West Berlin Crowd of 3,000 Mills at Gate

EAST GERMANS AT GATE — A lone soldier mans a machinegun aboard an East German armored vehicle as other troops take up duty at the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin. East Germany's Red rulers set up barbed wire, armored vehicles including tanks, and hundreds of troops in an effort to seal off flow of refugees and other East Germans to West Berlin. Action was denounced by Western spokesmen as a violation of Big Four agreements for control of the divided city.

It was an angry challenge to the Red orders that clamped off the flow of refugees.

About 120 militiamen armed with submachine guns formed a semicircle at the gate. Inside the semicircle were five East German soldiers.

The throng on the West Berlin side had grown from perhaps a hundred to 3,000 by midafternoon. West Berlin police took a hand then to move back the crowd, saying the situation had become too tense.

But even as a police cordon shoved the watchers westward, other West Berliners steamed in from the downtown area and complicated the task.

A few stones were thrown at the Communist police and troops. West Berlin police said, and the Communists replied with three tear-gas bombs.

Witnesses reported a contrary wind carried the gas fumes back toward the Communists.

The East German government closed the gate, the chief crossing point between East and West Berlin, and severed phone connections with the West.

West German officials said today that more than 1,500 East Germans had fled safely to West Berlin since the Communist border clampdown Sunday. Born also reports telegraph communications have been severed by East Germany.

ON GUARD — An East German soldier, with an automatic weapon slung over his shoulder, keeps watch on the East-West border in Berlin after Communists prohibited East Germans from crossing into the West Sector.

Communist factory militiamen in olive drab uniforms stood behind each of the gate's five archways, with rifles held across their chests. Personnel carriers with steel-helmeted troops of the East German People's army and powerful riot hose wagons were drawn up behind them.

West Berliners clamored for sharp counteraction against the blockade of East German travel, imposed at the sector border by East German troops and police armed as if prepared to combat open revolt.

Barbed wire barricades, tanks and soldiers cut off the great refugee flow from East Germany.

None of the 80,000 East Germans with jobs in West Berlin showed up for work. Henceforth, they must have passes to get past the barricades.

The closing o fthe Brandenburg Gate, one of 13 crossings left open when a little Iron Curtain was forged at the sector border Sunday, was described as temporary, Karl Maron, East German interior minister, blamed "continued provocations" at the gate, which was the scene of riotous demonstrations by West Berliners Sunday night.

A dozen street crossings remained open, however, to such West Berliners and foreigners as wished to enter East Berlin, among them about 15,000 persons who regularly work there.

"Paper protests are not enough," shouted angry demonstrators among about 4,000 West Berliners who marched to headquarters of the West Berlin city government.

As the clampdown on traffic cut the great tide of refugees to a trickle, East Berlin looked like a city at war.

Envoy to Moscow Advises on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy conferred with his envoy to Moscow, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, today on the Berlin crisis as official Washington watched tensely the Communist effort to shut off the flood of refugees from East Germany.

The Soviet-backed crackdown by East Germany on the massive exodus to the West brought the current Berlin crisis to a new peak of tension. Authorities here said it could lead to outbursts of violence and perhaps even widespread revolt in Communist East Germany.

Thompson went to the White House shortly after Kennedy returned from a weekend at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The President and Thompson talked about 80 minutes. When leaving the White House, Thompson told reporters "I had a very interesting talk," but it's up to the President "to say what we talked about."

In reply to a question, he did confirm that the Berlin situation had been discussed.

★ ★ ★

The ambassador plans to leave Washington late today and fly tonight from New York to Frankfurt. From Frankfurt, he will go to join his family, now in Germany on vacation. Thompson said he did not know when he would return to Moscow.

IN U.S. OVER WEEKEND

The ambassador came to Washington late last week on instructions from Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Both men had attended a series of diplomatic meetings in Paris.

Rusk was expected to meet with the President this afternoon on the Berlin situation.

Aides had said he would accompany Thompson to the White House this morning, but he was prevented from doing so by an engagement to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of the administration's proposed new disarmament agency.

★ ★ ★

Rusk denounced the Red crackdown on travel between East and West Berlin as a "flagrant violation" of agreements by the Soviet Union to permit "free circulation" within the city and between Berlin and the rest of Germany.

★ ★ ★

In a statement issued at the State Department Sunday, Rusk called the flight of thousands of Germans in recent weeks from Communist rule a proof of "the failures of communism in East Germany."

Reporter in East Berlin Takes Ride Through City of Fear

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT

I saw the soldiers, tanks and armed police. I felt the fear.

My 90-minute taxi ride through East Berlin showed me as many police and soldiers on the streets as civilians. Through my cab windows I saw a police state at work.

My West Berlin cab driver had hedged when I told him to cross the border. He bit his lip, paused, then slid into his seat and said: "I want to see how it looks today."

The cab rolled up to the Brandenburg Gate, one of the main doors in the Iron Curtain. "Where are you going?" snapped an East German border guard.

The cab driver opened his mouth in answer when he heard something go "Whoosh . . . swish . . . whoosh . . ." A few feet away East German police had turned a water cannon on Western news photographers. "Where are you going?" asked the Red guard again.

LIES TO GUARD

My cabbie wanted no trouble. "To the Trade Ministry," he lied. The Red guard looked into the cab's trunk and let us pass. The cab rolled into a sea of armed men.

About 1,500 "peoples police" and "workers militiamen" were posted on the Communist side of the Brandenburg Gate. Five Russian T34 tanks, manned by East Germans, sat there like giant toads.

The militiamen blocked our path.

"Can't you move aside?" my cabbie asked one formation.

"You shut your mouth," snarled a militiaman.

We drove into the eerie world of an East Berlin railroad station. Streetcars and buses inched around with almost empty seats.

The streets were bare of humanity.

Occasionally a person would dart out of a doorway, scurry down the street and rush into some building—in the quick, silent motion of a small, frightened animal. It seemed almost like a scene from a movie about the last days of the world.

"Where is everyone?" my cabbie yelled. He didn't have to yell. I sat two feet from him. But I understood. You yell when you feel suddenly lonesome.

"Only yesterday the streets were 10 times fuller than now," the cabbie said. Building sites were abandoned. Stalinlee—East Berlin's so-called showplace—was almost deserted.

My cabbie asked me not to mention his name, he said, "I don't want trouble when I go in next time—if there is a next time."

Snake Bite Kills Reptile Owner

Paul Allen, 53, on Dixie, Feeds Mouse to Cobra, Serum Fails

The owner of the "Snake's Alive" serpentorium on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township was fatally bitten by an Indian cobra last night.

Thousands have witnessed Paul Allen, 53, being bitten by snakes before, but only his wife, Ruth, 49, was present last night.

She told Pontiac state police that her husband was feeding a mouse to the deadly Nijah Nijah cobra from India when bitten on the finger.

Mrs. Allen said she immediately administered a shot of serum good for 40 minutes and then tried unsuccessfully to contact the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak for more serum.

Royal Oak police went to the zoo and obtained the serum which was then rushed to Allen. By that time — an hour and a half after being bitten — he had lapsed into unconsciousness.

The zoo serum was administered by Mrs. Allen and an ambulance resuscitator was applied en route to Pontiac General Hospital.

Mr. Allen was dead on arrival.

A showman who displayed his snakes to the public and often has been bitten by poisonous Michigan rattlesnakes, Allen had never been bitten by the more deadly cobra before.

Forecast Cloudy, Cool and Possibly Rainy Tuesday

Tuesday will be partly cloudy and cooler with showers likely, according to the weatherman. A high of 82 is expected.

For the next five days temperatures will average between the normal high of 81 and lows of 61. Thursday and Friday will be warmer with cooler temperatures on Saturday.

Precipitation will total about .2 to .4 of an inch as showers Tuesday and again Saturday.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding a.m. was 56. At 2 p.m. the temperature reading was 80.

Links Cage Fixers to Football Poisoning

"When diligent DA Frank Hogan explodes the college football bomb as a shocking sequel to the basketball scandal, among the repercussions will be evidence linking some of the notorious hoop figures to the headlined food-poisoning episode of 1960, when half the Oklahoma football team was stricken at Evanston on the eve of the Northwestern game."

Weissman did not elaborate further and Dist. Atty. Hogan's office has consistently declined to comment on all rumors of the direction his investigation of the gambling influence in college sports is taking.

Pontiac Line Hums Again

First 1962 Models Roll Out This Afternoon as Second Shift Reports

Line production of the first 1962 Pontiac and Tempest automobiles was to get under way this afternoon after second shift assembly workers report back to Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

The first assembly shift is to be back on the job tomorrow. Workers in nonassembly portions of the plant were back this morning.

By tomorrow, tempo at the plant will have reached "the normal" rate, a company spokesman said.

Although it has not been announced when the new Pontiac will first be revealed publicly, there were prospects that this would come earlier in the year than usual.

CHANGEOVER EARLIER

The annual model changeover, which began last month, came earlier than usual and lasted only 25 days, shorter time than usual.

Fisher Body Division, with the bulk of its employes back to work on both shifts, began shipping bodies to Pontiac Motor today in time for the second assembly shift there.

Assembly of bodies began at Fisher Body last week in preparation for the beginning of production today, a spokesman said.

The 1962 model run ended July 19 when 5,000 Pontiac Motor employes and 3,100 from Fisher Body were laid off for model changeover.

Asking Okay to Call UAW Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Quick votes to strike in support of new contract demands will be asked of more than half a million United Auto Workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants across the country.

★ ★ ★

Current three-year contracts between the UAW and the Big Three auto makers have only 17 more days to run.

The UAW's International Executive Board authorized the taking of strike votes among Big Three workers, at a special strategy meeting Sunday.

But at the same time the board turned down a request for a similar vote among members employed by American Motors Corp., the only auto maker thus far to offer a new wage package. AMC surprisingly offered a profit-sharing plan, which the UAW demanded in bargaining but didn't get three years ago.

EXPECT STRIKE OK

Some unionists expressed the hope that balloting could be completed this week or within 10 days at most. Executive board members expressed confidence that overwhelming strike approval would be forthcoming.

Contracts at GM, Ford and Chrysler all expire Aug. 31. The union's executive board said it would meet again Aug. 30 to fix a strike target if progress is not made meanwhile on new pacts.

Under the UAW's constitution, subsequent executive board approval would be necessary to legalize a strike and make members eligible for benefits when a strike fund that now exceeds $42 million.

In the past, the union has gone all-out to win a new contract from one company and then bring the others to that pattern.

★ ★ ★

UAW President Walter Reuther said in a statement after Sunday's board meeting that while AMC's profit-sharing proposal "does not represent an acceptable offer," it lays the basis for further discussion he said the union is giving the offer careful consideration.

Students Pedal Way on 2,450-Mile Trip

Three University of Michigan seniors—two from the Pontiac area—recommend a 2,450-mile bicycle trip as the best way to see the nation's scenery.

★ ★ ★

They are John E. Howell, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Howell, 243 Judson St.; Dustan Smith, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Smith, 3091 Edgefield Dr., Waterford Township, and Charles R. Curran, 20, of Dearborn.

All three agreed it was a great trip as they pulled their foreign-made bicycles into the driveway of Curran's home Saturday afternoon.

MOUNTAINS ON FOOT

"We saw lots of scenery," Smith said. Some of the trip over mountainous country had to be made on foot.

The youths had taken part in a four-week ROTC summer training course at Fairchild Air Force Base at Spokane. They'd bought a used car for the trip to the West Coast.

For the trip home they decided on two-wheelers. Selling their car, they had the bikes shipped by rail from home.

Airplane hangars, jail cells and gasoline stations often served as lodging for the youths. About 70 miles a day was considered a good average in the mountains.

But on the whole, they averaged 120 miles a day.

The most miles in a day — 170— were covered in Michigan—when they knew home was just around the corner.

The route included Yellowstone Park, Cody, Wyo., the Bad Lands in South Dakota, the outskirts of Chicago and finally Michigan.

Their families returned to Oakland County via their cars.

The youths, however, would have none of it — they pedaled the remaining distance to their homes.

$1-Billion Vow Clinches Confab

U.S. Earmarks Amount for Emergency Aid to Latin Nations

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — A pledge by the United States to make $1 billion quick emergency aid available to the "alliance for progress" today assured the success of the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference.

The U.S. delegation yielded Sunday to Latin American demands for concrete pledges of immediate financial assistance when it co-sponsored the resolution to provide funds by the end of next March.

The United States also promised to take "rapid action" on requests from the hemisphere's neediest nations for emergency crash spending.

A high U.S. official said, "It seems to us all significant issues at this conference have been solved. As we see it now, the key problems have been managed and there is general agreement."

The official said it remains to be seen what Cuba—which is ineligible for alliance funds—will do about signing the final declaration of Punta del Este.

Cuba's decision to ratify or reject the final document could have political significance and perhaps give a hint of Fidel Castro's future role in hemisphere affairs.

Although Cuba has repeatedly attacked the alliance as "an imperialist scheme for extending U.S.

Man Proxmire Opposed Takes Oath for FPC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. was sworn in today as a member of the Federal Power Commission. O'Connor had been the government's oil import administrator.

Congress Pounds Away on Aid Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's embattled foreign aid program became a double-header attraction in both houses of Congress today.

The House was scheduled to begin debate over taking up its $4.5-billion aid measure while the Senate resumed consideration of its $4.3 version of the same program.

Leaders hoped both houses could complete action by the end of the week.

In the Senate, negotiators were being made to provide a compromise that would satisfy demands of some liberal Republicans for some form of congressional supervision over the bill's long-term borrowing authority for financing economic development loans.

The Republican group, headed by Sens. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., helped save the loan program from virtual defeat in the Senate's first test Friday night.

WOULD EYE PLAN

In return, they demanded agreement from Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on some provision to insure that Congress could keep an eye on the loan program.

A compromise was expected that would give congressional appropriations and foreign policy committees an advance look—probably 30 days—at any loan of more than $10 million. This would give them a chance to protest but no actual "veto" authority.

The Saltonstall-Keating forces had offered an amendments to give House and Senate foreign policy committees actual "veto" authority over such loans within 30 days after they are proposed. They served notice on Fulbright Saturday that they would push for the proposal unless an acceptable compromise could be worked out.

* * *

Administration forces won a major opening victory in the Senate fight Friday night when they defeated 56-38 an effort to keep the five-year, $8.8-billion loan authorization program under the tight rein of annual congressional appropriations.

Ten Republicans, including five in the Saltonstall-Keating group, provided the margin of victory.

A move is expected by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to cut the loan authority from five to two or three years.

In another development, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., announced that he had written every senator asking support for his amendment to ban any aid to Communist regimes behind the Iron Curtain except Yugoslavia.

* * *

Dodd said the amendment is needed because the bill places no restrictions on the President's $250-million contingency fund being used in Iron Curtain nations.

Sunny Skies Reign Over Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

Sunny skies prevailed over most of the country today, with temperatures ranging from the cool 40s and 50s over much of the Great Lakes region northeastward through New England to the 80s in the Southeast and some 90s in the desert Southwest.

Most of the rest of the country enjoyed readings in the 60s and 70s.

Early morning showers and thundershowers occurred from southern Arizona eastward to the lower Mississippi Valley and the South Atlantic states.

Rainfall amounts were generally light except for locally heavy amounts in some Southeastern areas.

Scattered shower and thundershower activity was forecast for the afternoon and evening from the plateau region eastward to the central and lower Mississippi Valley, the Tennessee Valley, the northern Great Lakes and portions of the Gulf and South Atlantic states.

Uncover Red Plan to Overthrow Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government announced today that it has uncovered a Communist Viet Cong attempt to overthrow the pro-western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Vietnamese government said in a report that the Communist guerillas tried to topple the Diem government and replace it with one which would take direct orders from North Viet Nam.

It added the evidence was obtained from documents found on the bodies of the 167 rebels killed in last month's bloody battle over the marshes of the Plaine Des Jones.

The report said the government had notified the International Control Commission on Viet Nam of the Viet Cong attempt to overthrow the Diem regime.

It said the Vietnamese government had asked the ICC to "immediately investigate and take adequate measures to halt the Communist subversion in the National territory."

Cut Red Tape to Exchange Plane, Fidel's Boat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is slashing through the red tape that binds dealings with Cuba in preparation for the return of a hijacked Eastern Airlines plane.

* * *

In an agreement between the two countries, the United States will release a Cuban patrol boat to Cuba while Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro lets an American crew fly the plane to the United States.

Although the agreement was announced only Saturday, the airliner and the patrol boat are expected to head for their homes Tuesday. This means a speed-up in clearing an Eastern Airlines crew for travel to Havana, Normally, an American has to follow an involved procedure in getting to Cuba.

The two countries no longer have diplomatic relations, and travel to Cuba for Americans generally is barred. On special occasions, the U.S. government permits such travel, but a visa has to be obtained from Cuba, and this is done through a third country which has dealings with the United States and the Castro government.

The U.S. government also is prepared to ask the Florida courts to give the patrol boat immunity. Charles R. Ashmann, an attorney for Harris & Co., a Florida advertising agency, has said this company obtained a Circuit Court order tying up the 40-foot, $50,000 craft last week. He said Sunday night the boat "isn't going anywhere Tuesday" without a State Department request for its release.

Harris has been seizing Cuban property wherever he found it in Florida to satisfy a $429,000 judgment he won in prosecution of a claim against Cuba. The claim was based on an advertising bill incurred by the Cuban Tourist Commission.

In the U.S. note to Cuba, released here Saturday, the United States said its policy is "where property of a foreign government has been made subject to court process in the United States . . . to indicate to the court that the United States government recognizes that such property is immune from execution to satisfy a judgment against the foreign government."

Joseph W. Resp, a State Department press officer, said Sunday night he knew of no change in the arrangement to turn the vessel over to Cuban technicians and seamen at Key West Tuesday.

Three Cuban refugees sailed the patrol boat SV8 into Key West July 29. The $3.5-million four-engined Electra was on a Miami-to-Tampa, Fla., run July 24 when a gun-toting passenger forced the pilot to fly it to Havana. The Cuban government was not directly involved. Castro released the 32 passengers and 5 crewmen but kept the plane and the hijacker, a naturalized American of Cuban birth.

Agreement to return the plane and patrol boat was worked out in a series of notes through Swiss channels.

A Cuban Foreign Ministry communique called Sunday for the two countries to coordinate efforts to combat future acts of air or sea piracy.

In announcing the agreement, the State Department brushed aside the Cuban proposals for common anti-hijacking measures and said the agreement is "definitely not a swap." The official U.S. position is that the SV8 is being returned through U.S. due legal process, which is only coincidental with the release of the airliner.

U.S. sources guessed Castro was returning the airliner because it has brought him little more than propaganda headaches. Its general flouting of international procedures, even though no evidence is available here that he engineered the hijacking.

Boy, 6, Survives in Wreck of Plane

He even cried a little when searchers found him, strapped in the wreckage of an airplane near the top of a mountain. His right leg and right shoulder were broken.

* * *

"But he was plucky as a bantam rooster," Sheriff Harold Thonoff said. "Boy, he has guts."

Kevin, 6, of Tulsa, Okla., was the only sign of life in the small twin-engine plane which had carried three persons, including his father and oldest brother, to their deaths.

Heading for a vacation at a dude ranch in Southwestern Colorado, they flew into heavy clouds before crashing at an altitude of 10,900 feet.

BODIES IN SEATS

For 27 hours — until searchers found him late Sunday — Kevin stayed awake, alone and in pain.

His father, Tulsa patent attorney Charles M. McKnight, 36, was dead at the controls. Mary Alice Wallace, 38, a family friend, was dead beside him.

* * *

The body of Michael McKnight, 12, was held firmly in a seat next to Kevin. On the other side Guy, 9, another brother, was unconscious with jaw and skull fractures.

The searchers were directed to the scene by a sporting airplane. It took nearly two hours to move Kevin and Guy and the dead to a hospital in Salida 14 miles away.

"He was hungry," Sheriff Thonoff said. "He asked for pork and beans with lots of black pepper."

Little Leaguer Dies After Being Struck in Head

PARCHMENT (AP)—A little league baseball player who was struck on the head by a pitched ball Saturday died Sunday.

Patrick H. McCormack, 12, Parchment, was playing in the Kalamazoo County Little League Tournament here when a pitch struck him just below his headguard. He was taken to a local doctor's office, treated and released.

* * *

Sunday he became ill and was taken to a local hospital. The resident surgeon was not available, so the boy was rushed to University Hospital in Ann Arbor, where he died.

The boy's father, Thomas J. McCormack, was a leader in little league baseball in this Western Michigan town until he suffered a heart attack a year ago. The boy was playing his fifth year of Little League baseball. He was an outfielder.

Revolt Threatened in Congo Stronghold

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—New rumblings of rebellion were reported today from Antoine Gizenga's stronghold of Stanleyville, where the Communist-supported leader holds off from joining in the new unity government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Inflammatory attacks on the Adoula government started in the Stanleyville newspaper and radio by Bernard Salumu, an extremist Gizenga aide. He denounced both the "Belgian menace" and the central government.

The United Nations denied any knowledge of Communist arms shipments to Stanleyville, as charged last week by Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

FAA Approves Airport Firm's Overhaul Shop

Commander Aviation, Inc., at Pontiac Municipal Airport has become the first company in Michigan to win Federal Aviation Agency approval of its engine overhaul shop.

Approval said E. E. Baker, president, means that the level of work in the shop meets all federal standards.

Commander Aviation, Inc., is a relatively new name at the airport, but the organization is the successor to the Robbins Aviation Corp., which occupied municipal hangar No. 1 for many years.

Baker purchased the business last October from James Robbins and renamed it this summer to reflect the fact that Commander has the franchised dealership for Aero-Commander aircraft in Michigan and Northern Ohio.

Besides sales, the organization deals in complete one-stop service for itinerant aircraft, plus electronic and frame service.

The marchers at Borough Hall carried signs calling for union of East and West Germany under a single government that has been a Western aim since the end of World War II.

Mayor Willy Brandt told the demonstrators some of the things he was going to do:

1. Have a look at Communist party offices in West Berlin.

2. Talk to the Allies about the Communist management of the elevated railway system in West Berlin—badly upset by the new rules. The Communists run the railway system throughout the old German capital.

Natural Glue

Wood is grown by nature in a strange form. Tiny bundles of spindle-shaped cells or fibres, which are much longer than they are thick, are cemented together with a fantastic substance called lignin, which is a natural glue making up one fourth of the weight of wood. Lignin is not affected by heat, chemicals, or water.

Japan Rejects Russ Proposal

Mikoyan Rebuffed on Long-Term Trade Pact Idea in Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan flatly rejected today a Soviet proposal for a long-term trade agreement between the two countries.

* * *

The agreement would have been in exchange for Soviet oil, coal and iron ore which Mikoyan, in his role as Russia's "super salesman," offered Japan in his hour and 30-minute meeting with International Trade and Industry Minister Eisaku Sato.

Sato, however, turned thumbs down on the trade agreement proposal, saying Japan was not yet ready to conclude such a pact with Russia.

CAUTIOUS ON OIL

Mikoyan had stipulated that the trade agreement would run for 10 years or longer.

Sato also withheld any promises to buy Soviet oil which he said would have to be refined in Japan.

Mikoyan told Sato that should Japan agree to buy Soviet oil, the Soviet Union would extend its pipelines to the port city of Nahotska, on the Sea of Japan.

* * *

Mikoyan's call on Sato was his second official call following his arrival here today. His arrival was marked by tension and threats of rightist violence which failed to materialize.

THREE PRINCIPLES

In his meeting with Kosaka, Mikoyan said Soviet-Japanese relations must be based on three principles — peace, amity and cooperation.

Kosaka stipulated noninterference as a basis for relations between the two countries — which still have not signed a peace treaty for World War II.

Kosaka told Mikoyan that the two nations must respect each other's political and economic systems and then he could agree to principles outlined by Mikoyan.

Health Program Also for Girls

Coach for U.S. Project Claims Feminine Sex Lacks Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's youth fitness adviser said today the new national physical development program is aimed at girls as well as boys. The girls, he explained, need it at least as much.

* * *

"It's almost incredible," said Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson, "but there are a great many American girls who don't have strength enough to hold and swing a tennis racket long enough so they can play tennis."

* * *

Wilkinson, director of a program announced by President Kennedy to arrange a regular exercise routine for youth, said most people immediately thought it was boys the government had in mind.

* * *

"People overlook the girls," Wilkinson said in a copyright interview in the news magazine U.S. News & World Report. "But women are half the population, and their needs for exercise and physical fitness are just as real and even more acute than the needs of men."

Pregnancy Joke by Eartha Kitt on TV Disliked

LONDON (AP) — A number of women television viewers objected Sunday night because Eartha Kitt appeared after six months of pregnancy and made a joking comment about her condition.

* * *

* * *

When she had difficulty lifting herself onto a stool to sing a number, she looked down, chuckled and said: "Okay, junior, this is the last engagement."

Viewers jammed the commercial television network's switchboard after the program went off the air.

* * *

Business Building Suffers $50,000 Damage in Blaze

BIRMINGHAM — Fire damage to a downtown business building here yesterday was estimated at $50,000 by Fire Chief Park Smith today.

* * *

The two-story building at 277 Pierce St. houses the Varsity sporting goods shop, McSweeney's shoe store and several doctors' offices.

The fire was discovered about 12:30 p. m. by Birmingham police. Their office in the city hall is across the street from the building.

Chief Smith said the fire is believed to have started near the air conditioner at the rear of the building but it hasn't been determined if the equipment was to blame.

* * *

Firemen were hampered because the blaze spread into a false ceiling, preventing them from walking on the roof of the building, Smith said.

The fire was under control an hour after firemen from both the Adams and Chesterfield stations were called. Fire fighting equipment from Royal Oak was on hand but wasn't needed.

The fire chief said that most of the damage resulted from water and smoke rather than the fire itself.

The building, the former Odd Fellows hall, is owned by the Saylor Investment Co., which has offices there.

A Birmingham school official said today that the estimated 12,800 students expected to attend classes when they resume Sept. 7 is 400 more than last year.

If the total anticipated enrollment is accurate it will be a record for the school district, according to Walter Piel, administrative assistant to the superintendent.

Elementary classes are expected to be the only level that will be affected this year by crowded conditions as a result of the record enrollment, he said.

Children, he said, had to be bused last semester from four schools to other educational facilities because of crowded classrooms.

* * *

"The district will be able to provide adequate facilities this year, but we will definitely need additional classrooms a year from this fall," Piel said.

* * *

School officials are now studying the recommendations made by an outside survey group on the needs of the district.

Their findings on the report are expected to be submitted to the school board later this year, said Piel.

Freedom Riders on Appeal Trials

Hymn Singers Support 180 Integrationists in Mississippi Court

JACKSON, Miss (AP) — More than 180 convicted "Freedom Riders," rallied by hymn-singing sympathizers, appear in Hinds County Court today for appeal trials.

* * *

County Judge Russel Moore convenes court at 3 p.m. EST, and under a year-old rule all 182 riders who posted appeal bonds after their breach of peace convictions were required to appear or forfeit their $500 bonds.

But at least five of the segregation-defying riders earlier had announced their intention of not appearing. Their attorney petitioned a federal court to receive the five cases, and they were automatically transferred to U.S. District Court.

* * *

Officials of the race-sponsoring Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) said at least 180 of the riders were in Jackson Sunday night.

SAME TRAVEL METHOD

The convicted riders returned to this Mississippi capital city of 70,000 in the same methods they had used to travel here earlier. But this time they refused to enter any segregated facilities.

* * *

The total number of arrested riders swelled to 307 Sunday, however, as two more persons tested segregation barriers in a bus terminal here. They were arrested by Jackson police as quickly as the earlier riders.

Jailed were Pauline Simes, 22, a white New York resident, and George Raymond Jr., 18, a New Orleans Negro.

* * *

Police planned to block off a two-block area around the courthouse before the trials and promised a quick trip in the paddy-wagon for any demonstrators.

Several months ago a handclapping crowd of Negroes was dispersed by trained dogs when they gathered outside City Court for the trials of Negro students who attempted to desegregate a public library for whites.

* * *

Sunday night more than 1,500 persons, including the riders, attended a rally called to give moral support to the integrationists.

CLAPPED AND SANG

The audience, which ranged from women of 80 to a boy of 5, clapped, sang and shouted as officials of CORE, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference spoke.

Two Jets Collide Over Pacific; No Injuries to Crew

* * *

Their skippers talked by radio with Air Force brass and engineers from the company that made the planes, trying to decide whether to ditch 50 miles off the coast or try to land at Mather Air Force Base near here.

* * *

Finally, the planes were ordered to Mather. They landed successfully and none of the crew was injured.

Col. Merrill N. Moore told how the KC135 tanker and the B52 bomber tangled but declined to say if the B52 carried nuclear weapons.

"We have occasional missions out of here with thermonuclear weapons," he said. "I can't say whether this plane carried them."

Lt. Col. Garland J. Smith of Sacramento moved his tanker close to the bomber to take a look.

* * *

He had been asked to do this by Capt. Charles B. Layton of Sacramento, pilot of the B52.

The crash ripped two-thirds of the stabilizer section of the tail assembly from the B52 and tore away an engine from the four-engine KC135.

domination over Latin America."

Cuba's Finance Minister Ernesto (Che) Guevara has taken the most active part of any delegate at this conference, hopping from one committee meeting to another.

"Sure, they (the Cubans) have been injecting politics in this conference," said one U.S. official. "But they have not been pressing them and Guevara has been using moderate tactics. He certainly couldn't be called an obstructionist."

The last of the important problems of the conference was settled Sunday night, leaving only the formal drafting of the final conference declaration for the next two days.

The "declaration of Punta del Este," together with the resolution spelling out the machinery for putting the $20 billion "Marshall Plan for Latin America" into operation, will be signed on Wednesday.

A true story of a telephone operator and a customer who needed help

Mrs. Dorothy Snyder of Grass Lake, Michigan, was alone at home when the allergy attack came on.

As she started to black out, she struggled to the telephone and dialed the operator. Weakly, she asked to be connected with her physician.

The doctor was out. So was the nurse. Only a cleaning man was at the office.

Immediately, the operator asked if she could help. But Mrs. Snyder had lost consciousness. She didn't answer.

The operator kept talking . . . talking. Moments passed. No answer.

Finally, Mrs. Snyder responded to the operator's voice. She told the operator that her son lived nearby. She asked her to call him.

The operator did. And minutes later, the son rushed home to his mother's aid.

This story is true. But not unusual. Telephone operators seem to have a way of being near when people are alone and in trouble.

As Mrs. Snyder wrote in gratitude: "Though we do not see them, and so very often take them for granted, in cases of emergency we can count on them to stand by us."

Night Club Comic Lucille Ball's New Beau

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — There's a new man in Lucille Ball's life.

The man is Gary Morton and he is a night club comedian. To give the story an extra, romantic twist, they met on a blind date.

★ ★ ★

Lucille is back in Hollywood after a European vacation. Her constant companion now, as then, is Morton, a tall, broad-shouldered New Yorker with an agile wit.

"Gary has made Lucille laugh again," says an intimate. "He's good for her."

By her own admission, Lucille was depressed after her divorce from her longtime costar of "I Love Lucy," Desi Arnaz. She plunged into work, first in a movie with Bob Hope and then in a Broadway musical, "Wildcat." The show almost did her in. She finally had to quit because of exhaustion.

ROMANCE BLOSSOMS

During the run of the show she met Morton. A friendship blossomed, then romance.

Does this mean a marriage is in the offing?

"No, I have no plans to get married," she said, adding reflectively, "I'm afraid of marriage."

★ ★ ★

"I'm not," Morton said lightly. He has been occupying Lucille's guest house, and they were leaving for Lake Tahoe, where he will appear at Cal-Neva Lodge.

He explained that they met in New York on a date arranged by Paula Stewart, who played Lucille's sister in "Wildcat" and who is married to comedian Jack Carter.

Who is Gary Morton? He was born in New York City, a trucker's son. He attended public schools in Manhattan and, like many another comedian, graduated to show business via the U.S. Army.

APPEARED ON TV

After the war, he played theaters, first as an impressionist and later as a satirical comedian. He appeared on TV's comedy hour, in "Mr. Wonderful" on Broadway and in the better joints from Vegas to New York's Copa. Like Lucille, he has had one divorce.

Despite the marital split, Lucille maintains close business ties with Arnaz. Asked about her future plans, she replied, "Desi knows more about them than I do."

She said that she'll probably do some TV specials for Desilu, including "Lucy Goes to Broadway." She plans a Dinah Shore show and another film with Hope. "Critic's Choice." It looks doubtful if she will ever return to the suspended "Wildcat."

Find Missing Girls Dead in Arroyo

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Two teen-age girls were found shot to death in a rocky arroyo area northwest of Carlsbad Sunday.

Dead were Mattie Restline, 13, and Patty Sue Pritz, 14, both of Carlsbad. They had been missing since Friday.

Patty Pritz was found fully clothed, but the other girl was nude. Officers said there was no sign of a struggle. An autopsy was planned.

The bodies were found by two rabbit hunters.

The late Hiram Bingham, who discovered Machu Picchu in Peru, held that the city was always Inca and not founded by an earlier tribe. He said evidence indicated it was the home of the first Inca and the religious capital of the last Inca.

Metropolitan Cancels 1961-62 Opera Season

New York's Metropolitan Opera Company has canceled its 1961-62 opera season because its orchestra refused to compromise on a demand for wage increases. Not only will there be no performances in New York, but the opera's annual spring tour also was canceled, including its appearance in Detroit.

The Metropolitan has been operating for 76 seasons without a miss, although many of those years have wound up with a deficit. Last year the operating deficit was $840,000, but each year contributions kept the company going.

General Manager Rudolf Bing said the opera's roster listed 117 artists and that already some two dozen have been lost through other commitments, since they have been free since July 30 because their contracts could not be renewed.

★ ★ ★

ANTHONY A. BLISS, president of the company, announced the cancellation, which left more than 650 persons jobless. He said the American Federation of Musicians had asked a weekly salary of $248 for six performances, as against $170.13 for seven performances last season. He said the union had also asked for other benefits in the new contract. He said its demands would have added another $750,000 to this year's operating deficit.

★ ★ ★

The opera was to have played to desegregated audiences in the South for the first time on its tour next spring.

The Metropolitan's New York season has been the highlight each year for lovers of the opera and its spring tours have brought some of the world's finest voices into many other areas of the nation. What is New York's loss may prove to be a gain for other cities, for many of the stars undoubtedly will appear with other operatic groups and in concert engagements.

★ ★ ★

Many Metropolitan stars have been heard at the annual May Festivals in Ann Arbor and the cancellation of the New York season may result in the appearance of more than the usual number in the university city next spring. Meanwhile, the Detroit Grand Opera Association, which has sponsored the appearance of the Metropolitan Opera in Detroit, has announced that it will seek to bring some other nationally known operatic group to Detroit in 1962.

★ ★ ★

The closing of the Met this year is a blow to music and to American culture. Music lovers everywhere will hope that this year's cancellation will not signalize the end of the country's best known operatic organization.

Savings Bonds Sales Show Personal Thrift

U. S. Government Savings Bonds continue to exert a significant influence on the economy. They show a steady increase in sales during this 20th anniversary year.

★ ★ ★

Sales of Series E and H bonds were 10 per cent above the same period last year. Redemptions of bonds amounted to $412 million of which $62 million was interest. This is six per cent less than redemptions for the corresponding period last year.

★ ★ ★

Current savings bonds holdings represent more than one seventh of the $290 billion public debt, the third largest single block. The only larger ones are the U.S. Securities holdings of commercial banks and the issues held by Government investment accounts dominated by the Social Security trust funds.

In recent years savings bonds sales have run over $4 billion a year. They are a good indication of the personal thrift habits of most of the American people.

The Man About Town

It Now Is History

And 4-H Club Fair Again Proved a Great Success

Addition to 4-H pledge: Watch us next year.

Generally favored with good weather, although sometimes a little hot and humid, Oakland County's annual 4-H Club Fair last week again demonstrated what our best citizens can do when they have the facilities to demonstrate it to the public.

Excellent exhibits, good crowds and the usual 4-H spirit spelled success, and there never was a dull moment.

This happy intermingling of city, village and rural folks means a mutual understanding that will be a big asset in the future of all concerned. Isn't it fortunate to live in such an area?

Everybody can become affiliated with the work in some manner, and profit by it. If not already a part of it, here's a cordial invitation for you to join this happy and constructive gang. They'll be glad. And so will you.

Winner of the $50 savings bond in this column's freckle contest at the 4-H Club Fair, 10-year-old left-handed the live wire son of

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carline

of 830 Second St., is a modest youngster. He cannot understand why freckles should be worth that much, when you do not have to give up anything. However, here's a prediction that those freckles will always be an asset to "Red" Carline, and without doubt a nucleus of a college education.

Old Farmer's Almanac prediction for the Pontiac area this week:

We're quite in agreement with the sentiments expressed in a letter from

Harvey Feckman

Another Pontiac area dairy herd comes through with national honors, when Windrow Farms of Metamora gets its ninth Ayrshire award on a cow's production. But the best local news in this item is that the farm owned by and the herd got its start in Pontiac's nearby Orion Township. However, let it be known that the mother of the Holstein cow awarded at our 4-H Fair last week to another Wilson, 14-year-old also of Orion Township, had a year's milk production of 18,000 pounds and 635 pounds of butterfat, while the above Ayrshire cow produced only 12,360 pounds of milk and 541 pounds of butterfat. Praise to the Wilsons.

Thanks for the many kind words from the good folks who took some of the tours about Oakland County, outlined in this column. It was only a surreptitious manner of proving what we say about it.

Josh Peters,

tells me that they dug out a family of young woodchucks just northeast of Pontiac the other day, and would have adopted them if the old folks hadn't put up such a fierce fight to keep them. They soon dug a new home in an adjoining field, and removed their children to it.

Cantaloupes that will be ready for picking next week are reported by

It Used to Work . . .

Voice of the People:

'Spirit of Americans Today Differs From Forefathers'

I have just read an appraisal of our nation which I think should be printed in every newspaper in the United States. I hope you will run it in The Pontiac Press.

It says:

What has happened to the American spirit? Our forefathers did not receive taxpayers' aid from the federal government when they built roads, schools, homes and hospitals. They used their savings and taxes collected at the local level.

★ ★ ★

Our forefathers had character. They respected work. They worked for self-respect.

★ ★ ★

We have fallen into a softness that carries the seeds of disasters. This infection has reached the homes. Lack of discipline in the home is justified by the "new thinkers." Children are taught that they can pass off their inadequacies on their elders and thus avoid responsibility. Softness has entered our schools, where the traditional "tough" courses have been watered down to the point of inanity. Even some of our churches produce a certain blandness that did not come to us from the source of our faith.

★ ★ ★

We must have a spiritual, moral, ethical revival—a revival of the fundamental virtues which built this country.

★ ★ ★

America has been the recipient of the greatest temporal gift which God bestows—freedom: freedom of spirit, freedom to walk the streets unafraid, freedom to speak to God in our own way.

★ ★ ★

America lives under no divine exemption. The conditions under which freedom is granted by God include vigilance, fervor, faith, hard work and respect for the family and the rights of others. If these conditions are not met freedom can be lost, and it can be lost by default.

Reader

David Lawrence Says:

Fear Party Releases Tensions

IN EUROPE — What kind of man, really, is Nikita Khrushchev? One day he talks sense, and the next day he talks nonsense. Is he the same type as Hitler — an irresponsible dictator?

LAWRENCE

Or does he simply lack the sensible advice that any public relations man of experience in world affairs would give him and thereby perhaps make him a man of wider influence?

Why does he continually underestimate the intelligence of Western readers of newspapers and listeners to the radio?

★ ★ ★

American and European statesmen, in talking with each other, have often analyzed the impressions they derive from personal conversations with the Soviet premier. Ambassadors of different nations have compared notes. What does it all add up to?

★ ★ ★

Take first, for example, the latest speeches and comments by Mr. Khrushchev. He said the other day that, if a war starts, Soviet Russia will "crush" its enemies and "hundreds of millions" will die in a nuclear war.

Then, in a quick turnabout, the premier added that he is against war and that "all mankind" will go Communist without war. He repeatedly predicts this as if he is convinced of it, though there are doubts expressed as to his being a true believer in the communism he champions.

BROKE UP SUMMIT

In another incident a few days ago, the Soviet premier said that he broke up the Paris "summit" meeting in 1960 because Mr. Eisenhower wouldn't personally apologize for the U2 flights. It seems incredible that any man who claims to represent 200 million people would attempt to stand on such a flimsy pretext to prevent a peace settlement from being attained.

The Soviet premier, in what he says in his speeches and offhand commeants, is, in fact, his own worst enemy. Much more favorable views of him and his personality are held by responsible officials who have had the opportunity to talk with him. Here is an estimate which summarizes former President Eisenhower's impressions as revealed by the latter to friends:

1. Khrushchev is not a real disciple of Marxism, but a man who sees communism as a tool which he can use to control, if not rule, the world. He has a deep-seated desire to take his place in history as the man who achieved most for communism.

2. Khrushchev is not another Hitler. The Nazi dictator was all black. Khrushchev is not all black. He has a sense of humor and is a family man. He likes children and is popular with them.

3. Khrushchev has humane feelings that it is believed would prevent him from deliberately starting a world global disaster. He has more than once told some of his foreign visitors with a show of pride that he has never ordered the death of a single political offender since he took over the top job in the Kremlin.

There are other signs of a humane attitude which are mentioned by Western statesmen who have had occasion to study his personality. But he nevertheless can be tough and can stir up dangerous situations in the world, so that war is always possible, though it is not considered probable.

It is becoming clearer every day that Khrushchev wants to prevent the two German territories from being reunified. He fears that to allow it might mean the collapse of the Communist party strength in the other satellite countries.

Khrushchev is an egotist and a blusterer, but he is, after all, a shrewd politician, and he has his heart set on keeping Germany divided and on maintaining East Germany as a jumping-off place for more Communist conquests in Europe.

He is boastful and lacking in an understanding of persons who believe in good manners, but fundamentally he is not foolish enough to destroy whatever communism has thus far achieved — which a nuclear war certainly would do.

'UAW Isn't Driving Business Away'

I disagree with Earl Pierce about the UAW driving business out of Michigan on account of demands of high contract. Higher wages aren't going to settle anything because business hikes its prices even before it sells its present supply of goods.

The teamsters union ought to move old Hoffa out of the U.S.A.

I have a son laid off from General Motors because of automation and he can't get back as there are too many off. He tried to get a job as construction, but Hoffa's teamsters union had to have their big cut in union fees first which he didn't have.

The UAW-CIO doesn't demand a new employe to pay his dues and membership before he goes to work. Machines we have to have to build cars, but too much automation doesn't draw pay checks.

Asks Union to Split Loss

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union, which fought unsuccessfully to get car makers to adopt a "share the wealth" program in 1958, now have been offered a "share of the losses" program, it was learned today.

The proposal came from an automotive supplier which gave its employes a profit sharing plan during World War II.

Lucas Miel, president of the Commercial Steel Treating Corp., said he believes that "if the union wants a large percentage of profits in good years, it should be willing to accept some of the losses in bad years."

Miel, who called profit sharing "a terrific thing which the nation needs," started such a plan in his company in 1943.

But Miel believes such plans should work both ways. "So we have offered our unions a loss sharing program in addition to profit sharing," he said. "We are sustaining losses now and to permit us to stay in business we have asked the union to share the losses by reducing wage."

Under Miel's loss sharing plan, the company would bear the first $10,000 in red ink each month. "Any excess over that would be taken out of employe wages—but not to exceed 10 per cent," he said. Thus, workers would be guaranteed 90 per cent of their present pay.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Tranquilizers Give Us False Security Sense

The effectiveness of tranquilizers in the management of acute mental disturbances has been established beyond question.

Granting that they possess no curative capacities, they do make it possible to control acute episodes of nervous excitement, agitation and even mania.

★ ★ ★

But the widespread tendency to rely on long-term use of tranquilizers to ease simple anxiety, restlessness and/or sleeplessness is becoming a matter of grave concern to most knowledgeable physicians. Also to many intelligent patients and an increasing number of the relatives, friends and business associates of the tranquilized.

There is no present method for knowing or measuring just what these drugs do to the human brain.

It is all very well to call them psychotherapeutic agents, ataractics (from ataraktos, meaning cool, calm and collected), ralmatives, mood drugs and the like.

But word labels are unsatisfactory substitutes for fact. And, if some 30 million Americans are being tranquilized, we are entitled to know more about tranquilization than what's suggested by a label.

Like alcoholic beverages and the opiates, the tranquilizers provide us with the same false sense of security as many systems for deferred payment. We seem to be getting a big bargain. At least for the moment.

But when the time comes for settling in hard cash, we find ourselves burdened with total costs plus interest and service charges.

"When I first took tranquilizers," observes one wise correspondent, "I quickly realized how much they helped me. I could do things I couldn't do before because of nervousness. Like traveling, speaking before church groups and helping in our local hospital.

"Soon I came to realize that my pills were acting like a crutch. I felt I was becoming addicted. I began to have crying spells and I was easily upset.

"My doctor said it was just the 'change' and gave me a pill combination with tranquilizer and a gland extract. When I continued to be depressed and unable to concentrate, I went to my pastor thinking that maybe his advice would help me over the hurdle. He's been patient and tried hard with me but I still feel so defeated. And I'm so ashamed of having to depend on pills."

Here you have eloquent testimony of the "interest and service charges" that may come with the tranquilizer system of "deferred payments."

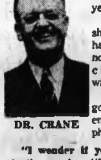
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girls, Learn Value of Diplomacy

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-467: Mildred H., aged 18, is an attractive girl.

Next door lived a boy named Frank, whom Mildred had admired afar for almost a year.



DR. CRANE

But Frank was shy, though he had also taken note of Mildred's charm and wished for a date.

One evening he got up nerve enough to make a phone call to her.

"I wonder if you'd like to go to the movie with me tomorrow night?" he hopefully inquired. Well, Mildred already had accepted a date with another boy for that same night.

So how would you other teenage girls suggest that Mildred answer that telephone request?

Remember, boys are far more shy than you girls usually imagine. It may take them weeks to build enough courage to give you a supposedly casual phone call.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, they are secretly fearful of being turned down. In fact, if you abruptly decline a boy's first invitation for a date, you may never get another call from him.

TEEN-AGE TACT

"Thank you very much," Mildred tactfully replied. "I'd love to go to the movie with you. But I already have an engagement for tomorrow night."

★ ★ ★

"However, Thursday is free, so if that would suit your schedule, I'd be glad to go with you then."

Notice the deft way by which Mildred avoided offending her shy admirer and also made a new suggestion by which their date might occur.

Soon they started going together steadily and within a matter of months, they were engaged.

Later they married and are now about to celebrate their wedding anniversary.

Yet a thoughtless reply by Mildred to Frank's first phone call, could have caused him to write her off his list permanently!

So you girls must realize that deft salesmanship is just as vital to success in romance, as to your becoming the top producer for a life insurance or automobile agency.

BOLDNESS vs. TIMIDITY

Boldness is linked with the male sex and timidity with the female.

★ ★ ★

But those traits are "spotty." They don't extend over all of a person's behavior.

For example, a girl may shriek at the sight of a mouse, yet boldly invade a men's haberdashery store and pick out socks, shirts or even shorts for her boy friend.

Conversely, a man may be aggressive and bold on the gridiron or in the boxing ring, yet blush and be terrified at entering the lingerie section of a department store.

Not only will he seldom venture into such an embarrassing sales department when alone, but he will seldom do so, even when fortified by the presence of his sweetheart.

You girls thus fail to realize the social timidity of males. They are physically bold but socially shy. So send for the revealing Dating Scales entitled "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

They will open your eyes to the psychology of the opposite sex!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Factory Courts on Moral Issues Now in Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungarian factory workers are sitting in judgment on their colleagues on such moral issues as marital infidelity.

Such jurisdiction is a new right given social courts which function in most large factories and offices. The courts include workers already empowered to try labor disciplinary offenses.

The sentences they can mete out are reprimands, corrective labor (doing the job for less pay), or dismissals. If they consider the case too big for them, they can hand it over to public prosecutors.

Wants to End Government Subsidy

Ambitious Air Prexy Thinks Small

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert F. Peach is a unique airlines president. He doesn't sit and dream of the trunk carriers, the long-haul carrier.

His dream is of building a strong lines with their fleets of jets and big prop aircraft, get out of the short-haul field.

Peach proposes, in effect, that someday seeing his local service line blossom into a major trunk local service system and getting his airline — Mohawk — off federal subsidy rolls.

But some of those same taxpayers—especially if they live in smaller communities served by both trunk and feeder lines — might feel they would have a reason to be up in arms if Peach's proposals became reality. So, too, might some executives of trunk airlines.

Obviously residents and boosters of towns now served by both trunk and local service airlines might feel pain in their civic pride and raise an angry howl on seeing the "big" airline abandon service to their community to the so-called "little" line.

BENEFIT TO ALL

But Peach maintains the traveling public would benefit by tailored and more frequent service, the short-haul lines would benefit by the strengthened financial position, and the trunk lines would benefit by being relieved of the cost of providing local service along their routes.

Eventually, he pointed out, it might result in a fare drop for passengers taking long flights, but not necessarily so for short-haul passengers.

But how can a local service carrier make money serving the smaller cities, if the big airlines can't?

Peach replied by pointing out that the local service airlines generally use smaller equipment and are less costly to operate on their runs.

"If the local service airlines could have 100 per cent of the traffic, the communities would get commuter service into the trunk terminals for long trips," according to Peach.

As it is, he said, communities being served by both trunk and short-haul lines generally see only a few of the trunk line's planes land each day while the two types of airlines share the available passenger traffic and revenue.

GROWTH GREATER

Peach said surveys made by his line show that the rate of growth of passenger traffic is greater in communities served by a feeder line alone than in cities where the short-haul and trunk lines compete.

Turning over local service to short-haul airlines, Peach claimed, would be part of the answer to an airline needing federal subsidy.

Another would be "adequate regulatory effort" by the CAB, by the board on actions taken by the airlines, he said.

Another of Peach's points is that "short-haul fares are unrealistically low for the quality of service provided."

★ ★ ★

He feels that travelers in smaller communities will be willing to pay for it if they get more frequent or commuter service to major cities and air terminals.

Peach is a realist and doesn't expect to see ideas such as his become reality even within the immediate future.

But he's an optimist, too, expressing the belief that both the CAB and some of the trunk carriers are moving in directions similar to what he suggested.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Spanish Try to Sell Their Own Scotch

MADRID (UPI) — Scotch is going Spanish.

This notion appears pleased as punch over the news that it will be turning out a "smooth" rival to established Scotch whiskies before long.

And although the product — new in this land where sherry is the national drink — won't hit the market until the end of the year, the propaganda war already has started.

"Our Scotch whisky worries Scotch distilleries," is the not-so-soft sales message.

"Without selling one bottle, the whisky is already famous and has brought us prestige," crows the Spanish press.

All the confidence appears based upon reaction to a sample of the stuff that was shipped to John MacLeod at Inverness, Scotland. The Scotsman took a sip and declared flatly that he couldn't tell the difference between the traditional product and Spain's.

'ALARM UNDERSTANDABLE'

Then the press pitched in with reports of attempts by the Old-line Scotch producers to ward off the forthcoming blow of the 4-year-old blend to be turned out in the castled city of Segovia.

"The alarm is understandable in view of the whisky's smoothness," chortled one report. "They don't believe we can sell it for $1.40 a fifth.

"They want new legal protection. They want the labels to read 'Scotch-type' whisky."

In old Segovia — better known for such non-Scottish items as a Roman aqueduct and a palace where Queen Isabel told Columbus to go West — the propaganda mills are readying new plaudits.

"You want Scotch? Red or white?"

New York Police Take to Roofs to Stop Throwers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attacks on police by missile-throwers from rooftops now has reached such proportions in New York City that a special detail of 300 policemen has been assigned to roofs as lookouts.

This was revealed when a policeman on the new duty arrested Michael Castro, 27, Sunday for throwing a half filled can of beer from a fourth floor window at a policeman in the street.

Six policemen have been injured in the last three weeks by objects thrown from roofs. Missiles have ranged from beer cans to concrete slabs.

'Nation Needs Trained People'

Kennedy Tells Teachers Demand Vital for More Qualified Individuals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — President Kennedy today told the American Federation of Teachers that the need is vital for more highly trained people in every aspect of national life.

Kennedy's views were expressed in a telegram for the opening session of the federation's 45th annual convention sent to Carl J. Megel, of Chicago, federation president.

"It is imperative that our nation advance more rapidly on all fronts," Kennedy said. "We need more highly trained people in virtually every aspect of our national life.

"Obviously this need can be met only by strengthening our educational system at every level, from kindergarten through graduate school.

"No group in our society today performs a more important or more difficult service than our teachers. Our whole nation will benefit from your efforts."

★ ★ ★

Among those invited to address the more than 750 delegates attending the five-day convention are Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Dr. Sterling M. McMurrin, U.S. commissioner of education; John E. Coagrove, assistant director of Civilian Defense and Mobilization, and Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.

Woman Rescued After Plunge Into 10-Foot Tar Pit

Mrs. Esther Hubbard, 61, was crossing a wooded area near the entrance to Erie Harbor when she stepped into the 10-foot wide tar pit.

Mrs. Hubbard sank chest deep into the tar before she managed to grab the stump of a tree. She was pulled from the pit by an employe of the Interlake Iron Corp. who heard her screaming for help.

Mrs. Hubbard was treated at Hamot Hospital for minor injuries.

Weather Plane Watching 'Wave'

MIAMI (UPI) — A weather bureau hurricane hunter plane was to take another look today at an easterly wave sprawled across the Caribbean from Cuba to Panama.

Heavy showers and squalls with winds up to 35 miles an hour were reported in the wave, but weather forecasters said it showed no signs yet of developing into a tropical storm.

The wave, 700 to 800 miles long, was moving west at about 15 knots per hour. A weather reconnaissance plane made the first air check of the wave Sunday.

It was in this area that the only tropical storm of the 1961 season, Hurricane Anna, developed last month.

Pair Welcomed by Red China

Ghana's President, VP of Brazil Given Royal Receptions

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China rolled out the red carpet today for two important foreign dignitaries — President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and Brazil's Vice President Joao Belchoir Goulart.

★ ★ ★

The Communist New China News Agency reported that Nkrumah arrived in Peiping today to the beating of drums, a 21-gun salute and the cheers of a half-million people.

The Peiping People's Daily, official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party, termed Nkrumah's visit "an important event in the history of amity between the people of China and Ghana."

The New China News Agency also reported that Goulart stressed the need to strengthen the trade ties between Brazil and Red China.

Goulart made the statement at a banquet given in his honor Sunday in Peiping by Tung Pi Wu, vice president of Communist China.

The Communist news agency quoted Goulart as saying, "I am confident that the talks we are going to have will lead to immediate results

Marathon Gasolines STOP HOT-WEATHER STALLING

Remember how it happens? The thermometer's touching 96°. There's a copper-glazed sky overhead. You're tooling down the highway, windows open, trying to keep cool. Then you notice a kind of sputter in the motor—a drag-down in power—all of a sudden it stalls. You're stranded. Miles past the last service station. It's anyone's guess how far to the next one.

Marathon gasolines are power-processed for Midwest summers Marathon SUPER-M® and MILE-maker® gasolines are power-processed to help end hot-weather stalling. Laboratory controls provide gasolines that guard your engine against choking and strangling caused by vapor lock.

These Marathon gasolines are also scientifically filtered to clean out engine-stalling bits of dirt that can clog fuel systems. This summer, make it Marathon, for gasolines that are all go 'til the last drop's gone.

U.S., U.S.S.R. Airline Expected

But Agreement, 1st of Its Kind, Will Depend on East-West Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are expected to sign within a few days a modest air agreement linking the two countries by direct commercial airliner service for the first time.

★ ★ ★

The agreement is expected to be modest because it will join only New York and Moscow and because it will provide for a quick suspension of the flights should East-West tensions flare too high.

Talks between U.S. negotiators headed by presidential adviser James M. Landis and Russians led by Col. Gen. Yevgeni F. Loginov, Soviet civil aviation chief, have been under way quietly at the State Department since July 18.

Authoritative sources said neither side has asked for a stop beyond Moscow or New York. The Russians don't care to have an American airline penetrating into Siberia, nor do the Americans want to let the Soviet airline, Aeroflot, use New York as a stopover en route to Havana.

★ ★ ★

The negotiators did agree to alternate for the Russians in Philadelphia. The alternate for the American planes is Vnukovo, a field a few miles outside of Moscow.

Urge Disarmament Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and presidential adviser John J. McCloy teamed up today to open the Kennedy administration's plea for legislation to set up a permanent government disarmament agency.

Rusk was the scheduled lead-off witness as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee opened hearings on the bill requested by Kennedy in a special congressional message last May.

McCloy, the President's disarmament adviser, and Roswell Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense, also were listed for the first day of hearings. The hearings will continue through Wednesday.

The Kennedy bill, sponsored by several committee members, would consolidate all disarmament activities in one department with a director and staff. Disarmament efforts are now scattered through several agencies of the government.

The plan also drew the backing over the weekend of Arthur H. Dean, U.S. negotiator at the Geneva talks on nuclear weapons testing. Dean said on a radio interview with Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., that the agency is needed because disarmament is "something we'll have to work at all the time."

RESPONSE DECISIVE

President Kennedy told his news conference last week that he had told Dean to go back to Geneva Aug. 24 to try to get the Soviet Union's agreement to a workable inspection system for a nuclear test ban.

★ ★ ★

He said the response Dean gets there will be decisive in determining whether the United States resumes nuclear tests.

Kennedy said that when Dean resumes the negotiations, he should be able to tell quickly whether there is any chance of success. "If there is not, Mr. Dean will come home and I will then make the appropriate decisions," Kennedy said.

McCloy has already carried the administration appeal for a disarmament agency to Republican senators. Senate GOP Leader Everett Dirksen said McCloy spoke at the regular weekly lunch meeting of the Senate GOP Policy Committee last week.

According to Dirksen, McCloy told them that trying to get something done in the disarmament field now is "like walking through deep mud" because of the various agencies involved.

Dirksen said there was "virtually no disagreement" among the Senate Republicans that something must be done, but he said the group gave no flat endorsement to the pending bill.

Sammy Junior Goes Swimming With Grace

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — American Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., spent a "wonderful, wonderful" afternoon Sunday with Prince Rainier and his wife, Princess Grace.

★ ★ ★

Davis, who was the star attraction at Princess Grace's annual Red Cross gala last Friday night, said the former Grace Kelly was unable to see him after his performance but wrote him later saying her husband would like to invite him for lunch.

"There were about 10 people there," Davis said, "and we all went for a swim in the palace pool. David Niven stopped by but there really wasn't much talk about movies.

"I had never met Princess Grace when she was Hollywood's Grace Kelly, so it was a wonderful, wonderful afternoon. They are a gay and charming couple."

★ ★ ★

Davis' two close friends, singers Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin, had been expected to join him on the French Riviera summer playground, but they never showed up.

Other members of the much-ballyhooed Hollywood clan did appear, including actor Peter Lawford and his wife Pat, sister of President Kennedy.

But the holiday ended in tragedy Sunday for another member of the clan, actress Janet Leigh. Miss Leigh, wife of actor Tony Curtis, learned Saturday that her father was found dead with a suicide note near his body, according to police. She flew home Sunday with Martin's wife.

End 13-Day Sit-In for Civil Rights in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators ended their 13-day sit-in at the Wisconsin Statehouse Sunday after failing to obtain passage by the legislature of bills they supported.

A spokesman said the sponsoring National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had not decided whether the demonstration would be renewed when the lawmakers return Oct. 30. The NAACP board plans to meet in Milwaukee next Saturday to evaluate results of the sit-in.

The legislature adjourned Saturday night, one day after defeating the antidiscrimination in housing bills backed by the sit-in. The round-the-clock vigil, joined by hundreds of persons, began July 31 when 16 demonstrators filed into the Capitol and took places in folding chairs before each of the 16 pillars in the rotunda.

Borrowed Art Stolen in France

Paintings by Cezanne, Worth $2 Million, Taken With No Clues

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France (AP)—Two million dollars worth of borrowed paintings by French impressionist Paul Cezanne were stolen Sunday in Southern France's seventh major art theft in two years.

With police admitting they have scarcely a clue in the latest haul, a spokesman for the Pavillon Vendome, which was showing the paintings, indicated it is ready to pay ransom to get them back.

The Pavillon Vendome spokesman said the masterpieces, most of them borrowed from American and others for exhibit in this ancient city where Cezanne was born, are so well-known that no reputable dealer would buy them. He expressed fears that the thieves might try to peddle them to a collector who would buy them for his own secret pleasure.

At St. Tropez a month ago, burglars got away with paintings worth $2 million from an unguarded museum by backing a truck up to the door. No trace has been found of these.

Earlier this year and last year paintings worth $1.8 million were stolen in a series of burglaries from a museum, restaurant and private mansions. Most of these were recovered, and several persons were arrested.

Child labor in the United States was at a peak in 1900 when 26 per cent of boys 10-15 years old and 10 per cent of girls of that age were employed in U.S. industries.

Soldiers Fill E. Berlin Border Streets

By JOHN FIRSIN

BERLIN (AP) — Behind the barbed wire and roadblocks barring East Germans from West Berlin today, the streets of East Berlin along the border were crammed with uniformed men. But few civilians were about.

The regular soldiers of the East German people's Army had been pulled back from the crossing points, but men of the factory militia, a sort of home guard, squatted all along the border, backing up the frontier guards and customs officials checking all going in and out of the Red sector.

Behind the Brandenburg Gate, the most famous meeting place of East and West, the square looked like a military camp. In sight was a squadron of 16 Soviet-made T34 tanks, on guard outside the government office building and the Foreign Office.

I walked through the gate, and the Red police let me pass after I had shown my identification. Hundreds of soldiers squatted around Pariser Platz (Paris Square) right behind the big gate. Some were lining up for chow at a field kitchen. Others sat on the ground eating or reading extra editions of Neues Deutschland the Communist party organ.

There was a constant coming and going of working details, carrying heavy tools and rolls of barbed wire to be strung along the barrier between the city's two halves.

Down the spacious Unter den Linden avenue and around the corner along the Wilhelmstrasse leading up to Hitler's former Reich Chancellery there were more troops.

* * *

The few East Berliners to be seen were kept several hundred yards away from the border. I was constantly asked to identify myself as I walked along.

Dozens of armored personnel carriers were crammed with troops in olive-green uniforms styled like those of the Soviet army.

The men lounged around, looking rather disinterested.

TRICKLE OF TRAFFIC

Near the Hallasches Gate, a border crossing point still open to West Berliners, were armored cars, jeeps and trucks and more squatting soldiers. Part of the pavement was torn up, and traffic trickled through a small opening. Cars leaving the eastern sector were carefully checked.

Friedrichstrasse Station, now the only place in East Berlin which you can reach by subway or elevated train, buzzed with police activity.

* * *

The station was tightly cordoned off. There were frequent checks as I approached it. East Germans were not allowed to pass. Inside there were plenty of East Berliners. They could arrive from the East and leave for the East but could not enter the platforms from which elevated trains go westward.

* * *

Chariot Races to Highlight Park Fun Day

A Ben Hur chariot race a la cardboard boxes will highlight the annual fun day Wednesday which brings the annual Parks and Recreation summertime playground program to an end.

Several hundred youngsters who've been participating in playground activities throughout the city this summer will gather for some zany events that begin at 1 p. m. at Oakland Park.

The chariot race has been in preparation for some time with most of the playgrounds fixing up two each for 40-yard races for boys and girls. The sturdiest lads at each playground have been picked to pull the chariots.

The meanest of the 20 competitive events will be a tug-of-war over a mud hole.

* * *

In other contests — designed more for laughs than for skills — there'll be a straw javelin throw and an obstacle course for bicyclists. Speed is no help in the latter contest — the slowest bicyclist will win.

The summer playground program will end Friday.

Explosion on Boat Kills One, Injures 11

NEW YORK (AP)—An explosion and fire engulfed a 45-foot cabin cruiser in a mushroom of flames at a Brooklyn dock Sunday, killing a child and injuring 11 other persons, two critically.

Killed aboard the $35,000 Jolly Roger was Debbie Fischler, 4.

Her parents, Robert and Maxine Fischler, were alone on deck when the explosion occurred and leaped to the dock, escaping injury.

Promises Fight for Civil Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., has promised a last-ditch fight to pass civil rights legislation before Congress adjourns this year.

The New Yorker said Sunday he has two goals in mind — to change the Senate filibuster rule and to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission.

Keating said in a prepared statement he would "press for a meaningful change in the filibuster rule of the Senate" to prevent southerners from talking to death all civil rights legislation.

Says Russ Not Planning to Push Cut-Rate Oil

MOSCOW (UPI) — Venezuelan Oil Minister Alfonso Perez said Sunday that Russian oil experts told him the Soviet Union does not plan to dump oil on the world market at cut-rate prices as had been expected in some foreign oil circles.

Perez said the Russians told him they planned to increase exports but "not as much as expected."

Catholic Univ. First to Offer Cornish Course

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Catholic University announced Saturday that it will be the only college in the country this year to offer a course in one of the world's most esoteric languages—Cornish.

Cornish is a centuries-old language once commonly spoken in Cornwall, an English county.

It is "becoming increasingly popular among the intelligentsia of Cornwall," the university said. "Part of its value lies in being able to read the original early texts of 15th Century religious plays."

Dr. Robert T. Meyer, who also teaches Old Irish, Middle Irish, Early Modern Irish and Early Welsh will teach the course in Cornish for graduate students.

Will Brief Newsmen on U.S. Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his high command will brief newsmen on Foreign policy in a two-day session at the State Department starting today.

More than 700 editors, columnists, newscasters and commentators invited from around the country are expected to attend the briefings aimed at informing them of U.S. views on the latest foreign affairs developments.

Blaze Crosses Alaska Hwy.

But British Columbia Village Is Safe Unless Wind Changes

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (UPI) —A forest fire that crossed the Alaska Highway was reported today within 10 to 15 miles of the Village of Muncho.

* * *

A forestry official said here Sunday that unless the wind changes, the community, some 400 miles north of here, is not in danger.

The highway was reported still open to traffic.

OUT OF CONTROL

About 40 Indian families live in the village but a forestry official said few of them would be there now.

Two major forest fires near this Central B.C. town were blazing out of control Sunday night. But they were almost entirely circled by fire guards.

A thick pall of smoke hung over the area and restricted flying operations by planes engaged in battling the flames.

* * *

Butchers' Union Hits Workers' Lie Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America (AFL-CIO) have advised local unions to block employer attempts to give lie detector tests to workers.

* * *

President Thomas J. Lloyd and Secretary-Treasurer Patrick E. Gorman Saturday attacked use of the tests, which have been suggested as a means of stopping petty thefts.

* * *

The two officers, writing in the union's official publication, said such tests put employers "in the category of suspecting all of their workers of being thieves."

Eichmann's Lawyer Rejects Israeli Indictment Completely

By GARVEN HUDGINS

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann's West German defense counsel today rejected the entire Israeli indictment of the former Gestapo officer as the master bureaucrat behind the Nazi slaughter of the Jews.

* * *

Summing up the defense, Dr. Robert Servatius attacked point by point the prosecution charges that Eichmann zestfully and relentlessly had carried out Hitler's orders for the destruction of Europe's Jews.

"If what the prosecution says is correct, then all the Nazis still being hunted can come out of hiding," Servatius declared.

LISTENS INTENTLY

Eichmann listened intently on earphones to his counsel's arguments but gave no outward sign of emotion as the long trial neared its end.

Servatius expected to conclude his summation today, and then the court was to recess until October while it deliberates on its verdict.

The stocky, white-haired defense attorney challenged the authority of the special three-judge tribunal to try Eichmann for crimes against the Jewish nation.

* * *

"Since Israel did not exist as a nation at the time of Eichmann's activities, there could have been no crime against the Jewish nation," Servatius declared.

As Eichmann had maintained throughout his own testimony, Servatius claimed the defendant's only duty in the Nazi holocaust was to "oversee and supervise the smooth functioning of transport," the deportation of Jews by train to the death camps in the Eastern occupied areas.

* * *

The prosecution charges Eichmann had personal authority over what happened to Jews after they reached the death mills and decided which groups were herded into the gas chambers. But Servatius said Eichmann "was charged with taking care of any hitches which developed in transport, and he did so. The instructions came from Hitler for the strengthening of the ethnic structure of the German nation. The accused received orders to perform all duties in the field of transport."

'SUBMITS NO PROOF'

Servatius claimed Eichmann had carried out his duties "in the correct manner."

"The prosecution has not submitted any proof that crimes against humanity were committed in the course of these transports," the defense counsel argued.

He also claimed the prosecution had failed to prove Eichmann:

1. Was an accomplice in the murder of the Jews.

2. Transferred gold teeth and hair of extermination victims to Germany.

3. Had a hand in the sterilization of Jews.

* * *

Servatius portrayed Eichmann as a man who actively tried to help Jews in early phases of his SS career. Later, Servatius claimed, Eichmann was bound by orders issued in wartime.

* * *

Servatius repeatedly blamed higher authorities for the crimes charged to Eichmann. He cited the Nuernberg war crimes trial judgment that named Adolf Hitler as the man who ordered the physical destruction of the Jews.

Greek Pilot on Bond After Ship Collision

CLEVELAND (AP) — The captain of a Greek freighter was free on bond today after his arrest on charges of making a false statement in connection with the collision of his ship and a small lumber carrier in Lake Michigan Wednesday.

Federal authorities arrested Capt. Andreas Petinakis and seized his ship, the 411-foot Zarmatt, when the ship arrived at Ashtabula, Ohio.

Petinakis was released on personal bond by United States Commissioner Herbert A. Horn. The Zarmatt was ordered held on $8,000 bond pending any damage claims.

* * *

Authorities said Petinakis told them he was not aware his ship had collided with the 98-foot Mackinac Islander in the heavy fog. He said his ship was sounding the customary three whistle blasts.

A reader reports that his little foreign car does indeed use very little gas—because it's so uncomfortable that he seldom uses it . . . . . The best way to get experience is second-hand . . . . . The ideal gift for a girl who really has everything is a police whistle —Earl Wilson.

Females Face Fall of Fluid, Flare, Fringe in Fashion

The chic neat duo (above) epitomizes the fashion trend this fall. The two-piece bright plaid outfit at left in acrilan and wool has a permanently pleated skirt. The furry fox bag adds a "kookie" look to the over-all effect. Patty Woodard designed the gray flannel jumper (at right) with its dropped waistline and crisp white blouse. The leopard attache case by Walter Katten adds importance to a quiet classic.

Calling all females! Fluid lines, the flared silhouette and fringe are forecast for fall. Striking interpretations of this look will be seen on hundreds of college campuses from Maine to Missoula and from the beaches where the boys are to the shores of our 50th state.

The new silhouette (some designers call it the A line) will be in brilliant colors. Reds have captured the attention of retail merchants. Lively variations of this most important color include tangerine (displacing last year's color parade leading gold) and the more subdued orange-reds such as carrot and rust.

Magenta, emerald, brilliant blues and gold follow in importance. Olive has moved into the realm of an ever popular and ever present classic.

Paisleys appear in infinite variety and color combinations, but plaids continue to hold their own as a campus favorite. A bolder look and a larger scale are noted this year.

SEPARATES

An avalanche of separates has hit the stores. The popularity of these mix and match wardrobe items has prompted at least one manufacturer to adopt this theory for sleepwear.

There is a lean longer line in sweaters with the emergence of the V neck or its simulated V (via pattern) as a new detail. Bulky knits and the Scandinavian influence continue in popularity for another season, a fact that has revived a wave of interest in knitting on numerous campuses.

★ ★ ★

Timeless indeed is the cardigan and its dyed-to-match skirt. This classic combination has held steady interest for wardrobe builders over the years along with such classroom classics as the shirtwaist dress, the ever-popular blazer and trench coat. These will compete with the kookie look for campus fashion honors this year.

★ ★ ★

Stretch pants, ponchos, culottes and kilts head the list of comfortable casuals. The variations in the kilts department includes an assortment of brief flared skirts, dubbed kneescapes by some. Knee socks are a must for these and they appear in a variety of pattern, knits and colors.

Square-toed shoes and the gamey look of fake fur accessories join the heavy metallic chain for accessory honors.

News From the Campus

The Birmingham Wellesley Club has announced the names of girls who have been accepted by Wellesley College as entering freshmen this fall: Joyce Griffith of Birmingham; Susan Hallas, Martha Hoppin and Joan McDonald, all of Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

Karen E. Kives of Cameron Street is enrolled in the 47th annual summer school at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill. for the second term. She is taking special study in camp counseling.

Youth leadership training is offered at Honey Rock Camp, the college's northern campus on the famous Eagle Chain of Lakes in Wisconsin.

Among some 2,000 freshmen who expect to enter Western Michigan University this fall are Craig Thomson, Shirley Parent, Joan Monteith, Janet Sapelak, Saundra Curran and Charlotte De Rousse of the Pontiac area.

They are spending two days for orientation this summer on campus.

George M. Angleton who has received his Ph.D. degree in biophysics from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond is enrolled for 12 months of postdoctoral work at North Carolina State University this fall. His parents are the L. M. Angletons of Emily Court.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Richard K. Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Moore Jr. of Rudgate, Bloomfield Hills, will be a graduate student at the University of Southern California. His fraternity is Delta Tau Delta. He attended Phillips Exeter Academy and Albion College and holds a degree from University of Southern California.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Dr. and Mrs. Paul E. Fitzsimmons (Gail Melene Gullen) will attend Olivet College. She is the daughter of the junior George E. Gullens of Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Thomas R. Bank, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton H. Bank of Franklin Boulevard, and a graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, will attend Methodist Theological School, Delaware, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

Expect Record Enrollment at Marygrove College

Marygrove College is expecting the largest enrollment in its 51-year history, according to an estimate released by Sister Miriam Fidelis, registrar.

The college predicts an equated enrollment of more than 1,000 students. Of this number 425 will be full-time freshmen, an increase of 117 over last year's class.

"Total head count at Marygrove for 1961-62 will be approximately 1,100, an increase of 15 per cent over last year," reports Sister Miriam Fidelis.

Although dormitory capacities have been extended to handle a maximum of 448 students, resident enrollment closed of necessity two months ago. There are still openings for day students, however.

The student body will be drawn from 15 states, with largest enrollments from Michigan and Ohio. Several foreign countries will be represented: the British Isles, Canada, China, Columbia, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Greece, Haiti, Honduras, India, Italy, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Switzerland and Thailand.

Ho Hum! It's Fall!

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor — The Pontiac Press

Summer is slipping swiftly away.

The somnolent August days are a prelude to fall when:

IT'S THE TAWNY time of the year — when red is the predominant color in a crowd, and pigskin the predominant texture . . . when maples are breathtaking in their scarlet splendor; and hickories stand cool and blond in their many hues of gold. And the piles of pumpkins, pyramids of honey (as individually colored as the flowers from which they were distilled) and satiny apples adorn the roadside stands.

IT'S THE YAWNY time of the year — when the light switch gets flicked before Mom can settle down to that stolen moment before dinner with her Pontiac Press . . . when the idea of a crunchy apple and a cozy corner appeals. And time hangs poised in even pieces of dark and daylight.

IT'S THE BRAWNY time of the year — when it's so good to come home to the rich aroma of the potroast on the back burner . . . when small boys are grubby with a special composite of mud and bruises from footbrawling . . . when the number of leaves on a tree outnumber the sands of the sea, and each must be raked and burned. And the heady smoke is nostalgic as well as acrid.

It's autumn.

City School Calendar Made Up

The 1961-62 school year in Pontiac begins Sept. 4, Labor Day. Everyone will be off that day, but from Sept. 5 to next June 15, teachers will spend 190 days on duty.

★ ★ ★

Secondary pupils will spend 183 days in the classroom and elementary pupils will put in 184½ days. Only one vacation remains undetermined.

The Michigan Education Association has not yet set a date for its spring conference. It has fallen in March the past two years and most likely will again in 1962 if MEA officials decide to continue the spring meeting.

Otherwise the 1961-62 school calendar for the Pontiac School District is all set. The following is a list of all dates to remember, including all vacations for the coming school year.

Sept. 5-6: Preschool conferences; new elementary pupils register at respective schools.

★ ★ ★

Sept. 7: First day of classes for elementary schools. New secondary students register and attend orientation sessions. Kindergarten parent-teacher conferences and registration.

Sept. 8: First day of classes for secondary schools. Kindergarten conferences and registration.

Sept. 11: First day of classes for kindergarteners.

★ ★ ★

Oct. 6: Elementary pupils not in school (teachers scoring tests).

Oct. 13: MEA conference. No classes.

Nov. 23-24: Thanksgiving vacation.

Dec. 22-Jan. 1: Christmas vacation.

Jan. 25: Pupils dismissed at noon.

Jan. 26: End of first semester.

Jan. 29: Beginning of second semester.

April 19-24: Easter vacation.

May 30: Memorial Day.

June 14: Pupils dismissed at noon.

June 15: Close of school year.

Etiquette Rules Not So Complex

Authorities Tell How to Answer, Send Invitations

CHICAGO (UPI)—The rules and regulations of social correspondence are less complex than they seem. Here are the basics, as outlined by etiquette authorities.

The formal invitation is the simplest to issue and accept. If handwritten, it should be in ink on white, cream or tan paper only, and always in the third person. Any good stationer can suggest the phrasing.

★ ★

Shower invitations should be handwritten on note paper or special invitation stock. Color is unimportant. Every invitation should state such pertinent information as where, when, and why, and include an r.s.v.p. or "please reply" if an answer is expected.

★ ★ ★

WRITE THANKS

Thank-you notes for gifts never should be printed. Formal note paper is preferred for acknowledging wedding gifts, but informal note paper is appropriate. Each gift rates a prompt, individual note.

★ ★

If you're thrilled with the gift, say so. If the gift makes you cringe, pick out some feature—color or shape—you can praise. Don't say even to your best friend, "Thanks for the coffee percolator, it's the fourth I've received."

★ ★

What's the proper form for replying to invitations?

Using the telephone is taboo if it's a written invitation. If your hostess wanted a telephone reply, she would have called you.

★ ★ ★

If it's a formal invitation, always reply as requested, within 24 hours if possible, within three days at the most.

The acceptance must be handwritten and may copy the form and wording of the invitation itself on unruled note paper.

REPLY ACCORDINGLY

Informal invitations to showers, parties, and so on, set the tone of the reply. If the invitation says, "Why don't you and John crawl out of your cave and join us for bridge next Wednesday at 8 p.m.?" you may reply, "By a happy coincidence our hibernation ends this weekend and we'd love to join you for bridge next Wednesday at 8 p.m."

★

Incidentally, all acceptances should repeat the date, time and place.

The student exhibition at Cranbrook Galleries appeals to Marcia Booth of Clarkston High School and University of Michigan's Dan Jackson of Colony Drive. Marcia's smart ensemble is from The De'Cor Shop and Dan is outfitted by Dickinson's Men's Wear. The student showing of art and crafts will continue through mid-September.

Rochester Schools Going to Revamp Facilities

Hundreds of students in the Rochester Community School District will find themselves in new surroundings when classes begin for the 1961-62 school year.

On Sept. 7 the doors will swing open for the first time at the new Howard L. McGregor Elementary School and at recently constructed additions to the Hamlin and Meadow Brook elementary schools.

The remodeled Central Junior High School will be opened to students the next day.

The projects are part of a major construction program in the district which was made possible when voters approved a $3.1-million bond issue in May, 1960.

McGregor Elementary School, which will be located in Rochester at 1101 First St., will include 14 classrooms, a library, multi-purpose room, kitchen and boiler room.

Capacity of the new school will be 420 students.

★ ★ ★

Each of the new additions at the Hamlin and Meadow Brook schools will contain 8 classrooms, library, general activities room and offices.

A new broiler room also has been built at Hamlin Elementary at 270 W. Hamlin Road. Meadow Brook is at 2260 Munster Road. Classroom space for an additional 360 pupils will be available with these facilities.

The title Progressive Party has been used by third party movements three times in the United States.

Wardrobe Can Use Quality Suit

The student with a quality suit in her wardrobe has a versatile investment that will pay dividends for many seasons. Marcia's three-piece ensemble by Larch of Dallas is in pottery shades — perfect in the fall palette.

Her terra cotta jersey overblouse tops a straight lined skirt. A Chanel styled jacket and pillbox of beaver felt by Schiaparelli with brilliant pin accent complete her outfit.

The natural look of Dan's Palm Beach "3 Way Wardrobe" provides additional versatility — it's at home in almost any situation. Straight body lines and natural shoulders are tailoring features, with lap seams and plain front trousers.

Executed in fine wool and orlon herringbone, the suit has a second pair of plain flannel trousers to make that extra outfit. It's available in a broad color range including olive and charcoal gray.

Both Up in Pontiac School System

More Teachers Wait for More Students

By DICK SAUNDERS

Some 844 teachers in Pontiac public schools will begin wiping the dust off their blackboards Sept. 5 in preparation for the arrival of an estimated 20,822 pupils Sept. 7 and 8.

Projected enrollment estimates call for an increase of 444 pupils and 22 more teachers than showed up for classroom duty in Sept. 1960.

During the past school year there were 822 teachers working for the Pontiac School District. Last year's enrolment was 20,378.

The biggest increase in enrollment is expected at the elementary level while senior high enrollment should continue its decline of the past few years.

All enrollment estimates by Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent, are based on 1960 school census figures, grade to grade student survival ratios and enrollment trends in past years.

TO ADD 372

Elementary pupils numbered 12,812 last year. About 13,184 are expected to enroll in September; an increase of 372.

Enrollment in junior high grades (7-9) is expected to reach 4,431 this year, an increase of 118 pupils over the September 1960 enrollment of 4,431.

Senior high enrollment is pegged at about 3,847 this fall. This would be 47 fewer students than the 1960 enrollment of 3,894.

Last fall the largest increase was at the junior high level. This year it's at the elementary level. The junior high increase is less than a year ago as is the decrease at the senior high level.

School administrators point to the elementary level as being the only one where enrollments are expected to steadily increase through 1965.

"The up-and-down secondary enrollments are due to the large number of children born during postwar years. These children are now in junior high school, but will begin reaching senior high in 1963," Hufziger explains.

"Thus, a year from now, senior high enrollments will surge upward and continue their climb at least through 1965, while junior high enrollments are expected to drop slightly next year."

2.18 PCT. INCREASE

Students in special education totaled 251 last year and are expected to number 280 when school opens next month.

The total enrollment picture this fall represents an estimated 2.18 per cent increase over the 1960 enrollment.

About 100 new teachers will be hired. Most will be replacing teachers who retired or resigned at the close of the 1960-61 school year, and more than half already have been hired.

There will be an estimated 336 secondary teachers under contract this year as compared to 304 last year. An increase of about 10 teachers is expected in the elementary ranks.

There were 401 elementary teachers last year and 411 will be needed this fall.

In the 1960-61 school year there were 25 special education teachers. About 27 will be hired for the coming year.

Special education includes teachers who are not assigned to one given school, but teach such things as elementary foreign language, speech correction and music at a number of schools.

New teachers in special fields and secondary teachers being "converted" to elementary positions will attend Pontiac's preschool workshop Aug. 28-31.

These people will be thoroughly oriented in advanced techniques used here in teaching programs such as elementary arithmetic, secondary mathematics, elementary foreign language and special education.

On Sept. 2 all new teachers will meet with administrators at Pontiac Central High School for an orientation program and the following Tuesday, Sept. 5, new and returning teachers will attend the general teachers' meeting at Pontiac Northern High.

Faculty conferences will be held Sept. 6 at various schools and then, the 844 strong will go home and get a good night's sleep to be in top shape for the first wave of youngsters the next morning.

Traffic Stopping Fashions Favored for Small Fry

Traffic stoppers are these pert outfits from the Tel Huron Children's Shop. Ann James (at left) of Lancaster Road wears a crisp black and white shirtwaist. Amy Pridmore of Tilmore Drive is quaint in a full corduroy jumper that matches her very blue eyes.

Candy Turner of Long Lake Road is peppermint sweet in her green and white candy-striped frock with button-on apron. All three of the girls will make their debut as kindergartners this fall. They are previewing the experience at the Union Lake School kindergarten.

Traffic in little girl's washable school dresses is brisk at this season of the year. Very grownup is Ann's Jack Borgenicht Original in shirtwaist style. In a crease resistant black and white check, its full cut is at advantage over a can-can petticoat. Collar and elbow length sleeves are piped in white and white buttons march from neckline to hem. A narrow leather belt completes the crisp effect.

Most exciting silhouette of the season is the full flared smock falling in unbroken fluid line from the shoulder. Amy's corduroy jumper by Goodskin in the new swirl look is bright blue with nursery rhyme applique. It's quaint and colorful worn over a long sleeved plaid blouse that repeats the blue of the corduroy.

★ ★ ★

Cinderella frocks are noted for their pertness. Candy's pencil-striped green and white is in cotton everglaze. Puffs of sleeves with shirred gathering and a brief white collar that repeats the white of the ample button-on apron complete the effect. Colorful appliques on the apron which ties in an ample bow give added dash to the outfit.

A Colorful Treat

(NEA) — City dwellers are pretty much confined to black and dark colors for the summer months. But since you wear these all winter, too, it's only fair to treat yourself to a blue linen or a pink cotton as you go along.

Manufacturers' shipments of passenger car tires in 1960 amounted to 105.8 million units, an 8.6 per cent increase over 1959. Tire retailers all over the U.S. annually invest an average of 75 per cent of their advertising budgets in their local newspapers.

Indonesian Is Enrolled at MSUO

Nine states, three foreign countries, and 11 counties in Michigan will be represented in Michigan State University Oakland's third freshman class.

Included in the roster of the new students is the son of the Indonesian ambassador to Portugal. Students from Honduras and Germany will also be enrolled.

States represented are Connecticut with one student admitted, Indiana with two, Maryland—three, New Jersey — five, New York—two, Texas—one, Virginia—three, Washington — three and Wisconsin—one.

Four other countries—Turkey, Viet Nam, Canada and Greece, are represented in the existing student bod, as well as six other states.

MSUO's third freshman class is expected to number about 500.

A majority of the newly admitted coeds indicated teacher education as their major, while liberal arts was the favored curriculum for new men.

Eight two-day orientation sessions are being held this summer, with attendance at one required of all entering freshmen.

The orientation program introduces students to university officials, offers tours of the campus, and gives newcomers a chance to converse with upperclassmen.

Placement tests are also given freshmen, and the results are discussed in conferences with academic counselors.

Tux Transforms Sweatshirt Male

An elegant switch from sweatshirt to swish is the tuxedo-clad male when he's out on the town. Dave's After Five Tux has a muted plaid cummerbund, matching tie and handkerchief.

Pat's short dome-skirted evening dress is olive green satin with a moss-green satin cummerbund. Beneath its crop topped jacket is the simple spaghetti strap dress which buttons down the back. Her shoes are supple faille with eyelet detail in black from Waite's but dyed-to-match pumps would complete the color harmony.

Elegance is in order for collegians' evening wear this season. Dave Kimball of Ogemaw Road, senior at Michigan State University and Pat Evans of Romeo, alumna of the University of Michigan, model popular campus choices for formal occasions. Dave's dinner suit is from Harwood Tailor. Pat's short evening frock is from Alicia's After Five Shop.

Wally's jacket, slacks and shirt are from Alvin's of Pontiac as ar Marijean's wide wale corduroy separates and storm coat. Larry's outfit is from McNally's.

New Material Gives Heel Lifts a Lengthy Life

Most school girls know that little things, like crooked stocking seams and runover heels, can spoil the effect of the most fashionable outfit.

So it's good news to hear that heel lifts of a man-made material called "adiprene" urethane rubber will actually outwear shoe soles, and will hardly ever need to be replaced.

The lifts are being shown currently in the tiny size for spike heels, and in a flared design for the curved or Louis heels, where they eliminate another problem — the "feathering" or spreading that causes lifts to snap and ruin stockings, or become caught, loosened and lost in deep-piled carpeting.

Incidentally, school officials are glad to hear about these lifts for two reasons.

First, they are quiet, and cut down on the noisy clatter of high heels on a hard-surfaced corridor.

And second, their resiliency offsets the striking power of a girl in stiletto heels — estimated, in the case of a 112-pounder at 3,000 to 4,000 pounds per square inch! Thus, the lifts can prevent much of the gouging and puncturing of wood, asphalt, tile, cork or linoleum floors that result when metal heels are worn.

If the cookies in the jar get hard, put a few pieces of fresh bread in with them and they will become soft again in just a few hours.

Coat and Slacks Use Flannel, Checked Wool

Rich fabric and trim cut distinguish Wally's sport coat and slacks. The coat, in a subtle small scale check, is all wool. The pleatless slacks are of worsted flannel in Ivy League styling. His sport shirt has long sleeves and is fashioned of 100 per cent Banlon knit.

★ ★ ★

Gold wide wale corduroy, suit choice of Marijean, has a fitted jacket and a skirt with unpressed pleats. These are just two pieces from a group of coordinated separates that include slacks in two lengths and a box jacket. The orlon pile lined storm coat is water repellent. In wide wale corduroy, it retails at $40.

Traveler's Choice

Cellophane clothes and shoe bags convenient timesavers for the busy and clear plastic hat boxes are college girl.

Pointed, Oval or Square

Toe Shape Is Up to You

NEW YORK (NEA)—A choice of toe shapes provides something for everybody this fall for the first time in many seasons.

Sharing top honors with the pointed toe are the oval and the squared-off toe. All are sound fashions.

For daytime, the squared-off toe and the oval toe are logical choices. But the squared-off toe is seen in evening fashions, too, often with a flat little fringed bow on the vamp. (This interesting toe shape is a copy of a shoe style worn in the 18th century.)

★ ★ ★

The oval toe is a natural for the walking shoe in alligator, lizard or calf with stacked leather heel. It's the perfect suit shoe, the perfect afternoon shoe.

'STEPPING' OUT

For evening, the square toe shines in satin, silk, jeweltone reptiles and luster leathers.

★ ★ ★

The tapered and elongated toe has become a classic. Many women feel that it provides complete flattery to the foot and leg. And it is undeniably elegant.

★ ★ ★

This is the season when the heel of medium height, curved or straight as in the perch heel, will be worn from morning to night, in country and in town. It's been done in fabric and in leather.

Dropout Problem Growing With U.S. Population

LANSING—Nearly one million boys and girls 16 and 17 years of age, who should be in high school, are not, the Michigan and national education association report. These young people have left their books behind and hang out in gangs on street corners or work casually from time to time at low-paid jobs. Few are equipped for regular employment. Many are habitues of the juvenile courts.

* * *

These are the high school dropouts.

They are a big problem now, and in a few years will be an even bigger problem. The U.S. Labor Department has estimated that within the next 10 years, 7½ million youths will not finish high school.

Why are large numbers of young people leaving high school before graduation, and why is this problem considered so serious by educators and other civic leaders? Will your child be a high school dropout?

WHO DROPS OUT?

Surveys show that young people who drop out of high school have many characteristics in common. If your child is unsuccessful in his school work, if he does not take part in the school's extracurricular activities and has no friends in school, if he doesn't think education is important in his future, or if his family does not place a high value on education—he may decide to leave school as soon as the law allows.

* * *

The dropout is usually a boy (55-65 per cent), according to the MEA and NEA. Intelligence is not a primary factor; however, the majority are either average or below in ability. The dropout frequently comes from a family with a modest income and the desire for his own spending money is a strong inducement to leave school.

If the dropout is a girl, her reason for leaving school is probably to get married. A higher proportion of bright girls give marriage as a reason for leaving school than do their less intelligent colleagues.

The reason more and more young people drop out of high school each year is that the big bulge in school population is now moving from the elementary schools into the high schools. The MEA and NEA report that by 1970 there will be 15.9 million in the 14-17 age group; by that same year there will be 14.6 million in the 18-21 age group.

HAS NO SKILLS

The high school dropout ultimately becomes a problem to himself and to society. Employers report that youngsters who quit school do not make very good workers. They usually have no skills, are too young, and cannot command a wage that will support an acceptable standard of living.

Among those youths failing to finish high school, the unemployment rate is almost double that of those who do finish and more than three times that of those who have had some college education. This means that the high school dropout is likely to join the most disgruntled, disillusioned and dissatisfied group of workers in America.

* * *

Find out all you can about the school dropouts in your community. Work with your local educators to make a survey of those who leave school before graduation. The facts will give you clues as to the major reasons for dropouts from the local schools.

Back up your school system in its request for more guidance counselors. Insufficient guidance for high school students is one major reason for increasing numbers of high school dropouts.

Work with your PTA group or other civic organizations to inform parents about the dangers of insufficient education in today's world.

Help your local educators in their efforts to introduce remedial reading programs, starting in elementary schools. Many dropouts who have reading problems could have been helped by a remedial reading program during their elementary school years.

Help your schools in their efforts to develop a diversified curriculum. The programs offered for study need to have appeal for the varied needs and interests of the young people in your community.

Much to Do on Campus of MSUO

It includes the Student Senate, with members elected each spring, and the Student Judiciary, appointed by the senate's executive board.

Although just organized last fall, the student government has adopted a health insurance policy and initiated a blood bank program.

There are also Young Democrat and Young Republican clubs for the politically partisan.

Last year both groups were active in a campaign urging state legislators to raise appropriations for MSUO.

AWS FOR WOMEN

Every MSUO coed is a member of the Association of Women Students (AWS), regardless of whether she actively participates in organization activities. The AWS Big Sister Council seeks to integrate new coeds into the university community by assigning each a "big sister" to familiarize her with college life.

Planning social activities and coordinating the use of Oakland Student Center facilities with George Fritz, center director, is the Student Center Council.

Singers may join the University Chorus of 110 voices under the direction of Dr. Walter Collins, chairman of the music department. And journalists have a choice of working on the staffs of The Oakland Observer, university newspaper published biweekly, or Oak Leaves, the MSUO yearbook.

CHESS, DEBATES

Both the chess clubs and debating teams furnish opportunities to compete with teams from other colleges.

Orchesis is MSUO's modern dance group.

Religious organizations on campus are the Newman Club for Roman Catholics, the Wesley Foundation for Methodists, and Intervarsity, an interdenominational organization for Christian students.

* * *

If interested in music and music equipment, students can join the Hi-Fi Club which frequently provides recorded music for dances. The Spanish Club promotes the study of the Spanish culture and language, and has entertained Spanish-speaking guests from South America.

Dyed Duo Popular in Class

* * *

Jim's bold striped cardigan by Jantzen is all wool, combining shades of brass, heather, white and dark brown. He wears it over a paisley print shirt by Marlboro in tones of brown, olive and turquoise. All cotton, it is fully washable and is tapered for proportioned fit. Cotton pinwale corduroy slacks by Sir Jac complete his outfit. In clay tone they are pleatless and slim lined.

* * *

Schoolboys Must Have Triple-Threat Wardrobe

As things shape up today, parents must consider three outfits — dressup, school and play — when readying a youngster's back-to-school wardrobe.

* * *

No problem here. If your lad is like most, he will want a suit "like dad's" or "like big brother's."

Should he want an authentic Ivy style like his older brother's there are plenty of these, too. He will need white shirts to wear with these suits.

* * *

The best topcoat for wear with Continental-inspired suits for boys is the split-raglan model. Miniature fly-front semichesterfields go with the natural-shoulder Ivies.

Scaled-down felt hats are made in both casual and dressy styles have developed a liking for hats like dad's and many youngsters for cold weather dress-up wear.

For classroom wear, the standards of which are much higher these days, he will need one or two sport jackets in his favorite style, two or three pairs of flannel or bedford cord slacks — these may be wash-wear — and sturdy school shoes with plenty of coordinated socks.

* * *

To keep him warm on his journeys to and from school, he will need a good outerwear garment.

There's a wider range here, from waist-length to three-quarter lengths in poplins, gabardines, corduroys, meltons and loden cloths. Some are reversible, and some have detachable parka hoods.

His third category of apparel is actually an economy measure. These, mothers find, save wear and tear on school outfits.

* * *

Stock up on chino and corduroy slacks (many are wash-wear), knit shirts (no ironing), boots or galoshes for sledding or snow shoveling and at least one lighter weight jacket for those early autumn bicycle days.

Remodeling Job?

(NEA) — If you're planning to change the color of your hair in order totry a completely new look, remember that it is very important to also change the colors of your lipstick and eye make-up.

Chris Likes Eton Jacket

* * *

Bonnie's three-piece wool and orlon suit boasts a box pleated skirt. With it she wears an orlon knit sweater blouse. The boxy lines of the jacket are softened by the Peter Pan collar.

* * *

Oxford Area School Officials Optimistic About Vote Result

Officials of the Oxford Area Community School District have reason to be optimistic about the results of a special election there Sept. 11.

The single proposition on the ballot that day will be a request to levy three mills for school operation during 1961-62.

Tradition is in favor of the proposal being approved by voters in the 21-square mile school district.

The electorate in the district never has defeated either a millage proposal or a bond issue since it was consolidated in 1956, according to School Supt. Roger Oberg.

* * *

Oberg, who became superintendent July 1 following the retirement of R. A. Ambrose, had served as assistant superintendent from the time the present boundaries of the district were formed until he was appointed to succeed Ambrose.

SEVEN SCHOOLS

The district covers portions of Oxford, Addison and Brandon townships in Oakland County and the Lapeer County townships of Hadley, Dryden and Metamora. It includes five elementary schools, a junior high school and a senior high.

The new school superintendent said the one-year millage request actually represents only an increase of two mills over the total voted taxes levied last year.

The average homeowner in Oxford and Addison townships will pay only about five or six cents a week more for education in the forthcoming school year if the issue is approved, he said.

The Oxford Board of Education agreed unanimously at its July 18 meeting to place the proposition on the ballot in order to meet the 1961-62 operating budget and to help pay off an operational deficit which has accumulated over the last few years.

Oberg explained that decreased state aid for transportation has helped raise operational costs.

The state paid the entire cost of transporting children to school three years ago. Since that time the state's share has been reduced to about 77 per cent of the total.

Local districts have to provide the balance of the money. One mill of the Oxford district's operating budget now must be allocated for transportation.

The 1961-62 operation budget for the Oxford Area has been set at $614,000 while anticipated revenue for the same period is expected to be $595,000.

The higher operating costs are also due to the normal salary increments for school employes and a slight adjustment in base salaries for teachers during the coming year.

Buy Bone Buttons

(NEA)—If you want to give a favorite bulky sweater a special look, remove the present buttons and replace them with bone buttons. Expensive, it's true, but you can use them on fashion after fashion.

The requirements for satisfactory school clothes: easy off, easy sudsing.

It's Plaids for One, All This Season

This is a big year for plaids for both preteens and teens. And for small sister, too. These will be done in lightweight blends and in dark autumn colors.

Tartan plaids, always part of the school scene, take on new importance this year. Many have a fresh look through color combinations featuring green or blue with gold. Magenta and turquoise turn up both in plaids and as solid colors.

* * *

The well-planned school wardrobe will include this year, jumpers or skirts with blouses or overblouses. There will be many one-piece dresses cut with a two-piece look. Here, both neckline and sleeves are done in a contrasting color or white.

* * *

Use of man-made fibers insure pleats will stay, that garments will wash easily, wear long.

To some extent, children's clothes in this country always reflect adult fashions. This year, we'll see the slightly lowered waistline, pleats and plaids, flared skirts and such colors as eggplant, magenta and antique gold.

Students Go for Music —in Bands

The number of school-age musicians in the United States is growing at a phenomenal rate.

During 1960, American Music Conference reports, more than 1,000 new school bands and orchestras were formed and the number of school-age youngsters playing musical instruments and receiving instruction increased by more than 580,000.

The number of musical youngsters in the United States — 9.5 million — has more than tripled during the past 12 years.

As a means of identification, music-making and the association with group musical efforts rank high among students.

Music-making is one of the most healthful and satisfying outlets for the creative instincts that most youngsters are born with.

It contributes to personality and character development.

Group lessons in schools and private studios have made it possible for more students to be introduced to instrumental music.

Also, new teaching methods that emphasize the enjoyment of self-made music relax "beginners" and improve the chances that they will continue musical pursuits.

Educators and parents, realizing the many benefits of instrumental music, are starting youngsters on their musical way at an earlier age, particularly in the elementary grades.

Tune of a Tunic

(UPI)—Tune in the tunic trend by pulling on a pop-over. Many of the tunic tops have dolman sleeves to elbow, leather piping, boat, "V," or turtle-cowl necklines. Fabrics include wool jersey, plaids, velveteen basketweaves and orlon pile.

School Time Means to Watch for Wheels

There's a vibrant excitement in the air. It's almost as though the circus were coming to town. The reason? Millions of students will shortly be returning to school, glad to get back to the "drudgery" of the work they secretly enjoy.

* * *

School time means wheel time in the U. S., since so many of tomorrow's leaders depend on their two-wheelers for transportation to the classroom. In doing so, they join the legion of motorists using public roads.

This additional number of wheels on America's road networks means that drivers of cars, buses and trucks must watch the road carefully in their competition for the ever-shrinking amount of available road space. Drivers and bicyclists alike are required to follow motor vehicle ordinances to help insure their safety.

An awareness for the necessity of safe driving on the part of both cyclist and motorist has resulted in a sharp decrease in the number of accidents. Figures released by the National Safety Council indicate the rate dropped 13 per cent.

These 12 rules of safe riding were developed by the Bicycle Institute of America and can be found in most community bike ordinances:

Observe all traffic regulations, including red and green lights, one-way street and stop signs.

* * *

Have a white light on the front fender and a reflector on the rear fender for night riding.

Have a satisfactory signalling device to warn of your approach.

Look out for cars pulling out into traffic. Keep a sharp lookout for car doors suddenly opening.

* * *

Never hitch on to other vehicles or race in traffic.

Never carry riders or packages which will obstruct vision or prevent proper control of the vehicle.

Be sure your brakes are in excellent condition.

Coed Needs Wide Range of Clothes

NEW YORK (NEA) — On campus, off campus and in the country, a girl needs a big college wardrobe. Dates and dances, teas and football games all call for special clothes.

Suitcases going back to college this fall will hold the flare in many forms. For dates, it's kept simple, is well cut and often lined.

Other goodies packed carefully in tissue paper will include knickers, the knit dress, stretch pants. Long, bulky tops, of course, and some of those hooded sweaters. Skirts in those bright blanket plaids and some short and flaring skirts.

To wear over pants, there are the new rain capes. And slickers, of course. Some are coated in vinyl and some are lined in pile. It depends on the campus and the climate.

BENEFITS

Dresses, sweaters, shirts and skirts all take to fringe and ruffles this fall. But not, of course, at the same time.

Colors winning top honors on the campus include the orangy shades, russet, emerald green, brassy gold, bright red, some magenta and teal-blue. (They are high fashion shades away from the campus, too, this year.) Gray, beige and plenty of plaids add variety to the scene.

NEW WRINKLE

Coeds have always worn clothes in layers to some extent. Usually, the arrangements were artless. This year, they may have the layers designed for each other. An example is the sweater worn with knickers and a plaid skirt that buttons down the front. All are color co-ordinated, of course.

Pontiac Press Photo

Fair fares depart for campus points north, east, south and west via North Central Airlines. Michigan State University student Donna Douglas of Sherwood Street and MSUO student Penny Batts of Pineview Drive are chic for travel in a full-length tweed coat and an oxford gray suit. Their American Tourister luggage is from Shaw's Jewelry.

Student Can Use Luggage

A man can't hang around the campus all the time. And as a group, college men — and coeds, too — are among the most traveled anywhere.

Last year, 10 per cent of all passports were issued to students.

Designed for jet age travel, today's bag is light in hand, rugged enough to resist scratch, scar and stain and as elegantly masculine as ever.

★ ★ ★

With six in every 10 college students attending schools more than 250 miles from home, soft-sided leather airplane luggage is practical.

VARIETY OF SIZES

In a variety of sizes from club bag to companion bag (just short of the traditional two-suiter), "carry-on" airplane luggage has been restyled and reshaped to tuck under an airplane seat.

★ ★ ★

The heavy wood frame has been replaced by light aluminum or magnesium.

★ ★

In addition to the "carry-on" which takes the burden out of quick trips between home and campus, a man needs the basic 26-inch suitcase.

The so-called two-suiter will hold, in addition, a variety of other clothing.

★ ★ ★

The attache case has its place on the campus where students find it helps organize their papers, books and personal possessions. Some have accordion files in one section and a roomy compartment in the other.

Bad Experience Is Just Part of Growing Up

(NEA)—In your teen years, you're likely to be intense about the things that happen to you for a very good reason: they've never happened to you before. And thus, you've no experience to tell you what's important and what isn't.

★ ★ ★

Some things that seem important at the time really are not. They are part of growing up but they aren't the end of the world. If your date excuses himself at the last minute or doesn't show up at all, don't decide it's your fault. It isn't. He's just rude. So don't sit and brood about it. And don't call up your dearest friend and cry all over her. You'll feel worse, not better.

★ ★

Get busy. Try out a new hairdo. Check over your clothes to see if they need pressing and mending. Chances are, there's a whole closetful to take care of. Bake a cake, go for a walk or a swim but don't sit and brood.

These things happen to everyone at some time. Even to great beauties.

Button-Collar Shirts Popular

Back each year on the popularity list is the boy's white shirt with button-down collar. Tommy wears it with a V-necked bulky sweater of 100 per cent orlon in Nordic styling. With them he wears wash and wear pants of acrilan and rayon.

A bulky cardigan sweater with placket collar is Sandra's choice. She enjoys the freedom its new shorter sleeves provide. Her permanently pleated skirt is parrot green and is available also in peanut blue, magenta and russet.

Very Illuminating

Here's a tricky way to "iron" a child's puffed sleeves. Remove the shade from any table lamp, and turn on the light bulb which will heat up quickly. Then place the damp puffed sleeve over the lamp and pull it slowly over the hot bulb until wrinkles disappear. This method is both efficient and amusing.

Retail furniture stores in the U. S. sold over $5 billion worth of merchandise last year. To reach the 108 million people (aged 12 and over) who read a newspaper every day, these retailers regularly invest 65 per cent of their advertising budgets in daily newspapers.

Station Wagon Gets Student Call in September

It's a fact of life that the college students departs for the campus with an assortment of extra-curricular baggage that can't possibly fit in dad's car.

Those guitars, books, blankets and assorted campus clothes moved from home to school every fall present formidable logistics problems.

One popular way out of the predicament is to rent a station wagon and leave the loading to the departing student.

A survey made last year by a car-rental company revealed a heavy demand for station wagons during the first three weeks in September when schools reopen.

A station wagon will accompany any of the large firms and comfortably transport dad and student to the campus.

It requires an investment of at least $8,000 to creat a job for an average worker in an industrial plant.

Fairest Tweed in Fall Line-Up

Fairest tweed in the fall collection is Donna's full-length coat of Tweed O Plaid in Peerless wool. With extra full stand-off collar and huge beetle buttons, it is worn atop a rich wool plaid skirt and bulky knit sweater.

Penny wears a cotton blouse with her basic demi-fit oxford gray suit. The light-weight luggage is streamlined in design, ideal for air travel.

Anxious to keep the facilities of North Central Airlines at Pontiac's Municipal Airport, the girls are heeding Mayor Philip E. Rowston's plea for increased patronage of the service.

Facing Reality Helps to Dress for One's Age

(NEA) — Dressing for your age, whatever it may be, takes the ability to face reality. Most girls of 20 yearn to be 40 and sophisticated. Most women of 60 yearn to be 20, dressed in pastel, fluffy ruffles. Sometimes, they mix their roles and dress the part with disastrous results.

WE'RE LUCKY

No country in the world has made it easier than this one for a woman to look beautiful at her age. But this means following a few simple rules of good taste. Heavy make-up and overly sophisticated clothes are out for the girl of 20. So is a bored expression.

She has a wealth of young, chic and infinitely flattering clothes to choose from. She is in her heyday in a country that favors youth. There are some nots for the older woman, too, if she really wants to look her best.

No shorts, ever. Trim, tailored pants if she's slim. Otherwise, skirts, please! Or culottes. No two-piece or skimpy bathing suits. Preferably, bathing suits with cap sleeves to cover that upper arm. No low-necked or strapless evening gowns, ever. And never, never a kittenish air!

To Shuffle Teachers and Pupils

Opening of 3 New Waterford Schools to Cause Relocating

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

With the opening of two new Waterford Township elementary schools and a $2.5-million high school this year, scores of teachers and pupils of grades 7 through 12 will find themselves relocated when classes convene this fall.

For the first time in the school system's history, 7th. and 8th graders will have their own junior high school buildings.

Pupils in the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades will be housed in Waterford Township High School and the new Waterford-Kettering High School.

Principals and teachers have been shuffled to various schools and 18 additional instructors have been hired to accommodate the anticipated 650 more pupils this year, according to Superintendent William A. Shunck.

Some 33 school buses on daily runs, will transport 6,000 of the expected 13,350 pupils who enroll in the 28 schools in the district. Waterford Township also operates the school program for youngsters at the Oakland County Children's Home and the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

* * *

School attendance areas throughout the district have been outlined and parents have been notified of the school their children will attend and whether they will ride a bus or walk to school.

With the opening of the three new schools, the $5-million building program approved by voters two years ago, is drawing to a close.

Five new elementary schools, costing about $1,634,227 plus major additions to five other school buildings totaling almost $570,000, have been completed.

Two future school sites have been purchased for $23,909 in the Four Towns and Huntoon Lake areas. Large additions to the maintenance and board of education offices are also nearing completion.

Wise reinvestment of building fund monies by the school board has netted the school system $46,576 which will be used to supplement the building program, Shunck said.

* * *

Increased emphasis will be placed on science, mathematics and modern language studies, with good, practical tools and equipment available for furthering interest in the subjects, Shunck added.

Waterford Township's annual school budget has been established at $4,710,185 for operation and maintenance during the 1961-62 school year.

600 Expected to Enroll in 2 New Schools

Next month, more than 600 pupils are expected to enroll in two new elementary schools in Waterford Township, and about 1,500 more in the new Waterford-Kettering High School.

* * *

There will be a teacher-orientation session Sept. 5. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Sept. 6 for children in kindergarten and for those in grades one through six whose last names begin with A through K, inclusive.

At 9 a.m. Sept. 7, registrations for kindergarteners and pupils in grades one through six will get under way. From the 7th through 12th grades, there will be regular school sessions.

Regular school sessions for all grades will commence Sept. 8th. Classes will continue regular sessions Sept. 11 through Sept 14.

Sept 15, there will be no school for any student. The following week, classes will be in full swing for the 1961-62 year.

More than 13,350 students are expected to register in the school system this year. The students will be handled by a teaching staff of more than 500.

Peanut Butter Goes With Many Foods

Many needy families in the Midwest now have peanut butter available to them from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and will find it versatile and tasty in a large variety of dishes.

Because peanut butter is so concentrated it is best combined with other foods. The most common way to do this is with bread, as a nourishing sandwich filling.

Using the spread as is, of course, makes a very delightful filling for a sandwich.

However, peanut butter mixes so well with so many food items, extra-special enjoyment can be had by combining it with chopped dates and salad dressing; honey or syrup; grated carrots and chopped raisins; bits of crisp bacon.

To use peanut butter with sweet spreads, spread the peanut butter on 1 slice of bread, and jelly, jam, honey, or apple butter on the other. Lettuce, sliced apple or cucumber also go well with peanut butter.

Winter Warm in Snowsuit

Winter's warmest is the versatile snowsuit. Peggy's Swedish embroidered ski-style jacket has detachable hood that is pile trimmed. There are two pair of snow pants in this ensemble, poplin for play and nylon for dress — both water repellent. It's a girl-pretty outfit in sky blue and pink.

Judy's dressy coat features the new A line. Huge pockets and platter collar are handsome details of this rose magenta chinchilla wrap that is interlined with wool.

Preserve Cashmere by Washing Items

Wash most items instead of dry-cleaning because the laundering agitation renews the softness of the fiber and keeps its fluffy. However, check instructions written on the tag of the garment to be sure of what you should do.

To wash a sweater: Make a pattern tracing the shape on a piece of paper. Submerge in warm or cool water in which the soap has already been dissolved, and soak for about five minutes.

Agitate slightly but avoid rubbing. Rinse without agitation at least twice in cool water. Roll in bath towels and spread on a dry towel. Dry away from the heat. Adjust the sweater to the size and shape of the paper cut-out.

ONE COLOR

A young man's fancy is captured by the crisp perfection of Lori Pentiuk (center) of Cheltingham Street and Anita Herreman of Maplewood Street. Both girls are Daniel Whitfield students. Lori's dress is from Neumode Hosiery Shop and Anita is dressed by Arthur's Young Folks Shop. The young man is Bill Ashby of North Elder Road wearing school clothes from Penney's. They are in the Children's Room of the new West Bloomfield Township Library.

Youngsters Want New Fall Outfits

A youngster is as eager for new school clothes when the school year commences as he is for a fresh start with a new teacher in a different classroom.

★ ★ ★

Newest wrinkle in boys' attire is the fly-front shirt that Bill is wearing. The diagonal stripe in contrasting color on the fly simulates a tie and makes the young wearer feel very trim and grownup. Bill's shirt is a rich copper color 12-ounce thickset tweed-toned corduroy. It is tailored with double knees to insure long wear.

★ ★ ★

Toughest footgear are his Pentred soled shoes, guaranteed never to need repairing. In scuff-resistant leather, they have sanitized linings.

★ ★ ★

Anita's red cotton plain pinafore is styled by Nancy Dee so that it may be worn separately as a sundress or over another dress—here it tops a poppy-red shirt-waist with elbow length push-up sleeves.

Make Massager

Do you enjoy a brisk massage during your bath or shower? To make an excellent do-it-yourself massage "tool," cut a strip from an old terrycloth towel four inches wide and long enough to grasp at each end. Then lather this up with thick soapsuds and manipulate it across those hard-to-get-at areas of shoulders and back.

Launder this home-style massager in clean suds, along with your bath towels and washcloth.

New Pajamas Like Nightshirt

Pajama parties will be livened with mix and match separates by Schrank. For variety, you can jugle stripes and solids — knits and broadcloth.

'Match' This: Paper Dresses to Play Tennis

★ ★ ★

Now, the latest fashion are paper outfits which also break the all-white tradition at this famed tennis capital. The paper dresses are trimmed with colored ribbions. Designer is Teddy Tinling, who has designed for international tennis stars since the days of "gorgeous Gussie."

★ ★ ★

He was perturbed when asked if the paper dresses could take the heavy strain of championship play.

"This has come up before," he snapped. "We guarantee them for one match. The chances are they will stand for four or five."

★ ★

So far, no paper dress has come to pieces on the courts.

Don't Feel Bad; Camera Is Not Always Honest

(NEA) — The old saying that a camera never lies is, of course, nonsense. While it's true that some people are more photogenic than others, rarely does anyone photograph the same way twice. So, when you look over the latest batch of candid shots of yourself, be objective.

Strike a happy medium in discovering what the camera has to tell you. For, somewhere between the most flattering pose and the worst picture lies the truth.

Lighting, the way you felt at the time, the angle of the shot and many other factors are involved. So don't be unduly depressed or elated by what you see. Such pictures DO give you an opportunity to see yourself somewhat as others see you.

★ ★ ★

Most of us see ourselves day after day in a mirror, self-conscious and devoid of expression. Candid pictures will show you yourself from many angles and with varying expressions. Make them work for you to decide what you need to change about yourself.

(NEA) — A simple linen sheath in olive green trimmed in pale blue is one of the summer-into-autumn transitionals. It's also done in black with beige trim.

Cherries and Almonds Dress Up Cupcakes

Pack chocolate-almond cupcakes into the lunch box for school-going children. Stir chopped almonds and candied cherries into chocolate cake batter before pouring into tins. Bake and cool. Frost with butter icing and decorate tops with cherry centered almond "daisies."

Reds Don't Want Any 'Lady in Red'

SOMBER COLORS

"Various shades of brown, beige, grey and blue are in vogue this season," the broadcaster said. "They predominate in the new dresses of the all-union collection of 1961."

Lifting the veil on what goes on behind the Soviet fashion scenes, Radio Moscow said the new fashions have been created by designers of The House of Fashions, who met at a cnference held in Moscow.

The broadcaster said that albums of the collection will soon go out to all fashion houses.

"Very soon," said the broadcaster, "clothing enterprises will offer the customer elegant and practical dresses, costumes and coats."

Giving your child the best study conditions is no guarantee that he will be an honor student, but it's surely one way to help him along the road to academic accomplishment.

A good place to live is Oakland County, according to Jane Dewey of Asher Court (at right). St. Williams student. Visitor Michael Malone agrees. Both students model clothes from George's-Newport.

He Needs Cycling Outfit

For your college student son, cycling clothes will always be a welcome gift from home.

Two-wheelers have become highly popular on the nation's campuses.

There are 1,000 bikes at Princeton, 4,500 at the University of Michigan, 1,000 at UCLA, 1,500 at Oberlin and 1,000 at Stanford. So, it's clear that the sport if not limited to any particular region.

And make no mistake, they're a fashion-conscious group, these cycling enthusiasts! So you'd be wise to take a few tips from the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear before you pull a major boner by sending him clothing his pals will laugh at.

* * *

First, remember that tight clothing is impractical for such an energetic out-of-door activity. Apparel should permit freedom of motion and it should be comfortable.

* * *

If his school is in a warm region, walking shorts and a harmonizing or contrasting knit shirt is an ideal combination. Footwear should be laced and soft enough to allow the ball of the rider's foot to rest comfortably on the pedal. Moccasins may be worn but should be snug enough to preclude any chance of coming off.

New colorful blazer-type athletic socks in scores of combinations are practical and will add just the dash to his appearance to make them a sure-fire hit as a gift.

For universities located in colder climates, where dipping temperatures demand more protection against the elements, cycling fashions are still important.

BLAZER GOOD IDEA

A long-sleeved sports shirt, in the Ivy or Continental style, with complementing slacks in corduroy, worsted, wool, or cotton twill, will be just what his group is wearing. And the ensemble can be set off with a lightweight high V-neck or crewneck sweater.

He'll be ready for a full day at the wheel, cool weather notwithstanding.

Burnt Orange Good Fall Color

A good color for fall is the burnt orange in Jane's wash and wear Jack Borgnicht two piece weskit costume. The fabric is a cotton crepe and the banana colored shirt provides contrast. The handsome library sized globe from Wiggs opens a world of imagination to the young student.

Michael wears gold cord slacks by Levi. His white bulky orlon sweater by Fauker. His gold paisley Ivy League shirt by Carnage completes a colorful back to school ensemble.

This is the time of year when a lot of college students get homesick—from being home . . . Some of the juvenile delinquents, we hear, have thought it over and are going to disinherit their parents. — Earl Wilson

Although riding is a sport which tends to keep the participant comfortably warm, a blazer or poplin shell jacket is a good idea for cool weather cycling.

* * *

Leave the choice of headgear up to him. Have no fear that he'll go hatless and catch cold.

For where hats come in, so does individuality among bike riders. You'd never buy him a Tyrolean hat or the deerstalker hat made popular by Sherlock Holmes — but you can bet he'll buy one and never go without it.

* * *

After you've made him the best dressed cyclist on campus, you might want to add the finishing touch of a two-wheeler painted in his school colors. Virtually any color combination is available — it depends on how far you want to carry this business of cycling fashion!

Hot Under Collar?

(NEA) — Your neck has the lowest heat tolerance of any part of the body. During the warm weather, keep it clear of hair, collars and necklaces.

Fall Hats Have 'Built-in Tilt'; Profile Counts

NEW YORK (NEA)—Your profile is what counts this fall when you go shopping for a new hat. Even when you buy a brimmed hat meant to sit straight on, tilt it to one side.

* * *

Most of the hats you see this fall will have the tilt built in. Cloche, turban, toque or roller, they'll all make the most of a pretty face. No hat ever invented is as flattering as the profile hat.

High, soft crowns that have been draped, tucked or arched are typical of autumn. Some have a true global roundness.

Furs and fabrics that look like fur spell out a look of luxury this year. Felts with a fluffy angora surface cannot, at a short distance, be distinguished from fur. Even mink and sable have taken on some unusual hues.

Velvety blacks and rich browns are, of course, sound fashion.

More than 40,000 board feet of lumber can be sawed out of one big Douglas fir tree.

Need Girls to Teach Physical Education

Many thousands of girls must become physical education teachers by 1965 or U.S. high schools will be coping with an acute shortage of properly trained young women to organize and supervise recreation and physical fitness programs.

Both former President Eisenhower and President Kennedy have endorsed corrective treatment for the marked deficiency recent surveys indicate in the physical fitness of American youth.

School construction is due for a round of increased activity, and gyms and playgrounds will not be omitted.

This situation has created an attractive vocational opportunity for the young girl of today who may have been thinking of becoming a teacher or a trained nurse.

The physical education field calls for a combination of the studies and skills required for either a teaching or nursing career.

ATTRACTIVE SALARY

Besides the practically insatiable demand for the girl who comes out of college with P. E. training by 1965, there is an attractive economic outlook. P. E. teachers are paid salaries equivalent to those paid their academic counterparts.

The chances for extracurricular earnings, too, generally are greater and more attractive.

The physical education teacher is the prime choice for supervisory summer camp work. She's always in demand for teaching sports and games, dancing, posture correction, swimming and life saving.

At the high school level, the budding P. E. teacher will do well to take four years of English, biology, physics, and all other requirements for college entrance.

IDEAL COURSE

In college, an ideal course of study would be: biology, human anatomy, physiology, child growth, psychology, sociology, anthropology, history and political science.

Teaching skill is developed by courses in language, composition, literature and speech.

Already in evidence is some effort to stimulate the development of P. E. teachers. For instance, E. R. Moore Co., a manufacturer of girls' gym suits, has launched a college scholarship program for women aspirants to the profession under auspices of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The interest shown in response to this program may lead to a broader interpretation of the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

Many Things Never Change in Teens' Life

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Not long ago, I came across a diary that I kept when I was a teen-ager. It left me astounded. It doesn't seem possible that I could have used up so much energy on so many trivialities.

Conversations with friends were fully noted, sometimes to the extent of three or four pages. And I did lots of visiting, both in person and on the telephone. All of us experimented endlessly with hair styles, eyebrow arches, clothes, lipstick and nail polish. We played jazz records by the hour.

So some things never really change. I copied my favorite movie star's appearance just as you're probably copying yours. This never lasted longer than a week and then I tried something else.

TAKE HEART

If this sounds a lot like your current program, take heart. For through such trial and error, you do finally learn how to look your very best. And that, after all, is what every girl wants whether she admits it or not. Some learn earlier and some later. And some never learn at all. But they are the ones who didn't try.

Pontiac Press Photo

Interested in the opportunities for young people in the business world, Carl Schroeder of South Elder Road., Valparaiso University freshman, interviews Mary Parker, executive secretary at the Pontiac Business Institute. New quarters will be occupied by the school this fall. Carl's handsome jacket and slacks are from Osmun's.

Suede Car Coat in Many Colors

Campus classic, the lightweight car coat worn by Charlene is in imported cotton suede in rust, loden green, camel and taupe.

What a Dish

Period pieces with a practical modern twist are the classic white ironstone tureens which now come electrified with detachable units to keep food piping hot while serving. With the plug and cord removed, such a tureen can be immersed in hot suds like any "plain" dish.

Bold Wool Plaid Is Carl's Choice

His slacks are Ivy League, tailored by Esquire, and are available in regular lengths as well as longs.

Simply 'Charming'

(UPI) — Charms for fall are big — and getting bigger. Flat, round, spherical, they're so big that the jewelry experts report that they should be worn singly — on a rigid bangle bracelet.

Help to Improve Grades Proper Study Conditions

Is your child falling by the scholastic wayside because of low grades? Is it doubtful whether he'll be able to qualify for college? Maybe you can do something about it.

A frequent cause of low grades is a child's inability to concentrate for long periods of time on learning his lessons.

Educators claim that concentration, a key to scholastic success, can be seriously impaired by conditions that aren't conducive to studying.

Proper atmosphere is created by providing the child with a quiet place, his own room perhaps, where he can study without being disturbed. In addition, he should have proper lighting and adequate desk space where he can spread out books, papers and charts. Finally, he must be comfortable.

Comfort does not necessarily mean curling up on an overstuffed chair, or in bed. Comfort, says the National Better Heating and Cooling Council, does mean having the right room temperature.

The importance of temperature control is evidenced by the extensive research heating engineers have conducted in determining the best temperature for studying.

They have found, that temperatures generally between 68 and 75 degrees, with natural indoor humidity, are ideal for studying.

In addition to the right temperature, the room should be free of drafts. Drafts are curbed by plugging up cracks, and most important, by placing heat distributors beneath windows.

Some heat distributors, such as hydronic (hot water heating) baseboards are usually installed along the length of outside walls and under windows, thus providing a protective "curtain" around the perimeter of the house, and setting up a heat barrier against drafts at windows.

Polished Cotton Fine for Slacks

Major choice for growing schoolboy's slacks is polished cotton. Peter wears navy in the chubby size range. His bright pottery blue poncho shirt may be worn in or out and is a Junior Waldorf design.

Best Start for Scholar Is Good Breakfast

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Suddenly the summer has gone and you realize that the children will be back in school and on a regular schedule again. No longer can they sleep late, eat a leisurely breakfast and play all day.

Mothers everywhere bear the responsibility of providing a good breakfast for the family. Nutrition experts agree that it is especially important for a school child to have breakfast. No engine can run without fuel and no individual can perform well without food in the morning.

Habits in the early years are apt to carry over, which is a good reason for insisting on a sit-down breakfast for the young. Older pupils need this meal as much as their younger brothers and sisters.

BREAKFAST IS IMPORTANT TO SCHOOL CHILDREN, REGARDLESS OF AGE.

A little planning will set the scene. At this time of year fresh fruit is in abundance and reasonable. But if the budget won't allow fresh fruit for breakfast, the canned fruits and juices or the frozen juices are acceptable (frozen fruits are sometimes too high priced for low-cost budgets.)

Some form of enriched bread and butter, cereal and milk complete the basic breakfast pattern. Meat or eggs may substitute for the cereal or bread. Cooked cereals are cheaper than ready-to-eat ones.

You can eat your cereal in hot muffins when you have Corn Flake muffins. Get the dry ingredients ready the night before; then final mixing and baking will take only a short time in the morning.

Corn Flake Muffins

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup milk
4 tablespoons melted fat
2 cups corn flakes, slightly crushed

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk and slightly cooled fat. Add to flour mixture, stirring only enough to dampen flour. Fold in corn flakes, being careful not to overmix. Fill well-greased muffin pans, 2½ inches in diameter, two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins.

For tempting Blueberry Corn Flake Muffins — prepare corn flake muffins and fold ¾ cup fresh blueberries or drained defrosted frozen blueberries into mixture. Bake as directed for Corn Flake Muffins.

Father and the children will like these Banana Nut Muffins. To make them, fold ½ cup mashed bananas and ½ cup chopped nutmeats into one recipe of Corn Flake Muffin batter and bake as directed in recipe given above.

Corn Flake Muffins with Sugar Tops will delight everyone with a sweet tooth. To make these tasty morsels, sprinkle a teaspoonful of sieved light brown sugar on top of each Corn Flake Muffin just before putting them into the oven. Bake as directed above.

* * *

Pancakes appeal to young and old. Danish Egg Pancakes are high in protein and different in taste. Salt pork will give them an authentic flavor, but thickly sliced bacon might substitute in an emergency.

Danish Egg Pancakes

¼ pound salt pork
4 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons cold water
2 cups soft ½-inch bread cubes

Cut salt pork into very small pieces and fry in a skillet until crisp and brown. Drain the pieces of salt pork and pour off most of the fat. Beat egg whites until frothy, add water and continue beating until stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick and light in color. Fold yolks and soft bread cubes into whites. Fold salt pork into mixture.

Drop into skillet in 6 pancakes, using about two-thirds cup mixture for each pancake. Bake ten minutes, turn and cook an additional five minutes.

Yield: 6 Danish Egg Pancakes.

If you're looking for something to take the place of toast and jam, serve grilled Hot Jam Sandwiches. Once the youngsters have tried these, they'll probably make up their own combinations of flavors the next time.

Hot Jam Sandwiches

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup flaked coconut
½ cup apricot jam
½ teaspoon cinnamon
8 slices raisin bread

Cream butter until soft and fluffy; mix with coconut. Blend apricot jam with cinnamon. Make 4 sandwiches from raisin bread and jam. Spread both sides of each sandwich with coconut-butter mixture. Saute in hot skillet until golden brown. Turn and brown other side.

* * *

Sandwiches may also be toasted in sandwich grill. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Pontiac Press Photo

Young Miss Cheryl Dennis of Judson Street eats a good breakfast of juice, a banana, cereal and milk and toast. Cheryl, who will be 5 years old Nov. 28, will be a kindergartner this year and her mother knows she needs the proper food in the morning before she goes to school. It would be fine if every school child in the Pontiac area could follow Cheryl's example.

School Cafeterias Serve Balanced Meals

Thirty-seven thousand school lunches are consumed in Oakland County every day during the school year; that is a minimum figure. It includes the teachers and other school personnel who eat in school cafeterias too. Let it be noted for the record that they pay a higher price than students. The Federal government reimburses schools only for lunches eaten by pupils.

What has to be done to get ready for this big eating operation before school opens next month? Mary Slater, Oakland County School Lunch Consultant, listed a number of jobs.

There are about 700 workers in approximately 170 kitchens in the county. The labor turnover is small; in the city of Pontiac, for instance, only 2 workers out of 90 have to be replaced. The cafeteria managers check on their coworkers, make out menus, turn in a preliminary order and set up schedules.

All the kitchens and equipment were cleaned in June; the job has to be done again after the dust of summer has settled. Equipment must be checked. The principal must be consulted to find out the number of students expected.

The staff will make up large quantities of dry mixes for white sauce, cake and biscuits and rolls. This saves time later on and makes use of donated foods.

TYPE A LUNCH

All the school lunch rooms serve the Type A lunch. This is a must if the Federal reimbursement is to be received. There are definite requirements for this lunch; every day it must contain the following:

1. 2 ounces of protein-rich food, such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese, peanut butter or dried peas or beans.
2. ¾ cup fruit and vegetables — 2 items.
3. 1 serving enriched bread or rolls or biscuits made with enriched flour.
4. 2 teaspoons butter or fortified margarine (Oakland County uses only butter).
5. ½ pint fluid whole milk.

Some lunch rooms offer additional food and many schools without kitchens offer milk for a few pennies a carton. No soft drinks are served in any school cafeteria.

Last year the school received 6½ cents per lunch served to students from the federal government. A new law which will go into effect shortly will cut this to 5 cents or less per pupil lunch. This means that probably the price to the pupil will go up. In Pontiac this cut amounts to some $500 a day. Some revised menu planning is in the offing.

Miss Slater mentioned some misconceptions held by the public about the school lunch program. First of all, it is not a profit-making business. The government says that a school district may have only 2 months operating expenses ahead at any one time. (This would be $94,000 for the 23 Pontiac school cafeterias, as it costs $47,000 a month to operate them.)

The government gives the agreed upon price per school lunch to the school, but the surplus commodities they send are not entirely free. The schools pay freight and storage. At the beginning of the year these commodities will be only such staples as flour, rice, butter and dry milk. No one in the program knows what will be received later in the year. But all are top grade products.

Except for the reimbursement and the commodities, all expenses must be met from the fees paid by the students. This includes labor and other food as well as some equipment replacement. The kitchen workers are paid prevailing wages.

This is the 16th year of the federal school lunch program. Some of the workers have been on the job far longer than that time. They are, says Miss Slater, a dedicated group of women.

Last year MSUO offered a 4-quarter course for these workers in joint sponsorship with the Department of Public Instruction and the Hotel and Restaurant School at MSU. Thirty-eight women completed the 4 terms and received certificates. Many paid their own tuition although some school districts footed the bill.

Give Student Clothes He Can Wash Easily

Gone, but not forgotten is the college boy who sends his mother tender reminders of his need for her when he ships home his laundry case crammed full of dirty clothes.

These little surprise packages can be eliminated, if son and mother concentrate on supplying him with clothes he can care for himself — even if he's no hand with the ironing board.

It will be easy to house on campus too, for college dormitories are not noted for their generous closet space.

The following basics are recommended:

Two dress shirts, wash and drip-dry variety.

Two sport coats, one a conservative pattern, one solid.

Four sport shirts, two patterned to go with solid garments, two plain to coordinate with entire wardrobe. (Long-sleeved knit shirts are most practical. They are comfortable and never need ironing.)

Accessories are important and should be comfortable without being nerve shattering. Accessories are for wardrobe accent, not for shocked attention.

One dozen pair of socks, all color coordinated with the entire wardrobe. The assortment should include two pair of dark solids for dress wear and two pair of crew socks for active sports use. The remainder should include bright solids and neat patterns that blend with every ensemble.

On campus, ties are worn primarily for dress. A maximum of four in solids and patterns to contrast with suit shade is sufficient. Nylon knits are practical — they are washable and wrinkle-resistant.

In outerwear, three items are necessary — a topcoat in smart houndstooth or herringbone patterns—a solid color sporty jacket —and a bulky knit cardigan or pullover sweater of acrilan.

The secret of keeping this entire wardrobe smart and fresh is mild suds and warm water. Jackets, coats and slacks respond well to spot cleaning with milk detergent solution. They dry quickly and remain wrinkle-free.

Shirts, socks and ties, and even the sweater whisk through a dormitory laundry tub in no time. Quick-drying qualities and shape retention make them an asset to every wardrobe.

Pleated Culottes in Gray Wool Lead in Fashion

Wheels on campus set the fashion pace. This year's leaders will take to permanently pleated culottes like those Colette is wearing in gray wool worsted.

★ ★ ★

Tailored by Abby Michaels, they also come in red. A V-necked cardigan in bulky knit easy-to-launder tycora by Exmoor is contour cradled for finer fit. Her Italian loafers by Sandler of Boston are available in black or wild plum calf.

★ ★ ★

Perfect Harmony

(NEA) — When wearing a colorful summer print, don't distract from its brilliant beauty by using make-up colors that clash with those in the dree. Choose shades that match or harmonize with the colors in the print.

Packing Pointers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't pack breakable bottles containing liquids with your clothes. Nail polish, perfume, medicines and such should be zipped into plastic bags and carried separately in your overnight or flight bag.

Seal bottles with adhesive tape or plastic tape so they will not break. American Express experts making these points also suggest that you wrap the tape around the base of the bottle when you remove it. It will be at hand when you need it next time around.

Eyebrows Unruly?

(NEA) — If your eyebrows are curly and unruly, it isn't necessary to pluck them all out. Pluck from underneath, just as you would if you had perfect brows. Then take a manicure scissors and, very carefully, clip your brows to the wanted length. If necessary, fill in with an eyebrow pencil, following the brow outline, of course.

When your child's sweater wears thin at the elbows, either put a chamois patch over the elbow or remove the sleeves and let him wear it as a sleeveless sweater.

Proper Environment Can Boost Your Grades

Do your youngsters hope to go to college? Then you will want to help them earn the better grades in high school that most colleges now require for admission.

You can improve their chances of acceptance by the university of their choice by providing proper study conditions at home.

In a controlled test that proved the value of good study environment, two groups of school students participated. One group was making excellent grades; the other poor.

When the group with poor grades was coached on proper study habits and placed in proper surroundings, it surpassed the superior group within a semester.

NOTE THESE HINTS

John D. Wilkin, manager of technical services for Celotex Corp., offers these practical suggestions to improve study conditions:

Have a definite place for study —a room and a desk if possible. Keep the desk clear of distracting objects; it should be bare except for books, typewriter or other items needed for study. Insist that children study at their desks in straight-backed chairs, not on their beds.

Noise, even though it may not completely destroy concentration, can be annoying. Noise control does not mean soundproofing, but it does mean reducing distracting noises. Acoustical tile on the ceiling will absorb up to 75 per cent of the sound that strikes it. Ceiling tile can also aid study by increasing light reflection.

Youngsters cannot develop maximum reading speed and understanding without proper light. A desk lamp, with a 75-watt or larger bulb, should be placed on the desk or mounted just above it. Be sure, too, that there is sufficient light in other parts of the room to avoid glare and shadows.

Be sure there is ventilation, even in winter.

Chatterbox Is Just Looking for Audience

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The woman utterly lacking in charm is the one who talks constantly. No matter what her sterling qualities may be, one tends to forget them in the flood of talk. Such chatter is, of course, a completely selfish performance. It demonstrates fully to the listener that the woman talking has no interest in anyone beyond finding an audience for her nonsense.

Invariably, the woman who is a chatterbox is filled with trivia. She dispenses gossip about herself and others freely, most of it highly inaccurate. Behind all of this lies an inability and, perhaps, an unwillingness to think. Thinking, after all, is not done at parties or in the constant company of others.

Thinking is done in solitude, a state which the chatterbox will avoid at all costs. Usually, she is a woman who is unaware that she lacks charm. And, somehow, one suspects she really wouldn't care if she knew, just as long as she managed to retain her audience.

Self-Help Study Plan Announced

After extensive tests by college and high school educators, a new concept in self-assisting study technique has been announced that could not only improve learning by students at all levels of education but also could help the critical teacher shortage.

★ ★ ★

The new complete package, called Edumator, was devised and developed by the faculty of the New York Institute of Technology.

★ ★ ★

It includes a revolutionary technique for grading and scoring students. Each of the printed questions, testing the student's grasp of what he has read in prepared texts and heard from four high fidelity records, is printed on specially treated paper.

Alternate answers are listed, and the student indicates the correct answer by dabbing a space with a moistened pencil. A green mark appears if he is correct, a red spot if he's wrong.

★ ★ ★

Should a red spot appear, a code number also pops up, referring the student to a brief elaboration of the answer at the back of the workbook. In this manner, a wrong answer is immediately corrected and explained.

Pastel Too Pale?

(NEA) — If you wonder why pastel lipstick colors look so beautiful on some women but not on you, it's probably because you've chosen the shade jus because it's pale, and did not give careful consideration to the proper shade for you.

Pontiac Schools Add Rooms

By DICK SAUNDERS

Students in the Pontiac School District will be greeted by a $457,963 "new look" when they return to classrooms in September.

Highlighting the list of things that weren't there when junior left in June are two major classroom additions.

Emerson Elementary School will unveil a spanking new addition containing four rooms. Alcott Elementary School will also be four rooms larger with a new library to boot.

The Emerson addition is being built at a cost of about $145,000 to handle an expected enrollment problem there and at Herrington Elementary School.

In its estimates of enrollment at Pontiac schools for September 1961, the Pontiac Board of Education cited the Emerson-Herrington and Alcott-Wisner areas as major trouble spots.

Both additions will easily handle the surplus of pupils expected.

The Emerson addition will house two lower elementary classrooms and two kindergarten rooms. In addition, it will indirectly solve another problem, that of a library at the school.

WILL DIVIDE ROOM

Currently, Emerson has a library of substandard size. This and the kindergarten room that existed when the school let out, will be no more.

The old kindergarten is being divided into two rooms. One will be a classroom, the other a library. The new library room will double the size of the old and the former library will be used as a storeroom.

This addition, well-planned and engineered, is designed for future expansion. The new wing will some day have an addition containing four more rooms.

* * *

The long-range plan calls for Emerson to ultimately become a three-unit school with 18 classrooms, two kindergartens and a library.

The Alcott addition cost about $117,000. As with the Emerson wing, it is constructed and interior decorating and landscaping should be finished by Sept. 1.

Last year it was estimated the September 1961 enrollment at Alcott and Wisner would be nearly 140 more than reasonable capacity and about 50 over the total emergency of the two schools.

* * *

Administrators forecast that Alcott would lack two rooms and Wisner one by this fall.

The addition at Alcott was built to hold four upper elementary classrooms and a library. It was constructed at this school because population figures in the area indicate a sharp enrollment increase in 1962 as well.

NEW KITCHENS

There's a good chance that lunch will taste better to pupils at Webster and Whitfield elementary schools. Both will have new kitchens.

The Webster kitchen will be a former classroom rehabilitated for kitchen use at a cost of some $26,000. The new addition at Whitfield cost over $40,000.

The current kitchen at Franklin Elementary School will be expanded at a cost of more than $9,000 to initiate a hot-lunch program.

At the secondary level, most of the new look will be at Lincoln Junior High School. A $27,000 rehabilitation job is being finished on the boys' locker room and the gymnasium will have a shiny new $7,000 floor.

* * *

A kitchen storeroom is also being added at Lincoln, and the school's exterior will have a new coat of paint.

Girls at Pontiac Central High will be welcomed by a newly painted gymnasium. A $42,000 rehabilitation project on the high school's main electrical panels and transformers will also be ready for use.

Major National Defense Education Act (NDEA) projects will involve Bagley and Whitfield elementary schools and Pontiac Central High.

At PCH, $16,000 has been spent rehabilitating three old science rooms for use as biology rooms. The work includes installation of wall and window counters and sinks, running water, demonstrament.

Bagley and Whitfield will each have one new science room rehabilitated from former classrooms. In addition, maintenance employes have been busy scrubbing tables, waxing floors and washing windows in buildings throughout the system to make the old school house shine when the school bell rings next month.

Elementary to a girl's wardrobe is the bold plaid. This one in brilliant red is just right for Union Lake student Peggy Huntley of Westacres. Not so elementary is the beginning struggle to master the French horn. Dave Stanton of Woodstock Avenue, a student at Carl Sandburg School, is sharply clad though he may occasionally flat a note! Both outfits are from the Lion Store.

Brilliant Plaid Is Elementary in Color Scheme

Elementary colors are to be found in the brilliant plaid that Derby coordinates for school girls. Peggy's pleated skirt is matched by a short tunic top. Her white cotton Ship 'n' Shore blouse has roll-up sleeves. Red stretch knee socks complete the ensemble.

Dave's slate-blue Farah pants with adjustable waistband are worn with a shade brighter Robert Bruce sweater that has handsome Swedish detailing in white and navy from neck to cuff. Under the sweater he wears a dark print shirt by Tom Sawyer.

A Quiet Quality Is Smart Goal for Middle-Age

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you are middle-aged, there are certain things you should say goodby to without regret (if, indeed, you were ever acquainted with them). Among them: two-piece bathing suits; lots of colored eyeshadow; gigging; clothes that are snugly fitted; teetery heels; silver-blonde hair coloring; bright red in anything but accessories and an envy of those younger than yourself.

YOUR GOAL

What should you strive for? An elegant look. The clothes you own should bear the quiet mark of quality. Better a few really good things than many of indifferent make. Your swimsuits should be one-piece and well-fitted. Your hair coloring may not be the color of your youth but it should be natural-looking.

* * *

Wear slender shoes with shaped heels but stick to a two-inch height. Stay away from the colors that are hard to wear and look, instead, for the softer shades that are pure flattery to a mature skin. By now, you should own a few pieces of really good jewelry; wear these pieces with pride.

French-toasted Cheese Sandwiches
Fruit Salad Beverage

French-Toasted Cheese Sandwiches

6 slices bread
3 sandwich-size slices cheddar cheese
1 large egg
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons butter

Make 3 sandwiches of the bread and cheese. Beat egg slightly; add milk and beat to combine. Dip sandwiches in egg mixture. Melt half the butter in a 9- or 10-inch skillet; add the sandwiches, cutting one in half so it will fit in.

Brown slowly; turn and brown other sides of sandwich slowly in remaining butter. Cut the 2 whole sandwiches in half. Makes 2 or 3 servings.

Raisin Bread Toast Cups Hold Fruit for Lunch

Fill raisin-bread toast cups with a cottage cheese-fruit cocktail salad for the children's lunch. Trim crusts from raisin bread and press into muffin tins. Toast in slow oven until crisp.

Keep That Fresh Look

Off for your first year at college? You needn't be bogged down by "freshman fog" if you heed these hints from experts on beauty and fashion.

Says actress-singer Polly Bergen, who invariably garners "best-dressed" awards: "Keep your wardrobe casual but cared for. Frills are out, but tailored dresses or classic sweaters and skirts are always acceptable."

Recommends screen star and cosmetic authority Dorothy Lamour: "Don't overdo make-up. It marks you as an amateur. Campus life calls for a fresh-scrubbed look, with deft emphasis at eyes, via pencil and liner."

To be well-groomed, it is wise to set up a beauty time table. Shampoo night, for example, can include four other beauty chores—manicure, pedicure, elbow care and defuzzing legs and underarms.

Elbows can appear dark and rough unless treated to a gentle massage with pumice and lemon, then lubricated with cream.

Defuzzing legs and underarms is simple when you have your own electric shaver. Many coeds find a shaver such as the adjustable Lady Remington best for their needs, since it has comb-like rollers that adjust at the flick of a button to provide precisely the right shave for legs and underarms. And deodorant can be applied immediately after shaving.

Each night, after you've sudsed personal laundry, treat your hands to an application of cream or lotion.

Keep after your clothes. Check skirts to catch ripped hems, blouses and sweaters to secure loose buttons. Remember: neatness counts!

Football 1st in Injuries to Youths

What is the No. 1 school-connected injury dealer to teen-agers?

If you guessed traffic accidents, you're probably wrong, says the National Safety Council.

A state study of student injuries requiring hospitalization showed that secondary school administrators feared school-connected traffic accidents were the greatest cause of injury to students.

While traffic accidents are clearly the main killers of high school students, the state's injury statistics told another story: Football accidents sent nine times as many students to the hospital as traffic injuries suffered while driving to and from school and during school hours.

Basketball and playground injuries requiring hospitalization of high school students were next behind football in frequency. Traffic accidents were fourth.

GOES UNNOTICED

Commenting on results of the study, one observer said it indicated a fact safety men have known a long time—that too often the problem feared the most is given much of the attention, while the one that actually does the most damage may go virtually unnoticed and unsolved.

Wayne P. Hughes, director of the National Safety Council's school and college department, suggests these ways for schools to reduce the number of football-incurred injuries:

Buy better football equipment and keep it in good condition.

* * *

Teach fundamentals of football more effectively.

Drill players in self-protection.

Develop an attitude among school administrators and the public that places physical well-being of players ahead of winning games.

Pique's Perfect

(NEA)—The printed pique jacket is another answer to the problem of what to wear when the air conditioning cools you off. Some styles are collarless.

Jersey's Just It

(NEA)—Mat jersey is having a big summer season, possibly because it doesn't wrinkle, packs easily, is an impeccable traveler and wears well.

One 35,000 ton battleship required 150,000 pounds of rubber, enough to equip 2,000 passenger automobiles complete with spare tires.

She Must Budget Her Time

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The American housewife's greatest problem isn't money or children—it's time.

According to a recent survey made by Iowa State University, 60 per cent of the nation's housewives listed "time" as their No. 1 problem.

It's no wonder housewives find themselves short of time. Nobody respects the time of the woman whose major job is keeping house.

Her day is broken into by dozens of useless interruptions and demands upon her time.

The telephone rings, and she unplugs the iron to run answer it, only to find that someone is informing her that she has just "won" a free dancing lesson or a "free" photograph or, if she can come up with the correct answer to "Who is the president of the United States?," she will get some other equally magnificent break.

POTATOES BURN

The doorbell rings, and she finds herself with a determined, long-winded salesman to get rid of before the potatoes on the stove start burning.

Instead of being asked to donate money to help a good cause, the housewife is asked to donate time. Time to bake a cake or a batch of cookies, time to man a booth at a bazaar, time to make some kind of handicraft to sell.

If the housewife takes her community responsibilities seriously, she finds that her time is consumed by meetings that last twice as long as need last, by all sorts of busy work that has no real purpose.

More than likely she will have to take her turn providing "refreshments" since when women meet they expect to eat.

★ ★ ★

Repairmen have no respect for a homemaker's time, either. The man who promises to come Monday morning to fix the washer, likely as not will show up Wednesday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the housewife's time is not her own, for if she leaves the house to do an errand, that is the time the repairman is sure to show up and she will have to start the waiting routine all over again.

But, while nobody respects the time of the housewife, it's really nobody's fault but her own. Instead of making other respect her working hours, she lets them be wasted and then complains that her greatest problem is lack of time.

Men will understand these "timely" problems if they read "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Showers Charm at Will-O-Way

Ilka Chase? Word 'Vibrant' Fits Her Like a Glove

By PAT EVANS

"Vibrant" best describes the lasting impression I hold from the two hours spent with Ilka Chase Saturday afternoon.

Despite the almost two-hour delay of her plane flight from New York, Miss Chase appeared, cordial and charming, in the doorway of Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater.

She paused only briefly to oblige our photographer for a picture with Will-O-Way director Mrs. Celia Turner and husband Ken Turner then was whisked to a reserved seat in the theater amidst handshakes and hellos of welcoming fans.

1ST WOMAN IN SERIES

As Will-O-Way's "master," Miss Chase is the first woman in the series of international theater artists which includes Basil Rathbone and Harold Clurman to act as Will-O-Way's "master."

Backstage, anxiety showed through the heavily made up faces of youngsters who had practiced seven weeks for this performance.

The theater's professional workshop talenteds were about to perform scenes from several plays, among them "Chantecler," "As You Like It" and "Our Town," for observance and critiquing by the "master."

Though I chatted only momentarily with this successful stage, screen and television personality, famous as a writer, actress and lecturer, she was everything I had expected and more — effervescent, witty, versatile and flexible — a vibrant combination.

MAKES EYES DARKER

Blue mascara makes her dark brown eyes darker and snappier cornered with upturned smile wrinkles. Her beige suit and brown shoes seemed to enhance the "spice and ginger" personality of this fair lady with slim, youthful stature.

"I was 'star-struck' as a child," she began. "While at the Convent of the Holy Child Jesus on Riverside Drive, I acted the title role in 'Puss in Boots,' wearing a sign around my neck which said, 'I am the Miller, the first son, and the second son — you see, we had a limited cast."

Miss Chase's career is extraordinary because of its wide variety; talent in so many areas.

Having appeared in over 20 Broadway productions, perhaps the most notable of which was "The Women," still her first and foremost love is the theater.

She readily admits her acting career is at a standstill and is just as quick to express a desire to act on Broadway anytime, preferably warm-hearted or what she terms "high" comedy.

As Miss Chase wrote in one of her autobiographies, "Free Admission," "There is this to be said for the theater; re-actions are instantaneous."

HATES, LOVES VIOLENTLY

"It hates or loves with violence, and its hatred is mortal," Her advice for upcoming starlets is "Actresses should wish for money from home in case of flops on Broadway."

She has been extremely popular in summer stock and her range from comedienne to dramatic actress has opened up for her many of TV's best dramatic programs.

When asked about her books, thet witty lady answered smilingly, "I've written nine in all, of which three autobiographies are, of course, about me." "Always in Vogue" is the biography of her noted mother who was editor-in-chief of "Vogue" magazine for 38 years.

★ ★ ★

"My writing ability is most active now," she pointed out, "my latest book being "The Carthaginian Rose," an autobiographical travelogue.

"The title is taken from a line of poetry by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Published by Doubleday, the book should come out around the end of October."

Miss Chase's career includes extensive writing for magazines and newspapers and today she has a syndicated column with a circulation approximating seven million.

FASHION COMMENTATOR

★ ★ ★

One of her jobs is acting as a beauty consultant for Colgate-Palmolive soap. An upcoming fashion show commentary in Houston, Tex., is scheduled in September.

As sensitive to people's feelings as to new fashion trends, Miss Chase has a one-woman show, "The Dear Emotion." "It's based on love—love of men and women, children, food —love of everything."

★ ★ ★

"I would far rather have a job in my life than not," she explains," not only from necessity but from choice, and though I wish I could have had two or three children of my own, I don't believe in having huge families as I'm just as concerned about the population explosion as anyone else."

We talked of many things, among them pet peeves and the world situation.

Teabags and affectation, perhaps a combination in juxtaposition to others, was for us a common denominator. As much as we hate sopping teabags, we love fresh tea even more.

'WASTE OF TIME'

On the subject of affectation, she says, "Affectation is stupid, it seems to be such a waste of time.

I second that notion.

★ ★ ★

The afternoon was slipping away, but Miss Chase had a few words concerning Khrushchev and his lot. "I just wish the old blowhard would shut up—of what use is Berlin to him?

★ ★ ★

"I don't doubt the seriousness of his intention in the least, however, for he's just as real as Hitler and Stalin and —just as vulgar and shrewd."

★ ★ ★

As the critique session terminated, Miss Chase dabbed her perspiration-brimmed brow, rose from her place after critiquing to commend the youngsters with "this comes to me as a very refreshing change and a thrilling experience . . . usually I'm on the other end, being criticized."

★ ★ ★

It was time to bid adieu—as her firm, yet gentle, hand clasped mine I knew the thrilling experience was mine.

It would be a rare occasion, indeed, when I should again meet one with such a combination of tenderness and wit.

Pontiac Press Photo

"Girls, I thought your performance was lovely—I've only to ask you to remember not to split your lines and above all listen, for nothing makes for reality more than that," Ilka Chase advised Mary K. Larsen, 12, of Plymouth, and Robin Turner, 13, of Bloomfield Hills. The two played Orlando and Rosalind interchangeably in "As You Like It" for the Saturday afternoon performance at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater. The critique this weekend with Miss Chase as "Master" climaxed the summer stock session.

You Mind If I Read My Book?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am a daily commuter and enjoy reading the newspaper or a book, on my way to and from the office. Quite often someone I know only casually will sit beside me on the train and after commenting on the weather, or some general subject, we really have nothing to talk about.

Could I be considered rude if I opened my book or newspaper and started to read after greeting her, or must I try to make conversation?

A: Should you find yourself seated next to an acquaintance you could offer to share part of your newspaper with her. Whether you can pick up your book or not depends upon whether your companion has something to say to you.

If your conversation comes to an end and there is a lull, you could say, "Do you mind if I read my book?"

Q: My 12-year-old daughter was invited to spend several days with a classmate of hers whose parents have a house in the country. She had a wonderful time.

I have never met the mother of the girl as she travels in an entirely different circle. Will you please tell me what I am supposed to do to show proper appreciation for her having invited my daughter? Should I send a gift, or should I write a note, or what? Please advise me.

A: Write a note to the mother thanking her for having invited your daughter and go on to say how much she enjoyed her visit.

Q: I am writing to you in the hope that you can settle an argument which arises every time we are invited to a wedding reception. I am referring to a reception where a dinner is served. It is the custom of my husband and his family to give money instead of gifts, which I think is quite all right as it avoids duplicate gifts.

However, I have always felt that no matter how elaborate or simple the reception, you should give whatever you could afford, the true meaning of the gift being the thought behind it, not the amount.

My husband disagrees with me, along with the rest of his family. They say when invited to a dinner you have to give $20 or $25 a couple. If that's the way weddings are given today then they might as well give a dance and sell tickets at the door. To expect guests to pay for their dinner, is to me shocking. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this.

A: Your husband has been misinformed. In fact, wedding gifts of money are correct only from close relatives of the bride and groom, and the very idea of giving a sum of money to cover the cost of your dinners, is indeed shocking.

MRS. ALFRED W. HARWOOD

Marsha Ann Stapp, daughter of Mrs. Mell D. Stapp of Inverness Road and the late Mr. Stapp, and Alfred W. Harwood, son of the Webb S. Harwoods of Ann Arbor, were wed Saturday in Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian.

Marsha Ann Stapp Wed by Candlelight

White satin bows marked family pews in the Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian where Marsha Ann Stapp and Alfred W. Harwood exchanged vows and rings before the Rev. Edward D. Auchard.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mell D. Stapp of Inverness Road and the late Mr. Stapp. The Webb S. Harwoods, parents of the bridegroom, are of Ann Arbor.

Alencon lace, frosted with pearls and iridescent paillettes, relieved the classic simplicity of the bridal gown of crystal white coronation taffeta. The princess bodice, styled with short pleated sleeves, extended into a belled skirt and court train.

Janice Harwood of Ann Arbor, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Jeannette Cockle was honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Judy Mieras of Midland, Mrs. John Lown of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Allen Rentcheller of Saline, Elsie Kovac of New Brunswick, N. J., and Mrs. Gerald VanDyke of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

William Meister of Saline was best man. Ushers were John Matthews, East Lansing; Raymond Mazurek, Freeseil; Allen Rentscheler, Taylor Jacobson and Philip Badour, all of Saline; Douglas Boynton of Bryan, Ohio, Donald Ufiak of Shelby and Jack Roosa of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The newlyweds, who are graduates of Michigan State University, will live in Saline after a honeymoon in the Black Hills of North Dakota.

★ ★ ★

Senior Citizens to Attend Cook Out

Area senior citizens over 60 have been invited to a cookout at Oakland Park Thursday, sponsored by The Sunset Club.

Hamburgers and watermelon will be served. Women have been asked to bring a "dish to pass." The meal will be served at noon.

In case of rain the meeting will be at the Adah Shelly Library. Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department sponsors the club.

It's Too Hot or Too Cold

ABBY

He didn't want to do it and said it was on so low that it didn't make any difference. My daughter (who is visiting us with her two babies) finally got him to turn it off.

The next morning the temperature dropped to 50. I wouldn't have said one word about turning the furnace back on had it not been for our two grandchildren, who are 5 months old and a year and a half.

They both had colds, so I begged and pleaded with my husband to turn the furnace back on, and he said he wasn't going to turn it on until next winter. Do you think he was right or was I?

MAD

DEAR MAD: You were right. And come next winter give that old mule plenty of heat.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: To the "city girl" who wrote: "My husband is one of those devoted sons who always DRAGS me to see his parents."

"It's a shame a woman has to be DRAGGED to visit her in-laws. Can't married couples realize how much they mean to their parents — particularly in their later years?

They have very little left in life but their children. So many married children want to "live their own lives," and exclude their parents.

If they could only realize how much they owe their parents, and how much happiness they could bring them by being a little more attentive.

Abby, you can reword this, and say it better. I haven't had much education, but I just had to have my say on this subject.

LOOKING AHEAD

DEAR LOOKING: There's no need to reword your letter. You said it well.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I should be ashamed to write this letter, but I must have an answer.

I am 27 and have been married to a good man for five years. We have two adorable children. Please don't think I'm crazy, but I still undress in the clothes closet.

Is there anything wrong with this? My husband has never laughed at me or complained, but I feel so childish.

Should I try to get over this inhibition? Or don't you think it matters?

STILL SHY

DEAR STILL: Since your husband doesn't object, your "problem" exists only in your mind.

Everyone need not shed ALL inhibitions in order to be happy. Keep your skeleton in the closet.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO KATHY: Forgive him. Who among us doesn't need to be forgiven at least once?

★ ★

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

From a Broad View

In a Pinch, Girl's Best Friend Is Her Girdle

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — An interesting thing happened on my way to a buffet table the other night. Ran into a conversation about girdles: Should women wear them? It started out mildly — but wound up as snappish as the subject at hand.

★ ★ ★

"I just read somewhere that if you put starch in your bath water," the hostess was telling a lady guest, "your skin gets slick all over. You can slide into a girdle with no trouble at all."

A male guest overheard. He was feeling rather unbuttoned, having scarcely dallied his martinis with vermouth, so he joined in.

"Why in heaven's name do women wear girdles anyway?" he asked plaintively, in a carrying whisper.

'BUT ALL LADIES DO'

"Why, Allen —!" croaked the hostess. "All ladies wear girdles." This statement, laid out flat as a boned-in waist, drew a crowd. Suddenly there was a crowd.

"The greatest legend in the world," remarked a man, "is that a girdle makes a woman more slender."

"That's absurd," another male interrupted. "The greatest legend in the world is that a woman needs a girdle to hold her stockings up. That's the excuse they always give you because they don't want to admit their hips are too big."

"You've both wrong," said Allen —, founder of the argument. "The reason a woman looks terrible in a girdle is that she becomes hard-looking, like she was packed in concrete, and unnatural."

While his wife took on the "hard" look he referred to, he elaborated:

"Listen, so a woman's carrying around weight, maybe too much of it. By wearing a girdle she just pushes it around, so it's straighter instead of curved. Who's she kidding? We know the weight's there."

TRIPLE NECESSITY

The girls had been amused. Now, by no two-way stretch of imagination, could they be considered anything but cool. They laid down their opinions that: (1) A woman does, too, hold up her stockings with a girdle; (3) A woman is dormed with certain ill-spaced bulges at the thighs and hips which tend, particularly in sheath skirts, to resemble, in her mind, the foothills of the Rockies; (3) For an obscure psychological reason, a girdle is like white gloves—makes a girl feel like a lady.

"What's more," added the hostess defiantly, "a girdle is physically necessary.

"For women with a lot of weight, it's more comfortable. And for women who are lucky enough to be slender, it forces them — physically, actually — to eat moderately and stay slender."

At about this juncture, there was some rather intellectual delving into the question of what makes a good figure anyway and who said so, and somehow or other the name of Marilyn Monroe came up.

"You notice Marilyn Monroe doesn't wear a girdle," a man had noticed.

Exactly what she meant by exactly what she meant was never learned. Dinner was announced and her husband led her to the trough, muttering something about her mind wearing a girdle.

Nothing really was solved by the argument. But it proved once more that when it comes to women's figures — men know roughly what they like, and women know precisely what they'll get.

Joan K. Davis Marries

MRS. RICHARD J. COAPMAN

Joan Katherine Davis of Rochester exchanged nupital vows with Richard J. Coapman of Lompoc, Calif., Saturday evening in St. Paul Methodist Church, Rochester, before Rev. Douglas Parker.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the newlyweds are the Rolland H. Davises of Russell Street and the John R. Coapmans of Avalon Street.

★ ★ ★

Matron of honor Mrs. Harold Jackson of Utica, Mrs. Allen Boughner of Rochester, Karen Sage and the bride's sister Nada Davis appeared in peacock blue taffeta and matching veiled head bands. They carried pink roses.

★ ★ ★

John Coapman stood as best man for his brother. Seating the guests were Arthur Bentley of Rochester, James Colenso of Washington, D.C., and Robert Colenso of Santa Maria, Calif.

★ ★ ★

After a Western honeymoon, the newlyweds will make their home in California. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology, Detroit.

Rainy Day Fun

To keep kiddies amused on a rainy day, try the "scooting soap" game. Place a tiny bit of soap—smaller than a pin head—in a dish of water and watch it "skate" around.

The soap moves because it reduces the water's surface tension; as it acts in one spot, the tension pulls it along to "work" elsewhere. This soapy game has particular appeal for budding young scientists.

We hear the Pentagon is planning to use psychiatrists to popularize Army service and will tell today's teen-agers that war is sort of a glamorous rumble . . . A friend is a guy who won't do anything behind your back but pat you there.—Earl Wilson.

Tarnish Helps

It is a mistake to scour tinware in an effort to keep it bright — because the tarnish protects the surface and makes it wear longer. Also, tin is a much better conductor of heat after it has become darkened by use. To prevent rust, always take pains to wipe tin utensils dry after sudsing and rinsing.

Hold Reunion at Cass Lake

The 59 attending included families of the host's brothers, Bruce Mudge, Roseville; Elmer J., Denver, Colo.; Donald G., Huntington Woods; and a sister Mrs. Eddie Runde of Mt. Clemens. Another brother Harry E. Mudge who resides in Texas was unable to attend.

MRS. RAY JEWELL

Appointed to State DAV Post

Newly appointed state sergeant-at-arms for the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary is Mrs. Ray Jewell of the local Chapter 16 auxiliary. Mrs. Jewell is a past president of the local auxiliary.

Appointments made by local commander Mrs. William Vandrunkin at a recent business meeting of the auxiliary included Mrs. Edna Olmstead, membership and child welfare chairman; Mrs. William Paetow, Americanism and publicity; and Mrs. Lyle Smith, hospital.

Other chairmen are Mrs. Jewell, entertainment and community service; Thursa Duman, legislation; and Mrs. L. J. Kees, junior activities and Mrs. Paul Autrey is ways and means chairman; and Mrs. Lavanna McCoy, sergeant-at-arms.

Surprise Shower for Mrs. Hanson

Mrs. Richard Hanson was honored at a surprise stork shower in the Vernon Drive home of Mrs. Gerald Mahrle with Mrs. James Hunter as cohostess.

Guests included Mrs. Sidney Gregory, Mrs. John Prior, Mrs. John Salitsky, Mrs. Stuart Cappell and Mrs. Myron DeWys.

Exercise and Find It

Your Waistline Missing?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This little story could be called, "The Case of The Wandering Waistline."

Fashion's waistline has been wandering up and down and sometimes disappearing entirely for a few years now. It has changed more rapidly and more times even than skirt lengths, which have been consistently going up.

A fashion magazine says that your waistline is where you belt it. There IS great variety in belts. There are all sorts — chain belts and also sashes which cling to the hipline.

WHERE YOU FIND IT

In a way your waist is where you find it, and if you can't find it you are in a bad shape! Actually, a slim waistline is essential even if it is not defined by a belt or the cut of a dress or suit.

The overweight woman can wear a narrow belt more flatteringly than she can wear one of the sack-like or low-belted dresses.

Many women who have nice figures otherwise, and who are the correct weight, find that at middle age they must do special exercises in order to battle rolls over the girdle. If you are in the mood to get ready for fall clothes, do a few waist exercises regularly each day. Try this one.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Try this one also. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor above your head and your legs straight. "Walk" with the heels (little steps) as far to the left as you possibly can and still keep the hips on the floor. Do not roll onto the left hip. Lie in this position for a few moments.

Now "walk" as far to the right as you can and still keep your hips on the floor. Lie in this position for a few moments. Continue walking with the heels first to the left and then to the right.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my tested waist-slimming exercise for a loss of a few inches in a few weeks time, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

She's walking — with the heels. Go as far as you can to the left, but keep the hips on the floor; don't roll on the left hip. This is a good waist exercise.

A Real Oasis

Out in the plains of South Dakota, far from "civilization," stands a bathtub! The rancher-owner found an artesian well there that gushes water warm enough for bathing, so he thoughtfully installed a tub.

Make Room for Child in Spirit of Jesus

(Excerpt No. 1 from Romano Guardini's "The Lord")

Thus, in spite of natural affection, there is often a trace of secret, unconscious resentment in the attitude of grownups toward the child.

Yet, the necessity of rebecoming a little child has been set up as the standard of Christian being and rightly so. What does Jesus mean when he sets up the child as model?

One of his texts is: "And whoever receives one such little child for my sake receives me." To receive means to accept, to make room for, to respect. Unconsciously we reserve such regard only for the person who is able to prove himself, who accomplishes something, is useful and important.

The child can prove nothing. It is only begining; it has not yet accomplished anything; it is still only a hope. The child cannot force the adult to take it seriously. Real people are the grownups; the child counts only as a fraction.

This opinion is not to be found solely among stern realists and egotists, but also — indeed, often to a greater extent — among affectionate, motherly or pedagogic types. The form it takes here is that of excessive protectiveness.

The usual attitude of the adult toward the child is either one of friendly or unfriendly disregard, all too evident in the forced playful tone which he feels obliged to assume toward the young one.

To this Jesus says: You do not receive the child because it cannot enforce respect. For you it is unimportant. But let me tell you, wherever there is something defenseless, there am I! A divine chivalry protects that which is unable to protect itself and declares: I stand behind it!

★ ★ ★

The child cannot compete with the ableness, experience and greater knowledge of the adult. It is defenseless when a grownup wickedly poisons its mind, confuses its conceptions of right and wrong, plays upon its helpless senses and destroys its natural modesty or reverence.

★ ★ ★

In other words, the child is utterly at the mercy of the unscrupulous adult whom Jesus warns: BEWARE! Where you see only a weak creature is, in reality, a divine mystery, as delicate as it is holy. He who lays impious hands upon it does something so terrible that it would have been better for him to have been put away before like a dangerous animal.

FIESTA SALAD
By Mrs. Clarence Drake

1 can (No. 2½) pear halves OR 6 fresh pears, peeled
2 (3 oz.) packages cream cheese
4 tablespoons salad dressing
1 pimiento, minced
½ cup chopped nuts
1 pound ripe grapes, preferably the black ones

Drain canned pears. If fresh pears are used, drop them in water with ascorbic acid to keep them white.

Mix 1 package cheese, salad dressing, pimiento and nuts. Fill pear halves with mixture. Place half a filled pear upside down on a lettuce-lined plate. Seed and halve grapes, preferably the black ones. Put a bit of green (parsley, celery leaf, etc.) at the end to resemble the stem. Serves 8.

Romeo, Davisburg Pick Queens for Festivities

PEACHIEST OF CROP — These three girls were picked Saturday night from a field of nine area contestants to reign over the 28th annual Peach Festival in Romeo Sept. 2-4. In the center is the 1961 Peach Queen Dorothy Jean Bilbrey, of Davison, flanked by her two maids of honor, Marilena Niespolo, of East Detroit (left) and Dianne Parrish, of Armada. All three girls are 18 years old.

Dancing Davison Brunette Will Wear Peach Crown

By LEE WINBORN
Area News Editor

★ ★ ★

"Jeannie" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bilbrey of 9050 Coldwater St. She entered the contest as Miss Flint.

Named first maid of honor was Marilena Niespolo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Niespolo of East Detroit.

A third brunette, Dianne Parrish of Armada, was picked second maid of honor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parrish of 22736 W. Main St.

ALL 18 YEARS OLD

All three girls are 18 years old. For her specialty act, the new queen did a captivating hula dance to the music of "Lovely Hula Hands" and the "Hawaiian War Chant."

Her talent, beauty and charm had earned her a place among the top 10 in the Miss Michigan contest in May.

Marilena sang "Summertime" to display her talent while the second maid of honor did an original comedy monologue.

All nine candidates for the coveted crown first appeared before a giant gold picture frame on the stage of Romeo Junior High School in street dress and walked down a carpeted runway and back.

They returned to show their talent. For the finale they came on stage in their formal gowns to pick out a colonial bouquet which held a question they had to answer extemporaneously.

Master of ceremonies William F. Dorn called the contestants by the names of peaches until the judges retired to make their decision.

Then the girls were introduced by their proper names.

The four out-of-town judges rated each candidate on the basis of poise, personality, beauty, grooming and speaking ability.

The judges were Mrs. Alma Boyd of the Arthur Murray Dance Studios, Detroit; George Harcourt, artist with Parke, Davis & Co.; Mrs. Austin Reese Kolman of Patricia Stevens Finishing School, Detroit; and Monroe D. Strobaker, Detroit newspaper photographer.

TO HIGHLIGHT FESTIVAL

The coronation will be a highlight of the 29th annual Peach Festival in Romeo Sept. 2-4.

Beginning tomorrow the new queen and her attendants will start on a busy round of activities to publicize the forthcoming Labor Day celebration.

They will appear on radio, television, at a Tiger baseball game, at the horse races in Hazel Park and at area hospitals and chain stores.

They will take peaches to servicemen at Selfridge Air Force Base near Mount Clemens Aug. 22 and to Detroit's Mayor Miriani two days later.

The climax of the prefestival tours for the queen will be a gift trip to Washington, D.C., where her host will be Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica.

The six other candidates for queen were Kathy Koster, 18, of Utica; Susan Laurent, 17, of Almont; Nancy Wilkinson, 18, of Lake Orion; Carole Inman, 17, of Oxford; Marjorie Payne, 18, of Romeo; and Nancy Serra, 18, of Waterford Township.

They will form the queen's court, and all nine girls will be guests in Romeo homes during the three-day celebration.

Club Planning Styles, Cards

Rochester Group Sets Party 1 P.M. Thursday at MSUO

ROCHESTER — The Newcomer Club of Rochester, formerly the Planter Club, has completed plans for a fall fashion dessert card party, "Fashions 'n' Fun" which will be held at Michigan State University Oakland on Thursday at 1 p.m.

Chairmen are Mrs. Nelson Parsons, 61 Nesbitt Road; Mrs. Terry O'Conner, 6106 De Geise Road; and Mrs. James McKay, 684 Cambridge Road.

In charge of tickets is Mrs. William Heyn, 861 Red Oak Drive, while the program is being handled by Mrs. Richard Shave, 291 Maplehill Road.

Mrs. Ben Evans, 651 Ridgewood Road, is door prize chairman, and publicity is being handled by Mrs. Bernard Kasyaz, 439 Meadow Lane Drive.

Fashions are being presented by Mitzelfeld's Department Store, where tickets are also on sale.

★ ★ ★

The models who have been selected to present the fashions are Mrs. Robert Haugh, Mrs. Shave, Mrs. Donald Hagaman, Mrs. Paul Christensen and Mrs. Ray Rhoton.

In the children's division are James Hock, Debbie and Denise Cain and Debbie O'Connor, while Paige Sargent and Sharon Fitsch will be modeling teen-age and junior miss attire.

Reservations must be made before tomorrow as no tickets will be sold at the door, the sponsors said.

MISS DAVISBURG — Wearing the crown of the first Miss Davisburg is Mary Ellen Land, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Land of 8021 Dilley Road. Mary Ellen was named queen to reign over Davisburg's 125th anniversary at a coronation street dance Saturday.

Leads Royalty for Anniversary

Holly High Junior, '16, to Reign at Weekend Celebration

DAVISBURG — A 16-year-old Holly High School junior has been named Miss Davisburg to reign over this village's 125th anniversary celebration next weekend.

★ ★ ★

She is Mary Ellen Land, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Land of 8021 Dilley Road, Davisburg. She is 5-foot-2, has green eyes and light brown hair.

★ ★ ★

Ironically, she was not among the finalists when they were chosen last month but was named after one of the original candidates withdrew.

Three days after the judging Mary Ellen was named to fill the vacancy left by Cheryl Walls who will not be able to attend the Aug. 18-20 observance.

She wore a formal of white organza over taffeta at the street dance Saturday, which was a preliminary highlight to the two-day festival.

Mary Ellen, youngest of five Land children, was selected on the basis of penny votes. Canisters with the picture of each of the five girls were placed in various locations in the village shortly after they were chosen.

The four other girls, Caroline Bumpus, Mary Ann and Barbara Bethune and Pat Vollink, will serve as maids of honor in the Miss Davisburg court.

In addition to visiting other communities to promote the 125th anniversary, the girls will judge the beard-growing contest being held in conjunction with the observance.

★ ★ ★

Consideration is already being given by the Jaycee auxiliary to make the Miss Davisburg contest an annual event.

Tonight the five girls will dine at the Hawaiian Gardens in Holly Township as guests of Pontiac Press columnist Joe Haas.

Sub Searches for Teen's Body

Seeks Youths Drowned 3 Months Ago Deep in Grand Traverse Bay

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — A 12-foot two-man submarine was searching the bottom of Grand Traverse Bay today for the body of Thomas Shapton, 19, of Royal Oak, who drowned three months ago.

Shapton and a companion, Richard Balesh, 19, of Cedar, drowned May 3 when their 12-foot fishing boat capsized. Balesh's body was recovered June 3.

The midget submarine and its builder, Woodrow Rigsby of Fort Wayne, Ind., were called in by Shapton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shapton of 430 Parkdale St., when state police and the Coast Guard abandoned search efforts.

"I went to a depth of 100 feet and my vision covered an area about 20 feet by 30 feet at one time," Rigsby said Sunday after a one-hour dive in his searchlight-equipped sub.

He and his son built the craft as a hobby. It is powered by a gasoline engine on the surface and by batteries under water.

The search will continue through most of the week, Rigsby said.

A Magazine Service

Action Against Firm Urged in 4 Counties

LANSING (UPI) — Prosecuting attorneys in four counties were urged today to take action against a magazine subscription agency which Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said showed a "statewide pattern of defrauding Michigan citizens."

Adams urged officials in Genesee, Jackson, Ingham and Wayne counties to place charges against local units of the Family Publication Service, Inc., a Delaware corporation.

Adams said the firm has had complaints registered against it for failing to pay wages, forging signatures to magazine subscriptions and making misrepresentations in the sale of magazine subscriptions.

The attorney general said an investigation of customer complaints showed the corporation is not authorized to do business in the state and that it has failed to register its Detroit branch with the Wayne County clerk.

Adams asked Ingham County Prosecuting Attorney Leo A. Farhat to issue warrants within the next two days against agents of the other three counties.

★ ★ ★

The attorney general said the pattern in all four counties was the same. The company advertised for telephone solicitors, promising "salary and bonus," Adams said.

★ ★ ★

He said solicitors who worked for a short period and were fired were not paid either salary or bonus. Adams said several complaints were filed with the Department of Labor and Industry for the wages.

Ionia Free Fair May End in Red

IONIA, (UPI)—Officials of the Ionia free fair which ran last week said today that the fair may end up in the red despite attendance records.

Secretary-manager Allan Williams said that more persons paid for parking and midway attractions than ever before but grandstand attendance dropped to an all-time low.

A western show on Friday drew only 646 persons paid in the grandstand, he said.

10 From County Will Complete Nature Course

Ten county residents will be among 20 persons completing a three-week nature interpretation course Friday at Kensington Metropolitan Park.

★ ★ ★

The annual workshop is sponsored jointly by the department of natural sciences of Eastern Michigan University, in Ypsilanti and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority.

Detroit Man Found Hanged in Cottage

A Detroit man was found hanged Sunday morning in a cottage he had rented for the weekend at Fish Lake.

Assistant County Prosecutor Dr. Isaac Prevette ruled the death of Ivan Sarajew, 59, of Detroit a suicide.

The victim's body was discovered by a caretaker for cottages at the lake who checked on Mr. Sarajew at the request of his family in Detroit.

Lake Orion Couple Weds

Will Live in Detroit

LAKE ORION—Janice Lou Ballagh became the bride of Norman J. Bass Saturday at a Nuptial Mass celebrated by Rev. Vincent Myrick at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Ballagh of 1179 Beach Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Fred Gibb, 704 Buena Vista St., and the late Norman J. Bass.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk taffeta featuring a decollete neckline outlined with dreams of Alencon lace and embellished with seed pearls and sequins. It was fashioned with long, tapered sleeves, a fitted bodice and a chapel-length train.

A crown of Alencon lace with seed pearls and crystals held the fingertip length veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white gladioli.

The bridegroom's sister Emily Bass was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Betsy Keister of Grand Rapids, Carolyn Anderson of Detroit and Elaine Powers.

Fred Gibb Jr. of Clarkston was best man. Seating the guests were Wayne Bisballe, Edward Bass of Royal Oak and the bride's brother Richard Ballagh.

★ ★ ★

Following the noon ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the Waterford Township Community Center followed by a reception there in the evening.

The newlyweds will live in Detroit where the bridegroom is attending Wayne State University.

Biracial Group in Ann Arbor Facing Warrant

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Murray McPherson, the owner of property here, said he would seek a warrant today charging a biracial group of pickets with trespassing in a "swim-in" in the lake Sunday.

The pickets said they were members of the Ann Arbor Committee on Racial Equality (CORE) protesting what they termed discrimination against Negroes at the lake.

The pickets claimed the McPherson family had formed a private club and had refused entry to a white member who was accompanied by Negro guests.

★ ★ ★

State police were called in Sunday but no arrests were made. McPherson told police he would seek the warrant from the Washtenaw County prosecutor's department.

CORE said it would continue the demonstrations. The lake is about 9 miles southeast of Ann Arbor.

Honeymoon in East

Judith Ann Gass Weds

ROMEO—Now honeymooning in the East are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. Lopus who exchanged their nuptial vows recently in a double-ring ceremony at the First Congregational Church here.

The bride, the former Judith Ann Gass, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gass of 17825 31-Mile Road. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lopus of Johannesburg.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk organza appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace and featuring a chapel train. A matching lace headpiece held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white fugi chrysanthemums entwined with ivy.

Joyce Hemmingson of Marshall was maid of honor. Linda Rowley of Washington, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid while another of her cousins, Kathy Downey of Lake Orion, served as junior bridesmaid.

Best man for his brother was Lyle Lopus of Johannesburg.

★ ★ ★

Seating the guests were Frank Marvin of Chawan, James Martin of Birmingham, cousin of the bridegroom; James Downey of Lake Orion, cousin of the bride; and William J. Gass Jr., brother of the bride.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors.

The couple will spend the rest of the summer at Big Bear Lake near Gaylord after their honeymoon trip.

They will live in Utica where both will teach in the Utica Community School System.

Avon Players to Open With 'Kiss Me Kate'

ROCHESTER—"Kiss Me Kate," a show which won the New York Drama Critic's Award on Broadway in 1948, will be the first production of the season by the Avon Players.

"Kiss Me Kate' will be the first musical comedy and the most ambitious production the Avon Players ever have undertaken," said Carroll B. Chapman Jr., president of the dramatic group.

Chapman's wife Mary has been named producer of the show which will be staged Oct. 20-21 and Oct. 27-28 in Rochester. David Kenna will direct the Cole Porter hit.

Chapman said tryouts for roles in the forthcoming production are scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 22 and 23 in Avon Park Pavilion.

★ ★ ★

Persons interested in trying out for the show need not be members of the Avon Players, Chapman noted. The musical comedy with include six scenes and a cast of 45.

$1,200 Worth of TV Sets Are Stolen From Shop

Interest in the PTA Comes at Late Date

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Even if you're 37, it's not too late to join the PTA.

★ ★ ★

"I was the only one there with gray hair. They probably wondered why I came," he said.

The members didn't wonder long. Spears paid his dues and has attended meetings regularly.

Banks Plan $180 Million to Advertise Services

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commercial banks in the United States will spend an estimated $180 million this year to advertise their services, according to a survey by the American Bankers' Association.

While this is only $8 million above 1960, it represents the largest outlay for advertising in the past 16 years.

ROCKY'S MAD — Rocky Colavito of the Detroit Tigers waves his hand and heatedly argues with plate umpire John Rice after a called 3rd strike in the 7th inning of Sunday's game with the Minnesota Twins at Minneapolis-St. Paul. Dodgers Marching Toward Pennant

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers are on the march with old folks Duke Snider showing the way. The heavenly aroma of the richest World Series checks in history seems to have rejuvenated the Duke, who has 14 hits in his last 30 trips.

★ ★ ★

Winning six straight and 19 of their last 22 games, the Dodgers own a 7½-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League. They would be less than human if they weren't beginning to think of the loot from a Series in the Coliseum with its crowds of 92,000 and Yankee Stadium with its 70,000 plus.

Cincinnati isn't folding. The Reds stuck right on the Dodgers' heels by snapping San Francisco's five-game winning streak 8-1. Wally Post drove in four runs in the Reds' farewell at Candlestick Park where they won eight of 11 starts.

Philadelphia lost its 16th straight, 13-4 to Pittsburgh but finally broke its scoreless streak after 29 innings. Milwaukee's Lew Burdette won his 14th with the help of a perfect day by Eddie Mathews, who had two walks and three hits, including his 23rd homer, in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Snider came through with a run-scoring double and a triple in five at bats against St. Louis while Stan Williams shut out St. Louis 8-0 with eight hits. It was Williams' 11th victory and second shutout.

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers scored four runs off Bob Gibson in the first two innings. Two were unearned because of an error by ex-Dodger Bob Lillis, Johnny Roseboro drove in three with a seventh inning double in a four-run blast against relief man Craig Anderson.

Vada Pinson hit his 13th homer and Post his 14th for the Reds, who slugged loser Mike McCormick for nine of their 15 hits. Ken Johnson needed help from Bill Henry in the seventh inning to save his third victory.

Cincinnati knocked out McCormick in the seventh inning when they broke a 1-1 tie with four runs and added three more in the ninth. Two came when Matty Alou lost Post's fly ball in the sun and let it fall for a double.

Tom Sturdivant, former American Leaguer, won his second for the Pirates although the Phils got to him for 13 hits. Pittsburgh scored eight unearned runs in the sixth inning with the help of errors by Tony Taylor and Ruben Amaro. Bob Clemente led the Pirates with three singles and drove in three runs.

Mathews climbed into a 10th-place tie with Joe DiMaggio in the all-time home run standings by hitting No. 361 of his career off Jim Brewer at Milwaukee. It was his first since July 23. By reaching base five straight times, Mathews run his streak to nine in two days.

Burdette had a shutout until Don Zimmer hit a two-run homer in the sixth. Al Heist's single drove in the other Cub run in the seventh.

The lassie who is steel-hearted in the pool and sugar and spice out of it is Carolyn House, 15, successor to the great Chris Von Saltza as queen of American swimmers.

★ ★ ★

The freshly-crowned 200, 400 and 1500-meter free-style champion tops a squad of 12 swimmers and two divers selected on their performances in the national AAU outdoor championships to compete against Europe's best in five meets aboard, Aug. 16-Sept. 5. Susan Doerr, 16, butterfly stroke titlist and 100-meter world record breaker from the Philadelphia Vesper Boat Club, withdrew for personal reasons. She was replaced by Nancy Kanaby of the Multnomah A. C. of Portland, Ore. Nancy, at 23, is the oldest on the squad.

Miss House, a member of the 1960 Olympic team, became the only triple winner and high-point scorer (34) of the four-day national meet when she came from behind and raced off with a two-yard victory in the 200-meter free-style final Sunday.

Carolyn, of the Los Angeles A.C. trailed Robyn Johnson, 15, of the Northern Virginia A.C. (Arlington Va.) and Laurel Watson, 14, of Santa Clara (Calif.) A.C. for the first 100 meters. Then she poured it on in typical fashion. She pulled ahead by a yard at 150 and won by two yards going away from Robyn in 2:18.9.

★ ★ ★

"Carolyn is a thinker and a killer in the water," said George Breen, former Olympian and now coach of the Riviera Club of Indianapolis. "She watches Murray Rose (the Australian Olympic champion) all of the time and thinks and swims like he does. And Murray is the brainiest and toughest competitor in the water I've ever seen. Carolyn has his killer complex. She'll murder you."

In addition to Carolyn, the other winners at the 50-meter Kelly Pool were lovely Becky Collins, 17, of Indianapolis, who set a world record of 2:32.8 in the 200-meter butterfly; Nina Harmer, 15, of the Vesper B.C., who completed a backstroke double by taking the 100 in 1:11.0 and by a shade over Donna de Varona, 14, of Lafayette, Calif., and the Vesper 400-meter medley relay team in 4:50.3.

Yankees Manage Split With Washington

Mantle, Maris Keep Slugging

By The Associated Press

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle already are chipping away at Babe Ruth's wild September surge of 1927. The New York Yankees' M-M boys have 45 home runs with 15 to go to tie the record.

★ ★ ★

The Babe didn't hit No. 45 until Sept. 6 the year he set the all-time mark with 60 homers. It was his second of 17 in that famous September stretch drive that always has frustrated the most determined challengers.

Maris and Mantle now are 15 games ahead of Ruth's pace. Ruth hit his 45th in game No. 132 (including one tie) and they have 45 in 117 games (also including one tie).

Although Maris and Mantle each homered in the first game at Washington Sunday it didn't mean a thing. The Senators handed the Yanks a 12-2 beating on Benny Daniels' five-hitter. Maris came through again in the second game, won by the Yanks' Jim Coates 9-4.

Despite the split, New York stretched its American League lead to 3½ games over the Detroit Tigers who absorbed a 13-5 battering at the hands of the Minnesota Twins. Bill Tuttle hit a grand slam homer and drove in six runs for the Twins.

Baltimore, 11 games back edged Boston 6-5 in 11 innings when relief pitcher Arnold Earley threw away a sacrifice bunt for a two-run error. Steve Barber struck out 11 but walked 11 in a route-going effort.

Little Luis Aparicio had a big day for the Chicago White Sox with three hits, four runs and two stolen bases in a 9-3 victory over the Kansas City A's.

Joe Koppe's first major league grand slam homer and bonus rookie Tom Satriano's steal of home enabled the Los Angeles Angels to post an 8-7 come-from-behind decision over Cleveland.

Washington sent 11 men to the plate and scored six runs in the sixth inning of the opener to break open a 1-1 tie. Chuck Hinton and Jim King hit homers for the Senators and Bob Johnson had two doubles before 27,388, largest Washington crowd of the year.

Maris' 45th got the Yanks off running in the second game off loser Marty Kutyna and Clete Boyer also added a homer off relief man Dave Sisler. Coates allowed 10 hits while posting his ninth victory.

Boston and Baltimore were tied 3-3 after nine and each scored once in the 10th. The Red Sox got another in the 11th but lost when Earley fielded Russ Snyder's sacrifice bunt and threw the ball over the head of third baseman Frank Malzone, permitting two runs to score. Mike Fornieles, who put the two runners on base on singles, was the loser.

Aparicio stretched his consecutive hitting streak to 15 with three hits, scored four times and boosted his stolen base total to 41. Frank Baumann went the route for the White Sox, beating Norm Bass.

Koppe's grand slammer off Frank Funk in the five-run seventh gave Cleveland a 7-6 lead but Satriano's steal of home in the eighth proved decisive because the Indians also scored a run in the eighth. Tom Morgan was the winner in relief of Eli Grba.

Talbott, Don's Advance in 'B'

Auburn Heights Nines Win Two Junior Loop Championships

Talbott Lumber and Don's Used Cars advanced to the winners' bracket of the city Class B baseball playoffs Sunday.

The Lumbermen crushed Don Nicholle 16-1, and Don's used a four-run sixth inning to turn back Oxford Merchants, 9-8. The winners meet tonight at 7:45 at Jaycee Park No. 2.

A pair of six-run innings, the second and sixth frames, carried Talbott to its easy triumph. Roy Woodworth paced the 14-hit attack with three safe blows, including a triple. Greg Meadows, Jim Paschke and Jim Heke each collected two hits. Terry Anderson held Nicholle to six hits and fanned 11.

Run scoring singles by Gary Hunter and Al Phillips and a pair of costly errors gave Don's its four key runs in the sixth inning. Oxford led 6-4 going into the inning. Phillips had four hits for the winners.

Waterford Firefighters scored four runs in the last of the seventh and final inning to edge Pontiac Central and win the Class D playoff crown. Dave Goff's double drive home Dave Abel and Art Stoddard with the tying and winning runs. Goff was the winning pitcher, yielding six hits.

PCH had taken a 5-1 lead in the top of the fifth with four runs. Gene Lappino's triple was the big blow in the inning.

Auburn Heights Boys' Club rallied from a 4-0 deficit to clip Westside Kiwanis and claim the Class E championship, 9-8. Three runs in the fifth inning gave Auburn Heights its final margin after Roger Ball's two-run triple in the fourth had tied the game, 4-4.

Auburn Heights Boys' Club notched its second title, Class F American League, when Lynn Thorpe buried a no-hitter, fanning 17, and Roger Hayward homered in a 5-0 win over St. Benedict.

Firefighters claimed the "F" National championship when Baldwin EUB forefeited. Eagles won the International title the same way over Bobcats.

★ ★ ★

Yankees forced the Widget International League into a second and deciding game today by dumping Baldwin Pharmacy, 13-8. Jon Jefferson pitched a two-hitter.

Clift Steals Show in Waterford Races

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac driver piloted a C-Modified Corvetter to victory in the 15-lap feature for his class, won the Australian pursuit and the 20-lap feature race.

Chasing Clift across the finish line in all three events was Tom Payne who captured the Production Feature Race.

Two other Oakland County drivers posted class triumphs. Glen Baldwin of Birmingham drove his H-Modified class Lotus XVII past the checkered flag ahead of Ralph Darlington of Flint.

A Lotus junior formula car was driven to victory by Ron Nielson of Birmingham. Also making good showings were Bud Pell, Farmington, in a MG-A, Jerry Thompson, Troy, in a Corvette, Ed Fuahs, Franklin, in a Porsche Carrera, John Pierce, Royal Oak and Tom Swindell, Hazel Park.

★

Francis Bradley of Scarborough, Ontario, finished high in several events and won the G-Modified in his Lola.

Revenge Sweet for McKinley, Karen Hantze

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI)—Revenge was sweet for Chuck McKinley and Karen Hantze in the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Tournament.

McKinley, the chunky Davis Cupper from St. Ann, Mo., won the men's crown yesterday with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., who upset the Missourian in the recent Pennsylvania championships.

Miss Hantze won the women's title for the second straight year by downing Edda Buding of Germany, 6-2, 6-4. The 19-year-old blonde from Chula Vista, Calif., lost to Miss Buding in the national clay court final last month.

Packers Win Game, but Lose 'Shirts'

DALLAS (AP) — Green Bay's Packers won the game on the field but lost their shirts in the dressing room last night.

While they were beating the Dallas Cowboys 30-7 in a National Football League exhibition, thieves entered their dressing room under the Cotton Bowl and stole money, rings and watches. Fifteen players lost property.

It could not be estimated immediately how much was lost, but Henry Grimminger, the old Baylor U. star who is a halfback for the Packers, reported $60 stolen and was the hardest hit.

Detroit Girl Wins Crown

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sharon Pritula, 15, of Detroit, bypassed her own age class Saturday but still scored an easy 6-2, 6-1 victory over Leora Trice of Baton Rouge, La., for the singles title in the 18-and-under junior girls' division of the International Jaycees Junior Tennis Tournament.

In junior boys' singles, fourth-seeded Mike Belkin of Miami Beach, Fla., came up with two crucial points to survive and then defeated second-seeded Dave Reed of Glandale, Calif., 6-0, 6-2, 4-6, 2-6, 7-5 in a marathon match.

Third-seeded Jeff Brown of Carmichael, Calif., won the boys' division championship with a 6-3, 8-7 victory over sixth-seeded Tom Karp of Los Angeles.

Stephanie Defina of Hollywood, Fla., overcame a 5-2 deficit in the second set for a 6-4, 7-5 upset victory over top-seeded Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., in girls' division finals.

★ ★ ★

Reed got tangled up in another losing marathon match when he had John Isaacs of Glendale, Calif., lost 6-2, 8-6, 8-10, 4-6, 6-1 to Jim Osborne and Rodney Kop of Honolulu for the junior boys' doubles title.

Jeff Brown and Dean Penero of Carmichael, Calif., ousted John Gilbert and Phil Harris of St. Petersburg, Fla., 7-5, 4-6, 13-11 in boys' doubles.

★ ★ ★

In junior girls' doubles, Miss Trice teamed with Linada Hamel of Shreveport, La., for a 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Virginia Gilbane and Joanne Swanson, both of Providence, R.I.

Eagles Roll Past Bears, 38-10

Who Needs Van Brocklin?

By The Associated Press

The National Football League champion Philadelphia Eagles, supposedly hurtin' without passing wizard Norm Van Brocklin at quarterback, have installed bench warmer Sonny Jurgensen as the heir apparent with little loss in momentum.

Conquerors of the College All-Stars in their first outing, the Eagles romped to a 38-10 exhibition triumph over the Chicago Bears Saturday night as Jurgensen supplied the punch in their first test against a solid pro aggregation.

The 5-foot-11 former Duke standout has continually emphasized that he isn't worried over the prospect of succeeding Van Brocklin, although he has had little game experience in four years in the play-for-pay ranks.

Jurgensen feels he's "better prepared and more capable" as a result of his apprenticeship under Van Brocklin and "always thought I could do the job." That's exactly what he did against the Bears, passing for two touchdowns including the clincher in the second period.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, lithe Abner Haynes put on a one-man show by racing 98, 52 and 34 yards for touchdowns as Dallas trounced Denver 31-13 in an American League pre-season test. In other NFL games, Pittsburgh edged Baltimore 24-20 and New York nipped San Francisco 21-20.

★ ★ ★

Held to 3-2 tie in the first half, the Eagles exploded for three TDs in the third period with Jurgensen providing the first score with a 25-yard pitch to Tommy McDonald. After Ted Dean returned a punt 49 yards for a touchdown, Jurgensen flipped a 3-yarder to Pete Retzlaff and put the game out of reach.

Bengals Muff an Opportunity to Close Gap

Tigers Fall 3½ Behind After Being Routed by Minnesota, 13-5

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —Some facts of life in the home stretch of the race for the American League championship:

If the Detroit Tigers fail in their pennant bid, they can blame the ninth-place Minnesota Twins.

If New York clinches the title, the Yankees will owe those same Twins a vote of thanks.

The Twins handed the Tigers 13-5 yesterday before a crowd of 29,583 at Metropolitan Stadium. The victory avenged Saturday's 17-5 drubbing at the hands of the Tigers.

It was their fifth victory in their last six clashes with the Tigers and dropped Detroit to 3½ games behind the leading New York Yankees, who split a doubleheader at Washington.

The Tigers limped home last night for a day of rest. They play a twi-night doubleheader against the Baltimore Orioles tomorrow at Tiger Stadium.

Bill Tuttle, a Detroit castoff, drove in six runs, four with his second career grand slam homer, to lead the Twins in their rout of the Tigers.

Minnesota has compiled a 7-8 record against Detroit this season. But against New York, the Twins have been able to win only two of 15.

This makes a difference of five games in the standings — the difference between first and second place for Detroit.

Minnesota bunched 10 of its 15 hits in two innings to come up with 11 runs. The barrage included Tuttle's grand slam clout, five doubles and a triple.

In the six-run second inning, Chico Fernandez' throwing error on a potential double play ball allowed two runs to score and paved the way for two more tallies when Bob Allison beat out a two-out bunt and Jim Lemon slashed a single to left. Three of the runs were unearned.

Tiger hurler Phil Regan was the victim.

Camilo Pascual, relieved by Ray Moore in the eighth, picked up his 10th victory against 12 defeats. Ron Kline, making his first start for the Tigers, lost his seventh in 10 decisions.

That Redhead Is Back Again

Paul Bada Wins City Golf Title for a 3rd Time

His 140 Total Beats Brafford and Daniels by One at Municipal

The old redhead is back again, swinging a mean club and letting everyone know that he's still a top-flight golfer.

Bada, who previously won city titles in 1954 and 1957, ended Mike Andonian's two-year reign over the weekend by rifling a 36-hole total of 140, two above par, at the 34-35—69 Municipal links.

BADA

Andonian, gunning for his 3rd straight crown and 6th altogether, totaled 147 for the two-day meet to finish in a three-way tie for 10th place, his poorest showing in many years in the city tournament.

Bada had no easy time winning his 3rd championship.

Jim Brafford and Harold Daniels put the heat on him and little Charley Barker also was in contention all the way as he made his best showing ever in this event.

Bada needed a brilliant one-under-par 68 yesterday to go with Saturday's 72 to nip Brafford and Daniels by one stroke.

Brafford and Daniels wound up in a deadlock for 2nd spot at 141, then Brafford took the runnerup position by beating Daniels on the 1st hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Barker took 4th place with 142. Butler Cooper, 1958 city champ, came next at 144, followed by Bob Hausman with 145.

Scores were higher Saturday due to high winds, but perfect weather conditions prevailed yesterday. A large gallery watched the city's finest golfers in action.

Bada, Brafford, Daniels, Barker and Cooper will represent Pontiac in the Michigan Recreation Association tourney Sept. 9 at the Municipal layout.

Maxwell Cops Golf Playoff

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Billy Maxwell, who had to stand aside and watch the money winners go by last year, has taken another long stride back into professional golf's golden circle.

The 32-year-old pro from Dallas picked up $4,300 in first place money at the Insurance City Golf Tournament Sunday with a birdie on the seventh hole of a tense sudden-death playoff with Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

He turned the trick Sunday with a slick 66 around the par-71 Wethersfield Country Club course on a cool, gusty day which rocked most of the other pros off their game and sent scores soaring.

Kroll, who carded a 72, and Maxwell wound up the 72 holes of regular play with 276. Young Joe Campbell of Chattanooga, Tenn., who shared the three-quarters lead with Kroll had trap trouble and wound up in third place, good for $2,000.

Veteran Net Player Leads County Meet

Veteran Dan Murphy led three younger players into the semifinal round of the Oakland County Tennis tournament Sunday.

The 38-year-old Pontiac netter upset 1960 runner-up Leon Hibbs of Pontiac in the second round, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, and then ousted Southfield's Doug Dahn, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3, in the quarter-finals.

The tourney is sponsored by The Pontiac Press and Pontiac Recreation Department.

He is joined in the round of four by Charles Hunt, Tom Murphy, and Ralph Alee, all of Pontiac. The semifinal and championship rounds will be played Saturday.

Alee and Hibbs advanced to the doubles competition on different teams. John Matusiewicz is paired with Alee and Bill Harsen is Hibbs' teammate. The championship will be determined this weekend.

Louise Resting After Triumph at Kansas City

Miss Suggs, who has been operating on a 1,200 calorie diet the last two weeks to lose weight, won the top prize of $1,247.35 in the $8,000 kitty with a 2-under-par 72 Sunday. That gave her a 27-hole total of 295.

Closest rival to Miss Suggs was six strokes away. Mickey Wright of San Diego shot a final round 75 for 301. Jo Ann Prentice, Birmingham, Ala., and Mary Lena Faulk, Sea Island, Ga., each shot 75 and wound up with 305s for a tie for third and fourth places.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., who was tied with Miss Suggs after two rounds and was only two strokes off the pace through 54 holes, zoomed to an 81 that dropped her into fifth place with 306.

Hamtramck Advances

DETROIT (AP)—Hamtramck pushed across nine runs in the first two innings and moved on to a 14-4 victory over Perry Township, Ind., Sunday in Pony League baseball district playoffs. The victory advanced Hamtramck to divisional finals at Washington, Pa.

BEAT BORDER CLOSING — Refugees from Communist East Germany, who escaped to West Berlin before crossing points were closed Sunday, wait in a camp at Giessen, West Germany, the first stop after they are flown from West Berlin. Some go directly from Giessen to new jobs and homes. Those who do not immediately find work and housing are transferred to other West German camps which have facilities for a longer stay.

Autumn Looks Good for Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — All the goodies that the stock market has been forecasting may yet be grasped. With the third quarter at the half-way point businessmen are taking heart from increasing signs that this fall is going to be a really good one—maybe as good as the stock market seems to think.

★ ★ ★

The economy isn't jumping. But it is a bit livelier than a few weeks back. The summer lull was just that—a time of taking it easy but not a setback.

The first signs of a fresh upturn include:

Slightly fatter steel orders and production and good prospects of still better weeks to come; an upturn in instalment buying, that barometer of consumer confidence; firming prices in some goods, such as textiles; better sales of a major production indicator, paperboard; increased machine tool orders, a measure of business thinking; expansion of regular wage and salary payrolls; and higher personal income totals.

Yet to be felt, except in the stock market, is the impact of increased government orders. These are assured by the passage of a magnified defense bill, direct result of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threats about Berlin. Businessmen expect the new government spending to start in time to help industrial output late this year and to beef up production in the first half of 1962.

The administration is assuring business this increased deficit spending by the Treasury can be swung without either further inflation or higher taxes. The stock market has bet that either way—business pepped up enough to cancel the deficit through increased tax revenues, or inflation—will mean higher dollar earnings and, therefore higher stock prices.

This doesn't mean that the late summer days aren't without their quota of problems. The auto industry offers two questions? Will wage negotiations now entering the down-to-cases phase trip up and end in a strike? If auto production gets going at a good clip this fall as expected, will consumers cooperate by taking a shine to the new models?

Unemployment — especially among the unskilled and young entrants into the ever expanding labor force—still resists most attempts to ease it.

Retail trade has been just so-so. It's about as good as last year, but not as large as the increase in personal incomes should have sparked.

But the recent rise in the total of installment debts leads retailers to hope that a real boom in on-the-cuff buying, such as has tagged along after every business recovery, is all set again.

Business spending for inventories has started to rise moderately. This, too, could spurt quickly if the present signs of a more rapid business recovery grow brighter. Businessmen tend to change inventory policies fast.

Business plans for more capital spending could revive as production grows. Expansion has been held back by excess capacity in many industries. Some observers argue that this was given too much weight during the recession. The more cautious tended to treat over-capacity as of a long-term nature rather than a temporary one peculiar to the business cycle.

To sum up: In these last wearying days of summer the economy is showing the first signs of recovering its spring pep. Assuming that war talk doesn't go beyond the sound and fury stage, the climate is right for a strong, even if unspectacular, forward march.

Artillery Using 'Pea Shooters'

U.S. Soldiers Sharpen Aim With Miniature Pieces in Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —A handful of U.S. artillery units in Europe are using "pea shooters" instead of full-scale artillery pieces to sharpen their shooting eyes.

The "pea shooters" do almost everything a howitzer would, but in a fraction of the space and more safely.

In Europe's cramped training areas, including the one where an over-shot artillery shell killed 17 soldiers last fall, that means a lot.

The "pea shooter" is known in Army jargon as the "Firing Device for Gunnery Practice, 14.5 mm." It resembles a miniature howitzer barrel mounted on a tripod, with a complex assortment of aiming devices.

SHORT DISTANCE

It lobs a small 14.5 mm cartridge to a maximum distance of 800 yards, and can be folded into a 5-foot-long box.

★ ★ ★

Artillerymen hasten to say that the "pea shooter" will never replace the full-size artillery piece even in practice.

But as it comes into wider use they believe it will appreciably simplify the problems of practice firing because it can be used safely within a garrison area.

At present, artillery crews must practice at a major training area such as the Grafenwoehr Reservation where last fall's over-shot occurred.

★ ★ ★

With scores of units using the same area there always is at least a remote danger that someone will be in the way of a wayward shell.

MUCH CHEAPER

The "pea shooter" also is cheaper than the full-scale gun, firing several thousand shots at less than the cost of 300 standard shells.

It uses two types of cartridges.

One with a percussion fuse explodes on contact with its target, producing a cloud of smoke that can be seen 1,000 yards away.

★ ★ ★

A time fuse produces an explosion in the air which can be traced by its smoke or flash for several miles either by day or night.

Convert Smoke to Benefit Man

Brown Mass Changed to Chemicals for Over 200,000 Products

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A thick, brown smoke which used to curl out of the coke ovens of the steel industry has made it possible to glue broken bones, quit moths on a starvation diet and reduce in-flight collisions of aircraft.

★ ★ ★

By-product coke ovens, which replace the old "beehive" ovens used to convert coal into coke, are transforming the brown smoke into about 145 pounds of coal chemicals per ton of coal.

The chemicals are used in over 200,000 products.

Some of the chemicals, such as ammonium sulfate, a nitrogen fertilizer, and creosote are sold directly to the agricultural industry.

★ ★ ★

Others like benzene, toluene, xylene, naphthalene, phenol and pyridine are converted by the pharmaceutical, paint, plastics and other industries into such products as aspirin, DDT, explosives, nylon, plastics, dyes, paints, inks, perfumes and cosmetics.

A special boao line already has been used to mend over 300 serious fractures.

Still being tested, it is a strong plastic foam and a derivative of toluene.

Poured into the fracture, it hardens so quickly the patient may move the repaired limb within a few hours.

★ ★ ★

Studies show promise that the larvae will either ignore fabrics treated with the chemicals or will nibble sparingly and eventually die of starvation.

The use of fluorescent paints, having coal chemical components, cut in-air collisions of the Air Training Command of the Air Force from nine in one year to only two the next year.

Neither crash involved fluorescent-painted craft.

5 Americans Killed in Laos Plane Crash

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A U.S. C46 plane flying supplies for the Laotian army crashed Sunday 70 miles northeast of Vientiane and all five Americans aboard were killed.

★ ★ ★

The men were employes of Air American, Inc., a private outfit that flies for the pro-Western Laotian government. A spokesman said the cause of the crash had not been determined but there is no evidence that it was due to fire from the ground.

The deaths brought to 24 the number of Americans killed, missing or taken prisoner since the battle of Vientiane against pro-Communist rebels in December.

Timberrr!!!— Scenery Steals Gleason's Show

A scene in Gleason's new movie called for several lightweight balsa timbers to fall on him. But other parts of the set tumbled down too, and Gleason was pulled out of the debris unconscious.

Animal Experiments Harmful to Students?

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Assistant Education Prof. James T. Mehorter of the University of Vermont says cruel animal experiments in school have a "psychologically lethal" effect on children.

A director of the Humane Society of the U.S., he said, "If we teach children to regard suffering, pain and death in an indifferent manner, with apathy, we are ity development."

Petroleum accounts for 80 per cent of the exports of Trinidad and Tobago, a unit in the Federation of the West Indies.

Late Rush Fear on Reflector Plate Fees

Motorists Slow Claiming Refunds

Auto owners, who seemingly made a big fuss when an extra 35 cents was charged for reflectorized plates they didn't and will not receive, don't seem as excited now.

★ ★ ★

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the secretary of state branch office here, is worried that motorists will wait until the last minute to get their money back.

Brewer expressed what branch managers learn anew each year: "In this business we find everyone waits until the last minute."

"We are giving our refund credit procedure the widest publicity possible because we want every vehicle owner to know that he, by law, has a right to a refund credit.

"I am urging all who want refund credits to apply for them at once," said Secretary of State James M. Hare in Lansing.

CREDIT ON '62 PLATES

Hare announced last week that anyone who was charged the extra money for the reflectorized plates could file an application for a rebate on the amount charged them.

The money would be credited against the cost of the 1962 plates.

But auto owners must send a card to the secretary of state's Office to be certified, and managers of the license plate offices are afraid motorists will wait until it's too late to send in the cards.

All applications must be in the hands of license plate purchasers when they obtain their plates by the Feb. 28 deadline.

Application cards have been available at the Pontiac office, 96 E. Huron St., since last week.

"I don't think I've sent 100 cards to the Lansing office," Brewer said.

CHOICE ON MAILING

"Motorists can either send cards in themselves, which some have done, or leave them with us for mailing."

★ ★ ★

Of the cards mailed in from Pontiac, Brewer said, 25 are from the Oakland County Road Commission, where he personally delivered the applications.

Three South Oakland County branches reported only 150 forms for rebates have been filled out, even though several hundred thousand residents were eligible.

Delbert Ayles, who has had six persons request forms at his office in Birmingham, agreed that "all of this will take time."

Hare said the statewide response to the refund cards brought in a steady flow of from 500 to 800 requests a day.

An estimated three million people contributed more than $1 million to the state's general fund during the period the 35-cent fees were collected.

The refund procedure was made possible by a 1961 legislative act repealing a law which said the .35 cents must be collected for reflectorized plates.

DIDN'T FOLLOW UP

The lawmakers adopted the original proposal in 1959 but failed to follow up with funds to purchase equipment needed to manufacture the reflectorized plates.

"Personally, I'll be a happy man when these reflectorization credit cards are processed and we can leave behind us all memories of the headaches we've had ever since the expensive and questionable reflectorized plate idea was first introduced in the legislature," Hare said.

Berlin Breeds Trade Caution

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a loss in moderate trading early this afternoon as the Berlin crisis bred caution among traders.

Losses of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered gainers in the same range.

The worsening situation in Berlin came after a three-week advance by the popular market averages and profit taking would have been a normal expectation regardless of the news.

The increased international tension brought a slight decrease in trading rather than a rush to sell. More typical of "war scare" conditions was the buying in most commodity futures.

STEELS HIGHER

Motors, coppers, oils, chemicals, rubbers, airlines, drugs, aircrafts and electrical equipments were among the losers. Steels were mostly higher as orders for September delivery were reported increasing.

Farm implements and mail order-retails were mixed. Electronics were mostly lower. Texas Instruments continuing last week's decline with a 4-point loss.

An exception was Zenith which rose 1¼ to 170 on a delayed opening block of 12,400 shares.

The company processed a 3-for-1 stock split after the New York market close Friday and in Pacific Coast trading that day sold as high as 174.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed in moderately active trading.

Aerojet-General, responding to an advisory service recommendation, climbed about 3 points. Microwave Associates, Belock Instruments and South Coast Corp. also advanced.

Losers included Bar Chris Construction, Old Town Corp., Cinerama and Fairmont Petroleum.

Seaboard World Airlines and Peruvian Oils & Minerals were active but about unchanged.

Exhaust Fans Help

Excessive humidity, generated within the house by cooking, showers, clothes drying, etc. can be a big source of discomfort. Exhaust fans, strategically located to carry off the humid air before it saturates the whole house, can so easily relieve the situation. And these same exhaust fans, will, if winter ever comes again, lighten the steamy window problem.

Note Firmer Grain Bids, Higher Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — Scant offerings brought out firmer bids in early dealings Monday on the Board of Trade, and prices moved well ahead all along the line.

Brokers said commission houses were major buyers at the opening and that the demand appeared to be linked with mounting international tension over Berlin. The higher prices also attracted short covering.

CASTRO MAY GET BOAT BACK — Sheriff's Dept. Lt. Rene Raiole is shown tacking a "No Trespassing" sign on the cabin of the 40-foot Cuban patrol boat SV8 which was sailed to Key West by Cuban political prisoners. The $50,000 craft is destined to be returned to Fidel Castro Tuesday when the Cuban prime minister frees a $3.2-million Eastern Airlines plane hijacked to Havana July 24. A court order has tied up the boat at Key West but the State Department likely will request its release.

Dem Criticizes Secret Vote for Con-Con Prexy

A recommendation that the con-con presidene be elected by secret ballot was rapped today by Avern Cohn, Democratic nominee for delegate from Oakland County's 5th District.

* * *

Cohn told the coordinating committee for the constitutional Convention, which suggested the proposal, that the recommendation would "destroy the vital concept of an open convention.

* * *

"If adopted, it would serve as precedent for other convention action and the right of the public to know would be diluted and corrupted," he said.

Waterford Slates 2 Public Hearings

Two public hearings have been scheduled for tonight's 7 p.m. Waterford Township Board meeting.

Beginning at 8 p.m., the final hearing for blacktopping 1,300 feet on Tyrone Street will be held.

Township engineers estimate the project will cost $10,622. Each of the 28 property owners would pay $4.36 per front foot for the job.

The first hearing on the installation of a sewer line on Holbrook Street, costing $9,092, also will be held. There are 18 assessments involved in this project.

Kalamazoo Plant Back in Operation After Short Strike

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Union members returned to work at Gibson, Inc., Monday after an abbreviated strike which had idled the plant since midnight Friday.

Union members voted 158-88 Sunday to accept the management's offer.

Dr. Travell's Father Dies in New York

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Willard Travell, 92, father of the President's personal doctor and a practicing physician in New York City for more than half a century, died today.

Travell's daughter, Dr. Janet Travell McAlee is President Kennedy's personal physician. He chose her, after she had treated his old back ailment, beginning in the 1940's.

Sgt. Fredericks Wins Promotion by Sheriff Irons

Sheriff Frank Irons has announced the promotion to sergeant of Everett M. Fredericks, who has been with the department since May 1952.

Sgt. Fredericks, 43, of 6504 Clarkston Road, Independence Township replaces former sergeant Lyle Walmsley who resigned last week after seven years with the department.

Fredericks is married and has four children including a married daughter, and two grandchildren.

He also is the one-man police force for the Village of Ortonville and a volunteer township fireman.

To Photograph Welfare Clients

Newburgh Gets Tough on Relief Payments; Process to Begin Sept. 1

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Identifying photographs will be taken of relief recipients here, unless they're disabled or bedfast, under the city's controversial crackdown on welfare payments, it was disclosed today.

City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell and his new welfare commissioner, Peter Petrillo, said that the pictures will be taken in welfare offices for identification purposes only.

* * *

The process of photographing relief clients will begin when they come in for their welfare checks Sept. 1.

Requirements that ambulatory charity cases come to welfare offices for their checks, instead of the checks being mailed to them, is another feature of the retrenchment program.

WORK RELIEF

Petrillo also announced that the first welfare recipient to be put to work for the city started today. He is doing odd jobs around City Hall. Petrillo said the man previously had refused two city jobs found jobs with private firms.

Work relief is one of the key points in the program.

* * *

As for the picture identification system, it will apply to those receiving home relief, aid for dependent children, and temporary aid to dependent children, but not to disabled or incapacitated recipients.

* * *

Petrillo said welfare case files showed some confusion of names and identification, and the picture system will "correct the files where there is improper identification of individuals."

NO FINGERPRINTING

Mitchell and Petrillo said reports that fingerprinting also was to be used were erroneous.

They said that beginning Aug. 16, the first family will start receiving vouchers, exchangeable for food and other necessities, instead of cash, under another aspect of the program.

* * *

They said the change was ordered for a family of seven after it failed to account for some extra nonrelief money it apparently had received in the past, as indicated by expenditures by some of the children in the family.

The rainfall in the Hawaiian Islands ranges from less than 20 inches annually in some areas to a maximum of about 500 inches in others.

Bullet Whizzes Near Head, Assault Suspect Halts

A suspect in a knife-assault case in Detroit was arrested by an Oakland County sheriff's deputy early yesterday morning after the officer fired three shots toward him as he started to flee across a Commerce Township field.

* * *

James M. Cordova, 29, of Ferndale, stopped when one of the bullets smacked into a tree trunk near his head.

Deputy Mendon Wescott was on his way home at 1:30 a.m. when he spotted Cordova's car parked on Oak Park Drive in a deserted area.

Thinking the vehicle might have been stolen, Wescott got out of his car to check when the suspect started to run. He ignored the officer's orders to halt.

OTHERS GAVE UP

Wescott did not know that other deputies had given up searching through fields in the area Saturday night for Cordova.

* * *

Cordova is to be questioned about the assault of a Detroit woman in a restaurant parking lot at Southfield and Eight-Mile Roads Saturday evening.

Cordova had escaped the early dragnet but returned to recover his glasses and hearing aid, according to sheriff's Detective Sgt. Harry Maure who questioned him.

Maur said Cordova admitted trying to rape the woman. She broke loose and called police.

Cordova was turned over to Detroit police today.

3 Tugs Free Canaveral-Bound Saturn Barge

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A barge ferrying the first Saturn rocket booster got caught on a mud flat in the Intercoastal Waterway today but was quickly freed and continued its journey to Cape Canaveral.

* * *

Three tugs pulled the barge, the Compromise, loose after it ran aground about 9 miles north of the Fort Pierce inlet, in the Indian River.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported no damage was done to the barge or rocket.

A spokesman said encounters with mud flats could be expected in shallow, tricky waters of the river.

* * *

A barge which carried a dummy Saturn on a dry run to the cape earlier this year encountered similar difficulty.

Business Notes

W. L. Graves, agency manager of Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, recently returned from Chicago where he addressed a company management seminar on the subject of agency training techniques. Graves and his wife will attend the Annual Convention Sept. 3-8 at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C. in recognition of the agency's over-all accomplishments.

Frederick G. Redpath and Robert W. Stutter have qualified to attend the convention, too.

3 Demand Exam in Break-In at Grocery Store

Three men charged in the break-in of a grocery store Thursday night have demanded examination in Municipal Court.

Judge Maurice E. Finegan set bond at $200 each for the accused burglars, and scheduled their pretrial hearing for Wednesday.

Charged with the break-in of Bob's Market, 527 Colorado Ave., are Albert L. Page, 18, of 497 Ditmar Ave.; Willie J. Jones, 20, of 464 Wyoming Ave.; and Eugene E. Jones, 19, of 399 Branch St.

Police followed a trail of stolen foodstuffs to the home of George Wilson, 478 Wyoming Ave., and placed two of the accused men under arrest there. They arrested Eugene E. Jones Saturday morning.

* * *

Officers also took Wilson into custody for questioning. He is held in the Oakland County Jail, but not charged in the break-in of the grocery.

Officers recovered 101 bottles of beer, 30 pounds of meat, and other groceries stolen in the break-in.

Pontiac Resident Grabs Burglar as Man Flees

* * *

James L. Crump, 45, of 194 Wesson St., awoke at 5:30 a.m. and saw a man standing in the doorway of his second-story bedroom.

Crump told Pontiac police the man grabbed his wallet containing $12 and started downstairs.

Crump said he dashed downstairs and caught the man as he tried to flee out the front door of the house.

* * *

Officers said the home had been entered by forcing open a window.

Hang Up Brushes

Quality paint brushes generally have a small round hole near the end of the handle put there so that the brush can be suspended in a solvent for cleaning purposes. The reason for this is that a brush should not stand on its bristle tips because the bristles will acquire a permanent bend which cannot be removed. If there's no hole in your brush handles, you can easily make one with your hand or electric drill.

Con-Con Public Hearing Slated by GOP Aug. 22

Arthur G. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee, annouced today that the first of a series of open hearings on con-con has been slated for Aug. 22 at 8 p.m. at the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

Elliott said the countywide hearings are being held to find what the public wants accomplished in the constitutional convention.

Representatives of labor, business and civic groups will express their views on constitutional issues he said.

Elliott emphasized that the candidates "are going to be more interested in listening than in talking."

Elliott said invitations to the opening hearings have been sent to 10 major county organizations, including the county AFL-CIO council.

"But we want to make it clear that all groups and organizations are urged to have representatives present, whether they have received a written invitation or not," Elliott explained.

Elliott also announced the appointment of Gordon T. Getsinger, 1445 W. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, as regional campaign coordinator for the 18th Congressional District.

Getsinger, named by the State Republican Constitutional Convention Campaign Planning Committee, will be responsible for integrating state and district campaigning efforts in areas of finance, public relations and organization, he said.

Says Ban Bid Doomed to Fail

Russian Is Pessimistic About West Attempt to Revive Geneva Talks

GENEVA (AP) — Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today the planned Western make-or-break bid to revive the deadlocked nuclear test ban talks probably is doomed to failure.

Tsarapkin commented on the announced return to Geneva next week of chief delegates Arthur H. Dean of the United States and David Ormsby-Gore of Britain.

They left here two months ago to report to their governments after the Soviet government insisted the nuclear talks be merged with East-West disarmament negotiations, a demand the Western side has rejected.

Western diplomats said Dean and Ormsby-Gore will make a final attempt to get the 33-months-old talks out of the rut. If they should fail, the West hopes the move will at least demonstrate that Moscow rather than the West is to blame for the failure to reach agreement on a "controlled ban on nuclear weapons testing.

Tsarapkin told newsmen after today's session:

"I don't think their return will aid anything. The position in our negotiation here is clear. The positions of the two sides are determined.

"If the two Western delegates come back with an agreement to merge the two problems of a nuclear test ban and an accord on complete and general disarmament, this would be helpful. I would welcome this with all my heart.

"But if they try to insist on the unrealistic Western position, what kind of help could that be?"

Radio Moscow Wants to Know, 'What's the Fuss?'

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said toda the Berlin border shutdown was aimed at consolidating peace in Europe and asked why the West has "raised a hullabaloo."

"The government of the German Democratic Republic has decided to introduce a system of control on the republic's borders with the Western sectors of Berlin as usually exists on the borders of any sovereign state," said Moscow commentator Leonid Vavilov.

* * *

"It is permissible to ask what rights of the Wetern power are trodden upon by the GDR in taking thi drection. Why thi hullabaloo about the measures taken by the German Democratic Republic?

* * *

"If the West has raised a hullabaloo, it is only because this decision sharply restricts the activities of those circles in West Berlin who engage in espionage and subversive and sabotage activities against the GDR and other Socialist countries."

Some Do's and Dont's on Saving Plumbing

To protect the plumbing in your home:

Don't pour lye down a food waste disposer, as it will corrode the metal.

News in Brief

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating a $100 theft that occurred during a break-in at Collier Lanes bowling alley, 879 S. Lapeer Road, Oxford.

Bruce Lassiter of 4578 W. Clarkston Road, Independence Township, told sheriff's deputies Saturday that $91 worth of carpenter tools were stolen from his garage the night before.

The theft of two suits from the De'Cor Shop, 26 W. Huron St., was reported to Pontiac police Saturday.

Their wallets containing a combined total of $40 were stolen from a downtown store. Carrol Ashby, 1298 Locke St., and Judy Chittick, 807 Pensacola Ave., reported to Pontiac police Saturday.

John Harris of 3165 St. Jude St., Waterford Township reported that sometime last night someone stole a $550 motor from his boat tied to a dock in front of his home on Loon Lake.

Peace Revelry Now Shifts to War Scares

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixteen years ago today World War II ended with the unconditional surrender of Japan. The nation and the world went wild with joy.

In cities, towns and villages across the country celebrations were the order of the day and night. Revelry was rampant.

In San Francisco, things got a bit out of hand on market street, the city's main thoroughfare. Milling sailors, soldiers and civilians ripped up war bond booths and started a bonfire. The flames were 40 feet high before fire trucks put them out.

On Aug. 14, 1945, the War Manpower Commission terminated controls; the Navy canceled a $6-billion shipbuilding program; the Army announced draft calls would be cut immediately.

Today there are billions more for defense, the draft has been stepped up, and the ordinary citizen is wondering what will develop from the crisis in Berlin.

Leprosy Grows in Dry Thailand

2,000 New Cases Are Reported Each Month in Asian Country

NEW YORK (UPI) — The leprosy-plagued country of Thailand is so short of water that some of the apparent symptoms of the disease disappear with a good scrubbing, according to the director of the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

But the director, S. M. Keesy, who recently returned from an on-the-spot inspection tour, hastened to add that he did not mean to minimize the seriousness of the disease in Thailand.

"Each month 2,000 more patients are being added to the lists in Thailand," he said.

Thailand's population is slightly more than 21 million.

"Only after five years or so may we expect the volume of discharged cases to approach that of new ones," he added.

"Although the cost to UNICEF will mount, we're glad to have it do so; the faster it expands the better. Leprosy must be wiped out —and soon."

During his four-day tour to Ubol Province near the Laotian border, he was ferried through flooded areas by a boatman who informed him that his own case of leprosy was "very infectious" and casually noted that one or two of every 200 Thais have the disease.

She also told him that if village midwives were paid for their services more of them would be able to afford visits to the places where she gave instruction in different delivieries.

Expect Demand for Steel to Climb in Weeks Ahead

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Barring a strike in the automotive industry, steelmakers expect demand to accelerate in the weeks ahead, Steel Magazine reported today.

The national weekly said higher auto production will give the uptrend most of its impetus. The automakers are tentatively planning to build at last million cars in September, compared with 180,000 this month.

Other factors which are expected to contribute to the step-up are:

1. Construction activity will be on a postvacation upswing.

2. Tin plate shipments eshould increase as canners pack bumper crops of peas and tomatoes.

3. Appliance and furniture manufacturers will be ordering steel for their new lines, and

4. There's a possibility that some buyers will increase their inventories because they expect prices to go up in October.

Steel reported that steelmakers made more metal last week than they did since the week ended July first. Ingot production was estimated at 1.89 million tons, a 2 per cent gain over the previous week's total.

* * *

The magazine explained that the industry is moderately encouraged by the way business has held up in the last six weeks, a period when vacations and model changeovers reduced steel consumption and orders for tin plate fell short of expectations.

Priest Burned in Crash of Plane on Mountain

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI)—Rev. Francis Joseph Mooney, 50, pastor of St. Bede's Roman Catholic Church at Williamsburg, received burns over 30 per cent of his body when he crash-landed his burning light plane on a mountaintop pasture near here Sunday.

The priest was picked up by passing motorists after he made his way through thick brush about 7 miles down the mountainside. He was listed in satisfactory condition today.

TV Features

AMERICANS, 7:30 p.m. (4) (Rerun). Isolated farmer (Charles Bickford) demands wounded Confederate Cpl. Jeff Canfield (Dick Davalos) marry his daughter (Patricia Barry).

SPIKE JONES, 9 p.m. (2). More "Inside" looks at TV shows as Spike, Helen Grayco and special guests Louise Ney and Sam Butera spoof regular feature of "The Gerry Moore Show." They'll do, "that fabulous year — 1962." Nye will portray singer called Charlie Show Business. Butera and Witnesses will play "Momma's Ma Ma." Miss Grayco sings "Too Young to Smoke in Bed" from Jones' 1962 record album, "Omnibust."

BLOCKED BY BARBED WIRE — Barbed wire and soldiers of the East German Army, armed with automatic weapons, block the border between East and West Berlin at Zimmerstrasse. Communists stopped travel of East Germans to West Berlin in an attempt to dam the flow of refugees to the West.

More Talk, More Protests All the Allies Can Do Now

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—More talk, more notes, more protests. That's all the Allies can do about the latest Communist squeeze on Berlin, unless they want to fight over it. While they talk tough, they're not talking that tough.

Over the weekend the Soviet and East German Communists put a flat stop to the flood of East German refugees who have been fleeing in record numbers to West Germany by simply crossing over from East Berlin to West Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, backed by President Kennedy, while denouncing the sudden blockade against the refugees as a violation of a 12-year-old East-West agreement, used the occasion for some anti-Soviet propaganda.

* * *

This won't improve East-West relations. But, since a show of force to break the blockade against the refugees and let them through might mean war, Rusk probably feels propaganda is the most belligerent weapon he can afford to use.

USING BERLIN

Besides, the Russians have been using the Berlin dispute for all the propaganda they can milk out of it. So Rusk's statement Sunday just added up to a few more words in what has become an international shouting match.

Rusk, pointing out that the Russians wouldn't let the East Germans vote on whether they wanted a Communist government, said by their flight they had "voted with their feet" against communism.

The flight alone, without the added lick from Rusk, was embarrassment enough to Premier Khrushchev who only last week had embarrassed himself by demanding that the West recognize the "grandeur" of the Soviet Union.

He must have blurted this out without thinking, for there were two things wrong with it:

THE GRANDEUR

1. He lifted it wholesale from the sonorous phrasing of French President Charles de Gaulle who is forever talking about the "grandeur" of France.

2. It is nationalistic and therefore contrary to the teachings of Khrushchev's favorite Soviet saint, Lenin, who insisted that communism is nonnationalistic.

The agreement which Rusk said the Soviets had violated—by stopping East Germans from crossing into West Berlin from East Berlin—was made in Paris in 1949 by the American, British, French and Soviet foreign ministers.

* * *

That was after the Russians had abandoned the blockade of Berlin, and the four ministers made an agreement for the future relationship of the city to the Western world.

They agreed that in the four zones of Berlin under their authority each would have an obligation to: "take the measures necessary to ensure the normal functioning and utilization of rail, water and road transport for movement of persons and goods."

* * *

It doesn't require much imagination to feel that any agreement about Berlin with Moscow is only a delay and not a solution.

* * *

The Russians—who still control the access routes to Berlin through East Germany—have announced they will sign a peace treaty with the East German Communists and turn control of the routes over to them.

The Allies protest this because they don't recognize the East German Communists as the legal government of East Germany. Dealing with them about using the access routes would to some extent be a sign of recognition.

But if the Russians give the East Germans control, nothing is likely to occur right away. However, if the East Germans tried to shut Berlin off altogether from the West, there probably would be fighting.

Milton Denies Having Famous Face Lifted

By EARL WILSON

So They Told Me . . .

NEW YORK — Milton Berle, looking leaner than I've seen him in 15 years, and with a new Hollywood hairdo that covers any shiny spots, was in Danny's Hideaway with his daughter Vicki — appearing almost young enough to be her boy friend.

"Did you get a face lift, Milton?" I asked him.

"I," he snorted, "only lift jokes."

NBC VP Promises Top News Specials

BY JULIAN GOODMAN
NBC Vice President, News and Public Affairs

NEW YORK (UPI) — At this moment, in just about every country this side of the Iron Curtain and several across it, there are TV reporters and camera crews stomping through the bushes, dodging bullets, and buttonholing heads of state, in preparation for the greatest season of news specials in the history of television.

At NBC, we're doing more than anybody else and we fully intend to do them better.

Example: The 40 specials. Our executive vice president, William McAndrew, announced in March that, in addition to our regular schedule of news and information programs, we would carry in prime evening time 40 informational specials to broaden and deepen public understanding.

* * *

Since it is a rare TV column that passes without invoking a phrase from Shakespeare, let me say we will draw the curtain and show you the picture. And more than the picture, we hope to show the meaning of it.

Executive producer Irving Gitlin will produce six NBC white papers which we expect will leave an important impression on American thinking.

The 40 specials, many in color, will have such things as David Brinkley's "Our Man in Vienna," (and, later, Washington); Chet Huntley in Spain; Edwin Newman in a Geisha house in Japan; three 90-minute examinations of space and science "thresholds;" complete roundups of the progress medical science has made in heart disease and cancer; a voyage down the Nile; Ralph Bellamy's perceptive and human story of the work of the hospital ship Hope in Southeast Asia; a survey of U.S. bases overseas.

Soon after Labor Day we will begin the series with Gerald Green's hour-long coverage of the neutralist conference at Belgrade —with Tito, Nehru, Nkrumah and friends — a conference highly important to both East and West, and one which would have been covered on TV not too many years ago with a few lines spoken by an announcer.

Leader of Mau Mau Freed From Detention

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Jomo Kenyatta, convicted as leader of the Mau Mau terrorists, arrived today at his new home in suburban Gatundu after nine years of British detention.

* * *

Kenyatta came here by plane with members of his family, including his pregnant African tribal wife. At the airport to greet them were Ronald Ngala, education minister and leader of government business; Commerce, Industry and Communications Minister P. M. Mulico; Shadow Cabinet Leader J. S. Gichuru, and A. O. Idinga, shadow cabinet minister for local government and lands.

Despite tight security precautions by police, throngs of Africans paraded through Nairobi's streets and surrounded Kenyatta's house celebrating his return.

The aged African leader — hailed by thousands of followers as the man who some day will lead the continent — flew from Maralai in the remote north country where he has lived under house arrest since his release from prison to a new home built by the same government that imprisoned him.

ARRESTED IN '52

Kenyatta, as president of the bitterly anti-European Kenya African Union Political party, was arrested when the Mau Mau terrorism broke out in 1952 to plunge Kenya into years of bloodshed and violence.

At his trial, Kenyatta emphatically denied any connection with the Mau Mau movement. But the judge, sentencing him to seven years' imprisonment, told him that "It is my belief that . . . you started to organize Mau Mau, the object of which was to drive all Europeans from Kenya, and in doing so to kill them if necessary."

Pressure for Kenyatta's release came from whites and blacks alike.

* * *

Kenyatta has emerged as the leading candidate for Kenya's first African prime minister, and the guiding force in the creation of a united East Africa, when his nation gains its promised independence.

Administration Hit on Jobless

GOP Group Charges Method on Automation Problem Disorganized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Republican group has charged the administration with a disorganized approach to the unemployment problems caused by automation.

The report by the House Republican policy special projects subcommittee said Senate and House bills reflecting the administration's views would provide "duplicating and overlapping facilities rather than a sound, organized attack on the problem."

The report, made public Sunday by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., presented a series of recommendations for dealing with unemployment. It endorsed the principle of retraining the jobless, but indicated private enterprise and organized labor should assume the burden.

* * *

This conclusion was at odds with most of the Republican members of the House Labor Committee, which voted 24-3 to approve the administration bill.

The bill would authorize $300 million in two years in federal allowances to workers undertaking retraining for new jobs.

The Departments of Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare would choose workers for retraining. They would place them in schools and existing local and state vocational on-the-job training, and then help them find new jobs.

* * *

But the Republican Policy subcommittee said labor and management should cooperate to upgrade skills and that "private retraining programs, such as those of International Business Machines, Armour, U.S. Steel, Ford and others have been quite successful."

Vandals Flop in Attempt to Burn Down Alamo

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Police said today vandals tried to burn down the historic Alamo, but it was either the work of kids or a "rank amateur."

* * *

Detective T. M. Barnes said the attempted arson at the Alamo, cradle of Texas independence, did little damage.

He said someone wadded up newspapers and stuffed them around the back door of the shrine, but the fire "burned only a little way" into the door and went out by itself.

Jackson Prison Trusty Walks Off From Farm

JACKSON (AP)—Eugene L. Collins, 21, walked away Sunday from the Southern Michigan prison's wing farm, where he was serving a two-to-five year sentence on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Collins was sentenced Jan. 12, 1961 from Monroes. He was made a trusty at the prison July 31.

Report Terrorist Slaughter of Farm Hands in Angola

LUANDA, Angola (UPI) — Terrorists have slaughtered more than 20 Bailundo Tribe farm workers at Bindo and are attacking isolated farms in North Luanda, ANI news agency reports said Sunday.

The agency said four farms were destroyed at Nova Caipemba and Carmona within the last 24 hours and a Portuguese force was pursuing the raiders.

Use Tear Gas at Berlin Gate

JFK Discusses Berlin With Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy returned to the capital today from a Cape Cod weekend to plunge into more discussions on the Berlin border closing.

The President was accompanied on the plane trip to Washington by his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. On the trip, the President conferred with Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, presidential assistant for national security affairs.

★ ★ ★

At the White House, the President was to engage in talks on the German situation with Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Kennedy's Air Force plane had taken off from Otis Air Force Base at Falmouth, Mass., at 9:15 a.m., after another restful weekend at his Hyannis Port summer place.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who also was expected to consult with Kennedy on the increasingly dangerous Berlin situation, denounced the Red crackdown on travel between East and West Berlin as a "flagrant violation" of agreements by Russia to permit free circulation within the city and between Berlin and the rest of Germany.

In a statement issued at the State Department Sunday, Rusk called the flight of thousands of Germans in recent weeks from Communist rule a proof of "the failures of communism in East Germany." And he said it was because of these "failures" that the Soviet Union and East Germany have embarked on "the dangerous course of threats against the freedom and safety of West Berlin."

★ ★ ★

The White House announced that Kennedy would see Thompson on the President's return from his summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass. State Department officials said they expected Rusk to accompany the envoy to the meeting.

★ ★ ★

Thompson came to Washington with Rusk late last week after the secretary's consultations in Paris with Allied leaders on the Berlin situation.

EAST GERMANS AT GATE — A lone soldier mans a machinegun aboard an East German armored vehicle as other troops take up duty at the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin. East Germany's Red rulers set up barbed wire, armored vehicles including tanks, and hundreds of troops in an effort to seal off flow of refugees and other East Germans to West Berlin. Action was denounced by Western spokesmen as a violation of Big Four agreements for control of the divided city.

East Shuts Off Phone and Wire Communication

Armed Guards Stand at Brandenburg Posts as Wires Halt Escape

It was an angry challenge to the Red orders that clamped off the flow of refugees.

A few stones were thrown at the Communist police and troops. West Berlin police said, and the Communists replied with three teargas bombs.

Witnesses reported a contrary wind carried the gas fumes back toward the Communists.

The East German government closed the gate, the chief crossing point between East and West Berlin, and severed phone connections with the West.

West German officials said today that more than 1,500 East Germans had fled safely to West Berlin since the Communist border clampdown Sunday. Bonn also reports telegraph communications have been severed by East Germany.

★ ★ ★

Communist factory militiamen in olive drab uniforms stood behind each of the gate's five archways, with rifles held across their chests. Personnel carriers with steel-helmeted troops of the East German People's army and powerful rio hose wagons were drawn up behind them.

★ ★ ★

West Berliners clamored for sharp counteraction against the blockade of East German travel, imposed at the sector border by East German troops and police armed as if prepared to combat open revolt.

Barbed wire barricades, tanks and soliers cut off the great refugee flow from East Germany.

None of the 50,000 East Germans with jobs in West Berlin showed up for work. Henceforth, they must have passes to get past the barricades.

A dozen street crossings remained open, however, to such West Berliners and foreigners as wished to enter East Berlin, among them about 15,000 persons who regularly work there.

"Paper protests are not enough," shouted angry demonstrators among about 4,000 West Berliners who marched to headquarters of the West Berlin city government.

As the clampdown on traffic cut the great tide of refugees to a trickle, East Berlin looked like a city at war.

Western cars and sight-seeing buses were still going through the Brandenburg Gate.

A U.S. Army spokesman refused to say whether any special precautions are being taken by the 5,000-man American garrison

Pontiac Line Hums Again

First 1962 Models Roll Out This Afternoon as Second Shift Reports

Line production of the first 1962 Pontiac and Tempest automobiles was to get under way this afternoon after second shift assembly workers report back to Pontiac Motor Division.

★ ★ ★

The first assembly shift is to be back on the job tomorrow. Workers in nonassembly portions of the plant were back this morning.

By tomorrow, tempo at the plant will have reached "the normal" rate, a company spokesman said.

Although it has not been announced when the new Pontiac will first be revealed publicly, there were prospects that this would come earlier in the year than usual.

CHANGEOVER EARLIER

The annual model changeover, which began last month, came earlier than usual and lasted only 25 days, shorter time than usual.

Fisher Body Division, with the bulk of its employes back to work on both shifts, began shipping bodies to Pontiac Motor today in time for the second assembly shift there.

Assembly of bodies began at Fisher Body last week in preparation for the beginning of production today, a spokesman said.

The 1961 model run ended July 19 when 5,000 Pontiac Motor employes and 3,100 from Fisher Body were laid off for model changeover.

Plan to Deploy Wheat in Case of Atom Attack

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said today the Kennedy administration is ready to launch a New Frontier program aimed at deploying some of the nation's multi-million bushel wheat crop.

He said the wheat would be moved to big cities for emergency use in case they are subjected to nuclear attack.

Asking Okay to Call UAW Strike

By A. F. MABAN

DETROIT (AP) — Quick votes to strike in support of new contract demands will be asked of more than half a million United Auto Workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants across the country.

Current three-year contracts between the UAW and the Big Three auto makers have only 17 more days to run.

The UAW's International Executive Board authorized the taking of strike votes among Big Three workers, at a special strategy meeting Sunday.

But at the same time the a similar vote among members board turned down a request for employed by American Motors Corp., the only auto maker thus far to offer a new wage package. AMC surprisingly offered a profit-sharing plan, which the UAW demanded in bargaining but didn't get three years ago.

EXPECT STRIKE OK

Some unionists expressed the hope that balloting could be completed this week or within 10 days at most. Executive board members expressed confidence that overwhelming strike approval would be forthcoming.

Contracts at GM, Ford and Chrysler all expire Aug. 31. The union's executive board said it would meet again Aug. 31. The union's executive board said it would meet again Aug. 29 to fix a strike target if progress is not made meanwhile on new pacts.

Under the UAW's constitution, proval would be necessary to legalize a strike and make members eligible for benefits from a strike fund that now exceeds $42 million.

In the past, the union has gone all-out to win a new contract from one company and then bring the others to that pattern.

★ ★ ★

UAW President Walter Reuther said in a statement after Sunday's board meeting that while AMC's profit-sharing proposal "does not represent an acceptable offer," it lays the basis for further discussion he said the union is giving the offer careful consideration.

Links Cage Fixers to Football Poisoning

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Weissman, New York Mirror columnist, said today:

"When diligent DA Frank Hogan explodes the college football bomb as a shocking sequel to the basketball scandal, among the repercussions will be evidence linking some of the notorious hoop figures to the headlined food-poisoning episode of 1960, when half the Oklahoma football team was stricken at Evanston on the eve of the Northwestern game."

Weissman did not elaborate further and Dist. Atty. Hogan's office has consistently declined to comment on all rumors of the direction his investigation of the gambling influence in college sports is taking.

Reporter Tours East Berlin

Rides Through Streets, Sees Soldiers, Police, Feels Fear of People

I saw the soldiers, tanks and armed police. I felt the fear.

My 90-minute taxi ride through East Berlin showed me as many police and soldiers on the streets as civilians. Through my cab windows I saw a police state at work.

My West Berlin cab driver had hedged when I told him to cross the border. He bit his lip, paused, then slid into his seat and said: "I want to see how it looks today."

★

The cab rolled up to the Brandenburg Gate, one of the main doors in the Iron Curtain. "Where are you going?" snapped an East German border guard.

★

The cab driver opened his mouth to answer when he heard something go "Whoosh . . . swish . . . whoosh . . ." A few feet away East German police had turned a water cannon on Western news photographers. "Where are you going?" asked the Red guard again.

LIES TO GUARD

My cabbied wanted no trouble. "To the Trade Ministry," he lied. The Red guard looked into the cab's trunk and let us pass. The cab rolled into a sea of armed men.

About 2,000 "peoples police" and "workers militiamen" were posted on the Communist side of the Brandenburg Gate. Five Russian T34 tanks, manned by East Germans, sat there like giant toads.

The militiamen blocked our path.

"Can't you move aside?" my cabbie asked one formation.

"You shut your mouth," snarled a militiaman.

My cabbie asked me not to mention his name. He said, " I don't want trouble when I go in next time—if there is a next time."

$1-Billion Aid Pledge Cinches Latin Confab

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI) — A pledge by the United States to make $1 billion in quick emergency aid available to the "alliance for progress" today assured the success of the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference.

The U.S. delegation yielded Sunday to Latin American demands for concrete pledges of immediate financial assistance when it cosponsored the resolution to provide funds by the end of next March.

The United States also promised to take "rapid action" on requests from the hemisphere's neediest nations for emergency crash spending.

A high U.S. official said, "It seems to us all significant issues at this conference have been solved. As we see it now, the key problems have been managed and there is general agreement."

The official said it remains to be seen what Cuba—which is ineligible for alliance funds—will do about signing the final declaration of Punta del Este.

Cuba's decision to ratify or reject the final document could have political significance and perhaps give a hint of Fidel Castro's future role in hemisphere affairs.

GUEVARA BUSY

Although Cuba has repeatedly attacked the alliance as "an imperialist scheme for extending U.S. domination over Latin America," Cuba's Finance Minister Ernesto (Che) Guevara has taken the most active part of any delegate at this conference, hopping from one committee meeting to another.

"Sure, they (the Cubans) have been injecting politics in this conference," said one U.S. official. "But they have not been pressing them and Guevara has been using moderate tactics. He certainly couldn't be called an obstructionist."

The last of the important problems of the conference was settled Sunday night, leaving only the formal drafting of the final conference declaration for the next two days.

★ ★ ★

The "declaration of Punta del Este," together with the resolution spelling out the machinery for putting the $20 billion "Marshall Plan for Latin America" into operation, will be signed on Wednesday.

Snake Bite Kills Reptile Owner

Paul Allen, 53, on Dixie, Feeds Mouse to Cobra, Serum Fails

The owner of the "Snake's Alive" serpentorium on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township was fatally bitten by an Indian cobra last night.

Thousands have witnessed Paul Allen, 53, being bitten by snakes before, but only his wife, Ruth, 49, was present last night.

She told Pontiac state police that her husband was feeding a mouse to the deadly Nijah Nijah cobra from India when bitten on the finger.

Mrs. Allen said she immediately administered a shot of serum good for 40 minutes and then tried unsuccessfully to contact the Detroit Zoo in Royal Oak for more serum.

★ ★ ★

Royal Oak police went to the zoo and obtained the serum which was then rushed to Allen. By that time — an hour and a half after being bitten — he had lapsed into unconsciousness.

★ ★ ★

The zoo serum was administered by Mrs. Allen and an ambulance resuscitator was applied en route to Pontiac General Hospital.

Mr. Allen was dead on arrival.

A showman who displayed his snakes to the public and often has been bitten by poisonous Michigan rattlesnakes, Allen had never been bitten by the more deadly cobra before.

To Start Angola Reform

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Pedro Theotonio Pereira, new Portuguese ambassador to the United States, said today his country plans to start reforms in its African Angola colony as soon as peace and order are restored there.

2,450 Miles Across U.S. by Pedal Power

Three University of Michigan seniors—two from the Pontiac area—recommend a 2,450-mile bicycle trip as the best way to see the nation's scenery.

They are John E. Howell, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Howell, 243 Judson St.; Dunstan Smith, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Smith, 3091 Edgefield Dr., Waterford Township, and Charles R. Curran, 20, of Dearborn.

All three agreed it was a great trip as they pulled their foreign-made bicycles into the driveway of Curran's home Saturday afternoon.

MOUNTAINS ON FOOT

"We say lots of scenery," zsmith said. Some of the trip over mountainous country had to be made on foot.

The youths had taken part in a four-week ROTC summer training course at Fairchild Air Force Base at Spokane. They'd bought a used car for the trip to the West Coast.

For the triphome, they decided on two-wheelers. Selling their car, they had the bikes shipped by rail from home.

Airplane hangars, jail cells and gasoline stations often served as lodgings for the y ouths.About miles a day was considered agood average in the mountains.

But on the whole, they averaged 120 miles a day.

The most miles in a day — 170—were covered in Michigan—when they knew home was just around the corner.

Their average speed was 15 to 20 miles per hour.

The route ipcluded Yellowstone Park, Cody, Wyo., the Bad Lands Chicago and finally Michigan. in South Dakota, the outskirts of

Their families returned to Oakland County via their cars.

The youths, however, would have none of it — they pedaled the remaining distance to their homes.

Forecast Cloudy, Cool and Possibly Rainy Tuesday

Tuesday will be partly cloudy and cooler with showers likely, according to the weatherman. A high of 82 is expected.

For the next five days temperatures will average between the normal high of 81 and lows of 61. Thursday and Friday will be warmer with cooler temperatures on Saturday.

Precipitation will total about .2 to .4 of an inch as showers Tuesday and again Saturday.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 56. At 1 p.m. the temperature reading was 81.

College Grads Get Stamp-Saving Habit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Trading stamps are saved by more college graduates than those with only an elementary school education, according to a survey made for the S. & H. Stamp Co.

The poll also showed that 89 per cent of the families with incomes of $7,000 or more save stamps compared with 65 per cent of families with incomes of less than $3,000.

Congress Pounds Away on Aid Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's embattled foreign aid program became a double-header attraction in both houses of Congress today.

The House was scheduled to begin debate over taking up its $4.5-billion aid measure while the Senate resumed consideration of its $4.3 version of the same program.

Leaders hoped both houses could complete action by the end of the week.

In the Senate, negotiators were being made to provide a compromise that would satisfy demands of some liberal Republicans for some form of congressional supervision over the bill's long-term borrowing authority for financing economic development loans.

The Republican group, headed by Sens. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., helped save the loan program from virtual defeat in the Senate's first test Friday night.

WOULD EYE PLAN

In return, they demanded agreement from Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on some provision to insure that Congress could keep an eye on the loan program.

A compromise was expected that would give congressional appropriations and foreign policy committees an advance look—probably 30 days—at any loan of more than $100 million. This would give them a chance to protest but no actual "veto" authority.

The Saltonstall-Keating forces had offered an amendment to give House and Senate foreign policy committees actual "veto" authority over such loans within 30 days after they are proposed. They served notice on Fulbright Saturday that they would push for the proposal unless an acceptable compromise could be worked out.

* * *

Administration forces won a major opening victory in the Senate fight Friday night when they defeated 56-39 an effort to keep the five-year, $8.8-billion loan authorization program under the tight rein of annual congressional appropriations.

Ten Republicans, including five in the Saltonstall-Keating group, provided the margin of victory.

A move is expected by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to cut the loan authority from five to two or three years.

In another development, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., announced that he had written every senator asking support for his amendment to ban any aid to Communist regimes behind the Iron Curtain except Yugoslavia.

* * *

Dodd said the amendment is needed because the bill places no restrictions on the President's $250-million contingency fund being used in Iron Curtain nations.

Japan Rejects Russ Proposal

Mikoyan Rebuffed on Long - Term Trade Pact Idea in Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan flatly rejected today a Soviet proposal for a long-term trade agreement between the two countries.

* * *

The agreement would have been in exchange for Soviet oil, coal and iron ore which Mikoyan, in his role as Russia's "master salesman," offered Japan in his hour and 10-minute meeting with International Trade and Industry Minister Eisaku Sato.

Sato, however, turned thumbs down on the trade agreement proposal, saying Japan was not yet ready to conclude such a pact with Russia.

CAUTIOUS ON OIL

Mikoyan had stipulated that the trade agreement would run for 10 years.

Sato also withheld any promises to buy Soviet oil which he said would have to be refined in Japan.

Mikoyan told Sato that should Japan agree to buy Soviet oil, the Soviet Union would extend its pipelines to the port city of Nahotaka, on the Sea of Japan.

* * *

Earlier, during his meeting with Kosaka, the Soviet leader denounced the Japan-U. S. security treaty, terming it aggressive toward the Soviet Union.

Mikoyan's call on Sato was his second official call following his arrival here today. His arrival was marked by tension and threats of rightist violence which failed to materialize.

THREE PRINCIPLES

In his meeting with Kosaka, Mikoyan said Soviet-Japanese relations must be based on three principles — peace, amity and cooperation.

Kosaka stipulated nonInterference as a basis for relations between the two countries — which still have not signed a peace treaty for World War II.

Kosaka told Mikoyan that the two nations must respect each other's political and economic systems and then he could agree to principles outlined by Mikoyan.

The Day in Birmingham

Business Block Suffers $50,000 Fire Damage

BIRMINGHAM — Fire damage to a downtown business building here yesterday was estimated at $50,000 by Fire Chief Park Smith today.

* * *

The two-story building at 277 Pierce St. houses the Varsity sporting goods shop, McSweeney's shoe store and several doctors' offices.

The fire was discovered about 11:30 p. m. by Birmingham police. Their office in the city hall is across the street from the building.

Chief Smith said the fire is believed to have started near the air conditioner at the rear of the building but it hasn't been determined if the equipment was to blame.

* * *

Firemen were hampered because the blaze spread into a false ceiling preventing them from walking on the roof of the building, Smith said.

The fire was under control an hour after firemen from both the Adams and Chesterfield stations were called. Fire fighting equipment from Royal Oak was on hand but wasn't needed.

The fire chief said that most of the damage resulted from water and smoke rather than the fire itself.

The building, the former Odd Fellows hall, is owned by the Saylor Investment Co., which has offices there.

Two Jets Collide Over Pacific; No Injuries to Crew

* * *

Their skippers talked by radio with Air Force brass and engineers from the company that made the planes, trying to decide whether to ditch 50 miles off the coast or try to land at Mather Air Force Base near here.

* * *

Finally, the planes were ordered to Mather. They landed successfully and none of the crew was injured.

* * *

Col. Merrill N. Moore told how the KC135 tanker and the B52 bomber tangled but declined to say if the B52 carried nuclear weapons.

"We have occasional missions out of here with thermonuclear weapons," he said. "I can't say whether this plane carried them."

* * *

Lt. Cl. Garland J. Smith of Sacramento moved his tanker close to the bomber to take a look.

* * *

He had been asked to do this by Capt. Charles B. Layton of Sacramento, pilot of the B52.

The crash ripped two-thirds of the stabilizer section of the tail assembly from the B52 and tore away an engine from the four-engine KC135.

Sunny Skies Reign Over Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

Sunny skies prevailed over most of the country today, with temperatures ranging from the cool 40s and 50s over much of the Great Lakes region northeastward through New England to the 80s in the Southeast and some 90s in the desert Southwest.

Most of the rest of the country enjoyed readings in the 60s and 70s.

Early morning showers and thundershowers occurred from southern Arizona eastward to the lower Mississippi Valley and the South Atlantic states.

Rainfall amounts were generally light except for locally heavy amounts in some Southeastern areas.

Scattered shower and thundershower activity was forecast for the afternoon and evening from the plateau region eastward to the central and lower Mississippi Valley, the Tennessee Valley, the northern Great Lakes and portions of the Gulf and South Atlantic states.

Cut Red Tape to Exchange Plane, Fidel's Boat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is slashing through the red tape that binds dealings with Cuba in preparation for the return of a hijacked Eastern Airlines plane.

In an agreement between the two countries, the United States will release a Cuban patrol boat to Cuba while Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro lets an American crew fly the plane to the United States.

* * *

Although the agreement was announced only Saturday, the airliner and the patrol boat are expected to head for their homes Tuesday. This means a speed-up in clearing an Eastern Airlines crew for travel to Havana. Normally, an American has to follow an involved procedure in getting to Cuba.

The two countries no longer have diplomatic relations, and travel to Cuba for Americans generally is barred. On special permits such travel, but a visa has to be obtained from Cuba, and this is done through a third country which has dealings with the United States and the Castro government.

* * *

The U.S. government also is prepared to ask the Florida courts to give the patrol boat immunity. Charles R. Ashmann, an attorney for Harris & Co., a Florida advertising agency, has said this company obtained a Circuit Court order tying up the 40-foot, $50,000 craft last week. He said Sunday night the boat "isn't going anywhere Tuesday" without a State Department request for its release.

* * *

Harris has been sizing Cuban property wherever he found it in Florida to satisfy a $429,000 judgment he won in prosecution of a claim against Cuba. The claim was based on an advertising bill incurred by the Cuban Tourist Commission.

In the U.S. note to Cuba released here Saturday, the United States government recognizes that such property is immune from execution to satisfy a judgment against the foreign government."

Joseph W. Reap, a State Department press officer, said Sunday night he knew of no change in the arrangement to turn the vessel over to Cuban technicians and seamen at Key West Tuesday.

Three Cuban refugees sailed the patrol boat SVI into Key West July 29. The $3.2-million four-engined Electra was on a Miami-to-Tampa, Fla., run July 24 when a gun-toting passenger forced the pilot to fly it of Havana. The Cuban government was not directly involved. Castro released the 32 passengers and 5 crewmen but kept the plane and the bill of Cuban birth.

* * *

Agreement to return the plane and patrol boat was worked out in a series of notes through Swiss channels.

A Cuban Foreign Ministry communique called Sunday for the two countries to coordinate efforts to combat future acts of air or sea piracy.

* * *

In announcing the agreement, the State Department brushed aside the Cuban proposals for and said the agreement is "definitely not a swap." The official U.S. position is that the SV8 is being returned through U.S. due legal process, which is only coincidental with the release of the airliner.

U.S. sources guessed Castro was returning the airliner because it has brought him little more general flouting of international procedures, even though no evidence is available here that he engineered the hijacking.

Freedom Riders on Appeal Trials

Hymn Singers Support 180 Integrationists in Mississippi Court

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — More than 180 convicted "Freedom Riders," rallied by hymn-singing sympathizers, appear in Hinds County Court today for appeal trials.

* * *

County Judge Russel Moore convenes court at 3 p.m. EST, and under a year-old rule all 192 riders who posted appeal bonds after their breach of peace convictions were required to appear or forfeit their $500 bonds.

But at least five of the segregation-defying riders earlier had announced their intention of not appearing. Their attorney petitioned a federal court to receive the five cases, and they were automatically transferred to U.S. District Court.

* * *

Officials of the ride-sponsoring Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) said at least 180 of the riders were in Jackson Sunday night.

SAME TRAVEL METHOD

The convicted riders returned to this Mississippi capital city of 70,000 in the same methods they had used to travel here earlier. But this time they refused to enter any segregated facilities.

* * *

The total number of arrested riders swelled to 387 Sunday, however, as two more persons tested segregation barriers in a bus terminal here. They were arrested by Jackson police as quickly as the earlier riders.

Jailed were Pauline Simes, 22, a white New York resident, and George Raymond Jr., 18, a New Orleans Negro.

* * *

Police planned to block off a two-block area around the courthouse before the trials and promised a quick trip in the paddy-wagon for any demonstrators.

Several months ago a hand-clapping crowd of Negroes was dispersed by trained dogs when they gathered outside City Court for the trials of Negro students who attempted to desegregate a public library for whites.

* * *

Sunday night more than 1,500 persons, including the riders, attended a rally called to give moral support to the integrationists.

The audience, which ranged from women of 80 to a boy of 5, clapped, sang and shouted as officials of CORE, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference spoke.

Uncover Red Plan to Overthrow Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) —The South Vietnamese government announced today that it has uncovered a Communist Viet Cong attempt to overthrow the pro-western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Vietnamese government said in a report that the Communist guerillas tried to topple the Diem government and replace it with one which would take direct orders from North Viet Nam.

It added the evidence was obtained from documents found on the bodies of the 167 rebels killed in last month's bloody battle over the marshes of the Plaine Des Jonca.

The report said the government had notified the International Control Commission on Viet Nam of the Viet Cong attempt to overthrow the Diem regime.

It said the Vietnamese government had asked the ICC to "immediately investigate and take adequate measures to halt the Communist subversion in the National territory."

Boy, 6, Survives in Wreck of Plane

SALIDA, Colo. (AP) — Tears glistened in Kevin McKnight's eyes, but the boy managed a smile.

He even cried a little when searchers found him, strapped in the wreckage of an airplane near the top of a mountain. His right leg and right shoulder were broken.

* * *

"But he was plucky as a bantam rooster," Sheriff Harold Thonoff said. "Boy, he has guts."

Kevin, 6, of Tulsa, Okla., was the only sign of life in the small twin-engine plane which had carried three persons, including his father and oldest brother, to their deaths.

Heading for a vacation at a dude ranch in Southwestern Colorado, they flew into heavy clouds before crashing at an altitude of 10,900 feet.

BODIES IN SEATS

For 27 hours — until searchers found him late Sunday — Kevin stayed awake, alone and in pain.

His father, Tulsa patent attorney Charles M. McKnight, 56, was dead at the controls. Mary Alice Wallace, 38, a family friend, was dead beside him.

* * *

The body of Michael McKnight, 12, was held firmly in a seat next to Kevin. On the other side Guy, 9, another brother, was unconscious with jaw and skull fractures.

The searchers were directed to the scene by a spotting airplane. It took nearly two hours to move Kevin and Guy and the dead to a hospital in Salida 14 miles away.

"He was hungry," Sheriff Thonoff said. "He asked for pork and beans with lots of black pepper."

women television viewers objected Sunday night because Eartha Kitt appeared after six months of pregnancy and made a joking comment about her condition.

The American singer wore a billowing dress instead of her usual slinky gowns but her pregnancy was still apparent.

When she had difficulty lifting herself onto a stool to sing a number, she looked down, chuckled and said: "Okay, junior, this is the last engagement."

Viewers jammed the commercial television network's switchboard after the program went off the air.

FAA Approves Airport Firm's Overhaul Shop

Commander Aviation, Inc., at Pontiac Municipal Airport has become the first company in Michigan to win Federal Aviation Agency approval of its engine overhaul shop.

* * *

Approval, said E. E. Baker, president, means that the level of work in the shop meets all federal standards.

Commander Aviation, Inc., is a relatively new name at the airport, but the organization is the successor to the Robbins Aviation Corp., which occupied municipal hangar No. 1 for many years.

Baker purchased the business last October from James Robbins and renamed it this summer to reflect the fact that Commander has the franchised dealership for Aero-Commander aircraft in Michigan and Northern Ohio.

Besides sales, the organization deals in complete one-stop service for itinerant aircraft, plus electronic and frame service.

Use Gas Bombs at Berlin Gate

The marchers at Borough Hall carried signs calling for union of East and West Germany under a single government that has been a Western aim since the end of World War II.

Mayor Willy Brandt told the demonstrators some of the things he was going to do:

1. Have a look at Communist party offices in West Berlin.

2. Talk to the Allies about the Communist management of t elevated railway system in West Berlin—badly upset by the new rules. The Communists run the railway system throughout the old German capital.

A West Berlin newspaper demanded more.

"What business do Communist officials have in West Berlin?" asked the tabloid "BZ." "Chase them over to their comrades."

Tempers rose to a danger point. But the angry crowds which demonstrated at the Western side of the Brandenburg Gate Sunday night were gone this morning. Most people were at work. Between 70 and 100 youngsters stood on the Western side staring across at the Communist guards.

3,000 Troops Bound for Europe Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. said Friday the Army plans to send 3,000 more troops to Europe in the immediate future, and is training even more to go later.

* * *

Stahr branded "completely without foundation" an unofficial military journal's report that Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, was turned down by the pentagon when he asked wore 38,000 additional troops.

However, Stahr did not say whether Norstad would get the full number of additional troops he asked.

Barber Makes Money Cutting Hair, Records

MIDDLETOWN, N.J. (AP)—Frank Piperno, a 29-year-old barber, spends his hours in his barber shop cutting hair—and records.

* * *

Piperno's tonsorial parlor doubles as headquarters for Storm Records, which Piperno organized with Madison (Skip) Esterly, a 17-year-old high school senior.

In a partitioned-off room at the rear of the shop Piperno and Esterly audition potential recording artists and record their work on tape for further scrutiny.

"The acoustics in the shop are surprisingly good," Piperno says. "So far, I've managed to avoid having recording artists and haircut customers here at the same time, and it's working out very well."

Dropout Problem Growing With U.S. Population

LANSING—Nearly one million boys and girls 16 and 17 years of age, who should be in high school, are not, the Michigan and national education association report. These young people have left their books behind and hang out in gangs on street corners or work casually from time to time at low-paid jobs. Few are equipped for regular employment. Many are habitues of the juvenile courts.

* * *

These are the high school dropouts.

They are a big problem now, and in a few years will be an even bigger problem. The U.S. Labor Department has estimated that within the next 10 years, 7½ million youths will not finish high school.

Why are large numbers of young people leaving high school before graduation, and why is this problem considered so serious by educators and other civic leaders? Will your child be a high school dropout?

WHO DROPS OUT?

Surveys show that young people who drop out of high school have many characteristics in common. If your child is unsuccessful in his school work, if he does not take part in the school's extracurricular activities and has no friends in school, if he doesn't think education is important in his future, or if his family does not place a high value on education—he may decide to leave school as soon as the law allows.

* * *

The dropout is usually a boy (55-65 per cent), according to the MEA and NEA. Intelligence is not a primary factor; however, the majority are either average or below in ability. The dropout frequently comes from a family with a modest income and the desire for his own spending money is a strong inducement to leave school.

If the dropout is a girl, her reason for leaving school is probably to get married. A higher proportion of bright girls give marriage as a reason for leaving school than do their less intelligent colleagues.

The reason more and more young people drop out of high school each year is that the big bulge in school population is now moving from the elementary schools into the high schools. The MEA and NEA report that by 1970 there will be 15.9 million in the 14-17 age group; by that same year there will be 14.6 million in the 18-21 age group.

HAS NO SKILLS

The high school dropout ultimately becomes a problem to himself and to society. Employers report that youngsters who quit school do not make very good workers. They usually have no skills, are too young, and cannot command a wage that will support an acceptable standard of living.

Among those youths failing to finish high school, the unemployment rate is almost double that of those who do finish and more than three times that of those who have had some college education. This means that the high school dropout is likely to join the most disgruntled, disillusioned and dissatisfied group of workers in America.

* * *

Find out all you can about the school dropouts in your community. Work with your local educators to make a survey of those who leave school before graduation. The facts will give you clues as to the major reasons for dropouts from the local schools.

Back up your school system in its request for more guidance counselors. Insufficient guidance for high school students is one major reason for increasing numbers of high school dropouts.

Work with your PTA group or other civic organizations to inform parents about the dangers of insufficient education in today's world.

Help your local educators in their efforts to introduce remedial reading programs, starting in elementary schools. Many dropouts who have reading problems could have been helped by a remedial reading program during their elementary school years.

Help your schools in their efforts to develop a diversified curriculum. The programs offered for study need to have appeal for the varied needs and interests of the young people in your community.

Much to Do on Campus of MSUO

There's a student government which represents the student body in all university affairs.

It includes the Student Senate, with members elected each spring, and the Student Judiciary, appointed by the senate's executive board.

Although just organized last fall, the student government has adopted a health insurance policy and initiated a blood bank program.

There are also Young Democrat and Young Republican clubs for the politically partisan.

Last year both groups were active in a campaign urging state legislators to raise appropriations for MSUO.

AWS FOR WOMEN

Every MSUO coed is a member of the Association of Women Students (AWS), regardless of whether she actively participates in organization activities. The AWS Big Sister Council seeks to integrate new coeds into the university community by assigning each a "big sister" to familiarize her with college life.

Planning social activities and coordinating the use of Oakland Student Center facilities with George Fritz, center director, is the Student Center Council.

Singers may join the University Chorus of 110 voices under the direction of Dr. Walter Collins, chairman of the music department. And, journalists have a choice of working on the staffs of The Oakland Observer, university newspaper published biweekly, or Oak Leaves, the MSUO yearbook.

CHESS, DEBATES

Both the chess clubs and debating teams furnish opportunities to compete with teams from other colleges.

Orchesis is MSUO's modern dance group.

Religious organizations on campus are the Newman Club for Roman Catholics, the Wesley Foundation for Methodists, and Intervarsity, an interdenominational organization for Christian students.

* * *

If interested in music and music equipment, students can join the Hi-Fi Club which frequently provides recorded music for dances. The Spanish Club promotes the study of the Spanish culture and language, and has entertained Spanish-speaking guests from South America.

Athletic organizations for students embrace judo, weight-lifting, hockey, fencing and skiing.

Classroom classics are the clothes worn by (from left) Central Michigan University student Diane Fuller of Edgewood Drive, University of Michigan's Jim Holt of Cooley Lake Road and Judy McKibben of Massena Street who will attend Wayne State University. The girl's outfits are from Nadon's at Miracle Mile and Jim's clothes are from Monarch Men's Wear, Miracle Mile.

Dyed Duo Popular in Class

* * *

Jim's bold striped cardigan by Jantzen is all wool combining shades of brass, heather, white and dark brown. He wears it over a paisley print shirt by Marlboro in tones of brown, olive and turquoise. All cotton, it is fully washable and is tapered for proportioned fit. Cotton pinwale corduroy slacks by Sir Jac complete his outfit. In clay tone they are pleatless and slim lined.

* * *

Schoolboys Must Have Triple-Threat Wardrobe

As things shape up today, parents must consider three outfits — dressup, school and play — when readying a youngster's back-to-school wardrobe.

* * *

No problem here. If your lad is like most, he will want a suit "like dad's" or "like big brother's."

If dad goes for the Trans-American model, junior can find a close replica in the boy's department.

Should he want an authentic Ivy style like his older brother's there are plenty of these, too. He will need white shirts to wear with these suits.

* * *

The best topcoat for wear with Continental-inspired suits for boys is the split-raglan model. Miniature fly-front semichesterfields go with the natural-shoulder Ivies.

Scaled-down felt hats are made in both casual and dressy styles have developed a liking for hats like dad's and many youngsters for cold weather dress-up wear.

For classroom wear, the standards of which are much higher these days, he will need one or two sport jackets in his favorite style, two or three pairs of flannel or bedford cord slacks — these may be wash-wear — and sturdy school shoes with plenty of coordinated socks.

* * *

To keep him warm on his journeys to and from school, he will need a good outerwear garment.

There's a wide range here, from waist-length to three-quarter lengths in poplins, gabardines, corduroys, meltons and loden cloths. Some are reversible, and some have detachable parka hoods.

His third category of apparel is actually an economy measure. These, mothers find, gave wear and tear on school outfits.

* * *

Stock up on chino and corduroy slacks (many are wash-wear), knit shirts (no ironing), boots or galoshes for sledding or snow shoveling and at least one lighter weight jacket for those early autumn bicycle days.

Remodeling Job?

(NEA) — If you're planning to change the color of your hair in order totry a completely new look, remember that it is very important to also change the colors of your lipstick and eye make-up.

Chris Likes Eton Jacket

* * *

Bonnie's three-piece wool and orlon suit boasts a box pleated skirt. With it she wears an orlon knit sweater blouse. The boxy lines of the jacket are softened by the Peter Pan collar.

* * *

Oxford Area School Officials Optimistic About Vote Result

Officials of the Oxford Area Community School District have reason to be optimistic about the results of a special election there Sept. 11.

The single proposition on the ballot that day will be a request to levy three mills for school operation during 1961-62.

Tradition is in favor of the proposal being approved by voters in the 81-square mile school district.

The electorate in the district never has defeated either a millage proposal or a bond issue since it was consolidated in 1956, according to School Supt. Roger Oberg.

★ ★ ★

Oberg, who became superintendent July 1 following the retirement of R. A. Ambrose, had served as assistant superintendent from the time the present boundaries of the district were formed until he was appointed to succeed Ambrose.

SEVEN SCHOOLS

The district covers portions of Oxford, Addison and Brandon townships in Oakland County and the Lapeer County townships of Hadley, Dryden and Metamora. It includes five elementary schools, a junior high school and a senior high.

The new school superintendent said the one-year millage request actually represents only an increase of two mills over the total voted taxes levied last year.

The average homeowner in Oxford and Addison townships will pay only about five or six cents a week more for education in the forthcoming school year if the issue is approved, he said.

The Oxford Board of Education agreed unanimously at its July 18 meeting to place the proposition on the ballot in order to meet the 1961-62 operating budget and to help pay off an operational deficit which has accumulated over the last few years.

Oberg explained that decreased state aid for transportation has helped raise operational costs.

The state paid the entire cost of transporting children to school three years ago. Since that time the state's share has been reduced to about 77 per cent of the total.

Local districts have to provide the balance of the money. One mill of the Oxford district's operating budget now must be allocated for transportation.

The 1961-62 operation budget for the Oxford Area has been set at $614,000 while anticipated revenue for the same period is expected to be $595,000.

The higher operating costs are also due to the normal salary increments for school employes and a slight adjustment in base salaries for teachers during the coming year.

Buy Bone Buttons

(NEA)—If you want to give a favorite bulky sweater a special look, remove the present buttons and replace them with bone buttons. Expensive, it's true, but you can use them on fashion after fashion.

The requirements for satisfactory school clothes: easy off, easy sudsing.

It's Plaids for One, All This Season

This is a big year for plaids for both preteens and teens. And for small sister, too. These will be done in lightweight blends and in dark autumn colors.

Tartan plaids, always part of the school scene, take on new importance this year. Many have a fresh look through color combinations featuring green or blue with gold. Magenta and turquoise turn up both in plaids and as solid colors.

★ ★ ★

The well-planned school wardrobe will include this year, jumpers or skirts with blouses or overblouses. There will be many one-piece dresses cut with a two-piece look. Here, both neckline and sleeves are done in a contrasting color or white.

★ ★ ★

Use of man-made fibers insure pleats will stay, that garments will wash easily, wear long.

To some extent, children's clothes in this country always reflect adult fashions. This year, we'll see the slightly lowered waistline, pleats and plaids, flared skirts and such colors as eggplant, magenta and antique gold.

Students Go for Music —in Bands

The number of school-age musicians in the United States is growing at a phenomenal rate.

During 1960, American Music Conference reports, more than 1,000 new school bands and orchestras were formed and the number of school-age youngsters playing musical instruments and receiving instruction increased by more than 500,000.

The number of musical youngsters in the United States — 9.5 million — has more than tripled during the past 12 years.

As a means of identification, music-making and the association with group musical efforts rank high among students.

It contributes to personality and character development.

Group lessons in schools and private studios have made it possible for more students to be introduced to instrumental music.

Also, new teaching methods that emphasize the enjoyment of self-made music relax "beginners" and improve the chances that they will continue musical pursuits.

Educators and parents, realizing the many benefits of instrumental music, are starting youngsters on their musical way at an earlier age, particularly in the elementary grades.

Tune of a Tunic

(UPI)—Tune in the tunic trend by pulling on a pop-over. Many of the tunic tops have dolman sleeves to elbow, leather piping, boat, V., or turtle-cowl necklines. Fabrics include wool jersey, plaids, velveteen basketweaves and orlon pile.

School Time Means to Watch for Wheels

There's a vibrant excitement in the air. It's almost as though the circus were coming to town. The reason? Millions of students will shortly be returning to school, glad to get back to the "drudgery" of the work they secretly enjoy.

School time means wheel time in the U. S., since so many of tomorrow's leaders depend on their two-wheelers for transportation to the classroom. In doing so, they join the legion of motorists using public roads.

This additional number of wheels on America's road networks means that drivers of cars, buses and trucks must watch the road carefully in their competition for the ever-shrinking amount of available road space. Drivers and bicyclists alike are required to follow motor vehicle ordinances to help insure their safety.

An awareness for the necessity of safe driving on the part of both cyclist and motorist has resulted in a sharp decrease in the number of accidents. Figures released by the National Safety Council indicate the rate dropped 13 per cent.

These 12 rules of safe riding were developed by the Bicycle Institute of America and can be found in most community bike ordinances:

Observe all traffic regulations, including red and green lights, one-way street and stop signs.

Have a white light on the front fender and a reflector on the rear fender for night riding.

Have a satisfactory signalling device to warn of your approach.

Never hitch on to other vehicles or race in traffic.

Never carry riders or packages which will obstruct vision or prevent proper control of the vehicle.

Be sure your brakes are in excellent condition.

Coed Needs Wide Range of Clothes

NEW YORK (NEA) — On campus, off campus and in the country, a girl needs a big college wardrobe. Dates and dances, teas and football games all call for special clothes.

Suitcases going back to college this fall will hold the flare in many forms. For dates, it's kept simple, is well cut and often lined.

* * *

Other goodies packed carefully in tissue paper will include knickers, the knit dress, stretch pants. Long, bulky tops, of course, and some of those hooded sweaters. Skirts in those bright blanket plaids and some short and flaring skirts.

To wear over pants there are the new rain capes. And slickers, of course. Some are coated in vinyl and some are lined in nile. It depends on the campus and the climate.

PENEETTS

Dresses, sweaters, shirts and skirts all take to fringe and ruffles this fall. But not, of course, at the same time.

Colors winning top honors on the campus include the orangey shades, russet, emerald green, brassy gold, bright red, some maroons and teal blue. (They are high fashion shades away from the campus, too, this year.) Gray, below and plenty of plaids add variety to the scene.

NEW WRINKLE

Coeds have always worn clothes in layers to some extent. Usually, the arrangements were artless. This year, they may have the layers designed for each other. An example is the sweater worn with knickers and a plaid skirt that buttons down the front. All are color co-ordinated, of course.

Fair fares depart for campus points north, east, south and west via North Central Airlines. Michigan State University student Donna Douglas of Sherwood Street and MSUO student Penny Batts of Pineview Drive are chic for travel in a full-length tweed coat and an oxford gray suit. Their American Tourister luggage is from Shaw's Jewelry.

Student Can Use Luggage

Last year, 10 per cent of all passports were issued to students.

Designed for jet age travel, today's bag is light in hand, rugged enough to resist scratch, scar and stain and as elegantly masculine as ever.

* * *

With six in every 10 college students attending schools more than 250 miles from home, soft-sided leather airplane luggage is practical.

VARIETY OF SIZES

In a variety of sizes from club bag to companion bag (just short of the traditional two-suiter), "carry-on" airplane luggage has been restyled and reshaped to tuck under an airplane seat.

* * *

The heavy wood frame has been replaced by light aluminum or magnesium.

* * *

In addition to the "carry-on" which takes the burden out of quick trips between home and campus, a man needs the basic 26-inch suitcase.

The so-called two-suiter will hold. In addition, a variety of other clothing.

* * *

The attache case has its place on the campus where students find it helps organize their papers, books and personal possessions. Some have accordion files in one section and a roomy compartment in the other.

Bad Experience Is Just Part of Growing Up

(NEA)—In your teen years, you're likely to be intense about the things that happen to you for a very good reason: they've never happened to you before. And thus, you've no experience to tell you what's important and what isn't.

* * *

Some things that seem important at the time really are not. They are part of growing up but they aren't the end of the world. If your date excuses himself at the last minute or doesn't show up at all, don't decide it's your fault. It isn't. He's just rude. So don't sit and brood about it. And don't call up your dearest friend and cry all over her. You'll feel worse, not better.

* * *

Get busy. Try out a new hairdo. Check over your clothes to see if they need pressing and mending. Chances are, there's a whole closetful to take care of. Bake a cake, go for a walk or a swim but don't sit and brood.

These things happen to everyone at some time. Even to great beauties.

Button-Collar Shirts Popular

Back each year on the popularity list is the boy's white shirt with button-down collar. Tommy wears it with a V-necked bulky sweater of 100 per cent orlon in Nordic styling. With them he wears wash and wear pants of acrilan and rayon.

A bulky cardigan sweater with placket collar is Sandra's choice. She enjoys the freedom its new shorter sleeves provide. Her permanently pleated skirt is parrot green and is available also in peacock blue, magenta and russet.

Very Illuminating

Here's a tricky way to "iron" a child's puffed sleeves. Remove the shade from any table lamp, and turn on the light bulb which will heat up quickly. Then place the damp puffed sleeve over the lamp and pull it slowly over the hot bulb until wrinkles disappear. This method is both efficient and amusing.

Retail furniture stores in the U. S. sold over $5 billion worth of merchandise last year. To reach the 108 million people (aged 12 and over) who read a newspaper every day, these retailers regularly invest 65 per cent of their advertising budgets in daily newspapers.

Station Wagon Gets Student Call in September

It's a fact of life that the college students departs for the campus with an assortment of extra-curricular baggage that can't possibly fit in dad's car.

Those guitars, books, blankets and assorted campus clothes moved from home to school every fall present formidable logistics problems.

One popular way out of the predicament is to rent a station wagon and leave the loading to the departing student.

A survey made last year by a car-rental company revealed a heavy demand for station wagons during the first three weeks in September when schools reopen.

A station wagon will accompany any of the large items and comfortably transport dad and student to the campus.

It requires an investment of at least $8,000 to creat a job for an average worker in an industrial plant.

Fairest Tweed in Fall Line-Up

Fairest tweed in the fall collection is Donna's full-length coat of Tweed O Plaid in Peerless wool. With extra full stand-off collar and huge beetle buttons, it is worn atop a rich wool plaid skirt and bulky knit sweater.

Penny wears a cotton blouse with her basic demi-fit oxford gray suit. The light-weight luggage is streamlined in design, ideal for air travel.

Anxious to keep the facilities of North Central Airlines at Pontiac's Municipal Airport, the girls are heeding Mayor Philip E. Rowston's plea for increased patronage of the service.

Facing Reality Helps to Dress for One's Age

(NEA) — Dressing for your age, whatever it may be, takes the ability to face reality. Most girls of 20 yearn to be 40 and sophisticated. Most women of 60 yearn to be 20, dressed in pastel, fluffy ruffles. Sometimes, they mix their roles and dress the part with disastrous results.

WE'RE LUCKY

No country in the world has made it easier than this one for a woman to look beautiful at her age. But this means following a few simple rules of good taste. Heavy make-up and overly sophisticated clothes are out for the girl of 20. So is a bored expression.

She has a wealth of young, chic and infinitely flattering clothes to choose from. She is in her heyday in a country that favors youth. There are some nots for the older woman, too, if she really wants to look her best.

No shorts, ever. Trim, tailored pants if she's slim. Otherwise, skirts, please! Or culottes. No two-piece or skimpy bathing suits. Preferably, bathing suits with cap sleeves to cover that upper arm. No low-necked or strapless evening gowns, ever. And never, never a kittenish air!

Pleated Culottes in Gray Wool Lead in Fashion

Wheels on campus set the fashion pace. This year's leaders will take to permanently pleated culottes like those Colette is wearing in gray wool worsted.

Perfect Harmony

(NEA) — When wearing a colorful summer print, don't distract from its brilliant beauty by using make-up colors that clash with those in the dree. Choose shades that match or harmonize with the colors in the print.

Packing Pointers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't pack breakable bottles containing liquids with your clothes. Nail polish, perfume, medicines and such should be zipped into plastic bags and carried separately in your overnight or flight bag.

Seal bottles with adhesive tape or plastic tape so they will not break. American Express experts making these points also suggest that you wrap the tape around the base of the bottle when you remove it. It will be at hand when you need it next time around.

Eyebrows Unruly?

(NEA) — If your eyebrows are curly and unruly, it isn't necessary to pluck them all out. Pluck from underneath, just as you would if you had perfect brows. Then take a manicure scissors and, very carefully, clip your brows to the wanted length. If necessary, fill in with an eyebrow pencil, following the brow outline, of course.

When your child's sweater wears thin at the elbows, either put a chamois patch over the elbow or remove the sleeves and let him wear it as a sleeveless sweater.

Proper Environment Can Boost Your Grades

Do your youngsters hope to go to college? Then you will want to help them earn the better grades in high school that most colleges now require for admission.

You can improve their chances of acceptance by the university of their choice by providing proper study conditions at home.

In a controlled test that proved the value of good study environment, two groups of school students participated. One group was making excellent grades; the other poor.

When the group with poor grades was coached on proper study habits and placed in proper surroundings, it surpassed the superior group within a semester.

NOTE THESE HINTS

John D. Wilkin, manager of technical services for Celotex Corp., offers these practical suggestions to improve study conditions.

Have a definite place for study—a room and a desk if possible. Keep the desk clear of distracting objects; it should be bare except for books, typewriter or other items needed for study. Insist that children study at their desks in straight-backed chairs, not on their beds.

Noise, even though it may not completely destroy concentration, can be annoying. Noise control does not mean soundproofing, but it does mean reducing distracting noises. Acoustical tile on the ceiling will absorb up to 75 per cent of the sound that strikes it. Ceiling tile can also aid study by increasing light reflection.

Youngsters cannot develop maximum reading speed and understanding without proper light. A desk lamp, with a 75-watt or larger bulb, should be placed on the desk or mounted just above it. Be sure, too, that there is sufficient light in other parts of the room to avoid glare and shadows.

* * *

Be sure there is ventilation, even in winter.

Chatterbox Is Just Looking for Audience

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The woman utterly lacking in charm is the one who talks constantly. No matter what her sterling qualities may be, one tends to forget them in the flood of talk. Such chatter is, of course, a completely selfish performance. It demonstrates fully to the listener that the woman talking has no interest in anyone beyond finding an audience for her nonsense.

Invariably, the woman who is a chatterbox is filled with trivia. She dispenses gossip about herself and others freely, most of it highly inaccurate. Behind all of this lies an inability and, perhaps, an unwillingness to think. Thinking, after all, is not done at parties or in the constant company of others.

Thinking is done in solitude, a state which the chatterbox will avoid at all costs. Usually, she is a woman who is unaware that she lacks charm. And, somehow, one suspects she really wouldn't care if she knew, just as long as she managed to retain her audience.

Self-Help Study Plan Announced

After extensive tests by college and high school educators, a new concept in self-assisting study technique has been announced that could not only improve learning by students at all levels of education but also could help the critical teacher shortage.

* * *

The new complete package, called Edumator, was devised and developed by the faculty of the New York Institute of Technology.

* * *

It includes a revolutionary technique for grading and scoring students. Each of the printed questions, testing the student's grasp of what he has read in prepared texts and heard from four high fidelity records, is printed on specially treated paper.

Alternate answers are listed, and the student indicates the correct answer by dabbing a space with a moistened pencil. A green mark appears if he is correct, a red spot if he's wrong.

* * *

Should a red spot appear, a code number also pops up, referring the student to a brief elaboration of the answer at the back of the workbook. In this manner, a wrong answer is immediately corrected and explained.

Pastel Too Pale?

(NEA) — If you wonder why pastel lipstick colors look so beautiful on some women but not on you, it's probably because you've chosen the shade just because it's pale, and did not give careful consideration to the proper shade for you.

Wanted: More Hours

She Must Budget Her Time

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

According to a recent survey made by Iowa State University, 60 per cent of the nation's housewives listed "time" as their No. 1 problem.

It's no wonder housewives find themselves short of time. Nobody respects the time of the woman whose major job is keeping house.

Her day is broken into by dozens of useless interruptions and demands upon her time.

The telephone rings, and she unplugs the iron to run answer it, only to find that someone is informing her that she has just "won" a free dancing lesson or a "free" photograph or, if she can come up with the correct answer to "Who is the president of the United States?," she will get some other equally magnificent break.

POTATOES BURN

The doorbell rings, and she finds herself with a determined, long-winded salesman to get rid of before the potatoes on the stove start burning.

Instead of being asked to donate money to help a good cause, the housewife is asked to donate time. Time to bake a cake or a batch of cookies, time to man a booth at a bazaar, time to make some kind of handicraft to sell.

If the housewife takes her community responsibilities seriously, she finds that her time is consumed by meetings that last twice as long as need last, by all sorts of busy work that has no real purpose.

More than likely she will have to take her turn providing "refreshments" since when women meet they expect to eat.

* * *

Repairmen have no respect for a homemaker's time, either. The man who promises to come Monday morning to fix the washer, likely as not will show up Wednesday afternoon.

* * *

Meanwhile, the housewife's time is not her own, for if she leaves the house to do an errand, that is the time the repairman is sure to show up and she will have to start the waiting routine all over again.

But, while nobody respects the time of the housewife, it's really nobody's fault but her own. Instead of making other respect her working hours, she lets them be wasted and then complains that her greatest problem is lack of time.

Men will understand these "timely" problems if they read "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Showers Charm at Will-O-Way

Ilka Chase? Word 'Vibrant' Fits Her Like a Glove

By PAT EVANS

"Vibrant" best describes the lasting impression I hold from the two hours spent with Ilka Chase Saturday afternoon.

Despite the almost two-hour delay of her plane flight from New York, Miss Chase appeared, cordial and charming, in the doorway of Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater.

She paused only briefly to oblige our photographer for a picture with Will-O-Way director Mrs. Cecilia Turner and husband Ken, then was whisked to a reserved seat in the theater amidst handshakes and hellos of welcoming fans.

1ST WOMAN IN SERIES

As Will-O-Way's "master," Miss Chase is the first woman in the series of international theater artists which includes Basil Rathbone and Harold Clurman to act as Will-O-Way's "master."

Backstage, anxiety showed through the heavily made up faces of youngsters who had practiced seven weeks for this performance.

The theater's professional workshop talentedy were about to perform scenes from several plays, among them "Chantecler," "As You Like It" and "Our Town," for observance and critiquing by the "master."

Though I chatted only momentarily with this successful stage, screen and television personality, famous as a writer, actress and lecturer, she was everything I had expected and more — effervescent, witty, versatile and flexible — a vibrant combination.

MAKES EYES DARKER

Blue mascara makes her dark brown eyes darker and snappier cornered with upturned smile wrinkles. Her beige suit and brown shoes seemed to enhance the "spice and ginger" personality of her slim, youthful stature.

"I was 'star-struck' as a child," she began. "While at the Convent of the Holy Child Jesus on Riverside Drive, I acted the title role in 'Puss in Boots,' wearing a sign around my neck which said, 'I am the Miller, the first son, and the second son — you see, we had a limited cast."

Miss Chase's career is extraordinary because of its wide variety; talent in so many areas.

Having appeared in over 20 Broadway productions, perhaps the most notable of which was "The Women," still her first and foremost love is the theater.

She readily admits her acting career is at a standstill and is just as quick to express a desire to act on Broadway anytime, preferably warm-hearted or what she terms "high" comedy.

As Miss Chase wrote in one of her autobiographies, "Free Admission," "There is this to be said for the theater; reactions are instantaneious.

HATES, LOVES VIOLENTLY

"It hates or loves with violence, and its hatred is mortal." Her advice for upcoming starlets is, "Actresses should wish for money from home in case of flops on Broadway."

She has been extremely popular in summer stock and her range from comedienne to dramatic actress has opened up for her many of TV's best dramatic programs.

When asked about her books, thet witty lady answered smilingly, "I've written nine in all, of which three autobiographies are, of course, about me." "Always in Vogue" is the biography of her noted mother who was editor-in-chief of "Vogue" magazine for 38 years.

* * *

"My writing ability is most active now," she pointed out. "my latest book being "The Carthaginian Rose," an autobiographical travelogue.

"The title is taken from a line of poetry by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Published by Doubleday, the book should come out around the end of October."

* * *

Miss Chase's career includes extensive writing for magazines and newspapers and today she has a syndicated column with a circulation approximating seven million.

FASHION COMMENTATOR

* * *

One of her jobs is acting as a beauty consultant for Colgate-Palmolive soap. An upcoming fashion show commentary in Houston, Tex., is scheduled in September.

As sensitive to people's feelings as to new fashion trends, Miss Chase has a one-woman show, "The Dear Emotion." "It's based on love—love of men and women, children, food —love of everything."

* * *

"I would far rather have a job in my life than not," she explains," not only from necessity but from choice, and though I wish I could have had two or three children of my own, I don't believe in having huge families as I'm just as concerned about the population explosion as anyone else."

We talked of many things, among them pet peeves and the world situation.

* * *

Teabags and affectation, perhaps a combination in juxtaposition to others, was for us a common denominator. As much as we hate sopping teabags, we love fresh tea even more.

'WASTE OF TIME'

On the subject of affectation, she says, "Affectation is stupid, it seems to be such a waste of time.

* * *

The afternoon was slipping away, but Miss Chase had a few words concerning Khrushchev and his ilk. "I just wish the old blowhard would shut up—of what use is Berlin to him?

* * *

"I don't doubt the seriousness of his intention in the least, however, for he's just as real as Hitler and Stalin and —just as vulgar and shrewd."

As the critique season terminated, Miss Chase dabbed her perspiration-brimmed brow, rose from her place after critiquing to commend the youngsters with "this comes to me as a very refreshing change and a thrilling experience . . . usually I'm on the other end, being criticized."

* * *

It was time to bid adieu—as her firm, yet gentle, hand clasped mine I knew the thrilling experience was mine.

It would be a rare occasion, indeed, when I should again meet one with such a combination of tenderness and wit.

Pontiac Press Photo

"Girls, I thought your performance was lovely—I've only to ask you to remember not to split your lines and above all listen, for nothing makes for reality more than that," Ilka Chase advised Mary K. Larsen, 12, of Plymouth, and Robin Turner, 13, of Bloomfield Hills. The two played Orlando and Rosalind interchangeably in "As You Like It" for the Saturday afternoon performance at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater. The critique this weekend with Miss Chase as "Master" climaxed the summer stock session.

It's Too Hot or Too Cold

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last week it was so hot we could hardly stand it, so I asked my husband to please turn off the furnace.

ABBY

He didn't want to do it and said it was on so low that it didn't make any difference. My daughter (who is visiting us with her two babies) finally got him to turn it off.

The next morning the temperature dropped to 50. I wouldn't have said one word about turning the furnace back on had it not been for our two grandchildren, who are 5 months old and a year and a half.

They both had colds, so I begged and pleaded with my husband to turn the furnace back on, and he said he wasn't going to turn it on until next winter. Do you think he was right or was I?

MAD

DEAR MAD: You were right. And come next winter give that old mule plenty of heat.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: To the "city girl" who wrote: "My husband is one of those devoted sons who always DRAGS me to see his parents."

It's a shame a woman has to be DRAGGED to visit her in-laws. Can't married couples realize how much they mean to their parents — particularly in their later years?

They have very little left in life but their children. So many married children want to "live their own lives," and exclude their parents.

If they could only realize how much they owe their parents, and how much happiness they could bring them by being a little more attentive.

Abby, you can reword this, and say it better. I haven't had much education, but I just had to have my say on this subject.

LOOKING AHEAD

DEAR LOOKING: There's no need to reword your letter. You said it well.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I should be ashamed to write this letter, but I must have an answer.

I am 27 and have been married to a good man for five years. We have two adorable children. Please don't think I'm crazy, but I still undress in the clothes closet.

Is there anything wrong with this? My husband has never laughed at me or complained, but I feel so childish.

Should I try to get over this inhibition? Or don't you think it matters?

STILL SHY

DEAR STILL: Since your husband doesn't object, your "problem" exists only in your mind.

Everyone need not shed ALL inhibitions in order to be happy. Keep your skeleton in the closet.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO KATHY: Forgive him. Who among us doesn't need to be forgiven at least once?

* * *

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

You Mind If I Read My Book?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am a daily commuter and enjoy reading the newspaper or a book, on my way to and from the office. Quite often someone I know only casually will sit beside me on the train and after commenting on the weather, or some general subject, we really have nothing to talk about.

Could I be considered rude if I opened my book or newspaper and started to read after greeting her, or must I try to make conversation?

A: Should you find yourself seated next to an acquaintance you could offer to share part of your newspaper with her. Whether you can pick up your book or not depends upon whether your companion has something to say to you.

If your conversation comes to an end and there is a lull, you could say, "Do you mind if I read my book?"

* * *

Q: My 12-year-old daughter was invited to spend several days with a classmate of hers whose parents have a house in the country. She had a wonderful time.

I have never met the mother of the girl as she travels in an entirely different circle. Will you please tell me what I am supposed to do to show proper appreciation for her having invited my daughter? Should I send a gift, or should I write a note, or what? Please advise me.

A: Writ a not to the mother thanking her for having invited your daughter and go on to say how much she enjoyed her visit.

Q: I am writing to you in the hope that you can settle an argument which arises every time we are invited to a wedding reception. I am referring to a reception where a dinner is served. It is the custom of my husband and his family to give money instead of gifts, which I think is quite all right as it avoids duplicate gifts.

However, I have always felt that no matter how elaborate or simple the reception, you should give whatever you could afford, the true meaning of the gift being the thought behind it, not the amount.

My husband disagrees with me, along with the rest of his family. They say when invited to a dinner you have to give $20 or $25 a couple. If that's the way weddings are given today then they might as well give a dance and sell tickets at the door. To expect guests to pay for their dinner, is to me shocking. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this.

A: Your husband has been misinformed. In fact, wedding gifts of money are correct only from close relatives of the bride and groom, and the very idea of giving a sum of money to cover the cost of your dinners, is indeed shocking.

Marska Ann Stapp, daughter of Mrs. Mell D. Stapp of Inverness Road and the late Mr. Stapp, and Alfred W. Harwood, son of the Webb S. Harwoods of Ann Arbor, were wed Saturday in Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian.

MRS. ALFRED W. HARWOOD

Marsha Ann Stapp Wed by Candlelight

White satin bows marked family pews in the Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian where Marsha Ann Stapp and Alfred W. Harwood exchanged vows and rings before the Rev. Edward D. Auchard.

* * *

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mell D. Stapp of Inverness Road and the late Mr. Stapp. The Webb S. Harwoods, parents of the bridegroom, are of Ann Arbor.

Alencon lace, frosted with pearls and iridescent paillettes, relieved the classic simplicity of the bridal gown of crystal white coronation taffeta. The princess bodice, styled with short pleated sleeves, extended into a belled skirt and court train.

* * *

SISTER IS HONOR MAID

Melon yellow satin cummerbunds and matching pillbox hats accented white silk organza frocks for the attendants who carried tangerine carnations and ivy.

* * *

Janice Harwood of Ann Arbor, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Jeannette Cockle was honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Judy Mieras of Midland, Mrs. John Lown of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Allen Rentcheller of Saline, Elsie Kovac of New Brunswick, N. J., and Mrs. Gerald VanDyke of Detroit.

Vicki Jones was flower girl and Stevie Matthews of Lansing carried the rings.

* * *

William Meister of Saline was best man. Ushers were John Matthews, East Lansing; Raymond Mazurek, Freeosil; Allen Rentscheler, Taylor Jacobson and Philip Badour, all of Saline; Douglas Boynton of Bryan, Ohio, Donald Usiak of Shelby and Jack Roosa of Pontiac.

The newlyweds, who are graduates of Michigan State University, will live in Saline after a honeymoon in the Black Hills of North Dakota.

Green cymbidium orchids on a white envelope purse and a Allen Rentscheller of Saline, piemented Mrs. Stapp's sheath dress of forest green matte crepe. Mrs. Harwood chose a melon taffeta sheath and corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Senior Citizens to Attend Cook Out

Area senior citizens over 60 have been invited to a cook-out at Oakland Park Thursday, sponsored by The Sunset Club.

Hamburgers and watermelon will be served. Women have been asked to bring a "dish to pass." The meal will be served at noon.

* * *

In case of rain the meeting will be at the Adah Shelly Library. Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department sponsors the club.

Market Slips as Crisis Felt

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined in fairly active trading today as the Berlin crisis became more acute.

Key stocks fell from fractions to a point or more..

The international anxiety came after three straight weeks of advance on average. Last week's market was up only slightly although it reached new highs in the popular averages.

Profit taking sliced some stocks around 2 points. DuPont, General Dynamics and Revlon were losers in this category.

★ ★ ★

Steels, buoyed by prospects of increasing production, resisted the downtrend fairly well. Fractional gains were posted for Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin. U.S. Steel lost a fraction.

Fairly sharp losses were taken by motors. Ford and Chrysler dipped more than a point each; General Motors a fraction.

Aircraft-missile stocks were mixed, Douglas and Boeing gaining slightly while United Aircraft eased.

Rails were fairly steady on balance. Baltimore & Ohio and Santa Fe rose fractionally. Southern Pacific eased.

American stock exchange prices were irregular with a beat to the upside. Fairchild Camera gained about a point. Fractionally higher were Anken Chemical, Syntex, Polard Electronics and General Development. Hollinger and General Plywood declined slightly.

Corporate bonds were mixed.

Some Do's and Dont's on Saving Plumbing

To protect the plumbing in your home:

Don't pour lye down a food waste disposer, as it will corrode the metal.

To curb fast drivers of horses, New York (in 1652) had a law which compelled drivers to walk beside their vehicles.

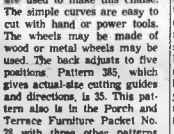
Natural Glue

Wood is grown by nature in a strange form. Tiny bundles of spindle-shaped cells or fibres, which are much longer than they are thick, are cemented together with a fantastic substance called lignin, which is a natural glue making up one fourth of the weight of wood. Lignin is not affected by heat, chemicals, or water.



STOCK SIZES OF LUMBER are used to make this chaise. The simple curves are easy to cut with hand or power tools. The wheels may be made of wood or metal wheels may be used. The back adjusts to five positions. Pattern 385, which gives actual-size cutting guides and directions, is 35. This pattern also is in the Porch and Terrace Furniture Packet No. 28 with three other patterns — all for $1.

Note Firmer Grain Bids, Higher Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — Scant offerings brought out firmer bids in early dealings Monday on the Board of Trade, and prices moved well ahead all along the line.

Brokers said commission houses were major buyers at the opening and that the demand appeared to be linked with mounting international tension over Berlin. The higher prices also attracted short covering.

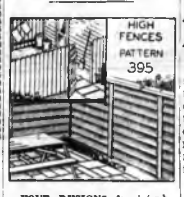
Dem Criticizes Secret Vote for Con-Con Prexy

A recommendation that the con-con president be elected by secret ballot was rapped today by Avern Cohn, Democratic nominee for delegate from Oakland County's 5th District.

★ ★ ★

Cohn told the coordinating committee for the constitutional Convention, which suggested the proposal, that the recommendation would "destroy the vital concept of an open convention.

"If adopted, it would serve as a precedent for other convention action and the right of the public to know would be diluted and corrupted," he said.



FOUR DESIGNS for high fences are given in Pattern 395. All your questions are answered including how to set posts so they will not rot out and how close to space them. So, whether you want to build out a view or preserve privacy, go ahead with confidence. This pattern is 35c. It also is included in the Homestead Improvement Packet No. 30 with three other full-size patterns for $2.

Cleaning Mixtures May Contain Harmful Acids

Look out for cleaning compounds that contain acids. For instance, a harmless detergent is all you'll need generally, to keep ceramic tile walls, floors and counters gleaming between major house cleanings. (For the occasional persistent stain use scouring powder).

Above all, avoid acids that could cause permanent damage to plumbing fixtures. Some homemakers have come to grief this way, because the enamel finish of tubs, lavatories and toilets can be vulnerable to harsh acids.

Kalamazoo Plant Back in Operation After Short Strike

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Union members returned to work at Gibson, Inc., Monday after an abbreviated strike which had idled the plant since midnight Friday.

Union members voted 158-88 Sunday to accept the management's offer.

The new contract called for a 10-cent across-the-board increase for the first year and an additional five-cent increase during the second year of the two-year pact. A pension plan will also be initiated in the second year of the contract.

Gibson, which employs about 300, produces violins, guitars and mandolins.

Hang Up Brushes

Quality paint brushes generally have a small round hole near the end of the handle put there so that the brush can be suspended in a solvent for cleaning purposes. The reason for this is that a brush should not stand on its bristle tips because the bristles will acquire a permanent bend which cannot be removed. If there's no hole in your brush handles, you can easily make one with your hand or electric drill.

Olive oil is used medicinally, in cooking and making soap and centuries ago was also used for illumination.

CASTRO MAY GET BOAT BACK — Sheriff's Dept. Lt. Rene Raiole is shown tacking a "No Trespassing" sign on the cabin of the 40-foot Cuban patrol boat SV8 which was sailed to Key West by Cuban political prisoners. The $50,000 craft is destined to be returned to Fidel Castro Tuesday when the Cuban prime minister frees a $3.2-million Eastern Airlines plane hijacked to Havana July 24. A court order has tied up the boat at Key West but the State Department likely will request its release. AP Photofax

Waterford Slates 2 Public Hearings

Two public hearings have been scheduled for tonight's 7 p.m. Waterford Township Board meeting.

Beginning at 8 p.m., the final hearing for blacktopping 1,300 feet on Tyrone Street will be held.

Township engineers estimate the project will cost $10,422. Each of the 26 property owners would pay $4.35 per front foot for the work.

The first hearing on the installation of a sewer line on Holbrook Street, costing $9,902, also will be held. There are 18 assessments involved in this project.

Coat of Paint Helps to Cool Living Room

You can enjoy comfortably cool summertime living with or without the help of air conditioning or country breezes. If you take a little time to let a fresh coat of quality paint release your living room from its wintry cocoon and make it blossom forth in refreshing color.

★ ★ ★

The perfect summertime wall colors are the blues, blue-greens, aquas, blue-grays and the fashionable lilacs, which have a cooling, restful effect on everything in the room — including you. On the other hand very light and airy yellows are also good choices, for while they are not as particularly cooling as the blues, they are bright and bouncy; even when the mercury climbs very high, your spirits can't fall low, surrounded by such cheeriness. White, of course, is just as ideal for a summer decor as it is for summer clothing.

Why paint your living room for summer? Chances are you have already hidden heavy upholstery behind bright summer slipcovers. Why not slipcover the winter-weary walls with a fresh coat of cool color? All it takes is a couple of hours rolling or brushing and about ten dollars worth of quality paint.

The new cool and airy background will do justice to your summer slipcovers. After all, even the gayest patterns can't cool off a hot-colored room. It would be as effective as wearing a straw hat with a brown wool suit.

Secondly, your new summer wall color may very well appeal to you so much that you'll want to keep it all winter long.

Never Decays

Some people think that time will cause decay of wood. This is untrue. Any wood kept at a moisture content below 20 per cent will never decay.

Farmer Was Forced by Hunger to Flee Red China Regime

EDITOR'S NOTE: Liang Chu, who wrote the following dispatch, used to be a landlord farmer in Red China — a member of the class the Communists call the "backbone of the revolution." Liang swam to freedom in Portuguese Macao after Red guards arrested him of secretly catching shrimp for food. Here he tells of his hardships in the communes and of his dream for freedom.

By LIANG CHU

HONG KONG (UPI) — Everything was changed after the establishment of the commune. We turned over to it all we had, and we did everything on order. If we worked, we were given two meals of about 7 ounces of rice a meal.

We had enough food during the busy seasons, but less during the slack seasons. And as time went on, life went from bad to worse.

Sometimes we worked as many as 18 hours. We started work about two hours before daybreak. Life became harder and harder.

We never got anything good out of the commune system. They kept reducing our ration of rice, we could still eat seven ounces of rice a meal last spring, but now it's only 5.1 ounces per meal.

We had to attend meetings where the cadres made it clear that those who worked harder would be given more food. Those who failed to meet the day's quota had to eat less.

We saw movie shows in the evening, but they were mostly about the problem of increasing production.

PLENTY OF WORK

The cadres said mechanized farming would help reduce manpower, but it wouldn't make our work any easier. They'd just assign you to some other kind of work.

Only a very small portion of the crop is distributed among the commune members. Most of it is for export.

Since they didn't let us eat what we planted and harvested, you can figure out how well they treated us. They scolded us filthily.

★ ★ ★

There were many militiamen in our area. Some are still loyal and active, but others have been disheartened because they are not getting enough to eat.

The whole militia unit had only one or two rifles. They used those to patrol near the river bank or the sea-coast.

REASON FOR ESCAPE

The main reason I wanted to escape was because I wasn't getting enough food. The other reason was that the cadres accused me of "following my own law."

That means I did something for myself. The Communists think that is a crime.

My offense was catching shrimps and grinding them into shrimp paste. I caught and sold fish, too. Because I worked all day farming, I had to catch them at night.

One day when I was peddling shrimp paste, the militiamen discovered what I was doing and they confiscated it all without any compensation.

That very evening I asked four young men to run away with me.

We got in a stolen boat and used four planks for oars. We rowed desperately for a time, but soon we became grounded.

★

We had to leave the boat when the receding tide made it impossible to keep pushing it. Then the rising tide washed it away. A passing junk turned it over to a PLA unit, and within an hour they were looking for us.

All of us buried ourselves under prickly bushes. The soldiers came only about 10 feet away, but they didn't spot us.

MISSED BY SEARCHER

Later, a soldier, several militiamen and a hunting dog came back. Why the dog missed us, I still can't figure out.

After dark we climbed a hill with a clear view, and the four young men decided it was impossible to swim to safety.

I told them to wait a little longer in case some boats anchored there. I said we could steal one for the final break through.

We waited three days and three nights without food and never caught sight of a boat. We were so exhausted from hunger that the four youths decided to turn back even at the risk of being shot.

I had no alternative. I would rather be drowned than surrender myself to certain death.

I swam about an hour. Just as I was about exhausted, I touched a hidden reef. I was up to my neck in water and the current was strong, but I managed to rest a few minutes before going on with the fight.

Thank heaven, I made it. I couldn't believe it until after I was rescued.

Con-Con Public Hearing Slated by GOP Aug. 22

Arthur G. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee, announced today that the first of a series of open hearings on con-con has been slated for Aug. 22 at 8 p.m. at the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

Elliott said the countywide hearings are being held to find what the public wants accomplished in the constitutional convention.

Representatives of labor, business and civic groups will express their views on constitutional issues, Elliott emphasized that the candidates "are going to be more interested in listening than in talking."

★ ★ ★

Elliott said invitations to the opening hea rings have been sent to 10 major county organizations, including the county AFL-CIO coun-

"But we want to make it clear that all groups and organizations are urged to have representatives present, whether they have received a written invitation or not," Elliott xplained.

Elliott also announced the appointment of Gordon T. Getsinger, 1445 W. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, as regional campaign coordinator for the 18th Congressional District.

Liability May Fall on Owner

When hiring a remodeling or home improvement contractor, be sure to have him give you certificates of insurance. This warning to home owners was issued by Mr. Peter H. Johnson, President of NERSICA (National Established Repair, Service, and Improvement Contractor's Association), the national association of home improvement contractors.

Your contractor should carry Workman's Compensation insurance and public liability insurance, according to Mr. Johnson. If not, he says, the home owner may be held liable for any injuries to employes, or for any property damage or personal liability they may incur while working for you.

Workmen's Compensation boards, he said, have ruled that employes of an uninsured contractor, injured on the job, may lay claims against the homeowner. Homeowners, according to Mr. Johnson, must be aware of the need for ascertaining the financial responsibility of contractor firms with whom they deal.

Mr. Johnson said: "Anyone representing himself to be a contractor—and who will not provide a certificate of insurance — is someone to avoid. The fact that he does not carry the necessary and required insurance does not speak well for the financial stability of the firm. It should serve as a warning signal to the home owner who must be painfully conscious of the need for protecting himself from any liability claims incurred by uninsured contractors.

The home owner, by establishing the financial security of the contractor with whom he deals, protects his own interest and his own pocketbook.

Business Notes

W. L. Graves, agency manager of Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, recently returned from Chicago where he addressed a company management seminar on the subject of agency training techniques. Graves and his wife will attend the Annual Convention Sept. 3-8 at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C. in recognition of the agency's over-all accomplishments.

Frederick G. Redpath and Robert W. Stutter have qualified to attend the convention, too.

PREHISTORIC — A bald cypress was excavated right in the back yard of the National Geographic Society in Washington, D.C. Ironically, the society sends people all over the world to photograph such oddities.

News in Brief

Bruce Lassiter of 4675 W. Clarkston Road, Independence Township, told sheriff's deputies Saturday that $91 worth of carpenter tools were stolen from his garage the night before.

The theft of two suits from the De'Cor Shop, 26 W. Huron St., was reported to Pontiac police Saturday.

Their wallets containing a combined total of $8 were stolen from a downtown store, Carrie Ashby, 1298 Locke St., and Judy Chittick, 807 Pensacola Ave., reported to Pontiac police Saturday.

Exhaust Fans Help

Excessive humidity, generated within the house by cooking, showers, clothes drying, etc. can be a big source of discomfort. Exhaust fans, strategically located to carry off the humid air before it saturates the whole house, can so easily relieve the situation. And these same exhaust fans, will, if winter ever comes again, lighten the steamy window problem.

Linseed Oil Finish Satiny but Durable

A linseed oil finish is excellent from many standpoints, but is not as highly water resistant as varnishes and lacquers. Properly applied and well rubbed, this finish is exceptionally pleasing to the eye, having a satiny luster without gloss.

The first coat can be put on either with a brush or a clean cloth, but then must be immediately wiped off. A cloth dampened with the linseed oil is then used for the second coat, accompanied by long and vigorous rubbing. About a week later still another coat is applied, once again with plenty of rubbing. The more rubbing, the better the finish.

A linseed oil finish should be renewed about once a year. It does not scratch too easily and it is fairly resistant to hot dishes. In buying the linseed oil, get the type known as "boiled."
