House Unit Adds Token Parochiaid to School Aid Bill

From Our News Wires

LANSING—The House Appropriations Committee yesterday added a token $100,000 in parochiaid funds to the present state school aid bill and declared the practice of giving state aid to nonpublic schools was in "the public good and general welfare."

Further changes were expected in the $845.44-million, Senate-approved bill before a final committee vote. The Senate did not include parochiaid in its school bill for the 1969-70 school year.

The parochiaid amendment also calls for an additional $44 million for the 1970-71 school year.

Committee approval came on a 10-3 vote. Voting against were Jack Faxon, D-Detroit; Arthur Law, D-Pontiac; and Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti.

The committee's addition of the amendment thus sends the controversial parochiaid concept to the House floor on the coattails of the general public school operation appropriations. If House Speaker William Ryan and his chief parochiaid lieutenant, J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, muster the more than 56 required votes they say they now have, the concept of state aid to church-run schools would be clearly spelled out.

Gov. William Milliken said the committee action was not inconsistent with the guidelines he laid down earlier this year in his education message to the Legislature. However, he noted that traditionally the Legislature does not commit tax aid funds for future years no matter how hard-pressed public schools are for money.

Under the amendment, the State Board of Education would pay teachers and other professionals for secular teaching and services. No state funds would go directly to a school or parent and none could be used for primarily religious activities.

Sale Of 'Smut' To Those Under 18 Is Illegal

Law Aims to Keep 'Smut' From Young

(Second in a four-part series.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"Censorship" is a dirty 10-letter word to most people. Yet many feel it is allowable when the young are involved.

Obscene material can't lawfully be sold to children.

What is considered an Oakland County test case of this law goes before a judge today. It centers on three Pontiac cashiers who were arrested last week on charges of selling obscene magazines to a minor.

Legal authorities now foresee more crackdowns on the sale of erotic literature to minors throughout the county.

SUPREME COURT RULING

"These may come about as the result of more police departments becoming aware that the U. S. Supreme Court approved a law in April 1968 designed to zero in on sales of pornography to children," Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Donohue explained.

★ ★ ★

The high court ruling was its first setting different standards for printed material sold to children and that offered to adults. It is called "variable obscenity."

Upheld in the decision was a 1965 New York state law. It prohibits sales of obscene magazines and other literature depicting nudity, "sexual excitement, sexual conduct and sadomasochistic abuse" to anyone under 17 years of age.

Adults may still read and see what they choose as guaranteed by the First Amendment, the justices ruled.

MICHIGAN LAW

Pontiac's three cases and one pending in Royal Oak are being prosecuted under a Michigan law amended in 1964, Donohue said.

"Anyone who knowingly sells or distributes obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy or indecent" material "tending to corrupt the morals of youth to persons under 18 years old" can be taken to court, the law reads.

★ ★ ★

Donohue said the law contains a "pretty stiff" maximum penalty of one year in jail and/or $1,000 fine.

But what is meant by the words "obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy and indecent"?

JUSTICES CAN'T AGREE

Even the Supreme Court can't agree upon that. There are as many definitions of obscenity as there are justices.

Many law experts feel the law should include precise definitions of what can't be sold to minors. Otherwise, there could be many individual trials to determine whether books or magazines are obscene.

★ ★ ★

Although judges have supplemented "obscene" with phrases aimed at defining obscenity —"pruriently appealing" or "patently offensive" — they are just as vague, critics claim.

State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, is heading a move to clarify existing laws on obscenity.

Punishment Ruled Out

No Trial for Bucher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chafee today ruled out any punishment for any U.S. personnel connected with North Korea's seizure of the spy ship Pueblo even though a Navy court of inquiry urged courts-martial for skipper Lloyd M. Bucher and a chief assistant.

Setting aside major recommendations of the 80-day inquiry, Chafee declared of the men who served on the Pueblo: "They have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

While prisoners of the North Koreans, he noted, "They suffered extensively from physical abuse and torturous treatment."

All charges lodged against Pueblo crewmen will be dismissed.

TRIALS RECOMMENDED

"I am convinced," Chafee said, "that neither individual discipline, nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident."

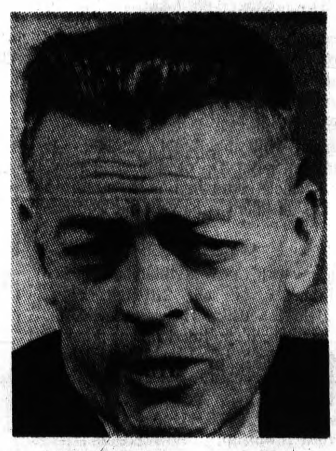
The Navy court of inquiry, he disclosed, had recommended after piling up 4,350 pages of testimony that general court-martial trials be held for Cmdr. Bucher and Lt. Stephen R. Harris, his "research" officer.

Bucher would have faced five court-martial charges, dealing mainly with failing to resist the North Korea takeover of Jan. 23, 1968, and allowing classified information to fall into the North Koreans' hands.

Harris, the court of inquiry held, ought to be tried on three counts dealing with his so-called research detachment's lack of ability and readiness to destroy secret materials before the North Koreans boarded the vessel. But Chafee wiped out those charges.

HASN'T TALKED TO NIXON

At a news conference explaining his position, Chafee said he had not talked to President Nixon about the course of action he had chosen.



CMDR. LLOYD M. BUCHER

There has been some public controversy over the question of whether the Navy was trying to saddle Bucher and his men with the blame for the Pueblo debacle when higher-ups ought to be held accountable, too.

'Nixon Won't Control ABMs'; Cost Is Soaring

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will have to delegate to others the authority for firing Safeguard antiballistic missiles (ABMs) — now priced tagged at $7.8 billion for just two bases — according to members of the House Armed Services Committee.

ABM defenders and critics differ on whether, for the first time since development of the atomic bomb in 1945, someone other than a living and capably functioning American president should give the orders to set off a nuclear explosion.

★ ★ ★

"It (launch authority) will have to be delegated," committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers said. The South Carolina Democrat said he was not bothered by the idea.

Two outspoken critics of Safeguard, Democratic Reps. Lucien Nedzi, Mich., and Otis G. Pike, N.Y., warned there could be situations in which the president would not have ample time to assess information and make a decision on whether to launch.

COST FOR TWO BASES

In the most detailed analysis given Congress so far, Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard gave a figure of $6.6 billion for the complete system intended to protect two Minuteman missile bases in North Dakota and Montana.

But spokesmen for the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission confirmed yesterday that the cost of nuclear warheads for the defense missiles —$1.2 billion — was not included in the Defense Department estimate.

State Aid OK'd for MCOM, if . . .

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM), under construction in Pontiac, may receive state funds and recognition if it affiliates with Oakland University as a result of a bill approved 78-25 by the Michigan House of Representatives yesterday.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Josephine Hunsinger, D-Detroit, provides for state support of an osteopathic college to be located somewhere within Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Pontiac's MCOM, at Auburn and Opdyke, is the prime object of the bill, supporters say.

The amended bill specifies that it be affiliated with "an established state university authorized to grant baccalaureate degrees."

Freeway Still 6 Years Off

I-696 Law Upheld

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's Supreme Court has settled a 10-year dispute over the I-696 east-west freeway route through southern Oakland and Macomb counties, but state highway officials say it will still be another six years before traffic flows over the 7.4-mile stretch.

★ ★ ★

The high tribunal decision upholds a law establishing a three-member state panel to arbitrate the route. Yesterday's vote was 5-1, with Justice Harry F. Kelly not participating.

★ ★ ★

The arbitrated route will link the eastern section of I-696 starting in St. Clair Shores to the western part which now ends at the I-696 interchange in Southfield, allowing travel from Lansing to the northeast side of Detroit without cutting through the center of the Motor City.

The State Highway Commission said that while the ruling removes the major roadblock to construction of the freeway, "it will be late 1975 at the earliest before traffic begins rolling."

TIMETABLE

The commission said it hopes to complete route location surveys by next January, right-of-way acquisition by mid-1973 and project bids by late 1973.

"Construction," it added, "will require a minimum of two construction seasons."

Estimated cost of the project was pegged at $95 million, including land purchases and engineering studies.

Some 300 homes in the proposed path of the freeway would be displaced.

LAW UPHELD

The Supreme Court decision was against Pleasant Ridge, Lathrup Village and a Lathrup citizens' group.

Letters Hit a Grave Note

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the third grader wrote a hospitalized man: "I hope you get well, but if you don't, I hope you go to heaven," teacher Annette Sabrino decided she'd turn censor.

But by the time her mother, Mrs. Doris Becker, went into the hospital and the "get-well" project was revived, she had forgotten how morbid the cheery little notes can get.

★ ★ ★

Among the "hope you get well very soon" notes was one that showed Mrs. Becker complete with folded hands, lily and headstone marked: "Grave. 1919-1969. Mrs. Becker."

The patient's reaction? "I'm not that old."

New in Brief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a direct reference to the Abe Fortas controversy, Republican congressional leaders said today that Congress should consider legislation to require Supreme Court justices to make public sources of all outside income.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen and House leader Gerald R. Ford made the suggestion following a conference with President Nixon.

★ ★ ★

They said the controversy involving disclosure that Justice Fortas accepted —and later returned—a fee of $20,000 from the family foundation of a convicted financier had been discussed.

N. Ireland Amnesty

BELFAST (UPI) — Premier James Chichester-Clark today announced a "wipe-the-slate-clean" amnesty which will free Protestant militants Rev. Ian Paisley and Ronald Bunting from prison terms and drop charges against civil rights leaders.

★ ★ ★

Paisley and Bunting had been sentenced to three months each for "illegal assembly" during civil rights demonstrations for minority Roman Catholics.

Franc Hits Bottom

PARIS (UPI) — The French franc plummeted to its rock-bottom level today, and gold prices soared to their highest since April 30 in a new burst of international jitters about France's economic future.

The franc hit 4.9740 to the U. S. dollar, forcing the Bank of France to intervene to shore it up. It was the lowest point it has touched since former President Charles de Gaulle's defeat and resignation April 28.

Lebanon to Crack Down on Arab Guerrillas

From Our News Wires

Angered by three attacks on its men, the Lebanese army says it will crack down on the Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon. But its announcement did not specify whether the "retaliatory measures" would include preventing commando raids across the border into Israel.

One soldier was killed and three army trucks were destroyed in the clashes during the weekend, the army said.

★ ★ ★

The armed forces "had used patience in dealing with the deteriorating situation in the south," the communique continued, "but they are reacting with bitterness to the incidents which are being committed daily with the aim of diverting military efforts concentrated on the front lines facing the enemy . . ."

It said the incidents, "provoked by irresponsible elements," require "the imposition of military deterrent measures for the safety of the army and the maintenance of its morale."

GUERRILLA GROUP BLAMED

The army blamed Al Saika, a guerrilla group affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party, for the recent incidents.

It was the first official admission of a widening split between the army and the guerrillas, who want to use Lebanon as a base for raids against Israel. Lebanon is half Christian and half Moslem, and the government has opposed giving the guerrillas free rein, fearing Israel would retaliate with strikes against Lebanon.

Bloody fighting last month between government troops and Palestinian refugees resulted in the resignation of Premier Rashid Karami April 25.

Efforts by political leaders to form a new government so far hove failed, and government so far have failed, and Karami has refused to step in to solve the government crisis less all parties agree on a policy toward the guerrillas.

CAIRO FEARS OFFENSIVE

Semiofficial reports in Cairo today claimed that Israel is building up for a major military offensive against the Arabs with the main blow to be aimed at Egypt.

Arab and Israeli troops clashed on four fronts yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said "diplomatic observers at the United Nations expect Israel to take violent action in the near future and possibly deliver a blow against Egypt."

It said the offensive buildup was partly due to the "failure of the Israeli raid on Nag Hammadi last Tuesday" which the newspaper said "had a very bad psychological effect in Israel."

Birmingham

Court to Get Refuse Station Controls Bid

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night passed a resolution to ask the Oakland County Circuit Court to execute controls over the refuse transfer station planned by the Southeast Oakland Incinerator Authority.

★ ★ ★

The station would be located on a 10-acre city-owned plot in Troy on Collidge between 14 Mile Road and Maple if the incinerator authority wins a condemnations suit pending against the City of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

City Attorney Dean G. Beier said the controls would be agreed upon through consent judgment by the Incinerator Authority, the city of Birmingham, Detroit Edison, the Southeastern Michigan Gas Co., Oakland County Drain Commissioner's office and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

★ ★ ★

The utility companies all have various rights to the property selected for the incinerator site.

RANGE OF CONTROLS

The controls, which number about 25 range from the prohibiting of open fires at the station site to operating the transfer station so as not to create a nuisance by reason of personal conduct, noise, fumes, dust, rodents or other causes.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission last night agreed to table action on proposed amendments to the city's sign ordinance until May 26.

The commission also agreed to install a traffic light at the intersection of Oxford and Kennesaw. The action grew out of neighborhood demand for the light.

Warrants Issued Against Two in Fatal Accidents

Felony warrants have been issued against two drivers whose cars were involved in recent fatal accidents in Waterford Township, it was revealed today by township police.

Charged with negligent homicide is Movita A. Saly, 30, of 425 N. Perry, whose vehicle smashed into a home April 27 and killed a 58-year-old Pontiac man.

★ ★ ★

Charged with manslaughter is Thomas G. Kilian, 26, of 2661 Littletell, West Bloomfield Township. He was the driver of a car which collided head-on with another vehicle Sunday on Airport Road in Waterford Township.

That mishap took the life of Joan M. Harrison, 21, of 6243 Adamson, Waterford Township.

RAMMED HOUSE

Miss Saly's vehicle, which careened off M59 to the left from the eastbound lane, rammed into a house at 4555 S. Shore and Killed Sam Healander of 107 Calvert.

Healander, a visitor at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Barrow, was seated at the kitchen table when the car plowed through. He died about three hours later at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Kilian, who was arrested at the scene of the accident Sunday on a drunk and disorderly charge, was accused by police of driving across the center line before colliding with the vehicle driven by Miss Harrison.

Neither warrant has yet been served, officers said.

Farm Worker Bill Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration came out today against legislation to give agricultural workers the right to organize under the National Labor Relations Act. Labor Secretary George P. Shultz proposed instead a special board to handle farm labor problems.

Shultz testified before a Senate Labor subcommittee in opposition to a bill to authorize farm workers to organize and to grant their unions collective bargaining rights.

Novel About Indian's Plight Honored

'White Hope' Author Wins Pulitzer

NEW YORK (AP) — A favorite and a long shot have emerged with the 1969 Pulitzer prizes for drama and fiction.

Playwright Howard Sackler, 39, was announced yesterday as the drama prize winner for his Broadway hit "The Great White Hope," based on the life of onetime heavyweight boxing champion Jack Johnson.

Surprise winner of the fiction prize was N. Scott Momaday, 35-year-old Kiowa Indian, for "House Made of Dawn," a novel about the tribulations of an Indian veteran of World War II.

As far as is known, Momaday, now an English professor at the University of California, is the first member of his race to win a Pulitzer. He said he was unaware that the novel, his first, had even been nominated for the award.

In the field of journalism, the Los Angeles Times won the prize for public service for the third time in 27 years.

This time the award was for an expose of corruption which led to a shakeup of the Los Angeles city government and three convictions for bribery.

William Tuohy, 43, a Times correspondent, won the prize in international reporting for combat coverage in Vietnam — bringing the newspaper's total of Pulitzers through the years to seven, including three since 1966.

The prize for news photography went to Edward T. Adams, 35, of the Associated Press for his picture of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, the South Vietnamese national police chief, shooting a Vietcong captive in the head with a pistol. It was the 23rd Pulitzer Prize for Associated Press staffers.

HONORS SHARED

Norman Mailer, previously best known for his novel "The Naked and the Dead," shared honors in the general nonfiction category with Dr. Rene Jules Dubos, Rockefeller University microbiologist. Mailer was honored for "The Armies of the Night" and Dubos for "So Human an Animal."

Mailer's new book is a report on a four-day protest against the war in Vietnam.

All individual winners, including co-winners, receive $1,000 apiece. The Los Angeles Times award is a gold medal.

Yanks Repulse Red Onslaught

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops struck back today at the massive American air and ground campaign along the Cambodian frontier but failed to overrun an American patrol base in the heaviest attack since the border war flared anew more than two months ago.

★ ★ ★

Troops of the North Vietnamese 1st Division also made rocket and mortar attacks on two other American bases within a 2-mile radius. The U.S. Command said at least 119 of the enemy were killed and 29 others surrendered.

★ ★ ★

The American defenders from the 1st Air Cavalry Division reported 13 of their men killed and at least 87 wounded.

★ ★ ★

In the heaviest attack, about 900 enemy troops stormed out of the bamboo jungles about 2 a.m. behind a mortar barrage and assaulted a patrol base named Carolyn from three sides.

FLED BEFORE DAWN

The base in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, was defended by 300 air cavalrymen with 12 artillery guns. The North Vietnamese finally fled to the north just before dawn.

★ ★ ★

U.S. spokesmen said 101 North Vietnamese and nine Americans were killed and 62 Americans were wounded. One of the wounded Americans was found in a bunker, lying beneath the bodies of five North Vietnamese.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-nine other North Vietnamese surrendered. Most were wounded, and they included two officers.

Arbitration Law on I-696 Upheld

They contended the 1967 law putting the freeway route to arbitration was unconstitutional and that the proposed route therefore was void.

But the court, with Associate Justice Paul L. Adams dissenting, said the law was completely valid and enforceable.

The ruling sustained a finding two months ago by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur F. Moore.

Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan said the court would set forth its reasons for upholding the 1967 law in a later opinion.

He said the opinion would not, however, determine if the highway department has power to condemn public property lying within the boundaries of Pleasant Ridge and Lathrup. This question was raised on appeal.

★ ★ ★

An appeal could be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court but officials of the affected communities indicated earlier they would not pursue the matter in the federal courts.

Much of the controversy, that dates back to 1959, centered on the fact the arbitrated route slices Lathrup in two and chops a chunk of the northern border of Pleasant Ridge.

Along most of th route, the freeway lies between Ten and Eleven Mile roads across the bottom of Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

The plan, ironed out at the insistence of former Gov. George W. Romney, has been dubbed the "Royal Oak Compromise" because the freeway runs between Royal Oak and Pleasant Ridge, differing from the highway department's plan to put it to the north of Ten Mile Road, well into Royal Oak.

Buried 50 Hours, Tot Lives

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A 2½-year-old girl was found alive yesterday, sucking her thumb, 50 hours after she had been buried for dead.

The child's mother, Hajran, told newsmen her daughter died Saturday. But after the funeral the woman said she dreamed an old man in white told her: "Go and dig the grave and you will find your child alive."

★ ★ ★

When she told her story to neighbors, some laughed but a few believed her. She insisted on reopening the grave, and a large crowd of persons found the child alive, sitting in the coffin.

The girl is recovering at home in Liaquatabad, a Karachi suburb. Thousands of persons already have visited the "miracle child."

State Aid OK'd for MCOM, if . . .

with Oakland University, an affiliate of Michigan State University, located just east of Pontiac. The affiliation must take place before state funds will be available to MCOM, according to the amendment.

The requirement linking the osteopathic college with a four-year state institution was adopted against the wishes of supporters of the original state support bill.

★ ★ ★

Reps. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac; Hunsinger and Dale Kildee, D-Flint, sought to authorize affiliation of the college with Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

They said affiliation with Oakland University might cause some delay since Michigan State University would have to approve it.

MSU LINKED WITH AMA

MSU's fledgling medical school is already affiliated with the American Medical Association. Supporters of the original bill said they feared that the AMA might not authorize accreditation for osteopathic courses.

Some said that Oakland University may have to separate from MSU before an effective liaison with the osteopathic school could be established.

★ ★ ★

The bill, which now must go to the Senate for its concurrence, also authorizes Gov. William Milliken to appoint an eight-member board of control for the college.

Laws Set Dual 'Smut' Standard

"The definition problem disturbs Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger," Donohue maintains, "but I don't think it is anything to worry about.

"I don't see any problems with this state statute. We'll make it stick."

★ ★ ★

In Wayne County, a few adults have recently been convicted of selling obscene material to minors, but the penalties have been light, an assistant prosecutor said. A problem is to get children to sign complaints.

Some observers think the law raises more problems than it solves because it is difficult to enforce.

"Is a cashier really going to ask for ID cards to be sure the customer is over 17? a Pontiac father asked.

"Isn't it perfectly simple for a kid to ask an older adolescent to buy the stuff for him, just as a kid can get into the movies illegally by getting an adult to pay for his ticket?"

Donohue concedes this is so, but attests:

"A dealer can protect himself by refusing to sell to anyone who looks too young. In the case of the adult who buys pornography for a younger person, he's the one who's going to be held responsible.

"You're bound to have some silly results with this kind of law, but the fact that the law can be evaded doesn't constitute a valid objection.

"It's like the law banning the sale of liquor to minors. We wouldn't scrap it just because it can be evaded."

In the past two years, the U. S. Supreme Court's reversal of convictions have made it "virtually impossible to convict adults of distributing obscene materials," the assistant prosecutor related.

"The trend of the law in court is away from regulating the moral conduct of consenting adults," he reported.

Hard-core pornography — Donohue gives stag movies as an example — is the only material the government may constitutionally suppress. It was defined in the 1966 conviction of Eros magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg as:

★ ★ ★

- "Photographs and motion pictures, with no pretense of artistic value, graphically depicting acts of sexual intercourse, sodomy and sadism and involving persons in orgylike scenes.
- "Comic-book drawings depicting similar activities in exaggerated fashion.
- "Pamphlets and booklets with pictures and descriptions of such activities in a bizarre manner with no attempt to give portrayals of character or situation and with no pretense of literary value."

To be sure, children under certain ages can't buy cigarettes or whisky. They are forbidden to drive cars, can't have guns, contract bills or get married.

"Yet in this most difficult of areas, our nation has failed to set clear and enforceable standards to prevent the sale of sexually destructive material to minors," Hanger insists.

★ ★ ★

The trouble with the recent court decisions, some people allege, is that any man can look at the material protected by law and say:

★ ★ ★

"No matter what anyone says, this stuff has got to be pornographic, and I don't want my kids reading it."

Negotiations Resume in Utility Strike

JACKSON (UPI) — A four-week silence in negotiations between strikebound Consumers Power Co. and the Michigan State Utility Workers was broken yesterday when both sides met for a closed session.

The talks, without state or federal mediators, were scheduled to resume today. The strike, which began April 8 when contract talks deadlocked, has kept 5,200 utility workers from their jobs and forced supervisory personnel to keep gas and electricity flowing to Consumer's customers.

The firm serves 67 of 68 counties in Lower Michigan.

Consumers spokesmen said yesterday that their latest offer, made before the strike began, was still standing. It called for a two-year contract with wage hikes of 11 per cent the first year and 6 per cent the second with an optional third year to consist of a 3½ per cent hike and a cost-of-living increase.

Fast Senate Action on Clean-Water Bill Balked

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate planned today to take up a measure allocating a major portion of the $335-million water pollution bond issue authorized in the November election.

Senate Republican leaders pushed for immediate action Monday night on some 20 House amendments to the bill passed swiftly through the upper chamber earlier in the session.

But many Democrats and a few Republicans balked.

"When this bill left this Senate, it was not in proper shape," charged Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R - Waterford Township, who objected to a leadership motion that House amendments be rejected and the bill be sent to conference committee.

Lodge also had objected to the speedy initial Senate action on the bill, saying members should have had more than one day to study implications of the proposal.

"I'm sick of having stuff shoved down our throats when it is not in the best interests of the people of Michigan," Lodge added, moving that his remarks be printed in the Senate journal.

Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids, urged the Senate to reject Lodge's motion, saying the remarks "crucify" those who worked on the bill when it first was before the upper chamber.

The Senate should not "stifle" Lodge, "they should not gag him," argued Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park. "I am not willing to accept (committee) judgment on the amendments," Brown added. "I demand my right to know what those amendments are."

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, and Sen. Michael O'Brien, D - Detroit, both said the House-passed amendments had appeared in legislative journals of last week.

The amendments were tacked on when the House passed the bill setting up procedures by which local communities may apply for monies from a $285-million bond for water treatment construction.

The measure specifies that construction projects would be reviewed by the State Water Resources Commission. Final authorization by joint legislative resolution would have to come within 45 days after commission action or its recommendations would automatically be approved for construction bids.

A second bill, also passed Friday in the House, involves $50 million for communities which do not qualify for other state or federal funds to build connection sewers to reach nearby treatment plants.

Dogfight Raided; 66 Charged

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — The Tulare County Sheriff's office announced yesterday the arrest of 66 persons and the rescue of six "badly chewed up" bulldogs in a raid on a professional dogfight that attracted fans from at least six states.

Deputies said two of the iron-jawed dogs had to be pried apart with sticks when officers swooped down on the fight ring Sunday afternoon in a remote area in the foothills east of Porterville.

"It's one of the most gruesome things I've ever seen," one deputy remarked.

Undersheriff Lawrence John said details were sketchy about how the fight was arranged and why most of those arrested were from out of state. He said those cited — hailing from as far away as Texas, Oklahoma, Idaho and Utah — weren't offering any free information.

Eleven animals were confiscated and deputies issued 66 citations under a law which makes the use of birds or animals for fighting a misdemeanor for both spectators and participants.

John said the small valley could be reached only by one road, but three or four persons escaped by driving off into rugged terrain in a four-wheel drive vehicle.

Eight injured dogs were taken to a veterinary clinic, and three others were placed in the Humane Society shelter, but someone stole two from the clinic and two from the shelter Sunday night. Authorities sought the owners on burglary charges.

Mrs. Ann Dula, head of the Tulare County Humane Society, said the dogs all had their ears trimmed nearly off, apparently because ear cuts bleed profusely and blood streaming into an animal's eyes during a fight would interfere with his performance.

Police Charged With Beating Take Lie Test

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Two police officers charged with police brutality by demoted Detective Sgt. Earl Teeples volunteered to submit to a lie detector yesterday morning.

The polygraph tests indicated that Patrolmen John Hedrick and Pete Larion did not beat Foster Maier, 41, with handcuffs in the township police cell block last July, according to an announcement late yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Township Attorney Joseph T. Brennan and Supervisor Curtis Hall called a hasty afternoon press conference to disclose the polygraph results which Brennan said he intends to use as evidence against Teeples tomorrow night at the police trial board hearing.

(Brennan announced that the previously scheduled hearing for tonight had been postponed at his request until tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Township Hall.)

OPERATOR TO TESTIFY

The tests, said Brennan, were administered by Acacia Investigating Inc. of Detroit. Operator for the tests was Gerald Bennett, who Brennan said he would call for testimony Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Also submitting to a lie detector test was Police Chief Irving Yakes. Teeples was not asked, nor did he volunteer, to submit to the polygraph, Brennan and Hall said.

Brennan could not state definitely what the questions were or how many were asked. He said only that the direct question "Did you strike Foster Maier with handcuffs?" — was asked, to which Larion and Hedrick replied negatively. The polygraph machine indicated the officers were answering truthfully, according to Brennan and Hall.

Asked who compiled the list of questions, Brennan said that he "did not know." Brennan said he assumed that Yakes had given Bennett the information regarding the case and that Bennett then made a list of questions.

MAKES ADMISSION

Brennan did admit that his polygraph "case" would be more significant had Teeples been tested as well as Hedrick and Larion but said that he made no attempt to contact Teeples or Teeples' attorney, James Lawson of Farmington.

"Frankly, we're pleased with the results of the test," Brennan said.

★ ★ ★

"If Teeples wants to take the lie detector test, we would be more than happy to accommodate him," Hall said.

Hall said that he did not take the polygraph test himself.

'NOT APOLOGIZING'

Asked why he had called a press conference to disclose matter which he intended to use as evidence and testimony in two days, Brennan complained:

"I guess I'm using the tactics the defense attorney (Lawson) has used thus far . . . and I'm not apologizing for it.

★ ★ ★

"This is the first time I've ever heard of a police trial board case being conducted in the press. This case has been discussed in the news media more than it has in the hearing," Brennan said.

★ ★ ★

Brennan said that while polygraph tests results "cannot be 100 per cent accurate and are therefore not admissable in a formal court," he would introduce the results, via Bennett's testimony, at the trial board hearing and that the testimony "would corroborate statements by the two officers and Chief Yakes."

Teeples was suspended for two weeks without pay and demoted from detective sergeant to detective as punishment for giving information to the county prosecutor, alleging that Larion and Hedrick beat Maier with handcuffs.

Hall said that Teeples resumed work April 28. Brennan said that he "presumed" Teeples would initiate a lawsuit against the township if the trial board—made up of township trustees—exonerated him for violation of the police officers' code of conduct, which prohibits giving information such as that Teeples gave to the prosecutor.

Brennan said that he anticipates a decision on the Teeples case by Saturday.

★ ★ ★

An amateur fashion model, Linda plans to study fashion merchandising at Western Michigan University this fall. As her talent entry, Linda sang her first public solo. She also plays tennis and the piano.

As winner, Linda received an official Miss America crown from Atlantic City as well as scholarships and gift certificates.

First runner-up was Nancy Goda, 17, of Attica. Marianne Bogle, 17, of Metamora was second runner-up. "Most talented" was Linda Daymon, and a tie vote gave Sue Wilcox, 17, of Imlay City and Carol Kloc, 17, of North Branch the "Miss Congeniality" honors.

Appointments Made by Troy Commission

TROY — City commissioners recently made a number of appointments.

Named to the board of appeals were Anthony Pallota and Donald Boyd; to the charter revision committee, Donald Lance and Dick Morgan; to the civil service board, Paul Wilson and Don Quinn; to the library board, Mrs. Clara Blankenship and Graham Nielson; and to the planning commission, John Popovich.

Addison Has Problem: Too Many Chiefs

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night agreed on a new part-time police chief even though current Chief Roy Lewis has not submitted a resignation.

"It is our understanding that he intends to resign," said Township Supervisor Robert C. Inwood.

★ ★ ★

Assistant police chief and loser in a two-way struggle for the top job, Harold Klein told Inwood that Lewis had not yet resigned and did not intend to in the near future,

"Hired" was Johnny Moore at $1,000 plus $500 expenses for the remainder of 1969. Moore's assistant will be Calvin Shields, a present Village of Leonard officer. The two men will split shifts to provide a nearly constant road patrol on weekends, holidays and evenings.

UNLISTED NUMBER

Klein and his audience sympathizers pointed out that Moore's phone number was unlisted. Klein had bid for the job at a slightly higher salary rate.

In other action the board:

- Authorized Fire Chief Raymond Bundy to spend up to $3,500 on equipment necessary to accompany a new fire engine and to sell a 1960 model rescue wagon with the profit to go into the firemen's fund for miscellaneous equipment.
- Established a committee to erect a veterans' monument in front of the township hall by Memorial Day.
- Discussed the possibility of putting up no littering signs throughout the township and no parking signs along Lakeville Road at the Lakeville Lake public fishing site.

Romeo Schools Get New Chief

ROMEO — Robert G. Reid, an administrator in the Lake Shore public school system and a former principal of the Washington School here has been named superintendent of the Romeo School District, effective July 1.

He was given a two-year contract at $21,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

Reid succeeds T. C. Filppula who resigned early this year amid a school board hassle concerning his contract renewal.

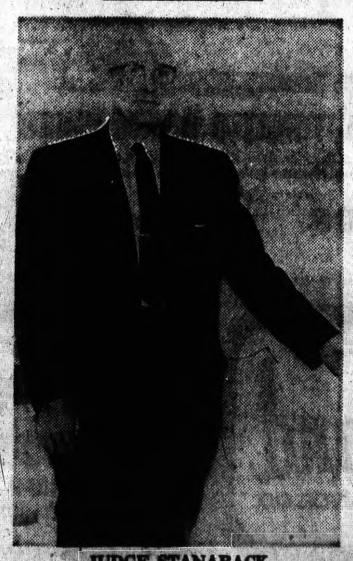
Reid has been assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and personnel since 1963 for the Lake Shore schools in the St. Clair Shores school district.

EXPERIENCED EDUCATOR

He began his professional teaching career in 1948 and taught and coached in Big Beaver, Romeo and Anchor Bay before being named principal of the Washington School.

Reid joined the St. Clair Shores system in 1955. He has served there as elementary principal, high school principal and director of secondary education in addition to his present post.

The new superintendent holds a master's degree from Wayne State University.



JUDGE STANABACK

Lake Orion to Fete Its Long-Time JP

LAKE ORION — A modest "Doc" Stanaback humphed: "They've got some kind of party going, but I'm not much interested."

The "party" is May 22 for Helmar G. (Doc) Stanaback, 165 N. Andrews, justice of the peace in Lake Orion for 30 years — until last January when the state's court reorganization terminated justice of the peace courts in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Tickets for the party are being sold by the Lake Orion police, members of the Lake Orion Lions Club and are available at the Orion Township office and the Lake Orion Review newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Retired from private business as well as his legal work, he is an active member of the Lake Orion Lions Club and has been active in the Oakland County Judicial Association, the Justice of the Peace Association, the Royal Oak Elks and the Charlton Polan Post of the American Legion.

★ ★ ★

Everyone is invited to Stanaback's party. No special invitations are necessary. The party is scheduled to take place at Pine Knob, Clarkston and Sashabaw roads. Committee members planning the party are Mrs. Bill Waldo, Mrs. Walter Groll, Mrs. Ellen Carlson, Jim Leach and Bill Bonning. Tickets may also be purchased from any of the above persons.

Color Him Critical of Graph

ROCHESTER — School officials here would like some color in their graphs.

The color question was raised by a citizen at last night's school board meeting after an architect's report on construction progress at the projected Rochester Adams High School.

★ ★ ★

Representing the firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckendach of Birmingham were Donald Osgood and Charles Sherman. Their report was made from a blue graph that failed to denote the status of the building's construction, at least not to the satisfaction of one citizen in the audience, Stan DeWright.

He asked for color. After brief discussion, it was decided that future graphs would be clearly colored to chart progress on the building.

CLOSE TO SCHEDULE

The building's construction progress is close to schedule, according to last night's report, although DeWright contended the completion date had been pushed back three weeks since the last report.

The new high school, located at Adams at Tienken, is slated for completion Feb. 1.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board appointed Wayne Case, a math teacher and counselor at Rochester Senior High School, assistant principal there. He succeeds Harold Hatherly, who is leaving the district.

The appointment is effective immediately. No salary was announced.

CAMPAIGN TO START

Also last night, Schools Supt. Douglas Lund announced that the campaign for the June millage vote (a 2-mill operating renewal question and a $4.1-million school construction and expansion proposal) would get under way with a meeting tonight at 8 in the board offices. More than 200 citizens have been invited to participate in the millage drive.

Rochester Budget Aired; No Dissent

ROCHESTER — It was brief and there was no dissent. The hearing on the proposed 1969-70 city budget lasted about eight minutes last night.

Only three citizens attended the meeting. They did not register any objection to the $835,255 budget, which is up $24,841 over the current budget.

Final action by the council is expected next week.

City officials said the budget can be financed with the existing 12-mill property tax levy. Most of the added revenue comes from increased property values.

KILLED IN VIETNAM—Funeral service for Marine Pfc. Frederic Schrencongost, 22, formerly of Birmingham, will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. Ohio time (12:30 p.m. Michigan time) at the Bennett Funeral Home, Toledo. Schrencongost, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Schrencongost of Grand Rapids, is a graduate of Birmingham Seaholm High School and attended Oakland Community College and Northern Michigan University. He was killed Saturday during an enemy rocket attack.

Groveland Board Denies Gravel Pit Expansion Plea

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night denied the rezoning petition request of the J.P. Burroughs Co. to expand its gravel pit operation off the Dixie Highway near Bald Eagle Lake Road by a 3-1 vote.

★ ★ ★

The board's decision upheld recommendations of denial from the township's zoning board and the Oakland County Planning, Zoning and Building Committee.

★ ★ ★

Trustee William Brondidge voted in favor of the rezoning, after his motion was seconded by Supervisor Earl Rhinevault. Clerk Donald Titsworth and trustees Dale Hitchcock and Carl Lozier voted against the petition.

★ ★ ★

About 100 residents attended last night's meeting, but only those submitting registered letters before the meeting were permitted to speak.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the township's Property Owners Association who initiated the original protest against the rezoning petition in January said there is strong indication that Burroughs will take the case into Circuit Court.

College Prep Meeting

MILFORD — The guidance and counseling staff of Milford High School will offer a program aimed at assisting students and parents plan for college entrance at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

Panels will discuss college selection, application procedures, and scholarships and other forms of financial assistance.

Equalization Factors in County Are Listed

Equalization factors, arrived at by the County Equalization Department and recommended by the equalization committee, were approved recently by a 23-3 vote of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Voting against the factors, which provide for a total county equalized value of $4 billion (up 16 per cent from last year), were Supervisors Wallace Gabler and Harry Horton, both Royal Oak Republicans, and Paul Kasper, R-Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

The first column in the following list represents the value local assessors have placed on the community's property.

The second column—equalized valuation—reflects the amount the county believes to be 50 per cent of market value, required by state law.

★ ★ ★

The third column shows each local government unit's percentage of the total county-equalized valuation. Birmingham, for example, with an equalized percentage of .03623, has about 3 per cent of the county's total valuation.

The last column is the factor—that number which multiplied against the assessed valuation times the tax rate— lets you know what you can expect to pay in property taxes this December.

Daley Invitation Declined by Ted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has declined an invitation from Mayor Richard J. Daley to be the main speaker at a Democratic dinner in Chicago May 20.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Kennedy said the Massachusetts Democrat is making "very few political appearances, and none in big cities, and hence the invitation was declined."

Woman Turns 118, 6 Husbands Later

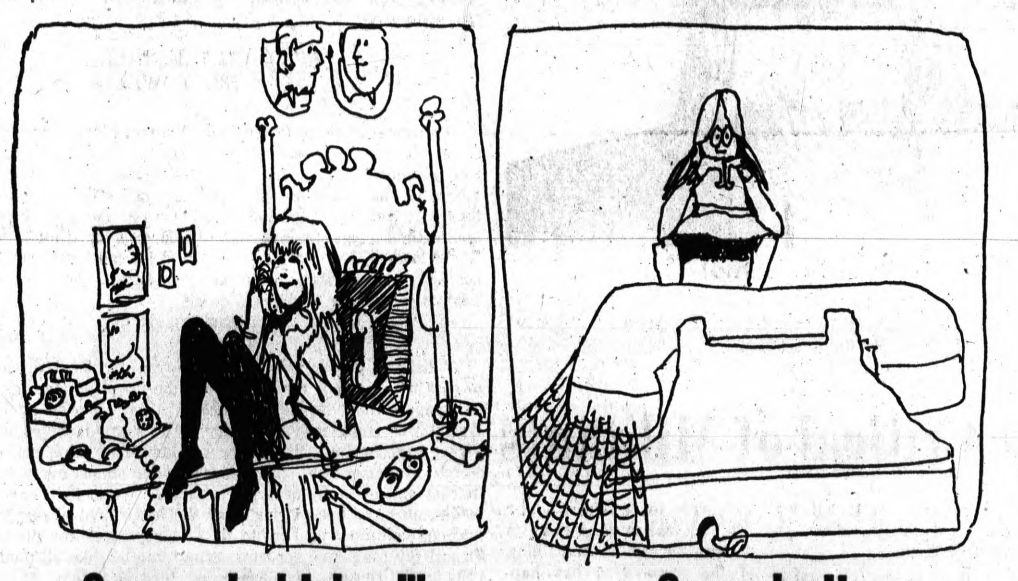
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Rosa E. King, who has outlived six husbands, has embarked on her 119th year of life.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. King observed her 118th birthday Monday at Meyer Memorial Hospital, where she has been a patient since suffering a mild stroke in February. Before that, she had lived alone but had some help from a neighbor.

★ ★ ★

Hospital officials say she is still alert and likes to reminisce about her years as a dancer in the Southwest and Mexico. Hospital records show she was born in Cuba on May 5, 1851.



Meet Your Neighbors

Bloomfield Woods Blooms

By BARBARA GRIBBON

Bloomfield Woods, west of Orchard Lake Road near Walnut Lake Road, is one of West Bloomfield Township's fastest-growing communities. There are about 45 families living in its two-story Colonial homes, with more being built every day.

Each house offers a large kitchen, den and family room plus three or four bedrooms upstairs. It all adds up to plenty of room for large families, of which there are many.

THE JACK SUMMERSES

The Jack Summers family moved to Bloomfield Woods from Arlington, Texas. They're originally from Kansas City.

★ ★ ★

The Summers family includes four children, Debbie, 17, Ann, 15, Stevie, 9, and Cindy, 3 years old. The youngsters love horses and riding and look forward to vacations in Kansas where the family keeps horses. They have never had much opportunity for winter sports, mom said, and hope to try many next year.

★ ★ ★

Summers is with the personnel department of General Motors. He golfs and both he and his wife play bridge.

★ ★ ★

Sewing for her home is one of Mrs. Summers' major interests, along with decorating and getting settled in the new house.

THE ANTHONY DE SILVIOS

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeSilvio moved here a year ago from Southfield. Their family includes 8 children. Carol, 20, is a junior at Eastern Michigan University where she studies dramatics. Gail, 18, is in her first year at Eastern Michigan. Then there's Mark, 17, a senior and baseball player at West Bloomfield High, Debbie, 15, Janice, 14, David, 13, Joanne, 10 and Sandy, 6.

★ ★ ★

All of the boys play hockey and David is a Pony League baseballer.

★ ★ ★

Dad is an accountant and cost analyst for Chrysler. He and his wife bowl with a league but spend most of their time in family activities. The DeSilvios attend St. Colman Church in Farmington.

THE RIBLET FAMILY

Mrs. Donald Riblet moved here last September from Grand Blanc. The family is originally from River Edge, N.J. Paul, the eldest son, recently returned from Vietnam and is now a student at Nichols College in Massachusetts. Daughter Nancy, who just graduated from Ferris State College, plans a career in advertising in this area.

★ ★ ★

Nancy lists water-skiing, golf and skiing as hobbies. Donald Craig, 13, is interested in golf.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Riblet, a garden club member in Grand Blanc, lists gardening as her major interest. She and Nancy have been exploring the area for new sources of recreation for the family. They attend St. Stephen's United Presbyterian Church.

THE DICK LOECHTENFELDTS

The Dick Loechtenfeldts moved to Bloomfield Woods from Dearborn Heights. They are originally from Cincinnati. Loechtenfeldt is district sales manager for Setco Industires.

★ ★ ★

A former football coach, Loechtenfeldt is interested in all sports. He belongs to Bay Point Golf Club where he plays every chance he gets.

★ ★ ★

His wife is a former public health nurse for the City of Detroit. She spends her free time playing the piano and gardening. Decorating the new house is another major interest.

THE NATE POLASKYS

Oak Park is the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Nate Polasky and their three sons, Robert, 17, David, 15 and Gary, 11.

★ ★ ★

Polasky is assistant manager for Manufacturers Life Insurance Co. He is a past president of the young married group at Temple Beth Abraham in Oak Park, which the family still attends.

★ ★ ★

Music is one of the boys' favorite hobbies. Robert plays the trumpet and David the guitar; Gary recently has taken up the drums. David also refinishes furniture, his mom told us.

★ ★ ★

Robert will attend Oakland University next fall. He and his dad play golf and all of the men in the family boat and fish. Cooking and dabbling in ceramics keep mom busy much of the time.

THE JIM CRUMS

From Indianapolis came the Jim Crum family with three children, David, 7, Mike, 10 and Chris, 12. Crum is sales manager for Cumnins Diesel. He is a member of the Michigan Trucking Association.

★ ★ ★

Dad is a Little League manager, and is busy with fishing and other sports the boys enjoy. Crum also goes deer hunting when he has time.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Crum enjoys gardening and was a member of a handicraft club before moving here.

THE PAUL SUIS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sui moved to Bloomfield Woods from Dearborn Heights with their three children, Bobby, 18, Anna, 16 and Eddy, 11. Sui is an engineer with Smith, Hinchman & Grylls.

★ ★ ★ ★

The Suis are originally from China which they left 18 years ago. They met in France while studying at the Sorbonne. They were married there and son Bobby was born there. He is now a pre-med student at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Right now the new house and yard are keeping the Suis busy. They divide their time between the basement, which will be a huge recreation room, and the new garden.

There's a great deal of building going on in Bloomfield Woods, so we'll be back in the future to meet more of the newcomers there. Next week we'll be telling you about some folks in Deerfield Village.

Charter Change Needed

A peition drive under chairmanship of PATRICK OLIVER, an attorney and former assistant county prosecutor, will soon be launched to submit a three-part charter amendment to Pontiac voters.

OLIVER

Its most significant feature is the revision of the elective procedure for City Commissioners that would elect those officials by Districts instead of by citywide vote. The other two sections of the amendment merely bring age and residency qualifications for City Commissioner candidates into conformity with those governing the majority of State and national elective offices.

The Press wholeheartedly supports the proposed charter amendment although five years ago it backed a victorious referendum vote prescribing that City Commissioners be nominated by Districts but voted on citywide.

At that time a self-serving bloc exercised control of the Commission, posing a serious threat to stable and progressive civic government. The impasse at City Hall argued for a change in the commissioner electoral process.

But the social and political climate of the municipality has undergone noteworthy uplift since then, with an increasing proportion of its citizenry concerned with its operation and seeking representation for their personal attitudes and furtherance of neighborhood as well as city objectives.

We believe that return to direct election of commissioners by each of the City's seven Districts will more fully insure the people's governmental rights than the election system now in effect.

'Tape' Ties Trade Hands

There is mounting evidence that the growing maze of bureaucracy in regulatory matters is seriously slowing progress in vital industries.

For example, in a U.S. News & World Report article, a drug industry executive states that the average time for an application for a new drug to be processed at the Food and Drug Administration was 106 days in 1958, 327 days in 1963 and more than 600 days in 1968. This is on top of the time, notes the drug industry official, of perhaps two to four years that the company itself has spent testing a new product in its own laboratories and running clinical trials.

★ ★ ★

In the same article, another drug manufacturer reports, "The regulatory mills grind awfully slowly. A letter we wrote to one commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration on November 15 was still unanswered in mid-February.

"After months of checking and testing in our own laboratories, we submitted a product to FDA for approval. The agency got to work on the application, but after several months the man who was in charge of investigating our product left FDA. A new official took over. He wanted some additional data on our drug and finally decided to start the whole investigation over, from scratch . . ."

★ ★ ★

For years, investigative bodies have made a big production of probing in great detail, and perhaps properly so, into the operation and practices of major drug firms, all in the name of the public interest. However, it would seem that if the public interest is to be best served more attention should be given to the cause of the ill who suffer for want of a drug that isn't there, or perhaps a drug that, instead of being on the market, is residing in the official file of a regulatory agency.

Constitution Highly Prized

Those not bitten by the bug will never understand what makes the true collector run.

The one common denominator appears to be that one era's discards are certain to end up as another era's treasures.

Everything is fair game, from buttons and stamps to disintegrating documents bearing signatures of history's great and not so great. And the prices paid for choice collectors' items in this affluent age can border on the fantastic.

★ ★ ★

The wires recently reported one high-priced sale that made more sense than most. A first printing of the Constitution, one of eight known to exist and annotated by signer Pierce Butler of South Carolina, was knocked down at auction in New York for $155,000, the highest price ever paid for a historic American document.

It would, of course, have been a bargain at any price. The Constitution of the United States of America is, in the truest sense of the word, priceless.

SDS Is Now Infiltrating High Schools

By RAY CROMLEY,
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Students for a Democratic Society is now moving into the high schools.

CROMLEY

This loosely knit youth group, responsible for some of the most violent college riots of the past year, aims at adapting some of its more effective techniques for precollege youngsters.

SDS is writing operations pamphlets for the teen-agers.

★ ★ ★

SDS college groups are sponsoring junior chapters in public schools near the campuses.

SDS leaders are acting as advisers to help students develop effective attacks on high school principals, teachers and school regulations. They're giving advice on what techniques will cause the most disruption in the schools.

UNDERGROUND PAPERS

They're pushing the publication of teen-age underground newspapers on the high school campuses.

One SDS pamphlet for the high school set reads in part:

"Even such seemingly destructive actions as starting trash can fires and pulling fire alarms are actually forms of protest directed at the school as it is now constituted. . . .

"Not only the defense of hair and clothing styles against administration attack, but the adoption of such styles themselves indicates a general disgust with the values and attitudes that our generation has been force-fed."

It is impossible to determine at this writing how successful the SDS recruiters will be on the high school campuses.

MORE VIOLENT

But in this reporter's experience in Asia, the very young, when aroused, are much more violent than their elder brothers.

Mao Tse-tung made heavy use of his high school and prehigh school youth in the Red Guards. The high school group is very violent in Japan.

★ ★ ★

In South Vietnam's turbulent period of antigovernment riots a fewyears back, the great bulk of the demonstrators frequently were youngsters from 8 to 17.

The North Vietnamese and the Vietcong have made widespread use of youngsters, 8 to 16. The adventure — and possession of weapons — has appealed to them.

★ ★ ★

Castro in Cuba found very young boys extremely valuable — reckless in their enthusiasm, once indoctrinated very difficult to sway, and ready to die for what his men had taught them.

It Won't Be Quite The Same!

David Lawrence Says:

Black Judge Critical of Militants

WASHINGTON — For several years now, it has been evident that there would be no lessening of racial friction in America unless white people talked to whites and black people talked to blacks about the fundamental principles essential to good behavior, and members of the two races then worked together to maintain harmony.

LAWRENCE

Thurgood Marshall, who is the first Negro on the Supreme Court of the United States, has just made a speech to a Negro audience at the centennial celebration of Dillard University in New Orleans, in which he said some plain things that both whites and blacks need to take to heart if there is to be stability in the life of the nation.

★ ★ ★

Justice Marshall criticized black militants, as he declared that "nothing will be settled with guns, firebombs or rocks."

He admitted, of course, that people were frustrated. But his advice was clear-cut.

He declared: "You are not going to compete in the world until you have training exactly like everyone else, and hopefully better, because when you are a Negro, you have to be better."

HEAD OF CLASS

Marshall graduated at the head of his class from Howard University Law School, and, as chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, won the famous desegration case in the Supreme Court in 1954.

He was appointed by President Kennedy to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and was later named by President Johnson to be solicitor general in the Department of Justice in Washington. In 1967, President Johnson appointed him to the highest court in the land.

In the New Orleans speech, Justice Marshall said: "Race is not an excuse for not keeping up your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

While Justice Marshall agreed that he believes "black is beautiful," he doesn't think that it is the only color that is beautiful.

JUST AS MANY

"I think we Negro Americans have just as many beautiful people in mind and body, as well as skin, as any other group — and that we have just as many stinkers as any other group . . . .

"Anarchy is anarchy, and it makes no difference who practices it — it is bad, it is punishable, and it should be punished."

This blunt way of talking will serve as an example for leaders of all races who have an influence in their communities.

Not enough has been done to bring peoples of different races together informally to discuss what can be done to diminish the bitterness that exists.

LACK OF INFORMATION

There is, unfortunately, a lack of information about how Negroes and whites who do respect each other get along in the everyday life of the community.

Disturbances in American cities have started in Negro neighborhoods, primarily because militant leaders have emphasized race prejudice and told Negroes they must use any means, including violence, to attain their "rights" and settle grievances against the whites. Something of the same kind has happened in white neighborhoods.

The disorders in America today are largely the result of emotions stirred up as the Negro population has grown in size and as schools have been desegregated.

Artificial steps to bring about integration have produced uneasiness and hard feelings, mainly because the citizens, both white and black, have not tackled the problem with an understanding of what can be done when there are voices of reason and conciliation.

Justice Marshall has performed a public service in speaking out on the subject of how racial friction is intensified by militants and in pointing to the prerequisite of harmony in any community — the recognition of one's own responsibility, irrespective of race, to be a law-abiding citizen.

Bob Considine Says:

Contentment Impossible When You're a Golfer

NEW YORK — Golf is an endeavor a player approaches with the reverence and fear of a pilgrim crawling to a Holy Place. He is never really sure of the reception he'll get or what the Almighty has cooked up for him that day.

CONSIDINE

It doesn't matter whether he is a bum or a superstar. He doesn't know what's in store for him, and never will. He goes through the ritual but is never truly satisfied. His sleep that night is tortured by the chances he missed to have a better round, the mental relapses that destroyed his discipline, the simple instructions he refused to follow. Nothing brings complete contentment.

Sam Snead once shot a 59 in competition at his home course, the biggest of them at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. It was a performance all but without parallel in the annals of the old game. But the reporters and club members who burst into the locker room to share in the expected festivities found him sitting on the bench in front of his locker, head in his hands. He was moaning something.

"Oh, those putts I missed," he was saying, over and over.

Craig Wood got off a 430-yard drive in the 1933 British Open. The place where the ball stopped is now marked by a plaque. Craig had almost driven a par-5 green on St. Andrews rugged Royal and Ancient!

The incredible feat is recorded in a little booklet one can buy from the caddie master of the world's oldest course. The caption under the picture of the hole states: "On this hole the American long hitter, C. Wood, drove well over 400 yards in the 1933 Open."

I saw Craig a few years ago after I played the same hole—with a flashy double bogie—and mentioned the item.

"Yeah, I've seen that booklet," Craig said. "It doesn't mention that it was raining when I hit that ball."

PLEASURE SHORT-LIVED

A couple of years ago I was driving from a club feeling pleased with myself for shooting a 48 for nine holes.

I switched on the radio and a voice was saying, in the hushed tones reserved for state funerals and the finale hole of a golf championship, "Charley Boswell is lining up his 25-foot putt. He's taking his time. There! He strokes it. It's moving toward the cup . . . closer . . . closer . . . It's in!" Then a big cheer from the gallery, above which the announcer said, "So Charley Boswell once more wins the National Blind Golf Tournament with his sparkling 42!"

Voice of the People:

Fight Against Obscenity Has Support of Readers

Congratulations to The Pontiac Press for the editorial on the smut war conducted by the Pontiac Police. The General Federation of Women's Clubs, comprised of 11,500,00 women in the United States and 60 territories around the world, have put special emphasis this year on their program "A Crusade for Morality in Mass Media." The Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs unanimously supports the Pontiac police officials and Chief William K. Hanger, and commends them for their action. It is regrettable that the owners of these stores were not arrested, too.

★ ★ ★

Now is the time for all the women of this country to band together to protest the sales of obscene books, magazines and any other forms of pornography. With the cooperation of our women to organize for action, we could win this crusade for morality.

MARGARET E. HILL

Congratulations to Police Chief William K. Hanger and his fellow officers for a job well done. The arrest of the three persons responsible for selling obscene literature to a minor convinces us that there is still some law and order in the land today. However, it's too bad we can't arrest the man responsible for the spread of pornography in this country—Chief Justice Earl Warren. By this man's extreme liberalist attitude, pornography and obscene material have spread throughout the land infecting our children's minds.

PARENTS OF SIX

I believe the comment "and maybe our local drugstore owners will cull out the garbage in the books, magazines and newspapers they display for sale" in a letter signed by R. T. Wright was completely out of line. The stores involved in the recent arrests for selling obscene literature were not drug stores. Magazines are displayed for sale in almost every supermarket and in many department stores. We in the pharmacy profession have been striving for the betterment of our youth and our community. I invite R. T. Wright and any others to inspect my magazine department any time. I, like all pharmacists, will remove any piece of literature they find objectionable.

HOWARD L. DELL

I am pleased to see that our Pontiac police are starting a crackdown on sellers of obscene literature. If we could keep garbage like this out of bookstores and off the television, we might be able to get back to decency again. If we'd get back to prayer and Bible reading, we'd be doing more for our kids than all the education and material possessions could do. Chief Hanger, you and your men keep up the good work. Many of us are for you.

States Opposition to Sex Education Program

I, too, am against sex education in our schools. They have been teaching it for a few years in our colleges and you can see what it is doing to the students. They have nothing to be modest about. Let's start teaching rules and regulations of our society and respect for one another. Schools claim they don't have enough funds to teach other classes, let's stick to the main subjects.

Reader States His Opinion on ABM System

High salaried lobbyists of the ABM manufacturers and computer component builders have the Secretary of Defense, President Nixon, Senator Dirksen and others snowed under. Especially so, since proponents of the system admit it has not been proven and will not be a perfect defense. They admit we already have the potential to wipe out every major city on earth.

Appreciate Prompt Help of Sheriff, Police

We express appreciation to the Sheriff's department and Rochester Police for their prompt and efficient answer to our request for help. The Oakland County Road Commission also deserves praise for servicing Bloomer Road, not only in the winter but in the summer under flooding conditions. These departments are often short-handed and overworked, and receive only complaints for their efforts.

Question and Answer

Why is the southwest corner of Ottawa and Huron streets left vacant? Why weren't houses built there when the subdivision was developed?

SEMINOLE HILLS RESIDENT

REPLY

Paul Kern, who helped sell the original development, said it's because the land won't hold a foundation. Two lots are involved, and at one time a house was started on one of them. When it began to sink, the buyer's money was refunded and he was given another lot. It was assumed if that happened on one lot, the same would probably happen on the adjoining property, so it has remained vacant.

Question and Answer

We've been in business 17 years, owe no one and our credit has always been good. Then we got a letter from Pontiac Credit Bureau, saying we must pay a bill from Detroit Edison. I called the Credit Bureau to tell them we're not the Harold Quick they want and that we've never had a service station at the Walled Lake address the bill is for, but can't seem to get it straightened out. A dun from the bureau hurts our business.

HAROLD H. QUICK

REPLY

Mr. Gray at Detroit Edison assures us your credit is not in jeopardy because the bill was not referred for collection in your name. Your name was given as the owner of the business named on the account. Edison records indicate someone did take out an account at the Walled Lake address using your name and the name of your business. However, because of the obvious mixup, Detroit Edison has decided to cancel the bill. Mr. Gray at Edison and the Credit Bureau are sorry for any trouble this may have caused you.

Brothers Held After Chase

Tip From Father Leads to 2 Teens' Arrests

Two teen-agers were arrested in Highland Township early this morning after a car chase and a struggle with an Oakland County sheriff's deputy. A tip from their father led to their arrest.

In the county jail awaiting arraingment are John E. Krupinski, 17, of 2493 Jackson, Davisburg, and his brother Frank J., 19, of 7775 N. Milford, Highland Township.

★ ★ ★

Both are charged with resisting arrest and failure to identify themselves to police. In addition, Frank is accused of being drunk and disorderly and John of fleeing a traffic violation.

Their fathr, Frank Sr., 1932 Ormond, Davisburg, a custodian at Highland Hills Golf Club, 2075 Oakland, Highland Township, reported that a suspicious car was driving throught the club's parking lot.

DEPUTY GAVE CHASE

Deputy Dale Rose, with the father in the squad car, pursued the vehicle noticing one headlight was not working. Rose put on his siren and flashing light and gave chase.

He said the car picked up speed but he lost it in dust from the road at Duck Lake and White Lake roads.

★ ★ ★

Rose said he stopped his car and turned off the lights. In about 10 minutes the allegedly suspicious car cameby.

This time the car halted and the boys refused to give Rose identification, the deputy said.

When the deputy tried to frisk and handcuff them, a struggle erupted and the deputy reported being struck by the pair. He was not hurt.

Rose then used tear gas to subdue them, he said.

Restoration of Fort Tied to Vote Today

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) —Voters in this northern Lake Huron island township went to the polls today in a special election to express a first decision in a proposed restoration of old Ft. Drummond, once the last British military outpost as U.S. soil.

The question on the ballot was whether to form a Drummond Township Park and Historical Commission of six members, which under state law would have the right to raise funds, apply for state and federal grants and let contracts for restoration work.

Old Ft. Drummond, also known as Ft. Collyer, was built in 1815 by British troops who were forced to surrender Mackinac Island by treaty after the war of 1812.

Bid to Enlarge Finance Unit Still Alive?

An attempt to expand the finance committee to include all members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors may not yet be dead.

A recent vote in the committee on committees failed to win enough support for further consideration, but Lawrence Pernick, D-Southfield, says he may bring the matter up at a board meeting.

Pernick had written a letter to the committee on committees in which he suggested that finance committee membership be expanded. "If it is the all-powerful finance committee as some members believe it to be, then I think we should all have a chance to be members," Pernick said.

There has been some dissension among board members as to the finance committee's role. Whether it has the power to amend previous committee action and whether it should become the agent for setting county spending priorities have been points of contention.

Pernick said he'd wait to see how sentiment develops on the board before bringing the matter up for open discussion.

The Republican caucus has reportedly taken a stand against expansion of membership to include the full board.

In their original board organizations plan, Republicans had suggested that committee chairmen serve as members of the finance committee and that the group be chaired by the vice chairman of the board.

New Organization Formed in Ohio

Wallaceites Strengthen Party

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It remains to be seen whether George C. Wallace will run for president again, but an aide says he already has "the basis for a better national organization than we had in the election last year."

The aide, Taylor Hardin, said it was put together over the weekend in Cincinnati, Ohio, when Wallace partisans from 38 states formed a new American party.

Welded together were Wallace's old American Independent party and kindred third-party alliances—in one state of another—which supported the former Alabama governor in 1968.

One weakness in the campaign last year, said Hardin, was that in the process of getting on the ballot by petition "we wound up with a losely knit organization" with little central control.

Wallace disclaimed any active part in the new organization but said he was "pleased with the outcome" and with the officers chosen to lead the new party.

T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, who headed the 1968 third-party movement in Virginia, was elected national chairman, and Bill Davis of Covington, Tenn., a pro-Wallace candidate for Congress earlier this year, is the vice chairman.

A source close to Wallace described the newly organized party as the nucleus of a political force which "can be used if Wallace wants to use it or if events dictate that he should use it."

Whether the former governor runs, the source predicted, will depend on "how wrought up the people are and what President Nixon does."

Suit Dismissal Won't Halt Fight Over 15-Mill Limit

The tax suit brought by George Williams, president of the Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association, against Commerce Township and Oakland County was dismissed yesterday in Walled Lake District Court.

But, the action has slowed Williams' campaign to keep the taxing levy within the 15-mill limit. He has sent a letter to the 14 state legislators representing Oakland County asking them to take emergency action to stop the county from exceeding the limitation.

Williams' case was dismissed yesterday for his failure to file suit within 30 days of having paid his property tax.

"We're not dead. We're not even bleeding too badly," said the foremer county social services director.

Williams has headed a campaign to stop governmental practices of levying taxes over the 15-mill limit to pay for bonded indebtedness.

Williams' current bone of contention is the recent Michigan Municipal Finance Commission approval for the Oakland County Intermediate School District to sell $500,000 in bonds for purchase of a computer system.

The sum is seen as the first of three needed to buy the total computer system estimated at $1.3 million.

★ ★ ★

"Not only will the taxpayers buy it in the first place, but the local school districts will then have to buy the use of it, which the taxpayers also must pay for," Williams told the legislators.

He asked the legilators stop "the injustice of property taxes imposed by the Oakland County Intermediate School District over the constitutional limit without voter approval."

Finger drawing isn't necessarily confined to the small fry at Messiah Baptist Church Day Care Center as Mrs. Ralph Harper of Sylvan Lake whips off a happy face for son Ross.

Obviously a lady's never too young to start preserving that youthful glow. "Oil of the turtle? Not quite . . . try a dab of moistened Ivory Snow flakes with a hint of pink food coloring, my dear."

You might say the cleanup committee has its hands full when playtime comes to an end at the Messiah Baptist Church Day Care Center.

Hope Is a Happy Day Care Center

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a series of articles on day care centers in the Pontiac area that are designed to help low-income or ADC mothers who must work and who need a safe, approved place to leave their children.)

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

"Look out, you might get mobbed," yelled Lynne Harper. An onrushing sea of tiny smilers engulfed me at the door of Pontiac's Messiah Baptist Church.

Since last fall, ground floor of the church has been converted for use as a day care center for some 20 energy-packed preschoolers. Their mothers, the majority on ADC, are training for or already holding down full time jobs.

With Lynne in the lead, we (the entourage included) hustled into one of several classrooms.

★ ★ ★

Amid squeals, high-pitched roars and just plain prattle, she reigns undaunted; consoling the accident prone, exchanging spontaneous hugs and soothing bruised feelings.

Like many of the homemakers working at the center, Mrs. Ralph Harper is a member of Episcopal Church of the Advent, the project's main sponsor.

Here, accompanied by her five-year-old son Ross, the slight, quiet brunette is among the regular volunteers at the Church on East Pike and Anderson on once-a-week shifts.

With a young family of her own to care for (nine-year-old Dayne attends Roosevelt School in Keego Harbor) what, I inquired, brings her to the center?

Her first thoughts show an instinctive love for youngsters; she's a three-year veteran of the church's Sunday school program and has platooned summer day camp sessions. The conversation soon concentrated on the center and her place in achieving its goals.

A HEAD START

As with the federally funded programs, the center is basically an outreach project to help those with low incomes break the social cycle, which for generations has hindered advancement.

In this way, the non-profit, self-supporting nursery enables the family head to train for or apply skilled labor and elevate the household's substandard income or complete dependency on welfare programs.

★ ★ ★

However, another priority of the center is directed at preparing the child from a less than average economic and social background for his first educational experience, which is commonly set on unrelated middle class standards.

"No matter what color the child in this social dilemma, getting that head start, with our program or under the government-sponsored project of the same name, is very much needed here," says Lynne.

Many times, children with frustrating backgrounds, which may be the consequence of broken homes or lack of attention, are ill-equipped emotionally, to work in groups or adjust to an educational program unfamiliar to their home environment.

Here, then is where a supervised 'learning through play' program which stimulates sharing, creativity, confidence and personal hygiene, can best be utilized.

An avid interest in arts and crafts is a third factor in bringing Lynne to the center as she was an art major at Eastern Michigan University. Graduation plans, however, were set aside after meeting Ralph, who's employed in computer systems at General Motors Truck and Coach.

★ ★ ★

No sooner had the conversation begun when a very distraught little artist let out a wail of helplessness which abruptly dropped the curtain on history . . . and sent my subject off and running.

Here, Lynne Harper has found her place . . . and hopefully week by week, can do the same for her eager, restless brood, tomorrow's generation.

'Little Things' Count Too as One Travels Life's Path

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Some observations on the American scene:

I don't know about you, but I'm a great clipper and pasteupper around the house. Some persons use a bulletin board for the "thoughts of the day" department. I know one housewife who uses the inside of the medicine cabinet.

At our house, it's the refrigerator door which sometimes looks like a Pop artist gone mad. The whole purpose, of course, is to have something worth re-reading right there where you see it frequently. Certainly our refrigerator is a focal point of the house.

RIGHT WORDS

The other day I added a poem from Sanskrit, a few lines that lift my spirits beautifully on a day when the doldrums threaten. For you not familiar with the words, here they are. Clip and paste up.

"Listen to the Exhortation of the Dawn!
"Look to this Day!
"For it is Life, the very Life of Life.
"In its brief course lie all the "Verities and Realities of your Existence:
"The Bliss of Growth,
"The Glory of Action,
"The Splendor of Beauty,
"For Yesterday is but a Dream,
"And Tomorrow is only a Vision;
"But Today well-lived makes
"Every Yesterday a Dream of Happiness,
"And every Tomorrow a Vision of Hope.
"Look well therefore to this Day!
"Such is the salutation of the dawn."

★ ★ ★

Have you ever noticed that people who want to hear all about your trip, soon are telling you all about theirs?

★ ★ ★

It occurs to me that the manners of our young are something less than they should be. I hear "yup" instead of "yes, ma'am", and if the word "please" isn't revitalized, it'll fade right out of the language. Emerson said: "Life is short, but there is always time for courtesy."

How true the saying that fame is a fleeting thing. I know. Mine "fleeted" in about 12 hours. You know the custom some of the big motels have in putting up in huge letters on a marquee out front, "Welcome to so and so," be it individual or organization or an ad for a special meal.

ME — UP THERE

I was a guest at Holiday Inn in Huntington, W. Va. when I was in town to give a talk to the newly chartered Gamma Gamma chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, the honorary communications fraternity. Imagine the way I gaped when I drove up in front of the motel to find my name and title up in lights, just like those of stars on Broadway. As soon as I registered, I called every nearby relative to urge, "drive by, you may never have this chance again."

★ ★ ★

Next morning, as I checked out, I noticed my brief fling at fame was ended. The marquee read in bold, red letters: "Featured every Sunday, southern fried chicken and all the trimmings."

Wife Resents Other Woman Who Is Rude

ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: When a female approaches my husband at a dance, completely ignoring me, and requests him to dance with her, what should be my attitude when he turns to me and says "You don't mind, do you, dear?"

Especially since all are strangers at the dance and my husband promised beforehand to dance only with me. For one thing, I go only to please him, knowing he loves to dance — and we dance very well together — but I don't like the "change of partners" bit and have refused going of late due to his putting me on the spot.

★ ★ ★

Am I right to assume the lady is rude in her lack of consideration of a man's female partner? — Pat

★ ★ ★

Dear Pat: You are right in assuming that a woman — who is a stranger is acting in the poorest taste when she asks your husband to dance. However, you are putting yourself in the unfortunate role of the jealous wife by making him promise to dance only with you.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of going to parties is to meet other people and enjoy their company, and if you and your husband don't feel that is so, you might as well stay home and dance to records.

★ ★ ★

Under the circumstances, your husband should have refused the stranger's invitation, but before you attend another dance, you should decide whether you will both enjoy it enough to make it worthwhile.

Is She Looking for Real Job or Is Letter to Find Husband?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me find a position as live-in housekeeper in a motherless home? It must be a modern home in the most desirable section of the city. (No remote, country or farm locations, please.) The father must be between 40 and 50, no older. And he must be at least 6 feet tall as I am a well-proportioned 5 ft. 8 and do not feel comfortable with shorter men around me.

I am well-dressed, attractive and well-groomed. Enjoy good music, dancing, and outdoor sports. I am 35 years old and in excellent health and can furnish character references. BOX NO. 322

★ ★ ★

DEAR BOX NO. 322: You sound as though you are looking for a man, not a job. If it's a position you're after, register with an employment agency, or place an ad in the classified section of this newspaper. If it's a man you're after, your approach is clever, but much too obvious.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your reply to the lady who complained because her "Rebecca" was called "Becky."

True, "Rebecca" is a fine old Biblical name, but I'll wager that the Biblical Rebecca was called "Becky," even as Joseph was undoubtedly called "Joe," Peter, "Pete," and I'm sure close friends of Moses called him "Moe." GEORGE

★ ★ ★

DEAR GEORGE: If there is any evidence that "nicknames" nicked our Biblical characters, I have yet to come upon it. But I will wager that if there is any, one of my readers will provide me with it quicker than I can say "Abe" for Abraham.

Respective League Champions Floundering

Tigers, Cards Now Look to Inter-Division Schedule

By the Associated Press

East meets West tonight for the first time in baseball's traditional-breaking centennial season. It won't be too soon for the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals.

After a month of uninterrupted intra-division play in the majors' new East-West alignment, the 24 clubs begin extended swings outside their groupings —with the runaway 1968 pennant winners scrambling to make up lost ground.

The world champion Tigers, who captured the American League flag by 12 lengths, are two games under .500 and seven games behind front-running Baltimore in the AL East Division.

St. Louis, which took the National League top spot by nine games last fall, is four games below the break-even mark and trails the first place Chicago Cubs by seven games in the NL East. The Cardinals have been beaten 11 times in 12 home games and are just one-half length ahead of Montreal's division tailenders.

LOSE EXHIBITION

Detroit even found the exhibition circuit tough Monday night, as it lost 3-0 to the Philadelphia Phillies in a Junior Baseball Federation benefit contest at Philadelphia.

Four Philadelphia relief pitchers combined to produce the Tiger shutout. Gary Wagner, Bill Wilson, Barry Lersch and Al Raffo allowed the Tigers only four hits.

★ ★ ★

The Phillies scored their first run in the opening off loser Joe Sparma. Johnny Briggs singled, advanced to third on a single-bagger by Rich Allen, and scored on Johnny Callison's sacrifice fly.

Two walks and Ron Stone's hit off Mike Kilkenny gave the Phillies their second run in the fifth. Don Money's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth drove in the third run. Mickey Stanley got two of Detroit's hits, a first-inning double and a single in the sixth. Jim Price and Gates Brown collected the other two.

Last May 6, Detroit was 14-8 and Denny McLain had won his first four pitching decisions on the way to a fantastic 31-6 finish and the league's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards. Bob Gibson, 22-9 and the NL MVP and Cy Young winner, was 2-1 at the same point for the Cards, who had won 15 of 23 starts.

PLAY KANSAS CITY

McLain, 4-3 this spring, is scheduled to pitch for the Tigers tonight at Detroit against the surprising Kansas City Royals. Gibson, 2-2, is set to go for the Cardinals at St. Louis against San Francisco.

Three National League pitchers who have seized the 1969 spotlight by hurling early season no-hitters—Montreal's Bill Stoneman, Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Houston's Don Wilson —also are due to work in their clubs' inter-division openers.

Stoneman, who made history for the expansion Expos against Philadelphia on April 17, is their scheduled starter at Atlanta. Maloney and Wilson, who fired no-hitters in successive games at Cincinnati April 30 and May 1, are set to pitch at New York and Philadelphia, respectively.

San Diego is at Pittsburgh and Los Angeles at the Chicago Cubs in other National League games. In the American League, Minnesota is at Cleveland, Washington at Oakland, the Chicago White Sox at Baltimore, Boston at Seattle and the New York Yankees at California.

★ ★ ★

While the Tigers have had trouble getting started in the AL, new Manager Billy Martin has sent Minnesota out of the West Division gate in high gear and Washington, aroused by first year pilot Ted Williams, has risen up from the 1968 cellar to challenge Baltimore in the East.

The Twins, who finished seventh last season, 24 games off the pace, have won eight in a row and 16 of their last 19 for a 2½-game lead in the West. The Senators, 37½ games behind the Tigers last October, have won 10 of their last 11 to seize second place in the East, 3½ lengths behind the high-flying Orioles.

Atlanta and Chicago each 11-12 a year ago today, are perched atop the National League standings. The Braves, geographic misfits in the West, lead Los Angeles and San Francisco by two games. The Cubs are two up on Pittsburgh in the East.

Kansas City, third in the AL West with a 13-11 mark, has been most impressive among the four expansion clubs. San Diego, Montreal and Seattle are playing sub-.500 ball. All four have fared better than the Cleveland Indians, who have lost 18 of 21 starts, and the Astros, who dropped 15 of 16 in one stretch before Wilson came up with his no-hitter.

On the plus side, the Astros pulled off seven double plays against San Francisco last Sunday, tying the major league record set 23 years ago by the Yankees.

HOMER BARRAGE

Other highlights in the first month of the campaign included record home run sprees by the Red Sox and Baltimore's Frank Robinson and a six-hit binge by KC rookie Bob Oliver last Sunday.

The Red Sox poled 27 homers in 11 consecutive games and Robinson connected 10 times in the month of April. Oliver became the first AL player in seven years to collect six hits in a game when he clubbed four singles, a double and his third homer against California.

Robinson, batting .340 and leading the majors with 25 RBI, has triggered the Orioles' 20-8 getaway along with 5-0 lefthander Dave McNally. A year ago today, Robinson was batting .250, with no homers and three RBI.

★ ★ ★

The Mets' Cleon Jones, a notorious slow starter in previous years, leads NL batters with a .398 average—compared to his .246 mark at this juncture last season. Rod Carew of the Twins is the AL pacesetter at .395.

Pete Retzlaff Receives GM Post With Eagles of NFL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, one of the all-time great pass receivers in National Football League history, is the new vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles made it official at a news conference this morning.

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

★ ★ ★

His first job will be to name Kuharich's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' own Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000, is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

★ ★ ★

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

WAIVER PRICE

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

★ ★ ★

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

He went on to become one of the best pass receivers in league history, an All-NFL slection before quitting in 1967.

★ ★ ★

Retzlaff ranked as the fifth best pass receiver in NFL history at his retirement and he played in five Pro Bowl games.

★ ★ ★

Gauer, 47, spent 11 years with the Eagles as player, scout and assistant coach. In that time, Philadelphia had only one losing season.

Williams, 45, paired with Gauer as a defensive backfield coach on the Eagles' 1960 club.

★ ★ ★

His most notable achievement as a coach came in the Canadian Football League, when he led Calgary to the Western Division championship in 1967 and was cited as Coach of the Year.

OLD PROS CELEBRATE—Just as they did in their high school days, the veteran Boston Celtics had reason to celebrate without restraint last night after defeating the Los Angeles Lakers, 108-106, to win the NBA Playoff Championship for their 11th NBA title in 13 years. Bill Russell (6) and Emmette Bryant (7) display their excitement after beatint the Lakers in Los Angeles.

Defeat Lakers, 108-106

Celtics' NBA Reign Continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The reign of the Boston Celtics continues in the National Basketball Association and frustration remained the key word for the Los Angeles Lakers today.

The well-balanced Celtics defeated the Lakers, 108-106, in the seventh and deciding game of the series Monday night. They did it on the friendly home court of the Lakers at the Forum before a record Forum crowd of 17,568.

★ ★ ★

It marked the 11th time in the past 13 years that Boston carried off the NBA championship, and the sixth time the Lakers came up short against Boston.

Capt. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers summed it up very well when he said, "It becomes very discouraging the way Boston seems to tantalize us and then always come through in the clutch. They outplayed us in the third quarter and took the game away from us."

Player-coach Bill Russell of the winners, having made this his 11th winning season, took it all calmly—but happily.

"Comradeship, friendship, teamwork—that is the Celtics," said Russell.

NEVER BEHIND

Boston's John Havlicek put his team in front in the opening seconds and the Celtics were never behind from there on. Los Angeles tied it at 2-2 and then 4-4 on shots by Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

Boston led by as much as 14 points in the first quarter but Los Angeles kept clawing back and trailed by only 59-56 at the half.

★ ★ ★

One minute 50 seconds into the third period Keith Erickson's free throw tied it up at 60-60 and it appeared the Lakers might roll on.

★ ★ ★

The hope evaporated as Havlicek, Don Nelson and Sam Jones, the latter playing his final game, put 11 points on the scoreboard in a matter of minutes and cruised out in front, 71-60.

TURNING POINT

"I think the turning point, came at this point," said Havlicek. "They came on strong but we put together 10 or 15 points."

Going into the fourth quarter, it was Boston, 91-76.

"We had opportunities all over the place," said Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but we just couldn't do it. I really thought we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots, but the game just turned around instead. The ball just appeared to bounce their way."

But the Lakers weren't dead as ol' Sam Jones said later, "They just kept coming back."

West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining.

West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car — as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team."

The consensus: Havlicek.

Maluzhinsky, who has given up only three hits in 31 innings, allowed Oxford just two in posting his fourth triumph.

Dub Brady and Neal Fatheree each had three hits for Lamphere while Dan Kubik had two and two rbi's.

Mott's record is now 5-3 thanks to three hits by Roger Strader and a pair of doubles by Jerry McNair. Randy Cooper also had two hits and two runs batted in.

Four Shrine players, Bud Krause, Bill Simpson, Dennis Evans and Tom Siskowski each had two hits in the win over Servite.

STOLEN BASE

In the top of the ninth, Bert Garavaglia was safe on an error, stole second, and after a pair of short singles by Simpson and Siskowski, Tom McGinnity's grounder allowed Garavaglia to score the winning run.

Player Makes Detroit Appearance

Gary's Golfing Gold Is U. S. 'Export'

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Gold and Gary Player are two of the most well known of South African exports. The export of the latter has led to a rather large import of the former.

Genial Gary, who at 5-7 and 150 pounds ranks as the mighty mite of the pro golfing circuit, chatted briefly with newsmen yesterday after his arrival in Detroit for an appearance at Hudson's Stores.

At 33, Player, with a pleasant British accent, says he's not over the hill. He says that with proper conditioning a player could perform as well at age 40 as he could at 20.

POSITIVE THINKER

Player is frank but never flippant. He's articulate, a disciple of positive thinking, influenced along this line by writings of Norman Vincent Peale, and his answers to many prodding questions indicate a knowledge that's not restricted to the game of golf.

"You can't get rich from winnings on the golf tour," said Player, attired in a light-colored golf outfit in contrast to his usual black. "They (Puritan, one of his endorsements) haven't sent me any black shirts yet. They make about 70 colors and they didn't want me to wear black all the time.

"Really, you make nothing on tournaments," Player continued. "It costs me a minimum of $1,000 a week on the tour. Sure, I don't say I couldn't get by for less, but first class is costly. The expenses and taxes just take too much. The real income comes from endorsements."

Among the many items to which Gary lends his name in the endorsement game are books, shoes, shirts, caps, gloves, a shipping company, a soft drink, an airlines, fruit, insurance and watches.

How many money-making endorsements does he currently have? "I really don't even know," says Gary. "Oh, at least 30, I'd say."

Player earned over a $100,000 playing golf last year and he's made well over a half million since turning pro at age 17 back in 1953. Much of that has been imported to South Africa. He's one of only four players to win the Grand Slam — the U.S. Open, Masters, PGA and British Open.

★ ★ ★

But, he insists, he is just a parttime performer on the professional play-for-pay tour, that the golfing bit is just a means to an end.

Gary is a gentleman farmer, owner of a pair of farms in South Africa — one of 1,200 acres and the other of 500 — and he raises horses and cattle. It's much better than golfing," says Player.

His trips to the United States are not pleasure jaunts. He's here to keep his name before the public with his golfing ability with the hope that endorsements will follow.

Player has five children "and we're planning on two or three more." Being away from his family is the most distastful part of roaming around the world swinging golf clubs. He left today for home in Johannesburg.

Player is dwarfed by the likes of burly Jack Nickalus, for example, but he has overcome this lack of physical size through a rigorous approach to physical education and his positive attitude.

GARY PLAYER

COMPACT SWINGER

Although only 5-7, Player is a compact little guy who can swat the ball with nearly the authority of Nicklaus.

"There is no reason why, if you look after yourself why you couldn't play as well at age 40 as at 20," says Player, a clean liver who neither drinks nor smokes.

Player is a Christian, affiliated with the Methodsst Church. In 1967 he was named "Christian Athlete of the Year" by the Southern Baptist Convention, an honor he called his greatest in golf.

★ ★ ★

"Religion interests me very much," says Player. "I think the greatest man in the world today is Billy Graham."

Player touched on a number of other subjects. About his success on the U.S. tour he said "I feel it was learning the fundamentals. A lot of boys are coming out on the tour now who really don't know the basics of the game. Golf is like a puzzle. You have to be able to take the golf swimg apart and put it back together again. I've done a lot of thinking about my game and a lot of self-

Umpire's Rule Oak Park Woe

An umpire's forfeit decision in favor of Birmingham Groves after a long argument, knocked Oak Park from the unbeaten ranks in Oakland County high school baseball yesterday.

Groves was awarded a 7-0 forfeit when umpire Frank Wenson called the game after four innings, tied 2-2, after coach Mickey Sinks protested a call and then refused to leave the field.

It all happened when Groves' first baseman Kevin Burke attempted to catch a foul popup and there was interference by a spectator.

Base umpire Bob Husband ruled the batter out on an interference call and Sinks protested. He advised plate umpire Wenson he was protesting the game and when the coach refused to leave the field after a 60-second warning, the game was forfeited.

★ ★ ★

Oak Park is 9-1 for the season and 4-1 in the league, while Groves is 4-1 over-all and 3-0 in the league.

In another Northwest Suburban League game, Livonia Franklin won its first game by defeating cellar team North Farmington, 8-1.

Dave McCoy had two hits for the winners and Jay Hazelroth three hits for the losers.

Mark Geigler with two hits including his third home run of the season, led the Milford attack. John Stanley also homered giving the Redskins six for the season, two short of the team record.

The two homers came in the third inning.

Dennis Wooster went the distance for Kettering as Paul Curry hit the team's first home run of the year in the 7th inning for the winning run.

WINNING RUN

Three errors in the 2nd inning along with Russ Thomas single gave the Barons another run.

For Brighton, Rich McKenny walked twice and scored twice and it was six straight times that McKenny had walked. Dan Carney and Don Panek doubled him home in the first and third yesterday and the third Brighton run came on a squeeze bunt error.

Seaholm, Hazel Park Keep Pace in SMA League Play

It took 11 innings, but Birmingham Seaholm defeated Berkley in a Southeast Michigan Association game yesterday, 9-6, and had its coach ejected in the eighth inning.

A double by George Metcalf, a walk and hit batsman, along with five stolen bases accounted for the three runs in the 11th inning. Metcalf had two doubles and three rbi's in the game while Jim Hagen accounted for home run and single for three rbi's.

Berkley's Glenn Silberschein had a single and double for two runs batted in and pinch hitter Mark McDivitt, batting for pitcher Tom Drabik in the fifth, slammed a two-run homer.

Seaholm is 3-1 in the league and Berkley is 2-2. Hazel Park kept pace with the Maples by shutting out Southfield, 5-0, on the two-hit pitching of Mickey Jones.

Bob Jones had three hits for the winner and Jones himself contributed two hits and three rbi's. Jones only walked one and struck out 14 in his getting his third victory against one loss.

Losing pitcher Dave Timassey struck out 10, but gave up six hits.

Hazel Park is also 3-1 while Southfield is now 1-3.

EMU Runners Easy Winner in Track Meet

HILLSDALE (AP) — Corey Bouyer of Ferris State took three firsts, a fourth and anchored a third-place relay team, but his efforts were not enough to prevent Eastern Michigan from running away with the NAIA District 23 track championship.

Bouyer won the 120-yard high hurdles, the 100-yard dash and the 440-yard intermediate hurdle, while finishing fourth in the 220-yard dash and anchoring Ferris' third-place 440-yard relay team.

But EMU piled up 150 points for an easy victory. Ferris was second with 52, Hillsdale third with 48, Grand Valley fifth with 6 and Spring Arbor sixth with 5 points.

By JERE CRAIG

Approximately seven years ago Larry Thibault played his way into the Clarkston High School tennis coaching job; now the Wolves are playing their way into a dynasty.

The Northern Michigan University graduate is currently in his sixth season as the Clarkston net mentor. The Wolves have won 36 of their last 38 matches in a three-year span.

"I'm not sure why I got the job," Thibault says. "Maybe it was because I played the guy who was the coach when I came and was lucky enough to beat him. I think he might have recommended me for the job when he left!"

Since Thibault took over it hasn't been easy for the players. He works them hard. "I like to get the guys when they're freshman; then it's a matter of keeping their interest.

"We practice on the wall in the gym a lot early in the season. Once you get on top it's easier. They like to stay up there and will work at it."

★ ★ ★

In this respect, things are going well for the industrial arts instructor. During his tenure the team hasn't finished lower than third in the league. It is 50-11 for five years.

THIBAULT

It was unbeaten in 1967, going 14-0 in dual matches, winning the Wayne-Oakland League, the Walled Lake Invitational Tournament and the first Class A regional title in the school's athletic history.

Last year Bloomfield Hills Andover dethroned the Wolves in the league, whipping them twice during the season. Now Clarkston is 10-0 and will seek revenge on the once-beaten Barons Friday afternoon.

BAD MOMENT

The current undefeated spurt by the Wolves has had its embarrassing and uncomfortable moment. Last week's meeting with usually strong Northville saw the Wolves arrive at the Mustangs' court without their No. 2 singles player.

"That was an oversight," understated the Clarkston coach. "We take two cars on our road trips. Kirk Beattie was parked out front and I had my car behind the gym.

"I thought Dave Kelley was with him, and he thought he was with me. So Kirk went out that way and I drove out the other and Kelley was left in the lockerroom."

★ ★ ★

Clarkston nipped the previously unbeaten Northville netters, 3-2. Northville has already beaten Andover this year, so Friday's meet could give the Wolves a clear shot at regaining the loop crown, or toss the battle into a three-way showdown later.

The Clarkston tennis outlook, augmented by a summer program that has developed several fine individual players in recent years, continues good as long as Thibault's get-'em-while-they're-young policy is able to provide the important quanity.

Then his hard-work training routine can harvest the vital depth necessary to win championships.

VERSATILE

One of Andover's netmen, Kevin Koch who also happens to be the senior class president, has demonstrated superior ability in another field. He reigns as the Michigan Amateur Gymnastics all-around senior boys' champion after the recent state finals at Michigan State University.

Al Sanders, the five-time MAG tumbling champion who who is a student at George Williams College near Chicago, will run a concentrated 12-day morning gymnastics program at BHA in late June for the Acronauts Club in the Bloomfield Hills Recreation program.

KOCH

Western Michigan University's freshman baseball team has on its roster shortstop Dick Johnson from Clarkston and catcher Tom Webster of Farmington.

Carl Pendracki of the Birmingham physical education, athletics and recreation department staff is the chairman of the 1969 National Intramural Sports Executive Council.

experimenting. It has required seen many types of courses. How a lot of steady, hard work."

Being perhaps the world's most-traveled golfer, Player has seen many typs of courses. How does he rate those in the United States with those outside? "In the U.S. they are wide open. Outside the U.S., they are narrow. Basically, that's the difference. The younger players in the U.S. start playing by just slugging the ball."

One reporter noted that the 'Big Three' (Player, Arnold Palmer and Nicklaus) was all washed up. "Oh," said Player. "I'll take Arnie and Jack and you get your three and we'll play you for a million dollars."

"Well, I couldn't come up with the million," said the reporter. "Neither could I," laughed Player.

Police, Students Clash as Violence Continues

By United Press International

National Guard troops remained on "telephone standby" in New Orleans today, and police were on alert inHighland Park as both cities feared renewals of student demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

About 300 black students vowed to remain in a Montgomery, Ala., jail "until they fill up the jail," after their arrest during a portest at the state capitol.

Police sprayed tear gas in the University of Wisconsin library last night as Madison experienced its third straight night of violence.

At the University of Chicago, a faculty member who was founder of the radical Students for a Democratic Society was found beaten in his office. His name was chalked on campus buildings.

★ ★ ★

Thousands boycotted classes at Indiana University yesterday, protesting proposed massive tuition increases.

The Louisiana National Guard was ordered out yesterday by Gov. John J. McKeithern when Southern University students took over several offices and said they had "deposed" the school's administration.

The guardsmen never arrived at the campus of the New Orleans school, however, as the students were advised by their leaders to "split" when city and state police officials arrived. Many went to nearby baseball fields.

Highland Park and State Police yesterday stood guard around Highland Park Community College when student strikers threatened to disrupt classes.

★ ★ ★

Three hundred black students were arrrested yesterday when they refused to disperse until they were granted an audience with Alabama Gov. Albert Brewer. They were charged with failure to obey an officer and held on $300 bond. The students were demanding the resignation of President Levi Watkins.

Students and other youths clashed with police in Madison, Wis., for the third straight night last night, the students hurling rocks and constructing a flaming barricade, the police retaliating with tear gas and clubs.

At one point the police entered the University of Wisconsin library and sprayed tear gas, sending many students coughing toward exits. About a dozen persons were arrested and four, including a policeman, were injured.

Richard Flacks, a founder of SDS and an assistant professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, was found beaten and cut with a knife yesterday in his campus office.

Flacks' condition was described as "good" early today after surgery indicated two skull fractures and several lacerations. Flacks, 31, was one of a handful of faculty members who supported a student sit-in earlier this year.

Thousands of students stayed away from classes yesterday at Indiana University in Bloomington to protest proposed tuition raises. Officials promised severe disciplinary action for any disorder at Indiana State University.

Notre Dame University students issued a statement demanding an end to the school's participation in the Reserve Officers Training Corps, and about 30 students conducted a peaceful "lounge-in" at Purdue University, also in protest of the proposed tuition raises.

More than 55,000 college students in New York City missed classes yesterday because of disruptions by black students.

★ ★ ★

City College of New York reopened under court orders, but many missed classes as black militants did not leave the school's South Campus until late in the day.

President Duell Gallagher Ordered CCNY closed when the students occupied the South Campus and did not order the reopening until it was ordered by the board of higher education.

Queens College and Bronx Community College were both closed due to protests, and an attempt was made to close disruptions there.

Pratt Institute. Students engaged in sit-ins at New York University's Washington Square Campus but htere were no class

Elsewhere:

California—Five hundred radical students battled with 300 members of the conservative Young Americans for Freedom yesterday at Long Beach State College. The YAF members linked arms in a human chain to protect military recruiters who were the target of the radicals' demonstration.

Massachusetts—The State Fire Marshal's office was investigating a blaze believed to have been set yesterday in the Navy ROTC building at Harvard University. SDS members have been fighting a running battle with Harvard administrators over the future of the ROTC program.

New York—About 1,000 students at C. W. Post College on Long Island planned a boycott for today to back 15 demands. Two other Long Island schools—Hofstra University and a branch of the New York Institute of Technology — experienced protests yeasterday.

Washington, D. C. — Two bills were introduced into the Senate yesterday to deal with student protest.

One, sponsored by Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., would require a cutoff of federal aid to colleges which terminiate or curtail ROTC courses or refuse to cooperate with recruiters for the armed services, defense contractors or other government agencies.

The other sponsored by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., would end federal aid to schools which fail to maintain a "reasonable degree of discipline upon their campuses."

Salty Skipper Defends Battleship Use

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr., the salty skipper of the battleship New Jersey, had anticipated criticism that the expense did not justify the results of his ship's seven-month deployment off Vietnam.

The pipe-smoking captain, a lock of hair falling over his forehead, hefted a 23-pound piece of shrapnel from one of the New Jersey's two-ton shells which was recovered from a Vietcong fortification.

He slammed it down with such force that it almost splintered the table at the news conference held when the ship returned to its home port yesterday.

"This goes through the air at Mach 4 (four times the speed of sound) and there is nothing in Vietnam that can stop it. The name battleship is a misnomer. It is, in fact, a floating artillery platform with the nine largest artillery tubes in the world.

"These 16-inch shells can penetrate 30 inches of solid rock," Snyder went on. "It can destroy Communist caves that otherwise can only be taken by infantry walking with flamethrowers and explosives."

Snyder said the 56,000-ton battleship fired only 700 rounds during its entire service in World War II. "It was used mainly as a taxi to haul Adm. (William F.) Halsey around," said Snyder, whose utterances recall those of "Bull" Halsey.

In its seven months off the cost of North and South Vietnam, the New Jersey lobbed more than 5,000 rounds of 16-inch ammunition at targets ashore.

Snyder said "only an idiot" would decide not to send the battlewagon back to Vietnam in the fall.

★ ★ ★

"If the level of hostilities remains the same, the New Jersey will be back on station off Vietnam during the northeast monsoon season in October or November," Snyder said.

Would he still be the skipper if the New Jersey returns to the Far East?

"Well, they told me I had command for two years," Snyder said. "That is, if I'm not court-martialed for what I've said today."

Sympathy Demonstration Set in 2nd S. Carolina City

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A sympathy demonstration will be staged Saturday in another large South Carolina city—Greenville 200 miles to the north—for Negroes whose strike at two Charleston hospitals has become a major civil rights drive.

★ ★ ★

It will be led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The SCLC has joined with the Drug and Hospital Workers Union, AFL-CIO, in the seven-week strike for union recognition and higher pay at the Southern Carolina Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The strikers—maids, orderlies and food service workers — are seeking an unspecified amount above their present $1.30 to $2.05 an hour.

A SCLC spokesman said the Greenville march was sought by "a group of clergymen, hospital workers and concerned citizens" in that city.

TURNED BACK

There have been almost daily marches in Charleston. Police Chief John Conroy turned back several attempts by demonstrators to move down narrow streets in the downtown area Monday. He said traffic conditions would not permit it.

★ ★ ★

One column, singing freedom songs and chanting slogans, was diverted along side streets to the medical complex which includes the struck hospitals. Two other columns of some 30 marchers converged on the Battery, which faces the sea and was 18th Century Charleston's main defense against pirate galleons and British warships.

'Double Dip' Into State's Student Aid May Melt Away Soon

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a resolution expressing its intent to eliminate a so-called "double dip" into college aid funds by students and to switch the order in which scholarship and tuition grants are awarded.

Action on the resolution, reported from the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, provoked protest from some members who complained they had had no time to study its contents. The resolution passed 25-7 and was sent to the House.

★ ★ ★

Some students have been receiving grants under both the scholarship program and the tuition grant system, the resolution states. Such a practice, sponsors said, was contrary to the intent of the Legislature when the systems were set up.

No double grants now are being promised, but they have been in the past, said Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids. The resolution would specify legislative intent not to make double grants in the future, he said.

It would, however, continue for one year any such grants previously promised, to indicate "good faith," he said.

Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, asked about the resolution's "mandate for change in the order." "We've talked about the double dip," he said, "but what I want to know is how the dips are placed on the cone or what flavor they might be."

Under the current system, it was explained, tuition fund grants—for students who want to attend private colleges—are given first. Next come scholarship grants to students who may use the funds for either public or private schools.

★ ★ ★

VanderLaan pointed to figures showing that the number of students who use scholarship decreased over the last three years.

★ ★ ★

"We want to reverse the trend," he said, adding that such a reversal could save the state money in funds expended on public institutions of higher education.

Awarding the larger scholarship grants first, he suggested, could boost the number of students who would use them to attend private schools.

3 High Court Justices Rap Police in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren was joined by two of his Supreme Court colleagues Monday in scoring Michigan police for using "medieval cruelty" to obtain a confession from a shooting suspect.

But the court refused, by a margin of one vote, to consider the appeal of Lionel Bradford, serving 20 to 40 years imprisonment for assault with intent to murder two Benton Harbor police officers.

★ ★ ★

Bradford said a companion, LeRoy Payne, had been tortured by police until he agreed to testify against him. Payne later recanted his testimony.

Warren, joined by Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, aid in his dissent "the majesty of the law cannot be enhanced by a conviction based on medieval cruelty" and that Bradford's conviction should be reversed.

FAILS ON APPEAL

Bradford failed, however, to get the court to hear his appeal. At least four votes are needed for the high tribunal to take a case. The vote was 6 to 3.

The chief justice noted that Payne had, immediately after his arrest, been called names; threatened with being thrown out of a police car and shot; and beaten up and tortured during the questioning.

★ ★ ★

At Bradford's trial, the state admitted such tactics had been used to get Payne to implicate Bradford.

Payne, also charged in the shooting, had his guilty plea set aside by a lower court because of the coercion.

'COMMONPLACE'

"It is now a commonplace," Warren said, "that coerced confessions are inadmissible at criminal trials because they are untrustworthy and the methods used to obtain them offend the principle that our system of criminal justice is accusatorial and not inquisatorial."

★ ★ ★

Laymen to Run Marygrove Now

DETROIT (UPI) — Marygfove College, a 59-year-old women's school taught by sisters, has become the first Catholic institution of higher learning in the Detroit area to switch from religious to lay control.

Mother Benedicta Brennan, superior general of the order, announced yesterday that full control, authority and responsibility for the operation of Marygrove will be vested in a newly appointed, predominantly lay board of trustees. The shift was effective immeidately.

★ ★ ★

"The board of trustees is now restructured as a result of a study which has gone on for the past three years," Mother Benedicta said. "We welcome the growing emphasis for a more involved laity in groups and activities whose leadership before has often come from the religious and clergy."

★ ★ ★

The new board, which now includes 12 lay and five religious persons and a quota to name four more lay members, contains Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan; Wade Ellis, associate dean, Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies, University of Michigan; Frank R. Gerbig Jr., president, United States Fastener Corp.; and Raymond T. Huetteman Jr. vice president, National Bank of Detroit.

Monthly Traffic Data Provided

Eight Michigan counties, including Oakland, have begun receiving detailed monthly traffic statistics from State Police to assist their traffic efforts.

In the past, these facts were available only an annual basis.

The information includes type of accident, location and weather, and will be sent to the sheriff's department, local police departments, road commission and the Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County.

According to a TIA spokesman, the information is similar to that already being provided by the association.

Other counties affected are Wayne, Macomb, Genesee, Ingham, Kalamazoo, Kent and Berrien.

Credit Card Mailings Hit

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R - 18th District, is cosponsoring legislation to prohibit the unsolicited mailing of credit cards.

Under the proposal, credit cards not specifically requested by the addressee would be classified as "unmailable matter" and could be withdrawn from the mails by postal officials. The measure is pending before the House Judiciary Committee.

★ ★ ★

As of Dec. 31, 1967, outstanding "plastic credit" in the United States totalled $12 billion, Broomfield said. The rapid increase in the unsolicited mailing of these cards has been cited as a factor in the mounting volume of so-called consumer bankruptcy cases.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield also was distressed that most credit card plans hold the consumer liable for any fraudulent or unauthorized use of the card.

Subdivision Eyed for Northwestern Area of Pontiac

An upper-middle-income subdivision has been proposed for the northwest area of Pontiac, and the City Commission will examine a preliminary plat of the development at today's 8 p.m. meeting at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

The proposed subdivision is on 72 acres of land on West Brooklyn between Hollywood and Stanley, across from Kennedy Junior High.

★ ★ ★

Some 65 single-family dwellings expected to sell for $30,000 to $40,000 are planned for the area to be called Levitt Estate Subdivision. Developer James Landsman of Oak Park indicated his plans also include commercial and multiple-dwelling units.

Other items on the commission agenda include second reading of two proposed new ordinances involving garbage and the building code.

The other morning session will feature workshops of methods and materials in small discussion groups. Sessions will be conducted by teachers who are teaching in perceptual classrooms, which try to reach the child's weaknesses and emphasize his strengths. The children in these classrooms have various learning disabilities.

"After Perceptual Development Classes — What?" and "Association for the Betterment of the Handicapped" will be afternoon topics.

Registration is at Dodge Hall of Engineering the morning of the conference. Registration fee is $4.

FEELING THE SOUND — Three-year-old Kevin Herbert has his hands placed on the throat of Miss Marjory Bainton to enable him to assoicate the vibration with the faint sound he hears as Miss Bainton speaks. A dozen youngsters with hearing and speaking problems attend daily classes at Children's Hospital in Denver. The classroom is outfitted with the latest electronic equipment to assist the children.

Children Leave Silent World in the Happy Hearing Room

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — There's a happy room here where children who might have been written off as deaf mutes or mentally retarded are learning to talk by learning to hear.

There is no sign language in this gaily decorated room at Children's Hospital.

It isn't needed.

★ ★ ★

"We're finding there are virtually no totally deaf children," said Miss Marjory Bainton, the speech therapist who mixes affection and instruction—with generous doses of juice and cookies—to earn a goodbye kiss from her pupils after each daily session.

There are even fewer children, she said, who are incapable of talking. The problem almost invariably, she said, can be traced to hearing defects.

'ONLY AVENUE'

"Hearing is our only avenue of speech and language," said Miss Bainton. "It's a very verbal, language-oriented world. We're trying to plug the gap."

With electronic hearing aids, specialists have found that children thought to be deaf actually have usable, though low, levels of residual hearing.

★ ★ ★

It is finding this hearing and making it useful that occupies Miss Bainton. "We identify it much earlier now," she said.

"We usually get them at 12 to 18 months and fit them right then with a hearing aid." They then wear it all the time.

NONE OLDER THAN 3

None of her dozen pupils is older than 3. When the children pass that age they usually move into a public school program to aid the hard-of-hearing child.

Some, like 2-year-old Trisha Harrington, wear the hearing aid during the one-hour classes. Others, as Kevin Herbert, 3, switch to more sensitive headphones during the sessions.

Their learning usually is informal and takes advantage of all the other, normal senses.

The children get a start on lip reading before they start to Miss Bainton's throat, and they learn to associate the vibration they feel with the faint sound they hear.

'NEEDS MORE ATTENTION'

"This is being done more and more with preschool children," said Miss Bainton. "But it needs more attention. People just don't stop to think about deaf kids. Often they are considered mentally retarded."

★ ★ ★

Miss Bainton's reward is that first halting syllable indicating a child is starting to talk.

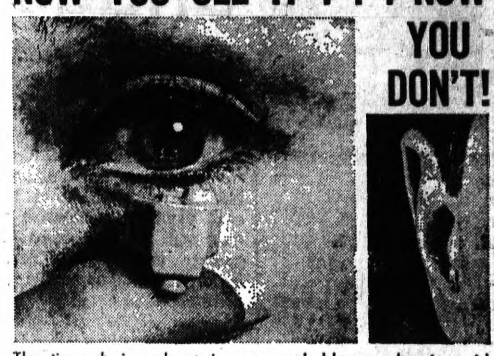
★ ★ ★

Her classroom is light, pleasant and equipped with a one-way window so parents can watch unobtrusively.

The sign outside says it is the "Hearing Handicapped Group Room."

Inside it's the happy room.

NOW YOU SEE IT . . . NOW YOU DON'T!



The tiny device above is a remarkable new hearing aid worn all in the ear. It is a complete miniature sound system, with microphone, volume control, receiver and pillsize battery. When placed in the ear (right), it is barely visible. Introduced recently by MAICO Hearing Instruments, it can be seen locally at

Drug Education Program

Howard L. Dell, pharmacist and owner of Baldwin Pharmacy, 219 Baldwin, is interested in educating parents, teachers and teen-agers about drug abuse through a program of the National Association of Retail Druggists (NARD).

This program includes encouraging high school students and concerned adult groups to work to combat the abuse of LSD and other hallucinogens, such as amphetamines, barbituates, marijuana and narcotics.

Students are being encouaged to produce slogans in poster form and to write themes and articles on drug abuse. NARD will present certificates to students who have done outstanding work, Dell said.

"By involving the teen-agers in this program, we hope they will learn more and develop a respect for drugs," said Dell, who is also state chairman of the Boys' Club of America.

CAN'T RECOGNIZE

"One of the biggest problems of teachers and parents is that they cannot recognize when a youngster is using drugs. I know of one boy who used drugs for over two years before his parents found out," he said.

Dell's pharmacy will serve as an information center for the new campaign and will work with all interested high schools. Dell also will serve as an adviser or speaker if requested.

★ ★ ★

The education campaign, with the theme "Never Abuse — Respect Drugs," was begun in 1968 and is being expanded in cooperation with the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs of the United States Department of Justice.

Opening lead—♣9

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

The student won the first trick with the ace of clubs. He ruffed a diamond next, returned to his hand with the ace of hearts, ruffed a second diamond, led dummy's queen of hearts and discarded a low diamond.

West took his king of hearts and ace of spades and led his last club. The student won that trick and made his sixth trick with dummy's jack of hearts.

There was no way for him to get more than one trump trick from that point on so he was down one at his two-spade contract.

★ ★ ★

He turned to the Professor who was watching and asked, "Would you have opened the bidding with my hand?"

The Professor replied, "Yes, I would have. It isn't much of a bid but you do have 11 high-card points, a reasonable six-card suit and two aces. Your partner gave you a lot of leeway and let you off the hook at two spades.

★ ★ ★

You could have played the hand a trifle better and with the actual distribution of the East-West cards you should have made your contract with an overtrick."

★ ★ ★

The Professor was right. The student should simply have crossruffed instead of trying to win an extra heart trick. The whole play would proceed: Trick one, ace of clubs; trick two, diamond ruffed in dummy; trick three, ace of hearts; trick four another diamond ruffed in dummy; trick five, heart ruffed in own hand; trick six, diamond ruffed with dummy's last trump; trick seven, heart ruffed in own hand; trick eight, club won in dummy; trick nine, last heart ruffed in own hand. After that South could give up happily.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1♥
Pass	2♦	Pass	3♥
Pass	4 N.T.	Pass	5♥
Pass	5 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠A65 ♥KQJ1087 ♦K4 ♣A6
What do you do now?

A—Bid seven hearts. Your partner's five no-trump guarantees that your side has all the aces. Your king of diamonds and king of hearts must be the ones he needs for a grand slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four no-trump he has just bid three no-trump over your three hearts. What do you do now?

West Is in the Pink but Bloom Will Pale

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Woke up the other morning feeling good. Which is usually a bad sign.

WEST

Figured that anybody who feels good in times like these must have something seriously wrong with him.

Looked in morning paper to see if I could find any excuse for feeling good. Read news from Vietnam, Paris, Middle East, Northern Ireland, Cambridge and Charleston.

Concluded that good feeling could not be justified.

VERY WORRIED

Drove downtown very worried about condition. Good feeling persisted despite newscast on car radio. Finally decided should see a doctor about it.

"What seems to be your trouble?"

"Well, it's like this, doc. I've been having recurring periods of feeling good, and I can't figure out what's causing it."

"How long have you had this problem?"

ALMOST A MONTH

"Off and on for almost a month now."

"In the beginning did you feel somewhat disoriented? Did you walk down a fimiliar street and feel as if you were seeing it for the first time?"

"Now that you mention it, yes. "I've lived here for more than 15 years, and lately there have been times when I've felt almost like a stranger.

"There has been a lot of that going around. It's nothing to be alarmed about. We call it the 'Lady Bird syndrome.' "

WHAT IT MEANS

"I'm not up on those medical terms, doc. What does it mean?"

"All of that stuff that Mrs. Johnson planted when she was pottering around with her beautification program suddenly burst into bloom this spring. It made the city so incredibly lovely you could hardly recognize the old landmarks. Which explains your sense of disorientation.

"At that same time they were bedazzling the eye, Mrs. Johnson's blossoms also were lifting the spirits and making the heart sing. Tra-la. In other words, they infused the beholder with an overdose of euphoria. Which explains why you have been feeling good."

"I take it, then, that the condition is only temporary."

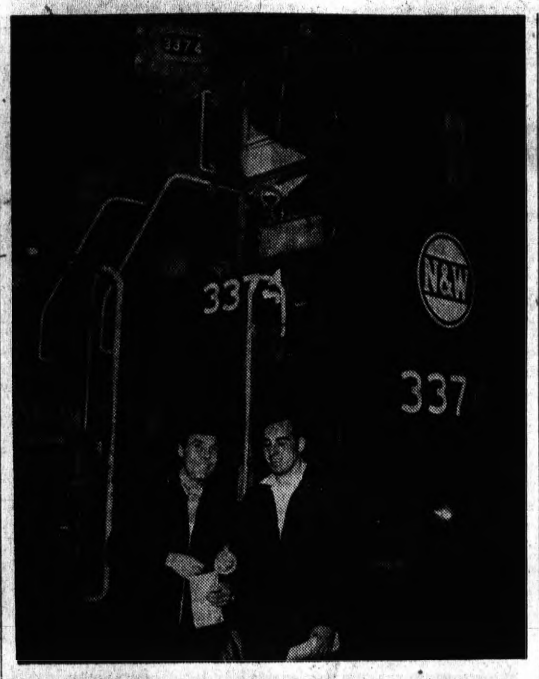
OLD SOUR SELF

"Definitely. Once the blossoms fade, you will become your old sour self again. By next spring your system probably will have built up an immunity to them."

Left the doctor's office feeling considerably relieved. As long as good feeling is only botanical, can learn to live with it.

Cycle Buff Seen

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Witnesses told police here Sunday a motorcyclist roared through crowded Coonskin Park, stopped at a picnic area, stripped, then continued on his way.



AP Wirephoto

Engine Chugs Astray, Triggers a Loco Chase

CHICAGO (UPI) — Railroad tower man James Hile looked up and saw a locomotive heading toward Chicago's Loop area.

Not a particularly unusual occurrence, except this particular locomotive was rolling through the East Chicago, Ind., yards with nobody aboard late Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Hile reported the runaway and officials began discussing how they might stop the diesel, by that time traveling 30 miles an hour toward the Dearborn Street Station.

One plan mentioned was to sidetrack the engine and let it crash into standing freight cars.

ALTERNATE PLAN

But freight cars are expensive, so Robert Stehman, 34, a yard supervisor for the Norfolk and Western, came up with an alternate plan.

"We thought perhaps we could stop it by getting alongside with another engine," he said.

★ ★ ★

So, in the company of engineer William Anderson and conductor Richard McRae, Stehman boarded another diesel at the 48th Street yards, five miles south of the Dearborn Street Station.

By the time they caught up to the runaway engine, it was only four miles from the station and still churning along at a steady 30 m.p.h.

JUMPED ACROSS

With Anderson holding the second engine steady, Stehman and McRae jumped across the gap.

"It was a four-foot leap, but we had her stopped within two blocks," Stehman said proudly.

Detroit Shifts Agency for Antirat Program

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit's rat population has almost doubled in the last four years. In a move to cut down the rodents, city officials have announced plans to shift the rat control program from the health department to the Department of Public Works (DPW).

★ ★ ★

City inspectors reported in 1965 that less than 27,000 rat colonies were found in the city. Last year, they found more than 42,000 rat colonies.

★ ★ ★

Harry Boyle, director of the Sanitary Engineering Division (SED), which will lose control of the antirat program July 1, said only two rat bites have been reported in Detroit so far this year.

★ ★ ★

But Robert Roselle, head of the DPW and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's top troubleshooter, who will take over the rat control program, said, "We may have fewer rat bites because the rats find enough to eat in the alleys, without bothering people."

★ ★ ★

"The residents of the most badly infested areas were accustomed to seeing rats — not only in the alley or the back yard but cavorting across the dinner table or the bed covers," said John Ruskin, assistant director of SED.

The new plan calls for all present inspectors and exterminators to be transferred to other departments and trained to do new jobs. The DPW will train its replacements under a special program developed with the aid of a health specialist from the University of Michigan.

Benefit's Revenue to Go to Harambee

Proceeds from a benefit party at the Huron Theatre tomorrow night will be funneled through Harambee Inc. into Pontiac's black community.

Money made from the event will be contributed by the Friends of Fair Housing to the general operating fund of Harambee.

★ ★ ★

Benefit tickets, which must be purchased in advance, are available for either the 7 or 9 p.m. showing of "Charly," starring Cliff Robertson in his Academy Award performance.

★ ★ ★

They can be obtained from the two cochairmen, Mrs. Michael Clever, 1129 Dolliver, and Mrs. Frank Marvin, 1154 Brewster, both of Avon Township, or from Mrs. James E. Kephart, 935 Argyle, Pontiac, or Mrs. C. Robert Maxfield, 1482 Washington, Birmingham.

During the period when prohibition was the law of the land, some 800,000 persons in this country were engaged in bootlegging.

A Lobe-otomy?

Got a Hand With an Ear

LONDON (UPI) — Alec Graham threw his left ear into a garbage can.

Yesterday he shook hands with the friend who ripped it off during a barroom brawl Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Pub manager Bert Hyland said he tried to give Graham his ear back after the fight over the use of a billiard table.

"I picked it up and tried to hand it to him, but he just walked out," said Hyland.

STITCHED BACK ON

"I took the ear up to his home and told him to get it stitched back on," Hyland added. "He took it and threw it in the dustbin (garbage can). I was amazed."

Police fished the ear out of the can, and surgeons stitched it back on.

"I just want to forget all about it," said Graham, 40, a window cleaner. "I've shaken hands with my friend and we have made up our differences."

Chaplin Film Studio Eyed as Landmark

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The original movie studio of Charles Chaplin may become a historic landmark. County supervisors are being asked to request a state committee to register the site.

Chaplin built a home in 1919 on his property at Sunset Boulevard and La Brea Avenue and produced motion pictures there until the 1930s.

Gun Program Endorsed by Seattle Police

gram in gun handling, being conducted by the suburban Burien chapter chairman of Preserve Our Right to Keep and Bear Arms Inc., has been endorsed by Seattle Police Chief

The chief said the program "is more or less a pilot program for Washington," and appears to cover "the whole spectrum" of weapon use.

"I think it will spread throughout the state and the western area as well," Ramon said.

★ ★ ★

Dr. H. K. Creswell, group chairman in Burien, said response to the program has been overwhelming, but "when 5,000 people show up for a class, and it's limited to 10 people per class, you've got problems."

He said the program has four phases covering local, state and federal regulations; physical and tempermental qualificafamiliarizatiotion including safe handling techniques; and firing qualifications.

U.S. Denies Trying to Hide War Fatalities

SAIGON (AP) — American officers say the U.S. Command is not trying to conceal the number of combat deaths in Vietnam by calling some accidents.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, has charged the Defense Department with concealing the number of battle deaths by claiming many are accidental.

★ ★ ★

The senator, long a critic of the war, said this was "a clumsy effort to deceive the public about the casualties in this most unpopular and undeclared war."

★ ★ ★

According to U.S. Command figures, the number of nonhostile deaths among American servicemen in Vietnam was 5,773 from Jan. 1, 1961, through April 26. The number of combat fatalities in the same period was given as 34,446.

FACTS NOT BENT

The chief of the casualty branch for the U.S. Army in Vietnam said there is no effort "to lean one way or the other" when determining the cause of death in the combat zone.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the U.S. Command declared, however, that if the figures are subject to some error, the tendency is to classify men as killed as a result of hostile action.

★ ★ ★

"My feeling is that we report them as honestly as we can," the spokesman added. "But once in a while there are going to be mistakes."

The chief of the casualty branch, who is responsible for reviewing the classification of each army death, said that accuracy is important because many men hold commercial life insurance policies. If a death is declared caused by combat, a war clause may cancel the benefits of some policies.

TWO CATEGORIES

All U.S. military deaths in Vietnam are divided into two categories—those "resulting from hostile action" and those "resulting from nonhostile action." The former refers to battles or the effects of enemy acts. The latter are those that are not caused by enemy forces or acts.

★ ★ ★

There is no classification of "accidental" or "incidental" as cited by Young, both officers said.

★ ★ ★

The cause of death, an Army spokesman said, is normally determined by findings based on medical statements, witness accounts at the time of death, and other known circumstances.

★ ★ ★

If the information is not considered sufficient by the casualty branch, "we will go back to the subordinate command and tell them we need more facts," the spokesman added.

BROAD DEFINITIONS

The definition of hostile action is usually interpreted to mean any fatality connected with or resulting from enemy action. Examples run all the way from a soldier killed by his own grenade during a fire-fight to a truck wreck when the driver is trying to outrun an ambush.

To Become Economically Independent After War

10-Year Goal Eyed for South Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — A report prepared for President Nixon says that once the Vietnam war is over, South Vietnam will need $2.5 billion in foreign aid to become economically independent within 10 years.

Most of the aid would come from the United States. The Saigon government would require solid leadership and sound economic practices to fulfill the 10-year goal of economic self-reliance.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. government paid about $2 million for the report, entitled "The Postwar Development of the Republic of South Vietnam: Policies and Programs." It is not yet on President Nixon's desk.

David E. Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, headed the task force of 12 U.S. and 55 South Vietnamese experts who worked on the 535-page report under government contract.

PROGRESS WILL BE RAPID

The report says that once peace comes to Vietnam, the ravages of war can be repaired, and "substantial progress" toward higher living standards can be made in "a comparatively short time."

"With an appropriate set of policies, it is believed that the termination of dependence on foreign aid can be achieved within 10 years," it says.

In order to attain this 10-year goal, the report says, the private sector of the South Vietnamese economy must be encouraged to grow, with the government discouraged from exercising too much control.

Lilienthal's report recommends a two-to-three-year reconstruction period following the war, to include the repairing of war damage and the resettlement of refugees.

7-YEAR ECONOMIC PHASE

After that would come the seven-year economic development phase. Part of this would be development of a water control system in the Mekong Delta, South Vietnam's rice-rich agricultural center.

The gigantic U.S. logistics base in Vietnam and its use of South Vietnamese employes is considered a good springboard for the economy once the economic development phase begins.

★ ★ ★

"Unlike many nations at war, Vietnam has some structural economic strength in improved port facilities, roads and other infrastructures that have been built during the war, a newly trained labor force, and an absence of large external debts . . ." the report says.

Lilienthal says South Vietnam could increase its per capita income by one-third and its gross national products by 50 per cent over a 10-year period, given the proper policies and financial backing.

AHEAD OF SOUTH KOREA

A U.S. source said the report puts South Vietnam "a long way ahead of South Korea, which sort of blundered around for quite a while before finding an organized approach to construction and development after the Korean war."

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has been presented the report but has not yet approved it. The report should reach President Nixon in a week or two. U.S. and South Vietnamese officials in Saigon already have copies of it.

Ex-Cong Stronghold Now Fishing Resort

GIA DANG, Vietnam (AP)— This used to be Vietcong country. Now it is a fishing port and one of South Vietnam's most popular weekend beach resorts.

Six days a week it belongs to the fishermen with their long nets and wooden boats, and their women in conical peasant hats and black pajamas.

★ ★ ★

The "tourists" arrive on Sunday. Schoolchildren, families, soldiers, pretty young girls with parasols, and strutting young men out to impress the girls.

There are a few Americans, most Marines assigned to civic action units arund Quang Tri, eight miles to the southwest. Some of them arrive with truckloads of wiggling children to spend a day at the beach. Sometimes more than 2,000 people are strung out along a mile and a half of baking white sand.

FEW WEAPONS

The only weapons in evidence are the rifles carried by Vietnamese popular forces militiamen who provide Gia Dang's security.

Eight months ago the village of Gia Dang did not exist, the 9,500 people who inhabit its orderly rows of tin-roofed houses lived in a series of 10 hamlets strung along a sandy coastal road to the north and south.

★ ★ ★

The Fench called it the Street Without Joy because of the frequent ambushes of their military patrols. The people either sympathized with the Vietcong or lived in terror of them. Any American or government troops moving through the area could count on the same kind of reception so often given the French.

★ ★ ★

The waters offshore were considered South Vietnam's finest fishing ground, but fishing was barred. Allied Patrol craft considered suspect any boat moving in the area.

CHANGE STARTED

All this began to change in mid-1968 when South Vietnamese government officials and American advisers devised a plan to create Gia Dang as a government-controlled fishing center.

★ ★ ★

Starting in August, American and South Vietnamese troops swept through the area in a series of clearing operations that eliminated numerous small groups of Vietcong.

PIE? OH, MY!—A pie in the face routine may be old, but it still rates a laugh as demonstrated by Rochester High School students Joanne Pino (left) and Kathy Trevethan. Having all the fun is sophomore Chip Kruger. Pie throwing is just one of the booths to be found at the school carnival Friday from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Carnival Friday at Rochester

By MOLLY PETERSON

The Student Council of Rochester Senior High School will present a carnival Friday. The festivities begin at 6 p.m. continuing through 9:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. General admission is 25 cents.

One half of the gym will be used for the various club booths, and the other half for a continuous show. All the clubs active at RHS have been invited to set up a booth.

The senior class will offer fortune telling, fishing and spirit pins and beanies in its booth.

Dunkin' teacher, a raffle and a hot dog sale will be in the junior class arena of delights.

★ ★ ★

Hunger pangs of visitors at the carnival will not be ignored. Among the booths will be French pastries (from the French Club), and snow cones and cotton candy provided by the Gymnastics Club.

The over-all admission price aids the American Field Service fund at RHS.

The vocal music department is rehearsing for its presentation of the musical hit "Brigadoon." The performance is scheduled for May 15, 16 and 17, in the school auditorium.

The play was chosen this year, especially, because it is the story of a town which appears only once every 100 years. Frank Irish, vocal music instructor, felt this was appropriate since Rochester is celebrating its centennial.

ANOTHER OPENING—Making sure of their acts before the curtain goes up opening night at North Farmington High are (from left) Jan Erkert, Rick Page, Linda Pulgini and Patti Heuer. The foursome may be seen in "Showboat," the school musical which will be presented Friday and Saturday and May 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Seaholm Offers Peek at Careers

By MIKE FOX

Students at Seaholm High School are a little bit more sure of what the future does or does not hold in store for them. This look at what tomorrow holds was offered Seaholm's 2,300 students recently through a biennial Careers Day program.

The program replaced a half day of classes with students attending three different sessions. The sessions were directed by a visitor from a particular profession who spoke to the students on that "career choice."

Birmingham's Rotary Club, which each year sponsors the event, alternating between Groves and Seaholm, provides speakers on 60 different career choices.

Although most speakers were local businessmen, the boys who went to the sports session enjoyed talking with Gene Washington, offensive end with the pro football Minnesota Vikings.

Other speakers represented psychology, real estate, modeling, music, peace corps, hotel management, law-journalism, engineering, dentistry, banking and the armed forces, to name a few.

The annual student-teacher exchange day will be this Thursday.

This event, which is sponsored by the senior class, allows seniors to switch places with teachers for one day.

The prospective educators signed up on the schedule of classes April 18, during their lunch hours. They were allowed to sign up for three classes.

The student teachers for each class were then selected from this list. Everyone signing up was given at least one class to teach.

Three requirements were set by the senior class for the students to follow:

- No senior will be allowed to teach more than three classes. This will allow for better preparation on the part of the student.
- Before a senior will be permitted to sign up for a class he must have completed that class at some time during his high school years. (Not necessarily under the instruction of the teacher for whom he will teach).
- Students approved for teaching must submit a written outline to the teacher for whom he will teach, outlining the lesson for their teacher that hour.

For Latin Banquet

Milford Is Forum

By ROSE MAKI

Latin tradition sparked the initiation of new Latin Club members at a banquet held last Tuesday night.

Authentic Roman food was served in the Milford High School small cafeteria. Everyone wore togas.

★ ★ ★

Entertainment provided by the Latin I classes included skits and a "Lat-In." The new members were slaves and sold to the highest bidders called patricians.

Patricia Scully, Latin Club sponsor, feels "the third annual banquet went over very well."

DINNER GUESTS

Guests who attended the dinner were Eldon VanSpybrook, principal, Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Braden, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Kinder, Grace Lepella, Diane McBride, Lynne Waite, Mrs. Fran Johnson, Mrs. Barbara Beem and Suzanne Scully.

"Bandormara" the Huron Valley Band Concert, is scheduled for May 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the gym. Parents and guests will have an opportunity to hear the progress of band students ranging from the fifth grade through the 12th. Admission is free.

★ ★ ★

The guidance and counseling staff at Milford High School has reserved tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. for an informative program designed to assist parents and students on the details of college entrance.

Any high school student's parents are invited to attend the program but the emphasis is directed toward the juniors.

Student Council has scheduled a Roller Skating Party Thursday at the Pontiac Rolladium. Admission is 80 cents per student and a skate charge at the door.

Stevenson Holds Its Junior Prom

By ROXANNE BURKE

"Traces of Love" was the theme for this year's junior prom, held in the Stevenson high cafetorium Saturday.

The court, selected earlier this month, consisted of Mary Lou Schulin, Cyndi Zimmerman, Donna Conley, Cathy Kowalski, Corky Priehs, Sue Schnell and Marcia Clark.

★ ★ ★

The Stevenson cafetorium also housed this year's Sadie Hawkins festivities recently.

Among the activities was the crowning of "King Hog" Kurt Aldridge and the traditional "Marryin' Sam" portrayed by Student Council President Tom Burkhart. Entertainment was provided by the Unforgiven.

Cranbrook Boys Go Far Afield

Cranbrook School seniors this month are deploying throughout the country for the last five weeks of their schooling in a cooperative education program.

Students leave the quiet campus here for jobs in Detroit, Washington, Chicago, Phoenix, Israel and other places.

Boys will be working in the offices of a U.S. senator, the State Department and the Illinois attorney general; serving as assistant to the director on a University of Michigan oceanography cruise, as newspaper reporters, technician in an atomic energy plant and as computer programmers; in hospitals and ghettos; and producing an experimental motion picture. One senior will journey to Israel to work in a kibbutz.

The senior May program is experimental and voluntary. Seventy of the 92 Cranbrook seniors have chosen to participate, while the remainder will continue regular classes until graduation in June.

ADULT SPONSOR

All projects require an adult sponsor, who is responsible for the student, and approval by a committee of seven faculty members and three students.

At the conclusion of the program and before graduation, students are required to write a detailed report on their experiences. Sponsors, in turn, will be asked to fill out an evaluation questionnaire and to comment briefly.

Students are not allowed to accept money for their services, except in a few companies where sponsors insist upon payment. In these cases the money will be turned over to a worthwhile cause.

Commenting on the philosophy behind the program, Robert E. Kenny, dean of students and chairman of the senior May Program committee, said:

"We want to provide seniors with the opportunity to expose latent abilities and strengths or deficiencies in themselves or in the nonacademic world around them by getting into a learning situation separate from the school.

"The program does not imply negation of the value of academic work but suggests a complement to academic experience by working with a teacher (sponsor) who is not a member of the faculty but a professional outside the school.

Rice Field Day Set

By MICHAEL R. McGILL

The annual Brother Rice field day, directed by Chris Rzeppa, field day chairman, is slated for next Monday.

On this day the four classes compete against each other in a number of contests.

★ ★ ★

The first part of the day consists of a presentation by each class which consists of a cheer, song, costume and banner.

Points are given for the first three places — five for first, three for second, one for third, and none for last. These points are awarded by an impartial panel of judges selected from the community.

TRANSFER POINTS

The rest of the day is spent in more individual or team events but the same point system is used. The winners in each event transfer the points they have won to their year's total.

The track events include the 100-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard relay, and the mile relay (no varsity track member may compete in track events).

★ ★ ★

The other contests include a softball throw, egg toss, tire roll, handball, three-legged race, pie-eating contest, volleyball, tug-of-war and a basketball free-throw contest. This last event is a new one. The five members of each team will be blind-folded to shoot two free throws each.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the day the points are totaled from all the events and the winner is annocnced. The winning class gets its year of graduation inscribed on a permanent plaque in the school office.

Lahser Principal Leaving

By GRETCHEN HAAS

After two years as principal at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School, David Cook will resign as of June in order to become principal of the American School for U.S. Dependents in Ankara, Turkey.

The position is under the Agency for International Development and the U.S. Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

Cook views the future assignment as "an outstanding opportunity to live in a foreign land."

As administrator for the school, grades seven through 12, he will work with children of Americans employed abroad in military or industrial operations.

NOTHING NEW

International life, however, is not foreign to Cook who previously taught in U.S. dependent schools in Germany.

★ ★ ★

He also held teaching positions in Winston-Salem, N.C. and Melbourne, Fla., before coming to Lahser in 1967 when the school first opened.

★ ★ ★

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools recently announced the accreditation of Lahser.

The NCA approval followed a program of self-study with a visiting committee from the association and a confirmation by the Commission of Secondary Schools.

COMMITTEE STUDY

A steering committee including staff members of each discipline area at Lahser studied the course requirements, faculty qualifications, methods of evaluation, and the success of the program in each department.

★ ★ ★

Behavioral science students assisted the committee in preparing a report which discussed Lahser's philosophy and educational program.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of John D. Goodwin who passed away 3 years ago today, May 6, 1966:
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
God gave us the strength to bear it,
The courage to take the blow,
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
You're not forgotten, Johnny dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by his Mommy and Daddy.

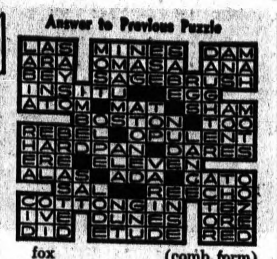
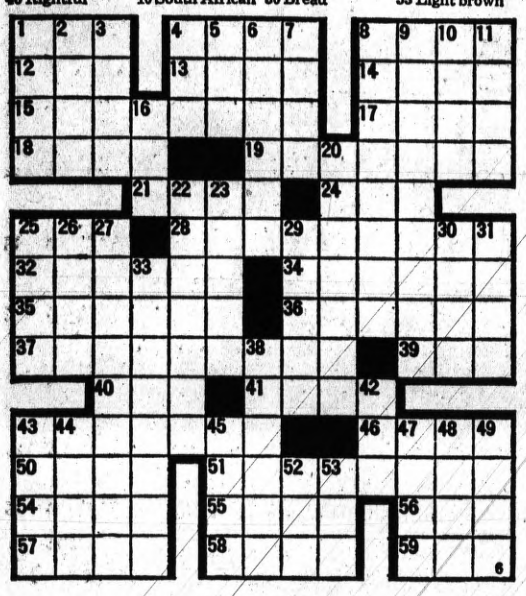
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Houston Takes Giant Steps From Cowtown to Bigtown

By EARL WILSON

HOUSTON—Texas is where it swings. This once-upon-a-time little cowtown is providing half the headlines . . . the moon-bound Astronauts, the heart transplants and eye transplants, the Astrodome and Astros, lawyer Percy Foreman and Alan Shepard's decency drive.

WILSON

Dr. Denton Cooley was in a corner at a party.

"Within five years there will be a man-made heart that will keep a person alive for six months," he said.

Paul Haney, departing voice of the Astronauts, seized me . . .

"Neil Armstrong, who'll probably be the first man on the moon, is from our neck of the woods, as we say in our neck of the woods," said Paul, formerly of Akron, O.

★ ★ ★

Wapakoneta, O., often shortened to Wapak, sometimes even lazily pronounced just Wapa, a bare 25 miles from my town, Rockford, O. . . . Who'd have imagined that a boy from that farmland could be the first on the moon?

Armstrong's so notoriously dedicated, I asked if he had any hobbies besides flying.

"Yes," said one of the NASA guys. "Gliding."

★ ★ ★

There sat Gene Tierney and her husband Howard Lee . . . she's an 8-year-Houstonian already . . . Nancy Ames . . . Marguerite Piazza of Memphis, widow of snuff king Bill Conlon, with a new project (Italian kitchens for franchising) and a new guy, Arthur Spitzer of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

And Glenn and Bill McCarthy of the Cork Club . . . 'twas Glenn who put Houston on the map with the famous Shamrock Hotel opening 20 years ago.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Secret Stuff: "Certain people" are trying to make it difficult for John Lennon and his bride to get permission to return to the U.S. . . . Liz Taylor, reported healthy after a rest in Puerto Vallarta, returns to N.Y. May 12 with Richard Burton en route to London where he plays Henry VIII in "Anne of the Thousand Days." She'll sit out a picture on the sidelines.

Ava Gardner cabled from London that as co-chairman of the "Free Southern Theater" dinner at the Waldorf May 11, she'll bring along the Gregory Pecks, Bill Cosby and Burt Lancaster . . . Major James Rowe, the escaped prisoner of the Viet Cong who's writing a book about it, is marrying Broadway beauty Jone Benson.

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: James Thurber said it: "One martini is all right, two is too many, and three is not enough."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Temper is what gets us into trouble; pride is what keeps us there."

EARL'S PEARLS: The master of ceremonies at The Roundtable introduces the club's five bellydancers: "Welcome to the Barnum & Belly Circus."

★ ★ ★

A Look at TV

Awards Show Unwieldy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — What do you do when you have an all-star cast that ranges alphabetically from the Beatles to Dionne Warwick; introducers whose range extends from Tennessee Ernie Ford to Tiny Tim, and awards to announce and hit songs of the season to be sung all in one hour?

What you do, if you are the harried producers of NBC's "Best on Record" special broadcast last night, is get them on camera somehow, toss in a lot of color for background. Then you hope that in the audience's eagerness to see the stars and find out who won the "Record of the Year" award, nobody will notice that as a TV show, it really didn't amount to much.

★ ★ ★

The difficulty, of course, was just too much of everything—there were 11 different nominees and award winners performing. There was also another problem which involved the eyes and ears of the beholders: we've been hearing those songs and seeing the performers all over the place all season long.

The only surprise in the show was the on-camera award of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences to the singing team of Simon and Garfunkel for "Mrs. Robinson." The duo had sung the song earlier in the show. It was the one attempt at whimsy in the show—some trick comedy film shot in a deserted Yankee Stadium.

CONTRIBUTIONS HAZY

Nonmusicians Rowan and Martin opened and closed the show; Don Rickles passed some insults to Tiny Tim; Flip Wilson presented one of the singing stars. As celebrities they swelled the list of stars but their contributions to pop music was as hazy as most of their comedy material.

Most of the Grammy Award winners—Jose Feliciano, O. C. Smith, Glen Campbell and Jeannie C. Riley, among others, presented their hits in the context of the program. The Beatles were seen in a film clip that had already been broadcast on television.

★ ★ ★

Maybe the Grammy Awards have become a bit of a drag because of TV's current passion for pop music and pop singers. Maybe award shows come along so often in the spring that they are losing their old appeal. It is interesting to note that this year's Oscar awards show, while it still topped the most recent Nielsen ratings list, failed to attract its usual outsize audience by several hundred thousand homes.

It was, nevertheless, the number one show during the two weeks ending April 20, but only by a percentage of a point. The Dick Van Dyke-Mary Tyler Moore special ran it a close second. Bill Cosby's special was in third place.

TONY AWARDS

Broadway's Tony awards, also broadcast during that time, came in a weak 74th in a list of over 100 shows rated.

★ ★ ★

Next show in that category will be the presentation of television's Emmys—still the most unwieldy show of them all. This year the program will come on Sunday, June 8 on CBS and it will be something of a miracle if they can race through 45 categories and some special awards in the 90 minutes allotted to it.

No Plans for Investigation

Congress Won't Act on Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears unlikely to take any action against Justice Abe Fortas—and certainly won't impeach him—for receiving a fee from the family of financier Louis E. Wolfson after being a member of the Supreme Court.

A flurry of proposals for a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Fortas' receipt of the fee brought the reply from Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that there are no plans for an investigation at this time.

"I am not sure we have jurisdiction," Eastland said. "Under the Constitution it seems to me that jurisdiction lies with the House."

This reference to the House's power to bring impeachment proceedings requiring trial before the Senate, found Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in no mood to institute such action.

"I have no intention of starting any impeachment proceedings," he said in a separate interview.

Life magazine reported in its current issue that Fortas accepted $20,000 from Wolfson's family foundation in January 1966, just three months after the justice was seated on the court.

The Life account said Fortas did not return the money until 11 months had passed and three months after Wolfson and an associate had been indicted for violating federal securities laws.

The article also said "whatever services he may or may not have rendered to the foundation, Justice Fortas' name was being dropped in strategic places by Wolfson and his business associate, Elkin Gerbert, in their effort to stay out of prison."

Fortas flatly denied he accepted any money or that he tried to do anything on Wolfson's behalf. He confirmed, however, that a fee had been tendered by the foundation for research and writing and that he returned the money after deciding he could not accept the assignment.

Fortas, whose old law firm represented some Wolfson interests, said the foundation works to better race relations. His statement made no mention of the amount of money involved nor when he returned it.

When Wolfson's appeal reached the high court, Fortas abstained from taking part in the deliberations. The court refused to hear the appeal.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, suggested to the House Monday that Fortas should be impeached if he does not resign.

But an influential Democrat, who did not want to be quoted by name, said there is little likelihood of even a Congressional reprimand for Fortas.

"He was indiscreet, but he didn't do anything illegal," this Democrat said.

Republicans who led the chorus of Senate criticism against the justice concede privately there is not much that could be done.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois came closest to admitting this publicly when he said the justice had been guilty of "no impeachable conduct."

The Wolfson incident is the second time Fortas has come under congressional fire for his financial dealings. When he was nominated last year by President Johnson to be chief justice, many of those opposing him questioned his propriety in accepting $15,000 to conduct a seminar at the American University law school.

After this and other criticisms made it evident that Senate confirmation was doubtful, Fortas asked Johnson to withdraw the nomination.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, assistant Senate Democratic leader was about the only member of his party to offer public criticism of Fortas. He suggested the Senate Judiciary Committee investigate.

Tommy Will Meet House Dems Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Television comedian Tommy Smothers planned to take his argument with the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) to a group of liberal congressmen today in a nonlegislative private meeting.

★ ★ ★

Smothers, who with his brother Dick hosts the Smothers Brothers show on CBS, was invited to an afternoon meeting of the Democratic Study Group (DGG), an organization of about 150 liberal House Democrats.

Also invited was Nicholas Johnson, a member of the Federal Communications Commission, who will explain FCC policy on the general content of television programs and censorship by networks.

★ ★ ★

The Smothers Brothers have accused CBS, which said it would not renew the show next season, of banning one of the Sunday night shows because the brothers would not remove a portion of the show the network said was objectionable. On occasion the show has featured outspoken opponents of the Vietnam war.

WILL BE SHOWN

A DSG spokesman said sections of the taped show that was banned by the network would be shown to DSG members and that Tom Smothers was expected to discuss it. The meeting is closed to the public.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said it was another in a series of DSG meetings on different events. The organization has a task force on constitutional rights which reportedly arranged for the meeting with Smothers.

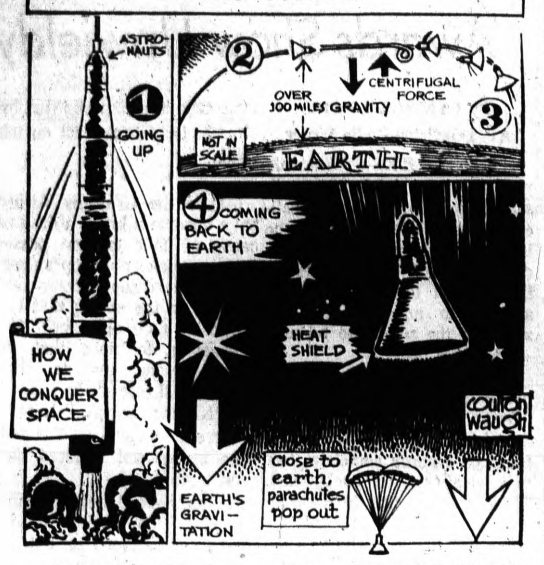
Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKETS



QUESTION: Why does a rocket need more fuel going up and coming down than when in orbit?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The huge rockets (1) which put astronauts into orbit around the earth must have tremendous power to overcome gravity and build up necessary speed. The rockets are large because so much fuel must be used.

As it thunders up, various stages of the rocket fire their engines and drop away, leaving only the little cone at the very top to continue the flight. This is the part which contains the astronauts and which circle the earth.

For a capsule to orbit, it must be above 100 miles up and be traveling at least 18,000 miles an hour (2). Such speed gives it centrifugal force, making it spin outwards, thus balancing gravity, which tends to pull it down.

The capsule does not need fuel to keep up this speed, which results from the final push of the rocket.

In space, there is no air to slow an object once it is in motion.

To come down, the capsule fires pitch and yaw jets to turn itself around and retrorockets to slow its speed, slanting it toward the earth (3). Coming down (4), little fuel is needed, since gravity is pulling the capsule down and air friction is slowing it up.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Mushroom Hunt Tips

ANAMOSA, Iowa (AP)—Robert George offers these tips to Iowa mushroom hunters:

"Never tell where you find your mushrooms — someone else will get there first.

"When asked, lie about the place you find them unless a real mushroom fan asks you. Then you can tell the truth because he'll think you are lying and will never look there anyway.

"Wear a disguise when going mushrooming. Take along a fishing pole or gun so others won't know your real mission.

"Spy on other hunters, but be wary, for they will spy on you."

NATO Brass to Test Reaction to Tension

CASTEAU, Belgium (AP) — More than 400 generals and admirals of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will join Wednesday in a briefing room exercise to test how the European command would react "in times of rising tension."

The exercise is called Shapex 69. There will be no troop movements or war games. Everything will be secret, with no further announcements expected.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer of the U.S. Army will be at the head of the test. He is retiring June 1 as the commander of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe—SHAPE. His office announced that the test would provide an opportunity for high officers to discuss current problems. It will consist of briefings and conferences among senior commanders of the alliance and staff officers from all parts of it.

France will not participate, according to a SHAPE spokesman. Former President Charles de Gaulle took France out of joint military planning in 1966, though it remains a member of the alliance and keeps a liaison mission at SHAPE.

House Unit Adds Token Parochiaid to School Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday added a token $100,000 in parochiaid funds to the present state school aid bill and declared the practice of giving state aid to nonpublic schools was in "the public good and general welfare."

Further changes were expected in the $845.44-million, Senate-approved bill before a final committee vote. The Senate did not include parochiaid in its school bill for the 1969-70 school year.

The parchiaid amendment also calls for an additional $44 million to go church-run school for the 1970-71 school year.

Committee approval came on a 10-3 vote. Voting against were Jack Faxon, D-Detroit; Arthur Law, D-Pontiac; and Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti.

ISSUE GOES TO HOUSE FLOOR

The committee's addition of the amendment thus sends the controversial parochiaid concept to the House floor on the coattails of the general public school operation appropriations. If House Speaker William Ryan and his chief parochiaid lieutenant, J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, muster the more than 56 required votes they say they now have, the concept of state aid to church-run schools would be clearly spelled out.

William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, appropriations committee chairman, said changes were requested in the funds big-city schools receive from the state equalized valuation formula. The formula might be changed or more money stipulated outright, Copeland said.

Under the amendment, the State Board of Education would pay teachers and other professionals for secular teaching and services. No state funds would go directly to a school or parent and none could be used for primarily religious activities.

Sale Of 'Smut' To Those Under 18 Is Illegal

Law Aims to Keep 'Smut' From Young

(Second in a four-part series.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"Censorship" is a dirty 10-letter word to most people. Yet many feel it is allowable when the young are involved.

Obscene material can't lawfully be sold to children.

★ ★ ★

What is considered an Oakland County test case of this law goes before a judge today. It centers on three Pontiac cashiers who were arrested last week on charges of selling obscene magazines to a minor.

Legal authorities now foresee more crackdowns on the sale of erotic literature to minors throughout the county.

SUPREME COURT RULING

"These may come about as the result of more police departments becoming aware that the U. S. Supreme Court approved a law in April 1968 designed to zero in on sales of pornography to children," Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Donohue explained.

★ ★ ★

The high court ruling was its first setting different standards for printed material sold to children and that offered to adults. It is called "variable obscenity."

Upheld in the decision was a 1965 New York state law. It prohibits sales of obscene magazines and other literature depicting nudity, "sexual excitement, sexual conduct and sadomasochistic abuse" to anyone under 17 years of age.

Adults may still read and see what they choose as guaranteed by the First Amendment, the justices ruled.

MICHIGAN LAW

Pontiac's three cases and one pending in Royal Oak are being prosecuted under a Michigan law amended in 1964, Donohue said.

"Anyone who knowingly sells or distributes obscene, lewd, lascivious, filhhy or indecent" material "tending to corrupt the morals of youth to oersons under 18 years old" cn be taken to court, the law reads.

★ ★ ★

Donohue said the law contains a "pretty stiff" maximum penalty of one year in jail and or $1,000 fine.

But what is meant by the words "obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy and indecent"?

JUSTICES CAN'T AGREE

Even the Supreme Court can't agree upon that. There are as many definitiions of obscenity as there are justices.

Many law experts feel the law should include precise definitions of what can't be sold to minors. Otherwise, there could be many individual trials to determine whether books or magazines are obscene.

★ ★ ★

Although judges have supplemented "obscene" with phrases aimed at defining obscenity —"pruriently appealing" or "patently offensive" — they are just as vague, critics claim.

State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, is heading a move to clarify existing laws on obscenity.

2 Bases to Cost $7.8 Billion

'Nixon Won't Control ABMs'

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will have to delegate to others the authority for firing Safeguard antiballistic missiles (ABMs) — now price tagged at $1.8 billion for just two bases — according to members of the House Armed Services Committee.

ABM defenders and critics differ on whether, for the first time since development of the atomic bomb in 1945, someone other than a living and capably functioning American president should give the orders to set off a nuclear explosion.

★ ★ ★

Under the Atomic Energy Act the responsibility for control and use of nuclear weapons rests solely with the President. He is not prohibited, however, from delegating authority to subordinates under certain conditions.

★ ★ ★

"It (launch authority) will have to be delegated," committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers said. The South Carolina Democrat said he was not bothered by the idea.

'THERE'S A DIFFERENCE'

"There's a difference between issuing an order to launch an offensive missile and issuing one for a defensive missile," Rivers said. "One destroys hundreds of thousands of people, the other just destroys a missile."

A similar viewpoint was expressed by pro-ABM Rep. William Bray, R-Ind.

★ ★ ★

Two outspoken critics of Safeguard, Democratic Reps. Lucien Nedzi, Mich., and Otis G. Pike, N.Y., warned there could be situations in which the president would not have ample time to assess information and make a decision on whether to launch.

"Once you delegate authority, it's no longer in the class of a horror weapon," Nedzi said.

COST FOR TWO BUSES

In the most detailed analysis given Congress so far, Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard gave a figure of $6.6 billion for the complete system intended to protect two Minuteman missile bases in North Dakota and Montana.

★ ★ ★

But spokesmen for the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission confirmed yesterday that the cost of nuclear warheads for the defense missiles —$1.2 billion — was not included in the Defense Department estimate.

★ ★ ★

A Defense Department spokesman said the warhead cost was not included because different agencies traditionally provided figures for only their own part of a project.

Pueblo Skipper Court-Martial Is Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secertary John H. Chafee said today the court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident recommended general court-martial for the intelligence ship's commander, Lloyd Bucher and one of his chief assistants, but "I have decided that no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the personnel involved . . ."

Chafee's disclousre came in a six and a half-page report on the exhaustive court of inquiry probe into the ship's take-over by North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

★ ★ ★

In overruling the court's recommendation for court-martials of Bucher and Lt. Stephen R. Harris, Chafee said: "They have suffered enough,and further punishment would not be justified."

Harris was the officer in charge of the research detachment aboard the Pueblo, which was conducting an electronic eavesdropping mission off North Korea when she was seized.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Chafee reported these recommendations had been made by the court of inquiry:

- That Bucher be tried by general court-martial for five alleged offenses including permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, complying with North Korean orders to follow them into port. "negligently failing" to destroy all classified material on ethe ship, and "negligently failing" to see that his crew was fairly skilled in procedures for destroying classified material.
- That Harris be tried by general court-martial "for three alleged offenses of dereliction in performance of his duties," mainly dealing with the lack of ability and readiness on the part of the research detachment to be able to destroy all classified materials during an emergency.

State Aid OK'd for MCOM, if . . .

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM), under construction in Pontiac may receive state funds and recognition if it affiliates with Oakland University as a result of a bill approved 78-25 by the Michigan House of Representatives yesterday.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Josephine Hunsinger, D-Detroit, provides for state support of an osteopathic college to be located somewhere within Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Pontiac's MCOM, at Auburn and Opdyke, is the prime object of the bill, supporters say.

But Freeway Is Still 6 Years Off

High Court Upholds I-696 Law

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's Supreme Court has settled a 10-year dispute over the I-696, east-west freeway route through southern Oakland and Macomb counties, but state highway officials say it will still be another six years before traffic flows over the 7.4-mile stretch.

The high tribunal decision upholds a law establishing a three-member state panel to arbitrate the route. Yesterday's vote was 5-1, with Justice Harry F. Kelly not participating.

★ ★ ★

The arbitrated route will link the eastern section of I-696 starting in St. Clair Shores to the western part which now ends at the I-696 interchange in Southfield, allowing travel from Lansing to the northeast side of Detroit without cutting through the center of the Motor City.

The State Highway Commission said that while the ruling removes the major roadblock to construction of the freeway, "it will be late 1975 at the earliest before traffic begins rolling."

TIMETABLE

The commission said it hopes to complete route location surveys by next January, right-of-way acquisition by mid-1973 and project bids by late 1973.

"Construction," it added, "will require a minimum of two construction seasons."

★ ★ ★

Estimated cost of the project was pegged at $95 million, including land purchases and engineering studies.

Some 300 homes in the proposed path of the freeway would be displaced.

LAW UPHELD

The Supreme Court decision was against Pleasant Ridge, Lathrup Village and a Lathrup citizens' group.

They contended the 1967 law putting the freeway route to arbitration was unconstitutional and that the proposed route therefore was void.

But the court, with Associate Justice Paul L. Adams dissenting, said the law was completely valid and enforceable.

The ruling sustained a finding two months ago by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur F. Moore.

Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan said

Letters Hit a Grave Note

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the third grader wrote a hospitalized man: "I hope you get well, but if you don't, I hope you go to heaven," teacher Annette Sabrino decided she'd turn censor.

But by the time her mother, Mrs. Doris Becker, went into the hospital and the "get-well" project was revived, she had forgotten how morbid the cheery little notes can get.

★ ★ ★

Among the "hope you get well very soon" notes was one that showed Mrs. Becker complete with folded hands, lily and headstone marked: "Grave. 1919-1969. Mrs. Becker."

The patient's reaction? "I'm not that old."

Mao Eyes Unity, Takes Soft Line

TOKYO (AP) — In his first major move to restore unity after nearly three years of strife, Mao Tse-tung's forces today held out the olive branch to all but "absolutely unrepentant diehards" in Communist China.

Mao's new soft line spelled out in the official Peking People's Daily two weeks after the 75-year-old Communist party chairman's ideas were made the law of the land by the ninth party congress.

★ ★ ★

An editorial by commentator Jen Ping expressed willingness to "unite with, educate and remold" the intellectuals who have resisted him, "to save all those who can be saved" and even those who formerly were classified as enemies.

Mao's offer apparently does not extend to ousted President Liu Shao-chi. The editorial said Liu's influence may breed "stubborn resistance," particulary in high cultural and educational circles.

Police Charged With Beating Take Lie Test

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Two police officers charged with police brutality by demoted Detective Sgt. Earl Teeples volunteered to submit to a lie detector yesterday morning.

The polygraph tests indicated that Patrolmen John Hedrick and Pete Larion did not beat Foster Maier, 41, with handcuffs in the township police cell block last July, according to an announcement late yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Township Attorney Joseph T. Brennan and Supervisor Curtis Hall called a hasty afternoon press conference to disclose the polygraph results which Brennan said he intends to use as evidence against Teeples tomorrow night at the police trial board hearing.

(Brennan announced that the previously scheduled hearing for tonight had been postponed at his request until tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Township Hall.)

OPERATOR TO TESTIFY

The tests, said Brennan, were administered by Acacia Investigating Inc. of Detroit. Operator for the tests was Gerald Bennett, who Brennan said he would call for testimony Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Also submitting to a lie detector test was Police Chief Irving Yakes. Teeples was not asked, nor did he volunteer, to submit to the polygraph, Brennan and Hall said.

Brennan could not state definitely what the questions were or how many were asked. He said only that the direct question "Did you strike Foster Maier with handcuffs?" — was asked, to which Larion and Hedrick replied negatively. The polygraph machine indicated the officers were answering truthfully, according to Brennan and Hall.

Asked who compiled the list of questions, Brennan said that he "did not know." Brennan said he assumed that Yakes had given Bennett the information regarding the case and that Bennett then made a list of questions.

MAKES ADMISSION

Brennan did admit that his polygraph "case" would be more significant had Teeples been tested as well as Hedrick and Larion but said that he made no attempt to contact Teeples or Teeples' attorney, James Lawson of Farmington.

"Frankly, we're pleased with the results of the test," Brennan said.

★ ★ ★

"If Teeples wants to take the lie detector test, we would be more than happy to accommodate him," Hall said.

Hall said that he did not take the polygraph test himself.

'NOT APOLOGIZING'

Asked why he had called a press conference to disclose matter which he intended to use as evidence and testimony in two days, Brennan complained:

"I guess I'm using the tactics the defense attorney (Lawson) has used thus far . . . and I'm not apologizing for it.

★ ★ ★

"This is the first time I've ever heard of a police trial board case being conducted in the press. This case has been discussed in the news media more than it has in the hearing," Brennan said.

★ ★ ★

Brennan said that while polygraph tests results "cannot be 100 per cent accurate and are therefore not admissable in a formal court," he would introduce the results, via Bennett's testimony, at the trial board hearing and that the testimony "would corroborate statements by the two officers and Chief Yakes."

Teeples was suspended for two weeks without pay and demoted from detective sergeant to detective as punishment for giving information to the county prosecutor, alleging that Larion and Hedrick beat Maier with handcuffs.

Hall said that Teeples resumed work April 28. Brennan said that he "presumed" Teeples would initiate a lawsuit against the township if the trial board—made up of township trustees—exonerated him for violation of the police officers' code of conduct, which prohibits giving information such as that Teeples gave to the prosecutor.

Brennan said that he anticipates a decision on the Teeples case by Saturday.

Appointments Made by Troy Commission

TROY — City commissioners recently made a number of appointments.

Named to the board of appeals were Anthony Pallota and Donald Boyd; to the charter revision committee, Donald Lance and Dick Morgan; to the civil service board, Paul Wilson and Don Quinn; to the library board, Mrs. Clara Blankenship and Graham Nielson; and to the planning commission, John Popovich.

Addison Has Problem: Too Many Chiefs

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night agreed on a new part-time police chief even though current Chief Roy Lewis has not submitted a resignation.

"It is our understanding that he intends to resign," said Township Supervisor Robert C. Inwood.

★ ★ ★

Assistant police chief and loser in a two-way struggle for the top job, Harold Klein told Inwood that Lewis had not yet resigned and did not intend to in the near future.

"Hired" was Johnny Moore at $1,000 plus $500 expenses for the remainder of 1969. Moore's assistant will be Calvin Shields, a present Village of Leonard officer. The two men will split shifts to provide a nearly constant road patrol on weekends, holidays and evenings.

UNLISTED NUMBER

Klein and his audience sympathizers pointed out that Moore's phone number was unlisted. Klein had bid for the job at a slightly higher salary rate.

In other action the board:

- Authorized Fire Chief Raymond Bundy to spend up to $3,500 on equipment necessary to accompany a new fire engine and to sell a 1960 model rescue wagon with the profit to go into the firemen's fund for miscellaneous equipment.
- Established a committee to erect a veterans' monument in front of the township hall by Memorial Day.
- Discussed the possibility of putting up no littering signs throughout the township and no parking signs along Lakeville Road at the Lakeville Lake public fishing site.

Romeo Schools Get New Chief

ROMEO — Robert G. Reid, an administrator in the Lake Shore public school system and a former principal of the Washington School here has been named superintendent of the Romeo School District, effective July 1.

He was given a two-year contract at $21,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

Reid succeeds T. C. Filppula who resigned early this year amid a school board hassle concerning his contract renewal.

Reid has been assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and personnel since 1963 for the Lake Shore schools in the St. Clair Shores school district.

EXPERIENCED EDUCATOR

He began his professional teaching career in 1948 and taught and coached in Big Beaver, Romeo and Anchor Bay before being named principal of the Washington School.

Reid joined the St. Clair Shores system in 1955. He has served there as elementary principal, high school principal and director of secondary education in addition to his present post.

The new superintendent holds a master's degree from Wayne State University.

JUDGE STANABACK

Lake Orion to Fete Its Long-Time JP

LAKE ORION — A modest "Doc" Stanaback humphed: "They've got some kind of party going, but I'm not much interested."

The "party" is May 22 for Helmar G. (Doc) Stanaback, 165 N. Andrews, justice of the peace in Lake Orion for 30 years — until last January when the state's court reorganization terminated justice of the peace courts in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Tickets for the party are being sold by the Lake Orion police, members of the Lake Orion Lions Club and are available at the Orion Township office and the Lake Orion Review newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Retired from private business as well as his legal work, he is an active member of the Lake Orion Lions Club and has been active in the Oakland County Judicial Association, the Justice of the Peace Association, the Royal Oak Elks and the Charlton Polan Post of the American Legion.

★ ★ ★

Everyone is invited to Stanaback's party. No special invitations are necessary. The party is scheduled to take place at Pine Knob, Clarkston and Sashabaw roads. Committee members planning the party are Mrs. Bill Waldo, Mrs. Walter Groll, Mrs. Ellen Carlson, Jim Leach and Bill Bonning. Tickets may also be purchased from any of the above persons.

Color Him Critical of Graph

ROCHESTER — School officials here would like some color in their graphs.

The color question was raised by a citizen at last night's school board meeting after an architect's report on construction progress at the projected Rochester Adams High School.

★ ★ ★

Representing the firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckendach of Birmingham were Donald Osgood and Charles Sherman. Their report was made from a blue graph that failed to denote the status of the building's construction, at least not to the satisfaction of one citizen in the audience, Stan DeWright.

He asked for color. After brief discussion, it was decided that future graphs would be clearly colored to chart progress on the building.

CLOSE TO SCHEDULE

The building's construction progress is close to schedule, according to last night's report, although DeWright contended the completion date had been pushed back three weeks since the last report.

The new high school, located at Adams at Tienken, is slated for completion Feb. 1.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board appointed Wayne Case, a math teacher and counselor at Rochester Senior High School, assistant principal there. He succeeds Harold Hatherly, who is leaving the district.

The appointment is effective immediately. No salary was announced.

CAMPAIGN TO START

Also last night, Schools Supt. Douglas Lund announced that the campaign for the June millage vote (a 2-mill operating renewal question and a $4.1-million school construction and expansion proposal) would get under way with a meeting tonight at 8 in the board offices. More than 200 citizens have been invited to participate in the millage drive.

Rochester Budget Aired; No Dissent

ROCHESTER — It was brief and there was no dissent. The hearing on the proposed 1969-70 city budget lasted about eight minutes last night.

Only three citizens attended the meeting. They did not register any objection to the $835,255 budget, which is up $24,841 over the current budget.

Final action by the council is expected next week.

City officials said the budget can be financed with the existing 12-mill property tax levy. Most of the added revenue comes from increased property values.

KILLED IN VIETNAM—Funeral service for Marine Pfc. Frederic Schrencongost, 22, formerly of Birmingham, will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. Ohio time (12:30 p.m. Michigan time) at the Bennett Funeral Home, Toledo. Schrencongost, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Schrencongost of Grand Rapids, is a graduate of Birmingham Seaholm High School and attended Oakland Community College and Northern Michigan University. He was killed Saturday during an enemy rocket attack.

Groveland Board Denies Gravel Pit Expansion Plea

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night denied the rezoning petition request of the J.P. Burroughs Co. to expand its gravel pit operation off the Dixie Highway near Bald Eagle Lake Road by a 3-1 vote.

★ ★ ★

The board's decision upheld recommendations of denial from the township's zoning board and the Oakland County Planning, Zoning and Building Committee.

★ ★ ★

Trustee William Brondidge voted in favor of the rezoning, after his motion was seconded by Supervisor Earl Rhinevault. Clerk Donald Titsworth and trustees Dale Hitchcock and Carl Lozier voted against the petition.

★ ★ ★

About 100 residents attended last night's meeting, but only those submitting registered letters before the meeting were permitted to speak.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the township's Property Owners Association who initiated the original protest against the rezoning petition in January said there is strong indication that Burroughs will take the case into Circuit Court.

College Prep Meeting

MILFORD — The guidance and counseling staff of Milford High School will offer a program aimed at assisting students and parents plan for college entrance at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

Panels will discuss college selection, application procedures, and scholarships and other forms of financial assistance.

Equalization Factors in County Are Listed

Equalization factors, arrived at by the County Equalization Department and recommended by the equalization committee, were approved recently by a 23-3 vote of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Voting against the factors, which provide for a total county equalized value of $4 billion (up 16 per cent from last year), were Supervisors Wallace Gabler and Harry Horton, both Royal Oak Republicans, and Paul Kasper, R-Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

The first column in the following list represents the value local assessors have placed on the community's property.

The second column—equalized valuation—reflects the amount the county believes to be 50 per cent of market value, required by state law.

★ ★ ★

The third column shows each local government unit's percentage of the total county-equalized valuation. Birmingham, for example, with an equalized percentage of .03623, has about 3 per cent of the county's total valuation.

The last column is the factor—that number which multiplied against the assessed valuation times the tax rate— lets you know what you can expect to pay in property taxes this December.

Charter Change Needed

ship of PATRICK OLIVER, an attorney and former assistant county prosecutor, will soon be launched to submit a three-part charter amendment to Pontiac voters.

OLIVER

Its most significant feature is the revision of the elective procedure for City Commissioners that would elect those officials by Districts instead of by citywide vote. The other two sections of the amendment merely bring age and residency qualifications for City Commissioner candidates into conformity with those governing the majority of State and national elective offices.

The Press wholeheartedly supports the proposed charter amendment although five years ago it backed a victorious referendum vote prescribing that City Commissioners be nominated by Districts but voted on citywide.

★ ★ ★

At that time a self-serving bloc exercised control of the Commission, posing a serious threat to stable and progressive civic government. The impasse at City Hall argued for a change in the commissioner electoral process.

But the social and political climate of the municipality has undergone noteworthy uplift since then, with an increasing proportion of its citizenry concerned with its operation and seeking representation for their personal attitudes and furtherance of neighborhood as well as city objectives.

We believe that return to direct election of commissioners by each of the City's seven Districts will more fully insure the people's governmental rights than the election system now in effect.

'Tape' Ties Trade Hands

There is mounting evidence that the growing maze of bureaucracy in regulatory matters is seriously slowing progress in vital industries.

For example, in a U.S. News & World Report article, a drug industry executive states that the average time for an application for a new drug to be processed at the Food and Drug Administration was 106 days in 1958, 327 days in 1963 and more than 600 days in 1968. This is on top of the time, notes the drug industry official, of perhaps two to four years that the company itself has spent testing a new product in its own laboratories and running clinical trials.

★ ★ ★

In the same article, another drug manufacturer reports, "The regulatory mills grind awfully slowly. A letter we wrote to one commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration on November 15 was still unanswered in mid-February.

"After months of checking and testing in our own laboratories, we submitted a product to FDA for approval. The agency got to work on the application, but after several months the man who was in charge of investigating our product left FDA. A new official took over. He wanted some additional data on our drug and finally decided to start the whole investigation over, from scratch . . ."

★ ★ ★

For years, investigative bodies have made a big production of probing in great detail, and perhaps properly so, into the operation and practices of major drug firms, all in the name of the public interest. However, it would seem that if the public interest is to be best served more attention should be given to the cause of the ill who suffer for want of a drug that isn't there, or perhaps a drug that, instead of being on the market, is residing in the official file of a regulatory agency.

Constitution Highly Prized

Those not bitten by the bug will never understand what makes the true collector run.

The one common denominator appears to be that one era's discards are certain to end up as another era's treasures.

Everything is fair game, from buttons and stamps to disintegrating documents bearing signatures of history's great and not so great. And the prices paid for choice collectors' items in this affluent age can border on the fantastic.

★ ★ ★

The wires recently reported one high-priced sale that made more sense than most. A first printing of the Constitution, one of eight known to exist and annotated by signer Pierce Butler of South Carolina, was knocked down at auction in New York for $155,000, the highest price ever paid for a historic American document.

It would, of course, have been a bargain at any price. The Constitution of the United States of America is, in the truest sense of the word, priceless.

SDS Is Now Infiltrating High Schools

By RAY CROMLEY,
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Students for a Democratic Society is now moving into the high schools.

CROMLEY

This loosely knit youth group, responsible for some of the most violent college riots of the past year, aims at adapting some of its more effective techniques for precollege youngsters.

SDS is writing operations pamphlets for the teen-agers.

★ ★ ★

SDS college groups are sponsoring junior chapters in public schools near the campuses.

SDS leaders are acting as advisers to help students develop effective attacks on high school principals, teachers and school regulations. They're giving advice on what techniques will cause the most disruption in the schools.

UNDERGROUND PAPERS

They're pushing the publication of teen-age underground newspapers on the high school campuses.

One SDS pamphlet for the high school set reads in part:

"Even such seemingly destructive actions as starting trash can fires and pulling fire alarms are actually forms of protest directed at the school as it is now constituted. . . .

"Not only the defense of hair and clothing styles against administration attack, but the adoption of such styles themselves indicates a general disgust with the values and attitudes that our generation has been forcefed."

It is impossible to determine at this writing how successful the SDS recruiters will be on the high school campuses.

MORE VIOLENT

But in this reporter's experience in Asia, the very young, when aroused, are much more violent than their elder brothers.

Mao Tse-tung made heavy use of his high school and prehigh school youth in the Red Guards. The high school group is very violent in Japan.

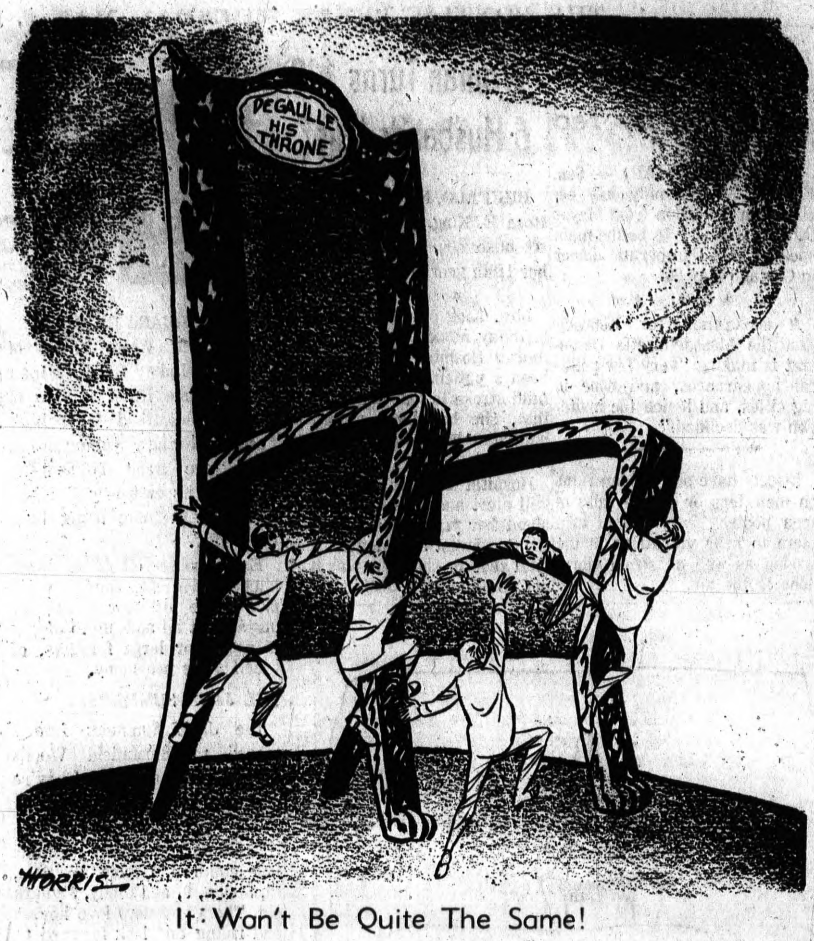
★ ★ ★

In South Vietnam's turbulent period of antigovernment riots a fewyears back, the great bulk of the demonstrators frequently were youngsters from 8 to 17.

The North Vietnamese and the Vietcong have made widespread use of youngsters, 8 to 16. The adventure — and possession of weapons — has appealed to them.

★ ★ ★

Castro in Cuba found very young boys extremely valuable — reckless in their enthusiasm, once indoctrinated very difficult to sway, and ready to die for what his men had taught them.



It Won't Be Quite The Same!

David Lawrence Says:

Black Judge Critical of Militants

WASHINGTON — For several years now, it has been evident that there would be no lessening of racial friction in America unless white people talked to whites and black people talked to blacks about the fundamental principles essential to good behavior, and members of the two races then worked together to maintain harmony.

LAWRENCE

Thurgood Marshall, who is the first Negro on the Supreme Court of the United States, has just made a speech to a Negro audience at the centennial celebration of Dillard University in New Orleans, in which he said some plain things that both whites and blacks need to take to heart if there is to be stability in the life of the nation.

★ ★ ★

Justice Marshall criticized black militants, as he declared that "nothing will be settled with guns, firebombs or rocks."

He admitted, of course, that people were frustrated. But his advice was clear-cut.

He declared: "You are not going to compete in the world until you have training exactly like everyone else, and hopefully better, because when you are a Negro, you have to be better."

HEAD OF CLASS

Marshall graduated at the head of his class from Howard University Law School, and, as chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, won the famous desegration case in the Supreme Court in 1954.

He was appointed by President Kennedy to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and was later named by President Johnson to be solicitor general in the Department of Justice in Washington. In 1967, President Johnson appointed him to the highest court in the land.

In the New Orleans speech, Justice Marshall said: "Race is not an excuse for not keeping up your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

While Justice Marshall agreed that he believes "black is beautiful," he doesn't think that it is the only color that is beautiful.

JUST AS MANY

"I think we Negro Americans have just as many beautiful people in mind and body, as well as skin, as any other group — and that we have just as many stinkers as any other group . . . .

"Anarchy is anarchy, and it makes no difference who practices it — it is bad, it is punishable, and it should be punished."

This blunt way of talking will serve as an example for leaders of all races who have an influence in their communities.

Not enough has been done to bring peoples of different races together informally to discuss what can be done to diminish the bitterness that exists.

LACK OF INFORMATION

There is, unfortunately, a lack of information about how Negroes and whites who do respect each other get along in the everyday life of the community.

Disturbances in American cities have started in Negro neighborhoods, primarily because militant leaders have emphasized race prejudice and told Negroes they must use any means, including violence, to attain their "rights" and settle grievances against the whites. Something of the same kind has happened in white neighborhoods.

The disorders in America today are largely the result of emotions stirred up as the Negro population has grown in size and as schools have been desegregated.

Artificial steps to bring about integration have produced uneasiness and hard feelings, mainly because the citizens, both white and black, have not tackled the problem with an understanding of what can be done when there are voices of reason and conciliation.

Justice Marshall has performed a public service in speaking out on the subject of how racial friction is intensified by militants and in pointing to the prerequisite of harmony in any community — the recognition of one's own responsibility, irrespective of race, to be a law-abiding citizen.

Bob Considine Says:

Contentment Impossible When You're a Golfer

NEW YORK — Golf is an endeavor a player approaches with the reverence and fear of a pilgrim crawling to a Holy Place. He is never really sure of the reception he'll get or what the Almighty has cooked up for him that day.

CONSIDINE

It doesn't matter whether he is a bum or a superstar. He doesn't know what's in store for him, and never will. He goes through the ritual but is never truly satisfied. His sleep that night is tortured by the chances he missed to have a better round, the mental relapses that destroyed his discipline, the simple instructions he refused to follow. Nothing brings complete contentment.

Sam Snead once shot a 59 in competition at his home course; the biggest of them at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. It was a performance all but without parallel in the annals of the old game. But the reporters and club members who burst into the locker room to share in the expected festivities found him sitting on the bench in front of his locker, head in his hands. He was moaning something.

"Oh, those putts I missed," he was saying, over and over.

Craig Wood got off a 430-yard drive in the 1933 British Open. The place where the ball stopped is now marked by a plaque. Craig had almost driven a par-5 green on St. Andrews rugged Royal and Ancient!

The incredible feat is recorded in a little booklet one can buy from the caddie master of the world's oldest course. The caption under the picture of the hole states: "On this hole the American long hitter, C. Wood, drove well over 400 yards in the 1933 Open."

I saw Craig a few years ago after I played the same hole—with a flashy double bogie—and mentioned the item.

"Yeah, I've seen that booklet," Craig said. "It desn't mention that it was raining when I hit that ball."

PLEASURE SHORT-LIVED

A couple of years ago I was driving from a club feeling pleased with myself for shooting a 48 for nine holes.

I switched on the radio and a voice was saying, in the hushed tones reserved for state funerals and the finale hole of a golf championship, "Charley Boswell is lining up his 25-foot putt. He's taking his time. There! He strokes it. It's moving toward the cup . . . closer . . . closer . . . it's in!" Then a big cheer from the gallery, above which the announcer said, "So Charley Boswell once more wins the National Blind Golf Tournament with his sparkling 42!"

Voice of the People:

Fight Against Obscenity Has Support of Readers

Congratulations to The Pontiac Press for the editorial on the smut war conducted by the Pontiac Police. The General Federation of Women's Clubs, comprised of 11,500,00 women in the United States and 60 territories around the world, have put special emphasis this year on their program "A Crusade for Morality in Mass Media." The Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs unanimously supports the Pontiac police officials and Chief William K. Hanger, and commends them for their action. It is regrettable that the owners of these stores were not arrested, too.

★ ★ ★

Now is the time for all the women of this country to band together to protest the sales of obscene books, magazines and any other forms of pornography. With the cooperation of our women to organize for action, we could win this crusade for morality.

MARGARET E. HILL
28 STOWELL

Congratulations to Police Chief William K. Hanger and his fellow officers for a job well done. The arrest of the three persons responsible for selling obscene literature to a minor convinces us that there is still some law and order in the land today. However, it's too bad we can't arrest the man responsible for the spread of pornography in this country—Chief Justice Earl Warren. By this man's extreme liberalist attitude, pornography and obscene material have spread throughout the land infecting our children's minds.

PARENTS OF SIX

I believe the comment "and maybe our local drugstore owners will cull out the garbage in the books, magazines and newspapers they display for sale" in a letter signed by R. T. Wright was completely out of line. The stores involved in the recent arrests for selling obscene literature were not drug stores. Magazines are displayed for sale in almost every supermarket and in many department stores. We in the pharmacy profession have been striving for the betterment of our youth and our community. I invite R. T. Wright and any others to inspect my magazine department any time. I, like all pharmacists, will remove any piece of literature they find objectionable.

219 BALDWIN

I am pleased to see that our Pontiac police are starting a crackdown on sellers of obscene literature. If we could keep garbage like this out of bookstores and off the television, we might be able to get back to decency again. If we'd get back to prayer and Bible reading, we'd be doing more for our kids than all the education and material possessions could do. Chief Hanger, you and your men keep up the good work. Many of us are for you.

States Opposition to Sex Education Program

I, too, am against sex education in our schools. They have been teaching it for a few years in our colleges and you can see what it is doing to the students. They have nothing to be modest about. Let's start teaching rules and regulations of our society and respect for one another. Schools claim they don't have enough funds to teach other classes, let's stick to the main subjects.

Question and Answer

Why is the southwest corner of Ottawa and Huron streets left vacant? Why weren't houses built there when the subdivision was developed?

SEMINOLE HILLS RESIDENT

REPLY

Paul Kern, who helped sell the original development, said it's because the land won't hold a foundation. Two lots are involved, and at one time a house was started on one of them. When it began to sink, the buyer's money was refunded and he was given another lot. It was assumed if that happened on one lot, the same would probably happen on the adjoining property, so it has remained vacant.

Question and Answer

We've been in business 17 years, owe no one and our credit has always been good. Then we got a letter from Pontiac Credit Bureau, saying we must pay a bill from Detroit Edison. I called the Credit Bureau to tell them we're not the Harold Quick they want and that we've never had a service station at the Walled Lake address the bill is for, but can't seem to get it straightened out. A dun from the bureau hurts our business.

HAROLD H. QUICK

REPLY

Mr. Gray at Detroit Edison assures us your credit is not in jeopardy because the bill was not referred for collection in your name. Your name was given as the owner of the business named on the account. Edison records indicate someone did take out an account at the Walled Lake address using your name and the name of your business. However, because of the obvious mixup, Detroit Edison has decided to cancel the bill. Mr. Gray at Edison and the Credit Bureau are sorry for any trouble this may have caused you.

Andre Previn's tenure as conductor of the Houston Symphony Orchestra will end with a concert May 16, says Maurice Hirsch, president of the Houston Symphony Society.

Previn, who also is principal conductor of the London Symphony, was named conductor-in-chief of the Houston Symphony in 1967. Hirsch said yesterday:

"When announcement was made earlier this year that Mr. Previn would be the Houston Symphony's music director for the 1969-70 and 1970-71 seasons, it was not realized how much of Mr. Previn's time would be required to fulfill his obligations to the London Symphony Orchestra and in connection with other activities to which he was committed."

New Organization Formed in Ohio

Wallaceites Strengthen Party

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It remains to be seen whether George C. Wallace will run for president again, but an aide says he already has "the basis for a better national organization than we had in the election last year."

The aide, Taylor Hardin, said it was put together over the weekend in Cincinnati, Ohio, when Wallace partisans from 38 states formed a new American party.

★ ★ ★

Welded together were Wallace's old American Independent party and kindred third-party alliances—in one state or another—which supported the former Alabama governor in 1968.

One weakness in the campaign last year, said Hardin, was that in the process of getting on the ballot by petition "we wound up with a losely knit organization" with little central control.

HE'S PLEASED

Wallace disclaimed any active part in the new organization but said he was "pleased with the outcome" and with the officers chosen to lead the new party.

T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, who headed the 1968 third-party movement in Virginia, was elected national chairman, and Bill Davis of Covington, Tenn., a pro-Wallace candidate for Congress earlier this year, is the vice chairman.

★ ★ ★

A source close to Wallace described the newly organized party as the nucleus of a political force which "can be used if Wallace wants to use it or if events dictate that he should use it."

Whether the former governor runs, the source predicted, will depend on "how wrought up the people are and what President Nixon does."

CAMPAIGN DIRECTOR

Hardin, a National Guard two-star general, gave up a $14,000-year job as legal counsel of the State Finance Department to work full-time as director of the Wallace campaign, as the movment still is known. He has a staff of about 20 employes.

★ ★ ★

Wallace spends most of his time at the campaign headquarters and recently began publication of a monthly newsletter for fund-raising and as a political forum. More than a million copies were mailed across the nation with the request that each subscriber contribute $12 a year.

★ ★ ★

The response, Hardin said, has been "excellent." Without going into the dollar volume, he said the returns have been sufficient to keep the campaign going.

"We're solvent," he added. "We have paid all our bills."

Restoration of Fort Tied to Vote Today

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) —Voters in this northern Lake Huron island township went to the polls today in a special election to express a first decision in a proposed restoration of old Ft. Drummond, once the last British military outpost as U.S. soil.

★ ★ ★

The question on the ballot was whether to form a Drummond Township Park and Historical Commission of six members, which under state law would have the right to raise funds, apply for state and federal grants and let contracts for restoration work.

★ ★ ★

Old Ft. Drummond, also known as Ft. Collyer, was built in 1815 by British troops who were forced to surrender Mackinac Island by treaty after the war of 1812.

Europe Forum Push to Expel Greeks Fails

LONDON (AP) — Pressure to expel the Greek military dictatorship from the Council of Europe virtually collapsed today, diplomatic sources reported.

The question of Greek membership in the 18-nation forum was the first item of business today for the council's Committee of Ministers at their meeting commemorating the 20th anniversary of the organization. But the sources reported the potentially hot issue had been cooled off in advance by British opposition.

★ ★ ★

Scandinavian nations led by Denmark had been pressing for expulsion or suspension of the Athens military junta. They charged it had suppressed democratic rights contrary to the charter of the council. But the sources said the Scandinavians had agreed not to push their demands to a vote.

The reason, the sources said, was Britain's reluctance to vote the Greeks out of the council. Without the British, there was virtually no chance of the two-thirds vote needed to expel the Greeks. The British said the discussion of the issue alone would be a warning to Greece and might help induce the colonels to restore democratic rights.

CHARGES PROBED

Britain also noted that the council's human rights commission is still investigating charges of political persecution and torture of prisoners by the Greek regime. It said any decision on Greek membership in the council should await the findings of this probe.

Opponents of the British stand suggested Britain's real motives lay elsewhere.

Salty Skipper Defends Battleship Use

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr., the salty skipper of the battleship New Jersey, had anticipated criticism that the expense did not justify the results of his ship's seven-month deployment off Vietnam.

The pipe-smoking captain, a lock of hair falling over his forehead, hefted a 23-pound piece of shrapnel from one of the New Jersey's two-ton shells which was recovered from a Vietcong fortification.

He slammed it down with such force that it almost splintered the table at the news conference held when the ship returned to its home port yesterday.

"This goes through the air at Mach 4 (four times the speed of sound) and there is nothing in Vietnam that can stop it. The name battleship is a misnomer. It is, in fact, a floating artillery platform with the nine largest artillery tubes in the world.

"These 16-inch shells can penetrate 30 inches of solid rock," Snyder went on. "It can destroy Communist caves that otherwise can only be taken by infantry walking with flamethrowers and explosives."

Snyder said the 56,000-ton battleship fired only 700 rounds during its entire service in World War II. "It was used mainly as a taxi to haul Adm. (William F.) Halsey around," said Snyder, whose utterances recall those of "Bull" Halsey.

In its seven months off the cost of North and South Vietnam, the New Jersey lobbed more than 5,000 rounds of 16-inch ammunition at targets ashore.

Snyder said "only an idiot" would decide not to send the battlewagon back to Vietnam in the fall.

★ ★ ★

"If the level of hostilities remains the same, the New Jersey will be back on station off Vietnam during the northeast monsoon season in October or November," Snyder said.

Would he still be the skipper if the New Jersey returns to the Far East?

"Well, they told me I had command for two years," Snyder said. "That is, if I'm not court-martialed for what I've said today."

Sympathy Demonstration Set in 2nd S. Carolina City

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A sympathy demonstration will be staged Saturday in another large South Carolina city—Greenville 200 miles to the north—for Negroes whose strike at two Charleston hospitals has become a major civil rights drive.

★ ★ ★

It will be led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The SCLC has joined with the Drug and Hospital Workers Union, AFL-CIO, in the seven-week strike for union recognition and higher pay at the Southern Carolina Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The strikers—maids, orderlies and food service workers — are seeking an unspecified amount above their present $1.30 to $2.05 an hour.

A SCLC spokesman said the Greenville march was sought by "a group of clergymen, hospital workers and concerned citizens" in that city.

TURNED BACK

There have been almost daily marches in Charleston. Police Chief John Conroy turned back several attempts by demonstrators to move down narrow streets in the downtown area Monday. He said traffic conditions would not permit it.

★ ★ ★

One column, singing freedom songs and chanting slogans, was diverted along side streets to the medical complex which includes the struck hospitals. Two other columns of some 30 marchers converged on the Battery, which faces the sea and was 18th Century Charleston's main defense against pirate galleons and British warships.

'Double Dip' Into State's Student Aid May Melt Away Soon

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a resolution expressing its intent to eliminate a so-called "double dip" into college aid funds by students and to switch the order in which scholarship and tuition grants are awarded.

Action on the resolution, reported from the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, provoked protest from some members who complained they had had no time to study its contents. The resolution passed 25-7 and was sent to the House.

★ ★ ★

Some students have been receiving grants under both the scholarship program and the tuition grant system, the resolution states. Such a practice, sponsors said, was contrary to the intent of the Legislature when the systems were set up.

No double grants now are being promised, but they have been in the past, said Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids. The resolution would specify legislative intent not to make double grants in the future, he said.

★ ★ ★

It would, however, continue for one year any such grants previously promised, to indicate "good faith," he said.

Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, asked about the resolution's "mandate for change in the order." "We've talked about the double dip," he said, "but what I want to know is how the dips are placed on the cone or what flavor they might be."

Under the current system, it was explained, tuition fund grants—for students who want to attend private colleges—are given first. Next come scholarship grants to students who may use the funds for either public or private schools.

★ ★ ★

VanderLaan pointed to figures showing that the number of students who use scholarship decreased over the last three years.

★ ★ ★

"We want to reverse the trend," he said, adding that such a reversal could save the state money in funds expended on public institutions of higher education.

Awarding the larger scholarship grants first, he suggested, could boost the number of students who would use them to attend private schools.

3 High Court Justices Rap Police in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren was joined by two of his Supreme Court colleagues Monday in scoring Michigan police for using "medieval cruelty" to obtain a confession from a shooting suspect.

But the court refused, by a margin of one vote, to consider the appeal of Lionel Bradford, serving 20 to 40 years imprisonment for assault with intent to murder two Benton Harbor police officers.

★ ★ ★

Bradford said a companion, LeRoy Payne, had been tortured by police until he agreed to testify against him. Payne later recanted his testimony.

Warren, joined by Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, aid in his dissent "the majesty of the law cannot be enhanced by a conviction based on medieval cruelty" and that Bradford's conviction should be reversed.

FAILS ON APPEAL

Bradford failed, however, to get the court to hear his appeal. At least four votes are needed for the high tribunal to take a case. The vote was 6 to 3.

The chief justice noted that Payne had, immediately after his arrest, been called names; threatened with being thrown out of a police car and shot; and beaten up and tortured during the questioning.

★ ★ ★

At Bradford's trial, the state admitted such tactics had been used to get Payne to implicate Bradford.

Payne, also charged in the shooting, had his guilty plea set aside by a lower court because of the coercion.

'COMMONPLACE'

"It is now a commonplace," Warren said, "that coerced confessions are inadmissible at criminal trials because they are untrustworthy and the methods used to obtain them offend the principle that our system of criminal justice is accusatorial and not inquisatorial."

★ ★ ★

Laymen to Run Marygrove Now

DETROIT (UPI) — Marygfove College, a 59-year-old women's school taught by sisters, has become the first Catholic institution of higher learning in the Detroit area to switch from religious to lay control.

Mother Benedicta Brennan, superior general of the order, announced yesterday that full control, authority and responsibility for the operation of Marygrove will be vested in a newly appointed, predominantly lay board of trustees. The shift was effective immeidately.

★ ★ ★

"The board of trustees is now restructured as a result of a study which has gone on for the past three years," Mother Benedicta said. "We welcome the growing emphasis for a more involved laity in groups and activities whose leadership before has often come from the religious and clergy."

★ ★ ★

The new board, which now includes 12 lay and five religious persons and a quota to name four more lay members, contains Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan; Wade Ellis, associate dean, Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies, University of Michigan; Frank R. Gerbig Jr., president, United States Fastener Corp.; and Raymond T. Huetteman Jr. vice president, National Bank of Detroit.
