Senate May OK Funds Today

County Drain Passes House

LANSING (AP) — The House adjourned until Nov. 8 today after defeating a Republican proposal designed to provide vocational training for the state's unemployed.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill clearing the way for a sale of 38-million dollars in bonds for Oakland County's 12-town drain.

The Senate, meanwhile, stayed in session into the afternoon. It too had before it a bill to set up vocational training for the jobless.

Republicans bombarded Gov. Williams with charges of "politics" as the Legislature held its last pre-election meeting on unemployment compensation and assorted other issues.

The Democratic governor, who had some sharp things to say in greeting the returning lawmakers yesterday, replied in kind. He called a Republican proposal on vocational re-training for jobless a "mess of political potage."

In the atmosphere that prevailed, it was even clearer that little of consequence would emerge from the stop-and-go special session that began June 13.

The Legislature was expected to quit today until Nov. 8, the second day after the general election.

Among the most important developments yesterday were these:

1. The Senate completed passage of a bill to bring 28,000 state employees under the Unemployment Compensation Act. This was done by approving House amendments to the bill, which passed the Senate previously. The amendments exclude from coverage about 5,000 seasonal and "casual" state workers.
2. The lawmakers turned a cold shoulder to a Williams-backed resolution for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years.

'POLITICAL MOVIE'

Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Columbia), senate labor committee chairman, assailed the governor's "labor" message, one of a flurry that Williams sent up to the lawmakers.

"The whole message is a political effort not based on fact but based on what the governor believes will bring him votes in November," Faulkner declared.

Lower Down Payment, Looser Terms Intended to Stimulate Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's home financing agencies took steps today to lower down payments and ease credit for construction of housing.

Four specific actions were announced by the White House. They are designed mainly to stimulate the low-cost housing field. This is what was done:

1. The Federal Housing Administration cut from 7 to 5 per cent the minimum down payment on houses appraised at $9,000 or less. On a $9,000 house this would lower the down payment by $180.
 2. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board boosted the borrowing limitation of member institutions in order to improve the capacity of savings and loan and other home financing institutions to meet the demand for mortgage loans. Under the new ruling, each institution may borrow up to 12½ per cent of its capital stock. The old limitation was 10 per cent.
 3. The Federal National Mortgage Assn. (FNMA), in effect, raised the price it will pay for mortgages by one per cent, in an effort to provide more funds for builders and buyers.
 4. The FNMA also agreed to issue advance commitments to buy home mortgages at prices more favorable to the seller.
- The agency also is raising the price paid for mortgages from 92 per cent to 94 per cent. These moves are expected to help the builder in planning.

I'm Fit to Run 4 More Years, Ike Tells Nation

Says He Wants to Lead Active Quest for Peace in World

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told American voters last night he feels physically fit to carry on for four more years what he called a vigorous quest for real peace.

In his first nationwide radio-television bid for reelection, he said he wants a militarily strong and vigilant, but patient and comprehending, America to lead the world to peace.

Several times he took issue with his Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson, without mentioning his name. And he accepted at the start the health challenge the Democrats have raised because of his abdominal operation last June and his heart attack nearly a year ago.

Keying his speech to the word "peace," he said he has achieved a personal kind of peace—"granted to me by the mercy of the Almighty"—that gives him confidence he can carry on the duties of the presidency.

"It is this firm conviction: I am confident of my own physical strength to meet all the responsibilities of the presidency, today and in the years just ahead," he said. "If I were not so convinced, I would never have accepted re-nomination to this office."

Eisenhower's presentation of his case on a single network, CBS, was in contrast to Stevenson's four-network campaign opener from Harrisburg, Pa., last week. The GOP National Committee chose to leave three networks open for those who might wish to watch or hear other things.

Three Men Scared Off in Robbery Attempt

Three men, one of them armed, were scared off by an approaching auto during an attempted holdup of Presto Grocery store, 536 S. Saginaw St. near closing time last night.

The owner, Nick Sultos, told Pontiac police the men were about to take $15 from the open cash register when the auto pulled to the curb across the street and frightened the men.

They entered about 10:30 p.m. when Sultos was about to close up with the help of his wife and a cousin, Stephen Seros.

One man pulled a long barreled revolver from his pocket, Sultos said, and another ordered the cousin to hand over the money.

Seros received a minor shoulder bruise when he was shoved against a counter, police said. No one else was harmed.

Famous Four K's Turn to the Three R's

School Daze for Teacher Quads Start Kindergarten

By JANICE HAYBOW

Oakwood's famous Rosebush quads have entered kindergarten at Daniel Axford Elementary School and it's turning into a school daze for their teacher, Mrs. Katherine Gilliam.

Mrs. Gilliam of Leonard, frankly admits in their second week of school, she still can't tell the youngsters apart.

Mrs. Kenneth Rosebush, the quads' mother, has passed on her identifying methods to Mrs. Gilliam. "Krystal's face is a little wider than Kristine's and Keith's hair is lighter than Kenneth's," Mrs. Rosebush says. But Mrs. Gilliam says it just isn't that easy.

While the quads were having their picture taken, Mrs. Gilliam said, "Keith, will you please move over here," and she took one of the boys by the arm. A small piping voice came from the lad, who said, "But, I'm Kenneth, Mrs. Gilliam."

TRICKY GAMES

The two girls and two boys are slowly becoming aware too, that they might have fun with their close resemblances.

The other evening Krystal asked her mother, "Who am I?" Mrs. Rosebush said, "Why, you're Krystal."

"No, I'm Kristine," said Krystal. Mrs. Rosebush quelled that bit of trickery with "I know who you are. You can't fool me." Krystal revealed Mrs. Gilliam had trouble telling her and her sister apart.

Both Mrs. Gilliam and Mrs. Rosebush report the quads have taken to school wonderfully.

"Every night they come home with a new song they've learned or a new story Mrs. Gilliam has told them," Mrs. Rosebush said.

Mrs. Gilliam says the quads are very independent and don't hang together through the day.

"They have their own special friends and have really adjusted beautifully to school in these two weeks," she said.

But there's no doubt Mrs. Gilliam and the teachers who follow her will have quite a harried time keeping the four straight.

Life's fun and school's wonderful to these bouncing 5½ year-olds. And there's no question that life with the Rosebush quads will be pretty exciting to the teachers and friends the four will meet during their school careers.

'Here You — Birdie, Birdie' City Official Needs You

For once city officials are looking for a flock of starlings and not trying to get rid of them.

David Ewalt, Pontiac Parks and Recreation director, has a "Bird-E-Vict" machine to put to test.

"Where we had concentrations of these birds before, I've searched and searched, but no can find," Ewalt declared.

For several weeks city officials were besieged with queries how starlings could be chased from the city. They nodded—hopeless bewilderment.

The machine, an amplified magnetic tape recording, pours forth with a racket of hundreds of starlings sounding their distress call. This is supposed to drive the black creatures away from the machine and their usual roosts.

But Ewalt is a little puzzled whether it will work or not. He said at a recent Grand Rapids convention, a gentleman from Owosso raved about its success. "But another fellow said the birds flocked to the machine to roost," Ewalt explained.

So, citizens of Pontiac—if any starlings are invading your premises please call Ewalt at the City Hall so he might see if this gadget works or not.

Adlai to Answer Ike's Charges

Stevenson Alters Talk to Refute GOP Claims of Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson shifted plans today and decided to devote part of a campaign address tonight to replying to President Eisenhower's talk on his administration's quest for enduring world peace.

The headquarters of Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, announced originally that he would make "a few well chosen remarks about the Republican truth squads" in an address tonight at nearby Silver Spring, Md.

Later, a Stevenson aide said the candidate was "revising his speech somewhat to make some comments" on Eisenhower's nationwide television-radio talk last night.

The President's theme was his administration's efforts to achieve lasting world peace. However, in his address, the President took a few oblique jabs at the Democratic nominee without mentioning Stevenson's name.

For example, Eisenhower slapped at Stevenson's contention that American prosperity is spotted with patches of unemployment. He also said anew that he sees no chance for any termination of the military draft in the immediate future, and that it would be unwise for this country to end its hydrogen bomb tests at this time.

Delegates Hope to Finish Plans by Weekend

Turkey, Portugal Side With 9 Other Nations to Support Dulles

LONDON (AP) — The Western Big Three proposal for a canal users' association gained new support today in the 18-nation Suez conference and delegates pointed toward finishing their work by this weekend.

Turkey and Portugal joined nine other nations in backing the plan outlined by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles for the association to work in cooperation with Egypt until the Suez crisis is permanently solved.

Ethiopia and Spain gave qualified support, but did not commit themselves to joining the association.

Sweden repeated her call for an immediate approach to the United Nations.

Representatives of the 18 nations agreed this morning to form a working committee of experts to compete details of the users' association, which would seek a share in running the canal. The working party worked on a report for the fourth full conference session this afternoon.

An American source said Dulles hoped to leave London Friday night to keep a commitment in Washington Sunday, but may stay over until Saturday night, if necessary.

Japan was among the powers whose position remained to be spelled out. Conference quarters expressed belief it would back the association plan.

The French, British and Americans joined in cold-shouldering an idea endorsed by Soviet Premier Bulganin for a summit meeting of the Western Big Three, the Soviet Union, India and Egypt to solve the Suez dispute.

An American source said: "Our delegation is cool to the idea."

Arab Kings Discuss Suez Crisis in Secret

CAIRO (INS) — Two of the Middle East's most powerful rulers, King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Feisal II of Iraq, reportedly met today on Feisal's yacht in the Persian Gulf.

The Middle East News Agency reported the meeting, quoting Mecca Radio. The agency said the royal rendezvous was arranged to "promote Arab unity" and strengthen relations between the two ruling houses.

When the two kings announced yesterday they would meet there was speculation that Iraq and Saudi Arabia, both of whose economies depend on western oil concessions, might decide to oppose Egypt's primacy in the Middle East.

Warns Against 3 Ds

CLEVELAND (INS) — Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman, has urged parents to discourage young girls from going steady. He says: "Along with the three R's of school days, we now have the three D's—dating, drinking and driving."

Testify at Sea Disaster Hearings

LINER'S MATE TELLS OF ANDREA DORIA DISASTER — Ernest Carstens-Johansen, (right), 26-year-old third mate of the Swedish liner, Stockholm, leaves hearing room with the skipper of the ship, Capt. H. Gunnar Nordenson, during a recess in hearing in Federal Court on the sea disaster on the night of July 25. The young third mate, on bridge of ship at the time of the collision, said he gave a "hard to starboard" order just before his ship and the Italian liner Andrea Doria collided. He was first witness in pre-trial dispositions in damage actions growing out of the collision.

Officials Review Area Objections

Meeting Held to Present Facts for Citizens on Future Highways

A highway network costing $2.2 billion will be built in the Detroit area in the next 20 years, county road officials told the Plan Commission meeting yesterday.

The meeting, called to review the area highway situation for citizens objecting to planned roads near their homes, featured a presentation of facts about county roads and plans by Robert A. Larson, highway planning engineer for the Plan Commission.

Officials from the County Road Commission, the Inter-County Highway Commission, the County Board of Supervisors and the Supervisors' Roads and Bridges Committee attended the session.

Mark McGovern, representing the Bloomfield-Southfield Civic Assn., asked planners what legal power the County has "to circumvent things we don't like in the plans the state and federal governments are thrusting on us."

Plan Commission chairman J. Robert F. Swanson told McGovern the county has no legal power in this situation, but the State Highway Commission has been "more cooperative" in the past year than in previous years.

In an effort to avoid lawsuits over planned roads by individuals, Swanson said, the state officials are seeking opinions from local authorities on routes the new roads will follow.

Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the six-county Inter-County Highway Commission, said his group has received "full cooperation" from the State Highway Department.

Officials emphasized "the roads are going to be built, and you can't build a road without hurting some people. About the only thing we can do is try to see as few people get hurt as possible."

McGovern said he agreed, but in his opinion the announced State Highway Department route for the proposed Southfield expressway was not laid out advantageously.

Larson in his talk reviewed work done on the recently completed "Detroit Origin and Destination Survey," a $750,000 report on traffic movements in the metropolitan area.

Planners in this survey projected probable future movements for 1980, he said, and then laid out plans for an expressway network covering Detroit and its suburbs.

Including the planned interstate expressway network, he said, with the 213 miles of Detroit expressways, the total system will cost $2.2 billion. It is slated for completion by 1980, with interstate roads to be finished by 1970.

According to the survey, Larson said, this system will be "barely adequate" by the time it is finished. "We'll be doing well to keep up with the increase of cars on the road by that time," he said.

The survey predicts area population will increase 48 per cent by 1980, with car ownership rising by 61 per cent. A total of 50 per cent more cars is expected on area roads.

Voters Can Sign Up Until 9 Friday Nights

For the convenience of shoppers, City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced her office will be open Friday nights until 9 p.m. to take voting registrations for the Nov. 6 election.

Mrs. Evans said the booth in front of the courthouse also will be open Friday nights until the Oct. 8 deadline.

New hours for the clerk's office in the City Hall are: Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; Fridays, 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.; and Saturdays, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Hours for the booth are the same except opens at 10 a.m. each day.

Kiddies to Benefit

Pontiac Area Kiwanians to Conduct Peanut Sales

The four Kiwanis Clubs of Greater Pontiac will unite this weekend to conduct a peanut sale to benefit area youth activities.

More than 100 club members will be out on the streets Friday and Saturday to top a goal of $7,500 on "Kids Days."

It will be the first such sale run by three of the Pontiac clubs. The West Pontiac Club held a successful sale last year. Downtown Pontiac, Northern Pontiac and West Bloomfield join this year.

The clubs will canvass their respective sectors with funds benefiting children's projects.

There will be no charge for the peanuts, but donations will be accepted.

The peanut sale will be held Friday from 3:30 to 9 p.m. It will resume Saturday morning at 9 and continue until all peanut packages are gone.

The Kiwanis Clubs support all types of youth activities and aid various summer camps for youngsters.

Surviving are his two sons, Richard D. Ersilian of Walled Lake and Charles J. Ersilian of Pontiac.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Friday from the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home. The Rev. Edmund L. Watkins of the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church will officiate with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 o'clock tonight.

Pontiac Police Ask for Code

City Trial Board Invited to Discuss Modification of Discipline Methods

The Pontiac Police Officers' Assn. wants a set of rules for the disciplining of police officers called before the City Police and Fire Trial Board.

An association committee, headed by Patrolman Forest C. Hatfield, a 20-year police veteran, has invited the trial board to consider proposed police rules, regulations and procedures governing the board's action.

In an outline containing the proposals, the association hopes "to create better morale in the employees of the Pontiac Police Department and provide more uniformity in the future proceedings of the Police and Fire Trial Board."

Sgt. James Carr, police committee secretary, said he hopes some plan can be worked out by "mutual agreement." The suggestions, he said, are partially based on the Defense Department's Uniform Code of Military Justice.

The trial board hears infractions of police rules and regulations and sentences convicted policemen. Officers have complained sentences have become overly stiff for minor infractions.

Police last night held an allegedly tipy gas station attendant who drove his car through the plate glass window of a drug store at 691 Orchard Lake Rd.

Herbert Ward, 24, of 180 Auburn Ave. refused to take a blood test to establish his sobriety, police said. He was booked on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Police said three witnesses saw Ward's car weaving west on Orchard Lake shortly before midnight. Ward made a left-hand curve at Voorheis road, and crashed the window. He said his steering and brakes failed.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Board to Plan Events in Park and Pool

BIRMINGHAM — Program for the winter will be discussed at tonight's regular recreation board meeting at the municipal building.

Finances will be a factor in the discussion, with plans being presented by Recreation Director Robert Girardin for the skating rink, winter swimming and other planned programs.

Winter swimming starts Oct. 8 for elementary children. At Barnum school pool on Saturdays, it starts for beginning boys and girls, two classes for each group and one each intermediate and advanced classes, with mixed groups. A series of 16 lessons will be given.

A fee of two dollars will be charged, with registration now underway at the recreation office in the municipal building.

A chin-up measuring at a 45-inch mark is taken to qualify enrollees. A child must be able to keep his mouth out of water at the shallow end of the pool.

Hours and events at Eton Park, which opens in mid-November, only about six weeks away, will be talked at the meeting. A junior basketball league will be discussed, as well as a winter program in the high school gym for adults.

University of Michigan has given degrees to a number of Bloomfield and Birmingham students, mailing them following completion of summer studies.

Birmingham graduates include George E. Clarke, who receives a master of business administration, Margaret S. Brunner, M.S. Richard E. Durnbaugh, M.A. Grover J. Farnsworth, M.A. Donald M. Goldsmith, bachelor of architecture, Carol D. James, B.A. in education, Mary E. Kemp, M.A. Elaine R. Warren, M.A. and Catherine C. Shimmick, B.S.

Bloomfield Hills graduates are John W. Kausch, B.S. and Adele F. Youel, master of music.

Roy B. MacAfee, executive director of the Pontiac Housing Commission, said the contract should be signed next week with work to begin immediately.

City Housing Official

to Attend Toledo Forum

Roy B. MacAfee, executive director of the Pontiac Housing Commission, and Mrs. Margaret Klass, housing aide for the commission, will attend the first meeting of the Great Lakes Chapter of the National Association of Housing and Rehabilitation officials in Toledo, Sept. 26.

MacAfee was elected president of the 75-member group in May.

During the meeting, the members are expected to tour the Well-er Public Housing project in Toledo.

210 MSU Students Sign in 15 Minutes

EAST LANSING (INS)—Registration of Michigan State University's largest student body will reach the halfway mark this morning.

Registration ends Friday afternoon and an estimated 18,500 students will have enrolled in the various classroom and laboratory sections.

Victor V. Henley, assistant to the registrar, said that students go through registration headquarters at the rate of 210 every 15 minutes. Fall term classes will start at 8 a.m. Monday.

The first subway, just one block long, was built in New York in the 1890s. The fare was 25 cents.

Shopping Center to Be Erected in Motor City

DETROIT (INS)—Plans have been disclosed for construction of a $15 million combination office building and retail shopping center in Detroit.

Henry Lowers, president of Henry Lowers and Associates, who said his group recently bought a nine-acre tract at Meyers and McNichols road for $700,000, described the project as a "miniature Rockefeller Plaza."

Lowers said the structure will be 11 stories high, housing retail stores "of the highest type" and the office of dentists and doctors, among others.

Parking facilities will be provided for at least 2,000 cars. Construction on the area, to be

Corporal Faces Court on Charge of Rupturing Recruit With Fist

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (U)—The Marine Corps will put an Erie, Pa., corporal on trial before a special court-martial on a charge of maltreating a recruit who says he was slugged in the stomach.

No date has been set for the trial of Richard J. Bille, 21. The former supply corporal was transferred to a cleaning job after Pvt. Donald Hamisfar of Norwalk, Ohio, complained he was attacked for failing to say "sir" to him. Hamisfar, 20, confronted Bille at a hearing yesterday before Lt. Col. Oscar Pestross, commander of the 5th Recruit Training Battalion here. Hamisfar said he was punched and pushed backward Aug. 23, his second day at this recruit training depot, while his platoon was drawing training equipment.

The hearing was closed, but the special court-martial will be open to the public. Conviction could result in a bad conduct discharge, confinement at hard labor for six months, forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay, and reduction to private. Hamisfar underwent a hernia operation Aug. 28 at the U. S. Naval Hospital at nearby Beaufort. Marine authorities said a medical examination disclosed that he was born with a hernia condition, and that it was not determined whether this was aggravated by a blow in the stomach.

Hamisfar was reported recovering satisfactorily. He had been performing light duties at the hospital and is expected to resume boot training about Oct. 1.

Lekenta Gets Jail Term in Assault Case

ALLEGAN (U)—Eugene Lekenta was sentenced to one year in jail today after pleading guilty of aggravated assault on a Western Michigan College athlete in a Memorial Day skirmish at Saugatuck.

Judge Raymond L. Smith ordered the sentence to run concurrently with a one-year term now being served in Ingham County by the 24-year-old former Michigan State University football player.

The balance of the sentence will be served at Allegan after his release from Ingham County. Lekenta was accused of striking Fred Corbus, 23, in a scuffle outside a Saugatuck restaurant. Corbus suffered a brain hemorrhage and still is partly paralyzed.

Typhoon Gilda Hits Samar in Philippines

MANILA (U)—Typhoon Gilda took a new lease on life and an erratic course today. Already it had left at least 1,000 homeless and extensive property and crop damage in the eastern Philippines.

The Philippine News Service said one person was killed in Sorogon province, that one fisherman was missing and several persons were hurt by flying debris. The governor of the province proclaimed a state of emergency and appealed to the Manila government for help.

Gilda ploughed into the northern tip of Samar Island with 110-mile winds, weakened to a 50-mile-an-hour storm over southeastern Luzon, then gathered typhoon strength again as it swept back into the Pacific.

'Man With the Hole in His Shoe' Will It Be Dem's Song?

ST. LOUIS (U)—A prospective Democratic campaign song, inspired by a famous photo and called "The Man With the Hole in His Shoe," will be given its first public performance tonight.

Phonograph records of the song have been produced by a St. Louis firm and feature a baritone and a quartet called appropriately "The Campaigners."

The records will be distributed nationally—for about $1 a copy—with proceeds to go to the Democratic campaign fund. The martial tune is by Seth Greiner of St. Louis and the words by James Monroe of Collinsville, Ill., who was inspired by the 1952 photo of Adlai Stevenson with a worn shoe sole.

The public performance will be at a St. Louis county courthouse meeting of supporters of Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

The song has no official status as yet but Stevenson's campaign staff helped Monroe with the wording. The first verse: "Here comes the man with a hole in his shoe. 'He's a man with a plan for the work there's to do. 'He is tried; he'll be true, for the four years through. 'He's the man with a hole in his shoe."

The 200-inch telescope on Palomar mountain is powerful enough to detect the flame of a single candle burning at a distance of 18,000 miles.

Battle in Vain

Michigan may never have a new jet fighter base in either the Manistee or Kalkaska area. This word dropped like a bombshell in northwestern Michigan recently when JOHN M. FERRY, Air Force assistant secretary of installations, said the Air Force is considering a change in its defense setup.

Instead of more jet bases, the next bases may be installed to handle guided missiles. These defensive weapons are being given extensive development and further study will be required, FERRY said, before the Air Force makes up its mind.

For several years a spirited dispute has been going on as to whether the proposed new jet base would be located near Manistee or near Kalkaska. First one area seemed sure to get the site, then the other.

The latest announcement deflates the hopes of both communities. There has been no intimation as to where the guided missiles base would be established, if it later is authorized. Presumably it would require fewer men, although no information has been given out as to that phase of the program.

The northern Michigan bases are a part of the outer defenses for Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago. They get their warnings of possible attacks over the Arctic Circle from bases already established across Canada. Backing them up nearer by are Selfridge Field and the many Nike bases scattered all about Pontiac, Detroit, and other industrial centers.

Only one thing now seems certain, if the jet base idea is dropped. A lot of argument has been carried on in vain. Many words, and a great deal of feeling has been wasted.

Atomic Rockets

Space travel may not be so far away.

This conclusion will occur to many readers following the disclosure by the Los Alamos Atomic Laboratory that it has been working on atomic powered rockets for the past year. There was no word as to the progress the scientists have made.

The possibilities inherent in a practical rocket powered by atomic energy stagger the imagination. Theoretically a small amount of fuel could lift large weights almost indefinitely. There would be almost no limits to the range of such rockets.

It has been the weight of fuels which has proved the biggest drawback to space travel thus far. So, if the atomic scientists are able to conquer this difficulty, space travel might be made possible.

Laboratory officials said they disclosed the nature of the work being done by the N Division so that scientists who might be interested in positions there would know the nature of the project being attempted. For more than a year secrecy has shrouded even the existence of the division, to say nothing of the work it is doing.

If you have been intrigued by the thought of a trip to Mars or the Moon, hereafter you needn't feel quite so silly about confessing it is just possible that you might live to take such a trip, and better yet, live to return and tell about it.

Building the space ship still would be a problem for the scientists, but it would be far simpler than their present task of working out the technical problems inherent in the use of atomic rocket fuel.

A LONDON man named PAULSON hesitates to change his name to ELLIS in order to inherit an estate worth $280,000 from an uncle named ELLIS. He's rather unusual. Many a person would change his name to KHRUSHCHEV in order to inherit anything in excess of $135.72.

A POLITICIAN gives little or no thought to what a band wagon's destination may be before scrambling aboard.

- Nov. 24—Michigan vs. Ohio State.
- Dec. 1—Army vs. Navy.

There's no entry charge and every member of your family can compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper.

Simply clip out the list and check the team which you think will win. If you think it will be a tie game, do not check either team. Then attach it to a piece of paper giving your name and address. For other members of your family you can copy the list. Then mail to "Football Contest," Pontiac Press.

All entries must be received by Saturday noon, Sept. 23.

David Lawrence Says:

Apathy Is Visible in GOP Ranks

WASHINGTON—More and more people who know politics from the inside are beginning to speak of "a close election" for the presidency. A few are saying privately with a certain degree of confidence that Adlai Stevenson will be elected.

Some of this talk is being erroneously explained as the usual attempt to scare Republican party workers into action, but a good deal is based on earlier reports of how effectively the Democrats are registering an increased vote over previous years in the big states.

Unquestionably the facts about the Maine election are beginning to seep in, and the more they are examined, the more startling they seem to Republican managers. Thus, in the first and second congressional districts in Maine, where the Democrats won one seat and nearly won the other, there are 11 cities and in these the total Republican vote over 1954 showed a net gain of 196, whereas the Democrats made a net gain of 18,215. In the city of Portland, for example, the Republican gain was 582, while the Democratic party's gain was 5,004.

GO P APATHY HURTING
The big news of this 1956 campaign, therefore, is already visible—its apathy on the Republican side and intensive organization on the Democratic side.

Many observers who take a look at the big majorities piled up by Gen. Eisenhower in 1952 are inclined to scoff at the idea that he can be defeated this time. It is theoretically true that, when times are good, the party in power benefits but there's one important proviso. It's that the party in power get out its vote and also keep pace with the increases in voting strength achieved by the opposition. Paper majorities of the past are meaningless when there is apathy.

How could Adlai Stevenson be elected—and by what combination of electoral votes? Assuming the first reports of better organization and intensive work on registering Democrats in unprecedented numbers turn out to be true in the pivotal states, here is an electoral table which shows that even if Ike wins such states as New York, Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey and California, Stevenson could still be elected:

Ala.	11	Minn.	11
Ariz.	4	Miss.	8
Ark.	4	Mo.	13
Del.	3	N. C.	14
Fla.	10	Okl.	8
Ga.	12	Penn.	32
Ill.	27	R. I.	4
Ky.	10	Tenn.	11
La.	10	Texas	24
Mass.	16	Wash.	9
Mich.	20	W. Va.	8

Total 273 (needed to win 267)

ORGANIZATION TROUBLES
It will be noted that in the above "Solid South" is listed for the Democrats. This is because the organization Democrats there have been alienated by the Eisenhower position on "civil rights" and, since there is little difference between the attitude of the two parties on this issue, the politicians in the South—which means those who control the Democratic organizations—have decided to stick with tradition.

The real trouble, of course,

Right: Mindfulness, Motion, Play, Work, Diversion, Recreation
Wrong: Mindfulness, Emotion, Sport, Business, Thrill, Excitement

for the Republicans is on the organization side. Thus, in Michigan, the Democrats in 1954 elected a senator by getting enough labor-union help in Detroit to produce a large majority which, due to apathy, the Republicans in the rest of the state didn't overcome. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh can furnish enough of a Democratic majority to outnumber the rest of the state of Pennsylvania if the Republicans don't get out additional votes far beyond normal.

It's possible for Stevenson to be defeated, but some evidence is beginning to accumulate that, despite the better side of the argument on the issues, the Republicans may not poll enough of an increase in the country districts to offset the Democratic gains in the cities. That's the outlook in mid-September. This correspondent wrote something of the same sort in September 1954, indicating a possible Truman victory, but was later misled by the reported effects of the October campaigning and by a belief that the Republican vote in the big cities would be larger than it turned out to be.

Presidential campaigns are sometimes won in the major cities by intensive organization. Nine big cities can dominate enough states for the Democrats to win an electoral majority provided they have the "Solid South" on their side. They are New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Milwaukee and Los Angeles.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Consult Your Physician for Troubled Symptoms

One reader asks whether high blood pressure is a disease or a symptom, and if a symptom what disease...

Another says she is sick and tired of taking aspirin all the time for periodic headaches, and she feels that she must be lacking something. The impulse is to say brains, but that would apply to millions of ignorant, reckless people, and I don't really think this lady is ignorant or reckless. She just needs advice.

Still another correspondent asks whether I ever write about nerves and how to build them.

The best advice I can give the other two readers is "Consult a physician." And when or if you do, for Pete's sake, don't try to impress the doctor with your insight into medical matters.

Even though you believe or fear you're getting softening of the brain or arteriosclerosis, don't blab about your "nerves" or your "blood pressure" when you go to the doctor. Just state your present complaint, in your own language and not in what you think is the proper medical language, and leave it to the doctor to determine, if he or she can, what, if anything, really ails you.

I don't write about "nerves" and how to build them—for two reasons: first, because I said all I can say about that in Volume 15 or the Pocket Encyclopedia of Health, Nerves and Nutrition; and second, because I have found that my necessarily concise attempts to reason with people obsessed with "weak nerves" generally makes them mad at me, and you can't teach people much when they're mad at you.

In the green book (Columette 15) I analyze anhedonia—incapacity to enjoy life. Some persons just do not experience the joy of living, even though they have good health and good fortune. This becomes manifest in the analysis of many lives as follows:

Right: Mindfulness, Motion, Play, Work, Diversion, Recreation

Relaxation, Boredom, ennui, Pleasure, Vice, Contentment, Restless yearning, Revered old age, Degeneracy

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Suggests Memorizing Passages

Let's all imitate Joel's smart strategy today. Most of us have minds that are about as barren as Mother Hubbard's famous cupboard, at least as regards choice quotations and Bible verses. So don't wait till January 1st to make this valuable resolution to memorize 25 gems of poetry and Bible verses.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case S-370: Joel P., aged 23, is studying to be a clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, we used your college textbook on Applied Psychology," he informed me recently.

"And one of the finest things about it for me was the fact you urged us to fill our minds with choice quotations."

"So I memorized about half of the 200 gems which you placed at the bottom of some of the pages."

"Already I have begun to reap benefits from them. For example, I handle a little church over the weekends."

"And when I am called upon unexpectedly to say a few words, I find that I fall back on those memorized quotations to add richness to my remarks."

CULTURE INSURANCE
When our son Philip was stationed in Germany with the U.S. Army, I also urged him to memorize those same quotations.

North End Resident Gives Ideas About Switch Yard

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Being a resident of the north end of the city, I am very concerned about the proposed switch yard. I am intelligent enough to realize that such a project would greatly decrease the value of the homes located in this district.

There are many of us living in this district in homes less than a year old. Who wants to buy a home and live in such a district plagued with noise, smoke, soot and smell?

Mr. Blackwood says this proposed project would "maintain high employment in the factories. What good is it for a man to work, save for his family to buy a home, just to have a switch yard rob him of his investment?"

He says the industrial and railroad development located in the north end ahead of the homes. Does that give them the right to destroy the residential atmosphere of a new residential district? There are schools and churches located less than two blocks away. Children now cross the field where the proposed switch yard is to be located, on their way to school. There was another site proposed for the yard but it is not so convenient. This would affect a handful of scattered homes (no schools and churches).

This volume of business that Pontiac and Fisher experienced in 1955 (a record year), was followed in 1956 by layoffs because of overproduction. In 1955, the war years were booming years and the facilities were adequate. For whom is this city run, its residents, the people who work and live here, or its industry?

Wonders if Anyone Believes Truman

I wonder if the top Democrats or any of the public still believe Truman. He now has lied three times on one subject. When Brownell said that Truman knew Harry Dexter White was a Communist, yet moved him to a higher job, Truman denied it... said when he learned White was a Red he fired him.

Brownell's records showed that White never was fired but resigned. Later, Truman said that when he got the report on White he moved him to a better job, so he could be watched.

J. Edgar Hoover stated that White had actually been given a job out of FBI jurisdiction. I don't believe Truman about anything any more, and wonder if anyone does.

Indonesian Beasts Grow Scarce

Lovers Will Be Losers When Rhinos Disappear

By JAMES WILDE
(For Hal Boyle)
JAKARTA (U)—The Indonesian rhinoceros is becoming extinct, says the chief of the veterinary service. This is bad news for the local rhinoceros. The much prized rhino horn is reputed to be a powerful love potion in these parts.

Indonesia and Africa are the only two countries in the world which can boast these animals roaming about in a wild state.

ONLY ONE HORN
The Indonesian rhino differs from its African counterpart by having only one horn instead of two. But it still packs a 2½-ton punch when fully grown.

At the turn of the century in Tjibadak—Rhino River—the western Java you couldn't see the trees for the rhinos. They were strictly protected by the Dutch but even they couldn't stop lovelies poachers from raiding the reserves to get the potent horn ground up and used as an elixir.

Since the Dutch left in 1949 and with the wholesale use of firearms, the rhino ranks have been sadly depleted. It is estimated that only 16 of these cumbersome beasts are left.

OTHERS VANISHING
These are not the only animals which are in danger of disappearing completely from Indonesia. Other slow-breeding species such as orangutan ape are nearly extinct. This animal closely related to the African gorilla is only found in Borneo and Sumatra. These animals are becoming extinct not only by killing but by kidnapping. They fetch a high price in zoos. A big-scale smuggling business goes on between Borneo and Singapore.

The most unusual animal now becoming very rare and only found in a small island called Komodo in Indonesia is the giant dragon. This beast forgot to become extinct more than half a million years ago when most of its neighbors became fossils. It is a real dragon with forked tongue, three-clawed feet, characteristic saw-tooth back and is generally 12 feet long.

Dragons too fetch high prices in the zoo market.

Suggests Memorizing Passages

That was good educational psychology and it is regrettable that the custom has died out.

For not only are children nowadays illegible handwriters, but their minds are equally barren of great moral precepts.

One of the best forms of insurance for idealism and inspirational thinking in old age, is to fill the mind early with beautiful bits of verse and prose.

Memorize at least 25 Bible verses and other relevant quotations that will fit all sorts of future social dilemmas.

If you don't realize how barren most of our minds are regarding rich quotations, can you recite even three verses from the Bible?

Can you quote a single stanza of any great poem, with the possible exception of nursery rhymes and "Mary Had a Little Lamb?"

Suppose you found yourself at the bedside of a dying loved one, who wanted reassurance and inspiration any passage from Scripture. If not, get your Bible and memorize John 14:1-4.

Most of us are Christians, but few can even recite those three short verses that contain the entire hope of mankind.

Instead of memorizing few jokes, how about setting a goal of at least 25 choice quotations from the Bible, Benjamin Franklin, and the great poets?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25¢ to cover trying and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Plan to Transplant 'Live' Teeth in Bank

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A dental research team at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor has revealed plans to "transplant live, human teeth and store other 'live' teeth in a tooth bank."

A spokesman for the team said that if the plan works "it would eventually lead to elimination of artificial teeth and would promote better health for the population in general."

Dr. James K. Avery, assistant professor of Dentistry and director of the futuristic project, said: "We know it is possible to transplant teeth in humans. It has been done successfully in selected cases of young adults. However, there are problems to be ironed out."

Oregon Court Bars Women From Groaning

SALEM, Ore. (INS)—The Oregon Supreme Court has found constitutional a law forbidding wrestling by women in the state. Justice Walter Tooez, who wrote the court opinion, observed that most members of the legislature which outlawed lady wrestlers were men and said:

"Obviously, it intended there should be at least one island of the sea of life reserved for man that would be impregnable to the assault of woman."

He denied that the law discriminated and asked: "Is it any wonder that the legislative assembly took advantage of the police power of the state to halt the ever-increasing feminine encroachment upon what for ages had been considered strictly as manly arts and privileges?"

A 1,000-mile fence was built all the way across the Australian continent in 1907 to keep rabbits from invading western Australia.

Gadzooks!!! It Must Be the Work of Spooks

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS)—Some one put a tombstone in the yard behind the house of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Key. The couple considered it a practical joke at first, but decided it must have been a delivery to the wrong address because it had been taken all the way to the rear of the house. They found no identification that would help them return it.

So they decided to ignore it on the old theory that if you close your eyes to something long enough it will go away.

Nixon Pushes All-GOP Slate

Follows Party Appeal Set by Ike for Complete Republican Sweep

EUGENE, Ore. (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined vigorously today with President Eisenhower in a bid for election of Republican candidates down the line through federal and state levels.

In speeches prepared for delivery at appearances in Idaho and Washington today the vice president pressed the program of the GOP administration and also plugged for Eisenhower's "partnership policy" on development of electrical power.

This policy as enunciated by the President calls for federal, state and local participation—including private enterprise—in power projects.

Nixon appeared intent on maintaining his campaign on a high level and avoided any mudslinging but last night at Eugene the crowds cheered the loudest when he threw a few digs at the Democrats.

Before flying to Boise and Spokane to finish his swing through the power-hungry Pacific northwest Nixon passed up an opportunity to tell 7,200 persons in Eugene, the home town of Sen. Wayne Morse, what he didn't like about the Republican-turned-Democrat.

While not even mentioning Morse, Nixon had nothing but nice words for former interior secretary Douglas McKay, who is in a hot race for Morse's senate seat.

Oxford Driver Escapes Death at RR Crossing

A local race car driver got the scare of his life yesterday. He jumped free of a truck seconds before it collided with a train at an Auburn Heights crossing in Avon Township.

Jack A. Harvey, 26, of 67 East St., Oxford, was slightly shocked. The collision put a Grand Trunk Railroad engine out of commission. The garbage truck he was driving had but a dented right side.

Oakland County deputies said Harvey was approaching the crossing when his breaks failed. He turned the truck sharply to the left and leaped. The engine steam line was destroyed in the collision.

Ervin F. Perry, 62, of 216 Hickory Lane, Waterford Township, was engineer of the 40-car freight train.

Mexico Cab Drivers Back Death Penalty

MEXICO CITY (INS) — Mexico City cab drivers will ask the supreme court and the chamber of deputies to authorize capital punishment.

The drivers, carrying their complaints to the press, insist capital punishment is the only one severe enough to keep them from being murdered on their jobs.

The organizers of the capital punishment petition say they have been spurred to action by the wave of cab-driver robbery killings that has swept Mexico City recently.

The drivers also say they will all contribute to the establishment of a fund to take care of the families of drivers killed while working.

Oh, Come Now— Tell That Yarn to the Marines

DECATUR, Ill. (U) — Steve Durbin went fishing and came back with the strangest story folks hereabouts have heard in a long time.

After baiting several bank poles, he moved away to start hand fishing. Then a bird proceeded to steal the bait.

"I saw this red-winged black-bird fly up and sit on the end of one of the poles," Durbin said.

"After a while that bird reached down with his foot and grabbed the line. Using his beak and feet, he pulled the bait right up."

Durbin yelled and scared the bird away.

"But he came back after a while and started to reel in another line," Durbin said. "I'll bet he's been robbing those bank poles for some time."

The postal savings bank system was established in England in 1861 and adopted by Canada in 1867. It was introduced into the United States in 1910.

Ducks Out of Luck

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — A flight of mallards swooped down over this resort. Three times they tried to land. Three times they failed. Finally they gave up in disgust and wheeled off to a nearby lake. Their first landing target: an outdoor ice skating rink.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture was established in 1869.

Bob Considine Says:

Weather Bureau's All Ready for the Girls

WASHINGTON (INS) — Anna, Betsy, Carla and Dora, the Eastern Seaboard's first four hurricanes of the 1956 season, have come and gone. Ethel is still muttering offshore.

Let future hurricanes be warned: The U. S. Weather Bureau is ready for them—at least it has 22 names lined up waiting.

The next twister that roars out of the Caribbean will be identified as Flossy. She will be followed (if there are enough storms to go around) by Greta, Hattie, Inez, Judith, Kitty, Laura, Molly, Nona, Odette (where is thy sting?), Paula Quenby (that's right, Quenby), Rhoda, Sadie, Terese, Ursel, Vesta, Winnie, Xina, Yola and Zenda.

"We've never gotten through the whole alphabet of girls' names since we began identifying them that way," a Weather Bureau man named Herbert Lieb reported today.

"Biggest year we had was 1933, when we got 21. Most people like the girl name system, though we still get complaints. Some people want men's names. Others suggest the Greek alphabet, or the military's 'Able, Baker, Charlie' system."

STRICT REGULATIONS

"Our rules are pretty strict," Lieb said from a storm shelter in the bureau's Hurricane Division. "There will never be a Hurricane Fanny, or a Hurricane Zaa Zaa. Nor even a Hurricane Phyllis."

"The names have to be short and easy to remember, to facilitate the spread of information about the storms. Common, garden variety names."

"Like Quenby," the reporter commented.

"Don't know how Quenby got in there," Lieb said. "I don't know any girl named Quenby myself. The names are compiled at the start of each year by a large group of meteorologists from our place and the Army, Navy and Air Force. A board makes the final selections."

"Girls' names have helped people understand hurricanes. Phenomena of this kind were first given a personality, I think, by George R. Stewart in his book 'Storm,' written some years ago at a time when we still were identifying them only by their longitude and latitude."

"But people always have groped to know more about hurricanes. Centuries ago these storms were given the names of the saints on whose days the storm was first noted. They say Santa Ana and San Philippe were beasts."

MORE TYPHOONS

Girls whose names do not appear on the 1956 list, and who have been ignored in the past, should move to Okinawa, where a hurricane did $4,100,000 damage to U. S. installations the other day. There are so many typhoons.

Peak Record of U.S. Tourists in Italy Expected

ROME (INS)—Take the population of San Francisco, transplant it from the Pacific to the Mediterranean, and you'll have a rough idea of the number of U. S. visitors Italy is expecting this season.

Now that the peak period has passed, tourist agencies confidently predict that by October a record 750,000 Americans — 18 per cent more than last year — will have toured the country.

The agencies claim the major reason for this upswing is the spreading of the tourist season from June-to-September to March-to-October, largely due to American efforts.

Where do all these "rich" Americans come from?

Latest U. S. Department of Commerce figures show that the average American tourist is a modest employee from a state with a large foreign-born population such as New York, California, New Jersey, Illinois or Pennsylvania, and that he spends only about $300 (plus transportation) on his whole Continental holiday.

Tooth Decay Control Is Sought in Drugs

EAST LANSING — A clue to the problem of how to control human tooth decay may be found in a report that penicillin and other antibiotics prevent dental cavities in rats.

A research at Michigan State University said recently:

"Penicillin is extremely effective in retarding development of tooth decay in our specially developed strain of rats that are susceptible to tooth decay, thus confirming indications of earlier research teams."

Dr. Harrison R. Hunt, a geneticist, said penicillin could not be used in toothpastes to prevent decay because, among other things, humans tend to build up an immunity to it.

all red-blooded American girls named Irma, Irene, Ingrid, Isabelle, Ignacia, Irmytrude, Ida and Icky when the board arbitrarily picked Inez.

And how about Flossy prevailing over Frances, Frieda, Fay, Felicia and Fuscina?

A small girl who lets us room and board with her has been passed over for nearly half of her life. Her name is Debbie.

Dora jolted her this year and somebody else did last year. But she had her heart set mostly on making the grade a couple of years ago after Hurricane Connie blew out.

"What's the new one's name?" she asked, as we headed for the storm cellar with the K-rations, dog food and martinis.

"Diane," I said, hoarsely.

She was silent for a good half minute, and then she said: "Oh."

Bobby the Bobcat—Pet and Pet Project

SHINGLETON (INS)—A four-footed research project with a powerful purr provides the home of wildlife expert Al Erickson.

It's Bobby, an amber-eyed bobcat that Erickson has brought up from kittenhood both as a family pet and to study in his work as a biologist.

Erickson wrote his master's thesis on bobcats and plans to carry on his research with Bobby's help.

Bobby likes to show her affection for Erickson by leaping on his lap, planting her front paws on his shoulders and rubbing her whiskers against his. She greets strangers the same way.

"She's a lot friendlier than most domestic cats," says Erickson.

Some 25.7 million horses and mules were used on American farms in 1920 as compared to five million in 1954.

Steve Allen Betrayed— by His Own Wife, Too

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Steve Allen's Jayne Meadows sits home Sunday nights and watches Steve on TV—but also switches over to Ed Sullivan. "Just so I can tell Steve what Ed's doing!" she insists. . . . The housewife named Grace Kelly and the "Mr. Rainier" who appeared on Perry Como's show got $100 each. "It's easy to get 'guest stars,'" says chief writer Goodman Ace. "Just look in the phone book."

GEENE

Johnny Lujack, now a Chevy dealer in Davenport, Ia., travels more than when he was a Notre Dame grid great. Each weekend he flies here for CBS' "Football Roundup" on TV. . . . "Elvis Presley sings like Marilyn Monroe walks," says the German magazine, Quick.

Taffy Tuttle was a flop as a shoe clerk. When a customer asked for alligator shoes, she said, "What size is your alligator?" . . . Sid Caesar, who did his first fall TV show in pain, will have to have another slight operation.

SUCCESS STORY: Be the first in the office every morning, the last to leave at night, never be absent, always work through your lunch hour, and one day the big boss will call you in and say, "I've been watching your work very carefully, Jones. Just what are you up to?"

Rox Russell has 22 costume changes and five hairdo changes in upcoming "Auntie Mame," which'll come into town with close to $1,500,000 advance—biggest in Broadway history. Perle Mesta's decided to give her a big society-type party about Nov. 1—a month after the opening. Rox'll play Perle's life story ("The Hostess With the Mostest") in films in '57 or '58 with Perle out in as a partner.

Writer Eli Basse, now with Jackie Gleason (having given up all cafe star clients except Joe E. Lewis), says, "What's all the fuss about the Suez Canal? I've seen it and the water's filthy."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ethel Merman mentioned at El Morocco she hopes "Happy Hunting" won't run three years, "only 18 months."

Edie Adams is on the road with "Li'l Abner," and Ernie Kovacs warned her, "Keep out of those all-night poker games!" . . . Bella Darvi's latest Paris playmate is Erich Maria Remarque.

Actress Ina Claire is resting in Switzerland, on doctor's orders. . . . Remember movie actor Stepin Fetchit? He's working at a Newark theater this week. . . . Adlai Stevenson's son Borden, asked if his dates with Mimi Smith were serious, said diplomatically, "I take all my friendships seriously."

Earl's Pearls . . .

A suspicious wife serves at least one good purpose—If not for her, unattractive secretaries would never get jobs.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "In Hollywood an actress won't wear a dress that isn't an original—but she'll take a second-hand husband."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bob Olin discussed a fading actor: "Once his name was plastered all over town; now he is."

Mickey Freeman appeared on the smallest of the N.Y. TV stations, and said, "It's so homey here—the only station I know that rents rooms in the back." . . . That's earl, brother.

Children Gain Understanding

Students in California Try Japanese Customs for Twelve Days

BERKELEY, Calif. (INS)—All through they've never seen the "land of rising sun," 120 Berkeley boys and girls now have a wide knowledge of things Japanese thanks to an experiment in International understanding on the part of their church.

For 12 days this summer they wore kimono and hosi coats, knelt on tatami mats; ate such Japanese foods as sukiyaki and tempura; studied the traditional tea ceremony and Japanese flower arrangements; performed Japanese dances and painted and fashioned ceramics in Japanese style.

Many of these activities were carried on in a Japanese house, complete with the distinctive sliding doors and low-scaled furniture.

Yet they never left the hall of their church, The First Unitarian Church in Berkeley. They were participants in the church's third annual children's workshop in international living, which has the basic thesis that an understanding of another nation's customs creates a feeling of friendship impossible to establish in any other way.

The children even adopted Japanese names and as the workshop came to an end, stood outside the church hall and bowed solemnly to each other, saying the traditional Japanese goodbye: "Sayonara."

They took two trips to San Francisco—the first to visit the Japan Trade Center and the second for a picnic in the Oriental Tea Garden in Golden Gate Park.

The children range in age from first graders through junior high school students and their lives during this period were patterned as closely as possible to that of Japanese youngsters.

Water Works Show Habit of Townfolk

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Times have changed in this southwestern Ohio community, and the boys at the city water works have a unique barometer to prove the statement.

At times the old pumps get going like mad and the boys begin to draw conclusions of their own about the local citizenry. Some of the conclusions:

Housewives now like Tuesday almost as Monday for washday.

Saturday afternoon is about as popular as Saturday night for the weekly bath.

You can even tell when a popular television program is on, the boys note. The water draw goes down while the program's on and surges back up when it signs off.

Iowa Republican Backs Democratic Candidates

CORNING, Iowa (AP)—Dan Turner, 79, former Republican governor of Iowa, has announced his support of the Democratic presidential ticket and R. M. Evans, Iowa Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Turner, who says he still regards himself as a Republican, had announced earlier this year he would not vote for President Eisenhower, whom he supported in 1952.

Biggest Baby Killer Is—Whooping Cough

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Whooping cough kills more babies in their first year than all the other common infectious childhood diseases taken together, the U.N. World Health Organization reported today.

Whooping cough is also the only childhood disease which kills more girls than boys, the report added.

And Was She Mad!

VALLEY, Neb. (AP)—A couple pulled their car into a gas station here, had the tank filled after which the car drove off. The driver later recounted how 10 miles away, his eyes fixed firmly on the road, he asked his wife to light a cigarette for him. No answer. He took his eyes from the road long enough for a side glance at his wife. No wife. He returned to the gas station to pick her up.

Meatless Tuesday

TISHOMINGO, Okla. (AP)—A Tishomingo city ordinance passed in 1918—and still on the books—makes it illegal for citizens of this southern Oklahoma town to "serve, prepare or eat" any beef, mutton or pork on Tuesday of each week.

Pink Mules Too Much

ORLEANS, Neb. (AP)—The story goes that three men took the pledge and one left town to take the cure when they saw a pair of pink mules trotting down the street. They needn't have jumped to conclusions because what they saw really was a team of pink mules. When two gray mules worked up a sweat they were covered with red quilts. The color ran and the mules took on a pinkish hue.

Switch Golfer Is Good

SHARON, Mass. (AP)—Switch hitters in golf are rare but 15-year-old Dick Wright is more than rare—he is in a class by himself. He plays his woods lefty, but switches to the right side for his irons—except No. 5 and No. 9—and when he reaches the green he puts lefty. The Sharon Country Club caddy shoots a pretty good game too despite, or because of his switch hitting.

He Can Have It!

MURRAY, Sask. (AP)—Joe Richard, a Murray district farmer, walked 45 miles to Paducah in nine hours and 50 minutes. Offered $100 to repeat the performance, he walked it again in eight hours, 35 minutes.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FUN WITH SHADOWS—1 The Rabbit

With a little practice you will become more skillful at using your fingers for interesting shadows, and you may be able to invent some of your own.

Remember that the brighter the light the blacker the shadow on the screen will be; and the nearer to the screen, the clearer and sharper the shadow will be.

One of the easiest shadows is a rabbit. There are many variations, and here is a timid little one sitting up on its back legs in alarm.

Put your hands into the position shown. You can always judge how well the shadow looks to your audience by looking at your side of the screen. Try making his ears twitch and his paws shake. If you know a short story or verse about a rabbit you can recite it at the same time.

(Junior Editors $10 award goes to Joanne Koshalek, Rothchild, Wis., for sending in this idea first. Send in your suggestions care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

New 'Weapon' Used to Fire Nylon Line

BERLIN, Conn. (U.P.) — The Connecticut Light & Power Co. has added a weapon resembling a sawed-off shotgun to the equipment of its linemen.

It's not to repel wild beasts, few of which are found in Connecticut's hinterland anyway, but to fire a half-pound brass rod attached to 550 feet of nylon line.

The company said it learned the value of the line-throwing device during the 1955 Connecticut floods when it was used to get lines across streams at spots where bridges had been washed out.

Retired Railman Wills His Estate to Train Union

ESCANABA (INS) — A retired railroad engineer recently left most of his $75,000 estate to the brotherhood of locomotive engineers because "everything I have I owe to them."

The late Frank P. Greene entered the railroad field when he was 16 years old. He started firing locomotives in a lumber camp and was an engineer on the Soo line when he retired in 1940, after 30 years on railroads as a member of the union.

Steelworkers Endorse Adlai

Convention Delegates Unanimous in Backing Democratic Candidates

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United Steelworkers convention yesterday endorsed Democrats Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. Some 2,500 delegates representing 1,200,000 members unanimously adopted a resolution to that effect.

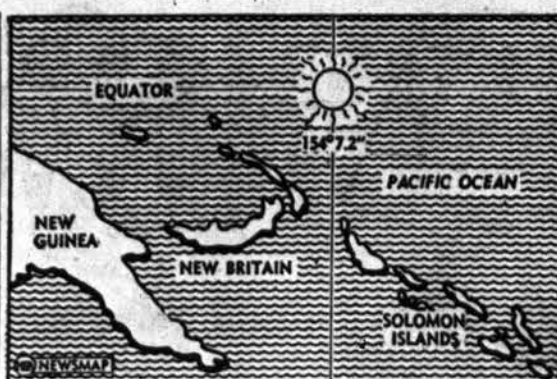

President David J. McDonald told Stevenson that his unionists were "99 per cent" for the Democratic standard-bearers.

Stevenson spoke to the convention by telephone from Washington and drew loud applause as he accused the administration of a breach of faith on the Taft-Hartley Act, the NLRB and the minimum wage. His voice was carried over a public address system.

McDonald assured Stevenson that the union would give him monetary as well as manpower support.

Stevenson and Kefauver were endorsed by the parent AFL-CIO Executive Board last week.

The presidential nominee was aided in his attack on the administration's labor policies by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Kennedy directed most of his fire at what he termed "the White House repudiation" of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell's views on legislation favorable to labor.

The senator told the convention delegates that if they wanted revision of Taft-Hartley of the NLRB, they had better elect more Democratic congressmen.

Cool Miners Missing

SAGA, Japan (AP)—Five coal miners were listed as missing and presumed dead today after fire broke out in the Mitsubishi coal mine. Nineteen miners were trapped almost 5,000 feet below the surface. Rescuers brought out 14.

Toads' Feet or Not It Still Smells Bad

BALTIMORE (AP)—When former President Truman let it be known a while ago that when he worked in a Missouri drug store as a boy, he thought one of the jars there contained "toad's feet," a Baltimore pharmacist rushed to set things right.

M. L. Cooper wrote to tell Truman that the Latin words he remembered as "ic todes foet" meant "skunk cabbage." And anyway, he explained, they should have been written "icodes foetudus."

Replying, the former president summed up: "A very high-sounding name for a lowly plant."

Peaches Browning Will Filed on Coast

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—The last will and testament of Mrs. Ralph Willson—the Peaches Browning of 30 years ago — has been filed in Superior Court here.

The three paragraph document gave no estimate of the estate value. It directed that all bills be paid and that the entire residue be turned over to Mrs. Willson's mother, Mrs. Carolyn M. Heenan of San Carlos.

The four-times-married Peaches attained national prominence when at 15 she married 52-year-old Edward (Daddy) Browning, multi-millionaire New York realtor. She died at the age of 46 at her New York apartment Aug. 25.

In 1951 the average income of physicians, before office and professional expenses, was $22,398, a rise of 160 per cent since 1929.

Misguided Monkey Messes Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alertness of a Telegraph Hill apartment dweller last night resulted in the capture of San Francisco's most mysterious prowler, a vandal who had wrecked two apartments and was well into his third job.

Police said Mal Thomas, awakened by the crashing of dishes in his kitchen, softly called police.

They found the vandal calmly eating biscuits in the kitchen—and promptly called the Humane Society.

The prowler was a pet gibbon monkey, who periodically gets loose from his quarters in an apartment house courtyard and goes on a wrecking spree, police reported.

Space Travel Rules Written

No Colonizing Allowed on All Foreign Planets in World of Future

ROME (AP)—The president of the American Rocket Society said today there must be no colonizing or flag-raising on other planets by earth's space travelers of the future.

Andrew G. Haley, Washington, D.C., attorney and space travel enthusiast, told the 7th International Astronautical Congress that higher forms of life might be encountered on space travels.

"We must not sell out to conquer," he said. "If we do we may find ourselves not triumphant perpetrators of evil oppression but prisoners of the just."

He presented one of the few nontechnical papers to the 22-nation conference. It dealt with space law.

Haley said the maxim of space law must be "Do unto others as they would have you do unto them." He laid down this rule for space exploration:

"In any instance where there is reason to believe life exists on a planet, no earth spaceship may land without having satisfactorily ascertained that (1) landing and contact will injure neither explorer nor explored and (2) until the earthship has been invited to land by the explored."

Astronomers generally agree there is little likelihood of higher forms of life on Venus and Mars, the most promising of the Earth's neighbors, because of unfavorable atmospheric conditions. Life on other planets in the solar system is ruled out because of great heat on Mercury and low density and intense cold on the rest.

Thank the Dutch for Those Happy Coffee Breaks

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Appreciate that coffee break twice a day? You can thank the Dutch who settled in Michigan in 1847, a University of Michigan researcher says.

F. Clever Bald, assistant director of the university's historical collections, says the Dutch brought the custom with them and it has spread throughout the country.

Bald, who says The Netherlands Information Service at Holland, Mich., backs him up, explained that most people have their coffee break at 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. with benefit of a roll or doughnut.

The Netherlands service said this: "The coffee break at Holland probably stems back to the old Dutch custom of serving coffee at about 11 o'clock in the morning, a custom that prevails in The Netherlands today."

Especially in Hong Kong In All Three Continents: Communist Movies Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Movies—disturbingly good ones—are spearheading the Communist cultural offensive in the Middle East, the Far East and Africa.

This was the report brought back by Turner B. Shelton, chief of the motion picture service of the U. S. Information Agency, after a six-week on-the-spot survey.

"What most disturbed me," he said in an interview yesterday, "was the very much heightened activity of Communist China."

At Hong Kong, for instance, he said he learned a Red Chinese picture was smashing all box office records in Singapore.

GOOD SHOW

"Yet, up to three months ago no picture made in Red China had ever been shown in Singapore," Shelton said.

"And this one was very well made technically and artistically. The colors were good. The story had a natural nostalgic appeal—it was a Chinese opera hundreds of years old that recalled China's past glories."

Shelton said the Communists apparently are "pulling out all stops" wherever new nations are springing up. That is why, he said, the Russians are flooding Central Africa with their movies.

Right now, he said, the problem of meeting this competition is not so serious.

"Hollywood films are preferred everywhere in the world," he said.

New Nuclear Peril: Atomic Shipwrecks

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (INS)—Purdue University has announced a new bandage and ointment which will be a boon to burn and poison ivy sufferers and to those who take care of them.

Dr. Glen J. Sperandio, associate professor of pharmacy, and two assistants have perfected a plastic bandage and an ointment, either of which will release a constant level of medication to the skin for as long as two weeks.

Working with Dr. Sperandio are Drs. Wilson Nashed and William Fieldler, graduate students.

The pharmaceutical items depend upon an ion exchange process discovered by the three men. Ions are electrically charged atoms or molecules.

By use of this ion exchange process, bandages and dressings do not need to be changed so frequently. Persons suffering burns, poison ivy and similar ailments often must undergo considerable pain in the process of changing bandages.

Dr. Sperandio explained that hard, insoluble and non-toxic beads of resin are used in the process to set up the exchange of ions. Particles of the medication are loosely absorbed on the surfaces of the resinous beads.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. Richard Fayram, an expert on atom-powered ships, says nuclear engines may propel most of the world's ships by 1970 and warned against a new danger — atomic shipwrecks.

The 35-year-old scientist said hundreds of passengers would have suffered from radiation effects had either the Andrea Doria or the Stockholm been equipped with a nuclear engine.

Last week's sinking of the American freighter Pelagia near the Arctic Circle would have ruined Norway's sardine crop if the ship had had an atom engine, he said.

The Yukon River rises in Canada but about two-thirds of its 2,200 mile course is in Alaska.

Conversion a Major Operation

Hotel Makes Switch to Hospital

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A short time ago a traveling salesman walked into the building at 50 N. Perry St. and asked the receptionist for a room.

She smiled and asked him what was wrong.

"I'm tired and want a room overnight like I always do," he replied.

Suddenly realizing his confusion, the girl explained that what for many years was the Hotel Pontiac, now was Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

THE SAME FRONT

There was reason for confusion on the part of the visitor. Outside, little change can be noted in the 27-year-old seven-story building. The large hotel sign on the south wall has recently been painted over. There is a new, hospital sign at the entrance. The shop and bar which fronted on Perry Street are no longer there.

Inside, it's a different story except for the lobby. There, nurses and doctors roam about instead of porters. Everywhere else proof is plentiful it is possible to convert a hotel into a hospital.

Credit for the conversion goes to Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, and a tireless staff of doctors, nurses and their husbands and wives.

While work is nearly complete on the seventh and final floor by the maintenance staff, scrubbing and painting of other floors was done day and night by hospital staff volunteers.

The hospital was purchased for an undisclosed sum in December from the Hotel Pontiac Corp. Jan.

1, workers poured into the building to begin the changeovers.

Feb. 22, the first patients, 30 of them, were transferred into the new building while hammers, nails and paint brushes were still flying.

"We tried to leave it as much like a hotel as possible," Whitlow explained.

BUGS ON FLOORS

Missing are most hospital characteristics. Carpets in the halls block out the clatter of hospital carts and wheel chairs. Hardly a trace of "hospital odor" is noted.

When the top floor is completed in a month, there will be 110 beds.

Remodeling has cost $75,000, according to Whitlow. New equipment worth $152,000 was moved into the hospital.

"Most people figured it couldn't be done," Whitlow said. But, without the aid of professional architects or engineers, Whitlow took a floor plan of the hotel and laid out the hospital.

Laboratory and therapy rooms are where the old health club was. The barber shop in the basement has given way to X-ray. The pharmacy is located in the old Junior Achievement offices.

The medical record department is where the aquarium store used to be. The dress shop now is the business office. The bar is slated for conversion to a coffee shop.

BALLROOMS TO WARDS

The hotel manager's office is now the admissions office.

Three ballrooms have been converted to wards. The fifth, sixth and seventh floors will have both private and semi-private rooms for medical and surgical patients.

The brightened private rooms have all the comforts of home, including telephones and television. Drapes and carpets still decorate these rooms.

Whitlow said he believes this is the first attempt at converting a hotel to a hospital.

To make way for two operating rooms, walls have been knocked out combining several old hotel suites.

Whitlow said the hospital purchased all hotel equipment, sold the hotel beds, but kept and refinished the other furniture.

SEE WORKERS

There are 31 doctors on the staff with a total of 171 employees, Whitlow said.

Plans are under way to build a solarium on the roof next year, Whitlow said.

Besides electrical and plumbing work, the biggest project according to Whitlow, was to add a fire escape and increase fire protection facilities.

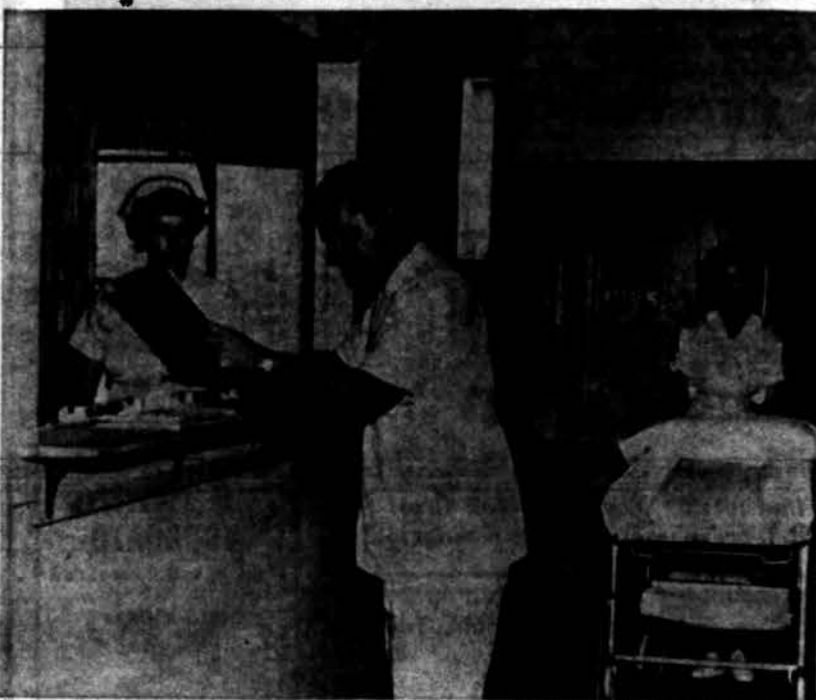

STILL A CHAMPION — Donald G. Harter, of Birmingham, sits at the wheel of his 1903 Model A Ford which recently won the grand championship in the 1899-1916 class at Greenfield Village's Old Car Festival. The passenger is Tom Romkey, also of Birmingham. The sixth annual meet attracted a record 250 antique cars this year.

CONVERTED DINING ROOM — These three patients might well remember and enjoyed dining in this room once belonging to the Pontiac City Club and later the Hotel Pontiac dining room.

Now it is a nine-bed ward on the first floor of the converted Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, 50 N. Perry St. There are two other large wards on this floor which were once hotel ballrooms.

FIFTH FLOOR NURSE'S STATION — The past users of the old Hotel Pontiac didn't get off the elevator and see this scene. Since the conversion of the hotel this year to the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, stations like this one have been converted from rooms at the end of the halls. Dr. Eugene L. Sikorski, of Detroit, is checking a medical chart with Mrs. Naron Foster, R. N., of Clarkston. Pushing a stretcher is Mrs. Howard Briggs, of Pontiac.

Borgnine Sues Hecht-Lancaster Film Combine

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Ernest Borgnine has asked Superior Court to end his contract with the company which produced the picture that skyrocketed him to film fame. He also wants $142,500 damages.

Borgnine filed suit yesterday against Harold Hecht and Burt Lancaster, film producing partners, and their subsidiary producing companies. Hecht and Lancaster produced "Marty," in which Borgnine's acting won an Academy Award.

Borgnine's complaint said he was not represented by an attorney when he signed the contract prepared by Hecht-Lancaster lawyers in August 1954. He said the contract for "Marty" called for him to receive $5,000 and 2 1/2 per cent of the profits for five years.

The complaint also said that Borgnine received only $35,000 for two pictures made at 20th Century-Fox, whereas Hecht-Lancaster received nearly $150,000 for loaning him to the studio.

Retired Supervisor Looks Back

Recalling the days when Woodward was a plank road and a wedding dress had leg-o-mutton sleeves, the Perry Vaughans this week are preparing to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

The Vaughans have lived in the Bloomfield area all their lives, and Vaughan's birthplace, is an old brick home whose erectness is eased by four graceful white pillars. It stands at Lahser and Vaughan.

Land about the old home was sold in 1920 for subdividing, and the home became the James Vernon home. Owner now is Mrs. Adolph J. Weismuller.

But the roots that were laid when the Vaughnan family took up their land contracts from their government in 1828, were kept by the descendants.

Perry Vaughn served his home-area as supervisor for 20 years, even moving his family when their home land was included in the incorporation of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills into cities. They moved into a brick home where their four children, Lillian, Beth, Bernice, and Perry Jr., were born.

That home, now that of Eero Saarinen, has been remodeled extensively, but the stone home where Perry was born and where the family returned to live several years after his mother died is kept much like it was.

White clapboard has been added to rear buildings, making a sunny dining room where the woodshed once stood.

Vaughan farms covered much of the Bloomfield area, for the old abstracts reveal that the land grant was for a full section. It was broken up into four farms, which were operated by Perry Vaughan's father, Clark, and his brothers, John, George, and Theron.

"Uncle John owned that land across from our land, where the George Romney's modern home now stands," recalls Vaughn.

Land sales and moving homes has kept the Vaughnans active. Vaughn retired in 1924, but has had such tasks as the chairmanship of the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education, on which he served for 45 years.

Their wedding is recalled by Mrs. Vaughn, who says her leg-o-mutton gown was of white alpaca, and her hat of blue velvet "was about six inches high, like a box, and would be very stylish this fall."

RECALLS BLOOMFIELD PAST — This old stone home high atop a hill at the Vaughnan-Lahser roads intersection recalls the early days in Bloomfield Township, when this was the farmhouse centering the widely-spreading Vaughnan farm lands. It was birthplace of Perry Vaughn, who served the township as supervisor for many years.

Kefauver Urged to Use GOP Tactics

MOORHEAD, Minn. (INS) — Sen. Estes Kefauver was urged today to intensify his demand that Vice President Richard M. Nixon apologize for past attacks on the Democrats.

Close advisers of the Democratic vice presidential nominee are suggesting that he follow the example of GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and repeat the demand every day until answered.

Hall used this approach in challenging Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson to refute former President Harry S.

Truman's contention that Alger Hiss was not a Communist spy.

Stevenson told a news conference Monday that he never doubted a jury's verdict that the former state department official committed perjury in denying that he passed official secrets to a Communist spy.

SWEETNESS AND LIGHT — Kefauver told newsmen that although he had not "sought any counsel" from Stevenson he is sure his running-mate and he "see eye to eye" on Nixon.

Yesterday, Kefauver said that

Nixon appears to be embarked on a "sweetness and light" campaign but he will not show that he is sincere unless he makes "a great many apologies, and public ones."

The Tennessean specified he feels Nixon owes apologies for claiming — according to an Oct. 23, 1954, issue of a Butte, Mont., paper — that "red-shaded adherents" were trying to "take over the Democratic party."

Kefauver's next stop in a two-week, 15-state initial campaign swing was Sidney, Mont.

Seven Steps to Prevent Fire

UM Specialist States Obedience Can Prevent 9 Out of 10 Blazes

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A University of Michigan fire prevention specialist has seven simple safety measures which, if followed, can prevent nine out of 10 home fires in Michigan.

Francis A. Hartman lists the following steps:

1. Keep matches out of reach of children.
2. Smoke cigarettes safely—and never in bed.
3. Stop misuse of electricity—check and correct improper fusing, overloaded circuit, defective wiring and appliances.
4. Have your heating equipment and chimney cleaned, inspected and repaired annually.
5. Use fire retardant roofing.
6. Keep gasoline, kerosene, naphtha and other volatile liquids outside the home—never use them for dry cleaning or starting a fire.
7. Regularly remove rubbish and other unnecessary combustibles from your home.

Hartman points out that home fires cost Michigan families upwards of $11 million annually, and well over 150 persons died in fires in the state every year.

The safety expert says Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13, is a good time to check your home with the above list and take all corrective measures indicated. Fall is the best season for checking your heating plant for winter and, like spring, good for giving your house a thorough cleaning from top to bottom.

Hartman concluded that while inspection of your home wiring and heating system usually must be done by professionals, the expense involved is far less than what even a small fire would cost. And most of the fire prevention steps are a simple matter of getting everyone in the family safety conscious.

Seek Fluoridation OK

SPRING LAKE (H)—This Ottawa County community plans to seek state approval on fluoridating its water supply, following a city council vote in favor of adopting the water supply treatment at an initial cost of $1,751.

DONKEY DELIVERY—Youngster deposits postcard in mailbox carried by "Munk," a dwarf donkey at the Hannover, Germany, zoo. Animal also carries comb, stamps and postcards.

'Indestructible Straits Bridge' Designer Says

MACKINAC ISLAND (H)—The man who designed the Straits of Mackinac Bridge says "Nothing can destroy it" once the 100 million dollar structure is completed.

Trucks carrying aviation fuel and explosives over the bridge to Kinross Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie will be escorted by fire trucks equipped to handle gasoline fires, said Dr. D. B. Steinman of New York.

Steinman outlined the safety plans to county road officials from 35 states who are holding their national conference here.

Some members of the state legislature have warned the five-mile long bridge might be destroyed by fire.

But Steinman said it would take "seven to eight tons of TNT" exploding squarely on a cable to damage the bridge. Even so, he said, the span would still be able to handle a capacity traffic load.

American industry consumed an estimated 5,450 long tons of tin in April for the largest total since January of 1951.

But Contemporaries Turned Deaf Ears

Washington Decried Partisanship

BY ROBERT E. THOMPSON
WASHINGTON (INS) — Banners of flaming political partisanship are being hoisted across America this week in defiance of advice given the nation 160 years ago yesterday by George Washington.

The first president, making his farewell address to the infant republic he had fathered, cautioned that the formation of political parties could lead only to disaster.

In the immortal document, first printed in Philadelphia on Sept. 19, 1796, Washington admonished his countrymen "in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally."

WARNING UNHEEDED

His warning, however, apparently fell on deaf ears, for his illustrious contemporaries — Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Alexander Hamilton — already had begun sowing the seeds of America's two-party system.

As the turbulent decades have rolled by since that day 160 years ago, the nation also has cast aside the two other major recommendations laid down by Washington in his farewell address.

They were warnings against the United States becoming involved in internal sectional strife and in foreign entanglements.

Three Story Building New Sanders Home

DETROIT (AP) — A new three-story building is planned for the downtown site where Detroit's most spectacular fire of modern times destroyed a six-story landmark last May 2.

The $200,000 building will replace the burned out Fred Sanders store at 1037 Woodward Ave. It will be built by the Peter Henkel estate which owns the property.

Sanders said his confectionery store will occupy 40 feet on the first floor, and share 20-foot street frontage and the upper floors with Eaton's, a women's shop that occupied part of the old building.

Washington was most vehement in describing the pitfalls of partisan politics. He derided the "spirit of party" in the following manner:

"It serves always to distract the public councils, and enfeeble the public administration. It agitates the community with ill founded jealousies and false alarms; kindles the animosity of one part against another; foment occasional riot and insurrection. It opens the door to foreign influence and corruption, which finds a facilitated access to the government itself through the channels of party passions. Thus the policy and the will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another."

Contrary to popular belief, the first president neither drafted his valedictory by himself nor delivered it in public.

HAMILTON ASSISTED

Historians agree generally that he and Hamilton, who was then Secretary of the Treasury, worked on the message for many months before its final publication. Despite Hamilton's violent adherence to the Federalist party, he apparently helped Washington write the denunciation of partisanship.

The address first appeared on the pages of Claypool's American Daily Advertiser in Philadelphia on that September morning 160 years ago, and was not read to the people or delivered before Congress by the president himself.

The original copy now is on display—from the Lenox Library estate—at the New York Public Library.

The historic document totals 7,641 words and can be read orally in about 45 minutes.

Since the 1880's, it has been read in the U.S. Senate on Washington's birthday. The same custom was started in the House after the turn of the century, but it did not become a continuous year-to-year tradition there until 1933.

SINK OR SWIM? — That's the question, as four students at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, learn how to swim in deep water with tied limbs. The instructor is Dr. Edward J. Shea, head of the men's physical department. Representing advanced stages of difficulty in "watermanship" ability are, left to right: Jim D. Williams, with feet tied; Bob Campbell, hands tied; Sterling Johnson, hands and feet tied; and Ron Pemberton, hands, feet and body tied.

'Conservation City' Rises for Farm 'World Series'

NEWTON, Iowa (AP)—A tent community known as "Conservation City" southwest of Colfax, Iowa, was bustling today with last minute preparations for the "world series" of farming.

There was still work to be done on the sprawling acres where the national field days and plowing matches are to be held today, Friday and Saturday.

Everything possible was being done to have affairs in order for the comfort and entertainment of an estimated 100,000 spectators and guests, including President Eisenhower and his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson.

The presidential candidates will be on hand to woo farm votes—Eisenhower on Friday and Stevenson on Saturday.

But 52 of the nation's champion plowmen also will be on hand to show the visitors how they can run a furrow on level land or on the contour.

MANY EXHIBITS
In addition "Conservation City" will be dotted with hundreds of exhibits of interest to farmers and homemakers. Soil and water conservation demonstrations will be scattered over a 2½ mile route.

The center of all the activity will be the farm home of Henry Steinhock, his wife and their three children, Harley, 13, Gene, 9 and David, 4. As part of the field days events a new home has been built for them.

The entire program, however, actually takes in an area that touches parts of 22 farms.

President Eisenhower will serve as honorary chairman of the field days program. He will visit the plowing site before he speaks at ceremonies beginning at 1 p.m. Friday and after his talk will present awards to the winning state and regional plowmen.

They will be the finalists in the national level land and contour contests which will be held Saturday morning.

States sending their champion

plowmen include Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Missouri, South Dakota and Nebraska.

It Is Curb Service—Why All the Rumpus?

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—The car-hop at the drive-in food and drink spot did a quick double-take when she found two men atop a 20-foot road grader instead of an auto, demanding service.

She told the boss, who called police.

The men, tipsily still waiting for service, were taken into custody. They'd just traded a cafe for the grader, they told officers, and planned to trade the grader for something else.

Kent Airport Prospers

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Kent County Airport, Grand Rapids' major airline terminal, operated at a profit over a 10-year period ending in 1955, according to a county financial report. Controller Leonard W. Andrus reported cash receipts for the period at $1,627,242, compared with expenditures of $1,581,881.

Convicts Give Blood

IONIA (AP)—Michigan Reformatory reports its inmates contributed 916 pints of blood to the Red Cross blood bank last week in a two-day clinic. The prisoners donated 972 pints of blood in a similar clinic last June.

Halleck in Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP)—Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.), House minority leader, is scheduled to speak Monday in Port Huron at a kickoff dinner for the St. Clair County Republican Campaign.

Teen Offenders Cited in Oregon

Paper Trying to Stem Juvenile Crime Wave by Listing Delinquents

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS)—Should teenagers who break the law be protected from the glare of publicity?

The Corvallis Gazette-Times thinks not.

The newspaper, which until recently had not published the names of juvenile lawbreakers, decided the time had come for a change.

It has adopted what it believes is an aggressive program aimed at hitting the youthful offender in his pride.

NEW RULES

Under the new policy, the paper publishes names of juveniles charged with felonies or crimes against the person. It also prints names of juveniles guilty of misdemeanors when authorities state they have become habitual in breaking the law.

R. C. Ingalls, publisher of the Gazette-Times, and B. K. Myers, news editor, both fathers of teenagers or soon-to-be teenagers, hope the shining light of publicity will help in the fight against juvenile crime.

"If this policy acts as a deterrent for some, the hardship it may cause will be well worth the cost," said Ingalls.

The decision to adopt the new policy was reached after an extensive poll of Corvallis parents. The questions asked in the poll and the answers received from the parents:

1. Should the names of all offenders be published? Yes 839, no 684.
2. Should the names of second offenders only be published? Yes 838, no 295.
3. Should the names of parents only be published? Yes 74, no 838.
4. Should the names of both parents and offenders be published? Yes 714, no 429.

Ingalls has had criticism of the new policy from some parents who claim that publishing a young wrongdoer's name "would only help to develop a complex in the child" and that it would "make daring youngsters become publicity seekers."

Artificial Leg Awaits Owner, Police Stumped

LOS ANGELES, (U)—If the woman who lost her artificial leg will call at Highland Park police station, she may claim it.

Officers say no questions will be asked, but they might take a furtive glance at the other one, assuming that there is another one, of course.

Arthur W. Brennan found the leg as he was walking on the sidewalk in front of his home. He stumbled over it in the dark, and before he could say "Pardon me, madam," he found there was no one attached to it.

Police say it's a woman's leg, definitely, and they estimated its value at $175.

Ex-Miss America, Singer Buy License

DENVER (U)—A marriage license was obtained yesterday by Sharon Kay Ritchie, Miss America of 1956, and Don Cherry, the singer and golfer.

They will be married Saturday in Denver's Central Christian Church.

Miss Ritchie was a freshman student at Colorado Woman's College before her selection as Miss America last year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest A. Ritchie of Grand Island, Neb. Cherry is from Wichita Falls, Tex.

Miss Burns Beats Rap

LOS ANGELES (U)—Authorities have declined on grounds of insufficient evidence to issue a complaint against Barbara Burns, 18-year-old daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns, for carrying a pistol in a Hollywood cafe. Don J. Covert, 31, an actor and acquaintance of Miss Burns, had complained that she threatened him with the weapon.

Democrats Seize Issue for Campaign

Climbing Prices Proving an Embarrassment for Republicans

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (U)—Climbing prices have blossomed into an economic headache and a political embarrassment to the Eisenhower administration.

There is general agreement that the consumer price index, after a spurt this summer, will proceed at a more sober gait.

But Democrats already have seized on the rise in living costs as a refutation of the administration's "sound dollar" claims. Republicans retort: "Look who's talking about inflation."

Even before the political campaign started, official Washington had reacted to the march of prices to a record high.

President Eisenhower voiced concern, and his administration lined up behind Federal Reserve Board efforts to hold the new, higher price line.

There is speculation that, unless the unprecedented boom in industrial expansion slackens off soon, the board may move again this fall to make credit tighter and borrowing more costly.

In August the Federal Reserve board boosted the discount rate from 2 1/4 to 3 per cent. This means that it raised the interest rate on money borrowed by its member banks for lending. The effect is to raise private interest rates and discourage borrowing.

There remain signs that the administration is not wholly certain that inflation can be stopped cold.

One high White House adviser said in an interview that the administration's policy is one of economic growth "while containing inflation." He added that "containing" doesn't mean "preventing."

Apparently it means exercising such restraint as is thought necessary to keep prices within reasonable bounds, without choking off the expansion of production and employment. It does not mean that prices will not rise; it seems to mean they won't run away.

The same official conceded that the rise already recorded may be "damaging, to some extent," politically.

But he added that the stabilization record of the Eisenhower administration—a 3 per cent rise in living costs in 3 1/2 years—is a "remarkable achievement," particularly in view of the "very high use" to which the economy is being put.

Secretary Mitchell has reduced the argument to simpler terms. The Republican rise, he told reporters, "compares with a 34 per cent increase under Truman."

When reminded that two wars and congressional insistence on the removal of price controls had complicated President Truman's problems, Mitchell cut off the discussion with: "All I'm quoting is the statistics."

The Democrats are unimpressed. They have contended that stability began in the last year of the Truman administration. A "fact sheet" from the Democratic National Committee declared:

"The only reason the overall cost of living remains fairly steady is the severe drop in farm prices which has brought about somewhat lower food prices."

So the arguments go 'round and 'round. Two facts remain undisputed:

The recent spurt of inflation has given the Democrats a campaign talking point they didn't have before. And it has taken some of the punch out of the Republicans' claims that they have found the key to what Eisenhower has called "prosperity with general price stability."

Politics aside, what's to be done to see that inflation doesn't spiral dangerously?

Secretary of Commerce Weeks twice has appealed to industry and labor for "self-restraint," lest they price themselves out of the market and bring on a damaging recession.

Such appeals are not wholly in vain. But most officials rest their faith chiefly in the indirect, and not fully tested, powers of the Federal Reserve Board to expand and contract the supply of money and credit.

Book Thieves Bound

TOKYO (U)—Police arrested Kunikida Yabe, 29, and five other Japanese today and charged them with stealing 30,000 books, worth about $28,000, from bookstands during the past three years.

Hospital Bond Vote Set in Charlevoix County

CHARLEVOIX (U)—County voters will be asked Nov. 6 to approve a $500,000 bond issue, and a necessary tax increase, for construction of a new Charlevoix county hospital.

Voters approved the bond issue in the August primary elections, but rejected, by 184 votes, a second proposal to raise tax millage to finance the bonds. Majorities are required on both proposals for passage.

'Waltz Me Around'

WARWICK, R. I. (U)—The City Police Commission says it doesn't mind if night club dancers bill themselves as "exotic" or "interpretive" dancers as long as their dances don't include bumps and grinds. The commission also ruled that night club dancers must wear "proper" clothes at all times—meaning no bare midriffs.

Scots to Revive Memory

Coming -- Bagpipe College

By FRED DOERFLINGER
GLASGOW (INS) — The wail of bagpipes may sound like the cries or the screaming of witches to outsiders but it's classical music to Scottish ears.

In fact the Scots come to think so much of their national noise that they intend to spread this disturbing cacophony to the far corners of the world.

An appeal will shortly be launched from Glasgow for funds to establish a new college of piping at Borraeraig in the Isle of Skye, where the famous MacCrimmons of Borraeraig, hereditary pipers to the clan MacLeod, taught bagpipe playing to students from every Scot clan for three centuries during the Middle Ages.

REVIVIE MEMORY

The idea is to revive the Borraeraig college both as a living memorial to the MacCrimmons and as a summer school center where pibroch—which is described as a "set of variations for Scottish Highland bagpipe, usually martial or mournful"—can be taught to young pipers from the Celtic nations and from every other country as well.

This new college will teach the real thing — there will be no room for spurious "linker piping."

Architectural plans for a building costing $28,000 have been drawn up in anticipation grants may be obtained from organizations like the Scottish Education Department, the Carnegie Trust, and the Arts Council, which surprisingly already provides $420 a year for the encouragement of piping in Scotland.

NOT UNDERSTOOD

Scottish lovers of bagpipe music complain the full importance of the bagpipe is not understood outside Scotland or the other Celtic countries.

There is little doubt the new college will be built for the Scots are all excited about recreating the "great music" the MacCrimmons perfected at Borraeraig.

But the critics of the bagpipe point out the new college may well also create an international problem.

Lovers of orthodox music can be expected to deluge the United Nations with complaints that Borraeraig is disturbing world peace.

To Vote on Bond Issues

ALLEGAN — City residents will vote on two bond issues in the No. 6 general elections, deciding the fate of an $800,000 bond issue sought for a new county medical care facility and a $60,000 issue for construction of a new city firehall.

About two million persons in the U.S. suffer annually from hay fever.

Locomotive Gift for Historians Out in the Cold

CADILLAC — The Wexford County Historical Society needs facilities for housing a locomotive donated to the city as a museum piece.

The society, organized last March to collect relics and antiques portraying the history of Cadillac, has been unable to find a suitable location for a museum.

Meanwhile, the Cadillac-Soo Lumber Co., has presented the city with a narrow-gauge locomotive and tender which weigh about 40 tons.

The locomotive was invented and built in Cadillac sometime between 1872 and 1890 for exclusive use in Michigan's lumbering industry. It was offered to the city on condition that Cadillac would pay transportation costs from Sault Ste. Marie.

It is being brought to Cadillac by truck and expected to be delivered by tomorrow.

Society spokesmen said the locomotive probably will be placed temporarily in city park.

Elvis Compared to Gods of Ancient Grecian Art

By EDDIE LEE

TEMPE, Ariz. (U-P) — Rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley today was described by an art professor as a "dead ringer" for the gods of the golden age of Greek art.

Famous Greek statues of Apollo and Hermes show a strong resemblance to Presley, even to the duck bill haircut and sideburns, said Prof. Harry Wood, head of the art department at Arizona State College at Tempe.

"The twitch and twist, after all, made Greek art popular in Greece," Wood said. "The Greeks were the first to capture it in stone and break away from the stiffness of Egyptian art."

Wood said he was neither attacking nor defending the controversial entertainer but he had used the comparison in his first lecture in the humanities course at Arizona State.

"A comparison of Presley in action with photos of well-known Greek statues shows remarkable similarities," he said.

One of the most striking is an early work known as the "Charioteer of Delphi," he said.

"It has the same heavy jaw, Greek Nose, thick lips and half-lowered eyelids as Presley. It has the same somewhat proud adolescent look of a young hero."

One-sixth of Maryland's total area is water surface.

Presley is the "revival of a Greek archetype" often found in the entertainment world, he said. Others are Joan Crawford and Gregory Peck.

Apollo, the professor, said, was the "god, sponsor and patron" of Greek singers "who must have had a style similar to that of Presley."

"The Greek singers combined the athletic or masculine doric influence with the femininity of the Ionic, or near easter Greek, music."

LeBaron Cub Scouts Graduate From Pack

At a candlelight ceremony last night, five boys were graduated from LeBaron School Cub pack No. 66. Each got a certificate from chairman Floyd Miller.

They are Wayne Daniels, Billy Midkiff, George Bredon, William Erkkila and Bobby Hilly.

Receiving awards from Cubmaster Claud Daniels were: Terry Weir, Larry Sheffield, Michael Tebeau, William Whitener, Dennis Cox, Denton Carlson, George Bredon, Tommy Kochig, Douglas Duval, Butch Tatu, Mike Koskela, Stanley Walls, Rickey Rol, Charles Alexander, Rickey Johnson, Billy Chapman, Charles Lancaster and Bobby Church.

Plan Mail Orders for License Plates

LANSING (U-P) — Secretary of State James M. Hare today said he plans to extend direct mail service for the purchase of auto license plates as soon as details can be worked out.

Hare said this will eliminate many small branch offices and improve service.

He said he is making the move because the State Civil Service Commission has taken no action on a request that branch managers "be removed from the area of political patronage by placing their recruitment, examination and appointment under the commission."

"I am determined that this situation be corrected, and therefore we are taking steps to introduce a direct mail system," Hare said.

Studies Snipe Habits

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland (U-P) — Les Tuck, dominion wildlife officer in Newfoundland, is studying the nesting and breeding habits of the snipe.

Quinoa, a hardy, nutritive plant South America, was introduced as a possible substitute for found in the Andes mountains of experimentally in the U.S. in 1899 (spinach).

And Let Harried Husbands Tend the Home Fires

Why Shouldn't Women Be Breadwinners?

By PHYLLIS BATTIE
NEW YORK (INS)—The vicious, terrible truth of it is: Women are devouring the world, and the males therein.

That's what the man was saying, in so many—ever so many—caustically chosen words, as he waited on the stoop of Serene Princess Grace's Fifth Avenue apartment house.

He was a newspaperman, and he'd just achieved a divorce from his wife. The divorce was costly in itself, but the upkeep was worse.

"Why is it?" he philosophized, writhing his lips around a cigarette. "Why do women want to eat men alive? You marry them and support them and pay all their expenses, and then when they get independent and leave you, you are still stuck with their bills for the next 100 years."

"It's a stupid convention, a habit from the old days when women used to stay at home and mind the stove and babies."

He grunted. Softly, not to be polite but because he had a congested chest from sitting up nights worrying, and was afraid to rouse it.

FAVORITE CLICHE

"Now women hold the purse strings of America." (This is a cliche newspapermen use, accurately, almost daily.) "So tell me why, with their big fat independence and bank rolls, it's the man who still pays. Tell me!"

There were three of us standing around sympathetically, waiting for the former Grace Kelly to return from a shopping tour with the man who is paying her expenses, but none could mollify the ex-husband.

His thoughts were temporarily furnished. And furthermore his philosophies were fairly sound.

"All I'd like to do," he snapped, "is to be able to say, like the girls do, 'I'm getting married so I guess I'll give up my job.' Did you ever hear of a guy giving up his job to get married? H—no. And why not?"

"Because women are shrewd and privileged, and men are lazy suckers. And every year, women get stronger, financially and physically, while men get weaker."

LOUD EXPLOSION

What the newsmen was saying wasn't exactly a new thought, but with his beards so savagely clumped together, it brought about a loud explosion in our conscience.

Why is it, indeed, that because of outdated laws and unrealistic strings of America? (This is a ly work and worry and pay through the nose for the privilege of calling a woman his wife—or even his ex-wife?

We know many cases of men with good jobs who married women with better jobs; yet it was always the woman, even though they had no children, who retired when she became bored with working.

The man had to work doubly hard to support his spouse in the manner to which she was accustomed.

If the women want this independence they have sought for a century and finally attained, it seems to us there should be no stigma stamped on the husband who says "Okay, honey, you love your job and I don't particularly like mine so I'll resign and devote my energies to making you happy at home."

PRETTY SOUND IDEA

Since women are the fastest-rising stock on earth at the present time it might, in fact, be a pretty sound idea. With the new "maternity leave" setups in business, even children would present no real problem.

As Bill, the beefing newsmen, said, "My ex-wife is making more money than I am, and yet I'm supporting her. I tell you this . . . 'The way things're set up today, man's place is in the home.'"

At this point in the conversation, their serene highnesses returned. Grace, as usual, looked fresh and beautiful. Rainier, as usual, looked like her weary slave.

"Sucker," muttered our newsmen under his breath. "You should be living off Grace's money. She was the one who was going places."

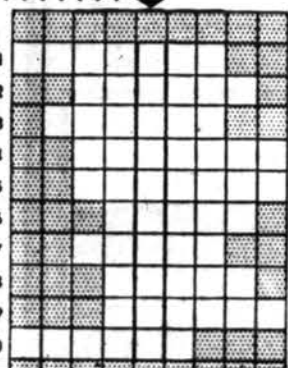

In bitterness, oft-times, there is truth.

U.S.-Canada CD to Hold 5th Session

BATTLE CREEK (INS) — The joint United States-Canada Civil Defense Committee will hold its fifth meeting at the federal civil defense administration headquarters here Oct. 18-19.

The meeting will be presided over by FCDA administrator Val Peterson and Paul Martin, minister of the Canadian Department of National Health and Welfare.

During the two-day session, Lewis E. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, will address the meeting on certain aspects of radiological hazards in the event of an attack on the U.S.

The committee was established in 1951 as a medium for joint civil defense planning and operations between the United States and Canada.

Mackinaw City Asks Straits Ferry Docks

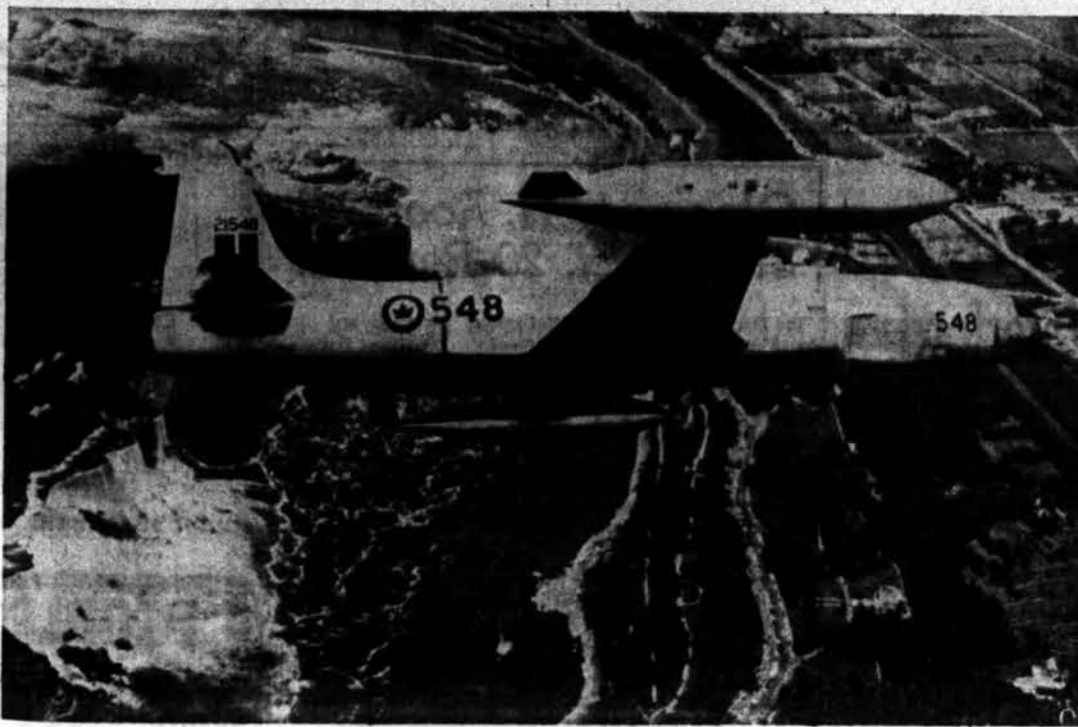

MACKINAW CITY (U)—City council has voted possible court action to forbid use of approaches through the city to the Straits of Mackinac Bridge unless the state agrees to give Mackinaw City its Straits of Mackinac ferry docks.

The state has announced it will abandon U.S. 23 and U.S. 27 through Mackinaw City when the bridge, linking Michigan's two peninsulas, is completed in late 1957. The city argues the ferry docks are an integral part of these highways through it.

The state has agreed to resurface the highways before abandoning them, but argues that it should not give away the costly docks which now accommodate the big ferries.

City council instructed its attorney to seek a conference with Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler within 10 days and that if no agreement could be reached on the docks, to file suit for an injunction to prohibit use of approaches through the city to the new bridge.

Automobiles were first sold on the time-payment plan in about 1905.

OVER THE FALLS IN A JET — This is one of the better ways of "going over the Falls" as a T-33 jet trainer from the Canadian Air Force base at Trenton, Ont., makes a 3,000-foot flight over the famed tourist attraction. The American Falls can be seen at the lower left, with the Canadian Horseshoe Falls in the center.

Red Flannel Festival Set for Cedar Springs

CEDAR SPRINGS (U)—This Kent County community is completing plans for a combined celebration of its centennial and the annual Red Flannel Festival Oct. 26-27.

Committee chairmen have announced that a queen will be selected Oct. 1 to rule over the combined festivities.

Candidacy is restricted to single girls, over 16 and under 21, who live in Cedar Springs or attend Cedar Springs High School.

The Red Flannel Festival hails the coming of Michigan's big game hunting season while paying tribute to the community's part as a major producer of the once-traditional winter long underwear now favored by outdoorsmen.

Parsley Cold Cure?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—E. R. Bushick, San Antonio real estate man, says he hasn't had a cold since he began eating parsley about two years ago. I read that if people would just eat the parsley that comes on their plates at restaurants, they'd be less susceptible to colds," says Bushick. "I started doing this and haven't had a cold since."

Lathrup Faces Court, Revives Total Evergreen Plan

Ask Meeting on Saturday

Southfield, Bloomfield Area Included; Court Discussion Tomorrow

LATHRUP — This municipality, whose officials will appear in circuit court at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow for discussion of its plan for sewer relief, has slated a Saturday meeting to revive the over-all Evergreen interceptor plan.

Judge H. Russel Holland will hear details of the Lathrup plan for steps to solve its sewer problems and thus avoid a contempt of court charge.

Administrator Leonard A. Watchowski said this morning an engineer will be hired Oct. 1 to draw up a master plan for this city's solution of its complicated sewer and flooded basement problems.

Yesterday the city's officials swung into action and called a meeting in the Lathrup office with officials from Lathrup, Southfield, and Birmingham to discuss the building of the large Evergreen interceptor as it was originally planned.

Watchowski said there had been some question as to whether the city of Detroit engineering department would grant the capacity to handle the full area which would also take in Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, and Troy.

According to Watchowski, the city of Detroit is now ready to grant that capacity.

Saturday's meeting will be followed by a meeting with state and county officials and officials from the Detroit city engineering department.

The Lathrup council, in its own plan necessary to ward off the contempt charges, has approved the taking over of all drains in the city except the Eleven-Mile and Santa Barbara drains.

A meeting is planned with Southfield to work out a solution to their common pollution problem. Southfield will be asked to share the cost of widening and deepening the tributary of the Rouge river.

REV. F. J. MALZARD

"The Unseen Companion" will be the subject of the Sunday sermon of the Rev. F. J. Malzard of Dearborn, who has accepted the invitation of Orchard Lake Community Church to serve as interim pastor until a permanent pastor is named. The Rev. Mr. Malzard, widely known lecturer and writer, retired from his pastorate in Hillsboro, Ohio earlier this summer after having served there more than 19 years. A minister the past 40 years, he has been transferred to the Detroit Presbytery.

Lyon Township Seeks Buyer for Washburn

SOUTH LYON — The Board of Education of Lyon Township School District is advertising for bids on the Washburn School and site, located on West Ten Mile road. Permission was granted to the board to dispose of this property at the annual school meeting. Bids will be opened at the regular monthly board meeting, Oct. 8.

The McDonald School building located on Marshall road, was recently sold to Roy Monahan, of 11380 Nine Mile Rd., who owns adjacent property and to whom the land reverted after it ceased to be used as a school.

Kids Learn and Play Free

Saturday Fun Program Opening at Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Community Center on Williams Lake road will again be the site for the recreation department sponsored "Saturday Morning Play Program."

Beginning Sept. 22, this program will be conducted weekly from 10 a.m. to 12 noon for boys and girls, ages seven to fourteen.

Activities will consist of gym games and quiet games. There will be no charge, with the exception of nominal costs of crafts materials.

The recreation ballet studio will open Sept. 22, at the Community Center.

Approximately three hundred pupils registered last year for weekly instructions that extended from September to June.

This program is designed for children of pre-school age and for those six to nine and 10 to 16. Classes for beginners through advanced are conducted Saturdays from 9-4 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Carol Wolfe, veteran dance instructor, will be the director and instructor for the fifth consecutive year for the recreation department. Interested persons may call OR 3-9152.

"Any boy living in Waterford Township and not out for varsity football, can play in the Touch Football League. Play will begin Sept. 22, and will continue for six Saturdays," announces Tom Belton, recreation director.

Boys in grades 6-9 are to have their program at the high school football field from 9:30-11 a.m. Two leagues will be formed; one for grades 6 and 7, the other for grades 8 and 9.

High school age boys grades 10-12, will meet from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the high school football field.

Registration may be made at the fields at no charge. Neighborhood or school class teams will be accepted, otherwise teams will be arranged at the field.

Class of '41, Roosevelt Slates Oct. 20 Reunion

The 1941 class of Roosevelt High School at Keego Harbor is planning its first reunion.

The reunion will be held at Highland Manor, in Highland, on Oct. 20 for the graduates and their husbands and wives.

Out of state class members are expected from Illinois, Florida, New Jersey, California and Pennsylvania.

On the dinner committee are Richard Betzing, Sheldon Pearsall, Bob Upchurch and Norman Felt.

Busy planning the program and class memoirs are Mrs. Gladys Gullett, Mrs. Margaret Green, Mrs. Daphne McNally and Jaclyn Rosewall, Marjorie Davis and Shirley Hermoyan.

Toastmaster for the evening will be class president Robert Upchurch.

Mrs. G. Tower to Lead Drive in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Gordon Tower of Davisburg, a board member of the Oakland County Townships United Fund, was elected chairman of the Springfield Township UF committee at a committee meeting Tuesday night at the Township Hall.

She will be aided by Mrs. Emory Pierce, also of Davisburg.

Goal for the township is $1,500.00 in the drive to run from Oct. 15 through Nov. 1. Families are urged by Mrs. Tower to support the community.

She says, "It is right to give where you work, but be prepared to give to your own Community Fund too."

The committee will meet again at the Township hall on Oct. 8 at 10 a.m. for the Kick Off program and brunch. All solicitors and campaign captains are requested to pick up necessary materials then.

Wives of Ike's Aides to Speak

Lansing Kitchen Cabinet Sept. 28

LAPEER—A "Kitchen Cabinet" session for Republican women will be held Friday, Sept. 28, in Lansing, according to Bernice Dickerson, chairman of the Lapeer Republican County Committee. The all-day meeting, open to all women interested, is expected to attract a gathering of 1,000.

The wives of at least six members of President Eisenhower's official family are to be present at this "Kitchen Cabinet" meeting.

The affair will be the first of its kind in Michigan and the second held in the nation. The first "Kitchen Cabinet" was held in Toledo, Ohio, last April.

The Republican Women's Federation of Michigan is sponsoring the event and Ingham County GOP women's clubs will serve as hostess groups.

Speakers will include Mrs. Wilbur M. Brucker, wife of the secretary of the Army; Mrs. Arthur

'USERS' CAN DO WITHOUT SUEZ CANAL — Newsmap shows important factor in Secretary of State Dulles' plan to circumvent use of the Suez Canal, if that becomes necessary, by sending tankers on the almost twice as long voyage around Africa. It will be a lot more expensive — but the United States reportedly will grant up to half a billion dollars a year to Western European countries to help defray the extra cost. The added dollar cost of providing Europe with oil has been estimated by State Department sources at 150 million dollars a year, by oil industry sources as high as 500 million dollars. Tanker considered in Newsmap above is the T-2 class, which can carry 100,000 barrels of oil.

3 in Family of 5 Hurt in Collision

Three members of a Utica family last night received hospital treatment after their car was rammed pulling into a driveway off M59, just east of E. Harvey Lake road, State Police said.

Treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital were the driver, Milton Perrin, 29; his wife, Mary, 24, and a son, Lawrence, 2. Two daughters, Catherine, 4, and Ellen, 3, suffered no apparent injuries, authorities added.

The Perrin car was hit by the auto of Walter Blackmon, 53, of 70 Seneca Ave. Perrin told troopers he had overshot turning into the driveway and had backed up to turn again when the collision occurred.

School's Out Friday for Many in Pontiac

There will be no school tomorrow for most elementary students, according to Gerald White, coordinator of elementary education in Pontiac.

Kindergartners through sixth graders, except those at Linda Vista School, will have a day off while teachers prepare records necessary for the state aid program, White said.

Records already are prepared for Linda Vista children, he said. They started school a week and a half late.

Teachers also will be shown tomorrow how to administer and score mental tests which will be given all youngsters early next month, White said.

Burglars Hit Dairy Firm a Second Time

The $32 reported stolen from a Shamrock Dairy Tuesday night marks the second time this week that one of the chain's Pontiac outlets has been struck by burglars, Pontiac police said.

The money was taken from a hiding place located in the ice cream freezer, according to Det. Raymond Meggitt.

The building at 424 Oakland Ave. was entered through the front door, where glass had been broken, he said.

Sunday night, a dairy bar at 936 Joslyn Rd. was entered and a small amount of loose change taken. The front door was pried open.

Announcer Gives In—After Yapping 132 Hours

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — A young Merced radio announcer is claiming a record for continuous broadcasting—132 hours or 5½ days.

Ken Collins, 24, of station KYOS stopped the marathon radio show last night on the advice of physicians. He had lost six pounds.

Station President Robert Garrett said the former record was 127 hours, set last month at Memphis, Tenn.

Sir Thomas Urquhart, Scotland's famed translator of Rabelais who lived in the village of Cromarty on Black Isle, became so overjoyed at news of the restoration of Charles II that he died in a fit of laughter.

Injured in Car Crash

A Lake Orion woman, 54, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital last night with neck injuries sustained when the car she was in was rammed from behind at a traffic light.

Mrs. Helen J. Schuler was listed St.

in "good" condition, authorities said. She was with her husband, Otto, 56, who was treated for minor bruises, they said.

The Schuler car was stopped for the light on S. Saginaw street at Auburn avenue, police said, when struck by an auto driven by Willis B. Sheffield Jr., 17, of 39 James

Humphrey to Speak for Sutton in County

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, will be principal speaker at a fund-raising dinner for Democratic Congressional candidate Paul Sutton of Royal Oak tomorrow night in Waterford Township's Community Activities Building.

Humphrey, who arrives in Michigan tomorrow for two days of campaigning with state Democrats, also will be main speaker at the fourth annual Williams Day dinner Saturday in Highland Park.

The $10-a-plate dinner tomorrow will be attended by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, the County Democratic Committee said.

Humphrey was a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

167-Year-Old Wants Fat Wife—to Support Him

NEW YORK (AP)—Javier Pereira, who may be 167 years old, doesn't look it.

Toothless but grinning, the 75-pound, 4-foot-4 Colombian Indian arrived by plane yesterday and was whisked to New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center for "scientific study."

A hospital spokesman said Pereira will undergo a series of tests for about a week or 10 days to gather information relating to the man's alleged longevity.

A scientist in Colombia has said physical tests prove Pereira is more than 120 years old. Other estimates have rocketed to 167.

Pereira's interpreter said the man has no idea how old he is, that he can't read or write and speaks with a mixture of ancient Spanish and his native Indian tongue.

Pereira was born in a Colombian village in the Andes Mountains. An 86-year-old woman in the town reportedly remembers that when she was a little girl Pereira was already an old man.

Pereira, though his skin is shriveled, has jet-black hair with only a touch of white in it.

When he arrived he was nattily dressed in a gray suit and blue shirt. A red flower blossomed on his coat lapel.

The interpreter said Pereira, married five times, is looking for a sixth one.

"He says he wants a very fat one," the interpreter said, "one who can support him."

IT AIN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE— Say in 1939 you had a wife and two kids and earned $3,000 a year. After federal income and social security taxes, you had $2,970 left to spend. Today, to have that sum left, you'd have to earn $6,122 a year — or more than double your 1939 income. That's the story the moneybags above tell for various incomes. It's the story of today's higher taxes and the depreciation of the dollar, using 1939 as the standard. Of your $6,122 in 1956, you can write off $2,483 for depreciation. Then deduct $669 for taxes. That leaves you the $2,970 you had in 1939. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Joe Smith, GOP, Signs as Democrat

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—After being a faithful Republican for 43 years, Joe Smith became a registered Democrat this week.

He's not the mythical "Joe Smith" a delegate attempted to nominate for vice president at the Republican National Convention, but a real, live, voting Joe Smith.

The reason he changed parties: He just didn't like what he called the "smug attitude" of the Republicans at the national convention, as he saw it on television.

His wife Margaret also changed parties.

Germans of 1917 Credited With 'Discovery'

Civil War May Have Ended Sooner—if North Had Used Its Mustard Gas

By EDWIN DIAMOND
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—Mustard gas might have been used early in the American Civil War if the union leaders had heeded the advice of a New York chemist. It was reported yesterday.

As it turned out, President Lincoln's secretary of war, Edwin M. Stanton, "failed to grasp this golden opportunity" and it wasn't until 1917 that Imperial Germany "discovered" modern chemical warfare and employed the gas successfully at Ypres, Belgium, against the Allies.

Mustard gas is a skin-burning, non-lethal compound technically known as dichloroethyl sulfide.

CITIES INCIDENT

Dr. C. B. Marquand, of the Army Chemical Center near Frederick, Md., described the incidents in a report to the history of chemistry section at the American Chemical Society meeting in Atlantic City.

He also said the French and British "considered and abandoned the use of mustard gas in the belief it would not be sufficiently effective."

Dr. Marquand gave this account of how the North had the chance to employ mustard gas in 1862, long before the bloody battle of Gettysburg, the siege of Vicksburg and Sherman's march through Georgia:

The first reference to the compound apparently was in 1864. A few years later, the very serious effect of mustard gas on human skin was recounted in technical journals.

In 1862, chemist John W. Doughty of New York wrote the War Department in Washington. Said Dr. Marquand: "Not only did Mr. Doughty recommend to the secretary of war a practical scheme for using gas but he actually suggested the very same gas the Germans used at Ypres over 50 years later."

"Doughty's letter can still be found in the archives building in Washington where it is filed in the old records division of the adjutant general's office."

Male Cooks Plan Smorgasbord

By JANET ODELL
 Pontiac Press Home Editor
 Women readers of The Press: I have news for you. Our territory is being invaded by the opposite sex.

Shall we oppose them or shall we let them go ahead, especially since they are going to do the dishes? The men of Roosevelt Lodge No. 510 are putting on a Smorgasbord this Sunday afternoon in the Temple. They are doing all the work of preparing the food, serving it and cleaning up afterwards. Arthur Thomas, Worshipful Master of the Lodge and William Pfahler are co-chairmen of the event.

Last Saturday we talked with them in the Temple kitchen where they were busy making final plans. The talk was of jellied salads, Swedish beans, imported cheese, Swedish rye bread and rosettes—hardly the subjects one would expect from a group of he-men.

Instead of devoting this weekend to grass cutting, golfing, or putting in the home workshop, this group of men will be concerned with seasoning the roast, filling relish plates and setting the table. A few of them may go to work on Monday with dishpan hands.

All kidding aside, men, we think you're courageous to take on such a big job. We wish you lots of success. We know that if you get in a tight spot, your wives will be glad to help. We suspect them of having a hand in the preparations behind the scenes, anyway.

Since rosettes are always a featured item on Smorgasbord tables, we're giving you the recipe. You can buy the frons in the variety stores. Try them. They're delicious.

SWEDISH ROSETTES

By the Men of Roosevelt Lodge 510

1 cup sifted enriched flour
 1 cup evaporated milk
 1 cup water
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 egg, unbeaten
 2 rounds peanut oil for frying
 Sift flour before measuring. Mix milk, water, sugar, salt and egg

SEE, WE CAN COOK! — William Pfahler (left) of Lakeland avenue, Arthur Thomas of Yale street and Sidney Fellows of Cottage street show off their skill in making Swedish rosettes. All are members of Roosevelt Lodge and are busy making plans for a Smorgasbord this Sunday. Mr. Pfahler and Mr. Thomas are co-chairmen, while Mr. Fellows is in charge of tickets.

U.S. Can Meet Oil Shortage

4 States Could Ease Danger If Suez Crisis Cuts West's Supply

HOUSTON, Tex. (U)—Four states have crude oil to spare and could fill the gap with ease should the Suez crisis deprive Western Europe of its Middle East oil supply.

Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico could meet the emergency simply by letting their wells run longer.

Conservation officials generally appeared to feel that the sharply increased oil flow could be kept up for up to six months without hindering efficiency.

Transportation might become a major problem but the supply problem would be nothing more than turning valves and throwing pump switches.

The four states last week produced 4,576,000 barrels of crude oil daily. This was 64.0 per cent of the nation's output. Another two million barrels daily in excess productive capacity was kept idle by lack of market demand.

Conservation officials from the four states on Tuesday advised H. A. Stewart, director of the Interior Department's Oil and Gas Division, that oil to meet a possible Western Europe emergency could be made available immediately.

Texas could boost its production by a million barrels daily, Louisiana by some 285,000 to 300,000, Oklahoma by 125,000, and New Mexico by 40,000 to 50,000 barrels.

Stewart estimated that an additional 50,000 barrels of United States crude would be needed daily should tanker traffic through the Suez be halted. The figure would jump to 1,100,000 barrels a day should Middle East pipe lines to Mediterranean ports also be cut off.

No Rush Burglary

BUTTE, Mont. (U)—The burglars who escaped with $4,000 from a Butte food market had drinks on the house while they worked. An empty beer bottle and pop bottle were found alongside the broken strongbox.

CHEESE-IT SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE — Spaghetti belongs in the family's album of favorite foods. Especially this Cheese-It Spaghetti Casserole that's so easy to make — so delicious to eat. Bacon bits and two kinds of cheese make it surprisingly different, unusually good.

Spaghetti Twice as Good With 2 Kinds of Cheese

What's in a name? Take spaghetti, for instance. You hear it mentioned and immediately taste buds start jumping, mouths begin to water.

And yet no two cooks prepare it in the same way. A product as basic as this lends itself to so many variations.

There is just something to be said about the mingling of this spaghetti, cooked to the right tenderness, and flavorful ground beef—enlivened by a savory tomato sauce. And for that different twist, a combination of two kinds of freshly shredded cheese to top it off!

Are you wondering about the two cheeses? They're smoky Italian Provolone and sharp Cheddar — each a taste tempter in its own right, but together—well, they're incomparable!

After combining the spaghetti with the savory sauce, spoon half the mixture into the casserole and sprinkle over it half the cheese. Repeat the layers, ending with cheese.

Cheese, as you can see, is the key word here. And it's the key to delightful eating as well.

Cheese-It Spaghetti

1/2 pound thin spaghetti
 1/2 pound bacon, cut in small pieces
 1 medium onion, chopped
 1 pound ground beef
 1 1/2-cup can tomato sauce
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1 1/2-cup can sliced mushrooms
 1 cup shredded Provolone cheese
 1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
 Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender, according to package directions. Rinse and drain. Brown bacon in skillet. Add onion and ground beef and brown. Mix in tomato sauce, seasonings, mushrooms and liquid. Simmer for 15 minutes. Combine sauce and spaghetti.

Place half of the mixture in a buttered 2 quart baking dish. Top with half of the Provolone and half of the Cheddar cheese. Repeat layers. Bake in a 375 degree preheated oven for 20-25 minutes or until top is brown and bubbly. Makes eight servings.

Mint Adds Extra Zest to Lamb, Vegetables

A roast lamb breast with rice and mushroom stuffing is made more elegant by mixing finely chopped mint with the stuffing. Another way to get a touch of mint flavor into a meal . . . sprinkle finely chopped mint on the vegetables if planning on serving a yellow or white one.

Barbed Arrow Wounds Coast Liquor Clerk

LOS ANGELES (U) — A liquor store clerk was hit in the back with a steel-tipped hunting arrow shot from a crossbow last night and is in critical condition.

The 16-inch arrow came whistling through an open rear door of the store and struck William E. Allen, 20, below the shoulder blade. The broad, barbed tip passed through his body and protruded from his chest.

Allen, who was alone, staggered into the street and hailed a passing friend, George Derenia, 22. At Allen's urging, Derenia withdrew the arrow, causing severe hemorrhaging.

Deputies summoned by Derenia said they found a steel crossbow, cocked and loaded with another arrow, lying behind a hedge across an alley from the rear of the liquor store. Four arrows similar to the one that hit Allen lay in a box nearby, they said.

Creamed Dried Beef Has Oriental Touch

A main dish that needs little last-minute fussing is a boon to cooks on busy days. Creamed dried beef over quick cooking rice has this quality of being easy to prepare, although it may seem too unsubstantial for hearty dinner fare.

If so, just add some drained mixed Chinese vegetables. A medley of these canned vegetables including water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, mushrooms, bean sprouts, and sweet red peppers, come already packed in cans.

Oriental Creamed Beef To make six servings prepare 2 cups of medium white sauce, omitting the salt. Add a 4 ounce package of shredded, dried beef and heat slowly about 5 minutes. Stir in 1 cup of well drained, Chinese mixed vegetables and continue cooking slowly about 5 minutes longer, or just until heated through. Add 1/2 teaspoon soy sauce. Serve over hot, cooked rice.

Add drained whole-kernel corn and diced cooked shrimp to a cheese fondue. Serve with sliced fresh tomatoes or tomato aspic on salad greens.

Double-Rich Oatmeal Made With Dry Milk

There are extra nutrients for your family in oatmeal cooked this way.

Double-Rich Oatmeal 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 cups water Stir rolled oats, nonfat dry milk powder and salt together thoroughly. Bring water to boil in a saucepan; slowly stir the oatmeal mixture into the rapidly boiling water; use a whisk or fork for stirring. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened—about five minutes. Serve with milk and brown sugar.

Here's Technique for Pan Broiling

Pan-broiling chops is a more popular method of cooking in France than it is in the United States. But some Americans are adopting this technique. Use an iron skillet for pan-broiling the chops; heat it slowly until it's very hot; rub a piece of fat over the bottom of the skillet.

Arrange the chops in the skillet and cook over moderate heat until well browned on under side; turn and brown other side. Pour off the fat that accumulates a few times; the chops are supposed to pan-broil, not fry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve at once.

Applesauce Trick

Flavor, Energy in Fig Dessert

Back-to-school days find Mom in the kitchen preparing extra-nourishing meals for her active family. In the dessert department, a simple new recipe called "Sunny Fig Cake Pudding" provides plenty of good flavor and energy. Made with a milk-and-eggs custard base, it features chunks of those rich fig cakes that youngsters love.

It's equally delicious served warm as a mid-afternoon treat or chilled as a family dessert. Add light cream, if desired. Here's how:

Sunny Fig Cake Pudding

9½ ounce package (20) fig bars cut into quarters
4 eggs, well beaten
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate oven). Grease a 1½ quart casserole. Heat milk in the top of a double boiler over boiling water until small bubbles appear around edge of milk. Stir in fig bar pieces. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into milk mixture. Pour into casserole.

Set casserole in a baking pan; then fill pan with warm water up to 1-inch from top of casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 75 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in center of pudding comes out clean. Serve warm or cold with light cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

School Success Begins With Proper Breakfast

Success at school begins at home with, among other important things, a good breakfast.

The young scholar may well be won over to that nourishing bowlful of crisp cereal by such a device as this: beat a whole egg with a tablespoon of sugar or honey, stir in a cup of milk (and perhaps a dash of nutmeg). Pour over cereal.

A WORK OF ART — Mrs. Richard Marietta of West Walton boulevard made a wedding cake for the marriage of her daughter, Shirley. On September 15 Shirley married Arthur Gray of Pontiac. Shown with her mother is Shirley's little sister, six-year-old Carol. This cake was Mrs. Marietta's first attempt at such a large baking job. It took her four hours to make the layers of cake, only 45 minutes to put it together and frost it. She used purchased decorations and frosting in a pastry tube.

Save This Recipe for Frozen Peaches

The peach season is all too short, so be sure to freeze quantities of this popular fruit now for a cold winter day ahead. One of the many desserts to be made from frozen peach halves is Baked Peach Basket.

Partially thaw a quart-size box of dry sugar pack peach halves. A quart container usually yields 12 halves. Place halves in a shallow baking dish.

Fill each peach cavity with chopped nuts and macaroon crumbs and top with a candied cherry. Bake immediately in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes.

ORANGE POACHED PEARS — Looking for something new with which to tempt the family at breakfast? Serve Bartlett pears poached in orange

Breakfast Treat — Pears Poached in Orange Juice

Nutritionists are worried by the poor breakfast habits particularly of so many women, high school girls and factory workers.

During September, at schools, in factories, and in newspapers and magazines, these nutritional scientists are highlighting the importance of an adequate breakfast for health and stamina and weight control.

They point out that in a balanced daily diet, breakfast should supply from 1/4 to 1/3 of the day's total food. Also, that the basic cereal breakfast of fruit, cereal, bread and butter or margarine and milk will supply at low cost the required nutrients.

Now that fresh Bartlett pears are on the market, let's add them to our breakfast menus. Because of their levulose sugar which quickly converts to energy, they satisfy your appetite and keep up your energy. Yet they are relatively low in calories.

The season for Bartletts extends well into October.

From the Pacific Northwest comes this local recipe:

Orange Poached Pears
Three fresh Bartlett pears

2 medium-size oranges
1 1/2 cups orange juice
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups sugar

Mix together frozen orange juice, water and sugar in saucepan. Place over heat and bring to a boil.

Peel fresh pears, halve and core. Cut away stem and blossom ends with sharp knife. Place in syrup, cover and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes, or until pears are tender.

Meanwhile, peel oranges and slice crosswise. About five minutes before pears are done, add orange slices and finish cooking.

When done, remove from heat and chill. This may stand overnight in refrigerator. Serve for breakfast fruit or with a pancake supper. Serves six.

Cut the top from a green pepper and remove seeds and white membranes. Slice into wide rings. Fill rings with egg salad.

Score hamburger patties before broiling. When meat is browned and cooked fill scoring lines with chili sauce. Looks pretty!

Bavarian Cream Still a Favorite

Bavarian cream is one of the most beautiful of all desserts. Basically it is a light custard to which whipped cream has been added. Unflavored gelatin maintains the air beaten into the eggs and cream; so the dessert has lightness and the cool velvet smoothness of whipped cream.

Besides beauty, Bavarian cream dessert offers a nutrition bounty. Egg yolks, milk and unflavored gelatin are used in its basic mixture. To this custard base are added beaten egg whites and whipped cream.

Since unflavored gelatin is all protein, it supplements the food value of Bavarian cream as well as enhances its beauty.

Bavarian Cream Dessert

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar, divided
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together gelatin, 1/4 cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and milk; add to gelatin mixture.

Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture; fold in whipped cream. Turn into a dessert dish.

Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, shaved chocolate, chopped nuts and pieces of maraschino cherry. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Note: Dessert may be turned into 5-cup mold or individual molds.

Easy-on-the-cook picnic: take along bread and small containers of sandwich spreads. Everyone makes his own sandwich.

Always drain excess batter from onion rings before adding them to hot deep fat so as to avoid the danger of the fat bubbling over.

SOUP FOR FALL MORNINGS — Soup made with milk can be a real morning friend, supplying a blessed calmness on high-mettled mornings. The soothing potion warms the body right down to the toes. Add a plate of Hot Cheesed Biscuits . . . and Soup o' the Morning to You!

Soup Is Good for Cool A.M.'s

Morning "irascibility," which may well cause some secretaries to bolt an important letter and salesgirls to be testy with customers, can often be traced to a very common ailment known as lack-of-breakfastitis.

Fall, which is the signal for changes in many things, is a fine time to improve eating habits which may have fallen into careless ways during the summer.

You need more energy now, so remember that an adequate breakfast is a cornerstone to good health and a happy sense of well-being.

For instance you might build up breakfast with a savory bowl of steaming hot soup or treat yourself to a mid-morning soup-break.

Super Breakfast Menu
Stewed Prune and Apricot Compote With Sour Cream and a Sprinkling of Walnuts
Cream of Mushroom Soup With Shredded Chopped Beef Carrots Hot Cheesed Biscuits
Butter or Margarine

Hot Cheesed Biscuits
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped sharp cheese
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together. Mix in cheese. Stir in oil and milk all at once. Mix lightly to make a soft dough. Shape dough into ball and place on piece of waxed paper.

Knead and fold dough three or four times. Pat out about 1/2 inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased cookie tin in a hot oven (450 degrees) 10-15 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 12 large biscuits.

When steaming corn on the cob, bring out the vegetable's full flavor by adding a tablespoon of sugar and a few of the inner leaves from the husk to the boiling water.

Sliced pineapple may be dipped in a fritter batter and fried in deep fat. Serve sprinkled with confectioners' sugar for a luscious dessert.

Salade Russe Cool Teammate for Fish, Meat

A cooked vegetable salad that is delicious with fish, fowl or meat.

Salade Russe
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen peas and carrots
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup minced fresh dill (if desired)

Cook peas and carrots according to package directions with the amount of water and salt specified; drain; cooking liquid may be saved for use in soup, sauce or gravy. Cool vegetables. Mix with mayonnaise. Spoon into rosinne leaves; if used, sprinkle with minced dill. Makes 8 servings.

Any of the pea-and-carrot mixture not used should be refrigerated in a covered container; it will be delicious the next day.

Toast ready-bought slices of pound cake and spread with strawberry preserves. Nice with hot or iced tea.

Add minced drained canned clams to tomato aspic for an intriguing salad. Serve with water cress.

New Kind Brownies Are Rich, Different

No butter in these delicious butterscotch brownies!

Butterscotch Brownies
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1/2 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat egg enough to combine yolk and white. Beat in brown sugar gradually, making sure any lumps are blended, and vanilla; mixture will be thick. Fold in flour mixture and walnuts.

Turn into well-greased baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches); bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven just until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 18 to 20 minutes.

While still warm (but not hot) cut into 24 bars; remove with spatula to cooling rack until cold. Store in tightly covered container.

For best flavor, cook liver shortly after you buy it.

Beef, Rice Simmer in Tomato Soup

You'll find this beef dish as satisfying as flowers were to that gentle bull, Ferdinand. Brown 1/2 pound beef cubes in 1 tablespoon shortening. Add 1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup, 1 soup can water, 1 cup chopped onion, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cover and simmer 30 minutes.

Stir in 1/2 cup rice; cover and cook about 30 minutes longer or until meat and rice are tender; stir occasionally. Makes four servings. Broccoli with lemon or cheese sauce is tasty with this dish.

Intriguing first-course beverage: Mint-flavored cherries, with a little of their syrup, added to unsweetened pineapple juice.

Pink and Spicy Pudding Dessert

Ever have that "last rose of summer" feeling when you just can't think of another dessert?

For one of those "bottom of the recipe file" days, here's an idea for a light and refreshing dessert—a dairy firm's test kitchen recipe for Pink Spicy Pudding. It is nourishing and best of all, it is so simple to prepare.

Fruity Cooler

Dice and sugar fresh fruit; put a spoonful of the fruit into a tall glass. Add a scoop of ice cream or sherbet and fill with gingerale.

We predict Pink Spicy Pudding will be a recipe discovery which will fit into your menu often as a dessert pleasing to all members of the family.

Pink Spicy Pudding
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 to 2 drops red food coloring

Soften gelatin in water in top of double boiler. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir until sugar is completely dissolved.

Remove from heat. Add liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, vanilla and food coloring. Pour mixture into individual molds or serving dishes.

Chill about 2 hours or until firm. If desired, garnish with fruit. Makes 4 - 5 servings.

PINK SPICY PUDDING — Give a lift to your menu planning with Pink Spicy Pudding. Made with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, it will add nutritious delight to your family's meals.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

EGGS PAYAN, being a confidential letter from a father to his son. Our good Skillet Club member, Arthur Schedin of the Chicago Daily News Chapter, believes in starting 'em young. We quote:

LOOK, PA, I'M COOKING!
"Son of mine, dear, it is time, dear, for you to learn to use a skillet. In my school days, golden rule days, I used to catch my fish and grill it."

"Come, my small man, take a small pan. Put some milk and butter in it. Push an egg, boy, shake a leg, boy. Let it simmer for a minute."

"Place on bread now, use your head boy. Otherwise you're sure to spill it. Flour goes in now, make it thin now. A scant tablespoon; don't fill it."

"Stir it quick then, it won't stick. Dump it on the dish and spread it. All is done now, have some fun now. And then for school and how you bread it!"

"P. S.," says Mr. Schedin, "I love it. I use toast, though, but toast doesn't rhyme with head, so..."

We might add that we added a bit of salt and pepper to the sauce and stirred it until smooth after adding the flour, and cooked over low heat until mixture thickened, stirring all the while, meantime keeping the egg on the toast warm.

BAKED PORK CHOPS from Mrs. Elmer Burgess, Detroit Times Chapter. These are good, too. She buys six pork chops cut one and a half inches thick. In addition, you need:

Salt and pepper
2 thin slices lemon
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 small onion, sliced
1 cup catsup
1 cup water

Brown chops in a baking pan, then dust with salt and pepper. Place lemon slice and one tablespoon brown sugar on each.

Mix onion, catsup and water, and pour over, and bake at least 30 minutes at 350 degrees until chops are done. Baste occasionally.

Evangeline Syrup Snaps are a delicious affair from Mrs. L. J. Montegut, New Orleans Times-Picayune Chapter.

1/2 pound brown sugar
1/2 pound butter

1/2 pound flour
1/2 cup water
Mix the above ingredients and beat thoroughly. Drop a half a teaspoon at a time on buttered tin. Bake in slow oven until crisp and curly. Cool slightly before removing.

New Salad Idea Is Stuffed Lettuce

Delightfully different salad!

Stuffed Lettuce Salad
1 pound head lettuce
3 package (8 ounces each) cream cheese
1/2 cup (packed down) Roquefort cheese
2 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt, cayenne pepper

Wash lettuce and remove large outside leaves; save these for tossed salad; remove lettuce center; drain well.

Mix cream cheese, Roquefort, milk, mustard and a dash of salt and cayenne until as smooth as possible; electric mixer is good to use.

Pack cheese mixture in center of lettuce. Wrap in aluminum foil. Chill overnight or until cheese is firm.

Cut in wedges. Serve with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Kiss and Tell? Not This Garlic

NEW YORK (INS) — Wouldn't it be great to gobble up a garlic salad or a hunk of garlic bread and then be able to kiss your best beau without knocking him down?

Well, now you can because there's a product on the market called "kissproof" garlic sauce guaranteed not to offend the quest of people.

The kissproof garlic, along with kissproof onion sauce was introduced at the current national Fancy Food and Confection Show in New York and promises to make a big hit with friends of garlic lovers.

Extensive laboratory tests reportedly have found the sauces to be aromatically "unobjectionable" with no after-taste.

Other new food gimmicks, also introduced at the show, include kangaroo tail, sharkskin soup and wild boar canned in wine sauce.

If candy is your favorite meat, it's obtainable in every possible shape and form. One exhibit from Denmark had the dainties in the guise of filling stations complete with pumps, and as champagne bottles fitted snugly into a tiny straw basket.

Hard candy transported from England looked very scholarly done up in jars complete with quotations from Shakespeare!

Cheese-Corn Rarebit

Cheese rarebit on the Sunday-night-supper menu? Just for a change add drained whole kernel corn to it.

Best Buys Still Coming From the Poultry Farm

Not only does cooler weather make a change in appetites, but it brings the season for home-grown produce nearer an end. Jack Frost will soon start nipping many favorite fresh vegetables, so take advantage of local supplies while they last, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent. Tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, and corn that have been so reasonable will show noticeable price changes when frost comes.

POULTRY AND EGGS

The poultry department is in the spotlight this week. Chickens young and old, and turkeys of all sizes rate consideration on most market lists.

Broiler-fryers are wearing price tags very similar to those seen last week. Stevers at about the same price have a larger proportion of meat to bone than the smaller fryers. Simmered slowly until tender, a stever provides meat for salads, sandwiches, or casseroles besides making a big kettle of soup.

Shoppers are reminded by one of their local grocers that small turkeys are now selling for less than they will be at the Thanksgiving holiday. Extra freezer space might well be filled with a present turkey buy.

Young chicks are busy at egg production. Good things come in small packages—well proven by the good quality and good value to be found in small eggs now. Small size eggs are priced as low as three dozen for one dollar in many stores.

Small eggs must weigh at least 18 ounces; medium eggs weigh at least 21 ounces, and large eggs weigh at least 24 ounces.

VEGETABLES

There is a riot of color and texture in the offerings of fresh veg-tables in today's market. Low prices are the fashion and quality is usually good.

Cauliflower is a late-season vegetable which deserves a reserved seat in the market basket. Cool weather and moist air have produced a quality crop for Michigan families.

When buying cauliflower, look for a clean, firm, compact head that is white or creamy white, heavy for its size with no green tint or dark spots on the surface. The outer leaves should be fresh, firm, and green to protect the head.

The size of the cauliflower has nothing to do with the maturity of the head. A small head may be equally as mature and equally as good as the large one.

There is still time to can tomatoes for supplies are ample, especially in the farmer's markets or gardens.

FRUITS

For lunchboxes, snacks, or desserts—grapes, apples, prune-plums and pears are thrifty fruit selections.

Larger supplies of Tokay grapes are arriving from California. Quality varies, but it is generally good with prices a low 10 to 15 cents per pound in most stores.

If baked apples are on the menu this week, try Michigan's Wolf River variety. Wealthy and McIntosh are ready for pies or sauce, but orchardists say eating quality will be much better within two weeks.

Michigan-grown Stanley prune-plums are priced at about 15 to 25 cents per pound. This is an oval, medium-large, purplish-blue fruit with interesting texture but not too distinctive flavor. They are a good canning fruit.

Don't overlook the good supply of Michigan pears. A record crop of over a million bushels is expected this year. Presently, stores are selling Bartlett's at about 13 to 20 cents a pound. These are delicious when ripened properly for 3 or 4 days before eating.

Harvest Casserole

1 stewing chicken, about 3 lbs. ready-to-cook weight, cut up
1 cup flour
2 tablespoons salt
2 teaspoons paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic, optional
1/2 cup fat for frying
2 carrots
2 cups cooked rice
2 cups chicken gravy

Shake chicken in paper or plastic bag with mixture of the flour, salt, paprika, and pepper. Brown chicken in the moderately hot fat, turning to brown evenly. If used, add garlic clove. Reduce heat to low, add the water, cover tightly, and continue cooking until chicken is almost fork-tender, about 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Meanwhile cook vegetables and prepare gravy.

For the gravy, use 5 tablespoons fat and 5 tablespoons of flour and 3 cups of water or milk. Measure flour into the measured quantity of fat in skillet. Blend and set over low heat. Cook until frothy, then add the milk or water, all at once. Increase heat and cook, stirring constantly, until uniformly thickened. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes. Season to taste.

Line the bottom and sides of a large casserole with the rice. Add chicken and vegetables. Top with the hot gravy. Cover and cook in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes, or until gravy is bubbly. Serve from casserole. Eight generous servings.

Esther Would Like 'Em

LUDINGTON (AP) — A cat that likes to swim and a skin diving dog are pets of the Douglas Leafstrand family. Leafstrand says Whitey, his wife's cat, apparently doesn't like to miss the fun on swimming parties and "just takes off and 'dog paddles' out in the water." He adds that his dog, a 90-pound Chesapeake Bay retriever, can dive about four feet deep, can swim at least 10 feet under water and stay submerged at least a minute.

Add Dill to Fish, Fowl

Nowadays dill comes powdered in small jars. Wonderful to add to chicken or fish dishes.

Quick Dish to Serve With Rice, Spaghetti

A quick dish that can be served with boiled rice or spaghetti is made by cubing two pounds of lamb, preferably from the leg, and browning the pieces for eight minutes in a quarter cup of Spanish olive oil, adding a large sliced onion, then simmering this, covered, for five more minutes. Add two large ripe tomatoes, then cover and simmer for half an hour, or until tender. If you wish, you can add a pound of sliced zucchini or summer squash, along with oregano, salt and pepper, simmering for an additional ten minutes.

Boys Came Later

COVINGTON, Va. (AP) — Franz Brandl, 24, of Linz, Austria, a Fulbright scholar studying at the University of Massachusetts, lost a brief case while hitchhiking near here. Two boys found it in a ravine while hunting lizards. It contained a passport and other papers described by Brandl — all except $125.

Wine Adds Tang to Fruit Compote

One of the requisites of a fruit compote is that it have eye appeal as well as taste appeal. This Pineapple Compote rates high in both respects and is a trio of pineapple tidbits, mandarin oranges and melon balls.

Served in sherbet glasses it looks cool and inviting and tastes delicious. Port wine and syrup drained from the pineapple emphasizes the good fruit flavors.

This compote can be made ahead and slipped into the refrigerator, and placed on the table just before dinner is announced.

Pineapple Compote
1 can (No. 2) pineapple tidbits
1 can (11 oz.) mandarin orange sections
1 small cantaloupe, cut into balls or small squares

Or 1 cup fresh or frozen sliced peaches
1/2 cup syrup from canned pineapple
1/2 cup port wine

Drain pineapple tidbits and reserve 1/4 cup of the syrup. Drain orange sections and combine fruits. Pour pineapple syrup and port wine over.

Chill 3 to 4 hours, turning fruit occasionally. Serve icy cold in sherbet glasses with a garnish of mint or a bright cherry. Serves 6.

Variation. Almost any fresh fruit can be used in place of the melon balls, but it should be fresh.

Quick-Stuffed Eggs

Pile hard-cooked eggs, sliced in half lengthwise, with a ground ham mixture for "quick-stuffed" eggs. To the ground cooked ham for the topping, add sweet pickle relish and a little mayonnaise.

Mix mashed cooked carrot with mashed cooked parsnip, butter or margarine, salt and pepper.

Liver Fricassee Has Flavor Plus

In Liver Fricassee, a delightful new flavor twist is found—one not usually associated with variety meats. It's delicious; try it and see for yourself.

Liver Fricassee
1 pound sliced liver (beef, pork, lamb or veal)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup bacon drippings
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 medium chopped green peppers
2 small chopped white onions
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
Cooked rice

Dredge liver with seasoned flour. Brown in hot bacon drippings. Add tomatoes, peppers, onions and seasonings. Cover and simmer about 45 minutes. Serve with cooked rice. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Up to 5-Pound Chickens Can Be Roasted, Fried

Homemakers are now finding young, tender four to five pound roasting chickens a special treat for their families. It's a story of a revolution in the poultry business that has occurred during the past few years, according to Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent. These young birds may be only 14 to 15 weeks old yet they are mostly white meat. They have broad breasts, heavy legs and thighs, and small bones.

Brand names such as Cacklebirds, Wonder Birds and Petti Birds are being used to promote these roasters. The brands are all basically the same for they describe the modern roaster—a tender bird that can be roasted, fried, and even broiled.

Top Pork Patties With Onion Rings, Tomato, Bacon

Pork tenderloin, for instance, can be served on a platter with some vegetables or a garnish, but more unusual is this version: Cook each patty with a savory topping of tomato, onion and bacon slices and serve one "meaty stack" per person.

Tenderloin Towers
4 pork tenderloin patties
3 tablespoons fat
2 thin slices onion
2 slices tomato
6 slices bacon, halved crosswise

Brown patties in hot fat. Place patties in bottom of a large casserole and top each with a slice of onion, tomato and 2 pieces of bacon. Cover and bake at 325 degrees 1 hour.

Uncover last 15 minutes of cooking time to brown bacon. Six servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Canadian-style Bacon.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is the boneless, cured and smoked back strip from the loin of pork.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It may be roasted in a slow oven (300 degree) approximately 1 1/2 hours for a 2-pound piece; or sliced and broiled, pan-broiled, or pan-fried until lightly browned on both sides.

For Fall Menu Try Jellied Tuna

For the bright, warm days of early autumn, there are times when you'd like a main dish that's cooling, rather than hot. Jellied tuna salad may be just the thing you had in mind.

You'll need two cups of flaked tuna, two eggs, and a tablespoon of unflavored gelatin. For flavor: salt, celery seed and vinegar. Soften the gelatin on top of a quarter cup of cold water. Beat the eggs, add the flavorings plus another quarter cup of water, and cook in a double boiler.

After the eggs have thickened, add the softened gelatin and stir until it is dissolved. Add the flaked tuna and mix thoroughly. Then pour into individual molds or into a ring mold and chill.

If there's a suggestion of chill in the air, you may want to serve the jellied tuna salad with a hot dish, such as scalloped potatoes.

Or make it part of a he-man salad, by serving the molded tuna on lettuce, surrounded by sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, which are at their best at this time of year. Slices of cold boiled potato dipped in french dressing add body to the salad.

This has been a good year for tuna; canned tuna in oil (the American style of packing) is listed as a plentiful food by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Lime Brings Festive Touch to Many a Dish

Save lime halves after you have extracted juice; scallop edges with a kitchen scissors or small sharp knife. If the lime halves wobble, cut a thin slice from the bottom. Fill with mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing and serve with any salad for which you need extra dressing of this type.

Cut whole limes into wedges. Dip the top of each wedge into paprika or minced parsley, or drizzle a thin strip of minced pimiento over it.

Or cut limes into thin round slices and notch or cut out part of the edge in any desired pattern. Center each slice with a tiny round or star of pimiento. If you are fortunate enough to have a set of miniature cutters, you can use these for cutting out the bits of scarlet.

Add these decorated slices to fish or salad for a garnish.

To garnish limeade, use the notched rounds decorated with sprigs of fresh mint or maraschino cherries, or both.

Chunks of Pork, Diced Apples Make Fine Salad

Diced red-skinned apples and chunks of cooked pork make this salad colorful and hearty. Save some of a boned pork loin roast and cut the meat into bite-sized pieces for this whole meal salad. Here is the recipe:

Pork and Apple Salad
1 1/2 cups diced cooked pork
1 1/2 cups diced peeled, red-skinned apples (2 small apples)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Salt and pepper

Combine pork and apples which have been sprinkled with lemon juice. Add mayonnaise and salt and pepper to taste. Serve well chilled in lettuce cups. Four servings.

Pretty Avocado Salad

Avocado cocktail: halve an avocado and remove seed. Scoop out flesh carefully and dice; mix the tiny pieces of avocado with diced orange and french dressing, then pile back into shells.

Boil Onions in Bouillon

Boil fresh baby white onions in concentrated beef bouillon or consommé on the thermostatically heat controlled top burner. A bit of butter or margarine is all the further seasoning needed for wonderful flavor.

Reception Fetes 2 New Central Methodist Pastors

Mrs. H. E. Wilson, secretary of Central Methodist Church, greeted her pastors (left to right) the Rev. Calvin C. Rice, Dr. Milton H. Bank and Dr. John H. Hall, at the reception in the church parlors Wednesday evening. The reception and dinner which followed honored the two new associate ministers, Dr. Hall and the Rev. Mr. Rice. During the evening Allen Palmer showed a colored movie entitled "Return to Glacier," and Mrs. James Moore, a member of Central Choir, sang several selections accompanied by Mrs. H. Henry Sink, pianist and organist.

Admiring the rich fall shades of the gladioli, roses and chrysanthemums in the arrangements decorating the parlors of Central Methodist Church Wednesday evening were Mrs. John Wilson of Fernbarry drive (left) and Mrs. Richard A. Balmer of Chadwick drive. They were present at the reception and dinner honoring Dr. and Mrs. John H. Hall and the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin C. Rice.

Getting to know each other better are (left to right) Mrs. John H. Hall of Mark street, Mrs. Gelston V. Poole of Watkins Lake, chairman of the pastoral committee of Central Methodist Church, and Mrs. Calvin C. Rice of Mary Day avenue. They were photographed Wednesday evening in the church parlors at the reception and dinner honoring the two new associate pastors. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Rice are the wives of the new ministers.

Members of Central Methodist Church since its founding, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Pardee of Wenonah drive (left to right) reminisce a little as they chat with John Wilson of Fernbarry drive and Mrs. Percy Latimer of Dwight street at the reception and dinner Wednesday evening in Central Methodist Church. The occasion was to honor the two new associate pastors and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Hall and the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin C. Rice. Mrs. Latimer is president of the Women's Society of Christian Service and Mr. Wilson is president of the Men's Club.

Do You Expect Others to Be Saints?

BY ANNE HEYWOOD

NICE WIFE

Mr. T. is constantly being disappointed in people and he is convinced he is honest and fair-minded, while other people are hypocrites and cheats.

Of course, this is not so.

Mr. T. is always projecting into people perfectly marvelous and idealistic qualities which they don't have and then gets furious when they turn out not to have them.

This quality — which too many people have — can do more to spoil one's personal and vocational life than anything else I can think of.

Mr. T., for example, married a very nice girl. She had her good qualities and her bad qualities, as in deed we all have. But not to Mr. T.

To him she was a paragon of all the virtues. When she turned out to have some perfectly normal failings here and there, Mr. T. felt betrayed, so they were divorced.

Later he married another Ideal Woman, but this union, too, ended in divorce.

With jobs, it's even worse. When Mr. T. gets a new job the boss is simply divine—a man you can respect and look up to, a paragon of justice and good leadership, ability and humility.

can respect and look up to, a paragon of justice and good leadership, ability and humility.

FEELS BETRAYED

When the boss turns out to be no paragon, Mr. T., again betrayed, resigns and looks for another job.

Mr. T. has finally, at my urging, gone to a psychiatrist to help understand what it is in him which makes him behave this way.

Fortunately, most of us aren't as bad at this as Mr. T. Most of us just have a mild tendency in this direction. And we can help overcome it if we observe the following pointers:

MAKE A LIST

1. With as much honesty as you can muster, make a list of your own good qualities and your own bad qualities. If you tend to procrastinate, to borrow things without returning them in decent time, to gossip, to tell white lies, or to have a temper or fits of depression, put these things down.

You'll find, if you're honest, that you have just about as many bad qualities as good.

2. Then do the same thing with six people you know. List all their good qualities and all their bad qualities.

FACE FACTS

3. Face the fact that many of the people you ever encounter in your life are going to have their quota of bad qualities. There is an occasional exception, an occasional near-saint.

But instead of expecting saints, expect human beings and feel very lucky if you encounter even one near-saint in your lifetime.

Also, you might send for my list of books on understanding people, which is yours for a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

4 to Represent Wesleyan Guild at Conference

Barbara DeWolfe, Ruth Dennis, Helen Kinney and Mabel Smith will attend the Wesleyan Service Guild Conference at the Methodist Camp in Port Huron this weekend. Plans to attend the conference were completed at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Junior Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church.

Helen Kinney and Mabel Smith were cohostesses for the meeting at their home on West Huron street.

Ruth Dennis, Jean McLeod and Miss Smith used as their topic for devotionals and the program, "The Bible." Miss Dennis stressed what the Bible contains, Miss Smith told how best to use the Bible, and Miss McLeod described the first printing of the Gutenberg Bible, this being the 500th anniversary of the printing.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting.

ROBERT McVEAN

Eva Johnson, bride-elect of James M. Smith, asked her sister Judith Ann Johnson to serve as her maid of honor.

Other attendants for the October 6 wedding are Mrs. Robert Haire, Mrs. Edward Lewis, Janice Smith, Beverly Gershon of Pennsylvania and Susan Findlay.

The announcement was made at a personal shower given by Mrs. Haire and Mrs. Lewis at the Haire home on DeSota street.

Guests at the shower were Mrs. Elbert W. Smith, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Judith Johnson, Janice Smith, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. James Batchelor, Barbara Tate, Mrs. Henry Sluder, Mrs. Robert Lorenz and Mrs. Jack Crawford.

Others were Mrs. Robert Boncher, Mrs. Robert Callahan, Mrs. Arthur Walls, Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mrs. Clarence Thompson and Mrs. Hedge.

The bride-to-be was honored at two previous showers hosted by Mrs. Arthur Walls and Mrs. Bud Findlay.

Parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson of West Brooklyn avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Elbert W. Smith of South Marshall street.

Reflect 'Don't Get Caught' Attitude

Teenagers Score Adults 'Low' in Honesty

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

An uncomfortably large number of teenagers consider adults as something less than honest and law abiding.

Our inquiries indicate that one out of three boys between the ages of 13 and 19 doubt that their elders are completely straightforward. Girls are less skeptical, with only one in five expressing such doubts. What brought them to these convictions?

Observation, of course, not only of all adults but of parents.

According to teenagers, adults in general tend to take liberties with income tax returns, engage in city and state corruption and cheat in business dealings.

EVEN PARENTS LIE

On the other hand, they think of their parents as indulging largely in small dishonesties, such as attempting to pay half fare for over-age offspring and telling white lies. Only 49 per cent have caught their parents in a lie.

It's the pressure of living, these young people feel, that causes grownups to be something less than honest.

"If you want to get ahead I guess you have to be practical and shade the truth sometimes," a 17-year-old from Denver commented. "It doesn't mean you're really dishonest or not law-abiding. It means you're just doing what has to be done to survive."

Their own attitudes doubtless stem from such things. Almost every teenager interviewed in our national survey felt that it pays to tell the truth and obey the law.

BUT—and listen to this—three out of four of them defined "law abiding" as not doing anything so flagrantly illegal that the individual will get into trouble with the law. A high school sophomore in Chicago noted:

"The police and the FBI are so smart these days that nothing gets past them. You're better off keeping to the limits of what is legal, rather than taking a chance. Besides, you'd probably get caught anyway."

LACK OF RELIGION

Significant in this connection perhaps is the fact developed in another inquiry of ours that 25 per cent of the boys and 33 per cent of the girls do not feel that their parents give them sufficient religious guidance.

Generally speaking, young people maintain that primary responsibility for strengthening character lies with the parents and the home environment they establish.

"What you see at home is really your yardstick for right and wrong throughout life," a sweet 16 from Oklahoma pointed out.

A young man put it this way: "If your folks have brought you up intelligently, then you're set for life. But if you haven't got that head start, man, you're in trouble."

In agreement on this are 84 per cent of the girls and 72 per cent of the boys.

SCHOOL NEXT

To the teenager, the next most important source of character development is the school. In fact, 12 per cent of them consider the school the leading influence.

Churches come in a poor third at 3.9 per cent. Boys especially think schools and churches should assume greater responsibility.

The youngsters contend, however, that teachers fail to speak to them on an adult level, even though the teenagers have respect for them. Therefore they often discount teachers' advice on general matters as preaching.

SYSTEMS FAULTY

Some of them mentioned also that honor systems practiced in some schools are so faulty that they have little or no use in character development, even though most of them applauded the idea of honor systems.

As long as it is easy not to get caught, they indicated, more and more young people will grow up in the belief that anything they can get away with is all right.

Getting down to cases, we asked the youngsters what they thought an adult would do if he found a wallet containing important papers and money that belonged to a person he disliked. Only 38.3 per cent of them figured that as many as 75 to 99 per cent of the adults would return the wallets intact.

This correlates roughly with the fact that three quarters of them figure they themselves would return such a wallet intact. Included were 86 per cent of the girls but only 61 per cent of the boys.

Like adults, young people tend to look back on "the good old days," even if not actually acquainted with them.

Thirteen per cent of the boys and 3.4 per cent of the girls feel that people were more honest 20 years ago than now. Only 3.3 per cent of both boys and girls think honesty is more prevalent now.

One more point about their attitude towards adult honesty. We discovered that the big city youngster is more wary of grownups than boys and girls in small towns. Thirty-one per cent of those in large centers placed little trust in adults, as against 22 per cent of those in less populated regions.

One ton of sugar beets will yield about 240 pounds of sugar.

Pythian Unit Represented at Parley

Mrs. Randall Wilson will serve as delegate and Mrs. Wallace Morgan, alternate, at the grand temple of Pythian Sisters being held in Grand Rapids today through Sunday. Plans were completed at the Monday evening meeting of Fannie E. Tompkins Temple 41, Pythian Sisters, held at the temple.

Mrs. Clarence Smith and Mrs. A. J. Roy are also attending the meeting.

Plans were completed for a co-operative dinner with the Knights of Pythians at the hall Tuesday evening. Entertainment will be provided following the dinner.

Mrs. William Kring, past grand chief and a member of the local temple, now residing in Lakeland, Fla., was a guest at the evening meeting.

This recent survey indicates that youngsters do notice small chinks in parents' moral armor. When parents tell untruths before their children, it doesn't lend to character development of the teenager. Another complaint of teenagers is that teachers fail to talk to them on an adult level.

Dean's Move to New York Brings Awards, Film Role

Acting Wins Attention of Top Director, Lead in 'East of Eden,' Hollywood Fame

By JOSEPH R. MARSHALL
INS Staff Writer

By the time James Byron Dean arrived in New York he had made up his mind, but no one else's, that he could be an actor.

He got off a bus from the West with a few hundred dollars in his pocket, roomed with old friends and moped. He spent $150 of his strictly limited funds on movies, sometimes three a day. He knew what he wanted but didn't have any idea how to get it.

He recalled later, "I lived with kids I knew, just hung around. Went to cheap movies. During the second six months, I found a little TV work, odds and ends here and there."

He went to Actors Studio to study under Lee Strasberg. He was a shaggy-haired, blue-eyed and not particularly handsome young man. But he learned.

Of Strasberg, Dean said later, "most of what I've learned about acting has come from that man. He's incredible, a walking encyclopedia, with a fantastic insight into human behavior."

The members committee of Actors Studio said later:

SAW DIFFERENCE

"Less than four years ago, Jimmy Dean came to the Actors Studio to present himself for an audition. He was one of the new young hopefuls assaulting the Broadway strongholds... he'd come on from California only a few weeks earlier... but with Jimmy there was a difference.

"In his audition we saw at once a very real talent... highly personal, sensitive, a bright young flame."

In the spring of 1952, when the extra jobs on television that had been keeping him alive were even more difficult to get, he wrangled a job as crewman on a yacht. The owner had theatrical connections. Through those connections, Dean got the dramatic role of a boy shut up in an icehouse for ten years in "See the Jaguar." It closed after five performances.

But Dean had won the backing of Jane Deacy, an established New York actors' representative. She got him TV jobs on such shows as Studio One and Philco Playhouse. She arranged for him to read for the part of a surly Arab boy in the play based on Andre Gide's novel, "The Immoralist."

WON AWARDS

Reviewers praised his portrayal of a "realistically unpleasant" Arab houseboy. He won the Donaldson and Perry Awards. He got the David Blum Award as the most promising newcomer of 1954.

But more important for his career, he won the approval of famed director Elia Kazan, discoverer of such talent as Marlon Brando.

Miss Deacy had managed a screen test and reading for the lead part of Cal in "East of Eden." With Kazan's backing he got the part. He was on his way to Hollywood and the quick creation of a myth.

By then he had realized, as he said later:

"The stage is like a religion; you dedicate yourself to it and suddenly you find that you don't have time to see friends and it's hard for them to understand. You don't see anybody. You're all alone with your concentration and your imagination and that's all you have. You're an actor."

ARRIVED

He arrived in Hollywood with a seven-year contract and a guarantee of $50,000 for his part in "East of Eden." He had his motorcycle and an MG sports car. He got a small apartment.

Before this time he seldom went far out of his way to get attention. But now he was an actor, a star, in the independent, Tabirt tradition of Marlon Brando, Elia Kazan and Actors Studio.

He quickly got attention on the Warner's lot, in the words of one co-worker, "by being an 'uncooperative little bum.' A studio executive has said, 'You always knew when he was around. In the green room (the cafeteria) he would hum, sing to himself, talk in a loud voice, drum on the table or with a spoon on a glass. Anything to attract attention.'"

He would plant himself possessively at a table, pull his jacket or shirt over his head, slurp his soup and glare. He hid or ran from interviews. He was nice just when he wanted to be.

But at the same time he was working hard on the set of "East of Eden."

The word leaked out from the set, "This guy is hot."

Casual or Dress-Up—It's Leather!

NEW YORK (NEA) — Leather country wear, it's now as luxurious as fur-trimmed and dressy as a polished town coat. Once relegated to casual and it still is not for the budget-minded. But it's surprising how many working girls own a high-fashion jacket or skirt in leather. These girls are also the ones who put their money into cashmere and skip the frumpier. They like good things that last.

In the hands of designer Bonnie Cashin, leather is likely to turn into almost anything. A fur-lined coat. A fur-trimmed suede suit. A poncho or a suede jacket, lined in jersey and worn with matching suede pants.

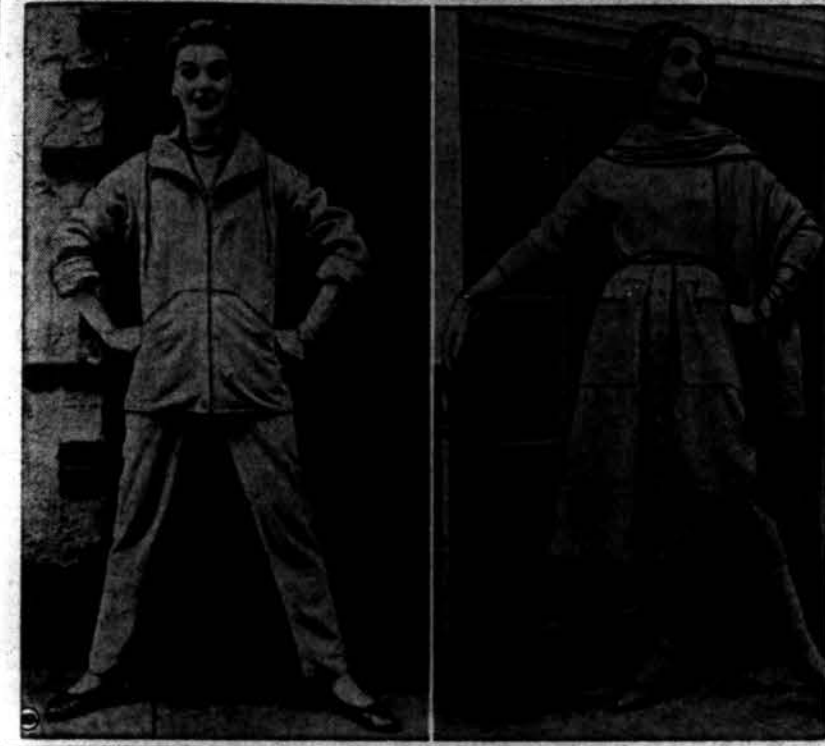

As she handles it, leather is as soft and supple and buttery as can be. We show here (left) this designer's zip front jacket in suede, lined in printed wool jersey and with hood. It's worn with matching slim pants.

The skirt (right) is for city-country wear, can be dressed up or down. It has soft unpressed pleats and zippered pockets to hold comb, change, keys. Both designs are by Bonnie Cashin for Philip Sills.

Teach Tot Neatness to Prevent Accidents

Make sure the yard is cleared of stones and sticks. Members of the "under 3" set put everything they can find in their mouths. Sticks in the hands of this age group are nearly as dangerous to themselves and their playmates as a knife.

Elimination of pointed play things also goes for older children. And since falls account for half of home accidents, make up your mind that you're going to be firm about their putting their bicycles, roller skates, bats and balls away after use. A roller skate or ball on the sidewalk may land a loved one smack against the pavement.

Hat Doubles as Scarf, Belt

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—A Hollywood designer with a flair for economy has designed a "hat" that can be worn 100 ways as headgear, 20 ways as a scarf and five ways as a belt.

The designer, a six-foot, four-inch giant named Burdette, said he was inspired to create the 100-way hat after watching a group of women scratching for bargains in a department store.

"I figured I'd give them a real bargain," Burdette grinned, "and here it is."

Basically the Burdette creation is a two-toned hood affair with a pointed crown and peaked brim. The soft fabric can be bent, turned or twisted into any number of shapes—like helmet, bonnet and Dutch cap.

It has long, dangling ends which can be tied under the chin, in the back, pushed out of sight or worn at the throat in ascot fashion.

You can also leave your head bare, and drape and shape the "chapeau" into a variety of interesting neckpieces or waist cinchers.

According to the designer, the multiple hat will be in stores in September and probably will sell for about $1.98. Burdette is also planning a more luxurious version in mink.

Eyeglass Frames Parallel Brows

To go with smart day and afternoon dresses, chose a pair of eyeglasses with light, decorative frames. If the lower part of the frame is transparent or rimless, the arch of the top repeating that of your brows, these frames will not cast shadows.

With a bit more eye make-up to balance these "darkened" brows, you can wear a wide choice of pretty hats. Curving brims harmonize with the curve of the frames.

A draped velvet hat, a fur-laden feather toque with a filmy malines otque with a filmy malines veil will be very becoming.

Plan Pantry Shower for Nuns at St. Hugo

Mrs. Peter Conlon, president of St. Hugo Altar Guild of St. Hugo of the Hills Church, announces that a pantry shower for nuns of the church will be given Sept. 27 by the guild.

YWCA Schedules Fall Activities

First of the fall activities at the YWCA will be a general membership meeting to which families and friends are invited. This will be held Sept. 27, at 8 p.m.

Wilhelm von Weiler, Netherlands consul in Detroit, will be guest speaker, talking about his native country and some of his experiences as a diplomat. Mrs. von Weiler also will be a guest of honor at the YWCA event.

Miss Amy Krueger, a retired YWCA executive director now making her home in Pontiac, will discuss the meaning of YWCA membership. Dutch music and "Dutch Treat" refreshments will complete the program.

Mrs. H. M. Learned, World Fellowship chairman, will give the devotion. The program is being given under the auspices of Mrs. W. S. Dawe and her membership committee.

On Sept. 30, Suzanne Houghton, chairman of hostesses for the Pontiac USO, is entertaining all present and potential hostesses at her Williams Lake home, at a 5 p.m. picnic supper. Recruitment, training and supervision of the USO Hostess Corps is the Pontiac YWCA's contribution to the USO program.

Girls between the ages of 18 and 26, and unmarried, serve as junior hostesses, while older girls and women act as senior hostesses. The group goes to the guided missile bases at Auburn Heights and Commerce each month to the USO-sponsored dances and shows.

Fall program at the Y will begin the week of Oct. 1. On Oct. 3, the Ladies Day Out will initiate a weekly program of varied crafts, sewing and bridge classes for mothers, while the youngsters are cared for in the nursery operated by the Y from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Criticized for Waving at Friend

'Is It Unladylike?' Asks Girl Whose Mom Disapproved

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "The other day while walking on the street with my mother, a girl I know passed on the other side of the street and I waved to her. My mother, who is a stickler for good manners, said it was not ladylike to wave and that I should have nodded my head instead. Will you please tell me if it is wrong to wave to someone you know?"

Answer: I certainly see nothing wrong in a young person waving to another young friend even if she is with her mother.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I was severely criticized the other day after a lunch party at which apple pie was served for dessert, for just eating the apples and leaving the bottom of the pie and the crust uneaten. Was this bad table manners?"

Answer: It seems to me that this obvious evidence either of your weak digestion, or your unwillingness to gain pounds, should not have been mistaken for criticism of the pastry's deliciousness.

Dear Mrs. Post: "Next week our 17-year-old daughter is going to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of a college friend. I met this girl twice, but her parents are strangers to me. Nevertheless, I think my husband and I should have been invited at least to the church wedding."

"Will you please tell me if I am justified in feeling hurt at not receiving an invitation? Would it be proper for my husband and me to go to the church anyway to see our daughter, even though we did not receive an invitation?"

Answer: You certainly would not commit an error in going to the church to see your daughter. Your not being invited was surely an oversight.

Church Group Holds Meeting

Mrs. D. R. Laffelle of Silverdale road entertained the January-March group of First Presbyterian Church Tuesday. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. William Thomas Jr., Mrs. Roy Ashland and Mrs. T. C. McFetridge.

Twenty-five members and guests attended the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Thomas Tillson. A study of the Book of the Ephesians was given by Mrs. W. J. Baumgartner and plans were discussed for the Autumn Fellowship Tea. Mrs. Istvan Nagy and Mrs. Harry McGrath were welcomed as new members. Plans also were made for a money making project Nov. 2 and 3.

Mrs. George H. Thurber, president of Xi Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, appointed chairmen of standing committees, and Miss Adah Shelly told of her recent travels in Europe at the Tuesday meeting of the chapter.

Mrs. William Thomas and Mrs. William Stephens will serve as co-chairmen of the program committee; Mrs. Carl Ludy and Mrs. Andrew Vith, telephone committee; Virginia Luther, flowers; Mrs. John Black, publicity; and Jean Womack, chapter council member.

Oct. 13 and 14 were announced as dates for the Michigan convention to be held in Jackson.

Virginia and Margaret Luther of Lincoln avenue were hostesses to the 17 members at the buffet-dinner meeting. Mrs. Robert Owen will be assisted by Mrs. Ludy at the next meeting.

Exercise in Youth for Health in Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It seems a shame that so few young people, even teenagers, have any real interest in sports and exercise. In this day of two-car garages many have become victims of sedentary habits at a youthful age.

Yet exercise in early years will build a great backlog of stamina and health which will be of great value later on in meeting the stresses, strains and responsibilities of adult life. Also, the teenager who is truly interested in some sport seldom gets into trouble.

Many middle-aged people need exercise as much or more than younger ones. The person who takes exercise down through the years has a big edge on the more sedentary person in health and in beauty.

However, exercise at middle age is a specialized activity and should be carefully correlated with physical condition.

STICK TO RULES

Today I would like to give you a few general rules to use in planning your exercise.

1. It always is best to have a check on heart and blood pressure before beginning exercise. This is especially important if you are approaching middle age or older or if you have any abnormality.

2. Your reaction to exercise is the best gauge of whether or not you are doing too much at one time. You should feel relaxed but not exhausted. If you experience real fatigue and it lingers on after a short rest you are doing too much.

3. Always begin your exercise period by walking briskly about the room for a while before beginning more strenuous exercises. End your exercise period the same way or with some very mild exercise. This protects your heart.

4. Exercise can build up or slim down if you do the correct ones faithfully.

RELIEVES TENSION

5. Physical exercise is a wonderful antidote for those who suffer from nervous tension.

6. Exercise can distribute your weight more attractively.

7. Mild exercise is a great aid when trying to gain weight.

If you would like to have my short exercise routine especially planned for women send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Exercised Only One Day—Got No Results!"

Exercise can build up or slim down if you do the correct ones faithfully.

Group Hears Talk on Israel

Mrs. Sanford Saperstein spoke of "The Children I Met in Israel" at the recent meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob held at the temple.

The speaker said that of the many things that Israel has to be proud of, it is most proud of and blessed with its dedicated youth. "They possess a fierce love and pride for their country," she stated.

Mrs. George Wyman, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Joseph Nosanchuk, youth group chairman, announced that the Michigan State Temple Youth Conclave will be held here Nov. 16-18. Other announcements were a money-making project to be held Sept. 27 and the congregational dinner scheduled for Oct. 7.

Japan Making Bid for Shirt, Tie Market

The Japanese are making a big bid for the American shirt market. Through the first third of '36, the importation of shirts from Japan increased 600 per cent.

An oddity is the introduction of ties especially designed for tall men. One manufacturer makes them four inches longer than usual, just right for basketball players.

Chiefs Shift Fullbacks for Sexton Tilt

LINE HUSKY — Here's one obstacle Lansing Sexton ball carriers will run against in Friday's home season opener at Wimer Stadium. The big fellow shown above is 6-foot, 210-pound tackle Bob Holloway. Holloway is the Chiefs' biggest gridders who did a good job in the Wyandotte game a week ago. He is a 17-year-old senior, and 1955 letterman.

By H. GUY MOATS
There'll be a new face in the Pontiac High School Chiefs' starting lineup for the important home season opener, come Friday night, against Lansing Sexton. Game time is 8 o'clock. A big audience is expected.

The starter will be husky, speedy Lesie Watkins who wears jersey No. 33. Les has won the starting fullback spot over last week's starter, big Charley Spamm. Watkins' selection was based on his good showing against Wyandotte, and in this week's scrimmage sessions, Chiefs' coaches pointed out, announcing the shift.

Otherwise, with one more possible change, Chiefs will face their long-time, respected opponent, Lansing Sexton's Big Reds with the same lineup that performed so creditably against the 'Dots. If No. 1 quarterback Dick Whitmer, junior husky, is ready to go he will get the opening assignment and flashy Jimmy Shorter will return to his safety position. However, Whitmer isn't being rushed, after returning to practice 1st of the week following a brief illness. An attack of asthma kept him out of the Wyandotte tilt.

If Whitmer isn't ready Shorter will be the signal-caller. Stiff scrimmages were held both Tuesday and Wednesday, but a respite was scheduled today, when routine polishing up will be accomplished.

Coach Ed Graybiel put a lot of time yesterday on defensive play, pass defense and ball handling, hoping to correct faults in these departments that cropped out in the opening test.

Sexton comes here for the start of the 5th home-and-home set between the schools. Friday's game is the 9th in the long series and a renewal after a two-year lapse. Chiefs won the last time to give them a 4-2 record in the series. The Lansing 11 will have an almost entirely new change in front line positions from its opener, a 34-6 loss to Muskegon. Coach Carl (Buck) Nystrom, however, retains his starting backs.

Probable starting (offense) lineups are as follows:

For Pontiac — ends, Bob Baxter, Marv Cagle; tackles, John Manningale and Bob Holloway; guards, Bob Kelly and Dick Kora; center, Joe Hill; backs, Dick Whitmer or Jim Shorter (qb); Freeman Watkins (fb); Lesie Watkins (fb) and Charley Robinson (fb).

For Sexton — ends, Gary Freeman or Joe Thompson and John Rowan; tackles, Doug Pollard and Dave Anderson; guards, Ken King, Ed Fox; backs, Ted Petrie (qb); Bill Hall (fb); Chuck Ginther (fb) and Fred Johnson (fb).

slight underdogs tomorrow night. Two regulars, halfback Jon Solberg and end Harold Perkins, are out of action with injuries.

The Dragons will rely heavily on quarterback Nick Niera, halfback Doug Storey and fullback John Schoff, who were impressive in the Clarkson game. Line stalwarts last week were Ed Braid, John Parker and Bob Burnett.

BACK IN ACTION — Quarterback Dale Burrows, 180 pound senior, is expected back at his post for Birmingham Friday night when the Maples meet rival Cranbrook on the Birmingham gridiron. Burrows was injured in the opener last week against Southfield.

Lakers Meet Walled Lake

Lights Go On for Skipper Gridders

A power-packed Lapeer football team storms into Waterford and the West Bloomfield Lakers greet dangerous Walled Lake to high-light Friday's non-league and independent prep action in the Oakland County area.

The Skippers will battle brilliant Tom Wilson and Company on the Waterford High School field to dedicate their new lighting system. Game time is 8 p.m.

Waterford will be at full strength in its efforts to stop Wilson, the Panthers' All-State, halfback. The Skippers plan on countering with a sparkling runner of their own, halfback Lindy Salathiel.

West Bloomfield's chances for claiming victory No. 1 appear dim with the invasion of Walled Lake.

which trampled a veteran Redford Union squad by a 33-7 score in last Friday's season opener.

Despite assorted bumps and bruises, the Vikings are expected to be in good physical condition for the 8 o'clock contest at Keego Harbor.

Dale Nelson's Lakers will be handicapped by the absence of halfback Gene Neeley and halfback Don Gibbs. Neeley has a pulled leg muscle while Gibbs suffered a facial injury. Ross Fockler is replacing Neeley.

Rochester, fresh from its 34-4 triumph over Davison, takes on Farmington in a battle of Falcons at Farmington while Orionville, which chalked up a wild 27-56 decision over Goodrich, plays host to Hartland.

The Southfield Bluejays, who revealed a powerful ground attack during their 21-0 rout of Birmingham entertain Notre Dame of Harper Woods; Romeo shoots for its 2nd win at Fraser, and Berkley receives a visit from distant Alpena.

Additional high school activity tomorrow finds East Detroit at Roseville, Royal Oak at Hazel Park, and Imlay City at Capac.

A football series which dates back in 1928 will be resumed for the 14th time when Birmingham and Cranbrook tangle on the Maple gridiron Friday night.

It will be the season opener for the Cranes under coach Fred Campbell, while the Maples will be out to recover from the stinging 21-0 defeat at the hands of Southfield last week.

Coach Carl Lemle, uninspired by the Birmingham showing against Southfield, put the Maples through a week long series of scrimmage sessions.

Lemle will have to find a replacement for tackle Pete Ritchie who was hospitalized after the Southfield game with the flu and will be out indefinitely.

Jack Palmer, a 195 pound junior, may move into Ritchie's post.

Dale Burrows, who suffered a leg injury, will return at quarterback, but the kicking duties will rest with fullback Chuck Gibson.

Cranbrook will have Dave Campbell, a 155 pound junior, at quarterback. Campbell, rated a fair passer, broke his leg in pre-season drills last year.

Truck Won't Sponsor Class A Team in 1957

Pontiac's Parks & Recreation Class A Baseball League apparently will be a wide-open affair next summer. Announcement was made at last night's annual summer sports banquet for baseball and softball teams that General Motors Truck & Coach will not sponsor a city league nine in the 1957 campaign.

Coaches this season set up an all-time loop mark with 22 wins, nary a licking. No other club in the circuit's long history ever accomplished that record.

Joe Culmone set a track record in 1950 when he rode 69 winners during 45 days at Atlantic City, N. J.

Off the Grapevine —

It's time for members of the sports staff of the Press to get their feet wet in picking the probable winners of the area prep football games.

At some of the season openers last week, many of the fans and coaches asked, "How are you picking this game?" After the answer, "We're not" was returned, we heard, "What's the matter, afraid to go out on the limb?"

Well here we go, out on the limb looking over this week's top 10 games, just off the grapevine.

Favorites Fall in Tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—A couple of nerveless 17-year-olds from the Louisiana bayous and Washington State's Cascades were having a lark at the 56th USGA Women's Amateur Golf Tournament today.

The brash kids, champions at their own age level, were Joanne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., who eliminated defending champion Pat Lesser yesterday, and Clifford Ann Creed of Oculous, La., who retired Barbara McIntire, runner-up in the U.S. Women's Open.

Joanne, a tall, strong blonde, didn't let the defending champion win a hole and was even with par for 14 holes. She is the USGA Junior champ.

Clifford Ann, the Western Junior champ who relaxes before matches with a yo-yo, beat Miss Intire, 3 and 1, and was on par for 17 holes.

Today Miss Gunderson in this Cup player Mrs. P. Cudone of Montclair, N.J. defeated New York Metropolitan champion Judy Frank yesterday, 2 and 1. The 103-pound Clifford Ann met Mrs. William Harrison of San Francisco, who sent home Grace Lenczyk, 1948 U.S. champion from Newington, Conn., 5 and 4.

Western champion Anne Quast of Everett, Wash., just turned 19, met curly haired Maureen Riley, the Western Pennsylvania Open champ, after winning on the 19th hole yesterday from Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., the 1954 U.S. champion.

The international "grand slam" of the Women's British U.S. and French championships remained the goal for another year for Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of St. Clair, Mich., who owns two of the crowns. She three-putted yesterday on the 19th hole and lost to Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, who won the first of her four Iowa State championships 15 years ago. Wiffi, 19, who will play here after out of Orange, Texas, showed the effects of a summer-long layoff since starring with the U.S. Curtis Cup team and beating the best in British and French open tourneys. She was still powering the ball, but not in the right direction. She had won 19 straight tournament matches.

Hometown Jane Nelson, American runner-up last year and Curtis Cup team member, won seven holes between a pair of sixes and defeated Mrs. Carl B. Tuttle of Detroit, 8 and 7. Her opponent today was Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La., "All-America" winner in the Tam O'Shanter circus last month, who defeated Mary Patton Janssen, runner-up in the British Open, 5 and 3.

'Jug' Worth $52,000

Top Pacers in Rich Race

DELAWARE, Ohio (U)—The country's classiest 3-year-old pacers battle it out today at the Delaware County Fairgrounds in the 11th annual Little Brown Jug worth $52,000.

Bachelor Hanover, owned by Hazel I. Ruben of Charlton, N.Y., was an 8-5 favorite to take down the winner's share of $29,602 with a straight heat victory. The chestnut son of Nibble Hanover and The Old Maid led the 2-year-old side-wheelers with $43,000 won last year and has added $70,000 during the current campaign despite being laid up for about three weeks.

Ten pacers start in the first heat at 1:30 p.m., EST. If one horse wins the first two heats, that wraps it up. If different horses win the first two, the entire field comes back for the third heat. If a third winner pops up in that one, the three victors will return for the fourth.

Billy Haughton, who drove Quick Chief to victory in the $66,606 Jug a year ago, will handle Bachelor Hanover. If he wins he'll be the first ever to take the big prize two straight years.

Other entrants and the odds, are: Canny Scot 8-1, Adioscot 5-1, Adioscot 5-1, High Bay 50-1, Noble Adioscot 5-2, Poplar 30-1, So Big 1-5.

No Recurrence of Deer Virus

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's deer herd apparently has not been hit by the virus disease which killed several hundred deer last year at this time.

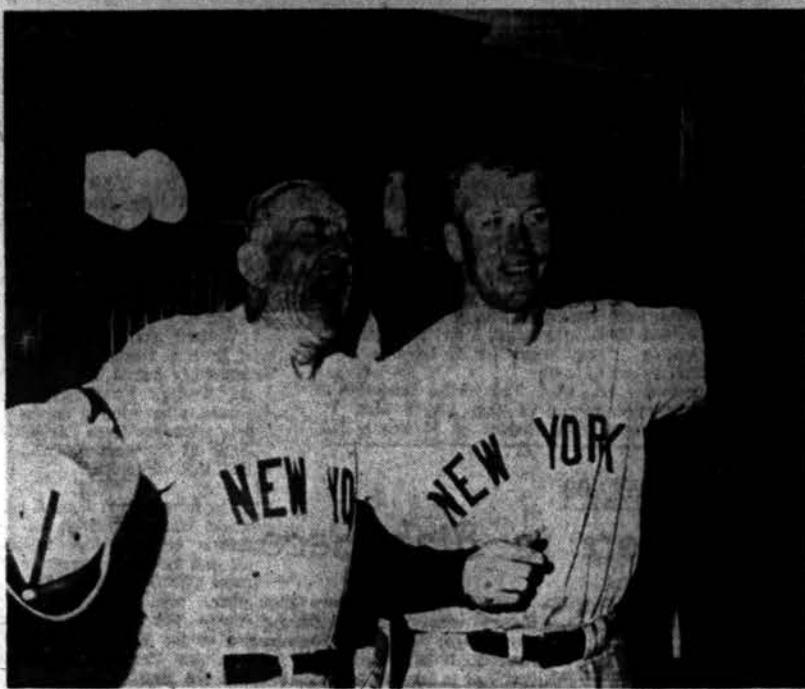

State conservation department field offices reported no outbreak of the disease, believed caused by a virus infection.

During September of last year, 110 dead or dying deer were reported from a five county area in western Michigan centering around Manistee County. Another 20 deaths were reported from Midland and Saginaw counties.

The known number of deaths indicated losses numbering several hundred during the 1955 outbreak, which reached its height in early September. A similar outbreak was reported in 1953, when hundreds of deer died from the mysterious virus disease in early autumn.

TIME TO CELEBRATE — Manager Casey Stengel (left) and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees whoop it up in the dressing room after the Yanks clinched the American League Pennant. It was Mantle's 50th homer which decided the issue, giving the Yankees their 7th title in eight years.

Seeks Title Test

Lightburn Easy for Lane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Kenny Lane's easy victory over Ludwig Lightburn last night in Miami's new Biscayne Arena has convinced the Muskegon, Mich., youth that he's more than ready for a shot at the lightweight boxing title.

Lane, the sixth-ranking contender in the division, said Lightburn "wasn't too tough. The way I handled him ought to entitle me to a crack at the championship." Lightburn is the No. 9 lightweight.

Switching back and forth from a southpaw lead to a straightaway stance, Lane kept Lightburn in such a constant state of confusion that the Negro from British Honduras never was able to launch a sustained attack.

In the late rounds, with his hands begging him to move in and punch, Lightburn did his best but Lane stopped each of his flurries with sharp right and left blows.

The decision was unanimous for the 24-year-old Lane. Judge Sam Margolis gave him a 100-92 margin. Judge Jerry Sherrard called it 98-92 and Referee Petey Sarron 99-90. The Associated Press gave it to Lane 100-92.

It was Lane's 44th victory in 49 fights and Lightburn's 8th defeat in 49 bouts. Lightburn slipped to the canvas twice while under heavy attack by Lane but there were no official knockdowns. Lane said, "I hit him with a good left the second time and I thought it was a knockdown." Lane weighed 137 for the nationally televised fight. Lightburn came in at 138½. With no Miami blackout, the fight drew 1,125 fans who paid a gross gate of $2,360.

Injured Wolves Meet Brighton

A crippled Clarkston squad begins its Wayne-Oakland Conference football campaign Friday night against the Brighton Bulldogs at Brighton.

Coach Ed Hintz' Wolves will go into the game with a makeshift backfield caused by the loss of two star runners in last Friday's season opener against Lake Orion.

The Wolves lost the decision, 26-0, in addition to George Lang and Dave Swayne, a pair of speedy pint-sized ball carriers. Lang, who suffered a leg injury, may see limited action tomorrow but Swayne is out indefinitely with a banged-up knee.

Tom Bergman, a transfer student from Holly, will start for Lang at left half while Jim Jensen hopes to fill Swayne's shoes in the other halfback post. Quarterback Leroy Parks and fullback Don Alexander will round out the backfield.

Millford faces a rough assignment Friday against invading Clarenceville, defending W-O titlist.

Olmeda Stuns Galleryites With Defeat of Lew Hoad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unheralded Alex Olmedo of Peru, 1956 U. S. Intercollegiate titleholder, registered an astonishing upset when he defeated Australia's Wimbledon champion, Lew Hoad, in the third round of play in the Pacific Southwest Tennis Tournament.

The 20-year-old 6-footer, a junior at the University of Southern California, sent the stocky Aussie to the sidelines yesterday by scores of 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

The match had the gallery at the Los Angeles Tennis Club in an uproar from the very first, and Hoad, after an all-out try in the third and deciding set, had nothing but praise for slender, dark skinned Olmedo.

In other men's singles matches yesterday Gil Shea of Los Angeles beat Billy Talbert of New York, 6-2, 6-3; Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., beat Mike Green of UCLA 6-2, 7-5; Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated Mike Franks of UCLA 9-7, 8-6; Ashley Cooper of Australia downed his fellow countryman, Malcolm Anderson, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills defeated Bob Kimbrell of USC, 6-2, 6-2.

Indians One-Up on Denver Club in AA Playoff

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The pennant winning Indianapolis Indians were one up on Denver today in the American Assn. championship playoff after scoring enough runs for the entire series in the opening game.

The Indians humbled the Bears last night 13-1 after scoring just 13 runs in seven games to squeak past Minneapolis in the first-round playoff series. They spotted Denver two days' rest but showed no weariness from the hard series against the Millers.

Bobby Young and Russ Nixon homered for the Indians and Roger Maris batted in four runs on two singles.

TURTLE TALK — Little five-year-old Richard Isaac is not mocking the turtle, he is comparing the size of the tiny creature with that of his watch and the result seems to be a draw. Richard found the little turtle ambling along near his farm home near Liberal, Kans., and promptly tagged the roaming reptile "Snappy."

Outstanding Catholic Layman of '56 Pontiac K. of C. to Honor Judge Picard at Dinner

The Msgr. Sharpe Council 600 Knights of Columbus of Pontiac has announced it program for the Saturday testimonial dinner at the local KC Hall in honor of Federal Judge Frank A. Picard.

The Pontiac Council has selected Alexander A. Zaleski, bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit; Thomas M. Kavanagh, state attorney general, Pontiac Mayor William Donaldson, and the Rev. Ralph Kowalski, state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

John A. Carry, city commission member, will make the civic welcome talk.

Guests include His Excellency Alexander A. Zaleski, bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit; Thomas M. Kavanagh, state attorney general, Pontiac Mayor William Donaldson, and the Rev. Ralph Kowalski, state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

John A. Carry, city commission member, will make the civic welcome talk.

Walter Graveline, past state deputy of Michigan Knights of Columbus, will present the award to Picard. Remarks by Picard and Bishop Zaleski will follow.

Picard, 68, is a native of Saginaw. He is a University of Michigan graduate and has been a member of the state bar since 1912. A World War I veteran, he formerly served as assistant prosecutor for Saginaw County and was city attorney for Saginaw.

Picard was co-author and first chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and the Michigan Unemployment Commission. He has served as grand knight and district deputy and was the Michigan state deputy for two years.

About two of every three buses in the U.S. are used for school purposes, according to present estimates.

Writer Ben Hecht Works on Five Projects at Once

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Ben Hecht, who claims to have lived "under a shower of spears" in recent years, still manages to escape unscathed and continue his amazing literary output.

His current activities:

1. Writing the script of "A Farewell to Arms" for David O. Selznick.
2. Finishing up a movie script on the life of John Paul Jones.
3. Preparing a play on the life of the late poet Max Bodenheim, which will open in Chicago this fall.
4. Re-cutting his Bob Hope-Katharine Hepburn film, "The Iron Petticoat."
5. Getting ready to write a novel at his Oceanside, Calif., home.

I caught him as he was finishing up the Selznick script and asked an impertinent question: Did he think he might have done better in the literary field if he had spread himself less thin?

"No," he said flatly. "I have produced 22 books, 15 plays, 70 screen plays and 400 short stories. I have done the best I can. I think it's better to keep writing than to labor over every word, trying to make it a gem."

Hecht, whose lethargic manner fails to conceal his brilliant wit, declared that he has been bounced out of Hollywood three or four times. He has been one of the town's sharpest critics, yet producers always hire him back.

I mentioned that returning to Chicago should evoke memories for him. He and the late Charles MacArthur got their schooling there in the newspaper days that inspired their "The Front Page."

"Yes, I'd like to see Chicago," he said, "though I expect to be blinded by the sidewalks. Every time I return there, they have installed more miles of white sidewalks. They are burying the city in a cement sarcophagus."

I asked him if those newspaper days were as great as they have been painted by him and others.

"I guess they were," he said. "In those days there was no radio and television; the printed word was king. A writer was somebody, and a novelist was an awesome sight. Today he's just a guy who has sold a book to Hollywood."

Study New Links With Alaska

U.S. May Build Road, Rail Line From Seattle to North Territory

BY ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Feature Writer
 Although still denied statehood, Alaska now may get closer ties to the United States homeland via a proposed 225-million-dollar railroad and perhaps a new highway.

Before adjourning, Congress approved a measure creating a 12-member commission to study the feasibility—both from an economic and military standpoint—of building rail and highway corridors between Alaska and the Pacific Northwest.

If built, the new route or routes presumably would go closer to the coast than the Alcan Highway, now Alaska's lone land link to the U.S.

Advocates say the proposed links would give a tremendous boom to the economies of both Alaska and the northwest area around Seattle.

SEATTLE HOPING
 Seattle would benefit spectacularly as the southern terminal of the proposed new routes because it would then become the market for the rich produce of British Columbia.

The Alcan Highway built during World War II has its southern terminus high in Canada on the eastern slope of the Rockies and thus is not an economically efficient connection between Alaska and the territory's main base of supplies in the Pacific Northwest around Seattle.

But critics contend Alaska has little need of new transportation facilities since two of its main products—salmon and gold—would not be shipped on them. The salmon goes by boat and the gold by air. A direct rail link, however, would be a great boon to Alaska's tourist business and could unlock a potential treasure chest of natural resources.

The Army says officially as far as it is concerned construction of the proposed railroad is "not justified by military needs."

Sponsored by Sen. Henry Magnuson (D-Wash.), who lives in Seattle, the act setting up a study commission provides for the appointment of 12 members by President Eisenhower and specifies the group should report its recommendation by mid-1958. It carries $75,000 to make the survey.

Wives Shame County—Repair Their Road

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The "do it yourself" mood put 20 annoyed housewives to work with shovels, picks and other tools.

The women said they were repairing the road Coburn Hollow at nearby Huddy to "shame" county officials.

Mrs. Landon Rutherford, a leader of the repair crew, said, "We were promised last election that the road would be blacktopped. Well, they did blacktop about half-way up. But look at it now."

The women completed about a half mile of the job. They said they'd be back tomorrow to start on the next mile.

67 Pct. U.S. Women Have Life Insurance

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — A study made by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center indicates that 67 per cent of all women and 61 per cent of all children in the United States have life insurance policies of some kind. More than 70 per cent of women living in the nation's cities are insured compared with 60 per cent of the women in rural areas. About 65 per cent of the children living in cities have insurance coverage compared with about 55 per cent of their "country cousins."

Pick Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS — The Michigan State Dental Assn., 3,400 members strong, has selected Grand Rapids as the site of its annual convention April 20-22, 1958. It will be the first time since 1934 for the organization to meet in Grand Rapids.

Abortions Legalized

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Hungary has decreed that abortions henceforth not be punishable if they are carried out "in one of the institutions arranged for it," radio Budapest reported.

Vermont began the commercial quarrying and finishing of granite on a large scale as early as in 1822.

Had to Be Right

SEATTLE (AP) — John Franco was puzzled by the meticulous workmen were displaying in putting acoustical material on the ceiling over his bar. "Why," Franco asked the foreman, "are you being so fussy. It looks all right to me." "Listen," the foreman replied, "my boss spends most of his time in here. This job has got to be just right."

Tourists Hear, See Story Debunked at Resort City

CANNES (INS)—A French Riviera resort hopes to strike a tourist gold mine by publicly debunking Alexandre Dumas' immortal tale of "The Man in the Iron Mask."

The playground city of Cannes is so sure that its irreverent undertaking will meet with popular fancy that it has invested 25 million francs ($71,428) in an elaborate "Light and Sound" spectacle that pulls no punches in poking fun at the masked man legend.

"Light and Sound" spectacles are a post-war French form of their successful start in illustrating the history of the famous chateau of the Loire Valley.

The resort's city fathers, however, turned for a site to the nearby island of Sainte Marguerite, rich in history and popular lore. It was on this island, so the legend goes, that "The Man in the Iron Mask" once was imprisoned and his ghost has been said to roam the ramparts of the ruined Ste. Marguerite fort on moonlit nights.

Nobody ever saw the phantom because Ste. Marguerite until now was not accessible after nightfall. This situation has now been remedied with visitors being ferried to the island in comfortable motor launches.

Then, as Ste. Marguerite grows closer, soft music wafts gently out to sea. At the same time, the island lights up in shaded tones of blue, amber and white.

The first part of the spectacle begins while the boats are still at sea. The legend of the island is unfolded through 96 loudspeakers. Recounted is the arrival there of St. Honorat (the brother of Ste. Marguerite) and his companions some 15 centuries ago and how they found the island infested with snakes. As St. Honorat lifted his arms in prayer, the legend goes, a huge wave rolled over the island washing it clean of reptiles and other dangerous beasts.

The second act takes place with the spectators on the terrace of the ancient fort. A dialogue takes place between philosopher Voltaire and a local guide. The latter insists that the "Man in the Iron Mask" was the twin brother of King Louis XIV.

Voltaire replies that the prisoner never existed, that he had invented him to make a story. Angry voices of protest then rise from different parts of the island.

As each voice prepares to tell his own tale, hidden projectors pinpoint the spot from where the voice appears to come.

Little Iowa Town Ready to Welcome Eisenhowers

BOONE, Iowa (AP)—This central Iowa city of 12,000 is ready once again to welcome Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie.

This latest visit comes as the President hits the trail in his Republican re-election campaign. He will come here this evening to spend the night before going on tomorrow to the National Field Days near Newton, about 60 miles away. There he will serve as honorary chairman and make an informal talk.

Boone was Mrs. Eisenhower's birthplace. She and the President will stay over night with Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carlson in their four-bedroom, white frame home.

The house was built by Mrs. Eisenhower's grandfather Carl Carlson in 1870. The Eisenhowers last were in the house July 4, 1952, when he was en route to the Republican National Convention in Chicago. His special train stopped here while he spoke in the city park and visited the Carlsons.

When Eisenhower comes to Boone he usually remarks that it was in 1915 that he first came here "with my bride." He was a lieutenant not long out of West Point. After he became president, one of Boone's principal thoroughfares was renamed Mamie Eisenhower Avenue.

Norton Murder Probe Still On

Sheriff and State Police Continue Investigation of Ax Slaying

Investigation continued into the second month today in the slaying of 72-year-old Florence Norton of Springfield Township. County and state detectives are working with but very little information.

"We are running down every lead but haven't been able to come up with anything yet," said Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons.

He said his department is working daily with Pontiac State Police detectives with hope to track down the murderer of the widow.

Investigators have questioned everyone who knew the woman or who live in the area of the farm where she was found brutally beaten on Aug. 1.

Lie detector tests have been given people who might have had contact with the woman, but they have failed to shed much light on the slaying.

Swift Hit by Strike in 35 U.S. Cities

CHICAGO (AP)—Twenty-five thousand workers in 35 Swift & Co. meat packing plants in 35 cities went on strike today in a dispute over wages and a union shop.

Pickets were ordered on a "round-the-clock" schedule.

Negotiations broke up shortly after the strike started. Spokesmen for two unions involved and the company said there was no indication of immediate resumption of peace talks.

The strike is the first against the company since 1948. That walkout lasted 10 weeks.

The two unions, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen and the United Packinghouse Workers, both AFL-CIO, are demanding a "substantial" wage increase. They have not disclosed the exact amount. They also are seeking a union shop, which the company said it is not willing to accept.

Easterner Confuses Geography of West

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A toy store operator plans to send a map of the nation, with New Mexico circled, to a New England doll firm which apparently has its geography confused.

Mrs. Phyllis Vickers received an inquiry from a Whitman, Mass., firm requesting "information on the types of dolls played with in your country long ago as well as at present. If prices are not in U. S. dollars please list your current rate of exchange."

Mrs. Vickers says the map she plans to send will bear a note saying this state is "No. 47, admitted to the Union in 1912."

Without Nagging Backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following sexual foal and drive — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Don's Pills. They work fast in 5 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 million of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and more money. Get Don's Pills today!

Child Guidance Staff Holds 1st Fall Session

First fall meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic Board was held yesterday.

Members of the Child Guidance Clinic staff will meet Oct. 4 and 5 in Ypsilanti with the professional staffs of all the other clinics in the state, Madeline Hall, clinic director, announced.

Instead of an October board meeting, the board decided to meet with the Twin City Child Guidance Clinic at the semi-annual meeting of the Assn. of Michigan Child Guidance Clinics boards. Date for the October meeting is the 17th at the Whitcomb Hotel in St. Joseph.

Stone Relics May Upset Cultural History Theory

MIYAZAKI, Japan (INS)—Ancient stone instruments believed to be some 5,000 years old were discovered in southern Japan this week.

The discovery was especially significant because it may upset the archeological theory Japanese cultural history dates back to the New Stone Age. The stone relics are believed to be older than the New Stone Age period.

The relics were excavated by archeologists from a museum in Miyazaki.

About one-third of New York State's foreign-born white population are of German and Italian descent.

Taste-full Solution

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—There's only one drawback to the long standing friendship between Robert Johns and W. L. Bonham. They can't stand each other's cooking. Johns, 82, and Bonham, 72, camp together each summer at their lodge near here. It's equipped with two fireplace pits. At mealtime, each cooks and eats alone.
