Mightiest U.S. Missile Fired Over Atlantic

Launching of Rocket Had Been Delayed Since Yesterday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (INS)—The mightiest missile in the U. S. rocket arsenal—the 5,500-mile intercontinental Atlas — was sent roaring out over the Atlantic today with a cataclysmic blast that shook the earth for miles.

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. —the anticipated firing of an Atlas intercontinental missile at Cape Canaveral apparently hit a snag today and word spread that a "hold" had been called in the countdown.

The Atlas launching had been expected yesterday but failed to materialize and reports had circulated throughout the night that U.S. rocket men would fire the missile early today to strengthen President Eisenhower's hand at the NATO talks in Paris.

Today's rumored launching at 8 a.m. (EST) "zero hour" did not come off, but shortly afterward a red warning ball was hoisted and service cranes were rolled away from the projectiles.

Observers lining the beach for the launching of the 5,500-mile-range rocket say liquid oxygen belching from one of two Atlas missiles on the launching pad and the firing appeared imminent.

Then shortly after 11 a.m., tracking camera stations lining the shoreline were closed, indicating the launching had been postponed.

The red warning ball continued to fly off its mast, however, and observers speculated that the firing might still come off later in the day.

As the noon hour approached, a heavy haze settled over the jutting strip of land on the Atlantic and hid the missiles from view.

Earlier in the morning, the gleaming pencil-shaped projectiles were seen clearly as the sun's rays penetrated low hanging clouds.

The Atlas has been fired twice before. In both cases the missile started going astray after getting into the air and had to be destroyed.

Through binoculars, observers noticed last night that the Vanguard rocket launching tower was lighted and the scene of much activity.

One report had it that there would be another Vanguard launching attempt about Dec. 23.

The launching stand was damaged Dec. 6 by a satellite-bearing Vanguard three-stage rocket which failed to take off properly and burned on the ground. The stand has been dark, or nearly so, each night since then.

Pontiac United Fund Exceeds 1956 Total

With $604,132 raised, the Pontiac Area United Fund finds itself at the 98.7 level as the campaign ends. "Enough more will come in automaticaly from those who are late to push us beyond 99 per cent," said Secretary Karl Bradley, "and there is a slight chance we might creep very close to our goal of $612,000."

Presidet William B. Hartman declared that the campaign workers have done a bang-up job. "Business conditions are not quite as good as they have been for the past two years," he said, "and yet we have raised slightly more in 1957 than we did in 1956."

For a Happy Holiday

Try Pets for Gift

Perhaps no other gift can bring quite the same light to the eyes of a young child as the gift of a cuddly, furry puppy or kitten of his own.

Knowing this, and anticipating the desires of many parents this Christmas to get dogs or cats for their children, two Oakland County animal agencies are preparing for a land office rush.

The Michigan Animal Rescue League Shelter, now located in a brand new building on Featherstone road, at East boulevard, has 75 animals, including purebreds, on hand.

They range from tiny mongrels to a masterful Great Dane. Puppies, including sleek collies and haughty French poodles, all have had their temporary distemper and hepititis inoculations.

Prices are from $8 up, according to Mrs. Martin Davis, treasurer.

New Yorkers See Subways Free of Strike

NEW YORK (INS) — New York's subway strike was over today after eight days of the worst transport tieup in New York history.

And 4,700,000 regular strap-hangers were back where they started — competing with multitudes of Christmas shoppers for a seat.

Department stores and other Midtown Manhattan shops indicated they expected today's sales to rival or surpass the near record high of Saturday, when subway service had returned to 70 per cent of normal.

Start Summation in Hoffa Trial

Judge Denies Motion by 3 Defendants for Directed Acquittal

NEW YORK (AP) — Both sides have rested their cases in the wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union.

Bryan denied the motion.

Steinberg said his client's case was damaged by what he called the "overwhelming, shocking, crushing weight of adverse publicity leveled against James R. Hoffa."

The three defendants are accused of conspiring here to tap telephones in the Detroit Teamster headquarters in 1953.

Steinberg conceded that phone lines in the Detroit offices were equipped so that room conversations could be overheard. He said this was not illegal.

He also attacked the testimony of Rudolph L. Doelicke, who told the court he helped Spindel install telephone taps at the Detroit headquarters and that these were demonstrated to Hoffa and Brennan July 9, 1953.

The reason given for installing the equipment was so that Hoffa could check on the loyalty of his subordinates.

Dragging Lake for Defendant Halted by Ice

Winstead, Investigator for UAW in Renda Suit, Missing Since Sunday

ST. CLAIR SHORES (INS) — Dragging operations in Lake St. Clair for the body of Ralph Winstead, chief investigator for the United Auto Workers, were halted today because of ice on the water.

St. Clair Shores police chief Harvey Champine said detectives are concentrating on the Union's headquarters in Detroit where the 63-year-old man made a mysterious 6 a.m. Sunday visit before his disappearance.

Attorneys for both sides said Winstead is an important witness as well as a defendant in Carl Renda's $4.5 million damage suit against the UAW and state and local police. Winstead also figured prominently in the Union's "cloak and dagger" probe of the 1948 shotgun assault on UAW President Walter P. Reuther

Police said Winstead, an ice fisherman, has not been seen since Sunday morning when he told his wife he was going for a walk on a frozen canal near his home. Although police found no break in the ice, they said he may have walked out to open water farther from shore and drowned.

Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane recessed the trial yesterday when both the prosecution and the defense said Winstead was an important witness as well as a defendant.

Renda, a Detroit junk dealer, is suing Winstead, five other UAW officials, and five police officers for malicious prosecution. Renda had been accused of shooting Reuther but the charges were later dropped.

Judge Kane was to resume the trial today as state and local police pressed their search for Winstead.

Walter Nelson, a defense attorney in the Renda suit, said all law enforcement agencies in the area have been asked to investigate Winstead's disappearance. He added the agencies have been requested to determine "whether foul play was involved."

Renda's attorney, Joseph Louisell, said he had planned to call Winstead as a witness this week. He declared he wanted to find out if he had any connection with a police officer who testified he had worked out of Winstead's office during the last nine years while investigating the Reuther shooting.

Ike Sees 2 Premiers, Visits Old Command

PARIS (AP)—Jovial and smiling, President Eisenhower kept up another busy schedule of conferences and appearances today.

The President apparently was undisturbed by the fatigue which caused him to cancel an appearance at a formal NATO dinner last night.

Eisenhower's program today included conferences with Italian Premier Adone Zoli and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a visit to his old NATO headquarters, attendance at the summit session this afternoon and a state dinner being given by French President Coty tonight.

The President smiled broadly as he came to the steps of the American Embassy residence to greet Zoli, his first caller, at 9 a.m. To the Italian he repeated his stock joke about the photographers who kept calling for another picture of the two: "You see, they are dictators."

Half an hour later, exactly on schedule, the President saw his visitor to the door and greeted Adenauer.

"This has indeed been a nice meeting," Eisenhower was heard to tell Adenauer after their 40-minute session.

IKE LOOKS BETTER

Back at his hotel the Chancellor said he found the President "in excellent condition."

"I thought he looked better than last May when I saw him in Washington," Adenauer said. "He told me that his illness had only been a matter of 24 hours."

Ike May Yield to Demand for Talk With Reds

President's Objection Is Danger of Sidetracking Plan for Missile Bases

PARIS (INS) — The United States appeared today to be yielding to European demands in the Atlantic Alliance for early new disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

French sources claimed that the United States was just about convinced, and said the NATO chiefs of government might even agree in this afternoon's session to call for a new East-West meeting.

President Eisenhower arrived at the Palais de Chaillot this afternoon at 4:45 p.m. (10:45 a.m.EST) to meet with the other chiefs of government and foreign ministers.

He was about 40 minutes late because the foreign ministers had not yet finished discussions they had begun at a morning session on disarmament and other subjects.

Other subjects included: Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's appeals for new East-West talks on disarmament; including the Polish Communist plan for a denuclearized zone in Central Europe through both Germanies, Poland and Czechoslovakia; Soviet penetration in the Middle East and Africa; NATO political coordination, and economic aid.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, at the outset of the closed afternoon meeting, laughingly denied there was any "rift" in NATO. He said any one who detected a rift "must have observed it from a Sputnik."

The trend toward new East-West talks developed after Germany, Norway, Denmark and some other European members resisted U. S. plans to reach early agreement on establishing atomic stockpiles and rocket bases in Europe. They made it plain they wanted a new attempt to reach a setlement with Russia.

French sources said that one formula suggested in any new talks would be to add India to the big nations on the U. N. disarmament subcommittee which so long negotiated in vain on disarmament, including President Eisenhower's appeal for an "open skies" inspection plan.

The subcommittee members have been the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

Eisenhower wants to explore the prospects of gaining some good from early talks with the Russians but at the same time wants to rush ahead with a program for giving Europe a strong weapons system.

The President's real fear is

Cornell's Series Starts Tomorrow

World Owes Debt to Luke for Truth on Birth of Christ

Hundreds of millions of Christians will celebrate again this year the great story of the Nativity.

Few of them realize that in great part the beautifully moving story as known today might have been lost to the world had it not been for one man: Luke, the disciple who was an aide to the apostle Paul and one of the four gospel writers.

The first of six articles on "The Legacy of Luke" will begin tomorrow in this newspaper and run each weekday until Christmas.

The series follows the systematic, painstaking Luke as he sets out to find the details of the birth of his Lord—a birth which had occurred some 60 years earlier but which, up to Luke's time, had not been described in the written word.

The articles were written by George Cornell, religion writer for The Associated Press and author of the book "They Knew Jesus."

Illustrating each of the six stories will be appropriate Christmas scenes by some of the greatest artists of all time. Rembrandt, Titian, Rubens, and others.

Cornell, one of the nation's top writers on religious subjects, had long been struck by the fact that Christianity is indebted to Luke for practically all the memorable Christmas passages in the Bible.

Careful researches established the broad outlines of Luke's singular work in putting on the record the highlights of the Nativity.

Congressmen Shocked by Opposition in NATO

NEWS CATASTROPHIC

One Democrat said the news that Germany, France, Norway and Denmark were opposing President Eisenhower's plan was "catastrophic." Another said the damage to U.S. prestige was "worse than Vanguard."

But Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt), a member of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee investigating the U.S. missile program, told a reporter:

"This doesn't come entirely as a surprise to me. I'm afraid our allies think we consider them as satellites. We must make this an alliance for mutual interests and that is a job for the President and Secretary of State (John Foster) Dulles—my prayers go up for them."

SURPRISE REGISTERED

Most of the key legislators registered surprise and deep concern that the military proposal ran into immediate NATO opposition at the Paris conference, a meeting which all have assumed had been thoroughly explored in advance and would be cut and dried with no surprises.

Sen. John Stennis, Miss., ranking Democrat on the preparedness group said: "I had hoped we had some kind of an understanding with our allies and I am still hopeful that something can be worked out.

"Without that unity we all will be under a severe handicap. We must stand together."

SHOCKED BY ATTITUDE

Sen. Styles Bridges, N.H. Senate GOP policy chairman and the top Republican on the missile investigating subcommittee, said: "I am shocked by the attitude of our so-called allies—at their lack of cooperation on our major effort to protect and defend the free world."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Texas, chairman of the preparedness group, would only say: "All the American people want this meeting to be a success and we are aware of the many problems involved. I believe it is best to withhold judgment until the meeting is over."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), another missile investigator, commented: "This would appear to be additional proof that you cannot negotiate successfully unless you do so from a position of strength."

Privately, there was some Democratic suggestion that the Western European rebellion against the proposal for missile bases and atomic stockpiles underscored Adlai E. Stevenson's warning that the NATO conference was designed to put too much emphasis on military and not enough on economic development.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a Foreign Relations Committee member just back from North Africa, said the development was a "propaganda and political defeat" for this country. He urged more diplomatic negotiations be conducted at the "working level" of regular ambassadors rather than at the high level of the current meeting.

Ike Sees 2 Premiers, Pays Visit to SHAPE

hower was driven in near-freezing weather to SHAPE headquarters on the outskirts of Paris for a sentimental visit to his old NATO military command.

As he had on his arrival in Paris, the President kept his hat on during the playing of the French and U.S. anthems and saluted in military style.

Eisenhower spoke briefly from beneath a white painted wooden canopy erected over the door into the building. SHAPE military personnel were drawn up in a semi-circle, their wives and children standing nearby.

The President apologized for the inconvenience he said his visit to SHAPE had caused, especially to the French police responsible for his security. But he said that he had been suffering from a "special kind of sickness which affects the aged and the young — homesickness."

SHAPE, he said, had been built by a great number of nations as headquarters for the military shield which must always belong to NATO so long as there is any freedom among the Western nations.

Eisenhower recalled that the last time he had been in France he had still been privileged to wear his uniform. He said after 40 years in uniform, he still found it strange to be a civilian and did not feel as natural with a civilian hat — touching his gray felt — as with his military cap.

"Greetings, and good luck," he said in closing. "I hope your homes are warm and nice and the kids are in good health."

The President then went into the headquarters building for a private chat with Norstad in the office which Eisenhower himself had used.

From Norstad's office, the President went to the flower-filled officers mess to have a martini and meet the senior officers from each nation. There he also talked with retired French Adm. Andre Lemonnier, his naval deputy when he was Allied commander, and the mayor of Marne-la-Coquette, the nearby village where he had lived and which made him an honorary citizen.

Winding up his visit, the President walked to the main gate where some 200 persons who had been at SHAPE when he was — officers, men, WACs and their families — greeted him. After chatting with them, he climbed into his limousine and was driven back to town — 40 minutes after arriving — over a parkway whose every bridge was guarded by troops.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners Discuss Control Over City Parks

BIRMINGHAM — When is a park not a park? This is the question still facing city commissioners and their legal consultant as they try to come up with an adequate park ordinance.

Although no action was taken last night, commissioners spent considerable time in discussion. City Manager L. R. Gare feels that a complete legal study of each park area should be made. In addition to this, those parcels of city-owned land which have some recreational use but are not dedicated parks should be included in the study.

Gare referred specifically to the disposal plant property on Cranbrook road. Although not considered a park, the area is the site of skiing, model plane flying, scout activities and pistol firing.

The purpose of an ordinance would be to invest in the city manager proper control of parks. It would be framed in such a manner that additional parks may be added or areas removed without any substantial change in the ordinance.

In other action last night commissioners accepted the request of the YMCA for the vacation of the present easement across the back of the property. Only one utility company, Detroit Edison, crosses the area and arrangements have been made for a new location of its plant.

Birmingham residents for the past 40 years, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Symons, of 544 W. Brown St., will celebrate their 68th wedding anniversary tomorrow.

Mr. Symons, 89, and Mrs. Symons, 86, have seven daughters, one son, 22 grandchildren and 39 great-grandchildren.

Both are members of the First Presbyterian Church and have been active in church affairs. They also are active in the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters.

Members of the Birmingham Humane Society are requesting donations for the erection or purchase of a suitable home for stray animals. Funds may be sent to the society's offices at 619 W. Frank St. or 275 E. Maple Ave.

Now in its second year, the society has found homes for nearly 700 dogs and more than 400 cats and kittens.

Funds in excess of those needed for a building will be used for food purchases, officers said.

Moses J. Calvin, 30, arrested on charges of vagrancy in Memphis, Tenn., has been returned to Birmingham to face charges of burglarizing the G. B. D. Peterson home, 888 Westwood Ave., a year ago.

Det. Lt. Merlin Holmquist said Calvin was picked up when he tried to pawn a box of sterling silver taken from the Peterson home.

City employes of Bloomfield Hills will meet for their third annual Christmas dinner at the Kingsley Inn tomorrow night. A social evening is planned.

Says Dodge Report Means Tax Boost

DETROIT (INS) — Clifford A. Prevost, a member of the Detroit Board of Assessors, said today that because of the Dodge financial report home owners will be forced to pay higher taxes.

Prevost, one-time newspaperman and former executive secretary to the late Mayor Albert E. Cobo, said he didn't like the decision and would fight it. He said:

"The three other members, acting like they are running a private corporation, have already decided to shift a portion of the burden from industry and business to the homeowner.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not going to stand for it—even if it means my job."

Dual Policy Predicted

LONDON (INS) — British officials predicted today that the North Atlantic Pact will follow a dual policy in coming months: Building military strength and simultaneously seeking a genuine agreement with the Kremlin.

Air Force Chief Declares:

No Warning Yet Against ICBMs

WASHINGTON (INS)—Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas testified today that if the Soviets launch an intercontinental missile now, the U. S. would have "no warning."

Douglas told the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee that the Air Force has only "components" of a warning system but is "moving with utmost urgency" to complete it.

He made the statement under questioning from Committee Counsel Edwin L. Weisl, who added: "If an ICBM was projected by the Soviets today, we would have no warning of it?"

"That is correct," the Air Force secretary said.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), asked if the U. S. is "even with the Soviet Union in missiles?"

Douglas replied: "In my judgment, they are somewhat ahead of us."

Pressed by Johnson as to what the Air Force is doing to catch up, Douglas said it is increasing research and stepping up production schedules.

Douglas said that both the Air Force's Thor and the Army's Jupiter missiles have reached the stage where "they are reasonably certain to be successful." He said the Thor can be produced in quantity sooner than the Jupiter.

The air secretary said that the Atlas intercontinental missile, supplemented by a small booster engine, is sufficient and adequate to hurl a 1,000-pound satellite into orbit.

He flatly assured the subcommittee that the U. S. has the capability "now" to match the Soviet Sputnik in achievement with the Atlas missile.

Douglas said it is of "utmost importance" to "follow through immediately" and develop "substantial" ICBM and IRBM programs "at an earlier date than previously planned."

He called for "immediate steps" for greater dispersal of Strategic Air Command units and a strengthening of their "alert" status to launch retaliatory attack in event of Red aggression.

Board Endorses Clinton Disposal

Public Works Body Gives Nod to Plan for 5 Townships

The Oakland County Board of Public Works yesterday endorsed the proposed Clinton River Sewage Disposal System for five townships surrounding Pontiac.

Authorization of the project as the largest undertaking so far by the Department of Public Works will be sought from the Board of Supervisors Monday.

In a resolution which supervisors will be asked to approve, the system should be designed "in cooperation with Pontiac." The city lies in the heart of the area and has its own sewage disposal proposals "which should be coordinated with our plans," said Harold K. Schone, acting DPW director.

★ ★ ★

"For instance, if Pontiac enlarges its present sewage treatment facilities and offers treatment service to its neighboring communities, this should be taken into consideration. There is no reason for any duplication of services," said Schone.

The aim of the system will be to service completely all areas lying within the natural drainage boundaries of the Clinton River, Schone said.

Townships included are Waterford, Avon, Orion, Pontiac and Independence. The first three have already passed resolutions for the project, while the latter two are expected to adopt resolutions in the near future, Schone said.

Disarmament Talks Issue for NATO

that if NATO delays a decision on the missiles-atomic stockpile plan it means in effect the Soviets can veto Atlantic Alliance arms programs with the mere suggestion of new negotiations.

There are a number of factors behind European eagerness to have another try at talking with the Russians now.

The overriding factor is public fear of nuclear war.

Another general fear is that deadly strontium is being spread through hydrogen bomb tests even though military men and many scientists insist that so far tests have raised the strontium level only slightly and it still is far below the danger point.

A third factor, perhaps as important as the other two, is the back-breaking cost of modern armaments.

A high American official, who is involved in today's foreign ministers' discussion of disarmament, told International News Service:

"Even such things as a radar warning network cost enormous amounts and people know it. Europeans also see the emergent problems of Asia and other parts of the world making economic gains and envy them their low defense costs."

West Germany has special problems, according to U.S. sources. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is under pressure to pay more support for the costs of maintaining British and American troops in his country.

He is resisting and, according to a high official, "he knows it is a squeaky wheel that gets oil. So he is not adverse to creating an issue on the missile decision to create a bargaining position."

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is fog generally more prevalent on the west coast than on the east coast?

Yes, fog is more prevalent on the west coast. The reason lies in the conditions which must exist for the creation of fog. The first requirement is moist air. The second is that a cooling of the air must take place.

The prevailing direction of the weather fronts and air masses across the United States is west to east. Therefore, the air masses from the Pacific strike the west coast as moist air masses—having traveled over miles of water.

When these moist air masses are cooled fog can readily result. On the east coast, on the contrary, dry air masses (from over land) move eastward, out and over the water and often break up conditions which would create fog.

Expect Rain in Lakes Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Continuance of warming weather is expected to bring rain to the Great Lakes region by tonight, with precipitation expected to hold off in lower Michigan until tomorrow night.

Rising temperatures have helped improve highway conditions in Michigan, with all roads in the Lower Peninsula reported clear.

Slippery conditions still exist in part of the Upper Peninsula, especially the eastern half, as snow blowing across the highways leaves a hazardous glaze of ice.

Across the nation, the weather showed only minor changes today, with more rain in Western areas and rain or drizzle in central sections of the country.

Temperatures were generally above seasonal levels in most areas, with coldest weather in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions where low readings were confined to the 20s and 30s.

A vigorous storm center off the north Pacific Coast brought rain or snow to many places westward to the Rockies.

Gives Haircut to Picket

AUBURN, N. J. (AP) — John F. Giangreco, operator of a non-union barber shop, says he gave a free haircut to a young man marching in a union pickt line in front of the shop. The apparently appreciative picket then went away.

Bomb Scare Brings Mass Evacuation

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A bomb scare sent residents of 12 apartments into the street yesterday after a 25-pound device emitting ticking sounds was discovered in an adjacent alley.

★ ★ ★

Police and firemen stood by as a demolitions officer, hastily summoned from Mather Air Force Base, dismantled the device. He reported it was a World War II radar jamming device designed to be dropped from aircraft.

★ ★ ★

Police said the instrument was discarded in the alley by two college students who opened it, then became frightened when it started ticking.

Sinatra Changing Suit Against Look Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra is withdrawing his 2.3 million dollar libel suit against Look Magazine and replacing it with a suit for invasion of privacy.

The action was announced jointly yesterday by the singer and magazine officials, who said they view the privacy suit as a test case to determine the extent to which the press can concern itself with a celebrity's personal life.

As was the libel action, the new suit is based on a series of articles on Sinatra run by Look earlier this year. The crooner is now asking only for "damages proved in excess of $3,000."

From 1940 to 1950 the number of family units in the U.S. increased from about 32 million to about 40 million, a new record at that point.

Better Things Ahead, Experts Cautiously Predict

Inflation Robbed Consumers in 1957

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — For two years a stealthy hand has been dipping ever deeper into the pocketbooks of the American consumer. The loot totals billions and billions of dollars.

The villain is inflation. He robs rich and poor alike, the western rancher and the Detroit auto workers, the southern tobacco farmer and the Wall Street broker.

FEW SPARED

Americans living on fixed incomes have suffered most. But few others have been spared completely.

For 1958, economists are cautiously predicting better things. If the thief isn't dead, he appears at least to be in hiding.

What did inflation mean in 1957?

Preliminary government figures indicate the nation spent more than 47 billion dollars for new construction work during the year, compared to 46 billion in 1956. Every penny of that increase represents inflation. The government said the actual physical volume of work done dropped off by about one per cent, but rising prices added a billion dollars to the bill.

Of more recent concern: The final figures aren't yet in, but the U.S. Chamber of Commerce estimated that Americans would spend 20 billion dollars during the big December buying spree. That is 600 million dollars more than the record high of December 1956—for the same amount of goods. The chamber said the physical volume of sales would be about the same for the two months, with rising prices accounting for the dollar increase.

The average factory worker went into the Christmas shopping season with three per cent less buying power than he had a year earlier. A reduction in the average work week was partially responsible, but the biggest factor was the steady advance in prices.

Economists like to speak of the Gross National Product (GNP), the value of all good produced and services rendered in the United States. At the end of the third quarter of 1957, the GNP was at an annual rate of 439 billion dollars, 13 billion higher than at the start of the year. Again, the actual physical output remained about the same. The 13 billion dollars represented higher prices.

CURRENT PRICES

That GNP rate of 439 billion dollars is in terms of current prices. In terms of the 1947 dollar it is only 332 billion or thereabouts.

In two years, inflation has chewed about 5½ cents out of the buying power of the consumer's dollar. That's $1.10 whacked off every $20 bill, a cut of $4.40 in every $80 paycheck, $5.50 out of $100.

At long last things are beginning to look better. Government experts predict that prices may dip slightly in January, then level off in a period of comparative stability. That doesn't mean that prices are going to drop back to their 1955 levels, just that they may stop trying to push a hole in the roof.

Actually, a sudden and substantial drop in prices would create problems as serious as inflation.

"Prices go up and down with the tides of business," one economist said, "and it's probably a good thing. It prevents the pendulum swinging too far either way. But when the bottom falls out of prices, that's when many people lose their jobs, and stop eating.

"What this country needs is a general leveling off, with maybe a slight drop in prices. It must avoid the peaks and valleys of inflation and deflation."

DEPENDS ON POLICY

"What happens to prices in 1958 depends to a very great extent on what policy businessmen decide to follow. If they lower their prices and concentrate on volume and production sales, their profits will be higher and the consumer will get a better break. On the other hand, if they try to hold the high price level, the consumer will be more hesitant in buying, and profits will go down."

Economists know that some price increases must be accepted as inevitable. For instance, if a business wants to attract workers into a new area, it may have to offer higher wages than those prevailing in settled areas, or a new industry may have to offer a better interest rate on borrowed money than an older and more established company would have to pay. And factors that raise business expense tend to raise the prices of the goods those businesses produce.

J. L. Robertson, one of the governors of the federal Reserve Board, pointed out recently that "this is where the rub comes in."

"No one," he said, "likes to see the price at which he sells his goods or services shrink. Almost no one of us has the detachment to see such a shrinking as a part of the big picture. And yet this offset is a necessary condition for overall stability."

Robertson holds that "the creeping notion that continuing inflation is here to stay" is even more disturbing than the increase in prices during the past several years.

He takes vehement issue with Harvard economist Sumner Slichter, who has said that a restrained, creeping inflation is essential to a dynamic economy and that while it is "a cost that one would gladly avoid, it is also a cost that the country must accept in order to achieve benefits which are worth many times the cost of creeping inflation."

Robertson declares that "the hardships inflation has already imposed on millions of Americans are unnecessary and unjustified."

He concedes that the inflation of recent years has acted as an economic stimulant but says the contention that "creeping inflation" is not only inevitable but even desirable is a myth, a fallacy.

"Creeping inflation is impossible," he says, "because there is no way to stabilize or control it at any planned speed, be it creeping, walking, trotting or galloping."

"Any program based on the idea that people should ask more and more for their goods and services would soon lead the country into economic chaos," he said.

Police Expert Arrives in City

A top consultant in police work arrived in Pontiac yesterday to help complete the analysis of material gathered for the Public Administration Service study of the Pontiac Police Dept.

George Eastman, consultant since 1955, and former chief of police of Seattle, will go over material of Sam Chapman, PAS field man, according to Robert Stierer, assistant city manager.

Stierer said Eastman will offer his recommendations to Chapman for inclusion in the final study report due next March.

Chapman expects to complete his field work by the end of January. He began at the end of last September.

Stierer said that morale factors will be included in the study along with those involving efficiency of operation.

Youth Waits Sentence in Berrien Boys' Death

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Armond Gnodtke, 17-year-old rural Bridgman motorist, is free on bond to wait sentence on his plea of guilty last Friday in Berrien County Circuit Court of leaving the scene of a fatal accident in which two young boys died last Aug. 26. Two charges of negligent homicide still are pending against Gnodtke in the deaths of Robert Wycko, 12, and his 14-year-old brother, John, who police said were struck and killed by the youth's auto.

IT'S BIGGER—with a whopping 122" wheelbase cradling roomy stretch-out interiors. IT'S MORE POWERFUL—they all fall far short of Pontiac's jeweled-action Tempest 395 power.

U.N. Renewing Hungary Probe

Launches Investigation of Reported New Trials in Budapest

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Special Committee on Hungary launches an investigation today into reported new political trials in Budapest which may prompt an emergency session of the General Assembly.

The five-nation committee—meeting this afternoon for the first time in six months—also was slated to hold a closed-door session on:

1. The case of a U. N. employe who has refused to turn over to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold documents containing the names of refugees who testified secretly before the committee.

2. A report of Thailand's Prince Wan Waithayakon, special U. N. emissary, on his failure to persuade Russia or Hungary to heed the Assembly's repeated calls for withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary.

Main interest centered on reports that Hungary's government is putting on trial top leaders of last year's abortive freedom bid. They are Gen. Pal Maleter, Gen. Istvan Kovacs and Sandor Kopacsi, who served former Premier Imre Nagy as defense minister, chief of staff and police chief.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has served notice the United States will ask for a special Assembly session on Hungary "should the circumstances warrant it."

The 20-nation Latin-American group has sent a request through the Hungarian U. N. delegation for clemency for the three men. The Budapest government commuted the death sentence in a similar case last spring after receiving an appeal from the Latin-American group.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Richard at last gets to Santa Land where the elf, Patrick Tweedleknees, scorns him for being stupid and afraid. Santa says he cannot give him courage or wisdom and Richard feels that all is lost.

Chapter 12
THE GREEN GHOUL

Santa told Richard he could not give him courage or wisdom.

"But you can do anything!" protested Richard. "Once I wanted a blue kitten more than anything in the world. There wasn't one to be found in the whole kingdom but on Christmas Eve you left one in my stocking."

"Yes," said Santa. "I can give you bicycles and books and skates, pets and games and any sort of toy. But courage and wisdom I cannot give."

"Please, please!" begged Richard. "Help me or my father is lost!"

Santa put his hand over his eyes and thought for a long while. At last he said, "Perhaps it can be done if you will bring to me two things I ask of you."

★ ★ ★

"Name them!" cried Richard.

"First," said Santa, "bring me a spool of golden thread."

"I will," declared Richard. "Where do I find it?"

"Ha!" scoffed Tweedleknees from the corner. "He'd never dare!"

"Who is the Green Ghoul?"

"A creature with a hundred arms," cried Tweedleknees. "A creature who collects boys' ears to decorate her gowns. She lives in a tree house on the edge of Santa Land. When she is angry she lets out her breath and a hurricane blows across the whole earth."

★ ★ ★

Richard shuddered and turned white. "I am afraid," he moaned.

"I told you he wouldn't go!" cried Tweedleknees.

Richard dragged his feet to the door. "I am going," he whispered. "Will you be kind enough to point the way?"

Santa took Richard to the door and pointed across the land. "Just keep going until you come to the giant Tree."

Richard sighed and trudged away in a straight line the way Santa had pointed. He thought he must have walked a hundred miles before finally he came upon an enormous tree standing all alone in a field of snow.

The giant branches of the tree waved back and forth against the sky. In the midst of the branches was a tiny house.

"Woooo," went the wind around tree and the branches bent and swayed and swooped towards the boy as he stood trembling beneath them.

★ ★ ★

Shaking with fright he climbed up to the little house and knocked at the door. Instantly it opened and before Richard's horrified eyes stood a green faced creature three feet tall. While she held open the door with two hands she sewed on a skirt with two others. Another arm was raised above Richard and still another slowly crept around his feet.

"Ah," said the Green Ghoul gazing at Richard's ears, "I've been needing more ears to decorate my skirt!" Three hands began to twist at Richard's ears.

With a gasp of terror he pulled away and started to climb into the branches of the tree. Then he discovered they were not branches but arms—a hundred more arms of the Green Ghoul!

Thy swept around him and gathered him up and carried him back into the tree house.

Richard was about to shut his eyes and give up when he saw something shining in the pocket of the Ghoul's apron. It was the spool of golden thread.

"I will get it! I will!" thought Richard. With a mighty effort he twisted from the arms of the ghoul reached into her pocket and pulled out the thread.

Instantly the Ghoul wrapped all her hundred arms around him and crushed him to her.

Jimmy's Death May Start Transplant Foundation

BOSTON (AP) — The death nine days ago of Jimmy Foster, 14-year-old Pocatello, Idaho, youngster, despite sacrifice of his twin brother, Jerry, and the skill of surgeons, may prove a boon.

Jimmy, who told his mother, "Don't worry, I'm not afraid to die," was the first kidney transplant twin to be lost in six such operations involving identical twins at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

His death affected many, and a simple letter containing $5 as a "Christmas present Jimmy would have liked" prompted hospital authorities to consider possibility of setting up a foundation.

The letter, mailed in Boston, prompted many others in the hospital to add to the $5.

The idea has grown sufficiently to have a name suggested—"The Jimmy and Jerry Foster Foundation for Transplant Research."

The anonymous letter writer suggested his contribution might bring nearer the day when more lives could be saved through human exchange of vital organs.

Word of the letter spread rapidly through the hospital, a world pioneer in transplant research.

"We're a little bewildered yet, this has snowballed so rapidly," said Dr. Victoria Cass, acting director of the hospital.

All the transplant operations to date have been without charge. Hospital costs have been paid by the John A. Hartford Foundation of New York. Surgeons and doctors have donated their services.

Detroit Goodfellows Get $2,000 for One Paper

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins yesterday was reported to have received a check for $2,000 for one copy of the Goodfellows paper.

Threat of Communism Hangs Over Indonesia

Having failed in their efforts to get a favorable U.N. vote on their demands for Dutch-held West New Guinea, Indonesians now have turned to gangster methods.

They have seized Dutch private property, banks, airlines, business firms and port facilities and driven out their managers. The government ordered 46,000 Dutch residents to get out immediately and leave their property behind.

For some time things haven't been going too well for President Sukarno. Ever since the Indonesians won independence from the Dutch their economy has been going downhill. By demanding control over New Guinea Sukarno hoped to divert attention from Indonesia's tottering economy.

President SUKARNO makes no secret of his admiration for China's MAO and Egypt's NASSER. He has welcomed Communists into government and is replacing a Western system of parliamentary government by what he calls "guided democracy." This idea emerged after his visit to Moscow where he expressed admiration for KARL MARX and quoted from his works. Previously he had done the same for THOMAS JEFFERSON in this country.

★ ★ ★

The outer islands of Indonesia revolted against Sukarno's government last year and a campaign against Communists now is gathering steam, chiefly in Sumatra. Even in Java important groups are forgetting their differences to present an anti-Communist front and are bringing the fight into the open. Recent elections in Java's cities show that the Reds won 70 per cent of all votes.

★ ★ ★

Indonesians claim the Dutch were bad rulers, didn't teach them anything and barred them from higher education. Looking back from a more enlightened age, perhaps the Dutch didn't do all they should have done. But from such colonial government have come schools, hospitals, railways, sugar, rubber and oil developments, shipping facilities and established trade routes. It might be well to remind the Indonesians, and some other newly independent peoples, that if it hadn't been for colonial governments their countries still might be ruled by tribal chiefs and witch doctors.

★ ★ ★

President's Golf Days May Be Over for Good

President EISENHOWER'S golfing days may be terminated by his latest affliction.

Whenever this poor, be-deviled soul crept silently to a golf course, the reporters, the commentators, the photographers and those that shout from the house tops went all out in full cry.

No pack of hounds closing in on a flagging fox reached a greater crescendo. You'd think the President had abdicated on the morning after the declaration of war.

★ ★ ★

Presidents TRUMAN and ROOSEVELT took their weekends on a Government yacht that cost a pretty penny in the first place and which cost an even prettier penny to maintain and hold in readiness.

Ike traveled to his golf courses in reasonably plebian style and then flailed away at a golf ball that cost a buck. He probably paid his caddy out of his own pocket. So we always smiled at the furor precipitated by the President's attempt to enjoy a normal escape from his crushing duties. And now we fear, golf may be gone.

THROUGH the United Nations World Health Organization, 85 nations have joined forces to attack on a world wide scale the age-old problems of sickness and health. Devastating disease such as yaws, regarded as incurable until only recently, are now being stamped out by WHO.

Our County May Have U.S. Senatorial Nominee in '58

TV: A means of peddling phonograph records.

Oakland County expects to gain a prominence in state and national politics next year that it never before has enjoyed. This will come about if our own gets the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from Michigan. A close perusal of local political history, running back to when our state was admitted to the Union 130 years ago, fails to disclose a similar case. Perhaps my failing eyesight overlooked something. Must I stand corrected?

Phil A. Hart

Now in her ninety-seventh year,

Mrs. Rose Cole

Such a large number of birthdays on Friday, the thirteenth, were reported to us that space limitations forbid their publication. However,

Mrs. Elmer Woodhouse

"Sh-h-h-h—Everything's in the Closet"

David Lawrence Says:

Equal Protection Violated in Strike

WASHINGTON — The "supreme law of the land," which requires the states to give "equal protection" to all citizens, has been obstructed and state laws have been violated for more than a week now in New York City by an organized group.

LAWRENCE

Four leaders of the group are in jail for contempt of court, but the remainder of the organization has kept on violating the law of the State of New York and obstructing the "equal protection" clause of the federal Constitution.

Public transportation — an important function of the New York City government—is supposed to be furnished to all citizens who care to avail themselves of their rights as citizens. There is no right on the part of any labor union or any other organization of employes to strike against the government of the City of New York.

Employes may quit work as individuals, but concerted action by a group of employes or labor leaders which causes other city employes to stop working is not permissible under the laws of New York State.

WHY NO PROTEST?

Why are the voices silent now which called so loudly for federal troops to be sent to Arkansas to enforce "the law of the land"?

Why is the mayor of the City of New York acquiescing in the violation of civil rights?

Why has the governor of New York State countenanced the willful disregard of a state law by an organized group?

The law specifically prohibits any strikes by civil service employes, such as those working for the City Transit Authority. Under the doctrine applied in Little Rock, if the state authorities allegedly do not enforce the laws nor guarantee "equal protection" of citizens, there is supposed to be a case for the use of federal troops. But nobody has been advocating any such program with respect to the New York City strike.

ACCORDS WITH PRECEDENT

Even if federal troops are not considered necessary, as they were in Little Rock, to coerce obedience, the use of state troops to help operate transportation facilities in emergencies is in accord with precedent.

There is no question about the obligation of the governor and of the mayor to enforce the civil rights of the citizens and to give them public transportation. To deny this to the citizens who cannot afford taxicabs for long distances every day, or who do not own their own automobiles, is to discriminate as between classes of citizens.

Then why is the law of the State of New York and the constitutional principle of "equal protection" not being enforced?

PLAIN POLITICS

Two reasons may be advanced. One is that a substantial amount of local sentiment is sympathetic with the grievances of the strikers. Another is that neither Mayor Wagner, Democrat, who has ambitions to attain higher office, nor Governor Harriman, another Democrat, who aspires to the presidency, wants to alienate labor-union votes in the future by doing anything now which could be construed later by political opponents as "strike busting."

In the New York City subway-strike situation there is involved an order from the state courts to the union leaders, holding them in contempt for interfering with public transportation.

But none of the so-called "liberal" groups is demanding the impeachment of the public officials for dereliction of duty in failing to enforce the law of the state or the federal Constitution as against labor agitators.

For it is obvious that the strikers could not be acting in concert if it were not for some form of union leadership which has continued for several days to carry on the strike itself.

Dr. William Brady Says:

In 3,700 Medical Books, Find One on Rheumatism!

A complete index of medical textbooks for 1956-1957—the list covers more than 3,700 books—describes books published by some 28 firms. The books deal with such subjects as internal medicine or general practice, diabetes, ear, nose and throat, obstetrics and gynecology, heart and artery diseases, pathology, surgery, nutrition and arthritis.

DR. BRADY

Not one about rheumatism.

Doesn't anybody have rheumatism any more?

Wait a minute. Let's turn to page 41, where the books on arthritis are listed. Right away we find the subject slightly broadened—Arthritis and Related Conditions.

And first comes a book about rheumatoid arthritis, then one on rheumatic diseases, and next one titled "Arthritis and Rheumatism" and finally we come upon an antique titled Treatment of Rheumatism in General Practice at a bargain—only $4, the other books being priced at $10, $12 or higher. But, shucks, who'd want to be treated for rheumatism while evrybody who is anybody is being treated for arthritis?

The doctors, the food interests, the fancy nostrum vendors and most persons with chronic joint disability dislike me for my teaching about rheumatiz, for more or obvious reasons.

Just what is my teaching? Simply that, in most instances, joint disability of insidious development or onset and long (more than a year) duration is physical degneration of joint tissues, due to malnutrition or, as we say nowadays, nutritional deficiency through the years from childhood to breakfast this morning. This is what I propose to call RHEUMATIZ.

ARTHRITIS IS RARE

Arthritis? Of course it happens, but only rarely and real joint inflammation usually runs its course in weeks or months and seldom progresses slowly from bad to worse as rheumatiz does if the nutritionad deficiency is not corrected.

Now it may well be, that one of these recent books about "arthritis and related conditions" recognizes nutritional deficiency as a cause of chronic joint disability. Maybe one of the new books even defines "chronic arthritis," though I doubt it, for no physician of standing and no recognized authority has done so to date.

If you think I am nutty about this, I'm sorry but I offer no apology. On the other hand, if you find a grain of sense in my teaching I beg you to send me 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for Volumette XII of the 23-volumette $7.50 Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, titled Chronic Joint Disability.

I can't guarantee satisfaction any more than a real doctor can guarantee to cure you, but I can assure you that the advice I give in the booklet can do no harm.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Those Asking Resignation May Be Worse Than Ike'

I wonder if Wayne Morse ever stopped to think that he and maybe some of the others who suggested Ike resign might be worse off than Ike? One thing we can be thankful for—Ike is perfectly healthy above the shoulders. I wish I could feel the same about one or two of his predecessors. An interpreter at the Yalta Conference made this statement. "President Roosevelt had no business there as he looked sick, acted sick and talked sick." Nobody asked him to resign.

'Negroes Need Organization'

Why shouldn't we Negroes have some kind of an organization? Most Negroes who have graduated from our fine high school can expect nothing better than unskilled work.

★ ★ ★

We aren't allowed in roller rinks, nice places, night clubs, etc. Three policemen opened up a nice roller rink for colored. They have no limit as to the number they let in the rink at one time, and on weekends there isn't any room to skate.

★ ★ ★

It would be an additional aid if we had an organization to investigate real estate prices to colored in Pontiac. Most Negroes haven't the money to buy extra lots, so along comes a contractor who jacks up four prefabricated walls, no basement and asks for $11,000 with a 30 year mortgage, by which time you could have paid for three houses.

Says Santa Claus Just Commercial

I disagree with Believer when he says we need Santa Claus. Santa has nothing to do with Christ or the Bible.

He is just a symbol that's used by stores to promote business. If you want to teach your children to love and believe in a commercial symbol, you can. But what happens when they find out the biggest symbol in Christmas is all a hoax? Will they love him more?

One little fellow, sadly disillusioned about Santa Claus, said to a playmate, "Yes, and I'm going to look into this Jesus Christ business, too." Is it Christian to teach children myths and falsehoods?

Asks More Care of Sunday Drivers

Every Sunday when I leave church, the downtown traffic is terrible, but some of the examples of driving I see are even worse. While it's hard for anyone to be a good driver in all that congestion, things would work out a lot better if we'd all concentrate on being especially careful at that time.

Hopes Americans Are Waking Up

I pray Americans are waking up to the Communist menace which is not only engulfing other countries but our own. Richard Arens, director of House Un-American Activities Committee, said, "Our American civilization is now going down the drain, and not more than a handful of people are concerned about it."

This may be your last Christmas as carefree men and women and it'll be no one's fault but the general public. As free and patriotic Americans, please write your Congressman about views, and place your name on the list to receive copies of the hearings from the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Judiciary Committee and the Government Operations Committee. Would Use Money to Widen Roads

Hobart offers us a dramatic challenge. We lost more lives last year on the auto highway than died in over 3 years of fighting on Korean battlefields! So let's apply some "horse sense to our automobiles. A little efficiency engineering in government would crisscross this land with super highways and at no extra cost to taxpayers.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-374: Hobart G., aged 32, is an Indiana attorney.

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I like your stress on 'horse sense,'" he began, "whether it affects our military budgets or marital relations.

'And I wish we could salvage some of the billions of taxes now being spent abroad and use that money to widen our American highways.

"To be specific, our toll road (superhighway) across northern Indiana showed only nine deaths by auto accidents during its first months of operation.

"Meanwhile, there were 63 deaths by automobiles on the three parallel highways that cross northern Indiana.

"For example, there were 31 fatalities on U.S. route 20; 16 on U.S. 30 and 16 on U.S. 6.

"That means an average of 21 deaths per old-fashioned highway against only 9 on the new toll road. What do you think of that?"

Hobart's figures are correct and thus show that the superhighway cut down deaths by amost 60 per cent.

Last year the auto fatalities in the U. S. A. were more than 40,000 dead and about 400,000 permanently injured folks, not to mention those who recovered from minor bruises and scratches.

If we diverted our foreign aid to widening highways in the U. S. A., it would be possible to save 24,000 lives each year and also avoid 240,000 permanently injured people.

★ ★ ★

Auto accidents thus are causing a terrific number of fatalities, even as compared with war. Note the figures on the Korean War, which lasted three full years:

Battle Deaths	Other Deaths	Wounds Not Mortal
33,629	20,617	103,284

So last year's auto deaths of over 40,000 were greater than the battle deaths in over three years of the Korean War!

And in two years on our auto highways, we lose more people than in al deaths in the full three years of the Korean War.

The number of injured people each year due to automobiles runs about 1,500,000.

Superhighways of the four-lane sort, with a grassy plot or other means of dividing them, would thus eliminate almost entirely the head-on collisions, which cause the big death rate.

★ ★ ★

EACH YEAR we Americans would be able to save enough money, just by lowered auto insurance, to finance a superhighway all around the entire boundaries of continental U. S. A. Think of it!

HOOVER COMMISSION

The Hoover Commission report showed that we could save about 7½ billion dollars EACH YEAR without eliminating any bureaus but just by using better bargaining and planning in our purchases.

And by reducing our military budget, as well as eliminating many unnecessary bureaus, we could save $15 billion pear year.

That money would soon give us 4-lane divided superhighways that would crisscross the U. S. A both North & South, as well as East & West.

We'd save more lives every year than we lost on the three-year battlefields of Korea.

And we'd probably keep more friends abroad by pulling our boys back home, for soldiers stationed there generate ill will despite our best intentions.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bakery Leaders Tossed Out

Four Vice Presidents of Union Expelled for Trying to Oust Cross

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four leaders of a move to form a new bakers union have been suspended from their positions in the old Bakery Workers Union, which the AFL-CIO expelled last week on corruption charges. Hearings for the men will be held Jan. 11.

The expelled union announced yesterday that the four have been suspended as vice presidents. It listed them as Daniel Conway of Washington, John De Concini of Philadelphia, Amos Miller of Chattanooga, and Archie Goodman of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The AFL-CIO, in ousting the Bakery Workers, granted a charter to a new reform group within the union. The new group calls itself the American Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union and claims to have signed up 50,000 of the old union's 132,000 members.

★ ★ ★

The old union said charges of fostering the new "dual union" have been filed against the four suspended vice presidents, and against Curtis R. Sims, who was ousted recently as secretary-treasurer of the old union. Sims was kicked out after he accused James G. Cross, president of the old union, of corruption.

The AFL-CIO expulsion came after Cross refused to leave the union.

MUSKEGON (AP)—Transfer of a portion of 7,000 tons of coal to a sister vessel of the Roen Steamship Co. enabled the barge Marquis Roen to float free Sunday from a sand bar trap in Muskegon's outer harbor. The Marquis Roen went aground last Friday. Spokesmen indicated the barge suffered only slight damage.

Wisecracking Lad Saved From Well

DENVER (AP) — Directing his sweating rescuers to "Hrry up—are you waiting for Christmas," a 5-year-old Denver boy yesterday was saved from an abandoned well where he had been trapped nearly three hours.

★ ★ ★

David Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Leonard, tumbled into the well feet first while playing in a neighbor's yard. He was trapped two feet below the ground. He was taken to Children's Hospital where attendants said he suffered shock and exposure. His condition was described as "fairly good."

★ ★ ★

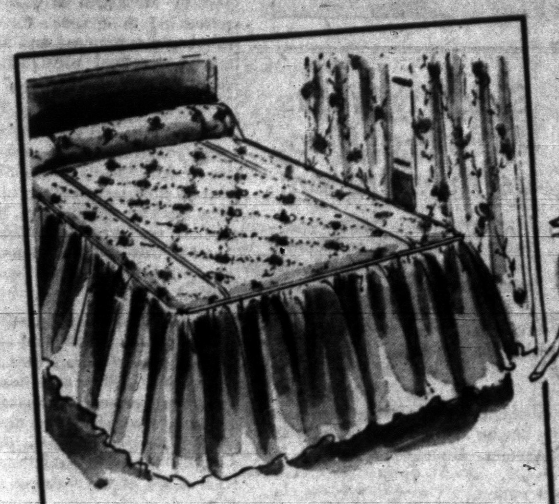

His grandfather and a neighbor discovered him in the well after his mother became worried when he failed to return from playing. An off-duty policeman and fireman prevented him from smothering and slipping further into the well while firemen dug him out of the 12-inch wide shaft. The well was about 10 feet deep and had some water in it.

Nehru Praises Ike's Speech

Said He Hoped Same Approach Will Be Used to Halt Cold War

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today commended a part of President Eisenhower's NATO speech as "pregnant, very right words" and said the same approach should be extended to the cold war.

★ ★ ★

Initiating a foreign affairs debate in the lower house of Parliament, Nehru said, "I earnestly hope the NATO deliberations will lead to a peaceful approach and not tend to continue old rivalries."

★ ★ ★

Nehru also cited a "basic, strong desire for peace" he said ran through the replies of both Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Bulganin to his own appeal for an end to nuclear weapon tests. Eisenhower said the tests could be halted only as part of a safeguarded disarmament agreement. Bulganin proposed that the United States, Britain and Russia agree to hold no more after Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

Nehru laid special stress on the President's statement in his Paris speech that the time has come when only the right solution could be the achievement of peace.

These are "pregnant words and very right indeed," Nehru said.

Turning to his communications from Eisenhower and Bulganin, Nehru commented on "how much there is in common in their replies although they criticize each other."

★ ★ ★

He said both leaders argued their actions were necessary in the interests of security, but, Nehru added, "things done in the name of security today only result in adding to the dangers of the whole world'." He did not say what he proposed to do next.

Jewish Festival Begins at Sundown

For eight days Jews around the world will celebrate the victory of Judah the Maccabee and his followers over invading Syrians more than 2,000 years ago.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel cabled a festival in Madison Square Garden last night that the htolday is "a symbol of the Jewish struggle for freedom." Israel marks its 10th anniversary next year.

In special services in synagogues, homes and religious schools, a candle will be lighted and placed in the Menorah, or candelabrum, tonight to usher in the holiday. On each of the next seven nights an additional candle will be lighted.

Human Failure Causes Most Smashups

Highway Safety Requires Concern of Every Driver

LANSING (AP)—Traffic safety to a large extent involves persuading every driver he must be careful.

Blame for by far the biggest share of traffic smash-ups can be laid to human failure—mistake in judgment, a mind dazed by alcohol, a heavy foot on the accelerator.

How to persuade the vast army of motorists to drive always with care and caution, to realize the dangers they face, is a problem that puzzles and challenges traffic experts everywhere.

It's the reason so much money and so much time are spent in Michigan to educate the public on traffic safety.

★ ★ ★

Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, explains the situation thus:

"By conservative estimates there were 300,000 traffic accidents involving 500,000 drivers in Michigan last year. They traveled 29 billion miles.

"That means that for every driver involved in an accident there was an average of 60,000 miles of driving.

"Is it any wonder that the average driver develops a false sense of security and very often an unjustified high opinion of his driving abilities?

The Traffic Safety Center, set up in 1955, stands as one of the main bulwarks in the state's multiple education effort.

TRAINS DIRECTORS

The center supervises study courses to equip young people as safety directors, driver education instructors, traffic engineers and traffic police administrators.

It runs short courses and conferences for police, judges, traffic engineers and anyone else active in traffic operations.

It researches subjects like traffic flow characteristics and personality attitudes of high-violation drivers.

It publishes booklets and newsletters and produces and distributes traffic safety films and radio and television scripts. Already it has gained stature as one of the nation's best.

Michigan blazed a legislative trail two years ago in ordering a driver training course for everyone under 18 as a prerequisite to licensing.

In a similar vein, the legislature this year gave a green light to county-run education schools for adults. Repeat offenders, at a judge's discretion, may be called in to review their mistakes and learn how to avoid them.

Private groups also have spotlighted traffic safety. The Michigan Petroleum Industry, for example, spent $142,000 last year on a national award-winning program that included free distribution of four million windshield cleaners and 750,000 windshield stickers for a safety pledge campaign. It also contributed hundreds of billboards and thousands of posters to safety drivers.

JAYCEES HAD ROAD-EO

The Michigan Press Assn. collects more than 2,000 clippings a year dealing with traffic safety from its newspaper members. To single out bad drivers, more than 15 daily newspapers publish lists of driver license revocations and suspensions.

The Battle Creek Enquirer and News won a national safety council award for having printed more than 3,000 column inches on traffic safety in one year. A newspaper column from top to bottom is roughly 20 inches.

A check of 20 radio stations last Labor Day weekend showed 151 airings of safety slogans and traffic reports.

Sick Boy Wants 40 Pints of Blood as Yule Present

All he wants are 40 pints of bood so he can walk and run like his playmates.

Richard has a deformed foot which requires surgery to correct, but he also is afflicted with hemophilia. He suffers profuse bleeding, even from the slightest wound.

Richard has been hospitalized at least five times a year and already has had 150 transfusions after minor accidents.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Thomas Broderick, chief orthopedic surgeon at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, will operate as soon as the blood is available. Thanks to modern medical science, surgery now can be performed on hemophiliacs.

★ ★ ★

It is estimated that of the 40 pints necessary, 20 of them must be of the fairly rare type O negative. Donors are needed because less than 6 per cent of the population has this type of blood.

The northwest corner of New Mexico, joining Arizona, Utah and Colorado, is the only point in the United States where four states meet.

Most Port Cities Still Talking About Seaway

Muskegon Making Big Bid to Increase Its Foreign Ship-Borne Commerce

MUSKEGON (AP) — Most Michigan port cities still are in the talking and planning stage on developments for St. Lawrence Seaway traffic.

But Muskegon is an outstanding exception. Already creeping up on the long-time kingpin, Detroit, the port of Muskegon is making an active bid to increas. its foreign ship-borne commerce and has new marine terminal construction underway..

Because of the seaway development program, ocean ships drawing 27 feet and hauling 10,000 tons will be able to penetrate to Michigan shores starting in 1959—as against the present limitations of 14-foot draft and 1,500 tons cargo, one third of the 1956 figure for Detroit.

Detroit last month turned down a 9½ million dollar bond issue to Huron has plans but City Manager Jay F. Gibbs only this week declared construction must begin soon on the theory that the cities which provide adequate port facilities first will gain the greatest share of the busness.

Surveys have been made in the Saginaw Bay area and most of the Michigan ports are after the Army engineers to deepen their facilities. But at best it appears that the greatest benefits to the majority will be from the expected increase in domestic shipping.

SHARE JUMPS

Muskegon's share in foreign shipborne commerce, only 500 tons in 1954, jumped to 18,000 tons in 1956 and to 27,500 tons this year—nearly one third of the 1956 figure for Detroit.

Capt. W. N. Hemmick, city port director, reports 44 ships from Montreal or beyond put in during 1957 at Muskegon to discharge cargo, pick up cargo or both. He predicts a considerable increase for 1958.

Thus far Muskegon has benefitted from natural harbor advantages, dock facilities constructed 20 years ago, aggressive promotion and unusual alertness to the trade potential in seaway deepening.

TRUMP CARDS

Hemmick's trump cards have been the sheltered, 35 to 70-feet deep waters of roomy Muskegon Lake, connected to Lake Michigan by a bridgeless 22-foot deep channel, and the city's potential as a distribution center for water trade originating in or destined for populous southwestern Michigan, including Grand Rapids.

Before long, t is hoped here the U.S. Corps of Engineers will dredge the channel to the lake to 27 feet. The new harbor facilities development raises these hopes.

The Great Lakes Dock and Materials Corp. has launched a 2½ million dollar marine terminal, dredging and warehouse program that will provide accommodations for an additional 18 deep draft vessels.

Stretched along a 1,750 foot waterfront and 70 acres the project calls for 300,000 cubic yards of dredging and filling, two 1,000 foot slips for deep draft vessels, 200 feet of warehousing and a 10 acre area for machine shops, ship repair and allied shore works.

In 1957 Muskegon's foreign trade included 17,500 tons of imports, much of it newsprint, and about 10,000 tons of exports, almost all Michigan pea beans from Saginaw.

Among other things poured into foreign trade were canned cherries from Hart and Traverse City, Grand Rapids jukeboxes, Muskegon motors and refrigerators.

City Manager George Liddle says some of the added business was drummed up on a European tour by Muskegon business and industry leaders last summer. Liddle plans to try to stir up trade similarly in the Caribbean area and South America.

And he says it is obvious that business can be obtained although it will take a lot of hard work.

Tells Seven Children Mom Won't Return

BELLPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Sidney Severance, 41, had to tell his seven children that their mother won't be home for Christmas or ever again. He had to tell them she was dead.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Severance was hit by an automobile while she was shopping here for Christmas presents. She died yesterday.

Severance gathered the children together in their home. They are Wayne, 12, David, 10, Glenny, 9, Gary, 6, Patrici, 5, Kevin, 2, and Terry Lynn 4 months.

★ ★ ★

"She tried very hard to get well and come home to us for Christmas" the father said quietly. "But it just wasn't to be and she is gone now. It will be a hard Christmas for us, I guess, but what we should remember is that nothing can ever hurt our mommy any more."

NATO Faces Military Problem

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Almost overshadowed by the political problems in this crucial NATO session is the conventional military weakness of the alliance.

The United States and Britain are selling the idea of intermediate range missile bases in Europe in answer to the challenge of Russia's development of an intercontinental missile which launched the Sputniks, or earth satellites.

DEMANDS OPPOSED

The United States firmly opposes continental allied demands that Washington dovetail its policies around the world to fit the national interests of France and The Netherlands. The latter two have been losing their empires by huge fragments.

But what about the conventional strength of NATO? It is weak.

The Defense Committee of the Assembly of Western European Union reported as long ago as last May that Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander in Europe, has only a nominal 15 of the 30 divisions that the North Atlantic Council accepted in 1954 as the smallest workable requirement for a forward strategy.

Of these, only the five American divisions were ready for immediate combat. Since then Norstad has received three under-strength and under-trained German infantry divisions.

In 1954, too, the North Atlantic Council had authorized supreme headquarters to base its planning on the use of tactical atomic weapons. But new weapons, as the WEU report pointed out, cannot replace the missing divisions. This is because in case of minor border encroachments or probing attacks Norstad's "shield" would be too weak to counter conventional attack with conventional weapons alone.

HOLD ONRUSH

In case of total war, too, Norstad's "shield" must be able to hold the enemy onrush long enough to permit the retaliatory thrust of the U.S. Strategic Air Command. The latter is the "sword," equipped with hydrogen weapons intended to bring the attack to a halt.

NATO's divisions range in size from 8,000 to 20,000 men; their equipment is so varied under national traditions that virtually the only combat material that all of them have in common is standardized small - arms ammunition.

With the French having some 400,000 men tied down in the Algerian rebellion, and the British cutting their own troop strength in Germany, Norstad's immediate goal still is to try to get 30 combat-ready divisions.

★ ★ ★

Any establishment of missile bases and atomic stockpiles in Europe are intended as a further "deterrent." The main counterthrust to Russia still is the U.S. Strategic Air Command since Norstad still must find a highly-trained flexible mobile land force to withstand the first shock of any Soviet ground strike that might over-run all the vast network of air and other bases built in Western Europe.

A Modern St. Nicholas
(WITH APOLOGIES TO CLEMENT C. MOORE)

'Twas the week before Christmas, when all through the house
Every creature was stirring. Yes, even the mouse.
The stockings were placed near the chimney with care
Awaiting the night good St. Nick would be there.

Abroad in the land there were people galore
Who never ceased working to lighten his chore.
In past, the eight reindeer were good for the rounds.
Now, chimneys are many. The land's full of towns.

The oranges up from the south, into snow
Are hurried along from the soil where they grow.
The spruce, fir and holly they pass on the way

Plump fowl for the dinner roll east and roll west
In cold, clean compartments that keep them the best.
And oysters are trundled inland from the ocean
For plainsmen to savor if they take the notion.

To make Christmas joyous among the young tykes.
Within sturdy trucks, nicely stacked with great pains
Are all sorts of things—even ships, planes —and TRAINS.

Each day in December and even before—
No hamlet too tiny, but what has the thrill
Of daily deliveries without a big bill.

The innocent ones may behold o'er each load
Of presents that hastens along the concrete
A vision of St. Nick and reindeers—complete.

The old fellow keeps on—so true to his job.
He loves all the work that has made the heart throb.
It's just that he's modern—HE'S USING THE TRUCK.

Denver Residents Going to Polls Today to Vote on City Income Tax Ordinance

DENVER (INS) — Denver residents go to the polls today to vote on a proposed city income tax ordinance that has attracted the interest of many cities considering similar money-raising ideas.

Voting on the tax proposal advocated by Mayor Will Nicholson may reveal what other hard-pressed cities can expect from the public in the way of popular reaction to additional taxation methods.

The proposal now before the electorate calls for a one-half per cent tax on incomes up to $5,000 and a flat one per cent over that amount.

Nearly all Denver residents agree the city needs additional money to pay for capital improvements ranging from new street systems to an enlarged police force.

REACTION FAVORABLE

Mayor Nicholson suggested the income tax idea more than a year ago. The suggestion met with generally favorable reaction, but not enthusiasm.

★ ★ ★

Early this year, a 500-man civic progress committee was appointed by the mayor to review capital improvements programs and find a way to finance them.

★ ★ ★

Much to Nicholson's chagrin, the committee dumped the income tax idea in the waste basket and suggested a 1958 economy budget with a series of so-called nuisance taxes on city services such as garbage and trash collection.

IGNORES COMMITTEE

Ignoring his progress committee, the mayor—backed by a clear majority of the City Council—enacted an ordinance calling for a tax on all earned income. The bill sailed through the council before most Denverites could grasp its significance.

Before the ink was dry on the bill, a group calling itself the Tax Action Comittee for a Greater Denver inaugurated a petition drive to kill the tax or send it to a vote of the people.

The mayor and councilmen paid little heed to the petition move, although they knew it was backed by influential businessmen and was virtually the creation of the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

When nearly twice the needed number of signatures were obtained on the petitions and duly filed with the city clerk and recorder, the council's tune changed.

The aldermen quickly rescinded the original income tax law, passed a substitute measure meeting a number of objections used by its opponents, and set Dec. 17 for the revised ordinance to go before the people for a vote.

Objects to Industrial or Labor Chaplains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam says he does not favor setting up a system of church-appointed chaplains in industry or labor unions.

★ ★ ★

And that viewpoint — expressed at a Methodist conference yesterday—was endorsed by an industrial executive and a labor official. The subject of the conference was church "Responsibility for a Ministry to Industry."

★ ★ ★

Bishop Oxnam, chairman of the Methodist Commission on Chaplains, said that chaplains who were paid by labor or management would not be free. He added: "We dare not identify the Gospel with any economic or political system. The Gospel stands in judgment on all economic systems."

★ ★ ★

A similar position was taken by Victor Reuther, manager of the Washington office of the United Auto Workers, and Leon E. Hickman, vice president of the Aluminum Co. of America, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Moscow Radio Hits Ike's Talk

Claims Speech Ignores Hopes of Millions for Course Toward Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow radio said today President Eisenhower's opening speech at the NATO conference in Paris disappointed those who hoped for a new course toward world peace.

"The opening session showed the demand of the present day, the hopes of millions of people for some positive course, being totally ignored," an English-language broadcast beamed to North America said.

★ ★ ★

"Right from the beginning those who set the tune in NATO turned down the very possibility of any other course than that of an arms drive and intensified war preparations," Moscow radio declared.

★ ★ ★

"Eisenhower's speech was especially disappointing in this respect. The President has spoken very much for universal peace, and so many Western observers foretold that here, too, he would introduce something new in the way of peace. But unfortunately there was nothing of the kind in the speech."

★ ★ ★

The broadcast said the program offered by the President "was the old one of tightening the belt" and "the old Dulles brink-of-war scheme."

The Soviet radio complained that Eisenhower "totally ignored" Soviet Premier Bulganin's recent letters proposing a high-level peace conference and added: "Does that show realistic political thinking?"

Call About Bull on Police Radio Stuns Officers

NEW YORK (AP)—Policemen in Jamacia, Queens, did a general double take when they heard a radio call to chase a bull out of somebody's petunias.

Since there aren't many cows in Queens and no petunias this time of year, the policemen listened carefully.

★ ★ ★

The messages persisted: "I'm going for my horse now." Then later: "You can call the whole thing off. He's on government property now."

★ ★ ★

Then the Jamaica police heard that the strange instructions were coming from Albuquerque, N.M., where there are more cattle and petunias. Atmospheric conditions had caused a radio "skip."

Judge May Rule Today on 'Confidential' Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Obscenity charges against Confidential and Whisper magazines, which were aired last summer in a sensational court trial, are due to be ruled on today.

★ ★ ★

The lengthy trial ended with a hung jury and in subsequent actions criminal libel charges which had also been brought against the magazines were dismissed.

★ ★ ★

The obscenity charges were then submitted to Superior Judge H. Burton Noble on the basis of the trial record. He announced earlier this month that he would hear arguments on the charges today and then decide the case.

Rosalind Russell Remembers Best Yule

(Famed personalities are recalling the Christmas that remains most vivid to them in this special series of yuletide articles. In the following article Rosalind Russell, movie and stage actress who is the star of the hit Broadway comedy, "Auntie Mame," describes the Christmas that meant most to her.)

By ROSALIND RUSSELL

When I was first asked to name the Christmas I remember best, I was frankly at a loss. You see, I'm a very lucky person, and there have been many memorable Christmases for me; times of warmth and renewal of faith and reunion with friends and family.

I think the Christmas that meant the most to me was the Christmas when I was twelve years old in Waterbury, Conn.

Waterbury is a lovely old New England town, and our family lived in a grand old Victorian house that looks as though Charles Addams designed it, but with affection.

It almost always snows in Waterbury around Christmas time, and this year was no exception. Our old house, all three stories of it, part red brick, part gray granite and part wood, with a long piazza and gargoyles, was alive with winter spirit and icicles.

We had our own family ritual for Christmas. When the time came to set up the tree and trim the house (I was in charge of the trimmings), the whole family bundled up in our big old car (it had to be a big car: I have three brothers and three sisters) and chugged out to the woods up Litchfield way.

PARK CAR

Then James, my oldest brother, would park the car, and the other boys (John and George) would give us girls (Clara, Mary Jane, Josephine and myself) the axes and yell, half in fun, "OK, girls, go to work."

And we would all start getting pine cones and fir branches for the trimmings. The boys would sneak off once in a while to smoke cigarettes (they weren't supposed to) and finally we would have everything we needed, and we would pile into the old car and chug back to the house to get the trimmings ready for the library and the music room and the living room, and every room upstairs and downstairs.

Anyway, I was very happy about it all; but just a little bit sad. I had never been allowed to stay up much beyond my bedtime on Christmas Eve. I was the kid sister who took charge of the trimmings and floated off to sleep while the laughter and the noise kept on downstairs, and footsteps echoed on the parquet floors.

STAY UP

But I did the best I could with the trimmings. And then suddenly, my mother came to me and said, "Rosalind, you've done a wonderful job with the trimmings, and you can stay up for Midnight Mass tonight!"

Well, you can imagine what that meant to me. I could stay up late for the first time in my life, I was grown up, I could go to St. Margaret's on the hill to take communion like everybody else who was grown-up.

It was an exciting Christmas Eve. I still remember the crispness of the air, and the warmth inside me—why even, the snow felt warm and cheery! And after the first Midnight Mass—my very first—all of us Russells, and there were lots of us, when you include uncles and aunts and cousins—trooped down to the hill to the old house for hot lobster Newburg and cold cuts and hot chocolate, while mother and father and the older people had punch.

Midnight Mass still fills me with the exaltation and beauty and reverence of Christmas-time; I've taken communion in many churches and many places on many Christmases, but none to compare—quite—with that very first time, in Waterbury, Conn., when I was twelve years old.

Nobel Prize Winner Discusses American Education

Brainpower Key to U.S. Survival

By JOHN BARROW

★ ★ ★

In an interview with International News Service, the 64-year-old Indiana-born chemist who discovered heavy hydrogen pointed to U.S. turmoil over Soviet Sputniks and blasted what he termed America's mania for new automobiles rather than solid learning. The interview follows:

Question: Professor Urey, does Sputnik mean America is dangerously behind Russia in scientific development?

Answer: "No. Some fumbling in Washington — which should not be underestimated — has occurred.

But most probably we are ahead of our competitors at the present time in scientific work and technical development. We almost certainly lag in certain missile development."

Q.: What about the future?

A.: "What we must all worry about is the situation 10 years from now. The Soviet Union has improved its educational system ehormously during the last 40 years and at the present time the rate of increase of the production of scientists and things of this sort is much greater than it is in the United States. It has been estimated that in 10 years the Soviet Union will have the best scientists in the world."

Q.: Why has America dropped behind? Is inadequate support for science the cause?

A.: "Not in any immediate way. We have many outstanding scientists and they have been adequately, though not handsomely, supported. It is certainly not a failure of our industrial plants and facilities nor any lack of raw materials or of manpower. All the necessary things can be done without any serious lowering of our standard of living."

Q.: Then what's missing?

A.: "The intellectual capacity of the average citizen. It's rare to find any one with exact knowledge of any subject, whether it's mathematics, history, literature, foreign languages, science, curent events — or even spelling."

PUPPY TRIXIE — Bounces ball from her nose to forehead and back again as children learn to keep time.

Q.: The higher learning of ancient Greece failed to save it from an aggressor dedicated to physical power. Apart from persons engaged in science, how can intellectualism strengthen America for a contest which probably will be decided by economic and military might?

A.: "An acient civilization collapsed when they reached a height of wealth at which only a few persons were doing anything constructive while the rest went to games — and the slaves took over. Today's doers are the ones with knowledge, who understand the meaning of what is taking place and are aware of what must be done. They are outnumbered by those whose prime concern is the maximum consumption of manufactured goods."

Q.: What can turn the tide?

A.: "A very vigorous overhauling of the entire primary and secondary school education of the United States.

Q.: What would you change, the teaching or the teachers?

A.: "Both. The lack of exact knowledge I blame on the fallacy of recent educational philosophy that the purpose of education is to develop the personality of the individual, not primarily to acquire knowledge.

"Another fallacy is that each year of study shall be organized as though it were to be the last of the students' intellectual pursuits. An effective modern education requires some 15 to 20 years of systematic effort and the curriculum must be planned with the whole period in mind.

"As for teachers. I've been in universities where the students with the lowest I.Q. were enrolled in the teachers' college. If teachers were paid as much as industry pays persons with a comparable degree of training and qualifications, teaching would attract a higher caliber of person. I believe that the school budget of this country should be doubled.

Q.: Where would the money come from?

A.: "I believe a good bit of it will need to come from the federal government."

Q.: Wouldn't the taxpayers object?

A.: "They shouldn't. When you consider how many millions of dollars are spent each year for such things as new automobiles, it would be foolish not to contribute toward raising our educational standard."

Coalition Seen Ruling Thailand

Pro-Western Regime Under Premier Pote Appears Likely

BANGKOK (AP) — A pro-Western coalition government, headed by present Acting Premier Pote Sarasin and backed by the ruling military junta, today seemed the likely result of Thailand's national elections.

Independents hae won 35 of the 160 Parliament seats at stake. Many independents are expected to throw their support to the military commanders, led by Marshal Sarit Thanarat, who control 123 seats in the Parliament by appointment.

Of the 35 independents leading in the elections, 29 are former members of former Premier P. Pibulsonggram's party. Pibul was ousted last September by Sarit.

The Democrat party, which is conservative, and the Unionists, mildly Socialistic and Wesetern-oriented, were running almost even. The Democrats, who swept all but one of the 12 seats in Bangkok, so far have won 28 altogether and the Unionists have 27.

The big losers were the extreme leftists, who held 22 seats in the last full Parliament. So far they have won only 10. The leftists campaigned on an anti-American neutralist platform, demanding withdrawal of Thailand from SEATO and closer ties with Communist China.

★ ★ ★

Pote had been expected to leave the Premier's office in two weeks. But Sarit and the military leaders now seem certain of supporting him to retain the office.

Syria Protests Acts of Jordan Recently

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria has complained that "ill treatment" of its citizens in Jordan is a bar to good relations between the two Arab countries, reliable sources said today.

The complaint was said to have been made during a 30-minute conference between Asad Khangy, secretary general of the Syrian Foreign Ministry, and Ali Sido, Jordanian charge d'affairs.

Informed sources said Khangy told Sido that Syrian travelers and embassy officials in Amman have been mistreated.

KILL DEVIL HILLS, N. C. (AP)—Here amid the sand dunes of the North Carolina Outer Banks 54 years ago today man first took flight in a powered craft.

Today, about six hours before ceremonies commemorating the flight, a man-made moon bearing the body of a dog passed over the sea just east of here and 500 miles in the sky, testifying to the giant steps in flight since that first 120-foot effort.

The passage by Russia's Sputnik II, signifying the dawn of the space age, added a sobering thought to the festivities honoring the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur, who ushered in the air age.

The brothers came here from their home in Dayton, Ohio, for the flight because of favorable weather and terrain conditions.

On Dec. 14, 1903, Wilbur won a coin toss from his brother for the right to make the first try in the flimsy craft, powered by a 12-horsepower, four-cylinder hand-made engine with a one-gallon fuel supply.

The plane slipped at the end of its takeoff monorail and crashed, due to what the brothers described as a "slight error."

But in a letter to his father and sister, Orville Wright wrote:

"There is now no question of final success."

Later he described the event:

"This flight lasted only 12 seconds, but it was nevertheless the first in history in which a machine carrying a man had raised itself by its own power into the air in full flight, had sailed forward without reduction of speed, and had finally landed at a point as high as that from which it started."

2,200 Floats Along Gutter in Palo Alto

still doesn't grow on trees in Palo Alto. But $2,200 of it did float along a street gutter.

Last Nov. 23, that amount was mailed from the Palo Alto post office to the Stanford branch of the Bank of America for deposit. It didn't arrive.

Tommy leaned over and grabbed a floating object. It was a roll of $2,200 in greenbacks with the deposit slip around them, held by a rubber band.

★ ★ ★

The post master, Ralph Evans, says he doubts if the mystery ever will be cleared up. But he's going to recommend that the Post Office Department pay the eebles a reward.

Judge Hangs Himself

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Supreme Court Judge Lin Pah hanged himself last night, leaving behind a note saying he wanted to die because of a wrong verdict he gave two years ago. The 60-year-old jurist did not specify which verdict he regretted.

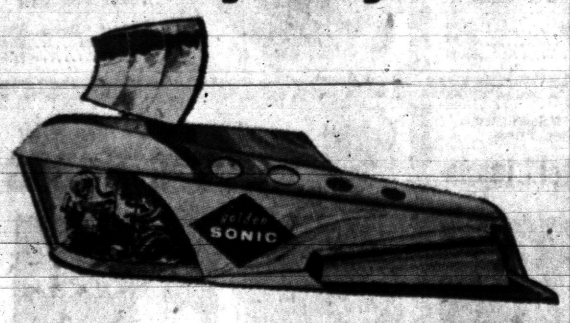

Yule Spirit Ringing Through City Hall

There's a spirit of Christmas drifting down the corridors of the Pontiac City Hall through the efforts of the Parks and Recreation Dept.

Continuous Christmas carols are being played over a portable public address system into the main corridors during regular business hours.

Added to this is a tree in the main lobby, smaller trees and wreaths in most offices, and the large tree and manger scene on the front lawn.

'Moon' Watching Pushes Out Spooning

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — There is a new disturbing note in these days of scuttling satellites.

It involves young love, and what's to become of the ancient art of gazing at the sunset, otherwise known as stellar smoochmanship.

Visualize the modern couple — usually a little shy, a trifle reverent, in love with love, as they stroll into the dusk . . .

He: "Lovely night. And you're lovely."

She: "Thanks."

He: "Do you know that that little twinkle up there is the north star?"

She: "Yeah?"

He: "And if we stand here long enough, we'll see the milky way, and I'll give you a kiss for every pint."

She: "Wow. You got the time? On a watch, I mean?"

He: "6:45."

She: "You got any inclination?"

He: "Baby . . ."

She: "Not that kind, buster. Sputnik inclination."

He: "65 degrees. Flight path, northwest to southeast. But doesn't it matter I love you?"

She: "Sure, sweetheart. You ready for action?"

And when the young man finally opens his eyes, she is gone — having scurried to the nearest perchable rock or porch step to watch the latest whatsnik speed across the sky.

The United States can, and will, recover its prestige in the realm of outer space; but I doubt seriously that young love, at least for the next few years, will again dawdle delightfully in the sunset.

Franklin has devised a tricky device called the "Satellite Pathfinder," which enables the simplest unscientific spectator to figure exactly when in the day, and where in the heavens, any of these flashing spectacles will pass over.

"The idea," he says, "is to plot your own orbit."

The Pathfinder is the size of a phonograph record, and has moving plastic parts which show the map of the northern hemisphere, the time zones and the orbital paths of earth-made satellites.

"First you look in the papers for basic information. Taking the Muttnik for example — you would have found it traveling at an inclination of 65 degrees, its direction of flight northwest to southeast, and orbiting at such a rate as to circle the earth in 96 minutes.

"Now by reading the time when the satellite passed over any spot in the northern hemisphere, you can set this device and learn exactly when it will pass over your own back yard."

Franklin's invention, designed for young adults and sold through bookstores and planetariums for $1.95, is catching on big. As one teen-age specialist put it, "selling like hot rods."

Franklin, himself, has advice for Lotharios who feel that science is lousing up love. There always will be some girl who will become very weak and helpless at the thought that this fire in the sky might fall down on little ol' her.

Don't tell such a female, Franklin advises, that a human is hit by a meteor only once in every 100 years.

Out of every 10 persons in the world today, about six live on farms.

Only 4 Doctors Remain in Suit

Oxford Physician Latest to Quit as Plaintiff Against City Hospital

Only four doctors remain as plaintiffs in the law suit against Pontiac General Hospital, according to William J. Beer, Pontiac attorney for the doctors.

Dr. Rodman C. Jacobi, of Oxford, was the latest to withdraw from the suit. The suit is over regulations which prohibit the doctors from performing certain types of surgery. They are asking unrestricted surgical privileges.

Dr. Jacobi could not be reached for a comment.

After a series of postponements, the show cause hearing as to why the hospital shouldn't be stopped from enforcing certain disputed regulations will be held Jan. 8.

The remaining four—Drs. Roy V. Cooley, Douglass A. Haddock, Maolin Han, and Leonard Blackwell—charge in the suit that certain medical staff by-laws contain regulations which prohibit their unrestricted right to practice medicine freely in a tax-supported hospital.

Humans With Rabies Can Infect Others

CHICAGO—The American Medical Association Journal reports that while few actual cases of rabies contracted from other humans have been proved, it is possible for the disease to spread from one human to another.

For that reason, an article in the journal recommends that any person who has been exposed to the saliva of a human suffering from rabies should be inoculated against the disease.

MT. CLEMENS (INS)—Law enforcement officials in Mount Clemens yesterday were searching for a crank who sent police on a false alarm when he told them a bank was being robbed.

About 16 local officers rushed to the bank and road blocks were thrown up at Flint and Sandusky. However the police found business as usual at the bank. There had been no holdup.

Senate Group Resumes Probe

Invites Judge to Testify on Alleged Terrorism in Tennessee

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee resumes today its hearings on alleged labor terrorism in Tennessee, inviting a Chattanooga Criminal Court judge to hear the testimony.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said in advance that the committee has sent an invitation to Judge Raulston Schoolfield in Chattanooga, but has not yet received a reply.

Kennedy said witnesses in the hearing would include Glenn W. Smith, president of the Teamsters Union's Joint Council 87, which embraces Tennessee and part of Kentucky. He was one of 12 Teamsters for whom Schoolfield in 1953 directed a verdict of acquittal on charges of conspiring to commit violence in a labor dispute.

★ ★ ★

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee chairman, has charged that testimony in two weeks of hearings has shown that a goon squad of Tennessee Teamsters conducted a "reign of terror" in Southern states over a period of years.

The committee has hard witnesses tell of dynamitings, beatings and other violence against business firms and nonunion truck drivers.

McClellan has criticized the handling by local law enforcement officials of investigations of such incidents.

Believe Detroit Family of 6 Poisoned at Meal

DETROIT (INS) — Six persons were rushed to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit yesterday to receive treatment for what authorities said might be food poisoning.

The victims included William Vinton, 36, his wife, Virginia, 33; his three children, William, 11; Larry 16, and Linda Mae, 13, plus a roomer, Donna Mae Carrie, 21.

The family became ill several hours after eating a chicken dinner. Health officials were analyzing remnants of the meal. The children were hospitalized for observation, but the adults were released after treatment.

Railroad Seeks to End Services

New York Central Asks to Drop Runs Between 4 Major Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad yesterday said it had filed petitions with state regulatory bodies asking to discontinue passenger service between Indianapolis and St. Louis and between Cincinnati and Toledo.

Petitions were filed with the Public Utility Commissions of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Ernest W. Nickerson, vice president-passenger sales and service, said the road will have sustained a loss of approximately $1,289,978 in 1957 on the passenger service between the cities. In 1956 the loss was $402,975, he said.

The move would end passenger, mail and express service in St. Louis as far as the railroad is concerned.

Trains which would be discontinued between St. Louis and Indianapolis on the eastbound run are the Southwestern, Knickerbocker, Missourian and Cleveland Special. On the westbound runs the trains are the Southwestern, Knickerbocker, Missourian and Gateway.

Between Cincinnati and Toledo, the northbound train which would be discontinued is the Michigan Special and on the southbound run, the Ohio Special.

Nickerson said patronage on both lines has been declining steadily for the past decade.

The passage of the William H. Wolf of the Gartland Steamship Co. closed the Upper Lakes navigation season.

Coast Guard Cmdr. E. J. Bodenlos said the usual flurry of ship movement toward the end of the season was missing this year. He attributed the lack of last-minute traffic to the large supply of ore in Lower Lakes harbors.

★ ★ ★

Navigation aids have been removed from the St. Marys River and there hasn't been any night movement of ships for the past few nights.

Announce New Way to Drain Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New tablet invention for sinus sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pains

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet invention which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or your full purchase price will be refunded.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Prepares for Dance

Pontiac Press Photos

Even Reds Decorate Fir Trees

But They Signify New Year Spirit, Not Christmas

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Lighted evergreens, symbol of a season of gayety, are finding their way into more and more communities and homes the world over, even behind the Iron Curtain. The appeal for children is universal.

In Iron Curtain countries, where the Communist Party does not recognize religion and Christmas and Hanukkah celebrations are not authorized, the state instead substitutes New Year festivities, with a Grandfather Frost instead of Santa Claus and a New Year's fir tree instead of the Christmas tree. A lighted tree nevertheless!

ARRANGED BY REDS

In the U.S. Office of Education booklet, "Education in the U.S.S.R.," it is revealed that in some 260 Soviet cities these New Year's festivities are arranged by the party and state through the trade unions. Lighted fir trees are set up in community centers, clubs, schools, theaters, etc.

★ ★ ★

The largest of these celebrations, according to the survey, takes place in the white marble Hall of Columns of the Moscow House of Trade Unions, where a giant fir is lavishly trimmed.

The lobbies of the hall are decorated by state-supported artists and sculptors. Visitors come from various parts to see the tree, which is lighted for two weeks.

There are parties for children, dancing around the tree, performances by trained animals, puppet plays, and dramatic scenes presented by state-supported actors.

PLEAS ANSWERED

In Washington, where children of diplomats from many non-Christian countries go to school and play with youngsters who do, families go along with their pleas for a lighted tree and even a small exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Saba Zahiruwdin, wife of the economic minister of the Pakistan embassy, says her 8-year-old daughter Anjun, nick-named "Bumpy," is writing Santa and expecting a lighted tree.

Mrs. Roshan Dastgir, wife of the commercial attache, says her son Fazli, nearly 3, also has caught the fever.

★ ★ ★

In Pakistan the birth of Mohammed is celebrated in May and the sacrificial lamb is traditionally offered to the prophet each August on behalf of each son in a family.

LAMB FOR BUMPY

Mrs. Zahiruwdin, having no sons, has written her family to proffer a lamb for Bumpy instead.

★ ★ ★

"While in this country, however, many diplomatic families almost have no choice than to provide a tree and let the children exchange gifts," she said.

Four Are Initiated

Judith Hamilton, Sally Fitzwater, Paulette McReynolds and Betty Legare were initiated Monday evening into Bethel 5 of International Order of Job's Daughters, Pontiac Bethel 40, Rochester Bethel 40 and Walled Lake Bethel were among the visitors.

Summoned East

Mrs. Joseph Bara of Bloomfield Hills has been called to McKeesport, Pa., by the death of her father, G. Lewis Sinn. Funeral service will be held there Wednesday.

Dear Abby . . . .

Chip on Shoulder Dwarfs Leaf

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when your husband is a first lieutenant and you find yourself pushed around (socially) by a major's wife? I am better educated, better looking and better dressed than the major's wife, but she is using her husband's rank to throw digs into me and I can't answer her back.

ABBY

In civilian life nobody would look at her because she didn't even graduate from high school and obviously came from the other side of the tracks. How does one cope with a situation of this kind without coming to a showdown that might be bad for my husband?

LIEUTENANT'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: That little gold leaf on the major's shoulder is not nearly so big as the "chip" on yours. It's a big Army—if you are too rank-conscious for comfort—chum around with civilians.

DEAR ABBY: In planning a wedding reception, the boy who is marrying our daughter has too many parents. His mother was divorced twice and is now married for a third time. Her first husband is the boy's father, but he remarried and her second husband has also remarried.

She is friendly with all her ex-husbands and their wives. We were instructed by the boy's mother to invite them all to the wedding. This makes three husbands and three wives. Should they all stand in the receiving line?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: I think one set of parents will suffice in the reception line. Take it up with the boy's mother and let her unscramble this for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 years of age and fell in love with a fellow who is 20. We have seriously been thinking of running away to get married. I have not spoken to my mother about this as we are not very close and I am afraid she wouldn't understand.

Besides he is of another religion and my mother is very narrow-minded. I would appreciate an answer in the paper as I am afraid my mother might open any mail that comes to the house.

Yours Truly,
IN LOVE

DEAR "IN": Any 20-year-old fellow who would consider running away to marry a 17-year-old girl is no bargain. Get next to yourself and get "close" to your mother. If you ever needed a mother's counsel, you need it now.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married to a man who does construction work so naturally we have to travel wherever the job takes us. My problem is that the wives of these construction workers use terribly foul language and their idea of a good time is telling dirty stories.

If I don't associate with these women (we all live in a trailer court) I am going to be pretty lonesome. How can I listen to this kind of talk and pretend I don't object when I do?

MARCELLA

DEAR MARCELLA: Certainly ALL these women don't use foul language and tell off-color stories? Find one who is more like yourself and make friends.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETTY L: What do you mean "there ought to be a law." There is!

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Sees Hems Going Up, Then Down

NEW YORK (INS) — "Hemlines will go to the knee in '58, and probably drop to the ankle in '59."

So says New York dress manufacturer Nat Rubin, who thinks "we're repeating 1929 and 1930, when the silhouette was up and then dropped."

"There was the same hoo-ha then about women won't wear it. So what happened? I was selling old silhouette dresses for a dollar apiece."

★ ★ ★

THEY LOOK NEW

"It's the first new style of the decade which can be identified by year," he explains. "Any waisted dress of the past six years looks like any other waisted dress—you can't tell when it was made. But a short chemise—when you see a woman wearing one you know she's wearing a new dress, and that's why women will wear them."

★ ★ ★

So far, Rubin seems to have guessed right when he decided women wanted a "new dress that looked new." He reports a thousand reorders weekly on chemise dresses.

★ ★ ★

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Life (they keep telling us) is due to grow ever brighter and easier for women in 1958.

★ ★ ★

In the do-it-yourself era, women have learned that it's possible to prepare and serve a company dinner after spending a full day at an office job, with the aid of modern frozen, ready-mixed and prepared packaged foods.

ALUMINUM PACKAGES

The next step in the spare-the-housewife movement, says manufacturer Victor Muscat, is the scheduled appearance on the market next year of all kinds of food in aluminum packages.

"You will be getting all kinds of stuff in Aerosol cans," says Muscat — "practically all condiments such as catsup, mustard, mayonnaise and meat sauces, as well as dessert sauces and instant coffee.

"A lot of other foods are going to come in aluminum tubes — meat spreads, butter, jams, jellies, peanut butter and so on.

★ ★ ★

"Then there will be regular aluminum cans for staple canned foods which can be zipped open by pulling a tab —no can openers needed.

SQUEEZE AND EAT

"So you can squirt and eat, squeeze and eat or zip and eat."

★ ★ ★

He foresees the day when whole meals will come neatly prepared, packaged and ready to squirt, squeeze or zip, heat and eat — when the original container will serve for cooking, serving and storing and can be thrown away — when there will be no dishes to wash, no pans to scour and a housewife's life at last will be a merry one.

Perfume, Toiletries Are Always Welcome

You Can't Miss With Cosmetics

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I am here again to help you with a few Christmas suggestions. It seems to me that the conception and packaging of cosmetics become more original and beautiful every Christmas. They are so pretty to behold that one almost hates to touch them.

You cannot go wrong with cosmetics or perfume as gifts. They always are welcomed, even by those who indulge in such items regularly.

Today oils of perfume are available. The scent lasts much longer than regular perfumes because it does not evaporate. As a matter of fact, you are advised to apply it before your bath so that the warmth of your tub will encourage the fragrance to sink into your skin.

It should be applied at the pulse spots. If you wish you can dab a bit more onto your hands or hair after your bath, but the fragrance lasts from one tub to the next.

There is also a solid perfume which is wonderful for your purse since it cannot leak or spill. This is highly concentrated, lasts a long time and comes in a lovely compact. Perfumes also come now in attractive Christmas tree decorations.

One is a pompon, or a fur puff, which contains a bottle of perfume. There is also a Christmas tree ball with perfume enclosed. There is a beautiful spray-top purser which has a pressurized spray.

A LITTLE DIFFERENT

I mention the above items because they are a little different. Of course there are myriad and charmingly decorated combinations of all sorts: Bath powder and cologne with matching fragrance, cologne and perfume, bath salts andto aid you as you sprint down powder and cologne, and so on.these last few days before Christmas:

★ ★ ★

Here are a few more suggestions 1. Why not give a membership in an organization in which the recipient is interested, such as a record or book club or a museum?

Perfumes now come in attractive Christmas tree decorations.

2. A gift certificate from a store your "difficult person" favors, or a gift certificate from a beauty salon for massage, hairdos and so forth.

3. A course in something in which your friend or a member of your family is interested. This could be skating or dancing lessons, or some other sport. It might be a self-improvement course in beauty or a study course of some sort such as language, ancient history, modern poetry, art.

It could be an extension course from some university. Many folks like to do these things but put them off because of financial pressure.

4. A subscription to magazines or a series of concerts or plays.

Happy hunting and good luck!

To Revitalize Hair

Is your hair drooping after a day of shopping? For a quick lift, atomize generously with a self-styling hair spray. Then as you comb your hair, push the waves into place.

Told She Resembles Mom, Dad

Girl Wonders How She Should Reply to These Remarks

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I wish older people who haven't seen me for awhile would stop saying, 'My but you look exactly like your mother' — or sometimes they will think I look just like my father.

"It's not that I mind looking like my parents, because I think they are very good looking. But when people say this to me I never know what to answer. I don't believe they mean it anyway, because I can't look exactly like both parents, can I?"

Answer: No, but you can (and evidently do) resemble both parents. And people who know one or the other better quite understandably, I think, see your likeness to this one parent.

Of one thing you can be sure: No one means this unkindly, and you must certainly be polite enough at least to smile in appreciation, because, as you said yourself, it is a compliment. You might find it less awkward then standing in silence to say, "Many people think so . . ." or "I'm so glad you think so."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a secretary and had to write a letter about business to my employer while he and his family were on a vacation. I signed it 'Jane'. I've been told that my signature was too familiar and I'd like to know what you think about this."

Answer: If Jane is the name by which he always calls you, it would be quite all right at the end of a letter. But if he calls you Miss Jones, then you should sign your name Jane Jones.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been asked to give his niece in marriage (her father is dead). After he gives her away, where does he sit — in the front pew beside the bride's mother, or next to me?"

Answer: Usually he sits next to the bride's mother, but this is not a definite rule.

Store Crust and Filling for Quick Pie

Mrs. Wilson Keeps Pumpkin Mixture Ready to Add Eggs

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Why not get your pumpkin pies all ready now for the holidays? It's not too early if you do it the way Mrs. Donald Wilson does. She can get a pie in the oven at a moment's notice. No freezer called for, either.

Mrs. Wilson has one son in college. She does some church work.

QUANTITY PIE RECIPE
By Mrs. Donald Wilson

Pastry:

7 cups sifted flour
1 pound lard
3 level teaspoons salt

Work ingredients together until crumbly. Store covered in the refrigerator. When needed, take out enough for one crust. Dampen with cold water so that crust will hold together. Roll out.

Pumpkin Filling:

1 large can pumpkin
1 large can condensed milk
2½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice OR 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger

Mix all together and store in refrigerator. When ready to use, measure out one pint of filling. Fold two beaten eggs into the pumpkin mixture.

Pour into crust and bake 15 minutes at 425 degrees. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake another 30-40 minutes. Test with a knife.

Prowling around a dark home, day or night, leads to many stubbed toes. A handy flashlight saves bumps and bruises. It is good for emergencies or for poking into dark closets.

She Can Copy Her Working Sister, Reserve Hours for Homemaking

By RUTH MILLETT

When a stay-at-home wife envies her working sister, it may not be just for the paycheck that goes with an outside job. It may be because the working wife has a ready excuse for saying "no" to demands on her time and energy that the home-tied wife lacks.

A reader puts it this way: "I am a stay-at-home wife, willing to do all my own work and manage on one paycheck, but sometimes I am a bit envious of the wife who works.

"Why? Because she is organized. She is at her job so many hours a day and nobody expects her to take time off from it.

"The full-time housewife? Her time is everybody's. She has constant interruptions.

"She is supposed to be able to leave her work without protest to help the PTA carnival, serve as a room mother, fix refreshments for the 4H club, entertain the Cub Scouts, bake a couple of pies for the church bake sale, help out on this drive, work on that committee, and so on.

"And if she has a car at her disposal, she is forever being called on to drive long distances to chauffeur children or run errands for one organization or another.

"It seems to me the stay-at-home wife today is on a merry-go-round of activities simply because she has no recognized excuse for being able to say 'no' to any demand."

There is a lot of truth in that letter. But the stay-at-home wife has only herself to blame for the fact that her job is taken so lightly by others.

A woman with a paid job puts her job first automatically. And there is no reason why a woman who does her own housework and has small children to look after shouldn't be just as matter of fact about setting her own working hours and sticking by them.

A housewife can say, "I iron on Tuesdays," or "Friday is general housecleaning day for me," or "I have to be home when my children come from school."

It's just the same as a working wife who says, "My office hours are from 9 to 5."

Della B. Keller Becomes Bride in Lake Orion Rite

Living in Lake Orion after returning from a northern Michigan trip are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Spencer. Before their Dec. 7 wedding in Lake Orion Methodist Church the bride was Della Belle Keller. The Rev. Albert Johns performed the candlelight ceremony before 200 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Cottage street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Spencer of Lake Orion.

Matron of honor Mrs. Rosalind Wahl, sister of the bride, was gowned in a pink taffeta afternoon dress with matching accessories, and her bouquet was composed of blue and pink pompon chrysanthemums.

Robert G. Ballard of Flint served as best man. Guests were seated by Ronald Turner and Ronald Hopp.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Robert Wland of Gingell court and Walter Asher of Forest drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Paul Trager of Mount Clemens street and Lewis Zahn of Strathmore avenue.

CHOOSES BEIGE

Sashay-Quadrille Celebrates Yuletide

Elks SaShay - Quadrille Club held its annual Christmas party at Elks Temple Friday evening. Master of ceremonies was Judge Cecil McCallum. Callers were Oscar Denham, Howard Upton, Bert Denham, Burnell McCallister, William Schmiel, William Spaulding and Howard Bond.

Hold Yule Party

Mrs. Fred Crossman, Mrs. Richard Parsons and Mrs. Frank Pereny were hostesses recently at the annual Christmas party held by Iraq Caldron 70, Daughters of Mokanna, at Pontiac Savings and Loan Building.

White chiffon for dress and veil was used in a high society wedding in Rome. You can do it yourself as the veil drapes easily. Another recent wedding used lace and beading on trailing-panel dress of white silk, which you can make, too.

Save Old Brushes for Home Chores

★ ★ ★

For example, try using them to clean ornate silverware or porcelain figures. A toothbrush is handy for scrubbing grooves and other hard to reach places around the house.

If you sterilize the brush, it can be used to clean vegetables such as celery stalks, radishes, carrots and new potatoes.

★ ★ ★

Those with firm bristles can be put to use on suede shoes and bags; those with softer bristles as a nail brush to scrub your cuticles.

Missionary Feted

Mrs. Milton Bank, Mrs. Ted A. Panaretos, Mrs. William Wright and Mrs. Howard Mudge were guests of Leora Shank Circle of Central Methodist Church when that group held a meeting and tea to honor Mrs. Bruce Coates, who is celebrating her 50th year as a missionary. Mrs. Harry Stowell opened her Elizabeth Lake road home for the Thursday event.

The Metropolitan Club and firemen of Pontiac Township and Auburn Heights didn't sell all their papers but the donations were larger, Fire Chief Carl Schingeck, drive chairman, reported.

"Our sale was cut short by darkness," he said, ":but not before about $850 was brought in. "This is just about as much as we netted in 1956."

Most of the money will be used to hold three Christmas parties for children of the community Sunday.

Goodfellows in Lake Orion took in around $680, James Sheldon, Lions Club drive chairman, said. "When the final tally is made, we expect the figure will top last year's total by from $30 to $50," he said.

Some of the Lions worked as long as 14 hours Saturday, Sheldon said. The biggest single donation received was $10.

William Stancombe, Gingeliville Metropolitan Club Goodfellow chairman, said the sale there was the best ever. Selling Friday and Saturday, Goodfellows raised $175. Most of this money will be used to make up Christmas baskets for needy families, he said.

Honor Air Prophet

WASHINGTON (AP)—A statue of Billy Mitchell, stormy prophet of air warfare, is being unveiled today at what could hardly be a more appropriate time and place.

Thirty-two years ago an Army court-martial suspended Col. Mitchell from rank and command. He had argued — publicly and heatedly — the United States was mired in old-fashioned military methods while warfare was taking to the air.

Today—in a capital noisy with charges and countercharges that America is fumbling the transition to space weapons—a bigger-than-life-size bronze figure of Mitchell in World War I flying gear goes on display at the Aeronautics Hall of the Smithsonian Institution. The statue, by sculptor Bruce Moore, is the gift of George H. Stephenson of Philadelphia.

It is to be unveiled by Mitchell's son William, who has been pressing for reversal of his father's 1925 court-martial conviction on charges of making statements prejudicial to good order and discipline. At the time of the Mitchell court-martial, the Air Corps was part of the Army. It became independent in 1947.

An Air Force review board held a hearing on the Mitchell case last May. Its recommendations still are awaiting action by Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas.

Drayton Woman Hit Crossing Highway

A Drayton Plains woman is in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after being struck by a car on U.S. 10 just north of Williams Lake Rd., in Drayton Plains last night, said State Troopers from the Pontiac Post.

Angeline Moreau, 64, of 4900 Bossiter St., had almost completed crossing the highway from east to west when she was struck by a southbound car driven by Kirk Metzger, 48, of 880 Granger Rd., Ortonville, said police.

She was thrown to the shoulder of the road and suffered a fractured right leg, severe leg cuts and head bruises, according to the hospital.

2 Local Men Attend Drivers' Safety Class

Two local men were among 20 teachers of county driver safety schools attending a special conference on drivers' instruction held Dec. 10-11 at Michigan State University.

George H. Stewart and Ralph Thayer, both of Clarkston, participated in the meeting aimed at acquainting teachers with methods and techniques proven successful in schools for traffic law violators and juvenile and adult driver groups.

The program for this conference and the two future ones consists of demonstration sessions which cover the eight-hour course prescribed for county driver safety schools. Discussion followed each demonstration.

REHEARSE FOR PLAY — Sunday is Christmas program day in the Ortonville Baptist Church. In all, three special programs are scheduled. One of them is a play entitled "Tax Day in Bethlehem." Here two members of the cast, Jerry Martin and Carolyn Allen, go over their parts.

Ortonville Church Plans 3 Christmas Programs

ORTONVILLE — With most churches busy rehearsing for Christmas plays and musical presentations, members of the Ortonville Baptist Church are preparing for three separate programs. All will be given Sunday.

At 10:30 a.m. there will be a children's presentation, featuring the beginner, primary, junior and intermediate departments.

Next is a play entitled "Tax Day, Bethlehem." It'll begin at 3 p.m. Appearing in the production will be Jerry Martin, Carolyn Allen, George Bowren, Barbara Rexford, Bing Lucas, Richard Robinson, Linda Jecks and David Rexford.

To close out the busy day, the adult department, under the direction of Howard Burt, will present the Christmas story in music and special readings. The final program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to all three programs, said Mrs. Joseph Jencks, general chairman.

Another Christmas project of the church is the basket being prepared for some needy family by the Sunday school. A basket also has been placed in the church to receive donations for a needy family.

5 Oakland Men Take Traffic Laws Class

Five area men were among 21 Michigan police officers who participated in a training course in traffic laws and ordinances at Michigan State University. The course closed Friday.

They are Robert Fleetwood, Renest Race and Robert Main of Royal Oak, Richard Noble of Novi and Virgil Dellar of Lapeer. Courses covered specific applications to traffic law enforcement techniques and problems.

The program was conducted by the MSU School of Police Administration and Public Safety, the Highway Traffic Safety Center and Continuing Education Service in cooperation with the Michigan State police, Michigan Sheriffs Association, Michigan Department of Public Instruction, Michigan Municipal League and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Keego Women to Judge Trimmings

KEEGO HARBOR — The Keego Harbor Business and Professional Women's Club is sponsoring the annual home yule decoration contest. The contest committee will make a tour of the city Sunday evening.

Waterford OKs Rezoning Plan

When the Waterford Township Board met last night members voted to rezone five acres on Watkins Lake and Scott Lake roads from residential to commercial.

Several residents were present to protest the change. However, the owner of the property, Joseph Scarlotti, had presented petitions with 78 signatures of persons living in the area who approved of the change.

Scarlotti told the group that he had been approached by two Detroit doctors who want to build a clinic on the property.

Another group of residents was present to discuss the blacktopping of Lansdowne avenue from Hatchery road to Williams Lake road on a special assessment basis. No board action was taken.

★ ★ ★

The board agreed hot to hike the fee for electrical permits and licenses this year, as was requested by the electrical board.

NAMES SUBMITTED

Three names were submitted for consideration to serve as an electrical contractor on the electrical board. They were Lloyd Gidley, Glen Rogers and Waldron Keasey. One will be chosen at next week's board meeting.

★ ★ ★

City Studies Plans, Rates on Area Sewage Service

Whether Pontiac can become a "core city" to serve fringe areas with sewer services, depends heavily on whether the city builds a second treatment plant, City Manager Walter K. Willman said Monday.

He also predicted a dent in the City's unwritten rule that a fringe area must first be annexed to the city before municipal services would be provided.

"The time has passed when you can build a fence around a city and say you can't have it until you join us," Willman remarked.

A recent survey by the consulting engineer firm of Jones, Henry & Williams of Toledo showed that the city could handle an additional three million gallons of sewage daily if the second plant was constructed.

The State Water Resources Commission is expected to tell city officials next year whether tests of the Clinton River prove this plant to be necessary.

Officials here are presently undertaking a study on sewage rate schedules to determine charges if this additional service were provided.

★ ★ ★

They are also examining proposed new contracts with Waterford Township and Sylvan Lake, the only two rfinge areas receiving sewer services now.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL J. AUDET

Chamber Members Elect 5 as Directors

Five men today were elected to a 1958-1960 term on the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Eastridge was re-elected to another term on the board, while the other four men were elected for the first term. It begins Jan. 1 of next year and concludes Dec. 31, 1960.

The men were chosen from among 12 selected by the nominating committee. John W. Hirlinger, Chamber manager, said 617 ballots were returned by members from among 1,100 sent out.

Hare Suggests Gift for Dad: '58 License Tags

"Perhaps," he said, "this is a good time for some member of the family to buy dad something they know he will need — a set of 1958 automobile license plates."

The new plates became available Nov. 1 but only 161,886 sets were sold during the first three weeks as compared with 259,361 sets durthe same period of 1956.

"Inasmuch as the state is in great need of this revenue and the branch offices are not crowded at this time, I would like to urge Michigan car owners to purchase their plates during the next few weeks," Hare said.

Southfield Woman Injured in Accident

HUNTINGTON WOODS — Mrs. Pauline Peterson, 55, of 24201 Garner Rd., Southfield, is in serious condition in William Beaumont Hospital from injuries received last night when the car in which she was riding with her husband Maurice, was sideswiped by another auto on ten Mile and Scotia.

Robert Glicksman, 32, of 13695 Kenwood, Oak Park, told Huntington Woods Police he was going east on Ten-Mile, slowed down at the intersection and swerved into Peterson's car on the slippery pavement.

Cohen Is Acquitted of Disturbing Peace

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Cohen, pudgy ex-gambler turned florist, was acquitted yesterday of disturbing the peace of Police Chief C. H. Anderson.

During the four-day trial defense attorney A. L. Wirin argued that Cohen's anger at police was justified after he was arrested for failing to register as an ex-convict.

★ ★ ★

Wirin said the four-letter words Cohen shouted at Anderson and some aides — including a policewoman — no longer can be considered obscene because they can be found in leading magazines and novels.

★ ★ ★

Wirin said he will ask dismissal of a charge of failing to register as an ex-convict against Cohen in view of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision yesterday outlawing a similar ordinance in Los Angeles.

Youth Devises Own Key to Flee Battle Creek Jail

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — An ingenious 19-year-old prisoner fashioned a cell key from fiberboard and a metal bed spring and escaped last night from the Battle Creek City Jail.

Lt. Clifford Graw said the fugitive, George Myers of Battle Creek, sneaked out of the jail unseen by the police radio dispatcher between 5 p.m. and 6:40 p.m. when the escape was discovered.

Graw said Myers went to his home where he packed a suitcase of clothes and then fled.

Myers, on parole from the Ionia Reformatory, was being held for investigation of burglary.

Graw said he made the key from fiberboard that had been placed over a broken cellblock window. He used the metal from a bed spring to give the homemade key strength.

CAME TO VISIT

Graw said the escape was discovered when Myers' mother, Mrs. Gladys Abbott of Battle Creek, came to visit him at the jail. He was in the jail at the 5 o'clock check, Graw said.

★ ★ ★

Graw said the cellblock Myers escaped from is about 12 feet from the police radio dispatcher's desk. The desk is situated, however, so the dispatcher cannot see the cellblock door. Graw theorized Myers opened the cellblock door and then sneaked out through the jail garage.

Seven other prisoners in the block said they knew nothing of the escape.

Mrs. Abbott told dectectives who went to the home after the escape that her son had "just left." She said he had packed some shirts and a trench coat before fleeing.

8 Major Revisions in SS Considered

By RAY HENRY

Rep. Robert Kean (R-NJ) has some ideas if Congress is in a mood to make changes in the Social Security system next year.

As an influential member of the committee which starts most such changes on their way through Congress, he's in a good position to get his ideas considered.

Among other things, Kean would like to see Social Security payments raised and a raise in the Social Security tax to pay for them.

The time will be ripe next year for some changes if the past eight years are any basis for judging. Congress made major changes in the Social Security system in 1950, 1952, 1954 and 1956. Incidentally, those were all election years, as is 1958.

Shortly before Congress adjourned last summer, Kean put his ideas into an eight-point bill and introduced the bill in the House.

Here's what he asked:

—An increase in the amount of wages on which a person pays Social Security tax from $4,200 to $4,800 a year. In other words, a person with wages of at least $4,800 a year would now pay $108 a year in tax instead of the present $94.50. This additional tax would be used to provide the increases Kean suggests in Social Security payments.

—Raise the maximum Social Security payments for a retired worker from $108.50 to $118.50 a month and the maximum payments for a married couple from $162.80 to $177.85. The higher maximum payments would only go to workers or married couples if the worker had paid the new higher Social Security tax for some time. Thus, the change wouldn't affect anyone now collecting social security.

—Raise the maximum payments which widows of workers could collect from $81.40 to $94.80 a month. This would be done by allowing a widow to collect 80 per cent of the amount her husband would have collected had he lived, instead of the present 75 per cent. It would apply to widows now on Social Security rolls as well as to those who go on in the future.

—Allow the dependents of disabled persons collecting disability payments to also receive payments. Presently, such dependents receive no payments. The payments would amount to the same as those now collected by dependents of retired workers.

— Provide for higher retirement payments to persons who continue to work beyond 65. For each year a person works beyond 65 and doesn't collect Social Security, his eventual payments would be one per cent higher.

—Increase the maximum payments to the family of a deceased person from $200 to $296.25 a month. The main change here would involve the payment of additional money to a widow with three children. Presently, no additional money is paid for children if there are more than two. The change would apply to persons now collecting Social Security.

—Bring physicians under the Social Security law; consider the money received in tips as wages in determining both tax and Social Security payments and okay the use of Social Security money to help rehabilitate disabled persons collecting disability payments.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Hal Boyle Says:

Rich Widow Seeks to Build 'Perfect Hotel'

"I'm afraid one is about as difficult as the other," said Mrs. Sharp, the only woman in the United States who owns and operates a hotel chain.

She writes poetry and paints to relieve the tension of running her eight - million-dollar-a-year enterprise. She learned the business from her late husband, Jesse Sharp, a financier who died in 1941.

Mrs. Sharp has had a financial interest in 22 hotels. But she has no ambition to become another Conrad Hilton. She has cut her string to four in order to concentrate on her goal—the building of a group of luxurious hotels catering only to the carriage trade.

"That's what really interests me," she said. "There is a real need for luxury hotels in America. What's the use of having a booming economy if you can't live well and travel well?"

Her two hotels in New York City, one in Saranac, N. Y. and one in Beverly Hills, Calif., she values at 23 million dollars. She hopes to add three more hotels in the next few years.

An attractive woman with blue eyes and reddish brown hair, Mrs. Sharp can call most of her 1,000 employes by their first name, is minutely familiar with every detail of her hotels. She did the interior decorating herself, often suggests new dishes for the menu. She has added such little personal touches as having free perfume and a copy of Fortune magazine in the rooms. In a bar she has hung one of her favorite paintings, "Women Listening to Music" by Joan Miro, a Spanish artist. It is valued at $25,000.

Nodding at the lady, she said to one of her staff: "Gus, she looks sad today. Send some fresh - cut flowers to her room so they'll be there when she returns. Make them pink and white. I think she'd like those colors best."

Although Mrs. Sharp is briskly efficient she has none of the brusqueness that afflicts some career women.

"Don't take every small misfortune to heart, or brood if something goes wrong now and then.

"Lead a good life—so you've got the strength to do your work. If you're tired, you're whipped.

"Say what you think to people without mincing words. Be clear. Then you can get things done without rehashing them over and over. I rarely write memos, and if I do I keep them to two or three lines.

"If you have a decision to make, think it through clearly, then act promptly. Don't be afraid to burn your bridges behind you."

Mrs. Sharp is a patron of a literary magazine, and here she has met with a mild frustration.

"In spite of the fact I help sponsor the magazine," she said smiling, "they've never accepted one of my own poems for publication. But I'm going to keep on trying."

Cranberries are said to be native to North America.

Junior Editors Quiz on Christmas

CUT AROUND EACH FIGURE. FOLD FORWARD ON DOTTED LINES.

QUESTION: Why is the donkey considered a favored animal in the Bible?

ANSWER: According to ancient tradition, only two animals were present in the stable when Christ was born at Bethlehem.

They were the donkey and the ox. Later the lamb, the dove, horses, cows and camels were added to replicas of the Nativity scene. But the lowly donkey remained a favorite. Not only was the donkey present when Christ was born, but a donkey carried Him into Jerusalem for His one triumphant procession before His death on the cross. For this reason, the donkey is considered a favored animal in the Bible and has been celebrated in poems and stories.

FOR YOU TO DO: This is the second group of figures for your Christmas crib. Cut out, color and save until you have a complete Nativity scene. Tomorrow more figures will be added. If you missed yesterday's opening scene, which contained the stable and some shepherd boys, try to get hold of a copy of yesterday's paper. By saving all the figures in this series, you will be able to asemble a complete Christmas crib at the end of the week. It will make a handsome decoration for beneath your Christmas tree or atop your dresser or bookcase. (Tomorrow: The star in the East.)

Thanks to the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) schools like Hillsdale and Kansas State Teachers of Pittsburgh, Kas., are getting the opportunity to share some of the limelight of the bowl period.

The two teams, considered the best among U. S. small colleges, will tangle Saturday afternoon in the "Holiday Bowl" in St. Petersburg, Fla., and it will come into your living rooms via television at 1:30 p. m.

Here are two small schools which have earned and are getting the recognition they deserve, something for which the NCAA never provided.

It may not be the Rose Bowl or Sugar Bowl, but for the boys in this game it means as much as Pasadena or New Orleans, and we in the Pontiac area can be proud of the many of our local products who will be seen nationally Saturday afternoon.

Pontiac's Walt Poe, Waterford's Jim Larkin, Keego Harbor's O'Shaughnessy brothers, Earl and Wayne, Walled Lake's Jerry Taylor, and Imlay City's Doug Maison will all take starting positions with the Dales.

They will bring national recognition to this area Saturday.

THE BIRDIE SEZ——

A little bird paid us a visit the other day and asked why, we don't get brave and try to pick the winners of the top area prep basketball games each week.

Since our feathered friend was so bold, we decided to let him predict the winners and this is what the birdie sez for the top games tonight.

Clarkston over Waterford; Rochester over Avondale; St. Mike over Annunciation; Ferndale over Berkley; Southfield over Birmingham; Troy over Oxford; St. Ben over St. Mary.

With the advent of the second high school in Pontiac, the designation PHS will be found no more. From now on the style found in the Press will be PCH (Pontiac Central High) and PNH (Pontiac Northern High).

We didn't plan on taking a poll when we mentioned a city-wide contest for a nickname for the new high school athletic teams, but several suggestions did come through the mail.

It seems the suggesting parties want to stay sentimentally close to the Chiefs so they've come up with, the Braves, the Indians and the Warriors.

Flint Central (4-0) Is Next for Pontiac (2-0)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A battle of the unbeatens as well as some of the top scorers in the Saginaw Valley Conference will take place when Pontiac travels to Flint Central for a crucial basketball encounter Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The Indians of Flint Central under coach Joe Dowdy have nine lettermen back, including guard Felix Miller a 6-foot sharpshooter who is currently the SVC leader in total points with 75 in four games.

Flint Central has swept past four opponents, 53-43 over Bay City Handy, 63-33 over Lansing Eastern, 54-53 over Lansing Sexton and an 83-41 romp over Bay City Central last Friday.

Pontiac's Hudson Ray is third in scoring average with 18.5 in two games and Reggie Gillard of Flint Northern is next with 18.0.

In the top 20 scorers' list, Flint Central has three other players, including John Kirk, Chuck Hyslop and Keith Richardson.

The Chiefs also have three beside Ray in the top 20 with Jim Skinner hitting 14.5, Charley Barge at 11 points and Dick Whitmer at 10 per game.

This will be Pontiac's last game for 1957. The Chiefs will be idle until January 7th when they play host to Edsel Ford.

The Chiefs were guilty of sluggish floor play against Arthur Hill last week and will have to improve in this aspect against Flint Central, which is probably the fastest overall team in the league.

Wings, Hawks Swap Eight

Reibel, Ferguson, Dea, Dineen on Way to Chicago Squad

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks swapped eight players today in hopes of bolstering the sagging fortunes of the two National Hockey League clubs.

Fifth-place Detroit gave up veteran center Dutch Reibel, right wings Lorne Ferguson and Bill Dineen and left wing Bill Dea.

Detroit sought Mickoski and Bailey as two proven defensive forwards, who formed two-thirds of Chicago's checking line. Key player so far as the Black Hawks were concerned was Reibel, a five-year NHL center.

The Red Wings and Black Hawks got off the NHL's major trade of the year before the season started, with Detroit sending star forward Ted Lindsay and Goalie Glenn Hall to Chicago for Forbes Kennedy, Johnnie Wilson, a spare goalie Hank Bassen and an amateur defenseman Mike Preston.

Lions Head for NFL Showdown

Detroiters Not in Best Shape for Vital Scrap

Wilson Says Ane Most Doubtful in Casualty List of 6 Players

The Lions will be quartered in Palo Alto until Saturday when they move to San Francisco. While on the Coast Detroit will drill in Stanford University Stadium.

The Lions won't be in top shape for the vital game. Besides star quarterback Bobby Layne, who is out with a broken ankle, the Lions currently have six men on the injury list.

There appeared some hope, however, that Gene Gedman, who sat out the 21-13 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday, might be available for the playoff. Dr. Richard A. Thompson, team physician, removed the shoulder harness Gedman has been wearing and said that the back would start exercising the injured shoulder. Thompson said he thought Gene would be able to take part in at least some of the game.

Biggest worry is over Charley Ane. The burly offensive tackle injured a knee against Chicago and has been having trouble walking.

Jimmy David, who missed the 2nd half of Sunday's game, also is a doubtful starter. He has a sprained ankle. Other casualties from the Bear encounter include Frank Gatski, who injured an ankle; John Henry Johnson, who pulled a hamstring muscle, and Jack Christiansen, who injured a wrist.

"I hope all of them will be available for the game," said coach George Wilson, "Ane is perhaps the most doubtful right now."

Tobin Rote, who filled in brilliantly for Layne, also was getting treatment for a neck injury. He was hurt while running for a 1st down in the Lions' final touchdown drive against Chicago.

According to the rule book there'll be no tie game Sunday. If the teams are deadlocked at the end of regulation play, they'll continue a sudden death overtime. The first team to score by any means — touchdown, field goal or safety — will be the winner.

In the event of a tie in regulation time, the referee will toss a coin and the captains of the two teams will choose to receive or kick as at the start of the game.

There will be the usual two minutes rest period between regular 15-minute quarters.

The sudden death playoff, incidentally, has never been used since it was put on the books several years ago.

Johnson Among NFL Leaders

Brown Is Top Gainer

The former Syracuse star gained 942 yards on 202 attempts for a 4.7-yard average and in rolling up 237 yards in a single game set a new league mark for the most yards in one contest, league statistics showed today.

Brown's nearest rival, the Chicago Bears' Rick Casares, defending champion, earned 700 yards on 204 tries for a 3.4 average. Rookie Don Bosseler, of Washington, was third with 673 yards. John Johnson, of Detroit, ended the season with 621 and Tommy Wilson of Los Angeles had 616.

Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals, in 6th place with 588 yards, will have a chance to advance into the top five Sunday when the Cardinals face the Pittsburgh Steelers in the final game of the regular season.

Cleveland's Tommy O'Connell is far out in front in passing and can be regarded as the champion. His average gain of 11.7 yards is 2.14 better than that of Eddie LeBaron of Washington. John Unitas of Baltimore is third with 8.47 and Lamar McHan of the Chicago Cardinals is fourth with 8.09.

Of 110 passes thrown, O'Connell completed 63 for 1,229 yards, including eight touchdown passes. LeBaron, who attempted 167, completed 99 for 1,508 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Unitas threw the most touchdown passes, 24. He also tossed the most passes, 301, and gained the most yardage with 2,550.

In defending his title as the league's top receiver, Billy Wilson of San Francisco has a 52-47 edge over Baltimore's Ray Berry. But Pittsburgh's Jack McClairen, 3rd with 44, may move up in the game with the Cardinals next week.

Lou Groza of Cleveland and Sam Baker of Washington tied for scoring honors. Each finished with 77 points.

Bert Zager's has a 15.5 average leads in punt returns. He also owns the season's longest punt return of 76 yards.

Milt Davis, Baltimore, and Jack Christiansen, are tied for 3rd place in pass interceptions with 10 each.

Doesn't Bother Engle

East in Favorite's Spot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Head Coach Rip Engle doesn't seem the least perturbed that his East squad has been installed as the favorite for the East-West game here Dec. 28.

"We think we have a real fine squad," he says. "How well they jell depends on how good they are."

Today the East and the West players visit the Shrine hospital for crippled children here, the recipient of the proceeds from this charity game which this year stages its 33rd renewal.

Then they open two-a-day practice with the West at Stanford and the East at Santa Clara. Both Engle and the West's head coach, Jack Curtice, have declared the practice sessions open to the public.

Four All-America performers are included on the East squad—end Jim Phillips of Auburn, tackles Alex Karras of Iowa and Lou Michaels of Kentucky and halfback Jim Pace of Michigan.

Yardley Keeps Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Pettit gained points but lost ground to George Yardley in the National Basketball Assn. individual scoring race last week.

Pettit scored 137 points in five games for the St. Louis Hawks for a 26-game total of 679, enough to trail Yardley by only seven after lagging by 59 a week ago. Trouble (For Pettit) is, Yardley's 686 total has been bagged in only 24 games with the Detroit Pistons, including an 85-point showing in a pair last week.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, Michigan State coach who will direct the North squad in its Christmas night Orange Bowl game with a Southern all-star eleven, arrived here yesterdayy.

"This squad is as good if not better than the club I coached last year," Daugherty said. "It has more overall speed."

Daugherty said he would handle offense and Ray Eliot, head coach at Illinois, would prep the North squad's defense. The South squad's mentors are due in Miami today and practice will start at once.

Coach Rates Sparrow Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Vince Boryla of the New York Knicks today picked his own Guy Sparrow and Woody Sauldsberry of the Philadelphia Warriors as the best of what he called a poor bunch of first year players in the National Basketball Assn.

★ ★ ★

"Last year's collegiate crop probably was one of the leanest of all time," said Boryla whose Knicks play the champion Boston Celtics tonight in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader. "A poor bunch."

"Oustide of Sparrow and Sauldsberry, the rest of the rookies are as inconsistant as the weather.

"I don't know why. Maybe because the spread between pro ball and the college game is growing greater. The pros are improving as they go along. They have reached a point where a new kid needs a year of pro experience before he can make good. Take Richie Guerin for example."

Guerin, an Iowa College graduate, averaged 9.7 points a game for the Knicks in his rookie season. He is scoring at a 17-points-a-game clip this year, his second in the league.

Sparrow, who was paralyzed for eight years as a youngster, is scoring about 10 points a game for the Knicks. He joined the team this year after two years in the Marines. He played for Detroit University.

Sauldsberry, though in his first year in the NBA, previously played professional basketball for the fancy Harlem Globetrotters. He has been averaging 11 points a game for the Warriors. The 6-7 Los Angeles native played collegiate ball at Texas Southern.

Boryla, whose Knicks have a 12-13 third-place record in the NBAs eastern division, agreed this year's rookies are no match for the 1956-57 collection. Among last year's rookies were Bill Russell, Tom Heinsohn and Lou Tsioropoulos of the Celtics; Cliff Hagan of St. Louis; Bob Leonard of Minneapolis; Willie Naulls and Ron Sobie of the Knicks; Al Bianchi of Syracuse; and Dave Piontek of Cincinnati.

Lions, 49er Contest Sellout for Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kezar Stadium just isn't big enough. At least it's not big enough when the San Francisco 49ers are winning.

The 49ers clash with the Detroit Lions for the Western Division title playoff in the National Football League Sunday and all the reserved tickets were sold almost before the mud settled from the 49ers' victory over Green Bay.

The line began forming outside the 49ers box office Sunday evening. In four hours yesterday morning, some 30,000 reserved tickets were gone—and there was still a restless line.

So 49er officials passed out certificates entitling the fans to buy the 4,800 general admission tickets that normally go on sale Saturday or Sunday.

Flam Lost to Cup Team

MELBOURNE (AP)—Captain Bill Talbert began trying to mend the shaken morale of his U. S. Davis Cup team today after loss of the team's No. 2 singles player, Herbie Flam.

The ailing retriever from Beverly Hills, Calif., was benched in a midnight deadline decision and Talbert named Vic Seixas, Gardnar Mulloy, and two youngsters—Barry MacKay and Ron Holmberg—to the squad slated to face the Australians in the challenge round Dec. 26-28.

Flam was omitted at the suggestion of a doctor who said Herbie's nervous condition and worry over form made it necessary that he drop bigtime competitive tennis for a while.

"We naturally are upset at losing the services of Flam," Talbert said, "and we know Herbie himself is deeply hurt at this development because of the long trip he made to play Davis Cup tennis.

"But we are not discouraged. No matter how dark things appear at the moment, I still feel we have a good chance of beating the Australians."

William Negley, the Texan, downed two elephants, using equipment made in Michigan. Frank Scott, former National Field Archery Assn. representative, will be the speaker. A carp fishing picture (with bows) will also be shown.

A business session is set for 8 p.m. preceding the program.

FAMILY HUDDLE — Coach Bob Mineweaser (right) gives his only St. Michael High letterman a few pointers for tonight's opening basketball game of the current season for the Shamrocks. The listener is also Bob Mineweaser, son of the coach who will lead the Shamrocks against Detroit Annunciation tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Pontiac Central High gymnasium.

1st Test for St. Michael

Coach Bob Mineweaser, mentor of the north side parochials, said this morning he had about made up his mind on the starters for tonight's season opener at PCH (Pontiac Central High). The Shamrocks get their first test against Annunciation of Detroit. The Detroiters also named a probable starting lineup. Reserve game starts at 7, varsity tilt at 8:15 p.m.

"Well," said Mineweaser, "I guess our starters will be George Drake and Bob Mineweaser at forwards, Michael O'Connell at center and Pat Campbell and Art Robak at the guards. We'll probably make a number of changes as we go along."

Annunciation, a two-time loser so far (to St. Rita 46-39 and G.Pte St. Paul 76-31) will field a starting five composed of three seniors and two sophomores; Mike Passalhu and Mike Fusco at forwards; William Duchene at center; Marshall Dyke and Francis Taubitz at the guards. Replacements will include Tim Burke, Robert Koss, Richard Shanley, Jerry Byrne and Gerald Horan.

St. Michael meets Ferndale St. James in the start of Catholic League play, Friday, at Ferndale, then lays off competition until the Jan. 10 loop tilt with St. Rita's.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Would you like to be a star bowler? Most of you would like to, I know, but do you realize the price you must pay to be able to keep that average up over 200 under all sorts of conditions and tournament pressure?

First, you should bowl at least five days a week. Six or seven days is more like it.

Second, you must roll from six to 10 games each day plus special practice on individual spares and splits.

Third, you should read and study everything you can on bowling and bowlers.

Fifth, you must keep yourself in good physical condition. You can't let things slide for a few weeks or you'll pay for it in low scores.

Sixth, you must experiment until you have a good strike ball.

Seventh, you must work until you master control and consistency.

Eighth, you must get "hot" in the ABC, the All-Star or one of the other national tournaments to establish your reputation.

With all these points on your side, your delivery form will look something like we show today — perfect timing, footwork and armswing.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns today announced the signing of a contract with quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State, whom they selected in the fourth round of the recent National Football League draft.

Ninowski, 22, stands 6 feet 1 and weighs 195 pounds. His home is in Detroit, where he was a football star at Pershing High School.

He is scheduled to play in the Blue-Gray football game in Montgomery, Ala., and the Senior Bowl game at Mobile, Ala.

They will attend the light heavyweight bout between Yolande Pompey of Trinidad and Clarence Hinnant.

Both fighters are expected to confer with Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, Inc.

Baseball Officials Fight New TV Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The decision of the Columbia Broadcasting System to telecast a Sunday major league game-of-the-week next season brought bitter comment today from baseball officials.

Said Commissioner Ford Frick: "It's a bad thing for baseball and I'm sorry some of our clubs are going in for it.

"I'm hoping that Congress will provide legislation that will take us out of the hands of the Justice Department and give us the right to regulate such telecasts."

Frank (Shag) Shaughnessey, 74-year-old chairman of the Minor Leagues' committee to block the telecasts, blasted CBS' plan to black out areas where minor league teams are playing home games as "just a cover."

"They know as wel as we do that the blackout can cover only a certain area," he said.

Shantz Wins Earned-Run Title

Comeback Ace Had 2.45 Mark With Yankees

Bunning 3rd in E.R.A. and Tops in Innings Pitched

NEW YORK (INS) — Little Bobby Santz, already voted the American League's "comeback man" of the year, showed why today when he was officially name the league's 1957 earned-run-average king.

The 32-year-old southpaw, who had a 2-and-7 won-lost record and a 4.37 E.R.A. with Kansas City in 1956, led the league with a splendid 2.45 E.R.A. in 1957 that complemented an 11-and-5 record.

The 5-foot-6 hurler edged out his New York Yankee teammate, Tom Sturdivant, who compiled a 2.54 E.R.A. Detroit's Jim Bunning, one of the league's two 20-game winners, was third with 2.70 and another Yankee, Bob Turley, was next with 2.71.

The Yankee domination of the individual statistics was reflected in the team figures where the Bronx Bombers walked off with the top team E.R.A. in the circuit, an even 3.00.

* * *

Both the individual and team performances were big improvements over 1956. Cleveland led that year with 3.32 while Whitey Ford of the Yankees das the E.R.A king with 2.47. In addition, the league's overall 1957 figure of 3.79 was under the 4.16 circuit mark of the previous year.

Sturdivant and Chicago's Dick records, had the best won-and lost percentage in the league, .727. Donovan, with a 2.77 e.r.a. was sixth in that department, be hind Boston's Frank Sullivan, who had 2.73.

Bunning reached the chrmed circle with a 20-and-8 record while Chicago's Billy Pierce made it with 20-and-12. In 1956, six A.L. hurlers won 20 or more.

* * *

Bunning was the workhorse of th league, appearing in 267 innings. Early Wynn, recently traded to the White Sox, kept the strikeout title in Ceeveland by fanning 184 batters. Wynn also faced the most batters, 1,019, allowed the most hits, 270, and started the most games, 37.

Baltimore's relief ace, George Zuverink, appeared in the most games, 56, while Pierce and Donovan tied for pitching the most complete contests, 16.

Washington southpaw Chuck Stobbs lost the most games, 20. Pedro Ramos, gave up the most homers, 43, a new league mark. Stobbs also surrendered the most runs, 140.

Ray Moore of Baltimore, also a new member of the White Sox, gave up the most walks, 112, and Cleveland's Cal McLish threw the most wild pitches, eight. Detroit's Frank Lary hit the most batters, 12.

The White Sox staff had the most shutouts, 14, and Jim Wilson of the Go-Sox tossed the most whitewashes, five. Bob Keegan, als of Chicago, threw the only no-hitter of the season. Donovan pitched two one-hitters.

Clarkston, Avon Face Rugged Foes

Risk Unbeaten Marks

* * * * * * * * *

Basketball teams from Waterford and Rochester high schools are presented with identical opportunities tonight, but only the latter is expected to meet the challenge.

Both are clashing with undefeated foes. Waterford invades the den of the Clarkston Wolves, unbeaten in three starts, and Rochester entertains Avondale, holder of a 2-0 record.

These two contests headline tonight's 21 - game prep schedule around the Oakland County area, which also includes such standout attractions as Southfield at Birmingham, Berkley at Ferndale and Orchard Lake St. Mary at Highland Park St. Benedict.

Clarkston, a veteran quintet which shared the Wayne-Oakland Conference title with Northville last season, has raced to successive triumphs over Ortonville, Brighten and Bloomfield Hills.

The Skippers, paced by a 30-point scoring spree by John Herrington, trounced Cranbrook in their opening game. Last Friday night Herrington was limited to 10 as the Skippers dropped their Inter-Lakes Conference opener to Farmington.

Avondale has picked up victories over Oxford and Clawson, but takes an underdog role against the rugged Falcons, who have lost only once in four outings.

Spearheaded by diminutive Carl (Peanuts) Montross, Rochester has defeated Romeo, Milford and Davison while bowing to Utica. Rangy been a vital factor in Rochester success to date.

Ferndale, sparked by flashy Earl McNeal, is favored to down Inter-Lakes power Berkley, Birmingham, with a 1-1 record, gets the nod over sputtering Southfield, which has lost three times in four starts.

Orchard Lake St. Mary is also the underdog in its crucial Suburban Catholic League game with St. Benedict. The Eaglets are considered St. Ben's strongest competitor for the SCL title. The Ravens, headed by sharp-shooting Larry Gacki, are trying for their 2nd straight loop crown and are always tough at home.

Southern Thumb League games tonight are Armada at Dryden, New Haven at Capac and Memphis at Almont. Other featured contests are Lapeer at Flint Kearsley, Warren at Clawson, Troy at Oxford, Madison at Royal Oak St. Mary, Bloomfield Hills at Oak Park and Utica St. Lawrence at Lamphere.

CLASSY CAGER— Guard Earl McNeal of Ferndale, named to The Pontiac Press All-Oakland County basketball team last season, spells trouble with a capital T for Berkley tonight when the Bears collide with Ferndale on the Ferndale court.

Auburn, Boys Club Cagers Win Opening 'D' Contests

Auburn 5 & 10 and Pontiac Boys Club chalked up victories last night at Lincoln Junior High School as Class D teams joined the 1957-58 City League basketball program. Columbus White missed a free throw after the clock ran out to prevent a tie as Auburn 5 & 10 squeaked by Whiter's Electric, 38-37. Chuck Johnson paced the winners with 15 points and Jim Patterson netted 11 for Whiter's.

Gene Gidcumbe scored 18 points to lead the Boys Club to a 51-17 rout of the Rockets in the other scheduled Class D game.

Dissolution Idea Brings Protest

SEATTLE (AP)—Presidents of four of the northern division schools disagree with the recommendation of Dr. Henry Schmitz, President of the University of Washington, that there be "an early dissolution of the Pacific Coast Conference."

* * *

Dr. Schmitz made the recommendation yesterday in an interview with Mike Donohoe of the Seattle Post - Intelligencer. Dr. Schmitz said the decision last week of the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Southern California and California to withdraw had made "an already confused situation chaotic."

* * *

He said in view of this the University of Washington "believes the only practical solution is an early dissolution" of the PCC.

Wayne Cagers Bow to Washington U.

DETROIT (AP) — Washington University of St. Louis held off a second half rally by Wayne University last night and edged the Tartars 58-57 in a non-conference baseketball game.

Tourney Winners Gain in Cage Poll

Comiskey Fight Resumes Today in Court Case

Brother and Sister Battling Over Stock in White Sox

CHICAGO (INS) — Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney yesterday rejected the demands of her brother, Charles Comiskey II, that he be allowed to acquire more shares of stock in the Chicago White Sox baseball club. The Comiskey family owns the American League team.

In the latest phase of the squabble between sister and brother, Mrs. Rigney filed a seven-page answer to Comiskey's recent petition in Probate Court. Her reply denied Comiskey's requests:

That she turn over to him the 1,781 shares of stock in the club left him by his mother, the late Mrs. Grace Comiskey; that Comiskey be given a proxy to vote his stock in Thursday's annual meeting of stockholders; and that if the first two requests are denied, the court issue an order enjoining the estate so that none of the stock can be voted.

Cincy Bearcats Rush to Fourth From Way Down

MSU in Top 10 List, With Tar Heels Still No. 1 Quintet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A couple of last week's basketball tournament winners registered big gains in the national college rankings as the big boys of the short pants set turned towards other tournaments during the coming week.

The Cincinnati Bearcats, who whipped Temple and also won their own invitational tournament, found themselves voted into 4th place in the 2nd weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters after having barely made the top 20 a week ago.

Mississippi State which knocked off Memphis State and then won the Birmingham classic Tournament, mustered enough points in the voting to appear among the second ten teams although the Maroons hadn't been mentioned before as a ranking team.

Conversely some of last week's losers, notably Bradley, St. Louis and Temple, lost considerable esteem in the eyes of the experts as they lost their first games of the young season. Balloting is based on results through last Saturday and points are awarded on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc.

North Carolina's Tar Heels, 1956-57 National collegiate champions, remained on top of the heap as they ran their victory string to 36 by winning three games last week. They run into stronger competition in the University of Kentucky Invitation Tournament this weekend.

Behind North Carolina come Kansas, Kansas State and Cincinnati, with Kentucky, upset by Maryland last Tuesday, dropping to 5th place. Maryland, San Francisco, West Virginia, Michigan State and Minnesota complete the top ten. Missing from last week's list are Bradley, which dropped to 11th place after losing to Seattle, and St. Louis and Temple, which dropped clear out of sight from 9th to 16th places.

North Carolina was a rather overwhelming choice for first place, drawing 63 of 116 votes for the top spot. Kansas was first on only 21 ballots but scored heavily with second-place votes. The outcome thus, was fairly close with North Carolina receiving 1,081 points; Kansas 939 and Kansas State 642.

The leaders with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday in parentheses)

1.	North Carolina (63) (4-0)	1,081
2.	Kansas (21) (5-0)	939
3.	Kansas State (6) (4-0)	642
4.	Cincinnati (12) (4-0)	499
5.	Kentucky (3) (4-1)	447
6.	Maryland (1) (4-0)	383
7.	San Francisco (4) (3-0)	272

MARATHON PIN RECORD — Tom Kelley, 29, who laid claim to a new world record for consecutive bowling games, after rolling 428 games in 60 hours and 27 minutes at Lancaster, Pa. is shown above. The ABC said the unofficial record was 425 games. Kelley is shown in action and when he thought he had broken the mark at 387 games, he then went on to hit the higher total.

Fast Answer for Brooks

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers' quest for a stadium to play their baseball games next season moves into an open hearing today before this city's board of directors.

The seven-man board has promised Dodger President Walter O'Malley a quick "yes" or "no" on whether Pasadena is interested in having the former Brooklyn club play in the famed 100,000-seat Rose Bowl.

O'Malley made a pitch for the Rose Bowl last Wednesday after negotiations for Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum stalemated.

He had hoped to have his dream stadium built in Chavez Ravine by the 1959 season, but his land deal with Los Angeles must be submitted to the voters on a referendum.

SMU Upsets Kentucky, Illini Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's getting so North Carolina can knock off challengers even when the Tar Heels, topped ranked again in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll, aren't playing.

That's as good an explanation as any for Kentucky's 65-64 upset by Southern Methodist last night. Chances are the Wildcats, rated No. 5, were looking ahead to their weekend tournament and a chance for a crack at North Carolina's 36-game winning string.

First thing they knew, SMU was out front and stayed there until early in the second half when Kentucky took over at 49-46. The Mustangs had the scent by then, however, and tied it 53-53 with lanky Rick Herrscher, high point man with 22, and Max Williams doing the scoring.

SMU went ahead to stay with a little less than 4½ minutes left, on a hook shot by soph Kim Nash and a free throw by Williams, then stalled it out.

It was the second defeat in six starts for the Wildcats, who are paired against West Virginia, while North Carolina plays Minnesota, in Friday's first round of the Kentucky Invitational.

Rice, picked as a likely successor to SMU as the Southwest Conference champ, played its first game away from home last night and took its first defeat, 67-62 at Wisconsin.

* * *

About the only other surprise was Wichita's 81-78 decision over Iowa.

Kansas State, ranked No. 3, whipped Arkansas 63-48, San Francisco defeated Southern California 71-56, and Illinois smacked Colorado 64-46.

Nebraska hit half its 44 shots from the field, but needed 24 free throws to defeat Denver 68-63. Western Kentucky chopped up Hardin-Simmons' zone defense and took an easy 92-60 decision with Ralph Crosthwaite scoring 29. Memphis State controlled the boards and beat The Citadel 70-63. Unbeaton Dartmouth won its sixth, 81-54 over Colby. St. Mary's of California, after losing five in a row, knocked off previously unbeaten Evansville, Ind., three times coming from 10 points back to win 70-68 in overtime.

Frick Says New York Open for 2nd Team

NEW YORK (INS) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says New York's baseball committee has three big problems to solve — getting a team, a franchise and an adequate place to play.

The Commissioner assured the committee yesterday that the New York territory is open at this time for a second major league team.

He also said that if the committee solves its three problems, then "the matter of open territory would not present any serious problem."

SHIRLEY RETURNS TO SHOW BUSINESS — Now a glamorous brunette of 29, Shirley Temple is fitted into a gown by Marie Johnson as she prepares to return to the show business in which she started as a cuddly blonde two-year-old. Next month she'll appear on NBC-TV as hostess of the Shirley Temple Storybook, hour-long presentations of fairy tales. She'll also act in four of the stories.

Guard Freedom, Adlai Urges

Says the Threat Today Is Vague Feeling That Survival Comes First

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States, says Adlai Stevenson, must guard freedom more than ever in the race to catch up with the Russians in technological superiority.

"In a headlong rush for national security we must not trample on freedom," Stevenson said in a speech yesterday. "The threat to freedom which I sense today is nothing very concrete. It is simply a vague, widely held feeling that perhaps we must choose between freedom and survival, and that obviously the choice must be survival."

He added: "No such choice confronts us. I say the choice is among various national policies to ensure national survival—and that as respects freedom we have no other choice at all but to maintain it more vigilantly and vigorously than ever."

★ ★ ★

Stevenson, who spoke before the American Civil Liberties Union, referred to the NATO meetings in Paris and outlined his goals for the United States: "First to catch up in the technological race; then, in order to help us export freedom around the world, to devise bold new programs to meet the rising wants of the poor in the house of the world. And always to stand guard on the Bill of Rights."

★ ★ ★

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate recently had served as an adviser to the Eisenhower administration on U.S. policy at the NATO meeting.

He said Sputnik has become "a symbol, not just of Russian power, but or own won heedlessness and shortcomings."

U.S. Returns Thug to Italy in Cuffs

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Giuseppe la Marca, onetime "Terror of North Sicily," came home today in handcuffs from the United States to pay the penalty for a postwar career of banditry and killing.

The 32-year-old desperado slipped out of Sicily in 1955 and entered the United States illegally. American immigration officials caught him Nov. 6 at Buffalo, N.Y. and returned him to Italy.

Italian police took him off the liner Augustus when it passed Capri at dawn, heading into Naples Harbor. He was taken by boat to Naples' fortress-like prison, Poggioreale.

He will be transferred to Palermo to start serving the sentences already imposed upon him in absentia. Police said he also probably would be tried for other crimes.

County Children's Home Opens Christmas Festivities

Holiday Show Success Calls for Encore

A variety show, presented last night by girls at the Oakland County Children's Home, was considered such a success that a repeat performance is in the offing.

Parents and persons affiliated with the county's jevenile court watched last night's show, an event which is becoming an annual part of Christmas observance at the children's home.

"The girls plan the whole program and prepare all the costumes themselves," said Mrs. Maxine Smith, girls' recreation director at the home. "They staged their first variety show last year, and are hoping to improve the production every year."

★ ★ ★

"One of the big reasons we are calling attention to it, is because the girls are dependent on outside help for costumes. If old clothes are donated, the girls can fix them up to use as costumes in the show. Regular costuming and dance shoes would be welcome gifts, also."

HOLIDAY PLANS

The variety show is just one part of Christmas time at the children's home. The building is cheerfully decorated these days with several Christmas trees and each child is making special plans for the holidays.

William O. Molton, superintendent at the home, said that all of the children will be able to spend Christmas day at family gatherings in private homes, thanks to a flood of invitations from sympathetic citizens.

Molton pointed out that the Christmas season is an ideal time for gifts to the home.

★ ★ ★

The children can always use more toys, sports equipment, accessories such as radios or record players, both new and used, Molton said.

GIVE TIME, SKILLS

The girls at the Franklin boulevard home, for instance, are hoping that someone will contribute a sewing machine to them.

"Not only can we use articles and gifts of money," Molton said, "we also can use time, the time of those persons who have skills or hobbies they could teach our youngsters the year round."

Molton said the home is looking for volunteers who could teach such crafts as leathercraft, metalwork, sewing, ceramics, model construction and other related activities.

★ ★ ★

"The children would love to learn these things if someone had the time to teach them. Volunteers who could help fill the youngsters' time profitably and constructively would be very welcome."

As Glamorous Brunette

Shirley Temple Returning to Show Business Field

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Temple, who started her career as a cuddly blonde 2-year-old, is returning to show business as a glamorous brunette of 29.

Starting Jan. 12, she'll appear on NBC television as hostess of the Shirley Temple storybook, hour-long presentations of fairy tales. She'll also act in three of the tales, marking her return to acting for the first time since 1949.

In addition, four of her childhood movies were released to TV this fall, displaying her ingenious artistry to a whole new generation. Mothers who once cherished their own Shirley Temple dolls can now buy them for their daughters.

"I've always loved business," she said. "I engineered the revival of the dolls myself. A lot of women wrote me that they got out their old Shirley Temple dolls to give to their daughters and found the dolls cracked and ruined."

She told the story of how she returned to the acting life.

Until recently, she had been content to remain Mrs. Charles Black of Atherton, Calif., wife of an executive of the Ampex electronics firm. She had a growing family—Linda Susan, 10, Charles Jr., 5½, and Lori, 3½.

She took an active part in social and charity activities of the small town south of San Francisco and occasionally did work in interior decorating.

She was constantly besieged with offers to return to acting, but turned them down because she didn't want to disrupt her family life. Then the fairy tale idea arose, and she went down to Hollywood to discuss it. The plan seemed feasible; she would need to come to Hollywood only a few days each month.

But the proposal had to pass thorough inspection.

"We have a family council when there are important matters to consider," she explained. "Each member of the family has a vote, and we take turns in being the moderator. Things can get a little disorganized when it's Lori's turn.

"But I was the moderator that time, and the family approved the whole idea."

Now she's shuttling back and forth from her home to Hollywood, making tests and having fittings. She reported she is even singing again, the first time since she was 10. Is she good?

"My mother and my children think so," she said.

Does this new activity mean a full-scale return to the realm in which she once ruled as queen when she was a youngster.

"I don't think so," she said. "They don't seem to be making movies or TV series in Atherton. And I don't think I could get the family council to pass a plan for me to come here for more than a few days."

AF Sergeant, Wife Show Up in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Air Force Sgt. David E. Dwyer Jr. and his wife, who disappeared last month from their home in Arlington, Va., showed up yesterday in Phoenix, where Dwyer surrendered to the FBI.

★ ★ ★

J. P. McMahon, agent in charge of the FBI office, said Dwyer told agents he "was AWOL and wanted to get this thing straightened out." Dwyer, reportedly accompanied to the FBI office by his wife Emily, 47, was turned over to air police at Williams Air Force Base near Chandler, Ariz.

In Washington, a Defense Department spokesman said Dwyer's disappearance "will be investigated in line with existing procedure before any decision on any possible action."

Dwyer, 43, and his wife vanished Nov. 24 after telling neighbors they were going to explore mountains near Luray, Va., and would return home the next night.

Plans to Drain Tank of Rusty Water

Due to a rusty water condition developing in the Elizabeth Lake Estates area, the Waterford Township Water Department will drain the elevated tank on Roslyn street at 9 p.m. tomorrow night.

It is believed that a change in the pressure has caused the disturbance in th system, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

A water main on Elizabeth Lake road broke yesterday, causing a heavy surge in the water lines in the Huron Gardens area. This also caused a rusty water condition and the water department flushed hydrants all last night in an effort to relieve the condition.

Waterford High Presents Annual Yule Concert

A concert will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Waterford Township high school by more than 130 high school pupils.

★ ★ ★

This is the eleventh annual Christmas concert to be given by the high school and will include the band, choir and a cappella ensembles.

Each group will present individual numbers, with the band, under the direction of Don Perrin, playing a compilation of Christmas carols.

The choir will sing "T'was the Night Before Christmas." Tenor soloist Richard Heltsley will be featured with the ensemble, singing "I Wonder As I Wander." Richard Meier directs the vocal groups.

★ ★ ★

Following the program there will be a mass community sing, which will include the traditional Christmas carols. The public has been invited to attend.

Hagerty Advises Ike on Public Addresses

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

James C. Hagerty's job is to tell the world what President Eisenhower says, but he also often tells Eisenhower what to say to the world.

★ ★ ★

Beside that, December is an ulcer month for Hagerty.

He first got his ulcers when toiling as press secretary for New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, twice unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate.

Now he drinks more than two quarts of milk daily and finds in June and December that he has a hard time keeping down any other food. His cigaret consumption is three or four packs a day, and he often needs a sleeping tablet to sleep at night.

Tension and temper, as well as competence, have been part of Hagerty's makeup since he was picked by Dewey from among other Albany correspondents.

In becoming White House news secretary he has found the job he wanted for his talents. His hoemly Irish features and Bronx brogue are familiar to millions of television viewers.

Hagerty has said of the man he works for, "many times, when I'm talking to the President, I'd swear I was talking to my father. They're both shy men." His father was senior political writer for the New York Times until 1954.

Jim Hagerty has acknowledged his unique position in government. He enjoys, as he put it, "much fuller participation" than perhaps any White House news secretary in history.

Menuhin's Encores Disturb Orchestra

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (UP) — Violinist Yehudi Menuhin is a man who believes in giving his audience what it demands. And when it demands an encore, that's what it gets—even if it does nettle the august New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

★ ★ ★

Menuhin, appearing as a soloist with the orchestra, has drawn some sour notes from the Philharmonic's management.

The orchestra has a sort of unwritten rule that no soloist shall give encores, no matter how great the audience demand.

There are several reasons. The orchestra has many brilliant guest artists but doesn't wish to have the program emphasis shifted from the orchestra itself to the individual stars.

Another reason is that encores interfere with the timing of the program, which often is broadcast.

But when Menuhin finished a solo at a concert last week, the audience called for more. Menuhin obliged, tradition notwithstanding.

The management, recovering from the initial shock, reacted with extreme displeasure. It requested Menuhin, diplomatically but firmly, not to do such a thing again.

Yesterday afternoon at another performance, the audience once again applauded for more when Menuhin finished his solo. And again the violinist complied.

This time the incensed management didn't bother with talking to Menuhin. It sent an urgent note to Menuhin's manager. Please, please—it said in effect—do something about Menuhin.

So far there has been no comment from either Menuhin or his manager.

Sends Santa Samples of Super Sainthood

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—When a bulky envelope addressed to Santa Claus arrived at the New Haven Post Office, postal employes decided to open it before forwarding.

They found a letter telling Santa how good the writer, a boy, had been—and a couple of dozen school papers, obviously saved for several weeks, to prove the point.

Selling Rush Knocks Prices

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP) — A rush of selling knocked down stock market prices but a steadying tendency appeared early today.

★ ★ ★

Leading steel and motor shares suffered in the initial wave, some touching new lows for the year. Overall losses were not great, generally ranging from fractions to around a point.

The ticker tape was late at the opening as a succession of blocks changed hands swiftly. The delay in the tape was cleared up within three minutes.

The parade of depressing business reports was buttressed today by news that industrial production had declined for the third straight month and there were additional reports of factory layoffs.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Chrysler all hit new '57 lows with declines of fractions to around a point.

Rails, oils, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, mail orders, chemicals and electrical manufacturers also fell.

Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, International Nickel, Union Carbide and International Paper were down a point or so.

Ford, American Motors, Santa Fe, American Telephone and American Tobacco were firm.

Opening blocks included: U.S. Steel off ⅛ at 49¾ on 5,000 shares; General Motors off ⅛ at 34⅛ on 1,500 shares; and Radio Corp. off ¼ at 30½ on 1,000.

Pravda Supporting Indonesia in Dispute

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper, Pravda, said today the Communist world stands solidly behind Indonesia in its struggle against the Dutch.

★ ★ ★

"The ruling circles of the imperialist powers are raising a lot of noise about what is taking place in Indonesia," Pravda said in a reference to the anti-Dutch campaign. "What's taking place there is clearly Indonesia's own Indonesian affair."

★ ★ ★

Pravda said colonizers are putting pressure on Indonesia by threatening economic blockades and armed interference and by organization of bands to try to kill Indonesia's President Sukarno.

★ ★ ★

"On the side of Indonesia are the peoples of Asia, Africa and the people of the powerful Communist camp," Pravda said. "This should not be forgotten by the colonizers who clearly are overestimating in the last half of the 20th century."

Bop-Talking Youths Mum on Gun Theft

The jive-talking young men, described as members of a motorcycle gang, either refused to admit anything about the theft or else talked in unintelligible "bop" language, state police said.

The nine, who range in age from 17 to 25, were arrested at gunpoint early Sunday after a fight at a party. Nearly 50 youngsters fled the scene as police arrived. The shots were fired as the youths ran away.

Cooking With Gas in Logging Camps

QUEBEC — Although there is plenty of firewood all around, modern logging camps do their cooking with propane gas.

The reason? The cost of wood-cutting labor plus the cost of the extra time the cook and his staff would have to put in if wood-burning ranges were used. Gas is cheaper.

Buick Cancels Ad Contract

Quits Kudner Agency; Choice of Successor Not Yet Revealed

FLINT (AP) — Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corp., has announced cancellation of its multi-million dollar advertising contract with Kudner Agency Inc., of New York.

Edward T. Ragsdale, Buick general manager, said that "it was in the best interests of both parties that Buick seek advertising counsel elsewhere."

Ragsdale said a new agency to handle the Buick account had not been selected.

Romney said the company "turned the quarter in October toward a profitable 1958 and has continued to operate in the black."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Early next year Ford will begin producing a four-passenger Thunderbird model. No more two-passenger models will be built.

The last car was No. 53,166 since Ford started producing Thunderbirds in 1955.

The four-passenger car will be 24 inches longer and 4 inches wider than its two-passenger predecessor.

American Motors Reports '57 Net Loss

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors reported today a net loss of $11,833,200 for its fiscal year ended last Sept. 30. This compares with a $19,746,242 loss for the 1956 fiscal year.

The 1956 loss, however, was after a non-recurring profit of $10,662,372 from the sale of stock in a subsidiary and tax credits of $1,037,576.

With the report to shareholders, George Romney, president, said American Motors will show a profit of more than three million dollars for its first fiscal quarter ending Dec. 31. Last year the corporation lost $2,994,613 in the first quarter of its fiscal year.

Each year about two million young people in the U.S. start in their first jobs.

City Parking Lot Meters Show Revenue Increase

Revenue from municipal parking lot meters through October showed an increase of $23,136 as compared to the same 10-month period of 1956, Robert A. Stierer, city administrative assistant, reported yesterday.

Nickels were poured into 476 on-street meters in lesser amounts for the same period. A decrease of $525 was attributed to the removal of 15 meters, Stierer said.

The 950 lot meters have accounted for $59,941 through October as compared to $36,805 last year. The increase is due to the opening of several new lots.

For the same period, on-street meters produced $35,582, compared to $36,118 in 1956.

All but one of the city's lots showed a revenue hike for the 10-month period of this year as compared to last. The large Mill street lot produced $31,660 this year as compared to $32,641 in 1956.

The city is considering making the West Lawrence street lot (west of the Cass avenue viaduct) into an eight-hour storage lot in addition to hourly parking. This is based on the fact that only $1,981 has come from the lot through October.

The second biggest producer of the six lots is the Lafayette-Jacokes street lot. With the finishing touches placed on it earlier this year, it has taken in $17,821 through October.

Other 1957 revenues were: Lawrence street lot at the foot of Wayne, $4,342; Auburn street lot east of Saginaw, $3,479; and the Pine street lot behind Detroit Edison, $656.

Pakistan Buys Million Bushels

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were mostly steady in a mixed business on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat and corn started higher, influenced by some export demand. Pakistan purchased a million bushels of wheat from exporters and this resulted in a demand for wheat futures. There was little else in the news to affect the bread grain

Action in corn reflected Mexico's purchase of around 3 million bushels of No. 2 yellow corn for December - January shipment. Rejection of exporter bids for more than 1½ million bushels of government owned corn also was a factor in the trade.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ½ to ¾ higher, Dec. $2.18¾; corn ¼ to ⅜ higher, Dec. $1.16¼; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. 65¾; rye ½ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec. $1.32¼; soybeans ½ to ¾ higher, Jan. $2.25½; and lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred lbs. higher, Jan. $11.82.

Bicycles Holding Own

STOCKHOLM — The bicycle is holding its own in Sweden in spite of a spectacular increase in automobile sales in recent years. A new survey shows that Sweden has about 2,500,000 bicycles and that sales have picked up after a few years of decline.

The Philippines were ceded to the United States by Spain in 1899.

Civilians Told Not to Worry

Army to Test Missiles by Flying Them From One Base to Another

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—Civilians have nothing to worry about over disclosure that the Army is planning eventually to test combat-type missiles by flying them from one base to another, according to Maj. Gen. Thomas DeShazo.

The commanding general at the Army's Ft. Sill artillery center said the Redstone missie is "approaching that accuracy" when it can be tested by firing it from a base like Ft. Bliss, Tex., about 600 miles southwest of here, to an impact area near here.

He said all such missiles are equipped with devices which automatically destroy them if they veer off course by a certain amount. They also can be destroyed at any time in flight through a radio signal, he added.

No nuclear or high-explosive charges will be put in the missiles, he said.

He emphasized that firing from Ft. Bliss to Ft. Sill or vice versa would not be attempted until the accuracy and safety of the missiles has been established.

"We expect the day is coming very shortly when we can test the missiles over nonmilitary areas to get the battlefield accuracy we must have. We feel that safety will allow that testing just as much as airplanes flying in the air today," he said.

It was disclosed Sept. 25 that three or four Air Force Matador missiles were launched from the Air Force Missile Development Center at Alamogordo, N. M., and that they sped through a sparsely populated 575-mile corridor between Alamogordo and the Wendover bomb range in west central Utah without incident.

★ ★ ★

The Matadors have been escorted by jet planes and Air Force officials say they can be destroyed or controlled as to course at any time during flight.

Sewers, Weeds on City Agenda

Commissioners Tonight Have Small Four-Point List to Work On

The use of Pontiac sewers and charges for cutting weeds on privately-owned lots over the summer are the items which go to make up a small four-point agenda to be acted on by the City Commission tonight at 8.

City Manager Walter K. Willman is expected to propose another 60-day extension for Waterford Township in the use of city sewers by the Kroger store at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads.

The extension is to allow more time for the city to study rate schedules to see if it would be feasible to provide this sewage service to fringe areas such as the township.

Commissioners in September of 1956 issued an ultimatum to the township to allow annexation of this proposed shopping center area or disconnect from the city sewers.

This was after the state supreme court ruled that the link was illegal under a 1935 agreement between the city and the township.

A second matter concerning city sewers is a request from the Pontiac Trailer Coach Park at 229 E. Walton Blvd., that Pontiac extend its sewer lines to provide service there.

Willman will report that out of $11,492 charges for weed cutting by the Parks and Recreation Dept. this past summer, $7,053 was uncollected. He will recommend placing these charges on assessment rolls.

Famine Strikes in Indonesia

Anti-Dutch Campaign Causing Food Shortage, Government Admits

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The anti-Dutch campaign has brought famine to 30 areas throughout Java and severe food shortages in East Indonesia, government circles admitted today.

★ ★ ★

Because they are not getting paid, dockyard and port workers are not obeying government orders to unload ships of the Dutch KPM line tied up in many Indonesian ports. KPM was taken over by the Indonesian government at the start of the clampdown on the Dutch, causing a paralysis of inter island shipping.

★ ★ ★

More than 50,000 tons of rice — the staple food — are in the warehouses of Jakarta's harbor, and 80,000 tons are due soon from Egypt and Spain. Local supplies of rice have been cut by crop failures in many areas. In Jakarta the price has tripled in the past six months.

★ ★ ★

Reports reaching Jakarta said Indonesian parachute troops arrested more than 100 civilians and army personnel in Ambofna and other islands of the Moluccas after food riots.

★ ★ ★

Decrease in Building

DETROIT (AP) — October contracts for future construction in Michigan totaled $101,002,000, one per cent less than the October 1956 figure, F. W. Dodge Corp., reported.

Alabama Votes on Racial Issues

Negroes Ask White Aid to Defeat Abolition of Macon County

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama voters today decide the fate of 25 proposed constitutional amendments in a referendum highlighted by a racial controversy.

Negro leaders yesterday issued an appeal to white voters to defeat one amendment which would abolish Macon county. Counties bordering on Macon, all of which have a majority of white population, would absorb Macon County under the proposed amendment.

The appeal was made to white voters because there aren't enough registered Negro voters to do it except in an extremely close election.

Although Negroes, many of them college educated, outnumber white residents nearly 7-1 in Macon County, the whites have a large majority of the qualified voters in both the county and on a statewide basis. The county seat, Tuskegee, is the site of the famed Negro school, Tuskegee Institute.

The amendment is presented as a means of offsetting threatened Negro control of the county. State Sen. Sam Engelhardt, executive secretary of the segregationist Alabama Assn. of Citizens Councils, sponsored the measure.

He says he fears the civil rights law enacted by Congress this year might force the registration of enough Negro voters to dominate the county.

The Negro vote total in the state was estimated at 53,000 by the Montgomery Improvement Assn., a Negro organization. Total registration in Alabama is estimated at 825,000 by the secretary of state's office.

Wrong Man Held in Jail for Week in Alimony Case

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) There are two —Robert L. Coles and each has a former wife named Geraldine. But the one who was held a week in San Diego County jail was not the one with alimony troubles.

Robert L. Cole, 25, was freed when Mrs. Geraldine Cole Wilson, 24, saw him and said he was not her former husband Robert L. Cole, 26, who was charged with failure to contribute to the support of their child.

Cole said his former wife Geraldine lives in Vermont. But as for the present Mrs. Robert Cole, she lives in Lindsay, Calif., and he is going right back home to her. . . . And her name is not Geraldine.

Bar Owner Killed for Insulting Woman

DETROIT (INS) — Police said today a Redford Township bar owner was shot to death for insulting a woman in his bar early this morning.

They said the victim was Casimir Cwiek, co-owner of Lambert's Bar. Police arrested Kenneth Sedick, 41, of Detroit, and charged him with murder after he admitted shooting Cwiek.

Cwiek, a former police officer, was shot twice in the head and chest as he stood behind the bar.

The confessed assailant said the bar-owner owed him $1,500 and he was trying to collect it when Cwiek refused to pay him, then insulted his wife.

'Sing With Bing' to Stress Faith

Crooner Will Present Hour Radio Show on Christmas Eve

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Bing Crosby, a man of some authority in the matter, believes the trend this year is away from the frivolous, strictly novelty type of Christmas song.

He has undertaken to prove his thesis by the songs and participants he has selected for his third annual "Sing With Bing" on CBS Radio Christmas Eve.

"People have been so busy tracking man-made satellites that they're about ready for a long look at the Star of Bethlehem," Crosby says in a letter from Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

"The songs that express reverence, simple person - to - person goodwill and the reaffirmation of family ties are the ones that I think people like and want."

SOLO SELECTIONS

Crosby's solo contributions on his hour-long program will include "Joy to the World," "The First Noel," "Away in a Manger," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night" and "Adeste Fideles."

His only contemporary song will be "White Christmas." These, by the way, top the list of personal Christmas favorites in the Crosby household.

Crosby will call in participating choral groups in the Holy Land, Vatican City, Australia, Canada, France and The Netherlands.

In Salzburg, Austria, his son Gary will introduce the parish choir of Oberndorf singing "Silent Night" as it was sung there 139 years ago.

Considering some of the purported Christmas songs ground out by Tin Pan Alley in recent years, Crosby's program should fall pleasantly on the public ear.

CHRISTMAS MOOD

"We get all sorts of Christmas songs offered to us every year," Crosby says. "Rock 'n' roll, hillbilly, Hawaiian, ballads and some pretty wild novelty numbers.

★ ★ ★

"There are as many bad ones to each good one in the Christmas category as there are in any kind of song.

"But I wish song writers would think more about the mood and meaning in Christmas songs than they do about style and 'sound.'

Find Wheels to Plane of Missing Chicagoan

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Two airplane wheels found on the Lake Erie shore at Point Abino Saturday were identified yesterday as from a twin-engine plane owned by Richard West, missing Chicago businessman.

The plane piloted by West disappeared in a snowstorm Friday night on a flight from Rochester to Detroit. Since that time a concentrated air, land and water search has been conducted throughout the Niagara district.

Accused of Robbing Flint Bank Oct. 31

BAY CITY (AP) — A warrant charging Jerry John Kosarek, 24, of Bryan, Tex., with the Oct. 31 robbery of the Citizens Commercial and Savings Bank in Flint has been forwarded to the U.S. marshall's office in Omaha, U.S. District Attorney Robert L. Richardson reported.

The Texan previously was charged in connection with the holdup Thursday of a downtown branch of the Marshall and Ilsley Bank in Milwaukee. Authorities in Omaha said he admitted that $10,809 robbery.

Kosarek was being held in Omaha on $15,000 bond in connection with the Milwaukee robbery and an additional $5,000 bond on a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Record Spinner Now Cutting Own Records

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—This little teen-ager was only 4-feet-10 and had to stand on a box to attract attention when she spun the records in the Newark 5-and-10 cent store.

WILSON

She would sing along with Bing or Frankie or Perry when the records were spinning, and people would say, "You'll be a singer yourself some day."

One day she wrote a letter advising the "Hold That Note" TV quiz show of the wisdom of using her as a contestant immediately.

"I sing duets with Perry and Frank and Bing every day," she argued. "They don't know it, but I do."

The bank across the street was pretty surprised when a $32.50-a-week record-spinner walked in and deposited a check for $31,000.

Tina Robin, only 18 then, was pretty surprised herself, about the tax bite—$12,000. And now that she was becoming a pro, what expenses!

TINA

Gown's $500 a copy, Three massages a week, $30. Hair styling, dancing lessons, musical arrangements at $100 to $200 each, and she needed 13 or 14. "And some of them don't work, but you pay anyway," Tina noticed.

She made four records — went on tour (Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, St. Louis, Miami, Boston) playing the night clubs, and startled people with the power of her voice.

So that's it — In February 1957 she was spinning other people's records in the 5-and-10c store, and now they're spinning hers. She's worrying about taxes and she's still a teenager till March 7.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Elsa Maxwell's the latest to turn vocalist; she'll sing her own songs. (On wide-play records?) . . . Comic Alan King's sudden surgery cost him a big role in "Naked and the Dead" . . . Ex-champ Barney Ross and Siri, the Amazonish showgirl, will tour GI bases in Africa.

Singer LaVerne Baker's investing her salary in dog hospitals. Producers Perner and Loewe told the State Department they'll never permit "My Fair Lady" to be shown in Germany . . . Francoise Sagan wants her favorite actress, Audrey Hepburn, to star when her new book "In A Month, In A Year," is filmed.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: We are told of the burglar whose wife pestered him for money. Finally he said, "Oh, all right—I'll get you some as soon as the bank closes!" That's earl, brother.

Stole Eggs to Throw?

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Police sought four youths Monday in connection with the theft of a crate containing 12 dozen eggs, taken from a Grand Rapids restaurant. Restaurant workers reported the egg disappearance Sunday. Detective Capt. Thomas McPhilamy believed the eggs might have been taken as throwing ammunition "at something—or somebody."
