

They'll Each Cost a Penny More Starting Friday

Air Mail 7c
First Class Letter ... 4c
Post Cards 3c

RATES CHANGE TOMORROW—This pretty 17-year-old strawberry blonde, Pat Foster, 5821 Old Orchard Trail, Orchard Lake, holds up samples of the three most common types of mail to remind us that, as of tomorrow, the postage for each will cost one penny more. Uncle Sam now wants seven cents per ounce for an air mail letter, four for a first class letter and three cents for post cards.

Mail Increases Near Deadline

Postmaster Discloses 100,000 Piece Boost; More Help Added

At least 100,000 pieces of mail "over and above normal amount" have flowed through the Pontiac Post Office during the last five days because of the postage rate increase which begins tomorrow, according to Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

Miller attributed the unusual amount of mail this time of the year to advertisers who want to get their literature out before tomorrow's postage boost.

Tomorrow, air mail letters will cost seven cents; first class letters will be four cents and post cards will cost three cents.

Miller also said "work was on schedule this morning although yesterday, we were about 30,000 pieces behind."

Substitute postal employees who are mail handlers and clerks were added in to work extra hours, he added.

He said he also expected about 100,000 more pieces of mail than usual to handle this weekend due to the election Tuesday. This mail would have to have the increased postage on it.

Woman Charged With Holding Man a Prisoner

ALLEGAN (P) — Mrs. Loretta Conley, 43, of Allegan, accused of holding an elderly man captive on an Ohio farm, was held at the Allegan County Jail today for investigation of fraud.

Mrs. Conley was taken into custody yesterday at a farm near McClure, Ohio. She was picked up on a warrant dated April 27, 1957, charging her with fraud.

They said they found Arthur F. Berg, 78, a retired Chicago insurance agent, locked in an upstairs room at the farm home.

Berg had been missing for more than a year, after Mrs. Conley obtained his release from the Allegan County Hospital.

Sheriff Runkel said she told hospital authorities she was taking him away just for the afternoon. Ohio officers said Berg had no money and told them "Loretta took it all."

Runkel said Berg had been getting a $54 a month retirement check from an insurance company and $66 per month in social security.

Postal Rates Go Up Effective at Midnight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You can save a penny by mailing that letter today.

Higher rates for first class and airmail letters go into effect at 12:01 a.m. tomorrow, but the Post Office Department said mail dropped in the box in time for the last evening collection today will be postmarked July 31 and go at the old rate.

If you mail your letter at the post office in time for it to be postmarked before midnight it will also go at old rate.

Hereafter first class letters will cost four cents an ounce instead of three cents. Air mail letters will cost seven cents instead of six.

Post cards will be charged three cents each instead of two cents. Air mail post cards must have five cents in stamps instead of four cents.

The department said mail that is in transit at midnight will be carried at the old postage rate. A letter, for example, mailed in New York City today and still on its way to California tomorrow will be delivered at the old rates.

Here's what will happen if you by mistake mail a letter at the old rate tomorrow:

The Post Office will try to collect the extra penny from the person to whom the letter is addressed. If the addressee refuses to pay it, the letter will go back to the sender for more postage.

After Oct. 31 the department will collect a five-cent penalty on mail short the proper postage.

Stamps due to become the most familiar to the public will be a lavender four-cent stamp with a picture of Abraham Lincoln on it, and a blue and white airmail seven-cent stamp featuring a jet airplane.

Showers Tonight, Mercury Steady

Considerable cloudiness and not much change in temperature with occasional showers tonight and tomorrow is the weather prediction by the U. S. Weather Bureau. Tonight's low will be about 62 degrees.

Tomorrow's high is expected to be near 80-84. The outlook for tomorrow night is partly cloudy and cool with a low of 60, Saturday will be warm and humid with Sunday and Monday somewhat cooler.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 66 degrees. The reading was 72 at 2 p.m.

General Elected Lebanon Leader

Rebel Chief Declares He'll Continue to Fight Until Demands Met

BEIRUT, Lebanon (P) — Gen. Fuad Shهاب was elected president today by a resounding vote of rebel and government deputies in Parliament who see in him a hope for peace in Lebanon.

As Beirut celebrated with a wild flurry of gunfire, Saeb Salam, rebel leader in the capital, voiced a sobering note. He told The Associated Press, "We will continue to fight on until our demands are met."

Two major demands are the withdrawal of U. S. troops and the immediate resignation of pro-Western President Camille Chamoun.

Chamoun issued a prompt reply to one of these demands, telling newsmen he intends to stay in office until his term expires Sept. 23. He made the statement after talking with Shهاب.

Shهاب was elected with the strong backing of the opposition National Front, of which Salam is a member, and over the bitter protests of Premier Sami Solh.

A compromise choice to end the long rebellion against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun, the 56-year-old army commander in chief was elected on Parliament's second ballot.

Shهاب got a whopping 48 votes to 7 for his only rival, Raymond Edde. One ballot was blank.

Rebel leaders applauded Shهاب's election. Solh boycotted the meeting in Parliament. Solh denounced the election as unconstitutional and declared it was held in an atmosphere of terror and pressure.

Rain Delays Golfers

CHICAGO (P) — Big time golf pros were on hand today for a par-shattering attack in the $50,000 Chicago Open, but heavy overnight rains forced a postponement of the first round until tomorrow.

County Deputies Brave Flames, Save Man's Life

Two Spot Trailer Fire, Defy Danger to Rescue Trapped Area Trucker

Two Oakland County Sheriff's deputies saved the life of an Oxford man trapped in a burning house trailer early this morning.

The deputies, Harley Hinman and Francis Earp, noticed the reflection of fire in the sky at 4:15 a.m. while parked at Drahn and Lapeer road and drove to Parkhurst Trailer Park, 1540 Lapeer Rd., Oxford.

The deputies found the trailer of Victor Lopus, 46, a trucker, burning fiercely. On learning that Lopus might be inside, the men broke down the rear door and entered the smoke-filled trailer.

The smoke was so thick inside the deputies could not see. They groped about for the bed only to find it empty.

Unable to breathe, they still decided to continue the search as long as they could hold out. Seconds later they stumbled across Lopus, who lives alone, lying on the floor near a door that led to the front of the vehicle.

The deputies dragged him out through the rear door and called an ambulance which rushed him to Pontiac General Hospital where he was treated for smoke inhalation and released.

Sheriff Frank Irons praised the deputies, saying, "These men are to be highly commended for their heroic performance of duty. They acted in the highest tradition of public service."

Alter Signals' Timing to Halt Traffic Snarl

A chronic traffic problem at Square Lake road and Telegraph road, Bloomfield Township, has been relieved by a change in traffic light timing, the State Highway Dept. reported today.

An aerial survey of the intersection was made and the change decided upon.

The left turn signal was extended from 21 to 45 seconds after 6 p.m. on Sunday when southbound traffic into Detroit becomes heavy.

Pipeline to Bring Beer to Golfers on the Green

LONDON (UPI) — Indian-born architect Dharam C. Wadhwa, who is building a house backing onto the 16th hole of the famous Wentworth Golf Course, has decided to do something for his friends who get thirsty before the "19th hole."

He intends to fix a beer pipeline from his bar to the edge of the green. A telephone will be installed by the nozzle and "my friends who are on the last lap can 'phone me up and I'll switch on in the house," he said.

Company after company followed the lead of Armco Steel Co., which yesterday announced it was raising prices an average of about $4.50 a ton to a total of around $150 a ton.

The Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. joined the list today. Other companies announcing price raises included Republic Steel Corp., Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and National Steel Corp.

From Congress came demands for quick corrective action. Members feared the recovering economy might stumble over more costly steel and many consumer items made from steel.

One economist said higher auto prices this fall could result from the steel raises. He said the extra cost of steel going into the average car would run roughly about $10 per vehicle but that manufacturers might add "a markup on a markup."

But in Detroit, spokesmen for Ford, General Motors and Chrysler agreed today the outcome of current contract negotiations would have greater bearing on 1959 car prices than steel price hikes.

A Chrysler representative said "a closer study of steel price increases would have to be made" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Excursion Steamer Damaged

UNEXPECTED THRILL—The S.S. Canadiana, Toledo excursion ship, was damaged severely and a swing span of the Toledo Terminal Railroad bridge collapsed. There were 85 passengers on board at the time.

Steamer Rams Toledo Bridge

Was Trailing Freighters When Big Span Swung Across Its Path

TOLEDO, Ohio (P) — A 210-foot excursion ship with 85 passengers aboard rammed into the Toledo Terminal railroad bridge last night as the bridge's swing-span closed in front of the steamer.

Only three persons aboard the S.S. Canadiana suffered injuries and all were minor. They were treated at hospitals and released.

Capt. Phillip Thorpe said the excursion boat, which runs daily between here and Bob-lo Island in the Detroit River, was following the freighter Frank E. Taplin into the Maumee River. The freighter passed through the opened bridge and the Canadiana was right behind.

Apparently the bridge operator didn't spot the excursion ship and started closing the swing-span.

The captain blew five blasts on the ship horn, then threw the big craft into reverse. It was too late.

The ship slammed into the side of the bridge. The second and third decks were smashed from the prow back to the superstructure bulkheads enclosing the dance floor and the inside recreation areas.

The Canadiana has a capacity of 2,270 passengers. It was about a third filled. There was no panic.

Buick Plans 3 New Lines

Predicts Total Car Sales Million Higher for 1959

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

Buick division of GM is preparing to introduce three new series of cars for 1959, to replace its current five series, and is anticipating the nation's buyers will purchase five and a half million cars in the coming year.

The new models were revealed at a press showing in Flint yesterday, and will be shown to the public and put on sale late in September. Prediction that the market for cars in the next year will be about a million above the expected total domestic sales this year was made by Edward T. Ragsdale, a GM vice president and general manager of Buick.

Ragsdale discounted any appreciable trend to extremely small cars, predicting that all 1959 models will be roomier and more luxurious than in 1958.

"I know this is contrary to what some people are advocating," he said, "but as long as man takes pride in his possessions, there will always be people who want bigger and more luxurious cars."

Ragsdale reported an upturn in demand for new cars in the past few weeks.

"This is the first indication of a strengthening of the new car market," he said. "It indicates a healthy outlook for the fourth quarter."

He said Buick currently has 13,000 on its payroll and that figure would be increased to 18,000 by Oct. 1 to turn out Buicks at a rate of 1,500 daily.

Buick will go on the retail market Sept. 19, the earliest since World War II. All General Motors lines are expected to be introduced by the end of September.

So will most of the other cars except the Ford Division of the Ford Motor Co., which has scheduled production of 1958 models through August and which won't introduce its 1959 line until early October.

Former Officer of Teamsters to Testify Again

Past Vice President of Local 614 Fears Union Will Retaliate

Two Pontiac area men are among 50 witnesses expected to testify as the Senate Rackets Committee opens a new probe into alleged gangster influence in Michigan businesses.

Already in Washington to appear before the McClellan committee is Joseph Warren, 32-year-old mechanic for the Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St., from Oxford.

Under subpoena to testify for the second time in less than a year is Robert P. Scott, of 31 Bloomfield Terrace, a Democratic candidate for the Michigan House of Representatives in Tuesday's primary.

Scott, 51, was in the committee spotlight last September when he told of how his life was threatened when he refused to help a Teamsters Union official "muscle into Oakland County racket."

What Warren, of 1940 Lakeville Rd., was called to testify about was not made known by the committee. It was known however, that before he came to the Pontiac agency in March of this year he was a union official with a Detroit auto agency.

FEARS TEAMSTERS

Scott, one-time Pontiac Teamster Local 614 vice president, said he did not wish to say when he was scheduled to testify, "because I don't want to take any chances." He said he feared retaliation from the Teamsters.

"That's the way they operate," Scott said.

After receiving a telegram last night from Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, Scott told reporters: "Just say I'll be there Thursday (next week)."

Although he said Kennedy did not spell out what he would be questioned on this time, Scott theorized that it might hinge on his recent suspension from the International Barbers Union Local 552, AFL-CIO.

Gunmen Murder Lilly Co. Official

INDIANAPOLIS (P) — Forrest Teel, 54, executive vice president of the huge Eli Lilly & Co. pharmaceutical firm, was shot to death early today in a shopping center. Witnesses said another car sped away.

Teel was the top sales executive of the drug firm. He is survived by his widow, Mary Elizabeth, and a son, Tom, 14.

HIT BY 3 BULLETS
Three bullets went into his throat, right side and right hip.

Reports of two men driving away in a cream-and-blue Oldsmobile came from Earl Alexander, 43, a neighbor out walking his dog; and Charles Hendrick, 16, counterman in a restaurant in the shopping center.

Alexander said he saw the car speed away after he heard noises that he thought were firecrackers.

MOTIVE UNCERTAIN

Homicide Capt. Michael Smiley said it's too early to say what motive could be assigned to the shooting.

The shooting occurred about five miles from Teel's home in a fashionable section in the Broad Ripple section of Indianapolis.

In moments of consciousness after he was found in his car, Teel was asked who shot him. Four times he murmured only "hospital." He was dead when an ambulance arrived.

Congress Alarmed at New Steel Price Hikes

NEW YORK (UPI) — U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer today raised steel prices an average of $4.25 a ton, or 3 percent, in line with markups by other steel makers.

The U. S. Steel action left only Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co., among the nation's eight largest producers, that have not announced higher prices.

Inland said yesterday it would act when U. S. Steel did. Bethlehem directors meet later today.

employment cost increases incurred during the year.

"Although U. S. Steel's average increase of $4.25 a ton was less than the $4.50 announced by other producers, a company spokesman said this did not represent undercutting but a different balance among products."

The new round of increases, smallest in recent years, was touched off Thursday night by an announcement by Armco Steel Corp., the seventh largest producer.

The increases affect so-called flat rolled products such as sheets and strips that are used by the auto and appliance industries.

Other steel products including bars, heavy plates and structural shapes are unaffected so far.

This was the first time in recent years that U. S. Steel, which produces nearly one out of every three tons of steel in the nation, has not been the first to raise prices.

In Washington Congress rumbled with dissatisfaction today over the newest round of steel price increases. And the administration let it be known the steel industry might be impeding recovery from the current recession.

Company after company followed the lead of Armco Steel Co., which yesterday announced it was raising prices an average of about $4.50 a ton to a total of around $150 a ton.

The Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. joined the list today. Other companies announcing price raises included Republic Steel Corp., Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and National Steel Corp.

Urges Khrushchev Attend U. N. Council Meeting

Macmillan Asks Aug. 12 Talks

PARIS (AP) — Premier Charles de Gaulle today proposed a big power summit conference at Geneva Aug. 18.

From Our News Wires

LONDON — Prime Minister Macmillan announced today he is calling for a special meeting of the United Nations Security Council to take place Aug. 12 and that he personally will attend it. Macmillan told the House of Commons he has advised Soviet Premier Khrushchev that New York, Geneva or any other place generally agreeable will do as the site for the special conference on the Middle East crisis. In Washington the White House indicated today that President Eisenhower agrees fully with Macmillan's call for a United Nations summit conference next month.

Million-Dollar Flood Hits Kansas Again

By United Press International

A million-dollar flash flood struck Atchison, Kan., today for the second time in a month. More than 120 persons fled the Kansas floodwaters which followed rains up to four inches last night and early today. Cleanup operations still were underway from the last flood in Atchison when White Clay Creek again boiled out of its banks to smash virtually the same area.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the U.S. position had been clearly set forth in Eisenhower's letters to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

MESSAGE TO KHRUSHCHEV

He read a text of a message which he has delivered to Khrushchev today. "I hope you will be there too," it said. "I am now instructing the United Kingdom permanent representative to propose to the president of the Security Council a special meeting to take place under Article 28 (of the U.N. charter) on Aug. 12.

"Meanwhile, the permanent representatives should discuss arrangements for the special meeting and decide where it will take place."

"I have no reason to suppose that the President of the United States would not be willing to go either to Geneva or New York," Macmillan said.

Macmillan then added in his note to Khrushchev that agreement on these arrangements for the meeting would find him attending the conference on Aug. 12.

Macmillan told Khrushchev the conference he had in mind certainly would allow "less formal meetings of heads of government" to be arranged, in addition to the sessions of the whole 11-nation Council.

This offer indicated he was meeting Khrushchev's expressed desire for informal, face-to-face meetings of the government chiefs of the big powers along the sidelines of the Security Council conference.

"The procedure would thus be flexible and should promote the chances of making progress," he said.

In Moscow, the United States proposed to Russia today that they meet at Geneva in October to consider means of preventing surprise attacks.

This country recommended that the talks start in the first week of October.

Western and Communist scientists are in Geneva now discussing technical means of policing a ban on nuclear weapons tests. The new American proposal, delivered to the Soviet foreign ministry by the U.S. embassy in Moscow, suggested that other governments might take part in the proposed talks for "a joint study of the practical aspects of this problem."

The United States notes stipulated that the technical discussion should not bind either side to ac-before we can say what exactly it means to our new car customers." A spokesman for the United Auto Workers Union said, "We never like to see prices rise like this. However, the companies can't blame organized labor for this price spiral.

"There is no union at Armco Steel Corporation — the pioneer company in raising prices this year," he said. "We make about half of the steel we use," commented a Ford spokesman. "Labor costs mean more to the auto industry than material costs. About 80 per cent of what you pay for a car goes for labor and only about 20 per cent for materials, including steel."

caused severe flooding at Merriam, Kan., and lesser local flooding at several other points in northeast Kansas and north central Missouri.

Tornado funnels dipped from rainy skies late yesterday at Elmira, Kan.; St. Joseph, Mo.; and in parts of Iowa and Illinois. Only one twister touched ground briefly at Kesley, Iowa, but caused no damage.

The Nishnabotna River spilled over its bank west of Shenandoah, Iowa, yesterday in the wake of heavy rains. Earlier this month, the river went on a rampage that claimed 19 lives.

About 60 persons were forced from their homes at Atchison today and about 60 others were evacuated from a trailer camp at Merriam, which is near Kansas City.

Water nearly four feet deep swirled through the business section of Atchison, washing away at least 20 cars. Firemen and police rescued the occupants. Numerous highways in the area were blocked by high water.

The previous flood at Atchison, on July 11, killed three persons and caused 10 million dollars in damage.

Kansas City was swamped with a 2-inch rain last night, and Cameron, Mo., was hit with a 3-inch downpour in a one hour period. Winds up to 70 miles an hour whipped Columbia, Mo., during a thunderstorm.

The storms were part of a broad band of thunderstorms ranging from eastern Colorado through the mid-Mississippi Valley and into the lower Great Lakes.

The rainfall generally was lighter east of the Mississippi during the night.

Weathermen said thunderstorms are expected to continue rumbling over the mid-Mississippi valley today and push eastward into the Atlantic states from Florida to central New England.

ceptance of any particular aerial inspection zone.

The United States and Russia in past exchanges have disagreed over the area it would be necessary to place under aerial inspection to police against surprise attacks.

The meeting program would be limited to "technical discussions of measures to reduce the possibility of surprise attacks."

Water Pipeline Survey Starts

Location for Intakes in Lake Huron First Steps by Engineers

Surveys got underway yesterday around Port Huron to determine the proposed location of the giant pipeline through which the South-eastern Michigan Water Authority hopes to bring water to Oakland and Macomb Counties from Lake Huron.

Howard K. Kelley, authority chairman, said a Detroit construction firm yesterday placed markers in the lake as a preliminary step to determine the location of the intake which is expected to go some 7,000 feet out into the lake.

In the meantime, Kelley said the authority was continuing its negotiations with communities in attempts to sign them up for the $150,000,000 project. So far only Troy and Utica have signed.

The pipeline is expected to supply 350 million gallons a day to participating areas, which through the years have seen ground level water supplies dwindling.

Kelley said "if everything goes right" the line should be in operation sometime in 1961.

Authority officials are eyeing the city of Pontiac as a prospective customer. But City Manager Walter K. Willman said no decision has been reached.

Land surveys for the 43-mile, eight-foot pipeline are expected to begin in mid-August, according to a spokesman for Black & Veatch, consulting engineering firm for the project.

Canadian Elected NSSA's President

National Skeet Shooting Association last night elected F. Stuart Molson, Canadian brewery head, as its 1959 president. Molson is among the shooters in the current championships at Oakland County Sportsmen's club. The Montreal executive succeeds Chesley (Chet) Crites of Detroit who retires Friday after four years at the organization's head.

Other officers named Wednesday included C. A. McDowell Jr., Shreveport, La., vice-president and George White of Dallas, returned as secretary.

An executive committee was named, and two directors were elected (a yearly procedure). Dates and site for the 1959 championships will be determined in a Friday night conference.

Navy Blimp Forced to Turn Back Again

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Navy blimp attempting a trip to the Arctic Ocean was forced today to turn back for a second time by bad weather.

The 343-foot Navy exploration blimp ran into bad weather over the Hudson Valley last night.

Lt. Cmdr. Don Collins said much of the ship's fuel was used up battling strong headwinds. Another attempt to fly north will be made as soon as the weather clears.

Action Is Near on Pension Hike

House Expected to OK Bill Boosting Checks by About 7 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House called up for action today a bill to lift Social Security pension checks.

The far-reaching measure, with an accompanying increase in the payroll tax on 75 million covered workers and their employers, was expected to whisk through the House with election-year ease.

Every election year since 1952 Congress has liberalized the Social Security system. Despite administration misgivings, the pattern seemed likely to be followed again this year.

In addition to raising benefits and tax rates, the bill provides for easing of eligibility requirements. It increases by 288 million dollars a year the federal government's share of state-operated public assistance programs for the blind, disabled and other needy.

Its chief provision calls for a 7-per-cent increase in old age, survivors and disability benefits, with a minimum boost of $3 a month.

For the 12 million persons now on the retired rolls, the increase would mean a boost in monthly benefit checks from the present range of $30 to $108.50 to a new range of $33 to $118 a month. Maximum family benefits would go up from $200 to $254 a month.

Rackets Group Calls 2 Pontiac Area Men

was "Teamster inspired" retaliation for his testimony last fall.

How Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa, once trustee over the Pontiac local, ties in with the activities of Pete Licavoli, Detroit underworld figure, might be another reason to call him back, Scott believed.

Scott revealed today that back around 1950, when he was secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor, Hoffa asked him to intervene in having a relative of Licavoli's pardoned for violating his deportation.

The present treasurer of the State Board of Examiners for Barbers said he refused then, fearing "my usefulness of a lobbyist would have been lost."

Licavoli, who was fined and given a prison sentence Monday for income tax evasion, is also among a long list of witnesses who are under subpoena.

The list includes Hoffa, who Kennedy said would "be on and off the stand repeatedly" during the inquiry which is slated to run for a period of weeks.

The committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), hopes new testimony will back up its allegations that a combine of gangsters and unionists is extorting huge sums from businessmen and workers across the nation.

Witnesses have been summoned from Detroit and Chicago. McClellan said two will testify under threat of reprisal from gangland. He declined to name them.

However, he said Hoffa and the Teamsters Union are "pivotal figures" in the inquiry which opened today.

The hearings hadn't been under way long today before one witness, Gus Alex, of Chicago, fled from the Senate Office Building after taking the Fifth Amendment on about 40 questions.

He had been asked whether he was the "trigger man" for the Al Capone mob, and if "he committed murders for a fee."

Alex left after a bitter denunciation from McClellan, McClellan told the witness that by refusing to give testimony he had shown himself to be "one of little love for his country."

Following Alex to the stand today was Irving P. Miller, an official of the New Method Laundry in Detroit.

An alleged "racketeer infiltration" in the linen and overall industries in Detroit is one phase of the new inquiry, McClellan said.

Disregarding two threats, Miller testified about an unnamed Teamsters official who took a "direct payoff" to stave off a strike of laundry truck drivers in Detroit.

Negotiations with Detroit Teamsters Local 245 were deadlocked. Miller declared, until arrangements were made "to pay a certain figure per driver to a high union official."

Miller, who was commended by McClellan for testifying despite two telephone threats earlier this month, said one caller warned "when you go to Washington be very careful whose name you mention or who you incriminate."

The Day in Birmingham

New YMCA Secretary Will Take Over on Sept. 9

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham YMCA will greet its new executive secretary, Owen R. Manchester, on Sept. 9. Arthur Blakeslee, chairman of the committee of management, announced today.

A 31-year-old native of Wisconsin, Manchester has been executive secretary of the YMCA's West Central Branch in Minneapolis since 1952. Before that, he was assistant secretary of boys' work in the Minneapolis Downtown Branch.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, he has taken clinical and seminar courses in "Y" administration as well as graduate work in social group studies. Manchester also holds a bachelor's degree in science from George Williams College in Chicago.

The new secretary succeeds Edwin F. Kirbert who directed local "Y" activities for 10 years. Kirbert resigned July 1 to become director of the Presbyterian Village in Detroit, a home for elderly persons.

A recent survey conducted by Birmingham City Planner Herbert Herzberg has revealed that there are 180 vacant lots suitable for one-family home construction in the city.

The survey was prompted by a lot width problem faced by Stern and Seligman Builders, Inc., of Detroit. The 40-foot lots the firm holds do not allow side yard space called for in the city's zoning ordinance.

Herzberg said minimum distance between houses could be guided by a "slide scale" rule. Distance could be reduced a half a foot for every foot less than 50 feet in the width of the lot.

In his survey, Herzberg found there are 6 lots less than 40 feet in width, 150 lots for 40 feet and 4 lots of more than 40 feet. He said about 19 per cent would require permits from the Board of Zoning Appeals for the construction of an average house approximately 24 feet wide.

For construction of a house 38 feet wide, the board would have to issue permits in 43 per cent of the building.

Preparing for its October production of "Point Of No Return," the Village Players will hold tryouts tonight at their theater to begin selecting the 25-member cast. The second tryouts will be next Thursday at 8 p.m.

This is a departure from the former system of cast selection which was done by a special committee. It also will be the first time the players have actively used their greatly enlarged stage which was completed this summer.

Semi-Private Room Costs $22 Per Day

Charges for semi-private rooms at Pontiac General Hospital are now $22 a day instead of $20 as announced in Tuesday's Pontiac Press.

Harold B. Euler, acting hospital director, said a $2 increase for all rooms, approved by the Board of Trustees Monday night, boosted the charge for the 36 semi-private rooms from $20 to $22.

The 101 ward rooms went from $18 to $20.

Euler said there is but one private room left among the 234 beds in the hospital.

Playgrounds Close Program Friday

Approximately 1,200 Waterford Township children now participating in the final week's playground activities, are literally "up to their elbows" in the finger painting project, according to Recreation Superintendent Paul Atkins.

Some of the eight playgrounds included in the summer program are also featuring pet shows at this time and all will be concluding their tournaments in checkers, croquet, and ping pong.

The children have participated in all types of sports, parades, shows, carnivals and swimming, as well as in quiet handicraft activities, Atkins said. The program ends Friday.

4 Britons Fight Off Mob of Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Four British soldiers fought off a mob of 300 Greek Cypriots last night in a village near Famagusta, killing two of the villagers before they restored order.

The deaths are expected to lead to new revenge attacks by the Greek underground EOKA, which has issued leaflets promising to kill a British soldier for every Greek Cypriot killed by the British.

A Turk Cypriot forest ranger was shot to death by three masked gunmen in Famagusta. A Greek Cypriot woman was found stabbed to death.

The popular lunchtime snack, the sandwich, was invented by the Earl of Sandwich in the 1700's. The Earl loved to play cards so much that he wouldn't stop to go to the dining room to eat. He had slices of meat put between two slices of bread to eat while he continued playing.

Clubs Spring Up Everywhere

State's Teenagers Helping Others

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Drifters, a club of teenaged boys, came into being at Flint, Mich., last winter.

Their purpose is simple.

"We want to help people who need our help," says 19-year-old Harold Rosenbun, president of The Drifters.

So far their work has included cleaning basements, helping an elderly couple keep their garden going while the husband was hospitalized for surgery, and yard work.

The eight members have plans for a different kind of good deed work in the future.

"As soon as we can locate a hall we're going to throw a party for the Cancer Fund," said Rosenbun. "We'll sell coffee and doughnuts and soda pop and turn the money over to the Cancer Fund."

He said the club also is working on plans for a party to raise money for the Crippled Children's Home and another to pay for a television set for an old folks' home.

The club gets all kinds of calls for its free work.

"One woman called and wanted us to build a fireplace for her and pour the concrete for a driveway," said Rosenbun.

"Like always, we asked her if she was married and what her husband did. It turned out in this case that he worked in a factory and made $2 an hour.

"We told her we couldn't help her. You see, she's got a husband who is either able to do it himself or could pay somebody to do it. We're just out to help people who need help."

The eight boys in The Drifters pay $2 a month for dues. Rosenbun said the money is used in the projects. They meet each Saturday and consider the projects up for approval.

Rosenbun brought the idea home to Flint from a visit to a cousin's home in St. Louis. The cousin's club, known as the Roadrunners, was doing charitable work and enjoying it. Rosenbun liked the idea.

The Drifters is an example of a teenaged stay-out-of-trouble project that is apt to develop in any community.

They don't always shoot for charitable work but the maximum of most of them is, "an idle mind is the devil's workshop."

At Jackson, Mich., a group of sub-teen children has formed a dog lovers' club.

The group, with a membership that reaches 20 during school months, has converted Christine Pautke's garage into a clubhouse.

"It's not a garage any more," said Mrs. Pautke, mother of the club's 11-year-old leader. "It's plastered with pictures of dogs and filled with literature on the care of dogs that Christine and the others got through the mail."

The group meets once a week and takes occasional hikes with members' dogs.

Teenaged car enthusiasts yearning for respectability make up several clubs in Michigan.

Eugene Smack, 20, of Jackson, Mich., is treasurer of the Chevaliers Hot Rod Club.

The Chevaliers have what they call courtesy patrols. They cruise in their cars on the lookout for motorists in trouble, then offer their aid free.

"We do lots of things," said Smack. "If they're out of gas, we go get gas for them. Sometimes we help people fix flat tires."

"A lot of times people have motor trouble and it's something simple—like a loose spark plug—and we can fix it when the average motorist doesn't know what's wrong."

The nine members of the Chevaliers figure they have to change the public's opinion of teenaged boys who like cars.

"We want to show them that hot rod club members aren't all burning rubber and knocking over pedestrians," Smack said. "Maybe then we can get a drag strip for organized racing here."

A similar club in the Detroit area is the Road Knights of suburban Clawson. The Road Knights worked eight hours a day the five days before the Fourth of July weekend giving a free safety check to any driver who would bring in his car.

"The boys checked the 10 major items, including the brakes, lights, steering and horn," said Clawson safety officer Jay Holser.

The 15 boys in the club operated for a year, holding weekly meetings and working on their cars, before they asked Holser to be their adult adviser.

In a high school in the Detroit suburb of Warren an unusual manufacturing plant is in operation. The boys inside, ranging from the teens to the early 20s, are making a new future for themselves.

Each of the 20 boys has a criminal record.

Completely voluntary, the special eight-week course offers them a chance to start learning a trade. They work on metal lathes and drawing boards, designing and turning out fancy ash trays.

Wallace Houg, vocational director for the Van Dyke School District, first proposed letting probationary boys use the idle shop facilities two summers ago.

He received a trial approval from the school district and from county, state and federal authorities. The program costs less than $5,000 each summer.

Now in its third year, the school keeps close tabs on its "graduates." Only 25 per cent have been in trouble again.

There are other instances of teenaged activity.

At Battle Creek, Mich., a self-organized high school committee set up a citywide dance for Halloween. Vandalism has been reduced greatly.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., six teenagers sit on the board of the teenage loan fund at Ann Arbor bank. They approve—or disapprove—of loans to teenagers who want money for clothes, motor scooters, car repairs or to start a small business. The maximum loan is $50.

Portland, Oregon and Tahiti are almost equidistant from Honolulu—2,332 and 2,381 sea miles respectively.

RIDIN' THE WAVES—James Garner, star of TV's Maverick series, has moved his saddle from a bronco to a tin fish. Garner is on location aboard the submarine Tilefish making the movie "Up Periscope."

NEW "SPACE MEN" — The death of Capt. Iven Kincheloe in a plane crash places the burden of being the Air Force's first man in outer space on Capt. Robert White, top, of New York City, an eight-time winner of the Air Medal, Captain Kincheloe was to have flown the X-15. Captain White was the "back-up" pilot behind him. Capt. Robert A. Rushworth, bottom, of Madison, Me., the only other man in the program, becomes "back-up" pilot to Captain White.

Sect Holds Baptism on Beach

NEW YORK (AP) — Jehovah's Witnesses baptized 7,136 of their sect yesterday by total immersion in Long Island Sound off Orchard Beach in the Bronx. It was termed the largest mass baptism in history.

They were taken to the beach in 50 buses from Yankee Stadium, where the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society is conducting its Divine Will International Assembly.

As they stepped on the beach two lanes were formed one for men and one for women. Participants had changed to swim clothes at a beach bath house.

As the witnesses reached the water's edge they fanned out into 30 lanes. Volunteers guided them to the baptizers, who were in waist-deep water. The newly baptized persons returned to shore through prepared exit lanes.

Six lifeguards watched over the baptismal scene from three towers. Nurses and doctors were on duty.

The immersions were completed in 2½ hours.

The previous record for Jehovah's Witnesses baptisms were 4,640 in a Manhattan pool during an assembly here in 1953.

Chicago Man Killed as Truck Overtakes

BANGOR (AP) — A 25-year-old Chicago man was killed yesterday when the 1½-ton truck in which he was riding flipped over on a rural road some two miles south of here during a heavy rainstorm.

State Police said Theodore N. Owens was thrown from the truck and pinned under it, when it apparently struck a large bump and overturned into a ditch.

There are about 877 million head of cattle in the world.

Viria Danks Shows Her Appreciation for Aid

Most of the people in this area will bow gratefully before VIRIA DANKS. Her letter in the Voice of the People, Tuesday, was one of the most gracious and fine spirited expressions that anyone has read around here in many, many moons.

Raising two children unaided "gets mighty rough," she says and we are inclined to believe it might be viewed as "perpetually rough." It's a real assignment. It takes courage and it takes someone with fortitude and faith in God.

Viria Danks has both. And she has much more.

She faces life resolutely and with an understanding of what lies ahead. In her letter she gives thanks to the various agencies that have made it possible for her to keep her home intact. In addition to thanking The Lord for His protection, she mentions such worthy organizations as:

Aid To Dependent Children
Crippled Children Society
St. Joseph Hospital
Oakland County
State of Michigan
City of Pontiac
Salvation Army
Exchange Club
Birmingham Scout Troop
Pontiac Elks
Metropolitan Club

With the aid, encouragement and assistance of these agencies, she moves forward and holds her place.

The Pontiac Press would like to tell VIRIA DANKS that it's a real pleasure and even a privilege—always—to assist people who feel as she does. You don't owe any of us anything. You've earned the benefits you've received.

Indian Prime Minister NEHRU's self styled neutrality is a joke. Just examine a couple of his reactions to various moves by the United States and the Soviet Union.

When American troops landed in Lebanon, at the request of the Lebanese President and under specific orders not to fight, Nehru was quick to respond with his condemnation.

But when Russia in 1956 sent the Red Army into Hungary, at nobody's request, to crush a genuine revolt against Soviet domination with cruel and bloody force, NEHRU remained quiet. He could not talk. Several weeks went by before he grudgingly conceded that the affair had its bad aspects.

Is this neutrality?

NEHRU may be neutral by his own standards, but it is not a neutrality that many can admire or wish to copy.

New York Gubernatorial Race to Be Exciting

Apparently the official GOP organization will stand solidly behind NELSON ROCKEFELLER's bid for his party's gubernatorial nomination in New York. This should be the prelude to an interesting contest in the finals. ROCKEFELLER is a capable, serious and energetic citizen.

We will find ROCKEFELLER pitted against AVERELL HARRIMAN, the incumbent. Mr. HARRIMAN will have a double stake in the contest. First, he wants to win because he wants to win. That's certainly normal.

But, in addition, he wants desperately to succeed so that he can stand as one of his party's leading aspirants for the presidential nomination in 1960. A defeat at this point would injure his prestige in the party and in the nation.

Michigan's Governor, G. Mennen Williams, was a HARRIMAN man at the Democratic convention in 1956 and backed the New Yorker until WALTER REUTHER told him to lay off. REUTHER had other ideas.

Winning is a "must" for AVERELL.

The nation will watch with interest as these two clash. Both are big names in society and both are big names in financial circles. Rarely—if ever—has New York witnessed a battle royal like this one.

It should be a dilly.

Have Most Lakes

Another Challenge on That Claim Has Been Discounted

Occasionally some other county challenges the claim of Oakland County of having more lakes than any other county in the southern peninsula of Michigan. The latest comes from Howell in our neighboring county of Livingston, over the signature of "Livingston County Boosters," who allege that it has us beaten in this respect.

To settle the matter, I have contacted Sheriff Lawrence Gehring of Livingston County, and he tells me that an accurate count shows that it has 246 lakes. Oakland has 423.

Arkansas Backs U.S. Constitution

WASHINGTON — Maybe it's a demonstration of "Arkansas nationalism" we are witnessing — though perhaps "statism" is a more fitting word—but for some reason not clearly understood in the North the people of Arkansas, by the biggest landslide in their voting history, have just assured a third term for Governor Faubus.

Isn't this the man, it will be asked, who "defied the supreme law of the land"? Don't the people of Arkansas know what the "law of the land" is, or have they come to the conclusion that the "law of the land" is what the Constitution says it is and not what nine justices say it is? For the Bill of Rights in the Constitution does say that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

WEIGHED ARGUMENTS The people of Arkansas weighed all the arguments and decided to back the Constitution as it is written. They had listened for nearly a year to radio and television speeches of abuse and had read many articles in the press telling them they are lawless folks who don't obey the orders of the Federal courts.

The Arkansas voters had protested in vain that critics in other states were oversimplifying the issue by saying that it was merely "that man Faubus" and a few zealots who were responsible for the crisis in the schools of Arkansas and that, if the present governor were not in office, things would be different.

Now the people of Arkansas, in a free and fair election, have given their answer. They have voted by an overwhelming majority — about 70 per cent of all ballots cast — to retain Gov. Faubus.

It's a break in tradition to give a third term to a governor in Arkansas. It was, therefore, an electorate deeply stirred which threw precedent aside in order to say to the rest of the states of the Union that Arkansas craves the privilege of deciding for itself how it shall educate its children.

STATE PROBLEM For, up to 1954, education was considered to be solely a state problem, with no right to the Federal government to assign pupils to public schools, much less to send Federal troops to police the corridors of school buildings.

But, while the Supreme Court four years ago vetoed "segregation," it has not yet prescribed a formula for "integration." Other states besides Arkansas are struggling with the same problem of how to retain control of their schools and yet keep them from being interfered with by the Supreme Court's edicts.

There wouldn't have been any such rump in Arkansas or in any other southern state if the Congress, as specifically provided in the Fourteenth Amendment, had passed a law compelling desegregation. But for the Supreme Court suddenly to turn down its own 58-year-old order for "separate but equal" facilities in the schools by terming it now a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment—especially since the court itself could not find the slightest bit of history to show that the framers of that amendment intended to take over control of educational systems of the states—is to arouse the people to demand that the "law of the land," namely, the Constitution itself, be followed. The Fourteenth Amendment stipulates that "Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article." This never has been done. The Supreme Court, moreover, isn't supposed to exercise any legislative power.

There is no doubt that the renomination of Gov. Faubus in the Democratic primary — which is equivalent to election because there is no effective Republican Party in the state — will be regarded in other southern states as encouragement and moral support.

Every southern state would vote on the segregation issue exactly as has Arkansas.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Gained Health From Diet in 'Body, Mind and Sugar'

This is not the first time I have commended the book "Body, Mind & Sugar," by E. M. Abrahamson, M. D., and A. W. Pezet, published by Henry Holt and Company, New York. The book was copyrighted in 1951. My copy is of the first edition. I imagine there have been several editions published since 1951.

DR. BRADY have received numerous letters from people who describe the remarkable benefit they have gained from following the hyperinsulinism diet for tapering off, as described on pp. 105-106 of the book, or the diet described on pp. 68-69.

Once I tried to describe the diet here, but when I saw what some papers had done to it I was sorry I had tried. Now I have only one answer to requests for the diet: Get the book from your public library or your book dealer. I can't bowl so well when I'm worried.

A nice lady named Elouise reports: "I suffered for 10 or more years with a dreadful itch over most of my body. I was examined by doctor after doctor. No relief. "One day I saw in your column, which I never like to miss, a list of foods that persons with hyperinsulinism or low blood sugar should not eat. It was exactly the things I couldn't eat without exacerbating that unbearable itching. You suggested a book, Body, Mind & Sugar, which I first borrowed from the library and later bought.

"I carefully followed the diet in the book and all the itch has vanished. I'll ever be grateful to you and your column.

"Also, I had sinus trouble badly, but you suggested in your column a simple way for persons with chronic sinusitis, chronic bronchitis etc. to humidify the excessively dried out air indoors in the winter—hang up wet clothes in bedroom, kitchen, living room etc. I tried it and derived amazing benefit. (Elouise —)"

Thank you, ma'am. I must defer to Dr. Abrahamson, who, in the book, defers to Dr. Seale Harris, who first called hyperinsulinism (low blood sugar) the "hunger disease." Others have called it "chronic fatigue." In many cases the trouble is mistaken for "gastric ulcer."

Dr. Abrahamson says "Sugar laden and caffeine — containing carbonated beverages are im-

'America Must Not Forget Her Religious Foundations'

Perhaps the man who wrote America should forget God and turn to an atheistic state such as Russia, wrote without thinking.

How could America forget God? Our great nation was founded because our forefathers wanted freedom of religion, to worship God as they wished. Look how our great land has prospered. What other land has the freedom, the democracy, the food, the wealth that America has? Yet more and more Americans are turning away from God. Why? Could it be we have so many things we think we can forget?

Maybe Russia is ahead in science now, but God says He will bring a distrustful nation to destruction. Let us all count our blessings and turn to God before He turns us down.

'Anything's Worth at Least a Try'

The following letter was called to my attention and will interest both Republicans and Democrats. It was put into the Congressional Record by Senator Goldwater of Arizona.

"Dear Mr. Senator: My friend Bordeaux over in Pima County received a $1,000 check from the government this year for not raising hogs. So I am going into the not-raising-hogs business next year.

"What I want to know is what is the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on and what is the best kind of hogs not to raise. I would prefer not to raise razorbacks, but if that is not a good breed not to raise, I will just as gladly not raise Berkshires or Durocs."

"My friend Bordeaux is very joyful about the future of his business. He has been raising hogs for more than 30 years and the best he ever made was $400 until this year, when he got $1,000 for not raising hogs.

"I plan to operate on a small scale at first, holding myself down to about 4,000 hogs, which means I'll have $80,000.

"Now another thing, these hogs I will not raise will not eat 100,000 bushels of corn. I understand that you also pay farmers for not raising corn.

"So will you pay me anything for not raising 100,000 bushels of corn not to feed the hogs I am not raising? — Octave Broussard."

Faubus' Victory Boosting Stock of Sen. Johnson

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—In one of the enlivening paradoxes of politics, Gov. Orval Faubus' runaway victory in Arkansas has boosted the presidential stock of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

Southern Congress members who fear a national party split over racial issues are talking more and more of Johnson as the kind of moderate in that field who might keep the party united.

Faubus' spectacular renomination for a third term has identified the Arkansas government with the kind of back-row segregationist sentiment that portends deep trouble for the Democratic party.

Many of the professional Dixie politicians fear that Faubus will attract those who still believe in a third party ticket.

This group would like to go to the 1960 Democratic convention loaded for bear. It wouldn't disturb them in the least if they split the convention and drove the national party into the arms of an all-out integrationist presidential nominee.

That is just what the majority of Southern Democratic holders of national office don't want to happen. For that reason they have stepped up their talk of Johnson as the kind of a moderate they believe has a good chance for the nomination.

Johnson, the Senate majority leader, is not conceding he has any presidential ambitions. But a Democratic senator close to him had this to say: "I've seen a lot of men running for president and if he isn't, then my eyesight isn't as good as it used to be."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Flowers Can Be Psychiatric Aid

Dr. Carleton is a versatile modern scientist who doesn't stop with his own specialty of botany. He now uses flowers for treating retarded children and zooming the morale of the handicapped. He employs flowers as psychiatric medicine, too, so follow his ideas below and adapt them to all your own youngsters.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case Y-378: Dr. R. Milton Carleton, aged 50, is one of America's most influential scientists.

His specialty is botany and horticulture, for he obtained his Ph.D. at the University of Uppsala in Sweden, where Linnaeus first started to classify the plants here on earth.

But Dr. Carleton, though often called the "20th Century Linnaeus," is so versatile that he

DR. CRANE keeps abreast of scientific progress in many allied fields. Uncle Sam thus gave him a two-weeks' "scoop" on the release of the story about DDT at the end of World War II, because of his own scientific labors.

And Dr. Carleton via his monthly magazine articles and syndicated garden column in many American newspapers reaches millions every day. In fact, many other garden columnists get their data from Dr. Carleton.

Last winter he cooperated in a midwestern clinic on the therapeutic value of gardening and asked me to address the conference as a psychiatrist.

The audience consisted of leaders in the education and rehabilitation of the handicapped or crippled, plus the mentally retarded.

So I gladly cited cases where the interest of such youngsters had been captured and then led onward along a thrilling pathway of adventure, all because they planted some flower seeds and began to enjoy the thrill of creative partnership with God Almighty.

One such youngster who had been uncooperative and a dullard in his reactions to life, began to watch the green shoots which soon came up from the seeds he had planted.

And he then took an interest in pictures of flowers, as he anticipated what might develop from his own little flower garden.

Actually, his garden was just a window flower box. But it began to stimulate his imagination.

He took pride in watering the plants and learning the difference between weeds versus the green shoots that would become flowers.

Furthermore, he now had an outside interest that extroverted his attention from himself, so he gradually grew less egocentric and selfish.

And when the buds began to show some color, he would dance gleefully around his flower box. Thereafter, he almost burst, too, but with pride when visitors would express delight over the beautiful blossoms.

PSYCHOLOGY OF FLOWERS

"Flowers," said Henry Ward Beecher, "are the sweetest things God ever made and forgot to put a soul into."

Raising them is an ideal hobby for everybody, but doubly valuable for children.

Nowadays our youngsters don't have enough opportunity to create and care for things. Flowers, as well as vegetable gardens, help meet this craving.

You can challenge the interest of children, too, by showing them that out of black earth or the red soil of Georgia, or the gray clay, the same seeds can produce red roses and blue violets and yellow jonquills and all the many colors of the rainbow.

"How can red petals and yellow blossoms and blue flowers and green leaves all come out of the same black soil?" you can query the child and thus set his mind puzzling about some of these wonders of God's earth.

Many mothers plant flowers, too, but they should tactfully try to let the children shoulder the full responsibility for so doing, since this will then develop a pride of creative ownership in those same youngsters.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets. (Copyright, 1958)

Beasts on Verge of Extinction

Trophy Bag Threat to White Rhino

VANISHING SPECIES — A pair of white rhinoceros bauldly eye the camera. The massive beasts, reportedly shy and peace-loving, are in danger of becoming extinct.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (U) — The white hunter's thirst for trophies — coupled with the demands of African and Chinese sorcerers — is driving one more massive African animal to the verge of extinction.

According to even the most optimistic estimates, there are only about 1,500 white rhinoceros left on the vast African continent.

The British East Africa Fauna Conference has sent a desperate appeal to the Belgian, South African and Sudanese governments to take all appropriate measures to protect what remains of the white rhinoceros. It recommended the creation of reserves and severe controls on poaching.

For centuries the two-horned African rhinoceros have been prizes of which doctors. Their horns, ground to powder, supposedly cure dozens of diseases. Although the horns are the only part of the beast desired, he must be killed to get at them.

The horns sell at extravagantly high prices on the ports along the Indian Ocean, from where they are smuggled to the Far East.

RHINOS SHY

Despite their frightening appearance, rhinos are shy and usually flee from humans. They are short sighted and have a very poor sense of smell. Specialists say they are inoffensive, although occasionally an imprudent hunter is killed after getting too close to a wounded animal.

What is commonly known as the white rhinoceros in fact is not white at all, but rather slate-colored.

The word "white" results from a language error. The Boers, when they saw the animal in South Africa, called it "wilde mond" which, literally, means "big mouth." The British later called it rhinoceros, a mixture of Greek words, and added "wide" to differentiate it from other species. This "wide" eventually turned into "white."

Naturalists have strong hopes that drastic measures will save what remains of the "big mouths."

A similar call for protection was made some 20 years ago in the Cameroons with the cousin of the white rhinoceros—the black rhinoceros. (The latter, of course, is no more black than the "big mouth" is white, but is rather brownish.)

At the time there were only about 30 black rhinoceros left in the Cameroons. Total protection of the animals was decreed and the family is now estimated to include some 200 members.

Pair Forced to Move After 60 Years in Home

KEYSTONE, Okla. (U) — Mr. and Mrs. Elbert A. Nunneley celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary thinking about moving from the home they built in 1898. The town is being inundated by the waters from the Keystone Dam project. Nunneley is 84, his wife 77.

U.S. Gets Priceless Boon From Millionaire's Stroll

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — On a windy March afternoon 32 years ago, a minister escorted a rich man on the most expensive stroll in history.

The minister was the late William A. R. Goodwin, rector of Bruton Parish Episcopal Church in Williamsburg. The rich man who accompanied him on a walking tour of Williamsburg was John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Before their jaunt was over, Rockefeller had decided to buy the run-down little village and rebuild it exactly as it was in the 18th century, when Williamsburg was the capital of Colonial Virginia.

The project has cost the Rockefeller family $62,000,000 to date. And it has given Americans a priceless opportunity to establish a living, personal contact with their own heritage.

For most of the 18th century—from 1699 to 1780—Williamsburg was the capital of Colonial Virginia. It was here that a mumbler and embarrassed planter named George Washington accepted congratulations for his expedition against the French and Indians... that young Thomas Jefferson delivered his first speech on the inalienable rights of free men... that fiery Patrick Henry denounced the Stamp Act and challenged the House of Burgesses to make the most of his "treason"... that George Mason drafted the Bill of Rights.

AUTHENTIC DETAIL

Not even Rockefeller money could bring Washington and Jefferson back to life. But the inns in which they lived, the taverns in which they drank, the capitol building in which they debated, the streets along which their carriages rumbled, all these have been recreated with painstaking authenticity.

The result, as more than a million tourists learned last year, is not a museum, but an educational institution. Williamsburg offers the most painless way of studying history that has ever been devised.

The restored area stretches for more than a mile down Duke of Gloucester street, the main thoroughfare, and for several blocks on either side. It contains more than 450 buildings which have either been restored or reconstructed on their original foundations.

NO SHORTCUTS

No detail has been overlooked and no short cuts taken. The glass in the windows was made by the same process used in the colonial era—and has the same imperfections. Even the gardens behind the houses are planted and tended as they were in the 18th century.

Williamsburg is the only major privately-owned tourist attraction in the world which is operated, deliberately and cheerfully, at a loss. Every cent taken in from tourists goes to help pay the cost of maintaining the town and its staff of 2,000.

But the income never covers all of the costs. The Rockefellers pick up the tab for the deficits. The price tag on that stroll is getting higher all the time.

Complex Alloys Get 2-Minute Analysis

LE HARVE — A French firm has started to export automatic spectro-readers, spectrum devices that analyze complex alloys faster than any other instrument.

This new device takes less than 2 minutes for five or six elements. The average quadratic error is less than plus-minus one. Element content is measured to .001 per cent in some cases.

The manufacturer says his instrument, more sensitive and flexible than previous devices, can increase the efficiency of industrial laboratories by enabling them to maintain a constant check on alloy quality during casting.

Report Proposes Central Agency

Higher Education Boards Recommended for State

LANSING (AP) — Creation of six more boards in the control of higher education in Michigan is recommended by the research director of a special legislative committee.

In his 13th staff report to an interim group surveying higher education, John D. Russell thus allayed apprehensions of some lawmakers that he would urge unified control of all state colleges and universities.

One of the new boards suggested by Russell would constitute a new central state agency, mainly with coordinating functions.

This board, to be called the "Michigan Board for Higher Education," would lack authority to interfere in the internal management of any institution.

Separate appointive boards of control also were recommended for the four institutions now grouped under the elective State Board of Education.

This would give increased autonomy to Central Michigan College at Mount Pleasant, Northern Michigan College at Marquette, Eastern Michigan College at Ypsilanti and Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo.

Russell, a former assistant U.S. commissioner of education, was hired at $100 a day and expenses to direct the $161,000, two year legislative study, financed in part from Kellogg Foundation funds.

He currently is chancellor and executive secretary of the Board of Educational Finance of the State of New Mexico.

In his report yesterday, Russell urged that board members of all state institutions be appointed by the governor instead of elected by popular vote.

The governor's appointive power now is limited to the boards of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Ferris Institute at Big Rapids and to certain appointments to the temporary board of Wayne State University. Wayne State is in transition from a City of Detroit to a state institution.

"It would seem logical," the report stated, "that the state should have some central agency assigned the development of higher education on a state-wide basis."

Decision Near on Dock Issue

Contend Outcome May Play Role in Location of New Industries

LANSING (AP) — A two-year controversy over construction of a loading dock in Lake Huron moved toward a showdown today amid contentions the outcome may play a vital role in location of new industries in Michigan.

Caught up in the center of the feud was State Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy, who will approve or reject application of the National Gypsum Co. to continue dredging operations for the dock a mile south of Tawas City.

Eddy said he would postpone a decision until he confers with the State Conservation Commission at its meeting next week. Whatever the outcome, however, the case likely will go to the State Supreme Court.

Some two dozen company officials and Isosco County businessmen and school leaders called on Eddy to issue the permit at a five-hour hearing yesterday in the House chamber.

Representatives of lakeshore property owners and an official of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs urged him to turn it down. The company has virtually completed construction of a 1,000-foot loading dock for its ships carrying gypsum taken from its Isosco County quarries. Operations to dredge out turning basins and a 200-foot channel 8,600 feet into the lake are scheduled for completion this fall.

The State Conservation Department asserts much of the work has been done without legal authorization to build on state-owned submerged lands. Its latest violation, it said, was to continue work without regard to a new law which requires permission of the State Conservation Department for dredging operations on the state's submerged lands.

Thomas J. Foley of Detroit, attorney for Dunbar and Sullivan

Dredging Co., which is doing the dredging, told Eddy business and labor leaders in many states are watching the outcome of the dispute.

"It may well determine their future policy and planning for business in this state," he said. "Many will need access to the St. Lawrence Seaway when it is opened, and this may indicate to them the state's attitude toward development of the seaway."

About one-fifth of the U. S. shrimp catch is canned.

His Check Not His

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — A 13-year-old boy handed assistant store manager K. R. Isbell a $50 check to be cashed. Isbell was somewhat surprised because the check was signed with his name.

The boy, awaiting probate action on charges of forgery, told police he just picked the name from 3,500 in the telephone directory.

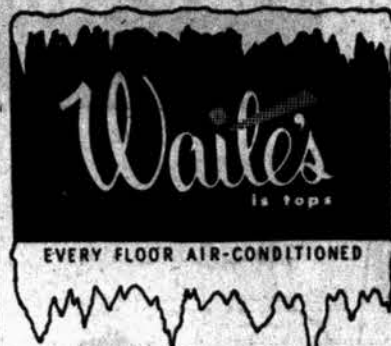

The Swiss is one of the oldest flags in Europe and was used as early as 1339.

What Kind of Game?

IBERAL, Kan. (AP) — An amateur baseball game between Liberal and Garden City was interrupted twice by a dog chasing a rabbit across the infield. The second time, spectators noted that it was the same dog but apparently a different rabbit.

"Life With Father" ran for more than 3,200 performances on Broadway setting a record up to that time. "Tobacco Road" was second with about 3,150 performances.

Annual Meeting, Hunting Are Issues in Waterford

If Waterford Township residents want to continue having an annual township meeting, they will vote NO on the proposition at the Primary election Tuesday.

The ballot states, "Shall the Annual Township Meeting for the township of Waterford, be abolished?"

The annual meeting is the only one in which township residents may make motions from the floor first presenting the matter to the township board.

If residents want no more hunting with high powered rifles in Waterford Township, they must vote YES in order for the referendum to become law.

This proposition reads: "Shall Act No. 10 of the Local Acts of 1957, entitled 'an act to prevent hunting with firearms in the township of Waterford, County of Oakland, except state-owned lands under the jurisdiction of the Department of Conservation; to authorize the arrest of any person or persons so offending and to prescribe the penalty therefor; and to provide a referendum thereon, be approved and take effect.'"

Clerk James Seeterlin has asked that individuals take time to read the propositions thoroughly before making their final decisions on these two vitally important propositions.

'Bird Watching' on Lebanon-Syrian BorderU.N. Observers Face Bullets, Mines - Village Feasts

By TOM A. CULLEN
ON THE LEBANESE-SYRIAN BORDER (NEA) — "Observing" for the United Nations along the Lebanese-Syrian border is a form of bird-watching in which the bird gets all the breaks.

The international team that was sent here to check on reports of arms and men infiltrating Lebanon from Syria can neither stop, search nor question suspects. It merely observes — and at a safe distance.

Usually, the observers get no closer to the smuggling caravans than studying tracks left by mules or spotting bonfires at night. To approach closer would be to invite a hail of bullets.

But more than snipers' bullets and land mines, the 50 observers operating in the Bekaa Valley say they fear being invited to village feasts.

The retired Swedish army colonel who heads the group turned greenish as he described to me eating raw liver and entrails, washed down with scotch whisky.

"I have developed a system, old boy," he told me, "I simply slip the bloody food into my pocket when no one is looking."

But during a day spent on patrol with the U.N. team, it became obvious that the danger of death is ever present.

Like all neutrals, the observers are everyone's sitting target. They get shot at by Loyalists, rebels, bandits and Syrian extremists — mostly for sport. The colonel insisted:

"If they really wanted to hit us, we would have been bumped off long ago."

In these ancient hills, everyone from the age of eight carries a rifle for self-defense. In one village, the observers found the dead laid out in a street, victims of a family feud.

Land mines are a constant hazard. Although the U.N. men carry detectors, one of their white-painted jeeps has been blown up. The driver was injured. Unhappily, no one — rebels or Loyalists — are certain where all the mines are.

The observers on the Bekaa teams do not pretend to cover more than half of the 240-mile stretch of border assigned to them. Their coverage consists largely of spot checks. Although two U. N. helicopters patrol at night, there are no ground patrols after dark. "We are not committing suicide, old boy," was the colonel's explanation.

Our strange caravan — the white U.N. jeep followed by my hired taxi (a deluxe Buick) — stopped at the only Loyalist army post remaining on the Syrian border. It is now guarded by a single tank — an old Sherman, courtesy of the U.S.

The Loyalist soldiers sprawled in the shade, their helmets hung on the tank turret like a cluster of coconuts. Far above in the shimmering heat glittered snow-legend says Solomon sent his slaves to fetch ice.

Nearby were the blackened ruins of the customs building that had been blown to bits, along with its occupants, at the beginning of the Lebanese revolt.

"You picked a quiet day," the observer on duty said. "Usually there is some shooting. Mostly bandits."

Pointing to a boulder-strewn slope nearby, he added:

"They get behind those rocks, and it's impossible to dislodge them. Even the soldiers pull back at night. They know better than to remain after dark."

The road running through the post is older than western civilization. Nearly 2,000 years ago, St. Paul traveled it to Damascus to spread Christianity, but today it is in the hands of the godless. In olden times, the Bedouin caravans that passed this way carried silks and silver from Damascus to the coast. Today the traffic is chiefly in rifles, Bren guns and bazookas, concealed in bags of grain. Bandits who care little for politics have been emboldened by the collapse of law and order in the area and daylight robberies are so numerous as to pass unnoticed.

In the midst of this, sits the U.N. "fire brigade" without axes, hoses or water buckets.

The observers — who include an Irishman, a Nepalese prince and an American-born Egyptian interpreter — weren't certain, but they thought their lives were insured for $20,000.

In their place, I'd check up on that insurance.

Bedtime Snacks Add Extra Pounds Fast

NEW YORK — Dietetics experts report that eating before going to sleep is one of the fastest ways of adding weight.

They point out that each person uses an average of 65 calories during each hour of sleep and that if 500 to 600 calories are consumed before bedtime, combined with the dinner intake, the excess food will eventually increase weight.

Who Can Puff Away the Longest?Pipe Smokers Preparing to Light Up

FLINT (AP)—The world's most placid contest will be held here over the weekend.

Pipe smokers from all over the United States—probably 75 to 100 of them — will stake up with a special contest blend and puff away for the 10th world championship Saturday.

The rules are simple. Light up and have at it. If it goes out after the first minute, you're out. The last man puffing is the winner.

Last year's champion, Harold R. Soden of Lake Placid, N.Y., kept going for 70 minutes 15 seconds. That's far from the best.

"Nobody ever will beat Max's record," says Paul T. Spaniola of Flint, chairman of the International Assn. of Pipe Smokers Clubs convention and a former world champion himself.

The late Max Igree of Flint puffed for 125 minutes 7 seconds when he won the championship in 1954.

"Max gained 30 or 35 minutes on everybody else because he'd almost let it go out and then at the last second he would revive it," said Spaniola.

Bob Considine Says:

World's Press to Rip Faubus' Re-Election

NEW YORK—Orval Faubus, the Arkansas Traveller, has won another term as governor of his state by beating two even sterner segregationists in the Democratic primary. He should have somewhat less trouble with his Republican opponent in November than let us say, Carmen Desapio will have with the GOP banner-bearer the next time Tammany takes a vote.

Faubus' re-election will be news through a great portion of the world. It will occasion bitter editorial comment in places the governor and many of his constituents never heard of and care less about.

The Communist press through the world, the Socialist press which many of our friends read, and the critical neutral press, as in India, will say (with varying degrees of vitriol) that Faubus' successful contempt of the U. S. Supreme Court and of President Eisenhower's use of federal troops in an effort to back up the court's integration verdict gives ample evidence that the "United States" hates and persecutes Negroes.

The heavy insinuation to the countless foreign readers will be that if the "United States" persecutes Negroes it is prepared to destroy all other peoples.

Only one other governor of Arkansas has ever won a third term, as Faubus now has. This is therefore a historical endorsement of a politician by the body politic and thus brings up a question which must deeply concern the President and his chief justice. Faubus ran and won easily on a platform which said roughly, and roughly said, "Keep your lousy federal bayonets out of our state, we'll handle things the way we want." A majority of Arkansas agreed.

How will that affect the recent successful appeal to postpone desegregation in Arkansas for another couple of years? Will the Supreme Court knock down that appeal knowing such an act would serve only to make school integration that much tougher in Georgia, Alabama and other southern states?

But what about the brave efforts in Tennessee, Maryland?

Faubus, product in part at least of a tanktown college which the Justice Department later identified as communistic, is a genuine headache to the federal government. He defied it with a bean shooter of bigotry and, as of now, has licked it and all its atomic warehouse.

Faubus has an engaging crack-barrel personality, is a handsome guy, remembers names, and hires a staff of good publicity people. He reminds one vaguely of Nasser, not so much physically but from the viewpoint of political agility.

Ever a governor in the history of the republic was ever more on the point of a complete knock-out by Washington, we don't remember his name. Nasser was on the ropes, but forever, not long ago, Faubus got hit right across the snout with the heaviest of legalistic bludgeons—the President's "cease and desist" order.

His National Guard was stripped from him as if they were the personal property of the Pentagon. Their places were taken by aggressive young paratroopers who didn't have to worry about whether the fat guy they prodded would buy gas at their Little Rock garage the next day.

The mayor of the town blasted Faubus as a kind of Fascist who somehow escaped the suicides in Hitler's bunker. His ragamuffin little Hate Bund which paraded in front of Central High School each morning, heckling the Negroes and on one or two occasions, pushing them around, was berated in the Little Rock press as well as elsewhere through the South. Little Rock's Arkansas Gazette won two Pulitzer prizes for blasting Faubus.

But the man, like Nasser, has won a clear-cut victory and the federal government has had a gauntlet flung in front of it. If it dictates that this man is a menace, what can it really do about it? It certainly cannot alter the vote of the people who feel the same way Faubus does.

Nor can the State Department, Voice of America, U. S. Information Service, and American business abroad simply look the other way when the blasts unhurl. To make a "plus" of the situation, as they say on Madison Avenue, it appears that the most constructive thing the nation can do is say to the world, "Well, that's how they felt in Arkansas, and while some or even most of us don't agree with them we must respect their right to vote as they please."

Saturday and Sunday are generally accepted as the two most dangerous days to drive in modern traffic.

Beyond Call of Duty

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U.P.)—Robert Westenberger was the right man to have around when 3-year-old Michael More fell into a septic tank overflow pit near his home. Westenberger, who quickly pulled the boy to safety, drives a city garbage truck.

Tablecloth 'Painter' Buys His Art Work

LONDON (UPI)—British actor Peter Finch up-ended a bottle of tomato catsup onto the tablecloth, and the diners in London's exclusive 500 Club raised their eyebrows.

He added a bottle of Worcester-shire sauce. The raised eyebrows turned to frowns.

Then he demanded a tin of boot polish, which the management supplied.

He was painting, and he was so impressed with his painting that he bought it.

The management agreed to let him have the tablecloth for $3.50.

Testing Men for Rockets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Test pilot Al Blackburn sits strapped in the tiny cockpit, a jaunty smile on his tanned face.

He is one of the first fliers to volunteer for a test that duplicates the same pressures he'd feel in a three-stage rocket accelerating to 18,000 m.p.h.

His cockpit is in a laboratory at the University of Southern California Medical School, in a centrifuge—a machine whose 24-foot-long arm spins the pilot fast enough to match the pressures of rocket flight.

The experiment, conducted yesterday, is to test human reaction—both mental and physical—to rocket flight pressures.

Blackburn still smiles as the machine spins slowly in a circle, then picks up speed.

The grin is strained, however, as the pressure mounts to 3 G's, which means his normal 165-pound weight is, in effect, nearly 500 pounds. The smile vanishes at 5 G's.

A camera mounted on the whirling cockpit monitors Blackburn's reactions. As the pressure increases, his shoulders are squashed backward, his lips purse and his prematurely white hair stands straight up. He has great difficulty activating testing controls.

At 8 G's—when he weighs the equivalent of 1,320 pounds—his mouth opens in a silent gasp as he struggles to breathe. He can't breathe at all in the last seconds of the 350-second flight.

Then it's over. The theoretical space ship is in orbit.

How does it feel?

"It's like an iron band squeezed around your chest," the 35-year-old North American Aviation pilot said. "You take quick breaths, then finally you can't breathe at all."

The tests are part of an Air Force project to come up with answers on what effect the pressures of space flight will have on humans.

Is Blackburn ready? "He could go into orbit tomorrow," the centrifuge staff says.

Home Now Museum

BILOXI, Miss.—Beauvoir the last home of Jefferson Davis, is now the confederate museum of the Deep South. It is on the Mississippi Gulf Coast west of Biloxi.

4 Tots Play With Pills; Girl, 2, Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Four children found some pretty pink pills yesterday and played a deadly game of doctor and patients.

Verna Ruth Fuller, 2, died quickly.

Doctors said her sister Betty, 3, and two playmates Buddy James McGarrity, 2½, and Lind McGarrity, 5, also may die.

They found the pills in a quonset hut housing project at Alameda Naval Air Station. They prescribed for each other.

Then they were stricken with dreadful cramps.

Their mothers rushed them to a dispensary.

Technicians are trying to discover what the pills were.

Detroit Man Refuses Money for Jury Duty

DETROIT (AP)—Recorder's officials say Lloyd R. Johnson, 31, is the first man they can remember who refuses to be paid for jury duty.

Johnson, who is in the plumbing and heating business, is on jury duty for 20 days. Normal pay is $8 a day, but he doesn't want it. He says: "Accepting pay which I don't need for jury duty would be like getting paid for voting."

Iraq Recognized by Iran, Pakistan

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran and Pakistan today took the lead among the Baghdad Pact allies in recognizing the new government in Iraq.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman announced the government's decision to inform the leaders of the revolt which overthrew King Faisal's government July 14 that Iran regards them as Iraq's legal rulers.

Pakistan announced it would take the same step, Britain, Turkey and the United States were heading in the same direction as the result of consultations with Pakistan and Iran at this week's Baghdad Pact meeting, which was not attended by the nationalist leaders of the Iraqi regime.

The Baghdad Pact allies' moves to re-establish friendly relations with their old partner did not stop the Soviet Union from launching a new accusation that they were "sharpening their knives" to attack Iraq. The Soviets warned they would immediately come to Iraq's aid.

The Soviet Union, Communist

China, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and Poland recognized the new government shortly after the revolt. Yesterday Moscow named one of its top diplomats as ambassador in Baghdad. He is Grigory Zlatov, chief of the Soviet Foreign Ministry's Mideast Department since 1954 and a member of the Soviet Parliament.

The new Baghdad regime also was recognized today by Japan, and yesterday by West Germany and Greece, the first North Atlantic Treaty allies to take such action. The revolutionary government already had been endorsed by President Nasser's United Arab Republic, Morocco, Tunisia, Sudan, India, Indonesia and Burma.

In Baghdad, an oil tank fire set off rumors that foreigners were out to sabotage the new regime. The government moved quickly to stop mob outcries, which included panicky shouts of "Down with imperialists."

The flames consumed a tank at the British-operated Khanagum Oil Co. They were kept from spreading to nine nearby tanks and no one was reported hurt.

4 Townships Vote on Special Proposals Tuesday

Rochester Incorporation Hotly-Contested Issue

Voters in Avon, Highland, Farmington and Milford townships and the city of Oak Park will be asked to decide special proposals on their primary election ballots Tuesday.

Most hotly contested issues are the proposed incorporation of the village of Rochester and a portion of Avon Township as a city, and the annexation and incorporation questions in Farmington.

Oak Park residents will be asked to approve a $306,000 bond issue to finance construction of an addition to the Department of Public Safety and the City Hall.

Tax increase proposals will be placed before the electorates in Highland and Milford Townships.

AVON
In addition to deciding whether Rochester and about three square miles of Avon Township will become the new city of Rochester, voters will elect a nine-man charter commission from among 12 candidates.

The commissioners would take office, however, only if the city proposal wins.

FARMINGTON
Voters in the city of Farmington and eight square miles of the southeastern section of the township will decide on a proposal to annex that area to the city.

The area proposed for annexation includes all of the land lying between Farmington and Haggerty roads, from Eight to Eleven Mile road, except those parts of section 16 and 21, voting to incorporate as the village of Quaker Town.

The city, which is near 100 per cent saturation, admittedly wants the eight square miles of the township for expansion, both residential and industrial. Its greatest selling point is the promise of water within three to six months to citizens in the "dry section" of the area.

The township which has spent considerable time and money to develop an industrial zone along the expressway is reluctant to let it go.

HIGHLAND
Highland Township residents will be asked to approve a one mill tax increase for 10 years for the purchase and maintenance of fire equipment and to pay a full-time crew of seven firemen.

The tax hike would net the township about $4,500, according to Supervisor Louis Oldenburg.

Three years ago the township paid for construction of an additional fire station on Duck Lake road near M59. So far the building has been used only as a second voting precinct for the southern end of the township, Oldenburg said.

There are 30 volunteer firemen now manning the pumper truck, tank wagon and ambulance, all at the Highland Station, he said.

MILFORD
A proposed two mill tax increase for one year to provide funds for construction of a township hall and adjoining fire station will be placed before Milford Township voters.

Supervisor Mayon Board said approval of the hike would bring the township an additional $22,500.

Annual Frolic of Businessmen Set for Aug. 20

The date and details of the annual frolic of Pontiac businessmen, this year to be staged by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, were announced today by John W. Hirlinger, chamber manager.

The date will be Wednesday, Aug. 20. The place will be the customary Pontiac Country Club, 4335 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Golf for this 22nd stag affair is scheduled for 11 a.m. A buffet will be served between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. A big array of prizes, plus entertainment, will round out the outing for all business, professional, industrial and retail members of the chamber and their friends.

Hirlinger said tickets for the affair are priced at $7.50 a person. They are available at the chamber office.

General chairman of the 1958 Frolic is William L. Treanor. Other committee chairmen are: Horace Lodge, tickets; Wayne Gabert, prizes; and Charles Perkins, golf.

ship to place the proposal on the ballot at the annual township meeting April 3.

OAK PARK
Oak Park, whose population jumped from 5,200 to about 35,000 in the past eight years, is asking its residents to approve a $306,000 bond issue to expand its crowded Public Safety Department and City Hall facilities.

Approximately $225,000 would be used for an addition to the Public Safety Department while the remainder would be spent to provide more City Hall office space.

The bond issue would not be necessary if the city were able to collect state sales tax refunds based on its present population, according to Glenford S. Leonard, director of public safety.

The 1950 census, taken when Oak Park had a population of 5,200, is the basis for present sales tax refunds. This is costing the city about a quarter of a million dollars a year revenue, Leonard said.

Oak Park's fire and police departments are combined in the Public Safety Department, with firemen and policemen performing the same duties.

Farmington Pair Face Grand Larceny Trial in Equipment Thefts

FARMINGTON — A fired Farmington policeman and a moving company operator have been charged with grand larceny in the theft of several thousands of dollars worth of farm equipment from two Farmington implement dealers.

They are Willard Vignoe, 28, who was discharged from the Farmington city police force six weeks ago for sleeping in a patrol car and drinking, and George Beard, 39, of 32340 Grand River.

Arrested and arraigned yesterday, Beard pleaded not guilty before Municipal Judge John J. Schulte Jr. Examination was set for Aug. 8.

Vignoe, who first was charged with simple larceny, waived examination on the grand larceny charge this morning and was bound over to stand trial Aug. 11 in Circuit Court. He lives at 20817 Sunnydale St., Farmington Township.

Both men have been released on bonds of $2,500. They are accused of stealing a $2,000 farm tractor from Blackett, Inc., Tractors and Implements, 29039 Grand River, and six power mowers from the Everett Implement Co., 32340 Grand River.

Hobby of Raising Flowers Pays Woman Big Dividends

By LEE WINBORN
Press Correspondent

ROCHESTER — A lifelong hobby of raising flowers now pays big dividends in enjoyment and pleasure for a Rochester woman, her family and even those who drive by their home in a car.

Mrs. Orville Dammann, "Marcia" to her friends, inherited her green thumb from her parents. When still a youngster in Bay City, she began working in the garden with her mother and planned some day to have a large plot of her own.

When she was married and moved to 1750 N. Rochester Rd. 11 years ago, Mrs. Dammann and her husband began setting out bulbs. Now two of their 10 acres are blanketed with flowers in season. In spring it's hybrid iris, in summer, gladioli, and in the fall, chrysanthemums.

Gladioli are Mrs. Dammann's particular favorites, and like many another hobbyist, she enjoys searching for choice specimens. She will travel miles for unusual bulbs to add to the countless varieties she has already.

The Dammanns attribute their success in raising flowers to two important factors. They say: "First the beds are planted in low land where the ground retains the moisture and the drainage is good. Secondly, we take proper care of the plants as they mature and blossom."

The charming Rochester woman has three expert helpers on hand to assist her whenever she needs them. Her husband uses a tiller to cultivate between the rows, and their children, Tommy, 7, and Darlene, 5, both have their own jobs to do.

"Tommy especially loves flowers," his mother said. "He has a garden of his own right next to mine which he has planted with early and late blooming gladioli."

"He and his sister carry freshly cut bouquets from the field to the house so carefully that they never break a blossom," Mrs. Dammann said proudly.

Travelers on Rochester road would recognize the Dammann home if they were reminded of the black buckboard filled with brightly colored flowers in the front yard. The wheels of the buckboard are painted a lovely, Salem yellow, and the flowers are petunias, variegated and vine geraniums, fuchsias, spikes and asparagus fern — making a most effective floral display for all who pass by to see and enjoy.

Mrs. Dammann said, "We bought the buckboard in Millington Decoration Day weekend. I spent many tedious hours painting it, but now that it is finished and filled with flowers, I feel it was well worth the effort. We're all very proud of it."

Next winter the family plans to move the buckboard indoors and put a cutter out in the yard in its place.

"We'll use it for sleigh rides for the children, and during the holidays, we'll decorate it with brightly-colored trimmings to mark the Yuletide season," Mrs. Dammann said.

Islanders Seek Parking Space

Lake Orion Council Gets Suggestion to Clear Lot on Mainland

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Village Council is studying a request for "adequate" parking facilities by residents of Bellevue, Victoria and Romance Islands.

The situation would be eased if the village would bulldoze the lot containing the ruins of the foundation of the old Chataqua Building where religious meetings were held in the early 1900's, the residents told the council.

Councilmen promised to bring the matter up at the next meeting.

Councilmen also were informed the village can have the services of 10 to 15 men, provided by the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, to work on community improvement projects.

The county would pay the men $1.50 an hour from its work relief funds, said Lloyd Anderson, department representative, who outlined the program before the council. The village would be required to provide supervision, he said.

Village Attorney Harry Slater was asked to draw up a new ordinance because of a conflict in the interpretation of the law.

Councilman William O'Brien was appointed purchasing agent for the council since the village wants to obtain federal surplus property.

The council has accepted a preliminary proposal by Walter K. Willman, Pontiac city manager, that each unit of government in the county pay for emergency services for welfare patients at Pontiac General Hospital.

Often Heralds Discovery of Murder

Auto Theft Boom Shakes Up Policemen

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The auto theft boom is giving veteran policemen the creeps.

For they know an ordinary stolen car report may actually herald the discovery of a murder.

Police and the FBI have learned that investigating an auto theft often leads to the arrest of criminals guilty of bank robbery, kidnaping, rape or homicide.

That's one reason why law enforcement authorities are alarmed over the latest crime statistics which show that the number of car thefts is skyrocketing.

The FBI reports that more than 263,700 autos were swiped in 1956, topping the 1955 figure by about 45,700. It's expected that final tabulations will reveal a new record was set last year; an estimated 144,930 thefts were reported during the first six months.

Police agree it's possible that the number of these cases will continue to increase during 1958.

But regardless of how accustomed lawmen become to hearing their police radios report a stolen car, they can never shake the ominous hunch that the theft may be connected with a more sinister crime.

For instance, in 1955, when

La Fond soon confirmed FBI suspicions that he had sold a stolen auto in El Paso, Tex. He also revealed that he and his girlfriend, Jo Ann Severson, had murdered the vehicle's owner and hid his body at Mammoth Cave.

Thus, the FBI uncovered a brutal killing while enforcing the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Vehicles Act, commonly called the Dyer Act, which makes driving a stolen car from one state to another a federal offense.

Strict enforcement of the Dyer Act also led to a first degree murder conviction for Robert Shaw Cook, an AWOL Marine, Norfolk, Va., police suspected Cook was driving a stolen car after the young service man was caught trying to break into a garage.

He finally admitted to FBI agents that he had swiped the auto in Jacksonville, Fla. When police there were notified of Cook's arrest, they wired back that the car's owner had been murdered. The Marine later admitted the killing.

Early in 1956, Roy Allen Hunter was stopped by California police for a traffic violation. A thorough check of his auto revealed that it had been stolen and the owner murdered.

At first Hunter flatly denied the murder, claiming he had bought the car from another man. Since the automobile had been swiped in Texas, the California police called in the FBI.

After two rounds of thorough grilling by federal agents, Hunter broke down and confessed everything.

These are typical of cases which end up each year in the files of law enforcement agencies throughout the country. But the close tie-in with crimes of violence is not the only reason why the FBI and police are anxious to reduce the staggering annual number of auto thefts.

Each year legitimate car dealers lose a fortune to organized and highly skilled car theft gangs. These crooks are equipped with tools to change completely the appearance of a stolen car so they can sell it to an unsuspecting used car dealer.

By the time the auto agency discovers it has a hot car, the thieves have disappeared and the dealer is out hundreds or sometimes even thousands of dollars.

Then, of course, there are the problems faced by the owners of stolen cars. Although most stolen cars are recovered, especially when they have been swiped by joy-riding juveniles, many require costly repairs.

Many owners, however, never see their autos again. The FBI estimates that within a five-year period, 73,464 stolen autos worth $72 million dollars were not found.

Costless Meter Parking Becomes a Gamble

CHICAGO — A motorist must take his chances in Ames and Iowa City, Iowa, if he tries to park free on the meter time the last driver didn't use, the International City Managers' Association reports.

Both cities have arranged their meters so that motorists can't

To be sure of not getting a parking ticket, each new parker should put in enough coins to cover the time he expects to stay, and not depend on the leftover parking time.

Dogs see only black and white, having no color perception.

Holding Other Jobs

TAIPEI, Formosa — Sixty to 90 per cent of the industrially employed people in the Far East are in handicraft and cottage industries. And most farm families depend on part-time craft work either in shops or in their own homes to supplement their farm income.

Portugal is the world's most important cork source.

Descendant of Powerful Incas

Indians of Andes Gain Hope for Future

WASHINGTON — In the high and desolate regions of the north-central Andes, millions of long neglected Indians are beginning to feel the warmth and promise of a new life.

Descendants of the once-powerful Inca civilization, these people have been for centuries among the poorest of the poor.

They chewed coca leaves to dull the pangs of ever-present hunger. Their possessions were meager, their labors prodigious in order to scratch out even bare sustenance from their resistant land. Living in remote and scattered villages, they had almost no communication with the more advanced areas of their countries.

Now, with the help of the International Labor Organization, of which the United States is a member, the Andean Indians of Bolivia, Peru and Ecuador are launched on a long-range development program. Cooperating are United Nations groups concerned with food, health and education. The three South American nations are lending a hand.

The Altiplano reaches breathless heights of 11,000 to 16,000 feet. In places its rocky, treeless plains, framed by distant snow-topped mountains, are as forbidding as landscapes on the moon. Piercing winds blow constantly; droughts and rainy-season hailstorms are frequent.

MAN AGAINST NATURE

The inhabitants of this inhospitable land are mostly herdsmen and small farmers, raising what few crops they can in the thin and scanty soil. Their diet has long been substandard—a little meat or fish, hardy cereals, stunted corn, and potatoes often no bigger than marbles.

To meet the Indians' pressing problems, the Andean program has two major goals: To resettle certain communities in lower, more fertile areas, and improve living and working conditions for those left behind.

In the highlands, half a dozen economic and social projects are going on, especially around big Lake Titicaca. New food crops have been introduced and trees planted to halt erosion. Model homes, schools, and community centers have been built. Leadership courses and training in regional crafts are offered.

Two Canals Will Cost Argentina $100 Million

BUENOS AIRES — The Argentine Government has called for bids for two huge, navigable canals, estimated to cost a total of $100,000,000.

One, paralleling the Bermejo River, will extend from the Oran oil fields in Salta Province to the Parana River port of Barranqueras, a distance of 450 miles. The second canal, 600 miles long, will er near the city of Santa Fe.

Con Men Thrive on Gullible Gals

Sharpie Salesmen Net Hundreds in Cash Paid for Unseen Goods

(This is one in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Retailers Assn. in an effort to better educate the buying public of Michigan in improving their buying habits. The Pontiac Press is cooperating with MRA by bringing this series to you.)

"What's your name?" the man at the door asked the housewife. She told him. "You've won a new television set," he joyously announced. Oh yes, there was a little matter of tax on the set—just a mere $5.85, which must be paid before delivery can be made. She paid it. But the set hasn't arrived yet, and it never will.

This is a typical case of the confidence man in operation. It's the time of the year when these unsavory individuals declare an open war on gullible citizens who will be swindled or duped out of thousands of dollars. The average citizen is the primary target of confidence men, and should be especially cautious in dealing with strangers.

This is the gimmick season with "sharpie" salesmen making door-to-door canvasses seeking to extract money from victims through misrepresentations. Surveys with a "polling fee" to make the results official are a favorite gimmick. There will be those who represent themselves as chimney or furnace inspectors for local governments. Of course, there are no such inspectors, but unsuspecting homeowners will be gypped out of hundreds of dollars in repairs, and most of the repair work was never necessary to begin with.

C.O.D. RACKET

Hundreds will be collected in advance as partial or down payments on goods that will never be delivered. One of the favorites is the "C.O.D." technique. A package will be delivered requiring a C.O.D. payment, and the average citizen will pay without question, only later will find that the package contains worthless junk. Magazine and book club subscriptions are more popular gimmicks used to rob victims of their hard-earned dollars.

These examples, however, should not be taken as a reflection upon the legitimate salesmen, since they outnumber the confidence solicitor 100 to 1. When a questionable salesman comes to your door, call the local chamber of commerce, or police department to see if he has registered with them.

The best practice for citizens is to trade with established and reputable local concerns and their representatives. This habit may keep you from becoming another listing in the "sucker book" of crooked individuals and firms.

Plastic Coating Wood Can Prevent Rotting

NEW YORK — Tests indicate that plastic-coated wood will not decay under any moisture conditions. The researchers explain that plastic sterilizes the wood surface and keeps out decay fungi, the Society of the Plastic Industry report. Kiln drying before application of the plastic coating sterilizes the interior of the wood.

Horse Opera Hoofbeats to Fill U.S. Homes

NEW YORK (AP)—A friend of mine had a strange experience the other night.

"I watched television for two hours," he said, "and didn't see a single horse."

This may mark a historic moment in the video industry. For come the falling of leaves this autumn, such an experience may be next to impossible.

The hoofbeats of the horse opera will echo in the nation's living rooms as never before.

Two years ago there were only 11 Western series on the major networks, last year 16. But the season upcoming will have nearly two dozen—that is, if Hollywood doesn't run out of horses and and blank cartridges.

Does the sight of a galloping nag now give you a kind of queasy seasick feeling. Well, there's only one way out. You turn off your TV set and turn on your radio. Then you won't have to watch a Western program — you'll just have to listen to it.

Whether Westerns are really as popular with the people as producers and sponsors seem to think is open to argument. But there is no question they have had a tremendous impact on our current culture.

CAA Restricts Civilian Fliers

Planes Barred From Midwest Areas During Military Operations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civilian fliers will be barred or restricted from flying over parts of six Midwest states at certain times in the next three months.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, which issued the order, declined today to elaborate and referred queries to the Defense Department. There was no immediate comment there.

However, it was learned that civil agencies are cooperating in curtailing civil air operations during part of a military exercise.

The period of restricted flying will occur from 1 to 4 a.m. on about 25 days in August, September and October.

The area involved includes Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

The days on which the civil flights are to be limited will not be made known for any considerable time in advance.

The Air Transport Assn., representing the airlines, and the aircraft owners and pilots Assn., composed of private operators, were notified that no visual flights would be permitted during the specified times.

This would mean that only aircraft operating by instruments would be allowed to enter or leave the areas where the ban applies. Furthermore, even operations under instrument flight rules will be suspended when they may interfere with the military operations.

The CAA said it hoped to accomplish the shutdown on flying with a minimum of inconvenience to the airlines. Airlines operating near the areas involved will be directed on courses around the closed localities.

Westerns each year than was required to buy all of Alaska in 1867. Many a small girl now not only wants a toy gun as well as a doll. She also insists that her doll have a gun, too.

Many of us now feel more familiar with the streets of such old Western towns of Tombstone and Dodge City than we are with the streets of our own city. Many of us feel we know Wyatt Earp and Billy the Kid better than we do our next door neighbor.

The cult of the cowboy and the gunman, like the cult of bosom-worship in America, sometimes seems to have gone beyond the boundaries of pure entertainment and to have approached the proportions of a national neurosis.

One veteran program chief gives this as the reason behind the epidemic of Westerns: "TV is an escape medium. The best kind of escape is one in which you are shocked and threatened—but not in a way that really could happen to you."

"That's why Westerns succeed. You enjoy the tense feeling of watching someone walk down a street in Dodge City in 1870 to face a gunman. But one reason you enjoy it is that, basically, you know you won't have to do it yourself."

"Modern plays about the loneliness and despair every man must face in living may be great art, but they are too real. Sponsors don't like them because they scare you out of your house and into the nearest bar."

This estimate of the situation is probably true. Watching Westerns is for many of us — like the ostrich's fabled custom of sticking its head in the sand—a way to keep from thinking about our own lives and problems. Problems we can understand, such as the need for meeting a mortgage payment; problems we can't understand, such as what to do in the Middle East.

Back of it all may be the wild hope that someday, somehow, Marshal Dillon or Wyatt Earp will get Nikita Khrushchev in their gunights and end all our worries. Meanwhile, back at the ranch—seen any interesting new horses lately?

Unusual Headstone Recalls Tame Fish

BLOCKLEY, England—One of the most unusual headstones in England is in a cottage garden at Blockley in Gloucestershire. It is a memorial to a fish. The epitaph reads:

"Under the soil the old fish do lie,
Twenty years he lived and then did die.
He was so tame, you understand,
He would come and eat out of our hand.
Died April the 30th, 1855,
Aged 20 years."

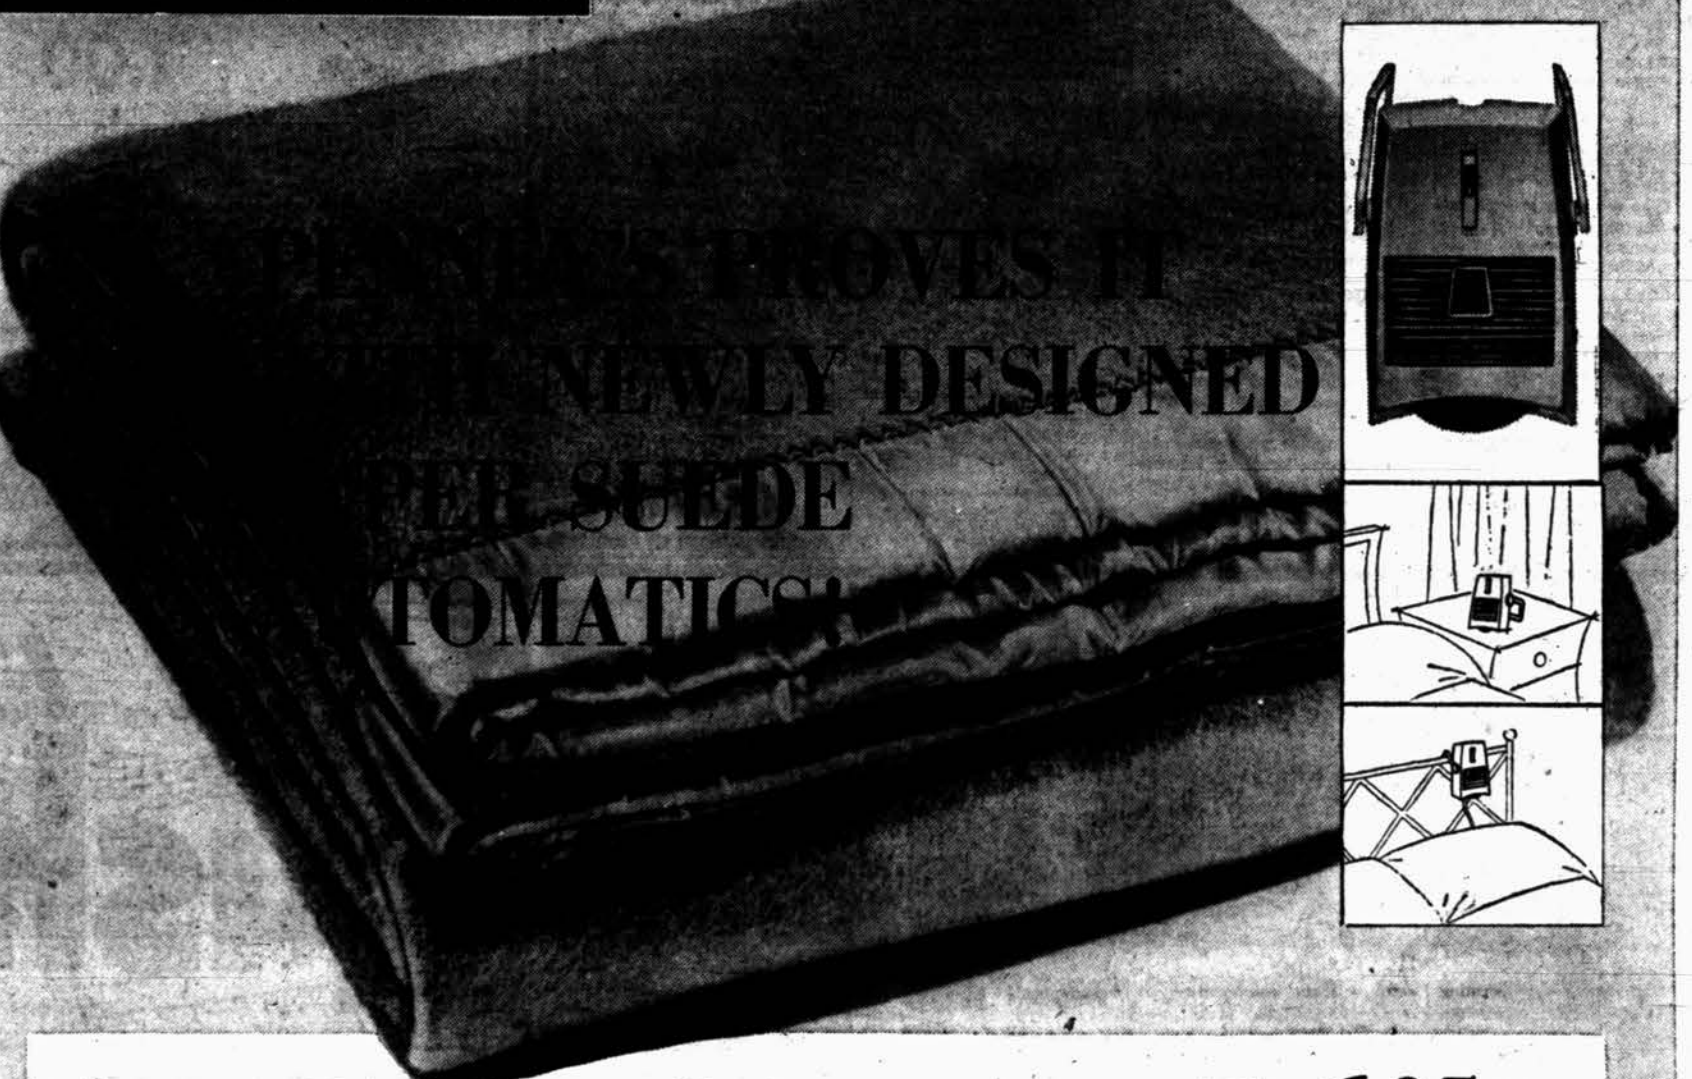

During a year's time trucks haul an average of 70 tons of freight for every person in the U. S., or about an average of 240 tons per family, based on current transport statistics.

Moons Carry on Tradition

Many Explorers Probe Mysteries Above Earth

WASHINGTON — The Army's earth-circling Explorers, in purpose and in name, carry on a dazzling tradition of conquering the high unknown.

The name of the first American satellite, launched by rocket from Cape Canaveral, Florida, was chosen by President Eisenhower from a list of suggestions submitted by the Army.

His selection was fitting. The satellite's historic antecedents—in name—were high-altitude research craft associated with the United States military.

In the mid-1930s, the Army Air Corps and the National Geographic Society joined forces to send instruments and observers to the top of the earth's atmosphere.

Explorer I, a huge balloon inflated with hydrogen, rose above the Black Hills of South Dakota on July 28, 1934, with Captain Albert W. Stevens, Captain Orvil A. Kepner. The vehicle reached 60,613 feet before a sudden rip brought it down.

On Armistice Day, 1935, Explorer II lifted gently from the Strato-bowl near Rapid City, South Dakota. Cramped in a gondola beneath the biggest balloon ever built, Stevens and Anderson soared to a record-shattering height of 72,395 feet.

For an hour and 40 minutes they dangled more than 13 miles above the earth — higher than man had ever risen before.

Millions of Americans huddled about radios, listening to the faint voices of the two men, just as present-day observers have maintained an alert for radio signals of the Russian and American satellites.

Explorer II carried a ton of scientific instruments and brought back unparalleled data. It added to knowledge of cosmic rays; of ozone in the upper air; of light, chemical, and electrical conditions there; of living spores above 70,000 feet; and of radio transmission from extremely high altitudes.

General H. H. Arnold wrote, before his death in 1950, that the flight "bore fruit in World War II far in advance of what was imagined to be the results at the time."

Explorer II's altitude record for manned balloons remained unbroken for 21 years. In 1956 and 1957, airmen went higher in both balloons and rocket planes.

Another namesake, Explorer III, is destined for another daring experiment but is still untied. Two Air Force parachutists plan to take the new balloon 90,000 feet or higher and jump—to test the survival of flyers forced to eject from rocket planes.

Curiously, the name Explorer seems to belong exclusively to the space age. In centuries gone by, famous ships of exploration have borne brave names — Endeavour, Resolution, Adventurer, Discovery, Challenger and Investigator. But history shows no major Explorers other than the instrument-packed craft that have soared into the sky's frontier.

She Rescues Boy From Refrigerator

PORT HURON (AP)—A four-year-old boy was rescued from an abandoned refrigerator by a woman who heard his muffled screams for help.

Mrs. Hugh W. Deacons was walking along the street when she thought she heard a scream. She stopped and listened but didn't hear it again.

"When I reached the curb at the cross street, I just couldn't go any further," she said. "I turned around and hurried back to where I thought I heard the scream."

She opened the door and pulled out Ricky Rucker who was near suffocation.

Like Looking Through Window With Shades Drawn

Summit Parley Still Facing Big Hurdles

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trying to guess what kind of summit meeting to expect—if any—is like trying to look through a window with the shade down, the shutters closed and the glass painted black.

This writer, after watching the big powers' maneuvering—won't believe there'll be a meeting until it actually starts. But, if it does, this is the basic question:

Is it going to be a real summit meeting or will it be turned into a kind of town meeting of the world with everyone and his grandmother getting up to speak his piece?

Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants India—besides the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France—to sit in on the summit meeting. And, since the meeting will be on the Middle East, he wants the Arab states to get a chance to talk.

But if the Arabs are heard, the Jews of Israel, sitting right in the center of the Arab world, will have a right to speak. Turkey, Iran and Pakistan, all linked in with the Middle East, no doubt will want to be heard too.

And so may others. All that takes time. So just how much time will the big powers have to discuss the problem which prompted the meeting?

None of that is clear or predictable now and won't be for some time.

Khrushchev isn't choosy about where the meeting is held. But President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan say it should take place within the United Nations Security Council.

That Council is made up of 11 nations, including the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union. If the heads of those four governments sit down in the place of their regular delegates, the heads of the remaining seven nations may want to do the same. As members of the Council, they'd all have a right to talk.

Eisenhower wants the 11 nations' delegates now on the Council to make the arrangements for a summit meeting in the Council. This, presumably, would include agreement on what nations should be heard and for how long.

But the delegates on the Council haven't yet started discussing such arrangements. And since the Soviet Union and the Western powers have so much trouble agreeing on anything, it's difficult to see how they'd quickly agree on summit arrangements.

The Eisenhower administration takes the position that the big

City Adds New Building Every Eight Minutes

SAO PAULO, Brazil — When it comes to fast-growing cities, Sao Paulo is right at the top of the list. In the 1870's it was a sleepy town with a population of 25,000.

Now it is well over 3,000,000 and at the present rate of growth will reach 8,000,000 by 1975. This capital of Brazil's richest agricultural state is putting up a new building every 8 minutes. For the past 15 years it has grown annually by 5.2 per cent.

powers shouldn't try by themselves to work out decisions that would be rammed down the throats of smaller nations.

Yet no stability in the Middle East—in the sense of guaranteeing frontiers, agreement against outside attack and so on—can be assured at all unless the big powers do agree on what to do.

Even if they meet within the framework of the United Nations, the U. N. itself will be powerless to assure stability in the Middle East unless the big powers agree on how to do it.

Meanwhile, French Premier de Gaulle frowns on meeting either in New York or within the United Nations and has expressed fear that unless the meeting is limited to the big powers the whole thing will turn into a donnybrook.

Time may show he was a lot more realistic than Eisenhower, Macmillan or Khrushchev. But as of now none of the questions raised here has been answered. Everything is still in the guessing stage after almost three weeks of letter writing.

Trolleys Crash in New Jersey

35 Injured in Newark in Accident During Evening Rush

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Authorities are investigating the crash of two trolleys packed with home-bound commuters.

The rear-end collision yesterday injured 35 persons, none seriously, and set off a near-panic. Four of the injured required hospitalization.

The accident occurred at a blind curve where the trolleys leave a tunnel under the business district and come out into the open.

One of the trolleys stalled when its overhead pole became unfixed. The motorman, Walter L. Miller, 38, jumped out to refasten it.

Time was important. The trolleys run at 90-second intervals. Miller was still working on the pole when he heard a second car coming.

"Hold it! Watch out!" he cried, then jumped clear just as the second trolley rammed into the first. The impact threw standees in the two jammed cars to the floor. Those who had seats were violently hurled forward.

"People were screaming and shouting," said one woman passenger. She credited the motorman of the second car, Frank Moyle, 57, with calming the passengers.

Film Producer Found Guilty of Tax Fraud

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Hollywood film producer Robert C. Sherwood has been found guilty of income tax evasion. The federal government said he filed a return on $700 income in 1951 but bought a house and auto worth a total of $23,000.

Sherwood, who was convicted yesterday, maintained the money for the house and car were savings he put aside after producing a film starring Ingrid Bergman in 1947-48.

Maximum penalty for the offense is five years in prison and $10,000 fine. He will be sentenced Aug. 27.

Lion on Prowl Flees Children on City Street

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—An escaped lion met a group of children playing in the street last night, and who got scared? The lion.

The 350-pound beast jumped through an open window into the house of his owner, animal trainer Merrill W. Heuer, who exhibits him at carnivals and fairs. Heuer, sensibly, jumped out another window.

For more than two hours the lion tore around inside the house, ripping furniture, clawing draperies and emitting blood-chilling roars. Heuer finally lured him into a makeshift cage with a chunk of meat.

Heuer keeps the 7-year-old lion in a cage on his property near Malibu. He said he didn't know how the animal got out.

Area One of World's Largest Producers

Oil and Its Control Basis of Middle East Crisis

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Writer
Oil and who will control it is the basis of the crisis in the Middle East.

The area is one of the world's biggest oil producers; it has most of the world's known reserves; Western European wheels turn on oil from the Middle East.

Here are the basic facts of economic life in Mideast oil — and why the area has assumed staggering importance in the Cold War struggle between East and West:

Discovery

Strangely, oil was discovered in the Middle East not in one of today's big producing countries but near the Egyptian village of Gema on the Red Sea coast in 1869.

The Gema area never became a major oil producer but the discovery called attention to the many oil seepages that had been noted in what was then the Ottoman and Persian Empires, one of the world's backwash areas.

The first strike of major importance came nearly 40 years later — at 4 a.m., May 26, 1908, to be exact — at Masjid-i Sulaiman in the backcountry of Iraq.

Since then, the once-sleeping Middle East has never been quite the same.

Production

Last April, the Middle East produced oil at the rate of more than four million barrels a day, more than any other area in the world except the United States (six million plus barrels a day).

The biggest Middle East producer is Saudi Arabia, the sheikdom at Kuwait at the head of the Persian Gulf. Its 5,800 square miles accounted for 1,398,000 barrels a day in April.

Behind Kuwait as oil producers are Saudi Arabia, 928,000 barrels a day; Iran, 843,000; Iraq, 638,000; Qatar, 187,000; the Kuwait-Saudi Neutral Zone, 70,000; and Bahrain, 40,000.

There are also producing wells in Egypt, Israel and Turkey but they play only a small role in the economies of those countries.

Reserves

It is estimated that the Middle East holds nearly two-thirds of the world's known oil reserves — 169 billion barrels compared to 95 billion for the rest of the world. Since the world uses about 15 1/2 million barrels of oil a day, the Middle East alone could fill its present rate of needs for about 30 years even if all other wells stopped producing and no new discoveries were made.

Tiny Kuwait also leads in known reserves with 60 billion barrels. Saudi Arabia has 45 billion; Iran, 32 billion; Iraq, 25 billion; the Kuwait-Saudi Neutral Zone, 5 billion; Qatar, nearly 2 billion; and Bahrain, 200 million.

Concessions

The actual production of Middle East oil is carried out by American, British, Dutch and French oil companies, acting individually or in concert, under concessions from the governments.

The big Arabian American Oil Co. (Aramco), operated by four United States companies, holds the concession to about half of Saudi Arabia. The concession expires in 1980.

The Americans and British jointly operate the Kuwait concession; Americans are alone in Bahrain and in the Neutral Zone; and the British are sole proprietors on the Khanaqin area of Iraq.

The rest of Iraq and the Persian Gulf area of Iran are under concession to companies owned jointly by American, British, Dutch and French interests.

Markets

The oil-hungry machinery of Western Europe takes about 60 per cent of the oil exported by Middle Eastern countries. Africa and the Far East get about 25 per cent; the Americas 13 per cent; and other areas 2 per cent.

The importance of Middle East oil to Western Europe cannot be exaggerated.

Transportation

When the Suez War of 1956 virtually cut the supply lines from the Middle East, it was only two weeks before the British slashed supplies to consumers by 10 per cent.

By Way of the Suez Canal

About 30 per cent flows through pipelines to Mediterranean ports and the rest finds other sea routes.

The market routes are what give strategic importance to those Middle East nations that are barren of oil.

Egypt controls the Suez Canal and the pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia across Jordan, Syria and Lebanon en route to the Mediterranean ports.

More Physics Courses Offered in High Schools

WASHINGTON — A study by the Office of Education reveals that the percentage of public high schools in the nation offering courses in chemistry or physics to 12th-grade pupils increased from 17 per cent in 1954 to 29 per cent last year.

Schools offering plane geometry courses to 10th graders rose from 78 per cent to 81 per cent.

Lack of water and navigable rivers are major problems in Iran,

Legislators Kept Busy

CHICAGO — According to the Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law, the legislatures of all the 48 states except Kentucky and Virginia met in 59 regular and special sessions during 1957 and made thousands of changes in State tax laws.

The cornea of a cat's eye has a curved area two-thirds greater than a man's cornea, and for this reason a cat can see farther from side to side than the average adult man.

Chemist's Son Killed by Blast in Toy Car

TEANECK, N.J. (AP)—Merrill Pollakoff and his friends devised a tiny homemade rocket that would make little cars whiz around the room.

Merrill, 11, whose father is chief chemist for a local firm, was playing at the home of Michael Talsky, 14, with Michael and two others.

As usual, they had filled a two-inch carbon dioxide cartridge with saltpeter, sulphur and charcoal. But the match somehow blocked the opening and when the fuse was lit, the cartridge exploded, police said.

Merrill was hurled seven feet. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The other boys were unhurt.

A modern family of four persons requires about 3,212 gallons of petroleum a year directly and indirectly in the manufacture of personal goods.

Girls in France Rush to Marry Dead Soldiers

PARIS — Hundreds of marriages are being arranged in France between French girls and dead men. The "grooms" are servicemen killed in action in the North African campaigns during the last six years. Under a new law, civil marriages may be held between girls in France and soldiers outside the country.

And the law stipulates that a posthumous marriage is possible if the girl can produce formal written proof of her deceased fiancé's desire to wed.

Many would-be brides, some with children, are bringing out treasured love-letters to help them become brides and widows, at the same time.

Two Gagsters Rating Jokes as Public Service

NEW YORK—These are times when the world is in need of more belly laughs . . . to wear down the ulcers.

The easiest way to get a laugh is to fall and break a leg. This gives your audience a healthy, hearty feeling of well-being.

The next simplest way is tell an off-color story. This assures the ladies giggling from their nerve ends, and the men guffawing to demonstrate their sophistication.

By all odds the hardest way to get a laugh is to tell a clean, wholesome joke. There are so few of them that a week after they're dreamed up in Seattle, they've passed over Newfoundland for the third time.

"For this reason—the scarcity of new jokes—people have developed a tremendous insecurity feeling about telling them," report a couple of professional gagsters named Martin and Roberts.

"To tell a joke successfully, of course, a person must be certain of its humor potential. A joke must be told with confidence. Now, how does one acquire confidence about it?"

Artie Roberts and Barney Martin have contrived a solution.

They have formed a "joke rating service," which is hereby offered free to after dinner speakers, Rotarians, salesmen, bartenders and would-be lifes-of-the-parties everywhere.

The "raters," who offer this purely as a public service, make their money as "warm up" comedians on the Jan Murray and Steve Allen TV shows. In their professional careers, long standing, they have come across the best and worst in old and current gags.

They believe that they can predict, fairly accurately, the response to any joke they receive—whether it's been plucked from Jack Benny's 1937 file, or concocted last Thursday by your five-year-old nephew.

Jokes are rated from 00 to 100. Some typical examples follow:

"I just met a girl who can swim, ski, play tennis and baseball. Now if I can learn to cook—we'll get married." (Rating: 60.)

"Take my advice—don't marry for money—you can borrow it cheaper." (Rating: 70.)

"Now I know what they mean by Washington, D. C.—Washington demands cash." (45.)

"I just flew in from Hollywood—are my arms tired." (12.)

Martin and Roberts, who may be found rolling in the files at 330 S. 57th St., New York, suggest that jokes receiving a rating of less than 25 be told only to imbeciles and heavy martini drinkers.

From 25 to 50, it can get laughs from persons on a Purple People Eater level.

From 50 to 75, a joke is good enough for television and untraveled college graduates.

And any joke returned to you with a rating over 75 will no doubt have been handled about New York for several days.

"One reason we're conducting this public service," the joke raters concede, "is we need some new routines ourselves."

Ike Pressured by Defense Bill

Senate Approves More Funds for Military Than President Requests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate approval of a 40 billion dollar defense money bill put President Eisenhower under pressure today to increase his planned military spending.

The Senate last night gave its unanimous approval to a record $40,032,746,000 peacetime defense money bill carrying $1,245,776,000 more than the President requested.

The extra funds were designed to head off scheduled military manpower cuts and to beef up the nation's fleets of hydrogen bombers and Polaris missile-firing submarines.

The unanimous 71-0 approval of the measure sent the bill to a Senate-House conference committee. That group will decide just how much additional defense money will be voted to the President. The House approved a $38,469,561,000 bill.

The House initiated the move to forestall projected cuts in ground force strength by voting funds to continue the Army, Marines, Army Reserves and National Guard at their present levels.

But the Senate tried to supply a clincher last night by writing in the provision for minimum permissible strength.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy had told the Senate Appropriations subcommittee that he would not necessarily spend additional funds which Congress might vote for the nation's defenses if the Administration did not believe the spending would be wise.

Vote on Goldfine Delayed Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee discussed possible contempt of Congress action against Bernard Goldfine for about an hour today but recessed without taking action.

Indications were the committee would vote late today on the question of citing the Boston textile-realtor estate man for his refusal to answer some two dozen questions put to him by an investigating subcommittee.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) told newsmen when the committee recessed that little disagreement was expressed. He added that members want to be informed, there are a lot of questions, and as you know it is a long (hearing) record.

Huge Tropical Toad Invades Miami Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An aggressive, outsize toad newly found in Miami has been identified as a poisonous tropical variety native to South America and the West Indies.

Dr. E. Martin Miller, University of Miami zoologist, said it's Bufo Marinus which secretes a whitish, poisonous fluid from glands behind its head. The toad Miller examined was killed after it had jumped at Mrs. Gretha Wallace in her yard.

Mrs. Connie Silkey reported her Dalmatian dog died 15 minutes after shaking off a toad that had clamped its jaws on his head. The poisonous reptile is warty, yellow-brown and about five times as large as an average bullfrog.

Williams Says Things May Pop in Africa

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, returning from a visit to Liberia and Ghana, said today "things are getting ready to pop in Africa."

In an interview at Idlewild Airport, the governor said Liberia and Ghana are friendly to the United States and are making democratic progress "but you don't have to be an African expert, which I am not, to see that things are getting ready to pop in Africa and that the United States has neither a workable, comprehensive all-African policy nor a particularly effective policy for Liberia and Ghana."

"Africa is more than restless with the desire for self-rule," he said, "but this legitimate ambition can be distorted into ugly results by over-exuberance or by rampant 'Nasserism' and/or latent Communist subversion."

Williams was a guest at the 11th anniversary celebration of Liberia's independence. He was accompanied by his wife Nancy and two daughters, Nancy, 15, and Wendy, 13. A son, G. Mennen Jr., 17, remained abroad.

Haiti May Ask U.S. to Probe Uprising

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The Haitian government may ask Washington to investigate the unsuccessful attempt to overthrow President Francois Duvalier launched from Miami.

Four Americans and three exiled Haitian officers were killed Tuesday when their plot failed in

Milford Zoning Issues Tonight

Use of Land for Gravel Pit, Commercial Request Up for Action

The Milford Township Zoning Board and the Milford Village Council each will hold special meetings at 8 tonight.

Final action has been promised by the Zoning Board on a petition by the American Aggregates Gravel Co. of Detroit for rezoning of a one square mile plat, from residential to agricultural use.

The firm wants to use the site, located on Hickory Ridge and West Commerce roads, for a gravel pit.

The change was protested by about 300 residents at an all-day public meeting on July 19. They said the pit operation would deface the landscape, create a traffic hazard, and that the gravel trucks would fear up roads.

The Village Council will consider a request by James Robbins, owner of Robbins Corp., a plastics firm for rezoning of a triangular section of land between North Milford road and Main street, from residential to commercial.

Robbins, who said he can sell the site if the change is made, has offered to donate sufficient land on North Milford road to increase its width from 20 to 66 feet.

He recently purchased the old Ford carburetor plant property.

Waterford Man Found Dead in His Automobile

Anthony P. Matakas, 44, of 5217 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, was found dead in his car at 8 p.m. yesterday by one of his employees, Warren Shepherd, of 290 State St., Pontiac.

Matakas, a wholesale ice cream dealer, had been despondent, according to his wife. He died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

fighting that took seven other lives. Port-au-Prince was calm yesterday and the government said it had completely restored peace in the Caribbean republic.

U.S. Ambassador Gerald Drew said he thought it "deplorable and shocking" that Americans were involved. American diplomats expressed dismay at reports from Miami indicating the sheriff's office there had advance knowledge of the plot but did nothing to warn Haitian authorities.

Two of the slain Americans identified by Haitian police as Arthur T. Payne and Dany E. Jones, both former Miami deputy sheriffs.

Police investigators in Miami said Payne, Jones and four other former deputies had been promised $2,000 each to help political exiles overthrow Duvalier. The sheriff's office said the men either had resigned or been fired before the attempted coup.

A trailer license tentatively identified a third slain American as Robert Hickey of Miami and the fourth body bore documents with the names of Evan T. Kestenes of Buffalo, N.Y., and Joseph Walker, no address.

Haiti's U.N. Ambassador Edmond Silvain said in New York that Duvalier sent him a message saying, "There is no question but that the Communists were collaborating in this plot. We are ready to turn our evidence over to the proper American officials."

Haitian officials also charged the plot was inspired by former President Paul Magloire and former Sen. Louis Deloie, who lost last year's presidential election to Duvalier. Both men denied this in New York.

Tax Bureau Takes Big Chunk of Estate

DETROIT (UPI) — The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has gotten $717,972 of the estimated $1,200,000 estate left by the late Edward N. Barnard of Detroit and Grand Rapids.

Probate Judge Joseph A. Murphy ordered payment of the money yesterday and the Detroit attorney and former Republican state chairman's brother, Bertram, paid the giant bill immediately. Bertram is executor of the estate.

The payment was for back taxes, interest and penalties owed by Barnard for the years 1945 through 1956. Barnard died at 72 here last Oct. 10.

U.S. Workers Skeptical of French Venture

Help to Build Oil Empire

By ANDREW BOROWICK
HASSI MESSAOUD, Algeria, (AP)—A score of veteran American oilmen are helping build an oil empire in the Sahara sands with little faith in the success of the venture.

"We were brought here to teach Frenchmen the oil business but no one listens to us," is a standard complaint of American oilmen here.

All complain of a bitter anti-American feeling throughout this oil site where 3,000 men work in the middle of the Sahara to reach France's dream of becoming an oil nation.

"They act as if we were here to take over their oil," said a tool pusher from Los Angeles who asked that his name not be used.

"All I can say is they can have it. The way they run things here, there won't be anything left here in a year but sand and abandoned derricks."

Many Americans working here believe that the potentialities of the Hassi Messaoud field have been exaggerated for political purposes. But derrick supervisor Paul R. Downs, of Bakersfield, Calif., says "It's an oil field that can produce."

There is a lot of bitterness toward the U. S. oilmen among young French engineers and technicians, many of whom fear that their lack of experience is too obvious alongside veterans from Texas and California.

"They (Americans) act as if they were supermen," complained one Frenchman. "They can't believe anybody can do anything better than they."

"The French are jealous of our skill and our experience," said an American technician. "After all, we've been in the oil business for 100 years and they only five. And they refuse to understand this."

In the camp's air-conditioned dining room the French eat in one group, the Americans in another and a group of Moslems by themselves in the corner.

Rush-Weaving Craft Reviving in Britain

DEBENHAM, England—The art of rush weaving had nearly died out in England when R. G. Pinney founded the Deben Rush Weavers some years ago in the little Suffolk town of Debenham. Today this ancient craft is proving increasingly successful and popular.

Before carpets were invented, the floors of both peasant home and palace were strewn with bulrushes, sometimes mixed with sweet herbs to give rooms a pleasant scent. The expression, "not worth a straw," dates back to the days of rush floor coverings. Distinguished guests always had clean, fresh rushes to walk on, but those of inferior rank had old rushes or none at all; they weren't worth a rush, or straw.

West Germany, with a population of about 50 million, is about the same area as Illinois and Indiana combined, according to post-war figures and based on territorial limits.

Wildcat Strike Ends at Cadillac

4,600 GM Workers Heed Orders of UAW to Return on Jobs

DETROIT (AP)—A wildcat strike at two Detroit Cadillac plants came to a quick end today as 4,600 General Motors employees reported to work.

United Auto Workers Union members heeded orders of Vice President Leonard Woodcock, director of the union's GM department, to resume production at Fisher Body's Fleetwood plant and a Cadillac assembly plant. They walked out yesterday.

Woodcock told 15 officers of striking UAW Local 15 the UAW would discuss local grievances today with General Motors.

The UAW has banned local work stoppages during contract negotiations at GM, Ford and Chrysler. A decision will be made later this summer by top union leadership on possible strike action to support new contract demands.

Yesterday's walkout—first at a GM plant in the Detroit area since old contracts expired May 29—involved a dispute over which workers would remain on the payroll during a shutdown for change-over to 1959 models.

General Motors said 52 employees at Fisher Body's Fleetwood plant walked off their jobs yesterday in a dispute over seniority, resulting in 1,600 workers at the plant and 3,000 at the Cadillac assembly plant being sent home.

The union filed unfair labor practice charges against Chrysler with the National Labor Relations Board.

The union accused the company of discriminating against union stewards and shop committeemen during no-contract operations. The company said the charges are not true.

Power Boat Speeds Into Front of House

A 14-foot power boat sped into the front of a house at 1298 Cass Lake Rd., Waterford Township, at 1 a.m. today smashing into pieces and damaging shingles on the building.

The boat was on a trailer being towed south on Cass Lake road by Fred W. Collier, 24, of Detroit.

Collier told Waterford Township Police a car crossed the center line causing him to swerve sharply and snap the trailer hitch. The boat then went on its way alone into the house which is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Greaves.

Why Their Pies Smell

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—The Kitchen Made Pie Co. yesterday filed a $15,000 damage suit against the manufacturers of a concrete floor sealer, charging that the cement had such a "decidedly unpleasant" smell it caused pastry to decay almost as soon as it was baked.

Fanfani Ends Visit Here

Suggests Long Range Plan to Stabilize Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy is understood to favor raising a "triple umbrella" of political-economic measures over the Middle East

S-P Plans to Introduce Small Car

NEW YORK (AP)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. has announced plans to introduce a new small car this fall.

At the same time, Company President Harold E. Churchill, also reported the South Bend, Ind., auto firm has held talks with A. M. Sonnabend, president of Hotel Corp. of America, in line with plans to diversify.

Churchill described some reports being circulated about future plans of Studebaker-Packard Corp. as inaccurate.

"We have negotiated for some time with certain banks and insurance companies on a refinancing program designed to give us financial stability to compete more aggressively in the automotive market and to pursue supplementary activities in other fields."

"In line with our diversification program to supplement our automotive activities, we have had conversations with Sonnabend," he added.

Churchill said the company hopes negotiations will be completed shortly.

to end turmoil now threatening international peace.

The Italian leader is reported to have advocated such an approach in confidential talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Fanfani arranged to leave by plane today, ending his two-day visit.

Authorities said the bouncy, 5-foot-2 Premier has stressed the need of a joint program of political and economic moves to safeguard the Middle East against new explosions, including Soviet-backed subversive plotting.

He laid down no package proposal, but talked in general terms of a long-range program calling for:

1. A pledge by major nations outside the Middle East, including the Soviet Union and the United States, to avoid interference in the internal affairs of the Middle East area.

2. A formal promise by Middle East countries, including the Arab states and Israel, to avoid interference in each other's internal affairs. Hand in hand with this would go an easing of bitter radio propaganda attacks and public denunciations.

3. A multinational economic aid program, perhaps sponsored by the United Nations, which would seek to boost living standards in the region.

Eisenhower and Dulles are understood to have listened carefully to Fanfani's views but to have avoided any commitments.

Civil Rights Job Not for Zealots

Commission Leaders Seek Unbiased People to Ferret Out Facts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's two top civil rights experts have one thing in common. Both refuse to hire red-hot civil rights crusaders.

W. Wilson White, named as assistant attorney general to head the Justice Department's civil rights division, and Gordon M. Tiffany, executive director of the Civil Rights Commission, are searching for unbiased lawyers to bolster their staffs.

Both emphasize that they have no interest whatever in persons who, with a passion, have taken up the cause of Negro rights.

They are convinced that their staffs must be made up of highly qualified, open-minded, fact-finders. Champions of liberal causes just don't stand a chance.

Tiffany recently conferred with Attorney General William F. Rogers about his employment problems. One thing they agreed upon was that persons applying will be subjected to thorough FBI security checks.

Tiffany has one unswerving aim: To do a dispassionate job in ferreting out the facts on violations of Negro voting rights.

He believes the commission's work could be wrecked at the outset if one single member of his staff were questionable in any way.

Tiffany hopes to build up a working staff of about 70 members. So far, he has hired about 25.

White's confirmation to the new Justice Department post is still pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee. Rogers has criticized the congressional failure to act "reflects" on the Senate.

So far, White has 19 lawyers on his civil rights staff and plans to add 29 more.

Paris is said to have more night clubs than any other city in the world. New York City ranks second.

Boston Hospitals Pool Resources

Small Boy Awaits Rare Kidney Transplant

BOSTON (AP)—Nils-Olov Wisell is different from most boys 11-years-old. He's small—4½ feet. He's light—50 pounds. And his life hinges on a human kidney the size of your fist.

The youngster was born with only one kidney. He lost it last April when he toppled from a merry-go-round near his home in Motala, Sweden. Doctors hope to save his life in a history-making operation by transplanting a kidney from his mother.

Thus far, kidney transplants have been successful only between identical twins. All transplants between non-identical twins have been unsuccessful.

Since he was admitted to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital on July 1, 50 doctors and surgeons have been working on Nils.

More than a thousand persons—from hospitals' laboratories to laundries—are attempting to save his life. Seven hospitals have pooled their resources to help him. More than 500 persons have volunteered to donate blood.

Wayne County Taxes May Be Raised Again

DETROIT (UPI)—Wayne County taxes may go up again.

The County Board of Auditors, noting that there will be a $12,500,000 deficit by the end of this fiscal year, yesterday recommended that a proposal to increase taxes be put on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Swedish-speaking nurses care for Nils around-the-clock. His hospital expenses are met by the Hartford Foundation.

Cards and gifts pour into the hospital daily for the tousled, tawny-haired youngster, who asks his nurses morning and night "When can I go home?"

Nils' parents spend hours outside their only child's room while doctors and nurses hover over him. When he is alone they sit beside him, masked and gowned. They tell the freckle-faced lad to "be brave."

Oscar Wisell, a butcher, and his wife, Margareta, cannot speak English. The Rev. Harry Johnson of the Salvation Army's Scandinavian branch, acts as their translator.

Nils was under observation for a week, then irradiated (given deep X-ray therapy) to destroy his own bone marrow in preparation for the transplant. Irradiation was necessary because his own white cells would attack and reject the transplanted foreign organ.

Strike Votes Slated at Allis-Chalmers

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The United Auto Workers will conduct strike votes next week in 10 UAW locals representing an estimated 13,300 employees of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

The union decision followed the company's rejection Tuesday of proposals to replace the present contract, expiring Aug. 15. Allis-Chalmers produces farm and construction equipment.

In rejecting the proposal, the company said the package was worth 70 cents an hour. The union did not make an estimate. The company said the present average wage is $2.59 cents an hour.

Queen Elizabeth Leaves Sick Bed to Attend Races

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II came out of the sick room today, pale but smiling happily.

She went to the races. This was her first public outing since she fell ill with a sinus infection 23 days ago.

Thousands of persons waiting outside the palace cheered as her car left for the race course, 50 miles south of London. She smiled and waved back.

Three doctors approved the trip.

Her dress was as bright as their diagnosis. It was a cheerful blue and white summery frock.

Whose Vicuna Coat?

BOSTON (AP)—A vicuna coat is resting in the Boston post office, lost in the mails. The valuable garment bears no tag, wrapper or other clue indicating who sent it to whom. Supt. Timothy Donahue said if the proper claimant fails to appear, he will place it among strayed articles offered for sale in the next quarterly postal auction.

Tuesday Is Michigan's Day of Decision

Suspense to End in Anemic Election

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—As in a television thriller where the killer has to be caught because it's nearly time for the commercial, the suspense soon will end in Michigan's anemic primary election.

Tuesday is the day of decision.

By their secret ballots, Republican and Democrats are expected to officially nominate:

For U. S. Senator—Charles E. Potter, the Republican incumbent; and Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Democrat.

For governor—Paul D. Bagwell, East Lansing, Republican; G. Mennen Williams, Democratic incumbent seeking a sixth consecutive term.

For lieutenant governor—State Rep. Donald A. Brown, Royal Oak, Republican; State Sen. John B. Swainson, Plymouth, Democrat.

The Republican candidates are unopposed, and their choice is mathematically certain.

Williams, Hart and Swainson, all with regular Democratic support, are opposed by a nav-erick slate that raised its banner high on the filing date in mid-June but since has been little heard from.

William L. Johnson, Ironwood broadcaster, is the choice of the Democratic Club of Michigan, Inc., a dissident group, to unhorse Williams after a decade of free rides in primaries.

Homer Marton, one-time Baptist minister and former Detroit area union leader, challenged Hart for the Senate nomination, and Michael T. Mohardt of Detroit, is bucking Swainson for the lieutenant governor nod.

Shrugging off the challenge, Williams left July 22 on a 10-day trip to Africa. He was due back today. Some political observers would be surprised if the dissidents captured more than 10 per cent of the Democratic vote.

Lively contests for nominations to Congress, the Legislature and county offices have spiced otherwise dull campaigning in some areas, and mainly account for predictions of a fair turnout at the polls.

Robert M. Montgomery, state elections director, said he looks for casting of better than 1,000,000 ballots.

"That would be a little over 28 per cent of registrations. I can't see how it can be much less with all the district and local contests there are," Montgomery said.

In 1954, the last non-presidential year, just under 900,000 primary ballots were marked for governor. There was a four-way scrap for the Republican governor nomination then, no contest for the Democratic.

The governor vote in the 1956 primary hit 935,000. It was about 1,437,000 in 1952.

A key to the size of the vote is what happens in populous Wayne County, where the ballot will carry no Republican primary contests for local or statewide office, and few for district nominations.

Republican leaders profess concern that GOP adherents will stay at home, and Democratic chiefs that some will invade the Democratic primary to scratch for Johnson and other insurgents.

Milk Drinks Aid to Good Health

What better way to cool off than to dip in the ocean, a lake or pool? There seems to be a gravitational pull toward any body of water when the thermometer starts registering in the 90's. This is all very well and good while in the water, but it takes only a few moments in the sun to warm up again.

For a refreshing drink between dips, take along a thermos of Mocha Shake or Double Orange Swizzle... both are made with instant nonfat dry milk crystals, the modern nonfat milk in crystal form containing all the minerals, protein and B-vitamins of milk but none of its high-calorie butterfat.

Thus while enjoying a cool drink, you'll be providing your body with ingredients for that glow of good health... good teeth, strong fingernails and a clear skin without any worry about the waistline.

Mocha Shake

1 1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
2 cups ice water
4 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon instant coffee powder
2 tablespoons chocolate syrup
2 cups crushed ice

Mix instant crystals with water; stir lightly. Add sugar, coffee powder and chocolate syrup; blend. Add ice and pour into thermos bottle. Shake before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Double Orange Swizzle

1 1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
2 cups water
8-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 cup orange sherbet

Add instant nonfat dry milk crystals to water; stir lightly. Add orange juice concentrate and orange sherbet; beat until foamy. Shake vigorously before serving. Makes 4 servings.

Smoked Tongue Is Good in Salad

Next time you prepare a smoked tongue, use some of the leftovers this way.

Cook's Salad

1 quart crisp bite-size greens (such as romaine) in measuring cup
1 cup thin strips cooked smoked tongue
1/2 cup thin strips Swiss cheese
1/2 cup sliced cucumber
1/2 cup thin strips green pepper or celery
2 small shallots (minced) or 2 teaspoons minced onion
Olive oil
Wine vinegar
Garlic (if desired)
Salt, pepper

Turn the greens into a large salad bowl. Arrange the tongue, cheese, cucumber and green pepper or celery over the greens. Sprinkle with the shallot or onion. Cover tightly and refrigerate until ready to serve.

At the table make a dressing of the remaining ingredients, using them in preferred proportions; toss with salad, adding extra salt and pepper if necessary. Serve at once. If your salad bowl is large, you can push some of the greens to one side and mix the dressing right in the bowl. Makes 4 servings.

A small amount of honey, used in a vanilla cookie recipe, adds delightful flavor.

FLOWERPOT STEW — Flowerpot barbecue grills are perfect for the slow and gentle cooking required for Gypsy Lamb Stew and Rice a la Riojana. Carry the little grills inside if it rains.

Lemon Mold Is Cooling Treat

According to the experts, summer time is a good time to diet. But, you may wonder, haven't the experts ever heard of the sudden summer craving for soft drinks and cooling desserts that call for ice cream and whipped cream toppings?

Here's a delicious snack-time or dessert-time treat that adds up to as little as 12 calories per person — a boost for your figure as well as your palate.

Lemon Drift

1 package unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
2 Sugarfree tablets
A pinch of salt
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 egg white

Let gelatin stand in lemon juice five minutes to soften. Pour boiling water over gelatin mixture, and stir until dissolved. Cool, then chill in refrigerator. When almost firm, remove and beat until light and fluffy. Beat egg white until stiff, then fold into mixture. Sprinkle with a little coconut, if desired. Yields four servings.

Bargain Hunters Should Buy Cottage Cheese

If you like bargains, buy cottage cheese often, suggests the Marketing Information Agent. A half cup of cottage cheese will supply as much protein as a four-ounce serving of lean meat. If you compare the cost of a half cup of cottage cheese with a serving of most meats, you will find a wide difference.

Calorie conscious folks note with interest that a half cup of cottage cheese has about 120 calories compared with a serving of meat which averages about 250 calories. You are getting a protein bargain when you choose cottage cheese.

Cook Stew on Grills Made From Flowerpots

Now is the time for all good cooks to get out of doors and watch their grills. Samil table grills, originally inspired by the Japanese hibachi, are increasingly popular. These adaptable outdoor barbecue gadgets can be carried inside to finish the cooking if rain falls.

Actually, you can make your own table grill with flowerpots. Line each pot with foil, fill the bottom with sand, and place charcoal briquets over the sand. When the fire is burning well, place hardware cloth (firm wire mesh) on top for the grill plate. Always use a large asbestos pad under any table grill.

In Spain, much cooking is done with charcoal over units no larger than this. Slow cooking of the charcoal fire helps to give food tenderness and flavor. Meat sautéed in olive oil over very low heat can be cut with a fork. The Spanish cooks explain that olive oil has a lower boiling point and quickly sears the meat, even over low heat, preventing the meat from being greasy soaked.

Gypsy Lamb Stew

Have 2 or 3 pounds boneless lamb from shoulder cut into 1-inch cubes. Brown in 2 tablespoons light olive oil; stir in 1/2 tablespoon paprika, 2 cloves crushed garlic and a pinch of saffron. Slowly add 1 tablespoon flour; when bubbling, add 1 cup water and 1 tablespoon wine vinegar and about 1 1/2 teaspoons salt. Simmer until meat is very tender when pricked with fork. Makes about 6 servings.

Rice a la Riojana

Sauté 1 sliced onion in 2 tablespoons olive oil until tender. (To speed things up, this may be done in advance on the kitchen range.) Add 1 cup long grain rice, stir to

Luncheon Meat Tops Casserole of Applesauce

If you need to save time or stretch your food budget, you'll be delighted with this tasty casserole that combines apple sauce and canned luncheon meat.

This easy to prepare recipe is ideal for a substantial lunch or for a quick dinner after a day of work. Robust flavor is provided by the vinegar, onion, and mustard.

Apple Sauce-Luncheon Meat Casserole

2 cups canned apple sauce
2 teaspoons vinegar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup minced onion
1 can luncheon meat
Prepared mustard
1/4 cup butter
1 clove garlic
1 cup soft bread crumbs

Combine apple sauce, vinegar, brown sugar, and minced onion. Place in shallow casserole. Slice luncheon meat and spread lightly with prepared mustard. Arrange meat slices in overlapping rows on apple sauce mixture.

Melt butter; mash garlic and add to butter. Let stand 10 minutes, then remove garlic. Toss bread crumbs in butter and sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over casserole. Bake in hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Yield: about four servings.

Golden Chicken Dish Claims Gourmet Title

You and your guests will have golden memories of a Golden Wedding anniversary, a silver one, or any other grand occasion even down to a bridge luncheon when you proudly serve this Golden Wedding Chicken. It's a handsome dish, a colorful one, and delicious with the flavor of chicken, mushrooms, asparagus, and toasted almonds.

It is as filling and good as it is beautiful. Served buffet style from pretty chafing dishes or sauce warmers, and with your prettiest china, silver, and linen reflecting lighted candles, Golden Wedding chicken will reflect elegance and hospitality. The recipe is for 6 servings. Multiply it to suit your guest list.

1 whole chicken breast, cooked
4 pieces toast, buttered
1 1/2 ounce can asparagus spears, or 1 package frozen asparagus
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1/2 lb. sharp yellow cheese, grated
1/2 lb. sliced fresh mushrooms, cooked or 1 1/2-c. can of sliced
2 tablespoons dry white wine
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
2 tablespoons butter-toasted, chopped almonds

Simmer fresh or frozen chicken breast with rib of celery, slice of onion, sprig of parsley, and 1/2 teaspoon salt 45-60 minutes or till done. Cool in broth, remove to dish and keep in refrigerator till used.

With sharp knife cut each half of breast into 3 thin slices. To rewarm for serving, place slices with a little broth in pan, covered, over low heat. Heat covered, over low heat. Heat covered, over low heat. Heat covered, over low heat.

To make sauce: melt butter and blend in flour and seasonings in saucepan or double boiler, stirring well while it is melting. Add wine, mushrooms, and remaining ingredients and blend well.

To serve, place piece of warm toast on plate, cover with slice of chicken, then with 4 or 5 asparagus spears. Cover liberally with golden sauce and serve hot, 6 servings.

Color of Corn Silk Tells

You can get a fair indication of the flavor and maturity of sweet corn by the color of the silks. Corn with most of the silks just turned brown is usually at the peak of its sweetness; if most of the silks are still light green, the kernels will be very milky and tender, but not quite so sweet.

Glaze Pork Shoulder for Economy Meal

Honey Glazed Pork Shoulder

1 smoked boneless pork shoulder butt (about 1 1/2 pounds)
Whole cloves
2 tablespoons honey
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

Remove stocknet wrapping from butt and place in kettle. Cover with cold water; place over high heat until water begins to boil; simmer 45 minutes per pound — until tender when cooking fork inserted in center turns easily. Drain; insert whole cloves, about 1 inch apart, over entire surface of butt.

Place on small oven-resistant glass platter or other shallow baking pan. Mix together the honey, mustard and ground ginger; spread over butt. Place in slow (325 degrees) oven about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

No, Not a Purple Cow!

Louis Cheskin, head of the Color Research Institute in Chicago, tells us that we eat with our eyes and if the color of our food were changed, we would have no appetite for it. Suppose you were to be served purple meat, white tomatoes, green enriched yeast-raised bread, other foods different from what you are used to. Even though you knew the food was top quality you would find little interest in trying it.

Bulk Sausage Stuffs Squash

Ever-pleasing to the homemaker's eye is the sight of rows, stacks and brimming baskets of fresh summer vegetables in the produce section of the grocery store. Their bright greens and warm reds and yellows tell her she can begin to introduce all sorts of variety and good eating to her warm weather meals.

Aside from cooking vegetables in the conventional manner, or serving them when possible in their crisp, natural form, one can also turn vegetables into unusually tempting casseroles and other accompaniments. Team them with uncomplicated foods—cold cuts or grilled smoky sausages, brown 'n' serve breads and big green salads.

Summer Squash with Sausage Stuffing

1 large summer squash, cut into six 1-inch slices
1 pound bulk sausage
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onions
2 cups corn flakes
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Scoop out centers of squash slices to make rings, put rings in salted water. Crumble sausage into frying pan and cook over moderate heat until browned; drain off fat. Add celery and onions; cook until softened.

Crush corn flakes into medium fine crumbs. Add to sausage mixture together with pepper; mix thoroughly. Drain squash rings; place in greased shallow pan. Fill centers generously with stuffing; cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes or until tender. Yield: 6 servings, 1 slice each.

Fresh Tarragon Is Now Growing

Tarragon, a favorite salad herb, is an ideal flavoring agent for veal. It takes only a pinch of the herb to flavor a couple of pounds of the meat.

Veal Tarragon
2 pounds veal round steak, cut 1-inch thick
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon paprika
3 medium onions, sliced
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
1 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar

Cut veal in serving-size pieces. Combine flour, salt, pepper, and paprika; rub into cut surfaces of veal. Brown meat in hot fat; add onions and brown thoroughly.

Sprinkle in tarragon; add water and vinegar. Cook, covered, over low heat until tender, about 1 hour. 6 servings.

Michigan Grown Produce Lowers Prices

Food marketing in summer offers more fresh produce at lower prices than at other times of the year. Still prices vary depending upon the amount or supply arriving at market relates the Marketing Information Agent.

Last week homegrown corn was just making its appearance. This week it is as much as 20 cents less for a dozen ears.

Large supplies of peaches, watermelons and cantaloupes are fruit favorites at lower than usual prices for this time of year.

With the exception of featured items in pork, poultry and beef, little change is noticeable in meat prices since last week.

Warm weather has slightly lowered egg production, bringing a small price increase in some cases.

PRODUCE—Corn, potatoes and blueberries are Michigan foods increasing in volume.

When choosing corn in the husk, pick the ears with bright, green, snug husks. The stems should be green where snapped from the stalk. Bright shiny kernels are another sign of freshness.

Even rows of well-filled kernels are a guide to corn maturity. The color of the kernels is no guide to flavor. Kernels may vary from white to bright yellow depending upon variety.

Michigan's new potato crop is improving in supply and maturity. Prices are lower than last year at this time. Cooked alone or with other vegetables, new potatoes have a distinct flavor if boiled in their skins.

Blueberries are gaining in volume with peak supplies expected about August 10. Heavy supplies will continue until about Labor Day.

Blueberries will keep a week or more in the refrigerator. Do not wash until ready to use. Wet berries spoil rapidly. Even the weight-watcher can enjoy blueberries. Only 42 calories in half a cup.

This is the week of peak supplies of cantaloupes from western California. You may find lower prices compared to a week ago.

MEATS FOR THE CHOOSING—Broiler production is at a record level. The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that in mid-August, the number of broilers ready for market will be about 23 per cent more than in 1957. This production record assures shoppers of adequate supplies at reasonable prices at least until Labor Day.

If you buy the small two-pound also broilers, figure a half bird for each adult. For trying and roasting, allow 3/4 to 1 pound for each person.

Large numbers in storage is one reason for occasional features on turkey. Forty to fifty-five cents a pound will buy turkey of the size that best suits your needs.

Ground beef and blade chuck roast are top beef values. Have you thought of buying pot roasts now for your freezer? While more consumers demand steaks, cuts for pot roasts are lower than they will be next winter.

Smoked picnics, ham and Boston butt wear similar price tags when price per serving is compared. Boston butt is easily cut into steaks that can be barbecued or pan-broiled.

When you are buying snap beans, avoid those with dry-looking pods.

Tips Given on Buying Poultry for Barbecue

Is barbecued chicken a summer favorite at your house? If so, how do you decide which broiler to buy?

The small fryer that weighs two and one-half pounds or less will be the best choice, says the Marketing Information Agent.

Make the trip from the store to your refrigerator a fast one for chicken. Before storing it, remove the store wrap and loosely re-wrap with waxed paper. This gives air a chance to circulate around the meat.

For the best flavor, Mrs. Lawyer suggests using poultry within one or two days after you buy it.

Barbecued chicken can be your summer favorite if you buy and store it carefully and use it quickly.

Add Gourmet Touch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—From the California Foods Research Institute comes this suggestion for a gourmet touch to soups. Even the simplest of home-made or canned soups takes on extra flavor with wine. Try adding a couple of tablespoons of burgundy or sauterne to clear soups, sherry to the creamed types.

Seedless green grapes are good added to a cabbage salad.

Baked Alaska Made on Variety of Bases

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Does Baked Alaska still intrigue you as it does me? Just the thought of putting ice cream in the oven and having it stay hard is almost unbelievable. We used to call it "baked ice cream." It was a dessert Mom made for very special company.

Today Baked Alaska is commonplace. Almost everyone knows about putting hard ice cream on angel or sponge cake, covering it with a meringue and putting it in a hot oven just long enough for the meringue to become pale golden brown.

Wouldn't you like some new ideas for this glamor dessert? Have you ever used a whole cake, hollowed out in the center? Make a trough about an inch from each edge, being careful not to cut through the bottom of the cake. Fill this with ice cream, frost the entire cake with meringue and brown in a hot oven. Slice in wedges to serve.

Alaskan Sundae give you a double dose of meringue. You start with a meringue mix to make little shells for the base. The soft baked meringue covers chocolate ice cream.

Alaskan Sundae
1 package Meringue Mix
2 cups chocolate ice cream
Make meringue shells as directed on meringue mix package, using one packet of mix. Fill 6 shells with firm ice cream (about 1 pint). Freeze on paper covered baking sheet until firm.

Prepare soft meringue from other packet of mix. Cover ice cream completely, sealing meringue to shell. Bake in 500 degree (very hot) oven 5 to 6 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes six servings.

This last Alaska has a sugared corn flake base. You make it in a pie tin.

Baked Alaska in Corn Flakes
4 cups corn flakes
4 cups butter or margarine

1 tablespoon sugar
2 cups ice cream
2 eggs whites
1/2 cup sugar
Dash salt
Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in corn flakes crumbs; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of a 9-inch pie pan. Chill. Pack ice cream into chilled pie shell; freeze until very firm.
Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar. Spread meringue over ice cream, being sure ice cream is completely covered. Brown in very hot oven (450 degrees) about 6 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

Review Fundamental Cake Mixing Rules

If it's been some time since you've baked a cake from "scratch," you'd be wise to review some of the basic mixing rules.

One of the most fundamental, for example, applies to the creaming of butter and sugar—first step in making a good butter cake.

Creaming in this sense means to mix the butter and sugar with a wooden spoon or your electric mixer until ingredients are thoroughly blended. The consistency should be almost like heavy whipped cream in texture. There should be no granules of sugar left in the mixture.

Keep Ice Cream Ready to Serve at Any Time

Summer time, and desserts are easy if you choose ice cream. Ice cream is well known as a wholesome food. Like milk, it is famous for calcium.

Keep ice cream at its best suggests the Marketing Information Agent. For short-time storage, spoon ice cream into an ice cube tray, cover it with foil and keep it in the ice cube compartment.

Best to Bake Bread Before Freezing It

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Roll dough keeps in the refrigerator but it will retain its fresh flavor for only two or three days.

Miss Flora Carl, nutritionist at the University of Missouri, also says it is better to bake bread first and then freeze it but yeast dough for breads actually can be frozen up to two weeks. Yeast baked doughs, however, can be kept for several months in the freezer.

4-H Fair Invites Homemakers

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Going to the 4-H Club Fair this year will have new meaning for homemakers of Oakland County. A series of free programs, "Especially for You," is scheduled for August 6, 7 and 8 at the Fairgrounds, located at the corner of M 24 and Walton Blvd.

Each day there will be continuous entertainment from 2:30 to 8:00 p.m. Special homemaker programs will be given each day at 4, 5, and 7 o'clock. Members of the Oakland County Extension staff, home economists and 4-H club members will preside.

On Wednesday, August 6, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Agent, will present "Dairy Food to Your Taste" at four in the afternoon and seven in the evening. Hints for buying, storing and using dairy products will be offered.

Lucella Nault will show films on home decorating on two days, Wednesday and Friday, from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. She will discuss how to arrange furniture more conveniently, color schemes, accessories and the history of modern furniture.

"Outdoor Taste Adventures With Lamb" is the title of Mrs. Marguerite B. Hague's program Thursday at 4:00 and again at 7:00 p.m. Mrs. Hague is the Regional Home Economist with the American Sheep Producers Council. She will grill several lamb cuts in her demonstration and give samples to all who attend.

Mrs. Mary Hardy will show films and discuss "Planning Your Kitchen" at the 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. spot on Thursday, Aug. 7. This includes suggestions for equipment and utensils used in the kitchen.

On Friday Mrs. Shirley Schmidt of Orionville will talk on "The What and Why of Beef." She will explain cuts of beef, price differences, care, cooking and freezing. Mrs. Schmidt recently took a special course in meat cutting.

Each afternoon at 3:15 4-H club members will give demonstrations. Those participating are Sharon Pickering and Elaine Cudnowsky of Lake Orion, Margaret Wiggins of Rochester and Carolyn Bowers, Sharon and Cheryl Templeton of Milford. Others are Maurine Haas and Carolyn Canfield of New Hudson, Doug Norland of Bloomfield Hills and Eric Woodward of Birmingham.

From all who are presenting programs you have a cordial invitation to attend the Fair.

Rib End Roast Wonderful to Barbecue

Does barbecue always mean chicken, steak or spareribs in your family? If so, here is a suggestion from the Marketing Information Agent for meatier spareribs than you have eaten before.

Buy a rib-end pork roast and ask the butcher to saw between the ribs and chine bone. One rip of the saw will separate these so you can continue to slash the lean meat along the chine bone to within about one inch of the bottom.

The second slash, with the knife comes between the ribs and the bottom, again cutting to within about an inch of the edge of the meat.

These two cuts make it easy to spread the roast into a flat piece for barbecuing. Surprise! This roast has more lean meat than spareribs.

Cream Fresh Corn

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresh corn and tomatoes provide an ideal summer menu combination. Combine cooked corn, cut from the cob, with canned mushroom soup and serve hot on broiled tomatoes.

GENERATIONS OF DOGS HAVE THRIVED ON

SURE LOOKS GOOD — Mrs. Shirley Schmidt (right), meat department manager from Orionville, displays one of the cuts of beef she will discuss at the 4-H Club Fair on Friday. Mrs. Marguerite B. Hague (left), Regional Home Economist of the American Sheep Producers Council, and Mrs. Mary A. Hardy, Oakland County Extension Agent, look on. The latter two will also have programs at the Fair. Mrs. Schmidt recently found herself the lone woman in an 80-member meat cutting course.

Peach Crop Is Bumper One

When your young pirate raids the ice box this summer, see to it that he finds golden loot, golden peaches, that is.

You will have no difficulty keeping him supplied with booty. We are going to have the biggest peach crop in 11 years, according to the Department of Agriculture. Shipments for early summer have been estimated at 23 million bushels, 5 million more than last year, and most will reach the market as fresh fruit.

It's a lot of peaches, but there are a lot of things you can do with them. Besides the cobbler, pies, sundaes and salads you anticipate, USDA home economists have developed some summer peach recipes to capture the whole family.

They suggest mixing diced peaches with waffle batter just before baking. Serve with maple syrup and butter for breakfast or cover with ice cream and serve for dessert.

Buccaneers young or old will swiftly seize PEACH ANGEL, peaches. Replace the top layer halves in a shallow pan. Sprinkle CAKE before you can swing a and frost with creamy butter brown sugar over them. Broil cutlass. Cut a fresh angel food slowly until the sugar bubbles cake into two layers. Spread No danger of melting if you serve (about 5 minutes). Top with vanilla softened vanilla ice cream over your crew BROILED PEACH nilla ice cream and serve while the bottom layer. Cover with diced SUNDAES. Place fresh peach the peaches are still hot.

Girl Scouts Find Thrills While Roughing It at Camp

Carol Gray, Jean Trevethan, Martha Gardner, Kathy Stanker, Betsy Cook, counselor-in-training, and Kathy Morgan. The girls also are taught safe methods for extinguishing fires when leaving camp or in emergencies.

Nancy Henley (in the foreground) and Susan Dawe were bringing their canoe into port when The Pontiac Press photographer took this photo. Canoeing, along with boating, hikes, cookouts, crafts, and nature activities, is known as the "fun" portion of the program at Camp Sherwood.

Martha Varney Feted

Martha Varney, who will marry James Chalmers Sept. 27 at First Presbyterian Church, was honored at a linen shower Wednesday evening at the Liberty street home of Mrs. Lester Martin-dale. Mrs. Donald A. Barker was cohostess.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Varney of Nelson Street and Mrs. Alice Chalmers of Battle Creek.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Varney, Mrs. Joseph Edwards, Mrs. Gene Feneley, Amber Feneley, Mrs. Jerald Bradley, Mrs. Loren Flynn, Mrs. Donald Porter, Mrs. Edward Mann, Mrs. Stanley Barker, Mrs. Earl Barker, Mrs. Leon Belnap, Mrs. Fred Hoenstein, Mrs. Olin Hoffman and Mrs. George Reed.

Local Artists Plan Tel-Huron Exhibit

Pontiac Society of Artists will exhibit paintings and sculptures at Tel-Huron shopping center Friday and Saturday, Aug. 1-2, from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Among the showings will be eight selections by Michael Church which will be for state exhibit in Ann Arbor.

Life at Camp Sherwood Round of Activities, Fun

Girl Scouts from Northern Oakland County are now in the midst of the year's third session of established camping at Camp Sherwood near Lapeer.

The Camp Sherwood program is a supplementary activity of the regular troop program and gives girls an opportunity to enjoy two weeks of outdoor living and camping experience.

UP WITH BIRDS

The day begins when the girls are awakened at 7:15 a.m. Before breakfast, all are on hand for the flag raising ceremony.

"Kapers," the time for cleaning cabins, washing dishes and cleaning up the grounds, follows breakfast.

The activities program gets into full swing after all the work is done. Under supervision girls can swim, canoe, go boating or on hikes, participate in nature study and work on crafts. Perfecting their outdoor camping skills is an important part of the program.

The Camp Council, composed of two girls from each unit, plan the all-camp activities. This session's council set Friday as Nature Day. Centerpieces made of leaves, flowers and other natural materials decorate each of the tables in the dining room and each unit goes on a nature hunt.

COMPETITION KEEN

Competition runs high in these hunts as each unit searches for an object beginning with each letter of the alphabet. The winning unit, is the one coming nearest to completing the alphabet.

The counselor-in-training is another important part of the camping program. Older girls, Pioneer Unit, learn various camping skills during the first week of the program. During the second two weeks, these girls assist the regular counselors in the dining room, on the waterfront, in the infirmary and accompany all units as they go through their various activities.

The last week of the counselor-in-training program is spent having conferences and evaluating the work they have done as assistant counselors. Meal times bring all campers together and are always an enjoyable part of the day. Singing after each meal is also a regular part of the daily program.

Everything the campers do in camp is part of the camping program. Girls learn that making a bed properly is just as important as being able to cook a good meal over an open fire.

The Stanley McKims of Grindstone City announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Donald Johnson, son of the William A. Johnsons of Stout street. The couple attends Onosso Bible College. A June wedding is planned.

Best to Be 'All Wet'!

Tricks With Water Are Cooling

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Few people realize the great value of water for summer comfort when the temperature soars unless they have lived in an extremely torrid climate. I did years ago. This was before the days of air-conditioning or window fans.

One summer the temperature hovered around 110 degrees for weeks and it did not rain for 75 days. We became burned from the wind when outdoors, even when we were in the shade. We could not use an electric fan because it was like a rush of air from a furnace. We had sand storms from the river. It was an unusually hot summer even for a hot climate.

I had heard about such weather but this was my first baptism of fire and it almost killed me. They said you could fry an egg on the sidewalk. I don't doubt it, but did not try it because I was afraid I might fry before the egg.

I always wilt with heat and bloom with sippy weather, and I learned some lessons that summer which I will never forget. You might use some of them when your part of the country has a heat wave.

While the theory that exercise is cooling because of the perspiration it produces is sound, the weather may at times be so hot that you get a headache or heat exhaustion from strenuous physical activity of any sort. This is the time to remember water.

TRY THIS

If you do not live near a river, lake or ocean, or are unable to get there, then try the technique we used. We did not spend our time playing golf or tennis or walking or exercising. We spent it in self-preservation!

We were gasping until we rigged up a water system with the hose on a little upstairs balcony. We wet the awning and then wet ourselves (after draping ourselves in sheets) and after a while we would become so cold we had to go inside. We repeated this as needed.

So, if you do not have air-conditioning and you do have some very hot weather, get under the garden hose as often as necessary. A shower does the same thing except that the circulation of air outdoors increases the coolness and outdoor shade is cooler than a hot house. You also will find bubble baths cooling. Ice water on the wrists and temples is cooling, too. Take water to your life when the summer simmers.

Tomorrow: "She's not Overweight, but Her Stomach Sticks Out."

Color Can Divide Dual-Purpose Room

If the need is to make one room do the work of two, paint walls two different colors.

For example, a dining area can be set off from a kitchen by using darker walls and floor in the dining section, lighter walls and flooring in the kitchen.

Illusion of Space

A stripe on the floor of a narrow room either in a rug or tile — running across the width of the room — will create the optical illusion of more space.

A striped pattern will do the same job. The fewer the colors in a small or narrow room the better.

Dear Abby....

Skip That Twosome Vacation!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Do you see anything wrong with a boy and girl who have gone together for three years spending their vacation together at a respectable hotel? Both our parents agreed until my aunt heard about it and said people will talk. I know I can trust myself and the boy has always been a perfect gentleman."

"We get our vacations at the same time and being very much in love hate to be separated for two whole weeks. We don't intend to occupy the same room. I am 20 and he is 21. You are open-minded, Abby, please help us out."

CLEAN-MINDED
DEAR CLEAN: I may be open-minded, but I don't have holes in my head. Spending two weeks together at a hotel sounds too much like a honeymoon without the marriage ceremony. Lovers alone need a chaperone.

"DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your article about ALL MAN who was looking for a woman who looks like a woman, acts like a woman and is ALL WOMAN. I have been around the world many times and have lived in many countries and I think I know what he wants. You will never find ALL WOMAN in America. The most feminine women in the world are to be found in FINLAND! It might cost a little something to get there, but it will be worthwhile."

WELL-TRAVELED
DEAR J. H.: Thank you for your suggestions. There are plenty of feminine women in AMERICA. Our men will go shopping in Finland when Helsinki freezes!

"DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to you in regard to that married couple who wants to give their baby away because they claim they can't afford a fifth child. They signed themselves REALISTIC PARENTS. If they are so realistic why don't they sit down like adults and figure out a way to keep it? It made me sore. I'm a father of five and I wouldn't give my own flesh and blood away if I had 20."

"I was laid off for a year and we were down and out but we survived. We were on welfare and it didn't hurt my pride. There are plenty of agencies they can go to. Tell them to smarten up and if they still want to give their baby away to send it my way. My wife feels exactly the same as I do about it. Thank you, Abby."

FATHER OF FIVE

"DEAR ABBY: My husband got a crewcut and he looks like a plucked chicken. He is in his late forties and his hair is thinning out fast. At least before he had longer hair and could cover the bald spots, but now his baldness shines through all over and he looks simply ridiculous. I called his barber to bawl him out and the barber said he tried to talk my husband out of it but he insisted. How can I get my husband to realize that he looks terrible and should let his hair grow?"

CREWCUT'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: If you've already told your husband what you think of his crewcut (and I'm sure you have) so get off his back. Some men get stuck with something and stick with it to defy the opposition. Ignore it and the chances are he'll let it grow out on his own.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a boy 14 and my sister is 16. When we are eating supper and the telephone rings, they let her get up from the table and run to answer it because it might be a boy. They never let me get up from the table to talk on the telephone even if it's for me. Do you think this is fair?"

BILLY
DEAR BILLY: A boy can call a girl anytime, and you have that privilege. Your sister has to wait to be called. It's not exactly "fair" but it's understandable.

"DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from a lady of 58 who got a marriage proposal from a gentleman of 60 who was generous, considerate and well-to-do—but she wanted thrills. How can a lady of that age be so foolish? I am 50 and have been widowed five years. I have been looking for a man like that.

"I don't mind cooking and cleaning for a man and even taking care of him when he's sick, but I want something for my trouble. I mean security. I don't care about thrills and I don't care how old he is. A woman over 50 should be thinking about security—not thrills."

HOPING
CONFIDENTIAL TO SAMMY'S WIFE: Even more important than finding out "What Makes Sammy Run" is finding out how to make Sammy stop.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Church or Club Can Help

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and have just recently moved to a large city in order to take a position. Having lived in a small town all my life where everyone was very friendly, I find the people here very cold and aloof and I am terribly lonely.

"Will you please tell me how I, as a stranger, can go about meeting people without being considered a pusher? I would appreciate it so very much if you could help me."

Answer: The best move you can make is to go to the church of your denomination and join some of the activities. You cannot possibly go often without finding a few people who are friendly. Further than this, you could join the Red Cross or some other organization or club that specializes in something you are particularly interested in. Through this you will surely meet others with similar interests.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to invite the wife of the officiating clergyman to a house wedding, where the guest list is limited to the immediate families and fewest friends of the bride and groom? The ceremony will be followed by a buffet supper."

Answer: Under usual circumstances she is always included. But if the wedding is very small and she happens to be unknown to you, it would not be considered courteous to have the clergyman remain alone after the ceremony.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When chops are served with paper frills, does this mean that they may be picked up and eaten in the fingers?"

Answer: Paper frills are solely for decoration to cover the end of a bone that is ugly. It is never good table manners, except at a picnic, to pick up any sort of meat in the finger—whether it be a chop, chicken wing or the drumstick.

To remove chewing gum from the seats or floor pads of your car, try this trick. Chill the gum by putting a few ice cubes on it and around it. When the gum has hardened, chip it off with a dull knife.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Adams of Omar street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert Rogers of South Jessie street and Eugene Hill of Clark street.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered tulle over white satin, featuring tapered wrist length sleeves. On a white prayer book, she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Grace at Home Shows in Public

Being ungraceful when sitting at home may carry over into a social situation. And you may find yourself sprawling over someone's sofa or at a dinner table.

Women should sit with hands quiet and legs gracefully crossed at the ankles to avoid hiking skirts to embarrassing positions.

Mary G. Walton, bride-elect of John E. Steinhelper Jr., was honored at a miscellaneous shower at the Oriole road home of Mrs. Franklin Dernberger. The couple will be married Aug. 9. Their parents are the George Waltons of Detroit and the John Steinhelpers of Genesee avenue.

Aeroflot national airline, but the 707 will be able to carry more passengers at higher speeds when it goes into service. Evaporate With the Heat

Presidential News Confabs Pfft

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worst thing about Presidential news conferences is that, when the going gets hot, they tend to evaporate.

President Eisenhower generally has his conferences on a Wednesday morning.

He didn't hold one again yesterday and the reasons given were (1) an appointment with Italy's Prime Minister Amintore Fanfani, and (2) the continuing crisis in the Middle East.

This makes four weeks since Eisenhower has met with reporters, and in some ways it's a different world than the one under discussion at the last meeting.

Take the day of the last conference, July 2.

Bernard Goldfine, the Boston textile man who likes to give things to important people, was just starting his testimony before a House committee.

Even though Goldfine did a lot of talking in the witness chair, and even though his press agents kept panting, many questions remained with Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's No. 1 White House assistant.

Since Adams wasn't answering any questions about the case, the only recourse was Eisenhower, and he wasn't holding any news conferences.

You might say this problem was solved in the same way the little boy quit fretting about his sore finger. He forgot all about it because in the meantime he had fallen down and broken a leg.

For a look at what has happened this last eventful month consider Iraq, Lebanon and the proposal for a summit conference, the international pot steadily boiling.

What a passel of questions come to mind. About getting the troops out of Lebanon. About the incredible muddle the summit conference appears to be in. About criticism, especially from abroad, that Eisenhower isn't physically fit for a hard and tough meeting.

Well, it's up to each President to decide when and whether he wishes to hold a news conference, and each appears to have his own theories on how to proceed.

Harry Truman enjoyed meeting the press, and Franklin D. Roosevelt not only enjoyed it but also had the knack of squeezing the most out of his side of the story.

Harding, Coolidge and Hoover wanted the questions written out in advance. As the depression deepened, Hoover abandoned conferences altogether.

Wilson, who held the first modern news conference 45 years ago, also dropped them after World War I started, partly because he feared he might pull a diplomatic bloop.

Eisenhower frequently has said he likes news conferences, that they make him brush up on his homework so that he'll be sure to know the answers, that they give him an insight into what people are thinking. But of late he seems to have lost some of his enthusiasm for them.

The July 2 conference is the only one he has held this summer. And he held only one in June and only two in May.

Strangely, the explanation may be simple. The room where the news conferences are held is not air conditioned, and in hot, muggy weather, it can be stifling.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

There's no use kidding ourselves. The Tigers will take the unflattering honor of being the "duds of 1958." Since the spring training season right up to the 4th of July we sincerely believed the Tigers could be the second best team in the league. And this writer wasn't alone.

National writers who toured the training camps were in majority by picking Detroit anywhere from first to third. Now these same writers are finding it hard to believe the Tigers are as bad as their position in the standings indicates.

What's wrong with the Tigers? Nothing that a good shakeup wouldn't cure. There's a lot of good trade bait on the team with no room for sentiment. Every year names are mentioned for the bloc, but every year there are just too many good Tigers to trade. In other words we have a team of champions in 7th place in the American League.

If they ever get the courage to trade, then we hope the two players who will stay untouchable are Frank Bolling and Jim Bunning, the hardest workers on the team.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

It may be an act of courtesy on the golf course for one golfer to wave another through, but the Federal Circuit Court in Philadelphia recently ruled that such a player "shows a lamentable lack of care for his own safety."

The ruling was made after a golfer who was struck by a ball lost his right eye sued the golfer who hit the ball for $50,000.

The injured golfer had waved the other golfer through while he was searching for a lost ball. He was hit even though he stood behind a small tree. The court ruled out the damage suit.

Yale Lary Lions' defensive back is mixing football with politics. He is on the Democratic primary for state representative in that unhappy place called Texas, which now has to give way to Alaska as the largest state in the Union.

Four County Boys Score USGA Victories

Fine Start for State Junior Golfers

(Special to the Pontiac Press)

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Michigan golfers enjoyed a banner day Wednesday in the opening round of the USGA junior golf tournament at University of Minnesota course.

Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills showed the way with a 6 and 5 victory over Pat Dorton of North Riverside, Ill. Badger's first nine 32, three under par, was the day's best score for the front side of the par 35-36-71 course. He was 2 under for the 13 holes that were played, slipping to a bogey on the 12th.

Garrett Mow of Birmingham downed Ron Samuels of Beverly Hills, Cal., 1 up by winning the pivotal 17th hole with a par. Pete Green of Birmingham had it easier against Robert White of Glenwood, Ala., winning 4 and 2. Green shot a par 35 on the front nine and was two over on the back.

Detroit's Tom Grace of Southfield defeated Paul Herold Jr. of Normandy, Mo., 1 up. Grace had a 77 for the round, Herald a 78. Co-favorite Sonny Methvin of Little Rock, Ark., ran into a first round ambush Wednesday.

The 17-year-old Arkansas star, a semifinalist in the 1957 tournament, was ousted 2 up by Jack Lotz, also 17, the California state junior champion from San Lorenzo.

While Methvin was bowing out early, the other 1957 semifinalist in the starting field of 128, Rick Casabella of Louisville, Ky., straightened after a rough start and whipped Bob Morse of Peabody, Mass., 4 and 3.

Wednesday's dueling, under ideal golf conditions, cut the field to 64 players. That number will be slimmed, first to 32 and then 16 in two rounds Thursday.

Most of the field, made up of youths 17 and under, found the 6,339 yard course an unexpectedly bumpy road. But Ken Folkes of

Hockey Leader Campbell Speaks for Sports Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators exploring the business aspects of professional sports wind up their hearings today with testimony from Maurice Podoloff, president of the National Basketball Assn.

Reps. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) and Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) also may appear before the Senate Antimonopoly Subcommittee to report a House-passed sports bill but their schedules were uncertain.

Podoloff was expected to tell the Senators pro basketball would welcome the flat exemptions from ordinary business laws proposed in the House measures for professional team sports.

The subcommittee already has received that word from spokesmen for baseball, football and hockey, along with opposition to the sweeping nature of the exemptions from several players, coaches and outside sources.

Clarence A. Campbell, president of the National Hockey league, spoke on behalf of the bill yesterday. President Walter J. Michael and attorneys for the U.S. Trotting Assn., asked that harness racing also be cut in on the exemptions. Campbell told the subcommittee the fact that promoter James D. Norris, ex-president of the Inter-

Susce Wins Third Straight for Detroit

2-1 Triumph Over Red Sox Brightens Scene

Former Boston Pitcher Could Be Key Tiger in Stretch Drive

DETROIT (U) — George Susce now becomes a key man in what the Detroit Tigers hope will be a stretch drive toward a first division finish in the American League.

The Boston Red Sox castoff won his third game and pitched his second complete game yesterday, turning back his old teammates 2-1 before a sparse weekday gathering at Briggs Stadium.

Susce, now 3-0 on the season, scattered seven hits and got just enough batting support. Used 10 times in relief and eight times as a starter, Susce apparently has won a place in what used to be called "the big four."

The Tigers' big four is no more — the combined efforts of Jim Bunning, Frank Lary, Bill Hoft and Paul Foytack producing a poor 31-35 record.

Susce's effort, the club's fourth complete game in 22 starts, comes at a good time. The already bedraggled pitching staff suffered another blow yesterday when the Tigers learned that reliever Tom Morgan, the club's most effective pitcher of late, will be sidelined from four to six days. Morgan has had a sore arm most of the season.

Susce retired Ted Williams twice, once on a hard smash to Frank Bolling at second base and another time on a pop fly. He walked Williams twice.

The only Boston batter to give Susce trouble was Gene Stephens, who is taking the slumping Jim Piersall's place in center field. Stephens singled in the second and was stranded, homered in the seventh to tie the score, and doubled in the ninth with one out.

Susce got out of trouble by persuading Sammy White to ground out, then striking out Don Buddin on three pitches.

Harvey Kuenn continued his hot hitting for Detroit with two singles that lengthened his hitting streak to 13 games — he has hit safely in 28 of his last 29 — but it was Al Kaline who brought home the victory.

Hitless in two trips against right-hander Ike Delock, Kaline tripled off the right field screen in the eighth inning. Charlie Maxwell scored him with a grounder to first base. Billy Martin singled home the other Tiger run in the third inning.

Delock lost his second straight after running up a 10-0 record. The Tigers reached him for only seven hits with Inman (Coot) Veal, the new shortstop, collecting a pair of singles. It was Veal's Major League debut.

Pitches Braves Back Into Lead

Spahn Breaks Dodger Spell

By The Associated Press

Seven years with the wrong wampum.

That's a long time for a Brave, especially for Warren Spahn the biggest Milwaukee Brave of them all.

Seven long years had long gone without a victory over the Dodgers. Not since 1951 had he hung up a Dodger scalp. The 37-year-old star southpaw finally broke the spell last night. He pitched the Braves to a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles that put the Braves back into first place in the National League.

It was his first triumph against the Dodgers since Sept. 25, 1951. They've beaten him eight straight times since then. He started against them June 6, 1956 and failed to last two innings. He didn't start against them again—until last night. This time he went the distance, permitting only six hits and one earned run.

Spahn has spent many sleepless nights over his inability to beat the Dodgers. His frequent failures against them prompted his managers to skip his turn in series between the two teams. Normally a friendly chap, Spahnie bristled when twitted about this.

But the fact remains that whereas he has beaten St. Louis 50 times, Cincinnati 48, San Francisco 35, Pittsburgh 32, Chicago 30 and Philadelphia 14, this was only his 14th triumph over the Dodgers.

Cincinnati, behind Bob Purkey, dumped the Giants into second place with a 5-1 victory. Pittsburgh climbed to the 500 mark with a 7-1 triumph over Chicago in a game limited to 7½ innings by rain. Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 5-1.

Felix Mantilla and Eddie Mathews drove in all Milwaukee runs against loser Sandy Koufax, who had previously beaten the Braves three times. Mantilla drove in the first three runs with a home run and a sacrifice fly. Mathews' circuit smash, his 21st, came in the eighth and snapped a 3-3 tie. The triumph was Spahn's 13th against seven defeats.

Purkey allowed the Giants only five hits and drove in two runs in gaining his 13th victory. The Cincinnati right-hander extended his string of scoreless innings against the Giants to 46 before they finally scored off him in the fifth. Walt Dropo and Pete Whisenant homered off loser Johnny Antonelli.

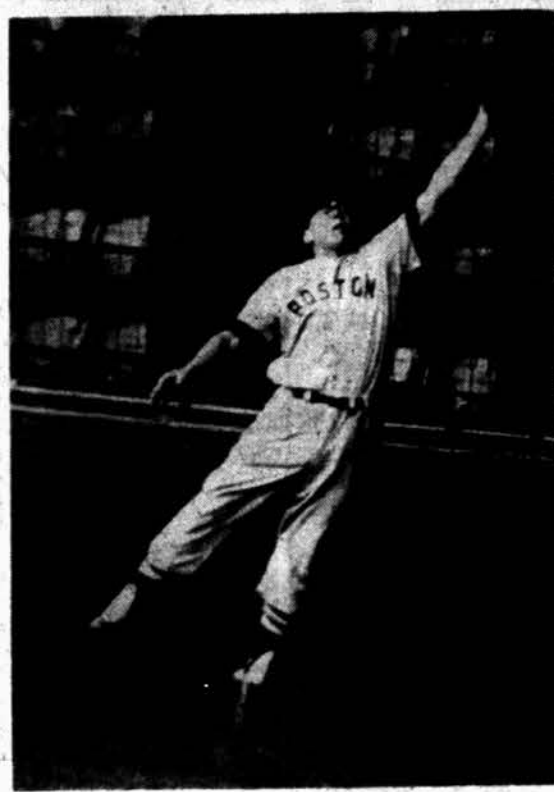

Hank Folles' three-run homer helped rookie Red Witt gain his fourth triumph in six decisions for Pittsburgh. Taylor Phillips dropped his fifth for the Cubs. Willie Jones' tenth homer helped the Phillies make it two in a row over the Cards. Jack Sanford outpitched Billy Muffett for his seventh success but he needed help from Dick Farrell in the seventh.

Veteran Horse Leading Harness Race Earnings

VERNON, N. Y. (AP)—Lord Steward, 11-year-old gelding owned by Ralph H. Kroening of Milwaukee, today tops the money winning list for harness horses.

The veteran campaigner boasted his total earnings to $336,177 last night when he finished fifth and picked up $200 in an elimination heat of the Empire state Downs. Speedster won the heat in two minutes flat for the fastest trotting mile of the year. He came back later and won the race-off in 2:00 1-5.

Lord Steward passed Adios Harry, a pacer who earned $335,990.

U.S. vs. Poland This Weekend

Track Team Makes Changes

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Three changes have been made in the American men's track and field team which meets Poland tomorrow and Saturday following a triumph over the Russians at Moscow.

Discus thrower Al Oerter of New Hyde Park, N.Y., second at Moscow, is returning to the United States and Parry O'Brien, world champion shot putter, will double in his speciality and the discus. James Segrest of Abilene, Tex., is being replaced in the 200 meters. Charlie Dumas of Los Angeles has returned to orthodox practice and is expected to once again assume his position as the world's best high jumper.

These changes were outlined today by Coach George Eastment and assistant coach Larry Snyder as the American team went through its final practice session.

The Polish meet, unlike the one against the Russians, will be two dual meets — men against men and women against women. At Moscow the Russians outscored the U.S. on aggregate points.

World record holder Dumas was the biggest disappointment in the American men's triumph over the Russians. He trains very little and told the coaches and friends he was saving up for the actual competition, in which he cleared only 6 feet 7½ inches and finished third behind the two Russians. "Dumas now is training very hard," said Snyder. "He realizes he lost in Moscow and that he looked bad. He's working out on the track and running the hurdles. That's good for high jumping and he will get back into form quickly."

Eastment said Oerter was called home but didn't give the reason. But O'Brien is a highly competent discus man and American chances shouldn't suffer because of Oerter's absence.

Spencer and Drayton Waterford Winners

A big 5th inning prevented National League leader Spencer from being upset in the feature game of a Waterford men's softball doubleheader last night. Spencer downed Wall's Service 6-2 after trailing 2-0. Drayton Drug downed Nonne's 7-1 in the American loop.

Grant St. Amour tripled in one run and scored ahead of Gary Mellem's homer. Al Crawford then followed with a triple and scored the final tally.

Bob Grim Spoils Casey's Birthday

Ex-Yank Beats Old Mates 2-0 in Short Game

Shunted Orioles Doby and Hunter Key Men in Cleveland Win

By The Associated Press
There it is again. Shunted players coming back to haunt you. It happened on three occasions yesterday.

In Kansas City, pitcher Bob Grim, shipped there by New York in a June trade, gained his first victory for the Athletics. It was against the Yankees, of course. Grim hurled a shutout, to boot. He held his former teammates to three hits in a 2-0 game, shortened to 4 1/2 innings by rain.

In Cleveland, triples by ex-Baltimoreans Larry Doby and Billy Hunter figured in the Indians' two scoring innings as the Tribe defeated the Orioles 6-3. Pinch hitter Doby's three-bagger drove in the first of Cleveland's four runs in the sixth erasing a 3-0 Baltimore lead. Hunter drove in a run with his sixth inning triple and he scored on a squeeze bunt.

Chicago climbed into a third place tie with Baltimore, outlasting Washington 11-9 in a slugfest. Chico Carrasquel's first inning home run and fourth inning doubles by Roger Maris and Hal Smith produced the runs which spelled Yankee Don Larsen's fifth defeat against seven victories.

The victory, Kansas City's second straight over the American League champions, brought to a sudden end birthday celebrations for the Yankees' 68-year-old Kansas City born manager, Casey Stengel.

The Indians had tagged Arnold Portocarrero for only one hit before they erupted for their winning four-run margin in the sixth. The defeat ended the Baltimore right-hander's six-game winning streak. Ray Narleski, with the help of Jim Grant, who hurled three scoreless innings, received credit for his 11th triumph. He has lost eight.

The White Sox tallied eight times in the third—their biggest uprising of the year—but had to halt a Washington comeback to win. The Senators had the tying runs on base when Eddie Yost, who had a grand slam homer in the fourth, filed out to end the game. Gerry Staley, who relieved starter Jim Wilson in the fourth, won his fourth. Billy Goodman and Al Smith drove in three runs apiece for the winners.

Lands Biggest Pike

Ken Richardson, 3797 Woodview, Middle Straits Lake, was a delighted angler, first of the week when he took his biggest northern pike. Fishing with his sons, Greg and Ken Jr., Richardson battled the fish while the boys lent encouragement.

The pike was a 9 1/2 pounder, measured 37 1/2 inches long. The fisherman used a chub minnow for bait.

PGA, Sponsors Happy Again

Golf Crisis Soothed

CHICAGO (AP)—The crisis that prevailed between the International Golf Sponsors' Assn. and the PGA over tournament operations apparently had passed today.

"Both sides have given a lot for the interest of tournament golf in this thing," said Ed Carter, PGA tournament director.

"We don't contemplate any more problems," said A. M. "Skip" McMahon of Los Angeles, newly elected president of the IGSA which represents sponsors of 24 tournaments worth more than half a million dollars.

Golf Pros Open Attack on Par

Chicago Open Course Isn't Tough, but the Greens Are Tricky

CHICAGO (AP)—Big time golf pros today started a cavalry charge against par in the $50,000 Chicago Open.

The 6,350-yard Glenageary Daily Fee Course with its modest 35-35-70 standard provides a perfect target for the par-wrecking crew.

The meet will be decided on the greens, which, for the most part, tilt like nothing seen before by the touring brigade.

"Did you ever putt and have the ball roll back to you?" asked Sam Snead. "It can happen here."

Snead, however, hooked up a 64 in yesterday's practice and so did Don January.

"Billy Maxwell said the greens were the trickiest he's ever seen. The contours are so abrupt that if you approach above the hole and leave yourself a downhill putt, you can wind up rolling off the green with just a tap of the putter," he explained.

The course record is 63 and that appears doomed. The pros are guessing that anywhere from 261 to 270 will take the top prize of $9,000 when the 72-hole windup comes Sunday.

5-Way Putting Tie

Silver Lake's women golfers were in a knotty mood, Wednesday. Two of the day's league contests wound up in ties. Five were tied for low putts at 18, and a four-way tie developed for the blind hole (No. 9), where all carded sevens. Low gross leader was Mrs. Elbert Looney with 56. Low net was Mrs. Charles Campbell's 35. Second flight gross was 69 for Mrs. Wayne Harrison. Mrs. Carl Rehbine had a 37 for net.

Favored Netters Make Girls' Quarter-Finals

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Seven of eight seeded players in the National Girls-under-15 Tennis Championship Wednesday advanced to the quarter-finals.

The only unranked player to reach round of eight is a wiry youngster from Charleston, W. Va., Peach Kellmeyer, who outlasted fifth-seeded Helen Lowry of the host Middletown Club, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Top-seeded Carol Prosen of Orlando, Fla., ousted Nancy Daubemeyer of Detroit, 6-2, 6-1.

YOUNG VETERAN — In his second year in the National Football League, sturdy Steve Junker is already a veteran of pro football wars. He came along to be one of the outstanding freshmen in the league and is slated to hold down a first string end position with the Lions this season.

Big End Was Lions' Top Rookie Last Season

Junker Now a Pro 'Veteran'

By BRUNO L. KEATZ
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Big Steve Junker, 212-pound end from Xavier University, made a wish when he joined the Detroit Lions after the 1957 All-Star game and he made up his mind to make it come true.

"I want more than anything to be an offensive end with the Lions and with the veterans around I can see I'll have to work hard," said Junker when he arrived at Cranbrook a year ago.

Junker worked hard and he received the attention of coach George Wilson, who predicted the big redhead would be one top end in the NFL.

For three games he sat on the bench and when he finally got his chance he came through in flying colors. Lion fans will probably never forget the game with the Baltimore Colts at Briggs Stadium in which Bobby Layne guided Detroit from a 17-3 deficit to a thrilling 31-27 victory in the last second.

One of the second half touchdowns was scored by Junker who grabbed the ball on the five and carried two Colts with him for the touchdown.

New Conference Looms on Coast

PCC Will Die Within Month, Oregon Writer Predicts

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The last members of the Pacific Coast Conference will drop out next month, and all nine former members will form a new, loosely organized association, the Oregon Journal predicted Wednesday.

KALAMAZOO — Martin Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., goes into the fourth round of the National Junior and Boys tennis championships today after scoring a surprise upset yesterday.

Riessen, who meets 11th-seeded Ramsey Earnhart of Ventura, Calif., today, defeated a fourth-ranked junior from St. Petersburg, Fla., Jim Shaffer, 2-6, 6-0, 11-9, yesterday. Shaffer was a finalist in the Western Junior Tournament at Champaign, Ill., last Saturday.

Two other favorites were beaten yesterday. Seventh-seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., a National Boys finalist last year, was eliminated by Rod Susman of St. Louis, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

William Hoogs, eight-ranked junior from Berkeley, Calif., was ousted by Neil Untersher of Lincoln, Neb., 9-11, 7-5, 6-4.

"That was a big thrill for me, but as whole season was a thrill," said Junker.

For the rest of the season he was a regular and in Wilson's mind Junker was the best freshman in the league.

His best day came in the season's most crucial game, the playoff game against San Francisco when he grabbed eight passes for 92 yards and one touchdown.

In the championship against Cleveland he picked off five more for 109 yards and two more touchdowns.

"He's a real veteran now," said Wilson at Cranbrook as the Lions prepare for the 1958 All-Star game, "he could be our top end this year."

Junker reported to training camp eight pounds lighter and has been grabbing Bobby Layne and Tobin Rote passes like a glue-fingered hawk.

Junker is one of 11 former college

NFL NOTES
LG Dupre, Art Spinney and Ken Jackson are still unsigned with the Baltimore Colts. Coach Web Ewbank called his Wednesday workout very good . . . Ex-U. of D. end Perry Richards was cut from the Steeler squad by Buddy Parker. Richards was a freshman with the Steelers last season. Six rookies were also cut by Parker. They were tackle Evert Jones, Utah; fullback George Kim, Idaho State; halfbacks Dan Miles, Tom Fletcher and Frank Steedley, Linebacker Bill Priatko of Pitt and tackle Mike Henry of Southern Cal quit the squad. . . The biggest rookie in the NFL, 280-pound George Troutman decided to quit the 49ers yesterday after a rugged head bumping session.

Court Convicts Hockey Player

Bert Olmstead Held for Beating Man at Sports Banquet

VANCOUVER, B.C. (U.S.) — Bert Olmstead, 31-year-old National Hockey League player, was convicted yesterday of assault in the beating of a Vancouver mining executive.

He will be sentenced Friday by magistrate N. J. Bartman, who described the case as "very serious."

Olmstead, former Montreal Canadiens rightwinger sold to the Toronto Maple Leafs this year, was charged with assault causing bodily harm. Ralph Rooney, 32, was beaten at a trapezoidal club banquet here June 23.

Olmstead is 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches and weighs 180 pounds. Rooney is 5 feet 5 and weighs 135 pounds.

Olmstead told the court that guests at the banquet were bidding for trap shooters in a "Calcutta auction" and he felt Rooney was bidding for a syndicate.

In a Calcutta auction a prize pool is formed and people bid for competitors, each buying an entrant. The buyer who has the winning entrant takes the pool.

No-Hitter Opens LL Playoffs

Fenton, Farmington and Birmingham's Americans were the opening day winners as the District 4 Little League playoffs began yesterday at Eton Park in Birmingham. Four more games are on tap today.

Fenton got a no-hit, 15 strikeout performance from Jim Cunningham in blanking Milford 1-0. A 2nd inning home run by Mike Dode decided the issue early. It was one of four hits off loser Gary Powell.

Farmington was behind 3-0 when Craig Nelson walloped a grand slam homer in the 5th to spark a 5-3 conquest of the Birmingham Federal nine. Losing hurler Mike Davis socked a two-run roundtripper.

Ton Angell gave up just one hit and fanned 14 while smacking two doubles himself to lead the Birmingham Americans to a 7-1 conquest of Lathrup Village. American catcher Dick Mosher slammed a homer and double.

Untested entries Walled Lake and Novi opened today's program at 1:30. Matched in 5 p.m. contests were Fenton and the Southfield Americans, Farmington and the Birmingham Nationals and Southfield's National vs the Birmingham Americans. Semifinals are Saturday and finals Sunday.

Three-Run Homer Wins for Jewelers

With two down and two runners on the bases, in last night's Class A baseball tilt at Winder Field, Shaw's Ernie Zubalik laced a homer in the bottom of the first frame to sew up the win over CIO 5-0. Union managed only two runs in the 11-2 victory for Jewelers.

Zubalik, former St. Frederick High athlete, chased Hall Trot and Ken Stanick home ahead of him for the winning tallies. He also hit a two bagger opening the sixth frame.

Victory moved Shaw's up a notch for a 14-7 league standing. Winning pitcher was Jim Jones who gave up seven hits to loser Jim Addis' 11 blows.

Softball Scoring Parade

The rainy weather which preceded Wednesday's city softball play certainly didn't have any effect on the scoring.

A total of 55 runs tallied in three games, two of them involving girls' teams.

The biggest explosion was turned in by Commerce Drive, in which rung up 20 runs in two frames on 14 hits. Costello Excavating outscored Pursley's Ambulance 11-9 in the other girls' contest while Stadium Inn was defeating UAW, 5-4.

Commerce drubbed Smith Standard 20-1 with two players getting three hits and Jo Ann Tibbitts socking a home run and single.

Costello was scoreless until the 4th but then poured it on just as Pursley's attempted to pull away. It was 9-9 until Costello combined three hits, a wild pitch and passed ball to win in the 6th.

Stadium had led all the way when UAW deadlocked it with five in its last at bat. But the Inn contingent bounced right back with a pair in the 8th featuring singles by Glenn Wilson and Ray White.

Three All-Stars Nurse Injuries

EVANSTON, Ill. (U.S.) — Three standout backs on the College All-Star squad are sidelined by injuries but all are expected to face the Detroit Lions in Soldier Field the night of Aug. 15.

John Crow, Texas A&M has a bruised hip. Tennessee's Bobby Gordon has a jammed shoulder. Dick Christy of North Carolina State is nursing a pulled leg muscle.

All-Star Coach Otto Graham said he was pleased with progress of the collegians who began practice last Thursday. "We still have a long way to go, however, and we're not ready to play the Lions right now," he said.

Case Presented for Long Season

LANSING (UPI)—A strong case of increasing the number and duration of "any deer" seasons was made today by the conservation department.

"Our recent deer hunting regulations have been very conservative," the department said in a report titled "deer in 1958."

"Undoubtedly Michigan's deer herd not only could support a much larger legal deer harvest, but it would also be benefited by such a harvest — in physical condition, fawn production, and condition of the winter range," the report said.

Detroit-Dayton Both Claim Ex-Pitcher

One Rowan Is Dead—but Which One?

DETROIT (U.S.) — John Arthur "Jack" Rowan—either a former major league pitcher or a fellow who spoofed his cronies for years claiming he was one—was buried here Wednesday.

In Dayton, Ohio, John Arthur "Jack" Rowan—either a former major league pitcher or a spoofster himself—told newsmen:

"There must be some mistake."

The one fact available was baseball records, which show Jack Rowan appeared in 119 major league games between 1906 and 1914, winning 32 and losing 38 for Detroit in the American League and Cincinnati, Chicago and Philadelphia in the National League.

The Detroit Rowan lived alone in a small hotel. Nobody knew of his family, if he had any. He divided his spare time between Briggs Stadium, home

The Dayton Rowan is a retired mail carrier.

Both men had their defenders.

At the funeral, Jim Burns, 69, said:

"Sure, this Rowan is the pitcher. I saw him play at old Bennett Park here way back in 1907 or 1908."

Bishop John A. Donovan of the Detroit Diocese of the Catholic Church said he believed the dead man was a former Tiger player. Bishop Donovan was instrumental in getting the Detroit Rowan a baseball pension.

At Los Angeles, Win Clark, secretary-treasurer of the Assn. of Professional Ball Players of America, said he was sure the Detroit Rowan was the former pitcher. The association handles pensions for needy ex-players who pre-date the present pension plan.

People who knew the Detroit Rowan admit there were discrepancies in his stories. He said he was 35 years old and was born in Detroit. Baseball record books show Rowan was born at New Castle, Pa., 73 years ago.

The Dayton Rowan, also with no known relatives, said: "If he is the real man, why isn't he being buried in New Castle along with the rest of his family?"

The Dayton Rowan, who gives his age as 68, four years younger than the record book lists him, mentioned a family plot in New Castle.

Jim Nichols, a Dayton News sports writer, said he had known the Dayton Rowan a long time and had no doubt he is the former major league pitcher.

Nichols said the Dayton Rowan told him that even when he was playing with Cincinnati he had learned there was a man posing as the real Rowan. Once, he said, he was called in by the Reds' management to answer for something the false Rowan had done.

Earl Sykes, a former Cleveland Indian player, backed up the Dayton Rowan's story. He said they played together in semipro baseball in Dayton in the 1915-17 seasons.

The two men disagreed on their identities but they were together on one thing — baseball statistics, especially those of Jack Rowan.

Kills Ring Opponent

CEBU CITY, The Philippines (AP)—Boxers Juliana Pasate and Florinto Pacifico fought a draw here last week.

Pasate objected to the decision and Pacifico's tactics. Today the two boxers met at the public market. Pasate knifed his ring opponent, killing him instantly, the Manila Times reported.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Pooped Pitches.

DIAGNOSIS: Quitting on the Shot.

TREATMENT: To hit decent pitch shots, remember this: you must hit on through the ball. Failure to do so will nearly always result in hitting behind the ball and sending it maybe half the distance you want it to go. This is what's called the "poop shot," or "sticking your pick in the ground."

On all short pitches, it's a good idea to take a practice swing or two. Try to make the practice swing as much like the one you mean to use as possible. Concentrate on making the clubhead move on through, straight toward the objective.

Always trust the built-in loft of your pitching iron to get the ball up to the desired height. Never try to "help the ball up" with your hands. This is a frequent and generally fatal error.

Today's lesson, incidentally, is included because I've been hitting some lousy pitch shots lately. When I realized that I was failing to HIT ON THROUGH the ball, I thought I'd pass the word of warning on to you.

Motor Again in Use — Immersed 11 Years
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—Despite the 11 years Kryn Goudswaard's 1936 model outboard motor lay on the bottom of the Muskegon River, it will be back in service again this summer. Goudswaard, a retired Grand Rapids tool room foreman, lost the 3.6 horsepower motor in 1946 in about 20 feet of water. Last fall when repairs were made on Rogers Dam and the water level had dropped, Goudswaard walked onto the sandy river bottom and recovered his motor. The aluminum motor was like new after it was taken apart, cleaned and fitted with new spark plugs and a condenser.

The stamps go on sale tomorrow. Americans drink 125 billion cups of coffee a year.

34,560 Lopped From Federal Service During Past Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government trimmed its civilian payroll by 34,560 persons during the fiscal year that ended June 30, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) reported today.

Byrd said federal civilian employment increased by 32,832 during June to a total of 2,366,754. He called the increase the largest in any month since June 1952, when the payroll climbed by 36,000.

Increases in five consecutive months this year did not equal heavy cuts during the last six months of 1957.

Byrd announced the figures in the monthly report on federal personnel compiled by his joint Senate-House committee.

Federal civilian employment at the end of fiscal 1958 contrasted to a total of 2,401,314 at the end of the previous bookkeeping year.

Employment by civilian agencies of the government increased by 29,588 during fiscal 1958. But this was more than offset by a decrease of 64,148 in civilian employment by military agencies.

Employment by civilian agencies total, compared to 1,230,310 a year ago, while civilian employment by military agencies total 1,096,856, compared with 1,161,004 on June 30, 1957.

More than a third of last month's jump in the federal payroll came from an employment increase of 11,489 in the Agriculture Department, largely the result of seasonal factors.

Paraplegic Suspected in Burglary

NEW YORK (AP)—A paraplegic watchmaker was arrested yesterday and accused of using his specially equipped automobile as a getaway car in a burglary.

Louis Rowsky, 21, of Brooklyn, crippled since stricken by polio at the age of 14, was held in $1,500 bail for grand jury action on a burglary charge.

Police said they arrested Rowsky after seizing Thomas Falanga, 20, a roofer.

Last Tuesday, they said, Falanga took $30 in cash and $130 in jewelry from the apartment of Mrs. Gladys Lubbock.

Falanga, charged with burglary, was held in $1,500 bail pending grand jury action. Police said Falanga implicated Rowsky, saying they escaped in the latter's car, equipped so he could operate it only with his hands. Rowsky recently opened a jewelry store.

Ike's Brother Ends Latin American Trip

GUATEMALA (AP)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower winds up his Central American fact-finding tour today with the feeling his face-to-face talks have helped clear the air.

"The frank talks we have had during this tour," he told Guatemalan leaders, "have cleared up false concepts about national policies, attitudes, programs and capacities."

Eisenhower and the three U.S. economic experts in his party fly back to Washington tomorrow for a report to President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower was told here that Guatemala had the same economic problems as other Central American countries—falling prices for the country's major export (coffee) and shortage of capital for industrial development.

49th State Upsets City in Kansas

LEBANON, Kan. (AP) — Lebanon (Kansas, that is) is going to continue to promote itself as the geographical center of the United States when it and Alaska is admitted to the Union.

Mayor Raymond Schwette pointed out that a monument marking the geographical center was erected a mile north and a mile west of Lebanon 17 years ago.

The city "has invested a great deal of money in promoting the spot," said Schwette, and doesn't intend to write off its investment.

The federal government said admission of Alaska would shift the country's geographic center from Lebanon to Butte County, S.D., a move of 439 miles to the northwest.

Even Judging Beauties Has Its Drawbacks

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD—I strolled proudly into the hotel lobby after the Miss Universe Pageant. People had seen me on TV down at Long Beach, and I felt cockier than Oscar Levant after he's taken six pills.

I slunk out feeling like a baseball umpire.

"How did you judges overlook Miss Brazil?" growled Radie Harris, the Daily Variety columnist, who'd watched on TV.

"Overlook her!" I growled back. "Miss Colombia beat her out for first place by one point!"

So I decided, with permission of my boss, Vincent Trotta of New York, chief of the judges, to explain the voting—though how we voted is secret.

Regal-looking and telegenic, Miss Brazil (Adalgisa Colombo) strutted down the runway seeming to say "I've got this contest in the bag. Why fool around with these other cats?"

And she of course was the favorite of some of the nine judges... but dig this:

We judges voted (in choosing the winner from among the five finalists) on three ballots—evening gown, bathing suit, and poise and personality.

We voted for a first (5 points), second (4), third (3), fourth (2), fifth (1). On three ballots, nine judges voted a total of 405 points—and so out of all that Luz Marina Zuloaga of Colombia got one more point than Miss Brazil.

Suppose—for purpose of clarification—one judge voted for Brazil for fifth in poise and personality. That'd have been one point. Had he voted for her for third, she'd have received 3 points and would have won from Miss Colombia by one point!

Both Miss Colombia and Miss Brazil, close up, are real dolls. And the way they disposed of the Scandinavian beauties was startling (to the Scandinavians). Miss Brazil, who's engaged to Jackson Flores, a Brazilian importer who's divorcing, will do some modeling for Vogue in N.Y. and also has a movie offer from Joe Pasternak, the Hollywood producer.

But judging's hard in these days when TV entitles everybody to an opinion.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.

Keenan Wynn's 45th birthday party was the wildest—Sophia Loren, Shelley Winters, Esther Williams, Hal Wallis, Jack Warden, and Lita Fairbanks all toasting him (in beer). Sidney Lumet ripped honor guests' jackets off (except Sophia's), shouting "I'd drink to Jan Mitchell" (the proprietor) "except he's too rich." Sidney merely being the husband of Gloria Vanderbilt. Barbara Nichols, also there, insisted her only male friends are her dogs. Comedian Joe E. Lewis chuckled at the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital over a wire from Eddie Miller, head of the bartenders' union, saying 1,000 barmen had been laid off due to Joe's illness. Joe's o.k. and will be out in 10 days.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Rube Rustic tells of the guy who was so accident-prone he cut his finger on a marshmallow... That's earl, brother.

Alan Ladd Looks Natural After Film Fight Scene

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alan Ladd looked quite natural — he was a mess.

His clothes were ripped, his face scratched and stained with makeup blood. He had engaged in yet another film fight, this time for his latest movie, "Man in the Net."

Unfortunately, statistics are not available. But if the publicists were on their toes, they'd come up with some figures. For instance, they could hazard that Ladd has thrown 10,000 punches for the screen, has bested 150 opponents with no significant defeats and has expended 100 pints of Max Factor's No. 5 blood.

Far be it from me to tell them how to run their business.

At any rate, I sat down for a chat with Ladd on film fistfights. Did he ever make a movie without a fight?

"Only one that I can think of," he replied. "That was 'And How Tomorrow' with Loretta Young. I played a doctor in that one."

The rest of it has been biff! bam! poof! in all the pictures. The movie patrons expect it of him, I guess, just as they expect Fred Astaire to hoof and June Allyson to cry.

His toughest opponent? "That was Ben Johnson in 'Shane'." Alan replied. "He knew what he was doing. We worked three weeks on that fight in the barroom."

The danger in film fights is in taking on greenhorns who don't know how to fake their punches. Some of the New York actors come out here with notions of reality and want to throw real punches. Or else they get carried away by the Stanislavsky method of acting. Then the opponent can get hurt.

"That's why I have my own stunt man on every picture — Paul Baxley," Ladd declared. "We generally do the fights together, and he puts on a black wig or a red wig or whatever is needed to double for the other actor. Paul and I could fight all day without landing a blow on each other."

There are tricks, you see, of arranging the camera angle so you don't see the space between the fist and chin. So when the roundhouse swing is made, the victim throws his head back, a cracking sound effect is heard and it looks as if a savage blow has been struck.

WHAT'S MY LINE? — Would Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appear on popular American TV shows if he came to the United States for a summit conference. Dave Garroway of the "Today" morning program has already issued an invitation to the Red boss to guest on his show.

Chance Nikita Could Clean Up

He'd Go Over Great on 'I've Got a Secret' and Other Quiz Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—When Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev accepted proposals for a summit meeting which might bring him to New York, Dave Garroway on his Today show instantly informed his television audience that Today would invite the Soviet leader to appear on the show.

It doesn't look as if Khrushchev is coming, but Garroway's gambit opens up all sorts of interesting speculations on what might have happened. No doubt, playing his cards right, Nikita could have turned a business trip to New York into a pretty profitable thing via the guest show route.

Of course, the What's My Line? people would never dare invite him to be their mystery guest because it would be too easy. He might be good for some laughs ("Are you in the entertainment business?") but he'd be much too easy to guess for that panel which watches incoming celebrity lists so carefully.

Nick would be great, of course, on I've Got a Secret ("I'm going to buy a toupee" or "I just sent like a barrel of caviar.") and he probably could get in a few plugs for his traveling road show in exchange for his appearance.

Actually, of course, his best bet would be the quiz shows. If he wanted to, he probably could fluster the summit session long enough to improve his dollar balance with several sessions on Twenty-One.

He would be a problem contestant, however, because his ideas of geography, history, invention and

Florida Judge Urges Use of Whipping Post

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A county judge urges the use of a whipping post for wife beaters, juvenile delinquents and nonsupport offenders.

"A public whipping at the door of the courthouse would have the greatest deterrent effect on these offenders," Judge L.A. Grayson says. The judge said wives should be given a chance to use the whip on husbands convicted of nonsupport and wife beating.

Debts, Women—and Impulse Why Do Two Policemen Stage Bank Stickups?

By BOYD SIMMONS
NEA Special Correspondent

DETROIT (NEA) — There's probably nothing a good police officer hates more than a bad cop. For one bad cop can put the taint of suspicion on every good one.

Until a few weeks ago, if the officers and men of the Detroit Police Department had been asked, they would have classed Patrolman James R. Burke as a good cop. Eight years on the force, he had three citations, including one for bravery in capturing an armed bandit three years ago.

But the department — and a shocked city — have just learned that they had not only Burke, but his scout car partner as well, in the wrong class.

JAMES BURKE: "I realized I was looking for myself."

The two were cops for eight hours a day — and highly successful robbers on their own time.

Police departments in many another U.S. city have been faced by similar embarrassments. What makes the Detroit case unusual is that two of the officers shed some light on what led them into their "Jekyll and Hyde" existence.

Burke and his partner, David Tapp, whom he recruited as his partner in crime, talked freely after their arrest.

"A police salary is something you can just get by on," Burke said. "If you want anything nice, you have to take another job."

"For five years after joining the force, I held an outside job despite the regulations against it. Then I got fed up and quit the second job. Almost overnight I was in debt."

The 33-year-old Burke claimed he pulled the first holdup on impulse.

"I was on midnight duty at the station and feeling irritable," he recalled. "I guess that's why I pulled the job. I only wanted to pull one and quit."

"I put on old clothes and held up a dime store, getting $1,500. Then I drove home, put on my uniform and went to work. I felt funny when I wrote notes on the holdup. I realized I was looking for myself."

It was about this time that Burke had become involved with another woman, and separated from his wife and their two children.

After eight robberies, most of them banks, Burke found he needed a partner. "I watched Tapp for several weeks," he said, "feeling him out to make sure he would take part in the robberies. Finally I decided he was my man."

Tapp, 26, and four years on the force with an unblemished record also was separated from his wife and two children. Of his role he said:

"I can't blame Burke for anything. He didn't make me go. I was in debt and needed money. I was willing to do anything to get it."

The new team got its biggest haul — $29,263 from a savings and loan office in suburban Livonia — the first time out.

Before a secret squad of detectives and FBI agents caught up with them, the two cops had pulled a total of 18 holdups with such speed of execution that local newspapers dubbed them "The Four-Minute Bandits."

Burke explained one reason for their success:

"When I was working as a policeman, I tried to be the best in my station, and when I took off my work clothes and went to pull a holdup, I wanted to be the best bank bandit there was."

Tapp apparently never got used to his double life. Often he had to fortify himself with liquor before a holdup.

DAVID TAPP: "I was willing to do anything..."

"There's something few people realize," he explained, "inside of you a lot of pressure builds up. You get edgy and mistrust everyone — good people and bad."

"It's just like I was someone else. Many times I said to myself, 'Where is the guy you used to be?'"

Police and FBI agents, acting on an anonymous tip, had been shadowing the two men for weeks. At dawn, on June 17, they walked in on Tapp at his apartment where he was entertaining a 19-year-old night club performer and a blonde university coed.

A simultaneous raid caught Burke at the Dearborn home of a waitress.

In fairness to the Detroit Police Department, it should be noted that the duplicity of the officers was the first such instance in the city's history. And the manner in which the other members of the department moved in once they got a clue to the bandits' identities left no doubt about how they felt about their two-faced colleagues.

3 Waive Examination Facing Burglary Charge

Three men who police say are members of a burglary ring waived examination in municipal court yesterday and were bound to circuit court.

Judge Maurice E. Finnegan bound over James Edwards, 17, of 217 Fisher St.; Thomas Manning, 17, of 162 Wesson St.; and Thomas Postell, 19, of 24 Walnut St.

Two other members of the alleged gang were bound over last week when they waived examination. Police said the five specialized in looting coin machines.

Pensions Near for Presidents

Bill to Give $25,000 Yearly Passes House; Has Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover, and President Eisenhower in 1961, are almost certain to be eligible for pensions of $25,000 annually.

They might even get free office space, free postage on up to 4,000 letters monthly, and a government-paid office staff.

The presidential pensions — and $10,000 yearly payments to widows of former presidents — were all but assured yesterday when the House passed a Senate-approved bill.

It agreed on the pensions but balked on the free office space, free office staff and free mail privileges voted by the Senate.

The action sent the bill to a Senate-House conference and the probability of a compromise cutting down on the office help and the free mail and restricting the free office space.

The House passed the pension bill by a 165-45 standing vote.

French Help Indians

CALCUTTA — French technicians are helping the Indian Government electrify 624 miles of a heavily traveled railroad in the Calcutta region. Later they may help electrify 1,248 miles of railroad in the Madras and Bombay areas. Also, the Indian Government is buying 50 electric locomotives from France.

Ore Freighter Freed From Lake Mud Bank

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP) — The Canadian Steamship Lines ore freighter Thunder Bay was refloated last night after having been stuck on a mud bank off Washburn, Wis., since early Monday.

The Thunder Bay floated free after the clamshell tug Adele had removed 2,100 tons of its iron ore load. The vessel returned to the Ashland docks for reloading of 1,400 tons of the ore the tug had transferred to railroad cars. The other 700 tons was reloaded directly from the Adele.

The vessel plowed into the mud bank seeking to avoid a float of logs coming into harbor as it was leaving.

The annual loss on worthless checks may run as high as $350 million.

Red China Announces Bumper Crop of Pigs

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today announced a bumper 1958 crop of pigs, 22 per cent greater than the target set by Peking's planners.

Peking radio said the pig population is now 184 million, 26 per cent more than last year.

The broadcast also reported a giant stride in communication of the pork industry, announcing that "the number of collective pig farms has grown to 63,000, more than treble that of last year."

Bound to Circuit Court on Burglary Charge

The third member of an alleged burglary trio was bound to circuit court yesterday after examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Andy E. Guyton, 22, no address, is accused of participating in the burglary of the apartment of Mary Swain, 772½ S. Saginaw St., last week. The two other men waived examination on arraignment and Swain, 772½ S. Saginaw St., last were bound to circuit court.
