was understood that Kettering, developer of the first successful self-starter, had suffered a coronary attack. Dr. Talbott said later that an electro-cardiogram indicated the heart and blood pressure are good.

Michigan Sinks Deeper Into Financial Quagmire

State Welfare Funds May Be Gone by Spring

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—Slowly but surely, the state was continuing today to sink deeper into a financial quagmire.

An informal survey showed that the state treasury already has fallen 30 million dollars in arrears of obligations for education, and that poor relief funds may run out in March or April.

The debt to schools probably will grow in mid-December, it appeared, and up to 15 million dollars might be required to replenish the welfare kitty.

A momentary bright spot appeared in the picture yesterday with the disclosure that a delinquent November installment of $5,600,000 due three universities possibly will be paid later this week.

In October and again in early November the state passed up one twelfth installments of annual appropriations payable to the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

MSU and U. of M. authorities have approved borrowings from banks if necessary to meet payrolls. These might be postponed if the state can come through soon with part of its delinquency.

DECISION NEAR

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said a decision will be made in a day or two.

Besides being behind $11,200,000 to the three universities, the state held back a total of 18 million dollars from school aid distributions aggregating 68 millions that fell due in August and October.

State officials said the Dec. 15 school aid payment that ordinarily would run 34 million dollars probably will be held down to 25 millions because of the state's cash shortage.

W. F. Maxey, state social welfare director, said the way the general assistance caseload has been soaring his 52 million dollar 1958-59 appropriation may run as much as 12 to 15 million dollars short of needs.

Welfare cases jumped 5,000 in October, reaching a level of 40,000. In preparing his budget last March, Maxey figured on 31,000 general assistance cases.

"The lowest we have had this fiscal year was about 32,000 in August," he said.

COULD PAY ALL

Maxey's big fear was that if relief cases continue to climb in Detroit—they went up 2,900 in October—the state may have to pay the entire shot starting in February.

Under existing law, the state foots a minimum of 30 per cent of each county's monthly welfare bill—but the proportion shoots to 100 per cent after the input of locally raised tax monies reaches a specified level for the year governed by statutory formula.

The state now is picking up the entire bill for welfare payments in nine counties—Alger, Antrim, Muskegon, Crawford, Gogebic, Houghton, Kalkaska, Luce and Schoolcraft. It has been paying at 100 per cent in Muskegon County, where unemployment has been heavy, since August.

★ ★ ★

Because the fiscal and calendar years coincide in outstate counties, the state-local proportion reverts to normal Jan. 1 — but Detroit would have to be carried at 100 per cent through June 30.

As to the school aid delinquency, there is a question, with sales tax receipts sagging, whether the state is legally obliged to pay out the aid formula at 100 per cent.

However, the legislature expressed its intent to do so last spring when the formula bill was passed.

UP ON OTHER OBLIGATIONS

Aside from failing to keep up payments for education, State Controller James W. Miller said, the state has been keeping current on virtually all other obligations.

If welfare funds run out, as feared by Maxey, the 1959 legislature will have to vote a big supplemental appropriation at a time when the state treasury will be hard pinched and under heavy pressure.

Nixon Flies Safely to England

Plane Circles 1 Hour in Fog

Begins Four-Day Visit With Pledge That West Will Stay in Berlin

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Vice President landed in England today after an anxious hour during which his special plane circled the fog-bound London area.

★ ★ ★

The fog, one of Britain's worst in some time, had closed in the London Airport during the night. At one time Nixon's pilot radioed he would divert to Frankfurt, Germany, but the slow lifting of the mist in some parts of the London area made this unnecessary.

Nixon began his four-day visit to Britain today with a pledge that the West will stay in Berlin.

Nixon warned against a policy of "rewarding aggression" through appeasement either in Berlin or the Formosa Strait.

His speech was prepared for delivery at a luncheon of the Pilgrims' Society, an influential British-American friendship organization.

Nixon came to Britain to represent President Eisenhower at the dedication Wednesday of the American Memorial Chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral. Awaiting him was a crowded four-day schedule.

As Nixon walked through the Gatwick terminal building, he called out to a crowd of airport workers gathered to see him: "I had a fine trip—a beautiful airport. I am just admiring it."

Gatwick is the huge, new airport constructed as an alternate for London's overcrowded air terminal.

Mrs. Nixon said the fog and the diversion of the plane were "sort of fun." She said she and the vice president lived in Los Angeles and were "very familiar with fog, particularly in the morning."

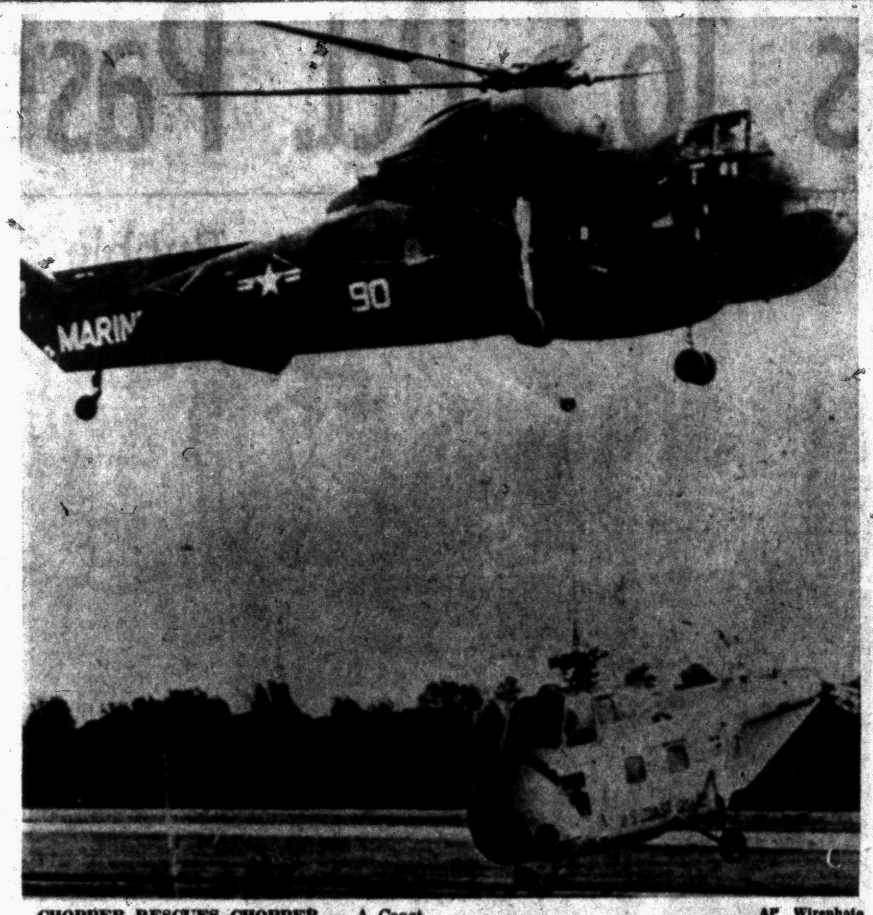

Nixon commented: "It makes us feel at home."

In an arrival statement, Nixon said Eisenhower had asked him to "extend his warmest greetings and best wishes to the people of Britain, for whom he has such a deep personal affection."

"The friendship and alliance which we enjoy," he continued, "has never been more important than now when the common heritage and great principles which we share are threatened in so many parts of the world.

"We together share an unshakable belief in the principles of peace with honor, justice and dignity of the individual. I am convinced that we will continue to maintain our close relationships as we jointly pursue these goals."

Alaskans Cast Ballots Today

Brave Snow and Cold to Vote in 1st Election Since Becoming State

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Paths to many of the 287 precincts were spread with fresh snow and it was near zero in much of the Northern territory today as eager Alaskans voted in their first state election.

Upwards of 40,000 were expected to brave the weather to cast ballots.

About 60,000, including those 19 and 20 years old, were eligible to vote out of a population of some 210,000.

Being chosen are two new United States senators, a congressman, governor and 60 members of the first Alaska Legislature.

The territory will become the 49th and largest state in December or January after the election has been certified and a presidential proclamation issued.

★ ★ ★

This election will increase the permanent membership of the Senate to 98 and raise House membership to 436.

Democrats already had an edge of 62-34 in the U.S. Senate and 282-153 in the House and were likely to add to the margin here today.

Democrats held a commanding majority in the 1957 Territorial Legislature of 21-3 in the House and 11-5 in the Senate and were expected to win by about the same margin in the new state setup of 20 senators and 40 representatives.

VICTORY LIKELY

The campaign has drawn well-known political figures from the States. Among those touring the territory were Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Interior Secretary Fred M. Seaton and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

The other Senate race appeared a tossup between Republican Mike Stepovich, 39, and Democrat Ernest Gruening, 71. Both are former appointive governors.

★ ★ ★

Democrat Ralph Rivers, 55, was slightly favored over Republican Henry Benson, 48, in the congressional race.

William Egan, 44, the Democratic candidate for governor, also appeared ahead in his race against John Butrovich Jr., 48.

The terms of the two new senators will be set at two, four or six years by the Senate when the Alaskans are seated next year.

One will serve a shorter term than the other, but it will not be known until January who the short-term senator will be.

The governor will serve a term ending in 1962.

Break-Ins, Larcenies Reported to Police

Several break-ins and larcenies were reported to Pontiac Police Monday.

Officers succeeded in recovering stolen property reported by Mrs. Paul Palace, of 15 W. Howard St., through a preliminary search of the area.

Mrs. Palace told police someone had entered her home and taken a purse containing $55 cash and miscellaneous jewelry. Officers found the purse and its contents behind a church at 347 N. Perry St., several hours later.

★ ★ ★

The coin box was removed from an automatic washer in an apartment house at 313 S. Paddock St., police reported. The box was valued at $16 and contained about $2 cash.

Police also reported that someone broke into the maintenance building at Lake Street Housing, 535 Branch St., taking an electric drill, screw driver, and jackknife valued at $25.

Also broken into was Rodgers Standard Service, 304 N. Johnson St., said police. A candy machine was reported stolen plus an estimated $3 cash from another vending machine.

The Day in Birmingham

Lake Park Drive Drain on City Agenda Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — Another attempt to eliminate the problem of standing water on Lake Park drive will be made soon, Birmingham city commissioners decided last night.

A drainage system project, tabled last summer, it will be discussed at a public hearing Dec. 15.

Commissioners also sought a solution to the problem of opening of Fairway avenue between Pleasant and Ardmore street. D. H. MacAdam Jr., who owns a lot on Fairway, has asked that either the street be opened or an access drive be constructed across the West Lincoln well property.

City Manager L. R. Gare said that although the Fairway opening had failed to get approval several times in the past, he feels it is the proper solution to McAdams' problem.

★ ★ ★

Gare said area residents who have opposed the project in the past might be more receptive to the idea now that the area has been further developed.

HEARING SET

A hearing to determine whether a special assessment district should be set up for the project will be held Dec. 15.

James Howlett, city attorney, told commissioners he has contacted the Department of Internal Revenue in Washington concerning income tax deductions for monies paid on parking lot assessments.

He had been directed by the Commission to find out if a recent tax ruling in Bismarck, N. D., permitting such deduction, could also apply in Birmingham.

The Birmingham Recreation Board today announced that the artificial ice rink at Eton Park will be open from 5 to 7 p.m. Thanksgiving day for the first time this fall. No admission will be charged.

Skating lessons again will be given this year. Registration deadline is 4 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Municipal Building.

Robert Girardin, recreation director, said Friday is the final day for boys between 13 and 17 years of age to sign up for junior and intermediate hockey leagues.

Tryouts for teams will be held the morning of Dec. 6.

Saturday and Sunday will mark the opening performance of the children's play, "The Broken Doll," by members of the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater.

The play will be presented as part of the open house program prior to the winter season's beginning Dec. 3.

The special children's program will be presented at 2, 4 and 6 p.m.

The nine plants included in the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn. raised $242,277. The Division's General Manufacturers group, headed by Owen J. O'Neill, raised $5,100 to surpass its target figure of $4,000.

Firm gifts from the nine PMA plants totaled $124,959.64.

The Commercial Division, chairmaned by Judge Clark J. Adams and Berkley Voss, raised $165,452 or 92.2 per cent of its $178,971 quota. However, this year's total raised figure represents 101 per cent of the 1957 Commercial Division total, and is the largest amount ever raised by the Division in the ten-year history of the Fund.

Four of the division's ten groups reached their quotas. They are: Retail No. 1, chairmaned by Larry Payne; Finance chairmaned by Maurice Croteau; and Professional under the direction of James Jenkins and Lynn Allene Jr.

The door-to-door solicitors of the Women's Division, chairmaned by Mrs. Donald E. White reported collections totaling $24,869 or 119.6 per cent of their $20,790 quota.

The Pontiac solicitors under Mrs. Noel Buckner raised $15,151.04 or 124.2 per cent of their $17,196 quota. Mrs. Robert Giroux's Waterford women recorded $7,568.53 or 112.2 per cent of their $6,744 quota.

Likewise the workers on Lake Angelus under Mrs. J. S. Tuttle surpassed their $1,850 quota by 116.2 per cent with collections of $2,150.

Harry Hall, Oxford Campaign Chairman, reported his township raised $6,485 or 108 per cent of its $6,036 goal.

Oxford, along with Brandon, Independence and Orion townships became affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund last year. As a whole they raised 16 per cent more than last year.

Orion raised $6,483 toward a goal of $6,849. This is 47 per cent over the $4,403 raised by the township in 1957. Its Women's Division, under Mrs. Alfred Dacey went 10 per cent over its quota, and 140 per cent over the amount raised by its residential solicitors in 1957.

Merle Bennett, Independence Township campaign chairman, reported his township raised $5,410 toward its $6,978 goal which is 6 per cent better than it did in 1957.

Brandon's campaign Chairman George Marble, Jr. reported his workers raised $1,377 towards a goal of $2,390.

Pontiac had an added incentive to meet its goal, since it was the first city to conceive the concept of a United Fund campaign. This year's drive commemorated the tenth anniversary of united giving.

Earl A. Maxwell, personnel director at GMC Truck & Coach Division and Mrs. Donald E. White Women's Division chairman were presented with bronze plaques of special merit for their continued community service to the United Fund.

Leonard Lewis, Pontiac Area United Fund president, made the presentations.

John Riley, president of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, was the master of ceremonies at this noon's luncheon. It was sponsored by the Pontiac State Bank, Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union and GMTC Employees Federal Credit Union.

Small Nations Lead Effort

U.N. Compromise Sought for Outer Space Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An army of small nations pressed a last-ditch effort today to head off a Soviet boycott of a new U.N. committee to study peaceful use of outer space.

The compromise seekers hoped to get the United States and the Soviet Union together before the Assembly takes final action authorizing establishment of the new committee. But their chances of success appeared slight.

A parade of the smaller countries appealed for Soviet-American accord Monday night after the U.N.'s 81-nation Political Committee voted 54-9, with 18 abstentions, for a resolution sponsored by the United States and 19 other nations.

The resolution would create an 18-nation committee to do the groundwork for a permanent U.N. body to coordinate use of outer space for peaceful purposes.

The resolution nominates the Soviet Union, Poland and Czechoslovakia to the space committee, but the Soviets still disapproved of the lineup and announced they would boycott the group. The nine votes against the resolution came from the Soviet bloc.

Most of the abstainers were Asian or African nations.

★ ★ ★

The Political Committee rejected a last-minute proposal by India, Burma and the United Arab Republic. It would have brought the United States and the Soviet Union together again in private talks in an effort to reach an agreement on composition of the new committee.

Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said such talks at this time would be pointless and might only aggravate tension.

Despite the bleak prospect, Ireland, Mexico and several Asian nations appealed to East and West to make one more try at getting together.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union had insisted that the study group include three Soviet satellites as well as the Soviet Union. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said no progress would be made without the Soviet Union taking part. Zorin withdrew a Soviet resolution calling for an 11-nation committee, including four Western members, four Soviet bloc nations and three neutrals.

Plants Blow Up, One Man Killed

Another Man, Woman Critically Injured, Six Others Burnt, Cut

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP) — Demolition experts today cautiously sifted through a virtual mine field left by a searing blast that reduced two adjacent fireworks companies to rubble.

One man was killed Monday, another man and a woman were critically injured, and six others, including four firemen, were treated for burns and glass cuts.

The dead man, a 40-year employe of the Rockland Fireworks Co., was John Vizziello, 64, Boston.

In critical condition was Lewis Messere, 32, Randolph, one of the family of nine brothers who owned the firm, and Mrs. Emily (Magnussen) Morrell, 22, Randolph, who had gone to the plant looking for work.

Both were found amid the ruins severely burned and cut, most of their clothing blown from their bodies.

Countless unexploded percussion caps and aerial bombs were strewn for half a mile around the shattered plants.

Three thunderous explosions swept the 32-acre enclosure housing the Rockland and Bay State fireworks companies.

Damage was estimated by Plant General Manager John Messere at $100,000.

Printers Strike 9 Newspapers

Booth Dailies in State Halt Publication Today as Pickets Posted

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A strike of the International Typographical Union today prevented publication of Booth Newspapers, Inc. in eight Michigan cities.

★ ★ ★

In all, publication of nine Booth dailies was halted. Their combined circulation exceeds half a million. None is in Detroit.

The Grand Rapids Herald, only morning newspaper in the group, was struck last night and pickets the afternoon Grand Rapids Press.

Other Booth papers closed by the strike were: The Bay City Times, Ann Arbor News, Jackson Citizens Patriot, Flint Journal, Kalamazoo Gazette, Muskegon Chronicle and Saginaw News.

The Booth strikes brought to 12 the number of Michigan papers where ITU workers currently are on strike. The Ypsilanti Daily Press, Iron Mountain News and Escanaba Press are the other papers involved.

Carl Linder, international representative of the ITU from Des Moines, said the newspapers had offered no "acceptable contract" in four to five months of negotiations.

The Press and the Herald said in a statement last night that "for the first time since these newspapers were established we are forced to cease publication because of a strike."

"Our relations with the International Typographical Union extending over half a century in Grand Rapids heretofore had been friendly and cooperative. We deeply regret the breech which now interrupts the service of news and advertising . . .

"We have offered the union wages which are in excess of the national average for comparable newspapers. Our welfare policies have been models for the trade.

"The present break follows a period in which the union filed to negotiate in accordance with honored custom. They have persisted in demands which are far in excess of any settlement in the newspaper business."

Justice Finley Seeks Circuit Judge Post

Berkley Justice of the Peace Ralph F. Finley has announced that he will be a candidate for Oakland County circuit judge in next year's spring election.

Finley, 53, of 3347 Coolidge Rd., has served as justice for Berkley since 1953. Before that he was city attorney and a city representative on the Board of Supervisors.

The judicial candidate in the 1959 non-partisan balloting has been president of the Oakland County Judicial Assn., Berkley Chamber of Commerce, Berkley Exchange Club in 1940, alumni chapter of the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, and former director of the Boy Scout Executive Council.

Other judicial posts Finley has held include his appointment in 1928 as deputy clerk in the old Detroit Justice Court, and later in the Detroit Common Pleas Court.

Finley has lived in Berkley since 1938. He is married and has a son and daughter.

Oakland GOP Spent $35,561 on Election

The Republican Committee of Oakland County spent $35,561 for the Nov. 4 election campaign, according to a report submitted by Chad M. Ritchie, committee treasurer.

The Democratic Committee of Oakland County had not submitted its contribution-disbursement lists to Mrs. Mabel Child, county election clerk, at Monday's deadline for campaign expenses. These must be submitted 20 days after the general election.

All candidates must submit their expenses by the same time. There were still some delinquent accounts missing when Mrs. Child closed her office at 5 p.m. yesterday.

In Ritchie's report, it showed that during the year contributions totaling $76,557 had been made to the GOP county committee. There were 36 pages of contributors dating back to Jan. 6. The largest single contribution was $1,000.

Of the $76,000 total, the Republican State Finance Committee kicked in $9,500 to aid the GOP cause here.

Forms submitted to Mrs. Child showed that Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) spent $13,722 in winning a second term in Washington, while the man he conquered, Democrat Leslie H. Hudson, spent $9,077.

★ ★ ★

Hudson's figures were contained in an affidavit turned in by Mrs. Margaret G. McCall, treasurer of the "Hudson for Congress Committee."

Mrs. Child said Hudson would be required to also submit a personal campaign expense account, although Mrs. McCall said he had spent no money of his own.

Her statement listed donations, among others, to the Hudson cause of $5,500 from two congressional dinners in Pontiac, $1,500 from the Michigan Committee on Political Education (COPE), $500 from a "Committee for Good Government," $500 from the Democratic County Committee, $250 from the National Democratic Congressional Committee, and $100 from the Detroit Building Trades Council.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield's winning campaign was strengthened by three committees working toward his re-election in addition to contributions to himself.

Broomfield's total receipts from these four sources totaled $13,052.

The four sources received and spent the following amounts: Broomfield Congressional Campaign Committee, spent, $2,306, received $2,130; Broomfield for Congress Committee, spent, $4,980, received $5,000; Republican Committee of Oakland County for William S. Broomfield's Campaign for Congress, spent, $3,399, received, $3,500; Broomfield himself, spent, $3,037, received, $3,322.

Army Moving Fast to Forestall Reds

the belief of many observers that the immediate Communist aim is not to drive the Western Allies from Berlin but to force them into negotiations the Reds could propagandize as recognition of the East German regime.

At the same time Ulbright kept the record straight by asserting the Allies have no legal right to be in Berlin, that "there is . . . no legal basis for the presence of foreign occupation powers in Berlin."

But he said there is no reason to fear that the Communists will blockade the city because, as he put it, there exists the possibility of negotiations.

When the Russians carry out their threat to withdraw from the four-power occupation control of Berlin, one of their first acts is expected to be a transfer to the East Germans of control over the surface and air routes used by the Allies to supply their garrison in West Berlin.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government wants the Allies then to defy East German control with tank-guarded supply convoys. The Allies more likely will negotiate with the East Germans but only on the basis that they are agents of the Russians. In the Allied view, this would preserve their legal position of not recognizing the East German regime as a legitimate government.

Ulbright, first deputy premier of the East German government as well as first party secretary, made his statements in an interview with the London Daily Mail. It was published today by ADN, the official East German news agency.

Ulbright said he believed the Soviet note about the Berlin occupation will be delivered to the Western powers sometime this week. He gave no concrete clue as to how far the Soviet Union intends to go.

Cold Winds Hurling Way Into Michigan

snowing Nov. 1 and didn't quit for 52 days. In 1950-51 Houghton got a record 282.2 inch snowfall.

From Kansas City, a severe weather bulletin was issued by the weather bureau today for Michigan, the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Oklahoma and the Great Lakes area.

Coldest weather of the season and heavy snowfalls were reported as the blast of icy air, sweeping down from the Yukon district, fanned across the northwest Plains.

Temperatures dropped to zero during the night in northern Montana and cold wave warnings were in effect in North Dakota and Wyoming. The same warnings were issued for today and tonight southward through the plains as far as northwest Kansas.

Montana got the worst of the storm Monday. Winds up to 70 m.p.h. and snow up to 12 inches were reported as the storm battered most of the state. Schools were closed in most communities.

Cold weather moved into the Northeast and spread into the mid-Atlantic states. Temperatures dropped to freezing and below, and snow of more than 2 inches covered most of the northwestern slopes of the Appalachians.

Heat records for the date were set at Macon, Ga., with 81 degrees; Sarasota, Fla., with 89; Tampa, Fla., with 88; and Chattanooga, Tenn., with 75.

Coffee Break Blues

Good Way to Get Ulcer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One cup of coffee to a coffee break.

Any more and you may give yourself an ulcer.

"Discipline yourself a little bit and appreciate that the common things we do, if done to excess, can cause difficulty," said Dr. Robert W. Zollinger, head of surgery at Ohio State University.

Coffee, tea, alcohol, smoking and cola drinks stimulate the secretion of digestive acids, he said.

Too much acid: ulcer.

Dr. Zollinger told Louisville physicians that stomach acids also aggravate such conditions as pancreatitis or inflammation of the pancreas gland, source of certain powerful digestive juices.

Strongly Against FCC Censorship

Commissioner Points to Subtle Controls Over Radio, Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. A. M. Craven, a federal communications commissioner, said today FCC has long exercised a subtle form of censorship over radio and TV programing.

He said he is strenuously opposed to this.

★ ★ ★

Craven expressed his views in a lengthy dissent to a commission proposal to revise and simplify some of the forms filled out by applicants for new broadcasting stations and by stations seeking license renewal.

The forms require the applicant to state what percentage of his air time has been or will be devoted to various types of programs, such as religion, agriculture, news and sports.

Craven said that if the forms were to be revised, it would be a good time to get rid of these listings. He said they inevitably suggested what FCC wanted the station to handle in its daily programing.

The commission has always taken the position these categories were simply designed to serve as guideposts for the broadcast industry.

★ ★ ★

But Craven said the applicant filling out the forms "knows full well that his views are destined to be evaluated in the light of preconceived opinions of the regulating agency."

In general, he said, the commission "should leave the task of programing in the public interest exclusively to the licensee where it belongs as a matter of right and duty."

Death Knocks Twice, Sisters Taken Together

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Art Hall, of nearby Amherstburg, Ont., called his mother Sunday but got no answer. He wanted to tell her that her only living sister, Mrs. Isabel Meder, 74, who lived with him, was dead.

After failing to get an answer Hall decided to go to the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Hall, 80. When he arrived, he found his mother dead.

Phone Company Swamped With Suggestions

Bears Attacking Poles to Get Honey

LACONIA, N.H. (AP)—The New England Telephone Co.'s area wire chief stared at the stack of letters on his desk and murmured, "We've got a bear by the tail."

Ernest Goland has a problem that's stirring nationwide interest —and suggestions.

Two weeks ago the telephone company disclosed that black bears are wrecking 50 of its poles at Warren in a misguided search for honey.

★ ★ ★

The bears, apparently mistaking the noise of humming wires for that of beehives, stand on their hind legs and swat the poles. Some of the poles have been gouged out to a depth of three inches.

Details of the telephone company's troubles were spread across the nation and Canada in an Associated Press story.

Proposed solutions promptly poured in by letter and telephone. The company has received mail from points as far apart as Dartmouth, N.S., and Dallas, Tex.

Most of the letter writers suggested that the company sheath the poles with metal but the firm noted that linemen must sink their climbing spurs into the poles occasionally and climb them.

"Perhaps," mused Goland, "we could fit the poles with metal jackets and put zippers on the jackets so linemen could easily remove them."

★ ★ ★

A man from Pemberton, N.J., suggested dousing the poles in ammonia or attaching steel wool to them.

From Little Rock, Ark., came a suggestion that the company mix a batch of red pepper with just enough flour to make it stick to the poles.

A man in Gary, Ind., suggested that the bears aren't really looking for honey. "It's salt they're after," he wrote. His suggestion: Place salt at intervals to satisfy the bruins.

Turn your loss into profit, said a man in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. "Get permission," he advised, "to lasso or otherwise capture the bears and then sell or give them away to zoos, circuses or animal farms."

Both Age-Old Natural Foes

China Reds Claim Victory Over Flood and Drought

TOKYO (AP)—Red China claims it is winning a fight against two age old natural enemies—flood and drought.

Some Japanese observers believe the claims are well founded. Shozo Otani, a Japanese agricultural expert who recently returned from a visit to Communist China, says the mainland is becoming one of the world's leading agricultural nations "at a surprisingly speedy rate."

★ ★ ★

Red China's agricultural production this year, he said, will double that of last year.

An Indian Cabinet minister, Dr. Panka Panjabrao Deshmukh, who made a five-week tour of Red China and Japan, also reported that many of the things the Communists are saying about their "leap forward" campaign in agriculture appear to be true.

Elimination of weeds, greater use of fertilizer and liberal employment of insecticides are some of the factors in the increased production, he reported.

★ ★ ★

But he noted that the so-called volunteer workers employed in many agricultural projects are not paid.

Otani, a professor of agriculture and technology at Tokyo University, said the rapid agricultural development was greatly aided by irrigation and water control projects.

These projects are among the main subjects of the unceasing propaganda beamed by Peiping radio to extol the virtues of the Communist regime.

★ ★ ★

In a recent broadcast, Peiping said a giant shelter belt of trees more than 3,000 miles long will be completed in Kansu province this year.

"This will transform the dry climate of Kansu," add 1,600,000 acres to farmland and boost timber production, the radio said.

Teamsters' Movie Protests Hearings

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Teamsters Union has made a movie to protest recent hearings by the McClellan labor rackets committee.

It's a 33-minute film called "Trial by Committee." It consists o fexcerpts of testimony before the committee by Harold Gibbons, St. Louis vice president of the Teamsters, and James R. Hoffa, Teamsters president.

★ ★ ★

Edwin D. Dorsey, St. Louis Teamsters official, said, "We feel "Trial by Committee" . . . demonstrates the unfairness of the McClellan hearings. The tactics and statements of the committee members prove how these hearings are a threat to organized labor and the rights of citizens everywhere."

The picture is available to unions and organizations that request it.

Children's accidents, according to a report to the Canadian Medical Association, are most likely to occur on the afternoon of a warm day.

Soustelle Big in France Now

His New Party, UNR, Wins Victory in First Round of Voting

PARIS (AP)—Jacques Soustelle, a hatchet man who delighted in collecting scalps of governments under the Fourth Republic, now must find ways to make French cabinets more durable.

Soustelle is looming as one of the big men of the new National Assembly as a result of the extraordinary success of his new party, the Union for a New Republic (UNR), in the first round last Sunday of elections for a new Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The UNR got 17.6 per cent of the votes and elected 10 deputies. In runoff balloting next Sunday, the party is expected to roll its Assembly strength to well above 100 and perhaps as high as 150 deputies. It may well emerge as the biggest single group among the 546 Assembly members.

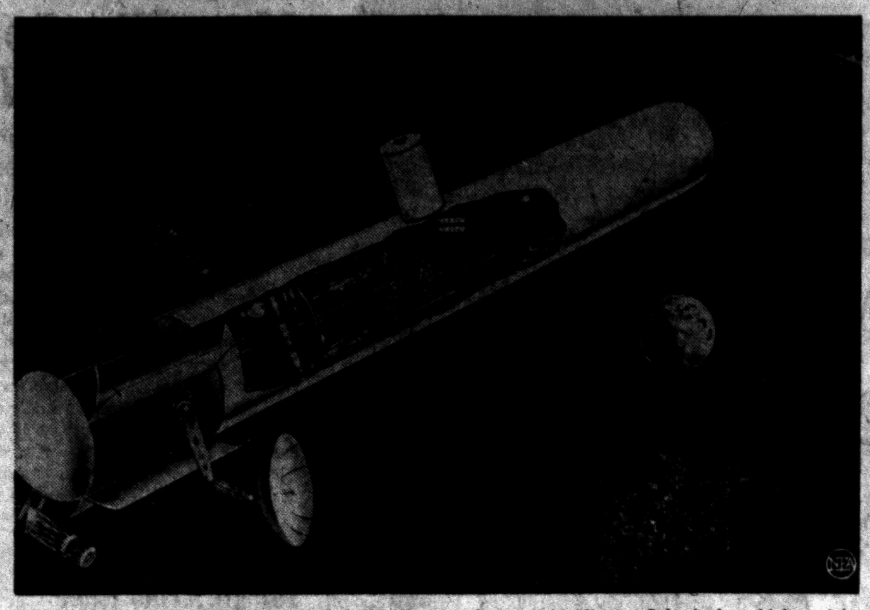

The UNR actually is a jerry-built coordinating committee for three separate smaller parties. It was put together for the elections and may fall apart after the voting is over. The only cohesive element is that all the founders are old-time supporters of Premier de Gaulle.

★ ★ ★

Some reports have said De Gaulle found the UNR surge a little embarrassing because of the faction's rightist tinge, especially on the critical Algerian issue. Soustelle and his cohorts are closely allied with the European settlers in Algeria, who are clamoring for all-out integration with France. De Gaulle has refused so far to endorse this idea and is reported to favor a solution linking the two areas on a federal basis.

★ ★ ★

One report was published that if De Gaulle is elected president — as is generally expected — he would prefer to avoid naming Soustelle premier. This report said the general might turn instead to Michel Debre, now justice minister, who had a big part in framing the new constitution. Debre is also a veteran Gaullist.

Leaders in Science Said Needed by U.S.

SOCORRO, N.M. (AP)—A leading American physicist says this country's main need is wise leadership in science "not just large numbers of technical people."

"Most of our high class technical people in industry today are working on things destructive," said Dr. Merle A. Tuve. "This is a mistake in public policy. We need more foreign aid in productive directions and less in weapons."

French Chef to Prepare Turkey

Queen, Nixons to Spend Thanksgiving Together

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth will eat her first American-style Thanksgiving dinner Thursday with Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon—but you wouldn't know it from the menu.

The main course is billed as "Dinde Norfolk Roti a L'Americain"—which roughly translated from the French means English turkey from the county of Norfolk, roasted American style.

And cooked by a French chef, at that. A French chef who has never done a Thanksgiving dinner before.

"Ah, but everything will be perfect," said Chef Auguste Cornefert, 58-year-old master of Ambassador John Hay Whitney's lavish kitchens. "It's not the first time I have cooked for the queen.

"I cooked for 16 years for Lady Nancy Astor, and Princess Elizabeth and her sister Margaret often came to the house.

"I first remember them 20 years ago when they came to tea."

★ ★ ★

That old-home-style "Dinde Norfolk Roti a L'Americain" will be one of the high spots of the Nixons' four-day visit to London starting today. They will be host and hostess to the Queen at the American embassy residence, heiress Barbara Hutton's former town house.

But I can reveal on good authority that there may be a moment of slight embarrassment shortly after the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and 60 other very high-ranking personages sit down at the festive spread in Winfield House.

For the first course is oyster soup—and neither the Queen nor her husband fancies oysters.

Royal Thanksgiving dinners being a highly unprecedented occasion, housewives may be interested in the program—and the preparation.

The turkeys come from the east Anglican county of Norfolk, which Britons claim to be the home of the world's finest and most tender birds.

As for the oyster soup, Chef Cornefert wanted to make oysters a la creme until Mrs. Whitney said no to the cream.

With the turkey there will be cranberry sauce and bread crumb dressing — "the French would have had chestnuts in it and the English, sausage, but Americans like bread crumbs," said the chef.

Peas and Pommes Croquettes—"they're sweet potatoes turned into croquets"—will be the vegetables.

"The dessert will be magnificent," aid bespectacled Cornefert, doffing his chef's cap.

"There will be petits fours in gold and white sugar baskets we have especially designed, and ice cream served in a hollowed out sugar swan," and, of course, mince and pumpkin pies.

He said white wine would be served with the soup, and champagne throughout the meal, with brandies and liquors afterwards.

★ ★ ★

The chef was busy supervising his kitchen staff in the polishing of silver for the forthcoming banquet but he took time out to talk turkey and the art of cooking, in which he has been employed for the past 41 years.

"I've never prepared an American Thanksgiving dinner before," he said in his private office at the ambassador's residence. But he's certain everything will turn out well.

Cost of Living Index Shows Little Change

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Labor Department report today was expected to show that living costs held just about steady last month.

Advance predictions were that the report, reflecting the consumer price level for October, would show little change from August and September.

The official index for August and September was 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average used as a base. At that level living costs were only a shade off the 123.9 peak set in July.

★ ★ ★

October prices for new cars and various goods and services were reported somewhat higher, but food was reported down a bit seasonally.

Worthless Check Sends Pontiac Man to Prison

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday handed down a sentence of from 1½ to 2 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson against William J. Kleine, a 36-year-old Pontiac man who pleaded guilty to passing a worthless $35 check in a Birmingham store.

Kleine, of 145 Chandler Ave., had issued worthless checks totaling $830 also, the Oakland County Probation Dept. reported.

Military Takes Over in Sudan's Upheaval

With the quiet overthrow of its civil government, the Sudan has now joined Pakistan, Burma and Thailand as a miltiary dictatorship.

Gen. IBRAHIM ABBOUD ousted the government of Premier KHALIL, canceled the constitution, dissolved parliament, abolished political parties, prohibited public meetings and suspended newspaper publication. The 58-year-old general justified his coup on the ground of corruption in the KHALIL government, which was regarded as pro-Western.

★ ★ ★

The infant Arab republic became independent over two years ago and has resisted all NASSER'S efforts at domination although a member of the United Arab Republic. On Sept. 30 the United States agreed to provide $15 million to aid the Sudan adjust its balance of payments and another $4.5 million in technical assistance. A military aid agreement was signed with Great Britain on Oct. 18—the first shipment of arms to be free of charge.

★ ★ ★

The overthrow came just as the Sudan seemed about to settle some of its disputes with Egypt over Nile River waters. Egyptian papers had been boasting of the settlement and Gen. Abboud, perhaps fearing that economic difficulties were pressuring Khalil into an agreement, felt it his duty to prevent it. The new regime will be judged by what it does to strengthen Sudanese independence and create stability.

★ ★ ★

In any case we cannot expect impoverished countries with low literacy to become Western style democracies overnight. There is no evidence yet that the coup was engineered by NASSER nor that he even was pleased with it.

Khrushchev's Proposal Doesn't Suit Germans

Communist leaders in East Germany have shown more sense than Moscow in putting the brakes on talk of Red troop withdrawals.

Premier KHRUSHCHEV told visiting Poles that four power rule should end and Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, should pass to Communist control. He would void the pact unilaterally. East Germany's Premier GROTEWOHL quickly added the proviso that this would depend on corresponding Allied withdrawals.

★ ★ ★

Both GROTEWOHL and KHRUSHCHEV know that we and our Allies would defend West Berlin as we did in the 1948-49 blockade. Since then West Germany has grown economically strong and is well armed. In any showdown the Communists would have to face Germans as well as Allied forces. American, British and French troops have every right to be in Berlin and the West German government wants them there.

★ ★ ★

KHRUSHCHEV'S motive in this new propaganda thrust, other than to impress Poland, is to force Western recognition of the East German Communist government. While it does call attention to the absurdity of the isolated position of West Berlin, Moscow well knows that if Russian troops were withdrawn from East Germany, its government wouldn't last overnight.

Necessary That GOP Starts Fight at Once

Professor PAUL BAGWELL becomes just that once once.

A good man is taking over a good job at East Lansing. Furthermore, he declares without equivocation that the Republican Party must start now to fight for the 1960 results. Otherwise, it's doomed.

That's for sure.

1958 proved it.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats started their 1958 battle the day the ballots were counted in 1956. The results were apparent. The GOP rested easily until the stretch run and then tried to sprint into first place. They never even came close to catching the distant Dems who has everything under control.

★ ★ ★

If we're going to have a two party race in 1960, the second party must start when the first one does.

SECOND thoughts are best in many ways, an important one of which is that they're safer.

"You'll Have to Speak to the Owner"

Regimes Not Likely to Fall

When Will West Recognize Reds?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now you see it, now you don't.

The United States gets itself into a spot that looks like a game of magic with its persistence in refusing to recognize the existence of Communist regimes which exist.

★ ★ ★

The latest example is with the East German Communists. Before that it was with the Chinese Communists.

The Red Chinese drove Chiang Kai-shek off the China mainland and to Formosa in 1949. The United States, allied with Chiang, has refused for nine years to recognize the Chinese Communists as the rulers of China.

There is no reason to think Chiang will ever get back to the mainland or that the Red Chinese regime will collapse, or change, in the foreseeable future.

But the United States refuses—officially—to recognize the Communist government in China.

Yet the United States has been forced to deal with the Red Chinese, first, starting in 1955, for the release of American prisoners they held. There were many meetings between American and Red Chinese representatives on this.

★ ★ ★

More lately in Warsaw the United States and Red China, through their diplomatic representatives, have been talking, so far fruitlessly, of some way to bring peace to the Formosa Strait area.

So, while we don't officially recognize the Red Chinese, we deal with them.

The same thing happened with the East German Communists. There is no doubt they've been puppets for their Soviet Communist masters. The United States has refused to recognize the East German Communist government.

But last summer this country had to negotiate with them for the release of nine U.S. Army men who accidentally landed their helicopter in East Germany. The men were released.

Now the Russians seem to be forcing this country into further dealings with the East German Reds, and on a far larger scale.

★ ★ ★

The Russians announced they plan to withdraw from East Berlin, leaving it in the hands of the East German Communists, and insist that the United States, Britain and France withdraw from West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

The three Western Allies refuse to get out. But what happens if the Russians withdraw? Berlin is 110 miles inside East Germany. The Allies and West Germans there can be supplied overland from West Germany but only on rails and roads that go through East Germany.

If the East Germans decide to blockade all such overland supply traffic, the Allies can hardly hope to send trains through, armored or otherwise, since the East Germans could block the rails with freight cars.

An Associated Press story from Berlin said the idea of pushing a tank-led supply convoy of trucks over the East German highway is even more "nightmarish."

The reason: Soviet military forces in East Germany, which overwhelmingly outnumber Atlantic Pact divisions in Europe, could cut the highway at any point.

★ ★ ★

Instead of trying to supply West Berlin overland, the Allies might try an airlift. That worked in 1948-49 when the Russians used a land blockade. But it worked only because the Russians let the Western planes through.

If now the East Germans, backed by the Russians, decided to shoot down any planes flying supplies to West Berlin through East German airways, the result would be unpleasant, to say the least.

★ ★ ★

The United States, Britain and France have been studying an alternative idea for accepting East German control of transportation to Berlin on a nonrecognition basis.

There is a limit, however, on how long the West can continue to do business with Red regimes whose existence the West continues to refuse to recognize.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God.—II Thess. 2:4.

★ ★ ★

God is the only sure foundation on which the mind can rest.—S. Irenaeus Prime.

The Country Parson

"If men are uneasy about life after death—you can't tell it by the way they drive."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Chewing Food Important to Digestion, Nutrition

From long study of the classical literature, from personal communications on the subject, and from confidential talks with good dentists I am convinced that pyorrhea is not primarily inflammation or infection of the gums or the lining of the tooth sockets, not sustentially flow or discharge of pus from the tooth sockets, not superficial or interstitial gingivitis, and not a disease at all; but degeneration of all the tissues concerned in mastication — gums, tooth sockets, jaw bones, muscles.

DR. BRADY

Receding gums, gingivitis (gum inflammation), flow of pus from tooth sockets, loosening of teeth, weak bite — these are all incidental in the progressive atrophy that inevitably occurs when the jaws are not used.

The function of mastication, which is an important part of the digestive process, is superfluous when we gulp or drink most of our calories in the form of refined carbohydrate.

In the FREE pamphlet Yankee Stomach, available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I explain why proper chewing (of food, not gum or tobacco) promotes good digestion and prevents or relieves uneasiness from fullness, bloating or heaviness after eating, heartburn, waterbrash, hyperacidity, hunger pain, belching etc.

Or, if you can't take time out from resting on your ischial tuberosities to send for the pamphlet, visit the public library and read what Howell's Textbook of Physiology says about the digestive action of ptyalin (p. 803). Ptyalin is the enzyme or ferment in the saliva, which converts starch into maltose and dextrose.

This part of digestion goes on while the food is being masticated and continues for nearly an hour after the food has been swallowed, provided, of course, the food has been sufficiently masticated.

If the food is gulped, that is, swallowed without chewing, the burden of digesting the starch in such food as gruel, mashed potato, doughnut dunked in coffee, toast dunked in tea or cornstarch pudding, is shifted to the pancreatic digestion (amylopsin in the pancreatic juice digests starch in the intestine) and this, I believe, is a contributing cause of diabetes.

Of course neglect, impairment or loss of the function of mastication insures malnutrition, nutritional deficiency, as we call it today. And that, children, is the pathology of pyorrhea.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Hospitalitis May Bankrupt U.S.

Notice Dr. Donato's challenging suggestion. Discuss it at your Women's Clubs and service men's luncheon meetings. For "hospitalitis" is going to bankrupt America if a little "horse sense" isn't used as a wholesome vaccine to protect the taxpayer.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z-380: Dr. Albert M. Donato, aged about 40, is one of the ablest obstetricians in the state of Indiana.

★ ★ ★

He and his charming wife were entertaining Mrs. Crane and me at their home earlier this year. Several other physicians and dentists were also present.

DR. CRANE

The conversation veered around to the congestion in our hospitals and the constant demand for money to build bigger and better hospitals.

"The suggestion has been raised," said Dr. Donato, "to add a $50 or possibly even $100 deductible clause to future hospital insurance policies.

★ ★ ★

"For so many people now go to the hospitals that the insurance companies often can't break even."

HOSPITALITIS

Dr. Donato has highlighted one of the most acute medical problems facing our country today.

For millions of people are becoming hypochondriacs or "worry warts" about their health.

And because they happen to have hospital insurance, they quickly deluge our hospitals, so literally we hardly have beds for acute surgical cases and women in childbirth.

Until the past two decades, very few Americans ever went to a hospital unless it was for obvious surgery.

Broken legs were put in a cast in the doctor's office and the patient then hobbled home.

Blood counts and other laboratory tests were made by the local doctor or his nurse, without imposing on a hospital for several days' stay by the patient.

The physician was then the dominant factor in modern medicine and the hospital was relatively just the tail on the dog of American medicine.

★ ★ ★

Now things have changed. The very worthy innovation of hospital insurance has boomeranged back upon itself so the insurance companies are literally having a tough time breaking even.

Meanwhile, the hospitalitis craze has become an epidemic. The hospitals are revered and honored until they dominate American medicine, leaving the hard-working physician as the tail on the dog.

"HORSE SENSE"

It is thus high time we injected more "horse sense" into the medical situation.

And one of the quickest ways to do this is to add a $50 or even $100 deductible clause to hospital insurance policies.

You will then be surprised at the vast number of present hospital habitues who will decide their aches and pains aren't worth spending $50 out of their own pocket to be diagnosed.

Then Americans will go back to work and concentrate on factory output or washing their dinner dishes, instead of focusing on their gall bladder, colon or gizzard.

★ ★ ★

Nowadays you intelligent newspaper readers must help inform our voters that they cannot expect unlimited "fringe benefits" and medical welfare from Uncle Sam or any other glorified Santa Claus.

We must pay for what we get. If you are a neurotic worry wart, then pay for your frequent medical visits and hospital stays, for it is not fair to other folks to have them subsidize your excessive stay in costly hospital rooms by means of their insurance premiums.

Medical practice must return to the private doctor's office, with the hospital as a subordinate handmaiden.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Man Who Lost Home Says Government Deceives GI

Maybe this will help others from making the same mistake we did. We bought a GI home, and after living in it two years I got laid off for eight months and we couldn't make the payments. We couldn't sell it, so it went back to the mortgage company.

★ ★ ★

I'm still responsible for this house until it's paid for: They told me they could take both our pensions from us. We're only 24 years old and used to have dreams and hopes, but we have nothing now. From now on the government can take anything we get.

★ ★ ★

The Government could stop these people from selling GI's houses four times what they're worth. Vets defend your country and then the big shots who have never been to war sit back and take their money, and cheat them. They get them in debt so deep they can never get out. We were foolish, but why do we have to pay for our mistakes the rest of our lives? Don't make the same mistake we did.

'Don't Sacrifice Life for an Arms Race'

Ages ago there was much radiation on the earth and no life. As time went on radiation declined and the first low forms of life and then higher ones developed.

An atomic war would speedily reverse the lowering of radiation levels which has made our life possible on this planet, and even our weapons-testing has made a small beginning on such a reversal.

In the earth's crust are the remains of many animals which became extinct because they couldn't adjust to changed environment. This could happen to us. In all probability it will happen to us unless the arms race is ended. Let us not permit the human race to be sacrificed to an arms race.

'Don't Artists Want the Commission?'

The Bloomfield Artists' Association is supposed, among other things, to bring artists together with those who would commission them. So, at least, I was distinctly informed by telephone.

I am unable to understand their policy of not answering letters, perhaps their funds don't permit purchase of stamps. In that case I would assume their telephone would always be available.

In the past two weeks I've had to place a six dollar commission in England and a fifteen dollar commission in Rhode Island. In each case the work could have been done locally on a more satisfactory basis. Perhaps our local artists aren't interested in small commissions.

Gigantic Statue Is Labor of Love

Sculptor Blasts Figure of Chief Crazy Horse From Solid Granite

By MURRAY M. MOLER

CUSTER, S. D. (UPI) — If Korczak Ziolkowski (Core-shak Jewel-cuff-ski), now 49, doesn't lose his health or his ambition during the next 20 years, he figures he'll be able to complete man's greatest monument.

It will be a gigantic—563-feet high—figure of Indian Chief Crazy Horse and his pony, "carved" out of the solid granite of Thunderhead Mountain, a few miles north of Custer.

★ ★ ★

During a recent jeep ride up the tortuous trail leading to the top of the mountain, Ziolkowski told United Press International that in 10 years of hard work, he has moved 1,164,000 tons of rocks.

Thanks to the new jeep trail that permitted him to bring in better drilling and blasting equipment, the Boston-born sculptor hopes to have 2,000,000 tons off by the end of this year.

"I figure the whole mountain weighs 18,000,000 tons," he added. "To complete the job, we'll have to cut off one third of the rock or a total of 6,000,000 tons. It'll probably take 20 more years. But I'm going to do it."

★ ★ ★

Determination is one of the many things that Ziolkowski has. So he can work on the mountain in the daylight hours, he gets up before dawn to milk more than 100 cows at his dairy. Revenue from the dairy, and a new sawmill, give Ziolkowski money to eat on—and provide for his family of seven children.

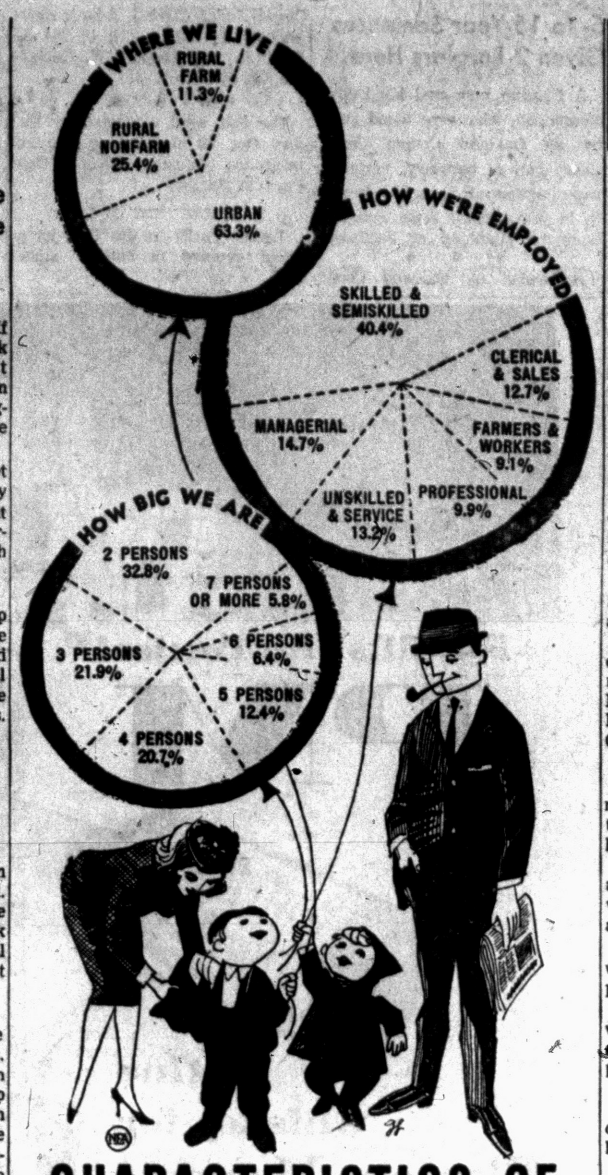

The work on the statue is strictly a "labor of love." He feels America owes a debt to its Indians—and this is the artist's way of showing his appreciation.

Money to hire the two laborers who now help Ziolkowski with his drilling and blasting comes from donations and from fees charged tourists to visit a combined home and studio for a close-up look. A tourist holding a lucky number close a switch that touches off drawn each afternoon gets to the day's dynamite blast high on the mountain.

★ ★ ★

Unlike nearby Mt. Rushmore, where Ziolkowski worked briefly some years ago, the Crazy Horse statue will be completely "in the round"—like a bust. At Rushmore, the faces of four presidents are carved in relief only.

As a further tribute to the Indians, the artist hopes that—eventually, "probably after I'm gone"—a park containing a museum, hospital and the "University of North America," will be created at the base of the statue.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE AMERICAN FAMILY

BACKBONE OF THE NATION — Charts show vital statistics of the more than 43 million families living within the boundaries of the United States in 1957. Almost two-thirds of these families lived in urban areas, communities with more than 2,500 population. The largest percentage consisted of two or three people. Two-fifths of the employed civilian family heads, numbering 35,600,000, were skilled or semiskilled workers. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

U. of M. Gets $8,600 for Cancer Research

LANSING (AP) — The University of Michigan has been presented an $8,600 check to promote cancer research being done by Prof. Dr. George W. Nace and his associates.

The check was presented yesterday by Gov. Williams on behalf of the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund.

Williams said Nace is conducting promising experiments with frogs on various aspects of virus tumor growth.

The grant boosts Michigan's allocation from the Runyon Fund to more than $78,000. This is the second grant to the U. of M. project.

Expense Report Filed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., (R-Mich) was among four candidates for office who filed campaign expense reports Monday with Kent County Clerk Lewis J. Donovan. Ford, re-elected Congressman from the fifth district in the Nov. 4 election, listed disbursements as $7,194 and receipts as $7,202.

Court Upholds Right to Flood Indian Land

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld the government's right to flood lands of the Seneca nation of Indians in connection with a flood control project.

★ ★ ★

The three-judge court ruled unanimously that Congress had authorized the taking of the Indian lands for a reservoir.

★ ★ ★

A dam will be built at Kinzua, Pa., but the reservoir will extend into New York State and inundate a large portion of the Seneca reservation.

Says Discipline Is Greatest Sign of Parents' Love

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Good discipline is the greatest love parents can show a child, a juvenile delinquency expert said here yesterday.

Judge Philip B. Gilliam, 51, of the Denver Juvenile Court, said "If you love your children you will discipline them. Discipline is a way of life, a code of ethics."

Speaking before some 300 members attending the annual joint session of the Iowa County Attorneys and Sheriffs Assn., Judge Gilliam said that in 18 years about 20,000 juvenile delinquents have appeared before him.

"I'm getting discouraged about what has been happening in the last 10 years," he declared.

"What has happened from a moral standpoint is not good. There are not enough angry people."

Loud Blast Shakes Grosse Pointe Woods

DETROIT (AP) — A loud blast in suburban Grosse Pointe Woods last night sent residents to their telephones and police to the scene.

Officers traced the noise to Ghesquiere Park. There they found a tree splintered near the ground level, a chunk of metal lying among the splinters and a burned match.

Police theorized the blast was the work of youths experimenting with a homemade rocket.

Trout Eats Fatal Meal

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — After examining the contents of a 26-pound Mackinaw trout found dead on the shore of Middle Piney Lake, Wyoming Game and Fish Department officials wondered if the fish died of indigestion. It had "eaten" a sizable ball of monofilament line, several large lead sinkers, three spinners, one minnow hook, two regular-size hooks, one swivel, and several bones.

Ten counties in the U.S. in various states each produce about 10 million tons of coal per year.

Show Biz Celebrities at Parkyakarkus Rite

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Top show business celebrities, who only two nights ago were chuckling heartily over Parkyakarkus' final monologue, turn out today for the dialect comic's funeral.

George Jessel will deliver the eulogy for Harry (Parkyakarkus) Einstein, fatally stricken with a heart attack at a $100-a-plate Friars Club dinner.

★ ★ ★

Fellow Friars said that Parky, who hadn't worked for years because of ill health, was worried that he might lay an egg at the club's 10th anniversary testimonial dinner honoring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

But the 54-year-old radio favorite of the 30s laid 'em in the aisles.

Parky was the only unemployed comic on the dais, with such names as George Burns, Dean Martin, Milton Berle, Art Linkletter, Ed Wynn, Tony Martin and George Murphy.

★ ★ ★

He was in rare form Sunday night with an account of the activities of the Show Business Club, his home away from home.

"We have the largest pool of any club in town, but there's no water in it. The members call it a football pool," he said.

He also denied that the Friars was an organization of gin rummy players.

"Most of our members are bird watchers. Sometimes they'll spend a whole afternoon looking for pigeons."

★ ★ ★

Eddie Cantor recalled how he discovered Parky at a Boston luncheon in 1932. The affair was quite formal until a speaker introduced as the Greek ambassador started talking.

"I thought I was a pretty hep character, but I fell for the gag," Cantor said. "Even when the ambassador made a plea that everybody in America contribute part of their salaries to the people in Greece.

★ ★ ★

"He said," Cantor continued, "that it would be a most worthy cause because then none of the Greeks would have to go to work."

Cantor hired the "Greek ambassador" on the spot, for his radio show. The ambassador, of course, was Parky, whose main job at the time was writing advertising copy for a furniture store.

Cantor said that Parky was such a natural comic that "I became the first name comic in history to willingly become a stooge for an unknown. He was so funny that I always fed him the straight lines, and he got the laughs."

Eisenhower Hit by Minor Stroke Year Ago Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)— A year ago today President Eisenhower, looking fine, met the King of Morocco at the Washington airport. A bit later the same day the President suffered a minor stroke.

Today Eisenhower is in the sixth day of a Thanksgiving vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club, his favorite holiday retreat. He is ruddy from the warm Southland sun, and he is in a relaxed, cheerful mood.

★ ★ ★

Two months ago the President had a head-to-toe physical checkup. His doctors pronounced him in excellent health after three major illnesses in as many years — heart attack in 1955, ileitis and major surgery 1956, and slight stroke when Eisenhower astonished just about everyone by attending Thanksgiving Day church services in Washington. And less than a month after being stricken he went to Paris for a conference with government heads from NATO nations.

★ ★ ★

The morning before the stroke occurred he appeared to be in good physical condition.

But back at the White House in the early afternoon his personal secretary noticed he was having some difficulty with his speech.

Neurologist specialists were summoned and apparently they were pretty sure in a short time as to what had happened. But the only announcement that day was that Eisenhower suffered a chill.

It wasn't until the next afternoon that the diagnosis was announced after doctors had made further examinations.

3 Face Examination for Beating, Robbing

DETROIT (AP) — Three young men accused of beating and robbing two men who helped them start a stalled car were held on $10,000 bond each today, pending their examination Dec. 3.

Lawrence McManus, 20, Edward Morrill Jr., 18, and Robert Fitzgerald, 18, all of Detroit, stood mute when arraigned yesterday and pleas of innocent were entered for them.

They are accused of beating and robbing Robert Wyatt, 30, and Richard Sperling, 33, both of Detroit, the morning of Nov. 17.

Wyatt told police he pushed the trio's stalled car with his car until it started. He said that after the car started the three jumped him and Sperling and robbed them.

Advise Road Signals to Replace Patrol

MUSKEGON (AP) — City Commission has recommended installation of two types of traffic signals at six school crossing intersections to replace a reduced women's safety patrol force.

The Commission's Service Committee last night called for flashing overhead signals at four intersections and pedestrian-actuated signals at two others.

The move would reduce the city's present patrol of 26 women to 20 and would follow the commission's action of last September when the patrol force budget for 1959 was cut by $5,600.

Natural Gas Use Gains

TORONTO — Sales of natural gas in Canada increased to 109,139,494,000 cubic feet in the first half of 1958 compared with 95,670,546,000 in the like period of 1957. For the same period, however, sales of manufactured gas declined from 8,358,891,000 cubic feet to 4,894,905,000.

Drug Store Safe Robbed

WHITEHALL (AP) — Burglars cracked a Whitehall drug store safe and fled with more than $2,000, Muskegon County sheriff's men said Tuesday. Officers said the thieves forced entry through a back door Monday night at the store.

The net investment in the petroleum industry in Venezuela is estimated at $2,578,000,000. The return on capital invested amounted to 32.5 per cent in 1957 against 29 per cent in 1956. Capital expenditures in 1957 totaled $913,000,000 and dividends and transfers of profit amounted to 23.7 per cent.

How Long Will You Live?

By RAY HENRY
AP Press Writer

By 1980, the United States will have 24½ million people at least 65 out of a total population of 260 million—if present life expectancy and population growth continues.

At least, those are estimates just made by the United States Bureau of Census.

The estimate for older people means that by 1980 the country will se an increase of 9½ million people 65 or over. There are now 15 million. And, it means that the total population will be about 9.5 per cent older people,- compared with 8.6 per cent now.

But, in making its estimates, the Census Bureau carefully points out that it could be off considerably; that the estimates are merely projections of what is now known about life expectancy and birth rates.

In fact, there's a good chance that the number of older people by 1980 will be considerably higher than the estimates

★ ★ ★

The reason: Many scientists believe the riddles of cancer and heart disease—today's major killers—will soon be solved. If they are, more people can expect to reach 65 and beyond.

Of course, how long people can expect to live if cancer and heart disease are controlled no one knows.

The most widely accepted theory about length of life is that we inherit—like the color of our eyes, hair and skin—most of the conditions which decide how low we'll live.

Thus, we actually have within us at birth the conditions which determine the age at which we'll die.

Whether we actually reach the inherited limit of our life, naturally, depends on environmental factors—like being run down by a truck, or being struck down by cancer.

Most experts on the subject set the inherited length of human life at between 100 and 110.

In backing up the theory that we inherit the conditions which determine our life span, scientists point to animal experiments which show that the length of an animal's life can be varied through breeding.

One classic experiment showed that by varying the age of the animal parents researchers could also vary the length of life of offspring. The older the parents at the time of conception of offspring, the experiments showed, the shorter the life of the offspring.

Another proof often pointed to by scientists is the fact that despite the advances in medicine and public health, the life expectancy of people who've reached 65 hasn't changed much over the years.

Among the important environmental conditions which affect how long we live are climate, diet and, probably marriage.

Why marriage? Nobody knows for sure. One possible explanation is that marriage environment is more favorable than living aolne. Thus, married people usually live longer than bachelors or spinsters.

Circus Elephant Crushes Worker With Headstand

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)—A grumpy circus elephant did a headstand on a man Monday and crushed him to death.

The elephant, named Dorothy, had previously injured 11 persons.

James Lloyd, 28, New York City, and another Hagen Bros. Circus employe were walking past Dorothy when she lashed Lloyd to the ground with her trunk, Deputy Marshal Martin Carey quoted witnesses as saying.

★ ★ ★

She then butted the employe with her head and after a couple of tries, performed a headstand on him. Circus attendants drove her back with blows and shouts, but Lloyd's head and chest were crushed and he died in about an hour.

Carey said the attack appeared unprovoked.

James Cole, circus manager, said none of Dorothy's previous victims had suffered serious injuries.

"She is very valuable. She is the best performing elephant we've got," he said. Cole said Dorothy was 12, relatively young for an elephant.

No immediate decision was made on what to do with her.

Says Earlier Disease Helps Children Later

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government scientist suggested today that early experience with mild forms of certain viruses—such as polio—may help children in later encounters with more virulent forms of the same microbes.

Dr. Leo Rosen of the National Institutes of Health offered the theory in remarks prepared for the annual Scientific Assembly of the District of Columbia Medical Society.

"It is possible," he said, "that infection at an early age with some of the viruses may prove beneficial by preventing or modifying the clinical manifestations of subsequent infections with the more virulent microbes of similar groups."

Rosen made the statement in describing one phase of a long-term study of little-understood virus infections of children.

Navy Cuts Program for Jet Seaplanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has cut its jet seaplane program, and possibly because of its interest in nuclear-powered seaplanes.

The Navy had ordered 24 jet Martin Co. of Baltimore, Md. Martin has delivered six. Eight more will be completed. After that, the Navy announced, the program will end, 10 short of the order.

★ ★ ★

The first two Seamasters crashed in flight. The Navy, known to be working on a seaplane powered by nuclear reactors, gave no specific reason for ending the program.

★ ★ ★

The huge planes are built to fly at 600 miles an hour, land on sea and serve as mine layers, aerial tankers or reconnaissance craft.

The total order for 24 Seamasters was to cost the government about 290 million dollars.

The Martin Co. announced it would lay off 6,000 employes soon because of the cutback.

NEW YORK — Power-hungry Russia is no match for publicity-hungry Hollywood! Where photographs and headlines are being made, there will the movie star and starlet be—and the devil with danger.

★ ★ ★

Proof of this statement will come Friday when Conrad Hilton, with the help of a Pan-American chartered plane, will fly dozens of his Hollywood chums into troubled Berlin. The fact that the German city is currently in a volcanic state may deter some businessmen and senators and even intrepid newspaper reporters from being Mr. Hilton's guest at the formal opening of his $6,000,000 "Berlin Hilton" hotel o'er the weekend, but the film stars seem more enthusiastic than ever.

For one thing, they love a good drama. For another where there's smoke there's fire, and where there's fire there's a cameraman.

It was the same situation earlier this year when the hotel tycoon held his hoopla for the opening of the "Havana Hilton."

The Castro brothers had thrown the fear of God and bombs into Conrad's hundreds of invited guests. In spite of the fact that they were offered full police protection, air conditioning and free money to gamble with, most of the businessmen turned down the offer at the last minute.

But the Hollywood segment of the Havana hiatus had a ball. They got their brave little faces on all the front pages and TV screens without having to resort to wit, gossip or falling into a pool in full dress, which is uncomfortable.

Mr. Hilton, who used to have merely a Midas touch, has lately acquired a sort of Hitchcock touch in his hotel junkets. But he is sure that no late move by the Russians in Berlin will prevent his free-for-all party from going on as scheduled.

His confreres have conferred with Eleanor Dulles, John Foster's sister and State Department specialist in Berlin affairs, and she feels "very strongly" that the big Berlin hotel must open on schedule.

It will show the Russians, she is reported to have said, that the Americans have no intentions of withdrawing from West Berlin. She said Hilton (and presumably his friends) has the "complete blessing" of the State Department.

And if Mr. Khrushchev doesn't like it, tell him to see Miss Dulles.

Hilton, who optimistically plans sightseeing tours into the Communist zone of Berlin for his bevy of beauties and brave ones, plans also a couple of formal parties, a gala performance by the Berlin City Opera and all the champagne you can drink—in the face of a possible trend to vodka.

His guests will include Maria Schell, Jeanne Crain, Cornel Wilde, Linda Cristal, Vera Ellen, Hope Lange, Laurence Melchior and Mrs. (Chief Justice) Earl Warren with daughter Virginia.

Hilton's handsome son, Nicky, will spend his honeymoon on the junket with bride (of tomorrow) Patricia McClintock, proving again that love conquers Communist threats.

As for other dignitaries, who proved at the time of the Havana opening that they prefer their drama on a screen, the guest list had not yet "firmed up" at time of this writing.

Some like it hot only by the home fires.

ANGELS IN THE SKY—The U. S. Navy's famed "Blue Angels" make a dramatic picture as they streak past in a precision formation that places them within a few precarious feet of one another. Flying Grumman supersonic Tigers, the "Angels" show the earth-bound spectators below military play in its most spectacular form.

SONG, ANYONE? — Nineteen-year-old France Grove holds a king-size mouth organ in Paris, France, after she would up with the unusual title of "Miss Harmonica."

Hope School Blast Act of Vandalism

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Officials of a bombed integrated school say they have no reason to think racial tensions caused the explosion, "and we hope it was a simple act of vandalism."

★ ★ ★

One room of the Heizer Junior High School was badly damaged by the explosion of what appeared to be a single stick of dynamite thrown through a window or skylight Sunday night. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

FBI agents, state police and local officers reported no luck in following out several leads to the identity of the dynamiters.

★ ★ ★

Principal Rex Haynes said there was no indication that the presence of about 65 Negro students among 611 pupils was the motive for the bombing. The school has been integrated since 1954.

Earl Westfall, Hobbs safety director, said, "so far, there's no indication that it was anything but vandalism."

Wrong Man Listed in Accident Report

In last Saturday's paper, the Pontiac Press erroneously stated that Robert Mullaney, 36, 648 Phillip St., of Pontiac Township, was driving a car which ran into a parked vehicle on Auburn avenue west of Stanley.

Mr. Mullaney owned the parked car and was not involved in the accident.

Pontiac Man Sentenced for Breaking, Entering

A 32-year-old Pontiac man, who pleaded guilty Nov. 6 to taking money from a paper company in the city, yesterday was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to serve from 3 to 5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for breaking and entering during the daytime.

The sentence was handed down against James Harry of 26 N. Paddock St.

Typhoon Expected to Stay Out at Sea

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Nancy curved to the Northeast today in a line expected to keep its 150-mile-an-hour winds in the open Pacific, missing Okinawa and Japan.

U. S. Air Force weather spotters said the big storm was 480 miles south-southeast of Okinawa at 9 a.m. and moving northeast at 14 miles an hour. Its course had been aimed at Japan earlier.

Sees Cold War Bankrupting U. S.

Cyrus Eaton Suggests Ike Tour Russia

DETROIT (AP) — Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, suggested Monday that President Eisenhower make a good-will visit to the Soviet Union in an effort to reach an understanding with Russia.

Certainly, he said, the risk in a treaty of peace and friendship is fraught with far less hazard to humanity than either the cold war or the hot war.

Contending there is no defense against nuclear warfare, Eaton said that in the absence of an understanding both sides will go on stockpiling nuclear weapons.

"Twelve years of this cold war have already cost astronomical amounts," he said. "Continuation of the cold war will create a crushing burden of taxation that will bankrupt us."

★ ★ ★

Eaton, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, spoke before the Economic Club of Detroit.

He recounted his experiences during a recent visit to Russia and told of an interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev who he said was "appalled" by the staggering cost of the arms race and eager to channel the huge expenditures into peaceful enterprises.

The Canadian-born industrialist said groups of American specialists who had visited the Soviet Union recently had come away impressed with the friendliness and kindness of the Russian people.

"If visits like these can be productive," Eaton said, "would it not be worthwhile to have a political delegation headed by the President go to the Soviet Union?

"With America spending 50 billion dollars a year for defense, and the fate of humanity at stake, surely the head of our government, with his fine personality and his infinite capacity for friendship, can afford to make and attempt to deal directly with his Russian counterpart.

★ ★ ★

Eaton said the United States "urgently" needs a new secretary of state.

Dulles, he said, "goes gaily on gambling with the destiny of the world without restraint from any quarter. He blithely courts the ultimate world catastrophe of the bomb, without consultation with even the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee."

Eaton added that rapid and radical changes are needed in this country's domestic industrial relationships if the capitalistic system of economy is to flourish.

The most important, he said, was a warmer understanding between capital and labor.

Military Aid Committee Picked by Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today named a committee of former government officials to evaluate the U.S. military aid program in terms of how to strengthen national security.

★ ★ ★

He announced the appointment of William H. Draper Jr., a Republican who was undersecretary of the Army in the Truman administration, to head the nine-member committee.

★ ★ ★

In a "Dear Bill" letter to Draper, the President said: "What is needed from your committee is a forthright evaluation of the extent to which future military assistance can, by strengthening our friends and allies, advance U.S. national security and foreign policy interests."

Appointment of the study committee comes in the midst of an Eisenhower drive to cut government spending.

Of motor vehicles involved in fatal accidents, about 78 per cent were going straight ahead during clear weather and on dry highways.

'Where, How Shall We Store Our Goods?'

Housewife, Factory Have Same Problem

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The storage problem is as much of a housekeeping headache today to factory management as it is to the housewife. That's why some companies now have someone they call a storage engineer.

His job is to handle materials so that you know where they are when you want them, so they do not log-jam the store rooms, so they do not become damaged or spoiled, and so that they don't spread over too many costly acres of storage space.

Storage engineers say that flexibility is one of the biggest problems in some industries. For example, in the cotton-processing industry the task is to handle cotton goods that arrive at the plants in quantity as raw gray goods at the beginning of a season and then move by the direction of customers through all departments, to be bleached, dyed, starched, stretched and patent processed.

United Piece Dye Works has developed a floating warehouse at its Lodi, N.J., plant. This is a battery of bins almost two stories high and 75 feet long. The bins are set up by fork lift trucks at the incoming side of the plant early in the season and then follow along as the materials move in the course of processing, ending up at the delivery door in due course.

★ ★ ★

The Norton Co. in Worcester, Mass., boasts a central storage area holding finished goods ready for requisition and shipment, from which it vows it can fetch any one of more than 20,000 items on order in less than a minute. Much like book stacks in a large library, it is elaborately marked with numbers and letters.

A mill supply wholesaler in Cleveland — Strong, Carlisle & Hammond—solved an inadequate storage space problem by building a mezzanine upon the steel framework of shelving installed for the original single level.

★ ★ ★

A Lazy Susan is used at the laboratories of the Dow Chemical Co. in Saginaw, Mich. This permits chemists literally to dial and obtain immediately such items as litmus paper, pipettes and stoppers. A central card system, like a library's file, lets them find the location of any of a host of chemicals.

Storage engineers at Republic Steel who are making a career of laying out storage areas for customers have come up with a list of principles that housewives as well as factory executives could find helpful, by adapting them to their individual problems.

★ ★ ★

1. Place the big and heavy objects low so they can be easily pushed from carts to storage space.

2. Arrange the little things, such as washers and bolts—or can openers—about waist level, handy for inspecting and grabbing.

3. Put the most commonly used items nearest to the outgoing transfer point and place infrequently needed items in the rear, up high.

4. Make aisles wide enough for two people to pass with space to spare.

★ ★ ★

5. See that lighting allows labels to be read easily.

6. Between the top shelf and ceiling put the odd-shaped and light but hard-to-handle items.

7. Make lettering and numbering simple and easy to follow.

The storage engineers say that the right handling of materials pays off in big savings for cost conscious companies.

400 Drugs New in '57

NEW YORK — About 400 new pharmaceuticals were marketed by the nation's drug manufacturers during 1957. Only 50 of these were new chemical entities, however. The rest were mainly new combinations or new dosage forms of known agents.

Plant Saves Big Trees

WILMINGTON, Mass. (UPI) — Trees protrude through the roof of the Avco Manufacturing Company's new 16-million-dollar research center here. Rather than chop down the big trees, company officials decided to build the plant around them.

Seeks Circuit Court Post

DETROIT (UPI) — Ernest F. Rossi, a Detroit attorney, has announced his candidacy for Circuit Court judge in the Feb. 16 primary election. Rossi, 47, made unsuccessful bids in 1952 and 1953 for seats on the probate and recorder's courts.

Gray Aids in All Strategic Plans

Heads Security Council to Explore Problems of National Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If real-life Washington were like a spy movie, Gordon Gray would be followed everywhere he goes by a platoon of bodyguards.

Gray is a walking repository of America's top military and diplomatic secrets. He knows just about everything that's worth knowing about this country's defense potential, its latest weapons, its international commitments and its strategic plans for coping with any crisis that may arise in the global struggle with Communism.

Keeping up to the minute on such matters is part of his job as President Eisenhower's Special Assistant for National Security Affairs.

Gray is a gentle-mannered North Carolinian who looks like, and once was, a college president. He was director of the Office of Defense Mobilization until July 23, when he was called to the White House staff to succeed Boston banker Robert D. Cutler as the President's right hand man in the field of national security.

★ ★ ★

Like Cutler, Gray has a strong distaste for personal publicity. He consented to an interview with the stipulation that the talk would not be about him, but about the vital piece of government machinery that he supervises on behalf of the President.

This machinery is called the National Security Council. It was created by the Armed Forces Reorganization Act of 1947 to coordinate all of the government's activities — in the military, diplomatic, economic, foreign aid, propaganda and intelligence fields —that affect national security.

★ ★ ★

"The Council's role is to expose our major national security problems to full and vigorous discussion from all angles," Gray explained. "In its meetings, the President can hear what may be complete agreement, partial agreement, or strongly opposing views on national policy. But the decisions are always made by the President."

4-FOLD JOB

Gray's job is four-fold. First, he does the spadework for Council deliberations by meeting twice weekly with the so-called "Junior Council."

The real name of this group is the National Security Council Planning Board, and its members are deputies or assistants to the officials on the Council itself. With Gray as chairman, they go over the problems to be discussed at Council sessions, prepare preliminary "position papers," outlining agreements or disagreements and sometimes draft proposed policy statements.

Gray's second task is to prepare the agenda for Council meetings. This is a big responsibility since it means that he decides what specific current or future problems are to be brought to top-level consideration.

Third, he serves as a sort of moderator at the Council meetings, keeping the discussion going and making sure that all points of view are brought out fully.

★ ★ ★

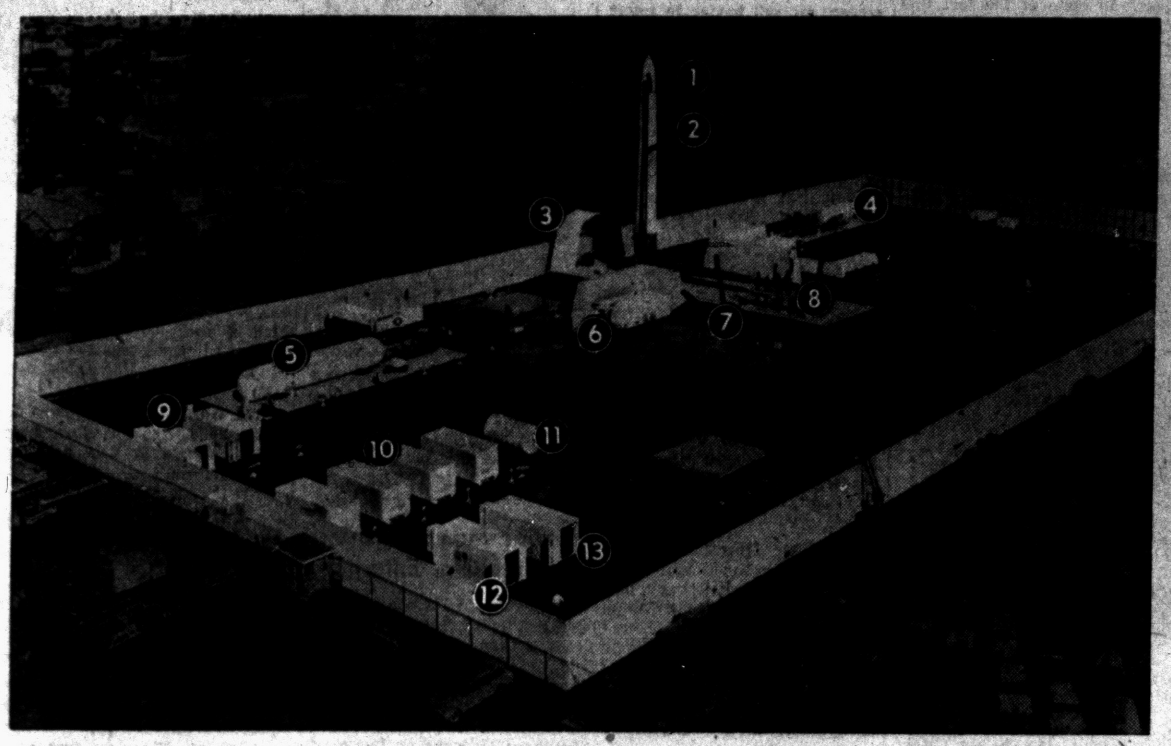

His final repsonsibility is to prepare the "record of action" for Council meetings, which summarizes the issues presented and the President's decisions. Careful wording of this record is vitally important since it becomes the official statement of executive policy, binding on all departments and agencies.

★ ★ ★

To keep abreast of all factors affecting national security, Gray has to spend two or three hours every night doing his "homework" which consists of reading top-secret intelligence reports, diplomatic messages and even research progress on new weapons.

He meets with the President several times a week.

Gray, still sandy-haired and youthful at 49, admitted that he sometimes finds his responsibilities a little awesome.

9 in Waterford Already Asking for Board Jobs

Although the primary election is still more than two months away, nine Waterford Township residents have taken out petitions as candidates for township board posts, according to reports from the clerk's office.

★ ★ ★

Voters at the November 4 general election, approved electing two additional trustees, bringing the total board membership to seven.

One other trustee position, which has been temporarily filled by the appointment of John Coleman, will also be open for the electors choice.

So far, Republicans David Hertler, Wilfred Mitchell, Willard Johnson and Byron Cole have been issued petitions and Democrats Louis Ruelle, Joseph McGee, John Verhey, Donald Taylor and William Morrisey are also seeking a trustee's position.

★ ★ ★

Other candidates circulating petitions on the Republican party are Richard Kuhn (for supervisor), and Mrs. Florence Allen (for treasurer).

Democrats include incumbents Elmer Johnson (supervisor) James Seeterlin (clerk) Dorothy Olson (treasurer) and John Coleman (trustee).

Male Reserves Hunting Rights, Shouldn't Begrudge the Price

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Whoever started the 'ethical' idea that the male should pay the way for a girl on the date? The girls enjoy it as much as the fellows and in some cases are better able to pay for it. If it weren't for the silly rules set years ago, the girls would be tickled to death to ask the fellows and pay the tab. Now, what do you say to that?"

RON AND PETE

ABBY

DEAR RON AND PETE: The male reserves the privilege of "hunting," choosing and asking. The female must wait to be discovered, chosen and asked. The male can pay for this privilege.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband is having an affair with a widow who lives right across the street. I see with my very own eyes when he passes her house he blinks his lights and she flips her Venetian blinds. They signal back and forth and then he makes up excuses to get out of the house to meet her. He says they are only good friends, but I know that she is man-hungry and not at all fussy who she goes with and she likes my husband. How should I put a stop to this?"

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: You can't stop a man from blinking his lights, neither can you prevent a woman from flipping her Venetian blinds. If you think he is "blinking" for her and she is "flipping" for him—get them both together and have a truth or consequence session.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who is a wonderful person, but she has the strangest cough, which to us sounds like TB. We knew someone who had TB and the coughs sound identical. I know we are not doctors but we would like to find out for sure because this person visits us often and eats and drinks from our cups and plates. We also have little children around and this bothers us. We hate to hurt her feelings, but how can we find out?"

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Tell your friend at once that she should contact her local Tuberculosis Association. They will examine her free of charge and there will be no guessing about her condition. If she does have TB, you would be doing her a tremendous favor—and if she doesn't she will be happy to know she is well.

"DEAR ABBY: I haven't been married six months yet and I'm having a terrible problem with my husband. I am 19 and he is 27 and he is insanely jealous of me for no reason at all. He accuses me of encouraging the delivery men or any neighbors I happen to smile at.

"He is even jealous of my own brother and says he doesn't want him around here unless he is home. I'll take truth syrum or even go to the police station and let them give me a test on the lie detecting machine. I'll do anything you say to prove I am a faithful wife. I can't take any more of his jealousy. Please help me."

FAITHFUL

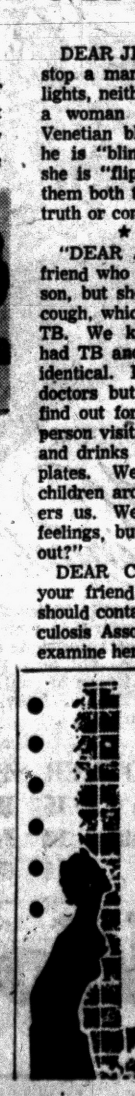

DEAR FAITHFUL: Your HUSBAND has the problem. Constant false accusations are symptoms of a sick mind. He should see a doctor.

What to Remember Should Go on List

By RUTH MILLETT

Every woman ought to make herself a few "I must remember" lists to file away for future reference.

What woman wouldn't benefit from a list with the heading, "I must remember when I am a mother-in-law" made up while the woman herself was a daughter-in-law?

★ ★ ★

If she would make such a list she would be almost certain to find such reminders as:

"Don't offer advice unless asked for and then state it in such a way it can be taken or ignored without embarrassment.

"Don't show any disapproval over the way my son's wife spends their money—and always remember it is THEIR money.

"Be available when they ask for help—but don't feel hurt if they seem to accept it quite casually."

The list, of course, will vary for each woman depending upon what has made it easy and what has made it difficult for her to get along with her own mother-in-law.

And what woman wouldn't some day find it handy to have such a list as "Things to remember as I grow older" composed from a study of happy and unhappy older women, older women who had something to give and older women whose later years were miserable. The time to make that kind of list is, of course, while a woman is still in her most active, busy and productive years.

And any wife would benefit, after a few years of marriage, from looking at a list made when she was a bride containing "Things to remember about our plans for the future and the kind of marriage we want to have."

Whenever you find yourself thinking, "I hope I never forget" or "I hope I never become . . ." make yourself a written reminder.

Someday it may serve to jog your memory and help to keep you on your course.

A bright spot in the life of Mike Sitzes is a bedtime story told by Laura Cobb who has been selected as Volunteer of the Month by Central Volunteer Bureau.

Storyteller Laura Cobb Is Volunteer of Month

The Central Volunteer Bureau announces the selection of Laura Cobb, of West Huron street, as its Volunteer of the Month.

Miss Cobb, a storyteller at Pontiac General Hospital, was praised by the Pontiac Area United Fund supported agency for her "outstanding volunteer work with children at the hospital."

The Storytellers are women who go into the ward for about an hour each day to tell stories or read to the children at the conclusion of visiting hours. This quiets the children and takes their thoughts away from their parents.

The Storytellers are trained to work in pairs under the supervision of the ward supervisor.

Miss Cobb is entering her fourth year as a Storyteller volunteer. She became interested in this type of volunteer work when she was asked for advice on the purchase of books for the hospital's library.

She can always be depended upon, and has filled in many times when another storyteller was needed, hospital officials said.

In addition to her work with children, Miss Cobb set up the library at the Oakland County Infirmary last year.

She was a teacher in the Pontiac school system for many years, and now works full time in the Adah Shelly Library. She also is active in the Flora Shelly Group; the Urban League which, like the Volunteer Bureau, is supported by the local United Fund; Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary, the Pioneer Society, Pontiac and Walled Lake Storyteller groups, and the Retired Teachers group.

"Bringing a little cheer into the life of a sick child makes my work as a volunteer storyteller worthwhile," stated Miss Cobb. "No financial reward could replace the pleasure we get from the welcoming smile of a little boy or girl when we approach their beds."

Anyone wishing to donate service as a storyteller or volunteer worker is asked to contact the Central Volunteer Bureau on Franklin Boulevard.

It will take 565,000 gallons of lacquer, 30,000 pounds of a lead compound and 30,000 pounds of glycerine to help turn out the 10 million gross of pencils being produced in the U. S. this year.

Bride of Jerry D. Tucker

Married Saturday evening at First Free Methodist Church were Connie Lee Cotcher and Jerry Dean Tucker. The Rev. O. P. Eastman of United Missionary Church officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Neil Cotcher of North Shirley street and the late Mr. Cotcher, and Mr. and Mrs. Odis Tucker of Edna street.

The bride's gown was of tiered embroidered net with a chapel train. The gown featured a Sabrina neckline and cap sleeves. A Juliet cap of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy on a white Bible.

Phyllis Cotcher was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dale Coulter of Lake Orion, Margaret Davis, June Lacy and Sally Strong of Waterford.

The attendants wore aqua gowns of net over satin and carried colonial bouquets of carnations.

BROTHER ASSISTS

Jack Tucker, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Seating the guests were Dale Coulter of Lake Orion, Gene Willis, Ernest Craig and Larry Harp.

Following a reception, held at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan building, the bride changed to a black wool dress with the corsage from her bridal bouquet and the couple left for a honeymoon to West Virginia. They will live on Fairfax street.

Mrs. Cotcher wore a royal blue sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Tucker was dressed in a mauve dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Young Mothers May Be Lonely

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Yesterday I discussed some of the new problems of the older woman because of the trend toward smaller houses and her lengthened life expectancy. The trend toward smaller homes has an impact on the young mother, too. She is alone a lot in her little home.

Let us take Mary. She is a girl of average attractiveness. She has lots of friends and likes sports and dancing. She helps her mother with the housework but sees lots of people every day. She has a job, too.

Now along comes Jim and she marries and settles down in her own home. The young couple have to budget carefully but they don't mind that. They cannot afford to go dancing as often but they still see their friends. Now comes the first baby. They are thrilled about this and adore the child.

This makes quite a bit of difference in Jim's life but unless he is an unusually perceptive young man he may not realize what a great difference it makes in Mary's habits. Mary does all her own work and takes care of the baby. She is literally tied at home all day long, day after day, because she can only afford an occasional baby sitter.

This may go on for years, with more children. Mary does not mind the work and dotes on her children but she often finds herself feeling touchy or drawn and irritable as she never had before. She often is depressed, and fraught with fatigue which her tasks do not justify.

What Mary needs is a change of scenery; periodic if short relief from daily routine. She has too long been completely cut off from the outside world into which her husband goes each morning. Most of all she needs some adult companionship with those her own age and her own sex. She must have these breathers for best health and in order to re-discover the person her husband fell in love with in the first place.

WEARING EXPERIENCE

Children are adorable and fascinating but anyone who has had one knows that their constant care and companionship is probably one of the most wearing experiences on earth.

There were some advantages for the young mother when she lived under the same roof with her mother or grandmother. She had ready-made baby sitters and adult companionship was always available.

The modern young mother may have to move frequently because of her husband's business. Then, too, the fact that it is hard to get help and that sometimes the cost is prohibitive adds to her isolation.

I would like to call your attention again to the "Day Out For Mother" program which most YWCA's sponsor in some form. Take advantage of them. Don't let the walls of your house close in on you.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "For A Change — Here's How to Put Pounds On."

It's easy for the young housewife to find herself feeling touchy or drawn and irritable.

Church Group Installs Officers

Mrs. S. E. Kline was installed president of the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church at a luncheon meeting of the fellowship on Friday.

Others installed are Mrs. S. C. Olson, first vice president; Mrs. G. W. Gaches, second vice president; Mrs. W. W. Edwards, third vice president; Mrs. H. E. Hotchkiss, recording secretary; Mrs. E. R. Bigler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Irving Gillies, treasurer.

Parliamentarian is Mrs. Ray Falk; auditor is Ethylnn Peterson.

To Avoid Stains

Most clothing will not stain if prompt action is taken. If you spill food on your clothes, sponge the area with cool sudsy water as soon as possible. Best way to do this is to place a soft folded cloth under the stain and blot suds on the spot.

Bright Bonnets Bedeck Milady

Millinery designers aim to give women a season full of bright moments. Evening headwear comes in glowing shades of ruby velvet, pink satin, and amethyst.

For daytime, choose from hats in emerald plush, sapphire furry felt, blanket plaid mohair, or "conservative" brown mink.

Spare Nerves; Diet in Silence

Diet seems to be a byword for a bright round of bridge. But a beauty expert warns it is better to diet in silence than give a bite-by-bite account of the struggle.

This saves your nerves as persons hound you about eating a piece of candy or bore you with their theories.

Fete Roger Young, Bride

A buffet supper at the Spence street home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Young was given Sunday evening in honor of newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lynn Young of Port Huron.

The former Donna Gail Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Hanson of Palm Harbor, Fla., and Roger Lynn Young, were married at St. Martin's American Lutheran Church, Port Huron, on Nov. 15.

MRS. ROGER L. YOUNG

The bride wore a sapphire wool jersey sheath dress with three-quarter-length sleeves and a cowl neckline. A white feathered cloche hat and white rose corsage completed her outfit.

Merrill Martin of Toledo was maid of honor and Daniel Y. Gulden of Ann Arbor served as best man.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Young is a graduate of Michigan State University where he was a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity. The new Mrs. Young was graduated from the University of Michigan and was a member of Senior Society, senior women's honorary association.

Church Class Meets

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emery on Elizabeth Lake road was opened to the Fellowship Class of Central Christian Church Saturday evening. Thomas Marsh assisted with the program.

Bob Considine Says:

Only One 'Newsman' Raised His Hand

NEW YORK — Spoke to the Newman Club of the City College of New York the other day—fine bunch of young people—and asked, "How many want to go into newspaper, radio or TV work?"

Only one raised his hand. The rest, by and large, want to be engineers.

I tried to find some inspirational message for the maverick by thumbing through veteran Hearst Editor Edmond D. Coblentz's "Newsmen Speak," a remarkable book printed by the University of California Press.

I was looking for something that Arthur Brisbane wrote a long time ago. Found it days later. If it sounds less than encouraging to the journalism student, let him read it twice. It will serve him well through the years, Brisbane wrote:

"A good newspaperman is one who can see a thing clearly and describe it simply . . . the best kind of newspaperman, and a rare kind, is he who can retain through the years the capacity to feel intensely and express intense feelings through his writings . . .

"The young reporter, at his first hanging or electrocution, or great murder trial, feels everything about him intensely. Later, as a rule, he feels nothing at all, and that makes him a worthless newspaperman.

"He is judged, like a leghorn hen, by the eggs laid this week, not by the eggs laid a year ago. A lawyer who was a good lawyer 40 years ago can still make a fine living, because he was a good lawyer 40 years ago. The newspaperman must stand on what he did yesterday."

You can hardly make yourself heard on Fifth Avenue these days what with the ringing of bells by one of the largest armies of Santa Clauses (Santae Claus?) ever drafted.

Christmas decorations are frosting department store fronts. Doormen are getting friendly again. Children almost listen. The trees are going up on Park avenue, a handsome street where people once lived.

"Before long they'll be starting the Christmas season before Hallowe'en," we grumbled to a cab driver today.

"Suits me," he shrugged. "What's good for business is good for me." (Attention all Bethlehem papers: Please copy.)

Governor-elect Nelson Rockefeller's visit to Vice President Nixon may serve to heal what promised to be an ever-expanding breech in a political party that needs unity more than ever—if the two-party system is to survive.

If the Grand Old Party can come up with a candidate who changes it to the vigorous Grand Young Party, it will have a real good chance—even in the face of Adlai's inevitable crack that the initials spell out gyp.

Pope John XXIII is 77, but works like a man who is every other year of that age. Millions of Catholics and non-Catholics who wondered about the selection of a prelate so different than Pius XII, physically and from a personality standpoint, are beginning to see the wisdom of the Sacred College.

John XXIII will endear himself to the world in ways that Pius might have found hard to believe: The sister bringing him a slab of Italian sausage, the embrace of the brother who asked us, "Do you think he'll forget me now?", the occasional cigar and glass of wine, the use of "if you wish," before giving his blessing to a mixed group of reporters, the informality of his approach to the people who work around the Vatican, the thoughtful beauty of his simple prose.

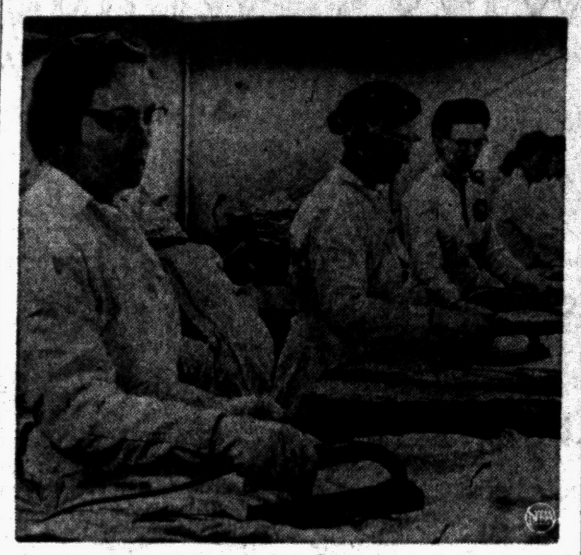

Happy birthday, Pope.

About 30,000 voters will decide which candidates become governor of Alaska, senators from Alaska, and the new state's one congressman. We applaud all but the successful congressman. Whoever gets it will have constituents reaching from Ketchikan to the outermost vertebrae of the Aleutians. There are congressmen from New York City and other crowded areas whose territory could be covered in the course of a 50-cent cab ride.

The lone representative from the 49th state will have demands for seeds and hot-water bottles from people spread over a map which, if superimposed on the map of the U. S., would reach from Jacksonville, Fla., to Los Angeles.

He must please not only rich and poor but old settler, new settler, four tribes of Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts.

Good luck, buddy.

REALLY "HOT" WORK — These women work in a laundry but they aren't ironing. They're using radiation counters to make sure that radioactive contaminants have been removed from protective clothing in the "hot" laundry at the Hanford, Wash., atomic plant. An average of 280,000 pounds of clothing is laundered each month at the plant, operated by General Electric for the Atomic Energy Commission. This special clothing is provided persons who work in zones where radioactive materials are located.

Bauxite Demand Rises

MARSEILLE—France's bauxite production increased from 807,000 tons in 1950 to about 1,400,000 tons in 1957. To meet the increasing demand for aluminum and its alloys, French bauxite output will have to be increased to 2,000,000 tons a year by 1964.

U.N. Command Accuses Reds

Communists in Korea Charged With Piracy and Hostile Acts

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command in Korea accused the North Korean Communists today of piracy and hostile acts and demanded that the Reds immediately return persons and property they had seized.

U.S. Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn made the charges and demands at a meeting of the Korean Military Armistice Commission.

★ ★ ★

North Korean Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho rejected the charges. He countered with a demand that some two million North Koreans who fled to South Korea during the Korean War be repatriated.

Nunn in turn rejected the Communist allegation that the refugees were kidnaped by the U.N. forces.

★ ★ ★

Nunn demanded the return of (1) 12 fishermen and their two boats which he said the North Korean navy seized off the east coast Nov. 7; (2) a South Korean civil airliner and its cargo hijacked by Red agents last February; and (3) a South Korean police officer shot and abducted Nov. 18 when the Communists picked up five Red espionage agents 25 miles south of Inchon.

★ ★ ★

The Communists said six of the fishermen had choosen to remain in their former homes in North Korea and the other six had been sent back. Nunn said later he knew nothing of the six returning up to Monday night.

The Reds said the airliner was not a military matter for the commission and called the police abduction charge a fabrication.

Sportsmen's Club Members Wield Tools Instead of Guns

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — North Macomb Sportsmen's Club members are wielding tools instead of guns these days as they hurry to finish their clubhouse in time for the holidays.

Take Sunday for example. Some 10 members laid a tile floor in the main room of the clubhouse. At the same time, others were outside getting in a few rounds on the rifle and pistol ranges before returning to work on the building.

The club, which has about 250 members, is designed to appeal to sportsmen from 12 to 92, says Andrew J. Downey of Romeo, club president.

Membership is divided into two classifications: Junior, for boys and girls from 12 to 17, and senior, for those 17 and above.

★ ★ ★

The club property is located on Inwood road between 29 and 30-Mile roads in Washington Township. It covers 45 acres and boasts a new clubhouse opened last summer.

The clubhouse, colonial in design, is patterned after the old Detroit Athletic Club built in 1926.

★ ★ ★

There are covered porches with story-high pillars on both the front and back, the rear porch designed to be glass enclosed at a later date. The interior has a large main hall with an open fireplace, dining room, kitchen and storage room. There also is a fireplace in the dining room.

On the gently sloping grounds near the clubhouse are two automati- skeet fields. Down the road behind the club are pistol, rifle and archery pit ranges.

The automatic trap field is near the main road to the east of the clubhouse.

In addition to men and women who like to shoot as a hobby, avid hunters come to the club with their young dogs to get them accustomed to gunfire before taking them out into the woods.

★ ★ ★

The club was founded in 1946 and a year ago was forced to move to its present location when the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority took over its land. Shortly after they acquired their present property, members began work on the clubhouse.

There also is a new tenant house located near the main building. It is occupied by Romeo state Police Trooper James Malczewski, who acts as caretaker of the property, his wife and two daughters, Maureen, 2, and Connie, nine months.

The club is affiliated with the Michigan United Conservation Club and is a member of the National Rifle Assn.

Its members, who come from communities in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland Counties, meet regularly the second Thursday of every month. Other officers in addition to Downey are Geno Forenado of Roseville, vice president; Norman Haase of Washington, treasurer; Jack Hatfield of Royal Oak, corresponding secretary, and Harvey Lenz of Detroit, recording secretary.

Chairman of the board is Ernst Haase of Washington.

COMBINE WORK AND SPORT — Working to finish their clubhouse before the holidays, members of the North Macomb Sportsman's Club still find time to get in some practice on the rifle range. Unloading their guns for a day on the range are (from left) Melvin Bluestein and Fred Marcus of Detroit, Sheldon Colby of Madison Heights and David Weiner of Oak Park.

BEGINNING OF GOOD TIMES — The traditional hanging of the Harvest Wreath in Susanna Wesley Hall at Albion College was done this year by Miss Ellen Purdy, president of the Assn. of Women Students at Albion. It symbolizes the beginning of good times indoors. Miss Purdy, a senior at Albion, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Purdy of 172 Oak Lane Dr., Rochester.

Petitions Arrive for Candidates

FARMINGTON— Nominating petitions for the many elected positions in the city and township, that will be voted on in the 1959 spring election, are now available, according to Floyd A. Cairns, township clerk, and Mrs. Trena M. Quinn, city clerk.

Completed petitions must be submitted by Dec. 29, both said.

So far, only township Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson has announced his candidacy for another two years on the Board of Supervisors, while many other candidates are currently circulating petitions.

Curtis H. Hall, a Republican, has taken out nominating petitions for the post of supervisor. He has served on two township boards of appeals and on the School Board, of which he was president for two years.

★ ★ ★

Besides the job of supervisor, two trustees, township positions, township justice of the peace, and a member of the Board of Review will be elected.

In the city, three council seats will be filled in the April balloting.

Date of Opening Set for Hospital

Community Institution Near Romeo, Almont to Begin Work Jan. 5

ROMEO—The new 31-bed Community Hospital, located on Van Dyke between Romeo and Almont, will open Jan. 5, T. K. Richards, Hospital Foundation president, announced today.

The facility has been designed and equipped to offer complete medical, surgical, obstetrical, pediatric, and emergency service to residents of a 12-mile community area, Richards said.

New members of the hospital staff named last week are Dr. James G. Wolter and Dr. Lawrence William Gardner of Detroit, pathologists, and Dr. Otis W. Schorling of Detroit, radiologist.

★ ★ ★

Letters have been sent to nine drug stores in the area asking pharmacists to serve at the hospital on a rotating monthly schedule.

Druggists who agreed to work at the hospital are Robert Bowman of Bowman's Drug Store, Almont; Albert and Jack Schaaf, Schaaf's Drug Store, Romeo; Francis Donahue and Ned Youatt, Donahue's Drug Store, Romeo; Jewell Dean, Dean's Drug Store, Imlay City; Sylvester Ray, Ray's Corner Drug Store, Imlay City.

As plans for the opening progress rapidly, footings are being laid for an 18-bed addition scheduled for completion early next summer, Richards said. The new wing will contain two 4-bed wards, five 2-bed wards, and a solarium.

★ ★ ★

Opening of the hospital, dedicated the weekend of Oct. 24, culminates over five years of work on the project by the Community Hospital Foundation.

The new facility will serve communities in adjacent parts of Lapeer, Oakland, St. Clair, and Macomb counties.

Towns included are Armada, Almont, Capac, Washington, Romeo, Berville, Leonard, Lakeville, Lake Orion, Oxford and Imlay City.

Gregg Dodge Guilty on Drunk Charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former showgirl Gregg Sherwood, acquitted on four counts of battery, faces sentencing next Tuesday on a plain drunkenness charge.

The wife of auto heir Horace Dodge was convicted of drunkenness yesterday by a municipal court jury of five men and seven women after three hours of deliberation. The trial began Nov. 14.

The same jury acquitted the shapely blonde of battery charges stemming from a spitting, name-calling brawl with police on the morning of her arrest last Aug. 26.

Chicago columnist Irv Kupcinet was arrested on a charge of drunk driving along with Miss Sherwood shortly after they left a party in the early morning. He faces trial on the misdemeanor charge Dec. 10.

Maximum sentence Miss Sherwood faces on the drunkenness conviction is a $25 fine.

GM Pioneer Retires Monday at Pontiac

A General Motors career, almost as old as the automotive industry itself, comes to a close on Monday as Pontiac parts expert Herman W. Schroeder retires after completing 49 years and eight months of GM service.

The 65-year-old, youthful appearing supervisor of Pontiac's factory parts warehouse, quit high school in 1909 to join Buick Motor's Buffalo, N. Y., zone office. He has since seen service in almost every phase of the parts and accessories business with Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac. Schroeder has been with the Pontiac home office in Pontiac since 1934.

Reflecting on his early days with Buick, Schroeder recalls "selling, buying and receiving parts in a room which today wouldn't compare in size with an average dealer's stockroom." Inventory was relatively simple with only several hundred parts in production at that time (today's Pontiac has 15,000 - plus parts) and all items were merely tagged rather than packaged, he says.

"Tires were our biggest item as drivers were lucky to get 5,000 miles on them, traveling over cobblestone, brick, and dirt roads. Such standard items today as windshields and car tops were then carried as optional equipment," Schroeder points out.

★ ★ ★

"However," he continues, "regardless of the great increase in our business, the model changes, the availability of multiple body types, the establishment of territorial warehouses and modern packaging methods, our problems remain essentially of the same nature. We must still satisfy the customer and he still wants his parts yesterday."

A native of Buffalo, N. Y., Schroeder now makes his home at 111 Oneida St.

Go to See Minister Refusing to Pay Tax

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—They jammed the courtrooms — newsmen, friends, young law students, churchgoers and the merely curious—to see what would happen to the minister who won't pay taxes.

It was a full house Monday in U.S. District Court. But the defendent, the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin, didn't show up.

★ ★ ★

Court aides again went to find him. Once more, they had to lug the minister to their car and load him on a wheelchair for the trip to the courtroom. He gave no sign of help—or of resistance.

★ ★ ★

A score of his followers in the corridor sang "Faith of our Fathers" as he was rolled into court.

Once in court, the pacifist pastor sat in silence, answered no questions, declined to enter a plea or heed court-appointed lawyers.

The upshot was that Judge John H. Druffel sent the Rev. Mr. McCrackin to jail indefinitely for contempt of court.

★ ★ ★

The judge said the defendent had until Wednesday to sign bond papers and agree to appear in court to face an indictment. The minister is charged with ignoring a summons to a conference on his income taxes.

The Rev. Mr. McCrackin said Monday night he'd rather stay in jail than sign. He made himself as comfortable as possible in his cell.

Paris Flea Market Sells Anything From Stuffed Eagle to False Teeth

WASHINGTON—The Paris Flea Market looks as if all the attics of the world had suddenly been emptied into a small quarter of the French capital.

★ ★ ★

Visitors have called it a bargain hunter's paradise—or a glorified city dump. Whatever it is, the Flea Market has become one of Paris' greatest attractions.

Anybody wanting anything—a German helmet of the Franco-Prussian War, Sevres china, a stuffed eagle, a bust of Socrates or secondhand false teeth—can probably find it in the Flea Market, if he looks long enough.

Municipal authorities are reported planning to take over the market area to build apartment houses, but so far the Flea Market's 3,000 shops are still operating at the old stand near the Porte de Clignancourt on the northern edge of the city.

FOUNDED BY RAGPICKERS

The Flea Market (Marche aux Puces) was established in the latter part of the 19th century. Ragpickers—who comb the city's trash cans every morning—made their headquarters in a collection of rough shacks inside the northern walls of Paris.

Their daily gleanings furnished the mart with its stock in trade, and their reputation as carriers of vermin gave the Flea Market its name.

Thrifty French housewives got in the habit of going to the Marche aux Puces for odd items hard to find in more prosaic shopping centers—a new wheel for the baby carriage or a porcelain doorknob to match the wallpaper in the guest bedroom.

Foreign travelers discovered the place shortly after the turn of the century. They found it amusing, and told their friends.

Canny Paris antique dealers, quick to recognize a good thing, moved in. Some came first to buy stock for their shops on fashionable downtown streets. Soon they had established branches. Now the market offers what is probably the world's foremost single collection of French antique furniture, porcelain and crystal.

Rich and poor mingle in the Flea Market, scarcely conscious of one another in the intensity of their bargain-hunting. A wealthy American buying Napoleon III furniture rubs shoulders nonchalantly with an Arab trying to find a thirdhand pair of trousers at a price he can afford.

ART OF BARGAINING

The thousands of merchants in the Flea Market esteem a shrewd bargainer. Except for very cheap objects, a dealer does not expect to get his asking price. As one merchants explained, "If I want 300,000 frans, I start at 325,000. If I say 5,000, I mean 4,000."

★ ★ ★

But a customer has to be shrewd to get a dealer down to his last price, as an American couple found during their visit. Wanting to buy a Louis Seize cylinder desk, they carefully planned their bargaining strategy in pig Latin on the off-chance the shopkeeper might know English.

★ ★ ★

They got the desk—for about $50 more than they would have paid in the most expensive shop in Paris. As they left, the shopkeeper said: "Oodgay eyebay. Anymay anskthay."

Ex-Comedian Teaches Humor

Vaudeville Flop Studies Basics of Being Funny, Returns to Star

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Why do you laugh at a joke?

More often than not, it's because you feel superior to the characters in the story being told, according to the nation's only teacher of "professional comedy."

★ ★ ★

Ron Carver speaks as an authority on the subject by virtue of nearly a decade of studying comedy seriously. He instructs a humor class at the University of California at Los Angeles and serves as tutor to the motion picture and TV industries and to private business firms that sell humor in various forms.

★ ★ ★

Young Carver recently conducted a two-week course on the principles of comedy and humor for the writers and designers of a greeting card firm here. He said the art of creating funny material and situations can be learned if a person has "reasonable talent" and is willing to follow three important steps:

1. Approach comedy with a business-like attitude, according it the same respect law and medical students show their professions.

2. Develop a comedy slant or sense, and look for the humorous distortion in all things.

3. Work, study and practice humor as a full-time undertaking.

★ ★ ★

Carver embarked on his career of consultant and teacher after failing as a vaudeville comic. Stranded in New England with only $10 "severance pay" in his pocket, he took a long look at the reasons for his failure. He concluded that he—and most of the people practicing comedy—simply did not know enough about the art of being funny.

★ ★ ★

After analyzing his personality and talents, Carver reorganized his routine and returned to the scene of his flop — this time a $400-a-week performer. This convinced him of the soundness of his methods, and he hung out his comedy shingle in Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

Tellessen and Lt. Francis J. Murphy are the only paid members of the force, which has 10 volunteer policemen.

Debbie and Eddie Differ on Reason for Breaking Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Singer Eddie Fisher and actress Debbie Reynolds each has an explanation for the break-up of their marriage.

"I think mothes-in-law don't belong in the picture as much as they want to," he says.

"I wanted more of his time," says Debbie.

★ ★ ★

The couple, who recently split up were interviewed for a series of articles by Redbook magazine. Fisher is reported to be planning to marry Elizabeth Taylor, widow of his best friend, showman Mike Todd.

Debbie was quoted in the interview as saying that she wanted to be alone more with Eddie but that he was always surrounded by song plugges, publishers and others associated with his career.

★ ★ ★

"I'd come home from shopping," she said, "and there would be a dozen men in the living room, all sitting around smoking. It looked like a men's club . . .

"I was excluded . . . I was his wife but I wasn't included."

To this, Eddie said:

"She wanted to be with just me. I don't think that's enough."

Lion-Packer Turkey Day Game Becomes Tradition

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Any sports writer or sports fan, who ever came in contact with Mel Ott, could hardly say anything but the nicest words for the little Giant of the National League.

There have been stories about Ott, and stories told by Ott, which will be kept forever in the annals of Major League baseball.

★ ★ ★

This story lives in the mind of this writer. It takes place in two different places, almost 20 years apart.

It was back in 1938 and the New York Giants were playing a series at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh. The Giants were always one of the top drawing teams for the Pirates, and there were no fans who loved to heckle opposing players more than Pittsburghers.

That was the year Pittsburgh was making a strong big for the pennant. (It was the season of the famous story of Gabby Hartnett's home run which killed the Pirates' pennant hopes and put Chicago into the series.)

A 13-year-old die hard kid sitting in a seat behind the third base dugout for opposing players kept yelling for Ott to strike out every time the slugger went to the plate.

★ ★ ★

Twice during the game Ott obliged by fanning the breezes. After the second time as he came back to the dugout he looked into the seats and said with a grin, "Anything else I can do for you."

A few weeks later with Pittsburgh in a frenzy of pennant fever, the Giants were back in town. Among the fans in the seats near the third base dugout was the same kid. When Ott went toward the plate, the crowd started yelling for the Buc pitcher to strike him out.

Forbes Field was jammed that day. In fact ground rules were in effect as the crowd was roped off in right and center fields.

His first trip up, Ott did strike out. The next two times he drove the ball into the crowd for ground-rule doubles. In the top of 9th with the score tied, Ott again heard that kid yelling for him to strike out as he left the dugout.

Ott didn't strike out. He parked the first pitch into the stands and the run was the margin of victory. After rounding the bases, he stopped on the top step of the dugout and said with a smile to the kid, "That one was for you."

Ott never heard anything more from that pesky kid. In fact, from then on there was only applause for Ott instead of heckling from the kid who sat in the same seat for the next two games of the series.

★ ★ ★

The second part of this story takes place in 1958.

The Tigers were in spring camp down in Lakeland last February and Ott being one of the play-by-play announcers was also there.

A heavy rainstorm washed out practice one day, but after a few hours the sun popped out so this writer headed for a nearby golf course.

★ ★ ★

After about five holes the clouds opened up and once again the rain started. We raced for a nearby tree and found company.

There was Ott standing close to the tree trying to scalp one of the hard-skinned, sun baked oranges he pulled from a branch.

For 20 minutes our conversation carried into baseball and the National League. Being from Pittsburgh this writer had many occasions to watch Ott in action with the Giants.

"That used to be one of my favorite home run parks," said Ott, "I guess it was because the trees from Schenley Park were better on the vision than such places as Shibe Park in Philly where the white shirts in the bleachers would create a glare."

★ ★ ★

"Those Pittsburgh fans were really rough too," Ott added, "their team could do no wrong."

"How about the kid who heckled you a few times?" we asked Ott. The incidents were vague in Ott's mind. He did remember the standing room crowd at one game, the ball he parked into the stands, and something he said afterward to one of the fans.

"Why do you ask?" Ott wanted to know.

"Because I was that kid," this writer answered.

★ ★ ★

The accident and his death last weekend came as a shock to everyone. This is one time we prayed for him to come through with a home run.

But he struck out.

Green Bay Has Been Opponent for 7 Holidays

Rote Helped to Kill Detroit Title Thoughts in 1956 Battle

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Colleges long have had their traditional rivalries on Thanksgiving, but in the pro football ranks the annual clash between the Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers has become the Turkey Day tradition.

Green Bay has been the holiday opponent each year since 1951 and for the second straight season the game will be televised nationally, with a local blackout.

Prior to 1951, other teams such as the New York Yanks, Chicago Cardinals, Boston Yanks and the Chicago Bears had appeared in the Motor City Thanksgiving Day.

Since 1951, Green Bay has won only once in the Turkey clash, but that victory was one which hurt the Lions badly.

★ ★ ★

It was Tobin Rote in 1956 who guided the Packers to a late rally by completing 21 of 40 passes and a 24-20 triumph. That defeat cost the Lions the title in as much as it cut the Detroit lead over the Bears to a half game.

A week later the Bears walloped the Lions and won the crown by a half game.

This has been a short week for the Lions with only three days to actually prepare for the game.

The Lions were badly bruised in the 20-7 loss to the Bears Sunday and will be slowed by injuries to key players.

Green Bay is in the basement of the Western Division with a 1-7-1 record. The tie game was a 13-13 encounter against the Lions in Green Bay in the second contest of the season.

That was the game in which Bobby Layne was criticized for the pitchout which was fumbled in the final seconds of the game while most observers were looking for the Lions to try a field goal and grab a victory.

Coach George Wilson will face his old pro roommate Scooter McLean, now coach of the Packers, in the game which will start at 12 noon.

McLean, in his first season as Packer coach after succeeding Lisle Blackbourn, has traveled a bumpy road thus far.

He recently lambasted several of his players for their indifferent attitudes and promised to make a big sweep of personnel on the squad.

Several former Michigan college stars are listed on the Packer roster, three from Michigan State and another from Michigan. Dan Currie is a top rookie linebacker from State and Hank Bullough and Norm Masters are offensive starters. Len Ford, an 11-year NFL veteran, is the Wolverine representative on the Packer roster.

BPAA Match Finals Today

DETROIT (UPI) — Leading Budweiser of St. Louis was to meet Falstaff today in the third round of the national five-man match game bowling championship and Pfeiffer of Detroit was to roll against Hamms of St. Louis.

Budweiser took the lead late last night by three points at the halfway mark defeating Hamms 3,134 to 3,117.

Pfeiffer bounced back from its afternoon beating yesterday to roll the highest single game and the highest three-game total of the tournament. Pfeiffer took all four points from defending champion Falstaff of St. Louis.

The Detroiters spilled 3,295 pins and had a 1168 middle game.

Steve Nagy was top man for Falstaff with 666. But Hamms' Jack Aydelotte had the highest score so far in the championships with a 722.

Pontiac's Beach Named to IIAC All-League Team

YPSILANTI (UPI) — Southern Illinois swept through the Interstate Conference's honor team just as it did through its IIAC opponents, placing five men on the all-conference team.

Eastern Michigan put three linemen on the squad and Central Michigan's Walt Beach was the only one able to crack the backfield.

The team:

Ends, Charles Shonta, Eastern Michigan, and Jack Atchason, Western Illinois; tackles, Houston Antwine, Southern Illinois, and Carl Elliott, Eastern Michigan; guards, Willie Brown, Southern Illinois, and Howie Scheidt, Illinois Normal; center, Jerry Auchstetter, Western Illinois, and Alex Klukach, Eastern Michigan, (a tie); quarterback, Bill Norwood, Southern Illinois; halfbacks, WALTER BEACH, Central Michigan, and Carver Shannon, Southern Illinois; fullback, Cecil Hart, Southern Illinois.

Winning Title Seems Just Formality

LSU Still Heads Poll

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State, which has completed its first perfect football season in half a century, today was ranked No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll and appeared on the way to winning its first national championship.

Paul Dietzel's outfit finished with a 10-0 record, won the Southeastern Conference championship and will be the host team in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day. All this by a team that could do no better than a .500 mark a year ago and was not even considered a threat for the league title in September.

There will be one more poll next week, but it seems nothing more than a formality for LSU to stay at the top. The Bengals from the Bayou wound up as the only undefeated-untied major college team in the country.

The sports writers and sportscasters gave LSU 115 first place votes, good for 1,445 points based on the usual system of 10 for first, 9 for second and so on.

Actually, there were only 41 first place votes which the Tigers did not corral. And practically all these ballots listed them in second place.

Auburn, last year's national champion—which would have won the SEC title had Louisiana State faltered one little bit, was second with 1,083 points. Auburn had an 8-0-1 mark.

Oklahoma, which will play Syracuse in the Orange Bowl, was the only other team that managed to collect more than 1,000 points. The third place Sooners, beaten once in 9 games, has 1,007 points.

The top 10 teams with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. LSU	(11-0)	1,445
2. Auburn	(8-0-1)	1,083
3. Oklahoma	(8-1)	1,007
4. Iowa	(7-1-1)	962
5. Army	(7-0-1)	941
6. Wisconsin	(7-1-1)	736
7. Air Force	(8-0-1)	513
8. Ohio State	(7-1-1)	360

New Michigan Coach Huddles With Crisler

Elliott Plans for New Grid Era

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's new football era started inconspicuously.

Bump Elliott, the new coach, reported for work as usual yesterday and went to the old office he used as Bennie Oosterbaan's backfield assistant.

Oosterbaan, the retired coach with a new job, took his usual postseason Monday off.

Elliott won't become the Wolverine's coach officially until Jan. 1 but he'll be a busy man until then, planning ahead, visiting alumni, recruiting and arranging his staff.

The new coach's main chore is to rebuild Michigan to its traditional position as a Big Ten power. His problem resembles that which greeted Fritz Crisler, now Wolverine athletic director, when he took over the coaching reins 20 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Crisler built a perennial loser into a formidable outfit in his first season. Elliott hopes to do the same.

"My hopes are that we will be a contender next season," Elliott said yesterday. "But we also had hoped the 1958 team would be a contender, so it's hard to predict.

"It's obvious we are going to miss many of the boys who played this year. There will be weaknesses to overcome. We'll have to improve in many positions and strengthen others."

★ ★ ★

Oosterbaan's last act was to nominate 40 Wolverines for varsity letters, an uncommonly large number. Elliott will have 25 monogram winners returning next season. But many were used sparingly and lack experience.

The major void will be at quarterback. Bob Ptacek who handled the position almost alone this year will be most difficult to replace.

One of his first moves yesterday was to huddle with Crisler. Their talk covered the general area of Michigan's football troubles.

But it is evident the wheels were set in motion for selection of Elliott's staff. The appointments, possibly as many of three, probably won't be announced for some time.

Orioles Sign Retired Wilson for Scouting

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Wilson, who retired recently after pitching 12 years in the major leagues, was signed today to scout for the Baltimore Orioles.

★ ★ ★

Farm Director James M. McLaughlin said Wilson will be assigned to cover that part of California south of Fresno, as well as Utah, Arizona and Southern Nevada. Wilson is a resident of San Diego, Calif.

★ ★ ★

The Orioles also announced that Don McShane of San Francisco, a member of the organization since 1955, has been appointed regional scout supervisor in a nine-state Western area.

Stops Ex-British Champ in Ninth

Folley Beats Long Count

LEICESTER, England (AP)—Heavyweight contender Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz. today found himself with a new tag—the man who beat the British "long count."

It happened last night in his winning fight against Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, the former British Empire heavyweight champion.

The 27-year-old American floored Bygraves for a nine count in the second round. Then came the controversial delay of a second or two in the referee's count. Bygravs got to his feet and the fight continued.

"I reckon the referee could have counted to 12," said Bill Swift, Folley's manager. "But it's okay. It gave the British a chance to see just how good Folley is."

There was no official explanation of the "long count," but it seemed to stem from a misunderstanding between Scottish Referee Frank Wilson and the timekeeper.

Follwy, the third-ranked challenger for Floyd Patterson's world title, toyed with Bygraves. He threw 10 punches for every one by the Jamaican and left his opponent with a badly bruised and almost closed left eye.

Referee Wilson stopped the fight with one second remaining in the ninth round. The bout was scheduled for 10.

Prep Officials Will Penalize Cage Stalling

LANSING (UPI) — High school basketball officials have been warned that referees will emphasize enforcement of regulations aimed at preventing stalling.

Charles Forsythe, state high school athletic director, said both teams — whether behind or ahead in a game — will lose possession of the ball if they stall.

"Every so often you'll run across a team that stalls even when it is behind so the score won't be lopsided," Forsythe said.

The state official said efforts to halt stalling were emphasized during 22 rules meetings held throughout the state.

What—No Knockout

NEW YORK (AP)—Victor Zalazar, unbeaten Argentine middle-weight stopped his 15th straight opponent Monday night. This time the victim was Frank Keating on a TKO in 41 seconds of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round match at St. Nicholas Arena. Zalazar weighed 156, Keating 161 pounds.

Season tickets for Pontiac Central High's 1958-59 basketball campaign are now on sale at PCH. The price is $7 a book to Central's seven home games, but does not include the game with new Pontiac Northern Feb. 3 at Northern.

PCH season tickets will be sold through Wednesday, Dec. 3. Ducats can be obtained in person at PCH, by telephone or by mail.

Single tickets at a cost of $1 per game go on sale Monday before the game. Individual ducats will be sold at downtown Osmun's, Tel-Huron and PCH. Central's 1st home game is Friday, Dec. 5, with Detroit Catholic Central.

Kennedy Paces MSU to X-Country Crown

EAST LANSING (AP)—A Scottish import, slightly-built Crawford Kennedy of Michigan State, showed his heels to the field in the 20th annual NCAA run here yesterday.

Kennedy ran the four miles over the snow and slush-covered MSU golf course in a winning 20:07.1. Michigan State also scored a team win, its seventh in the history of the meet to go with Big Ten and IC4A victories earlier this season.

It was a good day for Michigan runners.

Ed Vanderheuvel of Central Michigan placed second, about 40 yards behind Kennedy. Art Eversole of Western Michigan was third.

The Spartans won the team title with a low of 79 points. Western Michigan placed second with 104 and Army was third with 111.

★ ★ ★

In addition to this national first, Kennedy now has won the IC4A twice and twice was second in the Big Ten. A native of Scotland, he now lives in Toronto, Ont. A older brother, Henry, won both the Big Ten and IC4A titles twice.

Deacon Jones of Iowa, who beat out Kennedy in the Big Ten this year, dogged his footsteps most of the way. Kennedy took a lead going up a slight incline just before the two mile mark. Jones paced him step for step for about a mile but got lost in the pack when Kennedy put on a spurt to come breezing into the finish line.

Jones wound up 88th in the field of 106 finishers.

The route over the recently-opened golf course was a new one for the meet. Kennedy's time set a new course record but was well above the meet record of 19:12.3. set last year by Max Treux of Southern California.

Tops Ed Litzenberger and Geoffrion in NHL Race

MONTREAL (AP)—Andy Bathgate, star right winger of the New York Rangers, has taken a commanding lead in the National Hockey League's scoring race on the strength of an eight-point pickup in last week's games.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate had three goals and five assists and boosted his point total to 28. Ed Litzenberger of Chicago, the co-leader with Bathgate a week ago, managed a lone goal and dropped into a second place deadlock with Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion of Montreal. Each has 21 points.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate has 14 goals and 14 assists. His goal total is the highest in the NHL. Henri Richard of the Canadiens leads in assists with 16.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit has the best record among the goalies. He has yielded an average of 2.30 goals a game.

This Is a Fair Exchange?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams Monday admitted he was somewhat miffed at Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts over an exchange of game movies.

To TV viewers here, it appeared Gillman gave Ewbank a brushoff —or at best, a cold handshake— as they met on the field after the Colts massacred Los Angeles Sunday, 34-7.

Gillman denied the brush-off.

"But I'll say this, we're certainly unhappy over the movies. We provided a film that showed 22 players on the field.

★ ★ ★

"In return, we get a TV copy that showed nothing but quarterback George Shaw handing the ball off to someone, Alan Ameche or somebody, against the Cardinals."

The films are exchanged between National Football League clubs for scouting purposes.

MSU was team champion.

Only Rose and Orange Foes Settled

Bowl Scramble Continues

By The Associated Press

The Air Force Academy, precocious and coy, appears ready to climax its leap from obscurity to limelight by filling a Cotton Bowl berth. Washington State has asked permission to leave its own backyard. And Rutgers is worried about wrestling schedules.

That's a brief look at the way things shape up today for the year-end college football bowl games.

Two of the five major bowls are filled—the Rose and Orange. But only one, the Gator, is without even one team.

★ ★ ★

Here's the card at the moment:

Rose—Iowa (7-1-1) vs. California (7-3).

Orange — Oklahoma (8-1) vs. Syracuse (8-1).

Cotton—Texas Christian (8-1) for sure vs. Air Force (8-0-1) probably.

Sugar—Louisiana State (10-0) for sure vs. Clemson (7-2) possibly.

Gator—Playing a waiting game.

Among the other major college bowls, the Sun is half filled after getting an acceptance from Wyoming (7-3) Sunday, the Blue Grass has been snubbed by Kentucky and the Tangerine hopes for an acceptance today from Buffalo (8-1).

Air Force appears the best bet to land a berth among all the teams scrambling for someplace to go. But the brass won't make up its mind publicly until after Saturday's game with Colorado.

The Air Force can have its pick of the Cotton, Gator and Tangerine. A drubbing in a bowl debut could ground Air Force as a poor attendance risk for a few more years.

But there's no question about that record of the Falcons, who could have a ticket to the Sugar Bowl, too, except for Louisiana's segregation law. That tie on the Air Force record was a 13-13 wrangle with Iowa, the Big Ten champ.

The Cotton Bowl host, TCU, made it as Southwest Conference champ, an automatic bowl bonanza such as those picked up by Iowa, California and Oklahoma when they won the Big Ten, Pacific Coast and Big Eight championships. LSU, the nation's top-ranked team, is the Southeastern Conference champ, but while that title usually carries Sugar Bowl rights, it's no outright guarantee.

Both Iowa and California needed conference approval, however. Iowa received its okay last week, California was endorsed yesterday.

Washington State, the runner-up, petitioned the PCC for permission to go a-bowling. Under the PCC-Big Ten agreement only one member of each conference goes to a bowl—and that's the Rose.

But there is a precedent for State (Oregon went to the 1949 Cotton Bowl while Northwestern beat California in the Rose Bowl), and the Cougars (7-3) have put in for a rule waiver. Both the PCC and Big Ten have to approve it.

The Cougars would like the Sugar Bowl opening, although their petition has alerted the Gator and the Blue Grass committees as well.

The Blue Grass group, turned down by Kentucky in a squad vote yesterday after school administrators had okayed the trip, has quite a list of potential guests for its debut in Louisville Dec. 13. Among the teams on the list is Rutgers.

The Knights have record, will play, but want to know quick because of scheduling commitments for winter sports. Rutgers is small, creating an overlap of athletes, and quite a few footballers are wrestlers too.

The Blue Grass comittee last night told Rutgers (8-1) "to hold up on wrestling commitments for a few days," adding that the Knights are "under serious consideration."

So are Alabama, North Carolina, Pitt, West Virginia, Florida, Georgia Tech, Florida State, Clemson, Tulsa, Cincinnati and Washington State—if, Alabama is a "top choice."

Clemson pops up on quite a few lists. The Tigers are Atlantic Coast Conference champs, a title which until this season meant a trip to the Orange Bowl.

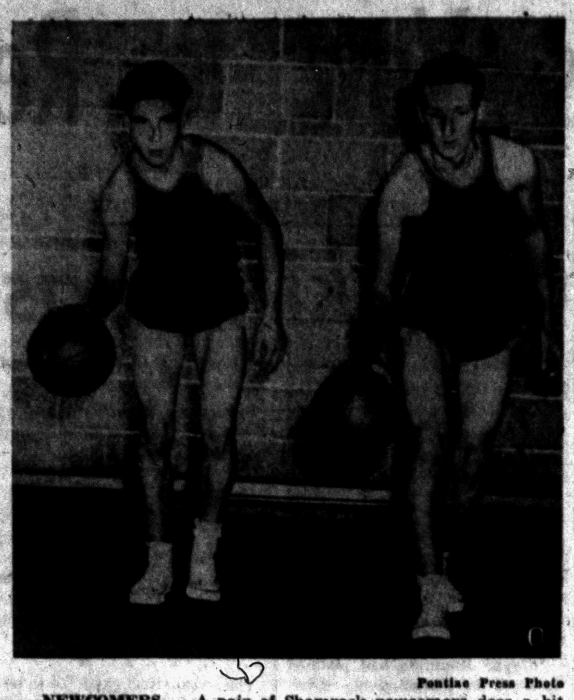

★ ★ ★

The Gator, as usual, finds itself waiting for the "leftovers," although it has major status and has had its share of dandy duels. Many of its teams on the past have come from the SEC and Southwest, which brings Southern Methodist into the picture. SMU could be a prime choice if it upsets TCU this weekend—but that might nail the Mustangs a Sugar Bowl bid, too.

Florida State is an unofficial choice to face Buffalo in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 27. Mississippi Southern, East Texas State, Tulsa, Miami, Ohio and Virginia Military also are prospects.

Fewer Spring Games

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane announced today the Cleveland Indians will play a spring training schedule of 29 games — eight fewer than last spring.

NEWCOMERS — A pair of Shamrock newcomers does a bit of dribbling for the benefit of the Press cameraman. Both Paul Harding (10) and Joe Heitjan (12) have looked good in St. Michael workouts, says Coach Jim Niebauer. Both are prospects for varsity berths on the north side squad, rated this year a possible title contender, with an all-veteran list of starters back in action.

Rams, Shamrocks, Eaglets Top-Rated

Hot Title Contest Looms for SCL

By H. GUY MOATS

There's another red-hot title campaign a-brewing in the Suburban Catholic Basketball League.

★ ★ ★

The 1958-59 scramble could easily be a carbon-copy of the recently closed 3-way football championship. The same three clubs, plus Orchard Lake St. Mary, are rated as prime contenders. They include last year's championship St. Benedict five, and Pontiac's St. Frederick (3rd place) and St. Michael (6th). Eaglets were a close 2nd, back of the Ravens.

The parochials open their season Sunday when Ravens entertain Lourdes. Orchard Lake St. Mary entertains Detroit St. Andrews on Monday, Dec. 1 and St. Frederick will be host to Detroit St. Elizabeth Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Each of the top clubs lost key players from the 1957-58 teams. Rams and Shamrocks were not hit as hard as the defending champions. St. Frederick lost ace playmaker Dick Nichols; St. Michael's, Bob Mineweaser; St. Mary, Art Goidszinski and Stan Moniuszko; St. Benedict, Larry Gacki and Ab Phillion, ace scorers, also several other first stringers.

Rams' coach Gene Wright has seven returnees, including all-county Tom Derocher, area's top scorer with 252 points in 16 games. Gene has a squad of 40, one of his biggest in years. Starters back include, besides Derocher, Joe Keller, Steve Pocs, Phil Bieri, Jim Kennedy and Mike Fraser, plus the Dirker boys, Jere and Gary. Rams will have experience and height.

New head coach Jim Neibauer (Jim was assistant last several years) is working with a Shamrock squad of 35, which he says is the largest in years, with fine potential. He has all starters back, including Chuck Steinhelper, Art Robak (last year's sensational freshman), George Drake, Tom Dabbs, Pat Campbell and Don Mountain. Newcomer Jim Zugras, along with several others may help.

Ron Call, 1957-58 varsity man, yesterday was lost to the squad. A broken right hand has put him out for the season, Niebauer said this morning. Niebauer mentioned two newcomers as having good possibilities as varsity material. They are juniors Paul Harding and Joe Heitjan. Latter is being tried at the pivot.

Art Massucci's Raven squad has only two of its 1957-58 divisional champion starters back, in his 26-player roster. They are Art Massucci Jr. and Eddie Everhardt, a guard and forward. It will be a real job to rebuild the team, the coaching staff says.

Rev. John Rakoczy says his Eaglet squad should be faster, but lack a little, defensively. His hopes rest chiefly on top scorer Chet Wlodkowski (210 points last year), and sophomore Glenn Haas. All starters are capable scorers. Other first stringers include Mike Wiktor, Bill Votruba, Don Duszynski, and Stan Krogulecki.

Spartans Vow to Rebuild 'Empire'

MSU President Says School to 'Move Forward'

Hannah Gives Support to Present Personnel in Athletics

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Players, coaches and university officials vowed last night to work together in rebuilding Michigan State's crumbled football empire.

"We'll do fine in '59," said athletic director Biggie Munn at the annual MSU football banquet.

"We'll do darn fine in '59," emphasized center Don Wright, Dearborn junior, who was named team captain to replace All-American end contender Sam Williams, who was named MSU's most valuable player.

MSU president John A. Hannah said the Spartans are "going forward with the same program and same personnel that have done well before and will do well again."

★ ★ ★

"Football has tenure at Michigan State," Hannah said. "Its place in the university program is secure."

Head coach Duffy Daugherty, who joked with Munn about reports the two had been feuding, announced that 40 players won varsity letters during the Spartan 3-5-1 season.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams was on hand to present the Governor's Trophy to Williams, whom he called "Cousin Sammy." The two are not related.

★ ★ ★

End Tom Vershinski, Mt. Carmel, Pa., was not among the 40 letter winners, but he was given the annual Oil Can award for contributing the most to team humor.

"We didn't have much to laugh about this year," Daugherty said, "Tom really earned his award."

Players and coaches alike were heartened by the showing earlier in the day when the MSU "Green" team downed the "White" squad 13-12.

Michigan State was left with the prospect of having eight possible quarterbacks next season.

Leroy Loudermilk, Wilkensburg, Pa., completed a 65-yard pass play to halfback Carl Charon, Boyne City, and another 75-yard pass play to end Art Brandstatter Jr., East Lansing, to lead the "Green" team to victory.

Three other quarterbacks on the '58 varsity squad—Larry Bielat, Greg Montgomery and Tom Wilson—were among 40 Spartans to be awarded letters last night.

Sophomores Ike Grimsley and James Chesney did not win letters but saw action late in the season and were expected to get further tryouts in spring practice.

The varsity letter winners:

Winter Season Awaits More Snow

69 Ski Areas Ready to Go

LANSING (UPI)—A speedup in plans for the biggest winter sports season in state history was reported today as 69 ski areas waited for more of the snow that covered much of the Michigan landscape yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The tourist council said it was possible there would be some skiing this weekend at least one of the nine areas where snowmaking machines will be in operation this season.

"Boyne Mountain had planned to start the Thanksgiving weekend," council secretary Robert J. Furlong said. "It all depends on the weather."

The nine areas need only a sustained period of cold weather to get machines in operation.

★ ★ ★

Mt. Christie, five miles north of Oxford and Dryden, 25 miles from Pontiac, will open with snow-making machines this year.

Traverse City's Holiday Hills, one of the last areas to close last year, will start its first full season with a snow machine.

★ ★ ★

The season isn't expected to be in full swing until after Christmas but enthusiasm was reported building up already. Some 5,000 skiers turned out for the third annual Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council convention last weekend.

"We expect at least 150,000 skiers to turn out for the 1958-59 season," Furlong said. "With a break from the weatherman, we expect our best season yet."

Six new ski areas have been added in Michigan this year, giving the state more winter sports center than any state east of the Rockies.

West Michigan has 24 centers with the addition of Nub's Nob, five miles Northeast of Harbor Springs.

★ ★ ★

East Michigan also has 24 ski centers, including four new ones—Mt. Frederick, at the village of Frederick; Mott ski area, at Farwell; Mt. Christie and Dryden.

Mt. Joy, at Wakefield, is the latest addition in the Upper Peninsula.

The UP's Pine Mountain has added a new three-story Swiss-type Chalet, three new slopes and a 2,350-foot double chair lift.

Boyne Mountain has added a double chair lift and Avalanche a pomalift.

★ ★ ★

A $60,000 improvement program at Cadillac's Caberfae area included installation of a double chair lift.

In East Michigan, new installations include a chair lift at Otsego Ski Club; a T-bar lift at Snow Valley; a snack bar and ski shop at Lovell's Winter Playland; two new toboggan runs at Silver Valley; and double the number of ski runs at Grayling winter sports park.

A pomalift was added at Grampian Mountain at Oxford.

The tourist council said there will be a heavy concentration of winter sports promotion this year.

★ ★ ★

The Consumers Power Co. area development department yesterday mailed 35,000 copies of a ski promotion map for the northern Lower Peninsula to college students throughout the Midwest.

However, the council reminded outdoor enthusiasts Michigan also offers skating, tobogganing, iceboating hunting and ice-fishing besides skiing in the winter.

Bear was shot in a hollow tree den near Iron Mt., both men firing at the same instant. Paul will mount the head, Phil gets a bearskin rug. Phil (262 Clayburn) also got a buck. Pistons to Host Lakers Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — Red Rocha, after seeing his Detroit Pistons lose three straight to the top clubs, said he welcomed a shot at the tail-enders and tonight the Pistons will go for three in a row on the winning side of the ledger.

The Pistons host the Minneapolis Lakers tonight, moving back into Olympia after a two-week absence because of an ice show.

Detroit whipped Cincinnati and Minneapolis over the weekend and the Lakers will be travel weary when they come in tonight. They had to play Boston at Charlotte, N. C., last night.

A victory would put the Pistons back at the .500 mark.

Rookie Baylor First in Hoop Point Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis, already entrenched as an established star in his first year in the National Basketball Assn., has moved into first place in the league's scoring race.

Baylor has amassed 382 points in games through Sunday—a 25.5 a game average—for a 17-point margin over Detroit's George Yardley. Yardley is the defending champion.

Wrong Use of Tools Sends Man to Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Blackstone, 57, explained in court that he was swinging a hammer at his wife when his son-in-law stood up.

"He got in my way and he wasn't even in the argument," Blackstone said.

Judge George D. Neilson asked the defendant if he had been in jail before for assaulting someone with an ax.

"Oh, no, your honor," Blackstone said. "It was with a hatchet."

Minister Ranks Next to De Gaulle

Soustelle's Power Rises

PARIS (UPI) — If Premier Charles de Gaulle is still the most powerful man in France, Sunday's national elections showed that burly, dynamic Information Minister Jacques Soustelle is not far behind.

Dramatically enough, it was Soustelle who was the first of Sunday's candidates to receive the required vote majority for election as a National Assembly deputy.

He was running as a candidate of the Union for the New Republic (UNR), a brand new right-center party he himself had formed only a few weeks ago. Furthermore, the UNR—now generally considered the main "Gaullist" party in France—ended up with 17.6 per cent of the popular vote, making it almost certain that a UNR man would become the Fifth Republic's first premier.

The question today was whether that man is Soustelle.

Some political experts claim that Soustelle, 46, a bespectacled 200-pound, one-time Marxist intellectual turned rightwing political wire-puller, is too far to the right of De Gaulle to be named premier.

★ ★ ★

This may prove true.

Even so, Soustelle's personal and party victory, his youth, energy and intellectual brilliance (he speaks 10 languages), plus the undoubted allegiance he commands among the powerful French right, give him a mighty springboard toward even greater political power than he has now.

Soustelle, who was De Gaulle's trusted wartime lieutenant, is best known as the chief engineer of the revolt of rightist settlers and army officers in Algiers last May that brought down the Fourth Republic and paved the way for De Gaulle's return to power.

To mastermind that uprising on the spot, he slipped past a supposedly tight police guard placed around his Paris home during the French government crisis last May and made his way to Algiers via Switzerland.

★ ★ ★

One of De Gaulle's early acts as premier last summer was to name Soustelle his minister of information. This appointment was bitterly attacked by the Communists and viewed with deep misgivings by many liberals.

As information minister Soustelle had complete control of the state-owned French radio-television network and, according to his enemies, lost little time in exerting pro-government censorship among the nation's press.

He is credited with responsibility for the new majority system electoral law designed to sharply pare down the number of Communists in the national assembly. Judging from the results of yesterday's balloting, the law will have its desired effect.

Soustelle, a former French governor-general in Algiers (1955-56) is also known as a leading advocate of making Algeria a French province.

This has made him public enemy number one of the Algerian Nationalist rebels.

Last September, in fact, he narrowly escaped an assassination attempt when Algerian gunmen tried to shoot him down as he was driving to his office.

Producer Happy to Pay Stars $750,000 Apiece

By JOE FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

NATCHEZ, Miss.—Marty Rackin, a producer making his first independent picture in which stars John Wayne and William Holden get paid $750,000 each, says he's willing to sign up the pair for six films at that price.

Rackin, and fellow writer John Lee Mahin, formed their own company recently and bought "The Horse Soldiers" from author Harold Sinclair for $30,000.

"I'll tell you this," Rackin said, "when we bought the book we didn't have the money to make the picture.

"But, the moment we had the book, the script and John Ford to direct the picture, we could get all the money we needed.

"It was just a matter of deciding who we would let loan us the money."

With a $5,000,000 budget, the picture is one of the biggest being shot today.

★ ★ ★

On location here for some Civil War scene, the 40-year-old Rackin said stars can be gotten for an independent motion picture venture if the story is good enough.

"Everyone thinks a producer today has to have handmade suits and Cadillacs to attract stars," he opined.

"And, when John and I decided to go into business for ourselves, everyone in Hollywood tried to talk us out of it.

"But, we believed that today, because stars are no longer under contract to studios, they can be attracted. And the things that attract them are good stories.

"No matter how big a star a man is, he knows that people won't come to see him in a bad story," he added.

Once they had the book, the producer-writer team took five pages from it and co-authored the script for the picture.

★ ★ ★

The story revolves about a Union cavalry group that raids throughout Confederate territory cutting supply lines.

Besides getting among the biggest salaries in movie history, Wayne and Holden also own part of the picture, a fact which could earn them even more money.

Believes Threat of Bomb a Hoax

Wood Cylinder Found in School's Cloakroom Stuffed With Paper

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—Principal Luther Adams says the bomb threat which caused evacuation of the nearby Mount Pleasant High School Monday "looks like a hoax."

A wooden cylinder found in a cloakroom after the 9:30 a.m. deadline for the explosion turned out to be stuffed with paper. The cylinder was a roller used in clay modeling classes at the racially segregated school of 1,200 pupils.

There has been no agitation for integration in the area.

Classes resume today at the consolidated school in this village of 1,000 population seven miles east of Concord.

Deputy Sheriff Parks Mullis received a telephone call at the Mount Pleasant police headquarters at 9:15 a.m. from a man he described as "crying while talking and apparently hysterical." The caller said the bomb would explode about 15 minutes later, but gave no reason for his act.

A fire alarm was sounded at the school, and the pupils marched out in orderly fashion, not knowing of the bomb threat. They were dismissed for the day.

Jingling, Folding and Checkbook Type

Three Different Kinds of Money

(Following is the second of six dispatches explaining the complexities of that mysterious commodity called money.)

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UPI)—To pay for the goods and services you purchase, you draw on three kinds of money—the jingling kid, the folding kind and the checkbook kind.

The coins and the $1 and $2 bills in your pocket are backed by silver. From $5 on up you're handling Federal Reserve notes backed by more than $20 billion worth of gold.

There are about $28 billion of Federal Reserve notes in circulation. Under law these notes must be backed by 25 per cent in gold.

Federal Reserve banks keep a stack of these notes in their vaults and also draw on a freshly-made supply from Washington. Sometimes you get brand new bills at your bank. The Federal Reserve issues these when the old ones wear out.

Besides the coins and folding money, commercial banks—those which handle checking accounts—actually create money when they make a loan to you. Here's the reason for this:

By law all commercial banks must keep an amount equal to roughly one-sixth of your checking account deposits in cold storage with the Federal Reserve bank of their district. In other words, each of these so-called "reserve" dollars supports six checkbook dollars.

Say you deposit $600 in your checking account. Your bank automatically puts $100 of this into its reserve account with the Federal Reserve bank of its district.

But the remaining $500 it can lend, say that Joe Smith wants to borrow the $500 to buy a used car. The bank lends Smith the money. He in turn pays the car dealer with a check.

When the car dealer puts the $500 into his bank this bank puts one-sixth or $83 into its reserve account. The remaining $417 it, in turn, can lend to someone else.

This process, providing there's a demand for loans, continues until that original $600 has been blown up into $3,600.

It's through making loans, not only to individuals but to the government, small businesses and big corporations, that banks earn a profit an delay in business.

And if you happen to have a savings account in a commercial bank part of the money the bank earns goes back to you as interest on your account.

If you have a checking account at a bank it's called a demand deposit. This is because your money can be withdrawn on demand.

Your savings account, on the other hand, is called a time deposit because the bank technically can require notice — usually 30 or 60 days—before you withdraw your money.

Read the small print in your savings book sometime and you'll see this provision spelled out.

Both Parties Consider Chicago for Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Republicans and Democrats have their eyes on Chicago as a possible site for the 1960 presidential nominating conventions—but for opposite reasons.

The Republicans want to revive their strength in the Midwest where they received a whipping in the Nov. 4 elections.

The Democrats want to flex their new Midwest muscles and keep their opponents down.

The Democratic National Committee is expected to name its convention site at a Dec. 6 meeting. The Republicans probably will wait until late December or mid-January.

A choice in the Midwest is by no means certain. Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler has just come back from Miami Beach where he inspected its possibilities as a convention site.

If both parties want the Midwest the odds are on Chicago. No other city from the area has bid for both conventions.

In 1956 the Democrats met in Chicago while the Republicans met in San Francisco. But if they meet in 1960 at the same site probably a week apart they could share construction and decoration costs.

Kansas City Louisville and Cleveland also have bid for the Republican convention.

Philadelphia Atlantic City and New York in the East and San Francisco and Los Angeles in the Far West are bidding for both conventions.

Bakery Worker Admits Murder

Slaying in New York of 10-Year-Old Girl Solved by Confession

NEW YORK (AP) — A young bakery worker has confessed, police say, to the murder of 10-year-old Rose Ann Breen, a golden-haired Irish girl. Her battered body was found Monday beneath a staircase in her Bronx apartment house.

Police said Jerry Roth, 23, confessed to the killing but insisted he had not sexually assaulted the child. Detectives said an attempt to rape her apparently had been made.

★ ★ ★

Arrested after police broke into his apartment, Roth denied all knowledge of the crime for more than six hours, then broke down late Monday night and admitted the slaying, police said. First described as unemployed, Roth was on vacation from a job as mealmixer in the Manischewitz Bakery in Jersey City, N.J.

His 18-year-old wife Annette, who is pregnant, was under sedation and near collapse. Roth's father Joseph collapsed from a heart attack in the police station when he learned of his son's confession.

★ ★ ★

Slender, blue-eyed Rose Ann was attacked as she returned from a shopping errand for her family Monday afternoon. Police said the slayer apparently used only his fists.

Detectives followed a trail of bloodstains to Roth's apartment in the same building. When they got no answer to repeated knocks, they broke in.

They found Roth lying on a bed. They also found several blood-stained articles in the apartment, including clothes.

★ ★ ★

Found in a trash can near the apartment house were Rose Ann's blood-spattered clothes.

Rose Ann came to this country with her family from Rathgar, Dublin, in July 1957. Her father Lawrence Breen, 39, recently treated for tuberculosis, is unemployed. He and his wife Winifred, 30, have another daughter, Vivian, 5.

One neighbor said of the little parochial school pupil: "She was a wonderful girl, constantly at her books, a priceless child."

Graham Wins 17th

CHICAGO (AP) — Gene Graham of Detroit, lightweight champion of Michigan, won his 17th straight fight last night, taking an eight-round unanimous decision from Don Ward of Gary, Ind., in the Midwest gym.

Both fighters weighed 138.

TV Bribery Rumors to Be Probed Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators reopen hearings today in a renewed attempt to pin down rumors that bribery played a role in the awarding to Television Channel 4 in Pittsburgh.

Specifically, the House group said it hopes to determine whether the rumors were deliberately manufactured in an effort to influence the Federal Communications Commission in awarding the channel.

The subcommittee, created to look into operations of independent regulatory agencies such as the FCC, has heard conflicting second and third hand testimony that former FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey indirectly sought a $50,000 payment from one channel applicant and that another applicant sought to bribe him with $200,000 in the guise of retainers for legal services.

4 Daughters' Birthdays on Same Day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Nobody has figured out the odds against it but Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. LeBlanc have the birthday party problem for their five daughters pretty well whipped:

Wrap up four parties in one big one every Nov. 21 and the other on May 3.

Jarleth, daughter No. 5, arrived last Friday, Nov. 21.

First there was Andrea, born Nov. 21, 1951. Then came Lynette on Nov. 21, 1953.

Next was Diedre, Nov. 21, 1955.

"It just seemed to happen that way," LeBlanc said.

The fifth daughter? Oh, that's Donna. "She's an odd one that came on May 3, 1957," Mrs. LeBlanc, 30, said.

Their family doctor said the odds were "pretty infinite" against four children being born to the same parents on identical dates.

Falls Through Sky, but He's No Martian

A man reportedly "falling through the sky" in Troy Sunday afternoon didn't turn out to be a visitor from Mars. He was just a parachutist trying out a new type of parachute, according to Troy Police.

Before he was found at 14-Mile road and Stephenson highway, Troy and Royal Oak police switchboards were flooded with calls about the mystery man.

Officers found Thomas R. Shelton, 30, of 4345 Hampton St., Royal Oak, dangling from a tree on which his parachute was snagged.

Shelton said he has been a parachutist for 12 years and had just jumped from a small plane.

State Highway Plans for Saginaw System Up for Approval

City Commissioners tonight are expected to give final approval to State Highway Department plans for finishing the Saginaw street progressive traffic light system.

They will also be asked to approve financing arrangements whereby the city will pay approximately $2,500, or about one-half the cost.

With approval, the state will order the city to proceed locally with remodeling of the Saginaw lights from Oakland to South boulevard.

The work could be accomplished and the system in effect by the end of the year, City Manager Walter K. Willman, predicted. Remodeling of the Oakland avenue-Lafayette street lighting has already been finished.

Still to be done are modernization of four other traffic signals in the downtown area plus retiming of all the Saginaw signals to allow traffic to flow smoothly, uninterrupted by red lights.

Commissioners last week approved locating a new signal at Elm street, replacing the two at Rapid and Raeburn streets. Signals will also be dropped at Warren and Water street.

Commissioners, in other business, are scheduled to adopt an amendment to the revenue bond ordinance for Pontiac General Hospital parking lot financing.

The amendment gives the commission discretion to erect on-street parking meters in the hospital area, if necessary to protect revenues from the lot.

If passed, the amendment will be sent to the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing, which has the original ordinance under study.

Two zoning ordinances are scheduled for readings. One rezones five lots at the northwest corner of Walton boulevard and University avenue to Commercial 1. The other rezones 719 W. Huron St. to Commercial 1, rectifying the nonconforming use of the property by a cleaning establishment.

A public hearing is scheduled on an assessment roll for a sidewalk on the south side of Linda Vista drive, Joslyn to Vernon.

Grains Fall Off as Trade Sags

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market failed to muster more than scattered buying support in early board of trade activity today and prices eased again.

It was the third consecutive day of general market pressure and traders said there was nothing of sufficient influence to indicate when or where a turn might be reached.

Although there still was talk that farm selling of grains continued very slow, there did not appear to be any urgency about attracting more supplies into Chicago commercial positions.

Near the end of the first hour, prices had become irregular with wheat unchanged to ½ cent a bushel lower, December $1.96¼; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December old type contract $1.13⅜; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 64¾; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, December $1.31; soybeans unchanged to ¼ lower, January $2.15⅛.

600 Pheasants Too Much, Says British Press

LONDON (UPI) — The Laborite Daily Herald complained today that the 600 pheasants Prince Philip and half a dozen friends shot at Windsor yesterday were too many.

"Pheasant for breakfast, pheasant for lunch, pheasant for tea and pheasant for supper" the Herald said. "They will get so bored with the things . . . after Prince Philip's little shooting party.

"What they don't eat they will sell, or give away to local hospitals, but 600—it's an awful lot."

Queen Elizabeth, who went riding yesterday in Windsor Great Park, was not a member of the shooting party.

For Philip, it was the fourth hunt of the season. On a previous occasion, at the royal residence in Sandringham, he was said to have shot so many birds that game keepers warned the estate's stock of pheasant might be exhausted.

Market Shows Signs of Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its decline in heavy trading early today, but rallying tendencies were shown by selected issues, making the drop irregular.

Pivotal issues were down fractions to well over a point. Gains in about the same range were made by a minority of stocks.

The market seemed to be weathering the shock of yesterday's drop, the steepest in three years. The ticker tape was late for a period of about 15 minutes in the first rush as a string of big blocks was traded.

Turnover moderated somewhat and the number of plus signs increased.

Steels, coppers, utilities, oils, rubbers, electrical equipments and most aircrafts were down. Rails, tobaccos, drugs, electronics and motors were mixed.

Goodrich was off about 2 points. Losses of about a point were taken by American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Merck and General Electric. Fractional losers included Bethlehem, Goodyear, Boeing, Liggett & Myers and Texas Co.

Du Pont lost more than a point. Lorillard was a bright spot, advancing about 2. U.S. Steel was a fraction higher at the start, then showed a slight loss. Eastman Kodak, Baltimore & Ohio, Schering and American Can were fractionally higher.

Profit Reported by Auto Firm

American Motors Out of Red First Time Since 1954

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. has reported a net profit of $26,085,134, equal to $4.64 a share, for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1958.

It was the first profit reported by American Motors since it was formed in May 1954 through consolidation of Nash-Kelvinator Corp. and Hudson Motor Car Co.

It had a loss of $11,833,200, equal to $2.12 a share, in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1957.

American Motors was the only automaker in the United States to have a better year in 1958 than in 1957.

George Romney, president, announced directors had voted a five per cent stock dividend, payable Jan. 5 to stockholders of record Dec. 5.

The company reported net sales for the fiscal year amounted to $470,349,420 compared with $366,391,830 in the preceding fiscal year.

"The financial results in the 1958 fiscal year are a forceful indication that the Rambler car has achieved a major breakthrough in the automobile market," Romney said. "The progress is accelerating daily and expansion steps are under consideration."

Romney added that as of Sept. 30, American Motors had working capital of $79,915,900 against $46,238,796 a year earlier, and had eliminated all its bank indebtedness. He said three million dollars of long-term debt due Sept. 30, 1959, had been transferred to current liabilities.

Because of its favorable cash position, he said, it had not been necessary for the company to draw against the 15 million dollar credit maintained with a group of 27 banks.

He added that total sales of Rambler and Metropolitan cars to dealers amounted to 189,807 units in the fiscal year 1958, compared with 119,586 total sales in the prior year.

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE — The first man who goes into orbit around the earth and returns is likely to do it in a free-falling space capsule instead of a winged craft. Such a vehicle is shown above — bullet-shaped, about seven feet in diameter, with a blunt nose. The spaceman is strapped in a reclining position at the base of the cone. Retro-rockets will slow the cone down as it re-enters the atmosphere. During the last few thousand feet, the capsule will descend by parachute (folded object, center). Drawing is based on a Northrop Aircraft idea which appeared in Mechanix Illustrated magazine.

Irish Warns NBA It Cannot Buck Coast Football

BOSTON (AP)— Ned Irish, executive vice president of the New York Knickerbockers, says the National Basketball Assn. would be foolhardy to buck college and pro football on the West Coast.

Irish said at a basketball luncheon yesterday that football on the West Coast draws as many as 100,000 to a single game "and nothing else sportswise can exist."

"Their season is very long, too," he said. "When's that pro bowl game? Jan. 12? A half of our season is gone."

Irish said the NBA has "a lot to do with what we have" without expanding.

Bobo Olson, Young to Collide Tonight

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Bobo Olson and Paddy Young, two 30-year-old boxers, who made their fame as middleweights, collide tonight on the comeback trail as light heavyweights.

Olson, the former world 160-pound champion, is favored to whip the New York Irishman as he did five years ago for the American title.

Bobo stopped Don Grant and punched him into the hospital in his first bout in this comeback and looked impressive at 173 pounds. Young, 167, fought to a draw a month ago against Otis Woodard in New York in his initial outing after a three-year layoff.

Michigan Pilot Tries to Fly for Rebels

Cuba and U.S. Ground Cowboy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young Michigan cowboy today laid aside for the time being his announced ambition to fly for the Cuban rebels.

Even the luck of David M. Richmond evaporated in the face of opposition from two governments, his own and that of Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

The FBI held Richmond, 25, of Flint, Mich., in $2,500 bail on a charge of flying a rented plane to Cuba.

Agents took the slim youth into custody after he stepped off an airliner from Havana yesterday. Cuban authorities deported him after his arrest by Cuban air force men on the Isle of Pines, off Cuba's southwest coast.

He waived preliminary hearing before a U.S. commissioner on a charge of transporting a plane rented from Teterboro, N.J. Aircraft Service.

After questioning Richmond, still dressed in cowboy boots and western clothes and sporting a black mustache, special agent Lee O. Teague related this story:

Richmond, an ex-serviceman, was hired in Mexico City by a Cuban named Ruiz. His job was to get a four-seater plane and fly it to Cuba. Ruiz promised a monthly salary of $400 as pilot for the rebels in Oriente Province.

Richmond's first jump was to Montreal. There he was joined by Jeane Marie Lewis, 25, a Canadian Aeronautics Administration worker Richmond said he married in Mexico City.

Hiring the plane at Teterboro, the pair headed toward the Isle of Pines, making the flight in short hops.

One stop was planned at Havana Airport. But by mistake Richmond put the Cessna 172 down at a military field, Columbia Airport near Havana.

There obliging Cuban military men pointed the way to his rendezvous point with the rebels.

A short time after he reached the Isle of Pines, he was arrested and taken to Havana.

His companion was referred to the British embassy while the U.S. embassy handled details on returning the plane to Teterboro. The Cuban government put Richmond on a plane.

Search in Flint Near Dead End

Leads Meager on Girl Missing Since Friday, but Hunt Continues

FLINT (AP)—The search for 7-year-old Adele Wells who disappeared Friday continued today, but police said they were almost at a dead end in their investigation of the puzzling disappearance.

Genesee County sheriff's officers and local police continued to sift clues, but said their leads were meager.

Adele, daughter of Karl W. Wells, a Flint factory worker, and member of a family of nine, disappeared while walking to school shortly before noon Friday.

Early reports by some of the girl's playmates that they saw her forced into a pink and white automobile near her home Friday have been discounted by the police.

★ ★ ★

More than 1,000 persons searched for the girl Sunday, but found nothing and officers said there would be no more mass searches, although all police have been instructed to be especially watchful for the child.

Another report that a small girl was seen being put in a car by a man at about the time Adele disappeared still is being investigated. Police are checking tire marks in the area where the car was seen.

Police said the man was reported as being young and either white or a light skinned Negro. Adele is a Negro.

Stocks Take Biggest Tumble in 3 Years

Is Big Bull Market Over?

NEW YORK (AP)—Is the big bull market of 1958 over?

That was the question being asked in Wall Street today after the stock market took its biggest tumble in three years.

★ ★ ★

An estimated $6,700,000,000 was erased from total value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange Monday in a prolonged burst of selling. Leading stocks dropped from $1 to $4 a share or more.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $5.20 to $200.70 for the sharpest break since a plunge of $11.40 on Sept. 26, 1955, after President Eisenhower's heart attack.

On Friday the average was down $1.80, which was the biggest decline in a month.

★ ★ ★

Monday's shakeout came after a consistent eight-month rise in the market which had set one record high after another.

On April 4, the AP average stood at $159.40. Bullish sentiment then swept Wall Street and the market advanced steadily with the average setting an all-time high in October. Last Thursday the average reached a new peak of $207.70.

★ ★ ★

Some brokerage houses suggested that a correction was about due. Brokers said that some traders used those reports as an excuse to take profits on stocks which had gone up sharply.

Most Wall Street sources said institutions were doing little selling. Institutions also were doing little buying, they said, and this accounted for some of the wide losses.

Shoots Crippled Car

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Harold Pippin said yesterday he didn't bag any deer on a recent hunting trip but did shoot his car's exhaust pipe. He couldn't get the auto started after smashing the exhaust pipe when he hit a tree, Pippin said, so he took dead aim and shot the pipe free.

The Salvation Army, which was founded in England in 1865 by the Rev. William Booth, was first known as The Christian Mission.

7 Bids Opened in Waterford

Firefighters Apparatus Sought; 2 New Home Developments OK'd

Seven bids for Waterford Township firefighting apparatus were opened, two new home developments were approved, and the possibility of construction of a midget auto race track in the township were the main items of last night's Waterford Township Board Meeting.

Fire truck bids ranged from $15,000 to $18,000 and each had several different price-quotes on various parts of apparatus. The bids were referred to a special five-member committee for analysis and recommendation.

The board approved a 41-lot plat for development of the Watkins Hills Subdivision No. 3, located on Watkins Lake Rd. near Baybrook Drive. Also approved was the Richardson Farms No. 2 Subdivision with 18 lots located on Hatchery Rd. and Carlos drive.

A hearing date was set for Dec. 15 for the reviewing of a special assessment district for blacktopping Camley street.

★ ★ ★

There was discussion on the pros and cons of allowing the construction of a midget race track in a thinly populated area in the township.

The proposed track would be built on an 8-acre tract of land on M59 just west of the Rolladium, according to promoter J. E. Buckburrough, of 870 Menominee St.

The township racing ordinance requires that such a project be completely fenced in, that all operations cease by 10 p.m., and that two special deputies be on the premises.

Only boys and girls from 4 to 15 years of age would compete in small cars equipped with lawnmower-type motors, Buckburrough said.

★ ★ ★

The area is zoned light manufacturing and if the track were established would net the township $2,500 in yearly license fees. Buckburrough told the board that he would present a complete set of plans for the proposed race track at next week's board meeting.

Condition Satisfactory After Auto Accident

A Pontiac Township woman, Anna C. Thompson, 53, of 3595 Baldwin Rd., is listed in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after suffering a broken leg in an auto accident yesterday.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said her auto collided with one driven by Patrick G. Murdock, 21, of 2435 Mann Rd., Waterford Township, at Baldwin and Calgary roads, in Pontiac Township. Murdock was uninjured, said deputies.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY husband Charles Tremain who passed away Nov 25, 1950.
Surrounded by friends I am lonesome
In the midst of my joys I am blue:
With a smile on my face, I've a heartache,
Longing dear husband for you.
Sadly missed by wife Tillie.

IN LOVING MEMBRANCE OF MY loving husband David Smith, who passed away 5 years ago today, November 25, 1953.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad and worried;
The life has not been the same,
Since you were called away.
When all is still and silent,
And sleep forsakes my eyes;
My thoughts are in the silent grave;
Where my dear husband lays,
Sadly missed by his wife May.

Utter Undress Poses Problem

But Sack Mode Saves the Day for Producers of Fairy Tale Show

"But the Emperor has nothing on!"

With these simple words from the mouth of a child, the satiric tale of "The Emperor's New Clothes" reaches its climax on "Shirley Temple's Storybook," tonight (NBC-TV network, 8 to 9 p.m.).

This bare-faced exclamation, absolutely essential to the telling of the Hans Christian Andersen story, very nearly scuttled plans for production of the classic tale.

How were the producers going to be able to get across the idea of "nothing on" in a medium designed to reach children and adults in their own living rooms.

"Complete nudity," says producer Alvin Cooperman of Henry Jaffe Enterprises, "was of course out of the question. However, we were determined to do the story faithfully or not at all.

★ ★ ★

"At first it seemed an easy matter to reproduce the illustration in our turn-of-the-century edition of the story, which revealed the Emperor's bare shoulders through the crowd blocking the view of his full body.

"Then it became increasingly clear how embarrassing the scene might be to a family. An entire crowd seen viewing a naked man? This couldn't be.

"We thumbed through illustrations in other editions, found a comic drawing from the angle of the Emperor's posterior in which he was attired solely in his regal crown. A later edition of the 1890's took a modernistic, if not exactly exotic point of view by showing the Emperor in long red flannel underwear. This was a step in the right direction, but not the solution.

★ ★ ★

"We realized that 'nothing on' could mean 'no clothing but undergarments'. Our problem now was to find undergarments which would retain the feeling of the faraway, be historically accurate and embarrass no one."

"The American woman, believe it or not," laughed Cooperman, "came to our rescue with her sack-type chemise.

"The sack so resembles an old-style nightshirt or shift, that we knew we could not embarrass anyone by showing that garment. And sure enough, in illustrations of the 1700s, we found the Emperor grandly marching in only a sack-type shift and his crown, and the little boy saying "But the Emperor has nothing on!"

★ ★ ★

The tale relates the story of the Emperor Maximilian who taxes his subjects to the limit so he can obtain funds for luxurious garments. A clever citizen named Simon devises a scheme to teach the Emperor a lesson and relieve the plight of the people. Simon, aided by young Prince Nils of Corinia, masquerades as a weaver of "magic cloth" which, despite its magnificence, cannot be seen by anyone who is a fool or unfit for high position. And, the plot bares, er, unfolds.

BEHOLD THE EMPEROR! — The emperor clothed only in a nightshirt parades before his subjects in the "Emperor's New Clothes," tonight's full-hour feature of "Shirley Temple's Storybook" on NBC-TV. Adapted from the Hans Christian Andersen classic fairy tale of the same title, the show stars Eli Wallach, Sebastian Cabot, and Barbara Lord. The cast will include Richard Haydn, Pernell Roberts, Yale Wexler, and Micky Maga.

Maximum Secrecy for Missile Firings

LOS ANGELES (AP)—All firings at the Pacific missile range complex, including Vandenberg Air Force Base and naval installations at Point Arguello, will be surrounded by maximum secrecy.

The range commander, Rear Adm. Jack P. Monroe, told a civic group Monday "We do not want our enemies to know either what we are firing, the rate of firing or any information about successes or failures." He added: "We simply cannot afford to make available to Russia the amount of information which has been published in the past."

★ ★ ★

Because of the noise, it will be impossible to conceal that missiles are fired from launching pads, he said, "but we can conceal the success or failure of any attempt."

Grammar's a Problem Even With the Writers

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — A lady columnist has been blasting the schools for trying to stuff mathematics down everybody's brain —and I would like to wax indignant about the way they teach grammar nowadays.

WILSON

When I say "nowadays," I refer to 40 years ago when I was presumably learning grammar in God's country, spelled O-h-i-o.

I recall diagraming sentences at a blackboard. I was on intimate terms with the subject and predicate—but today I still seem to guess wrong on whether to use me or I, and I'm completely licked by "us" and "we."

And I always goof at the most embarrassing time.

I was in London writing a very lofty piece chastising the British for their bad manners in their treatment of Princess Margaret. I then said that it had shocked "we commoners." Well, it should have been "us commoners."

★ ★ ★

I was lecturing my son Slugger on using good English. His teacher had the bravery to mention that I had had a mistake in grammar in the column that very day.

I had written "It was me," when I should have said, "It was I."

I try to take all this very lightly. When somebody says, "You had a mistake in grammar in your column today," I always laugh uproariously and say, "only one?"

Or if I get a letter saying I am a disgrace to the business for my slovenly English, I retort, "Just wanted to see if you were listening."

But the fact is I am ashamed. Somebody once said of Louella Parsons that she could spell anything but words—so it is with me (it can't be I there, can it?) My grammar is fine except in sentences.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes I wonder why all us—or is it we?—unqualified stiffs get into the business.

We pretend it doesn't matter that we can't spell or write grammatically, but if we knew that the Director of the Mint couldn't add two and two without getting three, or that Arthur Murray is a wallflower and Kathryn does the leading when they dance, we'd expose them.

It certainly puzzles I.

Incidentally, the schools must be teaching grammar properly today or all these young whippersnappers wouldn't be catching me in my mistakes.

High Court Bars Her Testimony

Neither Husband Nor Wife to Speak Against Each Other in Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has decided neither husband nor wife may testify against the other in federal trials, even if willing to do so.

An opinion written by Justice Black for the court said yesterday:

"There is still a widespread belief, grounded on present conditions, that the law should not force or encourage testimony which might alienate husband and wife, or further inflame existing domestic differences."

Black said "persistent instincts of several centuries" against such testimony should not now be abandoned.

Acting unanimously, the high court overturned the conviction of James Clifton Hawkins of white slavery (Mann Act charges). Hawkins, a dance hall operator of Dogpatch, Okla., was convicted of transporting a 17-year-old girl from Arkansas to Oklahoma. He was given a five-year jail sentence.

★ ★ ★

At his Federal Court trial, Hawkins' wife — known as Jane Wilson — testified for the prosecution, despite objections by Hawkins' lawyers. The couple was separated at the time.

Presumably he can be retried on the same charge, but without his wife testifying.

Years ago, federal courts held one spouse could not testify for or against the other. But in 1933 the Supreme Court said one mate could testify on behalf of the other.

★ ★ ★

The Justice Department wanted the high tribunal to rule that one spouse may testify voluntarily against the other. The department did not ask overruling of the old principle that one spouse may not be compelled to testify against the other.

But Black recalled that "the law has refused to pit wife against husband or husband against wife in a trial where life or liberty is at stake.

City Youth Sentenced for Attempted Break-In

A prison sentence of from 1½ to 5 years yesterday was given Marshall T. White, 19-year-old Pontiac youth, who pleaded guilty Nov. 3 to attempting to break into a root beer stand in the city Oct. 22.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty sentenced White, of 105 S. Edith St.

At any given moment there are about 25 planes flying over the Atlantic Ocean, either headed toward the U.S. or to a foreign port.

Innocent of Battery, Gregg Ruled Drunk

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gregg Sherwood Dodge, actress-wife of auto heir Horace Dodge II, ha been found innocent of charges that she committed battery against four police officers.

★ ★ ★

But a municipal court jury ruled Monday that she was guilty of having been intoxicated, and the court set sentencing on that count for next Monday.

Mrs. Dodge charged at her trial that officers dragged her by her hair, used a ju-jitsu hold on her, and that policewomen humiliated her by searching her in front of male officers.

★ ★ ★

She was arrested Aug. 26 along with Chicago columnist Irv Kupcinet, who still faces trial on a drunk driving charge.

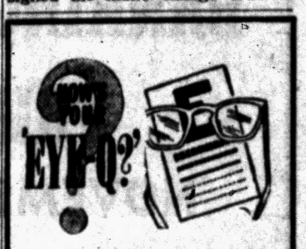

'Cheyenne's' Ty Hardin Really Ty Hardin Now

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Orison Whipple Hungerford Jr. changed his legal name Monday to the one which brought him fame in the Cheyenne TV series: Ty Hardin.

★ ★ ★

Hardin said he preferred his old name because it didn't smack so much of Hollywood but that it was a matter of convenience.

"My contract is in the name of Ty Hardin, I pay my rent as Ty Hardin, and my checks are signed Ty Hardin," he said. Dist. judge Byron Johnson approved and signed the name change order.

Q. I've heard that everyone has a blind spot in their eyes. Is this true? J. A. L.

A. At the spot where the optic nerve and blood vessels enter the retina, the eye is insensitive to light and this is known as the blind spot.

Q. Is television harmful to vision? K. P. M.

A. If one has headaches or discomfort in his eyes after an hour or two of watching the television screen, it is an indication that his vision needs some special attention. Television does not cause visual troubles, but it does tend to reveal existing visual disturbances.

Q. I've heard that they now have windshield wipers for glasses. Is it true?

A. Either someone is pulling your leg or else they are referring to the windshield wiping action that eyelids have on contact lenses.

Ex-Councilman Freed on Charge of Bribery

DETROIT (AP) — Former Livonia City Councilman Peter A. Ventura was acquitted yesterday of a bribe charge.

Ventura, 48, was found innocent by a recorder's court jury which deliberated only 15 minutes before reaching the verdict.

Ventura had been charged with demanding money from a builder in return for approval of home construction operations. He was chairman of the Livonia Planning Commission when the alleged demand was made.

Army Planning to Launch First Moon Rocket Dec. 6

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army hopes to fire its first space probe Dec. 6. It will be much lighter and simpler than the ones the Air Force used in three tries at reaching the vicinity of the moon.

The launching will be made from Cape Canaveral, Fla., the base from which the Air Force sent aloft its lunar probes earlier this year. One of these was partially successful, but two other rockets failed not long after takeoff.

★ ★ ★

The Army plans to launch a new rocket combination it calls Juno. This comprises a modified Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile and three rocket stages fueled with solid propellants.

The probe, riding in the nose of the rocket, will contain 15 pounds of instruments while the probe case will weigh another 15 pounds.

The Air Force lunar probes weighed about 85 pounds, with instrumentation account for about 25 pounds of this.

★ ★ ★

If the probe enters the sun's field of gravity, it could be pulled into orbit. Then it would be a baby planet revolving about the sun just as Earth, Mars, Venus and the other planets do.

Cape Canaveral soon will have to share attention with the Pacific Coast in missile and space vehicle launchings.

Informed sources say the first launchings from Vandenberg Air Force Base near Lompoc, Calif., will come in December.

★ ★ ★

There had been speculation that the new launchings would include the reconnaissance satellites Sentry and Pied Piper. They would circle the earth, about 200 to 400 miles up, and scan the land below.

But a Defense Department spokesman said the Pied Piper and Sentry will not be tried for at least a year.

In the three Air Force shots at the moon, one rocket blew up after a bit more than one minute in the air. The second traveled roughly a third of the 220,000 miles to the moon, then fell back to a flaming death in the atmosphere. The third reached only 1,000 miles when one of its stages misfired.

★ ★ ★

Now the Army has two chances.

Although the aim of the first probe is to pass the moon, Dr. Wernher von Braun, head of the Army space probe program, has said it might get caught in the moon's pull of gravity instead. Then the Army probe could become a satellite of the moon or hit it.

Alabama Gains in Legal Fight

Supreme Court Ruling Stands Only Until Negro Proves Discrimination

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama made legal headway in its school segregation struggle Monday, but the U.S. Supreme Court may prove an invincible guard against racial discrimination.

The high court's face-value validation of the Alabama school placement law, which most Southern officials met with joyful surprise, actually has little racial significance.

★ ★ ★

In effect, the decision means Alabama has a legal weapon against school integration efforts until a Negro proves he has been discriminated against. Then the law undoubtedly would be held unconstitutional.

The school placement law avoids any mention of race or color, but gives local school boards sole authority to assign students to the schools they want them to attend.

Proof of discrimination was not contended by the four Birmingham Negro parents who appealed their suit to the Supreme Court. They merely claimed the law is designed to subvert earlier Supreme Court segregation decisions.

Consequently, the high court upheld a decision by a three-judge federal panel in Birmingham last May that the law contains no provisions to make it invalid on its face.

But the Supreme Court reiterated the lower court's warning that the act might be put into practice in a discriminatory—and thus unconstitutional—manner.
