Nixon Refuses to Get Out of Venezuela Early; Ike Orders 1,000 Troops to Nearby Areas

President Feels Reds Inspiring Mob Violence

Says Economic Woes in Latin America Also Partly Responsible

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today mob violence against Vice President Nixon in South America appears to reflect a pattern of Communist inspiration and exploitation.

But, he told a news conference, he believes economic troubles are partly responsible for the anti-American demonstrations in such countries as Venezuela and Peru.

Eisenhower said Communist inspiration seems to be behind the demonstrations in some other parts of the world, but added that the unrest in French Algeria may be caused by something else.

Eisenhower spoke in response to a request for his assessment of the current wave of anti-American demonstrations in South America — particularly what has happened to Nixon and his party in Venezuela and Peru.

A reporter asked whether the President saw any pattern of Communist inspiration or whether it also could be a case of genuine resentment against U. S. policies.

MATTER COMPLEX

Eisenhower called it a complex question. Then he went on to say that he does not believe there is any single cause of the violence in the Latin American countries.

There are, he added, economic factors in the U. S. relationships with such countries as Uruguay, Bolivia, Peru and Venezuela.

In Venezuela — where Nixon and his party were stoned and spat upon yesterday — there have been rumors, Eisenhower said, that the United States is trying to impose quotas on such oil exporting nations. There is no truth to that, Eisenhower declared.

Then he said that U. S. economic aid and world trade are as vital

Capital Crowds Will Welcome Nixons on Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — A great welcoming demonstration for the Nixons — symbolizing this country's unity against hostility or discourtesy abroad — was building up today in this capital, shocked and astounded by Latin-American violence toward the vice president and his wife.

Partisanship was tossed aside. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told his colleagues he would be at the airport when the Nixons return.

Indications were that President Eisenhower would be there too, and thousands upon thousands of other Americans.

Ex-Patient Sues Dr. Sullenberger

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger and Pontiac General Hospital have been named in a $100,000 suit charging the Pontiac surgeon left a sponge in a patient following an operation.

Cecil J. Harrison, 36, of 269 Seward St. charged the surgeon performed three operations on him for stomach ulcers at the hospital last summer, "although the condition could have been treated by medication without surgery."

Harrison, a factory worker and father of three, said the sponge was left behind during the first operation, July 31. A second operation followed to remove the sponge, he said, and the third was to repair the first incision, which he claimed had been improperly closed.

The suit, filed yesterday in Circuit Court, also names as defendants the hospital board of trustees, its medical satff and the city.

The surgeon and hospital have been at odds since he was suspended from its medical staff Nov. 13. A law suit, in which Dr. Sullenberger sought reinstatement and $250,000 damages, was tossed out of court April 11 on grounds he failed to make a final appeal to the trustees.

Dr. Sullenberger wrote the board of trustees yesterday, requesting a final hearing by its appeal committee. The board may set a date for the hearing at its meeting Thursday.

SMASHED WINDOWS OF NIXON CAR — Here is a closeup of the shattered windows of the car in which Vice President Richard Nixon rode yesterday through jeering Venezuelan mobs in Caracas.

Crises at a Glance

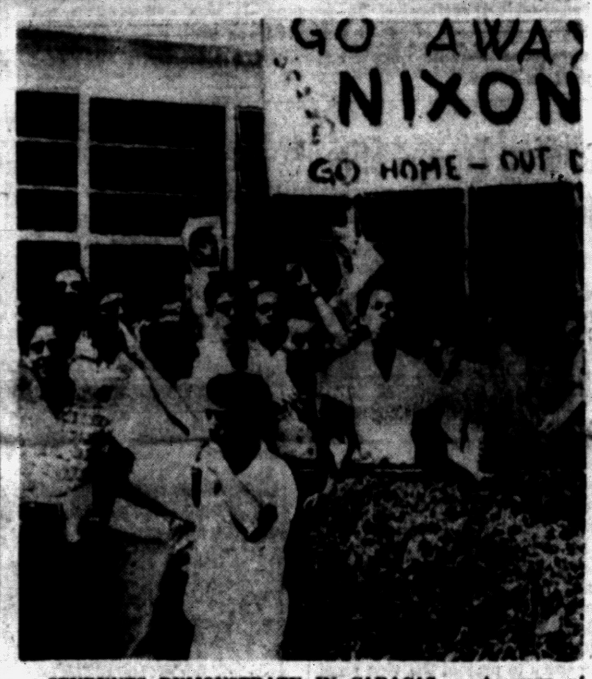

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CARACAS—Vice President Nixon cancels public appearances in face of mob violence; starts home tomorrow; United States moves 1,000 troops to Caribbean bases for possible emergency use.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower says economic troubles are partly to blame for anti-American demonstrations, but Communists are trying to exploit unrest.

PARIS — New French cabinet frowns on Algiers regime set up by Gen. Jacques Massu; orders Gen. Raoul Salan to take over in critical test.

BEIRUT — Bomb explodes near U.S. Embassy; government, fighting off mob rule, charges Nasser forces are trying to spread terror; Britain accuses Nasser of intervention.

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE IN CARACAS — A group of shouting students carries a "Go Away Nixon" banner during anti-United States demonstration over his visit to Caracas, Venezuela. First pictures of the disorder were flown to Port of Spain, Trinidad, and radioed to New York by Associated Press, for the AP Wirephoto circuits in this country.

French Republic Fighting to Live

PARIS (INS) — All French troops in Metropolitan France were reported tonight ordered confined to their barracks as a temporary and precautionary move.

The French Fourth Republic fought for its life today against a spreading revolt by army and civilian leaders in Algeria.

The Paris government ordered Gen. Raoul Salan, commander - in - chief in Algeria, to assume full governing powers for the moment.

GEN. RAOUL SALAN

Salan commands an army of 400,000 men, but his relationship with the rebels and the loyalty of the military were undetermined.

"Committees of public safety" backed by military leaders mushroomed in all major Algerian cities. They called for creation of a "national government of safety" under wartime hero Gen. Charles De Gaulle pledged to an all-out war against Algerian nationalists.

Trippers to See 'Who Was That Lady?'

New Play on Press List

A sparkling new comedy is now on the list of five top Broadway shows in store for The Pontiac Press theater-trippers who sign up for a week's vacation in New York City June 23-28.

"Who Was That Lady?" starring a popular comedy team, Peter Lind Hayes and his wife Mary Healy, has been scheduled in place of another show, "Fair Game."

The Hayes-Healy production provides a sure-fire laugh every 28 seconds, according to a recent review. Written by Norman Krasna, it's concerned with the droll doings of a college professor and his wife who get mixed up with the FBI.

The other shows scheduled are "Music Man," "West Side Story," "Two for the Seesaw," and "Oh, Captain!"—a package that offers music, laughter and drama.

The trip has side features, too—including tours, an after-theater supper, get-together buffet, fashion show and stock exchange visit. Deadline for reservations for five shows, air transportation and hotel accommodations is May 23.

400 Soldiers Guarding Embassy in Caracas

Vice President Assures Eisenhower Over Phone Situation Under Control

CARACAS (INS) — An indignant Vice President Richard M. Nixon scornfully refused today to heed demands of Communist-inspired mobs to get out of Venezuela ahead of schedule.

But violent anti-American demonstrators forced him to remain inside the heavily guarded U. S. Embassy in Caracas.

Vice President Nixon, object of a mob's howling wrath yesterday, assured President Eisenhower by telephone today that all is calm in Caracas.

Nixon assured the President everything is under control.

U.S. Air Force guards encircled the ambassador's residence and hundreds of Venezuelan police and troops patrolled surrounding roads.

More than 400 Venezuelan troops and police also surrounded the embassy area.

Five hundred Marines from Camp Lejeune, N. C., and 500 paratroopers from Fort Campbell, Ky., waited at U. S. bases in Cuba and Puerto Rico to reinforce the Venezuelans if there appeared to be danger of another mob getting out of hand.

Cuba is three hours away from Caracas by air and Puerto Rico is two.

The four companies of elite combat troops were flown from the U. S. to the Caribbean bases on President Eisenhower's direct orders when the lives of Nixon, his wife and members of his traveling party were put in danger upon their arrival from Bogota yesterday noon.

Dozens of deadly melon-sized rocks were hurled at the vice president, and at one point he was in extreme danger of being dragged from his auto by a gang which appeared bent on lynching him.

Gangs pounded the cars with clubs, smashed the windows, spit all over the Americans, hooted continually and tore up both U. S. and Venezuelan flags.

The ineptness of the police in handling the mobs apparently inspired the Red leaders to attempt last night to overthrow the military junta which has been running the country since dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez was kicked out in January.

Crowds of demonstrators finally were dispersed by troops firing over their heads and using tear gas and the flat sides of machetes.

ATTACK VICIOUS

This is the final day of Nixon's 18-day, eight-nation tour of Latin America which was labeled "good will" but has been marred at every stop by anti-American demonstrators. None of the other outbursts compared in viciousness with yesterday's well-planned attack.

Embassy sources said the all-out anti-Nixon effort mounted by the Communists was an indication that he had hurt them during his tour.

The Reds had expected Nixon to be easy prey but he kept his head and spoke with such frankness all along the way that he clarified many misunderstandings which existed in South America about the U.S. By boldly taking the offensive he had driven the Communists to des-

Sending Troops Raises Storm

Dems in Senate Press for Inquiry Into Move on Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's dispatch of 1,000 fighting men to the Caribbean appeared destined today to figure largely in a Senate investigation of Latin American mob action against Vice President Nixon.

The inquiry, by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), is expected to highlight a sharp division of opinion between Republicans and Democrats over the wisdom of the troop move.

Morse said he wants the State Department to tell why it didn't take advance precautions to prevent the kind of mob violence to which Nixon and his wife were subjected in Caracas, Venezuela.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), who joined several other Democrats in condemning the order sending paratroopers and Marines to U.S. bases in the Venezuela area, calling for a searching investigation of U.S. relations with Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla) told his colleagues "the worst thing we could do would be to send in the Marines" to Venezuela.

Bandits Get $31,500 in Sarnia

Michigan Bank Car Robbed Near Blue Water Bridge

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—Two pistol-shooting robbers took $31,500 today from a Michigan bank messenger at the Canadian end of the Blue Water Bridge connecting Port Huron and Sarnia.

No one was wounded in the gunfire. The messenger was unarmed.

Albert E. Borg, 65, of Port Huron, was en route from the Michigan National Bank of Port Huron to the Royal Canadian bank in Sarnia when the holdup happened. He was alone in a station wagon bearing the bank's name.

Borg, a 10-year Michigan National employe, said the bandits, driving a car with a Michigan license believed to be PK-7701 fired and forced him to a curb at the Ontario Information Center just on this side of the St. Clair river.

The robbers snatched out his auto keys, grabbed the four bags of Canadian currency he was transporting and fled.

The money was to be deposited to the Michigan National's credit in the Canadian bank.

The information center was unmanned at the time of the stickup. Ontario and Michigan police quickly ordered up roadblocks over a wide area.

The holdup car apparently turned north into the first side street, witnesses said, and then headed east toward London, Ont.

Venezuelan Publisher Discusses Nixon Riots

Did We Bungle Diplomacy in South America?

(What was behind the violent demonstrations against Vice President Nixon in Caracas yesterday? The publisher of Venezuela's most influential group of newspapers and magazines gives his answers. The writer was jailed by ousted dictator, Marcos Perez Jimenez last January for refusing to publish a government editorial.)

By MIGUEL ANGEL CAPRILES

CARACAS (INS) — I visited Vice President Nixon at the American Embassy in Caracas and was impressed by his friendliness, good will and understanding. So were the editors of my three dailies, Ultimas Noticias, La Esfera and El Mundo, who accompanied me to the embassy.

Because of Nixon's personality I deplore all the more the incidents to which he was subjected by groups of youths on his arrival yesterday. I shall try to analyze the reasons behind these demonstrations, if not thoroughly at least partly.

The group of newspapers published by me was the leader in a campaign, in the days preceding the arrival of the vice president, for a frank discussion of the problems facing the U.S. and Venezuela.

The main problem was that of the presence in the United States of Pedro Estrada (former security chief) and Marcos Perez Jimenez (exiled dictator).

We called for the open discussion of these problems in a civil and orderly form, without resort to violence of any kind.

Unfortunately, as Nixon himself told us yesterday at the embassy, young people are impulsive and quick tempered and do not always follow the advice of their more mature elders.

However, and I told this to Nixon at the meeting, I have just conferred with the leaders of the three main Venezuelan political parties—Accion Democratica, Democratic Republican Union and Christian Socialists—and the great majority of the Venezuelan public opinion emphatically condemns yesterday's violence as undemocratic.

I am sure the Venezuelan government junta has expressed these same sentiments to Nixon.

We cannot, however, blame all that has happened solely on communism even though it is true that some of the demonstrators were members of Communist youth groups.

As I have said in my newspapers, many things led to yesterday's violence. These things might be grouped under the general term of errors in United States policy toward Latin America.

Just one calculated step taken by the United States a week ago might have turned Nixon's reception in Caracas into a cheering ovation. This step was to have expelled our hated Security Chief Pedro Estrada from the United States.

People were incensed at the ease with which a permanent resident's visa was granted to Estrada. Other applicants go through a trying and lengthy process to get one. But Estrada got his in a hurry.

Another easy step for the United States to have taken, would have been to have Nixon omit his visit to Paraguay. This would have shown Latin Americans that North American leaders do not visit dictators.

Unfortunately, however, Nixon not only went to Paraguay but, I understand, he praised Dictator Alfredo Stroessner as an "anti-Communist fighter."

Recent threats of restrictions on oil imports did not, of course, contribute to a warm reception for Nixon.

As I once told George N. Butler, who was United States ambassador during the dictatorship, we do not ask that the United States intervene in our domestic affairs.

We ask only that our rich and most influential neighbor should differentiate between the decent people living in the neighborhood and those who are not so decent.

This does not require his meddling in their homes or their domestic affairs. This difference of treatment, namely showing good will toward the good neighbors, can change the whole neighborhood.

UAW Plan Gets Big-3 Rejection

Proposal for Outside Arbitration Meets With Unanimous 'No'

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union returns to the bargaining table with the automotive big three today after getting a resounding unanimous "no" to a UAW proposal that contract differences be arbitrated.

It was the second setback in a month for Walter Reuther's UAW. The big three on April 28 rejected his proposal to extend the current contracts for three months.

The three-year contract with General Motors expires May 29. Similar contracts with Chrysler and Ford run out June 1.

REUTHER SILENT

There was no immediate comment from UAW President Reuther on the rejection of the arbitration proposal he put forth Saturday.

GM took less than five hours to turn thumbs down on Reuther's suggestion which it termed "another publicity maneuver."

Ford and Chrysler took a similar stand yesterday. Ford said "it just does not make sense" to submit the complicated contract questions to outside arbiters. Chrysler, in its statement, rapped the idea as "part of a long campaign to obtain exorbitant and inflationary concessions" from auto companies.

The UAW and GM and Chrysler met in day-long bargaining sessions yesterday. Ford and the UAW met for only half a day.

The UAW, whose members now average $2.40 hourly, has put no estimate on the increases it seeks from the auto firms in wages, pensions, cost of living allowances and other benefits. GM has estimated the UAW package would cost 73 cents hourly, while Ford estimated 70 cents.

Cool on Coasts, Generally Mild Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a little cool in some eastern and western areas today, but generally fair, mild weather prevailed in most other sections of the country.

Except for showers in parts of central New England and southern Florida, skies were clear in most areas east of the Mississippi River. Cooler air spread from England to the Carolinas and across the Appalachians into Tennessee and the southern Ohio Valley.

There was a warming trend in the Gulf states and Great Lakes region. Biggest temperature advances were in the northern Great Lakes. Readings were in the 60s compared to the 40s yesterday morning.

Cool air moved south and eastward from the northern Rockies during the night and set off stormy weather in the plains and in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley. Rain fell from central Texas northward into Minnesota. Hail and strong winds hit sections of Kansas and Nebraska. Funnel clouds were reported in northeastern South Dakota in heavy rain storms.

Mostly fair and warmer weather was reported from the Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

Thunderstorms roared through the Southeast yesterday and last night with some hail and heavy rains in areas from southeastern Alabama through southern Georgia and most of Florida.

Reds Overjoyed by U.S. Troubles in World Today

VIENNA (AP) — Communist propagandists are having a field day with the reports of anti-American outbreaks in Lebanon and Venezuela and the demonstrations in Algiers and Paris.

Paced by the Soviet news agency Tass and Radio Moscow, the satellite radios of Eastern Europe joined in pouring out the anti - Western news and propaganda.

Early Departure Scorned by Nixon peration by the time he arrived in Caracas.

Nixon made it known that he was angry and indignant at the shameful treatment accorded an important American official, but one could not tell it by looking at him. He appeared relaxed and spoke coolly.

LOOKS UNWORRIED

He gave no indication of worry. But the U.S. Secret Service men who managed to get him safely into the embassy only by the skin of their teeth looked ahead uncomfortably to this evening's trip to the airport. He is due back in Washington at 10 a.m. (EDT) tomorrow.

They have to drive him back through the same street on which he arrived from the airport, and they fear possible further violence despite the fact the junta gave all assurances that this time the vice president would be adequately protected.

Nixon will ride in a bullet-proof limousine sent yesterday by junta chief Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazbal. The route to the airport will be cleared of traffic. Armored cars and tanks will be stationed at intersections.

The government seriously underestimated Communist strength yesterday and relied on the word of party leaders that any demonstrations would be "orderly."

Junta members visited Nixon at the embassy yesterday afternoon and advised him not to go outside because of the danger of more violence.

Nixon agreed, but he showed his displeasure with the government for failing to protect his party by canceling a dinner for the junta last evening and refusing to stay in the Venezuelan palace as had been planned.

He was to talk to government leaders today.

Last evening in a talk with newsmen, Nixon said that "it is not easy to undergo the sort of action we had to today. It is certainly not pleasant to be covered from head to foot with spit and have a man spit on my wife."

to this country as is proper defense.

As for the possibility of the riots being Communist inspired, Eisenhower said it is an old story all over the world that the Communists try to exploit any unrest.

He mentioned Burma, Indonesia and South America as examples.

He said it looks like some sort of concerted idea or pattern. Eisenhower then said he was making no direct accusation, but that it looks like a case of a lot of smoke and therefore there is a possibility of some fire.

Explosion in Front of U. S. Embassy

Riots Continue in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The harmless explosion of a bomb in front of the U.S. Embassy this morning began the fifth day of rioting against Lebanon's pro-Western government and its American ally.

The government of President Camille Cahmoun was reported standing defiantly against the shooting, burning mobs.

The disturbances that have racked this tiny eastern Mediterranean republic subsided again into sporadic shooting during the curfew last night. With the lifting of the curfew shooting increased and mobs returned to the streets.

The death toll in rioting in Beirut since Monday reached an estimated 20 persons. It was expected to go higher. At least 32 other persons have been reported killed since the trouble began Saturday in the north Lebanese port of Tripoli.

senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, wanted to know if Smathers would "close your eyes" if the Venezuelan government failed to protect Nixon and his wife.

"I for one am for protecting the dignity of the United States," Bridges said. "I am not for turning the other cheek."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he thinks it is right to have U.S. troops in position to protect Nixon and other Americans, but hopes they are not needed.

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind) said he favors doing whatever is necessary to protect the vice president.

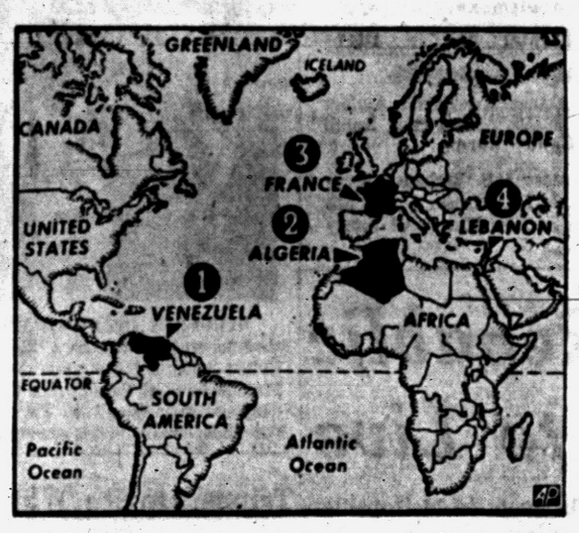

Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), member of the Armed Services Committee, said it was unfortunate that additional troops had been moved into the Caribbean area.

a dictatorship and precipitate civil war in France.

Admiral Philppe Auboyneau, commander-in-chief of French forces in the Mediterranean, pledged his support to the Algiers Committee of Public Safety created yesterday.

His telegram was announced to a huge rally today in Algiers.

Newly named Premier Pierre Pflimlin promised to make a statement on the confused situation in the National Assembly tomorrow morning.

The communique putting Salan in control in the name of the Fourth Republic conflicted with an earlier broadcast by Salan in which he fully supported the Public Safety Committee dedicated to "open revolt" against Pflimlin's government.

The Algiers Public Safety Committee is headed by Gen. Jacques Massu, a lean, tough paratroop leader. He has talked with Salan and also has pledged that his committee would retain power "until final victory" is won over Algerian nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Although Salan was said to have been delegated governing powers yesterday by the outgoing Felix Gaillarrd regime, today's government announcement was interpreted as a face-saving formula.

The announcement was seen as an effort to get Salan to declare himself more positively and also open a door through which he might return to the government fold. It also could be an attempt on the part of the harassed home government to split rebel military forces in Algeria.

A key question is whether the army is united behind General Massu and just how fully Salan supports Massu's call for a national government of security under De Gaulle.

The army has been fighting constantly since 1939 with a conspicuous lack of results in Europe, in Indochina and now Algeria.

A government notice forbade civil flights between Algeria and metropolitan France. Travel agencies said flights from Rome and Madrid to Algiers also were suspended.

The Day in Birmingham

Lakepark Storm Sewer Installation Approved

BIRMINGHAM — With the outdoor work season getting into high gear, Birmingham City Commissioners approved the necessity of installing a storm sewer on Lakepark drive between Raynale and Redding roads. Plans and cost estimates will be prepared by the engineering department prior to the public hearing on June 9.

Residents at the hearing Monday brought up the question of road paving.

Hearings of necessity have been set for June 2 on the surfacing of Lakeside avenue, Pine street, Midland avenue, Lakepark drive, and Willow Lane in the Quarton Lakes Estate subdivision. The Redding road paving will come up at that time without plans or estimates.

With an easement granted by Mrs. Pussie Robinson Hersey to permit the city to work across private land, the necessity hearing on the Valley View lane storm sewer, is planned for June 9.

Bloomfield Hills city commissioners last night gave tentative approval to a budget of $249,000 for the 1958-59 fiscal year and set May 27 as a date for a public hearing on it.

City Manager Elmer Kephart said the increase, approximately $5,000, is needed to provide salary raises and to pay for street paving.

Birmingham city commissioners have approved the appointment of City Manager L. R. Gare and Assistant City Manager Robert S. Kenning as representatives and alternate for the city on the Garbage and Rubbish Authority. The two will reverse offices as appointees to the Water Authority Board.

Mayor Carl Ingraham has appointed William Roberts and William Hutchinson to the Police Trial Board.

"Tag Days" and other street solicitations for benevolent purposes in Birmingham will be limited to one a month in the future, the commission has ruled. Permits will be offered on a "first come, first served" basis, with the stipulation that no request be made before 60 days prior to the desired date.

Police Lt. Robert Schaule said about 1,500 bicycles were inspected by the department with the assistance of the Kiwanis Club last Saturday. About 300 licenses were issued at this time.

Inspection teams will operate again Saturday at Pierce, Baldwin, Pembroke and Holy Name schools, beginning at 9 a.m.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will sponsor a rummage sale at the church Friday. Mrs. Harrison Goodhue, chairman, and members of Circle 2 will be in charge. Doors will open at 7:45 a.m.

An old fashioned hoe-down is being planned for 8 p.m. Saturday when the Birmingham Recreation Board will transform the parking lot at Pierce and Merrill streets into an out-of-doors dance hall.

Don Parry, local caller, plus an unnamed guest caller, will direct the dancers through the square dances.

Congress Ups Appropriations

Ten Bills Increased by Nearly ½ Billion Dollars —More Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appears likely, for the first time in 14 years, to increase appropriations above the amounts requested by the President.

A compilation of 10 money bills already considered shows a net increase of close to a half billion dollars over a total of almost 21 billions requested by President Eisenhower. The increase was voted by the House, which has passed all 10 of the bills.

Six of the bills have been passed by the Senate, which added 79 million dollars to the House-voted amounts.

Although about 53 billions in new money requests still are to be considered, the outlook for deep cuts is dim. More than 40 billions of the pending total is for the Defense Department. Congress currently is in no mood to make sharp reductions in military funds.

Other big appropriations not yet considered by either branch of Congress are for the foreign aid program and for public works, neither of which, from present indications, is likely to be cut enough to offset the half billion dollar increase already voted in other bills.

Not once in the past 13 years has Congress voted the full amount of presidential appropriation requests. The reductions range from a high of 12 billions trimmed in 1953 from requests for 77 billions submitted by President Truman before he left office, to a low of $257,000,000 cut in 1956 from requests totaling $73,300,000,00.

Over the 13-year span, the average reduction has been $3,700,000,000, a year.

Police Get Shirt Believed Worn by Sam Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A ragged and stained T-shirt, found on the bank of the Black River at Elyria, has been turned over to police by an attorney for Samuel H. Sheppard.

The Bay Village doctor now is serving a life sentence at Ohio Penitentiary for bludgeoning his pregnant wife, Marilyn, to death in their home in the early hours of Sunday, July 4, 1954.

When police arrived at the home the T-shirt which Sheppard had been wearing was missing. His story was that he had grappled with a bushy-haired man who killed his wife. He never detailed what had become of the shirt, but in his trial left the impression the intruder might have taken it.

Police Inspector Michael J. Blackwell said he received the shirt from William J. Corrigan, one of Sheppard's trial attorneys.

Three amateur geologists found the shirt five days ago, said Blackwell, identifying them as James, Russell and Albert Burgett of Elyria. It was wrapped around a stone.

Ankara, capital of Turkey, has a population of 450,000.

Hal Boyle Says:

Top Baritone Cassel Also Can Sew Well

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of America's top baritones is as handy with a needle as he is an aria.

He is Walter Cassel, the 6-foot, 200-pound Metropolitan Opera star.

"I sewed all the slip covers and the drapes in this room," he said, leaning back comfortably in the East Side apartment where he lives with his wife, Gail Manners, the soprano.

"I learned sewing as a boy. My mother was a fine milliner. My father was an interior decorator. I always wanted a sewing machine — you can do better work with one. But now th I finally have one, I ind I'm too busy to use it."

The big baritone, who designs many of his operatic costumes, also is an expert photographer and woodworker. He constructed most of the built-ins in his apartment. He is also a talented cook.

Cassel, who comes from Council Bluffs, Iowa, believes any skill a man can develop is helpful. Before winning his laurels in opera, he studied dentistry and worked as flour miller, sign painter, carpenter and radio announcer to pay for his singing lessons.

Although he is one of the few leading opera singers who have made-in-America voices, Cassel feels that his inability to study abroad was no great handicap.

"Some of the American public is so guillible it can't appreciate anything unless it has first been hailed somewhere else," he acknowledged cheerfully. "But you can get just as good training here as in Europe."

Most opera stars rarely will sing more than three performances in a week. Cassel made musical headlines early this year when, during a weekend emergency, he sang three different and exacting roles within 24 hours at the Metropolitan. It was a test of stamina and virtuosity unique in the Met's history.

"The next morning he got up early and fixed my breakfast ,because I had to sing in church," said his wife, smiling.

She and her husband, called by one critic "the Lunt and Fontanne of the musical theater," like to perform together whenever possible. They say a joint musical career has been no handicap.

"If you have difficult roles to rehearse, it's nice to have a partner," said Miss Manners, who comes from Akron, Ohio, and is small, pretty, and brown-eyed.

Contrary to many opera stars of the past, Cassel believes good acting is almost as essential to a performance as good singing.

"In America now they have grown to expect good acting from a singer," he said.

"But many musical comedy producers still have the old idea that you can't teach an opera star to act. They think it's easier to take an actor and make a passable singer of him."

Mild-mannered and soft-spoken, Cassel rarely gives vent to the displays of temperament traditionally associated with opera stars.

"You have to have enough ego to make yourself secure as a human being or an artist," he said, "but I don't think that to be a great artist anyone has to behave like a jackass."

50 Detroiters in Scotland to Drum Up More Trade

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Fifty visiting Americans conferred for two hours yesterday with Scottish businessmen to drum up trade for the St. Lawrence Seaway and Detroit — but mainly for Detroit.

The visitors are members of the Detroit Board of Commerce, now on their eighth international tour to boost the advantages of doing business with the Michigan metropolis.

The tour, given particular point this year by the American recession, will last four weeks and will include visits to Denmark, Germany, Belgium, France and finally London.

The Americans already have spent four days here in Scotland. They visited hydroelectric power developments, industries and factories which have been set up by Americans in Scotland.

One of the biggest factories they visited was the Burroughs plant near Glasgow, the office machinery firm which has its headquarters in Detroit.

Peter Shian, secretary of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, told newsmen:

"Naturally we are looking for trade for our city during this trip.

"So far there has been nothing concrete but we are confident that this interchange of ideas and problems will be a big advantage in the future.

"For example we are spreading the news of the St. Lawrence waterway which will enable the biggest ships to come right into Detroit, in the heart of America, by next year.

"This will cut transportation costs and must help stimulate trade with Europe."

He said he was confident that the recession in Detroit, where there had been 210,000 unemployed, had now leveled off.

S. Den Uyl, Detroit aluminum company director, said Americans were ready to set up factories in Scotland in partnership with Scottish industrialists. He said those already established here were prospering.

He said they were taking a complete film record of their visit which should be of tremendous interest to other businessmen in Detroit and other parts of America.

Jean Little, insurance man, spent one of his four days visiting in the north of Scotland and the county of Inverness, where he had traced his Scottish ancestry back to 1712.

2 Survive Plunges From High Windows

DETROIT (AP) — David Grimmett, 2, and Joseph Dziatkowski, 67, fell from high building windows in separate plunges yesterday. Both survived.

David plunged from the third floor window of his home. He landed on a rubbish pile. His mother, Virginia, 23, said he was unscratched.

Dziatkowski plummeted four stories from the window of his room at Henry Ford Hospital. He was recovering from a blood clot operation, but was later listed as critical from chest injuries received when he struck soft soil below the window.

Seaway Toll Formula to Be Given in July

WASHINGTON (AP)—The formula under which St. Lawrence Seaway tolls will be charged is expected to be made public around July 1.

The date was given to a House appropriations subcommittee yesterday by Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., the agency created by Congress to construct and maintain the U. S. portion of the international project.

The July 1 date, Castle told the subcommittee, will give prospective users of the 27-foot-deep waterway—linking the Atlantic to the Great Lakes for most of the world's shipping—"pretty near a year's time to be informed of the rate."

An average farmer in the U. S. spends about $3,000 a year for feed, seed, fertilizer, oil products, machines, building material and hardware.

Named School Head

Pontiac Proud of Work Salvation Army Does

Pontiac can well be very proud of the Salvation Army's rehabilitation center. This great organization came quietly into the city, paid for a fine building and shortly thereafter was really "in business."

MAJOR ALDER

Early in the life of this institution, Major ERNEST ALDER was asked how much the community would be expected to help in financing the activities.

"Nothing," said the Major with a friendly smile. "We pay our own way."

Listeners gasped.

This was a new approach.

Usually, everything connected with the rehabilitation of men, women and children, whether it be financial, physical or moral runs into important dough, sooner or later. But these boys are operating on a different basis.

They guide the activities of those who are floundering and help restore them to society as soon as possible. During the process, they give them the fine self respect that goes with "earning your own way." Deep down in their hearts, very few grown men look with pride on support from charity.

During the past six month period, the Salvation Army center served more than 25,000 meals. The taxpayers and givers of Pontiac didn't contribute a cent.

The S. A. financed itself.

The Salvation Army has always been a great force for good in this country. It has universal appeal for it "goes to the people" and finds them on their own level. The newest Army activity in Pontiac is one of which the entire community can justly be proud.

In fact, Major, we are.

Blossom Time Is Spreading Its Glory

Fruit trees in bloom mean much more in the Pontiac area than in most other sections of our nation.

To be sure, everywhere it heralds one of the most joyous seasons of the year, and is the advance agent of the coming fruit harvest.

But here, with our generally rolling contour, the trees are privileged to put on a more majestic display than in level areas.

Right now the light pink of the apple vies with the deep pink of the peach, both seemingly endeavoring to steal the spotlight from the white of the cherry and pear in the annual glory show.

It is worth a drive into the country in most any direction.

No community in the Pontiac area has a gallery seat in this extravaganza of nature.

Over Farmington way the large orchards predominate more than in any other section of our county. They're flower beds, measured by the acre.

But most every country road (and some city and village streets), have single trees that are putting on a solo performance, with a background that looks like a mammoth tinted snowbank.

Although we must admit that our great industrial and housing developments have pushed many of our orchards off the map, this only serves to further accentuate the beauty of the trees that we are privileged to still have with us.

A little inspection and quiet and sober reflection will convince you that it's great to be living in the Pontiac area in blossom time.

Decrease in Fatalities Due to Safety in Cars

Anything that shows progress in the safety of automobiles is of great interest in Pontiac. We have a big stake in automotive transportation of all sorts.

For the first quarter of 1958, the deaths in the United States were six percent under the same period for 1957. The grim figures dropped from 8,250 to 7,730. This isn't tremendous but it is very heartening in the light of a total that mounted for so long.

Also, with traffic undeniably higher than it was, the actual fatality per mile may have declined even more. Current statistics seem to indicate that the night hours are the most dangerous period of the day with twilight standing next.

We should all exercise extra vigilance then.

The Man About Town

It Was His Hobby

Lifelong Collector of Indian and Other Relics

Rules: What govern most clubs —or do they?

One of the main collectors of Indian relics in the Pontiac area was of 5511 Pine Knob Road, who died last week, aged 84. The 112-year-old brick house in which Mr. and Mrs. Stevens lived the 55 years of their married life, is on land taken up from the government by the grandfather of and is preserved in much of its original setting.

Stone arrow heads and other Indian relics by the hundred were gathered in this area by him. They are reminiscent of the days of

Chiefs Pontiac and Sashabaw

Mrs. Stevens, who has a habit of keeping mementoes of the past, survives her husband, and her memory is rich in the lore of the days when our only traffic problem was the mud and sand ruts.

A robin with a true belligerent spirit is reported by

General Chairman of the Summer Festival of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce,

Ralph Eastridge,

tells of an international flavor in that event of July 11, 12 and 13. The Water Follies, then presented at Wisner Stadium, go directly from here to the Brussels World's Fair.

Getting too old and decrepit to gather it himself, Man About Town wishes to pass along to my readers the fact that asparagus grows wild on many of our roadsides, and right now can be gathered in ample soup or other quantities.

Out in the editorial room, our happy, easy looking and efficient Household Editor, wants to do a story on edible weeds. If you know of anything in that line besides dandelion, cow slip and lamb chop greens, elderberry pie or wine, sassafras tea or poke root panacea, give her a ring. Her extension is 53 on FE 2-8181.

Janet Odell,

All Thumbs

David Lawrence Says:

Kremlin Inspires Anti-U.S. Riots

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin has declared "war" against the United States in Latin America. It is called a "cold war" and it takes the form of "demonstrations," but underneath there is an apparatus designed to aid the strategic purpose of the Communist regime in any "hot war" that could some day involve all parts of the Western Hemisphere. The Soviet aim now is to thwart the policies of this country and to weaken its influence and prestige throughout Latin America.

LAWRENCE

The fomenting of hostile demonstrations against the vice president of the United States on his visit to various South American countries in the last 10 days could only be achieved by direct orders of the Moscow government. The groundwork is, of course, laid in advance by agents and provocateurs, but the command to act is given in the Kremlin.

NOTES EXCHANGED

Just why the United States should be exchanging cordially phrased notes with any government that is openly participating in hostile acts against it is one of the mysteries of present-day diplomacy. There was a time in world history when the United States government did not hesitate to brand as an assault on the Monroe Doctrine any attempt by a European government to extend its power inside Latin America or to carry on there any actions unfriendly to this country.

There is every reason to believe that the United States government knows of the origin of the demonstrations against Vice President Nixon. The objective is plain, too. The idea was to make it appear that the peoples of Latin America resented the presence of a high official of the United States government.

Everyone who is familiar with Latin American affairs knows that the governments and peoples there are friendly to this country. There are, of course, always matters that cause friction, especially in trade and economic affairs, and it is not difficult to whip up anti-American sentiment if there is sufficient money and effort put into it behind the scenes. The Communists maintain a big gold deposit in a Paris bank from which transfers are made to auxiliary groups in Latin America.

STUDENTS USED

It has long been a Communist technique to work through students and college faculties. Even in the United States the Communists have had their agents in our colleges and universities. The method usually is to enlist a few professors, who in turn influence aggressive students.

In the United States there is to a certain extent an awareness of the Communist line and most people are inclined to recognize it. But in Latin America there's a fertile field because there hasn't been, relatively speaking, the agitation that has occurred in the United States and Canada following revelations of the existence of Communist espionage rings.

Nor is there now as much vigilance in this country by the public, due to the success of so-called "liberals" in squelching or frustrating congressional investigations.

International communism is a very powerful force throughout the world and it is particularly successful in stirring up trouble in the Middle East. Thus, for instance, in Lebanon the "war" is on in earnest. Lebanon has long been pro-West. To overcome this, the Communists, using Nasser and his fanatic following as stooges, have been broadcasting daily from Cairo in an effort to bring about a revolt against the Lebanon government.

Also, all Communist stations behind the Iron Curtain are hammering away at the people of Lebanon, giving them all sorts of distortions about the West.

The "cold war" is getting hotter every year, and yet the Western powers dilly-dally with notes about a "summit" conference instead of issuing words of warning to the Kremlin. For it is rapidly becoming all too clear that Communist imperialism has declared war on free peoples everywhere and that the days of a "hot war" are being brought nearer and nearer by the dangerous tactics of the government in Moscow.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness;—II Peter 1:6.

Learn patience from the lesson
Though the night be drear and long;
To the darkest sorrow there comes a morrow,
A right to every wrong.

—John Trowbridge.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Patient Pays for X Ray but It's Hospital Property

"Husband struck his arm . . . after a few weeks a lump had appeared. We had X-rays taken and a diagnosis of tumor. It was suggested . . ."

". . . we wait to see if it increased in size or caused any discomfort. . . the size did increase considerably, and the family physician urged immediate operation . . . but we had a second set of X-rays and a bone surgeon said . . . We were not satisfied, so we decided to take him to —— hospital.

"We went to the local hospital to obtain the X-rays for the —— doctor's examination, but they told us the X-rays are the hospital's property and they are never given out to patients or their families. Aren't we entitled to have the X-rays . . . " (Mrs. B.L.H.)"

If the X-ray films were made in the hospital they are part of the hospital's records and the hospital can't and shouldn't give them out to patients or anyone else.

Anyway, no self-respecting doctor will accept X-ray films submitted second hand, so to speak. If the doctor thinks X-ray examination necessary, he or she will specify precisely what is required.

The courts have passed on this question, declaring that the X-ray plates or films are part of the records and that the hospital or, in private practice, the doctor owns them. That the patient paid for X-ray examination makes no difference.

From what the lady tells and does not tell I should say the advice of the family doctor was sound — better advice than the advice of some one (unidentified) that the man should wait to see whether the tumor grew.

If a person goes to an X-ray shop or laboratory and asks the attendant to take an X-ray picture for which he will pay, say, $4.50, the picture becomes his, of course, though it is scarcely worth the price. If the purpose is to prove a diagnosis wrong the picture would have to be positively identified and substantiated by qualified experts who made it or saw it made.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'He Isn't Eligible but He Fits All the Qualifications'

Good luck to Betty the Dreamer, but just remember with all the alphabet qualifications they still have faults.

I know a man who fulfills the requirements from A to Z. The only reason he is ineligible is because he has been married to me for six years. Two of the qualifications puzzled me at first: Rich and xylophonist. By having all these qualifications he is certainly rich.

As for xylophonist, you would have to prove what it has to do with eligible husband material. I'll just say

'Let Them Tend the Home Fires'

A Detroit newspaper made some pious remarks about Pontiac's police situation. Never have we sunk to the perpetual depths of Detroit. They have a bombing down there several times a week now as a steady thing. Why don't the Detroit papers pay a little attention to the mess at home?

Tells Appreciation for Cooperation

May I voice my personal appreciation for your fine cooperation in our efforts toward our Pontiac Symphony Orchestra?

We who've worked long and hard for this and like projects in Pontiac are most happy that a newspaper as successful as our Pontiac Press sees the importance of building for our cultural future as well as our economic future.

Your staff has been most helpful in every way. I think I should also tell you that at state board meetings I often brag of and always feel grateful for our splendid help from The Pontiac Press.

'Let's All Behave Like Americans'

Come on, Democrats and Republicans. Forget about votes and try to act like Americans. You're doing Russia more good than all the Red agents in the country. Stop telling labor that capital is its enemy. Stop telling people wages have nothing to do with prices. Stop worrying about company profits as long as you receive pay for your work. Stop inciting hatred between Negro and white. If the only way you can get votes is to set labor against capital or Negro against white, you're not competent to hold any office.

'Who Are They to Be Griping?'

I go into a slow burn when I hear someone squawk about Eisenhower's golf. It sets the taxpayers of the U.S. back more than a quarter of a million dollars a year to run two libraries "in honor" of Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman. As though that pair didn't cost us enough when they were in office!

Now we have to shell out almost $300,000 annually to "remember them" by. Ike's golf balls cost about a dollar apiece and I understand the company makes him a present of them and I understand he pays his own caddy. Who's finding fault with whom?

Grrrrrrr

'He's Fortunate, but Others Aren't'

I'm glad Another Ex-Limey is in good health and pays only $10-$15 a year for examination, but is this typical? It's advisable to have a dental examination plus some form of medical insurance coverage. I paid $68 last year for insurance while my employer added the same amount. Our other expenses were for vaccinations and spectacles. Fortunately we're in good health but this may not always be true. I still consider $41 to be a reasonable figure, and judging from recent local elections in Britain, a great many are of the same opinion. In the meantime, I hope Another Ex-Limey can get by on $10-$15 every year, but I'm wondering.

Praises Coverage on Police Report

Congratulations to The Pontiac Press for doing a commendable job again reporting on the six-month study and report concerning our police department. There is every indication that the study is complete and detailed and is the story the police association has been trying to tell us for a long time.

I'm surprised to learn the Chief can't be readily removed by the City Manager. Mr. Willman said he might question parts of the report. The only time a person has a right to question a report is when his knowledge and qualifications are superior to, or when he can do a better job than the investigator. But we must remember that we have Mr. Willman to thank for bringing this out in the public.

There were several other "ifs" and questions, but why? There's no question of the recommendations being of benefit to the city and they should be acted upon as quickly as possible. I'll be there for the public meeting. So will many others.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Do You Want to Gain Popularity?

Earlier this week I mentioned Nell, who felt like the ugly duckling. But within six months, she was happy as a lark, with many friends and a boy who wanted to go steady with her. It all happened because she followed a few medical and psychological formulas. Scrapbook this case and then use the same pattern. It is surefire!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Y-309: Nell D., aged 16, is the cross-eyed girl described yesterday.

But an eye surgeon soon remedied her eye trouble. She now had two straight eyes and felt gleeful.

DR. CRANE

However, I reminded her she still had the big problem of winning friends and popularity.

So I gave her the "Test for a GirlFriend," which I had compiled at Northwestern University by personal interviews with over 1,000 engaged men.

I asked each boy what he liked best about his fiancee. I inquired what had first attracted him to her and what led him to ask her to be his wife.

Each boy soon enumerated a number of virtues or "merits" that his fiancee possessed.

Then I reversed my query and asked if there was anything about her he would change if he could do so without offending her.

In every case, these men then commented on some faults, whether petty or of major importance. Sometimes they hadn't paid conscious attention to them before, but now they specifically named them for me.

So I sorted out the 50 commonest merits of their fiancees and also listed the 50 commonest faults or demerit.

For example, boys do not like red fingernail polish on girls even though they usually say nothing to their sweethearts about it.

And most of the men, though maybe using cigarets themselves, did not want their fiancees to smoke or use liquor.

Space will not permit a full listing of these 100 merits and demerits of sweethearts, but I pointed out to Nell that almost all of them are subject to cultivation.

In short, most of the 100 faults and virtues are NOT inherited items at all! So you can gain popularity quickly by acquiring the habits that boys like, as well as eliminating some of your faults.

NELL'S EXPERIMENT

I let Nell rate herself on the "Test for a Girl Friend" and she was shocked to see that she had a "Poor" ranking.

"You can change yourself into the 'Superior' category in a few weeks," I promised her.

"For example, trim those bird-claw fingernails that project far over the ends of your fingers. Cut out the red nail polish. Throw your cigarets away.

"Then learn to smile at your companion. Pay him at least one compliment each time you are with him. Your rating will zoom fast as 'date bait'."

Well, Nell agreed to try. She also joined the "Compliment Club" wherein you are to pay a compliment per day to each of three different people.

"You can use most of your compliments on your high school classmates," I told her, and she apparently did.

For the next term (her senior year) she had so many friends among both sexes that she was elected Secretary of her class. And she dated many boys.

The President of the class finally asked her to go steady! So she changed within six months from the "ugly duckling" to the "white swan."

An unhappy, frustrated girl with a cross-eyed eye and a wish to be dead, now was happy, popular and in love.

It can happen to you readers, too, but you must follow the proper psychological formula.

Start out by sending for the "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

They include a 100-point test for boys as well as girls and make dandy discussion material for church groups.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Best Red Aide West of Curtain

Top Italian Communist Influences Over Million Even if Sick at Home

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Palmiro Togliatti sits at home these days. He is 65 years old and seriously ill. But he is still the Kremlin's most trusted and ablest lieutenant this side of the iron curtain.

The Italian election campaign is in high gear now and Luigi Longo, Togliatti's deputy boss of the Italian Communist party, is running the show for the Reds.

But the mind of the chief still is the foremost influence on the 1,200,000 members of the party.

The theme of the Red drive for votes in the May 25 election is:

"Vote Communist; but, in any case, do n o t vote for the Christian Democrats."

Such a slogan could have been coined only by Togliatti, political observers say. He realizes that the negative approach is probably the only way to wean voters from the pro-west Christian Democrats and thus indirectly strengthen the Communist position.

Togliatti is a Machiavellian from way back — even before there was a Soviet Union. He was an extreme left-winger in his Turin student days and a writer for the Socialist paper Avanti.

He switched to the Communists in 1921, helped found the party in Italy and was run out in 1925 by Mussolini's blackshirts.

The Kremlin used him to fulfill important missions abroad under various aliases. One of them was Ercole Ercoli, or Hercules Hercules.

Stalin's benign gaze brought Togliatti up the Soviet ladder. He supervised the Communist-run Garibaldi brigade in the Spanish civil war and disbursed Russian money to aid the loyalist cause.

Togliatti went back to Russia at the outbreak of World War II, but returned to Italy when Mussolini was overthrown. He reformed the Communist party, became its acknowledged leader and served in the early postwar Italian government.

Since that time, he has been a member of parliament and the arch-foe of parliamentary government in Italy.

He was almost murdered by a would-be assassin in 1948 and still suffers recurrent blackouts as a result of that attack. In addition, it is said, he has a circulatory ailment.

But he has lost none of his enthusiasm for communism or his cunning in plotting. He is the silent man in the Italian election campaign, but he speaks with a million tongues.

Doctor to Advise Ives Whether He Can Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) learns today from his doctor whether his health permits him to seek a third term. Ives said he was not optimistic.

The 62-year-old New Yorker said he would make a formal announcement based on the advice that he receives from the doctor.

Ives' health has not been good since 1954, the year he unsuccessfully opposed Democrat Averell Harriman for the governorship of New York. Ives said he made that race against his doctor's advice that it might aggravate a high blood pressure condition.

Siren Jean Harlow Lives Again — on TV

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The movie on the late-late show was "Riff-Raff," starring Jean Harlow, who has become, in recent months, the posthumous princess of the night people.

Husband said wow, and took a nap after dinner so he could stick out the post-midnight TV shift.

He was wide-awake at the movie's finish, and fairly obnoxious.

"This," he said riff-raffishly, "was a great dame. Too bad she died." He looked over thoughtfully. "Why is it," he said, "that the good die young?"

That about ended that conversation. But next day at the office, a copy boy remarked how man, he'd seen Jean Harlow for the first time last night and was she ever a great dame.

He said the old folks in the family had started a big fight about how she died, and ended up with two votes for an overdose of sunburn, one for pneumonia and one for sleeping pills.

So how did it happen, he said. So go down to the morgue for the Harlow file, I said. And the heavy packet of yellowing, flaky clippings from 21 years ago showed the whole family to be wrong.

It happened June 7, 1937. Hollywood's "No. 1 Glamour Girl," Jean Harlow, 26, had been stricken 10 days earlier with what was described as a gall bladder inflammation, while working on the set of "Saratoga" with Clark Gable.

She had called glamour boy William Powell, whom she had scheduled to be her fourth husband, and said, "Bill, darling, I feel wretched. Get some one to drive me home."

For a week her condition appeared to improve.

Then, on the afternoon of June 6, she had another severe gall bladder attack. At 9:30 a.m. June 7, she was rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital . . . "A cerebral edema which followed acute toxic poisoning brought on a new crisis," the medical bulletin stated.

A squad of firemen and doctors, using an inhalator, tried to keep the beautiful peroxide platinum alive. They gave her two blood transfusions. But there was no sign of returning life.

At 11:37 a.m., with actor Bill Powell "holding her hand tightly and gazing tensely into her eyes," Jean Harlow died.

In spite of a fast-and-full life, Harlow probably was the great dame so many late-show lovers are now discovering for the first time.

Powell, after the sudden tragedy, did not resume work for three years. Gable, "Broken by news of Jean's death," walked off the set crying, "I can't go on now. Jean meant too much to all of us."

Two of her trio of ex-husbands — the two who were living — were Charles McGrew, a wealthy socialite, with whom she eloped at 16; and Hal Rosson, a cameraman. McGrew was said to be "prostrate with shock." Rosson said, "Jean was worth everybody's love."

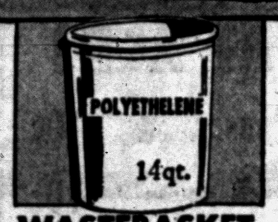

Jean's second husband, movie executive Paul Bern, was the only possible blight on her record of success, with men and movies. One month after their marriage, he wrote her a note addressed to "Dearest dear" — and then fatally shot himself.

Bob Considine Says:

Joe Louis, Now 44, Remains the Champ

NEW YORK (INS)—J. L. Barrow is 44 years old today. He fought in the ring under his given names of Joseph and Louis. Joe fought 71 professional bouts, won 54 of them by knockouts, made $3,799,659, has no way of paying the government the $1,250,000 he owes in back taxes, penalties and interest. There's no way his debt can be "forgiven."

Joe fought two of his big ones for Army-Navy Relief, had a good service record, was perhaps the cleanest good fighter the heavyweight division ever produced.

He fought without rancor, except perhaps the night he flattened Schmeling in their second meeting. But his absence of rancor was purely academic to those he knocked out. It was no additional comfort to be belted unconscious by a man whose face almost said, "Sorry I have to do this."

I said to him once, as he got ready to fight his first Negro opponent, John Henry Lewis, "Well, I guess you'll take it easy on your friend, Joe. You wouldn't want to hurt him, would you?"

Joe said, "Oh, my no." He had great admiration for John Henry Lewis, who could talk like a college professor and do fractions.

That night he went after John Henry like a tiger, as the bell sounded. Soon, poor John Henry was bouncing crazily off this rope and that, catapulted there by Joe's fists. It was a one-round knockout that made strong men turn their heads away, aghast.

"I thought you liked John Henry," I said to Joe later.

"Oh, I do," he said earnestly. "You see, I wanted to put him away quick, for his sake. If the fight went any distance I might have cut him."

Nobody wrote his greatest line for him, his wartime assertion from a ring, "We'll win because we're on God's side." A lot of other sense came out of Joe's formally almost untutored mind. I never heard him say an unkind thing about anyone.

Some fighters (very few, really) will throw a punch outside the ring. At the peak of his utter brilliance as a ring killer—at a time when he was running up the incomparable record of successfully defending his title 25 times — a bum could insult him in a restaurant or along the street and Joe would laugh.

Where did the money go? Lots of places. To start with, he was cut "down the middle," not the customary 33 1-3 per cent. His managers Julian Black and John Roxborough took 50 cents of each dollar, and he had to bear a portion of his training expenses.

When Schmeling was gypped out of the crack at Jim Braddock, then the champion, and Louis was given the shot, he agreed to give Braddock and the late Joe Gould, Jim's Manager, 10 per cent of his earnings for the next ten years.

An unsuccessful first marriage, a series of investment flops, and heavy losses to golfers who somehow always could beat him by just a stroke or two, accounted for much additional drainage.

Joe was instinctively great.

"Chappie does things right and don't know why," Jack Blackburn would happily crow afte rthe fight. In the first Conn fight, Joe boxed absolutely superbly against that master boxer, until Billy decided to go for broke in the 13th.

The young ones coming along see old Joe climbing through the ring ropes every now and then at a big fight, the TV lights making his bald spot shine. He gets a hand, grins shyly, touches the gloves of the two detached and withdrawn fighters, and goes back to his seat. What the young ones must be told is that there goes a great and wonderful man.

"A Treasury of Great Reporting" contains a piece I wrote about the second Louis-Schmeling fight nearly 20 years ago. It went like this:

"He was a big lean copper spring, tightened and retightened through weeks of training until he was one pregnant package of coiled venom.

"Schmeling hit that spring. He hit it with a whistling right-hand punch in the first minute of the fight—and the spring, tormented with tension, suddenly burst with one brazen spang of activity. Hard brown arms, propelling two unerring firsts, blurred beneath the hot white candelabra of the bright lights.

"And Schmeling was in the path of them, a man caught and mangled in the whirring claws of a mad and feverish machine."

That's how Joe affected the writers of his time. Happy birthday, champ.

Big Rockets Poised for Launchings Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two giant Army rockets—the Jupiter and the Redstone — were poised at the missile test center today ready for launching in the near future.

The two towers in the Army area buzzed with activity yesterday as technicians serviced both missiles for firing.

Nearby, the first of four Air Force Titan intercontinental ballistic missile towers took shape against the skyline. The towers will house the Titan when its test program starts next fall.

The Titan, which will complement the Atlas ICBM project, reportedly has a range as high as 6,300 miles. Lighter than the Atlas, it may be the first missile to carry man into space.

The Jupiter, an intermediate range ballistic weapon, is earmarked for shipment to Europe late this year as an operational missile.

Mill Avoids Accidents

MUNISING (AP) — The Munising Paper Co., which has more than 500 employes, has maintained an accident-free operation for a full year. A subsidiary, the Munsing Co. has the best record among plants of Kimberly-Clark Corp. It also tops for safety all American and Canadian pulp and paper mills of similar size.

Big Foreign Aid May Go Today

House Is Predicted to Pass $3.6 Billion With No Cuts Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defeat of major fund-cutting amendments brought predictions the House would pass intact today a $3,603,000,000 program of overseas aid for next year.

Acting Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) of the Foreign Affairs Committee reacted cautiously to the string of victories yesterday against efforts to cut the bill. He was wary, because, he said, results were easy so far.

"I'm not jubilant yet," he said. "I feel like I'm sitting on some TNT."

But Rep. E. Ross Adair (R-Ind), a leader in the money-slashing attempts, said in a separate interview: "It seems to me the action of the House yesterday pretty well determined the size of the bill."

Opponents attacked the aid effort as wasteful. They said renewed outbreaks of violence directed at Vice President Nixon in South America and U. S. libraries elsewhere abroad showed that American dollars failed to buy friends overseas. News of sending U. S. troops to the Caribbean had not yet come in.

Grant and Mrs. Ranes had three children of their own. Of the 26 children, 22 still are living. They gave Grant a total of 48 grandchildren and 56 great-grandchildren.

No Canned Formula Possible in Making Up Family Budget

(This is the last of three articles providing expert advice on how to manage your money and debts better and ease the family strains that money troubles produce.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (INS) — Workable budgets cannot be borrowed from canned formulas, for what one family spends has no real bearing on what another ought to spend.

Each family should work out its own plan, set its own goals and then decide what can be sacrificed in order to make peace with the evils bred by money.

NEUROSIS CURED

One breadwinner had to have psychiatric help to cure his neurosis over money. The prescription: Carry around a $100 bill all the time.

His obligations and income are the same. The money difficulties remain. But his neurosis is gone. He has a "happiness and security object"—the $100 bill—to keep his nerves steady in this money world.

The experts are agreed on these general suggestions:

—Families should have "money management" meetings once a week or twice a month. During these meetings, all members of the family talk and plan together, discussing every aspect of living, spending and saving in a money world.

—Each member of the family should keep expense records for several weeks, jotting down to the last cent where the money goes.

—The records should be studied, for they provide information needed to set up a tailor-made family budget.

—From the records, work out an annual forecast, month by month, of expected expenditures.

Budgets, according to the Family Service Association of America study on "The Family in a Money World," are a good place to start in unwinding financial dilemmas.

The Family Service Association suggests that families needing outside help get in touch with the local family service agency.

Shirley Camper, family life consultant of the FSAA, said the counselors may be able to intercede with creditors or even help tap unknown sources of financial assistance. She continued:

"Even when there is not a recession, many families just do not have sufficient income to meet minimum needs.

"Among these are the aging and handicapped families—the families with many children and widows. "For these it is not enough to cut corners or find bargains in an effort to stretch funds."

Mrs. Camper said some of the private voluntary family service agencies may even be able to grant families money to tide them over.

But if these funds are not available, a social worker may be able to give a husband and wife a few tips about handling their dilemma with greater peace of mind. For example, she may advise that it is wise to call a creditor when a payment is going to be late.

Mrs. Camper explained that most creditors are understandably upset when they do not hear a word from a debtor when a payment is late or, for some reason, skipped altogether. Letting creditors know of a delay helps to maintain a good credit rating.

If a family's dilemma is a complex one, it may be better to explain the delinquent payment in writing. And if there are to be several delinquencies—because of a lay-off or illness—it may be best to talk the situation over personally with the creditor.

Mrs. Camper stressed that persons needn't feel embarrassed about contacting a family service agency for help with financial problems. There is no need to worry about money troubles being broadcast all over town by the social worker, for the service is confidential.

If you cannot locate a family service agency nearby, the Family Service Association of America, 215 Fourth Ave., New York City, will be able to put you in touch with one.

Chronic Aid Bill Goes to House

Senate OKs Measure to Relieve Depressed Areas of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters looked to the House for action on a bill to aid chronically depressed areas which the Senate passed yesterday by a bipartisan 46-36 vote.

The Senate passed a similar bill in the closing days of the 1956 session, too late for House consideration at that time.

The House Banking Committee already has held extended hearings on legislation in this field, but has scheduled other measures for action ahead of a depressed areas bill.

Chairman Brent Spence (D-Ky) of the committee has said his group may report a bill.

Twenty-nine Democrats and 17 Republicans joined to pass the Senate bill over 12 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

The bill would make available 375 million dollars in federal loans and grants to communities which have lost major industries or for other reasons have had long-standing unemployment problems. The Eisenhower administration sought to limit the measure to 50 million dollars of loan funds.

Sponsors of the Senate bill cite textile and railroad ghost towns and communities dependent on hard coal mines as typical of the areas which would get aid from the program.

Some Senate opponents denounced the bill as socialistic and the entering wedge for a much bigger aid program once it was established.

Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) offered an amendment which would have prevented use of any of the federal funds to move a plant. It was beaten 59-26.

Delay Passage of Zoning Change on Trailer Parks

Passage of a zoning amendment that would give the city powers to prevent development of new trailer parks in Pontiac was delayed one week last night at the request of Commissioner Milton R. Henry.

Henry's motion for delay, so that he could "study the various changes," was approved 5-2. Objecting to delay were Commissioners John A. Dugan and Mayor William W. Donaldson, who said "the door for new trailer camps should be closed right now, as soon as possible."

Henry observed that incumbent members of the commission had had an opportunity to study the change, since it was originated by them about a year ago.

"I've only been on the Commission three weeks, however, and I've never seen this proposal before," explained Henry.

The ordinance, recommended by the City Planning Commission, sets up a new type classification in which trailer parks must be located. The city plans to redistrict to this new classification only those areas occupied by the city's two existing trailer parks.

Henceforth, if a new trailer park is to be located here, the Commission must first agree to redistricting to permit proper zoning of the land on which the park is to be located.

Wildcat Strike Ends at Eastern Air Lines

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eastern Air Lines service was reported returning to normal today in the wake of a two-day wildcat strike of 1,100 employes at the line's principal maintenance shop.

The workers went back to work late yesterday on orders of A. J. Hayes, president of the International Assn. of Machinists.

Hayes acted in response to notification by Eastern that the strikers hadn't resumed work after a U.S. District Court temporary injunction sent them back to their posts.

IAM Local President George M. Brown concurred with Hayes in calling the strike unsanctioned by the union but contended that Eastern deliberately provoked the walkout by not adhering to seniority in propoposed layoffs.

Air line spokesmen said normal service was expected to resume quickly.

Overheated Chef Blows His Stack in New York

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — French chef Jean Marcel has few equals when it comes to turning out a deft souffle or a savory coq au vin at the Stork Club in Manhattan, where he has worked these past 20 years. But when he's at home — alors! — c'est Madame Marcel who must do the cooking.

That's what started the trouble that landed him in Nassau County District Court, yesterday.

As police tell it, Marcel arrived home for dinner last Friday to find no dinner and no wife waiting for him. He waited, he became irritated — finally he made his own supper.

When Mrs. Marcel arrived, she explained she'd been out shopping with her sister, Mrs. Annie Deming of Hollyowod, and her mother, Mrs. Florence Holywell.

Angry words were spoken. Mrs. Holywell was hit on the head with a coffee table. Mrs. Deming suffered broken ribs, cuts, bruises.

Charges were not preferred until Monday. In court yesterday, Marcel pleaded innocent to second degree assault. He was allowed to go back to his job cooking crepes suzette at the Stork Club, pending grand jury action.

Peron Says He's Ready to Return to Argentina

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Ousted dicatator Juan Peron says he is ready and eager to return to Argentina if its Congress will let him.

Peron said last night he will remain in the Dominican Republic until the new Argentine government decides whether he can go home and reorganize his followers in the Peronist party.

"I have no plans for going to Europe or elsewhere," Peron said with a smile in his small white-shuttered suite. "I am waiting here to see what the news from Buenos Aires will be."

The support of Peronists was a big factor in the election of Arturo Frondizi Feb. 23 as Argentina's first elected president since military forces ousted and exiled Peron in September 1955.

Frondizi said Congress would decide on Peron's return.

The Argentine Senate is now considering a bill granting political amnesty to many of Peron's followers. The bill is not believed, however, to pardon the ex-dictator and some of his top lieutenants, charged with common crimes.

Peron has been in this little Caribbean dictatorship since leaving Venezuela shortly after dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez was overthrown Jan. 23.

Peron first put up here at the swanky hotel Jaragua but now he is living at the Paz, a bustling tourist favorite because of lower rates. The armed guards he had outside his Jaragua suite are missing now but hotel employes try to steer people away from him.

Daughter of Bob Burns Released From Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 20-year-old daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns has been released from a five-day jail sentence.

Barbara Burns was sentenced Monday for contempt when she was late for a Superior Court appointment.

Yesterday her attorney obtained her release on a writ of habeas corpus returnable May 21. The attorney told the District Court of Appeals that she was unavoidably late and that the judge acted with "unwarranted abuse of discretion."

She was scheduled to appear for questioning about her refusal to testify against her husband, David James Mack, who is charged with having sold heroin to her.

Miss Burns also faces narcotics charges.

Dear Abby ....

Time to Go Hunting, Charlie!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am a normal man of 62 with no bad habits. I live in a rooming house and a widow, age 54, lives here, too. She slips notes under my door and asks me to knock on her door. When I do we go out for a walk or to a movie.

ABBY

"She is friendly and I like her a lot but she won't let me kiss her. She says she was hurt once by a deceiving man and doesn't want to take any chances. I could love this woman but how can I get any place if she won't even let me kiss her?"

CHARLIE

DEAR CHARLIE: Neither of you are getting any younger. If you like walks and movies, she's your girl — BUT if you have something more permanent in mind — look elsewhere.

"DEAR ABBY: I was so in love with this boy that when he went overseas I cried my eyes out. That was four months ago. My mother made me go out with others to take my mind off him. Now I fell in love with another guy. He took my mind off my overseas sweetheart completely but my problem is I think I am in love with both of them. Is this possible?"

IN LOVE WITH TWO

DEAR IN: This isn't possible. You are probably not in love with either of them. Love lasts longer than four months. If you want proof — go with others.

"DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column prompts me to write this. I used to have visions (nightmares, really) about my son being hurt on his bike, so I used to walk my 13-year-old son to school and back. I worried about him whenever he was out of my sight. He was a nervous wreck and so was I.

"I finally went to see a psychiatrist with him and we had six one-hour visits. I never dreamed the harm I was doing. My son was helped right away and so was I. He is well and happy, gained weight, and has friends. I don't have the nightmares anymore. Tell people, Abby, a psychiatrist is not for crazy people alone."

A LUCKY MOTHER

"DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nine years and my husband has been in prison for the past four. Being only human I got lonesome when he was away and I looked up some old friends. I misbehaved and had a baby in 1955 and another one in 1957. My husband is coming out in 60 days. How am I going to explain these two babies?"

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If your husband can add, you won't have to explain anything. Tell the truth, and take the consequences.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TONY: If you still have the "itch" to square everything with your wife — better start from "scratch."

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Child Needs Justice or Right to Fight

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

If your neighbor claims a slice of your back lot, you will first protest to him. If you then discover him pulling up the raspberry bushes you've planted, you will take him to court—and ask a judge to require him to respect your property rights.

You won't try to recover them yourself. For you are a member of a civilized community. You know you're not permitted to take law enforcement into your own hands by hitting your neighbor until he lets go of your lot.

Everybody will approve of your law-abiding appeal to the court's authority.

But when 7-year-old Marilyn comes rushing to us to complain that her little brother has run away with her doll buggy blanket, we call her a "tattletale." We say impatiently, "Why are you always telling on your brother? Don't you know that nobody likes tattlers?"

We show disapproval of the child who, like the law-abiding adult tattling on his neighbor to the judge, appeals to our authority for the recovery of her property. It's pretty inconsistent, I think.

RIGHT TO DEFENSE

If we are bored by children's appeals to enforce their property rights, then they should be allowed to defend them themselves. We should stop pretending that they live in a law-abiding home—and permit them to behave like the old western pioneers who enforced their property rights themselves because there weren't any judges or courts around to do it for them.

But parents who are bored by children's tattling are usually the very ones who are horrified by old western pioneer behavior. When Marilyn takes the law into her own hands and attempts to recover her doll buggy blanket by hitting her little brother, they say angrily, "I don't care what Buddy did to you! Don't you ever dare hit him again!"

So the tattletale finds himself in a spot that hardy, strong-minded pioneers couldn't take. We refuse him redress for his wrongs — and refuse to allow him to redress them himself.

I'll tell you a secret: I think that the parents of chronic tattletales don't care whether their wrongs are rectified or not.

Mrs. Ralph Norvell (right) receives her president's pin from the immediate past president, Mrs. Gordon Woolcock, at the final session held by Pontiac Tuesday Musicale.

A jolly time was had by all when the "Grass Roots" opera was performed by the musicale's workshop. Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer goes over the score as Mrs. Howard Heldenbrand accompanies.

Musicale Luncheon Closes Spring Sessions

Tuesday Musicale closed its season with a program and luncheon held Tuesday afternoon at Devon Gables. Members and guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Gordon Woolcock, and Ora Hallenbeck gave the invocation.

Floral committee consisted of Mrs. B. G. Campbell and Mrs. P. H. Kemp and on the social committee were Mrs. A. A. Dodd and Mrs. Glenn Griffin.

EXPLAINS PROGRAM

Incoming president, Mrs. Ralph T. Norvell, introduced the program. She explained that "grass roots opera" is "opera for everyone."

"Sunday Excursion" by Alec Wilder was performed with Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer directing.

In the cast were Mrs. J. K. Helvey, Mrs. C. W. Buck, Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks, Mrs. O. L. Smith, Mrs. Fred Stimpert, Mrs. George Putnam and Mrs. Gaensbauer. Mrs. H. V. Heldenbrand was accompanist.

The opera opened with two weary 18-year-old girls boarding the New York to New Haven train on a Sunday evening in the early 1900s. Mrs. Helvey and Mrs. Buck sang the roles of the girls.

After settling into their seats the girls sang "I Wish I Hadn't Gone to the City Today" when two young men, sung by Mrs. Gaensbauer and Mrs. Marshbanks, boarded the train voicing the same sentiments.

SINGS HIS WARES

An "Apple Man" roamed the aisles of the train singing of his wares. This role was sung by Mrs. Smith. The rhythms and harmonies were interesting and lent to the mood of the opera throughout.

As the opera progressed the boys and girls noticed each other and recognized that two of the four had known each other in botany class. The amusing way the couples finally switched seats was the gist of the story.

Variety in the story was given by the entrance of the candy man, played by Mrs. Stimpert, and a magazine man, portrayed by Mrs. Putnam.

An encore, "Light A Rose," from Meredith Willson's current show "The Music Man," was sung by the cast. Mrs. Smith sang the solo lines.

Spray-on Bra a Future Fashion?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It seems that "they" have decided that we can have our busts back but that our bras have to go.

Did you know that one outstanding manufacturer is now working on spray-on brassieres? It means just what it says. You spray the bra on and when the liquid hardens it holds you up. The solution will come in cans much like those which contain hair sprays. It also will come in different colors, the better to match your costume, my dear.

Ho hum! Women remind me of airplanes. By the time a design hits the market it is out of date. Fashion shaves off our bustline with the chemise dress, and then builds it up with liquid spray.

I can see some value in the spray-on idea, though. There are many sheer dresses which lose their charm when brassiere straps show, and the strapless bra is not flattering to every bust contour. Movie stars have used a similar technique for years.

They may take away our bras but I for one am sure that the bust is here to stay. Imbued with this conviction, today I am going to give you exercises to increase the bust measurement.

TO INCREASE BUST

Stand tall. Raise the right arm forward, shoulder height, palm facing the floor. Now turn your palm toward the ceiling, clench your fist and slowly bend your elbow until your fingertips touch yuor shoulder. Bend slowly as though you were bending against resistance and keep your elbow close to your side. Stretch arm forward again and continue. After a while do the same thing with the left arm.

Swimming is one of the best bust beautifiers. Do a lot of it this summer, especially those strokes which call for overarm movements. If you do not swim, you can execute the overarm stroke on dry land.

Stand tall or lie on your abdomen on a bed with your bust off the bed. Reach forward with your right arm and pull down and back as though you were pulling against the water. As the right arm moves back the left arm moves forward. As your left arm moves back the right arm again reaches forward. Reach as far as you can with each arm.

If you would like to have exercises for increasing the bust measurement, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Husband Wasn't the Host

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The organization of women in our church held a meeting recently. I went with four other women friends. At about eleven thirty my husband came to pick me up in the car. As none of the other husbands were there to pick up their wives, my husband volunteered to drive them home.

"On the way home one of the women suggested that we stop at a diner for a cup of coffee. All were in favor and so my husband stopped. He came in with us and we all sat at one table. Everyone ordered coffee and a piece of cake or a sandwich to go with it.

"My husband paid the bill and later each of the women offered him their share. He took it. I don't think he should have and that it makes him appear 'cheap.' What is your opinion?"

Answer: It was rather questionable on his part, but since he was not really their host his taking the money should not be criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Not long ago a friend of mine received a letter from a mutual friend of ours. She did not want me to read this letter but wanted me to see one sentence, and she folded the letter in such a way that I could rad just that part meant for me. I thought this extremely rude. What is your opinion?"

Answer: Your friend would have been more polite if she had read the sentence out loud to you instead of showing it in the way that she did.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Up until a week ago I had been going out with a young man for over a year, although we were not engaged. During this time he gave me a very beautiful piece of luggage and a handsome cigarette case. I have been told that I should return these presents to him. What do you say about this?"

Answer: Since they were merely friendship presents and not engagement presents, there is no reason why you should return them.

EYE COLOR

Practice your technique with the use of color. Acquire the skill before wearing it in public. You'll have fun at home try-out sessions.

Eyeliner. Pull skin taut; draw line over base of upper lash from center of lid, ending one lash-length beyond eye in an upward tilt.

Shadow. Apply crayon shadow directly to upper lid; apply cream kind with fingertip to center of lid only. Blend color up and out with finger so no sharp "color line" shows. A tiny bit of eye cream adds luster.

With McElroy as Running Mate

Reports Ike Likes Nixon

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower, who unquestionably has the power to name the next GOP presidential slate, is currently looking with favor on a ticket of Nixon-and-McElroy.

A close associate told this correspondent that Ike believes Defense Secretary Neil McElroy strikes "the proper counter-balance" for youthful presidential front runner Richard M. Nixon.

TOPIC HOT

"The age, the geography and the experience are right," he said. "It's the hottest topic of conversation these days within the White House inner circle."

Fifty-three-year-old McElroy, the son of two former school teachers, hails from Cincinnati, Ohio. A successful business man, he spent 24 years working his way up in Proctor & Gamble Co. from advertising clerk to president. The soap firm was, in fact, his only employer until he resigned nine months ago to head the government's largest department.

Nixon, 45, is a Californian whose energies — except for his Navy service and the brief practice of law — have been devoted almost exclusively to politics. A congressman and senator before receiving the vice presidential nod in 1952, he is expected to have little competition for the top spot on the Republican ticket in 1960.

AMAZES POLITICOS

McElroy never ceases to amaze Washington politicos by the skill and charm with which he has handled a politically hostile Congress. Succeeding last August to the hot-spot vacated by blunt-spoken Charles E. Wilson, McElroy has so adroitly handled the President's revolutionary Pentagon reorganization plan that the once-heavily bombarded proposal is now expected to pass with a minimum of power-clipping.

Despite his friendly, diplomatic manner, McElroy has demonstrated that he can be tough. Taking cognizance of the uproar—particularly in the Navy—which greeted the President's reorganization plan, the secretary bluntly declared:

"I would not hesitate to suggest to some of our top people around here that they get out of the service, if they cannot support the proposed legislation before Congress."

DISTURBED BY TALK

McElroy is personally flattered, but somewhat disturbed by talk of his possible candidacy. He recently told this correspondent that he wishes to steer clear of political talk for fear that it might endanger congressional action on Pentagon reorganization.

He insisted that his only goal is "to do a good job for the Defense Department and then return to making soap." This declaration, however, by no means carries the force of a Gen. Sherman, or even a Cal Coolidge withdrawal from the political arena.

A tall, vigorous, out-going man, McElroy won a scholarship to Harvard where he played in the college band and on the basketball team while majoring in economics for his B.A. degree. Popular on campus, he was elected president of his Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter.

Four years after graduation from Harvard in 1952, he married a high school sweetheart, the former Mary Camilla Fry. Asked if she was his "only girl," McElroy grinned:

"I'm afraid she'd contradict me if I claimed that. No, we both went out with other."

The McElroys, who have retained their voting residence in Cincinnati while occupying an apartment here, have two daughters and a 14-year-old son, Malcolm Neil.

Considers Fence at Terry Lake

City Moves to Prevent Repeat of Drowning Tragedy

The city is eyeing safeguards to prevent a repetition of Monday's drowning tragedy in treacherous Terry Lake.

City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, in whose district the tragedy took place, asked the city administration to report "as soon as possible" on the cost and feasibility of locating a city fence along a portion of the northern shore.

It was there that three-year-old Joel Bennett fell off a 40-foot drop-off a few feet from shore and drowned. Joel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bennett, live at 156 Merrimac St., which borders the lake.

"The lake is only a few feet from the road and there is absolutely nothing such as a fence or barrier to prevent other little children from playing there," said Miles.

"The city should seriously consider the practicality of doing something about the danger."

Miles said a few of the neighbors had complained to him after the drowning. "I'm not demanding that action be taken, but it certainly ought to be studied," the commissioner said.

It is believed about six persons have drowned in the lake in approximately 20 years.

Thursday Deadline on Dog Licenses

With a Thursday deadline looming, there's about 200 fewer dog owners in Pontiac who have purchased $2 dog licenses this year, compared with last year.

A total 1,722 licenses had been sold through Monday, said City Clerk Ada R. Evans. As of Friday, she warned, the price goes up to $3.

A total 2,840 licenses were sold last year, and several hundred of them cost $3, she said.

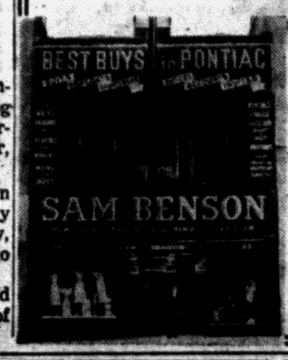

We don't mind suffering in silence, just so everybody knows we are . . . The motto of the space experts seems to be, "If it works, it's obsolescent" . . . The same man must have invented the telephone booth, the breakfast nook and the upper berth.—Earl Wilson.

Defiant Judge Fights for Ideal

Nothing in Background to Indicate He'd Refuse to Obey High Court

SAGINAW (AP) — There is nothing in Eugene Snow Huff's legal past to indicate that this Saginaw Circuit Court judge someday would dare to defy the highest court in Michigan.

But the 49-year-old Huff is doing so.

CALLED TO LANSING

For his defiance he has been ordered to appear in Lansing tomorrow before the Michigan Supreme Court and show cause why the high court should not fine, jail or otherwise punish him for contempt.

Huff made the headlines when the Supreme Court ordered him to leave his Saginaw post and go to Detroit for a month to sit on the circuit bench there. Huff refused.

He said: "I do not intend to defy the Supreme Court. But, I cannot ignore the protests of the people who elected me and the attorneys who practice before me daily. I cannot in good conscience carry out the directive to exchange as a judge for a period of one month."

QUINN ASSIGNED

When the Supreme Court ordered Huff to Detroit it assigned Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn of Caro to take his place at Saginaw.

The court wanted to see whether Quinn would be able to speed up justice, mainly by clamping down on local lawyers over postponing or delaying cases.

Huff contends, "There is no doubt cases could be tried faster, but the question is: 'Should they be'"

The question of whether Huff or the Supreme Court is right will be decided Friday. If Huff loses he can be fined or jailed or both. Either penalty probably would end his career.

Huff, a bachelor, won his judgeship in 1947 when he defeated the late Circuit Judge Robert T. Holland.

Huff, then 39, had been discharged from the Army in 1946 after serving three years in the Judge Advocate General's office. He was a captain at discharge.

Before entering the Army, Huff served as a Saginaw municipal judge two years.

Huff now is serving his second term as a circuit judge. His current term expires in April.

The Huff family has a long record of public service. Huff's father, the late Jacob A. Huff, was a Saginaw County Friend of the Court. His uncle, Ernest A. Snow, served as a Saginaw circuit judge and a Michigan Supreme Court justice. His maternal grandfather, Eugene Snow, was a prominent lawyer.

The Saginaw Bar Assn. today called off an excursion to Washington set for Monday.

President Walter Martin said bar members did not want to leave Saginaw at this time because of the controversy over Huff.

School Officials Explain Shifts

Whitmer to Meet With Parents to Make Plans for Moving Students

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A special meeting between Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac schools superintendent, and representatives of six West Bloomfield subdivisions will be held early next week on the plans to transport about 60 children from the Whitfield Elementary School to the Louisa May Alcott School in Pontiac.

This was the result of a meeting last night between Whitmer, school aides, and about 150 parents who are protesting the transfer.

Two delegates each from the Hammond Estates, Sylvan Manor, Pine Lake Manor, Sylvan City, Upper Long Lake Estates and the Square Lake Country Club subdivisions will be named to represent the parents.

Whitmer told the gathering last night that the Whitfield School can accommodate only 650 and by fall enrollment would go 70 over this mark. The Louisa May Alcott School is six miles away from the Whitfield School.

Whitmer also said he couldn't make any commitment on when construction of the new school on Square Lake Road will begin. Located between Maplewood and Orchard avenues near Middlebelt, the 10-acre site was purchased by the school district in 1955.

This is a matter for the school board, Whitmer told the parents.

He suggested that after the 1958-59 school census has been completed they could take their problem to the School Board.

Find Chemist's Body

GAYLORD (INS) — A missing 57-year-old Dow Chemical chemist was found dead today on company property near here. State police said Gabriel Hittrich of Midland, had been shot through the head with a 12-gauge shotgun found near the body. Troopers called Hittrich's death a suicide and said he had been despondent over poor health. Hittrich had been missing since Saturday.

Commission Orders FEPC to Report

Pontiac's Fair Employment Practices Commission has been ordered by the City Commission to make a routine report on its recent activities.

Manager Walter K. Willman last night to pass on to the FEPC chairman, Irving Steinman. No criticism of the FEPC was made, but one Commissioner observed that no formal report had been made by the body in "several years at least."

The Commissioner, Milton R. Henry, said the FEPC's activities "are of great interest to the people in my district and they would like to know what the board is doing."

FEPC members are appointed by the Commisson and serve without pay.

The Pony Express was established by the U. S. government in 1860 for fast communication between the older states and California. It was followed in 16 months by telegraph lines.

Pontiac Jaycees to Elect 1958 Officers Tonight

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will vote tonight on 1958 officers. Two candidates are running for president: Clyle R. Haskill, owner of the C. R. Haskill photographic studio, and Donald E. Weddle, general superintendent of Reliable Welding Co.

2 Ask Examination in Bad Check Case

A former Detroit auto salesman and his woman companion demanded examination yesterday when arraigned before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle on a charge of passing a worthless $50 check in a Drayton Plains supermarket.

In the Oakland County jail because they couldn't post $10,000 and $2,500 bonds, respectively, were John Bradley, 28, and Mrs. Gloria R. Hoover, 26, both of Detroit.

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said the pair were picked up in Cadillac this week, where police discovered items for producing fraudulent checks and drivers licenses in the Bradley car.

Barry said seven $50 checks had been passed in the Detroit area last week by the pair, with the one in Drayton Plains included. This one was printed by Bradley on a form bearing the name of a former Detroit Chevrolet dealer he used to work for, Barry said.

First elevated transport line built in New York in 1867 was a financial failure.

adds
Anti-Miss
to anti-knock

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for the power your engine once had on hills and on getaways, now's the time to make your move—over to the white Super Shell pump.

Super Shell has an aviation "power pack" to provide the higher octane needed to prevent knock. But in today's engines anti-knock alone is not enough.

That's why there's TCP* in Super Shell to restore full power by ending today's major cause of power loss, spark plug "miss." TCP additive does this by neutralizing harmful combustion deposits—and so restores 20 to 30 lost horsepower!

What's more, Super Shell's aviation ingredients provide extra combustion energy that converts automatically to extra miles in every tankful.

Switch to Super Shell with TCP today.

READY TO GO — Pontiac's new AAA office will be formally open for business at 11 a. m. tomorrow when ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held. Located on Williams and Pike streets, the $125,000 structure will be the home center for club members in all of northern Oakland County.

Civic Leaders to Open New AAA Building

Civic leaders will join Automobile Club of Michigan officials tomorrow to formally open the club's new Pontiac division office. The new building at Williams and Pike will be opened officially at an 11 a.m. ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Division Manager Arthur C. Bogue issued an invitation to all Pontiac motorists to come in and inspect the building. "We know our members will be just as proud as we are when they see the new services available at the new office," he stated.

Civic officials invited to the ceremony are Mayor William Donaldson, City Manager Walter Willman, County Prosecutor Fred Ziem, Circuit Judge Frank Doty and Superintendent of Schools Dana Whitmer.

Auto Club officials participating in the ceremonies will be led by President Frank J. Howlett.

Others invited are Herbert Straley, chief of police; Frank Irons, Oakland County sheriff; Chamber of Commerce President John Riley; Milo Cross, Pontiac State Bank president; William Lentz, Holly State Bank president, and A. C. Girard, Community National Bank president.

Also expected are Curt Mathews, Henry Gotham, Cy Owens, Robert Oliver, Benjamin Jerome, Carroll Braid, Frederick Gibb, Sidney Q. Ennis, Jack Taylor, Harold Howlett, Floyd Blakeslee, Dean Beier, William Hartman and Westley Stewart.

Harold Fitzgerald, Robert Tarr and Joe Haas of The Pontiac Press have also been invited.

Following the ribbon-cutting ceremonies, Auto Club officials and their guests will attend a luncheon at the Elks Club.

The new office will serve as the home division for club members in all except the southeastern portion of Oakland county, and also house offices of the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange.

Designed by the architectural firm of Arthur Greig and Associates, the modern one-story, brick-veneer club office faces Williams street. Its front exterior is constructed of Roman brick, supplemented by cut stone. A terrace-type landscaped planter runs the length of the building's facade.

Built by Frank Stewart and Sons, the office has 10,900 square feet of floor space divided into offices for manager Arthur Bogue and seven claims adjusters, a large membership counseling office and an extensive service area.

The new building also contains a full basement which consists of lounge facilities, a meeting room, storage rooms and a 22½-ton heating and cooling plant.

A pleasing and restful lighting arrangement is achieved through liberal use of glass, which admits as much natural light as possible, combined with indirect lighting fixtures. Employes have stronger direct lighting to aid them in clerical and administrative duties.

Members will be served at a 60-foot, L-shaped travel counter which can accommodate more than 25 persons at one time. Here they will receive travel routings, purchase license plates or receive other club services.

The walls of the service portion are an inviting shade of green while the rear offices are done in sandalwood. Striking scenic posters, match-stick draperies and an acoustic-paneled ceiling complete the interior decoration.

At one side and to the rear of the club office is a paved, 50-car parking lot which provides ample parking space for members.

Construction of the building, which occupies the site of the former Hugo Harnack mansion, began last summer.

Anglers to Get Licenses at Auto Club Office

Michigan is still the nation's most popular fishing ground, according to Herbert W. Coopes, Automobile Club of Michigan license department manager. The state issued a total of 1,286,556 licenses to resident and non-resident anglers during the last fiscal year.

Club members may purchase fishing licenses as well as small game permits at the Pontiac division office, according to Coopes.

Road Service Needed

If you drove a car in Michigan last year, chances are better than ever that you required emergency road service manager, estimates you did are five to four. Robert C. Nisbet, Auto Club emergency road seervice manager, estimates that service trucks in the state answered more than 3,500,000 such calls last year.

Weather No Bar to Travel

Bad weather—no business.

That's the formula most organization's follow. But with the travel department of the Pontiac Automobile Club of Michigan Division, the worse the weather, often the better the business.

When snow, sleet, mud or rain enter the weather picture, telephones ring constantly. Three hands are then a real asset at the Club.

Salesmen, winter sports enthusiasts, sun bathers and vacationers want to know how the road is to Everyplace, U.S.A.

The division's road information service is part of a vast network. Trained travel counselors in 45 club division offices exchange information daily.

Each office reports its conditions into the Detroit headquarters office and receives a resume of the reports of all other offices. But the "road dope" swapping doesn't end there.

Truck drivers, bus companies, police departments, Michigan Highway Department, AAA garages and sources in Northern Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin also help fill in the overall picture.

All reports are tabulated and repeatedly analyzed as they come in. Oftentimes reports for a single area will vary.

Pontiac and Oakland County streets are in safe traveling condition about 95 per cent of the time.

Hostelries Find AAA Approval Hard to Earn

The words "Norman Miller slept here," mean more to the Michigan traveling public than any slumbering activities attributed to George Washington by hundreds of proud historic cities.

Ask any Pontiac schoolboy who Norman Miller is and you'll probably get a blank stare. But Miller's eating and sleeping habits, and those of the 25 other American Automobile Assn. field reporters, go a long way to determine which motels, hotels and restaurants merit AAA appointments and visits from AAA members.

Miller is a field reporter permanently assigned to cover Michigan.

AAA's field reporters travel several hundred thousand miles each year inspecting tourist accommodations. Their recommendations are found in the Accommodations Directory, which is closely followed by AAA's 5,000,000 members.

Official AAA appointment is limited to establishments which meet rigid inspection requirements. Of the nation's 70,000 hotels and motels, only 16,000 are AAA approved. Less than 2,500 of 250,000 restaurants qualify.

In order to merit an appointment, a hotel or motel must meet the following minimum requirements: It must not be situated in an unattractive, rundown neighborhood. Equipment must be comparable to that found in a good home. Beds must come equipped with high grade mattresses and box springs.

Howlett Heads Club in State

President of Automobile Club of Michigan, which opens its new Pontiac division office tomorrow, is veteran motorist Frank J. Howlett. A native of Gregory, the 56-year-old Howlett has been an Auto Club member for 30 years and a director for 10.

FRANK J. HOWLETT

As a young man, Howlett worked in the Bank of Gregory, owned by his father, and the Grass Lake State Bank.

From 1919 to 1921 he attended Kalamazoo College. He later returned to this area and entered the University of Michigan, graduating with a degree in business administration in 1923. He was a member of the University of Michigan chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Howlett's motoring education began at an early age.

"My first non-adult supervised motor trip was attempted and successfully completed when I was 11 years old," he said. "I recall driving a group of schoolmates in a Carter Car out five or six miles in the country to a box social.

"My mother wasn't worried about my driving ability although she was afraid I might run into a horse."

Howlett remains one of Auto Club's best members, driving with his wife, Doris, to Arizona and California nearly every year.

From 1924 until 1926 when he came to Detroit, Howlett was a factory representative for an Ohio firm which made auxiliary transmission attachments for Ford trucks.

In 1926 he became assistant secretary of the Guaranty Trust Co., of Detroit. He is at present secretary-treasurer of Howlett-Barrett-Watson, Inc., a Detroit realty firm.

He is chairman of the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange board of governors, a member of National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, Michigan Real Estate Assn., United Northwest Realty Assn. and Detroit Realty Board.

Climbed Quickly Through Ranks

Olympic Star Managing Pontiac Auto Club Office

From Olympic star to Auto Club star is an appropriate phrase in describing Arthur J. Bogue, manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's new Pontiac office, which officially opens tomorrow.

Although Bogue has been with the club only 10 years he has in that relatively short time climbed through the ranks from a fledgling membership counselor to head of the largest single division of the world's largest motoring organization.

ARTHUR J. BOGUE

Bogue, 44, began with the club as a membership counselor in the northwest Detroit territory in 1948. As an indication of his fine performance, in 1955 he received Auto Club's award "for outstanding service to motorists."

One year later he was appointed manager of the Pontiac Club division, succeeding the late Emerson F. Alston.

Since his appointment as manager, Bogue has not only continued to serve his organization in an executive capacity but has led his fellow counselors in garnering new members as well.

An outstanding athlete, Bogue was a star center of the Michigan-Ontario hockey team that captured the world championship in 1939. In 1936, '37 and '38, he was one of two Michigan men selected to plan on the U. S. Olympic team in world championship competition.

As a member of the team, he toured Europe, including a trip into the Soviet Union. He also spent one year in professional hockey with the Cleveland Barons.

Bogue admits he is somewhat past his athletic prime but confides, "I still like to try my hand at belting the puck when I get the chance but for the most part I've exchanged the hockey stick for a golf club."

ON GUARD — Crofoot Elementary school safety patroller Michael Berry, 12, guards fellow classmates until traffic clears at the Franklin boulevard-W. Huron crossing. Auto Club supplies belts, rain capes and other materials to the Pontiac area's 2,200 patrols.

State's Safety Patrols Prove Real Life Savers

Michigan has enjoyed another school year without a single child being killed at a guarded school crossing.

That fact is tribute to the ability of the state's 43,000 safety patrol boys and girls who sacrifice their free time to guard their fellow pupils.

Safety patrol boys number 2,242 in the area which is serviced by the Pontiac Auto Club division office. Each of them give 100 hours of their playtime each year to perform their duties, and their actions have prevented an unknown number of school child fatalities every school day.

Several organizations, including Automobile Club of Michigan, cooperate in giving help to safety patrols. Auto Club provides Sam Browne belts, raincapes, books and other safety material to schools throughout the state.

Heading Auto Club's safety patrol program is Ernest P. Davis, Club safety and traffic director. He directs a staff of safety supervisors who visit schools regularly to assist patrol ponsor.

Says Davis, "The youngsters are doing a magnificent job. In 1936, for example, there were 131 school children killed in accidents. In 1957 just over a third of that number were killed — and none of them at school corners under safety patrol supervision."

Davis reports that the first safety patrol in the world was started in Detroit in 1919. Originator of the idea was H. O. Rounds, then with the police department and later safety and traffic director of Auto Club.

Rounds sought to compensate for the lack of sufficient police personnel by training the school children to guard corners.

Since 1919, schools in all 48 states and in many foreign countries have adopted the safety patrol idea.

As an added incentive to Michigan patrollers, Auto Club sends 100 of them to Washington, D.C., during May of each year to attend the AAA Safety Patrol Rally. There they join 30,000 patrollers from all over the U.S. in a four-day visit which includes a gigantic parade, meeting congressmen and other Federal officials, plus some sightseeing.

Area patrollers who made the honor trip just completed last weekend were: Dennis Haisington, 11, 989 Northfield, safety patrol captain at Malkim School; Jimmie Gaylord, 11, 124 Edison, Baldwin School, and Robert Lamb, 11, 1536 Wilmot, Waterford Township, captain at Four Towns School.

Following are Pontiac schools that have safety patrols, their captains and number of patrollers in each:

Shipping Space Scarce

Europe-bound travelers who want to take their cars to the continent this year will find shipping space at a premium, says Larry Kelley, Automobile Club of Michigan reservations department manager. Based on early requests at the club, there will be 10 per cent more Americans motoring in Europe this year than last, Kelley estimates.

Executive Is Tour Pioneer

E. S. MATHESON

Beginning his career with Automobile Club of Michigan in 1920, when he took a "temporary" job issuing license plates, E. S. Matheson is now the executive head of the Auto Club and its general manager.

Matheson is the man who drew the first road map ever made of Wayne County, when after having been promoted from his "temporary" job he was moved to the touring department. In this position he mapped out the Wayne County highway system.

He has personally driven more than 1,500,000 miles, logging roads throughout North America. He was the first United States citizen to drive a car from the country's border to Mexico City and beyond. He also made the first auto logging route ever drawn from Detroit to Toledo.

Matheson helped organize the American Automobile Assn's National Touring Board and has served as director of the board since its inception.

In 1947, Matheson was made Auto Club's assistant general manager and in 1952 was appointed to the general managership. He was born in Detroit in 1900 and was educated in public schools there.

Aiding Matheson in his administration of Auto Club are two longtime employes, Fred N. Rehm, assistant general manager, and Edward G. Rockwell, assistant manager.

Until his recent promotion to his present position, Rehm, a 30-year veteran at the club, was in direct charge of all 45 division offices.

For Rockwell, who started in Auto Club's legal department in 1931, tomorrow's official opening ceremonies will be in the nature of a homecoming.

Born and raised in Pontiac, Rockwell is the son of the late, well-known Judge Kleber P. Rockwell, former Oakland County circuit judge, judge of probate and county prosecutor. Judge Rockwell, representing Oakland county, also served on the state Constitutional Convention of 1907-8.

The younger Rockwell spent his early years in Pontiac and attended public schools here. He completed his education by attending the Detroit College of Law and the Indiana Law School.

Although Ed Rockwell chose not to follow directly in his illustrious father's footsteps, he does have the distinction of being one of Oakland County's youngest deputy county clerks, having served in that position in 1921 at the age of 19.

His present duties include acting as legislative liasion man between Auto Club and the Michigan Legislature.

PONTIAC DIVISION

A New Office to Serve You

76 Williams Street at Pike

We Pontiac Division Membership and Insurance Representatives of the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Insurance Exchange are proud and grateful to all citizens and friends who have taken such a great part in making possible the opening of a magnificent new building at 76 Williams Street today. We division representatives who call on you from time to time now can offer more than formerly, with greater facilities, greater service and a greater growing division staff. Yes, our area and the people whom we serve now go Big Time in AAA. All over these United States other clubs and insurance executives everywhere, give a salute to our community and big, fine, unexcelled office and building.

We collectively and each to his members and policyholders do thank you and invite you to come in and look around and make yourself at home. It is your office, just come in and be proud of it.

AND HERE ARE SOME SOLID REASONS WHY MOTORISTS IN THE PONTIAC AREA AND ALL OVER MICHIGAN -- 500,000 OF THEM -- JOIN AND BELONG YEAR AFTER YEAR

THE NUMBER ONE REASON, no question about it, is that they get more for their membership fee than any money they spend on motoring. Any of us membership representatives will be glad to tell you about it. But here are just some examples of what you get for your money.

GOING TO TRAVEL? Well, when you travel, if you belong to this Pontiac division, you automatically become a member of the National AAA and are entitled to all the services of nearly 1,000 offices in the United States, and all the services they provide for their local members. You have friends in every town.

ARE YOU GOING TO GET HURT OR KILLED like so many others do in travel or recreation? Well, every member of the Club is automatically covered under a blanket accident policy which the Club secures from a great nationally known life insurance company. It covers every paid member. Within the limits of the policy, it pays $1,000 to $10,000 for death in accidents, it pays for serious accidents like losing eyes, arms, legs, etc., and pays a sum each week to help pay hospital bills. This protection has already paid to members of the club or their beneficiaries, over two million dollars.

GOING TO TAKE A TRIP BY MOTOR? Well, you get the service of the greatest touring counselors. For your guidance you get a tailored tour personally prepared for you. Not just maps, but also the AAA copyrighted Triptiks that give you every turn and every road on your trip.

WANT TO KNOW WHERE TO STOP OVER NIGHT? You'll get the names of the inspected places recommended by the AAA, a whole book of them. You'll know your way about.

YOU WANT RESERVATIONS IN HOTELS OR MOTELS? The Club will make these reservations for you anywhere. And, too, if you lose your life in a burning hotel, we will bring your family a check for a thousand dollars.

WANT AIRPLANE, RAILROAD OR STEAMSHIP TICKETS? The Club will get them for you. And if you lose your life in any train, plane or steamship accident, we will bring your family a check of $1,000 to $10,000. We paid four different members' families each $5,000 in the Noronic disaster.

WANT TO TRAVEL ABROAD? The Club will make the reservations for you on the plane or on the ship and will provide you with the services of all Clubs in Europe, just the same as your own Club here.

WANT TO GO TO CANADA OR MEXICO? The Club will provide you the way you go or the reservations and also the affiliated services of all the automobile clubs in Canada and Mexico.

ARE YOU GOING HUNTING? Well, if you get shot or killed, every hunter member is automatically under the blanket accident policy, you are protected against accidents by firearms when hurt while hunting in the field. In fatal accidents one of us here at the division office will bring your family or beneficiary a check for $1,000 and large payments for other injuries including hospital help.

GOING FISHING, BOATING OR SWIMMING? Well, under this blanket policy we will bring your beneficiary or family a quick check for $1,000 if you drown. Twelve members drowned last year.

BAIL BOND PROTECTION. In the event you are arrested for a violation of any traffic law or for manslaughter or other felony due to an automobile accident except when under the influence of alcohol — you are assured of the prompt bail bond services of the National Surety Corp. of New York without charge for amounts up to $5,000.

ARE YOU LIKELY TO GET STUCK ON THE ROAD AND WANT TO BE RESCUED? Your card and telephone call will get you road service almost anywhere in America. AAA road service trucks rescue millions of members every year.

IF YOU ARE A PEDESTRIAN and run down on the streets by automobile, buses or street cars, one of us here will be out to see you with money, and if it is a fatal accident, we will be out to see your family with a thousand dollars. And that goes for injury or fatality while riding in buses, taxis or street cars.

DO YOU WANT TO SEND WESTERN UNION WIRES COLLECT? Just show your membership card. That does it!

WHEN YOU TRAVEL, YOU MAY NEED A FRIEND IN A STRANGE TOWN. Just look in the telephone book and you'll find the AAA listed in the first few numbers. They are your friends, who will be on your side when trouble comes. You are an AAA traveler.

IF YOU LOSE YOUR LIFE WHILE RIDING IN AN AUTOMOBILE, DO YOU WANT YOUR FAMILY TO HAVE SOME READY CASH? Well, we will be around with a check. The Club's blanket accident policy will pay your family quickly $1,500.

EVER HAVE A FLAT TIRE OR RUN OUT OF GAS? Just phone AAA road service, and AAA men will hurry out to fix you up.

EVER PLAY GOLF? Well, you know people get hurt with balls and golf clubs. And people get struck by lightning and killed on golf courses. If that happens to one of our members, one of us will be right there with money to help pay the hospital bills, or if death, we will bring the family $1,000.

EVERY MEMBER GETS INTANGIBLES. The AAA member generally, all over America, is recognized as a good motor citizen. The member feels this respect. You are supporting, also, the great safety work, the famous School Boy Patrols, the drive for good roads, you are backing fair motor laws. You, through the collective programs of the AAA, are doing a good turn and one of the things you get for that Membership fee is that good feeling. Five hundred thousand AAA members in Michigan, five million in America will tell you so.

ALL THE THINGS ENUMERATED ABOVE and they are only a portion of what could be enumerated, are Club advantages, privileges and protection paid for wholly out of the Club membership fee of $15. And if you have read this far, we expect you agree that that $15, is the most important $15 anyone can invest. Important to you, and extremely important to your family. But there is another privilege, a great one of tremendous importance!

It is the privilege of applying for insurance with the Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange. This is operated solely for members of the Club, and furnishes famed, unsurpassed protection. The member pays comparatively low rates and, for 30 years, the Exchange has every month returned premium savings to holders on their expiring policies. The Exchange has already returned more than $30,000,000 as savings to the insured Club members. As a matter of fact, tens of thousands of members for years have saved enough on this Exchange auto insurance to make the cost of the Club membership little or nothing.

ADVICE FROM EXPERTS — Beverly Green, 17, Pontiac High School driver training student, is given some professional advice on how to drive by her instructor George Stewart (center) and Automobile Club of Michigan safety education consultant Joseph Zabelski. Zabelski advises and coordinates driver education activities in the Pontiac area schools.

Students Receive Driver Education

A better traffic safety record is in prospect for the communities serviced by the new Pontiac division of Automobile Club of Michigan, due to the driver education courses offered at the high schools in those cities.

High school driver training graduates have 50 per cent fewer accidents and violations than young motorists who have not taken the course, according to Automobile Club of Michigan safety and traffic director Ernest P. Davis.

Davis says that the driver education program in this area is among the best in the state. Last year, nearly 2,900 students were enrolled in driver training at the schools of the area.

Working closely with driver training instructors in the Pontiac area is Auto Club safety education consultant Joseph Zabelski.

Under state law, all persons under 18 years of age applying for drivers' licenses must show they have successfully completed a driver education course.

High school driver training is a project which was initially sponsored by the Auto Club. The club assists in obtaining dual-control cars for schools in this area as well as hundreds of other schools in the state.

The club also supplies text and testing materials to schools.

Pontiac High — George Stewart, Ralph Grubb and Burt Glendenning.

Holly area — Robert Barner and D. Goodearl.

Oxford High — Robert Oberg.

Lake Orion Community High — John T. Cherry.

Rochester Community High — Eugene Konley, F. Irish and Mervin Mack.

Walled Lake High — Donald Smith, John Koczman and Niles Freeland.

South Lyon High — Fred Gerhardt, Joseph Burns and Dean Eccles.

Milford High — Maurice D. Swift, Gary Mansfield and Ray Sine.

Waterford High — Raymond Doeksen, Don Beedle, Al Cuthrell and Waldo Ashley.

Clarkston High — Ralph Thayer and Don Healy.

Avondale High — Leonard Passint and Alfred McClellan.

Auto Club Gives Rules for Driver in Accident

Remaining calm and keeping your wits about you is your best protection against becoming a double loser in a traffic accident. That's the advice of Paul Erickson, Automobile Club of Michigan legal department manager.

Erickson says that becoming over excited after an accident, especially one away from home, may lead to difficult legal complications in addition to physical damage. You may forget to take necessary actions that may help you in impending court action.

Erickson lists the following steps to take immediately after a collision:

1. Stop immediately after an accident.

2. Determine the extent of injury to individuals and give any aid and comfort you can. But don't try to move anyone who may be unconscious. You'll be helping plenty if you stop severe bleeding and keep the victim warm.

3. If an accident results in injury to another person or damage to his property, always be certain to identify yourself fully to the person, irrespective of who may be responsible for the accident. Failure to do this may result in your being charged with leaving the scene of an accident or failure to identify yourself — both serious offenses.

4. Call the police if either car is unable to be moved or anyone is injured. Police will summon an ambulance or physician.

5. Get the names and addresses of all witnesses.

6. Check your surroundings carefully — the position of the cars, license numbers and anything else you feel has a bearing on the accident. Step off distances if possible.

7. Do not discuss the accident with the other party.

8. If you are insured, make a prompt report to your insurance company giving details of the accident — even those appearing trivial.

ing these rules to the inside of your car's glove compartment for reference in case of a collision.

He also outlined ways in which the organization aids members in difficulty. Membership cards are honored in lieu of bail bonds when you are arrested for traffic offenses in other states.

The club also investigates members complaints on arrests considered unfair and other conditions detrimental to travel.

Erickson also reports that Auto Club's legal staff also gives information and advice on laws pertaining to the use and operation of the automobile.

The low lines and wire wheels of the current foreign sports car imports did not originate in Europe. This country's "Bearcat Torpedo" speedsters had them a quarter-century ago.

Efficient Staff Mans New Club

AAA Has 39 at Work to Aid Oakland Drivers at Division Office

A staff of 38 will assist division manager Arthur C. Bogus at Automobile Club of Michigan's new Pontiac division office.

Before joining the Pontiac office, Brown was the adjuster in charge of the Royal Oak, Northwest Detroit and Redford divisions. The 37-year-old Navy veteran resides in Pontiac with his wife, Marion, and their daughter, Cynthia Lou.

The large area served by the Pontiac division has three district membership managers, Cramer R. Wilson, who has been with the club since 1951; Robert L. Taft, a 23-year Auto Club employe, and Henry W. McNally, who came to the club in 1941.

Five membership representatives are also employed at the Pontiac division, Edward G. Tyman, C. Charles Conn Jr., Richard A. Warken, Charles H. Burns and Kenneth V. Keener.

Mary E. Gutierre, supervisor, is a native of Iowa who came to Auto Club in 1947. Pat Hills and Ilene Moore, both secretary-supervisors in the new office have a total of 11 years experience in serving club members.

Holding positions as secretaries at the Pontiac office are Myrtle Bailey, Janice Lewis, Leah Sampson, Jennie Conway, Ardena Stewart, Joan Fields and Joan Knauf.

Trained and employed as travel counselors in the new office are Jean Williams, Jan Yeager, Carolyn Murphy, Sharon Hark, Carol Watson, Audrey Stephens, Judith Bennett and Anna Smith.

Completing the Pontiac division staff are claims clerks Judith Wharry, Connie Price, Nancy Terry and Lois Ostrander.

If you could SEE IT

A very astute businessman recently said, "If people could see automobile protection like they see the automobile they buy, what a difference it might make in their lives."

They would then understand the wide gap between just an automobile insurance policy and the combination of Automobile Club services and the insurance by this Exchange at the Club.

Scores Violence in Dixie States

Jewish Congress Head Says South Must Halt Dynamiting

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The American Jewish Congress headed into a national convention today with a warning that violence against Jews is exploding out of lawless resistance to school integration in the Southland.

Sidney Hollander of Baltimore, convention chairman, said Southern states have the major responsibility for halting the wave of violence. But he also said the U.S. Department of Justice is following a hands-off policy which has no justification.

President Eisenhower sent greetings and words of praise to the convention—a meeting at which criticism of his position on racial problems and administration policy in the Middle East is out in the open.

Since Jan. 1 of last year 47 dynamitings and attempted bombings have occurred in the South. A synagogue and Negro high school were blasted last month at Jacksonville, Fla., and a Jewish temple at Miami and synagogue at Nashville, Tenn., in March.

In placing primary responsibility on the Southern states to halt the violence, Hollander said police investigation isn't enough.

"It lies," he said, "in the reversal of the present policy of the Southern states of organizing massive resistance to the nation's desegregation policy affirmed by the Supreme Court in its decision of May 17.

Argentine President Orders All Wages Up

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi carried out an election pledge last night by ordering a blanket wage increase but took no steps against the inflation which has accompanied previous pay hikes.

In a nationwide radio address Frondizi ordered salaries raised 60 per cent over their Feb. 1, 1956, level. Most workers have won raises since then and these will be figured in the 60 per cent.

The increases will be about 200 pesos ($5.20) a month for the average white collar worker who now makes about 2,000 pesos ($52) a month.

The new president noted in his speech that Argentina's cost of living has gone up about 30 per cent in the last year. He proposed no solution but said price gougers would be prosecuted quickly.

New Mexico Dems Make Nominations

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—U.S. Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) won renomination and State Rep. John Burroughs emerged as the choice of New Mexico Democrats for the governorship in Tuesday's primary elections.

Chavez' victory was conced by his opponent, former State Land Commissioner E. S. Johnny Walker.

Republicans had only two contests in their relatively small primary. Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, now serving an unprecedented third term, was unopposed for renomination.

Tigers Make It 4 Straight...How About 5?

Muscles Flexed in 11-1 Victory Over Cleveland

Bengals Collect 16 Hits Including Home Runs by Maxwell, Skizas

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe is not writing off the Detroit Tigers' current success as a turn of fate, but instead feels the club is settling down to assert itself in the American League pennant race.

"We're a good, solid ball club," the manager said last night after the Tigers showed their muscle in an 11-1 triumph over the Cleveland Indians. "We've won four in a row now. I know we can't keep this up, but we can and will win a lot more than we'll lose."

Frank Lary couldn't get his curve ball to break through the first four innings, yet pitched a smooth seven-hitter for his third successive victory after two early setbacks. The only damage off the hard-working righthander was a leadoff home run by Roger Maris who, like most left handed power hitters, has come to regard Briggs Stadium as his favorite park.

Maris has hit seven home runs against the Tigers in 1957 and 1958 — and six have been at Briggs Stadium. The rest of the Cleveland hits were singles, and Lary kept them scattered. He issued only two walks.

A crowd of 23,455 thrilled as the Tigers raked four Cleveland hurlers for 16 hits, including home runs by Charlie Maxwell and Lou Skizas and five two-base hits.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant was trying for his fourth victory but lasted less than four innings. The Tigers matched Maris' home run in the third inning on singles by Jim Hegan and Frank Bolling around a base on balls to Lary.

Grant was rounted in the fourth. Harvey Kuenn doubled, Maxwell singled him home and Ray Boone brought in Maxwell with another double. Boone later scored on Reno Bertoia's fly ball and the final run of the inning came in when Hegan and Lary lined out doubles.

Maxwell put the contest out of reach in the fifth inning when he cracked his fourth home run behind a walk to Kuenn. Billy Martin doubled in the Tigers' eighth run in the sixth inning, two singles and another fly by Bertoia accounted for another one in the seventh.

Skizas wound up the scoring in the eighth, putting one of southpaw Dick Tomanek's offerings into the lower left field pavilion behind Frank Bolling's third single of the evening.

With the healthy lead, Tighe tried his bench strength, using Gail Harris at first base, Johnny Groth in center, Milt Bolling at shortstop and Skizas in left field over the last couple of innings.

Groth responded with two hits, Harris and Skizas had one apiece. Milt Bolling struck out in his only appearance.

Five-Run 8th Ends Overtime Struggle

Lakeland Pharmacy exploded with five runs in the top of the 8th inning for a 7-2 verdict over Nonne's Restaurant in Waterford League softball action last night at Drayton Plains.

Dick Cooper's bases-loaded single plus two errors cleared the sacks and also tallied Cooper to break up an extra-inning mound duel between Lakeland's Norm Jennings and Arlo Flesher in American League warfare.

In National League play, the team without a sponsor clubbed a dozen hits to hand the Drayton Merchants an 18-6 drubbing. Ray Guerin made four singles in as many tries for the winners and the league's 10-run rule halted the game after 4½ innings.

Gross Sparkles in Relief for Surging Pirates

Trade Backfires on Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You might say the Cincinnati Redlegs made a gross error last December when they traded southpaw Don Gross to Pittsburgh.

The deal capped a five-day swapping spree that brought the Reds a half-dozen new pitchers and gave them their No. 1 starter of the moment, Bob Purkey (3-1). But the trade gave the Pirates what the Reds have needed most—a tough relief man.

The 26-year-old lefty has won one, saved three for the Pirates and hasn't allowed a run in his 14 2-3 innings. He's given up just four hits, while striking out 16.

Gross fanned four in three perfect relief innings against his old mates last night, saving a 6-3 victory for the Pirates, who have won five straight and 14 of their last 18.

It was the fourth defeat in a row for the Reds, who blew early leads in all of them.

The third place Pirates now are a half-game behind San Francisco. The Giants regained the National League lead by rocking Los Angeles 16-9 for their sixth straight victory. Philadelphia ending the Braves streak at six, 5-2.

Stan Musial finally collected his 3,000th hit, touching off a rally with a pinch double as the St. Louis Cardinals won their sixth straight, 5-3 over the Chicago Cubs.

The Pirates jammed six of their 11 hits into a five-run third that junked a 3-0 Redleg lead and handed Brooks Lawrence his third defeat. Bill Mazeroski homered, Bill Virdon tripled and Ted Kluszewski, another ex-Redleg, doubled in the big inning. Gross' relief job saved Ron Kline's fourth straight victory.

Robin Roberts, who has lost four in a row, gave up six hits, one Hank Aaron's fifth homer, while winning his second for Philadelphia. It was his 191st success in the majors, passing the Phillie recor dset by Grover Cleveland Alexander with 190.

The Phils, accused of staggering around like amateurs by General Manager Roy Hamey after losing seven of nine, beat Bob Buhl (4-2) for the first time in 10 decisions. They scored two in the second on Willie Jones' first 1958 homer, then bagged it with two in the third on three singles and an error.

Musial, batting for winning pitcher Sam Jones, became the eighth to get 3,000 hits in the majors with a two-bagger that drove in the first of four runs in the sixth as the Cards overhauled a 3-1 Cub lead. Moe Drabowsky gave up the pinch-blow by Musial, purposely benched at Chicago in hopes that he might save the milestone hit for hometown fans, and lost his third straight. Lee Walls hit his 10th homer for the Cubs, who now have lost seven in a row.

Willie Mays and Daryl Spencer, each hitting two home runs for the second straight game, drove in 10 runs between them for the Giants, who counted 26 hits and 50 total bases, a modern NL record. Mays, with seven homers in four games, was 5-for-5, Spencer 4-for-6 with six RBI as the Giants also set a modern major league record with five players getting four or more hits. There were nine home runs in the game with Charlie Neal belting two of the Dodgers' four. Al Worthington was the winner, Fred Kipp the loser, both in relief.

Cutdown Day Is Tough Task for Manager Tighe

DETROIT (AP) — "The toughest part of my job." That is the way manager Jack Tighe describes cutdown day.

The Detroit Tiger manager must decide before midnight tonight which three players will be lopped off the roster. There are any number of possibilities.

Most likely, Tighe will cut two pitchers. The Tigers are still hopeful of swinging a small deal involving one of the club's spare outfielders — Gus Zernial, Lou Skizas, Johnny Groth and Bill Taylor.

Yankees Change Tactics ...Pad Lead on Pitching

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Time was when those New York Yankees kept padding their American League lead with power at the plate. Now they're doing it with pitching.

The Yankee staff leads the majors with five shutouts at the moment and Don Larsen has two of them, pushing his scoreless inning string to 29 last night with a four-hitter that beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-0.

That put New York three games ahead of second place Washington, beaten 9-6 by Boston. Detroit moved within .004 percentage of the third place Orioles with an 11-1 job on Cleveland, and the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 9-2.

Larsen, who had six scoreless innings at the end of last season, began his 1958 run of 23 shutout frames with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over Boston opening day, then beat Boston with a scoreless five-inning stay April 21. He had been idled since by shoulder trouble and rain.

The big right-hander ended a shutout duel with Connie Johnson (1-3) with his second home run of the season, 10th in the majors, in the fifth inning last night. Larsen was 2-for-2 at bat, and walked ahead of Hank Bauer's two-run double in the seventh.

It was Larsen's sixth straight over the Orioles since Sept. 5, 1955, after being traded from Baltimore to New York the previous winter. But it wasn't a breeze. He walked four, had to work out of a bases-loaded jam in the first and a two-on, none out fix in the fifth.

Jackie Jensen smacked a grand slam homer and drove in five runs for Boston as the Red Sox won their second in eight games with the Senators this season.

Pitcher Pete Ramos, who had beaten the Sox twice, lost his second. Rookie Bob "Riverboat" Smith won his second, but needed relief in the ninth after a two-run homer by Niel Chrisley—who never had homered in the majors 'til last Friday and now has hit four in four games.

3 U.S. Cities Seek New Pro Puck Spots

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — One Canadian and three American cities indicated their willingness Tuesday to become part of a proposed new pro hockey league.

Tentative promises to join came from Winnipeg, St. Paul, Omaha and Denver. Representatives of two other cities, Minneapolis and Des Moines, expressed interest in the plan. St. Louis, although not represented at a meeting here, also is considered a possibility.

Plans for organization will be detailed at a June 6 meeting here.

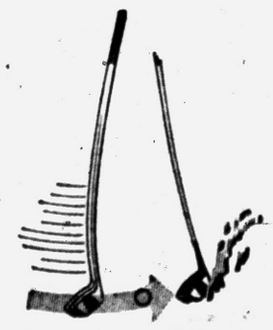

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: Losing Power.

Diagnosis: Quitting on the Shot

TREATMENT: To get any real power behind a golf shot you must come into the ball in such a way that you will hit on through the ball and be carried through to a full finish.

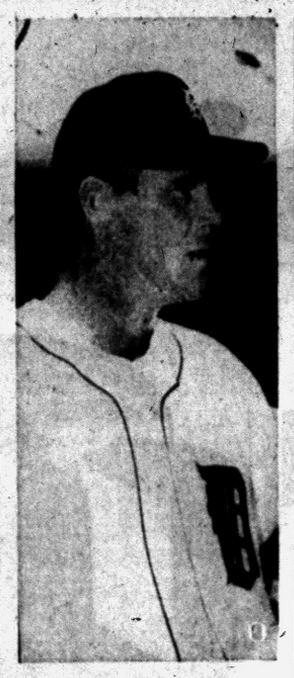

The opposite of this is quitting on the shot. When your clubhead moves only a couple of feet or so past the ball before stopping, you can be sure you've quit on the shot. This hurts both direction and power, but particularly power.

The fault shows up to the casual observer after the ball is hit. He notices that the clubhead and the swing stop very abruptly.

But the trouble really starts earlier. The player starts letting up just as the clubhead is coming in to the ball — which is really the time when he should be pouring in all of his power.

Determine at the outset of the swing that you're going to hit through the ball equally hard with both hands. The back of the left hand should be toward the hole when the ball is hit—and it should be moving right on through the hole. Remember, hit on THROUGH.

TO START — Herman Wehmeier will get his first starting assignment for the Tigers Friday night in Kansas City. Manager Jack Tighe said he is anxious to see if Wehmeier is ready to start.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

George Wilson, head coach of the Detroit Lions, is a man of a few thousand words when he starts talking football.

"New faces and fresh blood," is Wilson's motto. There's no sentiment in his words. He admits they mean only one thing to him — to win.

Last year in mid-May, Wilson sat back and listened as reporters fired questions at Buddy Parker, then coach of the Lions who were still fresh with memories of the National Football League cellar of the 1956 season.

Yesterday, at the annual luncheon which officially kicked off the Lions' season ticket campaign, Wilson made clear his feelings for having winning football.

"I didn't ask for this job, I fell into it and now I'm going to run this club the best I know how," he said.

"We will trade anyone at anytime, if it is the right thing to do," he added, "it's been proven that many good teams fall because of old age and dying blood."

In reference to the trades which sent Dorne Dibble to the Giants and Ray Krouse to the Packers for high draft choices, Wilson commented, "I feel I'm helping Dibble play a couple more years by trading him."

"We've been criticized severely for trading Krouse, but we feel Ray has only another year or so, and we want to get something while we can. We want to make room for Alex Karras our top draft choice, and whether he makes it or not, our future lies in the draft choices we can get and new blood for which we can trade."

Listen to Wilson and you can almost expect a wholesale shuffle of personnel on the Lions' squad before they go into camp at Cranbrook July 22nd.

"Others are going to go. We will try to repeat in 1958 if we can get the breaks we did in 1957. If we dont, we could hit rock bottom just as well."

"Last year we were fortunate to have different players come through at key times in various games. If we can avoid crippling injuries and plug a few spots with rookies, we will be in the 1958 race all the way."

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

The Lions are 6,000 tickets ahead for the same period of the 1957 season sale. Currently 38,323 ticket holders have reserved their tickets for the 1958 season and it appears that the record of 39,844 of a year ago will be broken.

Tobin Rote, the big Texan who guided the Lions during the crucial last few games of 1957, is planning permanent residence in the Detroit area. He is going into business but isn't ready to say what or where.

SPORTS

SAFE AT HOME — Charlie Maxwell, Tiger outfielder, scores in the 4th inning of the game with the Cleveland Indians last night after Ray Boone doubled. Russ Nixon, Cleveland catcher, gets the throw for Bobby Avila too late to make the tag. Detroit won 11-1 as Maxwell drove in three runs.

Musial Does It With Pinch-Double

Oh Happy 3,000!

CHICAGO (AP) — "Well, I'm glad that's over with," said Stan Musial shortly after cracking out his 3,000th major league hit Tuesday in the unfamiliar role of a pinch batter.

The two-base hit sparked a rally which led to a 5-3 victory for his St. Louis Cardinals over the Chicago Cubs.

"For the last three days so many people were giving it so much attention that . . ."

Just then another wave of photographers came up the lane which leads from the dugout to the clubhouse. Musial, ever the gentleman, fulfilled all posing requests and answered all questions.

"It isn't every day a man gets his 3,000th hit," said The Man. "I knew it was in there and I'm sure glad it was a good, clean shot."

When Musial drove his double into left field in the sixth inning of the game, play was suspended. The ball was retrieved and given to Musial and photographers dashed on the field.

St. Louis Manager Fred Hutchinson also walked out and congratulated Musial, Hutchinson then sent in a pinch runner for The Man. What did he say out there?

"Hutch said he also wished I had gotten the hit in St. Louis," said Musial.

Hutchinson had benched The Man in hopes Musial would get the hit at St. Louis where the Cardinals play Wednesday night. Musial also had hoped to get the big hit at home.

After coming off the field, Musial walked over to the stands and kissed his wife, Lillian.

"Was she excited?" someone asked Musial.

"No," said The Man, "She has more confidence than I do in my hitting. I remember when she'd ask how many hits I'd gotten and I'd say 'three' and she'd ask "what were they?" I'd say 'singles' and she'd say 'oh?' I guess she wanted me to give them back," he laughed.

Musial said the pitch he hit on the momentous occasion was a curve ball.

Somebody asked Musial if he thought there is anyone around who might reach 3'000 hits.

"What about Red Schoendienst. He might have a chance," he said.

Schoendienst, Milwaukee second baseman who was Musial's roommate when the two were with the Cardinals, started the 1958 season with 2,200 hits.

40 Candidates for Cage Post

Ohio State Launches Drive to Fill Job Vacated by Stahl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University launches Wednesday its intensive search for a new head basketball coach.

A four-man screening committee — two professors, a student and an alumnus — will start weeding out the less-imposing candidates from among some 40 applicants for the job vacated April 24 by Floyd Stahl.

Athletic Director Dick Larkins said he thought no more than four or five men would be interviewed, despite the long and imposing list of applicants. The roll was slashed by one Tuesday as Ralph Carlisle, coach of Laffayette High School at Lexington, Ky., withdrew voluntarily.

The top candidates who have caught the public fancy are Fred Taylor, currently the university's freshman coach, and Paul Walker of Middletown who ran up a 248-40 record in leading Middletown High School to five state championships since 1947.

Burke's victory is one of five Opens won by golfers in the biggest starting list for the 11-year-old tournament honoring Snead for his 21-years as local pro. Lew Worsham took the Open in 1947 and Ben Hogan reeled off victories in 1948, 1950, 1951 and 1953.

Hogan also won golf's other major events, the PGA, Masters and British Open. So has Snead.

PGA champions represented among those teeing off tomorrow date back to Johnny Revolta of 1935. His successor the next two years, Denny Shute, also is among Snead's guests.

Badger's 36 Preps' Best

McGill Wins 5th Straight

Prep baseball, track and golf squads from the Pontiac area turned in some shining performances yesterday, in a full day of activity, marked by the 5th straight victory for Clawson's fine hurler, Dick McGill. McGill has won all Trojans' victories to lead the Oakland B loop.

Avondale grabbed a doubleheader from Fitzgerald to hang on to 2nd place in the O-B circuit, while Farmington edged Waterford 7-6 for a 11-inning victory in the Inter-Lakes loop, as other diamond highlights.

Bud Badger's 36 at North Hills was the day's top links job, as Bloomfield Hills defeated Oak Park 164-184. Bob Thompson helped with 39, the Hills' seventh win.

West Bloomfield took a night track test, 58⅔ points to 49⅓ points for Brighton in a Wayne-Oakland encounter. Jack Newton's three firsts set the pace. Cranbrook defeated Servite for its 20th dual win.

McGill yesterday beat Lake Orion 10-2 with a 3-hitter, fanning 17, for a total of 53 strikeouts in 11 innings.

Dennis Evans did an "iron man" stunt in hurling both Avondale's victories over Fitzgerald. He gave up two hits in the opener, which went two extra frames after Fitzgerald tied it 6-6 in the regulation 5th. Evans allowed four hits, but won the "cap," 3-2, helping the win by his 2-run triple in the first inning.

Waterford blew a 5-run lead, set up in the 2nd frame, and Farmington tied it up in the 7th, went on to win in the bottom of the 11th. Curt Love was the winner, Chuck Kirken the loser.

Other baseball results included Armada 18-3 over Capac, led by Duane Wolak's four hits and four RBIs.

Keego took 9 firsts to four for Brighton in the track dual at night at KH. Freshman Newton won the dashes, (first time he's run the events in two weeks), and broad jump. Tom Bell won both hurdles and big Rolph Gordhamer won the 440 and shot. Keego will take part in the Howell "B" regional Saturday, with a 24-man team.

Cranes grabbed all but one first place in their 90-19 win over Servite. Winners medley relay team set a school mark of 2:37.5 for the event (Noteware, 440; Aurend, 220; DeWitt 220 and Butzbaugh, anchor). Stu Clark set an unofficial broad jump mark of 22 feet one-half inch.

Golf matches included:

Clawson 292, Avondale 401; W. Bloomfield 166, Clarkston 176; OL St. Mary 175, St. Michael 186.

2 Brief No-Hitters Hurled

Two abbreviated no-hitters were hurled in City League softball activity Tuesday night as the batters found the range to invoke the 10-run rule.

In a National League encounter at Beaudette Park, Jerry Larson twirled a three-inning no-hitter as the Pontiac Merchants handed the Pontiac Post Office a 10-0 drubbing.

Walt Travis pitched a four-inning no-hitter at North Side Park while the Lakeside Royals were pasting Franklin Products by the same 10-0 score in an International loop game.

International Autos collected 11 hits for a 9-3 triumph over State Hospital on the North Side field. Hanson's two-aboard homer accounted for all of the losers' runs.

The Moose thrashed the American Legion 20-12, as the hitters went on a rampage in the opening contest at Beaudette. The Moose made 13 hits, one a home run by Adams, and the Legion garnered 14 safeties.

Benson Keglers Win Classic

A big victory on the final night of action produced a dramatic finish and the championship for the Sam Benson team in the 14-team West Side Classic League Monday night.

The Benson keglers compiled 3½ points to ½ for runnerup Huron Cleaners to gain the championship by the slim margin of one point.

Except for a 2nd game deadlock, the Benson's dominated the action with a 3,109 total to 2718. Norm Keeley of the champs rolled a 672 series and 236 game to lead both sides. "Mo" Moore topped Huron with 649.

The final Pontiac entry to compete in the big Women's International Bowling Tournament at San Francisco will be R & R Motors which takes part in team, doubles and singles tonight.

Hazel Park Harness Crowd Has Decrease

DETROIT (AP) — Hazel Park harness raceway's attendance slipped last night to about half of what it was opening night but even at 6,433 officials said it was the best Tuesday night attendance since the track opened in 1953. Comparative figures were not given.

A record crowd of 13,513 opened the season Monday night, setting a harness race attendance record in Michigan.

Last night's crowd wagered $315,907. A long shot combination of Success Clar and Lynda Spangler combined for a $239.40 daily double.

Five Win Golf Balls

Second round of play was held Tuesday for members of the Silver Lake Women's golf league, but no formal competition was held because handicaps have not yet been fixed. However, awards of golf balls were made to Mrs. James Kraft, Mrs. Delmar Cote, Mrs. Edward Shedlowsky, Mrs. Phil Francis and Mrs. William Hall. Mrs. John Condon had low putts (15) and Mrs. Robert Gibson had five on the blind hole.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

George May, the Chicago business executive who canceled his All-American and World golf tournaments this spring, demonstrated his intestinal fortitude Monday in no uncertain terms.

May offered to put a new $250,000 tournament on the professional calendar if the PGA would fire Ed Carter, its veteran tourney director who has often been at odds with the wealthy Chicagoan.

The more you think about it, the more outlandish it becomes. If this is the type of nerve required for business success, one can easily see why May is at the top of the ladder in his profession.

But as far as this column is concerned, the golf-loving businessman has driven out of bounds in his negotiations with the PGA.

No attempt will be made here to discuss the merits and demerits of Carter, who has frequently been under fire. Carter is an able tournament director, however, and May was completely out of place with his request.

The truth of the matter is that the PGA hierarchy was delighted to be rid of May's rich tourneys on the premise that they were not dedicated to the best interests of professional golfers or the game itself.

Too many pros, the PGA believes, saw their golf games suffer as a result of victories at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter. Julius Boros, Ted Kroll and Bob Toski are excellent reasons for the belief.

Boros, for example, won the Hot Springs Open last Sunday, his first win on the tournament trail since he took the World jackpot in 1955. Kroll and Toski are still looking for top money after winning the same event.

The string of guaranteed purses and exhibition appearances attached to the World tourney removes the fine competitive edge from a pro's game. He loses his "hunger" and desire to win.

It is very unlikely that the PGA will let May return to the tournament fold if it can be avoided. May undoubtedly knew his request involving Carter was absurd, but he thought it would be a good publicity stunt.

SHORT PUTTS

Father Joseph S. Latchford of Lake Orion fired a hole-in-one yesterday at Pontiac Country Club, using a 5-iron on the 135-yard 2nd hole.

Accompanying him were Father Ralph Inwallie and Father Pascal Gurga, both from Orion. Father Latchford shot a commendable 36-43—79 for 18 holes.

Joe Kocsis recently tied the course record at Highland with a nine-under-par 63. He was playing with brother Emerick, Highland's new head pro who carded 65. The co-holder of the course record is Royal Oak's Wally Smith.

Fangio Unsure of Driving 2nd of Novi Twins

Michigan Manufacturer Says Seat Is Open for Italian Driver

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Paul Russo the racing grandfather from Webster Groves, Mo. wheeled one of the twin Novi Specials around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway at 142.9 miles an hour Tuesday while the other Novi sat idle amidst speculation as to whether Juan Manuel Fangio will drive it.

Lewis Welch, Novi, Mich., manufacturer who owns the supercharged eight-cylinder cars said the seat in the second Novi was open and he would like to have Fangio drive it but he had not made any arrangements with him.

Fangio, five times world road racing champion went to Dayton, Ohio to talk to George Walther Jr., owner of the un-supercharged four-cylinder car the Argentinian is under contract to drive in the 500-mile race if he can qualify it in trials the next two week ends.

Russo 44 - year - old, has been driving in the 500-mile race since 1940 and says he'll win it on his 13th attempt this year. He holds the Speedway 50-mile record of 142.244 m.p.h., which he set in 1956 in a Novi before wrecking it against the sourthwest wall. He also set the 75 - mile record of 140.002 last year in the rebuilt car but finished fourth.

The Novis are practically new cars this year with new engines, a different front end and a new tail design. Part of the changes were to make them more effective on the rough, high-banked track at Monza, Italy, where another 500-mile race will be run in June.

Johnny Boyd of Fresno, Calif., was clocked at a shade over 143 m.p.h. Tuesday in a Bowes Seal Fast Special for one of the better performances. He finished sixth in last year's Memorial Day race in the same car.

Chuck Weyent, Springfield, Ill., tavern owner, took out the Dunn Engineering Spcial from Detroit and turned a lap at 141. m.p.h. Weyent, who has finished 12th and 14th in two previous Indianapolis starts, has not been assigned officially to the car.

U.S. Scientists Open New Fight Against Eels

Start Latest Attack on Lampreys Today in Lake Superior

MUNISING (AP)—The latest battle in the fight to save trout in the Great Lakes from extinction by the sea lamprey was begun today by federal scientists.

The attack on the trout-killing lamprey in Lake Superior was made on the Mosquito river, a lamprey spawning area near the eastern end of the Picture Rocks area between Munising and Grand Marais.

Fish and wildlife service workers poured a new chemical named lamprecid into the stream.

The chemical, developed by Dr. Vernon C. Applegate at the Hammond Bay Fisheries Laboratory near Rogers City, is expected to destroy the lampreys without harming fish. This is its first test in a natural watercourse.

The scientists hope to treat all streams in the Lake Superior watershed within the next 18 months. And the entire Great Lakes in the next five years.

Applegate said "our primary aim now is to destroy the lamprey in Lake Superior and save the remaining lake trout. They are our only major source of trout eggs with which to restock the Great Lakes."

The parasitic lamprey lives by attaching itself to fishes and sucking their blood. It already has destroyed nearly all lake trout except strays in Lakes Huron and Michigan.

It has destroyed more than half the trout in Lake Superior since first appearing there in 1945. Experts say that if the lamprey is not stopped quickly it may wipe out all the trout in Lake Superior within three years.

The Fish and Wildlife Service has scored major victories against the lamprey with another chemical called dowlap.

The service said the chemical, developed by Dow Chemical Co., of Midland, "resulted in a 100 per cent kill of lamprey larvae." living in Carp Creek, between Cheboygan and Rogers City.

"Dowlap, applied at the rate of 20 parts per million parts of water, resulted in a 100 per cent kill of lamprey larvae after 13 hours of treatment" with "negligible damage to desirable gamefish and stream life."

What's Trout—or Bass?

Experts List Fishes' Names

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After 25 years of trying to establish and put into general usage the common names of fish, the experts may now fairly be said to have brought confusion out of chaos.

That is to say, there is an authority that can be consulted if the boys in the backroom can find it when the argument between a Yankee and a Texan waxes like the Gulf Coast in hurricane weather over what is a trout and what is a bass.

As a matter of fact, the authority has been in the process of being established for some 10 years, it having taken only 15 years before that for a majority of the experts to agree on a majority of common names.

The American Fisheries Society formed a committee in 1933 to "prepare and submit for publication a list of common names of fishes corresponding to the accepted scientific names."

In all, 605 fishes were considered for the list, of which 35 were eliminated as of insufficient interest. Of the remaining 570, there was unanimous agreement on 245 species, while 291 were approved by a two-thirds vote. The remaining 34 squeaked through on the basis of a plurality.

By 1948, the society put out the bulletin listing what it considers accepted names. In the decade since, experts by and large find themselves going along with it. Sportsmen? Well—

It may be just as well to remember that the trout by any other name may be a salmon.

If, that is, it isn't a char.

Or a bass.

Californians receiving state aid to the aged have taken seriously the provision that recepients can apply for free fishing licenses. Among the 7,200 applicants: A 98-year-old. Idaho birdwatchers have come up with a list of 261 species spotted in the state. Many a householder may try to match it in his backyard cherry tree, come pie time.

Juniors Shoot Smallbore Test

A sectional smallbore rifle test for juniors (19 years and under), will be held May 25 at OCSC's range, Robert Gubbins announced today. A field of about 80 shooters is expected.

The match will be an all-day affair, with shooters firing for total aggregate of four matches, based on 20 shots prone, 20 standing and an equal number kneeling. Awards will go to winners of each division, and a trophy to the combined champion, as well as a team (four-man) trophy. Team award will be based on 10 shots for both offhand and prone firing.

Post entries will be taken, but advance registrations are sought. For further information contact Robert Gubbins MI 4-5043.

BIG JUMP — Ronnie Figueira tries to select an entry to carry his colors in the International Frog Olympics held during the Jumping Frog Jubilee and Calaveras County Fair at Angels Camp, Calif., May 15-18. More than 500 entries are expected.

Little Stories About Outdoors

Canadian scenery, plus some exceptionally fine pike fishing is pulling William Jones, 4908 Hillcrest, Waterford, back to the Montreal Falls section of Ontario—and may mean a summer there—says Jones.

Jones and Ernest Hyde of Drayton Plains returned only a short time ago from a fishing trip to the area. They brought back several big ones, including a 39½ inch long (15¾ pounds) and a 40 inch (15 pound) lunker. They landed between 25 and 30 during their 11-day stay at Damsite Lodge, Mile 92.

Michigan hopes to reestablish the fine trout-like game fish, the storied grayling, in its Upper Peninsula waters. Some 800 Montana grayling have been planted in Manganese lake, Keweenaw county, this week. Plants were hatched and reared at the Wolf Lake hatchery from eggs brought from Montana. It is also planned to put 100,000 eyed eggs in two streams that feed the lake some time in June.

A gadget of real interest to feminine anglers with an aversion to removing fish from the hook, is the new automatic fish remover made by a Wisconsin concern. It's a pistol-style device that slips down the leader, clears the hook without the angler touching the fish.

Detroit Tiger hitters have won the individual batting championship 20 times, more than any other club in either major league.

Brookies Hit, on the North Branch

May Days Mean Good Trout Fishing

By JACK PATTERSON

Monday we put in a full day on the Au Sable River's North Branch. We had several reasons for doing this. First of all, it's May and the shadblow bushes are in bloom and the place to be, when it's May, is n a trout stream. Second, old friend Glen Sprague, with whom we've shot at a passel of grouse and woodcock in years past, and who has made the North Branch his special study-project these 40 years, had some notions on outwitting the sophisticated trout that rule the river. And then, in the current issue of a national outdoor magazine there was an article on a never-fail trout fly, so monkey-see-monkey-do being our motto, we had to tie some up and try 'em out.

Assessing the merit of these reasons for going fishing in reverse order, we can quickly dismiss the never-fail fly business as just another trout fly. It worked well when other flies worked; it fell down as badly when the fish lost interest in standard patterns.

Fish were feeding actively all day. During the frequent mayfly hatches any size 14 dry worked and we found no reason to change from an Adams.

For wet fishing, winning combination for brooks seemed to be a two-fly cast with, in our case, an Admiral at the point and a stone fly nymph as dropper. Through most of the day they took the nymph, toward evening began taking the point fly.

Dusk signalled a big mayfly hatch and though feeding fish were visible everywhere, they were nymphing mostly, and not feeding on the surface. A small spider was the only thing we found that induced strikes.

Though we can dismiss guaranteed flies easily, we can't do the same with Sprague. Although he was in the stream an hour or so before we were, he not only outfished us but outlasted us as well.

He was far fresher at nightfall than we were and he's twenty-five years our senior. We experienced the exasperation of the dry-fly fisherman turned nympher. We'd get a bump on nearly every cast with nymphs, and do well to land a fish in twenty-five.

As for our third reason for killing the day by fishing, well, we don't make apologies to anyone for going trout fishing in May. Particularly on the North Branch, a stream once so famous for its brook trout fishing that the fly casting champion of Great Britain made a special trip over, in the early twenties, to have a go at it. He could come over again and still have a pretty good time.

Rifle Tourney Canceled Out

Because of lack of entries, the U.S. International Rifle team trials set originally for this weekend, have been cancelled.

"Where we had expected some 25 shooters for the event, designed to pick candidates for the U.S. International rifle team to shoot against Russia this year," says Bob Gubbins, OCSC committee head in charge of plans, "we had less than half that number. In order to hold the shoot it was necessary to have at least 25, so we had to call it off.

The event was set up as a 300-meter free rifle test, firing 40 shots each from three positions.

Anglers may help their chances of success if they make use of the solunar periods below. 'Gills Active on Area Lakes

Arrival of more spring - like weather has boosted activity among the fish populations of area waters, and some good catches are being reported.

Among the successful anglers is Butch Doyen, 2628 Elizabeth Lake Rd., who reports plenty of activity by bluegills along the "jump-offs" at Crescent Lake.

Doyen says he took some that went 11 inches in length, weighed close to a pound. "They're fine, fat fish" Butch says, inquiring about the annual Press Fishing Derby which usually begins with the opening of black bass season, June 21.

W. Bloomfield Church Selects Mother of Year

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Howard A. Green of 5401 Green Rd. was honored as "Mother of the Year" by the West Bloomfield Baptist Church.

Selected by a vote of the congregation, she was presented with an inscribed copy of "God in My Kitchen" by Dorothy Haskins at the Sunday evening service.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Green have been active in the church from its beginnings as "Salvation Harbor Sunday School" in the West Bloomfield Township Hall and were charter members of the church in its formal organization. Her recent election to be one of the church's first deaconesses is a reflection of her life, testimony and faithfulness in the church, the Rev. J. Richard Muntz said.

The worth of her practical, every - day Christianity is seen in the present lives of her family. Donald Green is one of the deacons of First Baptist Church, Pontiac. One daughter, Elizabeth Peinados, is now in her second term of missionary service in Bolivia.

Adopted as the church missionary, the local women's group is named the Elizabeth Missionary Society in her honor. Dorothy is married to the Rev. J. William Green, formerly of Wixom First Baptist church and now pastor of the Beverly Hills Baptist Church in Jacksonville, Fla.

'All About Men... Chapter Three

Only His Mother Can Love Him

By JOSEPH H. PECK, M. D.

In my medical experience I never saw a girl whose feet showed any reluctance when the time came for her to step into the river of womanhood.

It is the boy whose feet are reluctant, standing where the brook and the river meet.

Beware the money tree!

A boy from 10 to 13 is something nobody but a mother could love. Half the time he even hates himself.

While a girl becomes more graceful and attractive, a boy grows more awkward and more conscious of his clumsiness. A fuzzy growth appears on his face. Whiskers, starting singly and in pairs, soon grow rapidly, curling as they grow.

Acne pimples sprout where whiskers don't; his nose gets big and his feet smelly. He becomes discouraged and careless, dressing even more slovenly than you thought possible.

Nature is using her invisible hypodermic to inject progressively stronger doses of male sex hormone into his veins, and his reactions are constantly swinging from desire for violent bodily contact with his fellows to a strange lassitude.

FACING THE FACTS

At this stage he obeys you because the pattern is hard to break, and, besides, he is not quite sure he can lick you.

But there will come a time when he can tell the old man to go to hell, and that is one of his sweetest dreams. His animosity toward his father grows as his sex develops, and they can never meet again on common ground until he has kids of his own.

By this time his mother is suspecting things, and she hounds the old man to talk to Junior. Father would rather fight a bull without a sword, and Junior probably wishes he would do so and get gored.

In this respect, a physician is better situated than most men. I well remember the Sunday morning I told the boys we were going to my office for a little talk. They exchanged knowing glances.

I reached for a book on obstetrics and started my lecture. My younger son politely walked over to look out the window, while the older blushed and squirmed. I icily inquired if I was boring them.

"Papa," my older son said, "we have known all about that as long as I can remember. Our first picture book was your old Gray's Anatomy, and we often hear you talking to patients over the phone."

"Let's go fishing and tell mother it took a long time to educate you," I said.

Teenage sons look upon fathers as trees that shed money.

Provide them only with necessities and pay for their education if you can. Never give them a dime for fun unless they do something to earn it.

At this stage of a boy's development, the chief job of society is to find an outlet for his excessive energy.

I'm glad that my boys were at this adolescent period before all those child labor laws went into effect. Child labor in sweat shops, of course, was a disgrace, but so is the fact that millions of young American men must live through summers wandering around listless and unproductive.

Years ago a bunch of old biddies, probably thwarted in their natural desire for motherhood, took over the children's bureau in Washington and sold a bill of goods that it was an antiquated notion to think that parents could raise their own offspring during the tender, twig-straightening years.

A whole new way of life was opened for career women who could not make a success of anything else, and parents were hounded to distraction by welfare workers, well-baby and well-child clinics, child-guidance clinics, and God knows what else.

YOUR DAY IS COMING

And yet, if your son was raised right, he will somehow worry through the tough period of adolescence. Now he is in the same fix as a half-grown dog.

Everybody loved and wanted to cuddle him when he was a puppy, but now that he is big enough to knock over the goldfish bowl and your favorite golf trophy, he lands in the dog pound, or, at best, gets a swift kick in the stern.

Your offspring may be a trial to his family, school and community, but just remember that he was created in the image of his Maker. Comfort yourself with the thought that some day he may show some of the worthy characteristics he inherited.

Meanwhile, a lot of fathers are worried, and they have good reason. They are worried because their genes are beginning to show. . .

Sales Climbing Steadily for Studebaker-Packard

SOUTH BEND Ind. (AP) — Late April increases in sales of Studebaker-Packard cars and trucks as well as Mercedes-Benz automobiles are reported by Studebaker-Packard Corp.

Sales of the firm's autos in the last 10 days of the month were up 26 per cent over the second 10-day period, while truck sales rose 22 per cent. The firm said Mercedes-Benz sales in April continued the steady rise started in September 1957.

Still Buying Diamonds

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — People are still buying diamonds, recession or not, Harry F. Oppenheimer, chairman of De Beers Consolidated Mines Ltd., said today in his annual report. While there was a decline in the demand for gem diamonds toward the end of 1957, he said, results for the first quarter of 958 were "more encouraging."

Pontiac City Affairs

To Air M24 Project

A public hearing will be held Tuesday on city plans to join with the State Highway Department in widening and repaving Perry street (M24) from E. Huron street to the northeast city limits.

The $1,354,653 project will be financed partially by an estimated $103,113 in special assessments on property owners and $130,370 in general city funds. The city will pay another $4,459, representing assessments on school property, and the county will be assessed $9,556.

The rest of thet cost is to be split by state and federal governments.

The estimated costs were accepted by the City Commission last night.

Also scheduled for public hearing Tuesday is a proposal to construct sidewalks on Cherry court, east of Hill street. The assessed cost would be $690, city cost $922, and cost of a 37-foot lot $74.

Commissions also approved lowering slightly the assessments on two Montcalm avenue sanitary sewers. Rebates were in order, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn said, because subdivision bond money which the city has held in escrow for such improvements was not figured in the original assessments. One sewer was built last year, the other is to be built this year.

Market Drops in Early Trades

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market declined in active dealings early today.

Leading issues were down from fractions to around a point. There were scattered gainers.

Lower-priced issues continued to be briskly traded but their recent advance was slowed. American Motors, which has risen strongly in the past several sessions, faltered.

It opened unchanged, then showed a loss of ¾ at 13½ on two successive blocks of 10,000 shares. It cut its loss in later trades.

Oils continued their retreat on news of the Middle East trouble. Rails, base metals, the major motor shares and most chemicals showed minus signs.

News of dividend cuts tripped some stocks. Among these were Hammermill Paper, down around a point, and General Precision, off a major fraction.

Losses were taken by U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Radio Corp., International Telephone, Phelps Dodge and DuPont.

Philip Morris, Studebaker-Packard and Southern California Edison were small gainers.

2 Pontiac Men Injured as Their Cars Collide

Two Pontiac men were injured early this morning when their cars collided at Perry St. and Pontiac Rd., according to police.

Admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured elbow was Steven D'Anthony, 26, of 395 N. Saginaw St. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

The other driver, Edward P. Grayda, 32, of 640 Peacock St., was treated for minor injuries and released, said police.

3 Alert Officers Nab Two Men in Stolen Auto

Fast thinking on the part of three Pontiac police officers led to the arrest of two men last night in a stolen auto.

Detectives Gerald Navarre and Earl Skrobeck and Patrolman Richard Navarre were cruising on Pike street around midnight when they saw two men drive by in a car. The driver was wearing gloves.

Wondering what a driver would want with gloves in the warm weather, the officers gave chase on Pike and down Marshall street. The pair jumped from their car and ran between houses but were apprehended at the corner of Michigan and North Edith streets.

Held for investigation of auto theft are Daniel C. Polasek, 21, of 245 Nelson St. and Gerald L. Spencer, 19, of 40 Clarence St.

The two admitted stealing the car from Rogers Sales and Service, 695 Auburn Ave., and stealing two different license plates for it, police said.

They also were connected by police with the theft of another car which was recovered last night by an Oakland County Sheriff's deputy in Auburn Heights.

Death Brushes Family of Five

They Barely Escape as Midnight Fire Destroys Waterford Home

A Waterford Township family of five barely escaped death as they fled from their blazing home in their nightclothes at midnight last night.

Mrs. Brad Proper, of 2077 Paulsen St., said that she was polishing her three children's shoes in the living room when all of a sudden she looked up and the entire house was filled with thick black smoke.

She aroused her sleeping husband who rushed to a back bedroom and carried two of her three sons, Barry, one and David, 2 years old, outside.

When he returned to get a third son, Sammy, 3, he was almost overcome by smoke.

The four room log cabin home, valued at $10,000, and $3,500 contents were destroyed.

Firemen said that the blaze came from the clothes dryer in the utility room. There was no insurance on the home or contents.

Wilsons Finally Able to Thank City Commission

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson have finally got around to thanking the Pontiac City Commission for a resolution it passed 17 months ago praising their donation of the Meadow Brook estate for the Michigan State University-Oakland branch college.

The Wilsons would have thanked the commission sooner, but Mayor William W. Donaldson absent-mindedly forgot to let them know about the resolution until about a week ago.

The apologetic mayor confessed last night that he had undertaken to hold onto the resolution last year and deliver it to the Wilsons personally when they returned from an extended vacation.

But by the time the Wilsons had returned to the Pontiac area, the Mayor had forgotten about it, he said, and the resolution has remained unnoticed in his brief case ever since.

"This is the first time in four years that happened," he said, "but I particularly regret it because theirs was such a wonderful gift to this area and we were the very first governmental group to pass a resolution thanking them."

"And I guess ours was the last one delivered," he added.

Late City Inspector Cited for Good Job

The late Harvey L. Stout has been cited by the City Commission for his role as inspector during construction of the new City Hall and Public Safety building.

It was Stout's job to insure that workmanship and building materials came up to specifications on the two jobs.

"The many important buildings in downtown Pontiac are memorials to his long career in building construction," a resolution passed by the Commission said.

Stout, 73, of 21 S. Genesee Ave., was a private contractor. He died April 28.

'Too Many Smiths'

DETROIT (AP) — Devarold Lewelyn Smith of Detroit has asked Probate Court to let him change his name to Devarold Lewelyn Selkirk. Smith told the court "There are too many Smiths in the world."

Pontiac Man Given Probation, $25 Costs

Gene C. Goodman, 25, of 633 N. Perry St., pleaded guilty to assault and battery today in Municipal Court.

He originally had been charged with felonious assault in a fight with an off-duty Pontiac police officer, James A. Teal Jr., on April 1.

Charges against three others for felonious assault were dismissed, while a fifth man was found not guilty of interfering with a police officer.

Goodman was given 90 days' probation by Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and charged $25 costs.

Elect 2 to Port Board

DETROIT (AP) — Thomas E. Lane, Alvan Macauley Jr., and Harry H. Meisner were elected Tuesday to the Port of Detroit Commission by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. Lane is an industrial scales manufacturer, Macauley a vice president of National Bank of Detroit, and Meisner an attorney.

San Francisco to Get $50,000 for Not Farming

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco will collect $50,000 from the federal government over the next 10 years for not farming 334 acres of watershed land near the Crystal Springs Lake reservoir.

The Public Utilities Commission voted yesterday not to plant the land again for fear of contaminating the reservoir, and then signed up for the federal soil bank program.

"I fele sort of morally dishonest in this thing," Commissioner Joseph Martin Jr. said.

John Brucato, the PUC's water department land agent, assured commission the soil bank authorities were fully informed of the facts and still wanted the city to sign.

The land is south of the city and the most Sa nFrancisco ever got from farming it was $4,000 a year.

Say Chrysler Preparing Small or Economy Car

DETROIT (AP)—Rumors circulated in Wall Street today that Chrysler Corp. was ready either to enter the small car field or produce an economy model of a present Chrysler product.

Chrysler denied any decision has been made.

A Chrysler spokesman, in response to queries, said:

"As we have stated on many occasions, we are studying all aspects of the small car business, but have not made a decision to enter this field.

"Chrysler Corp., however, is in a position to move without delay, should we decide to enter the small car market."

Steel Output Gaining

DETROIT (AP) — Iron Age magazine says steel output in the Detroit area is expected to reach about about 51,680 tons or 38 per cent of capacity this week. Area steel mills operated at 85 per cent of capacity this week last year. Production last week was 45,832 tons or 33.7 per cent of capacity.

Geographic center of North America is in North Dakota.

Believes Public Wants to Laugh

Veteran Comic Views Humor as Natural King of Video

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Elder statesman Joe E. Brown is understandably alarmed over the dethroning of comedy as king of television.

And, like many another clown, he suspects that those who lifted the crown from laughter do not represent the desires of the viewing public.

More than five decades of experience tell him that both the audience and the medium will suffer unless comedy is restored to its rightful place in TV's hierarchy.

"Comedy should be king," says Brown, whose cavernous grin is an internationally recognized trademark of broad comedy. "It isn't because of the people who produce television."

Joe, who at 65 limits his television efforts to occasional guest appearances, insists that his viewpoint is not a self-centered one.

"This isn't a squawk. I'm not saying it because I'm a comedian," he says forcefully. "But we have to realize that we must get something light, frivolous and laughable on television.

FOR ENTERTAINMENT

"I have always felt that the theater is a place of entertainment, not education. If you can educate the audience incidentally, that's great, and TV is the greatest educational medium we've ever had—although not intended as such when it was developed.

"I'm for that 100 per cent. But what do so many of the shows on TV offer today? They show how to steal a car. How to rob a cripple. Believe me, I see them. My wife just loves murder shows."

There isn't a shadow of doubt in Joe's agile, probing mind that the public still wants comedy and comedians, despite the declining ratings that drove so many laughmakers off television.

Furthermore, he says, the nation and the world need them.

Princeton Ousts 6 Students Over Strip Teasers

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Princeton University has bumped six undergraduates from the academic grind because strip tease dancers were found in their dormitory rooms.

Seven other students were suspended or placed on probation, the dean of students announced yesterday. The students were not identified.

The university's announcement that the six "were required to withdraw" was the first peek behind the ivy curtain which veiled the case for two weeks.

Early on May 1, police paid a visit to rooms in Borough Hall. One of the dancers, Mrs. Judy Renee, 37, of Philadelphia, leaped from the second floor, away from the arms of the law and into Princeton Hospital where she stayed the better part of two weeks.

Another girl known as "Bubbles" made good her escape. She hasn't been seen since.

The dancing girl festivities reportedly began at an eating club picnic to welcome new sophomore members.

The university said the investigation is continuing.

Forced to Drink Liniment, Boy on Critical List

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A 6-year-old boy, forced by the proprietress of an Augusta nursery to drink rubbing liniment as punishment, is in critical condition today.

Doctors said Earl Durgess, a full-time charge of the Druied Park Nursery, went into a convulsive state Tuesday noon and was hospitalized.

Detective Billy Lynn said the proprietress, Mrs. Willie Mae McCarthy, 42, admitted forcing the child to drink rubbing liniment diluted with water as punishment for disobedience. She had also washed out his mouth with turpentine, Lynn said.

The boy's body was badly bruised from recent repeated whippings, the detective added.

Mrs. McCarthy was jailed for investigation. Lynn said she would be charged with assault with intent to murder.

Mrs. McCarthy told Lynn that Earl was incorrigible.

Twenty other children board at the nursery.

ALL FOR COMEDY — Veteran funnyman Joe E. Brown disapproves of television's trend away from comedy. Joe, who limits his TV efforts to occasional guest appearances, suspects that the current curb on laughter does not represent the desires of the viewing public.

Even Big Stars Get Their 'Bring-Downs'

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — I've been investigating "bring-downs" out here in the TV and movie colony — and evidently the big stars get brought down just like people.

WILSON

Groucho Marx is one of the greatest bringer-downs, I suppose. A rather strange-looking woman came up to him once and said:

"Mr. Marx, I've never seen you before but you're a very funny man." Groucho glared at her and said, "I've never seen you before, and so are you."

Ray Bolger, sitting with us, remembered the time he'd played golf with Sam Goldwyn because he wanted a part Goldwyn was casting in a picture. Goldwyn didn't mention the picture for hours. Finally he got around to it. "Ray," he said, "I'm looking for a great dancer to do a wonderful role in a new picture."

"Yes?" replied Bolger hopefully.

"What would you think of Gene Kelly?" said Goldwyn.

Kirk Douglas told me that children can be great bring-downers, too. He was undertaking to show his son how to do some arithmetic.

"Oh, daddy," exploded his son, "That's the way old people do arithmetic."

Frank Sinatra got brought down a little when he caught comedian Don Rickles at the Slate Brothers Club. Insulter Rickles said, "What a figure, I've seen this boy in shorts—and he's nothing, and those old dames he goes with, I wouldn't trust him with my mother."

George Gobel told me, though, that he had the worst bring-down of all. A stranger came up to him and said, "Pardon me, but do you know you look like Earl Wilson?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK . . .

Cyd Charisse is flying in to help Tony Martin celebrate their anniversary . . . Venezuela's exiled Pres. Jimenez was at the Latin Quarter with his bodyguards. Singer Johnny Mathis got a standing ovation from a big crowd that included Polly Bergen and the Pat Boones. Comic Joey Bishop, featured in the revue brushed off show business as phony: "Look at me. A $100 tuxedo—and underneath, torn underwear!" . . . If Arthur Miller's unable to accompany MMonroe to H'wood next month, he'll commute weekends from N.Y.

EARL'S PEARLS: Some drinkers seem to be operating on the theory that prohibition may return any minute . . . That's earl, brother.

Reach Agreements in Aircraft Disputes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tentative agreements today promised peace in five big areas of the nation's aircraft industry.

Talks are continuing on two major contracts, and strikes are underway at two factories.

Strikebound are Convair's Pomona, Calif., plant, and Lockheed's Marietta, Ga., facility.

Continuing are talks between the International Assn. of Machinists and Lockheed missile plants in Van Nuys, Palo Alto and Sunnyvale, Calif., and between the IAM and Douglas on contracts for plants at Santa Monica and El Segundo, Calif.

Latest agreement was reached last night when IAM workers at Convair's Fort Worth, Tex., plant voted to accept a company offer. A strike would have started at midnight if they had rejected it.

Agreements were reached earlier between the IAM and the United Auto Workers with Lockheed, North American and Convair at San Diego, Calif., and Douglas at Long Beach, Calif., Tulsa, Okla., and Charlotte, N.C.

At Arctic Village in the far north section of Alaska is a radio shack used to check radio beams and guide airplane flights. Indian children swarm into the shack to watch movies shown by the radio crew. And their favorite is Hopalong Cassidy because he teaches them "how to speak the English language."

Signs Montgomery Clift to Lead in 'Lonelyhearts'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Just heard from Dore Schary that he has signed Montgomery Clift for the lead in "Lonelyhearts," his first independent picture. He has also signed Vincent Donahue, who directed "Sunrise at Campobello," Dore's prize-winning play, to direct the film. The picture goes July 15 in Hollywood, I'm happy to say. Far too many pictures are being made in the far corners of the world.

Dore, who is in New York, tells me that he is signing three more top names. "Lonelyhearts," which has a United Artists release, is based on Nathaniel West's novel "Miss Lonely Hearts" and on the play by Howard Teichman. Walter Reilly has been named associate producer.

I call it very wise of Louis Prima and Keely Smith to make the pictures, which they had originally planned as independents, for Columbia. They've just signed a two-picture deal with Harry Romm to be released through Columbia.

They are guaranteed $150,000 plus 25 per cent of the profits for each picture. They will start work when they return from Europe the end of July.

Rouben Mamoulian says that the girl he's seeking to star in "Carmen" can be a blonde as long as she fulfills the other requirements which are—she's unknown, beautiful and talented!

Although Rouben still has Sam Goldwyn's "Porgy and Bess" to complete, he's already started beating the bushes for a "Carmen" for this, his first independent picture following the Goldwyn film.

There's a nursery fully equipped waiting for the Marlon Brando baby when he comes home from Cedars of Lebanon with his mother. Although the Balzer house which the Brandos rented is completely Japanese, the cradle, I can tell you, is not Oriental—it's just plain American.

The baby is described as fair, resembling his father more than dark skinned Anna Kashfi. Marlon made a great hit with everyone in the hospital with his solicitude for his wife. He never left from the moment she went in until after the baby was born. No decision has been made whether or not to call the new arrival Marlon III.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Loretta Young and Tom Lewis will meet June 4 when Loretta goes to New York for their son Christopher's graduation.

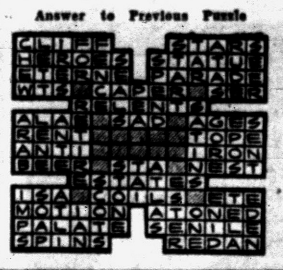

Sarah Churchill invited her two greatest Hollywood friends, Lillie Messenger and Alex Thurn-Taxis, to dine with her parents, Sir Winston and Lady Churchill in London. Lillie writes it was a real thrill.

Mitzi Gaynor writes that Tatiana Samoilova, the Russian actress she met at the Cannes Film Festival, is much more exciting and interesting than the Russian picture which starred her.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Starkweather Jury Hears Innocent Plea

LINCOLN, Neb., (INS) — The defense begins presenting its case today in the first degree murder trial of accused mass slayer Charles Starkweather with the hope of proving an insanity plea.

Over Starkweather's objection, the defense pleaded "innocent by reason of insanity" when the trial opened. He is being tried specifically for the murder last Jan. 17 of 17-year-old Robert Jensen of Bennet, Neb.

Starkweather's girl friend, 14-year-old Caril Ann Fugate who accompanied him on a two-state murder rampage that resulted in 11 killings, also is charged with Jensen's murder but has not been brought to trial.

Russian Dancers Tour Ford's Rouge Factory

DETROIT (AP) — Russian dancers on a United States tour were surprised to see white and Negro men working side by side on production lines at Ford's big Rouge plant.

Ford's vice president for styling, George W. Walker, said that reaction stood out in the comment of the 93 young men and women as he escorted them through the plant yesterday.

"I told them that our colored and white employes get along very well together," Walker said.

The dancers make up the Moiseyev troupe from Moscow. They will complete a three-night stand here tonight and then go on to Chicago.

Director Igor Moiseyev permitted the dancers to make the long tour of the world's biggest industrial operation because they had performed so well on their opening night here.

"It was worth it to visit this transport center," Moiseyev quipped. "After all, we consider the dance to be a form of transport."

The Russians saw in one big plant iron ore, limestone and other raw materials go through production stages climaxed by shiny new cars rolling off the production line.

They looked like any other group of the some 1,700,000 tourists that visit the Dearborn installation each year.

Some of the dancers appeared bored by the automated production of V-8 engines and other parts that go into a car.

But their faces lit up in admiration at the final assembly as new cars rolled off the line under their own power at one touch of the starter button.

Blonde Susanna Agranovskya said what impressed her most was the retractable hardtop convertible that came off the line.

The Russians also visited Henry Ford Museum and appeared impressed by the exhibits of early American culture.

They particularly liked the exhibits depicting the life of Henry Ford.

"He was a very intelligent man," said attractive, red haired Katherine Shevelova, who acted as interpreter for the group.

Both Vote for Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's two senators, Democrat Patrick V. McNamara and Republican Charles Potter, both voted for the Senate bill Tuesday that would make available 375 million dollars of federal funds to cities and rural areas with chronic unemployment. The bill, which passed by a 46-43 margin, was sent to the House.

Turkish newspapers normally carry their headlines in red ink.
