To Meet Blough After Yale Address

JFK Asks Peace With Business

From Our News Wires

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — President Kennedy, in a Yale University commencement address, today urged peace between American business and his administration.

A short time later he arranged a late afternoon meeting in Washington with U. S. Steel Board Chairman Roger Blough and members of a special task force of business leaders studying the gold outflow and balance of payments situations.

Kennedy, calling for a partnership with government to pump new life into the nation's economy, accused his sharpest critics of spouting "ancient cliches" instead of facing up to real problems of the times.

In the serene atmosphere of the Yale commencement, Kennedy declared his administration is not antibusiness and he made it clear that the government intends to do its part in trying to block recession and generate prosperity.

★ ★ ★

After lunch with Yale officials and other honorary degree recipients, Kennedy planned to fly back to Washington.

He scheduled a meeting with the cabinet and the one with Blough he will meet in his capacity as chairman of a special business advisory committee task force on gold and balance of payments.

★ ★ ★

White House officials said the President regarded the meeting with Blough and the five other task force members as a particularly significant move and representative of the new degree of cooperation between government and business to which the President aspired in his Yale address.

Standing under a canopy of Yale blue in the ivy-hung rectangle of the university's Old Campus, Kennedy said some of the arguments he has heard lately "sound like old records, long playing, left over from the middle Thirties."

Related Story, Page 13

The debate of that era was significant and productive, he said.

★ ★

"But it took place in a different world with different needs and tasks," the President said.

THE TASKS OF THE '60s

"It is our responsibility today to live in our one world — and to identify the needs and discharge the tasks of the 1960s."

Kennedy received a warm welcome from the townsfolk after arriving by plane from New York and an ovation from the crowd of 12,000 who sat under the elms of the tradition-steeped campus in warm, sunny weather.

He came to receive an honorary law degree, one of 14 honoraries presented at Yale's 261st commencement.

★ ★ ★

Without identifying his antagonists from the worlds of business and politics, Kennedy said debate is healthy although "up to now somewhat barren."

Serious consideration of contemporary issues has led postwar Western Europe to unrivaled economic progress, he said.

DEGREE FROM YALE — President Kennedy, wearing an academic robe after receiving Yale's doctor of laws degree, calls for partnership with government to pump new life into the nation's economy. The Chief Executive accused his sharpest critics of spouting "ancient cliches."

Well, Didn't It Rain!

HIGH WATER — Riding a bicycle couldn't keep Dan Lovse, 13, of 142 Cadillac, from getting wet feet Saturday as rains flooded sections of Pontiac. Between 10 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. today, 1.9 inches of rain fell in the Pontiac area. Dan is attempting to coast his way through the accumulated water at Montcalm Street and Oakland Avenue.

Pontiac Expects Heavy Turnouts

Early reports predict a heavy turnout in the Pontiac Board of Education election today, with large numbers of voters balloting early in the LeBaron and Washington Junior High School polling places.

At 11 a.m., LeBaron showed a turnout of 93 and Washington 164. Webster recorded 92 voters and was also heavy in the early voting. Bagley, however, showed a small number of voters going to the polls, with 21 ballots cast.

Some 6,000 voters — considered a high percentage of the district's 42,000 eligible voters — were expected to the polls before they close at 8 p.m.

The city and surrounding areas continued in the Pontiac School District are to determine which of five candidates will fill two seats on the board. The terms are for four years.

Competing for the vacancies are:

Dr. Walter L. Godsell, incumbent.

Mrs. Elsie (William) Mihalek, incumbent.

Mrs. Lois Slater Nasstrom.

Merle H. Smith.

Dr. Beauregard Stubblefield.

Dr. Godsell, 34, of 307 W. Huron St., a chiropractic physician and presently president of the board of education, is seeking his third term.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mihalek, 40, of 1592 Vinewood Ave., is president-elect of Northern High School PTSA, has held presidencies of the Pontiac PTA Council, Madison Junior High PTSA and Malkin PTA. She seeks a second term.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Nasstrom, 30, of 502 E. Mansfield Ave., is a registered X-ray technician and active in community fund drives, the League of Women Voters and the board of directors of the County Home-owners and Taxpayers' Association. She seeks a first term.

Indications early this afternoon point to a normally light vote in this year's Waterford Township Board of Education Election. "Last year's total vote of 960 should be exceeded but not by much", James DenHerder, assistant to the school superintendent, commented.

Polls will remain open until 8 p.m.

Four candidates are seeking two four-year-term seats on the board of education:

The names of five candidates appear on the official ballot. Darwin E. Catlin, however, has withdrawn from the race.

The field of candidates includes one incumbent and three first-time candidates.

Incumbent Eldon C. Rosegart, president of the school board for the past two years, is seeking a second term. The other candidates are Norman L. Cheal, Elmer O. Johnson and Ellis L. Nordbeck.

★ ★ ★

Rosegart, 43, lives at 2983 Shawnee Lane, Drayton Plains, with his wife and two children. He is an instructor of instrumental music in the Pontiac School system.

★ ★ ★

Cheal, 42, married and the father of six, lives at 2751 Northlake Drive, Waterford Township. He heads the experimental department of the Pontiac Motor Division engineering department.

Johnson, 40, is part owner of Elmer's Auto Supply in Waterford Township. He lives at 4084 Baybrook Drive with his wife and two children.

★ ★ ★

Nordbeck, 40, his wife and their four children live at 3780 Embarcadero Street, Drayton Plains. He is a property appraiser for the Michigan State Tax Commission.

Expiration of the terms of Rosegart and Edmund L. Windeler this month accounts for the two vacant seats on the board.

Ugh, It's Sticky—So's Tomorrow

Lower Michigan Can Expect Humid High of 78; Rain Ahead Tonight

Humid.

That's what tomorrow will be in the Pontiac area as well as the rest of lower Michigan.

Following thunderstorms this afternoon and evening, tonight's low will be 65.

Partly cloudy skies and little change in temperature is the outlook through Tuesday along with tomorrow's high of 78 degrees.

Temperatures during the next five days will average near or a little below a normal high of 78 and a normal low of 58. Cooler weather Tuesday and Wednesday will be followed by only minor day-to-day changes in temperature thereafter.

Some 1.9 inches of rainfall was recorded between the hours of 10 a.m. Saturday and the same time this morning. As one local observer reported, the rain north of Lake Orion Saturday night was so hard that traffic stopped still in the road.

However, humid and muggy it may be, the corn crop is thriving from the rain, according to Wayne Siefert, an Oakland County agricultural agent. Up to now plants have been coming up slowly.

As the first crop of hay is about to be harvested, the second crop will benefit more from the showers. The wheat will be little affected, though.

The lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. today was a mild 69 degrees throughout most of the early morning hours. Eighty-two was the reading at 2 p.m.

26 School Districts Schedule Elections

Eleven school districts seek approval of operating tax levies while only one asks voters to okay a bond issue in today's elections in 26 area school districts.

The largest bond issue in the school district's history, $1.29 million, is on the ballot in Avondale. If approved, it will finance additions to all schools in the district, plus construction of a new elementary school.

Voters in the Utica Community School District are being asked to approve $400 annual salaries for school board members.

Board of education candidates are running unopposed in eight districts. In three districts—Dryden, Metamora and North Oxford—board members will be elected at 8 p.m. meetings today.

Districts with operating tax increases or renewals on their ballots are Avondale, Clarenceville, Dryden, Huron Valley, Lapeer, Lyon Township, Oak Park, Oxford, Rochester, Walled Lake and West Bloomfield.

Laotian Princes Agree on Coalition Cabinet

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The rival Laotian princes agreed today on the cabinet for a coalition government aimed at ending the civil war and adding Laos to the ranks of the world's neutral nations.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier-designate, announced the agreement, climaxing negotiations instituted by the 14-nation conference on Laos at Geneva 13 months ago.

Premier Prince Boun Oum of the present royal Laotian government is stepping out of governmental affairs, happily, he said. However, the strong man of his regime, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will sit in as deputy premier and minister of finance under Souvanna.

Another deputy premiership and the economy portfolio will go to Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half brother of the premier-designate.

Though domestic problems still abound, the three princes and their aides emerged happily from a meeting that wound up conferences begun in this rebel stronghold last week.

Immediately after the announcement, the three princes signed the Cabinet list. Souvanna, however, said the three will meet again Tuesday to sign a formal agreement on formation of the coalition.

Souvanna said he hopes to take his ministers to Luang Prabang, the royal capital, by next Monday to present them to King Savang Vathana.

The question of who would get the armed forces and police ministries had been one of the toughest points blocking an agreement. The royalist government had expressed fear that turning these posts over to

Ford Lauds Romney as Governor Choice

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II told a news conference today he regards George Romney as a capable politician and a good choice for governor of Michigan.

"We've had 14 years of Democratic rule in Michigan with the UAW calling the shots and I think it's time for a change," Ford said.

The automotive executive was one of the early backers of Romney's bid for the governorship, coming out publicly in his support even before Romney made himself officially a candidate.

Asked whether he would like to see Romney in the White House, Ford said "I don't think George is interested in that at the moment."

Results of the Pontiac and Waterford School Board elections will be available tonight through telephone inquiries to The Pontiac Press.

Incomplete results are expected to be available beginning at 8:30 p.m., the final results later—as soon as they are tabulated by school officials.

100 Children Involved

Bus, Train Crash

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A commuter train collided in dense fog today with a school bus carrying more than 100 kindergarten children, dragging it hundreds of yards.

Officials said 42 persons were killed and about 80 seriously injured.

★ ★ ★

One of the dead was a woman teacher aboard the bus.

One of the few children to escape unharmed was a little girl who saw the hazy outline of the onrushing train in the fog and jumped through an open window.

Witnesses described the scene as appalling. A rescue worker said "the moaning of these little kids was pitiful."

Police arrested a guard at the intersection after the bus driver said the barriers had not been lowered and he never saw the train.

The accident occurred shortly before school time near a shantytown section of Buenos Aires. The bus had just picked up the children, most aged 3 to 6 and was taking them to a school about 15 blocks away.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses said smog from the shantytown cooking fires mingled with the fog to cut visibility to less than 10 yards.

Teams of doctors worked feverishly over the injured in four hospitals, but it was feared the death toll would increase.

UAW Facility 'Progress Sign'

Mazey Hails Local 594 for Construction of New Headquarters

United Auto Workers Local 594's new $200,000 hall in Pontiac was termed "a symbol of union progress here" by UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey, principal speaker at dedication ceremonies Saturday.

Introduced by Local President Andy Wilson, Mazey commended members here on construction of the modern, one-story brick building at 525 S. East Blvd.

The building has been serving more than 6,000 General Motors Truck & Coach Division employes since offices were moved March 17 from the former hall at 90 Mt. Clemens Street.

Approximately 600 persons visited the new hall during an open house following the dedication.

Others officiating in the ceremonies were Ernest Moran, assistant director of the UAW's GM Department, Kenneth Morris, UAW regional director and Carl Hunter, local financial secretary.

Wilson compared the new hall's auditorium, having a 500-seating capacity, with the old quarters where only 200 persons could gather at a time.

Also, he noted that parking space for 156 cars is provided in a lot next to the new hall. Parking for meetings at the former building always posed a problem, he recalled.

Wilson said the new building was proving extremely efficient for union administration here.

MANY FACILITIES

The new quarters also contain a recreation room, open during normal daytime hours, for retired union members. Television, shuffleboard and other game equipment is provided.

Refuses to Hear Beck Appeal

Supreme Court Decision Makes Final Conviction on Tax Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president, on charges of filing false federal tax returns for the union for 1950 and 1952.

The high tribunal, in a May 14 decision on another appeal, affirmed conviction of Beck on a charge of embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of an automobile owned by the union. He was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment on the embezzlement conviction. The sentence was pronounced in a Washington State court.

Beck's conviction on the tax charge was in federal court in Tacoma, Wash., in 1958. He was sentenced there to five years in prison and fined $20,000.

The U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco on Jan. 20, 1962, upheld Beck's conviction of filing false tax returns for his union. At the same time it set aside his conviction of evading more than $240,000 in income taxes. The Circuit Court called for a new trial on the evasion charges, on which Beck had been sentenced to five years and $40,000 fine.

The Supreme Court's order denying Beck a hearing in the tax case gave no reasons. It noted that Justice White took no part in the case.

Beck's counsel has asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its May 14 decision in the embezzlement case. The high court took no action on this request today.

The Justice Department in a brief opposed a Supreme Court review for Beck on the federal tax charges.

The department said that although the Circuit Court decision left the way open for a retrial of the evasion counts, the government would not seek to retry those charges in the event the sentence under the false tax returns charges became final (by refusel of a Supreme Court review).

Rev. Ara Walker, S. J., president of Columbiere College in Independence Township, delivered the commencement address to the departing seniors. He pointed out that the main purpose of the education process is to develop well-rounded personalities.

A candlelight ceremony preceded the commencement exercises during which the graduates handled lighted candles to members of the junior class at the school. The candles represent the light of learning.

Assistant pastor of Our Lady of the Lakes, Rev. John L. Phelan presented the senior class and pastor Fr. Frederick J. Delaney, presented the diplomas.

ATTENDED MASS

Seniors then recited an Act of Consecration and the exercises were concluded by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The graduates attended 12:30 Mass in a body Sunday and later were luncheon guests of Fr. Delaney in the rectory.

Class-night ceremonies honoring the graduating seniors were held Thursday. The program began with a junior-senior banquet and concluded with a farewell dance presented by the juniors in honor of their departing upperclassmen.

Seniors Told 'Somebody Cares'

Fifty-two graduating seniors from St. Michael's High School were told yesterday that "somebody cares" for them.

Rev. Paul C. Berg, professor of philosophy at Detroit's Sacred Heart Seminary, told the graduates in a commencement speech that throughout their high school days teachers and educators had made every effort to give them proper mental, moral and spiritual preparation.

Father Berg assured the students people would continue to care about them and help them along.

Commencement ceremonies were held in St. Michael's Church. Diplomas were awarded by the church's pastor, Rev. James L. Hayes.

At a breakfast honoring the graduates, three seniors spoke to a gathering of parents, teachers and graduates.

James Hurren gave the salutatory address, Dana Hustosky presented the valedictory address and Shannon Donnelly expressed appreciation to parents and teachers on behalf of the senior class.

Much of Nation to Slosh Through Showers Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain clouds hovered across broad areas from the Rockies to the Alabama Gulf Coast today. Afternoon and evening showers were indicated in most areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation, duplicating Sunday's weather activity.

Heavy rain, hail and strong winds hit sections in the central part of the country Sunday, including Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Thunderstorms during the night pelted areas in Wyoming, southern New York State and the Alabama Gulf Coast.

It was warm and humid in most of the Midwest and East, with temperatures in the 80-90 degree range Sunday. Night readings were in the upper 60s and 70s in most of the southern and eastern sections except in Maine and in mountain areas.

Mansfield Says Policy Toward Southeast Asia Must Be Re-Examined

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a commencement day audience yesterday at Michigan State University that it's time for a re-examination of this nation's policy toward Southeast Asia.

The Senate majority leader and the administration's chief spokesman in that body said his support of President Kennedy does not preclude public discussion of present approaches.

These approaches, he said, will yield little to the people of this nation and little to the people of Southeast Asia.

Mansfield said he doubted that U.S. traffic security and other interests justify indefinite commitment to the unilateral defense of the area. Rather, he said, this nagation should investigate "every possibility of minimizing the unilateral activity of the United States in Southeast Asia in every sphere."

He asked that we "draw clearly the distinction between what is enduringly basic and what is transitory and peripheral in our interests with respect" to the area.

The unilateral supply of manpower and billions is at best "a mark-time course of immense costs" and "at worst, it's a collision course," he said.

State Rep. Law Reveals Bid for 2-Year Post; to File Petitions

State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, says the next few years in Michigan will be filled with interesting and challenging issues — and he wants to retain a political voice to deal with them.

Law, 56, today announced his bid for a third two-year term in the State House of Representatives. He said he will file nominating petitions later this week for the Aug. primary election.

Two key issues — a decision on the new constitution and the Supreme Court's consideration of reapportionment — highlight Law's view of the future.

"The next few years in the legislature will give some of us the opportunity to help a lot in these and other issues," he said. "I like it (the legislature) and hope I can continue to serve."

No opposition — Republican or Democrat — has been announced for Law's post. The GOP lost an apparent challenger last month when Pontiac con-con delegate Ray King was appointed prosecutor for Ogemaw County.

Law, owner of a Pontiac supermarket, has been a city resident for 37 years. He came here from his native Oklahoma at age 19 and exactly 19 years later became mayor.

Law served six years as mayor and 12 years as a city commissioner.

The Day in Birmingham

Starting Library Survey to Learn Needs of Area

BIRMINGHAM — A library survey began today for the purpose of providing information on the types and locations of new facilities that are needed to serve the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

The study is being sponsored by the Baldwin Public Library and Bloomfield Township.

Conducted by Frederick Wezeman, who is on the faculty of the University of Minnesota's School of Library Science, the survey is a follow-up study made by the Citizens Library Study Council.

★ ★ ★

The council has recommended that the area be serviced by a district library system which would take in Bloomfield and Southfield townships, Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

Wezeman will talk with city and township officials, school and library board members and representatives of business and other community groups while making the survey.

Wezeman has made similar surveys for Des Moines, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Tulsa, Okla.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold an initiation June 20 at the Birmingham Masonic Temple, 327 S. Woodward Ave.

The ceremony will be conducted at 7:45 p.m.

The Congregational Church of Birmingham announced today it will begin its summer worship schedule on June 17. Beginning at that time there will be one service only, at 10 a.m.

Church school kindergarten classes and baby nursery will be held during the summer, also at 10 a.m. All other children will attend regular church service in the sanctuary.

Mrs. Robert J. Marshall

Private service for Mrs. Robert J. (Edytha) Marshall, 53, of 27460 Golden Gate Drive, Lathrup Village, will be Tuesday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Cremation will follow.

Mrs. Marshall died at home Saturday following a brief iness.

She was an interior decorator with Scott-Shuptrine of Birmingham and was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Birmingham.

Crowd Applauds Stubblefield

'Freedom Rally' Yields Pledges of Backing for School Board Candidate

A Negro "freedom rally" in Beaudette Park Saturday turned into a pledged endorsement of Pontiac school board candidate Beauregard Stubblefield at the election polls today.

Some 450 participants applauded enthusiastically when urged by Negro leaders Milton Henry, city commissioner, and Lynn Hooe, legal redress chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Pontiac, to get out the Negro vote for Stubblefield.

Four Negro students from Pontiac Central High School who spoke of alleged incidents of discrimination by teachers and administrators were commended for their "bravery" by the principal speaker, Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr. of Detroit.

Mayor Robert Landry circulated through the crowd handing out pro-Stubblefield literature.

Investigators Seek Train Wreck's Cause

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

MISSOULA, Mont. — Investigators sought today to determine whether brake failure or human error caused yesterday's wreck of a Northern Pacific passenger train which killed one person and injured 243 others.

An NP spokesman said one or the other caused the train to lurch off its tracks at more than twice the recommended speed and scatter 15 of its 18 cars along a steep embankment.

The train, eastbound from Seattle, Wash., to Chicago was packed with tourists heading homeward from the Seattle World's fair.

It derailed at a speed of more than 75 miles an hour after rounding a curve and starting down a canyon grade on Evaro Hill 16 miles north of here.

Killed was Theresa Ann Dooms, 2½, of Ekalaka, Mont. Sixty-eight other passengers were confined to Missoula hospitals last night. The remaining injured were treated for minor injuries and released.

The dead girl's two stepsisters, Roberta and Jacqueline Yates, were rescued by fellow passengers. They were hospitalized, as was their mother, Mrs. James B. Yates.

An Allen Park, Mich., youth, returning home from Oregon State University on the train, telephoned his family yesterday that he had escaped uninjured.

Dan Lebenta, 19, told his mother he was "a little shaken up."

An official estimate gave the train's speed at "more than 70 miles an hour" in an area where the recommended speed is 30 m.p.h.

The railroad spokesman, W. A. MacKenzie, said the reason for the "considerably excessive" speed could have been "brake failure or human failure."

Investigators from the railroad and Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) were at the scene to attempt to determine the exact cause of the accident.

Producer of Film 'Cleopatra' in Salary Dispute

ROME (AP) — Walter Wanger, producer of the troubled movie "Cleopatra," said today he and 20th Century-Fox studios are in a dispute over his salary and expenses.

But he denied he had been fired and said: "I am not going to be pushed around. I remain in charge of production here, and I will complete the movie."

Wanger was commenting on a report in the New York Post that he had been taken off salary because of delays in finishing the movie, a spectacular expected to cost between $20 and $30 million.

Ah, These Mechanical Marvels . . .

Your Rent Is Due; Kindly Place in Slot 4A

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hardly a week goes by any more that some company doesn't contribute to man's decline by bringing out a new type of electronic computer.

In fact, these so-called "memory" devices are coming on the market so fast it takes a computer to keep track of the names and numbers of the other computers.

This week's model, which went on display here today, is called "Cris." A product of the Information Retrieval Corp., it is billed as being "desk-sized."

It stores more than half a million pages of microfilmed data in a box no bigger than a loaf of bread. I assume than in emergencies it could even be used as a bread box.

* * *

The desk-size computer comes on the heels of a computing machine called the "Automated Realty Services Plan." Its purpose is to replace landlords, which in some ways could be a blessing.

It supposedly performs all of the functions that a landlord performs, like notifying you that the rent is overdue.

The literature I have doesn't make clear, however, whether it puts poor widows out into the street on snowy nights.

AH, FORGET IT

The electronic landlord apparently has one major advantage over the human variety. When you complain that your apartment isn't getting enough heat, it merely ignores your protest without giving you a lot of lip.

Another new type of computer, fortunately still in the experimental stage, may eventually replace the office secretary.

If it pans out, it will take dictation, translate the phonetic sounds into writing and type out the words without so much as a misplaced comma.

The only drawback is, it can't sit on the boss' lap.

* * *

In view of the havoc that computers are creating, you might be interested in knowing who started it all.

According to the Smithsonian Institution, which recently did some research on the subject, the culprit is a certain Charles Babbage, a professor at Cambridge University in England during the middle of the last century.

Babbage drew up a design for a computing device which was too complex for the technical skills of that day. Only part of the machine was built, but it was responsible for much that came later.

HAD LOTS TO DO

Any way you look at it, Babbage was a busy little man. In addition to designing the first computer, he is the genius who invented the cowcatcher for locomotives.

He likewise left his imprint on history as the first man to cross a railroad viaduct in a handcar.

Claims Negroes Victims of Love

Black Muslim Leader Says All He Wants Is Racial Separation

DETROIT (UPI) — Elijah Muhammad, referred to by his Black Muslim cult as "the apostle of Allah," told 3,000 of his followers and guests here yesterday that the American Negro is the victim of unrequited love.

* * *

Muhammad said that no people so love their aggressors as the American Negroes love the white man.

The leader of the nation's Black Muslims addressed the mass rally at Olympia Stadium, sponsored by Muhammad's Temple of Islam No. 1.

He said that it was not right that white people should charge him with preaching hate when they are guilty of hate themselves. He added that he had never taught the black man to hate the white man.

He said—in a speech lasting two hours—that all he wants is that the Negro and white should be separated.

The Muslim group claims a membership of half-a-million persons.

Friends Giving U.S. Statesmen Trouble

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It would be understandable these days if U.S. statesmen were in a snappish mood, like men confronted by the incomprehensible.

The way the news has been looking, the statesmen could easily get the impression that the only comforting news comes from Moscow.

The Soviet government is up to its ears in economic trouble. It has had to boost food prices sharply and then make embarrassing explanations to its public.

Russian youngsters are becoming worrisome, as if infected by something that old Bolsheviks might well call creeping capitalism.

The Russians have trouble with their rambunctious Chinese allies and with little Albania.

But what's happening elsewhere?

The United States has its own trouble with its fractious friends.

President Charles De Gaulle's government, still in a mess with Algeria, has its own ideas about how the North Atlantic Alliance should operate, and tends to be unruly.

The West Germans are peeved whenever the United States seems to want to talk to the Russians about Berlin instead of threatening to toss rockets at them.

The British can't seem to make up their minds whether to get into the Common Market or stay out of it.

The United States, devoutly endorsing the Common Market as the wave of the future, finds the arrangement getting in its hair, what with tariff retaliation whenever the Americans insist on protecting their own domestic industries.

The news from Southeast Asia is increasingly dolorous. In Indochina, Laos seems to be withering on the vine, and the Communists won't give South Viet Nam any rest.

India is angry at the United States because of its military support of Pakistan, which is allied with Washington in the Central Treaty Organization. So India dickers with the Russians for supersonic jet fighters. But since Red China is angry at India, it is making friendly gestures toward Pakistan, supporting the Pakistani claim to Kashmir and offering—of all things — economic help to Pakistan.

* * *

Syria is talking all over again about federation with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. That has the scent of trouble to it, because the Syrians usually don't talk that way unless they're afraid of something else.

In South America, the Alliance for Progress doesn't seem to be going places. Reforms—tax, land, administrative and the like—seem to languish or get lost in committees or just remain in the talking stage.

* * *

Crisis or the threat of crisis hovers over a half-dozen Latin countries, and painful embarrassment for the United States lurks around almost every corner.

Maybe if the United States had only Russia to deal with, and Russia had only the United States to deal with, things might be a bit easier for statesmen on both sides of the fence.

* * *

Sometimes it just seems as if it's their friends who are driving them toward the psychiatric couches.

Canada Determined to Keep Dollar Ratio

OTTAWA (AP) —Finance Minister Donald M. Fleming said Sunday night Canada will not consider any change from the present Canadian dollar exchange rate of 92½ cents to the U.S. dollar.

* * *

Fleming said in a statement: "We are determined to maintain the 92½-cent rate against pressures of any sort."

* * *

Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton was quoted by newsmen, Friday as saying that he supports a further devaluation of the dollar exchange rate to 90 cents. He said the 92½-cent rate, established May 3, was in effect a compromise among Cabinet members and asserted the 90-cent level is "a natural peg which is feasible with our negative trade balance."

Ends War Against Withholding Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Savings & Loan League has broken off its battle against a withholding tax on interest and dividends—a key provision of President Kennedy's tax reform bill.

The group had been one of the strongest opponents of the withholding plan, but a Treasury spokesman said Sunday the league had written Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon that it was dropping its opposition.

The tax bill has been passed by the House and is now being studied by the Senate Finance Committee where it is under sharp attack.

★ ★ ★

The league was a principal source of thousands of letters written to Congress members by savings and loan officials and depositors urging elimination of the withholding provision.

REBUKED BY JFK

The campaign brought a rebuke from Kennedy at a news conference May 9. He said the mail reaching the White House and the Capitol indicated a great number of people have been badly misinformed by advertisements and circulars financed by savings and loan associations, banks and other groups.

But whether the league's change in policy will give the tax revision bill a boost was questionable.

Last week it was reported to be in deep trouble in the Senate Finance Committee. Its chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, opposes the withholding plan and the other key provision, tax credits for plant and equipment modernization.

Unofficial counts indicated there were not enough votes in the committee to get the bill, as it stands now, reported favorably.

And some of the senators are against it because of letters from home opposing the withholding tax.

What caused the league's about face? One Senate informant said the league decided it was better to support the present bill, even with the withholding provision, than to chance possibly a stiffer bill later.

The league reportedly was concerned that if the savings and loan industry was held responsible for defeat of Kennedy's tax revision bill, the administration might propose much higher taxes on savings and loan associations and mutual fund banks.

TAX CUT

As part of the bill, the administration originally proposed that savings and loan associations eventually be taxed about $500 million a year, compared with current payments of about $9 million.

But the tax was slashed in the House Ways and Means Committee to about $200 million a year.

The aim of the withholding provision is to insure collection of income taxes on dividends and interest. The Treasury has estimated that it is losing about a billion dollars a year in such unreported income.

★ ★ ★

The withholding tax is designed to offset a $1.2-billion loss in revenue that would be lost under the tax incentive to businessmen and farmers to buy new equipment and machinery.

Kennedy has called this tax incentive proposal one of the first big steps needed to put new life into the nation's economy.

Free Toothbrush for Tots

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—After a wrangle over the cost, the city health committee voted 5-4 to spend 450 pounds $1,260 to provide a free toothbrush for each child at age 2 in this Scot capital. Officials estimate the money will buy 10,000 brushes.

JFK's Influence Helped Ted Win Endorsement

Flashing the traditional KENNEDY smile, TED, the youngest of the now-famous clan continued to uphold his family's political savvy by winning the endorsement of the Massachusetts Democrats.

He is seeking the seat his older brother formerly held in the United States Senate. It could also be said that his opponent, Edward J. McCormack Jr., had a fair to middling name since he is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

★ ★ ★

The loser can still enter the primary in the fall, and each had indicated he would if the party failed to support him. However, we can't help but think this is futile effort at best.

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt but what presidential influence reached back home to Massachusetts with a helping hand for brother TED. Certainly this was natural, yet it was bound to have a great effect on the delegates.

★ ★ ★

And at the same time, it may just affect the House Speaker and his willingness to fight for JFK's measures in the House.

Unquestionably, TEDDY is now in the driver's seat and his chances for election look good. Like another famous and controversial name in the 30s, this one will be around for a long time.

Commuters Too Busy to Notice Male Models

Commuters are a hardy bunch. Their ability to withstand adverse conditions makes us wonder why none of them has been selected for astronaut work.

★ ★ ★

New York commuters are the elite, from the standards of daily trials. The latest wrinkle there is the brainstorm of a men's fashion firm to have six male models, decked out in the latest toggery, parade through the cars one recent morning.

★ ★ ★

The reception these models got is easily anticipated. Very few commuters looked up from their newspapers, puzzles, stock tables and bridge games. The few women aboard stood up to get a better look, but life went on as usual.

The usual delay occurred, this time a derailment.

We submit that six pachyderms prancing through the cars playing hopscotch wouldn't penetrate the mental isolation of the typical NY commuter.

Country's Gold Reserve Continues to Decline

The Nation's gold reserve stockpile at Fort Knox has steadily declined since 1949, when it stood at $24.5 billion. Today it is down to $16.5 billion.

But on balance, after offsetting foreign claims against U.S. gold of $20.4 billions, we are actually nearly $4 billion in the red.

★ ★ ★

This situation, though not yet downright critical, is viewed most seriously by economists and Administration functionaries concerned with maintaining the stability of our dollar.

★ ★ ★

The reason for the shrinkage in our monetary bulwark is that the annual deficit in our foreign operations has been running at a $1.5 billion rate, and must be met by the transfer of gold abroad.

★ ★ ★

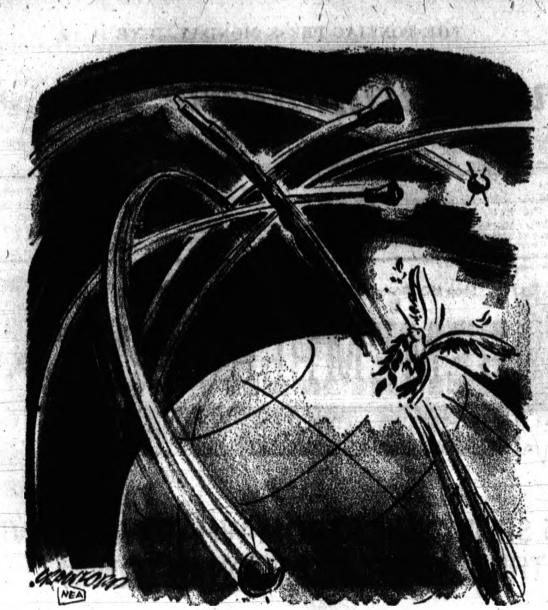

Contributing to this deficit are:

- The magnitude of our military and civilian direct aid programs to foreign countries — economically a one-way street.
- Diminishing excess of exports over imports of commodities.
- Increase of investment abroad by American industry, thus setting up "dollar demands" against our gold.
- The maintenance abroad of our huge army of military and civilian agents administering our diverse foreign aid programs and expanding installations.

These are the tangible causes of our deteriorating foreign exchange position. But for the immediate future, another force — relatively intangible but nonetheless perilous — must be reckoned with. This is the possibility of an accelerating "flight from the dollar" resulting from liquidation of large concentrations of American securities by holders abroad, due to mounting distrust of the Administration's domestic fiscal policies with their emphasis on spending, budgetary deficits and rising national debt.

Thus, sound fiscal attitudes — presently not evident in Washington — are imperative not only to our domestic well-being but to the maintenance of our global preeminence as well.

Green Thumb Grows Record Green Corn

One of my field men reports that the North Star Golden Bantam corn of both of Pontiac Fire Department's Station 4, for the fine job done recently in staging the Metropolitan Club's Matinee for children at Central High Auditorium. The show, sponsored by local businessmen and others interested, featured Poopdeck Pail (of "Popeye" fame) and six other acts.

Is there anything the lowly male can do about this feminine tendency to clutter up the bathroom with an assortment of personal equipment, spare parts, et cetera? . . . The MAT doubts it.

The proceeds went to the Club's welfare fund, swelled each year by its familiar Christmas Goodfellow Newspaper Drive.

This, signed E. R. B., speaks for itself:

As a speeding car approached the Kingsley, a small kitten was pitched out. It struck the pavement, went end over end and screamed horribly in pain. In a few seconds another was heaved from the same car and it was hit unavoidably by a following car.

The second automobile took out after the death trap driver and the last I saw, he had forced the kitten killer off the road and was delivering a thundering lecture. (I hope it ended up with more.)

This second driver should report the whole affair to the S.P.C.A. for prompt court action. I think the kitten killer was driving a Ford station wagon.

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Economics Purely Politics

WASHINGTON — Small wonder that many businessmen fear that a severe crisis in our economic life may come in the next several months.

The Administration evidently is determined that "spending as usual" by Government for all manner of projects must go on, and that "wage increases as usual" likewise must continue.

LAWRENCE

But the most important force in the economy is being prevented from operating under the rules of sound economics. Business management is still threatened with reprisals from the government if it tries to raise its prices to cover increasing wage costs and also to earn a fair profit.

A free economy cannot operate very long that way.

The promise by the President of a tax cut is likely to aggravate rather than remedy the situation. Already the demagogues in Congress are articulate.

They say they oppose any reduction in the higher brackets and wish to confine all the benefits to the lower income groups.

SAME OLD STORY

It's the same old story hereabouts — politics supercedes economics all around. Similarly, there is already an antagonism in Congress among the Democrats to any reduction in the corporate tax rates, which now are at a 52 per cent level.

Mr. Kennedy promises a tax cut "across-the-board" effective next January.

The bill, however, may not be passed until March or April of 1963, or even later. It will take Congress that long to debate the highly complicated tax measure which will be forthcoming.

★ ★ ★

For the law isn't to be devoted just to rate changes. The gimmick now is to close "loopholes" and thus theoretically to increase tax revenues to offset the so-called relief to be given by the drop of a few percentage points in the rates in all income brackets.

Already some of the senators on the Democratic side have pointed out that a drop of one percentage point in the upper brackets involves tens of thousands of dollars for an individual, while a drop of a point to a man of low income means only a few dollars in savings.

Hence, it is argued that the whole saving should be given to the people in the lower brackets.

NOT HELPING SYSTEM

What is wrong with this theory, of course, is that the individuals to whom the nation looks for funds to finance industry's expansion aren't getting enough money now after taxes to help the free-enterprise system expand as it should.

Nor will they be getting it under the proposed tax changes if the demagogues have their way.

The administration vaguely promises to revise the rules of tax depreciation, as if this alone would do the job. But these are highly technical changes that may take the managers of American business in various industries two or three years to absorb.

★ ★ ★

The real difficulty is that the per cent of profit to sales is not high enough and that surpluses aren't being built up to enable companies to finance a large part of their own requirements for the future.

Meanwhile, the Administration —although claiming it wishes to bring back more dividends from abroad — has proposed changes in taxing American plants overseas, which actually can cause a stoppage of the flow of dividend money to America, and hence a drop in tax revenue.

This could have an adverse effect on the balance of international payments, which is causing so much apprehension about the future gold value of the dollar.

FAILED IN SUPPORT

Thus, the Administration has failed to support the sound principles that permit a fair margin of profit to be earned.

Unless this tide is reversed soon, the discouragement now prevalent will result in a depression — perhaps not as severe as in the 1930s but in some respects of the same intensity.

Yet President Kennedy still seems unaware of what his continued indifference to the labor-cost problem is doing to the economy.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Airplane Travel Safe for Pregnant Women

Q — Our daughter is traveling in Africa with her husband who is conducting an agricultural survey. She has just become pregnant and was told by the doctor who examined her that she may have to have a Caesarean section.

★ ★ ★

If this is so, she wants to return to the states for the operation. But she also wants to be with her husband as long as it is safe and possible.

How far along in a pregnancy is it safe for her to fly back? And how soon may she and her baby return to Africa?

A — According to the latest ruling by the Aerospace Medical Association's committee on medical criteria for passenger flying, any woman in a pregnant condition shall be accepted from the beginning of the first month on through to the end of the eighth month of gestation without question.

Any woman in the ninth or last month of her pregnancy shall be accepted who can furnish a certificate from an obstetrician dated within 72 hours of departure stating that he has examined her and found her to be physically fit for transportation.

MUST ESTIMATE TIME

The doctor must also record the estimated date of delivery.

As to the baby, the committee has ruled that "beyond the age of seven days to two weeks, infants with normal cardiorespiratory systems (heart and lungs) should experience no trouble."

Q—Can you tell me something about those food supplements so highly recommended by radio commentators?

A — The Food and Drug Administration, a branch of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has just brought its first court action against misbranding caused by radio broadcasts.

The action was directed against a company, charging that its 43 food supplement products "failed to bear adequate directions for treating numerous diseases and conditions for which they were recommended in radio lectures . . ."

★ ★ ★

The government maintained that these 43 products were recommended for "such conditions as respiratory and circulatory diseases, club feet, multiple sclerosis, sexual frigidity, cerebral palsy, tooth decay, grey hair, heart troubles, strokes and others."

'Teaching Methods Greatly Improved'

As an ex-school teacher and mother of three, I ask Mrs. Keith if she has compared her children's progress in reading with others? Did she find all children experiencing the same difficulty?

★ ★ ★

Some learn early with little effort and relatively little instruction. Other children learn at a later age. Many factors influence skill in reading, namely: physical, mental and emotional maturity; interest; the family's attitude toward books; and the ability of the teacher to develop reading skills and to arouse the desire.

My observation of today's alert children indicates the majority read more and read with greater comprehension than did my own classmates.

★ ★ ★

My own children's experiences with the new arithmetic have been most gratifying. Facts I learned by rote they learn with meaning, learn more easily and remember longer. My children's teachers are better trained and better qualified and more interested in children.

'State Could Benefit Through Gambling'

I quite agree with the article about Michigan having a lottery. Once before this was mentioned and higher ups in Lansing said it was gambling. What do you do at the race track?

Instead of taxing the people to the hilt, why not try to get us out of the mess with a lottery twice a year? If some people do not believe, they can leave it alone, and the gain would help them anway.

Gambling will always go on so why not get some benefit? We're sick of more and more taxes.

Today is Monday, June 11, the 162nd day of the year with 203 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1910, the Printers' Association of America decided to campaign against the portrayal of women's skirts on billboards.

In 1920, Sen. Warren Harding of Ohio learned he would be the Republican party's nominee for president.

In 1927, Charles Lindbergh was welcomed home in Washington, D. C., after his flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

In Washington:

U. S. Reds Make Good Cover Up

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Running down active Communist, Communist - dominated, Communist - infiltrated, Communist front and fellow-traveling affiliates in the United States today is a frustrating business.

Investigation reveals that Communist organizations in the United States — definitely low on finances and members, harassed by the government as well as by American public opinion and the anti-Communist right wingers — are pursuing evasive, underground tactics that make them hard to catch.

EDSON

They continue operations by creating confusion through legal delays that tie up court cases and thwart government agencies charged with forcing the Communist party, its subsidiary organizations and members to register.

Old Commie organizations that have been exposed or whose purposes have been accomplished go out of business. They change their names and officers. They keep no records.

Fly-by-night committees for this or against that are organized without members for the sole purpose of propagandizing some pet Communist cause of the moment. As soon as these groups and their purposes are shown up, they fold.

★ ★ ★

When the Communist party of the United States held its last convention in New York, Dec. 10-13, 1959, General Secretary Gus Hall said it had 10,000 members. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy recently confirmed this figure. The members are concentrated in the New York, Chicago-Detroit and Pacific Coast areas. The party claims it's broke.

In the World War II years when the U.S. and U.S.S.R. were allied against the Axis powers, Communist party's late National Chairman William Z. Foster claimed 100,000 members. Actually it never got much over 80,000.

The first impression drawn from this decline is that the anti-Communist crusade in America is beginning to pay off. But Communist lawyers are using every trick of their trade to thwart laws, regulations and court decisions intended to keep the party under control or obliterate it.

So the battle to force Communist organizations to register and disclose their membership is by no means won.

★ ★ ★

Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional committee that Federal Bureau of Investigation now has under surveillance approximately 200 known and suspected Communist - controlled or Communist-infiltrated groups.

For policy reasons he cannot give out the full list. To do so would break cover on some organizations that do not now know they are being watched.

There are official records on over 1,000 United States organizations connected with the Communist movement since 1917. Most of them are now disbanded or no longer active.

But it is possible to identify some of the newer organizations that have come out in the open and disclosed themselves as Communist. In the list are:

Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties.

Advance, an Organization for Progressive Youth.

Progressive Youth Organizing Committee.

New York School for Marxist Studies.

The Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

Gus Hall-Benjamin J. Davis Defense Committee.

Some 40 other organizations have been cited in various ways by government agencies. Department of Justice has filed petitions with the Subversive Activities Control Board, asking that hearings be held on 24 organizations.

Twenty-one others — including four of the above 24 — have been the subject of hearings before the Committee.

The attorney general's list of organizations compiled under the internal security Executive Order 10450 contains the names of 11 groups active today, most of them duplicated on the other lists.

Identity of these organizations and the work of the government agencies investigating them will be reviewed in succeeding columns in this series.

Almost Beat Lindbergh

Recall Atlantic Flight

WESTHAMPTON BEACH, N.Y. (AP)—The man who piloted the first transatlantic passenger flight got together Sunday with his passenger for the first time in 34 years. One of the things they hashed over was how they just missed beating Charles A. Lindbergh.

★ ★ ★

"We were ready before Lindbergh but because of the weather we didn't go and Lindbergh did," said Charles A. Levine, the passenger in the single-engine Wright-Bellanca monoplane that spanned the Atlantic June 4-6, 1927.

Lindbergh's historic solo hop from New York to Paris was on May 20-21 of that year.

Levine and his pilot, Clarence Duncan Chamberlain, took off from Roosevelt Field, Long Island—the spot Lindbergh started his transatlantic run—and landed in a wheat field at Eisleben, Germany, 3,911 miles, 42 hours and 45 minutes later. That was 300 miles longer than the Lindbergh flight.

★ ★ ★

Elmo N. Pickerill, of Mineola, N.Y., president of the Long Island Early Fliers Club, arranged for Chamberlain and Levine to get together at a regular monthly meeting of the club. They hadn't seen each other since 1928.

Bus Patronage Breaks 80,000 Again in May

Bus patronage in Pontiac broke the 80,000 mark again last month, something that was rare a year ago.

There were 82,401 passengers on buses here in May, about 3,000 more than the 79,048 recorded in April, according to Neel B. Philson, general manager of Pontiac Transit Corp.

Last month's total was well above the May 1961 passenger count of 71,091. The corporation's all time high was 88,508 in March this year.

In addition, May revenue was about $1,400 higher than the same month a year ago. Buses drove 42,429 miles last month and used about 7,032 gallons of gas.

GOP Counting on Estes, Stock Slump

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Republicans are counting heavily on uneasiness in the stock market and the Billie Sol Estes scandal to help them win control of the House in the November election.

Members of the Republican National Committee open formal sessions today with far more optimistic feelings about the election results than they had a month ago.

National Chairman William E. Miller put this feeling into words when he told a gathering of Young Republicans: "We have the issues on our side this time. We are going to win in November."

The issues, as spelled out by Miller and other committee members, revolve around what they called a lack of confidence by the business community in President Kennedy—as exemplified by the stock market's gyrations—a reputed effort by the President to enlarge executive power and a new GOP slogan that there are "too many Kennedys in government."

* * *

Fred Scribner of Maine, the committee's general counsel, said a national party survey indicates the people in general "are not nearly as happy as they were with the way the country is being run."

Individual committee members reported a lift in Republican spirits, most of which was due to what they said was adverse reaction to Kennedy's steel price roll back tactics. Several mentioned the revelations concerning Estes' manipulations in grain storage and cotton acreage allotments in Texas as being likely to damage Democrats.

SEES BIG VICTORY

A typical report came from South Dakota committeeman Carroll Lockhart, whose state was honored at a World's Fair ceremony Sunday.

"The antiadministration feeling in our state is so strong that I believe we are going to have a substantial victory there in November," Lockhart said.

* * *

Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., is being opposed for re-election in the general election by George McGovern, who quit as head of the Food for Peace program to make the race.

'KEP TO THE JAIL'

Emphasizing GOP interest in the Estes case, Miller followed the line of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in noting that the Democrats have control of all of the legislative and executive investigating machinery. To top this off, he said, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, "has the keys to the jail."

* * *

"Unless we Republicans gain control of the House, there will never be a full investigation of the Estes case or of any other scandal in this administration," Miller said.

PREDICTS VICTORY

The GOP chairman joined other Republicans in attacks on Edward Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate in Massachusetts.

* * *

Besides winning control of the House, Miller forecast the Republicans will re-elect Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York and Gov. John A. Volpe in Massachusetts.

* * *

He predicted former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will defeat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in California. Miller also foresaw the replacement of Democrats by Republican governors in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Nebraska.

Emergencies Will Be Cool at Pontiac General

Pontiac area residents will be able to have a cool emergency at Pontiac General Hospital before long.

* * *

Work has started on installation of a $16,000 air conditioning system in the emergency department and the system should be ready for use by the end of June, according to Harold B. Euler, administrator.

Low bidder for the job was A. Ebbing & Sons of Pontiac. Three bids were submitted and the low bid was approved by trustees this week.

"The air conditioning will permit the opening of a seven-bed observation or holding area for better patient care, in addition to making the department more comfortable," said Euler.

* * *

"This is now one of the hospital's busiest areas, operating 24 hours a day and serving over 28,000 patients per year."

The Pontiac General Women's Auxiliary is donating $9,000 toward the cost.

Narcotics Law Faces Assault

'63 State Legislature to Be Asked by Judges to Eliminate Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — The 1963 legislature will be asked to eliminate a law which imposes a mandatory sentence for conviction of selling narcotics.

Recorder's court judges said they would urge, in its place, that sentencing be left to the trial judge's discretion.

State law requires a minimum 20-year prison term at present. The judges want the maximum term extended to life.

The 10 judges unanimously agreed the 1952 law has failed to deter drug traffic. They maintained it had become a source of injustice in some cases.

* * *

They said the law "givers judges no leeway" or "it puts innocent people in jail." Some said "it's wrong on principle."

Judge W. McKay Skillman said "this law was designed to get the big fellow but we are only getting the little fellows and it has failed."

Maximum penalty under federal law for narcotics sale is 5 to 10 years.

4 Big Bills to Fill Week for U. S. Senate, House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate and House plunge into a full week of business this week for the first time this year.

A little bit of something for almost everybody but the taxpayers is on an unusually heavy docket.

Two appropriation bills top a group of four big bills in the Senate. They call for an outlay of $48 billion to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting next month and $932 million for the Interior Department. Both have passed the House.

Once they are out of the way, the Senate plans to take up bills dealing with all-channel television and a space communications satellite system. They, too, have passed the House.

EQUAL WAGES

The House starts its week with a bill to take care of women workers. It would provide that women should receive the same pay as men if they do the same work.

Tuesday the House will take up the controversial Fryingpan-Arkansas reclamation project.

That will be followed on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by bills to increase the statutory national debt limit to $308 billion and to write a controversial new farm program.

Committee activity will be highlighted by continuation of the Billie Sol Estes investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee and by renewed wrestling with a general tax bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

NIGHT SPOT PROBE

On Tuesday the Senate Investigations subcommittee will begin peeking into the shady side of night life. It will hear from showgirls, club owners and officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists as it presses an investigation into complaints that racketeers have tieups with some night spots in Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Miami, Tampa and Calumet City, Ill.

To Conduct Study on Dairy Fats in Heart Disease

MADISON (UPI) — The Wisconsin Heart Association has announced plans for research to find the relationship of dairy fats to coronary disease.

Dr. Raymond L. Bice, Milwaukee, the association's incoming president, said he will name a committee of farmers, veterinarians, agricultural scientists and other researchers to examine past studies of the problem and make new studies of its own.

The association authorized the project over the weekend, noting that the state's all-important dairy industry has been jeopardized by suggestions that saturated fats in dairy products may increase cholesterol content of the blood and possibly add to the heart disease hazard.

Yanks, Thais Launch Joint Training Effort

BANGKOK (UPI)—Units of the U.S. joint task force in Thailand and Thai border police today launched a joint training program designed to bolster Trailand's defenses along its vulnerable frontier with Laos.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the training would be conducted at platoon level "to familiarize Thai border police with tactics and weapons used by U.S. forces."

The program will involve two platoons of U.S. Marines who will train with Thai police units near Udorn and Ubol, and two U.S. Army platoons which will train near Chantaburi and Chiengmai.

All four sites are north of Bangkok and within striking distance of the Laotian border.

Con-Con Gives Schools New Coat of Paint

(Editor's Note — This is seventh in a nine-part series by two veteran Associated Press newsmen on Michigan's proposed constitution.)

By GENE SCHROEDER AND A. F. MAHAN

LANSING (AP) — Hot and heavy are most apt words when describing debate on the finance and taxation article of Michigan's proposed constitution.

Some things were voted out, then voted in or maybe voted in and then out. But major earmarking provisions were kept for highways and education.

The new finance and taxation article is highlighted as much by what it prohibits as what it permits.

It would prohibit a graduated income tax by the state or any governmental subdivision; prohibit raising the sales tax above its current 4 per cent level; prohibit after Jan. 1, 1966, assessment of real and personal property at more than 50 per cent of its true cash value.

At times debate on various sections of the article cut sharply across party lines, but a coalition of 35 Democratic cosponsors lost 43-100 a last-minute bid to rewrite this and a series of other controversial articles on which the Republican majority among the constitutional convention's 144 delegates had reached compromise.

* * *

Fair, honest and workable were words applied to the over-all article by Republican advocates. They insisted the convention merely lay the ground rules for a tax structure to be built by the legislature.

Democratic dissidents, however, asserted in a statement:

"The taxation provisions of the proposed new document present no improvements over existing tax provisions and in some instances are more restrictive and regressive than those now in effect.

"Over our vigorous objections the convention has consistently refused to include the principle of taxation according to ability to pay . . . the proposed document demands that in times of economic crisis the state budget must be cut, even though it will cause serious hardship to millions of citizens . . ."

The article begins with these words:

"The legislature shall impose taxes sufficient with other resources to pay the expenses of state government."

PROPERTY TAX

Then it moves into requiring property tax assessments shall be uniform, but not assessed after Jan. 1, 1966, at more than 50 per cent of its true cash value — thus making mandatory what is now practiced by the State Board of Equalization without a constitutional limitation.

After once taking it out, the convention reinserted the now existing 15-mill general limit on property taxes, but provided a local option feature that would permit local units in a county to agree on separate limits which could total as much as 18 mills. The higher limit, however, would be subject to voter veto.

It was provided additionally, too, that the limitation "shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness."

* * *

The general limitation would not be effective, either, in cities, villages or townships where tax limits are fixed by charter.

Next comes the prohibition against an income tax "graduated as to rate or base," which means it would have to be a flat percentage of your income and the next fellow's, regardless of the size of that income.

SALES TAX LID

After that comes the prohibition against a sales tax or more than 4 per cent. Some Democratic delegates tried unsuccessfully to exempt drugs and food altogether from this tax, which now applies to them as well as other items sold at retail.

And after that comes what appeared for a time might be eliminated — earmarking of revenues for specific purposes.

The convention decided to continue dedication of fuel (gasoline) taxes and auto license fees for highway purposes.

It continued earmarking but changed the apportionment of the sales tax, providing that one eighth (instead of one half-cent) should go to cities, villages and townships on a population basis.

It also provided that one-half of the total sales tax shall go "exclusively for the support of public education and school employes' retirement systems" and that "payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law."

The current constitution, except that it doesn't require a scheduled system of payments and thus permits the state to hold back division now and then, provides approximately the same on a four cents per dollar tax.

It specifies that "one-half cent (which amounts to one-eighth of four per cent) shall be returned to local governments and that two cents (instead of one-half) shall be set aside for education.

The earmarking for highways, figured on current revenues, amounts to $200 million; that for schools to $210 million, and that for cities, villages and townships $55 million.

SCRAP SCHOOL FUND

Reversing its field, after earmarking in three areas, the convention then voted to do away with the so-called primary school interest fund.

* * *

Under the present constitution such as the inheritance tax, ad valorem taxes on railroads, telephone and telegraph companies and taxes on foreign insurance companies went into this fund, but the legislature had been required to supplement it annually to meet school needs in excess of earmarked money.

Despite abolition of the fund, the taxes would continue. They yield an estimated $80 million a year.

A $250,000 strait jacket on state borrowing powers is unstrapped by the proposed new constitution.

"To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year (July through the next June), the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes" up to what under current revenue collections would approximate $60 million.

The new limit is "15 per cent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year," but whatever debt is incurred must be repaid within the same fiscal year the money is borrowed.

* * *

The new constitution would provide thus: "Such debts shall be repaid at the time the (undedicated) revenues so pledged are collected, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year."

This short-term money could be borrowed by the legislature for general operating purposes without a vote of the people, but for the state to issue bonds for specific purposes the legislature first must give approval by a two-thirds vote of each house and then a majority of the people must approve in an election.

While no constitutional amendment would be required, as at present, the requirements would be the same: a two-thirds legislative and a majority popular vote.

Authority is continued for the state to lend money to or guarantee bonds of school districts.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

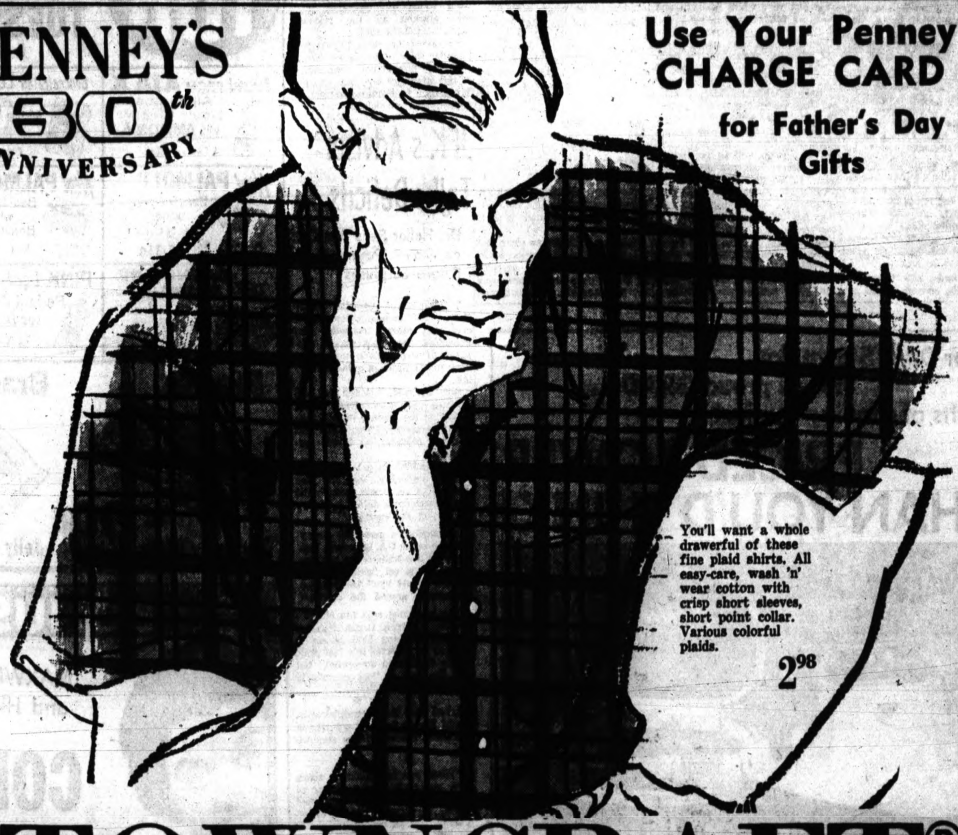

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

To Help Pay for Wage, Benefit Increases

Some Rails Eye Freight Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the nation's railroads, particularly those in the East, are considering moves to boost passenger and freight rates to help pay for new wage and benefit increases for rail workers.

The carriers have just accepted with unions representing about 500,000 off-train workers a settlement recommended by a White House emergency board and estimated to increase carrier labor costs by $105 million.

If unions representing about 200,000 on-train rail employes win a similar wage settlement, the extra labor cost would mount to an estimated $180 million a year, according to the Association of American Railroads.

This total additional expense would not be wholly applied against railroad net income, which ran to the low figure of $382 million in 1961, because carriers earning profits could claim the new labor charges as tax deductible business expenses. But profits would tend to be lower.

The railroads, still in negotiations with the on-train unions over proposals of another White House board to reduce train crews and make other manpower economies to end so-called featherbedding practices, are hopeful of realizing economies. But the prospect is uncertain.

Eastern railroads sustained an estimated loss of nearly $100 million last year while Southern and Western roads fared better.

The Eastern roads may seek to absorb through fares repeal of the 10 per cent excise tax on train tickets that Congress is expected to adopt effective next Jan. 1. Chairman Wilbur K. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee so indicated in House debate last week, although he said he understands Southern and Western roads will let the tax repeal reduce their passenger fares.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the Western Carriers Conference Committee, chief labor negotiator for the industry, indicated some railroads may have to apply for freight rate increases and again may have to reduce their work forces.

Wolfe called the off-train worker labor settlement inflationary, but said Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg advised the carriers that they had no alternative but to accept in the public interest to avoid a strike.

Goldberg said in a statement, however, that the labor settlement seemed to fall within President Kennedy's economic guidelines for noninflationary wage behavior.

Goldberg said the labor increase could be figured at 2 or 2.7 per cent depending on whether the 10.2 cents an hour raise was calculated over the whole contract period, or just part of it. He said the settlement is within the nation's productivity increase rate "and particularly that of the railroad industry which has been running at a rate of 4 per cent a year."

TO INCREASE WAGES

The raise will increase average hourly wages of the off-train workers from an estimated $2.48 to about $2.58.

Goldberg said it was clear that the White House board's settlement recommendations, accepted by the carriers and unions, were not unreasonable. He said that just as the labor demands were reviewed by a competent public board, rail rate increase requests will be given a similar review by the Interstate Commerce Commission or state regulatory bodies.

"There will be a careful and expert review by a public body of the facts relating to price questions which will obviously take into account all the relevant facts," Goldberg said.

He added that such factors will include wage costs, productivity savings, prospective elimination of the passenger fare tax, and the Treasury's forthcoming revision of depreciation schedules.

Father of Seven Wins Degree After 15 Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Andrew Romano, 34, father of seven children, won his bachelor of science degree Sunday at the University of Rochester after 15 years of night school study.

Romano, a junior chemist at Bell & Howell Co., said his wife's patience and understanding helped him see it through. His six daughters and one son range in age from one to 10 years.

Seattle, Wash., was named after a friendly Indian chief of the local Duwamish and Suquamish tribes.

JFK's Adviser Talks Deficits

Dr. Heller Sees Tax Cut as Down Payment on Future Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)— Dr. Walter Heller, the administration's chief economic adviser, concedes that President Kennedy's recent proposal to trim income taxes next year might result in a budget deficit.

But, he said, "If the tax cut were to cause a temporary budget deficit in the process of stimulating the economy, I would call that a down payment on future surpluses."

Heller added, in a television interview yesterday, that the idea that a tax cut would involve the largest peacetime deficit in history "is out of the question."

Presenting a generally rosy picture of the U.S. economy, Heller said that while recovery from recession is not "going as fast as we should like" there is no "recession around the corner."

The economist said the chances of the country's Gross National Product reaching $570 billion in 1962, as he predicted late last year, "have diminished somewhat" but that the goal is "not completely out of the question."

* * *

Asked if the administration would like to see a sharp rise in the stock market, Heller responded:

* * *

"When you talk about a sharp rise, you conjure up a picture of over-speculation . . . unjustified hopes. No, we would not like to see a sharp rise. Of course, we would not like to see a further fall either."

NO 'REVENGE'

As to the possibility that the recent drop in the stock market resulted from deliberate moves by businessmen bent on getting "revenge" on the Kennedy administration, Heller said "we have no such evidence."

He said the rate of unemployment in the United States would not drop to Kennedy's goal of 4 per cent this year, but instead would be nearer 5 per cent. He added he anticipates further improvement in 1963. The present rate is 5.4 per cent.

Red Tape Entangles Marine Trying to Take Orphan 'Home'

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Twelve days ago a United States Marine combat veteran tearfully waved goodbye to a Japanese orphan—his adopted daughter—as his plane left an airport in Japan for this country.

Left behind was 10-year-old Yukie Fukkii Baker, snarled in red tape neither she nor M. Sgt. Stanley G. Baker could understand.

★ ★ ★

Baker, 39, who fought in World War II battles from Guadalcanal to Okinawa and in the Korean War action at Inchon, burst into tears as he talked to a reporter at his home in this Los Angeles suburb.

The child, who lost her real parents two years ago, couldn't understand Baker's explanations the day before he left without her —a day spent bicycling in the country and having a picnic.

YUKIE FUKKII BAKER

TRIED TO EXPLAIN

"I tried to explain it to her," Baker said. "But how can you tell a little girl about laws you can't make sense of yourself?"

★ ★ ★

Baker and his Japanese-born wife, Shizue, 36, decided last year when he was ordered back to Japan for a 14-month duty tour that they would adopt a Japanese child. Mrs. Baker stayed here to keep up the house and get it ready for a child.

★ ★ ★

The sergeant saw Yukie in an orphanage shortly before Christmas.

"I knew right away that was the little girl I wanted to adopt," he said. She was listless and uninterested, but she started to brighten up after he showed her pictures of their dog and cat, their home and Mrs. Baker.

'SO HAPPY SHE CRIED'

"One day I asked her, 'How would you like to come to America and live with us?' She was so happy she cried."

He adopted her in the Yamaguchi Court of Domestic Affairs on Feb. 23, with his wife's power of attorney. Then a hitch developed.

★ ★ ★

Baker said it was because the child must have a visa to enter the United States. Before it can be issued, the California Department of Social Welfare must make a "preadoptive" study to assure the Bakers' suitability as parents.

★ ★ ★

But social welfare officials say they can't make such a study because adoption has already taken place in Japan.

RETIRED JULY 1

Baker retired July 1 after 22 years with the Marines.

Angry and frustrated, he says: "My wife and I love our home here. We don't want to give it up.

★ ★ ★

"But if we have to, we'll move back to Japan so we can live there with our daughter."

Senator in Hospital in Critical Condition

WASHINGTON (AP — Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-N.M., ailing for several months, is in critical condition at Georgetown University Hospital, a spokesman for the hospital said today.

★ ★ ★

Chavez, 74, was admitted to the hospital Saturday. A statement from his physician said he was admitted "for observation." There was no elaboration.

At Chavez' home a daughter, Mrs. Jorge Tristani, said that the senator was sent to the hospital for observation but she added that he was "doing quite well," and probably would return home today or tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

There was no confirmation of a report he had suffered a slight stroke.

Dr. Updegraff Wins Sunnehanna Amateur

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Firing a one-under-par 69, Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., won the Sunnehanna Amateur Golf Tournament Sunday by five strokes.

★ ★ ★

Updegraff finished with a 2-under-par 278 on rounds of 73-66-70-69 at the Sunnehanna Country Club.

Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia, only one stroke behind Updegraff at the end of three rounds, spiraled to a 73 and finished with a 283. That gave him a second place tie with Homero Blancas, leading player on the University of Houston golf team.

Blancas shot a par 70, moving up from a fourth-place tie to the runner-up spot.

★ ★ ★

Blancas' Houston teammate, Fred Marti, fell from sixth place to a three-way tie for eighth at 287 with Mark Hopkins of Texas City, Tex., and Roger McManus of Terrace Park, Ohio.

Kermit Zarley of Yakima, Wash., and Dick Chapman of Miami, Fla., deadlocked for fourth with scores of 284.

Mom Finds Item, Girl Wins Title—All in Five Days

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Last Wednesday a newspaper item caught Alice Lineman's eye — the Miss Pennsylvania semifinals and finals of the Miss Universe contest were to be held in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Lineman told her daughter, Penny, 18, about it. Penny, a brown-haired, brown-eyed bank employe, thought it was just wonderful and said she'd love to enter.

On Thursday Penny phoned officials of the beauty pageant and told them she would like to enter. She did and was accepted.

Sunday night she was chosen from among 15 finalists as Miss Pennsylvania. She will compete in the Miss U.S.A. competition July 7 in Miami Beach Fla.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Relief, doctors say, lies in new laxative principle that re-creates 3 essentials of youthful regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and shrink so they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief.

(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain; (2) helps restore flabby colon muscles with unique rebuilding action; (3) acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight, is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Introductory Size 43¢.

Graham Team Sees Hopeful Signs

Will Chicago Remember Billy?

(Editor's Note — Billy Graham's Chicago crusade has passed the half way mark in a city where revivalists have had rough going in recent years. The following evaluation of the crusade's progress is written by a UPI reporter.)

CHICAGO (UPI) — Billy Graham's team saw hopeful signs today that the results of his Chicago crusade may leave a lasting impression on the city "that Billy Sunday couldn't shut down."

The count for the crusade, now in its second weekend, was an audience of more than 300,000 for the nightly services, and more than 7,000 "decisions for Christ."

The numbers were an almost minimal fraction of Chicago's millions. But the team members saw small — but significant — reasons for their hope.

"Chicago will be the same when Billy leaves," said the Rev. Harold De Vries, pastor of the suburban Winnetka Bible Church and local counseling chairman. "He won't close down any bars and there will still be crime."

"But come back five years from now," the minister said.

"Those persons who have made decisions are as helpless now as a baby leaving the hospital," he said. "There's life there — but it's immature."

* * *

"Give them five years of feeding on the Bible, learning to pray and getting involved with the local church — and you'll see a difference."

Graham's three-week crusade, which began May 30 and is scheduled to end June 17, follows in a trail of great revivals — Dwight Moody in the late 19th century and Billy Sunday shortly after World War I.

Moody's ministry resulted in the establishment of the Moody Memorial Church, one of America's largest congregations, on the near North Side, and a Bible institute and radio station bearing his name.

"And there are people in churches throughout Chicago who first found Christ during the Billy Sunday revival," the Rev. Mr. De Vries said, "or who found Christ through someone who was converted through Sunday."

AWARE OF CRITICISM

Graham and members of his team are aware of the most common criticism of him and his message — that the "decisions" are emotional and not permanent.

"We can have emotion at ball games or at the theater, but if we shed a tear or show a smile in church, someone screams 'overemotion'" Graham said in one of his sermons.

"In my crusades, we have done everything we can to keep down emotion. We allow no outburst, we want things done decently and in order. I tell no tear-jerking stories," he said.

"While I have never subscribed to sensationalism, surface emotionalism or fleshly religious demonstrations, I believe there is a burning need for a return to heartfelt faith in Jesus Christ."

Graham met the press on the day of his arrival. He has appeared on television. Gossip columnists who generally write only of show business people and politicians mention him daily.

* * *

He has taken time out to speak at the Chicago House of Correction to inmates and to fly by helicopter to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, where he spoke to 6,000 sailors. The first Sunday of the crusade, when the auditorium was filled to overflowing with more than 50,000 persons, Graham went outside to speak to those who couldn't get in.

Billy Graham has faith and it is catching. There is a large empty area in front of the blue-draped pulpit from which Graham speaks with an open Bible in his hands.

Nightly the persons responding to Graham's invitation to make a commitment to Christ fill the area and clog the many aisles leading to it for several feet.

Says Freeman Rues Remark

Sen. Mundt Claims Farm Chief Regrets Estes Case Comment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman now wishes he never said that the Billie Sol Estes case was being ballooned out of all proportions, says Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Mundt, senior Republican on the Senate Investigations subcommittee that starts public hearings June 27 on Estes' operations said he discussed the case with Freeman recently for an hour and a half.

★ ★ ★

"He indicated that the first statement that he made to the press—when, he said it was being blown out of all proportion—was one of those statements all of us sometimes make but we wish we could retract, because the thing is a lot more serious than he though it was at the time," said Mundt.

Freeman made the remark at a news conference May 7.

INDICTED IN APRIL

Estes, a West Texas promoter and financier, built a multimillion-dollar business on government grain storage, cotton and sales of fertilizer. He was indicted in April for fraud and he has declared himself bankrupt. The Senate subcommittee and a House group are investigating his operations and whether he received favored treatment from federal officials. Mundt said he had.

★ ★ ★

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a program taped for radio and television stations in New York, Mundt contended the Agriculture Department showed favoritism to Estes by not requiring him to carry an adequate bond for storing government grain.

Estes' bond was set at $700,000 although he was storing grain valued up to $50 million. Agriculture Department officers have testified before the House subcommittee that the bond was based on an inaccurate audit Estes submitted on his net worth.

A plumber bond renewal will also be considered by the board.

Harvard Grad Makes 'Peace Plea'

Yale Honors 'Rival' Kennedy

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — President Kennedy, a 1940 Harvard graduate, said he was particularly glad about the honorary degree awarded him today by Yale University.

He told graduating Elis at the Yale commencement in a prepared speech that a lot of his troubles had been caused by Yale men, and added: "Now that I am a Yale man too, it is time for peace."

Kennedy mentioned a recent "minor disagreement" over steel prices with U.S. Steel President Roger M. Blough of the Yale Law School class of 1931.

He said he had "had some complaints too from my friend Henry Ford, of the class of 1940."

"In journalism, I seem to have a difference with John Hay Whitney, of the class of 1926 — and sometimes I also displease Harry Luce of the class of 1920 — not to mention William F. Buckley Jr. of the class of 1950."

PUBLISHES NY TRIBUNE

Whitney is editor-in-chief and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, recently cut off the list of newspapers this White House subscribes to. Luce directs Time, Inc., and Buckley is editor of the conservative magazine, National Review.

The President said his luck had been better in politics, but added that of late he had had "small arguments" with New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, class of 1933, and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., class of 1938.

"I even have trouble with some of my Yale advisers," Kennedy said.

"I get along with them, but they don't always get along with each other: I have the warmest feelings for Chester Bowles of the class of 1924 and for Dean Acheson of the class of 1915 — but I am not 100 per cent sure that these two wise and experienced Yale men wholly agree with each other on every issue."

Kennedy Writes Article on Trade

Says World Partnership Must Be Developed at Home Despite Injuries

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the United States and Europe must throw off "the false protection of trade barriers" to develop a lasting and prospering free world partnership.

In a foreword written for a special issue of The Forum, a quarterly magazine published by General Electric Co., Kennedy said "broad economic horizons" must be developed at home, regardless of the adjustments needed when tariffs are reduced or eliminated.

★ ★ ★

The magazine also contained a dissent written by Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, ranking Republican on the Senate-House Economic Committee.

The pending administration trade bill would increase unemployment, Bush wrote, and will worsen the deficit in international payments.

The President must be given new authority to negotiate mutual tariff reductions under the Trade Agreements Act, Bush said, because to turn back now "would shake confidence in ourselves and in our free world allies." He added:

"But powers granted the President must be much more limited than he has requested, and Congress should insist upon a veto power over major agreements."

Kennedy's message noted that, for three decades, U. S. trade policy has demonstrated concretely the American purpose of encouraging the drawing together of free nations into "a progressively more cohesive partnership."

"In the years immediately ahead it is our aim to accelerate this trend," the President wrote.

"The formation of the Common Market in Europe, the first diversified mass market outside of our own, makes possible an entirely new dimension in free world cooperation.

★ ★ ★

"Growing together, the two great markets astride the Atlantic, containing as they will 90 per cent of the free world's industrial strength and half a billion customers, can generate the resources and skills to guarantee the economic progress of free peoples everywhere. . ."

Kennedy Is Told Father Improving in Hospital Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy spent 45 minutes with his recuperating father late Sunday and was told that the elder Kennedy had just spent the best two weeks of his lengthy hospitalization for a stroke.

The President was seen pushing his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, in a wheelchair through a garden outside the bungalow he occupies on the grounds of the New York University Medical Center's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Dr. Howard A. Rusk, medical director of the institute, told newsmen the elder Kennedy, 73, had been walking with the aid of a cane and that his speech had improved.

Yugoslavian City Jolted by Quake; Damage Light

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — An earthquake jolted Sarajevo today, sending residents crowding into the streets in panic.

Madam Adler Dies of Cancer

Wrote Book in 1953 on Her Experiences Which Sold 100,000 Copies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Former call house madam Polly Adler, who wrote "A House Is Not a Home" about her experiences, died of cancer Saturday.

Miss Adler, 62, freely admitted in her 1953 book that she spent 25 years running a house of prostitution in New York City.

Miss Adler said she wrote her autobiography because she was left without money by police crackdowns and income tax suits. It sold 100,000 copies.

In the book she told of frequent police raids and of paying thousands in bribes plus entertaining authorities to avoid being put out of business.

She was arrested in 1935 and pleaded guilty to a charge of conducting a disorderly house. She was fined $500 and served 24 days of a 30-day sentence.

A native of Yanow, Russia, she was born Pearl Adler. She became a naturalized citizen in 1929.

When friends offered to help write her book, she turned them down with: "Too many cooks spoil the brothel."

'Electronic Priest' Helps Get FM Station at College

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — When Aquinas College puts its FM radio station WXTO on the air a month hence, much credit will go to one of the few "electronic priests" in the nation.

The Rev. Charles P. Ausberger, newly assigned as assistant to the pastor of St. Thomas Church, is setting up the station's equipment.

"It just happens that this is my hobby," says the young priest who holds a first class FCC license as an amateur radio operator. His hobby continued through his studies for the priesthood at seminaries in Grand Rapids, Detroit and San Antonio, Tex., where he obtained his ham operator's license.

* * *

Fr. Ausberger was ordained a year ago and assigned to St. Thomas in his home city so he would be near his hobby work for Aquinas College.

Adenauer Likely to Reject De Gaulle

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Notes from the foreign news cables:

DE GAULLE-ADENAUER

Watch the forthcoming meeting between French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, which may have an important bearing on future French policy toward the United States.

DeGaulle is seeking to win over Adenauer to the idea of Europe as a third force, a move that could wreck the present Western alliance.

Adenauer is not likely, despite his present irritation with American policies, to risk losing American friendship.

* * *

Therefore, he may seek to dissuade De Gaulle or, at least, to urge him to water down his ambitious plans.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who will be in Paris and Bonn later this month, probably will get the first indication of how things have gone between the two.

DEPOSED GENERAL

Sources in Seoul say former Lt. Gen. Chang do Young, former Korean army chief of staff, may be sent to the United States for study.

Chang formerly headed the military junta that ran the country. But he was toppled by the real powers who ran the country and accused of plotting the ouster of some of the present junta leaders.

He was tried, condemned to death, and then freed after his death sentence was reduced to life imprisonment by strongman Gen. Park Chung Hee.

Park already has sent some other once-powerful generals he forced out of the army to the United States for study, so Chang may follow.

KENNEDY-DE GAULLE

Reports of an early meeting between Presidents Kennedy and De Gaulle can be discounted. Nothing of the sort is cooking.

* * *

It is not yet even sure that De Gaulle will meet with Secretary of State Rusk when he visits Europe at the end of this month.

PAKISTAN WITHDRAWAL

Diplomatic sources in Tokyo say Pakistan is seriously considering withdrawal from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and pursuing a "reluctant neutralist" policy.

The reason: The Pakistan government is miffed because its fellow SEATO members have not supported its stand in the dispute with India over Kashmir.

The sources also said this was the main reason why Pakistan balked at sending troops to Thailand.

INDIA LOAN

Look for the United States soon to announce a loan to India for establishment of that country's first atomic power station.

The project, once believed by Washington to be uneconomical, now has been given an okay after reconsideration of Indian cost factors.

The plant probably will be built near Bombay. Two American firms are reported already to have submitted acceptable bids.

ALGERIAN FLIGHT

French officials are alarmed by the massive flight of refugees from Algeria, now running at a rate of 150,000 monthly.

* * *

Originally, the government had planned for a total of about 400,000 spread over at least a year. But it looks now that it will run much higher.

Brittany has many prehistoric stone monuments, similar to the British Stonehenge. Some of the Breton variety stand in long lines and some are in circles.

Candlelight vows of Ruth Ann Wheatley to John M. Hollenbeck were exchanged Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church. The bride's uncle, Rev. L. L. Gullett, pastor of the Cedar Bluff Social Brethren Church, Harrisburg, Ill., officiated.

The Howard D. Wheatleys of Oakshire Drive, Waterford Township, were hosts at their daughter's reception in the "300 Bowl" in Waterford.

★ ★ ★

White tissue silk faille for the bridal gown featured a dropped bodice and skirt of unpressed pleats falling into a chapel train. Simulated orange blossoms caught the veil of silk illusion. The bride carried white Elegance carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Pale yellow carnations complemented aqua silk organza dresses, for matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Hutchins of Rochester, and Margaret Bateman, bridesmaid. Marsha Jones of Indianapolis attended her cousin as flower girl.

George Blankenship of Neosho, Mo., was best man. Seating guests were Donald Schoene of Maplewood, Mo., and the bride's brother Donald Wheatley of Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

After a northern Michigan honeymoon, Mr. Hollenbeck, a graduate of University of Missouri, will report to Naval Officers' Candidate School, Newport, R. I. His bride is an alumna of Michigan State University. They will live at Athens, Ga.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wheatley appeared in yellow peau de soie and Mrs. Hollenbeck chose pin-tucked imported green voile over silk. Their corsages were yellow cymbidium orchids.

The L. M. Hollenbecks of Sikeston, Mo., parents of the bridegroom, entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests for dinner Friday at Fox and Hounds Inn following the rehearsal.

MRS. NORMAN J. JAMES

Susan Jane Connor, daughter of the Don S. Connors of Orchard Lake and Santa Barbara, Calif., and Norman J. James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil James, Jamestown, N.Y. were wed Saturday at Kirk-in-the-Hills.

At Kirk-in-the-Hills

Susan Connor Wed

The Don S. Connors of Orchard Lake and Santa Barbara, Calif. were hosts at a garden reception Saturday evening following the nuptials of their daughter Susan Jane to Norman J. James, Birmingham at Kirk-in-the-Hills. Dr. Harold C. DeWindt performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony.

★ ★ ★

Pearl - frosted Alencon lace formed the bodice of the bride's sheath gown of candlelight peau de soie designed with cathedral pouf of train. A pearl tiara secured her butterfly veil of illusion and she held white Elegance carnations, stephanotis and white roses.

Honor maid, Sevil Kolankaya of Ankara, Turkey, who lived with the bride's family while an exchange student, wore American Beauty peau de sole. Purple-pink statice and pale pink Elegance carnations comprised her bouquet.

Bridesmaids Marianne Neal and Connie Wales of Detroit, Nancy MacDuff of Orchard Lake and Carole Steller of Hollywood, Calif., wore mauve peau de sole. They held orchid pompons combined with rose and purple statice.

Peter James, Jamestown N.Y., stood as best man for his brother, Herbert James, Cleveland, ushered. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Basil James of Jamestown. James T. Pirkl and Floyd Bunt of Bloomfield Hills, Herbert Haughton of Brighton, Eric Norton Jr. of Madison Heights and the bride's brother Thomas, of Santa Barbara, Calif., completed the usher list.

★ ★ ★

Pink sweetheart roses complemented Mrs. Connor's tiered gown of blue lace over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom chose champagne lace and wore green cymbidium orchids.

Returning from a three-week European honeymoon, the couple will reside in Birmingham. Mr. Connor is a graduate of Pratt Institute, New York City.

★ ★ ★

White orchids complemented white silk chiffon and re-embroidered Alencon lace lined with peau de sole, for the bride. The skirt of unpressed pleats swept into a chapel train. Silk illusion veiling fell from a circlet headpiece.

Call Before Visit or Not?

Clergy Differs on Warning

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Should a clergyman phone in advance of visiting? No. There is too much tidying up and making coffee which turns a minister's call into a social affair when it is intended for deeper than social purposes. I've checked with three other ministers and three housewives and they are all in favor of the unannounced call from the clergy.

ABBY

Sincerely,
Rev. Earl Roadman
(Methodist Minister, Dike, Iowa)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I think people have a right to advance notice when a visitor comes, no matter who that visitor may be.

People like to be received with kindness and in a becoming manner, and surprise visits do not always permit this.

Courtesy should be made easy for a hostess instead of offering a sudden challenge to her ability to receive guests graciously.

Yours sincerely,
The Rt. Rev.
Monsig. J. F. Brady
(St. Patricks' Cathedral, Eau Claire, Wis.)

DEAR ABBY: A clergyman, however well-motivated, presumes too much when he thinks his visit is always welcome under all and any circumstances.

A visit is always more welcome when the hostess has an opportunity to prepare herself. The informal, drop-in type visit sounds folksy and charming, but it is anything but that. In any well-ordered busy household it's an arrogant nuisance. The unexpected visit went out with the quilting bee.

Very truly yours,
Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz,
Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If I had to wait until I was invited, how many homes do you think I would get into? Have you ever tried to phone a dozen people in one day, with a mind to get into their homes, that is?

Pastors should not be put in the same category with salesmen, campaigners, census-takers and strangers. I enjoy your column — most of the time.

PASTOR

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My Dad is a Baptist preacher and I know for a fact that preachers do not have time to call everyone they visit. If people are doing something they want to cover up from the preacher, what are they going to do when Jesus comes?

PREACHER'S DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: Do you know the average clergyman works 14 hours a day, including Saturdays and Sundays? He makes calls between sermon preparations, meetings, civic work, classes, weddings, funerals, hospital calls and counseling.

Everyone thinks his clergyman has nothing to do. How in the world do you expect him to telephone on Tuesday to warn Mrs. X to clean house for Thursday? Besides a clergyman wants to find the real person not an artificial dressed-up one.

Why should he drive himself into a nervous breakdown just to satisfy some house-proud woman?

CLERGYMAN'S WIFE

Newlyweds Suitable Chaperons

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I am 19 years old and have been going with a young man, age 20, for almost a year. Friends of ours (a married couple) have taken a cottage for the summer at the seashore. They have invited us to spend a week's vacation with them.

My parents are objecting on the grounds that the couple are too young (they are around our ages) to be considered suitable chaperons and that it will be improper for my boy friend and me to stay in the same house together.

I always thought a married couple, regardless of their ages, were considered suitable chaperons. Will you please give me your opinion on this matter?

A: Unless they have a reputation of being, let us say, very flighty, your young married friends will be entirely suitable chaperons.

★ ★ ★

Q: Just what flowers am I (the bridegroom) supposed to pay for at my coming wedding? There seems to be a great difference of opinion on this score.

A: The bridegroom always buys the boutonnieres for his ushers as well as his own and that of the best man. In many communities he also buys the bride's bouquet as well as the corsage she wears away.

It is incorrect, however, and very unfair, to expect him to buy the flowers carried by the bridesmaids. And, of course, he never pays for the decoration of the church.

★ ★ ★

Q: When addressing a letter to man who is a junior, how is his name written on the envelope? Should it be Mr. John Smith Jr. or John Smith Jr.? Someone told me that when the suffix Jr. is used, the title Mr. is omitted. Is this true?

A: Mr. John Smith Jr. is correct. The Jr. means that he is the son (or grandson) of a man of the same name, and does not replace the title Mr.

White House Invitations Quite an Operation

Capital's Big 'Domestic Affair:' Guest List

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House draws up its guest lists for its dinner parties from a master list kept in the social office.

The social secretary, Letitia Baldrige, said it will take four years to get all of the prominent personalities on the list invited to a social function at the President's house.

She said that in addition to President Kennedy and the First Lady, other members of the White House inner circle suggest important names to be added to the list.

'MUST' NAMES

In case of state dinners, the guest list includes many "must" names sent over to Miss Baldrige from the State Department's protocol office. This list for state dinners always includes guests from the diplomatic corps, and State Department officials keep tabs on the chief of states' areas. Congressmen and Senators handling legislation dealing with foreign affairs and American business men who have contacts with the country of the visiting head of state also receive invitations.

★ ★ ★

There was a polite denial of a recent item by a New York columnist that the French embassy had a big hand in drawing up the guest list for the White House dinner honoring French Minister of Culture Andre Malreux. There were indications that the implication that others besides the White House were planning the dinners was deeply resented.

Many would like to buy a ticket to a White House party. And many write in asking for the privilege of being invited. No offense is taken — in fact, there is some genuine appreciation on the part of the social office that the country is interested in the President's parties, which now focus the spotlight on the nation's mental giants and creative personalities.

The letters are quite typical. In effect they say, "We hear so much about the White House parties and would love to attend one."

One man wrote in that he was "an average lawyer from the Middle West" and had read of Kennedy's social doings with great interest.

The would-be White House party goers at least get a memento reply back in a White House envelope which says something like "Thank you very much. We'll keep you in mind."

FROM ALL FIELDS

In most cases the theme of the dinner prescribes the guest list. For the Nobel Prize winners dinner, the guests were men and women of achievement from all fields of creativity.

After a big dinner the thank you notes flow in. "We got a wonderful set of letters from the Nobel Prize winners," said Miss Baldrige. She said they were "beautifully phrased" and "very touching."

The White House social season is coming to an end because of the Washington heat. There may be a couple of social doings in connection with state visits this summer. By late September or October the White House will begin the parties again.

Now that she has the wheels rolling to acquire priceless antiques and great American paintings for the White House, the First Lady is going to try to enhance White House history by acquiring a collection of rare books. Mrs. Kennedy has named James T. Badd, Yale University librarian, to form a committee to seek out rare books and folios for the White House library. A library on the ground floor is being refurbished by the Association of Interior Designers.

CRITICISM AROUSED

While the First Lady's quest for antiques, furnishings and paintings has been universally hailed, her plan to fill White House bookshelves with rare books has aroused some criticism. The critics contend that only the First Family will be able to enjoy the great old books some visitors will be barred from picking them off the shelf and dinner guests will have no time to browse.

The critics maintain that putting the rare books in the White House will remove them from the scholar and the public.

Badd, and his committee hope to find donors of books and money to purchase historic items for the library. At present the library boasts mostly modern volumes given to the White House periodically by publishers.

Newswomen always make it a point to note the First Lady's costume when she is in public because of her tremendous influence on fashion. Lately reporters have been barred from covering even picture-taking events where the First Lady poses with her guests before holding a reception or a tea.

Law to Host Dem Dance

State Representative Arthur J. Law will act as official host during the Spring Dance of the Democratic Club of Pontiac Saturday at the Roosevelt Hotel, 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Over 300 tickets have been sold according to general chairman Charlotte Shearer. Tickets may be obtained at County Headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Democrats also plan an Ox Roast Picnic July 29. The picnic will be held at Hawthorne Park. Principal guest will be Michigan's Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Group Holds Birthday Party

Mrs. Asa L. Drury gave the Bible study from the Book of Romans, chapter seven. Guests for the day were Mrs. William Bretzius of Petaluma, Calif.; Mrs. Milton Cooney of Clarkston; and Mrs. T. C. McFetridge.

Energy Crucial to Life

Tired? It Can Ruin You

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Have you ever stopped to think about how feeling tired can affect a life? It may be having a drastic effect on yours right now.

Chronic fatigue can ruin a marriage or a career. Often the brilliant student is bypassed by one who has an average mind but a plus in energy. Studies of the lives of great men reveal that they have or had one characteristic in common—abundant energy which activated creative thinking and goaded them into action.

EXCEPTIONS

Of course, there are exceptions; men who had limited energy or even poor health, but who reached the heights. However, it is interesting to note that these men were acutely aware of the value of energy.

They were careful to utilize what energy they had in constructive ways, and were constantly trying to improve their store of this precious commodity.

For instance, Darwin attributed his success, in part, to the fact that he was quite frail. Because of this he had to learn to avoid any waste of his energy.

Think for a moment what excess energy really means. It is revealed in optimism, in enthusiasm, in good humor, in acute awareness of what is going on around one in personal daily life and in the world as a whole. It is the ingredient which makes it possible to invest in life wholeheartedly.

No matter how much you love people or how many gracious impulses you have, or what fascinating ideas or ambitions, you cannot make them live and sing if you are exhausted. If you are exhausted, life becomes a matter of self-survival.

You cannot be, or it is much more difficult to be, an understanding mother, a thoughtful friend, an intriguing wife or an outstanding success in your job, if you always are tired.

If you are tired most of the time, why not investigate the sources of your weariness? You cannot afford to be tired if you wish to live vibrantly!

More than half of European travelers from the U.S. come from New York, California, Illinois and New Jersey.

'Hi-Infidelity'

Divorce No Help, Makes Problems

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(Editor's Note—A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 instalments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity.")

Divorce solves nothing and evades everything. In its wake are to be found heartache, loneliness and a feeling of personal failure. As a cure, it is worse than the sickness.

I contend that there are no two people in the world who cannot live together in reasonable harmony if they really try. Yet today, in the United States, there are 15 million men and women who are divorced.

NOT A FAIR SHAKE

Divorce only SEEMS to be the "answer" because more people are doing it. Which only means that more people aren't giving their marriages a fair shake.

The mere fact that you're considering a divorce makes it more likely to happen. It's too easy. Put it out of your mind. Never threaten your spouse with divorce. Even if it's the last thing he wants, pride may trigger it into reality.

But there are cases where action is necessary:

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband can't seem to make up his mind as to whether I'm a football or a punching bag. He belts me around for no good reason at all, and usually I can't go anywhere until my eye, nose or leg heals up. Last week I finally had to go to a rented room with two black eyes. Then he cooled off, called me up and said he wanted to bury the hatchet. Should I go back to him?

Sparring Partner

★ ★ ★

A cruel and terrible-tempered man like this may need a psychiatrist. But even in this case, drastic steps can be taken which are still short of the finality of divorce. There is no need for "Sparring Partner" to go back to her husband until she knows where he wants to "bury the hatchet."

★ ★ ★

Although a child needs a father, he also needs a living mother. So separation — living apart for a while — is in order.

★ ★ ★

If divorce makes little sense with respect to adults, it makes less sense when children are involved. At least 4 million American youngsters, under 18, will be affected by divorce this year. They are the innocent, and yet they suffer the most. I hope your child will never have to write a letter like this one:

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please print this in your column for people who are considering divorce. The biggest heartache of my life came when my parents parted. I loved my Daddy so much but never got to see him except for a few hours now and then.

If my parents had been in business and the going got rough they would have worked extra hard to save the business. Yet they didn't save their marriage because they didn't really try. Because of that, I grew up without a Daddy. I missed him, especially at my confirmation, graduation and wedding.

My parents are both nice people, but they didn't have the backbone to save our home. Why do parents bring children into the home and then make half-orphans out of them? I would make lots of sacrifices before I'd hurt my child the way I was hurt.

Mrs. Married For Keeps

★ ★ ★

Your children didn't ask to be brought into this world. But as long as you invited them, don't wreck it for them.

Stomach Cancer Families

Q. Is stomach cancer contagious? Is it inherited?

A. Cancer, stomach or otherwise, is not contagious. The answer to the second question is, "perhaps, in some cases." The most famous "stomach cancer family" was that of Napoleon Bonaparte. His grandfather died of suspected cancer of the stomach. His father, Charles Bonaparte, died at age 39 of the same disease. While the exact nature of Napoleon's illness was not determined, British medical officers concluded that the general's death was due to stomach cancer. Stomach cancer was also suspected as the cause of death of three of his sisters and one of his brothers. Other "stomach cancer families" have been described in medical writings. This suggests, but does not prove, that at least in certain cases, stomach cancer (or a predisposition for it) is inherited.

Miracles Do Happen

Q. Has anyone ever recovered from incurable cancer?

A. Now and then doctors encounter patients who recover in some miraculous and mysterious way. A physician recently related this story. Shortly after going into practice the doctor was consulted by a man in his 60's. Trouble was suspected and an exploratory operation performed. The worst was revealed — extensive, incurable cancer. The patient took the bad news in stride. This was in 1929. In 1961, 32 years after the original diagnosis, the patient, now 92, was struck by an automobile and passed away. An autopsy was performed and not a single remnant of cancer could be found! Incredible? Yes. But true, nevertheless.

Little Make-Up Is Okay, However

Hold That Paint, Powder, Say Teen Boys

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

If a girl wants to wear make-up in addition to lipstick, she can count generally on the approval of boys, as long as she doesn't overdo it, especially in daylight hours.

"Did you ever see a girl in the morning without it?" asked Lindsey Rye, 15, of Russellville, Ark.

Among the 900 young people we talked to, he was with the 70 per cent of the boys who favored make-up. Girls voted for it 97 per cent.

Our researches also confirmed that:

Young men still prefer blondes, and curly blondes at that.

Young women reject long hair for men, prefer crew cuts.

* * *

The most common objection to make-up, as voiced by Elaine Shultz, 17, of Revere, Mass., was:

"It cheapens a girl's appearance."

Only 60 per cent of the boys, against 72 per cent of the girls, thought that schools should not have the right to restrict the amount of make-up a girl may wear.

"If she wants to look like a witch," said Patsy Croker, 14, of Tolono, Ill., "it's her own business." But Carol Busey, 16, of Sadorus, Ill., thought the schools should have a say because "In some cases girls go ape over cosmetics."

WHEN TO START?

The boys were more liberal than the girls, again, on the question of whether girls tend to use too much of the stuff. No, said 57 of the boys as against 44 per cent of the girls.

"The better girls don't show off by putting it on 4 feet thick," commented Stephen Dejor, 17, of Austin, Minn.

When should a girl start using cosmetics? Fourteen was the age most favored by both boys and girls.

"They start looking more like adults then," explained Don Pacetti of Bartow, Fla., from the viewpoint of 17 years.

Most young people frown on girls wearing heavy make-up before nightfall. The girls were against it almost unanimously, and the boys by 86 per cent.

* * *

"It gives boys the wrong idea," said Tim Kelley, 17, of Monticello, Ill.

While half the young people feel that girls generally spend too much on cosmetics, 81 per cent of them think it does improve their looks.

"No matter how beautiful a girl is, a little make-up never hurts," opinioned Kenneth E. Gray, 18, of Huntington Park, Calif.

CRITICIZE HAIRDOS

Jumping from face-dos to hair-dos, we collected some caustic comments on styles that call for "teasing," but found that about 44 per cent of both boys and girls approve them nevertheless.

"I think it makes girls look like frightened porcupines," said Patsy Joker of Tolono, Ill.

"It makes them look like they have a fat head," asserted Larry Patuano, 16, of Detroit.

And Jean Beaird, 17, of Sacramento, Calif., cautioned that "it ruins the hair, splits the ends, and is going out of style."

It also appears that young gentlemen do indeed prefer blondes, especially curly blondes.

Even more of the girls like curly hair. Thirty per cent voted for blondes, 26 per cent for black hair, 19 for brunette, 7 per cent for red and 6 for strawberry blonde.

How about boys' hair?

The long-hair, D.A. style drew a blast, with 79 per cent of the girls putting it down as ugly or worse, and 63 per cent of the boys against it.

The crew cut or flat top was a heads up favorite at 81 per cent.

Know the facts about Health Care for the Aged

The Administration's health care plan now before Congress is not what you may think it is.....

This compulsory plan, the King-Anderson Bill (HR 4222), would NOT provide all the health care the aged need. In fact, it wouldn't provide ANY CARE for many senior citizens...and would cover ONLY ABOUT 25% OF THE COSTS of caring for those eligible under the plan

- This plan would provide no care for the group most in need — the 3,500,000 elderly not covered by social security. Regardless of their health or financial problems, these people would receive no care.
- This plan would not pay for the services of an aged patient's family doctor.
- This plan would not pay for drugs used outside a hospital or nursing home. Furthermore, some commonly used effective drugs would be denied to elderly patients by the King-Anderson bill.
- This plan would not pay all hospital charges. Every patient would have to pay at least $20 and as much as $90 for hospitalization — plus $20 for each complete diagnostic study. While many of the aged could not afford such charges, those who are wealthy or well-to-do could pay these bills . . . get the balance of the cost of hospitalization at the expense of the working people who would be paying increased payroll taxes.

&

FURTHERMORE . . .

The King-Anderson Bill would force all wage-earners and all employers to pay a substantial increase in payroll taxes . . . to buy health care for millions of the self-reliant who can afford to take care of themselves.

In addition, the proposed plan would lower the quality of medical care — with the Federal Government controlling standards of practice in the nation's hospitals.

There is a better way...

LET'S HELP THOSE WHO NEED HELP

We believe all our aged should receive all the health care they need, when they need it.

We favor voluntary programs to help those who need help... to preserve the right of the self-reliant to take care of themselves.

These programs are available now. They include private health insurance and prepayment plans for those who can afford them... the Kerr-Mills Law for helping those among the aged who need help.

- Voluntary health insurance is now available to all of the aged all over America. More than 9,000,000 people over 65 (53% of all our senior citizens) already have it.
- The Kerr-Mills Law enables the individual states to guarantee to every aged American who needs help the health care he requires.
- The Kerr-Mills Law allows each state to provide as wide a variety of health services as it chooses . . . puts no time limit on the individual's eligibility to receive those services.
- By helping only those who need help, the Kerr-Mills Law avoids waste of tax dollars.

MARY'S NOT CONTRARY—As long as she isn't asked to get back into the blue box in which she made her trip from London, England, last week, Shepton's Mistress Mary is ne'er contrary. The old English sheepdog likes her new owner, Susan Swanson, 6 (left) and her sister, Heidi, 4, of 3178 Shimmons Road., Pontiac Township, just fine even though she isn't accustomed to their strange American accents yet.

Jet Brings Happiness to 2 Little Area Girls

By JIM DYGERT

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Susan Swanson, 6, and her sister, Heidi, 4, hardly could wait any longer.

They already had waited two years for this moment, and their excitement knew no bounds. They jumped and waved and shouted as the big blue box was carried to the terminal.

They had been shouting, "Hi, Mary! Welcome to the United States," ever since the big jet airliner from London had touched down at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Now they had to wait even longer while a U.S. Public Health Service inspector and customs officials checked Mary and her credentials. Susan and Heidi, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald O. Swanson, 3178 Shimmons Road, hardly could stand it.

★ ★ ★

The big moment finally came. The door of the box was opened and out trotted Mary, more properly known, old chap, as "Shepton's Mistress Mary," a 3-month-old English sheepdog.

LONG DAY

It was 9 p.m. Thursday when Mary arrived, exhausted by her seven-hour plane trip and the 3½-hour train ride from the Shepton Kennels at Shepton Mallet, Somerset, to London.

★ ★ ★

The "doggie express" operated by livestock shipping agents J. A. Peden and Co. put her aboard the jet.

By noon of the next day, dozens of envious people had offered to buy Mary, but the two little girls were not about to part with the lovable, shaggy-haired, black and white puppy they had worked and saved two years to get.

It all began, really, when Mrs. Swanson began raising sheep as a hobby about four years ago. With a flock of 56 now, she and her husband are looking for a larger place. They already have ordered a male and plan to breed Old English sheepdogs.

★ ★ ★

About two years ago, Susan and Heidi saw a pair of Old English sheepdogs on the Captain Kangaroo television show. Right then they knew they had to have one.

They were given lambs to bottle-feed for the market. Proceeds went into their "dog bank," as did earnings from their pumpkin crop and apple picking and Christmas and birthday money.

Mrs. Swanson could find only six breeders in this country, and they all wanted from $400 to $450 a dog. She wrote to 15 kennels in England and was referred by most of them to Shepton Kennels. Mrs. Swanson ordered a high quality show dof, a female, the pick of the litter.

PARENTS PAY

Mary's transportation cost more than Mary, slightly over $85 for the trip, slightly under for the dog. What the two little girls don't know is that their money is still in a bank. Their parents paid for the pet.

Susan and Heidi will help groom Mary as a show dog. Mary is scheduled to begin obedience school Sept. 15.

As might be expected, Mary is impeccably British. When British pilots spoke to her at the airport with their unmistakable accents, Mary trotted over to them and lay down at their feet.

★ ★ ★

And Mary's menu, composed mainly of raw meat, includes, naturally, a couple of tea times every day.

Charges Retarded Patients Used to Care for Inmates

DETROIT (AP) —The secretary of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children has charged patients with 6-year-old mentalities are used to care for other patients in Michigan's institutions for the retarded.

Mrs. Kermit Charron accused the legislature of causing the situation. "Each year," she said, "the legislature perpetuates a system of stuffing human beings into a storehouse."

The medical superintendent at Lapeer State Home and Training School, Dr. Anthony M. Abruzzo, basically agreed with Mrs. Charron's statements.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Azruzzo said "It is true we're tremendously short-staffed. The ratio now is one employe to 3.5 patients. It should be one to two."

INCLUDED IN STATEMENTS

The Lapeer home and the Coldwater home were included in Mrs. Charron's statements. A spokesman at Coldwater said "We are short of employes because of budgetary limitations but we use relatively little patient help."

Abruzzo said 198 patients at Lapeer, "under supervision," are involved in the direct care of other patients.

Mrs. Charron said the legislature's proposed appropriation "actually represents a cut," even though it is one million dollars above last year.

★ ★ ★

Because of additional patients and an automatic step-up in civil service pay, the budget is $639 short of matching the current figure per patient, she said.

In Lake Orion Church

Beal Vows Spoken

ORION TOWNSHIP — White gladioli and carnations graced the altar of Community Bible Church, Lake Orion, Friday evening for the wedding of Carol Ann Hassenzahl and Morris Ray Beal. Rev. Marie Rundell read the candlelight service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Hassenzahl, 776 Lake Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Cecil R. Beal of Gray, Maine, and the late Mr. Beal.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of rosepointe lace over taffeta, featuring a Sabrina neckline of scalloped lace accented with seed pearls and sequins and short, shirred sleeves. The bouffant skirt cascaded into a chapel train.

A sequin and pearl studded tiara held her fingertip veil of French illusion, and she carried a spray of white carnations centered with a removable corsage of yellow roses on a Bible.

Mrs. Dale J. Hassenzahl attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Rosalie Beal of Gray, Maine, sister of the bridegroom, and flower girl, Rosemary Bartlebaugh of Drayton Plains, cousin of the bride.

Serving as best man was Gary Herne of New York. The guests were seated by Dale J. Hassenzahl, brother of the bride, Arthur Miles Jr. of Clarkston, Jack Lemmon of Lake Orion and Fay Bartlebaugh of Drayton Plains, uncle of the bride.

Following the reception held in the church annex, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan and Maine. They will live in Vaudreuil, Quebec.

To Seek Donors Among Drivers

Suburbanites to Gather at Key Intersections Leading to Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—Suburban government leaders will gather at key intersections leading to Detroit a week from today to seek funds from motorists to fight the 1 per cent Motor City income tax on nonresidents.

The Vigilance Tax Committee met at Inkster Saturday and mapped plans for a week-long fund-raising drive aimed at blocking Detroit's income tax program which is scheduled to go into effect July 1.

The fund-raising drive will be kicked off with the canister campaign by some 100 officials of suburban governments who will station themselves along main roads leading into Detroit between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. next Monday.

★ ★ ★

Mayor George Kuhn of Berkley said most of the motorists driving towards Detroit in the morning rush hour undoubtedly earn their living in the Motor City.

★ ★ ★

He said the motorists, who would be subject to the Detroit tax if they work in the city, will be asked to contribute to the committee cause.

SET GOAL

Kuhn said the committee has set a goal of $20,000 which would permit a fight to highest courts of the state and nation in an attempt to have taxation of nonresidents declared unconstitutional.

The committee and 30 suburban governments already have a case in progress in Wayne County Circuit Court challenging the constitutionality of the Detroit tax.

Final briefs must be filed with Judge Neal Fitzgerald by June 19.

Kuhn said the committee is hopeful Fitzgerald will rule on the suit before July 1 and indicated a decision in favor of Detroit would be appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Other phases of the fund-raising campaign will include placing canisters in business places, both in Detroit and in suburbs, for contributions; soliciting donations from businesses, and a door-to-door campaign in the suburbs on Friday night, June 22.

★ ★ ★

The committee already has received more than $4,800 in contributions from local governments.

But Kuhn said the cost incurred to date in bringing the class action suit against Detroit is in excess of $5,500.

Sight-Seeing Swedes to Stop-Off in Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit will be one of the sight-seeing stops for a group of Swedes who arrived here yesterday. Most of the 85 tourists are from the small farming community of Laangasjoe. They are in the United States to visit families who emigrated from that town.

★ ★ ★

Sixty-three members of the visiting group will make one of their stops at Detroit before going on to Minneapolis where most of the immigrants and their families live.

TOP SCHOLAR — Alan Roger Price (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price, 355 Maywood Ave., Rochester, has been named the outstanding student in the baking industry program at Florida State University. Shown with him are Dr. E. G. Bayfield (left), director of the program, and Jodean Cash, chairman of the board of trustees, Bakers' University Fund, Inc., of the Southern Bakers Association. Price, a sophomore, is majoring in the science section of the program under a scholarship of the Continental Baking Co. He was awarded a watch and a plaque by the bakers' association.

Claims 70 Changes in New Constitution

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP (AP) — There are upwards of 70 major changes in the proposed new Michigan constitution, Ink White, St. Johns editor, told an adult education conference at Haven Hill Lodge today.

★ ★ ★

White, chairman of the public information committee of the constitutional convention and a delegate from the Eaton District, said he is confident the Michigan legislature will appropriate enough money for the publication and distribution of an explanation of the proposed new constitution.

White said he felt legislators have a joint responsibility with the convention to inform the people about proposed changes in the state's basic law.

"Unlike the convention of 1907, which re-enacted most of the 1850 constitution, the delegates in 1962 have made a whole series of major changes," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The people have a right to know what these changes involve and how they may affect their future," he added.

White told a State Department of Public Instruction conference that a House-Senate conference committee is still studying a proposed $75,000 appropriation for completing the work of the convention and publishing an "address to the people" explaining changes in the revised document.

Delay Subpoenas to Be Served on 26 Club Members

LANSING (AP)— Attorneys for the beleaguered Star Social Club in Madison Heights won a 20-day delay yesterday in the serving of subpoenas on 26 of the club's members.

Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes of Ingham County granted the delay to allow the club time to appeal issuance of the subpoenas to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The subpoenas were issued by the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission, which seeks to revoke the club's state charter on grounds that it is a front for a gambling operation.

★ ★ ★

The Star Social Club is basing its appeal on a contention that the commission had no legal right to issue the subpoenas.

They turned down the same proposal a year ago when they approved reclassification of the school district as a third class district. Board members received the salary under the prior fourth class designation.

The salary proposal applies to five of the seven school board members.

Will Open Bids on Xway Project With Interchange

The State Highway Department will open bids Wednesday on an estimated $3.5-million John C. Lodge Freeway project which includes a trilevel interchange at Southfield.

The interchange is at the junction of the Lodge and Southfield freeways and Nine Mile Road. It is part of a contract for almost one mile of the Lodge Freeway.

Eight bridges will be built at the intersection of the three highways to complete the interchange which will move traffic in any direction from either road.

★ ★ ★

The trilevel interchange — the fourth on Michigan's highway system—carries the southbound roadway at the top level, Nine Mile Road at ground level and the Lodge Freeway below ground level.

Completion date on the entire project is June 30, 1964.

To Ask Warrant Against Airman

Negligent Homicide Is Charge Shelby Chief Seeks in Traffic Fatal

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — A warrant charging negligent homicide was to be sought today against an airman stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base in the Saturday traffic death of a bakery truck driver.

Shelby Township Police Chief Robert Smith said he would ask the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office to issue the warrant against Warren A. Frost, 20, of Stoneham, Mass.

Frost was the driver of a car that smashed into the rear of a Mills Bakery Co. truck, throwing its driver out an open door and then trapping him beneath the vehicle when it overturned, according to Smith.

★ ★ ★

The victim was Hubert Sims, 57, of Detroit.

The accident occurred about 9:20 a.m. on 26-Mile Road, a half mile east of Van Dyke Road. Smith theorized that both the car and truck were traveling west.

Shelby Township handled the accident because it was on the borderline of Washington Township which has no police department.

A passenger in Frost's car, Airman George H. Bagmall, 19, of Youngstown, Ohio, suffered head injuries in the accident and was treated at St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens and at Selfridge, where he is also stationed.

Both airmen are members of the First A and E Squadron.

Gives Outline on Bonn Policy

Strauss Tells Seniors at Kalamazoo of Plan for European Unity

KALAMAZOO (AP) — West Germany's dynamic, fast-talking defense minister, Franz Josef Strauss, gave graduating seniors at Kalamazoo College yesterday a basic outline of his nation's policy on the political unity of Europe.

His talk was the only major public address he has given since arriving in the United States last week and gave this university town its second straight day of commencement talks by internationally known statesmen.

Saturday, Dr. Andrew W. Orrlerja executive assistant to the U.N.'s three secretary generals, spoke at graduation exercise for Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo College's next door neighbor.

Strauss spoke in the college's gymnasium after rain forced ceremonies to move indoors.

'WELCOMES ENTRY'

Strauss told 129 graduating seniors that the Federal German Republic welcomes the entry of the United Kingdom and other European nations into the Common Market but that "over and above economic integration, political unification is necessary" as well.

He said that West Germany does not want Europe to become a third force between East and West "but feels that the unity of Europe is the pre-requisite for a strong European-American partnership."

Kalamazoo College has sent 50 students for a semester's study at the University of Bonn in the last two years. In the next school year, 100 more are expected to take part in the college's undergraduate program involving studies at Bonn.

DONALD M. REDDY

Birmingham Man Added to Staff of Prosecutor

A Birmingham attorney has joined the Oakland County prosecutors staff as an assistant prosecutor.

★ ★ ★

Donald M. Reddy, 31, of 1554 Southfield Road, was appointed to replace John N. O'Brien, who has resigned after two years as an assistant prosecutor.

O'Brien, 36, of 4033 Bacon St., Berkley, plans to go into private law practice in Royal Oak. He will remain on the prosecutor's staff, however, until the conclusion of a fraud case he is trying.

Reddy is a 1958 graduate of the Detroit College of Law. Before his new assignment, he was a staff attorney for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit.

A native of Muskegon, Reddy is married and has a 3-year-old son.

Salary of the new assistant prosecutor is $5,500 a year. O'Brien was earning $7,500.

Once-Riotous Jap Student Group Hushed

TOKYO (AP) — Two years ago Zengakuren, Japan's leftwing student group, was synonymous with riots, violence and anti-Americanism.

It spearheaded the demonstrations that forced President Eisenhower to cancel a 1960 visit to Japan.

★ ★ ★

Today the once united Zengakuren — Japanese abbreviation for the Federation of Student Self-Government Association — is ridden with dissension. The old roar has been reduced to a whimper.

Zengakuren students headed the riots that led to the downfall of the Kishi government in 1960.

Zengakuren students took part in the leftwing mobbing of James C. Hagerty who was preparing for the Eisenhower visit.

The 1960 demonstrations, organized to oppose ratification of a revised U.S. - Japanese security treaty, grew out of strong public neutralist sentiment which the Socialists and leftwing Sohyo Labor Federation effectively played on.

It was easy for Zengakuren to steal the show with violent tactics.

LACK SPECIFIC ISSUE

Neutralist sentiment is still strong today, but the leftists lack a specific issue with which to fan it.

More important, however, is the dissension within Zengakuren itself.

Formed in 1948 with Communist backing, it includes divergent ideological factions ranging from extreme radicalism to moderate socialism.

The 1960 riots coincided with a period when Marxist extremists were dominant.

Opposition to the security treaty and the conservative government was broad enough to submerge ideological differences in the interests of concerted action.

Since then, the Zengakuren leadership has resumed its squabbling.

Some factions consider both the United States and Russia aggressive, oppressive nations.

Others remain solidly pro-Soviet. Still others regard the U.S.S.R. as something of a flop as a pure Communist state.

Many of the estimated 300,000 students in Zengakuren object to the organization's activities. But membership is not an individual choice.

★ ★ ★

If a college student association joins up, members of that association are automatically considered in Zengakuren.

2,000 REDS INCLUDED

The policy makers come from a hard core of dedicated radicals. card-carrying Communists are in Zengakuren.

These days, the Communist party relies more for its student support on Minseido, a youth group with an estimated 30,000 members, only a few thousand of them college students.

When there is a common objective Minseido and other leftist groups may coordinate their activities under the Zengakuren banner, but the various outfits usually act independently.

Shigenobu Imai, 23, is the Tokyo University chapter leader of one such leftist student group, Shagakudo (Socialist Students Association).

Shagakudo proclaims itself independent of Communist or Socialist party affiliation.

★ ★ ★

A senior medical student, Imai reflects the many contradictions of leftist student thinking.

As a graduate of a top university he can look forward to a good future in Japan's expanding economy. Yet he opposes capitalism because he believes it enriches the few at the expense of the many.

He is courteous and pleasant of manner, yet he's quick to join the violence.

He took part in the 1960 riots and has shouted himself hoarse in antinuclear demonstrations before the American Embassy.

He opposes Russians test as well —but, he readily admits, not as much because of "ideological sympathy with the Socialist system."

Above all, Imai believes students have the word on great questions.

"Because of our higher learning," he says, "we are in a better position to judge than most what is right and wrong."

Widow Slays Her Son Mistaken for Thief

SARONNO, Italy (AP) — Widow Domenica Zandrini took a rifle and hid behind the chicken pen last night to try to catch thieves she suspected of stealing her poultry.

A little after midnight she was startled to see a figure appear before her in the darkness. She fired and killed her eldest son, Silvano, 15.

He had come to take a turn on watch so his mother could rest.

What Is YOUR Pet Careless Way to Lose Money?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — And how do YOU go about losing your hard-earned money, Mr. and Mrs. America?

Do you leave your handbag in rest-rooms?

Do you pat your hip-pocket placidly, to tip off pick-pockets to the whereabouts of your wallet?

Maybe you let the children play with your $50 bills and eat them for lunch?

Or do you hide your loot, then forget where?

To each his own system of carelessness. (I kind of like my pet petty-cash-loss technique — handing a cab driver a $20, thinking it's a $1 —it's sort of generous idiocy.)

However we do it, the latest survey shows, we Americans lose $700 million in cash during a year.

TAKE HEED

The survey, taken by American Express and the Gallup group, asked Americans how they go about losing cash, and how much, and the answers are lessons in themselves.

For instance, some people leave their monies in places where they are eaten by mice; is this not an incentive to build a better mousetrap?

Here are some of the real answers, given by real people, to the question, "Exactly how or why" did you lose your money? . . .

Most poignant: "My pocket was picked in the subway when I was on my way to the hospital to be operated on."

★ ★ ★

Dirtiest trick: "$700 was put in a bathtub, dirty clothes were put on top of it — I went out to eat and when I returned it was gone!"

A STATUS STORY

A status story: "$48. I was sitting on a chair in 'better dresses.' I never missed it until I came to the first floor."

Not to be sneezed at: "I just pulled out a diaper to wipe the baby's nose and evidently pulled money out which was loose in purse."

Love, schmove: "A girl friend of mine took it out of my wallet."

★ ★ ★

Sketchiest: "Don't remember how much. My handbag just got out of sight."

Can't trust your own children: "$80. My daughter threw it out of a shopping cart."

Or anybody else's either: "Stolen in my home from my handbag — $2, $10, two days in succession. A neighbor's child took it."

That goes for your old lady too: "My wife picked it up with the mail and threw it out and we burned it with the rubbish."

Casual carelessness: "I lost $20 twice out of my pocket. Once $230 out of my pocket. I carry my money loose and I guess I just lost it."

Keep America green: "I was walking down the street and felt a piece of paper in my hand so I threw it away. It was a $5."

Don't keep your money in a sock, you might get a hot foot: "I lost $1,700 in a fire at the house."

It could happen to anybody, hey: "$600. I just couldn't find it anywhere in the house."

Does God help those that help themselves? "$19.75. At a church supper. I left the money in my purse while I waited on table. It was all gone when I picked up my purse."

★ ★ ★

There are literally thousands of ways to lose money, and Americans have investigated them all.

We may be impoverished. But you've got to admit we're also imaginative!

Says U.S. Should Aid U.N., Needy Nations

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—An American official of the United Nations said U. S. citizens should not begrudge their heavy aid to the world organization nor to needy countries.

Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, an undersecretary of the U. N., said the "torch bearers of civilization" have always had to carry their torches without looking back over their shoulders to see what others were doing."

He received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the commencement of Western Michigan University Saturday where he addressed

House to Probe Theft of Grain

Unit Will Investigate Iowa Case 'Similar' to Estes Situation

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The case of a Knoxville, Iowa grain elevator operator who was sentenced last week to a federal prison term for theft of government grain left in storage with him, will be studied by a congressional committee, the Des Moines Register said today.

* * *

In a copyright dispatch from Washington the newspaper quoted James Naughton, chief counsel for the House Government Operations subcommittee as saying he already has some information on the case involving Alex Versel Barbour, Jr. of Knoxville.

"Naughton said the problem of grain storage control presented by the Barbour case involved some of the same basic problems under study in the investigation of indicted Texas financier Billie Sol Estes," the Register said.

Barbour owned the Hawkeye mill at Knoxville. Last week he was sentenced in federal court here to a three-year term for the theft of 156,785 bushels of government surplus corn stored in his facilities.

Barbour filed voluntary bankruptcy before he pleaded guilty early last month. The government filed a $240,818 claim in the bankruptcy action.

The Iowa Commerce Commission revoked Barbour's state warehouse license by June, 1961 and the U.S. Department of Agriculture had taken Barbour off its approved list for storage of federal grain, the Register said in a story published yesterday.

* * *

"However, between June and December 1961, after the Agriculture Department had called for its grain from Barbour and was investigating him, Barbour stole at least an additional 100,000 bushels of corn," the newspaper said.

So-Called Friends Giving U. S., Soviet Union Fits

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It would be understandable these days if U. S. statesmen were in a snappish mood, like men confronted by the incomprehensible.

The way the news has been looking, the statesmen could easily get the impression that the only comforting news comes from Moscow.

The Soviet government is up to its ears in economic trouble. It has had to boost food prices sharply and then make embarrassing explanations to its public.

Russian youngsters are becoming worrisome, as if infected by something that old Bolsheviks might well call creeping capitalism.

The Russians have trouble with their rambunctious Chinese allies and with little Albania.

★ ★ ★

But what's happening elsewhere?

The United States has its own trouble with its fractious friends.

President De Gaulle's government, still in a mess with Algeria, has its own ideas about how the North Atlantic Alliance should operate, and tends to be unruly.

WEST GERMANS PEEVED

The West Germans are peeved whenever the United States seems to want to talk to the Russians about Berlin instead of threatening to toss rockets at them.

The British can't seem to make up their minds whether to get into the Common Market or stay out of it.

The United States, devoutly endorsing the Common Market as the wave of the future, finds the arrangement getting in its hair, what with tariff retaliation whenever the Americans insist on protecting their own domestic industries.

The news from Southeast Asia is increasingly dolorous. In Indochina, Laos seems to be withering on the vine, and the Communists won't give South Viet Nam any rest.

★ ★ ★

India is angry at the United States because of its military support of Pakistan, which is allied with Washington in the Central Treaty Organization. So India dickers with the Russians for supersonic jet fighters. But since Red China is angry at India, it is making friendly gestures toward Pakistan, supporting the Pakistani claim to Kashmir and offering — of all things — economic help to Pakistan.

SYRIANS AFRAID?

Syria is talking all over again about federation with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. That has the scent of trouble to it, because the Syrians usually don't talk that way unless they're afraid of something else.

In South America, the Alliance for Progress doesn't seem to be going places. Reforms — tax, land, administrative and the like — seem to languish or get lost in committees or just remain in the talking stage.

Crisis or the threat of crisis hovers over a half dozen Latin countries, and painful embarrassment for the United States lurks around almost every corner.

Maybe if the United States had only Russia to deal with, and Russia had only the United States to deal with, things might be a bit easier for statesmen on both sides of the fence.

Sometimes it just seems as if it's their friends who are driving them toward the psychiatric couches.

Illinois Governor Hikes 19 Miles to Open Park Trail

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner was trying to get the kinks out today after a 19-mile weekend hike formally opening the new Lincoln Trail from New Salem State Park to Springfield.

The governor, bedecked in a boy scout uniform and his old army boots, stepped off the distance with a group of 65 scouts in just over six hours hiking time.

After the trip was behind him, Kerner decided such hiking is good for Americans.

"Too many people drive to the corner drug store," Kerner said.

★ ★ ★

The hike was interrupted while Kerner played host to welcome Lord and Lady Baden-Powell at the airport here. Baden-Powell's father was the founder of the Boy Scout movement in England shortly after the turn of the century.

Fighting Dwindles in South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A silence broken only by minor patrol clashes has settled over South Viet Nam's fighting zones, military sources reported today.

Following a week of relatively heavy action and mass-attacks on Communist guerrillas, fighting dwindled Saturday afternoon, American and Vietnamese officials said. There were no significant attacks by either side yesterday or this morning, they added.

Reopen Part of Church

LONDON (AP) — The north transept of St. Paul's Cathedral, damaged by a German bomb in an air raid on April 17, 1941, was reopened with a dedication service conducted by Dr. Robert Stopford, the Anglican bishop of London.

Catholic Schools Ordered Integrated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has ordered Atlanta archdiocesan schools desegregated this fall in a move supported by leading Catholic laymen and the mayor of Atlanta.

★ ★ ★

The historic decision applied to Catholic schools in the 71 north Georgia counties of the archdiocese where about 7,500 pupils are enrolled. The total inclues 735 Negroes, all in Atlanta.

UP TO OTHERS

Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan said it was up to local bishops elsewhere in the archdiocesan province to decide what action to take in their areas. That included other sections of Georgia as well as North and South Carolina and Florida, all under the archbishop's titular control.

★ ★ ★

The desegregation decision was announced in a pastoral letter read during Sunday services in all the churches of the north Georgia archdiocese.

"Catholic children, regardless of race or color, will be admitted to Catholic schools of the archdiocese as of Sept. 1, 1962," the letter said.

'LONG OVERDUE'

"I think it is something long overdue," commented Catholic layman G. Albert Lawton, president of Georgia International Life Insurance Co., who moved to Atlanta from Connecticut three years ago. His two children attend Catholic schools in Rhode Island and New York.

★ ★ ★

Another Catholic layman, Superior Court Judge Sam P. McKenzie of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit, said he was confident the Archbishop "will get the support of a great majority of the Catholics in the archdiocese."

McKenzie, who has three children in Atlanta Catholic schools, said he believed "that in an enlightened community, the people will accept the decision in the right spirit and in the spirit that it was made."

★ ★ ★

Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a Presbyterian, said he was "certain Atlanta and north Georgia people would show the same courtesy and consideration that was shown in the integration of the Atlanta public schools last fall."

Four high schools admitted nine Negroes at that time. One later returned to her old school at her request.

The peaceful lowering of racial barriers was cited by the archbishop as one reason for the church action now—about three months after New Orleans' 153 archdiocesan schools, with about 75,000 pupils were ordered integrated.

Archbishop Hallinan told a news conference that all eight-grade pupils were given an option to enroll in the school of their choice during regular placement tests April 9. He said six Negroes chose white high schools and were accepted. He declined to name the pupils or the schools involved.

Minister Retires Second Time at 91

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—"I don't want to stay around here," the minister told his board of stewards, "until you fellows look at me askance and say, 'Why doesn't that old rascal move on?'"

Rev. Walter Scott Robinson then retired from active ministry for the second time in 91 years.

★ ★ ★

He retired the first time in 1942 when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 72. He soon returned to the pulpit as a supply pastor as more and more young ministers were called to the war.

He served Decatur's First Methodist church as associate pastor until his recent second retirement. He began his ministerial career as a circuit rider 64 years ago.

LAUDS GOLF

An enthusiastic golfer for many years, he still gets out on the course occasionally, but hasn't played much lately "because the old legs have gone back on me. After about six holes I begin to tire."

Robinson began playing golf at 52 when his doctor advised him to give up tennis—"He told me tenfis was too strenuous."

Does he think any souls are saved on the golf course?

★ ★ ★

"I'm sure of it. Golf is a character-building game. It teaches a man sportsmanship which, in its finest sense, is the Golden Rule in action. A man gets to know himself under many sets of circumstances—even as he gets to know the men he is playing with—more often than not comes face to face with realization that the Christian life is the best way of living."

How does he feel about death?

"People ask me about it," he said, "and I tell them I'm not worried. The undertaker knows how to prepare my body and I've got a place beside my wife in the Monroe (Ga.) cemetery.

About 90 per cent of the world supply of mica is used by the electrical manufacturing industries for insulation purposes.

Drowning Toll Now at 21 in Taipei Boat Accident

Spat Worsened by Dean Martin

Won't Appear in Film Without Marilyn, Cites Effect on Career

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dean Martin widened the breach in the family spat between Marilyn Monroe and 20th Century Fox studios yesterday when he refused to appear in the film "Something's Got to Give" because the studio fired the shapely blonde.

★ ★ ★

"I agreed to do this movie because Marilyn Monroe was going to costar and it would have been great for my career," explained Martin. "Now that she isn't going to do it, the picture doesn't look too good to me."

The studio fired Marilyn and slapped her with a $500,000 breach of contract suit Friday because of absenteeism.

Blonde Lee Remick was named to replace the famed glamour girl. Asked if he would consider starring opposite another actress, Martin said "absolutely not."

★ ★ ★

"I have the greatest respect for Miss Lee Remick and her talent and for all the other actresses who were considered for the role, but I signed to do the picture with Marilyn Monroe and I will do it with no one else," said Martin.

"It is not because I feel sorry for Marilyn or because I think she is right or wrong," the singer-actor added. "I'm just thinking about my career."

The studio has not announced whether it plans to go ahead with the picture starring Miss Remick, but a spokesman said the picture would not resume shooting today.

★ ★ ★

Delays primarily caused by Miss Monroe's absences have cost the studio an estimated $2 million. Producer Henry Weinstein, who suspended production June 4, blamed the suspension on Miss Monroe.

March Fizzles Against Polaris Based in Scotland

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI) — A sitdown demonstration by ban-the-bomb followers fizzled over the weekend when only 500 persons showed up to protest the presence of the Polaris submarine depot ship U.S.S. Proteus.

Authorities said 46 demonstrators were arrested yesterday and 92 the day before. All but three of those arrested Saturday were released after giving their names and receiving orders to appear in court.

The 92 were arrested for disturbing the peace. On Saturday night, a small band of 20 tired and hoarse marchers kept an all-night vigil around the base, singing their anti-Polaris songs as they walked in the cold.

2 Get Death Sentence in Try to Flee Soviet

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two 25-year-old Armenians have been sentenced to death for trying to hijack a small plane and fly out of the Soviet Union.

The newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda reported the sentences yesterday and said they were "final and cannot be appealed."

The plot was foiled when pilot Edik Bakshinyan deliberately crashed the plane in a field. A third plotter was killed in the crash, the paper said.

★ ★ ★

Those sentenced to death were identified as Serge Toumanyan and Heinrich Sekoyan, both from Yerevan, the capital of soviet Armenia. The dead man was identified as Garegin Movsesyan, also from Yerevan.

The two were charged with attempted high treason and attempted murder of the pilot.

Bills Heavenly Repairs

LONDON (AP) — A suburban church of England parish magazine published an itemized bill from an unidentified artist for renovating a church religious painting. Among the items: "Cleaning St. David's ears — two shillings 28 cents; renewing Heaven, adjusting stars and cleaning up the moon—seven shillings 84 cents."

Auto Insurance Is Out, So It's Back to Bicycle

WOLVERHAMPTON (UPI)—William Wilson, 92, was refused auto insurance because of his age so he took up bicycling again.

Wilson, eight times a grandfather, estimates he now cycles 10 miles a day.

"I find it very tiring pedalling up hills these days," he said. "Otherwise it's jolly good exercise and I recommend it to anybody for keeping healthy."

Gleason Sticks to Coffee on Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—The sign on the dressing room suite read "The Great One," so you knew it had to belong to Jackie Gleason.

Inside you were greeted by members of the Gleason staff and ushered into the presence of the man himself. He was sitting in a corner, his barrel shape wrapped in a white terry-cloth robe. He was drinking — coffee.

THOMAS

"Never drink booze on the job," he explained. "But afterward — watch out!"

Gleason was at Paramount for "Papa's Delicate Condition," his first Hollywood film in a dozen years. The circumstances are somewhat different this time.

"That last one was called 'Desert Hawk,' and it was a lulu," he recounted. "Tell you how I got the job.

"I went to see the producer and he was having a pedicure, I want you to know. He was saying, 'Watch out, Mildred, how you cut the big toe,' while I was trying to tell him what a great Arab I would make.

"'Finally he said, 'Can you ride?' I said I could ride like the wind—I had never been on a horse in my life. He said, 'Can you duel?' I said I was a whiz at fencing—I didn't know the first thing about it.

"Then he said, "You can't have the job.' I said 'Why not?' and he said, 'Because you got blue eyes, and Arabs don't have blue eyes.'

"I said, 'Then you're in trouble, Bud, because your leading man is Richard Greene, and he has two of the bluest eyes I've ever seen!

"The guy was really worried and he called up research and said, 'See if there are any Arabs with blue eyes.' The answer came back that there may be two or three Arabs somewhere with blue eyes. So he told me I could have the job.

"I never got close enough to the camera for anyone to see my eyes. Most of the time I was peeking around Rock Hudson."

Such was Gleason's first movie career. He did six films in the '40s, including "Orchestra Wives" and "Navy Blues."

"Most of the time I was playing with scene-stealers like Jack Oakie, Martha Raye, Peter Lorre and Edward Everett Horton," he recalled. "I never had a chance."

His second time around is another matter. He got an Oscar nomination for "The Hustler." His "Gigot" and "Requiem for a Heavyweight" are highly touted. And now "Papa's Delicate Condition."

One of Papa's delicate conditions in the film is that he nips, and Gleason admitted the casting was apt. He gave his philosophy on the grape:

"If you don't know why you're drinking, you're in trouble. I've always drunk for one reason only: to get smashed.

"As I told Arthur Godfrey once, drinking can remove warts, wrinkles, pimples and other blemishes. Not on yourself—on other people."

WONDERING what makes the daily newspaper the top advertising buy? It's the number and quality of the people the daily newspaper reaches, and their friendly reaction to newspaper advertising. When an advertiser invests in any medium, he's buying an audience for his sales message. The newspaper audience is large. Almost 100,000,000 people read a daily newspaper every day in the U.S.* And that audience remains very constant. There's no "summer slump" in newspapers, no peak listening or viewing hours, no special moment when you must nail down an audience or miss out completely. The daily newspaper sells around the clock. Readers can study it at their leisure...enjoy it...relax with it...clip it...buy from it. And they do.

Tigers Lose Two More to 'Mighty' Washington

BACK ON THE THRONE — Big Tom Draper (left) and Perry Byard regained their lofty perch in Pine Lake Country Club's 13th annual invitational golf tournament Sunday, capturing the title with a 2-up win over Drs. Robert Lurie and Phil Nolish of Saginaw. Draper and Byard, veteran Red Run golfers, were Pine Lake kings in 1955.

Injury-Riddled Tigers Call on Purnal Goldy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Faced with a mounting casualty list, the desperate Detroit Tigers called up outfielder Purnal Goldy from their Denver farm club last night in an effort to bolster their injury-riddled outfield.

★ ★ ★

Goldy, 24, was a sensation of the Tigers spring training camp in Florida but was assigned to Denver at the start of the season.

He was hitting .302 at Denver with 21 RBI, four home runs, three triples and five doubles.

The key personnel losses are beginning to take their toll on the weary Tigers. It was never more evident than over the weekend when they dropped four straight games to the lowly Washington Senators.

Now comes a two-game series with the New York Yankees starting Tuesday night.

Billy Bruton joined Al Kaline and Frank Lary on the list of injured mainstays Sunday when he suffered a torn tendon in his left thigh. The fleet-footed centerfielder will be lost to the club for a week to 10 days, possibly even longer.

ALMOST OUT

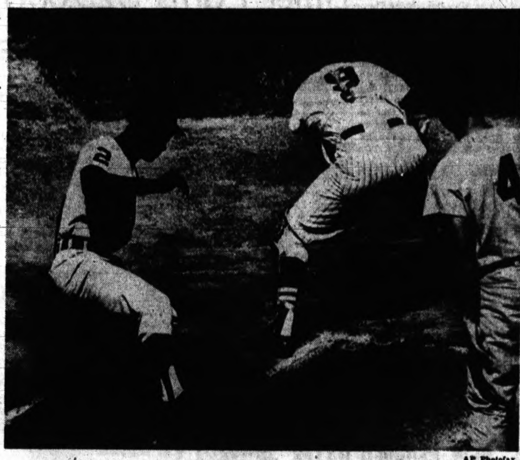

Bruton, the second leading hitter on the Tigers behind Kaline, was injured in the first inning of the second game while rounding third base during an inning-ending double play. Ironically, he had been picked off second base on the preceding play, but Washington shortstop Ken Hamlin failed to make the tag.

Bruton's injury could prove the most disastrous yet for the Tigers. Kaline, out with a broken collarbone, is the only other outfielder on the roster who can play centerfield with any degree of finesse.

"I knew we were hurt when I saw Bruton pull up. The same thing happened to Kaline," manager Bob Scheffing said. "We can't lose those kind of ball players without feeling it. I think a week or 10 days is giving Bruton the benefit of the doubt. His kind of tear can keep a man out from three to four weeks."

The Tigers now have four outfielders on the active roster — Rocky Colavito, Charley Maxwell, Bubby Morton and Goldy.

STEALS HOME — Jake Wood of the Tigers slides across the plate on the front end of a double steal against Washington in the first inning of yesterday's second game. Billy Bruton started the twin theft by stealing second and drawing a throw from catcher Ken Retzer. Charlie Maxwell (4), who struckout on the play, watches Wood score.

New York Next Stop; Bruton Out of Action With Injury

WASHINGTON (AP) — An old story is being retold — the Detroit Tigers can handle the big boys but not the little fellows.

The Tigers, a full 4 games off the pace, suffered their worst indignity of the season yesterday, losing a double-header to the last-place Washington Senators and the series, four games to one.

★ ★ ★

Idle today, they had hoped to invade New York for a two-game series starting tomorrow night with some chance of looking good in the east but it's ruined now.

The 2-1 and 5-4 losses to the Senators were the sixth and seventh losses in the last nine games for the skidding Tigers. Their reversal of form has followed a dazzling winning streak.

As if two defeats from Washington weren't enough, Detroit also suffered the loss of outfielder Billy Bruton by injury.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's disaster was simple enough. The Tigers failed to hit behind Phil Regan and Ron Kline in the first game which Washington won on four hits. Jim Bunning's home run was working in the nightcap. two of Washington's nine hits were homers.

TRADE HELPED

Two pitchers obtained by Washington in an early season trade with Cleveland, Don Rudolph and Steve Hamilton, were the Senators' winners.

Rudolph limited the Tigers to five hits in the opener and Hamilton won the second game in relief of Bennie Daniels.

Hamilton, 6-foot-6 former pro basketball player, came in to pitch with the bases full and one out in the eighth and stopped the Tigers cold.

When Hamilton came to work the score was tied 4-4 and the Senators scored the winning run for him in their half of the eighth on Jimmy Piersall's single, theft of second and Ken Retzer's single.

★ ★ ★

Bunning, now 6-3 for the season gave up his eighth and ninth homers to Chuck Hinton in the first inning and to Dale Long in the third, the latter a two-run smash.

After the two games at New York, the Tigers go back home for a 12-game stand in Tiger Stadium. They open in Detroit Friday night against the Boston Red Sox.

Byard, Draper Regain Title

By BILL CORNWELL

Perry Byard and Tom Draper have restored their position of eminence in the Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament.

The veteran Red Run team now owns a combined total of seven Pine Lake championships following Sunday's rain-spattered 2-up win over Drs. Robert Lurie and Phil Nolish of Saginaw in the match play final of the 13th annual selective drive-alternate shot event.

It was Byard's 4th Pine Lake crown, the 3rd for Draper and their 2nd as partners. They won the title as a team in 1955.

Byard, 51, also triumpher with Dick Whiting in 1960 and Ralph Ellstrom in 1957. The 45-year-old Draper and Bob Whiting were champs in 1953.

★ ★ ★

Intermittent showers plagued the championship match. Rain fell half a dozen different times during the first nine holes.

The downpour reached its height on the 8th green as the two teams were preparing to putt, sending everyone scurrying for cover. To everybody's relief, the heavy "California dew" held off while they were touring the back nine.

TOUGH BATTLE

Dr. Lurie, who won the Pine Lake crown last year with Chicago's John Morrell, and Dr. Nolish, a six-handicap player, gave Draper and Byard all they could handle yesterday.

It was a see-saw match from the beginning with the score changing hands twice and being tied on four other occasions.

They were all even at the turn and it was not until the final two holes that Byard and Draper clinched the victory.

Neither team played up to its capabilities. Draper and Byard were six over par on Pine Lake Country Club's par 36-36—72 course and carded only three birdies, two on the back side.

★ ★ ★

Byard and Draper had to struggle hard to win their morning semifinals, coming from behind with pars on the 18th and 19th holes for a 1-up win over Pine Lake's Lou Conroy and Bob Babbish of Detroit Golf Club.

Lurie and Nolish found the semis only slightly easier, posting a 2-1 triumph over Howie Neilson of Pine Lake and Ellstrom of Dearborn.

BOUNCE BACK

A par four on the 15th hole put Draper and Byard ahead, but the Saginaw physicians bounced right back to square the match on the 510-yard 16th as Nolish canned a 20-foot putt for a birdie four.

★ ★ ★

The victors went in front to stay on the 180-yard 17th hole when Draper sank an 18-footer for a birdie deuce.

Both teams played the 18th like hashers, Draper and Byard winning the hole with a bogey five after the good doctors took four to get home.

Byard shanked their 2nd shot into the trap and Draper exploded the ball to the green. Byard putted within one foot of the cup, then Lurie and Nolish conceded the hole and the match when Lurie's putt for a bogey rolled past the cup.

★ ★ ★

For the first time in Pine Lake Invitational history, trophies were awarded to winners and runners-up.

A total of 128 golfers competed in nine flights in the four-day tourney.

30 Americans Seek British Golf Title

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Michael Bonallack, British Walker Cup star, began the defense of his British Amateur golf title here today against a field of 250 challengers, including 30 Americans.

The championship is being decided for the 13th time over Royal Liverpool Club's links at Hoylake, where the first tournament was held in 1885.

★ ★ ★

If Bonallack wins, he will be laying a 26-year-old hoodoo to rest. No man has carried off the title two years running since American Lawson Little did it in 1934 and 1935.

The 6,932 yards course, par 36-36—72, has been scorched by the summer sun.

FAVORITES

Seeded along with Bonallack are three-times winner Joe Carr, of Ireland, Ronnie Shade and Alec Shepperson of Scotland, Mike Lunt, Martin Christmas and John Durry of England, and John Hayes, champion of South Africa. Hayes holds the course record with 67.

Of the American competitors, Henry Timbrook of Beverley Hills, Calif., has the best past record in the tournament. He reached the quarter-finals two years ago.

Belmont Victor Nudged to Win

Crimson Satan Bumps Jaipur in Close Duel Near Finish

NEW YORK (AP) — Crimson Satan, the 1961 two-year-old champ, hasn't won a major race this year but he still could be a big factor in unscrambling the puzzle which Jaipur made of the 3-year-old title picture by winning the $153,300 Belmont Stakes.

★ ★ ★

First of all, however, trainer George Potter must find what causes the Crimson King Farm's ace to lug in which he hooks up with other horses in a stretch battle such as developed in the final eighth of a mile last Saturday at Belmont Park.

With an eighth of a mile of the 1½-mile test remaining, Manuel Ycaza drove Crimson Satan to almost even terms with Jaipur and Admiral's Voyage. Admiral's Voyage, who had set nearly all the early pace, was on the rail, Crimson Satan on the outside.

FINAL SURGE

Then suddenedly Satan lugged in and bumped Jaipur. Like a shot, Jaipur took off again but Admiral's Voyage answered the challenge with one of his own. As they reached the finish line, Willie Shoemaker dropped Jaipur's head in front to take the winner's share of $109,550 and give owner George D. Widener his first Belmont Stakes winner after 10 failures. Crimson Satan was 1¼ lengths back in third place.

Ycaza, who received a commendation from the stewards for trying to keep Crimson Satan straight, said he would have won the race had not his mount bumped Jaipur.

Brede Sailors in First

Fred and Bruce Brede took Sunday honors in the Watkins Lake weekly races with Glen and Jo Fries taking second. Dave and Jo Green took third place.

Twins Near AL 1st as Yanks Drop Pair

By The Associated Press

There is some question regarding Rich Rollins' rookie status but no one questions the right of the sensational Minnesota third baseman to be rated among the American League's most valuable players in his first full season in the majors.

The 24-year-old bonus prize was red hot again Sunday as the Twins conquered the Chicago White Sox twice, 8-4 and 11-7 to climb into a virtual first place tie with New York. Rollins rapped five hits, drove in three runs and scored three times.

★ ★ ★

The Yankees, beaten twice by Baltimore, 5-1 and 7-2, still hold a mathematical edge over the Twins. They have a 31-21 record for a .596 percentage compared to Minnesota's 34-24 and .586.

★ ★ ★

The Los Angeles Angels swept past Detroit into fourth place by beating Kansas City 14-6 and 6-5 while the Tigers were losing two to Washington 2-1 and 5-4. Cleveland downed Boston 93 after the Red Sox had won the opener 4-3 in 11 innings.

TOPS LEAGUE

Rollins raised his league leading batting average to .356. He reached base six straight times before relief pitcher Ed Fisher struck him out in the sixth inning of the nightcap. He cracked two singles, walked and hit his ninth homer in the opener and then singled and drove in two runs with a triple in the nightcap.

The stocky infielder joined the Twins from Charlotte in mid-season of 1961 and made only 17 plate appearances last year.

Normally, this would qualify him as a rookie this year because he came to bat fewer than 90 times. However, he was with the club more than 45 days, the limit for rookie status the following season.

★ ★ ★

Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison, Lenny Green, Don Mincher and Zorro Versalles were the other Minnesota homer hitters as pitchers Jim Katt and Camilo Pascual registered their fifth and eighth victories, respectively.

HOMER BARRAGE

Home runs also sparked the Orioles to their double victory at Yankee Stadium. Whitey Herzog and Russ Snyder connected in the first game in support of Milt Pappas' sixth victory. Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt were the four-bagger men in the second game to smooth the way for Skinny Brown's third triumph.

Second baseman Billy Moran drove in six runs, three with his sixth homer, to spark the Angels to their first game triumph. Leon Wagner's sixth inning single broke a 5-5 tie in the second game.

★ ★ ★

After rookie catcher Bob Tillman's 11th inning homer had won the first game for the Red Sox, Cleveland gained a split on the slugging of Jerry Kindall and Al Luplow. Kindall slammed a three-run homer, two singles and scored twice in the nightcap. Luplow drove in runs with a triple and sacrifice fly, doubled, singled and scored once.

Soccer Pick Brazil Gains Semifinals

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Brazil is solidly favored to win its second straight World Soccer championship after turning in its most impressive performance of the tournament and with some prime opposition knocked out in quarter-final action.

Brazil reached its best form in the current competition Sunday when it gained the semifinals with a 3-1 victory over England. In other quarter-final matches, Chile upset Russia 2-1, Yugoslavia defeated powerful West Germany 1-0 and Czechoslovakia eliminated Hungary 1-0.

Semifinal games Wednesday will pair Brazil against Chile at Santiago and Yugoslavia against Czechoslovakia at Vina Del Mar.

The Brazilian team, which won the last world championship by defeating Sweden in Stockholm four years ago, is expected to be at full strength.

'I GOT IT . . . WHOOPS!' — Baltimore centerfielder Russ Snyder (9) reaches over shortstop Ron Hansen's glove in an attempt to grab a pop fly by the Yankees John Blanchard in yesterday's first game. The ball gets away from both players and Blanchard made it to second base. Snyder was charged with an error.

Santa Clara Tourney Favorite

Michigan Opens NCAA Play Today

OMAHA (UPI) — Santa Clara, sporting a 35-6 record and a pitcher the pros would love to talk out of completing his college career, ranked as the favorite today as the NCAA baseball tournament opened here.

★ ★ ★

The Broncos from California, named No. 1 in the nation in a poll of coaches, put their reputation on the line against Florida State in the windup of today's four-game first-round program.

Missouri and unbeaten Ithaca collide to open tonight's twin bill. Holy Cross met Colorado State and second-rated Michigan played Texas in the afternoon.

The entire four-game second round will be staged tomorrow and the double-elimination meet, if it gets cooperation from the weatherman, will wind up Friday or Saturday with a successor for Southern California as national diamond champ.

The winner qualifies for a best-of-three match at Hawaii June 22-25 with the collegiate champion of Japan.

IN LIMELIGHT

Of all the players in the eight-team field here, Joe Garibaldi, Santa Clara's six-five sophomore pitching star, has been hogging the advance publicity. He was expected to start for the Broncos tonight as they make their debut in the college world series.

Scouts have been chasing the sophomore history major with bonus offers this season as he compiled an 8-1 record and recorded a 1.84 earned run average. He struck out 130 in 98 innings and threw one no-hitter.

Coach Don Lund's team compiled the best diamond mark in a championship - studded Michigan history with 27 victories and 12 losses. This surpassed the old high water mark for victories — 24 — set by the 1941 club.

It takes two defeats to oust a team from contention. So, win or lose in the opener, Michigan's second opponent will be either Holy Cross or Colorado State.

★ ★ ★

Winners will meet winners and losers will go against losers in Tuesday's second-round games.

Lund, now in his fourth season as Wolverine coach, has a top defensive nine, led by a hot keystone combo — shortstop Dick Honig and second baseman Joe Jones. Honig and Jones are also the Wolverines' best hitters, with averages of .3064 and .306, respectively.

Pitching, however, will be the key to Michigan's chances. No less an expert than Lund, himself, observed, "In a tourney like this, you have to get good pitching to go all the way. One defeat and you're backed up against the wall."

Two Michigan pitchers — John Kerr and Wayne Slusher — are unbeaten. Kerr is 8-0 while Slusher owns a 4-0 mark. Righthander Dave Roebuck has an 8-2 mark. All three moundsmen are under 3.10 in earn run average.

Arnold Palmer Still Man to Beat

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPD—Thirty-four of them finished ahead of the big man when they were running at the biggest money jackpot of the golf year but they weren't selling him short today coming up to the U. S. Open.

★ ★ ★

Despite the $25,000 first prize which Gene Littler picked up in the $100,000 Classic Golf Open, that was another tournament in another state on another day. Come Thursday there's still one man to beat. Arnold Palmer.

Palmer finished in a tie for 35th and earned a mere $469 while others were walking off with huge chunks of swag. But he had them cuchered so deeply into the financial hole that he still retained the year's lead in money winnings with an over-all total of $69,331.

But more threatening than the fact that he always is the man to beat these days, was that Palmer showed signs of getting back on his game with a final round one-under-par 71. The news he had for them wasn't too encouraging, either.

★ ★ ★

"I was very encouraged at the way I was hitting my irons," Palmer said. "They've been giving me a lot of trouble. I might have had a real good round but the putts weren't dropping. But a couple of days of rest and I should be all right now that I've shaken a cold that's been bothering me."

NAMES TWO

Graciously, Palmer said that both Littler, the defending open champion, and Jack Nicklaus, the boy bomber who picked up $10,000 with his second place finish in the Classic, should be top contenders at Oakmont.

But most of the other pros didn't see it that way.

"There's Palmer," shrugged big George Bayer, one of the few who can out-club the Pennsylvania golden boy, "and then there's the rest of us."

There are, he added, a lot of reasons why the pros look at Palmer today just as they used to look at Ben Hogan when he was ruling the roost.

"He can stand the pace and he is a charger," said big George. "He has terrific strength and the ability to come back. Why, that guy's capable of coming back from anything, and, on top of it all, he's a gambler.

"He can tear into those par fives," Bayer analyzed. "When he takes the club back, it looks like he's going to tear it right out of the ground."

Now George can "tear it," too.

"There's a difference," Bayer confessed. "With me it's mainly a case of putting. But Palmer not only has the strength to get out there where you don't need to hit long irons to the greens but he can putt with an angel's touch, too. Look at how he rolled in a 25-footer on the last green to win at Las Vegas. Like it was nothing.

"Beat him," grunted George, "and you'll probably win it all."

If there's one player they all give a big chance in addition to Palmer, it's Nicklaus. The two-time amateur champion is a long hitter and his second place finish in the Classic should bolster his confidence tremendously.

But when they start the big scramble on Thursday they'll all have one eye cocked on how the king is doing. Despite that tie for 35th place the last time out, they know this is one king who's far from dead.

Littler Earns $25,000, Awaits Open Defense

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Not since Ben Hogan did it in 1951 has a U.S. Open Champion repeated, but Gene Littler, the sweet-swinger from San Diego, Calif., made it clear today that he is a real threat for his second straight this week at Oakmont, Pa.

"I'm pretty confident about my game," Littler said, after he collected the $25,000 first prize, top payoff of the year, in the $100,000 Golf Classic Sunday, "I'm playing as well as I am capable of playing."

"I won't be the favorite, though, I never am."

REACHED STARDOM

Those are strong words for Littler, an even-tempered quiet man who finally made the predictions of stardom for him stand up when he took the open last year at Oakland Hills.

★ ★ ★

He banged out a 5-under-par 67 Sunday, to come from a stroke back of Jack Nicklaus and finish with 275, a four-day total of 13 under the par on the 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course. Nicklaus had a final round 70 for 277, and Wes Ellis and Dow Finsterwald split third with 280. Ellis had a final 71, Finsterwald 73.

Littler's victory shot him into second spot among the pro money winners with $53,704.16, behind Arnold Palmer, who has $80,331. Palmer had a poor tournament, never contending, and wound up with a 71 for 280 and $460. He spent more than that last week on new golf club grips, trying to straighten out his game.

Littler, 31, never has played Oakmont, the sand-specked terror where he must defend his crown. In fact he never has seen it.

IN SERVICE

"I was in the Navy in 1953, the last time they played the Open there," he said, "and I couldn't get away.

"But I feel I got a good lift here toward a successful defense, not so much because I won but because I played so well."

★ ★ ★

Littler broke brawny Nicklaus' heart early in the final round, with a string of evenly spaced birdies, on holes 1, 3, 5, 7, and 9. He turned in 31 and coasted home.

He hit his drives straight, although often 50 yards behind Nicklaus, who was in the same threesome, and put his approaches so close his putts were fairly easy.

Nicklaus, who pocketed his biggest check as a pro, $10,000, for second place, made a final run at the lead on the 600-yard last hole when he banged two wood shots to within 17 feet of the pin, while Littler hit a trap with his drive, pitched out and trapped his third. But Nicklaus missed his eagle putt, and Littler blasted within eight feet and got down for a par.

Soviet Athlete Broad Jumps to World Mark

MOSCOW (AP) — Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, a tall, 24-year-old physical culture graduate who could pass for an Ivy Leaguer, today held the unofficial world broad jump record—the second Soviet athlete in a week to smash an American's world standard.

Ter-Ovanesyan leaped 27 feet, 3 inches Sunday in a meet in the Armenian capital of Yerevan, erasing Ralph Boston's listed world record of 27-1¾ set last year in the United States-Soviet Union meet here, according to Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

★ ★ ★

Just last Monday, Vindimir Trusenev smashed the world discus throw record with a toss of 202 feet, 2½ inches. Al Oerter, America's two-time Olympic gold medal winner had become the world's first 200-footer three weeks earlier when he threw the discus 200-5½.

It's the first of three major events on the WDGA's 1962 calendar.

A total of 106 players will compete in four flights during the three-day tournament.

THE PALMER METHOD by Arnold Palmer

THE SAND SWING IS COMPACT

Everything about the normal sand shot explosion is compact — feet close together, three-quarters backswing, little weight shift.

Note how close my right elbow is to my body in this illustration. Also, the left heel has stayed on the sand — it hasn't lifted.

For a shot from fairly soft sand, let the clubhead enter the sand about two inches behind the ball. The head will slide under the ball, forcing it up and out of the trap. The sand will naturally slow the clubhead's speed, but don't quit at impact. Finish!

Keeps Eye on Track, Loses 500-Mile Race

ATLANTA, Ga. — Banjo Matthews was watching the track instead of the sky here yesterday and it cost him the Atlanta 500-mile stock car race.

The Asheville, N. C., veteran had a 1962 Pontiac in first place when he decided to make a pit stop. He was in third place when he returned to the track.

Rain started to fall and the race was called at the end of 328 miles.

Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., was declared the winner. He drove a 1962 Ford. It took a huddle by officials before the winner was announced.

Dave Pearson of Spartanburg, S. C., was placed second. He piloted a '62 Pontiac.

The confusion over the winner was caused by the scoreboard's listing of Pearson as leader but the cards supported the officials' call of Lorenzen.

The race was slowed by rain three times during the running. The yellow caution flag dropped to slow the cars for a total of 60 laps which brought the winning time down to a very slow 102.143 mile-an-hour average.

Lorenzen staged a pit stop at a critical moment near the end of the race when he saw black clouds gathering that he felt would force the race to be halted.

He got in and out of the pit quickly and won the race when Matthews made his pit stop which forced him to give up first place.

Other placings:
3. Banjo Matthews, Asheville, 1962 Pontiac.
4. Bobby Johns, Miami, 1962 Pontiac.
5. Fireball Roberts, Daytona Beach, 1962 Pontiac.

Lenk Finishes Ahead of 20 in Outboard Race

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Detroiter Ray Lenk had a rough time of it yesterday but came in ahead of 20 other finishers in the outboard marathon for the third year in a row.

Ninety-four boats started out on the 100-mile course. A 15-mile-an-hour wind made the St. Lawrence River choppy.

Lenk's winning time was in sharp contrast to last year, when he won in one hour, 51 minutes and 35 seconds in the same Class DU boat. His time yesterday was three hours, 11 minutes and 56 seconds.

Al Myers of Berkley, was the Class CU winner with a time of 3:23:53.

Sandra Haynie Wins First Golf Tourney

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Tiny Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, a sophomore of the women's golf tour, won her first tournament Sunday—the $7,500 Austin Civitan Open.

She did it with a 1-over-par 75 over the course where she got her start in golf—the Austin Country Club. She had 289 for 72 holes to win $1,200.

WASTED SHOTS

Miss Haynie entered the final round leading by three strokes over Mickey Wright of Dallas and Gloria Fecht of Los Angeles. She had shot 214 for 54 holes.

Miss Haynie wasted three shots in the woods and took a triple bogey. Miss Fecht caught up with her there but couldn't hold it. She three-putted 17, took three to get on and three to get down on 18 for a double bogey.

Meanwhile, Miss Haynie was parring on in and won by a stroke over Miss Wright who birdied the last hole. Miss Wright had a 73 for 290 and second place money of $950. Miss Fecht wound up third with 292 and took down $750. She had a 75.

Whiting Brothers 1-2 in Red Run Tourney

The Whiting brothers, who joined forces to win Dearborn's Invitational Best Ball event a week ago, finished 1-2 Sunday in Red Run Golf Club's annual spring tournament.

Bob Whiting, a scratch player, won the tourney with a 36-hole card of 70-66—136. Brother Dick, a three-handicap golfer, took 2nd place with a net score of 69-69—138. Both are Red Run members and Lathrup Village residents.

A total of 155 players competed in four flights in the two-day event.

They Lose Twin Bill to Cardinals

'June Swoon' Continues for Giants

By The Associated Press

As certain as death and taxes... that's a San Francisco Giants' swoon in June.

In each of their first four seasons in San Francisco, the Giants had stormed into June in or very close to first place in the National League standings only to fall flat on their faces in the month of honeymoons and traditional bliss.

This year, their fifth on the West Coast, has been no exception. They absorbed two more defeats at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, 6-5 and 13-3, extending their losing streak to six straight games.

★

The double defeat, coupled with Los Angeles' double triumph over Houston by scores of 9-3 and 9-7, dropped the Giants 2½ games behind the league leading Dodgers. Only a week ago the Giants led the Dodgers by two games.

THE RECORD

The Giants' June collapse is one of those believe-it-or-nots. Take a look:

1958—The Giants were in first place on June 1, enjoying a one-game lead over Milwaukee. They lost 14 of their next 20 to drop into third place.

1959—The Giants were in second place, a game in back of Milwaukee on June 1. They lost 9 of their next 16 to fall two games behind.

1960—The Giants were in first place on May 30, leading Pittsburgh by one game. They lost 17 of their next 22 to skid into third place 6½ games behind.

1961—The Giants were in first place on May 29, leading Los Angeles by a game and a half. They lost 8 of their next 10 to fall into third place.

1962—The Giants were in first place on June 5, leading the Dodgers by two games. They lost their next six.

Pittsburgh took two games from Milwaukee 12-8 and 3-2. Cincinnati split with Philadelphia, winning the second game 9-2 after the Phillies had won the opener 7-5. Chicago, after losing the first game 2-1, came from behind with three runs in the ninth and one in the 10th to win the second game 5-4 from New York.

LARGE TURNOUT

A turnaway crowd of 33,679, largest at Busch Stadium in 10 years, saw the Cardinals stretch their winning streak to seven games, which began after eight straight losses. Home runs by Curt Flood and Stan Musial highlighted the double triumph.

★ ★ ★

Flood homered with one on and one out in the ninth to account for the tying and winning runs in the opener. Musial's came with two on in a six-run fourth inning of the nightcap.

Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory and first baseman Ron Fairly drove in four runs with a triple, double and two singles in the Dodgers' first game triumph over Houston. Catcher Norm Sherry batted in four runs in the nightcap, three with a home run in a six-run sixth inning.

Bill Mazeroski and Dick Schofield drove in nine runs between them in Pittsburgh's first game victory over Milwaukee. Mazeroski batted in five with two home runs. Don Hoak's four-bagger proved to be the difference in the nightcap. The Pirates had dropped three doubleheaders in seven days prior to Sunday's double success.

Andre Rodgers' run-scoring double off relief pitcher Ken McKenzie in the 10th after pinch hitter Ernie Banks' game-tying three-run homer in the ninth, gave the Cubs a split with the Mets.

Eyes 2 More Records

Musial Nears Hit Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are on the move again in the National League and Stan (The Man) Musial, 41 years young, is leading the surge with a 12-game hitting streak that has carried him just one point from first place in the race for the batting crown.

★ ★ ★

Musial slammed a three-run homer and single in the second game, lifting his average to .347, as the Redbirds swept two from the San Francisco Giants Sunday, 6-5 and 13-3, and made it seven in a row. The Giants have lost six straight.

Stan The Man is batting .455 during his streak, 20 for 44, with 11 runs batted in. He started it batting an even .300.

IN 4TH PLACE

Musial's two runs gave him 1,883, putting him fourth on the all-time list behind Ty Cobb (2,244), Babe Ruth (2,174) and Lou Gehrig (1,888).

Musial also is closing in on two more highly-prized records. He is just 11 total bases from Cobb's major league record of 5,863. And he is only 19 runs batted in short of Mel Ott's National League record of 1,860.

Musial has seven homers and 30 RBI in 44 games to go with his .347 average, one point behind the Giants' Felipe Alou.

★ ★ ★

A turnaway crowd of 33,679, largest at Busch Stadium in 10 years, watched the Cards sweep the Giant series.

★ ★ ★

The surge has carried the Cards to fourth place, just a half game from third-place Cincinnati and six games from the runner-up Giants.

Unpredictable Huron Upsets West Side

Up-and-down Huron Bowl handed West Side its 1st setback in traveling league play romping 27-8 yesterday. Airway Lanes held 2nd place by beating cellar-dwelling Wonderland Lanes 10-5.

★ ★ ★

Mike Samardzija sparked Huron by scoring 10 points alone topped by games of 246-246. Joe Foster had a 256 on the way to seven points. Bob Lowry and Dick Carmichael had 230s and five points. Paul George completed the scoring in a 2,151-1,830 romp. Monroe Moore garnered six West Side points with 214-236. Bob Richards had the other two with a 224.

★ ★ ★

Arnie Reah paced Airway with four points including a 226. Jerry St. Silver added three highlighted by 217. Arnie Osta scored with 209. Jack Ashton had four Wonderland points hitting a 224 high. Sid Harris added one with 204.

No Big Ups or Downs

Monday's Market Pretty Drab

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved moderately lower early this afternoon in sluggish trading.

A good many stocks were unchanged and many showed thin losses but some declines of pivotal issues went to more than a point. Here and there a stock rose from a fraction to around a point.

★ ★ ★

It was the fourth straight Monday decline. The market was two weeks away from "Blue Monday," May 28, when the list took its sharpest dive since 1929. Last Monday's break was barely half that of May 28 and today's loss by lunch time was not even a sixth of the June 4th decline.

★ ★ ★

Most market commentators still saw stocks in a period of consolidation which could last a considerable time before a decisive movement is made one way or another. The weekend news contained little to prompt a sharp step either up or down.

Losses of more than a point by American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, DuPont helped drag down the market averages. Among other key stocks, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U. S. Steel, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, and Allied Chemical dipped fractions.

International Business Machines slid off half a dozen points in a routine movement. Volatile Polaroid was off about 4, again nothing unusual.

Ford, off about a point, was the worst of the autos. General Motors eased, Chrysler dropped a fraction, American Motors held steady and Studebaker - Packard was about unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Prices were irregular in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. Losses of about a point were taken by Speed-O-Print and Bohack. Fractionally lower were Waltham Precision, Syntex, Canadian Javelin, Atlantic Research and Murray Ohio Manufacturing.

Bond Prices Open Steady

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices were steady at the opening of the week's trading.

★ ★ ★

Over the counter dealers reported no changes in either intermediates or long issues from Friday's close in extremely slow dealings.

★ ★ ★

Rails dipped in early corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Industrials and utilities were mixed.

★ ★ ★

A number of changes amounted to a full point or more. These included Surface Transportation 6s up 1¼ at 96, Chicago & North Western Railroad 3s off 2 at 50 and Detroit Edison 3⅜s up 1 at 89.

Graham to End Chicago Talks

No Big Hall Available; to Finish With Rally Next Weekend

CHICAGO (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham has decided against extending his Chicago Crusade—one of the most successful he has ever conducted — because suitable facilities will not be available.

★ ★ ★

The crusade, which has attracted 400,000 persons to its first 12 sessions, went into its final week today. It will be concluded with a giant rally in 92,000-seat Soldier Field next weekend.

Graham said the 35,000-seat McCormick Place Convention Hall will be unavailable after this week and he has been unable to locate another suitable site.

Yesterday a crowd of 37,000 heard the evangelist warn the United States that as a free nation "we may be finished."

He said the days are "already numbered for the people of the United States, who have more than anybody in the world. The hour glass is already turned over."

Graham said "God drives people into a corner" and forces them to make a choice.

"He divides homes, businesses and families. Your money cannot be first. Your TV cannot be first. Your choice must be first," he said.

★ ★ ★

Graham said it is the common people who follow Jesus. "He always identified himself with the suffering, the alone, the bereaved." He said Jesus never said it was wrong to be rich . . . "it is your attitude that makes the difference."

Court Protects Veto Benefits in Savings Assn.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court decided today federal disability payments made to veterans and deposited in savings and loan associations may not be attached by creditors.

★ ★ ★

Justice Clark delivered the court's opinion which turned on the question of whether such deposits were legally "permanent investments." Justice Douglas wrote an opinion differing in some particulars from Clark. Chief Justice Warren and Justice Frankfurter took no part.

Clark's opinion pointed out that since 1873 it had been the policy of Congress to exempt veterans' benefits from creditor actions and from taxation.

★ ★ ★

He said a 1935 amendment by Congress provided that the exemption did not apply when benefit funds were converted into permanent investments.

Grains Weakened by Moderate Selling

CHICAGO (AP)—Moderate selling weakened grain futures prices generally again today on the board of trade.

May wheat slid more than two cents a bushel during the first several minutes, but other contracts eased within fractional ranges.

Brokers said some of the pressure undoubtedly was outright liquidation, but that a few speculators apparently were offering wheat and corn to establish short positions.

At least part of the activity, too, was toward evening up positions against the possibility of surprises in the government's June crop report to be issued after the close of trading today.

That's Why Tax Cut Urged

You Are Big in Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — You, the consumer, are the biggest factor in the economy. And the government wants to help keep the economy from dawdling — to help, maybe, by from $5 to $9 billion worth.

★ ★ ★

That's why tax relief for individuals is proposed by President Kennedy.

While the emphasis of his tax cutting plan is laid on spurring hesitant business to raise its spending plans and on counter-acting the harm an ailing stock market has done to confidence, the amount that may be pared from individual federal income taxes could prove a top weapon in the fight to increase the rate of economic growth.

EXPECTED TO SPEND

That's because you aren't expected to hold onto whatever you save from the proposed federal income tax cuts, when and if put into effect. You are expected to spend it—in the stores, at the auto dealers, the housing development, or for the countless services that mean more in your life all the time. Or, if you're in top income brackets, you're expected to put your tax savings into direct and indirect investment in business ventures.

★ ★ ★

This recognition of the big role the individual can play and does play, if he has the wherewithal, is an essential part of Kennedy's tax reform proposals, promised later this summer.

Earlier plans, now before Congress or in the works in the Internal Revenue Service, concentrate almost exclusively on incentives for business expansion through revamping depreciation allowances for tax purposes. This is important, especially now that business is hesitant.

WON'T BE CERTAIN

But consumer spending can give a big boost, too. The President hasn't spelled out how big a cut in individual income taxes he wants. In any case the cuts won't be a certainty until Congress takes final action.

★ ★ ★

Because the economy has dawdled there has been a good deal of wishful thinking recently that individual taxes would be cut this year. Also behind such thinking was the realization that tax bills originate in the lower house of Congress, and this is a congressional election year.

WON'T CHANGE AMOUNT

This hope for an early windfall for the individual taxpayer seems dashed by the President's statement that he wants the next Congress, not this one, to cut taxes. The cuts would affect income earned after Jan. 1, but wouldn't change the amount deducted from your pay this year, or the amount you'll be liable for next April 1.

★ ★ ★

Whatever the taxpayers in the lower income brackets may save by such a cut is expected to flow almost automatically into the channels of trade. The individual sums will be small; the total will be large, because the Treasury gets the lion share of its revenues from those in the lower brackets.

In the middle brackets, some of the tax relief could be put into various forms of saving and some into direct investment in business. But a large amount probably would go into goods and services—things wanted now, but just out of reach of disposable income after taxes.

Moslem Police Shoot at Europeans; 3 Dead

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem auxiliary policemen today fired on Europeans near the Algiers dockyards, killing three and wounding six.

The uniformed Moslem policemen said Europeans attacked them and they shot back. Two Europeans riding in a truck near the scene of the shooting were seized and held as hostages.

A European police official said the Moslems, who were guarding a dockworkers' hiring point, opened fire without provocation on Europeans passing by.

★ ★ ★

Secret Army Organization commandos struck in a Sahara oil field Sunday in their "scorched-earth" warfare but a Moslem nationalist leader said the terrorist fire power is fading.

Terrorist saboteurs blasted a well being drilled in the Sahara, about 60 miles south of the big Hassi Messaoud oil field, and set off a spectacular gas fire.

French officials expressed fears that the secret army, whose hard core now is believed to be largely French army deserters, would attempt to blow up dams, railroads and oil installations in their campaign to leave the country in ruins for the future Moslem rulers.

★ ★ ★

Chawki Mostefai, a spokesman for the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), told newsmen Algeria's Europeans were turning against the secret army fanatics. "It would not be rash to foresee a halt in the present events," he said.

Premier Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government was reported preparing a "solemn declaration" directed at the million European settlers on their role in the new Algeria.

'TO SATISFY ALL'

"We believe that this declaration will satisfy everyone," said Mostefai. He declined to go into details.

The European settlers were the backbone of the secret army in an attempt to block Algerian independence but there have been increasing signs they now realize the fight is hopeless.

Franco Arrests Political Foes

5 Leading Monarchists Nabbed on Return From Meeting in Germany

MADRID (AP) — Hundreds of opponents of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's dictatorship have been reported arrested in a sweeping roundup of dissidents of all political shades.

★ ★ ★

Five leading monarchists were caught in the dragnet as they returned from a meeting of Spanish oppositionists in Munich, Germany. Three of them refused an offer of exile and were flown today to forced residence in the Canary Islands. Two went into exile in Paris.

FLOWN TO ISLANDS

Those flown to Fuerte Ventura, second largest of the Canaries, were Joaquin de Satrustegui, an executive of the Spanish affiliate of the American-owned Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co.; Fernando Alvarez de Miranda, 40, nephew of the Marquis of Valdivia and a Madrid city employe, and Jaime Miralles, member of a prominent old family.

★ ★ ★

Families of the three men said they were not allowed to visit them or speak to them after they were arrested during the weekend. Under a new decree they can be kept in forced residence for two years.

The monarchist leaders who chose exile were Jose Maria Gil Robles and Jesus Prados Arrarte, a noted economist and professor at Madrid University.

Won't Review Ruling Clipping Freeman's Wings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand today a lower court decision that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman lacks authority to require that a label "imitation ham" be placed on smoked ham to which water has been added.

The decision against the secretary was by the U.S. Court of Appeals here which called the secretary's order "capricious and arbitrary." Freeman appealed to the highest court.

The Supreme Court order noting that it would not review the lower court decision said that Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black favored heaing the case. Justice Fankfurter took no part, making the court's vote 6-2.

Two Gunmen Escape in $3,400 Detroit Holdup

DETROIT (AP) A bandit armed with a submachine gun and his revolver-carrying companion held up the farmer's outlet and escaped with $3,400 Sunday.

The gunmen took $2,200 in cash and change from a safe and another $1,000 from cash registers. When they took a five-gallon ice cream container to carry their loot in, they picked up a bonus.

Owner Paul Yonosko, 56, said he had hidden $200 in the container.

Asks New Look at N. Y. Suit

High Court Directs Apportionment Ruling Be Reconsidered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court directed today that a lower court reconsider a suit by a group of New Yorkers challenging constitutionality of apportionment of the New York Legislature.

A three-judge federal couf in New York on Jan. 11 dismissed the suit, in which the charge was made that the Senate and Assembly were deliberately apportioned in a manner discriminatory to citizens of metropolitan areas.

A three-judge federal court in U. S. Constitution's 14th Amendment did not restrict a state from discriminating against geographical areas with respect to voting.

MARCH DECISION

In a March 26 decision in a Tennessee case, the Supreme Court decided federal courts had the power and duty to consider consitutionality of such apportionments, and that some could be so unfair as to violate the amendment's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

After the Supreme Court decision, an appeal was filed asking reversal of the three-judge ruling and an order directing the lower tribunal to reconsider the New York complaint.

The appeal was filed by New York radio station WMCA and its president, R. Peter Straus; and Joseph De Maio, Edward Lind, S. Thomas Delaney, Edward C. Brown and James J. McCafferty. The litigation was begun by WMCA before the three-judge court on May 1, 1961.

While WMCA's appeal was pending, the Supreme Court on April 23 held in a Michigan case that malapportionment is a matter for review before state courts as well as federal courts.

To Extend Danger Area for Firing Biggest Bomb

HONOLULU (AP) — Extension of the United States high altitude danger area around Johnston Island was seen today as a preliminary to the firing of the biggest nuclear blast of the Pacific test series.

There was no official comment from Joint Task Force 8 on the precise altitude and size of the detonation but unofficial sources said it will be from 50 to 500 times as powerful as the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima.

★ ★ ★

There have been reports it will be of several megatons in force. A megaton blast is the equivalent of the explosion of a million tons of TNT.

The big blast will be set off about 200 miles high, the sources said. It will be the highest and biggest nuclear shot in U.S. history and will be seen in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of Johnston.

TO EXTEND DANGER AREA

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department announced Saturday that the nuclear danger area surrounding Johnston Island will be extended 60 miles by Tuesday to a radius of 530 nautical miles at sea level. It will be increased 290 nautical miles at 30,000 feet, to a radius of 990 miles.

The zone will be extended 10,000 feet in altitude to a height of 40,000 feet, where the radius will be 1,050 miles. At 30,000 feet the zone will cover the entire Hawaiian Island chain.

The zone is being extended to mark the "eye burn" area in which there could be a hazard from looking directly at the blast through binoculars, periscopes or other optical instruments. The spokesman said it could lead to permanent eye damage or possible blindness.

He said there will be no hazard to Hawaii residents who view the fireball with the naked eye from surface levels.

The extension announcement indicated the shot will not come before Thursday, in the hours of darkness, because of the four-day warning that is given air lines. A Joint Task Force 8 spokesman indicated a possible firing during next weekend.

Neat Application Helps

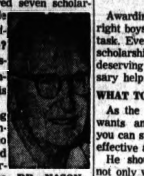

Go After Scholarship in the Right Way

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

In the first high school derby for scholarships was your child "out of the money?"

"Why," you ask, "were the Jones boys offered seven scholarships each, while mine was not offered even one?

It is the system — not the individuals—that is to blame.

DR. NASON

A game among high school seniors is to see who will be granted the most scholarships. They make dozens of applications. School officials sometimes are at fault too. I have heard high school principals boast at commencement of the number of scholarships offered their front-running seniors.

★ ★ ★

As a result of this sort of thing, universities and colleges have been forced to make substantial charges for processing applications for entrance and scholarships. Obviously, the Jones boys cannot enter seven colleges. They just have the dubious honor of becoming dogs in several mangers at the same time!

★ ★ ★

Awarding scholarships to the right boys and girls is not a simple task. Every September finds some scholarships unawarded and some deserving students without necessary help.

WHAT TO DO

As the parent of a student who wants and needs a scholarship, you can still see to it that he takes effective action.

He should make new inquiries not only with his school counselor, but to the college he plans to attend.

Inquire among local service groups, sororities and fraternal groups about scholarships, and about the existence of scholarship funds which are not regularly advertised and are not granted on a routine basis.

Before submitting a new application think carefully about the ones which did not produce results. The following items are of vital importance in swaying the persons controlling the granting of scholarships:

1. The application blank must be completely and neatly filled out. If a blank space is not applicable, write "none" to indicate that it was not overlooked.

★ ★ ★

2. Any statement of personal autobiography, of aims and goals, in answer to questions such as "Why do you wish to attend this college?" should be carefully composed. The controlling committee will try to determine from this short exercise whether the student has the ability to communicate his thoughts in writing in a manner which presages success in college. It is one of the major keys.

★ ★ ★

They may not try to read character through handwriting, but handwriting affects their decision.

3. The student should personally contact and obtain permission from each person to be used as a reference.

He should show these people his sincere desire to get a college education. He should give them a frank appraisal of the ability of his parents to give him financial assistance, and of his own plans for earning part of his expenses.

The more alert students asking me to be a reference have presented me with a written list of these items, plus a statement of their honors, accomplishments, experiences and other specific items which can add much to the effectiveness of a letter of recommendation.

★ ★ ★

4. Parents while giving an honest statement of their ability to contribute should be careful not to overestimate it for reasons of pride or willingness to be self-sacrificing.

★ ★ ★

The real aim of donors of scholarships is to help students obtain an education without undue hardship either to themselves or the parents.

★ ★ ★

Information on finances and scholarships can be obtained from your local library. Two good sources are "The New American Guide to Scholarships, Fellowships and Loans," by John Bradley and "Scholarships, Fellowships and Loans" by S. Norman Feingold.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Here is another hand from the Silodor-Tierney book. Once again the East and West hands are not shown because they are illustrating the proper play with nine trumps, missing the queen.

The correct play is to lead either the ace or king first. This takes care of a singleton queen if there is one. Then you should play to the other high card and try to drop the queen rather than a finesse.

The actual percentages are: drop play, 58 per cent; finesse play, 56.2 per cent. So if you have gathered any information from the opponents that would indicate the probability of uneven distribution you should try the finesse.

Now suppose that West has overcalled your opening heart bid with a nuisance jump overcall of two spades. What information does this give you?

It tells you that West has a lot of spades. This means he will be short somewhere else and hence the chances are that hearts won't change your tactics: play a heart to dummy's king and, assuming that both opponents follow, play East for the queen and finesse if necessary.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Day to exercise diplomacy, good will. NOT time to make financial decisions. Taking this over with associate could save many dollars. Pushing, demanding tactics backfire. Take it easy!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): One who nags you to rush should be told politely to mind his own business. Day when caution should be exercised in both in business and personal dealings. Watch temper!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Surface appearances should be taken with proverbial grain of salt. There are indications that you could do a little "digging" and come up with some interesting answers.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Emphasis on DETAILS. The more emphasis on minor matters you get out of the way, the better your chance for success. Tonight: read, check facts. BE PATIENT.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Bright ideas are wasted if you merely "talk them out." Some action, travel are required, along with putting thoughts in writing. Don't expect "gift" on silver platter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Speak your mind but combine your words with a smile, with charm. You gain much more by easygoing, gracious attitude. Choose this course rather than one of force.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Romance is highlighted. Your cycle is up. Your judgment, intuition not to be trusted. Have faith in first impressions. Invest in your own talents, abilities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Active opposition could become evident. You combat this by factual facts, speaking up and making your position clear. No time for "fiddling." Do many allies.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Day for IMPROVEMENT. This easily done by re-examining work methods, and by taking close look at personal relationships. Respect of others comes through SELF-RESPECT.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may find what you most desire close to home! Like Aries, consult close to you for worthwhile desires, problems in your prospect. The answer could prove simple and bring greater happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Favorable lunar aspect is today. Make your outlook could brighten. This IF you take long-range view. Much to be gained by ACCEPTING responsibility instead of seeking short cuts.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): By stressing SERVICE today you will find that others express desire to help or serve YOU. This is application of Golden Rule. It works especially well for you today. Think it over!

★ ★ ★

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY your sense of humor is one of your greatest assets. You attract many persons to you and sometimes persons who seek to "use" you. Highlight this year could come in AUGUST, when professional achievement indicated. Could be month featuring contracts which lead to happier personal life.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Friction created by impulsive statements, actions. Day which is apt to feature the bizarre, the unusual. Top headline could concern one who makes eccentric kinds of statements. This person, however, should be regarded as "crazy like a fox."

GOP'S Stahlin Files for Lt. Gov. on Ticket

LANSING (AP)— Sen. John H. Stahlin, R-Belding, filed today for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Stahlin, 42, who has served two terms in the Senate, filed petitions which he said contained the names of more than 23,000 voters in all of Michigan's 83 counties.

He said the 9,000 signatures above the required 14,542 were a "buffer against inaccuracies and ineligible signers."

★ ★ ★

The Belding manufacturer said in a statement that he would put on the "most vigorous lieutenant governor's campaign Michigan has ever seen."

Hart Tells Graduates 'You Owe Something'

HOUGHTON (UPI) — U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told Michigan Tech graduates today "after graduation you begin to owe something."

★ ★ ★

He said, "You don't owe it to your professor, you don't owe it to engineering or science; you owe it to people."

★ ★ ★

He told the 554 graduates they should judge their work by one question:

"Who will it benefit besides me?"

★ ★ ★

Hart received an honorary doctor of laws degree and Howard E. Hill, a Michigan Tech alumnus and managing director of the Michigan State Highway Department, was awarded an honorary doctor of engineering degree.

Underwriters Oppose King-Anderson Bill

The Pontiac Association of Life Underwriters has adopted a resolution opposing the King-Anderson medicare bill.

★ ★ ★

The resolution, enacted by the Michigan State Association of Life Underwriters, Inc., at its annual convention in Grand Rapids, May 16, backs present medical care programs and objects to "increasing role of Government in private and business affairs."

Seek Little Give on Medicare Bill

Administration Trying to Find Compromise to Prevent Defeat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration searched today for a face-saving compromise to head off almost certain defeat for President Kennedy's program of medical care for the elderly.

★ ★ ★

As the House Ways and Means Committee began a series of closed door meetings on the issue, prospects looked dim for enactment of any legislation this year. The committee sessions may run for two weeks before the showdown vote.

The committee now is lined up 15 to 10 against the administration's King-Anderson bill, according to the most favorable count of its supporters.

Nevertheless, backers refused to give up hope that a majority of 13 might be mustered in support of some compromise that would embody the principle of the President's proposal to add medical care to cash benefits of the Social Security program.

DON'T WANT VOTE

However, a significant number of the 248 House Democrats who are not on the committee privately were hoping that the committee would keep the legislation bottled up so they will not have to vote on it this election year.

The mail of many Democrats has been running strongly against the legislation. Some of them fear they cannot vote yes or no on the issue without alienating a sizable block of voters.

Administration forces contend that public opinion polls have proven that the President's program is popular among voters.

They said the mail simply indicates that the American Medical Association and other foes have done a better job in some districts than the White House and organized labor in promoting letter-writing.

Stahlin Slams Nuisance Taxes—Just a 'Bandage'

IONIA (AP) — Sen. John Stahlin, R-Belding, has called Michigan's newly-passed nuisance tax package "another temporary bandage to a festering wound."

Stahlin said he was not in favor of the $76-million package, but that he voted for it because "it was a matter of nuisance taxes or nothing," in a speech Saturday to a political rally.

Stahlin said nuisance taxes "place the major tax burden upon the lower and middle income groups who can least afford it."

County Republicans Endorse Constitution

Oakland County Republicans have officially endorsed the proposed new state constitution.

★ ★ ★

The party's county executive committee voted 100 per cent approval of a resolution to support the document.

The resolution states:

★ ★ ★

"The Oakland County Republican Committee congratulates the constitutional convention delegates on their untiring efforts in having produced an outstanding document for the State of Michigan. We wholeheartedly recommend its acceptance by the electorate and we urge Republican Committees throughout the state to work for its adoption."

★ ★ ★

Oakland County was represented at con-con by six Republicans and one Democrat.

Huge paneled "family" room featuring a natural fireplace and a window wall leading to the rear of home. Smart built-in kitchen loaded with formica cabinets; separate dining also! 1½ baths. 2-car finished garage. Absolutely nothing to compare at $23,500 and this owner would trade for free and clear bungalow.
INDIAN VILLAGE, between Tel-Huron and the Mall. Seldom do we have a nice big 5-room bungalow with basement, gas heat and 2-car garage in a medium price range. Well constructed, plastered walls, hardwood floors but does need a little decorating. $11,950 is the price and the terms are flexible. We have the key.
HUNTOON LAKE FRONT
— A one-owner brick ranch with 2-car plastered garage. The 23-foot living room features picture windows at each end, makes you feel like you're living out of doors. A log-burning fireplace, a beautiful green carpeting, complete a serene room. 3 ample bedrooms, wardrobe closets. An extra half bath is convenient to the kitchen, utility and garage. Oak floors, plastered walls, ceramic baths. Best of all perhaps is the spot, 85 feet right on the lake front. Move in and enjoy the full summer; owners are leaving the state. Priced right at $19,500 and about $2,500 will handle.
BEST INCOME DOWNTOWN — Waiting list of tenants. You'll have a really lovely, big five rooms plus two enclosed porches for yourself plus 2 up-to-date rental units bringing in $1,800 per year. Excellent carpeting almost all through the building; separate entrances and baths. Excellent value at $12,700 and the nice owner would consider a trade for a clean bungalow.

HAS SPEED TROUBLE — Unable to speak Spanish, Indiana state trooper Michael Rasheta has a difficult time explaining to Felix Ocana of Pasto, Colombia that the minimum speed limit on the Indiana toll road is 40 miles per hour. Ocana's Model T just won't go that fast so he will have to take a different road on his trip to Ottawa, Ont. from Ecuador. He started his journey in May of 1960.

Says Military Has Space Plan

Defense Dept. Wants to Prevent Control by Reds, Is Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The Defense Department is embarking upon a man-in-space program to prevent military control of space by the Soviet Union, the New York Times said today.

★ ★ ★

The nation's space program, until now largely a civilian program, is set to acquire a military tinge, a Washington dispatch to the Times said.

After years of reluctance and opposition, the Defense Department has finally accepted the need for a military space program aimed at control of space as well as its exploration.

★ ★ ★

As a result, the department has decided that the Air Force should develop the technology for a manned satellite capable of inspecting and destroying a hostile vehicle in space.

★ ★ ★

Beyond this decision, the department—at the urging of the White House and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—has undertaken a six-month study to draft an enlarged military space program.

As explained by defense officials, the Air Force will not be given a go-ahead immediately to develop a large-scale, operational system of manned satellites but will develop the technology, components and subsystems required in an eventual system.

★ ★ ★

The expectation is that funds for this purpose will be included in the military budget to be presented in January for the 1964 fiscal year.

To Vote on Tax to Aid Handicapped Pupils

FLINT (AP) — A controversial tax proposal to raise $670,000 a year for special education for handicapped children went before Genesee County School District voters today.

The proposal, for a half-mill levy, was advocated by the County Board of Education but opposed by the Flint Board of Education.

Pre-election dispute has been sharp. One school official's home was picketed by parent and children demonstrators. The county board tried unsuccessfully to get a court injunction against the Flint board in a wrangle over statements by the latter.

★ ★ ★

The county board says the program is necessary. The Flint board feels otherwise. The two groups also have disputed over ultimate control of the proposed program.

Industry Survey Asked in Light of Common Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., urged the administration today to conduct a nationwide labor-management survey of industry's competitive position in relation to the European Common Market.

In a speech prepared for the National Association of Direct Selling Companies, Humphrey suggested that the survey be conducted by the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

Humphrey said the committee's findings could be the base for a second White House Conference on National Economic Issues.

"We need new action and new policies by both government and private industry to boost export of our products overseas — and we need them now," he declared.

Big Snake Is Victim of Too Much Pull

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— College student Mike Krieger wanted to help a friend's snake work up an appetite, so he put the 7-foot anaconda in a bathtub of warm water in his apartment yesterday.

★ ★ ★

As frequently happens when someone is in the tub, the phone rang.

Krieger, 20, returned to find the anaconda — which crushes its prey like the boa constrictor — disappearing down the toilet. He grabbed its tail and started pulling.

In the next apartment, Bob Titsworth, a graduate student at California Institute of Technology where Krieger is an undergraduate, happened to look into his bathroom, unaware of the drama next door. The snake's head had appeared in his plumbing.

Still unaware of dual interest, each man bent to the task of saving the snake. Mike and two friends — not wanting neighbors to know of their pet — tugged at the tail. Bob enlisted two fire department units, several policemen and a humane society worker in a try to coax the snake out.

It took an hour and a half — while the snake waited wearily —for the two factions to learn they were at odds over the ends.

The men then broke the plumbing and retrieved the snake, by now perhaps with an appetite but certainly with little stomach for further such adventures.

★ ★ ★

"And I can't say I blame him," Krieger said.

The humane society took custody.

★ ★ ★

Krieger explained that the warm water in the tub helped the snake — a cold-blooded tropical animal — raise its body temperature and thus feel more interested in eating.

Fire Wrecks Building at Summer Resort

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Fire yesterday destroyed the 80-room main building of the Silver Beach Resort here. An auxiliary housing unit also was lost.

★ ★ ★

South Haven firemen fought the blaze for an hour and a half.

The building, built before the turn of the century and formerly known as the Newcombe Resort, was one of the finest resorts in the area during the early 1900s.

★ ★ ★

Louis Jaconson, owner of the resort for the last 15 years, refused to estimate how much the destroyed property was worth, but stated that $15,000 worth of equipment had been destroyed.

Otto'll Need His Humor Against Senate Friends

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Otto Preminger has a warm sense of humor — luckily.

He's going to need one. Some of the anvil chorus is trying to scalp him, except that baldness scalped him long ago, over his movie, "Advise and Consent." It portrays one U.S. Senator as briefly effeminate, and another as a demagogic blackmailer.

WILSON

"I don't mind what they say — I have never made a picture everybody liked," he says, with a smile, a shrug and an Austrian accent.

"Why don't you sometime?" I asked him.

★ ★ ★

He laughed softly. A nice picture everybody liked — no controversy — it would die!

I saw the film previewed. Franchot Tone, who played a dying President, was there and obviously was healthy — he went out for a drink.

Burgess Meredith had a great scene as a psychopathic witness. After at a supper party I said:

"You were a very believable mental case."

He bowed . . . and repeated the facial twitch he used.

"Have you heard from Sam Goldwyn about the picture?" I asked Preminger.

"How can I when we're not speaking?" he said — referring to an old feud.

Preminger has a Diego Rivera painting of three lemons on the wall of his 5th Av. office. It's called "Three Lemons."

"The 'Three Lemons' title does not refer to my last three pictures," he tells callers. "As it was done in 1946 — before my last three pictures."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Marilyn Monroe didn't show up three days straight at "Something's Got to Give" — as they put it, "She's 72 hours late" . . . Beautiful Joan Bennett's escort: good-looking Jimmy Amster . . .

Joe DiMaggio writes from Europe he'll visit East Berlin . . . Henry Fonda's date at the "Advise and Consent" premiere was ex-wife Susan . . . Natalie Wood's wearing a new chignon hair-do suggested by Liz Taylor.

Sydney Chaplin and Orson Bean are adlibbing lines in "Subways," as a gag, throwing the rest of the cast off . . . Alan King, who has a routine kidding medics, was given a lunch by the AMA in Chicago . . . Connie Francis twisted in blue jeans at the Roundtable.

EARL'S PEARLS — You seldom see office workers wasting time around the water cooler any more — they're all out having coffee.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Personally," says a local husband, "I'm grateful to Liz Taylor — putting all us married men back in style again!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: This is the time of year when the guy who worked so hard to graduate starts wondering what the hurry was.

One of the quickest ways to meet people is to sit on the wrong blanket at the beach. That's earl, brother.

Drop Segregated Voting, Romney Urges of Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — Republican George Romney urged Michigan Negroes during the weekend to abandon what he termed their "segregated voting pattern" for Democratic candidates.

★ ★ ★

The GOP gubernatorial candidate said in a speech to the trade union leadership council, a predominately Negro labor organization, "the Democratic party today validly accepts and takes for granted the overwhelming majority support of Negroes," then added:

"The segregated voting pattern of the Negro is just as defeating of the aims and goals of Negroes as any other form of segregation, including housing and education.

"The Negro today knows that he should not be taken for granted in the industrial and commercial field. However, he is overlooking something just as important when he adheres rigidly to one political party. Eventually he is taken for granted, and others of whom the party is not so sure receive greater attention . . .

'COULD DO MORE'

"I believe I could do more than others to correct the problem of racial discrimination and human injustice in this state because I think it must be based upon cooperation and practical solutions.

"I think it is time to stop using discrimination as a political football. I will fight for full freedom, equal opportunity, equal recognition, and justice for all."

Romney said that outside forces could not change the so-called segregated voting pattern, and that "any change will have to come from the decision of rank and file Negro citizens."

He promised to observe "equal rights before, during and after the election," adding that "no greater disservice can be rendered any single racial, ethnic or religious group than to distribute political honors and opportunities on any basis other than that of top skill available for public service.

★ ★ ★

"I will appoint people on the basis of competency and ability, and there are competent Negroes."

Dynasty Issue Raised by GOP

Party in Massachusetts Hits Dems' Backing President's Brother

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts Republicans threw the dynasty issue at the Democrats today over their convention choice of young Edward M. Kennedy, the President's brother, for the U.S. Senate.

The GOP, with a dynasty problem of its own, moves into Worcester for its convention Saturday.

The chief Republican rivals for the U.S. Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former United Nations ambassador and the 1960 GOP nominee for vice president, and U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, completing his 10th year in Congress.

At stake is the Senate seat Lodge's father once held until John F. Kennedy defeated him in 1952.

The younger Lodge told a group of convention delegates at his father's home in Beverly yesterday:

★ ★ ★

"I have been lumped with the dynasty by my opponent. The dynasty issue is a good issue and one that I can particularly press against the Democrats.

★ ★ ★

"I have no brother in the White House, nor do I have an uncle who is speaker of the House, nor have I had a close relative in high elective office for 10 years."

The line about having an uncle who is speaker of the House was a reference to the man Edward Kennedy defeated at Springfield for the convention endorsment—Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. He is a nephew of speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Curtis, who will be 69 in September, hammered away on the issue of "immaturity."

"Now that Ted Kennedy has been endorsed," Curtis told a campaign meeting, "it is clear that the Republican party will lose one of its biggest issues unless it has a candidate who can fight hard on the issue of immaturity."

★ ★ ★

Though the tired Democrats were home from Springfield, their battling was far from over. In Massachusetts, conventions settle little since candidates who fail to win endorsement can run against the endorsed candidate in September.

Veterinarians Spend $6,000 on Drugs Yearly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The typical veterinarian buys approximately $6,000 in drugs each year. The estimate, from the New York State Association of Public Health Veterinarians, is coupled with a report that each of the 19,000 vets nationwide is responsible, on the average, for the health of 375 horses, 7,785 cattle, 2,577 sheep, 4,583 hogs, 31,063 poultry, 2,083 dogs, and 1,166 cats.

Campers Take 'Homes' Along on Vacation

By BEN PHLEGAR
Automotive Writer

DETROIT — When families take to the open road for their vacations this summer, chances are better than ever they'll be taking their vacation homes with them.

The postwar boom in tents and trailers already has pushed the camping business to unprecedented peaks. And now the newest phase is the vehicle which includes sleeping and eating accomodations.

For years, handy do-it-yourselfers have been improvising beds and camping facilities around their trusty station wagons.

But this fad really took hold with the introduction into this country of small bus-type vehicles which lent themselves readily to conversion as camping units.

One of the first of these was the Volkswagen Microbus with its double side doors, rear engine and a roof high enough to allow an average man to stand up.

Chevrolet and Ford came into this market a year ago with the Corvair Greenbriar and the Econoline bus, now marketed as a Falcon club wagon.

★ ★ ★

All three of these units come originally with bench seats, carrying eight or nine people. But the seats can be removed and the interiors fitted with tables, beds, stoves and even a toilet and running water.

Dealers in all three lines now have available conversion kits, so that the fittings can be installed for your vacation trip, then removed when the vehicle returns to normal service. Factory installations also are available.

One such conversion kit contains the following items: A vanity with mirror, medicine cabinet, front and rear benches which convert into a children's bed, paneling for the left wall, floor covering.

It also has bed boards for a double bed, dining table, door shelf, eight cushions, curtains, screens, two-burner camp stove, ice box, water tank with spigot and a chemical toilet.

RUNS $700 PLUS

The price for this runs about $700 plus original installation. Once installed, it can be removed in less than an hour by the owner. A simplified kit can be installed in 20 minutes, the manufacturer claims.

Now well into their second year on the market, the Greenbriar and Ford bus sold some 34,000 in 1961 and Volkswagen pushed the total well over 50,000.

Other varieties in much more luxurious customized versions also are available. One, by Mercedes-Benz of Germany, runs in the neighborhood of $10,000.

A second-type of self-contained camping unit utilizes a pickup truck, or at least the truck chassis.

Dodge, which doesn't have a little bus to match Ford and Chevrolet, offers the Custom Sportster, which is a house unit mounted directly on a truck chassis.

This gives it added stability as well as making it eligible for passenger car registration.

★ ★ ★

The Custom Sportster offers a flush toilet and shower, hot and cold running water, kitchen facilities and room for five to sleep.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the County of Oakland is now taking steps to construct a large airport near the northern limits of the City of Pontiac on the theory that there will be a need for such an airport in the Oakland County area, notwithstanding the very elaborate, extensive and complete airport in the County of Wayne which is, today, within one hour's driving distance from any part of Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw County; and

WHEREAS, there have been no cost estimates submitted as to this vast and extensive project although $365,000.00 dollars has been expended to purchase the land in the area where the airport is to be located; and

WHEREAS, there has been no request by any federal agency or any other responsible authority that this airport is necessary at the present time; and,

WHEREAS, the cost of financing this airport will be taken from the county budget and due to conservative estimates, this cost is prohibitive unless financing can be obtained by the issuance of County revenue bonds, which are subject to referendum; and,

WHEREAS, comparable airports to wit, Wayne Metropolitan and O'Hare at Chicago have exceeded $150,000,000.00 costs and the expense of a county airport, because of the extensive grading, the uneven terrain and navigation easements will be upwards of $200,000,000.00, in the opinion of persons qualified to make such estimates; and

WHEREAS, to raise funds for costly projects, County officials are compelled to make unrealistic budgets which contain unnecessary appropriations to build up surplus funds all of which curtails the operations of our schools and other units of government who share millage with the County of Oakland; and

WHEREAS, the present day total tax burdens, when added together, are becoming confiscatory which demands that unnecessary and wasteful projects be eliminated; and

WHEREAS, this Commission is well aware of the resultant damage to Pontiac property owners from noise and vibration of aircraft coming in over the City to land at this new proposed airport immediately north of the Pontiac City Limits; and

WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court has recently held that the authorities maintaining such an airport are liable for all damage, nuisance and annoyance from jet aircraft.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this Commission does hereby register objection to the expenditure of County tax funds for this unrealistic and visionary project which, if completed, will bring injury and damage to the home owners of the City of Pontiac whose property is in the flight pattern of aircraft using this field and to that end this Commission instructs its representatives on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors of this project as being an unnecessary, wasteful and unjustified expenditure of tax funds needed for more worthwhile projects.

HIGH WATER — Riding a bicycle couldn't keep Dan Lovse, 13, of 142 Cadillac, from getting wet feet Saturday as rains flooded sections of Pontiac. UAW Facility 'Progress Sign'

Mazey Hails Local 594 for Construction of New Headquarters

United Auto Workers Local 594's new $200,000 hall in Pontiac was termed "a symbol of union progress here" by UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey, principal speaker at dedication ceremonies Saturday.

Introduced by Local President Andy Wilson, Mazey commended members here on construction of the modern, one-story brick building at 525 S. East Blvd.

The building has been serving more than 6,000 General Motors Truck & Coach Division employes since offices were moved March 17 from the former hall at 90 Mt. Clemens Street.

Approximately 600 persons visited the new hall during an open house following the dedication.

Others officiating in the ceremonies were Ernest Moran, assistant director of the UAW's GM Department, Kenneth Morris, UAW regional director and Carl Hunter, local financial secretary.

Wilson compared the new hall's auditorium, having a 500-seating capacity, with the old quarters where only 200 persons could gather at a time.

Also, he noted that parking space for 156 cars is provided in a lot next to the new hall. Parking for meetings at the former building always posed a problem, he recalled.

Wilson said the new building was proving extremely efficient for union administration here.

MANY FACILITIES

The new quarters also contain a recreation room, open during normal daytime hours, for retired union members. Television, shuffleboard and other game equipment is provided.

The new building is fully air-conditioned. The auditorium, in the center of the building, is flanked by offices, a fully equipped kitchen and the recreation room.

Sound from the auditorium can be piped into all of the other rooms via a public address system to accommodate larger crowds.

The building costs are being paid out of a building fund collected through a per capita tax on union local members, Wilson said.

Investigators Seek Train Wreck's Cause

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

MISSOULA, Mont. — Investigators sought today to determine whether brake failure or human error caused yesterday's wreck of a Northern Pacific passenger train which killed one person and injured 243 others.

An NP spokesman said one or the other caused the train to lurch off its tracks at more than twice the recommended speed and scatter 15 of its 18 cars along a steep embankment.

The train, eastbound from Seattle, Wash., to Chicago was packed with tourists heading homeward from the Seattle World's fair.

It derailed at a speed of more than 75 miles an hour after rounding a curve and starting down a canyon grade on Evaro Hill 16 miles north of here.

Killed was Theresa Ann Doorns, 2½, of Ekalaka, Mont. Sixty-eight other passengers were confined to Missoula hospitals last night.

The remaining injured were treated for minor injuries and released.

The dead girl's two stepsisters, Roberta and Jacqueline Yates, were rescued by fellow passengers. They were hospitalized, as was their mother, Mrs. James B. Yates.

STATE YOUTH UNHURT

An Allen Park, Mich., youth, returning home from Oergon State University on the train, telephoned his family yesterday that he had escaped uninjured.

Dan Lebenta, 19, told his mother he was "a little shaken up."

An official estimate gave the train's speed at "more than 70 miles an hour" in an area where the recommended speed is 30 m.p.h.

The railroad spokesman, W. A. MacKenzie, said the reason for the "considerably excessive" speed could have been "brake failure or human failure."

Investigators from the railroad and Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) were at the scene to attempt to determine the exact cause of the accident.

The derailment occurred just about dawn. The cars were strewn in zig-zag fashion along the steep slope.

School Elections Today

Eleven school districts seek approval of operating tax levies while only one asks voters to okay a bond issue in today's elections in 26 area school districts.

The largest bond issue in the school district's history, $1.29 million, is on the ballot in Avondale. If approved, it will finance additions to all schools in the district, plus construction of a new elementary school.

Voters in the Utica Community School District are being asked to approve $400 annual salaries for school board members.

Board of education candidates are running unopposed in eight districts. In three districts—Dryden, Metamora and North Oxford—board members will be elected at 8 p.m. meetings today.

Districts with operating tax increases or renewals on their ballots are Avondale, Clarenceville, Dryden, Huron Valley, Lapeer, Lyon Township, Oak Park, Oxford, Rochester, Walled Lake and West Bloomfield.

Laotian Princes Agree on Coalition Cabinet

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—The rival Laotian princes agreed today on the cabinet for a coalition government aimed at ending the civil war and adding Laos to the ranks of the world's neutral nations.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier-designate, announced the agreement, climaxing negotiations instituted by the 14-nation conference on Laos at Geneva 13 months ago.

★

Premier Prince Boun Oum of the present royal Laotian government is stepping out of governmental affairs, happily, he said. However, the strong man of his regime, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, will sit in as deputy premier and minister of finance under Souvanna.

★ ★ ★

Another deputy premiership and the economy portfolio will go to Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half brother of the premier-designate.

Though domestic problems still abound, the three princes and their aides emerged happily from a meeting that wound up conferences begun in this rebel stronghold last week.

Immediately after the announcement, the three princes signed the Cabinet list. Souvanna, however, said the three will meet again Tuesday to sign a formal agreement on formation of the coalition.

1 OF TOUGHEST POINTS

Souvanna said he hopes to take his ministers to Luang Prabang, the royal capital, by next Monday to present them to King Savang Vathana.

The question of who would get the armed forces and police ministries had been one of the toughest points blocking an agreement. The royalist government had expressed fear that turning these posts over to

Senator Talks at MSU Rites

Mansfield Says Policy Toward Southeast Asia Must Be Re-Examined

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a commencement day audience yesterday at Michigan State University that it's time for a re-examination of this nation's policy toward Southeast Asia.

The Senate majority leader and the administration's chief spokesman in that body said his support of President Kennedy does not preclude public discussion of present approaches.

These approaches, he said, will yield little to the people of this nation and little to the people of Southeast Asia.

Mansfield said he doubted that U.S. traffic security and other interests justify indefinite commitment to the unilateral defense of the area. Rather, he said, this nation should investigate "every possibility of minimizing the unilateral activity of the United States in Southeast Asia in every sphere."

★ ★ ★

He asked that we "draw clearly the distinction between what is enduringly basic and what is transitory and peripheral in our interests with respect" to the area.

The unilateral supply of manpower and billions is at best "a mark-time course of immense costs" and "at worst, it's a collision course," he said.

Mansfield called for an "attempt to alter or modify" the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization if better ways of maintaining peace and independent in Southeast Asia can be found.

He also urged that efforts be made to have the United Nations or another group of nations to share the burden of improving the economic and social lot of Laos, South Viet Nam and other underdeveloped nations.

Mansfield received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

For the first time in 12 years, rain forced the transfer of the graduation exercises at MSU from Spartan Stadium to Jenison Fieldhouse. Fieldhouse capacity cut attendance to a little more than 12,000.

Degrees were awarded to 2,406 graduates, including 534 who received advance degrees.

Ugh, It's Sticky-So's Tomorrow

Lower Michigan Can Expect Humid High of 78; Rain Ahead Tonight

Humid.

That's what tomorrow will be in the Pontiac area as well as the rest of lower Michigan.

Following thunderstorms this afternoon and evening, tonight's low will be 65.

Partly cloudy skies and little change in temperature is the outlook through Tuesday along with tomorrow's high of 78 degrees.

Temperatures during the next five days will average near or a little below a normal high of 78 and a normal low of 58. Cooler weather Tuesday and Wednesday will be followed by only minor day-to-day changes in temperature thereafter.

Some 1.9 inches of rainfall was recorded between the hours of 10 a.m., Saturday and the same time this morning. As one local observer reported, the rain north of Lake Orion Saturday night was so hard that traffic stopped still in the road.

However, humid and muggy it may be, the corn crop is thriving from the rain, according to Wayne Siefert, an Oakland County agricultural agent. Up to now plants have been coming up slowly.

As the first crop of hay is about to be harvested, the second crop will benefit more from the showers. The wheat will be little affected, though.

The lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. today was a mild 69 degrees throughout most of the early morning hours. Eighty-two was the reading at 1 p.m.

Requests Joining of Hands With Government

Help Economy, JFK Urges Critics

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—President Kennedy urged today that critics, business and political, discard "wornout slogans" and join hands with the government to pump new strength and confidence into the nation's economy.

Kennedy vowed his clash with the steel industry did not mean his administration is hostile toward business.

But in a speech prepared for Yale University's commencement, he said the government is obliged to exercise "watchful concern for our economic health" while business and labor must live up to their public responsibilities.

Kennedy said economic problems bearing down on a free economy cannot be solved without separating myth from reality—and he said it is mythical to contend that government is big and getting worse or to argue that deficits in the federal budget always create inflation.

REPLIES TO CHARGES

He responded by implication to charges by Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and some spokesmen for business that his policies touched off recent stock market gyrations.

Among false issues which he said are frustrating efforts to push the economy forward, Kennedy declared "is the assertion that any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel—however temporary and however plainly speculative in character—are the result of 'lack of confidence in the national administration.'"

"This, I must tell you, while comforting, is not wholly true. Worse, it obscrues the reality—which is also simple. The solid ground of mutual confidence is the necessary partnership of government with all the sectors of our society in the steady quest for economic progress," Kennedy said.

"This administration is not going to give way to general hostility to business merely because there has been a single temporary disagreement with an industry, nor will the future belong to those who ignore the realities of our economic life in a neurotic search for unending reassurance."

"Corporate plans are not based on a political confidence in party leaders," Kennedy said, but on economic confidence in the nation's ability to invest, product and consume. Business has confidence in Republican administrations of 1929, 1954, 1958 and 1960, se said, "but this was not enough to prevent recession when business lacked full confidence in the economy."

What really matters, Kennedy said, is the capacity of the nation as a whole to deal with problems and opportunities alike.

Refuses to Hear Beck Appeal

Supreme Court Decision Makes Final Conviction on Tax Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president, on charges of filing false federal tax returns for the union for 1950 and 1952.

The high tribunal, in a May 14 decision on another appeal, affirmed conviction of Beck on a charge of embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of an automobile owned by the union. He was sentenced to 10-15 years' imprisonment on the embezzlement conviction. The sentence was pronounced in a Washington State court.

Beck's conviction on the tax charge was in federal court in Tacoma, Wash., in 1958. He was sentenced there to five years in prison and fined $20,000.

The U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco on Jan. 20, 1962, upheld Beck's conviction of filing false tax returns for his union. At the same time it set aside his conviction of evading more than $240,000 in income taxes. The Circuit Court called for a new trial on the evasion charges, on which Beck had been sentenced to five years and $40,000 fine.

The Supreme Court's order denying Beck a hearing in the tax case gave no reasons. It noted that Justice White took no part in the case.

Beck's counsel has asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its May 14 decision in the embezzlement case. The high court took no action on this request today.

The Justice Department in a brief opposed a Supreme Court review for Beck on the federal tax charges.

The department said that although the Circuit Court decision left the way open for a retrial of the evasion counts, the government would not seek to retry those charges in the event the sentence under the false tax returns charges became final (by refusal of a Supreme Court review).

Much of Nation to Slosh Through Showers Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain clouds hovered across broad areas from the Rockies to the Alabama Gulf Coast today. Afternoon and evening showers were indicated in most areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation, duplicating Sunday's weather activity.

Heavy rain, hail and strong winds hit sections in the central part of the country Sunday, including Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Thunderstorms during the night pelted areas in Wyoming, southern New York State and the Alabama Gulf Coast.

It was warm and humid in most of the Midwest and East, with temperatures in the 80-90 degree range Sunday. Night readings were in the upper 60s and 70s in most of the southern and eastern sections except in Maine and in mountain areas.

Race Is Close for Peru Leader

Partial Returns Put 3 Presidential Hopefuls in Tight Battle

LIMA (AP)—Three leading candidates in Peru's presidential race were closely bunched today in partial, unofficial returns.

Early indications were that the new Congress might have to elect the nation's chief executive from the leading trio of contenders. None appeared headed for the required 34 per cent of the valid votes.

* * *

An early trend favoring former dictator Manuel A. Odria seemed checked in post-midnight tabulations by newspapers and radio and television stations.

Official returns are not expected before June 18, after the national electoral jury completes a scrutiny of the ballots.

Since there are hardly any nonpartisan factions in the country, the election picture in its early stages was one of confusion.

The newest trend bunched Odria with Fernando Belaunde Terry of the leftist Popular Action party and Victor Raul Haya de la Torre of the left-center APRA party. The four other presidential candidates were clearly out of the running.

* * *

The newspaper La Prensa, which gave some backing to Haya de la Torre, reported a change in an early trend favoring Odria. It reported results from 1,617 of the nation's more than 10,000 voting districts yielded 74,429 votes for Haya, 68,666 for Odria and 67,910 for Belaunde. The total was roughly 12 per cent of an anticipated total vote of about 1.7 million.

ARTHUR J. LAW

Seeks 3rd Term in Legislature

State Rep. Law Reveals Bid for 2-Year Post; to File Petitions

State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, says the next few years in Michigan will be filled with interesting and challenging issues — and he wants to retain a political voice to deal with them.

Law, 56, today announced his bid for a third two-year term in the State House of Representatives. He said he will file nominating petitions later this week for the Aug. primary election.

Two key issues — a decision on the new constitution and the Supreme Court's consideration of reapportionment — highlight Law's view of the future.

"The next few years in the legislature will give some of us the opportunity to help a lot in these and other issues," he said. "I like it (the legislature) and hope I can continue to serve."

No opposition — Republican or Democrat — has been announced for Law's post. The GOP lost an apparent challenger last month when Pontiac con-con delegate Ray King was appointed prosecutor for Ogemaw County.

Law, owner of a Pontiac supermarket, has been a city resident for 37 years. He came here from his native Oklahoma at age 19 and exactly 19 years later became mayor.

Law served six years as mayor and 12 years as a city commissioner.

To Extend Danger Area for Firing Biggest Bomb

HONOLULU (AP) — Extension of the United States high altitude danger area around Johnston Island was seen today as a preliminary to the firing of the biggest nuclear blast of the Pacific test series.

There was no official comment from Joint Task Force 8 on the precise altitude and size of the detonation but unofficial sources said it will be from 50 to 500 times as powerful as the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima.

* * *

There have been reports it will be of several megatons in force. A megaton blast is the equivalent of the explosion of a million tons of TNT.

The big blast will be set off about 200 miles high, the sources said. It will be the highest and biggest nuclear shot in U.S. history and will be seen in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of Johnston.

TO EXTEND DANGER AREA

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department announced Saturday that the nuclear danger area surrounding Johnston Island will be extended 60 miles by Tuesday to a radius of 530 nautical miles at sea level. It will be increased 290 nautical miles at 30,000 feet, to a radius of 990 miles.

The zone will be extended 10,000 feet in altitude to a height of 40,000 feet, where the radius will be 1,050 miles. At 30,000 feet the zone will cover the entire Hawaiian Island chain.

The zone is being extended to mark the "eye burn" area in which there could be a hazard from looking directly at the blast through binoculars, periscopes or other optical instruments. The spokesman said it could lead to permanent eye damage or possible blindness.

He said there will be no hazard to Hawaii residents who view the fireball with the naked eye from surface levels.

The extension announcement indicated the shot will not come before Thursday, in the hours of darkness, because of the four-day warning that is given air lines. A Joint Task Force 8 spokesman indicated a possible firing during next weekend.

Wezeman will talk with city and township officials, school and library board members and representatives of business and other community groups while making the survey.

Wezeman has made similar surveys for Des Moines, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Tulsa, Okla.

Says Wanger Fired as Head of 'Cleopatra'

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Wanger, producer of "Cleopatra," has been taken off salary because of delays in finishing the picture, columnist Earl Wilson wrote today in the New York Post.

Wilson said he had talked with Wanger in Rome and quoted him:

"It's untrue . . . they're just trying to embarrass me."

Expenses of the picture, starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, have skyrocketed to beyond $20 million, studio sources say, while Burton and Miss Taylor have been romancing off the set as well as on. During the filming, the actress split with her husband, Eddie Fisher.

Wilson, who said his information came from an unnamed 20th Century - Fox spokesman, said: "Studio executives used the word 'fired'."

Crowd Applauds Stubblefield

'Freedom Rally' Yields Pledges of Backing for School Board Candidate

A Negro "freedom rally" in Beaudette Park Saturday turned into a pledged endorsement of Pontiac school board candidate Beauregard Stubblefield at the election polls today.

Some 450 participants applauded enthusiastically when urged by Negro leaders Milton Henry, city commissioner, and Lynn Moor, legal redress chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Pontiac, to get out the Negro vote for Stubblefield.

Four Negro students from Pontiac Central High School who spoke of alleged incidents of discrimination by teachers and administrators were commended for their "bravery" by the principal speaker, Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr. of Detroit.

Mayor Robert Landry circulated through the crowd handing out pro-Stubblefield literature.

Ends War Against Withholding Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Savings & Loan League has broken off its battle against a withholding tax on interest and dividends—a key provision of President Kennedy's tax reform bill.

The group had been one of the strongest opponents of the withholding plan, but a Treasury spokesman said Sunday the league had written Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon that it was dropping its opposition.

The tax bill has been passed by the House and is now being studied by the Senate Finance Committee where it is under sharp attack.

* * *

The league was a principal source of thousands of letters written to Congress members by savings and loan officials and depositors urging elimination of the withholding provision.

REBUKED BY JFK

The campaign brought a rebuke from Kennedy at a news conference May 9. He said the mail reaching the White House and the Capitol indicated a great number of people have been badly misinformed by advertisements and circulars financed by savings and loan associations, banks and other groups.

But whether the league's change in policy will give the tax revision bill a boost was questionable.

Last week it was reported to be in deep trouble in the Senate Finance Committee. Its chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, opposes the withholding plan and the other key provision, tax credits for plant and equipment modernization.

Unofficial counts indicated there were not enough votes in the committee to get the bill, as it stands now, reported favorably.

And some of the senators are against it because of letters from home opposing the withholding tax.

What caused the league's about face? One Senate informant said the league decided it was better to support the present bill, even with the withholding provision, than to chance possibly a stiffer bill later.

The league reportedly was concerned that if the savings and loan industry was held responsible for defeat of Kennedy's tax revision bill, the administration might propose much higher taxes on savings and loan associations and mutual fund banks.

TAX CUT

As part of the bill, the administration originally proposed that savings and loan associations eventually be taxed about $500 million a year, compared with current payments of about $9 million.

But the tax was slashed in the House Ways and Means Committee to about $200 million a year.

The aim of the withholding provision is to insure collection of income taxes on dividends and interest. The Treasury has estimated that it is losing about a billion dollars a year in such unreported income.

* * *

The withholding tax is designed to offset a $1.2-billion loss in revenue that would be lost under the tax incentive to businessmen and farmers to buy new equipment and machinery.

Kennedy has called this tax incentive proposal one of the first big steps needed to put new life into the nation's economy.

JFK's Influence Helped Ted Win Endorsement

Flashing the traditional KENNEDY smile, TED, the youngest of the now-famous clan continued to uphold his family's political savvy by winning the endorsement of the Massachusetts Democrats.

He is seeking the seat his older brother formerly held in the United States Senate. It could also be said that his opponent, Edward J. McCormack Jr., had a fair to middling name since he is a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

★ ★ ★

The loser can still enter the primary in the fall, and each had indicated he would if the party failed to support him. However, we can't help but think this is futile effort at best.

There is no doubt but what presidential influence reached back home to Massachusetts with a helping hand for brother TED. Certainly this was natural, yet it was bound to have a great effect on the delegates.

★ ★ ★

And at the same time, it may just affect the House Speaker and his willingness to fight for JFK's measures in the House.

Unquestionably, TEDDY is now in the driver's seat and his chances for election look good. Like another famous and controversial name in the 30s, this one will be around for a long time.

Commuters Too Busy to Notice Male Models

Commuters are a hardy bunch. Their ability to withstand adverse conditions makes us wonder why none of them has been selected for astronaut work.

★ ★ ★

New York commuters are the elite, from the standards of daily trials. The latest wrinkle there is the brainstorm of a men's fashion firm to have six male models, decked out in the latest toggery, parade through the cars one recent morning.

★ ★ ★

The reception these models got is easily anticipated. Very few commuters looked up from their newspapers, puzzles, stock tables and bridge games. The few women aboard stood up to get a better look, but life went on as usual.

The usual delay occurred, this time a derailment.

Country's Gold Reserve Continues to Decline

The Nation's gold reserve stockpile at Fort Knox has steadily declined since 1949, when it stood at $24.5 billion. Today it is down to $16.5 billion after a current $4 billion balance of payments debit.

But on balance, after offsetting foreign claims against U.S. gold of $20.4 billions, we are actually nearly $4 billion in the red.

★ ★ ★

This situation, though not yet downright critical, is viewed most seriously by economists and Administration functionaries concerned with maintaining the stability of our dollar.

★ ★ ★

The reason for the shrinkage in our monetary bulwark is that the annual deficit in our foreign operations has been running at a $1.5 billion rate, and must be met by the transfer of gold abroad.

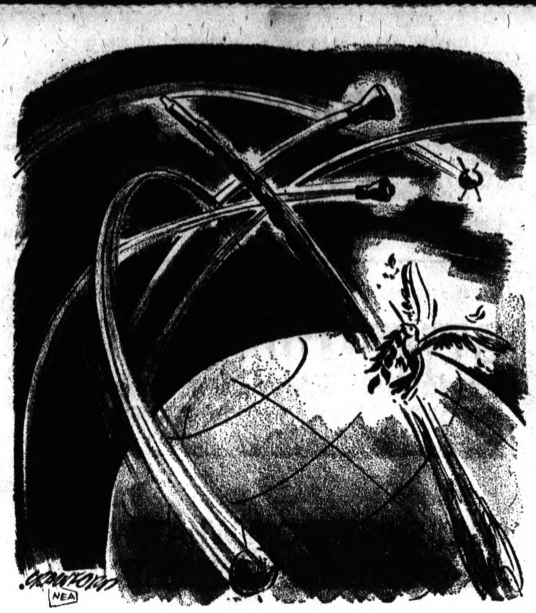

Contributing to this deficit are:

- The magnitude of our military and civilian direct aid programs to foreign countries — economically a one-way street.
- Diminishing excess of exports over imports of commodities.
- Increase of investment abroad by American industry, thus setting up "dollar demands" against our gold.
- The maintenance abroad of our huge army of military and civilian agents administering our diverse foreign aid programs and expanding installations.

These are the tangible causes of our deteriorating foreign exchange position. But for the immediate future, another force — relatively intangible but nonetheless perilous — must be reckoned with. This is the possibility of an accelerating "flight from the dollar" resulting from liquidation of large concentrations of American securities by holders abroad, due to mounting distrust of the Administration's domestic fiscal policies with their emphasis on spending, budgetary deficits and rising national debt.

Thus, sound fiscal attitudes — presently not evident in Washington — are imperative not only to our domestic well-being but to the maintenance of our global preeminence as well.

The proceeds went to the Club's welfare fund, swelled each year by its familiar Christmas Goodfellow Newspaper Drive.

This, signed E. R. B., speaks for itself:

As a speeding car approached the Kingsley, a small kitten was pitched out. It struck the pavement, went end over end and screamed horribly in pain. In a few seconds another was heaved from the same car and it was hit unavoidably by a following car.

The second automobile took out after the death trap driver and the last I saw, he had forced the kitten killer off the road and was delivering a thundering lecture. (I hope it ended up with more.)

This second driver should report the whole affair to the S.P.C.A. for prompt court action. I think the kitten killer was driving a Ford station wagon.

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Economics Purely Politics

WASHINGTON — Small wonder that many businessmen fear that a severe crisis in our economic life may come in the next several months.

The Administration evidently is determined that "spending as usual" by Government for all manner of projects must go on, and that "wage increases as usual" likewise must continue.

LAWRENCE

But the most important force in the economy is being prevented from operating under the rules of sound economics. Business management is still threatened with reprisals from the government if it tries to raise its prices to cover increasing wage costs and also to earn a fair profit.

A free economy cannot operate very long that way.

The promise by the President of a tax cut is likely to aggravate rather than remedy the situation. Already the demagogues in Congress are articulate.

They say they oppose any reduction in the higher brackets and wish to confine all the benefits to the lower income groups.

SAME OLD STORY

It's the same old story hereabouts — politics supercedes economics all around. Similarly, there is already an antagonism in Congress among the Democrats to any reduction in the corporate tax rates, which now are at a 52 per cent level.

Mr. Kennedy promises a tax cut "across-the-board" effective next January.

The bill, however, may not be passed until March or April of 1963, or even later. It will take Congress that long to debate the highly complicated tax measure which will be forthcoming.

★ ★ ★

For the law isn't to be devoted just to rate changes. The gimmick now is to close "loopholes" and thus theoretically to increase tax revenues to offset the so-called relief to be given by the drop of a few percentage points in the rates in all income brackets.

Already some of the senators on the Democratic side have pointed out that a drop of one percentage point in the upper brackets involves tens of thousands of dollars for an individual, while a drop of a point to a man of low income means only a few dollars in savings.

Hence, it is argued that the whole saving should be given to the people in the lower brackets.

NOT HELPING SYSTEM

What is wrong with this theory, of course, is that the individuals to whom the nation looks for funds to finance industry's expansion aren't getting enough money now after taxes to help the free-enterprise system expand as it should.

Nor will they be getting it under the proposed tax changes if the demagogues have their way.

The administration vaguely promises to revise the rules of tax depreciation, as if this alone would do the job. But these are highly technical changes that may take the managers of American business in various industries two or three years to absorb.

★ ★ ★

The real difficulty is that the per cent of profit to sales is not high enough and that surpluses aren't being built up to enable companies to finance a large part of their own requirements for the future.

Meanwhile, the Administration —although claiming it wishes to bring back more dividends from abroad — has proposed changes in taxing American plants overseas, which actually can cause a stoppage of the flow of dividend money to America, and hence a drop in tax revenue.

This could have an adverse effect on the balance of international payments, which is causing so much apprehension about the future gold value of the dollar.

FAILED IN SUPPORT

Thus, the Administration has failed to support the sound principles that permit a fair margin of profit to be earned.

Unless this tide is reversed soon, the discouragement now prevalent will result in a depression — perhaps not as severe as in the 1930s but in some respects of the same intensity.

Yet President Kennedy still seems unaware of what his continued indifference to the labor-cost problem is doing to the economy.

Airplane Travel Safe for Pregnant Women

Q — Our daughter is traveling in Africa with her husband who is conducting an agricultural survey. She has just become pregnant and was told by the doctor who examined her that she may have to have a Caesarean section.

★ ★ ★

If this is so, she wants to return to the states for the operation. But she also wants to be with her husband as long as it is safe and possible.

How far along in a pregnancy is it safe for her to fly back? And how soon may she and her baby return to Africa?

A — According to the latest ruling by the Aerospace Medical Association's committee on medical criteria for passenger flying, any woman in a pregnant condition shall be accepted from the beginning of the first month on through to the end of the eighth month of gestation without question.

Any woman in the ninth or last month of her pregnancy shall be accepted who can furnish a certificate from an obstetrician dated within 72 hours of departure stating that he has examined her and found her to be physically fit for transportation.

MUST ESTIMATE TIME

The doctor must also record the estimated date of delivery.

As to the baby, the committee has ruled that "beyond the age of seven days to two weeks, infants with normal cardiorespiratory systems (heart and lungs) should experience no trouble."

Q—Can you tell me something about those food supplements so highly recommended by radio commentators?

A — The Food and Drug Administration, a branch of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has just brought its first court action against misbranding caused by radio broadcasts.

The action was directed against a company, charging that its 43 food supplement products "failed to bear adequate directions for treating numerous diseases and conditions for which they were recommended in radio lectures . . ."

The government maintained that these 43 products were recommended for "such conditions as respiratory and circulatory diseases, club feet, multiple sclerosis, sexual frigidity, cerebral palsy, tooth decay, grey hair, heart troubles, strokes and others."

U. S. Reds Make Good Cover Up

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Running down active Communist, Communist - dominated, Communist - infiltrated, Communist front and fellow-traveling affiliates in the United States today is a frustrating business.

Investigation reveals that Communist organizations in the United States — definitely low on finances and members, harassed by the government as well as by American public opinion and the anti-Communist right wingers — are pursuing evasive, underground tactics that make them hard to catch.

EDSON

They continue operations by creating confusion through legal delays that tie up court cases and thwart government agencies charged with forcing the Communist party, its subsidiary organizations and members to register.

Old Commie organizations that have been exposed or whose purposes have been accomplished go out of business. They change their names and officers. They keep no records.

Fly-by-night committees for this or against that are organized without members for the sole purpose of propagandizing some pet Communist cause of the moment. As soon as these groups and their purposes are shown up, they fold.

★ ★ ★

When the Communist party of the United States held its last convention in New York, Dec. 10-13, 1959, General Secretary Gus Hall said it had 10,000 members. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy recently confirmed this figure. The members are concentrated in the New York, Chicago-Detroit and Pacific Coast areas. The party claims it's broke.

In the World War II years when the U.S. and U.S.S.R. were allied against the Axis powers, Communist party's late National Chairman William Z. Foster claimed 100,000 members. Actually it never got much over 80,000.

The first impression drawn from this decline is that the anti-Communist crusade in America is beginning to pay off. But Communist lawyers are using every trick of their trade to thwart laws, regulations and court decisions intended to keep the party under control or obliterate it.

So the battle to force Communist organizations to register and disclose their membership is by no means won.

★ ★ ★

Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional committee that Federal Bureau of Investigation now has under surveillance approximately 200 known and suspected Communist - controlled or Communist-infiltrated groups.

For policy reasons he cannot give out the full list. To do so would break cover on some organizations that do not now know they are being watched.

There are official records on over 1,000 United States organizations connected with the Communist movement since 1917. Most of them are now disbanded or no longer active.

But it is possible to identify some of the newer organizations that have come out in the open and disclosed themselves as Communist. In the list are:

Citizens Committee for Constitutional Liberties.

Advance, an Organization for Progressive Youth.

Progressive Youth Organizing Committee.

New York School for Marxist Studies.

The Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

Gus Hall-Benjamin J. Davis Defense Committee.

Some 40 other organizations have been cited in various ways by government agencies, Department of Justice has filed petitions with the Subversive Activities Control Board, asking that hearings be held on 24 organizations.

Twenty-one others — including four of the above 24 — have been the subject of hearings before the Committee.

The attorney general's list of organizations complied under the internal security Executive Order 10450 contains the names of 11 groups active today, most of them duplicated on the other lists.

Identity of these organizations and the work of the government agencies investigating them will be reviewed in succeeding columns in this series.

'Teaching Methods Greatly Improved'

As an ex-school teacher and mother of three, I ask Mrs. Keith if she has compared her children's progress in reading with others? Did she find all children experiencing the same difficulty?

★ ★ ★

Some learn early with little effort and relatively little instruction. Other children learn at a later age. Many factors influence skill in reading, namely: physical, mental and emotional maturity; interest; the family's attitude toward books; and the ability of the teacher to develop reading skills and to arouse the desire.

My observation of today's alert children indicates the majority read more and read with greater comprehension than did my own classmates.

★ ★ ★

My own children's experiences with the new arithmetic have been most gratifying. Facts I learned by rote they learn with meaning, learn more easily and remember longer. My children's teachers are better trained and better qualified and more interested in children.

'Men in Lansing Sure Have Changed'

Michigan is a leading state in the union in size, importance and prestige. For years we were well run by quick, intelligent men in Lansing.

Look what we have now.

Puzzled

'State Could Benefit Through Gambling'

I quite agree with the article about Michigan having a lottery. Once before this was mentioned and higher ups in Lansing said it was gambling. What do you do at the race track?

Instead of taxing the people to the hilt, why not try to get us out of the mess with a lottery twice a year? If some people do not believe, they can leave it alone, and the gain would help them anway.

Gambling will always go on so why not get some benefit? We're sick of more and more taxes.

Disgusted With Lansing

'Dems Haven't Kept Economy Promises'

A taxpayers' revolt is brewing which will throw the Democratic machine out of control. Promises of economy haven't been kept.

'Member of Board Fired From Scouts'

What's with the Girl Scout office staff? How come one of our board members was fired (she worked free)? I hear some more are up for the sack.

Most of us leaders do more work than any people in the office. We don't complain and we don't get paid. Take their pay away and they would probably all quit scouts. They (staff) say we haven't been properly trained. If not, should all the leaders in Northern Oakland quit?

Says Freeman Rues Remark

Sen. Mundt Claims Farm Chief Regrets Estes Case Comment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman now wishes he never said that the Billie Sol Estes case was being ballooned out of all proportions, says Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

Mundt, senior Republican on the Senate Investigations subcommittee that starts public hearings June 27 on Estes' operations said he discussed the case with Freeman recently for an hour and a half.

★ ★ ★

He indicated that the first statement that he made to the press—when he said it was being blown out of all proportion—was one of those statements all of us sometimes make but we wish we could retract, because the thing is a lot more serious than he though it was at the time," said Mundt.

Freeman made the remark at a news conference May 7.

INDICTED IN APRIL

Estes, a West Texas promoter and financier, built a multimillion-dollar business on government grain storage, cotton and sales of fertilizer. He was indicted in April for fraud and he has declared himself bankrupt. The Senate subcommittee and a House group are investigating his operations and whether he received favored treatment from federal officials. Mundt said he had.

★ ★ ★

Interviewed by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a program taped for radio and television stations in New York, Mundt contended the Agriculture Department showed favoritism to Estes by not requiring him to carry an adequate bond for storing government grain.

Estes' bond was set at $700,000 although he was storing grain valued up to $50 million. Agriculture Department officers have testified before the House subcommittee that the bond was based on an inaccurate audit Estes submitted on his net worth.

Waterford Board Will Consider Water Contract

A water system agreement for Vista Villa Subdivision will be considered by the Waterford Township Board at tonight's meeting.

★ ★ ★

If an agreement is approved by the board, the township will take over the operation of the system with financing guaranteed by the developer. When 45 homes in the area have been occupied, the township will include the unit in its integrated water system on a self-sustaining basis.

Also slated for board consideration is a fireworks permit requested by Percy Hunt. A July 4 family reunion is held annually at the Hunt home on Watkins Lake.

A plumber bond renewal will also be considered by the board.

Harvard Grad Makes 'Peace Plea'

Yale Honors 'Rival' Kennedy

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — President Kennedy, a 1940 Harvard graduate, said he was particularly glad about the honorary degree awarded him today by Yale University.

He told graduating Elis at the Yale commencement in a prepared speech that a lot of his troubles had been caused by Yale men, and added: "Now that I am a Yale man too, it is time for peace."

Kennedy mentioned a recent "minor disagreement" over steel prices with U.S. Steel President Roger M. Blough of the Yale Law School class of 1931.

He said he had "had some complaints too from my friend Henry Ford, of the class of 1940."

"In journalism, I seem to have a difference with John Hay Whitney, of the class of 1926 — and sometimes I also displease Harry Luce of the class of 1920 — not to mention William F. Buckley Jr. of the class of 1950."

PUBLISHES NY TRIBUNE

Whitney is editor-in-chief and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, recently cut off the list of newspapers the White House subscribes to. Luce directs Time, Inc., and Buckley is editor of the conservative magazine, National Review.

The President said his luck had been better in politics, but added that of late he had had "small arguments" with New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, class of 1933, and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., class of 1938.

"I even have trouble with some of my Yale advisers," Kennedy said.

"I get along with them, but they don't always get along with each other: I have the warmest feelings for Chester Bowles of the class of 1924 and for Dean Acheson of the class of 1915 — but I am not 100 per cent sure that these two wise and experienced Yale men wholly agree with each other on every issue."

Kennedy Writes Article on Trade

Says World Partnership Must Be Developed at Home Despite Injuries

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the United States and Europe must throw off "the false protection of trade barriers" to develop a lasting and prospering free world partnership.

In a foreword written for a special issue of The Forum, a quarterly magazine published by General Electric Co., Kennedy said "broad economic horizons" must be developed at home, regardless of the adjustments needed when tariffs are reduced or eliminated.

★ ★ ★

The magazine also contained a dissent written by Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, ranking Republican on the Senate-House Economic Committee.

The pending administration trade bill would increase unemployment, Bush wrote, and will worsen the deficit in international payments.

The President must be given new authority to negotiate mutual tariff reductions under the Trade Agreements Act, Bush said, because to turn back now "would shake confidence in ourselves and in our free world allies." He added:

"But powers granted the President must be much more limited than he has requested, and Congress should insist upon a veto power over major agreements."

Kennedy's message noted that, for three decades, U. S. trade policy has demonstrated concretely the American purpose of encouraging the drawing together of free nations into "a progressively more cohesive partnership."

"In the years immediately ahead it is our aim to accelerate this trend," the President wrote.

"The formation of the Common Market in Europe, the first diversified mass market outside of our own, makes possible an entirely new dimension in free world cooperation.

★ ★ ★

"Growing together, the two great markets astride the Atlantic, containing as they will 90 per cent of the free world's industrial strength and half a billion customers, can generate the resources and skills to guarantee the economic progress of free peoples everywhere. . ."

Kennedy Is Told Father Improving in Hospital Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy spent 45 minutes with his recuperating father late Sunday and was told that the elder Kennedy had just spent the best two weeks of his lengthy hospitalization for a stroke.

The President was seen pushing his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, in a wheelchair through a garden outside the bungalow he occupies on the grounds of the New York University Medical Center's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Dr. Howard A. Rusk, medical director of the institute, told newsmen the elder Kennedy, 73, had been walking with the aid of a cane and that his speech had improved.

Yugoslavian City Jolted by Quake; Damage Light

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—An earthquake jolted Sarajevo today, sending residents crowding into the streets in panic.

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, said plaster fell in some houses but there was little other damage. The quake was felt in Belgrade and along the Adriatic.

Stomach Cancer Families

Miracles Do Happen

Q. Has anyone ever recovered from incurable cancer?

A. Now and then doctors encounter patients who recover in some miraculous and mysterious way. A physician recently related this story. Shortly after going into practice the doctor was consulted by a man in his 60's. Trouble was suspected and an exploratory operation performed. The worst was revealed — extensive, incurable cancer. The patient took the bad news in stride. This was in 1929. In 1961, 32 years after the original diagnosis, the patient, now 92, was struck by an automobile and passed away. An autopsy was performed and not a single remnant of cancer could be found! Incredible? Yes. But true, nevertheless.

Q. Is stomach cancer contagious? Is is inherited?

A. Cancer, stomach or otherwise, is not contagious. The answer to the second question is, "perhaps, in some cases." The most famous "stomach cancer family" was that of Napoleon Bonaparte. His grandfather died of suspected cancer of the stomach. His father, Charles Bonaparte, died at age 39 of the same disease. While the exact nature of Napoleon's illness was not determined, British medical officers concluded that the general's death was due to stomach cancer. Stomach cancer was also suspected as the cause of death of three of his sisters and one of his brothers. Other "stomach cancer families" have been described in medical writings. This suggests, but does not prove, that at least in certain cases, stomach cancer (or a predisposition for it) is inherited.

Little Make-Up Is Okay, However

By EUGENE GILBERT

President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

If a girl wants to wear make-up in addition to lipstick, she can count generally on the approval of boys, as long as she doesn't overdo it, especially in daylight hours.

"Did you ever see a girl in the morning without it?" asked Lindsey Rye, 15, of Russellville, Ark.

Among the 400 young people we talked to, he was with the 70 per cent of the boys who favored make-up. Girls voted for it 67 per cent.

Our researches also confirmed that:

Young men still prefer blondes, and curly blondes at that.

Young women reject long hair for men, prefer crew cuts.

★ ★ ★

The most common objection to make-up, as voiced by Elaine Shultz, 17, of Revere, Mass., was:

"It cheapens a girl's appearance."

Only 60 per cent of the boys, against 72 per cent of the girls, thought that schools should not have the right to restrict the amount of make-up a girl may wear.

"If she wants to look like a witch," said Patsy Croker, 14, of Tolono, Ill., "it's her own business." But Carol Busey, 16, of Sadorus, Ill., thought the schools should have a say because "in some cases girls go ape over cosmetics."

WHEN TO START?

The boys were more liberal than the girls, again, on the question of whether girls tend to use too much of the stuff. No, said 57 of the boys as against 44 per cent of the girls.

"The better girls don't show off by putting it on 4 feet thick," commented Stephen Detor, 17, of Austin, Minn.

When should a girl start using cosmetics? Fourteen was the age most favored by both boys and girls.

"They start looking more like adults then," explained Don Pacetti of Bartow, Fla., from the viewpoint of 17 years.

Most young people frown on girls wearing heavy make-up before nightfall. The girls were against it almost unanimously, and the boys by 86 per cent.

★ ★ ★

"It gives boys the wrong idea," said Tim Kelley, 17, of Monticello, Ill.

While half the young people feel that girls generally spend too much on cosmetics, 81 per cent of them think it does improve their looks.

"No matter how beautiful a girl is, a little make-up never hurts," opinioned Kenneth E. Gray, 18, of Huntington Park, Calif.

CRITICIZE HAIRDOS

Jumping from face-dos to hair-dos, we collected some caustic comments on styles that call for "teasing," but found that about 44 per cent of both boys and girls approve them nevertheless.

"I think it makes girls look like frightened porcupines," said Patsy Coker of Tolono, Ill.

"It makes them look like they have a fat head," asserted Larry Patuano, 16, of Detroit.

And Jean Beaird, 17, of Sacramento, Calif., cautioned that "it ruins the hair, splits the ends, and is going out of style."

It also appears that young gentlemen do indeed prefer blondes, especially curly blondes.

Even more of the girls like curly hair. Thirty per cent voted for blondes, 26 per cent for black hair, 19 for brunette, 7 per cent for red and 6 for strawberry blonde.

How about boys' hair?

The long-hair, D.A. style drew a blast, with 79 per cent of the girls putting it down as ugly or worse, and 63 per cent of the boys against it.

The crew cut or flat top was a heads up favorite at 81 per cent.

Gleason Sticks to Coffee on Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—The sign on the dressing room suite read "The Great One," so you knew it had to belong to Jackie Gleason.

Inside you were greeted by members of the Gleason staff and ushered into the presence of the man himself. He was sitting in a corner, his barrel shape wrapped in a white terry-cloth robe. He was drinking — coffee.

THOMAS

"Never drink booze on the job," he explained. "But afterward — watch out!"

Gleason was at Paramount for "Papa's Delicate Condition," his first Hollywood film in a dozen years. The circumstances are somewhat different this time.

"That last one was called 'Desert Hawk,' and it was a lulu," he recounted. "Tell you how I got the job.

"I went to see the producer and he was having a pedicure, I want you to know. He was saying, 'Watch out, Mildred, how you cut the big toe,'" while I was trying to tell him what a great Arab I would make.

"'Finally he said, 'Can you ride?' I said I could ride like the wind—I had never been on a horse in my life. He said, 'Can you duel?' I said I was a whiz at fencing—I didn't know the first thing about it.

"Then he said, "You can't have the job.' I said 'Why not?' and he said, 'Because you got blue eyes, and Arabs don't have blue eyes.'

"I said, 'Then you're in trouble, Bud, because your leading man is Richard Greene, and he has two of the bluest eyes I've ever seen!

"The guy was really worried and he called up research and said, 'See if there are any Arabs with blue eyes.' The answer came back that there may be two or three Arabs somewhere with blue eyes. So he told me I could have the job.

"I never got close enough to the camera for anyone to see my eyes. Most of the time I was peeking around Rock Hudson."

Such was Gleason's first movie career. He did six films in the '40s, including "Orchestra Wives" and "Navy Blues."

"Most of the time I was playing with scene-stealers like Jack Oakie, Martha Raye, Peter Lorre and Edward Everett Horton," he recalled. "I never had a chance."

His second time around is another matter. He got an Oscar nomination for "The Hustler." His "Gigot" and "Requiem for a Heavyweight" are highly touted. And now "Papa's Delicate Condition."

One of Papa's delicate conditions in the film is that he nips, and Gleason admitted the casting was apt. He gave his philosophy on the grape:

"If you don't know why you're drinking, you're in trouble. I've always drunk for one reason only: to get smashed.

"'As I told Arthur Godfrey once, drinking can remove warts, wrinkles, pimples and other blemishes. Not on yourself—on other people."

WONDERING what makes the daily newspaper the top advertising buy? It's the number and quality of the people the daily newspaper reaches, and their friendly reaction to newspaper advertising. When an advertiser invests in any medium, he's buying an audience for his sales message. The newspaper audience is large. Almost 100,000,000 people read a daily newspaper every day in the U.S.* And that audience remains very constant. There's no "summer slump" in newspapers, no peak listening or viewing hours, no special moment when you must nail down an audience or miss out completely. The daily newspaper sells around the clock. Readers can study it at their leisure...enjoy it...relax with it...clip it...buy from it. And they do.

Spat Worsened by Dean Martin

Won't Appear in Film Without Marilyn, Cites Effect on Career

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dean Martin widened the breach in the family spat between Marilyn Monroe and 20th Century Fox studios yesterday when he refused to appear in the film "Something's Got to Give" because the studio fired the shapely blonde.

★ ★ ★

"I agreed to do this movie because Marilyn Monroe was going to costar and it would have been great for my career," explained Martin. "Now that she isn't going to do it, the picture doesn't look too good to me."

The studio fired Marilyn and slapped her with a $500,000 breach of contract suit Friday because of absenteeism.

Blonde Lee Remick was named to replace the famed glamour girl.

Asked if he would consider starring opposite another actress, Martin said "absolutely not."

★ ★ ★

"I have the greatest respect for Miss Lee Remick and her talent and for all the other actresses who were considered for the role, but I signed to do the picture with Marilyn Monroe and I will do it with no one else," said Martin.

"It is not because I feel sorry for Marilyn or because I think she is right or wrong," the singer-actor added. "I'm just thinking about my career."

The studio has not announced whether it plans to go ahead with the picture starring Miss Remick, but a spokesman said the picture would not resume shooting today.

★

Delays primarily caused by Miss Monroe's absences have cost the studio an estimated $2 million. Producer Henry Weinstein, who suspended production June 4, blamed the suspension on Miss Monroe.

March Fizzles Against Polaris Based in Scotland

DUNOON, Scotland (UPI) — A sitdown demonstration by ban-the-bomb followers fizzled over the weekend when only 500 persons showed up to protest the presence of the Polaris submarine depot ship U.S.S. Proteus.

Authorities said 46 demonstrators were arrested yesterday and 92 the day before. All but three of those arrested Saturday were released after giving their names and receiving orders to appear in court.

The 92 were arrested for disturbing the peace. On Saturday night, a small band of 20 tired and hoarse marchers kept an all-night vigil around the base, singing their anti-Polaris songs as they walked in the cold.

2 Get Death Sentence in Try to Flee Soviet

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two 25-year-old Armenians have been sentenced to death for trying to hijack a small plane and fly out of the Soviet Union.

The newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda reported the sentences yesterday and said they were "final and cannot be appealed."

The plot was foiled when pilot Edik Bakshinyan deliberately crashed the plane in a field. A third plotter was killed in the crash, the paper said.

★ ★ ★

Those sentenced to death were identified as Serge Toumanyan and Heinrich Sekoyan, both from Yerevan, the capital of soviet Armenia. The dead man was identified as Garegin Movsesyan, also from Yerevan.

The two were charged with attempted high treason and attempted murder of the pilot.

Bills Heavenly Repairs

LONDON (AP) — A suburban Church of England parish magazine published an itemized bill from an unidentified artist for renovating a church religious painting. Among the items: "Cleaning St. David's ears — two shillings 28 cents; renewing Heaven, adjusting stars and cleaning up the moon—seven shillings 81 cents."

HAS SPEED TROUBLE — Unable to speak Spanish, Indiana state trooper Michael Rasheta has a difficult time explaining to Felix Ocana of Pasto, Colombia that the minimum speed limit on the Indiana toll road is 40 miles per hour. Ocana's Model T just won't go that fast so he will have to take a different road on his trip to Ottawa, Ont. from Ecuador. He started his journey in May of 1960.

Says Military Has Space Plan

Defense Dept. Wants to Prevent Control by Reds, Is Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The Defense Department is embarking upon a man-in-space program to prevent military control of space by the Soviet Union, the New York Times said today.

★ ★ ★

The nation's space program, until now largely a civilian program, is set to acquire a military tinge, a Washington dispatch to the Times said.

After years of reluctance and opposition, the Defense Department has finally accepted the need for a military space program aimed at control of space as well as its exploration.

★ ★ ★

As a result, the department has decided that the Air Force should develop the technology for a manned satellite capable of inspecting and destroying a hostile vehicle in space.

★ ★ ★

Beyond this decision, the department—at the urging of the White House and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—has undertaken a six-month study to draft an enlarged military space program.

As explained by defense officials, the Air Force will not be given a go-ahead immediately to develop a large-scale, operational system of manned satellites but will develop the technology, components and subsystems required in an eventual system.

★ ★ ★

The expectation is that funds for this purpose will be included in the military budget to be presented in January for the 1964 fiscal year.

To Vote on Tax to Aid Handicapped Pupils

FLINT (AP) — A controversial tax proposal to raise $670,000 a year for special education for handicapped children went before Genesee County School District voters today.

The proposal, for a half-mill levy, was advocated by the County Board of Education but opposed by the Flint Board of Education.

Pre-election dispute has been sharp. One school official's home was picketed by parent and children demonstrators. The county board tried unsuccessfully to get a court injunction against the Flint board in a wrangle over statements by the latter.

★ ★ ★

The county board says the program is necessary. The Flint board feels otherwise. The two groups also have disputed over ultimate control of the proposed program.

Industry Survey Asked in Light of Common Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic whip Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., urged the administration today to conduct a nationwide labor-management survey of industry's competitive position in relation to the European Common Market.

In a speech prepared for the National Association of Direct Selling Companies, Humphrey suggested that the survey be conducted by the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

Humphrey said the committee's findings could be the base for a second White House Conference on National Economic Issues.

"We need new action and new policies by both government and private industry to boost export of our products overseas — and we need them now," he declared.

Big Snake Is Victim of Too Much Pull

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— College student Mike Krieger wanted to help a friend's snake work up an appetite, so he put the 7-foot anaconda in a bathtub of warm water in his apartment yesterday.

★ ★ ★

As frequently happens when someone is in the tub, the phone rang.

Krieger, 20, returned to find the anaconda — which crushes its prey like the boa constrictor — disappearing down the toilet. He grabbed its tail and started pulling.

In the next apartment, Bob Tilsworth, a graduate student at California Institute of Technology where Krieger is an undergraduate, happened to look into his bathroom, unaware of the drama next door. The snake's head had appeared in his plumbing.

Still unaware of dual interest, each man bent to the task of saving the snake. Mike and two friends — not wanting neighbors to know of their pet — tugged at the tail. Bob enlisted two fire department units, several policemen and a humane society worker in a try to coax the snake out.

It took an hour and a half — while the snake waited wearily —for the two factions to learn they were at odds over the ends.

The men then broke the plumbing and retrieved the snake, by now perhaps with an appetite but certainly with little stomach for further such adventures.

★ ★ ★

"And I can't say I blame him," Krieger said.

The humane society took custody.

★ ★ ★

Krieger explained that the warm water in the tub helped the snake — a cold-blooded tropical animal — raise its body temperature and thus feel more interested in eating.

Fire Wrecks Building at Summer Resort

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Fire yesterday destroyed the 80-room main building of the Silver Beach Resort here. An auxiliary housing unit also was lost.

★ ★ ★

South Haven firemen fought the blaze for an hour and a half.

The building, built before the turn of the century and formerly known as the Newcombe Resort, was one of the finest resorts in the area during the early 1900s.

★ ★ ★

Louis Jaconson, owner of the resort for the last 15 years, refused to estimate how much the destroyed property was worth, but stated that $15,000 worth of equipment had been destroyed.

Otto'll Need His Humor Against Senate Friends

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Otto Preminger has a warm sense of humor — luckily.

He's going to need one. Some of the anvil chorus is trying to scalp him, except that baldness scalped him long ago, over his movie, "Advise and Consent." It portrays one U.S. Senator as briefly effeminate, and another as a demagogic blackmailer.

WILSON

"I don't mind what they say — I have never made a picture everybody liked," he says, with a smile, a shrug and an Austrian accent.

"Why don't you sometime?" I asked him.

★ ★ ★

He laughed softly. A nice picture everybody liked — no controversy — it would die!

I saw the film previewed. Franchot Tone, who played a dying President, was there and obviously was healthy — he went out for a drink.

Burgess Meredith had a great scene as a psychopathic witness. After at a supper party I said:

"You were a very believable mental case."

He bowed . . . and repeated the facial twitch he used.

"Have you heard from Sam Goldwyn about the picture?" I asked Preminger.

"How can I when we're not speaking?" he said — referring to an old feud.

Preminger has a Diego Rivera painting of three lemons on the wall of his 5th Av. office. It's called "Three Lemons."

"The 'Three Lemons' title does not refer to my last three pictures," he tells callers. "As it was done in 1946 — before my last three pictures."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Marilyn Monroe didn't show up three days straight at "Something's Got to Give" — as they put it, "She's 72 hours late" . . . Beautiful Joan Bennett's escort: good-looking Jimmy Amster . . .

Joe DiMaggio writes from Europe he'll visit East Berlin . . . Henry Fonda's date at the "Advise and Consent" premiere was ex-wife Susan . . . Natalie Wood's wearing a new chignon hairdo suggested by Liz Taylor.

Sydney Chaplin and Orson Bean are adlibbing lines in "Subways," as a gag, throwing the rest of the cast off . . . Alan King, who has a routine kidding medics, was given a lunch by the AMA in Chicago . . . Connie Francis twisted in blue jeans at the Roundtable.

EARL'S PEARLS — You seldom see office workers wasting time around the water cooler any more — they're all out having coffee.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Personally," says a local husband, "I'm grateful to Liz Taylor — putting all us married men back in style again!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: This is the time of year when the guy who worked so hard to graduate starts wondering what the hurry was.

One of the quickest ways to meet people is to sit on the wrong blanket at the beach. That's earl, brother.

Drop Segregated Voting, Romney Urges of Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — Republican George Romney urged Michigan Negroes during the weekend to abandon what he termed their "segregated voting pattern" for Democratic candidates.

★ ★ ★

The GOP gubernatorial candidate said in a speech to the trade union leadership council, a predominately Negro labor organization, "the Democratic party today validly accepts and takes for granted the overwhelming majority support of Negroes." then added:

"The segregated voting pattern of the Negro is just as defeating of the aims and goals of Negroes as any other form of segregation, including housing and education.

"The Negro today knows that he should not be taken for granted in the industrial and commercial field. However, he is overlooking something just as important when he adheres rigidly to one political party. Eventually he is taken for granted, and others of whom the party is not so sure receive greater attention . . .

'COULD DO MORE'

"I believe I could do more than others to correct the problem of racial discrimination and human injustice in this state because I think it must be based upon cooperation and practical solutions.

"I think it is time to stop using discrimination as a political football, I will fight for full freedom, equal opportunity, equal recognition, and justice for all."

Romney said that outside forces could not change the so-called segregated voting pattern, and that "any change will have to come from the decision of rank and file Negro citizens."

He promised to observe "equal rights before, during and after the election," adding that "no greater disservice can be rendered any single racial, ethnic or religious group than to distribute political honors and opportunities on any basis other than that of top skill available for public service.

★ ★ ★

"I will appoint people on the basis of competency and ability, and there are competent Negroes."

Dynasty Issue Raised by GOP

Party in Massachusetts Hits Dems' Backing President's Brother

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts Republicans threw the dynasty issue at the Democrats today over their convention choice of young Edward M. Kennedy, the President's brother, for the U.S. Senate.

The GOP, with a dynasty problem of its own, moves into Worcester for its convention Saturday.

The chief Republican rivals for the U.S. Senate nomination are George Cabot Lodge, son of the former United Nations ambassador and the 1960 GOP nominee for vice president, and U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis, completing his 10th year in Congress.

At stake is the Senate seat Lodge's father once held until John F. Kennedy defeated him in 1952.

The younger Lodge told a group of convention delegates at his father's home in Beverly yesterday:

★ ★ ★

"I have been lumped with the dynasty by my opponent. The dynasty issue is a good issue and one that I can particularly press against the Democrats.

★ ★ ★

"I have no brother in the White House, nor do I have an uncle who is speaker of the House, nor have I had a close relative in high elective office for 10 years."

The line about having an uncle who is speaker of the House was a reference to the man Edward Kennedy defeated at Springfield since the convention endorsement —Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. He is a nephew of speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Curtis, who will be 69 in September, hammered away on the issue of "immaturity."

"Now that Ted Kennedy has been endorsed," Curtis told a campaign meeting, "it is clear that the Republican party will lose one of its biggest issues unless it has a candidate who can fight hard on the issue of immaturity."

★ ★ ★

Though the tired Democrats were home from Springfield, their battling was far from over. In Massachusetts, conventions settle little since candidates who fail to win endorsement can run against the endorsed candidate in September.

Veterinarians Spend $6,000 on Drugs Yearly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The typical veterinarian buys approximately $6,000 in drugs each year.

The estimate, from the New York State Association of Public Health Veterinarians, is coupled with a report that each of the 19,000 vets nationwide is responsible, on the average, for the health of 375 horses, 7,785 cattle, 2,577 sheep, 4,583 hogs, 31,063 poultry, 2,083 dogs, and 1,166 cats.

Campers Take 'Homes' Along on Vacation

By BEN PHLEGAR
(P Automotive Writer

DETROIT — When families take to the open road for their vacations this summer, chances are better than ever they'll be taking their vacation homes with them.

The postwar boom in tents and trailers already has pushed the camping business to unprecedented peaks. And now the newest phase is the vehicle which includes sleeping and eating accomodations.

For years, handy do-it-yourselfers have been improvising beds and camping facilities around their trusty station wagons.

But this fad really took hold with the introduction into this country of small bus-type vehicles which lent themselves readily to conversion as camping units.

One of the first of these was the Volkswagen Microbus with its double side doors, rear engine and a roof high enough to allow an average man to stand up.

Chevrolet and Ford came into this market a year ago with the Corvair Greenbriar and the Econoline bus, now marketed as a Falcon club wagon.

* * *

All three of these units come originally with bench seats, carrying eight or nine people. But the seats can be removed and the interiors fitted with tables, beds, stoves and even a toilet and running water.

Dealers in all three lines now have available conversion kits, so that the fittings can be installed for your vacation trip, then removed when the vehicle returns to normal service. Factory installations also are available.

One such conversion kit contains the following items: A vanity with mirror, medicine cabinet, front and rear benches which convert into a children's bed, paneling for the left wall, floor covering.

It also has bed boards for a double bed, dining table, door shelf, eight cushions, curtains, screens, two-burner camp stove, ice box, water tank with spigot and a chemical toilet.

RUNS $700 PLUS

The price for this runs about $700 plus original installation. Once installed, it can be removed in less than an hour by the owner. A simplified kit can be installed in 20 minutes, the manufacturer claims.

Now well into their second year on the market, the Greenbriar and Ford bus sold some 34,000 in 1961 and Volkswagen pushed the total well over 50,000.

Other varieties in much more luxurious customized versions also are available. One, by Mercedes-Benz of Germany, runs in the neighborhood of $10,000.

A second-type of self-contained camping unit utilizes a pickup truck, or at least the truck chassis.

Dodge, which doesn't have a little bus to match Ford and Chevrolet, offers the Custom Sportster, which is a house unit mounted directly on a truck chassis.

This gives it added stability as well as making it eligible for passenger car registration.

* * *

The Custom Sportster offers a flush toilet and shower, hot and cold running water, kitchen facilities and room for five to sleep.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the County of Oakland is now taking steps to construct a large airport near the northern limits of the City of Pontiac on the theory that there will be a need for such an airport in the Oakland County area, notwithstanding the very elaborate, extensive and complete airport in the County of Wayne which is, today, within one hour's driving distance from any part of Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw County; and

WHEREAS, there have been no cost estimates submitted as to this vast and extensive project although $365,000.00 dollars has been expended to purchase the land in the area where the airport is to be located; and

WHEREAS, there has been no request by any federal agency or any other responsible authority that this airport is necessary at the present time; and,

WHEREAS, the cost of financing this airport will be taken from the county budget and due to conservative estimates, this cost is prohibitive unless financing can be obtained by the issuance of County revenue bonds, which are subject to referendum; and,

WHEREAS, comparable airports to wit, Wayne Metropolitan and O'Hare at Chicago have exceeded $150,000,000.00 costs and the expense of a county airport, because of the extensive grading, the uneven terrain and navigation easements will be upwards of $200,000,000.00, in the opinion of persons qualified to make such estimates; and

WHEREAS, to raise funds for costly projects, County officials are compelled to make unrealistic budgets which contain unnecessary appropriations to build up surplus funds all of which curtails the operations of our schools and other units of government who share millage with the County of Oakland; and

WHEREAS, the present day total tax burdens, when added together, are becoming confiscatory which demands that unnecessary and wasteful projects be eliminated; and

WHEREAS, this Commission is well aware of the resultant damage to Pontiac property owners from noise and vibration of aircraft coming in over the City to land at this new proposed airport immediately north of the Pontiac City Limits; and

WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court has recently held that the authorities maintaining such an airport are liable for all damage, nuisance and annoyance from jet aircraft.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this Commission does hereby register objection to the expenditure of County tax funds for this unrealistic and visionary project which, if completed, will bring injury and damage to the home owners of the City of Pontiac whose property is in the flight pattern of aircraft using this field and to that end this Commission instructs its representatives on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors of this project as being an unnecessary, wasteful and unjustified expenditure of tax funds needed for more worthwhile projects.
