Ranger Aiming for Moon on Photo Mission

Due to Snap 4,000 Photographs; Report Launch Is Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Spacecraft Ranger 8 rocketed toward the moon on a photographic mission today and the flight control center reported it successfully executed early maneuvers on the planned quarter-million-mile journey.

The bug-like craft's assignment is to streak 234,300 miles to the moon in 65 hours and snap more than 4,000 pictures of the crater-pocked lunar surface to continue the exploration started last summer by Ranger 7.

After transmitting the pictures to earth, the spacecraft is to crash-land on the lunar surface. The planned impact time, if there are no hitches, is about 5 a.m. EST Saturday.

The prime target area is the huge mare tranquillitatis, or Sea of Tranquillity.

The photos are expected to show more detail than those obtained by Ranger 7 and will help probe mysteries which must be solved before American astronauts tread the lunar surface within five years.

LONG FLIGHT

Ranger 8 set out on the long flight at 12:05 p.m. EST under the thrust of an Atlas-Agena rocket.

The flight control center reported about 45 minutes after launching that America's newest space probe was functioning smoothly and appeared on the right course for the moon.

The Agena second stage separated and fired itself into a parking orbit 115 miles above the earth. It coasted silently in this orbit for 12 minutes until it reached a desired spot above the South Atlantic Ocean. Then it restarted its engine and kicked Ranger 8 free on its lunar trajectory.

The powerful rocket, 104 feet tall and weighing 138 tons, poured a fountain of flame from its three booster engines as it vaulted from its launching pad.

Project officials hoped Ranger 8 would match or better the performance of Ranger 7 which produced history's first closeup pictures of the moon last July 31.

34 Units Win UF Plaques

Given for Excellent Employe Activity

Thirty-four area firms and other employe units received Pontiac Area United Fund award plaques today for outstanding employe participation in the 1964 United Fund campaign.

Some 50 representatives of the firms attended this morning's breakfast ceremony in their honor at the Holiday Inn.

Bruce J. Annett, 1964 general campaign chairman, and Jack C. Brannack, commercial division chairman made the presentations.

Glenn Griffin, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees, congratulated the award-winning employe groups for "outstanding citizenship."

"This demonstration of citizenship on the part of the leading firms represented here has significantly contributed to the most successful Pontiac Area United Fund campaign in its 16-year history.

TOP GOAL

"The $815,500 goal has been subscribed in the amount of $911,014 to date," Griffin stated. "Each contributing employe is a shareholder in the well being of his community."

Firms qualifying for the award plaques met or surpassed a standard of 90 per cent of all employes participating with at least 65 per cent contributing an hour's pay each month.

The breakfast, sponsored by Montgomery Ward and Co., was the first such award's breakfast given for winning firms and the second year that the awards have been given. Last year 20 area firms received the award.

★ ★ ★

Winning second-year award shingles were Bagley Elementary School, Big Valu Supermarkets, Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union, Grinnell Brothers, Hudson's Budget Store, Kroger Co. (Mall store), and National Industrial Supply Co.

Others were Oakland County Red Cross, J. C. Penney Co.,

Can't Keep Tax Burden on Property, Says Irwin

Real estate can no longer carry the full burden of providing the revenues the city needs, Commissioner Robert C. Irwin declared last night.

Irwin presented the second in a series of policy statements by the City Commission on Pontiac's proposed income tax.

The District 2 commissioner, in urging passage of the tax ordinance at the polls March 18, said real estate has carried the full load for local governments since 1893.

The only exception, he said, was the sales tax which was adopted in 1933.

Irwin noted that city government is very close to people.

"It controls the things that touch the home and life of citizens, such as law and order, protection of life, limb and property.

"The county, state and federal governments do not affect the citizens of a city in the same manner as does local city government."

Pontiac citizens, he noted are entitled to the benefits of adequate municipal services.

The income levy would remove a portion of the tax from home owners and local businesses and place the burden on nonresidents, Irwin pointed out.

The sharing of part of the cost of city government by nonresidents is a definite advantage to Pontiac taxpayers he said.

Charles Nasstrom, chairman of a self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, said last night that his group recognized the need of the city for more revenue, but by a millage hike.

Commissioner T. Warren Fowler commented that the people (nonresidents), who oppose the income tax, also demand salt on Pontiac streets in order for them to get to work.

Say Air Raids Not Answer to Guerrilla War

Church, McGovern Add Voices to Debate on SE Asia Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sens. Frank Church and George S. McGovern called anew today for efforts toward a negotiated settlement in South Viet Nam.

McGovern of South Dakota said the American people support President Johnson's actions but that his own mail indicates by a ratio of 15 to 1 "that the people also favor efforts on our part to negotiate a cease-fire and a settlement in Viet Nam."

McGovern said that no one recognizes more clearly than the President that "bombing attacks in the north will not solve the guerrilla struggle in the south."

"I hope," McGovern continued, "that such tactics are aimed at increasing the pressure for negotiation rather than the false hope that military victory is possible for either side."

★ ★ ★

Church of Idaho said that if the fighting continues it will leave a tragic trail of casualties all out of proportion to U.S. national interest and still lead to a negotiated settlement with the Communists.

SEPARATE TALKS

"The question really isn't whether we should negotiate," Church added, "but when."

The two spoke out in separate addresses prepared for Senate delivery in the growing congressional debate over Southeast Asian policy.

Yesterday, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, said the nation should stand firmly behind Johnson in the face of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's demand for an American retreat from South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Long, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said of the President: "I don't think he will yield to that ultimatum."

COULD BE ENDED

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior Republican on the committee, said, "The South Viet Nam troubles could be brought to a close if Russia, Red China and North Viet Nam

Johnson Confers With Ike; Asian War Among Topics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson had a surprise conference today with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, seeking Eisenhower's advice on Viet Nam policy.

The White House said Viet Nam was one of a broad range of world problems touched on in the lengthy, informal talk between the President and the 74-year-old general who left the presidency four years ago.

Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, was asked whether Johnson had asked Eisenhower for advice on Viet Nam policy.

"Yes, of course, he asked the general's advice," Reedy replied.

★ ★ ★

He said Johnson and Eisenhower also talked about "general world problems" and discussions Eisenhower had with some world leaders while in London for the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

Eisenhower was in Washington for a medical checkup at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Reedy said Johnson learned of this and "asked him to come by the White House and visit with him."

Eisenhower looked ruddy and fit.

★ ★ ★

Reedy said he had no information about the results of Eisenhower's physical examination but said:

★ ★ ★

"My impression was that it was a very routine thing."

NOT FIRST TIME

In saying that Johnson sought advice on Viet Nam from Eisenhower, Reedy implied this was not the first time.

"He's been in touch with Gen. Eisenhower on more than one occasion," the press secretary said.

The first word that Eisenhower, who has been spending his winter vacation at Palm Springs, Calif., was at the White House came when photographers and newsmen were called into Johnson's office.

★ ★ ★

The President was sitting in his rocking chair with Eisenhower at his side on a sofa.

EXCHANGED GREETINGS

The Republican former chief executive grinned and exchanged greetings with newsmen and photographers he knew from old times.

He looked at the big telephone console on a coffee table and commented: "My goodness! That's a fancy looking telephone. Do you use all those buttons?"

Johnson assured him he does at times.

★ ★ ★

The two men got to comparing notes on heart attacks. Johnson and Eisenhower both had serious attacks in 1955, Johnson in July and Eisenhower in September. Each was out of action for months.

City to Lose Airline Service

Board Upholds Earlier Ruling on NCA Bid

North Central Airlines has been granted permission to delete service to Pontiac and two other Michigan cities effective April 19.

★ ★ ★

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) agreed with an earlier ruling that public convenience and necessity no longer required continuation of service.

Lack of passengers had been the NCA's argument to stop local service to Pontiac Municipal Airport.

CAB disclosed its decision yesterday in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Permission was also granted to delete NCA service to Cadillac-Reed City and Port Huron.

DISAPPOINTMENT

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, reflected disappointment at the latest CAB ruling.

He said that Pontiac had asked that the CAB hold up a decision on the NCA request to delete service until a ruling could be made on a second request to have NCA flights to Chicago and Cleveland from the local airport.

City and local NCA officials reported that they had not heard of the CAB ruling. NCA officials at the airport said they did not know how long it would take to close up shop here.

★ ★ ★

The CAB ruled that in Pontiac "home airport service is not required" since the city occupies a satellite position in relation to Detroit airports.

★ ★ ★

For the limited benefits derived, the annual subsidy cost of more than $27,000 is "disproportionate," said the CAB.

In other action, CAB denied a request from Gaylord for scheduled air service.

State 'Bumps' License

Ap-peel May Save Strip

Bumps and grinds hit the skids today at a Waterford Township bowling alley.

An entertainment license approved in December by the Waterford Township Board for the 300 Bowl has been denied by the state Liquor Control Commission (LCC) and only an appeal can save the strippers.

The LCC in a letter to the Township Board cited the numerous protests about the license as the reason for its denial.

Six of the seven Township Board members voted to approve the license Dec. 21 for the establishment at 100 S. Cass Lake.

Supervisor James E. Seeterlin cast the lone dissenting vote.

INCLUDING STRIPPERS

The license opened the door to floor show entertainment including strippers.

Seeterlin objected because he said that adult entertainment was out of place at an establishment that combines lounges, a bowling alley, a billiard room, and a restaurant under one roof.

He said that the police department lacked personnel to enforce such a license and maintained that adult entertainment should be offered only in a building to which minors have no access.

Joseph Puertas, owner of the 300 Bowl, said he has appealed the LCC denial of the license and a hearing is slated tomorrow in Detroit.

Burch Criticizes GOP's Silence During LBJ 'Act'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retiring Republican National Chairman Dean Burch chided his party today for keeping silent while watching "President Johnson's medicine man act."

In a speech prepared for the opening session of a four-day Young Republican leadership school, he also announced that the GOP was organizing a "counter-COPE" to offset help given Democrats by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Burch, who is stepping out April 1, said the party is "not ready for the ashcan of history" despite the defeats suffered in the 1964 election.

"But for some reason we have allowed ourselves to become tongue-tied," he said.

County Unit Okays Plan for TB Patient Disposition

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors agreed yesterday on a course of action which — if approved by the board next Tuesday — will keep most of the county's tuberculosis patients in Oakland County facilities.

After a stormy 2½-hour session, the committee approved the following recommendations:

- That as many as possible (about 75) of the patients be placed in the Medical Care Facility, the remainder to be placed in Kiefer Hospital in Detroit and Mayberry Sanatorium in Northville;
- That the board appoint a seven-member board of institutions, as provided by state law, which will be responsible for the care of all county medical patients;
- That the board of institutions include the three-member social welfare board, the two-member TB Sanatorium board of trustees (now one member short) and two other members to be chosen by the board of supervisors.

The board of institutions is required by law when TB and non-TB patients are housed in the same facilities.

The move was necessitated when the sanatorium was sold to Oakland Community College two months ago. College officials hope to begin moving into the facility this spring.

If the board of supervisors approves the recommendations, the social welfare board will continue to exist as a separate entity but will serve two func-

Hubbard Plea: 'I'm Innocent'

DETROIT (AP) — Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard, charging a "rotten abuse of the mighty power of the federal government," pleaded innocent at his arraignment in U.S. District Court Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Charged with violating and conspiring to violate federal civil rights statutes in connection with a 1963 anti-Negro racial demonstration, Hubbard made a belated court appearance after a fruitless five-day search by federal agents.

★ ★ ★

The portly mayor of a predominately white city of 112,000 was released on $5,000 bond. Judge Theodore M. Machrowicz refused to place him under personal bond after Assistant U.S. Attorney William Merrill testified he "had concern about whether the defendant will appear for trial."

★ ★ ★

Hubbard incurred a severe tongue-lashing from the judge. Machrowicz said the mayor had "so much disrespect and disregard for the laws of this nation and the institutions of this nation that I am deeply distressed."

In a statement released shortly before arraignment, Hubbard said: "The accusations, based on one-sided distortions, are tragic examples of personal persecution for political purposes by the federal lawyer in charge."

The statement went on to say that "under pressure from Washington, the FBI was ordered to make a third investigation (of the racial incident) after they twice found no cause for action."

"One federal lawyer," Hubbard said, "alternately threatened and then offered a 'deal' to one of our public officials to influence him to give perjured testimony and this statement is supported by an affadavit."

Merrill said the government "cannot and will not" reply to the charges because "it would prejudice the defendant's rights."

FEDERAL CHARGE

The indictment against Hubbard alleges that he conspired with two police officers to deny protection to a Dearborn home owner. Demonstrators stoned his house in mistaken belief that the home had been sold to Negroes.

The two other officials, Police Chief Garrison Clayton and Public Safety Director George W. Lewis, pleaded innocent earlier.

City Hospital's Record Budget Gets Final OK

A record $7,354,168 operating budget for Pontiac General Hospital was granted final approval last night by the City Commission.

The budget was approved after a public hearing that drew no comments from the commission audience.

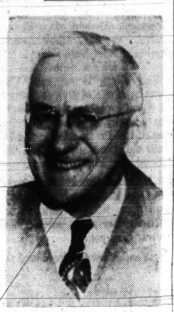
Previously, the hospital board of trustees had okayed the 1965 budget, which is $443,560 higher than the 1964 budget.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, told the commission that the budget was balanced and that the hospital had operated in the black for the last five years.

Israelis, Syrians Swap Shots for 80 Minutes

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli and Syrian troops exchanged fire in the central Jordan River Valley north of the Sea of Galilee for 80 minutes today. They ceased fire on orders to both sides from U.N. observers.

An Israeli army spokesman claimed two Syrian positions fired light and automatic weapons at an Israeli army unit moving near Almagor settlement inside Israel territory. The Israeli unit returned the fire, the spokesman said.



ROBERT A. ARMSTRONG

Hospital Board Trustee Quits

Retired Pontiac businessman Robert A. Armstrong, 74, of 179 Cherokee resigned last night from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

★ ★ ★

Armstrong resigned in a letter to the City Commission. He was treasurer of the board.

He said present plans call for him to be out of the city a considerable part of the time and he would be unable to attend board meetings.

In resigning, Armstrong commended the "dedicated effort" at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

The commission accepted his resignation with regrets.

APPOINTED IN '58

Armstrong, who served on the hospital board's planning subcommittee, was first appointed to the board in 1958.

★ ★ ★

He was chairman of the board's finance subcommittee and cochairman of the legislative subcommittee.

Armstrong also was on the executive subcommittee.

U.S. Officials Study New Laws on Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thick package of new crime laws aimed both at fighting organized crime and salvaging the young criminal is under study by the Johnson administration.

Administration sources said today the crime package probably will place special stress on laws granting immunity to witnesses in certain categories of organized crime investigations.

While it is expected to propose major new laws in the fields of narcotics, arson, firearms and wiretapping, it will seek also to put federal money into the fight against juvenile delinquency.

One source stressed that the crime bills are a long way from completion and may not be ready for Congress until spring.

These are the lines along which administration experts are thinking as they assemble the crime package, which will be accompanied by a special message from President Johnson:

—Immunity: Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and his predecessor, Robert F. Kennedy, have pleaded for laws that will grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses in certain federal criminal investigations.

★ ★ ★

The laws being considered by the administration probably will deal with investigations of bankruptcy fraud and interstate travel in aid of racketeering. The bankruptcy dodge is one of organized crime's more recent incursions into legitimate business.

STRICT CONTROLS

—Firearms: Johnson is likely to propose strict controls over the sale and registration of firearms — possibly forbidding their sale to minors under 18 and to persons with criminal records.

—Arson: Under consideration is a law to make arson in connection with interstate travel a federal offense.

The Justice Department is convinced that gangsters have reaped millions in insurance money after burning buildings they own, either directly or through fronts.

—Narcotics: The administration is considering some sort of legislation that will primarily affect the users of narcotics.

—Wiretapping: Despite reversals in Congress, the administration plans once more to ask for a law permitting, under strict controls, the tapping of telephone lines in certain criminal investigations, and the use in court of evidence gained from such taps.

—Juvenile delinquency: The government would, under a proposal being considered, expand its system of "halfway houses" to improve the chances of young offenders to face society after they've been in prison.

However, he also criticized what he called the administration's "failure to help develop and support a government in Saigon which has both the will to win and the capacity to maintain local support."

LBJ Proposes Change in Depreciation Rules

Negro Officer Risked His Life

Unmasked 4 Alleged Bomb Plotters in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World - Telegram reported today that the alleged plot to blow up the Statue of Liberty, Washington Monument and Liberty Bell was only part of a greater scheme aimed at destruction of vital installations around the nation. The paper said the New York Police Department had been in contact with police officials of Detroit in connection with the investigation.

NEW YORK (AP)—Raymond Wood, 31-year-old Negro who 10 months ago was just a rookie cop, plunged coolly into a cloak-and-dagger role to unmask a quartet allegedly bent on blowing up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell.

Three American Negroes, described as pro-Castro and pro-Red Chinese racial fanatics, and a striking Canadian blonde, were seized yesterday in a lightning roundup by police and the FBI.

Wood was hustled to a police station along with one of the alleged plotters as he was helping transfer 20 sticks of dynamite from a lot to an auto in a quiet residential section of the Bronx. Alerted by Wood, police had blanketed the area.

The 6-foot-1 inch, 201-pound Wood, who is single, for three months had infiltrated a Negro extremist organization known as the Black Liberation Front at a daily risk of his life.

★ ★ ★

Wood said of his achievement only: "I wanted to do my best."

He murmured "thank you" when Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy, at a news conference, handed Wood an immediate promotion—the gold shield of a detective.

"You certainly deserve it," said Murphy.

An outstanding high school football player at Chester, S. C., Wood served four years in the U.S. Air Force in Germany with an investigative unit.

He attended Fordham University for six months. Before that he had been a cost accountant.

★ ★ ★

A patrolman for seven months, Wood undertook his dangerous mission when he became undercover agent for the police Bureau of Special Services.

INITIAL CONTACT

He made his initial contact in a bar last December.

From then on, it was a cat-and-mouse game as he attended meetings, walked picket lines until he was recognized as one of "them," and listened stolidly as he was told about the dynamite plots.

Those arrested were Robert S. Collier, 28, Boston-born, married with one child; Walter A. Bowe, 32, Philadelphia-born, married with one child; Khaleel S. Sayyed, 22, Brooklyn-born and single; and Michelle Duclos, 28, of Montreal, television commentator and member of a political party that advocates separation of French-speaking Quebec citizens from the rest of Canada.

Schedule Is Approved for Teachers' Salaries

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—With the success of a 3.3-mill tax increase only a week behind them, board of education members last night adopted a $2,286,889 teachers' salary schedule for next year.

The 15-year levy approved by district voters Feb. 8 was based on providing raises for teachers and incentive increments to those qualifying as superior instructors.

The merit pay provisions of the salary schedule will not go into effect until 1966-67 to allow administrators time to devise an evaluation system.

The total figure for next year's payroll is based on the assumption that 30 new teachers will be added to a staff now numbering 264.

★ ★ ★

Payroll this year is expected to run to $1,767,940.

NEW SCHEDULE

While the new schedule does not change the $5,300 base pay for a beginning teacher, it does spread increases over a 12-year period to make the maximum $8,650 for the holder of a bachelor's degree. The top in this category is now $8,110.

Incentive pay would add $600 to the new high.

For a teacher who has obtained 20 credit hours beyond his bachelor's, the range would be from $5,450 as a beginner to $8,800 after 12 years, marking an increase of $500 in the latter category.

★ ★ ★

The top incentive pay at this point would be $9,400.

ULTIMATE SALARY

A $10,000 salary would be awaiting the holder of a master's degree after teaching 12 years. Incentive pay, also granted for 30 additional hours of study, would take the sum to $10,300.

The 12-year teacher with a master's degree and 30 additional credit hours who qualified for incentive pay would get $10,600.

BIRMINGHAM—A three-story training tower for firemen will be constructed at the Adams Fire Station at a cost of $18,000.

The city commission approved the project at its meeting Monday.

Funds for the drill structure were included in the city's 1964-65 capital improvement program but action was delayed due to the death of Fire Chief George Scott in an airplane crash last summer.

The architectural firm, Linn Smith Associates, Inc., already has submitted a proposed design for the tower.

The appointment of Arthur Iverson Jr. to the State Workmen's Compensation Board has been approved by the Senate.

Iverson, 2792 Dorchester, is among 31 persons appointed to various boards by Gov. Romney and approved by senators Monday.

His term will expire Feb. 1, 1968.

William Walsh, owner of William Walsh and Co., a Detroit real estate appraisal and consulting firm, will speak at the final program in the series of four weekly discussions on human relations here.

The program is set for 8 tonight in the Holy Name School gymnasium, Greenwood at Harmon.

Walsh's discussion of housing will conclude the series sponsored by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Council on Human Relations in cooperation with the Archbishop's Committee on Human Relations of the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and the Birmingham Council of Churches.

A consultant to private industry and governmental bodies for the last 15 years, Walsh has played an important role in major urban renewal projects in Detroit and surrounding cities.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will present its annual scholarship fashion show tonight at Derby Junior High School, Derby and Adams.

MRS. ROBERT N. BUTLER

Woman Gets New Post for United Fund

Glenn Griffin, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees, today announced the appointment of Mrs. Robert N. Butler, 460 Rivard, Waterford Township, to the newly created staff position of administrative assistant.

The new post includes responsibility for statistical research, agency budgets, financial reports and office procedures.

Her promotion follows 10 years' experience with the UF including office manager, secretary to the director, bookkeeper, and Community Chest secretary.

GWCC Hears Tax Director

A representative of the State Tax Commission last night said that Act 275 passed by the legislature in 1964 does not cause an increase in taxes on real estate.

★ ★ ★

Speaking before the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) John Markiewicz, a district director for the Tax Commission, acknowledged that the new act does require more detailed reporting by assessors.

Markiewicz, who was invited by the GWCC to explain the act which the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association has formally opposed, discussed policy on assessing built-in items.

He said the inclusion of built-ins in the assessment of real estate is the result of these items being part of the structure itself because of new construction techniques.

Prior to the trend to built-ins, such appliances as refrigerators and ranges which were free standing and could be moved from house to house without damage were considered personal property.

But appurtenances such as bath tubs, furnaces and water heaters have always been considered real estate for assessment purposes, Markiewicz concluded.

County Unit OKs Plan on TB Patients

Consideration of costs of the proposed change occupied a major share of yesterday's discussion.

Figures presented by the special committee, composed of Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors; George H. Williams, social welfare director, and Dr. Bernard D. Berman, county health director, estimated the operational cost of a combined facility at $174,630 annually over last year's cost of the two facilities.

This includes an estimate of $75,000 which would be paid to private nursing homes for the care of some 75 patients transferred from the Medical Care Facility.

The cost of putting all the TB patients in the two Wayne County facilities was estimated at $146,300 above last year's cost of operation of the TB Sanatorium.

SAVINGS EYED

The prospect of saving nearly $30,000 a year by using outcounty facilities gave rise to serious consideration of abandoning the idea of using the Medical Care Facility for TB patients.

Those closest to the problem have insisted all along, however, that as many of the patients as possible should be kept in Oakland County, and the idea was talked down.

Another question of expense which hasn't been satisfactorily settled yet is the cost of remodeling the Medical Care Facility to meet State Health Department requirements for TB patients.

The building is presently being remodeled to conform to recent changes in state fire marshal's requirements at a cost of over $180,000.

MINIMUM COST

County Engineer Joseph Joachim told the committee yesterday that additional changes necessary to make the place suitable for TB patients may cost a minimum of $50,000.

Dr. Berman voiced the opinion that the cost would be less, while Williams speculated it would be more, possibly twice that much.

Joachim pointed out, however, that no one could say for sure until all the needs for the combined facility are determined.

★ ★ ★

The committee will meet again Friday morning, at which time Joachim said he would present more complete figures on costs of revamping the Medical Care Facility.

ANOTHER POINT

Another point of discussion was the utilization of the staff now employed at the TB Sanatorium.

Dr. Berman said about 25 members of the professional staff could be employed in the combined facility. He said he doubted that the remaining 75 could be economically used there, however.

In a discussion of long-range needs for medical care facilities, Royal Oak Supervisor Harry W. Horton, a member of the ways and means committee, offered a motion that planning be started for a building program.

★ ★ ★

His motion received no support, due to the urgency of the immediate problem.

Pontiac City Affairs

Bus Firm Asks One-Year Pact

A busy informal session is slated by the City Commission next week.

* * *

Several items of business, including a proposal for continued bus service, were left undecided at last night's meeting.

American Transis Corporation asked to extend its present agreement with the city for a full year.

The agreement, which provides for the city to subsidize bus company losses up to $1,700 per month, expires March 31.

* * *

Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson pointed to the continued heavy drop in passengers during the past year.

'REAL SERIOUS'

Describing the bus situation as "real serious," the commission spokesman said the drop this January over the same month a year ago was 22 per cent.

He said the drop in patronage has been averaging 16 per cent.

American Transit, parent firm of Pontiac Transit, seeks renewal of its agreement for a 12-month period beginning April 1.

* * *

City bus service has been continued since last June by a series of month-to-month extensions of the annual contract.

STUDY SESSION

Also referred to the next commission study session, now slated for next Wednesday, was a proposed amendment to the city's zoning ordinance.

Passed by the City Planning Commission, the amendment essentially sets up provisions to prohibit residential uses in commercial and manufacturing districts.

Still a third item sent to the study session was a proposed sanitary sewer project for an area in the southwest end of the city.

* * *

A public hearing to determine the necessity for the sewers provoked responses from residents of the area.

The city has proposed sewers for portions of Arthur, Luther, Ditmar, Alton, Pearsall and Fildew between Wrenn and Motor.

TOTAL COST

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling estimated the total cost of the sewer project at $113,460 with the city's share running $66,200 and the property owneds paying $47,260.

Neipling said the cost per 40-foot lot would be about $342, plus the added cost of the pipe running from the property owner's building to the sewer stub.

He said that a pump station would have to be constructed as part of the city's cost.

* * *

Commissioner John A. Dugan suggested the matter be discussed with the city engineer before any commission action.

NOT AGAINST IT

Stating he was not against it, Dugan added, "We have to know where we are going overall."

Hudson said the project would be brought up again on March 2 after the commission's next informal meeting.

A letter from Pontiac Postmaster William B. Donaldson was received last night by the City Commission.

* * *

Donaldson told of the post office's interest in using property now in the right-of-way for a future Miami Street extension as a parking area.

PROPERTY LOCATION

The property, acquired to someday extend Miami from west of Chippewa through to Genesee, is between the southern end of the post office's parking area and the Washington Junior High School playground.

In other business last night, City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported on the city's new work-trainee program.

Set up in cooperation with the Michigan Employment Security Commission, the program was to offer a school-training plan to 40 local youths.

* * *

Warren said the program got under way Monday with seven trainees participating. An eighth youngster is to join the program, which will run for 20 weeks.

SECOND HEARING

Urban Renewal and Planning Director James L. Bates reported last night that a second public hearing might be necessary to complete a plan change in the revised R20 program.

Bates reported that unban renewal officials feel that a proper buffer strip between a projected multiple housing development and nearby commercial properties can best be done by the city as an R20 project expense.

The multiple housing is proposed for a site on the west side of East Wide Track between Cottage and Whittemore.

* * *

If a public hearing is to be held, necessary to modify the urban renewal budget, it requires 30 days notice.

IN OPERATION

Thus, the commission set March 23 as the date for the public hearing.

In related business, Warren reported that the systematic code enforcement program required by urban renewal officials had been in operation since Feb. 5.

An amendment to the city's workable program for community improvement was ordered sent to Housing and Home Finance Agency officials by the commission.

* * *

Another item referred to a study session involved petitioning the county drain commissioner for a storm sewer project along a portion of the city's southern border.

PROJECT AREA

Essentially, the storm project would take in a Square Lake Road-Franklin drain and a second drain for the Square Lake Road-Grand Trunk Western Railroad area.

City Engineer Neipling estimated the total city cost of the storm drains at $451,595.

If it becomes a county drain project, this would be assessed as part of the county tax bill.

* *

The proposed project would involve the city, Bloomfield Township, the State Highway Department and the Oakland County Road Commission.

School Tax Election Nears in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — A special school election Tuesday will decide whether the Lake Orion School District will continue to receive taxes which amount to roughly 10 per cent of its operating budget.

District voters will cast ballots on a proposed renewal of a six-mill operating tax in the election.

The levy expires this year after a five-year period, and would be extended for another five years if the voters approve the proposal.

The administration has sent out one information sheet to parents by means of their children, and another will be sent home with the students late this week.

* * *

Detailed in the sheet are such facts as that the renewal will not raise current taxes and that failure to renew it would mean a loss of about $157,000 annually to the operating budget.

OPERATING TAX

Schools Supt. A. A. Reed has pointed out that a four-mill operating tax approved by the electors last summer will not be levied this year, due to the fact that the new junior high school will not be completed until July.

This means that renewal of the six-mill operating tax approved in 1960 would maintain 1965 school taxes at 24.49 mills.

With the addition of the four-mill tax next year, the total levy would increase to 28.49 mills.

* * *

Assistant Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy said today that renewal of the 1960 millage is "essential" in order to maintain the current program.

Ballots will be cast in the usual school voting precincts at the Lake Orion Village Hall, Orion Township Hall and Gingellville fire station.

Panel on Race Set by Council

First of Three Open Sessions in Rochester

ROCHESTER — The first of three open meetings sponsored by the Rochester Area Human Relations Council will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at First Congregational Church.

Prof. Donald Hildum will moderate a panel discussion and a question-and-answer period on the subject "My Changing Attitude on Race."

Panel members from different points of the compass are Liberian exchange student Elizabeth Davis; Barbara Schaffer of Roslyn, Long Island; Cheryl Curry and David Lewis of Detroit; Pat Inbimbo of St. Clair Shores; and Dick Swain of Rochester, N.Y.

Panel members represent both Caucasian and Negro races, and have had a variety of personal experiences with racial problems, including the so-called "race riots" last summer.

* * *

Other meetings have been scheduled for March and April by the Human Relations Council. They will deal with real estate racial questions and local applications of the Civil Rights Act.

'PRINCIPAL' PLEASURE — As a school administrator Frank C. Richardson strives for harmony among his teachers and students and also when pursuing his avocation at home. Principal of West Junior High School, Rochester, he is a songwriter whose music has been performed in local school concerts, talent revues, church and at monthly meetings of the Avon Players. Here he checks the score of his latest ballad.

Free-Time Composer

Educator's Days Full of Song

By LEE OLSON
Area News Editor

ROCHESTER — The words "school principal" used to have the forbidding implications of severity, discipline and even fear for youngsters in his charge.

But the passing years and the broadening of the administrator's duties have done a lot to change the old-time image.

A Rochester Junior High principal has even added harmony and song to his role, which already was one of a loved and admired confidante of his pupils.

Frank C. Richardson of West Junior High writes music.

* * *

And his treasury of tunes ranges from Christmas carols and church music to modern ballads and tangos.

PIANO LESSONS

The soft-spoken administrator says he took piano lessons "off and on" when he was young and started out as a music major at Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

He changed his mind, however, and switched his major to business administration — but still with a minor in music.

Richardson had his first "hit" tune in Rochester four years ago when one of his blues numbers, "Where Is the One Meant for Me?" was introduced in a talent show in town.

* * *

The occasion was the first "Red Stocking Revue" sponsored by the Rochester Junior Woman's Club. Featured in the spotlight singing the original ballad was Mrs. Walter J. Kowalczyk.

INSTANT SUCCESS

The song was an instant success and has been sung many times since in nightclubs and at special functions throughout the Metropolitan Detroit area.

But Richardson's first love" is church music. He has been singing in an Episcopal Church choir for about 27 years. He sings bass.

Right now he is putting the finishing touches on new choral responses for the communion service at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

* * *

"All I need is the approval from the minister and choir director before we can see how the responses sound with a full choir," the school principal said.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

He has also written several original Christmas carols for the junior high which have been sung for the first time by the youngsters in their annual Christmas concerts. One is entitled "Sleep My Child" and another, "Follow the Star."

Richardson composes the music and writes the lyrics in the family room of his home at 175 W. Tienken.

His wife Marigene and their three children, Matthew, 7, Ann Marie, 6, and Mary Beth, 4, all love to sit on the couch and listen as he tries out each new tune.

* * *

"They're my most ardent supporters — and severest critics," he said.

Richardson has had most of his songs copyrighted but none published.

* * *

"Maybe someday one of them will really click," he said, hastening to explain that the sheer enjoyment of composing them gives him the most pleasure.

'Interest Rate Often Hidden'

Farmers who buy farm machinery on credit may be paying 5 per cent more interest than they realize, an agricultural economist warns.

* * *

In fact, if interest rates figured on the beginning balance for an installment load are 6 to 7 per cent, the actual interest rate is nearer 11 to 13 per cent.

John Brake, Michigan State University agricultural economist, made the observations in the current issue of "Michigan Farm Economics," published by the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service.

Brake based his comments on a survey of 216 farm machinery dealers in Michigan.

* * *

Interest rates, he found, were about 12 to 14 per cent on many financing plans. But this generally included credit life insurance and property insurance. The insurance probably costs about 1 to 1½ per cent per year, so net interest rates are about 11 to 13 per cent, he says.

OXFORD — Tickets will go on sale next week for the two performances of the U.S. Navy Band in Oxford May 20.

* * *

The Oxford Lions Club is bringing the band back for its econd visit to town in two years.

So great was the acceptance of the band on its initial appearance April 4, 1963, that Lions Club members decided to schedule a return engagement as soon as possible.

The band, billed as "The World's Finest," will stage two performances, at 1 and 8 p.m., in the Oxford Area Community High School auditorium.

* * *

There will be 1,800 afternoon tickets and 2,400 evening admissions available, according to Louis Coryell, general chairman.

TICKET CHAIRMAN

Don Woodbeck is in charge of the matinee tickets sales and Bill Lewis is concert chairman. All Lions Club members are selling tickets for the evening show.

The band, directed by Lt. Cmdr. Anthony A. Mitchell, USN, has been performing since it was organized in 1925 by an act of Congress.

It has toured the country dozens of times and appeared in Canada, South America and elsewhere throughout the world.

* * *

There are 100 men in the band each with great versatility and the ultra-modern "Swingphonette" section gives sparkling personality to light operas and the latest swing rhythms.

In their two appearances in Oxford the band will cover a wide range of compositions that will bring something for everyone in the line of band music, Lions Club members said.

Only 1 New Candidate in Dryden

DRYDEN—Only one change is evident in the slate of village candidates for the March 8 general election as a result of last night's non-partisan caucus.

The six voters who turned out for the nominating session picked incumbents for all open offices except one trusteeship.

The spot now occupied by Trustee Charles Carloss was given to nominee Glenn Fletcher of 5436 North. Carloss did not run for the nomination for another term.

Incumbents selected to run in March are Village President Oliver Braidwood, Clerk Mrs. Mildred Gray, Treasurer Mrs. Gladys Harrington, Assessor Robert Weingartz and Trustees Irvin Talmage and Raymond Stevens.

Stevens is an appointee serving out the last six months or so of William Farnum's term. Farnum moved out of town.

Braidwood and Talmage will be trying for their second term in their respective offices, while Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Harrington have been in office since 1959, and Weingartz longer than that.

Plan Singalong for Boy Scouts

Hootenanny Event at School in Commerce

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Women's Reserve of the Ottawa Boy Scout District will stage a "Hootenanny-Singalong" Saturday night at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School.

* * *

The women are inviting all scouters and friends to attend the 7:30 p.m. event, a repeat of last year's program which engaged more than 200 persons in an evening of singing.

William Feucht, music director at Farmington High School, again will lead the group in some old-fashioned harmonizing.

Lloyd Smith, also with the Farmington Public School System, will be pianist for the evening.

* * *

Entertainment will include instrumental numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sharpy of Walled Lake and songs by the Falconaires, a mixed choral group from Farmington High School.

ON PROGRAM

Also on the program are the Top Kords, a Sweet Adelines, Inc., quartet, and Mrs. Edward Goetz, Orchard Lake soprano.

* * *

Tickets can be purchased at the door or from scouters. Proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council.

Music-Loving Thief Invades Hall in Troy

TROY — It seems there's a thief in the area who has a hankerin' for hillbilly music, and who perhaps does a little singing himself.

It was discovered last night that sometime after 5 p.m. Sunday, someone broke into Harver Hall at 3273 Rochester and helped himself to $582 worth of sound equipment and records.

Taken were 50 records, mixed between modern and hillbilly varieties, three microphones, seven microphone cords and two amplifiers.

In addition to stealing equipment to get a good start on a party for himself, the thief took some cigarettes from a cigarette machine and helped himself to $7 in change.

State Mental Health Consultant to Talk

WALLED LAKE — Wallace F. Watt, consultant with the Michigan Department of Mental Health, will speak at Monday's meeting of the Decker Elementary School PTA.

Watt's background includes work with the Michigan Child Guidance Institute, the Department of Child Welfare and an on-the-spot study of youth organizations and delinquency control in Europe and the Near East.

At the 8 p.m. program Monday, he will show a brief film entitled "If These Were Your Children," which deals with the relationship of emotions to the learning process.

Watt will moderate a discussion of the topic and the film.

The public is invited to the program at the school, 1655 Decker.

Con Is Given More Years

DETROIT (AP) — A convict who got a new trial after serving 13 years for slaying a policeman has been sentenced to an additional 2½-to-15 years.

Edward J. Emrick, 50, was sentenced Tuesday by Recorder's Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis following his plea to guilty of manslaughter. Emrick had been granted the new trial because of the new State Constitution which allows appeals as a matter of right.

DR. JOHN DAWSON

ROCHESTER—"To the Glory of God."

These are the words which will resound Sunday throughout St. Paul's Methodist Church as its members formally dedicate the present educational unit and chapel.

Constructed in 1959, the indebtedness on the building was discharged at a mortgage-burning service in December 1964.

Now debt-free, the building will be dedicated Sunday at 5 p.m., at a service presided over by Rev. Merton Stevens, district superintendent of local Methodism.

Speaker for the occasion will be Dr. John Dawson, noted educator and president of Adrian College. His topic will be "Methodism in Christian Education."

* * *

Participating in the service will be all four of the church's choirs, singing en masse the famous "Onward, Ye Peoples" by Jean Sibelius.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN

General chairman of the dedication service is Mrs. Howard Wilson.

Following the service, the women's society of the church will serve a buffet supper in the social hall, with Dr. Dawson and the Rev. Mr. Stevens as honored guests.

The annual church conference will be held following the supper, with the Rev. Mr. Stevens presiding.

* * *

Highlighting the conference will be the report of the church building committee, projecting a progress report on the new sanctuary unit.

The public is cordially invited to attend the dedication service, and to meet Dr. Dawson.

New Bill Will Level Milk Price

LANSING (AP) — A bill that would strictly regulate the milk industry and eliminate loss - leader selling of dairy products was introduced in the House Tuesday.

It does not provide for price-fixing by the state but does specify that no milk handler at any stage of production or sales can sell for less than cost.

* * *

The bill also regulates cream, cottage cheese, ice cream, ice milk and related items.

* * *

It was introduced by Rep. Einar Erlandsen, D-Escanaba, and six others.

UNFAIR SELLING

The director of the Department of Agriculture would administer the measure. Both Democrats and Gov. George Romney have called for legislation to eliminate what they term unfair competition in the dairy products industry.

* * *

Milk handlers would be required to post prices seven days in advance of the date the prices become effective. The agriculture director could halt sales at the designated prices if he believed they were in violation of the bill.

* * *

Retailers could not distribute free samples worth any more than one quart of milk.

* * *

Milk handlers would be required to obtain state licenses and a fee would be assessed from initial handlers of milk products to pay for administering the law.

Religion Classes Are Popular

OXFORD — A sizable number of students in the Oxford School District are taking advantage of a new state law permitting their release from school for religious instruction at their churches.

* * *

An experimental program involving three local churches began 2½ weeks ago, and 74 students are already participating.

The action is provided for under a 1964 state law which allows the schools to let the students go to their churches for religious instruction during school hours, for a maximum of two hours per week.

Parents, who with the churches take all responsibility for attendance at the churches, must request the release of their children before they can be allowed to go.

* * *

In the Oxford experiment, perhaps the first in Oakland County, staggered periods are used to avoid disruption of classwork by the religious instruction sessions.

* * *

High school students missed their first period of the day the first week, the second period the second week, and so on, therefore missing the same class only once every six weeks.

Junior high pupils are alternating between the first two classes one week and the last class period the next, while elementary students are released from 1:30 to 3 p.m. each week.

Immanuel Congregational Church, which is taking only fifth and sixth graders, is presently teaching 13 youngsters.

* * *

The Oxford Free Methodist Church has three elementary pupils and one junior high student taking the instruction, but has not yet put its program into full swing. More are expected to participate eventually.

FULL PROGRAM

First Baptist Church has a full program under way, with 32 elementary, six junior high and 19 senior high pupils in the special sessions.

* * *

The experiment was approved by all parties after months of discussion, and is slated to last for six weeks in order that an idea of its value can be gained.

It praises her as "one of the greatest living persons (and) an eminent humanitarian, and one whose contributions to ennobling the human race are incalculable."

To Hear Churchman

WIXOM — Rev. Royal L. Peck recently acquitted in a religious test case in Italy, will speak at the First Baptist Church tomorrow night.

Peck was the subject of worldwide attention when an Italian appeals court cleared him Jan. 15 of charges of holding an illegal public meeting.

The minister and an associate had sought police permission to hold a Bible commentary meeting in a Foggia, Italy, square. Police refused on the basis that the locations selected were traffic congested and too close to Roman Catholic churches.

The meeting was held anyway and charges brought against the speakers.

Peck, director of the Istituto Biblico Evangelico in Rome, was acquitted just 14 hours before he was scheduled to leave on a six-week speaking tour of the United States.

His topic for the 7:30 p.m. program tomorrow is "Vatican Council II and Present Day Italy."

The church is located at 620 N. Wixom.

U.S. Likely to Close Many Foreign Bases in Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States still maintains more than 400 major military bases overseas. Many are likely to be closed or reduced to stand-by status in the years ahead.

The advent of bigger transport planes, floating depots and faster sealift may permit eventual reduction of heavy garrisons abroad, particularly in Europe where about 300,000 American servicemen are stationed.

The acquisition of longer range fighters and reconnaissance jets may permit more airfields abroad to be placed on a caretaker basis, ready to receive units flown in from the United States when necessary.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara pointed in this direction last year when he told Congress that "the increasing range of land-based tactical aircraft has reduced our requirement for forward based air power."

★ ★

The wider application of nuclear propulsion to surface warships would be another factor cutting down reliance on overseas bases.

PRESSURE

Aside from these considerations, there is the ever-present pressure on the Defense Department to economize and to stem the outflow of gold which results from spending U.S. dollars abroad.

According to Defense Department officials, about 50 or 55 major U.S. bases have been closed overseas in the past 10 years. The total of such bases now stands at 422.

There also are about 2,900 minor installations used by this country's armed forces on foreign soil — small radar stations, hospitals, supply points and the like.

★ ★ ★

Pentagon authorities said they had no figures on how many such minor bases had been closed in the past decade.

B47 BOMBERS

The trend toward retrenchment back to the United States has been evident for some time, chiefly in the evacuation of forward bases used by obsolescent B47 medium jet nuclear bombers.

The last 225 B47s of a force that at one time totaled more than 1,200 will be retired in the coming fiscal year. Most already have been withdrawn from Britain and Spain.

An Air Force spokesman said in London earlier this week that the Strategic Air Command will end its operations in Britain on April 1, winding up a 14-year chapter.

★ ★

The Air Force now has more than 850 intercontinental ballistic missiles aimed at Communist targets from the continental United States.

POLARIS MISSILES

The Navy has more than 300 Polaris missiles ready in submarines patrolling submerged within range of Red China and the Soviet Union.

The declining U.S. bomber force still has about 630 B52 heavy jet bombers which can hit Red targets from bases in the United States and the U.S.-owned island of Guam.

★ ★ ★

Also under way for some years has been a gradual pullback of U.S. fighter planes and tactical transport planes which were poised up forward in Japan, Spain, France, Germany and elsewhere.

Oh, but It Is Hay!

MANDAN, N. D. (AP) — Kenneth Lohstreter reported to the sheriff's office the theft of 75 bales of hay from his farm north of here. The value was placed at about $40.

New York Legislature Ends Marathon Hassle

It appears that along with not being able to stand Republicans, New York Democrats can't stand prosperity—or Democrats.

Finding themselves in control of the State legislature for the first time in 30 years, two Dem factions have kept legislative wheels spinning for a month while they feuded over the election of a temporary president and speaker of the assembly.

★ ★ ★

Neither the side led by New York City Mayor Robert Wagner nor that identified with New York's Senator Robert Kennedy was strong enough to swing the election.

The hassle was finally settled by Republicans no less, when a sufficient number joined the WAGNER forces to carry the day — and the legislature.

What the resulting tangled realignment of the Empire State's political bodies portends is anybody's guess. But one of the immediate by-products foreseen is that in return for GOP support in winning the legislature, Mayor WAGNER's Democrats will support Republican Gov. NELSON ROCKEFELLER's whopping 1965 tax program.

★ ★ ★

In the scrambled makeup of Albany's parliamentary halls there may soon be heard the political counterpart of the chant heard in all ball parks: "You can't tell a politician without a scorecard."

Auto Insurance Rate Trails Accident Rate

It would be ironic if reduction in the accident toll on Michigan highways would eventuate through appeal to motorists' pocketbooks where calls for their assumption of greater driver responsibility and observance of safety rules have seemingly gone unheeded.

Lending credence to this possibility is the stark fact that mounting costs in life and property have brought financial crisis to most of the State's auto insurance companies.

Since 1959 highway accidents have been on the rise, with a staggering 285,000 reported for last year. They accounted for 2,125 deaths, 145,000 injuries and property damage of $380 million.

Stated simply, insurance companies cannot keep up with financial claims being made upon them.

According to the State Insurance Commissioner, every auto insurance company in the State, except one, lost money last year. Since coverage rates for current years are predicated upon the experience of preceding years, the next two years will reflect the disastrous losses paid by the companies during 1964.

★ ★ ★

Authorities say that unless the accident trend is reversed, cost of insurance coverage could double by 1968. Indicative of the general trend, is the fact that auto insurance comparable with that now carried in Michigan costs double in Chicago and triple in New York.

★ ★ ★

Experts in the field, while applauding the total highway safety program proposed by Gov. ROMNEY, think that two specifics if given immediate effect would be reflected in lessened highway casualties:

- Periodic inspection of motor vehicles.
- Licensing of drivers controlled by the State rather than by hundreds of local sheriffs and small police jurisdictions who, since they are paid on a fee basis, are inclined to be more interested in the quantitative rather than qualitative issuance of licenses.

★ ★ ★

But regardless of the safety measures initiated, unless there is reflected marked improvement in the incidence of accidents, Michigan motorists are faced with the prospect of paying through the nose for the highway liability they create.

FATE is a grim joker. The man who climbs a mountain had better be especially careful thereafter lest he stumble on a molehill and break his neck.

A WRITER says we should be thankful that our bodies are washable. Yes, indeed! It would be unfortunate if we could only dust ourselves off.

Today's Leaders Lacking Sparkle

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — If the world seems quieter, and duller, than it did a few years ago, one of the reasons is a change at the top around the world.

There's no sparkle in the new leaders, who are more the silent type.

MARLOW

The old leaders still around have pretty much clammed up, maybe because they have it made and can afford to go easier.

President JOHNSON, lacking President John F. Kennedy's color, seldom sounds off on foreign affairs and almost totally avoids the big televised news conferences which Kennedy found fabulously useful in getting across ideas and personality.

★ ★ ★

Yet Johnson in less than 15 months in office has probably talked privately to more newsmen than Kennedy did in almost three years. But Johnson does it in a way which keeps him anonymous and unseen.

USEFUL WAY

For Johnson this may be a useful way to float trial balloons to test public reaction without getting criticized for what the public doesn't like, but it doesn't make him a vivid figure in the national eye. Anything but.

One of Nikita Khrushchev's complaints about Joseph Stalin, after the old tyrant died, was that he had encouraged a personality cult, his own. Then Khrushchev for years as premier, until banished, built a personality cult around himself. It was one of the reasons given for throwing him out.

But while he lasted he kept the world dazed and dazzled with his threats, travels and flamboyancies. In his years of prominence he was the world's most spectacular figure.

★ ★ ★

If his successors are involved in a cult it's one of silence, as Premier Kosygin demonstrated when he returned to Moscow Monday from his trip to Red China, North Korea and North Viet Nam.

AT MINIMUM

French President Charles de Gaulle is still around, still both a dramatist and a dreamer, but he keeps his big public appearances to a minimum.

And West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was far more forceful-acting than his successor.

In the years when he defied Stalin and broke with Stalin, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito kept the Balkans on fire.

★ ★ ★

When India's Prime Minister Nehru died last year the world lost one of the monumental figures of the century, an articulate and irritating man.

Even Fidel Castro, one of the noisiest embarrassments to this country in recent years, is almost mousy compared with the Castro of the old days, which were just a couple of years ago.

Red Carpet Treatment

David Lawrence Says:

NLRB Replies to 'Ballot' Story

WASHINGTON — If Congress reopens the Taft-Hartley Act for amendments, there certainly will be an effort by employers to make sure that the language of the law will be clarified so that their own "civil rights" are preserved.

LAWRENCE

For today the National Labor Relations Board is willing to approve as a bona fide election the votes marked on cards distributed privately by the unions themselves, and the burden is then placed on the employer to prove that when he questions the validity of the cards he is doing so in "good faith."

★ ★ ★

This correspondent recently drew attention to the weakness in present procedures, and the labor board now has written him a letter taking issue with the view expressed.

The letter, signed by the executive secretary of the board, claims that it is a misrepresentation and misleading to imply that a card ballot cannot be a valid method of holding an election. The board's explanation is as follows:

★ ★ ★

"The board will not order an employer who has a good-faith doubt as to a union's majority status and who has committed no unfair labor practices to bargain with a union unless and until that union wins a fair election.

SO INTERFERED

"In other words, an employer who has a good-faith doubt of a union's majority status is entitled to a secret-ballot election unless he has so interfered with the free choice of his employes as to make a fair election impossible.

★ ★ ★

"It is only in such circumstances that the board will accept a union's cards instead of an election as proof of majority, and the board and the courts have followed this policy for 30 years."

The board's letter emphasizes that the employer can, in court, "try to show that the cards were obtained by coercion or misrepresentation or intimidation or even that they were forged."

★ ★ ★

The board itself does no policing of the methods by which the signatures are obtained.

FEW CASES

The board's letter says that cases of this kind are few and points out that the number in which a union's majority status was based on cards would approximate 200 in the three years from July 1, 1961, through June 30, 1964, and then adds:

"In sum, the employer with clean hands can ask for and get a secret-ballot election, and in the overwhelming majority of cases, this is exactly what happens."

But many an employer who is well aware of the pressure put upon his employes but who cannot produce enough evidence to satisfy the labor board is reluctant to go into lengthy legal battle to obtain his "civil rights."

★ ★ ★

Employers have an inalienable right of free speech. But when no secret election is held, and union organizers are free to collect signatures by going to the homes of employes, the employer is deprived of his rights.

★ ★ ★

Even if only 200 "elections" are carried on by card signatures in three years, the fact that such a process now is being held legal by the NLRB represents a defect in the law which can be cured only by guaranteeing a secret ballot in all cases.

W. Germany Jumps Out of Frying Pan, Into Fire

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government has gotten into a pot of trouble in world affairs, and so far there is no sign that he sees a way out.

★ ★ ★

It is far from being all his fault. But an election is coming up in September, and if there's a rap to be taken, he'll have to take it.

It is bad enough that he has both the Arabs and the Israelis mad at him over the agreement to ship arms to Israel and its suspension.

On top of that he seems powerless to halt a triumph for the rival Communist state of East Germany.

★ ★ ★

This would be the first-class reception promised by Cairo for its chief, Walter Ulbricht.

U.S. BACKING

The arms agreement was made five years ago by Erhard's predecessor, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, with U. S. backing.

When Nasser threatened to open diplomatic relations with East Germany, Erhard stopped the arms.

Bonn was afraid of what might happen if Egypt gave full recognition to East Germany.

★ ★ ★

So far no non-Communist government grants such recognition.

HAD VISIONS

Bonn had visions of a squad of new Communist ambassadors fanning out from East Berlin with promises of aid to other neutralist countries in return for diplomatic prestige. This may still happen.

The ban on arms to Israel brought the expected blast of indignation from Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol.

It was heated by authoritative reports that Erhard had also promised not to establish diplomatic relations with Israel. These have been denied in Bonn.

★ ★ ★

The form of the ban also annoyed the U.S. government. The West Germans went back to their old policy of sending no arms to any area of tension. Bonn has already rebuffed suggestions that it take a more active part in Cyprus and Viet Nam.

Urges 'No' Vote on Pontiac Income Tax

The City Commission has distributed a pamphlet with city paychecks extolling the virtues of the income tax. Perhaps the money spent for this project could have been used for one of the city's pressing needs.

★ ★ ★

When voters approved the shorter workweek for firemen they were told it would cost the city nothing. Now we are told the department is undermanned. If the fire protection is not sufficient to protect the industry, perhaps industry should pay for any additional protection instead of the working man.

The United States Food and Drug Administration is looking into the manufacture of peanut butter. The peanut is being shoved out of peanut butter. Throughout the year the makers have been adding vegetable oils, with one having used one-fourth cottonseed oil. And this just isn't the old-fashioned peanut butter.

★ ★ ★

The agency suggested that 95 per cent of the product be peanuts, but this brought a barrage of objections. This proposal has been dropped to 90 per cent, and this is about the best the agency will do. It may be possible for some enterprising firm to put out a product with simply ground peanuts and salt. At least we'll be watching for that.

★ ★ ★

Change and marketing improvements don't necessarily add up to something better. And truth in advertising would state the amount of peanuts in the product. We think the Food and Drug Administration has a point, and we join them in going back to the day when peanut butter meant what it said —peanuts.

Annual Ritual

The Daily Oklahoman

President Johnson's fiscal hocus-pocus in holding the 1966 budget under $100 billion is as much in keeping with tradition as the accompanying Republican cries of deception.

The bookkeeping gimmickry in these annual rituals is by no means practiced exclusively by either political party. The game consists of putting as pretty a face as possible on the administrative budget which the late President Kennedy once called the "mythical" measure of "all our soundness or unsoundness."

An evident political aversion has developed with respect to any administrative budget calling for expenditures of more than $100 billion. The Johnson administration accordingly exhausts most of the familiar devices to keep its estimated spending within the $100 billion limit.

One device rests on the assumption that lending agencies like the Farmers Home Administration and the Small Business Administration will be successful in selling to private investors large quantities of loans from their portfolios, thereby reducing their net outlays under prevailing budgetary procedures.

Another device consists of scheduling new spending authority for various agencies in the present 1965 fiscal year even though the actual use of all such spending authority between now and next June 30 may be a practical impossibility.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb.) says the budget is replete with "the same old magic tricks and sleight of hand." Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, the new Republican house leader, says he suspects the administration is "overestimating revenues and underestimating expenses."

★ ★ ★

But of course the Eisenhower administration's budget for fiscal 1959 contained the greatest discrepancy of all in this regard. In that conspicuous instance a sharp drop in collections combined with a sharp rise in expenditures to produce a record peacetime deficit of $12.4 billion. What the budget couldn't foresee was the effect of the 1957-58 recession on its revenue and spending estimates.

★ ★ ★

The administrative budget covers a period that doesn't begin until six months after it goes to Congress and doesn't end until 18 months later. The well-known vagaries of the business cycle make predictions hazardous even for the near term. Therefore it's hardly surprising that estimated revenues and expenditures rarely materialize according to early expectations.

BARRED FROM MEETING — Paul Jennings (left) and Jack Suarez leave the Washington, D.C., headquarters of the International Union of Electrical Workers yesterday after they were barred at the door as they tried to attend a meeting of the union's leaders. Jennings of Newark, N.J., is suing to upset James B. Carey's recently announced reelection as IUE president, charging fraud in the vote count. Suarez of Schenectady, N.Y., was voted off the executive board several months ago.

Man Able to Mask His Motives With Double-Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Heaven created the possibility of a perfect language — but man invented double-talk.

Double-talk is ideally suited to man's needs, as it permits him to mask his motives by saying one thing while he is thinking another.

BOYLE

It is said by some that a better world would result if the people had a language that would enable them to communicate with each other perfectly. Actually, this really isn't so.

If we all were completely honest and told our innermost thoughts about each other some bright spring morning, by nightfall no one would be speaking to anyone else and the moon would shine down on an earth in bloody shambles.

NECESSARY BRIDGE

Double-talk is a necessary bridge of hypocrisy we must employ to get our business done until the time comes when hypocrisy will no longer be needed.

Here are a few samples of conventional double-talk, followed by their real meanings:

"Our small country is eternally grateful to the United States for the grain and tools of peace it has supplied us." And now, if we can just get some weapons and military advisers from Russia or Red China we can start war on our capitalistic neighbors.

★ ★ ★

"It was so nice of you to remember my birthday, dear." How come you had amnesia last year?

"The thing I admire about you, Jim, is that you never lose your head when things go wrong." You're too dumb to realize the situation.

"We finally decided against sending Junior to Harvard. It has become so dreadfully parochial." Yale won't take him either — and neither will the U.S. Marines.

"Try sitting in this chair. I think you'll find it much more comfortable." The one you're sprawled in now is an antique — and cost me $150.

"And let me show you our new model 6½-room apartment with the oversized foyer." It has 4½ rooms — if you count the kitchen twice.

"If you're looking for growth possibilities, I'd recommend a little flyer on this stock." I'm stuck with 1,000 shares of it myself.

HAPPY, SINGLE

"If it weren't for you dearest, I don't know what I'd be." Just happy and single.

"It won't be any trouble. I'll be glad to take care of your goldfish while you're away on vacation." I'll even get my cat to help me.

"I can personally guarantee this used car is in the best condition of any on the lot. I got it from an old maid who hardly ever took it out of the garage." Every time she did, she got picked up for drunken driving.

"And now, a few brief remarks from the esteemed founder of our organization." Here goes another two hours shot to—

"I don't believe a word of it. It's just malicious gossip." I ought to know. After all, I started the rumor myself.

"You always get to work half an hour ahead of anyone else, Joe. I like to see ambition in an office boy." I'll bet that kid is stealing from the petty cash fund.

"You're looking great, chief. You ought to be out of the hospital in another week." I wonder who they'll give his job to.

★ ★ ★

"If you don't want to bother carrying it, naturally we'd be pleased to deliver it." That'll give us time to see whether your check is any good.

IUE Rejects UAW Proposal to Merge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President James B. Carey of the International Union of Electrical Workers has sharply rejected an invitation from Walter Reuther to merge with the United Auto Workers of America.

Informants said Carey appeared most upset about the manner in which Reuther, the UAW President, first broached the merger proposal at the White House.

Carey sent a letter to Reuther saying he was "surprised and dismayed" that Reuther should have voiced his offer last week "from the steps of the White House." Reuther talked with White House newsmen after calling on President Johnson on Feb. 9.

Both unions are affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Reuther's proposal for the first major union merger in modern labor history had stirred considerable surprise in the entire labor movement.

ELECTION DISPUTE

Reuther had mentioned in a letter to Carey and other IUE officials the election dispute between Carey and Paul Jennings of Newark, N.J., for the presidency of the IUE and said a merger would solve internal dissension in Carey's union.

It was learned that Carey at a closed meeting of the IUE executive board Tuesday won approval to send a sharply worded letter of rejection to Reuther.

The letter reportedly said Carey would not consider or enter into any negotiations with Reuther's big UAW.

The IUE has about 280,000 members and the UAW more than 1 million.

BITTER COMPLAINT

At the same time, Jennings issued a statement bitterly complaining about being barred from the IUE board meeting.

Jennings, a member of the board, said this denied him the chance to be heard on Reuther's merger proposal.

Jennings also said he was prevented from voicing his objections to what he called "the fraudulent procedures" in his recent election contest against Carey.

Union trustees declared Carey the winner of the election by a scant 2,000 votes out of more than 135,000 ballots cast.

General: Missiles Will Fly Like Jets

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) —An Air Force general says ballistic missiles are so reliable that aerospace industries have been asked how to fire flights of them, with dummy warheads, over heavily populated areas of the United States.

The day will come "when we will be flying missiles over the country as we do jet planes today," Gen. Bernard A. Schriever told a San Bernardino Sun-Telgram reporter.

Schriever, commander of the Air Force Systems Command, Dayton, Ohio, said such missile flights would be planned and coordinated at nearby Norton Air Force Base.

Many Local Factors

Strike Benefits Taxable?

Should strike benefits be included in gross income?

R. I. Nixon, Detroit District director of Internal Revenue Service said today this question is being frequently asked by Michigan taxpayers seeking assistance in completing their 1964 federal income tax returns.

Nixon said it is difficult if not impossible to apply any general rule in determining whether strike benefits are taxable income or may be classified as a gift and as such not included in gross income.

The many local factors governing the payment of strike benefits must be taken into consideration, but in the vast majority of cases, it has been determined that strike benefits paid to Michigan's taxpayers are includable in gross income.

Normally, the only time such benefits are not considered taxable income is where they were intended by the donor to be specifically a gift.

The presence of some or all of the following factors in the payment of a strike benefit will usually distinguish the case as reportable income rather than a gift:

- Employe required to picket or perform other services;
- Payment made regardless of need;
- Benefits vary in relation to wages received prior to the strike;
- Public assistance is available to strikers and their families;
- Benefits are paid only to union members.

OWN MERIT

Nixon emphasized that while these rules are generally applied, each individual case is judged on its own merit and circumstances.

Taxpayers should seek assistance, if they feel the facts in their case make it unusual or out of the ordinary.

Internal Revenue Service local offices throughout Michigan are open for taxpayer assistance on Monday of each week from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

History Is Full of Bizarre Plots

NEW YORK (AP) — History is full of incidents where small groups of determined men have tried to carry out fantastic schemes of destruction.

The Statue of Liberty, one alleged target in the dynamite plot exposed yesterday by New York police, was endangered by such a plan once before in her 80-year history.

Lady Liberty suffered minor damage on July 30, 1916, when a munitions dump explosion believed set by German saboteurs sent artillery shells shrieking into the air around her.

The blast started a $40-million fire raging on New Jersey's Black Tom docks, which jut into New York harbor almost directly behind the statue. Two persons were killed.

Other historic explosions include the blowing up of the U.S. battleship Maine on Feb. 15, 1898, in Havana harbor, an event which helped spark the Spanish-American War.

264 KILLED

That explosion killed 264 men and two officers. A U.S. inquiry decided the blast came from outside the ship, while a Spanish board of inquiry held that it came from inside.

Twenty-one persons died in the Los Angeles Times building in 1910 when a dynamite explosion on Oct. 1 started a fire.

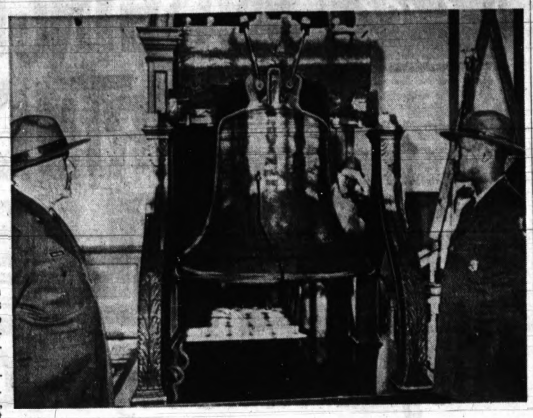
Contractors working on the building were engaged in a labor dispute at the time. They hired an investigator to find the plotters.

In a sensational trial during which defense attorney Clarence Darrow was twice charged with trying to improperly sway the jury, two men pleaded guilty and were sentenced to San Quentin Prison.

BOMB KILLS 10

Six years later, 10 persons watching a Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco died when a bomb went off on July 22, 1916.

Thomas J. Mooney, a labor organizer, and Warren K. Billings, a show worker, were sentenced to death and to life in prison, respectively.



AP Photofax

LIBERTY BELL GUARDED — Guards stand at the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia's Independence Hall yesterday after the FBI announced it had uncovered a plot to bomb the bell, Washington Monument and Statue of Liberty. Visitors continued to pass through the shrine.

Mooney's sentence was later reduced to life, and he was eventually pardoned.

One of the most famous plots was the attempt of abolitionist John Brown to arm the slaves.

HARPER'S FERRY

Brown took a force of only 21 men to raid the federal arsenal at Harper's Ferry, Va., on Oct. 16, 1859.

They took about 60 of the leading citizens as hostages.

Brown was routed two days later by U.S. Marines under the command of Col. Robert E. Lee. Five civilians and a Marine were killed, along with a number of Brown's party.

Brown and five of his cohorts were taken prisoner, and later were hanged for treason. Northern abolitionists viewed him as a martyr.

In 17th century England, a group led by Guy Fawkes plotted to blow up Parliament in reprisal for an anti-Catholic law adopted in 1606.

Fawkes and six others were caught and executed. To this day, Englishmen mark the Nov. 5 anniversary as "Guy Fawkes Day."

In February 1933, the German Reichstag building, which housed part of the government, was destroyed by fire believed set by the Nazis.

The building burned just a month after Adolf Hitler became the German chancellor. A Dutch Communist, Marinus van der Lubbe, was convicted of the crime and beheaded a year afterward.

Detected by Detectives

Pinch Put on Pickpocket

NEW YORK (AP) — A pickpocket on a crowded Madison Avenue bus chose a likely victim last night — a Brazilian government official carrying $441 in his wallet.

The pickpocket worked in full view of two pickpocket squad detectives on the bus.

Eurico Penteado, 68, identified by police as Brazilian minister of economic affairs, was the victim.

Detectives John Flynn and Daniel Fava said they saw a well-dressed man, identified as Warren Nicholas, 38, of Brooklyn, pick Penteado's pocket. They followed him as he left the bus at 67th Street and arrested him two blocks away. He was charged with grand larceny.

Penteado wasn't aware his wallet was missing.

At the police station, he said: "It's wonderful. You only see this stuff on television. You have the best police department in the world."

Continue Talks on Insurance

DETROIT (UPI) — State Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson continued today a hearing that drew a demonstrative public yesterday on the question of cancellation practices of auto insurance firms.

Concerned drivers made up the majority of the crowd that filled the 13th-floor auditorium in the City-Council Building in the first day of the two-day hearing. Some retirees and other drivers confronted insurance executives with cancellation notices from their firms.

Debate was animated in hallways outside the auditorium and those attending roared approval of points made against the firms.

The insurance companies came in for some challenging from State Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe Park. He said he wanted the firms to help revise car insurance laws themselves, if they think changes are needed.

Fitzgerald said that the companies should "get your technicians and specialists on it," and not sit back and wait while pending legislation is offered piecemeal. "You do a disservice to the industry, the state and the people" by failing to participate and then complaining, he said.

'POCKET OF POVERTY'

Arthur C. Mertz, general counsel of the National Association of Independent Insurers, said the auto liability insurance business in Michigan was like "a pocket of poverty in a land of plenty."

"While the automobile manufacturing industry based in Michigan is piling up record profits producing cars," he said, the insurers are losing millions of dollars.

He pointed to an underwriting loss of about $10.5 million for nine Michigan companies in 1963, and said "preliminary 1964 figures point to even more severe losses."

An increase in the number of accidents and claims, higher car repair costs, and a greater number of court verdicts and awards for bodily injury were blamed by insurance spokesmen for higher premiums.

How Best to Protect Them

Redwoods Stir Controversy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— Controversy swirled again today around the ancient, towering Northern California redwood trees and the latest plan to protect them from 20th century man.

North coast residents whose vital lumber industry was crippled by Christmas week floods voiced fear expansion of state redwood holdings would further curtail the industry, which accounts for 70 per cent of Humboldt County's economy.

County supervisors voted 4 to 1 last night to appear in opposition at Friday's meeting of the State Parks and Recreation Commission, when Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's master plan to preserve the trees comes up for consideration.

At issue is an often heated argument that has drawn worldwide attention is the best method of preserving the dwindling redwoods, regarded as the oldest living things on earth.

The original two million acres of redwoods which once stretched from Monterey to the Oregon border have shrunk to 300,000 acres, Brown pointed out.

FRENZIED PROTESTS

State plans for a freeway through Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park have provoked frenzied protests from conservationists.

Three routes are under consideration: One along a wild, untouched stretch of coast; one through the middle of the park; and one along a cut-over ridge just east of the park.

Brown, in revealing the master plan yesterday, said he would recommend the U.S. 101 ridge route to the State Highway Commission.

★ ★ ★

The governor appoints the commission which has absolute power over freeway routes, not subject even to court appeal.

OPPOSE DECISION

Local businessmen also oppose that decision, advocating instead the Gold Beach route, which they regard as cheaper and contributing more to the local economy.

The governor put forth his master plan in order "to preserve natural beauty that cannot be matched or replaced anywhere on earth.

The plan is concerned only with preserving for public use and enjoyment, for all time, outstanding examples of the coast redwood country, with forests, seashores, mountains, streams, meadows and wildlife, as they have existed for centuries."

The state master plan would involve purchasing 44,604 acres of land, much of it forested with redwoods.

FACILITIES

This would add 6,577 new camp sites, 3,013 picnic sites, parking spaces for 8,186 cars, 57 miles of additional parkway, 29 more miles of river frontage and 19 miles of new ocean frontage.

★ ★ ★

Redwood trees have grown to 370 feet and a 20-foot diameter, and are known to flourish only in the Northern California area.

George and Martha Ate Well at Mount Vernon

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Next Monday we'll celebrate the 233rd anniversary of George Washington's birth.

Washington lived well and liked good food.

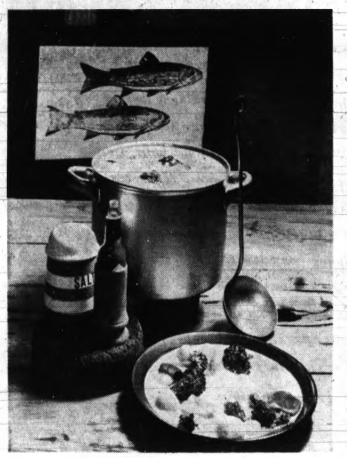
He had his share of meager meals during his war years so that at home at Mount Vernon, he lived comfortably as befit his financial and cultural standing.

* * *

Sometimes I think we have run the cherry tree legend into the ground. But cherries are so closely associated with Washington that we aren't going to try to change anyone.

At the bottom of this page you'll see a handsome color picture of three interesting foods using tart red cherries.

The recipes here at the top are for the kind of food that Martha Washington might have had prepared in the interesting kitchen one sees at Mount Vernon.



FISH CHOWDER AMERICANA

CASSEROLE CORNBREAD

HOME FOR DINNER

Washington traveled mainly by horseback. Can't you imagine him arriving home cold and hungry in time for a dinner that started with fish chowder?

* * *

Servants would have had to catch the fish. Martha would have used different vegetables, ones she had dried or preserved. But let's try this modern version.

Fish Chowder Americana

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
1 package (12 ounces) frozen fillet of flounder, partially thawed
1 cup water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen creamed onions
1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli spears
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) potatoes
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup half and half or milk

Heat butter in deep kettle; add onion and saute until tender. Add flounder; break fish apart while sauteeing. Add water, creamed onions and broccoli.

Cook as creamed onion package directs. Add tomatoes, potatoes and Tabasco; let simmer gently until all vegetables are heated through and just tender.

Stir in half and half. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

* * *

We can be reasonably sure Martha saw to it that an adequate amount of cornmeal was ground from the summer's corn crop.

We're sure she had plenty of homemade cheese to use. And records tell us that wine was made from the grapes grown on the plantation.

Perhaps she would have liked this different cornbread recipe.

Casserole Corn Bread

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
4½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup uncooked yellow cornmeal
1 large egg, beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup white dinner wine
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1½ teaspoons celery seed

Resift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Stir in cornmeal. Add all remaining ingredients, mixing until well blended. Turn into a well greased 1½-quart casserole or 8-inch square baking pan.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until bread tests done and is richly browned and crusty.

Serve as bread to accompany breakfast or supper dishes or as a base for creamed eggs, ham, chicken, vegetables or other creamed mixtures.

At one time it is said that the cook at Mount Vernon was Pennsylvania Dutch.

* * *

When she prepared a hearty dish of short ribs, she used a traditional recipe of her ancestors one that called for beer. There was a brew house on the estate.

Short Ribs, Mount Vernon

¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 pounds beef short ribs, cut in 3-inch pieces
2 tablespoons butter
2 medium onions, chopped
¼ cup molasses
¼ cup catsup
3 tablespoons vinegar
12 ounces beer or ale
½ teaspoon Tabasco
6 whole carrots, scraped and cut in thirds

Combine flour, salt and pepper; roll short ribs in mixture. Heat butter in Dutch oven or heavy kettle. All ribs and brown on all sides.

Remove ribs; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add molasses, catsup, vinegar, beer and Tobasco sauce; mix well.

Return short ribs. Simmer 1½ to 2 hours, until short ribs are tender. Remove meat. Skim fat from liquid.

* * *

Return short ribs with carrots; cook about 15 to 20 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Makes 5-6 servings.

The Washingtons always had children on the plantation.

SHORT RIBS, MOUNT VERNON

Martha had two of her own and through the years there were innumerable nieces and nephews and grandchildren around.

You may be sure that they were as eager for cookies as today's children. Martha might have set out a plate of Molasses Cartwheels with milk for them.

Molasses Cartwheels

1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup unsulphured molasses
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon ginger
¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and molasses. Sift in flour, salt, baking soda, and spices; mix well. Chill in refrigerator 1 hour.

Roll out ⅓ of the dough ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth, keeping remaining dough chilled. Cut with 3-inch cookie cutter.

Repeat procedure until dough is used up. Bake on ungreased baking sheets in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

* * *

When Martha entertained company in the afternoon, she might offer her guests tea or a cool fruit drink and thin slices of old-fashioned poundcake.

If you make this cake, think of those 18th century cooks who had to do all the beating by hand; and their baking in an oven heated by the fireplace.

Thank your lucky stars, as you think back, that you have the conveniences you do. Then say, "Happy birthday" to George Washington.

Old-Fashioned Poundcake

1 cup (2 sticks) margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon almond extract
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
Whole almonds (optional)

Cream margarine; sift the two sugars together and add gradually to margarine, blending well. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, and beat until smooth. Mix in extracts.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Starting with flour and ending with flour, add flour and milk alternately to margarine mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Grease and flour a cast-aluminum, fluted 10x4½-inch cake pan. If desired, put large dabs of margarine along creases of mold, embedding an almond in each dab. Pour batter into mold.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 70 to 75 minutes, or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Let cake cool about 10 minutes in pan on wire cake rack, then remove from pan and cool completely.

Wrap in foil, saran wrap or waxed paper until ready to serve. Sprinkle lightly with confectioners' sugar before serving.

Makes one 10-inch cake or 24 servings.

(Note: If desired, cake may be baked in 2 greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans.)

Applesauce, Chutney Blend in a Dip

Chilling brings out the flavor of apple chutney dip. Combine 2 cups of canned apple sauce with 1¼ cups of chutney, including syrup with the chutney pieces.

Blend in 1 pound of cottage cheese. Chill well. Serve with crackers or potato chips. Makes about 5 cups.

THREE COLORS

OLD FASHIONED POUND CAKE

Waffles Were on Menu for George's Breakfast

Our first president, whose birthday we'll soon be celebrating, was partial to waffles for breakfast. Even before Washington's time, however, waffles were a favorite.

The Dutch had introduced them to the American colonies when they settled in New York some hundred odd years before Washington ate his first breakfast.

Today, waffles still are a wonderful treat. But our methods of preparing them have certainly changed, and the texture and taste have vastly improved.

One of the best waffle batters is made with instant potato granules—a convenience Mrs. Washington didn't have. The potato granules keep the waffles moist and tender on the inside, make them crisp and beautifully brown on the outside.

Served swimming in a spiced honey-butter syrup, they're irresistible for breakfast!

These same potato waffles are a marvelous base for creamed chicken.

While you're at it, make up an extra batch of potato waffles and put them away in the freezer.

Then, if guests happen to drop in on an evening, you can bring on a dish that just hits the spot and it a little different from the usual cake and coffee.

POTATO WAFFLES

1¼ cups sifted flour
¾ cup (½ of a 4 serving envelope) instant mashed potato granules
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
½ cup melted vegetable shortening
1½ cups milk

Sift together the flour, potato granules, sugar, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs thoroughly. Add melted shortening and milk. Combine liquid and dry ingredients. Beat well.

Heat waffle iron as manufacturer directs. When ready to use, pour batter into center of lower half until it spreads about 1 inch from edges. Bring cover down gently.

Bake about 5 minutes or until you see little or no steam escaping. (Do not raise cover during baking.)

With a fork, lift out finished waffle; serve at once. Reheat iron before pouring in next waffle. Makes 8 to 10 portions.

HONEY BUTTER

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Ground nutmeg
1 cup honey

Melt butter in a small saucepan. Blend in cinnamon and a dash or two of nutmeg. Add honey; heat to boiling point.

Serve hot in a pitcher for pouring; or chill the mixture stirring frequently (to keep butter from separating out) until cooled to a heavy syrup consistency. Makes 1½ cups.

Frozen Soup for a Sauce

You can deal a winning hand at your next bridge luncheon with a can of frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and a main dish idea like this one.

In saucepan, cook ¼ cup chopped onion and a 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms (drained) in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until onion is tender. Add a 10-ounce can of shrimp soup, ½ cup milk, and 1 cup diced cooked shrimp.

Heat, stirring now and then. Serve over toast or hot cooked rice.

Tart Red Cherries Lend Color to Many Dishes

RUBY TEA RING

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup milk, scalded
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 1-pound can tart red cherries
2 tablespoons soft butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk
Toasted slivered almonds

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk, sugar, shortening and salt; cool to lukewarm and add softened yeast. Set aside 2 teaspoons beaten egg and add remainder to milk mixture. Add vanilla and enough flour to make a soft dough.

Knead on a lightly floured surface until smooth. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface; cover and let rise until double.

Meanwhile, combine cornstarch and sugar; add cherries and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cool.

When dough is doubled, roll to a 15 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread with butter and cherry filling. Roll lengthwise as for a jelly roll; seal edge. Place sealed edge down on a greased cookie sheet and form into a ring. Pinch ends together.

Snip almost to center at 2-inch intervals and turn each section on its side. Brush ring with reserved beaten egg and let rise until almost doubled.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 25 minutes or until done. Cool.

Combine confectioners sugar and milk; drizzle over cooled ring. Sprinkle with almonds.

CHERRY SAUCED RIBS

4 pounds spareribs
1 1-pound can tart red cherries
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
Dash pepper

Place ribs, meat side up, in a shallow pan. Bake in a 450 degree oven for 15 minutes; pour off fat. Set aside ¼ cup cherries for garnish.

Put remaining cherries through a food mill or whir in a blender; add sugar, catsup, soy sauce, lemon juice, garlic and seasonings. Heat cherry mixture to boiling and simmer 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Spoon cherry sauce over ribs and bake for 1-½ hours or until done. Baste ribs with sauce occasionally. Add reserved cherries to the final basting. Cut into serving pieces. Makes 4 servings.

CHERRY CUPS

1 1-pound can tart red cherries
¼ cup hot water
1 3-ounce package cherry-flavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon red food coloring
¼ cup sugar
Dash salt
2 tablespoons candied orange peel
1 tablespoon orange juice concentrate

Bring cherries, water, gelatin, food coloring, sugar and salt to a boil, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Add candied orange peel and juice.

Cool until mixture begins to thicken and pour into 6-ounce custard cups or molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve as salad or dessert. Makes 6 servings.

Nice Girls Don't Talk to Strangers

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: The other day my mother, my 17-year-old cousin and I went shopping. We stopped at a luncheonette for lunch and sat at the counter.

Two boys came in and sat beside my cousin and me and started to talk to us. They weren't being fresh, just friendly.

When we left, my mother reprimanded my cousin and me for talking to them. She said that nice girls don't talk to strange boys and that we made ourselves appear very cheap.

I can't see anything wrong in what we did. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: If they asked you a question, you were certainly right to answer them. In fact, it would have been very rude not to.

But to have engaged in a lengthy conversation with boys who were perfect strangers to you, was not proper behavior.

* * *

Q: My wedding is scheduled to take place at eleven thirty in the morning. Will you please tell me how the time should correctly be noted on the invitations?

A: "At half after eleven o'clock" is correct. It is not necessary to add "in the morning" as no one could possibly think that your wedding will take place at eleven thirty at night.

Twice the Trouble

Are Two Enough?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. It's not new. I am sure you get hundreds of such letters every day. In my case, I thought I was the last person in the world this would happen to.

After 18 years of what my husband has always told me was an "ideal" marriage for him (and it was for me, too), I learned that he has a paramour.

ABBY

This woman is older than he and she became interested in him after her husband died suddenly.

Abby, how can a man love two women? He maintains he doesn't love me any less than he always has, but that he is capable of loving two women at the same time. Is this possible?

I am desperate.

My husband is a professional man and I dare not give you my name, but I want to know what I should do.

HUSBAND LOVES TWO

DEAR WIFE: Yes, a man can be in love honestly (if not honorably) with two women at the same time.

But his relationship with you has been tested in fair weather and foul, and has survived.

"She" is something new, perhaps flattering and exciting, but likely to fade. He wants both the steady and the heady benefits of love.

Don't let him feed his greed. Ask him to choose. And I'll bet on you.

If I am wrong, keep those legal ties. He'll come out of orbit and back to the hearth. It's worth the gamble.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can put some sense into my son's head. I give up. He is 23 and fell in love with a widow who is 33.

She has five children, but I must say she is very pretty and she doesn't look her age.

He's known her for two years and has gone with her for one. He earns a good living and this woman has a steady income whether she marries him or not.

I begged her to give up my son and find an older man, but she said she "loves" him and couldn't do it.

They all go to church together on Sunday and people stare at them because he doesn't look old enough to be the father of those five children. He says he is proud to be by her side.

His father and I warned him to find a younger woman because divorce isn't permitted in our church. What will he do in a few years when he realizes he made a mistake?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: IF it is proven that your son goofed in marrying a "pretty" widowed mother of five children whom he loves and enjoys, it will be HIS problem. YOUR problem is to refrain from poisoning a relationship that appears inevitable.

Talent Comes to Top

Never Too Late to Learn

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Children may hide their dreams and do as adults wish. However, if the dream is strong enough, it persists.

Kate McLean who was the coordinating force beind the recent Pontiac Mall art show has loved to draw ever since she can remember.

But the strict Scotch grandmother who raised her, after her parents were divorced, disapproved of her drawing. Kate was not even allowed to elect art as a high school subject.

She designed dresses for paper dolls, an activity that was useful in her adult years. A thin woman, she had trouble finding clothes that fit. So she designed and made her own.

TRIED CRAFTS

She tried her hand at every kind of handcraft — knitting, sewing, crocheting, tatting — during the first 15 years of her marriage. She taught classes in these crafts.

The McLeans have lived in the Pontiac area about 20 years. Her husband, Sanford, a graduate of Pontiac Central High School, was away from here during the war years and at the time they were married.

It wasn't until after her older daughter, Sandy, was born 12 years ago that she started drawing again. She began with charcoal and oils.

Although Mrs. McLean considers herself mainly self-taught, she has studied under Steve Davis (he recently completed a portrait of ex-governor Swainson) and J. Hart Gould.

WORKS IN PASTELS

Her present medium is pastels and she experiments in every way she can.

Insead of the usual paper employed by most artists for pastel work, she used gesso paper.

The dictionary defines gesso as plaster of Paris or gypsum, especially as prepared for use in painting—or a surface prepared with these materials. This background gives the picture an unusual texture.

★ ★ ★

Kate McLean has definite ideas about art and the teaching of it. In her classes, she teaches only basics.

She knows that her pupils will go on to experiment with the various media and believes that each should do what is most natural to him.

Do her daughters show artistic talent? Yes, some. We didn't have to ask if she approves.

However, she did say that they do not take her criticism well.

RADIATES VITALITY

Kate McLean is such an intensely alive person that you almost feel the vitality. Whatever she does is done with enthusiasm.

This may take the form of packing both daughters into the car and heading north to Alabaster to explore the mines there. She wanted to experiment with sculpturing in alabaster.

Or it may be the thinking and planning that is necessary for the craft show Pontiac Mall will present next fall with her as chairman.

"I'm going to live to be 200," she announces, "I'll have to in order to do everything I want to do."

With her enthusiasm, she might just do that.

Popular Vote Picks Schulte

Gordon Schulte, Fairview Drive, White Lake Township, was given top honors by the public who viewed the recent art show at the Pontiac Mall.

His picture, "Captive Cat" was chosen best of show by popular vote.

Second place went to Gasper Anfor, Bonnie Briar, White Lake Township for "The Mirror." His painting, "The Shrine," tied for third place with Kate McLean's "Cathy."

Honorable mention went to W. H. Buchheit, Jeff Carr and Mrs. M. J. Root.

There were 850 entries in this year's show.

Lithography Title of Show at Oakland

A century and a half of lithography will be represented in an exhibit opening in the Oakland University art gallery on Friday.

A tea at 2:30 p.m. will mark the first public showing of the works, to be on display until March 5.

On special loan to the University, the exhibit of approximately 60 lithographs will be from the collection of Bernard F. Walker.

Included are works of some of the best-known 19th and 20th century artists, including Ingres; Degas, Renoir, Gauguin, Pissarro, Lautrec, Delacroix, Cezanne, Matisse, Leger, Marini, Braque, Rouault, Picasso, and many others.

John Galloway, professor and chairman of art at Oakland University, describes the collection as "one of the few spanning the whole history of lithography — from 1810 to the present — that is in the hands of a single owner." He adds that the quality of the prints is extremely good.

The University gallery is open from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 2 until 5 p.m. on Sundays.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

Since I am a short woman, I was happy when I saw the new proportioned patterns. I cut my dress, put it together for a fitting and, much to my horror, it is too short-waisted.

There is nothing I can do with my dress, but perhaps you can help me and others by telling us what to look for in these patterns.

Mrs. M. M. D.

Dear Mrs. M. M. D.:

It all boils down to measurements. You simply must not cut out any pattern without checking the measurements and comparing them with yours.

Unfortunately, the proportioned patterns are almost worthless as far as I am concerned, because your height and your proportions are two different things.

You can be short, and yet be long-waisted, just as you can be very tall and at the same time be very short-waisted.

It's still best to measure yourself from the shoulder to the waist, front and back, add at least ½ inch to these measurements for ease, and compare with your pattern. Before you cut your garment be sure you have made all the measurement changes.

If your dress has a natural waistline seam, it is better to add a little extra length to the bodice. You can easily make it shorter but, as you all know, when it is too short it's so final!

LOVELY BLOUSE

One of my friends just made the loveliest, most feminine blouse I have seen in a long time. Thought I'd tell you about it and perhaps you would like to make one, too.

The blouse is made of two layers of fabric, the one is a soft, rather lightweight rayon. The second is a soft, rayon chiffon (silk will do, also).

The blouse I saw was all white. You could use matching fabrics in any color and could achieve some interesting effects by putting two shades together.

Baste the chiffon over the rayon fabric as you do when you underline. Be certain you aren't pulling the top layer too tight.

You will now treat the two layers as if they were just one and proceed with the construction of the blouse.

This type of fabric works beautifully with soft-draped patterns, cowl necklines, soft ties at the neckline, etc.

Because of the rayon fabric, and also the two layers, I would suggest you have this blouse dry cleaned.

Please write to me and let me know how you like this idea. You'll have a $30 blouse for less than five.

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice:

You always stress the importance of GRAIN-LINE when cutting, and yet, some of the new spring silk prints have a border on one side and have to be cut on the cross-grain.

Is it all right to do this and will the dress hang properly.

Mrs. A. R.

Dear Mrs. A. R.:

As we all know, rules are made to be broken! These prints can only be used on the cross-grain, to take advantage of the lovely designs.

When you are making a shift-type or sheath-type dress, it will hang well.

The grain-line is especially important on any shaped area of your garment.

Unless a fabric can be cut more attractively by using the cross-grain on part of it, I would still try to cut ALL the parts of a garment on the lengthwise grain.

Vows Taken by Couple in Royal Oak

June vows are being planned by Patricia Dolores O'Leary, daughter of Mrs. Richard J. O'Leary of Depew Drive, West Bloomfield Township, and Dr. Lawrence M. Jackowski of Chicago, son of the late Michael Jackowskis of Long Island, N.Y. She was graduated from McAuley School of Practical Nursing. Her fiance is an alumnus of the Chicago School of Osteopathy.

St. John's Episcopal Church, Royal Oak, was the setting for the recent marriage of Heidi Ann Hulbert to William Don Bradley.

A supper-reception in the home of her parents, the Richard H. Hulberts of West Long Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township, followed the rite performed by Rev. Geoffrey L. Brice.

White Shasta daisies centered a bouquet of white carnations for the bride who wore a gown of white lace over taffeta and bouffant illusion veil.

With Mary Jo Ellwood, honor maid, were Cindy Hulbert, her sister's bridesmaid and Mindy Jo Hulbert, flower girl.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Pringnitz was best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mrs. Douglas Crossman of Troy and William Bradley of Oak Ridge, Tenn. Ushers were Kim Hulbert and Dave Kanners.

Pending completion of their home in Detroit, the couple is residing with his grandparents, the A. J. Hollands in Berkley.

Polly's Pointers

Try a Bike Wheel

DEAR POLLY —Would you like a cheap but effective television or radio aerial?

Mount an old, discarded aluminum bicycle wheel on the roof in the direction of the station and attach to it the television or radio wire.

Hold the wheel upright with a dowel pin of wood placed through the axle hole and into a board or metal standard that goes down to the roof or pipe.—TINY

BOYS — There is a Pointer for you as I feel sure the girls will not venture to the roof tops.

As intrigued as I was with the idea, I could not imagine myself standing on the roof blowing in the breeze. I hate high places anyway.

A professional advised one addition to Tiny's suggestion. It was to cut the wheel and fasten a wire to each cut end. Good luck. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My last baby received so many pretty rattles that I put them away until I hit upon an idea for using them as a decoration in baby's room.

I painted a wire clothes hanger and with ribbons of different lengths hung the rattles from the lower bar of the hanger to make a pretty mobile for baby.

They could also be hung so that baby could hit them when old enough to throw her arms around and enjoy a bit of noise.

I plan to clip the rattles from the hanger and make several individual playthings when she is old enough to enjoy them. —MRS. A.E.M.

DEAR POLLY — This is the way I salvaged the good parts of a discarded plastic dress storage bag.

The rectangular metal hanger was enambled to match the bathroom and hangs over the shower head for hand laundry.

The zipper was cut out and put in my sewing box for future use.

The quilted top was removed and small appliques put over the hanger holes to make a quilt for my daughter's doll bed.

The rest of the plastic was trimmed carefully and can be used for covering stored articles as a paint drip cloth or a throw-away picnic tablecloth — BEVERLY

Home Remedy for Pores

Try this easy home treatment for enlarged pores. Dissolve one dram of boric acid in eight ounces of good quality witch hazel. Keep the solution in a tightly stoppered bottle.

After washing away the last traces of makeup, dry the face thoroughly. Soak cotton squares in the witch hazel solution and hold against the affected area. Repeat the treatment morning and night.

If the enlarged pores are across the bridge of the nose and at the sides, the most usual place, use a hank of absorbent cotton, molded across the nose.

NEW DESIGN — The Boeing Co. has submitted this design for a supersonic transport plane to the Federal Aviation Agency for evaluation, with the suggestion that it might become the commercial airliner of the future. The plane, which would fly at three times the speed of present jetliners, would have adjustable wings, greater length and width, have gross weight of 500,000 pounds and would transport more than 200 passengers intercontinental distances at speeds up to 1,000 miles an hour.

Face Jungle Warfare on Okinawa

Marines Getting Taste of Viet Nam in Indoctrination

CAMP COURTNEY, Okinawa (AP) — U.S. Marines training here are getting a good idea what fighting is like in the Communist-infested jungles of South Viet Nam.

The Marines, striking force of the U.S. 7th Fleet, recive 10 days of rigorous indoctrination in the rugged northern end of this Pacific island during their 13-month tour here.

* * *

They are pitted against the "aggressors" — guerrilla forces in the black uniforms of the Viet Cong — and are subject to ambush at any time. They must be on the lookout for any one of the many traps used by the Viet Cong.

During the first six days of the exercise, the Marines explore a mock village nearly identical to the compounds in Viet Nam. Then in the final four days they go into a mountainous, jungled area with only enough food and blank ammunition for two days.

DO WITHOUT

Helicopters bring supplies for the remaining two days, but if the Marines are "hit" by the aggressors or have not been performing well, they may be called upon to do without the supplies.

"This method is pure motivation," says Maj. Joseph Paratore, who runs the school. "If they know that a poor showing will result in a couple of hungry days, they are much more likely to do the best job possible."

* * *

A common type of Viet Cong trap studied by the Marines is the Malayan whip. It is a sturdy branch with a row of sharpened sticks bent back between two trees.

The sticks are removed in the exercise, but a trip wire releases the branch, which springs forward at the unwary Marine and is enough to cause a painful welt.

WARFARE CONDITIONS

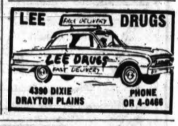
Paratore says that the training here could be applied to guerrilla warfare conditions almost anywhere.

* * *

The weather can be cold and nasty this time of year in northern Okinawa. The instructors tell the Marines that a cold, rainy night is the best time for a guerrilla attack.

* * *

Paratore says that there is no letup during the 10-day period. The men might go many hours without sleep or food.



Welsh Colony Has 'Roaring 20s' Look

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

TREVELIN, Argentina (AP) — Here on Argentina's southwest frontier you expect any minute a crowd of horsemen will ride through the dusty main street crying, "They went thataway!"

But wait, what are those English types doing in there, some in baggy pants, sneakers and berets?

That's just Trevelin, the last outpost Welsh immigrants established in Argentina in a 19th century bid to found a colony devoted exclusively to the preservation of the Celtic tongue, customs and traditions.

The mission failed in its ultimate objective. Little of what they brought with them remains. But the Welsh will use what remains in July when they celebrate the centenary of a pilgrimage to the new southern world.

DESCENDANTS

Many of Trevelin's 2,000 inhabitants are descended from the original Welsh colonizers. That accounts for the English characteristics of the population.

Argentines describe this part of their country as "Far West," using the American term. Cowboy-type pants are advertised as "pantalones Far West" in shop windows.

* * *

Except for the electric guitar, rock 'n' roll, bubble gum and a few other 20th century amenities, Trevelin and its sister city Esquel, 30 minutes up the road, are living somewhere in that period called the "roaring '20s."

Nearly everyone wears a luxuriant mustache. Why? Most of the men shrug off the question but Dante Brozzi, 41, co-owner of a local bar-restaurant, says:

"Maybe it's because we have such large noses."

BORDER AREA

Trevelin and Esquel stride the lower, fertile foothills of the snow-capped Andean boundary between Argentina and Chile. Buneos Aires is 1,000 miles northeast. This is rugged mountain territory, with emerald lakes tucked away in lush green forests.

North of here is Bariloche, Argentina's most fashionable winter skiing resort. But east of Trevelin the country turns abruptly into a bleak, windy, almost treeless plain rolling 350 miles to the Atlantic. This is the western fringe of Patagonia, a gray, V-shaped, 900-mile desert occupying the lower half of Argentina.

* * *

It isn't as forbidding as it looks. The desert's gray monotony is broken by small orchards shielded by tall poplar stands. The nation's second most important oil producing zone also is in Patagonia.

Patagonia derives from "Patagones," the phrase Ferdinand Magellan used to describe the big-footed tracks of Indians he spotted during his 1520 voyage to cross the strait farther south.

EARLY ARRIVALS

Patagonia was still largely uninhabited 300 years later when the first Welsh settlers, 153 of them, arrived from Liverpool at Madryn, 700 miles south of Buenos Aires.

In a book by one of the first settlers, Rev. A. Mathews says it was nearly 10 years before the Welsh, mostly miners, were able to master the arid soil through irrigation.

* * *

It took 20 years for the first Welsh settlers, alternately fighting and befriending Indian tribes, to reach Trevelin.

Ex-Con Found Shot to Death

DETROIT (AP) — Jaime A. Garcia, a 26-year-old ex-convict, was found shot to death on a rural Wayne County road Tuesday.

Garcia, a native of Michigan City, Ind., was paroled from Southern Michigan Prison in 1962 after serving four years for burglary. He was returned to prison in 1963 after being involved in a chase by Indiana state police.

* * *

He had been living in a halfway house since his parole six days ago.

The body was found by a school bus driver about seven miles from Flat Rock. State Police said they believe Garcia was killed elsewhere around 10 p.m. Monday.

Wayne County medical examiners said the man was shot at close range with a large caliber pistol.

Businessmen to Get LBJ 'Sell'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson begins two days of hard selling today to swing the nation's business leaders behind his program of keeping the bloom on the economy at home and the dollar as good as gold abroad.

A speech at 1:30 p.m. today to the National Industrial Conference Board affords Johnson an opportunity to plug for voluntary restraint by corporations and banks as the key to reducing the nation's nagging balance of payments deficit.

In addition, the chief executive was expected to urge businessmen to do their part in holding down prices.

About 1,100 business leaders were expected at today's meeting of the board, an independent, nonprofit organization devoted to research in business problems.

* * *

Tomorrow many of the same businessmen will meet Johnson at the White House to hear more about his program for ending the dollar drain.

TO TALK SPECIFICS

Later in the day, industrialists will go to the Commerce Department and bankers to the Federal Reserve to discuss specifics.

While most business leaders endorse the President's goals, many are skeptical about his means of achieving them.

Last week he asked industrialists and bankers to hold down their investments and loans abroad until the dollar outflow is more under control. The balance of payments deficit in 1964 was $3 billion.

* * *

At first, businessmen expressed gratification that Johnson had called for voluntary restraint instead of government controls. But now some executives are voicing doubts that they can hold down their overseas spending without losing out to European and Japanese competitors.

Some observers, both in and out of the government, are predicting that voluntary restraint will not do the trick. They say that sooner or later Johnson is going to have to resort to sterner measures.

French Foreign Minister in U.S. for Policy Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle's top aide arrives in Washington today for high-level talks on the sharp policy differences between France and the United States on Viet Nam and other critical issues.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, due to fly in from Paris tonight, was scheduled for at least one long session with President Johnson and several conferences with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other officials, beginning tomorrow morning.

In preparation for his talks with the French minister, Johnson planned to confer today with Charles E. Bohlen, U.S. ambassador to France.

Johnson and Rusk were said to entertain no hope of narrowing the policy gap between Washington and Paris on such explosive issues as German reunification, Viet Nam and Communist China.

* * *

But, officials said, they hoped to get a clearer idea of just what de Gaulle is up to in the Far East, particularly in Southeast Asia, while explaining in detail the American position.

SUMMER SUMMIT

Johnson's talk with Couve de Murville Friday could lay the basis for a summer summit conference in Paris between the President and de Gaulle, although that is not the primary purpose of the French minister's visit.

Johnson has made it clear that he hopes to meet with de Gaulle later this year. Officials said, however, that they did not expect any specific arrangements for such a confrontation would be started until later.

Administration officials are interested in reports that France, which favors early international negotiations to "neutralize" Viet Nam, is engaged in discussions with representatives of Communist Viet Nam and U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

* * *

The United States has said that it would consider no negotiations of any sort until the Communist - led guerrillas attempting to overthrow the Saigon government cease operations and their supporters and suppliers — Red China and North Viet Nam — promise to quit meddling in the affairs of their neighbors.

President Johnson invited his pastor to lunch at the White House yesterday and made his annual contribution to the church. How much?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

"That's between the President and the pastor," said presidential press secretary George E. Reedy.

"I really don't know," Reedy replied when asked whether the President tithes.

The pastor is Dr. George R. Davis of National City Christian church in downtown Washington. The President's wife and daughters are Episcopalians and the family attends both the Christian church and St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church.

Farouk's Daughter Will Wed

Princess Fadia, 21, youngest daughter of former Egyptian King Farouk, is planning to marry Pierre Orloff, 26, a White Russian geologist. The plans were disclosed yesterday in a notice at London's Kensington register.

Against Marriage, Italian Style

Pia Lindstrom, 25, daughter of actress Ingrid Bergman, said today she would like to marry an Italian.

The weekly magazine Oggi quoted Miss Lindstrom as saying in reply to a question:

"Certainly. I would like very much to marry an Italian. But I would want the wedding to be in France or Switzerland—that is, a country where divorce is allowed. It's not that I do not believe a marriage can happily last forever, but only that I would like its duration and success to depend upon my will, my free choice."

Wendell Corey Enters Race

Actor Wendell Corey will run for the Santa Monica, Calif., city council because, his wife says, he doesn't have an excuse for not running.

Corey, 50, filed papers on his candidacy yesterday. He faces possibly 12 opponents in a battle for four seats in an April 13 election.

Alice Corey said: "Wendell always said good government begins at home, on the local city level. He really didn't have any excuse for not running."

Natalie Wood's Sister Seeks Divorce

Starlet Lana Wood, younger sister of actress Natalie Wood, has filed for divorce in Hollywood from her husband of less than a year, Karl Brent, road manager for singer Judy Garland.

Vatican Door Hit by Bomb

May Be Protest to Banning of Drama

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A pound of dynamite exploded early today against a wooden door in the Vatican wall only 100 yards from the apartment where Pope Paul VI was sleeping.

Police sought to determine whether the explosion was linked with Communist protests against the banning of the controversial play "The Deputy."

Vatican sources said the blast undoubtedly wakened the Pope. It destroyed part of the door in the wall, caused damage in the Swiss Guard barracks just inside the wall and shattered windows within a hundred-yard radius.

A night watchman, Vittorio Rivi, told police he saw two men approach the gate, then hurry away in a high-powered car just before the explosion. He said the men were short, youthful in appearance and well-dressed. He said one was bearded.

Police said the bomb was a crude device consisting of a pound of dynamite packed into a carton. It was wedged against a corner of the seldom-opened Porta Angelica-Angelic Door.

The door is alongside the gate of Sant'Anna, the only entry into the walled Vatican City from the Via de Porta Angelica, which runs from the southeastern corner of Vatican City to the great colonnades around St. Peter's Square.

It was the first bombing at the 108-acre Vatican City-state since 1962, when two fire bombs were found in St. Peter's Basilica three weeks before the first session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Two months before a time bomb had exploded in the basilica but caused only slight damage.

Vatican radio and newspaper had strongly protested the attempt last weekend of a small company of actors to stage private performances of "The Deputy," a play by West German author Rolf Hochhuth questioning whether Pope Pius XII did all he could to protect Jews from Nazi extermination.

Days Filled With Tension

Dr. Sam Clings to Uncertain Freedom

(Editor's Note: Any day now Dr. Sam Sheppard expects word that the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati has ruled on whether the freedom he has enjoyed for seven months will end in a return to prison. In this interview by John Sheppard —no relation—Sheppard and the German divorcee he married tell of their life together and their anxiety.)

By JOHN SHEPPARD

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "When you've gone through 10 years of hell, you know how precious your freedom is," says Dr. Sam Sheppard.

* * *

These are tension-filled days for Sheppard, 41, and his German-born wife, the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns.

She married Sheppard two days after his release July 16 from Ohio Penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence for the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

Mrs. Sheppard, 35, a slim, attractive blonde, shares her husband's anxiety and seeks to bolster his hope that he won't return to prison.

* * *

A decision on this could come any day now from the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

LIVE QUIETLY

The Sheppards live quietly in a rented five-room brick row house in suburban Rocky River.

Occasionally they go out to dinner and a show, but they avoid nightclubs or other public places.

They spend most of their time at home where Sam reads medical journals and compiles lists of new drugs.

* * *

He has been teaching his bride how to use surgical instruments. Some day, he hopes, she will be his surgical assistant.

SCARED

"He's never been so scared in all his life," she said. "How much can one man endure?

PREPARE FOR FUTURE — Sam Sheppard, 41, examines the plastic parts of a skull he gave his wife, Ariane, 35. Hopeful of becoming an osteopathic surgeon again, Sheppard wants his wife to assist him in operations if he regains his license. His second-degree murder conviction in 1954 cost Sheppard his license. Free since mid-July, he is awaiting a federal appeals court ruling on whether he must return to prison.

"Sam is strong, but he's only human. Sam said the thought of possibly going back to prison would be more than he could stand."

The former osteopath has insisted that a "bushy-haired" intruder beat his pregnant wife to death in their suburban Bay Village home before dawn July 4, 1954.

* * *

A jury convicted him of second-degree murder, which carries a life sentence and possibility of parole after 10 years.

APPEALS FAILED

Appeals involving expenses Ariane estimated at more than $100,000 failed as the years went by. But last July Sheppard was released on a writ of habeas corpus from U.S. Dist. Judge Carl A. Weinman of Dayton.

The judge ruled Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated during the trial — in part by what the judge called unfair newspaper publicity.

The state appealed Judge Weinman's order freeing Sheppard on $10,000 bond. The three-judge federal appellate court heard final arguments last Oct. 9.

* * *

If the court upholds Judge Weinman Sheppard will remain free and the state must decide whether to retry him.

SUPREME COURT

Lee Bailey of Boston, counsel for Sheppard, said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, to prevent Sheppard's return to prison.

"I think his chances of ever coming back are remote," said Bailey.

While a decision is pending, Sheppard prefers to let his wife talk about their uncertain future.

* * *

He is trying to prepare himself mentally and physically for whatever may come. Daily he does push-ups and barbell lifts. His waistline is 32 inches, and at 175 he is 10 pounds under what he weighed in Ohio Penitentiary.

SAM'S PLANS

About their plans, Ariane said her husband wants to:

— Adopt Iris, her 11-year-old daughter by a previous marriage. The girl is in a boarding school outside Dusseldorf, Germany.

— Visit Culver Military Academy in Indiana where his son, Sam Jr., 17, is a senior looking toward a career in law or medicine.

— Regain his licesnes as an osteopathic surgeon specializing in diseases of the nervous system. He said he has had a dozen job offers from hospitals in Pennsylvania, New York, Arizona and California but wants to work in Ohio.

* * *

— "Have as many of our own children as possible." Ariane said she still is recovering from a miscarriage last Christmas Eve.

Ariane was living in Europe when she read of the Sheppard case and began correspondence with him in 1960. The daughter of a wealthy German industrialist, she has a simple explanation for their marriage in Chicago last summer:

"It was love, and love alone. I'll always stand by him, no matter what happens."

Body Found in Car Trunk

DETROIT (AP)—The body of an attractive suburban housewife was found in the trunk of her car Tuesday by Detroit police.

Mrs. Irene M. Auhill, 44, missing since Dec. 31, has been dead two or three weeks, according to the Wayne County medical examiner. She apparently was alive when she was locked in the trunk, police said.

Officers say they first noticed the car in a parking lot two weeks ago. They discovered the body while making a routine investigation Tuesday.

The woman's husband, Lee Roy Auhill, 45, told police he had last seen his wife on Dec. 31, but that it was not unusual for her to be gone for periods up to a week. He reported her missing Jan. 6.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Chafed Skin Areas Liable to Infection

BRANDSTADT

Q—What causes the dermatitis that comes under the breasts, in the groin and in the seat? What is the best treatment?

A — Chafing may occur wherever two moist skin surfaces rub together. Persons who are fat have the most trouble with it but it may occur in anyone.

Once the chafed areas become inflamed they are susceptible to local infection, especially with ringworm or some other fungus. This may keep the dermatitis going indefinitely.

In general, treatment consists in keeping the area clean and dry and free of irritants. For this purpose your doctor may want to use a solution of aluminum acetate or bichloride of mercury applied for 30 or 60 minutes then gently dried.

★ ★ ★

Calamine lotion with phenol and menthol may then be applied to relieve the itching and a dusting powder or zinc stearate powder will help keep the area dry.

BEWARE IRRITANTS

The inflamed area is made worse by overtreatment with solutions that are irritating or are too strong, so have your doctor advise you before you use anything on these areas.

If he finds evidence of a fungus infection he may want to use a completely different line of treatment.

Q—What causes hemosiderosis? Can it be cured?

★ ★ ★

A—This condition is due to a deposit of hemosiderin, a blood pigment, in the tissues.

It is found in persons with long-standing heart disease with waterlogging, pernicious anemia, excessive intake of iron in drugs or in the diet, or prolonged use of a low-protein low-phosphate diet.

The treatment would depend entirely on the cause.

Q—My daughter has a hanging light over her dining room table with a 150-watt bulb.

The glare makes my eyes smart. Both her children have headaches and trouble with their eyes. Could improper lighting be the cause?

★ ★ ★

A—Improper illumination can certainly cause headache and eyestrain.

Although they are not the only causes they could well be an important factor in the cases you mentioned.

Lighting engineers have worked out many improvements in the last 40 years. The light from an unshielded bulb should never strike your eyes directly.

★ ★ ★

It should come to you through a white shade or, better yet, through indirect lighting.

TWO SOURCES

Furthermore, it should be softened by coming from two or more sources in the same room.

When this is done there will be no harsh contrasting lights and shadows and the light from even a 150-watt bulb will cause no irritating glare.

Red Marshal Tells of Might

'Says Russia Fully Equipped in N-Arms

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is armed with intercontinental and global rockets whose nuclear warheads are equal to 100 million tons of TNT, Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky said today.

He also claimed Soviet supersonic planes are equipped with long-range rockets carrying nuclear warheads.

Sokolovsky spoke at a news conference held in connection with the 47th anniversary of the Red army. He was chief of the general staff for the army and air force from 1955 to 1960 and is now retired to a defense ministry inspector's post.

The Red Army anniversary is celebrated on Feb. 23.

NUCLEAR WEAPONS

"We have more than enough nuclear means to rout any aggressor," Sokolovsky said.

He said strategic rocket troops now form the backbone of the Soviet armed forces.

★ ★ ★

The effectiveness of the Soviet air force, he continued, has been sharply increased by supersonic planes equipped with nuclear-tipped, long-range rockets.

He said the Soviet navy is now built around atomic submarines of virtually unlimited range that are equipped with powerful missiles.

AIRCRAFT DEFENSE

New Soviet antiaircraft defenses are capable of reaching targets flying at any speeds at any altitudes, he declared.

Soviet ground forces are equipped with tactical nuclear weapons and tactical rockets, he said.

Replying to questions, the marshal said the Soviet Union would "gladly" withdraw its troops from Hungary, Poland and East Germany "if the Western powers announce their intention to follow our example."

The Western Allies have previously rejected such offers, pointing out that U.S. troops would have to withdraw across the Atlantic while Soviet troops would pull back only a few hundred miles.

Shipwreck on Desert Island

Tells Saga of Sea Survival

DARWIN, Australia (UPI) — A harrowing saga of survival was told today by two sailors who rowed a leaking dinghy through shark - infested waters to get help for six comrades shipwrecked for nearly a month.

The group, including a woman and her 8-month-old baby, were marooned on a tiny uninhabited island off Australia's northern coast.

They lived on a diet of oysters and mussels until finally rescued a week ago.

Details of the dramatic rescue were revealed today.

★ ★ ★

The drama began last month when Robert Casey, 51, bought a 32 - ton fishing boat named Dana Maria and set out from Darwin for Brisbane to put the vessel into prawn waters.

ABOARD SHIP

Traveling with Casey were Ian James, 35, his wife, Dawn, 28, and their infant daughter, Tom Spradvrow, 27, and William Pitt, 22, signed on as crewmen-passengers.

Four days out of Darwin off the Wessel Islands in the Arafura Sea, the ship was caught in heavy seas and near hurricane-force winds. It wallowed for more than a day.

The ship finally struck a reef and was abandoned. Pitt rowed Mrs. James and the baby 200 yards toward shore in the dinghy and the others swam.

"The dinghy had almost reached shore when it was swamped," Spradvrow said. "Mrs. James and the baby managed to scramble ashore, but Pitt was knocked unconscious. Casey dragged him ashore."

GATHERED SUPPLIES

Once on land, the party salvaged canvas for shelter and some water-logged flour, tea and potatoes from the ship stores. They also recovered a small supply of water and fishing tackle.

Spradvrow said it rained constantly for the first three days; and when the rain stopped, intense heat, sandflies and mosquitoes proved even worse.

Snakes on the island, Spradvrow said, "acted like they'd never seen people before. They came within a few feet of the camp."

The food supply was exhausted after four days. A few fish were caught with handlines. Spradvrow said the baby thrived on a diet of mashed oysters.

TIME FORGOTTEN

About 10 days later — Spradvrow said he lost track of time — he and Pitt decided to set out in the damaged dinghy to get help.

"We had lost all our fishhooks on the rocks and the diet was getting monotonous," Spradvrow said. "I had a gun and managed to shoot a couple of birds but we could have been stranded there for months."

Pitt and Spradvrow patched a hole in the 13-foot rowboat and pushed off, carrying three bottles of water and a sack of uncooked flour dough.

The two seamen said sharks were so thick and voracious that they nipped at the oars. One man rowed, and the other stood guard with Spradvrow's 22-caliber rifle.

Pitt and Spradvrow reached Elcho Island 3½ days later, then walked 35 miles to a Methodist mission station. A boat from the mission picked up the six survivors.

Casey said he plans to organize a group to go back to make repairs on the Dana Maria.

Bike Rider Belted in Chain of Events

TOKYO (UPI) — Shades of an old Mack Sennett movie: A speeding truck rammed into a fire alarm pole today in downtown Tokyo, touching off the alarm, which brought six fire trucks to the scene.

Two of the trucks collided at an intersection, knocking a ladder from one of the trucks which hit and injured a man riding by on a bicycle.

Firearm Act Brings 5 Days

A 41-year-old Clarkston man was sentenced to five days in the Oakland County Jail yesterday and placed on two years probation for intentionally aiming a firearm without malice at two finance company employes who had repossessed his truck.

Billie Cole, 53 Waldon, had pleaded guilty to the charge on Jan. 22. The sentencing by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem stipulated that Cole pay $150 court costs.

★ ★ ★

Cole was arrested by Waterford Township police on Sept. 22 after he had chased the two men in his car on the Dixie.

The pair told police that Cole fired two shots at them.

He was originally charged with felonious assault but was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser count.

NEW YORK (AP)—Kent Cooper, retired general manager of the Associated Press, left an estate of more than $100,000 when he died at West Palm Beach, Fla., on Jan. 31 at the age of 84, according to his will filed for probate yesterday.

Cooper left the bulk of his estate to his widow, Sarah A. Gibbs Cooper, and a bequest of $30,000 to Mrs. George L. Seeger of Ossining, N.Y., a daughter by an earlier marriage.

Van Eck, born in Holland, worked as a banker before joining the Royal Dutch Shell group of companies.

★ ★ ★

He came to the United States in 1911 and a year later in Seattle, Wash., he started the American Gasoline Co., forerunner of the present Shell Oil Co.

He later headed the Shell organization in the United States and in 1936 became managing director of the Royal Dutch Shell group from which he retired in 1947.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate breath." Expect Compensation Bill to Be Offered This Week

A Democratic-sponsored bill calling for major revisions in the Workmen's Compensation Act will be introduced in the State Legislature this week.

The plan, which would increase possible maximum benefits from $57 to $100 per week was outlined yesterday by Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley, and Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, chairmen of the Senate and House labor committees.

The new proposals incorporates many improvements recommended by Gov. George Romney's Study Commission on Workmen's Compensation, according to the legislators.

The increased benefits — eliminating a 500-week limitation for injured workers and gearing payments to reflect each year's cost of living — would not be retroactive.

★ ★ ★

In addition to increasing maximum weekly benefits from $57 to $100, and the minimum from $18 to $27, the bill would broaden the coverage to include agricultural employes who work 35 hours a week for at least 13 weeks. Farm workers are not now covered.

ALL INCLUDED

It would also include all other workers—including domestic help—if one or more employe of a single employer works 35 hours a week for 13 weeks.

Elected public officials whose elective post is their major employment also would be covered.

The bill also would eliminate the $10,500 maximum benefit limitation for workers disabled by silicosis, a respiratory disease, but only after a one-year grace period to allow a time for a study on the ways to handle the increased cost of this change.

★ ★ ★

Levin and Bradley said that the proposal appears to be the most positive approach to solving the problems of workmen's compensation.

NOT EVERYTHING

"But the bill does not encompass all the changes desired by either labor or management," they added.

"Undoubtedly some employe groups may claim that some improvements in the bill do not go far enough.

"But at the same time, some management representatives will say that the bill is too liberal and will be too costly."

★ ★ ★

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said the legislation "will receive top priority" in the House.

★ ★ ★

Both he and Raymond Dzendzel, senate majority leader, commended the two labor committees in drafting the bill and repeated their earlier praise of the recommendations of the governor's study committee.

Pontiac Twp. Man Is Given 10 Days in Jail

A Pontiac Township man, free on $500 bond on a resisting arrest charge, yesterday was found guilty of being drunk and disorderly and given a 10-day jail term.

Jack Lee Roberts, 27, of 1640 Taylor, was charged with both offenses after his arrest by Waterford police Jan. 24 outside the Huron Bowl, 2525 Elizabeth Lake.

He previously was bound over to Circuit Court for a Feb. 24 arraignment on the resisting arrest charge by Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath after a preliminary examination.

Besides the jail sentence set by McGrath, Roberts was also fined $20 plus $15 costs on the drunk and disorderly charge.

GOVERNOR GIVES TESTIMONY — Gov. Paul Johnson (right) of Mississippi reads a statement to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights at Jackson, Miss., yesterday. The commission is holding hearings on abuses of the voting privilege in the state.

Call for U.N. Vote Felt China-Inspired

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.N. delegates believe Peking was the mastermind behind Albania's demand yesterday for a formal vote that would force the U.S.-Soviet showdown in the United Nations which the General Assembly has been striving to avoid.

Most diplomats refused to speak on the record, but they said privately it was obvious Red China was behind the sudden move by chief Albanian delegate Halim Budo, which caught other assembly members completely off guard.

"It looks as if some people want to wreck the United Nations," U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson told reporters.

Asked if he thought Peking had a hand in it, Stevenson said he had no clues, then added, "I suppose so."

★ ★ ★

Most diplomats felt Albania would not have suddenly run counter to the wishes of the assembly unless the Chinese Communists had brought heavy pressure to bear.

WAVED ASIDE

Budo waved aside newsmen who sought to question him after the stormy session.

"Everything I had to say I said on the assembly floor," he declared.

It had promised to be a routine session to declare a long recess while a special committee tried to resolve the peacekeeping muddle that has paralyzed the assembly.

★ ★ ★

Delegates bolted upright when Budo declared the time had come to end the voting moratorium that has frozen assembly business since the session began Dec. 1.

LASHED OUT

Budo lashed out at the United States, accusing the Americans of "barbaric bombing" in North Viet Nam and trying to use the United Nations as a "screen for its actions in Indochina."

He then loosed a broadside at both the United States and the Soviet Union, declaring, "We cannot tolerate the dominance of the United Nations by two powers at the expense of all the other members."

Budo proposed that the assembly decide at once by roll call to elect its steering committee, adopt an agenda and get to work.

Stammering with surprise, Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana declared the entire membership had agreed to the voteless procedure "in an overwhelming desire not to have a confrontation at the present session."

SERIES OF APPEALS

He appealed to Budo not to press his motion, but the Albanian insisted.

This touched off a series of appeals from Saudi Arabia, Sweden, Cameroon and Cyprus. Budo stood his ground.

After conferring with U.N. legal experts, Quaison-Sackey resorted to his powers as president.

★ ★ ★

"If I correctly sense the feeling of the assembly, the assembly would like to adjourn until Thursday at 3 p.m.," Quaison-Sackey said.

Budo raised his hand, then shrugged as Quaison-Sackey banged down the gavel.

Marquee Plea for Loyalty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Korean war veteran who ran up the flag on his Market Street movie theater marquee plans to leave the banner there awhile.

★ ★ ★

Wallace Levin, 34, a former corporal, often expresses his opinions on one side of the marquee, and advertises his movies on the other side.

This time the opinion reads:

"Some local traitors like the Viet Cong flag."

Underneath, beside the American flag, Levin put "We like this one. How about you?"

★ ★ ★

Last weekend demonstrators protesting U.S. retaliatory attacks against North Viet Nam hoisted the Viet Cong flag on the federal building flagpole. It was quickly taken down by security police.

Mississippi Negroes Tell How Fear Rules the Polls

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — "Until we can get to the polls, I don't think we can be considered citizens," a 78-year-old Negro farmer, who says he paid poll taxes for more than 40 years before being allowed to register as a voter, told the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

Although he was permitted to register, Jake Cain of Carroll County said, he has been afraid to vote.

Cain was one of 15 Negro witnesses who appeared before the commission yesterday. Some said "things are getting better."

The commission hopes to wind up its look into voting registration today and consider other matters.

★ ★ ★

"We were raised in the atmosphere that kept us under fear that we should not go in and vote," said Cain, who owns his own 185-acre farm.

Cain was one of those who said the situation was improving.

"The deputies don't use clubs and kick the Negroes every time they take them in like they used to do," he said.

The elderly Negro said he was registered to vote six years ago when the Carroll County sheriff wanted to get Negroes on the voter rolls after a federal court tossed out a murder conviction because no Negroes could qualify for jury service.

A year later, Cain continued, he asked if he could vote but was told there would be opposition.

NEXT TIME

"I've paid my taxes since I was 21 and I have been a loyal citizen all these years," Cain said. "Next time, I will attempt to vote."

Percy Brinson, a Negro who owns a 96-acre farm in Issaquena County which he said had an income of more than $9,000 annually, said that for years "I didn't try to register because I knew it was not wanted. I knew of people who tried and were turned down and I wanted to keep it peaceable."

He said the sheriff asked him a year ago to register but he was turned down after taking the voter qualification test.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, a commission member and president of Notre Dame University, asked Brinson:

"Do you think if you can manage the business of a farm with a $9,000 income and pay taxes you ought to have the right to vote?"

Brinson said he felt "if I could vote it would give me a little power to benefit us, not only the Negro, but the poor people."

Circuit Clerk G. H. Hood of Humphreys County was asked by commission member Erwin Griswold, dean of the Harvard Law School, to interpret a section of the Mississippi constitution which he gives as a test to voter applicants.

Hood hesitated and then began to read the section.

INTERPRETATION

"I didn't ask you to read it," said Griswold. "I asked you to give a reasonable interpretation."

Hood consulted his attorney and then declined to do it.

"On grounds your answer might incriminate yourself?" Griswold asked.

"Yes, sir," was Hood's reply.

"I find his refusal to interpret it rather surprising when citizens of Mississippi are asked to do the same thing in order to register," Griswold commented.

TOOK PICTURES

John D. Purvis, the Humphreys County sheriff, admitted taking pictures of Negroes who had gone to his courthouse to register.

"Did you consider what effect taking their pictures might have on Negroes attempting to register?" Purvis was asked by commission member Robert S. Rankin of Duke University.

"It never occurred to me that it would," replied the sheriff, adding he couldn't understand the Negroes "being afraid of me."

Purvis, under questioning, said he believed qualified Negro citizens are entitled to the same right to vote as white people."

Outlook Is 'Bully'

Beatles on Stock Mart

LONDON (UPI) — Two of the Beatles move officially into the millionaire class tomorrow to the usual chorus of disapproval from adults. But this time the old folks aren't the parents of hysterical teenagers.

★ ★ ★

They are the financial editors of the most important journals in Britain, solidly critical to a man of a stock issue which depends largely on the future success of Beatles John Lennon and Paul McCartney as songwriters.

The authoritative "Investors Chronicle" gave almost its entire front cover this week to this headline:

"Yeah
"Yeah
"Nay."

★ ★ ★

With the "nay" in bright red.

In an article inside, the weekly said:

"The stock exchange seems to have lowered its barriers remarkably in order to allow this issue into the market place."

TO SELL SHARES

What the Investors Chronicle — and a good part of Britain — was talking about — was a decision to sell $5.4 million worth of shares in Northern Songs, Ltd., tomorrow.

The shares are priced at seven shillings ninepence ($1.09) and the issue is expected to be sold out immediately to Beatle fans and market speculators despite the warnings that it is, to quote the financial editor of the Daily Mirror, "a downright gamble."

Lennon and McCartney own 30 per cent of Northern Songs, valued at $1.68 million. This, added to their earnings from recordings and tours with fellow Beatles George Harrison and Ringo Starr puts them in the millionaire class, according to friends.

★ ★ ★

Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles, has 7.5 per cent of the firm, or $420,000 worth.

FUTURE SUCCESS

In its published prospectus, the company says its prosperity "is largely dependent on the continuing popularity of its existing catalogue and on the success of future compositions by Lennon and McCartney which may later be added."

"John and Paul could be gone and forgotten a couple of years from now," said the Daily Mirror. "Or, they COULD grow up into a Gilbert and Sullivan, a Rodgers and Hammerstein."

Northern Songs estimated its profits before tax for the year ending April 30 at more than $1.5 million. On the basis of existing songs and not taking into account any future Beatles songs, the company estimated its profits for the following year at more than $1.2 million.

★ ★ ★

The London Evening Standard reported American interest in the issue.

★ ★ ★

"Wall Street cares a lot less about profits records, yields and other yardsticks we rate so highly here," it said. "They like a gamble — and to Americans, the Northern Songs' terms seem attractive."

Careful System Is Used by Labor Dept. to Determine Nation's Unemployment Rate

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Brown has a job with the Nuts & Bolts Co. but didn't work last week because of a strike at the plant. Question: Is he employed or unemployed?

He's employed, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But suppose, while on strike, Brown goes over to the Screw & Washer Factory to apply for a job there?

★ ★ ★

In that case, he will show up on the government's jobless rolls along with some four million other Americans.

The names of Bob Brown, the Nuts & Bolts Co. and the Screw & Washer Factory are mythical of course, but the bureau uses them to illustrate how it arrives at one of the nation's most important economic yardsticks every month.

During one week in every month, some 35,000 families in a carefully chosen cross section are interviewed by a special group of Census Bureau workers and the results multiplied to get the national unemployment rate.

★ ★ ★

But it's not so simple as just knocking on the door and asking who in the family is employed or out of work.

★ ★ ★

The interviewer does not make the decision. It's all done by electronic computer back at the Census Bureau in Washington.

The computer is programmed to decide who is listed as employed, unemployed or not in the labor force.

LISTED WORKERS

People with regular jobs who were absent from work during the survey week because of illness, bad weather, strikes or various personal reasons are listed as employed.

★ ★ ★

Except, as in Bob Brown's case, a striker who goes looking for another job is counted as unemployed. If he simply went fishing and waited for the strike to end, he would be counted as employed.

Generally, anyone without a job who looks for work is listed on the jobless rolls.

But then there's the case of a coal miner thrown out of work when the mine was closed permanently.

DOESN'T LOOK

He gives up looking for work as futile. Even so, the bureau lists him as unemployed even though he didn't actively seek a job during the survey week.

What about Pete, 15, who has no paying job, but puts in about 20 hours a week on chores around his father's farm? He is considered employed as an unpaid family worker.

★ ★ ★

So is Betty Green, who helps out in her husband's grocery store several days a week.

The bureau counts all persons over 14 years of age who are not in school, military service or in an institution.

WHY COUNT?

Why count teen-agers and married women who may work but are not family breadwinners?

"The main reason," said the bureau, "is that they are a very important part of the labor force; married women and teenagers alone account for over one-fourth of all workers. They are counted as employed because they are contributing to the total productive effort of the nation."

★ ★ ★

Similarly, they also must be counted among the unemployed when out of work, the bureau said.

The bureau figures its sample survey of 35,000 households, multiplied to get the nation's total unemployment figure, is within 200,000 of the figure a total census would show.

ERROR CHECK

To guard against errors, one-fourth of the 35,000 sample households are replaced every month so that no family is interviewed more than four months in a row.

As a further precaution, twice a year a selected number of families are interviewed again by a supervisor to double check the information.

★ ★ ★

The 35,000 survey households are located all over the nation, designed to reflect urban and rural areas, different types of industry and farming operations, and the major geographic divisions of the country in the same proportion as the nation as a whole, the bureau said.

New Papal Pronouncement Due

Catholics Reassess Birth Control Stand

(Editor's Note: President Johnson's pledge to find new ways to help deal with the population explosion has evoked varying reactions. The following dispatch—the last of three—deals with the stand of the Roman Catholic Church and the effect it has had on public policy.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In 1959, a Presidential Committee on Foreign Aid reported that rapid population growth was nullifying efforts to raise living standards in undeveloped countries.

★ ★ ★

It recommended that the U.S. Government support a broad program of research on fertility control, and provide both technical advice and other forms of assistance to countries trying to reduce their birth rates.

This recommendation drew a sharp blast of disapproval from Catholic bishops. The U. S. hierarchy issued a joint statement asserting that "Catholics will not support any public assistance, either at home or abroad, to promote artificial birth prevention, abortion or sterilization. . ."

A careful reading of this statement would have shown that it did not object to government-sponsored research designed to perfect "natural" methods of birth control, such as the rhythm method of periodic abstinence which the Catholic Church approves.

★ ★ ★

But government officials did not bother with such nuances. Terrified by the very idea of antagonizing millions of Catholic voters, they dropped the whole idea of population control.

EISENHOWER REPLY

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower was asked at a news conference whether he favored more government-sponsored research on fertility regulation, he replied quickly that he could think of nothing more "emphatically not a proper governmental function."

Things have changed considerably since 1959. Today there exists a very substantial body of U.S. opinion in favor of positive action to cope with the world population explosion. It includes most of the major Protestant bodies, many Jewish groups and a large number of Roman Catholics.

The Gallup Poll reported recently that eight out of 10 Americans now favor giving birth control information to anyone who wants it.

★ ★ ★

The trend of public attitudes was clearly reflected in the calm reaction which greeted President Johnson's declaration in his State of the Union message that the United States will "seek new ways to use our knowledge to help deal with the explosion in world population."

OFFICIAL BRIDLES

One Catholic official — Msgr. John C. Knott, director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference — bridled at the President's announcement. Msgr. Knott issued a statement recalling the hierarchy's stand in 1959 and added:

"Despite popular opinion to the contrary, the attitude of the Catholic Church toward contraception is still one of condemnation as a serious moral evil."

But the official newspaper of the Catholic Archdiocese of Indianapolis promptly took issue with Msgr. Knott.

★ ★ ★

"The President is right . . ." it said. "Some ways must be found of limiting the size of families in underdeveloped countries. There are ways of doing this acceptable to the Catholic Church.

"There may soon be discoveries in medicine and a better understanding of God's law concerning reproduction that will increase the ways acceptable to the church.

MSGR. KNOTT

"Msgr. Knott's statement gave no indication that he recognizes these possibilities. In fact, it reads as though it were written by a man who is totally unaware of what Catholic theologians . . . are writing and saying about the problem President Johnson brought out into the open."

What many Catholic theologians are writing and saying is that the church can and should give its moral blessing to new methods of birth control — such as antiovulation pills — which are based on regulation of natural bodily processes.

Some theologians, mainly in Europe, have gone farther and are urging that the church scrap the whole distinction between "natural" methods such as rhythm, which are held to be moral, and "artificial" methods such as the use of contraceptive devices, which are held to be immoral.

The respectability of these viewpoints—for the present at least — was certified by three cardinals who spoke up at the recent session of the Vatican Council.

Cardinal Leger of Montreal said it is time to modify the whole idea, which has shaped Catholic thinking about sex since the time of St. Augustine, that procreation of children is the "primary" end of marital relations, and the expression of conjugal love merely a "secondary" end.

NETHERLAND'S CARDINAL

Cardinal Alfrink of the Netherlands observed that many good Catholic theologians are no longer convinced by traditional arguments which seek to prove that it is contrary to natural law, and therefore intrinsically evil, to "interfere" with the biological consequences of sexual acts.

And Cardinal Suenens of Belgium solemnly warned the Council that the church must listen to what modern science has to say about overpopulation and birth regulation.

"I beg you, my brothers, let us avoid a new 'Galileo Case,'" said the cardinal. "One is enough for the church."

★ ★ ★

Pope Paul VI has appointed a special commission to conduct a "wide and profound" study of the whole problem of birth control. Its findings will be reported directly to the Pope, and will form the basis of a new papal pronouncement.

No one knows at this time when it will be forthcoming — or what it will say.

ENORMOUS IMPACT

But whatever direction it takes, it will have an enormous impact on the lives of 500 million Catholics, as well as on public policy in such countries as the United States which have a large Catholic population.

Formulating this historic pronouncement is perhaps the greatest challenge which Paul VI has faced in his pontificate. On one hand, he must be careful lest a too-drastic change in the church's position shake the confidence of the faithful in its teaching authority.

Although the condemnation of contraceptives has never been made a matter of infallible and irreformable dogma, some bishops and parish priests have made such an issue of it in past years that an about-face now would be quite shocking to many devout souls.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, as the Catholic magazine Commonweal observed recently, "it has become equally difficult to imagine how the church could ever reaffirm with equal force some of its old positions."

"Too many genuine weaknesses have been located and publicized," said Commonweal. "Too many standard arguments have been demolished."

That is the dilemma which Pope Paul VI is now weighing.

Ship Birthday Cake to College Student

What's a birthday without a cake? Many a mother asks herself this question when she first faces the fact that her college son or daughter will be celebrating a birthday away from home.

Should she try to mail a cake? And if so, what kind of cake will travel well? Can she frost it and how will she manage the candles?

★ ★ ★

The Karo kitchens at Best Foods through discussions with Alice Flores Ruby, winner of the 10th annual National College Queen Pageant and a Senior at Bennington College in Vermont, have come up with the answers.

According to Alice, most college girls delight in food packages from home and highly approve of a homemade birthday cake.

To create the fun of a surprise, Alice suggests sending the cake to the birthday girl's roommate or to a good friend, forewarning her and giving her the instructions on the candles which should be included in the package.

★ ★ ★

A separate box of paper plates, napkins, favors and refreshments might be mailed, and if there is a doubt about a knife to cut the cake, it is best to include a lightweight inexpensive one.

Now for the cake. Best Foods has developed an 8-inch layer cake with a fudge frosting that travels well, staying fresh for several days.

Before frosting the cake, cut an 8-inch round of corrugated cardboard and cover it with aluminum foil or plastic wrap. Place the cake on the cardboard and then frost it.

QUICK-SETTING

The frosting is a candy-fudge frosting and therefore must be spread quickly before it sets. If it becomes too stiff, place it over boiling water to soften slightly.

Once the cake is frosted, let it set just to dry, then place the cake and the cardboard round on a sheet of plastic wrap large enough to completely cover the cake.

Place the cake in a metal cake box and fill in any spaces around the edges with extra plastic wrap. Don't forget to tuck in the candles and holders.

Tape the box closed and pack it into a sturdy cardboard box, packing the corners with crushed newspaper or tissue.

TAG BOX

Be sure to mark the box perishable.

Travelwell Birthday Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup margarine
½ cup sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon almond extract
2 egg yolks
2-3 cup milk
2 egg whites
½ cup light corn syrup

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; set aside. Blend margarine and sugar. Stir in ¼ cup corn syrup, vanilla and almond extract. Blend in egg yolks, one at a time.

Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, blending after each addition. Beat egg white until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Gradually add ½ cup corn syrup, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into batter.

Pour into 2 greased 8-inch baking pans. Bake in 375 degrees F. (moderate) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until cakes test done.

Fudge Frosting

4 ounces unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sugar
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons margarine
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine chocolate, sugar, milk, corn syrup, margarine and salt in saucepan. Cook over medium heat stirring constantly, until mixture boils.

Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until mixture reaches 232 degrees F., or until a small amount of mixture dropped from fork or spoon spins a 2-inch thread. Remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.).

Add vanilla. Beat until frosting begins to lose its gloss. Quickly spread on cake. Makes enough to frost tops and sides of 2 (8-inch) layers.

Note: If frosting becomes too stiff to spread, place over boiling water to soften slightly, stir well and continue spreading on cake.

Sauce Will Thicken

If you are using white sauce in a make-ahead casserole that is to be refrigerated one day and reheated the next, it might be well to make that sauce just a little thinner than usual. We suggest this because freezing and reheating gives extra thickness to a sauce made with flour.

George Washington Would Approve

In bowl mix ½ cup each sugar and flour and ¼ teaspoon allspice. Cut in ¼ cup butter or margarine. Stir in ½ cup roasted diced almonds.

★ ★ ★

Turn a can of red cherry pie filling into an unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle almond mixture over top. Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven about 45 minutes or until filling is bubbly and crust is brown.

Form of Saffron

Saffron comes in powdered and in thread form; if you use the latter, you may want to soak it before adding to a dish. For a fish stew, for example, use a half teaspoon saffron threads soaked in a tablespoon of hot water.

TRAVELS WELL — Just because your daughter's birthday comes when she is away at college doesn't mean that she can't have a cake. Here's a cake that not only travels well but stays fresh for several days. Recipe and instructions for packing given below.

Bean Dish for Lunch

Chilly weather means the home-for-lunchers need extra warmth and energy at the midday meal. Protein-rich beans will do the trick . . . especially quick-to-serve canned pork and beans with tomato sauce.

Try them this way: In skillet, cook 3 slices bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. In 2 tablespoons bacon drippings, cook ¼ cup chopped onion until tender. Stir in a 1-pound can pork and beans and 1 tablespoon pickle relish.

Heat, stirring now and then. Garnish with bacon. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Fresh Colors

Ever team sliced oranges and cucumbers for a salad to serve with roast beef or veal? The oranges and cucumbers can be arranged alternately on salad greens. Serve a sour cream dressing with this combination.

REGAL BREAD BUDDING — Regal Bread Pudding, though it looks spectacular, is easily made with ingredients you're likely to have on hand.

This Bread Pudding Is Different

With just a dash of imagination and a bit of effort you can transform slices of enriched bread and a few other staple ingredients into a luscious dessert like Regal Bread Pudding.

These enticing individual puddings sparkle with bits of jewel-like fruit cocktail and are crowned with fluffy meringue.

★ ★ ★

To make Regal Bread Pudding, first prepare a custard, using egg yolks (save the whites for the meringue topping) and stirring in enriched bread cubes and fruit cocktail.

★ ★ ★

Bake the puddings then cover with puffs of meringue and return to the oven until the meringue is golden brown.

When baked in attractive individual baking dishes, these puddings belong in the class of company desserts.

Regal Bread Pudding is about as nutritious a dessert as you'll find anywhere. The thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and iron supplied by the enriched bread are supplemented by other nutrients in the fruit, milk and eggs.

The B-vitamins and iron which the baker adds to his products are important for the maintenance of your family's good health and vitality.

Regal Bread Pudding

2½ cups milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups enriched white bread cubes (about 6 slices, cut in ½-inch cubes)
1 can (1 lb.) fruit cocktail, drained
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Meringue

Grease six 8-ounce baking dishes and place on baking sheet. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In large saucepan heat milk until almost simmering; stir in sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in bread cubes, fruit cocktail, egg yolks and vanilla.

Turn into baking dishes. Bake 30 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare meringue.

Cover puddings with meringue, spreading to edges of baking dishes. Return to oven; bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until meringue is golden brown. Serve immediately.

Meringue

2 egg whites
Dash salt
¼ cup sugar

In small mixing bowl beat together egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff, but not dry peaks, form.

Fruit Sauce Good Over Pancakes

Heat together 1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices and 1 can (8 oz.) cooked prunes in their syrups with frozen orange-flavored breakfast drink to taste. Blend 2 tablespoons butter with 2 tablespoons cornstarch.

★ ★ ★

Stir into fruit mixture; cook and stir until sauce is thickened. Spoon over pancakes or waffles.

Credit Marco Polo

Marco Polo, the medieval fortune seeker, brought back to Europe from the Orient a recipe for making water ices? Water ices soon became popular throughout Italy.

Instant Tea in Cake Lends Subtle Flavor

Midwinter meals, like January wallets, are often somewhat flat.

But here's a new dessert treat that will round out simple meals perfectly, and fatten up the family wallet, too.

That's because you get two cakes for the price of one—delicious, new Apricot Tea Upside Down Cake, and a single layer yellow cake you can store for future use.

Apricot Tea Upside Down cake is elegant enough for company, but too good to be labeled "for company only."

Make this upside down cake from good pantry shelf stock—instant tea, a package of your favorite yellow cake mix, a can of apricot halves, and dried prunes.

The unique properties of tea bring out the tangy fruit flavors; add a golden brown color to the topping. Just one tablespoon of instant tea turns this old-time recipe into a new favorite.

Apricot Tea Upside Down Cake

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar, packed
1 tablespoon instant tea powder
1 teaspoon water
1 1-pound can apricot halves, drained
6 to 8 cooked prunes, pitted
1 package yellow cake mix

Preheat over to 350 degrees. Grease a 9-inch pie pan and a 9-inch layer cake pan.

In a small saucepan, melt butter or margarine and add brown sugar. Combine instant tea with water, and stir into sugar mixture until sugar is melted.

Spread tea-sugar mixture in the bottom of the pie pan, and then on it arrange apricots, cut side up with prunes.

Prepare cake mix as package directs, pouring half of batter over fruit and remaining batter in the layer cake pan. Bake about 35 minutes, or until cakes test done

Cool extra layer and store for future use.

Invert apricot tea cake immediately on to a cake plate. Serve warm; topped, if desired, with whipped cream. Makes 3 servings.

Bright Salad Made With New Gelatin

Last year a new flavored gelatin was put on the market. This new item has been mixed with kidney beans and salsa sauce to make a nourishing winter salad.

California Bean Salad

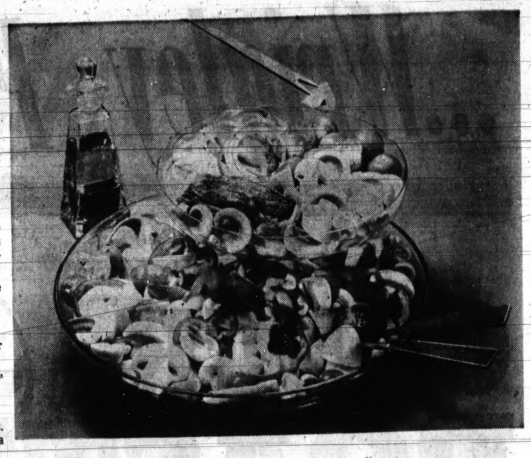
1 3-oz. package mixed vegetable salad gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup green chili sauce
½ cup water
1 15-oz. can kidney beans, drained
3 thin slices red sweet onion
2 small tomatoes, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
dash hot sauce

Dissolve gelatin in one cup boiling water. Add chili sauce and water. Cool. When gelatin starts to gel, stir in kidney beans, separated rings of onion, tomatoes and salt. Put in 1½-quart mold. Refrigerate.

Unmold on chilled platter and fill center with lettuce or romaine leaves and garnish with black olives.

Fruit and Cheese Dip

Two cups of canned apple sauce combined with 1 cup of coarsely shredded sharp cheddar cheese makes a bright, flavorful dip for crackers or potato chips, or stuffing for celery sticks.



MUSHROOM SALAD — Marinate fresh mushrooms mixed with green pepper circles, tiny tomato quarters, chunks of cucumber and plenty of freshly ground black pepper in French dressing. Fill a salad bowl with this from which guests help themselves and also add to it from a smaller bowl of pungent bites of anchovies, pickled green tomatoes, red onion circles, red pepper circles and capers. For 10 guests two pounds of mushrooms were adequate. Toasted sesame seed rolls served with this salad, and hot fragrant tea gives a nice lilt to any menu.

Seafood Kabobs Are Delightful to Serve

Skewer chunks of California avocado on toothpicks with shrimp or drained smoked oysters or small pieces of crab meat. Use a different color pick for each avocado-seafood combination.

Dip the miniature kebabs in lemon juice and serve with a bowl of seafood sauce for party hors d'oeuvres.

Wash Again

Even when you buy fresh spinach in see-through bags, it needs rinsing in your own kitchen. Use warm water for the first rinse, very cold water for the last dousing.

Cure Is Beating

Note to new cooks: if that soft custard sauce looks a bit curdly when you remove it from the heat, beat it vigorously and it may smooth out.

Next time you fry liver and onions, you might like to make gravy from the drippings in the pan.

Must Alter Thinking

Difficult to Change Underachieving Pupil

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Finding means of getting an underachieving high school student to change his ways has baffled parents and educators for years.

DR. NASON

Parents realize that their son or daughter is not even trying to work up to capacity, and teachers are in hearty agreement. Tests of ability, say the counselor, back up these opinions.

The only one disagreeing is the student himself. He feels that he is working at capacity, and there is no use trying to do the impossible.

Before a student can be made willing to strive for a higher standard of accomplishment, his feelings regarding himself must be corrected.

★ ★

For example, Mike's incorrect approach to reading carried over into many phases of his high school work. He failed to study as he read. Consequently, he learned little even after reading an assignment two or three times.

Mike responded when he realized that he could study as he read; that he could train himself to recite back at the end of each section of material and accomplish more in less time than he had been using.

Furthermore, he learned that he could relate the events of history to locations on maps; that he could bring up mental pictures to help him understand and remember the facts of biology.

It made sense to him that in reading his math book he should learn to identify and recognize problems. He could see that this would give him a distinct advantage when taking tests.

The organization of high schools makes the improvement of achievement difficult. Several teachers and a counselor might have to work simultaneously to produce sufficient change in a student's thinking to make it possible for him to attempt operation at a higher level.

★ ★ ★

But this can be done by a single individual — not by general admonitions about the worthwhileness of higher grades for college and future jobs but by specific suggestions.

I recommend from my own experience that the person taking this responsibility make an offer of continued help along with the very first discussions. The help would be contingent on the effort of the student.

★ ★ ★

Detroit-to-Windsor Cable Car Gets OK

DETROIT (AP)—A proposed cable car, spanning the Detroit River to Windsor, Ont., was approved by the Ontario Legislature.

Final approval rests with the Detroit City Council.

The developers, George and Paul Amber, say the $1.5 million project would carry passengers 266 feet above the river. The trip from Detroit's Cobo Hall to Cleary Auditorium in Windsor would take four and one half minutes.

Opening lead—♦ J

By OSWALD JACOBY

North and South were using a 21-22 point two no-trump opening, but South added one point to his 20 for the six card spade suit. I don't know exactly how many points North added to his own 10 high card points in order to justify a jump to the slam but he must have added something since 22 plus 10 is only 32 and 32 is not enough to justify a no-trump slam.

JACOBY

South looked over dummy carefully but without enthusiasm. Apart from the fact that he was a trifle shy in high cards he could only find one entry to dummy so he decided to start proceedings by leading a low spade from his own hand.

East won with the jack and returned the five of diamonds and South went right up with his ace. He was sure that East would not have led away from the king.

Then South cashed the king of clubs and king of hearts, led a low heart and finessed dummy's jack. East took his queen and led a diamond to West for a two trick set.

North was quick to point out that South would have made the hand if he had gone up with the ace of hearts and cashed dummy's queen and nine of clubs and if South had been looking at all the cards I am sure he would have made that play.

I am equally sure that South's actual choice offered the best chance. The heart finesse was an even money proposition. The odds against dropping the ten of clubs were substantial.

A—You may be tempted to ene bid three diamonds, but you should bid three hearts. You have a good five-card heart suit but only 18 high card points.

ONE COLOR

Orange Juice, Wine for Chicken

Chicken and California oranges are popular partners. Both are versatile favorites and good buys year 'round — health and money-wise.

In Orange-Cream Sherry Chicken Breasts, sweet, seedless, California navel oranges and delicately flavored chicken breasts go together to present a delectable dish — surprisingly easy to prepare and perfect for family or party fare.

Marinated and baked in a fresh orange and cream sherry sauce, the chicken breasts are moist and fork tender. The distinctive aroma, flavor and goodness of golden navel orange pieces transform the baked chicken drippings into a delicious serving sauce.

Orange-Cream Sherry Chicken Breasts

2 tablespoons grated orange peel
¾ cup fresh orange juice
⅓ cup cream sherry
2 teaspoons sugar
3 tablespoons fresh or freeze-dried chopped chives
6 whole chicken breasts
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 California oranges, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces
¼ cup toasted sliced almonds (optional)

Combine grated orange peel, orange juice, cream sherry, sugar and chives. Place chicken in shallow container; pour orange mixture over chicken and marinate in refrigerator several hours or overnight.

Remove chicken from marinade and place in shallow casserole or baking pan; pour marinade over chicken.

Bake uncovered at 400 degrees for 40 minutes. Cover casserole and reduce heat to 350 degrees; continue baking 30 to 40 minutes or until tender.

Heat butter in saucepan; add cornstarch and simmer until bubbly. Drain sauce from cooked chicken; stir sauce into cornstarch mixture.

Cook until thickened and smooth, stirring continually. Add undrained orange pieces.

Place chicken breasts on serving platter; spoon hot orange sauce over chicken. If desired, sprinkle with toasted almonds.

CHICKEN WITH ORANGE — First you marinate the chicken in an orange juice and wine mixture. Then you bake it in the same liquid. At serving time, sprinkle with toasted almonds. Good, good, good.

Mushrooms and Tomatoes for a Sauce

Here is a new way to enjoy mushrooms—in a chili sauce to be spooned over scrambled eggs. You'll enjoy serving it for a Saturday night family supper. The accompaniments could be buttered slices of crusty bread and crisp relishes.

To prepare Mushroom Chili Sauce, saute ¼ cup chopped green pepper in a small amount of melted butter or margarine.

Stir in ½ cup stewed tomatoes, one well-drained 4½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ¾ teaspoon onion salt.

Simmer over low heat about 10 minutes or until slightly thickened. Spoon over scrambled eggs. Makes about 1 cup of sauce.

Remove Crusts

To make toast the traditional way, to serve with Welsh Rabbit, follow these directions. Cut away the crusts from white bread and toast the slices; butter each well and cut diagonally into four small triangles.

Brown Frankfurters, Add Soup Mix

Fascinate the youngsters with this soup for lunch. In saucepan, brown 2 frankfurters (thinly sliced) in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 5½ cans (3 cups water); bring to boil. Stir in a 2-ounce can vegetable dry soup mix.

Partially cover; simmer 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

A half cup chopped walnuts or raisins added to a standard two-cup muffin recipe does great things for this hot bread.

Gives Wine Advice on Pair of Records

Wine authority Bern Ramey has a pair of LP records which, after a few hearings, will make any wine lover into a wine expert.

Ramey is a true — and recognized — master in the field of wine. He holds graduate degrees in enology (wine-making) and viticulture (cultivation of wine grapes) from the University of California.

He is a charter member of the American Society of Enologists, this country's only organized group of wine and vine scientists.

From 1947 to 1964, he was actively engaged in the sale and promotion of wines and liquors.

Ramey grew up near the Bass Islands in Lake Erie, where he spent much of his boyhood in the vineyards which produce some of America's finest Eastern wines.

In his recorded discussions, which are broken down into 10 different categories, Ramey recommends that listeners do not try to absorb all the information contained on the records (and the jacket) at a single sitting.

Learning about wines, he contends, is like enjoying wines — to be assimilated slowly and thoughtfully.

He suggests that the listener hear each segment or "track" several times, in order to commit the facts about each wine (as well as its history, terminology, region, and similar background information) to memory.

In his vignette lectures, Mr. Ramey does not neglect to include some of the most important information of all — how to get the maximum enjoyment out of wines.

He provides precise information for the hostess on how, when, where and with what wines are most properly served.

BREAKS RULES

He pooh-poohs any stuffy, hard-and-fast rules, however, on the grounds that such rules very easily may be out of accord with certain tastes, and since wine was made for enjoyment, rules should be tossed out the window in favor of pleasure.

On the other hand, he points out that historically, certain wines seem to blend most gloriously with certain foods, and these historical food-mates have been handed down from generation to generation for a great many centuries.

The use of wines in cookery is not overlooked.

In his commentary, he assures non-drinkers that they need not deny themselves the taste-pleasures of wine cookery for fear of alcoholic content . . . since all the alcohol in the cooking wine is boiled off at 170 degrees, which is far below the boiling point of water (212 degrees).

In wine cookery, Ramey points out, only the wine essences and flavors remain, although the alcohol is entirely gone.

The two 12-inch LP discs (monaural), "Bern Ramey on Wines," are available through The Wine Record Company, Box 207, Steger, Illinois, at $5.95.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIRE

QUESTION: Is fire a kind of matter, like an element?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Ancient philosophers thought that everything was composed of four substances or elements: air, earth, water and fire. Modern science does not agree with this.

Scientists give a list of chemical elements or basic substances, such as iron, gold and oxygen, but do not mention the ancients' four elements.

Water, earth and air are combinations rather than separate elements. For example, water is oxygen combined with another element, hydrogen.

As for fire, this is a chemical change, the combining of the oxygen of the air with carbon and other elements, rather than one single element in itself, as the ancients thought.

Oxygen can also combine with other materials more slowly than by blazing fire—this is called oxidation.

When our digested food reaches the body cells, it is slowly burned, or oxidized.

The heat released from this is what keeps us warm and gives us energy. Even slower oxidation is shown as a nail or other bit of iron gradually rusts away.

FOR YOU TO DO: Ask a friend, if burning a stick of wood is chemical change, what is it changing into? If neither of you know the answer, here it is: ashes are produced, also carbon dioxide and water vapor. These last two escape into the air.

Atlanta Schools Set Desegregation Plan

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)— The Atlanta public school system is planning to expand its desegregation program this fall to admit without regard to race all children who have just moved into the city.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John Letson, school superintendent, told a federal judge yesterday the intention was "to formally incorporate this plan in our administrative regulations for the coming year."

★ ★ ★

There was no indication how many youngsters would be affected.

★ ★ ★

The city already has desegregated all its high school grades. The plan for newcomers would apply to all grades.

Gambia Flies Own Flag for 1st Time

BATHURST, Gambia (AP) — Africa's newest and smallest independent nation unfurls its flag for the first time tonight.

Gambia was Britain's first and is its last possession in West Africa. It is a tiny strip of a country, 15 to 30 miles wide on each bank of the Gambia River and extending 300 miles inland from the Atlantic.

Little more than 300,000 people live on its 4,003 square miles. It is surrounded by Senegal and its people are related to those in Senegal.

Nine out of 10 Gambians live on bare subsistence farming. Peanuts account for 80 per cent of exports. Small quantities of beeswax, hides, skins and palm kernels also are shipped and efforts are being made to expand rice production.

Until less than 10 years ago, farmers toiled with primitive tools.

In an effort to lift 15th century agriculture at least to the 18th century, plowing with oxen has been encouraged in recent years. A byproduct is oxcart transportation to move rice from the fields and to carry building bricks and firewood.

When the Union Jack is lowered at midnight, Gambia will become Africa's 36th independent nation and the 21st member of the British Commonwealth.

Foreign News Commentary

Dean of Soviet Agriculture Is Ousted

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Kremlin finally has gotten around to firing the man whose controversial theories about the development of plant and animal life dominated Soviet agriculture for more than 20 years.

He is Trofim D. Lysenko, a lanky man with the burning eyes of a zealot, whose theories long have been ridiculed by Western scientists but who played politics so successfully that he managed the transition from Josef Stalin to remain in power under Nikita Khrushchev.

Specifically, he lost his job as director of the Institute of Genetics of the Academy of Sciences, a post he had held since 1940.

In general, Lysenko held that plants and animals could pass on to future generations characteristics acquired in their lifetime through environment.

★ ★ ★

He ridiculed the generally accepted belief that genes controlled inherited traits.

CLAIM DISPUTED

It was his claim that Soviet farm output had increased 40 per cent because of his theories, a claim now disputed. Instead, it is said that his theories actually brought about a decline in farm output.

But it was in the field of politics that Lysenko really starred.

Stalin liked him because Lysenko's ideas coincided with his own, that a planned society could produce its own hereditary traits.

★ ★ ★

He lost favor temporarily under Khrushchev but regained it when he went out among the farmers and talked practical farming with them on the basis of his own background from birth on a Ukrainian farm.

APPEAL TO NIKITA

It had an appeal to Khrushchev, himself a son of the soil, and by that time was grasping at any straw to help increase agricultural output.

In more than 20 years of political in-fighting, Lysenko left the battlefield strewn with bodies of his onetime critics.

Those who opposed his theories were dubbed "Trotskyists." Those who spoke favorably of Western scientists were associated with Hitler's racist theories.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's ouster also marked the beginning of the end of Lysenko's influence.

Articles in the Soviet press accused him of manufacturing evidence to support his claims and to have harmed Soviet agriculture through his opposition to high-producing strains of hybrid corn.

And even as Khrushchev's name is disappearing from Soviet textbooks so the Lysenko theories are being erased in Soviet schools.

An Academy of Sciences announcement said that biological and genetic studies now would return to the mainstream of world research.

One claim Lysenko made for his theories was that they adhered to the dialectic materialism of Marx. If so, his ouster is further evidence that the new Kremlin rulers will abandon Marx if they feel it necessary.

PRIVATE PLOTS

Private plots for farmers are being increased.

In late January, the Soviet news agency Tass disclosed that a new incentive system tying wages to actual production rather than to hours worked is to be tested on selected collective and state farms this year.

The neck of a giraffe does not contain more bones than that of a cow or horse.

Length of the neck of a giraffe is due entirely to the elongation of the bones, not to their number.

Lichens, flowerless plants which grow on bare rocks, tree stumps and waste places have no roots, stems or leaves.

Clarkston Dumps Waterford; Kettering Edges W. Bloomfield

Injury, Errors Help Visitors to 83-72 Win

Losers' Rick Ziem, Wolves' Fife, Allen Score Career Highs

By JERE CRAIG

Mistakes and injuries — one supposedly correctable and the other unavoidable — took their toll on the Waterford Skippers Tuesday night.

A smooth-working visiting Clarkston quintet made the most of Waterford's problems to boost its season mark to 9-5 with an 83-72 verdict that rarely was in doubt after intermission.

A well-played first half that featured excellent shooting by both teams ended with the host Skippers up by one, 37-36. They had led by 37-30 until Clarkston closed with a flurry in the final minute.

★ ★ ★

The estimated 500 fans were looking forward to a fine second half; but the third quarter was not very old before it was obvious the home team's destiny had been shaped near the close of the first period.

That was when playmaker Bill Lemaux suffered an ankle injury while moving toward an offensive rebounding position.

The Skippers did well in the second period without him, but in the final half their backcourt performers repeatedly miscued trying to set up the offense.

By game's end the losers had committed 26 errors without getting a shot. Clarkston had only seven, including one each in the last two quarters.

FEWER SHOTS

Accenting this downfall was the fact the two teams rebounded equally well, but Clarkston had 76 field goal attempts to only 64 for the Skippers.

★ ★ ★

Waterford outshot the Wolves, 45 per cent to 35. This deficit was offset by the latter's foul line proficiency. In the final period the winners hit only 3 of 20 from the field but added 13 of 18 from the charity stripe.

Waterford's only consistent scorer was Rick Ziem and he had a career-high 34 points. The junior fouled out in the late going.

Clarkston's forces were led by sophomore Dan Fife and junior Rod Allen, both at top form. Fife tied his career high with 25 and Allen reached his pinnacle with 19.

They put in 13 of the Wolves' first 15 points in the third quarter when well-trained Clarkston pulled away from the struggling home forces. The Skippers have lost five in a row for a 5-9 record.

BREAKING OUT — Rochester's Bruce McDonald pounces on a loose ball as the Falcons quickly switch from defense to the attack during last night's game with Avondale. Dan McCoskey (51) of the Yellow Jackets tries to slow the Rochester star. The Falcons won the Oakland A contest, 94-85.

Rochester Nips Avondale Five

By HERB PETERS

Shooting at better than 50 per cent was a winning formula for Rochester but not Avondale last night as the Falcons set a new school scoring record in a 94-85 conquest.

★ ★ ★

Blazing away at a 55 per cent clip on their home court, the Falcons rolled up 50 points the first half, never had a quarter under 20, and eclipsed the school's former high by five points.

It took that kind of firing for Rochester to win its fourth straight in the Oakland-A Conference and move into third place alone with an 8-4 mark.

Avondale's percentage was only slightly less at 51, but not enough to save the Yellow Jackets from their fifth successive setback as they dipped to 5-6.

★ ★ ★

Although leading by as much as 15 late in the third period, the Falcons never felt secure with Avondale continually battling back and closing the gap to six with two minutes left in the contest.

BOTH HOT

That was the pattern throughout as both teams scored with reckless abandon. The Falcons had their top quarter in a 27-16 first period, and the Yellow Jackets rallied for a 27-23 edge in the second.

★ ★ ★

The visitors drew within three, 38-35, midway in the second on eight straight points before Rochester pulled away again for a 50-43 halftime margin.

The Falcons built their longest lead, 74-59, in the third stanza, had it dwindle to 74-63 by the end of the session, and then shrink to 87-81 with two minutes remaining.

Bob Mills had the hottest hand for Rochester, winging home 59 per cent of his shots, 13 of 22, to post 28 points. Bruce McDonald tallied 23, including 10 in the finale.

★ ★ ★

Lynn Thorpe set Avondale's pace in collecting the game high of 29. His fadeaway jumpers swished the net repeatedly as he picked up 15 the first half and 10 in the fourth period.

★ ★ ★

Dan McCoskey garnered 19 and Tom Reek 15 to give Avondale three in double figures before they fouled out in the furious fourth quarter action. Bruce Campbell was Rochester's third double-figure scorer with 11.

'I CAN'T SEE' — Lynn Thorpe of Avondale appears to have stopped Rochester's Harry Hogan from seeing anyone to pass the ball to during last night's contest. Rochester players saw the basket enough, however, to down Avondale and move up in the Oakland A standings.

Win Gives Kettering 7-6 Record; Losers Sport 7-7 Mark

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Kettering's Captains turned some long-range shooting into a 50-43 decision over a cold West Bloomfield quintet on the losers' court last night.

★ ★ ★

The Captains, running their record to 7-6 for the season, were a bit wild with their shots in the opening period in which they fell behind, 13-9, but they found the range in the second stanza, hitting eight of 18, and left the floor at intermission with a 27-21 lead.

West Bloomfield, picking up only 14 field goals, kept the game close with a 15-for-21 performance at the charity line.

The Lakers blew a number of layup shots in the opening half in which they hit on 8 of 33 shots from the field. They added six more field goals in the second half finishing with 14 or 66 for a shooting percentage of 21.

NFL Owners Eye AFL Liaison

Top Level Meeting in AAU-NCAA Feud

NEW YORK (AP) — A high level committee representing the warring factions in the fight for control of amateur sports in the United States swung into action today in an effort to arrive at a compromise.

It was the first such meeting since the long-smoldering argument between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association flared into the open three years ago and threatened to cripple the 1964 American Olympic team until General Douglas MacArthur imposed a truce.

★ ★ ★

There was an air of cautious optimism on both sides.

Representing the AAU were its newly elected president, Clifford T. Buck of Denver; Bob Kiphuth, retired athletic director and swimming coach at Yale; and Jay-Ehret Mahoney, New York attorney who is immediate past president of the AAU.

★ ★ ★

Representing the NCAA were President Everett D. Barnes, athletic director at Colgate University, also newly elected; The Rev. Wilfred Crowley, director of the Jesuit Retreat House at Los Altos, Calif., who is president of the NCAA's United States Track and Field Federation, and William R. Reed of Chicago, commissioner of the Big Ten.

DEADLINE NEAR

The immediate explosive issue was the March 1 deadline after which the NCAA has forbidden its athletes to compete in meets not sanctioned by the Federation.

No quick solution to the dispute was expected, although it was probable that the whole problem will be explored, the areas of contention defined, and an agenda set up for subsequent meetings.

No decision has been reached as to whether there will be any press announcement following the meeting, set for a hotel suite.

Giants, 49ers Still Opposed

Loop to Crack Down on Early Signings

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Winds of eventual cooperation with the American Football League were blowing today at the National Football League's annual meeting following a crackdown on premature signing of college players.

There were indications from the closed door sessions that 12 of the 14 team owners favored some sort of liaison with the rival league.

Opposed to any immediate cooperation with the AFL, it was unofficially understood, were the New York Giants and the San Francisco 49ers — the only NFL teams with rival AFL teams on their doorsteps.

The Giants are competing with the New York Jets and the 49ers with the Oakland Raiders in the San Francisco Bay Area.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle had nothing official to say about any between-league cooperation, including a common draft or merger.

STIFF PENALTIES

The league owners Tuesday set up stiff penalties for any teams involved in signing college players before they are officially available for the pro ranks.

The resolution spelled out a previously announced NFL plan to prevent incidents such as last season's signing by the Minnesota Vikings of three Oklahoma University players before the Gator Bowl game.

Rozelle told a news conference that any team guilty of premature signing could lose its entire draft choices for "as many years as the commissioner decides."

Rozelle said contract bargaining rights for the player or players triggering the violation would be passed along to the team at the bottom of the NFL standings.

Rozelle said the resolution would be sent to Jim Corbett, Louisiana State athletic director who heads an NCAA pro-collegiate relations committee.

Kimball Stuns East Detroit 5

Royal Oak Kimball's basketball team may be laughing at the state's pollsters, that group of writers who select the top quintets in Michigan each week.

★ ★ ★

Kimball isn't among the top 21 teams. But last Friday, the Knights knocked off Ferndale, 76-74, the No. 4 team in the state, and last night they pinned a 61-54 non-conference setback on East Detroit, the No. 11 team.

In another non-conference outing, Hazel Park dumped Fitzgerald, 61-48.

The Knights (8-5), trailing by 10 points in the third quarter, used a full-court press in the final period and outscored East Detroit (11-3), 25-10.

★ ★ ★

Pacing the Kimball attack were Bob Wlodek (25) and Roger Peltz (20). Fred Bolle and Glen Bradt tossed in 14 apiece for the losers.

WINNER COASTS

Hazel Park (7-7) rolled to a 38-19 lead at intermission and coasted the rest of the way. The loss left Fitzgerald with a 2-12 record.

John Canine led the winners with 26 points, and Jeff Plopa collected 16 for the losers.

New Haven Wins Thumb Race Nears End

It's all over in the Southern Thumb League. Or almost, anyway.

Defending champion New Haven racked up its 12th win in a row last night and ran its league record to 11-1 with a narrow 67-63 decision over Capac (7-5).

The win assured the New Haven squad of at least a share of the loop title. The Rockets, with two games to play, hold a two-game lead over Dryden (9-3), a 102-60 winner over Memphis (0-12).

In the other games, Anchor Bay (5-7) ended a three-game losing streak with a 64-51 decision over Almont (8-4), and Armada (5-7) downed Brown City (3-9), 62-54.

Dryden raced to a 46-35 halftime lead and then poured in 56 points in the second half. Leading the winners were Dennis Hilliker (28), Ron Faulds (22) and Ken Kitchenmaster (22). Walt Piontowski picked up 15 for Memphis.

Almont's title hopes died with the loss to Anchor Bay, the team's third setback in a row.

Dan Burns collected 19 points and Jay Roland added 14 to pace Anchor Bay. Ken Schulte tossed in 24 for Almont to take scoring honors.

★ ★ ★

Armada jumped off to a 31-24 lead over Brown City and played the losers on even terms in the second half.

Bill Ford paced the winners with 22 points and teammate John Cole added 17. Dave McIntosh tossed in 18 points for Utica and Bob Didur contributed 17.

The victory evened Mount Clemens' record at 7-7. Utica is 5-9.

St. Fred Squad, Shamrocks Post Easy Triumphs

Hockey Board Clears Chief Referee Voss

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League's Board of Governors has dismissed charges leveled by four former officials at the league's referee-in-chief, Carl Voss, as "completely unfounded."

Voss, who retires at the end of this season after 15 years as boss of NHL referees, had been accused of instructing that only "good penalties" be called against the New York Rangers in a March 1962 game between Boston and New York.

The charges were made by ex-referees Dalton McArthur, Eddie Powers, Jack Mehlenbacher and former linesman George Hayes. McArthur was the referee and Hayes one of the linesman in the Bruins-Ranger game which was won by New York 4-3.

James D. Norris, chairman of the six-man board, issued a statement exonerating Voss. "We are satisfied that the charge against Mr. Voss is entirely unfounded," the statement said, "and is the product of the malicious distortion of a routine caution given by the referee-in-chief."

The governors said that the charges of the ex-officials had been "fully investigated, aired and elaborated on by the league one year ago."

Powers and the other officials had not presented any new evidence not already examined by the league, the statement said.

Puerto Rican Champ Nips Seeded Santana

SALISBURY, MD. (AP) — Charles Pasarell, his entry snubbed a year ago, has made a smashing debut in the National Indoor Tennis Championships.

The 21-year-old Puerto Rican champion received a standing ovation Tuesday night after he fought off two set points and scored a marathon 20-18, 8-6 first-round victory over Manuel Santana of Spain.

★ ★ ★

Santana, rated the best in Europe and third in the unofficial world rankings, was the No. 1 foreign seed in the tournament. Pasarell was unseeded and ranks only 12th in the United States, but he has been playing the best tennis of his career lately.

Nicopli Pietrangeli of Italy, fourth seeded among the foreigners, also was upset in the opening round. He lost 6-8, 8-6, 6-3 to 20-year-old John Cooper of Australia.

TWO ADVANCE

The other two seeded foreign players, Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden, advanced to today's second round. So did the four seeded Americans — Chuck McKinley, Dennis Ralston, Arthur Ashe and Frank Froehling.

In the second round today, Pasarell plays Ron Holmberg, the sixth rankine American, who defeated Nick Kalo of Greece 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 Tuesday.

McKinley plays Jose Luis Arilla of Spain while Ralston takes on Tomas Koch of Brazil.

The SEMA slate, besides the Seaholm-Ferndale clash, has Royal Oak Kimball at Southfield and Berkley at Hazel Park.

HAS EDGE

Groves currently holds a one-game edge on North Farmington. The Falcons took a 68-63 win when they visited the latter last month.

★ ★ ★

The Raiders are the only real contender at the moment for Groves to subdue; and a win for the Falcons would sew up the title. Otherwise, a title tie would be likely and even Oak Park (two games behind) could still get a share.

The Falcons build their offense around 6-3, springy-legged Dennis Rafferty whose 21-point average has consistently been among the county's top 10.

North Farmington has Rick Schultz averaging better than 18 a game and he is among the top 25.

NO. 1 SCORER

Ferndale's title-bound SEMA Eagles boast the top point-producer in 6-3 center Lee Palmer, an excellent outcourt jump shooter.

Seaholm managed to limit his effectiveness when the two quintets battled through three overtimes before Ferndale won, 68-67, last month.

A win Friday would clinch a share of the SEMA throne for the Eagles; but their unbeaten string was snapped at 12 last week by second place Kimball, and that may have deflated them enough to affect their performance this week.

In Harold Wilber, the Maples have a shooter who can nearly match baskets with Palmer. Thus it could well be the supporting casts that decide the issue.

★ ★ ★

Kimball is not expected to have the easy time at Southfield that it enjoyed in the earlier meeting in Royal Oak.

The Knights won that one, 77-48, but the Blue Jays will be home this time and their scoring twins Rick Coleman and Ray Schlaff can be very dangerous there. Roger Peltz, 6-4 junior forward, carries the offensive burden for the Knights.

Kimball has won six of its last seven starts for a 7-5 mark over-all. Southfield has two straight successes and an 8-7 log.

Recreation 5s Improve Marks With Triumphs

Coulacos Insurance remained unbeaten in Class C and Ben Powell Trucking righted itself in Class B play to feature last night's city recreation basketball program.

Coulacos dumped the winless All-Stars, 64-40, for its fifth straight without a loss. The other "C" contest saw J. R. Neph Heating tie the Hawks for second place by beating them, 75-68.

In "B" action, Powell rebounded from its first loss to nip the once-victorious Packers, 66-65. The victory tied the truckers with idle Messiah Baptist for first place.

In late-reported results, Monday's junior loop games resulted in victories for K-Town Five (78-64 over the Auburn Heights Boys Club Buzzards) and the Boys Club Hawks (62-52 over the Tams).

Inter-Lakes, EML Resuming Rivalry

By JERE CRAIG

"They're nice people and we try to be, too."

The words of Eldon Johnson, Pontiac Northern athletic director, seem to express the general state of relations between the Inter-Lakes and Eastern Michigan Leagues' member schools.

The two were thrown together this year when the Southeastern Michigan Association was formed from four EML and two I-L participants.

That left the original leagues with four teams each. Thus there were schedule openings which, by working together, they could fill.

Friday the four Inter-Lakes schools will vie with EML basketball opponents. Both loops have finished their intraleague cage competition for the season.

SCHEDULE

I-L champion Northern will visit Port Huron. Second-place Walled Lake will travel to East Detroit, EML titlist. Mount Clemens, the latter's runner-up, will entertain Farmington and Waterford Township will play at Roseville.

Next week the two circuits will complete their interloop action. PNH and East Detroit's Shamrocks, the two champions, will square off Tuesday in Pontiac.

At present the I-L holds the upper hand in basketball, winning five of the previous eight games. However, Northern is the only team able to win two games.

Necessity actually created the current inter-league scheduling and soon it will dissolve the arrangement. The current agreement is for two years in most varsity sports.

Port Huron Northern opened its doors this winter and is expected to join the EML shortly. The I-L also is expected to expand since a school soon to open in a city outside Oakland County is seeking membership.

In addition, there is sentiment among the Inter-Lakes schools to include Waterford Kettering in a future realignment.

While admitting the current scheduling with the EML has been beneficial and pleasant, Walled Lake, Northern, Waterford and Farmington officials are concerned with the travel distances involved subsequent diminishing fan appeal.

BEST EFFORT — Junior Rod Allen enhanced his role as a Clarkston starter with a career high 19 points in last night's 83-72 victory at Waterford.

Warriors Downed

Pistons Paced by Miles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eddie Miles scored 26 points Tuesday night to pace the Detroit Pistons to a 114-106 National Basketball Association victory over the San Francisco Warriors.

Miles, former Seattle University All-American, scored 18 of his points in the second half and combined with Player-Coach Dave Debusschere and Terry Dischinger to keep the rallying Warriors at bay.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco crept to within 97-100 with 3:16 to go in the game, but then Dischinger hit for three points. DeBusschere made two free throws and Miles added a jump shot for 107-97 to put the game away.

The Pistons' balanced scoring attack overcame a 22 point scoring effort by San Francisco's Tom Meschery, only two points shy of his NBA career high.

Guard Paul Neumann scored 25 points for the Warriors, including seven of their last nine points.

Hank Aguirre in Camp

'Big Men' Impress Tiger Boss

LAKELAND Fla. (AP) —The one thing that has impressed many of the coaches and other observers in the first two days of the Detroit Tigers' early camp is the size of the young players.

"Look at those kids out there, General Manager James A. Campbell remarked Tuesday. "Anyone who is just six feet tall is a shrimp.

"But that's all right with me," Campbell said. "I'll take a good big man over a good little man any day."

Pitcher John Cuneen, who played in the minors at Daytona Beach, Fla. last year, is listed as the tallest rookie at 6-foot-7.

Temperatures were in the high 70s most of the day as the rookies and the few major leaguers in camp went through drills Tuesday.

BATTING PRACTICE

Manager Charley Dressen and his staff are bringing the players along slowly. Most of the pitchers are getting a chance to throw some in batting practice —against other pitchers—but face only a half-dozen or so batters before leaving the mound.

Dressen, who said he was pleased with the general physical condition of those in camp, has plenty of left handed pitchers available.

Dressen counted 21 lefties in camp Monday. But Fritz Fisher, the University of Michigan ex-star, reported Tuesday to increase the number to 22.

And veteran Hank Aguirre checked in later Tuesday and was expected to start training today.

It is a well known fact that the Tigers are looking for left-handed pitching help. It figures that at least a couple of the youngsters will show enough to attract attention and earn an invitation to try out with the regulars.

Country Day Quintet Posts 10th Triumph

Detroit Country Day racked up its 10th win of the season last night, thumping Whitmore Lake's basketball squad, 75-58. The winners were down at halftime, 39-36, but outscored Whitmore Lake in the second half, 39-21.

Tim Baughman led the winners with 24 points and teammate Doug Young checked in with 21. Gary Caskey tossed in 19 for the losers.

Oak Park Five Routed

Lutheran East piled up a 38-19 advantage and rolled to an easy 68-43 victory over Oak Park last night.

The loss left Oak Park with a 6-8 season record. Leonard Cushingberry collected 11 points for the losers.

In 1937, Texas Tech flew to Detroit in one of the first plane trips for a football team.

'Toot-Toot' Phil Linz Receives $200 Bonus

By the Associated Press

If your boss handed you a $200 gift, would you use it for harmonica lessons?

Well, that's the problem that faces Phil (Toot Toot) Linz of the New York Yankees.

Linz, who plays second, third, short and harmonica for the Yankees, was given a $20,000 contract Tuesday for his improved playing on the field and an extra $200 for improving his playing in the back of the bus.

But, musically speaking, the Yankees attached a couple of strings to Linz' harmonica.

Linz and his harmonica became an overnight sensation across the country last August when he blew a couple of grating toots on a team bus ride while the Yankees were in the middle of a losing streak. One thing led to another, and Linz wound up fined $200.

Despite flunking his audition, Linz was flooded with offers from recording companies and harmonica producers but stuck to playing ball, hitting .250 in 112 games while ably filling in all around the infield.

REWARD PAID

He was rewarded Tuesday, although the Yankees refused to say that the $200 was a return of Linz' fine.

A Yankee spokesman said the $200 was not written into the contract.

"Ralph (General Manager Ralph Houk) just handed the $200 to Linz," the spokesman said, "and he told him:

" 'You're not a very good harmonica player — take some lessons.' "

* * *

There was no word — or toots — from Linz on the matter. But it doesn't seem likely that he would use the money for harmonica lessons.

The last time he made a public appearance in New York he was strummin' a guitar.

Among the other players signing were outfielder Bob Allison of the Minnesota Twins and Baltimore reliever Dick Hall while pitcher Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants indicated he was ready to agree to terms.

RECEIVED RAISE

Allison, who hit .287 with 32 homers and 86 runs batted in last season, received a raise to the $37,500 neighborhood. Hall became the 33rd Oriole to sign, falling into line with his 9-1 record, 1.84 earned run average and a still-active string of 26 scoreless innings.

Marichal, who has turned back one San Francisco contract, reported from his home in the Dominican Republic that he was so certain of reaching agreement with the Giants that he was leaving for their Arizona training base.

AP Names All-America at Memorial

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Wayne Estes set four goals for himself during his basketball career at Utah State University.

He achieved the final one Tuesday — eight days after he was electrocuted in a bizarre accident. He was named to the Associated Press' 1964-65 All-America first team.

* * *

Heading into his senior year at USU last fall, Estes told Coach Le Dell Andersen he wanted:

—The single-game scoring record at Utah State's Nelson Field House. (He set it Feb. 9—the night he died—with 48 points against Denver University).

—The USU career scoring mark. (He hit it with a total of 2,001 points).

—Victory over arch-rival University of Utah on the Utes' home court in Salt Lake City. (He scored 32 points when Utah State downed Utah 86-85 Jan. 7).

FIRST TEAM

Selection to the All-America first team.

The award, first given posthumously and first given before the end of the regular season, was presented to Coach Andersen in front of 5,000 students in the Nelson Field House, where Estes played his last game.

The occasion was a campus memorial for Estes.

Kettering Team Wins

DEER FEED AVAILABLE — Dick Price of the Missaukee Ranch Club is shown putting out some surplus government corn to help feed deer. The Conservation Department has to declare the deer in danger of starvation before the corn can be released. Except in certain sections of the Upper Peninsula, deer are holding their own this winter.

Repeal Bill Introduced

Bounty Debate Starts

The Conservation Department loaded its anti-bounty payment guns last week and Sen. Carl W. O'Brien pulled the trigger.

The Pontiac legislator, who is chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, joined with Sen. Basil Brown of Highland Park to introduce a bill last week that will eliminate bounty payments.

* * *

Conservation Department Director Ralph A. MacMullan wasted no time firing the first volley.

"This bounty business has become downright ridiculous," he charged. "Since 1935, nearly $4 million in hunting and fishing license money has been squandered on bountied animals under the flimsy pretext that the system would reduce these predators and result in more game.

"Take the fox bounty alone. After 18 years of trial and error, we reached the Utopia of this great fantasy in 1964 when more foxes were bountied than ever before.

"That's progress? It doesn't make a smidgeon of sense and it's high time that we in Michigan wised up to the fact that bounties don't work—and never will.

* * *

"In the case of foxes, bounty hunters and trappers are only taking the cream off each year's surplus. They're not putting one dent into the animals' basic breeding population."

RECORD PAY

Last year's payoff was a record $254,090.

Leading the bounty list were 36,917 foxes for which $184,585 was paid. Both figures are all time highs. Another $67,035 went for 3,845 coyotes.

Bobcats taken in the Upper Peninsula numbered 494 with $2,470 going to hunters. Bobcats are not bountied below The Straits and there is only a short winter hunting season.

Opponents of any bounty repeal action are just as vociferous in favor of the payments.

"Sure, we're taking more foxes," said Fred Baucom, veteran southeren Lapeer County hunter. "What would the situation be if we weren't? We'd be over-run with foxes.

"And anyone who thinks we are making money off bounties had better think twice. It costs us $20 a day in gas and food when we're running.

* * *

Baucom pointed out that if the bounty is eliminated "our hunting will be cut down."

"Instead of going out four times a month, we'll go only twice. We'll keep only two or three dogs instead of 12 or 15. We couldn't afford to continue at our present scale because of the cost."

The hunters usually take one fox per outing and sometimes two, according to Baucom. "There are other days when we don't get any," he pointed out.

He also charged that the department "doesn't have figures to back up its statements that foxes are not doing a lot of damage to game birds and animals as predators."

"Ask them for the figures and they can't give them to you."

The battle is joined.

* * *

Sen. O'Brien has stated that public hearings on his bill will be scheduled "in the immediate future."

Hearing Scheduled on Fish Regulations

Plans to set quality trout fishing regulations on two sections of the Little Manistee river in the northern Lower Peninsula will be explained March 5 at a public hearing in Wellston, Manistee County.

* * *

The meeting will be held by the Conservation Department in the Norman Township Hall at 8 p.m.

Discussion will center on a proposal to restrict trout fishing to artificial lures under a minimum 10-inch size limit and a daily creel quota of 10. Statewide, the size limit on trout is seven inches and the creel limit for streams is the same as recommended.

Pike Fishing Good at Orion

Orchard, String Lakes Yielding Bluegills

Pike are becoming very active on Lake Orion.

The shovel-nosed fish started hitting last week and the action carried over to yesterday.

Mike Wurm and a companion of Lake Orion caught 19 pounds of pike on the lake. The largest of the four fish, all taken on tipups, was five pounds.

Pike are moving on Orchard Lake where the spear is proving more successful than tipups. Bluegills also are biting at Orchard.

Bluegills, perch and crappies have been biting well on Stringy Lakes near Oxford.

Trout have been generally inactive.

Smelt Dipping List Includes Inland Waters

Two inland counties are included in the 1965 smelt dipping regulations.

The season will be from March 1 to May 31 along all Great Lakes shorelines in Michigan and in Isabella and Montmorency counties.

* * *

Dipping will be legal in all inlet streams to Littlefield Lake in Isabella County and in the Thunder Bay River down from Ford Bridge to Lake Fifteen in Montmorency County. Sheridan and Stanniger creeks also will be open to dipping in Montmorency.

The annual spring spawning runs start along the Great Lakes early in April.

Coast Guard Boating Class Opens Thursday

The Pontiac Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will start its spring course in safe boating Thursday at the Naval Reserve Training Center.

* * *

The nine-week course will cover all phases of basic seamanship including rules of the road, knots and splices, aids to navigation, fueling safety and legal requirements.

Classes will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Registration will begin at 7 p.m. on the first night.

Lands Section Chief to Retire Saturday

Charles E. Millar, chief of the Conservation Department's lands section for the last 14 years, is retiring from state service Saturday because of health reasons.

Joseph D. Stephansky will fill in as acting chief of the section until a Civil Service examination is held and a man is picked from a certified register of candidates to head the section.

Terrier Wins Top Honors

Westminster King to Retire?

NEW YORK (AP) — After piling up a record of 32 best-in-show awards, it appeared today that Ch. Carmichaels Fanfare, a coal-black Scottish terrier and champion of the Westminster Kennel Club dog show, had reached the end of the line.

"I'm going to the Hartford and New Haven shows this coming weekend," said Fanfare's handler, 56-year-old John Murphy, "but I don't think Fanfare will be with me."

Fanfare's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Stalter of Woodcliff Lake, N.J., thought of retiring their ace last year, and probably would have if he had gone to the top at Westminster. But he didn't, and last year he piled up another 21 bests.

Murphy indicated that he would hold a conference with the owners before a definite decision was made.

Fanfare turned back a classy field of five other finalists who had fought their way through an entry list of 2,573, all bluebloods of the canine set.

The finalists included the defending champion, Ch. Courtenay Fleetfoot of Pennyworth, owned by Mrs. Margaret P. Newcombe of Newington, N.H. Fleetfoot captured the hound group, but was frustrated in his attempt to become the sixth dog in the 89-year history of Westminster to win twice in a row.

OTHER FINALISTS

The other four finalists included:

Ch. Flamina Glowing Alpine, a greyhound owned by Louise F. Russo of Hollywood, Calif., toy group victor.

* * *

Ch. Gronbach's Aladdin, a weinmarner, entered by Robert C. Gronbach of Glastenbury, Conn., the sporting winner.

Ch. Pixiecroft Sunbeam, a miniature poodle entered by Mrs. Gardner Cassett of Bryn Mawr, Pa., the non-working group champion.

Ch. Salgray's Fashion Plate, a boxer belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hamilburg of Brookline, Mass., who captured the working group.

* * *

"It was a good field," sighed judge Robert A. Kerns of Philadelphia, "with an abundance of quality. It's difficult . . . impossible to put my finger on exactly why I chose the scotty. In general, I would have to say he had a shade more quality than the others.

"I could have placed a couple of the finalists second, but unfortunately you get only one shot."

Murphy, who came here from Glasgow, Scotland, in 1948, has been connected with Scottish terriers all his life.

Motorists 'Bagged' Deer at Record Rate in 1964

Michigan motorists "bagged" at least 5,970 deer on the state's highways last year to smash the previous record by more than 1,200 animals, the Conservation Department reports.

Last year's known highway toll, up about 25 per cent from the high set in 1963, cost car and truck owners nearly an estimated $1.2 million in repairs on their banged-up vehicles.

* * *

On the average, run-ins with whitetails do about $200 in vehicle damage, according to a survey conducted recently among insurance companies in Michigan.

The road kill figure, amounting to almost 300,000 pounds of venison, is actually on the conservative side. It does not account for those animals which, after being struck, managed to hobble off into wooded areas and fields, only to die later from their injuries.

HEAVY IN SOUTH

Whitetail losses in 1964 continued to run heaviest along highways of the southern Lower Peninsula, totaling 2,824 animals.

The toll, an increase of some 40 per cent over the year before, is the highest ever suffered in any region of the state.

In this southern farmbelt, where the deer herd has exploded to the size of about 60,000 animals, highway kill has more than doubled within the last three years.

As in the past, the 13-county Jackson district was the region's unluckiest area for motorists and deer, with losses there mounting to 1,414.

Elsewhere in southern Michigan, the Plainwell district recorded a road kill of 1,112 deer, second highest in the state.

Some Sharp Comebacks

Mart in Irregular Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — An irregular recovery pushed the stock market somewhat higher in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

* * *

A number of issues which backtracked Monday and Tuesday made fairly sharp comebacks. But there were many soft spots throughout the list.

* * *

The aerospace defense stocks continued mostly higher as uncertainty continued regarding developments in the Southeast Asian military situation.

Airlines also were mostly higher, with the notable exception of Eastern, which slumped about 2 points in continued profit taking on its recent strength.

ENCOURAGING

The business news background remained generally encouraging but trading cross-currents tended to sidetrack clear-cut leadership by any special groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 331.4 with industrials up 1.0, rails unchanged and utilities up .6.

* * *

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading. Pierce Governor rose a point and Computer Sciences more than that. Fractional gainers included Syntex, Fulton Industries, TWA warrants, National Video "A," Continental Telephone and ANelex. D. Kaltman, Argus and Rath Packing were fractional losers.

* * *

Corporate and U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged to slightly higher.

Guard Hearing Probes Deals

Legality of Land Sales at Issue Yesterday

LANSING (AP — Debate over whether two National Guard generals acted properly in land transactions was to continue today at their ouster hearing, and Gov. George Romney was expected to ask anew why they didn't make certain of the rules before they acted.

One of three charges against Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert involves land transactions at Camp Grayling.

* * *

Most of Tuesday's 6½ - hour session of Romney's hearing for the generals was taken up by arguments over whether the transactions were legal land or illegal sales and purchases.

Romney said the attorney general's office informed McDonald in 1958 that a type of transaction similar to those in question was not authorized.

'GROSS NEGLECT'

"Why wouldn't you ask for clarification?" he asked.

McDonald's attorney, Thomas McAllister, said the Michigan Military Board approved the transactions after seeing the letter from the attorney general's office.

"If there is any responsibility on the part of the military board, I want to know that," Romney said.

* * *

The charges against McDonald and Neifert include "gross neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance" for not informing the military board on details on land transactions.

Debate over the transactions came up during the nearly three hours in which Charles Moore, a Grayling attorney, was on the stand.

ACTED AS TRUSTEE

Moore acted as trustee for the military establishment in the land transactions.

He testified: "Lots were sold by the military board to anyone who wanted them. That's how they got the money to buy land."

Commerce Wreck Hurts Area Woman

A Highland Township woman was hospitalized yesterday with fractured ribs and collarbone following a two-car collision in Commerce Township.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital is Mari J. Kirby, 47, of 268 E. Highland.

* * *

She was the driver of a car that collided with another driven by Mrs. Ernest Blendin, 57, of 28873 Kirkside, Farmington Township.

The accident occurred at Commerce and Bogie Lake roads at 10:15 a.m. Mrs. Blendin told sheriff's deputies she did not see the Kirby car.

S. Lyon Firm Reports

Michigan Seamless Tube Co. of South Lyon has declared a cash dividend of 25 cents per share on the $5 par value capital stock payable May 20, 1965, to stockholders of record at the close of business April 20, 1965.

Some Industries Lag

Index Doesn't Tell All

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Booming industrial production tells a story of a record four-year climb to unparalleled prosperity. But the component parts of the Federal Reserve Board's index reveal marked differences in pace.

DAWSON

Output of utilities has soared. Mining has trailed. In manufacturing business equipment has been the big gainer. By comparison, production of nondurable goods has had only an average increase.

* * *

The index, which often acts as a fever chart for the whole economy, hit a record high in January of 137.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average which is used as a base of 100.

In January 1961, and again in February of that year, when the last recession was at its bottom level, the index was around 102.

BIG CLIMB

The big climb from 102 to nearly 138 in four years is impressive in itself. What may be even more significant is the gain in the last 12 months, the fourth year of the present economic upswing.

By all previous experience the aging upturn should have been slowing down. Instead, since January 1964 the index has risen 10 points.

* * *

And the activity in most of the nation's industries today points to a continuation of the index rise this month. The big shadow is what effect the long dock strike in Atlantic and Gulf ports may have had on producers of goods for export, and on those that import materials to keep their plants busy.

By industrial groups, the gains of the last 12 months stack up like this: All manufacturing moved from 128.5 of the 1957-59 base average to 139.1. The durable goods section did the best, from 128.1 to 140.8. Nondurable goods had a more sober climb, from 128.9 to 137.0

SLIGHT RISE

Mining production rose only slightly, from 108.8 in January 1964 to 112.0 last month. But utilities kept up the pace that has put them well ahead of either mining or manufacturing. Utility output in the 12 months rose from 144.5 of the base period to 153.0.

By market groupings, consumer goods make up 32 per cent of the total index. In the last 12 months they climbed sedately from 128.9 to 137.2. Output of business equipment however was gaining much faster, from 132.9 to 147.0. Production of business equipment accounts for but 5 per cent of the total index.

* * *

And in industry groupings, the soaring utilities account for just 5 per cent. Lagging mining accounts for 8 per cent. Durable goods manufacturing is 48 per cent of the total and nondurables 39 per cent.

While the industrial production index gets high rating as a guide to economic trends, it covers only a little more than one-third of the goods and services produced in the United States.

SERVICE TRADES

Excluded are the growing service trades, agriculture, construction, transportation, finance, foreign trade, and wholesale and retail trade. Most of this two-thirds segment of the economy has been growing in the last 12 months.

Barring more labor strife, or international upsets, the economy should continue to expand into the spring and, many now think, through the entire year.

Dying Pine Trees Endanger Traffic

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—A freeze in the winter of 1962 is making travel risky these days along Kings Highway, a Fort Pierce area feeder road for the Sunshine State Parkway turnpike.

Residents have complained that towering pine trees, killed by frost, have begun toppling across the road. Half a dozen already have crashed to earth, damaging two automobiles but causing no injuries.

The other dead trees still stand, awaiting a strong wind or settlement of responsibility for removing them.

Teens Battle at Rush Hour in NY Subway

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 40 teen-agers chose a Brooklyn subway station for their battleground at rush hour last night and clashed with fists, thick clubs, tire irons and automobile antennas.

Transit authority detectives chased them from the crowded station after about five minutes of brawling.

City police helped round up 18 of the youths at gunpoint. Those caught faced court appearances today.

Police said Negroes and whites fought on each side and there apparently was no racial overtone to the melee.

★ ★ ★

Although some passengers were jostled on the station's stairways and platforms as the fight broke up, there were no reports of injuries to either bystanders or combatants.

Police said at least four girls were involved in the fracas.

Copenhagen A-Shelters Not Exactly Bombproof

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI) — Copenhagen's civil defense officials admitted last night that plaster of paris had been used by builders to reinforce atomic air-raid shelters.

It was learned that the shelters could collapse at the sound of a pistol shot and certainly would not withstand an atomic blast.

He (or She) Testified for His (or Her) Sister

DAVENTRY, England (UPI)—Police inspector Frank Wells, examining a witness yesterday, asked: "Are you the sister of the previous witness?"

The witness turned out to be a male youth with shoulder-length hair.

AND THE PILOT CRIED "TILT!"—These photos of a tilt float amphibious helecopter depict operation of a new flotation idea jointly developed by the U.S. Navy and the Gyrodyne Company to permit helicopters and VTOL (Vertical Take-Off and Landing) craft to operate from very rough seas. At upper left, floats are in horizontal position for land take-off and forward flight. Upper right: Floats partially tilted prior to landing on water. Lower left: tilt floats are in position for water landing. Lower right: aircraft in landing position. For take-off in rough sea, the sequence is reversed.

M. Eiffel's Folly Hardly That

Gold Mine in Sky Towers Over Paris

WASHINGTON — Seventy-five springs ago, a temporary structure was completed for the Paris Exposition of 1889.

Its designer, Gustave Eiffel, and an athletic group of top-hatted officials struggled up its 1,900 steps to plant the French flag atop what was then the world's tallest structure.

Engineers said the Eiffel Tower certainly would fall. But the "temporary" 1,056-foot spire remains so sturdy that only a few of its 18,038 steel sections have ever been replaced.

The Eiffel Tower, now a cherished French landmark, was not always so loved, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

As the steel skeleton rose above the Paris skyline in 1887, prominent Parisians petitioned against the "monstrous and useless" thing.

FAMED OPPOSITION

Writer Guy de Maupassant Paris and urged the populace to "smash this assemblage of iron ladders." Less artistic critics attacked the tower as a vantage for spies, magnet for lightning and threat to migrating birds.

Despite the protests, 300 workmen drove 2½ million rivets and finished the framework in two years. M. Eiffel's folly swiftly proved a gold mine in the sky.

Financed by subscription, the tower cost about $1.56 million, paid for itself in less than two years, and has never been in the red since.

★ ★ ★

M. Eiffel built himself an apartment above the tower's top public platform where he studied aerodynamics and entertained such celebrities as Thomas A. Edison, Edward VII and Sarah Bernhardt.

FINE, HIGH AIR

He credited his long life (he died at 91) to the fine, high air he breathed there.

Since World War II, the tower has drawn more than a million visitors a year, making it Europe's number one tourist attraction.

No mere monument, the tower also houses weather and radio equipment, television antennas and aircraft beacons.

★ ★ ★

In World War I, its radio station helped ferret out spies, including the famous Mata Hari. The first voice radio signals across the Atlantic Ocean were sent from the Eiffel Tower to Arlington, Va.

The tower has attracted a host of daredevils. Two of the unsuccessful ones were an Austrian inventor who tested a pair of aerodynamically unsound homemade wings and a Frenchman whose new parachute proved a dismal failure.

Planes have threaded the arches, and in 1924 the self-proclaimed mayor of Montmartre jounced down the 356 steps from the first landing on a bicycle.

A German Alpinist climbed the girders under cover of darkness, but was caught and forced to pay the admission fee.

★ ★ ★

To celebrate the 75th anniversary, a team of mountain climbers in full climbing regalia carefully picked their way up the outside to the top of the structure. They had official sanction and television coverage.

AMATEUR CLIMBER

The Alpinists were preceded by a 37-year-old house painter who scrambled up to the first balcony in his Sunday suit and street shoes. The painter's climb was unauthorized and he was arrested.

Better Check This, 007

LONDON (UPI) — A "Mr. Goldfinger" flew from London Airport on a one-way ticket to Tel Aviv yesterday. His ticket number was 007 — the same as the code number for secret agent "James Bond."

LBJ: Hubert Will Help Unless at Funeral

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson yesterday told his council on aging that it will have the cooperation of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey "if he is not out of the country attending some funeral."

Johnson drew sharp criticism from some sources when he did not name Humphrey as a representative to the services for Sir Winston Churchill in London on Jan. 30. The President was ill at the time.

Israel is about the size of New Jersey. Its terrain varies from hills and mountains in the north and central regions to the Negev Desert in the south.

Cole's Casket to Be Viewed

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Thousands of mourners were expected to file past the sealed casket of singer Nat (King) Cole today in St. James Episcopal Church.

★ ★ ★

The body of the 45-year-old entertainer, who died of cancer Monday morning in St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, was to lie in state for seven hours, starting at 3 p.m. PST, (6 p.m., Pontiac time).

Funeral service tomorrow in the same church was to be private. Only the family and about 600 close friends and newsmen were to be permitted to attend. Interment will follow in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Jack Benny—one of the last persons to see Cole alive—and George Jessel will deliver the eulogies to Cole at the service.

★ ★ ★

One of Cole's daughters, Natalie, 14, yesterday left the Northfield School for Girls in East Northfield, Mass., to attend the service. He accompanied her to the school when she enrolled as a freshman last September.

OTHER SURVIVORS

Cole's other survivors include his wife, Maria; his mother, Cora Bell; and five children, Natalie, Carole, 20, Nat Kelly, 6, and twins Timolin and Casey, 3. Carole and Nat Kelly were adopted.

In addition, Cole is survived by a sister and three brothers.

CUSTODY BATTLE — Anna Kashfi (left), ex-wife of actor Marlon Brando, appeared in court at Santa Monica, Calif., yesterday along with the actor and his secretary. At stake is the custody of Christian Devi Brando, 6. The secretary, Alice Marchak, testified Brando fathered an illegitimate son born to a Tahitian actress who costarred with him in the film, "Mutiny on the Bounty."

'Greatest Story Ever Told' Rated Best of Biblical Films

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Throughout his long history with "The Greatest Story Ever Told," George Stevens has striven to avoid the usual trappings of a commercial motion picture.

THOMAS

Because he felt the Christ story should not be treated like any other film venture, the eminent producer-director has been steadfast in refusing to discuss costs, contracts and other business matters. The publicity campaign has been muted.

★ ★ ★

Tonight's premiere in Hollywood will be conducted without the usual accompaniment of searchlights, bleachers, etc.

But, with the openings here and in New York, "The Greatest Story Ever Told" has entered the marketplace and hence must be appraised in terms of commerce as well as art.

SOARING ACHIEVEMENT

Stevens' magnum opus is a soaring achievement, the best film ever made from a biblical theme. It is also a flawed masterpiece.

Pictorially, the film is everything Stevens hoped to achieve. His cameras roamed the magnificence of western America. He works with lights and shadows, rather than exploiting the brilliant hues that most color movies possess.

★ ★ ★

Costumes, cities and landscapes are largely in desert shades of beige and brown. No blare of color intrudes, except for dramatic purpose, as in the scarlet of Mary Magdelene's dress or the brilliance of the Resurrection sunrise.

The second most notable feature of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" is the performance of Max Von Sydow. His may be the definitive portrayal of Jesus, being virile and commanding, but with a deep well of spirituality and mysticism. His face seldom animates; as with all great film acting, his eyes express the feeling.

TWO ELEMENTS

These two elements, the scenic realization and the starring performance, are perhaps enough to insure the rapt appreciation of most moviegoers.

Some sequences are inspired, notably the dialogue with the devil in the wilderness, the Jordan scenes with John the Baptist, the ousting of moneychangers from the Temple.

The other side of the critical scale: the film is long, expectably so; but four hours, including intermission, is a long time in a theater. Some of the scenes are inescapably tableaux, despite Stevens' efforts to keep them alive. The guest-starrings, notably John Wayne's, add a jarring note of recognizability.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the major drawback was one Stevens imposed on himself. Jesus' dialogue is limited to selections from Scriptures. Fresh meaning is added to the exalted words, but the limitation divorces the central figure from some of the dramatic byplay.

Despite these matters, the balance weighs heavily in favor of "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Anti-U.S. Protest by Ugandans

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Riot police fired tear gas yesterday to disperse a stone-throwing crowd trying to smash windows of the U.S. Embassy here.

The stones failed to reach the embassy on the fourth floor but smashed windows of a commercial firm windows lower down.

About 5,000 anti-American demonstrators milled outside while a ministerial group led by State Minister Grace Ibingira presented a protest against U.S. intervention in the Congo to embassy officials.

The protest demanded the United States stop sending arms to the Congo, withdraw Cuban rebels from the Congo, influence Premier Moise Tshombe to withdraw white mercenaries, and guarantee Uganda territorial integrity not violated by American arms.

★ ★ ★

Afterward the demonstration broke into political squabbling. When Ibingira left the embassy, Congress Youth Wingers manhandled him, shouting "Yankee stooge," while university students grabbed Planning Community Development Minister Adoko Nekyon.

BOTH RESCUED

Police rescued both.

When a crowd of 20,000 gathered in an open space just outside the town, party fighting flared after non-Congress sections of the crowd objected that only the Congress flag was flying. Five were injured in the scuffling, and the rally was broken up by military police.

Fund Exec Warns State: Pay Up or Face a Crisis

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — The state should start paying the teachers should start paying the teachers half-billion dollars it owes in order to avert a cash crisis by 1967, the fund's executive secretary declared Tuesday.

But State Controller Glenn Allen and Senate Appropriations Chairman Garland Lane, D-Flint, called the report of Lawrence Van Zwoll an exaggeration and blamed the constitution, not financial tightness, for difficulty they said might come in six or seven years.

The complicated matter of pension funding has provoked battles for years and is an expensive proposition.

Gov. George Romney's 1965-66 budget propose $68 million as the School Aid Fund's contribution to the plan for public school employes.

These are the basic arguments and background:

The City of Detroit operates one pension fund and all outstate points another. The state contributes to each in slightly varying amounts because of differences in projections of how many employes will draw retirement benefits when and for how long.

$57 MILLION

Van Zwoll outlined to the Senate Appropriations Committee the position of the outstate fund, which is ticketed to receive $57 million of Romney's proposed retirment fund appropriation. He said the Detroit fund is in about the same shape as the outstate fund.

Van Zwoll's complaint is that the fund is not actuarily sound—that is, it does not now contain all the money which would be necessary to pay full potential retirement benefits to all active and retired employes.

RETAIN MONEY

The new constitution requires that each year's state contributions now must be actuarily sound based on the employe payroll — but it also requires that this money be retained for payment to the employes for whom it was contributed. That means state contributions this year cannot be used to pay retirement benefits for some teacher who retired two years ago.

★ ★ ★

The current retirement benefits are being paid from a cash-on-hand fund which Van Zwoll said stood at $95 million on June 30 and had slipped to $81 million by Nov. 30. He predicted this fund would run out within two years unless the legislature revised its contribution pattern.

Romney's budget proposal has somewhat revised the contribution pattern so that the cash-on-hand fund would slip only $20.3 million in 1965-66. Allen said the fund could continue on that basis for another six years.

Then, the controller conceded, the state would have to appropriate extra money for current retirement payments.

County Airs Public Defense

By BILL EASTHAM

Does Oakland County need a public defender system?

This question was kicked around for two and a half hours at the Courthouse Auditorium yesterday morning in a public hearing called by the legislative committee of the board of supervisors.

The majority of county officials and attorneys who appeared at the hearing presented arguments against the creation of such a system, at least at this time.

After hearing the "evidence," Chairman Carl F. Ingraham, Birmingham supervisor, called a meeting of the committee for 9:15 a.m. Tuesday, at which time a recommendation will be formulated to present to the board of supervisors.

★ ★ ★

Attention has been focused on the idea of a public defender system by recent decisions of the U.S. and Michigan Supreme Courts. The decisions set precedents that could make mandatory the provision of legal counsel for practically all criminal defendants who claim to be indigent.

DEFENSE COUNSEL

The decisions also guarantee the provision of defense counsel in appeal cases, which county officials say have increased sharply under provisions of the state's new constitution.

A bill making a public defender system mandatory in all counties with a population of 200,000 or more has already been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Ingraham said the purpose of yesterday's hearing was to help the committee decide whether to go on record as opposing such legislation.

★ ★ ★

Legal counsel is presently appointed for indigent defendants at the discretion of the circuit courts, which also determine the amount the defense attorneys are to be paid.

APPEAL CASES

In the past, however, the courts have not been obliged to provide counsel on appeal cases.

In most cases, the amount of reimbursement doesn't come close to what the attorneys would normally charge for their services.

Despite this, many attorneys submit their names to a "pool" of available defense counsel from which the courts make appointments.

★ ★ ★

Indications are, however, that the caseload requiring court-appointed attorneys may soon exceed the number of attorneys available to the courts.

OBVIOUS ANSWER

The obvious answer to the problem is a public defender system, which would consist of a full-time staff of attorneys, investigators and other personnel assigned to defend criminal cases and carry appeals on a rotation basis.

The principal objection to the system, as brought out in yesterday's hearing, is the cost.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors, presented figures to the legislative committee showing that the county courts last year appointed counsel in 135 cases at a total cost of $21,500.

★ ★ ★

Murphy predicted an increase of 500 to 600 per cent in court-appointed attorney fees in the next year.

COST OF TRANSCRIPTS

In addition, Murphy said, the county will probably have to bear the cost of transcripts for appeal cases, which will be even higher.

Despite these expected increases, the cost of a public defender system would be greater according to Murphy, who said he doesn't believe it is necessary at this time.

Others who spoke against creating a new system at this time were Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, Prosecutor Jerome S. Bronson and Richard P. Condit, former prosecutor who is now in private practice.

★ ★ ★

The only one who spoke in favor of it was Pontiac Attorney Wallace D. McClay, who pointed out that many convictions are reversed in the higher courts because of incompetent defense.

PROTECT PUBLIC

A full-time defense staff with adequate investigative resources at its disposal would be better able to protect the public, as well as the defendant, McClay said.

He added that he doesn't think a public defender system would cost as much as county officials anticipate. Funds for a pilot program might be available through the Ford Foundation, McClay said.

Toothpaste that is said to remove radioactive strontium from the system by way of the saliva has been developed by Finnish research.

Gloria Vanderbilt Not at Mother's Funeral

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Funeral service for Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt was attended by 100 yesterday, but her daughter Gloria, over whom she waged a custody battle in the 1930s, was not among the mourners present.

Mrs. Vanderbilt died of cancer Saturday at the age of 60. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel F. Sullivan celebrated a Requiem High Mass at the Church of the Good Shepherd. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Under Observation After Hitting Marshal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Robert E. Engle, 55, brother of the late U.S. Sen. Clair Engle, has been placed under psychiatric observation after striking a U.S. marshal with a cane.

Engle was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for psychiatric observation yesterday. He telephoned police after the incident, saying he feared he was insane and "might do something serious."

The Childs Cup is awarded in the collegiate sport of rowing.

Designer of Lace Bikini Had Wholly New Eye-dea

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Are you girls ready for black lace bikinis — with nude colored linings? I know we boys are.

Darryl Zanuck's daughter, Mrs. Darrylin Pineda, is giving the world one of its first "lace bikinis" — the lace is usually black and "widely separated" for blondes, anyway)—with so many peep-holes peeping through that Broadway wit Irving Hoffman has christened them "the Swiss cheese bikinis."

WILSON

"As long as girls are practically naked anyway, they may as well look it," says Darrylin, who has a retail shop at the Acupulco, Mexico, Hilton Hotel. "In my bikinis, when you look at a girl, she looks like a bunch of beautiful naked skin."

Mrs. Pineda—she's the wife of a big chicken and egg man in Mexico—feared her holes-within-holes bikinis were too daring for New York.

"I have to be careful because a girl got arrested for wearing one of my hiphugger outfits in California," Darrylin said. "She had it cut down a lot lower . . . and after I had already cut it too low."

★ ★ ★

Darrylin says her own brother, Richard Zanuck, now a Hollywood film tycoon, doesn't permit his wife to wear bikinis so designed. "Me?" she says. "Yeah . . . I wear 'em when my husband's busy with his chickens and eggs!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Agent Tim Boxer's $250,000 suit against comic Dick Gregory (for unpaid commissions) will be heard soon in Chicago . . . Marcello Mastroianni visits Monsignors, the plush continental restaurant here—for bacon and eggs . . . Jess White, who grew sideburns for "Kelly" — which closed after one performance—is keeping 'em on. He's wanted for another show of the same period . . . Mickey Rooney's negotiating with Phyllis Diller to portray his wife in a hillbilly comedy film.

A major movie company wants Myrna Loy to take an administrative post . . . Insult comic Don Rickles spotted Lester Dill (of Meramec Caverns) attired in a leopardskin tuxedo and yelled, "You're not well-dressed—not even for a leopard!" . . . The New Christy Minstrels are waiting Moscow's OK for a Russian tour; and the Four Seasons will go to Japan. (Just our luck —the Beatles are coming here).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "At one time," says Vaughn Monroe, "a fellow with his ear to the ground was a politician. Now he's just somebody looking for a lost contact lens.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Dave Astor describes the midtown traffic: "I left the west side after breakfast for lunch on the east side, and arrived for dinner."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The man who wastes today lamenting yesterday will waste tomorrow lamenting today."—Philip Raskin.

EARL'S PEARLS: Insomnia must be contagious. If your baby has it, chances are you won't be able to sleep, either.

Buddy Greco spent an evening with Joe E. Lewis, and reports the only exercise the 100-proof comic gets "is hiccuping once in a while." . . . That's earl, brother.

Own Shock Wave Helps Bomber Hit 1,200 M.P.H.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The XB70-A bomber streaked 1,200 miles an hour Tuesday on its fifth flight — getting a lift from its own shock wave by drooping its wing tips.

North American Aviation test pilot Alvin S. White, in a 67-minute circling flight from nearby Palmdale, folded down the outer 30 feet of each tip to a maximum angle of 65 degrees.

The shock wave flowing back from the plane's needle-like nose was channeled under the huge triangle wing on the aft part of the ship. For 39 minutes of its flight, which reached a new top altitude of 45,000 feet, the plane rode its own shock wave.

Detroit Legislator's Bill Is First Effort to Cut State Agencies

LANSING (AP) — Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, has made the first attempt of this legislative session to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

Other plans, backed by legislative leadership, are expected to follow.

Complying with the terms of the new State Constitution, a bill introduced Tuesday fits the present group of more than 120 departments and agencies into 20 principal departments.

The legislature has until next Dec. 31 to reorganize the government. If it fails to do so, the governor has until Dec. 31, 1966 to do the job by executive order.

PROPOSED ACT

O'Brien's bill provides that any department, commission, board or other agency left out of the proposed act may be assigned to a major department by the governor within a year of its enactment.

Any agency not disposed of by then would be abolished.

★ ★ ★

The principal departments proposed include:

The officers of governor, secretary of state, attorney general and treasurer; the departments of administration, safety and defense, agriculture and the civil service commission;

★ ★ ★

Departments of commerce and industry, conservation, corrections, economic expansion, the state board of education; department of general services;

Highway department, departments of labor, mental and public health, revenue and social services.

65-Hour Flight by Ranger 8 Expected to Bring 4,000 Pictures

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Ranger 8 spacecraft was scheduled for launching today on a quarter-million-mile trip to the moon to photograph a large flat plain called the Sea of Tranquillity.

An Atlas-Agena rocket is slated to blast skyward this afternoon to start the camera-carrying craft on its planned 65-hour flight.

The 809-pound payload is to execute several intricate maneuvers and crash-land on the moon Saturday morning.

In the final 13 minutes and 40 seconds, Ranger 8's six cameras are to flash to earth more than 4,000 pictures at altitudes ranging from 1,180 miles down to about half a mile.

★ ★ ★

The Sea of Tranquillity is nearer to the moon's shadow line than the region photographed by Ranger 7.

BETTER DEFINITION

The pictures thus should have better definition of detail because of longer shadows cast by rocks, mountain peaks and other features.

The 4,312 pictures transmitted by Ranger 7 were about 2,000 times better than any obtained by land-based telescopic cameras.

In the final shots, craters only 18 inches across were visible.

Space agency officials said the pictures indicate the lunar surface is covered with extremely fine rubble. Experts disagree on the depth.

★ ★ ★

Ranger 8 may shed light on the controversy.

The launching will climax a major space doubleheader at Cape Kennedy.

A Saturn 1 rocket successfully hurled a giant space bird named Pegasus into orbit yesterday to study the threat that meteoroids pose to manned space flight.

EXPLOSIVES SEIZED — Members of the New York Police Department bomb squad load dynamite and detonating caps into a bomb truck yesterday in the Bronx. Explosives were to have been used by three American men and a Canadian woman to blow up the Statue of Liberty, Washington Monument and Liberty Bell, according to New York police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Feel Bombings Won't Solve Guerrilla War

Church, McGovern Add Voices to Debate on Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sens. Frank Church and George S. McGovern called anew today for efforts toward a negotiated settlement in South Viet Nam.

McGovern of South Dakota said the American people support President Johnson's actions but that his own mail indicates by a ratio of 15 to 1 "that the people also favor efforts on our part to negotiate a ceasefire and a settlement in Viet Nam."

McGovern said that no one recognizes more clearly than the President that "bombing attacks in the north will not solve the guerrilla struggle in the south."

"I hope," McGovern continued, "that such tactics are aimed at increasing the pressure for negotiation rather than the false hope that military victory is possible for either side."

★ ★ ★

Church of Idaho said that if the fighting continues it will leave a tragic trail of casualties all out of proportion to U.S. national interest and still lead to a negotiated settlement with the Communists.

SEPARATE TALKS

"The question really isn't whether we should negotiate," Church added, "but when."

The two spoke out in separate addresses prepared for Senate delivery in the growing congressional debate over Southeast Asian policy.

Yesterday, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, said the nation should stand firmly behind Johnson in the face of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's demand for an American retreat from South Viet Nam.

34 Units Win UF Plaques

Given for Excellent Employe Activity

Thirty-four area firms and other employe units received Pontiac Area United Fund award plaques today for outstanding employe participation in the 1964 United Fund campaign.

Some 50 representatives of the firms attended this morning's breakfast ceremony in their honor at the Holiday Inn.

Bruce J. Annett, 1964 general campaign chairman, and Jack C. Brannack, commercial division chairman made the presentations.

Glenn Griffin, president of the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees, congratulated the award-winning employe groups for "outstanding citizenship."

★ ★ ★

"This demonstration of citizenship on the part of the leading firms represented here has significantly contributed to the most successful Pontiac Area United Fund campaign in its 16-year history.

TOP GOAL

"The $815,500 goal has been subscribed in the amount of $911,014 to date," Griffin stated. "Each contributing employe is a shareholder in the well being of his community."

Firms qualifying for the award plaques met or surpassed a standard of 90 per cent of all employes participating with at least 65 per cent contributing an hour's pay each month.

The breakfast, sponsored by Montgomery Ward and Co., was the first such award's breakfast given for winning firms and

U.S. Officials Study New Laws on Crime

WASHINGTON (AP)—A thick package of new crime laws aimed both at fighting organized crime and salvaging the young criminal is under study by the Johnson administration.

Administration sources said today the crime package probably will place special stress on laws granting immunity to witnesses in certain categories of organized crime investigations.

While it is expected to propose major new laws in the fields of narcotics, arson, firearms and wiretapping, it will seek also to put federal money into the fight against juvenile delinquency.

One source stressed that the crime bills are a long way from completion and may not be ready for Congress until spring.

These are the lines along which administration experts are thinking as they assemble the crime package, which will be accompanied by a special message from President Johnson:

—Immunity: Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and his predecessor, Robert F. Kennedy, have pleaded for laws that will grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses in certain federal criminal investigations.

★ ★ ★

The laws being considered by the administration probably will deal with investigations of bankruptcy fraud and interstate travel in aid of racketeering. The bankruptcy dodge is one of organized crime's more recent incursions into legitimate business.

STRICT CONTROLS

—Firearms: Johnson is likely to propose strict controls over the sale and registration of firearms — possibly forbidding their sale to minors under 18 and to persons with criminal records.

—Arson: Under consideration is a law to make arson in connection with interstate travel a federal offense.

The Justice Department is convinced that gangsters have reaped millions in insurance money after burning buildings they own, either directly or through fronts.

—Narcotics: The administration is considering some sort of legislation that will primarily affect the users of narcotics.

—Wiretapping: Despite reversals in Congress, the administration plans once more to ask for a law permitting, under strict controls, the tapping of telephone lines in certain criminal investigations, and the use in court of evidence gained from such taps.

—Juvenile delinquency: The government would, under a proposal being considered, expand its system of "halfway houses" to improve the chances of young offenders to face society after they've been in prison.

Burch Chides GOP 'Silence'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retiring Republican National Chairman Dean Burch chided his party today for keeping silent while watching "President Johnson's medicine man act."

In a speech prepared for the opening session of a four-day Young Republican leadership school, he also announced that the GOP was organizing a "counter-COPE" to offset help given Democrats by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Burch, who is stepping out April 1, said the party is "not ready for the ashcan of history" despite the defeats suffered in the 1964 election.

"But for some reason we have allowed ourselves to become tongue-tied," he said. "We seem temporarily I am sure, to be bewitched, bothered and bewildered by President Johnson's medicine man act."

Can't Keep Tax Burden on Property, Says Irwin

Real estate can no longer carry the full burden of providing the revenues the city needs, Commissioner Robert C. Irwin declared last night.

Irwin presented the second in a series of policy statements by the City Commission on Pontiac's proposed income tax.

The District 2 commissioner, in urging passage of the tax ordinance at the polls March 18, said real estate has carried the full load for local governments since 1893.

The only exception, he said, was the sales tax which was adopted in 1933.

Irwin noted that city government is very close to people.

"It controls the things that touch the home and life of citizens, such as law and order, protection of life, limb and property.

★ ★ ★

"The county, state and federal governments do not affect the citizens of a city in the same manner as does local city government."

Pontiac citizens, he noted are entitled to the benefits of adequate municipal services.

The income levy would remove a portion of the tax from home owners and local businesses and place the burden on nonresidents, Irwin pointed out.

The sharing of part of the cost of city government by nonresidents is a definite advantage to Pontiac taxpayers he said.

Charles Nasstrom, chairman of a self-appointed Citizens Committee on Taxation, said last night that his group recognized the need of the city for more revenue, but by a millage hike.

Commissioner T. Warren Fowler commented that the people (nonresidents), who oppose the income tax, also demand salt on Pontiac streets in order for them to get to work.

Unmasked Alleged Bomb Plotters

Negro Officer Risked His Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Raymond Wood, 31-year-old Negro who 10 months ago was just a rookie cop, plunged coolly into a cloak-and-dagger role to unmask a quartet allegedly bent on blowing up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell.

Three American Negroes, described as pro-Castro and pro-Red Chinese racial fanatics, and a striking Canadian blonde, were seized yesterday in a lightning roundup by police and the FBI.

Wood was hustled to a police station along with one of the alleged plotters as he was helping transfer 20 sticks of dynamite from a lot to an auto in a quiet residential section of the Bronx. Alerted by Wood, police had blanketed the area.

The 6-foot-1 inch, 201-pound Wood, who is single, for three months had infiltrated a Negro extremist organization known as the Black Liberation Front at a daily risk of his life.

Wood said of his achievement only: "I wanted to do my best."

He murmured "thank you" when Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy, at a news conference, handed Wood an immediate promotion—the gold shield of a detective.

"You certainly deserve it," said Murphy.

Board Upholds Earlier Ruling on NCA Bid

North Central Airlines has been granted permission to delete service to Pontiac and two other Michigan cities.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) agreed with an earlier ruling that public convenience and necessity no longer required continuation of service.

Lack of passengers had been the NCA's argument to stop local service to Pontiac Municipal Airport.

CAB disclosed its decision yesterday in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Permission was also granted to delete NCA service to Cadillac-Reed City and Port Huron.

DISAPPOINTMENT

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, reflected disappointment at the latest CAB ruling.

He said that Pontiac had asked that the CAB hold up a decision on the NCA request to delete service until a ruling could be made on a second request to have NCA flights to Chicago and Cleveland from the local airport.

City and local NCA officials reported that they had not heard of the CAB ruling. NCA officials at the airport said they did not know how long it would take to close up shop here.

★ ★ ★

In other action, CAB denied a request from Gaylord for scheduled air service.

County Unit Okays Plan for TB Patient Disposition

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors agreed yesterday on a course of action which — if approved by the board next Tuesday — will keep most of the county's tuberculosis patients in Oakland County facilities.

After a stormy 2½-hour session, the committee approved the following recommendations:

- That as many as possible (about 75) of the patients be placed in the Medical Care Facility, the remainder to be placed in Kiefer Hospital in Detroit and Mayberry Sanatorium in Northville;
- That the board appoint a seven-member board of institutions, as provided by state law, which will be responsible for the care of all county medical patients;
- That the board of institutions include the three-member social welfare board, the two-member TB Sanatorium board of trustees (now one member short) and two other members to be chosen by the board of supervisors.

The board of institutions is required by law when TB and non-TB patients are housed in the same facilities.

The move was necessitated when the sanatorium was sold to Oakland Community College two months ago. College officials hope to begin moving into the facility this spring.

★ ★ ★

If the board of supervisors approves the recommendations, the social welfare board will continue to exist as a separate entity but will serve two func-

SMITH FALCONER

Death Claims Retired Banker

Smith Falconer, executive vice president and a director of Pontiac State Bank at the time of his retirement a year ago, died suddenly at 6:45 this morning. He was 62.

Service will be at 3 p.m. Friday at Sparks-Griffin Chapel with burial following in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield. His body will be at the funeral home at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Falconer entered the banking business in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1916. Later he served with banks in Winnipeg, Canada and Detroit.

From 1932 to 1941 Falconer was a senior examiner with the Michigan State Banking Commission.

★ ★ ★

Following three years of military service he joined the Pontiac Bank as vice president upon its organization in June 1945.

NAMED TO BOARD

In December 1956 he became executive vice-president and was named to the board of directors Jan. 22, 1958.

Falconer, of 2630 Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Hills, resigned from the bank last February.

He had served on the board of trustees of First Presbyterian Church and as a director of Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

A charter member of Pontiac City Club, Falconer had been active in the Exchange Club, Elks Lodge No. 810, and Bankers Club of Detroit.

CHARTER MEMBER

A past president of the Association of Michigan Bank Examiners, he was one of the charter members of Signet Lodge, No. 555 F&AM organized in Detroit in 1929, and a 32nd degree Mason.

Surviving are wife Ruth M.; a daughter Mrs. T. Rodney Rogg of Rochester; a son Smith Jr. of Redland, Calif.; and five grandchildren.

Also surviving are four brothers and three sisters.

Hubbard Plea: 'I'm Innocent'

DETROIT (AP) — Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard, charging a "rotten abuse of the mighty power of the federal government", pleaded innocent at his arraignment in U.S. District Court Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Charged with violating and conspiring to violate federal civil rights statutes in connection with a 1963 anti-Negro racial demonstration, Hubbard made a belated court appearance after a fruitless five-day search by federal agents.

★ ★ ★

The portly mayor of a predominately white city of 112,000 was released on $5,000 bond. Judge Theodore M. Machrowicz refused to place him under personal bond after Assistant U.S. Attorney William Merrill testified he "had concern about whether the defendant will appear for trial."

★ ★ ★

Hubbard incurred a severe tongue-lashing from the judge. Machrowicz said the mayor had "so much disrespect and disregard for the laws of this nation and the institutions of this nation that I am deeply distressed."

GIVES STATEMENT

In a statement released shortly before arraignment, Hubbard said: "The accusations, based on one-sided distortions, are tragic examples of personal persecution for political purposes by the federal lawyer in charge."

The statement went on to say that "under pressure from Washington, the FBI was ordered to make a third investigation (of the racial incident) after they twice found no cause for action."

★ ★ ★

"One federal lawyer," Hubbard said, "alternately threatened and then offered a 'deal' to one of our public officials to influence him to give perjured testimony and this statement is supported by an affadavit."

Merrill said the government "cannot and will not" reply to the charges because "it would prejudice the defendent's rights."

FEDERAL CHARGE

The indictment against Hubbard alleges that he conspired with two police officers to deny protection to a Dearborn home owner. Demonstrators stoned his house in mistaken belief that the home had been sold to Negroes.

★ ★ ★

The two other officials, Police Chief Garrison Clayton and Public Safety Director George W. Lewis, pleaded innocent earlier.

City Hospital's Record Budget Gets Final OK

A record $7,354,168 operating budget for Pontiac General Hospital was granted final approval last night by the City Commission.

The budget was approved after a public hearing that drew no comments from the commission audience.

Previously, the hospital board of trustees had okayed the 1965 budget, which is $443,560 higher than the 1964 budget.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, told the commission that the budget was balanced and that the hospital had operated in the black for the last five years.

ROBERT A. ARMSTRONG

Hospital Board Trustee Quits

Retired Pontiac businessman Robert A. Armstrong, 74, of 179 Cherokee resigned last night from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

★ ★ ★

Armstrong resigned in a letter to the City Commission. He was treasurer of the board.

He said present plans call for him to be out of the city a considerable part of the time and he would be unable to attend board meetings.

In resigning, Armstrong commended the "dedicated effort" at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

The commission accepted his resignation with regrets.

APPOINTED IN '58

Armstrong, who served on the hospital board's planning subcommittee, was first appointed to the board in 1958.

Viet Troops Chase Cong Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A large military operation began today with the discovery of a battalion of Viet Cong in an area 32 miles southwest of Saigon.

Vietnamese troops were rushed into the area in early afternoon. No detailed reports were available from the scene.

★ ★ ★

Military spokesmen also reported that fighter-bombers attacked and sank a large, apparently metal-hulled Viet Cong vessel in a cove in Vung Ro Bay about 235 miles northeast of Saigon.

Heavy fire from the Communist vessel drove off a Vietnamese navy junk and observation planes before the assault by air force planes.

SPOTTED BY AIR

The well-camouflaged ship was spotted by an American helicopter pilot, Lt. J. S. Bowers of Lyndonville, Vt. A junk sent to the bay drew heavy fire as did an observation plane flown by Lt. Cmdr. Harvey P. Rodgers of Smithtown, N.Y.

"Everything that went near the place received heavy fire," said Rodgers. He said the area is a well-known Viet Cong region.

★ ★ ★

Military spokesmen in Saigon reported heavy casualties among American and Vietnamese military forces during the Feb. 7-13 period.

They listed 35 Americans killed in action, 196 wounded and one missing. Most of those casualties were in Viet Cong terrorist bombings of servicemen's billets.

HOTEL ATTACK

The attack Feb. 10 on an enlisted men's hotel at Qui Nhon resulted in 21 deaths and injuries to 20 other Americans. Eight Americans were killed and more than 100 wounded at Pleiku Feb. 7 in a Viet Cong mortar attack.

Vietnamese losses for the week were put at 290 killed, 655 wounded and 610 missing. A high percentage of these losses were suffered in a battle in Binh Dinh Province Feb. 7 and 8, and casualty figures for the action are not complete.

Viet Cong losses of 795 killed and 105 captured were claimed.

Chief of State Phan Khac Suu returned to Saigon this afternoon from Poulo Condore, an island prison off the southern tip of South Viet Nam. There he ordered the release of more than 120 political prisoners, including 17 who had been under death sentence.

A military firing squad executed a Viet Cong section leader accused of stirring up a violent antigovernment demonstration Monday in the central Vietnamese town of Thang Binh.

of the President: "I don't think he will yield to that ultimatum."

COULD BE ENDED

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior Republican on the committee, said, "The South Viet Nam troubles could be brought to a close if Russia, Red China and North Viet Nam would withdraw their support for the forces trying to destroy the government and people of South Viet Nam."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said the United States and other countries are obligated by treaty "to do everything we can to protect the sovereignty of South Viet Nam from guerrilla infiltration."

In response to a reporter's question, Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said today: "I support our policy of retaliatory strikes in response to the Pearl Harbor-type of attacks to which we have been subjected."

★ ★ ★

However, he also criticized what he called the administration's "failure to help develop and support a government in Saigon which has both the will to win and the capacity to maintain local support."

GWCC Hears Tax Director

Explains New Law Supervisors Opposed

A representative of the State Tax Commission last night said that Act 275 passed by the legislature in 1964 does not cause an increase in taxes on real estate.

★ ★ ★

Speaking before the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) John Markiewicz, a district director for the Tax Commission, acknowledged that the new act does require more detailed reporting by assessors.

Markiewicz, who was invited by the GWCC to explain the act which the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association has formally opposed, discussed policy on assessing built-in items.

He said the inclusion of built-ins in the assessment of real estate is the result of these items being part of the structure itself because of new construction techniques.

★ ★ ★

Prior to the trend to built-ins, such appliances as refrigerators and ranges which were free standing and could be moved from house to house without damage were considered personal property.

But appurtenances such as bath tubs, furnaces and water heaters have always been considered real estate for assessment purposes, Markiewicz concluded.

Schedule Is Approved for Teachers' Salaries

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—With the success of a 3.3-mill tax increase only a week behind them, board of education members last night adopted a $2,286,889 teachers' salary schedule for next year.

The 15-year levy approved by district voters Feb. 8 was based on providing raises for teachers and incentive increments to those qualifying as superior instructors.

The merit pay provisions of the salary schedule will not go into effect until 1966-67 to allow administrators time to devise an evaluation system.

The total figure for next year's payroll is based on the assumption that 30 new teachers will be added to a staff now numbering 264.

★ ★ ★

Payroll this year is expected to run to $1,767,940.

NEW SCHEDULE

While the new schedule does not change the $5,300 base pay for a beginning teacher, it does spread increases over a 12-year period to make the maximum $8,650 for the holder of a bachelor's degree. The top in this category is now $8,110.

Incentive pay would add $600 to the new high.

For a teacher who has obtained 20 credit hours beyond his bachelor's, the range would be from $5,450 as a beginner to $8,800 after 12 years, marking an increase of $500 in the latter category.

★ ★ ★

The top incentive pay at this point would be $9,400.

ULTIMATE SALARY

A $10,000 salary would be awaiting the holder of a master's degree after teaching 12 years. Incentive pay, also granted for 30 additional hours of study, would take the sum to $10,300.

The 12-year teacher with a master's degree and 30 additional credit hours who qualified for incentive pay would get $10,600.

BIRMINGHAM—A three-story training tower for firemen will be constructed at the Adams Fire Station at a cost of $18,000.

The city commission approved the project at its meeting Monday.

Funds for the drill structure were included in the city's 1964-65 capital improvement program but action was delayed due to the death of Fire Chief George Scott in an airplane crash last summer.

★ ★ ★

The architectural firm, Linn Smith Associates, Inc., already has submitted a proposed design for the tower.

The appointment of Arthur Iverson Jr. to the State Workmen's Compensation Board has been approved by the Senate.

Iverson, 2792 Dorchester, is among 31 persons appointed to various boards by Gov. Romney and approved by senators Monday.

His term will expire Feb. 1, 1968.

William Walsh, owner of William Walsh and Co., a Detroit real estate appraisal and consulting firm, will speak at the final program in the series of four weekly discussions on human relations here.

The program is set for 8 tonight in the Holy Name School gymnasium, Greenwood at Harmon.

Walsh's discussion of housing will conclude the series sponsored by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Council on Human Relations in cooperation with the Archbishop's Committee on Human Relations of the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and the Birmingham Council of Churches.

★ ★ ★

A consultant to private industry and governmental bodies for the last 15 years, Walsh has played an important role in major urban renewal projects in Detroit and surrounding cities.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will present its annual scholarship fashion show tonight at Derby Junior High School, Derby and Adams.

Proceeds from the 8 p.m. show entitled "Prelude to Spring," will be used for religious education scholarships.

Tickets can be purchased at the door or by telephoning the church, 300 Willits.

Charge Negro With Contempt

Selma Rights Leader Hit, Jailed by Sheriff

SELMA, Ala. (AP)— A Negro civil rights leader who was struck in the mouth by the sheriff of Dallas County faces trial today on a contempt of court charge.

"He said I was an evil man," reported Sheriff James G. Clark Tuesday. "He said I was like Hitler. He said people followed me like Hitler and they would regret it."

★ ★ ★

Clark said he struck the Negro with his fist, adding, "I think I may have broken a finger."

The Negro, the Rev. C. T. Vivian of Atlanta, Ga., was taken to a hospital, blood dripping from his mouth. Later, he was jailed.

BOND SET

Vivian, an aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., also was charged with criminal provocation. Bond on this charge was set at $300. The contempt charge, based on a state court order barring illegal assembly, is not bondable.

★ ★ ★

The sheriff, a powerfully built 6-footer weighing more than 200 pounds, said Vivian had deliberately provoked the incident.

County Unit OKs Plan on TB Patients

tions, according to Robert P. Allen, chief corporation counsel.

MAJOR SHARE

Consideration of costs of the proposed change occupied a major share of yesterday's discussion.

Figures presented by the special committee, composed of Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors; George H. Williams, social welfare director; and Dr. Bernard D. Berman, county health director, estimated the operational cost of a combined year's cost of the two facilities.

This includes an estimate of $75,000 which would be paid to private nursing homes for the care of some 75 patients transferred from the Medical Care Facility.

The cost of putting all the TB patients in the two Wayne County facilities was estimated at $146,300 above last year's cost of operation of the TB Sanatorium.

SAVINGS EYED

The prospect of saving nearly $30,000 a year by using outcounty facilities gave rise to serious consideration of abandoning the idea of using the Medical Care Facility for TB patients.

Those closest to the problem have insisted all along, however, that as many of the patients as possible should be kept in Oakland County, and the idea was talked down.

Another question of expense which hasn't been satisfactorily settled yet is the cost of remodeling the Medical Care Facility to meet State Health Department requirements for TB patients.

The building is presently being remodeled to conform to recent changes in state fire marshal's requirements at a cost of over $180,000.

MINIMUM COST

County Engineer Joseph Joachim told the committee yesterday that additional changes necessary to make the place suitable for TB patients may cost a minimum of $50,000.

Dr. Berman voiced the opinion that the cost would be less, while Williams speculated it would be more, possibly twice that much.

Joachim pointed out, however, that no one could say for sure until all the needs for the combined facility are determined.

★ ★ ★

The committee will meet again Friday morning, at which time Joachim said he would present more complete figures on costs of revamping the Medical Care Facility.

ANOTHER POINT

Another point of discussion was the utilization of the staff now employed at the TB Sanatorium.

Dr. Berman said about 25 members of the professional staff could be employed in the combined facility. He said he doubted that the remaining 75 could be economically used there, however.

In a discussion of long-range needs for medical care facilities, Royal Oak Supervisor Harry W. Horton, a member of the ways and means committee offered a motion that planning be started for a building program.

★ ★ ★

His motion received no support, due to the urgency of the immediate problem.

U.S. Likely to Close Many Foreign Bases in Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States still maintains more than 400 major military bases overseas. Many are likely to be closed or reduced to stand-by status in the years ahead.

The advent of bigger transport planes, floating depots and faster sealift may permit eventual reduction of heavy garrisons abroad, particularly in Europe where about 300,000 American servicemen are stationed.

The acquisition of longer range fighters and reconnaissance jets may permit more airfields abroad to be placed on a caretaker basis, ready to receive units flown in from the United States when necessary.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara pointed in this direction last year when he told Congress that "the increasing range of land-based tactical aircraft has reduced our requirement for forward based air power."

* * *

The wider application of nuclear propulsion to surface warships would be another factor cutting down reliance on overseas bases.

PRESSURE

Aside from these considerations, there is the ever-present pressure on the Defense Department to economize and to stem the outflow of gold which results from spending U.S. dollars abroad.

According to Defense Department officials, about 50 or 55 major U.S. bases have been closed overseas in the past 10 years. The total of such bases now stands at 428.

There also are about 2,900 minor installations used by this country's armed forces on foreign soil — small radar stations, hospitals, supply points and the like.

* * *

Pentagon authorities said they had no figures on how many such minor bases had been closed in the past decade.

B47 BOMBERS

The trend toward retrenchment back to the United States has been evident for some time, chiefly in the evacuation of forward bases used by obsolescent B47 medium jet nuclear bombers.

The last 225 B47s of a force that at one time totaled more than 1,200 will be retired in the coming fiscal year. Most already have been withdrawn from Britain and Spain.

An Air Force spokesman said in London earlier this week that the Strategic Air Command will end its operations in Britain on April 1, winding up a 14-year chapter.

* * *

The Air Force now has more than 850 intercontinental ballistic missiles aimed at Communist targets from the continental United States.

POLARIS MISSILES

The Navy has more than 300 Polaris missiles ready in submarines patrolling submerged within range of Red China and the Soviet Union.

The declining U.S. bomber force still has about 630 B52 heavy jet bombers which can hit Red targets from bases in the United States and the U.S.-owned island of Guam.

* * *

Also under way for some years has been a gradual pullback of U.S. fighter planes and tactical transport planes which were poised up forward in Japan, Spain, France, Germany and elsewhere.

Oh, but It Is Hay!

MANDAN, N. D. (AP) — Kenneth Lohstreter reported to the sheriff's office the theft of 75 bales of hay from his farm north of here. The value was placed at about $40.

George and Martha Ate Well at Mount Vernon

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Next Monday we'll celebrate the 233rd anniversary of George Washington's birth.

Washington lived well and liked good food.

He had his share of meager meals during his war years so that at home at Mount Vernon, he lived comfortably as befit his financial and cultural standing.

* * *

Sometimes I think we have run the cherry tree legend into the ground. But cherries are so closely associated with Washington that we aren't going to try to change anyone.

At the bottom of this page you'll see a handsome color picture of three interesting foods using tart red cherries.

The recipes here at the top are for the kind of food that Martha Washington might have had prepared in the interesting kitchen one sees at Mount Vernon.

HOME FOR DINNER

Washington traveled mainly by horseback. Can't you imagine him arriving home cold and hungry in time for a dinner that started with fish chowder?

* * *

Servants would have had to catch the fish. Martha would have used different vegetables, ones she had dried or preserved. But let's try this modern version.

Fish Chowder Americana

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
1 package (12 ounces) frozen fillet of flounder, partially thawed
1 cup water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen creamed onions
1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli spears
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) potatoes
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup half and half or milk

Heat butter in deep kettle; add onion and saute until tender. Add flounder; break fish apart while sauteeing. Add water, creamed onions and broccoli.

Cook as creamed onion package directs. Add tomatoes, potatoes and Tabasco; let simmer gently until all vegetables are heated through and just tender.

Stir in half and half. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

* * *

We can be reasonably sure Martha saw to it that an adequate amount of cornmeal was ground from the summer's corn crop.

We're sure she had plenty of homemade cheese to use. And records tell us that wine was made from the grapes grown on the plantation.

Perhaps she would have liked this different cornbread recipe.

Casserole Corn Bread

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
4½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup uncooked yellow cornmeal
1 large egg, beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup white dinner wine
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1½ teaspoons celery seed

Resift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Stir in cornmeal. Add all remaining ingredients, mixing until well blended. Turn into a well greased 1½-quart casserole or 8-inch square baking pan.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until bread tests done and is richly browned and crusty.

Serve as bread to accompany breakfast or supper dishes or as a base for creamed eggs, ham, chicken, vegetables or other creamed mixtures.

At one time it is said that the cook at Mount Vernon was Pennsylvania Dutch.

* * *

When she prepared a hearty dish of short ribs, she used a traditional recipe of her ancestors one that called for beer. There was a brew house on the estate.

Short Ribs, Mount Vernon

¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 pounds beef short ribs, cut in 3-inch pieces
2 tablespoons butter
2 medium onions, chopped
¼ cup molasses
¼ cup catsup
3 tablespoons vinegar
12 ounces beer or ale
½ teaspoon Tobasco
6 whole carrots, scraped and cut in thirds

Combine flour, salt and pepper; roll short ribs in mixture. Heat butter in Dutch oven or heavy kettle. All ribs and brown on all sides.

Remove ribs; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add molasses, catsup, vinegar, beer and Tobasco sauce; mix well.

Return short ribs. Simmer 1½ to 2 hours, until short ribs are tender. Remove meal. Skim fat from liquid.

* * *

Return short ribs with carrots; cook about 15 to 20 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Makes 5-6 servings.

The Washingtons always had children on the plantation. Martha had two of her own and through the years there were innumerable nieces and nephews and grandchildren around.

You may be sure that they were as eager for cookies as today's children. Martha might have set out a plate of Molasses Cartwheels with milk for them.

Molasses Cartwheels

1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup unsulphured molasses
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon ginger
¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and molasses. Sift in flour, salt, baking soda, and spices; mix well. Chill in refrigerator 1 hour.

Roll out ⅓ of the dough ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth, keeping remaining dough chilled. Cut with 3-inch cookie cutter.

Repeat procedure until dough is used up. Bake on ungreased baking sheets in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

* * *

When Martha entertained company in the afternoon, she might offer her guests tea or a cool fruit drink and thin slices of old-fashioned poundcake.

If you make this cake, think of those 18th century cooks who had to do all the beating by hand; and their baking in an oven heated by the fireplace.

Thank your lucky stars, as you think back, that you have the conveniences you do. Then say, "Happy birthday" to George Washington.

Old-Fashioned Poundcake

1 cup (2 sticks) margarine
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 teaspoon almond extract
3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
Whole almonds (optional)

Cream margarine; sift the two sugars together and add gradually to margarine, blending well. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, and beat until smooth. Mix in extracts.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Starting with flour and ending with flour, add flour and milk alternately to margarine mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

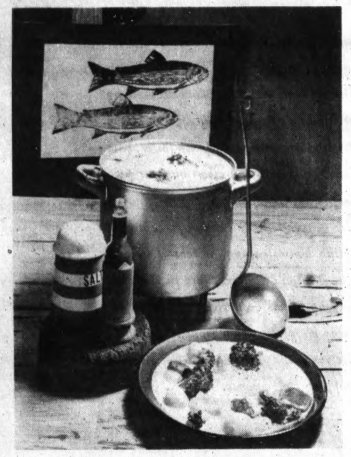
Grease and flour a cast-aluminum, fluted 10x4½-inch cake pan. If desired, put large dabs of margarine along creases of mold, embedding an almond in each dab. Pour batter into mold.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 70 to 75 minutes, or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Let cake cool about 10 minutes in pan on wire cake rack, then remove from pan and cool completely.

Wrap in foil, saran wrap or waxed paper until ready to serve. Sprinkle lightly with confectioners' sugar before serving.

Makes one 10-inch cake or 24 servings.

(Note: If desired, cake may be baked in 2 greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans.)



FISH CHOWDER AMERICANA

CASSEROLE CORNBREAD

SHORT RIBS, MOUNT VERNON

OLD FASHIONED POUND CAKE

Tart Red Cherries Lend Color to Many Dishes

RUBY TEA RING

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup milk, scalded
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 1-pound can tart red cherries
2 tablespoons soft butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk
Toasted slivered almonds

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk, sugar, shortening and salt; cool to lukewarm and add softened yeast. Set aside 2 teaspoons beaten egg and add remainder to milk mixture. Add vanilla and enough flour to make a soft dough.

Knead on a lightly floured surface until smooth. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface; cover and let rise until double.

Meanwhile, combine cornstarch and sugar; add cherries and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cool.

When dough is doubled, roll to a 15 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread with butter and cherry filling. Roll lengthwise as for a jelly roll; seal edge. Place sealed edge down on a greased cookie sheet and form into a ring. Pinch ends together.

Snip almost to center at 2-inch intervals and turn each section on its side. Brush ring with reserved beaten egg and let rise until almost doubled.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 25 minutes or until done. Cool.

Combine confectioners sugar and milk; drizzle over cooled ring. Sprinkle with almonds.

CHERRY SAUCED RIBS

4 pounds spareribs
1 1-pound can tart red cherries
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
Dash pepper

Place ribs, meat side up, in a shallow pan. Bake in a 450 degree oven for 15 minutes; pour off fat. Set aside ¼ cup cherries for garnish.

Put remaining cherries through a food mill or whir in a blender; add sugar, catsup, soy sauce, lemon juice, garlic and seasonings. Heat cherry mixture to boiling and simmer 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Spoon cherry sauce over ribs and bake for 1-½ hours or until done. Baste ribs with sauce occasionally. Add reserved cherries to the final basting. Cut into serving pieces. Makes 4 servings.

CHERRY CUPS

1 1-pound can tart red cherries
¾ cup hot water
1 3-ounce package cherry-flavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon red food coloring
¼ cup sugar
Dash salt
2 tablespoons candied orange peel
1 tablespoon orange juice concentrate

Bring cherries, water, gelatin, food coloring, sugar and salt to a boil, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Add candied orange peel and juice.

Cool until mixture begins to thicken and pour into 6-ounce custard cups or molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve as salad or dessert. Makes 6 servings.

Applesauce, Chutney Blend in a Dip

Chilling brings out the flavor of apple chutney dip. Combine 2 cups of canned apple sauce with 1¼ cups of chutney, including syrup with the chutney pieces.

Blend in 1 pound of cottage cheese. Chill well. Serve with crackers or potato chips. Makes about 5 cups.

Waffles Were on Menu for George's Breakfast

Our first president, whose birthday we'll soon be celebrating, was partial to waffles for breakfast. Even before Washington's time, however, waffles were a favorite.

The Dutch had introduced them to the American colonies when they settled in New York some hundred odd years before Washington ate his first breakfast.

Today, waffles still are a wonderful treat. But our methods of preparing them have certainly changed, and the texture and taste have vastly improved.

One of the best waffle batters is made with instant potato granules—a convenience Mrs. Washington didn't have. The potato granules keep the waffles moist and tender on the inside, make them crisp and beautifully brown on the outside.

Served swimming in a spiced honey-butter syrup, they're irresistible for breakfast!

These same potato waffles are a marvelous base for creamed chicken.

While you're at it, make up an extra batch of potato waffles and put them away in the freezer.

Then, if guests happen to drop in on an evening, you can bring on a dish that just hits the spot and it a little different from the usual cake and coffee.

POTATO WAFFLES

1¼ cups sifted flour
¼ cup (½ of a 4 serving envelope) instant mashed potato granules
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
½ cup melted vegetable shortening
1½ cups milk

Sift together the flour, potato granules, sugar, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs thoroughly. Add melted shortening and milk. Combine liquid and dry ingredients. Beat well.

Heat waffle iron as manufacturer directs. When ready to use, pour batter into center of lower half until it spreads about 1 inch from edges. Bring cover down gently.

Bake about 5 minutes or until you see little or no steam escaping. (Do not raise cover during baking.)

With a fork, lift out finished waffle; serve at once. Reheat iron before pouring in next waffle. Makes 8 to 10 portions.

HONEY BUTTER

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Ground nutmeg
1 cup honey

Melt butter in a small saucepan. Blend in cinnamon and a dash or two of nutmeg. Add honey; heat to boiling point.

Serve hot in a pitcher for pouring; or chill the mixture stirring frequently (to keep butter from separating out) until cooled to a heavy syrup consistency. Makes 1½ cups.

Frozen Soup for a Sauce

You can deal a winning hand at your next bridge luncheon with a can of frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and a main dish idea like this one.

In saucepan, cook ¼ cup chopped onion and a 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms (drained) in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until onion is tender. Add a 10-ounce can of shrimp soup, ½ cup milk, and 1 cup diced cooked shrimp.

Heat, stirring now and then. Serve over toast or hot cooked rice.

"That's between the President and the pastor," said presidential press secretary George E. Reedy.

"I really don't know," Reedy replied when asked whether the President tithes.

The pastor is Dr. George R. Davis of National City Christian church in downtown Washington. The President's wife and daughters are Episcopalians and the family attends both the Christian church and St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church.

Princess Fadia, 21, youngest daughter of former Egyptian King Farouk, is planning to marry Pierre Orloff, 26, a White Russian geologist. The plans were disclosed yesterday in a notice at London's Kensington register.

Against Marriage, Italian Style

Pia Lindstrom, 25, daughter of actress Ingrid Bergman, said today she would like to marry an Italian.

The weekly magazine Oggi quoted Miss Lindstrom as saying in reply to a question:

"Certainly. I would like very much to marry an Italian. But I would want the wedding to be in France or Switzerland—that is, a country where divorce if allowed. It's not that I do that is, a country where divorce is allowed. It's not that I do not would like its duration and success to depend upon my will, my free choice."

Wendell Corey Enters Race

Actor Wendell Corey will run for the Santa Monica, Calif., city council because, his wife says, he doesn't have an excuse for not running.

Corey, 50, filed papers on his candidacy yesterday. He faces possibly 12 opponents in a battle for four seats in an April 13 election.

Alice Corey said: "Wendell always said good government begins at home, on the local city level. He really didn't have any excuse for not running."

Vatican Door Hit by Bomb

May Be Protest to Banning of Drama

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A pound of dynamite exploded early today against a wooden door in the Vatican wall only 100 yards from the apartment where Pope Paul VI was sleeping.

Police sought to determine whether the explosion was linked with Communist protests against the banning of the controversial play "The Deputy."

Vatican sources said the blast undoubtedly wakened the Pope. It destroyed part of the door in the wall, caused damage in the Swiss Guard barracks just inside the wall and shattered windows within a hundred-yard radius.

A night watchman, Vittorio Rivi, told police he saw two men approach the gate, then hurry away in a high-powered car just before the explosion. He said the men were short, youthful in appearance and well-dressed. He said one was bearded.

Police said the bomb was a crude device consisting of a pound of dynamite packed into a carton. It was wedged against a corner of the seldom-opened Porta Angelica-Angelic Door.

The door is alongside the gate of Sant'Anna, the only entry into the walled Vatican City from the Via de Porta Angelica, which runs from the southeastern corner of Vatican City to the great colonnades around St. Peter's Square.

It was the first bombing at the 108-acre Vatican City-state since 1962, when two fire bombs were found in St. Peter's Basilica three weeks before the first session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Two months before a time bomb had exploded in the basilica but caused only slight damage.

Vatican radio and newspaper had strongly protested the attempt last weekend of a small company of actors to stage private performances of "The Deputy," a play by West German author Rolf Hochhuth questioning whether Pope Pius XII did all he could to protect Jews from Nazi extermination.

Days Filled With Tension

Dr. Sam Clings to Uncertain Freedom

(Editor's Note: Any day now Dr. Sam Sheppard expects word that the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati has ruled on whether the freedom he has enjoyed for seven months will end in a return to prison. In this interview by John Sheppard —no relation—Sheppard and the German divorcee he married tell of their life together and their anxiety.)

By JOHN SHEPPARD

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "When you've gone through 10 years of hell, you know how precious your freedom is," says Dr. Sam Sheppard.

* * *

These are tension-filled days for Sheppard, 41, and his German-born wife, the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns.

She married Sheppard two days after his release July 16 from Ohio Penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence for the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

Mrs. Sheppard, 35, a slim, attractive blonde, shares her husband's anxiety and seeks to bolster his hope that he won't return to prison.

* * *

A decision on this could come any day now from the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

LIVE QUIETLY

The Sheppards live quietly in a rented five-room brick row house in suburban Rocky River.

Occasionally they go out to dinner and a show, but they avoid nightclubs or other public places.

They spend most of their time at home where Sam reads medical journals and compiles lists of new drugs.

* * *

He has been teaching his bride how to use surgical instruments. Some day, he hopes, she will be his surgical assistant.

SCARED

"He's never been so scared in all his life," she said. "How much can one man endure?

"Sam is strong, but he's only human. Sam said the thought of possibly going back to prison would be more than he could stand."

The former osteopath has insisted that a "bushy-haired" intruder beat his pregnant wife to death in their suburban Bay Village home before dawn July 4, 1954.

* * *

A jury convicted him of second-degree murder, which carries a life sentence and possibility of parole after 10 years.

APPEALS FAILED

Appeals involving expenses Ariane estimated at more than $100,000 failed as the years went by. But last July Sheppard was released on a writ of habeas corpus from U.S. Dist. Judge Carl A. Weinman of Dayton.

The judge ruled Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated during the trial — in part by what the judge called unfair newspaper publicity.

The state appealed Judge Weinman's order freeing Sheppard on $10,000 bond. The three-judge federal appellate court heard final arguments last Oct. 9.

* * *

If the court upholds Judge Weinman, Sheppard will remain free and the state must decide whether to retry him.

SUPREME COURT

Lee Bailey of Boston, counsel for Sheppard, said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, to prevent Sheppard's return to prison.

"I think his chances of ever coming back are remote," said Bailey.

While a decision is pending, Sheppard prefers to let his wife talk about their uncertain future.

* * *

He is trying to prepare himself mentally and physically for whatever may come. Daily he does push-ups and barbell lifts. His waistline is 32 inches, and at 175 he is 10 pounds under what he weighed in Ohio Penitentiary.

SAM'S PLANS

About their plans, Ariane said her husband wants to:

— Adopt Iris, her 11-year-old daughter by a previous marriage. The girl is in a boarding school outside Dusseldorf, Germany.

— Visit Culver Military Academy in Indiana where his son, Sam Jr., 17, is a senior looking toward a career in law or medicine.

— Regain his licesnes as an osteopathic surgeon specializing in diseases of the nervous system. He said he has had a dozen job offers from hospitals in Pennsylvania, New York, Arizona and California but wants to work in Ohio.

* * *

— "Have as many of our own children as possible." Ariane said she still is recovering from a miscarriage last Christmas Eve.

AP Photofax

PREPARE FOR FUTURE — Sam Sheppard, 41, examines the plastic parts of a skull he gave his wife, Ariane, 35. Hopeful of becoming an osteopathic surgeon again, Sheppard wants his wife to assist him in operations if he regains his license. His second-degree murder conviction in 1954 cost Sheppard his license. Free since mid-July, he is awaiting a federal appeals court ruling on whether he must return to prison.

Ariane was living in Europe when she read of the Sheppard case and began correspondence with him in 1960. The daughter of a wealthy German industrialist, she has a simple explanation for their marriage in Chicago last summer;

REGAL BREAD BUDDING — Regal Bread Pudding, though it looks spectacular, is easily made with ingredients you're likely to have on hand.

This Bread Pudding Is Different

With just a dash of imagination and a bit of effort you can transform slices of enriched bread and a few other staple ingredients into a luscious dessert like Regal Bread Pudding.

These enticing individual puddings sparkle with bits of jewel-like fruit cocktail and are crowned with fluffy meringue.

★ ★ ★

To make Regal Bread Pudding, first prepare a custard, using egg yolks (save the whites for the meringue topping) and stirring in enriched bread cubes and fruit cocktail.

★ ★ ★

Bake the puddings then cover with puffs of meringue and return to the oven until the meringue is golden brown.

When baked in attractive individual baking dishes, these puddings belong in the class of company desserts.

Regal Bread Pudding is about as nutritious a dessert as you'll find anywhere. The thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and iron supplied by the enriched bread are supplemented by other nutrients in the fruit, milk and eggs.

The B-vitamins and iron which the baker adds to his products are important for the maintenance of your family's good health and vitality.

Regal Bread Pudding

2½ cups milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups enriched white bread cubes (about 6 slices, cut in ½-inch cubes)
1 can (1 lb.) fruit cocktail, drained
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Meringue

Grease six 8-ounce baking dishes and place on baking sheet. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In large saucepan heat milk until almost simmering; stir in sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in bread cubes, fruit cocktail, egg yolks and vanilla. Turn into baking dishes. Bake 30 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare meringue.

Cover puddings with meringue, spreading to edges of baking dishes. Return to oven; bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until meringue is golden brown. Serve immediately.

Meringue

2 egg whites
Dash salt
¼ cup sugar

In small mixing bowl beat together egg whites and salt until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar until stiff, but not dry peaks, form.

Fruit Sauce Good Over Pancakes

Heat together 1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices and 1 can (8 oz.) cooked prunes in their syrups with frozen orange-flavored breakfast drink to taste. Blend 2 tablespoons butter with 2 tablespoons cornstarch.

★ ★ ★

Stir into fruit mixture; cook and stir until sauce is thickened. Spoon over pancakes or waffles.

Marco Polo, the medieval fortune seeker, brought back to Europe from the Orient a recipe for making water ices? Water ices soon became popular throughout Italy.

Instant Tea in Cake Lends Subtle Flavor

Midwinter meals, like January wallets, are often somewhat flat.

But here's a new dessert treat that will round out simple meals perfectly, and fatten up the family wallet, too.

That's because you get two cakes for the price of one—delicious, new Apricot Tea Upside Down Cake, and a single layer yellow cake you can store for future use.

Apricot Tea Upside Down cake is elegant enough for company, but too good to be labeled "for company only."

Make this upside down cake from good pantry shelf stock—instant tea, a package of your favorite yellow cake mix, a can of apricot halves, and dried prunes.

The unique properties of tea bring out the tangy fruit flavors; add a golden brown color to the topping. Just one tablespoon of instant tea turns this old-time recipe into a new favorite.

Apricot Tea Upside Down Cake

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar, packed
1 tablespoon instant tea powder
1 teaspoon water
1 1-pound can apricot halves, drained
6 to 8 cooked prunes, pitted
1 package yellow cake mix

Preheat over to 350 degrees. Grease a 9-inch pie pan and a 9-inch layer cake pan.

In a small saucepan, melt butter or margarine and add brown sugar. Combine instant tea with water, and stir into sugar mixture until sugar is melted.

Spread tea-sugar mixture in the bottom of the pie pan, and then on it arrange apricots, cut side up with prunes.

Prepare cake mix as package directs, pouring half of batter over fruit and remaining batter in the layer cake pan. Bake about 35 minutes, or until cakes test done

Cool extra layer and store for future use.

Invert apricot tea cake immediately on to a cake plate. Serve warm; topped, if desired, with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Bright Salad Made With New Gelatin

Last year a new flavored gelatin was put on the market. This new item has been mixed with kidney beans and salsa sauce to make a nourishing winter salad.

California Bean Salad

1 3-oz. package mixed vegetable salad gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup green chili sauce
½ cup water
1 15-oz. can kidney beans, drained
3 thin slices red sweet onion
2 small tomatoes, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
dash hot sauce

Dissolve gelatin in one cup boiling water. Add chili sauce and water. Cool. When gelatin starts to gel, stir in kidney beans, separated rings of onion, tomatoes and salt. Put in 1½-quart mold. Refrigerate.

Unmold on chilled platter and fill center with lettuce or romaine leaves and garnish with black olives.

Fruit and Cheese Dip

Two cups of canned apple sauce combined with 1 cup of coarsely shredded sharp cheddar cheese makes a bright, flavorful dip for crackers or potato chips, or stuffing for celery sticks.

MUSHROOM SALAD — Marinate fresh mushrooms mixed with green pepper circles, tiny tomato quarters, chunks of cucumber and plenty of freshly ground black pepper in French dressing. Fill a salad bowl with this from which guests help themselves and also add to it from a smaller bowl of pungent bites of anchovies, pickled green tomatoes, red onion circles, red pepper circles and capers. For 10 guests two pounds of mushrooms were adequate. Toasted sesame seed rolls served with this salad, and hot fragrant tea gives a nice lilt to any menu.

Seafood Kabobs Are Delightful to Serve

Skewer chunks of California avocado on toothpicks with shrimp or drained smoked oysters or small pieces of crab meat. Use a different color pick for each avocado-seafood combination.

Dip the miniature kebabs in lemon juice and serve with a bowl of seafood sauce for party hors d'oeuvres.

Wash Again

Even when you buy fresh spinach in see-through bags, it needs rinsing in your own kitchen. Use warm water for the first rinse, very cold water for the last dousing.

Cure Is Beating

Note to new cooks: if that soft custard sauce looks a bit curdly when you remove it from the heat, beat it vigorously and it may smooth out.

Next time you fry liver and onions, you might like to make gravy from the drippings in the pan.

Detroit Legislator's Bill Is First Effort to Cut State Agencies

LANSING (AP) — Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, has made the first attempt of this legislative session to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

Other plans, backed by legislative leadership, are expected to follow.

Complying with the terms of the new State Constitution, a bill introduced Tuesday fits the present group of more than 120 departments and agencies into 20 principal departments.

The legislature has until next Dec. 31 to reorganize the government. If it fails to do so, the governor has until Dec. 31, 1966 to do the job by executive order.

PROPOSED ACT

O'Brien's bill provides that any department, commission, board or other agency left out of the proposed act may be assigned to a major department by the governor within a year of its enactment.

Any agency not disposed of by then would be abolished.

★ ★ ★

The principal departments proposed include:

The officers of governor, secretary of state, attorney general and treasurer; the departments of administration, safety and defense, agriculture and the civil service commission;

★ ★ ★

Departments of commerce and industry, conservation, corrections, economic expansion, the state board of education; department of general services;

Highway department, departments of labor, mental and public health, revenue and social services.

The Smithsonian Institution was founded Aug. 10, 1846.
