

Committee Calls Meeting Try Again on Snagged Stadium Bill

CHECKING FOR CLUES — Detective Paul Brabant was one of four state police crime laboratory crew members who checked the home of Aubrey Posey yesterday for clues to his slaying. Posey was found dead Wednesday night.

Two Waterford Men Cleared in Slaying

By JOE MULEN
Two men questioned by Waterford Township police yesterday afternoon in connection with the Wednesday slaying of Aubrey Posey were cleared following lie detector tests.

Posey, 34, of 571 Crescent Lake Road, was found dead Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The body, found in a rear bedroom, bore two stab wounds in the chest.

Given polygraph tests were Charles Gilbert, 2595 Watkins Lake Road, Posey's brother-in-law and Lawrence Cunningham, 56 Sanderson Street.

They told police they discovered the body when they went to the home after learning Posey's car had been parked at a Waterford Township restaurant for three days.

Gilbert told police he noticed the car at Bob's Chicken House, 497 Elizabeth Lake Road, Sunday. He saw it in the same spot Wednesday.

Dr. Jean Forrest who performed the autopsy at St. Joseph's Hospital ruled that death occurred between 12 and 24 hours before the body was discovered.

The autopsy also revealed that Posey had been struck in the forehead by an object police believe was a beer bottle.

FIND KNIFE
Fragments of glass were found near the body along with a pocket knife believed to be the murder weapon.

An employee of GMC Truck and Coach Division since 1962, Posey had not reported to work since March 7.

Posey and his wife, Myrtle, 21, had been separated for two weeks and Posey was living in the house alone. Mrs. Posey and her sons, 2 and 3 years old, are living with Mrs. Posey's mother, Mrs. Bernice Ivey, 278 Midway St. The couple had been married five years.

Solons Consider Arguments Over School Bus Legislation

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Education Committee today was mulling over the heated arguments it heard both for and against proposed legislation to require school districts to furnish transportation for children enrolled in nonpublic schools.

Sen. Robert Vanderlain, R-Grand Rapids, sponsor of the measure, said he thought proponents had enough votes to get the legislation out of committee with a recommendation for passage.

The bill has been signed by 22 of the 34 Senate members as co-sponsors.

Gov. George Romney has said he is for the proposal in principle but had some reservations about the added cost to the school districts and the state.

The measure is expected to be heavily amended, however, before it is reported out of committee.

One of the principal objections of some school districts is that it would require them to furnish transportation for nonpublic school children living as far as eight miles outside the district. An amendment is being prepared to eliminate this provision.

CROWDED HEARING

More than 50 persons crowded into a small Senate committee room and overflowed into an adjoining room at a hearing on the proposal last night.

Among them was Merrill Bates, a member of the Bloomfield Hills School Board.

The board, he said is opposed to the idea of paying for the bus transportation of parochial school children.

"When a person rejects a public school district they should go along with the responsibility of that rejection," he said.

The state would be helping to underwrite the expenses of the nonpublic schools through the bill, he said, and they could use the money saved "to build swimming pools or anything else."

Russ Charge China Wants K Ousted

LONDON (AP)—The Moscow-led Communist camp charged today that Red China has demanded the "removal" of Soviet party leaders, apparently including the purge of Premier Khrushchev.

The charge was contained in a manifesto-type Moscow-backed Communist policy outline, published in the current Marxist Review, the ideological organ of international communism. The publication reached here today.

"Outright attacks were leveled against the Communist party of the Soviet Union," the manifesto said. "Its leaders were accused of revisionism and cries were raised for their removal."

"In a word, a blow was struck against the (Soviet) party which now bears the main burden of the struggle against imperialism, a party which is the rallying center of all the forces fighting for socialism," it added.

The manifesto said differences (with Red China) are on "cardinal issues" and "cause grave concern." It terms them "serious indeed" and warned bluntly they may lead to "a split in the international Communist movement."

At the same time, the manifesto laid down terms for a settlement which follow closely the line pursued by Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, leaving little leeway for compromise with the hard line of possible war being pushed by Peking.

GOP Rejects Compromise on Amendments

Some Term Situation
Critical; Republicans
See Solution Today

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Senate voted 31-0 today to yield to House demands on a congressional bill setting up an Olympic stadium building authority and sent the bill to Gov. George Romney.

LANSING (AP)—A legislative conference committee was to make a second attempt today to reach agreement on two disputed amendments to a bill setting up an authority to build an Olympic stadium in Detroit.

The second meeting of the committee was called after House Republicans, by the reported margin of a single vote, rejected a compromise reached by the committee earlier in the day.

Some backers of the Olympics proposal termed the situation "critical," but Republican leaders predicted the problem would be worked out before the day ended.

The compromise, to lift one of the amendments from the bill while retaining the other, was designed to remove the last block to legislation aimed at helping to land the 1968 Olympic Games for the Motor City.

Gov. George Romney has called for the bill to be on his desk by this afternoon.

The Senate yesterday refused to accept the bill with the two House amendments, one of which would set a $50 million ceiling on the authority's bonding power, the other to provide no bonds could be sold before March 31, 1964.

Then, the House GOP majority turned down the compromise which would have removed the bonding ceiling, and after an emergency meeting of the members of the committee, another attempt was agreed upon.

"This bill still is 99 and 44 one-hundredths per cent sure," said House GOP Floor Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

Romney Rides Dems on Constitution Stand

Some 300 Republicans went to a GOP rally in Birmingham last night to hear Gov. George Romney talk on a topic they considered quite serious—the proposed new state constitution.

They came away chuckling heartily over an assortment of verbal barbs and needles directed by Romney a the document's opponents and Democrats in general.

"I have a hard time understanding why opponents of the new constitution are so enamored of the old one," Romney said.

"Do they have a sentimental attachment to a document that has helped make Michigan the laughing stock of the nation?"

"They keep talking about a new frontier," he went on, "while in reality it would take heaven and earth to move them away from the dying fires of the old campground."

The law is intended to close businesses other than neighborhood groceries and other small stores either Saturday or Sunday.

It further prohibits the sale of a long list of specific items all seven days a week.

The law is written so that any county board of supervisors can void the statute in its own county.

The law, which goes into effect March 28, was aimed at discount stores and other chain stores that have been doing business seven days a week.

The law provides that only stores of 1,000 or less square feet will be able to remain open seven days.

WON'T ACT IN TIME
Despite the committee's action, most stores in the county will have to close Saturday or Sunday for a while, committee members agreed.

The board of supervisors won't be able to act before the law takes effect.

The law requires ample notice of a public hearing before any action can be taken. The county's corporation counsel Robert Allen said this means at least three weeks notice.

In its resolution the committee stated it didn't like the new closing law. The law is too regulatory, committee members agreed.

They said it would take unfair advantage of many small businesses in the lake areas of the county who rely on Sunday sales for their livelihood.

Committee chairman Frank Webber said May would probably be the earliest that the board of supervisors could set a public hearing.

Reds Denounce Central American Meeting

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Communist world has pulled out all the stops to denounce President Kennedy's meeting, opening Monday, with Central American presidents. An attempt to provoke violence during the meeting cannot be ruled out. The meeting will be in San Jose, Costa Rica, and will be concerned to a large extent with the menace of Fidel Castro's communism in the Central American area.

Costa Rica's Communist party appears to have arranged an alibi in advance should those intent on harassing the meeting succeed in breaking through the heavy security arrangements.

Manuel Mora Valverde, a leader of the Costa Rican party, announced publicly that the Communist party would not accept the blame for any "physical measures against the presidents" during the meeting.

"The possibility exists that there are persons who will seek to promote a great international provocation," Mora Valverde said in a radio speech. "But I affirm — I hope — that Costa Ricans could never be included among these provocateurs."

From Moscow, in Spanish-language broadcasts to Central America, have come denunciations of the meeting as "a new plot against Cuba and the peoples of Central America." Moscow calls the meeting an attempt to form a Central American military bloc.

News Analysis

to attack Cuba and hold back revolution elsewhere in Latin America. In what could be called to Communist-Castroist action, broadcasts repeat that "the people will thwart this new criminal plan."

The Castroist People's Vanguard

party of Costa Rica has been issuing declarations in leaflet form appealing to the people to "raise the standard of national sovereignty and peace as well as to fight for the enforcement of the principles of nonintervention and the right of nations for self-determination."

Daniel Oduber, Costa Rican foreign minister, has not ruled out the possibility of a try from Cuba at violence during the meeting. He announced that whatever security measures are taken will be "directed against small hostile groups sent here to obstruct the presidents' conference."

MAJOR OBSTACLE

Central American authorities consider Havana-directed subversion to be a major obstacle in the way of progress in the area.

Presidents of the United States, Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama will discuss ways of countering the Cuban activity. Some Central Americans are reported demanding all action short of war.

The presidents also are going to talk about economic problems and how to improve standards of living. This will include a discussion of the Central American common market, to which the U.S. President probably will pledge significant help.

There is apparent agreement among the leaders that such help is likely to be ineffective unless ways are found to keep terrorist action from frustrating the effort.

May Cost Less to Build Drain

Bid $300,000 Under River Project Estimate

It may cost some $300,000 less to build the Clinton River drain through downtown Pontiac than originally estimated.

Construction bids for the big project were opened today at the Oakland County Drain Commission office.

R. E. Dailey & Co. of Southfield submitted the low bid of $1,895,521.88 according to a preliminary tabulation by consulting engineers, Jones, Henry & Williams, of Toledo.

The low bid is $300,478.12 below the engineers' estimated construction cost of $2,197,000, according to drain commissioner Daniel Barry.

There were seven bids submitted. The Dailey bid was about $21,000 below the second lowest bid of $1,917,235.80 submitted by Miller-Thompson Co. of Southfield.

FINAL TABULATION

Consulting engineers will present their final tabulation to the Oakland County Drain Board within a few days.

Barry said the board should let the contract early next week.

Toby Construction Co. of Detroit and the C. A. Hull Co. of Bloomfield Hills submitted a combined bid. The Toby-Hull bid, third lowest, was $2,089,724.82.

Other bidders and bid amounts were F. H. Martin Co., Detroit, $2,194,251.60; Greenfield Construction Co., Detroit, $2,234,295.80; R. D. Baker Co., Southfield, $2,963,887.50; and Santucci Construction Co., Skokie, Ill., $3,496,399.20.

Michigan Man Dies on Gallows in Iowa

PORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI) — A condemned man was hanged by the neck on a gallows shortly before dawn today, nourished by a single olive — the fruit of the tree of peace.

One olive — with seed — was the lone last request made by Victor Harry Feguer, 27, before he walked the last 30 yards from his "death row" cell in the maximum security building at the Iowa State Penitentiary here.

He maintained his protests of innocence.

Feguer, a native of St. Johns, Mich., plunged through the gallows trap at 6:34 a.m. (Pontiac time) and was pronounced dead 9 minutes 45 seconds later at 6:44 a.m.

As the condemned man walked into the deathhouse, he looked briefly around the room.

Then he quickly fixed his gaze on the backs of two priests walking ahead of him, and followed them with head tilted slightly downward to mount the 16 wooden steps to the gallows platform.

When asked if he was satisfied, he said, "I stand mute." The judge promptly declared a mistrial and raised Liston's bid to $1,000.

When Harry arrived, the judge found him in contempt.

No date has been set for the contempt hearing.

In June 1961, Henry was cited for contempt in Flint Municipal Court. An appeal to the State Supreme Court from that citation resulted in a decision that it must be retried by another Flint judge.

Henry is also awaiting a trial on that contempt citation.

In March 1961, he was cited for allegedly swearing at a Flint Municipal Court judge. That conviction was dismissed when Circuit Court ruled no order of commitment had been signed against Henry as was required by law.

Gov. Romney Ribs Michigan Dems

"I wish this new organization all the luck in the world," the governor continued. "They will need it. I am delighted that they have finally decided to agree with something Republicans have been saying for years."

The new constitution would improve all areas of state government — executive, judicial and legislative — he said, and would strengthen local government.

He urged Republicans not to get overconfident. "We are still confronted with the enemy of a free society — apathy. There's no substitute for contacting people and getting out the vote."

After the rally, Romney moved on to a similar gathering in Detroit.

U.S. Watches—Silently

Soviets Behind Cuba Pull-Out Schedule

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union appears to have fallen behind in fulfillment of its promise to get several thousand troops out of Cuba by mid-March but indications are that a large group will be leaving Havana this weekend.

The U.S. government is keeping a close watch on the situation. For the past several days, normally informative officials have declined to discuss numbers of troops that have left Cuba so far. The problem appears to be one of analyzing and checking intelligence reports to determine exactly what has happened.

According to the best information available in official quarters here, the situation presently is this:

Since the removal promise was made to the United States Feb. 18, about 1,800 or 1,900 persons have left Cuba on four Soviet ships. The latest of those vessels to sail, the during the past four weeks—Gruzia, left Havana Sunday. It was reported by the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda to be carrying aviation mechanics, artillery experts, engineering troops and tank soldiers.

Another Soviet ship, the 15,286-ton Admiral Najimov, is in Havana harbor and there are reports in the Cuban capital it will depart this weekend with about 2,000 Soviet military specialists.

So far as U.S. authorities are concerned, the number of people who have sailed on Soviet ships around 1,800 or 1,900—is considered fairly definite but the identification of those departing is by no means certain. For example, it is assumed here that many undoubtedly were Soviets, but some could have been Cubans going to the Soviet Union. Some could also have been Soviet civilian advisers to the Castro government.

SOVIET CLASH

A Cuban exile leader said last night in Miami that his underground agents reported that Soviet troops were used to quell an uprising in a province in southern Cuba.

Seven Russian soldiers, including an officer, were killed in the clash with "Cuban patriots," said Dr. Luis Conte Agero, leader of the Christian Anti-Communist Front and the National Resistance Front.

Conte called upon Defense Secretary Robert McNamara to investigate the report.

JFK to Plan for Latin 'Summit'

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy flew to Florida today for a rest-and-work weekend in preparation for a Central American "little summit" conference in Costa Rica next week.

The President will spend the weekend at Palm Beach, Fla. He will fly to San Jose Monday to meet with the presidents of Panama and five small Central American republics.

The aim of the three-day meeting is to speed progress toward coordinating economic programs in the area.

The President plans to assure the six small countries of strong U.S. support for their regional integration movement.

These efforts hopefully are seen as the forerunner of a hemisphere common market by 1966.

Costa Rican President Francisco Orlich expects next week's presidential meeting in San Jose to take effective measures to provide economic aid to Central America and to curb the spread of Castroism.

Security agents busied themselves with protective measures for President Kennedy and the five other chief executives.

Kennedy will leave Palm Beach Monday morning for San Jose where the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and key Democrats and Republicans from the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees will emphasize U.S. support for Central American economic integration.

The President's wife, Jacqueline, who made such a hit when she visited Venezuela, Colombia and Mexico last year, will not be along on this trip.

The conference is largely a business affair and technically not a state visit by Kennedy or the Latin American leaders.

Postpone Bill for Child Aid

LANSING (AP) — A showdown vote on a bill to bring Michigan under the program of federal aid for dependent children of the unemployed was postponed in the Senate today until next week.

Republican senators successfully fought off Democratic attempts yesterday to add amendments aimed at liberalizing the measure, but it appeared doubtful whether GOP supporters could muster the required 18 votes for passage without Democratic help.

Republicans consistently voted down the amendment tries yesterday although Democrats urged and debated for more than an hour.

Sen. Stanley Thayer, R-An Arbor, set the Republican line before debate began.

"We are well aware that a lot of amendments will be placed on the bill in an attempt to discredit it," he said.

VOTE 'EM DOWN

"Vote all the amendments down and pass the bill as it is," was his word to the Republicans.

Sen. Charles Blundy, D-Detroit, termed the measure backed by Gov. George Romney "a watered-down version of what the Democrats would like to have."

Delay Action on Request for Teen Rec Center

BIRMINGHAM — Action on a recommendation that a summer teen-age center be established at Seaholm High School was postponed by the city recreation board last night.

The recommendation by the Citizens Council for Youth Physical Fitness would provide for the use of the school swimming pool during afternoons, Monday through Saturday. In addition, the council proposed that refreshments be served.

Recreation director Donald Martin said today that the main stumbling block is the food concession. He said a study is being made of the problem and will be presented to board members later this month.

Martin questioned whether the council's proposals would fit in the department budget.

Membership in such a teen-age center would be promoted and sold by the area PTAs on a first-come, first-served basis if the program is adopted, Martin said.

The Birmingham Rotary Annex will hear a discussion on the Oakland County Children's Center at their Monday meeting.

Speaking will be William L. Kopp, superintendent of the center.

The meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Otis M. Dickey, 547 Rivenock St.

Walter Nickell, associate naturalist at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, leaves today on his fourth consecutive bird-banding trip to British Honduras.

Nickell said the three major purposes of his trip are to compile migratory data on banded birds, to establish migratory routes along the Caribbean and to band birds to be recovered during the next nesting season in this country.

Zoning Law Remains in Doubt

What kind of a zoning ordinance the city of Bloomfield Hills will get is still in doubt after a public hearing on the matter last night.

It was agreed, however, that the city planning commission and the City Commission should work to find a compromise solution for their differences.

Each side presented its own zoning ordinance to the 500 local citizens attending the session in Cranbrook auditorium.

Basic differences between the two are of the commercial area and size and density of multiple unit dwellings, according to Mayor John S. Bugar.

The need for a new ordinance, according to City Attorney W. B. Hartman, is brought about by an over-restrictiveness in the present ordinance which might cause litigation.

The planning commission's proposed zoning plan reduces property zone multiple dwelling by 47.4 acres.

This land, in turn, is added to the commercial area with the stipulation that only office buildings may be constructed.

DEVOTED TO PARKING

O. E. Hunt, member of the planning commission, said that two-thirds of the acreage added to the commercial zone would be devoted to parking.

A peripheral highway under this plan would surround the commercial area.

It is "designed to reflect corrections in traffic problems" based on a traffic survey conducted by the State Highway Commission, according to Dean Draper, another planning commission member.

The planning commission ordinance is supported by Villacome & Associates, Inc., of Southfield, and Commissioner James A. Beresford, in addition to the mayor.

The alternate proposal, submitted by the majority of the city commission, composed of Commissioners Lyman J. Craig, Robert A. Frye and Henry L. Woolfenden, would leave the commercial district basically unchanged.

In a recently released report to the citizens of Bloomfield Hills, the three commissioners charge that the ordinance drawn up by the planning commission "would fundamentally change the character of this city."

"The day we adopt this plan will be a sorry day for Bloomfield Hills," Woolfenden said.

He urged that the two ordinances be submitted to the electorate.

Bugar termed the commissioners report to the people "penny-ante political trickery."

Blue Cross Receives Policy-Rate Ultimatum

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield have been given an ultimatum to agree to sweeping policy changes or face flat rejection of their requests for rate increases.

In his strongest statement yet on the rate hikes sought by the twin prepaid health insurance organizations, State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn gave them two weeks to accomplish the changes.

Colburn said he will rule March 27 or 28 on the rate increases, at the request of the Blue Cross board which has a meeting on the latter date.

The insurance commissioner said his ultimatum to the blue plans is designed to force a showdown on policy changes "long sought by the state and recommended in every study report made on the subject."

"I think for the first time the blue plans are taking the insurance department seriously," said Colburn. "They've usually gotten most of what they asked for in the past."

The rate case ultimately could put to a test the state insurance commissioner's powers to regulate the prepaid medical and hospital insurance programs.

Colburn said Blue Cross and Blue Shield officials have challenged his demands on grounds that he is overstepping the authority given him by the 1959 act under which the systems were established.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield have had 14 rate increases in their history, the last two in 1960 and 1961. New hikes 29.3 per cent for Blue Cross and 23.9 per cent for Blue Shield are being sought.

NEWS OF THE AREA

"A decision on the increases must consider whether the rates would be fair, reasonable and nondiscriminatory," said Colburn.

"But unless they adopt changes in policies and procedures which affect hospital costs, there is no way to tell if the rates would meet the proper standards."

And unless they agree to changes in the next two weeks, there will be no rate increases this time."

Colburn has asked that hospitals participating in Blue Cross adopt cost-accounting, central buying and other money-saving measures, and set up committee supervision over patient admissions and discharges.

He also is demanding that Blue Cross have a governing board with a majority of public (nonmedical or hospital) members, and that Blue Shield increase its public representation from seven to 12 or 15 among the 35 board members.

Some physicians on the Blue Shield board aren't participants in the plan, he said.

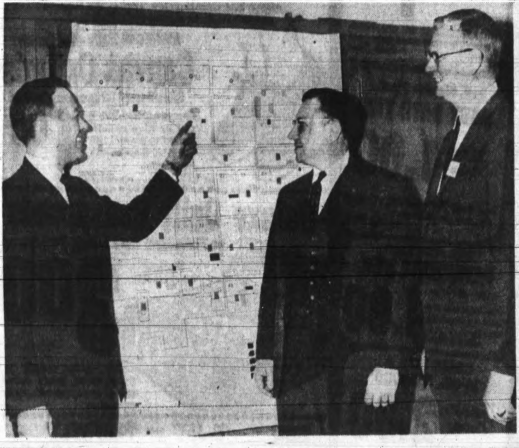

Blue Cross earlier agreed to build a majority of public members on its board over the next two years but Colburn turned down the proposal on grounds the new board would be powerless to change a reimbursement schedule put into effect beforehand.

Colburn described the rate increases proposed by the blue plans as "absurd and out-and-out discriminatory" because they would vary from 13 to 66 per cent in Blue Shield's case and 24 to 37 per cent for Blue Cross.

Lower income and aged subscribers would suffer most, Colburn said.

Colburn has given Gov. George Romney an explanation of his position on rate increases and said he will provide the governor with a complete summary of the case next week.

FUTURE SCHOOLS? — Discussing the future growth of Troy and the school district are three of the men who attended last night's meeting in the high school. They are (from left) Marvin E. Olson, chairman of the Troy School Study Committee; Mayor Robert J. Huber and Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith. The chart being examined shows the number of schools which will be necessary as Troy's population increases.

Expected Growth Problems of Troy and Schools Outlined

By ROGER SRIGLEY

TROY—Faced with the predicted doubling of population here by 1970, the Troy School Study Group outlined expected growth problems of the schools and the city last night.

A verbal picture of Troy—the present and future of the city, the schools and the citizens—was painted at the session held by members of the study group at the high school.

Attending, besides members of the study group, were city administrators and school officials.

By 1970, Troy will jump from its present population of some 19,000 to approximately 40,000. "Our challenge," pointed out Study Group Chairman Marvin

E. Olson, "is to get from here to there."

"Our rate of growth is going to parallel that of Warren," Olson said. He called Warren the fastest growing city in the world.

INTELLIGENT GROWTH

"We don't want to aim for the fastest growing city," commented Mayor Robert J. Huber, "but we do want to be the most intelligently growing city."

Olson, speaking for the recently formed school study group, explained the goals of the association's study.

He said the group was formed to establish a long-range program. "The school situation is not a critical one yet," he commented. "But by 1970 we must plan on 4,111 new students in the school system."

The chairman of several committees of the study group told of the problems they are working on. An enrollment and facilities committee is attempting to determine whether the more rapid growth will be "What do we teach?" The task of the curriculum and program committee is to answer this. The finance committee is learning how other school systems are paying for expansion projects.

POLICY SYSTEM

The personnel organization and administration committee is working on the school's policy system. "How many teachers should we have per thousand students?" is one of the questions it faces.

Both Huber and Olson threw verbal bouquets at Troy city planners, Villcan-Leman Associates of Southfield. "We're off the ground thanks to them," they agreed.

City Manager David E. Firestone pointed out the picture of Troy's future. "Eventually every piece of property in the city will be able to get into a sewer system," he said.

He pointed out that within approximately 17 months the system is expected to accommodate lateral sewage lines, to be built by citizen request through petitions.

"And Troy's portion of the 1-75 expressway should be completed by next October," he added.

URGENT COOPERATION

Representatives of the schools urged cooperation between the planning commission and the school board. The problem of allocation, by developers, of land for future schools was also discussed at the meeting.

The school study committee originally planned to present advisory recommendations to the board by June 30.

However, it was decided that the deadline should be postponed, due to the complexities involved in studying various aspects of the school system.

The City of Troy and the school district, both relatively young, face many growth problems in the future, discussion participants agreed last night.

Representatives at the meeting also concluded that through cooperation between the city administrators, the school personnel and the citizenry, it could not help but grow well.

Monday Deadline Looms for Nominating Petitions

WALLED LAKE — Deadline for filing nominating petitions for the April 1 election here is 5 p.m. Monday.

Candidates will fill four vacancies on the City Council and one unexpired one-year term caused by the resignation of Marshall E. Taylor from the council.

In addition to the election of councilmen, city voters will be asked to approve two charter amendments and one proposition.

One amendment seeks the election of the mayor by the people instead of by the council, as it is now. The second seeks the replacement of the city manager by the mayor if a vacancy should exist.

The proposition requests voter authority to levy a one-mill tax for the support and maintenance of the Wall Lake Public Library.

The council, while having the authority to levy the tax not to exceed the mill limitation of the LANSING (AP)—Teamster Union President James Hoffa says that if Congress passes legislation restricting union bargaining power, the Teamsters will refuse to sign any contract that cannot be canceled in 10 days.

Hoffa made his statement last night at a meeting of the Central Michigan Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

In Oak Park Schools Tax Moratorium Ended

OAK PARK — In a surprise move last night, the Oak Park School Board rescinded its one-year tax moratorium faced the possibility of calling for a millage vote in the regular school election in June.

The moratorium had provided that the board would not ask for millage for school operation until next year.

Smarting under two defeats when residents turned down a request for a 5-mill tax last June and a 6.5-mill tax in February, board members froze salaries and maintained that the new high school could not be opened on schedule next fall.

In the meantime, a new advisory group, calling itself "Survey our Schools," has been formed to promote a "realistic" tax increase for the maintenance of Oak Park Schools.

The unit will seek an increase of 3.5 mills in the June school election.

Headed by Chairman Abraham Bricker, a school board member from 1954 through 1961, the group informed the board at last night's meeting that one of its committees is seeking signatures of 10 per cent of the district's registered voters.

Rec Tax Push Starts Monday

Farmington Twp. to Vote on Issue April 1

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Representatives of the Farmington Area Recreation Committee will begin a drive Monday urging township voters to approve a half-mill tax levy on the April 1 ballot.

2 Area Pedestrians Dead; Struck by Cars at Night

A Farmington Township woman and a Southfield man died last night after being struck by cars while walking on Oakland County roads.

Robert A. McMartin, 24, of 1827 Webster St., was hit on Evergreen at Winchester Road, a half mile north of 11-Mile Road.

Mrs. Rose Burnham, 45, of 28300 Shiawassee St. was on her way to the store when she was struck near her home.

Southfield police say that McMartin was hit from the back by a car driven by John Berner, 16, of 17576 Glenwood St., Lathrup Village.

The youth told police that he was driving about 45 miles per hour, northbound on Evergreen when he hit a slick spot of ice and ran off the road.

He said he lost control of his car and ran up on the curb knocking McMartin down. Police are still investigating the accident.

McMartin was dead on admission to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

According to Farmington Township police, Mrs. Burnham was on her way to a nearby store when she was hit by a car driven by Charles Trotter, 57, of Detroit, about 7 p.m. She died an hour later in St. Mary's Hospital, Livonia.

Police are awaiting a statement by Trotter to get further details. There were no witnesses.

Farm Youths to Meet

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Future Farmers will hold their annual convention Tuesday through Thursday at Michigan State University. More than 1,000 farm youths will receive awards and compete for honors at the three-day meeting.

The money from the tax increase would be used to provide a year-round recreation program for the city and the township. Cost of the plan has been estimated at $50,000.

The Farmington City Council previously approved the use of money from general funds for the city's share of the program.

A preliminary budget drawn up by the committee earmarks half of the money raised each year during initial phases of the program for capital improvements such as acquiring new park sites.

Much of the initial outlay would be directed toward township needs, the committee reports.

Meetings to explain the program are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at Beechview School, 8 p.m. Monday at Bond School, 8 p.m. Tuesday at Kenbrook School, 8 p.m. Wednesday at Gill School, and 8 p.m. Friday at Alameda School.

PTA Hears Report on Constitution

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Green School PTA heard last night of educational provisions in the proposed new state constitution.

Mrs. Peter Looms, a member of the concoc committee of the Birmingham League of Women Voters, gave the report. The league favors approval of the document.

PTA members also heard a report on the activities of the newly formed W. Bloomfield Schools Citizens' Advisory Committee.

The group is making studies of the school district's future needs. In other action members submitted nominations for the 1963-64 state of officers and heard a preliminary reading of an executive board recommendation to include a mother-vice president in the regular slate of elected officers.

The meeting was held at the school.

E. Orion Club Tops 4-H Talent Contest

The East Orion Club won three of the four top awards in last night's 4-H "Share-the-Fun" talent contest at the Lake Orion High School.

Nancy Van Inwagen, of the Orion Club, won second place in this division with a flute solo.

The winners will compete in a 4-H district contest, along with winners from six other counties. Winners of this competition, to be staged in the next few months, will go on to state competition.

Judges for last night's event were C. Stait Lloyd, choir director of Central Christian Church, Pontiac; Miss Joanne Marretti, speech teacher at Lake Orion High School; and Mrs. Elwin Leese, an Ortonville 4-H leader.

Some 22 acts from 4-H clubs throughout the county were entered in the talent show.

Politicos' Wit Entertains Newsmen

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Other than death, taxes, and defeat at the polls, few things are so disconcerting to a politician as making a good speech which receives no publicity.

Rather than permit such a fate to overtake three political leaders whose eyes are firmly fixed on the White House, we hereby offer a few excerpts delivered before a stellar all-male audience the other evening at the famed Gridiron Club.

This organization, composed of 50 outstanding newspaper men in the nation's capital, religiously refrains from reporting the speeches delivered at its annual extravaganza.

However, these same newsmen who bitterly assail "managed news" in government have yet to figure a way to seal the lips of their male guests, after the party is over.

As a consequence, some of the sadder portions of the speeches eventually find their way into print, thus preventing the politicians "throw-away" humor from being thrown away.

The three speakers this year were President Kennedy; his '60 presidential rival, Sen. Hubert Humphrey; and a potential GOP presidential aspirant, Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

JFK, only too well aware of the furor over managed news, brought down the house with his opening salutation: "Fellow managing editors."

In mock seriousness, he then expressed regret that he had to bring them somber news. The Soviet Union, he said, had just taken another provocative action in an area of the world "in which I have a very special interest."

Referring to the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's daughter and son-in-law to Pope John in Rome, Kennedy said intelligence reports indicate that thousands of Marxist Bibles have already been concealed in Vatican caves.

ROMNEY POKES FUN
Gov. Romney, a member of the Mormon faith, had a bit of fun at the President's expense by announcing that the burgeoning Kennedy clan held no political fears for him. After all, he reminded, his own grandparents practiced polygamy, and he therefore has several thousand cousins throughout the United States.

Referring to the onetime Senate debate over whether to seat Reed Smoot, because of his Mormon religion, Romney quoted Boies Penrose as saying: "I'd rather have in government a polygamist who doesn't poly than a monogamist who doesn't monogamy."

Sen. Humphrey, beaten out of the Democratic presidential nomination by JFK, proved the handiest with the stiletto.

Referring to the White House aspirations of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, he wisecracked in this vein:

"We New Frontiersmen question whether the American people would stand for a president who might appoint his brother David attorney general, his brother Winthrop to head the Peace Corps, and who might even support his brother Lawrence to run for the U. S. Senate. Everyone knows that we of the Kennedy administration do not believe in political dynasties."

The Minnesota senator said he had been complaining to the President about the West Coast getting most of the defense contracts.

"I argued that these contracts ought to be moving eastward, but my argument has proved too persuasive," he kidded.

Then, turning to youthful senator, Teddy Kennedy, of Massachusetts, he wailed: "Teddy, please leave a little something for the Middle West."

Pretending to congratulate his one-time rival on his presidential appointments, Humphrey added: "It's just marvelous to have a Republican secretary of the Treasury (Douglas Dillon), because it makes the pain so bipartisan."

Auto Safety Inspection Should Be Compulsory

There is so much sense in periodic automobile safety inspection, it is hard to realize that fewer than half the 50 states have such programs.

Michigan falls in the half without any compulsory safety exam.

Local inspection does exist in some areas of the State, but usually it is not required. As a result, many motorists fail to take advantage of this sensible check.

These local inspections are all to the good, but are hardly enough. Actually, to be effective, the checkup should be required uniformly throughout the State and the Nation.

At this time, 14 additional states are considering inspection legislation in one form or another. Presuming this legislation meets the standards of the Uniform Vehicle Code, it deserves to pass in every instance.

Judging from the laws now on the books, semiannual vehicle inspection is about as frequent as can reasonably be hoped for. But quarterly checks would be better.

Half a year is a long time for dangerous autos to be on the road without discovery. For Michigan, any type of compulsory auto safety inspection would be an improvement.

Sewer Expansion Plan Indication of Progress

Two undeveloped areas of the City could eventually blossom following the City Commission's approval of plans for a $1.5-million sewage system.

The mostly vacant Northeast and Southeast sections, are the affected areas.

As proposed, the two main trunk lines which would serve these areas are the Murphy Park relief sewer for the Southeast section and the Galloway Creek sewer for the Northeast.

Lateral sewers later would branch off these to be used by individual streets. In addition to bringing service to areas, as yet without it, the project would relieve overtaxed facilities now in use.

Proposed financing of the project is to be on a special-assessment bond issue, with the city paying 25 per cent of the cost and the land owners, 75 per cent.

Eventual development of this portion of the City will broaden the tax base, and this is another advantage. This project is another indication that Pontiac is still a growing city, improving steadily.

Is India Now Imitating Belgium in WWII?

"Too little too late" often has the same effect as "Too much too soon." Take the case of tiny Belgium before World War II, standing in the shadow of the growing Nazi war machine, insisting on neutrality and refusing all offers of military help from France.

Result: The moment the Germans broke across the border, the Belgians cried frantically for help. By this time it naturally was too late to stop the invasion.

In fact, the hastily summoned French and British armies couldn't even begin to establish a line of defense. History shows, of course, that Belgium was forced to surrender in less than three weeks.

We are getting some of the same these days. A discredited

Indian politician, Krishna Menon (and we are not his champion), can make fresh hay out of foolish Indian fears that Western air aid — offered in case of renewed Red China attack, might be imposed against India's will.

Just what is India's will? How silly can she be by wanting to wait until the Chinese are driving across her plains before she will discuss proper air defense?

Actually, the Indian government officially has requested an air defense study. That ought to be an answer to those like Menon who toy with the nation's safety for their own political gain.

Freedom already has had too many last-minute rescues. India's independence of spirit hardly requires going to the final brink before seeking help.

The Belgian incident should be less on enough.

The Man About Town

To Honor Bowler Tournament Award Slated for Pontiac Pin Toppler

By HOWARD HELENBRAND

'Way back in vaudeville days, a popular song was "Shuffle Off to Buffalo," climaxing which performers, complete with striped blazers, sailor straw hats and, of course, made a high-stepping exit to the lively refrain.

CALBI has a ball striving to roll a straight and narrow path.

Awaiting arrival will be a plaque marking his 30th appearance in the big annual event, the only Michigan man thus far to be so honored.

Along with personal efforts and sports gear, he will be accompanied by a 187-average — pretty healthy when you consider that for the 1960 sanctioned leagues in the Detroit area the average is 175. . . The MAT had to pin him down to come up with this.

Mr. C. began his bowling career as a pin boy, when pins were set by hand on any alley pattern of dots. Introduced in 1913 was a device with spikes which rose above the alley upon which the pins were impaled by minute holes in their base. In the 1930s came semi-automatic setting, still dependent on manual operation, leading to the current full automatic introduced in 1949.

We hope that our kiegler strikes it rich in the competition, with the warning to steer clear of Buffalo gutters.

A few reports of appearance of lone robins have fluttered in, but

Mrs. Ruby Violet of 701-Doris-Road, seems to have had the first sight of a formation of the welcome ones.

She phoned in last Wednesday morning that she saw a flock of 20 birds at some distance, which she first thought were starlings—as they are about due back to be rebreders of song and story. Pretty hungry, since the night's snowfall had scratched their usual menu, they reversed the old simile . . . and ate like people.

From a Florida scout, we learn that one of the area's most popular figures

B. H. (Ben) Anibal is ailing in Ft. Lauderdale. We hope that the indisposition is of the short variety and that he will soon be up and at 'em with his customary zeal.

Congratulations to Oakland University's athletic director

Hollie Lepley on his plunge into the local chapter of the social swimming pool set, with an assist by "Phantoms of the Pool" . . . Sort of puts the Kennedy clan's pool prestige into a nose dive, wouldn't you say?

David Lawrence Says:

Tax Cut Alone Isn't the Answer

WASHINGTON — The American people are being told repeatedly that a tax cut will bring prosperity. Yet it's just one of five or more major factors that are essential to the economic growth of the United States.

If the other incentives are ignored — as is the case today — a depression of the severest kind can conceivably confront this country in the next few years.

One trouble is that figures are being given out currently to generate optimism, but they are not being explained to the public in true perspective.

Thus, an announcement this week from the U.S. Department of Commerce forecasts business expenditures for new plants and equipment this year at a "record" of $39.1 billion.

But of what good are generalities about "record spending" when it turns out that the increase in projects for plant and equipment in 1963 will be the second smallest in 17 years?

There have been increases in 13 out of the last 17 years. It is the rate of increase, rather than the total figure, that counts.

President Kennedy is putting all his eggs in one basket. He is depending on a tax cut alone. The emphasis seems to be on stimulating "spending" by means of a tax cut of $10 billion spread over the next three years.

"Pump-priming" of this kind, however, has failed again and again to bring sound business conditions and has resulted instead in a series of setbacks every few years.

The main reason is that other factors have been neglected. Lasting improvements rather than temporary palliatives are needed.

What seems most unfortunate is the complete indifference exhibited here in Washington to the factors that could produce a well-balanced and sound economy in the decade ahead.

SIX FACTORS Among them are the following: 1. Removal of government barriers to marketing operations that could increase the total volume of sales.

2. An increase in the rate of profit per dollar of sales. This would involve encouragement of automation and a general reduction of costs, but it also would mean more volume of business.

The big telephone companies, for instance, employ more people since they introduced automatic phones than before.

Employment is reallocated due to automation, but the sum total of jobs is increased.

3. Legislative action to permit a system of fair competition in which interferences with marketing are eliminated, and no monopolies by any company or labor organization are tolerated.

4. A prohibition against industrywide "hargaining" for labor agreements, because they tend to produce monopolies by forcing marginal companies out of business through high labor costs and by bringing about mergers that reduce or eliminate competition within an industry.

5. An encouragement of trade with the rest of the world by a comprehensive plan which would include not merely a system of reciprocal tariffs and trade arrangements with large areas or regions embracing several countries, but also a wider investment of American capital abroad.

Bob Considine Continues:

'Oh, Yes, as I Was Saying When Rudely Interrupted'

NEW YORK — With the New York newspaper strike on its last legs (he said, wildly) a lot of the blokes who have been out of print since Dec. 8, 1962 A.D. are blowing on their typing fingers, warming up for that day when they get back in action.

If I know them — and I do — CONSIDINE they are a bit frightened by the prospect. You have to have a certain amount of ham in your hide to be any kind of writer at all.

You have to believe that when you sit down at a typewriter, even if only to write a blurb about a bingo party at St. Malachy's, that you've got a message to impart.

But if you haven't been doing it for three months and more, and maybe have been wondering whether the kids are going to eat tonight, you get nervous as the hour of put-up-or-shut-up approaches.

Will you be sharp? Will the words flow again? Will anybody be able to read by that time? Will anybody care?

There will be a terrible tendency on the part of many of the writers, particularly the columnists, to say how happy they are to be back with their adoring fans.

NEW HOBBIES

This could be dangerous. In the first place, an embarrassing large number of people didn't know they were missing, or took up new hobbies like watching TV-ravishing.

There is bound to be a lot of overwriting. Some of us will try to dazzle 'em with our footwork, and will inevitably stumble.

Others, the syndicate blokes who have had to work for their out-of-town clients throughout the N.Y. strike, will yield to the temptation to rehash a lot of material that would have been spread before New York readers had there been no strike.

Some of the papers may attempt to summarize what happened to Dick Tracy, Little Orphan Annie, Steve Canyon, If I

6. A re-examination of the whole range of foreign investment so that individual American companies will be protected against confiscation or harassment of the whim of changing regimes, especially in Latin America.

While the growth in American exports in the last decade has been considerable, and imports have increased, too, the surface has hardly been scratched on what can be done to enlarge American sales opportunities abroad.

Says Let Parochial Pupils Use Public School Buses

The school bus bill was presented before the Michigan State Legislature.

Parochial schools are all for it. They should have just as much right to public school bus facilities as anyone. Our parents pay taxes to support public schools. Should parents be penalized for sending their children to the school of their choice?

A recent letter sent to voters in the Bloomfield Hills district stated that if this bill were passed it would mean a tax increase. Of course, it would and so would an Olympic stadium. You were a parent who sends your children to a parochial school, how would you vote?

An analysis since 1919 shows a decline of 318, while the total number of copies has more than doubled. In 1919 there were 457 morning papers, 1,621 evening papers, making a total of 2,078 dailies with a circulation of 26,443,351.

In the ten years up to 1929, the start of the Great Depression, total dailies had declined 134, but daily circulation had increased by 13 million up to 39 million copies per day.

Another 100 newspapers succumbed during the depression years so that by 1941 the total number of dailies was 1,857 having a total circulation of over 42 million.

While there were 1,749 dailies in 1945, there are listed in this Year Book, as of the end of 1962, 1,760 dailies having a total circulation of 59,848,888. It should be noted that the total number of dailies rose to a post-war high of 1,796 in 1952. However, in 1957, 1958 and 1959 there were fewer daily newspapers than there are today and while the total number in 1962 was one less than it had been in 1961 it was five more than it had been in 1959.

The latest figures show there are 318 morning papers, 1,451 evening papers making a total of 1,769.

Total morning circulation was up 488,304 copies and total evening circulation was up 118,668 copies.

total number of Sunday newspapers has remained the same for the last two years at 558.

Figures in this Year Book reveal that while newspaper advertising rates have gone up, circulation has also gone up, with the result that from December 1961 to December 1962 the increase in million rates for morning newspapers has increased only 4.28 per cent. Evening papers over the same period have increased their circulation only by 2.85 per cent.

When the positive baby crop starts to reach adulthood, the newspaper-buying age, in 1964 and '65 newspaper circulations will increase at a faster rate without any significant change in the number of papers.

Use the Marines

The Nashville Banner

The Washington crime rate — a national disgrace — has moved a Texas Congressman to advocate the use of U.S. Marines for street patrols.

The Leathernecks know how to handle roughnecks. The corps has been in the business a long time, though normally its operations do with threats and public enemies outside the U.S.A. Normally, an American community is not so completely out of hand crime-wise that it is necessary to call out the Marines!

Washington's own report, crime is rampant in the District of Columbia; from nightly muggings to assaults in church—from rape to murder . . . from insurrection to what has been called the "blackboard jungle" of its streets and parks. In such a circumstance, it is no wonder that people call for more than wrist-tap treatment of miscreants.

U.S. Marines could break the back of the criminal's constituency and make its worried punks live in terror of what they have in an era of Polymia treatment.

It was a great commanding officer of the Marine Corps, the late Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who cleaned up Philadelphia when that crime-ridden city enlisted his services to head up and reorganize its police department. He served as Director of Public Safety and was credited with jailing or driving out its criminal element, and effectively restoring law and order.

The Marines know how. Actual problems call for actual answers.

'Trivial Provocation Can Make a Well-Adjusted Person Kill'

CHICAGO—A trivial provocation can sometimes prompt an apparently well-adjusted person to commit an intentional murder.

This is the conclusion drawn from a study of the so-called "sudden murder," the person who, without having been involved in any previous serious aggressive antisocial acts, kills or attempts to kill, another human being.

An analysis of 43 such murderers was reported by Drs. Nathan Blackman, St. Louis, James M. A. Weiss, Columbia, Mo., and Joseph W. Lamberti, Winnipeg, Man., Canada, in the current (March) Archives of General Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Association.

Characteristically, they said, the sudden murderer was a young man who came from a close-knit family in which the mother was a domineering, overprotective figure who emphasized conformity to the rules of the social system.

'BLAMES OTHERS'

"Falling in his attempt to conform because of underlying feelings of inadequacy and hostility, the murderer-to-be tended to blame other people, and to wander from place to place looking for greater opportunities," they said. "As a result, he felt quite consciously alone and isolated from other people."

Surprisingly, they said, when such a person seemed to be getting along quite well, when society apparently expected him to be even more conforming and mature, and when he had no one to blame, he would become more tense and angry.

Typically there was a period of about a month preceding the offense when the murderer seemed to make an adequate social adjustment, the authors said. But the very effort to maintain a facade of competence and independence saps some of the strengths and weakens some of the defenses with which the person wards off his more basic feelings of insecurity and inadequacy, they said, adding:

"It seems likely that it is during this period, when the patient presents a superficial appearance of conformity and inadequacy, that in reality he is more and more preoccupied with the feelings of helplessness and with the necessity to terminate his ever-increasing inner disequilibrium . . ."

DEMONSTRATE PATTERN

Of the 43 sudden murderers studied, 29 demonstrated this behavior pattern, the authors said. In conclusion, they said, "most such persons suffer from constant conflict between inner feelings of inadequacy and conscious needs to succeed, between an inner sense of psychological isolation and an outward drive toward conformity. Such persons maintain an extremely precarious emotional equilibrium."

Dr. Blackman is senior consultant in psychiatry, Social Maladjustment Study Unit, Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center. Drs. Weiss and Lamberti, also psychiatrists, formerly were associated with the study unit.

Committee OKs Transit Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee approved yesterday a $600-million mass transit subsidy bill designed to help cities with traffic jam and commuter problems.

It was the first new major spending bill in President Kennedy's 1963 program to clear a Senate committee for floor action.

Sponsors said they hoped the legislation could be called up for Senate action in about 10 days.

The committee vote was almost along party lines.

Backers of the bill say that it should help many cities start new mass transit facilities and also help prevent the loss of such facilities in some situations where they now are unprofitable.

The federal aid, contingent upon local areas putting up one-third of the cost, could be used for such things as land, right-of-way, parking facilities, buses, rail cars, signal equipment, stations and terminals.

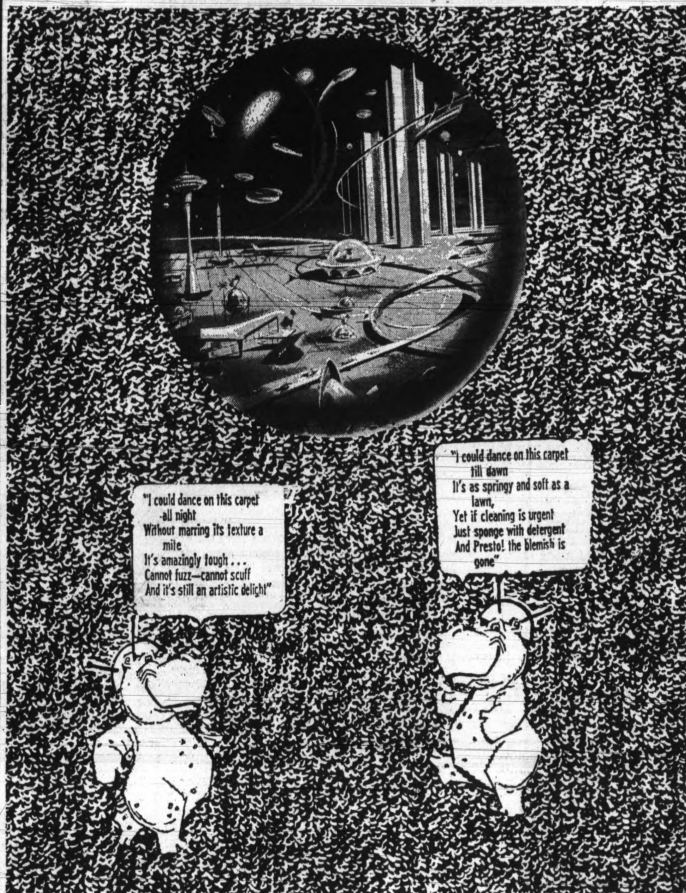

Seepage is a major cause of water loss in irrigated areas of the arid West. About 29 million acres in 17 Western states are under irrigation, and water loss in these states is put at 14 billion gallons a day.

Russian Bands Honk Along, Keeping Fingers Crossed

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—Moving from Stalin-type communism to the present variety, the party leaders are tripping over themselves in trying to keep step with dance music.

The people and many musicians want jazz—the American kind, hot and searing, or moody and blue.

The conscience-keepers of the Communist Party say Western jazz is decadent and degrading. Yet the bands play on. From Moscow to Tiflis and from Osmk to Toms, you can hear dance bands nightly honking away on such American evergreens as:

"When The Saints Go Marching In."
"Take The A Train."
"September in the Rain."
"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."
"Moonlight."

And Louis Armstrong's hot version of Kurt Weill's "Mack The Knife."

NO ARRESTS, BUT . . .
"It's very hard on musicians," said the leader of a sprightly five-piece outfit playing six nights a week in one of Moscow's brightest night spots. "You see, we don't quite know what to do. The dancers want it. They (the party leaders) don't. We play it, but we keep looking over our shoulders."

He said that it is inconceivable in 1963 that a Soviet musician could go to jail for playing jazz, but he said a man might lose a good job for persisting in playing it—and nothing else.

Proclaiming himself a modernist, he said:

"What a lot of us would really like to play is cool jazz (pro-nounced khloidy dzhaz in Russian) but I'm afraid that's frowned upon much as abstract art is frowned upon."

He knew his subject, for he reeled off a list of modernists, including Dave Brubeck and Miles Davis.

The leader of a band that occasionally plays at a Moscow youth cafe also insisted he wanted to play cool jazz.

"You Americans don't have it all your way any more," he insisted. "The Czechs—ah, now, they are really playing revolutionary jazz stuff. It's very cool."

BENNY PASSES
I talked to a lot of Soviet musicians about Benny Goodman's tour of the U.S.S.R. last year.

"The public loved him," said one. "As for the musicians, we admired his tone and his execution, but he was too old-fashioned for us."

dancers going to dance to—Glinka, Shostakovich, Prokofiev or Chai-kovsky?

Musicians are developing a sort of compromise by stepping up the tempo of Soviet popular songs. Some of them make good listeners and good dancers. Highly popular are "Falling

Snow" and "Winter in Leningrad. Best of all is one by the veteran popular composer, Solovie-Sedov called "Podmoskovnye Verbera."

British jazzman Kenny Ball took that tune, rearranged it and recorded it as "Midnight in Moscow." It became a hit in Western Europe and the United States.

It is estimated that a total of 77 billion people have lived on earth. About three billion or 4 per cent of that total are alive today.

2 Sentenced in Slaying of Salesman

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI)—Two teen-agers, who admitted killing an auto salesman so they could joy ride in a white convertible, yesterday were sentenced to terms of 60 years to life.

Edward Fontaine, 15, of La-conia, N.H., and Joseph Mackay, 17, of New York City, showed no emotion when State Supreme Court Justice Harold R. Soden sentenced them for bludgeoning to death Harold Stratton, 66, Dec. 2.

Officials said the youths have shown little or no emotion, remorse or fear since their arrest. The youths were ordered to the Elmira Reception Center and will be assigned to one of the state's maximum security prisons. Correction officials said it will be at least 20 years before they are eligible for parole consideration.

Fontaine and Mackay, seniors at Mount Assumption Institute here, were allowed in plead guilty to second degree murder after the Clinton County grand jury returned a first degree indictment. Conviction on the latter charge would have carried the death penalty.

"I cannot understand any reason for this senseless killing," Soden said. "It was a planned, deliberate, cold murder."

Mrs. Rita Mackay, Joseph's mother, sobbed in the courtroom. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fontaine, Edward's parents, sat quietly.

Maj. Donald B. Stratton, the victim's son, sat expressionless through the proceedings. About 200 persons filled the small chamber.

Plane Forced Down by Engine Trouble

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A four-engine American Airlines DC8 (Flight 231) made an unscheduled stop here last night when trouble developed in one engine.

An airlines spokesman said the plane, carrying 36 passengers and four crew members, developed the malfunction after take-off from Rochester, N.Y.

The plane was bound from Boston to Syracuse, Rochester, Detroit and Chicago. Passengers continued on a different plane.

Mine Strike Threat to De Gaulle Power

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI) — The strike wave now sweeping France has presented the most serious challenge yet to President Charles de Gaulle's authority.

It very well could mushroom into the most dangerous domestic crisis he has faced.

It started at the beginning of March with what was to have been merely a "token" two-day walkout by the 200,000 workers in the nationalized coal mining industry to press demands for wage increases.

But the government reacted strongly. In a decree signed by de Gaulle himself, it requisitioned the miners.

Requisitioning of workers in state-run French industries is equivalent to drafting them into the armed services. Failure to comply is punishable with loss of jobs and pensions, fines and prison sentences.

Most Frenchmen now agree the requisitioning was a major psychological blunder. It infuriated the labor unions.

Instead of knuckling under, all three — Catholic, Socialist and Communist unions — ordered the strike to go on indefinitely in defiance of the order.

There is strong popular support in the country for the miners, whose wages have lagged considerably behind those of workers in private industry.

The strike now has spread to workers in the nationalized gas, electricity, natural gas, iron mining and railroad industries, who also have their own wage claims to press.

SCOPE GROWS

All told, some 700,000 workers in state-run industry are affected in sympathy walkouts of indefinite or limited duration. There are signs the unrest may spread to private industry too.

The miners, whose monthly pay averages only about $130, are demanding an immediate 11 per cent boost. The government has offered only 5.77 per cent, spread over the whole year.

The government fears that if it caves in, it will open the floodgates to a torrent of wage increases that could only undermine the French economy and the stability of the new "hard" Gaullist France.

The government has not yet tried to enforce the requisition order. If it does so, by arresting key workers for refusal to comply, the unions almost certainly will call a nationwide general strike.

Close associates say de Gaulle is itching for a showdown. They say he will precipitate it in about two weeks when the nation begins to feel seriously the pinch of coal, gas and electricity shortages.

They say he hopes this will put public opinion behind him when he tries to break the labor unions.

But it remains to be seen whether the "strong man" methods which have served de Gaulle well in the national field will be equally successful in a home front showdown.

After all, this is the first real labor front crisis de Gaulle has faced.

Draft Law Extension OK'd in Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A four-year extension of the peacetime military draft law won unanimous approval today from the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said he hopes to get Senate action Monday on the compulsory conscription. Expected Senate approval would send the bill on to President Kennedy who asked continuation until July 1, 1967 of present authority to induct men from 18 through 26 years of age for at least two years' active service. The House passed the extension Monday 387-0.

Tornado-Like Wind Hits Town, Ending a California Spring

DINUBA, Calif. (AP) — A swirling tornado-like wind that blasted Dinuba in the night and snow, rain and hail to the north ended an early spring for northern and central Californians.

People in this town of 6,000 located close to the middle of the state never saw a tornado before so they're still not sure what it was that whipped through the community Thursday.

No deaths or injuries were reported. An estimate of damage was not made.

The wind hit with the noise of a thunderclap. It touched down hard on a two-block square downtown section, then made a u-turn, returning at reduced velocity for a pass at the residential section.

Dinuba Police Capt. John Davidson was sitting in the police station when he heard a radio report from a patrol car.

"I just saw a roof fly by," said the voice as the lights went out in the station.

WINDOWS SHATTERED
Police patrols found most plate glass windows downtown shattered. Roofs were missing from some buildings.

Teddy Awaits Third Child

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife Joan are expecting the birth of a third child in August and are "extremely pleased," the senator's office said yesterday.

Aides said there has not been and will not be an announcement, but they could confirm a report of the expected event.

The entire area was darkened because power lines had been blown down. Power remained out in some places for the night. Police blocked the downtown area.

Trees were uprooted in downtown and residential sections. Two garage roofs were blown onto grounds of Dinuba High School.

An unusual snow hit coastal mountains in the northern part of California. Six inches fell near Gasquet close to the Oregon border, a large amount for the area in March.

The Weather Bureau forecast more of the same stormy conditions for today.

Rain and hail were reported throughout northern California.

San Francisco received .06 inch of rain and a hail storm. Sacramento also experienced hail and 14 inch of rain.

Private Correspondence

'Dear Caroline: If I Could See You--'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five-year-old Caroline Kennedy doesn't know it, but she has a lot of pen-pals around the country.

The White House postman brings the President's daughter an average of 20 letters a day, mostly from children — but also a few from admiring adults.

First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy kept Caroline's correspondence under wraps to ensure her privacy, but she made an exception for a article in Catholic Living.

The article shows the letters to the little blonde Mopett run the gamut from invitations to a birthday party to a request for advice on how to track down a lost hamster.

The replies are handled with a lot of charm and understanding by Social Secretary Leticia Baldridge and a couple of secretaries on her staff who have children of their own.

The letters are mostly in a childish scrawl, some from ordinary notebook paper. The White House answers are all individual and personal. There are no form letters.

HAVE ANY PETS?

A little girl by the name of Debra — who lives in West Islip, Long Island, wrote to Caroline that she did not get to see the White House pets and would like to know whether the President's daughter had any.

A letter came from the White House telling Debra that Caroline had two ponies — Macaroni and Tex; three dogs — Charlie, Puddin' and Clipper; and two parakeets — Maybelle and Bluebelle.

Another young girl who lives in Skokie, Ill., told Caroline she would be in Washington for three days this spring and wondered if she could come to call.

She explained: "If I could see you close up I'd be a very popular girl." But then she added if Caroline could not arrange to see her "I won't feel badly, for you are terribly busy."

The answer that came back said that her letter "made Caroline happy to know you are her friend" but could not grant a request for a meeting because she receives so many similar requests.

A member of the Baltimore Lancers Boys' Club asked Caroline if she could become their "honorary mascot." Another little girl wrote in asking Caroline to draw her a picture of a puppy dog. Both had to be politely declined.

Caroline does not get to see her fan mail and, indeed, is unaware of it. Some youngsters try to get through to Caroline by battering up the President.

One young lady wrote Kennedy that he was doing a "good job." She told him she was going to have a birthday party "and I was wondering if Caroline could come."

Replying for the President, Miss Baldridge sent her Caroline's "Happy Birthday" greetings.

One little girl wrote Caroline that she wanted to be her secretary.

"I can spell, write and type and make up letters, too," she wrote. "I play good with other children. I can make up games. Please call or write back."

She received a White House letter telling her that "Caroline enjoyed hearing from you" but although she doesn't need a secretary now "we appreciate your friendly offer."

Caroline's brother, John Jr., also gets his share of the mail, particularly around his birthday time or Christmas. But so far the White House is keeping his letters a top secret.

Miss Flies by Air Force for Job in U.S. Navy

DAYTON (AP) — For all of her 18 years, Pauline McDoel has been in an Air Force family. Now she's joined the service — the Navy.

Her father, Capt. Joseph F. McDoel, swore her in. He says: "I think it's a wonderful thing. It'll be good for her."

Pauline, explaining her choice, says, "The Waves have a better medical training program."

Her mother, offering a slightly different theory, says: "The Waves have prettier uniforms."

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Insecticide Peril to Man Is Exaggerated

Let's set the record straight. Some well-meaning writers spread the alarm about the danger to man and animals arising from the use of insecticides and pesticides.

I would be the last person in the world to want to see all forms of life vanish from the face of the earth but I believe that such BRANDSTADT writers often do more harm than good through gross exaggeration.

To imply, for example, that all life, wild and domestic, is headed for prompt destruction, if farmers continue to use sprays to kill insect pests, is to ignore too important facts.

First, farm production of food for man and animals has increased to the point of embarrassing surpluses in countries where such chemicals are used and, second, in those countries where they are not used, hunger is still a grim specter.

Now let's take a closer look at what we are poisoning. Insecticides are definitely poisonous, as any insect would tell you if it could, but properly controlled use has yet to injure a human being. Any substance can act as a poison under certain circumstances.

This was proved tragically last year when several infants in a hospital died as a result of salt being used instead of sugar in preparing their formulas. But who would be so foolish as to demand laws prohibiting the sale of salt?

PROPER USE?

When insecticides are properly used no one gets hurt. When they are carelessly used, there is a serious hazard to the farmer who uses them—not to the consumers of the farmer's produce.

Farmers today could not get the abundant yield of high quality grain, fruit and vegetables if they were denied the use of insecticides. Residues of the commonest of these, DDT, are found on most foods.

It is true they have an affinity for the fatty tissues in the human body but they do not reach harmful concentrations and the body promptly eliminates them.

Insecticides have gone a long way toward eradicating malaria and other insect-borne diseases from many parts of the world.

The charge that pesticides are upsetting the balance of nature has a hollow ring.

Since time began, man has upset that balance so well.

MILD THREAT

The pesticide threat to wild life is mild compared to that from automobiles as the many birds and animals lying on roads mutely testify.

An even more serious threat to wild life is the clearing of woods and farmlands for new roads, airports and housing developments.

The moral of all this is that conditions never stand still. If we are to survive we must not resist change but adapt to it.

The Food and Drug Administration is doing a fine job in protecting your health.

This organization was aware of the harmful potentialities of pesticides over 15 years ago and they have not been twiddling their thumbs.

They have formulated safeguards which are working very well.

Walled Lake Leads in Sports

By SHERI JACKSON

At the end of the basketball and wrestling seasons marking the half-way point in the All-Sports Trophy race, Walled Lake Senior High School leads the Inter Lakes Conference.

The All-Sports Trophy is awarded to the school which makes the best composite record for the entire sports year. The team winning the title for each individual sport receives six points, the second place team receives five points and so on.

Walled Lake captured first in the cross country competition and in football. Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake tied for first place in wrestling, with Walled Lake taking third in the basketball season.

Totaling the points shows Walled Lake leading the trophy race with a score of 21.5. Nearest competitor is Pontiac Northern with 19. Farmington, Berkeley and Waterford each claim 11.5 points for a three-way tie. A score of 8.5 leaves Southfield in last place.

The remaining sports of golf, tennis, baseball and track will determine the champion of the trophy. If Walled Lake maintains the present lead, it will be the fourth consecutive year that the Vikings have captured the title.

2 Girls Tops in Marks at Kettering

By BARBARA SECAN

Two girls have been named today to the two top positions scholastically in the Waterford Kettering High School-graduating class of 1963.

The Navigator named Gail Bingel as valedictorian with Joanna Lovett as salutatorian. Basis for selection is a mathematical computation of point averages, carried six decimal places.

Final marks from the ninth, 10th, 11th and first semester 12th grades are used, excluding physical education and driver training.

According to this procedure, 4.9 is the ultimate score. Gail received a 3.97222 point average with Joanna receiving 3.88888.

Both have been active in extracurricular activities and received other awards.

Gail won the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award and the opportunity to compete in state competition.

In the Elk's Youth Leadership Contest Joans placed first in the school and third locally. Both will be attending college.

Customarily the top 10 students are honored. Three seniors tied for ninth place this year forcing the elimination of 10th place.

Expectant Girl Beaten, Raped

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A young pregnant woman was dragged off a Houston street into a car early today, beaten and raped, then dumped in a field on the city's west side, police said.

She is Mrs. Gail Elishen, 26, a secretary for the liquor control board. She is expecting her first child in two months.

Police Lt. L. D. Morrison quoted a doctor who examined Mrs. Elishen at a hospital as saying, "It is my opinion at this time that the girl has been raped."

ARREST TWO

Detective Don Harmon said Ronald Clifford Rust, 19, and Walter Lee Siro, 22, were arrested for questioning. No charges have been filed against them.

Harmon said two men were picked up in a red convertible described by Mrs. Elishen's husband as the assailants' car.

Officers said Mrs. Elishen crawled to a nearby house and asked the occupants to call police.

2 Killed in Crash of Navy Bomber

ANACORTES, Wash. (AP) — Two men were killed in the crash of a Navy twin-jet bomber yesterday about 200 yards from the Washington State Ferry Dock in Anacortes Harbor.

They were Lt. Dean McFarland Brown, 26, Citrus Heights, Calif., the pilot, and Aviation Machinist Mate 3.C Norman Francis Vogt, 22, of Eldridge, Iowa. They were stationed at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

Four divers couldn't find the plane or the bodies. They planned to renew the search today.

The plane, an A3B, was making a radar approach to the air station on a return flight from Albuquerque, N.M.

Resolution Asks Endorsement of Education Effort

LANSING (AP) — A resolution endorsing the willingness of the University of Michigan and Delta College to work together to meet the educational needs of the tri-county area has been introduced in the Senate.

Co-sponsors were Republican Sens. William Leppien of Saginaw, Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor and William Milliken of Traverse City.

The resolution also praised the Delta College trustees for their plans to privately raise $4 million to better the facilities and services offered by the college.

A lot of today's so-called self-made men should deny the allegation. Down at our friendly neighborhood tavern, the boys were talking of giving a shower for a guy getting married but decided not to as he was practically all washed up anyway.

Veteran Army Officer All-A MSU Graduate

EAST LANSING (AP) — A 39-year-old veteran of Guadalcanal, Bougainville and Leyte of World War II, and of the Korean War, was graduated Wednesday from Michigan State University.

Maj. Richard Stevens of Phoenix, Ariz., maintained a straight-A record throughout his undergraduate years and plans to try for a master's degree.

Stevens, a career Army officer, majored in police administration as he gathered credits from the University of California in Okinawa in 1954, MSU in 1956-57, University of Georgia in 1957-59, the American University in Washington, D.C. in 1959, and back to MSU last fall.

"It was sort of catch as catch can . . . like a crossword puzzle," Stevens said with a smile.

His wife Elizabeth, whom Stevens married Oct. 12, 1945, said "I'm very proud, of course. It hasn't been too difficult," she added, "and it's been harder on Steve than on me." The couple has one adopted daughter, 10-month-old Susan Elizabeth.

Just before the graduation ceremony, MSU President John Hannah visited Stevens at home to offer personal congratulations on his academic record.

An assignment with the provost marshal's staff at 5th Army Headquarters in Chicago lies just ahead for the Stevens, then on to the Command Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Looking ahead, Stevens said, "I intend to get a master's degree in some subject. We're going to retire in eight years and it's practically mandatory in these days to have a master's degree."

Approximately $100 billion annually is spent in the nation for transportation services — half to move ourselves around and half to move products.

Frown On Publishers' Pact Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—Officers of the Daily News unit of the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild have voted to recommend that members of the unit reject a publishers' offer aimed at ending the 98-day-old newspaper shutdown.

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the Guild, said the unit officers voted 47-3 against the offer Thursday night.

Publishers of eight major newspapers hope to resume publication next Tuesday.

Prior to the action by the Daily News unit officers, Amory H. Bradford, a spokesman for the publishers who discussed the resumption of publication with newspapermen, said:

"It's a fair prospect that all goes well it may be as early as next Tuesday. I would like to think that they all will accept."

TOGETHERNESS
Bradford, vice president and general manager of the New York Times, said the eight closed dailies will act together and that if even one Guild unit rejects the publishers' offer, "it would hold up the return to work."

Top officers of the New York Newspaper Guild meet today to vote on whether to recommend the offer to the membership.

Members of the Daily News unit of the Guild will vote Sunday on the publishers' offer, which was announced Thursday after all-night negotiations with Mayor Robert F. Wagner acting as mediator.

Membership meetings of Guild units at the newspapers have been scheduled for Sunday and Monday.

night in Washington, requested the railroads and brotherhoods representing 200,000 on-train employees to resume negotiations immediately in the 4-year-old dispute.

The latest efforts to reach agreement collapsed Wednesday after a 90-minute session. A move from Washington to get both sides back to the bargaining table and avert a possible national rail strike had been regarded as certain.

At stake are 65,000 jobs, including those of 40,000 firemen which the railroads say are unnecessary for the operation of modern rail equipment. The U.S. Supreme Court held March 4 the carriers could make the changes.

INJUNCTION STANDS

Wirtz said it will take until March 28 for the Supreme Court decision regarding the dispute to become effective. Until then an injunction is outstanding against the carriers' putting into effect their desired manpower cuts to eliminate what they term featherbedding.

The rail union chiefs, who have remained in Chicago since Wednesday's meeting, indicated Thursday night they were pleased with Wirtz' action.

"This thing has to be settled across the bargaining table," said Charles Luna, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said. "We're willing and ready to negotiate."

James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, expressed surprise at the labor secretary's statement.

phone this (Thursday) morning," he said, "and he gave no indication he was going to make this request."

Wolfe had indicated Wednesday he favored third-party intervention in the dispute, saying it appeared further direct negotiations would be useless.

The brotherhood chiefs in a letter to Wolfe and other carrier spokesmen said Thursday night: "We think it incredible that you would prate to the public press collective bargaining while you exert every effort to shift your responsibility to those outside the industry, to a busy Labor Department or an already heavily burdened Congress."

"This dispute must ultimately be settled by the parties themselves," Wirtz said. "Their interests and the public interest demand that it be settled fairly and that it be settled peaceably."

Hart Seeks Facility Set for Kentucky

Scrap Shapes Up Over IRS Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new political scrap is shaping up over one of the proposed new Internal Revenue Service centers which Kentucky's congressional delegation thought it had sewed up for its state.

The multimillion-dollar automatic data processing center is still scheduled to be placed in Covington, Ky., "as at now," a Treasury Department spokesman said.

But as a result of complaints by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Secretary of the Treasury, Douglas Dillon has promised to review a proposed revamping of IRS field offices. The plans announced called for elimination of two of the present nine regional offices.

A spokesman for Hart said the senator lodged a strong complaint with President Kennedy when he learned several days ago the Detroit region was to be merged with the Cincinnati region.

Hart contended he had a firm commitment his state would get one of the new Internal Revenue centers.

WANTS MOVE
Hart now wants the Cincinnati region's planned Covington center moved to Michigan.

Internal revenue spokesman said the reorganization plan, including elimination of two of the planned nine data processing centers, would save the taxpayers between $5 and $6 million and increase efficiency in processing tax returns.

Kentucky members of Congress learned one a day or two ago about Hart's attempt to get the Covington center for Michigan.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a member of the senate public Works Committee, which will consider the proposed site, immediately protested.

He said he had a commitment from the General Services Administration to hold firm in its recommendation of the Covington site.

GSA officials will testify before the committee next Wednesday, Cooper said.

Cooper said "I do not know what the result will be of the review requested by Michigan, but hope very much that the planned Covington location submitted to Congress will be maintained."

Integrating Neighborhood Ethical—Real Estate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Real Estate Boards has made it clear—for the first time—that it is no violation of the realtors code of ethics to sell a Negro family a home in a previously all-white neighborhood.

Until about 15 years ago, the NAREB code of ethics specified that a realtor should not sell to a nonwhite person in an all-white neighborhood.

The change in view is evident in the revision of the code and an association book interpreting it, distributed to local real estate boards.

As revised, Article 5 of the code of ethics now reads: "The realtor should not be instrumental in introducing into a neighborhood a character of property or use which will clearly be detrimental to property values in that neighborhood."

The NAREB book interpreting the code was distributed to local boards early this year—the first time this had been done.

CASE IN POINT
One case, illustrating Article 5, involved the sale of a house in an all-white neighborhood to a nonwhite buyer.

The realtor was taken before the local board's committee on professional standards. He contended that since the words "occupancy" and "race" formerly in the code had been removed many years ago this demonstrated an intent to "exclude any such considerations from the article."

The book said the realtor was found innocent of unethical conduct and concluded that occupancy is not to be considered as a factor in interpreting the phrase "character of property or use."

The book was prepared by the NAREB committee on professional standards over a period of three years.

NAREB has no day-to-day enforcement powers over local boards. However, each local group pledges to abide by the code of ethics and flagrant violations could result in expulsion. The code was first adopted in 1913.

Report on Foreign Aid Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The report on foreign aid by a special committee headed by Sen. Lucius B. Clay is now scheduled to be submitted to President Kennedy around the middle of next week.

The 10-man group of prominent citizens reviewing the overseas assistance program had hoped to wind up its work Thursday, but Clay said after a day-long meeting that the report was not finished.

The committee's recommendations are slated for White House consideration before the President sends his aid request to Congress. The administration budget calls for $4.9 billion for the coming year, but officials said Kennedy might reduce the request slightly in sending his detailed proposals to congressional committees.

Ask Governor of Virginia to Spare Dog

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — In what may be an unprecedented move in Virginia, Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. has been asked to spare the life of a dog condemned as a sheep killer.

A petition on behalf of Ricky, a 6-year-old German shepherd, was filed with the state's chief executive yesterday by Harvey S. Lutins, a Roanoke attorney.

Lutins has been retained by Mr. and Mrs. James Laing of Pearlsburg to save the life of Ricky, who was given the death sentence by a Giles County Court in 1958. The Virginia and U.S. Supreme courts have declined to set aside the penalty.

Under the Virginia Constitution, Lutins wrote the governor has "authority to grant all kinds of pardons known to the common law."

There has been no indication when Harrison may act on the matter.

Ex-Empress Turns to Films

ROME (AP) — Princess Soraya, former empress of Iran, may be on her way to becoming a movie queen.

The producer said he will announce Soraya's first picture in a few months.

Urges Support of Nursing Bills

Part of 6-Point Plan to Upgrade Standards

LANSING (AP) — Passage of two bills in the legislature has been urged by the Michigan Nursing Home Association as part of a proposed six-point program designed to improve standards for patient care in its member institutions.

The group's officers, headed by Legislative Chairman Lloyd Johnson, of Ypsilanti, called on Gov. George Romney yesterday to ask his support of the program.

"Our association has been working hard to upgrade licensed nursing homes and homes for the aged for 14 years," said Johnson.

He said the organization's six-point program is a proposed "plan of action" which should be put into effect by the state as soon as possible.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Among the points, the association urged passage of a Senate bill to give licensed nursing homes status as medical care facilities under the federal Kerr-Mills Medical Assistance to the Aged Program, and a House Measure setting new standards for licensing requirements.

Johnson said passage of the Senate bill would remove licensed nursing homes from the general welfare budget and lift an existing 90-day limit on Kerr-Mills patients in private institutions.

He said costs for Kerr-Mills have risen from $7.4 million to $17 million in the last two years, 70 per cent of which has gone to county-owned medical care facilities.

His Scottish pilot, John Ogilvie, and two Lebanese, Dr. Nizar Youkan of the American University of Beirut, and Marwan Khartabil, also died.

Butsani was a member of Lebanon's parliament, head of the largest industrial enterprise in this part of the world and a prominent Arab spokesman for co-operation between Arab nations and the West. He was flying to Jordan for an audience with King Hussein when his plane plunged into the sea.

The twin-engine luxury craft turned back en route to Damascus, apparently in trouble. It circled half a dozen times beyond the city's harbor district and spiraled down in a rain squall about two miles offshore.

Maybe Incentive Answer to Cash Problem—Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, attending a dinner Thursday night at which $7.5 million was pledged for the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, quipped:

"I must say that your system is more successful than mine. I'm going to give up this increased fee business and go to the incentive approach."

The governor has been in trouble with his legislature about increased automobile and liquor license fees he proposed to meet budget problems.

Marine Highway Is Like a Dream Come True for Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska, (AP) — A dream has come true for the young state of Alaska. For the first time the state's Southeast Panhandle has a highway—a marine highway. The sleek new motor vessel Malaspina, first of three ships to be delivered for use on the Southeast Marine Highway, intimated the new service last month.

Eventually to be joined by the motor vessels Taku and Matanuska, the Malaspina started her first run from Prince Rupert, B.C. The 450-mile route from Prince Rupert, the southern terminus of the new system, to historic Skagway, the northern terminus, includes stops at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Sitka, Juneau and Haines. NAME FOR GLACIERS The Malaspina, Taku and Matanuska, each 252 feet long, are named for Alaskan glaciers.

The Malaspina is a massive sheet of ice which separates the two geographic sections of Alaska, the Southeast Panhandle and the western mainland. The glacier has a surface area of some 1,500 square miles, greater than the land surface of the entire state of Rhode Island, 1,214 miles. Taku glacier is located in the Southeast Panhandle some 15 miles northeast of Juneau. The Matanuska glacier is some 80 miles northeast of Anchorage.

The remaining two ships are under construction at the Puget Sound Bridge and Drydock Co. yard in Seattle. They are expected to be in service in May. When all three vessels are operating, there will be six departures a week from Prince Rupert, which can be reached by steamship, rail, air, bus and highway. The voyage from Prince Rupert takes passengers through spectacular scenery—many islands, towering spruce, hemlock and cedar forests and cliff-hanging glaciers.

This topography made a marine highway necessary. Engineers estimate a regular highway would cost some $350-400 million, if it could be constructed. In addition, there would be annual maintenance costs of some $1,500 a mile. Study Hour in Cafeteria Tried by High School TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—Students at Tucson Amphitheater High School are experimenting with a new type of study hall. The study period is held in the school cafeteria where a snack bar will be in operation, permitting students to cram both their minds and stomachs.

The Matanuska, Malaspina and Taku each will have a maximum capacity of 100 automobiles and 500 passengers. Each vessel contains a dining room, a snack bar, a cocktail lounge and 14 two-person state rooms. For the bulk of passengers, there are airplane-type reclining chairs for day and night snoozing. Foot and auto passengers will be permitted to stop off along the route, disembarking from one vessel and boarding another ship later to continue their journey. At Haines, auto passengers can leave the ship and drive up the Haines cutoff to the Alaska Highway; to continue their trip to westward Alaska and Anchorage and Fairbanks or to return south down the highway via Dawson Creek, B.C. From Skagway, a narrow gauge railway carries passengers and freight along the Kondike gold rush route to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

College Has Long Past LEXINGTON, Ky. (U)—Chartered in 1790 by the legislature of Virginia, when Kentucky was a far-flung county of that state, Transylvania College in Lexington was a part of Thomas Jefferson's ambitious education program.

Kennedy to Visit Next Week

By United Press International

When President Kennedy goes to Costa Rica next week for a meeting with Central American presidents he will be visiting one of the most placid of all Latin American countries. It is the only country in the hemisphere without a standing army.

Costa Rica is a democratic nation that honors culture above force, teachers above generals. It has more school teachers than soldiers and the highest literacy rate in Latin America.

Its school system is compulsory and free, one of the finest in the Americas.

Its only defense force is a home guard militia of less than 2,000 men.

Next to the smallest of the Central American republics, Costa Rica was, until the creation of the Panama Republic in 1903, the most southerly and isolated nation of the region. Its remoteness contributed to its uneventful early colonial history.

Costa Rican life today, as for many centuries past, is that of an agricultural society. Essentially, it is a nation of small farmers.

QUAINT, FRIENDLY

Costa Rica lies between Nicaragua and Panama and is bordered on the east by the Caribbean and on the west by the Pacific Ocean. Its capital city, San Jose, is quaint and friendly. The charm of the country, however, lies mainly in its colorful countryside.

Columbus is credited with the discovery of Costa Rica on his fourth and last trip to the new world. Historians report he was driven by storms into the Bay of Cariari — site of today's Puerto Limon — and was visited aboard ship by Indians whom he described as "handsome, peaceful and respectful."

Spain called the new country Nuevo Cartago, although Columbus did not establish any permanent settlement ashore, and in 1509 Spain claimed it formally.

The true history of Costa Rica opened under Juan Vazquez de Coronado, its first governor, who was called the "gentle conquistador (conqueror)."

Costa Rica: Scholarly, Peaceful Latin Democracy

Where Presidents Will Confer

He founded the country's first permanent Spanish city, Cartago.

Coronado was lost at sea while returning to Spain and for two and a half centuries thereafter Spanish governors succeeded one another.

OUSTED GOVERNOR

When the captaincy general of Guatemala, of which Costa Rica was a part, declared its independence of Spain in 1821, Costa Rica quietly ousted its royal governor and declared itself independent.

In 1822, Costa Rica joined the Mexican empire, only to withdraw a year later. In 1823, it became part of a Central American Confederation that eventually failed.

In 1828, Costa Rica decided to resume separate sovereignty. In 1848, it proclaimed itself completely independent under the title of the Republic of Costa Rica.

The end of the 19th century witnessed the introduction of U.S. and British capital and enterprise in education, which already was well advanced.

Won't End Struggle —Bidault

STEINEBACH, Germany (AP) — French ex-premier Georges Bidault said today he will not trade his political struggle for security.

He added that he still considers himself the leader of the opposition to French President Charles de Gaulle.

Bidault was interviewed shortly after Bavarian authorities announced he would have to agree to sharp restrictions if he wants asylum in West Germany.

Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker had said that such conditions would include limitation of his movements and a permanent police escort.

"I am rather hesitant to make any comment," Bidault said. "But I will certainly not trade political activity for security."

"I am the leader of the Council of National Resistance; I am the boss of it all."

Bidault, in a letter made public today, asked the Bavarian government what conditions would be attached to asylum in Germany, but did not make the formal request for asylum.

He said centuries-old tradition permits political refugees to continue their activities from the country giving them shelter.

"I always have my eyes set on the just cause even if this leads me to the end of the world," he wrote.

Junker told a news conference it will take some time for his government to formulate the conditions for asylum, but Bidault will be offered "no special privileges."

He said he would have to agree to restriction of his movements and a permanent police escort.

'Joke' Slaying Trial to Start

Commerce Woman Faces 2nd Hearing

The second trial of a 51-year-old Commerce Township grand mother for manslaughter in the "joke" shotgun slaying of her husband was to begin today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Sarah Ragatz, 6088 Ashland St., was convicted of manslaughter in the case in 1961 but was a new trial because of prejudicial testimony during her trial.

Mrs. Ragatz was accused of shooting her husband, Ernest, 38, when he returned home about 7 p.m. Feb. 13, 1961. She told police it was an accident resulting from her playing a joke on her husband with a 12-gauge shotgun she thought was unloaded.

When she pointed the gun at him, she said, he said, "Go ahead and shoot. It isn't loaded." He was killed instantly when she pulled the trigger.

Her new trial was slated to be held before Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero, who also presided at her first trial and later granted the new trial motion by her attorney, Howard I. Bond.

Everybody Tells

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Who in the world can a person trust anymore? Our preacher sat right in our living room and told all the details of some domestic trouble another couple was having. He knew full well these people were friends of ours.

Then I found out that my doctor discussed my case with my aunt without any inquiry on her part—she says. Yesterday a friend of mine told her daughter something. I had told her in confidence just to get it off my chest. Heaven help me if I ever need a lawyer. I hear they are the biggest gossips of all. I repeat—who can a person trust?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Most clergymen can keep a secret. And so can most doctors. But professional people under obligation to keep confidences, occasionally talk too much.

If your confidences are always revealed, perhaps you are prone to pick the wrong confidants.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me why women are so touchy about telling their right age?

BEATS ME

DEAR BEATS ME: Beats ME, too. When a girl is young (around 14 or 15) the nicest compliment you can pay her is to say she appears to be about 19. When she reaches about 50, if you tell her she looks 35 you are apt to get smothered with kisses.

DEAR ABBY: A boy called me at 12:30 at night and woke up my father. My father got real angry and told him if he didn't have any better sense than to call at that hour he should never call me again.

The boy said he'd "think" about it. You can imagine how much angrier my father got after that. The next day my father told me about what happened and he said I was not to answer any more telephone calls from boys until next year when I'll be in the ninth grade.

This is the first time anything like this has ever happened to me. Do you think my father is being fair?

PUNISHED
DEAR PUNISHED: Your father was understandably irritated by the boy's attitude. But I think it's unfair to punish you because of another's insolence.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Fictitious Names": You'd better think up another name. You aren't getting away with anything. What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Merchant's Register Handy

Early China Choice Helps Bride, Guests

By MADELEINE DOEREN

Early selection of china, crystal, silver or stainless steel flatware and other appointments benefits both the bride-to-be and her mother.

It is easier to make decisions when not distracted by the flurry of other wedding activities. Mother will find it convenient to suggest additions to the china service or flatware when relatives or friends inquire about appropriate gifts.

When the selection is made, both traditional place settings the bride's parents may have given her, and the pieces she still needs, should be entered in the bridal registry, a service offered by most retailers. This serves as a guide to the bride's tastes and makes it possible for the giver to order by telephone if unable to purchase articles in person.

The mere fact that the future bride is serious about collecting a complete service deters most givers from sending unrelated items. The new housekeeper won't then find herself with seven pretzel bowls and a pile of "crazy mixed-up" dishes.

BRIDE'S DREAM

The bride-to-be is pictured today is dreaming of a table set with unpatterned linen, floral china and simple stemware, or plain china and cut crystal stemware.

White china, possibly gold-bordered, on hem-stitched linen place mats would be smart with simple crystal goblets. For more formal dining or entertaining, she may float camellias in a cut crystal bowl, center it on a point de Venise lace cloth and use flower-bordered china and etched goblets.

The American way of life favors interchanging regional ideas, habits and traditions in table settings, as in home furnishings.

A contemporary author on etiquette writes "It is perfect etiquette for the bride's mother to refer people to the store or stores where her daughter is registered. This is a generally accepted custom today and one of the mother's accepted duties."

"Part of every mother's advance planning," the author continues, "should include a check of other specific duties and the procedure involved. Failure to check an authority before hand may result in an important breach of good form."

CONSULTANT SERVICE

A consultant who specializes in bringing mothers and their engaged daughters to a meeting - of - the - minds finds that a gently put suggestion goes a long way if mother is prepared to give advice, when asked.

More and more stores offer the services of a bridal secretary or consultant who may give only the minimum of service or may handle every detail with behind-the-scenes efficiency.

"Specifically, she can always assist in choosing the wedding dress, seeing to its perfect fit and, selecting matched accessories," says

"The Bride's Book of Etiquette."

She will not only help select the attendants' dresses, but will work out the entire wedding party scheme, either with her customer's ideas, her own suggestions or a combination of both.

Susan Hearn of Baybrook Drive, a spring bride, looks over some china. She wants to make her selections early and register them at a local store. Most shops specializing in wedding gifts provide this service for prospective brides. It makes gift buying easier. Susan thinks she likes Spode.

Why 15 Pct. for Tip in a Restaurant?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: A number of years ago, 10 per cent of a restaurant bill was considered the correct tip to give the waiter. I believe it was shortly after inflation hit us that the percentage went up to 15.

My question is, "Why the raise in percentage?" I have been following the 15 per cent rule for some time but I resent that extra five per cent. When 10 per cent was acceptable our dinner's cost to run $2 to $3. Now it's $3 to $5 so doesn't the waiter get a larger tip in proportion to the raise in dinner prices?

A: What you say is true, but when the cost of living increased, it naturally increased for waiters as well. As the tips they receive are part of their salary, the percentage in tipping rose to meet it. Fifteen per cent is now customary and whether we like it or not, we have to go along with it if we don't wish to be thought stingy or cheap.

Q: When a couple enter the back seat of a car, should the boy, after the girl has entered and is seated, close the door and then go around to the other side of the car and enter from there, or should the girl slide over and take the seat on the far side leaving room for the boy to enter?

A: Most politely, he goes around and enters from the other side but not if by doing so he would risk being hit by a car on a busy street.

Q: When attending the theater with a woman friend, is the man supposed to hold the woman's coat on his lap if there is no place to check it, or does she hold her own coat?

A: She holds her own, or most usually sits down in it and slips it off her shoulders.

The clothes worn by the bride and groom as well as those worn by their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Belated Education Not Parents' Worry

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
Are parents obligated to educate a 27-year-old married daughter 10 years after she passed up the opportunity to go to college by getting married?

My parents paid 50 per cent of my expenses because I went through college before marrying. My fiancée and I waited to be married because I was told I would be on my own financially if I married.

My younger sister, 24, also feels our parents owe her the same "college money" whenever she gets around to it. She, like the older sister, was married before finishing high school.

I don't beyond the obligation of the parents to contribute to their daughter's education after they made a choice long ago, rejected their opportunity for education and married instead?

My parents both work and are not financially well off. Neither of the daughters works and their husbands have incomes similar to my salary, with which I support my family and pay for my fifth year of college (required for my teaching job).

I certainly don't feel that furthering my education at this point is anyone's responsibility but my own.

Don't you think my parents are entitled now to save their money for their own old age?

M. P., Spokane.

Dear M. P.:
I do indeed. And I hope you can persuade them to do just that.

It's downright tragic to see so many young people these days heading for the altar when they haven't even finished high school. The civilization we live in puts a premium on education. The young man or woman with a living to earn is handicapped from the start with not even a high school diploma to wave in front of a prospective employer.

Evidently your sisters have found that out. If they've come to their senses and really want an education, more power to them. But I say let them—and their husbands—muddle up that power on their own.

It's up to them to finance their own studies at this late date. Your parents have a moral right to consider that they did their best by their daughters in offering them the opportunity for an education when the time was right.

The girls should face up to the fact that parents are people, too. They're entitled to make plans for their own retirement years.

Of course, if money were no object, providing a belated education for their daughters would be a worthwhile project. Even a

Help With Homework Can Be Hindrance

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My son has always done well in school; but since entering junior high school he complains about his homework constantly.

I help him as much as I can, looking up words in the dictionary for him. But he gets upset over his homework anyway.

He's irritable with me when I don't help him and even more so when I do . . .

ANSWER: You want him to do brilliantly in school, don't you?

He's aware of that, you know. And I expect he has become as scared of school failure as you are.

If I'm right, he knows that your "help" is really your demand for perfect work. He knows that by rushing to look up words in the dictionary for him, you are actually saying, "Heaven forbid that you should be found misspelling a word."

He complains about his burdensome homework because he dares not complain about his burdensome obligation to produce a brilliant school record for you.

I know that shining high school marks make college admission easier, and outstanding college records lead to outstanding jobs, which insure more money and social status. But why are these end consequences so vitally important to you? To whom are you

Healthy Child Clean Child

Wise advice for parents comes from Dr. H. E. Hilleboe, New York State Commissioner of Health, who points out that cleanliness is one of the first aspects of health. "A child's knowledge about health begins in the high school and continues in the classroom . . . Teach him cleanliness. Start him out with good habits," counsels this noted expert.

Lead Him to Learning

Spark Tot's Mind Early

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE 0483: Our daughter Judy has two little boys, aged about 4 and 3.

Since they live in a block with 23 children all under the age of 6, her back yard is a mob scene of youngsters each afternoon in warm weather.

So Judy has started a "story-telling hour."

"Daddy," she explained, "by telling stories, I not only have my own children in plain sight, but I also help the other mothers in the block."

"For at 4 o'clock, they know all the little boys and girls in the neighborhood are gathered in my back yard."

"And by telling them stories, I can thus encourage their interest in good literature, as well as Bible tales."

"So when they get into grammar school, they will have a richer cultural background. Isn't this a good idea?"

BRAIN FOOD

Yes, it is a superb idea. So I recommend it to all mothers and fathers. For you can make or break your child's future educational career by what you do or don't before he enters kindergarten.

The big need of all children whose parents want them to go on to college is to develop a liking for knowledge.

For it is this lack of a fondness for education that causes most children to drop out long before they even reach college.

After you good mothers exhaust your personal supply of appropriate stories, then resort to books and read fascinating tales to the youngsters.

Brain food is thus as vital to a well-rounded personality as milk and baby cereals.

Yet many mothers are overly concerned with reducing fat babies and stuffing them on extra vitamins, so they often ignore the spiritual and brain hangers.

"MIND COMES FIRST"

"Man does not live by bread alone," Christ warned us.

So what shall it profit you to rear husky, athletic boys and girls, even of Olympic Game caliber, yet have them classified as mental and moral Frankenstein?

If a child must be stunted, it is far better to stunt his body and enrich his mind, than to stunt his brain and develop a strong idiot or moron.

And though your child may be born with a superior I. Q., if you don't exercise that high intelligence, it will tend to rust out in disuse.

In psychology, famous Dr. Robert H. Gault used to warn us graduate students about "feeble-mindedness by deprivation."

What he meant was not that the brain becomes feeble from being deprived of cereal or other baby foods.

But that a dull, nonstimulating home environment may cause even a brilliant child's brain to grow "set" in a sluggish pattern.

For a child is supposed to whet his wits daily on stimulating ideas and fascinating stories.

So please cultivate a story-telling hour on the lawn during the summer or in your rumpus room in winter. TV is often wholesome, but TV can't equal the camaraderie and fun of a dramatic story-teller like Judy who is surrounded by the whole neighborhood's flock of youngsters.

A good way to build up those thighs for bathing suit weather ahead is daily exercise. This one uses two weights, such as books.

Skinny Legs a Problem

Knee Bends Build Thighs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Q: "Could you possibly print an exercise in your column which will develop my thighs to make them larger? I have such skinny legs it isn't funny. Also, is it true that exercises can make you taller?"

A: Here are two exercises which will help you. Of course, if you are underweight a gain in poundage would also be helpful. 1. Sit on the floor with your legs straight. Place a weight at the outside of each foot. This can be a book. Lean back on your hands. Now, separate your legs pushing the books along the floor. Return to starting position and continue.

2. Deep knee bends firm and develop the legs. This simply means bending the knees all the way down. Be sure to keep your back erect while you do the bends.

If you cannot keep your balance while keeping your back straight, place one hand on the top of a low-backed chair or on the wall. The only way exercise can make you taller is to make your spine straighter and therefore longer. Some stretching exercises are supposed to do this. Actually, you can add a couple of inches to your height by improving your posture if it is not good.

When you slump, you take inches from your height and from the apparent size of your bustline.

One reason very tall women often have poor posture—they slump in the unconscious wish to look shorter. This is such a mistake because a tall girl or woman who has beautiful carriage is always a knockout!

Q: "Is there an exercise to fill out the face? I have a very thin face, and no make-up seems to cling to my nose."

A: The best way to make the face larger is to gain weight. However, I judge that you do not need to gain all over.

Use one of the liquid powders or cake make-up to create an illusion of a fuller face. A product for covering birthmarks may be helpful.

Facial exercise will help firm and fill out facial contours, but they will not make a very thin face look full.

If you would like to have my directions for facial exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOOSE

QUESTION: What is a moose yard?

ANSWER: The moose is a strange, rough, ungainly-looking beast who looks as if he had just stepped out of the ice age. His great size gives him majesty, but with his long head and his odd nose which seems to hang over his mouth, no one could credit him with good looks.

Moose get along very well in the cold northern forests which are their home. (They range from Maine to Alaska and in the Rocky Mountain region south to Wyoming.)

In summer, the long upper lip serves to scoop around in shallow water and pull up tender water plants to eat. Usually living close to water, they wade out and submerge when flies annoy them.

In winter, moose live by eating buds, moss, the bark of young trees and evergreen foliage. To get at the top-most stems, they will often straddle a tree and bend it down.

As midwinter blizzards make moving difficult, moose gather together in small groups. By trampling the snow a cleared area of several acres is often formed, called a "moose yard."

Here they can move freely, the trees and high snow banks protecting them from the cold wind. The moose is the largest member of the deer family and, in the old world, the moose is called an "elk."

Seek Cause of Goof in Ejection Capsule

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force sought reasons today for the spectacular destruction of a new ejection capsule designed to save pilots of future aerospace planes.

★ ★ ★ The capsule, carrying a man-sized dummy, pulled away from a rocket sled during a 1,000-mile per hour test run Thursday and shattered in a split.

★ ★ ★ If successful, officials said, the test would have been comparable to an ejection from a vehicle going 2,500 mph at 100,000 feet.

No Goals for Howe

Frolic by Red Wings, 9-4

DETROIT (AP) — The Red Wings frolicked through their heaviest goal bombardment in 9½ years last night — and Gordie Howe, struggling for the scoring championship, missed the fun.

All Howe earned was two assists as the Red Wings throttled the New York Rangers, 9-4. But they were enough to widen his lead in the sizzling National Hockey League scoring race.

"It'd be nice to win this thing after all this," sighed Howe, who'll be 35 on March 31. "If age means anything, it age affected me in this game."

Howe was dead tired after the game. Coach Sid Abel gave several extra turns — even playing him on defense — in hopes he'd benefit by the tremendous scoring output.

"But I guess all I did was tire him out," said Abel.

Norm Ullman scored three goals for Detroit and Andre Prosvetov got two others.

PAIDEE LEAD
Howe's two assists enabled him to gain on his three closest rivals in his bid for an unprecedented sixth NHL scoring crown. He has 78 scoring points on 34 goals and 44 assists with five games left.

The scoring crown would be worth an extra $1,500 to Howe, who'll also receive a bonus of $1,000 for his 35th goal.

Andy Bathgate of the Rangers, Frank Mahovlich of Toronto and Stan Mikita of Chicago all picked up one point and fell a little farther behind Howe.

Bathgate was held to one assist and has 74 points. Mahovlich had an assist in the Maple Leafs' 3-3 tie with the Montreal Canadiens and has 72 points.

Protests Title Bout Weigh-In

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gil Clancy, the manager of welterweight champion Emilio Griffith angrily protested again today the decision that the champ must weigh in at his challenger's bullfight for their Saturday night title fight.

In fact, two champions must show up at the hotel where their fights are staying for the checking of poundage.

This, says Clancy, is unfair to the champions, and he lodged an official protest with Chief Inspector Clayton Frye of the California Athletic Commission.

Griffith battles Cuban Luis Rodriguez for the 147-pound crown in the nationally televised bout of a three-fight card at Dodger Stadium, all for world titles.

LEFT CUBAN
Featherweight Davey Moore fights in defense of his 126-pound world laurels against Sugar Ramos, who like Rodriguez left his Cuban homeland when the Castro regime took over.

In the third bout, Battling Torres of Mexico and Roberto Cruz of the Philippines tangle for the vacant junior welterweight championship.

Rodriguez, Ramos and Torres all stay and train at the same downtown hotel. Cruz stays there but trains elsewhere. Only Griffith and Moore have separate camps.

When the weigh-in was scheduled at the hotel, Clancy hit the ceiling, declaring, "I think it's a valid protest. Have it any place except the place where the other two fights are training and staying."

There's also the matter of getting the champion up an hour earlier than the challenger on the day of the fight so he can travel 20 miles from Santa Monica to the site of the weigh-in.

Griffith and Rodriguez are slated to battle at 10 p.m. EST, with the other two bouts following but not on television.

Eagle Stockholders Reject Sale Offer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stockholders of the Philadelphia Eagles have turned down an offer of $3.5 million for the National Football League franchise and indicated they won't consider any offer short of $4-$4.5 million.

Harry Sytk, a drug company executive and a stockholder, disclosed the $3.5 million offer to about 30 principal stockholders Thursday night. He revealed the offer had been made as the stockholders were discussing reports and rumors of prospective buyers. Sytk did not say who made the offer.

The present owners bought the franchise for $250,000 in 1949 from Alexis Thompson, a New York millionaire.

JUST LIKE OLD MAN RIVER

If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense? Conventional pickups have double-wall construction in cabs, doors, lower side panels. Roofs are insulated. Body floors are select wood, not metal. Tailgate chains are wrapped in rubber. If you'd like to examine or drive a new '63 Chevrolet truck, just call us. We'll be right over.

Wild Throw Clips Tigers, 4-3

Mid-Season Style Defeat

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The exhibition campaign is only six games old and already the Tigers are losing in mid-season style.

A wild throw let the Milwaukee Braves nip them 4-3 yesterday. It was just like old times for manager Bob Schefling.

has played at third base in Schefling's plan to get him ready for utility infield duty.

Jim Maknight followed the error with a single for the winning run.

scoreless innings. Aguirre is showing he, too, is back in 1962 form. He hasn't allowed an earned run in his seven innings so far.

The Tigers took their lead with a run in the first on Kline's first long drive into the wind tunnel. They added two more in the fifth on Norm Cash's walk, Phillips' double and Bill Freehan's pinch single.

But the Braves went to work on Phil Regan, who pitched the second four innings, in the sixth. They scored twice on infield out and tied it in the eighth on Lee Maye's single.

Schefling, who suffered while the Tigers mused up countless double play attempts in tight situations last summer, was irked, but restrained himself afterwards. He confined his comments to the Braves' swank new $1 million spring plant.

Nice place, to bad they built it backwards," grumbled Schefling, whose Tigers are 2-4 in the Grapefruit League. "Wow, that wind."

The wind blowing in from the Atlantic pushed two long drives by Al Kaline back into the waiting gloves of the Milwaukee outfield. It also cost Hank Aaron of the Braves a home run.

But the wind had nothing to do with Jake Wood's errant loss that cost the Tigers the game in the ninth inning.

Playing third base in relief of Bubba Phillips, Wood threw wildly on Bob Uecker's bounce. It was a double play situation and had the play gone off smoothly the game would have gone into extra innings.

This was the second time Wood

STRIKING LADIES

Most instructors teach the four-step delivery. It's simple and quite effective. Many of us, however, have found the five-step approach better suited to our physical make-up. Many older players still swear by the three-step method. The principle of the four-step approach is sound for the beginner.

LA VERNE AND JIMMY
"Position For Small Bowler"

Shorter bowlers such as our son, Jimmy, however, sometimes have trouble in timing during the four steps because they must take longer steps in order to reach the foul line. In cases of this nature I recommend starting a step or two before the row of spots closest to the foul line. The best way to find the proper location is to stand at the foul line and pace off the four and a half steps back.

This should be the starting position for a smaller bowler.

Things Were Different When Cousy Set Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was different Feb. 27, 1959.

The Boston Celtics, on their way to a National Basketball Association Championship, defeated the Minneapolis Lakers 123-109 in a game in which Celtic Bob Cousy set a record for assists with 28.

The Warriors already were destined to finish fourth and out of the money in the Western Division while the Hawks had clinched second place but no better.

Afterwards there was a furor. League President Maurice Podoloff demanded an investigation to see whether the players were carrying out their defensive assignments. The 172 points were the most ever scored by an NBA team in one game. The fust eventually died down.

Most of Rodgers' assistance was put to use by Wilt Chamberlain who poured through 39 points for game honors. Bob Pettit scored 35 points for the Hawks.

Cousy's assist mark was tied Thursday night by Guy Rodgers of San Francisco as the Warriors lost 114-109 to the St. Louis Hawks.

City Rec 'A' Champion to Entertain Hoosiers

No investigation was ordered. Hardly anyone noticed since the game itself was meaningless. Only 2,261 turned out to watch the last home contest for the Warriors in their first season on the Pacific Coast.

Pontiac's Class A recreation basketball champion, Southwest Community Club, will play host to Smith Center Recreation from South Bend, Ind., Saturday.

Another is a new series of conventional and cab forward medium-tonnage diesel models, specifically built for substantial savings in city service. But one thing that hasn't changed is price. Life Is All Speed for Moss

NEW YORK (NEA)—Why does a man drive a racing car when death is the ultimate penalty for a slip?

Sterling Moss, one of the great living drivers, compared international grand prix driving to shooting billiards. The English star's comments were aired in a New York restaurant during his visit to the United States to promote British MGs and Austin-Healeys.

"Billiard playing can be fun when you're playing with a friend just for enjoyment," said Moss, as he consumed a hamburger (well done). "But the game takes on more interest if there is money on the table. Auto racing is gambling with the highest chips—your life."

A healed gash across his cheek was a reminder that Moss last spring had almost seen the Master Croupier rake in his chips. His latest accident left him semi-conscious for 38 days.

After the bones and stitches—40 in his face—healed he was still partially paralyzed. After months of therapy his reaction time is still down, enough so that his future in racing hangs in doubt.

LUCKY
Moss obviously considers himself lucky that he is alive, but he is apprehensive about his absence from racing.

"I could climb into a car today," he said, "and give a credible account of myself. On a course where most drivers click off 1:30.2, I could make it in, say 1:31.2."

His somewhat slower reflexes, however, did not stand in the way of Moss collecting a speeding ticket in New York—a talent that seems to come naturally to him. He was once restricted to a bicycle on public streets after an English judge lifted his driving license.

"It was on Route 17 on the way back from the Watkins Glen race," Moss related. "I was driving the little Austin '850' and not wasting time."

"Suddenly I heard a growling noise next to me and was con-

The entire 13-player squad and the officials party boarded with one incident at Starkville, Miss., where they were to pick up Coach McCarthy, then proceeded to East Lansing.

At a press conference Thursday night, McCarthy jokingly said he had to "get his boys up here" to see the fastest breaking team (Loyola)—I ever saw in action."

Coach Harry Combs of Illinois, eighth-rated in the AP poll, led an official cheer for Mississippi State's tournament appearance.

"I say hats off to Mississippi State," declared Combs, whose team tied Ohio State for the Big Ten title but got the NCAA bid because Ohio State appeared more recently.

"I don't care about the political aspects of this thing. I think it was a brave and right thing that McCarthy's team came."

Coach George Ireland, who has four Negroes starters in his talented Loyola line-up commented:

"I feel Mississippi State has a right to be here, no matter what the segregationists say. They may be the best in the country and if they are, they have a right to prove it."

Bolt Leading St. Pete Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—At the brink of 45, Tommy Bolt admits he has mellowed a bit, but he still has the same old ability to hit a golf ball and the same old flair for a phrase.

His fabled temper firmly in check, Bolt tore into the 6,337-yard Lakewood Country Club course Thursday for a round-par 65 and the first round lead in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open.

"I just got a little lucky," he said as he came off the final green.

Red-haired Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas said he could have used a little luck. Maxwell finished with a 66, but complained he missed two golden opportunities for birdies.

Going into today's second round knotted for third place at 67 were Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., and a couple of North Carolinians—veteran Julius Boros of Mid Pines, and 20-year-old Raymond Floyd of Fayetteville.

Floyd, only four months on the PGA tour and yet to earn a dollar, shot his best tournament round yet.

The field of 149 pros and 10 amateurs gave par a beating. Sixty-two of the pros and two amateurs matched or bettered the 36-36-72 standard.

Bolt, who will be 45 later this month, did the job with an eagle and five birdies. The eagle 3 came on the 451-yard sixth hole when he reached the green in two and dropped a 30-footer.

But Parents Can Review Ability

First Graders Should Not Do Homework

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason: I would like to know if it is necessary for first graders who attend classes from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. to study at home.

My little boy, who was seven in February, had a hard time settling down to work this past fall (according to his teacher) and made a C in reading when the first report cards were issued at the end of the year.

He seems to be doing better now. He has two more readers to complete before the end of the year. Dr. Nason will read on the second grade level.

However, his teacher is still sending home supplementary readers and telling him to be sure to study his flash cards at home.

J. W. Crossett, Ark.

Answer: It should not be necessary for your son to complete homework assignments at the first grade level. After being in school seven hours under direct supervision, he should be allowed to play and carry on activities of his own choice.

You can, however, listen to his reading and let him demonstrate his abilities to you. This will give him a feeling of approval at home, and at the same time help him keep up with the others at school.

This is an opportunity for you to keep a close contact with your me and I am most interested in overcoming it.

G. M., Birmingham, N.Y.

Answer: Try reading faster. Practice seeing a whole phrase, understanding what it means, and passing on to the next group of words so rapidly that you can not "think" the words one at a time.

Concentrate on understanding what is said as rapidly as possible. Keep your mind consciously centered on understanding until the habit of "hearing" what you read word by word is displaced.

Dr. Nason will welcome your question addressed to him in care of The Pontiac Press. Those of most general interest will be answered in future columns.

A. C., Sarasota, Fla.

Answer: My manual "You Can Get Better Grades" is just what this young man needs in preparing for resuming his studies. Good luck to him!

A new treatment for tetanus in newborn infants has cut the death-rate dramatically in Cape Town, South Africa. The baby is treated with curare and breathing regulated with artificial respiration.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

If you labor under the apprehension that experts never get into hand contracts, take a look at the seven no-trump I had to play.

Part of the fault lay with my opening bid and rebid, but I still feel that my partner could have been a trifle less ambitious.

Anyway, there I was flying blind in fog at seven no-trump. I did not really expect to make it, but intended to try and there was a slight chance.

I let dummy's queen of diamonds hold the first trick. Then I let the nine of clubs and overtook with my jack. For that nine of clubs play there was a reason.

A heart finesse succeeded and I let another club toward my hand and finessed my eight spot.

Congressmen Dash; We Pay the Cash

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Far away places and strange sounding names..." Remember that song? It keeps coming back like a haunting refrain every time I pick up a March 11 copy of the Congressional Record.

This edition contains the first expense reports filed by our far-flung congressmen on their travels to near and distant lands during 1962.

It gives a body wanderlust just to look at neat columns, so round and firm and fully packed with figures.

What the senators and representatives and their aides reported in the record was the amount of counterpart funds that they spent while taking care of congressional business overseas.

may know, are foreign currencies owned by the U.S. Government. They have been made available to itinerant congressmen more or less for the asking.

In 1962, as far as I could tell, our footloose lawmakers left no counterpart unfurnished. If you arrange their expense accounts in a certain order, they make a sort of poem:

"Pesos in the Philippines;
"In Austria, the schilling;
"In France the franc was
"And believe me they were willing.

"In ancient Greece, the drachma;
"Pestas rain in Spain;
"In Panama, the balboa
"Flows mainly down the drain.

"Cambodia supplies rice;
"Indonesia minis the rupee;
"In Portugal the escudo
"Is used for making whoopee.

"Russian rubles; Swedish kroners:

"In Italy, the lira;
"Balt is spent in Thailand;
"Too bad it isn't nearer.

"Yen in Japan; sol in Peru;
"Plasters from the Vietnamese;
"Sure's sweet in Ecuador,
"But in Brazil, cruzeiro please.

"The Deutschmark in Germany;
"From Yugoslavia, the dinar;
"In Guatemala, it's quetzal.
"Than which there's nothing finer.

"Guilers in the Netherlands;
"Colon in Costa Rica;
"No wonder that our congressmen
"Were heard to cry 'sure-ka!'

80 Children Aboard Runaway Bus Safe

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "I prayed, Dear God, help me. I knew there was very much danger."

With the screams of 80 children ringing in her ears, 34-year-old Mrs. Delta J. Edwards steered a runaway school bus down a steep ramp and across a heavily-traveled boulevard to a safe stop yesterday.

Only three children and Mrs.

Edwards were hurt. They suffered cuts and bruises as the bus glanced off a guard rail and bounced over a curb into a media strip.

The incident occurred where Southeast Freeway crosses double-lane Van Brunt Boulevard. At the foot of the steep ramp, a driver can go north on Van Brunt or enter a circle where cars make a left turn off the boulevard.

Plot Causes Koreans to Quit

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The South Korean Cabinet resigned today to assume moral responsibility for an alleged plot to overthrow the military government.

The cabinet action did not affect the control of the government, which rests in the hands of the military junta headed by Gen. Chung Hee-park. The cabinet members functioned only as administrative heads of various government departments.

Premier Kim Hyun-chul submitted the resignations to Gen. Park and told newsmen they should be accepted.

The cabinet resigned after three days of demonstrations by small groups of military officers and men demanding that the junta continue in power indefinitely.

Thirty persons, including two former members of the junta, were arrested this week and accused of plotting to assassinate Park and other members of his regime.

The government said the plotters planned to establish a ruling junta of their own.

BY DON DURST
Jackson Citizen Patriot
Written for The Associated Press
BROOKLYN — Is Mrs. Douglas
Watkins, the 28-year-old Brooklyn area housewife listed as missing

It depends on who you listen to, according to the officers who are searching for the answer.

A man traveled nearly 100 miles and spent two hours explaining to an officer why he is "completely satisfied the missing woman is dead."

His explanation was not as simple as the spiritualist's, being based upon what he called a "death detector" for lack of a proper name.

The visitor's homemade "DD" machine, he says, scans a photograph (Sketches or paintings won't do) for radiation signals which indicate whether the subject in the picture is dead or alive.

graph into his machine, the visitor said the only radiation reading it registered was the presence of a peg tooth in the upper left front of her mouth.

The absence of all radiation except that generated by Mrs. Watkins' false tooth, the man assured the officer, is the basis upon which he believes she is no longer living.

A check with Mrs. Watkins' dentist revealed that she does have a peg tooth in the upper front of her mouth, but his records do not indicate the exact tooth because it was installed by another dentist.

The phone call from the Lansing spiritualist was preceded by an offer from a Jackson woman to take the search director, Detroit Lt. James Myers of the sheriff's department, to Battle Creek for a seance in an attempt to contact Mrs. Watkins' spirit. He declined.

A local psychiatrist offered to talk to the officer handling the case and the husband of the missing woman and give his professional opinion—without charge.

That, too, was refused on the grounds psychiatric advice had been obtained early in the investigation to determine what could have happened.

CALLS POUR IN
Other suggestions were many and varied.

Telephone calls came from Wisconsin, Cleveland and Miami that Mrs. Watkins had been seen there.

Five or six calls came from women who claim they had been molested by men in laundries at night at least a year ago, but had refrained from reporting it to authorities at that time. Each described her assailant.

And the most persistent rumor which has Mrs. Watkins being found in Ohio, had its origin on Feb. 23, the day of the massive Brooklyn area hunt which produced nothing.

On that day from Fostoria, Ohio, came a phone call about a woman fitting Mrs. Watkins' description. She was seated at the end of a bar—crying, mumbling that she was mixed up and came from Brooklyn.

Rush calls from Fostoria to the Erie State Police Post, then to the Jackson State Police Post and back brought the disclosure that the woman was from a small Michigan town, was emotionally disturbed and had mentioned the Brooklyn case, with which she and other bar patrons were familiar, to attract attention.

These are some of the more interesting leads which investigating officers have received since Mrs. Watkins mysteriously disappeared from the Brooklyn laundry in the middle of the night of Feb. 17.

TIPS FALL OFF
Leads have dwindled down to the point where only four are being investigated now.

The search has become largely the responsibility of Myers, with an occasional assist from Detective Sgt. Charles Southworth of the Jackson State Police Post.

All tips, regardless of how insignificant they appear to be, are a part of the Watkins disappearance file being maintained in Sgt. Southworth's office.

Tips which now are lagging were so abundant after Mrs. Watkins' disappearance it was necessary to assign four men to investigating them in what turned out to be 16-hour work days. All tips have been fruitless so far.

But should you know of some thing that hasn't been brought t light, Lt. Myers and Sgt. Southworth would appreciate hearing from you immediately. There's no one more worth would appreciate hearing. There's no one more in solving this case than those interested two.

steel blades of its 2½-ton propeller.

A second harpoon burst finished off the thrashing whale and the ship was repaired at sea.

Gulls and terns screaming and diving over sea waters along the shore mark where fish are feeding and driving baitfish to the surface of the ship, snapping off the

JFK Departs for Latin Visit

To Stay in Florida Before Conferences

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy starts out today on his third venture in personal diplomacy in Latin America, stopping for the weekend in Palm Beach, Fla., before flying Monday to Costa Rica for a three-day conference with Central American presidents.

Costa Rica President Francisco Orlich expects next week's presidential meeting in San Jose to take effective measures to provide economic aid to Central America and to curb the spread of Castroism.

Security agents bustled themselves with protective measures for President Kennedy and the five other chief executives.

Kennedy will leave Palm Beach Monday morning for San Jose where the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and key Democrats and Republicans from the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees will emphasize U.S. support for Central American economic integration. The President's wife, Jacqueline, who made such a hit when she visited Venezuela, Colombia and Mexico last year, will not be along on this trip.

The conference is largely a business affair and technically not a state visit by Kennedy or the Latin American leaders.

GOP Senators Ready to Push Child Aid Bill

LANSING (P)—Republican senators were set to try for passage today of the bill to bring Michigan under the program of federal aid for dependent children of the unemployed after they successfully fought off Democratic attempts at liberalizing amendments.

Republicans consistently voted down the amendment tries yesterday although Democrats orated and debated for more than an hour.

Sen. Stanley Thayer, R-An Arbor, set the Republican line before debate began.

"We are well aware that a lot of amendments will be placed on the bill in an attempt to discredit it," he said.

"Vote all the amendments down and pass the bill as it is," was his word to the Republicans.

Sen. Charles Blundy, D-Detroit, termed the measure backed by Gov. George Romney "a watered-down version of what the Democrats would like to have."

"The governor's bill is better than nothing, but it doesn't do much," declared Sen. Philip Rahab, D-Iron Mountain, of the measure which has already cleared through the House.

Blundy said Romney has estimated the bill would make 10-131 persons eligible for the federal aid and would save the state and the counties $9 million in the next year.

The weatherman is bending backward to bring a warm week-end to Pontiac area residents. He said tonight will be fair with a high of 30. Temperatures will hit a high of 46 tomorrow.

And that's not all. For the next five days temperatures will average slightly above the normal high of 41 to 47 and normal low of 20 to 28.

Precipitation for the period will total less than one half inch in showers Saturday night and Sunday and again Tuesday or Wednesday.

Southwesterly winds at 5 miles per hour will increase to 15 to 25 m.p.h. Saturday.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 21 degrees. The thermometer reading was 40 at 1 p.m.

Romney Ribs Michigan Dems

Some 300 Republicans went to a GOP rally in Birmingham last night to hear Gov. George Romney talk on a topic they consider quite serious — the proposed new state constitution.

CHECKS LITERATURE — Gov. George Romney looks over literature urging approval of the proposed new state constitution last night before addressing Republicans at Birmingham Community House. With Romney is Keith D. King, of 6906 Holiday Drive, Bloomfield Township, of the county GOP's public relations committee.

"I have a hard time understanding why opponents of the new constitution are so enamored of the old one," Romney said.

"Do they have a sentimental attachment to a document that has helped make Michigan the laughing stock of the nation?"

"They keep talking about a new frontier," he went on, "while in reality it would take heaven and earth to move them away from the drying fires of the old campground."

GENTLE GIBE
Romney needed Democrats about the recently formed Michigan Association of Independent Democrats, organized by three Oakland County attorneys to counteract a public image of a Democratic party controlled by labor union leaders.

"The stated purpose of this organization is to attempt to broaden the base of the Democratic party," the governor noted.

"Just to show how sympathetic I am with their movement," he smiled, "I am calling on all Michigan Republicans to join in a program of aid to undeveloped parties."

"I wish this new organization all the luck in the world," the governor continued. "They will need it. I am delighted that they have finally decided to agree with something Republicans have been saying for years."

Olympic Bill Snags

LANSING (P)—A new delay in the House of Representatives today held up settlement of a dispute over two amendments to a bill setting up an authority to build an Olympic stadium in Detroit.

Republicans, who control the House, caucused on a compromise agreement reached by members of a legislative conference committee and came out without a final decision.

LANSING (P)—A bill setting up an authority to build an Olympic stadium in Detroit was headed for Gov. George Romney's desk today after members of a legislative conference committee reached a compromise agreement on two disputed amendments. The compromise overcame the last obstacle in the path of legislation aimed at helping to land the 1968 Olympic Games for the Motor City.

In a meeting today, three senators and three state representatives agreed to lift a $38-million ceiling on bonding power for the stadium authority while retaining a restriction that no bonds may be sold before March 31, 1964.

The bill had bogged down on the last lap of its trip to Romney's desk when the Senate balked yesterday on accepting the two amendments attached by the House in passing the measure.

The compromise agreement was reported to newsmen by the governor himself after a meeting with members of the conference committee. Romney termed the outcome "completely satisfactory to all parties."

Reaching the governor earlier was a companion bill setting up an increase in horse racing parimutuel taxes to guarantee payment of the bonds from the state general fund.

House Republican leaders had supported the amendments to the legislative conference committee to iron out the problem.

Bus-Service Debate Heated at Hearing

LANSING (P)—The Senate Education Committee today was mulling over the heated arguments it heard both for and against proposed legislation to require school districts to furnish transportation for children enrolled in nonpublic schools.

Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, sponsor of the measure, said he thought proponents had enough votes to get the legislation out of committee with a recommendation for passage.

The bill has been signed by 28 of the 34 Senate members as co-sponsors.

Gov. George Romney has said he is for the proposal in principle but has some reservations about the added cost to the school districts and the state.

The measure is expected to be heavily amended, however, before it is reported out of committee.

One of the principal objections of some school districts is that it would require them to furnish transportation for nonpublic school children living as far as eight miles outside the district. An amendment is being prepared to eliminate this provision.

More than 50 persons crowded into a small Senate committee room and overflowed into an adjoining room at a hearing on the proposal last night.

Among them was Merrill Bates, a member of the Bloomfield Hills School Board.

The board, he said is opposed to the idea of paying for the bus transportation of parochial school children.

"When a person rejects a public school district they should go along with the responsibility of that rejection," he said.

The state would be helping to underwrite the expenses of the nonpublic schools through the bill, he said, and they could use the money saved "to build swimming pools or anything else."

GIVE OUT CONTRACTS
In other action the school board awarded contracts conditionally for construction of a new elementary school on Cottage Street.

Work went to low bidders "subject to successful negotiation and revisions" that are expected to bring the cost within a $470,000 budget.

Low bids submitted totaled $540,000.

A low bid of $392,000 for general construction was submitted by Schaefer Construction Co. of Pontiac. Eames & Brown Inc. submitted a low bid of $116,000 or mechanical trades.

The low bid for electrical work was $31,960 tendered by Br 111 Electric Co. of Pontiac.

The new school is scheduled for completion by Nov. 1.

The board also directed architects to prepare preliminary plans for a new half-million-dollar school administration office building at the Civic Center.

Staff studies which would increase the proposed $10-million school budget for 1964 by another $34,147 were submitted to the board by school administrators.

They call for 17 additions to schools' staffs, including teachers, two librarians, a reading specialist and another high school counselor, additional textbooks worth $8,818, and repairs to school buildings.

The studies were taken under advisement.

The board also authorized Whitmer to submit proposals for two programs under the federal Manpower Re-training Program which would provide evening adult courses in practical nursing and the secretarial field.

Release Two Area Men in Waterford Slaying

Waterford Township police released two men yesterday after lie detector tests indicated they had no knowledge of the Wednesday slaying of Aubrey Posey.

Posey, 34, of 571 Crescent Lake Road, was found dead Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The body, found in a rear bedroom, bore two stab wounds, in the chest.

Given polygraph tests were Charles Gilbert, 2385 Watkins Lake Road, Posey's brother-in-law and Lawrence Cunningham, of 56 Sanderson Street.

They told police they discovered the body when they went to the home after learning Posey's car had been parked at a Waterford Township restaurant for three days.

Gilbert told police he noticed the car at Bob's Chicken House, 497 Elizabeth Lake Road, Sunday. He saw it in the same spot Wednesday.

Reds Denounce Central American Meeting

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Communist world has pulled out all the stops to denounce President Kennedy's meeting, opening Monday, with Central American presidents. An attempt to provoke violence during the meeting could not be ruled out.

The meeting will be in San Jose, Costa Rica, and will be concerned with the menace of Fidel Castro's communism in the Central American area.

RYAN

Costa Rica's Communist party appears to have arranged an alibi in advance should its intent on harassing the meeting succeed in breaking through the heavy security arrangements.

Manuel Mora Valverde, a leader of the Costa Rican party, announced publicly that the Communist party would not accept the blame for any "physical measures against the presidents" during the meeting.

"The possibility exists that there are persons who will seek to promote a great international provocation," Mora Valverde said in a radio speech. "But I affirm I hope that Costa Ricans could never be included among these provocateurs."

From Moscow, in Spanish-language broadcasts to Central America, have come denunciations of the meeting as "a new plot against Cuba and the peoples of Central America." Moscow calls the meeting an attempt to form a Central American military bloc.

News Analysis

to attack Cuba and hold back revolution elsewhere in Latin America. In what could be called to Communist-Castroist action, broadcasts repeat that "the people will thwart this new criminal plan."

The Castroist People's Vanguard

party of Costa Rica has been issuing declarations in leaflet form appealing to the people to "raise the standard of national sovereignty and peace as well as to fight for the enforcement of the principles of nonintervention and the right of nations for self-determination."

Daniel Oduber, Costa Rican foreign minister, has not ruled out the possibility of a try from Cuba at violence during the meeting. He announced that whatever security measures are taken will be "directed against small hostile groups sent here to obstruct the presidents' conference."

MAJOR OBSTACLE

Central American authorities consider Havana-directed subversion to be a major obstacle in the way of progress in the area.

Presidents of the United States, Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama will discuss ways of countering the Cuban activity. Some Central Americans are reported demanding all action short of war.

The presidents also are going to talk about economic problems and how to improve standards of living. This will include a discussion of the Central American common market, to which the U.S. President probably will pledge significant help.

There is apparent agreement among the leaders that such help is likely to be ineffective unless ways are found to keep terrorist action from frustrating the effort.

May Cost Less to Build Drain

Bid $300,000 Under River Project Estimate

It may cost some $300,000 less to build the Clinton River drain through downtown Pontiac than originally estimated.

Construction bids for the big project were opened today at the Oakland County Drain Commission office.

R. E. Dailey & Co. of Southfield submitted the low bid of $1,895,521.88 according to a preliminary tabulation by consulting engineers, Jones, Henry & Williams, of Toledo.

The low bid is $301,478.12 below the engineers' estimated construction cost of $2,197,000, according to drain commissioner Daniel Barry.

There were seven bids submitted. The Dailey bid was about $21,000 below the second lowest bid of $1,917,335.80 submitted by Miller - Thompson Co. of Southfield.

FINAL TABULATION

Consulting engineers will present their final tabulation to the Oakland County Drain Board within a few days.

Barry said the board should let the contract early next week.

Tobey Construction Co. of Detroit and the C. A. Hull Co. of Bloomfield Hills submitted a combined bid. The Tobey-Hull bid, third lowest, was $2,089,724.82.

Other bidders and bid amounts were F. H. Martin Co., Detroit, $2,094,251.60; Greenfield Construction Co., Detroit, $2,234,295.50; R. D. Baker Co., Southfield, $2,352,887.50; and Santucci Construction Co., Skokie, Ill., $3,496,999.20.

Michigan Man Dies on Gallows in Iowa

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI) — A condemned kidnaper was shot to his death on the gallows shortly before dawn today, nourished by a single olive — the fruit of the tree of peace.

One olive — with seed — was the lone last request made by Victor Harry Pegue, 27, before he walked the last 30 yards from his "death row" cell in the maximum security building at the Iowa State Penitentiary here.

He maintained his protests of innocence.

Pegue, a native of St. Johns, Mich., plunged through the gallows trap at 6:34 a. m. (Pontiac time) and was pronounced dead 9 minutes 45 seconds later at 6:44 a. m.

As the condemned man walked into the deathhouse, he looked briefly around the room.

Then he quickly fixed his gaze on the backs of two priests walking ahead of him, and followed them with head tilted slightly downward to mount the 16 wooden steps to the gallows platform.

sale of Chevrolet cars to discount houses.

The same complaint, prosecutors announced after acquittal, will be pursued as a civil matter in a suit filed earlier, as a parallel to the criminal complaint.

Judge Clarke noted that General Motors Corp. and the dealers' associations never denied that they attempted to suppress Chevrolet sales. But, he added, the Justice Department failed to prove this was an unfair restraint of trade.

Under the franchise system, authorized dealers are granted exclusive auto sales rights in a given area.

Authorized Chevrolet dealers in Southern California began in 1963 to wholesale cars to discount houses.

U.S. Watches—Silently

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union appears to have fallen behind in fulfillment of its promise to get several thousand troops out of Cuba by mid-March but indications are that a large group will be leaving Havana this week-end.

The U.S. government is keeping a close watch on the situation. For the past several days, normally informative officials have declined to discuss numbers of troops that have left Cuba so far. The problem appears to be one of analyzing and checking intelligence reports to determine exactly what has happened.

According to the best information available in official quarters here, the situation presently is this:

Since the removal promise was made to the United States Feb. 18, about 1,800 or 1,900 persons have left Cuba on four Soviet ships. The latest of those vessels to sail, the Grizta, left Havana Sunday. It was reported by the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda to be carrying aviation mechanics, artillery experts, engineering troops and tank soldiers.

Another Soviet ship, the 15,200-ton Admiral Nakhimov, is in Havana harbor and there are reports in the Cuban capital it will depart this weekend with about 2,000 Soviet military specialists.

So far as U.S. authorities are concerned, the number of people who have sailed on Soviet ships during the past four weeks—around 1,800 or 1,900—is considered fairly definite but in identification of those departing is by no means certain. For example, it is assumed here that many undoubtedly were Soviets, but some could have been Cubans going to the Soviet Union. Some could also have been Soviet civilian advisers to the Castro government.

SOVIET CLASH

A Cuban exile leader said last night in Miami that his underground agents reported that Soviet troops were used to quell an uprising in a province in southern Cuba.

Seven Russian soldiers, including an officer, were killed in the clash with "Cuban patriots," said Dr. Luis Conte Agero, leader of the Christian Anti-Communist Front and the National Resistance Front.

Conte called upon Defense Secretary Robert McNamara to investigate the report.

Fail to Agree on Closing Law

6 Counties Discuss Topic in Farmington

Supervisors representing six counties in the Detroit metropolitan area yesterday failed to agree on a united approach to Michigan's new Saturday-or-Sunday business closing law.

The new law, which empowers each county board of supervisors to void it if it wishes, received strong opposition from some counties as well as indifference from others.

The law, which goes into effect March 28, was the main topic of discussion at a meeting in Farmington of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

Representatives of Monroe County indicated the law would be voided there, but Macomb County said it probably would be left standing there.

Oakland County took no stand. Nor did Wayne County.

Wayne County representatives argued, however, for what the supervisors failed to agree on—uniformity in the metropolitan area.

A suit challenging the law's legality has been filed in Wayne County Circuit Court by 61 discount stores in 13 southern Michigan counties.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan has announced its backing of a movement to repeal the legislation.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors' miscellaneous committee was to consider a recommendation on it at a meeting today.

But it may schedule a public hearing before making any recommendations at the March 21 meeting of the board.

ty besides dividing the county into the 18th and 19th districts is "obviously political" and "cannot be justified on any moral, legal or ethical grounds."

They also found fault with a plan introduced by Sen. Henry Roberts and in the House by Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township.

Roberts' and Hogan's plan would split Oakland County into only two districts — the state's new 19th, received as a result of the 1980 census, and an 18th, reduced from its present size encompassing the entire county.

Their plan would put Pontiac, the western three-fifths of the county and Livingston and Lapeer counties in the new 19th. It would reduce the 18th to the eastern two-fifths of the county's area (except Pontiac).

Democrats criticize Roberts' and Hogan's proposal for "a gerrymandered strip only six miles wide in Brandon Township" as the only connection between Oakland and Lapeer counties.

They also object on the basis of population, which they say is "the only criterion for congressional representation."

Under Roberts' and Hogan's plan, the new 19th would have a population of about 336,000, and the reduced 18th would have 435,000. The 18th presently includes the entire Oakland County population of 890,603 (1960 census figure).

The figure considered "ideal" for a district is 411,000, and Republicans say they want to keep the districts within 15 to 20 per cent of that figure.

One of the Democratic proposals would put a population of 385,100 in the 19th and 385,534 in the 18th. The other would have 381,153 in the 19th and 389,589 in the 18th.

Democrats suggest:

(1) That the new 19th also include the townships of Pontiac, Orion, Oxford, Addison, Oakland and Avoon, leaving in the 18th only the populous southeastern four townships of Bloomfield, Troy, Southfield and Royal Oak and the cities they encompass.

(2) Or that the 19th include the county area north of 14-Mile Road except Troy and the 18th have the five townships and their cities south of 14-Mile Road along with Troy.

Under Roberts' and Hogan's plan, both the new 19th and the 18th would have voted about 59 per cent Republican in the 1962 congressional election, according to Roberts.

James M. McNeely, executive assistant to Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin, said the Democrats' proposed redistricting also would result in new districts that would be Republican, but at least one of them would be close.

Democrats charge that the GOP proposals violate the principles of shaping districts to be compact, contiguous and as nearly rectangular as possible while adhering to county lines.

They urged Romney to convince GOP legislators to adopt a plan "rationally consistent with geographic population, distribution, and the political, business, commercial, industrial and economic interests of all the people of Oakland County."

Delay Action on Request for Teen Rec Center

BIRMINGHAM — Action on a recommendation that a summer teen-age center be established at Seaholm High School was postponed by the city recreation board last night.

The recommendation by the Citizens Council for Youth Physical Fitness would provide for the use of the school swimming pool during afternoons, Monday through Saturday. In addition, the council proposed that refreshments be served.

Recreation director Donald Martin said today that the main stumbling block is the food concession. He said a study is being made of the problem and will be presented to board members later this month.

Martin questioned whether the council's proposals would fit in the department budget.

Membership in such a teen-age center would be promoted and sold by the area PTAs on a first-come, first-serve basis if the program is adopted, Martin said.

The Birmingham Rotary Annals will hear a discussion on the Oakland County Children's Center at their Monday meeting.

Speaking will be William L. Kopp, superintendent of the center.

Harper Lee Fat, but Uncomplacent

Successful Author 'Still Running Scared'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Success has had a very bad effect on me," said Harper Lee, smiling. "I've gotten fat — but extremely uncomplacent."

"I'm running just as scared as before," Harper Lee, 36, is the author whose first novel, a story of life in a small Southern town, lit up the literary world in 1960 like a lightning flash.

The novel is "To Kill a Mockingbird."

It has since sold six million copies, won a Pulitzer Prize, and been made into a film recently nominated for an Academy award.

Miss Lee, a sweet-faced, dark-eyed woman with a firm sense of self-discipline, is now at work on her second book at her home in Monroeville, Ala., where she lives with her sister, Alice, a lawyer.

"I am more of a rewriter than a writer," she remarked. "I write at least three drafts. I've been writing since I was a kid of 7."

But I have systematically thrown away most of what I have written. It was a form of self-training."

She has found her hobby, golf, valuable as a source of inspiration.

"Playing golf is the best way I know to be alone and still be doing something," she remarked. "You hit a ball, think, and take a walk."

"I do my thinking walking. I do my dialog, talking it out to myself."

To Miss Lee, a fountain, springing from the past, and she feels personally a great debt to the heritage of past authors.

"I don't keep up with contemporary stuff," she said. "I'm a late 18th and 19th century type. I think that in the South we are still in the Victorian age in some ways—and in some ways I don't want to get out of it."

Her own favorite writer is Charles Lamb, the 19th century essayist, who spent most of his life caring for his periodically insane sister, Mary.

"He had an appalling existence," said Harper, but he sparkles and glows for me. He never wears out."

Miss Lee, who wrote most of her first novel at night after working as an airlines clerk during the day, is a good-humored but firm believer in the old-fashioned virtue of self-responsibility. She has no sympathy for the beatnik tendency to blame one's personal plight on society.

"Self-pity is a sin," she said. "It is a form of living suicide. Most of us in the Western world make our own lives. Life doesn't make us. We create our events."

"Nobody asked us to be born. But while we're here we should do the best we can with what we have. We have so many more opportunities than our parents."

"They are," she said; "the two greatest geniuses America has produced—Robert E. Lee and Tom Jefferson."

But while we're here we should do the best we can with what we have. We have so many more opportunities than our parents."

Politicos' Wit Entertains Newsmen

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Other than death, taxes, and defeat at the polls, few things are so disconcerting to a politician as making a good speech which receives no publicity.

Rather than permit such a fate to overtake three political leaders whose eyes are firmly fixed on MONTGOMERY the White House, we hereby offer a few excerpts delivered before a stellar all-male audience the other evening at the famed Gridiron Club.

This organization, composed of 50 outstanding newspaper men in the nation's capital, religiously refrains from reporting the speeches delivered at its annual extravaganza.

However, these same newsmen who bitterly assail "managed news" in government have yet to figure a way to seal the lips of their male guests, after the party is over.

As a consequence, some of the saltier portions of the speeches eventually find their way into print, thus preventing the politicians' "throw-away" humor from being thrown away.

The three speakers this year were President Kennedy; his 60 presidential rival, Sen. Hubert Humphrey; and a potential GOP presidential aspirant, Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

JFK, only too well aware of the furor over managed news, brought down the house with his opening salutation: "Fellow managing editors."

In mock seriousness, he then expressed regret that he had to bring them somber news. The Soviet Union, he said, had just taken another provocative action in an area of the world "in which I have a very special interest."

Referring to the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's daughter and son-in-law to Pope John in Rome, Kennedy said intelligence reports indicate that thousands of Marxist Bibles have already been concealed in Vatican caves.

ROMNEY POKES FUN

Gov. Romney, a member of the Mormon faith, had a bit of fun at the President's expense by announcing that the burgeoning Kennedy clan held no political fears for him. After all, he reminded, his own grandparents practiced polygamy, and he therefore has several thousand cousins throughout the United States.

Referring to the overtime Senate debate over whether to seat Reed Smoot, because of his Mormon religion, Romney quoted Boles Perseus as saying: "I'd rather have in government a polygamist who doesn't poly than a monogamist who doesn't monog."

Sen. Humphrey, beaten out of the Democratic presidential nomination by JFK, proved the handiest with the stiletto. Referring to the White House aspirations of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, he wisecracked in this vein:

"We New Frontiersmen question whether the American people would stand for a president who might appoint his brother David attorney general, his brother Winthrop to head the Peace Corps, and who might even support his brother Lawrence to run for the U. S. Senate. Everyone knows that we of the Kennedy administration do not believe in political dynasties."

The Minnesota senator said he had been complaining to the President about the West Coast getting most of the defense contracts.

"I argued that these contracts ought to be moving eastward, but my argument has proved too persuasive," he kidded.

Then, turning to youthful senator, Teddy Kennedy, of Massachusetts, he wailed: "Teddy, please leave a little something for the Middle West."

Pretending to congratulate his one-time rival on his presidential appointments, Humphrey added: "It's just marvelous to have a Republican secretary of the Treasury (Douglas Dillon), because it makes the pain so bipartisan."

Romney OKs Beetle Bill

LANSING (U) — Gov. Romney has signed a bill making $225,000 immediately available to the State Agriculture Department to pay for its Japanese beetle eradication program in southeastern Michigan and its cereal beetle eradication program in southwestern Michigan.

Russian Bands Honk Along, Kepping Fingers Crossed

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—Moving from Stalin-type communism to the present variety, the party leaders are tripping over themselves in trying to keep step with dance music.

When the Saints Go Marching In.
"Take The A Train."
"September in The Rain."
"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."
"Moon Glow."

And Louis Armstrong's hot version of Kurt Weill's "Mack The Knife."

NO ARRESTS, BUT . . .
"It's very hard on musicians," said the leader of a sprightly five-piece outfit playing six nights a week in one of Moscow's brightest night spots. "You see, we don't quite know what to do. The dancers want it. They play it, but we keep looking over our shoulders."

He said that it is inconceivable in 1963 that a Soviet musician could go to jail for playing jazz, but he said a man might lose a good job for persisting in playing it—and nothing else.

Proclaiming himself a modernist, he said:

"What a lot of us would really like to play is cool jazz (pronounced khloidy dzhazz in Russian) but I'm afraid that's frowned upon much as abstract art is frowned upon."

He knew his subject, for he reeled off a list of modernists, including Dave Brubeck and Miles Davis.

The leader of a band that occasionally plays at a Moscow youth cafe also insisted he wanted to play cool jazz.

"You Americans don't have it all your way any more," he insisted. "The Czechs—ah, now, they are really playing revolutionary jazz stuff. It's very cool."

BENNY PASSE
I talked to a lot of Soviet musicians about Benny Goodman's tour of the U.S.S.R. last year.

"The public loved him," said one. "As for the musicians, we admired his tone and his execution, but he was too old-fashioned far too old-fashioned for us."

What sort of music are Soviet dancers going to dance to—Glinka, Shostakovich, Prokofiev or Chai-kovsky?

Musicians are developing a sort of compromise by stepping up the tempo of Soviet popular songs. Some of them make good listening and good dancing.

Highly popular are "Falling

Snow" and "Winter in Leningrad. Best of all is one by the veteran popular composer, Soloviev-Sedov called "Podmoskovnye Vechera." British jazzman Kenny Ball took that tune, rearranged it and recorded it as "Midnight in Moscow." It became a hit in Western Europe and the United States.

It is estimated that a total of 77 billion people have lived on earth. About three billion or 4 per cent of that total are alive today.

WHY LOBSTERS TASTE BETTER IN MICHIGAN THAN IN MAINE

In Michigan, you see, lucky lobster-lovers enhance the delicate, subtle flavor of this hard-shelled crustacean by gently sipping artfully-made, fine Cask Wine with each bite. Take pity on the folks who can't buy Cask Wines anywhere in Maine. Be happy you live in Michigan, where delightful Cask Wines are as near to you as your favorite supermarket, tavern or liquor store.

2 Sentenced in Slaying of Salesman

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI)—Two teen-agers, who admitted killing an auto salesman so they could joy ride in a white convertible, yesterday were sentenced to terms of 60 years to life.

Edward Fontaine, 18, of Lacombe, N.H., and Joseph Mackay, 17, of New York City, showed an emotion when State Supreme Court Justice Harold R. Soden sentenced them for bludgeoning to death Harold Stratton, 66, Dec. 2.

Officials said the youths have shown little or no emotion, remorse or fear since their arrest. The youths were ordered to the Elmira Reception Center and will be assigned to one of the state's maximum security prisons. Correction officials said it will be at least 20 years before they are eligible for parole consideration. Fontaine and Mackay, seniors at Mount Assumption Institute here, were allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder after the Clinton County grand jury returned a first degree indictment. Conviction on the latter charge would have carried the death penalty.

"I cannot understand any reasoning for this senseless killing," Soden said. "It was a planned, deliberate, cold murder."

Mrs. Rita Mackay, Joseph's mother, sobbed in the courtroom. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fontaine, Edward's parents, sat quietly. Maj. Donald B. Stratton, the victim's son, sat expressionless through the proceedings. About 200 persons filled the small chamber.

Plane Forced Down by Engine Trouble

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—A four-engine American Airlines DC6 (Flight 231) made an unscheduled stop here last night when trouble developed in one engine.

An airlines spokesman said the plane, carrying 36 passengers and four crew members, developed the malfunction after take-off from Rochester, N.Y.

The plane was bound from Boston to Syracuse, Rochester, Detroit and Chicago. Passengers continued on a different plane.

Actor Leaves Hospital Bed

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Van Johnson, released from Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after surgery for skin cancer, says he plans to return to work on a movie next Monday.

Hospital spokesmen said the removal of the malignancy in his left thigh was a complete success.

Johnson, 46, entered the hospital last Thursday and left Thursday. He smiled and gave a "V" for victory sign as he left.
