What Is Khrushchev Motive in Forcing Berlin Crisis?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Why did Premier Khrushchev start a crisis over Berlin? Why does he carry his nation to the brink of war?

The mystery has not yet been solved, and it may take a flat warning to the Soviet premier—that force will be used by the West—to bring a showdown.

Many people, of course, have been assuming that it's all a Soviet bluff and that no war could possibly ensue. History tells us that such wishful thinking is often wrong and that when war is least expected—after everyone assumes it isn't coming—something untoward happens that really forces the final crisis for everybody.

Up to the day World War II broke out, there were confident expressions abroad that it just couldn't and wouldn't happen.

WAR TOO HORRIBLE?

Most observers today rationalize that war would be too horrible for anybody deliberately to start. But with troops and nuclear weapons actually mobilized on a war basis by both sides in the vicinity of Berlin, a tragic incident could be precipitated at any moment.

Secretary Dulles has just said to the NATO council in Paris: "I am quite certain the Soviet Union will not risk war over Berlin. Therefore we can proceed with confidence."

But it's Khrushchev's game to make the western Allies think he will stop at nothing to get them out of Berlin.

For several weeks now the inside talk among high government officials here and in United Nations circles in New York has emphasized one comment: "The Soviets are getting tougher than ever before."

The technique of "toughness" is a familiar one in diplomacy. Dictatorships use it shrewdly as a means of bargaining. It is not at all risky to be tough with democracies —they are resilient to the influences of a public opinion which, wishing to avoid war at all costs, gives the impression of being willing to "negotiate" almost everything. This often implies a possible surrender.

One of the reasons why Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is so unpopular with the appeasers and peace-at-any-price exponents is that, through a lifetime of experience in diplomacy, he knows softness is dangerous and, in the end, would bring on the very war that everyone wanted to prevent.

Dulles will be remembered in history as the "man with guts" who stood up to the Communists everywhere. He was jumped upon a few months ago by the timid and the partisanly political when he stood up courageously to the Communists in the Far East, refusing to be bluffed on the Quemoy-Matsu episode.

Events since have proved he was right. The Communists didn't dare to precipitate a Far Eastern war. Little is being said now of the Dulles triumph in that part of the world, but it is the significant happening of the year 1958 in the international field.

BERLIN IS A SYMBOL

It is worth noting, incidentally, that some of the Democratic senators who could not understand what Quemoy meant as a symbol of freedom in the Far East are today saying with respect to Berlin that it cannot be surrendered because it is a symbol of freedom to Western Germany's republic. Berlin is 100 miles within the Iron Curtain as con-

MAO TZE-TUNG

Mao to Quit Job as President of Red China

Will Remain as Party Leader; No Change in Policy Expected

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio today announced that Mao Tze-tung would step down from the presidency of Communist China in January.

The broadcast said the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party had agreed to Mao's "proposal not to run in the next election as the chief of state."

The decision was made at a committee session held at Wuchang from Nov. 28 through Dec. 10, the broadcast said.

The broadcast confirmed information given to foreign diplomats in Peiping Tuesday. They were told Mao would continue to head the Chinese Communist party.

Few observers in Tokyo expected Mao's departure from the top government post would result in any change in Red China's basic policies.

MUST TELL PEOPLE

The Red Chinese leaders now face the big and delicate job of telling their people that Mao is stepping down.

In telling Red China's more than 600 million persons, the leaders have to avoid creating even the slightest implication that Mao was forced out because of any errors.

The 65-year-old leader of the Chinese Communist revolution has been pictured as the all-knowing guide and counselor who makes no mistakes.

Any clouding of the picture could cause cracks in the Communist control system.

This would be especially true if there were any hint the change involved controversy over the new commune system, which is smashing revered family traditions to force people into work camps.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in telling the diplomats of the change, admitted the Chinese people would be disturbed by the news. Chen reportedly said the decision would be announced in a way "to banish all fear and apprehension."

HE MUST 'STUDY'

Indications are that this will be done by playing up the traditional Chinese reverence for the scholar. The people apparently will be told that Mao is relinquishing one post to devote more time to study and writing.

This "back to the books" line already has been given to Peiping correspondents for the London Daily Worker and the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug.

Yugoslav Communists said privately, however, that Mao had lost influence and power. Opinion was divided in the Yugoslav capital whether a more moderate or more extreme faction would succeed Mao.

State Department officials in Washington were reported convinced that no policy change was involved and that Mao still controlled Red China.

Sunday Store Law Studied

Closing Probe Started by City Commission on 'Competitive' Setup

As a result of recent Sunday business by a leading Pontiac department store, the City Commission is eying a law to close stores on Sundays.

Mayor Phllip E. Rowston was empowered last night to appoint a committee of commissioners to study possible legislation.

The motion for action was made by Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, who strongly opposed Sunday business.

Federal Department Store has been open for business for the past two Sundays "for competitive reasons," said Manager Morton Meeron.

John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said several smaller stores had followed Federal's lead last Sunday.

"The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has gone on record strongly opposing Sunday business," Hirlinger said.

Although there is no law in Pontiac governing Sunday business, stores have generally followed a policy set up by the Chamber of Commerce by staying closed on Sunday.

Meeron said the decision to stay open on Sunday was not a local one, but rather was effective throughout the entire Federal chain in southern Michigan.

He said Sunday competition does not come from Pontiac stores, but rather from stores in fringe areas that are open on Sunday.

Federal plans to be open this Sunday, he said, but whether it will be open Sundays after Christmas has not yet been decided.

Low of 15 Expected After High of 33

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts partly cloudy and colder tonight. This morning's high temperature of 33 degrees at 6 a.m. fell slowly during the day. The low tonight is expected to be near 15.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and colder said the weather bureau with the high reaching around 25.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m., was 23 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 26.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees below normal in the eastern portion of the state to near normal in the west

FIRE DAMAGE — West Bloomfield Township Fire Chief Ben Moshier inspects the upstairs living room of a two-family Sylvan Lake dwelling where a flash fire broke out this morning. The upper portion of the house was gutted by flames, while many "priceless" antiques on the lower floor were badly damaged by smoke, water and debris falling through a hole in the upper floor which gave way.

New Model Car Sales Shooting Up

DETROIT (AP) — New car sales have taken a sharp upturn, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The statistical agency said retail deliveries in the Dec. 1-10 period numbered 154,200 units or 17,133 cars for each of the nine selling days in the span.

The daily selling rate compared with 11,750 units a day in the Nov. 1-10 period and 16,190 for Nov. 11-20.

Ward's said the industry's December sales of domestic-built cars should rise to the highest level in more than a year, possibly exceeding 500,000 units.

Pontiac Motor Sales Highest Since 1956

Deliveries of Pontiac Motor Division's new 1959 models during the first 10 days of December are the highest for any similar period since March 1956, Frank V. Bridge, Pontiac general sales manager, announced today.

Pontiac's first 10-day period for December shows sales totaling 11,001 reflecting the unprecedented public acceptance being enjoyed by Pontiac, Bridge said.

Unfilled orders for Pontiacs are currently running nearly 30,000 with production remaining at peak levels, he said.

Pontiac Doctor, Mother Hurt in Sylvan Lake Fire

A flash fire of an undetermined origin raced through a Sylvan Lake home late this morning, sending a Pontiac physician and his mother to Pontiac General Hospital.

In satisfactory condition are Dr. Donald H. McCandliss, 33, and Mrs. Maybelle McCandliss, 66, the only inhabitants of the house at 1539 Lakeview St., where the doctor lives.

The two-story wood frame structure is owned by Mrs. Lucille TePoorten, widow of the late Dr. Bernard A. TePoorten.

His mother was visiting him this morning and was believed to have been "up and around" at the time the fire broke out, according to firemen.

McCandliss was presumed to have been asleep at the time. Both he and his mother got out of the flaming house before firemen arrived. He suffered second degree burns of the back, while she was described at the hospital as suffering from first degree burns and shock.

The West Bloomfield Township Fire Department answered the first call at 9:50 a.m. and was assisted by Waterford Township firemen.

The blaze originated somewhere on the second floor, according to firemen. It was believed to have started at the rear of the home in the southeast corner.

Earle Knapp, Sylvan Lake Public Works foreman, who was on the scene shortly before firemen arrived, said Mrs McCandliss ran from the house and he had to hold her to keep her from running back into the smoke-filled structure to save some of her belongings.

Her son already had escaped the flames.

Firemen said that nearly the entire structure was damaged by smoke and water.

Auto Strikes Girl Crossing Perry Street

A 13-year-old Pontiac Township girl was reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital this morning, after being struck by an auto yesterday afternoon.

Janice Moore of 2266 James Rd., was admitted to the hospital with head injuries shortly after the accident.

The girl was crossing Perry street at Madison avenue when she was struck by a car driven by Donald W. Erickson, 40, of Auburn Heights.

Erickson told police he was driving north on Perry and was slowing down for the traffic signal at Madison when the girl and several other children ran out from between cars that had already stopped.

He was unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap, he told police.

State Controller Suggests Halt Until March '59

Proposal for 3 Major Institutions Offered to Ease Funds Crisis

From Our News Wires

LANSING — State Controller James W. Miller today recommended to Gov. Williams that the state suspend all payments to the three major state universities until next March.

With the state facing a 100 million dollar deficit by next June 30, Miller said, the retention of 28 million dollars that normally would be due the universities by March 1 offered the most resonable answer to the state's cash crisis.

Today marked the first time an administration spokesman has declared publicly that the state faces a deficit of 100 million dollars.

U. of M. 'Desperate'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan's financial situation would be desperate if its state payments were suspended until March, President Harlan Hatcher said today. "I don't see how we could live with it," Hatcher said.

Rep. Rollo Conlin (R-Tipton) predicted this figure last week.

Until today, administrators have said the situation was bad —but not grave.

The state already is delinquent $11,200,000 to the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University, having fallen behind two $5,600,000 installments due the institutions monthly out of their 1958-1959 appropriation by the legislature.

"When we could resume supporting the universities would depend

Local Woman Killed in Crash

County Grandmother Dies, 5 Relatives Badly Hurt Near Ann Arbor

A Commerce Township grandmother was killed and five of her relatives seriously injured in a double-fatal traffic accident this morning six miles west of Ann Arbor.

Dead are Mrs. Mary E. Cogger, 75, of 1120 Haple Heights Rd., and Angeline M. Merkel, 31, of Chelsea.

Miss Merkel was alone in her car and Mrs. Cogger was a passenger in a car driven by her husband Herbert, 79.

The two autos crashed headon on sleet-slickened U.S. 112. The Cogger car then slid sidewise into an on-coming tractor-truck, which pitched it 75 feet down the road, Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies said.

With the Coggers were their daughter Mrs. Dorothy Ashley, 45, of Milford, her husband, Noble, and their children Barbara, 17, and Nancy, 10.

Ashley was reported in very critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, suffering multiple fractures and head cuts. Barbara was at the same hospital in serious condition with a brain concussion.

Nancy's condition was listed as critical at University Hospital. She suffered head injuries. Mrs. Ashley and Cogger were also at University Hospital in serious condition with internal injuries and facial cuts.

Mrs. Cogger was tossed from the car and dragged 60 feet under the wheels of the truck, said Deputy Eugene W. Kuhl. Mrs. Ashley and the two girls were also thrown out, landing at the side of the road, he said.

Deputies had to pry open both cars to remove Cogger and Ashley and the body of Miss Merkel.

The truck driver, Jack A. Bentley, 35, of 1260 E. Chesterfield Ave., Ferndale, said he was following Miss Merkel at about 35 miles an hour, saw the accident, but was unable to stop in time to keep the careening Cogger car from bouncing into him. Deputies estimated the speed of the Cogger car at about 55 miles an hour.

Thor Fired for First Time Under Combat Conditions

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Out in the vast Pacific lies a symbol of America's growing space age might—the nose cone of the first ballistic missile launched at this West Coast base.

Neither the Air Force nor the Navy will make any attempt to recover the cone, hurled 1,500 miles across the Pacific missile range Tuesday.

Yet it deserves a place in some museum of scientific endeavor.

For the cone of the medium range Thor missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, marks America's first firing of a ballistics missile under combat conditions.

It shows the Thor is moving from the development stage to the operational.

Another Thor was fired Tuesday night from Cape Canaveral, Fla., giving the United States its first double-barreled rocket shoot from both coasts. The weapon appeared to perform perfectly. It was fired as part of the close-out phase of the Air Force IRBM research and development program.

Here at Vandenberg, a regular Air Force crew pushed some buttons and the 50-ton weapon soared some 300 miles up to the fringes of space. The blastoff came only 11 minutes after the 11-man crew raised the Thor upright and began filling it with liquid fuel.

Two-and-one-half minutes after the first sign of fire in its tail, the missile was racing targetward at a speed of 9,000 miles an hour.

Seconds later the fuel tank section of the missile fell away and

50 Injured in Bogota, Victims Trampled and Suffocated in Panic

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Fire raged through a crowded department store in Bogota Tuesday night, killing 82 persons and injuring 50, according to the official count.

Most of the victims were women. Almost all were suffocated or trampled in the panic which raced through the crowds of Christmas shoppers.

The fire raged for two hours before being brought under control.

Most of the deaths occurred on a stairway which part of the crowd took in the belief they had found a way out. Instead they were trapped on a mezzanine.

Seventy-five of the dead had been identified early today. Half of them were employes of the store.

The remainder were mostly women shoppers, some accompanied by children.

The fire was caused by a short circuit in a display of light bulbs.

Eastman Cites Police Improvements

By MAX E. SIMON

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, who came here to raise the morale of the police department and improve its efficiency, has submitted a report on his efforts to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

During the past two months, Eastman said, substantial progress has been made by the Police Department in its "determined effort" to improve materially its service to Pontiac.

The results of the work done so far may not be apparent for some months, Eastman cautioned, but a solid basis for the program is taking shape.

"You may look forward with confidence to real improvement," Eastman declared.

Among the first moves by the new public safety director, who took over his duties Oct. 8, was formation of a planning, research and training unit.

Noting that the concept of such a section is new here, Eastman said the need for it has long been recognized and that such units have been established in many progressive police departments.

Its purpose is to review present operations and procedures to determine if they are justified and serving their purposes.

The section also reviews established policy involving personnel, enforcement and other department problems, and makes specific recommendations and improvements in all areas.

Although the planning unit has the major responsibility for this work, other units and bureaus are being encouraged to initiate planning in their fields, Eastman said.

Special research is being conducted on various kinds of police equipment to determine their cost and need, and to improve the service of the police department.

A study of the inter-office and telephone communications system in the department has resulted in elimination of five telephone key cabinets with a reduction in overhead operating costs of $780 per year, at no loss in service.

Eastman said a revision of the intercom system is planned to avoid complaints "concerning its improper use."

EAVESDROPPING COMPLAINTS

Some officers in the past have complained the system was rigged to permit eavesdropping on conversations in various offices.

A centralized records unit is being created, Eastman said, which will bring about centralized control, avoidance of duplication, elimination of numerous unnecessary records and development of records which are useful.

Records will also be available 24 hours a day to police officers, other agencies and the public, he promised.

A detailed study is being made of the jail facilities in the Public Safety Building to determine the financial, practical and legal problems that are involved in its proposed operation.

Office space has been reassigned. The vice squad is being quartered in the basement of the Public Safety Building, Eastman said.

A program is being developed for continuing evaluation of officers of all ranks.

DETERMINE TRAINING NEEDS

A testing program for all supervisory and command officers has

Sorrow Follows Fire

Flames Reduce Beauty to Ashes

50,000 Acres Smolder While 2,000 Battle to Control Blaze

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—Tragedy and sorrow lie today in the wake of a four-day brush fire that has flared over more than 50,000 acres of Southern California hills and canyons and is still out of control on nearly half its 75-mile perimeter.

While more than 2,000 men fight the stubborn flames, residents pick their way over the blackened earth to the ruins of their homes and summer cabins. Eighteen structures have been destroyed. More than 200 are still in peril.

In picturesque San Juan Canyon, scenic beauty is turned to rubble and ashes.

The canyon people who have returned share the common sadness of loss.

There is Joe Paseri. He came to the canyon to make his home in 1942. Beside the house was a great oak tree. Joe, 77, spent many a day relaxing beneath its branches.

Driven out by the fire, Joe came back to the ruins of his cabin, the black skeleton of the oak and the charred table beneath it.

"I don't know what to do," he said. "I feel like crying."

He reached into the ashes and picked up half of a figurine.

"St. Anthony," he said. "My wife's patron saint."

He sat down beside a blackened metal box, once his refrigerator. He cried.

There is Henry Emberg, who evacuated his home on the sheriff's orders and returned hopefully after the fire had passed. "There was nothing left," he said in shocked disbelief.

John and Romelia Lampo trudged through the charred remains of their cabin.

"We had a nice cabin," said Romelia. "All of the cabins here in the San Juan cost $8,000 or more to build and furnish. Mostly old people lived in them.

"Rebuild? No," said John. "It takes money for that and ours is gone."

"I wonder what the little animals will do for a drink?" Romelia asked.

"We had three little foxes — Limpy, Eater and Bobtail—and we used to feed them every day."

"Yes," added John. "Every day at half past four exactly."

was burned up by friction as it reentered the earth's atmosphere.

The nose cone sped on, reaching its maximum speed of 10,000 miles an hour before plunging back through the atmosphere to its impact area 1,500 miles away.

Maj. Gen. David Wade, commander of the 1st Missile Division, said the shot was a great success, despite a 3-hour, 28-minute delay in the final half-hour of the countdown caused by minor technical adjustments.

Several additional minutes were lost waiting for three trains to rumble across the base, which lies on the state's main north-south rail route.

Yesterday's Thor launching here was notable because it was the first by a strictly military crew.

The historic launching was witnessed by more than 100 newsmen from the press observation site about 8,000 feet northeast of the launch pad.

Air Force spokesmen said the Thor was considered to be in the long range category, although it is officially designed as an intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM). It was pointed out that the Thor plugs an important gap in the free world's missile arsenal. Spokesmen compared the Thor to the Air Force Snark guided missile which has ICBM range but is not as fast as the ballistic Thor.

Why Was Berlin Crisis Forced by Khrushchev?

trasted with the few miles that Quemoy lies off the Red China coast.

Almost every word being said generally now for holding Berlin was being said by the President and Secretary Dulles as an argument for holding on to Quemoy because of its importance to the cause of the Chinese Nationalists.

Dulles is confident that, if the West maintains a firm policy with respect to Berlin, the Communists will be dissuaded from precipitating a general war. Everyone here hopes he will be proved right, but the world knows little of what is back of the Khrushchev move and just what strategy he has in mind.

It is asserted, for instance, by Sen. Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota, who talked recently with the Soviet Premier, that the presence of the "Island of Berlin" in the middle of Iron Curtain territory is a thorn in the side of the Communist leaders and they want to get rid of it. But this is only another way of saying that the Soviet government considers East Germany a permanent part of the Soviet Union and that there is no intention ever to agree to an autonomous Germany unless it is in the form of a satellite like Poland.

The Soviet premier undoubtedly has internal troubles and must every now and then create some tension with the outside world so as to emphasize his own supposedly heroic leadership in defying the non-Communist countries.

But with so many different nationalities involved in the Soviet Union, it is difficult to see how patriotism can be exploited effectively there. Indeed in 1917, in the middle of World War I, the Russian people and their allied nationalities broke away from the central government, preferring a separate peace to continued support of a tyrannical regime.

Maybe if war does come, it will be the signal for revolution inside Russia. Khrushchev may be a skillful demagogue but, like Hitler, he can bring the house down on himself if he risks armed conflict with the west.

Temporary Cold Relief

By United Press International

Comparatively balmy weather overspread the nation's midsection today, snapping a prolonged cold wave by lifting temperatures above the freezing mark for the first time in nearly two weeks.

However, the chilly grip of winter maintained a stubborn grip on the southeast during the night, and a new snowstorm, powered by Arctic blasts, raced across the northern plains into the upper Great Lakes.

The warming trend began Monday in the central and southern plains, advanced into the midwest yesterday and was expected to reach the Atlantic Coast today.

In the meantime, readings dropped to 34 degrees in Tallahassee, Fla., early today under the influence of the lingering cold air. At the same time, Pierre, S.D., had a comparable temperature of 33 degrees.

As the warm air advanced across the interior, temperatures shot up to 70 degrees in northern Texas yesterday, Lincoln, Neb., had a high of 58 and Pickstown, S.D., recorded 51 degrees.

Mishap Aboard Ship Kills Pontiac Sailor

A Pontiac deckhand, Alton J. Rowston, fell 35 feet to his death in the hold of the freighter SS McFarlan, docked in Saginaw Bay yesterday.

Crewmen said Rowston, 35, of 31 Clark St., lost his balance while pulling a hose out of the hold. The coroner ruled the death was accidental.

Rowston became a merchant seaman after serving in the Navy during World War II.

The McFarlan, owned by the Oglebay-Norton Steamship Co. of Cleveland, is docked at Saginaw for the winter.

Dropped as Suspect in '55 Gaca Murder

State Police detectives have crossed off Walter H. Budry, 25-year-old dairy worker and free-lance photographer, as a suspect in the unsolved slaying of 7-year-old Detroit schoolgirl Barbara Gaca.

Lt. Howard A. Whaley of the Redford Post said the Berkley man "showed no signs of deception" when questioned during a lie detector test about the March 1955, Gaca case.

However, the polygraph test given at the post did show that Budry was lying about what he had done with the pistol with which he admitted beating Mrs. Marguerite Baker, 37, a clerk in a Berkley dry cleaning shop, Whaley said.

Budry, of 3665 Oakshire Rd., is now undergoing mental tests by two Pontiac psychiatrists and one psychologist. Results of the court-approved tests are expected to be made known at a hearing Monday afternoon.

State Police and Detroit detectives have questioned nearly 500 persons since Barbara's body was found wrapped in an Army blanket in a West Bloomfield Township dump March 31, 1955.

Williams Told to Cut Cash to Universities

entirely on how soon the legislature acted to get new cash into the till," Miller told the governor.

Assuming no legislative action along this line and no dramatic upturn in state revenues, he said, this would mean no further payments at least until March.

The normal budget of monthly installments in the institutions affected breaks down this way: U. of M., $2,600,000; MSU, $2,200,000 and Wayne $800,000.

REPORTS BY TELEPHONE

The controller reported by telephone to Williams, who is taking a delayed post-election vacation at a secluded retreat near Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"The governor said he would take immediate steps when he gets back to communicate to the legislature the gravity of our cash situation," Miller told newsmen.

As the state sinks deeper into the financial quagmire, it will run about 44 million dollars behind in state aid payments to local school districts by Jan. 15, Miller estimated.

Miller said suspension of payments to the universities would permit retention in the treasury, between now and March, of enough cash flow to take care of state payroll, welfare and other essential expenditures.

Miller suggested applying the withholding pattern only to the three major universities because they have either independent borrowing power or other measures of financial operating flexibility not enjoyed by other state colleges and universities.

'NOTHING REALLY NEW'

U. of M. and MSU now are in the process of borrowing from banks to maintain normal operations.

"There is nothing really new about this," Miller said. "The governor warned a year ago that we faced this kind of a crisis. We have managed to stall it off for as long as we could.

The Day in Birmingham

Moral Re-Armament Play to Be Presented 3 Nights

BIRMINGHAM — "He Was Not There," a drama produced by the Moral Re-armament Center at Mackinac Island, will open at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Birmingham High School Little Theater for three evening performances.

The play was brought to Birmingham through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Guthing, 581 Lake Park Dr. Tickets may be obtained at the Guthing home or at the box office.

The cast includes Hamnelory Creig, an actress from East Berlin, and Ann Buckles, noted for her Broadway performances in "The Pajama Game."

"He Was Not There" was written by Phyllis Konstan.

After its opening in Atlanta, Ga., last January, the play was taken on invitation to the Philippines. It was presented there during the MR-A Assembly of Asian Nations and won wide acclaim.

It is the story of a typical American family as it faces the problems of our modern world.

The committee for the newly formed Teen Club here will meet at 7:30 tonight at Showcase, Inc., 136 Brownell St. Progress reports and a discussion of future plans are slated.

Recently-elected officers of the Senior Men's Club are Henry O. Wagner, president; Donald S. McGuire, vice president; T. A. Henshaw, secretary-treasurer; H. G. Roberts and Robert S. Phillips, executive committee.

The group will meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Gould, 5760 Monterey Ct., Huntscroft. Members will bring gifts to be taken to the Oakland County Juvenile Home in Pontiac.

Members of the Altrusa Club of Greater Birmingham will have a Christmas dinner meeting 7 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Paul Pankotan, 519 W. Maple Ave.

Pope John Names Mooney's Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope John XXIII today named the Most Rev. John F. Dearden of Pittsburgh to be Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit. He also chose the Most Rev. William E. Cousins, Peoria, Ill., to be archbishop of Milwaukee.

Archbishop-elect Dearden, 51, has been bishop of Pittsburgh for eight years. He succeeds the late Edward Cardinal Mooney as head of the archdiocese of Detroit.

Bishop Cousins, 56, in being transferred to Milwaukee, succeeds the Most Rev. Albert G. Meyer, installed as archbishop of Chicago Nov. 16 in succession to the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch. Cousins has served as bishop of Peoria since 1952.

Mao's Regime Is Crumbling

Nationalist Says Reds Face Revolt or Else Giving Up Communes

TAIPEI (AP) — Dr. Sampson Shen, Nationalist China's chief information officer, said today "I have not the slightest doubt that we are witnessing today the beginning of the end for Mao Tze-tung & Co."

Shen said in a luncheon speech the Chinese Communists have these alternatives: "Either to march forward at the risk of stirring up a popular revolt or to retreat by abandonment of the commune system of collective work battalions."

"They would not choose the latter course for they know that once the dam is broken, they themselves would be swept away by the torrent," Shen said.

"The intensified disgust and disillusionment by the overworked peasants will one day reach such a level that a general uprising would be the only way open for their survival.

"And when that day comes, the rifles that are issued to militia members in the communes will be used against them."

Shen asked and answered the question: Why did Mao want to establish the communes and probably against the advice of his subordinates?

"The first reason, I submit, is the failure of the Chinese Communist collectivization efforts in the last nine years," Shen said.

"The second reason is political. Last summer, top Chinese Communists including Mao Tze-tung, Chu Teh, Liu Shao-chi and Chou En-lai, made many trips to all corners of the mainland on inspection tours. They must have discovered the shaky position of their regime in the face of increased peasant opposition to the agricultural cooperatives.

"Thirdly, the Chinese Communists are preparing for war. By making every peasant or worker a soldier at the same time, they dream of establishing the greatest military empire in the world history."

Million Gets Cooled

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Police jailed George A. Million yesterday on a charge of passing bad checks.

Informer Says Raids Hit Several Rings

Racketeers from at least two numbers rings operating in Pontiac were arrested in the sweeping, citywide raids by the police department Dec. 5, an informer has told Pontiac police officials.

The raids Dec. 5 smashed an alleged $2,250,000 numbers ring which operated here for 10 years, according to police.

More than 50 persons were arrested, half of them accused of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

The ring had been under investigation by the vice squad since April, police said.

The informer told police that, from the time the vice squad opened its investigation to the date of the raids, some persons had moved over to other operations.

GOT 'BETTER DEAL'

"They were offered a better deal," he told police.

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman has said that at least two other rings exist in the city. "We're out to get them and they know it," Eastman said.

Eastman said the raids didn't net all that was desired. Every day the ring would shift houses because the operators knew they were being shadowed, he said.

Vice squad officers told Eastman the racketeers would make calls at "sham houses" — places they'd cleared out of — to throw vice squad officers off the track.

Police asked the informer if there was a tie-up between Detroit and the Pontiac ring. He refused to deny or confirm a connection, police said.

Numbers operators were tailed heading for Detroit with the day's take before the raid was pulled off.

No Meetings Slated in Booth Walkout

LANSING (UPI) — No further meetings were scheduled today between Booth Newspapers, Inc., and negotiators for the 617 striking members of the International Typographical Union who have shut down nine newspapers in eight Michigan cities for the past 24 days.

"More talks right now the way things are may only prolong the strikes," commented federal mediator J. Stuart Kelly. "I have no plans to call the two parties together and they haven't asked me to set up further talks."

Kelly said the company and the union "are just sitting back waiting."

Bar Association May Rate County Judge Candidates

Lawyers belonging to the Oakland County Bar Association will be asked Monday to decide whether the group should rate the qualifications of some 15 candidates seeking to become county circuit court judges.

William B. Hartman, association president, has called a meeting for 1:30 in Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom to decide on this question which has been debated for several years.

If such ratings are approved by the more than 200 members of the Bar, Hartman said the system might be patterned after that of the Wayne County Bar Association. This system rates judicial candidates as preferred, qualified, or not commented on.

Candidates for the Oakland bench's five positions have until Dec. 29 to file their nominating petitions with the Secretary of State in Lansing.

Oakland GOP Presents Award

Names Ray Ballard Best Precinct Captain During Fall Campaign

A precinct election captain for the first time, C. Ray Ballard of Huntington Woods, has the distinction of having his name first on a new 'Lincoln Award," which the Republican Committee of Oakland County will present every two years to the outstanding precinct captain.

Ballard, of 10160 Kingston St., was presented with the award, which will be kept at committee headquarters in Birmingham, and a desk paperweight of a bust of Abraham Lincoln at a ceremony in Pontiac last night.

The awards were made by Arthur G. Elliott Jr., committee chairman from Pleasant Ridge, following a buffet dinner at the civic room of the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. building.

The award will be made biennially to the precinct captain whom the committee feels does the best job in organizing his assigned area in getting out the vote in fall general elections.

Ballard was selected from among 200 such captains who worked for the committee in last November's election.

Honorable mention went to James P. Dickerson and Mrs. Paul Matchette, both of Birmingham, John E. Graham of Bloomfield Township, Robert Schwab of Troy and James Preisch of Royal Oak.

Oakland Alerted by CD

While Pontiac area residents were going about their every day duties, at home, on the job, or just scurrying along city streets keeping apace with holiday shopping, authorities were preparing for an impending disaster Tuesday.

At 1:46 p.m. yesterday a civil defense alert device was being installed at the new Pontiac State Police Post by a Michigan Bell Telephone electrician.

The alert device is connected to a circuit, which simultaneously warns all police departments, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, local hospitals, major schools and other public buildings of an impending enemy attack or any other type of disaster.

According to plans, a test was to be run from the central office to the new post only, making sure the new installation had been made properly.

But someone flipped the wrong switch.

The "alert" went out to all area departments on the circuit. Switchboards began buzzing at police stations and the Oakland County Civil Defense Office.

For a few moments officials were poised to sound the alarm. Then it was learned from the telephone company the alert was a mistake, only a false alarm.

The red faced electrician simply said, "Somebody goofed."

The Passengers Begin to Size Up One Another; Angus Does Likewise

By ELIZABETH CADELL

THE STORY: Angus Graham, invalided out of the Navy, is amused at being hired by Sir Claud as a "liaison officer" for the simple job of courier on a superlative luxury bus tour in Europe. He's filling in for his friend, Wax Sealing. The driver is Ferdy Brewer. The passenger list sounds impressive — Lord Lorrimer, father of a Navy friend, with his lovely daughter, Angela Clunes, and Lionel Yule his secretary, obviously in love with Angela; Mr. Zoller, philanthropist, and his wife; Admiral Peterson and his sister, Mrs. Denby-Warre.

CHAPTER III

There could hardly have been a greater contrast between two members of a family. The Admiral was all curves, his sister all angles; his face was smudged, hers etched. Her dress was severe, and so was the voice in which she addressed Angus.

"Young man, have you a large, clear map I could look at?"

He brought the one from his compartment and gave it to her. She took it and thanked him, but before looking at it, she met the gaze of Mrs. Zoller, seated on the other side of the aisle.

For only a moment, the two glances held, but in that moment Angus saw exchanged a brief but uncomplimentary message.

Mrs. Zoller clearly thought the other woman an extraordinary figure, while Mrs. Denby-Warre made no secret of her opinion of a woman who wore diamonds in the morning and showed her bosom to strangers.

Somewhat shaken, Angus passed on to the next passenger, Sir Maurice Tarrant, who with head screwed round, was awaiting his approach.

About twenty-five, almost as fair as Angela Clunes, he had an uninhibited flow of conversation and an irrepressible manner that was already bringing a frown to the Admiral's brow.

HIS FIRST TRIP

He greeted Angus, and in a voice he did not trouble to lower, informed him that this was his first trip on an Empress and that it seemed comfortable enough but that the average age of the passengers was too high to insure a really amusing journey — and wasn't that Angela Clunes over there, and couldn't something be done to move people around a bit so as to allow her to, as it were, circulate?

Angus told him that the passengers were free to change their seats if they wished to do so, and passed on hoping that Sir Maurice would not prove too much of a handful on the journey.

Arriving at the next passenger, Mr. Stanton Holt, he found him to be about forty. American, and of strong build.

His manner was as free from self-consciousness as Maurice Tarrant's, but infinitely more restful. He studied Angus through large, horn-rimmed spectacles and then spoke in a slow drawl.

"I haven't used these coaches before," he said. "Would they carry something to drink?"

"I can give you a short drink," Angus told him, "before lunch or before dinner."

"Fine, fine," said Mr. Holt approvingly." I don't overdo it, you understand, but" — he smiled engagingly — "I like to do it. Would you," he went on, "ask the lady sitting in front of me if I could talk to her?"

Angus waited a moment, but there was not a quiver from the lady seated in front. Stepping forward, he bent over Miss Seton, only to find that bending was of no use, since she was wearing a hat that had been modeled from a giant mushroom.

He could see slim ankles and expensive, high-heeled shoes, but nothing short of getting on his knees and gazing upward could have shown him her features.

IN HER THIRTIES

"Miss Seton?"

She looked up. He found himself looking down at a woman in her late thirties, with a plain, broad face whose most compelling feature was a pair of warm, humorous, intelligent hazel eyes.

"And that, I suppose," observed Mr. Holt, "is the reason the British sit in trains and planes looking like they wished they were some place else?"

"Would you allow me to introduce Mr. Stanton Holt to you?" asked Angus.

"I wonder," asked Angus, "if you would allow me to introduce Mr. Stanton Holt to you?"

"That's me," came from Mr. Holt. "If you could most kindly turn your chair around—"

Miss Seton, revolving slowly, came face to face with him and inclined her head.

"How do you do?"

"I'd do better if I could talk to you," said Mr. Holt frankly. "I was going to tap you on the shoulder and ask if I could get to know you, but then I thought it might be kind of wiser if I waited and what you'd call observed the formalities. And now I hope we're acquainted?"

Miss Seton gave him a long, unhurried survey that ended in a smile.

"I admire your courage," she said.

"Courage?"

She glanced up at Angus.

"You tell him," she said.

"I think," said Angus, translating, "that Miss Seton means you've got courage because you've risked spoiling your journey by inviting somebody you don't know, and may later find uncongenial, to make friends with you. Am I right, Miss Seton?"

"Quite right," she said.

"Of course," said Angus.

The Admiral also wanted gin. His sister wanted lemonade. When Angus brought it to her, she took it with some suspicion.

"This is real lemon, I hope?"

"Real lemon," he assured her.

"Not out of a bottle?"

"No. I cut a fresh lemon in half and squeezed it."

MET BEFORE

"Oh, thank you. Thank you so much." She sipped it and nodded. "Delicious. My brother," she went on, "has been telling me that he has seen you before, and—"

"I'm on the temporary staff. I'm taking the place of a friend of mine."

"And what happened to him?" Angus smiled.

"He rescued a pretty girl's poodle from under a bus in Piccadilly."

"And he was hurt?"

"Not by the bus. He got entangled in the poodle's leash, and landed awkwardly."

'I GET LONELY'

"Well, that may be so," allowed Mr. Holt, "but I always get kind of lonely when I leave home, and I had one experience I told myself I'd never repeat. I shared a cabin with a Britisher all the way from Southampton to New York, and all he ever said to me, the whole trip, was 'Good-by o' chap.'"

"But think how restful!" said Miss Seton.

"Well, don't you be restful," he implored. "I liked the back of you and I like the front of you and if you'll only stay this way up, I'll be grateful and I hope I won't bother you. Will you let me ask Mr. Graham to bring you a drink?

Lord Lorrimer, overhearing, ordered sherry for himself, his secretary and his daughter. Mr. Zoller stirred, opened small, shrewd eyes, fixed them unblinkingly on Angus and asked him if he had a pink chin.

"A—?" began Angus, momentarily at a loss.

Mrs. Zoller, translating indulgently, explained that what her husband wanted was a pink shin.

"I see. Well, I hope you enjoy taking his place."

"Thank you."

He went back to his compartment feeling that they were, on the whole, a nice lot—with the possible exception of Maurice Tarrant, who might give a bit of trouble.

Lord Lorrimer seemed to have something on his mind, he mused, only a small part of him seemed to be present, the rest was far away, and in not too happy a place.

His secretary, and the dispatch case, proved that he had work to do on the journey, but even heavy responsibility shouldn't give people that lost sort of look.

And Lord Lorrimer had more reason than most to look happy, he had a pleasant and secure place in the world, a son who had just made a brilliant marriage and a daughter . . .

He brought his mind firmly away from the daughter. There was work to be done, he was not on a pleasure trip.

He looked out at the landscape. They were passing the Kent orchards; a month ago, he remembered, he had driven along this stretch of road and had seen on either side a glory of pink and white blossoms.

If he tried to tell his children, in years to come, about the Kent orchards in Spring, would he have to translate his theme into a transatlantic idiom?

SHOPPING'S A HOBBY with some people. They like nothing better than a long store-by-store hunt for a bargain. For the rest of us shopping is one of those things that just has to be done. So we put it off until the last moment—especially at Christmas—then find ourselves rushed for time. The Yellow Pages directory can make your last-minute shopping much easier. It lists the names and phone numbers of local dealers. Do your searching in the Yellow Pages—and save yourself valuable time.

TALKING OF CHRISTMAS SHOPPING, why not give your family a gift that's useful year-round, smartly styled—comes in a choice of nine decorator colors? Sounds expensive but it isn't—costs only about a dollar a month after a small installation charge. It's an extension phone—the gift that speaks for itself. One in the bedroom, kitchen or laundry room will save time and steps year after year. And each time it does, your family will bless you for your thoughtfulness. Just pick up your phone and order a phone.

WHEN SPEAKING to each other, Long Distance operators usually use a code (it speeds your service). "D-A" means the party doesn't answer; "B-Y" means the number is busy and so on. An operator was stumped recently when another operator informed her that the number being called was "O-M-C-." "What does that mean?" she asked, mystified. "Out milking cows," came the reply.

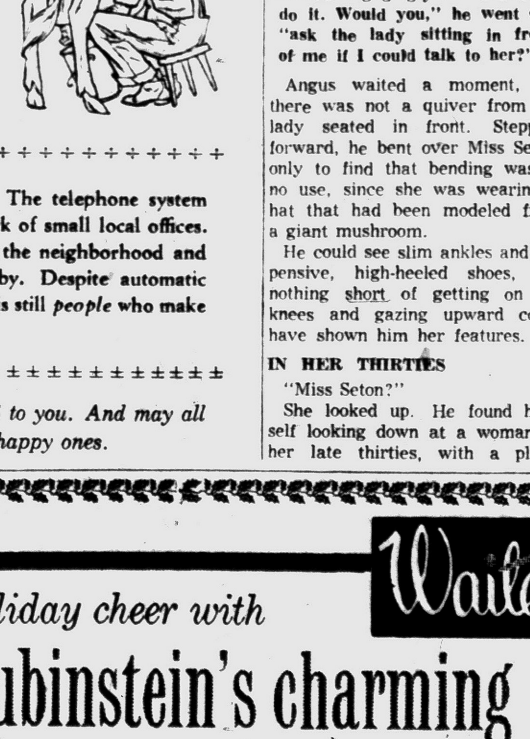

THIS LITTLE STORY has a point. The telephone system for all its size is actually a network of small local offices. Each is adapted to the needs of the neighborhood and run by the folks who live nearby. Despite automatic equipment of great complexity, it is still people who make telephone service good.

A VERY HAPPY CHRISTMAS to you. And may all your telephone calls in 1959 be happy ones.

Russian Confab Shoots Humphrey Into Focus

From a rather low position on the Democratic totem pole of presidential hopefuls Sen. HUBERT HUMPHREY has climbed a notch or two since his return from interviewing Soviet Boss KHRUSHCHEV.

Some people evidently, at least for the moment, are climbing aboard his band wagon and getting quite serious about him as a candidate. He is playing the role of world statesman to the hilt and taking advantage of his interview at every turn in the road.

First off, he had a long talk with Ike that received much fanfare. Then the newspapers and magazines gave him a good ride, For the time being, at least, he's operating from center stage.

Mrs. FDR comes out with a pretty strong endorsement and says that she thinks he is the closest of anyone to having the stuff the next president will need. Just how much weight Mrs. ROOSEVELT packs is an unknown quantity.

Seasoned politicians have never mentioned HUMPHREY as presidential timber, the reason being his pro-civil rights fight at the 1948 convention in Philadelphia. They were afraid the South would have no part of him. Time heals many wounds; perhaps this is the case now.

His years in the Senate have not been too impressive. Often he was referred to as the "boy scout." Over the years he has mellowed until today he is considered by many in the party as a man of great responsibility.

Just how well he would be accepted by the South today has not been shown. His views are considered quite liberal for many Southerners. One thing is quite certain, and that is that HUMPHREY is out to do a selling job and make friends.

It just could be that his name will have to be reckoned with before the next Democartic convention rolls around.

People Need Incentive for Top Performance

Fruit for thought comes from a statement attributed to BENJAMIN F. FAIRLESS when he said, "We are drifting away from the idea of properly rewarding the individual who does the best job." This has been creeping up for some time and is truer today than ever before.

Success is frowned upon. People at the top in their chosen endeavor are sneered at and deprived of their just rewards in many instances. Personal income taxes are penalizing people of high accomplishment. To excel in any field it is necessary to have better than average performances.

To stimulate top quality scientists, engineers or production workers, they must be rewarded. Our economic setup today makes this difficult and some of our most talented individuals are frustrated by shabby rewards.

One of our biggest guarantees for top quality performance is incentive. Human nature just won't push individuals without some reward in sight. Federal income tax, along with other proposed taxes, constitute a method by which superior ability is deprived of reward.

In our race against communism a nation where everyone is average is not good enough. Many of our young folks just out of school working in electronics are discouraged by their co-workers from working to the limit of their abilities.

The general attitude is to do just the job assigned. Looking back over this great nation it is easy to see that we did not arrive at this great pinnacle with the acceptance of mediocrity.

Men are willing to take chances. They will work endless hours, but incentives must be in sight. If their extra work all goes to pay taxes, they are soon discouraged.

To continue as a top world power, we must encourage and find ways to compensate the worthy for their extra risks and efforts.

"WHY don't you quit worrying about the world situation? Can't you see it isn't doing it or you any good?

Conservation Department to Forbid Mining in Park

Christmas: What can be properly spelled in only one way.

Inside information comes to me that the Michigan Conservation Commission at its meeting early next month will deny mining rights in the Porcupine Mountains State Park. This action will be taken largely on the recommendation of Director of Conservation.

Gerald S. Eddy,

and will mean much to the Pontiac area, although we're 600 miles from the Porcupines.

Oakland County has more state parks than any other of Michigan's 83 counties, and it has been feared the Upper Peninsula project might be an entering wedge, and set a precedent. Ambitious real estate operators and others are envious of the acreage occupied by some of the local state parks, and would grab some of it for subdividing, although the land was secured and dedicated for its present purpose, as was the Porcupines.

This takes me back to many conversations with the man who started the state park movement, the late

who gave much of his fortune to the plan, and induced the late

John and Horace Dodge

to put millions into it. He repeatedly used the word "forever" in speaking of his two ideals on the subject: holding them for public use, and never making any charge for that use.

Well known by hundreds of my readers was the

who had preached from many pulpits in the Pontiac area. He died Monday at his home in Flint, aged 98.

Tied for second place among the 202 attorneys who passed the last examination of the Michigan Bar Association was 25-year-old of 475 Lakeside Drive, Pontiac.

Jerome E. Mulligan

Dems Want Latin American Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are moving in to push the Eisenhower administration toward a broadened and perhaps more generous policy in dealing with Latin America, or to break the whole subject wide open for public discussion.

The shocking treatment given Vice President Richard M. Nixon last spring on his Latin-American good will trip forced this country into painful realization that this country's relations with its southern neighbors are far from happy.

The problem is complex. Mainly, so far, the administration has been talking of studying the problem.

This week Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the leading possibilities for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, made a speech in Puerto Rico. In it, he offered a 10-point program for strengthening U. S.-Latin-American relations. While not giving Latin America a clean bill of health, he was critical of this country's performance.

That speech cannot help but win him friends in Central and South America. It can't do him any harm either among Latin Americans in this country if he should run for president.

Another Democrat, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, also in the running for his party's presidential nomination, indicated last week he plans a major speech on Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers, a Florida Democrat who is known as a friend of Latin America, has said he expects to introduce in the new Congress a bill to create the post of undersecretary of state for hemisphere affairs.

On top of this, a Senate subcommittee — headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat —was given the task of looking into U. S.-Latin-American relations. It now is making a study and may hold hearings early next year.

The bipartisanship of Democrats and Republicans has been pretty sturdy in areas of the world where communism is a menace, especially where it is or might become a military menace.

There's no present military danger from communism in Latin America. But there is the possibility of future danger, and maybe not too far off, if Communists gain a dominant role in one or more Latin-American countries.

The Democrats may feel less inclined to go along with the Eisenhower administration on problems involving Latin America than on those affecting Europe, Asia or Africa.

When Nixon returned from Latin America last May he made a few public proposals—mostly in generalities—for bettering this country's relations with its southern neighbors. And he conferred privately on the matter with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. But Nison has never come up with any detailed proposals in public.

After Nixon's return, Eisenhower sent his brother Dr. Milton Eisenhower to Latin America. He, too, made few public proposals when he got back here in August.

Milton Eisenhower said he would make more detailed recommendations later but explained this might take time because of his duties as president of Johns Hopkins University. So far as this writer can learn he has never made those further recommendations.

Recently representatives of this country met with representatives of 20 Latin-American countries to study what needs to be done to provide more U. S. help for Central and South America.

The Country Parson

"We prove our faith in our children by leaving them to pay the debt for the fine things we enjoy."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Infectious Mononucleosis Not as Bad as It Sounds

The worst of acute infectious mononucleosis is its name.

There are other names a doctor may give the illness if acute infectious mononucleosis does not suffice, such as acute lymphadenosis, monocytic angina, glandular fever. And no doubt by the time workday doctors and people have become familiar with acute infectious mononucleosis, the leaders of the profession will have a new name for it.

DR. BRADY

Whatever you call it, the illness is benign, that is, mild and seldom good for more than 10 days' from school or work.

There is some moderate fever, enlargement of lymph nodes or "glands" on the sides of the neck and elsewhere, sore throat or tonsillitis, perhaps enlargement of spleen and liver (sometimes the illness is mistaken for catarrhal jaundice), nosebleed, sometimes pinkish-brown spots on the skin. Characteristic sign of the disease is an increase in the number of mononuclear blood cells.

A specific cause of acute infectious mononucleosis has not been discovered or identified, so it is only the opinion of physicians who have observed the illness that it is infectious, that is, communicable.

But if this opinion is correct, the illness is certainly only mildly communicable from person to person. Perhaps it is transmitted indirectly by way of intermediary carrier.

Treatment? We have in stock all kinds of fancy shots etc., if you are fond of that sort of thing. But in the present state of knowledge of the pathology of this disease, I'd say your best bet is to stay home for a week or two and loll about the house, yard or garden until you begin to feel ashamed of yourself for such prolonged idleness.

If my view of acute infectious mononucleosis seems to optimistic, I offer no apology. I'm sure the usual description of the illness is much too morbid or pessimistic for the public.

"Your cure for arthritis makes sense to me. Please send literature. (R. L. S.)"

Answer — Your request indicates that you don't know what I'm talking about. I have no treatment or cure for arthritis. If you have joint disability that has been getting gradually worse for a year or more, it is probably degeneration of joint tissues — which I call rheumatiz. If this makes sense to you, send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet Chronic joint Disability.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Home Owners Reds' Worst Foe

Fred Tucker won 14 college letters in athletics while a student at DePauw University, but he has helped stabilize thousands of families and has been a constant foe of Communism, just by the commodity he sells. So his vocation will memorialize his full life far more than his unique athletic record.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-403: Fred C. Tucker helped organize the Indianapolis Real Estate Board, for he is a charter member.

DR. CRANE

Recently I gave the luncheon address before that group of livewire opponents of Communism, and Fred was very generous in his praise of my remarks, suggesting that I repeat them in this column.

Real estate salesmen know that they are the very best foes of Communism for whenever they sell a house or farm to a customer, they have instanty recruited an ally for our "free enterprise" system.

Home ownership is the antithesis of Communism!

And people who buy property then become more discriminating citizens. For they see vivid evidences of the cost of government in their tax bills.

Real estate taxes are not the "hidden" variety which politicians can glibly conceal. No siree! They are out in the open where owners will squawk loudly at any sign of waste or needless levies.

And this keen attention to efficient government helps make every home owner a better tutor of his children regarding our Republic.

One of the greatest boons to America would be for every citizen to buy a city lot or farm, so he could become a more stable type of citizen.

PARENTS, STAY PUT!

Children are emotionally more secure, too, when they live in the the same neighborhood throughout grade school.

For then they make lasting friendships that persist. Thus, they are less likely to become neurotic.

So you parents should aspire to buy a home, if for no other reason than to insure your children's emotional stability, plus their higher school marks.

For a timid child, jerked out of three or four different schoo.. during his eight years of grade school, often gets off on the wrong foot educationally.

For example, if he is just starting to learn the multiplication tables when his tenant parents decide to move, he may be yanked out of one school and abruptly entered into another.

Since our schools are not fully standardized, this second school may already have finished work on the 3s and 4s, so the child misses the vital drill on those tables.

All his life, therefore, he may be poor in mathematics, and this tragic result may be traced to the fact his parents changed him from one school to another at a crucial moment in his educational career.

So home ownership helps a child obtain a more uniform and standardized education. This then makes it easier for him to win high marks in high school.

And top grades in high school will cause him to look with more favor on entering college.

I am not exaggerating, therefore, when I urge you parents to "stay put" whenever possible till your children get well launched upon their education.

EMOTIONAL GROWTH

Thousands of shy, lonely kids get that way because they are also jerked out of their familiar group of pals and playmates because their parents decide to rent elsewhere.

So the child, who may have started to school and been a daily companion of the kids in years, is suddenly uprooted and enrolled in a strange school.

The other children now disregard him. So he feels aloof and shy. Sometimes, in desperation, he finally becomes a naughty child or a bully to break into the alien social group.

Apart from financial profit, therefore, you parents should consider buying a home just as insurance for the emotional and educational welfare of your children.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Requests Saturday Hours for Public Safety Building

Why is it that a Pontiac resident cannot renew a driver's license on Saturday mornings at the Public Safety Building? Several persons have complained about this. When a worker is employed from 8 to 5 daily, it's nearly impossible to get there before the bureau closes at 5:30.

The officials could close the license bureau on Monday morning when most workers are at their place of business, and stay open on Saturday mornings when most taxpayers are able to get to the Safety Building.

I wonder how other taxpayers of Pontiac feel about this.

Taxpayer

Urges Teachers to Take Stand

The old reasons still are there for poor conditions in schools, but there seems to be a new factor which makes a youngster want to disrupt. It is bred in the home and causes parents and youngsters to destroy our educational processes.

Many teachers are afraid to grade honestly or condemn a student of wrongdoing. An example of rebuttal from both students and parents is to call the teacher a Communist. Such student accusers are usually the worst classroom disrupters.

To destroy education in this country is to destroy America. Russians know this too. Could it be, without stretching the imagination too far, that some of these people who are so prone to destroy free public education are doing so purposely? Could it be they are enemies of our way of life? For enemies they are, as much as any sworn Communist. Name-calling can be used as a weapon to allow youngsters to run amok. I suggest teachers and administrators who are afraid, wake up. Freedom is your heritage.

More Ask Stores to Close Sunday

Open on Sunday? No. God said one day of rest out of seven. Why do we put our greed for money above God? Our day of rest in the U.S.A. is Sunday. Let's keep Sunday as our day to think about God.

James Gatton
136 Judson St.

To the customer who buys on Sunday. That unhappy salesclerk waiting on you would like to be home with his or her family, going to church and resting on this day. The Golden Rule would fit nicely here, unless you'd like to be on the other side of the counter selling, as that clerk must be to keep his or her job. Don't buy on Sunday, so we can all rest.

Unhappy

Sunday has been recognized as the day of rest since the birth of our Republic. The creeping paralysis of materialism has spread to our downtown section and our city administrators have failed to stop buying and selling on the Sabbath.

As a citizen taxpayer, I charge the city manager, mayor and city attorney to delve into the city archives, dust off Statute 18851 (RS 1864—Ch. 43) and enforce it. Since this statute contains a penalty of $10 which was adequate 50 years ago, it could be amended to $100 or 90 days in jail or both.

Tells Appreciation for People's Help

Last Sunday I was thrown out of a car involved in an accident. An unknown lady and gentleman came to my aide. The lady held my head and shoulders so they wouldn't rest on the snowy, wet pavement until she couldn't hold me any more and then the man relieved her until the ambulance came. All the people around were so very kind and thoughtful, covering me with blankets and assuring me an ambulance was on the way. I certainly appreciate such people and their kindness.

Army Personnel Commend USO

The officers and enlisted men of "D" Battery, 4th Missile Battalion (Nike), Auburn Heights, want the public to know the outstanding work being done by the Pontiac USO. It has done much to show the friendliness of Michigan people, Pontiac residents in particular. The many shows, dances, parties and programs have raised morale and spirit of the soldiers.

Also, the cooperation of Pontiac merchants, business clubs and social organizations has helped greatly to make the USO's work successful. It is the result of such organizations' work that a city assumes a personality all its own and remains a pleasant memory in the minds of those who served their country here.

Rare Hurricane Hits France, Killing Nine

PARIS (AP)—A rare hurricane swept most of France Tuesday night, leaving at least nine dead and thousands of dollars of damage.

UAW Official Hurt as Stone Hits Car

DETROIT (AP) — Norman Matthews, a vice president of the United Auto Workers Union, was hospitalized today with injuries suffered when a stone was flung into his car on an expressway.

Matthews, 62, was hurt yesterday on the Edsel Ford Expressway. The stone smashed through a car window. Matthews suffered a cut arm and a bruised chest.

The unionist's car, driven by his aide, Arthur Hughes, was in the vicinity of an overpass at the time. Police said a boy prankster might have flung the stone.

Plain or Fancy Gloves Always Welcome Gift

It's all very well to give a wife something she needed anyway and was planning to buy. That's very good economy.

But in her heart of hearts at Christmas she wants to be surprised with a luxury, something she is tempted by all year long.

To make it easy for men sold on the idea, the Leather Glove Producers of France offer some hints to bear in mind at the glove counter because gloves are accessories that add fillip to all her costumes.

You must know your wife's glove size. If you can't find it marked in an old glove, get another member of the family to worm it out of her if necessary.

The French glace kids, suedes and doeskins are at their best when they fit perfectly.

For a woman with a skimpy glove wardrobe buy a pair that will give her plenty of mileage. Generally agreed to be the most useful is an eight-button (mid-forearm length) suede in a pale neutral beige.

This will look well at all hours of the day and evening and is smart with many sleeve lengths, worn crushed down or smoothed up over the arm.

If she needs a formal glove, get her a pair of white glace kid in a length reaching to the elbow or beyond.

A wardrobe of shorties (gloves that stop at the wrist) is another nice choice, in glace kid with buttons at the wrist.

A black, a white and a pale beige will see her smartly through the day and evening for most occasions and most fashions.

A few words about styling: If she has a good-sized glove wardrobe, be tempted by the decorated, fancy gloves.

If her glove wardrobe is scanty, select absolutely plain styles because they will look well with more of her clothes.

Bob Considine Says:

There's No Substitute for a Newspaper

NEW YORK — You know who misses the New York newspapers most in the current deliverers strike? The New York newspapermen.

Going without a newspaper is worse than trying to stop smoking or drinking. A fellow doesn't know what to do with his hands. Or his head. You have the feeling of being alone in a crowd and without knowledge of some great news that everybody else knows about and won't tell. You have a feeling too, that the world might be going to pot and nobody knows it.

The radio and TV stations around New York have done what they could to fill the void. NBC had two hours of New York Timesmen sounding forth last Sunday. WNEW, the powerful independent, has a number of the New York columnists reading their pieces over the air. All the stations have increased the number of newscasts.

But this burst of effort, commendable as it is, points up a timeless truth. There's no substitute for a newspaper. The pear-shaped tone, the flitting image on a screen, can never replace or even fill in temporarily for the printed word.

The hour-by-hour record of these momentous days can be kept only by the daily papers. The most comprehensive sort of news show on the air can be little else than sketchy. It is a transient look at something which can be confirmed properly only by study of the story in the press.

A comparative handful of deliverers has silenced the biggest, most articulate and influential press in the land, the New York newspapers. The manner by which it has been done as been deplored on both sides, union and management, and in the middle, the government arbitrator. But it has been done. The papers have lost December revenue which will mean, for some, the difference between a winning and a losing year

The merchants of the town have lost some incalculable sums because they could not promote sales through their adversisements

The familiar news vendors' kiosks around the city are bleak places these days, without their stacks of newspapers. The protruding shelf that knew the weight of exciting new editions breathing with the pulse of a changing world now sag forlornly under cheap magazines—one of them containing a feature on how well Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds are getting along together in Hollywood.

The weekly newsmagazines are a bit of a help, but not the answer. The news is stale and stilted. In Time the anonymous young men continue to strive more for a flippancy than a fact, more for a pun than a pungent thought. Wafer thin, razor sharp, pipe puffing Time is not one to replace hen shaped, blunt tongued, posture blasting Westbrook Pegler, seems it to me.

So we grieve for our daily papers, especially we who help to produce them. The syndicate writers keep hacking away (Ed. Note: to wit, but it takes sometimes several days and more often a week to find out whether any editor, any reader, cared.

We hardly know what to do with our time these days, since so much of it was given over to reading and studying all the New York papers, not just the N.Y. Journal American and N.Y. Mirror. Some of us have gotten out that old unfinished novel and looked it over again.

Let that be a warning to the literature lovers among the balky deliverers! If that doesn't bring them to their knees, nothing will.

Judge Rules Today on Alabama Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge said he will rule today on a request that he set aside his order for an Alabama judge and five voter registrars to appear before the U. S. Civil Rights Commission.

U. S. Dist. Judge Frank Johnson Jr. withheld a decision after Atty. Gen. John Patterson filed the motions on behalf of Circuit Judge George Wallace and the five registration officials.

Wallace refused to appear at the federal agency's first two-day hearing here last week, or to surrender the registration records. The five registrars appeared, but would not testify under oath.

Johnson ordered the six Alabama officials last week to appear before a subcommittee of the commission here Friday afternoon. The order directs them to surrender the desired registration files and to give the testimony the commission wants.

JUST SAY: "Charge It"

Gives Them Reason to Hire Handicapped

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

His right arm is a phony.

"Oh, I just had it shot off," he says when they ask how it happened. "One of my souvenirs of France."

The explanation is casual. The lost arm, the way he talks of it, might be just another memento like perfume and post cards.

"In a manner of speaking," he goes on, "I'm lucky. I'm disabled the easy way. I'm hampered just enough that I have to use ingenuity —ingenuity I didn't know I ever had.

"It's like I always tell employers, when I'm trying to get a job for another physically handicapped person: I say, 'Mr. Jones, I'll bet you use both your hands to tie your shoelaces in the morning, is that right?' They say yes, that's right.

"Then I show them how easy it is, with a little ingenuity, to tie a shoe quickly with one hand. And to put on a necktie with one hand. And to open a door, while carrying packages, with only one arm.

"What I'm trying to show them, naturally, is that a person who has a handicap is as good—maybe better—than the next guy as an employe. He is resourceful, because he has to be. Everything he does, every day, is a challenge."

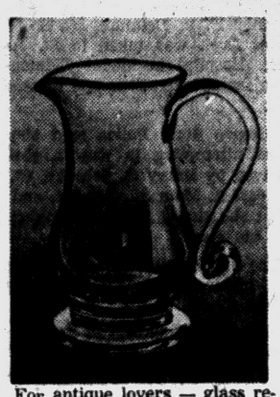

This is Fred Board's job, to convince the business world that disabled Americans deserve to stand on their own. He is executive director of JOB (Just One Break), a non-profit corporation organized by men of medicine and industry to place physically handicapped persons in productive jobs.

More often than not, Board convinces the hardest-headed businessman. A good thing, too. Because every year, the number of physically disabled people in the U.S. increases.

"Surprisingly enough, it is modern medicine that has increased our roster of handicapped looking for work," he says.

"Ten years ago, for instance, cancer was considered practically incurable. Today, medicine is stopping cancer—but leaving disabled people.

For antique lovers — glass reproductions. Pitcher is from the Williamsburg collection, pieces reproduced with same hand methods used in Jamestown 200 years ago.

"And right now there is a prevalence of a lot of degenerative diseases. Multiple sclerosis, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, even arthritis. Before medicine knew much about diseases like this, and treated them, a patient would just sit at home waiting to die,

"Now, now that they can be treated, they are no longer hopeless cases. They are people who want a chance to make a living."

And disability in the young adult is becoming more and more prominent. "Remember our polio epidemics of several years ago? Well, the children who were crippled from those epidemics are finishing school now.

"They will be out in the labor markets, hundreds of them, in a short time."

Board points out that 33,000,000 Americans are now permanently handicapped.

The total increases at the rate of 250,000 a year. For every one person killed, for instance, in the course of a holiday weekend, at least 10 are permanently disabled.

England has tried to solve its handicapped problem by legislation. Like the U.S., 3 per cent of the population of Britain falls into the disabled category.

It is mandatory for each company to select 3 per cent of its employes from this group.

It is a poor system, in JOB's opinion. Businessmen are certain to resent men and women they are forced to hire.

Says Board, speaking for all men with souvenirs of bad luck: "The last thing we want is official sympathy. The only thing we want is a chance to beat the daily challenge."

Half the world's adults can neither read nor write. In some countries illiteracy runs as high as 80 per cent.

Hong Kong Christmas Has English Flavor

The holiday season in Australia, New Zealand and the foreign sectors of both Singapore and Hong Kong retains an old English flavor. There are Christmas trees and wreaths and traditional feasts of turkey or goose and plum pudding. The old custom of Boxing Day — when boxed gifts are exchanged—falls on December 26, making Christmas a four-day weekend this year.

Nowhere in the Pacific is the holiday more devoutly observed than in the Philippines. The Christmas season begins on December 16 with a 4 a.m. "Misa de Gallo," a Mass which starts at the first crowing of the cock. Homes are brightly decorated, and on Christmas Eve the traditional feast is roast suckling pig following Midnight Mass.

Though adults exchange gifts on Christmas day, Filipino children place their shoes on window sills on the night before January 6. The next day, the Three Wise Men, who distribute gifts, parade through the streets.

Court Will Get Sewer Issue

Ownership of Lathrup System Needs Settling Before Bond Sale

LATHRUP—The long unsettled question of legal ownership of Lathrup's combined sewer system is slated to go to Oakland County Circuit Court for a decision.

Land developers Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Kelley of 27701 Southfield Rd., claim ownership but the city feels it owns the system.

Administrator Gerald K. Stone said city attorney Everett F. Hayes has advised the council to file a "declaration of rights" in Oakland County Circuit Court to establish legal ownership.

The council will file such a declaration within a month, Stone said.

The Kelleys built the sewers years ago. In 1948 they turned them over to the county and in 1956 the county turned them over to the City of Lathrup, except for the 11-Mile sewer line.

Lathrup is presently under court order to end collusion. The city cannot sell bonds for its newly proposed sewer system until ownership of the present system is established.

The Lathrup City Council has voted to adopt a two-year plan for voter registration instead of the customary four-year plan. This is intended to "streamline" registration procedure and records, Stone said.

Hear How MSUO Will Affect Area

Some 60 "neighbors" of Michigan State University Oakland heard how the University will affect the Community at an information session at Meadow Brook Elementary School, Avon Township.

E. Tilson Peabody, chairman of the Avon Township-Pontiac Township Regional Planning Commission, acted as moderator.

He introduced Durward B. Varner, vice president of Michigan State University, who described the need for the two-township commission, how it was created and its future aims.

Varner stated that the commission was offering "no panacea" for problems already in existence in the area around the MSUO campus.

It is rather concerned with future development of a planned university community, he said.

Last night's session was designed mainly to tell the residents living within a two-mile radius of the MSUO campus how the commission will function. Varner emphasized that the planning board has no zoning power but expects within the next 6 to 12 months, to make appropriate recommendations to the respective township boards for their legal action.

The planning commission meets regularly the first Tuesday of each month, with special meetings scheduled as necessary.

It is asking community support in the study of the university area, particularly concerning present conditions and resources.

The most pressing problems are the subdivision of land, sewage disposal and traffic.

Another speaker last night was Robert B. Hotaling, MSU urban planning specialist. He is currently acting as technical resource advisor to the committee.

The university community is in a 22 square mile area bounded on the north by Dutton road, east by Livernois road, south by the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks and Auburn road, and on the west by the proposed Walter P. Chrysler Expressway.

Make Plans in Addison

Police, Firemen Plan Party

LEONARD — Police and firemen of Addison Township will stage their annual Christmas party Saturday at 2 p.m. in Rowland Hall, located on Leonard Road, three doors east of Rochester road.

The hall will be appropriately decorated with a brightly lighted Christmas tree for the occasion, according to Assistant Fire Chief Edward Porter, chairman of the event.

Some 300 children are expected to attend the party which will feature an hour-long program of entertainment to be climaxed by the arrival of Santa Claus.

Santa and his helpers will pass out candy, an apple and an ice cream bar to each child.

The Goodfellow paper sale earlier this month provided the money for the party, Porter said. Proceeds from the sale will also be used to buy provisions and toys to fill baskets for needy families in the area at Christmas time.

This year the Goodfellows are feeling the pinch, however, and are looking for more donations to meet their quota, Robert McCollum, township fireman, said today.

He added that he would appreciate hearing from any persons interested in helping him in this project.

Clarkston Bids on School Close

Plan Special Meeting With Awards Possible on $2.5 Million Project

CLARKSTON — Competitive bidding for construction of the new $2½ million high school was termed "very close" by the Board of Education when bids were opened yesterday.

There were 12 general contractor bids submitted in the $1,350,000 bracket. Five electrical bids in the area of $200,000, along with seven mechanical estimates in the range of $350,000 were opened.

A special meeting has been set for 7 p.m. tomorrow, providing architects L. C. Kingscott & Associates of Kalamazoo can smooth out alternate and technical questions.

It is anticipated that low bids will be accepted at the Thursday meeting, according to board secretary Walton Robbins.

However, he said that the board is holding back final decision on the contract awards until all bids have been given concentrated study by the Board of Education.

The new high school will be located on approximately 40 acres of the 72-acre elementary school site in the southeast section of Clarkston.

The present junior-senior high school will be used for junior high pupils exclusively, according to Superintendent Dr. L. F. Green.

The $2½ million school bond issue was passed by a two-to-one majority of registered voters at a special election held last spring.

Wild horses were once as numerous on the American plains as bison.

Auto Crash Injures 3 Youths, Man, 71

TROY—Thrown through a windshield, a 71-year-old Troy man was in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, today as a result of a traffic accident in which three teenagers were also injured.

Police said Fred Hagelstein, 255 Webb St., cut too sharply in front of the teenagers' car as he passed it yesterday morning on Livernois road south of East Long Lake road.

Hagelstein suffered head and internal injuries, the hospital said.

The other driver, Robert Haack, 19, of 2161 Chalgrove Rd., Troy, and two sister riding with him on the way to school, Rita and Karen Trawick, 525 Square Lake Rd., Troy, all were given minor treatment at the hospital and released. G5C.iTc

Dems to Meet Saturday in Groveland Township

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — Democratic voters in Groveland Township have scheduled a meeting for 8 p.m. Saturday in the township hall to draw up a slate for the spring township elections, it was announced by Mrs. Alice Brooks, chairman for the affair.

All Democrats in the township and interested persons have been invited to attend, Mrs. Brooks said.

Roosevelt PTA Sets Christmas Program

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A special Christmas program is planned for the regular meeting of the Roosevelt Elementary School PTA to be held at 7:30 tonight in the school gymnasium.

Students from various rooms will paritcipate in the program.

Imlay City Woman Hurt as Car Hits Pole

ROMEO — A 22-year-old Imlay City woman was injured early this morning when her car hit a telephone pole on N. Van Dyke near Ebeling road, three miles north of here, Romeo State Police reported today.

Mary E. V. Delmore, 505 S. Almont Ave., was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens with facial lacerations and bruised legs.

Romeo State Police said she was attempting to pass a car driven by Harry G. Schocke, 63, of 6325 S. Main St., Almont, and that she struck the rear bumper of his car.

The impact sent her auto across the highway into the telephone pole.

Schocke was unhurt in the accident. Damage to the Delmore car was estimated at close to $1,000, State Police said.

Fight 3 Blazes in 10 Hours

Southfield Firemen Busy

SOUTHFIELD — Southfield firemen were kept busy fighting three fires between 4 p.m. yesterday afternoon and 2 a.m. this morning.

The first blaze started in the east wall of the home of Fred Brahm at 25485 Farnbrook Rd., causing an estimated damage of $200. Firemen are still investigating the cause. No one was hurt.

A second fire, at 9:30 last night, started in the storage shed at the rear of the home of Edwin Combs at 24245 Nine Mile Rd.

The shed, which had previously been used as a dog kennel, contained household goods.

Firemen believe children from the neighborhood were playing with matches and set the blaze. Damage was estimated at $1,150, with no injuries reported.

Another fire broke out at 1:05 this morning at 29416 Murray Crescent. The owner, A. Abbate, told firemen the blaze was caused by a defective fireplace. Smoke and fire caused an estimated damage of $3,350, Fire Capt. Joseph Desnoyers said.

Youthful Killer of Five in Family Could Get Life Sentence

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Slayer Carl A. Eder, 16, under constant guard in the county jail, today awaited the formal legal processes which could send him to life in prison for five killings.

The tall, pale youth was arraigned in suburban El Cajon Municipal Court Tuesday on five counts of murder. He stood with bowed head as the names of his victims were read by Judge Fenton Garfield.

The victims, knifed and shot to death in their modest two-bedroom home in El Cajon, were Mrs. Lois Pendergast, 37, and her children, David, 9; Thomas, 6; Diane, 4; and Allen, 2.

Judge Garfield certified Eder to the Juvenile Division of Superior Court, which will determine whether he is to be tried as an adult or juvenile.

Under California law a juvenile may not be sentenced to death. But if the Juvenile Court determines that he may be tried as an adult, he could be sentenced to life in prison.

If the court decides Eder is to be treated as a juvenile, he could be committed to the California Youth Authority. In that case he would remain under CYA control until he is 25, when he could be released without further action.

Eder's capture Monday night ended a search that had started when Thomas Pendergast, 39, a San Diego aircraft plant pipefitter, found his wife and children murdered Friday evening.

Eder, a runaway from a Rochester, N. Y., suburb, had been befriended by the Pendergasts and taken into their home six weeks earlier.

Pendergast told newsmen he felt only pity for the boy. "I think he is insane," he said.

A psychiatrist who talked with Eder said he did not detect anything unusual "under the circumstances" about the confessed murderer.

Private funeral services for the five victims are set for Thursday.

JAPANESE BONDS FOUND — William A. Burkett, California superintendent of banks, displays a stack of prewar Japanese bonds that may be worth $15 million. The bonds have been lying in a state-rented bank vault in San Francisco since they were seized by the U. S. government five months before the Pearl Harbor attack. The state only recently became aware of them.

Georgia Neese Gray to Run for Senate

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Georgia Neese Bray, former treasurer of the United States, says she will run for the U. S. Senate in 1960.

But she told a newsman that she will step aside if the Democratic party wants another candidate.

"I have always been a party person and whatever is best for the party I am willing to do," said Mrs. Gray, now Democratic national committeewoman from Kansas.

No other Democrat has announced for the nomination, but there has been speculation that Gov. George Docking will run.

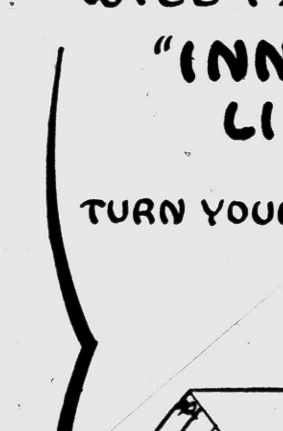

The incumbent, Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel (R-Kan), is expected to run again.

Mrs. Gray, who lives at Richland, was appointed U.S. treasurer during the Truman administration.

Darwin Wasn't First

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — An exhibit at the Yale medical library commemorating the 100th anniversary of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution shows that he wasn't the first with the idea. Yale says several writers advanced the same theory as early as the 1750s.

Until 1867 Alaska was designated on most maps as Russian America.

Political Fate in Balance

Coya Waiting for Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) today awaited a House committee's action on her plea that "justice be done" on her complaint that a malicious conspiracy caused her defeat for re-election.

She said the special committee's action on her bid for a full investigation would influence her decision whether to contest formally the election of her Republican opponent Odin Langen.

The committee, headed by Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), meets again today in closed door session.

Mrs. Knutson told the committee she is convinced that a public "Coya come home" appeal by her husband Andy Knutson played a big part in her defeat. She said Langen used her husband's come-home letter against her repeatedly during the campaign.

Langen has denied involvement in any conspiracy.

The Davis committee was set up primarily to check into campaign spending, but it is free to go beyond that in considering complaints arising from House elections. It expires with the new Congress and must make its report before the House convenes Jan. 7.

Any formal contest would have to be filed by Mrs. Knutson with the regular House Elections subcommittee.

Tuesday's session was highlighted by testimony from Knutson that he would not have signed the May 4 "Coya come home" letter to his wife if he had known the persons back of it.

Knutson said he had been "taken" and "duped" by his wife's political foes in pleading with her to get out of politics and come back to him at Oklee, Minn., where he ran a small hotel.

Testifying later, Mrs. Knutson was asked whether distribution of the letter and stories about it affected the outcome of her election battle with Langen.

"I certainly think it affected it," she replied. "I lost and I was the only Democratic incumbent loss."

She also termed "absolutely false" statements in the letter that she was under the dictation of her executive assistant William Kjeldahl, and had not performed her congressional duties.

Knutson on Nov. 5 filed a $200,000 suit against Kjeldahl, charging alienation of affections and slander. He later withdrew it.

Knutson said he was goaded by gossip into filing the suit. He said he believed at the time that the allegations against Kjeldahl were true. But Knutson said he does not now believe them to be true. The Knutsons have not been living together here.

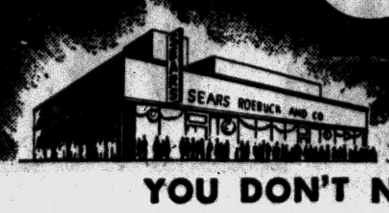

Possibly the oldest stair cases existing are the ancient granite steps up the sacred mountain of Tai Shan in China. But, the oldest stairs, on which dates of origin have been definitely established, are stairs in Egypt which date from the second millineum B.C.

French Spirit High for Island Holidays

A spirited French atmosphere prevails during the holidays in Vietnam, New Caledonia and Tahiti. Restaurants serve their finest champagnes, and the noel log or Christmas cake is a special delicacy as in France.

Youngsters, instead of hanging up their stockings, place their shoes in the doorway to await the arrival of Pere Noel. The jolly old gentleman abandons his sleigh in these tropic lands and comes via plane, ship or submarine.

New Year celebrations among the Chinese of Hong Kong, Formosa and Singapore do not take place until February 8. Festivities on that date herald the beginning of the lunar calendar "Year of the Pig." Throughout the week, there are street pageants, dragon parades, fireworks and folk singing.

The highlight of the season is the colorful Festival of aLnterns when vast crowds carrying lanterns parade through the cities.

The New Year is also a festive time in Buddhist Thailand from December 31 through January 5. Bells toll, gongs clang, priests chant blessings in all-night services in the temples and monks in their saffron-colored robes march through the street collecting alms.

Eden Hopes Bigger NATO Group Possible

LONDON (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden, the ailing former British premier, and Lady Eden left by plane Tuesday for New York and a winter vacation in Mexico.

"There can be no question of a return to active politics for me," said Eden, who has been under close medical attention for several years. He is going to Mexico on doctor's orders.

"But this is a free country," he said with a smile, "and I can express my point of view from time to time."

And he did.

"NATO is not enough because of its geographical limitations," he said. "Its flank can be turned in Africa. What is needed cannot be limited, as NATO is, to one continent.

"Maybe a new organization will be brought into being. This will be difficult. But if it is to happen, then the sooner, the better."

"I am glad the Western countries are standing firm on the Berlin issue," he said. "I am sure this is right, not only on the merits of the case but on the principles."

The Edens plan to be away for three months. During his stay in Mexico, Sir Anthony hopes to write his memoirs.

France was the first European country to transport finished products by pipeline.

Ike, Mamie in Rush of Social Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is keeping its six cooks busy preparing a social season double-header for diplomats tonight and Thursday night.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower have scheduled formal state dinners for some 83 heads of foreign missions and their wives on successive evenings.

These will be the second and third of five state dinners that comprise the 1958-59 White House social season.

The social season — shortest ever — opened last Thursday night with a dinner for the Supreme Court. It will end with another double-header Jan. 26 and 27 when the Eisenhowers entertain in honor of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the Cabinet, and then Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.)

The Washington diplomatic corps has grown so large it takes two dinners to entertain them in the tradition long followed by presidents.

For each night, the Eisenhowers have invited an added group of about 150 guests to after-dinner musicales.

Also taking part was Mrs. Richard Benham.

Spotlight on Hat

Hats will be an indispensable part of a woman's costume. This is the report from a survey of Paris couture winter collections.

To a greater extent than ever before, Paris couturiers are devoting their talents to millinery in the firm belief that attractive hats will enhance their new costumes.

Reviews Play for Study Club

Mrs. John Naz reviewed the current Broadway play, "J.B.," a modern version of the life of Job, when members of Child Study Club, Group III, met Wednesday for a Christmas luncheon. Mrs. E. W. McGovern of Alice avenue was hostess for the affair.

Assisting Mrs. McGovern were Mrs. Bruce Hubbard, Mrs. Richard Keift, Mrs. Thomas Knight and Mrs. William Wright. Mrs. Ralph Humphries presided at the tea table.

Remember Soldier During Holidays

Your serviceman or good friend abroad will not feel left out of your family fun come holidays if there is a little remembrance from home on that day.

Smoked turkey and plum pudding are ideal gifts when the time element is no barrier.

You Can Hardly Insist

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a hostess to ask her male guests to dance? I mean when she is giving a party and the men sit around and do not ask the women guests to dance, can she ask them to do so? I was criticized recently for doing this and was told that I had no right to ask them to dance and that if they felt like dancing they would get up of their own accord."

Answer: A hostess may quite properly suggest, especially to younger men, that they ask the women to dance, but if they appear not to want to, she will make herself very unpopular if she insists.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The proprietor of a well-known restaurant greeted a friend of his who was dining in his restaurant. This friend was sitting with his wife, and a daughter who was about twelve years of age. When the restaurant proprietor approached the table where they were sitting, the young daughter arose.

"She remained standing while the proprietor was talking to her father. She was the only one standing except, of course, the proprietor. The question arose as to whether or not the young girl's standing up in the manner mentioned was proper under the circumstances."

Answer: The girl was very polite to get up but the proprietor should have insisted that she sit down again. As he failed to do this it was up to her mother or father to give her permission to sit.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How should I write to a divorced friend who has taken back her maiden name? I've been told that she is calling herself what she did prior to her marriage, using the title Miss. Isn't it supposed to be incorrect to do this?"

Answer: Socially, yes. But you can't do other than write her as "Miss" if you know that is the way she has re-established herself.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine recently had twin daughters. I have been asked to be the godmother for one of them. I intend, of course, to give her a nice christening present. I would like to know if I am also expected to give a present to her twin sister."

Answer: No; one present to the one who is your godchild is all that is expected of you.

Give Young Explorers a Helping Hand

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

To Joe the top of the living room mantel was territory as unknown as Dr. Livingstone's Africa was to Stanley—a place of vagueness into which his jar of pepperments always disappeared after meals.

One afternoon his mother left the jar in full view on the mantel instead of shoving it back against the wall. Like Stanley aroused to the hope of reaching Dr. Livingstone, Joe went into action.

With his 3-year-old brain he made quick estimates of the reach he could add to his arm by standing on the back of a chair.

With his 3-year-old muscles he pulled and tugged at the chair until he'd got it placed where he wanted it. Then, clambering up on its back, he leaned away from security to grope across emptiness for the jar of candy, anxious but persevering like any other explorer.

His mother found him in the midst of this risky negotiation.

She got very quiet. Tiptoeing over to him, she sat down in the chair and gripped his legs. It was the support he needed to reach the jar.

He felt toward his mother exactly as Columbus felt toward Queen Isabella. Triumphant and proud, he shouted, "I got it, Mommy! I got it! Can I have one? Can you have one?"

We can't always be equally extraordinary in these situations. Our fear for the child who's playing with the hose, standing on the porch rail, using sharp scissors will be too much for us—and we'll yell at the daring of young muscles and brains we don't trust.

But if we can't always give child explorers Queen Isabella's support, we can at least remember the gratitude it inspired, not to mention its productive result, and try just once in a while to control our rushes of suspicion and distrust.

Last evening I heard Dr. Rollo May say this to a group of other psychoanalysts: "Children court risk to test themselves against the challenges of the world. They invite risk out of their intuitive knowledge that the anxiety involved in risk must be overcome to get anywhere."

Often we scream at children's risks because our own have ended in hurt. We cling to security because we've stopped hoping to get anywhere.

Spats for Teens

Spats make amusing gifts for teen-agers. The spats come in smooth felt on one side and plaid cotton on the other, in red, gray or black. They can be laundered repeatedly without fading.

Baptist Class Attends Dinner and Program

The Rev. Fred Kendall of Detroit spoke on the subject, "The Return of the Jews to Israel," at a Christmas meeting given by the Fellowship Bible Class of First Baptist Church. The program was held Tuesday evening in the church educational building.

Dinner was served by Mrs. Ethel Winkley and her committee. Robert Kitely played a medley of Christmas numbers on the piano, and Clayton Murphy presented vocal solos accompanied by Mr. Kitely.

If a tomato is extremely ripe you can loosen its skin, before peeling, by rubbing a case knife over its entire outer surface.

This Season's French Purse a Real Luxury

The trend to greater luxury is evident in the French handbag collection for the gift-giving season. Beaded bags are not only elaborate in design and embroidery, but magnificently larger than in previous seasons.

Some have the bead on bead embroidery worked in a three-dimensional effect, using beads of 14 K gold with beads in multi-color tones. They have real jewelers clasps intricately interwoven with beads and encrusted with Aurora stones and pearls. The result is extravagant beauty for the evening.

Leather bags designed and imported from France show the distinction that comes from handcrafting. This basic quality is obvious in all the bags, making them ideal gifts for the woman who likes the tailored look and fine simplicity. Touches of gold, novel hinges, interesting gussets and the slim, slim silhouette mark the collection.

HOLLY and BAUBLES

Tuck a bit of holly, bright berries shining, into your holiday hairdo. Set a bit of it on black velvet ribbon and use it for a sash, a hair band or to tie around your pony tail.

Tiny tree ornaments will make different bauble earrings if you attach them to your ear-bobs. Or sew them onto the tip ends of your sash belts and tie in front for the holiday parties.

Use real holly, mistletoe or the artificial for lasting effect, either will be very festive.

Dear Abby . . .

'Catch as Catch Can' Game Leaves Him Holding the Bill

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Not wishing to reveal my identity, let's just say I am a man whose business takes me into the homes of my clients. While on a business call (to present the bill) a very attractive woman practically "threw herself" at me. Being human, I "caught" her.

ABBY

"When I presented my bill for what she owed me, (labor and materials) she tore it into little pieces. It amounted to $400. I took it to my lawyer and he advised me to forget the bill, the woman, and the incident. Should I?"

"HOMO SAPIEN"

DEAR SAP: Take your lawyer's advice. You're lucky she didn't add an amusement tax.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "LUCILLE," the woman who is taking away our Daddy.

"Yes, Lucille, what about us kids? We were happy before you came along. Why don't you find your own man instead of our Mommy's man? Don't you know about the Ten Commandments?

"I go to Sunday School and learn about Jesus and Mommy says when it rains Jesus is crying because someone was bad. It rained here all day Saturday. Jesus was crying because you were bad and took our Daddy away. Please go away and leave our Daddy alone. Please put this in your paper, Miss Abby, and I wish you a Merry Christmas."

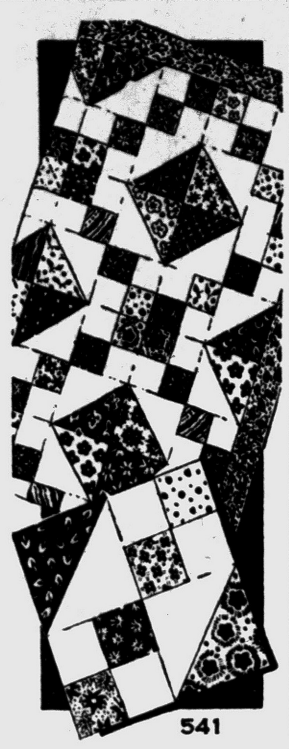

THIRD GRADER

"DEAR ABBY: My husband's second cousin, age 65, is going to marry a man, age 67, in January. Her husband and his wife passed away last summer. She is going to be married in a white dress and wedding veil. She asked my husband to give her away. I refuse to attend the wedding and see them make fools of themselves. Am I wrong? Shouldn't the preacher talk them into having a quiet wedding?"

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: The preacher will probably prevail upon them to dispense with the gown and veil type wedding. If they insist, and your husband "gives the bride away" . . . don't be conspicuous by your absence.

"DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm wrong, but with my family the children seem to run everything. At an adult party, the children are the center of attraction. When I visit any one of my sisters or brothers, their children have to be right in the middle of everything we say or do. I have one boy, 4 years old. When anyone comes to see me, he says 'hello' and then goes into his bedroom or outside to play. Am I right? Or do children belong in their mother's laps and in every adult conversation until they reach the age of 16?" ROSE

DEAR ROSE: If you are wrong, then that makes two of us.

"DEAR ABBY: We are two young wives whose husbands work for the same company and they both tell us the same tale. They get off work at 4:30 p.m. and don't get home until 6 p.m. They say they are playing PING-PONG. Don't you think this is a very childish game for two grown men to be playing?"

PING PONG WIDOWS

DEAR "WIDOWS": Don't complain. There are worse games.

Cosmetic Gifts Appeal to Women

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I will try to give you a last lift with some Christmas suggestions. Cosmetics make a good starting point. Of course the possibilities in their field are myriad and it seems to me that the packaging is prettier every single year.

Bathroom accessories with colognes and bath powder are fun to use ourselves and to have on hand for house guests. There are some fine colognes which are especially attractively packaged in old-fashioned appearing apothecary bottles.

Luscious bath soaps, which many women feel they cannot afford as a habit, also are welcome gifts. There is a wide choice of color in all of these bathroom beauties so that you can match the color of a room. Pillows and trays for the tub and long-handled bath brushes are ideas.

PERFUMES, ATOMIZERS

Then there are the perfumes; and atomizers are always popular. One item which is especially popular with women is the pocketbook atomizer or flacon. You carry either of these in your purse so that you can reinforce your fragrance if you are to be away from home for a long time.

Compacts also are much coveted presents and there are so many truly stunning ones on the market today. There also are wonderful sets for eye makeup which might tempt a friend to delve further into this art. Unless you know what shades are best for the recipient, a lipstick makes a touchy gift. However, many of them have beautiful cases and, of course, the color could be exchanged.

Atomizers are always popular. You can buy one that fits in a pocketbook.

There are so many delightful items in lingerie from which to choose. We probably would be surprised if we knew how many women are without an attractive bedjacket with which to look glamorous when enduring their quota of colds. There are lovely silk or satin cases for gloves and that little item of great value which enables us to zip up our own dresses when away from home. Some of these are very pretty and make unusual gifts.

BOOKS AND RECORDS

Of course the world of books and records solves many a tough gift problem. A double deck of beautiful cards is always welcomed by your bridge playing friends. They never have enough and some of these are works of art.

Also remember the pets of your friends. Often he or she is just as pleased with something novel for the cat or dog as with a more personal gift. There are many very clever things on the market and these provide amusement for the whole family.

Those who are somewhat shut-in because of illness might well enjoy indoor gardening. There are sets for this in all price ranges. One of the most successful presents I ever gave to a shut-in was a couple of love birds in a cage with some little ladders and swings and mirrors with which they performed. Such a gift gives endless hours of pleasure.

Tomorrow: More categories you may not have thought of which will help you with your last-minute Christmas shopping.

Spicy Raisin Bars Take on Fruit Cake Texture

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There is still plenty of time to make cookies that have to ripen a while. Such a recipe is Mrs. Lee Kerton's recipe for Fingerlings. They stay moist and taste like fruit cake.

Mrs. Kerton who lives in Holly is active in an Extension group. She loves to refinish furniture.

FINGERLINGS
By Mrs. Lee Kerton

1 cup shortening
1½ cups brown sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
⅔ cup light molasses
2½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts

Cream shortening, add sugar and blend. Add eggs. Add molasses in which soda has been dissolved, then the flour sifted with cocoa, spices and salt. Add raisins and nut meats. Mix well.

Place on greased shallow baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes. Cut in finger length pieces while warm. Store in tightly covered jar. The bars will become moist and taste like fruit cake.

Grocery Carton Will Store Toys

Get a large sturdy carton from the local grocer. Cover it with one of the adhesive-backed papers in a plain pattern and decorate it with Mother Goose vinyl decals to make a toy chest.

It's a fine inexpensive catch-all for baby toys and can be easily replaced when it becomes battered.

Kids Aren't Lazier, They Just Do Less

By RUTH MILLETT

"What makes kids today so lazy?" asks one of my older readers. She complains, "I've just returned from visiting my son. His children, ages 12, 15 and 17, don't do anything but have a good time. Neither do their friends.

"I honestly don't see how their parents manage—without any help at all from their children."

Children have always been naturally lazy. Even great-great grandpa, as a boy, probably never looked around for work to do.

He did his chores because parents used to hold to the theory that a family was a working unit—with each member being responsible for his share of the jobs to be done.

But somehow modern parents have given up that idea. Now all they want is for their children to be happy and well-adjusted.

So if Junior grumbles about mowing the lawn, and Sis says none of the other girls have to do the dinner dishes, Pop gets behind the lawn mower and Mom heads from the dinner table to the kitchen sink—while Junior goes cruising around in the family car and Sis gets on the telephone until the dishes are done.

The old-fashioned idea was that a kid could go out and have fun—after he did his chores and if he wasn't needed for any extra jobs.

Now the fun comes first—and the chores naturally don't get done.

So let's not blame the kids for being lazy. They're just doing what comes naturally to kids—as little as possible.

And it will be that way until parents go back to the old-fashioned idea of work first, play later.

It is we who are encouraging them to believe that nothing is as important as having fun.

Mass picture groupings, to be effective, should repeat the lines of the furniture over which they are hung, says a picture and frame institute. For example, a rectangular grouping over a long sofa would effectively accent the furniture lines.

Diet for Teenagers

You Can Have Those Foods You Crave With Delectable Low-Calorie Recipes

By RUTH WEST

Now let me give you some of my special low-calorie recipes.

PAINLESS PIZZA

180 calories per serving
(600 calories in traditional recipe — your half of that big one you share with your date)
For each serving you need:

2 English muffin halves (for a good waistline, scrape out gummy dough inside.
⅛-inch slice Provolone cheese
⅛-inch slice mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons tomato sauce, pinch of oregano, union salt pepper and salt to taste

Top the muffin with the cheese, with mozzarella on top.

Spoon on tomato sauce and sprinkle with spices.

Broil till bubbly.

Garnish with bits of torn-up anchovy, cooked mushrooms, diced salami, brosciutto ham, sliced hard-boiled egg or strips of green pepper.

SLIM-JIM CREAM SAUCE

79 calories per cupful
(430 calories in traditional recipe)
Makes 2 cups.
You need:

2 cups skim milk
2 tablespoons cake flour
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
⅛ teaspoon pepper

To 2 cups skim milk, add all ingredients and beat with electric mixer.

Cook in a heavy aluminum pan, over moderate heat, stirring constantly with a cake turner, using flat wide end to keep mixture from sticking to bottom of pan.

Sauce will be thick, and smooth in 2-4 minutes, almost fluffy in texture.

For variety, melt in a tablespoon of grated sharp Cheddar cheese, and add 14 calories a cup to your calorie tally.

SLIM-JIM HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

351 calories per recipe
Makes about 1¼ cups.
You need:

1 scant cup cottage cheese
4 tablespoons lemon juice
2 egg yolks
½ teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
dash of cayenne

Put cottage cheese and lemon juice into electric blender (or use electric mixer or rotary beater).

Whip until mixture is a smooth cream.

Remove from blender into top of double boiler.

Add seasonings: stir in egg yolks, blending thoroughly.

Cook, stirring constantly with wire whisk, over hot, not boiling, water, until thickened.

Who needs butter on vegetables when you can have this?

SLIM-JIM MAYONNAISE

16 calories per tablespoon
Just use the recipe for Slim-Jim hollandaise, substituting 2 tablespoons lemon juice, adding ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon dehydrated onion powder. Not quite the texture of, or as smooth as mayonnaise, but good! And mark this: traditional mayonnaise contains 440 grams of fat, 5.6 grams of protein: this, only 2 grams of fat, 50 grams of protein!

SLIM-JIM ICE CREAM

raspberry, strawberry, orange, cherry, lemon or lime
50 calories per serving
(120-200 calories in traditional recipe)
Makes 6 half-cup servings.
You need:

6 Sucaryl tablets
2 tablespoons boiling water
1 envelope D-Zerta gelatin in any of the above flavors pinch of salt
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 egg whites
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup evaporated skim milk
4 tablespoons lemon juice
Add half-cup of matching fresh berries or cherries

Dissolve tablets in boiling water. Add gelatin and stir.

Add salt and vanilla to egg whites, which have been allowed to warm to room temperature. Beat until they form rounded peaks when beaters are withdrawn. Add 2 tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon at a time, and beat well after each addition.

With chilled beaters in a chilled bowl, whip icy evaporated skimmed milk until it begins to stiffen. Add lemon juice and remaining tablespoon of sugar and beat until stiff.

Combine egg white and gelatin mixture with a folding motion.

Pour thick, syrupy gelatin mixture slowly over egg whites as you lightly fold.

Lightly fold egg-white mixture into whipped milk and transfer to a freezing tray. Freeze until stiff.

This makes a creamy smooth ice cream, flavorful when served alone and excellent with fruits, sauces, cake, etc. It freezes faster than conventional ice cream.

Newlyweds Can Please Selves in Decorating

The challenge of decorating a new apartment or house is a stimulating responsibility for the young bride who for the first time is selecting a decor pleasing to her new husband and herself, coordinating a variety of wedding gifts or achieving the maximum amount of space from a problem room.

A national magazine develops three never-fail rules to follow in decorating. First, please yourselves.

Second, use color grandly. Choose those colors which are most becoming to you and make you and your new husband happiest.

Third, start from a specific starting point, be it carpeting, wall covering or fabric. This one item should be the cue that sets the color scheme. Having achieved a basic point of departure, the remainder of the decor will develop more easily and naturally.

Leggy Look Is Now Accented by Lacy Look

The leggy-look created by shortened hemlines is now taking on a lace-textured-look.

This newest leg flattery is shown in two nylon stocking styles — one a diamond-like texture, and the other a filmy open lace in stretch nylon.

With all the admiring glances going leg-ward, it's important to keep your stockings snug by washing in soap or detergent suds after each wearing — without fail!

Playing Cards Can Decorate

Those with a yen to make their homes different often decorate with oddities.

Although not an oddity, an incomplete deck of playing cards can be useful. For example, rejuvenate an old metal wastebasket with them. Glue them to the basket surface smoothly and cover with shellac.

The shirred leather pouch with gold metal chain handle is a fashion going lots of smart places this winter.

A RARE PAIR—Jo Ann Davis seems mighty pleased she has a pair of ice skates for a whirl or two on the Children's Home skating rink behind the home on Telegraph road. Reason for her excitement is that skates are a rare item at the home. Hal Newhouser (right), recently-appointed recreation and athletic director for the Oakland County Juvenile Dept., has made a plea for contributions of used skates and other athletic equipment. Looking on while Jo Ann laces up are Ronnie Blight and Ken Hartwell.

Newhouser Asks Old Skates, Sleds for Children's Home

How many times have you rummaged through your attic, cellar, or closet and come across a pair of skates which have become rusted with age?

If you're like many others, you take a quick glance at them and remark, "Someday I'm going to have to clean this place out."

Now is the ideal time, says former Detroit Tiger pitching star Hal Newhouser in his new role as recreation and athletic director for the Oakland County Juvenile Dept.

Famous No. 16 is putting in a new pitch this time. "How the kids out here would appreciate families donating any unused skates, sleds, toboggans, and other sports equipment they no longer need," exclaimed Newhouser.

He said the department has constructed a skating rink behind the Children's Home, 2050 N. Telegraph Rd., but that there are about 23 pair of skates for 200 boys and girls.

"It's pretty hard to put on a good program of recreation with this little amount of equipment," said Newhouser, who will return March 1 to his job as supervisor of scouting for the Baltimore Orioles in the Midwest.

Another item of equipment missing from Children's Home equipment are basketball shoes.

Newhouser, who lives in Franklin Village, suggests that if you want to make Christmas a whole lot brighter for a bunch of girls and boys, that you scurry into the attic, cellar, and closet and put that unused sports equipment to good use.

Roseville Population: 45,000

Two Areas Will Merge

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Suburban Roseville and Erin Township have voted to merge into what will become Macomb County's third largest city, with a population of 45,000 over a 9-square mile area.

Warren and St. Clair Shores are Macomb's only larger cities.

The new city, retaining the name of Roseville, will be formed New Year's Eve when 11 officials elected in yesterday's merger balloting take their oaths.

Pacific Christmas Has All Trimmings

Caroling on Christmas Eve is no less popular in the remote outposts of the Pacific than in the villages of Merry England.

Choristers in American Samoa sing hymns throughout the night. Down in Australia, crowds carrying lighted candles gather in public parks where they sit on the grass and sing until dawn.

New Year's Eve balls are glittering social events in all corners of the Pacific. The celebration of the New Year in Samoa, for example, is a gay, community affair. The Samoans fire shotguns into the air at midnight, and native dance troupes tour the villages. Refreshments are served in every doorway, and every home has open house.

Pilots Plan to Strike at American Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—The Air Line Pilots Assn. says 1,500 pilots of American Airlines will strike at 11:59 p.m. (local time) Friday in a dispute over wages and working conditions.

The announcement last night came in the midst of emergency meetings in Chicago between the union and company. ALPA said the negotiations would continue.

In New York, the company said it would continue to accept reservations despite the strike threat.

C. A. Sayen, president of ALPA said weeklong negotiations had failed to result in satisfactory progress, and that "Our only remaining reluctant alternative is to proceed with our original plans."

American Airlines pilots had scheduled a strike at midnight Nov. 25 but were restrained by a temporary injunction issued by a federal judge in New York. The same judge declined to issue a permanent injunction while the Chicago negotiations were in progress.

American Airlines operates in 26 states, Canada and Mexico.

A strike by American pilots just before the big Christmas holiday travel period would mean two of the nation's biggest carriers would not be operating.

Eastern Air Lines has been grounded since Nov. 24 by a strike of flight engineers and machinists.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Sheree North, 26, and psychologist Gerhardt Ralph Sommer, 31, will be married tonight at a Beverly Hills hotel. It will be the third marriage for each. Sommer denied published reports that he was Miss North's personal psychoanalyst.

Reveals Secret Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Actress Sharon Lee, 28, says she and rock 'n' roll singer Bull Albright were married secretly last Sept. 21 at Santa Catalina Island's Comunity Church. It was herm third marriage, his first.

Nearly half of all American families which carry health insurance made some use of it last year, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

Negotiations Still On in Flint Bus Strike

FLINT (AP) — Striking drivers were scheduled to meet with representatives of the Flint Trolley Coach Co. in an effort to end a strike that has left this city without bus service since last Saturday.

Also scheduled to meet in connection with the strike were a group of civic, industrial, labor and education leaders. The group met yesterday to make plans for easing the effects of the strike.

City Manager Robert A. Carter said both the striking bus drivers, members of Local 170, Transport Workers of America, and the company apparently were set for a long strike.

Carter suggested that Flint should find transportation for school children immediately and study long range problems should the coach line end its service.

"The drivers and the company are well aware of the fact that this could very well be the end of the Flint Trolley Coach Co.," he said.

Motel Unit Closed During Death Probe

BLOUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A portion of a motel where two Michigan couples have died within the past year has been closed until an investigation is completed, L. P. Waid said last night.

Health officials and investigators from the state fire marshal's office have joined local officers in the probe.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Munger, Jackson, Mich., died Sunday night. They died in the same room of a tourist court where Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spink of Horton, Mich., were found dead Jan. 23. Their homes are only 15 miles apart.

Death of the first couple was attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Waid said the motel owner had agreed to close six motel rooms which are heated by gas until health authorities agree that they can be reopened. Four which are heated by electricity will remain open.

Sportswriter Decries Cutthroat Competition

ELPASO, (AP)—An El Paso sportswriter says all that blood in Juarez bullrings is not from slain bulls. "The promoters are cutting each other's throats with rival Sunday shows," he says.

An agreement, with each bullring running corridas on alternate Sundays, is expected. The pocketbook may be hit just as badly, but the blood pressure should be down.

St. Lawrence Gets 3rd Breaker

Ice Battle Still On

The icebreakers D'Iberville and Ernest LaPoint, who have been carrying the fight against 15-foot icepacks 40 miles downriver from Montreal, were to be reinforced today by the N. B. MacLean, a powerful ship which left Quebec City on a 120-mile journey to Lanorale yesterday morning.

The three must break a 200-foot wide trail through 20 miles of ice if 30 ocean-going freighters are to reach more navigible waters south of Quebec City on their arduous trip to the open ocean.

Romantic Hideaway, Quaint, Uncrowded, Inexpensive Is Port Lligat

PORT LIGAT, Spain—Many a tourist seeks to discover an unknown resort. He considers a beach with more than two couples as crowded, and a village with more than 10 houses is no longer quaint. His search for pristine charm, however, becomes harder and harder as more and more tourists take off for foreign shores.

Still ideal as an off-beat hideaway is Port Lligat on the Spanish Riviera north of Barcelona. This, reports an airways which flies to Barcelona from New York, is not only uncrowded but never will be. The man responsible for this happy circumstance is none other than that "enfant terrible" of the art world, Salvador Dali.

The story goes that Dali persuaded the Spanish government to declare Port Lligat a national monument with Dali as administrator. Today, no one builds in Port Lligat without Dali's permission, and no one, but no one, gets Dali's permission.

The whole of Port Lligat is only five buildings at the base of a shallow bay, surrounded by tiny volcanic islands. One structure is Dali's multi-leveled studio villa. Across a narrow footpath are three unoccupied stone houses. Dali owns the one in the middle, and the other two are for sale at an impossibly high price. This situation prevents anyone from trying to buy all three and remodel them.

Anyone who wants to stay on at Port Lligat must stay at its one hotel, a 40-room establishment, clean and simple. Room, bath and three meals a day cost less than $4, and the best fisherman's boat in the harbor is available for 50 cents an hour.

The day for tourists begins with breakfast on the hotel terrace above the bay. The village fishermen are already back from their pre-dawn excursion, and their wives are busy repairing nets on the beach. Often Dali can be seen at work in his studio, where he is currently painting six canvases, all with undertones of shellfish and sunflowers.

Port Lligat is in the heart of one of the great underwater fishing spots in Europe. By midmorning, most guests are on the beach with goggles, masks and flippers. Many have their own boats, ranging from sleek yachts to inflated rafts. Dali's Russian wife, Gala, has three boats, each painted a bright pumpkin yellow.

Half an hour away is Cabo Creuze, the easternmost point of Spain, a moon-like other world of volcanic rocks and islands. The rocks resemble white-capped waves of lava, frozen just as they were about to break on the shore. Both the coast and the islands are filled with thousands, literally thousands, of narrow inlets each deep enough for a good sized boat, and each utterly deserted.

Anyone who prefers his fishing underwater will find that the blue-green waters are well stocked. One has a choice, for example, of the "sar," a kind of upright silvery flounder, with a black stripe around his gills; the "loup de mer," said by many to be the best tasting fish in the sea; the "merou," a favorite of the Costa Brava; an octopus or dozens of other brilliantly colored tiny fish. Whether or not one is a spear fisherman the silent sunlit world beneath the surface is well worth exploring.

Between sunning and swimming, there comes a moment of hunger, with some of the tastiest delicacies in Europe within easy reach. There are all sorts of sea urchins and mussels among the rocks. With a twist of the knife, both are ready to be eaten, raw. Or one can collect driftwood and arrange a fish fry on the beach.

Most tourists and natives return home around 2 p.m. They usually donate the day's catch to the kitchen to be cooked for lunch, or to be thrown into a paella for supper. A strange quiet descends on Port Lligat between 3 and 5 p.m., the siesta hour, sacred to all little Spanish towns.

When twilight tints the landscape with pink and orange, the residents of Port Lligat wander over to the town of Cadaquez, 10 minutes away. Here, the "sardana," a Catalan version of the Virginia Reel, is the evening attraction. While the village orchestra plays, four people start the dance in a small circle. An onlooker who wants to join in simply enlarges the circle. If a boy has a girl on his right, she is probably his fiancee, and it is not advisable to cut in.

Drinks are served at tables around the village square where the dancing goes on. The proprietor of a local bistro, called Meliton's Bar, prides himself on his ability to mix any cocktail to order. While the drinks are being prepared, olives stuffed with anchovies and tiny clams soaked in pepper and lemon juice are passed around.

Dreamlike and serene in its way of life, Port Lligat is just a short drive up the Costa Brava from Barcelona. Barcelona is overnight from New York by air. The round-trip economy fare is down to $522.20.

Monoxide Gas Ruled Cause of 2 Deaths

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's jury has ruled that carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths of two Arkansas truck drivers in a truck stop bunkhouse here Dec. 7.

The verdict said the source of the gas was not known. State officials have said that the gas apparently came from a liquefied gas heater.

Tuesday's inquest concerned only the deaths of John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern, both employes of the D. W. Hoskins Co. of Malvern. The jury wasn't asked to consider the death of Louis Lee Warden, 24, Little Rock, who died in the bunkhouse under similar circumstances Dec. 5. Warden also was a driver for the Hoskins company.

The Arkansas state medical examiner has said he too died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Stran-Steel Corp. Buys Houston Building Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Stran-Steel Corp. which makes metal buildings and other metal products, has acquired a Texas firm.

The Detroit company, a division of National Steel Corp., yesterday acquired the Metallic Building Co. of Houston. The Texas company also makes steel metal buildings.

Stran-Steel said there are to be no operating or personnel changes because of the acquisition. It said the arrangement will improve Stran-Steel's position in the southwest and also will aid the Houston firm.

Dream of Life in U.S. Fulfilled for Family

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

This year Werner Zietlow and his family believe they will have the happiest Christmas of their lives because they have fulfilled a life-long dream — to live in America.

The family arrived in Waterford Township from West Germany to be united with their daughter and her family, the Martin Elstermanns, who came to Waterford Township just two years ago this Christmas.

In 1950, Zietlow, his wife Gerda, their daughter Ingrid, 18, and son Ingo, 15, were forced to flee from their home in East Germany, and until their arrival here this week, had lived in politically-unsettled West Germany.

Both immigrant families were sponsored by Rev. Arvid Anderson and Christ Lutheran Church.

When the Elstermann family, like the Zietlows, first came to the area, they were a weary, bewildered couple, unable to understand anything or anyone.

Despite a warm, friendly welcome by the church congregation, Christmas here was strange. Customs were different and life was lonely.

That was two years ago. Today, both Mr. and Mrs. Elstermann speak the English language fluently. They have their own neatly furnished home at 6726 Cloverton St., and drive their own automobile.

Mrs. Elstermann's attractive sister, Ingrid, was graduated from high school two years ago, and is an apprentice upholsterer. She is now looking forward to a promised position with a local firm.

Standing six-foot-two, Mrs. Elstermann's brother, Ingo, was a track star in his native Germany, and would have graduated next spring.

Before resuming his schooling here, he is undergoing a short orientation period.

Hurry Chicago Pupils to Safety After Alarm

CHICAGO (AP)—ABout 600 pupils in a grade school in suburban Kenilworth fled to safety Tuesday when fire broke out in the basement of the two-story building.

Custodian Willie Love sounded the school alarm when he saw smoke. The blaze was extinguished quickly by automatic sprinklers.

Fire Chief Rod Porter of suburban Winnetka said the fire had started from a cigarette on a wooden ledge in a closet. He said damage to the school was negligible.

Nativity Scene Display Ruled on at 2 Schools

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—The question of whether a Nativity scene should be displayed on public school property has been answered differently for two suburban communities.

State Supreme Court Justice Elbert T. Gallagher ruled Tuesday that the School Board in Ossining, N. Y., could display again a community-sponsored creche on the lawn of a junior-senior high school.

In Levittown, N. Y., the School Board voted 5-1 to uphold a decision by the administration of Wisdom Lane School not to display a Nativity scene inside the school.

A group of Ossining citizens who had protested the creche display there announced they would appeal Gallagher's ruling.

Some 28 members of Protestant and Jewish faiths had argued that the religious motif of the Nativity scene violated traditional separation of church and state and would have a harmful effect on non-Christian pupils.

The case went to trial last September.

Gallagher, noting the Nativity scene is on display during the Christmas holidays when school is not in session, said: ". . . The court is of the opinion that the influence, if any, of religious symbolism is inescapable during the Christmas season. It would be difficult to say that, as a practical matter, any greater influence exists by virtue of the fact that the symbol is permitted on public, as well as private property."

In New York City, the American Jewish Congress, which was not among the complainants, said it would file a friend of the court brief in support of the appeal.

Isaac Toubin, AJC executive director, said: "The basic question at issue is whether a scene depicting the birth of Jesus—a symbol of one religion — may be placed on public property that belongs to people of all religions. Implicit are basic questions affecting religious freedom and separation of church and state as guaranteed by the Constitution."

In the Levittown case, a School Board member, Salvatore Gangi, asked the board to reverse the Wisdom Lane School's decision not to display the Nativity inside the school as it had done last year and in previous years.

Gangi suggested that Christmas be observed in the schools as an historical event. He added that he did not advocate teaching sectarianism of dogma in public schools.

Japan in Need of Fuel

TOKYO — The ratio of imported fuels to Japan's total energy supply is expected to rise from 23 per cent to 33 in the next four years as demand booms for more oil and coal to turn newly installed generators under Japan's stepped-up program of electric-power supply.

Secret Jet Bomber Falls; B47 Crash Spares Homes

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP)—One of the nation's secrecy-wrapped supersonic B58 jet bombers crashed Tuesday, killing the pilot and injuring the other two crewmen.

The four-engine bomber, which can travel 1,400 to 1,500 miles an hour, fell about 35 miles southeast of here. It was the first of its type to crash.

The pilot, Maj. Richard D. Smith, 40, Columbus, Ohio, was killed while bailing out. Lt. Col. George A. Gradel, 37, Philadelphia, Pa.; the navigator, and Capt. Daniel J. Holland, 38, Shelbyville, Ill., the defense systems operator, were hurt as they parachuted. They were flown to a hospital at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M.

The three crewmen were stationed at Carswell Air Force Base Fort Worth, from which they took off to test navigation equipment.

Presumably the delta-wing bomber was traveling faster than the speed of sound when the three crewmen bailed out. The tremendous force of the wind has a wrenching, tearing effect on a human body at that speed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A stricken B47 jet bomber carrying a crew of four crashed and exploded in Tampa bay Tuesday night, moments after veering away from a heavily populated residential section.

No survivors were found. One body was recovered.

A witness said it appeared the pilot, Capt. George E. Whitney of Tampa, guided the six-engine craft away from land seconds before the crash.

"It looked like the pilot slipped off to one side to avoid hitting the island," said Leon Siegfried, a resident of Coquina Key. "When it hit I didn't see anything but flames."

The plane crashed about 10 minutes after takeoff from MacDill Air Force Base, across the bay at Tampa.

Listed as missing along with the pilot were Lt. Joseph D. Berardi, 25, copilot; Maj. Marcel F. D'Amico, 35, instructor navigator; and Lt. William C. Bieler Jr., 24, navigator, all of Tampa.

Hospital Funds Meeting Topic

Pontiac General Board, Commissioners Face 2 Big Questions

City and Pontiac General Hospital officials will discuss hospital finances at a joint meeting tomorrow.

There will be two big questions facing city commissioners and hospital trustees:

1. Extra costs the city must bear to replace worn out heating, lighting and plumbing fixtures in the east wing of the hospital; and

2. Some $50,000 a year in unpaid emergency bills run up by Pontiac residents.

The unexpected costs were discovered this fall when inspectors opened up the walls of the old hospital building for the first time. City Manager Walter K. Willman is expected to announce the city's estimate of what they will amount to.

At the same time, he was expected to outline plans for financing the repairs in conjunction with remodeling the east wing as part of the hospital's expansion program.

The unpaid bills are a subject brought up by the hospital trustees, who recently went on record demanding that the city subsidize the hospital for its losses.

The trustees also want other communities to agree to similar subsidies and have threatened to refuse emergency service to nonresidents if they don't.

Willman indicated that the city was not inclined to provide a subsidy if other communities didn't, but trustees decided early this month to fight for a Pontiac subsidy anyway.

Waterford Offices Open on Saturday

Beginning this week, the Waterford Township offices will be open from 9 a.m. until noon every Saturday until further notice, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

The Township Board approved the additional working hours to accommodate residents paying their 1958 personal and property taxes.

Deadline for tax payment without penalty is Jan. 20. After that there will be a 4 per cent penalty charge until Feb. 28. After that an additional one-half of one per cent will be added for each month the tax payment is delinquent.

The township offices will continue to be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays, as well as from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

All but 5 per cent of Minneapolis' residents live within five miles of bodies of water that can be used for recreation purposes.

Ohio Youth, 20, Admits Crime

Expectant Mother Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A tiny crib stood at the foot of the still bloody bed. Soft white blankets edged in satin were gently folded over its sides in anticipation of a birth.

But the birth will never come. The expectant mother, Mrs. Janice Ora Porter, 24, is dead, victim of a savage assault and a bullet in the brain.

Her body, trussed with wire, gagged and blindfolded, was discovered Tuesday by her father-in-law when he returned to his home near here where she and her husband lived.

Sheriff's deputies following footprints in the snow arrested David S. Smith, 20, who lived just up the road from the brutal slaying scene. They said he admitted the killing. He is being held for investigation of murder.

Smith was quoted as saying he had planned for two or three days to criminally assault Mrs. Porter.

Deputies said Mrs. Porter, who was expecting her first child in a few days, apparently was ironing when Smith knocked on her door and asked if she had seen his missing cat.

He came back a second time, he told authorities, and found a .22-caliber revolver in the Porter home. Smith said he didn't feel that Mrs. Porter knew he was in the house.

Investigators said he blindfolded and gagged her, ripped her clothes from her and then shot her in the forehead. Coroner Robert Evans said she was not raped.

'Silent Night' Climbing

LONDON (UPI) — Daily Telegraph columnist Peterborough claimed today he overheard a phonograph record salesman tell a clergyman when he handed him a record: "There you are, sir. 'Silent Night,' number seven in the top ten and climbing fast on the 'Two for Tea Cha Cha.'"

Plenty of Speed, No Gas

ATLANTA (UPI) — Policemen C. B. Wooster and E. F. Sikes had to abandon their pursuit of speeding hot rodders yesterday when they ran out of gas.

Police Capture Holdup Suspect

Detroiter Arrested 16 Minutes After $5,000 Market Robbery by 3

DETROIT (AP) — Three masked gunmen robbed a suburban Clinton Township supermarket of $5,000, locking five employes in a cooler.

Within 16 minutes, East Detroit police arrested an unemployed Detroit man, in whose car they said they found three loaded pistols and three bags containing $4,919 hidden under a topcoat.

An employe arriving as the gunmen fled in two cars got the license number of one. It was in East Detroit that policemen said they arrested Marvin J. Mulligan, 24, of Detroit.

A search continued behind roadblocks in the supermarket area, a half-mile south of Mount Clemens, for the two who vanished in a second car.

Two deliverymen said two of the gunmen, arriving about 6:40 a.m., asked when the manager would arrive, then drew pistols and forced them inside, tied their hands and left them in a cooler. A porter was treated similarly.

When manager Charles Arendowski, 38, of Detroit, arrived the two gunmen, wearing blue handkerchiefs over their lower faces, forced him to open a safe. They also forced open a cabinet containing money.

A third gunman, arriving meanwhile, stood guard over employes and deliverymen forced into the cooler as they arrived.

When the robbers fled they pushed a heavy cart in front of the cooler door.

Walter Congdon, 43, a Mount Clemens meatcutter, was pulling into the store's parking lot as the gunmen fled. He got the license number of one car, which he trailed but lost in rush hour traffic. He spotted a state police car which quickly relayed the license number.

Divorce Not Necessary

Two Can Get Social Security

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The complications of Social Security nearly caused a divorce in Cincinnati recently.

The story starts with a husband and wife near retirement age. Both were working and had been paying the maximum Social Security tax for some time. Thus, when they retired, they'd both be entitled to maximum Social Security payments.

But, somewhere they had got the impression that if they retired they both couldn't collect full Social Security; that the husband could collect maximum payments, but the wife could only collect one-half of her husband's.

This, they figured, was unfair. They were being penalized just because they were husband and wife. So, they decided to solve the dilemma by getting a divorce. Then, they both could collect maximum Social Security.

Fortunately, they visited the Cincinnati Social Security office before they got the divorce. They were told they had misunderstood and that both could collect maximum Social Security.

No doubt the misunderstanding grew out of a provision of the Social Security law which says:

A wife, who had no Social Security record, can collect an amount equal to one-half of her husband's payments if they both start collecting payments after reaching 65.

Of course, since the wife had her own Social Security record this restrictive provision didn't apply to her since another provision of the law says:

A wife, if she has a Social Security record entitling her to an amount equal to more than one-half of her husband's payments, can collect whatever her own Social Security record will give her.

For example: Suppose you and your wife both work, are covered by Social Security and have earnings at or above the Social Security maximum. If you both continue to work until retirement age, you both can collect Social Security on your own work record.

But, the law does not allow a wife with a Social Security record of her own to collect a portion of her husband's payments in addition to what her own record would give her.

She can collect as a wife or as a former worker. And, she'll get whichever payment will give her the highest monthly check. But, she can't get both.

For example: Suppose your Social Security record allows you to collect payments of less than an amount equal to what you collect as the wife of a Social Security recipient. You can collect the higher of the two payments and not a combination of the two.

Several efforts have been made over the years to get this latter provision of the law changed, but Congress has never been too receptive.

Another effort will probably be made within the next several years. Whether it will be successful is strictly a guess.

Bank Accounts Grow for Firms, Individuals

CHICAGO (UPI) — Corporations and individuals are increasing their bank accounts at a faster rate than they are borrowing for the first time in four years, according to the 1958 edition of the Rand McNally International Bankers Directory.

The directory shows that during the past year bank deposits rose from $223.5 billion to $243 billion, an increase of $19.5 billion, while bank loans increased only $4.5 billion, from approximately $115 billion to $119.5 billion.

New York Bears Hefty

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — They grow some hefty bears in New York State's woodlands. The Conservation Department reports that one bruin who weighed 104 pounds when trapped last fall tipped the scales at 250 pounds when he was recaptured in the spring. Another of the black bears went from 338 pounds last summer to a walloping 500 pounds this year.

Warts are caused by a virus.

Pumps Are Generous

WATERBURY, Conn. (UPI)—A check of 175 gas pumps at service stations here disclosed that 25 of them were giving customers more gasoline than showed on the meters.

A friend of ours is a four-letter athlete at college. He stars at football, basketball, baseball and examinations . . . Ed Sullivan wanted a pair of shoes of a special type but they weren't in stock. "Oh, well," shrugged Ed, "that's shoebusiness." —Earl Wilson.

Convicts' Art Is Stolen

MELBOURNE — Inmates of the Victoria State penal settlement on French Island, competing in a national art competition along with other convicts throughout Australia sent their entries to the contest with the prison's education officer. Along the way the artistic exhibits were stolen from the officer's car. A reward of 20 pounds sterling ($45) is offered for their recovery.

The United States imports all its coffee, tea, and cocoa.

Yawning Is Dangerous

DONELSON, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. Jim Hagewood threw her jaw out of place while yawning. A doctor set it but on the way home from his office she sighed, yawned—and threw her jaw out of place again.

Isabella Was Brainier

GRANADA, Spain—Guides at the huge tomb of Ferdinand and Isabella at Granada point out that, though the reposing statues of the soverigns lie on marble pillows of equal size, Isabell's head rests deeper than Ferdinand's. The guides explain, "This is so because Columbus' patroness was smarter than her husband and her added brains must have made her head heavier."

Alarm Routs Burglar

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — A burglar alarm easily routed an intruder trying to force his way into a liquor warehouse. The burglar was drilling a hole through a wooden door at the rear of the building when the bit struck the wires attached to the alarm, sent a small charge through the thief and started the alarm.

Names Should Match

TONGGU, Korea (UPI) — The canine mascot of a U.S. weapons platoon here was named "Sixty" after the 60mm mortar used by the soldiers. But now the dog is confused. The army gave the platoon 81mm mortars, and the little brown mongrel had to have his name changed accordingly.

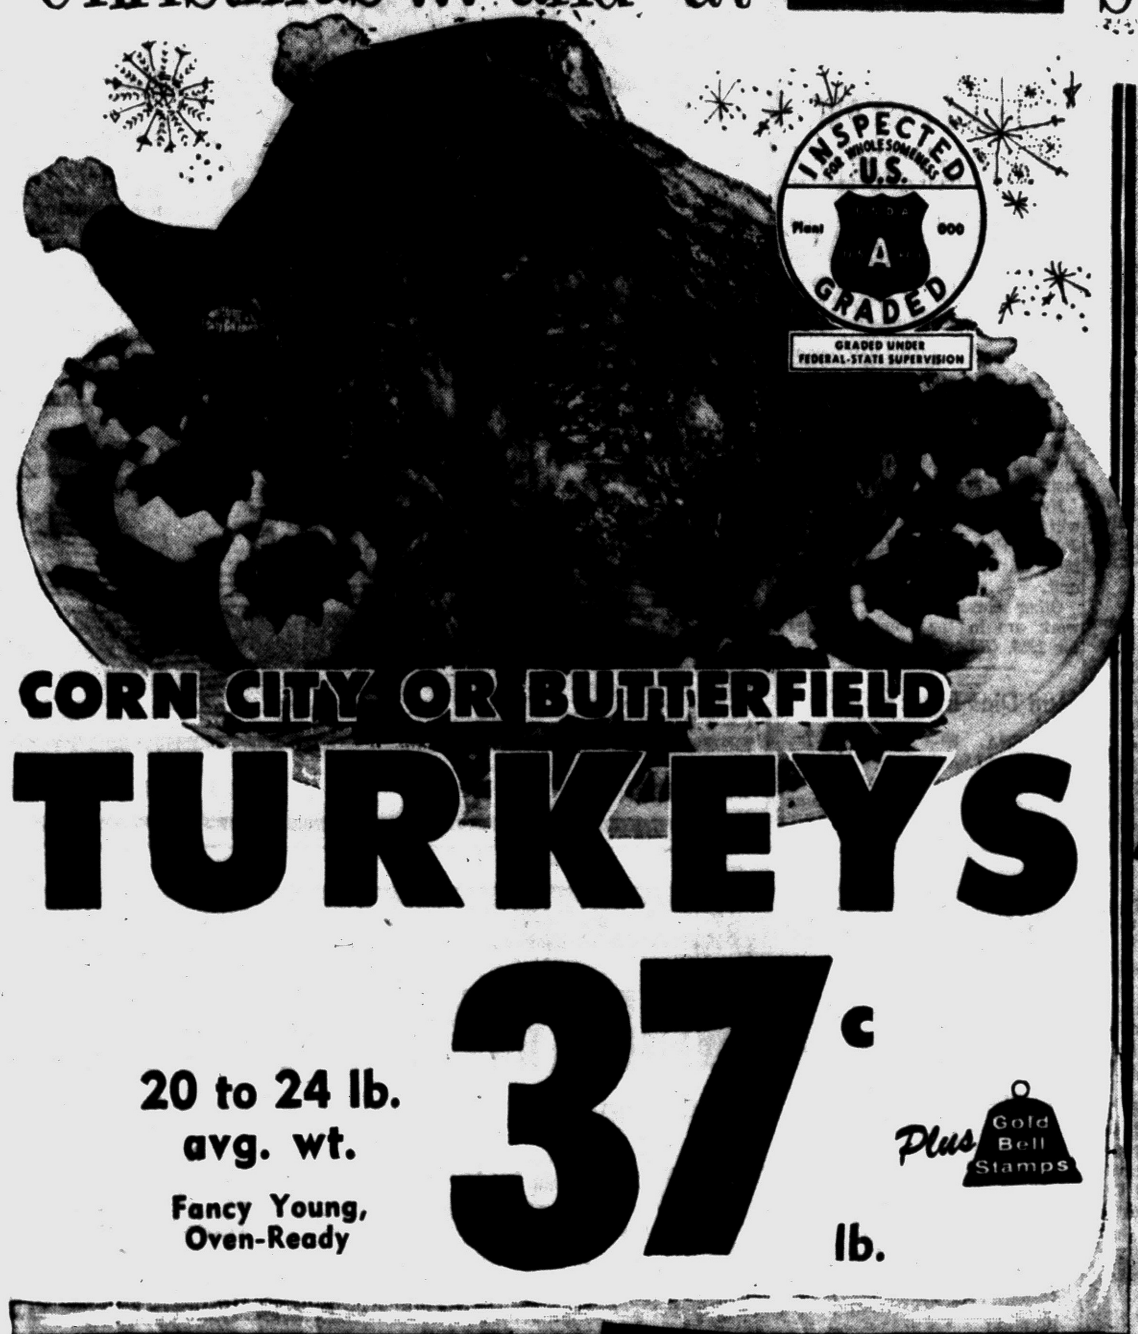

Of the total U.S. national income, labor's share rose from 59 per cent in 1929 to more than 67 per cent in 1949 and it is still rising.

Eviction Hits Referee

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—After two years of helping settle disputes between landlords and tenants, Sebastian Polo had to take time off from his job as chairman of a fair rent commmittee. His own rented duplex was converted into a rooming house and he was evicted.

Vicuna Is Horrid Word
Italian Tailor's Gift to Ike Not Delivered

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Italian tailor is in town with expensive gifts for President Eisenhower — vicuna overcoat and a cashmere golfing jacket.

But, after learning how the word vicuna still causes government officials to wince, he hasn't tried to go near the White House to present them personally to the President.

Instead, Angelo Litrico of Rome said he would turn over his two hand-made creations to the Italian Embassy. Ambassador Manlio Brosio, he said, has assured him they will be delivered to the White House.

When asked, the Italian Embassy said Litrico must be mistaken.

Brosio has offered to send along the cashmere golfing jacket to the White House, the embassy said, but the ambassador said nothing about the vicuna coat.

The White House kept a strict silence about Eisenhower's attitude toward the intended gifts. Associate press secretary Anne Wheaton said Litrico has "no appointment—none whatsoever."

The 30-year-old Litrico, operator of a fashionable shop in Rome, said he knows nothing about the furor created last summer by the disclosure that a vicuna overcoat was given to former presidential aide Sherman Adams by Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

"I'm not a politician," he said. "I'm a tailor. It's not my fault that vicuna has suddenly become a bad word. It's a beautiful material — the very best."

He displayed the coat — a hand-sewn navy blue model — to a reporter in his hotel room.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek have shown no reluctance in accepting his gifts when he visited their countries, Litrico said.

"I would never visit a foreign country without giving a present to the boss. I give it out of my heart," he said.

GOP Divided Over Floor Post

Liberals Oppose Dirksen in Fight for Newer Senate Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—A split in Republican ranks widened today over Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's candidacy for party floor leader in the new Senate.

The Illinois senator's assertion he is definitely a candidate and expects to win stiffened the attitude of senators rebelling against their Republican leadership.

The insurgents' spokesman, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, said in an interview: "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by making our fight for a forward-looking leadership. I think we have a good chance to win. If we are defeated, the party can look forward to further reversals in the 1960 elections."

Dirksen, Senate GOP whip in the last session, told reporters he expects to be elected floor leader at the Republican caucus Jan. 7.

He said he does not believe the other group could block his election. He is supported by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

The insurgent group has a hard core of 10 members, but claims support among the other 24 Republican senators in the coming Congress.

All of the insurgents rate themselves as faithful backers of President Eisenhower's foreign policies, and some call themselves liberals.

"I do not know on what grounds I am being opposed," Dirksen said. "I have gone down the line for key administration legislation, including foreign aid, reciprocal trade, defense reorganization, the U. S. Information Agency appropriations and other controversial measures.

"I have carried the flag for the President and the White House when the going was rough."

The opposition group has said it will announce at a Dec. 30 meeting its candidates for floor leader, whip, Bridges' policy committee post, and for chairman and secretary of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

Aiken said he would seek the post of floor leader himself only as a last resort. Some of his associates want him to make the fight. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California is the choice of most of them for whip.

Waterford Music Features Work of Ex-PHS Student

Featured in Waterford Township High School's annual Christmas Concert at 8 tonight, will be three selections composed by a former Pontiac High School student, Alfred Burt.

Fred Waring's Glee Club recorded Burt's must last year. The high school's combined choir and glee club will present the Waring arrangements, accompanied by the high school band.

Choral director Richard Meier and band leader Donald Perrin have coordinated the musical talents of more than 150 teenagers into one of the most spectacular presentations of the season.

The public is invited.

Advanced First Aid Date Set in Waterford

Advanced first aid classes for Waterford Township Civil Defense trainees will get started at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 7 at the Community Activities Center, according to assistant Civil Defense director Lloyd Gidley.

Area residents who have passed the standard first aid course may call director Mrs. F. M. Leroy for enrollment in the new class, which must be completed in time for the instructor's training class Feb. 16.

New medical auxiliary classes will get under way Feb. 10 at John D. Pierce Junior High School. Mrs. M. J. Dyet will direct this unit.

Other classes in civil defense work are in the planning stage for 1959, Gidley said.

Fires on Farms Kill 6 Children

Pennsylvania Flames Spread Too Rapidly to Make Rescue Possible

MEYERSDALE, Pa. (AP)—Six children burned to death Tuesday night in two separate farm house fires in Pennsylvania.

One, in this southwestern Pennsylvania community near the Maryland border, took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ansell's only children—two boys and a girl from 1½ to 5 years old.

Ansell was in the barn feeding chickens when he heard an explosion. Roaring flames enveloped the home and he was unable to save the children.

Their bodies were found huddled at the foot of the stairs in the two-story frame home. His wife was at church preparing for a Christmas program.

The other fire, in Mansfield near the New York border, killed two girls and a boy from 3 to 11 years old. They were asleep on an upper floor of a three-story frame house.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fralic, were out visiting. The Fralics' fourth child, Perry, 16, said he was asleep downstairs and was unable to help his brother and sisters because of the rapidly spreading flames.

He jumped out a window and ran for help.

Both homes were destroyed. Cause of the fires was not determined.

Let Go With Emotions, Singer Tells Audiences

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soprano Marguerite Piazza says audiences could use a little coaching from the sidelines.

Miss Piazza, star of television, opera and the supper club circuit, says she is well rewarded financially for her efforts, but she would like her audiences to be more responsive to her talents.

"Audiences should respect singers, because they sure work like h--l," Miss Piazza said in an interview.

"Let people know if you like them. Don't be inhibited or jaded. If you enjoy a performer, let him know it by clapping, laughing and enjoying yourself.

"The entertainer has no way of knowing whether you enjoy a show, except by voice or applause. It means everything in the world to a performer.

"Educate children not to be inhibited and keep an entertainer from knowing how much you appreciate what they are doing.

"I want my flowers while I'm alive, not after I'm dead. It is sad and unhealthy not to show your emotions."

Miss Piazza said that on the whole, she prefers the life of a nightclub singer to appearing in opera. She makes more money than she did when she sang with the Metropolitan Opera and she has more freedom.

"I'm my own boss," she said. "I work half the year and spend half at home in Memphis with my husband and four children. At the Met, I wouldn't have the freedom, and I wouldn't make the money, either.

"I do all the opera I want to do in my supper club act. In fact the things I do as club material could also be done in a concert hall, except for a few numbers."

But after scoring successes on the stage, TV and in night clubs and with her career still booming, Miss Piazza said that if she had it to do all over again, she probably would stay at home.

"My mother wanted me to sing," she said. "The reason I went into it was because of her. Many times I wanted to turn around and go home, but every time something bigger happened to me.

"I am an absolute freak in show business. I was afraid of my own shadow. When I came to New York, I never had bought for myself even a handkerchief or even had been downtown alone. I was a very sophisticated girl outside, but very immature underneath.

"My family thought I was a little star singing at home in New Orleans. I would never have got a job without my mother."

Miss Piazza was asked why she did not retire in view of her criticisms of singing as a career.

"I keep on working," she said, "because I love it."

Opera House Used in Trial of 'Bluebeard' Shut

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Moore's Opera House, scene of the lurid "West Virginia Bluebeard" trial 27 years ago, has gone out of business.

The 1,244-seat theater opened in 1918. It offered stage productions and later movies. The Dolly Sisters, Alice Brady and Sir Harry Lauder were only a few of the big names that played Moore's.

And the "West Virginia Bluebeard."

He was a 42-year-old ex-vacuum cleaner salesman, Harry F. Powers, who lived in the Clarksburg suburb of Quiet Dell.

Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, a Park Ridge, Ill., widow and her three children disappeared in the summer of 1931. The trail led to Quiet Dell and the home of Powers, who had proposed marriage in a romantic correspondence with Mrs. Eicher.

Police found a trap door in Powers' garage. It opened into a basement divided into four chambers, each containing a gas jet.

Digging into a drain sewer beneath the basement, police found the burlap-wrapped bodies of Mrs. Eicher and her three children.

Reopening a sewer excavation near the garage, police discovered a fifth body. It turned out to be that of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, 50, a Northboro, Mass., divorcee. A brother-in-law said she had left home with Powers and planned to marry him. She had withdrawn her savings from a bank.

In Powers' effects, police found bundles of letters representing romantic correspondence with scores of women.

Powers was indicted for all five murders and was tried for that of Mrs. Lemke.

Harrison County was without a courtroom. The old courthouse had been torn down to make way for a new one. The county rented Moore's Opera House for the trial. It began Dec. 7, 1931.

Judge, jury, defendant and lawyers were arrayed on the stage. In the ochestra pit were the court stenographer and part of the press corps.

Mrs. Ralph Douds, who was manager of Moore's, recalls: "Judge John Southern presided. He did everything with all the dignity of a courtroom. The crowd was orderly. Pretty soon you forgot it was a theater. You felt it was a courtroom."

After a four-day trial, Powers was convicted of first-degree murder. He was hanged March 19, 1932.

He spent his last hours putting the finishing touches on a song he was writing, "I'll Wait For You, Dear Heart."

State Tax Called Williams 'Baby'

GOP Senator Says Plan Must Be Endorsed by Governor to Pass

LANSING (AP) — A leading Republican Senate spokesman says any state income tax enacted by the 1959 legislature will be Gov. Williams' baby.

In a talk to a Civic Club yesterday, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said that to clear the legislature such a proposal must be "the governor's own."

The Democratic chief executive must either propose or endorse the plan, he said.

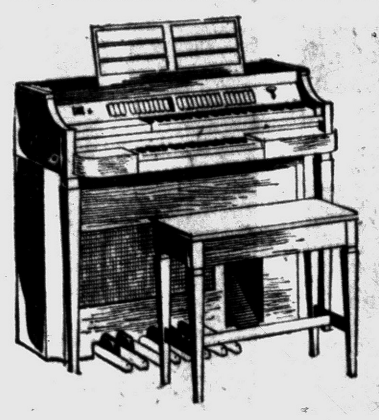

Hutchinson speculated that Williams may try to bypass the income tax as a political liability by recommending some stopgap measure to beef up sagging state revenues. He mentioned nothing specific.

The Republican senator said he was apprehensive that the Democratic-Republican deadlock for house control might lead to a prolonged squabble over organizing the lower chamber.

Each party elected 55 members Nov. 4 for a standoff. Negotiations looking toward a resolution of the problem were to begin today between committees named by the Republican and Democratic caucuses.

Hal Boyle Says:

Time Measured by Pets, If You Have Child

NEW YORK (AP)—In our house we have entered the era of the third cat.

When you have a child in a house you often measure time by the pets.

Rather fondly I look back now at the time our daughter Tracy had her very first live pet—a period known as the Era of the First Turtle.

It was a tiny inoffensive grave-eyed turtle with a thoughtful mien, and its watery reign in our kitchen was of a remarkably brief duration.

"While I am doing dishes it just lies there, the creepy thing," complained my wife, Frances. "It doesn't even make echoes."

It was a nice turtle. But, as turtles go, it went. I was rather disappointed when Tracy made no complaint. I missed the sober, uncomplaining way it walked across its small glass-walled prison without even stirring waves.

"I want a kitty or a dog," said Tracy.

"Or," she added, "a birdy."

Frankly, I wanted to get her a dog, but man's best friend is verboten in the apartment development in which we live.

One is allowed to keep wives, relatives, children, parakeets, and boa constrictors—until one rings for the elevator—but not dogs.

So we entered the Era of the First Cat. I forget her name but she was a Siamese, and Tracy was very young and tried to hug her to death. To save the cat we had to find her another home.

"I want another cat or a birdy," stormed Tracy.

For a while I considered getting her a parakeet, but I demurred. Tracy was still so small that I was afraid one morning I might come upon her with feathers sticking out of her mouth.

After a time we got another cat, another Siamese. It—and I speak advisedly—was a magnificent animal named Ralph Beauty Marble Candy, and roughly the size of a Shetland pony.

The Era of the Second Cat was pretty short. We have no mice in our house, and I got a little tired of watching Ralph Beauty stalk Tracy instead, pounce on her and carry her to the top of the bookcase. If there is anything I can't stand, it's clawmarks on a freshly painted bookcase.

Ralph Beauty, with the help of a retired lion tamer, was coaxed into a cage and granted to an adventurous family in the hinterland. Actually he didn't fit into New York City. He was too big.

Well, months and months had passed, and again Tracy set up the cry, "I want a cat." A friend went to a humane shelter and found an orphan kitty, and now we are in the Era of the Third Cat.

She is black with white paws and white throat and looks like Adolf Hitler, if you can imagine Hitler wearing his moustache under his mouth instead of under his nose. She has a tiny black dot on the very tip of her nose, and therefore is known as Lady Dotty.

She is batty and independent, fights her image in the hall mirror. Reaches up to try to turn the knob on the television set if she doesn't like the program.

She has eyes like light shining through the slits in yellow buttons, she has clawed up about $1,500 worth of furniture and two neighbor children. My shower is her chosen powder room.

But for some wild incomprehensible reason everybody in the family knows the Era of the Third Cat is going to go on for a long while.

I have always held that anybody who really likes a cat lacks one brand of common sense. I still feel that way. But Lady Dotty is here to stay. Who needs common sense?

Picture Starts Hobby

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UPI) — George Holcomb's interest in Indians started when he had his picture taken with Iron Trail, the Indian who posed for the old U.S. nickel. That was 46 years ago, when Holcomb was 10. Now, he owns about 5,500 paintings and photographs of the American Red Man.

Ann Arbor Dem Mayor Won't Seek Re-Election

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Mayor Samuel J. Eldersveld, ending a two-year term as Ann Arbor's first Democratic chief executive since 1931, says he will not seek re-election in April.

Eldersveld, a 41-year-old political science professor at the University of Michigan, said demands of the office interfered too much with his family and career.

San Francisco Firm Applies for Subsidy

Great Lakes to Mediterranean Run Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The San Francisco shipping firm of American President Lines, Ltd., wants to run cargo service between the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River to Mediterranean nations.

American President lines applied yesterday for a federal operating subsidy to help in opening such service under the American flag.

No American shipping firm now plies this trade route, although American Export Lines has applied to the Federal Maritime Board for a similar subsidy to begin such a service.

American President Lines supported its application with a study of traffic movements between this country's so-called "fourth sea coast" and the Mediterranean Sea. The investigation has convinced it, the company said, that this is "an essential service in the foreign commerce of the United States" and should receive government recognition.

It seems desirable APL went on, that the trade not be frozen into the hands of a single American shipping company — either American Export or American President Lines.

The company's statement said:

"Since we do not consider it even remotely feasible for any operator to commence an unsubsidized service on this route, this conclusion in turn calls for the award of subsidy to two operators.

"As it chances, the two applications now pending are those from the two operators with far and away the most extensive organization and experience in the Mediterranean-North Atlantic trade."

Foreign liner traffic between the Great Lakes and the Mediterranean has increased from 34,000 cargo tons in 1954 to 94,300 tons in 1957, the steamship line said. The shipments, it went on, should be much greater when the St. Lawrence Seaway opens up the Great Lakes to ocean-going ships of larger size a few months hence.

Simultaneously with the request for a subsidy, APL asked Federal Maritime Administrator Clarence G. Morse to designate the Great Lakes - Mediterranean route as a new "essential trade route" under the maritime subsidy laws.

The steamship line said it plans to offer not less than one and not more than two sailings a month in the service from Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Toronto and Montreal to eight or more ports in Spain, Portugal, France, Italy, Greece, Turkey and Morocco in the "open" or ice-free season. This is normally from April to November.

During the four or more winter months when the St. Lawrence would be closed to ocean traffic, the application said, the service would operate from U. S. and Canadian North Atlantic ports north of Hatteras instead of the Great Lakes and inland ports. The application mentioned Halifax, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk.

The shipping firm said this closed-season service would be "a necessary and integral part of the Great Lakes service" by providing continuity of service to shippers.

The company sought to add the new service by amending its present subsidy agreement. Under the existing contract APL serves the trade route from California to the Far East, the route from the Atlantic Coast to Indonesia and Malaya, and provides a westbound round-the-world service.

The application noted that the round-the-world vessels now serve a number of Mediterranean ports. The line also is well prepared to initiate the additional service, it was stated, because the company has offices in Chicago, Cleveland and Genoa and agencies in Detroit and 44 Mediterranean cities.

Bank Receives $20 Bill Found on Office Floor

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—An unsigned letter to the First Federal Savings and Loan Association here contained a $20 bill and the following message:

"I found this $20 bill on the floor of your office several weeks ago. If you know the owner, return it; if not, give it to charity."

An executive, Gerald Christensen, recalled that Virginia E. Richards had reported the loss of a $20 bill somee time ago. He returned it to her.

The 14 elected members of the St. Pierre-Miquelon General Council voted to remain a territory, with one representative in each chamber of the French Parliament. The islands have a population of 5,000.

Man With $10,000 Cash Dies From Starvation

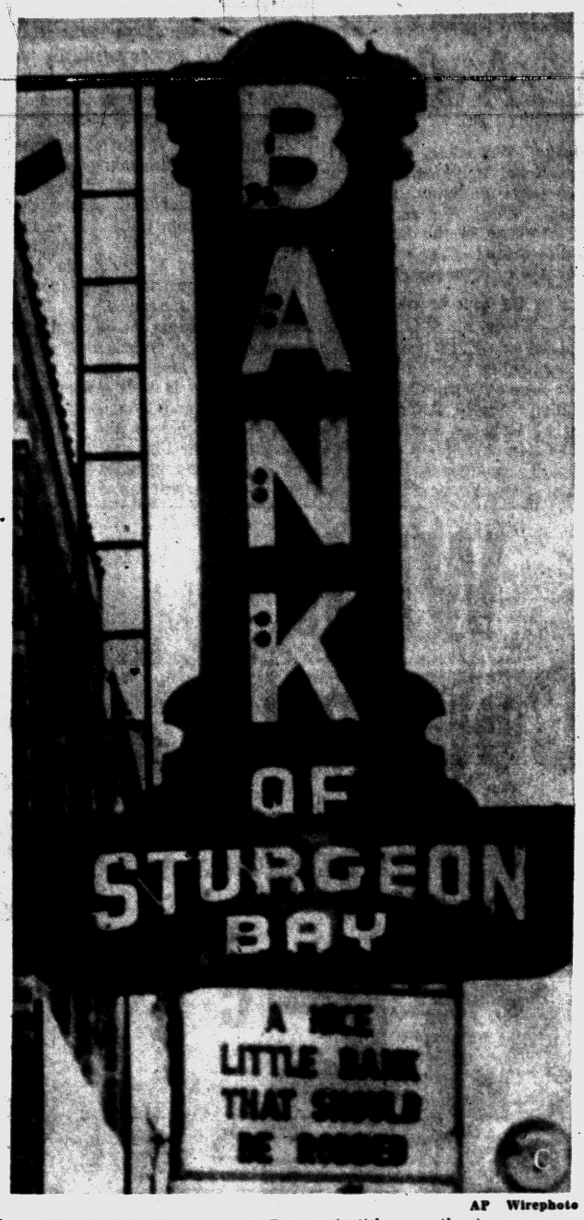

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—A 90-year-old man who apparently died of starvation had $10,101 in cash on his body, officers disclosed.

Asst. County Atty. D. O. Cubbage said it appeared there had been no food for more than a week in the home of George W. Williams, 90. Williams was found dead Monday night.

The recluse, who once had been active in civic affairs at nearby Yale, lived alone in a scantily furnished house.

HOLLYWOOD — Happy days—Hollywood's spending big money again!

Today, Hal Roach Jr. and Robert Bradford are telling the world that they'll spend $10,000,000 making movies in the next 2½ years!

There are 27 features on the slate for their new Hy-Ford Productions Company costing approximately $8,000,000 with a $2,000,000 "special" coming up late in 1959. Already in production in Hong Kong is "The Scavengers" starring Vince Edwards and Carol Ohmart.

Following this comes "The Loves of Eve Martin," an original melodrama by Walter Doniger, to be filmed in Rome with Vittorio de Sica starring. Young Roach and Bradford also hope to get Dorothy Malone and Gig Young for this. There are many more features including some chillers with titles like "The Creature from Blood Island," Well, they are top moneymakers.

The life story of famed combat photographer Robert Capa, who was killed in 1954 while covering Communist uprisings in Indochina, has been bought by Director Robert Wise for independent production. Wise, who directed the controversial "I Want to Live," will call his story "Battle" and he'll both direct and produce it for U-A release.

Every year I get a Christmas card from Clara Bow. This year she writes me on her card: "Do you realize that the young girl you interviewed in New York for the first time is now 51 years old? Both of my sons are in the armed forces, Tony in the Air Force and George in the Marines. Neither of them will be home for the holidays. I shall miss them terribly.

"My dad is still living. He will be 84 in April. Rex (her husband, popular Rex Bell) was re-elected to his office as Lt. Gov. of Nevada in November. He's also opened another western clothing store in Reno.

"I have been very ill all this year. I suffered a badly burned foot due to a faulty electric pack. It is healing but very slowly."

I'm told that at the New Orleans premiere of "The Buccaneer" the audience gave an ovation to C. B. De Mille when he appeared on stage. And well they might. For while Anthony Quinn gets credit for the direction of this swashbuckling spectacle and Henry Wilcoxon is listed as producer—and both turn in good jobs—still the master touch of old master C.B. shows on every romantic foot of it.

Yul Brynner with hair is dashing as Jean LaFitte, and he plays the pirate with both humor and charm. Write "The Buccaneer" high up on your list of lighthearted adventure hits.

Jill St. John finally coaxed Lance Reventlow out of his mother's—Barbara Hutton's—hotel suite in New York long enough to take her to the Harwyn Club. Lance is so determined to stay out of print that he's even taking his meals in his apartment.

Aside from his new career as a dramatic actor, Ed Wynn is writing a report for the Ways and Means Congressional Committee for finding employment for Uncle Sam's senior citizens—people more than 60 years old.

One hundred thousand dollars was paid by Edward G. Robinson for two original paintings by Modigliani and Segonzac, which he bought from the Arnold Kirkby collection.

Union Rejects Plan in East Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union have rejected a federal mediator's proposal to vote again on an old publishers' contract offer.

The strike against nine major New York dailies began when the union members rejected the same offer last Dec. 9.

The membership's rejection of the proposal Tuesday night reversed the union negotiating committee's earlier agreement to resubmit the $7 wage package offer to union members Thursday.

The action dimmed hopes of a settlement soon. Further bargaining sessions have not been arranged. Both sides are expected to meet today to set up further negotiations.

Sam Feldman, union president, said the strike would continue.

Reds Make Bold Move to Gain Secure Foothold

New Communist Surge in Mideast Threatens to Take Over Iraq

(The writer of this analysis is chief of bureau for The Associated Press in the Middle East. He has just returned to Beirut from visits to several of the countries.)

By TOM MASTERSON

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Communists right now appear to be making their boldest move ever in the Middle East.

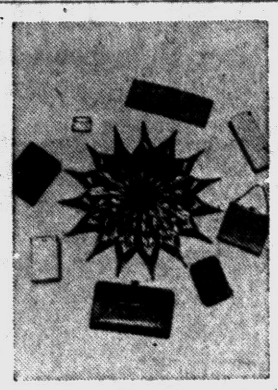

It is clear that the move is well-planned, concerted and widespread.

The new Communist surge stems from the chaos and confusion following the Lebanon insurrection and the Iraq revolt.

It is aimed at gaining a secure foothold—something the Communists never before have succeeded in doing.

The governments of most Middle East capitals—from Kuwait to Cairo, from Beirut to Tehran, from Istanbul to Ryadh — are showing increasing anxiety.

Leather rings gift circle from cigaret lighter, French evening purse with mesh chain to ostrich keycase.

In Iraq, the Communists are tearing the new republic apart at the seams. For the moment, the Communist menace is more dangerous there than in any other Arab country.

The violent reception given the U.S. assistant secretary of state William M. Rountree was reminiscent of that given Vice President Richard M. Nixon in South America.

The Rountree reception was Communist-inspired, led and conducted. Censorship kept newsmen in Baghdad from identifying the demonstration as Communist.

But reporters who have visited Iraq in the past few weeks came away with this conviction—that if the Communist upsurge is left unbridled in Iraq much longer, Communist takeover of the country is inevitable.

In Syria, the leader of all Arab Communists has gotten bold enough to call for the breakup of the United Arab Republic in its present form. Khaled Bagdash has demanded instead a federation of Egypt and Syria, each with its own government and Parliament, "free press and free elections." The two countries are now united into one under President Nasser.

Significantly Bagdash issued a manifesto in the face of increasing concern in Cairo over the growing strength of communism in Iraq.

Even in traditionally anti-Communist Lebanon, the Communists for the first time have felt strong enough to form their own party. Heretofore it was the "Communist party of Syria and Lebanon" but this has been split in two separate parties. This is a direct aftermath of the crippling six-month Lebanese insurrection.

Desk accessories keynote favorite sport with trophy pipe stand. Set in leather shades to blend with room includes scissors and letter knife, desk pad.

In Iraq, Premier Abdel-Karim Kassem, who is no Communist, could put down the Communist threat easily before it got too big to handle. He controls the army. Still, he goes on accepting their support and letting them get stronger, presumably because he fears more the pro-Nasser elements.

Likewise, Nasser, who tolerates no Communists in Egypt, could easily squash the Communists in Syria. Why he does not do so remains a mystery. For one thing, all political parties except Nasser's own are outlawed in the U.A.R. Yet he permits Bagdash and his Communist party to continue in defiance of the law, in the face of the first stirrings of unrest in the Syrian region since union with Egypt.

In Lebanon, the Communists are no threat. Yet they easily could become one if another country like Iraq fell to the Reds.

Derby Impresario Dead

Corum Dies Before He Can Finish His Book

NEW YORK (UPI) — Death caught up with Bill Corum, one of the nation's most popular sports writers.

The 63-year-old New York Journal-American columnist, who also served as president of the Churchill Downs race track and impresario of the Kentucky Derby, died last night of lung cancer at St. Luke's Hospital.

"Try to keep me going so I can finish my book," Corum told his personal physician and longtime friend, Dr. John S. Davis Jr., only yesterday morning. He was doing his autobiography.

CORUM

"We tried awfully hard and so did Bill, but it was too late," Dr. Davis said. "I asked him, 'how do you feel, Bill?' when I visited him early last night. He blinked his eyes a couple of times but didn't reply. Then he died."

Corum had been in and out of the hospital since he contracted pneumonia during the World Series in October. He resumed writing his column about a month ago, but he then returned to St Luke's last week.

The round-faced, jolly "amateur horse player" never saw another typewriter.

In one of his most recent columns, Corum wrote:

"I'm breathing easily and clearly for probably the first time in 15 years, feel good, and lost excess fat that I'd been lugging around . . . I'm happy and satisfied . . . everybody was thoughtful to me and I'm grateful and humble to have so many staunch friends, some of whom knew me only through the column. And that's all you'll be hearing from me on the subject."

Corum didn't lack material as he attempted to beat death to the final chapter of his book. He was still a student in college when he took time out to serve as an army private in the expeditionary force that fought against Pancho Villa in Mexico in 1916.

He quit school again when World War I broke out and later became the youngest major in the A.E.F. at the age of 23.

While serving with the famed 26th (Yankee) division in France, Corum received his degree from the University of Missouri. After the war, he studied at Columbia University before going to work for the New York Times in 1920.

When Matt Winn, the "father" of the Kentucky Derby, died in 1949, Corum was named to succeed him as president of Churchill Downs. He would take a leave of absence from the Journal-American each spring to help direct plans for the Derby.

Expressions of Cage Fans Mostly—GRRrrrr

Look at the facial expressions of basketball fans and one would almost believe they were in pain or they were waiting in line for a hypodermic needle.

Some fans appear to be raging with anger, others ready to cry.

Then we have a few loving expressions from the "dolls" who see their favorite 5-foot-6 player hook one over the head of his 6-foot-4 defender.

Last night's cage faces at the Rochester - Avondale basketball game were full of OOoooohhhhs, AAHHhhhs, BOOCoooos and YEEAaaas.

When it all ended, it was a sad night for the Avondale fans and the Yellowjackets and a happy one for Rochester and the unbeaten Falcons who won, 73-40.

Tickets to the 7th annual Motor City Basketball Tournament, Dec. 29-30, are available for today's Cage Faces.

Last Tuesday's Cage Ace was Larry Landon who is a 16-year-old Clarkston junior.

Today's Cage Faces must bring the clipping of their face in to The Pontiac Press Sports department by noon Friday to get their tickets.

Indians Rated No. 1 in First Poll of Season

Both Teams Have 3-0 Records; Chiefs Fifth in Rankings

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Basketball fans, take time out from your Christmas shopping because the top game in the state takes place Friday night at Pontiac Central gym.

Flint Central, the number one team in the state in the first basketball poll of the season, and Pontiac Central ranked 5th, will battle in a crucial Saginaw Valley Conference game.

Both teams are boasting 3-0 records, although Flint Central's victories appear to be more impressive. The Indians had little trouble in beating Bay City Handy, Lansing Eastern and Bay City Central.

PCH whipped a good Edsel Ford quintet, looked its best against Catholic Central and then took a squeaker from Saginaw Arthur Hill.

The Indians, coached by Joe Dowdy, went all the way to the state semifinals last March before bowing to Benton Harbor.

As defending champions of the Saginaw Valley Conference, the Indians appear to have the Braves to win it again despite the loss of All-Valley guard Felix Miller.

Marcellus Wilson, a 6-foot senior, has filled Miller's shoes with plenty to spare. Wilson started the second game for the first time and has hit for 11 and 20 points besides doing an outstanding job ball handling.

Seven lettermen are back for Flint Central including forward Dale Lucas, 5-10 senior guard along with Mel Thomas and J. L. Williamson.

Big man is 6-3 Keith Richardson, senior center, who has 41 points in three games. Behind him is another veteran, Duane Bates, also a 6-3 senior.

The Chiefs should be in good physical condition with the return of John Bandy after missing a game with an ankle injury. Bandy led the PCH scoring against Arthur Hill with 14 points.

Charley Barge, whose bucket in the last 30 seconds, was clincher last week, has piled up 60 points in three contests.

The classy little guard had his biggest night against Catholic Central when he poured through 29 points and he has a fondness for the PCH court where he hits well.

Tickets for Friday night's game have gone on sale at both Osmun's stores, downtown and Tel-Huron, and at the high school. General admission tickets will go on sale at 6:15 at PCH windows Friday night.

Browns Plan to Take to the Air

Plum Sharpens Arm for Playoff Against Giants

Tickets Put on Sale for NFL Title Game Dec. 28th

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, who open practice today for Sunday's return engagement with the New York Giants, probably will do more passing than they did last Sunday.

The Browns went to New York last Sunday expecting to throw more, but the weather, field conditions and the fact that they moved to the front early in the game altered plans.

"Actually we tried to throw about 15 passes, but only got 12 of them off," said Coach Paul Brown. "We had planned to throw about 20 times."

Brown's quarterback Milt Plum is one of the top passers in the National Football League. He wound up the season only a hair's breadth behind Eddie Lebaron of the Washington Redskins, with a 54 per cent completion record. LeBaron had a 54.5 per cent record.

Plum goes into Sunday's extra contest, made necessary when the Giants tied the Browns at the top of the league standings, with a regular season record of 102 completions in 189 tries for a total of 1,619 yards and 11 touchdowns.

The Browns announced they are putting tickets on sale for an NFL championship game here Dec. 28. The Browns have to defeat the Giants Sunday to get into the title game the following week against the Baltimore Colts. If the Browns lose Sunday they will refund the money for the title game.

9 of 12 Teams Air-Minded

NFL Is Passer's Delight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League is still a passer's league.

A look at the final regular season team statistics disclosed today that 9 of the 12 teams gained more yardage through the air than on the ground.

Only the New York Giants, Cleveland Browns and Washington Redskins found a running game more profitable than passing.

The Browns, mostly on the tremendous performance of bruising Jimmy Brown, outran every team in the pro league. Including Brown's record-shattering 1,527 yards, Cleveland rushed for 2,526 yards, while passing for 1,581 yards.

New York displayed a much more balanced offense, gaining 1,725 yards on the ground and 1,605 through the air. The Giants were the league's top defensive team against rushing, allowing opponents 3.6 yards per try, and against passing, allowing 45.7 of 311 passes thrown to be completed.

Washington, which had the top passer on the basis of per pass average in Eddie Lebaron, managed 1,977 yards on the ground as against 1,696 passing.

The Baltimore Colts led the league in total offense with 4,539 yards, fairly evenly balanced between 2,412 yards passing and 2,127 yards rushing.

Second in total offense was Los Angeles with 4,406 yards. The Rams passed for 2,672 and ran for 1,734. The Pittsburgh Steelers, amassing 683 yards in whipping the Chicago Cardinals last Saturday—second highest one game total in NFL history—vaulted into third place in total offense. The Steelers, revived by quarterback Bobby Layne, passed for 2,752 yards and gained 1,521 yards on the ground the past season.

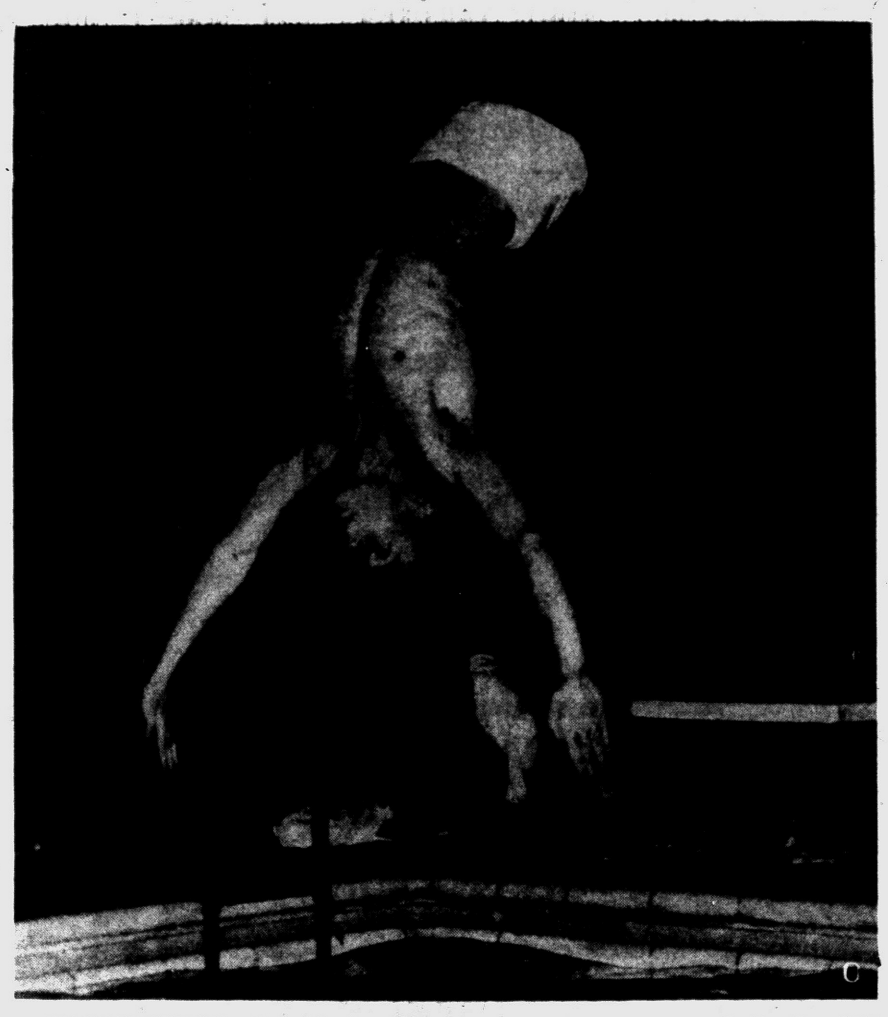

Other statistical champions:

Pittsburgh took passing honors with 2,752 yards to 2,697 for Philadelphia. San Francisco was the most accurate passing team with a 58.2 completion percentage to 53.4 for Cleveland.

Baltimore scored the most points with 381. Los Angeles was second with 344, followed by Cleveland with 302.

Washington won punting honors on a 45.4 average with New York second (44) and Detroit third (42.5).

WINS FOR HUSKIES — One of the three first place winners for PNH in yesterday's first formal sports engagement between PCH and the new Northern High, was Bill Ratliff, above, who won the diving with a nice performance. Bill was a 1957-58 Central letterman. Chiefs defeated Huskies 58-34.

Central Tankers Outswim Huskies

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac Northern swimmers, turned in a fine try, yesterday afternoon, but didn't "have the horses" to achieve a victory against Central splashers in the first formal sports encounter for the two schools.

Chiefs swamped the Huskies in the wash of seven first places that included a new pool and school record, for a 58-34 count. Meet was held in the Central pool. Northern's fine new Olympic-type "tank" still being in the process of construction.

Outstanding performance of the meet was Bruce Norvell's 1:11.0 victory, and record performance in the 100-yard breaststroke (orthodox). The flying Norvell clipped four-tenths of a second off the former record, which he set just a week ago.

A very smooth swimmer in his specialty, Bruce has all the attributes that make for outstanding performances. He has height, a powerful physique and good form, plus burning desire. "He sure has a fine future", Huskies' coach, Edwin Dauw, commented after yesterday's meet.

Gary Rose's (N) battle with Chiefs' Jim Gibbs in the individual medley, was another highlighted contest. The Northern lad battled stroke for stroke with Gibbs, with the Chief snatching victory at the finish. The time was fast, 1:22.1.

Huskies took three firsts. Bill Ratliff, himself a former Chief, winning the diving, placing 2nd back of John Blamy in the 100-yard backstroke. Rose won the butterfly and Huskies' freestyle relay team took the event on a forfeit.

The Winners:

40-yard freestyle—Barry Horst (C), 20.3 seconds.
100-yard butterfly—Gary Rose (N), 1:08.8.
200-yard freestyle—Ted Gaensbauer (C), 2:13.8.
100-yard backstroke—John Blamy (C), 1:09.9.
100-yard breaststroke—Bruce Norvell (C), 1:11.0 (record).
100-yard freestyle—Ron Hoekman (C), 58.8 seconds.
Diving—Bill Ratliff (N).
Indiv. medley—Jim Gibbs (C), 1:22.1.
160-yard medley relay—Chiefs, 1:29.3 (record).
160-yard freestyle relay—Northern (forfeit), Central disqualified, 1:39.5.

Young Meets Vasquez

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Eddie Perkins, back on television for the second time in five weeks, meets veteran Baby Vasquez tonight in a 10-round lightweight bout at Capitol Arena.

Perkins outpointed another more experienced hand, Frankie Ryff, in his TV debut last month but is rated a slight underdog to Vasquez.

Boxing fans may see how it all turns out on the usual Wednesday TV fight hookup (ABC, 10 p.m. EST).

Tom Taylor of Albion and Larry TerMolen have been named co-winners of the most valuable player award in the MIAA. Taylor is an end from Newberry. TerMolen is a tackle from Grand Rapids.

MSU 5 at Notre Dame for First Big Test

By United Press International

Michigan State's basketball team breathed a sigh of relief today as it left for South Bend to meet Notre Dame, MSU's oldest basketball rival:

Assistant coach Sonny Means said last night it appeared all players had made their grades and would be eligible for play during winter term.

Final exams for fall term classes were completed Monday and it will be several days before official grades are released.

Tonight's game will be the 77th between Michigan State and Notre Dame. Notre Dame has a 52-24 edge in the series that started in 1908.

With the tough Motor City tournament fast approaching, Detroit coach Bob Calihan's Titans have taken a backward step.

The predominately sophomore squad beat Assumption of Windsor, Ont., 77-50 in its opener Dec. 1 but last night had to rally to beat the Lancers 71-62 in a return engagement across the Detroit River.

In the other games on the night's card, Central Michigan took its second straight interstate conference victory with a 54-48 decision over Eastern Michigan. Detroit Tech beat neighboring Lawrence Tech 80-72, Kalamazoo whipped Manchester of Indiana 67-50.

In junior college games, Grand Rapids beat Bay City 83-71 and Flint downed Port Huron 85-80.

Assumption led the Titans 18-8 during the first half and held a 32-26 intermission lead before sophomore Larry Hughes sparked a second half comeback. Hughes netted 25 points in leading Detroit to its third victory in five starts and its 18th in succession over Assumption.

Central Michigan, which now is 5-2 for the campaign, led Eastern Michigan by 15 points with eight minutes to play in the first half but the Hurons kept whittling the margin and CMC took a 27-21 lead into the second half.

Gary Lee was high for Central and the game with 17 points. Ron Gulyans had 13 for Eastern Michigan.

Detroit Tech broke open its game with Lawrence Tech in the second half, spurting out to a 64-47 lead after being held at a 38-34 margin at the half.

Henry Pollard had 27 for Lawrence Tech and Mike Butka 24 for Detroit Tech. It gave Tech a 5-1 record and LIT is 3-2.

Writers Vote in Favor of 2-Point Conversion

By The Associated Press

College football's rules-makers made the first change in 46 years which affected scoring values when they adopted the somewhat controversial two-point conversion last January.

Today their action received a strong vote of approval from nearly 200 sports writers and broadcasters replying to the annual Associated Press post-season football questionnaire.

By a margin of about 5-2 the experts favored retaining the rule in its present form, although a few suggested some changes. And by an even greater margin they voted that the rule had achieved its purpose — at least in making the game more entertaining to spectators.

The rule adopted by the NCAA committee provided that two points are awarded for a successful running or passing play from the three-yard line after a touchdown and only one when the goal is kicked. It was greeted with some scepticism when it was passed and the professionals, most of the high schools and the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics refused to go along with it.

In the AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters, 133 said that the rule should be retained and only 51 voted to abandon it immediately. Nine grudgingly suggested giving it another year's trial.

Rochester Rips Avon; Clarkston Wins

Wolves Defeat Oxford 81-70 in Scoring Duel

Both Teams Red-Hot From Floor and Foul Line

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pro basketball followers were in their glory at Clarkston last night as the Wolves outlasted a fighting Oxford team 81-70 in a free-wheeling offensive battle.

"All I have to say is — Wow," said referee Lou Pacioni in a fitting description of the type of game the battle of area rivals was to watch.

The victors, who now are 3-1, hit a sparkling 47.3 per cent from the floor and 57.9 on fouls while Oxford connected for 45 per cent on field goal attempts and 69.6 from the free throw stripe.

Seven different players scored in double figures and all with good shooting averages. Doug Stott of Oxford led the pack with 26 Bill Powell, Clarkston's impressive sophomore, hit 21.

Despite its best overall showing yet, the home team did some sweating in the final period as Oxford sliced a 25-point lead to 11 before time ran out.

Clarkston had finished strong in the 1st half to lead 37-30 after trailing 22-20 at the end of the opening period. The Wolves pulled away fast following the intermission led by Dick Caverly, Powell and hard-working John Parks. The count was 69-44 with seven minutes to play when OHS caught fire again and made a game out of it.

Parks, trying hard to replace his graduated brother, Leroy, hit 17 points featuring 11 in the last half.

SOARING FALCON — Just like their nickname might suggest, jacknifing Gene Lothery (22) of the Rochester Falcons seems to be taking off and soaring through the air in a rebound struggle last night at Avondale. Walt Arnold of Avon tries to hinder Lothery's flight while Avon's Darrel Thorpe looks on. Rochester "flew" to a 73-40 rout of the Yellow Jackets.

Yellow Jackets 5th Victim for Falcons, 73-40

Everybody Sees Action as Unbeaten Rochester Rolls Along

By BILL CORNWELL

Avondale's Dick Bye must be wondering today if the time will ever come when his basketball team is on the long end of the score against Rochester.

Now in his 4th year as head coach at Avondale, Bye took his 5th crack at Gene Konley's Falcons last night on the Avon court and the result was the same— another thumping.

Bye has yet to see his cagers beat Rochester and yesterday's defeat was the worst one of all, a 73-40 massacre at the hands of the undefeated Falcons.

It was the 5th consecutive victory for Rochester, now a Class A school, and the 2nd loss in three games for Avon.

Officially notified Monday by the MHSAA that they had moved into the "A" ranks, the Falcons lived up to their new rating by playing a brand of basketball at least one class higher than their "B" opposition.

The Falcons turned in their greatest performance to date and the outclassed Yellow Jackets were never in the game.

Avondale couldn't make a field goal for nearly five minutes as Rochester piled up a 15-2 lead, then Gary Acker connected three straight times and Avon trailed at the end of a swift-moving 1st quarter, 19-12.

That seven-point deficit was as close as the Jackets ever came to catching the Falcons, who pulled steadily away while erecting a 34-19 halftime margin and a bulge of 51-27 entering the 4th period.

Konley emptied his bench in the final quarter and his 2nd and 3rd stringers enjoyed a 22-point spree, the most productive stanza of the evening. Fifteen players saw action for Rochester and 12 of them scored.

Rochester's passing was sharp and fast-breaking proved effective as the Jackets were completely outplayed in every respect.

Three Falcons hit double figures, with Bruce Ennis netting 13, Larry Hummel 11 and Gene Lothery 10. Avon's Darrel Thorpe took scoring honors with 14 points.

Waterford and Birmingham Lose

Waterford took a 60-39 battering at Dearborn Fordson while Southfield was squeezing by Birmingham 70-67 in an overtime battle in two of the top area basketball games last night.

In other action, Berkley stayed unbeaten by downing Ferndale 54-49, Brighton walloped Flint Mandeville 71-51, Lakeville tripped North Branch 68-61, Flint Kearsley nipped Lapeer 69-68, Warren handed Clawson its 3rd straight setback, 52-42 and Clarenceville romped over Wyandotte Schafer 56-29.

Barry Campbell split the nets for 17 points but the rest of the Skippers went stone cold in their 3rd defeat in as many games.

Fordson pulled away to a comfortable lead in the 3rd quarter after being held to a 27-20 halftime advantage.

The Birmingham loss came after the Maples had led all the way paced by Merv Gallop's 36-point performance.

Lanky Bob Filar, who had scored the winning points against Waterford Friday, did it again for Southfield. His field goal and foul clinched the issue in an overtime period which saw 15 points scored in three minutes.

Birmingham had leads of 31-22 at the half and 48-36 starting the last quarter. Dan Gillespie's jump shot with 20 seconds left tied the regulation game at 61-61. Two of Gallop's 15 baskets were in the extra period but they were offset by four converted free throws by Elmer Hill.

Tom Ridley paced the Southfield scoring with 19, Gillespie and Cliff Solberg had 15 apiece.

Berkley led all the way but never by a large margin, Dave Burris and Al Krumm sparked the 4th straight win with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Ferndale, now 0-2, was topped by sophomore Gary Burkhart, son of coach, Roy, with 15. Toy Palmer hit 14.

Behind by seven early and tied at the half, Brighton broke its game wide open with a 41-point last half for its 3rd success in four starts. Don Appleton hooped 23 and Jim Paddock 12 while three others contributed 11 each in a balanced attack.

North Branch got within four points in the closing minutes of play but Lakeville connected on some big foul shots to wrap up the verdict. Mike Ribner tallied 20 in the Broncos' 3rd loss in a row.

Lapeer, now 1-2, led twice by one point including one occasion in the final period but could not click consistently. Jerry Bennington hooped 22, Ed Marshall 16 and Butch McKillen 13.

A poor 3rd period was Clawson's downfall. Newton Acton was high with 13. Clarenceville had a breeze featuring Gene Scholes' 16 digits.

Holly Cagers Rally for City Loop Win

Winglemire's of Holly spotted Oliver Buick a 21-18 halftime lead, then came bouncing back for a 48-41 triumph in a Class C City League basketball game last night at Jefferson Junior High.

Winglemire's Amos Bradsher and Bob Kline of the Buick quintet shared scoring honors with 16 points apiece. Jim Jensen had 11 for the winners.

Roger Reynolds netted 21 points and teammate Earl Mudge added 17 as Town & Country defeated the Vikings 54-39 in another "C" contest. Jim Mathis tallied 17 in a losing cause.

In Class D games at Lincoln, Jarrett Dexter's 18 points sparked East Side to a 50-42 victory over the Pledges and Welden's trounced Pontiac Northern 50-17.

Dr. James Feurig, Michigan State's football team physician, played professionally with the Green Bay Packers when he was 18 and just out of high school.

Iba Beats Iba in 'Silver' Rivalry

By The Associated Press

Venerable Henry Iba may be celebrating his 25th year as basketball coach at Oklahoma State University, but his younger brother Clarence, Tulsa coach, already has spoiled Hank's Silver Anniversary season.

Tulsa turned back Oklahoma State 71-50 last night in the 69th renewal of their series and enabled 49-year-old Clarence to gain a measure of revenge over 54-year-old Henry.

Since Clarence took over at Tulsa in 1949-50, he has not fared too well in competition with his astute brother. The Cowboys had won 15 of the 18 previous meetings over Tulsa, including two victories last season.

Oklahoma State also boasts a big edge in the over-all rivalry of the schools, which began in 1915. Since that time the Cowboys have won 51 and Tulsa 18. This was only the seventh time in 50 games that the Hurricanes have been able to defeat a Hank Iba-coached Oklahoma State team.

Oklahoma State, which posted a 21-8 record last season, is 2-2 this year. Tulsa has won two of its three starts in 1958-59 after a dismal 7-19 campaign a year ago.

The Hurricane took the lead midway in the first half last night and remained in front the rest of the way. Roger Wendell topped the Tulsa scorers with 27 points.

West Virginia, ranked seventh, was the only top 10 team to see action last night. The Mountaineers rebounded from their upset at the hands of Virginia last Saturday, to crush Richmond 98-67. The victory was West Virginia's 40th straight in Southern Conference competition.

The Mountaineers spurted in the last five minutes of the first half after Richmond had kept within range. WVU outscored the Spiders 27-14 during the span to lead at halftime, 54-38.

Jerry West paced the winners with 29 points and Bob Smith contributed 23.

St. Joseph's, Pa., No. 14, outclassed Elizabethtown 94-69 for the Hawks' fifth triumph in a row after surviving a shaky start. Bill Pensyl of the losers captured scoring honors with 29 points while Bob Clarke's 15 were high for St. Joe's.

In other leading games Virginia Tech downed Furman 95-80 as Earl Gilbert hit for 32 points; San Francisco edged Wichita 47-46 to break a four-game losing streak; Gerry Glynn collected 33 points to spark Yale to a 76-73 Ivy League conquest over Brown; Loyola of Chicago posted its fifth consecutive triumph by shading Drake 74-71, and Oklahoma City rallied in the second half to whip North Texas State 70-56.

Elsewhere Memphis State coasted to a 74-42 success over Hardin-Simmons; reserve Dave Pierce sparked Baylor to a 65-58 win over Abilene Christian; Dick Jolley clicked for 19 points as Portland beat Washington of St. Louis 63-50; Canisius erupted in the second half to top Gannon 77-54; Rutgers upended Columbia 84-73; and Santa Clara defeated Houston 73-68.

Buffalo edged Rider, N.J., 62-57, host Quantico Marines trimmed Jacksonville 98-78; American U. walloped New Haven State 90-65; and Ball State squeezed past West Chester State 75-73 in first round games of the Quantico Christmas invitational. Ball State faces American and Quantico opposes Buffalo in tonight's semi-finals.

Host Western Carolina meets Catawba tonight in a game that could give WCC the championship of its holiday tourney. Rollins plays Tampa to complete the third night's pairing of the round-robin competition.

Western Carolina (2-0) defeated Tampa (1-1) 74-58 and Catawba (1-1) beat Rollins (0-2) 79-76 in last night's program. The team with the best record at the end of the tournament is the winner.

Olson Scores Freak TKO

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Bobo Olson, former world middleweight boxing champion, scored a freak technical knockout Tuesday night over Tommy Villa of San Jose, Calif. who refused to continue after being fouled.

Referee John Reno called the foul at 1:28 of the fifth round. He gave Villa a five-minute rest.

Inspectors Irv Dermer and Dick Hale of the California Athletic Commission said the verdict is subject to review and possible investigation. They said Reno's decision must stand. However, they added the California boxing code states no decision may be awarded on the basis of a low blow.

They said the commission will study the verdict and presumably verify it.

As the fans booed, Villa's corner said they would not let Tommy resume the fight. When the five minutes ended, Reno awarded Olson the TKO.

Villa, obviously inexperienced and floundering under the veteran Bobo's relentless infighting, was far behind on points. He had been down for an eight count in the fourth round.

Olson, now trying a comeback as a light heavyweight, weighed 175; Villa, 172. This was Bobo's third straight victory.

Runaway Cage Tilts in Waterford Loop

All contests were runaways last night at Isaac Crary Junior High gym as the Waterford Basketbal League wound up activity for a holiday recess. Loop play resumes Tuesday, Jan. 6.

In Class A, Drayton Drug's balanced attack routed Rocco's, 61-33, with Tom Stillwell high on 13 points. Cle Charboneau scored 15 in defeat.

The Waterford Faculty posted a 48-36 win over the unsponsored team in Class B action with Gene Nickman and Stu Thorrell each making 10 points. Ray Oates tallied 12 for the losers.

Clarence Beers went on a 27-point rampage as Ron & Don Service drubbed Northern Lumber, 45-22. Jim Ritchie made 11 in a losing cause.

State's Newest Ski Area Opens This Weekend

Michigan's newest ski area opens officially Saturday morning at Mt. Christie.

While primarily devoted to skiing, the new area will have additional facilities of three 700-foot concrete toboggan chutes with rope tow returns and will permit only the use of Mt. Christia toboggans.

For skiing, the slope itself is 174 feet high and will have a total run of 1200 feet. The run will be serviced by an 1100 foot poma lift and four double rope tows. The lift can handle 950 skiers per hour.

Sports Council Hears Ski Plans

MARQUETTE (AP)—The Upper Peninsula Winter Sports Council holds its first meeting Dec. 22 at Northern Michigan College.

Efforts to coordinate all the ski areas in the Upper Peninsula into an organized council unit will be discussed at the meeting.

Martin Isaacson, an official of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, said "the area operators are aware of a great need for a unified effort that will not only coordinate plans for advertising and public relations but also will handle ski condition information and stimulate ski development and local community education throughout the Upper Peninsula."

Multi-Lakes Names New Officers Today

Big business of the night will be election of officers for the ensuing year, and a full slate of candidates has been set up.

Weldon Payne, this year's prexy, is one of three seeking that office. Walter Peters and Stan Tusan are other candidates for the post.

Entertainment during the non-business session will include Howard Shelley's color film on a recent Alaskan expedition, with emphasis on spectacular fishing scenes.

Big Entry List Expected

PKC Show on Jan. 18

Preparations are complete for the annual winter all-breed dog show, under auspices of the Pontiac Kennel Club, and only the receipt of entries remains. Closing date is Jan. 6 and all listings must be in the hands of the show superintendent at that time.

Top show award will be The Pontiac Press best-in-show trophy.

It is hoped to have an entry as large, or larger than the record 537 that competed in last winter's event. Members of Pontiac Kennel club, as is their custom at all PKC shows, will abstain from entering any of their dogs.

Show is set for Jan. 18. Site is the same as a year ago. Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens street has again offered use of the spacious service area for the unbenched exhibition and obedience trial. The PKC show follows the Wayne County show on Saturday, Jan. 17, and large numbers of entries in that affair are expected to follow through here.

Judges have been selected, and their assignments have been fixed. They include many of the country's leading judges.

They are John C. Bryant of Battle Creek, Loy F. Green of Berea, Ohio, Mrs. Virginia Keckler of Greenville, Ohio; Mrs. J. P. Malley, Northville; Dr. A.A. Mitten, Rockhall, Md.; Alex Napier, Birmingham; Mrs. Virginia Oberley, Chagrin Falls, Ohio; and Lewis S. Worden of Jersey City, N.J.

Charles Williams is show committee chairman, assisted by PKC prexy Volney Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. George Lawler, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. King, Frank Grant, and Alan Reekie, chairman of the obedience division.

Classes include all regular competitive groups, in all breeds and varieties. Dog fanciers will see all the usual breeds, with many unusual and interesting varieties among the big entry. In last year's show there were the Basenjis, Salukis, Viszlas, Malamutes, Eskimos, Danes, Siberian huskies, affenpinschers, tiny Chihuahuas, Pekingese, and Manchesters, bulldogs, chows, poodles, the papillon (butterfly dog), and many others. All will probably be represented again.

Last year's best-in-show winner was a great little Lakeland (Airdale) terrier, Westcrag Warrior, owned by Kerryall Kennels of San Francisco.

Views of Boating People Sought on Registry Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has solicited the views of boating interests on a new plan to register millions of motorboats in much the same fashion as automobiles.

Only 477,000 boats are now registered. The scope of the program is being expanded in the hope of promoting greater boating safety.

The Merchant Marine Council, an arm of the coast guard, scheduled a public hearing on proposed regulations to implement a new registration law which congress passed last summer.

National associations representing motorboat operators and manufacturers of boats and engines were expected to present their reactions. The council will take the testimony into account before making recommendations to the Coast Guard.

Congressional sources said as many as 3½ million motorboats may be subject to registration under the new law.

There are about seven million power boats in the country, but many are exempt because of size or because they aren't operated in interstate waters.

The law applies to all boats, regardless of size, which are powered by motors of more than 10 horsepower. The old registration law affected all inboard motorboats but excluded outboards of less than 16 feet in length.

The new law excludes foreign vessels, federal ships, state and municipal vessels and lifeboats. In addition, the proposed coast guard regulation would exempt vessels used exclusively for racing.

Congress has given the states until April 1, 1960, to adopt the new registration system. If a state doesn't act by then, the Coast Guard will handle registrations in that state.

The law authorizes the Coast Guard to impose civil penalties for reckless or negligent operation of vessels, including pleasure craft of all types.

The regulations would set up this schedule of fees for registrations issued by the Coast Guard: $5 for an original registration, $3 for a renewal, and $1 for a re-issue of a lost or destroyed certificate.

States participating in the program can fix their own fees.

Hunters Get 60 Elk

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Sixty elk were taken by 101 hunters in the Pecos hunt. Leon Lee, game management chief, says the 60 per cent hunter success is phenomenal. Half of the elk taken were under three years old, indicating a tremendous production.

Gifts for Outdoorsmen Should Be Top Quality

By JACK PATTERSON

John Ruskin once said: "There is hardly anything in the world that some men cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper and the people who consider price only are this man's lawful prey." This view is as applicable today as it was when written some 75 years ago and should serve as useful advice to today's Christmas shopper. Good grade equipment for the sportsman is designed to last a lifetime, or more, and therein lies its real economy. Quality gear from an established dealer is the first step in planning a happy life afield or afloat.

PATTERSON

Since manufacturers have failed to introduce anything new and startling this season a list for benefit of gift-minded shoppers offers the basic equipment for the year-around Michigan sportsman.

Taking the seasons in order, it has:

(1) The Ice Fisherman. Must have: Heavy underwear, warm and windproof outer clothing, insulated boots, tip-ups, ice-fly rods, flies (he can arrange for his own live bait), spud. Could use: Canvas ice shanty, stove for same, anything else portable that adds comfort to temporary life on the ice, and a spear for pike.

(2) The Trout Fisherman. Must have: Fly rod, reel, tapered, line, leaders, flies, waders, landing net, creel, knife-and-scissor combination. Could use: extras of everything, plus a thousand and one accessories, useful or otherwise.

(3) Warm Water Fisherman. Must have: Spinning or casting or fly rod and reels, plugs, spinners, tackle box, boat net, rain gear, new casting or spinning lines (always). Could use: Boat, motor, trailer, and the host of things that go with such a rig.

(4) Upland Hunter. Must have: Shotgun, preferably light, open bore for grouse, woodcock, snipe, tighter bored 12 for pheasants, prairie grouse, sleeveless hunting jacket, one with sleeves for cold or rain, hunting pants, leather boots, compass, gun cases, wool shirts, ammunition bag or box. Could use: Leather-faced pants for briars, thermos kits, rain shirt, rubber boots (short) for wet mornings, endless pairs of wool socks.

(5) The Duck Hunter. Must have: In addition to above, decoys, hip boots, flashlight, flask. Could use: duckboat, sneak boat, other specialized craft, more decoys, anything that adds to comfort in exposed, offshore location.

(6) The Deer Hunter. Must have: Rifle—any of the "thirty-calibres" from .30-.30 to .300 mag. suitable with .308 or .30-'06 may be most popular. Wool coat and pants, hat and gloves, in red, or preferably yellow, with rain cape to match. Insulated footwear, compass, binoculars or rifle scope, knife. Could use: Deer hoist, "hot-seat," deer carrier, rifle sling, playing cards, money.

Equipped as above, the sportsman is ready for most any opportunity for fun outdoors that may present itself throughout the year.

DUCK STAMP — Here's the design that has been chosen for the 1959-60 migratory bird hunting stamp. The drawing of a handsome Labrador retriever was created by Maynard Reece of Des Moines, Ia. Its selection was announced by the Department of the Interior.

Harold Smith Is Named Prexy for Coon Hunters

Annual report from members of the Pioneer Coon Hunters Association, showed the group took 282 raccoons during the last year's hunting. Then, to top off the season, between 90 and 100 followers of the nocturnal sport, and their guests, participated in a banquet at which the feature was roast coon.

Dinner was held at Bald Eagle Inn, on the shore of Bald Eagle Lake, at Ortonville. The meal called for preparation of 38 tender young coons, with all the traditional trimmings.

The annual bag of raccoon averaged about 16.6 per hunter for the Pioneers. This sportsman group is one of the most venerable, active body of outdoorsmen in the area.

Election of 1959 officers and some excellent movies of hunting with various breeds of dogs, deer hunting and big game hunting followed dinner.

Harold Smith of Pontiac is the new president, succeeding John Feldman of Lake Orion, now a director. Other officers are: vice president, Jack Hamilton of Ortonville; secretary-treasurer, Lewis M. Wrenn of Pontiac; Freeman Peace of Holly, Carl Kennady of Oakwood, Ernie Lattimer of Drayton Plains, James Berden of Pontiac and Ralph Claycomb, Oxford, are the other directors.

Fewer Hooks on Lures

LANSING — Proposed legislative changes headlined Conservation Commission action during its December meeting in Lansing.

Included among the list of recommendations to the Legislature is a regulation which restricts use of more than one single pointed hook to manufactured artificial bait. It further authorizes the department to designate waters in which this type of lure would be unlawful during certain periods of the year. The ultimate aim is to eliminate illegal snagging and injury to fish.

Other approved law changes; call for adjustments governing northern pike, pike-perch and muskellunge seasons, authorize the Department to designate waters for legal rainbow trout fishing during the winter and expand the Department's authority to permit fishing, irrespective of seasons, species or lakes, where winter kill occurs or threatens.

The Commission also supported a legislative proposal to establish a Department-directed gun safety training program aimed at minimizing firearm accidents by young hunters.

That's Fishing for You

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — Baines Kerr cast for hours without getting so much as a nibble while fishing.

Complete whipped, he tossed out the lure and handed the rod to his 5-year-old daughter, Suzanne.

She started reeling in the lure and hooked a 2-pound bass.

Cheaper for Women

HARTFORD — Connecticut fishing licenses for women cost less money than those that are issued to the men.

Winter Sports Under Way

Hardy Anglers Find Ice-Fishing Is Good

Just about the earliest ice-fishing in many years is giving area sportsmen plenty of action, according to reports from observers on Oakland county's myriad lakes.

Buf, while ice is reported from three to five inches thick on most of the shallower lakes, fishermen are warned to check the frozen surfaces before venturing far from safety near shorelines. Recent below-freezing weather has added much to the thickness of the frigid coat, and a few more days of near-zero temperatures should make things OK, on most lakes.

Pontiac Lake, among others, has been producing good-sized bluegill and perch. Big perch, from eight to 12 inches long, in heavy quantities, have been taken at Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair. Ice at the beach is from five to seven inches thick on the lagoons, canal and Black River, directly adjoining the park.

There's good fishing, skating and tobogganing at Kensington Metropolitan Park, at New Hudson, park officials report.

Metropolitan Beach has set Jan. 24 for the 7th annual ice fishing derby, a perch-fishing contest in which many awards are given for a number of divisions of competition.

40 Per Cent Gain in Forest Fires Over 1957 Total

LANSING — A recent field administration division report reveals that 1,247 forest fires have burned 11,500 acres this year.

This represents a 40 per cent increase above the total in 1957 when 743 fires damaged 6,355 acres.

The state's principal trouble area was in the northern Lower Peninsula where 741 fires — two less than the 1957 statewide sum — ravaged 7,435 acres.

Ski Lodge Enlarged at Porcupine Area

LANSING — An enlarged warming lodge, widened trails and a popular double T-bar lift will feature the ski scene at the Porcupine Mountains state park when the season opens Dec. 20.

Spurred by the ski area's 40 per cent increase in use last season, the lodge was enlarged during the off-season to provide new sanitary facilities and expansion of a first aid room, ski shop, repair room and storage room.

Foundry 350 Years Old

Old German Firm Busy Turning Out Church Bells

SINN, West Germany (AP)—Skilled German bellmakers, using the same techniques employed by their ancestors for centuries, currently are finding themselves busier than anyone can remember.

One of the oldest and largest bell foundries in West Germany is that of the Rincker brothers in the tiny village of Sinn, about 25 miles north of Frankfort. Rinckers have been making bells at least 350 years.

Since the end of World War II, the Rinckers have produced about 5,000 church bells, roughly as many as the family turned out in the 70 years preceding the war.

Wartime efforts to reclaim strategic copper and tin contained in big bronze bells accounts for a large part of the post-war bell-making boom.

It is estimated that the Nazis melted down about 150,000 bells during the war. Since the war, the entire German bell industry has replaced only about 25,000.

Bells are traditional victims of war but despite all the wars of the past three centuries, there are still 49 bells in existence known to have been made by the Rincker family between 1590 and 1800.

The family assumes the 1590 bell, which still hangs in the church at nearby Netphen, was not the first to be made by a Rincker but there is no sure record of an earlier one.

The Rincker foundry is run by two brothers, Fritz and Curt Rincker. Fritz's son, Hans, is expected to carry on in the next generation.

The method of casting a bell at the Rincker foundry has changed little in the past 3½ centuries, except that overhead cranes, a modern oil furnace and other devices make the job a little easier.

But the making of the crucial brick and clay model is done just as it was centuries ago. A wooden "profile" swung on a central pivot guides the mason in building up the mold.

First the inside form of the bell is shaped. This is coated with grease and a second layer of clay forms the shape of the bell itself. A third outer mold is next built up and when all three are dried, the second layer is chipped away to form the hollow part of the mold.

The clay mold is then buried in a deep pit right in front of the furnace with earth packed tightly around to keep it from breaking when the molten metal is poured.

The bells are 78 per cent copper and 22 per cent tin. The price depends partly on the going costs of these metals. During the Korean war, bell metal shot up to around $1.40 a pound. Now, it is about 36 cents a pound.

Most Rincker bells go to German communities, as did the six-ton bell poured last January which was registered as the foundry's 10,000th bell. Actually the Rinckers have poured many more than 10,000 bells but the family began counting them only in 1868.

There are a few Rincker bells in American churches—including one recently shipped to Colman, Neb. The U.S. market, where domestic or Belgian bells seemed to be preferred, is a hard one to crack, says Rincker business manager Hans Krueger.

"And this is a little hard to understand, too," he adds, "because our prices for delivery in the United States are more favorable than those of either American or Belgian producers.

"The bell business is unusual, though. Maybe the trouble is that we've been quoting prices so low, that no one has faith in them."

Control for Smokers Tells Candid Opinion

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — A Winter Haven resident, W. O. Kinnebrew, has patented a cigarette case that helps the owner cut down on smoking by letting him take out a cigarette only at pre-set intervals. The user can set the intervals to suit himself.

Chrysler Strike Peace Distant

No Substantial Gain Reported After Talks on 16-Day Shutdown

DETROIT (AP)— The stubborn, stalemated strike at Chrysler's Dodge Main plant went into its 16th day today without promise of early peace.

Negotiations in the production rates dispute resumed yesterday after a day and a half suspension. But a company spokesman reported "no substantial progress." More talks were set for today.

As Chrysler's national idleness mounted from layoffs, the United Auto Workers Union began paying its initial strike benefits.

The 7,100 Dodge Main strikers, whose walkout now has led to total idleness of 42,720, are drawing weekly benefits ranging from $12 to $22, depending on family status.

Chrysler, blaming a continuing parts shortage from the key Dodge supplier plant, laid off another 1,280 men at Detroit and in Ohio and Canada.

In addition to its Chrysler striker benefits, the big auto union announced a special Christmas week strike benefit plan which could amount to an outlay of $800,000.

The union said it will pay out an additional $10 to any member on strike during Christmas week. It estimated it has 80,000 members now on strike at various places.

Hungry Culprits, 5 and 8, Guilty of 15 Break-Ins

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Marvin Phillips reported 15 break-ins at his home during the past month.

Each time only food was taken Valuables were ignored.

Two sisters, aged 5 and 8, rocks clenched in their tiny hands, were caught just as they prepared to smash a window and enter the house.

They told officers: "We're hungry. Daddy is in jail. Mother doesn't have a job."

The deputies released the youngsters to their mother and made this notation on their report: "We'll leave final judgment to the juvenile officers."

Wheat, Corn Futures Weak

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn futures were weak but other grains and soybeans were steady to easier today in early transactions on the Board of Trade.

The weakness in wheat and corn reflected trade disappointment, brokers said, at the government report showing smaller amounts than expected going into government loan during the past month.

However, soybean impoundings were equal to or a little better than some expectations.

Near the end of the first hour all plus sides had been wiped out. Wheat was ⅜ to 1 cent a bushel lower, December $1.94½; corn ¼ to ⅝ lower, December old type contract $1.13¼; oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, December 66¼; rye unchanged to ⅝ lower, December $1.33; soybeans ¼ to ½ lower, January $2.16¾.

Market Shows Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market managed a slight edge to the upside in active early trading today but there were many losses.

Key issues rose fractions to a point while declines were in about the same range. A scattering of selected issues was strong.

Gains of about 2 points by Reynolds Metals and Lorillard highlighted the early phase. American Motors continued in brisk demand and rose about a point. American Telephone continued to forge ahead with a gain of about 2 to another 28-year high.

Losses peppered nonferrous metals, oils, tobaccos, airlines, chemicals and motors. Scattered gainers in these groups as well as a rising trend among steels, electronics and utilities pushed the market ahead.

With the market at a record high as measured by the Associated Press average and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, it was heavy going to penetrate further into a supply of stocks for sale at relatively high prices. The overall business news background continued good.

Small gains were posted by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Ford, Goodrich, Boeing, Radio Corp., Raytheon, Southern California Edison, Eastman Kodak, Hupp, Northern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio.

Moderate losses were taken by General Motors, Chrysler, Kennecott, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, General Electric, International Paper, Texas Co., Standard Oil (New Jersey), Liggett & Myers and Merck.

Concern Rises on Speculation

But Exchange Prexy Says Mart Not Going at Perilous Pace

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—With the stock market moving into the newspaper front pages, more and more persons are becoming anxious today lest its exuberance be leading us into trouble.

Bull markets and large daily turnover of stocks reflect the public interest. The Federal Reserve Board has indicated its concern lest speculative psychology based on expectations of future inflation may be fed by the Wall Street story.

The bulls kept going strong early in the year when the recession was at its worst. They kept going during the first weeks and months of rapid recovery. They have scarcely slackened their pace in recent weeks when the recovery momentum slowed down.

They express confidence that after the present backing and filling while stock portfolios are readjusted for tax purposes at yearend, the market will be lively and tending higher.

Is the stock market — which started upward long before recovery—setting the pace for the economy? Is it going too fast and getting too far ahead?

"The market is not setting the pace for the economy, but merely reflects what is occurring elsewhere," he tells the Minneapolis Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He admits that the stock market's activity has indicated a deep concern over the prospect of continued inflation. But he points out: "Whether or not such fear is unreasonable, as some government experts and economists would have us believe, is beside the point. Such fear does exist and it will take more than words to alleviate it."

Instead of accusing the stock market of fostering inflation by pumping up inflation psychology, he urges that the roots of the evil be attacked.

He says: "The only answer to inflation is fiscal responsibility. We must impress on government authorities at all levels our sense of shock at higher and higher spending. And we must recognize that more efficient production is the only sound means of raising wages."

Market analysts have pointed out that the bull market has other elements than just fear of more inflation. One often cited is the thinness of the market. By this they mean that while by the end of this year some five billion shares will be listed on the exchange—a record number — the vast majority aren't up for trading. The comparatively small amounts that are available help their owners to ask and get higher prices.

The reason usually cited for the reluctance of many shareholders to sell is that the capital gains tax levy leads investors to lock up billions of dollars worth of stock rather than pay the tax levied on successful investments.

Corporations have been slow in issuing new stock, turning instead to raising money by various forms of borrowing. The interest they pay on this debt can be deducted from earnings before taxes.

Also since earnings are taxed, and then dividends paid out of profits are taxed to a large extent as individual income, corporations feel that debt financing costs its stockholders less than new stock issues would.

Funston says the evils are inflation fears and taxes—not his exchange.

Broader Scope Ahead in Ads

MacManus President Sees New Products, Services by 1968

A major portion of the advertising of 10 years from now is likely to be concerned with products or services which do not exist today, Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc, told media executives stationed in the Detroit area.

Fifty newspaper, magazine, television and radio advertising managers met with MJ & A officers at Bloomfield Hills Country Club for the third annual Christmas luncheon sponsored by the advertising agency.

For the immediate future Jones said he believed that 1959 will be a good year "with business stabilized slightly above current levels and the national economy on a steady rise paced by automobiles and other durable goods."

"I believe 1959 will be a year of gathering momentum . . . a genuine boom years appear likethreshold to the sixties when," he said.

Month's Auto Production Can Be Best in 2 Years

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry has a 600,000 passenger car output virtually assured for this month. Already more than half that number of cars have been assembled.

If the 600,000-unit figure is reached it would be the first such month in nearly two years. American factories built 641,591 cars in January a year ago. Some industry sources are saying December output may even go as high as 625,000 cars.

The latter figure would be easy of attainment if Chrysler, plagued by work stoppages and parts shortages through most of the early part of the month, could gain momentum.

Helping the production upsurge this month have been record-smashing performances by Chevrolet and, in lesser degree, American Motors boosted its record to 8,000 units.

Throughout the industry daily overtime and Saturday operations have been the rule.

The expanded assembly line activities were initiated primarily to build up dealer inventories. These had dropped to a low level because of production cutbacks and a better-than-expected cleanup of outgoing models at the retail level.

Meanwhile, retail deliveries of the 1959 models have been moving upward. Nobody in top industry quarters will say a sales boom is under way. Most industry executives are holding to earlier predictions of a 5½ million car sales year in 1959.

Some sources say the car industry's recovery will be a gradual one. It will be aided, they say, by a larger than normal replacement demand.

Along with the year's best production month December also should be the industry's best sales month of 1958. Total deliveries generally are expected to number half a million units, including about 36,000 imported cars.

Retailers delivered 510,442 new cars in December last year, but in no month since then has the total reached the half million mark.

The biggest sales month in auto industry history was June 1955 when approximately 680,000 units were delivered. In March 1955 the industry built nearly 795,000 cars. Prior to that the greatest number of cars built in a single month was 717,000 assembled in June 1950.

No industry authority expects 1959 to bring a 700,000-unit production month. Most analysts agree, however, that several 600,000 car months will be needed to provide a 5½ million unit year. They take into account here the fact that the model changeover period, usually September-October, will sharply reduce overall output.

Industry experts know things happen quickly and suddenly in the automotive market. So they are not counting out the possibility of a spring boom. But they have guessed wrong so frequently through 1958 that they are becoming cautious.

And they are not too certain as to the penetration of imported cars in the U. S. market next year. Close to 400,000 foreign-made cars will be delivered in this country this year. Next year's total easily could go to 600,000.

No City Teamsters Called in Flint Arson Examination

No members of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 have been included in a list of some 30 witnesses subpoenaed to testify in the examination tomorrow of Jack D. Thompson, accused of arson in the death of Frank Kierdorf.

Several 614 members, including Leaun Harrelson, local president, were questioned last August as police sought some link between them and the mystery of the Flint Teamsters agent's torch death.

Among those scheduled to testify on the opening day of the examination in Flint Municipal Court tomorrow morning are three nurses and a doctor from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here and five members of the Pontiac police force.

Kierdorf was left off at the Pontiac hospital in the early morning hours of Aug. 4 after police said he suffered head-to-toe burns in trying to burn down the Latreille Cleaners' shop outside Flint.

Subpoenas yesterday were served on:

Mary Medina, practical nurse at the hospital, who first saw Kierdorf try to enter a locked side door and then come to the front door. She said she also saw two men drive off in a black car after leaving Kierdorf off.

Ann Mae Mullins, night supervisor in the emergency ward, who administered first aid to the critically-burned man.

Mrs. J. C. Greene, director of nursing service, who was asked by Miss Mullins to assist her in emergency after she noted the seriousness of Kierdorf's burns.

Dr. N. F. Gehringer, who treated what he called the worst case of burns he had ever handled.

Patrolman Ray E. Denton, who took Kierdorf's fingerprints, which hours later resulted in his identification and the start of a case which was to attract nationwide interest.

Detective Robert M. Wachal, who transferred evidence, such as Kierdorf's clothing, to a Detroit crime laboratory for analysis.

Others subpoenaed were Lt. William F. Nesbitt, in charge of patrolmen Fred A. Stormer and Karl D. Kilmer.

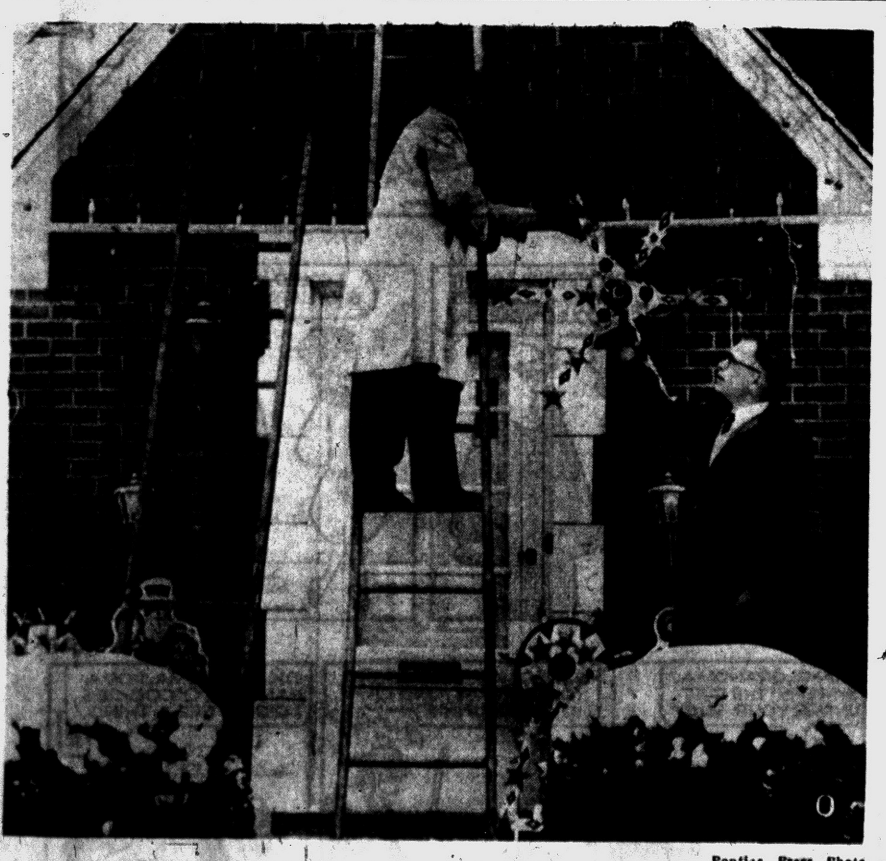

Jerome F. O'Rourke, Genesee County prosecutor who will handle the case against Thompson, said Kierdorf's uncle, Herman, is not included on the subpoena list.

Herman became a suspect in the burning of his nephew when he disappeared for 13 days after identifying Frank at the hospital.

Thompson, 41, a fellow Teamster business agent of Frank's with the Flint Local 332, is free on a $1,500 bond after being arrested last Friday for arson.

His examination is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow before Flint Municipal Judge Donald R. Freeman.

Eastman Cites Improvements

been carried out to assist in determining training needs, aptitudes and special interests, and to assist in making special assignments.

Training for police officers of all ranks is scheduled to begin in January. All patrolmen will receive two full weeks of in-class instruction during the early months of 1959.

Sergeants will receive three weeks of training.

Special training is being planned for detectives.

A special police library is being developed to provide research material for the planning, research and training unit and to make available to all officers adequate study materials.

Preliminary study is being carried on to establish an adequate police manual outlining responsibilities, duties, policies, procedures, tactics and regulations consistent with legal regulations and police objectives.

Continual studies are being made to determine levels of efficiency and production of police officers in all phases of their work.

PRACTICES BEING AVAILABLE

Eastman said he has adopted a practice of "being available" to all police officers and citizens.

"This has resulted in the elimination of many minor complaints on the part of the police," he said, "and has resulted in correcting many complaints made by citizens.

"Extensive publicity covering the police has encouraged many citizens to make constructive suggestions, to offer help and to complain against certain conditions," Eastman said.

Studies of the main-desk operations resulted in the reassignment of 832 tours of duty a year to field work with a reduction in overhead costs of $16,374 a year, he said.

A special downtown area traffic control detail was established to answer the critical and special traffic problems incident to the Christmas season.

Regular off-duty police officers have been employed at straight time to avoid depletion of normal service, Eastman said.

Every effort has been made, he reported, to assist the Municipal Court in resolving mutual problems in moving the Violations Bureau from the control of the Police Department to that of the Municipal Court.

On vice repression, Eastman said:

"Police objectives have been carefully established.

"Necessary policies and procedures are being established. Although problems have arisen in this area of our work since the establishment of the objectives, they have been tactical problems which are subject to prompt correction.

"Of utmost importance to us has been an insistence that our operation be entirely legal and beyond that, ethical.

"Adherence to a strictly legal approach to vice repression and other police problems will have the ultimate result of confidence on the part of the public in our intentions and in our program, and will tend certainly to instill pride of service in our personnel."

Eastman said that critiques and review meetings will automatically follow all major events of consequence — including traffic problems resulting from unusual weather conditions, raids, parades, and other special crime problems.

Whenever arrests are made involving unusual circumstances or, large numbers of people, the assistant city attorney will be called immediately, Eastman said.

It will be his job to review the actions taken by police to make sure officers comply with the police department's own policy of legal and ethical enforcement activity.

Must thought has been given toward developing an adequate morale and disciplinary program, Eastman said.

Items under consideration include standard policy on pay raises; encouraging personnel suggestions for improved service; and full personnel participation in solving certain kinds of police problems, such as selection of new police uniforms.

Others are screening of all personnel files to remove extensive material from them and to make them up-to-date reflections of each man's service record, and a formal ceremony for personnel promotions.

Eastman said he would strive to establish "proper" relations between police employe organizations and police command personnel.

He is also considering a program to provide special recognition to employes who have given special and meritorious service.

A reorganization plan for the department will be completed by March 15, Eastman reported to Willman. It will indicate the new structure of the police force and command supervisory positions required.

"The changes will be substantial and significant," Eastman told the city manager.

'Like to Fainted When They Told Me It Was 4'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Delano Currington, 20, a Navy machinists mate, expected multiple offspring, but...

"I like to fainted when they told me it was four."

The quadruplets were born Tuesday to his wife Mae, 22.

They already had three sons and a daughter ranging from 7 years to 20 months.

Her quads were two boys weighing 4 pounds, 6 ounces each; another boy 4-11; and a daughter, 2-11. All were reported in excellent condition.

Multiple births are nothing new to Mrs. Currington.

She has 13 brothers and 12 sisters.

Bus Fares Going Up

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Grand Rapids bus fares will go up a nickel tomorrow. The City Commission yesteday suspended rules to increase fares from 20 to 25 cents a ride and reduced the franchise fee paid by the Grand Rapids City Coach Lines, Inc., from $6,000 to $1.

Miami Snow Too High

MIAMI (UPI) — The temperature was 60 degrees yesterday, but there was a snowstorm here. The weather bureau said a heavy snowstorm raged over the city at 25,000 feet — but the snow became rain by the time it reached the streets.

Minister Travels Quietly in Iraq

U.S.'s Rountree Confers With Premier Kassem on Controlling Reds

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—The angry mobs were missing as William Rountree, assistant U. S. secretary of state, drove through Baghdad to confer with Iraqi officials Tuesday. But local newspapers kept up their attacks on the United States.

Organized mobs shouted "Go home" and hurled mud, eggs and stones at the flag-flying limousine of the U. S. Embassy when Rountree arrived Monday on a fact-finding tour of the Middle East.

The visitor traveled in an embassy station wagon without a flag Tuesday and was virtually unnoticed as he was driven to a midday conference with Premier Abdul Karim Kassem.

He talked for more than an hour with the Premier, who led the revolt last summer in which King Faisal and pro-Western Premier Nuri Said were slain. The government and the U. S. Embassy refused to give any information about what was discussed or the atmosphere of the talk.

(Rountree obviously is trying to determine whether Kassem — known as an anti-Communist himself—will be able to control the Iraqi Communists, whose influence has been increasing steadily. The American official also is trying to size up the likelihood of Iraq remaining in the Western-sponsored Baghdad Pact, toward which Kassem's clique has been silent since it took over.)

Rountree got better acquainted with Iraq's new regime at a dinner at the embassy attended by a cross-section of Kassem's Cabinet. Persons present said things went most pleasantly and that the dinner was a working party rather than a social affair.

The Premier, who rarely attends such functions, was not present.

Rountree is scheduled to leave Thursday.

Police Report to Save $$

The Sherry report on Police Department records may save the city about $15,000 a year, City Manager Walter K. Willman told city commissioners last night.

"The cost of the report was money well spent considering the long-range savings," he said.

The report, prepared by Capt. R. T. Sherry of the Berkeley (Calif.) Police Dept., said Pontiac police were keping too many records.

"They use more forms (265 of them) than the Los Angeles Police Department," said Sherry, an expert in his field.

Willman said the cost of hiring Sherry was $750 salary plus $390 expenses. The city manager said he authorized expenditure of the money out of funds budgeted for the Police Department.

In other business, Willman said he would send the Planning Commission a report from the State Highway Department approving trunkline relocations suggested by the Barton report.

Most of the Barton report recommendations — including redesignation of U.S. 10 (Saginaw street) to conform with the proposed downtown loop highway — were acceptable to the highway department, Willman said.

Still being negotiated, he said, are redesignation of M59 from Huron street to Elizabeth Lake road and M218 from Orchard Lake avenue to South boulevard.

Through trunkline redesignation, state funds will become available for construction recommended by the Barton report, Willman said.

Two zoning changes were approved. One rezones one and a half lots on Ypsilanti avenue west of the Baldwin avenue alley from residential to personal service for a headquarters building for the Metropolitan Club.

The other rezones 719 W. Huron St. from residential to commercial 1 for the benefit of Fox Cleaners, which has been located there in a nonconforming zoning status.

Despite opposition, a hearing was set for Jan. 13 on a proposal to rezone nine lots north of Columbia avenue along the western side of the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad from residential to commercial 1.

WAREHOUSE PLANNED

A beer distributor's warehouse is planned for the site. Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Wesley J. Wood opposed it.

Miles and Wood also opposed granting approval for the owners of a tavern at 1225 Baldwin Ave. to add a beer cooler to their establishment. But the commission gave approval, 5 to 2.

Four more persons showed up in the audience to complain of police treatment during the numbers racket raid Dec. 5.

Noting that the raid was now a subject for Municipal Court, commissioners took no action.

Polynesian Santa Travels by Canoe

Whether Santa Claus is a parka-clad Eskimo in Alaska or a grass-skirted Fiji Islander, Christmas is a gala time in the Pacific. Although customs are as varied as the scenery from one end of the Pacific to the other, holiday hospitality knows no bounds.

Christmas in Hawaii, for example, is a gay, tropical affair with Santa Claus arriving by outrigger canoe or surfboard. Imported fir trees are decked with tropical fruits and flowers, and the traditional carols are sung to the accompaniment of the ukelele.

The islands, by the way, have their own holiday song called "Mele Kalikimaka" — simply a Polynesian way of saying Merry Christmas.

Turks Set Air Record

ANKARA — Passenger planes of the Turkish Airlines flew 4,460,000 miles in 1957, an increase of 33.6 per cent over 1956 and a new record. The number of passengers carried climbed to 329,000, a 63 per cent gain over the year before. And income rose 59 per cent, from $4,950,000 to $7,870,000.

STARS OF 'THE HASTY HEART' — Jackie Cooper, Barbara Bel Geddes and Don Murray are the stars of John Patrick's Broadway hit, 'The Hasty Heart,' to be presented as the Du Pont 'Show of the Month' Thursday, Dec. 18 from 9:30 to 11 p. m. on CBS-TV. Cooper plays an American GI, Miss Bel Geddes a nurse, and Don Murray is Lachie, a humorously incorrigible Scotch sergeant. The trio find themselves together in a British field hospital in Burma during World War II.

Jackie Cooper, 2 Others Star

Don Murray Is 'Lachie' Barbara Bel Geddes a Nurse in War Drama

NEW YORK — Barbara Bel Geddes and Jackie Cooper join Don Murray in the starring cast of "The Hasty Heart," John Patrick's heartwarming Broadway success, Thursday, Dec. 18, on the CBS television network's Du Pont "Show of the Month" from 9:30 to 11:00 p.m.

Miss Bel Geddes will play Margaret, the understanding nurse in a British military hospital hut near the Burmese border during World War II.

Jackie Cooper will portray Yank, the American among the six soldier-patients. Don Murray will star as Lachie, the proud Scottish sergeant who is assigned to this ward-hut, unaware that he has but a few weeks to live.

The touching drama depicts Lachie's rejection of his ward-mates' friendship and the love of the nurse — until his companions, headed by Yank, turn on him and show him what he has thrown away.

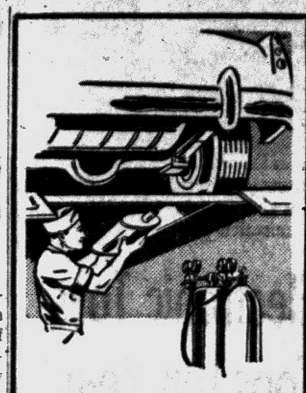

Gordon Duff produces and Tom Donovan directs "The Hasty Heart."

Miss Bel Geddes, one of Broadway's most talented and attractive stars, has appeared on the New York stage in such hits as "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "The Moon Is Blue." She has starred in television's top dramatic series and in numerous motion pictures.

Jackie Cooper, long a popular movie star, is also a television favorite for his dramatic roles as well as for his appearances on such programs as "To Tell the Truth" and his own comedy series, "The People's Choice."

Don Murray, the son of a former Ziegfeld Girl and a Broadway stage manager, made his Broadway debut as the sailor in "The Rose Tattoo" and played a prominent role in "The Skin of Our Teeth," with Helen Hayes and Mary Martin, before Hollywood signed him for his film bow in the lead opposite Marilyn Monroe in "Bus Stop." Murray has since proved his versatility in motion pictures by playing such diverse roles as a dope addict in "A Hatful of Rain" and a quiet shopkeeper in "Bachelor Party."

The fox was the first important fur-bearing animal to be raised in capacity by Canadian ranchers.

Wilson Skips Gossip to Keep Holiday Spirit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — On the theory that people like to be gay this time of year, rather than gossip, I'm skipping the scandal today to tell you some of the chuckles around Broadway.

Comedienne Sue Carson of Hollywood and TV is at the Latin Quarter much appreciated at that spot. Maybe you've seen her do her monologue about men being so smart—"They write you such nice letters and then pay you so much money to get them back." And about European men who kiss ladies' hands: "When a man kisses my hand, it makes me nervous. I always wonder if my mouth is dirty."

Myron Cohen is with the Vagabonds (who were never better) and tells about a man 84 years old doing a high-diving act as star of a circus.

Coming out to do his great dive, for which the customers have paid highly, he says, "Ladies and gentlemen, would you want to see an 84-year-old man dive 384 feet into a tub of water 2 feet deep?"

There are roars of "NO, NO, NO!" from the crowd.

"O. K., then," he says, putting back on his robe, "the next show is at 8:30."

Sam Levenson has concocted his own list of "what to give the man who has everything" and includes in his "Care Package for the Carefree":

A gift certificate for a credit card, contact lenses for finding lost eye-glasses, eye-glasses for finding lost contact lenses, a contour-chair straightener, an X-ray picture of Brigitte Bardot, and a divorce catered by Elsa Maxwell.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Bob Hope cooked up a great big secret: a plan to take Lana Turner along as one of the stars on his TV trip to the Azores, Spain, North Africa, Naples, Germany and Iceland. But whether it works out will be decided about the time you read this . . . Myrna Loy wants to discuss the U.N. and her pictures these days—and not any romances . . . Eddie Fisher's sponsors have reiterated again (re-reiterated, so to speak) that they have no plan for canceling his TV show despite some squawks from the Debbie Reynolds partisans . . . Harry Belafonte's doing such big business at the Waldorf that some of the shows scheduled in the Empire Room have to be held in the grand ballroom.

EARL'S PEARLS: There are only two types of executives: Those who get ulcers and those who give them to others.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A midtown saloon has this sign: "Women not served at this bar—you must bring your own."

BACHELOR'S PHILOSOPHY: "'Tis better to have loved and lost than to have been stuck with her." . . . That's earl, brother.

Sneak Smoking Found at School

Police Report Delay in Sounding Alarm at Chicago Fire Tragedy

CHICAGO (AP) — Sneak smoking, delay in sounding an alarm and combustible materials in a stairwell stood out today among findings in the tragic fire at Our Lady of the Angels School Dec. 1.

Coroner Walter McCarron said the most important finding was a report of sneak smoking in the school just before the fire in which 89 children and 3 nuns perished.

Sgt. Drew Brown of the police arson squad told the coroner's blue ribbon jury Tuesday that:

"We have definitely found there had been smoking in the school" near the stairwell where the fire started.

"We have found definitely that combustible materials were stored in the stairwell."

Brown testified the arson squad found two boys who said they had seen the sneak smokers between 2:20 and 2:30 p.m. The fire alarm was sounded at 2:42.

Brown said the boys could not identify the smokers by name and that pupils and teachers would be questioned again.

McCarron said the smoking incident "promises to open an entirely new line of inquiry and probably is the most important piece of evidence on the origin of the fire which we have received."

Brown testified the fire's origin remained undetermined; that there are strong indications it was accidental rather than arson, and that police had been unable to find evidence that any volatile liquid had been used.

The inquest will be resumed Jan. 13.

UAW Might Appeal in Ex-Cell-O Tieup

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, on strike at Ex-Cell-O Corp. for eight weeks, delayed a decision today on whether to appeal an adverse ruling on an unfair labor practices charge.

The regional National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) yesterday threw out a UAW complaint over Ex-Cell-O's refusal to bargain for a national contract. The company has insisted on local plant contracts.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer, said the UAW will decide within a few days whether to appeal to the full NLRB.

Ex-Cell-O, which makes machine tools and precision instruments, has plants in Detroit and Traverse City and in Fostoria, Lima and Bluffton, Ohio.

Something Is Wrong!

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Frank Murry of nearby DeWitt questioned the bill he was handed on leaving Memorial Hospital after an 11-day stay. It contained a charge of $20 for use of the delivery room.

Hold Sing, Two Plays at Waterford Schools

Beginning at 7 p.m., children of the Waterford Village School will participate in a 30-minute Christmas song fest around a lighted tree on the school lawn. Principal Mrs. Ruth Ermel will direct the program.

Parents and friends have been invited to come into the school preceding the outside program. Parent-Teacher Association room mothers will serve refreshments.

"The Spirit of Christmas" will be present at 8 p.m. at the John D. Pierce Junior High School by children of the Schoolcraft School under the direction of music teacher Robert Grimes.

There will be special treats for the children provided by the Schoolcraft PTA.

"The First Christmas Story" will be presented at 7 p.m. at the Isaac Crary Junior high school by pupils of the Stringham School.

Narrated musical scenes, depicting the first Christmas, will be projected by the children, with the school's music teacher Carol Stephens directing the presentation.

Electronic Toys Tops This Year

Children Always Like to Emulate Adult Life in Their Play World

Santa's pack promises to be loaded with more than 50 million dollars worth of electronic toys this year. Little more than 10 years ago, such toys were nonexistent.

Such consumer acceptance was inevitable, according to Morton Gottlieb, president of Bell Products in St. Louis, Mo., a producer of electronic toys.

Space travel, atomic energy, cosmic rays, intercontinental missiles were considered more property in the realm of science fiction or comic strips a decade ago.

Now, since this space era has proven to be a near reality, children have gravitated toward the functional, non-mechanical type toy. Children still demand toys with play value, but they also want toys which give them a chance to emulate adult life.

One of the staple items in the electronic toy field is the Bel-Com intercommunication unit. The set has a genuine RCA loud speaker and comes in pastel shades which have proven to be the most popular in a color motif survey.

Making a toy communication set as realistic and functional as possible retains a child's interest, this company feels.

Another adult item, re-created for the youngsters of the house, is the "Hit Parade" transistor radio. Weighing only three ounces, this battery operated radio can be carried in a youngster's trouser pocket. Every local station can be received and heard on the special hi-fi earphone.

Japan to Celebrate at Christmas Ball

Though the annual Christmas Eve Ball at Tokyo's Imperial Hotel is the highlight of the season, the observance of the New Year is the holiday of holidays in Japan. Cards and gifts are exchanged on that day, and homes are festive with pine, bamboo and plum tree branches. Torches are lit in the temples, and family altars are trimmed. Guests are offered a sweet light wine called "toso," reputed to have health-giving powers.

The climax to festivities in Japan is the spectacular Firemen's Parade on Jan. 6 in Tokyo. Crowds line the sidewalks to catch a glimpse of street dancers with their grotesque red masks. High above the streets, firemen perform intricate acrobatics atop their ladders.

Doggone Polite Pooch

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Walter Foster claims she has the politest dog in town. When Rusty, her pet Chow, comes indoors when the weather is bad, he immediately rolls over on his back so she can wipe off his feet.
