'I Became a Killer and Have No Regrets,' Says Refugee

An International News Service reporter who flew with the first Hungarian refugees to reach the U. S. in the "Operation Safe Haven" airlift tells in the following article some of the horrifying experiences related by the fugitives from Communist despotism.

By JAMES LEE

"AT MAGYAROVAR ON 'BLOODY FRIDAY'—Oct. 26—The town went mad. The Communist security police turned a peaceful demonstration into a massacre. They paid a horrible price for what they did. That day, I became a killer and I have no regrets."

Peter T., a slender, dark-haired lad of 20, with the sensitive face of a poet, was speaking. He told his story as a U. S. Air Force C-118 transport plane winged through the dark night far above the stormy Atlantic, carrying him to "safe haven" in America.

The young freedom fighter's identity is withheld, for, though the Russians have deported his father, he has other kin in tragic Hungary who could be marked for Red vengeance.

Peter was in the crowd of Hungarian patriots who gathered near the Magyarovar headquarters of the AVH—the security police—to shout demands for independence, for withdrawal of Russian troops.

"The murders began without warning," he said. "Gunfire burst suddenly from windows of the AVH building. I saw people falling. Eight were killed in the first attack on us. We were unarmed, but not for long.

"We—hundreds of us—surged into the building. We found the gunroom. We armed ourselves.

"The first man I killed had been shooting into the crowd without even taking aim. But I took aim on him. He was on the rooftop. I fired and he fell over the parapet. His body toppled into the street below. People trampled on it and spat on it."

* * *

The dead in Magyarovar that day were counted by the scores. The corpses of the innocent numbered 85. How many Communist police were slain is not known. But there were many. Peter told of three.

In Budapest on that same day, Lukas Sandor, 21, and his father, Ferenc, 44, were bystanders, watching a protest march. A Russian rifleman, aiming without reason, killed the elder Sandor with one shot.

Lukas joined a rebel group. That night, using a rifle given him by a Hungarian soldier, he, too, became a killer.

He slew two AVH men and later fought his way to Gyor, and on to a point near the Austrian border where he and six comrades were captured.

The seven patriots overpowered a guard and escaped. At the border, they started crawling across an open field. Communist machine guns trapped them. "We could only keep crawling," Lukas said. "Three of my comrades were hit. The rest of us got across."

* * *

Jeno F., 34, is an engineer. When the Budapest uprising began he joined a rebel defense force ringing the radio station. He fought as a rifleman for three days of sleepless terror. His wife, Hilda, 28, served as a first-aid woman.

"She risked her life many time," Jeno said. "She dragged wounded patriots from under the guns of Russian tanks."

The heartbreak in the story of Jeno and Hilda is this: When the Russians began their ruthless roundup of rebels, the two were forced to flee to the Austrian border with no chance to bring, or even see, their six-year-old daughter. The child is with Jeno's mother.

* * *

One of the most beautiful of the women refugees, Magda N., red-haired, 19-year-old Budapest hairdresser, said:

"When the Russians came back to Budapest after their withdrawal they were like beasts.

"No one was safe. Girls were seized on the streets and ravished.

"My father and mother said we must leave. We walked and sometime got rides in trucks to a place near the Austrian border where we were told we could cross.

But my parents were not strong enough to go on. They told me to go alone. I did not want to leave them but my father ordered it. All night I hid in a muddy field until just before dawn a man helped me cross a little stream and I was in Austria."

Graybiel Resigns Post as Chiefs' Grid Coach

Pontiac High School today had lost its football coach.

Intensive, hard-working James E. (Ed) Graybiel has resigned as head gridiron mentor, after a four-year's tenure in the post. No successor has been named.

Superintendent of Schools Dana P. Whitmer said today that he had received a letter from the coach, announcing his decision to leave the football post. He did not indicate his reasons, Dr. Whitmer said.

JAMES E. (ED) GRAYBIEL

Graybiel did not expand his reasons, today, beyond his opening sentence of his letter to Supt. Whitmer. He said that he would remain in the system as a social science (history) teacher. "I have no immediate plans for the future" Ed declared.

The head grid mentor came to Pontiac in 1952 after a four-year term as head coach at Traverse City. He had an excellent record there with 20 wins, 11 defeats and one tie. In his four years here his teams won 12, lost 22 and tied two.

Graybiel this morning confirmed the contents of his brief letter to Dr. Whitmer, as follows:

"It is with deep and sincere regret that I am forced to resign as head football coach for Pontiac High School.

"I have enjoyed the excellent spirit of friendly cooperation received from administration, faculty and members of the coaching staff of the Pontiac school system.

"I would like to express my appreciation to all of the members of my football squads for their loyalty and efforts. Over the years it has been a great inspiration to me."

Dr. Whitmer expressed his regrets over Graybiel's decision." He has been a very fine person and has had the interests of his boys at heart—really a dedicated coach," the school head commented.

He added that the matter is so new that no steps can be taken for a successor at this time.

That Graybiel isn't quitting the coaching business completely is indicated in Ed's statement today that "if the right job comes along, I might be interested. But just now I have made no plans."

Goodfellows Sell Special Edition for Yule Funds

Proceeds From Sales Will Give Aid to Needy at Christmas

Residents of Pontiac and surrounding areas are being asked to open their hearts and show their true Christmas spirit today as the old newsboys of this sector conduct their annual Goodfellow newspaper sale.

All proceeds from the sale of special editions of the Pontiac Press will go into a fund to provide Christmas baskets for the needy and emergency aid during the coming year.

The Pontiac goal has been set for $5,000, with the Salvation Army requests for baskets for the less-fortunate now at its highest peak.

The Pontiac Metropolitan Club, Spirit Six, which is made up of members of the police and fire departments and postal employees, is selling papers in the city aided by the Police Auxiliary.

Atty. David Utley got the Pontiac sale underway Friday with a successful afternoon and evening at both local banks. About 60 more "Met Club" members converged upon the various corners of the shopping district this morning to begin the sale.

SELL ALL PAPERS

"All we're hoping for is good weather. I'm keeping my fingers crossed, "Goodfellow committeemember Doug Jilbert said this morning before leading his group to the sale locations.

He said the men will stay out until all papers are sold.

Similar sales are set at Lake Orion, Milford, Oxford, Ortonville, Gingellville, Highland Township and Pontiac Township. The Lake Orion and Gingerville sales are continued from Friday.

Lake Orion has a $1,000 goal with funds to be used towards baskets and a special children's Christmas party at the State Theater Dec. 22.

Thirty-five Rotarians will have 1,500 papers to sell in Milford for the benefit of the needy and crippled children.

The Lions Club of Oxford will stage a holiday party and help in other projects from the Goodfellow sale there.

The Highland Fire Department has planned a noon-to-dark sale in hopes of providing 10-day supply baskets for 20 families.

Firemen at Pontiac Township have a $1,000 goal in order to help the needy and hold Christmas parties for the children. Main intersections and business places will be covered by Gingellville Goodfellows in a sale of 550 papers.

Area Motorists Crawl Through Blanket of Fog

Snow Causes 7 Deaths in New York, Floods Hit West Virginia

A pre-winter storm that snarled transportation, disrupted communications, and caused at least eight deaths was expected to continue today in the Northeastern United States with more snow and rain predicted for the weekend.

Locally, traffic was slowed to a snail's pace by a thick fog that blanketed Pontiac and most of Oakland County last night and today. No serious accidents were reported.

New York state was especially hard hit with seven traffic deaths blamed on a driving rain and a foot of snow which fell in some sections.

Gripped by a treacherous ice storm, New Jersey reported one highway death. A wave of flash floods took at least one life in central West Virginia.

Only minor accidents occurred in Pontiac and surrounding areas, police said, despite the London-like fog and light rain which limited visibility to a matter of yards.

* * *

Telephones at the state police post, Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Pontiac police posts were buzzing with calls throughout the morning concerning the extent of the fog and condition of roads.

Outlook for the Area

The Pontiac area will have foggy weather tonight, with occasional light rain and drizzle. The low tonight will be 32 to 38. Tomorrow's forecast is for snow flurries and colder temperatures. High will be 32 to 38, with gentle southeasterly winds.

Hungarians Hit by New Laws

Strict Measures Taken by Puppet Government to Crush Resistance

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Soviet-imposed Kadar government has taken new measures to force the Hungarian people to end their crippling strikes and passive resistance against its rule.

Radio Budapest reported for the first time the use of the government's sweeping new martial law power against opponents.

The broadcast said a number of Hungarians would be tried by military court for attacking the director of a state farm at Keczkemet. The penalty if convicted under the week-old martial law decree could be death.

With the help of Russian tanks, the regime seems to have crushed the last elements of open revolution in the countryside. But there still were occasional bloody demonstrations.

Now the rebellion is centered in Hungary's factories and mines. Production was near a standstill in Budapest, the nation's industrial center, and at the uranium and coal mines in the south.

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Bundestag lower house has voted 25 million marks $5,950,000 to aid Hungarian refugees who have settled in West Germany.

VIENNA (AP)—Nearly 1,000 refugees crossed the border from Hungary in the last 24 hours despite stiffer controls by Russian troops, Austrian police reported today.

Extend Ballot to All Police

24 Non-Association Men Receive Equal Rights to Vote on Civil Service

A secret ballot election to determine whether police officers favor civil service to replace the present trial board authority has been extended to cover the entire Pontiac Police Department.

A Police Officers Assn. member, James Carr, said today all 114 officers in the department have been given ballots—the decision was made in anticipation of criticism that only association members voted on the question.

The association numbers 90 members.

Carr said results of the ballot, carried out after a decision for civil service was reached last Wednesday, will be tabulated and announced Monday morning.

An association meeting Wednesday voted 39 to 2 in favor of seeking proposals on the April ballot amending the trial board section of the City Charter and uniting police and firemen under a civil service code.

Officers say civil service will give them more job security and the right to appeal disciplinary actions to circuit court.

Split in Alliance Healing

Dulles Returns From Paris

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles returns from Paris today to report to President Eisenhower that progress has been made toward healing the split in the Atlantic alliance caused by the British-French attack on Egypt.

Dulles was due here about 2 p.m. (EST). He was scheduled to go immediately to the White House for a meeting with the President.

A State Department spokesman said yesterday he knew of no plans for Dulles to make a report to the nation.

Before leaving Paris, Dulles said that his separate private talks with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau had done much "to bury if not dissolve entirely the differences existing in our unity."

In addition to reporting on what he obviously considers to be the success of his diplomacy in Paris, Dulles was expected to discuss with the President final preparations for Eisenhower's talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru starting Sunday.

The Nehru conversations will run through Wednesday. They are expected to cover world problems ranging from Red China to Soviet intervention in Hungary and the future of the Suez Canal.

Reports from Paris quoted Dulles as saying the meeting of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council had marked the turning point in development of the alliance. It was badly shaken last month when Britain and France attacked Egypt and the United States denounced their action.

The NATO Council called for urgent efforts to get the Suez Canal operating again — it was blocked during the fighting last month — and for final settlement of Middle Eastern problems.

Some speculation developed here that the Eisenhower administration in time might ask Congress to permit the furnishing of atomic weapons to Western European countries.

Talks Run Into Weekend

Negotiators Resume Effort to Settle Fisher Walkout

Management and UAW union officials began negotiating into the weekend today in further attempts to settle the five-day Fisher Body plant strike.

Negotiations were scheduled to resume at 1:30 p.m. today after a seven-hour session lasting until 10 p.m. last night failed to bring about a settlement. A union spokesman said if today's meeting achieves no results, talks may continue Sunday.

Meanwhile, there was no additional confirmation to yesterday's reported possibility that the strike-affected Pontiac Motor Division plant will be forced to lay off up to half its 12,000 workers Monday.

Union and management officials were not available this morning to comment on progress of the negotiations. There has been no indication from either side, so far, that a settlement is in sight.

The plant's 4,300 workers began the walkout Tuesday afternoon at the end of a five-day bargaining session.

Local 596 President Harold A. Grant listed alleged production speedups, along with minor local grievances, as the reasons behind the walkout.

With its supply of bodies halted, the Pontiac plant was forced to

Football Race Nears Close

NFL Division Crowns Could Be Decided in Weekend Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions will decide the Western Division title in the National Football League tomorrow at Chicago's Wrigley Field, but the Eastern Division race could drag out.

The Eastern Division race might not be decided until Dec. 23 if the Philadelphia Eagles happen to upset the New York Giants today in a nationally televised game at Philadelphia.

The Giants, however, would win the title if they beat or tie the Eagles. Should the Giants lose, Washington could sneak in by beating Pittsburgh tomorrow and Baltimore, Dec. 23. The championship game will be played at either Washington or New York Dec. 30.

With the exception of the Washington-Baltimore game, the NFL ends its schedule tomorrow with Baltimore at San Francisco, the Chicago Cardinals at Cleveland, and Green Bay at Los Angeles.

The Lions-Bears game is listed at even money although the Lions humiliated the Bears at Detroit a couple of weeks ago, 42-10.

Adults Urged to Start Polio Vaccine Shots Now

Medical authorities today strongly urged adults in Oakland County to begin their series of polio vaccine shots to be protected during next year's polio season.

Mrs. Ruth Parshall, resigning executive secretary of the Oakland County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said today that plenty of vaccine is available in the county.

"Our national headquarters in New York strongly urges stimulated participation of adults through 50 years of age in the program," she said.

Dr. Arch Walls, president of the Michigan State Medical Society, says the situation in Michigan is "critical." Some 19 million polio shots are available and will be wasted if the public doesn't take action now.

Dr. Arthur R. Young, retiring president of the Oakland County Medical Society, says county doctors are able to obtain the vaccine. "We have some on hand and have occasional call for it, but there isn't the response there should be. I'm sure there is a lot of stock on hand."

S. J. Cloonan, local pharmacist, says his concern doesn't have a great call from the doctors for the vaccine but they have had no trouble getting what they have ordered.

For children under 14 there is no charge for the vaccine itself, Mrs. Parshall said. For those over 14 a nominal charge is made for the vaccine and injections.

Families are urged to make arrangements with their family doctors to begin the series of three injections immediately.

WEEKLY CLINICS

If families are unable to make arrangements with a physician for children under 14, the Oakland County Health Department and the Pontiac City Health Department provide weekly clinics to administer the vaccine.

Mrs. Parshall said through the one season the vaccine has been on the market, the polio rate has been considerably reduced.

By Dec. 1, 14,980 cases of polio were reported in the United States. This compares with 28,587 cases a year ago. State figures are comparable. At Dec. 1 last year, 1,177 cases were reported and 667 cases were reported this year.

County figures verify the trend. Forty-two cases of polio were reported in Oakland County this year compared to 107 a year ago.

Mrs. Parshall observed that of the four deaths in the county this year, three were unvaccinated adults in their twenties and the other was a 15-year-old girl, also un-vaccinated. Twenty-five to 30 per cent of cases of polio are in adults, she said.

No paralytic polio was reported for those who had had the full series of polio vaccine.

To be properly protected, adults should have their first shots now, the second injection from two to six weeks later and the final injection from seven months to a year following, Mrs. Parshall added.

Dogs Have Gay Party

DALLAS (AP)—Bill Griffin visited the city animal shelter to play Santa Claus for 270 dogs now there awaiting a new home—or oblivion.

Griffin, a representative of the Kenl-L-Treats division of the Quaker Oats Co., had a box of the dog food for each dog, plus a Christmas stocking full of assorted dog goodies.

Officials of the shelter called it the gayest—and noisiest—party in the pound's history.

Four Arrested in Police Raid

After-Hours Purchase of Liquor Charged, Plus Morals Count

A Pontiac police raid early today at an alleged after-hours drinking place netted four arrests on liquor and morals charges, police said.

Facing arraignment today are William H. Stratton, 64, of 76 Wessen St.; Donald R. Simmons, 23, of 37 Park Pl.; Mabel M. Craig, 31, who lives at a downtown hotel, and Marie Davis, 34, who gave police the Wessen street address.

The four were arrested at 3:45 a.m. at Stratton's home, police said, by Lt. Douny Ashley, Sgt. Hugh Stimson, and Officers Gerald Navarre, Robert Gaines and William Young.

Navarre allegedly purchased two bottles of beer there after drinking hours, Vice Squad Lt. William Nesbitt said, before other officers arrived.

Stratton is charged with illegal sale of liquor. Simmons is charged with loitering. The two women are charged with morals offenses.

Former Justice to Be Examined

Court to Hear Charge of Immoral Approach to Vicksburg Man

Charles O. Williams, former Madison Heights Justice of the Peace, is free under $1,000 bond after demanding examination yesterday in Kalamazoo Municipal Court on a charge of gross indecency.

Judge Clark Olmsted scheduled next Wednesday for examination of a charge by a 30-year-old Vicksburg man that Williams approached him in an immoral manner Oct. 29.

Williams, 48, was arrested on the charge after his ouster Wednesday at a hearing before Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart on misconduct charges involving an 18-year-old Ferndale girl.

The girl, Patricia Dawn Slate, alleged Williams had made an immoral proposition to her when she asked him for help in freeing her boy friend, who had been jailed by Williams for stealing gasoline.

The girl tipped off police, saying that Williams suggested she accompany him to a motel to pay off the friend's $100 fine.

Police said Williams was arrested Nov. 26 as he signed the motel register. Williams later pleaded guilty to a charge of false motel registration. He paid a $100 fine.

Take Note, Men! Walking Sticks Are Now Okay

LONDON (AP)—A British medical journal today urged men to start using walking sticks.

"The walking stick," said the Lancet, "is the oldest, cheapest, simplest and most effective surgical appliance yet invented."

The medical journal said a walking stick helps a man keep an erect figure, insures proper balance and above all, makes him walk instead of habitually riding in automobiles, buses, and trains.

"Men should rid themselves of the idea that a walking stick is a symbol of infirmity and regard it as a friend," said the magazine.

Steps in Front of Car, Suffers Minor Bruises

Sylvia Perry, 33, of Ortonville, suffered minor elbow and leg bruises when she dropped to the pavement after stepping off a curb yesterday, Pontiac police said, into the path of a moving car.

She was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for injuries suffered at Wayne and Clinton streets.

The driver, Kenneth E. Wright, 18, of 632 Markle St., was not held.

Perfect rubies are more rare than perfect diamonds.

Big Turnout Seen at Waterford

Kiddies to Attend Yule Party

"Terrific response" to a questionnaire inviting Waterford Township school children to tomorrow's Lions Club-sponsored Christmas party at the C.A.I. Building has made it necessary to schedule a "show time" for three residential areas, club officials said today.

At 2 p.m., children from the Drayton Plains area will see the professional Christmas show. The second show begins at three p.m. and will include all children south of M59.

The 4 p.m. show will include all other areas of the Waterford school district.

Officials ask that guests abide by the schedule due to the traffic and parking problem that is involved. Waterford Township police plan to have several men on duty to help control traffic, Chief Frank Van Atta said.

* * *

One ton (3,500 bags) of Christmas candy is ready to be distributed by four Santas. A truckload of toys will be given to the children, according to Seymour Karp and Co-Chairman Mel Hale.

* * *

Karp said that the Lion's club expected some 2,500 children, but sent questionnaires to all schools this week "just to make sure."

* * *

By noon Friday over 4,250 invitations had been accepted.

Only youngsters in the Waterford township School district will be permitted to attend the party due to the unexpected multitude anticipated by the club.

Storms Bog Traffic in Northeastern U. S.

Most highways were said to be clear except for some side roads.

The fog reportedly had its effect on all of Southern Michigan and the Chicago sector with air operations halted, traffic slowed down, and water movements hampered.

The same was true at the Pontiac airport where no planes were able to land or take off due to the greatly decreased visibility. Airport officials were hopeful a Southeast wind would lift the fog this afternoon.

* * *

Some Great Lakes freighters dropped anchor to wait for the fog to clear.

Visibility was so poor on the Willow Run Expressway near Detroit that several truck drivers pulled off the road and slept in hope of improved conditions.

* * *

The Northeast storm left sleet and as much as a foot of snow throughout New England where two youths were killed in accident near Raynham, Mass.

Four traffic fatalities occurred in New York City during a steady rainfall, while some sections of Rensselaer County had 11 inches of snow.

The New Jersey storm knocked out power and telephone lines and felled trees across several highways.

The Eastern Plains states and Ohio were also hit by wet and foggy weather. Snow fell in parts of the Great Lakes region with more of the white stuff forecast for the Upper Mississippi Valley, and in parts of the Central Plains and Middle Mississippi Valley.

* * *

It was cloudy and rainy in the Pacific Coast and generally fair in the Rockies.

Army Investigates Story of German

Hold U.S. Trio in Soviet Prison Camp?

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
(AP Bureau Chief in Berlin)

BERLIN (AP) — The tall, slim German looked around nervously and said: "I've got a message from three Americans held prisoner by the Russians in a camp near Leningrad."

* * *

This sort of thing happens often in this city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Sometimes the reports are true. More often they are peddled by refugees desperate for money.

* * *

This story sounded more convincing than most. The German, who lives in the Communist East, risked his neck to bring the report in and asked nothing in return.

"Up until the spring," he said, "I was held in a Soviet camp for foreigners at Lipschinskaya near Leningrad. It was a camp to receive prisoners who became sick in the slave labor camps.

"Early this year four Americans were brought to the camp. They were arrested in East Germany in 1945 on charges of being spies. They were sentenced to 20 years of hard labor by a Russian military court in Brest-Litovsk and sent to the Novo Sibirsk camp in Siberia.

* * *

"Three days after the Americans were brought to Lipschinskaya, one of them died. His name was Dean Kelly. He lived in Detroit. His father was the owner of drugstore and his brother was a teacher at the Detroit Technical High School."

* * *

No relatives of Dean Kelly could be located in Detroit. He was not listed in Wayne County voting or birth records.

The German said the other three Americans, still alive, were: William Seals, 39, of New York City; Fred Thompson, 36, of Philadelphia; Donald Oswell, age unknown, also of Philadelphia.

Just before he left Lipschinskaya, the German said, the Americans pleaded with him to get out word about them. The German had trouble getting personal details from them because he knew only a little English.

He gave the information about the Americans to the German Red Cross as well as a reporter. "I didn't contact U. S. officials because I didn't want it to be thought I was an agent," he said.

* * *

The U. S. Army command in Berlin said the four names given by the German do not appear on their lists of missing soldiers. This includes men known to have deserted into the East German zone since World War II. The Army is checking further.

Efforts to trace the other names listed by the informant in the United States proved fruitless.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Joseph G. Beal

Mrs. Joseph B. (Mary Agnes) Beal, 73, of 1812 Commonwealth St. died yesterday afternoon. She had been in ill health 20 years.

Born in Wellington, Ohio on Sept. 11, 1883, she was the daughter of Augustus and Mary Jane Eno Dorchester. The Beals were married on March 18, 1903 in Wellington, Ohio. She came here from Ridgeville, Ohio, 14 years ago.

Surviving are her husband; one son, Carlton Beal of Elyria, Ohio; five daughters, Mrs. Gladys Wheatley of Wellington, Mrs. Ernestine Chapin of Vermillion, Ohio, Mrs. Dorothea Lamoreaux of Elyria, Mrs. Jean Janis and Mrs. Isabel Riegelsberger, both of Pontiac.

Service will be at 11 a.m. Monday from the Pursley Funeral Home with the Rev. Donald Olsen of the First Baptist Church, Rochester officiating. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Harry Coulthurst

Service for Mrs. Harry (Hilda Mae) Coulthurst, 72, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from St. Andrew Episcopal Church, with burial in Drayton Plains Cemetery. She died Friday at Williams Lake. The body will be at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home until noon Monday.

Mrs. Coulthurst was a former Pontiac resident. She is survived by her husband and three daughters, Mrs. Gordon Bryce of Williams Lake, and Mrs. Mel Austin and Mrs. J. C. Hayes, both of California.

Eli C. Harrington

Eli C. Harrington, 74, of 252 Cottage St. died yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of two years.

He was born in Cheboygan on April 29, 1882 to Charles and Alvira Jones Harrington. In December 1908, he married the former, Elsie Jucket in Cheboygan.

A resident of Pontiac for 32 years, Mr. Harrington had retired from Columbia Non-Ferrous Foundry & Machine Co. He came here from Detroit.

Besides his wife, he leaves seven children, Lyman of Cadillac, Mrs. Leo Thomas of Columbia, Ga., Orville of Rochester, Mrs. Joseph Hawley of Oak Harbor, Ohio, and Mrs. Max Brown, Leslie and Lila Harrington, all of Pontiac.

Other survivors include 26 grandchildren; a brother, Alfred Harrington, of Cheboygan and a sister, Mrs. Ettie Jewell, of Onaway.

Service will be at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Voorhees-Siple Chapel. Elder Roland Curtis of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will officiate. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Donald Moore

Donald Moore, 52, of 22 Beaudette St. died Tuesday in Bloomfield Hospital. He had been ill several years.

Born in Little Rock, Ark. in 1904, he was the son of Donald and Fannie Ingram Moore.

He attended Arkansas Baptist College, in Little Rock, coming here 32 years ago. He was a carpenter.

Mr. Moore is survived by a brother, Bruce, of Little Rock and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Harrod, of Brookland, N. Y.

Prayer service will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the William F. Davis Funeral Home with the Rev. J. Allen Parker of the Newman A. M. E. Church officiating. Friends may call at the funeral home after 3:30 this afternoon.

Negotiators Resume Effort to End Strike

shut down its production line Wednesday morning, sending 2,200 workers home.

Another 1,100 Pontiac foundry workers were laid off Thursday night.

A company spokesman said yesterday that remaining workers will be employed as long as stock-piled materials lasted, but feared an additional 2,000 to 3,000 workers would be idled Monday.

Hundreds of Fisher body workers queued up at the strike-bound Baldwin avenue plant yesterday to pick up pay checks for last week's work. There were no demonstrations.

Pontiac police have reported picketing has been quiet throughout the strike.

If no settlement is reached at today's bargaining table, the decision whether to continue talks tomorrow will be made at the end of today's meeting.

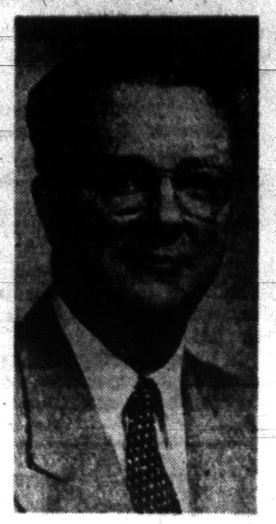

Children Suffer Cuts in Auto Accident

Two children suffered facial cuts when the car they were in was rammed from behind at a W. Huron street traffic light, Pontiac police said.

McArthur Twilley, 3, and his sister, Cheryl Ann, 1, both of 293 Crystal Lake Dr. were released after treatment at Pontiac General Hospital.

They were with Basil E. Van Gilder, 34, of 3341 Bathhurst Rd., who was stopped for the light at S. Johnson avenue, police said.

David L. Smith, 28, of 532 Howland Ave., the other driver, was ticketed for defective brakes.

FLOYD N. MORTENSON

Masons to Install Floyd N. Mortenson

Brotherhood Lodge No. 561 Free and Accepted Masons will honor new Worshipful Master Floyd N. Mortenson at its annual installation of officers to be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the Roosevelt Temple.

Francis M. Dodge, of Detroit, Grand Master of Masons in Michigan, will serve as installing officer at the affair which is open to Masons and their friends.

Other officers to be installed are: Joshua P. Hebenton, senior warden; Royal Clark, junior warden; D. R. Lazelle, treasurer; Clayton O. Lovelace, secretary; Harold E. White, chaplain; Raymond A. Boatright, senior deacon; Thomas C. Cox, junior deacon; and A. Kenneth Hinshaw, marshal.

Also, Cyril M. Pelican, tiler; and stewards Wayne G. Santala, Marcus L. Bleckley, William C. Cox, Robert E. Field, John R. Sullenger, and J. B. Wilder.

Nine Persons Hurt in 2 Car Accident

A Milford family of six and three Detroit persons were hurt in a two-car accident on M59 at Ormond road in White Lake Township last night.

* * *

Mrs. Ethel M. Chesser, 27, and her son Dale, 6, of 1555 Googie Lake Rd., Milford, are still under treatment at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries. The others were released after treatment.

* * *

They were: Clendon C. Chesser, one of the drivers, his three daughters; Mave J., 8, Donna L., 2, and Marsha L., 3, Frances M. Perrault, 38, the other driver, Frank Koss, 67, and Frances E. Koss, 62.

* * *

Chesser told investigating Oakland County deputies he was slowing down for the intersection when the Perrault car pulled in front of him making it impossible for him to stop in time.

Driver Training Pupils to Help Curb Accidents

Driver training students at Pontiac High School will do their part to curb traffic accidents in the area during the Christmas holidays.

* * *

Heading their list of Christmas projects is the placing of signs in the gas stations around Pontiac. The signs provided by the National Safety Council say "Drunk Drivers Go to Jail."

The class is taught by George Stewart.

The Day in Birmingham

Two Men Escape Death; Couples Trade Homes

BIRMINGHAM — Two men narrowly escaped death Friday night in a crash on Hunter boulevard at the Hamilton street crossover.

Police said the vanette driven by Harold P. Cornell, 64, of 339 Townsend St. was completely demolished. The car driven by William K. Rankin, 34, of 3606 Hunter St., Royal Oak, is nearly a total loss.

Rankin, traveling south on Hunter, struck Cornell's small truck as he drove west at the Hamilton cutoff. A tool box was thrown from the cab through the front door of the Hunter House, some distance away.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said, "Rankin, traveling at a high rate of speed, sustained head and knee injuries." He was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac.

Cornell suffered only lacerations of one leg.

Something new has been added in the idea of holiday vacationing.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. MacLeesh who moved to Scarsdale, N. Y., about a year ago, have returned to Birmingham for the holiday wedding of their daughter, Janet to John Laidlaw of Highland Park.

They are occupying the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Eustis, 371 Linda. The Eustises are occupying the MacLeesh home in Scarsdale, to be near their children, who are all on the Atlantic Coast.

* * *

Mrs. Alice Burlingame will entertain 25 members of the Happy Garden Club, Pontiac State Hospital, at her home Wednesday. The group is part of the Horticultural Therapy program and is sponsored by the Walnut Lake Farm and Garden Club. Chapter BQ, PEO are hosts for the occasion.

* * *

Annie J. Nelson of 328 Hugh St., Pontiac, entered a plea of guilty in Birmingham Municipal Court Friday. The girl was charged with taking $60 from the home of Mrs. Robert Starnes, 592 Bird St.

Judge John J. Gafill gave her an alternative of a $40 fine plus $15 costs or 30 days in the Oakland County Jail.

* * *

There will be no special meeting in December for Birmingham Chapter 220 OES. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 2.

* * *

White Gift Services will be held in First Presbyterian Church at 5 p.m. tomorrow. The traditional service features the "Christmas Story" as told in the Bible, under the direction of Mrs. Loren Blunt.

Phyllis Gardner will direct the Crusader and Chapel Choirs in the singing of favorite Christmas Carols. Gifts of money will be used for the relief of war victims in Hungary and Egypt.

Clothing toys and food gifts will be distributed through Presbyterian Mission stations and the Hungarian Reformed Church in Detroit.

* * *

The annual Christmas Concert of Birmingham Hi-12 will be presented next Monday evening at the Community Hall.

Victor Ulrich will again direct the Birmingham High School a Capella Choir.

16 City Students Eligible to Enter K. of P. Contest

Sixteen Pontiac High School students who are eligible to take part in the annual Knights of Pythias public speaking contest being held throughout the nation in January will be guests of the Pythians and Pythian sisters of local Lodge 19 Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Lodge Hall.

* * *

Pythian members will stage an entertainment program for the students who won recent oratorical contests at the school.

Further eliminations are expected to slice the group to four when district competition gets underway next month. The Pontiac youths will be vieing with students representing Fellowship Lodge No. 277 and Oxford Lodge No. 108 for district honors.

* * *

"Youth Looks at the Future" will be the subject to be discussed by all students in the twelfth annual contest. District winners will meet later to battle for state honors at Lansing. The international finals are set for Memphis, Tenn., next August.

* * *

A total of $3,500 in college scholarships will be presented as prizes for the outstanding entries with winners given their choice of any college or university. The first prize will be a $1,500 scholarship, the second is for $750, and third $500. The other three contestants to reach the 1957 finals will each receive $250 scholarships.

Reveals New Plans for Water Output

Plans to boost the output of the south Oakland County Water Authority to meet the needs of the county's growing population were revealed today by Donald G. Egbert, engineer-director of the authority.

* * *

Egbert said that the system, now pumping about 16 million gallons of water a day, should be boosted to pump at least 55 to 70 million gallons daily. A population increase of 84,300 by 1970 demands the system's expansion, he said.

Egbert said that no estimate has been made yet on the probable cost of installing additional pumps, mains and reservoirs.

Police Keep Watch on City's Churches

Pontiac police kept a watchful eye on city churches last night, Insp. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said, after the discovery yesterday of two church breakins.

Both breakins occurred Thursday night, he said.

At the First Congregational Church, 65 E. Huron St., attempts failed to open an office safe with tools found in the building, police said.

Nothing was reported missing, although the minister's office, secretary's office and kitchen were ransacked. Entry was gained by forcing a gymnasium window, officers said.

Some small change was believed stolen from the missionary box of the First Church of Nazarene, 60 State St., police said. An office cabinet was ransacked, they said, but nothing stolen.

City Woman Treated After Being Struck

Lena Barling, 68, of 22 Cadillac St., was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital after she was struck by a car at West Huron St. and Telegraph Rd. last night.

Driver of the car, Ilene Cole, of 232 North Perry St., told Waterford Police that she was making a left turn off of Telegraph and didn't see the pedestrian. She was not held.

Lake Orion Site to Be Staffed in '57

Broomfield Opens Congressional Office

Congressman-elect William S. Broomfield yesterday announced the opening of a North Oakland County congressional office in Lake Orion.

"This office, as well as the office we have planned in South Oakland County, will provide county citizens with quick, easy access to me in Washington," Broomfield said.

"I urge any county citizen who has a question about federal legislation, or any problem I can help him with, to call the office."

The newly-decorated office at 504 S. Broadway Ave., donated to Broomfield by Lake Orion realtor Fred Ruge, will be open for inspection by area residents tomorrow from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

* * *

A permanent full-time secretary, Mildred Ballagh of Lake Orion, will keep office hours from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. after the first of the year, Broomfield said.

Opening offices in the north and south ends of the county was a Broomfield campaign promise before his election Nov. 6. Location for the south end office has not yet been decided, he said, but the office will definitely open "in the near future."

The new congressman and his family will leave for Washington Dec. 27. Broomfield has been assigned an office in the new House Office Building, near the office of retiring Congressman George A. Dondero.

WALLACE MORGAN

Knights of Pythias Announce Officers

A full slate of officers to serve during the coming year was announced today by the Pontiac Lodge No. 19 Knights of Pythias following a recent election.

* * *

Wallace Morgan was named to the post of chancellor commander as head of the Lodge. Others chosen were as follows: Donald Eakle, vice-chancellor; A. J. Roy Jr., prelate; Andrew McEvoy, secretary; Walter Carpenter, financial secretary; Carl Aenige, treasurer; Leonard Roebke, master at arms; Harold Welch, inner guard; Maynard Winkley, selected to serve three years on the executive board.

* * *

A. J. Roy Sr., was appointed the delegate for the grand lodge convention with J. L. Wagoner as alternate.

Plans were discussed at the meeting for taking part in the annual nationwide public speaking contest for high school students and also for the distribution of Christmas baskets to the needy.

Gets Stern Sentence in North Korean Court

TOKYO (AP) — The Pyongyang radio said today Communist North Korea's Supreme Court had "pronounced a stern verdict" on a South Korean who was charged with seeking to stir up a Hungarian type rebellion.

The South Korean was identified as Pak Choon Keuk. The broadcast charged he was a U.S.-trained intelligence agent ordered into North Korea to organize a revolt "similar to that which occurred in Hungary." It gave no details of the sentence.

Free NAACP Head Pending Tax Probe

ATLANTA (AP) — The president of the Atlanta branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People was free temporarily today "pending full and complete compliance" with a court order to produce financial records of the organization for state revenue agents.

John H. Calhoun, president of the local chapter, was jailed yesterday for "willful contempt" of court after Judge Durwood T. Pye of Fulton Superior Court ordered him held without bond until NAACP records were made available to the state for tax levying purposes.

Two hours after he went to jail Calhoun agreed to open the records to revenue agents and was taken to NAACP headquarters in custody of deputy sheriff.

Pye ordered Calhoun's commitment suspended temporarily "pending full and complete compliance."

Rolling Thief Leaves City Fathers Carless

KENILWORTH, N.J. (AP)—A pack of city officials took to their heels the other morning.

They had to. Stolen in the same morning were:

The car of borough clerk Philip McGevna; the car of superintendent of roads James Rego; a city payloader tractor.

Thieves apparently didn't know George Conklin was no longer police chief for his car was stolen, too.

Senator Recto to Run

MANILA (AP) — Sen. Claro M. Recto, long a critic of President Magsaysay's administration, said today he will run for president in next November's elections.

THE ANIMALS' CHRISTMAS By Walt Scott

English Yule Alive With Pageantry

LONDON — England rolls out 1,000 years of pageantry for Christmas. Tradition in this land of plum pudding, holly and Yule logs knows no bounds when carolers from Trafalgar Square to village green proclaim: "'Tis the season to be jolly."

Mummers enact the story of St. George and the Dragon in Cotswold towns, and sword dancers tap their heels on icy streets in Yorkshire. Villagers in Dunster light the Ashen Faggot on the hearth, and the sexton of Dewsbury tolls the Devil's Knell to give the New Year an auspicious start. Men gather for their Christmas pipe smoking in Ilchester, and youngsters scamper for bright new pennies on the cobblestones of Sherborne.

* * *

Customs vary, but the spirit is festive from John O'Groats to Land's End. Typical of Christmas in London are the Pantomimes, delightful concoctions of vaudeville and fairy tales. Productions have all the gaudy fanfare of a Broadway musical, but staging follows rigid tradition. Girls play the parts of boys and vice versa.

Leading actors will cavort about the stage this year in such classics as Humpty Dumpty, Puss in Boots and Cinderella. Virtue will triumph, and adults will laugh as loudly as children at the antics of clowns, acrobats and magicians.

The Pantos share the Christmas spotlight with dozens of plays, opera and ballet. The Bertram Mills Circus and Tom Arnold's Circus will also be in town at this season. Carol concerts will be presented at Royal Albert Hall on the weekend before Christmas.

Both the midnight service at Westminster Abbey and the Watch Night Service at St. Paul's are splendid Christmas Eve spectacles.

TRAFALGAR SQUARE TREE

Like Parisians in the Place Vendome and New Yorkers in Washington Square, Londoners gather for caroling in the glow of the Norwegian Christmas tree in Trafalgar Square. Inside the old Tower of London, spectators assemble to hear choir boys in red cassocks and white surplices sing their hymns by lantern light.

* * *

One of the most magnificent Christmas scenes in England takes place beneath the blitzed ruins of Coventry Cathedral. Here, in the moonlight, choristers raise their voices in the Fifteenth Century "Lully, lulla, thou little tiny child, By, by, lully, lullay."

Famous, too, is the Bach Choir Candlelight Concert in the city of Bath, and the carol service in the old market place of St. Albans, Yorkshire has its bands of wassailers who roam the snowy gas-lit streets serenading the villagers with this popular ditty: "I wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. A hole in ma stocking, A hole in ma shoe, Please can you spare a copper or two? If ye haven't a penny, A ha-penny will do; And if you haven't a ha-penny, God bless you!"

Like the holiday customs, Christmas fare varies across the British Isles. Each locality prepares its specialties. Pikelets or glorified pancakes are served at tea in the Midlands, and Yorkshire has its rich spice cake with candied peels and currants. Cornwall boasts saffron and currant cookies, and Durham has its doll-like pastry. Country inns lure their guests with notices of "Christmas Fare" — roast turkey or goose topped by plum pudding and trimmed with a sprig of holly.

Dining in the medieval style takes place at Queen's College, Oxford, on Christmas Day. A hunting horn summons the diners to the Great Hall, and a herald and four bearers carry in a ceremonial boar's head on a great silver tray. After a Latin refrain, an orange from the boar's jaws is given to the herald and holly is presented to the townspeople.

Call Off Grand Jury but NBC Suit Still On

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department was reported today to have called off a Philadelphia federal grand jury investigation into television station holdings of the National Broadcasting Co.

The action, it was understood, followed the filing of a government civil antitrust suit last week against NBC and its parent firm, Radio Corp. of America.

That suit, filed in U. S. District Court in Philadelphia, charged unlawful use of NBC's power to grant or withhold network affiliations in connection with acquisition of TV outlets in important metropolitan areas.

The suit seeks to cancel a trade early this year in which NBC swapped outlets in Cleveland, Ohio, for Philadelphia stations owned by the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.

The government charges Westinghouse was threatened with loss of NBC network affiliation if the trade was not carried out.

Brucker Gets Award

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sertoma International, a civic service club, has selected Secretary of the Army Brucker for its annual "American Way Award."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

TOYS - 6

A Clown

People have always liked to make toy clowns. Here is one you can make.

Color the picture with crayons. Give the clown a red cap and blue slippers. Spot his costume with red dots. Color the straps for his feet with red roses and green leaves above the crossed straps. Then paste it on cardboard and cut out the parts. Slit the tabs at the bottom of the legs and poke them through the shoes, bringing one point forward and one back as shown in the sketch at the right. Then paste them firmly to the bottom of the big shoes.

Cut out the two pairs of straps at the left. Fold them forward on the dotted line. Paste the fancy ones in front and place the plain ones in the back in the same way. These make strong braces for the figure. Fasten a penny securely with gummed paper on the bottom of each shoe in the middle.

After you have balanced the figure properly you can toss it gently in the air and it will come down squarely on its feet.

(First to contribute this idea was Nancy Hawkins, Chardon, Ohio. If you send a usable idea in care of this newspaper you may win the Junior Editors $10 award. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Satellites to Carry Tiny Subsatellites

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the earth satellites which will be fired hundreds of miles into the air during the 1957-1958 International Geophysical Year will carry "subsatellites," it was announced today.

* * *

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics said the subsatellites, weighing only 10½ ounces, will be inflated automatically after being ejected from a rocket booster. This booster will be the third and last of a series designed to send the main satellite to its maximum altitude some 300 miles above the earth.

In its announcement, NACA said the subsatellite "will be especially valuable in measurement of the density of air in the extreme outer limits of the earth's atmosphere and in determining the satellite's drag."

* * *

Made of aluminum-coated plastic, the subsatellites will be inflated to a diameter of 20 inches, the same as the satellite itself.

Swedish steamship yards seldom build passenger vessels. They concentrate on large motor freighters and tankers.

Tall Redhead Replaces Ex-Broadway Blonde

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The new Jayne Mansfield of Broadway is the tall, red-haired traffic-stopper named Tina Louise, who undergoes hypnotic-suggestion to become "the greatest actress in the world."

There's nothing tiny about Tina, and the menfolk literally gasp when she bounces on stage in "Li'l Abner." When she struts down Fifth avenue, it's even worse. Sewer-diggers freeze their pickaxes in midair and scream "Hey, Red!" at this gorgeous giantess who, for fun, may strip off her mink coat and go over to a hole in the street and dig with them.

Naturally, they dig her after that—Tina from TV, who at 22 has paraphrased the modern Broadway girl's philosophy about not wearing too many clothes.

TINA

"Leave a little to the man's imagination—but don't tax it too much," is Tina's advice.

★ ★ ★

Tina was discovered by the late John Murray Anderson, the director, who heard pretty well-founded rumors that Tina was forgetting most of the time to wear anything around the dressing room when she was in "Almanac." Maybe this was why he gave her the nickname, "The Pretty Girl."

Since she decorates many a magazine now and is ogled around the world, I asked her how a common fan could get a date with her. Just by calling her up?

Suppose Tyrone Power called you for a date—and you'd never met him?" I asked.

"If it were Tyrone Power, I'd say yes!" She looked quite happy about such a prospect.

★ ★ ★

"But suppose your mother answered the phone?"

"Mother'd go out with him and not tell me!"

Five years ago she and her mother were buying ties in a shop when a boy about her own age, also shopping, addressed a few words to her. "He left the store and my heart dropped, but when he came back to get his glasses my face lit up."

"I guess he appealed to my mother too, for she invited him to the house for dinner," Tina said. Thus began a long friendship with actor Jerry Lazarre, but they're not engaged. Lately she's been seeing the Duke of Imperia, whom she's told that he can mean a lot more to her if he'll get her a white baby grand piano for Christmas. She needs it to complete her apartment. Anybody else having a spare white baby grand, get in touch with me.

"I think I only like dark-haired men," says Tina. "Bald-headed men? Well . . . no, unless it's Yul Brynner.

★ ★ ★

"He's got a fabulous bone structure. I don't know whether he'd be interesting with hair."

Tina says, "I hypnotize myself all the time before I go on stage. It's a way of getting away from myself and being somebody else in this part."

She took some lessons at the Academy of Hypnotism and learned that she could send herself thought waves that would change her from her naturally serious personality to a light-brained, giggly type which she portrays in "Li'l Abner."

"And when I'm tired I hypnotize myself and refresh myself completely in five minutes without sleeping," she says.

Tina's 5-8½, weighs 135, and measures 37½-24-37. She's been Jan Murray's helper on his TV show and has also done a Joe & Mabel series, and she's been a cafe canary, singing at Ciro's in Hollywood and at the Cupidon here.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Frank Sinatra will make a film in France after his Australian tour . . . Jessel, Durante and Benny play themselves in the "Beau James" film. Bob Hope told them, "You're a little old for the part, but I guess you'll have to do" . . . Singer Frances Wayne, out of retirement after eight years, has film bids.

Producer David Merrick will have a "Paul Revere" character ride from N. Y. to Boston to publicize "Fanny" . . . If June Taylor's TV bio is a musical Sheree North may star; if a drama, they want Eva Marie Saint.

Gerold ("I'll Cry Tomorrow") Frank is Rudy Vallee's latest choice to help with his bio . . . Edith Piaf, who pays $25 for her gowns, splurged—paid $50 for one for her Carnegie Hall recital . . . Lenka Peterson, who plays an 18-year-old in "Girls of Summer," has four children.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Rusty Draper says that some movie houses showing these very long films now offer orchestra seats, balcony seats and upper berths.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: By the time a husband discovers what his wife saw in him, it's all spent.—John J. Plomp, Detroit.

Contest Results in City Premiere of Movie Dec. 30

The movie premiere of "Rock Pretty Baby" will be held in Pontiac Dec. 30 as Nancy Donaldson, 15, of 153 W. Lawrence St. was awarded first place in a nationwide "Win a Date With Sal Mineo" contest sponsored by Photoplay magazine.

* * *

Nancy, a sophomore at Pontiac High School, and daughter of Mayor and Mrs. William Donaldson, sold the judges on why she should have a date with the 17-year-old Hollywood actor.

In her entry, she specified the Pontiac Foundation, and its efforts to get a civic auditorium, as her favorite charity. Naming a charity was a second rule of the contest, which attracted some 2,500 contestants.

Although plans as yet are not formalized, Nancy will be escorted by Mineo to the first showing scheduled for one of the local theaters.

* * *

Besides the movie, another event will be held, possibly a teenage "platter party," at which Mineo will appear.

Traditionalists Claim Success Where Western Doctors Fail

Old Medical 'Cures' Popular Again in Red China

(Editor's Note: David Lancashire's extensive travels in Communist China took him to a hospital, where he found a strange mixture of Western Techniques and centuries-old practice. He tells about it in his dispatch, last in a series this week.

By DAVID LANCASHIER

PEIPING (AP)—Is your circulation a little sluggish? Got that tired, rundown feeling? Then take the bones from a tiger, grind up fine and eat.

Got the sniffles? Munch a pill made from a ground-up centipede.

Your aching back? Well, dried beetles are an excellent pain killer.

* * *

Doctors in Communist China say these remedies — taken from Chinese medical journals written before the birth of Christ — actually work. In Peiping the traditionalist doctors who use the remedies are taking business away from Western-trained medicos.

"The Chinese physicians have been practicing 3,000 years, but this is the first time they have ever had a hospital of their own," said Dr. Wei Ching-ming, director of the Hospital of Chinese Medicine.

* * *

Most of our patients have already been treated in Western-method hospitals and have come out uncured. We take them in here, and the percentage of successful cures is really quite amazing."

The hospital, with tilting Chinese roofs and flower-filled courtyards, is set in a block of Chinese summer houses built during the Ming Dynasty 500 years ago.

* * *

Its offices and diagnosis rooms are filled with glass-fronted bookcases containing medical textbooks thousands of years old, printed in flowing Chinese script on rice paper. They contain herbal recipes and general remedies which clash with practically every principle of modern medicine.

Dr. Wei is a Western-style surgeon, trained in a Japanese college. Here he serves strictly in an administrative capacity, while the traditionalists do the practicing.

* * *

"We have 13 Western doctors on the staff here, and 51 traditional men," he said. "But the Westerners' job is only diagnosis, and sometimes they take X-rays. Consultations are held between the two schools, but the traditionalists do the work."

"A traditional doctor can do many things an orthodox man can't. But he has no theoretical knowledge at all," Dr. Wei said.

"Now the Communists have decided that Chinese medicine should be developed even further. Since 1950, almost all the hospitals in Peiping have established traditional clinics, and Western and ancient doctors are exchanging information."

Dr. Tang Chun-san is a 65-year-old practitioner of the old system. He observed:

"Foreigners are inclined to consider us as quacks. That's ridiculous. It takes us far longer to learn traditional medicine than a Western doctor spends in school.

* * *

At the moment, Dr. Tang was working on a patient suffering from nervous exhaustion. He had been discharged by a Western hospital around the corner. The doctor was giving the resigned-looking man a rubdown.

"For neurasthenia, the Westerners give a patient medicine and make him sleep it off," said Dr. Tang. "Here, we use massage.

* * *

"A few weeks ago, a patient in one of the Western hospitals was due to have his leg cut off. It was paralyzed. We don't believe in amputation.

"We brought the man in here and treated him for a few days with herbs. He's up and walking around now — not walking very well, but he has both legs."

* * *

Aside from the use of medicines made from tiger bones and tiger urine, dried bugs, frog powder, powdered deer horns and dehydraged snakes, about the strangest practice is acupuncture, the science of needle treatment.

By pricking the patient with long, springy needles, the medicine men say they have succeeded in curing deafness, paralysis, nervous disorders, and have even achieved a certain amount of success with polio.

In other Peiping hospitals, a patient is given a choice of technique. The diagnosis of the two teams is often the same, the Westerners working with their school knowledge and the traditionalists measuring heartbeat rhythms with a method developed in the Tang Dynasty.

* * *

"We had a man from Pakistan in here not long ago," said director Wei. "He had been in and out of modern hospitals all over the world for the past 30 years, but the internal disorders persisted.

"I took a look at him and could not do a thing. The traditionalists took over and cured him in a matter of days."

He paused, then added: "Amazing."

At that time there were less than 400 students, many of whom tied their horses in a grove of trees down the hill.

This year 2,200 students are enrolled and 1,170 of them own their own cars. Not a single horse was registered

Magloire Begins Jamaican Exile

Ex-President of Haiti Resigns Generalship of Army

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Former President Paul Magloire has begun his exile in Jamaica after being forced out of Haiti by a determined sitdown strike.

Magloire and nine members of his family reached Kingston after a flight from Port au Prince in a Haitian army plane. The ex-president declined to make any statement on his arrival in Jamaica, saying only that his plans were indefinite.

* * *

Magloire was the first president in Haiti's history named directly by the people. His term ended Dec. 6 but he tried to continue in power as "chief of state." The nation reacted promptly with three days of sitdown strikes that brought all normal activity virtually to a halt.

* * *

Wednesday night Magloire gave in to the "cold revolution" and stepped down as chief of state. The strike continued until his plans to leave the country were announced. That word touched off a wild celebration.

A radio announcement also said Magloire had resigned as an army general at the demand of both officers and enlisted men.

As provided in this little Caribbean republic's constitution, the president of the Supreme Court, Joseph Nemours Pierre-Louis, took over the office of the presidency.

Condemn Dickinson Jail

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — The 60-year-old Dickinson County Jail here has been condemned by the Michigan Corrections Commission as "unfit for human occupancy." A hearing will be held next month on where alternate facilities might be found. The jail, built in 1896, houses 30 inmates.

Probe Alleged Bomb, Find Toy Santa Claus

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A noisy little Santa Claus had U.S. postal workers looking for a "bomb" in a ticking package at the main post office.

Workers isolated the package and gingerly opened it—to find a battery-operated Santa Claus toy buzzing away.

Work Week Shortened

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—City police and firemen will go on shorter work weeks after Jan. 1. The City Commission ordered that 10 men be added to each force to make up sufficient strength. Police who now work 48 hours a week will go on a 44-hour schedule and firemen, who work 73 hours, will work 67 hours a week.

Farmers in 24 States Reject Control Plan

"Corn acreage allotments," Agriculture Secretary Benson said on November 9, "have not been effective either as a way for individual farmers to qualify for price supports or as a means to secure production adjustments."

Nevertheless, farmers on December 11 rejected a new corn control program advanced by the Secretary. The plan had been suggested because the old one, based on a 1938 farm law, resulted in sharply reduced allotments and widespread overplanting and non-compliance. The only penalty for failing to comply with allotments is loss of eligibility for price supports.

★ ★ ★

The proposed Soil Bank corn base acreage program which was in effect this year, would have provided (1) 51,000,000 acres in the base acreage program each year through 1959; (2) The price support level would be fixed each year by the Secretary of Agriculture as provided in the 1956 farm act; (3) Farmers would have to take part in the Soil Bank in some way.

★ ★ ★

For 1957, Secretary Benson had set the support level under this program at an average of $1.31 a bushel. This is about 74 per cent of parity. To have taken part in the program, farmers would put at least 15 per cent of their normal corn acreage into reserve annual contracts.

According to Director of Agriculture Research Sherman E. Johnson, today's farmers are producing nearly enough for the expected normal markets of 1960. So, it would seem, that we will continue to pile up unwanted surpluses.

★ ★ ★

The Administration had hoped to keep new farm legislation to a minimum with a view to giving the flexible price support system and the new $1.2 billion annual soil bank payments program a further trial. But there will be new political battles over farm programs.

Lineup of 85th Session Not Much of a Change

When Congress convenes on January 3 with Democrats in control of the House, President Eisenhower can expect continued bipartisan support on foreign policy and continued friction on domestic matters.

On foreign policy, 280 out of 435 Representatives—174 Democrats, 106 Republicans—are likely to support the President most of the time. More than 77 (35 Democrats and 42 Republicans) will oppose him as much as they support him, according to a Congressional Quarterly survey.

★ ★ ★

The President can count on broad support from 215 Representatives—29 Democrats and 187 Republicans—on domestic programs. Opposing him most of the time will be 22 Democrats. Somewhere in between will be the large majority of Democrats, 182 and 12 Republicans. On domestic matters President Eisenhower will need the votes of some Democrats in addition to those of a large majority of Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Although details of the Administration's legislative program must await the State of the Union message, certain issues can be anticipated. They include school aid, civil rights, natural gas, atomic power and farm price supports.

Southern Democrats, of course, will vote solidly against civil rights proposals. Northern Democrats will probably vote against the Administration's economic and social programs, which they think inadequate. Both parties are sharply divided on foreign aid and protective tariffs.

★ ★ ★

The nine Democrats who ousted Republicans may give less support to the President on domestic issues, says CQ However, the eight Republicans who ousted Democrats will give more support, so there will not be much change in domestic matters. But on the question of foreign aid, the President is likely to encounter increasing opposition.

So it seems that the Administration will face about the same kind of support and opposition in the 85th Congress as it encountered in the last.

The People's Business:

Poor Pay Policy

Big State Positions Offer Inadequate Salaries

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—Did you know there's an enterprise in Michigan returning an annual profit of about $45,000,000 which is directed by an executive officer paid a salary of $9,000?

★ ★ ★

There is a second enterprise that spends at the rate of about 200 million dollars a year headed by an executive paid $12,500.

And a third that takes in more than 50 million dollars a year headed by an $8,500-a-year man.

And if this seems strange, the bosses in each case have several assistants who receive considerably higher salaries.

★ ★ ★

Of course, these examples are chosen from state government. Where else would comparable responsibilities be entrusted by the shareholders, the people, to servants paid so modestly?

Certainly, not in private business.

LIQUOR COMMISSION

The $9,000-a-year man whose operation feeds the state treasury at the rate of 45 million annually is the chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission, a 200 million dollar-a-year business.

★ ★ ★

He has employes working under him, a dozen or so, who earn more than he does, including one getting about $14,000 a year.

As might be expected, the average tenure of commission appointees over the last 20 years has been just 18 months. They quit.

The $12,500-a-year executive is the state highway commissioner, an elective position that will open up in the spring and for which there are few high caliber candidates.

★ ★ ★

The third example is the Corporation and Securities Commission, an agency that collects the corporation franchise tax.

The instances cited are only a beginning.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE

Take the Public Service Commission, the state agency which regulates public utilities—which soon will decide whether one utility is permitted a multi-million dollar rate increase.

★ ★ ★

This commission's power of decision is vested in a chairman paid $9,000 a year and two commissioners each paid $8,500.

Subordinates in this agency can draw up to $13,800.

The state civil defense director's pay is $8,000 a year. And so it goes.

And bear in mind that expense allowances for these officials are meager, in many cases requiring them to pay part of their hotel and food costs while on the road out of their own pockets.

★ ★ ★

Well, what is the result of such policies in paying key public servants?

UNATTRACTIVE JOBS

In the case of elected positions, they attract increasingly few persons of the caliber required to assure the public the very best standards of service.

★ ★ ★

And, take it from Lawrence Farrell, the governor's executive secretary, it's no joke to fill the appointive positions the way they should be filled.

Right now, there are — and for months have been—vacancies in the posts of banking commissioner and civil defense director, and the public Service Commission chairman has served notice he is getting out because he can't afford to work for the state any longer.

A question of growing concern to people serious about good standards of government is "who is going to take their place?"

Still Wielding the Lower Blows

Days of All Faiths

Holidays Recall Ancient Times

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The gods of Greece and the gods of Rome were much the same—the stories about them, too. It is like seeing the same play twice, with a different cast each time.

To the Greeks the father of the gods was Cronus, whose name means "Time" — "Father Time." He was dethroned by his son Zeus.

In Roman mythology the place of Cronus was occupied by Saturn: the myths about the two are practically interchangeable. Saturn sired a large family, turned upon them and devoured them all, except Jupiter (the god of air), Neptune (water), and Pluto (the grave). These Time (back to Cronus again) cannot consume. Saturn was dethroned by his son Jupiter.

The Romans, living under the mythological reign of Jupiter, believed the time of Saturn had really been the "good old days," the Golden Age. Once a year, beginning on the 17th of December, they held a great festival, the Saturnalia, in memory of that happy bygone era.

It was a wild sort of festival, one of unrestrained disorder. At first it was three days long, then a whole week. It started in an innocent pagan way with some quite pleasant customs. During the Saturnalia, grudges and quarrels were forgotten; businesses, courts, and schools were suspended; wars were interrupted or postponed; no prisoners were punished. Slaves sat at their master's tables and were served by them in memory of the happy days of Saturn when all men were equal.

But this genial reversal of order and suspension of discipline inevitably deteriorated into a week-long revel of vice and crime. Man has never been able to behave very long when the teacher goes out of the room.

NOT ORIGINAL

To us a Roman festival seems ancient, but behind the Saturnalia lie even more remote celebrations at this time of year. Man's most primitive calendar was simple awareness of the changing seasons, the equinoxes and the solstices. And always the winter solstice was the time of the greatest festival, partly because agricultural people (as they all were in those days) had little to do at this time of year, and partly because the changing sun now brought the promise of new life in a new growing season.

One special feature of the Saturnalia—the giving of gifts—shows the festival reached back into an antiquity the Romans themselves had forgotten. Traditional gifts were candles, imitation waxfruits, and dolls. Scholars say the dolls were actually symbols of the human sacrifices of an earlier day, and the wax-ancient fertility rites.

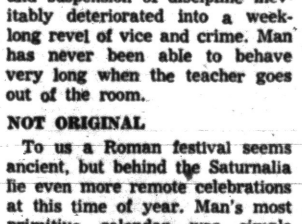

The candles meant what they still mean: now in the darkest time of the year mankind has always had, and probably alway will have, his festival of light. In the religion of Mithra (Persian) the birthday of the sun was celebrated now. The Jews had, and have, their Hanukkah, whose candles must have been burning in Jewish homes when Mary had her Baby in Bethlehem.

A time of new creation, festival of lights as old as the world itself—this was the logical time for Christmas, the Nativity of Christ the light of the World.

That Dec. 25 was established as the date of Christmas was due to a mistake in the Julian calendar, in which the 25th rather than the 21st was shown as the date of the winter solstice.

LI'L ONES

"Boy, that was exciting — Did I eat yet, Mom?"

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Went Barefoot All Life—Glad of It

" When I was a little girl Sairey Gamp, Ben Told, and others of their kind warned mother against letting her daughters go barefooted. I am 67 years old, 6 feet 6 inches tall with feet so small I'm practically top heavy. I have always gone barefooted whenever I felt like it, and today my feet give me no trouble. Do you remember Lake Lamaka or Mud Lake?" (Mrs. R.W.H.)

Answer—No, but I remember looking around in the mud with my feet to find turtles in the creek 50 miles due north of there. Sairey and Ben still tell 'em going barefooted makes the feet large, flat, etc. And a lot of mothers haven't such good sense as your mother had.

"Bought 8 ponds of wheat, grind it coarsely for breakfast cereal, fine for flour, and use it in at least two meals daily. All hands like it. Since we began using it in our everyday diet, pains I had since gall bladder operation four years ago have almost disappeared. (Mrs. P. E.)

Answer—Thank you. Trouble is, so many ninnyhammers regard plain wheat as animal or bird feed, and not quite fit for human consumption. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, for the pamphlet Wheat to Eat. It tells not only why wheat is necessary for good nutrition but also numerous recipes sent in by readers who use wheat as the staple of their diet.

"Have been taking iodin ration and calcium and find myself feeling much better, not nearly so tired. Asked my doctor about them. He said if you feel better go on taking them, they can't do you any harm. (Mrs. K. D.)

Answer—There are some honest doctors who are not intelligent. Too many intelligent doctors are not honest. Some doctors, ignorant of nutrition, would warn you about alleged danger of taking "too much" calcium or "too much" iodin. How much would be "too much," they do not venture to say. Probably they don't even know how much is enough. To learn for yourself send 35 cents for booklet The Calcium Shortage. Inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet the Iodin Ration.

"The wonderful teaching and advice in Volumette 25 has made a new man out of my husband. (Mrs. I. R. E.)

Answer — Thank you. Volumette 25 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health is titled The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene. For your copy send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Your opinion of the rule that some teenage girls must remain in bed the first day of menstruation. (Mrs. L. P. R.)

Answer—The idea is absurd. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women.

"I believe you should make a distinction between C R I and the sniffles. Sitting in a draft will often give me the sniffles and sneezing—which stops immediately after I get out of the draft. I have seen no reference in your column to the terrible exposure and suffering of the party who was trapped for the winter at Donner Lake. None of them suffered with C R I." (H. L. G.)

Answer—Thank you. Let's say the one omission cancels out the other. However, if you have the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, you'll find I do describe the sniffles or sneezing some persons have in such circumstances, on p. 6, of Volumette 5, Call It C R I (for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope).

Signed letters, now more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Democrat' Thinks County Got Raw Deal on Roads

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

According to the papers, Charles M. Ziegler is going to quit when his present term runs out. I don't know him, but I do not think Oakland county has had a fair deal. We are the second biggest county in Michigan in population. We are just about the second biggest in Michigan in size.

Yet what do we get? Well, we get patchwork road dribbles here and there with nothing big or important. We deserve the best. We have the people. I remember once Mr. Ziegler announced that Oakland county people ought to be glad he built good roads in other counties so when they visited the other counties they could drive on fine roads. If that isn't the laugh of a lifetime, I give up.

'Isn't There Any Yule Spirit Left?'

I think it's a shame that all those men may be out of work just ten days before Christmas. If ever there was a time when they need their paychecks it is right now. Don't these people realize this is what keeps America from becoming Communistic? What would become of America if the labor man didn't stick up for his rights?

We have a hard enough time as it is to keep the foreman from getting the Big Head. This is how America keeps her freedom—by showing these bosses that working men don't have to take their unnecessary guff. How thankful they can be to have a union to back them up.

As far as helping Hungarians get their jobs, I think it is pretty fair. But how about letting them work for their homes like the American people have to do, and give those houses to invalids who don't have an opportunity to work?

A. C. Reeves

I certainly agree with 'Unemployed Worker's Wife' about this strike. What a crumby time to put men out of work. We have four children and an ailing grandmother to care for, and Christmas is always sort of a strain, but with no money coming in, it sure puts the damper on things.

They talk about how all the men voted for the strike, but what I'd like to know is how many of the workers were present when they voted. And besides, how many of them would have dared to vote against it?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Gives Formula for Success

Tom wants to know the formula for success in life. He asks what makes leaders. Why did Joseph rise to the lofty post of Prime Minister of Egypt while thousands of other native Egyptians never got there? Study this case record diligently and use the "Agenda Plan." It helps step-up your efficiency at least 50 per cent.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-348: Tom W., aged 17, is a senior in high school.

"Dr. Crane, what is the psychological prescription for success?"

"A lot of people with high intelligence don't reach the top. Then along comes a fellow who does. Why?

* * *

"Last Sunday we discussed the case of Joseph in our Bible Class. Joseph was a foreigner and a jail bird, yet he rose to become the Prime Minister of Egypt.

"How did he surpass all those thousands of native Egyptians?"

FORMULA FOR SUCCESS

First, Joseph was an ambitious boy. He aimed high.

In fact, his brothers plotted to kill him and finally compromised by selling him as a slave, all because of his superiority complex (See Genesis, Ch. 37).

"Not failure but low aim is crime," said Lowell, so teach yourself to aim high.

Many successful folks have this lofty ideal implanted by conscientious mothers. But you can train yourself to high goals.

To begin with, shoot for an "A" grade in school, even if you fall short of the mark. Don't be content with a mediocre record.

Think positively, instead of negatively. Coue', the French psychologist a generation ago, urged us to repeat:

"Day by day in every way I am getting better and better."

That is good strategy, so repeat your goal every morning, even if you whisper it to yourself as you brush your teeth.

Second, finish your duties with a flourish. Do more than is required. Put on those final few minutes of finishing touches which give the job a neat professional appearance.

Joseph did this, which is why his employers kept giving him more responsibility. And this is a trait of leaders everywhere.

Average folks, however, do only what is required and no more. Leaders add an extra flourish. They put a classy "frame" around the picture, as it were, and dress up their work so it looks attractive.

They also put their tools away and clean up the mess. Check on this point by seeing how your girl friend performs when she bakes a cake.

The true leader not only bakes a delicious cake, but she cleans up the pots and pans and leaves the kitchen neat as a pin. For that is the "flourish" of a leader.

To accomplish 50 per cent more work in life, use an agenda. Write down the various tasks you wish to accomplish tomorrow or next week. In my own case, I make a monthly agenda, and follow it faithfully.

Then, as you finish a job, cross it off. I even use red pencil and cross off my completed tasks with a thick red line to inflate my ego more.

* * *

Inefficient people waste a lot of time trying to figure out what they should do next. Instead, glance at your agenda sheet so you can immediately get launched on the next job without such futile debate.

And always play on God's team. Become a junior partner with the Almighty.

This means, go to "team practice" faithfully every Sabbath, which is church and Sunday school.

And don't shun opportunities to talk in public. Teach a Sunday school class or lead the discussion in your young people's meeting, or sing or play a musical instrument when you can.

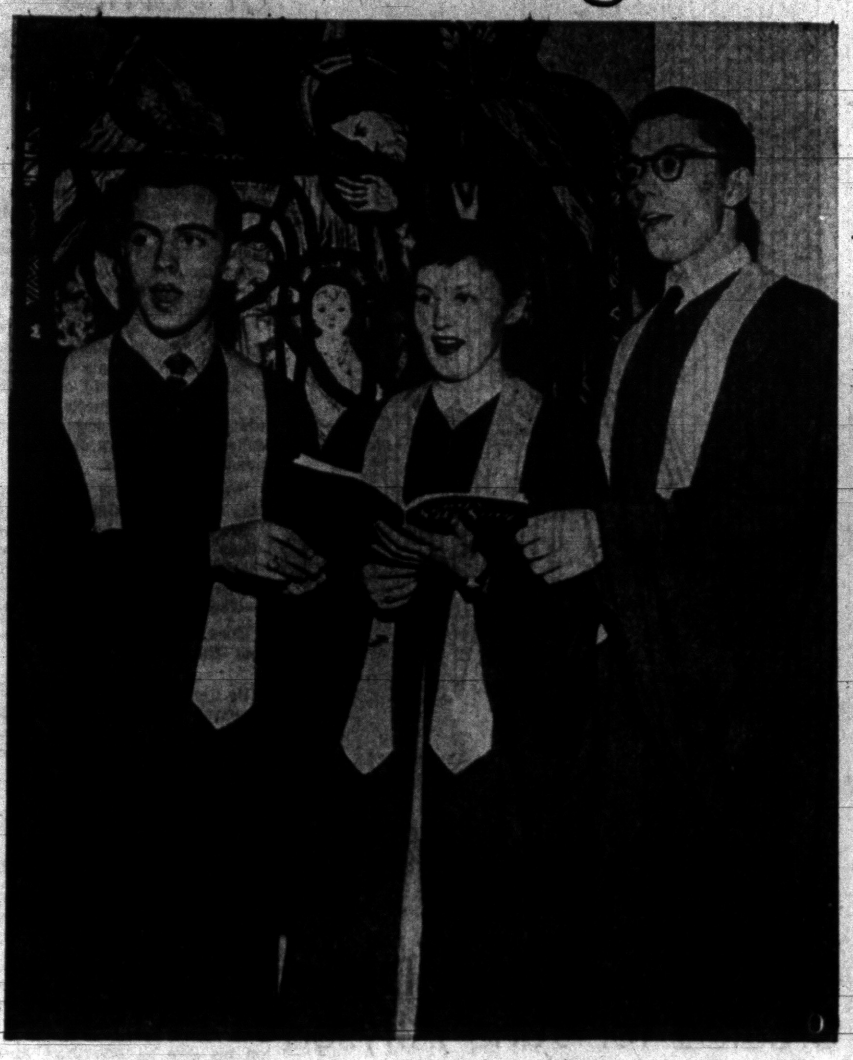

Every public appearance makes you more poised and thus adds to your "executive" ability. Timid, shrinking violets don't get the big jobs, so force yourself to overcome your natural stage fright.

And finish high school: Then take at least 1 year of college, either in a business college or in liberal arts, for each year will bring you $25,000 more earnings throughout life.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Paris Has Glittering Gift Ideas

Gems, Hats, Furs Are Combined for Yule Whimsy

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—A white mink and black-net mask with a diamond eye and eyebrow . . .

* * *

An Eiffel Tower hat in natural mink topped with a diamond TV aerial . . .

These are two of the results of a get-together among a Paris Hatter, a jeweler and a furrier for a pre - Christmas show. Jacques Heim supplied the furs and staged the show, Svend designed the hats and Van Cleef and Arpels, the jewels.

Besides the two surrealistic eye-catchers, there was a bandit's mask in leopard fur up to the eyes, with a diamond-knotted net bow atop the brow, a haystack effect in midnight blue clipped ostrich plumes, with two jeweled cascades tucked under the brim, and a black veiling cloche literally down to the mouth, over a broadtail cap topped with a glittering bracelet, like the handle to a tea cosy.

* * *

If none of these inspires you as a Christmas gift idea, other Parisian jewelers have more to offer. Cartier's, usually as staid as a bank, has gone in for such whimsy as a jeweled interpretation of the old saw, "A bird in hand." (Onyx hand with turquois bracelet, golden bird — price 95,000 francs: $271.42).

Or you might pick a diamond-paved onyx bulldog with ruby eyes which wriggles his ears when a collar ring is pulled . . . (1,100,000 francs: $3,143).

An equally glittery beagle lifts a paw when you tweak his tail. Among the really modest offerings, a golden chick with a diamond eye hatches out a coral egg (75,000 francs: $214).

* * *

And at the other extreme, there's a 5-million franc ($14,500) chandelier necklace of pear-diamonds, the center one of more than 10 carats.

Keep Yuletide Glow All Year Long

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It seems to me that Christmas Eve would be a better time for our good resolutions than New Year's Eve.

By New Year's Eve, we're apt to be exhausted and the glow is wearing thin; but on Christmas Eve, most of us are filled with brotherly love.

We have a feeling that this is a pretty good world and that people are pretty nice.

When people bump into us on the street, we're apt to grin and say, "Merry Christmas," whereas, a couple of weeks later, we'd be muttering about the nerve of some people.

If we could only resolve, on Christmas Eve, to carry some of this brotherly love into our daily lives all year, we could quite literally revolutionize those lives.

BAD RELATIONS

More than half of the problems we have are caused, basically, by bad human relations. And most bad human relations, most of the trouble we have with people, we bring on ourselves.

* * *

We expect people to be unpleasant so, of course, they oblige. On the other hand, if we start expecting them to be nice, they'll oblige in that direction, too.

I did this once, on a Christmas Eve, and while I'm nowhere near batting a thousand it has certainly made my life more fun.

I resolved to keep some of the Christmas glow by determining to credit people, all though the year, with the highest type motives, instead of the lowest. It's a trick anyone can practice.

Here, for what they're worth, are some pointers:

When people bump into you or push you, don't credit them with being aggressive or thoughless.

Pretend that they just remembered they left the oven on at home, or some such thing, and are beside themselves with anxiety. It will save you, in one year, hours of muttering.

REAL EMERGENCY

When a friend is late for an appointment, don't mumble about her selfishness. Pretend that some real emergency came up and that your friend is trying her best to get there on time.

* * *

Then you can relax during the waiting interval, instead of starting a new crop of ulcers.

When a beau disappoints you and has to call off a dinner date at the last minute, don't leap to the conclusion that some terrific blonde has come into his life.

Pretend that he really does have to work late and is every bit as sorry as you are. It's much better for the skin, and also for the disposition!

* * *

Resolve this year to keep a little of your Christmas Eve brotherly love. It's the most valuable present you'll ever give yourself.

Civic Group Marks Yule

Mr. and Mrs. William Heimann were chairmen of the annual Christmas party of the Sylvan Shores Improvement Association held Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newill, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Cole assisted the hosts.

Entertainment for the evening consisted of movies for the children, community singing of Christmas carols, and a program of carols presented by Barbara Herrman, Diane Adams, Julia Lyons, Karen Shanp, Mary Johnson, Vickie Edwards, Mary Soderberg, and Laura Lee Sherwood. Mrs. C. I. Humphires accompanied the singers.

Highlighting the entertainment was the arrival of Santa Claus, who presented the children with filled Christmas stockings.

Coming Events

Happy Hour Club will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Elden Sweazy, 539 Bradford St., at 1:30 p.m. to sew on cancer pads.

Don't Stifle Individualism to Build Family 'Oneness'

Each Member Should Be Permitted to Enjoy His Own Special Interests

By RUTH MILLETT

Do you insist that your husband miss his lodge meeting if Sis or Junior has a part in a school program on the same night so that he can be up front to admire his offspring?

* * *

Do you veto your husband's suggestion that the two of you hire someone to look after the children while you get away together for a few days on the grounds that you would worry every minute you were away?

Do you think Pop is an old grouch if he spends his evenings tinkering in his workshop instead of joining in some family game to amuse the children?

If your answer to those three questions is a smug "Yes," maybe you had better read Sumner Ahlbum's article, "How Much Time Should You Devote to Your Family?" You'll find it in the November issue of Cosmopolitan.

* * *

Mr. Ahlbum reminds us in no uncertain terms that we can easily overplay the one-big-happy-family-always-together act.

DIVERSE INTERESTS

In his words, "We have been cajoled into believing that the synonym for 'family' is 'oneness,' and we have forgotten that a family is made up of individuals of different ages and of diverse interests."

* * *

We've done just that. And with the very best of intentions, too.

In order to make what we consider a happy home for our children we are often guilty of neglecting our own adult needs and interests.

Why isn't Dad's lodge meeting every bit as important in the family's eyes as Sis or Junior's participation in a school program?

Why should we kid ourselves that a man and wife never need to get away by themselves?

Why should we women feel so guilty if we do leave the children in good hands and take a little vacation with our husbands that we worry the whole time we are gone?

RELAXATION FOR POP

Why shouldn't Pop spend his evenings in his workshop—if that is what gives him relaxation and enjoyment at the end of a working day—instead of feeling he has to spend his evenings doing whatever the kids want him to do?

A home, to bring happiness and contentment to a whole family, has to be a place where individual members can be alone as well as together.

Youngsters Give Yule Program for McCarroll PTA

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders of McCarroll School entertained members of the PTA at the recent meeting by presenting Christmas carols. Mrs. Harold Northon directed the group.

Bride Has Own Ideas About Gown

But Fiance's Mom Is the Proprietor of Dress Shop

By EMILY POST

A very difficult situation is described in the following letter:

"My fiance's mother owns a dress shop here in town. She has hinted that when I am ready to buy my wedding dress I should go to her shop.

"I know I will save considerable money if I go there but the things she has are too extreme for my taste and furthermore I have seen just the dress that I want in one of the department stores.

"Am I duty bound to get my dress at her shop, or may I go where I choose, and how can I tell her this without hurting her feelings? I would very much appreciate your help in this matter."

Answer: The only thing you can do is to tell her frankly that you have seen a dress you like very much and that you have your heart set on buying it and hope that she will like it too.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My brother, who is 10 years my junior, is going to be married soon. His bride-to-be is very lovely girl who insists that I be a bridesmaid.

"I have tried to tell her that I will be out of place in the wedding and that she should choose someone nearer her own age. She says age makes no difference.

"Wouldn't it be more suitable to have someone nearer her own age to fill this position, or doesn't it really matter? We have decided to let you be the judge."

Answer: I agree with you definitely.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to ask one of my best friends here at college to go home with me for a long weekend. Does this mean that I am obligated to pay her train fare?"

Answer: As you are both girls, you should, if you can, pay her fare. But if you yourself have very little money and your friend has a very good allowance, she might pay her own fare.

Pizza Party Given by Julie Fitzgerald

Julie Fitzgerald entertained at a pizza party Friday evening at her home in Birmingham.

Schoolmates that attended the affair were Susan Weed, Christine Powell, Patsy Muldowny, Juanita Christie, Ann Moore, Cathy Newmyer and Anne Monaghan.

Other guests included Jack Miller, Don Phelan, Larry Bach, Dick Nettke, Andy Mareska, Ted Johnson, Tim Mally, Tom Sweeney and Bob Hewitt.

Isabella Daughters to Donate Baskets

Gifts to pack in baskets for the needy were donated at the recent Christmas party held by members of Daughters of Isabella, Our Lady of the Lakes Circle 479. The group met at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Entertainment was provided by Barbara Ann Nelson, Linda Rollison, and Cynthia Sach, who presented several dances. The hall was decorated in the Christmas motif for the occasion.

Daily Bath Essential in Wintertime

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women who consider themselves well-groomed are nevertheless more likely to be careless during winter months than in hot weather. When soaring temperatures cause excessive perspiration, we are more conscious of the necessity of a daily, sudsy bath and often take more than one a day.

However, the daily bath is just as essential in cold weather as in hot and in some ways even more so.

We wear woolen clothes and most offices and stores and homes are kept far too hot. Dark-colored clothing and dyed furs may rub off onto the skin, calling for extra attention to the neck, back and other exposed skin areas.

The hair also requires special attention. Sudden changes in temperature, steam heat and the habit of wearing hats more often sometimes cause the scalp to become dry and flaky. This is not a true dandruff but an experience women frequently have in the fall and early winter months.

* * *

The weekly shampoo, with faithful scalp massage or brushing, probably will conquer the problem. If not, try a few hot oil treatments or a tonic for dry scalp. Do not neglect the regular shampoo just because the weather is cold.

TRY BODY LOTION

Many women take fewer baths because they feel that it makes the skin too dry in winter weather and also because they believe that hot baths may make them more susceptible to colds. If you think that the soapy bath is too drying at this season, follow it with a body lotion or put some bath oil in your tub.

* * *

Although it has not been proven that persons subjected to hot and then cold temperatures catch cold more often than otherwise, you would be wise to take precautions in this matter.

Follow your hot bath with a cool shower or let the cold water run into your tub after you have finished your daily scrub. Be sure that your hair is thoroughly dry after a shampoo before going outdoors.

After a hectic day at the office, running errands or doing housework, there is nothing more relaxing than a half hour in the tub. This not only assures you of daintiness but is soothing to the mind and the spirit and will make you a much more pleasant companion for the evening. A bath can wash away tensions as well as dirt.

FEWER COLDS

Remember, too, that it has been found that well-adjusted, happy people, as a general rule, catch fewer colds than those who are tense, worried or nervous.

* * *

If you would like her leaflet No. 64 "Worry," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The daily bath is just as essential in cold weather as in hot and in some ways even more so.

Yule Event Presented at Whitfield

Three hundred first, second and third grade students of Daniel Whitfield School recently presented a Christmas program in the school gymnasium.

* * *

Margaret Luther, principal, extended greetings and presented George Woodworth, vocal music instructor, and Bette Foster, accompanist.

Written by Mr. Woodworth, the program consisted of three parts. The first was "An American Child Dreams," in which students portrayed toy soldiers, dolls, jumping jacks and tops.

The Hebrew Festival of Lights, Dutch windmill dance, the Spanish custom of breaking the pinata, and a Danish dance carried out the theme of the second part, "A Child Across the Sea Celebrates."

* * *

The third part was "A Story Children Love" in which the angel appeared to the shepherds, and the shepherds and the wise men visited Christ in the manger.

Concluding the evening program, the audience participated in the sing of "Joy to the World" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Program Attended by Willard WCTU

Frances C. Willard WCTU met for a cooperative luncheon and Christmas program at the Church of the Brethren. Mrs. LeRoy Shafer gave the devotions, and the Christmas story was told by Mrs. Mary Carls.

The group sang Christmas carols and a duet was presented by Mrs. Carls and Mrs. Mabel Wiser accompanied by the Rev. Lola Marion. Plans were made for donating Christmas baskets to the needy and a hymn was sung in closing.

PTA Activities

Mark Twain PTA will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Bluebirds and Camp Fire Girls will present the program.

Executive board of Wisner PTA will meet Monday at 7 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Sorority Meets to Plan Party

Final plans for the annual Christmas party to be held for children were made at the Tuesday evening meeting of Xi Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The party is planned for Dec. 22 at the Adah Shelly Library.

Following a gift exchange and the revealing of secret pals, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Club Marks Yule

Secret pals were revealed and Christmas gifts exchanged at the recent Christmas party meeting of the Modern Homemakers Extension Club held at the John Stoppert home on Coseyburn drive. Mrs. Stig Danielson chose Christmas decoratons as prizes for the party games and each member brought a tray of Christmas cookies and candies for exchange. Secret pals were selected for the coming year.

Put Yourself Into Dress Created for June Allyson

Helen Rose, fashion designer at MGM proves her versatility with every movie she costumes, since she must consider the personality of the star, the character she portrays as well as the story line.

* * *

In MGM's new film, "The Opposite Sex," you will see June Allyson, one of its stars, wearing this wonderfully casual dress originally made in tan cashmere with a gilet of turquoise silk jersey.

Its high-fashion secret is in the handling of the bodice, a new twist that you will manage easily since the pattern is precisely perforated for accurate marking and matching.

The sleeve is cut in one with the bodice front, which folds back from the center opening and is stitched into the side seam. The diagonal line hides a pocket.

* * *

Choose fabrics such as cashmere, wool, rayon or silk crepe, linen, chambray. The gilet is best in jersey or any other pliable material. From this chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	24	35	16⅛
12	35	25	36	16⅜
14	36½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

Size 12 requires 5⅛ yards of 39-inch material for dress. To order Pattern 1291, state size, enclose $1.

He Recalls Fifty Years of Parties

Guest Announcer Began His Career in T. R.'s Era

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—The faces in the receiving line change often as diplomats and dignitaries come and go. Only one has remained constant as long as capital partygoers can remember. He is neither host, nor guest. But no big shindig seems quite complete without him.

He is one Albert Guex (pronounced "Gay"), whom most embassies and big-time hosts hire to stand at the head of the line to announce the guests, most of whose names he knows automatically after 50 years of service at hundreds of parties.

"Usually I know everybody," the tall, thin Guex confided. "Most folks don't have to tell me their names. Many I've been seeing ever since I came here when Teddy Bear was president —Theodore Roosevelt, that is."

Guex, Swiss-born, came here to join friends and countrymen.

* * *

He first served as footman to the imperial Russian ambassador, Baron Rosen. The work wasn't heavy—mostly answering the door—but the unidorm was!

FAMILY LIVERY

"Most of the European royal houses have their own livery to go with their coat of arms and family history," Guex told me.

"The one I wore was loaded with brass buttons and fancy trimming, and it was hot."

After three years Guex left the Russians and went to work as butler for families around town.

Of recent years Guex has been on his own as announcer at receptions. Because of advanced years, he says, he's now cutting down on the jobs he takes.

Washington's social life, he says somewhat ruefully, is different in every respect from the old days.

MORE FORMAL

"Then the ladies were much more formal, each with a receiving day for callers, and nothing but tea," he explained. "There were no such things as cocktail parties then."

"To tell the truth," Guex added as an afterthought, "the embassies were afraid of newsmen and society reporters.

"They had to call and get the names of guests and other details over the phone, or stand on the sidelines and watch the guests arrive.

"Now they're invited to dinner, guests themselves."

Church Units Hold Christmas Program

A coperative luncheon and program were held by members of the Women's Missionary Society and the White Cross Circles of First Baptist Church Thursday noon in the church parlors.

* * *

Group singing of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. Frank Rudlaff, and Bob, Rexella and Nancy Shelton presented several trio numbers.

* * *

Rebecca Shelton gave a reading, and the message, "What Christ Is Like in the Orient," was presented by Bob Shelton. Mrs. Jack Stapleton gave the benediction.

Woman's Home Companion, Colliers

Two Familiar Magazines Will Fold First of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion, familiar magazines in millions of homes for more than half a century, will disappear from the American scene next month.

* * *

A company official indicated that a seeming paradox — rising circulations offset by increasing publishing costs and dwindling advertising revenues — signaled the end of the two magazine giants.

The 15-member Board of Directors of Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. wrote the death notice last night by voting to discontinue publication.

* * *

Paul C. Smith, company president and board chairman, said the two magazines, with a combined circulation of nearly 8½ million, lost more than 7½ million dollars this year.

He blamed it on increasing costs and declining revenue from advertisements despite a peak or near peak circulations for both periodicals.

Affected were some 2,600 employes, more than half of whom faced a jobless future in less than a month.

The board's "primary duty" to the stockholders to "protect their investment" resulted in the decision, said Smith. It withdrew Crowell-Collier from the magazine field, leaving the firm with its profit-making book publishing business.

Colliers, a big weekly general magazine with an announced circulation of 4,179,700, will cease with the Jan. 4 issue. The Companion, with a circulation of 4,228,800, ends publication with the January number.

Gardner Cowles, president of Cowles Magazine, Inc., simultaneously announced an agreement under which Look magazine will take over the unexpired subscriptions of Colliers.

The Crowell-Collier statement said arrangements were being made to divert the Companion's subscriptions to other publishers.

The company discontinued the American magazine last August in an effort to trim its finances.

The company will continue publishing Collier's Encyclopedia which this year sold 145,000 sets for about 25 million dollars.

A company subsidiary, P. F. Collier and Sons, publishes the 51-volume Harvard Classics and the Junior Classics.

Broadway Hits Inspire Romantic Fashion Revivals

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Two Broadway shows shaped the major fashion trends of 1956, and changed the way women looked, walked and wore their hats all over the country.

"My Fair Lady," with its nostalgic 1912 costumes designed by Cecil Beaton, started a return of feminine frills and elegant formality throughout the fashion industry.

"Auntie Mame," with its hilarious recap of post-flapper foibles of 1930 in costumes by Travis Banton, started a rage for outsize muffs, cloche hats and the debutante slouch of the era.

Never in recent history has the theater so influenced the nation's vast fashion business, and seldom have women accepted so eagerly a drastic change in mood and silhouette, destined to carry over into 1957.

This was the year when it was fashionable to be ladylike, and the casual little-boy look so beloved by women of all shapes and ages became passe.

This was the year when manners returned to fashion, and it became important once more to dress correctly for varying occasions; sport clothes no longer looked right at a cocktail party and full-length evening gowns blossomed once more on dance floors.

This was the year when hats came back in style, and a woman who went bareheaded into a fashionable restaurant for lunch all at once felt self-conscious.

Along with the return of greater formality came all the other little refinements of dress in the lady-like era—proper attention to gloves and accessories, more formal hair styles, an increased consciousness of the importance of being correctly shod.

This year you didn't see so many open-toed or plastic shoes worn with street clothes. The unadorned pump, with closed toe and heel and a slightly more pointed look, came into its own.

* * *

In 1956 fashion preferred understatement in the silhouette, and avoided exaggerations.

The nipped waist and the accentuated bosom went out of style, and most daytime clothes, though still slender in line, had a looser, easier fit, so that the body could move inside them.

ROMANTIC LOOK

Women enjoyed being romantic again this year, in appearance as well as mood. They rediscovered the magic of such feminine frou-frou as lacy jabots, delicate embroidery, clinging fabrics, sashes, roses and little furs.

* * *

Skirts became discreetly longer, but not much, except for after-five occasions.

The new demi-length dinner and theater costume, with hemline just above the ankles, gained importance, and the formal full-length evening gown returned in force, more often an elaborately draped sheath or a slender column of floating layers of chiffon than the wide-skirted ball gown of other seasons.

Even beachwear and sportswear grew modest and ladylike, with a covered-up look in bathing suits and a feminine look in sports clothes. Even on the golf course or the tennis court it was more fashionable to look girlish than boyish this year.

* * *

The revival of styles of 1930 brought back fox furs in styles, muffs and trimmings such as collars or hemline borders.

Fur hats were the big millinery craze of this winter, the white fur plateau being the most popular and the fez and the pillbox notable in all tones of mink as well as fox, broadtail and Persian lamb.

SHORTER JACKETS

Suits had shorter, semi-fitted jackets or cape effects, skirts took on a peg-top look in many instances and belts were likely to be worn just beneath the bosom.

* * *

Hats, whether of fur or flowers, were big and important, providing the dramatic focal point for an understated costume.

Evening hats and headdresses were back in fashion, adding a new elegance to the after-dark scene.

This was a year when fashion, prodded by Broadway, looked backward and found much of value and charm in the romantic past.

Add Glitter to Holiday Costumes

PARIS (INS)—The holiday sparkle ought to be on a girl's neck, wrist and fingers as well as in her eyes.

American women can take a tip from the French who have new tricks on how to wear glittering jewelry differently and effectively at Christmastime.

Earrings: Clip a sparkling—not drooping—earring as centerpiece on your wedding band or any other plain ring for a luxurious effect. You can also fasten earrings to your party shoes.

Diamond bracelets: Attach your bracelet to a narrow elastic band to fit around your head and wear it diadem fashion. You can also stitch it to your cocktail hat as a dressy "hatband."

Necklaces: Wind your pearl string around the wrist and hold the strands together with a sparkling jewel pin for a wide, luxurious-looking bracelet.

If your hair has grown longer and you have a diamond — or rhinestone — necklace you can try one of the latest dramatic evening hairdos from Paris.

One is to brush all your hair to one side, loop it through your diamond necklace and drape it to a soft coil pinned to cover one ear.

The other style, suitable for a bouffant hairdo, is to fasten the necklace on the head in such a way that is is posed on the hairline and visible in front only. The sides and the back are covered by hair from the top of the head curving out on both sides to cover the ears.

Beta Alpha Chapter Plans Dec. 19 Party

Beta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Beta Sorority met at the Ronald Weaver home on Bielby street to discuss plans for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 19 at the Gateway drive home of Barbara McSkulin. A grab bag of gifts will be a feature of the party.

Joyce Setter and Miss McSkulin are making plans for Founders Day to be held in January.

The adoption of a needy family was planned and each member will donate an item for a Christmas basket.

Top Colors for Young Miss

Sis Wears Black, White

CHICAGO (INS) — The very young miss will be wearing crisp organdy or velveteen or both to holiday parties, and the top color scheme of the season is black and white.

And just how much black your little girl wears on a festive occasion depends on how young she is.

For the toddler set, the emphasis is on white organdy with delicate tracings of black in loops and scrolls on skirts billowing over several petticoats.

The school-age girl gets a larger measure of black. The favored party dress, judging from holiday fashions displayed in Chicago, is a style with a black velveteen bodice and a full white organdy skirt.

The prettiest version has matching organdy Peter Pan collar, puffed sleeves and jet bead bowknots embroidered on the skirt.

Into the teens, girls can wear more black velveteen and less white organdy. The black jumper is very popular for this age, again relieved by white collars and sleeves.

The emphasis on black and white also extends to brother-and-sister outfits. There are the conventional black velveteen suits for boys still in short pants with matching skirt and white blouse for sister.

A more tailored pair can be outfitted with white tweed jackets and black velvet pants or skirt.

Something different for Juniors: more formal, more ladylike approach in the dramatic evening cape ensemble.

The "borrowed from the boys" look is out and a new look introducing sophisticated new fashions represents a complete change. Red sheer wool cape worn over shimmering white satin trimmed with red velvet ribbon is junior newest.

Barbara Hill Weds David A. Birkett

Barbara Jean Hill became the bride of David Arthur Birkett in a ceremony performed in Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 24.

Phyllis Lewis and Nelson H. Hill Jr. of Fort Worth attended the couple. A reception was held at the Worth Hotel following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson H. Hill of Draper street are parents of the bride, and David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Birkett of Fort Worth.

The two will make their home in Fort Worth on their return from a honeymoon in Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Have Name in Gold on Inside of Shoes

The latest in luxe is having your name lettered in gold on the inside sole of your shoes. It was started as a gesture toward shoe-conscious celebrities such as Ethel Merman, Rosalind Russell, Judy Garland and Gloria de Haven. Now all the ultra-chic socialites are asking for "personalized" shoes, too.

Fits Into Handbag

Spray-Scent Is Gift Idea

Christmas stocking stuffers with a difference and a small price tag aren't easy to come by.

Though they're called stocking stuffers, they're often used as small gifts: a remembrance for a special acquaintance or distant aunt, or to take to the kind of party where everyone's asked to bring a gift of a set value.

There's a French import, new this year, that fills the bill. It's a quarter-ounce of spicy floral perfume in a miniature spray for the handbag.

The spray comes in a black-and-gold cylinder topped with a convenient aerosol spray. The whole unit is said to be completely leakproof.

Most women know the advantages of a spray for perfume very well. It creates a cloud of mist rather than concentrating the perfume in spots. The effect is a gentle one whereas perfume dabbed on tends to be rather overpowering.

A spray that can travel with you is doubly welcome. Most perfumes cling for about four hours and after that, a touch-up is needed. This is where the leakproof purse spray proves itself a handy thing to have.

Delightful bunny, lamb and teddy bear motifs are appliqued to blocks to make a wonderful children's quilt. Gaily striped bands add much to the charm of this cover.

Pattern No. 5780 contains pattern pieces for applique motifs; material requirements; finishing directions.

Windy City Stirred Up for Lions-Bears NFL Showdown Battle

By BRUNO L. KERNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO — There's something psychological about the way the city of Chicago is treating tomorrow's big showdown game between the Detroit Lions and the Windy City Bears.

The atmosphere here in Chicago is a strange one. Either Chicagoans have a short memory, or they refuse to admit that the 42-10 setback which the Bears suffered at Briggs Stadium two weeks ago was a convincing Detroit victory.

Without regard for what happened in Detroit, many writers and oddsmakers have still installed Chicago a one point favorite. And the Bears themselves are either studying Freud's psychology or they are needling the Lions, when they say that the toughest team they've played this year has been the New York Giants.

The fans, as expected, are feverishly stirred over the game and a crowd exceeding the 50,000-capacity is assured for the 2:00 p.m. (EST) kickoff at Wrigley Field.

In this crowd will be several thousand Detroit fans who have come to Chicago in chartered trains. All reserved seats were gone weeks ago.

One of the most extensive radio and television hookups in history of pro football will carry the game. A total of 77 television stations, plus another 100-odd radio outlets including the Armed Forces radio will handle the game.

The Bears have been conducting their practice sessions behind the closed doors of the Chicago Armory, and coach Paddy Driscoll promises a few surprises for Detroit.

• • •

In their previous meeting this year, the Lions stopped the Bears' heralded offensive unit cold. Big Rick Casares, the league's leading ground gainer, was able to muster only 45 yards in 14 tries, and the passing combination of Eddie Brown-to-Harlon Hill clicked on only one pass.

GENE GEDMAN

DAVE MIDDLETON

LEON HART

The loss of Bob Watkins early in that game however hurt the Bears, and so Driscoll has set his plans to open up the Detroit defensive unit by moving J. C. Caroline into the backfield with Casares.

• • •

Caroline was impressive in his first offensive task against the Cardinals last week, and Driscoll figures to offset some of the concentration on Casares.

• • •

Wrigley Field has not been a successful locale for Detroit. Since 1934 the Lions have been able to win only five games on the Windy City gridiron.

Coach Buddy Parker of the Lions is ready to throw everything in the book against the Bears in an effort to do something no other team in the NFL has ever been able to do, that is, to climb from the cellar to the divisional title in one season.

It will take a victory or even a tie to accomplish this.

Halfback Gene Gedman and fullback Leon Hart will again spark Detroit's running attack. Gedman, who returned to the team this year after two years in the army, is the club's leading ground gainer and second best scorer. He has 478 yards in 123 carries and eight touchdowns to his credit.

• • •

Hart has 341 yards in 73 tries with five touchdowns. But the key for Detroit lies with veteran Bobby Layne who leads the NFL in scoring with 99 points on five TD's, 33 conversions and 12 field goals, along with 125 completions in 237 passes for nine touchdowns.

Detroit will also have the services of Gil Mains, rugged defensive end who was out for six weeks with an ankle injury.

Since his return for the Steeler game last week however Mains is having a hard time regaining the position from rookie Gene Cronin, who did a great job in the first game against the Bears.

Another returnee who saw action against the Steelers for the first time in several weeks was rookie Don McIlhenny, who led the team's running attack until his injury on the coast against the 49ers.

• • •

One player the Bears fear especially is end Dave Middleton who has hauled in 34 passes for 536 yards. His best day was against Chicago two weeks ago when he caught seven passes for 147 yards.

His best day last season was also against the Bears when he caught 10 passes for 230 yards.

"He has been nothing but trouble for us," said coach Driscoll.

Both teams will be physically sound for the game and spirits on both clubs are keyed to high gear, because this is it—the winner take all, in the Western Division.

PHS Rolls to 64-48 Decision

Chiefs Trim Central

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A shaky start and a steamroller finish was the display Pontiac High School put on to whip Flint Central 64-48 in a Saginaw Valley Conference game on the Chiefs' court last night.

It was the third straight victory for Pontiac and kept the Chiefs atop the SVC with a 2-0 mark along with Flint Northern which defeated Arthur Hill 43-42 last night.

• • •

With big Hudson Ray clearing the boards for 21 rebounds, including four tips, PHS had its best balanced scoring of the season showing four players in the double figures.

Ray led the scoring attack with 16 points, followed by Dave Diehm with 14, Dick Whitmer with 13 and Terry Zellhart with 10.

Diehm left the game with four fouls early in the 3rd period which limited his point-making efforts, but one of the better performances of the night came from Whitmer.

Whitmer gave Ray some assistance on the boards and his contribution of eight points in the second period pushed Pontiac into the lead to stay.

Central started strong but gave way to Pontiac's height and greater depth. The Indians led after the first stanza 14-12 with guards Dave Jeffes and Chuck Hyslop spearheading the attack.

After the lead exchanged hands three times early in the second period, Pontiac went ahead 22-20 and never fell behind.

• • •

It was Diehm and Whitmer who sparked the second quarter surge.

• • •

The 3rd period, however, was Central's downfall. Pontiac poured through 18 points to only five for the Indians, and the Chiefs enjoyed their greatest margin in the opening minutes of the 4th stanza when the score read 55-31.

At this point Coach Art Van Ryzin moved his substitutes onto the floor with 13 Chiefs getting into the game.

• • •

Central had a scoring drought for 6½ minutes at one time failing to get a point in the final four minutes of the 3rd quarter and the first 2½ minutes of the 4th period.

Central's leading scorer Mel Thomas could muster only one field goal in the opening period. It was all he could show for his night's efforts.

It was Jeffes, 5-7 guard, who led the Central scoring with 13 points. Six of these came in the first period and seven in the final stanza.

• • •

In their attempt at ball-hawking, the Indians were called for 21 personals, allowing the Chiefs to get 22 points from the charity line.

Pontiac attempted 63 shots and made 21 from the floor for 33 per cent, while Central made good on 19 of 61 for 30 per cent.

The Chiefs reserves also won a 61-50 decision from Central's reserves.

In the other SVC games, Arthur Hill had two opportunities to win or tie in the final seconds, in losing 43-42 and Saginaw dumped Bay City Central 61-56.

Bill Mantle missed a free throw with 33 seconds left which would have tied the game, and with only 14 seconds left Jerry Rifenburg was all alone when he missed a field goal which would have won the game.

U.S. Netters Thrash India in Regional Davis Action

PERTH, Australia, Dec. 15 (AP)—Billy Talbert's gamble of pairing Vic Seixas' experience with the power and enthusiasm of young Sam Giammalva paid off today as the U.S. Davis Cup pair thrashed India in doubles to win the Interzone finals and a place in the challenge round against Australia's defending champions.

• • •

Giammalva, a bowlegged Texan squarely on the spot, contributed more than his share as the U.S. tandem won in four sets, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, from India's Ramanathan Krishnan and Naresh Kumar.

The victory, coupled with yesterday's singles triumphs by Seixas and Herbie Flam, gave the Americans a 3-0 lead in the best of five series and made a formality of tomorrow's final two singles matches.

Talbert, the U.S. captain, called the play of 33-year-old Vic and 22-year-old Sam "a pleasing performance," then said he would substitute another youngster, 19-year-old Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., for Seixas against Krishnan in the first singles tomorrow.

• • •

Flam, who felt he was "lucky" to beat Krishnan on opening day, was to have met Kumar in the other singles, but Talbert later asked permission to substitute Giammalva for Flam and received the okay from Kumar.

Giammalva, told just before the match by Talbert that the doubles represented his big test, responded with excellent play. He returned service brilliantly and pulled off numerous winners, although his forceful style forced him into several errors.

Sam seemed to press at the start and made five errors in the second game of the first set before pulling his game together. Then he turned in several killing smashes and gained more confidence.

• • •

After that the Americans were clearly in command although Krishnan and Kumar, who carried Seixas and Ham Richardson to five sets at Wimbledon last summer, rallied just enough to keep the U.S. team on edge.

Ortonville Bows at Dye for 3rd Straight Defeat

Ortonville High School's basketball team was still looking for its 1st victory of the season today after Friday night's 74-69 setback at the hands of Flint Dye on the winner's floor. It was the 3rd loss for the Blackhawks.

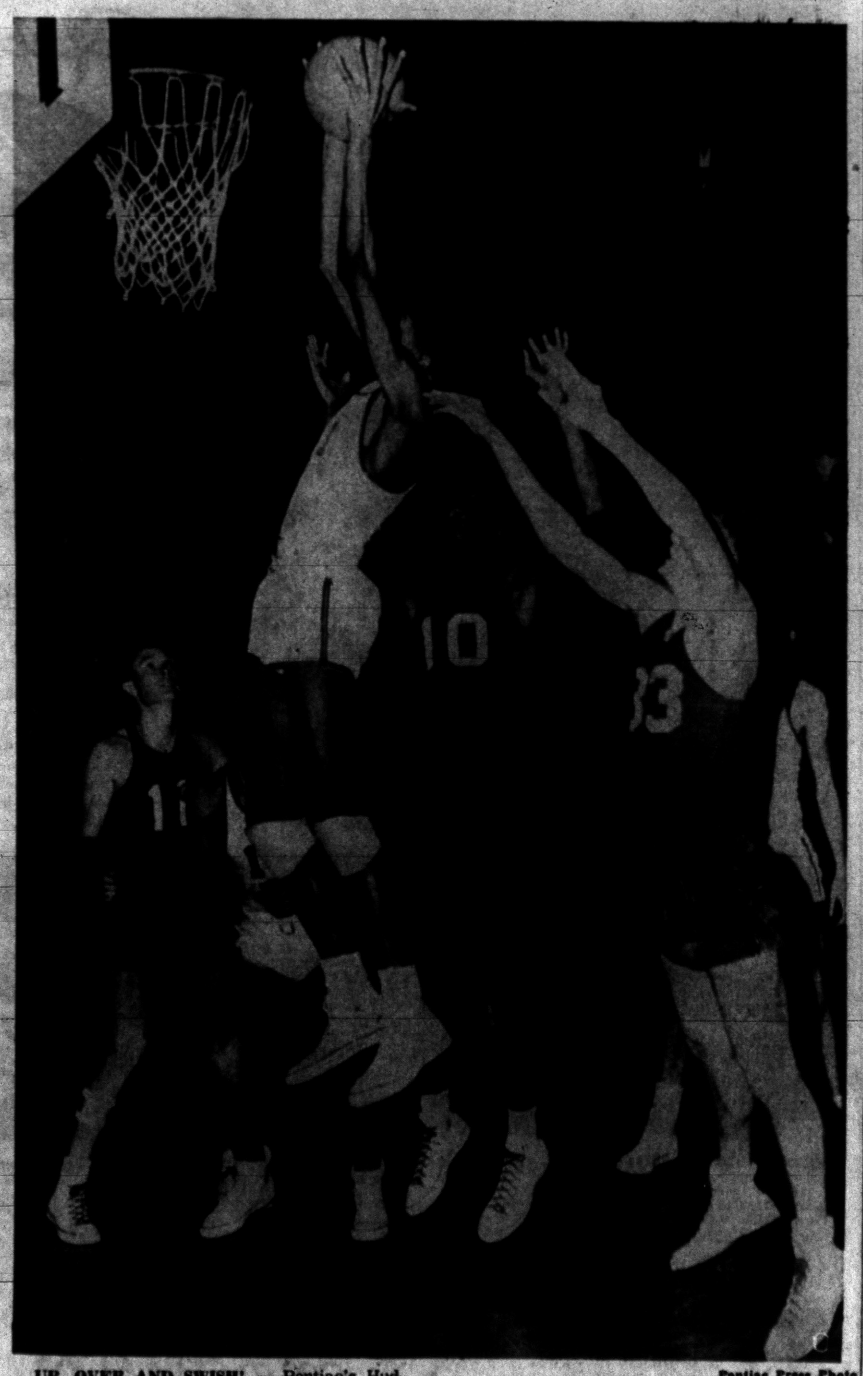

Dye finally subdued the Blackhawks after a see-saw battle. Ortonville led at halftime, 36-32, and enjoyed an eight-point bulge in the 3rd period. The Flint team narrowed the gap to 50-47 entering the final quarter, then pulled ahead to stay.

Personal fouls damaged the Blackhawks' cause when three starters, Bob Hutchings, Chuck Graves and Jerry Martin, fouled out.

Hutchings topped the Blackhawks with 21 points. Ortonville's nemesis was Dixon Jackson, who scored 31 points for the Dye quintet.

Calvin Dumps Dales

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Calvin, the defending MIAA champion, drubbed Hillsdale, 69-56, last night for its second league basketball victory of the new season. Calvin has lost one MIAA game and is 3-2 overall.

UP, OVER AND SWISH! — Pontiac's Hudson Ray, 6-foot-5 center, grabs the rebound from his offensive board, with his hands higher than the rim of the hoop, and drops the ball through the net for a two-pointer. Ray grabbed 21 rebounds in the game and led the scoring with 16 points. Four of his buckets came on tips following his rebounds. Flint Central center Duane Bates, 6-foot-3, (10) and Mel Thomas (right), jersey number 33, make a futile effort to get the ball. Pontiac won, 64-48, for its 3rd straight victory, and also kept the lead in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Giants Seem Certain to Win Eastern Title

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15 (AP)—The New York Giants tried today to cinch the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship the "right way," with a win over the crippled and last place Philadelphia Eagles.

• • •

Even a tie meant the title for the Giants and the right to meet the winner of tomorrow's Western Conference title decider between the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears.

But even a Giant loss, left a title chance. The second-place Washington Redskins would have to win both their remaining games to edge out the New Yorkers.

Coach Jim Lee Howell's players were in as good condition as could be expected of an NFL team in the home stretch of an arduous campaign. Only linebacker Harlan Svare was reported unfit for duty. The Eagles were in sad shape. Only halfbacks Willie Berzinski and Ted Wegert, the latter recently recovered from an injury, were in condition to carry the ball full time.

• • •

Fullbacks Dick Bielski and Don Schaefer were hurting along with starting quarterback Bobby Thomason. The picture in the line and on the defensive team was similar.

With Chuckin' Charley Conerly showing in top form and Frank "Merriwell" Gifford and Alex Webster among the league's outstanding performers, the Giants' role of being only 7½ point favorites appeared to be somewhat out of line.

Giardello's Job Pleases Crowd

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15 (AP)—Joe Giardello's workmanlike victory over Charley Cotton pleased Cleveland fight fans last night, but they booed the Yama Bahama-Jimmy Martinez bout seen by a national television audience.

• • •

The middleweight 10-round co-features — one televised and one not—were a new twist for the 31st annual Cleveland News Toyshop Fund boxing show. It drew 9,031 customers to the Cleveland Arena, with a gate of $61,752.

Bahama won the TV fight by a unanimous decision. He said in the dressing room that he considered it a tough fight, but the fans thought it was dull.

• • •

After the eighth round, with the crowd booing, Referee Lou Parker went to Bahama's corner and whispered something which sounded to those seated nearby like, "Save the show." The final round was the most spirited of the 10.

Crane Matmen Losers in Ann Arbor Match

One "pin" and four decisions were taken in last night's wrestling bout at Ann Arbor High School by Cranbrook matmen, but they were not enough to avert the Cranes' 2nd defeat, 31-17.

Charley Heavenrich won the only Cranbrook "pin." Wins on decisions were taken by Lou O'Connor, Barry Smith, Jim Marcus and Gary Grikscheip.

Frosh Gridders Retain Status

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Freshmen remain eligible for varsity athletic competition at the 10 Southern Conference schools.

By a 5-5 vote, conference faculty representatives yesterday spiked a move to adopt the rule by which the nation's other major collegiate groups restrict students in their first year to playing on freshman teams.

Seven votes were needed to make a change. But the conference's smaller schools — The Citadel, Davidson, Furman, Richmond and Washington and Lee—banded together to keep varsity sports open to frosh.

Louis Trust Fund Target for Government Tax Body

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—The federal government appears to be making headway in its bid to seize a $65,000 trust fund set up by former heavyweight champion Joe Louis for his two children.

Attorney Aaron Payne yesterday said the U.S. Tax Court in Washington has approved the government's move and will make its decision public Monday.

• • •

Payne, who has been representing Louis in the case, said the decision will be appealed.

• • •

The government seeks to attach the fund set up for Joe Jr., 9, and Jacqueline, 13, as part payment of Louis' tax debt which was calculated early this year at $1,199,437, in taxes and interest.

The children, were born to Louis and his first wife, the former Marva Trotter. They live with their mother and her husband, Dr. Albert L. Spaulding, in Chicago.

The fund was set up with each child receiving half the money at the age of 21.

Louis has had tax troubles for years despite the fact that he earned an estimated $4,606,721 in purses. He held the heavyweight title from 1937 to 1949.

Louis says he doesn't have the money to pay his entire tax bill, but Payne said Louis paid $124,000 on his debt in the last three months.

Chief Matmen Bow, 46-7

Pontiac had an unsuccessful home debut in its first season of wrestling dropping a 46-7 decision to a veteran Berkley contingent yesterday afternoon at the PHS gym.

Heavyweight Willie Duncan was the only scorer for the home team. He picked up two points by gaining a tie in a hard-fought battle with Bear Allie. The other five Chief points were the result of a forfeit in the 112-pound class.

Three other home team grapplers made impressive showings in dropping decisions. Dave Payne (120) was defeated by Berkley capt. Lou Drew, Duke Reiyea (175) lost a close verdict to Dick Anderson, and 165-pounder Don Herron was nipped 4-3 by Al Anderson.

Scoring pins for the visitors were Larry Wright (127), regional winner last year, Clauson (133), Oltham (138) and Ranck (154). Pontiac lost by forfeit in the 145-pound class.

The locals return to action next Wednesday at Ypsilanti.

Ted Kroll won the 1956 "world championship" of golf eight days after his 37th birthday.

Prep Loop Powers Show Form

By CHUCK ABAIR

Prep basketball leagues started to take form last night with indications given as to which would be the stronger teams in their respective circuits.

Brighton and Northville lead the powers in the Wayne-Oakland Conference; Madison and Troy show strength in the Oakland-B League; Almont appears headed for another Thumb title, and Lapeer again shows strength among independents.

WAYNE-OAKLAND

Brighton bounced back from a close 1st half to whip Clarkston, 55-40. The Bulldogs held only a four-point lead going into the final periods when superior bench strength told the story.

Key man in the surge was Brian Watson who hit 12 of his 17 points during the last half. Clarkston, which is now 1-1 in loop action, was paced by George Lang and Leroy Parks with 15 and 11, respectively.

A big 3rd period cinched a 64-52 Clarenceville triumph at West Bloomfield after an evenly played first half. The pint-sized visitors made it two straight in the league led by 5-5 Larry Andrews with 17, 10 in that 3rd canto.

Dave Hanaford and Dale Devitt hooped 16 apiece for the visitors. John Lucadem scored 16 and Goldhammer 15 for the Lakers.

Northville had to hold off a gallant last quarter rally in downing Milford, 55-45, for its second W-O win as Bill Yahne was high man with 17. Pat Kelly and Frank Redman clicked for 14 apiece as the Redskins dropped their 3rd in a row.

OAKLAND-B

Madison started right from the opening whistle with a 26-point first quarter and kept rolling despite a good Dragon showing to triumph, 82-63.

Three men hit the charmed 20 circle for the Eagles. Joe Harris rung up 22, Harold Perkins and Joe Fornaresio added 20 each as the victors hit 47 percent of their shots. Ralph Maclachlan topped Orion with 18.

Troy broke away from a one-point 1st half lead by scoring 24 in the third quarter to whip Avondale by a 53-38 count.

Richie Booth and Glen Welden came off the bench to pace the victory. Wayne Figley's 14 digits led the balance Colt attack. Ken Sheehy led Avondale with 9.

A hook shot form eight feet out by center Frank Birdwell gave Fitzgerald a 38-37 verdict over Clawson in a low-scoring battle of zone defenses. Fitzgerald had held a slight edge throughout the contest until Clawson went ahead with 45 seconds to play but Birdwell wrapped it up 15 seconds later.

SOUTHERN THUMB

The Almont Raiders continued their drive for a second straight loop championship by trouncing Dryden, 73-43, for their 3rd in a row led by Jim Ostrander's 20 points.

New Haven led all the way to trip Brown City 56-37 and Memphis upended Armada, 46-42, in other contests. The latter game was deadlocked five times in the final period before Len Jakubiak's last second goal clinched it.

SOUTH CENTRAL

Oxford made things interesting for one half but could not keep up the pace in bowing to Millington, 74-41. Four players hit double numbers for the Cards. Barnes paced the losers with 17.

Reserve John Legemen came off the bench to throw in the winning goal with eight seconds left in an overtime period to give Imlay City a 61-60 nod over North Branch.

OTHER GAMES

Lapeer scoring great Tommy Wilson swished the cords for 42 points as the northerners handed Kearsley a 78-67 beating for their 3rd straight win.

Royal Oak never could recover from a 29-13 first period Grosse Pointe lead in bowing, 77-63, despite a 17-point scoring show by Fred Wasen.

Cranbrook's loss string reached five as Tecumseh won, 64-38. Bob Harris and Jim McCaul hooped nine apiece for the Cranes.

Holly evened its record at 2-2 by gaining a 56-53 triumph over Fenton on the heels of Amos Bradsher's best performance of the young season. The speedy guard tallied 26 points, including five big digits in the closing minutes.

Central Swamps Chiefs

Flint Central's "best swimming team in four years" last night entertained the PHS Chief natators with a resounding licking 64-32, while Chief cagers were administering a slap to the Indians by a convincing count.

The Valley meet at Flint wasn't one of Pontiac's better efforts, Coach Bob (Des) Boyce reported. "Central had good depth, looked real good. Our seniors came through as usual, but that's about all."

Dennis Simonson won his favorite events, the 100-yard breaststroke and the individual medley. They were Chiefs only firsts.

The summary:

50-yard freestyle won by Darnton (C); Elmer (C), 2nd; Cornforth (P), 3rd; Doerr (P), 4th. Time 26.6

100-yard breaststroke won by Simonson (P); Bolton (C), 2nd; Alquire (C), 3rd; Poponea (P), 4th. Time 1:09.2

200-yard freestyle won by Hosner (C); Figler (C), 2nd; LaMotte (P), 3rd; Tollefson (P), 4th. Times 2:15

100-yard backstroke won by Martin (C); Olbbs (P), 2nd; James (C), 3rd; Ruth (P), 4th. Time 1:10.6

100-yard orthodox breaststroke won by Lau (C); Robarge (P), 2nd; Stinson (P), 3rd; Welch (C), 4th. Time 1:16.5

100-yard freestyle won by Darnton (C); Cummins (P), 2nd; Heinrich (C), 3rd; Francis (P), 4th. Time 59.8 seconds

Bloomfield Hills Cops 33-27 Home Victory

The Bloomfield Hills Barons led all the way to post a 33-27 victory over Fraser in a non-league home contest last night.

Randy Barrett's 14 points paced the second win in three starts. Bloomfield was never headed after romping to a 11-2 first period advantage.

Varnish Team Regains Lead in P.T.T.A.

Pontiac Varnish regained 1st place in the Pontiac Table Tennis League with a 5-1 win over Frayer's while L. H. Cole Oil was beating Fleet Carrier, 4-2. The Varnish team now has 44 ponits to runner-up Cole's 43.

In other matches, Newberry Market defeated Pankey's Grill, Capitol Barber downed Moote Electric and General Conveyor trimmed Bethany Baptist, all by the 6-0 shutout route.

Miss Ellen Tiffany bested Miss Carol Ryan, 21-19, 19-21, 21-19, in the evening's most interesting match.

Rochester Quintet Handcuffs Davison

The Rochester High School basketball team bounced back into the winning column Friday night with a 59-43 victory over visiting Davison.

Four Rochester cagers scored in double figures. Dave Peters was tops with 13 points, followed by Dave Eldred with 12, Gordon Montross with 11 and Jim Van Nocker with 10. Ken Fulcher's 10 points here high for Davison.

The Falcons grabbed a 16-8 1st quarter lead and were never headed. Their halftime advantage was 27-21. Davison trailed by margins of six to 10 points throughout the game.

It was Rochester's 2nd triumph in three starts this season.

Chips Take Beating From Illinois Five

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP) — Central Michigan College was unbeaten and ranked eighth among the nation's small college basketball teams in defense before last night's encounter with Eastern Illinoi s.

Today the Chippewas ranking wasn't so good. The Illinois Teachers poured through Central defense for an 87-59 triumph in an Interstate Conference game.

Vikings Rout Jays, 84-59; Berkley Crushes Skippers

By BILL CORNWELL

A classy Walled Lake quintet successfully opened its drive for the Inter-Lakes Conference basketball championship with a convincing 84-59 victory over Southfield last night in the spacious Southfield gymnasium.

But a towering Berkley High School team served notice that it is also an Inter-Lakes power to be reckoned with by crushing visiting Waterford, 72-41.

Framington, considered a "dark horse" in pre-season forecasts, started its I-L campaign with a 40-31 triumph over Van Dyke on the Farmington court.

Once the Viking cagers made up their minds to begin rolling, the Southfield club was never in the ball game. The 84 points scored by Walled Lake—and the total could have gone much higher—is believed to be a new school record.

Walled Lake enjoyed an 18-13 lead entering the 2nd quarter, but a brief Southfield rally put the Bluejays ahead, 21-20. At this point the Vikings called a time out.

The rest proved an invigorating tonic. The Vikings proceeded to storm into a commanding 42-28 advantage at halftime, then bury the Jays under a 32-point flurry in the 3rd period before coach Bill Ullenbruch mercifully emptied his bench.

The Viking offense moved in high gear for the 1st time this season. Last night's attack far exceeded anything Walled Lake had shown in three previous wins.

* * *

Three Viking players hit double figures in the scoring column. John Walker was tops with 26 points, Larry Hughes was right behind with 25 and Dean Hess tallied 16. Mel Alldredge, a standout performer for Southfield, made 23 points.

Berkley's runaway verdict was equally impressive. The Skippers never had any voice in the decision, trailing by a 17-5 margin going into the 2nd quarter and falling completely out of contention at intermission, 44-20.

Sparking the rangy Bears was 6-5 center Jim Zalenski with 17 points. Gary Price notched 14 points and Dave Neiger chipped in with 13. Waterford's only consolation was Chuck Gillis, who took scoring honors with 22 points.

Farmington led Van Dyke all the way, but was never out of danger. Bud Jones paced the Falcons with 18 points.

'Frozen Ball' Tactics Hold Tilt for Utica

Utica High School cagers utilized the "frozen ball" tactic to ice its non-league victory over Romeo last night on the Utica floor.

The Bi-County league club went ahead in the 3rd period after the count had been knotted four times, then froze the ball for the final four minutes of the game to win 42-31.

During the "freeze" Utica players were fouled four times and they converted five times on the "one-and-one" basis.

Win was Utica's second without a defeat. Romeo dropped its 3rd straight.

Four Utica players hit double figures, one for Romeo. Top scorer was Jim Cole of Utica with 14, including a string of eight free throws.

MSU Hockey Squad Begins Western Trip

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's hockey squad sets out today on a 15-day trip to the West.

Its first business will be a two-game Western Intercollegiate Hockey League series with the University of Denver Dec. 18-19.

Then the 16-man squad moves on for a two game series with Colorado College Dec. 21 and 22.

Mountain Hoops 28 in Ram Win

St. Fred Whips St. James; OL St. Mary Wallops St. Rita

St. Frederick and Orchard Lake St. Mary both used big early leads to coast to easy wins in Suburban Catholic League games last night. St. Benedict tripped Royal Oak in the other loop tilt.

The Rams romped to a 20-4 first period advantage and went on from there to hand St. James a 56-45 beating as big Bill Mountain tallied 28 points.

It was the second St. Fred triumph in three starts with its loop mark now standing 1-1. Ray Rietl and Howard Watts carried the losing attack with 12 digits apiece.

Orchard Lake raced to 15-3 margin and increased that to 27-15 at halftime in slamming St. Rita, 53-36.

Pete Madelans paced the visitors at their third straight victory with 18 points. Fran Frankowiak added 10. Jim Jacobs hit 12 for St. Rita.

17 Class D Team Entries New High in City League

Seventeen Class D teams have entered the City Basketball League for the 1956-57 season, an all-time high in City League annals, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced.

In order to obtain the best balance of competition, the 17 teams have been divided into three divisions, the Parks and Recreation Department stated.

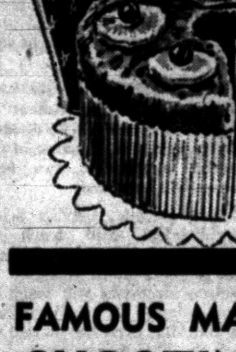

The top division has been named the American League. Comprising the American loop are the State Spartans, Wolverines, Bussey's Whirlwinds, Boys Club, Booth Homes and Pietz Market.

Another six teams make up the National League, or 2nd division. These include Home Lunch, Beedle's Cut-Rate, Blue Devils, Green's P & H, Elks and Doodlebugs.

The 3rd division has been tabbed the International League and consists of the remaining five teams. Included are the Blackhawks, Coca Cola Hawks, Central, Celtics and Northerns.

Class D competition gets under way Monday night. All games will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of each week at Lincoln Junior High.

American League contests are scheduled Mondays, National games Tuesdays and International Tilts Wednesdays, beginning at 7 p.m. Class D teams are composed of boys 18 years old and under.

'The Christmas Spirit' to Be Shown Wednesday

The annual Church School Family Night Dinner of the First Presbyterian Church will be held in the dining room at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The program will include the singing of carols, a brief devotion and the film, "The Christmas Spirit." The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will be in charge.

Hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. William Kreklow, Mr. and Mrs. William Godfrey, Mrs. Martha Mock, and Esther Voorheis.

Others are the Herbert McCullochs, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Drury, Vera Bassett, Mrs. Arthur Warwick, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Scott, Mrs. George Tremper, Mrs. Harry Pattison and Mr. and Mrs. William Olmstead.

The junior department will meet for their Christmas party on Dec. 22 at 2 p.m. in the church dining room.

Instead of the usual exchange of gifts, an offering will be brought for Korean orphanages under the sponsorship of the Presbyterian Church.

Several of these orphanages were organized by missionary, Dr. Peter Van Lierop, whose wife is the daughter of a former Pontiac pastor, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Creswell.

The young people's program tomorrow will be organized around the film, "A Boy and His Bible."

Devotions in the Pioneer Society will be led by Deitre Kaiser. Refreshments will be provided by Mrs. Patricia Bryce and Mrs. Orrin Huntoon.

Devotions in the Tuxis Society will be led by Karen Beam with Ron Newman in charge of refreshments.

The Christmas offering at the First Presbyterian Church, which is being received throughout the Advent Season, is designated for Hungarian Relief.

Christmas Carols, Playlets, Scheduled

The Rev. T. C. Montgomery of Decatur, Ala. is speaking at the revivial meetings being held at 7:30 each evening in the First United Pentecostal Church, 324 N. Perry St. Services will continue through Dec. 21.

The annual Christmas program will be next Saturday evening with young people participating. Christmas carols will be sung and two playlets will be presented by the Intermediate and Happy Heart classes.

Following a brief message by the pastor, the Rev. Marvin P. Hester, gifts will be distributed. Earlier in the season the members drew names for giving a gift at Christmas. The South Flint Tabernacle members will be guests.

Mrs. Robert Blassengame is director of the plays and William Pack directs the music with Mrs. Wilbert Fairless, piano accompanist.

Mission Efforts Hurt in Egypt

Shut 2 British Schools; Activity Slows Down at U.S. Station

The outbreak of hostilities in Egypt represents "a serious setback" for Christian missionary work there and in other sections of the Middle East, it was reported.

Although U. S. missionary activity in Egypt has generally not been curtailed, the British and French military action has "seriously compromised" the missionary efforts of the churches of those countries, said Dr. Roland Scott, New York, secretary of the Near East Committee of the National Council of Churches.

He said reports had been received from U. S. missionaries in Egypt, to the effect that two major British mission stations representing about 25 per cent of the total Protestant missionary activity in the country have been closed. In addition, some 60 British missionaries have been placed under "protective custody."

He said all of the approximately 300 U. S. missionaries in the country are staying on the job. Only mothers with small children have been evacuated.

* * *

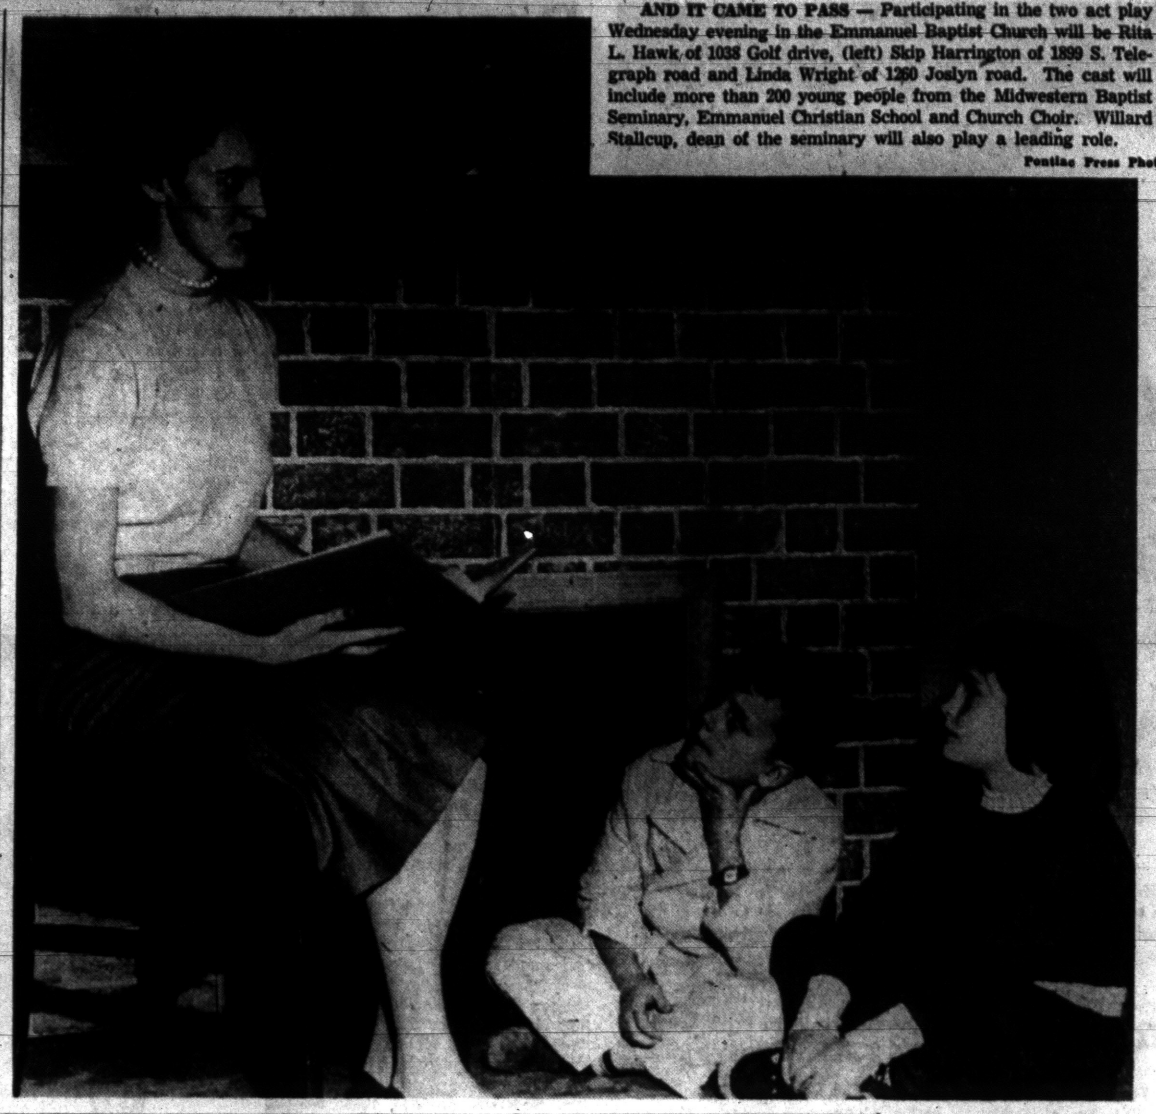

He said his office had received nothing to indicate that missionaries of any nationality are being threatened. He interpreted the fact that British missionaries have been placed under "protective custody" as "a conscientious effort on the part of the Egyptian Government to protect them."

All schools, including those of U. S. mission stations, had previously been closed by the Egyptian government at the outbreak of hostilities.

Union Christian Youths Fly South to Meeting

The American delegation to the Inter-American Consultation at Barranquilla, Colombia, Dec. 20-23 left Miami by air Dec. 4. The delegation of ten from the United Christian Youth Movement held a three-day briefing session in Miami before departing for Cuba, Haiti, Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico en route to Colombia.

The group led by the Rev. John S. Wood, associate executive secretary to UCYM, will also participate in the Congress of the Union of Latin American Evangelical Youth at Barranquilla Dec. 10-20.

AND IT CAME TO PASS — Participating in the two act play Wednesday evening in the Emmanuel Baptist Church will be Rita L. Hawk of 1038 Golf drive, (left) Skip Harrington of 1899 S. Telegraph road and Linda Wright of 1260 Joslyn road. The cast will include more than 200 young people from the Midwestern Baptist Seminary, Emmanuel Christian School and Church Choir. Willard Stallcup, dean of the seminary will also play a leading role.

Church Parties for Christmas

Marimont Baptists Set Schedule for Primary, Junior, Young People

Christmas parties will start today at the Marimont Baptist Church with the primary department. The party will be from 4 to 6 p.m.

The Junior department party will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 22 with the Intermediate group party starting at 7:30 the same evening.

* * *

The Young People's Class, taught by Jack Taylor, will hold their festivities on the evening of Dec. 29 at 7:30.

At the beginning of the new year, the adult department of the Sunday School will be divided into five classes. Because of increased attendance, two new classes will be added.

Robert Gavette, Sunday School superintendent, will teach the Young Married Couples' Class of those 25 years old or younger.

Nelson Matthews will teach the group between 26 to 35 years of age and Mrs. Fred Hassenzahl will teach the 36 to 45 age group.

* * *

The teacher for the 46 to 55 age group will be Charles Plumb and E. A. Lundsen, adult department superintendent, will be teaching those 56 years old and up.

* * *

The Marimont Baptists are expecting to move into the new assembly and class room soon.

Ministers Diagnosis—Many Churches Dead

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—A Minister says too many churches are dead and don't know it.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Spike, of the Congregational Christian Churches, told a church conference:

"There is always a need to examine the internal life of the fellowship to see if the heart is still beating or whether it is just the involuntary twitching of the muscles of a dead body."

Rev. G. W. Gibson Accepts Call to Central Christian

REV. GERALD W. GIBSON

Coming to Pontiac to become pastor of Central Christian Church is the Rev. Gerald W. Gibson of Livonia.

* * *

He received his elementary training from the schools of Findlay and Rawson, Ohio.

On Sept. 22, 1934, he was married to the former Leota V. Wolfrom of Mount Cory, Ohio.

The Gibsons moved to Cincinnati in 1942 where Mr. Gibson entered the Cincinnati Bible Seminary. Here he received his training in theology and practical evangelism. He has since taken work at Illinois State Teachers' College.

* * *

The Rev. Mr. Gibson was ordained by the Elders of Central Church of Christ in Findlay on Dec. 26, 1943.

During his student days at Bible Seminary, he preached in churches in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. On Jan. 28, 1945, Mr. Gibson accepted the call to the Christian Church of Marshall, Ill., where he served nearly 12 years.

Born on June 6, 1911 in Findlay, he is the son of Elmer and Inez Gibson.

* * *

During his ministry in Marshall 13 young people became full time or life recruits to the ministry. The Gibsons have three children. Beverly, who attended Lincoln Bible Institute, is now married to the Rev. Loyal Gallaher of the Christian Church in Medora, Ill.; Roger is studying at Lincoln, and Jeanette is a sophomore in Pontiac High School.

* * *

On Friday evening at 7:30, the Primary, Junior and Intermediate departments of the Church School will present the annual Christmas program.

Included will be recitations, songs and a playlet, "Love Lights the Christmas Tree."

* * *

Mrs. Grover Remley is general chairman assisted by the department teachers. Mrs. Jack Storm will be accompanist. Following the program, Santa Claus will visit the children in Friendship Hall. Roy Riley is superintendent of the Sunday School.

Lutherans Meet to Discuss Union Into Single Body

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioners representing four Lutheran Church bodies met this week to explore steps to bring their 2,861,000 combined membership into a single united group.

The two-day meeting was sponsored by the United Lutheran Church in America, largest Lutheran body in America with 2,270,000 members, and the Augustana Lutheran Church of 536,000 communicants.

Participating also were 35,000-member Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church (Suomi Synod) and the 20,000-member American Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The commissions were headed by Dr. Clark Franklin Fry of New York, president of the United Lutheran Church in America; Dr. Oscar Benson of Minneapolis, president of the Augustana Group; Dr. Raymond W. Wargelin, Hancock, Mich., president of the Suomi group, and Dr. Alfred Jensen, Des Moines, president of the American Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Baptist Church to Present Play

250 Students to Act in 'No Room for Him,' on Wednesday Evening

"No Room for Him," an original two-act play, will be presented at the Emmanuel Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

* * *

The cast, made up of Emmanuel Church School students, Midwestern Baptist Seminary students and the Emmanuel Baptist Church Choir, will number over 250.

Leading roles will be taken by Willard Stallcup, dean of the seminary; Rita Hawk, teacher at the school; Linda Wright and Skip Harrington, students of the school.

* * *

These four will portray Christmas Eve in a typical American home. The plot centers around Carl who seems to have little room for Christ in his Christmas plans or his life.

Later as the Christmas story is told from the point of view of the innkeeper at Bethlehem who had no room for Him on the first Christmas, Carl finds room in his heart for Christ.

* * *

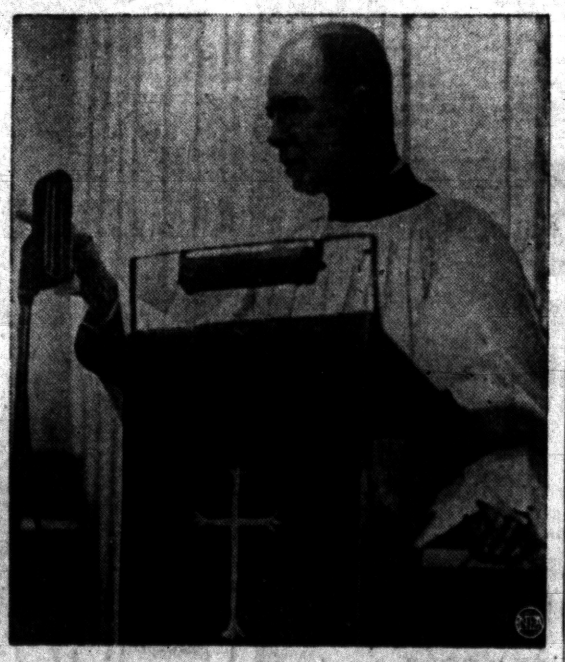

An interesting feature of the program is the pleasant turn from realism to fantasy as the Christmas toys come to life at midnight.

Research on Uptake

CHICAGO — Spending in the United States for organized research and development climbed to nearly five billion dollars in 1955 compared with $175,000,000 in 1935. When the inflation factor is removed, that's an increase of nearly 1,200 per cent, according to Dr. Haldon A. Leedy, director of Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Another North Pole

NORTH POLE, Colo. (AP)—That dateline is official now, even though North Pole, Colo. is in the southern part of the state. Santa's Workshop, a tourist attraction at the base of Pikes Peak, got official postoffice designation from the federal government.

RED BARBER TALKING — Sportscaster Red Barber delivers a sermon at St. Barnabas Hospital chapel in New York. Barber, a lay reader in the Episcopal Church and chairman of the Board of Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of New York, is preaching at hospitals during the Christmas season.

Baptists in Joint Effort Revealed at Convention

Much of the thinking at the midyear meetings related to the projected plans for a joint effort of the seven major Baptist fellowships of North America in the year 1959 to 1964.

This is to be a cooperative five-year emphasis upon evangelism, leading up to the observance of the "third jubilee" in 1964—the 150th anniversary of the organization of Baptist missionary work in America.

It is the desire of American Baptist Convention leaders to have a worthy part in this simultaneous program, and everything is being done to conform the plans and programs of the Convention to the format outlined by the joint committee.

Evangelism through (1959) Cooperative Witness; (1960) Bible Teaching and Training; (1961) Stewardship and Enlistment; (1962) Church Extension; (1963) World Mission; and (1964) Third Jubilee.

* * *

The General Council approved the holding of a 50th anniversary observation on May 17, 1957, in the Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., where the formation of the Convention was instituted 50 years ago. District of Columbia Baptists are planning the celebration.

Similar "parties" will be held by Baptist churches and area groups all across the land.

Delegates to the convention in Philadelphia, May 39-June 4, 1957, will witness an historical pageant depicting the development of the American Baptist Church life during 250 years.

1st Open Bible Holds Meetings

Founder, Director of Rescue Mission Speaks to Boys, Girls

The "Boys and Girls Round-Up" being held at the First Open Bible Church, 1517 Joslyn Road, will continue tonight and tomorrow, both morning and evening.

The Rev. L. A. MacDonald, founder and director of the Port Huron Gospel Rescue Mission Inc., is the speaker.

Known as "Uncle Mac," he brings the young people the Bible message with object lessons. Also believing in wholesome fun, he entertains the groups with magic, rope tricks, contests and music.

His work at the Rescue Mission prompted him into working with boys and girls in other communities.

Tonight and tomorrow night the service will begin at 7. Bus transportation will be available to anyone by calling FE 2-8497. The service is over between 8:30 and 9 p.m.

The Kolenda Trio of Detroit will be a special feature this evening. Mr. McDonald's subject will be "Heading for the Last Round-Up."

The Rev. Trenton Staton, pastor, stated that everyone is invited regardless of race or creed.

Philadelphia to Mark Bill of Rights Ratification

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Richardson Dilworth has proclaimed tomorrow as Bill of Rights Day in Philadelphia.

The first 10 amendments to the Constitution became effective Dec. 15, 1791, after ratification by state legislatures. The Philadelphia Bar Assn. has scheduled a series of observances in historic churches to commemorate the ratification.

Five Words Short-Circuit Tension, Change Man's Life

Five Church Groups Join to Set Up Bible Program

Twelve southern states have organized a Southern Committee on the Use and Understanding of the Bible. Meeting at Wesley Memorial Methodist Church at Atlanta, Ga. last month, representatives of five denominations and various church organizations set up a committee "to strengthen and increase Bible programs" in state and local councils of churches, the United Church Women, denominational and interdenominational Bible committees, ministerial associations.

Chairman of the new committee is the Rev. William Belk of Orlando, Florida. The new group is working on plans to promote Bible studies in town and country churches, urban churches, and denominational programs.

The group will also plan community distribution of scriptures, Bible center community projects, a Bible hymn festival, and a Bible workshop.

At the Atlanta meeting were executives from eight state councils of churches and United Church Women, the American Bible Society, the National Council of Churches and Congregational Christian, Disciples, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations.

* * *

The states represented were Alabama, Arksansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

Children Carol, Perform, Recite

Upper Grades Present Pageant in Nine Scenes at Grace Lutheran

Children of Beginners through the Second Grade Class of the Sunday School of Grace Lutheran Church will present their Christmas service, "Come Ye All to Bethlehem," at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

It will consist of Christmas carols, recitations, and a tableau of the Birth of Christ.

Each child will bring a can of food as a gift to the Lutheran Children's Friend Society in Bay City.

The Children's Service is directed by Mrs. Ralph Rotsel, assisted by the other teachers. The musical director is Mrs. James B. Forman and the organist, John Quitmeyer.

The annual Christmas pageant will be presented by the upper grades at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 23. The narrator will be Warren Norlund.

The Christmas event of long ago will be depicted in nine scenes.

As the story unfolds the Children's Choir, the mass Sunday School Choir and the Junior Choir will render a variety of Christmas carols.

The pageant is directed by Mrs. Clair Smith, assisted by parents and the Sunday School staff.

Howard Guelker, John Hill and Walter Lange are in charge of stage properties. Robert H. Schapler is Sunday School superintendent.

To 'Popularize' Church Services in Sweden

STOCKHOLM—The Swedish Lutheran State Church, taking some tips from churches in the United States, is embarking on a large-scale revival and advertising campaign. The aim is to make services more popular and attract bigger congregations.

* * *

Sermons will be cut to 30 minutes from their present length of an hour or so, the church choirs will be placed in full view of the congregations, and many churches will have a children's chorus as well as an adult choir.

Advertisements will be run in daily papers. Services will be tape-recorded so ministers can eliminate flaws.

Bishop Helge Ljungberg of Stockholm said: "We in the Swedish State Church find ourselves in a static position.

Experiences, especially from the United States, prove that much can be achieved by modern advertising and propaganda methods."

Youth Fellowship Will Lead Worship

The Builders' Youth Fellowship of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church will be in charge of the evening worship service tomorrow night at 7:30.

A carol sing will be led by Roland Williams and Darryl Mahan will give the origin of carol singing. Marcia Shepherd and Donald Cox will assist in the service. A vocal duet will be sung by Gwen and Marilyn Vernon.

A film, "The Christmas Spirit," will be shown following the devotional period. At the close of the service, the young people will go caroling.

A Christmas pageant entitled "God's Supreme Gift" will be presented by members of the Bible School at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 23 in the sanctuary.

Colorful costumes, special lighting effects and musical selections by groups and individuals are being planned by Mrs. Gloria Luck, youth director, and Joyce Sweet, Bible School superintendent.

New Bethel Baptists Celebrate 30th Year

The Senior Choir of New Bethel Baptist Church is sponsoring a program in commemoration of their 30th anniversary at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Elder Markum, pastor of the Church of God on Nebraska St., will bring the message.

The Senior Choir of the St. James Missionary Baptist Church will be the guest choir.

Mrs. Norman Joseph is president of the New Bethel Choir and the Rev. William H. Bell is pastor.

Sky Is Church Roof

Tjang To is just a lump of rock, half a square mile large, rising out of the ocean. Amongst the 300 humble inhabitants there are 32 Catholics and 100 catechumens—but no priest is stationed there, nor have they been able to build a church. The people are able to construct the walls, but they have no money to buy the roof.

Confident Living

God Is Blessing You Now Was Message of Peace

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A friend of mine told me the other day about a man who had been very nervous and tense. His inner stress was reflected in his demeanor and attitude. He was so badly off that he even transmitted his nervousness to people with whom he came in contact.

DR. PEALE

He was doing his Christmas shopping recently and went into a store to buy something. He was his usual nervous self, but the saleslady in that shop seemed to be an unusually calm and quiet sort of woman.

He selected an item and paid for it. When the saleslady returned his change she noticed that his hand trembled, and with quick perception she sensed his tension.

She looked down at the trembling hand and then up at his drawn face and said in kindly tones, "God is blessing you now." Then she turned away to serve another customer.

Startled by this curious remark, the man walked out of the shop and down the street. The woman's words inipressed and moved him strangely. There was a tingling sensation in his palm and he remembered the fleeting touch of this kindly and spiritual woman as she put the change in his hand.

Even more her words, "God is blessing you now," were engraved in his consciousness. He repeated them to himself, personalizing them as, "God is blessing me now."

* * *

For days these words ran through his mind like a line from a song he could not place, yet could not forget. Then, one day he noticed that his hands no longer shook and that he was beginning to have an inner sense of peace.

FELT NEW PEACE

As he continued to think of God as blessing him, he seemed to feel a comforting and sustaining presence hovering about him. For the first time in months his mind was free from turmoil. Presently the words "God is blessing me now" ceased to be only an affirmation. They became real fact.

In time the spiritual process begun by his chance meeting (or was it chance?) with a God-filled saleswoman changed his life.

* * *

William Blake, the great poet, described such a creative spiritual experience when he wrote: "I have indeed fought thro' a Hell of terrors and horrors (which none could know but myself) in a divided existence; now no longer divided nor at war with myself, I shall travel on in the strength of the Lord God . . ."

And St. John of the Cross spoke of a similar experience when he wrote: "And then all her former fear falls away, and she knows clearly that she is free, and sings with joy to see herself in such serene and tranquil peace."

These are examples of the experience of God's presence which come to people in life. If you have not had such an experience, it could well be the thing you need most. Judging by the remarkable things I have known to happen to people who have centered their lives around God, I can only hope that you too may find the same power and peace.

This erstwhile nervous man has now made it his policy to share his new experience of joyous living with others and finds that the more he gives the better he feels.

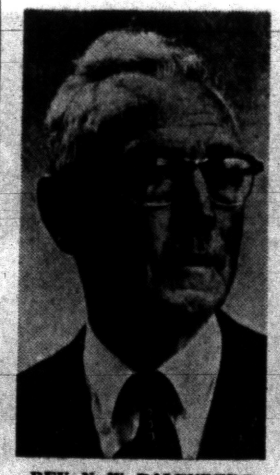

* * *

At the Christmas season we have a peculiar opportunity to feel that sense of God's presence which can revitalize our lives. It's a curious phenomenon how the stimulated flow of goodwill which characterizes the days before Christmas makes everyone happier. What is the meaning of this widespread transformation of spirit?

There is only one answer. We are all thinking of others, of how we can make them happy through our gifts. Everyone is living, to a degree at least, by the outgoing attitude of love.

The atmosphere created by this infectious spirit makes it possible for Christ to draw near. It is His mystic presence which causes that deep feeling of excitement and joy in our hearts. And the more you give of yourself the more you will realize the basic meaning of Christmas, which, in a word, is — God is always here.

Church Council Stresses Need for Refugee Aid

The General Board of the National Council of Churches adopted a resolution stressing the "comparative need" for legislation to cope with refugee problems, present and future, and endorsed a nationwide two-million-dollar emergency relief appeal to aid refugees.

The campaign, to extend through December and January, will be conducted through the 144,000 local churches of the 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions that are members of the National Council of Churches.

Dr. Harold G. Jones, Claremont, California, president of the Southern California Council of Protestant Churches, called for use of comity and "statesmanlike" founding of churches in mushrooming sections of the state.

Stores Heed Churches

Major chain food stores in Dayton, O., are now closed on Sunday for the first time in a year. Officials of three chains operating about 50 stores in the area said they are closing "in the best interest of the community." Church groups had taken a strong stand against Sunday business by the stores.

Church Choirs Give Program

British Church Gets Americans' Donation

LONDON (AP)—An American gift of $70,000 was handed to Britain's Royal Air Force today to help restore a London church shattered by wartime German bombing.

* * *

The money was contributed by U.S. servicemen and civilians all over the world. It will be used to provide an organ for St. Clement Danes, the RAF church.

Maj. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, commander of the U.S. Air Force in Britain said the gift would serve as a reminder that "we are still willing if need be to fight and to die together to maintain the principles we hold basic to our way of life."

* * *

The restored church will contain a book of remembrance with the names of the many thousands of U.S. airmen who died in World War II flying from airfields in Britain.

All Protestant Churches Seek Money to Aid Work

American Protestant churches are seeking to raise $325,000 by Christmas to aid work among Hungarian refugees.

Goal of the campaign to be conducted by Church World Service, cooperative international refugee relief agency of the National Council of Churches, was announced by Dr. R. Norris Wilson, its executive director, on his return last week from a five-day inspection tour of the refugee situation in Austria.

He told a crowded press conference at CWS New York headquarters that "the greatest need of the hour is for America to open wide her immigration doors as a second asylum for the Hungarian victims of Soviet terror."

He said Austria has shown "magnificent courage and generosity" in giving some 100,000 refugees temporary asylum, but Austria is poor and cannot keep them indefinitely. It's up to America to show equal generosity in their hour of need, he declared.

Answering newspaper accounts that relief work in Austria is chaotic, Dr. Wilson said it is "a miracle the work has gone forward as well as it has in view of the strain and inherent chaos in a situation like this."

He said that although religious agencies are concentrating on helping members of their own faith when they arrive in this country, there is no distinction being made in help given at centers in Austria.

Meanwhile CWS officials and staffs of other refugee aid groups were working around the clock at Camp Kilmer, N. J., to help in the resettlement.

Find Your Place in Sunday School
THERE'S A PLACE FOR YOU

J. Edgar Hoover says, "The Sunday School can become our guarantee for tomorrow. . . . There is no substitute for religion and the Sunday School."

Perhaps you have been substituting something else for religion and the Sunday School, and you realize there is a lack in your life.

You may not have realized that there is a lack in the Sunday School too, because you are not there. We need you. We have classes for men, women, boys and girls of all ages. You'll find the Sunday School has the answer to the need of your life. You'll find it a place to learn, to worship, to fellowship and to serve. Join us this Sunday. We'll be looking for you.

Children to Bring Gifts of Toys, Clothing to Creche

The children of Christ Church Cranbrook will have a special part in one of the best loved traditions, the Festival of Gifts.

The pageant of the Shepherds and the Wise Men following the Star to the Christ Child, with the children following them to the Creche, will be reenacted at both the 9:30 and 11:15 morning services Sunday.

Each child will bring an unwrapped gift of a new toy or new clothing which he will leave by the Creche.

On the following day, the Family Visiting Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary group will choose gifts for the families for which they are responsible.

The remainder will be apportioned to other agencies, including Family Service of Oakland County, Michigan Bureau of Social Aid, Pontiac State Hospital, Visiting Nurses Ass'n, Polio Hospital, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Pontiac General Hospital, Big Brother's Boys, Boys at Camp Oakland and Teen-agers at the Oakland County Children's Home.

Special needs from these groups are filled from funds provided by contributions by Cranbrook, Kingswood, and Brookside Schools, the Woman's Auxiliary and contributions to the alms basin near the Creche.

The weekly Recovery Inc. meeting will be held at Christ Church at 8 p.m. Tuesday and at 8 p.m. Wednesday the Alcoholics Anonymous Group will meet.

College students home for the holidays will meet with other young people at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for Corporate Communion in St. Dunstan's Chapel. Breakfast will follow in the dining room from 9:30 to 11:30.

Phyllis Peters Presents Recital

Fellowship Sponsors Annual Vesper Service at Galloway Lake

The Youth Fellowship of Galloway Methodist Church will present Phyllis Peters in a piano recital at the annual Christmas Vesper Sunday evening at 5:30.

Miss Peters' program will include several Christmas selections, the first Movement of Sonata Pathetique by Beethoven, two numbers from Chopin, Waltz in E Minor and a contemporary group including Gershwin's Third Prelude and Dream of Owan by Williams.

The Rev. Bob Shelton, missionary to Indo-China, home for the holidays, will be heard in a group of three solos, "Breaking the ground," "There is Room in My Heart" and "O Holy Night."

Coming from Maryland where she studied at the Potomac State College, Miss Peters is presently engaged at the Detroit Conservatory of Music and also accompanies vocal groups at Pontiac high School.

Tom Fidler, Larry Bailey, Don Decker and Gerry Bertrand will act as ushers. Several of the girls of the youth group will be responsible for the coffee and cocoa hour which follows. The Fred Feekarts of Lapeer road are sponsors of the group.

Church Group Works Toward Mission Aid

A special committee has been at work for a year or more in drafting plans for an American Baptist Foundation to encourage and facilitate living and testamentary gifts toward the total world mission of American Baptists, or designated areas of it.

The committee, headed by Dr. M. Forest Ashbrook of the M & M Board, submitted a report at Green Lake. The idea was approved in principle, and the committee was asked to submit legal proposals for a simple, non-competitive organization, without paid secretary.

Youths Take Tour

Six church youth leaders of five nations left New York last week for a three months' study tour of Latin and South American Protestant youth programs. Aim of the trip is to strengthen ties between Protestant youth of the two hemispheres.

Team members represent the U. S., Canada, France, South India and Switzerland. Sponsors are the Youth Department of the World Council of Churches and the World Council of Christian Education.

Church Building Zooms

Despite the usual lag in building activity in the late fall, church construction throughout the nation reached $76,000,000 during October, report the Departments of Commerce and Labor. This is $2,000,000 more than in September and $5,000,000 higher than the August total. It was also $8,000,000 above the record of October, 1955.

New Baptist Resolution

In a resolution of welcome to the University Baptist Church of Tulsa, Okla., which recently voted to cooperate with the American Baptist Convention, the General Council confirmed Article I of the convention by-laws which states, concerning membership, that "The constituency of the American Baptist Convention shall be all Baptist churches in the United States which cooperate in its work."

'Wise Men and Star,' Morning Topic at Unity

At 11 a.m. Sunday in the Unity Church of Oakland County, Mrs. Blanche Joki will speak on "The Wise Men and the Star." The service will be held in the church rooms at 71½ N. Saginaw street. Sunday School classes will meet at the same time.

Mrs. Joki will conduct the class on "Let There Be Light" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Bishops' Council Endorses U.N.

Methodist Churchmen Deplore Nations Taking Law Into Own Hands

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — The Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church strongly endorsed the United Nations recently as "the only agency legally empowered to maintain peace."

* * *

The bishops, in adopting the resolution, took a side swipe at individual nations who "take the law into their own hands," and praised the Eisenhower administration for insisting on international peace action only through the UN charter.

* * *

The bishops' council, meeting in Pasadena, pointed to the Soviet government as "destitute of moral scruple and devoid of moral principle and said that individual nations which apply force in world affairs thereby place themselves in the same category as the Soviets.

The resolution calls for material and moral support to the people of Hungary in their revolt and pleads for the American people "to be informed" on workings of their own government. It states:

"We must know the UN. There are forces that would destroy it. Let us defend, strengthen and improve it."

Turkey Was Birthplace

ISTANBUL — Turkey was the birthplace of Diogenes, the famous philosopher who lived in a barrel. He was born in 413 B.C. in Sinop in northern Turkey on the Black Sea coast. Herodotus, the "father of history," was born about 484 B.C. in Bodrum, the ancient Halicarnassus, in western Turkey on the Aegean coast.

Elders Eat Less

CHICAGO—The food and nutrition board of the National Research Council reports that a man at age 65 needs 600 calories a day fewer than the 2,400 to 3,000 required at age 25. In women the difference was placed at 500 calories, or 1,500 to 1,900 daily.

Ortonville Church Elects New Staff

ORTONVILLE—New officers of the Baptist Church, which had its annual meeting on Wednesday, include Howard T. Burt, deacon, Mrs. Ruth Tuckkekr, deaconess; Mrs. Helen Conley, clerk; Mrs. Clarence Allen, treasurer; and Mrs. Dale Dickason, missionary treasurer.

* * *

The staff also includes Sunday School Superintendent Robert Kowalsky, Chorister Howard T. Burt, organist, Mrs. Ava Burt, assistant organist, Carolyn Allen, and pianist, Carol Burt.

* * *

Senior ushers are Clarence, Alfred and Norinan Allen and Milton Moss, and junior ushers, Jerry Martin, Linford Alden, David Kowalsky and Milton Moss Jr.

* * *

Amount of money received for general fund from December 1955 to this month was $8,216, with $2,360 taken in for missionary purposes.

Your Neighbor's House:

Trees Add Beauty to Lemaux Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"It's the house with the birch trees in front." How pleasant to have a landmark for a new house. Unlike many of the new subdivisions, Hammond Lake Estates has many magnificent trees on the lots. In addition to the 11 birch trees in the front yard of the Daryl Lemaux home, there are several huge oaks in the rear.

To the Lemaux' who for years lived in an apartment this new home is both a cherished possession and a challenge. Mrs. Lemaux had to give up some of her golfing hours last summer in order to help put in the lawn, then keep it watered. But this care paid off, and the Lemaux' really have a lawn to be proud of.

Now that their son, Bob, is married Mr. and Mrs. Lemaux are alone. But they enjoy having lots of just plain living room after having a small place for so long. Of course, there's Whiskers the 13-year-old wire-haired terrier. He's deaf and doesn't move so spryly as he once did.

The entrance hall which is fairly long and narrow is papered in an attractive gold and white paper. Near the front door there is a coat closet.

The living room and dining room are carpeted in rose beige. Walls are sand color. Floor-to-ceiling curtains are sheer white material.

One living room wall and the half wall between the dining and living rooms are yellow brick. On top of the half wall is a planter box with a profusion of green plants. Being able really to grow plants is another joy Mrs. Lemaux is experiencing in her new home.

The fireplace in one corner of the brick wall has a screen around two sides. The slab hearth is raised about a foot off the floor. There is no mantel.

All the chairs are upholstered ones; the tables traditional mahogany. The sofa is pale green. There are two arm chairs covered in a rough textured beige fabric.

Next to the fireplace is a red chair and matching footstool. Over in the window corner is a mahogany chair with gold satin upholstery.

In the dining room the walls are paneled part way with mahogany. Furniture in a darker shade of mahogany blends well. The table, set in front of the window, is a drop leaf one.

Beyond the living room, also at the back of the house, is the TV room. Three walls of this room are paneled in African mahogany; the fourth wall is painted pale green. On this wall a pass-through to the kitchen has been cut. The ceiling is cream.

The floor is corktone tile with a sand colored cotton rug on it. Matchstick bamboo curtains hang at the double windows and on the door leading to the patio.

Two small wrought iron sofas are placed on opposite sides of the room. These have cushions of rough textured fabric, brown with a gold glint. The legs are brass tipped. There is also a wrought iron chair and matching stool with brown, black and beige checked cushions. In the corner is a wrought iron table with a beige plastic top.

Passing from the TV room to the kitchen we go through the utility room. It has overhead storage cupboards. Beyond that is a small lavatory.

Although the kitchen is long and narrow, it has room in one end for a breakfast table. This is the section of the room under the pass-through to the TV room. Louvered doors fold back on either side of the opening.

A dado of birch covers the lower walls around the table. Above the wood is wallpaper. There is also wallpaper on the other side of the room, a border all the way across one wall.

The floor is striped in red and yellow. Cupboards are birch. Drawer fronts and sink are coppertone. There is a copper hood over the stove. Walls on the work side of the kitchen are yellow. The curtains have a stripe of tiny red flowers on a white background.

The bedroom wing of the house can be shut off from the living area with a sliding door. First room on the right is the bathroom. The floor and lower walls are pink tile. Above is white paper with a pink and gold design. Fixtures are pink; curtains white. The white scatter rugs have a gold stripe in them.

Across from the bath is the den. This small room has sand colored walls like the living room. Here the floor is vinyl tile. For relaxation there's a studio couch covered in gold corduroy. A lounge chair and the draperies are flowered in brown, yellow and green.

The guest room at the front of the house has a nice corner window with sheer white draperies. Walls and carpeting are gold. The spread on the double bed has a minute flower pattern.

In the Lamaux' bedroom the walls are pale green. The carpeting is rose beige with a circular design. Sheer white glass curtains hang at the windows, with draperies on either side. These draperies match the bedspreads; they have shaded stripes of silvery rose.

The maple furniture was once in son Bob's room. Unable to match the particular shade of maple, Mrs. Lamoux had a cabinetmaker make the one twin bed into two headboards. He raised one endboard and matched the maple remarkably well in side rails and a foot piece.

Since the Lamaux' lot flows into the neighboring lots, it is difficult to tell where one half-acre lot leaves off and another one begins. The Lamaux had to terrace their back yard. In the front they built a red brick wall to protect their birch trees after the lot had been filled.

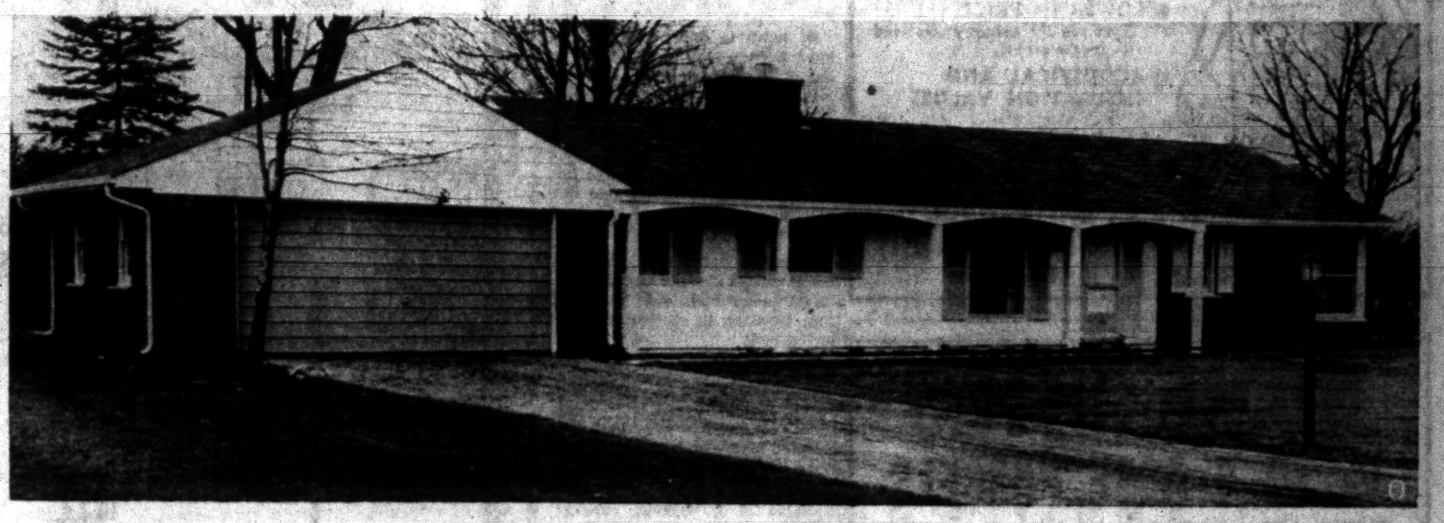

The Lemaux' moved into their Colonial ranch home six months ago. It was built by Houseman and Spitzley.

Section Off Areas for Outdoor Storage

The appearance of many farmsteads is marred needlessly, farm building experts note, by exposed trash burning areas and spaces reserved for haphazard storage of odds and ends.

Such eyesores can be eliminated easily, the specialists explain, by camouflaging them with fencing made of sturdy corrugated asbestos-cement sheets. Attractive in their natural stone gray color, the sheets lend a pleasing decorative touch.

Bolted to posts spaced at desired intervals, the units can be anchored well into the ground without suffering damage from rot or rust.

COLONIAL RANCH TYPE — Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Lemaux have been at home in this red brick Colonial ranch home in Hammond Lake Estates since May. White board and batten is used on the front of the house. Trim is white, while the shutters are yellow. By working hard and steadily all summer and fall the Lemaux' have their lawn in and many shrubs and flowers placed. Some of the magnificent trees on the rear of their lot can be seen behind the house.

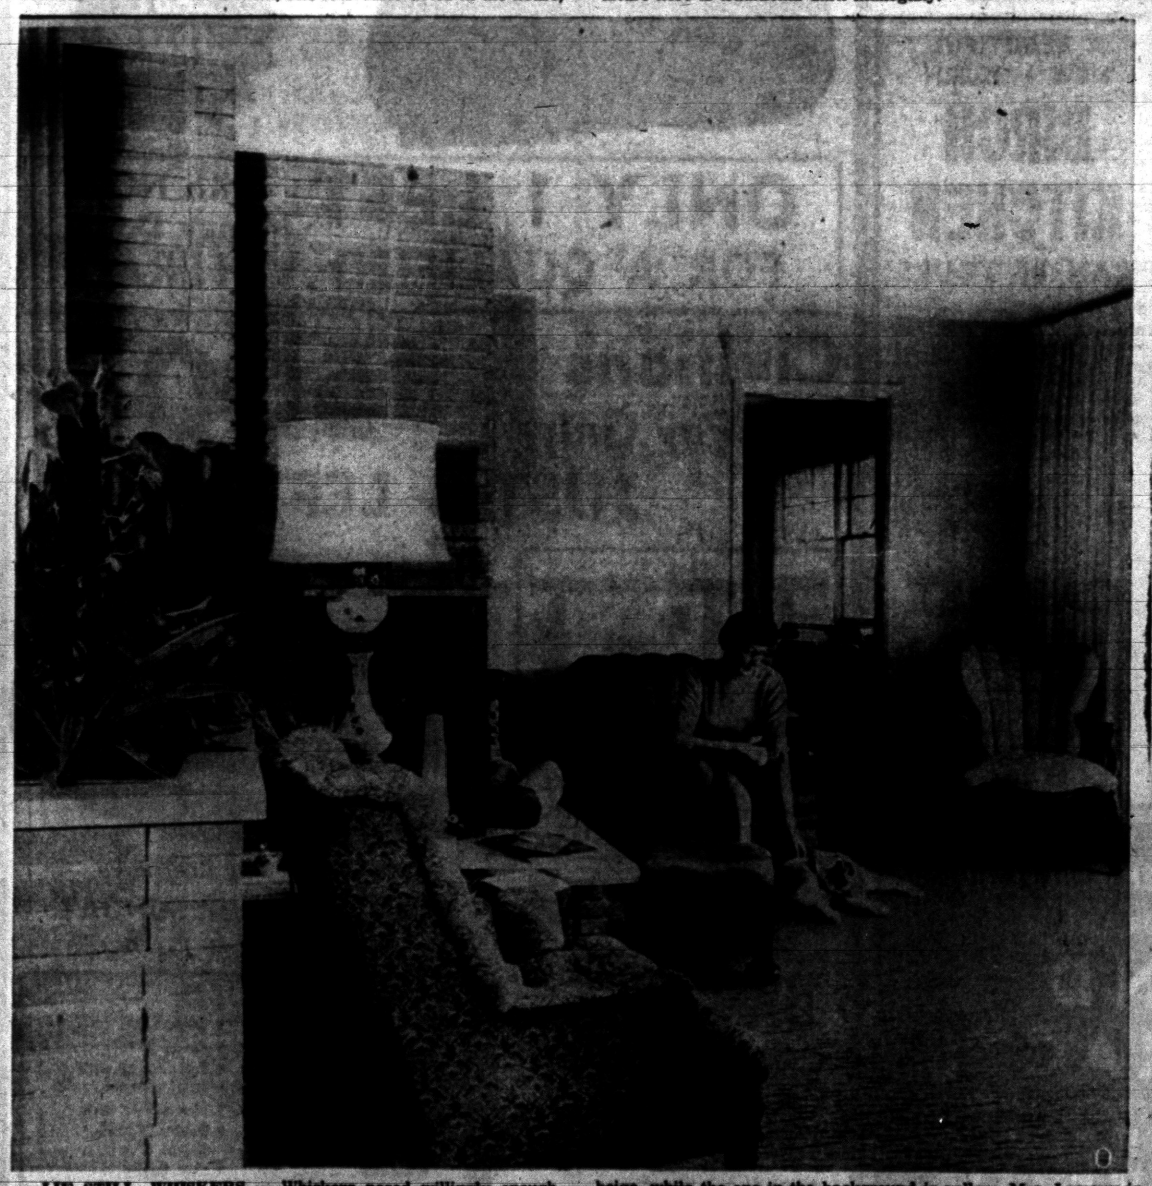

background for LIVING

MAHOGANY WAINSCOTING — The lower part of the dining room walls has a mahogany wainscoting. Walls above are sand colored. The door to the kitchen, like four other doors in the house, is a sliding one. At the right a part of the brick planter wall can be seen. Thick dowels make the upper portion of this "wall." Furniture here is traditional dark mahogany.

ONE-WALL WORK AREA — Mrs. Lemaux has her kitchen work area concentrated on one wall. At the left, a corner of the eating area can be seen. All exposed wood in the kitchen is natural finished birch. In the wall behind the breakfast table the furnace and water heater are easily accessible through sliding doors.

BEAUTIFUL GRAINING — This picture shows plainly the beautiful graining of the mahogany walls in the TV room. Except for one green wall, the entire room is a symphony of beige, brown and black. The sofa has a brown covering, while the footstool is checked in brown, beige and black. Bamboo is used at the windows.

New Material Resists Fading

Nearly 8,000,000 homes in this country are heated by natural gas, reports The American Gas Association. Gas, by nature one of the cleanest of fuels, has often been blamed for streaking and fading of colors in draperies and curtains.

The real culprit which causes such fading is the oxides of nitrogen which are released when incomplete combustion occurs in a space heater or gas-fired grate, still used in many homes. If all gas heaters and furnaces were adjusted to operate with 100 per cent efficiency of combustion, there would be no fumes to discolor fabrics.

Of news to homeowners who have been troubled by discoloring of home furnishings fabrics is a new line of decorative fabrics being introduced in stores this winter. Called Sol-dura, these fabrics have been tested by Hatch Laboratories and found to be impervious to fading due to exposure to gas fumes and industrial fumes.

According to the tests, the fabrics have also met the very highest standards for resistance to fading from exposure to sunlight and reflected light.

MORE SUNFAST

In the fadometer, these delicate-looking fabrics proved to be even 5 per cent more sunfast than the accepted standard for awnings exposed to the elements.

These new drapery fabrics are available in 22 weaves, ranging from semi-transparent sheers through casement-weight cloths, to heavy satin-backed textured fabrics. Each weave comes in a choice of 12 decorator colors.

Learn Correct Way to Vacuum Carpet

The more methodically a vacuum cleaner is moved over a carpet or rug, the more thoroughly it cleans. The suction is what does the cleaning, not the back-and-forth motion.

If you move the cleaner too rapidly you do not give the suction a chance to get the embedded dirt out of the rug or carpet. A leisurely stroll over the floor-covering, merely guiding the cleaner, will get the best results.

Stubborn grit and sand ground down into a rug or carpet will wear it out by cutting the threads, and even though you notice so much more the litter of threads and lint and whatnot on the surface, it is the underlying dirt that is destructive.

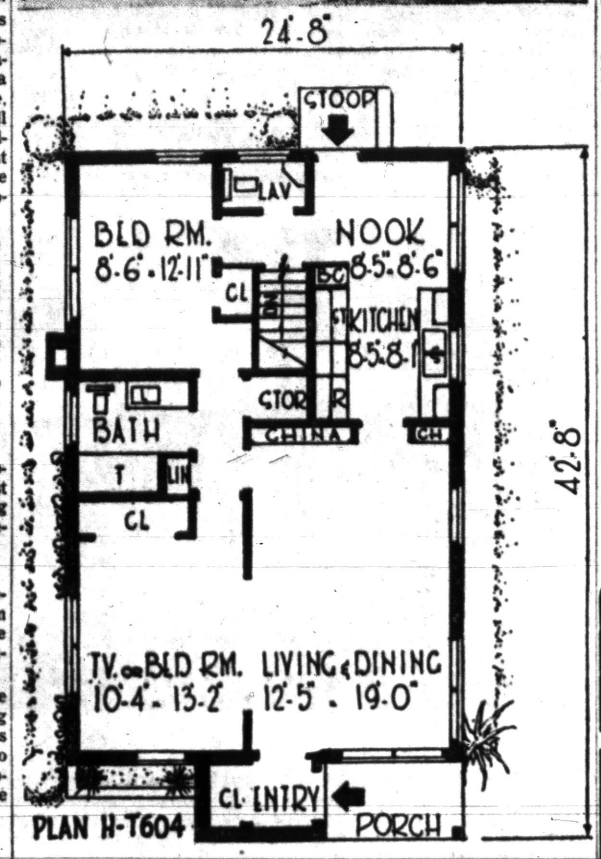

The only way to get this dirt out is to allow the vacuum cleaner to do its good work. Time enough must be spent to loosen the embedded dirt and then remove it. Too great speed in cleaning is anything but a good idea, anyway, because it also tires the person doing the cleaning.

Clean Crayon Marks With Scraping, Alcohol

Never try to remove crayon marks from the wallpaper with water. Scrape off as much crayon as you can with a table knife, then sponge lightly with cloth that's been dampened in denatured alcohol or acetone.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A RETIREMENT HOUSE, or a home for a small family, this plan can be used when you need only one or possibly two bedrooms. It is ideally suited for a narrow lot. The house covers about 960 square feet. This is plan H-T604 by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit.

If You Can't Afford Carpets Look Into Cheap Fiber Rugs

For those faced with selecting a soft floor covering on a modest budget, fiber rugs offer a practical solution. They provide advantages that should be considered by any dollar-conscious homemaker.

What is a fiber rug? Actually, there are two types. One kind is woven of tough strands of kraft, a wood product of extraordinary strength that is given additional strength through twisting. The other kind, slightly more expensive, is made from these kraft fibers interlaced with wool - rayon - acetate yarns for added warmth and softness.

While either type is less costly than other woven rugs, this is not as important as their practicality and versatility.

The phenomenal strength of kraft fibers gives these rugs a lengthy life span. And since most fiber rug patterns are reversible, the rugs can be flipped over for extended beauty as well as for durability.

GOOD FOR PETS

Families with children and pets find fiber rugs most practical. Most "accidents" are harmless to the rugs and, in case of irreparable damage, it is not a "disaster" because of the low price. Lint and dust can be easily wiped off, since there's no nap to hold dirt.

Far quieter and more comfortable than bare floors, a fiber rug fits in well with today's casual, informal style of living.

Pads may be used under fiber rugs if extra softness is desired, but they aren't necessary. Just as it comes from the store, a fiber rug can be unrolled onto the floor. This ease of laying and removing a rug appeals especially to families who rent, since it means this inexpensive floor covering can be moved readily from apartment to apartment, or house to house.

Such a variety of patterns and colors is available in each price range it is usually a simple matter to choose a rug for any room in the house, whether furnishings are Early American, Traditional, Provincial, Modern or a mixture. The same napless weave and muted colors that make a fiber rug so attractive can give a room the feeling of added space.

Taking care of one is easy. Normally, sweeping it with broom or carpet sweeper is all that's needed to keep it clean and fresh-looking. The suds of a soapless detergent can be used to do a major cleaning job right at home.

Tool Cleans Brushes

That messy job of cleaning paint brushes can now be reduced to a 90-second cinch with a new brush-cleaning tool called "spin-a-brush." Made of plastics and metal, it's hand-operated, needs no outside power source and whirls the pigment and caked paint out of the brush.

Any Home Can Have Rich 'Marble Look'

Dwelling in marble halls was once something to dream about by night for those who lived modestly by day. But today, walls that look like marble—or brick, stone, silk and other luxuriously-textured materials—are well within the means of average families.

* * *

Not since other, more formal centuries, when a wealthy man's home was literally his castle, has so much attention been focused on wallcoverings in decorating the home. Coverings that give an air of permanence and substantiality to walls—and impart a hint of costliness to the construction as well as furnishings of the house—are much in demand.

* * *

The trend to elegance, of course, has brought this about, for purchasing elegance by the roll at the wallcoverings store is among the most effective, yet inexpensive, ways of assuring that your home will exude luxury from floor to ceiling.

* * *

The newest, most sophisticated trend in textured wallcoverings, according to leading New York decorators, calls for the spotlighting of a single area of texture —one wall, for example,—as the focal point of the room.

Use Non-toxic Paint as Coating for Toys

Don't use coatings intended for outside painting when refinishing toys. These may contain ingredients which, if swallowed, may cause serious illness. Finishes designed for use on indoor surfaces should always be used. In any case, it's wise to check with your paint dealer before you start.

WIRE NEEDS—Here is a diagram of a typical modern home, with adequate wiring for all facilities in the kitchen and laundry areas and breakfast room, recommended by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau. By referring to it, you will see what is needed to operate your appliances. It is a good idea to get a Housepower rating on your home from an electrical contractor or a representative of your light and power company before adding electrical appliances.

Be Sure of Ample Power

In the excitement of planning your new home you may have overlooked thinking about its housepower or electrical capacity.

Yet in terms of day-to-day living housepower is among your home's most important features—as important, say, as the quality of construction, or the size of the rooms or the color of paint or wallpaper.

Electrical industry experts and economists say that in 10 years you likely will be using three times the amount of electricity you are using today. This is all part of your effort—as a home owner—to live better electrically.

Surveys point up the 10-year prediction, and so do the growing rate of appliance purchasing and the many new types of appliances now on the manufacturers' drawing boards.

POWER NEGLECTED

In spite of all this, the prospective home buyer usually neglects to look into the housepower of his dream house. He doesn't find out if there's enough wiring or if there's a sufficient number of circuits of the proper size and capacity to give him all the electricity he needs for his appliances, lights and other electrical equipment he's set his heart on.

* * *

Many new homes barely have enough wiring to carry the electrical load required today. There are any number of homes built only five or seven years ago that are getting along with 30 or 60 ampere service. Yet even 100 amps are barely sufficient today.

What are these home owners going to do in five or ten years?

* * *

When housepower is low, fuses blow at the plugging in of a toaster, and circuit breakers—sort of automatic fuses that don't have to be replaced—they trip with disconcerting frequency.

* * *

Lights dim or the TV picture flickers when the refrigerator turns on or another appliance is plugged in. The refrigerator starts with an asthmatic wheeze, toasters take an eternity to toast, mixers don't mix as fast as they should.

BETTER MAKE SURE

So if you're looking at a new house, question the salesman closely about its housepower. Be sure there is sufficient wiring to take care of both present and future needs.

Here are four points to ask about:

1. Are outlets or plug receptacles of the proper types conveniently placed, so that need for the "octopus" (cube taps inserted into a single plug outlet) is eliminated?

2. Is each circuit capable of supplying the full current for which it is rated? (Also, each circuit should have 20 per cent spare capacity over and above the probable maximum load. On general-purpose circuits—from which smaller portable appliances are operated—the load shouldn't exceed 50 per cent of rated capacity to leave room for temporary portable equipment.)

* * *

3. Does each major automatic appliance — range, dryer, refrigerator—have a separate and individual circuit?

4. Does the wiring system comply with the safety provisions of the National Electrical Code? (Even with allowance for load growth, the "load-matched" wiring adds a safety plus to the system.)

Magazine Sees Renewal of Mortgage Program

Further extension of the GI home mortgage-guarantee program will probably be acted upon by Congress during 1957, according to a national magazine. The magazine says this action will have the support of the American Legion.

Congress also will act to liberalize programs for housing elderly people — with "elderly defined as 60 years of age or above, the magazine predicts.

Anchorage, Alaska, was established in 1914 as a railway construction camp.

New Homes Outsold 2-1

About half of the people who bought homes in 1955 had previously owned other houses, according to a Federal Reserve Board Survey. During the same year, existing houses outsold new houses about two to one.

Period Showplace Created From Ramshackle House

WASHINGTON, D.C.—An early 19th Century house, bought for $1,500 and turned into a showplace at minimum expense sounds like a decorator's dream — and it was. But this dream has materialized and the resultant home, a testimonial to professional ability plus elbow grease, offers interesting ideas to those less gifted but well endowed with patience and the do-it-yourself urge.

The fact that this house, in Lewes, Del., was in a demolition area and had to be moved to a new location before restoration could begin is mentioned here only to explain the low purchase price and to demonstrate the owner's intrepidity.

John Greer, A.I.D., has decorated many of Washington's finest homes and embassies. His plan was not only to create a charming home for himself but to execute practical and original ideas that would be within the means and ability of the average home owner.

Assuming the possession of a sound structure with good lines, Mr. Greer proves that a beautiful home and a successful background for lovely possessions can be accomplished in major part through the knowledgeable use of paints and varnishes to create color and texture.

The clapboard exterior of the Federal-type two-story house is painted white, with cornflower blue shutters and door. Blue hydrangeas, lupines, cornflowers and blue native flowers, with green shrubbery, establish a blue, white and green color scheme that tie in with interior colors.

SOME ANTIQUES ARE USED

Respecting the period in which the house was born, as well as the requirements of present-day living, Mr. Greer combines traditional with contemporary in color and furnishings. Some antiques are used but in modern arrangements; modern easy-to-care-for fabrics in traditional designs.

The plaster on the living room walls was cracked and patched. To avoid replastering and to create a textured chiffon finish in a neutral sand shade, a wall paint with sand added was applied over the pointed-up plaster.

To give the interesting "crepe-y" finish, a semi-circular brush stroke was used, instead of an up-and-down. Takes practice, but the effect is worth it. One coat of the thick paint-and-sand mixture was sufficient to disguise the plaster roughness and to form an appropriate background for pictures, hand-painted murals and other wall decorations.

The fairly new flooring of ordinary light hardwood did not tie in with the age and dignity of the house or provide the mellow charm suitable for dark antique furniture.

To set them back 100 years, the floors were sanded, a walnut color stain was applied with a brush, and the excess wiped off with solvent to gain the desired shade and an even consistency. When the wood had dried, a semi-gloss varnish was applied; and finally wax, to bring out the grain and give depth.

One large "family room" contains the bar, kitchen and dining areas. To set apart the dining corner, its walls were draped with a striped cotton fabric treated for resistance to fire, fumes and stains.

The fantail from a ship, wrecked on the beach at Lewes, Delaware, was used to creat the bar. Bar stools, the dining table and Captain's chairs were bought in an unfinished state.

The raw wood was painted with a mixture of turpentine, linseed oil and gray house paint, the excess rubbed off to a silvery gray driftwood shade that matches the bar. The pieces were given a heavy waxing to guard against scarring and spotting.

An old-fashioned floor-to-ceiling cupboard or "safe" in the family room was covered with wallpaper in a wood-grain effect, then varnished. Linoleum in a textured brick pattern, highly waxed, is used on this floor.

In one guest room, the walls were painted flat white, and white deck paint was used on the floor. The ceiling was papered in a loosely scattered clover design on a white background. The green and pink clover pattern is being painted, free-hand, on the white floor, after which it will be given a protective coat of varnish.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

MINIMUM EXCAVATION is needed for this modern split level house. The large recreation room under the bedroom wing is less than half a story below grade. Smartly contemporary in design, this house covers only 945 square feet—an economical size to build. Vertical siding blends with the tall windows of the extra-high living room. This is plan R-409AP by Alfred Ryder, architect for the Progressive Plan Service, 324 Citizens Bldg., Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hardwood Floors Will Resist Sunburn

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Researchers checking the effects of strong sunlight on hardwood floors in homes with full length windowwalls report that Old Sol was held to a draw in a five year "bout."

The hardwood floors retained all their original beauty, proving resistant to fading, softening and other evidences of deterioration sometimes associated with materials exposed to the hot rays of the summer sun.

The study, under the sponsorship of a hardwood flooring trade group here, was undertaken because of the growing popularity of windowwalls. More and more home owners in this area favor them as a means of "bringing the outdoors indoors."

In some homes, however, such walls may create a flooring problem, since the full-length glass exposes immediately adjacent floor areas to as much as five times the amount of sunlight admitted by conventional windows.

Try Half a Table

If a bedroom or hall gets too much traffic for a full-sized table to be used, try cutting a table in half and bolting it to the wall.

If you have a quantity of clothes to be sprinkled for ironing, use the spray attachment of your household vacuum cleaner for the purpose.

Wash Iron-Board Cover

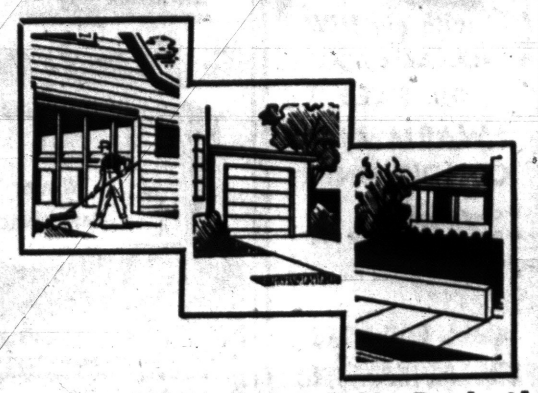

Ironing board covers need to be washed if they become scorched or white garments ironed over the scorched spot will turn yellow.

In planing the edges of plywood, be sure the blade is set to make a very shallow cut — and plane away from the ends toward the center.

A square room looks longer when one wall is contrasted with the others.

Gas Cheaper —and Lots of It

You may forget to buy coffee when you're out shopping. Sometimes you'll find yourself with no bacon to go with your eggs, or vice versa. You may even run out of potatoes — and discover it just before dinner.

But, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, you're not going to run out of gas. You'll have plenty of gas to cook whatever food is available, morning, noon and night.

The nation's natural gas industry, GAMA says, has spent more than $5 billion on expansion of the natural gas pipeline system during the past decade in order to make more of the fuel available to homes and industries from coast to coast. What's more, further expansion which will cost another $1¼ billion is already under way.

Projects approved by the Federal Power Commission during 1955 alone were expected to add 2,389,200,000 cubic feet of natural gas to the daily delivery capacity of existing facilities and bring new or additional natural gas service to 123 cities of more than 50,000 population through 5,706 miles of new pipeline.

The rising demand for natural gas resulted in a record consumption of more than ten trillion cubic feet last year. But even while this record use was going on the industry discovered 22 trillion cubic feet of additional reserves to bring the proved recoverable reserves to an all-time high of 223.7 trillion cubic feet.

Obviously, GAMA says, the homemaker can use gas to her heart's content—for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or refrigeration. There's gas aplenty in the pipeline, and lots more where that came from.

While the popularity of gas for home use has grown by leaps and bounds, there is a plentiful supply of this miracle fuel for all purposes.

New Plan Available to Rent, Buy Home

The "rent now and buy later" plan is invading the home-building business, says a trade magazine. It reports that a Fullerton, Calif., builder is doing it this way:

A family may live in a new house for as long as a year before deciding to buy it or not. During the year, rents range from $115 to $130 a month.

If the rent is $115, for example, $40 a month is set aside in the purchase fund. At the end of the year, this amounts to $480 and is credited toward the down payment if the family decides to buy. Andrew Hammer, the builder, says the plan is working well.

Zinc Primer for Paint Stops Attack by Rust

Zinc yellow is an effective rust inhibitor that is used widely in primers for ferrous metals. These primers are used to advantage in the aircraft and shipbuilding industries where light weight is an important factor. Around the home, they can be used on any uncoated metal surfaces that are likely to rust.

• • •

When a metal surface is being repainted and shows evidence of rust in spots, these areas should be sanded clean or rust and primed with a rust inhibitor before final protective coats are applied. Other efficient rust inhibitors are red lead, chrome yellow and zinc dust.

Yule Tree Village Pleases Everyone

There's nothing new about a village under your Christmas tree, but when it's done with imagination it can please members of all generations.

• • •

General Electric lighting people suggest that you reserve one string of your Christmas lights for this job. Better use the multiple C-7½ strings that allow one bulb to burn out without darkening the entire string.

Use yellow bulbs for a warm glow inside the village houses, blue for the church and one white bulb attached to a lower branch to represent the Christmas Star.

Light Tree With Ease

Rigging Christmas lights around that outdoor tree will be easier this year with do-it-yourself light sets by Glolite Corp., Chicago. These lights can be stuck into moisture-insulated wire with pins at the base of each lamp socket, simplifying the task of balancing the lighting design.

Family Can Sit on Odd Chair

NEW YORK (INS) — If you want to try something really sensational get a five-foot circular chair.

This luxurious innovation (created by the New York firm of Harvey Probber, Inc.) was displayed recently in an all-white fabric as an interesting addition to a penthouse apartment.

The chair, which is completely round, has a low, sloping semi-circular back. Dotted with colorful cushions, this unique piece makes an interesting resting place for half the family.

The New York house also is showing other innovations in furniture, such as Ottomans on rollers, 9, 19 and 12-foot sofas, rosewood panel cabinets, frosted glass room dividers and coffee tables with the emphasis on the bottom rather than the top of the table.

* * *

One such table had a glass top. The underneath interest consisted of rawhide thongs tied artistically in a criss-cross design over a wooden frame.

One delightful bedroom for the young lady of the house had pink leather sliding doors on a walnut paneled chest of drawers. Pink beds and a pink lounge further carried out the pastel theme of the room.

* * *

Leather and brass is much in evidence in the new modern decor. This combination appears repeatedly in chairs, coffee tables, ottomans and even beds.

Tape Recorder Captures Events for Safekeeping

This can be one Christmas the whole family never will forget if it is recorded on a tape recorder.

* * *

Actually, this versatile machine will do the remembering by reproducing at the flick of the dial all the happy holiday sounds that neither memory nor pictures can recall. Since tape virtually lasts forever, and never loses any of its sharp tonal qualities, a complete album of voices can be banked into a treasury of memories.

Many families have started libraries of tape commemorating special days such as Christmas, birthdays, anniversaries, baptisms and weddings.

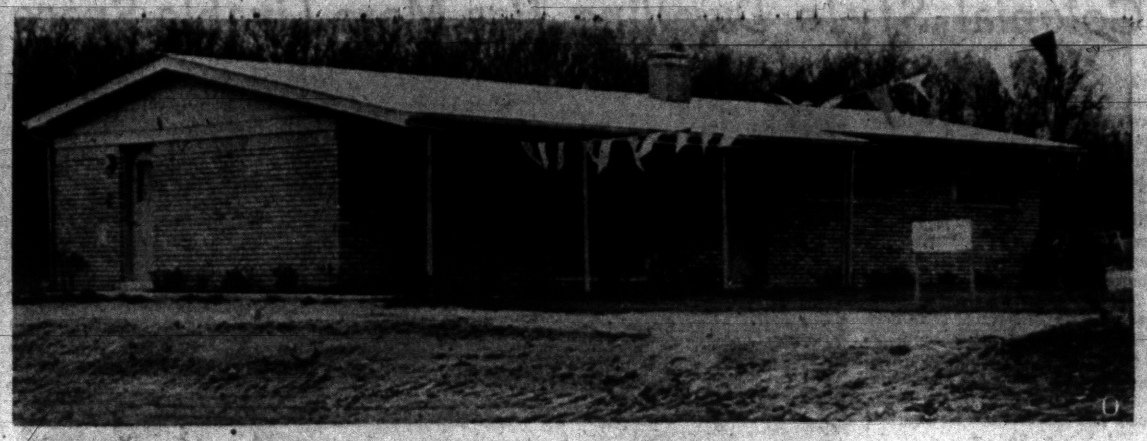

With one of the new tape recorders they trace the "oh's" and "ah's" of the children from the time they receive their first set of blocks through the new sweaters and skirts phase.

* * *

An unusual gift that will serve the family in a thousand ways during the year, the tape recorder can be used to record the greetings and story-swapping among all those gathered together around the family hearth during the holidays. It also is used frequently to tape messages to those unable to return home, as for instance, boys and girls in service.

More Homemakers Use Ceramic Tiles

More and more homemakers are enjoying the creative satisfaction of working with ceramic tile. This age old art has acquired a new, important place in the modern decorative arts. Coffee tables, end tables, lamp tables, murals and an infinite variety of decorative pieces of ceramic tile are being used in the home. Besides its beauty, the practical advantages are also important. A table top of real tile affords a durable heat-proof and waterproof surface for any kind of use.

WESTWIND MANOR — This three-bedroom brick model is the first of the homes being built in Westwind Manor subdivision, north of Cooley Lake road on Williams Lake road. A dining ell with glass doors to a patio, paneled den, birch cabinets in the kitchen and two complete baths are features of this 1,300 square foot home. A planter box divides the vestibule and the 19x13 foot living room. Buyers have a choice of seven plans, ranging in price from $14,990 to $20,000. The homes are offered by John J. Dyer and Son. The model will be open Saturday and Sunday from one to seven.

Now Is Time to Weather Strip

Now's the time to get your home ready for colder weather. With another extreme winter predicted, you can add to your family's comfort, minimize the danger of cold-producing drafts and reduce your fuel bills by weather-stripping all your windows and exterior doors.

Modern rubber weather-stripping materials make it possible for anyone to provide wind-tight protection around doors in less than 30 minutes. Here's the "Inner-Seal" method devised by experts of the Bridgeport Fabrics Co., pioneer manufacturers of rubber weather-stripping:

All you need are scissors, hammer, copper tacks and the proper length of weather-stripping. (Most hardware and variety and home supply stores carry seventeen-foot packs which are just the right length for the average door.)

Close the door and step aside. Place the weather-stripping on the door frame (not the door) with the round sponge rubber bead pressed tightly against the door.

Start at the bottom and temporarily thumb-tack the weather-stripping up one side, across the top and then down the other side of the door frame. Next open and close the door a few times to be sure that the weather-stripping fits snugly against the door but does not prevent it from closing easily.

* * *

Since the weather-stripping is only thumb-tacked at this stage, you can easily make any needed adjustments. When the weather-stripping is properly placed, nail in the permanent copper tacks, removing the thumb tacks as you go.

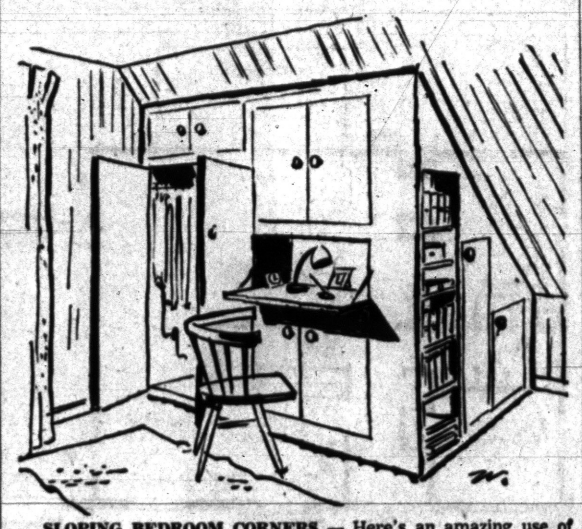

Decorative Shutters Add Extra Touch

Decorative shutters will do wonders for many houses, new or old, that need just "that extra touch" to give them distinction and style. They can be made readily in the home workshop of lumber framing and Masonite tempered board.

Usually non-functional in these "enlightened" days, the shutters may have surfaces that are plain, screened (by using the back of the hardboard), or patterned. They are fastened permanently into position with non-rusting screws.

Many home owners like a textured board, which may be used effectively with any exterior siding. Masonite Ridgeline has a linear texture that is highly attractive either stained or painted. Other selections include Panelgroove, a smooth board with grooves, or Ridegroove, a combination of these materials.

When your window sills grow dingy, freshen them with a new coat of paint. When it's dry, apply a coat of paste wax and you'll find that they're both weather and scratchproof.

SLOPING BEDROOM CORNERS — Here's an amazing use of a sloping corner in bedroom or unfinished attic. Wardrobe, desk, bookcase, and other storage are all compacted into this single unit of Douglas fir. Easy to build, even by do-it-yourselfers, this transforms attic or unused sloping space into mighty useful corner. With this unit, an attic can easily be made into popular living space, or guest headquarters.

Lights, Greens, Angel Make Yule Centerpiece

For an unusual glowing holiday buffet centerpiece, make your own from your ring salad mold, a string of lights and a sparkling gold angel.

* * *

Simply clip your C-7½ string of lights to the edge of the mold in an upright position. Fill container with sprays of greens (no water, of course) and tiny shiny ornaments. Place a decorative angel, statue, or Santa in the center of the ring.

Store 'Eyesores' in Own Closet

* * *

This is a problem many homemakers face after using everyday household cleaning articles. Messy wet mops, greasy dry mops, dusting rags, waxes, furniture polish and other housekeeping supplies must be conveniently yet effectively stored.

* * *

The ideal place is a shelved closet where the brooms and mops can be hung and the smaller items placed on shelves. Because of the nature of these articles the closet should be surfaced with a waterproof, stainproof and durable material such as ceramic tile.

* * *

The storage area should be of easy to clean because cleaning and dusting supplies leave a residue of dirt.

If the storage closet is spacious enough, even larger cleaning and housekeeping equipment such as vacuum cleaners, washing machines and ironers can be stored there, too. The glazed surface of ceramic tile will not be scratched or marred by heavier appliances.

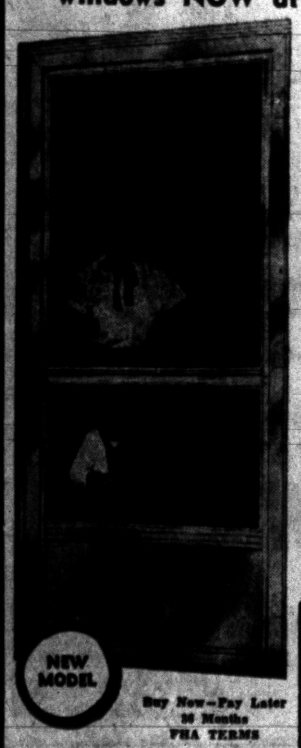

* * *

Other utilitarian storage areas in the kitchen can be surfaced with ceramic tile. Kitchen shelves, under-sink cabinets and pantry shelves will require no more paper linings, and the lasting loveliness and easy maintenance of real tile will enhance the beauty and practicality of the often used areas.

Colonial Style Dwelling Has More Livable Space

A two-story colonial style house has something you won't get in any other style of dwelling — more livable room space for the lowest building cost. Besides, this old favorite in American architecture — one that has remained popular through centuries — can be just as modern as any other type of house. Design HW-29 for The House points up these advantages.

This is a smartly modernized version of a time-tested style that gives you a house big enough for a growing family without involving excessive land purchase and maintenance, imprudent construction costs and extravagant heating.

* * *

Open planning, a family room, glass doors to garden porches, an adjoining two-car garage — all features that popularize ranch houses — are found in this plan, plus many more. Here is a center hall entrance — a feature that originated in colonial homes. The center hall has kept such homes popular through many generations because it prevents rooms from becoming passage ways.

And here are five bedrooms and three bathrooms — a living capacity that would be a big order for a ranch house. Yet this house covers only 1,089 square feet, without its garage which figures separately. This is close to the area of the average FHA small house. If these second floor bedrooms were built on the ground, the area of this house would be doubled—2,198 square feet without garage—and you can see how much more foundation and roofing would be required.

Dignity and stability mark the exterior styling. Architects Petersen & Ebbert suggest brick facing for the front up to the second story and beveled siding above. Roof lines are low and modern—the pitch being just enough to permit the use of economical asphalt shingles.

A covered front porch provides a sheltered passage between front door and garage, the latter also having an entrance into the family room and kitchen as well as to the back porch to make it easy to store garden tools. The garage is oversize to accommodate modern cars as well as its two storage closets and a workbench.

VERSATILE

This is a versatile house. It can be built in any part of the country with or without a basement. No structural change would be needed to make this a six-bedroom house. The study could be closed off from the living room and the fireplace converted to one-room use.

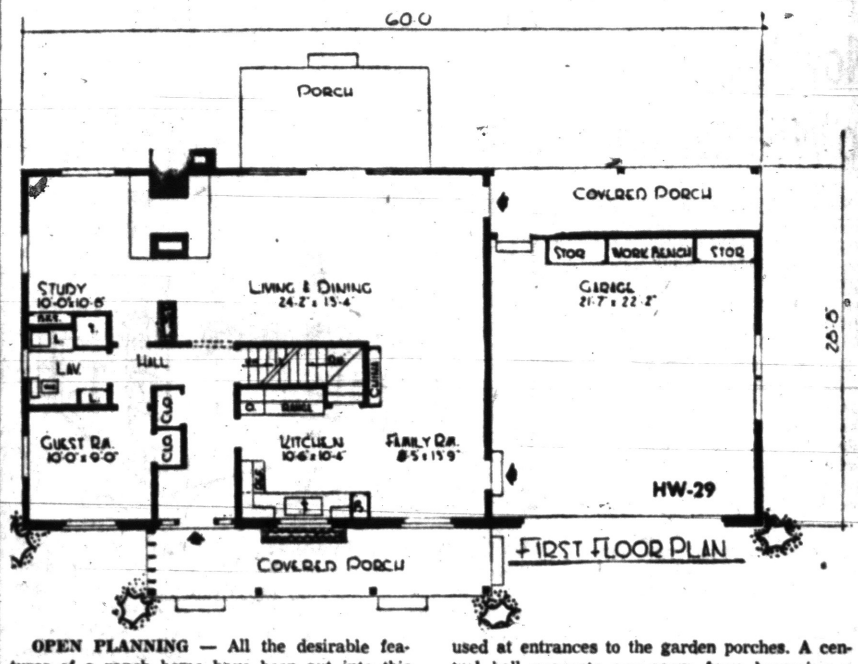

The architects of HW-29 estimate that this house could be built in the metropolitan Detroit area for approximately $22,500 with a full basement.

However, you can build this house without a basement. The garage could be slightly enlarged to provide additional storage and laundry space and a modern horizontal type heating plant could be placed in a small crawl space adjacent to the fireplace chimney. Space marked for cellar stairs would become a pantry or extra closet.

You can get rough local building estimates by showing a study plan for this house to a builder of homes of similar size.

MODERN STYLING — The two-story house goes modern and becomes an economical one to build. A covered front porch gives a sheltered passageway between front door and garage. Measuring 28'8"x60', the house has 1089 square feet of space.

OPEN PLANNING — All the desirable features of a ranch home have been put into this two-story house at less cost. Note the open planning of the first floor rooms. Glass doors are used at entrances to the garden porches. A central hall prevents any room from becoming a passageway. The family room is conveniently located near the kitchen and the garage.

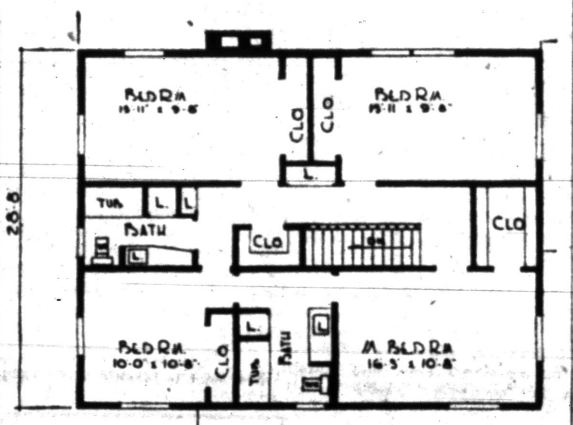

A major feature of this plan is the tremendous social "L" formed by study, living-dining area and family room. This can be used in the modern manner as flowing space, or it can be subdivided by folding partitions or decorative shojis. A three-foot stub-wall planter is the architects' suggestion for a room divider between study and living room.

* * *

French doors lead from the living room to an open garden porch as well as to a covered porch behind the garage.

The first floor lavatory with a shower stall is strategically placed for use as a powder room or in connection with the guest room. Plumbing economy is achieved by having the upstairs bathrooms directly above the lavatory and kitchen.

This kitchen is planned to prevent housekeeping fatigue. The housewife can see anyone approaching either the front door or garage entrance and she is just a few steps away. She can supervise youngsters playing in the family room. She has space for all modern equipment, including a built-in oven and adjoining range. Stairs to the basement, if you plan one, are at hand, or their space can be used for a pantry.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN — Four bedrooms, cross ventilation and upstairs privacy are the features of this second floor plan. Two baths and plenty of closet space make the plan even more attractive.

Add Metallic Flakes

Glamour is sometimes added to the finishes applied to household equipment by incorporating metallic flakes in the formulation of the paint that is used on such items as vacuum cleaners. Another glamor coating used industrially consists of a synthetic substitute for a pearl-like finish.

Tomatoes are one of the richest sources of vitamin C.

FLOOR BEAUTY—Typifying a growing trend toward emphasis on floor beauty in today's homes is the room above, with a broad expanse of polished oak set off by an attractive accent rug. The modernity of full length window-walls is combined with the ageless appeal of Italian antique brass and irons in the fireplace and, above it, an Early American wood carving of a farm woman. Complimenting the rich natural beauty of the oak floor is the pecky cypress wall. Floors of oak are especially desirable in rooms with window-walls, since the wood resists discoloration and softening under exposure to strong sunlight. The oak thus retains its original beauty of color and form indefinitely.

Chart Lists Best Months to Buy Home Appliances

Do you know the best time of year to buy a major appliance for your home? If not, budget-wise home economists have a few tips for you.

Here's a quick table of the "best months" to buy appliances.

Air Conditioner—Dec., Jan., Feb.
Clothes Dryer—March, April, May, June
Clothes Washer—Jan., Feb., March, April
Dishwasher—April, May, June
Electric Range—April, May, Nov.
Food Freezer—Dec., Jan., Feb.
Food Waste Disposer—June, July, August
Refrigerator—Dec., Jan.
Television Set—May, June
Water Heater—Jan., Feb., Nov., Dec.

If buying an air conditioner in December seems a little strange, here are some reasons why.

—Ample supply
—All models to choose from
—Quick installation
—Usually a better price

It's easy to see why, particularly for the air conditioner. Normally when the first heat wave hits, consumers scramble to buy air conditioners. Appliance dealers sell more air conditioners during heat waves than at any other time.

* * *

However, economy-minded purchasers will find they can save up to $100 by purchasing an air conditioner in December, January or February.

So clip this chart and paste it where you can analyze it the next time you're thinking about buying a major appliance. You'll save money!

Use Bleach for Lacquer

Modern lacquer and varnish finishes can reproduce almost exactly the rich patina of mahogany and other woods in rare old historical pieces. However, if you prefer the new look of the lighter tones of amber, wheat and honey, use a bleach before applying lacquer and varnish which bring out the full beauty of grain and figure of the wood.

New Homes Give Ideas

Not all the people who go out to look at new model homes are thinking of buying. Many of them are looking for ideas to use in remodeling their present homes.

How to Bore—Not Easy

Boring a straight hole in the edge of a board, such as a door, is not easy when you trust your eye to keep the bit true. A craftsman offers this tip in the Practical Builder trade publication: Clamp two straight cleats on each side of the door with a C-clamp and keep the bit shank in the center of the cleats.

Let Floor Bring Quality to Room

In planning a home, choose floors that will harmonize with the character of the surroundings and help give your rooms "personality," home fashion experts advise.

* * *

They point out that since floors are such an important element in the decorative plan, they detract from a home's appearance when they fail to meet these requirements.

Such long established favorites as fine oak floors owe their popularity in large degree, the experts say, to the fact that oak possesses a natural beauty which imparts a feeling of warmth, friendliness and dignity highly desirable in any room setting.

The variety of oak flooring styles, moreover, permits the homemaker to select a type which seems most appealing in a particular room.

STRIP STYLE ADAPTABLE

The strip style, used most extensively, is always in good taste, being adaptable to any architectural style and any decorative plan.

* * *

Plank floors, which consist of much wider boards, boast a special charm which makes them particularly appropriate where a casual, informal atmosphere is desired.

* * *

A comparatively new type, the unit-block style, is especially well suited for conveying a formal note, since it forms attractive square and rectangular patterns resembling exquisite parquetry.

The latter, in its conventional form, is made up of small pieces of flooring laid individually in any of countless striking designs. It is an historic favorite for sumptuous homes and mansions of state.

* * *

These various styles are described in detail in a free booklet now available from the Oak Flooring Information Service, 75 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill.

Basements Lend Many Outlets for Initiative

A basement often is long enough for bowling, shuffle-board or even rifle practice. It's a good place to practice putting and provides plenty of room for boxing equipment and exercycles.

One New York businessman likes to reprint fine, rare books as a hobby. He has a fully equipped print shop in his basement.

Photographers find that the basement is ideally suited for a photo dark room. Running water—a necessity in photo finishing—is usually available.

Other uses which have been made of basements include:

Greenhouse.

Professional art studio.

Clubhouse for hobby enthusiasts such as model train hobbyists. (A basement is the ideal place to set up trains permanently).

* * *

Little theater groups (a basement has been converted into a theater, with stage and movie projector).

* * *

Library and den. (One professional man with a huge book collection found that his first floor sagged under their weight. He transferred his collection to the basement with its concrete floor that will hold thousands of pounds).

Set Southfield Recount Meeting

Westwood Tries Charter Delay

Call Special Session Monday to Set Election Recount

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — A special meeting of the charter commission will be held here Monday at 8 p.m. in township hall, to determine the time and place for a recount on the Dec. 3 charter election.

Southfield on that date failed in its second attempt to adopt a city charter by 43 votes.

The Monday meeting has been called by Russell H. Cullen, secretary of the charter commission. Petitions for a recount have been signed by Ray Wood, Patrick Flannery and Vincent Soto.

They claim machine tabulations were read incorrectly and that absentee ballots were improperly counted.

DELAY CHARTER

Meantime, the Westwood Village committee here has given up its chase of Mayor de facto Eugene Swem. Instead, two members of the association filed petitions with Swem's secretary, Mrs. Kathleen Herrick (at Swem's place of business the township hall late Thursday.)

Two similar petitions have been filed with trustee Donald L. Swanson and Councilman Thomas M. Costello. The petitions were designed to delay a third city charter vote before the June 1957 deadline.

Petitions had previously been designed to incorporate East and West Beverly Hills and Berkley Hills Subdivision into a home rule village. No further action on this can be taken until after June 7, 1957.

Ted Shurtleff, chairman of the Westwood Village Committee, said that residents of the four-and-one-half square miles in the northern section of Southfield "want no part of Southfield as a city."

Bob B. Reed, secretary-treasurer of the committee, said this morning that the Beverly Hills residents would sek legal advice as to what to do next if another city charter commission election is not authorized.

CANDY AND CAKE HOUSES — For the Hale family, house building means putting together lots of mints, gum drops, candy coated gum, licorice drops and gingerbread. Hope Surmounts Loss of Faith in Tree Troubles

By MARTHA LEWIS
Ortonville Correspondent

ORTONVILLE—Four years ago, the community was given a permanent Christmas tree by the Rotary Club and each year it has been decorated, using taxpayers' funds.

The village often would have to replace bulbs after they were taken off at night. Last year, vandals made off with the wiring.

For a few days this season it looked like the tree would remain bare. Village Clerk LaVern Borst voiced the opinion of many, "It's not right to use taxpayers' money for lights that may again be stolen." So the tree stood, bare and cold looking.

But, with the streets decorated with greens and overhead lights, and Christmas carols pealing softly over a public address system, all difficulties were overcome.

Businessmen here and some of their friends have decorated the tree so it can stand proudly near the village memorial.

There is hope that the spirit of the Yuletide will prevail this year, and the tree will go unmolested to symbolize peace, love and goodwill.

Mail Triples at Orchard Lake

By CLARA RUSSELL
Orchard Lake Correspondent

ORCHARD LAKE — "Volume of mail has tripled for us this Christmas," says Postmistress Mary L. Hawkes, as she superintends activities in the new building that stands on Commerce Road.

"Every carrier has a helper this year, and it's quite a change from the operation we had before last year's expansion," she says.

Two routes have been established with each carrier having his assistant, as it is necessary to make two deliveries of Christmastime mail each day.

But besides the routes that were added to the post office in the expansion, mail is on the upswing in the fast-developing lake area.

Easy accessibility of the post office is bringing more stamp and parcel post customers to her windows, Mrs. Hawkes says, and the parking space with its circle drive is proving handy.

Christmas cards are fluttering through the new cancelling machine at rate of over 100 a minute, and the machine is speeding up the handling of all mail, she says.

Late night hours for postal employes are becoming the rule, and it applies at Orchard Lake. "We had to work as late as 12:30 one night, and several nights until 10," she says.

The increase in mail so far this season is causing the long hours, and the postmistress admits already the new building is becoming crowded.

"We could use another 1,000 feet of space very easily," she says.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Yule Event at Brandon

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—Schools of this township will hold their PTA Christmas program on Monday in Brandon gymnasium.

James Young, vocal supervisor at the elementary and high school will be in charge, directing first to sixth graders in vocal numbers.

William Berndt, band director, will lead the tonette group in a special medley.

James Theolet will Sing "In Bethlehem . . . " by Snyder.

Group singing of Christmas carols will conclude the program and student "treat time" will follow.

* * *

Cecyl Pearson has been in charge of all art and background work for the event.

Eight Autos Pile Up; One Driver Injured

FERNDALE—John Jefferson, 19, of Royal Oak Township and James Flynn, 36, of Detroit, racing each other early last evening on Eight Mile Road, according to police, caused collisions involving eight cars at the Grand Trunk Viaduct here. Ferndale police estimate the property damage at over $4,000.

* * *

Only minor injuries were suffered by one of the drivers involved.

Breaking and Entering Charged Against Youth

Thomas Reynolds, 19, of 1701 University Rd., Ferndale, waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday and a charge of breaking and entering.

He was remanded to the Oakland County Jail under $3,000 bond and will be examined Monday.

Reynolds allegedly committed burglaries at a Ferndale tavern and furniture warehouse a week ago with two companions.

Appointed to Ferris

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—Dr. Robert I. Hudson, 32, vocational counselor the past four years at Highland Park Guidance Center, has been appointed to the psychological counseling staff of Ferris Institute. A University of Minnesota and Michigan State University graduate, he formerly was a staff counselor at both schools and for the Minnesota Department of Education.

Marilyn L. Fockler

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald K. Fockler of 2959 Glenbrook, Keego Harbor, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn Louise, to Midshipmen Lawrence M. Hogan. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hogan of Lismore, Minn. Miss Fockler is a 1956 graduate of Michigan State and Lawrence, who attended St. Cloud State Teachers College in Minnesota, will be graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, in 1957. A June wedding is planned.

3 Persons Injured at Telegraph, Huron

Three persons were injured in a collision at Huron St. and Telegraph Rd. last night, according to Waterford Police.

Celestina Petrarca, of 4864 Fenmore Ave., is in good condition in Pontiac General Hospital. Her daughter-in-law, and driver of the car, Mrs. Dixie Petrarca, was treated and released. The passenger in the other auto, Mrs. Laura Zwicker of Milford, was also treated and released from the hospital.

According to police, the car driven by Peter Zwicker, of Milford, proceeded through a caution light when it collided with the Petrarca automobile which was attempting a left turn.

Donors Needed by Red Cross at Bloodmobile

Blood donors are badly needed when the bloodmobile makes its monthly visit at Pontiac Elks's Temple from 2 to 8 p.m. Monday, said Mrs. H. A. Magnus, chairman of the Pontiac Area blood donations.

"Our collection last month was below quota and this month the scheduled stop at Fisher Body where we usually collect 200 pints, was cancelled because of the strike," she said.

"We need donors badly to tide our three hospitals over until after the first of the year. We have had to cut our supplies to the hospitals," she added.

Donors may give blood by stopping in at the Elks Temple, she said.

900 Called Back by Square D Co.

DETROIT (AP)—Square D Electric Co. says 900 hourly workers it laid off yesterday in a disciplinary move will be called back to work Monday.

The recall, a few hours after the workers had been laid off, followed a six-hour meeting between United Auto Workers local 351 and management over a dispute centering around the right of women workers to get first chance at jobs in a new plant in suburban Madison Heights.

Both sides said the issue would grievance procedures."

The company claims a series of walkouts beginning Dec. 7 were in violation to the union contract. Yesterday's layoff followed a one-day disciplinary shutdown Wednesday.

Nehru Stops Off to Visit in London

LONDON (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru stopped off to see Prime Minister Eden today on his way to Washington to visit President Eisenhower. Nehru is to fly to the United States tonight in a plane sent here by Eisenhower.

The Indian leader said the prospect of peace in the Middle East "is more hopeful than it was, but there are still obvious difficulties. I hope they will soon be solved."

The purpose of his American trip, he said, was not to mediate between Communist China and the United States, "but I should be very glad if tension relaxed between them."

Party Electors to Vote Ike In

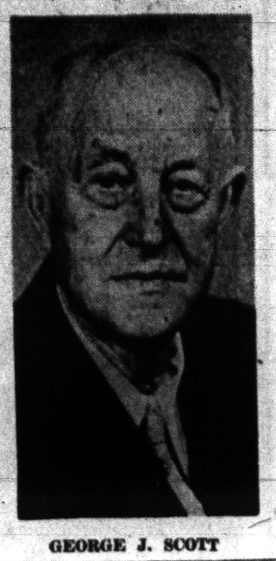

Next Monday, George J. Scott of Royal Oak and 469 other Americans will elect Dwight D. Eisenhower as President of the United States.

Sixty-one other Americans will try to elect Adlai E. Stevenson, but they'll be outvoted.

* * *

The occasion is the formal meeting, in all 48 states, of the anonymous people who were actually elected in the Nov. 6 general election.

When citizens voted for Eisenhower or Stevenson, they were actually voting for party electors — who are pledged to vote their party's choice, but aren't legally bound.

GEORGE J. SCOTT

They can switch their votes if they like.

But if Scott is any indication, the election will run with clocklike precision and predictability.

Scott, 88, was picked as Oakland County's elector at the Republican state nominating convention in Grand Rapids last summer.

* * *

Owner of a finance business in Royal Oak, he was picked as elector in 1952 but was unable to attend the electors' meeting due to an illness.

As an elector, Scott travels to Lansing Monday for the meeting in the Michigan Senate chambers. He has been invited to attend the President's inaugural in Washington, and plans to attend if his health permits the excursion.

Does he think any elector will switch his vote?

"I'm quite sure nothing like that will happen. It will be a unanimous vote for Mr. Eisenhower."

Red U. N. Delegate Sails for Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath, who walked out of the U.N. Assembly because of its debate on Hungary, sailed for home yesterday, silent and deeply worried about the fate awaiting him in Budapest.

Horvath shrugged off a report that he might become premier of the Soviet-imposed Hungarian regime headed by Janos Kadar, whose personal fate has come under doubt in recent days. He said he might return to the U.N. but did not say when.

The tall, gray-haired Hungarian said his deputy foreign minister, Endre Sik, was remaining at U.N. headquarters to continue negotiations with Dag Hammarskjold on Hungarian relief and on the secretary general's proposed visit to Budapest to survey conditions.

Sylvan Shopping Center Drug Store Robbed

Over $1,000 in money order funds and $60 in cash was taken from the Furtney Drug Store in the Sylvan Lake Shopping Center last night, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Office.

Detective Donald Francis said that if is not apparent yet whether any merchandise was taken. Manager of the store, Edward Avadenka, of 958 Canterbury St., reported the theft early this morning. The store is located at 2387 Orchard Lake Rd.

$4,000 Garage Fire Destroys Panel Truck

A panel truck and auto accessories stored in a home garage at 123 Mark St. were damaged in a $4,000 fire last night, Pontiac firemen said.

About $500 of the damage was to the garage itself, they said.

A 1956 automobile, also in the garage when the 35-minute blaze broke out at 1 a.m., was removed in time to prevent harm.

The property was owned by Harvey Osser, of that address, firemen said.

New Trustees Elected

LANSING (AP)—Three new trustees have been elected to the board of the Michigan Colleges Foundation. They are Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co.; Sherwin A. Hill, Detroit attorney, and Kenneth C. Tiffany, executive vice president of Burroughs Corp., Detroit. The Foundation seeks money from business and industry for operating expenses of 14 independent small colleges.

Waterford Man Fined for Reckless Driving

James Robert Crandall, 6940 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge yesterday, resulting from an accident Dec. 1.

Crandall lost control of his car at Williams Lake Rd. and Renford and smashed into a car driven by William Paul Keeler, of 40 Dwight Ave., Pontiac.

Crandall's charge was reduced to reckless driving when he pleaded guilty in Justice Willis Lefurgy's court. He paid a $25 fine and $25 court costs.

16 From County Enlist in U. S. Marine Corps

Sixteen men from Pontiac and Oakland County have enlisted at the Marine Corps Recruiting Station during November, MSgt. Ishmeal Powers announced today.

The new marines will receive 12 weeks of training at the recruit depot in San Diego, Calif., before being sent to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for a five-week course in individual combat training. They will then be assigned to a Marine Corps School, post or duty station.

* * *

The Pontiac recruits are: Robert Garrison, 274 W. Brooklyn Ave.; Gerald Sowards, 46 N. Saginaw St.; Rodney Klob, 5797 Eldridge Ave.; Carlton Hughey, 4 S. Saginaw St.; Richard Scribner, 2461 Baldwin Ave.; Frank Gingell, 3404 Gregory Rd.; Robert Vallad, 2185 Pompey St.; William Giesey, 3821 Pinnock St.; and Grant Thompson, 399 Midway Ave.

Oakland County residents are: Joseph Sawyer, and Louis Coulter, Keego Harbor; David Reiter, Orchard Lake; Frank Newton, Ortonville; Jeral Hailton, Davisburg; and Robert Glefke, Mt. Clemens.

David Fitzwater, 54 Henry Clay Ave., was assigned to Marine Aviation School.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted-- When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both business men and members of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not donate to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master-psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promoter gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on shipment of unordered merchandise, such as greeting cards, necktie, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulations and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by sidewalk hawkers of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prizes for bazaars by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

Cowboy Movie Frightens Off Some Refugees

DALLAS (AP)—A comic note Friday crept into the otherwise serious preparations to care for some 86 Hungarian refugees slated to come to Dallas.

Six of them, a refugee aid official said, interpreted a "cowboy and indians" movie as current conditions in Texas and said, "No thanks."

Dick McDonald, executive director of the Dallas Hungarian Freedom Committee, said 86 refugees, now housed at Camp Kilmer, N.J., will be flown tomorrow to Dallas.

Six substitutions were made after the refugees were treated to a Western movie, McDonald said he was informed. The refugees, watching scenes of fighting between cowboys and indians in the era of the Wild West, were jokingly told such things still went on in Texas.

The Hungarians believed the story and asked to be sent elsewhere.

Boys Pump Selves Into Graces of Law

LINWOOD, Pa. (AP) — Five boys, ranging in ages from 12 to 14, spent four hours pumping up 40 automobile and truck tires with old fashioned hand pumps.

The work was punishment.

Magistrate George M. Gray set the punishment when the boys were hauled before him and charged with deflating the tires on parked vehicles.

"They learned a better lesson that way than any other way," the magistrate said.

Arizona has the largest stand of yellow pine in the U.S.

Clues Lead Police to 'Marked' Culprit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The clues were easy for police seeking the prankster who broke into and overturned the beehives in Jesse W. Green's backyard.

First, officers found "small footprints" around the tangled hives.

Then they spotted a 12-year-old neighborhood boy who had a bee sting under his right eye.

The lad readily admitted he was the culprit.

Elks Feast on—Moose

ALLEGAN (AP) — Allegan County Sheriff Walter Runkel was host Wednesday night to 225 members of the Southwest Michigan Law Enforcement Assn., gathered at Elks temple for the group's annual dinner. The officers dined on moose, provided by A. C. Miller of Allegan.

ORDINANCE NO. 1328
Adopted December 11, 1956.
Effective December 21, 1956.

An Ordinance to provide for regulating and licensing the storing of liquid petroleum gases in containers; to provide restrictions on the use of said liquid petroleum gases; to provide safety measures for the installation and use of storage tanks; to provide for the issuance of a construction permit and a permit fee and to provide penalties for violations of this Ordinance.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:

Section 1: DEFINITIONS:

(a) The term "liquefied petroleum gases" or "gas" shall mean to include any material which is composed predominately of any of the following hydrocarbons, or mixtures of them: propane, propylene, butanes and butylenes in either the liquefied or gaseous state.

(b) The word "building" shall mean any structure, framework, or housing, public or private, and includes tanks, receptacles and containers for the storage of commodities, or other materials.

(c) The word "premises" shall mean any lot, or parcel of land, exclusive of buildings thereon, and other places or enclosures, however owned, used or occupied.

(d) The term "container" shall mean any vessel, such as tanks, cylinders, or drums used for shipping, storing or utilizing liquefied petroleum gases as regulated herein.

Section 2:

From and after the effective date of this ordinance the storing and use of liquid petroleum gases in containers in the Fire Limits of the City of Pontiac is prohibited, provided that as a temporary measure only and where liquid petroleum gas is to be used for the heating of any building, use of the same in approved containers may be permitted until natural gas is available but in no case shall any use be granted or approved in the Fire Limits for any period longer than one year. The permitted such approval for the one year period is granted by the Fire Marshal the installation, maintenance and use of said liquid petroleum gas shall be in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance. Only one tank of a capacity up to 1,200 gallons shall be permitted and no combination or series of tanks shall be allowed for any building within said Fire Limits.

Section 3:

The installation, maintenance and servicing of all liquid petroleum gas tanks in excess of 125 gallons and any and all equipment used in connection therewith or in any heating plant shall comply with the regulations of the Fire Marshal Division of the State of Michigan, Michigan State Police dated June 23, 1952 and all amendments made thereafter. All storage tanks in excess of 125 water gallons used for the storage of liquid petroleum gases shall be installed on solid foundation of not less than 6" of concrete installed under the entire area of the tank and completely enclosed by a six foot fence of substantial wire construction approved by the Fire Marshal of the City of Pontiac. Where the public safety requires, the Fire Marshal is authorized to specify a manual shut-off valve installed within the line from the tank in the enclosed area. Tanks in excess of 1,200 gallons (approved only for industrial installations) shall be supported at each of the four corners of the tank by concrete foundations extending 42 inches to the frost level and where such installations are permitted the six inch concrete pad above described shall not be necessary.

Section 4:

In all sections of the city located outside the Fire Limits as defined by the Fire Limits ordinance, no tank in excess of 1,200 water gallons for domestic or commercial use shall be allowed except that under special permit more than one tank under 1,200 gallons may be approved by the Fire Marshal where conditions and location justify such approval. On all installations of all tanks for the storing of liquid petroleum gases outside of the Fire Limits the installation, maintenance and operation of said storage tanks shall be in compliance with all of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 5:

In heavily populated or congested areas the Fire Marshal shall determine restrictions as to total storage or individual tank capacity and distances in the interest of public safety.

Section 6:

All persons, firms or corporations installing any liquid petroleum gas tanks or containers in excess of 125 water gallons within the city limits of the City of Pontiac shall first obtain a permit from the Building Inspector of the City of Pontiac in the amount of $10.00 to cover the cost of inspection of all of such installations and any tanks or installations for the use of liquid petroleum gases installed without first obtaining such permit shall be a violation of this ordinance on the part of any person, firm or corporation installing such tank. All permits shall be certified by the Fire Marshal of the City of Pontiac. It shall be unlawful from and after the effective date of this ordinance for any person, firm or corporation to maintain or use in the City of Pontiac any tank for the storage of liquid petroleum gases which has not been inspected in accordance with the terms of this ordinance. The Building Department shall maintain a record of all permits issued and all inspections made by the Fire Marshal for all tank installations where liquid petroleum gases are used.

Section 7:

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 8:

Any violations of or failure to comply with the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine not to exceed One Hundred" ($100.00) Dollars, and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment not to exceed ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and when such fine and costs are imposed, the Court may provide that in default of the payment thereof the offender shall be imprisoned for a period not to exceed ninety (90) days, unless such fine and costs shall be sooner paid: provided, no person shall be imprisoned for a single violation of this ordinance for a longer period than ninety days.

Section 9:

This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days from and after its passage by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.

Made and passed by the Commission of the City of Pontiac, this 11th day of December, A. D. 1956.

ORDINANCE NO. 1329
Adopted: December 11, 1956.
Effective: December 21, 1956.

An Ordinance Defining Certain Public Nuisance Prohibiting Their Creation or Maintenance, Providing a Method for Their Abatement by the Proper Authorities and Providing Penalties for Violations Thereof:

THE CITY OF PONTIAC ORDAINS:

Section 1:
Definitions:

(a) Public nuisances are hereby defined and declared to be those things, acts or uses of property which annoy, injure, or endanger the safety, health, comfort or repose of the public, or in any way render the public insecure in life or in the use of their property and said term "nuisance" shall be held to embrace public nuisances as known at common law or in equity jurisprudence and whatever is dangerous to human life, detrimental to health or makes the free and unrestricted use of a person's property undesirable or whatever renders the air or human food or drink unwholesome are all nuisances and as such are hereby declared illegal. (b) The term "Health Officer" shall be construed and mean to include the Director of Public Health of the City of Pontiac.

(c) Each of the following listed conditions and circumstances is hereby declared to be a nuisance within the meaning of this ordinance to-wit: whatever is dangerous or injurious to human life, health or habitation; whatever causes or has a tendency to cause the air, food, water or other drink in any place or manner in the city to be injurious to or to endanger the health, safety, welfare, or comfort of any person or of the public; whatever building, erection, structure, cellar or part thereof is overcrowded or not provided with adequate means of ingress or egress or for the disposal of human excreta, or for obtaining a reasonably necessary amount of clean water for use on the premises, or is unfit for human habitation, or is not sufficiently supported, ventilated, drained, cleaned, or lighted; any and all conditions, premises, buildings, or structures that harbor or are conducive to the harboring or breeding of insects, vermin, rats or other rodents; all ponds of stagnant water; all cellars and foundations of and excavations for houses, the bottoms of which contain stagnant or putrid water; all dead and putrified animals or rubbish lying about the roadways, lanes, streets, alleys, vacant lots, or yards, or upon the surface of the ground or not buried in the ground a sufficient depth; all methods of human excreta disposal except toilets or water closets properly maintained and connected with a sanitary sewer or septic tank or privies which have been constructed and are being maintained in accordance with law and the ordinance of the city and which are screened against flies and which are maintained in compliance with health measures, or other disposal system authorized by and maintained in accordance with the provisions of law and city ordinance; all choked or clogged sewers and house drains; all slaughter houses except those licensed under the ordinance of the city; all unreasonable accumulation of garbage, ashes or refuse; all pig pens and stables, and all wells, cisterns and reservoirs from which water for drinking or other domestic purposes may be obtained which are not constructed or maintained in accordance with the provisions of the city ordinance or of the Plumbing Code of the city and which show pollution. The storing, depositing or dumping of so-called foundry sand, after its use in any foundry, ash residue or similar substance upon any vacant lot or upon any lot or property with a dwelling or building, is declared a nuisance unless such foundry sand is covered with adequate stable soil, all of which to be approved by the Director of Public Health as to quantity and type of soil covering.

Section 2:
Unlawful to Keep Animals:

It shall be unlawful for any person to keep or allow to be kept within the City any cows, horses, pigs, goats, pigeons, chickens, geese, ducks, or any other animal, fowl or insect, except birds, dogs, cats, or other harmless and domesticated household pets.

Section 3:
Sanitary Conditions Maintained When Keeping Birds, Dogs, Cats, or Other Domesticated Household Pets:

It shall be unlawful for any person to maintain or permit to be maintained an unclean building, yard, or premise. All manure and excreta shall be removed and disposed of in such manner so as to prevent the breeding or harboring of insects and vermin. All yards where such animals are kept shall be well drained maintained in a sanitary condition and treated so as to effectively prevent the breeding or harboring of flies, mosquitoes, or rodents.

Section 4:
Health Officer to Correct Conditions or Condemn:

The Health Officer, if satisfied upon examination that a building, tenement, rooms or cellar in the city which is occupied as a dwelling place, or any other place where human beings reside, congregate, work or have access to, has become, by reason of its being inhabited or used, unclean or unfit for use as herein stated, or is likely to become a nuisance as herein declared, or to be the cause of sickness to tenants, occupants or to those who have access to the place, shall give notice in writing to such occupant or owner of the premises or post in a conspicuous location upon the entrance of such premises such notice condemning the place as being unfit for human habitation or use, and shall demand the occupant or owner of the premises to put such place in a sanitary and habitable condition within a reasonable time as therein stated. If such occupant or owner shall fail or refuse to comply with the terms of said notice within the time specified, the Health Officer may declare the premises a nuisance and make and file complaint against such occupant or owner or both as herein provided, or he may cause condition of the premises to be corrected at the owner's expense, or he may do whatever is reasonably necessary to abate the nuisance at the expense of the owner.

The reasonable cost and expense incurred by the Health Officer in repairing said premises and abating such nuisance shall be determined by the Health Officer, and the amount thus determined shall be charged to the owner of the premises involved, and shall be due and payable forthwith. A bill covering such amount shall be mailed by the City Finance Director to the owner of such premises at his last known post office address, demanding payment of the amount due. If said amount is not paid to the city on or before December 31st of the calendar year in which said amount became due, the amount thereof shall be collected by court action.

If such premises are vacated, the Health Officer may in his discretion refuse to permit and shall condemn the use of any premises for human habitation declared by him to be a nuisance, and such premises shall not again be occupied as a human habitation until they are put in a sanitary and habitable condition. The Health Officer shall have the power and he is hereby authorized and empowered, to condemn any premises declared by him to be a nuisance which are occupied as a residence and may order said premises vacated until repaired or the conditions corrected to make them habitable.

Section 5:
Unlawful to Occupy Condemned Premises:

It shall be unlawful for any person to occupy or use such premises thus condemned by the Health Officer until put in a sanitary and habitable condition in accordance with law and the ordinance of the city and satisfactory to the Health Officer.

Section 6:
Unlawful to Remove Condemnation Sign:

It shall be unlawful for any unauthorized person to remove any sign or notice posted on any premises condemning the use of said premises as a human habitation or declaring said premises to be a nuisance.

Section 7:
Right of Entry:

The Health Officer shall have the right to enter private property as provided in the State Housing Law at any reasonable hour of the day or night for the purpose of making a sanitary or health survey of the premises, obtaining a sample of water used thereon, or collecting other data and material pertaining to public health, and enforcing the provisions of said Housing Law and the within ordinance, and it shall be unlawful for any person to resist or attempt to prevent the Health Officer from carrying out the purposes herein set forth: provided, however, that such Health Officer shall have in his possession and carry upon his person at all times while carrying out the duties above outlined, sufficient credentials identifying himself as such Health Officer of the City, or showing his official capacity or relationship to the city department of Health, which credentials shall include a picture of the bearer and a brief description of his appearance indicating his age, height, weight, race, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and sex, and which credentials shall be exhibited by the bearer on demand to any person in charge of any premises which such Health Officer is about to enter.

Section 8:
Enforcing Officers:

The Health Officer and any deputy, agents, or inspectors designated by him, are hereby empowered to perform the duties and functions and are hereby given like authority of regularly authorized and appointed police officers of the city in the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 9:
Rules and Regulations:

The Health Officer is hereby authorized to prepare such reasonable rules and regulations which he deems necessary to carry out and enforce the provisions of this ordinance, subject to the approval of the City Commission.

Section 10:
Owners and Occupants Responsible for Premises Being Kept Clean:

All persons who own, manage, lease, rent to occupy any premises whatsoever shall be equally responsible for keeping said premises in a clean and habitable condition and shall take all necessary precautions to prevent any nuisance as herein declared, or other condition detrimental to public health from arising thereon, and particularly to take all reasonable precautions to prevent rodents and vermin, including rats, bedbugs, and cockroaches from being attracted thereto or existing thereon.

Section 11:
Owner to Keep Residences in Habitable Condition, Agreement:

Every building or portion thereof which shall be used as a home or residence for one or more families shall be kept by the owner thereof or the landlord in a habitable condition to prevent the premises from becoming a nuisance in accordance with the State Housing Law and the standards of maintenance as provided by the ordinances of the city, except the tenant or occupant may, by agreement in writing with such owner or landlord, agree to make certain repairs.

Section 12:
Abatement of Nuisances:

In the event any dwelling, building, structure or lot is maintained as a nuisance or in the event any nuisance exists on a lot, dwelling or building, the Health Officer shall order the abatement of such nuisance by written notice served upon such owner or person causing the same. Such notice shall prescribe the time when the nuisance shall be abated. Upon failure to abate such nuisance the Health Officer may, by Bill or Petition duly verified, set forth the facts and apply to the Circuit Court in Chancery for the County of Oakland or to any judge thereof for an Order granting the relief for which said action or proceeding is brought or for an Order enjoining all persons from doing or maintaining said nuisance and said Health Officer or said Petition may also apply to the Circuit Court or any judge thereof for an Order authorizing him to execute and carry out the provisions of said notice, to remove any violation specified in said notice or to abate any nuisance in or about said dwelling, building or structure or the lot upon which it is situated or upon any vacant lot where a nuisance exists.

Section 13:
Persons Liable:

The owner of any dwelling or any building or structure upon the same lot with a dwelling or the owner of any lot either improved or unimproved where a nuisance exists shall be guilty of a violation of this ordinance and any person who shall violate or assist in violating any provisions of this ordinance shall also jointly and severally for each such violation of each such nuisance be subject to the penalty of this ordinance.

Section 14:
Penalty:

Any violation of this ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $100.00 or by imprisonment in the Oakland County Jail for not more than 90 days or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Each day that a misdemeanor, as specified in this ordinance, is allowed or permitted to exist after abatement has been ordered by the Director of Public Health shall constitute a separate and distinct violation punishable as herein above set forth.

Section 15:
Severability:

In the event any phrase, clause, sentence, paragraph, section or chapter of the within ordinance should be declared unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by a court of competent jurisdiction the remainder of this ordinance shall be deemed to have been enacted without such constitutional or invalid portion.

Section 16:
Repeal:

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed, and particularly Ordinance No. 148.

This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days from and after its final passage by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.

Made and passed this 11th day of December, A.D. 1956 by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac.

WILLIAM W. DONALDSON,
Mayor
ADA R. EVANS,
City Clerk
Dec. 15, 1956.

Young Refugees Want Schooling

Men Who Fled Hungary Hope to Gain Education in U. S. Colleges

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Many Hungarian refugees headed for a new life in the United States are between 18 and 23 and are thirsting to attend an American university.

* * *

A striking thing about the flow of refugees in the big airlift is the number of young men.

Nearly all want to go to school. They have had enough of communism and dictation about who can go to what school and why.

Take one young man, who can be called Endre. He is 18, tall, sandy-haired and ruggedly handsome as are most of the young Hungarians here. He is going to Philadelphia, where his uncle lives.

"I want to be a veterinary surgeon," he said.

There was no chance for him to study at a Hungarian university because his father used to be a lawyer.

* * *

"Unless you join the Communist party," he said, "you do not go to a university in Hungary if you are of bourgeois background."

In other words, your family must have a long working class tradition.

When the students began demonstrating in Budapest Oct. 23, he and his friends at a high school tried to storm Radio Budapest.

Dozens were killed, "including my best friend," said Endre.

At that point, he decided that if the Communist government were not overthrown he would attempt to flee to America.

* * *

The Russian tanks moved in Nov. 4 and Endre lit out for the Austrian border. He left behind him his family and a German camera, which he used to take pictures "of animals and nature."

As far as Endre is concerned, "communism is finished in Hungary." He describes the Russians in Budapest as "frightened animals who keep looking over their shoulders to see who is following them."

Endre has no fears about plunging into a new world.

"The Communists were always trying to run America into the mud," he said, "but the people just don't believe it."

Gina Won't Warble Song That Isn't Popular in Italy

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Gina Lollobrigida—who'll be on Como's show (tonight), conversed animatedly with Perry through a translator, her husband, even though Perry understands Italian and Gina understands and speaks English. She simply prefers talking through her husband.

Gina heard suggestions as to what she'll sing, then refused one song because: "It's not popular in Italy."

Perry remonstrated, pointing out that the song is popular in the U. S. and that anyway the show won't be seen in Italy. Made no difference to Gina—if the song wasn't a hit in Italy she wouldn't sing it, and she won't.

It's now the season Mrs. Virginia O. Douglas, heroine of the famous "Yes, Virginia, There Is a Santa Claus" editorial, becomes more popular than Betty Furness.

After all the James Dean and Tommy Dorsey "tributes," why not one for Valentino, John Gilbert, Barrymore.

CARMEN HONORED

We don't have too many "proteges" but we consider Carmen McRae one, and we were delighted to note that she won the vote of the nation's musicians as "top new singing star" in Leonard Feather's useful, because it is quite complete, Encyclopedia Yearbook of Jazz.

In NBC's fascinating film documentary, "The Jazz Age," we were amazed at the same youthful appeal and good looks of the 1927 Charles Lindbergh and the 1956 Sen. Jack Kennedy.

Why must every radio and TV show heap holly and carols on us so that finally we ignore them, like a stuck whistle?

Things going sluggishly for you? Dave Garroway, a $6,000 per week or better performer, was graduated 23rd in a radio announcing class of 24.

Toughest question on some quizzes is how they ever got sponsors.

Ralph Story on "The $64,000 Challenge" seems humorless, astringent, almost dully deliberate and immovable when he should make room for fun.

Firemen Rescue 14 Overcome in Hotel

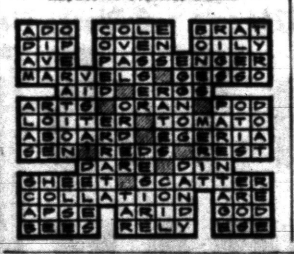

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fourteen persons were trapped on the top floor and overcome by smoke from a fire that broke out in the basement and raced up the air shaft of a four-story hotel here last night.

Firemen wearing gas masks carried them down ladders to safety. Nine were unconscious. Three were hospitalized. The other six were treated and released.

Leo Pursell, manager of the hotel, the Delmar, said 45 persons were registered. Fire Chief Edgar M. Grass said the cause of the fire was not known. There was no immediate estimate of the damage.

The "pink sands" on Bermuda's beaches are really tiny ground pink coral.

Truck-Car Collision Kills Ann Arbor Man

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Robert R. Ernest, 30, of Ann Arbor, was injured fatally last night in a truck-car collision on U. S. 23, four miles north of Ann Arbor.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies held Donald Newman, 22, also of Ann Arbor and the driver of the car, for investigation of felonious driving. Newman suffered minor injuries in the crash.

Looking for Director

DETROIT (AP)—George E. Bowles, chairman of the governor's Blue Cross study commission, named a four - man committee Friday to make recommendations in finding a research director. The Blue Cross study was stopped last summer when the commission's first choice for director, Dr. George Axelrod of the University of Michigan School of Health, declined the post.

May Smash Records

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Ore carrying freighters may smash all previous monthly tonnage records this December. The old December record of 2,762,375 tons set in 1916 already has been broken. The tonnage must hit three million tons to break all monthly records. Army engineers are holding the locks open so that ore carriers who got behind during the summer steel strike can stockpile more ore.

Captain to Be Buried

DETROIT (AP) — Capt. Raymond E. Hayward, 70, who first sailed the Great Lakes on the recently destroyed D & C Steamer Eastern States, will be buried Friday. Hayward, a Great Lakes seaman for 54 years, died Tuesday. His father, the late Capt. Eugene Hayward, was Captain of the Greater Detroit when it made its maiden run in 1924.

To Present Cantata at Donelson School

"And They Called It Christmas" is the name of the musical cantata to be presented at 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday at the Donelson School at 1200 W. Huron.

Some 500 children will participate in the presentation. The program will depict the Story of the Nativity with music, pageantry and narration.

A procession through the auditorium will be led by upper-grade children preceding the Christmas play.

Narrators will be Marilyn Ott and Sharon Geasler. Miss Patricia Yeiser, musical instructor, will direct the entire production.

New Sahara Policy

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly voted last night to create a central administration for the portions of the Sahara Desert under French rule. The French fear the desert area, with its two million nomad inhabitants, might fall under the influence of the Algerian Nationalist rebels.

BILL OF RIGHTS

J. L. VOORHEES

Dec. 15th is Bill of Rights Day. It has meant more than any other single set of laws to us and to the rest of the world.

"The Bill of Rights is what the people are entitled to against every government on earth, general and particular; and what no just government should refuse, or rest on inferences." Thomas Jefferson. These ten amendments spell out our liberty, they are written in simple words for every man to understand. Inference has jelled; we need not be a lawyer to understand our rights, and the rights of others. They are measures by which United States is judged. Our Bill of Rights is America's pledge to us and to those yet unborn that the torch of liberty shall not be dimmed by mock light of other places and other men.

One of the rights of the Bill of Rights is the privilege of assembly; assemble and observe the laws that made this assembly possible.
