Take State Awards for 1958

'WINGED VICTORY'—This photograph titled "Winged Victory" took second place in the "Pictorial" classification of the Michigan Press Assn. photo awards contest for 1958. Snapped by Pontiac Press photographer Tom Gerls, it was taken at about 4 p.m. Feb. 20, 1958, shooting into the sun under clear skies. His Press Speed Graphic, with 4.7 optar 135 mm. lens, was set for 1/100 at f. 11, with a yellow filter. The winter subject was located next to the Troy water tower.

Ike to Give Talk on Berlin; 'No Retreat,' Taylor States

Army Chief Says U. S. Firmness Can Deter Reds

General Points Out Way to Avert Showdown at This Time

WASHINTON (AP) — The Soviet Union can be deterred from "a final showdown at this time," predicts Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, if the United States is determined "to go to war if necessary for Berlin."

"We must be willing to go all the way down the road," says the Army chief of staff. "We can't turn back at any point."

Asked if this country has "clear-cut plans to meet the Berlin crisis in any eventuality that may confront us," Taylor said:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff do."

Taylor, himself a member of the Joint Chiefs, expressed conviction the United States and its European allies have the strength to carry out those plans.

Recalling the Soviet's blockade of Berlin in 1948, Taylor testified that many top military leaders now regard the U. S.-Berlin airlift as a mistake.

Force should have been tried, Taylor said, when the Soviets blocked ground routes into Berlin.

"Instead we yielded to a challenge which may well have been a bluff, Taylor said.

"We will never know to what extent the U.S.S.R. would have gone to maintain the ground blockade by force."

Hearing Told Tale of Delays by Straley

'Chief Urged Flammable Material for Uniforms'

By MAX E. SIMON

Suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley came under attack last night for urging the use of flammable material for new police uniforms.

★ ★ ★

The new charge against Straley was leveled by Robert A. Stierer, administrative assistant to City Manager Walter K. Willman, as the city rested its case before the Civil Service Commission.

Stierer told the Commission that new uniforms still have not been issued to police officers, although the City Commission authorized their purchase for police and firemen on Jan. 3, 1957.

On numerous occasions he asked Straley about the specifications, only to be told the chief was "looking into the matter," Stierer said.

After the Commission authorized new uniforms, Stierer said, Straley and the fire chief met with city officials on Jan. 30 and agreed to hand in uniform specifications to the city purchasing agent in two months.

The fire department specifications were handed in on time, but nothing from Straley, he said.

When he asked Straley about the delay in July, the chief told him a committee of high ranking officers had been appointed to "make a report," Stierer testified.

In the winter of 1957, he again asked Straley for specifications, the city official stated, but was told there were many decisions concerning the uniforms about which the chief had not made up his mind about.

"He told me he hadn't decided on the style of the buttons, what kind of braid should be on officers' uniforms and caps," Stierer said.

"In the spring of 1958 I was pretty pessimistic about getting specifications from the chief, but I still had hopes," Stierer told commissioners. "In the summer, I resigned myself to the fact that I wasn't going to get them in the near future."

Stierer said he and Willman urged Public Safety Director George D. Eastman to move swiftly on submitting uniform specifications when the director arrived in Pontiac Oct. 7.

Instead of turning his reports on uniforms over to Eastman, the chief submitted specifications to the city purchasing agent on Oct. 21, Stierer said.

The material recommended for summer uniforms was flammable, Stierer testified. Any spark would have burned a hole two to four inches in diameter before being extinguished, he said.

PROVEN FLAMMABLE

Hanger said a Detroit Police Dept. inspector long ago told him the material Straley wanted was flammable, and had been so proven in Detroit police labs.

The same conclusion about the material was reached in lab tests of Michigan State University's Home Economics Dept., Hanger said.

In his specifications, Hanger said, the chief requested uniforms for corporals although the Pontiac police force has never had any corporals on the force.

The lieutenant also criticized

Monday Speech to Stress That We're Prepared

No Surprises Expected in Address on All TV, Radio Networks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The The White House announced late yesterday that President Eisenhower will speak from his office for 30 minutes over all major television and radio networks starting at 9:30 p.m., EST, Monday night.

Eisenhower's report to the nation Monday night on the Berlin situation will contain no surprises and set forth no new policies, informed sources predicted today.

The talk could be regarded mainly as an educational effort, the sources said, in a move to put the Berlin situation into perspective as the President sees it.

Eisenhower's decision to go on the air was reported to have been prompted in part by continuing contentions among Democrats in Congress that the nation's defenses are inadequate to meet the situation.

The President will be making his report to the nation just four days in advance of a meeting with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for discussion of the Berlin situation and the problem of Germany generally.

But he also was reported ready to make clear his willingness to ease tension by negotiations toward settling the entire German issue.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, asked whether any new development in the Berlin situation had prompted Eisen-

Veterans' Fund Felt Only Hope

GOP Vows No Payless Days

LANSING (UPI) — Republican leaders today all but promised there will be no payless paydays in Michigan.

Spokesmen for both parties saw the 50-million-dollar Veterans' Trust Fund as the only source for emergency funds now that the Senate has killed off hopes of putting a compromise bond plan on the April 6 ballot.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams claims Senate Republicans "have in all probability doomed the state to a financial disaster in late April or May."

★ ★ ★

"Twelve years of procrastination" by a Republican-controlled Legislature is the chief reason for Michigan's money woes, Williams asserted today.

The state was set in 1946, he said, when voters amended the Constitution to divert five-sixths of the highly productive three-cent sales tax to schools, cities and townships. Formerly, it all went to the state.

Williams sent his explanation to editors of between 200 and 300 newspapers across the country, seeking to combat effects of a magazine article which labeled Michigan a "welfare state." The article, in U.S. News & World Report, blamed excessive expenditures and high taxes for the growing cash emergency.

In earlier Legislative sessions, Williams plugged for a four to six per cent corporations profits tax to provide needed income. This year, he came out for a graduated income tax and a five per cent corporation profits levy, paired with cuts in other areas, in a plan to boost revenues 140 million dollars a year.

A "tremendous population growth" was the chief factor in raising state government costs, the governor said. From 1950 to 1957, populations shot up 21 per cent, a rate exceeded among the large states only by California and Florida.

Still, he said, Michigan stands 31st in per capita state and local tax burdens in proportion to personal income, 25th in bonded indebtedness and 34th in public welfare expenditures.

Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, Republican majority leader, accused Williams and Democrats of stalling progress in solving the state's cash difficulties by playing "die-hard politics."

Beadle said they were trying to force a personal income tax on

Wet Weekend in Store for Area

A wet weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents, the weatherman says. Rain and windy with a low of 32 degrees is tonight's forecast.

Sunday will be rainy and a little colder with the high near 40. Today's light variable winds will become easterly and increase to 20-30 miles an hour late tonight.

Twenty-nine was the lowest temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 35 at 1 p.m.

Drop in Revenue Slows Up Park

Development of Stony Creek Project Cut Back This Year

Further development of the proposed Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's Stony Creek public park, northeast of Rochester, will be cut because 1959 revenues from five participating counties will be some $600,000 less than usual.

The voluntary slowdown is due to the large social welfare costs last year in Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the HCMA, said the authority's board of commissioners had agreed to ask for only one-fifth instead of the usual one-quarter millage charge to each county this year.

This stipulation was made, Hallenbeck said, as the authority and county officials awaited a court ruling on whether the annual levying of one-quarter mill would be a part of or outside the 15-mill statutory limitation.

Commissioners agreed should the State Supreme Court place it outside the limitation, they would ask for the customary one-quarter. Otherwise, a lower charge would be assessed so the extra money could help in decreasing welfare costs.

Since 1944 the authority has been using the money from the tax collections for building and maintaining public parks in the five-county area.

One such park is the proposed Stony Creek located between 26 Mile road on the south, 29½ Mile road on the north, Sheldon road on the west and Mound road on the east.

The Supreme Court in January said the authority's tax collections must be made a part of the 15-mill limitation. So the agreement was invoked.

"It means that we will get more

Sports Thrills Don't Last But Christ's Are Eternal

By KEITH WEGEMAN
American Olympic Ski Jumper

"This is the greatest thrill life has to offer," I said to myself as I stood poised at the top of the world's highest ski jump at Oberstdorf, Germany.

WEGEMAN

And suddenly I was in the air, hanging motionless over the white knoll below—lost in the mystery of another world altogether. After what seemed an eternity, I landed 16 feet beyond the 400-foot mark, the longest jump an American skier had ever made. But mere statistics could never describe what I had just experienced.

Two months later I was aboard a plane bound back to the United States. It was a good time for thinking. There had been so little of it in my life. Always, energies had been spent doing things.

From the time I strapped on my first pair of skis at the age of three I'd been living from one moment of high adventure to the next. Boxing, pole-vaulting, high diving, mountain climbing in the summer, football in the fall, and in the winter—most thrilling of all—skiing.

I don't remember when I first began to want to make the Olympic ski team; as long as I can remember it had been the

2 Photos Win Awards for Us

Press Cameramen Get Honors for Pictures Published Last Year

Two Pontiac Press photographers have won awards in the Michigan Press Assn. photographic contest for pictures published in 1958.

A striking winter scene, "Winged Victory," published in the Pontiac Press in February 1958, won Tom Gerls second place in the "Pictorial" classification. Last year he took a first place award in the "Women's Section" class.

More than 40 newspapers throughout the state competed for the top honors in this year's contest. The papers are divided into five different classes depending mainly upon circulation.

Gerls was shooting into a bright afternoon sun using a yellow filter to capture the icy subject that made him a two-time award winner.

The other Pontiac Press winner was Eddie Vanderworp with his picture of an old farm house and cornfield. It was titled "Autumn." The detailed photo which so closely captured the mood of a bleak late fall afternoon won an honorable mention in the "Feature" class.

John Seator, chief Press photographer, attended yesterday's association meeting at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center in East Lansing when the awards were announced. He accepted the two prizes for Gerls and Vanderworp at the awards banquet today.

'We'd Be Ready by December'

But Chrysler President Still Cautious About Small Car Outlook

CHICAGO (AP) — L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corp., said yesterday if General Motors and Ford announce smaller cars this fall, "We would be in production in December" with Chrysler's small car.

★ ★ ★

Colbert, attending a regional meeting of dealers, told a news conference the Chrysler offering for the small car field would be a newly designed six-passenger vehicle—not a smaller Plymouth.

It would have a 105- to 110-inch wheelbase and a front-mounted six-cylinder engine. No name has been selected.

"Assuming Chrysler chose to produce this car," he said, "we probably also would export it."

He said some consideration had been given to turning out the smaller vehicle at the Simca facilities in France, but only for the foreign market. Chrysler has a one-fourth interest in Simca.

Colbert stressed that Chrysler has not decided to produce the smaller car.

He said he feels there were "a few ifs" in the recent Ford Motor Co. report indicating a decision has been made to produce a smaller Ford product.

hower to speak, replied "No, sir."

The address will be the first such nationwide report on a foreign policy situation since last Sept. 9 when Eisenhower discussed Red China's campaign to force Chinese Nationalist troops off Quemoy Island.

CONGRESS REACTS

News that the President had scheduled the address brought reaction today from some members of Congress.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (DAla) said: "I'm glad the President is going on the air. I think it is a fine thing. The American people can take it, and we should face up to the situation at it actually is."

Sen. George D. Aiken (RVt) urged Eisenhower to tell the American people frankly and candidly "if there is a real danger of war" over Berlin.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (DMass), in a separate interview, said the President — in his broadcast — "should spell out very precisely what our position is" regarding Berlin, as well as that of Western Allies in negotiations ahead.

"And the President should say precisely why he thinks our defenses are adequate when the Russians greatly outnumber us in land forces and outnumber us in missiles as well."

In Berlin today, two top Communist propagandists denied heatedly that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has retreated from his determination to end the occupation of Berlin.

City to Lose Guard Company Under Army Reorganization

The halls and meeting rooms of the Pontiac National Guard Armory at 57 Water St. may seem a bit more lonely after midnight tonight.

The entire National Guard Unit is undergoing a vast change in size and shape due to orders from the 5th U.S. Army Headquarters in Chicago officially received here last week.

Pontiac's Armory has housed two companies since Feb. 16, 1922.

At exactly one minute past midnight, it will house only one and the remaining company will be redesignated. Eventually the manpower cut will amount to about 30 less guardsmen.

For the 107th Ordnance Company (DS), consisting of 83 men, the stroke of midnight will sound a death knell. The entire company is being disbanded, its members reassigned to other units throughout the Detroit area.

The other unit, Rifle Company M, 125th Infantry Regiment, will be redesignated as Rifle Company E, 2nd Battle Group, Combat Arms Regiment.

The redesignation will not mean that the outfit will move. It will stay in Pontiac, but will lose weight in the weapons department and gain weight in overall manpower.

The ordnance company will end a long and colorful history as a representative of Pontiac in both World Wars and the Korean conflict.

Pancho Villa was making history in the Rio Grande Valley when the 107th was organized as the 107th Mobile Ordnance Repair Shop at Camp McArthur near Waco, Tex., in December 1917.

It was one of the first allied units to set foot on German soil in Alsace, in May 1918. The company won four of its 14 campaign bars in World War I.

Again in World War II the unit went into action and matched its earlier record with four more campaign bars, but this time it also won a coveted meritorious service medal in the European theater of operations.

Of some 140 men who served with the 2nd Infantry Division in active combat during the Korean conflict, only seven remain. This outfit came up with six campaign bars and another meritorious unit decoration.

The remaining seven, together through the war and since, will now part. When the company held its last meeting last Tuesday night these seven members were observing a special little ceremony of their own.

The youngest member of the seven joined the outfit about 11 years ago, but several have been members for nearly 30 years. They served in Korea from August 1950 to October 1954.

The loss of this company will be compensated personnel-wise to some extent. Company M, when it is redesignated as Company E, will have a higher authorized strength limit.

The present total of 85 men is the present authorized capacity. After midnight the capacity will be raised to 138, with the adding of 52 enlisted men and one officer to the company.

The manpower increase will not take place immediately since the men are not yet available.

Any eligible veterans in the Pontiac area interested in becoming a member of the local National Guard have been urged to call or write the armory by Capt. A. J. Largent, new unit commander.

The company will no longer be a unit designed for general heavy weapons fire support. Its main program will mold it into a hand-to-hand light arms outfit.

Heavy machine guns will be dropped. There will be only one machine gun squad. Six 81 mm. mortar squads will be cut to three. Six 105 mm. recoiless rifle squads will drop to two.

The balance of personnel will be reassigned as riflemen. The company will be made up of one weapons platoon and four rifle platoons.

The company, which has undergone various redesignations in its long history, has been the core of the Pontiac National Guard unit in peacetime since pre-Civil War days over 100 years ago.

Straley Urged Uniforms Said to Be Inflammable

Straley's request for uniforms for motorcycle officers.

"It was common knowledge that the department was going to abolish motorcycles along with the Traffic and Safety Bureau," Hanger said.

"All the chief had to do was read the recommendations in the PAS report."

FOES ONCE FRIENDS

Retired Police Capt. Walter Krause, who served on the police force 34 years, said that Straley's foes in the Pontiac Police Dept. were once his best friends.

"The trouble started when these men were elected officers of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn.," Krause stated.

Straley and the PPOA have been feuding openly the past two years. It was the strife between the chief and the officers that brought about a study of the department by the Public Administration Service of Chicago.

Krause admitted he failed to report to Straley a fight in a local tavern last summer involving the president of the PPOA, Sgt. Hugh Stimson.

"Perhaps I was wrong," Krause said, "but a State Police sergeant called to the scene asked me not to report it because it meant the end of the officer's career if Straley found out."

★ ★ ★

Krause said he wished to check all facts in the case before bringing it to the chief's attention.

He said he knew then that Stimson was one of the men the chief had vowed to "get."

A check of the incident disclosed, Krause said, that at a farewell party for a police officer Stimson had asked a woman to dance with him. "Her dancing partner made a derogatory remark and Sgt. Stimson swung at him," Krause said. "The man ducked but she didn't and she was hit in the face."

Neither the bar owner nor the woman wished to press charges, Krause said.

"It was a mistake—I don't condone what the officer did," Krause said. "But we must realize that everyone makes mistakes. We have to expect incidents like this occasionally."

Krause said he had followed the same practice in other cases. "You shouldn't make a big fuss about this kind of thing," he said. "It's bad publicity for the police department.

After the city rested its case, Straley's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, moved the Commission dismiss charges against the chief on the grounds that none were brought up within the 90-day limitation period set in the Service Act.

The Commission unanimously denied his motion.

Opening the defense case, Smith called Mrs. Helen Hudson, a civilian clerk in the records section, to the stand. She told the Commission that she had typed traffic safety reports submitted to the National Safety Council in 1956 and 1957.

Mrs. Hudson explained she was responsible for the accuracy of traffic accident statistics and that they were correct.

Testifying briefly was Police Lt. Clayton Randolph, a former commander of the Traffic Bureau. He said civic groups had submitted some figures used in the reports, and that many organizations had cooperated in the police department safety programs.

★ ★ ★

In earlier testimony, Eastman said National Safety Council awards won by the city were based on false statistics.

The hearing will resume at 7:30 p.m. Monday with Lt. Randolph on the stand.

Christian Science Monitor's Erwin D. Canham Chosen

Editor New National C. of C. Prexy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scholarly editor who says the 1900 concept of capitalism is very foreign to the capitalism of today is taking over as head of one of the world's largest organization of businessmen.

★ ★ ★

He's Erwin D. Canham, elected Friday as president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Canham is best known as editor of the Christian Science Monitor and as a radio and TV commentator.

"Intensely surprised though deeply grateful," the 55-year-old editor editor said in commenting on his selection by the Chamber's board of directors.

For the Chamber, which ordinarily picks career businessmen, industrialists or financiers as its top officer, Canham is the first newspaperman in the big organization's line of 32 presidents. He succeeds St. Louis banker William McDonald, who now becomes board chairman.

"Business," he said, "has accepted a deep responsibility and accountability to its customers, its civic neighbors, its workers and its stockholders.

"Economic power has been shifting in this country. It is moving still in the direction of a balance—and economic balance is as necessary to economic freedom as the political balance of power is to political freedom."

Canham said he could see no objection to congressional investigations into so-called administrative prices—the capacity of industries comprising a few large companies to regulate price levels without much regard to demand.

★ ★ ★

"I have no quarrel with efforts to compel them to keep the freest possible market," Canham said.

On the other hand, Canham said both business and labor groups can provide powerful impetus to progress, but only to the degree that they remain voluntary.

The labor movement, he said, would be stronger than it is today if it kept membership on a voluntary basis instead of campaigning for union shops—where workers must join the union to keep their jobs.

In contrast to the past half century when business took much criticism, he said, "currently it is the tycoons of labor who are getting the unfavorable headlines."

"This situaton will continue," he said, "as long as both parties deserve it."

Canham said he will continue his Monitor editorship in Boston but that his new job will force him to curtail many other activities.

Decrease in Revenue Slows Up Area Park

than $600,000 less for operating expenses this year," Hallenbeck said.

"This cutback will be reflected mostly in improvements at the parks. We won't be able to build new comfort stations, bathhouses, or new roads," he said.

But facilities will not be closed and staffs are not likely to be cut, the director was quick to add.

Further clearing of the 3,700-acre Stony Park site and development of a 700-acre artificial lake in the park will have to be set aside for awhile, Hallenbeck explained.

Plans for the new park—to be similar but smaller than the 4,300-acre Kensington Metropolitan Park between New Hudson and Brighton were announced in 1956. Immediate protests were heard from some residents in the area.

There are still more parcels of land to acquire, Hallenbeck said.

R. Clare Cummings, Oakland's member on the authority's Board of Commissioners, disclosed some trouble was being encountered in acquiring this needed land.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, said under the new one-fifth agreement the county's 1959 payment will be $361,710.

Under the previous one-quarter apportionment, payments were: $194,606 in 1955; $334,512 in 1956; $396,290 in 1957; $442,675 in 1958.

Moore said he hadn't been informed yet whether the authority would revert back to the one-quarter mill for 1960 or stick with the lower one-fifth collection.

Alcohol Banned at 5 State Parks

The state Conservation Department in Lansing yesterday approved an alcohol ban, at five state parks, including two in the Pontiac area.

Affected here were Dodge State Park No. 4 on Cass Lake and Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

Alcohol was also banned at Grand Haven, Holland and Warren Dunes state parks.

The ban means that park users can't bring any alcoholic beverages, including beer and wine, into the parks this season.

Crane had been sitting in a restaurant in the path of a speeding string of 15 runaway freight cars which hurtled through downtown Olympia Friday night, killing one person, injuring 15 others and demolishing a quarter of a city block.

He and his wife were in the cafe wrecked by the cars after the freight thundered off the end of the track and crashed through a brick depot. Two of the cars rumbled 350 feet and came to rest inside a building across this capital city's main street.

"I ducked under the table and hollered for my wife," Crane said. "When it was over, we crawled out and went out through the rear of the restaurant."

★ ★ ★

Crane and others reentered the cafe to release five women trapped in a front booth.

Railroad telegrapher Kenneth A. Dilly, 36, was killed when the juggernaut plowed through the middle of the Union Pacific station.

Only six of the injured required hospitalization. The others, including Crane, were treated and released.

★ ★ ★

The freight cars, 12 of which were loaded with plywood and plaster-board, tore out a dead-end railway bumper guard and ripped into the depot. The two lead cars smashed on through and across the street. Four others piled up inside a building directly behind the depot, wrecking a cafe, tavern food shop and auto parts store. Two cars came to a stop inside the depot, while the others remained upright on the tracks.

Police estimate the damage as in excess of a million dollars. It would be several days before a close accounting of damage could be made, they said.

Gas mains were shattered and police roped off the area. The jumble of railroad cars, parked automobiles and rubble blocked the main thoroughfare.

★ ★ ★

Thurston County Coroner Hollis Fultz said the freight cars were cut loose from a locomotive during switching operations at Tumwater, about two miles south. They started rolling down the grade toward the state capital, with the locomotive crew in vain pursuit, he said.

Curious Farmer Denied Chance to Live in Jail

A retired farmer appeared before Justice John Taylor on a charge of parking his car illegally in front of a private drive. He pleaded guilty and Taylor fined him $2.

But the farmer refused to pay the fine, saying he'd "take three days in jail instead."

"I've never been there and I wonder what it's like," the elderly farmer told Taylor.

★ ★ ★

State GOP Vows No Payless Days

Michigan and were "gambling the future of our state against their political philosophy and their specific tax proposals to implement this philosophy."

This was "irresponsible," the GOP Senate leader said, and a "major stumbling block" to agreement.

Beadle also said Williams' absence from the state on a political tour last week "contributed gravely" to the difficult situation.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said today he has asked an attorney general's review of his authority—or lack of it—to tap special funds to pay general state obligations.

"Some of them a blind man could see can't be used," Brown said. "In fact, practically all these special funds are tied up constitutionally."

"There's money in the state treasury that doesn't belong to the state and never did."

Still, the treasurer said, all possibilities will have to be exhausted in the light of the state's tightening financial pinch.

The state's cash balances lately have been running a total of about 120 million dollars, but with a comparatively small fraction of it available for general fund purposes.

Welfare Cases Up in February

County Helped 3,322 Families, an Increase of 120 Over January

There were 3,322 Oakland County families drawing social welfare assistance at the end of last month, according to figures presented yesterday by George H. Burt, director of the County Social Welfare Dept.

Burt, in his monthly report to the Welfare Committee of the Board of Supervisors, said the 3,322 compares with 2,946 families which received welfare help at the end of February 1958.

At the end of January of this year there were 3,202 families on the county welfare rolls, Burt's report showed.

During that same month there were 858 applications for assistance filed with the department. Last month there were 603.

The number of welfare cases closed in January of this year totaled 736. Closed cases amounted to 483 last month.

During February, 9,390 families in Oakland County received surplus federal foods, distributed by the local department, which had a market value of $74,759, Burt said.

The month before, he added, there were 9,046 families which received $45,940 worth of surplus foods such as butter, cheese, rice, milk and flour.

Wants Forward Look

GOP Sets Up Committee for Glimpse Into the Future

By JACK BELL

★ ★ ★

National GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn and Chairman Charles H. Percy of the program group told a news conference yesterday they want to set up guideposts pointing toward Republican objectives in a space-dominated world that may lie 10 to 15 years ahead.

"We want to get the elephant out of his stall, help point him in the direction of progress, and let the people know where he is going," Alcorn said.

Percy, who is president of Bell & Howell Co. of Chicago, said that while the aim of the new committee will be to give the party "a forward look," that does not mean the Republicans will go back on basic principles such as advocacy of a balanced budget.

PRIME ISSUE

President Eisenhower, who entertained the group at a White House luncheon, has called budget balancing the prime domestic issue before the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Alcorn advised the program committee to walk carefully in dealing with legislative policy. He said this would be developed by Republican members of Congress in cooperation with the President.

"You are not charged with the responsibility of drafting a Republican Party platform," Alcorn told members, adding that this is the primary job of the 1960 GOP nominating convention.

'CREATIVE RE-EVALUATION'

Saying he wants the committee to go beyond a mere declaration of the principles applicable to the party's stand of today, the national chairman added that he was not barring either legislative or platform recommendations that might be considered by Congress members or the national convention.

Percy said he wants the committee to come up with "a tough minded, realistic, creative re-evaluation of those things for which we stand."

In an obvious reference to recommendations of the Senate and House campaign committee chairmen that the party return to the "liberty against socialism" principles advocated by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Percy told the members:

"We must avoid assumptions that may be now outmoded, however well they have served in the past. There are certain principles of the American way of life and republicanism that are timeless and that will never lose their value.

"But even these must be looked at anew to see how they may be best understood and applied to the problems of our nation in a rapidly changing world."

Percy said the committee members "must ask questions we don't ordinarily ask and we must not shrink from the answers if they are novel and upsetting."

He said the Republicans must ask themselves what kind of country the people want, and what kind of life they want, aiming their party at achieving these goals.

Alcorn told the committeemen they are not to engage in any "Buck Rogers fantasy" in drafting a statement of long-range aims.

'HARSH REALITIES'

"You will be dealing with harsh realities," he said, adding:

"I hope this committee will provide the Republican Party with a concise, understanding statement of our party's long-range objectives in all of the areas of political responsibility and activity in the light of the social, technological and economical developments which you can reasonably anticipate during the years immediately ahead."

Hits Railroad Controls

ANN ARBOR (AP)—William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee Road, told the University of Michigan Lawyers Club Friday that obsolete government controls are restricting growth and modernization of the nation's railroads. In a prepared speech, he said, "Vitally needed modernization is frustrated by unsound policies governing depreciation of railroad plant and equipment."

Boy Lives Despite 100-Foot Plunge

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Richard Greer, 12, fell onto the rocks of rugged Feather River canyon from a 100-foot cliff Friday but he is expected to survive despite multiple fractures.

Richard and a friend, Robert Seveille, 13, both of nearby Oregon City, rode their bikes from school to the rim of Table Mountain. Richard fell the equivalent of 10 stories while they were playing. Robert rode for help.

It took a sheriff's posse 90 minutes to rescue the boy, who had fallen on a ledge. His mother, Mrs. Woodrow Greer, watched anxiously from the top of the cliff.

Waterford Misses in Sport Show Contest

13 Girls Vie for Queen's Crown

Thirteen attractive young Waterford Township girls have entered the township's Sports and Builders Show queen contest. The winner will be chosen Sunday, March 22.

Opening next Friday at the Community Activities Center, the fifth annual show is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The contest for the area's most outstanding young woman was restricted to girls in the township and Waterford School District, according to William Goulet, show chairman.

"This contest is not being judged on beauty alone," contest co-chairman Byron Merritt said. "A girl must have intellect, talent and poise as well as physical beauty," he added. Charles Wiseman is the other co-chairman.

The girls will wear their finest evening gowns and be judged on their ability to conduct themselves "as a true queen should," Merrit said. The judges will mingle with the contestants and test their conversational abilities.

At 9 p.m. next Saturday, there will be a talent show in which all but five girls will be eliminated. Three questions will be asked the winners individually, and the queen will be announced at 9 p.m. Sunday. Bonita Brookshire, 18, was last year's winner.

More than 50 merchants have reserved booth-space for modern home improvement demonstrations and sports equipment exhibitions, Goulet said.

Birthday Prank Fatal to Youth, 17

RAYTOWN, Mo. (UPI) — Jess C. Lea Jr. celebrated his 17th birthday and won a $10 bet swigging down a fifth of whiskey in less than five minutes. It killed him.

Police arrested his two companions and charged them with giving liquor to a minor. James Henry Yates, 22, is in jail and Harold L. Barber is under $1000 bond.

The incident happened late Thursday night. Barber and Yates said Lea boasted he had drunk 13 cans of beer in 15 minutes, and could drink two cases in two hours or a fifth of whiskey in five minutes.

They took him up on it, bought the liquor, and went to a parking lot. Yates said the boy tilted the bottle and drank most of it, lit a cigarette and finished the rest.

He passed out and never regained consciousness.

Duncan Case Jury in Weekend Rest

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—A jury which has heard three weeks of testimony is resting over the weekend before deciding Elizabeth Duncan's fate.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, is charged with hiring two men to strangle her attractive daughter-in-law, Olga Duncan, 30.

The prosecution contends Mrs. Duncan was so jealous of the nurse who married her attorney son, Frank, 30, that she promised to pay Luis Moya and Augustine Baldonado $6,000 to kill her last Nov. 18. The men admitted the slaying.

The defense argues that Moya and Baldonado kidnaped Olga for ransom, resorted to murder and then tried to pin the crime on Mrs. Duncan.

The jurors will meet Monday to begin deliberating. The prosecution has asked for a first-degree murder conviction, which is punishable by death or life imprisonment.

Prison Bars Do Not Keep Out the Races

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Guard T. K. Whearty picked up a set of earphones. He wanted to listen in on what music was being played over the radio to San Quentin's 5,000 convicts.

Disclosing the finding Friday, Associate Warden Walter Achuff said convict Brucks Randell of Los Angeles, serving three to 10 years for grand theft, was fired immediately from his monitoring job, duty of plugging in the prison radio network.

Was there any evidence of horse race betting inside the prison? No, said Achuff, but they must not have been listening just for the fun of it.

Radiological Defense

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Leo A. Hoegh, director of civil and defense mobilization, has announced a new series of radiological defense courses. Training will be given monitor instructors, radiological defense officers, civil defense directors and their staff members. The courses will be given at the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization operational headquarters in Battle Creek.

Daytona Beach Provides Fine Driving to Nowhere

By JOE HAAS

HAAS

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Here is the only place in the world you can drive for hours and hours on the finest roadway you ever traveled, never have even the most remote traffic hazard, breathe the purest sea air, enjoy every minute of it — and wind up where you started.

Thousands participate in this joyous and exhilirating experience every day—and return the next day to do it again.

Daytona is doing everything to maintain it as the finest beach on earth, which they justly claim it to be.

The 25-mile stretch that is supervised extends almost as much further on each end. Obeying the schedule of the tides, it ranges from 200 to 1,000 feet wide, and is smooth as silk over its entire distance.

You lose all sensation of any wheels under your car as it noiselessly glides along to the eye and ear entrancing symphony of the gigantic ocean rollers as they complete their journey from Europe or Africa.

NO LONGER RACE TRACK

The beach's use for many years as an automobile race track has been discontinued to make it always available for the millions of motorists who come here to enjoy it.

A magnificent race course, which in many respects discounts the Indianapolis Speedway, has been built a mile or so inland, which thus enables Daytona to still properly entertain the speed demons of the world, and do it in a safe and sane manner.

The national motorcycle races have been held for years on an oval course of four miles, one side of which is on the beach a few miles south of Daytona.

The 1959 event took place last week, and brought here thousands of riders, coming from every state in the union and from several foreign countries.

It was a motley aggregation, and local gasoline stations say they have never before distributed so much by the quart. The egg crate and slat fence grandstands at the two hair-pin turns, (which you'd hardly dare occupy, even if you were the only occupant) were crowded on several occasions.

We got mixed up with the gang on the beach when they were returning from the races one afternoon, with over a thousand bikes in one bunch, and it was a sight never to be forgotten.

There's strong sentiment against continuance of these motorcycle races here, if they are to use part of the beach, and residents of the immediate vicinity are unanimously against them. It will be OK with Daytona if they're moved elsewhere.

In their appeal for state funds to carry on their publicity work on a national scale, the Florida tourist agencies have sprung another, and quite unique, argument, with Michigan as their target.

They submit figures on cars entering Florida, which show that 25 per cent of them come from the states of New York and New Jersey. Then follows Pennsylvania with 11 per cent, and Ohio and Illinois each with nine per cent, making a total of over one half from five states.

The rest is divided among the other 44 states, with Michigan's percentage being only a trifle over four per cent.

According to the request of the tourist agencies here, "This means that Michigan has so many attractions within its own borders that its residents are content to vacation at home, while they urge people from other parts of the nation to come and see."

NEW YORK FASHION

California sends almost half as many tourists to Florida as does Michigan, with Texas in about the same proportion.

★ ★ ★

Down this east coast, and particularly in the Miami district, New York cars make up fully one-half of the tourists—and they drive in the true New York fashion, as though they owned the road—and their cars.

Figures just released by the federal government show Florida to be the forty-second state in the amount of personal income received from manufacturing. The only states below it are in the west, where chief products are cattle and sage brush.

Florida gets only 8 per cent of its income from industrial wages. The national average is 23 per cent, with Michigan's 37 per cent being the nation's tops.

However, the Florida citrus growers are having the best year in their history. The canners will pay $225 million to the growers, $70 million more than last year. Almost discontinued since the start of World War II, citrus shipments to England are being resumed on a large scale. This accounts for a large part of this year's gain.

Like Michigan and most other states, Florida is having its tax difficulties. Here this is aggravated by the $5,000 homestead exemption by which Miami and other Florida areas enticed northerners to move here.

With but few industries to be taxed, this throws the burden on the citrus growers and business, most of the latter being made up of the hotels and motels. These consequently are faced with top assessed valuations, and all have strong organizations to plead their cause.

It all is best summed up in the remark of a large property owner, "No assessing officer is ever elected twice. If he gets out of town with his shirt, he's lucky."

You Pay Less

TRUCKS ARE VITAL to every industry in Michigan, and no service or commodity which affects your day-to-day living could reach you without trucks.

That is the basic way in which trucks serve you. But they benefit you in other important ways, too.

For example — latest available figures show that Michigan's trucks pay over $65,000,000 annually in State registration fees and gasoline taxes alone, plus several millions more in mileage taxes and special taxes levied on the larger vehicles. In addition, of course, trucks pay all the other taxes charged against any business enterprise in Michigan — real estate property taxes, personal property taxes, business activities taxes, sales taxes, intangible taxes, franchise taxes.

All these millions in taxes the trucks pay go to support the general welfare, to help pay for modern roads, hospitals, schools and colleges, parks and playgrounds, police and fire protection.

So, you see, thanks to the trucks, you pay less.

Reflections

REFLECTION EDITORIAL TREAD SOFTLY

J. L. VOORHEES

We were given the power of speech to communicate our thoughts to others; abuse of this gift brings torment, agony and abject suffering, e.g., a theater is filled; someone screams "Fire!" and hundreds are trampled to death. An indiscretion, stir in a little gossip; we have a destructive force equal to an H-bomb. Someone whispers, "Our bank is broke," and within minutes depositors actually break that strong institution. Tread softly.

M. E. SIPLE

The pages of history are filled with famous men who were constructively articulate, whose words were carefully weighed before being uttered and then delivered softly. A mother croons to her baby and it sleeps in peace, a father explains to his son and he willingly follows the path of good citizenship. Our newspapers tread softly, best selling books are rarely lurid, TV programs with the highest ratings always tread softly in presenting their stories.

We communicate with words; let them be doors to love and friendship.

It Seems to Me . . .

Who Has as Much Experience as Ike in the Military World?

Many of his permanent Democratic detractors and some of his GOP colleagues have charged him with preparing an insufficient defense budget. His contemplated outlay totals just short of 42 billion dollars and in light of the Russian activities, some of the clamor boys have been insisting this isn't enough.

★ ★ ★

"Who among them," quoth Ike with a dash of wrath, "knows as much about the defense of a nation, a hemisphere or a world — as I do?"

Well, who does?

Do YOU?

★ ★ ★

That's a real tough question. President EISENHOWER was the chief military figure of this nation and the Head Man in the European battlegrounds. That's a pretty impressive record to oppose. Upon reflection, very few would volunteer—if any.

★ ★ ★

The President has devoted his entire lifetime to military activities and military studies. Even before the actual shooting started, "war was his business." This gives him "quite a lead" over his sideline critics.

★ ★ ★

Senator STUART SYMINGTON, a Democratic opponent, has been particularly vociferous in his sweeping statements and for a fireside general he has sounded off plenty. Of course, the fact his name has been mentioned occasionally with the 1960 nominations for something more important, spurs the Missouri man to unusual efforts, but it is a bit ludicrous when you stop and evaluate their respective military backgrounds.

★ ★ ★

Certainly the taxpayers are on the side of the man who says "whoa" when it comes to additional spending. If the top soldier in the whole world says we are spending enough for arms, who wants to spend more to suit the whims of some strictly armchair experts.

★ ★ ★

The House Republicans assert they are standing with the President. That puts the burden of MORE TAXES squarely on the Democrats. This has never stopped them in the past, but the public is more tax conscious now than it has been in some time.

★ ★ ★

Beware the ire of an infuriated taxpayer. And especially is this a sound warning when the victims are pretty well warmed up already and hot under the collar in general on the subject of additional spending.

Don't Blame Benson for Big Crop Surplus

Measures to curb farm production have been no match for the job in the presence of measures to support prices, says Editorial Research Reports. Farmers restrained from planting all the acres they would like to plant naturally seek to get more out of what they do plant. The incentive is all the stronger when the Government guarantees good prices.

★ ★ ★

The present farm program is not Agriculture Secretary BENSON's, which never was allowed to go into effect. It's a holdover from a Democratic Administration "modified grudgingly to the limited degree to which Congress has been willing to grant our requests for changes," says Mr. BENSON. "If it were my program we would not be asking Congress to make the far reaching changes contained in the President's recent farm message to Congress."

★ ★ ★

If we didn't grow one bushel of wheat in 1959 we could still meet all our current domestic needs and still have a carry-over on July 1, 1960, of 325 million bushels, reports the Secretary. If surpluses, the result of high parity payments, continue to pile up, don't blame Mr. Benson.

Of the Administration's proposals now before Congress, Chairman ELLENDER of the Senate Agricultural Committee said recently that the program hadn't a ghost of a chance. Other lawmakers from farm states agreed.

★ ★ ★

There is little hope of solving the agricultural problem in this country until Congress forgets votes and decides to back Secretary BENSON.

"IF I felt any better, I couldn't stand it," says DAVE BECK SR. This statement will doubtless cause many to hope he soon feels better.

Aid Too High?

By Merriman Smith
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower submitted his $3,929,995,000 foreign aid program to the skeptical Democratic Congress yesterday with a blunt warning that it may be boosted to meet the Soviet threat to Europe.

He specifically pointed to the Berlin crisis, declaring it could have "perilous consequences" if Russia refuses to back down on its demands. But he said foreign aid had played a big part in enabling the free world to stand firm "in these tense moments."

The President's program promptly ran into Democratic demands that it be cut.

Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield (Mont), a member of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he thought it could be reduced "drastically," to about three billion.

Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) rapped Eisenhower for showing "little disposition to tailor the program realistically to meet changes in the world situation." He said the committee "will need to engage in considerable surgery if the bill is too fully serve the national interest."

Other Democratic leaders took a show-me attitude and called for an end to "waste and inefficiency" in the aid program. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) challenged the President's reference to Berlin. He said "not a nickel" of the new money would help in that crisis.

The President sought about $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid to help this country's allies counter the "broad and deep" Communist challenge in the fiscal year starting July 1.

But he said a special commission studying the aid program has indicated it will recommend an increase in military aid, primarily for weapons to North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations. He promised to send Congress further proposals after the commission submits a report, probably next week.

All indications were that the President would have to fight even harder for his aid program this year than he did in 1958 when he seized on every opportunity — including letters to influential citizens — to plug it.

But the President fired the first round in a message to Congress which scorned the "Fortress America" concept held by some of his critics.

PASSION SUNDAY

Just below the Golden Gate in the wall of Jerusalem is the little Valley of Kidron. Across the stream that flows through the valley floor and partway up the gentle lower slope of the Mount of Olives lies the Garden of Gethsemane.

It was in the Garden of Gethsemane that Jesus, saddened in the knowledge that He was about to be betrayed, withdrew from His disciples to a flat, light-colored rocky outcropping and prayed, saying:

"Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.

"And there appeared an angel unto Him from heaven, strengthening Him.

"And being in agony He prayed more earnestly: and His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground." — (Luke 22:42-4)

Days of All Faiths

Christian Legends End Happily

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Early Christian legendry apparently felt that the books must be completely balanced, that every character in the drama of man's redemption must be satisfactorily accounted for and that it must all have a happy ending.

Pontius Pilate became a saint in some parts of the Church; Simon of Cyrene, who carried the Lord's cross on the way to Calvary, is still honored in the Christian calander; Veronica, who steped out of the crowd and wiped the Lord's face, has her day. Even Judas Iscariot has been canonized, as one who played a distasteful but necessary role and therefore made a creative contribution to the whole drama.

Sunday we see the same mood at work in the case of the soldier who stood by the cross while Jesus hung there, and finally brought it all to an end by taking his lance and piercing the Lord's side. (See John, chapter 19, verse 34.) His name, tradition says, was Longinus, but that is only an adaptation of the Greek word for "lance" and it is hardly likely that it was the man's name.

The story of this anonymous figure soon acquired a good deal of pleasant embroidery. It is said that the holy blood ran down his lance and touched his eyes, which were failing, and immediately restored his sight.

This miracle, plus the earthquake and the darkening of the sun which accompanied the Crucifixion, were enough to convert him and he spent the rest of his days working in the Christian cause.

Longinus, having abandoned the military life and having taken instructions from the Apostles, went to the town of Caesarea and there took up the monastic life. He is said to have made many converts.

It is also told that Longinus was brought before the local Roman authorities and ordered to sacrifice to the Roman gods. When he refused, the governor caused all his teeth to be knocked out and his tongue cut off. The absence of a tongue did not, however, impair his power of speech. Denouncing the pagan gods in a loud vice, he picked up an axe and smashed all the idols.

At this point a pack of devils rushed out of the idols and took up residence in the bodies of the governor and his attendants. Whereupon Longinus said to the governor, how blind and raving, "Your only cure is to put me to death. Do that and I will pray for you."

The order was given. Longinus was beheaded and the governor at once recovered. Restored to sanity, the governor repented, was himself converted and spent the rest of his life in good works.

This is probably going to start an argument and we are not going to take any sides in it, but we are going to report that the Anglican Church (Church of England and its branches) strongly claims St. Patrick as its own. In support of this claim there are several historical facts.

First, St. Patrick came from England around the turn of the fifth century, 200 years before Rome had sent any of its clergy to the British Isles.

Second, Patrick's successor in the Archdiocese of Armagh is an Anglican prelate and is known as Primate of Ireland. Third, Patrick is buried in an Anglican cemetery. And fourth, St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin is an Anglican cathedral. This sort of information will probably be surprising to a majority of our readers.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

No Problems for Mother; 5 Children Took Pledge

"Our four sons and a daughter, at the time of Confirmation, took the pledge against the use of alcohol until 21. They now range in age from 17 to 26 and have all kept the pledge—probably will continue abstinence . . ." (Mrs. M.B.M.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — I congratulate you for being an old fashioned mother; your children for getting such a fine start in life; and your church for character.

★ ★ ★

"I have written you for your opinion or advice several times and have never seen an answer . . ." (Mrs. R.C.H.)

Answer—I am under no implied obligation to answer letters. I cannot give an opinion or advice involving the diagnosis or treatment of an individual case. This is a HEALTH column.

"Supplementing my diet with the daily ration of Ca & D, as you recommend in your booklet 'The Calcium Shortage' has not only eradicated my nervousness but it has apparently produced remarkable improvement in the complexion of my teenage daughter—she was plagued with blackheads and pimples." (Mrs. I. S.)

Answer—Thank you. The daily ration of calcium and vitamin D (sunshine vitamin) which I recommend for EVERYBODY who subsists on the ordinary American diet is not medicine and can do no harm in any circumstance. This principle of nutrition is hard to teach people who suffer from the national malnutrition—and doctors are people.

"I've made gallons of Doctor Brady's Home Made Fool Proof Cough Medicine and passed the recipe on to many grateful mothers. It has saved us a lot of doctor bills, it seems to be just the thing for the children's coughs. . ." (Mrs. T.A.P.)

Answer—Your druggist doesn't make a to-do about selling you citrate of soda? The same cough medicine is good for grampa's winter cough too. Instructions for preparing and using it are given in the booklet Call it CRI, for which send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. And for goodness sake don't ask the druggist to make it for you—any one who can boil an egg can whip up a batch of the fool proof cough medicine whenever it is needed.

Signed letters, not more than one page of 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Life Without Risk Is Dull

"In my Father's House," said Jesus, "are many rooms (mansions). I go to prepare a place for you." Scholars say the old term "mansions" means "rooms." And if this earth is just one such room in God's Cosmic School System, will we find hazards and risks in the next, though we deal with a higher type of problem? Discuss this idea tomorrow in Sunday School.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

He and I were classmates together at Northwestern University and I have taught an adult Bible Class for 25 years at the Temple, so we are unusually close friends.

DR. CRANE

Thus, I get a double enjoyment from his Sunday sermons, for he is a deft Applied Psychologist, as most clergymen are. Recently he told about a golf links in his native state of Iowa which was smooth and without any hazards.

"Perhaps it would be the type of links a thoughtless golfer would associate with heaven," he said.

"But people didn't want to play golf thereon! Why? Because a life without hazards is dull. What golfer would get any fun unless he had to compete with sand traps and water holes, patches of trees and rough terrain?

"In fact, the same thing is true of fishermen. Once while I was in the mountains, a friend asked me if I'd like to catch all the trout I wanted?

"Since I had often tramped along mountain streams in somewhat fruitless fashion casting flies into trout pools, his suggestion sounded wonderful.

"But when he took me to a little hotel pool, stocked with trout, I found little zest in such fishing.

"Men actually relish hazards. They appreciate the struggle in life. For life would be dull and flavorless if all risks were removed."

IS HEAVEN RISKY?

So I used his theme for my Sunday School lesson and asked the audience if they thought heaven could be attractive without pain and risk and hazards and work and even tears?

If we human beings simply carry on at a higher level of output, the problems may be different but maybe the methods will be much the same.

Heaven is probably much like the sixth grade after we have graduated from the fifth in grammar school.

As a basis for discussion tomorrow in Sunday School, consider which trades or professions here on this earth may be in heaven.

How about farmers and other food producers, such as fishermen? Peter was a fisherman and probably would still enjoy that hobby in heaven, don't you think?

Jesus certainly relished food. He seemed to enjoy house parties and picnics here on earth. So wouldn't restaurants and cooks and waitresses be in vogue in heaven?

How about engineers to build the bridges, for if heaven is a series of graduated classrooms on other planets like earth, there will probably be rivers and gorges to require bridging.

What about physicians and dentists and nurses? School teachers and airplane pilots? Lawyers and judges? Chemists and factory employes? Cobblers and carpenters?

Will the folks who run saloons, gambling joints and red light houses down here be relegated to

★ ★ ★

Is that the real hell they will find in the hereafter, divorced from their families and other constructive workers in our present community?

Conflict and hazards and risks add the zest to life in this earthly classroom, so will we encounter them after we graduate to the next school room?

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Police Hearings Instigate Comments From Readers

I've only been with the Police Department three and a half years, but the recent disclosure that men whose service years total over 100 will seek employment in another city disappoints me very much. The group represents some of the cream of law enforcement in this city. Evidently they feel all is lost, as well they might.

★ ★ ★

These men would like to campaign for some amendments to Act 78, but how can they do this, when they must fight even to retain it? That's necessary because the public accepts as gospel management's view that it handcuffs them. Act 78 provides no appeal, which isn't even constitutional. It isn't right that a man or group should have exclusive control over another's livlihood or source of income. Even in military justice, there's appeal.

★ ★ ★

Much of this has been brought about by lack of public interest and understanding. Get out and inquire and learn about your City government. I'm happy with the assignment of the "Big E," as he's known, because I feel he's the most police officer this city has seen in some time.

Donald L. Russ

Could this move by police officers threatening to go to Phoenix be a bluff to make Mr. Willman say he's sorry for what he said at the hearing? They're acting like children who say if you don't give them their way, they'll run away from home. Do they really believe the department would stop running because they leave? Three cheers for The Pontiac Press in writing the news of the hearing and for the WPON broadcasts. The City is very lucky to have both of them.

Nero

Willman's pants seams must be strained from trying to straddle the fence. The City Manager was lucky enough to get a man of Mr. Eastman's caliber and experience to come to this small town and do the job of getting rid of Straley and building up the department. He was led to believe he had Willman's support and then the City Manager let him down under oath.

It showed great restraint that men at the hearing last week didn't punch him in the nose when Willman said the trouble in the department was caused by laxity of World War II veterans. From the way he talked about our town in that speech, we should send a monitor with him on future out-of-town speeches.

Suspicious of Politicians

I hear several officers are going to Arizona. This is too good to be true. If among them are the troublemakers, I'm for taking a collection to buy them a one-way ticket. I extend my sympathy to Phoenix, and ask that when your burdens are too heavy to bear, please don't send them back, but pass them on to Berkley, Calif.

'Mikoyan's Friends Were No Surprise'

It was no surprise to see who Mikoyan's friends were. It wasn't those who had seen him in action in Europe and Asia, but the Hubert Humphreys, the Jarvises and the pro-Red gang in our Congress who crucified McCarthy, who seek to shackle our nation with a despotic civil rights bill which would restrain our people in the same manner the Reds have bound a third of the earth. Let us not forget Reuther, how glad he must have been to meet his old pal of his schooldays in Moscow, when Reuther trained to become the leader of the revolution in America. I could mention many more, such as Mrs. F. D. R.

'Find Public Work for Welfare Cases'

Many suggest doing away with welfare. How about the hungry children this would cause? Why not have every able-bodied adult on welfare doing all sorts of work, like cleaning up road sides and parks, etc., and pay them for it? This would benefit everyone and welfare people wouldn't be on dole but would be paid enough to get by until there's work.

Income Tax Notes

OTHER INCOME

Persons who receive income from sources other than wages must include such income on the appropriate schedules of the Form 1040.

The only income other than wages subject to withholding which can be shown on the short form 1040-A is dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding as long as the total of such income is $200 or less.

The Form 1040 has a schedule for just about all the different types of income the average taxpayer will receive. Schedule H is labeled "Other Income" and in this place is entered any item which does not have a specific schedule.

This is the proper place to report amounts received as alimony, support, prizes and wagering income.

Individuals who are eligible to defer the profit on the sale of their residences must complete a Schedule D and attach it to the return.

In cases where certain details are requested, such as for sick pay exclusion or for travel expenses, you must prepare schedules and attach them to your return.

Most questions concerning your tax return can be answered by reading the instructions to the tax return. Where there is a doubt after reading the instructions, telephone your local Internal Revenue Service office for the answer.

Roles of Two Mavericks Meant to Be Alike

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—The TV brothers, Bret and Bart Maverick, are meant to be as alike as two peas in a shooter. That's the way their writers look at them—as completely interchangeable, with equal humor, agility with cards and women, and a like larceny in their gentle souls.

The viewers don't see them that way at all. Nor does Jack Kelly, the long, lean, likeable actor who plays Bart.

"Basically, both Mavericks are great guys," Jack says, "and any week the scripts could be switched on us and it's come out all right. But there's a subtle element of difference in Jim (Garner) and me. And it's given us a fabulously partisan audience.

"Some viewers are all out for Jim as Bret, and wish he were doing the lead every Sunday. Others, thank goodness, like Bart. If there's an edge," he put in modestly, "Jim must still have it."

The reason Garner, as Bret, still has an edge (it's estimated at 1,100 fan letters for Garner, to 1,000 for Kelly) is that he starred in six straight episodes before Warner Brothers hired him a brother. But Kelly is moving up fast, may be the choice before you can say Trendex.

"When I entered the picture (in December, 1957) Jim had a half-dozen films out and was a well established hero. The mail came in from the dissenters, saying why give us this guy—we want Garner. If I'd been Warner Brothers, I'd have said, 'Let's get rid of this bum,' and fired me.

"But instead they sent out a form letter telling the audience to have patience. A great snow job. And gradually, as I got over my nerves, I could only improve.

Jack credits Jim Garner with helping him over his early Maverick nerves and says they never discuss their rankings or ratings as co-stars on the top ABC-TV show. Because "we work too damn hard even to see each other."

Kelly was born on the plains of Long Island, and has worked most of his 30 years as a child model and Broadway actor, a student lawyer, an Air Forceman and actor in TV and class B movies ("Go see my picture," he'd advise friends, "you'll vomit.")

When he won the audition for Bart Maverick, he realized that it would mean hard work for less salary. "I decided to cut my salary in half," he says cheerfully, "so that perpetuity might be served. After working at odds and ends most of my life, there's great satisfaction in the knowledge that I may become a success."

★ ★ ★

Jack is married to May Wynn, a former Copacabana beauty and sometime actress. She, and a desire for a family, are the reasons that Jack is not openly disgruntled—as Jim Garner has been—about the hard work and relatively modest pay awarded to the Maverick Brothers.

"In fact," he says, "I hope that Maverick runs for 35 years and that God wills we have a child to take over my job."

People are always asking Jack if his own personality is akin to that of Bart Maverick. He is always replying:

"No. I'm not as free-wheeling.

"Before my marriage, I probably had the outlook of the Mavericks, without the guts and talent to live that way. But marriage makes a big difference in your attitude. For instance, we have a standing rule in our house, I don't travel without my wife or she without me.

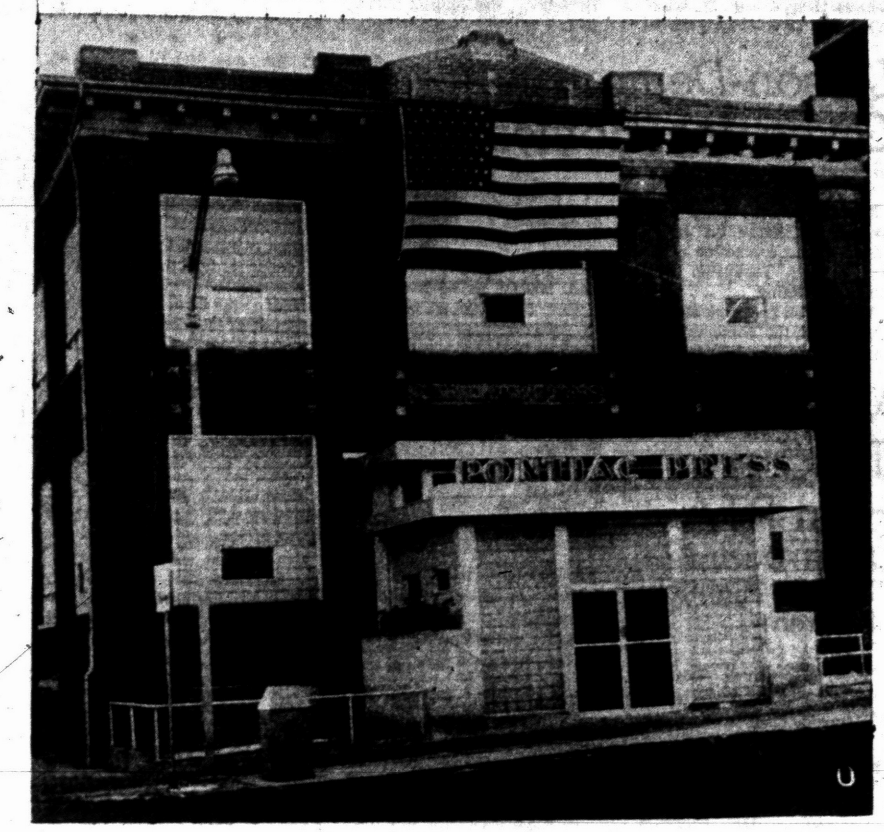

"I'd cry up a storm if I lost as much money as Maverick does across the poker table. And there's a spiritual responsibility that we have which is never noticeable in Maverick's life.

"Bear this in mind," Kelly concludes, "the Mavericks are great guys, who will grab a broad wherever he can and say, let's go—we'll have a good time and that's it. The men in the audience say gee, look what that guy gets away with; and the women can't help liking him.

"But if people were that free and easy, they wouldn't have to go to the theater, watch TV or buy our entertainment."

FOR SALE: ONE FLAG — Like thousands of other Americans, The Pontiac Press rushed out and purchased a new 49-star flag last month after Alaska was admitted as the 49th state of the union. The Press displayed its new 9x15-foot flag in front of the building on George Washington's birthday anniversary and the day before. Now it will become a collector's item. A new and 50th star has been born — Hawaii. Purchasers of the 49-star flags are scratching their heads as to what to do with them. But pity the poor flag manufacturers. Production of the 49-star banner must come to a screeching halt. The question is now where will the 50th star go?

Antismog Gasoline Hailed by Maker

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gasoline designed to reduce smog has been announced by Tidewater Oil Co.

Tidewater officials said yesterday tests show the new fuel leaves "practically no impurities" on engine parts, evaporates only half as rapidly as other premium gasoline and gasoline efficiency is not reduced.

If all cars in the Los Angeles area burned this new fuel, Tidewater said, the decreased evaporation would reduce the amount of smog-producing hydrocarbons going into the air by more than 100 tons a day.

London Officials Plan Piccadilly Facelifting Job

LONDON (AP) — They're planning to change the face of London's Piccadilly Circus — mecca for millions of visitors to Britain's capital.

★ ★ ★

The Town Planning Committee announced today it has approved a new building with a 172-foot tower which will go up on the north side of the traffic circle in the heart of London.

Demolition is to start March 26. One of the buildings to go is known to thousands of World War II GIs as the Rainbow Club. It is now a snack bar.

A jet bomber squadron today has 10 times the horsepower of a World War II squadron with 1,000,000 horsepower in the jet planes compared with 100,000 in the piston bombers.

Prince Albert Now One; Grace, Rainier Boastful

Since his birth was announced by a 101-gun salute last year, Albert who will inherit the gilded throne of Monaco, has grown to 26½ pounds and two feet six inches.

After a special mass he will have a quiet little birthday party at the palace where there are high hopes he can blow out the one candle on his cake without outside help.

Cattle Rustling on the Upgrade in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Fast transportation and fairly good cattle prices are making rustling a lucrative business in Oklahoma.

George Reid, executive secretary of the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Assn., said that from July through December, 1958, 807 cattle and calves were reported stolen, strayed or missed.

"This represents about $160,000 to $200,000 worth of animals," he said. "This is probably just a drop in the bucket with the number that might be missing because there are many reports I'm sure we don't get."

★ ★ ★

Association figures don't extend back into early days of cattle rustling, but the head of the Oklahoma Bureau of Investiagtion said he felt it was on the upgrade. Bureau Chief Forrest Castle said his agency had commissioned eight rangers to investigate cattle thefts.

The latest cattle thef reported involved 21 head taken from the ranch of Elmer Hadden Sr., of Pryor. Two men were convicted in federal court—because the animals were allegedly sold in Kansas—and sentenced to a year in prison.

The South African gold mining industry is the largest in the world.

Be Warm in First Note to His Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son who is in the service has just written us that he has become engaged to a girl in the town where he is stationed. As this is a distance away, it will be impossible for my husband and me to pay the conventional visit to her and her family.

"However, it is my understanding that when this visit cannot be made, the mother of the man should write a note of welcome to the girl. As this is a new experience to me, I am completely at a loss to know what to write. Will you help me?"

Answer. You write something like this. "Dear Helen, John has just written us the happy news. And of course I am wishing that instead of sending you this letter I might be going to see you to welcome you in person.

"But your welcome by us will be warm, I promise you, when you come to see us, which I hope will be very soon. Meanwhile, with love and best wishes from your future family-in-law, Affectionately, Sara Jones."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a gentleman sees a lady into a taxi, should he pay the driver or give her the money to pay him?"

Answer: If he had invited her to go out with him and then for some unavoidable reason he could not see her home, it would be proper to pay the driver and give him the address. But if he is merely a fellow guest at a party and, happening to leave at the same time, calls a taxi for her, he must not do anything about her fare. He shuts the door and says goodnight and that is all.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I are having an argument as to the correct way to eat fried shrimp. She says the only way to eat them is with a fork. I say it is entirely correct to use your fingers to pick the shrimp up, dip them into the sauce and then put them into the mouth. Who is right?"

Answer: Your sister is right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I sent a wedding present with our Mr. and Mrs. card enclosed. Later I alone received a thank-you note with no mention of my husband. I think such a note should be written to both, don't you?"

Answer: Both certainly should be thanked. This is done either by sending a note to Mr. and Mrs., or by including the husband in the message addressed to Mrs. alone.

Wife Needs Bottle-Stopper—Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Every time my mother-in-law comes over to see me she falls down. I can smell the liquor on her breath three feet away but she says she hasn't had a drop and tries to tell me my floor slants. Nobody else falls here. I would like to let her know once and for all that I am wise to her condition and she is not getting away with the excuse that my floor slants. Another thing, if she falls here again and breaks her leg or something, I understand that we are hooked for the doctor bills. I wish you'd help me figure this out without causing a family fight.

ABBY

QUIET AND PEACEFUL

DEAR QUIET: It's useless trying to level with someone whose perspective is "a-rye!" When you see her coming, lead her to a chair lest she get fractured literally as well as figuratively. Someone in the family should get to the bottom of her trouble before she gets to the bottom of the bottle. The poor soul needs help.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: May I tell Philosopher that one of the reasons our government is spending millions of dollars to explore outer space is because if we didn't the Russians would wipe us off the face of the earth. Philosopher said, 'If the good Lord wanted us to get to the moon he would have built a bridge.' I wonder how many of your readers remember when the Wright brothers declared that man could fly and all the old fuddy duds said, 'If the good Lord intended for us to fly he would have given us wings!' God doesn't give us wings or build bridges. He just gives us intelligence and lets us figure it out for ourselves."

"DEAR ABBY: My wife has started to call me 'Lardy.' I admit I'm getting a little chubby around the middle. I am 47 years old and it's not as easy to take off weight as it used to be. Do you know of any exercise that will slim me down?" BOB

DEAR BOB: Exercise a little will power.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Instead of being a 'problem child'—I have a 'problem' mother. I am 16 and she treats me like I was 4 or 5. I know she means well, but I wish she would let me run my own affairs. When I have a disagreement with my boy friend (or one of my girl friends) she gets on the telephone and calls them (and sometimes their mothers) and tries to straighten everything out. She only messes things up worse. Could you tell me what to do before I end up alone and friendless?"

"PROBLEM MOTHER'S" CHILD

DEAR CHILD: Tell your mother you know she means well, but as a favor to you she must refrain from "straightening out" your affairs. If this doesn't work—tell her less.

Keep Firm, Smooth

Arms Need Special Beauty Care

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Women are apt to neglect their arms. These require special attention if they are to remain lovely as the years pass. With the arms and shoulders so much in evidence in current styles, this care becomes doubly important.

Summer will be with us before we know it. Why not recondition these appendages before then? In the first place, do you use a cream or body lotion on your arms, or just on your face, neck and hands? The arms need it also if they are to be soft and lovely.

Of course elbows must be treated to regular cold cream massages each day or night. Otherwise they are certain to become rough. If your elbows already are rough and dark, you can improve the condition. Use a bath brush with soapy suds during each bath.

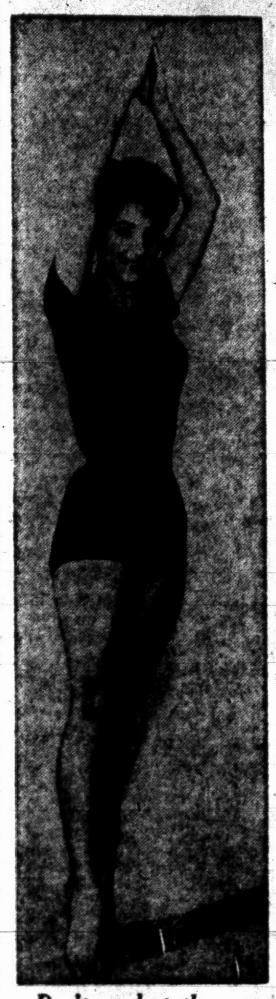

Afterwards, massage them with cream. If they are discolored, use lemon juice as a bleach. You will be surprised at the improvement which will occur after a few weeks of this care.

If your upper arms are flabby, exercise is your dish. This will take faithful investment for a few months before you see a difference. Sports such as tennis, golf, badminton and swimming, are splendid corrective exercises. Here are some more:

1. Stand tall with your arms hanging at your sides. Raise your arms sideward-upward and clap your hands overhead. Swing your arms down and back turning your palms toward the back of the room. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders, elbows high. Return arms to starting position. Continue with this four-count exercise. You can do it to music if you wish, four-four or two-four time.

2. Raise your right arm sideward, shoulder height, and place the fingertips of your right hand on some piece of furniture or object the same height as your outstretched arm. Keep the elbow stiff as you push down with the arm. Relax and continue slowly. After a while raise your left arm sideward, shoulder height, place your fingertips on the object and push down with your left arm. Relax and continue.

If you would like to have my exercises for the arms, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 11, "Armfuls of Beauty". Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Don't neglect the arms in your beauty routine. If the upper arms are flabby, exercise is your dish.

Mother Warned Us We'd Have Days!

By RUTH MILLETT

Nothing makes a woman feel so tacky as —

Getting a frizzy permanent when her hair is already so short she can't cut off the frizz.

Going to a party, dressed in her best, and finding that she is the only one who isn't wearing casual clothes.

Putting on last Spring's suit and finding that she has gained so much weight she feels like a stuffed sausage.

Going to a gay evening party in a shapeless maternity dress and seeing how glamorous all of the other women look.

Being told in the middle of a party that her slip is showing and suspecting it has been that way all evening.

Having a woman who is far more slender than she is say, "I've got to lose weight. I look simply awful."

Having her husband ask innocently when she is dressed to go to a party, "Is that what you're going to wear?" or "You'd better hurry and change your dress, we have to leave here in 15 minutes."

Having her husband look at a dress in a shop window and ask: "Why don't you get that kind of dress," and realizing that in order to wear "that kind of dress" she would have to be 20 years younger and 20 pounds lighter.

Going to a luncheon in a winter hat and suddenly noticing that every other woman in the room is wearing a gay Spring bonnet.

Styling Clothes for Stars Takes 'Scientific' Skills

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Heaven help their families if women shopped for food as carelessly as they do for clothes, says Edith Head, Hollywood's most famous designer and author of a just published autobiography, "The Dress Doctor."

★ ★ ★

"Most women are perceptive about their homes, their furniture, their children and their meals," says the small, dynamic Edith, who has dressed most of the famous movie stars from Clara Bow to Sophia Loren. "But the average woman has a blind spot when she looks at herself.

"She can look at a sofa and say, 'That's a mess—it needs a new slipcover.' But she can look at her own reflection in a mirror and never realize that she also is a mess, and also needs a slipcover."

Miss Head, a former French teacher in California schools, is fashion chief for Paramount Pictures, a post which she has held through a generation of movie glamor girls. She lives in Beverly Hills with her husband, Wiard Ihnen; designs all her own clothes as well as those of the stars.

★ ★ ★

STRICTLY SCIENTIFIC

"Fashion can be whimsy," says she, "but dressing well doesn't just happen. Dress designing is not cute, but clinical and strictly scientific.

"I make up my clothing prescriptions as seriously as any doctor. And believe me, some of my 'patients' need them."

There's no excuse for a woman being badly dressed today, says Edith. She feels strongly about the general appearance of the American woman in the super market.

★ ★ ★

"So many women seem to feel that they're invisible when they go shopping, so they turn up at the market wearing everything from toreador pants to house dresses, with their hair in pincurls and any old shoes at hand," she says.

"There seems to be a strange feminine psychology that until a woman gets dressed up to meet her friends for lunch, nobody can see her. They feel that they have a kind of protective coloration."

Our Plea for Christ
Our plea for Christ involving a PLEA FOR THE UNITY OF ALL BELIEVERS does not necessarily imply a consolidation of denominationalism but rather a complete elimination of it. In praying for unity in Jno. 17:21, Christ implied that all division was against his will, for his will is the unity of all believers.
In 1 Cor. 1:10-13, division is condemned in the strongest terms. In verse 13, the question is asked, "IS CHRIST DIVIDED?" This was said in condemnation of their divided state.
To divide and rend the church of Christ into parties is to divide Christ. The church is his spiritual body, Col. 1:18 to establish which he sacrificed his fleshly body. Then it is a greater sin to divide the church of Christ than it was to pierce and mutilate his fleshly body. He who introduces things not required by God, that cause division and strife, is guilty of the strife. All the divisions in the churches arose over the introduction of teachings, orders, and institutions not ordained by God. Hence the followers of Christ cannot divide—cannot introduce things not required by God. Yet when things are introduced to divide us we sometimes hear it said and prayed, "we thank God for our differences" but friends we must not thank God, for God is not responsible for division, man is and just as man is responsible (for dividing God's people) man will be held responsible.
That we are divided is evident, that Christ prayed for unity is a fact, and that the Bible teaches unity is an indisputable truth. What then shall we do, for Christ is not divided. 1 Cor. 1:10-13. Shall we continue to knowingly endorse error, ignore the prayer of Christ, and set aside the teaching of the Bible on this subject. I say the honest and sincere will answer an EMPHATIC NO! For he will endeavor to eliminate division and encourage unity by SUBMITTING HIMSELF UNTO THE RIGHTEOUSNESS OF GOD, AS IT APPEARS IN THE BIBLE.
In a previous article we suggested that we are not pleading that men give up their individuals church distinctions and peculiarities and adopt those of another for we would have the same problem (division), but on a smaller scale, but we with Christ (Jno. 17:21) are pleading that all men give up all things contrary to the Bible and become obedient followers of Christ, that He might become the author of their eternal salvation. Heb. 5:8,9. Believest Thou This?

Reverend Harry Moore Conquered Affliction

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some human beings are thrilling. Let me tell you about an inspiration-packed personality.

Recently I had a speaking engagement in Savannah. I was glad to be there because it gave me some time to spend with one of the most remarkable human beings I ever met, a truly inspiring and good friend, Harry Moore.

PEALE

Now, you may never have heard of Harry Moore, but everyone in Savannah knows him. He is the pastor of a Methodist Church there; it is a beautiful church and he built it up to its present status. He comes from a family that knows about building up churches—his father is another great pastor, the Methodist Bishop of Atlanta, Arthur J. Moore.

Talking with Harry Moore is fun. I'd class him as one of the best tellers of stories south of the Mason and Dixon line. Not only is Harry fun, he's interested in just about everything.

"Norman," he asked me, "have you seen any good shows up in New York lately?"

"No," I said, "I'm too busy. I don't get around to shows very often . . . I'm sorry to say."

He shook his head in mild reproof. "I don't know what's the matter with you. Why, I'm coming up to New York just to see some shows!"

★ ★ ★

"See?" I thought, "See?" For the Rev. Harry Moore is blind and has been blind for some years. But he never seems to think about it and his friends find it easy to forget that he can't see, just as he seems to forget.

I've known Harry Moore for a long time. And I knew him when in his late thirties, he came to New York and heard the tragic news that he would never see again.

After the specialist told him he would be blind, he went back to his hotel room on an upper floor. The overwhelming thoughts came to him about all the things he would never see again—the faces of his wife and children, sunsets and sunrises, mountains and valleys.

At that time he still had enough sight left to see from his hotel window down to the street far below. He knew enough mathematics to compute about how long it would take a body to fall from that window ledge to the sidewalk. In sixty seconds he could be through with all of it. He opened the window and grasped the ledge. Then he sank to his knees and asked the Lord to help him.

Just then his father entered the room, came over and put his arm around him. That dangerous moment passed . . . And, as Harry voiced it later, "In my Dad's supporting love I learned the true meaning of fatherhood."

The next Sunday, still in New York, he came to my church. He came early, before anyone else was there. He sank into the seat, put his head forward on one of the pews, and yielded himself to the spiritual quietness of that empty house of God. "I never knew before what it was to pray in such depth," he told me later.

"But all of a sudden in the holy silence I felt myself get victory." It didn't come all at once, but Harry Moore touched the hand of God and received power. Today he is a great and happy soul and a tremendously effective church leader.

★ ★ ★

Every troubled soul would do well to heed that Biblical invitation, "Come away by yourselves to a lonely (quiet) place, and rest a while." Many churches and synagogues are open day and night for meditation and prayer. Try the practice of quietness with a spiritual content and see what it can do for you.

France Would Keep Her Ships

Aim to Retain Fleet Even in War Could Weaken NATO

PARIS (AP) — Allied leaders feared today France's determination to retain command of her Mediterranean Fleet even in time of war might weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

★ ★ ★

President De Gaulle's show of independence was regarded as a bid for a stronger role in NATO military commands and to get more support for France's fight against the Algerian rebels.

The immediate impact of the French move was more phychological than military. There was apprehension it could give the impression—especially to the Soviets—of a sharp division among the Allies.

The French navy totals about 400,000 tons. Reliable sources said only a third of the fleet had been earmarked to come under NATO command in time of war.

★ ★ ★

French sources contended the government's decision to retain command would in no way alter the military effectiveness of NATO, either in peace or war.

One NATO source warned, however, such unilateral action — if followed by other countries—could severely damage the alliance.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander, Europe, was given assurances French forces would "cooperate" with the alliance.

But De Gaulle government sources said France had "special responsibilities" in the western Mediterranean that made it necessary to keep her fleet there under French command.

★ ★ ★

This was an obvious reference to Algeria, where France has been fighting a nationalist insurrection for more than four years.

New Fiat Makes Hit at Geneva Car Show

GENEVA (AP)—The sharp-angled new Fiat 1800 stole the show at the opening of the 29th annual motor show yesterday.

Well before the official opening preview spectators crowded round the Fiat, major novelty among 86 models from 53 nations.

New Italian-designed bodies on British Austin, Wolseley, MG and Vauxhall models represented a vigorous British effort to stage a comeback on the important Swiss market.

The Fiat 1800 is the only totally new car at the show and attracted by far the most interest.

Dice Player Wins $35,000 at Vegas, Then Loses $9,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A gambling casino has gotten back $9,000 of the $35,000 a Californian won during a hot run of dice at the crap table.

Jack Callie of Beverly Hills, the lucky shooter, started with $10 and during his fantastic streak everyone who could crowd up to the table was betting along with him. In two hours the house was reported to have lost $112,000.

A spokesman for the Casino said Callie came back the next night and dropped $9,000 before deciding his luck had run out. He is president of the Beverly Hills Bridge Club.

Road Breakup May Take Heavy Toll

If the spring road breakup is as severe as anticipated, motorists in Pontiac and Oakland County can expect to pay out more than $953,000 in repair and road service bills, Automobile Club of Michigan predicted today.

Frost heaves, chuck-holes and broken pavements are already beginning to take their toll of tires, springs and shock absorbers, said Ernest P. Davis, Automobile Club of Michigan's safety and traffic director.

The club based its predictions on the findings of a five-day survey of road conditions, service stations, public works departments and road commissions in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The club said that one out of every seven car owners in the county will pay an average bill of $25 to repair or replace tires and other mechanical equipment put out of commission by driving over rough and bumpy roads.

Two Auto Club teams covered both primary and secondary roads as well as many city streets. They found that:

1. The most severe breakups are occurring on roads constructed or resurfaced prior to 1950.

2. Road commission and public works crews are being hard-pressed to keep arterial routes in driveable condition.

3. A sudden and prolonged thaw will probably bring the worst breakup in Michigan history.

4. Snow and ice-control costs have eaten heavily into road maintenance budgets.

Road Service stations and garages have reported up to 50 per cent increases within the past few weeks in cut tires, broken rear springs, and worn-out shock absorbers and front wheel bearings from motorists driving over flooded streets spotted with ruts and chuck-holes.

The few recent days of warm weather have turned hundreds of unpaved roads into muddy traps for drivers. Total costs to motorists in the tri-county area for repairs, replacements and road service may reach $5,500,000 before summer, Auto Club said.

"Water is the big enemy," said Davis. "Rain and melting snow and ice can't seep into the ground because of the abnormally thick layers of ground frost." Officials report the frost still ranges from 30 to 36 inches in depth in many places.

"In addition, many culverts are frozen, keeping the water from running into storm drains," Davis stated. "As a result, the water is lying on road surfaces or shoulders and seeping into pavement cracks. When it freezes the cracks are enlarged and chunks of pavement are loosened to be knocked out by traffic."

The alternate freezing-thawing cycle experienced recently has also loosened most of the patchwork done in the past few years and uncovered old chuck-holes all over again, he added.

"It's still too early for road crews to begin major repair jobs and emergency patching is being knocked or washed out almost as soon as it's put in," said Davis.

The crews at present are working at full capacity in most areas using the "cold patch" treatment —a mixture of waste oil and gravel or slag. The Auto Club teams reported they found that allocations of patching materials are already from two to three times normal.

Road commission spokesmen voiced fears that the extremely severe winter and the anticipated spring breakup may force postponement of county paving programs. An alternative may be to lower the amount of road maintenance.

Veteran maintenance employes termed this year's early road breakup the worst in memory and predicted it would worsen as warmer weather approaches. Expected to be hardest hit are gravel and other unimproved roads.

Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties have about 125 vehicles patrolling roads around the clock to spot and report holes and other conditions calling for immediate repair treatment.

Auto Club inspection teams found that several roads are already dangerous, if not impassable in places. Maintenance men said they may be forced to block off some roads to traffic if the breakup continues. A few roads have been posted with "travel at your own risk" signs, while many Oakland county roads carry warnings, "Slow — Bad Holes."

"Motorists have been remarkably patient considering the conditions of many main routes," Davis said. Most complaints received by Auto Club and public works departments concern local and residential streets.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County roads, which the Auto Club inspection teams found especially bad at the time of the survey, were:

Sections of Telegraph road, from 10 Mile road north to W. Huron street in Pontiac; Northwestern Highway, north from 10 Mile to 15 Mile road; 13 Mile road, west from Stephenson Highway; 14 Mile road, west from Rochester road to Crooks road; Main street, north from 10 Mile road in Royal Oak; Vinsetta avenue, north from Catalpa to 12 Mile.

Lincoln, west from Dequindre to John R.; Cass-Elizabeth Rd., south from W. Huron to Orchard Lake road; Orchard Lake road, southwest from Telegraph to Pontiac Trail; M-218 (Pontiac Trail), southwest from Orchard Lake Rd., and Maple road, east of Cranbrook and west from Woodward to Orchard Lake road.

Spurred by Rivalry of Leftist Kassem

Nasser Blasts Commies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United Arab Republic's President Nasser has set off one of the most slashing attacks on Communism ever witnessed in the Middle East.

In truth, Nasser has been entirely consistent.

He never was a Communist. He never tolerated Reds in Egypt. Once he became head of the United Arab Republic, he cleaned them out of Syria too. Privately, Nasser has often voiced distaste for Communism as a way of life.

But the Arab leader hated more what he calls the "imperialism" of the West—the policies of Britain, the United States and France toward the Middle East. He accused them of interfering in the internal affairs of Arab countries and exploiting the Arabs for their own gain. Until now at least, he considered the policies of the Western Powers more dangerous to him than the threat of Communism.

★ ★ ★

From the Soviet Union, moreover, Nasser got promises of noninterference in Arab affairs. Just as important, the Soviet Union sided with the Arabs against Israel, unlike the Western Powers. Nasser still would like to remain friends with the Soviets.

Virtually overnight, Nasser has turned the full might of his powerful propaganda machine against Communism. More important, he personally is leading the attack.

The reason is Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq. True or not, Nasser believes Kassem is a Communist. He has said so privately.

★ ★ ★

He now charges Kassem with opening Baghdad to the Communists and with aiming eventually to bring the whole Arab world under Communist rule.

What Nasser does not say is that Kassem right now is challenging his heretofore undisputed number one position in the Arab world.

Moreover, Kassem has clearly opposed Nasser's main policy for the Arabs—Arab nationalism. This is something Nasser cannot abide.

Kassem has suppressed Arab nationalists in Iraq. He has jailed their leaders. Now he has stamped out the army revolt in Mosul led by Arab nationalist Iraqi officers.

★ ★ ★

To add insult to injury, Kassem publicly accused Nasser of fomenting the trouble and kicked out Egyptian embassy personnel.

This, perhaps more than anything else, triggered Nasser's all-out onslaught on Kassem and the Communists who support him.

Flint Firm Gets Contract

OSCODA (AP)—The Army Corps of Engineers in Detroit has awarded a contract totaling $1,214,444 to the Erickson & Lindstrom Construction Co., Flint, for an industrial building, an operations building and other installations at Wurtsmith Air Force Base. Work is to get under way late in March and be completed in mid-July 1960.

Sergeant Jack, Peacemaker of Chinatown, Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—He was known to San Francisco's Chinatown as Mau Yee—The, Cat. But he was really Sergeant Jack, who put an end to the bloody tong wars.

★ ★ ★

Manion was placed in charge of the Chinatown detail in 1921. By March of that year he had arranged a peace pact among six powerful and warring tongs. They were fighting over control of gambling, prostitutes, and narcotics.

After they signed the peace pact Sgt. Manion told the tong leaders that if there were any more killings the leaders would either produce the killers or be deported to China.

★ ★ ★

163 Infants Get Savings

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Bank & Trust Co. has completed a count of Detroit area babies born on March 5—the bank's 110th anniversary—and has opened $5 savings accounts for 157 babies. Receiving $110 savings accounts for being the first (12:01 a.m.) March 5 births were two sets of twins and two other babies.

State Gets Real Bargains

Housewives: Read, Drool

LANSING (AP) — The average housewife, a sharp shopper for grocery bargains should drool when she reads how much the state pays for some everyday items.

Cocoa for 39 cents a pound, as an instance, when the housewife pays around 70 cents . . . a pound of cottage cheese for 12 cents compared to the average 29 cents . . . a peck of potatoes for 21½ cents against the going price of around 49 cents.

The state does it through competitive bids, buying carload lots and stocking up when prices are cheapest.

With all the economy talk floating around the state capitol, the prices paid point up that the purchase of essential items is one place where it will be hard to shave off any more pennies.

If savings are going to be made, it probably will have to be some place other than in commodity purchases.

Here are a few more grocery items, the state price followed by that to the average supermarket shopper:

Family-size package of cornflakes, 21 cents and 33 cents; 42-ounce package of rolled oats, 25 cents and 41 cents; one pound box of soda crackers, 21 cents and 29 cents; one pound box of raisins, 21 cents and 38 cents; 46-ounce can of tomato juice, 19 cents and 29 cents; 46-ounce can of orange juice, 24 cents and 49 cents; family-size can of peaches, 24 cents and 37 cents; 20-ounce loaf of bread, 14 cents and 24 cents; ond pound of peanut butter, 19 cents and 39 cents.

★ ★ ★

An antibiotic capsule costs the state 23 cents to 50 cents to the housewife. It pays seven cents for 100 aspirin against the retail price of 49 to 62 cents.

Good quality toothbrushes are purchased for five cents each compared to at least 39 cents retail. A giant economy size tube of toothpaste costs 17 cents against several times this for the individual purchaser.

State cars roll on gasoline purchased at 14 cents a gallon, high grade motor oil at 13 cents a quart and anti-freeze at $1.34 a gallon.

The state pays $2.71 a gallon for high grade house paint retailing at $8. Razor blades are less than a penny each.

James W. Miller, state controller, estimated that the state saves up to six million dollars a year from its centralized buying policy and other economies—like switching recently from linen to paper towels for state office buildings.

New Ballpoints at Post Offices Are Too Popular

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sign of postal progress: More and more people are stealing ballpoint pens from post offices.

Patrons like the new pens much better than the old scratchy kind that used to lie on counters in post offices.

"As a matter of fact, nobody stole one of those other pens," the Post Office Department told the House Appropriations Committee.

French Cameroons Get U. N. Freedom

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. General Assembly has decided to set the French Cameroons free next Jan. 1 and to conduct two plebiscites in the British Cameroons within 14 months.

★ ★ ★

The Assembly acted without dissent Friday night in adopting resolutions on the two West African trust territories at the end of a three-week session. Both had been recommended the previous night by its Trusteeship Committee.

★ ★ ★

The measure on the French Cameroons ends trusteeship over the territory next New Year's Day when it gains independence. This passed 56-0 with 23 abstentions.

Mickey Cohen to Play Himself in New Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Cohen is going to play a familiar role in the movies. He will portray himself.

Schoncite International Productions announced Friday that Mickey and his girl friend, Liz Renay, have been signed to portray themselves in "The Liz Renay Story," with shooting to start next month.

Choral Groups to Sing Monday

Lenten Program Will Mark Orchard Lake School's 50th Year

ORCHARD LAKE — The St. Mary's High School Glee Club and choral students of Farmington High School will combine their talents to present a Lenten oratorio Monday.

The 150 member chorus will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois at the campus auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. here.

The combined choirs will be directed by the Rev. John Gabalaski of St. Mary's High School and William Feucyht, director of the Farmington choral department.

Leading soloists in this cantata are Diane Franjac and Dan Karney, both of the University of Michigan School of Music and George McWhorter, of the U. S. Army Chorus.

Soviet Soprano First in New York Since War

NEW YORK (AP) — Mezzo-soprano Zara Doloukhanova appeared at Town Hall Friday night, billed as the first Soviet singer to entertain here since the end of World War II.

★ ★ ★

Said Howard Taubman of the New York Times: "Miss Doloukhanova's voice is a fine instrument, but not world-shaking in size or quality."

But, said Taubman, "With every song she undertook she made music. Her control is all but faultless."

★ ★ ★

The image looms large of a goddess of song. Well, the truth is (she) is none of that. What she is, is good—extremely good."

★ ★ ★

Miss Doloukhanova, apparently in her 30s, is a native of Armenia. She has two children, one 16 years old and the other 4 months old.

Her program included selections from Tchaikowsky, Rachmaninoff, Prokofieff, Dolukhanian, Schubert, Richard Strauss, Ravel, Faure, and Debussy.

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Someone made off with one of A. J. Moore's alligators.

Moore, who operates a hot dog and hamburger stand, says he had three alligators in a pen, but one was missing Friday.

Singer Peggy Lee Ill With Virus Infection

The singer's physician ordered her to cancel her engagements. She will not be able to fulfill her part in the Dinah Shore television program Sunday night. Gary Crosby will take her place.

Paralytic Polio Up 50 Pct. in '59

135 of 193 Cases Are Maiming; Too Early to Predict Trend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paralytic polio cases this year are running more than 50 per cent higher than a year ago.

Last week 16 of the 19 polio cases reported by the states were paralytic, compared with 10 of 19 in the corresponding 1958 week.

Since Jan. 1 this year there have been 135 paralytic cases out of the 193 cases reported. This compares with 87 paralytic out of 153 listed to the same time last year.

However, a public health service spokesman said today it will be four to six weeks after April 1 before the trend for the 1959 polio season will be indicated.

From now to about the end of March polio cases usually are at their lowest levels for the year, with the season beginning about April 1. It reaches its peak usually about September.

A nationwide polio vaccination program is being launched Sunday night. It will put special emphasis on the need for vaccination of babies at as early an age as possible. Last year in some states more than half the paralytic cases were among children under 5 years of age. It is estimated less than half such children have had the recommended three doses.

Last year there were 3,140 paralytic cases, compared with 2,499 in 1957, reversing a downward trend which followed introduction of Salk vaccine in 1954-55.

TV Western Comes Back After Being Gunned Down

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are TV Westerns losing favor? Nope. Here's one that rose out of the dust after being gunned down.

It's "Tombstone Territory," which returned to ABC Friday night and looks good to continue its ride on the TV range. A lot of folks were surprised when the show was canceled last year.

"So was I," admitted young Pat Conway, who co-stars with Richard Eastham on the series. "The show had gotten good reviews and the ratings were okay. But we got caught in the middle of a shuffle of the advertising agencies that handled the sponsor."

When the show was dropped, the producers went ahead with 13 more films with the notion of syndicating the total of 52. But network interest revived, and "Tombstone Territory" may well continue for several more seasons.

That's okay with Pat, who does not mind hard work. He has experienced enough idleness as an actor.

There were times, in fact, when he might have concluded that his father was right. Pat is the son of the late Jack Conway, one of the great directors of MGM's heyday and maker of most of Clark Gable's action films.

"Dad didn't think much of my wanting to become an actor," Pat recalled. "He realized the great odds against finding success. It's true, of course. Of 10,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild, perhaps 1 per cent can make a good living from their profession.

"But the odds didn't scare me. When I was a kid, I decided there were two things I would like to be—an actor or a bum. The actor's life appealed to me more."

★ ★ ★

Pat had plenty of lean days. He spent a year under contract to his father's old studio, along with other hopefuls such as Steve Forrest, John Lupton ("Broken Arrow") and Bob Horton ("Wagon Train.")

"All we could get was bits," Conway said.

He also spent some time with the Old Vic company in England.

"It doesn't pay to display any classical training nowadays," he remarked. "The audience resents it in a western."

No New States Possible Soon

Hawaii Was Last of Organized Territories in U. S. Possession

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States now is fresh out of any territorial possessions likely to become states soon.

Hawaii was the last of the organized territories, a status preceding admission to the union.

The United States, however, still has a lot of extra property left—mostly islands. They range from uninhabited specks in the Pacific, to Puerto Rico in the Caribbean with a population of 2,258,000.

Other U. S. possessions are:

Virgin Islands—Situated in the Caribbean east of Puerto Rico, there are some 50 islands with a population of about 30,000. They have a governor appointed by the president and are under control of the Department of Interior.

Guam—Largest of the Mariana Islands in the Pacific, more than 5,000 miles from San Francisco, it has a population of about 37,500 natives of Malayan stock. It is under Interior Department jurisdiction and has a governor appointed by the president.

American Samoa — The seven eastern islands of the Samoan group, 2,300 miles west of Hawaii. Its 20,000 residents are mostly Polynesians. The Interior Department appoints its governor.

Other islands—Johnston, Sand and Kingman Reef, south of Hawaii, all under Navy control. Howland, Jarvis and Baker, also south of Hawaii, uninhabited but under Interior Department control.

Still others include Canton and Enderbury, under joint control of the United States and Britain; and the Caroline, Marshalls and Marianas, administered by the United States under a United Nations trusteeship.

HOPING HE MISSES — Harrison Munson (50) and Amos Bailey (34), both of Pontiac Central, wait underneath the basket as Livonia Bentley's Don Phillippi fires a shot from the side with Pontiac's Phil Rabaja giving him close company. Munson and Bailey are ready to grab a possible rebound and they hope the Livonia cager misses the target. The Chiefs gained a 53-49 triumph over Bentley Friday night at Southfield to win the Class A regional title.

Bandy Fires 31 to Pull Chiefs Past Bentley 5

Bailey Also Sparkles as Central Advances to Quarter-Finals

By BILL CORNWELL

The deadly accuracy of John Bandy and some brilliant support from Amos Bailey carried the Pontiac Central basketball team over the regional hump last night before a standing-room-only crowd in the Southfield High gym.

Bandy, who has played many great games in his three-year prep career, turned in one of his best yesterday as the Chiefs conquered a tenacious Livonia Bentley quintet, 53-49, to win the Southfield Class A regional championship.

The stringbean 6-foot-3 forward lived up to his All-State rating and then some by shooting 31 points through the bucket, featuring 15 field goals, as the PCH cagers avenged last year's 50-49 loss to Bentley in the regional final at Livonia.

Bailey, the 2nd semester replacement for the graduated Charlie Barge, was another tower of strength for the Chiefs, playing perhaps his finest game since breaking into the starting lineup in late January.

Performing under constant pressure, the 6-1 guard was a standout floor man, both defensively and on the backboards, in addition to finding the basket for 17 points. He scored five fielders and sank seven out of 10 at the foul stripe.

Simple arithmetic shows that Pontiac's "B-boys" combined for 48 of their team's 53-point total to pull the Chiefs into next Wednesday evening's state quarter-final round at a site yet to be chosen.

The Chiefs led Bentley from midway through the 1st quarter all the way to the finish line, but they never could shake off the stubborn Bulldogs who definitely were primed to stage an upset.

Sparked by their out-court scoring twins, Tom Eveland and Don Phillippi, the Bulldogs were tough and aggressive around the board and they kept rallying every time the Chiefs threatened to draw away.

Following the 1st period with PCH ahead, 11-9, Pontiac's lead for the most part ranged from 3 to 8 points. The Chiefs led by 9 twice in the 3rd quarter and Bentley twice came within 2 points in the 2nd half, Pontiac's halftime lead was 29-23.

Livonia's last serious challenge came in the final three minutes when the Bulldogs cut Central's margin to 45-43. Then Harrison Munson tipped in a rebound, the Chiefs quickly rebuilt an 8-point cushion, and they stalled and coasted their way home to victory.

Holly Nips Clio 56-54 to Gain Flint Final

Romeo Wins 'B' Crown

By CHUCK ABAIR

An all-area Class B quarter-final was in the making today as Holly moved into the regional championship game against Flushing at the Flint IMA following Romeo's clinching of a similar crown at Pontiac Central last night.

The Flint victor will be matched against the high-powered Bulldogs next Wednesday at a site to be determined by state officials Monday.

Romeo's balanced attack proved too much for scrappy Port Huron St. Stephen in an 88-71 scoring duel at PCH. Holly, aided greatly by an accidental Clio tip-in, squeaked by 56-54 to make the final round.

Six players hit double figures as Romeo had too many guns and too much height for St. Stephen.

Clicking off their 13th straight triumph, the Red and White broke away from a nip-and-tuck 1st quarter with a 27-15 2nd stanza edge to lead 50-38 at halftime. The rebounding and key baskets of dependable reserve Don Fowler provided the lift that put the charges of Bud Brotebeck ahead to stay.

It was 72-52 after three quarters and the difference was later up to 25 before the RHS bench was cleared.

★ ★ ★

St. Stephen, which had come from far back to overtake Clarkston Wednesday, stayed in the thick of things early largely due to some good all around play and amazing foul shooting. The Parochials converted their 1st 14 attempts and a total of 31-for-38.

★ ★ ★

Excellent balance was a big factor for Romeo with different boys carrying the load. Fowler swished eight of first nine floor shots and then went "cold" on his way to taking top honors with 19. Tall Jim Black countered nine in the last period to total 16. Reid Olszak and Dave Watterson combined for 21 of their 24 in the 1st half.

★ ★ ★

Romeo had only a slim shooting edge (43.2 to 37.9) but threw up some 95 shots to 58 in making 16 more field goals. A total of 49 personal fouls and three technicals resulted in 75 free throws.

The losers held the edge throughout the opening two periods which ended 29-23 as the Broncos could shoot only 28 per cent.

Holly started to recover early after the intermission rest slicing the difference to three. Then Oakland County's last "B" team still in the running went on a 10-point streak to forge ahead 40-33.

Clio kept fighting back and regained the advantage by two midway in the final quarter. But a goal by Ron Morlan, the "gift" tip-in, which was actually a shot by big George McDaniel which was blocked and deflected in, and two fouls by the 6-6 center made it 54-50 Holly.

The upstart CHS five got two back but then missed a chance to tie on a 1-1 foul situation with 12 seconds left. Morlan made what proved to be the deciding points on two free throws with five seconds to go offsetting a goal at the buzzer by Clio.

It was fitting that Holly should wrap up the verdict on charity tosses. The Wayne-Oakland runner-up won it from the line while making five less field goals than Clio.

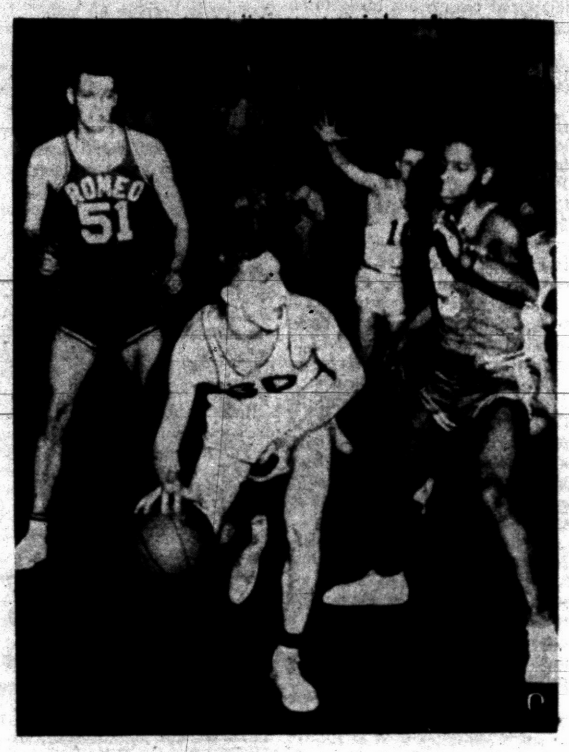

It was Holly's 16th straight triumph and 18th in 20 starts. Flushing, which has taken 17 in a row since dropping its lidlifter, buried Grand Blanc 70-48 last night.

LOOKING FOR HELP—Dribbler Dave O'Conner was anxiously looking for some help while double-teamed by Romeo scoring stars Jim Black (51) and Don Fowler as Port Huron St. Stephen tried in vain to come from behind in the last quarter in an 88-71 defeat. The regional win moved Romeo into the quarter-finals against tonight's Holly-Flushing victor.

Spartans Defeat Marquette 74-69 in NCAA Duel

Kentucky Conqueror Louisville Plays State Tonight in Final

From Our Wire Services

EVANSTON, Ill.—The high-flying Big Ten champion Spartans of Michigan State face upset-minded Louisville tonight in the finals of the NCAA Mideast Regional Basketball Tournament.

The Spartans defeated a stubborn Marquette 74-69 last night, while Louisville bounced defending champion Kentucky right out of the tournament 76-61 before a capacity crowd of 9,200 in Northwestern University's McGaw Hall.

Michigan State blew a 15-point lead but stayed off Marquette for the victory. The Spartans held a 24-9 lead after the first 10 minutes of play, but Marquette rallied to tie the score at 49 all midway in the second half.

The game then turned into a dog fight until Bob Anderegg scored three consecutive baskets on drive-ins late in the contest.

Anderegg led both teams with 23 points. Michigan State's Horace Walker, who with Johnny Green, helped the Spartans dominate play under the boards, scored 20. Green, banished on fouls late in the game, had 14.

It appeared for a while that Marquette might imitate Louisville's surprising upset of Kentucky. Marquette, like Louisville, trailed in the first half by 15 points. But by halftime, the Warriors from Milwaukee had cut the Spartan lead to 38-34.

Marquette got back into the game late in the first half with an eight-point spurt while the Spartans were scoreless. That cut the Big Ten champion's edge to 28-23.

Marquette's fast break, which sputtered throughout much of the first half, began to move effectively in the second.

With Walt Mangham spearheading the Marquette assault, the Warriors worked on the Spartan lead. Mangham's basket tied the score at 49-49, but Marquette never got ahead. Green worked to shove Michigan State in front, 56-49. Marquette refused to quit and, with three minutes left, trailed only 65-64.

Kansas State and Cincinnati meet tonight in a head-on clash that will produce an odds-on favorite in a tournament that already has become a carnival of upsets.

Kansas State smashed DePaul, 102-70, and Cincinnati beat Texas Christian, 77-73, as Oscar Robertson scored 34 points last night. Unheralded Boston University downed Navy, surprise conqueror of North Carolina in an opening-round game, 62-55.

West Virginia rallied to beat St. Joseph's (Pa.), 95-92, St. Mary's downed Idaho State, 80-71, and California topped Utah, 71-53, in the other games.

Play Lakers at St. Paul Tonight

Pistons Start Playoff

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The Minneapolis Lakers hoped their hex over the Detroit Pistons still was strong enough to help them tonight in their clash for National Basketball Association Western Division semi-final honors.

The second game was to be played in Detroit Sunday. The third, if necessary, was to be played at Minneapolis Wednesday. The winner will meet St. Louis in the seven-game Western finals, with the champ eventually facing the Eastern division leader for the NBA crown.

The Lakers, winners of 8 of 12 games with the Pistons, knocked off Detroit three times in the last month of the regular season to finish second in the Western Division.

The Lakers came back strong this season after winning only 19 games last year. Coach John Kundla credited that to the sensational scoring of rookie Elgin Baylor and the improved play of veteran forwards Vern Mikkelsen and Larry Foust. Dick Garmaker, Ed Fleming and Rod Hundley have been supplying most of the punch from the guard spots.

★ ★ ★

Detroit faded fast after top scorer George Yardley was injured and later traded to Syracuse for Ed Conlin. Guard Gene Shue became the big scorer for Detroit, but the team mainly relied on balanced scoring.

The East had a rousing opener last night as Syracuse outplayed New York all the way for a 129-123 victory in a game that set a playoff record for total points by two teams.

Dolph Schayes caged 35 points and had 15 rebounds and rookie Hal Geer added 16 points as the Nats hit 48 per cent of their shots.

Ex-Piston George Yardley had a big hand in the triumph despite playing only half the game. He totaled 22.

New York had beaten Syracuse 9 of 12 in the regular season but failed to show much in its 1st playoff game in four years. Richie Guerin topped the Knicks with 24.

The Eastern foes meet again Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised contest. Another Nat victory would make them eligible to meet Boston for division honors. If New York wins, a 3rd tilt is set for Monday.

Hurling Worries Haney

United Press International

The Milwaukee Braves, based on their early spring training games, are going to need more than a new second baseman to win the National League pennant again this season.

Birdie Tebbetts, the Braves' new vice president, and general manager John McHale have been visiting the training camps hunting for a replacement for hospitalized Red Schoendienst. However, manager Fred Haney is equally concerned over his pitching staff.

The Braves' hurlers have given up 27 hits in their last two exhibition games. Carlton Willey, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson gave up 17 hits in a 13-7 loss to the Phillies Wednesday, then the White Sox bombed Bob Trowbridge and Juan Pizarro for 10 hits yesterday while rolling to a 7-1 victory.

Milwaukee now has won only two of its first six games on the Grapefruit circuit. Oddly, those two victories were posted against the world champion Yankees.

The Braves collected only two hits off the combined hurling of veteran Early Wynn and rookies Rodolfo Arias and Claude Raymond. Al Smith homered for the White Sox, who scored four runs off Trowbridge in the third inning and then added three more of Pizarro to complete the rout.

The Baltimore Orioles collected 11 hits in whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 6-2; Don Blasingame's two-run double in the eighth inning carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-3 triumph over the Phillies, Ernie Banks hit a pair of three-run homers as the Cubs downed the Giants, 16-12, and the Athletics handed the Pirates their third straight defeat, 3-2.

Billy O'Dell and Hector Brown stopped the Reds with eight hits, with O'Dell giving up only one run over the first six innings. Cincinnati picked up its other run on a homer by Ed Bailey in the seventh inning. Gene Woodling homered for the Orioles.

★ ★ ★

The Giants scored seven runs in the fourth inning to wipe out a 9-3 Chicago lead but finally surrendered on Banks' second homer in the sixth. Leon Wagner, Willie Kirkland and Roger McCardell homered for San Francisco.

Ted Williams, famed Boston Red Sox slugger, played in his native city of San Diego, Calif. for the first time since 1941 as the Red Sox won their sixth straight, 8-5, over Cleveland in a night game.

Rocket Fuel in Pocket Explodes, Burns Cage Fan

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—Dave Hart, a 16-year-old basketball fan, took a small container of rocket fuel with him last night to the State High School tournament at Northern Michigan's fieldhouse.

It exploded in his pocket. Police said Hart was treated at the first aid room in the new fieldhouse for first and second degree burns of the hands and chest. No one else was burned.

Arrangements were completed today for another weekend fox hunt in the Ortonville-Holly areas. For this latest drive against Sir Reynard, Oakland County Sportsmen's Club members will join Cliff Dreyer and his hunters from Holly.

The hunt will begin soon after the two groups combine at Dreyer's gun and sports center in Holly. Prospective hunters from this section, and OCSC members will meet Sunday at 8 a.m. at OCSC headquarters then proceed to Holly.

Any area hunter may take part. Shotguns only will be the weapons.

Hamtramck Downs Parkers

E. Detroit Upsets Austin

Hamtramck had to share the glory with surprising East Detroit last night in Class A regional basketball headliners at Birmingham and East Detroit.

Underdog East Detroit nearly stole the show away from the Cosmos yesterday by eliminating defending state Class A champion Detroit Austin Catholic with a stunning 55-54 victory.

The Cosmos ousted rugged Highland Park with a 52-48 triumph, their 3rd win over the Parkers this season and every one a nip-and-tuck struggle.

Both games were decided in the final 30 seconds and each win brought a regional title to the survivor, throwing East Detroit and Hamtramck together for next Wednesday's state quarter-final round at a site still to be selected.

Ron Schult, who took East Detroit scoring honors with 15 points, canned a layup shot to produce the upset conquest of Austin after the Shamrocks had owned a 12-point lead in the 1st half and let it slip through their fingers.

Schult swiped the ball away from Gary Ruprich of the Friars and drove in for the winning basket. Austin's Dave Miller captured game point-making laurels with 19 while Don Petroff added 14 to the Shamrock offense.

Two foul shots by Art Reid and a follow-up field goal by John Dobroczynski broke a 48-48 tie and gave Hamtramck its hard-earned win over Highland Park. Len Guinn made 17 points for the Cosmos and Dick Krivak had 13 for the Parkers.

★ ★ ★

New Haven battles Grosse Pointe St. Paul tonight at 8 o'clock in the Birmingham High School gym for the Class C regional crown.

Husky Matmen Still in, Chiefs Out of Tourney

Pontiac Northern's two entries were still in the running but a Pontiac Central pair had been eliminated as the State Wrestling championship moved into the final round today. Titles will be decided tonight.

★ ★ ★

Husky 154-pounder Maurice Lackey was the only winner among the four city boys. He downed Dave Post of Detroit Thurston 3-2 and then was pinned by highly-rated Kermit Pickell of Jackson. Winfred Miracle of PNH got pinned by 138 favorite Fred Lett of Ypsilanti.

The Northern pair are still in the running because their conquerors have not been beaten.

Duke Relyea, 175, and 165-pound Jerrel Reid were the Chiefs who dropped out early. Relyea bowed 5-4 to Norm Taylor of Ypsilanti on questionable call by the referee. Reid was defeated 5-2 by Bill Vitti of Dearborn Fordson.

3rd Bowlerama Event Next Fall

Tentative Dates Set for Press Handicap Event

More Prize Money, Actual Singles Contest Added Features

Plans are in the making for a bigger and better Pontiac Press Bowlerama tournament which is expected to be held next fall.

Tourney officials are currently considering Sept. 20, Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 as tentative dates for conducting the 1959 singles event.

Many more awards and added features will be included in the 3rd such meet which is open to all residents of Oakland County. Most of the prizes based on the order of finish will be increased over last year.

A total of 1,049 bowlers have competed in the previous tourneys for almost $4,000 in cash plus several trophies and other prizes.

A handicap arrangement similar to that followed before will be set up with a few possible changes.

An interesting added feature which is certain to appeal to the outstanding bowlers around Pontiac and the entire county will be a men's singles actual championship for a Press trophy.

Coming shortly after the opening of the 1959-60 keg season, the Bowlerama will be attempting to avoid conflict with any other major tourneys in this area.

Officials are shooting for 1,000 or more entries with hopes of drawing many from throughout the county and at least doubling the women participants. Only 225 women have bowled in the two previous events combined.

No tournament sites have been determined but plans call for approximately three qualifying "houses" and a different location for the finals. Alleys to be used will be announced as soon as a decision is made.

Joe Tinson of Pontiac and Dick Cork of Drayton Plains have taken men's honors in the past. Mrs. Donna Verhey of Drayton Plains missed by 11 pins last year of repeating as women's titlist bowling to tiny Pat Donner, also of Drayton.

Champs Belt 5 Homers in 14-8 Romp

Yanks Bomb Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—There is nothing very original or new about the New York Yankees.

They hit home runs and show almost no respect for pitchers of no-hit and 20-game fame. They choke off rallies. They have utter disregard for things like a six-run deficit.

So Bill Norman, manager of the Detroit Tigers, can be excused for being un-original yesterday after those big, bad Yankees beat his not-so-tough Tigers 14-8 at Henley Field. The slugging match was witnessed by more than 2,000 sun-baked spectators who seemed to rather enjoy the Yankee version of a successful day at Cape Canaveral.

Norman said things like "they killed us," "there's no defense for the long ball," "we had 'em but they got away."

If the Tigers, whose Grapefruit League record now is a modest 3-2, went to write that one off as just one of those things that sometimes happens on Friday the 13th, then perhaps they'de better be preparing some excuses for the 22 times they must meet the defending World champions during the regular season.

The Yankees rapped out 18 hits, 10 of them for extra bases. Mickey Mantle got his first home run of the spring. Bill Skowron, Norm Siebern, Elston Howard and even little Bobby Richardson rocketed home runs out of the park. Two of the blasts, including one by Richardson, who never has hit a Major League home run—came off Jim (No-Hit) Bunning.

The skinny right-hander, who has yielded 61 round trippers in the last two seasons, blew a 6-0 lead. It was lead off home run by Skowron in the fourth inning that started the trouble.

Richardson hit his before the inning was out and the Yanks scored four times in the fifth to tie the game. The Tigers went ahead again 8-6 but the Yankees plastered Paul Foytack for five runs in the eigth inning.

Mantle and Howard connected in the eighth. Siebern hit his in the ninth to highlight a three-run outburst against Don Lee. Bob Turley was wild and gave up six of the Tigers' runs in the first five innings.

Art Ditmar gave up the other two while rookie southpaw Ed Rich pitched shutout ball for the last two frames.

Charlie Maxwell hit a home run for the Tigers, who collected 11 hits in the first of two spring meetings with the Yankees.

The Tigers had two games scheduled for today. In the varsity game against Cincinnati, Bill Hoeft, Tom Morgan and Ray Narleski were to pitch. Rookies Ron Nischwitz, Fred Gladding and Wyman Carey were to work against the Pittsburgh Pirates in a B squad game at Lakeland.

TIGER DOUBLE PLAY—Rod Kanehl, Yankee rookie, is forced at 2nd as Deron Johnson hit into a double play in the eighth inning of a game with the Detroit Tigers Friday. Ozzie Alvarez, Bengal 2nd baseman, fires ball to 1st to complete twin-killing. New York won 14-8.

City Table Netters Feted

Awards were presented to the Pontiac Table Tennis Association's outstanding teams and individuals this week as the PTTA ended its regular season of play.

Dave Ewalt, director of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department which sponsors PTTA activity, presented the trophies at this week's closing session in the Pontiac Central girls' gymnasium.

The top team trophy went to A & W Root Beer, captained by Glenn Whitcroft who was the league's only undefeated player in men's singles this season.

Gloria Hartman, completing her 3rd year as secretary-treasurer of the PTTA, received the 2nd place team trophy as captain of the Newberry Market squad. Carl Knaack, league president and captain of the Nutrilite team, accepted the 3rd place trophy.

Individual awards were won by Jim Wert of Huron Cleaners, Diana Dailey of Pankey's Grill and Al Jenkie of Capitol Barber.

Wert was honored as the most improved male player and Miss Dailey as the most improved woman player while Jenkie earned the sportsmanship award by unanimous vote. All three were awarded trophies by Ewalt.

14 Lettermen Back; Prep for March 28 Opener

Optimistic Outlook for PCH Track

With conditioning drills under way daily in gymnasium and corridors of Pontiac Central High School, the Chief track squad is getting ready for an early season opener, two weeks from today.

★ ★ ★

First test for the Michigan High School and Mansfield (Ohio) relays champions will be in the Huron Relays at Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti. Pontiac was the unofficial winner of the meet a year ago. No team totals are kept for this test.

The relays are the first of 12 scheduled events for PCH concluding with the big state championships, at East Lansing. Chiefs will be defending champions for the fifth consecutive year. Included among the most important tests is at Mansfield, where Pontiac will be shooting for its 3rd title.

There's considerable optimism over the squad's prospects. Head coach Dean Wilson has 14 lettermen back, along with 13 junior varsity athletes.

In line with PCH's new "traditional" power in the event, the Chiefs will present another quartet of fine high jumpers. Arzo Carson, who first came to the front at Mt. Pleasant in Central Michigan's indoor meet a year ago, was state runnerup last spring. He is the defending Ypsi regional champion, and with Freddie Brooks makes a great one-two punch.

Both have bettered 6-3. Carson cleared 6-3½ at Ypsi. Both are seniors, as is Willie Robinson. Charles Kimbrell is a junior.

Brooks will also double as a sprinter, while Carson is being groomed for the hurdles. They are showing lots of speed, says Wilson, and should help take up some of the slack left by graduation of state sprint champion, Bobby Manning. Jim Hawkins and Dickie Keller. Both are also good broad jumpers.

There may be more strength than for some time in the 440, with three seniors, Jim Pritchett, Bob Richards, and cager Harrison Munson (one of Art Van Ryzin's key basketballers in the current title race), the leading prospects. Munson will report after the hoop season's end.

Junior Varsity, and other outstanding candidates include Andy Terry, Ed Drayton (hurdles), Arnold Jerome, Van LaCore, Maurice Johnson (880 also), Jim Nelson (880-440), Mike Yocum, all quarter-milers; Bob Walker (also high jump) Harold Ledsinger (also broad jump), Fred Smith, dashes; Joe Anderson (mile, vault), Ken Byrd (880-mile), and Rex Smith (mile).

Kimball Swimmer Forces Kleinschmidt to Record

First event for the two-day Michigan High School swimming championships, last night in the new Michigan State University pool, was a sizzling record-breaker—for both Class A and Class B.

The only Pontiac area entry to finish in the top five was really responsible for forcing Ann Arbor's ace distance splasher, Owen Kleinschmidt to a 4:15 record for the 400-yard freestyle.

Royal Oak Kimball's Barry Johnson chased Kleinschmidt most of the way, trailed by 4 seconds at the finish. Tom Dudley of Sexton was nosed out for 2nd. Both he and Barry were under the former mark of 4:24.1 set a year ago by Birmingham's Tom Bechtel, now graduated.

Class B record was set by Harold Stekette of East Grand Rapids at 4:43.5 (old 4:46.4).

Preliminaries in 10 events, plus diving, take place this afternoon, finals at 8 p.m.

Huron Loop Scores Down at Motor Inn

Since moving from Huron Bowl to Motor Inn scores in the Huron Bowl Classic have hit rock bottom. In two league sessions only three 600 totals have been recorded, while 34 have been less than 500.

Recent action saw Cone's Rental continue its late season surge which has now carried it from the second division into a contending third spot. Latest Cone's victim was Stroh's Beer who dropped four points and sagged to fourth position in the league standings.

Elliott Does 3:58.9 in Brisbane Mile Run

BRISBANE (AP) — Australia's Herb Elliott, holder of the world mile record, ran a 3:58.9 mile today in the Old Centenary Athletic Championships at New Lang Park. This compares to his world mark of 3:54.5.

Elliott, who recently returned from a visit to the United States and Canada, went the first quarter in 59 seconds, the half-mile in 2:01 and the three-quarters in 3:03

Merv Lincoln took the lead the second time around the 440-yard oval, but Elliott stayed on his heels and passed him halfway around the final circuit.

NHL Playoffs Begin March 24

The Board of Governors of the National Hockey League set up tentative playoff dates yesterday, for the Stanley Cup.

With Montreal definitely assured of first place and three teams possible third placers, the board decided that the first two games of the Division A semifinal round would be played on March 24 and 26. If Chicago or Boston finishes third, the first two games of Division A will be played in Montreal. If New York is third, the first two games with Montreal will be played in Madison Square Garden.

The Division B series, involving second and fourth placers, also will have March 24 and 26 openers with the runner-up club the host in all cases except if the Rangers should finish fourth. Then the New York club will entertain on those dates no matter who finishes second.

Other dates in both best-of-seven series are March 28 and 31, April 2, 4 and 7 if Montreal is host. The dates of games in U. S. cities would be the same except that the March 28 date would be changed to March 29.

TROY, N.Y. (UPI) — Michigan State and North Dakota University clash tonight in an all-Western final in the NCAA hockey championship.

Your Neighbor's House

Determination Helps Build a House

background for LIVING

IN SYLVAN SHORES — The William Herrmanns of Woodbine drive have put hours and hours of their time and labor into this brick ranch home. The exterior of the house is made of random color bricks. Ledgerock is used as trim on the front. There is an attached double garage. Bill Herrmann drew the plans himself. Their lot which is nicely wooded is 91 by 137 feet.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Geris

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

The story of the William Herrmann home in Sylvan Shores amounts almost to a saga. We are always impressed with the tenacity of people who decide to build a house, then go ahead and do it no matter how long it takes.

When we first knew Jean and Bill Herrmann, they were living in a crowded little house right in Pontiac. They had three small girls, plus dreams of a house in suburbia. They had their lot on Woodbine, high above Otter Lake.

In the spring of 1952 they began to build. They had determined to do everything they could themselves. They hired the plastering, plumbing, heating, tiling and brick work done by experts. The rest they felt they could handle.

When they moved in in August of 1953, there was no door set in the front opening. No doubt, the youngsters considered this a great lark. We doubt that their parents were as enthusiastic.

For several years now we have been asking Jean when we could do her house and always her answer was, "Ha, it isn't done!" Finally we pinned her down, just before Christmas.

Some of the pictures were taken then, but we didn't finish the job until the new living room furniture arrived last month. Didn't we tell you it was a saga?

PORCH TO DEN

Oh, yes, the den still isn't done. It started out to be a porch. Then Bill Herrmann closed it in and paneled the walls with birch. Now it's a study and could be a bedroom.

This study-den is just the place for the three Herrmann daughters to do their homework. Fourteen-year-old Barbara probably makes the most use of it. But twelve-year-old Sandra and eleven-year-old Roberta use it, too.

In the living room they built a bookcase and storage unit extending from floor to ceiling. The lower section is large enough to hold card tables. The lowest shelf is slanted to hold magazines. Next to this bookcase is a built-in desk and telephone table.

A brown studio couch is placed so that it can be used for anyone watching a fire in the fireplace or for television viewing. The birch dining room table and chairs are placed under the window. Tweedy pads are used on the modern captain's chairs.

BREAKFAST BAR

There's a breakfast bar between the dining room and kitchen. This is topped with beige plastic in a marbleized pattern that has just a hint of aqua in it. Five coral top stools slide under the bar.

★ ★ ★

The floor tile is a little deeper beige than the dining room floor. Walls are blue. Cupboards are birch. These were all built to measure, then installed by the Herrmanns.

Laundry equipment is lined up along the fourth wall of the furnace room. It is conveniently near for Mrs. Herrmann to use while she is busy in the kitchen, yet out of the way of food preparation. A sliding door closes the kitchen off from the front vestibule.

The bedroom area can be shut off completely by a folding door. The first and largest room belongs to the girls. Walls in here are blue-gray. Curtains are white with a pink and blue design and black lines.

One double and one single bed match in design and color. Both have leather headboards —both have blue hobnail spreads. Each girl has her own bed lamp.

Each girl has a small black chest of drawers with brass handles. In addition, there is a larger black chest and a matching bookcase. There is even a television set in this room.

DOUBLE BATH

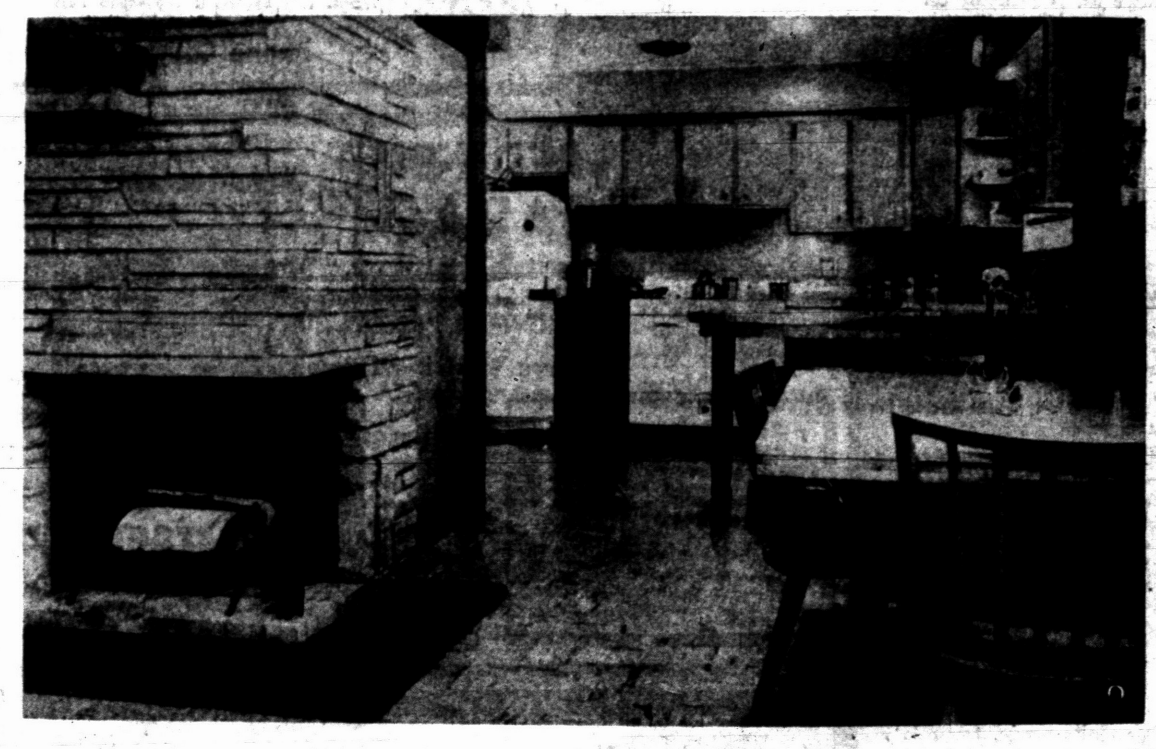

Any father of daughters will appreciate Bill Herrmann's desire for enough bathroom space. When he planned his house, he planned a double bath. One door opens to the hallway; the other opens into the parents' bedroom. A sliding door separates the two units.

Brightly striped curtains are used and contrast pleasantly with the sandalwood walls. There is lots of built-in storage.

OPEN KITCHEN — The kitchen is closed off from the living room by a sliding door, but is open to the family room. A plastic topped breakfast bar doubles as a work counter. In the kitchen walls are blue. The custom-made cabinets are birch. Behind the ledgerock chimney is the door to the furnace room. The birch dining room table can be easily extended into the long part of the room.

READING CORNER — This end of the Herrmann living room caters to reading and relaxing. Behind the brown and pumpkin sectional sofa is a low rock planter, marking off the slate-floored vestibule. The Philippine mahogany storage unit is built on one wall of the furnace core. The lower cupboards are large enough to store card tables. Just beyond the shelves is a small telephone desk. Walls in this room are sandalwood. The carpeting is beige. Penny, the Siamese cat, is just a ham actor. She was absolutely fascinated with Tom Geris' camera. A folding door in the background closes off the bedroom wing of the house.

GOOD DINING — When the Herrmanns and their three daughters are seated around this table, they can look out the back window into the garden (not right now!) and out the living room windows onto the lake. Or if the day is cold and stormy, they can draw the draperies, light a fire in the fireplace and enjoy a cozy meal. The floor in this family room is beige tile. Walls are Philippine mahogany. The curtains are white with aqua and brown leaves. This room can be closed off from the living room by a folding door.

FOR THREE GIRLS — Barbara, Sandra and Roberta have the larger bedroom in the house. They have ample space for their two beds and for little black storage chests with brass handles. Like most girls, they enjoy humorous pillows on their beds. Walls in this room are blue. The curtains have a white background with pink and blue flowers and black lines. Bedspreads are blue.

Building Into House Less Than Addition

When a family builds today, there comes a time when it must stop adding on $100 for this and $50 for that to keep the budget within reason.

But there are some additional expenses that make sense and save you money when compared to what the cost would be for making these improvements later. Among these, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out, is providing enough bathrooms to keep the entire family on good terms, especially when there may be two or more teenagers in the family.

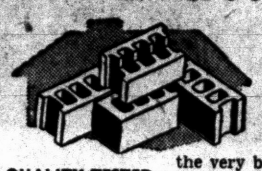

For instance, over and above the cost of one complete bathroom in a new house, a second bath built to share in-the-wall piping with the first one can be included for only 15 to 20 per cent of the cost of the original bath, plus the cost of the fixtures. For the convenience you know you'll want, that's an expense worth considering.

Built-in appliances installed as the house goes up, cost far less to install at the time of building. You can save hundreds of dollars by buying a dishwasher, food waste disposer, incinerator, automatic laundry equipment, an amply sized water heater and a water softener originally rather than adding these labor-saving devices later. FHA now requires no more income to buy a $12,000 or more house fully equipped than it does for the same house without appliances.

Housing experts say that homes without some means of cooling will be obsolete in five years. Air conditioning may be combined with the heating plant or it may be installed as an entirely separate system. At any rate, there are various ways in which cooling can be provided for a house heated hydronically with hot water.

Adequate bathroom accommodations and top-notch heating and cooling are two components of a new home that should get top priority. You can have them the way you want them — and less and at lower cost — when you build your house rather than later.

Spring Means Work for Pop

When the spring cleaning season opens, husbands hold their breath. They know from past experience that while wives work, they think . . . think of ways to improve the appearance of the house. The living room needs new wallpaper, the kitchen could do with a fresh coat of paint . . . and so it goes . . . as each room gets cleaned, another job for Pop gets added to the list.

One of the messiest jobs on any man's list is removing old wallpaper. It's easiest to do if you rent a regular steamer, but lacking this, the first step is to sponge down the wall with water. Since the sponge must be really saturated, be sure to protect the floor where you're working with plenty of old newspaper. Give the water time to soak in thoroughly and then scrape the paper from the wall with a broad scraper, or spatula . . . working from the top, downwards.

The next step, and a very important one if you want your new paper to go up smoothly and stick securely, is to wash down the wall with a strong solution of sal soda concentrated . . . about a cup of the sal per bucket of hot water. This gets rid of remaining paste and glue.

If a wife decides she wants one of her painted walls papered and the existing paint is a glossy type or enamel, you'll have to wash the wall down first with a strong solution of sal soda concentrated. The sal will cut the high-gloss surface of the old paint and insure a good bond for the new paint. It also removes all traces of grease and dirt.

Because of the ease with which it removes grease, how-to-do experts recommend that kitchen walls, bathroom walls and woodwork be thoroughly scrubbed down with a sal soda solution before being repainted.

Paint on Clean Surface

If you are about to paint over an old coating that is chipping and peeling, make sure that all loose paint is removed with a wire brush, steel wool or coarse sandpaper. Sand the surface smooth, especially edges of patches of old paint. Sandpaper all glossy spots, as a new coating will adhere more consistently if the surface to which it is applied has "tooth" as they say in the trade.

Want Paneling? Read New Book

Have you ever wondered what paneling pattern would look best in your family room or how you might install it in something other than a vertical or horizontal design? These and other questions you may have asked yourself are answered in a new booklet called "About Lumber Paneling," which is being offered by the Western Pine Association. The information is designed to help home-owners decide what they may do to express their own tastes with the ten species of wood from the western pine region.

The booklet opens with a description of the various sizes, grades, and basic patterns of paneling. It goes on to show how paneling is no longer being installed simply in the traditional ways but in varied designs, such as diagonal and herringbone, to achieve unusual effects.

Still further, it explains how various panelings may be combined for contrasting grains and how special installations, such as board and batten paneling, add structural or textural interest to rooms.

The book closes by stressing that lumber from the western pine region takes any stain, paint, or surface finishing treatment.

To receive a free copy write to Western Pine Association, Yeon Building, Portland 4, Oregon.

Put Heater Near Washer

It costs less to run long wiring than long piping. This applies to operating cost as well as first cost. The water heater should be near the automatic washer, if possible. A short, direct pipe run is desirable. It would be a good idea to discuss the piping hook-up for the hot water appliances with an experienced plumbing contractor.

Michigan Is Close Second

Ohio buys more western red cedar lumber for siding than any other state. Runner-up is New York, followed by Michigan, New Jersey, Minnesota and Massachusetts. Cedar lumber has unusually small cell structure and natural oil which insures its long life.

Throw Away the Shovel When You Heat Walks

Tired and bored with shoveling snow this winter? Then see your heating and plumbing contractor. He can install a system that will enable you to say good-bye to the snow shovel.

The fact is, you can let your house heating boiler help you melt snow and ice. It's done with pipe coils imbedded in the cement of the sidewalk and driveway.

Water from the boiler is piped to a heat exchanger. The heat exchanger heats water indirectly which is then circulated by means of a small electric pump through the pipe coils outdoors. The water is protected by an anti-freeze solution.

The system may be operated manually or automatically. If manually operated, the householder merely throws a switch when ice or snow starts to accumulate. If it is automatically operated, a thermostat controls the operation of the system.

The thermostat in the sidewalk is set to start the circulating pump whenever the sidewalk temperature drops to the freezing point, regardless of weather conditions. The control turns the pump off after the temperature of the walk is raised 7 or 8 degrees above freezing.

In an experimental installation of this type at the University of Illinois, engineers found that the total season cost of operating the snow melting system was $18.

Engineers are of the opinion that the automatically operated system is more economical than a system that is manually operated. The latter system would have to be started each time it threatened to snow.

One Spring Town Now Obsolete

About 1746 a farmer named Schaeffer piped a supply of water from a spring on his Pennsylvania farm to the community now called Schaefferstown in his honor.

Today more than 17,000 water works supply 17 billion gallons of water every day. To meet the overall needs of the average community, the water plant must supply 140 gallons of water per person each day.

This includes 50 gallons per person per day for residential use, 50 gallons for industrial purposes, 20 gallons for commercial uses, 10 gallons for public use, and about 10 gallons lost by leaks and breaks in underground pipe.

It is obvious that the public has a tremendous investment in water works and in water distribution systems. The function of these systems is to provide pure water to the householder at the meter.

What happens to the water in the building after it leaves the meter is the responsibility of the householder. It is in recognition of this responsibility that municipalities require that all plumbing work be done only by qualified persons. By definition this means a plumbing contractor who employs experienced men who understand the dangers of cross-connections in plumbing systems and know how to avoid them.

Rehabilitate for a Profit

A woman with more than 20 years of profitable experience in real estate restoration work, Mrs. Geer is the author of a book, "How to Profit by Rehabilitating Real Estate."

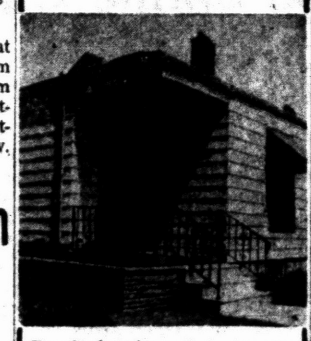

"Most rehabilitation for profit is achieved in a single small operation," writes Mrs. Geer. "It starts out with a cheap but essentially good property—the hard to sell bargain you run across every now and then.

"It proceeds through making that property so nice and so competitive at a stronger price that a profit is automatically included in the new selling or rental price."

Because bathrooms, kitchens and powder rooms tell the age of a house, this is a good place for the realtor to start who wants to make a quick profit on a middle aged home. It is in the plumbing department that a nominal investment will usually make the most dramatic changes, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Many old houses have the reputation of being "hard to heat." If this is the case, a rehabilitation of the heating system is in order.

Put Forgotten Garage on Spring Check List

Most neglected construction around many homes is the garage. It weathers the seasons, year-in, year-out, with very little attention. Some one of these times, check your garage out for needed repairs. Preventive maintenance is good insurance against major expenditure in years to come.

Make your check from the ground up. With pocket knife or screwdriver, probe bottom boards. Water runoff may have caused rotting or warping.

Plan right now on calking any seams that show evidence of having leaked water. If you can see daylight through them, calking is long overdue.

It isn't likely that high winds have loosened the plates where they're bolted to the base, but it won't do any harm to give each nut a turn with a wrench. They may have worked loose over a long period of time.

If snow or rain come in under the door, tack on a strip of special weatherstripping made especially for overhead garage doors. Slit an old length of garden hose and nail it to the bottom of a conventional hinged door.

USE OIL

Treat the inside and base of the door with linseed oil if you have only the outside painted. Panel edges of a folding door should be treated, too.

Check painted surfaces. If they've worn thin—if they have begun to crack and peel—plan to repaint. A garage is a relatively small building, so make your prepainting preparations thorough.

Scrape and sand every bit of loose paint. Brush off dirt. Prime every sanded spot before applying a finish coat. If nail heads have rusted through the paint, sand and spot with primer of shellac or aluminum paint.

If your garage has no gutters or downspout, the paint is perhaps dirt-streaked from the water that ran down the walls and the ground around the base will be quite muddy. Install gutters now, for better garage protection.

If you already have gutters, check them for rust. Scrape, sand and repaint or coat with asphalt cement. Make sure the hangers are tight; reuail, if necessary. If the downspout is not connected to a drain, install a splash block to keep water away from foundation and wall.

Check the roof for leaks. Replace shingles that are damaged. Cover the new nails with asphalt. If your garage is covered with roll roofing, use asphalt cement to strengthen seams and fill cracks or brush roof coating over entire roof.

Sweep and hose down the floor on a warm day, then let it air dry thoroughly.

Once you have all the dirt off, you'll be able to tell which are the grease spots. Attack those with a mixture of trisodium phosphate and hot water, about ¼-pound to a gallon of water.

Fresh oil should be taken up immediately by covering with an absorbent powder — dry cement, patching plaster, fine sawdust.

Contemporary Trust Busters Eye GM Role in Automobile Industry

(The Justice Department is attempting to find out how much control the giant General Motors Corp. exercises over the automotive industry. Does it amount to monopoly? Here are the pros and cons, with a closeup of the colossus of American industry.)

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

Fifty years ago the federal government broke up Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey into several smaller companies, charging it stifled competition.

★ ★ ★

Today another generation of "trust busters" has begun investigating the contemporary giant of industry, General Motors Corp. They want to know whether GM has too much control over the automotive industry.

The contrast between the two cases is remarkable. In the Standard Oil suit of 1909-11 the government charged that "the trust in 27 years has earned a billion dollars on an original investment of 69 million dollars."

General Motors, 50 years old last September, earned more than a billion dollars in the single year of 1955. Accountants have figured that an individual who invested $1,000 in General Motors stock at the time of incorporation and took advantage of all his purchase rights and the numerous stock splits today would have holdings worth more than a million dollars.

TOOK TWO YEARS

In the Standard Oil action the government won a dissolution order two years after filing its final brief in court.

The General Motors case has not reached the suit stage. It never may. If it should, the litigation could drag through many years and many appeals.

What the government specifically seeks to establish about General Motors is known only to the federal grand jury doing the investigating. Generally, it is understood the Justice Department wants to know whether the huge concern is a monopoly.

There long have been assertions that because of its big share of the automotive market its pricing program automatically sets the industry pattern.

General Motors, at times, has taken more than 51 per cent of the over-all car market. This has led to speculation that the government may seek to separate it from its big Chevrolet and General Motors Acceptance Corp. divisions.

Chevrolet long has been the industry's biggest car builder. It accounts for about half of GM's car business. The Acceptance Corp. Division does about 30 per cent of all the nation's car financing.

But the Public Relations Department, also without comment, has distributed a pamphlet captioned, "For Your Information," and containing a number of newspaper editorials denouncing the action or questioning its sincerity.

ALSO HAS CRITICS

But if GM has supporters, it also has critics. One is George Romney, president and board chairman of American Motors, currently riding high on a swelling demand for smaller cars.

Addressing a Detroit luncheon club recently, Romney said, "Competitors have existed only because of the pursuance by General Motors of policies that permit them to exist."

In normal years it pays about three billion dollars in salaries and wages to approximately 600,000 employes.

★ ★ ★

The corporation is no stranger to court action. Only recently, a U.S. District Court ordered the Du Pont interests, who held nearly 23 per cent of GM stock, to get out of General Motors.

Nobody questions that General Motors is big. It has nearly 40 divisions or affiliates in the United States. It has subsidiaries abroad.

In World War II it produced 12¼ billion dollars worth of war material—one forth of all the airplane engines, tanks and armored cars built in this country; almost half of the machine guns and carbines; two-thirds of the heavy trucks, and three-fourths of the Diesel engine horsepower used by the Navy.

$12 MILLION DAILY

Since its beginning General Motors has built approximately 60 million passenger cars, 13 million commercial vehicles, more than 16 million refrigerators, more than 20,500 Diesel locomotives, 561,000 Diesel engines and 265,000 aircraft engines.

General Motors began as a relatively modest concern. Its nucleus following the incorporation in 1908 consisted of Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Buick and Oakland (Now Pontiac). It was the brain-child of the late William C. Durant.

Twice during the Durant administration General Motors was in financial difficulties. The first time was in 1910. The second time was in 1920 when the Du Pont interests, buying into General Motors, were credited with saving the corporation from financial disaster.

It was then that a firm of industrial engineers surveyed all the properties of the corporation and recommended liquidation of the Chevrolet Division because it "could not hope to compete in its field."

Washington May See Hawaii Solons Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — With some fast action, Hawaii could have its two senators and a representative in Washington before Congress adjourns this summer.

President Eisenhower may get the statehood bill today. He has 10 legislative days—not including Sundays—to sign the measure after it is formally presented.

The primary election must be held no less than 60 days and no more than 90 days after the proclamation. A general election could be held no later than 40 days after the primary.

A modern student center for food service and social activities has been started at Michigan State University Oakland and will likely be completed by the fall of 1959.

'Fatal,' Madam, That's the Only Fitting Word

LUMBERTON, N. C. (UPI)—State Attorney General Malcolm Seawell says some odd questions are directed to his department, and sometimes the answers are a bit terse.

"Not too long ago," he said in a speech here last night, "there came to our office a letter from a college senior who was making a study of capital punishment throughout the United States.

"The letter requested: 'Please tell me what has been the effect of capital punishment in North Carolina?'

"An assistant who answered this letter wrote: 'Dear Madam: The effect of capital punishment in North Carolina has been fatal.' "

Journey for Beer Linked to Deaths of Three Children

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— A Grand Rapids mother whose three children died in an apartment fire has charged in a divorce suit that her husband left the children alone in the house while he went out to buy beer.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Fay VanderVort filed suit for divorce in Superior Court yesterday.

The children—Michael, 8; Jean, 6; and Russell, 19 months—died in the apartment fire Feb. 28. The building burst into flames as the husband was returning with several bottles of beer from "a considerable distance away," Mrs. VandeVort alleged.

Listeners' Lobby Wants to Know What People Like

How his station is attempting to uphold the aims of Listeners' Lobby, a group trying to further radio by encouraging station managers and program directors to find out what people want to hear, was discussed at the group's meeting by Gar H. Meadowcroft of Birmingham.

At last night's session at Wayne State University, Detroit, Meadowcroft, owner of the new Station WHFI-FM, spoke about the results of recent questionnaires he sent to his liseners for their criticism.

Results showed approval of his idea of giving listeners as wide a rang of topics as possible, he said.

The station features everything from Victor Borge to full, four-hour long operas and plays. They also air recorded speeches and such subjects as poetry and religious music.

59ers Warmly Feted in Canada

Parade, Meals, Gifts, Quick Customs Check Greet Alaskan Pioneers

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (UPI)—Detroit's 59ers pushed deeper into Canada today on their way to homesteads in Alaska, after sampling Canadian hospitality and finding it warm.

The 14-vehicle caravan left the United States and crossed the border into Canada at Coutts, Alta., yesterday. Immigration authorities, instead of going through the full declarations procedure which could have taken most of the day, cut the examination down to less than two hours. Only three items were checked — guns, cameras and radios.

Then they were allowed to push on. When they reached Lethbridge, the 59ers found a parade and a civic delegation waiting to greet them.

They were escorted to the civic center where they put up for the night. Merchants gave them canned goods, garden tools and clothing. And the town provided lunch and dinner at the Marquis Hotel.

The group was joined yesterday by a traveler from Rochester, N.Y., driving a small truck He was enroute to Alaska and requested permission to join the caravan for company on the long trip.

The balky 1934 moving van has been sent on ahead of the group, moving on a 24-hour schedule with four drivers accompanying it in a station wagon to spell each other with the truck. The 59ers decided on the move so that the truck, which has blown several tires and encountered other mechanical difficulties, would not hold up the rest of the group.

Flannery Mentally Ill, Psychiatrist Testifies

HILLSDALE (AP) — The defense has rested its case in the murder trial of 19-year-old Patrick Flannery after a psychiatrist had testified the Hillsdale College student was mentally ill at the time of the slaying of a roommate.

★ ★ ★

"He was unable to resist the urge to kill," said Dr. John M. Tracey of Detroit. The psychiatrist testified yesterday before a jury of nine women and four men and Circuit Judge Charles O. Arch. The trial is under adjournment until Tuesday.

The prosecution said it will call a few rebuttal witnesses, including a state psychiatrist, before closing arguments are presented.

The clinics next week are a follow up to those held last month by the Pontiac Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Any county resident over the age of one year may receive a polio immunization shot for $1. Residents who received their first shot in February will now be able to have the second.

Madison Junior High School, 1275 N. Perry St., Monday; Wilson Elementary School, 511 S. Sanford St., Tuesday; Bethune Elementary School, 154 Lake St., Wednesday; and Owen Elementary School, 43 E. Columbia St., Thursday.

All clinics will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

Fights With 7 Youths

Trucker Injured in Brawl

A Clawson truck driver involved in a fight with seven Birmingham area youths Thursday night was reported improving and in satisfactory condition today at Ardmore Hospital, Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

Harold C. Paterbaugh, 32, of 358 Chocolay St., was admitted to the hospital Friday afternoon with a concussion and internal injuries suffered in the fight, Bloomfield Hills police said.

The Birmingham youths were identified as Douglas H. Danziger, 17, of 6325 Shearington Rd. and Robert L. Barrett, 17, of 6014 Snowshoe Circle.

The other youths involved were Robert E. Hills, 17, of 1082 Stratford St. and Timothy A. David, 18, of 591 Woodway Ct., both of Bloomfield Hills.

CHARGED, RELEASED

John W. Paige, 18, of 4300 Derry St., Bloomfield Township; John F. Jordan, 17, of 3148 Middle Belt Rd., West Bloomfield Township, and Thomas L. Fauce, 18, of 2335 W. Pine Center Rd., Orchard Lake.

All seven have been charged with assault and battery and were released by Bloomfield Hills Justice Alva J. Richardson after their parents posted bonds of $100 each.

★ ★ ★

Police, in an effort to reconstruct the incident, questioned the youths again this morning. The trouble began at East Long Lake and Lahser roads, officers said.

Paterbaugh's truck was stopped behind the car with the seven youths in it. When the light changed, Paterbaugh told police, the car, driven by Fauce, didn't move so he honked his horn.

The youths made insulting gestures and then proceeded east on Long Lake road at a speed of "about 12 m.p.h., cutting off my attempts to pass," Paterbaugh told police.

FEUD EXPLODES

Paterbaugh jumped from the cab with a hammer in one hand and the battle ensued until police arrived.

Paterbaugh went home refusing hospital treatment but became sick, with "pains in the stomach and head and couldn't sleep all night," police quoted him as saying.

Says Russia Won't Budge on Germany

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review, said last night Russia's fear of Germany is historic and the Soviet Union is willing to give in on every issue except Germany.

★ ★ ★

Cousins, speaking as part of the University of Michigan's annual lecture series, said "the question of German reunification and rearmament is a matter of life and death to the Russians."

★ ★ ★

He said Russia's fears center around Germany's two attempts to dominate the world.

Cousins said East Germany cannot survive with West Berlin serving as a gateway to the West. Hence, Russia is determined to shut the gateway.

Thrills of Christ Last

chief goal of my life. And at last, in 1952, I was picked for the Olympic team. The months of practice, the trip to Europe, the Olympic Games in Oslo — they were the high points of my life.

And then the Olympics were over. For the rest of the winter I just bummed restlessly from tournament to tournament, always a new challenge, a new jump, one more skier I wanted to beat, a new thrill ahead.

The ski season over, I went to Paris and made the rounds, but even the thrills of Paris wear thin after awhile. I boarded the plane for New York.

As the engines droned on I half-admitted that my "triumphs" in Europe had been for me simply thrill-seeking. I had been trying desperately to recapture the tremendous elation of the Olympics, trying to make it last.

And suddenly I said aloud, "What then, does last? What's important? What's the answer?"

When the plane landed in New York, I all but ran down the steps, so happy was I to be out in the world of doing things once more. But the thrills of New York soon wore thin too.

I went to visit my brother in California. Laurie sensed right away that something was wrong.

"You seem at loose ends, Keith," he said. "Why don't you come up to the Conference with me" The young adult group at Laurie's church was planning to spend a week at a camp up in the San Bernardino mountains.

I attended a couple of lectures and a Bible study class or two, but mostly I climbed and hiked and swam.

The final night of the Conference came, and I decided I'd better put in an appearance. I sat back, not listening much.

The speaker was winding up his talk" . . . because pleasures like these are not lasting," he was saying. "What then, does last? What's important in the long run? What's the answer?"

I sat up straight in my chair. Those were my questions!

"Do you want to know the answer?" the speaker continued.

I leaned forward, waiting for the answer like a tennis player waiting for the serve. It was very short. "Try Jesus," he said.

Suddenly I was outside, running, racing toward the comforting bulk of the mountain, away from the lecture hall. An hour later I lay on my back on a steep slope, and let the words I'd been running from catch up with me.

★ ★ ★

I'd known about Jesus all my life, believed in Him too—as an idea or a principle. But there on that mountainside for the first time, I spoke to Him as a Person.

"Show me," I whispered. "Show me how to try."

It was almost dawn when I started down the mountain, happier than I had ever been in my life.

A few days later my draft notice came through: I was assigned as an instructor in the newly formed Mountain and Cold Weather Command. With it, came my first opportunity to try Him.

I remember one soldier in particular, who was in big trouble. The Army had developed some highly specialized equipment for our Command. Jack had taken a few of these things for his own use and been caught.

Awkwardly, I tried to "open up" to this boy, to tell him what Christ had meant to me, what He could do for him. It seemed to mean something to Jack; together we prayed that this experience of being caught would work for good in his life.

When his court-martial came up, they threw the book at him. He came into my quarters that night and called me and my prayers every name he knew.

It was like a bad spill on the slopes. But strangely enough, the defeat didn't panic me. I wasn't running away anymore.

★ ★ ★

A few months ago I saw Jack again at a friend's wedding and he caught my arm. "I've been looking for you, Keith," he said, "I thought you'd like to know. I'm going into the ministry."

As for me, I've decided that my life can best be spent telling young people the "good news" that I've found. Sports can help me do this.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR little girl, Patricia Tiernan, whom God called on March 14, 1957:
A bud that the Gardener gave us,
A pure and lovely child;
He gave her in our keeping, to cherish undefiled.
But just as it was opening, to the Glory of the day;

John Barrymore Accused of Hit-Run, Wet Driving

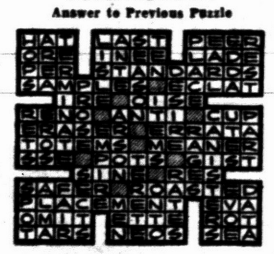

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Actor John Drew Barrymore, 26, must appear March 27 to face felony hit-run and drunk driving charges.

He is accused of leaving the scene after his car smashed into the rear of another last Friday. Police said Barrymore failed a sobriety test.

Barrymore said he tried to get the name of the other driver and had had just two drinks.

He was arraigned Friday.

State Gets Cost of Income Tax

Would Need 300 New Employes, Building and $2½ Million

LANSING (AP) — If the Legislature ever puts through a state income tax, the State Revenue Department will need at least 300 new employes, another office building and an additional 2½ million dollar appropriation.

The House Ways and Means Committee got that estimate from Clarence W. Lock, deputy state revenue commissioner.

Collection costs might come to as much as six million dollars and require as many as 800 new employes, Lock said.

New costs would hinge chiefly on the number of citizens required to file income tax reports and the system for collecting it. A withholding system patterned after the federal system would be cheaper than one requiring annual payments, he said.

The revenue department's present office space already is inadequate for its 300 employes, Lock said.

Lock based his 2½ million dollar estimate of collection costs on a plan by the citizens tax study committee providing for a graduate income tax to be paid by about 1½ million persons. Gov. Williams' proposed income tax, exempting more persons, would carry higher exemptions, involve fewer reports and cost less.

About 2,850,000 Michigan citizens pay the federal income tax. If the state adopted the same schedule of exemptions, Lock said, collection costs would run about six million dollars.

That Old Radio, TV, Phonograph Can Help Others

Unused radio, television and phonograph sets—new or old—can brighten life in county and state institutions, according to the Oakland County Electronics Assn.

The association began its second annual drive yesterday to provide entertainment in the Oakland County Convalescent Home, Children's Home, Tuberculosis Sanatorium and Pontiac State Hospital.

Association members will repair old sets free of charge and donate them to these institutions during National TV Technicians Week, March 23-28.

Persons who wish to cooperate in the drive can turn unused sets over to the association by telephoning FE 4-2541 during the next nine days.

The association will pick the sets up, repair them and deliver them.

Dennis Weaver Talks of Dogs and Horses

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The B.W. and I have had dogs the 23 years we've been married, so she was very glad to have me smoke out "Gunsmoke" and ask Dennis Weaver, one of TV's top horsemen:

WILSON

"Dogs," instantly replied the ex-athlete from Missouri and Oklahoma who feigns a limp on the No. 1 western.

"Then horses don't have horse sense?"

"Dogs are better actors. They can do things horses can't. Horses as a rule can't do anything but be ridden!"

"But," said Weaver (who once upon a time lived over a night club on 52d St. and later was a Bronx cowboy, living on 146th St.), "horses lead a rough life in the Hollywood TV studios—although it's better now than a few years ago.

"They used to be brutal to horses," he said. "They would tie a wire to a horses leg and make it run. When it came to the end of the wire, of course it would trip.

★ ★ ★

"But there are devices used for softening the fall?"

WEAVER

"Yes," admitted Weaver, or "Chester," as he's known on the program. "They spade the ground where the horse is going to fall—so it's loose. Or they may use mattresses or foam rubber, covered over with dirt, but that's mostly for the men to fall on!"

"They get $150 for a saddle fall, and if there should be eight or 10 takes they get $150 for each fall.

"So a stunt man could make $2,500 in one day. I'm sure the stunt men in the 'Ben Hur' chariot races made a fortune. A saddle fall is very simple — yet in Mississippi recently a stunt man working with John Wayne, John Ford and Bill Holden hit his head on a rock. He was killed."

★ ★ ★

A track star at Oklahoma U., Weaver led his squad to national championships, then got into Actors Studio here, landed a Hollywood contract, and later got his release because he felt Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis and Jeff Chandler got better roles.

"Gunsmoke" in over four years has shown millions of people he's a fine actor—now in Hollywood he heads the Dennis Weaver Actors' Workshop.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Coleman Jacoby bought several shares of titanium stock at 45 cents, and a friend asked what titanium was good for. Coleman snapped, "If they knew what it was good for do you think I could buy the stock for 45 cents?" . . . That's earl, brother.

A Pontiac Is Added Yearly to State School System

The explosive population growth in Michigan public schools can be imagined, says Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, by thinking of a city with a population a little less than Pontiac's being added to the state's system each year.

Dr. Bartlett, a Democrat seeking re-election April 6, made this observation yesterday in Pontiac during a campaign tour of Oakland County.

With him were Mrs. Cornelia A. Robinson of Kalamazoo, Democratic candidate for the state Board of Education, and Melvin E. Bielch of Detroit, Democratic candidate for a six-year term on the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

"Since 1949," Dr. Bartlett said, "Michigan's population has increased by 22 per cent. But during this same period the population of those under 20 years of age has gone up by 42 per cent, while the number of children attending public schools in Michigan has increased 53 per cent."

He said each year the state's public school population increases by 70,000.

"This is equivalent to adding a new city the size of Pontiac each year to our school system," Batlett pointed out.

Teacher Gets Award

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Michigan Dept. of Classroom Teachers has presented its 1959 distinguished service award to E. Vivian Powell, who has been a teacher in Detroit for 32 years. The organization is affiliated with the Michigan Education Assn. Miss Powell is a former president of the National Dept. of Classroom Teachers which represents 700,000 educators.

Group Elects City Policeman

Other officers chosen yesterday were Sgt. Fred Kelly, of the State Police, Lansing, president; Lt. William Moermond of the Grand Rapids Police Dept., 2nd vice president; Deputy Richard Germond of the Lenawee County Sheriff's Dept., 3rd vice president; and Norma Collwell of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, secretary.

Trooper Milton Shotnick of the East Lansing State Police Post was chosen as corresponding secretary and Detective Don Berg of the Saginaw Police Dept. was elected treasurer.

Guest speaker at the group's meeting in the Waldron Hotel Thursday was Kenneth Commons, assistant special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office.

Commons told the officers cities should warn other locales of known bogus check passers moving from place to place.

WHY?
Is Lindsay the King of the Water Softeners

The Lindsay Co. is a nationwide million dollar concern that manufactures more home water softeners than any other company. Water softeners has been in their exclusive business for years. Like other large concerns they have a research staff that is constantly striving to improve water softeners.

When improvements are made in water softeners, Lindsay will have them. Often times exclusive like Fiber-Glass, which makes possible Lindsay's Lifetime Guarantee to purchasers, which in turn makes possible terms as low as $5.19 per montth on a Lindsay.

Group Moves for Self-Use OK

Backing Wheat Change

A proposed change in wheat control laws to allow farmers to produce as much wheat as they want for their own use has been recommended by the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

★ ★ ★

State Chairman of the ASC Committee and former Cass County Supervisor Howard McKenzie told the Cass County board the proposed amendment has the approval of Seretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson.

McKenzie indicated the move was influenced by Dowagiac poultry farmer Stanley Yankus, who fought the control program and was fined some $5,000 for growing wheat in excess of his quota to feed his poultry flocks.

"The Michigan ASC committee has recommended that this law be modified to exclude those who feed their wheat to their own poultry and livestock," McKenzie said. "The wheat control situation hasn't worked out well," he said.

UP TO 15 ACRES

Here in Oakland County ASC Director Walter Cook explained that any farm operated as a separate farm unit is eligible to harvest up to 15 acres of wheat or the established allotment.

★ ★ ★

If a producer will certify that all the wheat harvested on his farm will be used for livestock or poultry feed, he may produce up to 30 acres.

★ ★ ★

Wheat allotments are determined by the wheat acreage on a farm in the previous four years. The four-year average is the base history. This is multiplied by .669, which is Oakland County's established wheat factor, Cook said.

★ ★ ★

The Soil Conservation Reserve program was designed to take cropland out of production, he said.

Eligible land is that part of a farm that has been in a regular rotation within the last five years, or has had hay harvested in one of the previous two years.

Security for You

Yes, Tax Will Rise Again

By RAY HENRY

From Mrs. S.C. of Pittsburgh, Pa.: "My husband recently had his pockets picked and lost his billfold. His Social Security card was in the billfold. How can he get another card?"

He can call or write to the local Social Security office for an application for a duplicate card. After he fills out and returns the application, the office will send him the card.

From N.P. of Woonsocket, R.I.: "I know the Social Security tax has just gone up. I can tell from my paycheck. A friend tells me the tax is going up again next year. Is this true?"

Yes. It's now 2½ per cent of all your earnings up to $4,800 a year—if you're an employe. It'll go up to 3 per cent on Jan. 1, 1960.

From Mrs. E.S. of Cleveland, Ohio: "For the past 15 years, I have worked under Social Security. Within the last few weeks I have had to quit work because of arthritis and a very serious nervous condition. I'll be 50 my next birthday. Will I be eligible for disability payments?"

If the Social Security Administration — after a physical exam—finds that your disability is permanent and so severe that you can't do any substantial work, you'll probably be entitled to Social Security disability payments at 50. After you've been disabled for six months, you should apply.

From D.A.P. of Iowa City, Iowa: "Before Feb. 1, I read that as of Jan. 1 the Social Securty checks would be increased by 7 per cent. My increase was only 6 per cent plus. Am I getting all I'm entitled to?"

Chances are you are. In all my columns I wrote, I said the raise would be "approximately 7 per cent." The actual raises rarely amounted to exactly 7 per cent because they were rounded off to even figures.

Expert Sees Man in Space in 20 Years

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—A German rocket expert says in 20 years man will be roving in space, digging mines on the moon, and wars won't be possible.

Prof. Hermann Oberth predicts further that humans will be racing around at 20 miles per second by then—1,200 miles an hour.

Oberth, who is 65, is sometimes called "the father of space travel." During World War II he helped develop the deadly V1 and V2 rockets that hit Britain.

★ ★ ★

After the war he worked for the U. S. Army rocket research center in Huntsville, Ala. He recently returned to his native Germany to claim a government pension.

★ ★ ★

In a lecture to the Rhein-Ruhr Club of industrialists here, Oberth predicted that huge space cargo ships will ferry moon products to earth and there will be regular flights to the moon.

Space stations, in the form of earth catellites, will circle our globe in 24 hours, he said, and they will be some 20,000 miles away from the earth.

Men who have to leave the space ships or satellites will wear something like divers' suits, he said, with small rockets fixed to their backs for propulsion.

Space station reflectors will be able to divert sun rays and concentrate them on any point on the globe and archtic wastelands could be turned into gardens of Eden, storms diverted and rain directed at will, he predicted.

Plans to Be New State's Chief

Hawaii's Governor Happy to Be Voted Out of a Job

By United Press International

There's a man heading back to Hawaii from Washington whom Congress just voted out of a job. And he is just as happy as can be about it.

He is William F. Quinn, 39, last appointed governor of the territory of Hawaii. He plans on staying in the governor's mansion at historic Washington Place on the edge of Honolulu's downtown section.

But he is going to have to get elected to do it this time. That suits Quinn just fine. He has a competitive soul, an Irishman's warm charm and a cheering section composed of wife, Nancy, and six little Quinns. He also seems to have his share of Irish luck.

★ ★ ★

Quinn attracted President Eisenhower's attention as a gubernatorial prospect by losing the only territorial election he ran in. That was in 1956 when he tried for a seat in the territorial Senate. A Republican, he lost in a Democratic landslide that year, but he polled more votes than any other Republican.

After 19 months in office, Quinn still remains a popular and respected public figure in Hawaii. Some criticize him for his quick temper and others for what seems a tendency toward showmanship.

He likes to sing and dance and he acted in several community theater productions when he was just plain Quinn, rising young attorney, and not Hawaii's governor. Some compare his personality and career to that of Vice-President Nixon, and the two do have their parallels.

Quinn is a Harvard Law School graduate and also a graduate of St. Louis University in St. Louis where he was reared. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1919. He is a Roman Catholic.

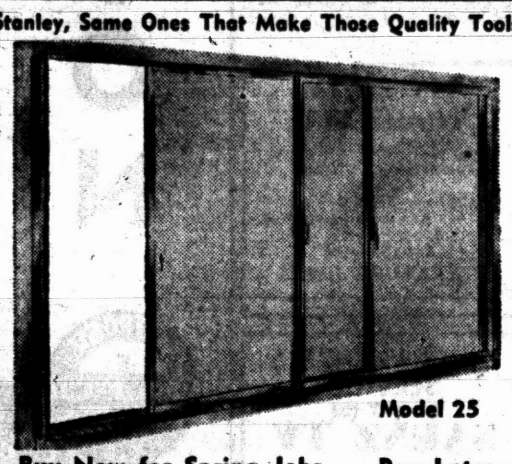

The governor is a curly-haired six-footer still trim of figure. He served in the war as a naval officer.

Political observers have said Quinn probably would go a long way if he were the governor of a state instead of a territory. With statehood now assured he is getting his chance to prove it.
