83 Killed by Fireworks Blasts in Brazil

Blinding Flash in Small Village ... 400 Injured

Urgent Appeals Sent by Isolated Community for Blood Plasma

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI)—Fireworks collected for a religious holiday exploded with a blinding flash in the market place of Santo Amaro in northwestern Brazil yesterday killing at least 83 persons and injuring 400.

Twenty of the injured received agonizing burns and were reported in critical condition.

Doctors and nurses on the scene sent urgent radio appeals today for blood plasma in an effort to prevent the death toll from rising toward the 100 mark.

One person was killed and 50 were injured in a similar tragedy in the village of Feira Santana, less than 20 miles away. There, too, colorfully dressed Brazilians had poured into the market place to buy firecrackers for tomorrow's celebration of the Feast Day of San Juan.

Authorities blamed the Santo Amaro disaster on a short circuit in a high tension line that touched off explosions in two fireworks booths. The crowded market place was ripped by the blast and witnesses said it resembled a battlefield.

Many of those who died later were victims of the weather as well. Torrential rains blocked highways and grounded planes, and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Does Oakland Need One?

Hear County Controller

A committee studying possible modernization of Oakland County's government yesterday heard what a controller might do for the county, but kept mum on whether Oakland would ever have such an official.

It was made clear, however, that the committee will continue to concentrate its study on appointment of a controller or county administrator.

But John L. Carey, chairman of the Special County Government Study Committee, emphasized that his was only a study committee, and that any changes in government structure must be made by the Board of Supervisors.

Already the supervisors have approved the merger of the offices of county clerk and register of deeds. This was a recommendation of the committee.

Visiting the committee meeting in Pontiac Monday afternoon was Sherwood J. Bennett, Macomb County controller since 1932. He outlined the many functions of his office. He declined to say whether Oakland could use such a position.

After naming his numerous duties, Bennett said: "Sometime I wonder if it isn't a catch-all job." He added, "the position of controller, made possible under a 1929 law, has worked to the advantage of Macomb County."

Bennett's main jobs are supervising spending of county departments, purchasing, with the exception of the road commission and social welfare, building maintenance, and attending 105 supervisors' committee meetings last year.

Carey reported that the nine-member committee will continue to study the pros and cons of such an appointment. He said he did not know when the next meeting will be held.

Two witnesses told the Pontiac Hospital trustees last night that they felt "irregular" habits of Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger disrupted certain phases of the hospital's operation.

The pair of nurses spoke toward the conclusion of the first night of hearings to decide whether the 11 trustees will re-admit the 42-year-old surgeon to practice at the city hospital.

One—Miss Helen Harper, acting director of nursing service—declared: "It was a general practice for Dr. Sullenberger to miss seeing his patients for an entire week."

The second—Mrs. Frances VerLee, assistant director of nursing service—told how she once prepared two of the doctor's patients at the hospital annex for operations at the main hospital, but had to return both untouched as Dr. Sullenberger failed to show up for the scheduled operations.

A standing room only crowd packed the hospital director's office to hear Glen C. Gillespie, attorney for the hospital, enter into record 22 lengthy exhibits on which the trustees hope to trace steps before and after Dr. Sullenberger's Nov. 13 suspension by the Board of Trustees.

The doctor raised only minor objections to several of the exhibits. His loudest objection came when Gillespie called Miss Harper to testify.

"I object personally to the whole conglomeration of potential witnesses having the eagle eye put on them by those who can, in order that they (the witnesses) say what these people want them to say," Dr. Sullenberger told Willis M. Brewer, chairman of the board.

He further charged Dr. John J. Marra, chief of the medical staff, with ordering the staff to show "in mass" at the hearings, "to smile when answers of witnesses are right and frown when they are not."

This charge led Edward P. Barrett, Pontiac attorney and trustee, to ask Miss Harper if (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

SEC Chairman Angrily Denies Aid to Goldfine

Raps 'Baseless Attack' on Agency's Actions by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Edward N. Gadsby hotly denied today that the SEC favored Bernard Goldfine, Sherman Adams' Boston industrialist friend, after getting a White House call in 1956.

"To put it bluntly," Gadsby told House investigators, "the commission could hardly have done more if Mr. Adams were Mr. Goldfine's worst enemy."

"I had thought that the real trial by innuendo and inference had been disowned sometime ago."

"I dislike to see any members of persons connected with the Congress participate in a baseless attack reflecting on this agency's probity," he said.

Gadsby's testimony before the House subcommittee checking Goldfine's relations with federal regulatory agencies marked the opening of another phase of the inquiry, this time dealing with the SEC.

Previously the group had inquired into Federal Trade Commission affairs involving Goldfine. Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) has accused both the SEC and the FTC of giving preferred treatment to Goldfine.

The investigators have developed testimony that Adams got expensive favors from Goldfine.

Adams has said, however, that he accepted gifts innocently from an old friend. He has said he sought no preferred treatment (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Start of Theater Tour

NEW YORK, HERE WE COME — That was the excited chant of this group of Pontiac Press Theater Trip travelers who departed from Detroit's Willow Run Airport yesterday for five days in New York. Others had already departed on another Capital Airlines Viscount.

Press Theater Trippers Meet 'Lady With Torch'

By PETE LOCHBILER
NEW YORK—You may think that the Venus de Milo is the world's best known statue, but 61 Pontiac Press Theater trippers here today felt otherwise.

They coasted through busy New York harbor to visit the "Grey Lady," a voyage that every American wants to make at least once.

The Statue of Liberty was the highlight of this morning's visit to Gotham, where theater trippers are scheduled to see the sights of New York, as well as the top five stage productions on Broadway this season.

Many of the party continued their sight-seeing of this exciting city on their own, with a trip to the United Nations Building, which is only a few blocks from their headquarters in the Manhattan Hotel.

Tonight, we're all scheduled to congregate at the Winter Garden Theater around the corner to see one of the season's outstanding hits, "West Side Story."

With an unusual, out-of-the-way score written by Leonard Bernstein, this will be our second musical in a row. Last night, we laughed and hummed to the show Broadway critics have called the top hit of the year, "Music Man."

Today the whirling, busy life of fabulous New York amazed everyone, especially since our arrival here yesterday was accomplished with an ease not usually granted the average tourist.

Instead of flying in low over the rear of Manhattan Island, we came in the front door, with an awe-inspiring view of the Statue of Liberty with her torch on high, and the impressive ocean liners docked at their berths.

And yet, fascinated as theater trippers were with the view from the air, excitement reached an even higher pitch as our chartered buses from the airport passed through Times Square on their way to the hotel.

2 Codefendants Also Innocent, Jury Rules

Cheers Greet Verdict of Federal Court After 7 Hours Deliberation

NEW YORK (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and two codefendants were acquitted last night of charges that they conspired to wiretap the union's Detroit headquarters.

A federal jury of eight men and four women deliberated seven hours before returning the verdict.

The defendants with Hoffa were Owen B. Brennan, president of Detroit Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, a professional wiretapper.

Conviction could have brought a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

A previous trial ended in a hung jury.

The government contended the trio illegally conspired here to install wiretaps in the Detroit headquarters in 1953 so Hoffa could eavesdrop on union subordinates.

Hoffa allegedly wanted to know what the subordinates might tell to U.S. Senate investigators or a grand jury in Detroit during investigations of the Teamsters Union.

The defense denied installing any wiretaps but conceded installing other eavesdropping equipment in the union's offices.

Cheers and applause erupted in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. In the corridor outside, Hoffa, the stocky, 45-year-old union boss, was mobbed as he pushed his way to a telephone to speak to his wife in Detroit.

He told reporters: "I could have a lot to say, but my attorneys advised me not to make any comment."

Hoffa motored to LaGuardia Field, where he took a plane to Detroit.

He was greeted at Willow Run

JAMES R. HOFFA

Airport by his daughter Barbara, 20, and son Jimmy, 27.

Said Hoffa: "I am glad to get home and see my family. Naturally I am happy about the jury's verdict. Now I'll be able to get back to union affairs."

During the trial, government witnesses testified that Hoffa was in Detroit July 9, 1953, where the operation of the wiretaps allegedly was explained to him.

The defense offered evidence that Hoffa was in Seattle that day in connection with a union conference.

Hoffa is still under indictment here on five counts of perjury, growing out of testimony he gave to the grand jury that indicted him on wiretap charges.

200 Miles Instead of a Few Blocks

Old Man Taken for Ride

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—"I don't know how that feller who picked me up got so all-fired confused," Henry Newson, 76, told police.

"I wondered why it took so long to get home. My house on Corpus Christi street is just a few blocks from the pension office on Lyons street."

And that's where he was headed—Corpus Christi street in Houston—when a well-meaning motorist picked him up in downtown Houston and gave him a lift here, some 200 miles away.

Police contacted some of the elderly man's friends in Houston who agreed to drive here and pick him up.

Work is nearing completion on the 30-bed hospital and it is expected to be opened for use in the fall. The medical facility was planned to serve 12 communities in Macomb, St. Clair, and LaPeere and Oakland Counties.

"We feel fortunate to have been able to get Miss Paul as our director, knowing of her rich, professional background in this field," Community Hospital Foundation President T. K. Richards of Almont said in announcing the appointment today. Her salary was not revealed.

Miss Paul, 56, resigned her post at Pontiac General on May 24, 1957, while under fire by members of the hospital's board of directors. She had been director there since 1948.

Continue Strike at Missile Plant

100 Picketing Chrysler Factory Which Produces Redstones, Jupiters

DETROIT (AP)—Some 100 United Auto Workers pickets marched at Chrysler Corp.'s missile plant again today, cutting into Jupiter and Redstone missile production for the second straight day.

A force of 30 Macomb County sheriff's deputies kept the pickets moving and plant gates clear so non-union employees could enter. There were no reports of violence.

A company spokesman said about 2,000 of the day shift force of 7,500 workers had reported by 7:30 a.m. and more were coming in. Many were delayed by traffic which backed up as cars slowed at the gates.

Pickets carried placards and about a dozen wives of unionists joined the demonstration.

An Army spokesman said the wildcat walkout which began yesterday resulted in a "total loss" of production on the day's first shift.

Chrysler said, however, the exact effect on production could not be determined because "the majority of the people in this group are not involved directly in final assembly of missiles."

Picketing members of UAW Local 1245, which represents about 450 of the plant's 9,500 employees, blocked gates to protect what they called company discrimination against union members. Chrysler denied this.

Officials of both Local 1245 and the international union said they would try to get strikers back to work.

The UAW has had no contracts at the industry's Big Three—Chrysler, Ford and General Motors—since expiration of the old three-year pacts on the Memorial Day weekend.

Negotiations for new contracts are continuing.

Clerk Register Merger Stands

Last Minute Attempt by Independence Man Fails to Undo Plan

A last minute attempt to undo the merger of the offices of county clerk and register of deeds was made today before the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Duane Hursfall, representing Independence Township, moved that the resolution adopted at the last meeting to merge the offices be reconsidered. He was supported by J. Wesley Duncan of Rose Township.

Hursfall argued that the consolidation means deputy clerks will run the offices, under appointments, removing the control of the people.

The chair ruled the motion out of order when Harry Merritt, corporation counsel, said it was too late to file new nominating petitions, if the offices were divided again. He said the motion must wait two years for the next election.

In other action, the board approved resolutions presented by H. Lynn Allen, head of the Board of Public Works. These granted the County DPW authority to take over township-owned water or sewage systems and run them. They also fixed rates for such services.

The board also authorized the DPW to take over the Bloomfield Village sewer system, in Bloomfield Township.

Further action by the board approved the building of Girls Ranch at Camp Oakland for 16 girls who are wards of the Juvenile Court. The building will be financed through private subscription, with the county paying for staff and operations.

Eulogies were paid to the late Lynn Allen, county clerk, and to George J. Scott, member of the board who marked his 90th birthday June 18.

Soggy Midwest Tapers Off With Light Showers

By United Press International

Scattered showers today replaced severe weather in the mid-Mississippi valley where severe thunderstorms and at least one tornado raked the area.

Illinois State Police said a tornado funnel touched down yesterday afternoon on a farm west of Rantoul, Ill., but caused no damage. There also were unconfirmed reports of tornadoes west of Danville, Ill.

A fierce 10-minute storm last night dumped an accumulation of three inches of hail in the vicinity of Hamburg, Iowa, along with 8 1/2 inches of rain. Crops were damaged throughout the 15-mile long storm area.

The only precipitation east of the Rockies today was confined to light showers in the mid-Mississippi valley and near the Atlantic Coast. However, forecasters said showers and thundershowers will become more widespread late in the day.

History Repeats Itself After 4 Years

Detroit Grocer Kills 2nd Holdup Man

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Pattitoni is a hero of Detroit's East Side again.

A small, white-haired man, Pattitoni, 69, shot and killed his second holdup man in four years at his grocery store last night.

As before, Dominic Sotgiu, 85, Pattitoni's friend for 30 years, was at hand to help and be helped.

On June 3, 1954, Pattitoni shot one robber to death and wounded a second when they abused Sotgiu. For this Detroit police gave him their Citizens' Medal for Valor. In the first World War, Pattitoni, one-time Italian immigrant, was decorated as a sharpshooter by the U.S. Army.

"Maybe they had a right to kick me around but they had no right to hit Dominic," Pattitoni said.

Last night's incident was markedly similar.

Two suspicious men entered and ordered beer and a soft drink. Slipping a rifle from behind his counter, Pattitoni entered the walk-in refrigerator to get drinks.

One man slammed the door shut on him and struck Sotgiu at the elderly man's attempt to intervene.

With both robbers at the cash register, Pattitoni opened fire through a window of the big cooler.

One of the two fell dead. The other fled.

Police identified the slain robber as Henry Hotchkiss Jr., 38.

Two Nurses Testify at Sullenberger Hearing

she had been "coerced" by either the staff or doctors. She said not.

The same answer came from Mrs. Verlee, an employee of the hospital for nine years, when questioned by Gillespie.

Last night's session lasted three hours and 40 minutes. The hearings, run on a mock trial-like basis, will resume tomorrow night and continue every other week until finished.

Dr. Sullenberger requested the public hearings shortly after visiting Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn ruled on April 11 he should have exhausted such administrative grievance procedures before going to court.

Judge Quinn's ruling, ending abruptly what was expected to be a long and sensational trial, stopped Dr. Sullenberger's $250,000 damage suit against the hospital for his dismissal.

The doctor has appealed the decision to the State Supreme court.

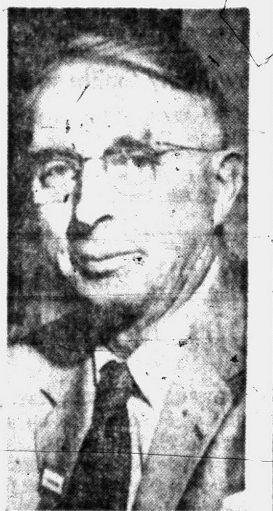

TO WEIGH 12 CHARGES

To be weighed by the trustees now are 12 charges brought by the medical staff as to why they believe the ouster should stick.

The charges are centered only on alleged actions of Dr. Sullenberger which, the staff says, were "detrimental to the efficient administration of the hospital." The staff omitted any charges of professional incompetence that marked the doctor's court fight for reinstatement.

FEARED FOR HIS LIFE

One transcript quoted Peru-born Dr. Louis L. Bendeux as saying he was "fearful for his own life" when he was threatened with a scalpel while assisting Dr. Sullenberger with an operation Oct. 10, 1957.

Dr. Sullenberger, in cross-examination Dr. Bendeux when the statement was taken June 13, said he became irritated because he was receiving no assistance from the "admittedly tired" intern during the operation.

The second deposition had Dr. Don Boyer, since move out West Virginia, charging the surgeon with threatening him, throwing surgical instruments on the floor, leaving the operating room during an operation, and cursing a scrub nurse.

Dr. Sullenberger followed the reading of the two statements by Gillespie with copies provided him. He didn't object.

An objection did come from him when, Gillespie, entering exhibit after exhibit into the record, reached what Sullenberger called "the critical point of the whole case."

He referred to a number of letters between his attorney, then David C. Pence, and the hospital director, then Carl I. Flath, in which arrangements were being made for a hearing.

"I was booted out without ever having a hearing," he charged last night.

He said he and Pence were notified of a hearing before the Board of Trustees one day prior to when the hearing was scheduled for Nov. 13.

A request for an adjournment to Nov. 19 was requested to allow readiness of his defense. Sullenberger said, when instead "I was awakened by this uncouth and rather rough voice which told me I had been kicked out."

Sullenberger last night answered the failure to meet the two operations mentioned by Mrs. Verlee by saying he had been in the operating room until 5 a.m. the day of the scheduled operations.

William P. Babcock, trustee and past chairman, questioned Mrs. Verlee as to the practices of other doctors when they can't meet appointments. "They usually call and cancel," she said.

Elfrida's Sights Set on $295,000 Television Stake

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quiz queen Elfrida von Nardoff headed into a fourth tie game with school teacher Robert Leicester last night in a close battle in which she set her sights on $295,000.

Miss von Nardoff, 32, has won $253,500 on the TV quiz show "Twenty-One" to become the highest money winner on television. She and Leicester now are tied 10-10 in a fourth game which will be played off next week. She could boost her winnings by $42,000 by defeating him.

Both rolled off correct answers last night to questions about English literature, women, labor and movies.

Miss von Nardoff, who has quit her job to concentrate on her study for the quiz show, has been living since on borrowed money.

She cannot collect her winnings until she is defeated or quits the game. Her take now would mean only about $30,000 for her and the rest would go for income taxes.

Brazil Fireworks Blow Up, Kill 83

nurses, doctors and medicines being rushed from nearby towns were delayed for hours.

Most of them eventually arrived by train to find many persons already dead and others dying.

Santo Amaro is about 35 miles northwest of Salvador, seaport capital of the state of Bahia on the Brazilian "bulge." Feira Santa is some 50 miles north of Salvador.

The explosions shook the area and reverberated through the town like the boom of cannon and the chatter of rifle fire. Rocket bombs flared in all directions.

A reporter said the market place looked like a scene from "Dante's Inferno."

The market place itself was turned into a hospital. Injured were rushed to a hospital and public buildings and private homes were pressed into emergency service to take care of the overflow.

Fireworks accidents are not uncommon in Brazil, especially around this time of the year. Last year 60 persons were killed and more than 100 injured when a fireworks factory blew up at Gramacho, near Rio de Janeiro.

Three Escape Plane Sinking in Cass Lake

A check showed it was taking in water from the tail section, and Angove hailed a passing boat which rescued him and his son, Robert, and Richard J. Ryan, of 17671 New Hampshire St. Southfield.

Lost time is

Foreign Aid Bill Approval Seen

Measure $266.5 Million Less Than Requested by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $3,675,400,000 foreign-aid authorization bill was ready for expected House passage today.

The compromise measure is 266 1/2 million dollars less than Eisenhower requested. The Senate has yet to act on it.

Dropped from the compromise measure was a Senate amendment designed to curb spending of U.S.-owned foreign currencies by traveling senators, representatives and committee employees by requiring publication of individual, itemized expense accounts.

The compromise bill would require committee members or employees to report spending to committee chairmen, who in turn would publish consolidated reports. There would be no public individual listing.

Also knocked out in the compromise was a Senate requirement aimed at halting use of foreign aid funds for the purchase abroad of Japanese textiles and other articles competing with American-made products.

The measure includes $1,605,000,000 for military assistance to friendly foreign countries and $10 million for defense support aid. The military aid figure is 195 million less than the President requested, while the support allotment falls 25 million short of what he wanted.

Waterford Police Fast to Recover Stolen Auto

A stolen automobile was recovered early this morning by Waterford Township Police before the owner knew it had been stolen.

Patrolmen Fred Randolph and Charles Griffith, on routine duty at 4 a.m. today, spotted an abandoned car on Williams Lake road at the entrance of the Twin Beach Golf Club.

They noticed a smashed side window vent and the red lights on the dashboard were turned on. As they approached, another car drove away from the scene.

After checking the license to locate the owner, Ruth Dorrance, 184 Mohawk Rd., police learned she had parked her car in her garage at 1:30 a.m. and did not hear it being driven away.

The Day in Birmingham

Four Board Appointments Approved by Commission

BIRMINGHAM — Appointments of four men to city boards were approved last night by the Birmingham City Commission.

All for three-year terms, they included Colin Grant-Waters, Building Code Board of Appeals; W. Colt Allee, Recreation Board, and Norman Berry and William Merrill, Planning Board.

At the session, presided over by Commissioner William Hutchinson in the absence of Mayor Carl Ingraham and Mayor Pro Tem Harry Denyes, it was announced that a public hearing date will be set in the near future on the request by John Chiera that property he owns in the Edgewood-Southlawn street area be rezoned from single family to multiple dwelling use.

Permission was granted the Tanden Club of the First Methodist Church to sell non-perishable food at the Fourth of July fireworks display. Sponsored by the Birmingham Chapter of Commerce, the display will take place in the parking lot of the Birmingham High School.

Approval also was given to Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr. to change his court hours. Court sessions now will be held from 9 a.m. until noon Monday.

An auto accident last night on Woodward avenue in Bloomfield Hills resulted in the arrest of John W. Mills, 17, of 49 Clark St., Pontiac. He was charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile.

The youth, who had no operator's license, was driving a car which struck the side of a boat trailer behind an auto driven by Richard J. Galloger, 33, of Detroit.

In his haste to get away, police said Mills backed into another car — this one driven by Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Marvin Kent, 37.

The youth was scheduled to be turned over to Pontiac police for investigation of auto theft.

A 23-year-old Troy man has been charged with forgery of a credit card which he found.

Marion Haynes, of 2110 Larchwood St., admitted to Birmingham police that he used the card to purchase tires, gasoline and other items, amounting to about $300.

Mrs. Roland H. Mann Service for Mrs. Roland H. Mann, 78, of 1132 N. Monroe St., Lapeer, a former Birmingham resident, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Grace Episcopal Church in Lapeer. Burial will be at 1 p.m. in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Mann died Sunday at Lapeer County General Hospital after a brief illness. Before moving to Lapeer three years ago, she had lived in the Birmingham area for 35 years.

Mrs. Mann was a former member of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham and the Detroit Athletic Club.

Robert C. Hupp Jr. of Lapeer; a surviving area is a daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Hupp Jr. of Lapeer; a son, Ernest E. of Phoenix, Ariz.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

John J. Leary Service for John J. Leary, 59, of 17322 Warrington Rd., Detroit, a former Birmingham resident, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, Birmingham. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Detroit.

The Rosary will be recited at Bailey Funeral Home.

Mr. Leary, an interior decorator for Crowley-Milner Co., Detroit, died yesterday at New Grace Hospital, Detroit.

Surviving are his wife, Marion; a daughter, Mrs. Edward Gergonian of Birmingham; two sisters, two brothers and three grandchildren.

His First Hard Knock

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — Three-year-old Ronald Bates, who likes to watch birds and airplanes, was in the hospital today because he tried to imitate them. Ronald decided yesterday that he would surprise the postman by flying to the gate to meet him. He stood on his bedroom window sill, flapped his arms and took off. He plummeted to the lawn 12 feet blow, but escaped with only a bruised head.

Educator Calls for 'E Bomb'

Advocates Double Pay for Teachers, $50 Billions for School Program

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A New York educator today called for a doubling of teacher pay and a $50-billion-dollar rehabilitation program for America's public schools for the next 10 years.

With the comment that an "E bomb—E for education" is more important than A or H bombs, Dr. Benjamin Fine of Yeshiva University advocated his program before a University of Michigan symposium.

"A and H bombs are important," Dr. Fine said, "but we need to build an even more important bomb—the E bomb—E for education."

"With an E bomb we can penetrate the Iron Curtain and reach into the hearts of slave men and make them free."

Dr. Fine set forth a program which he said "must be adopted if we are to solve our crisis in public school education."

In addition to a doubling of teacher pay to a minimum of $5,000 a year and a maximum of $10,000, Dr. Fine called for a five-year training program for teachers. Three years would be in liberal arts studies and two years in professional training. The $10,000 maximum pay could be increased on the basis of a teacher's individual merit.

Dr. Fine also urged a 2 billion dollar school construction program for the next five years in order to keep pace with enrollment increases and maintain "minimum standards."

He supported federal aid to education, proposing a 10 per cent share from the federal government in combined local-state-federal programs. He said local control of education should be retained, however.

House Group Studies Tax Liens on Idle Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee takes a look today at the government practice of levying attachments against some unemployment compensation checks to collect back income taxes.

The Internal Revenue Service said it has attached some jobless benefits but only in cases where no undue hardships would result. Subcommittee Chairman John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.) called it "an unconscionable violation" of the basic principles of the jobless pay law.

He said the act prohibits the use of state unemployment funds for any purpose other than providing an income for the jobless. However, an IRS operating manual specifies it be done only in cases where no undue hardships result.

He said reports from about half the agency's 64 district offices show that about 99 out of some 500,000 attachments involved unemployment checks. In virtually all cases, he said, the persons involved had some other source of income.

Russians Shower Van Cliburn With Gifts

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Van Cliburn has received thousands of dollars worth of presents from the people of Russia.

From Americans? Let's see. There was a new book, autographed by the author, and a large box of walnut fudge, sent by a doting girl friend from Juillard.

"It doesn't look so good, does it?" said the lady in charge of the "Van Cliburn gifts exhibit," which just opened in midtown New York. "But—her face brightened, perceptively—if pinkly—Van simply dotes on fudge, you know. He couldn't have been more delighted when she..."

Actually the best excuse that can be offered for this apparent disparity in national appreciation of a fine pianist, is that the customs of Americans and Slavs are entirely different.

When a Russian culture enthusiast hears or sees something he admires, he treats the artist as a member of the family, when an American hears or sees the admirable, he looks upon the artist as something remote and beyond him. Perhaps, in the long run, this is more flattering.

Meantime, back at the exhibit (in Steinway & Sons' 57th Street emporium), Van Cliburn's loot stacks up like a glittering museum display.

There are exquisite gold, silver and jeweled gifts, not only for the pianist himself but for his mama, who was back in Texas while Van was knocking out the Kremlin crowd. A silver tea service, malachite cigarette boxes, the finest of perfumes ("Divine scent," mourned the lady, "evaporating with every snuff,") a life mask of Cliburn by sculptor Bache-Serbin, woodcuts, etchings, oil paintings by great masters.

Most of the gifts are what should be called "humble." This is be-

Free-Wheeling Farmer Should Stick to Bike

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP)—Farmer David Lee Hogan paid a $40 fine for driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested after his tractor pulled out of a West Plains service station and hit a car. Hogan said he drove his tractor to town because his license to drive a car had been revoked for a previous traffic violation.

cause 90 per cent of them came from "the ordinary people," and the people of Moscow and suburbs are not noted for their wealth. But these gifts are rich in heart, if not commercial value. Family heirlooms, hand-made dolls, cigarettes, etchings, photographs, records, a ceramic plate inscribed "We will always love you."

Altogether, there are more than 2,500 of these "humble" contributions.

The offering that meant the most, Van has said, is a blue-and-gold platter, size of Texas salad plate, centered by a picture of Tchaikovsky—the composer whose works made the Texas pianist famous. It was given to him at a stage door by an eight-year-old boy who said he had just received it as a birthday present, and wanted Cliburn to have it instead. It is on display with the monetarily more-valuable.

Capping the gift exhibit—which should make Cliburn feel fine, and our propaganda department nauseous—are boxes and boxes of telegrams. They are printed, not on U. S. Western Union yellow, but on a luscious Russo pink, with flower motifs in the corner.

East Germans Admit
U.S. Movies Popular

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today admitted that only Western films are drawing crowds into the state-owned movie houses.

The party paper Das Volk complained that the satellite country's cinemas are always jammed when a Western film is shown, no matter how bad it is, and always empty when a Soviet movie is on the screen, no matter how good it is.

The paper also criticized movie house managers for emphasizing the country of origin on posters whenever the film comes from the West and not mentioning it at all when it comes from the Soviet Union.

Queen Has Many Titles

NEW YORK — The Queen of Spades is also known as Slippery Anne, Black Lady, Calamity Jane, Black Maria, and the Black Widow. Slippery Anne also is the name of a variation of the original game of Hearts in which the Queen of Spades is counted as a minus card, 13 points against the holder.

Michigan's first state fish hatchery was built in 1873.

Saturday Deadliest Day on Nation's Roads

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: That waffles were first introduced into this country by Thomas Jefferson, who bought a waffle iron in Holland. Jefferson also helped popularize the tomato, which had been thought of as poisonous and was known as the love apple.

That if all the oceans were to dry up, enough salt would be left to bury an area the size of England 35 miles deep.

That Johnny Desmond observes "When a man avoids making his father's mistakes he usually winds up making his grandfather's."

That, despite the bad reputation of Sunday drivers, Saturday is the deadliest day of the week in terms of traffic fatalities.

That in 1904 there were 700 trucks in the United States. Today there are more than ten million.

That the menu at the Cafe St. Denis bears this bon mot: "The man who gives way when he knows he is wrong is wise. The man who gives way when he knows he is in the right is merely married."

That members of a tribe in New Guinea are so proud of their teeth they carry walking sticks with one end split into many small spiked bristles so they can pick their teeth while out for a stroll.

That here's a new tip for do-it-yourself fans: Drop a piece of charcoal in your tool box. It will absorb moisture and help keep your tools from rusting. That sea lions give off a sweet scent to let their cows know where they are. That Monique Von Vooren, the Belgian song writer, owes a great deal of her success to phone books. A gym teacher taught her breath control by having her lie on the floor, then breathe deeply with two heavy telephone directories on her tummy. That if your wife has been claiming her wool rug with soap, tell her this: The soap leaves a film that attracts fresh dirt. That someone has figured out it takes only 13 facial muscles to smile but 47 to frown. So why isn't everyone laughing? That it was Benjamin Franklin who said, "If a man could have half his wishes, he would double his troubles."

plain why you feel a glow now and then. That you have enough phosphorus in your body to tip two thousand matches, but that doesn't explain why you feel a glow now and then.

Cheryl's Story Called 'Different' Stompanato's Son Seeks Damages From Lana

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The attorney who represents John Stompanato's son says Cheryl Crane's latest version of Stompanato's death differs from a story told earlier by her mother Lana Turner.

"I think there are wide discrepancies between Lana's description of where the slaying happened and where Cheryl said she saw the body lying," William Jerome Pollack said yesterday. "I am encouraged."

What Is Best for Teachers?

Educators Give Hard Look at Problems of Requirements in U.S.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Do prospective teachers spend too much time learning HOW to teach, and not enough learning about WHAT they're going to teach?

The question of what to teach the teacher has become one of the thorniest problems in American education. It's going to get a long, hard look-see from some 1,000 educators and education officials who gathered here today for the opening of a five-day convention on teacher education and professional standards.

A report issued earlier this week by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund put the problem this way: "In some states, the requirements for (teacher) certification are so technical and trivial as to make it unlikely that individuals with a first class liberal education would even apply—or be eligible if they did apply."

The nine sponsoring agencies hope some sort of agreement on teacher training and certification can be reached and put into effect nationwide.

The problem isn't strictly an American one. The Russians have been struggling with it too.

Dr. John B. Whitelaw of the U.S. Office of Education, who recently returned from a four-week tour of the Soviet Union, said the Soviets are trying to standardize teacher education and at the same time bring it up to a college or university degree level.

"If teachers were given the same status in this country as they are in Russia, we would have no teacher shortage," he said.

Pollack represents the 10-year-old son John Jr., who seeks $750,000 damages for the alleged wrongful death of Lana's lover last April 4.

Cheryl, 14, has said she stabbed Stompanato with a butcher knife while he and her mother argued at Miss Turner's Beverly Hills home. Cheryl said Stompanato was threatening the movie star. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Cheryl gave a deposition at Pollack's office yesterday as Lana and Johnny were all on the best of terms in the days preceding the killing.

He said he feels this contradicts Miss Turner's previous testimony that prolonged and violent arguments preceded the fatal stabbing.

Miss Turner herself is tentatively slated to testify in a similar deposition hearing tomorrow.

Cheryl now lives with her maternal grandmother Mrs. Mildred Turner.

Republican Rebel Risks Senate Seat

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — North Dakota's veteran Sen. William Langer staked his political future today on support gained in a lifetime of public office as he bid for re-election to a fourth term without party endorsement.

A contest between Langer and the GOP endorsee, Lt. Gov. Clyde Duffy of Devils Lake, for the Republican nomination for the Senate highlighted a primary election that up to a few days ago was described as the quietest in many years.

The 71-year-old Langer, a long-time leader of the North Dakota Nonpartisan League, bolted two years ago to break a 40-year precedent and shift its candidates from the Republican to the Democratic column.

He was spurned by the state Republican endorsing convention this spring, which picked Duffy, 68-year-old Devils Lake attorney.

Navy's Vanguard Flunks New Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy's temperamental Vanguard rocket—America's No. 1 satellite launching vehicle — flunked another test today.

After hours of hard work, the Vanguard crew gave up at 1:34 a. m. on another heart-breaking effort to get the slender rocket with its "basketball moon" off the ground.

No reason for the failure was given except the usual "technical difficulties."

It was the second time in four days that the crew had been stymied in its effort to get this particular Vanguard off its launching pad. It was scrubbed last Thursday night after a long countdown.

There was no official announcement on when the next attempt would be made.

He's Chief Congressional Prober NowNo Railroad Brings Harris to Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—If El Dorado, Ark., had had better railroad connections in the 1930s, its congressman probably wouldn't be presiding now over an investigation of influence in high places.

Rep. Oran Harris was first elected to Congress in 1940 on a platform of doing something about the transportation facilities of his home town. He sought a post on the House Commerce Committee to help reach that goal.

Now he is chairman of that committee, and is heading up the investigation of federal agencies which has tied in the name of Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Harris cosponsored a controversial bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal price regulation. He headed the first congressional party to fly over both poles. A Baptist as well as a Democrat, he read the Bible from a Moscow pulpit.

But basically, Harris shows up even now as a quiet, blue suit sort of man. This does not at all mean he is anything less than a sophisticated politician and committee chairman. But in the past he has gotten things done unspectacularly.

Reminiscing today, Harris chose one pre-Adams episode to dwell on with prideful happiness. It was the Oran Harris Day staged in El Dorado last Dec. 10 by the Lions Club, with luncheons and speeches and tributes describing Harris as a good Lion and an effective representative of Arkansas.

He evidently regarded this occasion as a peak in public recognition.

"How could anyone by the greatest stretch of his imagination think I'd be embroiled in this less than two months later?" Harris asked. It was in February he took over the chairmanship of the sharply divided investigating subcommittee.

Harris, a prosecuting attorney and high-ranking Lion and Mason, ran for Congress in 1940 on a platform of improving the district's transportation connections.

The voters have returned him every two years since then, and he has been unopposed for two elections.

Born Dec. 10, 1902, in Hempstead County, Ark., Harris today has a trim, athletic figure and dark hair touched slightly with gray. He played football and baseball at Henderson College in Arkansas, and "until I passed 50" was the first-string catcher for the Democrats in Congress' annual charity baseball game.

In Moscow:Add Guards at Embassies

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government stationed two additional militiamen in front of the Canadian Embassy today but it appeared unlikely so far that a demonstration was in the offing in retaliation for the attack on the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa.

Nor was there any indication that the U.S. Embassy would be the target of a Soviet crowd, as the West German Embassy was yesterday and the Danish Embassy was Friday.

Demonstrators have attacked Soviet embassies in Copenhagen, Bonn, Ottawa and New York with stones and ink in protest against the execution of Imre Nagy and three other leaders of the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

Only the Copenhagen and Bonn incidents have been reported by the Soviet press and radio, however. It was unlikely that any spontaneous demonstration against the Canadian and American establishments would be ordered without first setting the stage by publicizing the cause for retaliation.

The extra guards brought the total outside the Canadian Embassy to four. Their presence aroused some suspicion, since similar extra guards had arrived at the Danish and West German buildings a few hours in advance of the demonstrators.

The Canadians said they had not asked for the extra protection. The West German Embassy had, but the four guards there had little effect on the crowd of 1,500 which hurled sticks, stones and ink at the building for two hours. Police reinforcements finally dispersed the demonstrators after they broke all windows in the building.

Czechs to Release GI Held Three Weeks

VIENNA (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist government is reported planning the release today of a U. S. Army sergeant the Reds have been holding since June 10.

The sergeant, James E. Cole, 34, Connelleville, Pa., disappeared while fishing with a relative of his Austrian-born wife in a river which forms part of the Austrian-Czechoslovak border.

The Czechs finally admitted to the U. S. Embassy in Prague that they were holding Cole.

The Austrian Foreign Office said the Czechs had informed it they would free Cole sometime today at Haugsdorf, an Austrian border point.

Nation's Capital a Cultural Sahara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Culturally speaking, the nation's capital is a Sahara. And some congressmen think this has given us a low-brow name the world over.

Nowhere in Washington is there a cultural center, adequate for grand opera, ballet, symphonic music and drama.

A Senate report glumly notes: "All Americans are very proud of their national capital, yet the cultural facilities here are inferior to all leading European capitals, and numerous smaller European cities."

"Our citizens are not without talent or interest in the arts, and these facilities should be developed," it adds.

So the Senate has passed a bill to set up a national cultural center with the federal government furnishing the land and individual contributors paying for the buildings. It now is in the House, and whether it will escape in this session of Congress, no one can say.

Which gives us ample time to consider a couple of questions. Even if minor league European cities have better facilities, why is that cause for chagrin, or even alarm, here?

Well, sponsors of the bill claim this nation has been maturing culturally, though many of us seem unaware of it. Our big orchestras, and our young artists, win acclaim abroad.

Yet there's no showplace, they say, where this nation's finest efforts can be displayed.

As a result, Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) told his colleagues, the international opinion is that "we are a culturally barren people. It is unfortunate that our nation, as rich and powerful as it is, has allowed such a picture to be formed in the eyes of the world."

Then, if we're looked on as such cultural dunderheads, why wasn't something done long ago?

You know how Congress is. It's nice to love opera and ballet, and many congressmen do, but it's never looked upon as a sure-fire vote getter. How many politicians ever thought of campaigning with a first-rate chamber music group?

No, the theory in many areas is that the proper accompaniment to a discussion of this nation's problems is a hillbilly band featuring a loud git-tar.

The traditional view of Congress probably was best sized up a couple of years ago when a House committee was considering the national cultural center.

Rep. Michael Joseph Kirwan (D-Ohio) saw no need for such a building.

"You have to chloroform them to get 500 to look at a ballet,"

Kirwan said. "Don't let anybody kid you on that score. It takes a lot of good courage to sit and watch somebody go into a toe dance."

"I am like Oliver Wendell Holmes. He said, 'Give me burlesque.' He went to them until he was 90."

But local promoters said Kirwan was wrong, that ballet not only is good business here, but all over the country. And promoter Patrick Hayes showed the way the cultural winds are blowing.

"Ballet is doing nicely in this town," he said. "It has been years, though, since we've had a theater showing live burlesque."

Predicts Migration Back to Big City

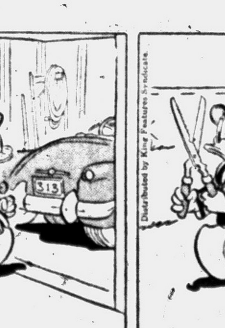

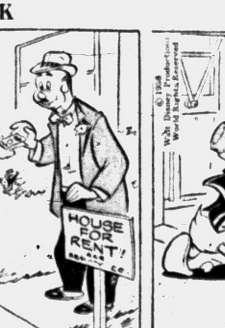

NEW YORK (AP) — A migration of suburbanites back to the big city was predicted by a downtown retail merchant today.

"At the moment, large numbers of families are moving into the suburbs to make homes and raise their families," Joseph J. Miller, secretary-treasurer of Neisner Bros., Rochester, N. Y., said.

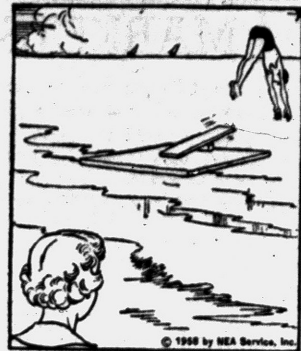

"In a few years, some of those people will have seen their children grow up, get married and begin their own homes. The old folks will be ready to move back to the city. They will be sick of mowing lawns and fighting bugs, and will want a nice apartment on a nice street, easily accessible to downtown. They will support downtown and restore its vigor."

Miller addressed a conference on downtown redevelopment. It was sponsored by the National Retail Merchants Assn. and the American Transit Assn.
