

Say Photos Show Pilots Asleep at Controls

From Our News Wire
WASHINGTON — The AFL-CIO Executive Committee's Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America (IUMSWA) delivered to the Federal Aviation Agency today 40 photographs which, the union said, showed airline pilots asleep at the controls, or reading while in flight.

Airline officials challenged the authenticity of the pictures, one of which showed a stewardess alone at the controls of the plane.

FEIA produced the photographs, whose existence had been rumored for some time, at the request of FAA Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby.

Union President Ron Brown delivered the photographs to FAA yesterday.

He also issued a statement saying the individuals involved were reluctant to make them public "because of the seriously adverse effect on the airline industry, not to mention their fear of reprisals from several quarters."

The union spokesman said most of the pictures showed either the captain or the copilot asleep, but one showed a pilot reading a newspaper and another reading a magazine.

A spokesman for Eastern said individuals had been trying to peddle the pictures around the airport in New York for the past two months.

He said Eastern had not seen the pictures, but had investigated and found nothing to indicate that they were authentic or that any pilots or stewardesses had neglected their work or flying rules.

The Eastern spokesman said the airline had concluded that the pictures would have to be posed, and believed that they may have been taken in a simulator — a ground training device.

Tax Revision Bill Passed by Senate With Key Provision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today President Kennedy's badly mauled tax revision bill preserving in it the billion-dollar incentive tax cut for companies to invest in new machinery and equipment.

The vote passing the bill with the controversial proposal was 59-24.

The provision, to encourage American firms to modernize their plants — so they can produce at lower cost and compete better in world trade — is regarded by the administration as sufficient justification for the measure along with a number of loophole-closing provisions.

But the Senate version still is a far cry from the bill which Kennedy proposed to Congress April 20, 1961.

Added from the tax credit for companies investing in new machinery, the second most important Kennedy proposal was tax withholding on dividend and interest income.

That was knocked out of the bill by the Senate Finance Committee, and its decision was sustained by the Senate. The House had given Kennedy a victory by keeping this in the measure.

A letter-writing blitz from hundreds of thousands of savers and investors helped defeat it in the Senate.

The administration had estimated that withholding would bring into the Treasury about $780 million a year in taxes now evaded or paid through ignorance.

With Senate action on the bill, a Senate-House Conference Committee will now undertake to adjust differences.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who will head the House delegation, has said he will fight in the conference to retain the withholding plan, but most supporters of the plan think the odds are slim.

As Kennedy originally proposed it, it would have yielded about $600 million more in revenue from loophole closers than the investment credit would have cost. The House cut out considerable revenue but still passed a bill on the plus side because it retained withholding.

The Senate version will add to the Treasury deficit. Estimates range from a Treasury forecast of a $210-million annual loss to a $555-million red ink figure compiled by congressional experts.

The measure is only a step toward the broad revision of the tax laws.

Kennedy has said that next year he will propose "a substantial across-the-board income tax cut effective as of Jan. 1, 1963."

The investment credit provision — the key one of this bill — would permit most companies to deduct from their taxes up to 7 per cent of what they spend on new machinery and equipment. Utilities would be allowed 3 per cent.

Kennedy originally proposed that the allowance not apply to all such purchases, but only those in excess of normal capital investment. This was abandoned in the House as unworkable.

The administration then proposed a straight 8 per cent credit; this was cut to 7 per cent in the House to decrease the revenue loss.

Deadline for Signing Up for Election in Fall Is Oct. 8

With one of the hottest gubernatorial races in recent years looming in the November election, city officials are taking steps to be sure all eligible voters are registered before the deadline, Oct. 8.

City Clerk Olga Barkley today announced that election officials will make it easier to register starting Monday by setting up registration units in Pontiac schools.

"We currently plan to accept voter registrations in 20 schools on a school-per-day basis," she said.

New residents of Pontiac and persons who haven't either voted or registered in the last four years must register to be able to vote in the November election.

"We don't want anyone turned away from the polls because he or she isn't registered."

The last count, in March, showed 36,531 registered voters in Pontiac. For the last congressional gubernatorial election in 1958 the count was 38,619.

"It should be a little higher than that this year," Mrs. Barkley predicted.

Registrations will be taken as usual at City Hall. The hours for registration at schools are 1:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Oct. 8.

SCHOOL SCHEDULE

The dates and schools where registrations will be accepted are as follows:

Sept. 10, Franklin; Sept. 11, Bagley; Sept. 12, Washington Junior High; Sept. 13, Webster; Sept. 14, Crofoot; Sept. 17, Waverly; Sept. 18, Lincoln Junior High; Sept. 19, Owen; Sept. 20, Weaver; and Sept. 21, Malcolm.

Others are Sept. 24, LeBaron; Sept. 25, Emerson; Sept. 26, Herndon; Sept. 27, Mark T.W. Jr.; Sept. 28, McCarrall; Oct. 1, McCarrall; Oct. 2, Wilson; Oct. 3, Longfellow; and Oct. 4, Eastern Junior High.

Doctors Fighting for Soblen's Life

A Meal Worth 'Crowing' About

ANDY AND FRIENDS — Feeding bologna to the pet crow they have had since it was a baby two months ago are Ray Decoteau, (left) and his brother, Al, both of 3272 Erie Drive, West Bloomfield Township. Besides eating, Andy's favorite habits are plucking earrings off the ears of unsuspecting ladies, hopping on the shoulders of strangers and guffawing hysterically in a falsetto voice. Friends found the bird in an abandoned nest.

Part of Sputnik Found?

WASHINGTON — The space agency disclosed today that the main part of Sputnik IV has reentered the atmosphere, and that a piece of metal found in Wisconsin is being studied as a possible remnant of the Soviet satellite.

Sputnik IV, launched 28 months ago, apparently broke up over Wisconsin early Wednesday, causing a rash of reports of flaming unidentified flying objects.

The chunk of metal was found on a street in Manitowish, 20 miles north of Milwaukee. It was spotted first by two patrolmen, Ron Ruffoldt and Marvin Baugh, who thought it was cardboard in the pre-dawn darkness.

Ruffoldt and Baugh returned later and found the metal too hot to handle. When they heard the report that flaming objects apparently were part of Sputnik IV they went back and retrieved the chunk.

Police obtained the help of a steel expert, Kenneth Gevers of 115-Ten Steel Products of Chicago, who was in Manitowish.

Gevers said the metal appeared to be high temperature resistance steel, probably from the main portion of a satellite's nose cone.

Gevers took the object to Edward A. Halbach, director of the Milwaukee Astronomical Society. Halbach shipped the piece of metal by plane to the Smithsonian observatory in Cambridge, Mass., today.

Suggests U.S., Latins Meet on Cuba at U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today Secretary Dean Rusk has suggested to the Latin American countries that the American foreign ministers meet informally on the Cuban question while attending the forthcoming U.N. session.

Rusk indicated that the meeting would have no formal agenda "or intention to reach decisions or take action whatever," the announcement said.

Whether such a meeting actually is held will depend on replies from officials of the countries involved.

Confirmation of unofficial reports that such a meeting was proposed came as a Democrat and a Republican appealed in the Senate for concerted action by the Organization of American States (OAS) to meet the threat of a Communist military beachhead in Cuba.

Rusk briefed ambassadors from Latin American countries yesterday on the situation resulting from new Soviet military shipments to Cuba.

Press officer Joseph W. Resap told a news conference that Rusk suggested at that time that the foreign ministers "get together informally for an exchange of views."

He said such meetings are not unusual, and noted that Rusk met similarly last year with Latin American foreign ministers without advance notice.

Resap pictured the proposed gathering at the United Nations as a kind of discussion session among good friends that can convene late place because many foreign ministers will be on hand for the U.N. opening.

Auditorium Proceeding on Schedule

STEEL ARRIVES — Huge steel trusses were laid alongside the foundation for the $600,000 auditorium at the County Service Center yesterday. They were scheduled to be raised today or tomorrow. Construction of the hexagonal-shaped building is proceeding on schedule. The 227-seat auditorium is slated for completion by 1963. It will be joined by a corridor and offices to the new administrative wing of the county courthouse seen in the background. The auditorium will serve as a meeting place for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and other county groups.

U.S. Denounces Red Picture of Berlin Tension

State Dept. Claims Soviet Note Attempts to Hide Russ Failure

From Our News Wire
WASHINGTON — The United States accused the Soviet Union today of "painting a completely distorted picture of the situation in Berlin" with its latest charges against the Western powers.

A note Wednesday from Moscow blaming the United States, Britain and France for violence along the Communist wall dividing Berlin was denounced by the State Department as an effort to divert world opinion from the Soviet failure in Berlin.

The State Department announced that the United States is studying the note and arranging consultation about it with Western allies. The consultation will be started by a meeting of Western embassy representatives and State Department officials late Thursday or Friday.

The new Soviet note was regarded by officials as unusually bitter in tone. It accused the Western powers of "hypocrisy" in proposing East-West talks on reduction of tensions in Berlin.

Water Tank Plans Are Dammed Up

City officials are stuck today with an infernal triangle.

The three-sided monster is a small piece of land on Pontiac's North Side, scheduled as the site of a 2-million-gallon water storage tank.

With contracts awarded in the estimated $3.7-million water system improvement project, the Detroit pipeline getting nearer all the time and a revenue bond issue to finance the work all but sold, city officials discovered this week they might not own the land marked for the huge reservoir.

No one knows who owns it.

The land is bordered by Montclair, Edison and Wolfe Streets.

According to maps of Pontiac, it is bordered on one side by Aaron Perry Park, on another by McCarrall School and on the north by General Motors Corp. property.

Making a final check on water improvement plans this week, city officials couldn't find a deed indicating it was part of the park property as they had thought.

NO CLAIMS

Officials "assumed" that it must belong to the Pontiac School System. School officials had no record of the land being owned as a separate parcel and were not sure whether it was included as part of the McCarrall School site.

City Manager Robert A. Stier said "I'm sure we'll find the solution."

ROBERT A. SOBLEN

Takes Poison Before Return Trip to U.S.

Red Spy Rushed to British Hospital After Collapse at Airport

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen poisoned himself today and fell unconscious minutes before his scheduled deportation to a life sentence in the United States.

The gaunt fugitive spy was rushed to a hospital, where doctors fought to keep him alive to pay his debt to American justice for passing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

Soblen swallowed a massive dose of a barbiturate-type drug while he was being taken to the airport from Brixton Prison in a police-escorted ambulance.

He became ill at the gates of London Airport where a F.A.A. American jetliner waited to take him to New York. The plane took off with two empty seats — those reserved for Soblen and the British police surgeon assigned to accompany him.

Britain's home office launched an investigation of how Soblen got the drugs and how he was able to swallow them unobserved.

LAUNCH PROBE

This probe got under way even as Soblen, a 61-year-old American citizen, lay unconscious in a ward of Hillingdon Hospital near the airport.

The home office said Soblen will remain at Hillingdon Hospital for at least 24 hours.

"We can't, therefore, make any new arrangements for his transport until we know when he is going to be released," a spokesman said.

ASKED

Asked if this meant that Soblen's condition was a ploy, the spokesman said it was too early to form any firm conclusion on his prospects of recovery.

Soblen is suffering from leukemia, but British doctors who examined him in connection with his fight against deportation reported he was not in immediate danger of death from this blood disease.

Home office officials issued this statement on today's events:

"Dr. Soblen, who became ill in the ambulance taking him from Brixton to London airport this morning, is at present in Hillingdon Hospital, Middlesex, undergoing medical treatment."

STAFF INQUIRY

Report Shows Doctors Need Checkup

People in the News
By The Associated Press
Dr. Thomas M. Peery, chief pathologist at George Washington University and hospital in Washington, said in Chicago that two-thirds of 1,771 doctors tested at the American Medical Association exhibit laboratory last June showed significant abnormalities that could indicate sicknesses ranging from diabetes to heart ailment to gout. While preliminary lab tests don't necessarily prove the doctors were sick in June, Peery said, "they do suggest the desirability of lab follow-up and detailed chemical evaluation in each instance."

School of Conservatism Folds Before Opening

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The University of Scottsdale has folded without ever holding a class.

The university, a school of conservatism, was to have opened Tuesday but President-founder Richard E. Strahlem said enrollment was inadequate. He said only nine fulltime and 72 part-time students registered.

Sister Cecilia Marie, principal of St. Mary's Catholic High School in New Haven, Conn., says a neighboring synagogue has solved the parochial high school's temporary classroom shortage. St. Mary's has a new wing under construction but it won't be ready until January. In the meantime, it has accepted an offer from Congregation Mishkan Israel. Sister Cecilia said the school is using several rooms in the synagogue rent-free while waiting for its own building program to be finished.

State Motorists Set 2 Holiday Travel Records

LANSING (AP)—Michigan motorists surpassed two travel records over the Labor Day weekend, according to the highway department. Preliminary reports showed motorists traveled an estimated 722.9 million miles during the five-day holiday period. That topped the previous record for five days, set during the July 4th holiday in 1960, by about 2 per cent. Motorists logged an estimated 165.6 million miles on Labor Day alone, breaking the previous Labor Day record, set in 1952, by about 16 per cent.

Politics in New York Take the Spotlight

Some interesting doings are coming up soon in Democratic circles in New York State. Candidates for office will be selected.

New York City traditionally is the home of the most powerful Democratic machine outside the South. New York City polls more votes than several of the smaller states.

The primary election this week means very little so far as this year's gubernatorial race is concerned. Technically, the voters elect delegates to the party conventions Sept. 17 to 19—Republicans in Buffalo and the Democrats in Syracuse.

But the Republican slate, ROCKEFELLER and JAVITS, is as certain as the sunrise. Meanwhile the Democrats have been unable to get together on a ticket.

The only potential candidate viewed as capable of giving Rockefeller any kind of a contest is Mayor Wagner, and he has declared himself out of the running.

That has narrowed the field to seven or so possibilities, of whom the front runner now appears to be U.S. Attorney Robert M. MORGENTHAU, 43, who until several weeks ago, basked in noble obscurity. His name is well-known and that has a lot to do with his rapid rise in popularity.

On the eve of the primary it is believed that MORGENTHAU has the quiet support of WAGNER and possibly President KENNEDY. WAGNER has been silent, but a Harlem leader and close associate of the mayor has come out for MORGENTHAU.

Questioned about MORGENTHAU the President is playing it cool. He said, "he wouldn't take any position on the matter until the Democratic convention meets."

Meanwhile, Governor ROCKEFELLER is shooting for the greatest plurality the Republican party has ever rolled up in the state. Should this come about he will be a tough man to beat at the 1964 GOP convention.

Golf Tourney Winner Offered a 'Tidy Sum'

According to the promoters, a big golf match is scheduled at the Firestone Country Club in Akron for this Saturday and Sunday. Typical of the huckster type carnival they are calling it the World Series of Golf.

First prize money is high—$50,000—made possible by television commercials. The actors are real champions, with JACK NICKLAUS, ARNOLD PALMER and GARY PLAYER having top billing.

NICKLAUS is the U.S. Open champ; PALMER the Masters' and British Open; and PLAYER the PGA winner. The three will be pitted against each other for two rounds (18 holes each) at stroke play.

Now comes the odd quirk. These same three played the same course less than a month ago during the American Golf Classic. They finished with Palmer in a run away. He had a 276 for 72 holes, Nicklaus was tied at third with three others at 284, and Player was further back with 290.

The sponsoring syndicate for the re-run is going to extraordinary lengths to make sure home viewers get a pretty picture. The last six holes will be on TV and should the players get to the 13th before the stage time of 4:30 they'll stand around and wait for the curtain to go up.

The $50,000 prize money is the largest prize ever offered for 36 holes of pro golf competition. The idea is not new since back in the mid 50s GEORGE S. MAY sponsored a "World Championship of Golf" in Chicago with a $50,000 top prize.

In the May classic the golfers had a regulation 72 hole test and the cast of eligibles included most all the top names. However, the tourney never captured the imagination of the public or the golfing fraternity.

We can't help but wonder if this new show will ring the cash register or the applause machine.

Due to illness the Man About Town column will be discontinued for several days. It will be resumed when Mr. Howard V. Heidenbrand returns to work.

K Has Excuse to Visit U.N.

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Chairman of the House J. E. Khrushchev now appears to have been given a racy talking point and the germ of an excuse to appear before the U.N. General Assembly.

Judging from the preliminary tone of the Soviet Union's note of protest about the nine-minute U2 flight over Sakhalin Island, Khrushchev seems to have worked up almost as much color over this as he was able to generate when Francis Powers tumbled out of the sky near Sverdlovsk.

It therefore seems reasonable to expect Khrushchev not only to show up but to come to U.N. in a fist-shaking and maybe even shoe-banging mood.

He almost certainly will use this incident as the improbable, but still alarmingly noisy, reason to tell the delegates of the 104 U.N. countries a lot of heavy lies about the U.S.

It is a foregone conclusion that he will use the U2 affair as a launching pad to fly into rages about Berlin, maintenance of U.S. military bases overseas, use of U.N. troops in the Congo, colonialism, and the "threat" against Cuba.

He's a lucky bum to have an event of this particular nature fall in his lap.

The first U2 affair provided him with the lever with which to upset his cynical friend Mao Tse-Tung and homegrown detractors that he wasn't afraid of insulting the President of the United States.

The second U2 case presents to him, on a silver tray, another license to blow his stack and appear less ludicrous while doing so.

What this will do to the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting that was just beginning to take shape in the minds of planners remains to be seen.

If Khrushchev is verbally truculent before the world organization the President will be called upon to make a witty reply, and exchanges of that sort seldom lead to tea at the White House. Part of Khrushchev's fever over what the communique called the "gross violation of the Soviet frontier" probably can be traced to the fact that Soviet defenses on that forlorn island that hovers like a clippers over Japan, could not shoot it out of the sky.

This would be inclined to shake the faith of Russians who were solemnly assured not so long ago that Soviet air-space was now puncture proof — protected by all sorts of ground-to-air rockets, air-to-air missiles that can "come in" on an enemy, and supersonic jets. The U2 is one of the world's slowest jets. And completely defenseless.

Ivan might wonder today how much would have been left of Yuzhno-sakhalinsk if the two great powers were at war, and an H-bomb landed B52 rather than a U2 had drummed over the city.

It will be some time before the full story of latest U2 incident is known. But it is heartening to note that in this instance we did not make of ourselves the damned fools we resembled in the first hours after our spy, Powers, was pinked.

The State Department tried to palm him off as a weather reconnaissance plane who conked out from lack of oxygen and accidentally drifted over the line into the USSR.

Government of the People?

David Lawrence Asks:

JFK Ignoring Monroe Doctrine?

WASHINGTON — Has President Kennedy really disregarded, if not scrapped altogether, the Monroe Doctrine — the historic policy of the United States for the protection of the Western Hemisphere against European aggression?

The President's latest statement, upon being examined carefully, reiterates deliberately what he LAWRENCE said, in effect, at a news conference on Aug. 28—that he will not uphold the doctrine unless there's an actual military invasion of a country in this hemisphere.

He will not take action in the face of European intervention in the affairs of a Latin-American country. He will accept a military build-up by the Soviet Union inside Cuba, for instance, as "defensive" in that country.

He will wait for actual offensive preparations or operations before taking action. He will, in other words, take "the first blow." He will not intervene to save the people of Cuba or any other Latin-American country from domination by a European power.

This is a distinct departure from the words of the Monroe Doctrine itself and from the action taken by several presidents of the United States in past history. Plainly, the Soviet Union has political control of Cuba today. The whole world has seen how it has actually begun to impose its system on Cuba, which not only is a part of this hemisphere but is only 90 miles away from the United States.

This makes it even more relevant as an action that is "dangerous to our peace and safety."

UNFRIENDLY DISPOSITION Thus, the Soviet Union has given a "manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States." The Soviet Union has officially acknowledged that it has sent arms to Cuba and the Washington government recognizes officially that this armament can be used to ward off any military action by planes or naval vessels of the United States. The Soviets can also make Cuba a base of supply for submarines.

The fact is, therefore, that the Soviet Union has armed Cuba to prevent the United States from landing troops or otherwise assuring that the lives and properties of its citizens and of other foreign nationals be protected.

The Soviet Union has defied the Monroe Doctrine and has taken steps to prevent its enforcement insofar as Cuba is concerned by sending allegedly "defensive" armament to Cuba.

The Country Parson

Therefore whenever "proud flesh" interferes with the healing of wound or ulcer the doctor must trim it down to skin level with scissors—a painless procedure, for of course granulation tissue contains no nerves. This aseptic (surgically clean) removal of "proud flesh" is the 20th century way—some doctors still use 19th century remedies for "proud flesh"—caustics of one kind or another. Once the wound or ulcer is surgically clean (sterile) and filled to, but not above, skin level with granulation, healing will proceed at the normal rate, provided the principles of modern surgical

Under the circumstances, the United States can, if it wishes, ignore the Soviet military plane and land troops now before Cuban missile strength is built up, or it can wait—as it did in Berlin when "the wall" was erected—to deal with a more serious problem that can develop later.

WHAT OTHER COURSE?

If the United States government does not wish at this time to land forces in Cuba to assert the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, then the question arises as to what steps this country could take to manifest its feeling concerning the Soviet Union's "interposition" in this hemisphere.

The United States can announce that it will sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union unless all Soviet military technicians are withdrawn at once from Cuba.

This action would mean the expulsion from the United States of all Soviet diplomatic and consular officials and the return of all U.S. officials from the Soviet Union.

It could mean also the imposition of an economic blockade by the United States not only against Cuba but against the Soviet Union. All Latin-American states would be urged to join in the same move. It's the only way to get rid of Communist infiltration in the Western Hemisphere without bloodshed.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Healing of Any Wound Takes Just So Long

In one piece about healing of wounds, I said that the ideal early healing is by "first intention" (as surgeons say), that is, the edges, carefully but gently held together like china fragments, be cemented immediately and a healing proceeds with the formation of little or no scar. As your or BRADY's pondering wound healed—if the operation was not too long delayed.

If healing by first intention is not possible—as your operation would be if it drags made it necessary to keep the wound open for days or weeks—then it must be by the process which surgeons call "granulation."

The wound, defect or raw or open area gradually becomes filled with a soft, velvety, shiny red mass up to skin or surface level and then the epithelium or outer layer of skin grows out over it from the edges, like tea forming on a pond or clams. The soft shiny red velvety framework is called granulation tissue.

When it has served its purpose, which is solely to permit new skin to close or cover the defect, granulation tissue becomes converted into fibrous, nonfunctioning tissue, scar tissue, in fact, and scar tissue inevitable contracts in the course of months and thus causes more or less distortion or deformity.

PROUD FLESH

Sometimes granulation tissue is exuberant, growing to skin level, and when it does it is commonly known as "proud flesh." It is pretty well understood that "proud flesh" prevents or delays healing. Skin will not grow up hill.

Therefore whenever "proud flesh" interferes with the healing of wound or ulcer the doctor must trim it down to skin level with scissors—a painless procedure, for of course granulation tissue contains no nerves. This aseptic (surgically clean) removal of "proud flesh" is the 20th century way—some doctors still use 19th century remedies for "proud flesh"—caustics of one kind or another.

Once the wound or ulcer is surgically clean (sterile) and filled to, but not above, skin level with granulation, healing will proceed at the normal rate, provided the principles of modern surgical cleanliness (aseptic), physiological rest and noninterference are faithfully applied.

The healing process at best takes just so much time, under the best possible care (rest, noninterference, asepsis) and nothing in the way of medication can speed the process noticeably. Only the ignorant and credulous customer imagines this or that medication has mysterious "healing" virtue.

GOP Pitches for 2-Party South

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican National Committee's Southern division under Chairman L. S. Potter has premiered here a new National Federation of Young Republicans 12-minute documentary sound film titled, "New Breed in the South."

It's to be shown at Republican rallies in the 12 southern states as part of the GOP's stepped-up "Operation Dixie" campaign for the U.S. Senate in the seven southern states where seats are at stake this year.

Another goal is to elect at least a dozen more GOP representatives in the 62 out of 113 congressional districts where Republicans are running.

They also hope to pick up a governorship or maybe two, elect far more state legislators, county and city officials than they now have. The big idea is to keep trying to establish a real two-party system in the South, if not this year, next year.

"New Breed in the South" puts its accent on the youth of the southern Republicans as compared to the age of Democratic statesmen. The film opens with quick takes of southern beauty and industry with the voice on the sound track saying that the Republicans are going to deliver the South from the one-party system and

'Cuban Refugees Report on Current Happenings'

From refugees that have recently arrived from Cuba and from reports received directly, news of various landings of Cuban refugees have been confirmed. The landings have taken place at Havana, Mariel and Matanzas. Together with the landing of troops, heavy armaments, such as long-range cannons and other types of military equipment, have also been brought to shore and there were 500 men dressed as civilians.

Negroes Write on Equal Rights

It is very ignorant for people to have a dirty mind about different races. Everyone is equal in God's sight. People should wake up and live as one happy family and we would be better. I'm a Negro and I'm not prejudice.

Nrs. Ophelia Dinkins

157 Lake St.

I am an American Negro girl. I was raised by people of different nationalities. I thank God that I haven't had it as rough as my ancestors, but it is not too different. Abraham Lincoln freed the slaves on paper — not in the hearts of many.

When God created earth He said, "I am creating man of my own image." If He did so, we are considered as one. If people believe in God why don't they live by His command?

The Negro has just as much say as the white. We want equal rights. If we have to fight for freedom in the army, why don't we receive it? We are just as important to society as the whites. Pretty soon Khrushchev will use this racial discrimination as a weapon against the U.S.

Portraits

By JOHN K. METCALF

I saw yellow rain clouds... In a lovely quiet room... And they took my thoughts away... To a distant bygone day... I recalled the smiling eyes... Underneath the southern skies... And the soft caressing charms... Brought to me by longing arms... In my mind I saw one more... Yellow roses at her door... Covered with the daybreak dew... When the sky was gray and blue... I remembered that the dawn... When the stars at last were gone... Held a stillness everywhere... In the air... Yellow roses bring the dawn... Dreams of her that used to be... Like a lambent amber light... That my heart kept glowing bright.

One of the best ways to keep a wife is in the things she loves.

A lot of youths have left the farm this summer because they dislike the idea of plowing through life.

The answer of Lee Potter, who has been working at this GOP Operation Dixie for five years—is that the Republican National Committee makes no mention of "race" in the South. It leaves that issue completely to local communities.

There is no national Republican colored voters registration drive in the South. In Atlanta and other communities with successful integration records, the local organizations just decide for themselves whether to put on segregated or integrated registration drives and election campaigns.

In the opinion of some of the Southern Young Republican leaders, it may take 10 years or more to work this out.

Child Starting School Forgot Little Incident

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Excited over his first day in school, Stanley Metzger, 5, neglected to tell his mother he had been hit by a car on a trip to the grocery Tuesday.

After Stanley had returned home and gone to his bedroom, Winona Metzger answered a knock at the door.

"I think I just ran over your little boy," said Clarence E. Hower, an off-duty policeman.

Stanley was rushed to the hospital. An examination disclosed the boy had not been injured when a wheel of Hower's auto passed over his arm.

"It wasn't worth the five marks on his arm, I wouldn't have believed it happened," said the examining physician.

Reshuffle Seen in Most States

Political Scientists Say Over Half Will Be Reappointed by '64

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two political scientists predicted yesterday that legislatures of more than half the states may be reappointed, in greater or less degree, before nominations are made for the state elections of 1964.

Paul T. David and Ralph Eisenberg of the University of Virginia reviewed the great flood of litigation, and other activity, that set in with the U. S. Supreme Court's decision of last March 26 in the Tennessee reapportionment case.

In that decision, the tribunal held for the first time that courts may hear, and set upon, complaints from urban and suburban residents that they are being unconstitutionally denied fair shares of representation in state capitols.

In a paper for the American Political Science Association, the authors said: "The decision has opened a round of constitutional litigation in state and federal courts that is probably without any close parallel in the speed with which it has been initiated in a multiplicity of states."

Moreover, they said, "the speed with which the lower courts have acted has been a further source of surprise, in view of the lengthy delays that usually attend litigation on constitutional questions."

Law suits have been filed in about half the states, the two men said, and "existing state legislative apportionments have been invalidated, or substantially so, in at least 14 states."

Member Reappointed to Mediation Board

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson's office yesterday announced the appointment of Francis J. Coomes to succeed himself on the State Labor Mediation Board.

The appointment of Coomes, for a term expiring June 30, 1965, requires Senate confirmation. He was first appointed in 1960.

U.S. Cuban Boycott Failing

Only Talk About Monroe Doctrine

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the dark of after midnight, in heavily guarded Cuban ports, the Soviet Union rushes a stepped-up program to bolster the regime of Fidel Castro.

Eyewitness reports tell of Russian troops playing volleyball in military installations outside Havana.

And in Washington and other American capitals the argument goes on, whether, as Nikita Khrushchev said, the Monroe Doctrine is dead.

DEMANDS ACTION

In Managua, Nicaragua, a government spokesman demands collective military action against the Castro regime by members of the Organization of American States. He added:

"If the United States and the OAS fail to act, it means the Monroe Doctrine and the inter-American system are dead and the continued existence of the OAS is unjustified.

In Washington, Sen. Homer E. Capehart, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested that Cuba should be invaded to halt the flow of Communist aid, whether material or manpower.

In April 1961, President Kennedy told the American Society of Newspaper Editors:

"... Should it ever appear that the inter-American doctrine of noninterference merely conceals or excuses a policy of non-action—then I want it clearly understood that this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations, which are to the security of the nation."

Last week, the President spoke again of the Cuban situation. He told a news conference:

"I think it would be a mistake to invade Cuba."

The United States defended the Monroe Doctrine, the President said, by working to "isolate the Communist menace in Cuba."

By implication, then, the United States will continue to rely on

Prison Terms Given to Five

Pontiac Teen-Agers
Had Pledged Guilty

Five prison terms were meted out Tuesday by Circuit Judge William J. Beer to youths who pleaded guilty to burglary charges Aug. 20.

Two of them went to a pair of Pontiac teen-agers in the city that netted them only about $1.

They were Ronald H. Slaght, 19, of 79 Trenton St., sentenced to 2 to 15 years at hard labor, and Daniel Lainger, 17, of 172 Dresden Ave., one to 15 years at hard labor.

The two had pleaded guilty to breaking into the Pontiac City Transit Co. office at 200 N. Padlock St. Aug. 14. They were accused of breaking into five other offices the same day.

Three Rochester youths who admitted a number of burglaries in Troy and Rochester also received prison sentences.

They were Floyd S. Rowley, 20, of 414 Alice St., 2 to 15 years at hard labor; Austin F. Rowley Jr., 20, of 212 Alice St., 1½ to 15 years; and Daniel C. Hobbs Jr., 17, of 1428 Corbair St., 1½ to 15 years.

Floyd S. Rowley had pleaded guilty to a July 12 burglary of University Sinclair Service, 312 W. University Drive, Rochester. The other two admitted breaking into Chet's Grocery and Saddle Shop, 433 John R Road, Troy, July 11.

A fourth youth implicated in the Rochester and Troy burglaries, John Gaval Jr., 18, of 2150 Tucker St., Troy, is awaiting trial.

Expanding Firm Gets Praise From Swainson

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson yesterday commended the Conduction Corp., of Ann Arbor, for expanding its operation and number of employees for the sixth time in its two-year history.

Conduction Corp., established in 1960, does research, development and manufacturing in the field of ceramic ferrite and semiconductor materials with electromagnetic properties.

The company said it now has close to 200 employees and expects to have 300 by the end of the year.

collective measures of the OAS and will not intervene militarily by itself.

NO ACTION SEEN

This week the President took occasion further to warn Cuba against aggression anywhere in the hemisphere.

But the impression remained that the United States contemplated no more direct action than already has been taken.

The words of the President, of Senator Capehart and the Nicaraguan spokesman are indicators of the division of opinion within the American hemisphere over the Cuban question.

This year Cuba will do about 10 per cent of all its business with Communist nations.

The steady flow of Soviet technicians, military, agricultural and industrial, suggests the extent to which these experts have taken over important phases of Cuban life.

BOYCOTT WEAK

Cuban refugees confirm that there are empty bellies in Castro's Cuba and hardships which the country is undergoing.

But the steady flow of Soviet and chartered British, Italian, West German, Greek and Norwegian vessels also illustrates the weakness of the U.S. boycott which never can become truly effective without military measures—which for global reasons the U.S. wishes to avoid.

Meanwhile, presumably, this statement of last December by the State Department still stands:

"... As a bridgehead of Soviet imperialism within the inner defenses of the Western Hemisphere, Cuba under the Castro regime represents a serious threat to the collective security of the American republics."

Mining in Jamaica began in 1949. He ordered tests which the walled terraces on Inca when a landholder wondered why proved that the content of the red about $18,000 an acre in terms of grass and corn grew so poorly or surely was nearly 50 per cent above modern costs of skilled labor.

Greater Muskegon's Making a Comeback

MUSKEGON (AP)—Sears remain, but greater Muskegon goes on with a comeback from its severe economic slump of a year ago.

One year ago Borg-Warner Corp.'s big Norge Division moved out of town, leaving burdens behind.

Besides the loss of 1,500 jobs and an annual payroll of $9 million to $13 million, greater Muskegon suffered grievously in tax revenue losses.

Muskegon Heights, home of Norge, lost more than $700,000 in annual city taxes, and more than $90,000 in school revenues while Muskegon County lost about $20,000.

Norge went South, to Fort Smith, Ark., to take advantage of a more favorable tax situation and cheaper costs, including lesser pay scales for labor.

At that very time greater Muskegon already was being hit by unemployment and Norge's departure hurt all the worse.

CAN'T FIND WORK

Men who lost their jobs at Norge — men over 50 — still can't find work of any regular sort.

There were an estimated 300 such men. One was DeWayne Pickard, 52, former vice president of the Allied Industrial Workers of Norge local.

"It is a hardship for these older men," said Pickard. "Few were in a financial position to consider retirement. Now that employment benefits are expiring, many face a serious situation."

Only about 50 Norge workers accepted the company invitation, to accompany the firm South for lower paid jobs at Fort Smith. The community stood up under the blow, however, and has been coming back steadily.

Today, thanks to a general economic improvement, employment is at its highest level in a number of years, according to the Michigan Employment-Security Commission.

One factor has been heavy civilian and defense orders to Continental Motors Corp. At the same time Brunswick Corp. and Sealed Power Corp., as well as other industry, have been hiring more men. Also, the Consumers Power Co. has expanded operations.

Unemployment is down to 4.3 per cent of the total labor force, 94 below the government's "critical jobs shortage" classification.

City officials say the coincidence of expanded industry prevented the post-Norge period from having been much worse.

CUT BUDGET

Problems remain, Muskegon

Police Auction Offers Rings, Washer, TV Set

EAST LANSING (AP) — Diamond rings, a portable fishing shanty, an automatic washer and a 17-inch television set are some of the 2,000 items to be sold at public auction by state police Sept. 30.

The auction will be at the East Lansing headquarters. Proceeds will go to the state treasury. The merchandise includes stolen, confiscated or found articles and the personal effects of persons who died in state institutions without known heirs.

Heights went on an austerity program, cutting its budget by about $100,000. The schools also made economies.

"We'll manage to stay in the black but we'll have very little in the way of capital expenditures," said City Manager Donald P. Ziemke.

One of the losses was a $36,000 annual item to the city water department. Norge, the was the city's second largest user of water.

Part of the lots is expected to be recovered by expansion of the service to additional city customers and to adjoining Norton Township.

Ultimately, even the old Norge plant will come alive in part at least. A Muskegon Heights firm, the Buehrle Engineering Co., is buying the property for future use. Part of it will be used as a never section retained. Two other firms will share it.

The three crashed an eight-ton truck through two barbed wire fences, climbed a third fence, then swam the Teltow Canal, foreground, to West Berlin.

Firms Chosen to Study Cargo Ships for Moon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency tentatively ordered three firms yesterday to make detailed studies of space cargo ships that could carry supplies to the moon. Weights of the space freighters may range from 4½ to 45 tons. The studies also will consider the type and qualities of cargo that will be needed by explorers of the moon.

Kettering Bids on Sport Site to Be Opened

New bids on two phases of the Waterford Kettering High School athletic site development will be opened at a special meeting of the Waterford Township Board of Education tonight.

Bids on the main portion of the project totaling $37,665 were accepted by the board two weeks ago but proposals on lawn development and installation of permanent bleachers were called too high and rejected.

Tonight's special meeting was called to expedite the project so that most work can be completed before winter.

The plan calls for a baseball diamond, softball field, an unlighted football field, outdoor track, two tennis courts and an area for girls' soccer and field hockey.

Other business slated for the meeting includes consideration of teacher contracts and a teacher resignation request.

SCENES OF BERLIN TENSION — Map of Berlin locates Sandkrug bridge in British sector where Russian armor cars crossed into West Berlin yesterday carrying guards to the Soviet war memorial, submitting to Western orders that they no longer use Checkpoint Charlie. U.S. soldiers manned checkpoints at Heinrich Heine Strasse, Oberbaum bridge and Sonnenallee, normally guarded by West Berlin police. Also located is place on the wall where Reds shot a refugee Tuesday.

President Jostled by 300 Admirers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy was pushed, shoved and jostled in his own back yard yesterday by nearly 300 visiting foreign admirers.

The President came out of the White House to greet the group-members of an experiment in international living — who had gathered on the rain-soaked lawn outside of his office.

After a brief greeting the President was literally pushed back into his office by the crowd. Most of the guests were from India. They shoved cards at Kennedy for his autograph and jammed around him to take pictures.

Grass and the colorful flower beds outside the president's office were trampled. Kennedy merely smiled, however, and finally made it back to his office with the aid of White House police and Secret Service agents.

Kennedy apologized to members of the group, who have been living in American homes for the past two months, because of a profusion of bugs in the area.

In more serious vein, the Chief Executive said that "occasionally governments don't get along so well — but people do."

He noted that the visitors would remain in Washington for a couple of days to see how the United States government works and said, "I look forward to seeing the results of your studies."

The President quoted a favorite saying by Winston Churchill that "democracy is the worst form of government except for all of the others that have been tried."

The President was given several gifts by the group, including hand-woven and handspun shirting material and a marble engraved with pictures of the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Cars Collide — Rear-On — Police Puzzled

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — The damage to the autos amounted to a commonplace $30, but it was to the rear end of each car. Police said Arthur Reed and David Huffins collided while driving backwards.

One car was trying to get out of a dead-end street. Officers accused both drivers of reckless driving and left it to the judge to decide which was on the wrong side of the street.

Attorney General Picks New Racket Buster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has appointed William G. Hundley as chief of the Organized Crime and Racketeering section in the Justice Department's Criminal Division.

As a Justice Department lawyer Hundley participated in Smith Act trials against Communist leaders in Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Prayers Still Heard by Nation's Pupils

By The Associated Press

Readings from the Bible and recitations from the Lord's Prayer were given in many public schools Wednesday as the nation's school children returned to their classrooms.

In New York, some communities—with later school openings—were planning to allow recitation or singing of a verse of the national anthem or "America."

The Nanuet, N.Y., School Board in Rockland County with its schools opening today has voted unanimously in favor of a period of silent meditation in classrooms.

This was in keeping with the suggestion by the state education commissioner, James E. Allen Jr., after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that an officially prescribed prayer was unconstitutional.

In Massachusetts, there was the usual Scripture reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer—a continuation of past procedure backed by an advisory from the state commissioner of education.

In Maine, authorities in a number of communities all said Scripture readings were held as usual in accordance with Maine law. The law states that there shall be no denominational or sectarian comment or teaching, and that students shall give respectful attention but shall be free in their own forms of worship.

In Pawtucket, R.I., silent prayers were said in some schools, while pupils in other schools recited the Lord's Prayer as in past years.

At the start of 1961 International Air Transport Association members were still operating 634 DC3 aircraft as well as other twin-engine planes.

Foreign Affairs Chief Retiring in Sweden

Michigan Gas Rates Probed

PSC Opens Hearings on Whether Firm Is Making Too Much

LANSING (AP) — A hearing was opened by the State Public Service Commission yesterday to determine whether the Michigan Gas and Electric Co. is making too much money.

The company, which serves some 42,000 customers in southwest Michigan, contends it has the lowest gas rates in the state.

Commission investigators say, however, the utility has been earning excess profits and should cut its rates.

Tom Hancock, commission research supervisor, testified that Michigan Gas and Electric is earning 8.5 per cent profit on its electric sales and 10.33 per cent on gas. A fair profit, he said, would be 6.42 per cent.

An attorney for the utility, Archie Fraser, said that the company operates a highly efficient, economical and conservative system and serves its customers well. He declared:

"That it is able to make a fair return on the money investments of its stockholders, the great majority of whom are Michigan residents, should draw commendation rather than a charge that its rates are exorbitant and unreasonable."

"Any comparison with other utilities in the state will quickly disprove this present view of the commission."

He said that the commission conducted a similar investigation of Michigan Gas and Electric rates four years ago and found at the time that the gas rates were fair and reasonable.

Fraser said that despite an increase in business costs, the same rates are still in effect.

Yesterday's show cause hearing was adjourned until Sept. 25 when the company will be given the opportunity to present its witnesses and cross-examine the commission staff. A final decision is expected in about three months.

U.S. Offers to Ban Weapons in Space if Reds Do

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration has offered to refrain from pushing for weapons which would make space a battlefield, if the Soviet Union will do likewise.

The offer was made by the deputy secretary of defense, Roswell L. Gilpatric, Wednesday night in words reportedly written by members of the White House staff.

Gilpatric told an industry-university audience in South Bend, Ind., that "We have no program to place any weapons of mass destruction into orbit."

WON'T AID U.S.

"An arms race in space will not contribute to our security," the Pentagon's second in command said.

"I can think of no greater stimulus for a Soviet thermonuclear arms effort in space than a United States commitment to such a program," he said.

"This we will not do," Gilpatric declared there is no doubt that either the United States or the Soviet Union could send hydrogen weapons into orbit "but such an action is just not a rational military strategy for either side in the foreseeable future."

Informed sources acknowledged that the underlying theme in Gilpatric's remarks could be described as mutual forbearance—that is, that both sides should refrain from making space a battlefield.

PARALLEL IDEA

This idea of voluntary restraint parallels the approach taken by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara some months ago in offering the Soviet Union "the strongest imaginable incentive" to spare cities and limit any nuclear attacks to military targets in the event of war.

Pentagon officials, obviously anxious that Gilpatric's words get maximum exposure, directed attention to the military-space program.

According to informants, the cent sharp criticism by members of Congress. These critics argued that the United States should launch into a big scale program to "develop" weapons "that would permit this country to contest any Soviet effort to dominate space."

Both President Kennedy and McNamara resist any idea of a crash program to develop space weaponry.

Remarks not only were approved by the White House but actually were written there after various government agencies had provided their views on the issue.

A spokesman said Gilpatric's remarks on weapons in space had been approved at the White House and "represent the administration's position on the military-space program."

The Pentagon spokesman indicated that Gilpatric's statements were intended as a reply to re-close orbits cosmonauts in separate ships, demonstrating advanced guidance and control capabilities that the Air Force contends has to "develop" weapons "that would permit this country to contest any Soviet effort to dominate space."

Both President Kennedy and McNamara resist any idea of a crash program to develop space weaponry.

TEST TUBE — A 315-foot-long tube of polyethylene film hangs from a balloon drifting over western Wisconsin. 'Expense' Tours Seen Answer for U. S. Visitors

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—All-expense tours may be the answer for Europeans visiting the United States.

At least 107 Eastern Star women from Glasgow, Scotland, beginning three weeks in the United States with a week at Miami Beach, are bubbling with enthusiasm over their visit.

The trip, complete, cost each $392.

John MacRee, the tour director, said he has 20 more lined up for next year from Glasgow alone, and may bring in 30 groups from the Scottish city.

The women will visit Washington, Philadelphia, Trenton and New York before returning home by chartered plane.

Rainy Season Pleasant Time in Virgin Islands

By PHYLIS BATTLE
ST. CROIX, V.I. — It is summer in the tropical islands of the West Indies. It is the rainy season — the season when allegedly sophisticated travelers take off for Nantucket or Canada snoring, through their upturned noses. "Don't tell me you're going to the tropics now."

They assume it is unbearably hot and muggy, mosquito-infested and teetering on the verge of inundation by hurricane. Poor sophisticates! They should visit the Virgin Islands sometime in the summer so they could eat their words — even words taste better here, heaped on a slice of cool papaya, surrounded by slices of tree-ripened bananas, topped with shredded-youself coconuts. The tropics are more beautiful in summer than in winter. The air, freshened by perpetual trade winds, is far cooler by day than the air in Fairbanks, Alaska. At night, a light blanket is as welcome as it is in an air-conditioned hotel room in New York. It is the rainy season, but nature is thoughtful in these islands. The rains come hard and sometimes fierce with the drive of winds, but almost always at night when the beating sounds on the roof are even more soothing, to restless sleepers, than the gentle whoosh of surf licking sand. In the morning, the air is washed and the trees are slick-leaved and greener than any trees anywhere. And the car has been washed free. RAINS MAY COME. Occasionally, of course, the rains come by day. We have been here almost five weeks now, and have had three days of heavy deluge followed by the most brilliant of rainbows. On those days, when the diet of steady sun and while feather clouds is varied, the miracles of nature are wild and fascinating. You can see the storms coming, but you must look fast and at just the right time. One minute the sky is that incredible, spotless royal blue that skies far outside the acquaintance of the equator can never imitate. A moment later, out over the sea, there is a dot of charcoal gray — a color that never goes out of fashion in the tropics. It looks hundreds of miles away but, pushed on by the enormous forces of the trade winds, it expands, moment by moment, as though flattened and pressed onto the horizon by some giant iron. In five minutes, no more, you see the enlarging cloud push fingers down into the sea. The cloud now is almost black, and its shaft of rain is deep gray. Suddenly, the tranquil sea becomes choppy. A few more moments and the dainty waves are large, white-topped swells. The sea seems twice the size it was only seconds before, and now is the time to leave the patio and race inside to close the louvered windows. Because, less than 10 minutes after the gray dot appeared, seemingly hundreds of miles away, you are lashed by what sounds and looks like the most horrendous and devastating storm in history. All is black. The house will be blown away. The trees will be uprooted. You think: We are finished. A few minutes later, tranquility returns. The sky is as ever. The wind is a zephyr. The sea is quivering back to normal with a leveled sigh. The trees are nodding quietly in the affirmative. All is well. It is as if nature, bored with being sweet and tender, decided to scream: "Damn!" And then, having gotten the nasty urge quickly out of its system, became placid again. Because nature decides to be obstreperous now and then, in the tropical summer places, the flora and fauna are never more brilliant than at this time. But still, solitude.

the "sophisticated" travelers think it wise to go north. It is traditional. However, we do not lament the tradition. Because as long as other tourists hold the mistaken impression that the tropical islands are less than magnificent in the rainy season, we can continue to stroll the white beaches in wondrous solitude.

Reds Say Film Shows Training of U. S. Spies

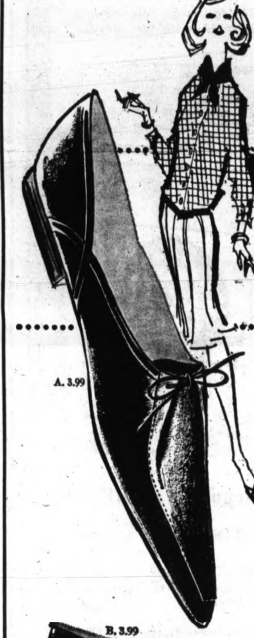

MOSCOW (AP)—A new documentary film, "On the Black Path," shows the actual training and operations of foreign spies, Tass said yesterday. "These men, engaged in their despicable activities, did not know that their every moment was followed by the eye of the camera," the agency said. One sequence deals with what was described as operations of American spies in Soviet Latvia and how they were followed by Soviet agents. The Tass report did not say when these pictures were taken.

15 Firms Charged With Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen companies and 12 individuals were charged yesterday with conspiring to fix prices for plastic pipe. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, announcing the charges were returned by a federal grand jury in Columbus, Ohio, said the defendants included United States Steel Corp., the B. F. Goodrich Co., Republic Steel Corp., and United States Rubber Co. None of the firms listed were headquartered in Michigan. Kennedy said the grand jury returned three antitrust indictments involving the sale of three kinds of plastic pipe.

Spirit of Cooperation Disappears Since Ravello

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

The spirit of Ravello was brief once Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy shifted holiday headquarters from Italy to Newport, R.I.

The photographers tried singing "O Sole Mio" on Narragansett Bay, but not even that worked. America's first family does not like having its privacy invaded by American photographers.

While Mrs. Kennedy was in Italy, entire battalions of Italian photographers were allowed to photograph her water skiing with Caroline, traipsing through the village square with Caroline; eating ice cream with Caroline.

Italian photographers. French photographers. British photographers. Fine. On the Amalfi Coast of Italy.

But not in Rhode Island.

The President, Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline were together at Newport last weekend when the ladies of the family returned from their long, joyous holiday in Italy.

They went boating Saturday afternoon in the Newport Harbor aboard the White House yacht Honey Fitz and for about five or six minutes, the President and his wife — Caroline was ashore at the time — stood in the fantail of the yacht for benefit of cameramen bobbing around in small craft.

SIGNALS CHANGED

Both were dressed appropriately, even sedately. The President was in a leather windbreaker and khaki slacks. Mrs. Kennedy wore a red sweater, white slacks and a soft blue kerchief over her hair.

Sunday afternoon, however, the signals changed abruptly.

The Kennedys took their daughter and about a dozen friends sailing on a coast guard yawl, the 62-foot Manitou, which the President has added to the White House fleet for the summer.

The presence of three still cameramen in one boat and three newsreel men in another suddenly became quite odious to the Kennedys.

Gone were the easy, carefree smiles for the Italian cameras. Two water-jet speedboats manned by security personnel, either Secret Service agents or sailors, and a Coast Guard patroil boat loaded with federal agents of all sorts, bore down on any craft that came within 100 yards of the Manitou.

The still cameramen ran ahead of the President to sail by. Mrs. Kennedy quickly shepherded Caroline to the other side of the sailing craft so the little child would not be exposed to the cameras. The President moved behind some of his friends so he could not be seen clearly by the lensmen. Mrs. Kennedy bent down low in the stern of the government boat.

Furthermore, the jet boats roared menacingly up to within a few feet of any boat suspected of having aboard so much as a home movie camera. One small outboard bearing a couple in from a fishing trip was run off course by a Secret Service man at the throttle on one of the jets, and this was about as senseless a maneuver as can be seen around most harbors.

The couple in question was returning from a trolling expedition. They were at least 100 yards from the Manitou. Furthermore, they paid the President's craft no attention whatever and apparently had no idea who was aboard.

In fact, this harassed couple probably doesn't know even now that they were threatening the privacy of Caroline, Mrs. Kennedy and possibly that of the President, himself.

European Auto Makers Joining New Model Parade

By BEN FLEIGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT—European auto manufacturers are joining the new model parade this fall in unprecedented numbers, especially in the small economy car class.

The Europeans never have followed the rigid annual model changeover ritual of the American companies. And even now they are concentrating on one or two models at a time, rather than a complete change from top to bottom.

As a starter, at least, most of the new ones appear destined for European sale. A few may find their way into the United States but at the moment one of the only companies with definite new importing plans is Renault.

Healey and Volkswagen all are up from last year. But only Volkswagen has been able to sell consistently in volume. It alone accounts for well over half of all the import sales.

Three of the new models being shown abroad are the Morris 1100 (British), the Simca 1000 (French) and the Opel Kadett (German). Soon to be unveiled is the Taunus 12M from Ford of Germany, a model which at one time was to have been built in the United States as the Ford Cardinal.

The Morris 1100 is a slightly larger version of the Morris 850, a popular seller in England and on the continent but never much of a factor in the American market. Among its new features is a suspension system which uses pressurized water to smooth the ride. The engine is mounted transversely between the front wheels, and like the 850, the 1100 is front wheel drive.

General Motors has said it has no plans to import the Kadett from Germany now that Ford has dropped the American Cardinal. A much larger Opel formerly was imported by Buick.

FIVE DIED HERE — A bucket loaded with two tons of cement (half hidden in center) came crashing down killing five construction workers yesterday when a cable on this crane snapped. They were working on a construction project at Loyola University in Los Angeles. Two other workmen were injured. On a post in the foreground are the steel helmets of some of the workmen.

The French automaker will bring in its new "RS" line starting next month.

One reason for the hesitation in the American market could be the continuing weak demand for foreign cars. Sales in the first six months were off 11 per cent from last year while domestic car sales in the same period were up almost 21 per cent.

A few makes have bucked the trend. Triumph, Volvo, Austin-

MOVE ENGINE
The Simca 1000 is the first model in which Simca has moved the engine from the front to the rear. Chrysler Corp., which owns 25 per cent of Simca, showed the 1000 at its press preview in Pennsylvania last month. But it has announced no immediate marketing plans for this country.

The Opel Kadett is a new sub-compact model designed to compete both in Germany and the European Common Market with Volkswagen. It is built on a 95-inch wheelbase compared with 84.5 for VW and weighs 1,474 pounds, or 150 pounds less than VW.

Renault has scheduled a press preview of its RS model for later this month in Puerto Rico. The RS uses a sealed cooling system and disc brakes. It will be priced above the current Renault Dauphine series.

Renault still is in second place in import sales in the United States. But it trailed its 1961 sales by 5,400 units in the first six months and is a distant 83,000 behind Volkswagen.

When Standard-Triumph introduced a new sports six convertible during the summer officials said they hoped to be able to overtake Renault for runner-up sales honors. After six months Triumph trailed Renault by about 7,000 units.

OK Readvertising for Property Bids

City commissioners Tuesday night authorized the City Clerk to readvertise for bids on city-owned property on South Saginaw Street at Franklin Road after rejecting two bids already received on the land.

The property being sold is made up of Lots 34, A.P. 88, which is partially leased to Carter Tire Co. Commissioners had advertised the land for sale to some 45 displaced parties in the city's R20 urban renewal area attempting to add them in relocation. Only two bids were received, one from a party who was ruled ineligible because he was outside the R20 area, a planning department report revealed last night.

Both bids were below the appraised value of the land. Planners recommended the property be re-advertised and that bidding be left open to anyone, in or out of urban renewal. Commissioners complied with the recommendation.

Burn Cross at Barracks of Negro Servicemen

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP) — A cross was burned Wednesday into a lawn outside a barracks housing Negro servicemen at Westover Air Force Base. Three "K's" that could have meant Ku Klux Klan were marked on the side of the building.

A public information officer confirmed the happening Wednesday night and added that police concluded the incident was possibly a prank.

Mild exercise is just what your heart needs at first.

Weight, Age, Exercise

Don't 'Break' Your Heart

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What a wonderful organ the heart is! We attribute our most intense emotions to it. We speak of a "broken heart," a "aching heart" and a "heart full of love." Actually, one feels that such emotions literally rise from the heart. Then, too, we are alive so long as our heart beats.

We may sometimes feel half dead or only half alive, but so long as that good faithful pump keeps going, we ARE alive.

What a job it does, against all odds sometimes! It works while we sleep and comes to our rescue when we run, or dance or swim. It has been estimated that the average heart beats 42 million beats a year. It gives us a change of blood over the body about once every minute.

POOR HEART

Our heart tries so hard in so many ways, and what problems we give it! We may burden it with overweight so that it must pump blood through miles of extra blood vessels which feed the extra pounds.

Practically everyone now knows that obesity places a great strain on the heart and makes the chances of heart disease much more likely. Overweight has become a health as well as a cosmetic hazard.

The heart is a muscle and therefore thrives on exercise. We damage it with a sedentary life. Of course, it needs the right kind of exercise for its condition. Like any other muscle, it should not be subjected to sudden, violent exercise to which it is not accustomed, but treated to mild exercises at first, which very gradually become more strenuous.

PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Two simple measures with which you could protect your heart are the correct weight and the right sort of regular exercise. If you are middle aged or older, the buildup should be very gradual. Before beginning a routine of exercise, you should have your blood pressure and your heart checked and, of course, if you have had any heart trouble, you must follow your doctors directions exactly.

Remember, too that "hit and miss" exercise has little value and can be dangerous. Do not suddenly turn into a weekend athlete. It is the day by day exercise, even though mild, which is beneficial both to your heart and to your figure.

Heart disease is a number one threat to those lovely years we wish to live, and according to the statistical bulletin of a large life insurance company, white males are the only group which have shown an almost continuous upward trend in heart trouble since 1954.

So, if you are a man, take heed. If you are a wife, try to take care of your husband as well as

Newlyweds Reside in Lake Orion

Residing in Lake Orion are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Dennis D. Morgan. The couple exchanged vows at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Robert Shelton officiating.

For her marriage, the former Karen Marlene Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael R. Martin of Second Street, chose a ballerina-length gown of white rose lace featuring a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Her shoulder-length veil was secured by a rhinestone tiara. She carried striped red and white carnations.

Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrow of Waterford was her sister's matron of honor. Serving as best man was Bernard Kibbe of Lake Orion.

Ushers included Michael Crawley and John Mowery. Parents of the bridegroom are the Lee D. Morgans of Lake Orion.

Stubble Means Double Trouble

New Book Trend: the 'I Hate' Manuals

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Did you know there's now a cook book aimed at the woman who loathes shaping meat balls and rolling out pie crusts called the "I Hate to Cook Book"?

If it sells well — and it probably will — it ought to open up a whole new field of how-to books for the publishing trade.

I can see the titles now, can't you?

The "I Hate Housekeeping Manual" which shows the woman who hates housework how to do as little of it as possible and still get by.

The "I Hate Children" book of child care, listing all the ways in which a woman can palm her children off on someone else during most of their waking hours by enrolling them in all sorts of classes and organizations and activities.

It would give the mother all kinds of justification for keeping them out from under foot as much as possible.

The "I Hate Marriage Manual" telling women who are unhappy with their husbands how to hang onto them, anyhow.

The "I Hate Gardening Book" for women who want to know how to keep up a yard without cultivating a green thumb.

(Some of the gardening magazines are already offering articles aimed in this direction, rhapsodizing over the beauty of large parking areas, carefree ground cover, pebbled areas, and so on to replace grass and flowers.)

First we had the "How to..." books and now maybe we're ready for a series of "how to succeed" without really caring or trying?" books.

You'll have to care and try to read Ruth Millett's booklet, "Tips on Teenagers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 408, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Shears Sturdy

According to National Notion Association research, a good pair of shears, properly cared for, will last 20 years. There are many instances where they have performed valiantly while being passed down through many generations.

Shearing Success

The first shears, according to the National Notion Association, were a V-like springy arrangement of two honed blades. The first crossed-bladed shears with a center pivot did not come into use until the First Century A. D.

Marries Watford Man

Honeymooning in Key West, Fla., was the 24-year-old Mrs. Robert Joss of Clark, Mo., who was the sister-in-law of Mrs. Richard C. Shell. They will be there for eight weeks before Mrs. Shell is transferred to the Naval station at Norfolk, Va.

The bride, the former Valerie Rapp, is the daughter of the Grant R. Rapps of Waleka, Fla. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shell of Seeden Street, Watford Township.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of lace and tulle with a bouffant skirt. She wore an illusion veil and carried a cascade of white feathered carnations and white rosebuds.

Stitch in Time?

With a space ship as a needle, according to the National Notion Association, the moon could be sewn to the earth with two thousand (round-trip) stitches before it exhausted the equivalent of one year's thread consumption by American's home sewers.

Chili Sauce Made Easily
Without Long CookingBy JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Food Editor

It's too bad to let the fresh tomato season go by without making some chili sauce. Even if you don't care much about eating and preserving, you'll like this recipe. And it takes only a peck of tomatoes. Mrs. David Morgan is our cook today. She wasn't enthusiastic about having her name used, but we believe in giving credit to our cooks.

UNCOOKED CHILI SAUCE

By Mrs. David Morgan

1 peck tomatoes

12 onions
2 bunches celery
1/4 cup salt
3 ground hot peppers or
3 red sweet peppers

Grind or chop tomatoes, onions and celery. Add salt and let stand overnight. Drain the next morning. Add ground peppers.

Boil 1 quart cider vinegar with 6 cups sugar and one teaspoon each ginger and cloves and cayenne pepper. Pour hot over the vegetable mixture and seal in jars.

What Today's Teen-Agers Think:

Most Youngsters Agree Tests Are Okay

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co.

Tests are part and parcel of life, and there's no getting away from them.

You begin to face them in school but they don't stop there. More and more they are being used to determine advancement and promotion in later life.

How many tests do teenagers take during the course of a year?

We decided to ask you for an accounting — and also what you think of intelligence tests or others that are used to measure your general knowledge.

There were just a few — actually, only 13 — out of the 1,007 young people questioned in our survey who reported they had no tests whatsoever during the span of a year.

Nearly a third said they were confronted with two such tests each year, 20 per cent said they got only one, 15 per cent reported getting three and 10 per cent as many as four.

Are such tests fair? Yes, said 67 per cent of the group.

The most lighthearted comment on the subject came from William McCloud, 17, of Okemos, Mich., who apparently has given considerable thought to the matter. He said he thought the tests were fair, and explained:

"The scores on these tests when compared with the classroom grades tell quite a lot."

"If a person scores high on his test but has low classroom grades, then it is very likely that he is having problems. I think that a person should not be judged on one thing alone, such as classroom grades.

"The tests give the teacher another view of the student. If a person should score low on his test but has high classroom grades, then I believe the tests should not be accepted as a valid yardstick of the person's ability."

"This happens to many above-average students because they are just not able to do well on these types of tests."

SAME VIEWPOINT

That marathon explanation just about covered every viewpoint expressed by others.

More than half of you, 57 per cent, reported that you are allowed to know the results of the tests. Of those who said such information is kept secret, we found that nearly 80 per cent said they think they should be told the results.

"The tests are designed to test our intelligence," said John Reisinger, 15, of Tacoma, Wash. "Such tests are a failure if the person tested is left in the dark and is not allowed to know what he is weak in."

The objections to revealing test results were stated mildly in terms of causing people to become either big-headed because of a high score or depressed because of a low score.

Also, giving results leads to comparisons, and a number of you said, in effect, that this is not the purpose of testing.

There is one thing that you agree on to a considerable degree. That is your ability to do better in such tests as you take more and more of them.

"The ability to concentrate on them increases with age," said Jerry Morgan, 15, of Kansas City, Mo., in explanation.

"As time passes, I can increase my speed and accuracy," reported Joan Wenke, 14, of La Grange, Texas. "I usually don't have to change answers because I've learned to read carefully the first time."

While 75 per cent of you say your test-ability increases with famil-arity, just about the same number report scoring very well in tests.

Of those who said no to this query, there were a considerable number reporting that they thought they did not score very well, but actually they had never seen their scores. They just felt they'd done poorly.

In the sound-off department, we asked you what you would substitute for such tests, if you had the chance — and assuming you didn't want them anymore.

We got some nonsense answers, with a considerable number saying that tests should be replaced by "nothing." But one girl from Philadelphia, Zeffine Sandler, 16, suggested "essay tests, or more general type tests, not multiple choice."

Dan Black, 17, of Albuquerque, N.M., suggested "psychological analysis," and a 16-year-old from New York recommended that there be "an aptitude test that would cover a long period of time."

Fur Silhouettes Do
Emphasize Simplicity

By GAIL DUGAS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Semifitted straight or curvy: these are the important fur silhouettes for fall.

The emphasis is on simplicity and elegance. Gone are those bathrobes made out of mink. Replacing them are mink and leopard coats with a young, swingy look.

This casual air carries over into jackets of mink and sable. They remind you of one of those thick, bubbly sweater jackets done on a far more lavish scale.

Shaping of the new furs suggests the body lines. But neither coats nor jackets cling. The cut is both clean and exact. The concave front is most often balanced by a straight flat back though there are some full backs to be seen.

Flat furs and longhairs compete with each other for fall fashion attention. Mink, sable and leopard lead off the fashion list to be followed by river otter, beaver, fur seals, broadtail, Persian and chin-chilla.

Little fur wraps are shaped like kerchiefs or triangles and fasten securely with button or bow. They solve that problem of what to do with a sliding fur, the problem created by the mink stole now passing from fashion favor. The new wraps need neither grabbing nor clutching nor do they hang down like terry towels draped from shoulders.

While some designs are using one fur as trim for another (black mink on black Russian broadtail), the general tendency is to keep trimming toned down. The shape of fur is the thing this fall.

Indicate Waistline

For fall, those bulky sweaters take on a new and very slight shaping to the body. This does NOT mean tight. It means that the waistline is just indicated.

Actions of U.S., Russia Leave Civilization Whirling

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — Civilization sometimes looks as calm as a beautiful stained glass window. Sometimes it looks as disturbed as a stained glass window that has been hit with an empty beer bottle.

All in one day Robert Frost read one of his poems in Moscow; the United States assured Moscow it had good intentions in outer space; Moscow accused the United States and its allies of doubletalk; and a senator revealed that most of the supplies going to Fidel Castro's Cuba for a military build-up are being delivered in ships of this country's allies.

In a Moscow library Frost read one of his poems in Moscow; the United States assured Moscow it had good intentions in outer space; Moscow accused the United States and its allies of doubletalk; and a senator revealed that most of the supplies going to Fidel Castro's Cuba for a military build-up are being delivered in ships of this country's allies.

States is extremely unhappy about the fence in Berlin. NEIGHBORLY SPIRIT In a talk full of the spirit of neighborliness, in outer space, Wednesday night Zvezda L. G. G. patric, deputy secretary of defense, made a speech in Indiana about defense contracts and then threw in this:

The United States has no intention of expanding the arms race to outer space and has no program to place any weapons of mass destruction into orbit.

Just in case the Soviets got the notion from what he said that the United States is a patric, G. G. patric added that this country has a continuing program to make sure it can cope with any "military challenge in outer space."

Gilpatrick's statement amounted to official U.S. policy. A Pentagon spokesman said the speech had been cleared by the White House. But, while the administration's intention may be good, it doesn't follow the effect will be.

The Soviets accused the West of doubletalk about wanting tensions eased at all and told them either to sign a peace treaty with East Germany, which they've already said they won't do, or get out of the city.

In the past few weeks news that 15 Soviet ships—that's the largest number reported—had carried Soviet military supplies to Cuba was like putting a lit match to this country's anti-Castro temper.

MOTHER OF 15 BURIED — Fifteen children gather beside the casket of their mother, Mrs. Austin Casey, at graveside service in St. John's Catholic cemetery yesterday at Darwin, Minn. Mrs. Casey, a widow, was one of six persons killed in a car collision near Litchfield, Minn., Saturday. Rev. D. J. Eichinger (left) conducts the service which was delayed until several sons could return from military assignments.

Building Activity Up in August in Waterford

Building activity during August in Waterford Township reflected a marked improvement over the same month a year ago, but permit valuation for the first eight months of 1962 lags far behind that of the comparable 1961 period.

In August this year a total of 166 permits were let valued at $747,716. During the same month last year 136 permits were issued at a value of $676,341.

Total valuation of permits issued during the first eight months of 1962 amounts to $4,825,137 compared to $6,738,983 during the same period in 1961.

The 34 residential permits let during the past month were six more than in the same month a year ago. Valuations were $542,830 and $432,580 on the 1962 and 1961 residential permits respectively.

Permits for additions to existing homes represented the greatest numerical increase in the comparative months. A total of 33 were issued this past month at a valuation of $62,271 compared to six in August last year valued at $9,730.

And the Russians, as it to fortify Wiley's dubiety, Wednesday night made it clear they not only wouldn't agree with the Western allies on how to solve the Berlin problem but wouldn't even agree to talk about solving it.

They refused once again to join the United States, Britain and France in a four-power discussion on how to ease tension in that German city which is split in half by a massive hunk of Communist concrete.

President Kennedy confirmed that the Russians were sending in supplies. Then the Russians and Germany, Norway and Greece.

TB Tests Intended for 62,000 Children

An estimated 62,000 children in 10 Oakland County school districts will be given tests for tuberculosis in the 1962-63 school year, the Oakland County Health Department announced today.

The tests are part of a state-wide program to wipe out tuberculosis.

Since 1957, more than 102,000 school children in the county have been given the tuberculin skin tests. In the 1961-62 school year alone 40,000 were tested.

The new series of tests will be carried out in Oxford, Clarkston, Brandon, Dublin, South Lyon, Bloomfield, Oak Park, Birmingham, Southfield and Farmington school districts.

The first tests will be given in the Oxford school district the week of Sept. 24 through Sept. 28.

Only those children who present at the school a consent card signed by a parent will be tested, said Dr. John A. Monroe, county health director.

Last year, he said, 132 new active cases were found in Oakland County.

The most encouraging development, Dr. Monroe said, is the sharp decline in inactive cases found.

"This figure is important because these inactive cases represent part of the reservoir of tuberculosis in Oakland County," Dr. Monroe explained, "and new infections of TB will spring from inactive cases."

Before each testing date consent cards will be sent home with each child, children who were positive reactors in previous programs will not be tested.

Any child who shows a positive reaction to the tests will be given a free X-ray by the health department, along with adult members of his family and other adults who have been in close contact with the child, Dr. Monroe said.

The testing program is made possible by the cooperation of the schools, the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association, the Michigan Department of Health, and the Oakland County Department of Health.

Soviet Paper Hits Lag in Harvesting

MOSCOW (AP)—The official newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya (Soviet Russia) complained yesterday grain harvesting is lagging badly in some regions.

"The country," Sovetskaya Rossiya declared, "needs bread and not promises."

It criticized farmers and government officials for offering excuses. "One cannot forever refer to the weather to specific conditions, and do nothing to improve farming efficiency," the newspaper said.

Sovetskaya Rossiya said in some areas, notably in Siberia and in the Altai region of Kazakhstan, the grain procurement plan had been fulfilled only by 12 to 17 per cent as of Sept. 1.

Goldwater Doubts Attack From Cuba

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., told newsmen Wednesday night the Soviet Union will not attack the United States from Cuba, but the Soviets can support revolutions in Latin America from the island.

Earlier, in Tacoma, he told a newsmen, "If it were left up to the American people we would be in Cuba tonight."

"I don't think Russia would fight for Cuba," he said, "but as long as we are not going to protect ourselves Russia is going to take the advantage we give her."

Doctors Report Herbert Hoover Is Improving

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors caring for former President Herbert Hoover said yesterday that the 88-year-old former chief executive was continuing to improve in his recuperation from surgery last week.

A tumor was removed from Hoover's large intestine. Doctors confirmed that the growth was cancerous, but said they did not expect any recurrence of the malignancy.

Dem Split of Interest in N.Y. Primary

NEW YORK (AP) — A Democratic party split provided most of the interest in the New York state primary election today. One contest found President Kennedy's 14-term Rep. Charles A. Buckley to win Democratic renomination to Congress and retain his party leadership post in the Bronx. Reform Democrats opposed him. Kennedy, long a personal friend of Buckley, endorsed his re-election bid. Buckley, 72, is chairman of the House Public Works Committee.

BACKED REFORM

Wagner supported the entire Bronx reform ticket, including Buckley's opponent, David H. Levy, 33. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman also backed Levy.

After the White House endorsement, however, Wagner eased up on his opposition to Buckley, last night on the Wagner list of old-time political bosses he vowed to destroy.

Swainson Proclaims 'Child Safety Week'

LANSING (U) — Gov. Swainson has proclaimed the period of Sept. 3-12 as Child Safety Week.

His proclamation said "I urge all our people, during this critical 'back-to-school' week and the weeks to come, to practice extreme caution so that our children may live to enjoy the blessings and responsibilities of adult citizenship."

statement supporting some other reform candidates. Heavy voting was predicted in the city, where polls were to be open from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. Balloting in upstate counties was scheduled for noon to 9 p.m.

The primary involved 103 local and district public offices and hundreds of party offices.

Candidates for statewide office will be picked at party conventions convening later this month. The Democrats in Syracuse and the Republicans in Buffalo.

Four Democrats are campaigning for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. They are former U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau of Manhattan, Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor of Queens, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and industrialist Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua. Morgenthau is reported to have the as-yet-unannounced support of both Kennedy and Wagner.

Cubans to Interfere With U.S. Missiles?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban Revolutionary Council said on Wednesday night that arms shipments being sent into Cuba by the Soviet Union would be used to interfere with U.S. missile launches.

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban exile group, said in a statement: "In different sections of Cuba, principally in the north coast of the province of Pinar del Rio, missile rocket bases and electronic equipment are being installed for warlike operations."

EARLY WINNERS — Miss Mississippi, Charlotte Ann Carroll (left) was judged best in talent with a comedy song-and-dance routine while Miss Illinois, Pamela Gilbert, took top honors in swim suit in the first preliminary contests for the Miss America crown. Fifty-four are entered in the competition at Atlantic City, N. J., convention hall.

Takes Talent Trophy in Beauty Contest

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — In the name of talent, one Miss America contestant pretended to die on Convention Hall stage, another fished and some recited poetry.

But the first of three talent trophies went to a contestant who did a zany imitation of Popeye's girlfriend Olive Oyl.

Miss Mississippi, Charlotte Ann Carroll, of Weithall — figured to cause laughter during the preliminary contest designed to help select 10 girls to compete in the Miss America finals Saturday night.

She had the audience of 6,000 paid admissions howling the minute she appeared in high top tennis shoes, baggy pants, a checkerboard potato sack blouse and black yarn wig.

The physical education major from Delta State College also proved by never standing still that she's physically fit. She sang, hoed, pranced and twisted, going into knock-kneed stances and dance. Last night's swim-suit trophy in the first of three rounds of competition went to Miss Illinois, Pamela Gilbert, of Carbondale.

Miss Gilbert, daughter of Illinois State Sen. John Gilbert, intends to teach mentally retarded children, when she graduates from college.

Winners of the first two trophies may or may not make it to the top 10 and the finals on Saturday night.

It takes a degree in calculus plus an electronic brain to understand the scoring system. Since part of the scoring is kept secret. Roughly, here's how it works: Contestants each night are assigned to one of three groups of 18. One night they compete in talent, while others compete in swim suits and evening gowns.

Winners of the evening gown competitions are not announced. The typical contestant by Saturday will have competed in talent, swim suit, and evening gown.

Parcel of Land in Downtown NY Finally Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny parcel of land—holding a three-story building surrounded by the 70-story RCA Building at 50th street and Sixth avenue—has been sold after being owned by one family for 110 years.

The 25-by-66-foot corner property was sold Wednesday for $380,000 to a group which plans to hold it as an investment.

The frontage was bought in 1832 for $1,600 by a grocer, John F. Boronowsky. It passed to his daughter and later to her son, J. Fred Maxwell, who died last May. The family refused to sell when Rockefeller Center was built in the 1930s.

SEEKS NOMINATION — U. S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau announced his resignation in New York yesterday to seek the Democratic nomination for governor. Morgenthau, 43, is opposed by three other candidates.

Find 1 in Seven Cancer Risks

Toledo-Area Survey of Women Proposes Frequent Checks

CHICAGO (AP)—A mass test of Ohio Women for cancer of the womb has yielded a finding and a warning.

The finding: one of every seven women so examined fell into a high-risk class.

The warning: such women should have more frequent check-ups, preferably twice a year.

The study stemmed from an extraordinary long-term program, launched in 1947, to improve the cure rate for cervical cancer in Lucas County (Toledo), Ohio.

During the years 19,783 women were examined—more than two-thirds of all the women over 30.

Of the total, 36,549 were examined at least twice.

HIGH OR LOW

The report said women examined for symptoms of uterine cancer and given a smear test could be tagged as either high or low risk. It showed that 14 per cent of all women examined more than once were in the high-risk group.

The study noted that there is a high rate of salvage of uterine cancer patients when the disease is detected early and treated promptly. But it also stressed the difficulty of examining 57 million American women.

Then the report pointed out that establishing a means of defining high-risk women could make it easier to persuade such women to be examined once a year or more often, if necessary.

The study reported to the society was conducted by Dr. Edward L. Burns of Toledo; Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, statistical research director of the American Cancer Society; and Dr. T. W. Gorski, research director of the Cancer Cytology Research Fund, Toledo.

Strikes Back at Critics of U.S. Space Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Space Committee, today struck back at "Monday morning quarterbacks" whose teeth start chattering after every Russian "spectacular" in space. Miller, in a speech prepared for House delivery, said these critics have demanded more emphasis on military applications in space in response to the Soviet space effort. He said the Soviet space program is "a constant state of flux, with projects starting, stopping and shifting in response to each new Soviet development."

Miller said a heavy effort in military space projects has long been under way. The U.S. military space effort this year will cost about $1.5 billion. Most of it will be spent on such projects as missile-warning and reconnaissance satellites, a communication satellite system and other nonweapon devices.

Miller told the House "our defense officials are not dolt, and suspect that their decisions are based on information and intelligence which is somewhat superior to that of their lay critics."

Miller said in his speech that the implications of the Soviet space program "are no reason for us to put our program in a constant state of flux, with projects starting, stopping and shifting in response to each new Soviet development."

Furthermore, Miller said, "I don't believe we are doing badly."

City Board Returns to Full Strength as Irwin Takes Post

The City planning commission was back to full strength last night at its September meeting with the addition of newly appointed Robert C. Irwin to the seven-man board.

Irwin, 33, of 435 W. Iroquois Road, was appointed to the post Tuesday night by the City Commission.

He is filling the vacancy created when William F. Kalvits resigned in July because of illness. His term expires next May.

The new planning commission member is a partner in the real estate firm of John K. Irwin & Sons, 313 W. Huron St.

This is the first time he has served on a commission-appointed board. Irwin is vice president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors and a member of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club. He is a lifetime resident of Pontiac.

Frost's Poetry Has Translators in Delicate Spot

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet translators for Robert Frost found themselves in a delicate position Wednesday as the U.S. poet recited some of his poetry, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

The dispatch, reporting the difficulties of the translators said: "They had to appear before Russians who knew English and before Americans from the embassy who knew Russian immediately after the originals were read. Nevertheless, their translations were warmly received, and the young translator, Andrei Sergeev, was applauded not less than the veteran Ivan Kashkin."

Protests of Hunger Reported in Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A clandestine shortwave radio said Wednesday night that hunger protests recently erupted in Cuba's Las Villas Province.

The broadcast, from an unknown point, was the fifth such picked up in Key West. It charged the Fidel Castro regime's "committee for the defense" of spying into private citizens' affairs to prevent internal rebellion.

The announcer said "they (committee members) will have to face the tribunals of free Cuba when Castro's Communist regime is overthrown." He added that the first punishment would be to shave committee members' heads.

The broadcaster said a hunger strike in Cabaiguán, Las Villas Province, resulted in the arrest of 150 persons.

Housing Projects Tops for Paying Rent on Time

IRLHAM, England (AP)—Irlham's municipal housing program has gone 15 years without a tenant being behind in his rent.

Some of the 2,018 tenants have paid a total of 1,300 pounds ($3,600) in advance.

"We have a good team of rent collectors who get on well with the tenants," said town treasurer Ronald Warburton.

"We have only six people unemployed in the town," he continued, "and many tenants like to pay a little extra each week so that they do not get in arrears at holiday times and during sickness."

Florida Reshuffle Approved in Court

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Florida legislature's reapportionment plan was approved yesterday by a federal court.

A three-judge court ruled the formula for 46 senators and 133 representatives may go on the Nov. 6 general election ballot.

The ruling said, "if the constitutional amendment which the Florida legislature has submitted to the electors of the state for ratification or rejection... is ratified, the state will have then adopted a rational plan of reapportionment."

The decision declared that the ratification would mean elimination of "invidious discrimination"—a term which the court had applied to current representation when on July 13 it ordered reapportionment.

U.S. Employment Nears 70-Million Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — People snorted when Henry Wallace predicted two decades ago that U.S. employment would hit 60 million jobs. It did, and now is on the verge of crossing 70 million. The Labor Department reported Wednesday that instead of declining by more than 250,000 in August as expected, employment climbed by nearly 200,000 to 69,762,000.

This is the greatest number ever employed in history and Labor Department officials expressed confidence today that the 70-million mark will be reached before the year is over. It was back in 1943 in the midst of World War II that Henry Wallace, a controversial figure in the Roosevelt New Deal era, predicted that employment, then 54.5 million, would jump to 60 million in a decade.

Many laughed at the idea because the nation was bending every effort and using all available manpower to achieve maximum production to win the war. They felt, too, there would be a big job decline when the war ended.

But Wallace's prediction came true in 1950, three years early, as production continued high to meet postwar civilian demand. By 1958 there were 65 million employed. The August job report put out by the Labor Department contained a set of mixed trends. Besides the unexpected employment gain, it showed a far less than anticipated improvement in unemployment and a large increase in the over-all labor force.

Seymour Wolbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, told a news conference that basically the job picture is continuing as it has all year—employment is showing encouraging and steady growth but unemployment is failing to improve accordingly. To the experts, this means that a great many workers displaced from jobs by machines are going to have to be retrained in new skills if they are to come off the idle rolls. They are hopeful that the new government retraining program will help.

The August report showed that unemployment declined by 86,000, instead of the seasonally expected 150,000, to 3,932,000. The civilian labor force increased by more than 100,000 to nearly 74 million, distort the August figures beyond what was expected included: (1) 1963 models, so auto workers were technically counted as unemployed; (2) There was an unusually large influx of adults in the work force; and (3) The survey caught the auto industry in the midst of changing over to 1963 models, so auto workers were counted as unemployed.

Try, Try Again Kicked Out of U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A 17-year-old Mexican headed for home today after being deported from the United States for the eighth time. He said he thought he'd make his ninth try soon.

"Maybe I'll get through next time," he said, "and it takes a lot of work to earn good money. I want to be a U.S. citizen."

Helpless and confused with two extra shirts in a paper bag, Ignacio hid in another Eastern airliner before it took off from Mexico City last Friday. He was discovered 20 minutes after it took off. U.S. officials took the youth into custody on his arrival in New York and held him until the return trip.

Ignacio said he would return to his home in Ensenada, about 60 miles south of San Diego, Calif. His parents and five brothers and sisters live in Ensenada.

NASA Studies Landing Wings

Can Be Tucked Into Spacecraft; May Be Key to Safe Return

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency is experimenting with a weird cross between a glider and a parachute which may enable astronauts of the future to land their spacecraft like airplanes.

This "paraglider" is called the Rogallo Wing for Francis Rogallo, who thought it up at the Langley (Va.) Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

It can be packed in 10 cubic feet of space and inflated upon ejection into a 45-foot wing roughly resembling a giant version of the paper airplanes school kids have been sailing in classrooms since the turn of the century.

The Rogallo Wing, which struts some people as resembling those of a bat, may be used for ground landings of the two-man Gemini spacecraft which are scheduled to start orbital flights in the middle of next year.

If the wing works all right for Gemini, it may be adapted to the three-man Apollo spacecraft being developed for America's moon missions.

In repeated flight tests, pilot of Rogallo wings have been towed into the sky by airplanes and then released for successful, controlled landings.

These storable and inflatable wings will give astronauts far more control over their destinies than pilots of the one-man Mercury space program possess. The ton-and-a-half Mercury cabin is wingless.

Once its retro-rockets put it in a descent-from-orbit trajectory, there is nothing the pilot can do to change its course appreciably before impact. The Mercury spacecraft is lowered to a fairly gentle landing by a 63-foot parachute which opens at 10,000 feet.

All Mercury flights are planned to end at sea although they are so built, with shock-absorbing material, that the pilots would survive land impact.

PRISONERS RIOT—Deputies collared some of the prisoners who rioted in the Bexar County jail at San Antonio, Tex., yesterday after fire hoses and wax bullets ended the disturbance. The prisoners complained of poor food, but Sheriff Bill Hauck said he thinks the prisoners were trying to test him. He has been sheriff less than a month.

Police Quell Riot Over Nike in Japan

YOKOHAMA, Japan (UPI)—Railway police clashed today with about 80 Socialist demonstrators who tried to prevent the shipment of Nike anti-aircraft missiles to Japanese bases near Tokyo.

At least 12 demonstrators and three police were injured, witnesses reported.

The clash occurred when the leftists tried to block a freight train carrying the missiles to the base at Koga, on the outskirts of Tokyo.

The official visit of De Gaulle is the first by a French head of state. De Gaulle's visit took on importance as he and Adenauer appear to be on the verge of joining France and West Germany in a political union.

Vice President Gets Warm Welcome From Neapolitans

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson brought his goodwill tour to Naples today and won the warmest, wildest welcome of his Italian stay.

Neapolitans by the thousand lined the streets of this colorful southern city that has sent millions of immigrants to America. The crowds cheered, chanted, applauded, waved and shouted.

"Viva Johnson, Viva America," Johnson, turning bilingual for the first time since he arrived in Italy two days ago, stood up in his open car and shouted "Viva Napoli!" (Long live Naples). The crowds screamed with delight.

In a speech at Naples airport the Vice President hailed the city as "A gateway for Americans coming to Italy and Europe and a gateway for Italians going to America."

In a reference to violent earthquakes that shook the Naples area last month, he said "We are glad your city was spared serious damage and hope that reconstruction can be accomplished quickly."

De Gaulle, Adenauer Shun Allies' Advice

France, Bonn Head to Political Union

BONN (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer appeared today to be rushing France and Germany toward political union despite advice of their allies to go slow.

Both Adenauer, 86, and De Gaulle, 71, are known to feel that political union of Western Europe is necessary to block Communist expansion and last night they said the time had come to start doing something about it.

"It is necessary to act now," De Gaulle told a state dinner.

"Those who are ready to act should act," Adenauer answered, "and I believe the others would join us."

It was not determined whether the two planned to sign some formal agreement before De Gaulle goes home Sunday night, or whether they just hoped to jar their Common Market allies into speedier progress toward political integration.

The Benelux countries feel political union should be delayed until Britain has joined the Common Market. The sixth member, Italy, wants any steps toward unity to be slow and cautious.

SPECIFIC IDEAS SECRET

Adenauer's press chief said the private talks which began yesterday were concerned mainly with the political construction of Europe.

What specific ideas they discussed were kept secret.

British diplomats took a resigned view of the situation. They doubted London could delay continental political union pending disposition of Britain's application for membership in the Common Market if Adenauer and De Gaulle decide to forge ahead.

Several senior newsmen had been invited to take a boat trip up the Rhine with De Gaulle and Adenauer today but the invitations were canceled last night—possibly to let the two continue their talks in greater privacy. It was clear the two men were deadly serious.

At a dinner Tuesday night, De Gaulle said all the necessary proposals for organizing European political union had been made and, in view of delays caused by external influences, France and Germany have every reason to "lighten their relationship without delay."

Last night Adenauer advised his 110 guests that every German "ought to read these sentences several times because they contain extraordinary clarity."

De Gaulle then delivered his call for action and added:

"Even if other states would be astonished, one could still have an untroubled conscience and say the first reaction of these states, namely to join Europe, was the correct one."

Prices of Food Hit 17-Month High This Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Wholesale food prices hit a 17-month high this week and scored the biggest year to year rise in any week since March 1961. Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., said yesterday.

It listed the index at $6.11, the highest since February of 1961 and a 2.5 per cent jump from the $5.96 of the same time last year. That rise contrasts with what have usually been decreases on a year to year basis.

The index, reflecting the total price of one pound each of 31 foods in general use, was $5.91 last week.

Higher for the week were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, hams, jelly, butter, cocoa, eggs, steers and hogs.

Lower were barley, sugar, coffee, cottonseed oil, potatoes and lamb.

Chocolate and Vanilla Team Up in Pretty Black and White Desserts

There's a trick to pointing up the flavor of food. One way to achieve it is to match a flavor with its opposite. The most successful example of this is the long-favored combination of chocolate and vanilla. Together each seems more appealing than alone.

A dramatically vanilla-topped chocolate dessert is Frosted Thompson Seedless grapes. Simple to make, the cookies consist of a layer of quick brownies containing sugared corn flakes. When baked, cover with halved marshmallows and semi-sweet chocolate pieces. After a few moments under the broiler, the chocolate and softened marshmallows may be swirled together to create a deliciously variegated frosting.

Another brownie has a mosaic of flavor inside. The chocolate portion of Peanut Raisin Marble Squares twists through a tempting peanut and raisin-studded batter. Serve these whole bean cereal squares as a dessert or snack.

A crisp chocolate topping highlights Black and White Crunch Squares. To make them, bake a quick-mix square white cake. While it is still oven-warm, spread on a mixture of melted semi-sweet chocolate pieces and crushed oven-toasted rice cereal. Keep this speedily rising idea in mind for other simple sheet cakes.

Frosted Brownie Mallow Squares
1 cup sugared corn flakes
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup chopped nuts

16 regular marshmallows, cut in half
1/2 cup (3 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
Crush sugared corn flakes slightly.

Melt chocolate and butter together in heavy 2-quart saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat. Add sugar and stir until blended. Add eggs and vanilla; beat well. Stir in flour, sugared corn flakes and nuts. Spread in greased 11x17-inch baking pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 30 minutes.

Remove from oven; top with marshmallows and sprinkle with chocolate pieces. Place pan about 8 inches below broiler unit; broil about 3 minutes or until marshmallows are soft and slightly brown. Swirl chocolate through marshmallow immediately after removing from oven. Cool; cut into squares. Yield: 35 1 1/2-inch squares.

CURRIED SHRIMP WITH GRAPES — Golden-green Thompson Seedless, sweet, tender-skinned and completely seedless, are a delightful addition to curried shrimp.

Enjoy Seedless Green Grapes

It's because of a very lucky accident that we have today the luscious clusters of large green-gold Thompson Seedless grapes. It all started about seventy years ago in Yuba City, California with one very lucky little old-ball grape cutting which was to become the ancestor of the mighty Thompson empire.

A farmer in Sutter County, William Thompson, ordered vine grape cuttings from somewhere near the Mediterranean. When they arrived everything seemed as ordered, except for three or four cuttings which looked different. Thompson planted these by themselves, just to see what might happen.

Misfortune struck all but that one little cutting. This one thrived and grew lusty; it went bearing golden green, deliciously sweet and tender-skinned grapes. Amazingly enough, they were seedless.

Today this little grapevine's descendants are legion. Forty-eight per cent of California's half million acres of vineyards are planted to Thompsons. Here is a grape which is all things to all people. It's such a delicious table grape that it takes $6,000 to $8,000 carloads of fresh Thompsons each year to fill the American fruit bowl. Additionally about 90 per cent of California's raisins are made from Thompsons, while still another part of these handsome grapes is used in making white dessert wines.

For many years growers of Thompson Seedless have increased the size of the individual berry by grafting the vine. At a certain time, after the berries have formed, they skin off a thin, narrow ring of bark from all around the lower part of the grape vine. This keeps the sweet sap high in the vine where it can increase grape size rather than flowing back to be stored in the vine's root system.

Recently Thompsons Seedless grapes intended for table use have been treated with gibberellin. This is a chemical with a hormone effect even when used in amounts as diluted as 8 to 16 parts per million parts of water. "Gib" as the growers call it, not only makes the individual berries grow larger, but the cluster size is increased as well. If Thompsons come to market a bit later than formerly it's due to the fact that they have had this extra growing to do!

When all is said and done, no doubt the greatest virtue of Thompsons is still seedlessness and flavor. This makes it not only neat and easy for eating out-of-hand, but lengthens the list of good dishes which can be prepared with a standing of these golden-green grapes.

Curried Shrimp with Grapes
1/2 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh onion
2 cups milk or 1 cup shrimp stock and 1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt or salt to taste
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 1/2 cups devilled cooked shrimp or 2 cans (4 1/2 oz. each) 1/2 cups Thompson seedless grapes

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour, curry powder and onion. Stir and cook 1 minute. Gradually add milk or shrimp stock and milk. Stir and cook until of medium thickness. Add salt, black pepper, shrimp and grapes. Heat only until hot. Serve over chow mein noodles or toast. Yield: 6 servings.

Molded Fresh Grape Cream
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten slightly
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups Thompson seedless grapes

1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Thompson seedless grape clusters
Soften gelatin in cold water. Set aside for later use. Combine sugar and salt in a saucepan or top part of a double boiler. Blend in eggs. Stir in 1/4 cup of the milk. Heat remaining milk and add. Cook over low heat or hot water (not boiling). Call mixture custard. Remove from heat, stir in gelatin and stir in pure vanilla extract; chill.

Wash grapes and cut in half. When mixture begins to thicken fold in grapes and whipped cream. Turn into an oiled 1 1/2 quart mold. Call until firm and ready to serve. Garnish with clusters of green grapes. Yield: 8 servings.

Spiced Grapes
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
2-inch stick cinnamon
2 cups Thompson Seedless grapes

Combine sugar, water and lemon juice in a saucepan. Add cinnamon and bring to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add grapes and heat 3 minutes or until grapes begin to look cooked. Remove from heat and cool. Serve with poultry, ham, veal or tongue. Yield: 6 servings.

You Can't Be Too Careful of Home Canned Foods

EAST LANSING — Maybe Grandma didn't tell you, but quite a lot of spoilage occurred in those beautiful jars of fruits and vegetables that she canned herself.

Even today, though we know a lot more about controlling food spoilage in our home canned goods, spoilage does occur.

What are the signs? Bulging can ends, jar lids or rings, or a leak may be danger signals, according to Roberta Hershey, Michigan State University foods specialist. She adds that you may find other signs when you open a container, such as spurting liquid, off odors, or mold.

Canned vegetables present a special problem because they may contain bacteria that cause botulism — a serious food poison — without showing signs of spoilage. Miss Hershey says home-canned vegetables not processed in a pressure cooker are best boiled for at least 10 minutes. If the food looks spoiled, foams or has an off odor during heating, destroy it.

The foods specialist advises burning spoiled vegetables or disposing of them so that neither humans nor animals will eat them.

If you do your own canning, Miss Hershey recommends using the methods suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"The U.S.D.A. researchers know their methods work," she says, "because they actually put germs into the food jars to test the killing of bacteria."

You can learn the proper methods of home canning by ordering the U.S.D.A. Home and Garden Bulletin No. 8, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," from your county extension office. Or write to the Bulletin Office, 10 Agricultural Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Careless Cooks Can Ruin Spinach

"If God had intended for us to eat spinach, He would have favored it with something." That comment has been made about this leafy green vegetable, but the dish lovers contend that flavoring is a job for the cooks.

Tender loving care can bring out the delightful flavor of spinach, but boiling it in a quart of water for half an hour is enough to ruin it. Even Popeye couldn't eat it that way.

For the best taste spinach should be cooked in a pressure cooker or steamer with only the water that clings to the leaves after washing. If you must boil spinach, you still start with no added water and cook in a tightly covered pan for not more than 10 minutes.

Now, however, when salads are the dish of the day, why cook spinach at all? Many flavored spinach is a fresh green sensation when made into a salad with olives and hard-cooked eggs.

Fresh Plums Top a Coffee Cake

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Do you all enjoy this season of fresh fruit as much as we do? Going to the store or to farmers' market is sheer delight and we come home laden with half a dozen kinds of fruit.

If you are not overly enthusiastic about breakfast, it is easy to get in a rut and serve the same thing every morning. Perhaps a change of fare would make you more interested.

Instead of serving fruit as a first course, why not serve it in another form? We have collected a trio of recipes using fruit that should appeal to many of our readers.

This is the season of the purple plum and a short season it is. Early October will see the end of this delicious little fruit. Serve plums often while you can.

Sugar plum coffee cake will fill the house with fragrance while it's baking, a fragrance that will bring the whole family to the table at a gallop, asking, "What's cooking, Mom?"

SUGAR PLUM COFFEE CAKE

Batter

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg, well-beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup orange juice
1 and 1/2 teaspoons grated orange rind

SHR together dry ingredients. In shortening until like grains of rice. Add liquid and orange rind to well-beaten egg. Carefully stir into dry mixture.

4-quart saucepan. Let stand overnight or 4 to 5 hours. Add salt and cook over medium heat 1 1/2 hours or until thick, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Add allspice and pecans. Cook 5 more minutes. Ladle into hot sterilized jars. Seal at once, serve as an accompaniment to meat or poultry or as a spread on bread. Yield: 5 pint jars.

Spiced Pear Butter
12 cups (about 8 large or 4 1/2 pounds) fresh pears
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/4 cup water
4 cups sugar
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons whole allspice, tied in a bag

Cook pears with vinegar and water, covered, in a 5-quart saucepan until soft. Mash and measure. There should be 6 cups pulp. Return to saucepan. Add sugar, orange juice, lemon juice and allspice. Stir and cook over medium heat until mixture is very thick, about 50 to 60 minutes. Ladle into hot sterilized 1/2 pint jars. Seal at once. Yield: 6 jars, 1/2 pint each.

Spiced Tomato Marmalade.
3 pounds ripe tomatoes
2 fresh lemons
1 fresh orange
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 one-inch pieces ginger root
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice

Scald tomatoes, dip in cold water and remove skins. Cut into quarters and place in a 3-quart saucepan. There should be 7 1/2 cups. Add sugar and let stand while preparing lemons and orange. Peel lemons and orange and cut fruit into small pieces and add to tomatoes.

Cut rinds into thin, fine slivers. Cover with water and boil 10 minutes. Drain and discard water. Add rind to tomatoes along with salt and ginger.

Bring to boiling point and cook 40 minutes, uncovered, over medium-low heat until mixture is thick and the rinds are transparent, stirring occasionally. This marmalade is a little thin. Add allspice 5 minutes before cooking time is up. Ladle into hot, sterilized jars. Seal at once. Yield: 2 1/2 pints.

"If ginger root is not available in your locality, add 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger along with allspice."

Spiced Apple, Pear and Plum Conserve
4 cups (about 4 medium) peeled diced apples
4 cups (about 3 large) peeled diced pears
4 cups (about 9 large) sliced plums
6 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons ground allspice
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans

Combine fruit and sugar in a but do not beat. Scrape into buttered round baking dish about 10 by 12 inches or a square pan of equivalent size, spreading evenly.

Topping

Idaho fresh purple plums, 10 or more
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup soft butter

Cut purple plums in half and remove seeds, easy to do, as this is a freestone fruit. A flick of the paring knife and the seed zips right out. Then cut halves open lengthwise. Arrange quartered plums on their sides in desired pattern over top of batter. Mix together topping ingredients, using a fork. Sprinkle over top of plums and batter.

Bake at 375 degrees F. (a moderately quick oven) about 35 minutes, or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Make sure the batter under the plums is baked through. Makes 6-8 servings.

Fruit, cereal and milk are served together when you put Hot Apple Crunch in bowls and pass the milk or cream. Use the first of the season's top apples.

Hot Apple Crunch

1/2 cup and 3 tablespoons brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 teaspoon and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
Dash and dash mace
1 teaspoon and 1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups sliced peeled tart apples
4 cups bite-sized toasted corn cereal crushed to 2 cups
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Pork prices will continue at rather high levels due to the fact that supplies are slightly smaller than last year at this time. The supply of lamb is about four per cent smaller than a year ago, which means that prices will continue above 1961 levels.

Poultry supplies are very ample. Broiler prices are expected to average about the same to slightly lower than those in August. Broilers are the versatile birds that cook to perfection on the grill, in the oven, on the burner, or in the electric fry pan.

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees). Butter one 4-cup or 4 individual baking dishes. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, dash mace and 4 teaspoons lemon juice. Stir in apples until evenly coated. Spoon into dishes. Bake 10 minutes.

Some Price Decline Seen for Meat in September

Back to school is the order of the week, and eating a good breakfast is the recipe for clear thinking. Plan your weekly food shopping list with this in mind suggests the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Family food selections will depend upon many things, but one influencing factor is the supply of food available. During September, total meat supplies are expected to be about the same as a year ago. Michigan's seasonal fruit and vegetable crops will be nearer the finish that comes at frost-time.

A slight decline in led steer prices is expected this month. These are the cattle with tender juicy meat which grades tops in quality.

Pork prices will continue at rather high levels due to the fact that supplies are slightly smaller than last year at this time. The supply of lamb is about four per cent smaller than a year ago, which means that prices will continue above 1961 levels.

Poultry supplies are very ample. Broiler prices are expected to average about the same to slightly lower than those in August. Broilers are the versatile birds that cook to perfection on the grill, in the oven, on the burner, or in the electric fry pan.

The turkey supply appears to be about 10 per cent smaller than last year, but the total supply is large and shoppers will find prices continuing at near their present levels.

Michigan's seven major fruit crops are now estimated to total $20,500 tons. That is 30 per cent above average, but 4 per cent below last year. The apple crop is 16 per cent below last year, but still 25 per cent above average.

The Michigan peach crop is drawing to a close and it is 26 per cent smaller than last year, 21 per cent below average. Michigan's pear crop is 28 per cent larger than average, though 10 per cent smaller than a year ago. Bartlett, the main pear variety, is green in color when picked. Allow these pears to ripen in a dark place until golden yellow in color.

Shoppers see very few Michigan grapes in fresh form. Approximately 67 per cent of the crop goes into juice, 27 per cent is made into wine and other products, and 6 per cent is sold fresh.

If you buy tomatoes by the bushel, take several corrugated boxes for transporting them. Field peas tomatoes crush easily. Reduce waste by arranging tomatoes no more than two layers deep.

Combine cereal crumbs, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice. Sprinkle over apples. Bake 10 minutes longer or until browned. Serve warm with milk or cream. Yield: 4 servings.

Note: The apple mixture and the cereal mixture may be prepared the day before and kept in the refrigerator until ready to use. Follow baking directions as given above.

There's something about using sour cream or buttermilk for cooking that makes the end result more tender and moist flavored. (Sour cream, you know has only the calories of cream—not of whipping cream.)

Pineapple tidbits are dotted through light and fluffy muffins made with sour cream. Serve these from a napkin covered dish for a family breakfast—and no one will skip the meal.

Pineapple Sour Cream Muffins
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 egg, well beaten
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 (9-ounce) can pineapple tidbits

Blend sour cream, egg, sugar and butter together well. Resift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Add to first mixture, stirring just until blended. Stir in well drained pineapple tidbits. Spoon into greased medium sized muffin pans. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium muffins.

Marmalade Is Perked Up With Spice

In a rare old book on Jamaica, written in 1740, with all the S's looking like F's, is this descriptive bit on allspice: "They (the berries) are something like in smell and Taste to Cloves, Juniper Berries, Cinnamon and Pepper or rather have a peculiar mixed Spice somewhat akin to all of them, whence it is commonly called All-spice."

"They are the best," it goes on to say, "the most temperate, mild and innocent of Spices and fit to come to greater use and gain Ground of any of the East-India Commodities of this Kind."

"This, you might say, is the voice of the Western Hemisphere singing the praises of the only New-World spice still grown only in this hemisphere."

While the allspice tree is native to the Caribbean Islands and to some parts of the adjoining mainland of southern Mexico, Central America and northern South America, it is Jamaica which sends to the U.S. some $20,000 of the 1-1,200,000 pounds of allspice we use each year.

Allspice is used both whole and ground. It is always present in mixed pickling spice; the round brown berry somewhat larger than the peppercorns found in the same mixture. It is a favorite for seasoning pot roasts, soups and stews. A bit of allspice — 1/4 teaspoon to six servings — is delicious in stewed fruits and also adds aroma to the sugar syrup used when candying carrots or sweet potatoes or making a brown sugar and butter "wafel" for baked winter squash.

From the test kitchens of the American Spice Trade Association come these tested recipes for good dishes seasoned with a bit of allspice. Do try them.

County Candidates File Race Expenses

Topping the list of candidates in money spent on a campaign is not always followed by comparable success at the polls, according to figures in election expense vouchers filed with the county clerk's office by 40 candidates in the August primary.

This fact of political life is only too well known to Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber, who spent $5,970 in his unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for the senate seat now held by Farrell E. Roberts.

Huber spent more than twice as much as any other candidate, only to finish third in the three-man contest for the senate nomination.

Roberts, who was second biggest spender with $2,973, won the primary contest with 7,854 votes. Richard D. Kahn, who spent only $550 on his campaign, received 8,036 votes. Huber polled 6,647.

TOOK SECOND

Second place in campaign expenditures was taken by County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, who as a Republican, spent $2,957 to defeat his primary opponent, Arthur Becker, who spent only $241.

Total expenditures of Huber,

Roberts and Barry was almost $12,000, nearly half the approximately $24,000 spent by and for all 40 candidates who filed vouchers.

Two candidates, Republican Terrence E. Nagle and Democrat Lee Walker, both unsuccessful seekers of state representative nominations, have yet to file.

Huber also took first place in amount of campaign contributions received, nosing out Barry, $3,041 to $2,000.

Huber's expenses included $2,929 of his own money. Roberts' campaign was financed by $1,445 in contributions and $1,528 of his own.

Most of Barry's funds were contributed by sewer contractors and others in the construction industry, his voucher showed.

Among the contributors listed by Barry were Charles Rogers, $400, S. A. Healy, $300, and E. Gargaro, $300. All three are members of Detroit contracting firms of the same names currently working on the Twelve Town Drain. Rogers lives in Detroit, Healy in Illinois, and Gargaro's address was not available.

OTHER DONATIONS

Other donations reported by Barry came from five persons associated with Mancini Construction Co. of Warren — $100 each, none listed with an Oakland County address, as well as Miller Thompson Construction Co. of Southfield, $300; Joe Lynch of Livonia, $250; Tony Rio, listed on the voucher with a Detroit address, $250; Edward Levy of Edward C. Levy Sling Co. of Detroit, $200; and William J. Rogerson of Detroit, $150.

Largest expense totals among the Democrats were turned in by George J. Pulikerson's campaign committee, George E. Lennox and John C. Hitchcock. Pulikerson's campaign group spent $1,736 as Pulikerson beat Lennox for the right to challenge Republican incumbent William S. Broomfield for the 18th District Congressional seat. Lennox spent $1,380.

Hitchcock spent $1,406 in an unsuccessful bid for re-election as Sixth District state representative. Madison Heights Mayor Bill S. Huffman, who beat him, reported to only $413 in campaign disbursements.

MARIJUANA CROP — A patch of marijuana was cut down and burned yesterday after it was discovered at a location in Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Trons (right) declined to disclose. He is shown here studying the green, weed-like plant with Capt. Leo Hazen. The crop apparently had been growing wild, he said. Trons asked that area residents notify his department if they see anything growing which resembles this illegal plant. The sheriff said marijuana grows from 5 to 10 feet tall and can be distinguished by its slender leaves.

Romney Proposes 11-Point Health Plan

By The Associated Press.

George Romney says "State responsibilities and opportunities have been overlooked" in providing medical care for Michigan citizens.

In a speech in Detroit Wednesday, the Republican nominee for governor proposed an 11-point health program to include a state-wide physical fitness program. He also urged that Michigan take full advantage of present federal legislation on medical care.

Gov. Swainson, meanwhile, toured the Upper Peninsula.

Romney outlined his views on health care before the Michigan and Wayne County Academies of General Practice. The symposium on psychosomatic medicine was important, but Dr. F. P. Rhoades, the chairman, introduced Romney as "the next governor of Michigan."

Romney said he understood psychosomatic medicine deals with symptoms brought on by a patient's emotional and mental processes.

"As I read and thought about this," Romney said, "it occurred to me that the body politic can also develop symptoms which are basically psychosomatic in origin."

"For example, this state is known as a 'problem state' both in its lack of economic growth and its chronic fiscal mess. We have developed all the symptoms of an unhealthy economy."

"Now, I don't believe we thought ourselves (either consciously or unconsciously) into the mess we now face, although the attitudes of the state administration were an important factor."

SWAINSON RAILS
Romney's Democratic opponent, Gov. Swainson opening a four-day campaign swing through Upper Michigan, told a rally of Gogebic County Democrats in Wakefield Wednesday night, "I am sick and tired of Republicans using the economic distress of the people of the Upper Peninsula as a political football. The Republicans say they are concerned but they sell you out every time."

Swainson said, "I believe we have reached a point in the Upper Peninsula where we are ready to start up the other side of the hill toward new growth, new progress and new jobs."

"But this will not be accomplished by the Republican party in its blind, unreasoning, reckless, unfeeling opposition to every program that can move Michigan forward."

Swainson told the Gogebic County group that the economy of Michigan — including the North Country — has lost its vitality in part because of an unwillingness on the part of business and industry to open new ventures that carry an element of risk.

Swainson said the demand for are produced in Upper Michigan has increased in recent years as needs of world markets have changed, and as new areas of operation have been found more profitable by companies.

"I believe... you have a right to ask — and I ask it now — where is the initiative, the drive and the willingness to take a risk that characterized our industrial giants of the 1880s?" said Swainson.

Swainson said he believes in long-range recreational development as "one of the greatest hopes" of the Upper Peninsula.

But, he asked, "What would occur in private industry should one of us propose that it invest in a spectacular recreation attraction to match the tourist attraction of the Mackinac Bridge?"

"The answer would be: No, this can't be done. We want a sure thing. This might be a risk."

of the state — in Michigan is a place to do business."

In outlining his health program for the state, Romney said that if he is elected governor, "I shall request the legislature to raise the maximum old age assistance monthly payment for convalescent care from $99 to $130."

"Many patients are now being placed in small, unlicensed homes where care is substandard. We simply have to face the facts in this situation."

Romney said, "We should increase support for our present medical schools at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, so that they can produce an increased number of graduates to meet the expanding needs of our growing population."

"We must support post-graduate medical education programs such as those begun at the Institute of Biology and Medicine at Michigan State University."

Romney declared that Michigan has yet to take full advantage of the Kerr-Mills legislation which provides grants to states for medical care for aged persons of low income.

Eddie Seeking More Debates

Kennedy - McCormack Hassle Heads Toward Sept. 18 Showdown

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy and State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. had their second face-to-face debate Wednesday night and wound up with McCormack issuing a new challenge for more debates in other parts of the state.

They are contesting for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in the Sept. 18 state primary.

Kennedy won the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention June 9 and McCormack, defeated then, filed nomination papers to run against him.

Kennedy made no immediate reply to McCormack's new challenge. Their first debate was in Boston, and McCormack wants to meet Kennedy in at least five other places with a win/loss debate on election eve in Boston.

CHANGE APPROACH
Wednesday night's debate, sponsored by the Holyoke Central Labor Council before a capacity audience of 1,200 in the War Memorial Building, was in marked contrast to their first session 10 days ago.

In that debate, McCormack attacked Kennedy personally, asserting if he ran for the Senate as "Edward Moore" his candidacy "would be a joke."

This time they agreed on most of the national and international issues and both candidates stressed they are running on their own names.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy. McCormack, 35, is the nephew of the Speaker of the House John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Did Russia Keep Cuba Out of Warsaw Pact?

BY K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Fidel Castro's Cuban regime may have sought—and been refused—an all-out Russian military guarantee and an alignment with the Kremlin-controlled Warsaw Defense Pact, authoritative sources reported today.

The Russians were said to have refused and instead offered an arms deal and the dispatch of "experts" to Cuba. That deal was announced last weekend.

This, the authoritative reports claim, is the story behind the recent Moscow-Havana deal which has committed Russia publicly to back Castro without, however, pledging automatic military assistance.

The Warsaw Pact which embraces Russia and the satellite nations provides for automatic assistance in the event of attack on any of them.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently was not prepared to take risks with Cuba.

A closer study of the Russo-Cuban deal has since pointed out the fact that it only provides for help to Cuba to meet what it calls threats from aggressive elements.

Soviet affairs experts said the Moscow announcement referred guardedly to Cuban, not Russian, justification for taking measures to insure its security.

There is no discernible suggestion of an automatic guarantee by Russia to the Castro regime. Experts said Khrushchev presumably was taking no chances for fear also that such a move might be seen by Washington as a direct provocation of the United States.

Moreover, a Soviet military guarantee for Cuba could bring on the risk of Russian involvement in warlike operations far away from her homeland and with communication lines beyond Moscow's control.

Soviet affairs experts here saw the Cuban venture largely as an important part of a Kremlin plan to win a foothold from which to forge ahead by stages in Latin America.

Fire in Pittsburgh Damages Building

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A general alarm fire raged through a six-story brick building in the heart of the city early today, showering sparks on a crowd of spectators.

Acting Fire Chief William Maurer said the damages to the Minsky Bros. and Co. building probably will "run over $200,000."

He said a specific estimate was difficult because of the bulk of toys and appliances destroyed in the fire. Minsky Bros. is one of the largest toy distributors in the tri-state area.

No one was reported injured.

New Industry Planned for Davisburg Location

By JIM LONG
DAVISBURG — This village which only a short time ago feared it might become a "ghost town" now may become the site of a new Michigan industry.

The Columbia Steel Container Corp., which plans to establish itself here as the only Michigan manufacturer of steel drums for the chemical industry, learned yesterday that it has become eligible to seek a $213,372 loan from the federal government.

The new firm's application for the loan was forwarded to the Area Redevelopment Administration, a federal agency in Washington, after being approved by the Michigan Economic Development Department.

Louis H. Golden, 205 N. Lake Avenue Road, Lake Orion, spokesman for the group investing in the new plant, said the proposed development here has been in the planning stage for the last eight months.

Golden, who is president of the Redford Steel Corp., Southfield, said he is not at liberty to discuss all the details of the project at this time since the loan hasn't been approved by the ARA.

"I will say, however, that the plant is expected to employ 77 at the outset, with 119 employees after the first year."

After a year or so the proposed company may have an annual payroll nearing the half-million dollar mark, he said.

Plans call for building the plant on a 15-acre site adjoining the Grand Trunk Western Railroad line that runs through the village.

In addition to the ARA loan, the company has been offered a loan of $136,000 from the Davisburg Industrial Development Corporation to be used for acquiring the land and building a plant.

Heading the local development corporation is Mrs. Clyde Neisey, 8055 Cross-Hill Road, one of Davisburg's staunchest supporters. She is the one given the most credit by Golden for the new company's decision to locate in the Springfield Township unincorporated village.

"Mrs. Neisey has done much in promoting the interest of Davisburg," said Golden. "If we hadn't been in The Pontiac Press of her lone battle to bring new life into the village we may never have thought of starting a company there."

BEGAN DRIVE
Mrs. Neisey began her one-woman campaign to renovate the village last November after half the stores closed their doors.

Since then she has been successful in having a couple of the stores reopened under new management and has carried on a drive to have State Highway Department revise its plans in order to have an interchange built at the new I-75 which would serve Davisburg and the surrounding area.

Mrs. Neisey, however, refuses to accept the lone credit of attracting the new firm to the village.

"This has been a community-wide project, with many, many people working hard to establish Davisburg as an ideal spot for industry and business."

Golden said, "It might be two weeks or two months before we learn the decision of the ARA, but you can be assured that if the loan goes through we will be prepared to break ground within a matter of days."

"Davisburg is leading the way in showing other communities, much richer communities, that there's a will before it is a way to bring new industry into the area," said Golden.

Golden indicated that other industry was planned for the area. "As things develop more about Davisburg's future will be announced," Golden said.

School groups may also request guided nature hikes along the park's several trails.

The Nature Center hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays for use by the general public since school groups use the facilities at other times.

The Avondale Board of Education at its regular meeting last night approved the appointment of Charles L. Johnson as principal of the Elmwood Elementary School in Auburn Heights.

Johnson, who lives at 1116 Truwood Drive, Avon Township, is a native of Carrier Mills, Ill.

He was graduated from Murray State College in 1956 with a B.S. degree in social studies and from Michigan State University this past summer with a master's degree in educational administration.

Johnson will continue his studies at MSU this fall working on his doctorate in educational administration.

Prior to coming to the Avondale District, the new principal served as a classroom teacher in the elementary and secondary grades and as an elementary school administrator.

He is a member of both the Michigan and National education associations. His wife, Marlene, is presently employed as a vocal music instructor at Troy High School.

The Johnsons have two daughters, Lisa Ann, 6, and Gina Lynn, 3.

Lake Orion Council Concerned at Number of Accidents

LAKE ORION — Due to the excessive number of accidents — one of them fatal — at the junction of Flint Street and the New York Central Railroad tracks, the Village Council has taken action to prevent any further mishaps.

The council is sending a petition to the Michigan State Police Commission (MSPC) requesting a survey of the crossing, in hopes of obtaining stopping gates there.

The MSPC is in charge of installation and maintenance of all stopping gates, and determines the per cent of cost to be paid by the railroad and residential area involved.

Two train-car collisions occurred at the junction last month alone, one in which Mrs. Doris Higgins, 786 Central St., was killed. According to Police Chief Neal Leonard, "Quite a few other accidents have taken place at the Flint Street crossing in the past four years."

In other action the council noted the large decrease in the number of outstanding water bills, but planned to continue its crackdown on delinquent customers.

It was decided all residents having delinquent bills after the forthcoming final notice will have their water supply shut off.

Seek Fifth Robbery Suspect

ROYAL OAK — Police followed a trail marked by a blood-soaked auto and a weapons cache, hoping it would lead them today to a fifth man they say took part in the robbery-kidnaping of an oil firm executive.

Officers said they found an auto abandoned in Southgate yesterday. Its front seat soaked with blood. It was registered in the name of James Wilson of Lincoln Park, police said.

At Wilson's home, officers said they found 15 rifles and shotguns, several thousands—rounds of ammunition and a quantity of hand grenades. Wilson could not be found.

Lawmen said the fifth fugitive, presumably wounded, was the only member of the gang still free. One was shot and killed during a wild chase through Detroit suburbs early yesterday and three other men have been arrested.

The shootings followed the robbery of J. J. Levy, owner of the I-Fastation Oakland County Gas & Oil Co.

Held for investigation were Joseph Loner, 35, of Lincoln Park; Joseph Webb, 38, of Hazel Park; and Thomas Kubala, 26, of Lincoln Park.

Killed was Joseph Rossetti, 30, of Philadelphia. Levy said two men came to his house at 216 Hendrie St. and forced him to take them to a filling station where he opened the safe.

"Then they started scooping the money out of the safe and putting it into a bag," Levy said, "and they were so busy I sneaked out a tire blow out the back of the building and got a shotgun."

Levy said one man, believed to be the missing fugitive, fled and shot him. Then the other, believed to be Rosetti, tried to flee during the day.

Police said confederates picked them up. Three police cars chased one auto with police and bandits shooting back and forth until a tire blew out on the fleeing auto. Officers found Loner in it, unharmed, and Rosetti, dead. He had been hit by both shotguns and pistol slugs.

Police picked up the other two during the day.

AF Picks Rochester for Depot

ROCHESTER — The Rochester area has been chosen by the U.S. Air Force for storage of emergency medical supplies and equipment.

Col. Verne W. Cornis of Selfridge Air Force Base announced the selection at a meeting of the Northeast Oakland County Civil Defense Council.

Cornis stated this area was chosen for the arsenal because it lies in a relatively favorable fallout pattern in the event that Selfridge Field were attacked.

Paul York, Rochester—village manager, was appointed chairman of a four-man committee to proceed with planning for the storage facility, working with the Air Force.

Working with York on the liaison committee are Ray Genereux, Lake Orion CD director; George Moore, Oxford CD director; and Hollie Lapey, CD coordinator at Michigan State University Oakland.

Final approval of the plans is expected to be given at the next council meeting, Sept. 22.

Shelby Boy, 4, Killed Dashing in Front of Car

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Four-year-old Paul Drouillard was killed yesterday when he darted in front of a car near his home at 2695 22-Mile Road.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Drouillard.

Driver of the car was Kurt Bertram, 55, of 14184 22-Mile Road. He was not held.

Walled Lake Library to Keep Operating

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Public Library will continue to operate, thanks to action taken by the City Council.

The library, threatened with closing because of financial difficulties, has been taken over by the city following an allocation of $700 for rent and maintenance.

The funds will allow the library to remain open for at least the next eight months.

Before that time, however, voters will be asked, probably in April, to decide a tax proposal that would provide funds annually for the operation of the library.

In July the council approved a proposal for the November election that would have provided three-tenths of a mill for library operations if it was approved.

This proposal has now been canceled with the council's decision to allocate funds until the end of the fiscal year in June.

A request for temporary assistance was defeated by one vote of the council at its July meeting.

With the full support of the city behind the library, it now becomes eligible for assistance from several agencies, both local and state.

Mayor Louis James will appoint a city library board to direct the activities of the library at the council meeting of Sept. 18. Until that time the present board will continue its work.

Had the city refused to aid the library, preparations had been made to close the facility this week.

Flint to Probe Land Purchase

FLINT — The Flint City Commission last night voted to investigate formally a report of alleged irregularities involving land acquisition for the city's $50-million Lake Huron water supply project.

Mayor Charles Mobley, speaking for the commission, said the civic body had been informed city administrative officials already were conducting an investigation.

City officials said a preliminary report would be ready within 10 days.

The City Commission authorized the acquisition of land for intake and pumping station facilities on Lake Huron near the St. Clair-Sanilac County line. Also authorized was land acquisition for a reservoir and for rights of way for a 90-mile pipeline.

City Manager Robert Carter hired a private real estate source to purchase the land to avoid publicity.

No city official or city employee is involved in the reported irregularities, Mobley said.

Wed in Afternoon Rite Miller-Rose Vows Told

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Beatrice June Rose and Dennis Robert Miller were united in marriage recently in an afternoon ceremony at Elmwood Methodist Church. Rev. Eric G. Wehrli read the service.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rose, 2233 Grant St., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, 2071 Grant St.

A Rochelle lace gown featuring a fitted bodice, modified Sabrina neckline and long, tapered sleeves was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel sweep.

A double crown of sequins and pearls secured her fingertip veil of sheer silk illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations and red roses entwined with tulle.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Lois Jean Deaton of Pontiac. Another cousin, Viola Irene Rose of Pontiac, and Mary Jo Crabtree of Auburn Heights, were bridesmaids.

Panels Gay of Pontiac was flower girl.

Cuban Issue Likely to Enter the Congressional Races

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Political ferment over the Soviet military build-up in Cuba seemed certain today to boil over into the congressional election campaign.

Green Room Antique Desk Turning Some Faces Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — A delicately made desk first appraised as a $20,000 antique of the early 19th century will be removed from the White House and returned to its donor amid doubts of its age.

The desk was one of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's treasured acquisitions in her redecoration of the White House and held a place of honor in the Green Room.

Last February, when she took the nation's television viewers on a tour of the White House, the First Lady spoke glowingly of the desk and its donor, Maurice Noun of Des Moines, Iowa.

The desk was the subject today of articles in the Washington Post and in the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

The Post said suspicions that the desk might not be a genuine circa 1800 antique arose previously, but were not confirmed until William V. Elder took over recently as the White House curator.

Mrs. Noun told the Post there was "some question of the desk's age" at the time she first offered

This Behavior Not Cricket, Says Judge

HUDDESFIELD, England (UPI) — Cricket teammates Michael Hill and David Wrigley were fined here yesterday for assaulting each other on the field — behavior which, said a judge, could hardly be called cricket.

Hill broke up a match by kicking Wrigley and hitting him with a ball studded with regimental badges. Wrigley retaliated by bouncing a chunk of concrete off Hill's head.

"If you want to fight, fight properly," said the judge who sentenced them. "Don't start hitting people with belts. It's low and nasty."

M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference Wednesday that nobody in his right mind "would exploit an incipient war"—a development he indicated could conceivably be turned into a threat to U.S. security.

But, Dirksen added significantly: "We Republicans are not dragging Cuba into the campaign but the people are. They are deeply disturbed by the proximity of this threat to our security."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana had said earlier he hopes the Republicans won't pull the Cuban situation into the fall campaign.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader said in an interview he has no doubt that the explosive Cuban situation will be handled about in electomereing.

Humphrey said the administration does not believe that any aid to the Communist bloc gives Castro will make Cuba a threat to U.S. security.

"An American naval task force can mount more firepower and more punch than all of the missiles, rockets and guns that the Soviets can pour into Cuba," he said. "They couldn't even match the striking power of one aircraft carrier."

Dirksen made it plain he agrees. He said Berlin might be the first target of retaliation if the United States should move against Cuba. The Republican leader said he

Scientists Study Space Problems While Reclining

BETHPAGE, N. Y. (UPI)—A group of scientists spend much of their time reclining on a bright orange and very comfortable couch—to properly contemplate the problems of space.

Mostly, they lay there, study about 20 dials and silently finger-tap a small black knob—possibly the most important control mechanism under development for manual piloting of space ships.

The couch is the simulated chief astronaut's seat in a space ship about to rendezvous with another space ship.

In the next few months the couch and another one like it will be made part of a "mock-up" that, as one scientist put it, "will be just about the closest thing to space flight on earth."

A two-man space ship cabin, with couches, will be placed high in an astronomical observatory in a converted radar dome atop the roof of the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. administration building.

"Crews" in this "space rendezvous simulator" will have all the stars of the heavens to guide them as they manipulate experimental controls in dry runs of the extremely difficult rendezvous maneuver.

TIED TO COMPUTER

At present, as it will be in the observatory, the rendezvous simulator is tied into an analog computer, the controls of which cover the walls of the room in which it is now located. The current simulator project involves the flight of a "bug" called LEM, which stands for Lunar Excursion Model.

The rendezvous simulator is being used to figure out problems involved in LEM's return to the mother ship after the first U.S. astronauts set down on the moon, probably sometime before 1970.

In an adjoining room, other Grumman scientist rock around in the dark in what amounts to the great-grandson of the Link trainer. It is called a lunar landing simulator.

"We're trying to figure out the instruments that will be needed to set LEM down on the moon from a hover position," said George Mayer, 36, of Smithtown, N. Y., the landing simulator's project engineer.

TRIED CONTROLS

This reporter attempted to operate the highly sensitive controls.

"You were doing all right until you dented the moon," Mayer concluded when the suspended simulator cab was listing and the mechanisms were groaning.

Grumman test pilots and others yesterday joined the scientists operating the two key controls—a pistol-grip rocket thrust lever and that all-important little black knob—the fingertip attitude control knob.

John Biggers, 36, of Setauket, N.Y., rendezvous simulator engineer, said astronaut Allen B. Shepherd had tried a similar mechanism and found it more sensitive, effective and easier to use than the somewhat cumbersome "stick" controls.

"You can change the bug's direction with the slightest touch of your finger," he said.

WHAT ROAD? — Baldwin Road was once located in the area pictured above just north of Pontiac city limits. It will be there again but with new concrete — after the County Road Commission excavates a 35-foot deep muck hole, fills it with sand and builds a new roadway over a mile and a quarter stretch between the city limits and the new I-75 freeway. The old pavement curved around the muck hole, but the new one will be straight. The reconstruction project, to cost more than $126,000, is expected to be completed Nov. 1.

Preserve Shooting to Open Sept. 15

Shooting preserves in Michigan will open for business on a pay-to-hunt basis Sept. 15, offering sportsmen a chance to "sharpen up" for the state's small game seasons.

With pen-reared pheasants and mallard ducks as their major shooting attractions, some 55 private and public preserves will be licensed to operate during the 1962-63 season which extends through March 31. Most of these are in the southern Lower Peninsula, mainly in the Lapeer-Oakland and Kalamazoo-Barry County areas.

Last year, 50 operating licenses were issued by the Conservation Department which regulates preserve hunting and provides technical assistance to owners of these pay-to-hunt areas.

Resident and nonresident sportsmen will again be required to have a regular small game license or a special $5 preserve license to hunt in these areas this season. This is in addition to fees for birds that are bagged. Either license will be available at most preserves. Besides ring-necked pheasants, a few preserves will provide hunting for chukar partridges and "lancey" pheasants.

During the 1961-62 season, preserve hunters bagged 18,665 of 29,630 pheasants released for a success mark of about 62 per cent. At a handful of preserves where duck hunting was offered, some 8,967 mallards were shot.

Leave of Absence

Dr. Frank F. Hooper, biologist with the Conservation Department's Institute for Fisheries Research, has been granted a leave of absence to accept a one-year assignment with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

posts and are, for the most part, better marked than highways. If you know your markers, you'll know where you are and in what kind of water.

Channels are marked by red and black buoys (pointed tops) on one side, black can buoys (flat tops) on the other. Keep the red buoys to your right as you enter a channel or river from open water.

Memorize the three R's—Red Right Returning—to help remember this rule. Another aid in remembering the channel markers is the ERIE initials, SPOE—Black Port On Entering.

Red and black spurs (round timbers) are sometimes used instead of nun and can buoys. Their meaning is the same. Red buoys are marked with even numbers, black with odd numbers. The numbers get larger as you progress up a channel or river. Black and white vertical-striped buoys mark mid-channel. They may be passed on either side.

Red and black horizontal-striped buoys mark obstructions. Pass on mazo-Barry County areas.

All buoys should be cleared by 10 feet. Don't anchor in channels. Tying up to buoy is a federal offense.

Trout Season Ends Sunday; 'Bows Legal

Michigan's regular trout fishing season ends at midnight Sunday, but its devotees don't have to put their gear in mothballs.

Rainbow trout fishing remains open until the end of October in several hundred lakes and ponds scattered throughout the state. Listings of these designated rainbow waters are available from the Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its field district headquarters.

Elsewhere on the state's fishing front, largemouth and smallmouth bass remain legal catches through Dec. 31 in non-trout lakes and streams, offering the promise of more action when cooler weather arrives.

As in the past, panfish may be taken the year around in non-trout waters. Lake trout, muskellunge, northern pike, and walleye pike again remain available to anglers in these same waters during the fall.

Koufax Finished for Rest of '62

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodger southpaw who was having his best season when a hand nerve block sidelined him July 17, will do no more pitching this year.

So says Dodger Manager Walt Alston, who has called up right-hander Jack Smith of Omaha, the American Association's top relief pitcher. Smith, who had a 17-7 record at Omaha, reports today to bolster the sagging Dodger mound corps.

The Dodgers have been sweating it out with what amounts to a seven-man pitching staff, the smallest in the majors, with Koufax incapacitated and Larry Sherry out with a sore arm and an ankle injury.

Boaters Reminded of New Regulations

LANSING — Motorboat owners side of the vessel ahead if it is made to do so.

3) When two boats are approaching each other at right or oblique angles, the operator on the right must hold his course and speed while the other operator must give way to the craft on his starboard side by altering his course to pass behind its stern. If necessary, he must slow down, stop, or reverse his boat.

Skin divers are required to use buoys to mark areas where they will be operating underwater. This is also new.

Copies of a folder giving more details on these and other new rules and a complete rundown on previous regulations are available through the Secretary of State's office in Lansing.

Another new regulation provides that boats must, as near as possible, operate their craft in a counter-clockwise fashion in unmarked channels, canals, or rivers. In such areas, watercraft must be kept at least 100 feet away from docks, piers, bathing areas, and boats that are moored or at anchor.

Exceptions may be made to this when boats are being operated at a speed of five miles per hour or less, or are engaged in picking up or dropping off water skiers in a safe manner.

The following new rules apply in the event of a possible collision:

1) When two boats are approaching each other head on, or nearly so, each operator must bear to the right.

2) When overtaking another boat, the operator must pass on the port

Hydros, Utilities Race in 18 Different Heats in Four Classes

A large field of top outboard racers from the Midwest and Oakland County will compete in the races Sunday at Loon Lake.

There will be 18 heats of racing in two types of boats, hydros and utilities in classes A, B, C and D and 36.

Sponsored by the Waterford Jaycees, trophies will be awarded to the top three places in each event and nearly 100 drivers are expected to compete.

National champions Bob Moore in 36 class and Ray Leuk in class D will be among the entries.

This will be one of the biggest races to be staged in the area and starting time will be at noon. The pit area will be located just north of Edgewater Beach Motel. The race is sanctioned by the American Powerboat Association.

Detroit Swimmer Wants to Make Non-Stop Bid

Miss Revel's coach, John Van Sterck, also of Detroit, who will accompany her in a boat, estimated the round trip will take 36 to 40 hours.

Tidbits on Napping Through the Ages

Want to Live to 70? You'll Sleep 200,000 Hours

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—If you live to be 70 years old, you will probably spend about 200,000 hours in bed—and counted more hours wishing you were there.

Here are a few tidbits of bed and sleeping customs through the ages:

The ordinary person changes position 20 to 50 times during a night's rest.

President Kennedy sleeps on a 7-foot extra-length mattress, but the first king-size bed in the White House was ordered for Abe Lincoln to accommodate his 6-foot-4 frame.

MISERY GO ROUND
One U.S. art collector recently had a merry-go-round bed built so he could admire all his masterpieces without turning his neck.

Japanese now are developing a type of foam rubber mattresses, which are most popular in this country in California and Texas.

The average age for mattresses in American households is 11 years, compared to about six years for American motor cars.

Experts say that for comfortable sleeping a bed should be at least six inches longer than its intended occupant.

The ancient Spartans slept on rocks to prove their physical hardihood. But the luxury-loving Athenians created the triple-purpose sofa bed. It served as a daytime couch, a divan at dinner time, and a bed at night.

The world-ruling Romans fought insomnia in adult-sized cradles, in which they were rocked to slumber by slaves.

When northern barbarians of that day felt like "hitting the sack" they did so literally. They slumbered on portable sack pallets filled with straw.

The 8th century Vikings, among history's most rugged be-men, were the first to develop beds of soft eiderdown.

In Elizabethan times beds—costing $5,000 or more—became status symbol with royalty and the aristocracy. King James I of Scotland died in a vast bed valued at $40,000.

Jonas Forbroke, a British cabinetmaker, labored 30 years carving a mammoth bedstead—it could sleep 12 people—for King Edward IV. The monarch was so pleased with it he pensioned Forbroke for life.

one required the plucking of 160 immoral, indecent and a threat to family life.

But somehow civilization has managed to survive.

It wasn't until the Civil War era that James Liddy of Watertown, N.Y.—a benefactor of mankind if ever there was one—created the world's first bedspring from the wire coils of an old buggy seat.

Twin beds first made their appearance in Great Britain in 1885, and were immediately denounced by some Victorian clergymen as Defense experts estimate it army going. The comparable figure would take 11,000 tons of supplies for a World War II field army a day to keep a modern field was 7,000 tons.

MSU Names Head of Program in UP

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University yesterday announced the appointment of Albert S. Mowery as new director of the MSU extension and continuing education program in the Upper Peninsula with headquarters at Marquette.

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to attend a public reception Saturday at Waterford Kettering High School in honor of former superintendent of Waterford Schools William A. Shunck.

Shunck resigned last month after serving 17 years as superintendent to become head of Wayne County Schools.

The function sponsored jointly by the board of education and the administrative council of the school district is scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m. The school is located at 2800 Bender St., Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Emily Hicks, principal at Burr Elementary School and general chairman of the reception, emphasized that the public is invited to the event.

RESIDENTS INVITED

"Several invitations have been mailed to persons outside the school district area," she said, "but all local residents are cordially invited without formal invitation."

Seven committees comprised of school board members and principals have been working under Mrs. Hicks preparing for the occasion.

Decorations signifying various stages in the former superintendent's career in Waterford Township will adorn the school. A book to be signed by all who attend the reception will be presented to Shunck.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of a citation to Shunck in recognition of his long period of service to the school district. School Board President Robert Field will make the presentation.

after nearly four full days in orbit. Man at right is not identified. The landing took place in desert and hill country about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow.

Zukor, 89, Talks of Old Movies

Actors of Today Need Good Education

By DOBIE KLEIN
(For Bob Thomas)
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Young lady, Rick Hudson could have been a hit two or three years earlier if he'd gone to Harvard."

The speaker was Adolph Zukor, 88-year-old survivor of the celluloid wars which built Hollywood to its golden era.

Zukor — who earned millions with a night school education — is still chairman of the board at Paramount Studios. In town from New York on his annual visit to check his surviving empire, he was doing a little reminiscing.

"You don't get actors or actresses off the street anymore," he said. "Mac West could play one terrific part in her day, but just one. Today's stars have to be able to do more. The great personalities of the future will come out of college."

TALKS OF 1935
"Take Audrey Hepburn. She could play Camille or do a Mae West part if they'd let her."

Zukor, if you remember your Hollywood history, is the little Hungarian immigrant who fell in love with films.

"You know when that was?" he quizzed. "In 1935 at the Chicago World's Fair."

After building up capital in the penny arcade business with Marcus Loew, Zukor in 1912 decided the time was ripe for full-length features. He formed Famous Players Film Company, later Paramount.

"It just couldn't happen again — those old days of 35-50 pictures a year," he said. "Motion pictures were a novelty. The world was different. People really believed that everything would work out happy in the end."

Could the old actresses and actors make it today?

"We wanted a different kind of woman in those days — Blanche Sweet, Mary Pickford — that was what they wanted to see. Today they want a different type. And they're more interested in the subject of the picture."

THEIR LOOK RELAX
"It's difficult for a woman star to survive. Once she gets over 40 or 45, she looks silly if she's in tight corsets spooning with a leading man."

"The men do a little better. They can still play romantic leading men when they're in their 50s — but with younger women."

"What are the favorites of a man who's watched the movies since the one-reelers in the penny arcades, 70 years ago?"

"For me, one of the best comedians is Bob Hope. He can never give a bad performance. He's too proud of his career to give a bad one."

"But my favorite movies are Westerns. I like to watch them on television. 'The Virginian' was a great film."

"I preferred Gary Cooper to anyone. You always felt in his movies that he wasn't the kind of man who killed for the joy of killing."

"Then there was William S. Hart — the greatest portrayal of Western men — and a great Shakespearean actor. He would be just as good today as he was 50 years ago. He was an educated man."

No Hard Feelings, Well, Hardly Any

LONDON — "And this," said the manager of the perfume factory, "is our most expensive item."

"Oooh!" cooed Joy Black, who as Miss Great Britain was starting out on a tour of the nation yesterday. "How much is it worth?"

"The stuff in this container," explained manager Leigh Walker, "is valued at 720 pounds ($2,016)."

He handed it over to the 24-year-old beauty.

"My, my," exclaimed Joy. "I've never seen any perfume as expensive as that. Why, it's lovely."

She turned to say something to sales manager Trevor Jones. The container slipped from her fingers to the concrete floor. The $2,016 worth of perfume — named After of Rose — spilled.

"I'm terribly, terribly sorry," said the beauty queen after a moment of stricken silence. "I had it in my fingers. It just slipped."

Stunned for a moment, Walker quickly regained his composure and said:

"Accidents will happen. It's just one of those things."

When Joy left the factory, the manager handed her a bottle of perfume, "just to show there are no hard feelings," he said.

The gift perfume was valued at 2 pounds ($5.60).

Varnish will cover about 600 square feet of unfinished hardwood flooring per gallon. Over previously varnished floors, a gallon will cover about 850 square feet.

Unusual August Placid, Pleasant
The weather kicked up its heels late in August, but generally it was gentle as a faithful plow horse at harvest time.

Except for two temperamental outbursts during the month, Pontiac area residents couldn't have asked for a more pleasant August. Twenty of the month's 31 days were sunny or mostly sunny.

Temperatures during the month — following a summering trend of cool weather — were considerably low.

The average high temperature for the month recorded in downtown Pontiac was 81.0 degrees, considerably below the average August high of more than 88 degrees.

Average low temperature for August was 61.22 degrees.

Despite all the sunshine, total rainfall for the month reached 6.3 inches, more than twice the August average.

However, most of the month's total rainfall poured down on three successive days of weather which was good only for leaks, doubleheader-weary baseball players and umbrella manufacturers.

Five inches of rain fell from Aug. 6 to 8.

In the first of two brief but violent thunderstorms which battered the city Aug. 7, 1.7 inches of rain fell in half an hour.

Another two inches poured down in a storm the next afternoon.

The two storms, only really turbulent weather during August, felled trees and cut power lines which left many area residents without electric and telephone service overnight.

Only five days during the month could be described as rainy. Three others were cloudy or mostly cloudy. On three days, showers shared equal billing with clear or sunny skies.

The month's high temperature was a 90-degree reading recorded shortly before the storm whipped into Pontiac Aug. 7.

The low temperature for August was an autumn-like 51 on Aug. 18.

Young Convict Hanged in Iowa
Killer Dies on Same Gallows as Partner for IRS Agent's Death

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI) — Charles Edwin Kelley, 21, was hanged today on the same gallows where his partner-in-crime died six weeks ago. They were convicted of murdering an Internal Revenue Service agent.

The Minneapolis, Minn., killer, who celebrated his last birthday on death row in the Iowa State Penitentiary here, slipped through the trap on the gallows as the sun rose at 5:46 a.m. He was pronounced dead 11 minutes later.

His last hope for life vanished less than 24 hours ago when pleas for a commutation of the death sentence were rejected.

The execution wrote the final chapter to a brief but violent crime spree which took the lives of three persons. Kelley's hanging came about six weeks after his partner's Charles Noel Brown, 29.

The two Minneapolis, Minn., slayers were sentenced for the murder of Alvin Koehn, 54, Walnut, Iowa, on Feb. 22, 1961, after they stole his car.

Kelley, a bachelor, was the last victim in the six-day crime spree which started in Minnesota and then swung to Nebraska and Iowa. Their trip claimed one life in each state.

Tin to Be Removed From American Penny
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed Wednesday a bill taking the tin out of the penny. One-cent pieces are 95 per cent copper and, by previous law, the other 5 per cent was to be a mixture of zinc and tin. The new law specifies zinc only.

Tin costs about $1.16 a pound, zinc 12 cents.

By EARL WILSON
On the Beach at Waikiki — "Aloha Deer!" Honolulu's became a great celebrity crossroads suddenly. While schlepping around Waikiki in my swim trunks, I met Debbie Reynolds (recovering from the loss of her baby hand-in-hand with her husband Harry Karl; Cyd Charisse, owner of the prettiest pair of legs on the beach, going swimming with her husband Tony Martin; Tennessee Ernie Ford and family stretching a two-week vacation into three; and Kay Spreckles Gable, looking blondest beautiful, saying "You must stop in at my hotel. I want you to meet my son, John Clark."

"Why is Honolulu getting so popular with the Hollywoodians?" I asked Tony Martin. "Because the weather's so great for the kids, and because there's no snobishness evident here," Tony said. "Nobody asks you whether you're a star or whether you've got $10 million."

Another reason: the press respects the stars' privacy while they're here vacationing.

The big laugh here has been over a local controversy as to whether: "Aloha Deer!" would be the slogan of Aloha Week in October. One faction protested that it smacked too much of pidgin English. But, "Aloha Deer!" seemed to be such a happy, hospitable greeting that it stays. Editor George Chaplin of the Honolulu Advertiser pointed out that "Aloha Deer!" could also be spelled or pronounced "Aloha Dear!" and that would also embrace the ladies — which of course is what one should do with the ladies.

SOME BROADWAY SHOWGIRLS are buying big German shepherd dogs for late-hour protection against muggers... Those N.Y. cops dressed as women (to grab muggers) are new comedy material here. One local wolf says he gets pretty girls: "Pardon me, where is the subway-Officer?" (Another line: "Once you could tell a cop by his flat feet — now it's his high heels".)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: With cops on decoy duty in women's clothes, Hank Miles hears one phoned his precinct and said, "I won't be in today — I haven't a thing to wear."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's rumored that someone sneaked into the Kremlin and stole the results of next year's free elections.

EARL'S PEARLS: If NBC should merge with CBS, Charley Manna figures their insignia would be a peacock with one big eye.

A Madison Avenue ad man told Jack Sterling that his habits never vary: "For instance I like lunch 12 to 1 — 12 in to one vermouth." — That's earl, brother.

ACTOR'S HOME BURNS — Bathing at Los Angeles Playa del Rey beach watch flames destroy the beach home of actor Edward Everett Horton. Five persons were injured by the blaze.

Tshombe Protests Use of Congo Army

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Mose Tshombe Wednesday protested strongly the presence of Congolese national army forces at Katanga, the U.N. base in Katanga.
In a letter to the U.N. chief in the Congo, Robert Gardiner, Tshombe called the presence of the troops permanent provocation.
The U.N. has explained the troops, under U.N. command, were sent for security purposes.
HOLLYWOOD — "Detectives are dead," said Dick Powell, raising his left hand and ticking items off on his fingers. "Lawyers are dead. Doctors are dead. Cowboys are dead. So what are you going to do?"
So what Powell and his four Star production company are doing this season are anthologies, comedies—the broader the better—and reviving that fine, old, all-purpose device, the newspaper.

Dick Powell Puzzled by TV's Bad Habits

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Detectives are dead," said Dick Powell, raising his left hand and ticking items off on his fingers. "Lawyers are dead. Doctors are dead. Cowboys are dead. So what are you going to do?"
So what Powell and his four Star production company are doing this season are anthologies, comedies—the broader the better—and reviving that fine, old, all-purpose device, the newspaper.

Powell's own show is the anthology series in which he acts as weekly host and stars in about every third show. It proved one of last season's hits, a series of slick, well-acted and thoroughly professional shows.
This year his four Star company (other partners include Charles Boyer and David Niven) is producing "The Lloyd Bridges Show," an anthology series, "Ensign Tottle," a roistering comedy show along the lines of "Mr. Roberts," and "Saints and Sinners," the city-room series with a star reporter for a hero.

Powell, like every other producer in Hollywood, is watching closely NBC's experiment in a 30-minute weekly show, "The Virginian." "If that goes," he said with a shrug, "the 30-minute show may be the big thing in the future. But I think maybe the time is about right for a bright sophisticated comedy series. So far nobody seems interested."

Child Atraid He Might Flop at School

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—Teachers were unable to quiet one little boy on his first day at the High school Wednesday.
He sobbed uncontrollably until the first day at the High school Wednesday.
"Why are you crying, dear—don't you like school?" she asked. "I like it but I'm afraid," he sobbed. "I don't know how to read or write or anything."

Sun's Gravity Grabs Mariner

Just as Scheduled, Venus-Bound Craft Becomes Satellite

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The sun's gravitational pull has captured the Venus-bound spacecraft Mariner 2.
But there's no cause for alarm—scientists planned it that way.
At a point 1.6 million miles out in space Wednesday solar gravity became strong enough to overcome the earth's weakening pull on the 447-pound spacecraft.
For the rest of its uncharted lifetime, Mariner 2 will be a tiny satellite of the sun.
Scientific interest in it will cease next Dec. 14 when the 12-foot-tall vehicle streaks past Venus at a distance of 9,000 miles.

ENDS DEC. 14
Its scientific instruments, designed to help determine whether life could exist on the cloudy planet, then will be turned off and Mariner 2 will become another hunk of space junk orbiting the sun.
Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where Mariner 2 was built, calculated both the dwindling earth gravity and the increasing solar gravity in figuring its trajectory through space.

Can Register at City Schools

Deadline for Signing Up for Election in Fall Is Oct. 8

With one of the hottest gubernatorial races in recent years looming in the November election, city officials are taking steps to be sure all eligible voters are registered before the deadline, Oct. 8.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley today announced that election officials will make it easier to register starting Monday by setting up registration units in Pontiac schools.

"We currently plan to accept voter registrations in 20 schools on a school-per-day basis," she explained.

New residents of Pontiac and persons who haven't either voted or registered in the last four years must register to be able to vote in the November election.

"We don't want anyone turned away from the polls because he or she isn't registered," she said.

The last count, in March, showed 35,834 registered voters in Pontiac. For the last nonpresidential gubernatorial election in 1958 the count was 38,613.

"It should be a little higher than this year," Mrs. Barkeley predicted.

Registrations will be taken as usual at City Hall. The hours for registration at schools are 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 8.

SCHOOL SCHEDULE
The dates and schools where registrations will be accepted are as follows:

Sept. 10, Franklin; Sept. 11, Bagley; Sept. 12, Washington Junior High; Sept. 13, Webster; Sept. 14, Crofoot; Sept. 17, Wheeler; Sept. 18, Lincoln Junior High; Sept. 19, Owen; Sept. 20, Weaver; and Sept. 21, Malcolm.

Others are Sept. 21, LeBaron; Sept. 22, Emerson; Sept. 26, Horton; Sept. 27, Mark Twain; Sept. 28, McCarrall; Oct. 1, McConnell; Oct. 2, Wilson; Oct. 3, Longfellow; and Oct. 4, Eastern Junior High.

"We have nothing to say about the United States' claim," said a foreign ministry spokesman. "And we cannot understand why anybody is interested in this matter."

"It is not important whether or not there have been failures when Soviet soldiers and technicians are doing so wonderfully, and our successes are acknowledged throughout the world."

The chronicle of Soviet space triumphs was contained in a letter to chairman of the Senate and House Space committees from James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Congress members had urged Webb to make public information on Soviet space misadventures since the Soviets only talk about their successes.

Shots to Planets by Russians Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has struck out in five of six attempts to send spacecraft to Mars and Venus — and the sixth turned into a long foul, U.S. space officials report.

Twice within the past two weeks, they said, the Soviets tried to beat or match America's launching of Mariner 2 now hurtling 6,000 miles an hour toward Venus. Both Soviet attempts went haywire, U.S. space officials report.

It ticked off the two space fops this way — One effort on Aug. 25—two days before Mariner rocketed into the sky—broke up in space. Its fragments are orbiting earth. This failure was reported unofficially earlier.

The only shot that approached success was a Venus probe in the November election.

1961, said the report, but its radio blacked out before it got even close to the planet.

In Moscow a Soviet government spokesman declined to confirm or deny that Soviet rocket shots to Venus and Mars had failed.

Pontiac Dealers Are Having Best Clean-Up Period

E. M. Estes, general Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, announced today that Pontiac dealers are experiencing the best model clean-up period in their history.

He said in the last 10-day sales period, sales of Pontiacs and Tempests were 78 per cent ahead of the year-ago price and for the month of August sales were 71 per cent above last year.

At the present daily sales rate Pontiac dealers only had a 34-day supply of new cars. This, Estes said, was the lowest supply for this time of the year since the period immediately following World War II.

Pontiac sales in the Aug. 21-31 period totaled 13,164 units. This compares to 7,405 a year ago. For the month of August Pontiac dealers sold 72,246 cars, compared to 21,837 last year.

Soblen Takes Poison

Doctors Fight to Keep Spy From Death

Takes Drugs Before Return to U. S.; British Launch Investigation

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen poisoned himself today and fell unconscious minutes before his scheduled deportation to a life sentence in the United States.

The gaunt fugitive spy was rushed to a hospital, where doctors fought to keep him alive to pay his debt to American justice for passing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

Soblen swallowed a massive dose of a barbiturate-type drug while he was being taken to the airport from Brixton Prison in a police-escorted ambulance.

He became ill at the gates of London Airport where a Pan American jetliner waited to take him to New York. The plane took off with two empty seats — those reserved for Soblen and the British police surgeon assigned to accompany him.

Britain's home office launched an investigation of how Soblen got the drugs and how he was able to swallow them unobserved.

This probe got under way even as Soblen, a 61-year-old American citizen, lay deeply unconscious in a ward of Hillingdon Hospital near the airport.

Soblen is suffering from leukemia, but British doctors who examined him in connection with his fight against deportation reported he was not in immediate danger of death from this blood disease.

Home office officials issued this statement on today's events: "Dr. Soblen, who became ill in the ambulance taking him from (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Water Tank Plans Are Dammed Up

City officials are stuck today with an internal triangle.

The three-sided monster is a small piece of land on Pontiac's North Side, scheduled as the site of a 2-million-gallon water storage tank.

With contracts awarded in the estimated $3.7-million system improvement project, the Detroit pipeline getting nearer all the time and a revenue bond issue to finance the work all but sold, city officials discovered this week they might not own the land marked for the huge reservoir.

No one knows who owns it. The land is bordered by Montclair, Edison and Wolfe Streets.

According to maps of Pontiac, it is bordered on one side by Aaron Perry Park, on another by McCarrall School and on the north by General Motors Corp. property.

Making a final check on water improvement plans this week, city officials couldn't find a deed indicating it was part of the park property as they had thought.

A check with City Assessor Edward Bloch revealed no taxes had ever been assessed against the triangular plot.

Officials "assumed" that it must belong to the Pontiac School System. School officials had no record of the land being owned as a separate parcel and were not sure whether it was included as part of the McCarrall School site.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer said "I'm sure we'll find the solution."

He said that if the city doesn't own the land, the big water tank will have to be built elsewhere or, more likely, the triangle will have to be purchased.

First, however, the triangle needs an owner.

Kennedy's Tax Revision Bill Slated for Senate Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today President Kennedy's badly mauled tax revision bill, preserving in it the $1-billion incentive tax cut for companies to invest in new machinery and equipment.

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — The Senate was set today to pass President Kennedy's long-delayed tax revision bill providing a $1 billion a year tax credit for business.

The measure, already approved by the House, faced another four hours of debate before a final vote expected around noon (Pontiac time). But it was closed to further amendment and no amendments appeared.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., promised to vote against the bill although he expected it would easily pass the Senate.

"To vote yes now," he told reporters, "would encourage revisions in the tax code which might be worse, not better, in the long run."

Hart thus joined other liberal Democrats—including fellow Michigan Democrat Pat McNamara — who feel that the bill as presented today is an emasculated version of what President Kennedy wanted.

LIKED HOUSE BILL
Hart said he would have voted for the bill as it passed the House, "and if a bill like that came back from conference, I think I will vote for it."

Representatives of House and Senate, after both houses have passed a bill, meet in conference to iron out differences.

Key feature of the complex, much-amended bill is the administration's modified $1-billion tax credit for business designed to stimulate investments in new machinery and equipment.

It also would put higher taxes on insurance and savings companies, tighten up on business deductions for travel and entertainment, and crack down on U.S.-controlled firms operating in foreign "tax havens."

The bill had a stormy course through the House and Senate. Its fate in a Senate-House conference committee remains in doubt.

U. S. Huddles With Latins on Cuban Arms Build-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States sought today to sound out its Latin American allies on Cuba with senators demanding more action against the Castro regime.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has asked Latin American governments if they are interested in holding an "informal" foreign ministers' meeting in New York when the U.N. General Assembly opens Sept. 18.

Rusk made the request during an hour-long briefing he gave ambassadors of 19 Latin American countries yesterday on the recent Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

In other developments, Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., expressed dissatisfaction with U.S. policy on Cuba and called for sterner action against the Castro government.

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., told the Senate that Cuba and Russia should be "put on notice that if we move them out."

ground-to-ground missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads are put in place in Cuba, we intend to move them out."

—Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said congressional leaders who met yesterday with President Kennedy were informed that 61 free world vessels had carried supplies to Cuba since July 15. He said Britain, Norway, Greece and Germany were the principal shippers.

—The State Department received a Cuban press release accusing U.S. planes of about 20 violations of Cuban air space. The note was delivered yesterday by Czech Ambassador Miloslav Ruzick, who handles Cuban diplomatic relations in Washington.

In recent months, Cuba has charged the United States with dozens of air space violations. The United States has refused to answer most of the charges on the ground they have been too vague.

Cuba was said to have given more information in its latest note. Rusk discussed with the Latin American diplomats Kennedy's warning Tuesday that the United States would take any steps necessary to block Cuban aggression in the Western Hemisphere.

Peruvian Ambassador Fernando Bercoy said reaction to the President's statement was "very favorable."

The meeting with the Latin American ambassadors followed a briefing Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara gave senators on Cuba and other troubles.

Leaders Stop Algeria Battle

Ben Bella, Commander of Guerrillas Fly to Scene of Fighting

ALGIERS (AP) — Ahmed Ben Bella's Political Bureau announced today it has made formal its compromise agreement with mutinous guerrillas who opposed it during a four-day civil war.

ALGIERS (AP) — Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and the commander of the rebel guerrillas holding Algiers flew to Orleansville today to stop a new outbreak of fighting between their forces.

Ben Bella and Col. Si Hassan, commander of guerrilla Wilaya No. 4, had toured the front lines—including Orleansville—to end shooting at three points in which 100 men were reported killed or wounded Wednesday.

The Orleanville area, some 120 miles west of Algiers, was the scene yesterday of some of the bitterest fighting in the spasmodic civil war.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Flight Engineers' International Association delivered to the Federal Aviation Agency 40 photographs which, the union said, showed airline pilots asleep at their controls, or reading while in flight.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States accused Russia today of "painting a completely distorted picture of the situation in Berlin" with its latest charges against the Western powers.

STEEL ARRIVES — Huge steel trusses were laid alongside the foundation for the $600,000 auditorium at the County Service Center yesterday. They were scheduled to be raised today or tomorrow. Construction of the hexagonal-shaped building is proceeding on schedule. The 227-seat auditorium is slated for completion by 1963. It will be joined by a corridor and offices to the new administrative wing of the county courthouse seen in the background. The auditorium will serve as a meeting place for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and other county groups.

Russia Eying Berlin Moves?

Bitter Note to West May Indicate New Red Maneuvers

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — U.S. officials view the Soviet Union's latest note to the Western powers on Berlin as an unusually bitter propaganda blast which may foreshadow new Soviet moves in the troubled city.

The note was received in Washington and in other Western capitals late Wednesday and State Department officials are studying it.

They said it is a response to earlier U.S., British and French proposals for four-power talks in Berlin on measures which might be taken to reduce tension over the Communist wall dividing the city.

The note was seen here as indicating that the Soviets are unwilling to engage in considering such measures at this time and some authorities thought it may mean that Premier Khrushchev is about ready to sign a separate treaty with East Germany.

Khrushchev has long threatened such a step which he claims would give the East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize, authority over the supply routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

K TALKS TO UDALL
In Russia, Khrushchev invited U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for an unexpected conference today, possibly to discuss the Berlin crisis and the latest U2 incident.

Student rates for those in the older age group are effective only during school hours.

New Jersey Negroes and Louisiana Whites Picket Schools

By United Press International
A school boycott by Negroes in Englewood, N. J., appeared to gain momentum today. Louisiana segregationists took the weapon for their own use in an effort to pursue an opposite goal.

More than 400 Negro children boycotted Englewood's predominantly-Negro Lincoln school today, a sharp increase over the 235 children who stayed home yesterday in an effort to enforce their parents' claim that the school is segregated because of a state policy requiring children to attend the schools nearest their homes.

In Louisiana, groups of segregationists stepped up their efforts to keep white students from attending Roman Catholic parochial schools in the New Orleans area, opened for the first time to Negroes three days ago.

At Westwego, La., police deputies set up barricades and brought out two police dogs to control a crowd of picketing, boobying white students outside an integrated Roman Catholic elementary school.

BOO CHILDREN
For the second day in a row, whites gathered outside the Our Lady of Prompt School at Westwego, in Jefferson Parish (County) across the Mississippi from New Orleans.

The crowd of about 100 raised a chorus of boos when a group of white children got off a school bus and entered the partially-boycotted school.

Englewood pickets who marched in front of the school this morning were led by Vincent K. Tibbs, one of two Negroes on the city council.

But principal Leroy McClellan himself a Negro, ordered classes to continue even though half of his classrooms were empty.

New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes admitted he was a "little restive about the apparent status quo" in Englewood.

Chilly Weather Spreads Across Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press
Chilly weather spread across broad areas of the eastern half of the nation today, with temperatures dropping to record lows for the date in some northern areas.

Lowest readings were in the north central region but unseasonable temperatures extended eastward through the Ohio Valley and into the Northeast. The chilly air was expected to extend along the Gulf and Southern Atlantic Coast.

It was freezing in parts of Michigan with a 31 reading in Pontiac, while Marquette reported one degree above freezing.

The long lines, caused by this week's call-back of 1,500 General Motors employees, should ease next week, said Roy Stracht, claims manager. He saw no speed-up for lack of help and space. To Start Peace Corps Duties City Miss Lands in Ethiopia

By RALPH P. HUMMEL
Today a little bit of brown-haired, blue-eyed Pontiac arrives in Ethiopia.
The name of this city export is Mary L. Wood. She's 21. She's eager. And she's well trained to be a teacher of history and social studies with the U. S. Peace Corps in Addis Ababa, capital of the east empire on the African continent.
Mary left her green-shuttered, white-painted home at 781 Oswego Drive only this Monday. She had barely five days to pack since she returned from corps training.
Her wardrobe had to be extensive, says her mother Mrs. William W. Wood.

It had to be appropriate for stop-overs in Paris and Athens and finally for the end of the rainy season which just about freezes out now on the 5,000-foot, high plateau of Ethiopia.
"She always said she wanted to see the world," commented her mother this morning. "So I guess she's going to."
A graduate of Pontiac Central High School and a junior at Michigan State University, Mary started talking of joining the Peace Corps a year ago.
She passed the academic tests

MISS MARY L. WOOD

Woman Clings to Tree on Cliff for 8 Hours

LA CRESCENTA, Calif. (UPI) — A desperate wife to live today was the only explanation officials could offer for the survival of a plucky, 58-year-old widow who dramatically clung for eight hours to a branch 200 feet down a sheer canyon wall.
Disregarding heat, hornets and her own painful injuries, Mrs. Gertrude Ida Long of Tujunga Calif., held on to the canyon shrubbery until rescuers answered her feeble calls for help.
She was thrown into this position near noon yesterday when her car went out of control and plunged over a 300-foot canyon wall at Palm Drive and Del Oro Road. She was rescued at 8 p.m.
Mrs. Long said she was thrown from her car and, though groggy, managed to wrap one leg and her arms around a tree growing out of the canyon wall.
There, with face injuries, a fractured rib and lacerations over most of her body, she stayed — listening to voices and music coming from the nearby mountain homes.
"My mouth was like cotton, but I just had to keep calling for help until someone heard me," Mrs. Long said at Glendale Sanitarium, where she was taken following her rescue.
Finally, around 8 p.m., Norman Pearson heard her cries and summoned deputies, who hauled the exhausted woman from the canyon in a basket stretcher.

The Day in Birmingham Two Named to Head Unit Backing George Romney

BIRMINGHAM — Two Birmingham men have been named co-chairman of the Oakland County Speakers Bureau, an affiliation of Romney Volunteers of Oakland County, it was announced today.
Heading the speakers bureau are Charles H. Heinen, 4955 Bayview Drive, and Richard J. Nutter, 989 Nampa Court.

Heinen is assistant chief engineer-materials of the Chrysler Corp. and a past president of the Birmingham Toastmasters.
"The speakers bureau is one of the best means for personalizing the campaign of George Romney's election as governor," said Heinen.
"Our purposes is not to make political speeches but to tell our audiences why we are for Romney," he said.

An account executive for the Electric Autolite Co., Nutter, also a past president of the Birmingham Toastmasters, said, "We welcome the opportunity to appear before any group for we feel that we have an important message for the people of Michigan."
He said that anyone wishing to join the group or desiring speakers can contact the office of Romney Volunteers of Oakland County.

Doctors Try to Save Soblen From Death

"START INQUIRY"
It has been confirmed in the hospital that Dr. Soblen has taken a drug of the barbiturate group and that his present condition is due to this. A full inquiry into the circumstances of the case is being instituted.
Hospital authorities issued this statement:
"Dr. Soblen was admitted to Hillingdon Hospital at 10:30 a.m. He was unconscious at the time of admission."
"By 11:30 a.m. the depth of his unconsciousness lightened but he is still seriously ill."

A later hospital bulletin said: "Barbiturates have been found in his blood in a concentration which indicates an overdose."
The home office now will seek to determine how Soblen — in the light of his past record — was able to get his hands on the drugs he took.

Soblen has some sympathizers in Britain, largely because of the state of his health. One of these might have slipped him drugs but the opportunities for doing so would have been limited.

Soblen's actions today matched in drama his arrival in Britain July 1.
SLASHED HIMSELF
On that occasion the psychiatrist cut himself in the abdomen and wrist with a steak knife while his New York-bound El Al plane was approaching Britain from Israel. He was rushed to the same Hillingdon Hospital.

Later Soblen explained he inflicted those wounds not to commit suicide but to get on British soil and launch a legal fight to avoid being returned to the United States.
That involved nine-week fight failed. His last plea for clemency was turned down yesterday by Home Secretary Henry Brooke, who insisted that Soblen must be deported.

Leaders Call Halt to Algeria Fighting troops reportedly had tried to push through guerrilla roadblocks on three highways to Algiers, violating a cease fire provision that they would stay out of the guerrilla territory.

The heaviest fighting was reported at Aumale, 55 miles southeast of Algiers. About 40 soldiers were reported killed there.
Other clashes were reported near Oranville and Berruouia. Under the cease fire terms all troops had been ordered to hold their positions and indications were that the rebel guerrillas acted defensively after the regulars advanced on their roadblocks.

Col. Houari Boumedienne, the regular army commander, was described as displeased with the cease fire arranged Tuesday night because it denied his troops a victorious entry into the capital.
Ben Bella's political bureau concluded the cease fire with commanders of the rebel guerrillas Wilayas (zones) 3 and 4. Col. Si Hassan, Wilaya 4 commander, accompanied Ben Bella on a helicopter trip to halt Wednesday's outbursts.

Leaders of the feuding factions were gathering in Algiers to arrange a more permanent peace settlement. Sources close to the political bureau said election of the country's first National Assembly could be held within 10 days and a full-fledged government formed soon afterward.

New Soviet Moves Are Seen on Berlin meeting for Khrushchev's first public comment on the U2 affair which has put new strain on Soviet-U.S. relations.

Udall returned to Moscow from a tour of hydroelectric stations yesterday and was invited suddenly to fly to Khrushchev's Black Sea vacation retreat at Sochi for a talk with the premier.

The Cabinet meeting is the highest ranking American currently in the Soviet Union.
The Soviet Union told the Western powers that what is now needed for "normalizing the situation in West Berlin" is not consultation, but the signing of a German treaty which would "end the occupation regime in West Berlin."
The hope among Western leaders is that if and when Khrushchev does sign a treaty with East Germany he will provide for restraints on subsequent East German actions to avoid a showdown with the Western powers over their use of the supply lines to Berlin.

The position of the Western powers is that they will not recognize East German authority as a substitute for Soviet responsibilities with respect to Western rights.

Chili Sauce Made Easily Without Long Cooking

By JANET ODELL
Frontier Press Food Editor

It's too bad to let the fresh tomato season go by without making some chili sauce. Even if you don't care much about canning and preserving, you'll like this recipe. And it takes only a peck of tomatoes.

Mrs. David Morgan is our cook today. She wasn't enthusiastic about having her name used, but we believe in giving credit to our cooks.

UNCOOKED CHILI SAUCE
 By Mrs. David Morgan
 1 peck tomatoes

12 onions
 2 bunches celery
 1/2 cup salt
 3 ground hot peppers or 3 red sweet peppers

Grind or chop tomatoes, onions and celery. Add salt and let stand overnight. Drain the next morning. Add ground peppers.

Bol 1 quart cider vinegar with 6 cups sugar and one teaspoon each ginger and cloves and cayenne pepper. Pour hot over the vegetable mixture and seal in jars.

Fur Silhouettes Do Emphasize Simplicity

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Semifitted straight or curvy: these are the important fur silhouettes for fall.

The emphasis is on simplicity and elegance. Gone are those bathrobes made out of mink. Replacing them are mink and leopard coats with a young, swaggy look.

This casual air carries over into jackets of mink and sable. They remind you of one of those thick, bubbly sweater jackets done on a far more lavish scale.

Shaping of the new fur suggests the body lines. But neither coats nor jackets cling. The cut is both clean and exact. The concave front is most often balanced by a straight flat back though there are some full backs to be seen.

Flat furs and longhairs compete with each other for fall fashion attention. Mink, sable and leopard lead off the fashion list to be followed by river otter, beaver, fur seals, broadtail, Persian and chinchilla.

Little fur wraps are shaped like kerchiefs or triangles and fasten securely with button or bow. They solve that problem of what to do with a sliding fur, the problem created by the mink stole now passing from fashion favor. The new wraps need neither grabbing nor clutching nor do they hang down like terry towels draped from shoulders.

While some designs are using one fur as trim for another (black mink on black Russian broadtail), the general tendency is to keep trimming toned down. The shape of fur is the thing this fall.

Indicate Waistline

For fall, those bulky sweaters take on a new and very slight shaping to the body. This does NOT mean tight. It means that the waistline is just indicated.

What Today's Teen-Agers Think:

Most Youngsters Agree Test Are Okay

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Tests are part and parcel of life, and there's no getting away from them.

You begin to face them in school but they don't stop there. More and more they are being used to determine advancement and promotion in later life.

How many tests do teen-agers take during the course of a year?

We decided to ask you for an accounting — and also what you think of intelligence tests or others that are used to measure your general knowledge.

There were just a few — actually, only 13 — out of the 1,007 young people questioned in our survey who reported they had no tests whatsoever during the span of a year.

Nearly a third said they were confronted with two such tests each year, 20 per cent said they got only one, 15 per cent reported getting three and 10 per cent as many as four.

Are such tests fair? Yes, said 67 per cent of the group.

The most lucid comment on the subject came from William McCord, 17, of Okemos, Mich., who apparently has given considerable thought to the matter. He said he thought the tests were fair, and explained:

"The scores on these tests when compared with the classroom grades tell quite a lot."

"If a person scores high on his test but has low classroom grades, then it is very likely that he is having problems. I think that a person should not be judged on one thing alone, such as classroom grades.

"The tests give the teacher another view of the student. If a person should score low on his test but has high classroom grades, then I believe the tests should not be accepted as a valid yardstick of the person's ability."

"This happens to many above-average students because they are just not able to do well on these types of tests."

SAME VIEWPOINT

That marathon explanation just about covered every viewpoint expressed by others.

More than half of you, 57 per cent, reported that you are allowed to know the results of the tests. Of those who said such information is kept secret, we found that nearly 80 per cent said they think they should be told the results.

"The tests are designed to test your intelligence," said John Ringler, 15, of Tawca, Wash.

"Such tests are a failure if the person tested is left in the dark and is not allowed to know what he is weak in."

The objections to revealing test results were stated mainly in terms of causing people to become either big-headed because of a high score or depressed because of a low score.

Also, giving results leads to comparisons, and a number of you said, in effect, that this is not the purpose of testing.

There is one thing that you agree on to a considerable degree. That is your ability to do better in such tests as you take more and more of them.

"The ability to concentrate on them increases with age," said Jerry Morgan, 15, of Kansas City, Mo., in explanation.

"As time passes, I can increase my speed and accuracy," reported Joan Wenke, 14, of La Grange, Texas. "I usually don't have to change answers because I've earned to read carefully the first time."

While 75 per cent of you say your test-ability increases with familiarity, just about the same number report scoring very well in tests.

Of those who said no to this query, there were a considerable number reporting that they thought they did not score very well, but actually they had never seen their scores. They just felt they'd done poorly.

In the sound-off department, we asked you what you would substitute for such tests, if you had the chance — and assuming you didn't want them anymore.

We got some nonsense answers, with a considerable number saying that tests should be replaced by "nothing." But one girl from Philadelphia, Zellane Sandler, 16, suggested "essay tests, or more general type tests, not multiple choice."

Dan Black, 17, of Albuquerque, N.M., suggested "psychological analysis," and a 16-year-old from New York recommended that there be "an aptitude test that would cover a long period of time."

Find 1 in Seven Cancer Risks

Toledo-Area Survey of Women Proposes Frequent Checks

CHICAGO (AP)—A mass test of Ohio Women for cancer of the womb has yielded a finding and a warning.

The finding: one of every seven women so examined fell into a high-risk class.

The warning: such women should have more frequent check-ups, preferably twice a year.

The study stemmed from an extraordinary long-term program, launched in 1947, to improve the cure rate for cervical cancer in Lucas County (Toledo) Ohio.

During the years 75,763 women were examined—more than two-thirds of all the women over 30. Of the total, 36,549 were examined at least twice.

HIGH OR LOW

The report and women examined for symptoms of uterine cancer and given a smear test could be tagged as either high or low risk. It showed that 14 per cent of all women examined more than once were in the high-risk group.

The study noted that there is a high rate of salvage of uterine cancer patients when the disease is detected early and treated promptly. But it also stressed the difficulty of examining 57 million American women.

Then the report pointed out that establishing a mass of defining high-risk women could make it easier to persuade such women to be examined once a year or more often, if necessary.

The study reported to the society was conducted by Dr. Edward L. Burns of Toledo; Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, statistical research director of the American Cancer Society; and Dr. T. W. Gorski, research director of the Cancer Cytology Research Fund, Toledo.

Romney Proposes 11-Point Health Plan

By The Associated Press
George Romney says "State responsibilities and opportunities have been overlooked" in providing medical care for Michigan citizens.

In a speech in Detroit Wednesday, the Republican nominee for governor proposed an 11-point health program to include a state-wide physical fitness program. He also urged that Michigan take full advantage of present federal legislation on medical care.

Gov. J. Swainson, meanwhile, toured the Upper Peninsula.

Romney outlined his views on health care before the Michigan and Wayne County Academies of General Practice. The symposium on psychosomatic medicine was unopinionated, but Dr. P. F. Blomster, the chairman, introduced Romney as "the next governor of Michigan."

Romney said he understood psychosomatic medicine deals with symptoms brought on by a patient's emotional and mental processes.

"As I read and thought about this," Romney said, "it occurred to me that the body politic can also develop symptoms which are basically psychosomatic in origin."

"For example, this state is known as a 'protection state' both in its lack of economic growth and its chronic fiscal mess. We have developed all the symptoms of an unhealthy economy."

"Now, I don't believe we should ourselves (either consciously or unconsciously) into the mess we now face, although the attitudes of the state administration were an important factor."

SWAINSON RAILS
Romney's Democratic opponent Gov. Swainson opening a four-day campaign swing through Upper Michigan, told a rally of Gogebic County Democrats in Wakefield Wednesday night, "I am sick and tired of Republicans using the economic distress of the people of the Upper Peninsula as a political football. The Republicans say they are concerned but they sell you out every time."

Swainson said, "I believe we have reached a point in the Upper Peninsula where we are ready to start up the other side of the hill toward new growth, new progress and new jobs."

"But this will not be accomplished by the Republican party in its blind, unreasoning, reckless, unprincipled opposition to every program that can move Michigan forward."

Swainson told the Gogebic County group that the economy of Michigan — including the North Country — has lost its vitality in part because of an unwillingness on the part of business and industry to open new ventures that carry an element of risk.

Swainson said the demand for are produced in Upper Michigan has lessened in recent years as needs of world markets have changed, and as new areas of operation have been found more profitable by companies.

"I believe... you have a right to ask — and I ask it now — where is the initiative, the drive and the willingness to take a risk that characterized our industrial giants of the 1880s?" said Swainson.

Swainson said he believes in long-range recreational development as "one of the greatest hopes" of the Upper Peninsula. But, he asked, "What would one of us propose that it invest in a spectacular recreation attraction to match the tourist attraction of the Mackinac Bridge?"

"The answer would be: No, this can't be done. We want a something. This might be a risk."

LEADERSHIP, UNITY
In his Detroit speech, Romney declared, "we know that our economy is basically sound and our natural and human resources are great and varied. What we need is leadership and unity to solve both the real and perceived problems facing this state."

"We must rebuild the confidence of employers — both in and out of the state — in Michigan as a place to do business."

In outlining his health program for the state, Romney said that if he is elected governor, "I shall request the legislature to raise the maximum old age assistance monthly payment for convalescent care from $50 to $130."

Romney said, "We should increase support for our present medical schools at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, so that they can produce an increased number of graduates to meet the expanding needs of our growing population."

"We must support post-graduate medical education programs such as those begun at the Institute of Biology and Medicine at Michigan State University."

Romney declared that Michigan has yet to take full advantage of the Kerr-Mills legislation which provides grants to states for medical care for aged persons of low income.

Key to Heredity May Be Known by End of Year

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI)

Scientists attending a three-day symposium at Rutgers University said yesterday the principles of the genetic "code" of human heredity may be known by the end of the year.

Some 225 biochemists, microbiologists and geneticists, including four Nobel Prize winners, are participating in the symposium on information macromolecules.

If the chemical actions of the genes are learned the scientists said they would be able to understand and perhaps predict human heredity.

Eddie Seeking More Debates

Kennedy - McCormack
Hassle Heads Toward Sept. 18 Showdown

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy and State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. had their second face-to-face debate Wednesday night and wound up with McCormack issuing a new challenge for more debates in other parts of the state.

They are contending for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in the Sept. 18 state primary.

Kennedy won the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention June 9 and McCormack, defeated then, filed nomination papers to run against him.

Kennedy made no immediate reply to McCormack's new challenge. Their first debate was in Boston, and McCormack wants to meet Kennedy in at least five other places with a windup debate on election eve in Boston.

CHANGE APPROACH
Wednesday night's debate, sponsored by the Holyoke Central Labor Council before a capacity audience of 1,200 in the War Memorial Building, was in marked contrast to their first session 10 days ago.

In that debate, McCormack attacked Kennedy personally, asserting if he ran for the Senate as "Edward Moore" his candidacy "would be a joke."

This time they agreed on most of the national and international issues and both candidates stressed they are running on their own names.

Kennedy, 30, is the youngest brother of President Kennedy. McCormack, 33, is the nephew of the Speaker of the House John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Did Russia Keep Cuba Out of Warsaw Pact?

BY K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Fidel Castro's Cuban regime may have sought—and been refused—an all-out Russian military guarantee and an alignment with the Kremlin-controlled Warsaw Defense Pact, authoritative sources reported today.

The Russians were said to have refused and instead offered an arms deal and the dispatch of "experts" to Cuba. That deal was announced last weekend.

This, the authoritative reports claim, is the story behind the recent Moscow-Havana deal which has committed Russia publicly to back Castro without, however, pledging automatic military assistance.

The Warsaw Pact which embraces Russia and the satellite nations provides for automatic assistance in the event of attack on any of them.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently was not prepared to take risks with Cuba.

A closer study of the Russo-Cuban deal has since pointed up the fact that it only provides for help to Cuba to meet what it calls threats from aggressive elements.

Soviet affairs experts said the Moscow announcement referred guardedly to Cuban, not Russian, justification for taking measures to insure its security.

There is no discernible suggestion of an automatic guarantee by Russia to the Castro regime. Experts said Khrushchev presumably was taking no chances for fear also that such a move might be seen by Washington as a direct provocation of the United States.

Moreover, a Soviet military guarantee for Cuba could bring on the risk of Russian involvement in warlike operations far away from her homeland and with communication lines beyond Moscow's control.

Soviet affairs experts here saw the Cuban venture largely as an important part of a Kremlin plan to win a foothold from which to forge ahead by stages in Latin America.

Fire in Pittsburgh Damages Building

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A general alarm fire raged through a six-story brick building in the heart of the city early today, showering sparks on a crowd of spectators.

Acting Fire Chief William Mauer said the damages to the Minsky Bros. and Co. building probably will "run over $200,000."

He said a specific estimate was difficult because of the bulk of toys and appliances destroyed in the fire. Minsky Bros. is one of the largest toy distributors in the tri-state area.

No one was reported injured.

New Industry Planned for Davisburg Location

By JIM LONG
DAVISBURG — This village which only a short time ago feared it might become a "ghost town" now may become the site of a new Michigan industry.

The Columbia Steel Container Corp., which plans to establish its plant here as the only Michigan manufacturer of steel drums for the chemical industry, learned yesterday that it has become eligible to seek a $813,572 loan from the federal government.

The new firm's application for the loan was forwarded to the Area Redevelopment Administration, a federal agency in Washington, after being approved by the Michigan Economic Development Department.

Louis H. Golden, 2025 N. Lake Angelus Road, Lake Angelus, spokesman for the group investing in the new plant, said the proposed development here has been in the planning stage for the last eight months.

Golden, who is president of the Redford Steel Corp., Southfield, said he is not at liberty to discuss all the details of the project at this time since the loan hasn't been approved by the ARA.

"I will say, however, that the plant is expected to employ 77 at the outset, with 119 employees after the first year."

After a year or so the proposed company may have an annual payroll nearing the half-million dollar mark, he said.

Plans call for building the plant on a 15-acre site adjoining the Grand Trunk Western Railroad line that runs through the village.

In addition to the ARA loan, the company has been offered a loan of $185,000 from the Davisburg Industrial Development Corporation to be used for acquiring the land and building a plant.

Heading the local development coalition is Mrs. Clyde Nelsey, 8055 Cross-Hill Road, one of Davisburg's staunchest supporters. She is the one given the most credit by Golden for the new company's decision to locate in the Springfield Township unincorporated village.

"Mrs. Nelsey has done much in promoting the interest of Davisburg," said Golden. "If we hadn't read in the Pontiac Press of her lone battle to bring this village into the village we may never have thought of starting a company there."

AF Picks Rochester for Depot

ROCHESTER — The Rochester area has been chosen by the U.S. Air Force for storage of emergency medical supplies and equipment.

Col. Verne W. Cornish of Selfridge Air Force Base announced the selection at a meeting of the northeast Oakland County civil Defense Council.

Cornish stated this area was chosen for the arsenal because it lies in a relatively favorable fallout pattern in the event that Selfridge Field were attacked.

Paul York, Rochester village manager, was appointed chairman of a four-man committee to proceed with planning for the storage facility, working with the Air Force.

Working with York on the liaison committee are Ray Genereux, Lake Orion CD director; George Moore, Oxford CD director; and Hollie Lepley, CD coordinator at Michigan State University Oakland.

Final approval of the plans is expected to be given at the next council meeting, Sept. 22.

Irregularities Seen in Acquisitions for Water Project

FLINT — The Flint City Commission last night voted to investigate formally a report of alleged irregularities involving land acquisition for the city's $50-million Lake Huron water supply project.

Mayor Charles Mobley, speaking for the commission, said the civic body had been informed city administrative officials already were conducting an investigation.

City officials said a preliminary report would be ready within 10 days.

The City Commission authorized the acquisition of land for intake and pumping station facilities on Lake Huron near the St. Clair-Sanilac County line. Also authorized was land acquisition for a reservoir and for rights of way for a 48-mile pipeline.

City Manager Robert Carter hired a private real estate source to purchase the land to avoid publicity.

No city official or city employee is involved in the reported irregularities, Mobley said.

Details of the alleged irregularities were not revealed.

Can Schedule Nature Talks

Lecture Time Now Available for Schools in Kensington Park

Schools in Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties can now schedule appointments for naturalist lectures to be given to boys and girls visiting the Nature Center at Kensington Metropolitan Park, south-east of Brighton.

William F. Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, pointed out that naturalist lectures are available Tuesday through Friday from September through May at the Nature Center where four lecture periods are scheduled.

Morning lectures are at 10 and 10:45 a.m., and afternoon talks at 12:15 and 1 p.m. All appointments should be scheduled a few weeks in advance and no appointments are available on Monday.

Arrangements can be made for this free service through the authority office in Detroit. Groups must be limited to not more than 35 persons plus adult leaders. Students also will have an opportunity to view exhibits at the Nature Center.

School groups may also request guided nature hikes along the park's several trails.

The Nature Center hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sunday and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays for use by the general public since school groups use the facilities at other times.

Golden said, "It might be two weeks or two months before we learn the decision of the ARA, but you can be assured that if the loan goes through we will be prepared to break ground within a matter of days."

"Davisburg is leading the way in showing other communities, where 'there's a will there is a way' to bring new industry into the area," said Golden.

Golden indicated that other industry was planned for the area.

"As things develop more about Davisburg's future will be announced," Golden said.

Rail Crossing Survey Asked

Lake Orion Council Concerned at Number of Accidents

LAKE ORION — Due to the excessive number of accidents — one of them fatal — at the junction of Flint Street and the New York Central Railroad tracks, the Village Council has taken action to prevent any further mishaps.

The council is sending a petition to the Michigan State Public Service Commission (MSPC) requesting a survey of the crossing in hopes of obtaining stopping gates there.

The MSPC is in charge of installation and maintenance of all stopping gates, and determines the per cent of cost to be paid by the railroad and residential area involved.

Two train-car collisions occurred at the junction last month alone, one in which Mrs. Doris Higgins, 706 Central St., was killed. According to Police Chief Neil Leonard, "Quite a few other accidents have taken place at the Flint Street crossing in the past four years."

In other action the council noted the large decrease in the number of outstanding water bills, but planned to continue its crackdown on delinquent customers.

It was decided all residents having delinquent bills after the forthcoming final notice will have their water supply shut off.

Board Appoints New Principal

Avondale Unit Names Elmwood Elementary Administrator

The Avondale Board of Education at its regular meeting last night approved the appointment of Charles L. Johnson as principal of the Elmwood Elementary School in Auburn Heights.

Johnson, who lives at 1116 Truwood Drive, Avon Township, is a native of Carrier Mills, Ill.

He was graduated from Murray State College in 1966 with a B. S. degree in social studies and from Michigan State University this past summer with a master's degree in educational administration.

Johnson will continue his studies at MSU this fall working on his doctorate in educational administration.

Prior to coming to the Avondale District, the new principal served as a classroom teacher in the elementary and secondary grades and as an elementary school administrator.

He is a member of both the Michigan and National educational associations. His wife, Marlene, is presently employed as a vocal music instructor at Troy High School.

The Johnsons have two daughters, Lisa Ann, 6, and Gina Lynn, 3.

TO GRADUATE — Joyce Joanne Moors will receive her diploma from McAuley School of Practical Nursing, Pontiac, Saturday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moors, 368 Church Street, Orionville.

Seek Fifth Robbery Suspect

ROYAL OAK — Police followed a trail marked by a blood-soaked auto and a weapons cache, hoping it would lead them today to a bag they say took part in the robbery-kidnaping of an oil firm executive.

Officers said they found an auto abandoned in Southgate yesterday. Its front seat soaked with blood. It was registered in the name of James Wilson of Lincoln Park, police said.

At Wilson's home, officers said they found 15 rifles, and shotguns, several thousands rounds of ammunition and a quantity of hand grenades. Wilson could not be found.

Lawrence said the fifth fugitive, presumably wounded, was the member of the gang still free. One was shot and killed during a wild chase through Detroit suburbs early yesterday and three other men have been arrested.

The shootings followed the robbery of J. J. Levy, owner of the Hatfield Oakland County Gas & Oil Co.

Held for investigation were Joseph Lanza, 35, of Lincoln Park; Joseph Welsh, 38, of Hazel Park; and Thomas Kubala, 26, of Lincoln Park.

Killed was Joseph Rosetti, 30, of Philadelphia.

Levy said two men came to his house at 316 Hendrie St. and forced him to take them to a filling station where he opened the safe.

"Then they started accosting the money out of the safe and putting it into a bag," Levy said, "and they were so busy I sneaked out of the office to the back of the building and got a shotgun."

Levy said one man, believed to be the missing fugitive, fled and shot him. Then the other, believed to be Rosetti, tried to flee during the day.

Walled Lake Library to Keep Operating

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Public Library will continue to operate, thanks to action taken by the City Council.

The library, threatened with closing because of financial difficulties, has been taken over by the city following an allocation of $700 for rent and maintenance.

The funds will allow the library to remain open for at least the next eight months.

Before that time, however, voters will be asked, probably in April, to decide a tax proposal that would provide funds annually for the operation of the library.

In July the council approved a proposal for the November election that would have provided three-tenths of a mill for library operations if it was approved.

This proposal has now been canceled with the council's decision to allocate funds until the end of the fiscal year in June.

A request for temporary assistance was defeated by one vote of the council at its July meeting.

With the full support of the city behind the library, it now becomes eligible for assistance from several agencies, both local and state.

Mayor Louis James will appoint a city library board to direct the activities of the library at the council meeting of Sept. 18. Until that time the present board will continue in office.

Had the city refused to aid the library, preparations had been made to close the facility this week.

Ex-Nowi Resident Suicide in Korea

NOVI — A former Novi man died in Seoul, Korea, of a shotgun wound in the head, the U.S. Army announced yesterday.

A local newspaper there reported that Louis D. Lawson, 32, shot himself after quarreling with his wife.

The shooting occurred Sunday at Lawson's quarters in the Elnaewon Housing Area in Seoul.

Lawson had been in Korea for about two years as an employee of a dairy company that operates an army milk plant in Seoul.
