City Police Use Tear Gas to Capture Berserk Youth

By HAROLD S. COHEN

A 16-year-old Pontiac boy, who police believe went berserk, was flushed from his home by tear gas last night after he had threatened a police officer with a loaded shotgun.

The boy is held today in juvenile home on a charge of felonious assault.

Police fired several tear gas shells into the basement and first floor of the south side home before the youth gave up. No shots were fired.

The boy had been showing signs of mental disturbance for several weeks, his mother told police, with dizzy spells and an ungovernable temper.

Last night, just before 10 p.m., he grabbed a younger sister as she walked by his chair in the living room and twisted her arms. When his mother tried to stop him, she told police, he began smashing the living room furniture.

Terrified, the mother herded her two young daughters into the kitchen, closed the door, and then slipped out the back door.

They encountered Officer Raymond Dickinson on his way to work at 10:05 p.m. and told him the story.

Dickinson went into the house and the boy threw a lamp at him, then ran and got a shotgun which he leveled at the officer.

Dickinson turned and left the house, calling for reinforcement from a neighbor's home.

Seven men, led by Lt. Donny Ashley and Det. Thomas Mitchell answered the call. Tear gas was immediately sent for since the boy had turned out the lights in the house and the police felt he might open fire.

Several shells and grenades of tear gas were thrown into the basement and kitchen.

Ashley and Mitchell then saw the boy open the front door and slightly open a storm door for air. He held a wet handkerchief over his face.

As they mounted the porch, the boy closed the storm door, but a few seconds later opened it again for air and Ashley grabbed him. The loaded .410 gauge shotgun was found on a chair by the door.

The boy was turned over to juvenile officers and booked on a charge of felonious assault. He spent the night at the Oakland County Children's Home.

Goldwater Is 'GOP Stooge,' Reuther Tells Convention

Reuther told the cheering 3,215 delegates that Goldwater was "mentally unbalanced and needed a psychiatrist."

In his kynote address he said:

"Goldwater is a stooge for Republican politicians and big business, undertaking a campaign of slander and smear to weaken Democratic unions everywhere.

"On Monday in Detroit top Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and other big corporation leaders invited Goldwater here. He provided them a platform from which to deliver a campaign against the UAW. He is the country's number one political fanatic, peddler of class hatred and union-hater."

"Goldwater wants to corrupt the country's good image of the union and newspapers give him ten times as much space as they give us."

Sen. Goldwater told the Republican group Monday that "Reuther and the UAW are more dangerous than Soviet Russia and all the Sputniks."

Reuther countered today that Republicans "caused the depression and the Democrats saved the country."

State Approves Hospital Funds

Enables City to Borrow $317,000 as First Step Towards Addition

The State Municipal Finance Commission yesterday approved Pontiac's bid to borrow $317,000 in tax anticipation notes next month as the first step in borrowing $950,000 to complete the Pontiac General Hospital addition.

The approval sanctioned the city's plan to pay the notes back out of 1958 tax moneys that otherwise would have gone into public improvements.

With the approval, City Manager Walter K. Willman said, the city is now in position to advertise for bids and sell the notes by mid-February. A limit of four per cent has been placed on the interest rate that the notes would carry.

The city plans to ask approval to borrow another $317,000 on 1959 taxes after July 1, and the final $316,000 on 1960 taxes early next year, he said. These loans also would be paid back out of public improvement funds for those two years.

27 Die as Snow Sweeps Across Midwest States

Kansas City Worst Hit as Blanket of 15 Inches Smothers All Activity

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

CHICAGO — A massive near blizzard that swept the Midwest causing at least 27 deaths headed briskly for the East Coast today where from 8 to 8 inches of snow are expected in New England.

Light flurries swirled in the wake of the snow as it hurried Eastward, leaving Kansas City almost completely paralyzed under 15 inches of snow—its worst storm in 46 years.

Highways in the Kansas City area were blocked and bus and truck traffic in and out was at a standstill.

Nearly 100,000 children got an unexpected vacation from school yesterday while the storm was at its height and thousands of employes were told not to try to come to work. Those who did were up to four hours late.

The Midwest storm that tied up Kansas City exceeded one that left 12.8 inches of snow there Jan. 9, 1930, and was being compared with the city's record, a 25-inch fall March 23-24, 1912.

Drifts more than 6 feet high were reported in Missouri and Kansas. Together with abandoned cars that blocked vital roads, the snow drifts halted access to highways and even main routes were reduced to one-way traffic, safe only for vehicles equipped with chains or snow tires.

TRAINS MOVING

Bus and plane traffic stopped in the Kansas City area but trains, although off schedule, reportedly were moving.

In Chicago, driving snow and slushy streets caused tieups in rush-hour traffic and police said many disgusted motorists abandoned cars in the streets. From 5 to 12 inches of snow fell in various parts of the Chicago area.

Behind the storm, the Weather Bureau said, is a mass of cold, dry air, expected to bring plummeting temperatures.

Illinois listed eight storm deaths, Kansas six, Missouri five, Iowa three, Indiana two and Wisconsin three.

Ottumwa, Iowa, measured 12 inches of snow, Milwaukee, Wis., 11 inches and Moline, Ill., 10 inches.

Ike Plans Three Meetings Today on U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower, devoting more and more time to the nation's defense problems, scheduled three important conferences on the subject today.

He was to meet first with the National Security Council, a session moved up a day to permit the attendance of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is flying to Turkey for a meeting of the Baghdad Pact nations.

Then Eisenhower was to confer with Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

It was considered likely that Strauss would give the President a preview of the report the AEC and Britain will make Tuesday on progress toward harnessing the H-bomb for peaceful uses.

This afternoon, Eisenhower has scheduled a meeting with Gordon Gray, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Vodka Was Incidental

Mash Fattens (Blind?) Pig

MOSCOW (INS)—There was an old woman who had a pig. But the pig wouldn't eat anything—carrots, turnips, even corn.

An old man came along and suggested: "Why don't you try feeding the pig vodka mash?" Vodka mash is a mixture of potatoes, sugar and yeast.

The old woman tried it. It worked wonderfully. The pig ate and ate, got fatter and fatter.

But what was the woman to do with the vodka she was producing?

She opened a little private-enterprise speakeasy. It was an immediate success.

But private enterprise is banned in the Soviet Union. So Russian revenooers came and hauled the woman off to the clink.

This modern day fable was published in Soviet newspapers today. None of the stories reported what happened to the pig.

County Plans for '58

Over $1 Million for Roads

An estimated $1,122,125 road construction program for Oakland County this year was announced today by the Road Commission.

Commission Chairman Sol D. Lomerson said it would cover approximately 18 major projects. Among them will be:

(1) New 22-foot pavements on Twelve Mile road from Orchard Lake road to Haggerty road, and on Franklin road from Square Lake road to the Pontiac city limits.

(2) Widening to four lanes of Rochester road (M150) from Main street in Royal Oak to Fourteen Mile road (in cooperation with City of Royal Oak).

(3) Widening of Nine Mile road to four lanes from Woodward avenue east to Hilton street (in cooperation with City of Ferndale).

(4) Relocation of Eight Mile (Base Line road) through City of Northville to begin this year as joint project with Wayne County Road Commission.

(5) Concrete recapping and widening to 22 feet of Big Beaver road from Rochester road to John R road, and on Fourteen Mile road from Rochester road to Dequindre road.

"Completion of the widening and improvement of the Cass Lake-Elizabeth Lake road intersection also is assured," said Lomerson.

"Most of these projects appear in the southern part of the county because traffic volume counts indicate much more traffic there

Federal Reserve Cuts Bank Rate

Permits Lower Interest Charges by Reducing to 2¾ Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Financial circles forecast a boost for business and the stock market as a result of the Federal Reserve Board's approval of a lower discount rate today at the Philadelphia Reserve Bank.

News of the money-easing move, a reduction in the discount rate from 3 to 2¾ per cent for that district, raised prices on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in San Francisco yesterday.

The exchange still had 45 minutes of trading time remaining when the announcement was issued.

The Philadelphia district reduction is effective today. The other Federal Reserve banks are expected to request similar reductions shortly.

The reduction will permit commercial banks to lower their own interest charges to corporations and individuals, thus encouraging the financing of new product lines, plant expansions and other business ventures.

New York's biggest bank, the Chase Manhattan, immediately said it was cutting its prime interest rate — that charged big borrowers with top credit ratings —from 4½ to 4 per cent today. Some observers predicted other big institutions would follow quickly.

Wall Street reaction generally was optimistic. Some sources there, however, expressed disappointment because the rate was not dropped to 2½ per cent.

Tooth Decay Drops in Two Test Cities

BRANTFORD, Ont. (AP) — Dr. Harry Brown of Ottawa says this city's tooth decay rate has dropped 66 per cent since he began a 10-year study of school children after Brantford began adding fluorine to the drinking water supply.

Dr. Brown, a dental health consultant for the Department of National Health and Welfare, said yesterday he made the study comparing school-children in Brantford, Stratford and Sarnia.

Brantford has been adding fluorine to its drinking water for the last 12 years; Stratford, which has the lowest decay-rate of any city in Canada adding fluorine, has been adding the chemical for the last 40 years. Sarnia does not add fuorine to the water.

While the tooth decay rate here now is as low as Stratford's, the doctor said, Sarnia has one of the highest in Canada.

To Arraign Hit-Runner Whose Victim Died

A 40-year-old Pontiac factory worker will be arraigned in Municipal Court today for leaving the scene of a fatal accident.

George Wooter, of 249 Harrison Ave., has admitted he was the driver of the car that fatally injured Mrs. Annie Gilmore, 67, of 456 Harvey St., Friday night.

She died of her injuries Monday morning.

Wooter, a factory worker with five children, told officers he recalled the accident, but did not think he had hit anyone.

He said he had been out with his children, who live with his estranged wife and had returned to their home. He was driving to his home when the accident occurred.

Wooter stated he saw Mrs. Gilmore and felt a thump but since his license was revoked last September for drunk driving, he was afraid to go back to see if he had hit anyone.

He admitted stopping the car, police said, picking up a piece of chrome trim which was jarred free by the accident, and driving off.

Police had been searching for the car, using a description given by a passing motorist, Robert Strawder, of 513 Bloomfield Ave. They also had a hood ornament and bits of chrome trim found at the scene.

About 1:30 p.m. yesterday, officers Guy White and Harry Duby spotted a car that answered the description of the sought vehicle parked behind Wooter's home. A closer check showed the damage corresponded to that which the accident car should have had and Wooter's arrest followed.

bank, and William D. Thomas Jr., president of Thomas Economy Furniture Co.

The election of the two men increases the Board of Directors to nine members.

Re-elected by the stockholders to another year's term on the board were John C. Cowe, Milo J. Cross, Rodger J. Emmert, Judge H. Russel Holland, Frank A. Mercer, Goodloe H. Rogers and Stuart E. Whitfield.

Cross, president of the bank, announced that total deposits at the end of 1957 reached $27,348,200, the highest in its history. This was an increase of $2,575,500 over 1956 deposits.

Earnings after taxes at the end of the year amounted to $164,293.03, or $3.28 per share, Cross said.

After the stockholders' meeting, directors re-elected all 14 officers of the bank to another term.

Pontiac Eying Property Tax Rate of $13.70

Cooley Objects to OK Without First Getting Hospital Figures

City Commissioners passed a $5,683,595 budget for 1958 last night, and eyed a continued tax rate of $13.70 per $1,000 of valuation for the fifth straight year.

If the city's assessed valuation is boosted this year to an anticipated $260 million, the general property tax rate could remain at the $13.70 figure, City Manager Walter K. Willman said.

The assessed valuations will be set this spring. Included in the budget is $3,562,000 to be raised by taxation.

In passing the budget, Commissioner Roy C. Cooley complained that the city was being asked to appropriate funds for Pontiac General Hospital without passing first on the hospital budget.

Cooley observed that the hospital board of trustees is required by ordinance to submit its budget for approval in December, and "yet it's always been late since I've been on the commission."

The board hopes to have finished its budget preparation next month. It's chairman, Willis M. Brewer, was in Lansing today and unavailable for comment on Dr. Cooley's criticism, which was echoed by several other commissioners.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said that although the hospital budget already was too late this year, he would "take steps" to get it in on time next winter.

Dr. Cooley observed that the board of trustees' actions were "too far removed from the public, and perhaps this accounts for some of the hospital's financial troubles."

FUND FOR HOSPITAL

Included in last night's budget was $317,000 in public improvement funds which the commission has promised to spend on the hospital addition.

Left out was an interest payment of approximately $80,000 on 1952 general obligation bonds to build the addition. The hospital has been paying this interest in the past, but had suggested that this year the city pay it.

"If the city would pick this interest up, the hospital probably could get out of the red," hospital director Carl I. Flath has observed.

The question of a city appropriation covering the bond interest is not closed, however, Willman said.

Following a review of the hospital budget by the commission, an appropriation could be made out

Heavy Snow in Michigan Fails to Touch Pontiac

For the second time this week, heavy snowfalls for the Pontiac area failed to materialize, as other sections of Michigan were buried under the heaviest 24-hour snow of the season.

The prediction for the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow is snow flurries and colder. A low of 24 degrees is expected tonight and a high of 21-26 tomorrow.

While above-freezing temperatures turned snow to slush in the southeastern part of the State, heavy snow and high winds lashed scattered portions of the rest of lower Michigan.

Western Michigan was hit hardest. Muskegon reported a total of 15 inches of snow last night with more expected today.

Rural schools were closed in Ionia today due to 9½ inches of snow, and heavy snow reported still falling.

Roads throughout lower Michigan were reported slippery and snow covered this morning. The Oakland County Road Commission said State Trunk lines were clear, but county blacktop and side roads were still slippery in spots.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 30. At 2 p.m. the reading was 30.

Mahon Comments as House Calls Up Bill for $1,410,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) said today the nation should "face the future and get on with the job" of surpassing Russian missile and satellite gains.

Mahon, chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, talked with newsmen as the House called up for expected unanimous passage a $1,410,000,000 money bill to help speed U.S. defense preparations.

The total includes the full $1,260,000,000 in new funds asked by President Eisenhower and authority to transfer another 150 millions — 40 millions more than Eisenhower asked — of available funds to missiles and other newer programs.

An agreement to take no roll call votes until Thursday this week delayed final House action on a bill to raise the national debt limit to 280 billion dollars from the present 275 billions.

The House shouted down a move aimed at holding the increase to three billions.

Rep. Martin (Mass), House Republican leader, urged Republican members "not to put our own administration in a strait-jacket" by rejecting the increase.

"We must face the fact that we have realities to consider," he said in reference to expected increases in defense costs.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis) contended the boost would encourage more agreeing, blamed the high debt level on "both the New Deal spenders and the Modern Republican spenders."

of unappropriated funds, such as the capital improvement budget, he explained.

Included in the budget was $100,000 for the annual payment on the bond issue principal.

The budget was $245,064 higher than last year's, principally because operating costs and wages have increased, Willman said.

It is based on the assumption that $1,721,595 will be raised this year from such sources as sales, fines and licenses.

In addition to the general property taxation, another $274,672 is to be raised through voted millage for garbage collection and disposal.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does the supply of oxygen thin out in the upper atmosphere.

No, the ratio of oxygen in the air remains fairly constant as we move into higher and higher altitudes.

The difference is a difference in pressure and density. It is pressure, or density, which presses oxygen into our blood stream at lower altitudes, not the greater ratio of oxygen to nitrogen and other gases. (Nitrogen makes up 78 per cent of the air.)

When one becomes intoxicated, what is happening is that alcohol is blocking the tissues so as to prevent them from receiving oxygen, which pressure constantly forces into the tissues.

Scouts Get Set to Take Over City's Offices After 'Election'

With all the razzle-dazzle and electioneering of a full-fledged political convention, Pontiac Boy Scouts and Explorers last night nominated 20 of their members to run for Pontiac city offices next week.

Two opposing slates of 10 boys were whipped together last night at Madison Junior High School as Scouts renewed their "Mayor-for-a-Day" citizenship project for the first time since 1954.

The Pontiac Scouts have chosen to make the post of city manager their top elective office. They also nominated two candidates for each of seven City Commission seats and the two municipal judgeships.

Citywide balloting on the nominees will be held next week at regular Scout meetings. The winners will "take over" the offices Feb. 11 and appoint 22 other Scouts to head the various municipal departments.

City Manager Walter K. Willman has pledged the support of all municipal officials in conducting the program and has offered to prepare an agenda for a mock City Commission meeting.

HOPES FOR SUCCESS

William J. DeGrace, chairman of the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council public relations committee and director of the project, said he hoped the program this year could be as successful as it was in 1953 and 1954.

"We believe this is a good way to give the boys first-hand experience of city government and elections," he said.

The candidates were nominated by two opposing "political parties," called the Filibusters and the Logrollers. On the Filibuster slate for city manager is Ronald Card, Explorer Scout of Troop 29, Wever School. Leading the Logrollers for the same post is Ray Smith, an Explorer Scout of Troop 244, Grace Lutheran Church.

Despite the realism of the convention—with its vote trading, caucuses and demonstrations — there was no basic rivalry.

The delegates, elected from all the city's Scout troops, were split into the two parties solely on the basis of the initial letters of their last names.

eral Motors like other Michigan governors were."

Reuther stated any Democratic union "such as the UAW is bound to have disagreements." He assured the delegates, in obvious reference to Carl Stellato, Local 600 president, and his opposition to Reuther's share-the-profits plan, the UAW would go to the bargaining table united and strong."

He told the delegates not to believe headlines which say there is a rebellion within the union.

Meanwhile, campaigners for the 30-hour week with 40-hours pay, led by Stellato, passed out literature and campaign signs at the entrance of the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Local 600, backed by several other locals, seemed determined to make a fight of it on the convention floor.

The "rebel" group is opposed to Reuther and the union executive board's recommendations for a "share the profits plan" and the "basic economic demands" for the 1,400,000 union members.

Meanwhile the union is waiting for a reply from Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, who was asked to address the convention to help delegates draft demands they will make on the auto industry this year.

Curtice was expected to decline the invitation.

The GM chief has already labeled the UAW's "share the profits" plan as "extravagant" and "foreign to the concept of the American free enterprise system."

The delegates are expected to give overwhelming support of the proposed demands for a profit-sharing plan, large pay boosts, improved supplemental unemployment benefits and better pensions.

They will also discuss a special dues assessment which would double the union's present strike fund of about $25 million.

Pentagon Changes Promised

Senate Missile Probers Will Quiz McElroy Again

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy goes behind closed doors with Senate missile probers today after giving top priority to reorganizing the Pentagon for the space age.

Members of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, who are trying to assess America's defense capabilities in the light of Russia's missile and satellite accomplishments, are interested in the "target date" McElroy said he set for producing a final reorganization plan.

The defense secretary who discussed the matter with President Eisenhower yesterday in an hour-long conference, would say only that it would be a matter of "several weeks."

McElroy had been recalled to testify on security matters but reorganization questions may be put to him. Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles also was recalled for closed-door grilling on U. S. missile progress.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) hopes to wind up the current hearings tomorrow. The last witness is to be retired Army Gen. Lucius Clay, now a New York businessman who was a member of the Rockefeller Committee which recommended Pentagon reorganization.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), a member of the subcommittee, said in an interview today that he opposed any "revolutionary" shakeup in the defense organization which would put a single military commander over all the armed forces.

He thus aligned himself with Senate Armed Services Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) and House Armed Services Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga).

It is considered unlikely that the administration would propose any such radical shakeup in view of the strong objections of the very committees which would pass on its reorganization recommendations.

McElroy appointed six consultants yesterday to study the problem and make individual recommendations to him. He named former Assistant Defense Secretary Charles A. Coolidge as coordinator of the study.

After reporting to the President on his action, he said he thought Eisenhower "actually would like to have things moving faster." But McElroy said he personally feels "we are making hay slowly."

than in the northern part," Lomerson explained.

The commission's share of the state gas and weight taxes provides the money for these construction projects.

What improvements will be done in 1958 on the county's many miles of local roads will depend on agreements between the county and townships. The townships must pay one-half the cost of this work according to a new state law put into effect last year.

Last year, the commission did $1,210,000 worth of construction work on 39 miles of primary and local streets.

Also included in this year's work will be blacktopping of sections of Farmington, Baldwin and Fenton roads.

Some 75 miles of subdivision streets in the county will get a layer of blacktop this year, Lomerson predicted. Developers or property owners pay this bill.

Clamp Curfew Upon Caracas

20 Reported Killed and 100 Hurt in Venezuelan Strike Rioting

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A dusk-to-dawn curfew was in effect in Caracas today and government troops were ordered to fire on anyone disturbing the peace after an outbreak of rioting and shooting during a general strike.

Reports reaching Washington said 20 persons were killed and 100 injured in street fighting in a workers' area of Caracas yesterday. They said 1,000 persons were arrested after the clash. Strict censorship prevailed.

The U. S. State Department said there were no reports of any Americans being injured or American property damaged. About 40,000 Americans live in Venezuela and U.S. investments there total about three billion dollars.

The strike was called by underground opponents of President Marcos Perez Jimenez, who three weeks ago survived a short-lived revolt by the Air Force and some Army units. Since then Caracas has been in a continual state of tension.

The Interior Ministry claimed the people had not responded to the general strike call. In a nationwide broadcast the ministry conceded there had been "disorders and offenses" in Caracas and disturbances in Los Teques, Valencia and Pueblo Nuevo but said the rest of the nation was normal.

Ike Requests Over $2 Billion

Wants the Bulk of 1958 Supplemental Fund for Commodity Credit

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for supplemental 1958 appropriations totaling more than $2,800,000,000, largely for the Commodity Credit Corp.

The White House said that the sums had been outlined in Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1 and are about 54 million dollars below the budget estimates.

It added that the $2,896,234,968 supplemental appropriations submitted today . . 'will not result in any increase in 1958 expenditures or in new obligational authority over the totals for 1958 in the 1959 budget document."

The largest request included about $2,200,000,000 for the CCC, of which $1,725,000,000 would be for the surplus commodity disposal program and 489 million for the soil bank.

Other requests included:

—288 millions for veterans pensions and benefits.

—170 millions for public assistance grants to states.

—57 millions to help local school districts construct buildings in areas feeling the impact of federal activities.

—76 millions for Labor Department administrative costs for various programs.

—11.8 millions in new obligational authority for the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics to expand research involving missiles, space vehicles and other similar projects.

—10 million dollars for expansion of research and other activities of the National Science Foundation.

White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty said the amounts would be chargeable against the current budget rather than the record peacetime budget of $73,900,000,000 for the 1959 fiscal year.

Republicans Flay Plan to Hike Intangibles Tax

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' first full dress statement of his intangibles tax increase plan touched off a torrent of criticism from majority Republican legislators—some scolding, some scalding.

It was as though GP lawmakers thought the Democratic governor led with his chin, and they swarmed over one another—particularly in the Senate—to land their punches.

DRIVE OUT CAPITAL

"We are impressed with the possibility that the governor, whose past taxing policies have destroyed many Michigan jobs and much industrial growth, is now recommending a policy which might well serve to drive capital out of the state as well."

That was the way House Speaker George M. Van Peursem and Sen. Frank Beadle, Senate caucus chairman, reacted in a joint statement yesterday.

They said industrial good will "ambassadors" Williams proposes to send abroad might find themselves "attempting to bring jobs to Michigan without having Michigan capital to assist in creating such jobs."

"A close approach to a general personal income tax." That was how Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), House Taxation Committee chairman, sized up the governor's explanation of his proposal.

Conlin said legislators need to have the complete plan before them in bill form to "bring some reason out of the mass of confusion." He and others called for extensive legislative hearings.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris, (R-Kalamazoo), Taxation Committee chairman, called the proposal a "graduated income tax on intangibles," in part a reference to the exemption and tax credit features.

He said the governor was trying to "condition" the state for an income tax.

Morris, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) and Sen. Charles O. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids) all drummed on the theme that state government expense cutting rather than more taxes is the present need.

DISMISS BOARDS

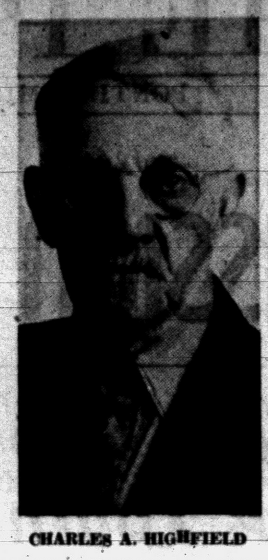

"We've got a lot of boards and departments we probably could get rid of and a lot of state employes we could get rid of too," said Lodge.

Democratic followers of the governor sought to stem the tide of criticism, but merely succeeded in punctuating it.

Sen. John B. Swainson of Detroit, Democratic minority leader, observed that Williams had worked hard in preparing his proposal, and in presenting it, invited anybody with a better idea to bring it forth.

Sen. Basil W. Brown (D-Detroit) chided Republicans for initiating the plan last year that added two cents a package to the state tax on cigarettes and put a four per cent tax on whisky.

CHARLES A. HIGHFIELD

Charles Highfield Was Pontiac Motor's Initial Paid Retiree

Charles A. Highfield, the first man to retire from Pontiac Motor Division under the pension plan, died yesterday at the age of 93 in his home, 29 Riker St.

A farmer most of his life, Mr. Highfield did not enter the employ of Pontiac Motor until he was 61 years of age.

A lifelong resident of Oakland County, he was the son of Alfred and Catherine Johnson Highfield, an early pioneer family.

Besides his wife, Euthema, he leaves five children, Mrs. Edna Greiner of Birmingham, Mrs. Eva Hosney, Mrs. Olive Manley, Mrs. Elizabeth Beamer and Robert Highfield, all of Pontiac.

Mr. Highfield's body will be at the Huntoon Funeral Home this evening. On Thursday morning it will be taken to his home where service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. James W. Deeg officiating. Burial will be in the Rose Center Cemetery.

Two Tots Find Strange 'Milk' Quite Delightful

Two West Bloomfield Township tots — with questionable taste buds and cast iron stomachs — Tuesday took time out for a sip of milk that would send shivers through the most hardened drinker.

What they thought was milk was actually turpentine!

He was playing with David Lawrence, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawrence, 2474 Littletell, at the Lawrence home.

When Mrs. Lawrence was called to the phone for a moment, Ricky discovered a closed can of turpentine in a bedroom cabinet. He downed about a half-cup of the fluid and offered some to his buddy.

When Mrs. Lawrence found them, they smiled and said, "Look, milk!" State troopers were called to the scene and took both boys to William Beaumont Hospital where their stomachs were pumped.

Mrs. Lawrence reported today that the two will have to do most of their drinking standing up for the next few days due to a pair of well-placed penicillin shots.

The Day in Birmingham

Delay Contract Signing for Pine-Raynale Sewer

BIRMINGHAM—Signing of the contract for Pine-Raynale sewer installation has been held up by protest of the Vito Excavating firm of Hazel Park, lower bidder for the work.

City commissioners awarded the contract to the Greenfield Construction Co. on the recommendation of G. R. Serenbetz, city engineer, who said he had been unable to determine the qualifications of the low bidder.

Since that time the Hazel Park firm has presented letters of recommendation from several contractors for whom it has worked.

Serenbetz said it was still doubtful that it would be advisable to award the contract to a firm whose experience is limited to sub-contracting.

He said the saving of approximately $6,700 on the difference between the two bids easily could be canceled in city engineering expenses or faulty work.

Serenbetz and City Manager L. R. Gare told the Hazel Park firm that they would check the additional information and report next week as to whether they will make a change in the contract awarding.

A spokesman for the Greenfield company said his firm already had done some preliminary work on the project and is ready to begin construction immediately.

Completion date for the job is April 15.

A week-long investigation of the theft of $1,075 from the Bloomfield Hills Bowling Alley Jan. 13 ended yesterday when Capt. Walter Sluiter of the Bloomfield Hills Police Department charged three Detroit men with larceny from a building.

Two of the men, Lester Heard, 23, of 2324 St. Antoine, and Oscar Johnson, 24, of 9134 Goodman, were porters at the Bowling Alley. The third man involved is Eddie Smith, 22, of 255 Montcalm.

Captains named for the Jan. 29 Mothers' March of Dimes are Mrs. Arthur Otis Jr., Mrs. Roger Brown, Mrs. Roland E. King, Mrs. David B. Mott, Mrs. Harvey Swift, Mrs. Wilford Payne, Mrs. D. James Watson, Jr., Mrs. John Stiff, Mrs. Eldridge Kruger and Mrs. Harry D. Houck.

Volunteers for the door-to-door campaign are still needed and may enroll by contacting their area captain.

Leaders will be briefed at a coffee hour at the Community House at 8 p.m. today. Materials needed for the march will be distributed at this time.

Finds Hospitals for Mentally Ill

Oakland Locates Three Out-County Institutions to Provide Care

Oakland County has found three out-county hospitals which will provide emergency care for the mentally ill, in order that such patients no longer must be housed in the county jail.

The hospitals which have indicated they are "able and willing" to take such patients are the Mercywood Hospital near Ann Arbor, Glen Eden Hospital in Warren, and Hurley Hospital in Flint.

The Health Committee of the Board of Supervisors will propose at the board's Friday meeting that the offer of the three institutions be accepted, and that the Ways and Means Committee make a study of the costs in housing these patients at each.

Based on estimated per day costs of $20 at the Mercywood and Glen Eden Hospitals, and $35 per day at Hurley, it was estimated the county might pay roughly $40,000 annually to care for the mentally ill.

Eliminated after a study by the County Health Dept. as to what hospitals might take patients from here were the Haven Sanatorium in Rochester and the Bloomfield Hospital in Bloomfield Township.

LACKING IN ROOM

Authorities at the sanatorium said they didn't have the room, while the Bloomfield Hospital said it "wasn't interested," according to Dr. John S. Lambie, health coordinator for Oakland County.

Use of the former Contagious Hospital, now the Pontiac General Hospital Annex, is slowed by the fact that the city might continue a lease there well into 1959.

Health officials then turned their attention to hospitals which could take patients immediately.

Dr. Lambie, who received the assurances from the three, pointed out that the jail still would have to be used for "screening" patients by doctors prior to admission to one of the hospitals.

Cyril E. Miller, chairman of the Health Committee which met Tuesday, said the search for hospitals reached outside the county as there were no facilities available here.

"Three area hospitals have plans for rooms for emergency care," Miller stated, "but we need some place now."

28 Perish as Snow Paralyzes Midwest

grees at 7 a.m. after the temperature reached 52 an hour earlier. It is foggy in the nation's largest city after a night of rain.

FLIGHTS DISRUPTED

Planes were diverted to Newark N. J., Washington, Boston and Philadelphia.

The fog delayed the docking of the Italian liner Vulcania for at least two hours.

Heavy snow warnings have been issued for portions of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine where rain is expected to change to wet snow today with accumulations of up to 8 inches in the area.

Snow fell during the night as the storm moved eastward in an area bounded by the Mississippi river and western Ohio and from the southern Great Lakes region southward into portions of Kentucky and Tennessee.

NO MORE DUE

No further accumulation of snow was expected in much of the region from the Ohio Valley up through the Great Lakes as the spent Midwest disturbance advanced to the Atlantic coast.

The worst snowstorm in five years roared into southeast Wisconsin yesterday, leaving three men dead of heart attacks and 8-10 inches of new snow on the ground.

At the U.S. Weather Station at Mitchell Field airport, 8 inches of new snow was measured officially and, added to a 3-inch accumulation from Monday, left a total of at least 11 inches on the ground.

The heart attack victims were all Milwaukeeans who died after shoveling the wet, heavy snow last night.

The Racine and Kenosha areas also were hit hard by the storm, which stalled two buses filled with school children.

One of the buses was caught in heavy drifts on the south side of Milwaukee. Motorists rescued the youngsters and took them to their homes.

The other bogged down near Sturdevant in Racine County, and the young passengers were sheltered at a nearby farmhouse.

City Airport Funds Weighted by Senate

The state senate took under consideration today a bill that would allocate $835,000 to 22 state airports, including $50,000 for Pontiac's airfield.

The sum is part of a $1,032,000 airport construction budget approved by the state aeronautics commission this month.

The $835,000 is earmarked to come from the state general fund, with the rest of the budget coming from state aeronautics funds, federal and local funds.

The bill would appropriate $200,000 to Wayne Major airport; $105,000 to Lansing Capital City airport; $79,000 to Willow Run airport, and $57,000 to Menominee airport.

Pontiac, Kalamazoo and Jackson were slated for $50,000 each. Fifteen other airports would split up the remaining funds.

News Flash

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A railroad tank car filled with a chemical exploded with a thundering roar today, injuring scores of persons and causing widespread property damage. Police reported that there apparently were no deaths.

The blast, heard for miles, plowed a huge crater in a railroad right of way and severely damaged houses in the immediate area. The car was on tracks of the Niagara Junction Railroad, a service line owned by trunk railroads coming into this heavily industrialized city.

German Beer Output Rises 12 Per cent

BERLIN — Germany has 32,098 breweries, of which 29,158, or 90.8 per cent, are so-called house breweries. The others are trade breweries.

In the year ended September 30 the industry produced 35,000,000 barrels of beer, 12 per cent more than in 1955-56 and 30 per cent more than in prewar years.

There is a trend to breweries producing more than 100,000 barrels a year, while those with output between 1,000 and 20,000 barrels are declining.

JAMES R. ADAMS

Sparks Off My Anvil by James R. Adams

By FRANK T. SKINNER

Herewith is a little book by James R. Adams, published posthumously, because the author died in November 1956. The foreword is by "Chuck" Adams, his son and a vice president of MacManus, John and Adams.

The contents are interesting to people in advertising and sales, but also—to a degree—interesting to the public for the insight it gives into the psychology of advertising.

Jim Adams was co-founder of MacManus, John and Adams with W. A. P. John and the late T. F. MacManus. He was a huge man but his stature in advertising was far greater than his physical bulk.

Jim was about as far as you can get — and I can't get far enough—from the Madison Avenue type of adman so popular in novels, plays and movies. He owned no gray flannel suit, scorned Martinis, was never in "21" in his life.

This small volume—published by Harper & Brothers—is the distillate of 30 years in the advertising business . . . thirty years during which Jim Adams wrote over a quarter billion dollars worth of advertising laboriously scrawled on yellow scratch paper with the soft black pencils he first used in newspaper city rooms.

That these words brought a better life to people through bestirring their innate instincts for better living it would be hard to dispute. For Adams would not touch a product in which he did not believe, be it a motorcar or a sparkplug, a grand piano or a pound of coffee.

And much of the multi-millions of dollars entrusted to his stewardship went into newspapers for Jim liked to talk directly to the people and felt that was the best place to do it.

He felt—and backed his feeling with dollars—that an honest newspaper advertisement started on second base, so to speak, because of the instinctive belief built up over generations in everything an honest paper prints. Jim didn't worry much over whether the reader was in a position to buy a Cadillac or Pontiac motorcar at that very moment. He was interested in planting the desire to own one, knowing personally that the wheel of fortune continually spins.

And spin it did for Jim Adams—from a boyhood of wrenching poverty on a backwoods Indiana farm to professional honor, wealth and a baronial manor of stone and glass in Rathmor road, Bloomfield Hills, a few hundred yards from the magnificent agency building in Bloomfield Center which bears his name. His book is on the same plane.

8 Slot Machines to Face Charges in Louisville Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight slot machines go on trial Monday on charges of being used for gambling.

First Asst. County Atty. Sal Pinto sued the machines under a statute which says if a jury finds the machines "were used or intended to be used for the purpose of gambling, they shall be condemned and forfeited."

Asked if the machines had employed counsel, Pinto replied: "Rather than take advantage of the machines, I have brought in the owners to represent the machines."

Two Veterans of Foreign Wars posts were named codefendants.

Centenarian Succumbs; Never Left Colorado

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Mrs. Tiofila Trujillo, who never had been outside Colorado, died in a hospital last night just two weeks after her 101st birthday.

She suffered extensive burns over her body when kerosene she was using to fuel a fire exploded. The blaze in the kitchen of her home was quickly extinguished.

New Air Record Set for Women

Ruth Nichols, 56, Flies Air Force Jet Faster Than 1,000 M.P.H.

SUFFOLK COUNTY AIR FORCE BASE, N.Y. (AP) — Ruth Nichols, 56, pioneer woman flier, flew an Air Force jet yesterday faster than 1,000 miles an hour at an altitude of 51,000 feet.

The flight was reported to have set women's records for speed and altitude.

Miss Nichols and Col. Fred D. Hook Jr., commanding officer of this Air Force base on Long Island, flew in a two-seated trainer version of the F102 Delta Dagger, a supersonic fighter-interceptor plane.

They were in the air about 50 minutes, according to Hook, and took off and landed at the base.

Air Force officials said the previous records were set in 1956 by Jacqueline Cochran when she flew a Canadian F86 Sabre Jet 754 miles an hour at 48,069 feet.

Hook said Miss Nichols, who began flying in 1919, was at the controls except during takeoff and landing and when the plane was on instruments. The flight, he said, was cleared with Air Force officials at the Pentagon.

"It was simply wonderful," Miss Nichols said on landing. "Flying supersonically is like lying in a cradle. I felt absolutely nothing except my own excitement and emotion at having made the flight."

A lieutenant colonel in the Civil Air Patrol, she has piloted more than 140 types of aircraft.

Slate Conference on Education at Lansing's Center

LANSING (AP) — More than 12,000 invitations have been sent out for the 19th annual Citizens Conference on Education, scheduled for Feb. 11 at the Lansing civic center.

"It's the biggest thing we've ever attempted," said Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction. "We are involving every possible segment of the community."

One of the unusual features of the conference, Bartlett said, is that top high school and college students have been invited to attend.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, who recently warned that America must catch up with Russia in the next 10 years or decline into a colony status. Dr. Walker is vice chairman of the President's committee on scientists and engineers.

Actor Mitchell to Pay $2,050 Monthly to Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Cameron Mitchell will pay his estranged wife $2,050 monthly temporary support pending agreement on a property settlement.

Under an agreement announced yesterday she will receive $1,300 a month for herself and $750 monthly for their four children.

Mrs. Johanna Mitchell sued the actor for separate maintenance last June, charging cruelty.

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route, Miss Marple figures the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her, and Miss Marple is installed in the neighborhood posing as Lucy's aunt. On pretense of playing golf, Lucy searches for the body and finds a piece of fur on a bush below the railroad tracks. In a barn Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mr. Wimborne, Crackenthorpe's attorney, tells Emma the murdered woman was probably a foreigner and Emma asks if she was French. Mrs. McGillicuddy identifies the picture of the murdered woman as that of the woman she saw in the train.

CHAPTER 18

"It is unwise to tell strangers all these things about your father," Lucy said.

"Why? Are you a police spy?" Cedric asked.

"I might be."

"I don't think so. You were here slaving away before the police began to take an interest in us. I should say—"

He broke off as his sister Emma came through the door of the kitchen garden.

"Hullo, Em? You're looking very perturbed about something."

"I am. I want to talk to you, Cedric."

"I must get back to the house," said Lucy, tactfully.

"Don't go," said Cedric. "Murder has made you practically one of the family."

"I've got a lot to do," said Lucy. "I only came out to get some parsley."

"Good looking girl," he said "Who is she really?"

"Oh, she's quite well known," said Emma. "She's made a specialty of this kind of thing. But never mind Lucy Eyelesbarrow. Cedric, I'm terribly worried. Apparently the police think that this girl was a foreigner, perhaps French. Cedric, you don't think that she could possibly be — Martine?"

For a moment or two Cedric stared at her as though uncomprehending.

"Martine? But who on earth — oh, you mean Martine?"

"Yes. Do you think —"

"Why on earth should it be Martine"

"Well, her sending that telegram was odd when you come to think of it. It must have been roughly about the same time . . . Do you think that she may, after all, have come down here and—"

"Nonsense. Why should Martine come down here and find her way into the Long Barn? What for? It seems wildly unlikely to me."

"You don't think, perhaps, that I ought to tell Inspector Bacon—or the other one?"

"Tell him what?"

"Well — about Martine. About her letter."

"Now don't you go complicating things, sis, by bringing up a lot of irrelevant stuff that has nothing to do with all this. I was never very convinced about that letter from Martine, anyway."

"I was."

"You've always been good at believing impossible things before breakfast, old girl. My advice to you is, sit tight, and keep your mouth shut. It's up to the police to identify their precious corpse. And I bet Harold would say the same."

"Oh, I know Harold would. And Alfred, also. But I'm worried, Cedric, I really am worried. I don't know what I ought to do."

"Nothing," said Cedric promptly. "Keep your mouth shut, Emma. Never go half way to meet trouble, that's my motto."

Emma Crackenthorpe sighed. She went slowly back to the house uneasy in her mind.

As she came into the drive, Doctor Quimper emerged from the house and opened the door of his battered Austin car. He paused when he saw her, then leaving the car he came towards her.

"Well, Emma," he said. "Your father's in splendid shape. Murder suits him. It's given him an interest in life. I must recommend it for more of my patients."

Emma smiled mechanically. Dr. Quimper was always quick to notice reactions.

"Anything particular the matter?" he asked.

Emma looked up at him. She had come to rely a lot on the kindliness and sympathy of the doctor. He had become a friend on whom to lean, not only a medical attendant. His calculated brusqueness did not deceive her — she knew the kindness that lay behind it.

"I am worried, yes," she admitted.

"Care to tell me? Don't if you don't want to."

"I'd like to tell you. Some of it you know already. The point is I don't know what to do."

"I should say your judgment was usually most reliable. What's the trouble?"

"You remember — or perhaps you don't — what I once told you about my brother — the one who was killed in the war?"

"You mean about his having married — or wanting to marry — a French girl? Something of that kind?"

"Yes. Almost immediately after I got that letter, he was killed. We never heard anything of or about the girl. All we know, actually, was her Christian name. We always expected her to write or to turn up, but she didn't. We never heard anything — until about a month ago just before Christmas."

"I remember. You got a letter, didn't you?"

"Yes. Saying she was in England and would like to come and see us. It was all arranged and then, at the last minute, she sent a wire that she had to return, unexpectedly to France."

"Well?"

"The police think that this woman who was killed — was French."

"They do, do they? She looked more of an English type to me, but one can't really judge. What's worrying you then, is that just possibly the dead woman might be your brother's girl?"

"Yes."

"I think it's most unlikely," said Dr. Quimper, adding: "But all the same I understand what you feel."

"I'm wondering if I ought not to tell the police about — about it all. Cedric and the others say it's quite unnecessary. What do you think?"

"Hm." Dr. Quimper pursed his lips. He was silent for a moment or two, deep in thought. Then he said, almost unwillingly, "It's much simpler, of course, if you say nothing. I can understand what your brothers feel about it. All the same—"

"Yes?"

Quimper looked at her. His eyes had an affectionate twinkle in them.

"I'd go ahead and tell 'em," he said. "You'll go on worrying if you don't. I know you."

"Perhaps I'm foolish."

"You do what you want to do, my dear — and let the rest of the family go hang. I'd back your judgment against the lot of them, any day."

"Girl! You girl! Come in here."

Lucy turned her head, surprised. Old Mr. Crackenthorpe was beckoning to her fiercely from just inside a door.

"You want me, Mr. Crackenthorpe?"

"Don't talk so much. Come in here."

Lucy obeyed the imperative finger. Old Mr. Crackenthorpe took hold of her arm and pulled her inside the door and shut it.

"Want to show you something," he said.

Lucy looked around her. They were in a small room evidently designed to be used as a study, but equally evidently not used as such for a very long time. There were piles of dusty papers on the desk and cobwebs festooned from the corners of the ceiling. The air smelled damp and musty.

"Do you want me to clean this room?" she asked.

Old Mr. Crackenthorpe shook his head fiercely.

"No, you don't! I keep this room locked up. Emma would like to fiddle about in here, but I don't let her. It's my room. See these stones? They're geological specimens."

Gas Explodes, Twelve Injured

70 Cars Start Through Fumes in New Mexico at Time of Blast

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Gas, lying like a low cloud in a large natural depression, exploded late yesterday as a string of about 70 cars started through it. Twelve persons were injured, seven seriously.

The blast knocked June Gorham, Farmington, from her car as a sheet of flame flashed over a three-acre area.

She was among 150 construction company employes leaving a plant being built on the desert about 30 miles southeast of here.

Paul Miller, 50, Denver, a safety engineer for the company building the plant, said the car in which he was riding ran down into the gas in the depression and stalled. He said he and the others in it shoved that car and two others out and then signaled the other cars to stop on the plant side of the depression.

A spokesman for the company having the plant built said someone left a valve open on a liquified gas line leading from the plant, and the gas leaked out to the hollow. He blamed a spark from a car for the explosion.

Miller said there were no cars in the gas when it exploded.

How to Rinse Away Your Blackheads

By CLAIRE HOFFMAN

New York, N. Y.—A leading skin doctor today showed an audience of men, women and skin-troubled teenagers how to clean oily skin and shrink enlarged pores with a 10-minute home medical treatment he has perfected. Then he demonstrated how you may rinse away externally caused blackheads, whiteheads and dry up adolescent pimply skin eruptions.

Before our very eyes the doctor selected a 36-year-old woman with typically oily skin. This woman had blackheads around her nose, enlarged pores and whiteheads visible to the naked eye. To this woman's face the doctor applied a cream. Within moments it firmed into a plastic-like mask. Next he sprinkled her face with water, and handed her an ordinary washcloth to rinse the mask from her skin. To her utter astonishment, clinging to the washcloth were not only grimy streaks of dirt . . . but several blackheads which had marred her beauty for years.

As we stared at the washcloth in disbelief, the doctor's assistant turned to us and said: "You have just seen what looks like a miracle. Yet, what has just been done for this woman's skin, you can do at home just as easily. But to understand how this formula acts to help clear skin troubles you must first knock out of your head some silly notions most people have about their complexions."

The Truth About Cosmetics

Has it ever occurred to you that you lavish more care on your face than any other part of your body . . . yet isn't that where you find the most pimples, blackheads, blemishes and enlarged pores? So what do you do about it?

Nine out of 10 women simply don't or won't understand that if they have oily skins, blackheads, pimples or enlarged pores, they may not only have a cosmetic problem . . . but a medical problem as well.

Now why is this so? Shocking as it seems, if nature gave you either a normal or oily skin, your face is always dirty! Why? Because 24 hours a day your face is always exposed to soot, smoke, factory dirt, car exhaust, coal dust, noxious fumes and other germ-laden dirt that pours into the air. It clings to the natural oils of your skin.

Your pores become choked and clogged. Your natural oils are stopped up and hardened into blackheads or pimples. They try to push out, forcing your pores to open wider and wider. Once this condition starts (especially during adolescence, when glandular disturbances make your skin extra oily) the condition usually grows worse and worse as you grow older. And when this happens . . . isn't it obvious that it may become impossible to correct unless you start to change your complexion care immediately?

Do This For A Cleaner Skin

If you want to rid your face of ugly blackheads, enlarged pores and externally caused skin eruptions, these are the three things you must do:

First you must soften the hardened dirt and oils that may have accumulated in your pore openings! Second, you must remove that dirt. (But don't squeeze it out. Squeezing only forces part of the dirt deeper into your skin.) And third, you must try to tighten your skin with shrinking and antiseptic agents, not only for beauty, but to guard you against reinfection! And unless you are prepared to do all three things, it's likely you will go on wasting your time and your money the rest of your life looking for "miracle cures!"

What Happens When You Apply This Doctor's 3-Way Formula

First to prepare your skin for treatment we are going to soften and loosen the buried dirt cemented into your pores. The scientific pore cleanser which is Part One of this famous skin doctor's treatment is unlike any other cleanser you have ever used in your life, regardless of how much you can afford to pay. And here is how you can prove it on your skin.

Apply the doctor's scientific pore cleanser. Tissue it off! Now look at the tissue!

When you see the gray streaks of dirt that come off—even after having creamed your face with any other cleanser—then will you begin to understand why you need a drastic change in complexion care.

(2) The second part of your doctor's treatment is a medicated masque which you apply.

Apply it to your face with your fingertips as you would any cream. A little thicker around the "danger area" . . . namely around the nose, lips, eyes and cheeks.

The first 3 or 4 minutes you will feel a strong stimulation. This is the massaging action of the medical ingredients going to work on your skin. Your face will feel alternately hot and cold. You will like it. Your skin will feel refreshed. It is like a massage without irritation, bringing fresh, purifying blood to your face to draw off the blemish causing wastes in your pores.

After a few minutes this hot and cold action goes away and a wonderful relaxation of all your tense, over-worked facial muscles sets in. Your pulse tends to slow down and you are so relaxed you feel a great tendency to fall asleep. In another moment you will feel your skin getting tighter and tighter. What is happening is this: A wonderful medical absorbing agent doctors call ARGILLA is drying on your skin. It is turning the cream on your face into a firm, plastic-like mask. You get a pleasant, drawing feeling, a relaxing feeling, there is a corrective action, there is an astringent action and an antiseptic action. You feel the ARGILLA drawing on the blackheads. Everything it touches perspiration, pore dirt, hardened oils even blackheads and whiteheads that have resisted removal for months.

After 10 minutes rinse the mask away. Hot or cold water makes no difference. It dissolves in a second. Your skin feels clean, refreshed, sparkling, smoother! Like velvet! But wait . . . you haven't finished your first treatment yet!

Now Apply Step 3 of Your Treatment . . . The Astringent

This is not merely a perfumed alcohol that tickles your skin for a few seconds. It's medicated. It penetrates into your pore openings. Kills bacteria lurking there. And even more important, leaves an invisible germ-destroying film on your skin that kills germs for hours.

Now Look Into Your Mirror!

Some of your blackheads should be gone with the very first treatment! Look for softened pimples and whiteheads that may break or be drawn out in your next treatment or two. Look at the corners of the nose, around your mouth, your cheekbones! See how your enlarged pores have tightened! Your skin will feel alive! And you will be amazed to see minor wrinkles softened—almost ironed out! And this fresh, buoyant, youthful effect will last for hours.

Is This For Normal Skin, Too?

Certainly. Simply because this is a doctor's formula doesn't mean that you have to have a "sick skin" to use it. You may be a woman past 30 who has never had a really serious skin problem, but who suspects that your skin is not as beautiful and freshlooking as it could be . . . but your cosmetic creams can't give it to you. In that case . . . we think you'll be thrilled by the sheer, smooth, silken beauty that one or two treatments can give you.

On the other hand . . . if you have an adolescent, broken-out skin; if you are a man who is troubled by blemishes or a "sandpaper skin" and you are sensible enough not to be ashamed to use a so-called "woman's treatment" in the privacy of your own home . . . or if you are a woman who has abused her complexion with improper and inadequate cosmetic preparations . . . then this is vital.

We promise you dramatic improvement with your first 15-minute home treatment. Your mirror will show it to you, and we promise you further rapid improvement for the next 14 days.

After 14 days, you will discover whether you have to keep using all or part of the treatment every day, once a week, or once a month, depending on how fast your complexion begins to clear.

Try This Skin Treatment In Your Own Home Without Risking A Penny!

The name of this 3-day doctor's formula is the Queen Helene Skin Treatment. It is named in honor of the nurse who worked at the doctor's side for 15 years while this formula was being developed. Your Queen Helene 3-way formula, enough for 33 home treatments, includes your scientific cleansing cream, your medicated mask cream and your medicated pore astringent. The cost is $3.98 . . . less than 13 cents a treatment. Yes, less than 13 cents for a skin specialist's 3-way skin and beauty treatment.

Follow your daily progress in your mirror and after each treatment, if your Queen Helene treatment does not do for your skin everything we have led you to believe it will do. If you don't see dramatic improvement after just one 15-minute treatment, if you don't see a further improvement each day for the next 14 days, return the unused portion. We'll thank you for trying it, and refund your full purchase price.

But act today! The longer you wait the worse it is bound to get. And like any other condition, the worse it gets, the longer it takes to get well. So right now, while you're determined to help yourself, send coupon today!

New Leader Elected by Canada's Liberals

Canada's former Secretary of External Affairs, popular and able LESTER BOWLES "MIKE" PEARSON, is the newly elected leader of the Liberal Party to succeed retiring former Prime Minister ST. LAURENT.

Last year's Nobel Peace Prize winner and World War I veteran gave up a teaching career at the University of Toronto to enter government and was ambassador to Washington in 1945 and 1946. He was active in organizing the United Nations and also as a delegate and president of the General Assembly. It was at Mr. PEARSON's urging that the U. N. Emergency Force took over in Egypt last fall and he has been working to make NATO an Atlantic Union in other than military aspects.

The 60 year old opposition leader won a three to one victory at the national convention in Ottawa over former Minister of Health PAUL MARTIN. There is every possibility of a new general election soon as the last nationwide vote did not give the Conservatives, led by JOHN DIEFENBAKER, a clear majority. Prime Minister DIEFENBAKER was able to form a government with the support of two splinter parties.

The Liberal strategy will be to bring on an early election by a "no confidence" vote in the present Conservative government, which has been in power only since last June. With 106 of the 265 seats in the House of Commons, to 113 held by the Conservatives, the Liberals have to pick up support from the 46 seats held by minor parties.

Current unemployment, as high as in depression days, and difficulties because of U.S. wheat "dumping" and oil embargo, is causing the Diefenbaker Government some anxiety. Although hardly to blame for the situation the Conservatives naturally are bearing the brunt of the criticism.

Should the Liberals win in the next general election, as seems probable, Mr. PEARSON would become Prime Minister of Canada.

REA Interest Rate May Be Increased

When the Rural Electrification Administration was established in 1935, the interest rate on Government money borrowed by the agency was fixed at two per cent.

But for the past 15 years the Government has had to pay more than that in interest on money it borrowed to pass on to REA. Last year it was suggested that the rate be raised and President EISENHOWER's recent budget message recommends an increase and also a shift where possible from Government loans to private loans insured by the Government.

However, as the latter suggestion, it should be borne in mind that REA was created because private capital was not interested in rural electrification. At the time the agency was set up only 11 per cent of American farms were electrified. Today the percentage is 90 as a direct result of Government loans to supply a growing market.

According to the Department of Agriculture which supervises REA, rural electric systems are planning projects costing $967 million. It would be difficult to get much of this huge sum from private lending agencies.

The Department also estimates that in the next 20 years these projects will create new markets for electric appliances and equipment to the total of $24 billion. As President EISENHOWER pointed out, the REA already has "done much to enrich the lives of our rural families and contributed greatly to the advancement of our country's economy generally."

But unless there are strong reasons to the contrary, the Government should charge interest on the money it lends REA at least equal to the interest on the money it is borrowing.

"AMERICANS are enjoying living more than ever before," says a columnist. No doubt. Americans invariably get a big kick out of doing something that is terribly expensive.

The Man About Town

It Only Seems So

Argument That Winters Are Not Becoming Milder

Conquer: Sometimes what she dupes to.

On hand with his annual quite convincing proof that our winters are not getting milder, as many suppose, is of Birmingham. He says we had a number of winters 30 odd years ago that were as mild as the present one through their first half. "But we got paid for it—with compound interest—in the second half," he asserts.

Better ways of combating the cold, better health, better means of transportation, better heating facilities, improved methods of fighting that once everybody's trouble (the common cold), better means of transportation, better ways of clearing the ice and snow, and more home attractions, like the phone, radio and TV, all combine to make our winters seem more agreeable, contends Mr. Petherbridge.

"My Bradenton, Fla., lookout sends word that the frigid weather there caused almost a complete cessation of real estate dealings, and the appearance of so many 'For Sale' signs that a loyal resident posted a big one:

"This Place NOT for Sale."

Another addition comes from

Voice of the People, appearing each day on this page. When informed of the death of somebody, the first thought usually is

"Which way did he go?"

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Dressed to Kill

David Lawrence Says:

Need 'Univac' in Today's Business

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's going on in the national economy at this particular moment is perhaps the biggest single preoccupation in the minds of businessmen. If someone could invent a "univac" to assemble the facts about business fluctuations concurrently—not just retrospectively over the last month or the last quarter or the last year—it would be easier to know what the actual trend is today.

For just at the moment the country is being told that a "recession" is under way. Actually, there were signs of a readjustment a year ago when national production began to slide. But nobody knew whether the slide was temporary. Also, there were conflicting factors at work. Thus, "hard goods" began to slip downward, but "soft goods" stayed up till the last quarter of 1957.

Yet today, looking back to what was happening in January, February and March of 1957, it is evident that the first big blow the national economy began to feel was of a psychological sort.

The fuss over the size of the budget caused hesitation in government spending. Defense contractors began to be worried. There was even a delay in paying for work in process and soon many companies had to start borrowing money they otherwise would have received currently from the government.

Talk began to be heard, too, of a deadline—June 30, which is the end of the government's fiscal year—and of attempts to make a better showing on the budget. Government payments were delayed for a variety of good reasons.

The talk also was of changes in the amount of spending. The talk, furthermore, was of anti-inflation measures and tighter credit, and this, of course, caused many a company to defer its expansion plans till it could borrow funds more cheaply. Billions of dollars' worth of private projects were laid aside.

What did all these influences mean to the psychology of the final quarter of 1957? How much were they responsible for the tendency to look upon the year 1957 as a whole as likely to be one of decline and perhaps serious readjustment?

By the time the final quarter's operations were about to be envisaged during the summer months of 1957, the fear of readjustment had grown sizable and began to appear in a tangible form in the cutdown of spending by companies engaged in heavy goods, such as machinery and equipment. Unemployment began to rise.

What had seemed at first like a good profit year in 1957 turned out in the end to be adversely affected by the decline in the last quarter. It was not enough of a decline to make 1957 appear relatively speaking, as a very bad year on profits, but it gave its own warning of the effect of the profit squeeze—high costs and a diminishing volume of sales.

Today many of the labor leaders are reluctant to take too seriously the idea of a "recession." Others accept it and urge tax reduction and deflationary remedies.

They concede a readjustment is in progress but they do not feel it will be prolonged and are relying on the forecasts now being made about an "upturn in the second half of 1958."

Consequently they are thinking in terms of "wage increases as usual." This could block an upturn in business and shake public confidence.

President Eisenhower, in his Economic Report to Congress, warns against increases in wages or prices—which is what he did a year ago—but the economic forces of the country do not seem to respond only to grim facts.

DR. BRADY

1. A boy being supported by his parents has no right to squander money on smoking. If his parents are overburdened with it, the surplus should be used to help some less fortunate person.

2. Athletic coaches do not sanction smoking by boys in training. Even though moderate smoking may not seriously harm the health or the wind of a boy over 18, there is no reason to think it can do a boy any good.

3. Saying "No, thank you, I don't smoke" is good character development for a boy.

A boy doesn't take his first drink because he "needs" or "craves" it, but generally because he hasn't sufficient character to decline—he's afraid someone will call him "chicken."

The user who "needs" or "craves" a drink needs it only to make him forget for a while how weak, wretched, inferior or unfaithful he is. The narcotic—whether it be morphine, heroin, alcohol—benumbs higher brain centers, dulls conscience, impairs judgment. Free from these controls he is likely to do something which will bring shame and sorrow to his family, his friends or himself.

NEVER HELPS

Alcohol never acts as a true stimulant to the brain, the spinal cord or the nerves. Scientific study has proved that alcohol is in NO sense a true stimulant. It does NOT enable a person to work out a difficult problem. It does NOT give a person courage to face up to danger. It does NOT help one to ward off fatigue or exhaustion.

Only in 19th century novels and elderly movies on TV does the brandy flask heal the wounded, restore the sick or revive the dead.

In the gay '90s, some people took their booze under the name of Peruna, Celery Compound, Hostetter's Bitters, Damiana Bitters, Mayer's Sarsaparilla, Duffy's Corn Juice or the like, and defended their drinking by quoting their accommodating medical advisers who called liquor "stimulants."

Their delicate constitution required a shot several times a day just as some poor souls under questionable medical care today require a dose of digitalis every day to keep the heart beating.

If some charlatan has given you the "weak heart" complex, you had better send me, in care of this paper, 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, for the booklet CVD, which deals with heart and artery troubles in a sane, scientific way—in spite of the manufacturers of ethical nostrums, the trick specialists and the "clinic" racketeers.)

Veterans Tell Disapproval of Move to Absorb Fund

What's happening to the veterans of Michigan? The move to absorb the Veterans' Trust Fund is of vital interest to every vet in the state. One must be destitute to qualify for this aid, but last year 13,289 veterans qualified, so you can see how many have been helped during its 12 year operation.

They say needy veterans are scarce, but that's no longer true. Good times are gone and there will be an increasing number of needy veterans before labor and management agree. Legislators who want to take these benefits are in many cases attorneys or successful businessmen who have their nests feathered already.

As a member of DAV, American Legion, VFW and a delegate to the Oakland County Council of Veterans, I can see the veteran has let his guard drop. It's up to the veteran and his dependents to show these legislators that we still have some fighting spirit. If all veterans watch the men in office and refuse to support those that advocate dissolving the Veterans' Trust Fund, we can win without a fight.

Luther J. Keys

2628 Lapeer Rd.

You bet the politicians are afraid to tap the Veterans' Trust Fund, and they'd better keep that scare in their minds if they want to be elected again. And let's not call it a "bipartisan" move. I talked to our representative, Les Hudson, before the story went to press, and he assured me he isn't in accord with Republican representatives on this move and I know most Democrats are of the same accord.

That money was appropriated for veterans and that's where it will stay, as far as every veteran organization in Michigan is concerned. We're all lined up to fight this move with more fight than we had "over there."

A good place to get money to get the state out of financial trouble would be through a corporations profits tax. After all, they were the ones making the money while we were over there saving their hides.

Many Enter in Argument on Joint Chiefs of Staff

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has talked three times recently about reorganizing the Defense Department. It's still not clear what he intends to do. He talked speed, then seemed not to be talking speed, and now talks speed again.

It's not clear what anyone else, including Congress, intends to do about it, either. One thing is sure: the department has been under blazing attack for red tape, doubletalk, delay, and interservice rivalry.

In particular the joint chiefs of staff (JCS) system has been attacked — and defended. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, appointed by Eisenhower, is chairman of the JCS, which is made up of the heads of each of the three armed services.

The four chiefs usually reach agreement by compromise, with Twining not voting. This is the main complaint against the system: It has a built-in method for each of the chiefs to angle and wangle for his own branch of the service.

The result: various proposals to abolish the JCS and substitute either a single military boss or perhaps a general staff of top officers who would be divorced from their individual branches of the armed forces.

There's mixed feeling in Congress about (A) scrapping the JCS, (B) setting up a single military chief, (C) making changes and (D) not making changes. And military men themselves disagree on what to do, if anything.

Twining says he wants to keep an open mind about changes in the present system. Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations and therefore a member of the JCS, defends the present arrangement and opposes the idea of a single commander for all three services.

Yet Lt. Gen. James Gavin, the Army's missile boss who's quitting the service for various reasons, wants the JCS junked and an advisory general staff of top officers substituted for it.

Eisenhower himself in 1947 proposed a single chief of staff but Congress preferred the JCS. Where he stands now he hasn't said.

The present clamor for a shake-up seems to be part of the "let's get going" feeling that started after the Russians hoisted their Sputniks. But two groups of private citizens, who had been investigating the defense arrangements before the Sputniks, have called for changes.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Unfaithful Wife May Feel Inferior

Donna was goaded into unfaithfulness to her husband because she suffered from a sexual inferiority complex. Her affairs were not due to any great physical passion but to her need for a cosmetic tonic for her ego. When her husband used the data in the sex booklet below, he restored her ego and she became a devoted, faithful wife.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X — 309: Donna P., aged 27, has been married for 5 years.

"But I've finally decided to divorce her," her worried husband confessed.

"Actually, I should have done it three yars ago. But I felt she was emotionally or mentally sick, so I forgave her.

DR. CRANE

"But she has affairs with other men. Dr. Crane, I am not exaggerating. She seems to have a mania for affairs. I've caught her in several of them.

"She always cries and begs me to forgive her, but the same thing takes place again within a few months. What else can I do?"

SEX MANIACS

In this column I have reiterated the statement that women are comparatively frigid as measured by the sexual masculine standard.

"Dr. Crane, how do you explain a case like Donna's?" you may then logically inquire.

"And what about other women with a mania for sex, such as nymphomaniacs?"

Well, in my extensive practice for over 30 years, I have encountered many supposedly sex mad women.

Other physicians are glad to get rid of them so they have referred them to me for consultation.

And I have never encountered a sex mad woman who was really passionate.

They have always been goaded into multiple affairs by some psychological complex, such as an amputated breast or other scars and deformities, often minor but looming very large to their distorted perspective.

Donna is a classical example. When I interviewed her, I asked why she was so inconsiderate of her devoted husband.

"Oh, I think he just sticks to me because of a sense of honor," she admitted, "for I don't believe he can really love me for myself alone."

SEX INFERIORITY

Then she admitted that she was sterile. She could never have a baby, for her Fallopian tubes had been surgically removed when she was 18.

"Dr. Crane, I get panicky at times," she confessed, "for when I see other wives with babies, I feel desolate.

"Then I wonder if I am on the shelf and totally lacking in charm. I wonder if I have what it takes to interest a man.

"This drives me into a frenzy and I have an affair just to prove to myself that I can attract a man.

"Then I may remain satisfied for a month or two, but ultimately I get panicky again and must prove to myself that I am all there as a woman."

Actually, Donna had never been greatly interested in the physical affection of the men whom she partially seduced, but was using them as cosmetic aids to inflate her wounded ego.

Remember, I have never encountered a supposedly sex mad woman who didn't have the same attitude as Donna.

Divorce is not the proper answer to psychological problems, so I urged Donna and her husband to remove her feeling of inferiority.

Plainly I pointed out that she was simply afraid of herself, and craved two things to correct matters.

One was children, which she'd have to adopt, since she could never bear any of her own.

The other was complete physical satisfaction, which she had never obtained despite her numerous affairs with different men.

Her husband agreed to stay with her for six months more and try to rebuild their happiness.

For she no longer was goaded by an undiagnosed urge. After six months of proper marriage, they finally located a baby for adoption and now are a happy family.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Use it to avoid this type of tragedy.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bishop Emrich Warns:

Beware Dangerous Man

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A high-ranking Michigan clergyman says the world should beware of the self-righteous person "who knows he is right and those who oppose him are wrong and insincere."

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, described such a person as "the dangerous man in church and state" in an address before the Michigan Pastors' conference this week.

Emrich likened the view of this "dangerous man" to the appeal of western movies where life is broken down into "black and white and bad man against good man."

"But in real life," the clergyman said, "the problem of right and wrong, of good men and bad men, is seldom so simple."

Negro Tells of Flogging in Trial of 11 Klansmen

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)— The state resumes building its case today in the conspiracy trial of 11 white men charged in the flogging of a Negro landowner because of his association with his white tenants.

Solicitor (Prosecutor) James R. Mann entered into the court record yesterday statements taken from each of the 11 defendants shortly after their arrest following the July 21, 1957, flogging.

Nine admitted membership in the Ku Klux Klan, the 10th acknowledged having applied for membership and attending a couple of meetings and the 11th was identified by his fellows as the Klan's chaplain.

All are from the Greenville County area.

The victim, Claud Cruell, 58, a Baptist deacon who owns a 100-acre farm near Travelers Rest just north of here, testified that he did not recognize any of the defendants. His wife Fannie, 54, also told the jury of white men that she did not recognize the defendants.

The beating occurred while the Cruells were caring for seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Turner, white neighbors who rented a house on Cruell's property for $5 a month. Mrs. Turner, at the time, was confined to a hospital and her husband was visiting her.

Testifying in the crowded courtroom, which numbered about 60 Negroes among the 250 spectators, Cruell told how a group of white men swarmed into his five-room house as he sat in the kitchen.

"You're the one we want," Cruell testified one of the men told him, holding a shotgun muzzle about eight inches from the Negro's chest.

He said they wrapped a chain around his right arm and pulled him to the dining room.

"I prayed, but they beat me so long I fell on the floor," he said. "Then they kicked me."

Pleads for Increase in State School Aid

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's school chief says a plan to continue state school aid at the same level for another year is "completely unrealistic."

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, called on the legislature yesterday to raise state payments to schools above the current $190 per pupil level.

Three Republican senators have introduced a bill to carry the $190 formula through fiscal 1958-59, at the same time providing for an expected enrollment of 70,000 pupils. This would commit the state to pay 13 million dollars more next year, bringing the cost of the 1958-59 program to about 300 million dollars.

"I think we must realize that education costs have increased just as the cost in any other business has gone up," Bartlett said. "What was insufficient for last year cannot possibly be adequate for this year."

Canada Tories Win 2 Confidence Votes

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Conservative government last night easily defeated two no confidence motions that never had been expected to pass.

A motion of the small Socialist Cooperative Commonwealth Federation (CCF) lost 221-24. A demand by the Liberal party that the Conservatives hand over the government without an election was turned back 150-95.

Each motion was worded so that the other opposition parties could not support it, thus assuring their defeat.

Prime Minister Jhon Diefenbaker gave no sign he might seek an early dissolution of Parliament for an election. Finance Minister Donald Fleming indicated the government will continue.

Flemign spoke of presenting a budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 that would probably have a deficit. He said the government was determined to provide a public works program to meet unmployment, even if it meant unbalancing the budget.

Bob Considine Says:

Admiral Innocent in Pearl Harbor Tragedy

NEW YORK (INS) — In a recent piece, in groping for a phrase to describe the current hunt for a scapegoat in the American missiles mess, I took the name of a good man in vain. From Groton, Conn., he writes, forgivingly and informatively:

NOTES PASSAGE

"In an excellent article signed by you and published in the New York Journal-American I note the following passage—'While the Johnson subcommittee labors with its homeric tasks, lesser and noisy groups will search for the 'Adm. Kimmel' or the 'Gen. Short' of our missiles catastrophe.'

"It occurs to me that you might be interested in the opinion of the officers and trustees of the United States Naval Academy Alumni Association as to my actions in connection with the Pearl Harbor catastrophe.

"I am therefore enclosing a copy of the resolution recently sent to me together with a reprint of an article by Admiral Shafroth on the occasion of my selection as president of the class of 1904, U.S. Naval Academy.

"I know of no group of our citizens whose members are better qualified by education and experience to judge my actions.

"Yours very truly—Husband E. Kimmel"

The enclosed resolution reads:

"The undersigned officers and trustees of the United States Naval Academy Alumni Association at their annual meeting May 31, 1957, desire individually to state their concurrence with the findings of fact and the recommendation of the naval court of inquiry convened by order of the Secretary of the Navy under precept dated 13 July, 1944, to inquire into the attack made by the Japanese armed forces on Pearl Harbor, Territory of Hawaii on 7 December, 1941, and to express their firm belief in the patriotism, loyalty, ability, fortitude and devotion to duty displayed by the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, Admiral Husband Edward Kimmel, both before, on and after the 7th day of December 1941."

It is signed by 36 officers, including 10 admirals.

Admiral Kimmel also forwards a print of the remarks made by Rep. Lawrence H. Smith of Wisconsin, hailing his election as class president. They stir a lot of memories . . .

"The dispatches that were sent to him," said Cong. Smith of the admiral, "were based upon estimates of the situation as it appeared to the authorities in Washington, which indicated that if and when hostilities arose, the Japanese were expected to strike at the Kra Peninsula, the Philippines, Borneo, or even Guam. Through the dispatches that were received there were repeated admonitions that if hostilities could not be avoided the United States desired the Japanese to commit the first overt act."

And so forth.

SOUND ARCHAIC

The events that led to World War II now sound as archaic as those that led to the War of the Roses. Admiral Kimmel was cruelly put upon in the course of the search for the persons responsible for our unpreparedness. He individually took much of the punishment which should have been spread generally.

Pearl Harbor, later appraisals showed, was the fruit of much the same kind of national complacency, and "we're the champs" attitude which was evident before the Russians sent up their Sputniks.

If Khrushchev had chosen to hit U.S. cities and overseas bases with ICBMS of the type that launched the Sputniks, assuming he was able to, the tragic attack on Pearl Harbor with those memories Admiral Kimmel still lives would have been, by comparison, the scratch of a pin on the hide of an elephant.

Why didn't Khrushchev throw his punch directly, instead of telegraphing it with the colorful, scientific marvels that circle the earth to the astonishment of billions? Your guess is as good as mine. Mine is that he knew he couldn't knock out all of SAC and that it would retaliate terribly.

Beyond that, he knew there might be a greater battlefield than any in previous history: The field on which the victor gains not spoils but men's minds.

Leader Also Faces Arrest

Klansman Goes on Trial

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klansman goes on trial today for drunkenness and carrying concealed weapons as police await the arrest of a fugitive Klan leader charged with inciting riot.

The charges stemmed from a Klan rally at nearby Maxton Saturday night, broken up by several hundred Indians firing rifles and shotguns.

Sheriff Malcolm McLeod sent an arrest order to Marion, S.C., Sheriff J. Leon Gasque yesterday, asking the immediate arrest of the Rev. James Cole, 33, a Free Will Baptist minister who bills himself as leader of the Klan in the Carolinas.

A grand jury named Cole, Klansman James Garland Martin of Reidsville, N.C., and other Klansmen "unknown to the state" on charges of inciting a riot.

In addition to the riot charge, Martin faced trial before an Indian judge, Early Bullard, in Maxton on the drunkenness and concealed weapons charges. Officers found Martin in a ditch after the Shooting.

"IT EVEN HAS AIR SUSPENSION"

For 1958!

No other line of trucks has such brilliant features:

TRUCK AIR SUSPENSION
SUPER-ECONOMY DIESELS
PLUS-PAYLOAD 90" CABS
½ TON LESS CURB WEIGHT
TORQMATIC DRIVE
HORSEPOWER with HORSE SENSE

THE MIGHTY HAULER above—typical of the new 1958 heavy-duty GMC's—is built and equipped to force the greatest possible profit out of any haul.

New MONEY-MAKER engines bring horse sense to horsepower—down-rate big power plants to easy-stroking, unstraining output.

Curb weights have been cut as much as ½ ton to let you pack payload instead of dead weight.

TORQMATIC DRIVE models put gear ratios where power just overmatches load, no more and no less—where engine and transmission become downhill "brakes" on their own.

These GMC's are designed for operators who believe in spending an extra dollar to get back two. For nothing has been spared to make these 1958 GMC's the most able and the longest-lived trucks ever turned out. Check this for yourself.

Democrat Winner in Special Election

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) —State Sen. John Dent, a Democrat elected to Congress in a special election, claimed today his victory in the heavily Democratic 21st Dist. was a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration.

Dent was elected to fill the seat vacated by the death last Nov. 20 of veteran Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (D). The congress-man-elect, who will serve the balance of this year, said he will seek a full term in November.

With 256 of the district's 270 precincts reported, Dent polled 39,129 votes to 29,786 for his Republican opponent, Herbert Morrison, a Pittsbugh radio newscaster and a borough councilman in Scottdale.

Dent said his election "proves that the people of the entire country are sorely dissatisfied with our management on a national scale and with our internal and external problems . . ."

Morrison, who had scoffed at a statement by National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler that the Republicans were trying "to buy" the election, lost in two previous bids for the congressional seat which Kelley won nine times in a row.

News Accounts of Fires Impress Junior Inspectors

Pontiac's budding junior fire inspectors have a greater insight, now, into the seriousness of the job they are tackling.

Almost 1,500 sixth graders enrolled in the project were ready yesterday to turn in newspaper clippings of fire disasters they have saved over the past few weeks.

"These clippings give an indication of the damage, tragedy and death that home fires can cause," explained Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz, who heads the program.

"Now that the youngsters have read accounts of how terrible a home fire can be, I'm sure they all have a new sense of responsibility about fire prevention."

FIRST STEP

The clippings were the first step in a new project sponsored here by The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Motor Division, General Motors Truck & Coach Division, the Board of Education and the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Aspiring junior fire inspectors (and this includes virtually every sixth grader in Pontiac's public and parochial schools) still have some studying to do before they earn their badges.

TEST READIED

Metz and his assistant, Allen Tunny, yesterday began delivering to schools a 42-page manual to study. In it is a pictorial description of fire prevention and youngsters must pass a written exam soon, based on this manual.

Then each child must examine his own home with his mother and father. With the help of a check-off list, potential fire hazards will be noted and corrected, Metz said.

Metz also handed out pamphlets in connection with national electrical week. It provides a check-off list of potential electrical dangers.

Banks Hold Meetings, Elect Officers

Annual Reports Indicate Business Good in Area

By JOE HAAS

Most of the banks in the Pontiac area held their annual stockholders' meetings Tuesday. Reports were made and directors for the coming year chosen.

In most banks, directors met following the stockholders' meeting and elected officers.

Almost without exception, the customary dividends were declared. Reports indicated a general increase in resources and deposits, as well as in surplus and undivided profits.

Some increases in capital stock were made during the year. Usually this was done to provide additional funds for further development in the area.

REFLECTS BUSINESS CONDITIONS

A reflection of the conditions in any section is found in the statement made by its bank. In this general area this is quite consistently good.

The physical setup of a number of the banks was enhanced during the year by new building construction for their places of business, and in new equipment to furnish better service for their clientele.

As has been the case in a number of banks in recent years, some of the banks in the area have been absorbed by nearby city banks, and now are operated as branches. This was done to provide more funds and better facilities for both.

The latest of these is the consolidation of the First State and Savings Bank of Holly with the Citizens Commercial and Savings Bank of Flint. The former now is operated as a branch of the later.

In the banks still being operated under their same charter as a year ago there were few changes in the personnel of stockholders or directors in Tuesday's annual elections, the results of which follow:

Clarkston

Clarkston State Bank: chairman, Thomas J. Foley; president, Guy A. Walter; executive vice president and cashier, Robert L. Jones; vice president, John L. Estes; directors, Foley, Walter, Jones, Estes, Roy A. Alger and C. W. Robinson.

Oxford

Oxford Savings Bank: president G. B. Tunstead; vice president and cashier, H. A. Pickford; vice presidents, R. E. Allen and J. H. Achten; directors, Tunstead, Pickford, Allen, Achten, M. G. Dunlap, L. M. Sutherland and Warren Smith.

Ortonville

Three Carloads of Deputies Part Feuding Couples

It took three carloads of Oakland County sheriff's deputies to halt a battle between two families last night as they brawled at the intersection of Opdyke and Pontiac Rds.

The two pugilistic teams were made up of Gerald Duggan, 23, and his wife Classitta, 32, on one side and James B. Davis, 29, and his wife Jo Nell, 25, on the other.

The Duggans, who live at 2037 Walnut St., and their neighbors the Davises, of 2027 Walnut St., arrived at the scene in their respective autos.

They piled out of them, and proceeded to settle what they called a long-standing grudge, with auto jacks, tire irons and black pepper.

The major casualties were Duggan, who is in Pontiac General Hospital reported in satisfactory condition with a fractured skull, and Mrs. Davis who was treated for scratches and bruises of the face and pepper in her eyes.

Davis was booked at the Oakland County Jail on a charge of investigation of felonious assault. Deputies hope to gain a clearer picture of the fight through further questioning today.

Case of Missing 'No Left Turn' Sign Is Solved

The case of the missing "no left turn sign at Dixie Highway and Williams Lake road and Walton boulevard has been solved, to the relief of county officials, police, and left-furning drivers.

Because the left turns by northbound and southbound vehicles tie up traffic and make the intersection a high accident corner, plans are nearly completed to construct cut-offs this spring to carry the turning traffic to Walton and Williams Lake Rds.

Last week a sign was erected banning the left turns, and police began enforcing the change. Then the sign disappeared.

Robert Osgood of the Oakland County Road Commission explained today that the sign was erected one day, and removed the next, because an electric "no left turn" sign had not yet been installed over the intersection.

The overhead sign will be put in place next week, and accompanying signs along Dixie highway will begin the ban again, Osgood said.

Deputy Fights Dog Vaccination

Appeals Conviction for Ignoring County Ruling on Rabies Shots

A county mandate requiring dogs be vaccinated against rabies prior to issuance of licenses is being tested in an appeal placed on the Circuit Court calendar this week.

Appealing a jury trial, conviction in Lake Orion Justice Court Jan. 7 is Robert C. Porritt, 31, of 3340 Silver Bell Rd.

Porritt, a sheriff's deputy, contends the law is discriminatory in that it is not countywide, and he also claims that the rabies vaccine sometimes causes paralysis in the dogs.

Authorities say this is the first time the local rule has been tested in Circuit Court.

"This dog law is so messed up," charged Porritt, "that one can interpret it so many ways that we decided the best thing is to get a court ruling."

DOGS UNLICENSED

For not having his two beagle hunting dogs, Paddy and Peppie, licensed, Porritt was taken before Justice Helmar G. Stanaback by Dr. Frank R. Bates, county dog warden.

"The boys down at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club decided that if one of us ever got hauled in on this ruling we would fight it," Porritt explained.

A state statute provides that county supervisors can by resolution require the rabies shot to be taken anytime within a year preceding granting of the license. Oakland County supervisors took such action in May of 1952.

Not coming under the requirement is the city of Pontiac, which issues its own tags as a home rule city. It is believed to be the only Oakland County municipality exempt.

It is because of this that Porritt charges the law is discriminatory.

About the claim that the vaccine results in dangerous paralysis, Dr. Bates said he had heard of only two non-fatal cases since the present vaccine was put into use in 1953.

X-Rayed for Injuries After Skid Accident

A Drayton Plains woman was released from Pontiac General Hospital after being X-rayed for possible chest injuries received in an accident Tuesday evening.

Delorus M. Perkins, 53, of 3385 Norris St., told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies that she lost control of her car on ice while driving east in front of 5111 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township. The car ran off the road and struck a tree.

Waterford Shuts Schools Monday

Plan Intense Workshop for Teachers; to Be Held in High School

There will be no school on Monday for Waterford Township pupils, as an intensive workshop for the 365 teachers in the school system gets under way at the high school.

The request for the workshop was presented to the administration through committees and faculty groups already at work on various curriculum problems which need further study.

A picture of curriculum problems and possibilities for a total school program, prompted the one-day workshop and contact among teachers from different schools will help unify the entire system, according to assistant superintendent Chandos Reid.

Interested groups with membership from all grade levels will meet together, and a speaker will present problems and concepts for discussion.

Professors and teachers have been scheduled to conduct the workshop, and among the subjects to be presented are Science, Language Arts, Mathematics, Reading and Thinking Skills.

Parents and the Primary program will be under the direction of three instructors on Primary Problems, and they will discuss: Determining the Readines for Various Kinds of Learning."

Plymouth Studies Property Valuation

PLYMOUTH — City commissioners of Plymouth are studying the results of a reassessment of property in the city that would raise the assessed valuation of real property here about $7,000,000 over the 1957 figure. The reassessment job was done by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation.

The bureau informed commissioners that Plymouth has land and buildings with a market value of $44,274,560. It recommended that the city assess land at 40 per cent of its estimated value and buildings at 42 per cent.

The recommendation, if adopted, would result in an assessed valuation of $18,611,670 on real property in the city compared to the state's evaluation of $11,668,680 made last year.

Suing for $125,000 in Local Accident

A 1956 automobile accident, which happened near New Hudson in Oakland County, is the basis for a $125,000 damage suit presently being tried in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Sophia Glinski, Italian film actress and singer, and her husband Matteo, 64, both of Detroit, are seeking the damages for injuries suffered March 11, 1956 in a two-car collision on Pontiac Trail.

The couple is suing Joseph Szylling, Ann Arbor artist, with whom the Glinskis were riding when his car struck another driven by Conrad Goode, 26, of 203 Cherokee Dr.

Mrs. Glinski has to undergo a fifth plastic surgery operation because of facial cuts resulting from the head-on collision. The Glinskis charge Szylling with not heeding their warning to drive slower before he apparently lost control on a curve.

Cathy Teaches Both, but Prefers Men

Woman Driver Betrays Own Sex

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cathy Cinders may be the most audacious betrayer of her sex since the lady who started the swing toward double chins.

Cathy claims men are better drivers than women.

She may not be able to prove it, but she's not entirely without credentials. For four years, she has been teaching people to drive around Los Angeles—possibly the toughest place to navigate an automobile this side of the Okefinokee Swamp.

Cathy, one of the state's few female driving school professors, hasn't renounced her allegiance to womankind altogether. She says she'll concede that a man's confidence makes him a better driver, but adds that "his stubborness about learning makes him a poorer pupil."

"I guess a woman learns more easily," she said in an interview, "but a man drives better afterward."

Why?

Well, in the first place, Cathy said, women take too much for granted. They'll breeze down a freeway loaded with cars, and they think all they have to do is signal for a lane change and every vehicle in sight will stand on its hood to accommodate them.

"Half the time," Cathy said, "a woman will stick her arm out for a signal and turn the wheel at the same time.

"In an emergency, men react better than women. They handle a car better too."

Frequently, Cathy said, women tend to be overcautious, and poke along so slowly they could be overtaken by octogenarian strollers.

But Cathy wouldn't drop the discussion without a parting shot at the smug male.

"Tell a man something," she said, "and he'll tell you over and over again: 'I know, I know, I know that.'

"Then he does it wrong."

Hal Boyle Says:

Learning Child Makes Adult Feel Helpless

NEW YORK (AP)—A little pilgrim on the royal road to learning lives in our house.

Nothing makes you more aware of the passage of time than having a child in your home. On one day you have to do everything for it, and it seems almost the very next day it won't let you do anything for it at all.

Our daughter, Tracy Ann, now 4½ years old, has reached this do - it - all - by - herself stage. Ten times a day she utters her clamorous declaration of independence: "I don't need any help. I can do it myself."

Her statement applies to everything from going to the bathroom to buttoning her snowsuit, from blowing her nose to standing on tiptoe to push the elevator button.

Looking around her littered room the other day, I remarked: "If you can do so much, why can't you manage to pick up your clothes and keep your room neat?"

"Well, after all, I'm just a little girl," she said calmly. "I can't learn everything at once."

Her sturdy self - confidence reached a peak when, after weeks of terrible struggle, she finally learned to fumble a ribbon into a bowknot all alone. Now Tracy spends about an hour daily practicing this womanly art.

Each success she brings to me for approval. The other night she suddenly pressed her cheek against mine and exclaimed in a kind of ecstasy: "Oh, daddy, isn't it fun to tie bows?"

My wife, Frances, thinks Tracy is remarkably advanced because she has also learned to tie a bowknot behind her back.

"What's the point in that?" I asked. "Why not teach her to tie a bow standing on her head?"

"Listen, Rover," said Frances, "don't you realize that from the time a girl puts on her first kitchen apron she has to tie a bow behind her back every day of her life?"

Well, isn't that just like a woman—ask her a silly question and she gives you a serious answer?

Tracy's other passion at the moment is learning to write her ABC's, for she can't stand the thought she is unable to read. As a matter of fact—the little hypocrite—she won't even admit she can't. And she is gaining—when she pretends to be reading, she now holds the book right side up.

Tracy isn't satisfied with the hundreds of thousands of words already available in English. She bends the alphabet to her own small needs to make new words.

"What is this word, daddy?" she asked, pointing at a notebook page in which she had scrawled in big rambling letters: "p-b-f-f-l-t-r."

"That isn't a word. It doesn't mean anything."

"Yes, it does, too," she said positively.

"What?"

"Well-ll," she hesitated, studied the letters, then announced triumphantly, "It means an alligator as tall as the Empire State Building."

Her new - grown independence has also shown itself in a change of marital plans. Until recently she had always planned on marrying her father, but the other day she boldly asked Mark Stumpf, a 6-year-old playmate down the hall, "Would you like to marry me?"

Mark showed little enthusiasm for the project, and when I asked Tracy what about her earlier program to wed me, she replied gravely: "Why, daddy, you know I can't."

"Why not?"

"'Cause I'm growing up, but you're growing down. And when I'm big enough to get married, you'll just be a little tiny baby boy—and I can't marry a baby."

Well, as they say—Out of the mouths of babes. There is nothing like an independent child to make a grownup feel helpless.

Hope for Lost Plane in Pacific Wanes

HONOLULU (AP)—Hope of finding any survivors in the crash of a C95 Military Air Transport Stratocruiser waned today and the Navy withdrew most of the ships searching the area southwest of Hawaii.

Seven men were aboard the four-engine plane. Col. Darlene Bailey of the 1501st Air Transport Wing, Travis Air Force Base, Calif., said here last night chances of finding any of them were "pretty hopeless."

The navy confirmed that debris found 277 miles to the southwest was wreckage of the plane. It apparently crashed Sunday on a flight from Hawaii to Kwajalein.

Probers to Quiz Ousted Officials

Senate Rackets Unit to Ask Pair About Hidden Profits on Land Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two ousted officials of the Operating Engineers Union go before Senate rackets probers today for questioning about testimony linking them to $59,955.76 of "hidden profits" on a union land deal.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the special Senate committee, said Victor S. Swanson, fired as an international vice president and San Francisco boss of the union, and Ed Doran, suspended business agent of the San Francico local, would be asked about testimony that they split the profits on land deals carried out through "dummies."

Swanson and Doran have been listed by Kennedy as members of a self-styled reformer group which sought to oust William E. Maloney as the union's international president at its 1956 convention. Swanson had pledged a major cleanup of the union's affairs.

Maloney, himself under fire in the committee's inquiry, has pleaded he is too ill to testify. He did not respond to a subpoena. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) described the union as one with a history of violence including "gangland killings."

Pierre Salinger, a staff investigator for the committee, testified that land deals with funds of the sprawling San Francisco local 3 produced $59,955.76 of hidden profits for Doran and Swanson.

Court Decides Rooster Not Guilty of Assault

Defense attorney J. Earl Barnhouse told the court the rooster, fitted with razor sharp gaffs, entered a free-for-all fight and inflicted the injuries his client was accused of causing.

Kirk Douglas Set to Star in New Hal Wallis Movie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The spirited bidding from other producers to get Kirk Douglas for a picture, Hal Wallis tells me, makes him especially grateful that Kirk will start "The Last Train to Harper's Junction" for him in March. Kirk's co-star will be Anthony Quinn. They made the successful "Lust for Life" together last year.

Says Hal, "I believe 'The Last Train to Harper's Junction' which James Poe is scripting, will be as entertaining as was 'Gunfight at O. K. Corral.' It has the same he-man dramatic interest."

John Sturges, who directed "Gunfight," will also direct the upcoming Douglas-Quinn epic.

Elaine Stewart has been away from Hollywood such a long time I was really surprised to get a call from her saying that she's back here for the lead opposite Victor Mature in "Escort West."

"Where have you been all this time?" I asked Elaine, who, at one time, was under contract to MGM and was given a big build-up as a beauty.

"In Europe, doing both TV and a picture for Paramount, 'High Hell' with John Derek," she replied, obviously sufferin.g from a bad cold. When I spoke of that, Elaine told me she was heading to Palm Springs to bake it out before the picture starts Feb. 5.

Her last Hollywood movies were "Tattered Dress" and "Night Passage" for U-I — and she's a happy girl (cold and all) to be home again.

As of this moment, Frank Sinatra and Lauren Bacall are in the deep freeze romantically. They haven't seen each other in 10 days.

True, Betty and Frank have had battles in the past, particularly when he flew to New York to give his ex, Ava Gardner, moral courage about her scarred face. But, after a few days tiff, Sinatra and Bacall would kiss and make up. Not so this time.

Until just recently neither dated anyone else and they were constantly together at Palm Springs, at his recording sessions and TV show. It's impossible to predict about this unpredictable couple—so we'll just wait and see what happens.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The John Fords are thrilled over the news that their daughter Barbara is expecting her first baby after five years of marriage to singer Ken Curtis.

The new book Mae West is writing about her life will reveal that she made millions in Los Angeles real estate.

Barbara Ruick and musical arranger John T. Williams have again dated the stork. They have a daughter about a year old. Lurene Tuttle, Barbara's famous ma, will again be a grandmother.

The Ray Millands' son, Danny, six feet five inches, has enlisted in the Army Reserve. Until he's called he'll continue to work in Republic's production office.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Convict Woman of Fatal Knifing

Jury Must Determine Sanity of Defendant at Time of Murder

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UP)—A jury which convicted Elaine Soule, 20, of second-degree murder tomorrow begins trying to determine whether she was sane when she battered and knifed her roommate.

The seven women and five male jurors returned their verdict 2 hours and 43 minutes after receiving the case yesterday.

They still have to determine her sentence — somewhere between five years and life — as well as try her a second time on her plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Elaine testified she struck Catherine (Kit) Elvins, 19, Seattle, 31 times with an iron, then stuck her 20 times with a butcher knife July 24 in their Burlingame apartment.

Defense attorney G. Brooks Ice had asked for a verdice of manslaughter.

Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson argued to the jury: "She knew what she was doing. If you can.t find her guilty of first-degree murder then you can't find her guilty of anything."

An hour after deliberations began the jury asked for a review of instructions by Superior Judge Frank Blum. He told them, "The unlawful killing of a human being with malice aforethought, but without a deliberately formed and premeditated intent to kill, is murder of the second degree."

Sorenson had sought to prove Miss Soule killed Kit for a $160 check that he said she later tried to cash. He added, in his closing address, "Kit represented everything Elaine did not have. It was the haves against the have-nots."

His chief criminal deputy, W. Howard Hartley, said, "She knew she wasn't pressing a shirt with that iron."

Many to Visit U. S. Snow Lands

National Forests Undergo Winter Population Boom

By JERRY BENNETT

In the coming months, more vacationists and weekend visitors are expected to converge on the snow-covered timberlands than during any previous winter season.

INTEREST HIGH

A mounting interest in skiing, plus the increased amount of leisure time Americans now enjoy, are responsible for crowding these areas when most vacation playgrounds are closed, U.S. Forestry Service officials explain.

In 1946, FS statistics show that 1,250,000 people visited the national forest regions. By 1950, the number had jumped an additional 250,000. Last year it more than doubled with 3,050,000 men, women and children entering the forests to ski down the hundreds of snow covered trails, ride the toboggan runs or just take a tourist's-eye view of the scenery.

John Sieker, director of the FS Division of Recreation and Land Uses, predicts that this winter the number of visitors will jump the three million mark by three or four hundred thousand. And FS officials don't see any slowdown to this spiraling tourist rate for years to come.

LIKE TO SKI

"Due to the increased interest in skiing," Sieker declares, "we anticipate winter sports activities to increase at a faster rate during the next 10 years." He estimates that by 1962 there will be about 4,250,000 visitors.

Already many of the forests' 200 winter sports areas are starting to feel the pinch of overcrowding, Sieker explains. To combat this, plans are being made to expand present sites and build new ones.

Winter resorts are owned and operated by commercial agencies which pay the Forestry Service for the use of the land. All plans for resort projects must be approved by the Forestry Service which also conducts general supervision of the areas.

Sieker explains that since World War II concessionaires have installed an estimated 10 million dollars worth of ski facilities. And FS experts say there will be several opportunities each year for additional construction.

Europe has played a big part in the recent American enthusiasm for winter sports, FS officials say. They explain that many people have learned to ski while visiting Germany, Switzerland and other European winter playgrounds. Also ski instructors have been hired to teach the sport in the United States. And FS officials believe the selection of the United States as the site for the 1960 winter Olympics may boost enthusiasm even more.

Dulles Leaves for Middle East

To Reassure Baghdad Pact Nations They Have Backing Against Reds

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles leaves for the Middle East today to reassure Baghdad Pact nations they have American support for their resistance to Soviet pressures.

Underscoring the significance of his trip was a new warning from Moscow that the United States and the Baghdad Pact nations would have to "take full responsibility for all the consequences" of their Middle East policies.

State Department officials said the attack on the Middle East defense system seemed designed to confuse and intimidate the Baghdad Pact conference which will open in Ankara, Turkey, next Monday and continue through Thursday.

The United States is not a member of the treaty but has joined its military, economic and anti-subversion committees so that it participates in their planning work.

In addition, the United States gives military and economic assistance to the members and last year undertook to help them develop better highways, railways and airways.

The Baghdad member nations are Pakistan, Iran, Iraq, Turkey and Britain. Turkey and Britain are also members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and Turkey along with some other NATO countries is due to get nuclear missile bases.

Chicago Readies for Seaway

Plans Port Improvement

CHICAGO (AP)—The city has taken the first step for Chicago port improvements designed to accommodate increased ocean shipping to Chicago after completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway next year.

Two city council committees yesterday recommended to the full council the allocation of 4 million dollars for construction of two modern berths for ocean vessels at Navy Pier. Full council approval was considered certain.

Public Works commissioner George L. De Ment said the construction will start later this year and will be completed by the start of the 1960 shipping season. The money is to come from a 4 million dollar bond issue which the voters approved last June.

Construction of the new berths will be the initial step of a 37½ million dollar Chicago port improvement. Jack Manley, Chicago port director, told the two committees before they approved the allocation that Chicago now is handling more import and export tonnage than Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and Milwaukee combined.

Forty million valentines were mailed in the United States in 1957.

Prosecutor Warns Gambling Illegal

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem today reasserted past warnings to county residents that any type of gambling or games of chance is illegal, regardless of possible charitable purposes of money raised.

His warning came on the heels of the breakup of a bingo game to raise funds for the National Nephrosis Foundation.

Sheriff's deputies halted a game at Doris Roller Rink, 861 Doris Rd., Avon Township. No arrests were made because the game hadn't started, according to Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons.

Screen Actors Guild Breaks With Republic

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Members of the Screen Actors Guild won't be able to work for Republic Pictures or its television subsidiary beginning in March.

The guild, which issued its cancellation notice yesterday, said Republic failed to negotiate for additional payments to actors appearing in a block of films recently released for televising over NBC-owned stations.

Republic said it will not comment until the cancellation order, effective in 60 days, has been officially received.

Adult Education Classes to Begin in Waterford

Classes in Adult Education will begin Feb. 4, and will be held for ten weeks at the Waterford Township high school, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, according to director Byron J. Merritt.

Registration will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the high school. However, if an individual cannot register at that time, he may do so the first night of classwork.

If there is sufficient interest, the following courses will be given: beginning and advanced typing, bookkeeping, beginning and advanced sewing, ceramics, salesmanship, amateur photography, a brush-up course in elementary algebra and landscaping and gardening.

The registration fee will be $6 a course and is payable at the time of registration. No refunds will be made after the second meeting of classes, Merritt said.

Florida Flight Route Sought by Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capital Airlines has urged the Civil Aeronautic Board (CAB) to follow an examiner's recommendation and grant its requested route extensions from the Great Lakes region to Florida.

A brief filed with the CAB by Capital yesterday said the extensions would provide more than six million persons with one-carrier service to Florida and nine million others with the first competitive service between the Great Lakes and Florida.

Approval of the application would provide first single-carrier service to Florida from seven Michigan cities: Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Muskegon, Saginaw, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

First competitive service, the airline said, would be provided from Detroit and eight other U.S. cities.

May Lay Off Firemen

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Board of Fire Commissioners has proposed to lay off 47 firemen and retire 10 others to effect a savings of $261,840 by next June 30. It was given tentative approval by Mayor Louis Miriani, who has ordered city departments to effect five per cent savings immediately.

Hand-Fired Vessels Blamed for Smoke

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que, (AP) — A smoke regulation code aimed at clearing the air around Detroit and Windsor, Ont., is under study by the International Joint Commission.

A Canadian technical authority said last night the smoke comes chiefly from old hand-fired coal-burning cargo ships sailing the Detroit River with iron ore, coal, grain and limestone.

The Detroit-Windsor air pollution problem, complicated by local industrial smoke, is typical of some other ports.

"Most of the excessive smoke emission on the river is due now to the inefficient combustion of fuel by about 26 per cent of the vessels, nearly all in the hand-fired class," said Dr. Morris Katz of Ottawa, chairman of the Canadian section of a technical advisory board set up in 1949 to investigate air pollution.

He was speaking to a conference of the U.S. and Canadian Great Lakes shipping industry.

The solution, Dr. Katz said, is to replace old-fashioned fuel burning equipment with new, almost smoke-free stokers.

Detroit Engineer Dies

DETROIT (AP) — George Merrill Lewis, 59, senior associate engineer in the city engineer's office, died Monday night. He was a native of Bay City.

Junior Editors Quiz on LITERATURE

ANSWER: The story of the Dutch boy who saved Holland by putting his finger in a hole in a dyke is known by children throughout the world. The boy discovered the leak while walking home one afternoon. He knew that the little hole, if the water were allowed to trickle through, would soon be a large one and the dyke would break and the surrounding land flooded. He quickly put his finger in the hole and stopped the trickle. He called for help, but no one heard him, and he remained there through the cold night. In the morning, a clergyman found him and the boy was hailed as a hero throughout Holland.

The story, told in the famous children's book, "Hans Brinker," is not true, but it has inspired Dutch children to be always watchful for leaks in the dykes.

FOR YOU TO DO: Read about Holland and learn why the dykes are so important to the country.

Noted Artist Finds Men Fussier, More Vain

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — "I don't really mind painting corporation presidents instead of beautiful women these days," Gerald Brockhurst explained, "except the men are so fussy—and much more vain about youth!"

TRY BRAIN-WASHING

"These corporation blokes bring in photos of themselves playing football years back," added the world's most expensive portrait painter. "Then they try to brain-wash me into giving them the old muscles!"

At $5,000 a portrait (head and shoulders only; if you want it with hands it's $6,000) Brockhurst can tolerate painting "those corporation blokes."

But he yearns for the days when he was known as "the painter of beautiful women."

"That was 20 years ago," reminisced the 67-year-old artist. "The wealthy didn't mind spending money then to have their wives and daughters painted. Now the rich seem to be afraid of looking extravagant. So 80 per cent of my commissions come from corporations who want to give the chairman of the board his portrait instead of a gold watch."

The British-born painter, an American citizen, has been honored as a member of the Royal Academy of Art, a royal etcher and a royal portrait painter. But the only member of the British royal family he's painted is Queen Mother Elizabeth.

"The royal family likes to engage people who make them look half their age," smiled Brockhurst. "I just put people in the best light and shade and try to show their character.

"Not that I try to make the most of wrinkles. I just pose the wrinkled ones further away. But when people come for a Brockhurst, they get what I want to give them."

The list of people who've got a Brockhurst and liked it includes Clare Boothe Luce, Bernard Baruch, the Duchess of Windsor, Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, Gen. Hap Arnold, Merle Oberon and Marlene Dietrich.

"I've also done an Astor, a DuPont, a Vanderbilt, about 10 or 15 Mellons and all the Rothschilds," adds Brockhurst. "I really enjoyed the Rothschilds—used to make more money on their racing tips while I was painting them than on the paintings."

Brockhurst, who says he's never had a slack period in the portrait-painting business ("There are always people standing about with money"), works only by daylight, requires about seven or eight sittings per portrait and likes to do five or six different people a day.

"They usually sit about an hour and a quarter each. I allow 15 minutes between sittings to clean brushes, then on to the next sitter. It's different people and I don't get tired."

The system sags a bit when all the sitters are corporation presidents, Brockhurst said.

"I'm sure they all have interesting brains and characters," he said. "But they all look the same—they all keep the same figure, the same white collars, the same gray suits. No challenge pictorially."

Brockhurst paints "only about two pretty girls a year now, but about 20 corporation presidents."

Lace Reigns as the Queen of Elegant Party Fabrics

Lace, that fragile-looking but durable fabric, blooms in the early-year collections of noted designers. Here, in hollyberry red, this beautiful shade is keyed to the mood of festive parties, through winter into spring. This year, the idea is to carry out the red theme from head to toe in accessories. You might have red satin pumps and clutch bag to match the dress in red lace. Jewelry, sparkling in a deeper shade of red, points up the beauty of the lace. This is one season in which color overshadows black for evening and shines forth from five o'clock on.

Imported Chantilly lace in hollyberry red is cross-draped both through the bodice and skirt of this bouffant short evening dress for the holiday season. The interesting shoulder treatment gives the effect of an attached stole.

Hand re-embroidered lace makes this stiletto evening sheath with straight coat of the same lace. Sleeveless sheath has decolletage and scalloped hemline carrying out the scalloped edging of the coat.

A young gay fashion for the season of important parties is this junior evening dress of Chantilly lace. Sleeveless, and cut with a high neckline, it has a bouffant skirt flared out from a fitted midriff.

Symphony Concert Provides Good Reason for Civic Pride

By GOLDA HOGUE

Last evening marked another artistic milestone in Pontiac's cultural life, a fact enthusiastically acknowledged by the appreciative audience which gathered in Lincoln Junior High auditorium to hear our own Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

It has been said that a symphony orchestra shows the culture of a community, that the masterworks of instrumental music are the language of the soul and express more than any other art.

Thus as we stand at the halfway mark in the symphony concert season, our community can look with pride at the artistic achievement of local music-lovers working together to make it possible that our local musicians may interpret for us the world's greatest music.

MOST PERFECT LINK

As it exists today the violin is the last and most perfect link in a long chain of evolution. Its versatility of expression and tone quality, its unlimited resources, its numerous effects and rich appealing tone have always made it a concert favorite, and never was this more evident than in last night's concert.

Rarely has Pontiac been visited by an artist of the stature of Gordon Staples. He completely captivated his audience with the incomparable tone of his rare Guarnerius instrument and the flawless skill of his playing. Agility and flexibility of performance, true emotional expression — they were all there — all so essential to genuinely satisfying listening.

Outstanding again was the sympathetic background provided by the orchestra — richly supporting yet never transcending the tone of the solo violin. Conductor Francesco Di Blasi is past master in his role of the third dimension — bridging the gap between the composer and the audience.

AN UNCANNY SKILL

Performing this intermediary service, translating the inanimate symbols of the composition to the aural performance of his orchestra requires an uncanny skill and was shown to great advantage in the versatility of the program which ranged from the dissonances of the chamber music style of the Arnell "Sonata" to the deeply moving love music of Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and again to the popular Tschaikovsky "Capriccio Italien" with its breathless change of pace.

So far has this amateur organization advanced since its inception four years ago that we run the danger of judging it all too soon by all-professional standards. Certain it is that each concert is better than the last, both in technical skill and in musical idealism.

Fortunate indeed are we in Pontiac to have such talented dedicated musicians molded together so beautifully under the baton of our outstanding conductor, Francesco Di Blasi.

Oldsters' Homes Are Most Needed

The chairman of the University of Michigan's Division of Gerontology says small, low-rent homes and apartments are the most needed type of housing for elderly persons in the United States.

Mrs. Wilma Donahue says many older persons remain in houses larger than they need because of sentiment, inertia or economic necessity.

Dear Abby . . .

Papa's Name Could Be Mud

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I have never asked for help on a family problem before, but I am up against a dandy. My wife is going to have our first baby and our problem is what to name it.

I am from a large family and am the oldest. My parents think that the first-born of the oldest should be named after one of them. I love my parents, don't get me wrong, Abby, but I don't care for either of their names.

The wife says it's up to me. If we don't name the baby after my parents I am afraid my name will be mud. What would YOU do in my spot?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Give the baby a first and second name, using your parents' names in the combination . . . then call the baby whatever you like. Everybody's doing it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with nine kids and seven are still living home. I am 36 years old and my husband is 39. We had a misunderstanding and he broke my jaw.

At the clinic where I went to get my jaw set I fell in love with a man who runs the elevator. He is married but is getting a divorce soon. He is 33 and more my type.

My husband is begging me to take him back but I am already in love with this elevator man. Please help me to make up my mind.

BIRDIE

DEAR BIRDIE: Although this elevator man is having his ups and downs he is still married. I suggest that you stick with your own husband. Don't irritate him and learn to duck!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is this: I think when a person has a party or shower given for them, they should open up their gifts in front of everybody. Am I wrong or not?

ALICE

DEAR ALICE: I think you are right. Half the fun of giving a gift is witnessing the expression of appreciation on the face of the lucky receiver.

DEAR ABBY: I just started to work for an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. He is not married.

I am very much in love with this doctor and wish he would treat me like something other than an employe. How can I get him to notice me and take me out socially?

SECRETLY IN LOVE

DEAR SECRETLY: Don't give him the EYE, or you'll be out on your EAR. He "NOSE" you are there, so don't cram it down his THROAT.

She Honks Auto Horn for Cousin

Friends Miffed at Failure to Stop and Say Hello

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I had arranged with my cousin to pick her up at a certain hour at the house of friends of ours whom she was visiting. When I arrived at the time specified I honked the horn of my car to let her know that I was there but did not go into the house.

"I understand that these friends were very much put out with me for not ringing the bell and stopping to say hello. I was very anxious to get home and I knew if I went in I would be delayed so I waited in the car for her to come out. Will you please tell me if I was rude?"

Answer: You should have rung the bell and said that you were sorry but that you were late and had to hurry home without stopping for even a minute.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What can a young man do when he finds himself on the dance floor with a partner who has 'two left feet,' so to speak? This happened to me the other evening and I just couldn't lead her into the steps. We had an awful time.

"I thought she would give up of her own accord and suggest that we sit down, but not at all, she kept right on struggling. Would it have been impolite for me to suggest that we sit down?"

Answer: It would be more courteous to put the suggestion of sitting out for a while as a result of your own poor dancing. For example, you could say, "I seem to be stepping all over your feet—perhaps we'd better sit this out." On no account should you tell her that the fault is hers.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We will be announcing our daughter's engagement very soon. Her fiance is from another city and is known to few people in our town. Would it be proper to send his picture, as well as our daughter's, to the local newspaper? Would a picture of the two of them together be better?"

Answer: Send a picture of both of them together and one of her alone so that the society editor can use whichever one she prefers.

Middle-Aged Men Need Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Evidence as to the value of regular exercise has piled up durin grecent years. For many years now Dr. Thomas K. Cureton of the Physical Fitness Research Laboratory at the University of Illinois has been conducting classes and experiments and studies in the effects of exercise on health and stamina, with special attention to the middle-aged man.

The results have been startling and are dependable evidence that much of the deterioration which occurs from 30 on, and really speeds up after 40, is unnecessary. Even middle-aged men in poor condition made great improvement in their physical state under his direction.

There seems to be no doubt that the soft, sedentary life speeds up the processes of aging. Dr. Cureton believes that if more middle-aged people would keep to a regular program of physical exercise it would lengthen life and cut down on the number of deaths from heart disease. Naturally the middle-aged man or woman should have a physical examination before beginning and should follow graduated exercises.

Today exercise is even prescribed for certain heart patients by their physicians and within certain limits. For the average person daily exercise seems to be the important thing! This has a much greater effect than exercise taken once or twice a week. At least six days seems to be the answer.

Why not start walking at least part of the way from and to your work and walking to the corner drugstore instead of jumping into the car? Of, if you do not have to leave the house, go for a two-mile walk anyway, every day. This one health measure would bring you dividends.

A GOOD EXERCISE

This time twist to the right and try to touch the fingers of the left hand to the right toe. Raise the trunk and continue. Breathe out as you bend and in as you raise your trunk.

I'm hoping that you wives will urge your hubands to trim their figures. Now, I'd like to ask you a question. Have you joined the Self - Improvement Marathon for a loss of 20 pounds in eight weeks? Take care of hubby, but don't neglect yourself.

Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet, if you haven't already done so. Address Joseph Lowman in care of the Pontiac Press.

Why Do Many Husbands Belittle Wives to Others?

Men Seem Reluctant to Give Women the Buildup That They Deserve

By RUTH MILLETT

"Why are so many men reluctant to say a kind word or brag just a little about their wives?" asks a reader.

And the reader happens to be a man. He goes on to say that most men think their wives are pretty nice. Otherwise, they wouldn't have married them.

"Then why," he wants to know, "are most men ashamed to give their wives a buildup? Maybe they tell their wives privately how smart and nice and clever they are and how lucky the men are to have married them.

"But I know—because I do brag about my wife to others occasionally—that it makes a woman feel mighty good to have her husband let others know he thinks she is just about all right."

"He's got a point, hasn't he? Somehow or other a lot of men seem to think they appear more of a "regular fellow" if they paint a picture of their wives as extravagant, scatterbrained bossy and impractical than if they publicized their wives' talents and virtues.

What they overlook is that the world tends to accept a husband's expressed ideas about his wife, just as what a woman says about her husband influences what others think about him.

So why should a man who could build his wife up feel he has to belittle her, even if only jokingly, when he is talking about her to others?

This is one place where women are usually more generous than men. For it is a stupid woman, indeed, who goes around low-rating her husband, instead of making him appear intelligent, generous and conscientious.

But some of the most successful men seem to feel that they must never, never say anything to give anyone the idea that they are married to intelligent and capable women.

Don't Tie Love and Obedience Together

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day after lunch his mother was about to give him some when the phone rang. Telling him to wait a minute, she went to answer it. Bob Warren didn't wait.

Pulling up a chair to the fireplace, he located a precarious balance on its arm and reached for the china dish himself. He got it—but in climbing down, its cover fell off and smashed on the brick tiling.

His mother made an impressive point of the evil consequences of disobedience. Taking Warren on her lap, she said, "You see what happened to Mommy's pretty dish because you disobeyed? If you love Mommy, you must learn to do what she says. Now promise me . . ."

By equating love with obedience in this way, she imagined herself to be kindly instructive.

As her equation was inaccurate, she was not instructive.

DOESN'T PROVE LOVE

Children do not prove their love for us by doing everything we tell them to any more than we prove our love for them by doing everything they tell us to.

We require Warren's obedience, not because he "loves" us, but because balancing on the arm of a chair overstrains his 4-year-old muscular coordination. His disobedience risks a fall and physical injury.

He is taught obedience, not to display his emotional attachment to us, but for his own self-protection.

If we make a habit of demanding obedience as evidence of his love, we can make any self-assertion or any opposition to us so guilty and anxious that he virtually loses his power to risk himself in adventure.

I once knew a man of great literary talent who could not trust it enough to put it into disciplined work. Nobody could understand why he was content to live on the earnings of his dominating wife.

HIS DEAR MOTHER

One day I heard him say, "My dear mother was years ahead of her time. She didn't believe in spanking. One day I disobeyed her.

"I can still remember how the tears came into her beautiful brown eyes as she said to me, 'Oh, Harry, how you've hurt poor Mama!' Thank God, I never brought tears to her eyes again."

Love and submission had been equated for him, too.

The fashion-conscious older woman will find a young aspect, but not too youthful, in the semi-fitted silhouette rather than the more formal tight-fit.

Fitted-front, loose-back silhouette is young in every way and really its more casual aspect is much more flattering to the older woman whether slim or not-so-slim. This is a chance, a la Chanel, when we don't have to be of model proportions.

Accessories Added

Now you can buy accessories for a dress at the same time you buy the dress. Scarf, belt and rhinestone pin come packaged in a cellophane bag.

Time's Ripe for Women Scientists

Gals Can Help Fill America's Need in Technical Fields

NEW YORK (INS) — Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of science—good, scientifically trained women, that is.

The recent nationwide weeping and wailing about the lack of scientists and the lack of scientific interest among our younger set has largely overlooked one possible source for engineers, physicists, mathematicians and similar science-associated groups.

You would think women unanimously loved their kitchens the way they stick to them. Only between 10 and 12 per cent of the country's scientists are women and only one engineer out of 100 wears the skirts in her family.

Tests have indicated that women often best men in fields where detail work is necessary which would make them valuable in the science field even if there were plenty of scientists around.

One reason women have stayed out of these fields in the past was the large number of "for men only" signs tagged onto what were supposed to be men's worlds. This is becoming increasingly less true.

And parents shouldn't worry about having new atomic theories instead of grandchildren—the few women in these fields make the man-hunting good.

Nebs Social Club Conducts Installation

Mrs. John Dickerson was installed as president of Nebs Social Club Saturday in the West Huron street home of Mrs. Tillie Landsparger.

Also taking office were Mrs. William Harmon, vice president; Mrs. Landsparger, treasurer, and Mrs. John Salitsky, secretary. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur Witt and Mrs. Dickerson.

Two Circles Hold All-Day Gathering

The Dorcas and Elizabeth Circles of the First Christian Church held a joint all-day meeting at the church Tuesday. Cander pads were sewn during the morning hours.

Mrs. Leona Hunter and Mrs. Fred Ruby were hostesses for a noon luncheon, which was followed by the groups' missionary meeting.

Mrs. Paul Colton and Mrs. Brady Adams presented the program, "They Witness in Japan." Mrs. Ruby and Mrs. Harry Kunce also participated in the program.

Members Greeted by Extension Club

Mrs. Marge Spragg, Mrs. Laura Yourdan and Mrs. Bea Segorski have become members of the Suburban Heights Extension Club.

The group's next meeting, theme of which will be "House Plants", will be held at the Drayton Plains home of Mrs. Frank Setzer on Feb. 13.

Bridge Winners

Error Corrected

Due to an error, which was not the fault of The Pontiac Press, an announcement from an unauthorized person on the engagement of Barbara Dickson appeared in The Press.

Holdup Man Returns to Meet Judo Expert

Three hours later, he again appeared at the movie house but this time he ran into the manager, who is a judo expert.

The manager, Peter Vaselopulos 29, applied his art and was about to turn the holdup man every way but loose when a policeman came to the rescue.

In the comparative safety of the police station, the no-longer-cocky holdup man identified himself as Jose Morrero, 31, a dishwasher. He was held without charge.

SUFFER NO MORE

SAYS CALUMET LADY

"Rheumatism pains struck me whenever I moved my arms or legs, and lots of times I would have done most anything to stop the pains," says Mrs. P. Stella, 71 County Road, Calumet, Michigan.

"For seven years I suffered the awful pains of rheumatism, arthritis and lumbago. Any movement that I made sent pains shooting through my arms, legs and back. When I bent over I never knew if I would be able to straighten up or not. I could hardly get out of bed in the mornings, and it was extremely painful to walk. It's terrible to say, but there were times when I wished I was dead because of the unbearable pains. I went to a clinic in Wisconsin and after a thorough examination, they told me that I was in good health except for the rheumatism and arthritis. They couldn't help me, so I tried about every medicine under the sun, but nothing I tried helped me until my husband saw an ad in the newspaper for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. He wanted me to try it, but I was discouraged with all medicines and didn't want to. He brought home a bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS anyway, so I started taking it. It was almost a month before much results came, but in four months I was all better. I get around fine now and do all the things I couldn't do before. I give many thanks to O-JIB-WA BITTERS for making my new health possible, and stopping my suffering from such awful pain. I hope that others suffering will try it, and I think they will be as pleased with O-JIB-WA BITTERS as I am."

Pontiac Press Photos

TRY AGAIN — A pair of Pontiac bowlers who hit the charmed "300" game during 1957 will try for it again, but this time in the Bowlerama in which $1,000 awaits anyone who hits a perfect game in either the qualifying or the finals. Walt Rennhack hit his "300" game at Motor Inn, one of the qualifying sites, while Bill Furlong (right) got his on Friday, December 13th at the Huron Bowl, the site of the Bowlerama finals, February 22nd

Keglers' Goal Is Bowlerama's Bonus Feature

Two Bowlers Who Hit Perfect Games in '57 to Try Again

Two bowlers who know what it is like to bowl a 300 game will be shooting for a repeat performance and a chance to win a $1,000 bonus along with many other prizes in next month's Pontiac Press Bowlerama tournament.

Walter Rennhack and Bill Furlong, both of Pontiac, will be among the contestants come Feb. 8 when the men's qualifying begins at Montcalm Centre and Howe's Lanes.

The pair broke past precedent for Pontiac by rolling perfect games in the same year in 1957 and feel there is always the possibility it could happen again.

It could happen to anyone. It is even possible to do so much more than once although that might be asking a little too much.

Any game bowled in the tournament, qualifying or finals, will be eligible for the $1,000 if the kegler can go all the way. Many have come close to hitting the charmed circle around local alleys in recent weeks with such scores as 289, 287 and 290 being clicked off.

For Furlong, there is the possibility that he could get a chance to hit the big score on the same alleys as before — Huron Bowl. But he has to survive the qualifying to do so.

Bill's best effort since has been a 242 while maintaining an improved 172 average in two leagues. "I'll be trying for the big money like everyone else even though I feel the odds are against me," he commented today.

Rennhack called the $1,000 bonus plan a "good deal" when he heard about it and feels confident he has a good chance to hit a big game again. He had eight strikes in a row while hitting 255 last month. Rennhack has a 184 average for three leagues.

Walt would have to turn the trick on a different alley since his gem occurred at Motor Inn where only women will be bowling.

Speaking of women, they are also eligible to shoot for the $1,000. Women have bowled 300 and 298 at the same "house" in Columbus, Ohio so it can happen.

Even coming near the top score would make any kegler a strong contender for title honors in this 2nd annual singles handicap event.

Champions can take home $450 and $250 plus handsome desk calendar sets and there are a long list of cash, trophies and merchandise to be given out to at least one out of every 10 entries.

Crisler Sees Return of Drop Kicking Art

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The nearly forgotten drop kick is due for a comeback on football fields next fall, says Michigan athletic director Fritz Crisler.

Crisler, a retiring chairman of the NCAA football rules committee, said yesterday the lost art will be revived as a result of the new conversion rule.

The rule will permit a team scoring a touchdown to try for one or two extra points. The kick through the goal posts retains its value of one point. But a team may try to run or pass across the goal line from the three-yard line for two points.

Crisler was an instigator in creating this first scoring change since 1912. It becomes gridiron law for the 1958 season.

"Imaginative coaches who seek to take full advantage of the new rule may return to the drop kick," said Crisler who coached football at Michigan, Princeton and Minnesota.

"Return of the drop kick would add to the reception of the points after touchdown play," he said. "While the place kick is faster, the drop kick would free the ball holder for blocking and running.

"I'm sure a study of the drop kicking technique would perfect and speed it up to make it a dangerous play. From a short punt formation or single wing, it would keep the defense guessing."

Crisler said a drop kick would return emphasis to the seldom used field goal as a method of attack.

"When you're behind 8-6 or 15-13 because of the new rule," Crisler said, "you may have to try drop kicking a field goal instead of punting."

Most football experts consider the ball used in today's game a device to aid passing. It is much narrower and provides a better grip than the rounder ball used effectively by old-time drop kick experts such as Charley Brickley of Harvard and Jim Thorpe of Carlisle.

"There is no reason why players cannot learn to kick the present ball with practice," Crisler said. "I don't mean that the place kick should be discarded, but the drop kick could be an added weapon to force conclusive issues in the game."

Big Bill Skowron, the New York Yankees' slugging 1st baseman who was troubled by a painful back ailment last year, expects to be in top shape for the 1958 season.

Thursday's City League basketball games — Town & Country vs. Bud & Lou's in Class C and Boys Club vs. Griff's Grill in Class B — will be played at Lincoln Junior High. They were originally scheduled at Pontiac Central.

Waterford High has signed a two-year football contract with Dearborn Fordson. The Skippers will play at Fordson next season, then the Tractors come to Waterford in 1959.

The 5th archery golf shoot of the winter season, sponsored by the Pontiac Archers in cooperation with the Parks and Recreation Department, will be held Sunday at Municipal Golf Course.

Rugged Holly footballers Phil Valek and Ken Leece have drawn considerable attention from college recruiters since the grid season ended. Hillsdale is reportedly interested in Bronco Phil Tinsman.

More sparkling games have been turned in by area bowlers in recent days. Joe Foster rolled a 289, Abe Thorsberg hit 279, Chuck Springer 287 and Marie French 265 to name a few.

Bob Acton, head football coach at Clawson High School, is signing a marriage contract next summer. He will marry Miss Ferol Ann Patrix of Drayton Plains on Aug. 9.

Senior Golfers to Try Again After Downpour

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Even in the PGA Seniors golf championships—where every contestant is 50 or over—you find a group of young Turks plugging for progress and the old guard fighting for tradition.

A favorite in this 19th annual event, Sarazen said today he feels the tournament should be split into two separate events instead of running two tournaments concurrently.

"This has grown into too important a title to throw all the jokers right into the deck, so to speak," Sarazen said. "They should let the 80 to 90 shooters play for the Bourne Trophy (the original Seniors prize) and the others play for the PGA Seniors title. The tournaments could be held consecutively instead of at the same time."

The Seniors this year drew 260 entries and the field has been split. Golfers 55 and over play one day and those 50-54 the next for the first four days. Then the low 100 and ties will play the final 36 holes Sunday and Monday.

The Bourne Trophy will go to the golfer 55 and over who has the lowest score after 36 holes. The Teachers Trophy, emblematic of the Seniors title, will go to the 72 hole winner together with the biggest slice of $10,000 in prize money.

The tournament was scheduled to start yesterday but a downpour postponed the first round until today.

Sarazen shared the pre-tournament favorite's role with Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., who won his third Seniors title last year; Mortie Dutra of Calexico, Calif., 1955 titlist; Robert Stupple of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who lost to Watrous in an 18-hole playoff last year; and Jim Barfield of Grand Rapids, Mich., third last year.

TAKES CUT — Robin Roberts, pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, signs his 1958 contract, but took a cut in salary for the second straight season. He lost 22 games last season.

Cousy Leads 130-118 Victory

East Wins All-Star Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"This one gave me more satisfaction than any All-Star victory the East has ever won."

Boston's Red Auerbach was talking and the old pro of his Boston Celtics, Bob Cousy, smiled and nodded.

"This one," Auerbach said, "was in St. Louis. We would rather win here than anywhere."

The favored East team, 10 points down early in the last half, battled back and won going away, 130-118, with Cousy dazzling.

They did it despite an all-out effort by Bob Pettit, the St. Louis Hawks star, who set new NBA All-Star records with 28 points and 26 rebounds. And they did it despite a partisan St. Louis Arena crowd of 12,854, which gave Auerbach and his Celtics a strong booing.

Pettit's performance earned him the most valuable player award for the second time. Cousy, himself a two-time winner of the honors had 20 points and 10 assists and was second in the voting.

Auerbach said he couldn't pick a turning point.

"We just began hitting and they weren't," he said.

West Coach Alex Hannum was downcast but praised the efforts of his West All-Stars.

"I felt mighty sick when I saw Bobby (Pettit) on the floor after Slater Martin had gone out," Alex said.

Pettit suffered a slight knee sprain. Martin had what physicians termed a torn muscle fibre. It may keep him out for a while.

Hannum said a two minute cold spell late in the game was the difference. Cousy tossed in seven straight points while the West was getting a lone field goal in this stretch and a one-point East lead grew to six.

A bitter St. Louis-Boston rivalry made this All-Star game sweeter for the victors and harder to take for the losers.

"We had the best team and I guess this proves it," said Auerbach.

He assigned his 6-foot-10 shotblocker, Bill Russell, to shadow Pettit. But the West was able to work Pettit loose, often through the brilliant passing of Martin and Dick McGuire.

With the game in the balance, the East's superior experience told the story as Cousy and veteran Paul Arizin of Philadelphia, a 24-point scorer, led the way.

Hannum said the loss in the last quarter of big Maurice Stokes of Cincinnati hurt the West. Stokes had 14 rebounds before he left the game with a knee sprain and was second only to Pettit. Russell led the East rebounders with 11.

Basilio-Sugar Fight Tickets Scaled to $40

CHICAGO (AP) — Tickets for the championship fight between middleweight titleholder Carmen Basilio and challenger Ray Robinson have been scaled to a top of $40 for ringside seats by the promoting International Boxing Club.

The IBC yesterday announced prices will range from a top of $40 to $5 with an expected gross gate of $560,465 and a net $467,633.90 based on attendance of 19,000. The fight is set for March 25.

These figures could be exceeded, however, since the Chicago Stadium can seat 19,535 and take in several thousand standees.

Stops DeMarco in 12th

Akins Seeks Welter Crown

BOSTON (AP) — Virgil Akins, the battling church deacon from St. Louis, was headed for the welterweight elimination tournament today after blasting former champion Tony DeMarco into probable retirement.

"We're going to go along with our original agreement with the National Boxing Assn. and the World Boxing Committee to enter the championship tournament," said Bernie Glickman, co-manager of Akins.

While the 29-year-old Akins looked forward to the title trail, DeMarco was attempting to shake off the effects of a vicious beating absorbed before being stopped in the 12th round last night at the Garden.

Despite the advice of four doctors that he be hospitalized for "at least a couple of days," DeMarco checked in at a hotel and spent the night under the watchful eyes of handlers.

"As far as I'm concerned, Tony is all through fighting," said Manager Rip Valenti. "Even if he wants to fight again, I'm the guy who holds the contract and I'm going to decide this time."

Akins, who knocked out DeMarco in the 14th round less than three months ago, again had too much ring knowledge and fistic bombs for the 26-year-old slugger from the shadows of the Garden.

Showing no ill effects from sweating off more than a quarter pound to make the 147-pound limit at the noon weighin, Akins floored DeMarco three times before Referee Eddie Bradley mercifully called a halt at 1:53 of the 12th round.

The second edition of one of Boston's most spectacular slugfests was for the Massachusetts version of the world's welterweight title which Akins won in the same ring with DeMarco last Oct. 29.

Morrow's Bucket Wins for Swan 5

Ken Morrow's field goal in the final 15 seconds, his only bucket of the game, handed White Swan a 56-55 victory over Drayton Drug in Waterford League basketball action last night at Isaac Crary Junior High.

The triumph gave White Swan a 1st place tie with Ryeson's Super Market on a 3-1 record. Mel Kerrigan and Harry Dearborn each scored 16 points for the winners while Bob Pickett paced Drayton with 15.

Narleski May Be Yank by Weekend

NEW YORK (INS)—Ray Narleski, righthanded relief whiz of the Cleveland Indians, may become a New York Yankee this weekend.

The much - discussed trade in which the fast-balling pitcher shifts his franchise to New York, may be negotiated at the major league meetings on Saturday when Cleveland's Frank Lane and Casey Stengel of the Yankees have a face to face showdown.

"We've been talking with Cleveland," assistant Yankee general manager Lee MacPhail said today. "If anything is done," MacPhail added, "it will be done at the baseball meetings in New York."

MacPhail wouldn't name names, but Lane, a gent who's willing to trade his kingdom for a second basement, would and did. The Narleski trade talks began last December in Colorado Springs, Colo. at the winter baseball meetings.

Lane said yesterday he'd be willing to swap the 29-year-old Narleski for Bobby Richardson, 22-year-old second baseman, and Jim Coates, 25 - year - old righthanded pitcher who worked for Richmond in the International League last year.

"If Lane wants to do business I'll trade him one for one," was venerable Stengel's reaction to several package offers made by Lane in Colorado.

Now that the Indian G.M. has narrowed it down to a possible two-for-one deal, Casey may be more receptive.

Without question, Narleski, one of the league's top relief hurlers, would be a valuable addition to the already strong Yankee pitching corps. With the Indians last year, Narleski appeared in 46 games and posted an 11-5 record with a 2.94 earned run average.

Cleveland, it will be remembered, had an injury - riddled staff and Narleski was pressed into service as a starting pitcher. He started 15 games and completed seven of these.

Richardson is regarded as one of the best infield prospects to come through the Yankee chain in recent years. The little guy, a sensational fielder, hit .256 in 97 games last season.

Coates had a 14-11 record at Richmond and led the league in shutouts and strikeouts.

Yankees Expect Record Crowds

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that the Dodgers and Giants have flown town the New York Yankees figure to have a full house this season, maybe even hitting 2 million in Yankee Stadium attendance.

Jack White, head of the ticket sales department, said today his staff already has filled as many orders as it had by opening day in 1957. The advance sale represents about 1½ million dollars.

As best as could be determined, the all-time record for Yankee advance sales was $1,700,000 in 1956. This time it could hit 2 million dollars.

The Yankees, already assured of a big increase in television revenue with the two National League clubs gone, hiking their TV schedule from 89 to 140 games, use the Dodger and Giant shifts to explain the early run for tickets.

NL Will Revise 1958 Schedule

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National League has thrown out its current schedule of 1958 baseball games because of 16 changes by the Los Angeles Dodgers and plans to submit new dates to members next Saturday.

Dave Grote, head of the league's service bureau, announced plans for revisions yesterday and said the present schedule is obsolete.

He said a revised schedule will be submitted to National League when the new schedule is ready.

Grote said the changes came after Los Angeles picked the Coliseum for its home games, and said the intense summer heat in Southern California was a factor in changing playing dates and the number of night and Sunday games.

Only 11 Days To Enter Press Bowlerama

Skaters Vie at St. Paul

DETROIT (AP) — Thirteen Michigan speed skaters are entered in the national championships at St. Paul this weekend.

SVC Favorites Battle to Stay in Race

Another Defeat Would End Title Chances for PCH Chiefs

The two teams which were supposed to be the kingpins of the Saginaw Valley Conference, Pontiac and Saginaw, will now have to battle each other in order to stay in the race.

A pair of home and home games Friday and Tuesday could mean the end for either the Chiefs or the Vikings.

Saginaw with a 3-1 mark in the league and a 6-1 season record after last night's 79-71 win over Bay City Handy, is in a three way tie with Flint Northern and Flint Central for the SVC lead.

The Chiefs, even though they lost a 49-47 decision to Flint Northern last Friday, managed to stay in the race only because of Saginaw's loss to Flint Central.

It did prove one thing, that Saginaw can be beaten in its own back yard. The Chiefs have one advantage, if they can beat the Trojans in Saginaw Friday, then they would come back for the battle royal on the PCH court next Tuesday.

A loss Friday however would just about eliminate the Chiefs. Only a mathematical chance would be left.

Flint Northern is carrying a hot streak of four straight games, and Flint Central is still showing strength in winning seven of eight games. A win at Saginaw Friday could put the Chiefs in good position in as much as Northern Central and Saginaw have to come to Pontiac in the second half of the schedule.

The Trojans are the tallest team in the league, but not the fastest. It was Flint Central's hustle and speed which caused Saginaw to stumble, but by the same token it was poor team work which hurt Pontiac in its losses to Northern and Central.

Big Gary Potts, 6-feet-5 and Willie Thompson, 6-feet-4, are Saginaw's top board men and pointmakers. Thompson is the league's leading scorer. His 19 point average is a point better than Flint Central's Felix Miller.

Pontiac's list of double figure scorers is diminishing. There were four players hitting two digits when the season started. The loss of Hudson Ray left three, and now only Charley Barge and Jim Skinner barely are hitting 10 points a game.

Barge has a 10.4 average and Skinnr 10 points even. Game time is 8:00 p.m. Friday night at Saginaw.

Dales Defeat Kalamazoo

HILLSDALE (AP) — Jim Reynolds dropped in 22 points in sparking Hillsdale to a 65-55 victory over Kalamazoo in an MIAA basketball game last night.

Shamrocks Fade After Early Rush, 65-44

Bens Roll to 6th SCL Win

By H. GUY MOATS

Too much experience, too much height and a redhot scoring splurge combined for the downfall of Pontiac St. Michael's cagers last night. Suburban Catholic League-leading St. Benedict's Raiders compiled their 6th straight league victory, their 8th straight overall, as a result of the 67-44 win in PCH's gymnasium.

For one period of play the Shamrocks made a battle of it, closing that session only three points back of the Raiders, 12-15. Then the superior height of Art Massucci's club and its experience began to tell. And from the start of the 2nd session it was almost a sure Raider win. Halftime count was 30-21, a nine-point lead for the Highland Parkers which they stretched into 16, then to 23 at the end.

League's top scorer, husky Larry Gacki, added 28 points to his SCL top total, boosted his game average over 20 and compiled his best season's performance with an even dozen field goals from all angles. Hank Dzinski's 12 and Art Massucci's 11 helped build up the 2nd biggest score of the season for Raiders.

Gacki, Philion and Massucci were in control of the boards most of the time, towering over the smaller Shamrocks and getting away with a big share of the rebounds.

Loss was Shamrocks' 2nd of the season, their 2nd in loop play, against three SCL wins.

Raiders get in action again tomorrow at St. Clement and are heavy favorites to chalk up their 7th league victory over the SCL "doormats."

RIGHT HEIGHT—Oscar Robertson, University of Cincinnati's sensational sophomore basketball ace, shows that 6-feet-4 and ¾ inches is his correct height and not 6-feet-6 and 6-feet-8 which has often been given him. He is the nation's top scorer with a 32 point average.

Sparrow to Play Against Pistons in Game Tonight

The Detroit Pistons return to action tonight seeking their 6th straight home victory at the Detroit Olympia against the New York Knickerbockers.

Former Pontiac High and U. of D. star cager will make his appearance with the Knicks against the Pistons.

He has a 12.7 average with the Knicks and leads all-NBA rookies in minutes played.

Mims-Boyd Meet Again in Middleweight Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Holly Mims, 10-year ring veteran, makes another of his frequent appearances in the City Auditorium arena tonight, this time against Bobby Boyd of Chicago.

Boyd, ninth-ranked middleweight in the nation, hung up a decision over Mims in their only previous meeting, April 18, 1956, and the Chicagoan is expected to enter the ring a 2 to 1 favorite.

Rain Delays Tourney

Among the matches postponed was the semifinal of the men's doubles which pitted Barry MacKay of Dayton and Mike Green of Miami against Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Joe Wilman

At a bowling clinic I conducted in Michigan recently, a 150-average bowler asked, "Joe, what's the best strike angle?" That's one question I run into over and over again, and there's no single answer that fills the bill for every bowler.

A bowler with a consistent hook ball, for instance, will generally find that the best angle for him is the one we show today. But a bowler with a straight ball should release the ball more toward the right corner of the alley if he wants a sharper angle into the 1-3 strike pocket.

If you have a big, sweeping hook ball, you should move to the left and release the ball near the center of the alley. This will allow the ball to roll out a bit to the right before its hooking action brings it back into the pocket.

About the only two points these three deliveries have in common are these:

1. They're all moving toward the left when they strike the pins.
2. They all roll into the pocket (we hope).

Fitzgerald, Mt. Clemens Win

Troy Whips Falcons, 47-32

By CHUCK ABAIR

Troy became Oakland County's winningest basketball team and improved its strong state rating at the same time by handing Rochester a 47-32 beating in the feature game of a slim area card last night.

The Colts had a more difficult time than the score would indicate in making it nine straight victories. They had to hold off a strong Rochester bid to take command in the 3rd quarter before pulling safely away.

In other games, Fitzgerald trounced Royal Oak Kimball 56-41, Mt. Clemens nipped Roseville 50-47, North Branch dropped a 56-51 decision to Lakeville, powerful Grosse Pointe walloped Port Huron 67-49, and Utica bowed in the final 10 seconds to Bi-County leader Lakeview, 67-65.

Troy led every minute of the way, sometimes by large margins, but was pushed hard in that 3rd canto when Carl Montross and Bill Mason led the Falcons in their attempt to make it close.

The host Colts held leads of 11-7 at the 1st quarter and 23-14 at the half. It was 26-14 before Rochester got going.

After the Class B powers matched baskets, the Falcons went on a 10-point spree to slice the margin to 28-26 on some sharp shooting and rebounding before Wayne Figley's jump shot snapped the string.

The 3rd quarter ended 35-30 and it looked like a battle down the wire but Troy settled that in a hurry. Coach Peyton Goodwin's smooth - working, fired - up Colts, made six straight field goals to start the last period and it was all over.

Only a layup after stealing the ball late in the period by reserve Bill Hummel saved the losers from being blanked in that final session after scoring 16 in the 3rd.

Drake Still Leads County Scorers, Neira Now 3rd

Lake Orion's recent dominance of the Oakland County scoring race was broken up somewhat when Nick Neira was held to nine points Friday dropping him to 3rd place but his running mate Jim Drake still reigns as the leader.

Drake was "held" to 20 in the Dragons' loss to Fitzgerald but still holds a 23.3 average as against new runnerup Rick Moos' 21.3. The Madison sharpshooter tops Neira by two-tenths of a point.

The invasion of two Ortonville cagers and Clarkston's 2nd entry among the top scorers highlights this week's point list.

Ted Follis zoomed all the way to 6th with 18.3 and Charlie Graves tied for 15th representing the Blackhawks. Dick Lippert gave Clarkston another man by hitting 34 against Holly. He now has a 15.1 average.

Steady point-getters Leroy Parks of Clarkston and jumping John Herrington of Waterford complete the first five with 19.1 and 18.8 averages. Parks' total of 150 is tops in that department.

Design Program of Cooperation With Colleges

Detroit Organization Fosters Foundation to Enhance Baseball

DETROIT (UP) — A baseball scolarship program designed "to foster closer cooperation between organized baseball and Michigan Colleges" is being set up by the Detroit Tigers.

The club said the program initially would involve five Michigan universities: Michigan, Michigan State, Western Michigan, Detroit and Wayne State. Other schools will be added when funds are available and when baseball programs at the institutions qualify, the Tigers said.

The program is being administered by a non-profit organization called the Detroit Baseball Co. Educational Foundation, Inc. Trustees include Harvey Hansen, Tigers president; John Fetzer, board chairman; and Harry M. Sisson, executive vice president.

An initial sum of $5,000 was put into the foundation by the baseball club. It will be maintained in future years by annual grants from the Tigers to provide funds for aid to a maximum of 20 students in the fund's fourth year of operation.

Hansen said the fund will grow to $8,600 annually in four years. The Tigers president said:

"This is a no-strings-attached program to aid boys interested in playing baseball and furthering their education. Our scholarship fund was developed to enhance the status of baseball as a major sport in colleges and universities."

Each scholarship will be from $200 to $500, based on individual need, rules of the NCAA and rules of the athletic conference to which the school belongs. One scholarship a year will be awarded to each participating school.

Floyd's Manager Told to 'Quit Kidding'

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Matchmaker George Parnassus of the Olympic Auditorium Boxing Club today caustically asked Manager Cus D'Amato to "quit kidding the fight fans" of the nation and let his world heavyweight champion, Floyd Patterson, meet a logical contender for the title.

Parnassus was particularly incensed when he read a report from New York quoting D'Amato as saying he had never received an offer from the Los Angeles matchmaker guaranteeing him $200,000 for Patterson to meet Zora Folley of Arizona in Los Angeles this year for the title.

Parnassus two days ago agreed to boost the guarantee to $250,000 to meet the winner of the newly signed fight between Eddie Machen and Folley in San Francisco March 17.

When this offer was made public, D'Amato said "no comment" and added that he had never heard of a previous $200,000 offer from Parnassus for Patterson to box Folley.

D'Amato said from New York that this was probably a bid for publicity from Parnassus.

Said the visibly irked Mr. Parnassus:

"It is addressed to D'Amato, 211 W. 53rd St., New York, timed 2:45 p.m., Phoenix time. It begins: 'Dear Cus.'

"In the telegram, which cost me $5.49, I made the $200,000 offer and 40 per cent of the gate for Patterson to meet Folley in May or later in the summer at their convenience.

"When D'Amato says he never heard of my offer he must be telling an untruth. I don't want to say he's a liar.

Tigers Add Scout for South States

DETROIT (UP) — Legrant E. Scott of Birmingham, Ala., has joined the Detroit Tigers as a full-time scout in the Southern states.

The 47-year-old Scott is a veteran minor league player and manager and has been a scout for the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Yankees.

Students on Probation After Cage Tilt Fracas

WACO, Tex. (UP) — Dean W. C. Perry said yesterday Baylor University has placed three male students on probation for their part in a fracas after a basketball game between the Bears and Texas A&M Jan. 14.

Perry did not release any names. Fighting between rival student groups broke out near the end of the game, which A&M won, 57-47.

Viking Wrestlers Impress in Loss

Turning in a strong showing in defeat, Walled Lake's 1st year wrestling team dropped a 31-21 decision to the defending regional champion Berkley Bears last night.

Larry Gross, Gary Woodruff, Bob Downie and Tom Ranck all had Berkley pins. Walled Lake now has a 1-2 record.

Browns' Coach Says He'll Go Along With Plum

CLEVELAND (UP) — Now that quarterback Tommy O'Connell has retired, Cleveland Browns Coach Paul E. Brown says Milt Plum "is the fellow the others will have to beat."

Brown, a guest at last night's Ribs and Roast program here, said Plum "can throw the ball and also is big and mobile.

"No, I have no qualms about going into a season with him as the quarterback."

Class C Lakeside Takes 1st Defeat

The tail-end Vikings handed league-leading Lakeside its first defeat of the season last night in Class C city basketball action at Madison Junior High. The score was 35-31.

Bob Elzy of the Vikings and Lakeside's Jim Shorter divided scoring honors with 13 points apiece. It was the Vikings' 2nd win in seven games.

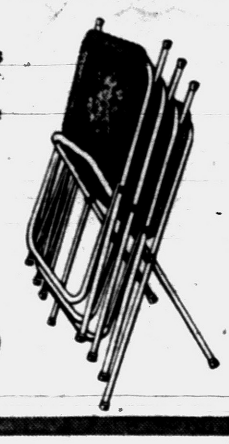

Walled Lake dealt the winless Merchants their 6th setback, 62-39, in a Class B game. Four Lakers hit double figures, paced by Bill Stafford's 16 points. Bob Hutchins made 14 for the Merchants.

Oakland County Lakes Hitting Peak for Ice Fishermen

By H. GUY MOATS

When the temperature dips the thermometer's mercury down towards the zero mark and the winds whistle out of the north (at least that's the way it's supposed to be this time of the year), outdoorsmen (and women, too) turn to the chilly business of hauling refrigerated finny specimens from the myriad lakes of this great sovreign "Water Wonderland." It may be chilly business, but it's still a lot of fun, say the addicts.

Soft weather earlier in the winter kept the ice on this area's waters unsafe and slowed up the anglers' activities. Now, with ice measuring from five to eight inches on most lakes, the sport has come into its own the last week.

Shanties, tents, wind-breakers or just holes in the ice have appeared everywhere, and some good panfish, plus a number of big pike have been taken. And the sport should improve, competent observers report.

There are some problems facing the ice-fishermen. One is keeping a htole in the ice open. This kind of weather, however, hasn't caused too much trouble from that score. Warm clothing, preferably several layers of light, warm garments are better than heavy apparel. Well-insulated rubber or waterproof Korean-type boots will keep the feet warm.

Type of fishing is up to the angler. He can dig a hole, rig a tipup, or simply cut a hole, sit on a box and fish with a small, light rod tip — for panfish. The "shantymen" and tenters usually are spearers, seeking the big pike. Prospective spearmsmen should check with conservation men for waters available for such sport.

Conservation officers warn anglers to keep their autos off the ice, as a precautionary safety matter. In other years cars have broken through the ice.

Special activities are under way on most all northern lakes, such as the "Tip-Up Town" festivities at Houghton Lake, last weekend, "Smeltania" at Charlevoix (not too good just now); Crystal Lake, near Frankfort; "Perchville" at Tawas, on Sebewaing Bay, Lake St. Clair (where some really big ones have been taken), and other spots.

Others who did OK included Therm Taylor, of 5611 Cruse, Oxbow (shanty on Oxbow Lake), a 11-pound pike and some walleyes; Gene Thompson of 64 N. Shore Lake Orion, 15-inch perch, and Pete Clarkson, 629 Central, Lake Orion, 8-pound-4-ounce pike, fishing on Lake Orion.

New Firearms Regulations in Effect in March

IRS Hopes Revised Rules Will Receive OK From Sportsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials say they feel sure new firearms regulations — shorn of some controversial registration porposals — will be generally acceptable to sportsmen and others.

The Internal Revenue Service has published a new series of regulations requiring among other things that the manufacturer's name, a seriel number, caliber and model designation be stamped on revolvers, pistols and high-powered rifles. Present regulations carry no such requirements.

The new rules, effective March 1, also extend from 6 to 10 years the period in which licensed dealers are required to keep records of all acquisitions and sales of firearms.

One of these proposals would have required that all shotguns and small rifles—as well as high-powered rifles, revolvers and pistols—be stamped with the maker's name and a serial number.

A second proposal, now discarded, would have required dealers to keep, in addition to other data, a record of all sales of ammunition for pistols, revolvers and high-powered rifles.

A third plan would have required the signatures of all purchasers of such weapons, or of ammunition for them.

Some of the opposition grew out of reports—denied by officials—that the proposed regulations would require registration by all owners of firearms. There were protests that the proposals would treat as potential criminals all persons who use guns for recreation.

But police groups backed the proposals, saying they would help in identifying firearms.

Make Winter Useful

By JACK PATTERSON

Except for bobcat, fox and rabbit hunters, and ice fishermen, this section of the year is a dry spell for the outdoorsman. It needn't be, though. Without even lifting his lazy carcass out of his favorite roosting spot the outdoorsman can turn this long off season into a period of great usefulness. This is a two-pronged operation. First of all it is a fine letter-writing period, with the Conservation Department as a likely target.

Now, the department gets a good deal of carping criticism of its policies and procedures, and empty gripings of this sort are not exactly what we had in mind.

For example, the supplementary winter feeding of deer has been hashed over so thoroughly that it is extremely doubtful that additional amateur critiques on the subject would serve any useful purpose.

But there are some fields in which sportsmen's observations are very welcome. One of these concerns grouse hunting. The department is very much interested in the following statistics from hunters of ruffed and sharptail grouse: Dates and areas hunted, numbers of birds flushed, hours spent afield, birds shot, whether more or less birds were seen than last year.

Such reports are extremely valuable in assaying the total grouse picture. Cooperators in this program receive timely tips and advice on grouse hunting conditions which are not otherwise available.

We said this winter offensive is a two-pronged offensive. Aside from being a good correspondence season, winter is also a prime inventing season. Practically every advancement in hunting and fishing equipment has come via experiment and bright ideas by sportsmen themselves. And we're a long way from perfection, today.

There isn't a single item in the entire outdoor sporting field, from fish-hooks to double rifles, that isn't capable of improvement. The perfect trout fly has yet to be invented. No manufacturer makes outdoor clothing that is right in every respect. The many factors that go into making a perfect shotgun have yet to be incorporated into one piece.

In the countless thousands of items, large and small, that make up the gear of the outdoorsmen, there are many that are the best obtainable. There is none that is perfect.

So put on your thinking hats, men, and come up with a decoy paint that won't ever shine, or a rain jacket that doesn't rain inside worse than the downpour without. Or a wader sole that won't slip on ANYTHING, or—well the field is unlimited.

Fox Hunters in 2nd Sortie During Weekend

Pontiac area fox hunters will get out again this weekend for the second sortie against the red-coated predators, arranged by Oakland County Sportsmen's club members, headed by Lewis M. Wrenn.

As in the Jan. 12 hunt, the Sunday affair will be held on an area to be announced when the hunters convene at OCSC clubhouse at Waterford, prior to start of the party. Last hunt was two miles southwest of Ortonville.

Forty participated in the Jan. 12 hunt and three foxes were taken by Henry Castle of Birmingham, Dean Pfeffer of Detroit and Bob Vesey of Birmingham.

Those planning to take part should be at the clubhouse at 8:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

Need Changes in Hunting Rules

Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the Conservation Department's game division, outlined some possible solutions to Michigan's duck hunting problems at the January meeting of the state Conservation Commission.

Ruhl said a current study of waterfowl hunting and management in Michigan indicates some changes in regulations may be needed at some of the more popular marshes, such as Wildfowl Bay, Sebewaing and the St. Clair flats.

Seek Sportsmen's Help in Saving 'Dust Bowl'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRES

Sportsmen are being summoned to the defense of the Department of Agriculture which at first glance seems something like ordering a cord of kindling when the house is on fire.

But it's not.

Secretary Benson's department may have a hot time of it with this second session of the 85th Congress over a number of matters. One of them is the soil bank.

This is sort of an outbuilding to the imposing edifice of agriculture, and a late addition at that. If a general conflagration developed, organized sportsmen have an interest in keeping sparks off the roof of the soil bank program.

Not all of it, mind you.

In the 10 states of the great plains region, for instance, there are some 11 to 14 million acres which Administration testimony before a Senate committee last year said 'cannot be cultivated continuously without serious problems of wind erosion."

Through 1957, nearly 4½ million acres of this dust bowl land was signed up under the conservation reserve. Although covering it with vegetation is a slow process, the Agriculture Dept. estimated that by the end of 1957 new grass and shelterbelt plantings had been established on almost half of it.

At the end of the 1957 sign-up period, nearly 7 million acres had been contracted in the conservation reserve nationally. In relation to total croplands of 460 million acres, it was a tiny percentage.

But on the other hand, 7 million acres of permanent cover will protect a lot of water and give shelter to a great many rabbits and pheasants.

Hence the summons for defense.

State Plants More Than 3 Million Fish

LANSING — More than 3,166,000 fish—including 2,560,000 trout — were planted in Michigan waters from state hatcheries during 1957.

Plantings of hatchery-reared fish are made only in waters open to public fishing, to supplement natural reproduction.

Rainbow trout led the list, with some 1,594,800 'bows. Other plantings included 709,500 brook trout, 137,400 brown trout, 115,600 lake trout and 3,000 splake trout. Almost 2,000,00 of the planted trout were legal-sized fish.

In addition to trout releases, plantings included 34,500 walleyes, 12,800 northern pike, 11,600 muskellunge, 95,300 largemouth bass, 12,900 smallmouth bass and 132,500 bluegills.

'Fal' Is Poppa of Eight Little Golden Vizslas

"Fal" as the good-natured, golden-coated dog is known to his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Felt, 2150 Ostrum, Pontiac, is the poppa of eight little golden vizslas, progeny of Fal's mate, Koldie.

The litter is the first for the pair, and the little vizslas are on their 9th week of life, an always hungry, active company.

Fal has won one honor, despite the fact he has no AKC status as yet. He was 3rd last April in a Southern Michigan Obedience Training club event. He'll probably be seen in other shows when he is finally "certified."

OCSC Habitat Work Is Family Affair

Members of OCSC, their families, friends and others, including 18 Boy Scouts, will take part in the Saturday habitat improvement work bee at Holly Recreation Area, says Marshal Johnson of the sportsmen's club.

Browse cutting, brush and small tree clearing will be done to aid in providing cover and homes for small game of the area.

The company is asked to meet at 8:30 a.m. at OCSC headquarters in Waterford.

Ted Fairbanks and Tom-Osmer of the conservation department will direct the work.

Hot lunch will be served at noon.

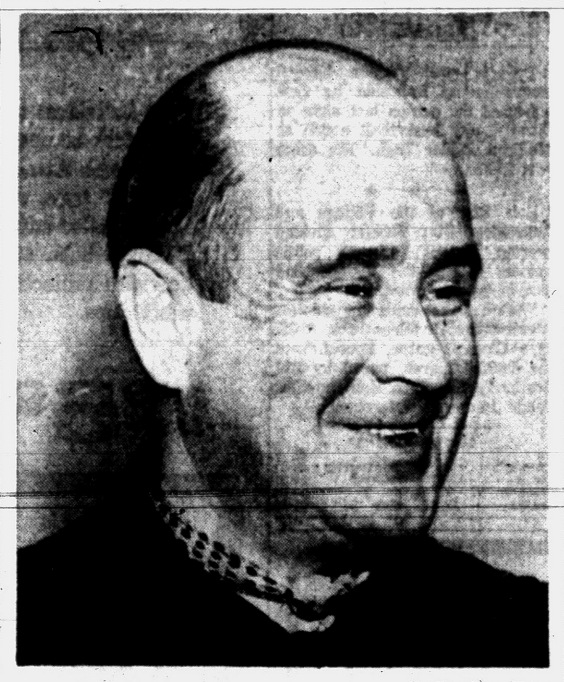

Conservation Men Back Nov. 10 UP Deer Season

LANSING—The state Conservation Commission has agreed to "support" legislation allowing the Upper Peninsula deer hunting season to open about Nov. 10.

A bill proposing such a change from the regular Nov. 15 opener was expected to be introduced during the current session of the legislature.

One of three newly certified (Central Ski Association) instructors at Mt. Holly ski resort, head instructor Walter Haefeli has an interesting background that began in his native Switzerland.

Haefeli began skiing in Switzerland many years ago. He trained on the slopes of the Alpines in the Swiss tradition, became a member of Swiss national teams around the 1935-38 period.

In 1938 he came to this country and began his teaching at Sun Valley. Nine years ago he moved to Boyne Mountain and a year ago went to Mt. Holly.

At the recent (Dec. 8-14) Central Ski Assn. workshop at Boyne Mt., Haefeli, Dick Perry and Jerry Brader of Mt. Holly received certificates, giving Mt. Holly the largest number of CSA certified instructors in Michigan, Mort Graddis, resort operator says.

Workshop was designed to secure more uniform methods of ski instruction.

More Than Five Million Outboard Boats in U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — This official of an outboard motor company was talking at the National Motor Boat Show, and trying to hide his enthusiasm. Business is good.

"They are comparatively cheap to buy and cheap to maintain," he said. "I would say the upkeep of an outboard used for pleasure would be less than $40 a year.

"For one thing, when you want to have an outboard checked over or repaired, you just take it to a mechanic. With inboards the mechanic has to go to the boat."

Which may help account for the fact that of the nearly 6 million power boats in the country, 5,19,-000 are outboards. They've become practically a national institution.

Another factor in their growing popularity, aside from the economy of cost and operation, is the ease with which they may be transported.

"The increase in the number of automobile trailers has been a big boon," the outboard man pointed out. "With such trailers a boat, with motor attached, can be carted practically anywhere, and during the off season it may be hauled to a backyard or the family garage and stored. Trailer prices range from about $150 up."

So, assuming a man already has an automobile, he can get out pretty cheaply if he wants to go in for outboarding. He can buy a boat, although not a very big boat, for less than $100, an outboard anywhere from $150 to $1,000, a trailer for $150, and he's in business, with the upkeep practically coming out of the pin money.

New York, with 491,000 listed, heads the states in total of outboards, with Michigan second at 392,000.

Winged Visitors Return to Area for Third Year

For the third straight winter a company of about 20 unusually colored birds have returned to the home of Mrs. Elaine Daugherty, 9050 Pontiac Lake road. Mrs. Daugherty says she has not learned the identity of the winged visitors. They return at the same time each year.

"These birds have come back here three years now," she says. "They are about the size of a robin, have a stubby white beak and a black head, the black terminating in a 'V' on the back of the neck. Below that the color is a rusty orange and underparts are yellow. Wings bear black scallops."

"I've wondered if anyone else has seen these birds, and if they know the species," says Mrs. Daugherty.

Soviet Skipper Praises U.S. Aid to Disabled Ship

The Navy, which did not name the skipper, said he sent a message to the Soviet port of Vladivostok saying: "Arrived today US naval station Midway and received excellent attention, service and cooperation from pilot and command."

The Panfilov and another Russian ship, the Odessa, were granted permission to enter the area after being damaged in a Pacific storm last week. The navy said the Panfilov entered the harbor immediately for repairs of two cracks in the deck and a collapsed stern platform.

Levies on Lots Up to Assessor

City Commission Junks Formula for Property of Odd Shape, Size

The City Commission last night junked its complicated formula for setting up special assessments on odd-shaped lots and put the problem into the lap of the city assessor.

"The City Charter provides that the assessor should use his own discretion to adjust inequities caused by the peculiar size or shape of a lot," City Manager Walter K. Willman pointed out.

As a result of the new policy, an amnesty was declared with at least a score of property owners who last year complained about thir assessments for public improvements.

How many owners of odd-shaped lots would take advantage of this offer was a matter of conjecture last night, as commissioners came to the conclusion that the formula, painstakingly drawn up last fall was unworkable.

"We simply cannot take into account in one formula every possible variation in lot size," Commissioner John A. Dugan observed.

The problem arises because city assessments are based on a per-frontage foot basis and not on total square footage. Some property owners, whose odd-shaped lots have a higher percentage of frontage than in a normal rectangular lot, have complained that they are being assessed too much.

Grain Futures Drifting Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures drifted mostly lower on the Board of Trade in a light trade today.

Volume was lacking in all pits in early dealings and there were no important developments to affect the trade to any substantial extent in either direction.

The weather is still not cold enough to dry out corn and until a real cold wave for an extended period arrives, heavy marketings are expected.

Rye turned lower, influenced by action in wheat, with commission houses on the buying side and locals selling. Spreading operations were apparent, with many traders selling May and buying the July contract.

Romney Urges Curb on Labor's Power

ANN ARBOR (AP)—George Romney, American Motors Corp. president, has called for legislation to break up what he termed the concentration of power in labor unions.

"Collective bargaining relationships are now almost as unbalanced in favor of labor as they once were the other way," Romney told 300 clergymen at the Michigan Pastors Conference yesterday.

The AMC president described General Motors as the "World Champion of American Industry" and said it is a "sitting duck" as far as forthcoming contract negotiations with the UAW are concerned.

He asserted that no auto company can bargain on an even basis with the UAW because of the power it wields.

Referring to the union's proposed profit-sharing plan, Romney said:

"It is getting so labor is basing its demands on Harlow H. Curtice's (General Motors president) salary and General Motors profits. This sets off a pattern chain reaction in the automotive business without regard to economic factors."

UAW president Walter P. Reuther, in a speech before the ministers group Monday, cited Curtice's salary in an explanation of the union's reasons for proposing the profit-sharing plan as part of its 1958 collective bargaining program.

Supervisor Named by General Motors

Promotion of Raymond E. Hayes, of 1321 Suffield Ave., Birmingham, to supervisor of field relations activities and special projects in Public Relations Staff was announced by General Motors Corp. today.

HAYES

Hayes joined General Motors in 1939 as a lecturer with the General Motors Parade of Progress. In 1947 he served as assistant Western Regional Public Relations manager in San Francisco and was later promoted to regional manager in Los Angeles.

In 1954 he was placed in charge of the Club program in Detroit.

William E. Hamilton, Detroit, who Hayes replaces, will be in charge of plant city and field relations activities. T. Morley Warren, of Detroit will replace Hayes.

White pine is the largest of American conifers growing east of the Rocky Mountains. Fullgrown specimens stand from 90 to 150 feet high; some occasionally reach 200 feet.

Market Spurts, Then Eases Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market spurted ahead in a burst of heavy early trading today, then moderated.

Gains of key stocks were from fractions to about a point. There were a few small losers.

Money-easing steps announced after yesterday's close prompted the initial burst of enthusiasm. The Federal Reserve Board lowered the discount rate at the Philadelphia Reserve Bank to 2¾ per cent from 3 per cent. This was followed by a drop in the prime rate by some leading banks to 4 per cent from 4½ per cent.

An exception to the limited early gains was American Telephone which leaped 2⅛ to 174 on an opening block of 2,000 shares. Brokers said the stock now seemed more attractive in view of the easing of money and its steady $9 dividend. "Telephone" reduced its gain to about a point in later trades.

Steels, motors, utilities, nonferrous metals, chemicals and oils moved forward. Motors were mixed and rails showed scant change.

Fractionally higher were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, International Telephone, Kennecott, American Smelting, Air Reduction, General Electric, Lorillard, Liggett & Myers, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Johns-Manville and United Air Lines.

Vets Defend Trust Fund

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Commander Richard Oele of Michigan American Veterans of World War II (Amvets) says he will call the organization's executive committee next month to map plans for opposing any proposal that the legislature take over the state's 50 million dollar Veterans Trust Fund to ease a present governmental financial crisis.

President Expecting Early Recovery

Ike, Economists in Industry at Odds on Recession

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's views of the extent and probable timetable of the business recession are at odds with those of some economic advisers of industry.

As presented in Monday's Economic Report, the President holds:

1. The slump began sooner and hit harder than his advisers had told him to expect and presumably with the timetable stepped up, the recovery should come earlier, too.

2. Some chief strong points in the economy haven't been hit much and will quickly outweigh those that were — with two new factors, enlarged defense spending and recently liberalized credit, already being felt.

The administration is counting on a reversal in the business and employment trends before the Fourth of July.

In industry the guessing was along that line, too, until recently.

Now a handful, doubtless impressed by the earlier timetable of the lump and the changes in public thinking wrought by Sputnik, thinks the turn will come with Easter.

But many have switched their ideas from midsummer to sometime around Thanksgiving or Christmas.

When looking at any guessing along those lines these days, remember:

This is an election year. And in and out of Washington one side will stress anything that makes the business and employment picture look bad, perhaps even worse than it is. The other side will call attention to the strong points and glow with optimism about the chances for a big new upsurge before the November voting.

Most nongovernment economists and business leaders agree that greater defense spending will boost certain affected industries, and that if credit is liberalized to the point where borrowing costs turn notably lower other forms of spending will be boosted, particularly spending by the state and local governments.

But the more cautious think the real turn will be signaled by the durable goods industries. When the current phase of trimming inventories ends, when capital goods makers report their backlog of orders has stopped falling and new orders have started to appear again in volume on their books, then the new business boom will have been born.

The President points confidently to a strong consumer demand, sustained to a large degree by the fact that so far there has been only a small decline in total incomes and hence in total buying power.

The President also counts on rising outlays by state and local governments and on increased private spending on research and development. But he lays great stress on strong business confidence as shown in long range corporate programs for expansion and construction.

Business leaders go right along with this—on the long term phase of the economy.

But what worries them is the fairly sharp cut in plans for such spending this year; the evidence of wavering confidence shown by the hand to mouth ordering of retailers and wholesalers as well as the trimming of manufacturing inventories; and the lack of confidence shown by many stock market traders, with its repercussions on public psychology.

Firestone Develops No-Flat Spare Tire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. today announced development of a "spare tire" that can't go flat and which takes less than one-third the trunk space of a fifth tire.

The tire—a thin steel disk with a smooth, two-inch solid rubber tread—is capable of taking a motorist 100 miles for permanent repairs to a punctured tire, according to W. E. Lyon, director of tire engineering and development at Firestone.

Lyon said the new tire, known as the perma spare, is being tested by major automobile manufacturers.

Hospital Negotiations Continue

Wages Said Out of Balance

Negotiations for a new annual working agreement between Pontiac General Hospital and most of its service employes continued this week with the administration maintaining for the first time that hospital workers should be considered separately from other city employes.

Saying that the hospital's past policy of following the city's lead in granting cost-of-living pay increases has resulted in hospital job rates "that are completely out of balance," hospital director Carl T. Flath said, "hospital wages should be considered solely on the basis of the hospital industry."

Flath indicated this would be his position with representatives of Pontiac Local 100 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, which represents about 50 per cent of the hospital's working force.

The local president, Mrs. Eula Riggs, declined to comment specifically on Flath's proposal. She observed, however, that "we are city employes and expect to be considered on the same basis as other city employes in Pontiac."

The union is seeking Blue Cross benefits and pay increases which, if past policy were followed, would correspond to the city's cost-of-living increase last month.

This amounted to a $130-a-year boost on wages up to $4,300 and a three per cent increase for employes making more than that.

Flath noted that as a result of following the city's wage policy in the past, Pontiac General's wages generally are higher than at other hospitals.

"Our wages already are 16.8 per cent higher than at other hospitals in the Detroit area and nationally, in a comparison of the number of employes for each patient, we stood forty-fourth highest out of 77 hospitals," Flath said.

In this same study of 77 public hospitals, he said, Pontiac General was highest in a comparison of total wages to total hospital expenses.

"Our average starting rates are about 7.5 per cent higher than the average of all hospitals in the Detroit area and our average maximum rates are about three per cent higher," Flath added.

As an example of the "lack of balance" in the hospital's wage scales, Flath cited the case of a janitor with many years seniority.

"Because of a long series of flat wage adjustments over the years, this janitor makes almost as much money as his department head, who is in charge of one of our biggest departments."

Flath said he is proposing a new system of job classifications and labor grades that would apply to all new employes.

"If it is put into effect," he said, "the hospital's wages should be back in focus in about three years."

Downtrend in Optimism Seen

Poll Shows Consumers Worried Over Business

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Americans have grown more worried about the business outlook and their personal financial situation in the past six months.

This is the substance of a survey of consumer attitudes and inclinations prepared by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center for the last month and a half of 1957. It represents a national cross-section of 1,475 adults.

The survey cited unfavorable economic news and adverse personal experience for the pessimism.

"This information has given rise to worries and feelings of uncertainty and has lowered consumer's inclinations to purchase houses and automobiles," the survey said.

The start of a downtrend in consumer optimism was noted in a similar survey last June. But the new survey pointed to further weakening in consumer confidence.

Consumers in all major income brackets now expressed themselves less favorably than they did a year or two ago about their personal welfare and prospects, the national business situation and the stock market conditions, the survey said.

It added that a high level of consumer confidence and satisfaction prevailed in 1955 and 1956. The survey said this condition caused deterioration in consumer sentiment over the past year.

There was an occasional optimistic note in the report. More than half those queried said "on the whole, times will be good in 1958." This was a drop from 75 per cent in 1956's year-end survey.

Many consumers told the surveyors the recession is something that already has happened rather than something to fear in the future. The survey considered this feeling reassuring.

It said the most common expectation was that business conditions would remain about status quo for a year. The term "too uncertain" only occured in connection with house-buying, the survey said.

Old Soldier Will Celebrate Quietly

MacArthur to Turn 78 Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur — who once said, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away" — will quietly celebrate his 78th birthday Sunday.

An aide said MacArthur will spend the day with his family at their Waldorf Towers apartment and then attend a dinner party given for him by members of his World War II staff.

The center of stormy controversy seven years ago when President Truman recalled him from the Far East, MacArthur has become increasingly shy of the public limelight in recent years. The aide said there are no prospects of a news conference or even a statement on his birthday.

MacArthur's health is "excellent," the aide said. Carried on the Army's active list without assigned military duties, he is board chairman of Sperry-Rand Corp.

It was after Truman fired him as supreme Allied commander in the Far East in 1951 that MacArthur made his famous "Old Soldier" speech. He and Truman disagreed on whether the Korean War should be carried to the Red China mainland. Truman saw that as posing a threat of general war.

The birthday party with members of his Pacific Theater staff has become a tradition. The party this year will be the 12th arranged by retired Maj. Gen. L. J. Sverdrup of St. Louis.

Unemployment Up 94,000 in Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — State unemployment increased by 94,000 between mid-December and mid-January, according to the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

The agency estimated the Jan. 15 jobless figure at 325,000—about 11 per cent of the state's labor force—compared with 231,000 idle Dec. 15.

MESC spokesmen said auto company layoffs accounted for much of the increase although it added that retail and service trades also were hit hard.

The MESC said the current jobless figure is close to the postwar peak of 350,000 reached in the 1949 recession period.

Unemployment in the metropolitan Detroit area increased from 135,000 Dec. 15 to 190,000 Jan. 15, the agency reported.

The commission said its figures were "provisional" and were primarily on publicized layoff reports and the number of jobless workers applying for state unemployment compensation.

Economy Hits Detroit Schools, Fire, Policemen

DETROIT (INS) — The "shotgun" economy drive of Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani had these results yesterday:

— A gymnasium closing affecting at least 60 basketball squads from the Catholic youth organization, one Lutheran high school and some smaller leagues.

— Four top fire department officials were forced into retirement; the jobs of three of them — assistant chiefs — were abolished.

— Police funds were slashed by $553,000; the mayor said an earlier cut was not enough and asked further reductions amounting to $242,000.

— Thirty-nine probationary firemen and seven additional employes will be laid off.

— Loyalty Committee Chairman Alfred A. May was asked by the mayor to report on whether paid employes can be reduced from six to two or three.

Eye Ordinance on Refrigeration

City Commission OKs Meeting to Study Need for Regulations

At the request of the newly-formed Pontiac-Oakland County Refrigeration Association, the city is studying the possibility of a new ordinance that would regulate refrigeration and air-conditioning installations.

City commissioners last night authorized City Manager Walter K. Willman to arrange a meeting between the association and such city administrative heads as the fire chief, city attorney, engineer and fire marshal.

The association president, Deward Travis, told commissioners an ordinance, similar to one governing the plumbing and electrical trades, is needed primarily to provide safety factors.

Travis, of 1191 Cherrylawn Dr., said he was not referring to small home installations but rather to larger, commercial-type installations.

"There are poisonous and explosive gases used in refrigeration," he explained. "The city should set up regulations to minimize their danger."

Travis suggested that a code be set up similar to one adopted by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Detroit and many other cities have adopted ordinances based on this code, he said.

Colorado Couple Adopting Orphan of Korean War

This was Sang Laki Lee, 5-year-old American-to-be.

But yesterday, he was just a little Korean boy in a strange land, meeting for the first time the couple who'll be his mother and dad.

Sang, who is being adopted by Sam and Jeanette Thornhill of Grand Junction, Colo., completed a long journey from his home at Pohang, South Korea. His future parents were at Stapleton Airport to meet him when his plane landed.

As he thumped down a loading ramp, his hand in that of a flight engineer, Mrs. Thornhills eyes moistened. She knelt.

"Is this my boy?" she whispered gently.

"I've been waiting a long, long time."

Then Mrs. Thornhill cried.

There were gentle smiles all around. Then the new family walked to a waiting car.

Thornhill, 37, said he and his wife decided to adopt a war orphan last year through Pueblo Catholic Charities. Thornhill is a salesman for a diamond and jewelry firm.

GOP Speeches Rapped by Dem

Says Republicans Try to Dodge Responsibility for Recession

LANSING (AP) — Michigan speeches by six Republican leaders were written off by State Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler last night as "just another step in the desperate Republican campaign to dodge responsibility for the nationwide recession, caused by Republican hard-money policies."

Staebler leveled his attack at men who addressed Republican campaign dinners across the state. He concentrated on Sen. Berry Goldwater (R-Arizona), who spoke in Detroit, describing him as the "number one anti-labor hatchetman" of the Michigan GOP.

Unemployment in Michigan has risen to 320,000, Staebler said, but Goldwater failed to mention the state's economic distress or express sympathy for it.

Staebler assailed Goldwater for "his slanderous remarks about Michigan industrial climate." Doubtless, he said, "they will be widely repeated around the country to the detriment of all of us."

The Democratic chieftain also blaster Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich), citing published reports which quoted him as endorsing Goldwater's "smear against Michigan's reputation and his abusive tirade against the inteilligence of the people who work hard."

Solon's Widow to Get Pension

Late Belding Senator's Wife to Benefit Under New State Plan

LANSING (AP) — Full benefits of the newly adopted pension plan for legislators will go to the widow of Sen. Bert J. Storey (R-Belding) when first payments are made next Jan. 1.

Mrs. Storey is the first person assured of receiving benefits starting next year, although 22 legislators also will collect if they decide to retire after serving out the current term.

Storey died Jan. 13 at the age of 77. He was one of five lawmakers who qualified for full benefits, having served the minimum 16 years in the legislature and attained the age of 60.

The others are Reps. George Gillespie (R-Gaines), Fred R. Dingman (D-Detroit), Arnell Engstom (R-Traverse City) and Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson).

Maximum payment is $2,000 a year. Mrs. Storey is eligible for survivors benefits amounting to two-thirds of the maximum, or $1,333.

The Senate yesterday received a bill to pay her $3,833, or the remaining part of Storey's $4,000 legislative salary for 1958. Seven per cent of that figure must be paid into the pension fund if she is to qualify for benefits.

Dogs Remain Free to Run in Waterford

Waterford Township officials are powerless to do anything about packs of dogs roaming the township, supervisor Elmer Johnson said today in the wake of a flurry of complaints.

"If a dog is licensed, and there is no quarantine in effect, there is no way we can compel dog owners to keep their animals tied up," Johnson said.

Other complaints said that the dogs were a traffic menace, darting into busy streets, and another said that a fight between a large pack endangered nearby children.

Johnson urged dog owners to make periodic checks to see that their pets remained near their homes.

Baby Tornado Strikes Cocoa Beach, Florida

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A water spout came ashore near here as a miniature tornado yesterday and wrought small havoc to a trailer camp. No one was injured. The sudden storm narrowly missed Police Chief Bob Blair as he chased a speeding motorist.

Watchers saw the storm strike the highway just after Blair passed. The officer said later he caught the motorist, who had reached a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Armed Army 'Copters Display Combat Ability

FT. RUCKER, Ala. (AP) — Army helicopters armed with machine guns and rockets displayed newfound combat ability in a demonstration yesterday of experiments in firepower.

Military and Pentagon officials watched the display.

The use of weapons on helicopters is still in the experimental stage and a variety of armament systems are to be mounted for tests, military officials said.

Dean Boyd M. Smith of Yale University's noted drama school is retiring. He was also dean of the Yale School of Architecture and Design. He was a U. S. Air officer in World War I. Both himself and his wife are natives of West Virginia, but they now live in Hamden, Conn.

Rule Stamps Not Securities

Neither Are Box Tops, Street Car Tokens Nor Theater Tickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trading stamps redeemable for cash or merchandise are no more securities than are street car tokens or box tops, the Securities and Exchange Commission ruled today, and therefore are not subject to SEC regulation.

The commission rejected a petition of the Food Industry Alliance that SEC consider trading stamps to be securities like stocks or bonds and bring them under the registration rules which govern stock issues.

The largest stamp company, Sperry & Hutchinson, contested the proposal and won a favorable ruling from SEC's general counsel. The commission today concurred in its lawyer's finding.

The alliance contended that a trading stamp, given to a customer who may redeem it for merchandise or cash, is an evidence of indebtedness made subject to regulation by the Securities and Exchange Act.

"The same argument could be made as the street car tokens, meal tickets, Christmas gift certificates, box tops, railroad or theater tickets and others too numerous to mention," the SEC said in dismissing the claim.

"The legislative history and other provisions of the statute indicate that the Congress did not intend to include such items within the scope of the statute."

Second Singer Walks Off Stage at Rome Opera

ROME (AP)—Another singer has walked out on the Rome Opera season, this time a basso who got in a spat with a tenor.

The latest "Callas" was pulled by Boris Christoff, known in America for his performances as Boris Godunov.

Sources at the opera house said he stalked off the stage during a rehearsal Monday night of Verdi's "Don Carlos" after a heated argument with tenor Franco Corelli. The issue reportedly was who should have the more prominent place on the stage.

Last night basso Mario Petri took over Christoff's role at the dress rehearsal. The opera sources said Christoff wouldn't sing unless the opera management apologized to him. The managers reportedly answered they owed no apologies, that the fuss was a personal matter between the two singers.

The first walkout of the Rome season was staged by soprano Maria Callas, who broke up the opening night performance of Bellini's "Norma" after the first act.

End In-Law Trouble With This Suggestion

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Roz Russell's husband, Fred Brisson, offered me tickets to Roz's closing in "Auntie Mame." But Roz said, "Why go? You've already seen me?" I decided to send my mother and Gorgeous Mother-in-Law. And would you believe this? The Gorgeous Mother-in-Law said, "This is the greatest present you could have given me!" So, to keep your mother-in-law happy, boys, get her tickets to "Auntie Mame" (in which Greer Garson is taking over). Take this advice from a hippy, happy son-in-law.

WILSON

Ann Bancroft got loud bravos at the opening of "Two for the Seesaw"—with Henry Fonda—and lots of people asked, "Who IS she?"

Going on 26, very big on TV under the name of Anna Mario, she was also a glamour doll in Hollywood in "Don't Bother to Knock," "Tonight We Sing," "Nightfall," and "New York Confidential." She was so humorous and yet touching in her B'way debut that my B. W. almost cried her contact lenses out.

Such a howl of protest was raised by the underwear industry when Garry Moore, Bill Cullen, Henry Morgan and others on "I've Got a Secret" confessed they didn't wear undershirts that Mark Goodson, one of the owners of the show, wrote back and told the industry, "I would like you to know that not wearing an undershirt does not constitute a pornographic act."

ANNE

Mike Todd wanted his bio in two volumes: publisher said nope . . . Visitors are barred from Sid Caesar's TV rehearsals. Ronald Coleman's ailing, may go to Johns Hopkins for treatment . . .

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "It's easy to spot the hypochondriac at a nudist camp. He's the guy wearing a muffler around his neck." That's earl, brother.

For Cruelty to Navy Prisoners

Marine Given Hard Labor

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—A sentence of two years imprisonment at hard labor was given today to Marine Sgt. Adrian A. McLane of Philadelphia, Pa., for cruelty and assault against U.S. Navy prisoners.

McLane, 23, was also ordered busted to private, to forfeit all pay and allowances and to be dishonorably discharged.

The sentence was given by the eight-man general court-martial which convicted him yesterday of nine cruelty charges and one assault count. It acquitted him of one assault and seven cruelty charges. He was liable to a maximum prison term of nine years and three months.

McLane stood at attention as the sentence was read. As the court adjourned, he paced back and forth, muttering, "It's unbelievable, it's unbelievable."

The sentence will be reviewed automatically by higher naval authorities.

McLane's was the last trial, concluded seven months after an investigation began of prisoner treatment at Sasebo. Twenty sailors complained they had been subjected to cruel and inhuman treatment.

Six of the Marines were acquitted. Four of the convictions were reversed on review by the Navy's Pacific Command in Hawaii.

McLane pleaded innocent to accusations of "inexcusable, disgusting and inhuman cruelty" to prisoners. He was convicted on counts that included hitting prisoners in the stomach, slapping their faces and drawing a bayonet across one seaman's stomach.

The six-foot Leatherneck admitted only an occasional "slap here and there to enforce discipline."

It has been since 1898 that Cuba won its independence from Spain. But, the Cuban ministry of finance reveals that it is still paying 16 million dollars in pensions annually to 7,408 men who fought against the Spaniards.

HOWARD BARLOW

Conductor Tells His Discoveries

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "The music you see with your eyes is different from the music you hear with your ears," says Howard Barlow.

It would be difficult to find a better authority than Barlow on the visual as well as the auditory effects of music.

He recently began his 30th consecutive year of conducting a regular weekly program on radio and television. His program, presented each Monday at 9 p. m. over ABC-TV, is the only one of straight music on network television.

"With the advent of television we learned that visual stimulus is responsible for 85 per cent of one's attention to music," he said recently.

"If a bald, ugly little violinist plays a solo, it doesn't sound as good as if a beautiful girl or a handsome man plays that same solo not quite so well. There's a limit, however, in how far you can go with that phrase 'not quite so well.'"

POPULAR STRESSED

Barlow recalls that when his weekly program began on radio it stressed popular music. As the years went on and singers improved, the program's music became more serious.

Then came the era of Nelson Eddy and Laurence Tibbett singing with Barlow's orchestra, the age when the name was the thing.

After the program went on television it was found that the novelty of seeing prominent performers wore off relatively quickly.

Barlow discovered the well-known TV danger of over-exposure. He, personally, never appears on camera for more than one minute of his 30-minute show.

He has an interesting theory of what makes popular singers so successful: "Their utter sincerity. The most popular are those who believe utterly in the songs they're singing. Often, when a classical singer does a popular song, his scorn for it comes through."

On Visiting Soviet Researchers

Scientist Hits Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientific leader today described some U.S. restrictions on visiting Red scientists as "silly little international spitballs."

Dr. Warren Weaver, vice president of the Rockefeller Foundation, said the United States has a "queer and unbelievable" policy on such visits that makes the nation look ridiculous.

His comments were contained in testimony prepared for the House Government Information subcommittee's inquiry into the government role in science.

The State Department has restricted visits of Communist scientists on diplomatic and security grounds and also follows a tit-for-tat policy on restrictions Russia places on U.S. scientists.

Weaver, a board member of the government's National Science Foundation and a past president of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, listed these examples in saying U.S. policy hurts needed exchange of scientific data:

1. A Russian can visit Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass., with its vast store of important scientific activities, but cannot go to the Harvard Medical School "because that is across the line in Boston and Boston has been ruled out of bounds."

2. A U.S. government-approved invitation was issued in 1955 for a 1959 meeting of the International Congress of Astronomy here. Now, he said, U.S. officials are debating whether astronomers from the Chinese mainland should be allowed to attend.

3. Exceptions to the usual restrictions have been granted in cases involving cartoonists and Olympic athletes, but U.S. officials "continue to be sticky about scientists."

Urges Research to Help Reduce Highway Deaths

LANSING (AP) — A General Motors executive has called for a national research program into "human attitudes and behaviors" as a means of reducing the traffic death rate.

William F. Hufstader, vice president in charge of GM's distribution staff, told the Greater Lansing Safety Council yesterday that the highway safety problem "is a symptom . . . of moral and behavior weaknesses that underlie most of the social problems confronting us."

"We must recognize human attitudes and behavior as the key factors demanding our attention," he declared. "And we must recognize that these factors cannot be successfully dealt with by trick solutions or half-hearted measures."

Hufstader said: "People won't be scared into good driving, nor will they react to vague appeals. They must really want to behave in a mature, responsible manner behind the wheel."

The GM official said such a research program would utilize the resources of national safety groups, colleges and other research agencies.

No Special Election to Fill Senate Seat

LANSING (AP) — There will be no special election called to fill the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Bert J. Storey (R-Belding), Gov. Williams has announced.

Williams said that the three Republican state representatives and the four Republican county clerks from the district involved reported local sentiment against a special election. Local Democrats agreed, he said.

The governor said that the earliest posible date to complete a special election and get a new senator seated would be March 5 or 6. He said it didn't seem sensible to put the four counties to the expense of a primary and run-off election just to have the winner serve around five weeks.

Williams added since there still are 22 Republican senators to 11 Democrats, the failure to fill the seat should not seriously affect the position of the majority party in the Senate.

With the special election bypassed, the seat will be filed at the regular elections later in the year.
