President Talks With Macmillan on Many Topics

Flies Back to England; Cheery Hails Follow Ike Along All Routes

WENDOVER, England (AP)—In the serene peace of the English countryside, President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan turned today to a discussion of Western strategy in the cold war dealings with the Soviet Union.

The President, preparing for his talks next month with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, arrived shortly after midday for a week end of conferences at Macmillan's secluded country estate, Chequers.

The President flew in from Scotland where he had visited with Queen Elizabeth II and her family. He was met at Benson Airport by Macmillan.

At Benson, 18 miles from Chequers, a crowd of several hundred applauded and cheered as Eisenhower stepped from a British jet airliner. Crowds cheered Eisenhower in the villages along the way on the 40-minute drive to Chequers.

There was a brief demonstration outside the gates at Chequers by a few members of the League of Empire Loyalists, which never forgave the United States for opposing Britain's invasion of the Suez Canal Zone in 1956.

There was a scuffle between a demonstrator and a spectator, but it was unlikely either Macmillan or Eisenhower saw it because their car passed swiftly through the gate.

STARTED TALKING

At Macmillan's 600 - year - old country residence, he and Eisenhower presumably got started at lunch on their discussion of international problems.

They planned to retire to a

89 Today, but Less Tomorrow

We'll Take It Cooler---Briefly

6 a.m.	70	10 a.m.	83
8 a.m.	72	12 m.	87
9 a.m.	77	2 p.m.	89

As Pontiac hovered near the record book in sweltering through its worst August, a brief cooling period seemed on its way.

★ ★ ★

Today's high was 89, slightly below the 90 plus level of the past 10 days. But residents can expect even cooler temperatures beginning with a low tonight of 72, with possible thundershowers.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the mercury may dip to 58 in the evening after a high of 87 and a low of 55 is predicted for Monday. Beyond that, the weather bureau won't say just how long the relief will last. Thundershowers are forecast for late Sunday.

HOTTEST IN 1947

The forecaster says that since weather data began to be compiled in 1872, the hottest August occurred in 1947.

The average temperature for August that year, figured by averaging the average high and average low of the month, was 76.6 degrees.

Average temperature the first 28 days in August this year already is 76.3 degrees. Three-tenths of a degree are needed to tie the record and four-tenths to beat it.

"We need only to average 73 degrees for the next three days to become the hottest August in the history of this area," says the weatherman. "For more than a week now we've been averaging 80 to 83 degrees a day.

"It looks like we're going to have more of the same. The record should be a cinch!"

While we don't come close to claiming the record rainfall for August established in 1926 at 8.33 inches, August 1959 has been an abnormally wet month, on top of two abnormally dry months.

In the first 28 days of August, a total of 4.65 inches of rain has fallen in Pontiac compared with a normal of 2.62 for the entire month.

But, it failed to do much general cooling because almost all the rain fell on just five days of the month, as heavy downpours.

In June, precipitation was only 1.01 inches compared with a normal 2.90. In July, it was 1.27 compared with a normal 2.91.

The Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast through September 15 indicated temperatures would remain well above normal, with precipitation about normal.

The lowest reading preceding 8 a.m. was 70 at both six and seven o'clock. At 8 a.m., the temperature was 72 and steadily rising. The thermometer registered 86 at 2 p.m.

Reds Live Up to Pledge: Extend Ban on N-Testing

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to hold off testing nuclear weapons just as long as the Western powers do and said it hopes this will be forever.

The Soviets responded to the U.S. and British announcements this week extending the Western ban on nuclear tests at least for the rest of the year.

The Soviet government has made official a pledge given Aug. 10 by Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He told a British clergyman in a letter then that the Soviets were "ready to accept the most solemn obligations not to be the first to conduct any further tests of nuclear weapons."

But the Soviets' statement Friday night emphasized that they would be "free from this pledge" if any Western powers carry out weapons tests.

Communications are also flashing between Moscow and the capitals of the Big Three Western powers on plans for reviving general disarmament talks, diplomatic informants said today.

★ ★ ★

This diplomatic activity was reported as President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan began a broad review of the East-West cold war problams including disarmament.

★ ★ ★

Through written and oral communications relayed through embassies, the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union worked toward setting up a 10-nation body to seek ways of halting the world arms race.

★ ★ ★

Thus far, the sources said, responses from the Soviet side were dovetailing with suggestions coming from the Western capitals. East and West would have equal representation in the proposed new disarmament negotiating.

IF ALL GOES WELL

If all goes well, the Western powers could expect to sit down with negotiators from the Soviet world early next year—probably in Geneva.

★ ★ ★

France is hurrying to join the nuclear club—now exclusively the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—and making plans for tests in the Sahara Desert.

★ ★ ★

The French have not disclosed their timetable for the tests. The wording of the Soviet statement indicates Moscow would regard French explosions as a release from its own moratorium.

★ ★ ★

The United States, Britain and Soviet Union have been haggling for almost 10 months in Geneva over a treaty for a permanent ban.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets have balked at western insistence on establishing controls to prevent sneak tests. The negotiations recessed on Wednesday for six weeks with agreement on only minor parts of the treaty.

House Leaders Scramble to Get Absentees Back

$128-Million Program Backed by GOP Hangs Over Legislature

LANSING (AP)—By telegram and telephone, House leaders rounded up absentee lawmakers for vital showdown votes expected today on a new state tax program.

At stake was a Republican-backed 128-million-dollar tax package carrying a penny increase in the use (sales) tax and 7½ million dollars in new business taxes.

A mere 2½ million dollars separated Republicans and Democrats from agreement. But they were far apart on proposals for tax relief for small businessmen and firms showing little or no profit.

House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) sent telegrams to the 30 House members missing from yesterday's session, the first in nine days.

House aides sought some by telephone, urging them to "make every effort" to return to Lansing.

Both the House and Senate assembled for their first Saturday meeting of the marathon 7½-month session to handle tax and school aid matters. It was questionable, however, whether any final decision would be made.

Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), House GOP floor leader, last night reminded lawmakers quick action was needed to pass the use tax measure by Sept. 1.

Otherwise, he said, the state might lose some 10 million dollars in tax receipts that would be collected in September.

SAYS NO, YES

Earlier, the House rejected, then agreed to reconsider a Senate-approved plan boosting business taxes by 7½ million dollars.

AF Academy Keeps Airmen on the Jump

(This is the final article on the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., written by Pontiac Press reporter Dick Saunders, who has returned from a four-day tour of the installation.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

"We've just got to take a half hour off and get organized," said Donald T. Hanbery, of Huntington Woods, upon reaching the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo., last Monday.

As it turned out, this statement was often repeated and always good for a laugh during the four days the Oakland County group including your reporter spent in this state studded with military installations.

The U.S. Air Force had our schedule planned in detail. These airmen are moving fast, constantly progressing, and we had little chance to "take time off to get organized" and still keep up with this modern air force.

The academy was an example of this rapid ascent. Its men must be sharp, mentally and physically. Statistics show that a youth who ranks first among state nominees to the academy, will most likely rank anywhere from fifth to tenth in his class after one year as a cadet.

12 Other Auto Plants Begin 1960 Production on Monday

Pontiac Motor Division will begin production of 1960 models Wednesday, but 12 other auto plants will start work on new cars Monday, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

All 1959 production closed out yesterday, with Ford shutting down its final plants. Total assemblies for the week were 17,565. Last week 31,848 cars were built while in the similar week a year ago the total was 16,771.

Opening Monday, Ward's said, will be three Chrysler plants in Detroit plus Newark, Del., and Los Angeles; Rambler at Kenosha, Wis.; and six Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plants.

Truck production this week totaled 14,114 against 14,698 last week and 8,810 in the comparable week of 1958.

Keating Is Retiring After 40 Years at GM

DETROIT—Retirement of Thomas H. Keating, General Motors group vice president in charge of passenger car divisions and former general manager of Chevrolet Division, was announced today.

During the past three years, Keating has had responsibility for coordinating sales, production and merchandising efforts of GM's five car divisions.

He was named to the post July 1, 1956, after nearly 40 years with Chevrolet during which he rose from a clerk at the Chevrolet Tarrytown Plant to general manager.

THOMAS H. KEATING

RECORD PEAK IN '55

In 1955 the division set an all-time peak for the entire automotive industry with the production of 2,223,360 cars and trucks in U. S. plants.

Throughout his years with Chevrolet in numerous sales capacities Keating became widely known for his ability to gain the respect of dealers everywhere and instill unusual confidence in his sales force.

He developed a talent for public speaking and became one of the auto industry's most fluent and effective speakers.

Keating's first contact with the automobile industry came in February 1917 when he joined Chevrolet. Within a year his career was interrupted by World War I. He enlisted in the Navy and served as an ensign.

He returned to Chevrolet in New York as a car distributor, following which he served in nearly every sales capacity in the organization before being named general sales manager in 1945.

In 1949 he was named general manager of Chevrolet and elected a vice president of General Motors.

MEMBER OF BOARD

In addition to his group vice presidency of GM, Keating has been a member of the Board of Directors since 1954 and served on the Executive Committee and Administration Committee.

Keating was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Aug. 9, 1894. As a boy he was interested in the military and might have given his services to the Navy had not an appointment to Annapolis read "alternate."

His congressman's first choice passed the exams and was accepted. He then became intrigued with the budding automobile industry.

Throughout his career he has been a prominent churchman and active in boys work.

He is on the advisory council of the College of Arts and Letters of Notre Dame University and has an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Detroit.

His principal social interest has been Detroit Athletic Club, which he once served as president.

She might not have any way of getting to the hospital.

The family doctor might not be available.

HELP COMES FAST

All of them can qualify as midwives. An obstetrics course is part of their training

Seventeen police recruits yesterday listened intently and busily took notes as a registered nurse explained how they could assist in an emergency childbirth.

★ ★ ★

"The lives of two people—the mother and the baby—will be in your hands," Mrs. Hollis Wallace of Royal Oak told the men.

Mrs. Wallace is on the nursing staff of Mount Carmel Hospital in Detroit.

"The mother needs self-confidence," Mrs Wallace explained.

'SHOW ASSURANCE'

"Show assurance whether you have it or not. Just staying with the mother will help her feel more confident."

The nurse's lecture lasted two hours.

The newest additions to the force are now ready, if the need arises, to momentarily put aside their firearms and help bring Pontiac babies into the world.

Close Vote Due on Labor Points

Senators in Showdown Next Week; May Give In to House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides predicted today a close vote in next week's Senate floor showdown on the three major points in disagreement on the labor regulation bill.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), supporting a move for the Senate to instruct its conferees to give in to the House on the points, estimated his side would have 45 to 55 votes. A majority of the full Senate is 51.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) offering an alternative plan to accept the House language in part but with some Senate provisions, said he was hopeful of victory.

★ ★ ★

The Senate floor fight was set Friday when the Senate - House conferees finished their ninth day of intensive sessions on the complex legislation.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, one of the conferees, announced he believed a deadlock had been reached on the three points and that he was ready to go back to the Senate floor.

THREE OBSTRUCTIONS

Dirksen filed a resolution to instruct the Senate conferees to accept the House provisions on no man's land, secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

Kennedy said he would have preferred to wait until Monday before taking this step, but he filed a substitute resolution.

★ ★ ★

His substitute would put the Senate on record in favor of compromise proposals on the deadlocked sections. These were offered earlier this week by the four Senate Democrats on the conference.

★ ★ ★

The conferees already have agreed on the first six titles of the bill dealing with union financial operations, elections and other internal matters.

The controversy is over the seventh and final title covering Taft-Hartley law changes. Even here, several points have been settled.

The two bills were quite similar in the first six titles, with the Senate bill more stringent in some respects and the House in others. But the House version is much broader on the Taft-Hartley amendments, containing several strongly opposed by unions.

Kennedy said the Senate majority on the conference had made many concessions in an effort to get a bill. But he said it could go no farther on the three Taft-Hartley changes without insisting on provisions he said were essential to protect legitimate union activities.

New 'Worker' in Pontiac Plans Delinquency Battle

His job will be to spearhead the drive undertaken jointly by juvenile court, the City Commission and a committee of Pontiac educators, clergymen, city officials and other civic-minded citizens.

With an office in City Hall's Health Department, Caronis' job is mainly a preventive one.

He will work with problem youngsters referred to him by various cooperating social agencies, hoping that early attention can keep the troubled children from falling into the ranks of delinquents.

Caronis hopes that parents—and even the youngsters themselves — come to see him voluntarily if they have troubles.

The MacGregor Foundation is providing funds to operate the protective services division, according to Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

A graduate of Ohio State University, Caronis took a master's degree at Michigan State University's School of Police Administration, majoring in crime prevention.

Formerly a caseworker with the Family Casework Agency in Lansing, Caronis has worked with delinquent boys as a social worker in Columbus, Ohio, and at the Boys Vocational School in Lansing.

Deputy Answers One Complaint, Ends Up With 3

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Kenneth B. Davis got more than he bargained for when called to Dodge State Park No. 4 on Cass Lake to answer a boating accident complaint at 8 last night.

★ ★ ★

Davis spent more than two hours at the park writing up what developed into a boat accident, missing person, and breaking and entering.

The accident involved minor property damage to a moored boat belonging to Peter Sofarglow, of 2400 E. 7 Mile Rd., Detroit.

As Davis finished making out his report, Ranger Jake Stoneburner informed him of a missing person in the swimming area.

The search led Davis to a parking area where he found the missing swimmer wandering around. By this time it was 10 p.m.

About ready to leave, Davis was stopped by Claude Stevens of 702 Kinney Rd.

Marine Killed Trying to Prove He's Tougher

FLINT (AP) — A 25-year-old ex-Marine was beaten to death here early today after he and a former Army paratrooper argued over which of the two services was the tougher.

Police said the victim, James Finley of Flint, was kicked and beaten by George Moore, 22, of Flint, who once served in an Army airborne unit.

The fight took place at a gasoline station near the city limits where Moore worked. Moore was held in Genesee County Jail on an open charge.

Police said Finley, his wife, and a stepson had gone to visit Moore. The argument started after the two men had been drinking, officers said.

2 Hoffa Aides in Giant Suit

$3 Million Court Action Launched by Former Detroit Insurance Man

DETROIT (AP) — A $3 million damage suit naming two aides of Teamster President James R. Hoffa has been filed in Circuit Court by former Detroit insurance man Rene J. Delorme.

Delorme contended in his suit filed yesterday that he was forced by threats to sell Rene J. Delorme, Inc., an agency selling group insurance, and Union Labor Services, Inc., an agency handling union health and welfare funds.

Neither Hoffa nor the Teamsters Union was named in the suit, authorities said.

The suit named Herbert L. Grosberg, described as a Hoffa accountant; William E. Campbell, former manager of Delorme's firms; George S. Fitzgerald, Hoffa attorney and former Democratic national committeeman; Moe F. Wolfgang, Detroit attorney; the Union Square Agency, Inc., and Union Life Insurance of Maryland.

Delorme said he turned over management of his firms to Campbell in 1957.

He said shortly afterward Grosberg offered to buy the firms and threatened to tell his clients of a fund shortage if he didn't sell.

Delorme sold for $200,000, but now contends the firms were worth $3 million.

The Wayne County prosecutor's office said an investigation turned up a $32,000 shortage. Four men pleaded guilty to embezzlement charges and were placed on probation. Campbell is awaiting trial on his innocent plea.

Votes Likely Today on Tax Showdown

for it, 18 short of the passage requirement.

Gov. Williams and House Democrats said the Senate plan, offered as a compromise to break the tax stalemate, didn't bring in enough money to balance a record-breaking budget now nearly completed. They also contended it failed to bring needed tax relief for small businessmen.

"This is nothing but a devious means of fooling unprofitable business into thinking they are getting relief," said Rep. T. John Lesinski (D-Detroit), standard bearer for Democratic tax strategists in the House.

The Republican plan, drafted at a Senate GOP caucus yesterday would:

Add one mill to the 6½-mill business activities tax for a gross of 11 million dollars. A "profits factor formula" would give credits up to 25 per cent of the tax to unprofitible firms for a net of 5½ million dollars.

UTILITIES, BANKS UP

Utilities would pay an additional one-half mill on the BAT. Banks would pay 1½ million dollars more through an intangibles tax increase of 10 cents on each $1,000 of deposits.

House Democrats flatly rejected the proposal and countered with a 10½-million-dollar plan that would:

Add 1¾ mills to the business activities tax for a gross of 17½ million dollars. A credit of up to 50 per cent and a $5,000 increase in the standard $10,000 exemption would reduce the net to 8½ million dollars. The Democrats' blueprint also carried the same tax hikes on banks and utilities as the Republican plan.

"If you adopt the Republican proposal, you are breaking faith with Democrats on a business tax increase and you are relegatng the House to a rubber stamp to those demagogues in the Senate," said Lesinski in an angry floor speech.

★ ★ ★

Additional Ball Diamond Requested at Eton Field

BIRMINGHAM — Heading the City Commission agenda for its weekly Monday night meeting is a Board of Recreation request for an additional baseball field at Eton Field.

Estimated cost for a new diamond completely furnished and equipped is $3,975.

According to the Recreation Department a new ball field is a necessity due to increased participation in the Little League program.

The Recreation Department and city would share costs of the proposed construction with the city alloting $2,125.

In other business the commission will act on two rezoning requests by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Quinn, 3450 Burning Bush Dr., Bloomfield Township, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Brennen, 219 Daines St., Birmingham.

Quinn requests that the R-1 single family residential classification for his lots at W. Maple and Westchester Way be changed to an R-4 two family residential classification.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennen desire to change the east half on lot 18 of Brown's Addition from R-6 multiple family residential to B-1 nonretail business.

According to City Manager L. R. Gare, bids were closed on the proposed addition to Baldwin Public Library yesterday.

Tired, Feeling Pinch, Cries Senator Lodge

LANSING (UPI) — Sen. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) today claimed the state's cash shortage was "dishonest" and said many uncashed checks in state agencies made the money situation look more serious than it was.

Lodge said he was thinking about sponsoring a bill in the next session of the Legislature to make delay in cashing the checks a felony.

Lodge, an attorney, said he was taking an "astronomical" personal loss because the long session was keeping him from his practice.

"I'm pretty tired—and I'm pretty broken down," Lodge said.

Lodge made his remark after an objection was raised to his request for an excuse from today's session so he could sit on an Oakland County Pipeline Commision hearing.

The objection was later withdrawn.

Find Holly Woman Dead in Her Car

A Holly woman, missing from her home since Tuesday morning, was found dead in her car on a side road near Traverse City early this morning, according to state troopers at the Traverse City Post.

Mrs. Jane Hadley, 43, of 700 E. Baird St., had been the object of a state-wide search until troopers found her body in the car parked on a fire trail off M-131.

A coroner said the cause of death was unknown but that there was no sign of foul play. An autopsy has been scheduled later today at Munson Hospital, in Traverse City, police reported.

as Peterson Air Force Base, in Colorado Springs, and Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, cameras were constantly clicked by the interested VIPs.

Some brought other paraphernalia they had little time to use. I carted along a fly rod with visions of a cool Rocky Mountain trout stream.

The closest I got to my stream was when I bought a post card picturing Rainbow Falls.

Evidence of this was plain. On the return trip all lunches remained stable, whereas the "altitude" had created considerable instability only four days before.

Among the group on the trip were many Rochester residents. They included Vern A. Pixley, Dale L. Martin, Neil B. Hartwig, George H. Felton, Murland B. Pearsall, Darrell E. Bordine, Albert J. Bailey, and Wayne C. Frink.

Others from Rochester were John A. Bird, Leon Dunlop, Cliff Van Auken, George L. Martin, Robert C. Smitha, William E. Thompson, Robert F. Gee, and Darwin L. Ladner.

Also in the group were Mervin R. Mack, and Ralph B. Vanzo, Rochester High School teachers; George P. Stringer, a counselor at the high school; Richard C. Huck, Rochester Junior High School teacher; and Rochester Police Chief Sam Howlett.

Still others were West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle; Delos Hamlin, of Farmington, Oakland County Board of Supervisors chairman; George W. Averill, managing editor of the Birmingham Eccentric, Richard L. McPartlin and Edwin C. Barnhart, both of Waterford Township; M. R. Steere, of Redford Township; and Tom W. Fagan and Edward K. Pride Ruins Shifty Plan to Haul in Quick Riches

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "I didn't want to be a common thief. I liked my plan and was disappointed to see it nipped in the bud."

So George Vichos, 27, of Detroit, told police after he had been picked up Friday night for investigation of taking money under false pretenses with an ingenious idea on how to get rich.

★ ★ ★

Conservatively dressed in a dark suit, Vichos stood next to the night deposit chute of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co. On a cart beside him was an old Army ammunition box painted blue with a hole punched in the top. The name of the bank was stenciled on the side.

★ ★ ★

When the bank's first night customer arrived, Vichos told him the deposit lock had been jammed with gum and could not be repaired till morning.

"I was asked to stay late and pick up the deposits," Vichos told the man. "Your money will be safe."

The customer, a furniture store manager, turned over the day's receipts—$1,600 in cash and a similar amount in checks. Vichos dropped them through the slot in the box. After leaving, the customer had some misgivings about the strange operation and called police.

Vichos was still at the bank when police arrived.

"I could have taken off after the first deposit," he said, "but I didn't want to be a common thief."

Robert Holt, 38, of 241 E. Wilson Ave., was in fair condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital after being shot three times.

MSU Plans Increase

EAST LANSING (AP)— Michigan State University estimates it will enroll 20,600 students for the fall term starting Sept. 20. This would be an increase of 1,084 from last year.

'Great Imposter' Gets Legitimate Role for Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Ferdinand W. Demara Jr.—the "great imposter"—will soon be a movie actor. But he says his film role will be a minor one.

He said he had been signed by Allied Artists for a small part in a forthcoming film and that he probably would be engaged to travel around the country publicizing the movie.

Demara attributed this turn of fortune to publicity he received in a previous appearance on the Paar program.

Demara, 37-year-old native of Lawrence, Mass., has spent years in various places in and out of the country posing as everything from a doctor to schoolteacher.

In many cases he carried out the duties of the respective pursuits for some time before being unmasked.

Highway Department Bookkeeping Hit

LANSING (AP)—An audit of the State Highway Department has revealed sloppy bookkeeping procedures and payments over appraised valuations for some right of way purchases.

★ ★ ★

The audit of the road bureau, largest state agency, also contained numerous minor criticisms of procedures with recommendations for improvements.

★ ★ ★

The check on the Highway Department, headed by Democrat John C. Mackie, was made by the auditor general's department headed by Democrat Frank S. Szymanski.

Policy of New Bar President

To Push World Peace Through Law

By PAUL WILLS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the American Bar Assn. chose as its new president, a small city man from the corn belt, some lawyers wondered whether the ABA's hottest current project of seeking world peace through law would suffer.

Would a man whose 36 years of general law practice were in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, be thoroughly sold on it? Or would he fear this nation's freedom to run its own business might be endangered by the project?

John D. Randall answered the questions within minutes after taking the presidency of the legal group whose 95,000 members include some of the nation's top political figures.

Yes, he said, the ambitious project,—whose ultimate goal is to convince nations to settle their disputes by legal means rather than by war—would be continued. And it will be pushed vigorously, he said.

One of his first official acts as president was to broaden the base of the committee laying the foundation for a global conference of lawyers in connection with the work. In addition to practicing attorneys, he named two United States senators and a federal district court judge to the group.

Randall, 59, is a native of Lisbon, Iowa, but he grew up in Cedar Rapids where his father was a lawyer. He got his law degree at the University of Iowa.

Most of his practice has been in and around Cedar Rapids.

He long has been active in the affairs of the American Bar Association. He held the organization's second highest post—chairman of the house of delegates—from 1954 to 1956.

Steps in Path of Car, Suffers Broken Leg

Glenn Rödden, 20, of 268 S. Anderson St., is listed in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today after being struck by a car on South boulevard, in Avon Township, last night.

The auto was driven by Marion E. Rose, 40, of 3081 Livernois Ave., Avon Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

British Guardsmen to Go

LONDON (AP) — In Britain's welfare state, these days may be the twilight of the guards — super elite units of the British Army.

Critics call them a private army officered by the aristocrats.

They say birth, influence and a fat bank acmount—plus character, courage and all the qualifications of a first class soldier—determine whether a young man can become a guards officer.

Two regiments form the monarch's escort.

But with the government's new plan to modernize and democratize the army, the guards may come in for sweeping changes.

"The guards are the last great bastion of privilege left in the services," said the leftist newspaper "The People" in a recent edition. "That bastion must be stormed."

Guardsmen — past and present — privately admit changes are inevitable. Already things are happening. The army's streamlining calls for both the Coldstream and Grenadier guards to be reduced to one battalion.

It will take place slowly, perhaps, but when it does it will mean the passing of an exceptional body of soldiers with close ties to the monarchy.

The kings and queens knew many guardsmen by their first names. They meet them socially. Guardsmen often marry the relatives of royalty.

Drilling Bids Rise After Oil Discovery

LANSING (AP)—Discovery of oil and gas in the area bordering the northeast sector of Allegan State Forest has resulted in an increasing number of applications for drill permits, the state conservation department reported.

★ ★ ★

A wildcat well drilled adjacent to the state forest has indicated promising gas characteristics and the department is working through the U.S. Forest Service to determine who holds mineral ownership of lands in the area of the drilling.

★ ★ ★

The department said it was keeping close watch on the situation after a bid to drill near the Swan Creek wildlife experiment station created considerable public opposition earlier this year.

Nationalist China to Ask U.S. Aid After Floods

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Nationalist China will ask the United States for 38.3 million dollars to help repair the damage inflicted by recent floods on Formosa — authoritative sources said today.

Total damage is officially estimated at $94,000,000, about half of it to agriculture.

Will Give Collection of Relics to Rutgers

WESTFIELD, N. J. (AP) — Dr. Charles A. Philhower has spent much of his 81 years digging up Indian relics and studying Indian history.

Now, he is giving his collections —some 40,000 items—to Rutgers University. "They belong to a university where they would be available for study," Philhower says.

Must Live With Reds

East European Church Leaders Push Policy of Co-Existance

RHODES, Greece (AP)—Protestant church leaders from Eastern Europe are trying to convince Western Christians that churches must learn to live with communism if they are to survive in the Red world.

★ ★ ★

This theme ran through most comments, both public and private, by delegates from the Soviet satellite countries to the Central Committee meeting of the World Council of Churches, an organization of Orthodox and Protestant churches with a following of about 180 millions.

Comments by East European delegates sometime bordered on the Communist line. Bishop Zoltan Kaldy, a Hungarian Lutheran, spoke of "untruths" about Communist China and said Christians "must be careful not to defend a political and social system of the Middle Ages" in Tibet.

But more often, the East European delegates avoided taking stands while emphasizing that their churches function in a different climate than those of the West.

Hollywood Headlines:

Durante's Back in Action Doing TV Spectaculars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The great Durante was back in action this week, and the word is chosen advisedly.

Jimmy was hustling all over NBC's Studio 2—blowing bubbles at Lawrence Welk, making up a beatnik trio with Sal Mineo and Giselle McKenzie, dueting with Bobby Darin and dancing a la Fred Astaire. All this activity will be seen Sept. 25 in a Friday night TV spectacular.

★ ★ ★

Durante paused for a few minutes to give his nose a rest and talk about his activities. The hour show is one of three he'll do this season, plus two guest appearances with Dinah Shore, the latter as part of his long run NBC contract.

★ ★ ★

"I like it better dis way," he remarked. "Doin' just a few shows a year, I can give more attention to 'em. I'd never go back to dat live show every week.

"But I would like to do some shows on fillum. I got 24 of 'em and I'd like to make about 15 more. Then I'd have enough for a season and they'd give me some security."

Not that he shows any signs of slowing down. He still plays night clubs in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Miami and Las Vegas every year.

"But dat ain't woik," he said. "Dat's how I get my fun. I go out dere and enjoy myself for an hour, dat's all. The only hard woil I do is a little dancin'."

This may help to explain the Durante success: when he's working, it seems like fun.

Jimmy said a deal is still cooking for a movie about his life. The dream cast was originally Dean Martin as Durante, Frank Sinatra as Lou Clayton and Bing Crosby as Eddie Jackson. Now Bing appears to be out of the project, with Jack Lemmon in his place.

(Notus) Satellite Relays Signals

Big Boon to SAC; One Order Goes to Bendix at Ann Arbor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two companies have contracted to start work on a system of sending radio messages about the world by bouncing them off artificial satellites.

The satellites in space, acting as relay stations, would shoot radio signals back to earth without any delay or interference.

★ ★ ★

The new system, which the Pentagon has labeled "Notus"—Latin for south wind—would be a boon to the Strategic Air Command. Its bombers, which range far over the world, would be able to send jam-proof messages to headquarters and receive quick replies.

★ ★ ★

Notus is based on the successful experiment with the talking Score satellite last winter. Score broadcast President Eisenhower's Christmas message to the world as it orbited around the earth.

The Defense Department announced Friday night that the first contracts for Notus had been awarded to the Philadelphia Missile and space division of General Electric Co., and the Ann Arbor, Mich., division of Bendix Aviation Corp.

Queen's Baby to Have Ike as Godfather?

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — Word went around the Scottish highlands today that President Eisenhower may be godfather to Queen Elizabeth's expected child.

★ ★ ★

Royal aides would not comment, but the people of the glens were saying nothing would be more natural than for the 33-year-old Queen to invite the President to the christening or to name a proxy.

★ ★ ★

For one thing, they said, the Queen and her husband Prince Philip are on the closest terms of personal friendship with Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

From the moment he arrived at Balmoral Castle — the royal family's holiday home — the President was treated more like a favorite uncle than a visiting head of state.

The Queen, expecting her third baby early next year, went to the castle gates to meet him.

Thailand Royalty Will Visit U. S. Next Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thailand's American-born saxophone-playing monarch, King Phumiphon Adundet, has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to make an official visit to the United States.

The 32-year-old king of what used to be called Siam will visit this country for 10 days in June 1960, the announcement said. He will be accompanied by Queen Sirikit.

The king was born in 1927 in Cambridge, Mass., where his father was studying medicine. The queen also is familiar with Western life. Her father once was the ambassador to London.

The young ruler is an avid fan of American jazz, has composed a number of popular songs and performs on the saxophone.

Formosa Girding for New Typhoon

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A state of emergency was proclaimed in Formosa today as Typhoon Joan bore down on this Chinese Nationalist island with winds as high as 220 miles an hour.

The whole island, already racked this month by a great flood, an earthquake and Typhoon Iris, girded itself for a new blow.

Lashing rains and high winds hit the island with the center of the typhoon, which has a radius of 200 miles, still 270 miles away.

Ask Observance of Prayer Period

Religious Group Wants Minute of Silence When Khrushchev Arrives

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation has been asked to observe a "minute of silence" for prayer and meditation at 11 a.m. the day Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives for his U. S. visit.

The Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civil Order launched the movement to "reinforce" President Eisenhower's objectives in inviting Khrushchev to come to this country.

The foundation is made up of representatives of all major religions and includes on its national advisory council such lay leaders as former president Herbert Hoover, Henry Ford II, Dr. Billy Graham and magazine publisher Henry R. Luce.

Dr. Charles Wesley Lowry, foundation chairman and executive direction and former Episcopal rector here, said the minute of silence would "demonstrate our national unity and reveal the deeper sources of our strength."

It is hoped that church bells and air raid sirens will mark the hour and that workers, farmers, school children and housewives will halt to observe the moment. All auto, bus and truck traffic was asked to halt as well. State governors are being asked to issue proclamations for an official "minute of silence" in each state.

A Great-Grandmother at 58

Is New Auxiliary Head

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. Alexander Gray, a great-grandmother at the age of 58, she felt "like the same gal" now after her election as president of the National American Legion Auxiliary.

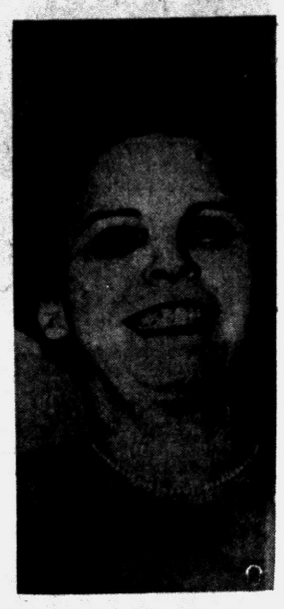

★ ★ ★

"It is a position for which my husband and I are very proud," said Mrs. Gray. "But I feel no different. It's only that I'm assuming a new responsibility."

Mrs. Gray, active in the auxiliary for the past 33 years, was elected president Thursday night. She is the wife of an attorney in Brownsville, Tenn., population 5,500.

"One thing makes me very happy," she said. "My home isn't too far from the auxiliary headquarters in Indianapolis and I should be able to get home quite often. I love my home, and especially the flowers."

"I also love books, football, baseball, bridge and needlepoint," Mrs. Gray added. "My husband served two terms as a Tennessee state senator and just loves politics, so I always get in that with him."

MRS. ALEXANDER GRAY

SHE LOOKS YOUNG

Her brown hair has only a tinge of gray and Mrs. Gray's friends have told her she doesn't look old enough to be a great-grandmother. Her eldest granddaughter, Mrs. Dewey Johnson of Conneaut, Ohio, gave birth one month ago to a son.

"I haven't seen the baby yet, and I'm so anxious to," Mrs. Gray said.

She has two children. Her daughter, the mother of Mrs. Johnson, is Mrs. J. Robert Frederick of Conneaut. Her son is Paul R. Rietz, superintendent of Chickasaw State Park in Henderson, Tenn.

Mrs. Gray was Tennessee auxiliary president in 1948-49. The next year she became national executive committeewoman and headed the auxiliary's Pan-American study committee. She was national vice president in 1952-53 and later served as chairman of the child welfare and rehabilitation committees.

State Consumers Are Using More Gas, Electricity

DETROIT (UPI)—Michigan consumers are using more gas and electricity by every measurement.

Consumers Power Company announced Friday that consumption of electricity by its customers was up 10 per cent for the year ended July 31, and gas consumption was up 14 per cent.

For the first seven months of 1959, the increase was 17 per cent in electricity, and 19 per cent in gas. And for the month of July, electric consumption was 20 per cent higher.

Dan E. Karn, president of Consumers Power, said the figures reflected greater use of electricity by all groups of customers, but especially industrial gas customers.

Karn also reported net income of the company after preferred dividends was $30,716,000 for the year ended July 31, compared with $28,424,000 the previous year, equal to $3.48 per share of common stock compared with $3.23 for 1958.

Errol Flynn Back Home With Blonde

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Errol Flynn flew back to town with a blonde on his arm, a kiss for his second wife and these words of wisdom:

"After all, I've done my duty to society — four children. That's the only reason I can think of for getting married."

The actor arrived Friday accompanied by actress Beverly Aadland. On hand to meet him were Nora Eddington Haymes, second of his three wives, and their daughters, Deidre, 15, and Rory, 13.

Flynn, who has been living apart from his present wife, Patrice Wymore, said he will give her a divorce, if she wants one. They have a 6-year-old daughter.

The actor also has a son, Sean, 18, by Lily Damita.

Paralytic Polio Cases One Third Below 1958

LANSING (AP)—The paralytic polio case load in Michigan is running about one-third below last year, the State Health Department reported.

There have been 46 cases reported so far against 146 during the same period last year.

Six new cases were found last week compared to 46 in the same week of 1958.

Two cases were listed in Oakland County and one each was reported from Calhoun, Genesee, Hillsdale and Macomb counties.

Fluoride Treatments Are Given to 1,072

A total of 1,072 Waterford Township children each received four fluoride dental treatments during a "most successful" summer fluoridation program, according to co-ordinator Mrs. John Hoke.

Assisted by Parent-Teacher Association health chairmen and volunteer mothers, three senior dental students from Michigan State University were hired to administer the six-week program at Schoolcraft Elementary School.

The cost of the treatments for children in the second, fifth and eighth grades, was reduced from last year's $4 fee to $3 enabling families with many children to participate, Mrs. Hoke said.

The Waterford Township school system was presented with a completely equipped portable dental set by funds received from the last year's PTA-sponsored project.

The new set was used this year, alor.g with loaned equipment from the State Health Department, and a rented portable set from the Walled Lake school system.

No Stones—No Soil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Agriculture has found that the removal of stones from fields to facilitate machine harvesting of potatoes may also increase soil erosion.

The Matterhorn, in the Alps, is 14,780 feet high. The Swiss side is easier to ascend than the Italian side.

Reflections
MY NOTEBOOK

J. L. VOORHEES

September 1st, 1949, I made this notation: "Met Henry Woodstock who said, 'You've neglected me— 'Felt terrible — part of my daily schedule will be writing notes or calling old friends." I didn't do it.

During those years I've excused myself, "So many things seemed more important — I didn't have time," and yet I had time to do the things I wanted to do. I'm not different from anyone else; we procrastinate, find excuses, let that minute slip past. Right now, I declare that each morning I'll take fifteen minutes to write a cheerful note to someone. I will not neglect Henry again.

M. E. SIPLE

If a note, or call, is so important to elderly people then I'll bring back happy memories that they can roll around in their minds like a kid with a lollipop. Think it over! You might wish to bring happiness to someone, too.

Negro Voters Showing Gain

But in Five Regional States, Registration Is on Decline

ATLANTA (UPI) — A race relations agency reports that registration of Negro voters shows an average net gain in the south but is on the decline in five of the southern states.

The Southern Regional Council, using 1958 as a comparison with 1956 — the most recent presidential voting year — showed a total Negro registration of 1,303,827 in 1958. This was an increase of 65,789 over 1956.

★ ★ ★

The council said there was a decrease in the number of Negro voter registrants in Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina.

The report said an estimated 25 per cent of the eligible Negroes were registered in the South in 1956, compared to 60 per cent of the white voter percentage was very little higher for Negroes.

The council lister 29 counties in the South where no Negroes are registered. They included one in Virginia, one in South Carolina, two in Georgia, three in Florida, two in Alabama, one in Tennessee, approximately 15 in Mississippi, and four in Louisiana.

★ ★ ★

"In the long perspective, there is every reason to expect steady if gradual increase in Negro political participation, along with rising economic and social status," the voting report said.

"No abrupt or dramatic rise in the number of Negro registrants seems likely in the forseeable future."

Catholic School Enrollment High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Catholic Welfare Conference estimated today that enrollment in Catholic grade and high schools will hit a record of 5,138,051 in the school year beginning next month.

It said figures prepared by the Conference department of education forecast enrollment of 4,307,050 children in grade schools, an increase of 205,097, and 831,001 in high schools, an increase of 34,260.

The Conference also estimated that enrollment in Catholic colleges and universities will be 387,488, an increase of 14,903.

There are more than 76,000 part-time teachers in American Institutions of higher learning.

Social Security Files Authorized for Welfare Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare authorities may now use Social Security records to help trace runaway fathers and get them to come up with money to support their families.

Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming this week authorized the use of Social Security records in these searches.

The system is expected to save the federal government some $100,000 daily on its welfare payments, which currently come to around $540,000 a day.

It Seems to Me . . .

Kremlin Can't Keep Freedom From Russian People Forever

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles following a trip to Russia.)

After twelve days in Russia and countless talks over there with natives, Americans and Englishmen, I have some impressions about Russia today and Russia tomorrow. And remember, as I said on Thursday, I don't pose as an "authority" because of these fleeting moments in Moscow.

★ ★ ★

Russia is firmly entrenched in the conceits and beliefs of communism. This loyalty is real and sincere. The people are following their leaders willingly and even humbly. Their position today is a tremendous sweep upward from the "durance vile" that was heaped upon their honorable but downtrodden ancestors under the Czars. Tyranny and oppression were their lot and so the revolution has vastly improved the position of the citizens.

★ ★ ★

But he doesn't know it.

As long as the 190,000,000 Russians who are not members of the Communist Party can be held in this abysmal ignorance of conditions elsewhere, the current state of affairs will continue without any particular dissatisfaction. The average Russian is happy — he's so much better off than his grandpappy.

But how long will this last?

Let's speculate.

★ ★ ★

The late JOHN FOSTER DULLES put his finger on the great weakness in the current Russian situation as he said:

"When the Russians decided on universal schooling, they took the one great irreparable step."

The greater the education, the greater becomes intelligent curiosity. People ask "why?"

WHY can't I read a New York newspaper?

WHY can't I go to London and see how they live in England?

WHY does my government jam outside radio?

★ ★ ★

An unanswered "why" to perfectly legitimate questions produces doubt and eventually suspicion. If an American wants to subscribe to Pravda today, he can. That's his right. If an American wants to go to Lisbon — or Moscow — that's his privilege. If an American wants to move to Chile, he may.

That's freedom.

And that's precisely what the Russians have nothing of, but they don't know it as of right now.

Other factors are certain to burst through the Iron Curtain also. Airplane travel is becoming so common and so easy, that tourists will visit Russia in an increasing number. Russia can't stop this without raising another great, big, fat "WHY?" These "intourists" will carry news of the outside world, just as we are now, and eventually the Russians will stop scoffing and begin to believe what we say.

Also, eventually, newspapers and magazines will penetrate the Iron Curtain, either by reluctant permission or slyly. You simply can't keep world wide facts a permanent secret from 200,000,000 people when they become reasonably well educated.

Also, even Russia's plans of "keeping everyone home" has some accepted leaks. Ballet dancers have come over here under governmental guidance. Several dozen track athletes appeared in Philadelphia last month. As this trickle slowly builds up, Russians will see with their own eyes that electric irons, drying machines, washing machines, vacuum sweepers and a hundred other household appliances are almost as common here as brooms are there.

★ ★ ★

Hence, I see no possible way by which Russian government can keep that great, slumbering giant in the darkness and in hibernation forever. When that time arrives, the novelty of being out from under the edicts of the Czars will have worn off and the average Russian worker will be a red hot candidate for a TV, a car in every garage, newspapers from all over the world and the right to visit the four corners of the earth. Winston Churchill said, "Chances of peace will be improved when the Russian people raise their standards of living and acquire a conservative's interest in conserving the things they own. Now—they own so little."

★ ★ ★

Once the Russian sees the freedom of the average American, the average Frenchman, the average German, etc., etc., he will want and DEMAND the same rights for himself. Instead of being a trivial, inconsequential part of the great state of Russia, he will want to be IVANOVITCH PESHYTICH, independent citizen.

★ ★ ★

How long will this take?

I can't hazard a guess.

Can you?

How long can the guiding hands of the Kremlin hold all this great, untaped power absolutely throttled?

★ ★ ★

The subjugation of the Russian citizen today is complete. He doesn't understand how we live. He thinks "freedom" means escaping from the Czars. Now he has done that. And it's sufficient for the moment. To him, FREEDOM means the avoidance of bondage. Well, within limits, he can hold his head up right now. He thinks FREEDOM means an escape from penury and want. He has shaken off those shackles—and it's a great step forward.

★ ★ ★

However, the individual Russian citizen hasn't even tasted freedom as it is understood here. BUT HE DOESN'T KNOW IT. Hence, for the nonce, he's content. He doesn't understand that there's an economic system in the world that makes it possible for 50 million families to own an automobile. He can't believe that. I saw the looks on faces when we talked about U.S. automobiles. They don't know about an economic system that lets the average citizens purchase a TV set. And the Russians don't understand an economic plan that makes radios completely common place.

★ ★ ★

Right now, four per cent of the Russian people vote. Well, that's a great, big step forward for IVAN. In his grandfather's day, NO ONE VOTED. Hence, he sees progress. And so he's content. But he doesn't know that there's an economic system that lets PRACTICALLY EVERYONE VOTE. No. That's a mystery. It's carefully concealed behind a veil of perfect secrecy. But some day, he'll find it out. And then he, too, will want to live the American way in which every man's soul is his own and he doesn't belong to the state.

★ ★ ★

With a carefully calculated sneer, critics derisively call this "capitalism." And they mouth it through curled lips to try and make it a term of opprobrium. They want it to sound like a "dirty" word.

Well, let's face it.

In comparison with Russia, all Americans ARE Capitalists . . . . . thank heaven. Proportionately their financial means are so much greater than the Russians that they can afford to buy, use and enjoy things Russians hardly dare dream about.

★ ★ ★

If these are the hallmarks of a Capitalistic nation, keep me in one forever. The average citizens likes real good food. He likes a beautiful hi-fi set that brings him the greatest music in the world. He likes automobiles. He likes to watch a ball game on TV. And yes, he likes to take a vacation and travel. He likes — the list is so endless I can't go on.

★ ★ ★

These are a part of our Capitalistic system. They have no counterpart in the Soviet Union. The Communist system doesn't provide any of these for the Russians. And, of course, the average American likes to vote. He likes to VOTE AGAINST THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IF HE WANTS TO. Well, he can. And—think of this—his vote counts just as much as DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER'S.

★ ★ ★

All Russians must share and share alike. You can't work a bit harder than your neighbor to accumulate more. That's dirty pool. In America, everyone that wishes can lay something aside for himself and his family. If you pitch in with a little something extra in Russia, you share those fruits with 200 million others.

Wage earners here have the right to improve their own lot. Only when we reach the upper income tax brackets do we simulate communism where goods and means are confiscated for the state.

Does Russia want war?

I didn't meet a single Russian that I thought had the slightest desire to shoot me or blow up my house. They abhor death and carnage in precisely the same way you do—and not one whit less.

★ ★ ★

But don't think they can't be whipped into a pulsating frenzy in a few split seconds. The method is obvious. Suppose Russia unexpectedly pulls a low-down, below-the-belt sneak attack like the Japs did? And suppose in righteous indignation and wrath, our air force lays Moscow low before the setting sun of the self same day? Remember this: the Russian people won't know they attacked us FIRST.

They'll be told those stumble bums from the U.S. wiped out Moscow without rhyme or reason. Then someone will wave the Russian flag, and 200 million deluded souls will face death and destruction with mistaken revenge in their hearts and frenzy in their misguided souls.

And yet, 15,000 feet above Russian soil in a huge Russian jet that was a masterpiece, I read these words in English in a magazine prepared by the Russians for English speaking people. I brought it home. It says:

"The direct expenses incurred in the Second World War alone ran into a sum that would have sufficed to give all the children in the world a secondary education, to build a five-roomed house for every family in the world and to equip a splendid hospital for every 5,000 persons living on our planet. We can clearly picture what a tremendous growth of the productive forces would have been achieved if the millions of people who had fought in these wars had been engaged in productive labour, if the incalculable material resources that had been spent on destruction had been used for construction. Today life on our planet can be made much more prosperous if only wars are stopped."

There's always the Kremlin—the seat of communism. Here's the head and heart that rule the 200,000,000 people who have made tremendous strides and who are full of national pride. Hour after, hour, day after day and year after year, long lines form to "see the Kremlin." If you excel in your collective farm work, your reward may be a trip to Moscow to see the Kremlin.

While you're there, you see the remains of Stalin and Lenin. Stalin has been dead a dozen years and Lenin twice that long. They "lie in state" in open caskets. Stern, uncompromising soldiers with guns and stiff military bearings herd you into a double line and you file silently down dimly lighted corridors until you enter the death room. The line never stops.

The "ques" that led to the Kremlin are blocks long and this has been going on for years and years. Millions must have wended their slowly plodding way into the 70 odd acres that constitute the inner heart of this great nation.

Here are the crypts of the Czars of the past. IVAN THE TERRIBLE, KATHERINE, and all their progenitors rest in peace (?) inside these walls. There are great reception halls which were the scenes of huge weddings and celebrations. There are chapels where the Czars worshipped. You see the stalls where ancient choirs lifted their voices and far, far above are the great vaulted domes with frescoed works of art and murals that proclaim the grandeur that once marked the life of Russian royalty.

★ ★ ★

Today these halls are silent, save for the sounds of shuffling feet as the comparatively emancipated Russians inspect the grandeur of a decadent past. Always lines are shuffling towards the Kremlin. The glories that used to be are still impressive but around them now is a pall of things out-moded from a far off yesteryear.

★ ★ ★

The Russians are a friendly people. Employes in the hotels, on the trains, on the planes and in the stores are courteous, interested and alert. They act as though they're interested in you. It's hard to visualize them engaged in the horrors of destruction.

★ ★ ★

You can't close out Moscow without mentioning the University. Moscovites are very proud of this and they should be. The entire organization is practically in one building and the attendance is 24,000 students. As you might imagine, it's a wonderful structure. It's really beautiful and the nation can justly be proud.

★ ★ ★

But if my forecast has even a modicum of sound reasoning, this great and impressive structure will ultimately stand as a monument to the fall of communism. Here's where Russia is teaching her brightest young people — some day — to ask "why."

"Why are we fettered and shackled? Why don't we have the freedom that Capitalistic students are granted in Capitalistic nations? Why don't we have their material advantages? Why? Why?"

Yes, why?

And remember, these opinions and forecasts do not come from an international pooh-bah or an accredited authority. They're just from a fellow townsmen of yours and a close neighbor. In fact They're from:

Yours sincerely,

—Гарольд ФИТЦДЖЕРАЛД

The POWER of FAITH — by Howard Brodie

I thumbed the pages of an entertainment guide in my Tulsa hotel room during a recent U. S. trip, glancing at advertisements for such attractions as man-sized steaks, exotic dancing, and reducing salons. And then I read, "Dial a Prayer, Luther 4-3511." I dialed and heard "Light of my life, teach me to live by the inner illumination of spirit . . ."

I traced the recording to the First Presbyterian Church but learned that the idea had come from California by way of Scarsdale, N. Y., and that it has spread to more and more cities. As many as 3,000 calls for prayers were received by the Scarsdale number in a day, I was informed, and on weekends the circuits rang busy as often as 10,000 times. Calls come from business men about to enter important conferences, from doctors after exhausting operations, from the lonely, distraught, sick and bereaved. All seek strength through faith.

City Fire Marshal Agrees With Editorial on Trucks

I am in complete accord with your editorial about traffic of trucks in our downtown area. It's long been a nightmare in the thoughts of our firemen of a possible collision involving a gasoline tanker, perhaps at Saginaw and Huron.

★ ★ ★

This would inevitably result in release of thousands of gallons of gasoline onto the street and instant fire racing down Saginaw, engulfing autos, pedestrians and even spreading into stores.

★ ★ ★

This is no idle "pipe dream." In Chicago in 1943 a streetcar rammed a gasoline tanker and in the resulting holocaust, every person on the streetcar and people on the sidewalks were consumed in the fiery blast.

★ ★ ★

Heavily laden trucks of this nature proceed up the grade on Saginaw in low gear, making considerable noise, and it's possible they couldn't hear sirens of approaching emergency equipment crossing Saginaw at Huron.

★ ★ ★

It has also become a custom of many major oil companies to make deliveries to service stations with large tankers and trailers. This is dangerous and an ordinance should be adopted which would control the amount of gasoline carried in delivery trucks to local service stations.

Several More Add Gripes to List

While writing of telephone sale calls, etc, by all means don't forget radio stations that delouse chickens, change the baby's diapers on account of harsh laxatives and remove dead mice and rats from our premises, all while we're sitting down to breakfast. I've wondered how this affects the breakfast of someone a bit squeamish.

★ ★ ★

The last phone sales call I had called me from a busy job in the basement, and it promised a valuable prize. I replied by asking the saleslady if she knew the name of the Lone Ranger's horse. The bright girl did. So I said, "Well, lady, you've just won yourself free and clear, tax exempt a bushel of pure horse manure. Where shall I deliver it?"

★ ★ ★

L. Buckhorn

Lake Orion

Yesterday I received five calls from persons giving free radios, free dry cleaning, wondering if we're interested in doing repair work to our home, free encyclopedia, and would I be interested in buying a cemetery lot.

To the latter, I'd be delighted if I could bury the disgusting, ridiculous calls that are received from apparently down-on-their-luck companies. We put a sign on our door saying "No Solicitors," but they say, "I'm not selling anything, I have a gift for you."

I have four children, a husband and home to care for and find little time, if any, to visit socially, let alone have my time taken up by such pests.

Mrs. Edwin Donovan

I agree that telephone solicitors are an invasion of personal privacy, but I can't agree about certain obnoxious TV commercials. When I see one of these I just turn away, or better yet, turn down the volume or change channels.

'Do Reds Export Troublemakers?'

I read an article about the Russians teaching their smartest youth to act and talk like Americans. What's to prvent the U.S.S.R. from taking shot-down Americans over to Russia to make them train their people for this? Then the Americans are disposed of and their men are sent here instead.

★ ★ ★

Communism has divided every country it's tried to take over. Who can say—maybe those causing trouble in the South are some of these very same people? We might all be equal, but equal under the heel of Russia doesn't meant quite enough to trade our hard-earned freedom for it.

★ ★ ★

We wouldn't be any smarter than the dog that saw his shadow in the stream with what he thought was a larger bone and dropped his bone and lost all.

Cheers Reveal Europeans' Hopes Rest on Ike's Head

By J. M. ROBERTS
By The Associated Press

Nothing like it has happened since Woodrow Wilson went to Europe after World War I, seeking a peace which was never made.

Europe for a long time has rested a large part of its hopes for peace on President Eisenhower. But the depth of that faith and hope remained to be revealed by his reception during his current trip, in search of a peace which is not likely to be made.

The man welcomed by those enthusiastic hundreds of thousands of people in Germany and Britain is not merely the president of the United States, although that office lends him the power which makes his effort possible.

Nor was he, in Britain, merely the war hero who led the Allied armies to victory in Europe in 1945. That war hero had traveled Europe constantly only eight years ago without attracting any great fanfare.

Some of Washington's most blase correspondents became almost lyrical over the sincereity and determination displayed at the President's last news conference before undertaking this trip. Apparently something of that feeling had been transferred to Europe.

When the German throngs greeted Eisenhower on his arrival there could have been some curiosity involved. Certainly he was not their war hero. But when the Germans flocked to him at his departure, normally an anticlimactic point — when the usually disciplined Germans broke through police lines to pat him on the back—there was something revealed.

When hundreds of thousands of British cheered along the streets where he was once a familiar but little-noticed figure, there was something revealed.

These are people who have lived for 14 years in the shadow of the cloud that is shaped like a mushroom, people who individually, collectively and officially have developed something approaching a psychosis about it.

While Americans want peace, the Europeans have a fervently active desire for it. Walking their streets, riding their elevators, seeing the maimed and the halt in so many of the sedentary jobs, you know why. Thinking of what H-bombs could do in these congested countries, you know why.

Now comes to them a man who seeks to climax a long life of public service with a bold attempt to meet this desire.

Too, the Londoners are the sons of a race which pioneered in the fight for what the President described in Germany as freedom and the dignity of man.

The President was highly gratified.

But don't you suppose that Thursday night, in the quiet of his bedchamber, the aging warrior was thinking of the heart-wearying burden of hope placed upon him by his fellow men. Of the danger of letting himself be pushed into risky ground for the sake of progress. Of the difficulties of peace with honor.

Naval Academy Reports Change

Will Prepare Middies for Space Age, Junk 'Hardware' Courses

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—The U.S. Naval Academy has outlined a curriculum revision, effective next month, that will mark the most sweeping changes in more than a century and is designed to prepare middies more adequately for the space age.

The changes come on the heels of a course revision at West Point, where mose emphasis is planned on liberal arts, but are described as unrelated to those affecting future army officers.

The Navy program was outlined at a news conference by Capt. William Brinckloe, secretary of the academic board, and Dr. William Shields, assistant to the superintenden for academic matters.

The new courses will place more emphasis on mathematics and the basic sciences at the expense of so-called hardware courses, primarily because "it is no longer possible to predict with any degree of accuracy what kind of weapons and what kind of environment the future officers will be in," Captain Brinckloe said.

The academy also announced it planned to offer an advanced program for gifted students, marking a sharp departure from the past when all middies took the same course of study.

★ ★ ★

The impending changes were described as the most sweeping since 1850 when the Academy's course was trimmed from five years, including three years sea duty, to a total of four.

Escape the Heat in Nudist Camp in Oceana County

HART, Mich. (AP)—A new resort in Oceana County may have a special appeal for seekers of relief from the tortures of wearing clothes in scorching temperatures.

Former Detroiter Emil Oja is opening the Silver Hill Club, first nudist camp in the county. "There is nothing shocking about nudism," says Oja, "It simply is a wonderful way of life in which all can enjoy the healing rays of sunshine and fresh air."

★ ★ ★

He claims a charter membership of 15 persons who will attend the formal unveiling of the new club on Labor Day. The woodsy, 19-acre club grounds is located in Oceana County's Golden Township.

Wife Wants Dog but Not Care of It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife and her dog. We've been married 14 months. I'm a simple hard-working guy of 25 and she is 22. I bought her a pup because she always wanted one and her parents wouldn't let her have one.

★ ★ ★

ABBY

Well, she doesn't know the first thing about training a dog or taking care of it. That dog hasn't had a bath since we've had him and he smells like nobody's business.

He has the run of the apartment and you can imagine what the place looks like. I work odd hours and can't train the dog myself. She even forgets to feed him. I can't reason with my wife. She cries when I mention giving it away. Can you help me?

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: A dog who hasn't a bath in over a year must be even more desperate than you. If your childish bride wants to keep the dog, insist that she learn to care for him—and see to it that she does. If she refuses to learn, or is negligent—give the poor animal a break and find him a good home.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband's first wife passed away six years ago. She is buried in Kansas City, Mo., where his grown children live. He has a double marker on her grave. Also a plot right next to hers with his name already on the marker. All that's missing is the date of his death.

This was done before I came into the picture so I'm not blaming anyone. But now I am his wife. I don't want him buried there. Who am I going to be buried by?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND: Yours is one of the difficult problems a woman faces when she marries a widower. These arrangements are obviously the result of a promise made long before you came into the picture. Don't attempt to change anything. Express the desire to be buried near your own parents, if possible.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl and have started to get gray hair. What I am worried about is can worying cause gray hair? What can I do about it?

GRAY AT 15

DEAR GRAY: Worrying does not cause gray hair but it can cause other far more serious difficulties. Those who gray early in life usually inherit the tendency from their parents. You can take the problem to a good hairdresser—or you can leave it alone and enjoy that distinguished look. I recommend the latter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HEARTSICK MOM: Tell your daughter you read her diary and give her a chance to account for her behavior. Keeping quiet eliminates all possibilities of helping her, and this girl certainly needs help.

★ ★ ★

What's your problem. For a personal reply write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This wash-and-wear, crease resistant cotton with a pleated bodice is just the thing to welcome in fall. The long sleeves are gathered at the cuff.

★ ★ ★

Hats Can Outdate

Nothing dates a woman quite as much as an outdated hat. So don't economize by carrying over last fall's styles. Hat bar hats are excellent, inexpensive and chic.

Those Sneakers are Not too Good for Him

Check Johnny's Shoes Before School

One out of every three American children will be going back to school in September in shoes that do not fit them, according to a just-completed survey by a national consumer organization.

The survey, made in a New England city and a nearby rural community, showed that some of the children were wearing shoes as much as 2½ sizes too small.

★ ★ ★

A large number of the children were wearing shoes from one-half to two sizes too short. The consumer organization reports that the most universal cause of foot defects are ill-fitting shoes, noting that a recent check of school-children in 39 states indicated more than half of the primary school pupils and 79 per cent of the high school students had some kind of foot trouble.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Benjamin Kauth, director of the American Foot Care Institute, commenting on the report, urged American mothers to "make the opening of the new school year an occasion to protect the foot health of your youngsters. When you buy Johnny new shoes for the new term, check that there is sufficient growing room in the length and width of the shoe before you allow him to walk out of the store," the prominent podiatrist cautioned.

LIKES ALL LEATHER

The first step in getting a proper fit, Dr. Kauth noted, is to select footwear made of a material which holds its shape. In this connection, he pointed out that "the canvas and rubber sneakers in which our children, teenagers and even collegians spend too much of their time cannot be fitted properly.

★ ★ ★

"The moment the child slips into a sneaker, the canvas sides spread and will not mold the foot. Nor can you provide for extra growing room in a sneaker," the foot specialist said, because when a sneaker is not completely extended by the foot, the canvas buckles and falls in loose ridges that chafe and irritate growing feet.

★ ★ ★

Heavy rubber-soled "sneaks" mean heat and perspiration which cannot evaporate through either the starched canvas sides or the rubber soles or toe tips. In addition to the discomfort it causes, the perspiration in which the sneaker-clad foot is bathed encourages "athlete's foot" and other ringworm diseases.

An all-leather shoe is recommended for all-around wear, the foot specialist stressed, because the leather uppers mold to the shape of the foot and are pliant enough to stretch and bend as the youngster walks through school corridors or dashes across a playground. Flexible leather soles help hold the shoe's shape as well as protect tender soles and arches from hard concrete pavements, sharp stones or rusty nails.

Such a shoe should be fitted with an extra three-quarters of an inch of "growing room" between the tip of the shoe and the youngster's longest toe, and a quarter of an inch of extra width across the ball of the foot. The shoe should not gap at front or sides when the child walks, and the insides should be leather lined and smooth—free of rough edges, heavy stitching which may cause blisters.

Month After Others

See Balenciaga Styles

By NADENE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Fringed hems, loose overblouses and rhinestone tennis ball jewels are trademarks of the new Balenciaga collection.

Fashion writers were finally permitted to see it this morning, a month after other major Paris fashion openings.

The Spanish designer, whose influence on styles is powerful, is said to have put off his opening because he feared spies among the press.

He may feel events have proved him right. Maria Gastner-Sryfar, 37, an Austrian woman fashion writer, was arrested last month for making sketches at press showings of the new styles of the Paris fashion houses. Her case is still under investigation.

One new Balenciaga brainstorm made the audience laugh and cheer — a mannequin, wearing a black crepe sheath with a shutter back on drawstrings, lowered it like a venetian blind to bare her back.

Balenciaga keeps his hemline short, an inch or two below the knee. Only three or four models show half the kneecap. His suits are slender rectangles, some with short jackets blousing down in the back, and others with longer straight jackets to midhip. There are also battle jackets, banded around the hip and yoked at the back.

The most original hats of the season are worn by Balenciaga mannequins. One that looks just like a black satin baseball is worn squarely over one ear: whatever holds it on, it isn't gravity.

There are pincushion hats, worn back like a chignon and stuck all over with jet or multicolored stones; a tiny new moon hat no bigger than a small banana, which it also resembles; a beehive hat in honeycomb wool; an icebag hat in pony fur; and numerous after-thought hats, barely attached at the nape of the neck.

Speak Nuptial Vows in Church in Honolulu

Holy Trinity Church in Honolulu, Hawaii was the scene of the wedding this morning of Diane Childs and H. Russel Holland II.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Childs of Honolulu and Judge and Mrs. H. Russel Holland of East Iroquois road.

★ ★ ★

Sharon Holland was maid of honor. She was dressed in a pale blue silk organza dress with a round neckline and cap sleeves. James Ganley of Honolulu was best man.

★ ★ ★

A wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple will honeymoon on the islands of Hawaii and Maui. They will make their home in Ann Arbor after Sept. 12. The bridegroom is attending University of Michigan Law School where he took his undergraduate work. The bride attended Pomona College and is also attending U. of M.

Couple Exchange Vows in Double Ring Rites

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Davidson of Lake Orion and Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Currie of Bloomfield Hills.

The bride wore a Bianchi gown of white bouquet taffeta. The full length skirt formed a chapel train and the fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline accented with a panel of seed pearls and crystal beads that formed a floral pattern and extended to the edge of the hem. A Swedish crown of pearls and rhinestones held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Alice Davidson of Jackson Heights, N. Y., was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Charles Davies of Birmingham, Shirley Woodcock of Lake Orion, Mrs. Samuel Carpenter of Battle Creek and Judith Merritt of Howe, Ind.

They wore Bianchi dresses of frosted apple taffeta with scoop necklines, short sleeves and street length modified bell skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of Happiness roses.

Rudrick Boucher of Birmingham was best man. Ushers were Charles Davies, Jon Plexico and John Neff, all of Birmingham, Patrick Blackburn of Detroit and William Addison of Pontiac.

Following a reception at Indianwood Golf and Country Club, Lake Orion, the couple will leave for a honeymoon to Northern Michigan. They will make their home in Ann Arbor where both are attending the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Davidson wore a burgundy red antique silk brocade sheath dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Currie was dressed in beige silk brocade with matching accessories.

Measurements Are Real Guide

Tape-Test Your Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

While it is important for health to maintain the ideal weight for your height, build and age, your measurements are the real guide to the perfection of your figure.

★ ★ ★

Naturally all of your measurements will be too large if you are overweight, and usually these extra pounds pick on one special spot. With some women it is the waist, with others the hips, thigh or abdomen bulge in an especially annoying way.

Remember that your ideal weight at the age of 30 is the one you should keep for the rest of your life.

I have noticed this in my classes. A woman may be very disturbed because she has gained three or four pounds while at the same time her measurements have been shrinking. This often comes with exercise. The gain shown on the scales is not from an increase in fatty deposits but from firming up.

Here are some directions for you to remember when measuring yourself. Do not draw the tape measure too tight. On the other hand do not have it slack. Try to hold it the same way every time you measure. Do not allow your optimism to make you pull it tighter when taking the "after" measurement.

When taking any measurement be sure that the tape passes straight around your body. Do not let it dip or sag in any one place. Either wear no brassiere or be sure to wear the same one every time you measure your bust. The tape should pass around the largest part of the breasts.

Take your waist measurement at your natural waistline. Measure around the largest part of the abdomen and the hips for those records.

Remember that your ideal weight at the age of 30 is the one you should keep for the rest of your life. The fact that the average weight increases as age increases shows how few women do this. It takes effort and willpower but it is so well worthwhile because of health, longevity and looks.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Allergic to Dust? Use Spray Polish

Homemakers allergic to dust can use new polishes that are sprayed on furniture, combining the dusting and waxing chores.

The spray traps dust which then is picked up in the polishing cloth. Dry dusting causes dust particles to float in the air where they are inhaled.

Know Your Colors

Choosing the right colors for you is important to your overall appearance. Often young girls who are just forming "clothes sense" hide bubbly personalities in drab colors because they hesitate to select bright shades.

MARILYN J. SMITH

By RUTH MILLETT

A homemaker wants to know: "What can I do to get our next door neighbors to keep their lawn mowed?

★ ★ ★

"This one neglected yard detracts from every house in sight. And it's worse for us because we live right next door and have to look at it. Can't we do anything?"

Nothing that I know of.

If you mention it to your neighbor you'll make an enemy—and having an enemy next door could be a lot more unpleasant than unkept grass.

If you belong to a garden club you might ask your next door neighbor if she would like to join. If you can get her to just a few meetings she might get interested in her yard.

★ ★ ★

If that doesn't seem practical, then why not plant a hedge of high-growing shrubs to cut off the unsightly view?

★ ★ ★

That in itself ought to be a gentle hint that you are tired of looking at tall grass and weeds.

In the meantime don't fret too much. Families who buy homes and then don't bother to keep them up, are very often "movers" who go from one neighborhood to another.

So you may be rid of your problem sooner than you think.

★ ★ ★

Janet Kay Stutesman Wed Today Before 200

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stutesman of East Cornell avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Edmunds of East Walton Boulevard.

The bride's gown featured a square neckline accented with Chantilly lace and an orange blossom crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Carol DeJager was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Virginia Stutesman, Norma Soditch and Mrs. Lary Pankey. They wore taffeta sheath dresses with net overskirts, the maid of honor in orchid and the bridesmaids in yellow. All carried colonel bouquets of white carnations and had matching hats.

★ ★ ★

Best man was Arnold Edmunds. Ushers were Harold Kinder, Robert Stowe and Robert Coleman. Dennis Brooks was ring bearer.

Following a reception at Fisher Body Local Hall a dinner will be held at Devon Gables for the weding party and immediate family members.

For her going away outfit, the bride has selected a light aqua suit with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. They will honeymoon in Niagara Falls and will live on Walton boulevard.

★ ★ ★

Would You Let Them Be Lost?

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon at a morning wedding. There will be a wedding breakfast following for just the bridal party and members of the immediate families. Later in the day there will be a large reception for friends and relatives. We expect several out-of-town guests to attend the wedding. I had not planned on inviting them to the wedding breakfast. They will be invited to the reception later. My daughter thinks that they should be included at the wedding breakfast as they will have no place to go after the ceremony. Will you please tell me if this is necessary since they are not members of the immediate family?

Dear Mrs. Post: My exhusband is very seriously ill and is not expected to live. Should he die, would it be proper for me to go to the funeral, or might this cause unpleasant criticism? I have seen him from time to time throughout the years because of the children and there was never any bitterness between us. What do you advise in this situation?

★ ★ ★

Answer: If you feel like going to his funeral and your presence will not cause distress to others, by all means do so. No one can criticize you for showing this sign of respect to the memory of the man who was your husband and the father of your children.

Influence Increasing in Soviet

Women Hold Vital Jobs in Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Women are in the ascendancy in Soviet Russia, possibly to a greater extent than anywhere else in the world.

According to Russian figures, at the time of the Bolshevik revolution in 1917 eighty-seven per cent of Russian women couldn't read or write, and most working women were household servants, farm laborers or the lowest order of factory workers.

★ ★ ★

Today, the official statistics say that 1,500,000 girls and women are studying in universities and technical high schools, and women make up 53 per cent of all college graduated specialists. Seventy-five per cent of Russia's doctors are women, and 70 per cent of her teachers.

★ ★ ★

There are 94,000 fully qualified Russian women scientists; 1,500 preside over collective farms; 1,700 are artists, 1,100 are architects. There are 550 recognized Russian women writers, and 150 composers. Moscow University alone counts more than 1,000 women professors and lecturers.

★ ★ ★

Many Russian women still do hard work—"man's work" — in Russia. Any visitor is familiar with the sight of women shoveling snow from the streets, working on buildings.

But millions of Russian women today perform vital work in almost every area of activity —in government, industry, the arts and sciences, medicine, business, public services.

★ ★ ★

As in the West, the Russian women who would succeed must have talent and perseverance.

The most dramatic example of what the modern Russian woman can attain is dignified, self-confident Ekaterina Furtseva, the only woman member of the Communist Party Presidium.

But below Madame Furtseva, who represents the pinnacle of feminine professional achievement in the Soviet Union, stand a host of women at the top or near the top of many professions.

Beauty Routine Is Worth The Time

Keeping fresh and attractive does take time. A beauty routine each night before going to bed actually requires only minutes.

Done regularly, it provides years of shining looks which makes it a worthwhile investment of time.

CAROLE J. SMITH

A spring wedding is being planned by Carole Joyce Smith and James E. Stott. Miss Smith is the daughter of Floyd Smith of Nelson street and the late Mrs. Smith and her fiance is the son and stepson of Mr. and Mrs. Lester English of East boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stott of Auburn Heights.

Wondrous Creations for Baths

A listing of the varied and numerous ingredients used in baths of the past sounds like a recipe for what we might facetiously call "a tossed bath." Milk and mint, herbs and spices, nuts and grains, fruits and flowers, pine needles and brandy were among the sundries used.

★ ★ ★

Cleopatra favored milk of almonds and rose water. Madame Pompadour took hers with strawberries. Raspberries and melons were bath desserts for other famous beauties.

★ ★ ★

Milk baths were popular from the famous ones of Poppaea to the much-publicized ones of Ziegfeld's Anna Held. The Elizabethans had a notion for sweet herbs in their tubs, the fragrance released through steam.

Dieting's Easier During Hot Days

Following a reducing diet is much easier during hot days. Most of us have less appetite and are refreshed only by eating slimming fruit and vegetable salads.

However, beware of washing away necessary vitamins during summer months with too many iced drinks and too little food.

Wood Wash Tubs

COMMON RELIGIOUS TEACHINGS NOT ENDORSED BY THE BIBLE

Roosevelt Wells

The subject of baptism is one of the most controversial subjects in the religious world. In fact, in many circles the subject has caused such ill-feelings until many even refrain from discussing the subject. Even those who profess to be preachers of truth turn away from a thorough discussion of it. One of the nations most popular preachers has been heard to say, "I don't preach on baptism, it's too controversial. Now friends, stretch your imagination to its limits and try to conceive of a God fearing, honest minded, sincere proclaimer of God's word deliberately refraining from discussing a Bible subject. I have often wondered, WHAT LIGHT SUCH PREACHERS EXPECT TO SHED ON THE SUBJECT BY IGNORING IT, WHAT TRUTH SUCH PREACHERS EXPECT TO REVEAL ON THE SUBJECT BY AVOIDING IT, AND WHAT BLESSING SUCH PREACHERS EXPECT TO RECEIVE FROM GOD BY DELIBERATELY EVADING IT. This HANDS-OFF attitude among professed religious leaders has lead many "truth seekers" to believe that baptism is an unimportant, insignificant, non-essential commandment, but is this the way the Bible presents the subject of baptism? This HANDS-OFF attitude has given rise to many false conceptions concerning baptism. Men have endeavored to MINIMIZE the command, IGNORE the need, and PREVENT the purpose and CHANGE the mode. Regarding the latter, some believe baptism is sprinkling, some pouring and some immersion, but honestly friends, DOES THE BIBLE ANYWHERE STATE THAT THE SPRINKLING OF WATER OR THE POURING OF WATER UPON THE HEAD OF ANY INDIVIDUAL CONSTITUTES NEW TESTAMENT BAPTISM? If so, would some one be so kind and point the writer to the passage.

On page 602 of the Discipline of the Methodist Church (1940 edition) we read "Let every adult person and the parents of every child to be baptized, have the CHOICE OF SPRINKLING, POURING OR IMMERSION . . . Now friends, where does this statement appear in the Bible? Ask your friends, neighbors and preachers, for the writer honestly admits that he has never read it in the Bible. AND WHEN YOU FIND IT SEND IT TO THE WRITER OF THIS ARTICLE.

To those who teach and practice sprinkling and pouring for New Testament baptism, may we ask these questions:

1. Where do you secure Bible authorization for such?
2. Is there a passage in all the Bible which states emphatically and conclusively that sprinkling and pouring is New Testament baptism?
3. If God does not inform us of this in his word, how do we know and can we honestly say we are obeying the teachings of the Bible when we practice it?
4. Does the Bible state that any man under any conditions ever had water sprinkled or poured upon him and it was called New Testament baptism and accepted before God as such?

Is sprinkling and pouring for New Testament baptism a matter of faith? If we cannot read it in the Bible it is not, for faith cometh by Hearing and Hearing by the word of God. Rom. 10:17
BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

Confident Living

No Money to Help Him, So He Dug With Shovel

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Yesterday I met one of the world's great positive thinkers. It was not in America, but rather in the wilderness of Judea, where in the long ago John the Baptist preached. His name is Musa Alami and he has made the desert to blossom as the rose—a desert which in all the history of the world had never blossomed heretofore.

PEALE

He succeeded because he believed that he could, and he kept at it until he did, which, of course, is the way you succeed at anything.

Musa, an Arab boy, was educated at Cambridge, came back to Palestine where he became a well-to-do-man—well-to-do, that is, by Middle Eastern standards. Then in the political turmoil he lost everything, including his home.

He went beyond Jordan to the adge of Jericho. Stretching away on either side was the great, bleak, arid desert of the Jordan valley. In the distance to the left, shimmering in the hot haze, loomed the mountains of Judea, and to the right, the Mountains of Moab.

With the exceptions of a few oases, nothing had ever been cultivated in this hot and weary land and all the wiseacres said that nothing could be raised, for how could you bring water to it? To dam the Jordan river for irrigation was too expensive and besides, there was no friendly power to finance such a project.

"What about underground water?" asked Musa Alami. Long and loud they laughed. Who ever heard of such a thing? There was no water under that hot, dry desert.

MAPPED ROADS

He had heard of the amazing rehabilitation of the California desert through subsurface water. He decided that he could find water here also. So sure was he that he mapped out roads for a ranch. All the old-time Bedouin sheiks said it couldn't be done, governmental officials agreed, and, solemnly, so did the famous scientists from abroad. There was absolutely no water there. That was that.

But Musa was unimpressed. He thought there was. A few poverty-stricken refugees from the nearby Jericho Refugee Camp helped him as he started to dig. With well-drilling equipment? Not on your life. With pick and shovel. Everybody laughed as the dauntless man and his ragged friends dug away day after day, week after week, month after month.

For six months they dug. Then one day the sand became wet, and finally water, life-giving water, gushed forth. The Arabs who had gathered round did not laugh or cheer; they wept. Water had been found in the ancient desert! And they who had known the burning sands for centuries could not speak, so great was their wonder and gratitude. They wept.

A very old man, sheik of a nearby village, heard the amazing news. He came to see for himself. "Musa," he asked "have you really found water? Let me see it and feel it and taste it."

'IT IS GOOD WATER'

The old man put his hand in the stream, splashed it over his face, put it on his tongue. "It is sweet and cool," he said. "It is good water." Then placing his aged hands on the shoulder of Musa Alami he said, "Thank God. Now, Musa, you can die." It was the simple tribute of a desert man to a positive thinker who did what everyone said could not be done.

★ ★ ★

Now, several years later, Musa Alami has 15 wells supplying a ranch nearly three miles long and two miles wide. He raises vegetables, bananas, figs, citrus fruit and boys.

In his school he is growing citizens of the future, farmers and technicians, experts in the trade. Produce is flown to Kuwait, Bahrein, the Persian Gulf, Beirut, as well as to nearby Jerusalem.

Imitating Musa, others have also dug until 40,000 acres are under cultivation and the green is spreading over the sands.

Get Their First Church Building

Protestant Christians Dedicate Structure on Yaeyama Island

Protestant Christians on tiny Yaeyama island, 250 miles south of Okinawa, have dedicated their first church building.

The Yaeyama church was brought into being partially through the work of the Rev. and Mrs. C. Harold Rickard, Methodist missionaries. It is located in the city of Ishigaki, where 337 years ago, a Christian was burned at the stake for refusal to renounce his faith.

The church houses a congregation of 130 members, which has a youth fellowship and a woman's fellowship and maintains a kindergarten.

The new church is related to the United Church of Christ, of which Methodism is one of the largest parts. Mr. and Mrs. Rickard, whose American home is Golden, Colo., are two of eleven Methodist missionaries working with the United Church. They are the only Americans, missionary or otherwise, living on Yaeyama.

Unity Church Ready to Resume Services

Regular services at Unity Church of Oakland County will be resumed Sunday with Mrs. Blanche Joki speaking on "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" at the 11 a.m. service.

Those attending are requested to bring their own table service and a plate to pass.

Church Will Extend Hand of Fellowship

The Right Hand of Fellowship will be given six members of the Crescent Hills Baptist Church by the pastor, the Rev. Benjamin A. Bohn, at the 10 a. m. worship service Sunday. Certificates of membership and baptism will be presented to the group, five of whom are adult members, comprising three new families.

★ ★ ★

Kenneth Bushman, youth leader in the service, will assist the pastor on the subject, "Making Christ King."

The Rev. Mr. Bohn will be guest minister at the First Baptist Church of Howell Sunday evening.

Tossed Off Last Slug; Mourned in All Walks

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Lambert Rook is dead and there's mourning in Miami Beach, all the way from the mansions down into the dirty little wine joints.

Rook, who died Thursday of throat cancer, rose to riches in real estate. Then he rode a tide of liquor down on skid row.

But Rook was cold sober when he died at 66 and he had succeeded in becoming an inspiration for other down-an-outers.

"I don't know how many people are sober now because of him," said a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. "There are a lot of them, and I'm one.

"Things get rough sometimes and I decide to have a drink and forget my troubles. Then I think, if that little guy can stay sober, anybody can."

Rook was less than 100 pounds of skin and bones. He had chronic bronchitis, a bad heart, cirrhosis of the liver and other painful ailments. Still, he had stayed sober for eight years.

His comeback, said city Judge Albert Saperstein, was "a miracle."

He was jailed maybe a hundred times for being drunk. Once, a rookie cop found him asleep on the Chamber of Commerce lawn and asked what he was doing there.

OWNED THE PLACE

"Why shouldn't I be here?" demanded Rook. "I owned this place until I donated it to the chamber."

A real flaming youth of the boomtime '20s, Rook would make a pile of money, then close up shop charter a couple of railroad cars and take his friends to Chicago for a round of speakeasies.

"Lambert had the makings of great wealth," said Val Cleary, former Miami Beach mayor. "He was a great salesman. But he just didn't care about anything."

It was in 1925, when he was known as the best real estate man on the Beach, that Rook really hit the skids. He went a long way down.

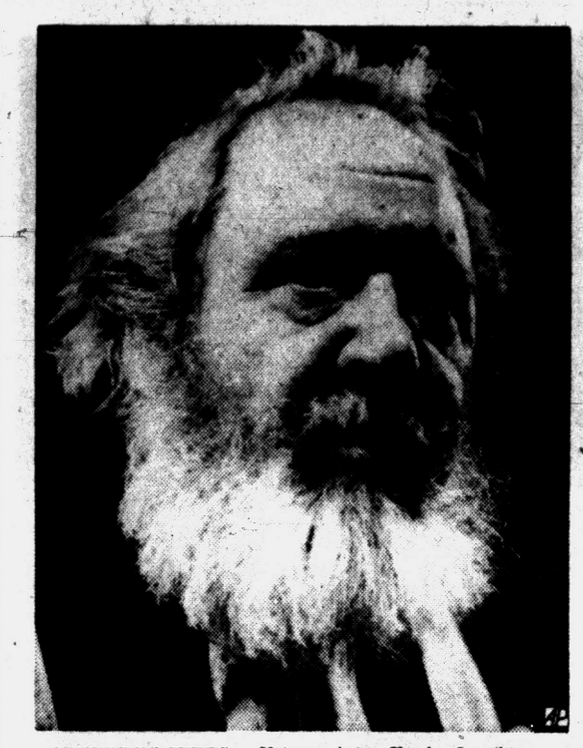

When he was in jail, his friends gave him cord. He made fishing nets with it and, when he was released, traded the nets for wine or bay rum.

"He was a real inspiration to others," Saperstein said, "because he showed it is possible for a man —no matter how far gone—to quit drinking."

'Heavy Traffic' Due Labor Day

Extra Police Cars, Men to Be Used From Noon Friday to Monday Night

EAST LANSING (UP) — The heaviest traffic in Michigan history is expected over the Labor Day weekend, State Police warned today.

All police pass days have been canceled and officers will work 10 hour shifts from noon, Friday, Sept. 4 to midnight Monday, Sept. 7.

State Police will be assisted by 129 National Guardsmen and 98 Guardsmen will be assigned to sheriff's departments.

Police said they plan to pay special attention to areas with high accident records. Semi-marked cars will be used on patrol along with marked cars and radar speed check equipment.

The department's three planes will be in the air to aid in spotting traffic conditions.

"The forecast is for the heaviest Labor Day traffic ever seen in the state if the weather is good," said Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. "This should alert drivers to exercise the utmost care in the increased exposure to accidents."

The post pays $7,642 a year as starting salary and rises to $9,792 after four years.

Magazine Says Duke of Windsor Is Unfashionable

LONDON (UPI)—A men's fashion magazine Friday accused the Duke of Windsor of wearing "outdated clothes" and lumped him with Elvis Presley and Liberace as one of the worst dressed men of prominence in the world.

It said the Duke, who has been listed for years as one of the 10 best-dressed men, has fallen behind in fashions.

★ ★ ★

"He's turned his back on style," the magazine said. "Like so many people past middle age, he seems to dress in an outdated style which reminds him of the heyday of his life but which is no longer at all in vogue."

Don't 'Attempt' to Treat Victims of Poisoning

LANSING (UPI)—People should not attempt to treat poison victims unless antidotes are recommended by a doctor, disease control director F. S. Leeder of the State Health Department, warned today.

★ ★ ★

Leeder said incorrect first aid could do more harm than good in many cases because there are many different poisons.

If a doctor doesn't know the treatment for a particular type poison, he can call one of 16 poison control centers for information.

Leeder said labels on containers often give the antidote for a harmful material if a doctor cannot be reached.

★ ★ ★

Poison control or treatment centers are located in Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Coldwater, Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Midland, Pontiac, Port Huron, Lincoln Park, Ypsilanti, Wayne, Saginaw, Bay City, Petoskey, Marquette, Traverse City and Jackson.

Composers Collaborate in Most Unusual Way

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Once long ago (seven or eight years, give or take three or four) in Tin Pan Alley, there lived a famous bachelor composer. (At least, he thought he was livin'.)

WILSON

Although a wolf, you couldn't call Alvin a lone wolf, because he always had lots of pretty gals dropping into his studio in the Lindy's, Roseland Dance City neighborhood. He never knew where his next girl was coming from. There were always fifteen or twenty dropping in, and he had to tell 18 or 19 he would have to see them some other night. (He was nice about it and they understood.)

Alvin happened one night to meet another song writer named Jason—and they decided to collaborate.

"Want to work at my trap with all the hot and cold running dames?" suggested Alvin the Wolf.

Jason, a quiet, married type, retorted: "No—come up to my place for dinner with the wife and kids."

As Jason showed Alvin around his penthouse with the plush library and the hi-fi and escorted him to the dining room table where a couple of servants hustled in the groceries and uncorked the wine, Alvin thought to himself:

"This square from Squaresville has got it made. This guy is livin'! I lead a very drab life compared to him with the nice home and family."

He was serious about it and for several nights he locked the door of his studio against the invading damosels and went looking for a White Collar, Unsoiled Social Type Female who could do the same for him.

"It's only fair," Alvin the Wolf remarked to Jason the Husband very soon thereafter, "that we have our second work session in my trap."

Alvin the Wolf forgot to lock the door of his dive that night—and all the broads piled in. They clattered in, hopped up on his lap, bit his ear, ruffled his hair and begged him to go dancing. He brought out the champagne and caviar and Jason the Husband was entranced.

"This guy has got it made," thought Jason the Husband. "I lead a very drab life compared to this guy."

Two weeks later Alvin the Wolf announced to Jason the Husband, "I am giving up all this jazz and getting married to a very nice Librarian from Teaneck. We are having our housewarming Thursday—can you and your wife come?"

"I can," replied Jason the Husband, "but my wife won't. We have separated and I am sponsoring Chotzi the Chanteuse from the Boite Blintz on 52d St. After seeing your studio, I decided life was a drag."

★ ★ ★

And so, of course, they lived happily—but not ever after. Alvin the Wolf decided the Librarian was, well, "bookish." He shucked her off and went back to his studio, and resumed his open-door policy. Did Jason go back to his wife? No, he didn't. He likes it this way. He and Alvin the Wolf are still collaborating—on girls.

Summerfield Fights Filth

Urges 'War to Finish' Against Obscene Mail Sent to Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield urged a "war to the finish" Friday on what he called filth racketeers who prey on the nation's young people.

★ ★ ★

He said postal inspectors estimate that as many as one million school age children will receive "pornographic filth in the family mailbox" this year. This would be one out of every 35 children of school age.

In most cases, he told senators starting an investigation, the material is not ordered but is received by the children because their names landed on a mailing list.

"The sales volume of mail order obscenity has doubled in the last five years," Summerfield said, "and, unless vigorously checked, can more than double again over the next four years."

"This would mean," he added, "that as early as 1963 we could be expecting one school-age child out of every 18 to be the target of these purveyors of filth."

Summerfield asked for legislation to plug legal loopholes which he said hamper efforts to crack down on mailers of obscene materials. But effective action also will require the cooperation of an aroused citizenry, he said.

Lions Play Well for 'Charity'

Detroit Record in Exhibitions Stands at 1-1-1

Giants Have Lost Two Games in Pre-Season Action to Date

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Lions must like to play for charity. In 10 years, playing the home exhibition game for the fresh air camp at Sylvan Lake, the Lions have yet to be beaten.

Tonight's game will be the third time Detroit has played the New York Giants in the annual charity contest. In the two previous meetings the Lions won 33-17 in 1952 and 27-17 in 1955.

In exhibition play to date, the Lions are 1-1-1 and the Giants, champions of the Eastern division, have lost both pre-season contests to the Eagles and Colts.

One of the features tonight will bring together two of the pro football's greatest linebackers, Joe Schmidt of the Lions and Sam Huff of the Giants.

Huff is in his 4th season in the NFL and Schmidt is playing in his 7th year.

Lions' fans will get the opportunity to see the "new look" backfield for the first time.

The presence of rookie fullback Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame should give the Lions more depth in the backfield than the team has had in a long time.

Coach George Wilson was high on the play of Pietrosante against Cleveland last week when he rambled for 58 yards on seven tries, one a 37 yard dash.

Wilson plans to interchange his three big backs in the game. At one time he uses John Johnson at fullback and Danny Lewis at halfback; then he puts Pietrosante at fullback and Johnson at halfback and at times Pietrsante at fullback and Lewis at halfback.

Game time tonight at 8:15 p.m. and 20,000 tickets will be available at the Briggs Stadium gates.

Basilio Stopped in 14th Round

Fullmer NBA Champ

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rough, tough Gene Fullmer wants Carmen Basilio to get another crack at the NBA middleweight title which Fullmer won by stopping the New York onion farmer in the 14th round.

The nationally televised fight last night was a bruiser, but the underdog Fullmer led all the way.

When it was over, the Mormon Sunday school teacher from West Jordan, Utah said Basilio had earned a rematch off his courageous effort. Gene's eyes were swollen and nearly closed. Basilio looked even worse.

Basilio, his hands dipped in ice buckets, was too tired to talk about anything, let alone another fight.

"It was my toughest fight," said the 28-year-old Fullmer, who previously had won and lost in title fights with Ray Robinson. Basilio, 32, had a similar history against Robinson, who is recognized now as the middleweight champ in only New York and Massachusetts.

It was also Fullmer's biggest payday—$80,595 from 25 per cent of the $122,380 net gate and the same percentage from $175.000 TV money. Basilio, who had been ranked above Fullmer, got 35 per cent—$112.833.

The National Boxing Assn. stripped Robinson of his title May 4 for failure to defend within a year. In sanctioning this fight, it told the winner to meet the association's No. 1 challenger within 90 days.

That foe will be chosen next week. Fullmer said he thinks it should be Basilio. But if it's Robinson, or perhaps Spider Webb, well, that's ok too, he said.

However, Fullmer made it plain Robinson would have to fight under Gene's terms.

"When I fought Robinson the first time," Fullmer said, "I only got 12½ per cent of the gate and none of the television money. If Robby wants those terms Ill be happy to have him."

Gene had the reputation of a mauler, but against Basilio he boxed and it paid off in his becoming the first fighter to stop the Chittenango, N.Y. scrapper who once also held the welterweight crown.

In the eighth, Fullmer buckled Basilio's knees with a pounding overhand right to the head. That brought a roar from the 10,937 in the Cow Palace and marked the beginning of the end.

A right to the temple sent Carmen flying into the ropes in the 14th. Although he didn't hit the canvas, his feet went out from under him, and it was scored as a knockdown under California rules.

'Red' Blaik Writes Grid Series

The columns will start Tuesday, September 1 and will be published each Tuesday and Friday.

In 25 years as head coach at Dartmouth and Army, "Red" Blaik compiled a record of 166 victories, 48 defeats and 14 ties for an amazing winning percentage of .776.

Always noted for his frankness, Col. Blaik will pull no punches in his discussion of college football. He will discuss aspects of the game and write about specific teams and conferences.

Later he will forecast the outstanding games around the country.

The articles are being syndicated by AP Newsfeatures and Col. Blaik is devoting all of his share of the proceeds to fellowships to outstanding football players from all sections of the country who plan to go on to graduate studies.

Col. Blaik retired as Army coach last winter after 18 years at West Point. He had six unbeaten seasons at Army and two at Dartmouth.

His Army teams won the national championships in 1944 and 1945 and he was Coach of the Year in 1946.

McIntire Duels Goodwin Today in Amateur Final

Joanne, shooting the best golf of the tournament, and Barbara, a good-looking gal and a hardened competitor, meet in the 36-hole showdown at Congressional Country Club.

Miss Goodwin, 23-year-old former Eastern champion from Haverhill, Mass., eased into the final with a 7 and 6 conquest yesterday of former National Champion Dorothy Germain Porter, Westmont, N.J.

Miss McIntire, 24, of Lake Park, Fla., was forced to 19 holes before getting by Mrs. Paul Klinefelter, a Philadelphia housewife.

'Slugger' Yost Homers in 10th to Beat A's

Eddie's No. 17 Blast Gives Lary 17 Wins

Tigers Tied for Third After 6-5 Triumph; Play Tonight

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Eddie Yost, who up to now had never hit more than 12 home runs in a single season, is on a hitting binge.

Yost belted his 17th home run of the season last night to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the Kansas City Athletics and a tie for 3rd.

Lary weathered an early storm that saw the A's score four times on seven hits in the first two innings.

The A's tallied once in the first on a double by Russ Snyder and Bob Cerv's single. But the Tigers bounced back with three runs in the second. The big blow was a two-run homer by Lou Berberet.

Lary, however, couldn't hold the lead as the A's pounded him for five hits and three runs in the second.

★ ★ ★

Detroit went ahead, 5-4, in the fifth when Yost was hit by a pitch, Larry Osborne tripled to center and Al Kaline singled.

Kansas City broke a two-inning deadlock and sent the game into extra frames with a run in the eighth on singles by Roger Maris and Frank House and a fielder's choice.

Yost led off the 10th, and hit Sturdivant's third pitch over the centerfield fence.

White Sox Take Big Opener at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

Chicago's panting White Sox have a little breathing room again in that close American League pennant race, padding their lead to 2½ games behind Bob Shaw, the rookie "sensation" who wasn't and Sherm Lollar, the guy who has spent his career in a shadow.

Shaw, now 26, is the big right-hander everyone touted as sure-fire rookie bet for Detroit a year ago last spring. Instead, he was just a so-so reliever by mid-June and the Tigers peddled him to the White Sox.

It wasn't uitil last May that he broke free of the bullpen—busting out when he got his chance as a starter by shutting out Boston on five singles in his first complete game. He's been a whiz ever since.

He put away a 14-4 record last night with a seven-hitter backed by Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh—a drive left fielder Minnie Minoso couldn't hold—for a 7-3 victory at Cleveland that crushed the second-place Indian's winning streak at eight.

With the opener of the four-game, showdown series in the bag—and a three-game edge in the lost column — Manager Al Lopez substituted Ken McBride (0-1), a right - handed rookie, for ailing Dick Donovan in today's game. The Indians, now needing a sweep of the last three games to take first place, picked right-hander Jim Perry (10 - 5), thus far the AL's top rookie.

In the other AL games last night:

New York beat Washington 4-0 on Art Ditmar's two-hit pitching and three RBI; Frank Lary became the AL's top winner with his 17th victory as Detroit tied the Yankees for third by beating Kansas City 6-5 on Eddie Yost's 10th-inning homer, and Boston spilled Baltimore to fifth, winning 6-4 on Dick Gernert's two-run homer in the 10th.

Hot or Not—Preps Practice Monday

Area Gridders Start Workouts for '59 Season

Continued Heat Wave May Cut Sessions; Play Openers Sept. 18

By CHUCK ABAIR

It's hard to believe the way the weather has been these past several days but high school football time is here again.

Practice begins Monday in Oakland County and throughout Michigan.

Some 550 schools will get rolling at 9 a.m. Thirty others in the Upper Peninsula have been out two weeks and open play this weekend.

Most of last season's outstanding performers have left the prep ranks while many other boys expected back have been lost for various reasons.

This year's late starting of classes will enable teams to hold two-a-day drills for about a week but a continued heat wave would considerably hinder operations. Many might resort to just morning work although the youngsters have shown an anxiety to get going while taking physicals and getting their equipment this week.

Dick Figg at Oxford is hoping to beat the weather by having his charges out mornings and evenings. Pontiac Central's Jesse MacLeay got some early "skull" workout of the way at nightly meetings this week.

A highlight of the new season will be Pontiac Northern's debut on the gridiron. Head man Ed Heikkinen and his staff will be starting from scratch readying for the rugged Inter-Lakes wars.

Farmington won that loop but was riddled by graduation. The Falcons, Walled Lake, Waterford, Southfield and Berkley all will have a sprinkling of veterans to build around.

Guard sensation Charley Brown, big end Biff Pritchett and quarterback Fred Staley give PCH a solid trio but MacLeay will need a great deal more to improve on a 4-5 overall and 1-5 Saginaw Valley season. Bay City Central will be defending champion.

St. Frederick and St. Michael are looking forward to being right up in the Suburban Catholic pennant battle again after sharing the top rung with St. Benedict in '58. Each of the locals has a good supply of capable performers with St. Ben probably their chief foe once more. OL St. Mary hopes to bounch back.

This could be Carl Lemle's biggest year at Birmingham. He seeks his 2nd EML crown with a long list of capable performers although scoring ace Ed Busch is gone. Good balance may make it a run to the wire.

Spunky little Dick Smith is the only back returning from a solid unit which made Avondale the cinderella eleven of 1958 and Oakland B champs' Ken Mather and Dennis Shaw are not expected back. Mather is still nursing a knee ailment and Shaw may move away.

Lake Orion only won one of nine in Frank Kownacki's debut in 1958 but should improve on that if some young backs develop. Clawson could be the team to watch in the Oakland B.

Northville and West Bloomfield may be the 1-2 teams again in the Wayne-Oakland although the Lakers no longer have the great John Lucadam to lead the way. New coaches Tom Taylor at Clarkston and Ray Figg at Holly could be right up in the title fight barring injuries. A rebound by Milford under new boss Jerry Ganzel could make the W-O a tight race with Bloomfield Hills, Brithton and Clarenceville no push-overs.

Rochester and Romeo have Tri-County hopes since unbeaten Lapeer was heavily hit by graduation. The Falcons are rebuilding but could come along fast. Romeo's strong backfield could make the Bulldogs mighty rough.

If all goes well, Oxford has a good chance of becoming the power of the South Central with Doug Stott heading a good nucleus of veterans. Ortonville has enough returning talent to rebound from a 1-8 season. Defending champion Imlay City is the team Oxford must beat but North Branch and Millington could surprise everybody.

Fred Campbell will have an experienced group to work with if they all return to Cranbrook. Royal Oak Dondero still has All-County end John Meadows, Joe Borovick's Madison Lamphere eleven and Oak Park appear on the upgrade, Utica has a big problem at quarterback, while South Lyon could be strong if new linemen progress fast.

Almont has just enough back to be rated the favorite again in the Southern Thumb but it may develop into a wide open race.

GETTING READY — This was a familiar scene throughout Oakland County Friday as gridders obtained their gear in order to be ready to begin practice sessions Monday morning. Veteran Rochester skipper Gene Konley fits Chester Knox to some shoulder pads while Jim Castle waits his turn. Season play begins Sept. 18.

Mrs. Gawne Rules Again

Mrs. S. E. (Susie) Gawne of Franklin is the women's club golf champion at Bloomfield Hills Country Club for the 2nd consecutive year. She conquered Mrs. J. S. Kerr of Winged Lake by a 4-3 score in Friday's match play final.

Ed Hughes, formerly with the New York Football Giants, is the backfield coach at Tulsa University.

Walled Lake's LL Gridders Start Drills

All Walled Lake area boys between the ages of 9 and 12 are invited to attend football roundups Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons starting at 4:30 at Decker School. The Walled Lake Beavers of the All-American Little League of Detroit will be formed during the sessions.

U.S. Opens Pan-Am With 3 Wins

CHICAGO (AP) — The powerful U.S. team was favored to grab at least five more gold medals today as the Pan-American Games, off to a bewildering start, moved into the second day of competition.

Finals were scheduled in four men's events and the 60-meter dash for women in track and field skirmishing in Soldier Field and Uncle Sam's athletes possibly could make it a sweep.

In yesterday's opening round of nine sports, the United States captured three championships, while one each went to Argentina and Chile among the events in which gold medals were awarded.

The same sports continue today, including track and field (men and women, baseball basketball (men and women), fencing (men and women), soccer football, tennis (men and women), volleyball (men and women), weightlifting and yachting.

Perhaps the zaniest opening day development could be called the tale of the shrinking tape. Several hours after hammer thrower Harold Connolly of the United States was proclaimed a record-breaking champion, his teammate, Al Hall, was named the winner of the wired-ball event.

Meet officials, deciding to make certain Connolly had an accurate new mark of 195 feet, 11½ inches, found in a survey it was a quarter inch short.

Under international rules, quarter inches are thrown out, so that left Connolly tied with Hall at 195-11. But, further following the rule book, the officials noted that Hall's second best throw was better than Connolly's, 192-4½ to 191-5. So the championship was awarded to Hall but both men were called co-record holders at 195 11.

There was nothing tainted about the other three meet marks registered in track and a potential world press record by U.S. weightlifter Charles Vinci, who set a Pan-American total lift record in the bantamweight division with 717 pounds. Vinci's press mark was 243 pounds.

Argentina's Oswaldo Suarez brilliantly defended his 10,000-meter title with a meet record of 30 minutes, 17.2 seconds. If he runs as well tomorrow, he should also retain his 5,000-meter crown.

The U.S.'s Charlie Dumas won the high jump with a record-smashing 6-10½, quitting after failing on two tries at 7-14.

Another mark came in the women's 60-meter trials with a :07.4 heat by Panama's Carlotta Gooden. However, a U.S. duo of Barbara Jones and Martha Hudson will be favored in today's final.

Chile's gold medal came as Marlene Ahrens won the women's javelin throw with a heave of 148-10½.

The U.S. basketball team, led by Oscar Robertson and Jerry West, took a little while to get warmed up before downing Canada, 93-73. Other winners were Puerto Rico over Cuba, 103-59, and Mexico over El Salvador, 66-51. The U.S. women's team downed Brazil 45-43.

Big Duel Today at Indianwood

Andonian-Byard Pair Faces Weyand, Patrick in Best Ball Event

Pontiac's Mike Andonian and Perry Byard of Red Run clashed with qualifying medalists Rich Weyand of Birmingham and Red Run's Don Patrick today in the feature match of Indianwood Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament.

Wally Smith of Pontiac and George Wilson of Red Run were involved in the closest match of the day. Smith and Wilson birdied the 18th hole for a 1-up victory over Gib Mason and George Lakotish. Leo Daigle and Andy Purdo were four below par in trimming Harry Latos and Barney Cigan 4-3.

Quarterfinal matches were scheduled today with the semi-finals and championship battle winding up the tourney on Sunday.

Jerry Armstrong one-hit Mt. Clemens 1-0 for Port Huron. Mt. Clemens had downed Flint 5-1 in the opener of the evening.

Flint had to win twice in Class D and did so by 2-1 over Port Huron and 1-0 over Mt. Clemens although outhit 10-5 in the twin-bill.

Friday's losers meet tonight in a doubleheader starting at 7 at Beaudette Park with the winners getting another shot at the unbeaten teams in Sunday finals. Class A will be at Beaudette and Class D at Northsde beginning at 7. Second games, if necessary, are set for 8:30.

Bloomfield Hills Ace.

James I. Ford fired a hole-in-one Friday at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Playing in the company of head pro Bill Graham, Mike Maxwell and Bob Fisher, Ford aced the 160-yard 17th hole with his 6-iron. He shot a 76.

Spencer had won the opener 4-3 with two big runs in the 7th as Arlo Flesher flipped a three-hitter beating Bill Goulet.

Navy Sets Record

Can Hold Off Gravity

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy volunteers, protected by water like the yolk in an egg, have set new records in withstanding tremendous gravity forces, the kind men might experience in space flight.

One volunteer, riding a super-speed merry - go - round called a centrifuge, tolerated 31 times the force of gravity. That made his normal 185 - pound weight seem like 5,700 pounds. The previous record was a little over 20 G's.

Two other Navy men also broke the record, withstanding 28 G's and 26 G's in the centrifuge. A Navy report made available to a reporter today described the experiment.

They rode in a strange device called the Iron Maiden, a steel capsule shaped like a seated man and filled with water to immerse the rider completely. The water, a new technique in gravity force experiments, served as a cushion between the men and the sides of the capsule. They had a breathing device.

The capsule is a possible forerunner of similar devices for spaceships. It was spun on an arm at more than 3,000 miles an hour for a period of 12 seconds.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force's Col. John Stapp, riding on a rocket sled, has sustained up to 45 G's when the sled was brought to an abrupt halt. But this maximum G-force was only for a fraction of a second. In the centrifuge water-capsule tests, the maximum forces were sustained for periods of five seconds.

★ ★ ★

School Aid Plan Eyed at Lansing

Legislature Will Look at Report Calling for Extra $30 Million

LANSING (UPI) — The Legislature will be asked today to accept a Senate-House conference report on a school aid program calling for a 30-million-dollar increase in state aid.

★ ★ ★

However, Democrats were expected to reject a formula approved yesterday by a second House-Senate School Aid Conference Committee on grounds it would not provide enough assistance to local schools.

★ ★ ★

Many districts were in critical need of quick cash. Most had borrowed all the money they could and were anxiously waiting for the Legislature to pass a state aid formula so they could immediately borrow against anticipated state aid.

★ ★ ★

The formula agreed to by five of the six conferees would place the gross allowance per pupil at $205 and set deductible millage at 3.25.

Deductible millage is used to provide less aid for richer districts and more aid for the low valuation areas.

The $205 formula was about midway between previous stands of the House and Senate but seemed acceptable to most House Republicans.

Democrats, with half the votes in the House, held the answer to whether or not the committee-approved formula would be adopted.

U.S. to Protest Drilling Off Port Huron Shore

TORONTO (AP) — The U. S. State Department will protest to the Canadian embassy in Washington if the owners of a drilling rig offshore from Port Huron, Mich., and Sarnia, Ont., take legal action to get a drilling permit, Mayor Robert Patterson of Port Huron said Friday.

★ ★ ★

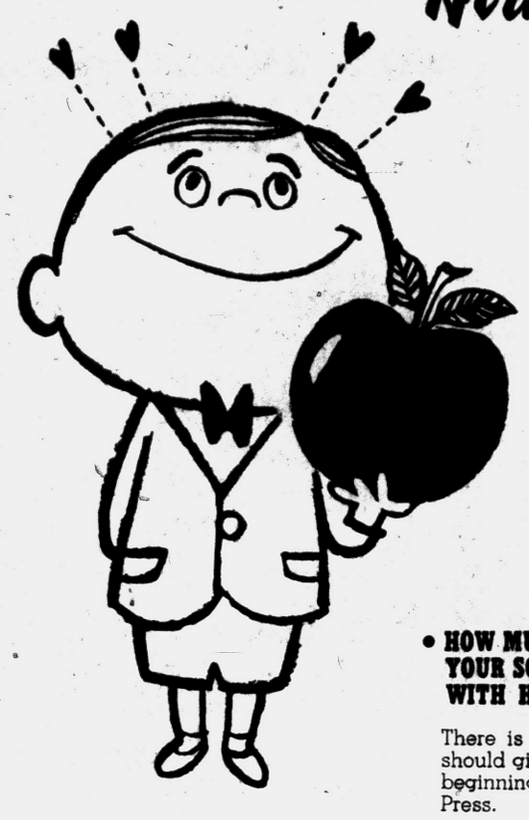

Mayor Patterson told this to mines minister Maloney of Ontario at a meeting between officials of Sarnia, Port Huron, two U. S. consulate members, and three provincial ministers.

The owners of the drilling rig, Mineral Explorations Limited (mine) of Toronto, were to apply to the Supreme Court of Ontario to obtain an offshore oil drilling permit in Lake Huron.

★ ★ ★

The Onterio and Michigan cities contend there is danger of pollution of lake water and beaches if drilling starts.

Trailer Living Has Changed

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

The trailer business is Michigan's fourth largest industry. And trailers are not what they used to be; nor are trailer parks. We are taking you today to visit one in the Pontiac area that rates three stars in Woodhull's Trailer Guide. It is the only one in the Pontiac area so rated. In fact, out of 462 parks in the state, only 24 are three-star parks.

Edmund Blakeman, the owner of Square Lake Park is justifiably proud of his business. When he bought it in February 1955, it needed all the attention he could give it.

The park covers about seven acres. Each trailer has 26 feet of space allotted to it. Over half of the lots face Square Lake and are prized lots. However, some of the newest trailers are too long to fit on the original lots.

We have visited a trailer park in Florida (and it is one of many) where no children are allowed. Such parks have as residents a large proportion of retired people and some working couples.

The Square Lake Park permits children—up to two per trailer. The parents pay extra rent for them and for any pets they have. But, says Blakeman, the children in his park are the "best behaved kids in the county." Not only do their parents look after them, but everyone else keeps an eye on them. Seven are in residence now.

The Blakemans have four, with number five coming along soon. Ronnie who's 13 and in eighth grade is a Pontiac Press carrier. Ted is 10 and in sixth grade. Pat, at 6, goes to school all day this year in first grade. Five-year-old Lisa (who dances instead of walking) is delightedly looking forward to kindergarten.

To further protect the children and to keep car traffic slowed down, all the streets in the park have bumps every few feet. Traffic is one way. All the residents share a beach on Square Lake at the foot of the hill.

PHEASANTS

The Park has its own well with excellent water and bottled gas for the trailers. As an added attraction Blakeman has a permit to keep 24 pheasants. He got them just after hatching and has worked hard to tame them so that they can be let out to roam the Park. They will eat hamburger from his hand.

Who lives in a trailer park around here? Some of the occupations listed by the residents include florist, engineering, teaching, nursing, the ministry, store managing. About a third of the residents are single people. A number are retired.

Blakeman says that trailers compete with apartments these days. Certainly some of those we saw are more attractive and more roomy than many apartments.

Take Mrs. Elva MacLarty's trailer, for instance. This is the second time she has lived in the Square Lake Park. She was a wartime resident. Then she moved into a home, but came back this June. She is a widow.

Her living room has a fireplace in it! True, it is a gas log, but the cheer and warmth are there. This room is large enough for a spinet piano as well as the conventional sofa and chairs.

Mrs. MacLarty's trailer is on a hillside lot. Taking advantage of the slope of the land underneath, she has had a 9x14-foot "basement" built for storage. A number of the trailerites who live on like lots have nicely terraced yards and gardens.

THIS IS TRAILER LIFE — The Edward LaBarges have one of the pleasantest lots in the Park. Not only do they have an extensive flower garden, but also an apple tree. Much of their summer living is done in the screened porch at the left. In the yard there's a house for their dog Tippy. Standing between the LaBarges is their great-granddaughter, Linda Fuller, of Ecorse. She was paying a visit the day these pictures were taken.

HAPPY WOMAN — Mrs. Bill Karrick is so pleased with her new trailer that she smiles every time she talks about it. She is most pleased with her new roomy kitchen. Just behind this pass-through wall is the sink and working counter. Walls in both living room and kitchen are paneled in oak. Their light color makes the area seem more spacious. The Karricks who live in a trailer because he is a civil engineer with a job that keeps him moving have two small sons, Tony and Danny. Both youngsters have never known any other home.

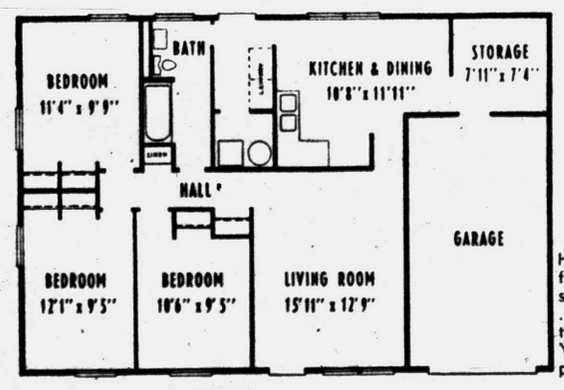

TRAILER FIREPLACE — This is the first fireplace the home editor ever saw in a trailer. It should be a source of cheer to its owner, Mrs. Elva MacLarty, when chill winds blow. The counter above the fireplace is white Formica. Beyond is a good-sized kitchen. There is plenty of work space outside of the area occupied by the walnut breakfast table and chairs. Cupboards are walnut too. Notice the number of light fixtures in this small area—and the windows. Roller shades are turquoise.

Third Grade Flooring Has Much Beauty

Flooring Grade Interpreted! The "Third Grade" of Northern hard maple flooring is a thrifty, as well as a character grade. It differs very slightly in its service characteristics from the two higher grades.

One important difference is in appearance, which in no sense implies a lack of inherent beauty in the grade. Actually, the Third Grade can be, and often is, more beautiful and more characterful when laid and finished, than the higher priced upper grades.

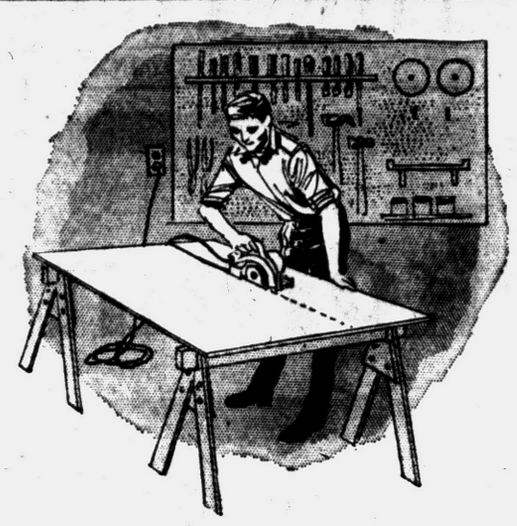

The interesting grain formations and more pronounced variations in coloration permitted in the Third Grade classification, provide pattern and contrast that appeal greatly to the artist who admires fine wood for the beauty that nature put into it.

The rigid grading standards maintained by the Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association are your assurance that any grade of Northern hard maple specified, will provide a first-class floor of prodigious endurance. It will be a "true" floor, contributing to the value of the building and to low maintenance costs.

The Third Grade has its place in the modern home—bedrooms, family rooms, dens and especially in rooms where the unusual in floor pattern is appreciated. Third Grade maple is standard for fine floors in many industrial plants, textile mills, school workshops and commercial buildings. Incidentally, many public and military housing projects have floors of Third Grade Northern Hard Maple.

Make Colored Flagstones to Pave Home Patio

One of the things that many young homemakers want is a paved living area near the house. It can be as useful and enjoyable as an extra room. It is in fact an extension of the house that gives a sense of spaciousness not only in the summer but as it is viewed from indoors all winter. Fortunately the paving need not be costly. It is quite easy to make the stones a few at a time with inexpensive materials.

A mold, clean sand, a bag of cement, water and reinforcing material such as mesh wire, are all that is needed. The job may be done right on the garage or basement floor. For the paving shown a pattern was used to make the mold which will mold five stones at a time. This design has fascinating possibilities as the stones may be laid in a number of ways to give a random effect.

A formula for mixing the right amount of concrete to fill the mold comes with the pattern. Also suggestions for using coloring matter if you want your flagging tinted in soft earthy tones such as are found in natural stones.

If you like a terrace that has a soft natural look, it is easier when you come to laying the stones. All you have to do is to provide a smooth base of well-drained soil and sand. An aromatic herb such as thyme or grass or some of each may be planted in the crevices. Thyme does not mind being cut with the lawn mower.

If you do not want the trouble of mowing then plant thyme in sandy soil in some of the crevices and fill the others with pure sand. A stone may be left out here and there for a planting of taller herbs. Any way you do it—soft and pretty or prim and formal—your terrace is sure to be a joy. And half the fun of it will be that it can grow and grow as you make more and more stones.

Pattern No. 229 with all necessary directions is 35c. Or this pattern will be included in the Home Improvement Packet containing three other valuable outside improvements for only $1. Address: The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

Look Over House to Find Best Place for Laundry

However, most homemakers will be influenced by one or more of the following considerations in making a room by room survey of the most eleigible laundry location:

1. Kitchen. The best argument for locating laundry facilities in the kitchen is convenience. The homemaker must use the kitchen to prepare meals and wash dishes. Why not clothes also? One reason why not is reluctance to offend the squeamish by mixing food and soiled linen.

2. Bathrooms. Because bathrooms are almost always protected against moisture by ceramic tile floors and walls, they are ideal laundry locations. Also few changes are necessary to adapt existing plumbing facilities. Main disadvantage is space limitations. Seldom is a bathroom large enough to accommodate more than a washer and dryer. Ironing must be done elsewhere.

3. Utility room. If neither kitchen nor bathrooms are hospitable to laundry appliances, perhaps a utility or general-purpose room could be used. All possible locations on the first floor should be exhausted before considering basement or second floor. Hauling the family laundry up and down stairs could far outweigh what overwise might be a perfect location.

4. Hallway. If there is no alternative, any hallway that is well lighted and ventilated should suffice at least for the washer and dryer. When not in use the appliances could be screened from view until they can be recessed into the wall and enclosed with doors.

The number of apartment units on which construction was started in the U.S. during 1958 was approximately 150,000.

Crawl Space Beats Termites

This, of course, is impossible with a slab-on-the-ground house, the scientist explains. He says that such homes, once believed to be termite-proof, are quite susceptible to the destructive insects. The pests often come up from the soil and enter the houses through expansion joints in the slabs. They also steal in through minute cracks that may develop in the concrete.

Effective control measures in such instances are difficult and costly, Dr. Snyder says. The concrete must be drilled to insert chemicals. Great care must be exercised in this process to avoid striking pipes or wiring under the foundation. A slight error can be expensive and even dangerous.

Builders who favor the crawl space type house point out that it offers other important advantages. Among these are warm, comfortable floors, storage area in the crawl space and easy access under the floor joists for making plumbing repairs and wiring changes.

Oh, to Have a Slingshot!

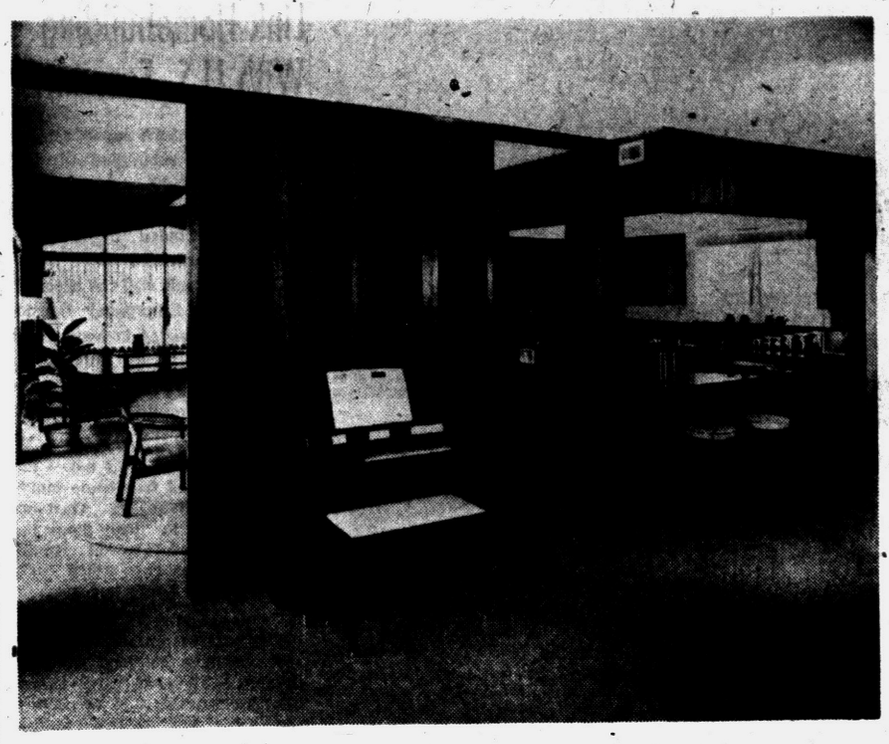

The 8,000,000th unit of Thermopane has been installed as the first window of the 15-story office building being erected in Toledo for the company that orginated the product, Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

As glaziers put the symbolic window into place, G. P. MacNichol, Jr., L-O-F president, recalled that since 1939, the year Thermopane was first manufactured commercially, "the product has helped to change the architectural face of America."

"The 8,000,000 units of Thermopane are in service in homes, schools, hospitals, laboratories, office and industrial buildings and even farm structures," Mr. MacNichol said. "The product seems to have won general acceptance as a modern method of providing complete insulation."

The window installed in the L-O-F office building is one of 1,120 units that will provide a glass sheath for the structure. The units are 6 by 10 feet, the largest ever used to completly glaze a commerical building. Each weighs 450 pounds.

Because of their size, the windows are being installed through use of mechanical washing "elevators" suspended along the "skin" of the building. Automatic power used in handling glass in the manufacturing process, are used to vacuum cups, similar to those hoist the windows into place.

MRS. AMERICA HOUSE — Walnut paneling is combined with accoustical ceilings and tile flooring throughout the Mrs. America house now open to the public in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, for decorative unity and easy care. Louvred panels back of the chord organ slide closed to make a wall. Paneling frames kitchen and appears throughout the house as a decorative theme. Circular rug underlines the dining area back of louvred panels, and other rugs define conversational groupings in living area beyond. Sliding glass doors along left open to terrace, and swimming pool.

New Model Homes Will Include Many Showers

Model homes feature showers. Builders are providing for as many showers as possible in the model homes open for display in connection with National Home Week, September 12 to 20.

It is not difficult to account for the growing popularity of showers. Whether you revel under a spray as warm and gentle as a summer rain, or brace yourself to tingling streams of pure cold water, there is something about a shower that sets the muscles rippling and makes you want to pound your chest and sing.

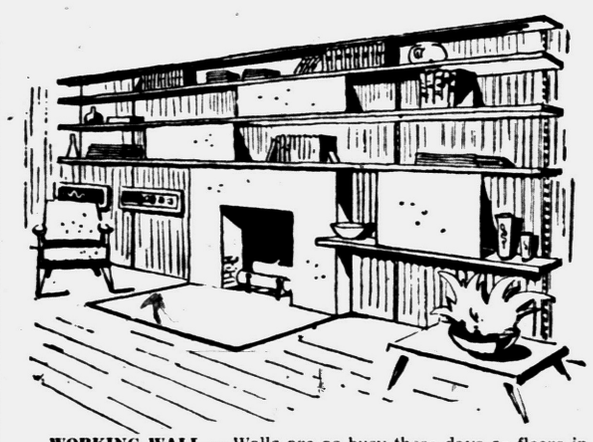

Helping to increase the popularity of showers are such new developments as multi-stream shower heads, heads that are self-cleaning, new types of single handle controls for showers, and various types and sizes of bathtubs which serve as shower receptors.

Also available are pre-fabricated showers sold as a complete package including the receptor base, side panels, shower head controls, and a shower curtain or a door of glass or plastic. Installation of one or more shower cabinets increases the bathing facilities and helps ease the bathroom traffic problem.

There is a wide choice of shower enclosures for bathtubs. In addition to shower curtains, there are handsome enclosures made of glass and plastic. Doors swing open and shut on non-rusting metal hinges.

For full enjoyment and safety it is important that the piping to the shower be adequate in size to prevent "starving" of the hot or cold water supply. Pressure, too, must be adequate. For these and other reasons, installation of all shower equipment under the supervision of an experienced plumbing

WORKING WALL — Walls are as busy these days as floors in many a home. Here is storage a-plenty in a lovely wall paneled in biege-colored Douglas fir. The wall contains a music area with television, hi-fi, radio, and records concealed behind the panels. The shelving, also of fir, converts this fireplace into a beautiful, functional, and useful thing of real charm.

Zoning Gives Better Heat

Your heating contractor will be glad to explain to you how the popular loop system of hydronic heating can be employed in a variety of ways to transform a cold, damp basement into a warm and comfortable part of the house.

If you had some difficulties with a recreation room that was too cool last winter, this is the time to arrange to do something about it. Get a heating contractor's advice now and have the work done in the summer.

A convector, baseboard, or radiator can be hooked up on a separate loop or circuit to provide warmth for the basement recreation room. There are special types of wall radiators available that can be attached to basement walls.

If you want to heat one or more rooms in a basement, it would be unreasonable to expect the thermostat on the first floor to regulate the temperature in the basement, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

The basement should get a break with its own thermostat and its own hot water circulator. If this is done, the heating system will adjust to every need while the room is in use. When not in use, it will allow you to lower the temperature to save fuel.

Because basement recreation rooms are usually not in regular use during the week, zoning is especially desirable as a means of saving fuel. Service areas in basements such as workshop or a laundry can be heated by installing wall-fin elements at the ceiling.

Total Oil Output

About three billion barrels of oil were produced in the United States in 1958. The oil came from 9,250 fields located in 32 states.

Avoid West Winds

Rooms facing west tend to be harder to heat than those facing east, according to insulation specialists. The reason: prevailing winds in this country move from west to east. Protect bathrooms facing west with additional wall insulation to make them easier to keep warm in the winter.

Cover Ceiling With Tile for Quiet

Acoustical tiles can be cemented quickly to any firm, dry ceiling surface such as plaster or gypsum board, providing the surface is sound and free of structural cracks or breaks.

If there is evidence of breakage in the existing ceiling, however, it is wise to first nail up a framework of wood furring strips. The acoustical material is then nailed or stapled to the strips.

In either case, once the ceiling is up, members of the family will notice a distinct difference in the room. For one thing, it will be easier to hear and be heard. Secondly, noise that is present will be much less distracting. This is because the noise seems "pushed back to where it belongs."

Acoustical tiles are able to achieve this condition because of their low-density, fibrous composition and small openings on the face of each tile. Sound entering through these small openings is absorbed into the porous material instead of being reflected back into the room.

In addition to their noise-quieting efficiency, modern acoustical materials provide new beauty for the home. From the many different patterns and smart designs available today, the homeowner can choose precisely the right pattern to fit his own decorating plan. If necessary, acoustical tiles can even be repainted without affecting their noise-quieting efficiency.

Panels Create New Interiors

Open floor plans, ranch style homes, large recreation rooms, outdoor living areas and many other facets of modern construction and design contribute to the trend toward relaxed living, the experts state.

One aspect of the "informal" trend in interior decoration is the increased use of woodgrain paneling throughout the house. Only in the past few years have decorators used the rich tones of woodgrain paneling in kitchens, bathrooms, bedrooms and living rooms.

The modern floor plans, woodgrain paneling often is used to accent wall areas or to divide the area into smaller sections. Partial walls and dividers, covered with durable woodgrain paneling, also are used to "break up" large open floor plans.

This plastic-surfaced hardboard paneling is available at lumber dealers in six new woodgrain tones, and is an effective background for decorative accessories which give a room its distinct "personality."

Practical as well as attractive, surface that protects the woodthis paneling has melamine plastic grain finish from abrasion and hard wear. Plastic-surfaced hardboard can be cleaned with a damp or sudsy cloth, and it never requires refinishing.

FOUR-IN-ONE TABLE — From a crisply modern coffee table the homemaker can produce three plastic topped TV folding tables, like rabbits from a hat. Each one of the smaller tables has a walnut frame so it becomes invisible when inserted as a tray into the larger table. Behind them the sofa features three zippered foam rubber cushions and a handsome walnut base stretcher matching the four-in-one table. Both pieces, made by Kroehler, are available locally.

fixtures in this area which is more than many homes we know. Above the piano there is a lighted scenic mural. Around the edges of the beamed ceiling is indirect lighting.

One young mother told us that her trailer has more storage space than some modern homes. She has two small children and finds room to store all their equipment. The only thing that had her stymied was the playpen.

NEW AND BIGGER

One of the proudest trailer owners is Mrs. Bill Karrick. The Karricks moved into a brand new 10x50-foot trailer late in June. Since their oldest son, now four, was a tiny baby they have lived in trailers in Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan. Mr. Karrick is a civil engineer. They have a younger boy, aged two.

Mrs. Karrick's kitchen is a dream. The picture on this page shows only a small part of it, but it does show the happy smile on its owner's face.

There's a long pass-through shelf between the kitchen and living room. The walls are paneled in oak. The floor is blue and beige linoleum. At the jalousie windows there are two tiers of cafe curtains, white with a turquoise, gold and salmon design.

Counter tops are woodgrain Formica. The splash boards are plastic covered in a gold and white spider web design. All appliances are pink. The breakfast table is turquoise with a black frame.

The Charles Hares have an open cabana outside their front door. They have lived in trailers for nine years, three years in their present location.

This has been long enough for them to develop a tiny patio in the rear, complete with a miniature garden. Pink stones are set in gray cement. Trees shade the table and chairs out there.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward LaBarge have the biggest flower garden in the Park. They also have an apple tree and a strawberry barrel in their yard. Retired folks, they moved into their trailer in December 1957. Before that they had been trailerites only in the summer. Their home was Oak Park.

On the east side of their trailer they have an open cabana and a screened porch. In the latter they do most of their eating in warm weather as well as some of their cooking. Sharing the pink and cream trailer with them is a canary and Tippy, the dog.

By the time we had toured the Park and talked with the residents we were almost ready to move in ourselves. Everyone was having such a good time.

Take Your Time to Choose Roof

Choosing the roofing material for a house is an important decision for anyone, whether he's an architect, a builder, or a home owner getting ready to reroof, says architect Roy S. Johnson of Tarrytown, N. Y.

The right choice of a roofing material, says Johnson, can mean an important cash savings, a contribution to the appearance of the house, and the security of knowing the roof will give good protection from all kinds of weather.

1. Ease of application. Some roofing materials require special training, tools, and experience to apply. An example of a material that is easy to apply is asphalt shingls. Any qualified roofer can apply them skillfully and dependably without costly, wasted labor.

2. Color. Johnson says that altough he prefers white or other subdued light-reflecting colors of asphalt shingles, deep or blended colors on the roof can enhance the appearance of many homes.

3. Texture. A soft, textured appearance without any harsh glare is an architectural "must" with Johnson. "Hard, gleaming surfaces are for office buildings and greenhouses, not homes."

4. Durability. A good roof, says Johnson, should last for years without giving any trouble, and should never rot, corrode, or dent.

5. Low cost. In building a new home or remodeling an old one, the cash savings in choosing a dependable long-lasting roofing material low in applied cost may permit the installation of such things as more appliances in the kitchen or another bathroom.

Link Homebuilding With U.S. Economy

There are painful similarities between the home-building situation today and 1955-56 when a decline in housing starts foreshadowed and indeed contributed to a major economic break in 1957.

The end result was the necessity for the 1958 Emergency Housing Act, which assisted in home building's revival. Home building, in turn, helped to pull the overall economy out of its sharpest postwar recession.

In 1955 and 1956—as now— the cry was raised that home building was inflationary. Then—as now—efforts to "tone down the boom" seemed to result primarily in measures which only toned down" home building.

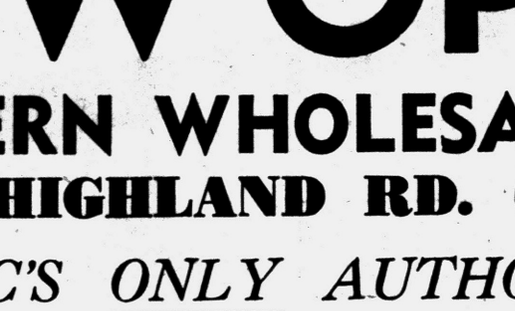

Then—as now—in a tightening money market, small businesses such as home building, were vulnerable. Then—as now—interest rates were rising and we were in the flush of what appeared to be an inevitable upward economic thrust.

Because of restricted credit, home building declined sharply from a high of 1.4 million units at a seasonally adjusted annual rate in early 1955 to less than a million in two years. This could happen again, in the months ahead.

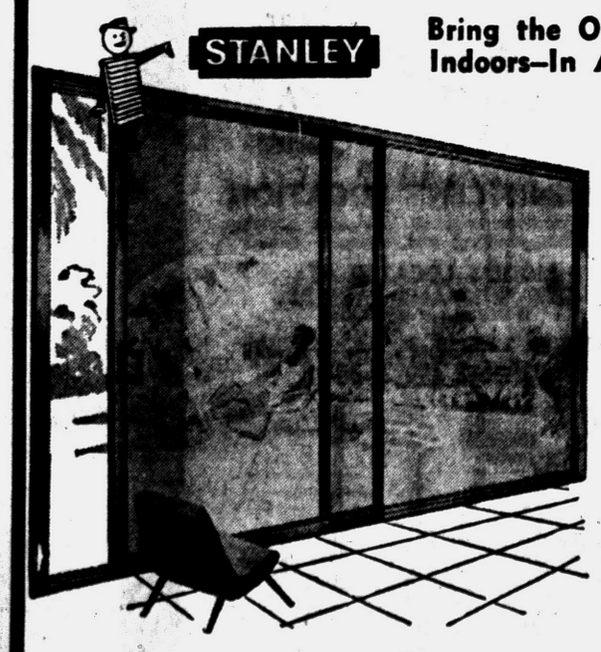

Most of the nation's hail storms occur in June.

Solution May Be New Shelving

AP Newsfeatures

If you aren't getting enough mileage out of your small kitchen appliances, it could be that you haven't organized them.

One reason why such items as hot dog cookers, waffle irons, sandwich grills and portable roasters are relegated to the basement "for special occasions" may be that they are not strategically placed for immediate use.

Mom doesn't feel like cleaning out a cabinet every time she wants to reach a blender or a hibachi. These things should be at her fingertips.

The only trouble is that the kitchen probably was built before the advent of these time savers, and there just aren't enough shelves to go around.

Now is the time to solve the problem and put these useful articles to work. Examine all the floor space and air space available, and see where you can put some shelves to house your small appliances.

Is there room for a portable unit with three or more shelves?

Is there a useful cabinet in another room — den, library, living room — where these articles could be put in their private niche to be removed without strain and stress when they are needed?

Another thought is to examine utensil cabinets and weed out all the pot boilers and rusty frying pans that clutter those areas.

Oil Protects Cedar

Modern man uses cedar for many building purposes because he knows that cedar contains a special oil which protects it from insects and most wear.

NEW GARAGE DOOR—Balanced spring principle and friction ball bearing rollers combine to make opening and closing this Washington single-car door an easy task. Plated door handles, rust-resistant hardware are standard on all door styles.

Do-It-Yourself Project Includes Garage Doors

Washington Door Co., Detroit, Mich., recently revealed details of an expansion program, including plans for setting up national sales and service outlets to distribute its new do-it-yourself, price-line "package" of overhead garage doors.

Six overhead styles, three single-car and three double-car doors, have already been developed and are being manufacturd on a production basis.

According to company management, active buyer interest indicates the need to bring the package idea literally to the back door of every home owner and project builder who likes to "do things himself." To accomplish this, arrangements are now under way to penetrate new consumer markets through jobbers and distributors with the new package garage door line.

To help builders cut installation costs and deliver a more attractive finished product, Washington offers to supply primed doors, when specified, ready for final painting.

Two features that have proved popular with builders and owners who have installed the doors, the Detroit firm claims, are the balanced spring and equalized thrust torsion spring methods for easy opening and closing.

Another is reported to be the dowel and glue construction throughout that permits door sections to be replaced individually, if damaged. This saves the cost of buying an entire new door.

However, the company points out, the fact a customer can choose, across the counter, the door he wants — complete with instructions and simple drawings for installing it himself—is perhaps one of the most appealing features of the line.

New Mirror Has Lights on 4 Sides

Tthose annoying pockets of shadow that impose a blackout on key spots of your face while applying makeup or shaving are now a thing of the past.

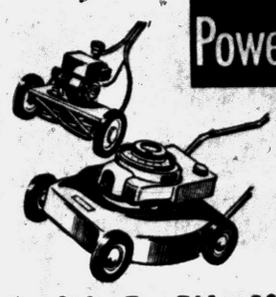

A new type of medicine cabinet has been introduced that features four-directional lighting — fluorescent light fixtures on all four sides of the mirror. A selective switch permits using either the side lights, top and bottom lights, or all four lights together.

The perimeter - lighted medicine cabinets are available either with a single mirror or a swing - out door (the Vistalite) or with two mirrors mounted on sliding doors (the Quadralite). When all four lights are lit, no other light is needed to provide full illumination for the entire bathroom. Lights are encased in fluted plastic shades, easily removed to replace fluorescent tubes.

The perimeter - lighted cabinets can be easily installed, either by building supply or hardware dealers, or by homeowners wishing to do the job themselves. Full installation instruction comes with the cabinets, which are available nationally through building supply or hardware dealers.

'Screeches' Silenced on Newest Records

An anti-static ingredient has been developed that will prevent the accumulation of dust and dirt particles, long the cause of musical distortion when a disc is played.

Called "Miracle Surface" records, the new platters are expected to enrich the present brilliance of stereophonic sound even more. Thanks to the new compound, the problem of "screeches" when the needle passes over a dusty groove will be eliminated.

Middle-Aged Buyers Still Can Get Mortgages

Despite the emphasis on youth in 20th century America, many banks and lending institutions are willing to make financial arrangements for middle-aged homebuyers.

Even people in their fifties have found it possible to borrow money for periods up to 30 years. Apparently lenders are more concerned with ability to maintain monthly mortgage payments and use of quality materials than with life expectancy of borrowers.

Building Contracts Rise, Set All-Time July High

NEW YORK—Contracts for future construction in the United States in July rose to a new all-time high for the month, rising slightly above the previous July record set last year, F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news and marketing specialists, reported today.

Impressive gains in single family houses, together with increases in all non-residential building types, boosted construction contracts in July 1959 to $3,656,537,000, up one per cent over the like 1958 month.

The Dodge Index of construction contracts, seasonally adjusted, was reported at 289 in July (1947-49-100), compared with 288 in June and 259 in May of this year.

Dr. George Cline Smith, Dodge vice president and economist, pointed out that "Although housing once again sparked the increase, probably the most noteworthy feature of the July contracts was the very strong showing in the non-residential category. All non-residential building types were up in July, and for the fourth consecutive month particulary large gains were registered in contracts for commercial and manufacturing buildings."

Contracts for residential buildings in July totalled $1,689,833,000, an increase of 9 per cent over the same month last year. Chiefly responsible for the gain was a 19 per cent rise in contracts for single family houses. The total number of dwelling units represented by the residential contracts was 125,562, up 4 per cent over a year ago.

Non-residential contracts in July were valued at $1,190,941,000, up 11 per cent over July 1958. All non-residetial building types registered increases over a year ago, led by sharp gains in contracts for manufacturing, commercial, and religious buildings.

Contracts for heavy engineering construction in July amounted to $775,763,000, down 20 per cent from the year earlier level. Despite some gains in contracts for electric light and power systems and sewerage systems, both public works and utilities fell below last year.

Cumulative totals of contracts for the first seven months of 1959 with percentage changes from the corresponding period of last year, buildings at $6,895,948,000, up 5 per cent; residential buildings at $10,569,533,000, up 31 per cent; heavy engineering at $5,045,872,000, down 12 per cent; and total construction at $22,511,353,000, up 11 per cent.

Give Old Garage a Face-Lifting

There are some relatively simple tricks that can give your old garage a new look and return it to respectable society. What's more, many of these face-lifting procedures are decorative additions that employ ordinary lumber and are not major construction undertakings.

One of the first things you can do to change your garage's outlook is to employ mouldings. These may take form of simple battens which, when mounted vertically on a plain door, give the effect of board-and-batten and break up a dull surface area. Or you can place casing mouldings around doors and windows to give them greater dimension and a more finished look.

A more elaborate trick to improve your garage door with mouldings is to create geometric pattern, and this is especially effective when the door is one of those mammoth single units that often go on two-car garages. Remember to keep your design as vertical in feeling as you can if you want to "shrink" your garage's width.

An attractive trellis around or over the door will make it possible for you to soften the lines of your garage with roses, ivy, or other flowering vines. A trellis shouldn't stick out too far, however, since it will only make getting the car in and out more difficult than it already is with today's big automobiles. However, a small trellis or sun screen will make the garage look like a part of your yard and not an ugly monster indiscriminately dropped from the skies.

All this tends to lead the eye away from the stark form of your garage or to soften the lines that still show. It is a job of camouflage that also is imaginative and serviceable.

Most Housewives Dry Clothes Outside

From May to October is "outside drying time" throughout the United States. Even when housewives have automatic clothes-dryers, most prefer to hang their clothes on outside lines during this time to take advantage of the bleaching action of the sun.

Since the typical housewife prefers to dry clothes outdoors at least six months of the year, it makes good sense to provide an efficient traffic route from her basement laundry area to the drying-yard. The best and most efficient way of providing this acessibility is through an outside entrance to your basement. It enables the housewife to go directly in and out without carrying dripping laundry through the main part of the house. Steps to the grade can be covered with an all-steel hatchway, which afords complete weather protection and is burglar-proof.

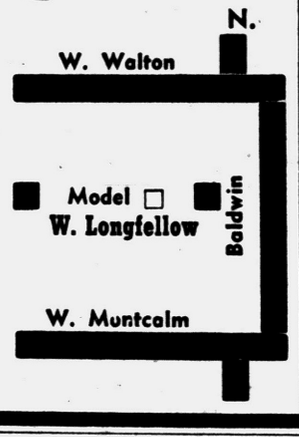

MOSCOW MODERN—This children's room displayed at the current Soviet Exhibit in New York is said to be typical of new Russian apartments. It contains two small, hard day beds, desk and storage wall of varnished pine. One wall contains closets and storage space, in same wood. Beds are placed end-to-end along one side of narrow room, to conserve space.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I intended to put a roof of corrugated fiber glass panels on the patio at the rear of our house. I read somewhere that the panels can be nailed in place quickly, but now I have come across an item that says holes should be drilled for the nails. Which is right?

ANSWER: Either. While the nails can be hammered directly into the paneling, this must be done very carefully to prevent a slight chipping as the nails are driven in the last fraction of an inch. We have seen several jobs done this way with good results. The preferred method, however, is to drill holes for nails. In either case, be sure to use rust-proof nails with attached washers under the heads.

QUESTION: We have an old iron tea kettle that is used mainly for boiling water. How can the grease and rust be removed from the outside of it without spoiling the black, "antique" look?

ANSWER: Apply several coats of oven cleaner and then scrape off with a razor. This should bare the metal, which then can be painted with flat black paint.

QUESTION: When the cold water faucet in our kitchen is turned off quickly, there is a lot of noise as though somebody had hit a pipe with a hammer. When the faucet handle is turned slowly, this noise does not occur. Can you tell us what the trouble is and how it can be corrected?

ANSWER: This noise, known as "water hammer," can result from any one of several causes. From the brief description you give, it appears as if the trouble can be eliminated with the insertion of an air chamber in the system; that is, a short length of closed pipe which contains air and acts as a cushion to absorb excessive pressure.

While most plumbing codes require the installation of such air chambers, the air sometimes leaks out or is absorbed in older plumbing systems. In severe cases, a special device, which acts as a shock absorber, may be necessary. In any event, you will have to get a plumber to find the exact cause of the noise and to eliminate it.

Neutral Tones Vary

Consider your color scheme carefully when choosing a "neutral" carpet color. Even the standard hues, such as grey or beige, are available in different shades today and many have a color cast which will complement a decorative scheme with accuracy.

Why Not Put Heating Units Underground?

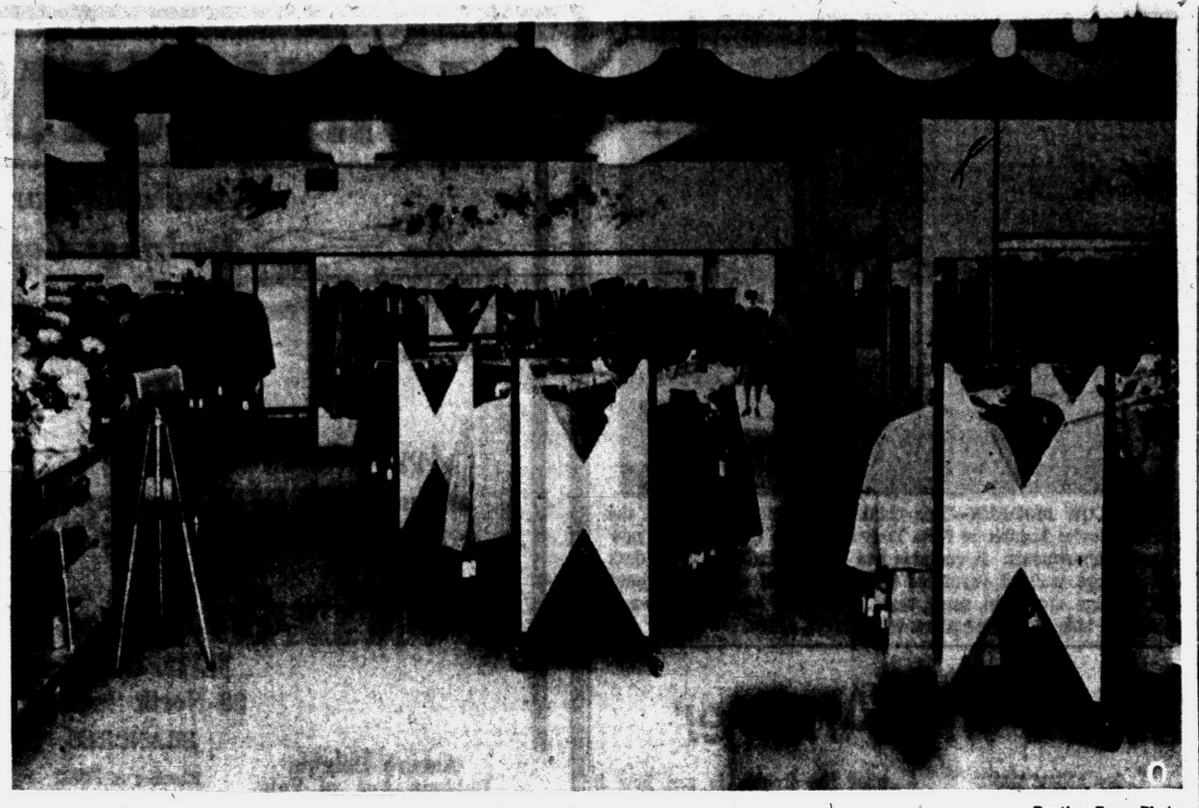

Why have the house heating boiler in the basement, utility room, or kitchen? Why not have boiler in its own outside, underground space and thus reduce building costs and save valuable room in the house?

A Chicago heating engineer recently announced that he had developed an outside, underground shelter which holds the home boiler, hot water tank, and gas and electric utility services.

The engineer declared that he had installed such an underground room in connection with his own home and that he had found it to be practical.

Pipe and lines from the heating unit and water tank run into the house underground. They are protected by being enclosed in concrete sewer pipe six inches in diameter. The concrete pipe is installed so that it is water tight.

Meters for gas and electricity are placed at the top of the underground room where they are easily accessible and can be read without disturbing the householder.

BLOOMFIELD FASHION SHOP — White with accents of black and orange is the color scheme selected for the new Birmingham Bloomfield Fashion Shop. White garment racks, airy plastic window backgrounds and the use of much glass in the plastic showcases contribute to the "open plan" look. Murals on the upper walls were done by Hugo Rodriguez. State Construction Under House Study

LANSING (AP)—A Senate-approved bill to finance state construction in 1959-60 was ready for House consideration today.

After long delay, the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday released a capital outlay bill carrying some six million dollars in appropriations. Rep. Arnell Ergstrom (R-Traverse City) said they were "urgently needed" for fire protection, maintenance, remodeling and to continue construction already under way.

An estimated nine million dollars for new construction will be written into the bill later.

Included in the present version are $70,963 for a mental research clinic at the University of Michigan, $800,000 for the Plymouth State Home and Training School and $750,000 for the new Boys Vocational School at Whitmore Lake.

VFW Leader Would Ignore Nikita on Visit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev should be ignored on his trip to the United States, says the national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

★ ★ ★

"Except for government officials who have to talk to him, we all ought to just ignore Khrushchev," John W. Mahan, 35, an ex-Marine Corps pilot, told a news conference Friday.

Mahan, of Helena, Mont., is here for the VFW national convention opening Monday.

People Like Shower Baths

Shower bathing . . continues to grow in popularity. In building a new home, it would be well to plan for as many showers as possible. Old homes can easily be equipped with showers.

★ ★ ★

The most common installation is the shower over the bathtub which is usually provided by a diverter button or transfer lever which switches the water from the bathtub filler through a vertical riser to the shower head.

The diverter is so designed that it slips back into the bathtub filling position after the shower has been used. Thus bathers are protected against unexpected showers.

Available for use in new homes as well as for modernization are various types and sizes of bathtubs which serve as shower receptors. A grab bar is essential when a shower is installed over a bathtub. There is a wide choice of shower enclosures for bathtubs.

In even the smallest homes, it is now common practice to install a compartment especially designed for shower bathing. By far the most common size for these shower compartments is 36 inches square. This is a desirable minimum size.

★ ★ ★

"Packaged" shower cabinets with pre-cast floors are available through plumbing contractors. Glass shower doors with clear or obscure glass give beauty and distinction to shower cabinets. Shower doors, by the way, should always open outward for safety reasons. Most shower doors are 24 inches wide.

Paar's Grandmother Dies After Illness

She was the widow of Peter Paar. Survivors include a son, Harry, with whom Mrs. Paar lived and two grandsons, Jack, of Bronxville, N.Y., and Richard, of Bellflower, Calif. Another son, Howard, Jack's father, died three years ago.

★ ★ ★

Funeral services will be held today at Trinity Lutheran Church in Canton, Ohio, where Mrs. Paar was born.

Women Fond of Homes Featuring More Wood

Biggest boon to women who are weary of the drab and the plain is the new trend in home architecture which opens up a home and releases the housewife from the confines of the cubical room, a leading architect observes.

Contemporary design, featuring the exposed ceiling and utilizing structural beams for accent and ornamentation, has done much to bring new livability into the home.

The monotony of plain walls has given way to a whole new way of life with the introduction of ceilings, more wood built-ins, and room and space dividers.

★ ★ ★

Today's architect is using the warmth of such fine woods as west coast hemlock and western red cedar as a definite decorative device. He capitalizes on nature's inimitable handiwork as he features the ever-changing texture of these woods with their bold swirls, their fine grain and pattern.

★ ★ ★

More and more often, exposed wood is being finished in clear lacquers and varnishes which capture and retain the wood's soft, beautiful colors which make an ideal background for any decorative theme.

★ ★ ★

More than ninety per cent of women recently interviewed indicated they wanted a home which featured wood both inside and outside the home.

Gas Flame Rids Home of Refuse

Ever burn chicken feathers in your living room? If you should be so inclined you can do it now and your guests won't even be aware of it, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association reports.

The possibility of your needing a living room demonstration such as this is pretty slim, to be sure. But, like all families everywhere, you do have a daily problem of garbage and trash disposal and the manufacturers of gas appliances have come up with a solution for you.

It's a smokeless-odorless gas incinerator for the home. It licks the age-old problem of eliminating the smoke and odors that are by-products of burning.

The answer to these nuisances is really very simple, GAMA explains. They are removed by a second burning process. You can see how this is done by holding the flame from a match in the column of smoke coming from a cigarette. The flame will consume the smoke, causing it to disappear.

What this means for you is that now you can take advantage of the most sanitary and efficient method of refuse disposal — incineration — right in your own home. Measuring no larger than a standard three-drawer filing cabinet, the new smokeless-odorles gas incinerators are beginning to make their contribution to the health and convenience of families everywhere, GAMA reports.

There were about 7.1 per cent more full-time freshman students on the nation's college campuses during the 1958-59 semester than there were the year before.

Fluorescent Paint on Navy Planes to Cut Collisions

The use of this type of paint has spread rapidly to thousands of private and corporate aircraft which have been marked with the high visibility color. This safety-type paint is also being used on hangars and runways, TV and radio towers, airfield ground equipment and for hazardous areas.

The Navy decided to use this paint after its Antarctic research project, "Operation Deepfreeze," during which the visibility colors were tested. The colors were developed by the paint industry and tested for visibility by the Submarine Depot at New London, Conn.

'Jay' Rockefeller Calls Asia Home

(Editor's note — The Rockefeller name is prominently featured in the news these days: a marriage in Norway, a possible race for the Republican nomination for president. But there's another member of this famous family who wears a kimono, eats with chopsticks and studies the ways of the Far East, where he intends to spend his life.)

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — "Asia," says the tall, blue-eyed young American "is like a great sea. You stand on the beach and watch the surf come in, never knowing where the waves will hit."

The Asian scene has gripped the mind and heart of 22-year-old John D. Rockefeller IV, whose great grandfather carved out a vast American fortune in oil. Leaving the United States behind him, he plans to make Asia's people, their mystery and their future a part of his life.

In doing so, he will follow a family tradition of public service and philantrophy. His father, John D. Rockefeller III, forged a successful career in the U. S. foreign service, helped secretary of state John Foster Dulles draw up the 1951 Japan Peace Treaty and founded the Japan society. His uncle, Nelson Rockefeller, is governor of New York.

The young Rockefeller, known to his friends as "Jay," has his eye on a place in the foreign service, where he can contribute to U. S. Asian policy.

The serious, 6-foot-6-inch youth has set himself the difficult chore of learning Japanese and Chinese, studying the history and customs of Asia and knowing its people.

He expects his training, "in a sense like learning law, or medicine," to take 10 years. Then he will be ready.

"Asia is where history is going to be made," he says, sitting on the straw matted floor of the Japanese house he shares here with three Japanese students. "This is blindingly clear, an exciting thing. The idea of spending a lifetime in America, in some bank, for example, while this is going on, is depressing in the extreme. In Asia, one can become part of something that is building and growing."

Jay had his first taste of Asia five years ago on a trip with his father. But he got the Asian bug in 1955 when he attended a seminar of the Friends Service Committee here. For two weeks he sat through enthusiastic bull sessions with Indians, Vietnamese, Indonesians, Chinese, Filipinos and Japanese. When it was over, his mind was made up.

He came back to Japan two years ago, enrolled in the Japanese language section of International Christian University. After the first year, he embarked on the intensified language course, 14 hours a day for 10 months. From 6 a.m., to 11 at night he did little more than work.

Only his name sets him apart from the other young Americans who form 10 per cent of the University's student body. In some ways, he has got even closer than they have to Japanese life.

His housemates are student friends who split the monthly rent of $46, share in the cost of meals, cleaning and a maid. He lives as they do, shaving from a broken mirror propped on the wall above a crude stone wash stand, bathing in a wooden Japanese tub whose hot water comes from a coal stove.

He sleeps on the floor on a futon, or thin mattress, eats with chopsticks, wears a yukata, or Japanese cotton kimono, and speaks Japanese almost as often as English.

His studies have progressed to where he now can write the difficult Japanese characters with a brush.

"I am interested in Asia because it is Asia," he says. "I would like, in one way or another, to help Asians develop their countries and their lives as they wish.

So many mouths to feed and so little food for them has helped turn Asia toward Communism, he adds.

The American idea is that if we wait long enough, democracy by its goodness will triumph. This seems to me all wrong. Asians will choose a system which helps fill their rice bowls. If they choose a government not to our liking, but which gives them full rice bowls, who are we to say that it is not good for them?"

Young Rockefeller says the United States had failed to seize the initiative in Asia, had fallen short of portraying the real worth of democracy.

Jay leans toward liberalism more than conservatism; he refuses, for example, to adopt an unbending attitude towards communism. He says it must be examined for whatever good points it may have rather than condemned outright.

New Chrysler Division Names Petok to Post

DETROIT (AP)—Sam Petok, former public relations director for DeSoto division of Chrysler Corp., Friday was named public relations director for Chrysler's new Plymouth-DeSoto-Valiant division.

Charles Craig, who has been public relations director for Plymouth, was named public relations manager of the enlarged division.

Passes Bill to Tax Leased Machinery

LANSING (AP)—A bill aimed at taxing machinery leased from the government by Continental Motors, Inc., of Muskegon was passed by the House Friday and sent to the governor.

Rep. Walter H. Nill (D-Muskegon Heights) explained local assessors had been trying to tax machinery in the plant valued at some 9.3 million dollars but had been unsuccessful.

★ ★ ★

Nill said other manufacturers in the state similarly leasing government machinery also would be affected but could not estimate the total take from the change.

Depth Sounder Helps Fishermen to Find Big Ones

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP)—Raytheon Co. says it has developed a tiny depth sounder that helps fishermen to find the big ones. The unit, six inches in diameter and weighing less than five pounds, sends out ultrasonic signals. Red flashes show up on the dial when the boat passes over large fish.

The company said Jack Vachowski of Naples, Maine, landed a five-pound trout in Lake Sebago using one of the sounders.

Saginaw Schools Hire 2 New Men for Fall

SAGINAW (AP)—Dr. Burton K. Thorn, consultant on school district organization for the Michigan Department of State, has been hired as an assistant superintendent for instruction of the Saginaw Township school system.

The system also hired Dr. A. Mills Wilbur who had been director for the Michigan School Bond Loan Program with the state department. Both men will be paid $13,500 a year and will start their new duties Sept. 1.

Stand Held by 2 Pleases Clinic

Guidance Group Pleads Again Monday for Cash From County

The Oakland County chapter of the National Assn. of Social Workers today declared its support of the stand taken by two Oakland supervisors who are batbattling to give the Child Guidance Clinic funds for next year.

Following a 1956 opinion of the county corporation counsel, the Board of Supervisors Ways and Means Committee voted 5-2 Thursday against giving the clinic money next year.

The minority members are Fred W. Smith, W-M Committee chairman, and R. Clare Cummings, both former members of the clinic.

Robert Langer, Oakland chairman of the national group, said Smith and Cummings "deserve the applause of all Oakland County citizens.

"We hope the other members of the Ways and Means Committee will follow their lead when they meet again next Monday to reconsider the issue."

Supervisors are asking a more detailed accounting of past clinic expenditures and a promise the county Board of Auditors would have absolute control over what county funds might be granted.

Officials to Discuss Anti-Red Assistance

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) Officials of the United States and other free world nations will hold informal talks in Washington next month to seek closer alignment of their economic assistance program to underdeveloped countries, Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon said Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

He said the objective will be to help block growing Communist attempts to penetrate underdeveloped areas by nonmilitary means.

★ ★ ★

The talks will be held when financial representatives of other nations are in Washington for meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary fund, Dillon said.

Hart Girl Weds Month After Hunt

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Socialite Jacqueline Gay Hart, whose two-day disappearance last month touched off a nationwide search, was married Friday night to Stanley N. Gaines, the Newark Evening News reported Saturday.

The pretty 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Hart had planned to marry Gaines, 25, of Fayetteville, W.Va., Saturday. But wedding plans became uncertain after the girl disappeared.

The News said only members of her family attended the wedding performed by the Rev. Herbert H. Cooper, rector of Christ Episcopal church.

Fine Stamp Official on Smuggling Charge

NEW YORK (AP)— Kurt Weishaupt, former president of the American Stamp Dealers Assn., was fined $5,000 Friday after pleading guilty to a charge of smuggling $33,000 worth of Chinese Communist stamps into this country.

Weishaupt's stamp firm, Kurt Weishaupt Co., Inc., was fined $100 in the same case. The company office is in Flushing, Queens.

The Chinese Communist stamps were routed to this country in a roundabout manner by way of other countries, the government said.

His Mystery Box Needed More Trim

Failed to Rid Town of Starlings

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) Otto Standke, the 71-year-old Kansan who promised to rid this community of 10,000 starlings for $4,000 says what licked him was the one-week time limit.

"Only nincompoops or damn fools would expect me to do the trick in a set, definite period of time," said Standke Friday. "I'm not in the habit of doing business like that."

"Tell the people that the bird man is through with you," he said. "They can keep their $4,000. I'm not going back against the starlings again."

★ ★ ★

Standke, of Great Bend, Kan., claims he has been getting rid of birds for years, by a secret method, and he's never failed once—until he came here.

The Mount Vernon Common Council set the time limit, along with a 30-day waiting period to make sure the birds didn't return.

He wore a red-checked cap and puffed on a cigar. In his hands he had two aluminum cymbals which he clapped together, when he wasn't banging a chime he kept around his neck.

He also brought with him a metal box, the contents of which remained a mystery. Standke hinted that he kept a secret weapon against starlings in it. But he never said what it was and apparently he never used it.

Most people said the one-man band only made the starlings move from one neighborhood to another.

Concerning the area he cleared, Standke said "they'll never return there."

"As for the rest of the town," he added, "the birds will keep increasing until the place is practically buried under them by next November."

Grosse Ile Youth 600th Student to Enter MSUO

Frederick A. Haley, 17, of Grosse Ile, this week became the 600th student to be admitted by Michigan State University Oakland.

★ ★ ★

He was accepted after passing a university entrance examination. His score topped those of 42 other youngsters who took the examination Aug. 20.

Frederick told MSUO administrators he applied for admission at no other university. 'MSUO was the school I wanted," he said.

He plans to major in engineering science.

Frederick, who graduated in June from Grosse Ile High School, is seeking a career as a civilian test pilot.

After his graduation from MSUO, he plans to apply for Air Force Officers Candidate School to obtain flight training.

Bendix at Ann Arbor Gets Satellite Order

LANSING (AP)—The Bendix plant at Ann Arbor has been awarded an 8½ million dollar contract for production of a space satellite, Gov. Williams reported.

Williams said the satellite will be one of a number to be used for communications purposes.

"This is a very welcome indication that we are making some progress in the development of a space age industry centered around our science facilities at the University of Michigan," the governor said.

Williams said he hoped that when the new U. of M. Institute of Science and Industry gets in operation there will be much more of this type of work coming to Michigan.

Soviet Scientists Arrive for Oceanography Meet

The 41 scientists included 11 women, some of whom had brought their husbands along. The scientists and many of the crew of 64 lined the railing as the ship was being tied up at Pier 34 on the Hudson River, taking photographs of the Americans waiting to board the vessel.

The 330-foot ship named the Mikhail Lomonosov, was built specifically for studying the oceans in connection with the International Geophysical Year, the Russians said.

Collect Over $98 Billion in Taxes During Past Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 98 billion dollars in taxes were collected last year by all levels of government in the United States. This amounted to $568 for every person.

The Census Bureau said Friday federal state and local governments reported tax revenues of $98,300,000,000 for their fiscal years that ended during 1958. This was a drop of 300 million dollars from 1957.

On a per person basis, tax collections were down from $579 in 1957. The recession was responsible.

The bureau said the business slump cut federal tax revenues $1,800,000,000. However, state and local governments increased their tax take by ½ billion dollars — largely by raising tax rates and inaugurating new levies.

Government debts of all kinds increased by $11,800,000,000 during the year to $334,400,000,000 to $276,300,000,000 while The federal debt jumped $6,800,- state and local indebtedness increased five billion dollars to more than 58 billion.

The debt load per person was $1,930. Of this, the national debt accounted for $1,595 and state and local debts $335.

Nontax sources boosted total government revenues to $130,300,000,000 up $1,100,000,000 from a year earlier. Total government spending was even higher at $135,100,000,000.

Federal tax revenues in fiscal 1958 came to $393 a person while state and local governments collected $175 a person. The federal share a year earlier was $410 while state and local governments collected $169.

Uncle Sam got most of his tax money from the individual income tax—$200 a person. The corporation income tax brought in $116 per capita while excise taxes and customs added $65.

Property taxes provided the biggest single source of revenue for state and local governments. They brought in $81 a person. Sales taxes were next at $57 while income levies yielded only $10.

The federal government spent $266 a person in fiscal 1958 on national defense and international relations. This represented 40 per cent of all spending by all levels of government.

Education was the second most costly program, accounting for 14 per cent of all government spending. State and local governments spent $91 a person on schools while Uncle Sam spent $5.

Streets and highways ranked next with state and local governments spending $50 a person. The federal government spent 78 cents a person on roads.

Papers Approve Nehru's Stand

Huge Headlines Tell of Red China Invasion Along Frontier

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian newspapers today greeted Prime Minister Nehru's disclosure of Red Chinese raids across the Tibetan border into Indian territory with huge headlines and approval that a strong stand is being taken.

The statesman, published in New Delhi and Calcutta, said most of these nations look to India for protection.

"Nothing could be better calculated to fan fear and despondency in small countries bordering Tibet than the 'fearless' overwhelming by weight of numbers of small detachments of Indian police," the paper declared.

The Indian Express said it was clear now that the suppression of Tibet had brought the Communist threat to the whole of Asia and the democratic world.

Nehru told Parliament Friday that several hundred Communist troops attacked a border post this week, routed the defenders and seized sections of India's northeast frontier agency south of Tibet.

The Indian army has been ordered to take direct control of the 35,000 square miles of territory previously patrolled only by a semimilitary organization called the Assam Rifles.

Visit the Allies More Often, Ike — British Press

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper suggested today it was time American presidents broke with tradition and did a little more globe trotting.

"President Eisenhower's royal reception by London crowds is a belated reminder of what a spellbindingly popular personality the free world has had at its head for the past seven years."

Sweet little flower of heavenly birth,
He was too fair to bloom on earth.
Sadly missed by mother, father, Sister Grandparents and Great-grandmother

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Andrew E. Johnson husband and father who passed away August 30 1956.
Days of sadness still come over us
Tears of silence often flow;
For memories keep you ever near us,
Though you died 3 years ago.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CARLton Utley who passed away August 29, 1913.
Some may forget you, now that you are gone.
But I shall remember no matter how long
Your mother.

His memory we will always keep.

Convert Spartan Stadium for Livestock Judging

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Workers have nearly completed converting the giant 76,000-capacity Spartan stadium to a livestock judging arena.

Although Michigan State University gridders play their first game there Sept. 26, the 44th annual state 4-H Club show beginning next Monday will hold the spotlight there for a while.

The entire fourday event will attract about 2,000 boys and girls and nearly 5,000 exhibits.

Height Causes Hunger

TOLEDO — Tall persons are said to require more food because of larger skin surfaces and radiation of body heat.

Speeds Bouncing Checks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Automation will speed up the bounce of rubber checks, according to the Office Equipment Manufacturers Institute. That's because magnetically coded checks, which are paving the way for automation of the nation's banking business, will give depositors less time to cover checks they cash out of town against insufficient funds in home banks.

Average Income Slips

DEAR FELLOW CITIZEN:

We believe that do-it-yourself tube checkers MAY be designed to sell tubes. If in the past you have used one of these do-it-yourself tube checkers and some tubes checked bad, why not bring the tubes that tested bad to your nearest local TV Shop and make sure. There is no charge, of course.
