Rockefeller May Go It Alone on National GOP Poll

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — rebuffed on his call for a cross-country poll to indicate who the strongest Republican presidential candidate would be — is reported ready to conduct it on his own.

Richard M. Nixon, whose aides, along with Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss, rejected Rockefeller's proposal yesterday, concentrated his efforts today on increasing his commanding delegate lead for the GOP nomination.

* * *

He planned to meet today in Chicago with delegates from 10 Midwest states.

Rockefeller advisers said the governor could be expected to commission his proposed poll without the cooperation of Nixon or Bliss.

On the Democratic side, sources close to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey say he has offered the vice presidential spot, if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination, to no one.

See Story, Page A-2

They say he is not telling even his closest friends his preference for a running mate, and expect he will remain silent on his choice until the Democratic National Convention opens in Chicago Aug. 26.

But they acknowledge pressures could cause Humphrey to tip his hand before the convention.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy resumes his Democratic presidential campaign Friday with a western swing and is scheduled to speak minutes before Humphrey at a dinner in Olympia, Wash., on the eve of the Washington State Democratic Convention.

In other political developments:

● Former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, campaigning for McCarthy, said in Atlanta, Ga., he believes third-party candidate George Wallace could average 25 per cent of the vote in states where he is on the November ballot. "I think it's a hidden vote in many places," Mitchell said.

* * *

● Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, asked Tuesday about McCarthy's request to address the national convention, repeated his position that McCarthy will have the speaking rights of any delegate.

Rains Cut Power, Blamed in Death

Torrential rains and hail which pounded the Pontiac area yesterday afternoon temporarily cut off power for thousands of homes and are blamed in the death of one man in a four-vehicle crash on I-96 in Novi.

Dead is John Henry Graham, 45, of Detroit, who died at 12:35 a.m. today in Botsford Hospital, Farmington Township, about nine hours after the accident. His passenger, Eddie Johnson, 29, of Detroit, was in fair condition this morning in the hospital.

* * *

None of the other 70 some persons involved in the crash, including about 50 children in a DSR bus, was hurt badly enough to be hospitalized.

Today's respite from heat and rain was deemed only temporary by the U.S. Weather Bureau, which forecast rising temperatures for tomorrow and more showers Friday.

According to Redford State Police and Novi police, who investigated the fatal crash, it was touched off as the bus and a truck traveling east on the expressway collided when they ran into heavy rain and hail.

The car following the two vehicles veered, crossed the median and struck a state highway department truck. The car carrying Graham and Johnson was almost completely demolished.

The bus with the children veered to the right, went down the embankment and was stopped after it plowed into the side of a hill. None of the children or adult supervisors was badly hurt. The bus was on its way back from a day's outing in Kensington Park.

The children were a disadvantaged group on a trip sponsored by the Detroit Mayor's Committee on Human Resources.

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

The state highway truck involved in the fatal collision was driven by Richard Holmes, 43, of Detroit, according to police. He and two passengers, George Heenan, 18, of 1016 Berwick, Pontiac, and Tom Pinkos, 20, of Warren, were examined and treated at Botsford Hospital, but had no serious injuries. Both were released from the hospital.

* * *

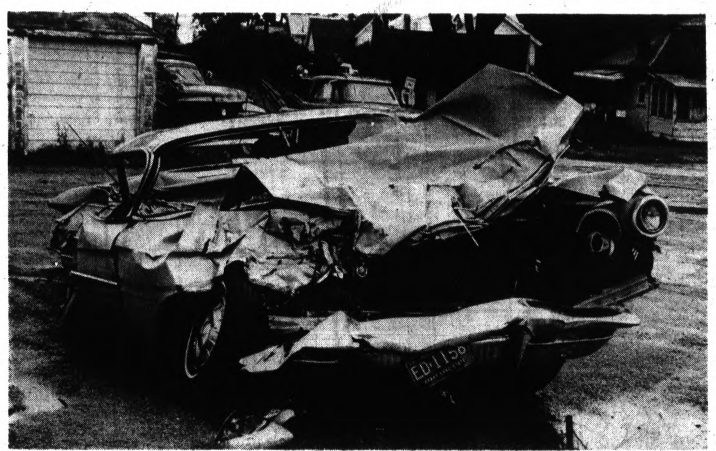

A rash of downed power lines, telephone lines, flooded basements, blocked streets and stalled cars came in the wake of the storm which proved even more destructive than the severe storm of June 24. Rain was measured at 2.75 inches by the county drain office.

Following is a roundup of some of the troubles encountered:

Lightning downed wires in a number of areas, interrupting the electric service of some 18,000 customers in the Pontiac area.

Downtown Plan Is Presented

By ROB WISLER

Architect C. Don Davidson yesterday afternoon guided some 475 persons through a crystal ball tour of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal area as it would look upon completion of the $60-million plan designed by him, fellow architect Bruno Leon, and financial consultant Marvin D. Skelton.

* * *

Davidson, in a sophisticated slide presentation, gave those attending a luncheon at the Pontiac Elks Club a view of a prospective concentrated development of high-rise office buildings, apartment towers, and motel facilities. Intertwined would be commercial shopping facilities, theaters, a sports arena, a restaurant, and facilities for the convalescence and housing of elderly. All would be joined together by pedestrian plazas built at different levels.

* * *

The luncheon, an interservice luncheon for a number of civic clubs, was arranged by Carleton C. Patterson Jr. and Frederick Poole Jr.

It was arranged so the plan could be viewed by a wide spectrum of community leaders and those interested in seeing the plan. Its only other public presentation was at a meeting of the Pontiac Area Planning Council board of governors June 13.

SUPPORT URGED

Speakers urged community support of the plan and said the designers would be available to present it to special groups. Arrangements can be made through the city's urban renewal director, James L. Bates, at city hall.

* * *

In viewing the main points of the plan the audience saw a variety of floor plans, artists' rendering and photographs of a scale model of the completed development.

Toastmaster Ralph Norvell said the "Pontiac Plan" now has three of the four necessary ingredients for its success: an experienced, imaginative architect, an interested and capable developer and a financial commitment from a leading institution backed by an experienced financial consultant.

* * *

He said the fourth ingredient necessary to make the plan a reality is communitywide involvement and encouragement.

'COULD BE IMPETUS'

Norvell said that with community support the proposed development could become the impetus for a renewed community, "an All-American city."

Leon, dean of the University of Detroit's school of architecture, who with Davidson designed the plan, said if the city is to carry through with the plan it must have ability to have a dream and courage to effect it.

* * *

"A community is the reflection of your souls," he said.

Leon said interest of city and community leaders and the attitude of the developers — "who are interested in something more than crass commercialism" — have been a manifestation of the spirit necessary to construct something meaningful and monumental in the downtown area.

FEATURES CITED

In outlining the plan, Davidson said that he believes it will be a success because of the plan's features. "It does not depend on whether certain tenants will enter," he said.

* * *

Davidson said the plan is such that portions of it can be completed at one time. Completion of any part will give appearance of a completed project and generate interest in completion of other parts, he said.

Two Officers Shot in Police Argument

NEW YORK (AP) — Two patrolmen were shot and wounded when a gunbattle erupted last night among three off-duty city policemen following an automobile mishap on the Cross-Bronx Expressway.

The injured were identified as probationary patrolman Nicolo J. Danisi, 24, in critical condition with a head wound, and patrolman John Dalton, 41, in serious condition with a chest wound. Both were in Jacobi Hospital.

* * *

Police, who promptly began an investigation of the incident, identified the third man as Detective Frederick Gibson, 28, of the Bureau of Special Services.

All three were dressed in civilian clothes and driving their own cars when the incident began about 10:15 p.m.

CAR STALLS

The car driven by Dalton stalled on the expressway in the East Bronx where the roadway is partially blocked by construction.

Danisi was in a car backed up behind the stalled vehicle and he got out and walked up to Dalton's car. Police said the two men started arguing.

* * *

Gibson, who was several cars away, told police he saw Danisi pull out his wallet and display his shield to Dalton.

A police spokesman said Gibson then saw Dalton shoot Danisi, the bullet striking the probationary patrolman above the right eye.

EXCHANGE SHOTS

Police said Gibson then took cover behind a car and, drawing his revolver, ordered Dalton to drop the gun. But, Dalton fired at Gibson instead, police said.

Returning the fire, Gibson shot Dalton in the chest.

Yanks Sputter in British Open

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — A pair of English outsiders jumped into the early lead as America's biggest guns failed to make much of a noise today in the first round of the British Open Golf Championship.

With about one-third of the 130-man field still on the course, Mike Bonallack, an English amateur, and Brian Barnes, an obscure British pro, were in the lead with two-under-par 70.

* * *

The favored Jack Nicklaus ran into putting difficulties and skied to a 76. Bill Casper, leading money winner on the American tour, scrambled to a 72.

Another advance favorite who faltered was Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the defending champion, who shot a 77.

Nicklaus, complaining of slow greens, used 37 putts. "I never got a putt up to the hole all day," he said. He added that his iron play was so erratic he didn't give himself many birdie chances on the greens.

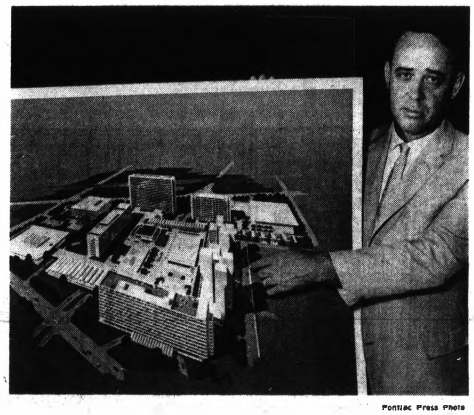

Winds with growing intensity whistled across the aged links where Ben Hogan won the British Open with a course record 282 in 1963.

There were 130 in the field starting over the 7,252-yard course, rated one of the toughest in golf.

85 Hurt in Collapse of Tent at Circus

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP) — A circus tent collapsed last night during a violent thunderstorm, injuring 85 of an estimated 300 spectators, police reported.

State Police said 24 persons were hospitalized, mostly with broken limbs. One person suffered a broken jaw.

About 800 persons were in the tent before the storm began, but many left because of the heavy rain and winds. The tent can hold 4,000.

Two dozen of the injured were admitted to hospitals. Others were treated at the scene or discharged from hospitals after treatment.

The 300-foot-long tent was the scene of a performance by the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus in this Finger Lakes city.

News Briefs From Wires

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. Alex Pilch, D-Dearborn, yesterday said he would introduce legislation in the next session to set deadlines for court suits involving pending elections. Pilch said his proposed legislation would be aimed at doing away with last-minute election hang-ups such as the litigation going on now over new state laws that permit incumbent officeholders to be listed first on election ballots. Last Friday, the State Court of Appeals struck down the laws as unconstitutional, and the Michigan Supreme Court was expected to act on the question within a few days.

Hanoi Denies U.S. Hint of Progress

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador Xuan Thuy, pressing for a quick end to all U.S. attacks on North Vietnam, accused American authorities today of having "spread rumors" of progress in the Paris peace talks to serve their own political purposes.

* * *

Thuy, denying progress, told U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that the search going on here for a way toward peace in Vietnam would fail unless the United States halts all attacks on the North at once. In case of such a failure, he argued, the United States would "bear the full and entire responsibility."

Thuy made his latest attack on the U.S. position in the 12th session of the talks which began May 13. The meeting lasted about three hours.

Harriman contradicted Thuy. He told newsmen: "I still maintain there are straws in the wind despite what he said."

There have been conflicting assessments of the deadlocked discussions for several weeks, but this was the first time the differences had come up so openly in a formal meeting.

North Vietnam is seeking to keep maximum public opinion pressure on the United States to end all bombing without getting any de-escalation in return.

MANEUVER FOUGHT

The United States has fought this maneuver and tried to bolster optimism by talking of evidence of movement or progress. In recent weeks two Cabinet members, Dean Rusk and Clark M. Clifford, secretaries of state and defense, have made such slightly hopeful estimates.

When he left the conference hall Thuy told newsmen: "There was no advance in today's session because the United States spoke of the future of the Southeast Asian region to avoid talking about the unconditional cessation of bombardments."

* * *

Harriman, back at the U. S. Embassy, said he could not claim any "immediate results."

In his statement to Thuy, Harriman renewed promises of U.S. support for a postwar Asian development program in which North Vietnam would participate. He appealed for an end to the war.

POOBY Warns City on Repair of Road

Members of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY) last night vowed they would become "citizen repairmen" and begin reconstruction of Franklin Road within two weeks unless the city comes up with a plan for improvement of the road.

* * *

POOBY officers Richard Northcross, president, and Hubert Price Jr., vice president, detailed complaints which they said showed inequity between black and white neighborhoods in the expenditure of city funds.

* * *

Price said the city has shown disinterest in improving Franklin Road and is "recalcitrant" in taking steps to eliminate flooding conditions on Bagley.

* * *

He said unless the city could present a plan in two weeks to end "intolerable" conditions within a reasonable period of time, "we feel we have no alternative than to become citizen repairmen."

'CARELESS ATTITUDE'

Northcross said governmental actions in the past have shown a careless attitude toward previous requests of POOBY to fence in certain areas of Crystal Lake and the Clinton River near Beaudette at Chapman and Esther.

* * *

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. also complained and asked for city action to clear up a "stagnant pool" of water which has flooded Bagley near the Newman AME Church.

* * *

Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Neipling said almost continual rainfall and swelling of the Clinton River had caused Bagley to remain inundated in certain areas and Beaudette near Helen to be flooded.

POINTS TO SOLUTIONS

He said solutions to the problems lie in improvement of the Clinton River from Union Street back to Crystal Lake.

* * *

Reconstruction of Franklin Road—one of the worst in the city—is estimated as a $600,000 plus project and improvement of the river is a multimillion dollar project, officials said.

Neipling said his engineering staff had been studying the river problems for some time and would present recommendations to the commission in the near future.

"The principal reason for the failure of Franklin is lack of adequate storm drainage. The reason for this is the difference in elevation between Franklin and Crystal Lake and the difficulty of getting a storm drainage system adequate to take water away," he said.

* * *

Neipling said solution to the drainage problems and the road deterioration lies in rechanneling and lowering the level of the river so that a new road bed — which would be built to last 40 to 50 years — would be on a level substantially higher than the river.

The DPW director said he would recommend some short-range solutions to several flooding problems to the commission.

Prediction by Milliken

GOP Nomination Fight Seen

By JIM LONG

The chairman of Nelson Rockefeller's Michigan campaign, Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken, yesterday predicted a floor fight of delegates at the GOP national convention over the presidential nomination of the New York governor and Richard M. Nixon.

"Nixon hasn't sewed it up yet," said Milliken, shrugging off reports that the former vice president reportedly has the bulk of delegates behind him.

Milliken, interviewed at The Pontiac Press during a day-long visit to Oakland County, said that he favored a poll of voters across the nation because it would demonstrate that Rockefeller has a broader base of support than so far revealed.

If Rockefeller can show his strength through a survey, Milliken believes that delegates to the national convention will listen and then follow the results in making their decision.

SEES DRAWN-OUT BATTLE

"Nixon doesn't have the number of votes needed to win on the first ballot," said Milliken, adding that he is convinced that the convention will result in a drawn-out battle.

Milliken said he believes that more than half of the Michigan delegates to the convention support Rockefeller although it is difficult to tell because of the delegation's uncommitted position.

"Gov. Romney will have a great impact on the decision of the delegates," said Milliken, though admitting that he has no knowledge of how the governor will vote. "I've never asked him."

The lieutenant governor said that if Rockefeller receives the Republican nomination he can win the presidency no matter what Democratic candidate is nominated.

"And from all indications, it appears that Vice President Humphrey will win the Democratic nomination," Milliken said.

Milliken said that there are no immediate plans for Rockefeller to visit Michigan.

"A visit at this time might be helpful," said Milliken, "but not necessarily fruitful."

Police Arrest County Clerk

Oakland County Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy yesterday pleaded innocent in Clawson Municipal Court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

His trial was scheduled for July 23 at 10 a.m. before Judge Bristol Hunter.

* * *

According to Clawson police, Murphy was taken into custody at 1:40 a.m. after allegedly driving on the wrong side of a two-lane residential street.

Murphy of 420 N. Marias, Clawson, refused to submit to a breathalyzer test, Chief Frank Cribb reported. He said that because of Murphy's "uncooperative attitude," he was not booked immediately.

CAR FOLLOWED

The arresting officer, Herb Bisnett, reported he began following Murphy's car after seeing it move slowly down Broadacre west of Custer.

He said when he stopped the car on Manitou Murphy identified himself only after being asked three times.

Three years ago, in May 1965, Murphy pleaded guilty in Birmingham Municipal Court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor and was fined $100.

city customers were without service for 49 minutes yesterday beginning at 6:52 p.m. due to a wire being down at Orchard Lake Road and Seminole.

Detroit Edison Co. said about 1,000 customers were without power from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. yesterday in the area around Orchard Lake Road and Ravine due to a wire knocked down by lightning.

Another 400 customers in Avon Township, southeast of Rochester, lost power from 3 to 4:30 p.m. yesterday after lightning downed a wire near Avon and Rainier. In northern Birmingham, 600 outlets were affected between 11 p.m. and 1:30 a.m. today when a tree limb downed a wire near Baldwin and Lakeside.

Another 600 customers were affected in the areas of Orion Township, Milford, and Woverine Lake at various times ranging from 2:30 p.m. yesterday to 2:30 a.m. today, with the longest interruption being six hours in Milford.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said some 550 customers were without telephones in scattered areas in north Oakland County. These phones should be fixed within the next 24 hours barring further heavy rain, according to a company spokesman.

The weather bureau said tonight will be fair and cool with the mercury dipping into the low 50s. Winds are northeasterly 10 to 15 miles.

Tomorrow's outlook is sunny and warmer and Friday will continue the warming trend under partly cloudy skies.

Temperatures tomorrow through Monday are expected to average three to five degrees above the normal highs of 81-85 and lows of 57-63.

Low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was a cool 56. By 2 p.m. the temperature was a pleasant 76. Humidity remained in the 70s.

Work on Navy's F111 Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has halted development of the Navy's controversial F111B fighter, it was disclosed today.

Congressional committees had knocked out funds sought by the Pentagon to continue work on the F111B, one version of the TFX warplane which former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had sought to develop into a multi-service plane.

The Air Force's F111A fighter-bomber is not affected by the action.

In a statement, the Pentagon said Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown issued a "stop work order" yesterday to General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Tex., prime contractor for the swing-wing jets.

Brown acted upon the recommendation of the Navy, the Pentagon said.

Judge Quits Race; Name on Ballot

BIRMINGHAM — Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr. has withdrawn from the race for district judge, but his name will appear on the Aug. 6 ballot.

Bernard Apol, state elections director, said that Emery's notification of withdrawal was received by his Lansing office after the deadline.

* * *

Emery's letter carried a July 3 postmark, which was two days prior to the deadline for dropping out of the race, but it wasn't delivered to Apol until Monday.

"We have to go by the day we get the letter and not the day it's mailed," Apol explained.

CERTIFIED

"He might not be a candidate, but he's been certified as such and will be in the primary," added Apol.

Emery was one of eight candidates who filed for one of the two new district judgeships established by the Legislature to serve the Birmingham-Bloomfield-West Bloomfield area.

Emery could not be reached for comment on his reason for withdrawing from the race.

The City Commission has accepted "with regret" the resignation of Herbert H. Gardner from the Birmingham Retirement Board.

The purchase of $2,400 in new playground equipment for city parks has been approved by the city commission.

The majority of the equipment will be installed at Springdale Park, with the remainder being placed at St. James and Eton Parks.

At Springdale a circus wagon climber will replace an old fire engine that has been junked, according to Darrel C. Middlewood, superintendent of the department of parks and recreation. He said that it was originally planned to renovate the fire truck but once it was removed from the park it was found that too much work was involved.

De Gaulle Eases Pompidou Out

PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou moved to the sidelines of the French government today and informants said President Charles de Gaulle was handing the premiership off to Maurice Couve de Murville, the loyal Gaullist foreign minister for 10 years.

Word of the popular Pompidou's step-down came after a meeting of the Cabinet with de Gaulle. It lasted for only an hour and 40 minutes and apparently involved adieus more than business.

* * *

The reasons for the change were not totally clear, but the most reliable reports coming out of a government, where secrecy is a watchword, suggested that Pompidou lost the 77-year-old president's favor because he disagreed with de Gaulle's plans for worker participation in industrial management and profits.

Pompidou, a banker, literary critic, and liver of the good life, had been thought of as a likely successor to de Gaulle as president. He seemed to be the only man to emerge from the French social convulsions in May with anything like an enhanced political reputation.

RESIGNATION PROCEDURE

Tradition requires that Pompidou call on de Gaulle personally to hand in his resignation. Looking ahead, the premier had already scheduled a dinner at his Matignon residence for members of the outgoing government.

'Texts Deficient on History of Negro'

LANSING (AP)—History texts used widely in Michigan public schools are inaccurate, misleading and distorted with regard to minority groups, according to a special report prepared for delivery today to the State Board of Education.

The report, culmination of a year-long advisory committee study, found the 12 selected texts "very seriously deficient in their treatment of minorities in general and Negroes in particular."

* * *

The committee of three white and two Negro educators was appointed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira Polley and was directed to survey social studies texts in the state. Aiding in the study were six historians, from Michigan to Louisiana, who each reviewed two books that committee research showed most widely used.

"That the historians so generally found these books to be inadequate is in itself disturbing," the committee concluded.

FALLS FAR SHORT

"But (we are) even more disturbed by a system that permits the preparation and distribution of books that fall so far short of reasonable standards." Under state law, local boards of education select books to be used in their schools.

"At a time when local, state and national attention is being focused on the necessity of rooting out discrimination and segregation, the shortcomings of these textbooks can only be interpreted as a further contribution to the possibility of tragic consequences," the committee said.

* * *

It asked Polley, as a matter of first priority, to urge all Michigan school authorities to evaluate the American history textbooks currently used in their schools and discontinue use of those falling short of standards outlined in the report.

Reviewers had some favorable comments and did not judge all 12 books to be equally inadequate, the report said.

OUTNUMBERED

Unfavorable comments in the report, however, greatly outnumbered the paragraph of favorable remarks.

Excerpts from quoted reviewers' comments dealt with:

—Historical inaccuricies that result from errors of ommission:

"In the few paragraphs describing slavery, the student would never learn that slaves were not taught to read and that they were bought and sold like cattle, that they often suffered corporal punishment . . ."

"Here, finally is a textbook on American history that describes the splitting of the atom in way that 7-year-olds can understand but fails to mention the desegregation decision of 1954. Even worse, it is a book which treats World War II without mentioning Adolph Hitler or the Nazi persecution of the Jews. If a 7-year-old can comprehend the splitting of the atom, he can understand the meaning of genocide."

—Inaccuracies that result from errors of ommission:

One historian, the report stated, said a textbook "actually gives the impression that the recent gains made by Negroes has been so great that their present dissatisfaction is unwarranted."

* * *

—Avoidance of the controversial:

"I noted in both books an attempt to avoid serious consideration of controversial topics."

—Absence of the human element:

"There is no mention of the breaking up of families or of the hardship of the slave trade."

The committee said "youngsters should learn what effect the injustices Negroes experienced had on their individual lives.

* * *

Treatment of the current civil rights movement:

"The student is never given a full explanation of what Negroes are fighting against. Poverty, the detrimental effects of ghetto life, poor schools, job discrimination and the like are barely mentioned."

—Absence of a moral stance:

* * *

"The lack of a moral stance (concerning slavery) contrasts sharply with a criticism of conditions in jails. Even if the authors felt it incorrect to condemn slavery, they could have presented the pro and anti-slavery, arguments in more detail so as to allow the student to make a moral judgment of some kind."

Millage Okay to Cut Deficit of Troy Schools $200,000

TROY — The Board of Education announced at last night's meeting that the system's $850,000 budget deficit is expected to be reduced by at least $200,000 as a result of the successful 4-mill increase approved by voters on June 10.

"Depending upon the outcome of some further considerations and decisions yet to be made, it may be possible to reduce the deficit even further," said Rev. Richard Snoad, board president.

* * *

"Although the budget has not been put into its final form, we expect to decrease the debt and at the same time increase the services provided to the student," he continued.

* * *

In its adoption of the 1968-69 annual budget, which will take place later this year, the board is expected to give final approval to restoration and improvement of the school district curriculum and program in a number of areas.

MUSIC PROGRAMS

Snoad said the proposed budget will allow strengthening of elementary physical education, band and vocal music in the system.

Also improved as a result of the millage increase will be junior high band and vocal music programs, as well as all secondary school athletic activities.

* * *

The tentative budget also allows for expansion of the system's special education program, Snoad said.

The board will not be able to give final approval of the new budget until late August or early September. In the meantime it must be approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission so that the district can secure loan funds at the beginning of the year, to be paid back with income received during the year.

The budget will also go before the taxpayers at a public hearing later in the summer. "At that time citizens of Troy will be given the opportunity to examine and ask questions about the budget," Snoad said.

In other action the board approved a request to pay eight of the high school's English teachers for 40 hours of work they will do this summer organizing and improving the school's English curriculum.

* * *

The board met in executive session for two hours following the regular meeting. The meeting, behind closed doors, was used entirely to continue work on the new budget, according to Snoad.

Construction Strike Delays Opening of 3 Utica Schools

UTICA — The area's two-month-long construction worker strike has forced the board of education to delay the September opening of three new elementary schools.

Half-day sessions will be in order for most of the 1,400 students affected, according to David Walsh, director of pupil services.

* * *

He added that a full academic course of study will be provided to all pupils, even though they will not attend a full day of classes.

"We regret the inconvenience that will be caused to parents and students because of the construction strike," Walsh said. "However, we are attempting to minimize the transportation and classspace problem as much as possible," he continued.

BUSING PLANNED

"Busing will be provided," Walsh noted, "whenever it is necessary to transport students away from their area school."

The three elementary schools affected by the strike are Issac Monfort in Shelby Township and Naomi Gibbing, and Harry Magahay, both in Sterling Heights.

* * *

Walsh said that the affected students would be notified of changes in school assignment by mail. He also said the plan will be in effect until the schools are completed in late October or early November, if the construction strike ends this month.

Library Summer Program Is Set

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A series of summer programs for children is planned by the township's head librarian, Mrs. Eunice Tuttle.

The first of two story hour sessions for preschoolers began yesterday and continues until July 25. Planned for Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10:30-11 a. m., the program is limiting registration to 25 youngsters.

* * *

Another preschool story program is set to begin Aug. 6, to meet until Aug. 22. Again they will be half-hour sessions beginning at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Preference will be given to children who were unable to attend with the first group and classes will be limited to 25.

Mrs. Linda Simonelli and Mrs. Wendy Mowrey, assisted by Mrs. Tuttle, have planned story sessions for second and third graders.

This group will also meet Tuesday and Thursday afternoons for 30-45 minutes Aug. 6-22 with maximum enrollment again at 25.

Fair Is Set for July 21

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Middle Straits Community Association and the Twin Beach Association will hold their annual combined fair 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. July 21 at the Middle Straits Community Building, 3950 Green Lake.

State Okays Loan for Utica Schools' Employe Salaries

UTICA—The Utica Community School System's request for a $2.5-million loan on anticipatory tax notes has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

A routine request, the additional money is necessary to cover payment of employe salaries beginning with school opening in September.

* * *

When the fiscal year ends June 30, school systems are near the end of their yearly money allotment and it is mandatory that there be cash available to start off the school year, officials explained.

Schools normally close this gap by getting advance state aid payments or borrowing through the tax anticipation process, which the Utica system has done.

* * *

The returns on the public tax bills that go out in December are then used to repay the loans.

Avondale Sets Millage Vote

The Avondale Board of Education has passed a resolution calling for an election seeking an operational 7.7-mill increase, on Sept. 7, a Saturday.

Residents of the district last February turned down a request for 12.7 additional operating mills, and on June 10 a request for 7.7 mills was defeated by 242 votes.

* * *

For the September election, a citizens' millage support committee has been formed to organize community support for the millage request.

Jesse Holmes, board trustee, explained that the committee has organized itself into three groups.

The groups are designed to stimulate general support, which includes public relations; voter registration; and voter turnout.

"What we're doing," said Holmes, "is attempting to make generally known the needs of the district."

* * *

"The board has had to make budget cuts such as the suspension of all varsity sports except football, basketball, and wrestling; the elimination of the co-op program in the vocational, commercial, and trade and industrial departments; and even the closing of all elementary lunchrooms," Holmes continued.

"If the millage request passes we will return as quickly as possible to regular operation."

FIRST VOTE SATURDAY

James Hunt, chairman of the public relations group, explained that the Sept. 7 election will be Avondale's first vote to fall on a Saturday.

"We lost in June by 242 votes and it's the feeling here that a lot of the people who could not vote then will have an opportunity to vote on the Saturday election," Hunt said.

Holmes added that the committee needs help from the community. He urged all interested citizens to contact the Avondale Schools' Board of Education office.

A second proposition appearing on the ballot will ask the voters to authorize schools to discontinue free text book distribution for grades 7-12.

TO ALLOW ALTERNATIVE

William Saville, assistant superintendent, said that the proposition will allow an alternative to free distribution such as buying or renting of books.

In other action the board elected officers for the coming year. Elected as president was Herbert E. Mills of 1299 Winchcombe, Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

Thomas F. Galloway and Herbert J. Miller were reelected to the posts of secretary and treasurer respectivey.

Rochester School Board President Wins Reelection

ROCHESTER—Robert Ludwig of 789 Wilwood has been reelected president of the Rochester Community Schools Board of Education.

Elected vice president was Robert Williamson of 315 William. Martin McMurray of 5647 Rochester was reelected to the post of treasurer, while Mrs. Donald Kemler of 5900 Cobb Creek continues as secretary.

* * *

The resignation of Ronald B. Kevern, director of personnel, was accepted by the board. Kevern of 207 Orchardale has spent 13 years with the Rochester Community Schools as a teacher, elementary school principal, and director of personnel.

He is planning to join the staff of Oakland University as an assistant director of placement.

* * *

In other recent action the board approved purchasing of four portable classrooms at $6,835 each including installation.

The 2-year-old classrooms, formerly used by Saginaw Township schools, will be ready for use by September.

The board also confirmed the appointment of Murel Bartley as principal of North Hill Elementary School. Bartley was a teacher in McGregor School.

Rochester School Directorship Filled

ROCHESTER—Dr. Harry J. Jones, 41, assistant superintendent for instruction with the Lincoln Park Schools, has been appointed director of instruction in the Rochester Community Schools System.

Dr. Jones will have responsibility for the total development of the instructional program on a kindergarten-through-grade 12 basis, according to Schools Supt. Douglas Lund.

* * *

Of particular importance, Lund said, will be the establishment of a continuous program of staff in-service training to utilize more fully recent instructional concepts and materials.

Dr. Jones, his wife and four children currently reside in Lincoln Park.

Clarkston School Officers Elected

CLARKSTON — The Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education has reelected R. A. Weber of 6535 Amy as its president.

Walter Wilberg of 9520 Sashabaw was reelected secretary while Richard Funk of 6184 Cramlane was reelected treasurer.

* * *

The terms are for one year.

Board members at a recent meeting viewed working drawings of the planned bus garage, presented by Richard Prince Architects of Kalamazoo.

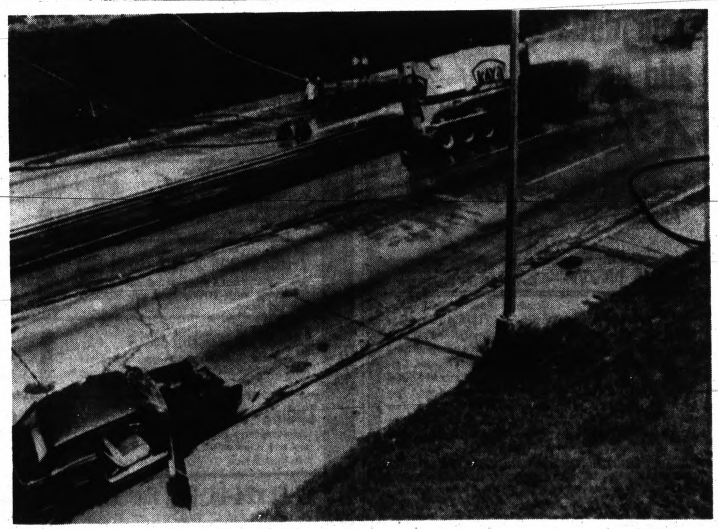

* * *

The board voted in favor of completing the plans and set Aug. 8 as the bidding date. Bids will be taken at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of Clarkston Senior High School.

* * *

In other action the board adopted the school calendar negotiated with teachers. Students will begin school Sept. 2.

The board also discussed problems of the Bailey Lake School septic field. An architect's plan for a new field was viewed, but no bidding date was set.

The Press Supports New Pontiac Plan

Enthusiastic support greeted the presentation of the new plan for the redevelopment of downtown Pontiac at a civic luncheon yesterday.

The provisions of the plan as outlined by architect C. DON DAVIDSON would certainly solve our urban renewal land problems. It has to be apparent that a great deal of time, effort and money have been expended to come up with such an all inclusive design.

★ ★ ★

The developers have not aimed at any one segment of rejuvenation. Instead, they include just about everything from high-rise, low-cost housing to a sports arena. (Details of the plan can be found in our news columns.) After listening and viewing the presentation we feel that the community is indeed fortunate to have such long-range thinking on the part of the sponsors of the program.

★ ★ ★

Despite our difficulties in the past to get a concrete program under way, we feel that the soundness of this concept deserves the vigorous support of all citizens.

Oakland County's 'Low' Lakes Are Flooded

A sign of how quickly times and conditions can change was evidenced by a hasty warning from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department recently.

The warning was issued to area boaters in view of hazardous situations created by lakes which were at or near flooding stages in the wake of heavy rains.

★ ★ ★

Lt. DONALD KRATT, head of the sheriff's department water safety division, warned that wakes from boats would cause serious flooding of many homes on some lakes and that a big danger for boaters were docks which were floating free in the water. Some boating access areas were temporarily closed.

It would have been nearly impossible two years ago to find a County resident who would have believed such a situation possible. Even as recently as last year, pumps were being installed in some lakes to raise water levels.

★ ★ ★

While floating docks may now be the problem, it wasn't long ago that the big problem with docks was that they didn't reach the water. As lake levels receded, many docks were left standing on spindly legs along dry shorelines.

After years of declining water levels, it would appear the tide has turned strongly in the other direction.

Government Publications Take Large Tax Bite

If, in its latest fiscal crisis, the federal government is perplexed about where to initiate some spending cuts, we offer the suggestion that a good starting place might be government publications.

We don't mean to detract from the value of the printed word, but there is a limit to what taxpayers can be expected to support. And some of the subject matter of many government publications appears to have well exceeded that limit.

The Department of Commerce, for example, puts out a publication called "Commercial Holidays Abroad." It costs 15 cents, which doesn't come close to defraying the cost of its preparation.

★ ★ ★

It contains such tidbits as a warning to persons planning a trip to Burundi (that's in east central Africa if you didn't know) not to plan on arriving Oct. 13. It's a holiday—Murder of Hero of State of Rwagasore. Or, the next vacation you plan in Burma, don't arrive on March 27. That's a holiday honoring the Full Moon of Tabaung.

Another point in question is a whole series of "Fish and Wildlife" publications, which includes 30 booklets on fish recipes, most with color printing which is much more expensive than black-and-white.

It seems irrelevant, to say the least, that a federal government so preoccupied with antipoverty programs should devote taxpayers' dollars to recipe booklets, many of which would appeal only to the affluent. Examples of this are titles like "Seafood Slimmers" (for dieters) and "Fish and Shellfish Over the Coals" (for those with back yard grills).

Of the 30 recipe booklets, only one — "Fish for Compliments on a Budget" — seems to come close to meeting the money problems of low income families.

It doesn't seem at all unfair to ask why our taxes must be spent, in part, to publish such trivia when the effort is so desperately needed to solve such problems as Vietnam, poverty, housing, urban renewal and the stability of the dollar, which has been weakened by just this type of excessive federal spending.

Rockefellers Are Noted Pitchmen

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In the course of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's current meanderings, he has referred jokingly to the itinerant life of his paternal great grandfather, William. For the father of the Rockefeller fortune was also somewhat of a traveling salesman. And like his famous great-grandson he carried his wares to the people and not to the entrepreneurs.

MOLEY

According to a friendly biographer, Allen Nevins, William's line was medicine and it was sold in the villages and crossroads.

★ ★ ★

The governor is meeting the people directly, too, shaking their hands and seeking to fill the void in the people's hearts left by the death of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

But all this along with the gigantic sales campaign in the press and over the airwaves takes a great deal of money and Rockefeller himself admits that he must collect this from sources other than his own fortune. For while the governor is pressing the hands of the poor his people in New York are pressing the purses of the rich.

KEEP US INFORMED

Political reporters keep us informed about what Rockefeller says and does on the road but a scanning of the society news is necessary to learn what the dwindling Eastern Establishment is doing at home.

A writer in the New York Daily News whose by-line is "Suzy Says" had this item recently:

Mrs. Steven C. Rockefeller, "The Norwegian-born daughter-in-law of Gov. Rockefeller, who will cast her first vote in a presidential election, decided to dip her fingers into the pool of politics. She organized a Scandinavian-American Committee for Rockefeller.

★ ★ ★

"The massive gates of the impeccably groomed estate swung open for almost 400 guests, most of them of Scandinavian origin, and Daffodil, a fuzzy-haired elephant born in India."

"Apparently Daffodil was hired for the occasion for the account says the rental was $100 an hour.

'RATHER BORED'

"Daffodil, 'symbol of Republicanism,' spent most of the afternoon nibbling on peanuts, thoughtfully provided by the Rockefellers, looking around in a rather bored manner and occasionally relieving the tedium by doing a little dance step.

"A committee member was in the midst of a speech on the need of 'a strong Republican' when Daffodil emitted a sound that was midway between a snort and a honk. Everyone giggled nervously."

★ ★ ★

Perhaps Daffodil was trying to sound like a donkey. If so and the imitation could be perfected, the symbol of Republicanism might be taken on tour to attract the host of Democratic votes which the governor is seeking.

David Lawrence Says:

Hanoi Misconstruing U.S. Vote

WASHINGTON — What would be the advantage to the North Vietnamese to hold off until after the November elections in the United States before making peace?

Is there any chance of an agreement in Paris prior to the selection of a new president here four months hence?

LAWRENCE

These questions are producing considerable speculation behind the scenes. Because the answers could mean that the conferees in Paris would find themselves either involved in a protracted negotiation or suddenly confronted with a peace plan which could conceivably precipitate an immediate agreement.

★ ★ ★

Those who are familiar with what is going on diplomatically say that the North Vietnamese have completely misconstrued the significance of the presidential campaign in the United States and do not understand that the incumbent administration could not possibly accept a formula which could be interpreted by millions of American voters as abject surrender.

Similarly, the North Vietnamese are mistaken if they assume that a victory for either the Republican or the Democratic presidential nominee would mean a willingness to accept a "peace at any price" arrangement.

MILITARY EFFORT

Basically, all these matters are directly related to the capability of the North Vietnamese to continue the military effort in the South.

★ ★ ★

The strategy worked out in Hanoi was to find a way to come to the conference table — maybe catch the Americans in a mood to make substantial concessions — and at the same time secure some kind of de-escalation of American ground fighting as well as bombing.

The North Vietnamese have held out the possibility that massive attacks on Saigon, for instance, would cause the United States to accept almost any kind of peace formula.

★ ★ ★

Actually, if the North Vietnamese and their Communist allies conclude that the United States is likely to make peace if there is a huge assault on Saigon, they could not be more mistaken. For the realistic result in this country would be a demand to resume unlimited bombing of North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

It is doubtful that any kind of document other than a simple cease-fire could be drawn up and approved by the United States and its allies before the November election.

The likelihood, therefore, is that whichever way the fortunes of war may go between now and Nov. 5, there will be little inclination to make a final agreement until after a president - elect has been chosen in this country.

Two Murders Put Strain on Czech-Russian Ties

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK (NEA)—Murder will out, even in the secret Communist world.

A fascinating side issue of the reforms now under way in Czechoslovakia is the new light they throw on the murder of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk and the sinister role played by Russia's Anastas Mikoyan in the execution of Rudolf Slansky.

★ ★ ★

On March 10, 1948, the body of 61-year-old Masaryk, son of the creator of the Czechoslovak democratic republic, was found on the flagstones below the windows of his apartment in Prague's Czernin Palace. The official verdict was that he killed himself.

Two weeks earlier the Communists staged an armed coup and seized power in Czechoslovakia with the aid of the Soviet army. They offered Masaryk the post of foreign minister in a new "coalition" government.

RELUCTANT

Masaryk accepted the offer with great reluctance. As he told this writer on several occasions, he was strongly opposed to the Communists. A man of great charm, he had a deep love of liberal democracy and the Western way of life.

But Jan Masaryk, like his father, was also a Czechoslovak patriot. Aware that he might be risking his life, he had the illusion that by joining the Communists in the coalition government he would be in a position to salvage some of Czechoslovak's freedom.

★ ★ ★

The Communists and their Russian mentors thought differently. They needed Masaryk as "front." They murdered him when he refused to play their game.'

His death would have gone down in history as suicide were it not for the unprecedented anti-Russian changes that are taking place in Czechoslovakia. Silenced by fear for 20 years, men and women who know the facts have now come forward with the information that Masaryk was killed by an officer of the Russian secret service.

HATED BY STALIN

Even more damaging to Moscow was Mikoyan's role in the 1952 execution of Slansky who, though a fervent Communist leader, was hated by Stalin.

According to Karol Bacilek, former Czechoslovak minister of national security, it was Mikoyan who came to Prague with Stalin's order to kill Slansky.

★ ★ ★

No wonder the Russians are furious. Mikoyan is still a respected member of the Central Committee of the Russian Communist party. He was the president of the Supreme Russian Soviet until December 1965 when he retired from active politics.

It is Makoyan's misfortune that his "honorable" retirement should be belatedly blackened by Bacilek's revelations.

But murder will out. If Brezhnev and Kosygin want to preserve anything of their tattered prestige in Czechoslovakia, they would be well-advised to let Mikoyan clear himself publicly of Bacilek's accusation.

'One Type of Violence Seems to Be Accepted'

Most of us are opposed to violence, especially in view of recent events, but there exists a type of violence that seems to be accepted today. I refer to pitchers who deliberately attempt to hit a batter.

★ ★ ★

That is violence that I think could be eliminated quickly if every batter who is hit, other than on the hands or arms, should be permitted to go to work on the pitcher with the bat.

Serviceman Discusses Problems of Nation

I am a member of the Armed Forces serving in Vietnam. I'm a 20-year-old warrant officer piloting a $250,000 helicopter that your tax money built. I contend that teen-agers have taken adult responsibilities from the adults and are actively and progressively trying to shake these "responsible adults" out of their money-grubbing lethargy.

★ ★ ★

It is not guns that cause the violence in the U.S. By legislating reactionary, emotional gun control laws it reduces a person's prestige and takes another freedom from him. Why do our legislators work so hard on "moral" laws? They once tried to tell us we couldn't drink booze if we wanted to; they tell us what is obscene and what isn't; they tell us what is safe and what isn't. I admit that not everyone is capable of making these decisions but what happens when someone tries to cram his ideas of what is right down your throat? You automatically rebel.

★ ★ ★

It is time we take careful consideration of the merits of the men we vote for before we pull the voting lever. Our country is in the middle of a moral breakdown. I believe one of the primary causes is the breakdown of the family unit. Mommy and daddy are too busy making money to teach their children love and respect. How can they be expected to respect the law when they don't respect each other's rights?

★ ★ ★

I can't give my political views because a warrior cannot degrade his chief. However, when I took my loyalty oath I meant what I said. I am loyal to you and to the Constitution of the U.S. What I do is in your hands. The U.S. can never be defeated by an external enemy—we will only be defeated by ourselves in the classic form of the Roman Empire. For people that have never had it so good, you seem to take it for granted.

Expense Cuts

Richmond News Leader

A few months ago, the word went forth from Washington to American embassies throughout the world: Cut down on expenses. Diplomatic staffs were to be reduced when possible, and every effort was to be made to effect savings in staff spending.

★ ★ ★

Sargent Shriver, who became United States ambassador to France not long ago, evidently never got the word. Although the American embassy in Paris is one of the largest and most expensive of all United States diplomatic headquarters abroad, Ambassador Shriver has requested the addition of four new employes to his Paris staff.

★ ★ ★

One of these would be a bilingual personal social secretary to Mrs. Shriver, whom the ambassador describes as very active socially.

A second would be a personal public relations officer for the ambassador, although his predecessors have relied on United States Information Agency personnel for that purpose.

A third would be a personal staff assistant to the ambassador.

The fourth would be an additional chauffeur, although the Paris embassy motor pool already has 26 drivers.

★ ★ ★

At least one congressman, H. R. Gross of Iowa, finds Mr. Shriver's request incredible, especially when the federal government needs to cut its spending to the bone. However, Mr. Shriver's empire-building proclivities should come as no surprise, considering that before he was named ambassador, he was director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, the greatest bureaucratic monstrosity of them all.

Loud Thud . . .

New York Daily News

President Lyndon B. Johnson dropped the other shoe with a thud heard 'round the world.

He announced that he had accepted Earl Warren's resignation as Supreme Court chief justice and nominated Associate Justice Abe Fortas to succeed Warren and U.S. Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry of LBJ's home state of Texas to succeed Fortas.

★ ★ ★

It is a political rush act, in the end months of the L. B. Johnson presidency — an effort to prolong "liberal" control of the high court. Fortas is to the left even of Warren, which makes him a long way leftward and then some.

★ ★ ★

There is a swing toward conservatism in the United States, especially as regards official tenderness toward crooks, criminals and Communists.

Apparently the President has fallen victim to the professional-liberal conviction that professional liberals always are in the right and everybody else is wrong, and any means to gain professional-liberal ends are justified.

★ ★ ★

We think it is the U.S. Senate's patriotic duty to turn down the Fortas nomination and hold the chief justiceship open until the nation has a new President. We hope the Senate will on no account shirk that duty.

Aussie Spurned by Army, Wife

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Wally Mellish was in a mental hospital today, unwanted by the Australian army or the convicted prostitute he married while holding her and their baby son hostage.

The 22-year-old ex-convict, who staved off besieging police for a week by threatening to kill 19-year-old Beryl Muddle and their three-month-old son Leslie, left his house Tuesday and surrendered when the police promised he could apply to fight in Vietnam. The army turned him down, and the police took him to the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Beryl, who was married to Mellish last Wednesday on the second day of the siege, said she is "through with Wally for good."

"Most of the time I was tied up with a dog chain and belt," she said in a statement. "Sometimes I was chained to a bed or a chair. I was more worried about the baby than myself. Then he decided to come out. Thank God it's all over."

The police did not enforce a warrant for her arrest for failing to pay a $42 fine for prostitution.

Defense Intelligence Agency Draws Fire of Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A warning message to the U.S. intelligence ship Liberty in the Mediterranean last year was misrouted to the Philippines and reached her only after the Israelis attacked, killing 34 crewmen.

★ ★ ★

The Communist Tet offensive in Vietnam and the capture of the spy ship Pueblo by North Korea may well have been the result of similar clogs in intelligence lines.

★ ★ ★

These are points made by the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, in a report issued yesterday, about operations of the 7-year-old Defense Intelligence Agency.

The report said that unprocessed reports on Southeast Asia alone at one point occupied 517 linear feet of space in file drawers at DIA, which was created after the abortive attempt to invade Cuba through the Bay of Pigs.

'COMPLETE DISARRAY'

"Within DIA," the subcommittee said, "it takes an average of eight workdays from the time of receipt for a document to reach the analysts."

Subcommittee member Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., told agency officials: "One could conclude that the management of your intelligence assets is in a state of complete disarray."

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gen. Joseph F. Carroll, DIA director, insisted that no "hot" information had been shuffled aside, and that the Southeast Asian file had been reduced to about two linear feet, with three feet coming in daily.

Carroll also said that any backlogs consist of "low grade ore" inspected in due time, and that top-priority matter is checked immediately. But he conceded that improvements were needed.

RELAYED TOO LATE

Testimony cited by the subcommittee showed that a message to the Liberty, instructing it to change positions during the Arab-Israeli war last June, was relayed back to the Pentagon from the Philippines, thus reaching the ship too late.

As for the Pueblo, captured by North Korea while on an offshore intelligence mission, Whitten said, "There are a number of areas where it looks as if somebody has fallen down."

★ ★ ★

He said proper intelligence should have provided forewarning that an attack was likely, making possible a response by South Korean air force planes which he said were only 15 or 20 minutes away.

Referring to the surprise Tet attack on Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities, Whitten said:

"It has been evident from witnesses that it did not dawn on our top leaders that the Tet offensive was going to happen when it did.

★ ★ ★

"It is inconceivable to me, with this country having gone through Pearl Harbor, where every child is taught about Washington crossings the Delaware on Christmas Eve because the opposition was having a big party, that grown and experienced men come before this committee and say it did not cross their minds that we would be hit on a holiday."

Sun Flare Triggers More Magnetic Storms

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Magnetic storms, triggered by the biggest, brightest solar flare in more than two years, produced an unscheduled view of the Northern Lights and again fouled up shortwave radio communications around the world Tuesday night, government scientists said.

More of the same appears to be in the offing.

★ ★ ★

Forecaster Karl Kildahl at the U.S. Space Disturbance Forecast Center said there is a good chance of similar phenomena tonight or Thursday as a result of another major, though smaller, flare Tuesday.

And, he said, data analysis showed a 65 per cent chance of a third large-magnitude flare Wednesday, when the effect of the first was expected to subside.

LITTLE RED FINGERS

Residents of the northern United States should have been able to see a reddish glow on the northern horizon Tuesday night—"like little red fingers that go up into the sky and fall down again," Kildahl said.

★ ★ ★

The shortwave blackout Tuesday was less troublesome than the initial magnetic storm immediately after the flare was recorded at 1:03 p.m. EDT Monday.

★ ★ ★

Those first "noise storms" knocked out transmissions between 184 and 10 megacycles, Kildahl said. Tuesday night the storms blacked out the range between 30 and 3 megacycles, he said.

★ ★ ★

Monday's flare was measured as Class 3 on a scale of brightness and size that uses Class 4 as a maximum. The last flare of comparable magnitude was in May 1966.

STILL MAJOR

The flare reported Tuesday at 2:07 p.m. EDT was rated at between Class 2 and Class 3, still considered major. It also caused widespread shortwave transmission difficulties, mainly in the polar region.

★ ★ ★

It is the "plasma cloud" from this flare that Kildahl said could produce another blackout and "visible aurora" on Wednesday night.

Solar flares cannot be seen by the naked eye, but through filtered viewing instruments, they appear as intense white spots on the sun's red mass. Neither do the emissions pose a radiation threat to earth. The earth's magnetic shield blocks out these rays.

★ ★ ★

And because the "noise storms" affect only certain ranges in the high-frequency band, other forms of radio—and television—transmission usually are not affected.

Priest Is Killed in Freeway Crash

DETROIT (AP) — A Lithuanian-born priest died Tuesday when his car reportedly swerved into the path of a gasoline truck on a Detroit freeway, causing it to overturn and explode. Flames shot 20 feet in the air as a result of spewing gas.

★ ★ ★

Killed was the Rev. Bronisilaus Dagilis, 59, who police said swerved into the path of a Kaye Oil Co. truck driven by Carroll Webster, 29.

★ ★ ★

Webster, who was treated at a Detroit hospital for burns, said it all happened suddenly, but he thought Father Dagilis' car had a blowout which caused the car to swerve.

Traffic was blocked and backed up nearly a mile on the eastbound lane of the Edsel Ford Freeway Interstate 94 from the accident site under the French Road overpass.

Current Status of Major Pieces of Legislation in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Status of major legislation:

TRAVEL — Johnson proposed a graduated tax on Americans traveling outside the Western Hemisphere as a means to curb the dollar outflow. House: Rejected the tourist tax proposal but approved a 5 per cent tax on airline tickets and a reduction in duty-free purchases. Senate: Hearings under way.

ETHICS — Senate approved code of ethics for its members requiring secret listing of financial resources, to be opened in case of an investigation. House: Approved similar code for its members. Both plans include limited public financial disclosure.

EDUCATION — Administration asked $2.3-billion one-year extension of student college loan programs and grants for university construction and teaching programs. House: Education and labor committee approved a $3.4-billion, two-year bill with provision to deny aid to students who riot on the campus. Senate: Labor and public welfare committee expected to act on administration bill this week.

JOBS — President proposed expanding existing manpower training programs to put 500,000 hard-core unemployed to work. House: Hearings continuing on a $4-billion bill to provide 1 million public service jobs. Senate: Hearings completed.

VETERANS — Johnson proposed a $50-million program to train ex-servicemen to work as police and firemen, hospital workers and teachers after service discharge, also to increase maximum life insurance from $10,000 to $30,000. House: No action on requests but passed bill authorizing $235-million increase in service connected compensation rates affecting 2 million veterans. Senate: No action.

PEACE CORPS — House and Senate approved one-year extension of the Peace Corps and authorized $113 million for the program for fiscal 1969. Measure sent to conference committee to reconcile minor language differences.

DRUGS — President proposed drug control act to stiffen penalties against peddlers and users of dangerous drugs, including LSD. House: Commerce committee approved bill. Senate: No action.

FUNDS — Johnson endorsed Securities and Exchange Commission proposals to tighten regulations on mutual fund companies. Senate: Banking committee approved bill to give courts power to set management fees. House: Hearing completed.

CITIES — Johnson asked for $1 billion for the model cities program and $65 million in new contract authority for the rent supplement program. House: Approved appropriation of $500 million for model cities and $25 million for rent supplements. Senate: No action yet on appropriation.

HOUSING — Johnson asked for $6.3 billion for three years for new programs of mortgage interest subsidies for poor people and a continuation of existing urban renewal, rent supplement and public housing programs. Senate: Passed a $5-billion program, encompassing the low-interest home ownership program. House: Considers this week $6.5-billion bill that would authorize 1.2 million new or rehabilitated homes for low-and moderate-income groups over three years. Also would hike amounts authorized for federal-aided sewer projects.

BEAUTY — President asked two-year, $380-million extension of program to landscape highways, move billboards and screen junk yards. Senate: Authorized $170-million, two-year extension. House: Passed bill that would virtually halt program for time being.

REDWOODS NATIONAL PARK — President asked Congress to create park in California. Senate: Passed. House: Interior committee approved bill sharply reducing acreage.

FOREIGN AID — President asked for $2.9 billion in overseas economic assistance, the lowest request in the program's 21-year history. House: House votes this week on $2.3-billion bill approved by foreign affairs committee. Senate: Hearings completed.

TRADE — Johnson has introduced a trade bill, extending President's authority to enter trade agreements through 1970. Also the measure is designed to make it easier for some industries to get a government ruling for relief from imports. Members have introduced scores of bills, opposed by the administration, to curb imports of steel, oil, textile, meat, dairy products, chemicals, other goods. Senate: Voted import quotas on textiles but plan killed in House-Senate conference. House: Hearings completed.

AWAIT SIGNING

FLAG — House and Senate passed bill to make it a federal crime to desecrate the flag.

PARKS — Congress raised the current $100-million land on water conservation fund used for buying park land to $200 million and provided that where appropriations from general tax revenues fail to reach that level money can be used from offshore oil leases and royalties.

TAXES—Congress gave Johnson his requested 10 per cent surtax but tacked on requirement to cut government spending by $6 billion.

PROTECTION—Congress approved $1.6 million for fiscal 1969 for Secret Service protection of major presidential contenders, as part of an over-all $8.1-billion appropriation for the Treasury and Post Office departments.

HOLIDAYS — Congress switched three of eight legal holidays to Mondays and created a ninth, Columbus Day, also to be celebrated Monday. (To be effective in 1971.)

CRIME — Congress approved a ban on mail order sales of hand guns, approved wiretapping under court supervision, approved provisions that would weaken Supreme Court rulings against use of confessions in court and authorized $400 million for two-year police improvement program.

CREDIT — Congress passed compromise truth-in-lending package containing administration-endorsed requirement that credit charges be stated in dollars and in annual interest rate. Bill also restricts garnishment of a worker's wages and gives federal authorities new powers against loan sharking.

LOAN — Congress approved a bill, similar to President's request, raising the government guaranty on veteran's home loans from $7,500 to $12,500 and lifting the 6 per cent interest ceiling on VA and FHA loans for a trial 18 months. The new ceiling is 6.75 per cent set by government.

RIGHTS — Congress approved President's request to ban discrimination in about 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970, coupled with antiriot provisions, stiff penalties for racial intimidation, and rights for Indians.

JURY — Johnson requested and received prohibition of discrimination on basis of race, color, sex or creed in selection of federal juries.

GOLD — Congress approved Johnson's request to remove the requirement that gold be held in reserve for 25 per cent of paper currency, freeing $10.4 billion in gold to meet foreign demands.

PAY — Congress approved Johnson's request for $2.7 billion, three-stage pay raise for government workers and similar increase for military personnel. First stage already in effect. Second to take effect July 1.

POVERTY — Two-year extension of war on poverty approved through fiscal 1969. Congress gave Johnson $1.77 billion of the $2.06 billion he asked for 1968 and authorized $2.1 billion he asked for 1969. Appropriation for 1969 not yet acted on.

* * *

SOCIAL SECURITY — President asked for a 15 per cent increase in benefits. Congress approved a 13 per cent increase now in effect.

SCHOOLS — President requested legislation authorizing a $5.5-billion extension of elementary and secondary school aid for fiscal year 1969. Congress authorized a $9.2-billion, two-year extension through fiscal 1970. Appropriations still to come.

VETERANS — Congress increased nonservice-connected pension rates and put service-connected compensation cases, for duration of Vietnam period, on wartime basis. Boosted school benefits.

DEBT—Congress raised $336-billion national debt limit to a permanent $358 billion July 1, 1967; to a temporary $365 billion July 1, 1968.

INVESTMENT CREDIT — Congress restored 7 per cent tax credit and fast depreciation write-off previously suspended.

TEACHERS — Congress extended the life of the Teacher Corps for another three years, but appropriated only $13.5 million of the $36 million Johnson asked for fiscal 1968. Recruitment shifted from Washington to localities and universities.

Commission Gives Final Approval to Zoning Map, Ordinance

City commissioners last night gave final approval to enactment of a new zoning map and ordinance for the city.

★ ★ ★

The action came after five public hearings on the ordinance and map, which incorporate the first major changes in the city's zonings since 1938.

★ ★ ★

At each of the hearings property owners were given an opportunity to object to specific proposed zonings.

★ ★ ★

Director of Planning James L. Bates said his staff has processed all complaint that previously arose.

RECOMMENDATION

Bates recommended that the commission adopt the new ordinance and map and that any requested changes in the zonings be received as new requests.

The new zonings, which affect about 5,000 properties to some degree, generally attempt to bring zonings in line with actual or anticipated development.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission:

● Urged voters to approve a special, one-mill tax levy for maintenance of county roads in the Aug. 6 primary election.

★ ★ ★

● Accepted the lowest of three bidders, Ward & Van Nuck, Inc., for construction of 100,000 square yards of seal coat or nonskid surface on city streets in the 1968 seal-coating program. The bid was $22,034, some $2,730 under the next lowest bidder.

★ ★ ★

● Accepted the lowest of five bidders, R. Elkins Excavating ad Demolition Co. ($18,341), for demolition of the city's former incinerator on East Boulevard and Featherstone, an old pump house adjacent to the Hayes Jones Community Center and an old boiler house in the public works complex on Wessen.

★ ★ ★

● Received for study a proposal by the Oakland County Road Commission inviting city participation (on a 50-50 basis) in a project to repave Voorheis from Telegraph to James K Boulevard.

● Accepted from the state seven scattered parcels which were reverted to the state because of nonpayment of taxes.

★ ★ ★

● Agreed to purchse for $1,100 land in the right of way of Crescent Drive for extension of Joslyn to University Drive.

★ ★ ★

● Approved construction, and authorized preparation of the assessment roll, for new pavement on Menominee, Genesee to Navajo; sanitary sewer on Dewey from Dearborn to West Kennett; curb, gutter and paving on Carlisle, Dearborn to West Kennett.

A Baleful Event

GLENDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Glendale rancher Ed McAllister told police he awoke to find one of his fields had been cut during the night. His large baler had been used to bundle the hay, which thieves then carted off.

Sale of $1 Million in Renewal Notes Set

The Bank of American National Trust and Savings Association yesterday was the lowest of five bidders on the sale of $1,015,000 in urban renewal preliminary loan notes, Director of Urban Renewal James L. Bates reported to city commissioners last night.

Bates said the firm has been informed of its successful bid.

★ ★ ★

Bank of American quoted an interest rate of 3.33 per cent on the notes.

The bid is slightly lower than the 3.38 per cent received six months ago on the project and substantially lower than the 3.99 per cent received for another urban renewal loan note sale seven months ago, Bates said.

★ ★ ★

Loan notes are used by the federal government to provide money to local agencies for use in urban renewal areas.

The next lowest bidder was Morgan Guarantee & Trust Co., Solaman Brothers and Hutzler, which quoted an interest rate of 3.52 per cent.

City Affairs

Bar-Licensing Proposal Near

City officials reported to the City Commission last night that a draft of a new ordinance governing bars in Pontiac will be ready for commission consideration next Tuesday.

The ordinance will spell out guidelines on how the city will move in upgrading the licenses of the city's existing tavern licenses, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said.

★ ★ ★

The commission recently agreed to allow, under special conditions, the licenses of taverns, which are allowed to sell only beer and wine on the premises, to full Class C status, which allows the sale of all spirits, whisky, gin, vodka, Scotch, etc.

Motion to Vary Site of Meetings Not Supported

A proposal to hold occasional City Commission meetings in locations throughout the city received hardly any support from city commissioners last night.

District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson proposed that the commission hold one meeting a month in various city districts in an effort "to get closer to the people."

★ ★ ★

He moved to do that, but his proposal did not receive a second and it died for lack of support.

Jackson said he thought the move would effect better communication.

Evangelista Torricelli, secretary of the Italian scientist Galileo, invented the barometer in 1643.

Underbrush, Junk Cars

Action Vowed on 2 Problems

City administrators indicated last night they will make recommendations in the near future on possible ordinances and actions to crack down on city junk dealers and areas where undergrowth has created a nuisance.

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. complained that there are several areas in his district where there are several years growth of underbrush.

★ ★ ★

He said these areas constitute dangerous places, especially for young women.

Fowler also said something must be done about nuisances created by junk dealers burning cars.

BURNING OF CARS

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said "the commission has to come to grips with the problem" of junk dealers burning cars.

He said the nuisance of burning cars is intolerable to residents adjoining the junk yards and the only way to eliminate it is to inform them that after a certain date their licenses to burn cars would no longer be effective.

★ ★ ★

He said there are two dealers in the city responsible for most of the nuisance. He said it was impractible for the city to construct any facility to burn cars because a modern facility meeting present-day standards would cost at least $250,000.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said "the problem can be solved if we get enough people interested in it" and called for meetings with car manufacturers to attempt to find solutions to the problem of disposing of junk cars.

Downtown Plan Told

The architect said there is a known, definite ready market for some of the planned buildings, a convalescent hospital, a senior citizens residential building and apartments.

★ ★ ★

The only buildings to which the developers must attract tenants are the three planned high-rise office buildings, he said.

POTENTIAL STUDIED

Skelton said the plan was produced after a complete evaluation of market potentials. The project, he said, is nonshopping in character with a strong emphasis on making jobs and tax-producing capabilities.

Each project function can be constructed separately and is planned to be self-sustaining, he said.

★ ★ ★

He said the planners took into account the problems of transportation and individual mobility as seen for the next 40 years.

★ ★ ★

Skelton said the plan had to be fitted into an area beset with certain physical problems rolling land with hardly 1,000 square feet level, a high-velocity ring road (Wide Track Drive), underground utility lines and the Clinton River.

★ ★ ★

He said the design took these problems into account: "The outcome is a system of vertical development with unlimited horizontal expansion capabilities."

He said the system, as such, in concentrated on a relatively small package of land (27 acres) and can bridge or absorb the manmade and natural barriers surrounding the urban renewal area.

★ ★ ★

Skelton said the plan represents the first major attempt in the U.S. to recentralize core city functions in a generally decentralizing community.

★ ★ ★

Davidson said that if the plan did not make use of high-rise buildings and were to be constructed on one level it would take nearly five times as much land to construct similar facilities.

DEVELOPMENT GENERATOR

The architect foresaw that, once completed, the project would generate such new development in the downtown area north of the urban renewal area and in surrounding areas.

State Auto Club Exec Blasts Indiana for Traffic Tie-Up

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan has sharply criticized Indiana highway authorities following a 17-mile July 4th holiday traffic jam along a feeder highway linking Indiana and Michigan freeway systems.

★ ★ ★

The eight-mile strip of Indiana 39 connects I-94, which ends at the Michigan border, to the Indiana Turnpike.

★ ★ ★

"We have deplored the dereliction of duty in Indiana's not meeting national concepts of a high-speed, interstate freeway for the past several years," said Fred Rehm in noting Indiana's failure to correct the long-standing bottleneck.

Indiana 39 has only one lane in each direction and a traffic signal about seven miles south of the border.

WIDENING PLANNED

Rehm said that the State of Indiana should not protect the Toll Road by refusing to enlarge the connecting highway. Michigan's freeway system is completely toll-free.

★ ★ ★

Martin Hayes, executive director of the Indiana Highway Department, said plans are under way to widen Indiana 39 to four lanes, and work is to begin this year.

Hayes said the widening has been delayed by some who thought the Indiana Turnpike would not pay for itself if the feeder highway were enlarged.

State Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Housing and Urban Development has awarded Michigan $72,700 under its urban information and technical assistance program. The program is to provide communities of 100,000 and under with information on urban needs and technical assistance for solving urban problems.

Funds for Facility

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has awarded Manistee an $81,000 grant to provide a major new boat-launching facility on the Manistee River. The city must provide an equal amount of money.

"Adventure in Art" on Trumbull Terrace, Meadow Brook Festival grounds, began Tuesday with Carolyn Hall of Birmingham (left) and Eleen Auvil of Romeo. Mrs. Hall brought some of her "fun" stitchery projects like grandma and the cat as well as more serious paintings. Mrs. Auvil showed samples of the weaving for which she is nationally famous. The first of Tuesday's thunderstorms cut her talk short.

Having lunch Tuesday at the familiar tables on Trumbull Terrace are two women from Oak Park, guests of Mrs. Gerald Freedman, Rusty Lane, Independence Township (right). From the left are Mrs. Martin Messer and Mrs. Irving Rosengard. Luncheon is served Tuesdays and Wednesdays at noon. The Scholar Shop is open those days from noon to 4 p.m.

Sky's the Limit for Area Woman in This Race

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Five female-piloted planes arrived Tuesday for a total of ten which have completed the 2,500-mile annual Powder Puff Derby cross country race.

★ ★ ★

Among these ten is Mrs. Charles H. (Margaret) Ashton of Beverly Hills. Money-winners will not be determined until after the extended deadline of noon today. Another 60 are expected in before then.

★ ★ ★

The original deadline of 8:34 p.m. Tuesday was extended when it became obvious rain and fog would prevent at least 40 per cent of the planes from meeting it, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

But fog and rain notwithstanding, several women did make it into the Savannah airport, including: Billie B. Stringer of Sulphur, La.; Sammy McKay of Grand Blanc, Mich.; Mrs. Shirley W. Niller and Elaine H. Smith, both of Stockton, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Others beating the deadline were: Madine Parsel of New Port Beach, Calif., and Virginia Coffee of Costa Mesa, Calif.; Paula Joyce Sox of Decatur, Ga., and Ester P. Wright, Thomasville, Ga.

Clarkstonite Caravan to Festival on Friday

Friday evening's concert at Meadow Brook Festival will be known to Clarkstonites as "Clarkston Night at Meadow Brook."

★ ★ ★

Clarkston residents will meet at the village parking lot at 6 p.m. to form a car caravan to the Festival grounds where picnic suppers on the grass are slated.

★ ★ ★

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Charles G. Robertson and Mrs. Bernard L. Toutant, both of that city.

Norell Designs for Fall Evenings Drenched in Rainbow of Stones

NEW YORK (AP) — Put your jewels back in the safe, girls. With Norman Norell's fall evening dresses, you won't need them.

AP Wirephoto

Norell, the dean of American designers, previewed his fall collection here Monday night for a black-tie audience which included singer Dinah Shore, Mrs. Charles Revson, wife of the cosmetic king — in a Norell, of course, and Diana Vreeland, editor of Vogue.

★ ★ ★

And even though most of his customers can afford plenty of gems of their own — his clothes run into four figures — Norell put plenty of substitute stones right on the dresses.

★ ★ ★

Red, blue, green and clear stones formed mock ribbons supporting Maltese crosses on simple, floor-length gowns of almost every color.

Similar rectangular gems looked like chain necklaces.

MORE GLITTER

For the woman who wanted even more glitter, there were sequins and rhinestones. Rhinestone buttons marched up and down the front, side or back of short black evening dresses.

★ ★ ★

Sequin bands outlined a simple black trench coat.

One model looked like a fairy princess shimmering in stardust as she swirled out in a shirtwaist-style, long gown of peach chiffon over silk covered with gold sequins and stars.

★ ★ ★

For the customer who prefers her own jewels, Norell showed simple black crepe evening dresses with midriff cutouts.

★ ★ ★

One cutout showed plenty of cleavage — in the back. Another left the whole midriff bare except for jail bar stripes of fabric keeping top and bottom together.

But the piece de resistance was a two piece capelet and skirt ensemble. The top ended just below the bust; the bottom began below the navel.

★ ★ ★

And just to show that he's not against non-Norell gems, the designer had his model wear a stone in her navel. Unfortunately, the jewel fell out.

No Sermons, Just Some Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been suffering from a muscle-deteriorating disease for the past 11 years. He is 42 and hasn't been able to walk for four years, so he's in a wheelchair.

I hold down a job and am trying to raise three children, in addition to being a nurse to my husband, which is not easy.

I am 40, attractive, and I miss dancing, swimming, and bowling, which I once loved. Would it be wrong for me to accept the occasional companionship of a man who can do all those things I love to do? I don't want to get emotionally involved with another man because I love my husband, but, Abby, I get so weary just sitting with him.

What do other wives of handicapped husbands do? I am a normal, healthy, energetic woman. Please don't give me a sermon about having taken this man "in sickness and in health." I know all that. What I need is some advice.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If you honestly don't want to become emotionally involved with another man, don't go swimming, dancing, or bowling with one. It may start out innocently enough, but it rarely ends up that way. You say you have missed a lot.

Well, your husband has also missed a lot. And that "sermon" you didn't want to hear about having taken your husband "in sickness and in health" would not be a bad one to review. What if the "shoe" were on YOUR foot, which wasn't going anywhere?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter announced her engagement a few months ago, and now there are indications that she is not quite so "sure" as she once was. The boy is pushing for an early wedding, and our daughter now says she wishes she could wait "a little while," but because she said they'd have "a summer wedding," she has to go through with it soon.

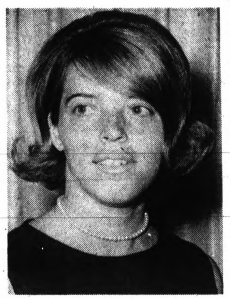

In our hearts we have never felt that this young man was "right" for our daughter, but when she told us she was going to marry him, we kept our opinions to ourselves, since her decision had already been made. Now we are sorry we weren't more honest with her in the beginning, and we don't know what to say or do.

Please answer this as soon as possible.

TROUBLED PARENTS

DEAR TROUBLED: Let your daughter know that you are with her all the way if she wants to "wait a while." Encourage her to wait until she is absolutely certain that he is the man with whom she wants to spend the rest of her life.

A broken engagement is relatively "painless" as compared with a broken marriage. If she doubts it, she can ask any divorcee.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: Two years ago I became involved with a married woman. (I'll call her June.) I was also married and I left my wife and children to live with June, who left her husband to live with me. I realized after three months that I had made a terrible mistake, so I went back to my wife who was big enough to forgive me and take me back.

Soon after I left June, she called me at work and told me she was having MY baby. (It could be.) I didn't have the heart to tell my wife about it, but I have been giving June money to keep her quiet, and to support the child. She keeps asking for more and I can't afford it.

I have been so nervous and preoccupied lately that my wife suspects something is wrong, but I've already hurt her so much that I can't tell her. What should I do?

IN DEEP

DEAR IN: First tell your wife. She shouldn't be shocked because she knew you left her to live with another woman. Get yourself a lawyer and let the law decide how much (if anything) this woman is entitled to. And pay up like a man.

Capes are current fashion news. Knit one.

Knit This Fall Cape

If you are keeping up with current fashion news, you know that capes are making a comeback. And if you knit, no one need tell you that capes are easier to make than most toppers.

Capes have made dramatic entrances in many fashion eras. During the days of Charles IX, capes of semicircular shapes were the most popular styles. Most often they had short sleeves trimmed with fur.

★ ★ ★

About the time of Louis XV, women wore dresses with bodices that formed a point in front. They were stiffened by whalebones and had sleeves with vertical pleats.

Then, in the mid 19th century, a sleeveless cape with arm slits became the favorite topper.

Its design, featuring a double-pointed collar and two rows of buttons, was influenced by styles worn by the Carbonari, a secret political society in Italy, France and Spain.

It's no secret now, however, that capes are setting a smart fashion pace. Their simple styling looks well with both sports and city wear.

SWARTOUT-THOMPSON

Rochester's St. John Fisher Chapel was the setting for Saturday vows exchanged by Joan Margaret Thompson and Richard Charles Swartout. Their parents are the Raymond B. Thompsons of Waumegan Road, Springfield Township, and the Bernard J. Swartouts of Jackson. The bride chose a short-sleeved A line gown of organza and Alencon lace. A petal headpiece held her short veil. She carried daisies. Donna Thompson, the bride's sister, and Thomas Korniski were honor attendants with Carolyn Cooper as bridesmaid and the groom's brothers, David and Stephen Swartout as ushers. bride's parents.

BRADFORD-MILLER

A reception Friday at the Slocum Street home of the Jerome A. Millers followed vows by their daughter, Patti Marie, and Pvt. Larry L. Bradford, USA. Honor attendants for the evening ceremony in University Presbyterian Church were Sheila Rose and the bridegroom's brother John, son of John Bradford of Willett Street and Mrs. Millie Bradford of Troy. Michael Miller and Jerry Bradford ushered. The bride complemented her traditional ensemble with a cathedral train of silk organza and Alencon lace trim. A cluster of roses, frosted with sequins and seed pearls, secured her veiling. She held white daisies with miniature pink roses. The newlyweds departed for Mackinac Island after the reception.

SHARRARD-BELL

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations and rosebuds, Lillian Louise Bell became the bride of Robert C. Sharrard Saturday in First Methodist Church, Royal Oak. She wore a silk organza gown trimmed at the neckline in seed pearls and sequins. Her illusion veil was capped with a crown of pearls. Mrs. Larry Hoy was matron of honor with Joanne Heitmeyer, Janet Anderson and Christine Bell as bridesmaids. Best man was Herbert Lee, with ushers Lewis Ward Jr., Grandt Taylor and Robin Sharrard. The daughter of Mrs. George C. Bell of Center Street and the late Mr. Bell and son of Mrs. Everett Sharrard of Royal Oak and the late Mr. Sharrard greeted guests in the church parlors following the evening rite.

GRAVES-PRIEST

Flight Capt. Robert Miles Graves, USN, and his bride (nee Brenda Gail Priest) will make their home near Cecil Field, Fla., while he completes his tour of duty. They spoke vows Friday evening in Faith Baptist Church of Waterford. The bride wore a traditional wedding gown fashioned from taffeta and Chantilly lace. To secure her veil she chose a lace petal headpiece with teardrop pearls and she held carnations with lily of the valley. Honor attendants were Sherry Moorhous and Virgie Dowell. Prior to their wedding trip departure for northern Michigan, they joined a bridal party of 10 for the receiving line at the Italian American Club. Their parents are Mrs. Virgie Dowell of Foley Street, John D. Priest of Arcadia Park Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves of Jones Road.

Go Ahead—Tense Up and Live

By BETTY CANARY

Inhabitants of video-land do have their problems, the same as all of us. Take that girl with the rope in her head. All she is looking for is peace and tranquility and a pill for untwisting the knot.

I keep thinking that it surely is a shame she hasn't been a regular viewer of Star Trek. I am, and after seeing one of their shows where the make-believe planet dwellers drifted about without tensions and with tranquility, well I concluded tension cannot be all bad.

And, what about that fearsome thing — frustration? Is it all bad? Is the man standing at the river's edge ever going to build a bridge if he doesn't experience frustration?

Now, girl with a rope in your head, you are wondering about heart attacks and mental breakdowns? Are you asking me, "Can't you see that tension and frustration can wreck my health? Shouldn't I look for a magic pill that will take me away from all that?

"Don't you see me on television? Do you want me to snap at my children and not smile when I feed my baby?"

Personally, I am not interested in having that rope replaced in my head with a piece of limp spaghetti. If I had the choice, I suppose I'd prefer being worried to bored to death. My children may not like my snapping at them but they will stop running through the house if I do. The very least they will know is that I AM alive and not dead.

Even the hippies have given up their search to escape the problems of living. I think the movement is finished because they discovered that being the Bland and the Inert was not happytime but blobbism.

Even doctors and psychiatrists are questioning the habit of dispensing tranquilizers wholesale to those who have had a member of the family die.

They are asking, "What is wrong with grieving?" The answer might be that there is something physically and mentally right about grieving. Perhaps it is better to try to live through problems and heartache instead of telling our brains to ignore it.

A BA degree in Psychology was awarded to Steven M. Daniels recently from Brown University, Providence, R.I. Steven, who is affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud E. Daniels of Perry Lake Road, Brandon Township.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Is it necessary to line and underline a summer cotton suit? I have been doing this to my suits since I have been reading your column and love the results. Yet for summer, I don't want a suit that is too hot for comfort. Please help us.

Mrs. C. B.

Dear Mrs. C. B.:

Once again may I repeat, it all depends on the weight of the fabric and the style of the garment. If you use a cotton tapestry, seersucker or linen, in other words, fabric that has a great deal of firmness and body, it will not be necessary to underline the garment fabric.

As to lining, this is optional. If you do line a summer suit, use a lawn, voile, printed or solid color, or one of the batiste cotton prints. If the garment is going to be washed, be sure to check that all fabrics and interfacings have been preshrunk. It is usually best to use interfacing for the front sections as well as the collar to retain shape.

★ ★ ★

If you aren't lining your suit, you should finish the seams. You may turn under the edge of the seam and machine stitch them close to the fold, or bind them in a cotton bias binding. Armholes are best if trimmed fairly close and then bound.

Mrs. L. G. says:

"In the summer your nerves can be worn to a frazzle by having to replace a constant barrage of zippers in shorts, slacks and skirts. This is because children simply won't take the time to put their clothes on and take them off with care. Sew a double fold of fabric, or a double strip of hem tape across the lower end of the zipper (wrong side) just about 1 inch above the end of the slide. The zipper won't slip down farther than the tab, and it prevents stretching and tearing at the end!"

SWIM SUITS

Dear Eunice Farmer:

Is it possible to make our own swimming suits? So many of the suits today are made of cotton anyway. Please give us some hints. A group of my friends want to make them because our parents won't give us so much money for the few inches of material you get in a ready-made suit.

Miss P. K.

Dear Miss P. K.:

Yes, I say this every year, I'm sure you can make your own bathing suits. I have seen some darling ones with the matching jackets made by high school girls. In fact, you can copy some of them for less than $5, where the ready-made ones would cost over $30 for the ensemble.

Usually the fabric is used double, especially for the bra part. It often works out well to actually sew the front part of an old bra right into your suit. It will become easier to get a good fit. Remember to finish all the seams well. Usually this is done in a French seam that won't come apart easily.

Instead of making the jersey pants the patterns suggest, just tack a pair of cotton panties in your suit that you can buy. Depending on how brief the suit is, you may want to reinforce the jersey panties in the back and undersection.

Use a heavy-duty zipper for the closing. There is usually so much strain and pull on a zipper. Also, be sure to use an extension under the zipper and apply the large grippers to this extension. You can find these used on your ready-made swim suits. When you close the grippers first, there is less strain on the zipper.

★ ★ ★

If you have just begun to read my column, you'll find my booklet "Twenty Most Frequently Asked Questions" a great help. To obtain this booklet send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Choose Colors to Flatter Self

How do you choose the color of your clothes? To follow the fashion trends too closely is not always wise. A color that's right for someone else may not be right for you.

Choose shades that are most becoming to your own hair and complexion. Test your color-type by tucking fabrics of assorted hues under your chin (in the daylight). Stay with the ones that are most flattering.

Press-Sponsored Pupils End Study

Five area students, sponsored by The Pontiac Press, have recently completed two weeks of advanced study in the High School Communication Arts Institute at Michigan State University.

Rob Clancy of Cameron Street, a student at Pontiac Northern High School; Purvis Hunt of Lorraine Court, a student at Pontiac Central High School; and Janice Crisp of Cass Lake Road, a student at Waterford Township High School; studied journalism.

Other journalism students included Donna Furlong, a student at Waterford-Kettering High School and Georgia Rosewall, a student at Waterford-Mott High School, both of Waterford Township.

A total of 127 students from Michigan, 10 other states and Ontario, Canada participated in the first of two sessions.

Mary Jane Hoisington recently received her BA degree in Music from Alma College. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Hoisington of Giddings Road, she specialized on the pipe organ.

Warm Frosting to Unwrap Cake

When you bring home a cake from the store or bakery and find that the icing wants to stick to the wrapping, wring out a cloth dipped in hot water and place it lightly over the wrapped cake, leaving it there for about two minutes.

The heat from the cloth melts the frosting just enough to allow you to remove the covering without disturbing the frosting.

Don't Delay

An expert advises prompt sponge-off of high acid foods — such as mustard, catsup, salad dressing and tomato sauce — which might cause permanent stains if allowed to penetrate the surface.

Waterford Area Group Works to Foster Racial Harmony

By JOE CRAWFORD

A group of Waterford Township area residents, concerned about their community's apparent inability to attract Negroes as residents, have organized as the Waterford Area Human Relations Assembly (WAHRA) and have embarked on an extensive program designed to foster a more receptive racial climate in the Waterford area.

Formed about three months ago, the assembly has grown from a small nucleus to its present strength of about 100 active members.

* * *

By far the majority are home owners in Waterford Township, but most surrounding communities are also represented.

Their common intent is to work to promote knowledge and understanding of the issues involved in human relations and to overcome the fear and confusion accompanying those issues.

NOTES PAST EFFORTS

Donald Arsen, chairman of the assembly, said that in the past, efforts have been made by individuals but that no structure has been available to which they could turn for assistance and support.

A number of Waterford residents, he noted, have been active in human relations groups in Pontiac and in other communities in the Detroit area.

* * *

It is also hoped, he said, that the existence of a local group will encourage residents to take an interest in racial attitudes in Waterford and in the problems such attitudes present for Negroes seeking to live or work in the community.

"The good people here haven't spoken up," he said. "We hope we can spur them to step forward."

OPEN TO INTEGRATION

"Our goal is not so much to integrate Waterford as to make Waterford open to integration," said Don Youmans, the group's vice chairman.

"Negroes perceive us as being unreceptive. They think Waterford is a good place to go through but not one to live in," Youmans said.

* * *

The two pointed to the Waterford Township Board's recent refusal to endorse a resolution supporting fair housing as indicative of the type of attitude the WAHRA is attempting to combat.

* * *

Youmans said the resolution, proposed by the Waterford Education Association, would have amounted to a vote of sympathy for the principle of fair housing, an indication of welcomeness.

'AN OPPORTUNITY'

"This was an opportunity for the Waterford Township Board to show leadership to the community in this whole area as the board of education had done," Arsen said.

A changing of attitudes in suburbia, Youmans said, is essential to the resolution of the racial problems in the nation's urban centers.

* * *

"There is a vicious cycle of discrimination that begets reaction and further discrimination. We're just seeing the beginning of this problem if the cycle isn't broken."

A major first step is to let the Negro community know that it is welcome here, Youmans said.

'WOULD FAIL NOW'

He predicted that any open housing referendum in the township now would fail by a wide margin.

The assembly is governed by an 11-member board of directors, representing a broad range of income levels and occupational backgrounds. Included in the 11 are two housewives, four educators, three factory workers, a minister and an industrialist.

* * *

The board intends that the work of the assembly will be done primarily through small committees. Six such committees so far have been established and are now defining goals and studying ways to implement them.

The housing committee, for example, is seeking to find housing for black people who want to move to the Waterford area. It is working with area real estate agents in this effort.

BUSINESS SURVEY

A committee on employment is surveying local businesses to seek out employers who will hire Negroes. An education committee is working on the development of some type of human relations education program for the community.

* * *

The thinking of the assembly, said Arsen, is that the Waterford area is a fine community in which to live and that it is deserving of the best efforts of all of its residents to improve it.

* * *

"We believe," he said, "that we can contribute toward the betterment of Waterford by working to promote understanding among the people who live here and good will and openness toward people who do not."

Human Relations Committee

WEA Forming Liaison Group

James Matteson, president of the Waterford Education Association (WEA), said earlier this week that the association is now in the process of forming a human relations committee to work within the WEA and to work in coordination with the Waterford Area Human Relations Assembly.

The committee, Matteson said, will be the instrument through which the WEA will endeavor to promote racial understanding and tolerance in the community.

The WEA last month succeeded in drawing from the Waterford Township Board of Education a resolution committing the board to positive efforts to enlist nonwhites to teach in the school system.

It failed, however, in an attempt to extract from the Waterford Township Board a similar pledge. The Township Board, at its June 24 meeting, tabled indefinitely the WEA's proposal that it adopt an open-housing ordinance for the township.

'TEMPORARY SETBACK'

Matteson termed the Township Board's action "a temporary setback."

He said that further efforts wil be made later this year, through the WEA human relations committee, to draw some kind of welcoming gesture from the board.

* * *

Members of the Township Board have expressed a reluctance to act on the matter, saying instead that the issue should be put before the people in general referendum if it is to be acted upon at all.

"We're just seven people," said Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson. "I don't see how seven people should speak for 62,000 township residents on an issue like this."

* * *

"We don't want to legislate anyone's thought on this," said Arthur J. Salley, township clerk. "Any worthwhile program of this sort must not be legislated," said Salley, "but must be a product of the feeling of the whole group."

Township Trustee Robert E. Richmond also spoke in favor of putting the issue before the people in lieu of board action.

Fire Towers Put on Block Again by State

LANSING (UPI) — Want to buy a fire tower?

The conservation department is holding a bid sale July 26 for 31 towers in northern Michigan.

* * *

Minimum bid is $100 and bid forms are available from the administration department here.

Once a key factor in forest fire detection, the fire tower has been relegated to a minor role by the airplane. Sixteen planes now cover the state on forest fire patrol and, except for a few remote points where air patrol is impractical, the tower has become obsolete.

* * *

Fire towers have been on sale in Michigan since their phase-out began three years ago. Buyers have included other states' fire control units, and individual and organizations who use them as science lookouts.

Harlem Youth Force Helps Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Winston Williams conceived the idea. Watching the teen-agers in his East Harlem precinct, he thought why not enlist them as allies, why not employ their energies to aid firemen and police?

This week the 46-year-old patrolman saw his dream come true as 40 boys and girls started to work in a program designed to improve relations between the community and police and firemen.

* * *

Williams, a 16-year veteran at the East 104th Street station house, said he was confident the program "would help educate the public to the services provided by the police, fire and various narcotic control units."

The youths go to work at a time when firemen in particular have been voicing concern about brick-and-bottle attacks when they respond to alarms in slum communities.

STRONG BUCKING

Williams' idea came to fruition with the backing of the Hell Gate subcommittee of the Massive Economic Neighborhood Development program and the Neighbood Youth Corps.

The East Harlem community is predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican, and about half the youngsters recruited speak Spanish as well as English.

* * *

After selection the youths underwent a five-day orientation course. They learned how to inform residents about fire prevention measures, how to obtain legal aid and how to get help for a narcotics addict.

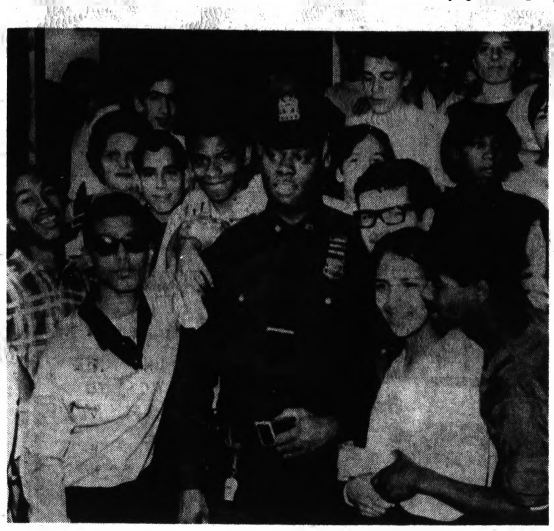

Sandra Samaniego, a 20-year-old Hunter College student who will help supervise the youths, called the group a "referral agency to direct people who need help to the right place."

REPORT TO POLICE

The youths will also report to the police on crimes, abandoned cars, open fire hydrants and other community problems.

* * *

Each youngster will be paid $1.50 an hour for 30 hours of work each week.

Memorial Services for Pulitzer Winner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memorial services were planned at Washington's National Cathedral for Dr. Leo Sowerby, 73, a Grand Rapids native who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1946 for his church and organ music. He died Sunday at Put-in-Bay, Ohio.

Dr. Sowerby left Grand Rapids at the age of 14 to study music in Chicago and later joined the American Conservatory of Music, where he was on the staff 38 years.

* * *

He also was choirmaster at St. James Episcopal Church 35 years and was director of music at the National Cathedral at the time of his death.

Dr. Sowerby was the first recipient of the Rome Prize in Music of the American Academy in Rome in 1921 and received doctorates from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., and from the American Conservatory in Chicago.

Detroit Pushes Income Tax Up to 2 Pct.

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit residents will have to pay a 2 per cent income tax beginning Oct. 1—double the rate of any city in Michigan.

By a 5-1 vote Tuesday, the Detroit Common Council approved the doubling of the 1 per cent income tax for city residents. Nonresidents working in the city will continue to pay ½ per cent.

* * *

The action follows special action by the Michigan Legislature earlier this year allowing Detroit to become the only city in the state levying a 2 per cent tax on its residents.

* * *

Despite the doubled tax, Councilman Ed Carey, president of the legislative body, predicted the city still would have a deficit of about $10 million in the current fiscal year which began July 1.

* * *

One councilman, Mel Ravitz, was absent for the vote with the lone dissenter being Councilwoman Mary Beck who continued her opposition to higher taxes, calling instead for cuts in spending by the city.

Seaway Strike in Stalemate

OTTAWA (UPI) — The St. Lawrence Seaway strike continued in stalemate today. After 20 days neither side apparently was prepared to make the move that would reopen the inland waterway.

Both the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers and the Seaway Authority said to was up to the other side to react. A spokesman for the federal Department of Labor said it too, was waiting "until the moment seems right.

* * *

"We are ready to convene a meeting as soon as it looks like the matter can be cleared up" the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, Union President W. J. Smith said the workers were willing to wait it out.

SITTING STILL

"We will just sit still. We say we have made a compromise where the authority has not," he said. Smith said the brotherhood was preparing strike pay "to help out those who really neeed it" although "We don't have the kind of money to pay everybody."

A Seaway Authority source said management was "waiting to see what the reaction to last Friday's meeting is." Both sides met July 5 for two and a half hours and issued a statement saying the positions had been clarified.

* * *

Losses mounted to more than $2 million in tolls and another $9 million in costs to seaway shipping interests. The strike costs an estimated $94,000 a day in tolls. Workers have lost more than $340,000 in wages.

NO LONGER MISSING—Mr. and Mrs. James Cooney stand at the bedside of their daughter, Karen, 16, after she was found in dense brush a mile and a half from her home near Corry, Pa., yesterday. She had disappeared from the home Monday. Her mother reported hearing a scream and finding the girl gone. Karen was plucked from the brush by a helicopter pilot, ending a 27-hour search by law authorities and volunteers. One source reported she "just decided to go for a walk."

Designer for U.S. N-Missile Sues to Block July Tests of It

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A design engineer for the Poseidon nuclear missile, which will be able to fire hydrogen bombs like shotgun pellets, has filed suit in federal court to block tests of the missile later this month.

Harry L. Forster says he believes the Poseidon could malfunction and lead to "the annihilation of the American population."

* * *

Lockheed Missiles and Space Co., developer of the Poseidon, says no.

Forster, 57, of San Jose filed the suit in federal court yesterday. He said his complaints about the safety of the Poseidon had led to his firing May 28 by Lockheed. He had been a research specialist and a senior design engineer.

POSEIDON'S PREDECESSOR

Lockheed said the missile was developed by the same engineers who turned out the Polaris, the company said in a statement, "in over 150 firings from land, ship and submarine, has proved to be extremely accurate."

The Poseidon is designed for launching from a submerged submarine. When aloft, it can shoot out H-bombs like shotgun pellets, each aimed at individual cities to outmaneuver enemy antimissiles.

* * *

Forster claimed that test malfunctioning at Cape Kennedy, Fla., later this month would result in the loss of one to six Poseidons at a cost of $12 million each. He said this would cause "needless and intolerable injury and danger to the United States and its citizens and taxpayers."

Forster said if it became necessary to use the Poseidon in battle, the missile would hit its target "and reasonably risk destruction of American and allied noncombatant populaces, places and states."

* * *

A further result, he said, would be "the annihilation of the American population, cities and states by reason of the unopposed firing of enemy missiles which are designed in good workmanship-like fashion and which will hit the targets selected by the enemy."

Named as defendants in the lawsuit were Lockheed and Defense Secretary Clark Clifford. Forster's attorney, George T. Davis, suggested that hearings in the case be closed so that top-secret information involved would be protected.

Army to Pay in Sheep Deaths

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Army Claims Service has approved a claim of $376,685 in the deaths of 6,300 sheep last March in Utah's Skull Valley, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said Tuesday.

The sheep were killed following nerve gas tests at the Army's Dugway Proving Ground.

Bennett said the claim was submitted on behalf of Anschutz Land and Livestock Co. which manages the Hatch Ranch. Owner of the company is Fred Anschutz of Denver.

The ranch reported the loss of 5,727 ranch ewes, 142 purebred suffolk ewes and 380 bucks.

CLAIMS FILED

The claim approved by the Army has been sent to the secretary of the Army for confirmation, Bennett said.

He said the claim "is only to cover the loss for dead and disabled sheep. A second claim will be filed after the extent of secondary damages has been determined."

In addition to the sheep killed on the 50,000-acre Hatch Ranch, several sheep in Rush Valley, east of Skull Valley and the testing area, were affected, and Indians on the Skull Valley Indian Reservation lost about a dozen sheep.

* * *

The Army's nerve gas test was conducted March 13, and the sheep began dying March 14. Army officials originally denied conducting the tests. About a week after the sheep had been stricken, the Army admitted it had made the tests.

* * *

Various investigatory agencies have said there was no danger to humans.

Lost Boys Found on Drummond Isle

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)— An intensive search by State Police, sheriff's deputies and Coast Guard units on Drummond Island Tuesday night turned up two 14-year-old boys who had been missing since Monday night.

* * *

William Aberg and Mike Tanner were reported missing by the father of one of the boys after a storm. A search began at noon Tuesday. The pair was spotted in a cove on the island after their 19-foot boat had been swamped with water.

They were reported in good condition.

Coed Killing Link Eyed in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Police sought Tuesday to determine if there was any connection between the slaying of an Eastern Michigan University coed, whose body was found last Friday, and earlier slayings of two girls in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Senior Capt. Harold Olson of the Ann Arbor Police Department said there were similarities in the deaths of Jean Schell of Plymouth and of Valerie Percy, daughter of U.S. Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, and the death of Christine Rothchild, a University of Wisconsin coed.

* * *

Miss Percy was found stabbed to death in her family's home in the Chicago suburb of Kenilworth Sept. 18, 1966. The body of the Rothchild girl was found behind some bushes on the Wisconsin campus last May 26.

Olson said indications were that a weapon about the size of a hunting knife was used in each case.

CONFERRED BY PHONE

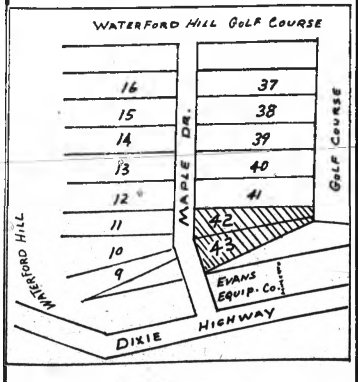

Olson said he conferred by phone with University of Wisconsin Police Chief Ralph Hanson and also had been in touch with Illinois State Police. He declined further comment on his conversations with other police.

The Schell girl, a student at Eastern Michigan, was last seen alive by her roommate on June 30 when the Schell girl set out to hitchhike from Ypsilanti, home of EMU, to Ann Arbor.

Capt. Olson said the girl apparently got into a 1966 or 1967 red Pontiac with a black top and was not seen again until her body was found by some workmen.

July is a bad time of year to buy a suit at regular prices.

Come to Osmun's great storewide summer clearance sale.

July is when Osmun's stages a spectacular clearance sale. We do it, really, to clear the place out . . . to make room for the new merchandise we'll be showing for Autumn. So suits and sport coats and topcoats and shoes and zip jackets and slacks and you-name-its are going for much lower prices than you'd pay at other times. (You-name-its with names like: Eagle, Petrocelli, Ronald Bascombe, Ambassador, Phoenix, Martinelli, French Shriner, Crosby Square, M'sieur, Esquire, Fashion Park, etc.) And everything that's now sale-priced at Osmun's previously was regular-priced at Osmun's. It's all merchandise right off our racks. And it's all right on our racks now. Specially tagged. With savings, in some cases, up to 45 per cent. So come and look. The sale goes on all of July. But don't wait too long. An Osmun's sale is a bad time of year to wait too long.

Case, Postponed 23 Times in Year, Finally Dropped

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A charge of failing to move for a police officer has been dropped after the case was continued 23 times since last July 15.

★ ★ ★

Judge Arthur J. Sullivan discontinued the charge in District Court Tuesday "because it was on too long and because they weren't moving either way on it."

★ ★ ★

The charge and a count of assaulting a police officer had been levied against Lou Waronker, 26, who was arrested at last year's Newport Festival. Waronker had been held for a grand jury on the second charge.

Confiscated Arms Dumped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than $100,000 worth of weapons used in slayings and armed robberies now rest under 100 fathoms of water.

★ ★ ★

The pistols, rifles, shotguns, knives, sabers, daggers, brass knuckles and ammunition confiscated by police over the past year were loaded aboard a tug Tuesday and dumped several miles out in the Catalina Channel.

★ ★ ★

The law requires that the weapons be disposed of early in July each year. This year's haul included 1,811 handguns and 455 rifles.

FHA Promises City Rent Aid

Supplements Planned for W. Kennett Units

The Federal Housing Administration has reserved $252,773 in funds for eventual rent supplement payments on a planned 325 units of housing on W. Kennett near Cloverlawn, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today.

The move, in effect, guarantees further federal participation in a rent supplement housing project being developed by housing developer Charles L. Langs.

★ ★ ★

The government last year guaranteed funds for rent supplement payments on 200 units now being constructed by Langs.

The additional amount practically ensures construction of another 325 units, bringing the total to be constructed up to 525.

★ ★ ★

Under the rent supplement plan, the government guarantees the developer a standard rental rate, according to a complicated formula, for each of the units.

The government pays the difference between what the tenant can pay in rental charges — up to 25 per cent of his income — and the standard rate.

Beer Trucks Rolling Again as Strike Ends

The beer trucks are rolling into Oakland County again today following a 10-day strike which threatened to cut off supplies.

★ ★ ★

Ratification of the contract was reached yesterday by Local 38 of the Brewery Workers Union whose drivers serve the Oakland County Beer Distributors Association. The men were reported back on the job today.

★ ★ ★

The strike was called July 1 in a dispute which reportedly involved pay and working hours. Settlement was reached in a contract which reportedly gave the drivers about 90 cents increase in wages and fringe benefits in a three-year pact.

★ ★ ★

The strike would have affected all but about 5 per cent of the county beer supplies which, according to estimates would have been depleted in area warehouses within a few days.

Surviving are his wife, Georgia; three sons, Alexander, Nicholas and Kiki, all of Pontiac; a daughter, Mrs. Frances Kentos of Northville; three grandchildren; two brothers; and two sisters.

An active leader in the American Hellenic community, Sekles of 185 Ottawa organized the Pontiac chapter of Ahepa and other chapters in the Midwest. He has held numerous offices in the national organization including chairman of the board of trustees.

ADVISER OF PRESIDENTS

He has advised presidents since Woodrow Wilson on Greek-American problems and has been active in the People to People program since first appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

On the High Council of the Greek Orthodox Church of America, Sekles was a founder of St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Pontiac.

He was knighted by the King of Greece in 1966 and has been decorated by Greek Orthodox patriarchs.

In 1965 he was chairman of the Ahepa convention congress in Athens which drew some 15,000 members—the largest airlift of convention delegates in history.

★ ★ ★

A retired restaurateur, Sekles was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the YMCA and the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

Memorials may be made to St. George Greek Orthodox Church building fund.

Another Union OKs Detroit Paper Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Another striking union involved in the 237-day-old Detroit Newspaper strike has ratified an economic package calling for a wage hike of $33 spread over 34½ months.

The photoengravers union was the latest organization to ratify a tentative contract agreement with the morning Free Press and evening News, local President Norman Park announced last night.

Other unions which have ratified the agreement are the Paper and Plate Handlers Union and the Stereotypers. Other unions, including the International Typographical Union, the American Newspaper Guild and mailers, have yet to ratify the proposal.

A Good Jazz Band Is All You Really Need

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwort

'. . . Catch A Lot Of Hot Spots, See A Lot Of Big Shots, Down On Bourbon Street'

Soul Music . . . In Low Register

A Solid Second Line

By DICK SAUNDERS

"Give that gal a good jazz band and, boy, that's all she needs . . .

Those words were written long ago in a song about a comely young lady who, clothed in little more than a smile, danced for stranded sailors on some remote South Sea isle.

In a way it applies to the audience that came to hear the musicians pictured on this page. Given a good jazz band, a pleasant summer evening and Oakland University's Howard C. Baldwin Pavilion, that is all one really needs.

The concert by the Preservation Hall Jazz Band was one of this season's early events at Meadow Brook, a name which has become synonymous with fine music. It even made a traditional jazz buff out of OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner.

HERE THEY ARE

Pictured here are the six musicians who brought jazz to the pavilion for the first time. They are DeDe Pierce, trumpet; his wife, Billie, piano; Jim Robinson, trombone; Willie Humphrey, clarinet; Josiah "Cie" Frazier, drums; and Allan Jaffe, tuba.

Offering some free professional counseling for the group was Birmingham attorney Carl F. Ingraham, who "sat-in" on the final set behind the piano. The event was the first night of last month's Meadow Brook Fair.

The two hours of authentic traditional jazz by this group of veteran New Orleans musicians was so well-received by the public that sponsors of the fair plan to make it an annual affair.

It was a touching experience to watch Billie Pierce lead her husband to his seat at center stage, then move to the piano for a blues duet to open festivities. DeDe Pierce is blind. But he sees with his soul, just as he speaks with his soul through a golden trumpet.

Some of the pictures on this page are captioned with lines from tunes played that night; others are not. For some, the photographs will serve to remind them of a memorable occasion. For others, they may serve to impart some of the excitement of a rich and rewarding night at Meadow Brook.

Foe of Noise Blasts It as Decivilizing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Suppose it could be proved that noise — everything from "that oozy sound known as background music" to sonic booms — does no damage to health.

W. H. Ferry of the fund for the republic, Santa Barbara, Calif., would still be against it "because it is" decivilizing." Ferry spoke at a recent conference here on noise as a public health hazard.

★ ★ ★

Many other participants, in the two-day meeting discussed such things as the physiological, psychological, and economic harm caused by noise.

Ferry applauded them but said:

"I believe that the case against noise must be made on the basis of civilized standards as much as on the basis of public health or economy.

ASSAILS QUIET

"If research, for example, should definitely establish that no human or material harm was being done by the sonic boom, I would recommend a gigantic increase in the campaign against it . . . no self-respecting civilization ought to have to accommodate itself to such an annoyance.

"We should not have to produce irrefutable evidence that our health is being impaired before action can be taken against the more and more numerous assailants of quiet.

★ ★ ★

"Economic benefits should not be conclusive in any argument between noisemakers and people. Civilized life means amenities, among which quiet and privacy rank high; and I look on civilized life as one of the principal goals of all activity here below."

Ferry said that "assuring domestic tranquility" has turned out to be "the hardest assignment laid on us by the preamble of the Constitution."

'DINFUL NATION'

"We are even more a dinful than a sinful nation," he said, "for while we will not tolerate marijuana, the sputtering motor bike on Sunday afternoon and the loudly grinding garbage masticator at 6 a.m. Tuesday are accepted as part of the American way."

Ferry blamed "unwanted sound" on what he called "a galloping technology that threatens every part of civilized life." He proposed heavy penalities for makers of unnecessary noise—a $500 fine, for example, for "anyone playing a transistor radio in public."

★ ★ ★

As for the sonic boom and the supersonic transport (SST) —

"The best way of eliminating the threat of the sonic boom for once and all in this country," Ferry said, "would be to have supersonic military planes fly across this capital city for two or three days and nights — when Congress is in session.

"I am confident that the great SST debate would come to an abrupt and decisive halt."

Lions Roam Free Through German Park

TUEDDERN, Germany (UPI) — They won't eat pork, sighed Richard Schmidt. "My 28 lions only want the more expensive beef and veal, and sometimes horse meat."

Schmidt's lions run wild, within limits, on his 74-acre Safari Park, first of its kind in Germany.

★ ★ ★

Schmidt, 42, and his partner, Gottlieb Loeffelhardt, 34, opened the park in June, offering it as a land of adventure to families who can't afford to take their children to Africa.

The adventure consists of driving through the park slowly in the family car, with the windows closed tight despite current 96-degree noontime weather, so none of the lions can stick their paws in.

★ ★ ★

To insure that visitors do keep the windows up and remain in their cars, Schmidt dressed a store-window mannequin in a man's suit, threw it to the big cats and distributed detailed pictures of what happened.

The resulting rush of visitors is enabling Schmidt to finance the 700 pounds a day of horse meat and expensive beef and veal.

Rent-a-Kid Teaches Responsibility to Disadvantaged

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An imaginative project, Rent-A-Kid, is providing underprivileged boys and girls in Atlanta's West End with their first experience in job responsibility.

★ ★ ★

They have performed such jobs as painting to shelling butter beans for home canning.

The operation began a month ago as the brainchild of Joy Cochrane of the West End Neighborhood Service Center.

★ ★ ★

The purpose is to provide youngsters, aged 14 to 18, who have little or no parental supervision, the opportunity to earn money for food and clothes.

★ ★ ★

The project, originally offered in half-jest, has been so well received by the community that a second office has been opened.

★ ★ ★

Plans are being made to open several more and to keep them open during the school year on weekends. Rent-A-Kid was offered a booth in one of the city shopping centers to provide its customers with assistance.

★ ★ ★

Father Edward J. Dillon, Roman Catholic priest and co-director of Rent-A-Kid, said most of the youngsters participating in the project—many are dropouts—already have begun to fend for themselves.

By providing them with the chance to earn money of their own, they might be stimulated to stay in school and become self-supporting citizens, he said.

DOMINATE JOBS

General household chores have dominated the jobs accepted, but no reasonable job is turned down.

The office director, Douglas Lavender, decides the fee charged for a job and whether it is dangerous or too large for Rent-A-Kid to handle.

★ ★ ★

JOSEPH KATZ

BOYLE

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Kids today sometimes feel they are born a generation too late, but that's not so," said Joseph Katz, founder of a unique business empire.

"Without question, opportunities are greater today than ever, despite taxes and everything else. If I knew what I know now and could start over again, I could lick the world."

Who is Joseph Katz? Well, he is a businessman smart enough to figure out a way to let Santa Claus make him a multimillionaire.

At 55 Joe is the king of the nation's gift-wrapping industry. It is Santa, of course, who sends you your Christmas presents—but the chances are that Santa bought the fancy paper and bright ribbons to wrap and tie them with from Joe.

Katz is board chairman and president of the Papercraft Corp. which expects to do about $50 million this year. His firm has 2,000 employes, plants in seven states, half a dozen subsidiaries.

"We sell more Christmas-oriented products than any other company in the world," he said. "It's more than half of our business."

★ ★ ★

An unusual success story lies behind Katz's discovery of the windfall plenty that goes with being a silent partner with Santa Claus.

Oldest of six children of a Russian immigrant, Joe started his career at the age of 10 selling magazine subscriptions in Pittsburgh. In his teens he was making up to $100 a week selling corn fritters.

BIG IDEA

He worked his way through three years of college by the earnings from a job printing press set up in his garage. After a brief fling at newspaper reporting, Joe entered the paper business with a capital of $1,000. His big idea came to him in 1937 when he and his wife, Agnes, were opening their wedding presents.

"The wrappings seemed to me to be poor and unattractive," he recalled. "The thought came to me that packages could be made to look better—and that I could do something about it."

★ ★ ★

By the end of the second World War, after endless experimenting, Joe's packaging ideas reached the bonanza stage. Today his products are sold in nearly 250,000 outlets.

How does he explain his success?

★ ★ ★

"It depends on what you mean by success," he said. "I think that success in life requires a good balance between living well and working hard.

OPEN MIND NEEDED

"Business success requires timing, concentration, and luck. Luck, I think, is merely the opportunity to do something. But you also have to keep an open mind. A closed mind is blind to opportunities because it can't see them.

★ ★ ★

"You also need to have the ability to take bad news in stride, and never be too surprised by it. Bad news is as much a part of life as good news. I feel that what defeats most people in this world is their inability to handle adversity when it comes."

Katz also believes that a life totally dedicated to business is only half a life. He has made 54 trips to Europe, collects modern art, is active in philanthropy.

"Everything I do is my hobby," he said. "Life should be enjoyable, and enthusiasm is what makes it enjoyable. You must have an eagerness to know, and this should be everlasting. I'm interested in everything.

"An old adage sums up my philosophy pretty well:

"'When you're green you grow, and when you're ripe you're rotten.'"

Frisco Theater Group a Big Hit in LA

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — What makes one community theater thrive while others fail? The ingredients for success are being demonstrated in Hollywood these weeks as the American Conservatory Theater offers two plays at the Huntington Hartford Theater.

THOMAS

The San Francisco-based repertory company is making its first full-scale invasion of southern California, and audiences have been cheering the offerings of Moliere's "Tartuffe" and Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood."

The reception echoes the sentiments of critics. The conveniently initialed A.C.T. has been called "The most prolific and probably the most exciting repertory company in the U.S." by Newsweek. Walter Kerr of the New York Times has commented, "It's just possible that the A.C.T. may revolutionize American theater practice." Cecil Smith of the Los Angeles Times called the original premiere of the company's "Tartuffe" "the most exciting evening I ever spent in the theater."

WHY SO GOOD?

Why is the A.C.T. so good? The question was put to red-bearded William Bushnell, the general manager.

"One reason is the talent of Bill Ball," he replied, referring to the director whose unorthodox staging has brought new vitality to standard plays. "a second factor is the quality of the acting company; actors want to work with Bill. Now that we're a going concern, the concept of training new performers is paying dividends in ensemble playing.

★ ★ ★

"Another factor in our favor is the relative youth of the company. The average performer is around 28 or 29 and the staff members are mostly about 32. So the usual generation gap between those who run things and those who do things is avoided."

The A.C.T. had its beginnings in Pittsburgh in 1965. "But the theater and the community didn't mesh," said Bushnell, and the company moved on to the University of Michigan, Westport, Conn., and Stanford University before finding a home in San Francisco in 1967.

HAPPY COINCIDENCE

"It was a happy coincidence: San Francisco happened to be without a theater and we were without a city," said Bushnell.

The company took over the Geary Theater (1,450 seats) and the Marines Memorial (640) and began a dizzying schedule of opening new plays. This year the A.C.T. expects to play before upwards of 450,000, sending touring companies on 70 one-night stands as distant as Pullman, Wash. An important adjunct is the conservatory, which this summer is running an academy for 225 students.

★ ★ ★

Year-round, the conservatory offers training to actors in everything from juggling to African dancing. A key part of the training is the Alexander Method, which Bushnell described as a way to harness nervous tension for use in a performance.

With all its success, you might expect the A.C.T. to pay its own way. Not a chance, said Bushnell, explaining:

"I know of no cultural institution that supports itself from earned income, whether it's a public library or the Metropolitan Opera. We have the advantage of a $300,000 grant from the Ford Foundation, which was matched by $300,000 from the California Theater Foundation, supported by the Chamber of Commerce and civic leaders.

★ ★ ★

"Later we may become more self-supporting. But it takes time to sell the idea of a regional theater.

LBJ Strikes Responsive Chord

2 Asian Nations Eye Vote Age

TOKYO (UPI)—A man of 60 is considered too young to hold top political office in many countries in Asia, which has perhaps the world's lowest average voting age requirements.

President Johnson's recent call for reduction in the U.S. minimum voting age to 18 struck a response in two Asian nations which are considering the same thing.

★ ★ ★

The mean voting age of eight countries surveyed by United Press International was 20 in Japan and Korea and 21 in Thailand, Hong Kong, the Philippines and Singapore-Malaysia.

Women can vote in all countries surveyed, at the same age as men.

ASKS FOR CHANGE

President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines has several times called for the legislature to lower the voting age to 18.

At an award ceremony for outstanding students June 19, Marcos asked that the voting age be lowered and said: "No profession of homage to youth nor protestations of confidence in them can have genuine meaning" unless youth is given the vote."

★ ★ ★

The Philippines congress has so far taken no action.

Thailand has talked of lowering the voting age from 21 to 20, but nothing has been done about it.

Thailand's new constitution calls for new elections. But none has been held for years, and there is a certain amount of skepticism any balloting will be held in the near future.

In Indonesia, a new general elections law still is under discussion by Parliament, but no change in the voting age of 18 is under consideration.

★ ★ ★

In Hong Kong, voting is not an essential part of the governing process.

The governor and his two councils are appointed. Elections are held for lesser bodies, but the colony has only 34,326 registered voters among Hong Kong's four million people.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
3 OUT OF 3 DOES

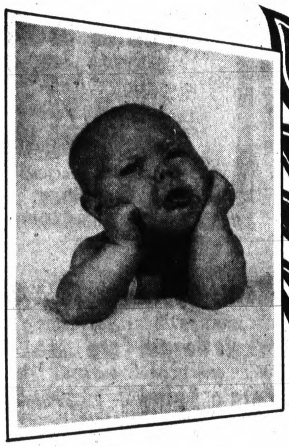

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Man's Best Friend? Goldfish Tops Dog

WASHINGTON—Man's best friend, at least in the United States, is the common goldfish.

Last year, Americans brought more than 60 million of these underwater pets. In contrast, the nation's entire dog population numbers less than 30 million.

★ ★ ★

Fish show little interest in people — except at feeding time — so why such popularity?

"One reason is that they offer something for everyone," explains staff writer Thomas Y. Canby in the National Geographic Society's colorful volume, "Wondrous World of Fishes."

EDUCATIONAL, SOOTHING

Children can learn about marine biology, mother find enchantment in the bright colored beauty of myriad species, and father, grumpy after a hard day, can soothe their jarred psyches by watching the antics of a school of black popeyes and lionheads.

Moreover, goldfish don't scratch children, chase cars, or leave hairs on the sofa. They are easy to keep, inexpensive to feed, and resistant to most diseases. Hardy specimens live 40 years or more.

★ ★ ★

The true goldfish enthusiast believes his fish have distinct personalities. Some attest that their finny pets come when called.

The common goldfish, Carassius auratus, is a wonder of selective breeding. The original species, a drab relative of the carp and native to China, has undergone remarkable physical changes in the last 1,000 years.

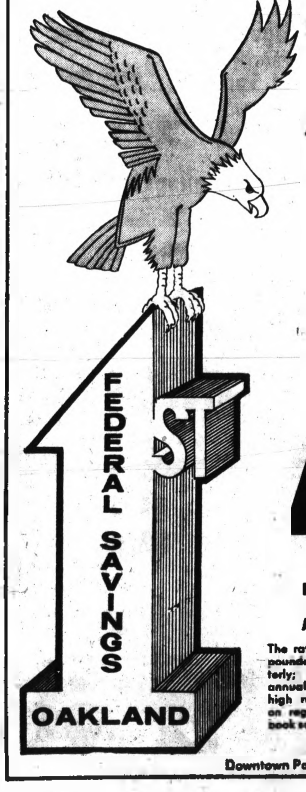

RANGE OF COLORS

Colors range from blazing reds and golds to mottled calicoes that combine every shade of the rainbow. Changes in the fish's shape have introduced flowing fins, extra fins, missing fins, bulging eyes, raspberry-like heads, and nearly spherical bodies.

Names for colorful modifications include the Spotted Dragon Telescope, the White Velvet Bauble, and the Black Dragon-eye With Cap.

Goldfish, depending on the variety, can cost anywhere from 10 cents to $2,000 each.

One extremely rare ornamental, the Azumanishiki or Lion-headed Veiltail, is such a clumsy swimmer as a result of intensive cross-breeding that it will starve to death unless hand-fed.

National Pitchers Shackle AL Hitters

Mays Makes Difference on Scoreboard

HOUSTON (AP) — Things happen when Willie Mays is on a baseball field and that as much as anything tells why the National League won its sixth straight All-Star Game against the Americans Tuesday night.

Wonderous Willie made the difference again, scoring the only run in the NL's 1-0 victory over the Americans in the 39th All-Star renewal held in the Astrodome.

★ ★ ★

They call the Dome the eighth wonder of the world but you'd have trouble convincing the American League that Willie doesn't deserve that designation instead of the indoor ball yard.

Mays managed to build a first-inning run and in this year of the pitcher one run often is all a team needs. It was all the Nationals needed with six pitchers sharing a three-hit, 11-strikeout performance against the frustrated Americans.

FEW FLY BALLS

The AL hitters hit only three fly balls all night and none to Mays' center field zone. But Willie fought the freezeout on the bases.

Mays, who only became a starter because Cincinnati's Pete Rose broke his thumb Saturday night, opened the game with a single against Cleveland's Luis Tiant.

★ ★ ★

He led off first and Tiant threw over to Harmon Killebrew. Mays stepped back, then again led away. Again Tiant tossed and this time, disaster.

"He said the ball moved," said Tiant, quoting Killebrew. "I guess it curved."

Mays thought it glanced off his back. At any rate, the ball eluded Killebrew and Mays took off for second.

Now Tiant turned his attention to Curt Flood, St. Louis' fine center fielder who was playing left because a fellow named Mays was in the NL line-up.

Tiant fell behind and on the fourth ball, he uncorked a wild pitch that flew high over catcher Bill Freehan's head.

LOOKING FOR CURVE

Tiant said he crossed Freehan up on the pitch, delivering a high fastball when the catcher called for a low curve.

"It can happen a lot of times when you get a strange catcher working with a strange pitcher," said Dick Williams, manager of the American League team.

★ ★ ★

Mays moved to third and with Flood at first and none out, it looked like a big inning budding.

The AL played the infield back, hoping for the double play. Willie McCovey cracked a sharp shot on the synthetic astro turf right at second baseman Rod Carew.

Carew hesitated for a fleeting moment, but Mays already was bearing down on the plate, so the Minnesota infielder went for the double play. The AL didn't know it, but they had won the battle and lost the war.

"I had no idea one run would win it," said Mays. "I was just lucky enough to score the winning run."

RECORD PERFORMANCE

The hit that started the rally was Mays' 23rd and the run he scored was his 20th in All-Star play—both records.

Now that they had their run, it was up to the NL pitchers to hold the edge. And they came through beautifully.

★ ★ ★

Don Drysdale permitted a lead-off double to Jim Fregosi and the AL didn't have another runner until Tony Oliva doubled against Tom Seaver with two out in the seventh.

"Twenty batters went up and down in between against Drysdale, Juan Marichal, Steve Carlton and Seaver. There was another two-out double in the eighth by Don Wert and nothing more.

★ ★ ★

Seaver struck out five batters in two innings and in the last three innings of the game seven of the nine American League batters retired went down on strikes. Ron Reed and Jerry Koosman shared the ninth, fanning two between them.

American League hurlers were almost as sharp, allowing just five hits and striking out nine. But Mays' first-inning run made the difference.

UPSETTING — Cincinnati's Tommy Helms of the National League breaks up a double play attempt by the American League as he takes Minnesota's Rod Carew out of action in the fourth inning of their All Star game in Houston last night. Helms was forced at second when Jerry Grote of the Pirates hit a grounder to shortstop Jim Fregosi of California. Carew gets the ball away but not in time to get Grote.

Defending Champ Quotes Own British Open Odds

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Defending champion Roberto De Vicenzo teed off in the first round of the 72-hole British Open Golf Tournament today with the modest conviction that he has as good a chance to win as any in the 130-man field.

"I'm 12 to 1, the bookies say," the Argentine star said.

★ ★ ★

"But for my money everybody is 25 to 1. Anyone of at least 25 can win it, Jack Nicklaus and all the others and me, too, and so that makes all of us 25 to 1."

In fact, Nicklaus at 4 to 1 and Bill Casper at 5 to 1 appear to be rather false favorites to master Carnoustie's 7,252-yard par-72 layout at such low odds.

SHORT HITTERS

A rapid shift in the weather put many of the golf stars in the running, including even some of the short hitters.

The North Sea winds which often turn Carnoustie into a tiger strangely were absent. Enough sun and overnight rain transformed the links into a sheer delight.

★ ★ ★

Rough, which some players regarded as unfair on about five holes, was cut back Tuesday to eliminate the possibility of a good shot being unfairly penalized.

The forecast was for favorable weather which could threaten Ben Hogan's 1953 record of 282 for 72 holes as well as his final round 68, as yet unbeaten in competition around Carnoustie.

★ ★ ★

Prize money adds up to $48,000. The winner's check of $7,200 is small compared to American standards but the man who collects it knows he will have a bonanza of more than $100,000 in fringe benefits plus a special niche in golf's Hall of Fame.

HOT FINISH

Casper concluded his final practice round in spectacular fashion Tuesday with a par-birdie-eagle finish over the last three holes. The two-time U.S. Open champ got his eagle on the par-five 18th hole when he reached the green in two shots and then canned a 15-foot putt.

HEADS PLAYERS — All Pro guard John Gordy of the Detroit Lions heads the National Football League Players Association which is at the moment deadlocked with club owners over a pension fund boost. Both sides have been reluctant to move, bringing forth the possibility that the 1968 season could be abandoned.

Rival Managers Agree

All-Star Game Reflects 1968 Trend

HOUSTON (AP)—"Pitchers dominated the game as they have all season," said Red Schoendienst.

"There was great pitching on both sides," said Dick Williams. "But that's the way it has been all year."

★ ★ ★

So the opposing managers, Schoendienst of the Nationals and Williams of the Americans, saw eye to eye on what made the low-scoring 1968 All-Star Game turn out as it did Tuesday night.

There were other factors, too — a big one being Willie Mays' opening single and skippity hop base running that brought in the Nationals' only run in their 1-0 victory.

★ ★ ★

But it was mainly a battle in which the All-Star pitchers had the All-Star hitters looking like they belonged on the awkward squad.

It was the Nationals' sixth straight All-Star victory.

Buckets of champagne were available in both dressing rooms but only the Nationals popped the corks.

However, the American Leaguers took the loss in stride. The only bitter player was Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins — and it wasn't the loss that bothered him.

Killebrew, the American League's first baseman suffered a severe hamstring pull in his left leg while stretching for a low throw from shortstop Jim Fregosi in the third inning.

In obvious pain as he dressed, Killebrew shrugged off most questions with "I'd rather not talk about it."

★ ★ ★

Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the starting and winning pitcher for the Nationals, said he relied mostly on the fast ball and slider

"It seems like this is the year of the pitcher," he said. "This thing seems to run in cycles. I believe that in the World Series and in the All-Star Games the pitchers have the advantage."

HARD TO BEAT

Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, another National League hurler, said, "We had great pitching and great defense. That's a combination hard to beat."

★ ★ ★

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets said low scoring games have been the trend all year.

"Good pitching will overcome good hitting at all times," he said. "I didn't think there would be more than five runs scored in the ball game."

★ ★ ★

Williams said he wanted to use all 25 of his players and succeeded with the exception of Gary Bell, one of his own Red Sox pitchers. Bell was scheduled to pitch in the eighth but an American League double play ended the inning before he could appear.

Schoendienst, who predicted a low score at his pre-game press conferences said, "In a game like this, the hitters don't see enough of the pitchers to get on to them."

Players on both sides said the 1-0 score was not boring.

"If I were a fan it would have been the kind of game that would interest me," said St. Louis outfielder Curt Flood. "I really believe all 50,000 really enjoyed the game."

★ ★ ★

"The few times I looked into the stands everyone seemed to be on the edge of their seats," Schoendienst added.

Despite the six consecutive victories by the National Leaguers, Schoendienst said there was not that much difference in the two leagues.

"They have great players and so do we," Schoendienst said. "The score of the game is the best answer to that."

★ ★ ★

"They scored an unearned run on a double play ball in the first inning," Williams said. "Take that away and we might have played all night."

Pontiac's Golfer Has Trouble in Publinx Play

Special to The Press

DALLAS — Pontiac's Gary Balliet, one of 11 Michigan players in the USGA Public Links tournament, has been unable to break 80 in two practice rounds over the tight Tenison course.

Balliet played with defending champion Verne E. Callison of California in a practice tour yesterday and Callison posted a 73. Balliet had an 80.

★ ★ ★

John Law of Birmingham turned in a 75 in his tune-up while John Miranov of Detroit checked in with a couple of 75s.

The course isn't long — 6,578 yards — but the many trees and water hazards make accuracy a necessity.

HOT WEATHER

Old fashioned Texas weather — hot and humid — showed up in time today for the first qualifying round.

Callison became the oldest champion in tournament history last year. And now, at age 49, he figures his chances are still good for another title.

"I didn't try very hard today," Callison said Tuesday after his fine practice round. He said he left most of his approach shots short on purpose to practice on his chipping game.

Off-Field Grid Battle Still On

CHICAGO (UPI) — National Football League owners plan to fulfill their commitments for pre-season games, playing rookies and free agents, but they said they cannot grant what they termed "unrealistic" demands of veteran players for a boost in the pension fund.

The owners voted unanimously to back up their negotiating committee in its offer of a 25 per cent increase in the contribution to the pension fund in 1968, from $900,000 to $1,125,000, and a 50 per cent hike in 1969, to $1,350,000.

They also stood fast on their position that because merger with the American Football League will be completed in 1970, the agreement on pensions must be for only two years "as will the other 21 demands" of the players "accepted by the owners."

The owners voted to open their training camps on schedule for whatever rookies desire to report, but they decreed they would not permit veterans to show up unless the Players' Association allows all of them to come.

"We do not know how many veterans want to come to camp," spokesman Art Modell, league president and owner of the Cleveland Browns, said, "but the response would undoubtedly vary from team to team and create an unfair competitive imbalance.

"There is no way for individual clubs to determine the number of players that will be available at any given time," he said. On the assumption that clubs have an adequate number of players available, properly conditioned and prepared to play, each club intends to fulfill its pre-season game commitments."

★ ★ ★

"We have rookies in sufficient numbers," he said.

Modell said that the position of the owners was expressed "in substance" by labor consultant Theodore Kreel to Dan Shulman, attorney for the players.

"We are ready to open further negotiations at any time," he added.

The player representatives, however, rejected the last offer of higher contributions to the pension fund and left for their individual homes. Modell was unable to indicate whether the owners would attempt to reopen the negotiations, or leave the reopening at the option of the players.

NO COMMENT

Neither Shulman nor Player's Association President John Gordy was available for comment.

The players, quoting the owners that they wished to make the pension equal to that of professional baseball, said that the 25 per cent increase offered by the owners still would leave baseball 100 per cent ahead of football.

★ ★ ★

Pensions were the only point left at issue between the players and owners. Previously agreement was reached on minimum salary, payment for preseason games, grievance procedures, contract submission to players, option clause, severance pay and payment of moving expenses.

U. of M. to Provide Facilities for Youths

★ ★ ★

Last week 550 Ann Arbor boys attended a baseball clinic. Other clinics this summer will be offered in gymnastics, basketball, and football. Each runs five days and there are no charges involved.

Imhoff Prefers Los Angeles

New 76er Balks at Move East

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers unloaded their costly, 7-foot-1 bundle of contract worries called Wilt Chamberlain Tuesday but may have picked up a low-priced 6-foot-10 package of the same in the form of Darrall Imhoff.

* * *

Imhoff, one-third of the manpower the Los Angeles Lakers had to ante up to get the National Basketball Association's alltime great scorer, says he's not ready to go to Philadelphia.

* * *

The eight-year NBA veteran, contacted in Los Angeles Tuesday, said he has "a lot of problems" to work out, adding: "I'm a little disappointed about leaving the Lakers since Los Angeles is my home."

He said "I have been in contact with the general manager at Philadelphia and General Manager Fred Schaus of the Lakers. I'll take a lot of time and think it over."

His statement appeared to contradict 76ers' General Manager Jack Ramsay, who said in announcing the trade for Imhoff, forward Jerry Chambers and guard Archie Clark:

* * *

"Our three players are contracted and the Lakers have negotiated with Wilt and reached satisfactory agreement."

UNDERSTUDY

Imhoff, a starter with the Lakers, might also find it difficult beating out Chamberlain's understudy, 6-foot-9 Luke Jackson, for the pivot spot with the 76ers.

All gives rise to speculation that Imhoff may be asking the 76ers to trade him to a team nearer Los Angeles, where he has business interests and is still involved in an off-season ticket selling program for the Lakers.

For the 76ers, negotiating a contract with Chamberlain had become a yearly summer ritual whose settings changed with jetliner speed from Philadelphia, to California surf to a sweaty gym in Atlantic City, N.J., where the pro team held its pre-season tuneups.

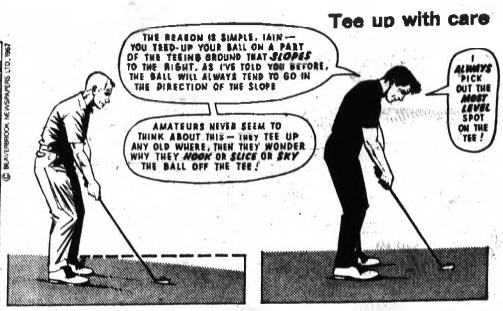

Although he was probably worth every cent — NBA Most Valuable Player in 1967 and 1968, only pro to score more than 25,000 points, tremendous rebounder and close-in shooter and key to the 76ers' only league title — his demands were too much for the 76er management.

After reportedly earning $250,000 for the 1967-68 season, Chamberlain reached a contract impasse with the 76ers this spring.

Injuries Fail to Deter

Mayo, 'Red' No. 1 on Bench

DETROIT (UPI) — If history repeats, Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers and Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals will wind up as winners of baseball's manager-of-the-year award.

They're obviously the managers-of-half-the-year and that's where the history bit enters.

* * *

The half-year managers of a year ago—Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs and Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox—held on to win the 1967 managerial awards determined by a committee for United Press International.

Smith and Schoendienst have something in common besides directing the teams most likely to succeed.

Each struggled through the first half with one or more key players in deep physical trouble.

KALINE'S INJURIES

Smith lost veteran outfielder Al Kaline with a broken right arm on May 25 when an errant pitch by Lew Krausse of Oakland whacked him.

Kaline also was injured before the halfway mark a year ago and the Tigers never did quite make it, losing a shot at the pennant on the final day.

* * *

But this time around, Detroit more than tripled its American League lead in the first month Kaline was out of action.

Smith juggled what he had: Mickey Stanley moved from first base to center, Jim Northrup went from center to Kaline's spot in right and Norm Cash was restored to first base as the key figure in a platooning group.

ANOTHER HEADACHE

Schoendienst, faced in the spring with the usual problem of battling complacency on a club coming off a World Series triumph, quickly found another headache.

Dick Hughes, 16-6 as a 29-year-old rookie last year, came down with shoulder miseries.

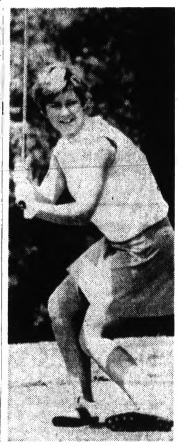

* * *

For the Cardinals to repeat, insisted some of the experts, their young pitchers, including Hughes, would have to come up with repeat successes.

They could be right as the season progresses but through most of the first half the other youngsters—plus big Bob Gibson—kept the Cardinals on the wing.

* * *

If history fails to repeat on the half year bit, the awards might go almost automatically to pennant-winning managers.

POWER STANCE? — Canadian Sandra Post could be looking for a high fast ball except she's waving a putter on the ninth green at Moselem Springs Golf Club near Reading, Pa., and watching her birdie putt bid stop short during Friday's second round of the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tournament. She had a 76.

Gals' Pro Golf Circuit Keeps Champ Busy

TORONTO (AP) — Sandra Post, the rookie Canadian professional who rocked U. S. golf with a sensational victory in the Women's PGA Championship two weeks ago, shot a par 75 here and said: "I'm exhausted."

The 20-year-old Oakville, Ont., girl played a relaxed practice round early this week for the $23,000 Women's Open Golf Tournament at the Bayview Golf and Country Club July 25-27.

* * *

Later she talked about the rigors of the pro tour.

"It's tiring but it's worth it," she said.

Miss Post flew into Toronto after a 12th-place finish, worth $540, in the Women's Open Golf Championship at Reading, Pa., Sunday.

After four hours sleep she played 18 holes—matching the women's par—gave a series of interviews, and flew out again to play in a $20,000 Open at Columbus Ohio.

EXPENSE SHEET

The attractive, auburn-haired pro talked about hte expense of playing the tour.

"It will probably cost me about $7,500, to $8,000 this year, but so far I've covered my expense."

* * *

She plans to play in about 30 tournaments, out of a possible 33.

"I'm going to give it all I've got for two or three years," she said.

SCORED ACE

Since she joined the tour in February she has won $9,000 in official and unofficial money. And she has picked up two fat checks—$1,000 for a hole-in-one at Boynton Beach, Fla., and $3,000 for her playoff victory over veteran pro Kathy Whitworth in the PGA Championship at Sutton, Mass.

* * *

She scored the hole-in-one with her three-wood, the club she used off the men's tees at the 6,448-yard Bayview layout Monday.

* * *

"I bent my driver a few months ago and I just haven't been able to find one that I like. I guess it means I lose 15 to 20 yards off the tees."

The loss of yardage doesn't seem to hurt her scores.

Majors Meeting Today; NL Likely Will Divide

HOUSTON (AP) — American League and National League owners meet in sessions here today that could lead to a uniform arrangment in schedules and divisional play for the 1969 baseball season.

Both leagues expand to 12 teams next year with Seattle and Kansas City granted AL franchises and San Diego and Montreal accepted in the NL.

* * *

The fly in the ointment is that the AL has decided to split its 12 into two geographical divisions of six teams each and play a 156-game schedule with post-season playoffs before the World Series.

The National has thus far refused a divisional split and is sticking to a single 12-team league with a 162-game schedule.

* * *

Commissioner William D. Eckert and baseball's executive council have urged the Nationals to reconsider and it's possible that today's meeting will produce the change.

SEEK MORE TILTS

But the Nationals aren't willing to give up easily. They are willing to accept the divisional concept already adopted by the American League only if the Americans agree to a 162-game schedule instead of 156.

* * *

Indications are that both leagues will give a little and the outcome will be two six-team divisions in each with the 162-game schedule the Nationals demand.

Henley Club Under Fire as Rowing Action Opens

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — The Henley Royal Regatta swung into action today in face of mounting discontent from rowing people.

Of the world's crack crews, only Cornell and Harvard made the effort to get there this year and for one of them it will be a long journey for short reward. An unseeded draw puts them together in the first round of the Thames Challenge Cup Thursday, and one must go straight out.

The rowing critics say this sort of thing is typical of Henley's failure to keep up with the times. The course is too narrow for more than two crews to row in one race. Private enclosures for exclusive clubs and socialites spread so far that the ordinary spectator can't get within 400 yards of the finish.

The weak foreign entry is partly due to the regatta committee's decision to stage the event a week early this year to avoid clashing with British school exams.

OTHER MEETS

But now the regatta clashes head-on with the European Championships at Lucerne and the U.S. Olympic Trials in California.

The Amlong brothers, Tom and Joe, former U.S. champions from the Vesper Club of Philadelphia, led the U.S. challenge today in the silver goblets event for paired oars. They were up against the crack British pair, Jerry Sutton and Pat Sharp, from The Sons of the Thames Club.

Dick Petty Ends Jinx in Maine

OXFORD, Maine (AP) — Dick Petty of Randleman, N.C., runner-up last year and third finisher in 1966, has finally won the Oxford Plains Speedway 300-lap stock car race.

Petty finished the 100-mile competition in 1:34.16 to beat out David Pearson at Spartanburg, N.C., Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C. and Bob Allison of Hueytown, Ala., who were next in that order.

Allison had won the event in both 1966 and 1967.

Playing her home course, Mrs. Paul Keller beat the rain and a field of 106 yesterday in the weekly Women's District Golf Association outing at Oakland Hills Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Sharing second with 85s were Mrs. Keith LeClair of Barton Hills and Mrs. John Hume of Birmingham.

Rain Halts Tourney for Second Time

For the second time in three years, rain washed out the annual Golf Association of Michigan Father-Son Tournament.

The deluge caught the field of nearly 500 players in late afternoon and brought a halt to play at Plum Hollow and Orchard Lake country clubs.

With the washout, defending champions Chuck Byrne Sr. and Jr. will have another year to reign before putting the title on the line again.

On PGA Tour

2 Eye Dollar Lead

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— Lanky Tom Weiskopf and fiery Lee Trevino won't lack for incentive this week.

With pro golf's leading money winner, Billy Casper, across the Atlantic playing in the British Open, the PGA's second and third ranking players will be taking dead aim at the No. 1 spot.

Casper, with four tournament wins and $130,185 already in his pocket in 1968, is passing up the rich, $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open for the prestige -- but smaller purse — in Britain.

And, should he fail and either Weiskopf or Trevino win the $40,000 first prize pot at Milwaukee, the golf tour could have a new leader. Weiskopf, with his $25,000 from the Buick Open which ended Sunday, now has $117,136 in 1968. U.S. Open champion Trevino has won $82,795.

★ ★ ★

The GMO got under way unofficially today with a pro-am celebrity event featuring several members of the Green Bay Packers.

Seven of the top money winners on the tour are entered with Casper, six-ranked Jack Nicklaus and eight-ranked George Knudson the only ones missing.

Birmingham CC Awaits 112 Duos

One of the oldest of the area invitationals swings into action tomorrow with the opening of the 22nd Birmingham Country Club outing.

A field of 112 teams will be on hand to try and take the championship from Angelo Lotti and Pete Jackson.

Two rounds of play are slated for tomorrow—8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Semifinals are set for Friday and the finals Saturday.

Among those battling Lotti and Jackson will be Chuck Byrne and Joe Brisson, winners of the 1966 crown. Byrne teamed with Dave Fett of Birmingham earlier this year in winning the Pine Lake Invitational.

Dogs can tell apart sounds which are so close in pitch that the average human being is not able to tell the difference.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

How's this for an oddity . . . The Chicago White Sox team of 1908 was able to hit only three home runs ALL season — and unusual as that fact is, here's something even more unbelievable . . . Even though the White Sox hit only three homers all season, they still finished third in the American League that year!

★ ★ ★

Do you have any idea how many boys now play Little League Baseball? . . . The one new club in Little League baseball officially enrolled in Little League ball every year . . . And, Little League baseball is now played in a total of 28 different countries . . . Little League ball has grown from one league in one city when it started to now more than 7,000 leagues around the world. And none more fun to watch than Avondale's where my son John plays second base.

★ ★ ★

How would you like to get an electric bill every month for $60,000 . . . Did you know that's how much it costs to run the air conditioning in Houston's Astrodome . . . It costs $2,000 a day just to keep the air conditioning on, and it must be on every hour of every day to protect the building. That figures out to $60,000 for electricity every month!

★ ★ ★

I bet you didn't know . . . that having your tires can vastly improve your ride. Stands to reason a round tire will roll smoothly, doesn't it? Drop in, we'll surprise you with a ride you've never experienced.

Judges Named for PKC Show

The most impressive panel of judges to ever accept assignment for a Pontiac Kennel Club Show will be at Wisner Field Aug. 18 for the annual outdoor event.

Venerable Percy Roberts and Major B. Godsol both have handled best in show assignments at Westminster. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Marvin have made the top selections at the International in Chicago and the big West Coast show in Beverly Hills.

★ ★ ★

Marvin will select best-in-show for the Pontiac Show. The winner will receive The Pontiac Press Trophy.

Herman C. Cox is another highly regarded judge who has worked the Pontiac shows in the past.

The Marvins, of Doylestown, Pa., will judge all terrier breeds. He is a retired patent attorney who has authored several books on terriers.

Roberts, the 78-year-old breeder and trainer from Noroton Heights, Conn., will judge hound and working breeds and make the selection in the hound and non-sporting groups.

★ ★ ★

Godsol, from La Jolla, Calif., will handle working, terrier and toy groups and some breeds. Cox will judge working breeds and the sporting group.

Deadline for entering the PKC show is Aug. 6. Premium lists and entry forms can be obtained from Bow Dog Show Organization, 9999 Broad Street, Detroit, general superintendent for the show.

LARGEST ENTRY

Rudolph Buckmann, 30370 Woodgate, Southfield, will judge the German Shepherds which probably will have the largest entry in the show.

The obedience classes will be handled by Horace C. Carr of Dayton, Ohio.

Judging in the breed classes will be John Cook, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Mildred Heald, Indianapolis, Ia.; and Richard Renihan, Davenport, Ia.

★ ★ ★

"We are pointing toward 1,000 entries," said Mrs. E. A. Kraft, secretary of the Pontiac club. "The panel of judges is very good and this should help draw additional entries."

Several specialty clubs have indicated that they will support the show with entries, including the Briard Club. The parent club of the national Briard organization is located in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

The all-breed show will be unbenched which means the dogs can be removed from the grounds when eliminated from further competition. In addition to the obedience, the program will include junior handler's competition.

The Pontiac Club is the only one in Michigan that holds AKC licensed summer and winter shows.

Warn Sailors About Electric Power Wires

LANSING (AP)—The possibility of a sailboat hitting a high tension electric wire sounds like a freak accident.

But at least two fatalities have occurred in Michigan from sailboat masts coming into contact with electric power lines, reports Peter Spivak, chairman of the State Public Service Commission.

★ ★ ★

Michigan is the first state in the union, Spivak said, to establish rules covering the clearance of wires over water.

Utility companies, Spivak explained, run wires over lakes and ponds as the shortest distance between two points.

★ ★ ★

Sailboat masts coming into contact with the wires, especially since the advent of the aluminum mast, have caused numerous non-fatal accidents in addition to the two fatalities recorded, Spivak said.

There is no set height for the wires under new commission rules effective Aug. 15. A safe clearance is specified for each body of water.

Dog Training Opens July 15

Hunting dog owners may begin field training July 15.

Between sunrise and sunset, dogs may be trained on game birds and those animals which may be hunted by dogs.

★ ★ ★

Night training is permitted between Aug. 15 and March 1. April 15 marks the close of daytime training except for dogs trained to hunt foxes — they may be trained at any time of the day or night and, at any time of the year.

Only a pistol or revolver with blank cartridges may be used in dog training except on shooting preserves where shotguns are permitted.

★ ★ ★

A list of preserves, which allows birds to be taken under actual hunting conditions, is available from the Conservation Department.

PROJECT UPLIFT—The Michigan side of Lake Michigan has been spared this summer from the onslaught of dead alewives. Wisconsin, however, has a greater problem. Dead alewives are lifted out of Milwaukee harbor by nets and dumped from a barge to a conveyor. Nearly 400 tons of the dead fish were taken from the harbor.

Longer Grouse Season; Deer Quotas Proposed

A more liberal grouse season and a higher permit quota for antlerless deer will be key proposals before the Conservation Commission during its meeting Thursday and Friday at Higgins Lake.

Hunting and trapping regulations will be established during the sessions at the Conservation Department's training school. All proposals are expected to be accepted as recommended by the department.

The grouse would open Sept. 15 in the northern Lower Peninsula and above the Straits and close Nov. 14. The season in Southern Michigan would be the same as in the past — Oct. 21 to Nov. 14 and Dec. 1-31.

Woodcock in the northern two zones will open Sept. 15.

Pheasant season will be the same as in the past — only one day less. It will open on Monday, Oct. 21 and continue through Nov. 10. The loss of a day is because state law says the season can't open on a Sunday.

Antlerless deer quotas are being increased slightly with Southern Michigan areas gaining the most expansion. Oakland County (Area 48) has been about doubled, taking in almost three-quarters of the county, and the number of permits available doubled to 1,000.

The firearms deer season will revert back to the old Nov. 15-30 dates for the entire state. Another change will permit archery deer hunting from Oct. 1-Dec. 31 with timeout for the firearms campaign.

An early season in the U. P. for adult bears will run from Sept. 10 to Nov. 5. There will be no bear hunting below the Straits.

High Water Levels Reported

Borrow Pits Now Duck Ponds

LANSING (AP) — Duck hunters who travel on interstate highways and see flocks of waterfowl swimming on roadside ponds during late August can rejoice.

The Department of Conservation is beginning a program to utilize the "borrow pits" to provide nesting grounds for mallards, blacks and teal.

★ ★ ★

"We think we can come up with a sort of bonanza waterfowl area," said Lewis C. Ruch, wetlands habitat management director. "We're sorry we didn't get started with this thing a little sooner."

The department will begin its program this summer when it develops seven borrow pits in Midland County.

DRAINAGE SPOTS

The pits were created when huge earth-moving machines scooped out fill dirt needed for highway construction. But too often water drained from the pits because of low spots in the land.

The department will build small dams to prevent the water from running off, and, if necessary, fertilize the ponds to insure growth of aquatic vegetation.

Pits that retain water already have proven excellent waterfowl habitat. Numerous puddling ducks use the small bodies of water to raise broods.

JUMP SHOOTING

The test pits will be about 30 or 40 yards from the highway and should provide some jump shooting for local ducks in the autumn.

"We wouldn't do this right along the highway," Ruch added.

An added feature of the pits is that they will be relatively inexpensive to produce. All that is needed is a small dam to prevent water from escaping, most marches in the state.

Few diving ducks such as bluebills, canvasbacks or redheads are expected to nest on the borrow pits. Divers prefer to nest on large marches and lakes.

Even upland game birds are expected to utilize the ponds.

WATER LEVELS

In other developments, Ruch reports that recent heavy rains have kept water levels high in

Barring an abnormally long drought, Ruch added, there is enough water in the impoundments to ensure that broods will be on the wing before the ponds dry up in late summer.

"Waterwise, we're in good shape," Ruch said. "Every one of the marshes in water control areas are right up to the brim. They'll carry through most of the summer.

★ ★ ★

"If we have more wet weather," Ruch added, "That's just a little extra bonus." The ponds should remain full through the hunting season.

★ ★ ★

He added that it is a little early to tell how waterfowl fared during recent rains. Many broods were already off the nest when the rains struck and had a better chance for survival.

But the water came up quickly in the marshes and may have destroyed many nests.

★ ★ ★

Wood ducks nest in trees and are relatively immune to high water.

"I don't think ducks will suffer quite as much as upland game birds such as the pheasant took it on the chin with these rains. The rains came just about the time they were nesting."

Walleyes, Bass Active

Walleyes, perch and black bass fishing has been fair to good from Lake St. Clair to Saginaw Bay.

Inland lake fishing has been spotty because of high water.

Good sized walleyes are being taken in the St. Clair River near Marysville at night trolling or still fishing with rapala type lures and nightcrawlers.

★ ★ ★

Perch fishing is fair to good at Harbor Beach, fair at Caseville, Port Austin and Port Huron.

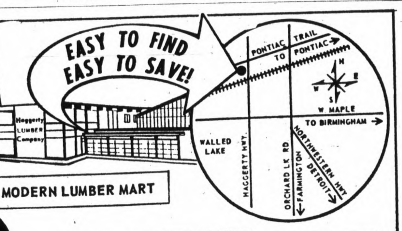

Smallmouth bass have been hitting in the St. Clair Flats and a few walleyes are being caught near the shipping channels.

Bass fishing has been good in the Pontiac area on Pontiac, Louise, Bald Eagle, Big, Pine and Cedar Island lakes. Bluegills are starting to move toward deeper water, but anglers are still picking up some nice-sized fish on poppers in the evening.

Here's a note for huckleberry pickers — a few are starting to ripen in Northern Oakland County and Tuscola County.

Count-by-Mail, Computers Will Replace Census Taker

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old-fashioned census taker is going to be replaced by a count-by-mail and computer system for most of the country during the 1970 head counting.

The Census Bureau says about 60 per cent of the population will be asked to count itself by filling out and returning mailed questionnaires.

Those who don't—and the bureau figures there will be a number, particularly in slum areas—will get a visit from the census taker.

The next census starts April 1, 1970, and will be the 19th general head count conducted by the federal government, which is required by the Constitution to count its citizens every 10 years.

LAST CENSUS

In the last census, bureau employes visited each household and collected a completed questionnaire which had been mailed in advance.

But with more than 200 million heads to count in 1970, the bureau is trying to step up its efficiency and cut costs in the process.

* * *

The mail-by-census technique, in the testing stage since 1961, will be conducted only in the large metropolitan areas where most Americans now live. Four out of every five counties will be counted the old way.

In tests of the two-way mailing thus far, the bureau reported cooperation ranging up to 91 per cent. But it admits to problems in the Negro slums.

* * *

Tests in Philadelphia and Cleveland showed about one-third compliance in low-income areas, a bureau spokesman said.

One purpose of these tests is to devise methods to improve the record.

* * *

For the next census the Bureau plans to set up about 400 district offices to handle about 500,000 persons each. Each district will handle its operations in only one way—either by two-way mail or by visits from a census taker to collect forms mailed in advance.

* * *

Thus, some households in some large metropolitan areas—such as Little Rock and Des Moines—will receive questionnaires by mail but will return them to the census taker, not the postman.

RURAL AREAS INCLUDED

That's because large rural areas are included in the districts containing those cities and the bureau said rural areas don't lend themselves as yet to the new return-mail technique.

An area must have accurate and precise addresses and permit volume mailings for the best results, the bureau said.

In Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey, the entire state will be canvassed by two-way mail while many other states will be covered the old way.

* * *

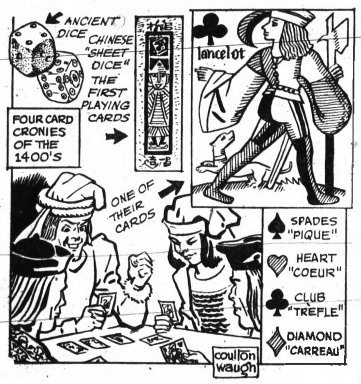

These latter include North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Mississippi, South Carolina, West Virginia, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Three out of every four families will be asked to fill out two pages of questions about themselves and one page about their house.

* * *

One in four will receive an additional page of questions about their house and two additional pages for each member of their family covering such data as education, income, occupation and place of birth.

Junior Editors Quiz on CARD GAMES

QUESTION: Who first used playing cards?

ANSWER: It is thought that cavemen used knuckle bones to roll as a kind of dice; dice themselves appeared very early in history's record (upper left).

Some experts say cards originated in India around 600 A.D. Others think they were first used in China as a development of dice, since, like dice, cards are games of chance. The Chinese had invented printing from wooden blocks, and so they printed crude cards—with different values—often called sheet dice. The one we show is said by some to be the oldest card.

Cards were probably introduced into Europe by the returning Crusaders. The Eastern cards had numbers, but picture cards called tarots appeared in Italy. Soon, tarots and numbers were combined in the same deck.

The development of printing from wood blocks spread cards all over Europe. We show the quaint appearance of such an early picture card.

During the 1500s, the French originated the suits and the symbols for them. In French, carreau had meant square, but the English mistranslated this into dimond and so it has remained.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize).

Picked From Hat

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The name of Eugene M. Koon was picked from a hat to become suburban Wyoming's newest City Commissioner. Koon and Gus Unseld Jr. were the commission's final choices to fill the unexpired term of Earl Robson, who resigned. After three secret ballots by commissioners ended in a tie, the two names were put in a hat and Koon's was pulled out.

New York-Moscow Flight Service to Begin Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American travelers used to the coffee, tea or milk routine and in-flight movies won't have that pampered feeling when they fly the new Soviet-operated air service between New York and Moscow.

Girl watchers will notice a slight tendency to plumpness and plainness in the stewardesses, too.

But aside from small details like those, there probably will be little distinction between flying the Soviet airline Aeroflot and the American half of the service, which Pan American will provide on 200-passenger Boeing 707s.

Service begins Monday, with Aeroflot using the 186-passenger Ilyushin 62.

ONLY ONE STOP

Each line will make one stop on the 4,900-mile route, Aeroflot in Montreal and Pan American in Copenhagen, with no passenger pickups at either city. There will be two flights a week each way during the summer, and one a week in winter. Pan Am said its flight to Moscow will take about 10 hours and 35 minutes.

The State Department announced this week that final agreement had been reached on the service, which the Soviets first agreed to in 1961 but which got bogged down in cold war ill feelings and American red tape.

* * *

First class fare on the service will be $1,109, round trip. The tourist price will be $815, and special groups can get a rate as low as $357 per person.

* * *

Aeroflot, operated by the Soviet government, is the biggest airline in the world. Last year it carried more than 43 million passengers over 300,000 miles of routes — mostly inside Russia.

UNKNOWN FACTOR

Just how good it is from a safety standpoint still is not known. The Russians do not publish accident statistics.

* * *

But the Ilyushin 62 had to meet U.S. safety standards, plus noise rules, before it could be accepted for use on the air route.

Aeroflot is short on frills. There are no in-flight movies. Caviar and Vodka are menu staples, and the Soviets prefer their stewardesses more on the plump side.

Just as fortune smiles on those who give it a chance to help them, so does hard luck stay away from those who guard against it.

JACOBY

North's two-club bid was Stayman and when South showed four spades North took him to game. The contract is mighty sound. In fact, if spades break and the king of clubs is held by East, declarer can guess where the jack of hearts is and make a slam.

★ ★ ★

The hand is also set up for bad luck. Spades don't break, the king of clubs is held by West and if declarer does not guess where the jack of hearts is, he may go down. That is, he may if he does not find a way to eliminate the guess in hearts.

In a recent rubber bridge game at New York's Regency Club, Dorothy (Mrs. Jesse) Sammis of Greenwich used perfect technique to insure her contract in spite of the bad breaks.

Dorothy cashed her ace and king of spades, discarded one of dummy's clubs on the king of diamonds, and ruffed her last diamond. Then she led dummy's queen of clubs and let it ride. West was in with the king and could do no better than to return a club.

Dorothy proceeded to cash her ace and jack of clubs and threw East in with the high spade. East had a nice losing choice. He could play a heart and take care of locating the jack for Dorothy or he could lead a diamond and give her a ruff and discard.

★ ★ ★

An interesting feature of this hand is that if West had shown

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠		Pass	2 ♥
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ A 4 ♥ K Q 10 9 5 ♦ K J 6 5 ♣ K 8

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts only. Your partner's first rebid of two no-trump indicated a minimum hand without anything sensational in hearts. Settle for game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three hearts over your three diamonds your partner bids three spades. What do you do now?

In Name-Calling, Politicians Shunning Middle Ground

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the nicest things about this year's presidential campaign has been the refusal of the candidates to engage in middle-name calling. So far, at least.

WEST

Injection of the middle-name issue is not formally barred by the fair campaign practices code to which the Democratic and Republican national committees subscribe.

There appears, however, to be a tacit agreement among contenders in both parties to refrain from dragging an opponent's middle name into the open and exposing it to the harsh glare of publicity.

They apparently recognize that in this era of violence in American life, self-imposed restraint should be exercised to avoid further inflaming the voters' emotions.

REAL STATESMANSHIP

This is political statesmanship of the highest order. For few things stir up the electorate more than demagogic middle-name calling.

We all remember the campaign of 1960 when certain Democratic orators unfailingly referred to the GOP candidate as Richard Milhous Nixon, bearing down on the Milhous with mock sonority and stentorousness.

* * *

Feelings ran pretty high before that campaign was over.

Then, in 1964, the GOP candidate Barry Morris Goldwater, incited his audiences to a fever pitch by reminding them that Hubert Humphrey's middle name was Horatio.

RUNNING MATE

Humphrey, you may recall, was President Lyndon Baines Johnson's running mate on the Democratic ticket at the time.

It was the 1964 campaign that first produced signs of a "middle-name backlash." Male voters, many of whom use middle initials to cover up second names that are odd, bizarre, comic or ridiculous, came to resent Goldwater's tactics.

* * *

Thus the Democrats received a large sympathy vote.

Republicans could play it safe this year by nominating either Gov. George Wilcken Romney or Gov. Ronald Wilson Reagan. Both have dropped their middle names from "Who's Who."

A SAFE NAME

Nor would the nomination of Sen. Eugene Joseph McCarthy by the Democrats give rise to middle name calling.

But if Nixon and Humphrey are the nominees, the restraint shown thus far might vanish. Much depends on the vice presidential candidates.

Car Insurer Profits 'Exceptional'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Automobile insurance companies are making exceptional profits, a University of Southern California professor of business administration contended yesterday.

Citing his study of 641 corporations, 18 auto insurance companies and 7 multiple-line insurance companies, Dr. Richard Norgaard of USC told a Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee the "insurance companies are earning greater risk adjusted rates of profit than 90 per cent of all companies in the sample."

"The automobile insurance companies appear to be doing slightly better than the multiple-line companies," he continued.

Norgaard said these findings "are diametrically opposed to those recently reported by the American Insurance Association" although the same basic data were used.

"The difference in results came about because of the techniques used to measure and interpret the data," he said.

Norgaard defined rate of profit "as the average annual return including interest, dividends, and security appreciation that the suppliers of capital receive divided by the initial market value of all the firm's securities."

"The conclusions in this investigation are clear," he said. "The large, multiple-line underwriters and the companies which specialize in automobile insurance are making exceptional profits."

Lettuce-Crop Flooding Loss in State Sector Is $250,000

STOCKBRIDGE (UPI)—Headfuls of problems, instead of headfuls of lettuce, are confronting growers in this mid-Michigan "lettuce capital."

Recent rains and flooding have doused $250,000 worth of the community's million-dollar lettuce industry, and residents claimed that figure could increase. The Stockbridge-Munith area, nestled in the farm land just northwest of Ann Arbor, produces 60 per cent of the state's lettuce crop, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

* * *

Not only have crops been ruined which were ready for harvest, but young plants, at various stages of growth, have also been destroyed.

It takes two months for lettuce plants to mature. Since they are planted on a staggered basis, the losses were not only current but would be felt in the months ahead.

WATERLOGGED CROP

Much of the present crop, which growers said should have been harvested last week, was either still waterlogged or under water. Lettuce, flooded and drained, retains so much moisture in the leaves that the hot sun scalds the heads.

"It goes to blazes in 24 hours," one grower commented bitterly.

* * *

Another grower, Robert Streets, added that about 50 per cent of his 11 acres of lettuce on Dexter Trail was gone. "Crops underwater a week are spoiled," he said. Streets' yellow onion crop perished in the storm damage, too.

The floods aren't a onetime problem for the farmers. In April, high winds sweeping through the area had blown seed and small plants from the ground, and in May there had been some flood damage from heavy rains.

BARELY RECOVERED

"We had just got our fields pumped out and back in good shape," said Lacerne Dixon, when the latest and most disastrous flooding occured. Fields of onion, corn and sod in the Dixon Farms, Inc., network were heavily damaged.

However, farm price experts indicated that, despite the near ruin of one community's lettuce crop, the market price had increased only slightly. This was mostly due to general losses in New York and Colorado where the crops are much larger, a spokesman said.

Luck Runs Out

LAGRANGE, N. C. (AP) — Federal agents poured out 2,622 gallons of moonshine whisky worth $40,000 if sold by the drink and made one arrest in a raid on a farmhouse east of Lagrange. Agents said a mojo was hanging from a tree in the back yard. A mojo is parts of a turtle in a whisky bottle. The superstitious believe it will keep away evil elements and the law.

Ice Cream Is a Delight to Eat Any Time

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Thomas Jefferson who introduced ice cream to America would probably be flabbergasted at the varieties available and the amount eaten today.

Real devotees will eat ice cream anytime — even for breakfast. Children love a fruit and cereal sundae for breakfast on a hot morning. The ice cream takes the place of milk and sugar.

★ ★ ★

For readers who are concerned about calories, it may be wise to point out that plain ice cream, ice milk and sherbet have little difference in calorie count.

- One-half cup of vanilla ice cream is 145 calories.
- One-half cup of ice milk is 143 calories.
- One-half cup of sherbet is 118 calories.

The reason that ice milk is so close to plain ice cream is that more sugar must be added to obtain good flavor. Ice milk is lower in fat calories if that interests you. Otherwise, don't kid yourself that you're dieting when you eat ice milk.

KEEP SEALED

If you buy frozen dairy products in large quantities for your freezer, keep them tightly sealed to prevent evaporation, crystalization or absorption of odors. It's wise to put the cardboard container in a plastic bag and seal it.

Most ice cream tastes better if served at the "scooping" soft stage. Let it stand about 10 minutes at room temperature or 30 minutes in the refrigerator before serving.

★ ★ ★

For a fancy looking dessert, yet one that takes little time to prepare, coat pint bricks of ice cream with presweetened cereals. Slice and serve with a fruit sauce.

Cereal Coated Ice Cream Loaves

1 to 3 pint bricks ice cream, strawberry, peach, or vanilla
1 to 3 favorite presweetened puffed cereals
Defrosted sweetened strawberries, raspberries, or peaches

ICE CREAM LOAVES

MARKET BASKET

Quickly coat the number of pint bricks of ice cream on all sides, one at a time, with a favorite presweetened puffed cereal. It will take 1 to 1½ cups of cereal to coat each pint of ice cream.

Place coated ice cream on prechilled tray or plate and put in freezer at once, to harden. At serving time cut each pint into 3 or 4 slices; serve with fruit desired.

Make this dessert only a few hours ahead of serving time so cereal will be crisp and crunchy. Yield: Each pint makes 3 or 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Originally, parfaits were whipped cream concoctions. But they are often made with ice cream layered in a tall glass with luscious sauce. Top with whipped cream and a cherry if you can't resist that touch.

Here are two different sauces:

Coffee Rum Sauce

3 tablespoons instant coffee powder
⅓ cup whipping cream
⅓ cup honey
1 package (10 oz.) marshmallows
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons rum flavoring

★ ★ ★

Dissolve coffee in cream. Combine with honey, marshmallows and salt in saucepan. Cook, stirring occasionally, over medium heat until marshmallows are melted. Do not boil. Remove from heat; stir in rum flavoring. Cool before using. Makes 2 cups sauce.

Coffee Fudge Sauce

1 cup light brown sugar
1 tablespoon instant coffee powder
¼ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

★ ★ ★

Combine all ingredients except vanilla. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Continue to cook and stir 3 or 4 minutes, or until thickened. Add vanilla. Cool before using. Makes about 1½ cups.

★ ★ ★

NOTE: Both sauces make approximately 6-8 servings. Since the Fudge Sauce is richer, less is used per serving.

★ ★ ★

Love banana splits? But no banana split dishes? Cheer up: the latest thing is a stand-up split. Another innovation is root beer sauce.

Stand-Up Root Beer Split

12 oz. root beer
1 cup sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup (⅛ stick) butter
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup light cream
½ cup chopped walnuts

★ ★ ★

Bananas
Vanilla ice cream
Chocolate ice cream
Whipped cream, optional
Maraschino cherries

★ ★ ★

Combine root beer, sugar, corn syrup, butter and salt in heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring to dissolve sugar; boil 8 to 10 minutes or until slightly thickened. Reduce heat and slowly pour in cream, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil.

★ ★ ★

Remove from heat and add nuts. Cool. Makes 2½ cups.

★ ★ ★

To make split: Cut banana in half lengthwise. Arrange in root beer mug, top with ice cream. Spoon a generous amount of root beer sauce over ice cream. Top with whipped cream and a cherry, if desired.

★ ★ ★

Vanilla ice cream and cantaloupe or honeydew are good companions. Make this combination more exciting with a delicious blueberry topping. Canned pie filling is a quick base for the sauce.

Blueberry Melon Sundae

1 No. 2 can (2 cups) blueberry pie filling
½ cup port wine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Vanilla ice cream or lemon sherbet
Cantaloupes OR honeydew wedges

★ ★ ★

Combine blueberry pie filling, wine and lemon juice. Spoon ice cream or sherbet into cantaloupe or honeydew wedges; top with blueberry sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Sodas Quench Thirst

On a steamy hot afternoon, happiness is a cold and bubbly ice cream soda.

When your hard-at-play family comes bursting into the house "just dying for something cold and wet," treat them to ice cream coolers. Or better yet, let everyone fix his own.

★ ★ ★

Just have on hand plenty of spoonable, pourable canned chocolate syrup to be used as the rich, satisfying basic flavor. Then let each thirsty one pick and choose among different flavored ice creams and carbonated drinks to create his own favorite.

These coolers are simple to assemble, so you won't be left with a messy kitchen.

CHOCOLATE STRAWBERRY REFRESHER

¼ cup chilled chocolate flavored syrup
2 tablespoons milk
1 scoop strawberry ice cream
Chilled lemon-lime carbonated beverage

Pour chocolate flavored syrup into a tall (12-ounce) glass. Stir in milk. Add strawberry ice cream. Pour lemon-lime beverage slowly into glass to fill. Stir gently. Garnish with fresh strawberry, if desired. Yield: 1 12-ounce glass.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM SODA

½ cup carbonated water
3 tablespoons chilled chocolate flavored syrup
1 scoop vanilla ice cream

Stir first three ingredients in a 12-ounce glass. Add scoop of ice cream on top. Yield: 1 12-ounce glass.

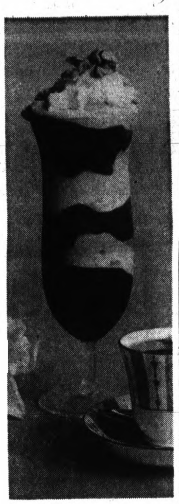

CHOCOLATE MOCHA COLA

1 can (5½ ounces) chilled chocolate flavored syrup
1 quart milk
1 pint coffee ice cream
1 twenty-ounce bottle chilled cola drink

Mix chocolate flavored syrup and milk together. Pour into tall glasses. Add a scoop of ice cream to each glass. Fill with cola drink. Yield: 6 twelve-ounce glasses.

This insures that you get not only quality meat but meats that are cleanly and wholesomely processed.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of my dear husband, William R. Hall who passed away 2 yrs. ago today, July 10, 1966.
If all the world were ours to give, We'd give it more.
To see the face we love so dear
Come smiling through the door
To hear his voice, to see him smile
To sit with him and chat awhile.
So you who have your husband and Dad
Cherish him with care
For you'll never know the heartache
Till you see his empty chair.
Sadly missed by his wife, Elsie and daughter Shirley

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Bert W. Harlan who passed away so suddenly July 10, 1967
Dear husband you are forgotten
Fond memories linger on and wherever I look I can see your face as your presence is ever near.
The depths of sorrow
No one can tell
Of the many lonely hours
Spent without you.
Sadly missed by wife, Ethel

IN LOVING MEMORY of Gloria Cambers Hawkins, who passed away July 10, 1963 and is tenderly remembered by Grampa, Mom and Dad, Brothers, Sisters Nieces and Nephews.

Flint, Unions Resume Talks in Walkout

FLINT (AP) — Negotiators resumed Tuesday night between three striking union locals and the city of Flint.

Negotiators were called back by Circuit Court Judge Stewart Newblat, who had issued an injunction ordering some 1,400 of the 2,500 striking city workers back to their jobs.

* * *

The sessions are being held in Judge Newblat's courtroom behind closed doors. City officials, union representatives and the judge have been reluctant to discuss the negotiations with newsmen.

The announcement of the resumption of talks came at an outdoor rally of the striking workers in downtown Flint. At the rally, union leaders from the two locals representing workers who had been ordered back to their jobs at city hospital by the injunction, vowed they would not return to work until an equitable wage agreement is reached with the city. Some workers defied the injunction Tuesday by remaining off the job.

Rockefeller May Go It Alone on National GOP Poll

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — rebuffed on his call for a cross-country poll to indicate who the strongest Republican presidential candidate would be — is reported ready to conduct it on his own.

Richard M. Nixon, whose aides, along with Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss, rejected Rockefeller's proposal yesterday, concentrated his efforts today on increasing his commanding delegate lead for the GOP nomination.

★ ★ ★

He planned to meet today in Chicago with delegates from 10 Midwest states.

Rockefeller advisers said the governor could be expected to commission his proposed poll without the cooperation of Nixon or Bliss.

On the Democratic side, sources close to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey say he has offered the vice presidential spot, if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination, to no one.

They say he is not telling even his closest friends his preference for a running mate, and expect he will remain silent on his choice until the Democratic National Convention opens in Chicago Aug. 26.

But they acknowledge presures could cause Humphrey to tip his hand before the convention.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy resumes his Democratic presidential campaign Friday with a western swing and is scheduled to speak minutes before Humphrey at a dinner in Olympia, Wash., on the eve of the Washington State Democratic Convention.

In other political developments:

● Former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, campaigning for McCarthy, said in Atlanta, Ga., he believes third-party candidate George Wallace could average 25 per cent of the vote in states where he is on the November ballot. "I think its a hidden vote in many places," Mitchell said.

★ ★ ★

● Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, asked Tuesday about McCarthy's request to address the national convention, repeated his position that McCarthy will have the speaking rights of any delegate.

Rains Cut Power, Blamed in Death

Torrential rains and hail which pounded the Pontiac area yesterday afternoon temporarily cut off power for thousands of homes and are blamed in the death of one man in a four-vehicle crash on I-96 in Novi.

Dead is John Henry Graham, 45, of Detroit, who died at 12:35 a.m. today in Botsford Hospital, Farmington Township, about nine hours after the accident. His passenger, Eddie Johnson, 29, of Detroit, was in fair condition this morning in the hospital.

★ ★ ★

None of the other 70 some persons involved in the crash, including about 50 children in a DSR bus, was hurt badly enough to be hospitalized.

Today's respite from heat and rain was deemed only temporary by the U.S. Weather Bureau, which forecast rising temperatures for tomorrow and more showers Friday.

According to Redford State Police and Novi police, who investigated the fatal crash, it was touched off as the bus and a truck traveling east on the expressway collided when they ran into heavy rain and hail.

The car following the two vehicles veered, crossed the median and struck a state highway department truck. The car carrying Graham and Johnson was almost completely demolished.

The bus with the children veered to the right, went down the embankment and was stopped after it plowed into the side of a hill. None of the children or adult supervisors were badly hurt. The bus was on its way back from a day's outing in Kensington Park.

The children were a disadvantaged group on a trip sponsored by the Detroit Mayor's Committee on Human Resources.

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

The state highway truck involved in the fatal collision was driven by Richard Holmes, 43, of Detroit, according to police. He and two passengers, George Heenan, 18, of 1016 Berwick, Pontiac, and Tom Pinkos, 20, of Warren, were examined and treated at Botsford Hospital, but had no serious injuries. Both were released from the hospital.

★ ★ ★

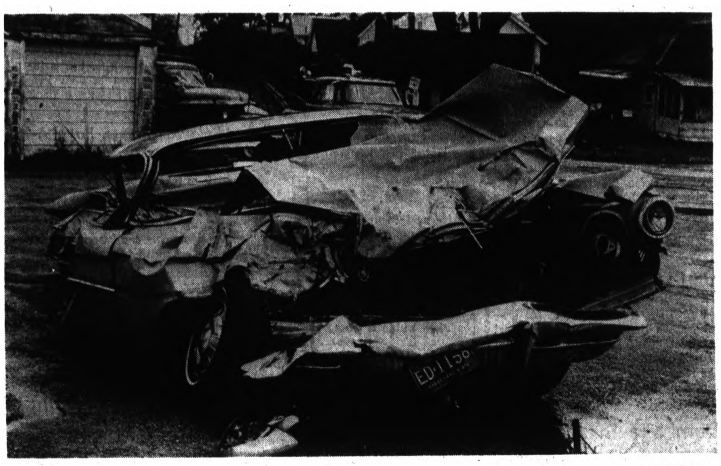

A rash of downed power lines, telephine lines, flooded basements, blocked streets and stalled cars came in the wake of the storm which proved even more destructive than the severe storm of June 24. Rain was measured at 2.75 inches by the county drain office.

Following is a roundup of some of the troubles encountered:

Lightning downed wires in a number of areas, interrupting the electric service of some 18,000 customers in the Pontiac area.

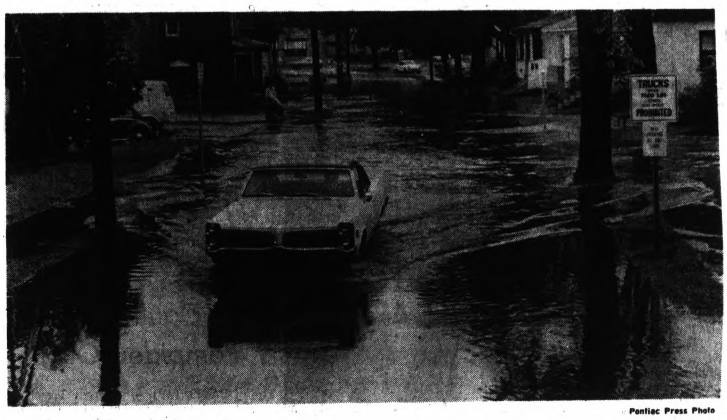

Consumers Power Co. reported 15,000

Pontiac Motorists Drive Through Water On Way Home From Work Yesterday

Downtown Plan Is Presented

By BOB WISLER

Architect C. Don Davidson yesterday afternoon guided some 475 persons through a crystal ball tour of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal area as it would look upon completion of the $80-million plan designed by him, fellow architect Bruno Leon, and financial consultant Marvin D. Skelton.

★ ★ ★

Davidson, in a sophisticated slide presentation, gave those attending a luncheon at the Pontiac Elks Club a view of a prospective concentrated development of high-rise office buildings, apartment towers, and motel facilities. Intertwined would be commercial shopping facilities, theaters, a sports arena, a restaurant, and facilities for the convalescence and housing of elderly. All would be joined together by pedestrian plazas built at different levels.

★ ★ ★

The luncheon, an interservice luncheon for a number of civic clubs, was arranged by Carleton C. Patterson Jr. and Frederick Poole Jr.

It was arranged so the plan could be viewed by a wide spectrum of community leaders and those interested in seeing the plan. Its only other public presentation was at a meeting of the Pontiac Area Planning Council board of governors June 13.

SUPPORT URGED

Speakers urged community support of the plan and said the designers would be available to present it to special groups. Arrangements can be made through the city's urban renewal director, James L. Bates, at city hall.

★ ★ ★

In viewing the main points of the plan the audience saw a variety of simple floor plans, artists' rendering and photographs of a scale model of the completed development.

Toastmaster Ralph Norvell said the "Pontiac Plan" now has three of the four necessary ingredients for its success: an experienced, imaginative architect, and interested and capable developer and a financial committment from a leading institution backed by an experienced financial consultant.

★ ★ ★

He said the fourth ingredient necessary to make the plan a reality is communitywide involvement and encouragement.

'COULD BE IMPETUS'

Norvell said that with community support the proposed development could become the impetus for a renewed community, "an All-American city."

Leon, dean of the University of Detroit's school of architecture, who with Davidson designed the plan, said if the city is to carry through with the plan it must have visionary ability, and courage to effect the vision.

"A community is the reflection of your souls," he said.

Leon said interest of city and community leaders and the attitude of the developers — "who are interested in something more than crass commercialism" — have been a manifestation of the spirit necessary to construct something meaningful and monumental in the downtown area.

FEATURES CITED

In outlining the plan, Davidson said that he believes it will be a success because of the plan's features. "It does not depend on whether certain tenants will enter," he said.

★ ★ ★

Davidson said the plan is such that portions of it can be completed at one time. Completion of any part will give appearance of a completed project and generate interest in completion of other parts, he said.

Two Officers Shot in Police Argument

NEW YORK (AP) — Two patrolmen were shot and wounded when a gunbattle erupted Tuesday night among three off-duty city policemen following an automobile mishap on the Cross-Bronx Expressway.

The injured were identified as probationary patrolman Nicolo J. Danisi, 24, in critical condition with a head wound, and patrolman John Dalton, 41, in serious condition with a chest wound. Both were in Jacobi Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Police, who promptly began an investigation of the incident, identified the third man as Detective Frederick Gibson, 28, of the Bureau of Special services.

All three were dressed in civilian clothes and driving their own cars when the incident began about 10:15 p.m.

CAR STALLS

The car driven by Dalton stalled on the expressway in the East Bronx where the roadway is partially blocked by construction.

Danisi was in a car backed up behind the stalled vehicle and he got out and walked up to Dalton's car. Police said the two men started arguing.

★ ★ ★

Gibson, who was several cars away, told police he saw Danisi pull out his wallet and display his shield to Dalton.

A police spokesman said Gibson then saw Dalton shoot Danisi, the bullet striking the probationary patrolman above the right eye.

EXCHANGE SHOTS

Police said Gibson then took cover behind a car and, drawing his revolver, ordered Dalton to drop the gun. But, Dalton fired at Gibson instead, police said.

Returning the fire, Gibson shot Dalton in the chest.

1st Round Rough in British Open

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Bill Casper, leading money winner on the American pro circuit, scrambled to a par 72 today as the world's top golfers found going tough in the opening round of the British Open Golf Championship.

Of the early American finishers, Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., soared to a 78, as did Jerry Pittman, a teaching pro from New York. Hubby Habjan, club pro from Chicago, had a 77.

★ ★ ★

Mike Bonallack, top British amateur and a member of the Walker Cup team, and Brian Barnes, obscure English pro, were the early leaders with two-under-par 70.

Jack Nicklaus, the favorite, was a late starter as were such favorites as defending champion Robert de Vicenzo, Gary Player of South Africa and Arnold Palmer.

COURSE RECORD

Winds with growing intensity whistled across the aged links where Ben Hogan won the British Open with a course record 282 in 1963.

There were 130 in the field starting over the 7,252-yard course, rated one of the toughest in golf.

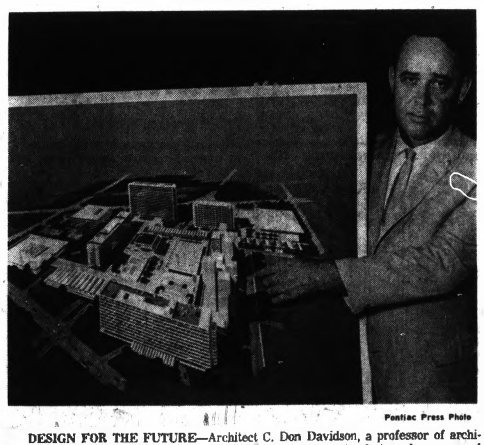

Casper, San Diego, Calif., birdied the seventh with an eight foot putt for a three and got down a putt of similar size for a birdie three at the 11th.

Some of his pars were the hard way though, especially the 473-yard 12th.

PUTTING BLAMED

Sanders said putting was responsible for his high score. "I putt like an old motorboat," he groaned.

Habjan, a teaching pro who seldom ventures on the tour, said the course was unlike anything he had played in the United States.

85 Hurt in Collapse of Tent at Circus

State Police said 24 persons were hospitalized, mostly with broken limbs. One person suffered a broken jaw.

About 800 persons were in the tent before the storm began, but many left because of the heavy rain and winds. The tent can hold 4,000.

Two dozen of the injured were admitted to hospitals. Others were treated at the scene or discharged from hospitals after treatment.

Hanoi Denies U.S. Hint of Progress

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador Xuan Thuy, pressing for a quick end to all U.S. attacks on North Vietnam, accused American authorities today of having "spread rumors" of progress in the Paris peace talks to serve their own political purposes.

* * *

Thuy, denying progress, told U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that the search going on here for a way toward peace in Vietnam would fail unless the United States halts all attacks on the North at once. In case of such a failure, he argued, the United States would "bear the full and entire responsibility."

Thuy made his latest attack on the U.S. position in the 12th session of the talks which began May 13. The meeting lasted about three hours.

Harriman contradicted Thuy. He told newsmen; "I still maitain there are straws in the wind despite what he said."

There have been conflicting assessments of the deadlocked discussions for several weeks, but this was the first time the differences had come up so openly in a formal meeting.

North Vietnam is seeking to keep maximum public opinion pressure on the United States to end all bombing without getting any de-escalation in return.

MANEUVER FOUGHT

The United States has fought this maneuver and tried to bolster optimism by talking of evidence of movement or progress. In recent weeks two Cabinet members, Dean Rusk and Clark M. Clifford, secretaries of state and defense, have made such slightly hopeful estimates.

When he left the conference hall Thuy told newsmen: "There was no advance in today's session because the United States spoke of the future of the Southeast Asian region to avoid talking about the unconditional cessation of bombardments."

* * *

Harriman, back at the U. S. Embassy, said he could not claim any "immediate results."

In his statement to Thuy, Harriman renewed promises of U.S. support for a postwar Asian development program in which North Vietnam would participate. He appealed for an end to the war.

News Briefs From Wires

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. Alex Pilch, D-Dearborn, yesterday said he would introduce legislation in the next session to set deadlines for court suits involving pending elections. Pilch said his proposed legislation would be aimed at doing away with last-minute election hang-ups such as the litigation going on now over new state laws that permit incumbent officeholders to be listed first on election ballots. Last Friday, the State Court of Appeals struck down the laws as unconstitutional, and the Michigan Supreme Court was expected to act on the question within a few days.

POOBY Warns City on Repair of Road

Members of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY) last night vowed they would become "citizen repairmen" and begin reconstruction of Franklin Road within two weeks unless the city comes up with a plan for improvement of the road.

* * *

POOBY officers Richard Northcross, president, and Hubert Price Jr., vice president, detailed complaints which they said showed inequity between black and white neighborhoods in the expenditure of city funds.

* * *

Price said the city has shown disinterest in improving Franklin Road and is "recalcitrant" in taking steps to eliminate flooding conditions on Bagley.

* * *

He said unless the city could present a a plan in two weeks to end "intolerable" conditions within a reasonable period of time, we feel we have no alternative than to become citizen repairmen.

'CARELESS ATTITUDE'

Northcross said governmental actions in the past have shown a careless attitude toward previous requests of POOBY to fence in certain areas of Crystal Lake and the Clinton River near Beaudette at Chapman and Esther.

* * *

District 1 Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr. also complained and asked for city action to clear up a "stagnant pool" of water which has flooded Bagley near the Newman AME Church.

* * *

Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Neipling said almost continual rainfall and swelling of the Clinton River had caused Bagley to remain inundated in certain areas and Beaudette near Helen to be flooded.

POINTS TO SOLUTIONS

He said solutions to the problems lie in improvement of the Clinton River from Union Street back to Crystal Lake.

* * *

Reconstruction of Franklin Road — estimated as a $600,000-plus project and one of the worst in the city — is improvement of the river is a multimillion dollar project.

Neipling said his engineering staff had been studying the river problems for some time and would present recommendations to the commission in the near future.

"The principal reason for the failure of Fraklin is lack of adequate storm drainage. The reason for this is the difference in elevation between Franklin and Crystal Lake and the difficulty of getting a storm drainage system adequate to take water away," he said.

* * *

Neipling said solutin to the drainage problems and the road deterioration lies in rechanneling and lowering the level of the river so that a new road bed — which would be built to last 40 to 50 years — would be on a level substantially higher than the river.

The DPW director said he would recommend some short-range solutions to several flooding problems to the commission.

Judge Quits Race; Name on Ballot

BIRMINGHAM — Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr. has withdrawn from the race for district judge, but his name will appear on the Aug. 6 ballot.

Bernard Apol, state elections director, said that Emery's notification of withdrawal was received by his Lansing office after the deadline.

* * *

Emery's letter carried a July 3 postmark, which was two days prior to the deadline for dropping out of the race, but it wasn't delivered to Apol until Monday.

"We have to go by the day we get the letter and not the day its's mailed," Apol explained.

CERTIFIED

"He might not be a candidate, but he's been certified as such and will be in the primary," added Apol.

Emery was one of eight candidates who filed for one of the two new district judgeships established by the Legislature to serve the Birmingham-Bloomfield West Bloomfield area.

Emery could not be reached for comment on his reason for withdrawing from the race.

The City Commission has accepted "with regret" the resignation of Herbert H. Gardner from the Birmingham Retirement Board.

Prediction by Milliken

GOP Nomination Fight Seen

By JIM LONG

The chairman of Nelson Rockefeller's Michigan campaign, Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken, yesterday predicted a floor fight of delegates at the GOP national convention over the presidential nomination of the New York governor and Richard M. Nixon.

"Nixon hasn't sewed it up yet," said Milliken, shrugging off reports that the former vice president reportedly has the bulk of delegates behind him.

The Press does not contain a market page today due to the closing of the New York and American stock exchanges to allow employes to catch up on paper work. Regular stock listings will be resumed tomorrow.

Milliken, interviewed at The Pontiac Press during a day-long visit to Oakland County, said that he favored a poll of voters across the nation because it would demonstrate that Rockefeller has a broader base of support than so far revealed.

If Rockefeller can show his strength through a survey, Milliken believes that delegates to the national convention will listen and then follow the results in making their decision.

SEES DRAWN-OUT BATTLE

"Nixon doesn't have the number of votes needed to win on the first ballot," said Milliken, adding that he is convinced that the convention will result in a drawn-out battle.

Milliken said he believes that more than half of the Michigan delegates to the convention support Rockefeller although it is difficult to tell because of the delegation's uncommitted position.

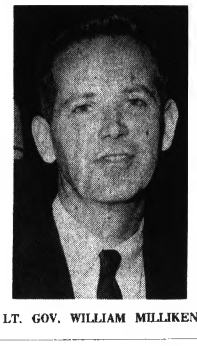

"Gov. Romney will have a great impact on the decision of the delegates," said Milliken, though admitting that he has no knowledge of how the governor will vote. "I've never asked him."

The lieutenant governor said that if Rockefeller receives the Republican nomination he can win the presidency no matter what Democratic candidate is nominated.

"And from all indications, it appears that Vice President Humphrey will win the Democratic nomination," Milliken said.

Milliken said that there are no immediate plans for Rockefeller to visit Michigan.

"A visit at this time might be helpful," said Milliken, "but not necessarily fruitful."

Police Arrest County Clerk

Oakland County Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy yesterday pleaded innocent in Clawson Municipal Court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

His trial was scheduled for July 23 at 10 a.m. before Judge Bristol Hunter.

* * *

According to Clawson police, Murphy was taken into custody at 1:40 a.m. after allegedly driving on the wrong side of a two-lane residential street.

Murphy of 420 N. Marias, Clawson, refused to submit to a breathalyzer test, Chief Frank Cribb reported. He said that because of Murphy's "uncooperative attitude," he was not booked immediately.

CAR FOLLOWED

The arresting officer, Herb Bisnett, reported he began following Murphy's car after seeing it move slowly down Broadacre west of Custer.

He said when he stopped the car on Manitou Murphy identified himself only after being asked three times.

Three years ago, in May 1965, Murphy pleaded guilty in Birmingham Municipal Court to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor and was fined $100.

De Gaulle Eases Pompidou Out

PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou moved to the sidelines of the French government today and informants said President Charles de Gaulle was handing the premiership off to Maurice Couve de Murville, the loyal Gaullist foreign minister for 10 years.

Word of the popular Pompidou's stepdown came after a meeting of the Cabinet with de Gaulle. It lasted for only an hour and 40 minutes and apparently involved adieus more than business.

* * *

The reasons for the change were not totally clear, but the most reliable reports coming out of a government, where secrecy is a watchword, suggested that Pompidou lost the 77-year-old president's favor because he disagreed with de Gaulle's plans for worker participation in industrial management and profits.

Pompidou, a banker, literary critic, and liver of the good life, had been thought of as a likely successor to de Gaulle as president. He seemed to be the only man to emerge from the French social convulsions in May with anything like an enhanced political reputation.

RESIGNATION PROCEDURE

Tradition requires that Pompidou call on de Gaulle personally to hand in his resignation. Looking ahead, the premier had already scheduled a dinner at his Matignon residence for members of the outgoing government.

"Adventure in Art" on Trumbull Terrace, Meadow Brook Festival grounds, began Tuesday with Carolyn Hall of Birmingham (left) and Eleen Auvil of Romeo. Mrs. Hall brought some of her "fun" stitchery projects like grandma and the cat as well as more serious paintings. Mrs. Auvil showed samples of the weaving for which she is nationally famous. The first of Tuesday's thunderstorms cut her talk short.

Sky's the Limit for Area Woman in This Race

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Five female-piloted planes arrived Tuesday for a total of ten which have completed the 2,500-mile annual Powder Puff Derby cross country race.

Among these ten is Mrs. Charles H. (Margaret) Ashton of Beverly Hills. Money-winners will not be determined until after the extended deadline of noon today. Another 60 are expected in before then.

★ ★ ★

The original deadline of 8:34 p.m. Tuesday was extended when it became obvious rain and fog would prevent at least 40 per cent of the planes from meeting it, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

But fog and rain notwithstanding, several women did make it into the Savannah airport, including: Billie B. Stringer of Sulphur, La.; Sammy McKay of Grand Blanc, Mich.; Mrs. Shirley W. Niller and Elaine H. Smith, both of Stockton, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Others beating the deadline were: Madine Parsel of New Port Beach, Calif., and Virginia Coffee of Costa Mesa, Calif.; Paula Joyce Sox of Decatur, Ga., and Ester P. Wright, Thomasville, Ga.

Norell Designs for Fall Evenings Drenched in Rainbow of Stones

NEW YORK (AP) — Put your jewels back in the safe, girls. With Norman Norell's fall evening dresses, you won't need them.

AP Wirephoto

Norell, the dean of American designers, previewed his fall collection here Monday night for a black-tie audience which included singer Dinah Shore, Mrs. Charles Revson, wife of the cosmetic king — in a Norell, of course, and Diana Vreeland, editor of Vogue.

★ ★ ★

And even though most of his customers can afford plenty of gems of their own — his clothes run into four figures — Norell put plenty of substitute stones right on the dresses.

★ ★ ★

Red, blue, green and clear stones formed mock ribbons supporting Maltese crosses on simple, floor-length gowns of almost every color.

Similar rectangular gems looked like chain necklaces.

MORE GLITTER

For the woman who wanted even more glitter, there were sequins and rhinestones. Rhinestone buttons marched up and down the front, side or back of short black evening dresses.

★ ★ ★

Sequin bands outlined a simple black trench coat.

One model looked like a fairy princess shimmering in stardust as she swirled out in a shirtwaist-style, long gown of peach chiffon over silk covered with gold sequins and stars.

★ ★ ★

For the customer who prefers her own jewels, Norell showed simple black crepe evening dresses with midriff cut-outs.

★ ★ ★

One cutout showed plenty of cleavage — in the back. Another left the whole midriff bare except for jail bar stripes of fabric keeping top and bottom together.

But the piece de resistance was a two piece capelet and skirt ensemble. The top ended just below the bust; the bottom began below the navel.

★ ★ ★

And just to show that he's not against non-Norell gems, the designer had his model wear a stone in her navel. Unfortunately, the jewel fell out.

No Sermons, Just Some Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been suffering from a muscle-deteriorating disease for the past 11 years. He is 42 and hasn't been able to walk for four years, so he's in a wheelchair.

ABBY

I hold down a job and am trying to raise three children, in addition to being a nurse to my husband, which is not easy.

I am 40, attractive, and I miss dancing, swimming, and bowling, which I once loved. Would it be wrong for me to accept the occasional companionship of a man who can do all those things I love to do? I don't want to get emotionally involved with another man because I love my husband, but, Abby, I get so weary just sitting with him.

What do other wives of handicapped husbands do? I am a normal, healthy, energetic woman. Please don't give me a sermon about having taken this man "in sickness and in health." I know all that. What I need is some advice.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If you honestly don't want to become emotionally involved with another man, don't go swimming, dancing, or bowling with one. It may start out innocently enough, but it rarely ends up that way. You say you have missed a lot.

Well, your husband has also missed a lot. And that "sermon" you didn't want to hear about having taken your husband "in sickness and in health" would not be a bad one to review. What if the "shoe" were on YOUR foot, which wasn't going anywhere?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter announced her engagement a few months ago, and now there are indications that she is not quite so "sure" as she once was. The boy is pushing for an early wedding, and our daughter now says she wishes she could wait "a little while," but because she said they'd have "a summer wedding," she has to go through with it soon.

In our hearts we have never felt that this young man was "right" for our daughter, but when she told us she was going to marry him, we kept our opinions to ourselves, since her decision had already been made. Now we are sorry we weren't more honest with her in the beginning, and we don't know what to say or do.

Please answer this as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

DEAR TROUBLED: Let your daughter know that you are with her all the way if she wants to "wait a while." Encourage her to wait until she is absolutely certain that he is the man with whom she wants to spend the rest of her life.

A broken engagement is relatively "painless" as compared with a broken marriage. If she doubts it, she can ask any divorcee.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: Two years ago I became involved with a married woman. (I'll call her June.) I was also married and I left my wife and children to live with June, who left her husband to live with me. I realized after three months that I had made a terrible mistake, so I went back to my wife who was big enough to forgive me and take me back.

Soon after I left June, she called me at work and told me she was having MY baby. (It could be.) I didn't have the heart to tell my wife about it, but I have been giving June money to keep her quiet, and to support the child. She keeps asking for more and I can't afford it.

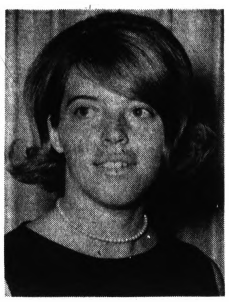

I have been so nervous and preoccupied lately that my wife suspects something is wrong, but I've already hurt her so much that I can't tell her. What should I do?

IN DEEP

DEAR IN: First tell your wife. She shouldn't be shocked because she knew you left her to live with another woman. Get yourself a lawyer and let the law decide how much (if anything) this woman is entitled to. And pay up like a man.

Knit This Fall Cape

If you are keeping up with current fashion news, you know that capes are making a comeback. And if you knit, no one need tell you that capes are easier to make than most toppers.

Capes have made dramatic entrances in many fashion eras. During the days of Charles IX, capes of semicircular shapes were the most popular styles. Most often they had short sleeves trimmed with fur.

* * *

About the time of Louis XV, women wore dresses with bodices that formed a point in front. They were stiffened by whalebones and had sleeves with vertical pleats.

Then, in the mid 19th century, a sleeveless cape with arm slits became the favorite topper.

Its design, featuring a double-pointed collar and two rows of buttons, was influenced by styles worn by the Carbonari, a secret political society in Italy, France and Spain.

It's no secret now, however, that capes are setting a smart fashion pace. Their simple styling looks well with both sports and city wear.

* * *

The cape shown today is easy to knit in contrasting colors of yarn. A single size fits 12, 14, or 16.

For your copy of an instruction leaflet for making this classic cape design, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Please ask for leaflet No. S144 and be sure to give your name, address and zip code.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Is it necessary to line and underline a summer cotton suit? I have been doing this to my suits since I have been reading your column and love the results. Yet for summer, I don't want a suit that is too hot for comfort. Please help us.

Mrs. C. B.

Dear Mrs. C. B.:

Once again may I repeat, it all depends on the weight of the fabric and the style of the garment. If you use a cotton tapestry, seersucker or linen, in other words, fabric that has a great deal of firmness and body, it will not be necessary to underline the garment fabric.

As to lining, this is optional. If you do line a summer suit, use a lawn, voile, printed or solid color, or one of the batiste cotton prints. If the garment is going to be washed, be sure to check that all fabrics and interfacings have been preshrunk. It is usually best to use interfacing for the front sections as well as the collar to retain shape.

★ ★ ★

If you aren't lining your suit, you should finish the seams. You may turn under the edge of the seam and machine stitch them close to the fold, or bind them in a cotton bias binding. Armholes are best if trimmed fairly close and then bound.

Mrs. L. G. says:

"In the summer your nerves can be worn to a frazzle by having to replace a constant barrage of zippers in shorts, slacks and skirts. This is because children simply won't take the time to put their clothes on and take them off with care. Sew a double fold of fabric, or a double strip of hem tape across the lower end of the zipper (wrong side) just about 1 inch above the end of the slide. The zipper won't slip down farther than the tab, and it prevents stretching and tearing at the end!"

SWIM SUITS

Dear Eunice Farmer:

Is it possible to make our own swimming suits? So many of the suits today are made of cotton anyway. Please give us some hints. A group of my friends want to make them because our parents won't give us so much money for the few inches of material you get in a ready-made suit.

Miss P. K.

Dear Miss P. K.:

Yes, I say this every year, I'm sure you can make your own bathing suits. I have seen some darling ones with the matching jackets made by high school girls. In fact, you can copy some of them for less than $5, where the ready-made ones would cost over $30 for the ensemble.

Usually the fabric is used double, especially for the bra part. It often works out well to actually sew the front part of an old bra right into your suit. It will become easier to get a good fit. Remember to finish all the seams well. Usually this is done in a French seam that won't come apart easily.

Instead of making the jersey pants the patterns suggest, just tack a pair of cotton panties in your suit that you can buy. Depending on how brief the suit is, you may want to reinforce the jersey panties in the back and undersection.

Use a heavy-duty zipper for the closing. There is usually so much strain and pull on a zipper. Also, be sure to use an extension under the zipper and apply the large grippers to this extension. You can find these used on your ready-made swim suits. When you close the grippers first, there is less strain on the zipper.

★ ★ ★

If you have just begun to read my column, you'll find my booklet "Twenty Most Frequently Asked Questions" a great help. To obtain this booklet send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

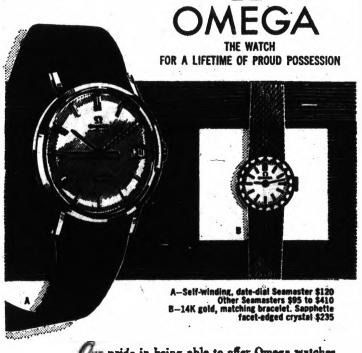

Choose Colors to Flatter Self

How do you choose the color of your clothes? To follow the fashion trends too closely is not always wise. A color that's right for someone else may not be right for you.

Choose shades that are most becoming to your own hair and complexion. Test your color-type by tucking fabrics of assorted hues under your chin (in the daylight). Stay with the ones that are most flattering.

Warm Frosting to Unwrap Cake

When you bring home a cake from the store or bakery and find that the icing wants to stick to the wrapping, wring out a cloth dipped in hot water and place it lightly over the wrapped cake, leaving it there for about two minutes.

The heat from the cloth melts the frosting just enough to allow you to remove the covering without disturbing the frosting.

Don't Delay

An expert advises prompt sponge-off of high acid foods — such as mustard, catsup, salad dressing and tomato sauce — which might cause permanent stains if allowed to penetrate the surface.

$115,500 Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Calhoun Community Action Agency in Battle Creek has been awarded a $115,500 Office of Economic Opportunity grant for neighborhood centers, program administration and a recreation program.

FHA Promises City Rent Aid

Supplements Planned for W. Kennett Units

The Federal Housing Administration has reserved $252,773 in funds for eventual rent supplement payments on a planned 325 units of housing on W. Kennett near Cloverlawn, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today.

The move, in effect, guarantees further federal participation in a rent supplement housing project being developed by housing developer Charles L. Langs.

* * *

The government last year guaranteed funds for rent supplement payments on 200 units now being constructed by Langs.

The additional amount practically ensures construction of another 325 units, bringing the total to be constructed up to 525.

* * *

Under the rent supplement plan, the government guarantees the developer a standard rental rate, according to a complicated formula, for each of the units.

The government pays the difference between what the tenant can pay in rental charges — up to 25 per cent of his income — and the standard rate.

Beer Trucks Rolling Again as Strike Ends

The beer trucks are rolling into Oakland County again today following a 10-day strike which threatened to cut off supplies.

* * *

Ratification of the contract was reached yesterday by Local 38 of the Brewery Workers Union whose drivers serve the Oakland County Beer Distributors Association. The men were reported back on the job today.

* * *

The strike was called July 1 in a dispute which reportedly involved pay and working hours. Settlement was reached in a contract which reportedly gave the drivers about 90 cents increase in wages and fringe benefits in a three-year pact.

* * *

The strike would have affected all but about 5 per cent of the county beer supplies which, according to estimates would have been depleted in area warehouses within a few days.
