

Soviet Program Started to Fight Agriculture Woes

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced plans Friday to combat what it called "serious shortcomings and errors in agricultural management during the past few years." It put new men in top government and Communist party posts to carry them out.

The main features of the new program are a massive investment in farm mechanization and higher payments to farmers without price increases to consumers.

The Communist party's first secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, who presented the program to the party's central committee, said the money would come from "redistribution within the state budget."

He also called for "wider use of economic and moral incentives" in collective and state farms which he said "should be allowed greater independence in economic activities."

LOCAL OFFICIALS
Brezhnev said this would raise the role and responsibility of local officials and increase the role of agricultural specialists.

The central committee adopted the measures at a two-day meeting which ended Friday. This means they will become government policy.

He replaced Dmitry F. Ustinov, 56, who became a secretary of the party, taking over from Leonid Ilyichev, who was named a deputy foreign minister.

DEPUTY PREMIER
Kirill T. Mazurov took over the job of first deputy premier, which Ustinov also held, and was named a full member of the party's Presidium. He had been an alternate member.

Brezhnev was critical of farm policies under former Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the man whom he and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin replaced in October 1964.

He did not name Khrushchev but said the gross farm output had increased only 10 percent during the last six years although it had been scheduled to go up by 70 percent during the current seven-year plan which ends this year.

"This happened because the economic laws guiding the development of Socialist economy were not duly considered or were even ignored at times," he said.

VAST TASKS
"The vast tasks set before agriculture were not reinforced adequately by economic measures," Brezhnev said.

Self-Inflicted Burns Kill Viet Objector

DETROIT (AP) — Eighty-two-year-old Mrs. Alice Herz died Friday of burns suffered when she set herself on fire in a Buddhist-like protest March 16 of United States policy in South Vietnam.

Mrs. Herz died in Receiving Hospital. She had suffered burns over much of her body after dousing her clothes with a flammable fluid and setting it ablaze on a street corner.

And Proved It This Student's Got Nerve

Pontiac Central sophomore Ronald Dunigan went to his biology class yesterday with a package under his arm containing one human rib, one lymph gland and a nerve—his own.

Ronald, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Dunigan, 271 Voorheis Road, had a tumor removed recently at Pontiac General Hospital.

Before the operation, he asked surgeon Arnold L. Brown if he (Brown) would save a lymph gland for use in the biology class.

At that time, no one knew that a rib would have to be removed. However, the surgeon included it in the odd collection from the operation.

Result? Ronald is the proud possessor of his own rib, lymph gland and nerve — in bottles. The tumor was not malignant.

DOWNED PILOT UNDER GUARD — North Viet Nam soldiers guard a man the Vietnam identifies as Lt. Hayden J. Tass, the Soviet news agency which supplied the picture, says Lockhart is sitting on the wreckage of his downed plane.

Believed Set Off by Cong Blast Rips U.S. Craft

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A massive explosion believed set off by Viet Cong fragments Friday blew gaping holes in the hull of an American LST docked at a commercial pier at Da Nang.

The blast by an estimated 500 pounds of high explosives injured one Japanese crewman slightly, caused extensive interior damage, and ripped a half dozen holes two to six feet in diameter in the hull.

An official in Saigon said the LST — landing ship tank — did not sink.

The blast was touched off despite an overnight city curfew and rigid security precautions throughout the area — site of the strategic Da Nang air base, now guarded by 4,000 U.S. Marines and batteries of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles.

TWO SQUADRONS
Two squadrons of Marine warplanes are expected to be brought to Viet Nam to support the Leatherneck ground forces already here.

An informed source said the aircraft would be stationed at Da Nang, complementing the present Marine Hawk squadron and two squadrons of Marine helicopters.

The Marine 8th Expeditionary Brigade — two battalions of combat troops — landed in Da Nang early this month with the mission of guarding the jet field, closest to the 17th Parallel.

The Marine warplanes would be assigned to furnishing tactical support to the combat infantry force. The source said the aircraft would consist of one squadron of jets and one squadron of propeller-driven fighter-bombers.

MARINE AIR WING
Along with the Hawks and helicopters on the base, they would be incorporated into a Marine air wing.

Marine aircraft would give the base a strongly reinforced military punch. At present, the base is used by U.S. Air Force F100 and F105 jets, Vietnamese air force propeller-driven Sky-raid and a host of incidental supporting aircraft on various missions.

Many of the planes rotate in and out, using Da Nang as a staging and refueling field for strikes either against North Viet Nam or against the Communist guerrillas within South Viet Nam.

Because of this, there are times when most or all of the warplanes are gone from the field. Presumably, the Marines want to have their own warplanes on the base and available in case of Communist attack.

REQUIRES APPROVAL
Addition of Marine warcraft to the Da Nang base would require approval from the Vietnamese government. It was not known whether this has been given.

Scores of FBI agents took part in the investigation that led to the arrests. The agents were in the Selma — Montgomery area because of racial troubles stemming from a Negro voter registration drive.

They also were keeping a close watch on the marchers who made the five-day, 50-mile pilgrimage from Selma to Montgomery. Federalized Alabama National Guardsmen and Army troops called out by the President also were on duty.

S. Saginaw Gets New Traffic Flow
New traffic movements on the southern half of South Saginaw went into effect at 3:50 yesterday afternoon.

City crews, working under a plan established this week by the State Highway Department, removed the islands at South Saginaw and the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover.

The islands had prevented the north-south flow of traffic and had isolated a portion of South Saginaw.

Motorists can now go south on Saginaw to Wide Track or can turn off at the crossover at Saginaw to go south on Wide Track.

DEAD-END STREET
"God must have been on my side because we went down a dead-end street and about 30 cars came in behind us," the doctor said.

Demos said he was not frightened because Davis told him "Now, Doc, I'm not going to kill you."

Demos concluded his telephone interview by saying, "Now please let me go. I just want to get home to my family. I'm a hundred miles away from home."

'I WINKED'
The elder Demos said police came to the door and asked if the bandit was there. "Of course with his having the gun, I had to tell them he. But I winked several times so they would know he was."

Demos said police later called his home and talked with Davis, promising leniency.

However, Davis told them he wanted to die anyway because of the ill-fated love affair.

Later, Demos said, Davis told him one of the family would have to go with him if he went.

LEFT HOME
Thus, Demos and Davis left the Chattanooga home and headed south into neighboring Georgia.

They passed through several small towns, stopped at Cartersville for gas and then headed for Marietta.

At Marietta, a Cobb County Sheriff's deputy stopped the car, but Demos warned the officer and the other 15 carloads of men in pursuit to leave the chase — saying his life was in grave danger. Marietta is 80 miles south of Chattanooga and 15 miles north of Atlanta.

Most of the police cars dropped out of the chase at this point and Demos headed the car to the west toward Dallas, Ga., and Alabama. Somewhere along this route Demos talked Davis into letting them head back toward Chattanooga.

'ROPE AND GUN'
The President said the Klan has "used the rope and the gun, the tar and the feathers to terrorize their neighbors."

In a telephone interview taped and later broadcast on a New York radio station, Shelton, the Klan's top man in Alabama, said, "This organization has never used tar and feathers and a rope."

"I think he's got it reversed, he's got the shoe on the wrong foot. It is he that is using the gun and the rope. His tanks and ammunition against the Southerner, instead of the Klan against the Negro."

Calvin Craig, grand dragon of the United Klans of America, said in Atlanta the President "asked for violence" by sending troops to Alabama to protect civil rights marchers.

neys disagreed over an arraignment date she told them. "Now, let's don't put this off forever and ever, please."

She handed them a calendar and after brief discussion set April 15 as the date.

Wilkins, who was dressed in a dark brown shirt and black trousers, and Rowe, who was neatly garbed in a dark gray suit and white shirt, objected to photographers taking their pictures.

CURSED LIGHTS
"Get those damn lights out of my face," Wilkins told one cameraman.

Rowe, who has red hair, lunged three times at photographers, once forcing an FBI agent to push him into a hastily opened floor for a moment.

Another time when Rowe was ducking a cameraman he appeared to make a threatening gesture and said, "I'm fixing to bust one of them in the mouth."

An FBI agent said, "Take it easy."

Some hours after completion of the bond hearings in Birmingham, a blue and white Teamsters Union plane arrived in Detroit with the body of Mrs. Luzzo, wife of a union official.

HOFFA ORDERS
The plane was sent to Montgomery on orders of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

President Johnson announced the arrests of the four men on nationwide television and radio with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover at his side.

"I cannot express myself too strongly in praising" Hoover and his men for their swift action after the slaying of Mrs. Luzzo, Johnson said.

School Board Decisions Due on Location, Bids

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education is expected to make a decision Monday night on the location of a new administration building and to let contracts for two school building projects.

A special meeting has been called for 8 p.m. at the Board of Education Building.

Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith will recommend that the board designate a section of the Pierce Elementary School property as the site of the proposed administration building.

The parcel across the street from the school is located on the corner of Southlawn and Pierce streets.

Funds for the building, which carries an estimated cost of $175,000, were included in a $5,500,000 bond issue approved by taxpayers in June 1964.

DOWNTOWN
The Citizens Action Committee (CAC) in November urged the school board to keep its headquarters in downtown Birmingham.

The CAC's cooperative study committee, after several months of work, recommended that the building be constructed on the Merrill right-of-way between Bates and Henrietta.

However, school board trustees decided against the move because of the cost factors involved. They also noted space problems would arise and that the building alone would require 15,000 square feet of property.

Also to be acted on Monday night are new mechanical bids for Evergreen Elementary School and adjusted bids for the addition to Valley Woods Elementary School.

Cost of the new building has been estimated at $270,000 and additional classrooms at the existing unit at $270,000.

To Submit Final Plans for Community College

GRAYLING (U) — Final plans for a community college to be located in the area of Oscoda, Roscommon, Crawford and Ogemaw counties will be submitted in the State Department of Education, a planning committee agreed Friday. Gov. George Romney's blue-ribbon committee on education favors such a college, with West Branch as a possible site.

Date Set to Take Office

LANSING (U) — A bill designating April 10 as the date when township officials elected in the November 1964 election, except justices of the peace, shall take office was signed into law Friday by Gov. George Romney.

Gas Issue Gets U.N. off Track

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U) — A wrangle over Soviet charges that the United States is waging poison gas warfare in Viet Nam has muddled efforts by the U.N. to straighten out its peace-keeping finances.

Soviet Chief Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko and U.S. Ambassador Francis T. Pimpton got involved in the dispute Friday at the opening session of a special 33-nation committee dealing with peace-keeping operations.

Fedorenko accused the United States of using "poison gas" in Viet Nam and declared such an act was "a crime against mankind."

Pimpton accused the Russians of injecting "a discordant note" into a debate intended to deal with the U.N.'s financial problems.

Pimpton charged that the real aggressor in Viet Nam was the Communist northern regime which he said seeks by "violence and terror" to destroy the Saigon government.

He said the United States sought "no wider conflict—only the termination of aggression." It was not embarking upon gas warfare, he said, but only used nonlethal riot control gas.

Fedorenko told the U.N. committee the Congo and Middle East operations had violated the U.N. Charter. He said that before tackling present U.N. financial difficulties, the committee should adopt measures to insure that future peace-keeping operations adhere to the charter.

He insisted that the establishment, direction and financing of all future U.N. forces should be left to the Security Council, where there is a big-power veto.

FIRST PROBLEM
Pimpton said the committee's first problem was to assure U.N. solvency. He threatened by the refusal of the Soviet Union, France and others to pay peace-keeping assessments.

He said its second problem was to agree on the council's and General Assembly's respective peace-keeping roles.

He declared the United States was ready to begin negotiations on both issues immediately.

Pimpton charged that the Soviet Union wants a "perpetual veto" over peace-keeping and therefore insists that the assembly "has no right whatsoever as to the keeping of the peace of its financing."

HAVE TO DECIDE
Committee members, he remarked, "will have to decide whether that is the position they really want to have prevail."

Fedorenko revived a Soviet proposal of last July that Communist, neutralist and Western countries alike should keep troops available for the council's use.

But he did not reiterate an earlier Soviet offer to make an unspecified voluntary contribution to help pay off the deficit. Some diplomats say the secretary general is proposing a U.N. solvency fund for this purpose which governments could contribute.

General Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana who heads the committee, finally adjourned further meetings until late April. He said he and Secretary General U. Thant would seek "some big-power agreement on which the group could base its future work."

Bill Would Outlaw

Nuisance Phone Calls
LANSING (U) — Nuisance telephone calls would be outlawed by a bill introduced in the house Friday by Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit.

The measure would forbid unasked-for telephone solicitation of business, contributions, opinions, invitations to participate in any game or contest, extolling the virtues of any products or service or volunteering information on alleged business, commercial or investment opportunities.

Prefers Gas to Being Shot, but . . .

By STEVE HALE
Deseret News Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (U) — I got a heavy dose Friday of the tear-gas gas that is causing a worldwide furor because the United States has supplied the stuff for use against Communists in Viet Nam.

Officials in Washington say the gas has been used to combat the Viet Cong situations where innocent people might be hurt if guns were used.

After my experience with the gas, I can report that I prefer it to being shot or shelled.

I can also report that I haven't been so sick since I ate some stew I cooked as a Boy Scout.

THREE KINDS
The Pentagon told the Deseret News that three kinds of gas have been used in Viet Nam.

They are "CS," a choking tear gas which also has nausea effects, "CM," or common tear gas, and "DM," a pepperlike irritant gas.

A Utah National Guard officer reported that two canisters of "CS" gas were available. We drove with it to a secluded area in Emigration Canyon near Salt Lake City.

M. Sgt. Dee Butterfield, who wears the green beret of the Special Forces, pulled out a canister marked "Grenade, Hand, Riot, CS, M7A2." He tossed it a few feet from me and it popped like a firecracker.

SMOKE POURED OUT

Grey smoke spewed from the grenade. I moved into the smoke and breathed. It was like inhaling pepper and fire. I coughed, and the nausea hit my stomach with ball bat impact. My cheeks stung and my eyes ached.

I was in the gas cloud for possibly 10 seconds, coughing and retching.

The single thought that struck me after getting one sniff of the stuff was to get out of there. But where to go?

My burning eyes would not open. I ran, took a breath and what I inhaled was sweet mountain air. But that didn't end my discomfort.

ILL-EFFECTS REMAINED

The nausea, coughing and stinging eyeballs remained for another 15 to 30 minutes.

I had no breakfast, so the experience wasn't as awful as it could have been.

This We Believe . . .

The standing invitation we have made to inspect our establishment is not motivated by pride. It is of increasing professional importance to us that people understand what funerals entail. Knowledge and understanding on the part of the public will enable us to better perform the essential service we must continue to render.

Mushrooming of Autos
Feeds Problem Growth

The really blood-curdling thing about the figure of almost 48,000 dead in automobile accidents last year is the fact that most people's blood doesn't curdle.
Thus when an industry executive calls on the Nation to prepare "with a full sense of urgency" for the problems of 1975, when the number of automobiles will have jumped from the present 72 million to more than 100 million, cynics may wonder just how bad things will have to get before Americans consider the situation urgent.
The auto maker lists three major problems created by the automobile which will be greatly magnified in the next 10 years — safety, congestion and blight.
Inherent in the foremost problem, safety, is the frightening fact that even if the traffic death rate is held to its present level of 5.4 per 100 million miles until 1975 — when travel will exceed a trillion miles per year—annual fatalities would rise to above 55,000.
As for congestion, since the half-completed Interstate Highway system was begun, the number of vehicles has increased by 18 million. And as the project progresses toward completion in 1972, more than 2 million cars will be added to traffic for each additional 2,000 miles of freeway built—1,000 cars for each new mile.
And to cope with the blight problem — the automobile graveyards and abandoned vehicles along the Nation's roads—one automotive company is offering an annual award of $1,000 to anybody who comes up with the best suggestion toward solution.
The fabulous horseless carriage has brought rich rewards to this country, including the Pontiac area, and can bring even more. But we must show enough wisdom and concern to meet the changing needs and solve the pressing problems that come with the rewards.
Little Public Debate on Financing Drains
The Pontiac City Commission this week announced a major policy decision which we feel had inadequate public discussion.
They decided that the city at large will pay for new storm drains, rather than individual property owners aided by the city's capital improvement fund.
Financing of the project was discussed at length in informal meetings of the commission, but the first public inkling of the change was Tuesday night, when the new plan was approved.
We would like to think future matters of this importance will get adequate public debate before adoption.
Science Goes All Out Using Bomb Fallout
The old saying that it's an ill wind that blows nobody good still holds true even if the wind is laden with radioactive fallout.
Not that fallout is good for anybody, but it has enabled scientists to develop a new method of tracing verbal chemical and physical changes in the human body.

Science Service reports that the radioactive carbon released by the "dirty" H-bombs of 1961 and 1962, which has been absorbed by every living thing, is being utilized by scientists at the University of California to study the formation and decay of tissues and cells.
"It is as if," says one of the scientists, "somebody with a gigantic global syringe injected some radioactive carbon as a tracer in every plant, animal and person in the world."
Fortunately, while measurable, the amounts of the element are considered far below the danger level.

Expect Viet War to Become Uglier

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — The Vietnamese war, shrouded out of much of the American mind by space shots and civil rights excitement, will be back, uglier and perhaps bigger.
This country intensified the war against the Communists to make them back up and seek a truce. They haven't backed up, they haven't sought a truce, and they're fighting harder.
Six weeks ago, after they attacked an American air base in South Viet Nam, the United States stepped up the conflict with a bombing raid on North Viet Nam.

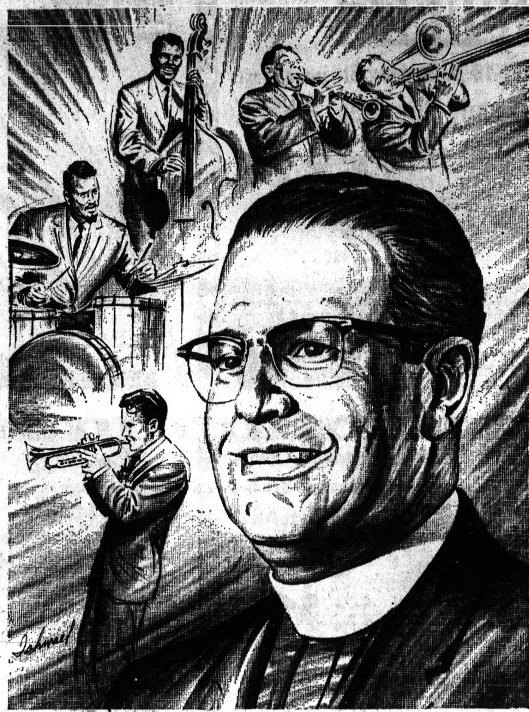

MARLOW

"We want no wider war," President Johnson said, although the bombing widened it. The bombing raids continued until now they are almost commonplace but the Communists show no signs of yielding. On the contrary.
This week Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, said the Red guerrillas there are beginning an all-out drive for victory. "Now one senses we may be arriving at a decisive point," he said. He said more.
He startled and worried this country's British ally, even though it had approved the stepped-up U.S. efforts, when he said there are no limits on how much the war may be intensified.
MAY CHANGE MIND
And then he indicated this country may have changed its mind if it thought bombing raids could make the Communists see the light. Now he says the United States may get into the ground fighting in South Viet Nam.
Thinking of where all this may be heading, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Tuesday he wants an explanation of Taylor's statement that there are no limits on how much the war may be stepped up.
This came on top of news from Saigon that the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces are experimenting with nonlethal gas warfare against the Reds.
But Michael Stewart, British foreign secretary, said in Washington that he had expressed to Secretary of State Dean Rusk "the very grave concern" felt in Britain and other countries about the use of gas.
In Moscow Soviet leaders hinted at the use of force on the side of North Viet Nam. Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said Soviet citizens had been volunteering for service there.
After all this there is the troubling question: If the bombing raids have not forced North Viet Nam to back up, then what next and how far?

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Reverend John Gensel, unlike most ministers, has two congregations. One is the Advent Lutheran Church in New York City and the other is the world of jazz musicians. Three or four nights a week will find him visiting the night clubs and jazz spots ministering to his second congregation. Pastor Gensel, always a jazz buff, took a course on The Influence of Jazz on Modern Culture when he first came to New York. This led to doing field work at various clubs. Wearing his clerical collar and drinking cokes, he was not at first accepted by the musicians, but finally one by one they came to him for help and his ministry took hold. He has since become a stable influence for many in their unstable worlds. The ULCA's Board of American Missions gave their official sanction and provided him with an assistant at the Advent Lutheran Church. Pastor Gensel feels that his ministry is vital in the jazz community for it is one of the influential factors in our cultural pattern. He says, "True faith is immortal. God's love draws no line between our secular and religious lives and the Church has to go into all paths of life to serve."

Days of All Faiths:

Observe Great Hour of Sharing

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER
School children in Algeria will have milk to drink daily, men in Ghana will be trained in modern agricultural methods, children in Taiwan will be inoculated against polio, seawater will be turned into drinking water in Greece, victims of last year's Caribbean hurricanes will have food and clothes and building material for new homes — all as the result of one hour's action in fourteen American denominations.
For the seventeenth consecutive year these fourteen national churches will observe their "One Great Hour of Sharing," which means they will gather in millions of dollars for a sound, basic, people-to-people foreign-aid program. No politics, no expectation of winning allies or making converts, no waste, practically no overhead. Just a Christian effort to divide up some of our material blessings among others who need them.
One of the big difficulties in this world is that although God handles production and provides plenty for everyone, He leaves distribution in the hands of men. One Great Hour of Sharing is an attempt by millions of Christians to improve their end of this partnership.
There are fifteen other denominations that take part in the overseas program but use different methods of raising their funds for it. Together all 29 raise about 17 million dollars. Of this amount, 10 million is spent by the denominations in programs of their own; the remaining seven million is spent co-operatively in one vast joint program.
Here is a list of the ways in which this money is spent:
To provide emergency food, medicine, clothing and shelter for victims of famine, flood, earthquakes, etc.
To resettle and rehabilitate refugees.
To aid orphans, the sick, and the aged.
To break patterns of poverty by vocational training, self-help projects, and agricultural training.
To finance educational projects, exchange students, and the training of young people for leadership in their home countries.
NOAH THE FIRST APRIL FOOL?
Nobody knows how All Fool's Day got started, but every land and culture seems to have one. It just seems to be human nature to want to make someone look silly. It is rather surprising, too, how many of the different peoples choose this time of year for their foolishness.
One theory of the origin of this kind of day says it goes back to Noah and the time he sent the dove out to see if the waters had receded enough to provide a landing spot for the ark. It turned out to be a fruitless mission — or "fool's errand."
This idea itself sounds like an April Fool story. But in some countries the futile errand has always been the principal April Fool joke. Many a guileless youngster has been sent for pigeon's milk, for a biography of Eve's mother, or for a left-handed hammer, saw, or wrench.
In Scotland and England they can still find lads naive enough to "hunt the gowk." How this prank got such a name is not apparent. It consists of sending some unsophisticated victim with an envelope to some person at a certain address. The recipient looks over the contents, and looked up his own name in the index.
"I found that I was mentioned in only one footnote," he says, "and then as a 'dependent variable'."
White House press secretary George Reedy now has three fish in a northern pike, a sailfish and a marlin — mounted on his office walls.
To distinguish it from nearby conference quarters called the Fish Room, Reedy's place is now called "The Aquarium."
Recently a woman operator for an answering service took a call for a woman who said the man wasn't in his office and added: "Who said I say called?" The soft reply stunned her: "Just say the President called."
Lawyer Dean Acheson—President Truman's secretary of state — is an avid student of economics, sociology and politics. He now reports this interest in the social sciences is waning.
Recently, Acheson picked up a book by a noted sociologist

'Just Say the President Called'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's penchant for telephoning around town on his own sometimes sends tremors of excitement through unexpected places.
Recently a woman operator for an answering service took a call for a woman who said the man wasn't in his office and added: "Who said I say called?" The soft reply stunned her: "Just say the President called."
Lawyer Dean Acheson—President Truman's secretary of state — is an avid student of economics, sociology and politics. He now reports this interest in the social sciences is waning.

Reader Recommends Site for Low Cost Retirement

A disgusted voter bought a retirement home in Pontiac and now complains about high taxes. He was not very smart if he really was looking for cheap taxes.
I have a place where we don't have much tax. The tax is a two-room school and no fancy gym. The tax is only $9.50. We have our own well so water is free. Our sewer is right back of the house and the soil is sandy. The sheriff takes care of the law and we have a volunteer fire truck.
Taxes are really cheap.

'State Can't Handle Its Law Enforcement'

I am confused. The Federal government is going to prosecute the law enforcement agencies of Selma, Alabama, for breaking up a mob. Recently in Dearborn, Michigan, the mayor and two city officials were indicted in a federal court for not breaking up a mob. They were told in court that their oath of office says they will protect the citizens of that city and uphold the law. Shouldn't the law be the same?
Many politicians are crying about the law enforcement agencies in Alabama, trying to tell them how to handle their problems, and Michigan can't even handle its own law enforcement. At a recent basketball game nine students were stabbed while four patrolmen were on duty, and not one hoodlum was arrested that night. The remaining games had to be played under locked doors. And Michigan tries to tell another state how to handle its law problems.
WELDON HUFFMAN

'Let People Vote on a State Income Tax'

The people of Michigan should have something to say about the proposed state income tax. We are overtaxed now and large families are having a tough time just getting by.
I agree the senior citizens need and deserve help but there must be another way—a way that will be fair to all.
T. L. H.

While much has been said about the need for fiscal reform now, very little action has been taken by any interested parties, understandably.

A one per cent income tax on individuals and corporations would produce about $140 million. Repeat of the business activities would produce about $104 million; the intangible tax, $37 million; the beer tax, $25 million; the corporation franchise tax, $50 million.

A fiscal reform program is only starting at this point and we are already close to a needed two per cent income tax. The total requests for fiscal relief add up to $1,061,000,000. If we divide this figure by the revenue produced by a one per cent state income tax we come up with a needed tax of 8 per cent. Taxpayers ought to have the right to vote on the levy of a state income tax.

Citizen Wonders Who Council Considers

A Keego Harbor councilman remarked recently that the council did not have to put anything to the vote of the people, as they are elected by the people to represent them.
Doesn't this statement imply that the people who now live in Keego are the ones to be considered, not some future residents of a future town they hope to make of our city?

'School Board Should Reverse Decision'

Discontinuing senior trips for Waterford high schools shows the lack of consideration on the part of the school board. As graduating classes grow in size, it is almost impossible to assure 50 per cent turnout for the trip.
The rule should apply only to the school that did not meet the 50 per cent requirement. The students at Kettering think the Township board should reverse the decision.

State Dept. Vows End to Psychosexual Probe of Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has promised to call off tests that probe its employees' minds and sex life.

The decision was relayed by Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., who had planned a special investigation into "an insidious and illegal search of the human mind."

A State Department letter promising an end to such psychological tests came, Gallagher said, after he announced his planned probe.

Gallagher listed these as some of the questions employees were supposed to mark off as true or false:

My father was a good man.
My sex life is satisfactory.
I enjoy reading love stories.
I believe in the second coming of Christ.

I believe women ought to have as much sexual freedom as men.

I loved my mother.
I believe there is a God.
Once in a while I laugh at a dirty joke.

I wish I were not bothered by thoughts about sex.
SEE QUESTIONS

And so on for 566 sex questions, said Gallagher.

In addition, he added, the employees — in other agencies as well as the State Department — have been asked to give written answers to such questions as whether they are "troubled" by: deciding whether I'm really in love; in love with someone of a different religion; too deeply involved in a love affair; being too inhibited in sex matters.

William J. Crockett, deputy undersecretary of state for administration, explained that in medical examinations "we have had a policy of using various types of psychological testing wherever it is indicated this testing might assist in reaching the correct diagnosis and in determining the proper treatment for the individual."

Crockett noted there have been a lot of questions raised as to whether "this requirement was an appropriate one for a government agency to impose upon its personnel."

POLICY DISCONTINUED

The State Department apparently decided it wasn't, for Crockett promised that "effective immediately we have discontinued this policy."

Instead, he said, the department will require employees that appear to need such help to get psychiatric counseling.

Gallagher praised the State Department action, but noted that some other federal agencies use such tests for selecting personnel. Among the agencies, he said, are the departments of labor and defense, the Export-Import Bank and the Peace Corps. The Department of Welfare, he said, uses them and "has financed the use of intrusive personality tests on school youngsters for research purposes."

Medicare Hit as 'Wedge for Socialization'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Medicare bill now before Congress represents "a foot in the door for the socialization of the medical profession and hospitals," the president of the American Medical Association charged Friday.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward also said the bill "is viewed by some in the AMA as a payoff of IOU's by officeholders to the AFL-CIO and to Walter Reuther." Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, has supported Medicare.

Ward urged the Michigan Association of the Professions, whose convention here continues through Saturday, to support the AMA-favored "Eldercare" alternative to the Medicare proposal.

He said his group opposed Medicare "because it is unjust to tax the workingman to provide hospitalization dollars for everyone over 65 without regard to need."

Theft Brings 'M' Goalie Into Court

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Gregory K. Page, 19, of St. Paul, Minn., pleaded guilty to the University of Michigan hockey team, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Friday to a charge of simple larceny in theft of $55 in phonograph records from a drug store.

Page was remanded to jail without bond for sentencing Monday.

Page, sophomore first-string Wolverine goalie of the past hockey season, was the second U-M athlete to run afoul of the law this week.

Russell Kingery, 20, of Wilmington, Del., a varsity swimmer, pleaded guilty to an incidental charge in connection with theft of 90 cents worth of cheese from a grocery store. Given the choice of a $10 fine or two days in jail, he paid the fine.

Freedom Festival Head

DETROIT (AP)—Walker L. Ciesler, Detroit Edison Co. board chairman, has been named general chairman of the 1965 Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival. The week long event is to run from June 30 to July 5.

Tax Toll Spurs Unusually Heavy Loan Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Income tax is biting so hard this year you can see the marks.

Some banks are reporting an unusually large number of personal loans. The reason, no secret: money needed to pay taxes.

The Internal Revenue Service has noticed a significant slowdown in the flow of tax returns. The reason, presumed but obvious: more people than usual are waiting until the last minute.

Helicopter Is Forced to Land on Highway

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A Kincheloe Air Force Base helicopter, its engine conked out, made an emergency landing on highway U.S. 2 about four miles west of the base Friday. Neither Capt. Henry P. Fogg, the pilot, nor any of his three companions on the routine training flight were hurt.

ute — April 15 — because they have to send money in.

A lot of families which are used to getting refunds in the spring haven't gotten any this year. The reason, the same one that is behind most of this year's more than usual tax distress: last year's under withholding.

MAKING ERRORS

And yet, ironically, a larger percentage of those taxpayers who have filed their returns are making errors in favor of the government.

When pay check deductions were reduced in March 1964 from 18 per cent to 14 per cent following enactment of an $11.5-billion tax cut, the largest in history, Johnson administration officials recognized that some taxpayers who earn from $7,500 to $20,000 wouldn't be fully covered by withholding.

The withholding rate was set a little low to put more money in the spending stream and thereby pep up the economy. Economists almost unanimously agree that the strategy worked — but it put a crimp in the personal financial strategy of many taxpayers.

Many taxpayers did not take advantage of their option to per-

Soviet Chief to Attend Hungarian Ceremonies

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan will attend ceremonies April 1 marking the 20th anniversary of Hungary's World War II liberation, the news agency MTI said today.

Mikoyan, who visited Romania earlier this week, was expected to stay in Hungary at least four days. Other East European Communist leaders were also expected to attend.

mit larger deductions from their pay checks.

BIG RUSH

Some banks say the big rush for loan applications won't come until a few days before the April 15 deadline.

"We feel there has been a definite increase in loan applications," said a spokesman at Chase-Manhattan Bank. Most other New York banks said it was too early to tell about the volume of tax loans.

John A. Oulliber, president of the National Bank of Commerce in New Orleans, said: "It is going to create a problem in the next few weeks. There has been more talk on the part of personnel officers from corporations than from individuals."

However, officials of Federal Reserve District banks in Philadelphia and Richmond, Va., said there was no noticeable increase in the number of personal loans.

FEWER REFUNDS

As of March 19, the revenue service had mailed out 16.3 million refunds compared to 12.8 million at a comparable point last year, a decline of 14 per cent.

Refunds totaled about $1.9 billion, a drop of 25 per cent from the $2.6 billion of last year.

UAW Locals Salute Clothing Workers

Pontiac area UAW locals are saluting a brother union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, on its 50th Anniversary, tomorrow.

They are marking the occasion by a premiere showing of the film "The Inheritance" at the Forum, 12 N. Saginaw, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Usually the number of returns increases 2 to 4 per cent a year. By March 19, the IRS had received 7.5 per cent fewer returns as compared to March 19, 1964. The totals: 32,000,000 in the 1964 period and 29,656,000 this year.

Art And Literature Important To The John Keenan Family Of Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Twp.

background for LIVING

Art Accents Highlight Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Mrs. John Keenan of Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, has nine good reasons to be grateful for a dishwasher and they range in age from 18 to 2.

12, Peter, 8, Christopher, 7, Joseph, 5, Andrew, 3, and Anne, 2.

Her bright and cheerful kitchen features a blocked wallpaper with recipes, menus and fruit and vegetable prints above the yellow dais.

"But don't try to follow any of the recipes," she warned.

"For though they start out sounding interesting, none of them are finished."

A tole drop lantern in white and brass lights the seven-foot table in the informal dining area.

Throughout the Keenan household the accent is on art. Both Mr. and Mrs. Keen-nan are artists and they want their youngsters to grow up enjoying and appreciating paintings and related art subjects.

In the formal dining room a sculpture by Tina Paulus, "St. Martin de Porres" stands on the maple server. It balances a wall-hung still life, "Coconut and Green Pears," by Mrs. Keenan.

Above the living room Victorian settee, upholstered in a green and brown provincial pattern against a grigio background, hangs an artist's proof block print, "Pioneers, Oh Pioneers" by Jacob Landau.

Grouped on one side of the floor-to-ceiling book case, painted white like the room's walls, is an arrangement of originals.

Included are a water color, "Central Park" by Ralph Avery; a still life by Mrs. Keenan, two paintings of local scenes by Charles Culver, "Long Lake" and "Big Beaver," and a sampler embroidered by Mr. Keenan's grandmother in 1862.

The highly polished oak floors in the room are accented by a round oval braided rug.

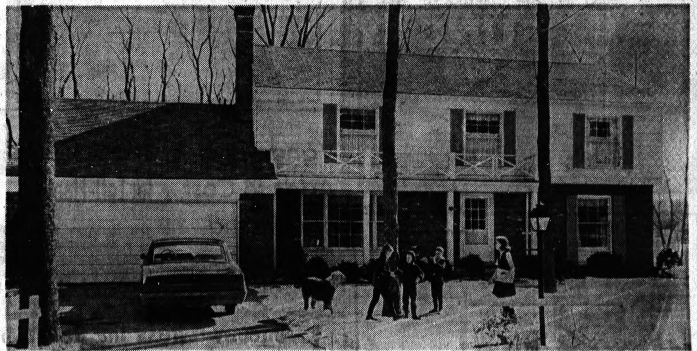

An oiled-walnut coffee table serves the sofa, covered in a provincial print of black, brown, pumpkin and burnt sienna on beige.

FLOOR PLANS—Architectural skill provides long expanses of space within Design H-76, creating the impression of bigness in a modest house. Typical example is 40-foot view from one end of master bedroom along rear porch.

A water heater should be installed in a place that will permit free circulation of fresh air.

Vandalism Adds to Cost of Building

One of the inevitable costs of building a new home is the price of repair for vandalism, the president of the Houston Homebuilders Association says. Norman Dobbin says "It is unlikely that a house is built today without some form of vandalism occurring during its construction."

A home under construction is especially vulnerable because it is unprotected and has much loose materials around it that invites abuses.

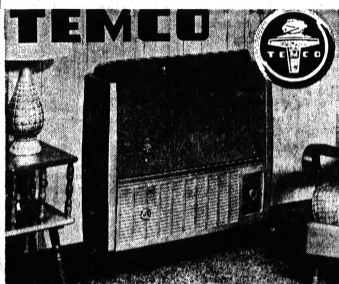

Forty-one million Americans will move this year, according to housing authorities at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. Of these, 25 per cent will move more than 100 miles.

You can save considerable time in the kitchen by proper location of your appliances. The normal sequence of work centers is from right to left. If you're right-handed, your mix center should be to the right, followed by sink, range and serve centers. If you're left-handed, the reverse sequence should be followed.

Right-handed, left-handed or ambidextrous, you'll work more efficiently if your kitchen counters are surfaced with a durable, easily-maintained material. Ceramic tile fits these requirements and is particularly well-suited for kitchens because it cannot be burned or scratched. All the care it requires is an occasional quick wipe with a damp cloth.

Ceramic tile also is a decorator's delight, as it now comes in more than 250 colors and shades, plus a wide variety of sizes and shapes. There even are three-dimensional patterns.

"PRE-VENT" thru-the-wall gas heater IDEAL for enclosed porches or breezeways, recreation rooms, apartments, cottages, etc.

- INSTALLS quickly and easily on any outside wall. Extends only 8½" into room.
- BEAUTY Decorator styled to harmonize with any decor. Truly America's most wanted heater.
- SAFE uses only outside air for combustion and all fumes are vented outside.
- PRACTICAL BTU sizes for all needs. Low cost, as little as $125 weekly. Operates on all gases.

TRADITIONAL APPEAL—There's plenty of it in this three-bedroom, one-story house, which even includes full-length shutters among its old-fashioned exterior features, behind which is a well-planned, modern design with a good traffic pattern.

Modest One-Story Has Homey Appeal

Our house this week is not exactly the vine-covered cottage famed in song and story. But its exterior has the same homey appeal and charm of that traditional favorite, plus all the interior advantages of modern design and materials.

Note its inviting front porch, with railings at the sides and top, and a rail at the front. Full-length shutters, a picket fence and a lamp post help to turn the clock back to a captivating era.

There's even space on the porch for one of those love seat-gliders so popular with both the young and old.

Because Design H-76 in the House of the Week series is a one-story home of modest size, architect Rudolph A. Matern has taken extra care to give the appearance of generous space without adding to the budget.

BAY WINDOW
The square bay window in the kitchen and service entrance provides a big-room look from the outside but spans two rooms inside.

By the inclusion of the breakfast room into the kitchen in a side-by-side arrangement, an 18" room is created.

Still another space improvisation is the combining of the living room and dining area into one impressive 28'4" room.

Those desiring to establish the extremities of each room can do so by the manner in which the furniture is placed.

The front foyer, located in line with the end wall of the fireplace living room section, gives an unobstructed view of 23' from the front entrance.

There are no projections from the ceiling to interfere with this view.

This always-effective arrangement of guiding the eyes from a vantage point along a grand expanse of space is also taken advantage of in the master bedroom.

vantage of in the master bedroom.

COVERED PORCH

Its rear doorway sights along the covered porch for a distance of about 40'.

This rear porch also can be entered through sliding glass doors in the combination dining-living room.

An attractive bow window next to the doors gracefully projects into the porch.

Here are some of the other features in this three-bedroom, two-bath house with its 1485 square feet of habitable area:

Plan to Sell Home? Appearance Counts

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: We expect to put our house for sale shortly. We do not intend to give it to one real estate office exclusively, but will let all of them in our area know that it is for sale. What is the best way for us to help with the sale?

ANSWER: The first and most important is to see that your house looks attractive enough to induce someone to want to buy it.

Since some persons will not even go inside a house that has a poor outside appearance, be sure the exterior is neat and trim and inviting.

Remember that if you paint the house for the deliberate purpose of assisting in the sale, the amount spent can be deducted from the sales price when figuring out the profit on your income tax return.

During the period when persons will be looking at the house, keep the interior sparkling.

Such little things as clean windows, a tidy kitchen and a shiny bathroom all play a part in creating a selling atmosphere.

Because you will be dealing with many real estate brokers, make out a list, with carbons, of the advantages of the house and give a copy to each of them.

Put down everything that makes yours a good home to live in. Don't overlook such things as nearness to schools, shopping, recreation facilities, etc.

When the real estate man brings around a prospect, make yourself unobtrusive unless the salesman especially requests that you assist him in showing the prospective buyer through the rooms.

If you have a good reason for selling the house—such as relocating because of your job—don't keep it a secret. Someone buying a house likes to know

A laundry out of, but next to, the kitchen and at a service door; a dressing area with vanity or desk space just inside the master bedroom; a built-in oven; plenty of closet space; a countertop planter in the kitchen; a square bathroom with fixtures on three walls; and an over-deep and extra-wide one-car garage, providing room for storage and a workbench.

This house has a good traffic pattern, with the bedroom wing directly to the right of the front foyer, the kitchen—breakfast area to the left and the dining-living room combination straight ahead.

All three of these sections can be entered from separate entrances as well as from the front door—and in no case need any of the other sections be walked across.

H-76 STATISTICS

Design H-76 has a combination living-dining room, with a fireplace and sliding glass doors to the rear porch; a kitchen and breakfast area; a laundry, three bedrooms, two baths, a front porch and a garage with space for storage and a workbench. Habitable area totals 1,485 square feet. Overall dimensions are 68' 3" by 30'. The plans include a basement.

Self-Sealing Shingles Are Wind-Resistant

About 30 per cent of all asphalt roofing shingles are of the self-sealing type, according to Department of Commerce reports. The percentage is increasing steadily.

Self-sealing shingles include factory-applied cement that bonds one shingle to another to make a highly wind-resistant roof.

BEDROOM ENSEMBLE — The bedroom ensemble shown above has a place for everything. The end tables have space for your radio, books, a thermos of ice water and drawers for medications. The headboard has ample space for the telephone, clock, ash trays or any one of the numerous items you may need while resting. The lamps are both functional and good looking. To obtain the easy-to-follow patterns for building each of the items shown, send coin, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409. No. 357 headboard, $1; No. 360 night stands, 50c and No. 359 bedside lamps, 50c.

Home Boom in Five Years

Some 3.7 million Americans will reach the age of 21 this year, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. This represents a 35 per cent increase over last year.

Many housing experts believe that the large population that is reaching family-forming age presages a residential construction boom.

Specifically, these experts anticipate that the current rate of housing starts will be doubled by 1970. They also predict that these future buyers will insist on quality housing.

This promises an ever greater demand for ceramic tile. Over 400 million square feet of this rugged material was installed last year, a reputable source reports.

The nation's homeowners have long preferred ceramic tile because of its durability and low maintenance.

Domestic manufacturers now are satisfying the homeowners' esthetic sense by providing them with a wide variety of decorative tiles. Included are sculptured tile, those with three-dimensional patterns, and a color palette of more than 250 shades.

For the hydrothermally heated home (circulated hot water), there are boilers available that supply domestic hot water to faucets as well as provide room heating.

Not for Homemakers

Spacecraft Rigors

Astronauts zoomed through severe temperature extremes during their historical trips around the earth.

Surface temperatures of the spacecraft simultaneously ranged from a high of 200 degrees on the side facing the sun, to a low of minus 100 degrees on the side away from the sun.

If not for a protective barrier, our astronauts would have frozen on one side and roasted on the other.

Getting back to earth, many homeowners have the same type of problem but don't realize that they, too, can protect themselves from "uneven" heating.

It is not uncommon to hear homeowners complain about uncomfortable temperature differences of up to 10 degrees in various rooms of their home.

HEATING PROBLEMS

If you live in a home where the sun shines on one side, but not the other, as in the spacecraft, you probably have heating problems. Rambling ranch and split-level homes also may pose special heating problems because of their construction.

One of the answers to uneven heating is zoning. If you have a modern heating system, such as a hydrolic (hot water) heating system, it can be easily zoned to meet the different heating requirements throughout your home.

With zoning, thermostats are located in areas of your home with different heating needs and you get heat where and when you need it. Fuel savings result because fuel isn't burned to heat rooms unnecessarily.

Living Room Designed for Privacy, View

Conventionally, the living room area is at the front of the house.

It might make more sense, though, in many cases, to put it at the rear.

The living room should have an attractive view; the front of the house usually faces the street.

It also should have privacy; there is generally more privacy at the rear of the house.

And the terrace, most often located behind the house, is an ideal place onto which the living room can open.

If the same or complementary materials such as quarry tile or ceramic mosaic tile, are used on both the terrace and living room floor, the result will be an impression of comfortable spaciousness.

Exquisite Lumber: Idaho's White Pine

The handsome Idaho white pine grows in extremely mountainous terrain. The exquisite lumber it yields — a silver-white in color — makes it a prized wood for room interiors.

It's Time to Prune— Use Proper Tools

An amateur is known by the tools he uses — or, rather, those he doesn't use.

In few instances is this more apparent than in pruning. An ordinary saw is no tool for cutting off a dead or dying tree limb. Tin snips or household scissors are not substitutes for pruning shears.

If you have trees, you'll find eventually that pruning is a necessary chore for the purposes of removing dead wood, cutting weak branches and shaping the tree.

Experienced gardeners or any good gardening handbook will provide you with the how and why of pruning.

But remember, there are proper tools that have been especially designed for every pruning job.

HAS REASONS

There are reasons for the great variety of tools. Green wood is harder to cut than dry.

Limbs are generally in inaccessible places, not lying across a pair of saw horses as in your basement or garage. A delicate cut is needed so as not to injure the living tree tissue.

Not every tool suits every purpose. Yet, unless you are a tree surgeon, you wouldn't expect to own all of them. Weigh your needs and choose accordingly.

The first tool you are likely to purchase is a hand pruner, small shears that will handle a number of light jobs — small branches, roses, twigs. They will handle a cut up to a half inch.

You will find hand pruners that are straight-edged or curved, with two blades — as with scissors — or just one that cuts against a fixed, soft metal surface.

This type avoids the problem of chewing a limb when the double blades twist and slip past a limb rather than cutting through it cleanly.

LOPPING LEVERAGE

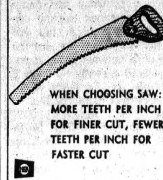

Lopping shears are like hand shears, except that they have two long handles for greater leverage. You can cut up to 1½-inch diameters with these. The long handles also give you extra reach.

Then there are the pole pruners. A shearing device is mounted on the end of a long pole.

To operate it there is a rope fastened to a lever on the shear. Pull on the rope and you can snip off a limb up to ¾-inch in diameter.

For thicker limbs there's a curved pruning saw that mounts on top of a pole. Available as well is a combination shear and saw head.

PRUNING TIP...

When choosing saw: MORE TEETH PER INCH FOR FINER CUT, FEWER TEETH PER INCH FOR FASTER CUT

For thick limbs that shears can't handle you will need a saw and there are several available. Teeth are larger and more widely set than on ordinary saws. This prevents binding in green wood.

A pruning saw is generally shorter than conventional saws. A curved saw is available that will help when reaching overhead. The curve follows the curve of the branch. The teeth are arranged so that cutting occurs as you pull rather than push.

Water Closet Unobtrusive

Homeowners often wonder how to tell a good water closet (toilet) from a bad one.

In a good water closet, the water always flushes out the rear of the bowl — away from you. This type costs a little more than other models, but is far superior in quiet, efficient operation, and is much easier to clean.

Outwardly, there are two major styles of modern water closets — a two-piece unit with tank resting and bolted out of the bowl — a one-piece combination tank-bowl unit. Both styles are available in numerous decorator colors.

One of the most significant advancements in recent years has been the development of the home type wall-hung fixture. Long used in restaurants, theatres and hotels, they are now being used more and more in homes. The off-the-floor style enhances bathroom beauty, convenience and cleanliness.

It means easier cleaning of the bathroom floor — no more scrubbing around the base, cleaning around bolt caps. And with the growing trend toward bathroom carpeting, it is possible to lay down a rug in one piece, without having to cut a hole out of it.

Modern water closets can be installed in new homes or remodeled ones. A reputable plumbing contractor can explain in detail the advantages of each model.

Unquestionably contemporary is this 42-inch lamp with its handcrafted walnut-finish wood base, suggesting a flame. The shade is Napoli fabric over velvet, trimmed with coffee-colored velvet. By Roller Lamp Company.

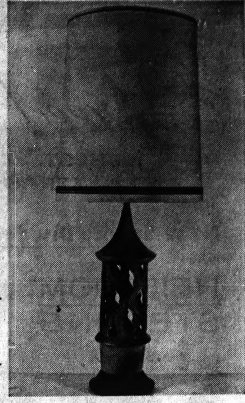

To cast some light on the world situation, this lamp features a replica of a 16th Century Florentine globe. The mounting is a gold leaf iron frame on an Italian walnut base. Shade is burlap on vinyl. Saffron and Gluckman. $110.

The tradition and craftsmanship of Early America are inherent in this three-way lamp with eagle and base. Made by Pee-Gee Lamps, it has an antiqued brass finish complementing a hand-blown amber optic tint. Shade is natural monk's cloth.

Looking like an Oriental stoneware lantern, the base of this lamp has a traditional crackle finish in a choice of three colors. The shade is textured fabric laminated over vinyl-coated Clear Lite. Phil-Mar lamp. About $31.95.

Keep These Lamps Looking Lovely

The lamps shown above can all be ordered locally. To insure their lasting beauty here are some easy care tips: During your routine once-a-week housecleaning, use a soft cloth to wipe off the bulb, reflector bowl (if there is one), and lamp base. Use the soft brush attachment of your vacuum cleaner on the shade. Keeping the bulb and reflector clean is most important. It's estimated that a film of dust or dirt can cut light output by 50 per cent.

FABRIC SHADES

Fabric — Linen, cotton, chintz, painted silk, or applique shades should be dry cleaned only. So should any fabric shades whose trimmings are glued instead of stitched.

Rayon and silk shades can be washed if the trimmings are stitched. First dust the shade, then wash it up and down in a tub of lukewarm suds. Rinse in several clear lukewarm water rinses. Blot as dry as possible with terry towel. Then put in stiff breeze, preferably from an electric fan.

Never place the damp shade in sunlight or on a radiator.

Mothers' Tea Scheduled at OU on Friday

The Oakland County women's activities committee of the National Foundation — March of Dimes will honor volunteers next Friday.

An appreciation tea for those who participated in the "Mothers' March" will be held in the Gold Room of Oakland University from 1 to 3 p.m.

Mrs. W. E. Givens Jr. is chairman of the committee. Others working with her are Mrs. Duncan Sells, Mrs. Robert Schaefer, Mrs. Charles Leach and Mrs. William Bailey.

Mrs. Dorothy K. Roosevelt is honorary chairman. The speaker will be Dr. David G. Dickinson, medical director of the organization's diagnostic and treatment centers in Ann Arbor.

Tours of these facilities are scheduled for April 22 for volunteers and club representatives.

New Fashions Were Seen

Members of Eta Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority sponsored "Prelude to Spring," this week, a fashion show with the season's newest styles supplied by Demery's. The proceeds from the show which was held in the hospital room of the Metropolitan Federal Savings Building will be donated to the Sarah Fisher Home.

In charge of the event was Mrs. James Thomas. Her assisting chairmen were Mrs. Ronald Supinger, Mrs. Otto Much, Mrs. Earl Betts, Mrs. Henry Matthews, Mrs. Hugh Montgomery, Mrs. John Craig, and Mrs. Harry Lipard.

Members modeling fashions were Mrs. Dean Louellen and Mrs. James Stewart.

Southfield will entertain the Delta Zeta and their guests with an after-theatre supper party in their home. Mrs. Edward Martin is refreshment chairman.

Robert E. Richardson, son of the Ray Richardsons of Poplar Street, has received the degree of master of arts in Slavic languages and literatures at Harvard University. He was graduated with the charter class of Oakland University and is attending Harvard on an NDEA Fellowship. He is also an honorary Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

The William S. Hilderleys of Joy Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Jean to Robert Lee Coleman, son of the Daniel R. Colemans of Harper Woods. Both are alumni of the University of Michigan. August vows are planned.

Delta Zeta Alumnae to Sponsor Benefit

Oakland County alumnae of Delta Zeta sorority, under the leadership of Mrs. Laurence E. Trevarrow, will sponsor a theater benefit next Friday at the Birmingham Village Players.

Delta Zeta couples from all over Oakland County will gather at the playhouse for the 9 p.m. performance of "Shot in the Dark."

Recipients of the four-part philanthropic program will be a local hearing project, Galaudet College, the Leprosarium at Carville, La., and the American Hearing Society.

NATIONAL PROGRAM

The sorority's national philanthropic program covers several phases of work with deaf and hard-of-hearing children until Carville was added in 1958. More recently is the clothing drive for the Navajo Indians.

A teacher counselor for the physically handicapped in Oakland County has worked with the sorority for the past four years in screening the most urgent cases.

CARDS AND GIFTS

The local alumnae have adopted a patient at the Carville Leprosarium. On special holidays, cards and gifts are sent in addition to monthly letters.

Style Show Is Slated for Sorority

The North Suburban Alumnae chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority is working on table favors for a bridge-luncheon and style show Tuesday at 12:15 p.m. in the J. L. Hudson Company's Eastland store Anchor Room.

The event will be sponsored by the Birmingham, North Suburban, Detroit, Northeast Detroit and Dearborn alumnae chapters.

DISTRICT DAY

Alpha Omicron Pi District Day will be observed April 3 at the Inn America in Ann Arbor. Brunch and a program will follow registration at 9:45 a.m.

Mrs. Napier Sheldon will speak on "Alpha Omicron Pi Now and in the Future." A tea reception will follow the afternoon workshops in the sorority's chapter house in Ann Arbor.

FISHER THEATER

The five alumnae chapters have reserved the Fisher Theater for the play "Barefoot in the Park" on May 2, starring Myrna Loy. The five collegiate chapters will benefit from the proceeds.

Mrs. Joseph Adamczyk of Pontiac and Mrs. Lee Garbrick in Birmingham are handling ticket sales for the North Suburban Alumnae chapter.

Gerald C. Erickson received a master's degree in business administration at Michigan State University winter commencement in East Lansing. He is the son of Mrs. Carl Erickson of Osceola Drive and also holds a degree in marketing from Ferris State University.

Father Says 'Boy Crazy' but Mom Replies 'Normal'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been arguing for six months over how old a girl should be to go out with boys alone at night. The girl is 14 and I say she's boy-crazy, but her mother says she is normal. Any help you can give me along this line will be appreciated. Thank you.

A FATHER

DEAR FATHER: If the girl makes good grades in school and is mature in her behavior, there is no reason why she shouldn't date on weekends. By "mature" I mean:

• Can she be trusted to respect a curfew when one is set for her?

• Does she keep her room tidy (and do any other tasks her mother assigns to her) without having to be nagged?

• Is she a respectful and honest child? Or does she talk back and do things on the sneak?

If she can pass the above requirements, I'd say she is mature enough to date.

DEAR ABBY:

Our son, who is in the service overseas, sent us a beautiful diamond engagement and wedding ring set and asked us please to give the engagement ring to his girl, and to hold the wedding ring until he gets home next fall.

My husband and friends think that we should keep both the rings, wait until our son returns from overseas and let him give the girl the rings himself.

I don't know what we should do in a case like this and would very much appreciate your advice.

MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: Follow your son's instructions and give his girl the engagement ring. Of course, she'll miss the kiss that usually goes with it. But I'm sure she'd rather have a kiss-less engagement than none at all.

DEAR ABBY: Recently we went out and left our 13-year-old and 11-year-old daughter alone in our home for the evening. It was the first time we had ever left them without a sitter.

We gave them instructions on what to do in case of fire. We also told them not to answer the door if anyone rang the bell. And we left the telephone number of the place where we would be in case they wanted to call us for any reason.

We have been criticized so much by relatives for leaving those children alone that I feel terrible. I would appreciate an answer in the column. Thank you.

MRS. "M"

DEAR MRS. "M": In my opinion, your relatives had no grounds for criticism.

DEAR ABBY:

"CAN'T SIGN MY NAME": The man who molested you will more than likely try it on another little girl. I am sure you wouldn't want that to happen.

Dear child, please inform the STATE HIGHWAY PATROL of the situation, and do it fast. We are here to help you!

NANCY MIHAY

Waterford Girl Teen of Week

Wearing the teen of the week crown is Nancy Mihay, a ninth grade student at Kennedy Junior High School.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Mihay of 2275 Rosewood, Waterford Township, Nancy is an all A and B student.

Her teachers report she is an outstanding leader and is willing to help others not as skilled in an activity.

In addition to her studies, Nancy takes time to serve her school as a cheerleader and a member of the volleyball and basketball teams, the newspaper staff and the band.

Extracurricular activities include the All-City Orchestra and the presidency in her Campfire Girl's group.

STICK TO IT
"I feel it is very important," says Nancy, "that teen-agers stick to what they begin. And this means staying in high school."

Following her high school graduation, she plans to attend college and become a teacher. Nancy hopes to teach at the junior high level.

Junior Editors Quiz on FAMILY NAMES

QUESTION: How did people come to have last names?

ANSWER: The Chinese seem to have been the first to use family names, such being decreed by an emperor around 2652 B.C. This family name was placed first, instead of last as we have it.

Among other ancient people, the Romans were the greatest users of family names.

Caesar's first name or "praenomen" was Gaius. His "nomen," or name of the clan to which he belonged, was Julius, and his "cognomen" was the name of his particular family, or Caesar.

In general, people used family names if they were high in rank and had special reason to be proud of their families. Such names declined in use after Rome, but were revived with the increasing civilization of the Italian Renaissance.

As people began to benefit under more democratic conditions they also began to use last names, being proud of their families and trades, often followed from one generation to the next.

Last names frequently came from such occupations, as our picture suggests. Besides Smith, we could list Carpenter, Baker and many more.

Most Jews did not use last names until the early 1800's. Most of them chose words in their language which had a pleasant sound like "rosen" for rose, "thal" for valley. So would come a name like Rosenthal.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are many very interesting meanings and legends connected with names. At your library, see if you can track down something which will be of interest about your own name.

Vote Bill Would Lead to 'Rule by Emotion'—Miller

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)

— Passage of President Johnson's voting rights bill would be tantamount to "rule by emotion," says William E. Miller, the 1964 Republican candidate for vice president.

Miller told the Industrial Management Club Thursday night that "no one section of the Constitution should be repealed and rewritten by legislative fiat."

He said the Constitution gives the states the right to establish voting regulations. Giving the federal government rights "reserved to the states would make "millions of illiterates easy prey for vindictive politicians on their way to a dictatorship," Miller said.

A European weevil has been reported in the U.S. for the first time, in Albany County, New York, last summer.

POLISHES WINDOW — Janet Berglund of 550 Clintonville, Waterford Township washes and polishes windows of The Church of Atonement, 3535 Clintonville where she is a member of the youth group. Young people help their pastor the Rev. Crea M. Clark with work around the church.

To Church Programs at Home, Overseas

Christians Give Food, Funds, Time

"One Great Hour of Sharing" will be the theme in thousands of Protestant churches in America tomorrow as people share in learning about human need and in giving toward meeting this need.

Vital food, medicine and clothing is the backbone of the churches' service program overseas.

Other services provided are the teaching of skills and trades, assistance to orphanages and hospitals, and other health facilities.

In a worded letter to cardinals, archbishops and bishops of the United States, Pope Paul urged them to continue the aid programs supported by American Catholics "on behalf of the poor and undernourished of the world."

The 19th annual appeal of the Catholic Bishops' Fund for the Needy Overseas is being conducted in churches throughout the nation this week.

The agency provides food, clothing and medical assistance in 70 countries to the needy without regard to race, religion or color.

CHURCH OF ATONEMENT UNITED PRESBYTERIAN

Young people are eager for the opportunity of accepting responsibilities at The Church of Atonement, 3535 Clintonville, Waterford Township, Pastor Crea M. Clark said.

According to the pastor, giving of time or talent as well as one's treasure is important to the survival of a church.

Members of Youth Fellowship know that the Atonement congregation organized about 10 years ago cannot afford a full-time maintenance employee so when the pastor asks for volunteer help, they show up along with adults.

It may be washing windows, cleaning floors or visiting at homes or hospitals.

Pastor Clark will preach on "Beneath the Cross" at 10:45 a.m. tomorrow.

Senior high youth will meet at the church at 7 p.m. with officers in charge of the meeting. The Youth Club will gather at the church at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Bible study sessions are planned for 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the theme, "Men, Women and God."

A covered dish supper will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday with Rev. Donald Carr, assistant pastor of Redford Presbyterian Church, the speaker.

FIRST METHODIST

"One Great Hour of Sharing" will be observed tomorrow in

First Methodist as well as all Methodist churches tomorrow. This is a day set aside for Christians around the world to unite and share their blessings with those who are less fortunate, Pastor Carl G. Adams said.

The children's choir will sing. Dr. William Moulton, minister of visitation at Court Street Methodist Church, Flint and administrator for the new For-Mar-Manor Retirement Home, will be guest speaker at the 6:30

Lenten dinner program Wednesday evening.

Retired from the full ministry of the Methodist Church, Dr. Moulton held several pastorates before serving as superintendent of the Flint District.

CLEANS FIXTURES—Taking down light fixtures so walls can be washed at the Church of Atonement are Joe Duran of 3125 Alco, Waterford Township and Robyn Rutzen of 4701 Edgewood, Independence Township. Joe and Robyn are working with young people of the church in the annual cleanup.

At Woodward and Cranbrook

Congregation Breaks Ground

More than 100 members of the Congregational Church of Birmingham met at the nine-acre site of the new church at Woodward and Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills for groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday morning.

They were joined by many members of the church who brought shovels, spades and trowels to help in the ceremony.

Rev. Raymond A. Fenner, pastor, offered the prayer and Rev. Robert Boley, president of the Birmingham Council of Churches brought greetings.

Rev. Mr. Fenner and five-year-old Dean Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Smith, turned over the first piece of earth.

Chairman of the 15-man building committee is William T. Arlund. Completion of the church is expected early in 1966.

WORKS WITH LEAGUE

The Men's Fellowship is sponsoring a program called "Opportunities Unlimited" in cooperation with the Pontiac Urban League.

The object of the program is to encourage and aid in the development of the full potential of the new generation of Negro citizens.

The men endeavor to give young Negroes a larger vocational objective by exposing them to career areas through field trips, discussions and contact with men in various fields.

The program also is supported by giving advice and counsel as well as trying to find scholarship aid.

A personal interest in the boys is maintained through high school, college and apprenticeship programs.

Twelve young men have been selected on the basis of scholarship, extra curricular activities, general character and interest in the program. They meet with members of the Church Fellowship once a month. Jerry Alles is program chairman.

TRINITY BAPTIST

Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor of Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, will be instructor for the Bible Institute at Trinity Baptist Church, Western at Maple, April 5 through 9.

Sponsored by the general missionary department of the church, sessions will be held from 7:15 to 9 p.m. The public is invited.

Members of the Youth Choir will present a concert at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow with choirs of Liberty and Mt. Olive Baptist churches their guests.

At 7 p.m. the movie entitled "The Miracle of Love" will be shown. Rev. Lee A. Gragg said the public is invited to all services.

ST. JAMES MISSIONARY

Paul K. Holt will be presented in a dramatic recital at St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow. Sponsoring the recital is the Queen of Sheba Order of Eastern Star Chapter No. 15.

Guest speaker will be William O. Green, past grand master of Prince Hall, Grand Lodge F & AM for the State of Michigan.

MARIMONT

Bob Crichton will be leader for the 6:30 p.m. Junior High youth service tomorrow at Marlmont Baptist Church. Taking part are Dave Somers, Terry Smades, David Van Horn and Matt Smith.

Janice Dunnam, leader of the senior high youth group, will lead the program assisted by Carol Scarborough, Susan Ward, Chris Bexell and Lavanda Hasenzahl.

Alan Somers was elected president of the Teens & Twenties Youth Fellowship; Pat McBride, vice president; and Mark Vincent, secretary-treasurer.

The boards of trustees, missions and deacons will get together at 7 p.m. Friday.

CENTRAL METHODIST

Nearly half of the special "One Great Hour of Sharing" offering received tomorrow at Central Methodist Church will go to provide food, clothing and medical aid to people caught in the crisis of flood, fire, famine or war.

The remainder given will be used to provide foreign students with scholarship aid for graduate study in the United States. These men and women will then return to help their countrymen.

Part of the amount received will also be given toward providing a church for Spanish speaking people in Dallas, Tex.; and the remainder of the funds to provide recreation centers for servicemen overseas.

Brenda Clemans will lead the junior high youth group in the discussion "By This Sign Conquer." Refreshments will follow.

Edie Payne will lead the senior high youth with the subject "Bible Questions Answered." There will be singing and refreshments.

Choirs of Central Church will present the fifth program of the Lenten series following the 6:30 p.m. dinner Wednesday. Both vocal and instrumental numbers will be heard.

AUBURN HEIGHTS U.P.

The 90-voice Avondale High School Choir under the direction of Mary Ann Budd will sing "O Magnify the Lord" by Saint Saens and "Alleluia" from Bach's Cantata No. 142 at morning worship tomorrow at the United Presbyterian Church in Auburn Heights.

Guiding the youth in the Children's church will be Mrs. Ray Isanhardt.

At both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship hour the One Great Hour of Sharing will be observed. Families will bring the offering which they have been contributing daily to banks in their homes.

Young people planning to attend one of the church camps during the summer will gather for a cooperative dinner with their families at 6:30 p.m.

Shelby J. Lockamy, coordinator of the affair, has lined up stunts, slides and an indoor campfire program. Applications will be distributed at this time.

The movie "Jose Martinez, American," will be shown to the Women's Association at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. L. R. Naugle will lead devotions. Elder Sam Sheehy will lead prayer meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in preparation for the Deeper Life Meetings starting April 4.

TAKE YOKE — Wesley McCulloch of 270 Nelson, vice chairman of board of deacons, and Mrs. James Hedges of 2877 Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township who serves as chairman of the deacons board stand by the ox yoke in the sanctuary of Bethany Baptist Church. Persons who make a decision for Christ during this week of Home Visitation Evangelism will gather by the yoke during service tomorrow.

Ox Yoke Serves Religious Purpose

Often used as the sign of an antique shop, the ox yoke will serve a religious purpose at Bethany Baptist Church tomorrow.

Mounted in the chancel area, it will be used in a service which climaxes a week of home visitation with persons who have made a Christian decision gathering around the yoke in the church chancel.

Dr. Emil Kontz, pastor, will take as his text the occasion when Jesus said to his followers "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of Me." The service is set for 11 a.m.

The Sanctuary Choir will sing "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach.

During the past week a group of 35 members carried on a home visitation program, sponsored by the board of deacons.

YOKE A SYMBOL

The yoke as a symbol of Christian discipleship is being used increasingly around the country. There is a nationwide organization called "Yoke-fellows."

In its membership are ministers and laymen who have committed themselves to a five-fold discipline of life.

It was founded some 25 years ago by Dr. Elton Trueblood, noted Quaker teacher and author. Dr. Kontz is one of the charter members.

Each yokelfellow wears a small golden yoke on his coat lapel for identification with the group.

The Lenten series of Bible studies will continue at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the general theme, "Questions and Answers."

The Church School, directed by Rev. Chalmers Mastin, is in the midst of a "Race for Space" attendance program. The goal is Easter Sunday.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Senior High Fellowship of First Presbyterian Church, accompanied by sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Gary Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Brown, will attend the Presbyterian Youth Rally at Westminster Church in Detroit tomorrow.

Mrs. John Ward will sing the offertory solo, "Watch and Pray" at morning worship. Following the 11 a.m. service the Fred Sordals and Edward T. Markhams will be hosts for the coffee hour.

Margaret Harbath and Bonnie Davidson will speak and show color pictures of a vacation in Europe at the Couples' Club 6:30 dinner Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pattison, the Jack Hunts, Wallace Browns and Mr. and Mrs. Benjie Pawley will serve as hosts.

ELIZABETH LAKE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Men of the Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ, 183 S. Windy, Waterford Township will be in charge of the music for the worship service tomorrow night. The Men's Rally is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Monday at Kenwood.

Women of the church are asked to attend the anniversary meeting of the Sunshine Guild at 7 p.m. Friday at the church. During the business session officers will be elected for the coming year.

Special music will consist of organ and piano duets, vocal solos, quartets, a trumpet solo and the Joslyn Avenue Choir.

A nursery will be provided and those wishing transportation may call the church office. Of the coming mission Rev. Edmund L. Watkins said, "A warm welcome is extended to all to help in the spiritual renewal of your life at this Holy season of the year."

Missionary Day Set

The Missionary Society of the True Church House of Prayer, 128 W. Pike will sponsor Missionary Day starting at 10 a. tomorrow. Pastor Elder H. Davis said the public is invited.

Oakland Park Starts Drive

Rev. Dwight Woodworth of Forest, Ohio will be the special speaker at 10 a.m. service. Rev. Mr. Woodworth was assigned to the Oakland Park Church by the department of finance and field service of the Methodist Church Board of Missions to conduct a financial crusade.

He will attempt to raise a minimum of $45,000 in preparation for the relocating and building of the new church for the Oakland Park congregation on Kennett opposite the Louise Alcott School.

The present building on Montcalm at Glenwood was purchased by Pontiac Motor Division for its expansion program. Rev. Mr. Woodworth, a member of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Stewardship of Life."

The crusade which begins tomorrow will continue through April 6.

'Priest, Politician' Set for St. Benedict

Rev. Christopher Snyder, O.P.M., former assistant priest at the Shrine of the Little Flower, will show the documentary film, "The Priest and the Politician," at the 8 p.m. program Monday in St. Benedict's Catholic Church, 1160 Myrtle.

The public is invited to the program sponsored by the Christian Family Movement of St. Benedict, the Rev. Thomas Lowery, assistant pastor, said. A coffee will follow the showing of the film.

Father Snyder portrays the priest and Leander Perez, an integration leader in Louisiana, takes the part of the politician. The film depicts the unsuccessful effort made by Father Snyder to integrate his parish school in Louisiana in 1963.

BALDWIN Church Organs

As you plan your church's observance of Easter, perhaps you are considering a new organ capable of fulfilling all your musical requirements, leading congregational singing, accompanying the choir, providing all incidental and special music. The new Baldwin church models are truly such instruments. Combining a comprehensive contemporary tonal design, quality construction, and a well-planned installation, Baldwin achieves superior musical results. Built in accordance with recommendations of the American Guild of Organists, Baldwin organs, too, are designed to meet the need for a two-manual instrument of superior musical quality with the modern church budget in mind. There are an outstanding selection of models and finishes available for the smallest chapel or the largest church structure.

MSU's Gary Dilley Wins Backstroke

AMES, Iowa (U) — Michigan State's Gary Dilley equaled the collegiate 200-yard backstroke record of 1:56.2 Friday, snapping up a title in the National Collegiate Swimming Championships here.

Carl Robie of Michigan lost a tight 200-yard butterfly event to Indiana's Fred Schmidt. Michigan, in third place behind Indiana and Southern California, was out of the running for the title.

A daring challenge by Southern California's Roy Saari paid off with another record for the muscular Trojan ace and put him in position today to claim a triple crown.

The stunning upset of defending champion Steve Clark of Yale by Saari also helped Southern California to take a nine-point lead over Indiana.

Saari passed up the defense of his 200-yard medley title to battle Clark at his specialty, the 200-yard freestyle. Saari broke Clark's year-old record in the preliminaries, but five minutes later Clark reclaimed it with a blistering 1:43.1 to qualify for Friday night's finals.

TWO FEET
In their head-on collision, Saari overpowered Clark in the final 25 yards and won by two feet as he lowered the collegiate standard to 1:42.9.

The setback ruined Clark's hopes for a sweep of the freestyle springs. The 21-year-old Yale captain won the 50-yard event Thursday night and is favored in the 100 today.

Saari, a 19-year-old, won the 200-yard freestyle in record time Thursday and is favored to retain his title in the 1,650-yard freestyle tonight.

The Hoosiers also have top swimmers available for their bid with Tom Bretthaupt and Schmidt both claiming record victories Friday night.

Schmidt won the duel with Robie in the butterfly, taking the crown in 1:51.4 for an American and collegiate mark.

Press to Review Area Baseball 9s

While professional baseball players prepare for the coming season in the balmy south, Michigan high school diamond hopefuls practice in games warring for winter to release its snowy grip.

The prep season starts early in April — weather permitting — and the sports staff of The Pontiac Press is busy gathering information on teams and leagues in Oakland county and nearby areas.

A series of articles analyzing the 1965 prep season will start Monday in The Press sports section.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dick Hart was $1,000 richer today, thanks to fellow professional Harold (Catfish) Kneese, as he went into the third round of the Azalea Open Golf Tournament leading the field by two strokes.

Hart, a 28-year-old professional of 10 years, has made the full winter tour with his wife and their two small children in a trailer.

Last Sunday, finishing at Jacksonville, Fla., Hart decided to come on here just two minutes before the 6 p.m. deadline for filing entries.

Kneese, an ardent fisherman, persuaded Hart to come on here instead of heading back to his club job at Hinsdale, Ill. Kneese, of Alton, S.C., pointed out that fishing in this ancient port city area also is top grade.

TWO SHOT LEAD
Hart was convinced. He bundled his family into the trailer and headed for Wilmington. He came through with a seven-under-par 65 Friday in the second round to take a two-shot lead with a 135 total at the halfway mark.

His brilliant round earned him $600 for the day's low score and an additional $400 for being the round leader. "I suppose should split this with Kneese," he joked in accepting the bonus checks.

Bill Martindale, shooting 69, came up to tie first day leader Claude King of Virginia Beach, Va., for second place at 137. King matched par 72 for the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

A score of 146 qualified 70 pros for the last two days of play. Thirty-nine men in the field of 146 broke par in the second round one more than on opening day.

North Carolina Wrestler Champ

Foes Have Woes With Legless Prep

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Dicky Bryant, the North Carolina high school wrestling champion in the 99-pound class, has one disadvantage — both his legs have been cut off above the knees.

Gene Abercrombie, Dicky's wrestling coach at West Mecklenburg High School, said the youngster's opponents have some problems, too.

"Dicky is stronger in the arms and shoulders than most 98-pounders," he said. "But he does, of course, lack the advantage of legs."

"He has to do all his movements with his hands, and he has trouble plugging people because of his lack of balance. But the guy who wrestles him has a disadvantage, too."

VARIOUS HOLDS

Dicky's opponents also find the number of holds that can be used restricted, the coach said.

"Myers Park High School put a man on his knees in practice to get ready for Dicky. But they lost anyway."

Dicky normally walks very well on artificial legs, but he takes them off when he wrestles.

The 15-year-old boy became interested in sports after he lost his legs in a train accident when he was 10.

"I never did become too athletic until after my accident," he said. "But then I couldn't just sit around home and do nothing."

For a while, the youngster said, he was very depressed. He gives his physician, Dr. Edward R. Hipp Sr. of Charlotte, credit for snapping him out of it.

Now the friendly youth jokes about his handicap. Abercrombie tells of riding with him in a car once, and asking him if the heater was turned up enough for him.

"My feet are cold," the boy replied.

Dicky showed interest in wrestling for West Mecklenburg last summer. Abercrombie checked the rules, and found no reason why he could not wrestle.

GETS HELP

Abercrombie said Dicky received help from Dr. S. M. Barnes, wrestling coach at the University of North Carolina.

"Barnes gave Dicky self-confidence," Abercrombie said. Dicky won his state championship in Boone, N.C., Feb. 26-27.

He won three of three matches, after winning three of three in regional competition and seven of eight in the regular season.

The youth likes all sports. In his spare time, he plays football, basketball, and baseball with his friends. He wears his artificial legs for these sports.

"We kid him all the time about getting conceited about being state champion," Abercrombie said. "Actually, he's quite modest. I guess after what he's been through anything like this is anticlimactic."

"But I still wonder," the coach added.

"If we were in his condition, would we have the guts to do what he has done?"

Players' Mom Gagged

Los Angeles. (UPI) — A mother of two little leaguers has been warned by a Superior Court judge to stop trying to umpire the boy's games from the stands.

The mother, Mrs. Almeda Ducker, 31, had brought a suit contending the Van Nuys Little League was discriminating against her two sons because their father had been convicted of receiving stolen property.

Judge Charles C. Stratton ruled yesterday the league must admit the boys—Robbie, ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Armin Dassow of Brookfield, Wis., rolled a 658 series Friday night to take first place in the regular singles of the 62nd American Bowling Congress Tournament. Dassow, a bowling lanes manager, had games of 202, 222 and 234, but his series is not likely to stand until the meet ends May 31. Last year's winner, Jim Stefanchik, Joliet, Ill., won the singles with 726.

Dr. Lou Zucal and Don Gibson of Santa Fe, N.M., took the regular doubles lead with a 1,215 total. Gibson, a southpaw bowler in his eighth ABC, set the pace with a 632 series.

Legion black of Pipestone, Minn., led the booster team division with 2,675 and Neely Spear Co. of Fenton, Mich., led in the higher average class with 2,808.

'M' Wrestler Bidding for NCAA Mat Title

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Bob Fohr of Michigan tangles with Mike Caruso of Lehigh today in the championship round of the NCAA Wrestling Tournament.

The two clash in the 123 pound class.

The team title was wrapped up by Oklahoma State Friday when the cowboys scored 66 points and sent five men into the finals. Michigan ranked fourth with 28 points.

3 Swinging Sophomores Highlight NCAA Skiing

CRYSTAL MOUNTAIN, Wash. (AP) — A trio of swinging sophomores who made the slalom look as easy as rock and roll set the Denver Pioneers into today's final events of the 1965 National Collegiate Athletic Association's Ski Championships with what appeared to be an insurmountable lead over arch-rival Colorado.

Only the downhill and jumping events remained, the former set for this morning and the leapers scheduled to hurl themselves off Crystal's 55-meter hill in the afternoon.

Combining sophomore brilliance with Colorado misfortune in Friday's slalom race, Denver moved into the team lead with a bulge of nearly 1.5 points over the Buffaloes. Utah still was in the running, a point behind Colorado.

Rick Chaffee made two hip-flicking trips through the slalom gates in a total time of 1:48.2 to give Denver its first individual championship.

Jon Overland captured fourth place and the third sophomore — Rip McManus — took 12th for the Pioneers. Don Brook's Denver junior, was 13th.

Roger Buchika of Middlebury, Vt., College was two-tenths of a second back in second place. His teammate, Eastern Collegiate champion, Gordon Eaton, withdrew because of painful heel bruises.

Colorado's Jimmy Huega also had tender heels but he made the runs and finished third. Huega's second trip was the fastest of the day, the Olympic bronze medal winner negotiating the 48 gates in 53.1.

Wayne's Athletic Comeback Aided by State Dollars

DETROIT (UPI) — Wayne State's first step in a comeback attempt in competitive collegiate athletics will be a new $2.2-million sports building.

The State Legislature has approved a bond issue and ground has been purchased. Next month ground breaking is scheduled to take place.

The building will feature a 3,000-seat arena for basketball, two auxiliary gyms, two competitive size swimming pools, offices and exercise rooms.

Outside, eventually, WSU will have a quarter-mile running track, combination football-soccer field, practice football field, softball fields, a regulation baseball diamond and two dozen tennis courts.

Mixup Brings Student Revolt

Status of Basketball Coach Creates Stir

DETROIT (UPI) — Students at the Robichaud High School and Roosevelt Junior High had a brief holiday Friday but officials said they didn't like it one bit.

The students, about 600 of them, poured from their classes Friday morning when it was learned that Robichaud basketball coach Harlan Norden had been fired from his post — but officials said it was all a mixup and that Norden had not been fired.

Robichaud Principal Jack Scott, said, "The administration decided that it would be best to have coaches teach in the same school they coach in."

"If Norden, who has coached varsity basketball for four years at Robichaud while serving as athletic director at Roosevelt, were to apply for a teaching position here, he could. We are still negotiating."

Norden had a different version. He said he saw Scott Wednesday and asked about transferring.

"He told me that there would be no room for me in the basketball program anyway. I then said, 'You mean I'm fired?'" Scott said I could take it that way if I wanted to," Norden said.

School officials said classes would resume on Monday.

Ex-Flint QB in Grid Post

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Andrew C. MacDonald, 35, back field offense coach at Iowa, was named head football coach at Arizona State College Friday.

He succeeds Max Spillsbury, who resigned in a scandal over rigging of classroom attendance records.

The new coach at a former standout quarterback at Flint Northern and at Central Michigan University, has been a top assistant to Jerry Burns and in charge of recruiting for the Big Ten school at Iowa City, Iowa.

Florida Lass After First Tourney Win

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Jo Ann Prestice, seeking her first victory in eight years of professional golf, carried a one-stroke lead today into the second round of the first annual $10,000 Althea Invitational tournament here.

The 32-year-old, brown-haired swinger from Pensacola, Fla., overcame frigid temperatures and a rain-soaked course Friday in posting a 2-over-par 37-37-74.

Tied with 75 in second place were Kathy Whitworth, who won the St. Petersburg Open last week in opening the 1965 campaign for the touring lady pros, and Betsy Rawls, winner of two events last year.

The second round of play was to open at 9 a.m. CST, with 24 low-handicap amateurs teeing off first, followed by the 31 pros competing in the 54-hole medal play tourney. The final round is set for Sunday.

Jeep Wagoneer brings out the adventurer in you...try it

With 4-wheel drive, it's got twice the traction of ordinary wagons.

You can go through mud and snow. Pull one simple lever, and you've got power at all 4 wheels...power to take you places you've never driven before.

And that extra traction gives you a wonderful feeling of safety. You drive confidently on icy streets, slippery curves and hills you wouldn't dare tackle in your present wagon.

All the options are there. In the Jeep Wagoneer: like automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes. Plus you get the largest load space in its field. It's the first really new family wagon in years.

VA Readyng Machinery for Gl Life Insurance Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Veterans Administration is gearing up for its first major sale of GI life insurance since January 1957.

The reopening will be extended to disabled veterans only, and Congress directs it be limited to one year beginning May 1.

Leon M. Wallace, director of the VA's insurance service, said at least 675,000 applications, and perhaps more than 1 million, are expected.

He said probably 500,000 new policies will be issued, many for veterans increasing their coverage to the maximum $10,000.

COMPROMISE MOVE

Congress last year approved the insurance program reopening in a compromise move.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., had succeeded eight times in getting the Senate to pass legislation to provide generally for a reopening of the program to World War II veterans.

The House refused to go along. Efforts were started back in the 1940s to halt VA issuance of life insurance policies.

This was created to the situation during and immediately after World War II when persons on active military duty were urged to buy national service life insurance.

However, since April 25, 1951, no policies have been sold to persons in active military service.

OTHER COVERAGE

Men and women on military duty, including those in Viet Nam, are provided other forms of coverage to protect their dependents and survivors, in the event they die of a service-connected cause.

Those who leave military duty without a service-connected disability receive no further coverage.

Rights Activity Said Catalyst for Ku Klux Klan Revival

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan, a sprawling giant of the 1920s that nearly choked to death two decades later on its own violent dedication to "Americanism," is getting new life from the growing civil rights movement in the South. Dr. David Chalmers, a University of Florida professor and author of a new book on the Klan's secret world of mystic rituals, strange passwords and hooded violence, argues that a decaying Klan was given new "impetus and environment for action" by two events:

The Supreme Court's May 17, 1954, decision outlawing public school segregation, and the sit-ins, freedom rides and mass demonstrations of the early 1960s.

A number of other observers have pointed to a very recent rise in Klan membership, now believed to number 30,000 to 50,000 active Klansmen with up to 20,000 active sympathizers, mainly in the Deep South.

Klan officials say their influence has been increasing steadily since the current civil rights struggle began. James Venable, Atlanta attorney and imperial wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, estimates growth at 10,000 to 12,000 new members a month.

WEED OUT

"We try to weed out undesirable, our purpose is not to collect hoodlums," Venable said. "We're trying to get the sweat-box people in. Educated people have been brainwashed into believing in brotherly love — in peaceful coexistence."

Chalmers says in his book, "Hooded Americanism," which is to be published by Doubleday, that one inherent defect in Klan structure that may have prevented it from becoming even more of an influence is the impossibility of controlling the actions of individual branches.

Today's Klan, actually a number of separate Klans, has most influence in small cities and rural areas, usually those with a high percentage of Negroes.

But 40 years ago, it was a giant of four million members that elected governors and senators, both in the North and South.

MAJOR ROLE

Born as a society of playfol

pranks and mystic initiations in 1865, one year after the Civil War ended, the Klan soon turned to a major role in the overthrow of carpetbag state governments in the South and the restoration of white supremacy.

By 1871, the estimated 550,000 Klansmen disappeared as a formal organization. President Ulysses S. Grant, under the Ku Klux Klan Act of 1871, suspended the writ of habeas corpus in nine South Carolina counties, and thousands of Klansmen were arrested.

Another Klan did not appear until 1915, when the organization was resurrected on top of Stone Mountain, Ga., with the burning of a cross and an oath of allegiance to the "invisible empire of the Ku Klux Klan."

By 1924, it had become a national political power, with four million members dedicated to opposing not only Negroes, but Catholics, Jews, and anyone who was not a native-born, Anglo-Saxon Protestant.

But, by the beginning of the depression, the Klan's power and glory were gone in the North and West.

The third Ku Klux Klan revival was organized in Atlanta late in World War II by an Atlanta obstetrician, Dr. Samuel Green. It had a brief period of activity, but splintered after Green's death in 1949.

A survey last year by the Anti-Defamation League of B'Nai B'Rith indicated there were about a dozen Klans, ranging from the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, headed by Robert M. Shelton Jr., of Tuscaloosa, Ala., to the New Knights of the Ku Klux Klan led by Gene Falow of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Chalmers says in his book Southern school desegregation and other pressures for integration "presented the Klan with a great challenge and a great opportunity to gain the active role and the increasing membership that had so long eluded it."

House Stirred by Amish Issue

School Bill Change Loses After Debate

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's quiet Amish community stirred debate in the House of Representatives again Friday.

The Amish, in trouble with superintendent of public instruction Lynn Bartlett over their hiring of a noncertified teacher for their one-room schoolhouse near Camden, are the subject of three bills in the House.

They might have been written into a fourth bill Friday, if an amendment by Rep. Claude Burton, D-Bellevue, had been adopted.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, seeks to tighten up teacher qualification laws. It would delete reference to a reduction in primary interest fund payments to districts that employ nonqualified teachers. The fund was abolished by the new Michigan Constitution.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATE

Burton's amendment would have allowed Bartlett to "issue a special certificate to any person to teach in a private school which is operated by a recognized religious group when the superintendent is satisfied that the person is qualified."

Rep. Bobby Crim, D-Davison, one of the cosponsors of the bill objected that "by helping a small minority, we would be hurting the majority of the people in the state."

Most objections were that such a provision would open too many loopholes in present state law.

The debate ended inconclusively when Rep. J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, moved for adjournment.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the House moved into position for final vote a bill which would prevent the use of lie detectors by employers as a condition of employment, continued employment or advancement.

Defeated was an amendment by Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, former Alpena County prosecutor, exempting employees engaged "in law enforcement... the national security (or who are charged with substantial trust."

Court Is Seeking Homes for Children in Institutions

Oakland County Juvenile Court officials today appealed to area families to help them find homes for children now living in court institutions.

According to James Van Leuven, director of child care and placement, there are some 50 children between the ages of 5 and 17 years who should be in foster homes, but because there are none available have to remain in the various county facilities.

"They are not all blonde, blue-eyed, well-behaved darlings," said Van Leuven, "rather children who have problems because of previous neglect and experience in extremely unhappy home environments."

"Experience has proven that these children can adjust to normal, happy family living situations if the people with whom they live can show love and patience and the necessary understanding."

Van Leuven added that the greatest single need is for homes for older children, especially boys.

ADJUSTMENT PROBLEMS

"The children do have problems adjusting to a new home initially because many of them do not trust adults, as no one has ever wanted them in the past," Van Leuven said.

Presently there are about 145 youngsters living in foster homes in the county.

Anyone wishing to board children must have their homes licensed, a procedure with which the Juvenile Court assists potential foster parents. There is no cost for licensing.

A weekly allowance of $11 is paid to foster parents to help pay boarding costs. Clothing, medical and dental care are also provided by the county.

Those interested can obtain additional information by telephoning or writing the foster care department of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

Ford, New Bride Arrive in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II and his bride of 35 days, the former Mrs. Maria Cristina Veltrone Austin of Italy, returned to Detroit Friday night from their honeymoon trip in Europe.

Ford, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., and his bride arrived by private plane from New York at the Ford hangar at Metropolitan Airport.

Ford and Mrs. Austin were married Feb. 19 in Washington, D.C. Their honeymoon included skiing in Switzerland.

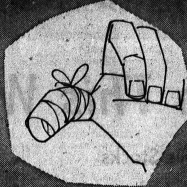

Ford was divorced last year by the former Ann McDonnell, who lives in New York with their three children.

home improvement
at your Credit Union

Many of our members are surprised to learn that they can finance the building of their new patio or recreation room at their Credit Union. Whatever your remodeling project is... new bath, new kitchen, swimming pool, storm windows, landscaping, garage, furnace or air conditioning to name just a few... you can get low cost financing at your Credit Union, and HOME IMPROVEMENT LOANS CAN BE CARRIED AS LONG AS FIVE YEARS if you prefer.

If you are planning a home improvement, first get an idea of the expense involved, then decide how much of the work you want to do yourself. Be sure to check local building codes and get the necessary permits. If it's a job for a contractor, talk to a reliable one who can give you a cost estimate. Remember — the minute you start to buy materials or arrange for services, you become a Grade A prospect for the "gyp artists" who prey on homeowners.

DON'T give the job to the first contractor you talk to. Your local lumber dealer can give you the names of several reputable contractors.

DON'T bite on "bait" ads and "amazing" bargains, actually designed as sales leads. Be on guard against typical ruses, such as furnace "inspection," or the sale of sub-standard aluminum storm windows, doors and siding from out-of-town, door-to-door salesmen.

How to get Your Money's Worth

Do your own "comparison shopping" before you decide. The honest contractor or will be happy to put all of the details in writing, and offer you a completely filled out contract form to sign. In most cases the reputable contractor's bid will be somewhat higher than one offered by a "gyp artist."

DON'T sign an any dotted line until you thoroughly understand the agreement.

DON'T sign a "certificate of completion" until the job is really done — and be sure to read the fine print in so-called "warranties."

How to pay for Materials and Supervise

The honest contractor or supplier will let you handle financing wherever you wish. Whatever your home improvement involves—equipment, services, materials — your Credit Union will gladly handle your financing. At the Credit Union you are assured of lowest interest rates ($5.53 per $100 per year), your loan is insured at no extra cost to you and will be paid off if you should die or become permanently disabled, and you can arrange for home improvement loans for as long as five years, if you wish.

No other lender can offer you as much as your Credit Union. It's the best deal you can get anywhere.

Decision on TB Patient Transfer Is Near

A decision on where to transfer the remaining 63 patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium is expected Wednesday at a special meeting of the ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

At a meeting of the committee yesterday, Harry W. Horton, Royal Oak supervisor, asked that further information concerning financial aspects of the patient transfer be obtained for the committee.

Last Tuesday the recently-established board of institutions recommended that Oakland County make use of bed facilities for tubercular patients offered by Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium.

The new board of institutions was formed to allow TB patients to be housed in the Medical Care Facility rather than outside the county.

The board of institutions recommendation to use Detroit's facilities were based on the present crowded conditions of the Medical Care Facility.

FORMER PATIENTS

Patients there would have to be transferred elsewhere to make room for the tubercular patients.

Several former patients and present patients at the TB Sanatorium appeared at yesterday's committee meeting to urge that the TB patients be kept in Oakland County.

Horton, in asking for additional financial information, said it would be ideal if the patients could stay in Oakland County but that possibly this might not be feasible.

Sale of the TB Sanatorium at 7350 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, to Oakland Community College for $827,000 was approved in January by the board of supervisors.

The college is slated to begin remodeling the building April 1 so it will be ready for classes next September.

Japan Dogs to Meet

Master — the Postman

TOKYO (AP) — Beginning next month, dogs that chase postmen will be in for a surprise.

The Postal Services Ministry announced it is arming its postmen with 1,600 cans of an air spray made from extracts of cayenne pepper and other fumes. "A whiff of that and any dog will know who is master," said one official.

The snowy owl, one of the few owl species that migrate, lives in the barren tundra above the Arctic Circle.

Will Move for Dismissal in Guard Quiz

LANSING (AP) — A defense attorney said Friday that evidence presented so far on charges against two National Guard generals "has established the fact they are innocent of the charges."

Thomas McAllister, attorney for Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, said when Gov. George Romney's hearing for the generals is turned over to the defense, he will move again for dismissal of the charges.

McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Nield are accused of "gross neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance." The charges say they should have advised the State Military Board of irregularities in the military.

McAllister issued his statement while Romney's 11-day-old hearing was in a three-day recess. It resumes Monday.

State attorneys said Thursday they have completed presentation of witnesses against the generals but they will present the two cosponsors of the charges against the generals for cross examination by the defense.

Hollywood Is Optimistic on Upcoming TV Season

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — There is optimism in the Hollywood air and with good reason: the coming television season looks to be the healthiest in history for the major studios.

The film companies were late in entering television production, whether through lack of vision or fear of antagonizing theater owners. Almost too late, the studios discovered new economic facts of life. They could scarcely survive without the steady production for television to help support the risky business of making features.

Except for MCA, which entered television before it even owned a studio, the big companies went after the market in a sometimes sketchy manner. That's true no more. Nearly all the studios have launched major campaigns to sell series. The results can be seen in the 1965-66 season.

The big success story is 20th Century-Fox. A season ago, it had nary a series on the networks. This year it scored with

"Peyton Place," "Daniel Boone," and "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" all slated for renewal, plus "Valentine's Day," which may make the grade.

FIVE MORE

Fox expects to have five more series on the networks in the coming season: "Lost in Space," Guy Williams-June Lockhart; "Long, Hot Summer," Edmond O'Brien; "Jesse James," Chris Jones; "The Longest Day," Lloyd Bridges; "Sally and Sam," Gary Lockwood-Cynthia Pepper.

MGM lost "Mr. Novak," but renewed "Dr. Kildare" in half-hours Monday and Tuesday, "Flipper" and "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." New series will be "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" with Mark Miller and Paul Douglas, and a new Robert Horton western, "The Man from Shenandoah."

Warner Bros. is scoring a major comeback, despite the apparent losses of "No Time for Sergeants" and "Wendy and Me." The Burbank lot is fielding "The F.B.I." with Erem Zimbalist Jr., while his onetime "Sunset Strip" pal, Roger Smith, is selling as "Mister Roberts." Warners also has landed a pair of comedies: "F Troop" with Forest Tucker and Larry Storch and "Hank" with Dick Kallman.

Universal City, formerly reclusive, has its usual strong schedule: "The Virginian," Bob Hope, "McHale's Navy" and "The Munsters" returning. The new series: "Run for Your Life," Ben Gazzara; "Laredo," Neville Brand, Peter Brown; "Convoy," John Gavin; "The Mr. and the Misses," John Forsythe, Ann B. Davis; and "Tamm," Brenda Scott.

PRIZE GIRLS

Screen Gems, the television arm of Columbia, has its prize girls returning: "Hazel" in a quick switch from NBC to CBS, "Donna Reed," "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Bewitched." Four new comedies will be forthcoming: "Gidget," "Camp Runamuck," "Wackiest Ship in the Army" and "I Dream of Jennie."

United Artists continues with three winners, "Gilligan's Island," "The Fugitive" and "Patty Duke," while adding "Okay Me." The F.B.I. with Erem Zimbalist Jr., while his onetime "Sunset Strip" pal, Roger Smith, is selling as "Mister Roberts." Warners also has

 Still Haunt Jane Morgan

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jane Morgan's ghosts, which she's had since she was a little girl, have been leased to the neighbors by her brother... Jane's going to miss them.

"Yes, yes, I know, nobody believes my story," the beautifully shapely Boston-born singer-actress and ghost girl told me at La Ronda at the Americana one day recently.

"The ghosts... a Quaker girl named Nellie... and a soldier who was jealous of her and killed her and then himself 200 years ago—are in a house in Kennebunkport, Me., where I lived when I was 11," Jane told me.

"I would hear them walking around. At first I thought they were burglars... Then I'd hear them laughing, and sobbing, and then I'd hear thuds..."

Jane grew up, went to Paris, recorded "Fascination," became famous, crashed Broadway, appeared scores of times on TV, got prettier and more sophisticated—and often went back to Kennebunkport—and heard those ghosts.

Hans Holzer, the ghost exorciser, who recently helped Jane Hovey try to expel a ghost from her apartment in New York, pleaded with Jane to let him chase the ghosts away.

"But," Jane looked at me seriously, "I wasn't sure I wanted to get rid of them."

"Where are they going to go if I chase them away?" Jane smiled prettily, realizing it must sound strange to me. "Really, there are a couple of dispossessed ghosts going to go."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP...

Ann-Margret told Universal she wants to make a movie with Marlon Brando. (She's in "Bus Riley's Back in Town" with another Brando—his sister Jocelyn)... Jerry Vale bought a music publishing firm in Puerto Rico... Liz Ashley—who just finished "The Third Day"—says her N.Y. apartment is furnished in "department store floor lamps and Early Salvation Army."

Football great Jimmy Brown said at Eddie Condon's he has an offer to make a movie in Rome... Arthur Desser will receive the City of Hope's Torch of Hope award, in Miami Beach; Denny Thomas will head the big show... The Lettermen's album, "Portrait of My Love," is their tenth in a row to hit the top 20 list... Singer Donna Fuller received a cow from a Texas fan. She refers to it as "my lady."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Success is getting what you want; happiness is wanting what you get."—Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: A local fellow thinks he's getting old: "I get winded going up in an elevator."

George Jessel, discussing the cost of living, told of the man who phoned a supermarket for some food. Later he complained, "Fifty bucks for a bag of groceries that small!" The grocer said, "You want it in a bigger bag?"... That's all, brother.

Vote on School Aid Is Biggest Victory of Session for Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House overcame bitter bickering last night to pass the controversial $1.3 billion school aid bill.

The 263-153 vote gave President Johnson his biggest legislative victory of the session.

The party lineup: 228 Democrats and 35 Republicans for the measure; 57 Democrats and 96 Republicans against.

The bill, aimed primarily at helping school districts which serve children from impoverished families, now moves to the Senate where Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicts quick action.

Seek to Speed City College

Bill Would Qualify
Medical Unit for Aid

State legislators have been asked to help speed development of the proposed Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine slated to be built here.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate to set up a 10-man osteopathic college authority to qualify the projected medical school for state and federal funds.

In essence, the bill would place the school under state control.

Introduced by Sen. Raymond D. Dandaniel, Detroit Democrat, the bill is cosponsored by some 20 senators.

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said passage of the bill would speed development of the college.

PART OF PATTERN

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the bill was part of a pattern that began last summer.

Adams said that osteopaths had sought some state support for their medical school and that legislation would be the first step in that direction.

Osteopaths have already directed one appeal to the state for public funds to help run the projected college.

The 10-man authority, as set out in the bill, would be appointed by the governor from a list of nominees submitted by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

A citizens group has furnished the projected college with a site at Ophdyke and Auburn, through public subscription.

Seaway Ship Season Will Open on April 8

DETROIT (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway will open April 8 for the 1963 shipping season. St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. said Friday.

The April 8 opening date is the same as last year and compares with the normal opening date of April 15.

May Charge 4 With Rights Murder

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama may seek first degree murder indictments against four white men — called Ku Klux Klansmen by President Johnson — who are charged with conspiracy in the ambush slaying of a Detroit civil rights worker.

If the evidence warrants, "I'm going to insist that we get a first degree murder indictment," State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers said last night.

Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, white and mother of five, was shot to death near Lowndesboro, Ala., while assisting in a civil rights drive.

Flowers said, "From what I've heard this far, it looks like premeditated murder."

Conviction for first degree murder in Alabama carries either a death sentence or life imprisonment at the discretion of the jury.

16½ HOURS LATER
The President announced the arrests in Washington, 16½ hours after Mrs. Liuzzo, who grew up in the South, slumped over in the driver's seat of her car, a bullet in the temple.

A Selma Negro, Leroy Moton, 19, was beside her in the car when another auto pulled alongside and two shots were fired.

The two were returning to Montgomery after shuttling a group of civil rights workers to Selma. She was en route back to pick up another group.

The four men arrested were Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer; Gary Tommy Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham; and Collier LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala.

BROUGHT IN
The four were taken into custody by FBI agents in the Birmingham area. A U.S. Commissioner set bond at $50,000 each. Thomas, Eaton and Rowe were released several hours later when their attorney posted bond.

Wilkins remained in jail. He was convicted in federal court last November on a charge of possessing an unregistered shotgun, given a one-year suspended sentence and placed on probation for two years.

R. Macey Taylor, an assistant U.S. district attorney, said the four were charged with violating a 99-year-old federal statute for conspiring to deprive another person of his constitutional rights. Maximum penalty is 10 years in prison, a $5,000 fine or both.

The four men the FBI said belonged to the Klan had little to say when brought before U.S. Commissioner Louise O. Charlton except "Yes, m'am," and "yes, your honor."

Expect Formal Probe of Klan

'Preliminary Inquiry' Begun by House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a nudge from President Johnson, the House Committee on Un-American Activities is expected to vote next week to launch a formal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

The committee already has a "preliminary inquiry" into the Klan under way when the President suggested yesterday on national radio and television that there be congressional investigations of the Klan.

It was understood some of the committee's large staff of investigators were, or had been, in the South looking into activities of the various Klan organizations.

The President suggested congressional investigations and called for legislation to control the Klan in a statement announcing that the FBI had arrested four Klansmen in the slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit in Alabama Thursday night.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, a mother of five, was shot in the head as she drove along a dark stretch of U.S. 90.

She had taken civil rights marchers back to Selma and was returning to Montgomery.

Samuel E. Jones Jr., 26, said Robert Demos Jr., 26, "But we may get the shakes today."

Young Demos said Davis came to their front door, knocked and the family first thought he was a salesman.

"He walked right in and sat down and started talking," Demos said. Davis quickly told his story, that he had robbed a nearby bank and police were outside.

POLICE EVERYWHERE
"They were everywhere," said Robert. "I never saw so many."

"We all sat down and talked. About the first thing he said was that he didn't want anybody to be afraid."

"We tried to talk things over (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Expect Formal Probe of Klan

'Preliminary Inquiry' Begun by House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a nudge from President Johnson, the House Committee on Un-American Activities is expected to vote next week to launch a formal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

The committee already has a "preliminary inquiry" into the Klan under way when the President suggested yesterday on national radio and television that there be congressional investigations of the Klan.

It was understood some of the committee's large staff of investigators were, or had been, in the South looking into activities of the various Klan organizations.

The President suggested congressional investigations and called for legislation to control the Klan in a statement announcing that the FBI had arrested four Klansmen in the slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit in Alabama Thursday night.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, a mother of five, was shot in the head as she drove along a dark stretch of U.S. 90.

She had taken civil rights marchers back to Selma and was returning to Montgomery.

Samuel E. Jones Jr., 26, said Robert Demos Jr., 26, "But we may get the shakes today."

Young Demos said Davis came to their front door, knocked and the family first thought he was a salesman.

"He walked right in and sat down and started talking," Demos said. Davis quickly told his story, that he had robbed a nearby bank and police were outside.

POLICE EVERYWHERE
"They were everywhere," said Robert. "I never saw so many."

"We all sat down and talked. About the first thing he said was that he didn't want anybody to be afraid."

Rights Activity Said Catalyst for Ku Klux Klan Revival

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan, a sprawling giant of the 1920s that nearly choked to death two decades later on its own violent dedication to "Americanism," is getting new life from the growing civil rights movement in the South.

Dr. David Chalmers, a University of Florida professor and author of a new book on the Klan's secret world of mystic rituals, strange passwords and hooded violence, argues that a decaying Klan was given new "impetus and environment for action" by two events:

The Supreme Court's May 17, 1954, decision outlawing public school segregation, and the siting, freedom rides and mass demonstrations of the early 1960s.

A number of other observers have pointed to a very recent rise in Klan membership, now believed to number 30,000 to 35,000 active Klansmen with up to 20,000 active sympathizers, mainly in the Deep South.

Klan officials say their influence has been increasing steadily since the current civil rights struggle began. James Venable, Atlanta attorney and imperial wizard of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, estimates growth at 10,000 to 12,000 new members a month.

WEED OUT

"We try to weed out undesirable, our purpose is not to collect hoodlums," Venable said. "We're trying to get the sweat-box people in. Educated people have been brainwashed into believing in brotherly love — in peaceful coexistence."

Chalmers says in his book, "Hooded Americanism," which is to be published by Doubleday, that one inherent defect in Klan structure that may have prevented it from becoming even more of an influence is the impossibility of controlling the actions of individual branches.

Today's Klan, actually a number of separate Klans, has most influence in small cities and rural areas, usually those with a high percentage of Negroes.

But 40 years ago, it was a giant of four million members that elected governors and senators, both in the North and South.

MAJOR ROLE

Born as a society of playful

pranks and mystic initiations in 1865, one year after the Civil War ended, the Klan soon turned to a major role in the overthrow of carpetbag state governments in the South and the restoration of white supremacy.

By 1871, the estimated 550,000 Klansmen disappeared as a formal organization. President Ulysses S. Grant, under the Ku Klux Klan Act of 1871, suspended the writ of habeas corpus in nine South Carolina counties, and thousands of Klansmen were arrested.

Another Klan did not appear until 1915, when the organization was resurrected on top of Stone Mountain, Ga., with the burning of a cross and an oath of allegiance to the "invisible empire of the Ku Klux Klan."

But, by the beginning of the depression, the Klan's power and glory were gone in the North and West.

The third Ku Klux Klan revival was organized in Atlanta late in World War II by an Atlanta obstetrician, Dr. Samuel Green. It had a brief period of activity, but splintered after Green's death in 1949.

A survey last year by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith indicated there were about a dozen Klans, ranging from the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan Inc., headed by Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., to the New Knights of the Ku Klux Klan led by Gene Falow of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Chalmers says in his book Southern school desegregation and other pressures for integration "presented the Klan with a great challenge and a great opportunity to gain the active role and the increasing membership that had so long eluded it."

House Stirred by Amish Issue

School Bill Change Loses After Debate

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's quiet Amish community stirred debate in the House of Representatives again Friday.

The Amish, in trouble with the superintendent of public instruction Lynn Bartlett over their hiring of a noncertified teacher for their one-room schoolhouse near Camden, are the subject of three bills in the House.

They might have been written into a fourth bill Friday, if an amendment by Rep. Claude Burton, D-Belleuve, had been adopted.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, seeks to tighten up teacher qualification laws. It would delete reference to a reduction in primary interest fund payments to districts that employ nonqualified teachers. The fund was abolished by the new Michigan Constitution.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATE

Burton's amendment would have allowed Bartlett to "issue a special certificate to any person to teach in a private school which is operated by a recognized religious group when the superintendent is satisfied that the person is qualified."

Rep. Bobby Crim, D-Davison, one of the cosponsors of the bill, objected that "by helping a small minority, we would be hurting the majority of the people in the state."

Most objections were that such a provision would open too many loopholes in present state law.

The debate ended inconclusively when Rep. J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, moved for adjournment.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the House moved into position for final vote a bill which would prevent the use of lie detectors by employers as a condition of employment, continued employment or advancement.

Defeated was an amendment by Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, former Alpena County prosecutor, exempting employees engaged "in law enforcement... the national security (or who are charged with substantial trust."

Decision on TV Patient Transfer Is Near

A decision on where to transfer the remaining 63 patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium is expected Wednesday at a special meeting of the ways and means committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

At a meeting of the committee yesterday, Harry W. Horton, R.O. 1, a 100 supervisor, asked that further information concerning financial aspects of the patient transfer be obtained for the committee.

Last Tuesday the recently-established board of institutions recommended that Oakland County make use of bed facilities for tubercular patients at the Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium.

The new board of institutions was formed to allow TB patients to be housed in the Medical Care Facility rather than outside the county.

The board of institutions recommendation to use Detroit's facilities were based on the present crowded conditions of the Medical Care Facility.

FORMER PATIENTS

Patients there would have to be transferred elsewhere to make room for the tubercular patients.

Several former patients and present patients at the TB Sanatorium appeared at yesterday's committee meeting to urge that the TB patients be kept in Oakland County.

Horton, in asking for additional financial information, said it would be ideal if the patients could stay in Oakland County but that possibly this would not be feasible.

Sale of the TB Sanatorium at 7350 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township, to Oakland Community College for $227,000 was approved in January by the board of supervisors.

The college is slated to begin remodeling the building April 1 so it will be ready for classes next September.

Will Move for Dismissal in Guard Quiz

LANSING (AP) — A defense attorney said Friday that evidence presented so far on charges against two National Guard generals "has established the fact they are innocent of the charges."

Thomas McAllister, attorney for Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, said when Gov. George Romney's hearing for the generals is turned over to the defense, he will move again for dismissal of the charges.

McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neftci are accused of "gross neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance." The charges say they should have advised the State Military Board of irregularities in the military.

McAllister issued his statement while Romney's 11-day-old hearing was in a three-day recess. It resumes Monday.

State attorneys said Thursday they have completed presentation of witnesses against the generals but they will present the two co-signers of the charges against the generals for cross examination by the defense.

Hollywood Is Optimistic on Upcoming TV Season

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — There is optimism in the Hollywood air and with good reason: the coming television season looks to be the healthiest in history for the major studios.

The film companies were late in entering television production, whether through lack of vision or fear of antagonizing theater owners. Almost two late, the studios discovered new economic facts of life. They could scarcely survive without the steady production for television to help support the risky business of making features.

Except for MCA, which entered television before it even owned a studio, the big companies went after the market in a sometimes sketchy manner. That's true no more. Nearly all the studios have launched major campaigns to sell series. The results can be seen in the 1965-66 season.

The big success story is 20th Century-Fox. A season ago, it had nary a series on the networks. This year it scored with

"Peyton Place," "Daniel Boone," and "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" all slated for renewal, plus "Valentine's Day," which may make the grade.

FIVE MORE

Fox expects to have five more series on the networks in the coming season: "Lost in Space," Guy Williams-June Lockhart; "Long, Hot Summer," Edmond O'Brien; "Jesse James," Chris Jones; "The Loner," Lloyd Bridges; "Sally and Sam," Gary Lockwood-Cynthia Pepper.

MGM lost "Mr. Novak" but renewed "Dr. Kildare" in half-hours Monday and Tuesday, "Flipper" and "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." New series will be "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" with Mark Miller and Pat Crowley and a new Robert Horton western, "The Man from Shenandoah."

Warner Bros. is scoring a major comeback, despite the apparent losses of "No Time for Sergeants" and "Wendy and Me." The Burbank lot is fielding "The F.B.I." with Efrem Zimbalist Jr., while his onetime "77 Sunset Strip" pal, Roger Smith, is sailing as "Mister Roberts." Warners also has landed a pair of comedies: "F Troop" with Forest Tucker and Larry Storch and "Hank" with Dick Kallman.

Universal City, formerly revue, has its usual strong schedule: "The Virginian," Bob Hope, "McHale's Navy" and "The Munsters" returning. The new series: "Run for Your Life," Ben Gazzara; "Laredo," Neville Brand, Peter Brown; "Convoy," John Gavin; "The Mr. and the Misses," John Forsythe, Ann B. Davis; and "Tammy" Brenda Scott.

PRIZE GIRLS

Screen Gems, the television arm of Columbia, has its prize girls returning: "Hazel" in a quick switch from NBC to CBS, "Donna Reed," "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Bewitched." Four new comedies will be forthcoming: "Gidget," "Camp Runamuck," "Wackiest Ship in the Army" and "I Dream of Jennie."

United Artists continues with three winners, "Gilligan's Island," "The Rogues" and "Patty Duke," while adding "Okie" Orkerby; Burl Ives; "My Zimbalist Jr., while his onetime "77 Sunset Strip" pal, Roger Smith, is sailing as "Mister Roberts." Warners also has
