Waterford Rehearing to Be Sought

ONE COLOR

By DICK ROBINSON

The Waterford Township Board of Education will ask for reconsideration of a court ruling that it restore full-day classes.

This was decided last night at a 5½-hour meeting at which the board also announced it would schedule a millage and bond issue vote in November.

Instead of asking for a stay of the court order and then appealing, the board authorized its attorney to ask for reconsideration of the ruling. This means half-day sessions will continue for now.

A millage hike was called the only workable method of financing education in the school district. A no-tax-increase bond issue would provide for building another junior high school.

★ ★ ★

Date of the election was set as Nov. 25. No dollar amounts were established for the proposals. Voters have turned down two millage issues in the past 10 months — three in the past two years.

SEPT. 29 DEADLINE

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer said a week ago that the school district must restore full-day classes for its 18,500 students by Sept. 29.

School Attorney John Rogers said he will ask for a rehearing in a motion to be filed with Beer today. It is expected to be heard Wednesday.

If it is denied, Rogers said he could ask Beer for a stay of the order pending appeal. If that's not successful, he would ask for an extension of the two week time limit or a stay and appeal in a higher court.

He said the board has 20 days after the formal entry of the Judge's order, also expected Wednesday, to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court.

TAKING MEASURES

In the meantime, Rogers indicated he hopes to convince the judge the school district is taking measures to comply with his order.

Preliminary plans are being made to restore full-day sessions, according to acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen. The board decided to seek approval from the state's Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $1.25 million.

★ ★ ★

Rogers recommended that the board see what happens on his motion for a rehearing and in a similar Livonia case being appealed to the State Supreme Court before deciding on an appeal.

New trustee Billie S. Farnum, a former congressman and state auditor general, proposed the millage election.

He indicated this is one of only two ways to finance education permanently. The other is the State Legislature, which

No November, December Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today canceled all November and December draft calls and ordered that the 29,000 men scheduled for induction in October be called over a three-month period at a monthly average of less than 10,000 men.

Reading a statement to newsmen at the White House, Nixon said lessened military manpower requirements — due in part to Vietnam troop withdrawals — made it possible to cancel programmed draft calls for 32,000 men in November and 18,000 in December.

The action came very close to an outright two-month suspension of the draft. However, Nixon said that the 29,000 men originally slated for induction in October would be called over a three-month period ending Dec. 31.

The President also announced that if Congress fails to act on the draft reform legislation he proposed on May 13, he would issue an executive order aimed at sharply reducing the number of years during which young men face the uncertainty of possible induction.

'LEGISLATION IS BETTER'

He said, however, that no executive order could accomplish his objectives "as clearly and effectively" as the proposed legislation.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said at the White House one plan being considered would make 19-year-old the most vulnerable to induction. Another alternative that could be accomplished through executive action, he said, would make prime draft targets of 19-year-olds and men in the 20 to 25 year age bracket with expired student deferments.

Asked how the October draft call of 29,000 would be spaced, in terms of inductions, Laird said the matter was not finally decided but Selective Service officials had indicated to him that they favored calling up 10,000 in October, 10,000 in November and 9,000 in December.

He said the January Draft call, now programmed for 35,000 men, would be reviewed in December with a view toward a possible cutback.

3RD WITHDRAWAL

The December decision presumably would hinge in great part on a possible third-phase withdrawal of troops from Vietnam. The administration has set no timetable for making its next decision on potential withdrawals.

Laird said that, barring legislative action, Nixon would try to achieve draft reform through an executive order that would become effective next Jan. 1 or as soon thereafter as practical.

Laird said the aim is "to remove the inequities, so that a young man when he is 19, by the time he is 20, will know whether he is serving or not."

This, Laird said, would do away with "keeping the draft over his head for seven years."

Calling the proposed change a fairer method, Laird said that under it a young man for draft purposes, who has been deferred for college, will be 19 when he finishes college, regardless of his actual age.

★ ★ ★

Nixon had promised, at the National Governor's Conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., recently: "We shall have some directives that will be issued in the very near future that will accomplish" some of the goals concerning what he called "the unnecessarily long period of uncertainty that now hangs over the lives of millions of our young people."

MSU Pact OK'd; Opening Set

From Our News Wires

EAST LANSING — Striking maintenance workers today approved a contract with Michigan State University and acting President Walter Adams said classes would be able to start Thursday, as previously scheduled.

Late orientation freshmen students were asked to report Sunday afternoon. New undergraduate transfer students were asked to report Monday night. The general fall registration will start on Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Dormitories will open Monday, and there will be a gradual opening of dining halls.

The MSU board of trustees voted "applause" to Adams and MSU Secretary Jack Breslin who had been working on the contract negotiations.

OKAY ON 3RD VOTE

"That's only as much as you expected of us," Adams said.

Herbert Hill, president of Local 1585 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, said contract approval came on a third vote this morning.

★ ★ ★

He said of the voice vote "You could say it was unanimous."

Hill said the union members agreed to the new contract after a "clarification" of the hospitalization section of the contract.

APART ON COVERAGE

"We were apart on the exact coverage of the hospitalization section," he said. "We submitted some language to them which we felt the section should include this morning and they accepted the exact language."

Hill said the members were "very happy" with the contract.

★ ★ ★

He said the contract covers two years but has economic provisions for only the next year.

"For the second year, if we can't agree, the contract provides for arbitration," he said. "This is something new in public employe bargaining."

PICKETS REMOVED

Hill said pickets were taken down immediately at the Big Ten school after the vote.

Hill said the some 1,200 striking workers were told to report to their job supervisors for assignments.

TO RETURN IMMEDIATELY

"A good many of them will go back to work immediately," he said. "They were told they will be given a full eight hours pay if they go back to work."

★ ★ ★

Hill said he thought with the strikers back to work the university could be geared up to accept students coming in to register after this weekend.

2 Bandits Rob Clarkston Bank

CLARKSTON — Two armed bandits held up the Community National Bank Branch office, 5801 Ortonville, at 11 a.m. today. They locked four employes and six bank customers in the vault and escaped with an unknown amount of cash.

The gunmen were described as heavy-set Negroes between 35-40 years old and 6 to 6½ feet tall. Both wore blue-striped overalls, and at least one had a stocking mask covering his head, according to FBI agents at the scene. They said the amount of money taken from the bank has not yet been determined.

The pair put money from tellers' windows into canvas bags and forced the 10 people into the vault at gunpoint. No one was injured.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department, State Police and FBI set up roadblocks surrounding the area. The getaway car was described by a witness to be a medium-blue Pontiac. It was last seen heading north on Dixie Highway.

The sheriff's department said no shots were fired by the bandits during the robbery.

Southfield Stadium Appears Doomed

A Southfield site for a domed stadium for the Detroit Lions and Tigers apparently was doomed yesterday in action by the Southfield Planning Commission.

The move left a proposed location on Pontiac's eastern boundary very prominent in consideration.

Last spring, spokesmen for both teams indicated the Southfield site was preferable if a downtown Detroit site proved unfeasible.

However, Southfield's planning commission voted a recommendation last night to rezone the proposed 360-acre proposed location near I-696 and Telegraph for entirely different uses — residential, office, educational and research building development.

GOING TO COUNCIL

The recommendation will go to the City Council in November. There was considerable opposition to the proposed stadium in Southfield including that of Mayor Norman W. Feder. A ballot proposal set for next August would limit any stadium construction to less than 12,000 capacity, if passed by voters.

This latest incident in the quest of the two teams for replacing aging Tiger Stadium could spur action toward naming the oPntiac site as preferred.

A downtown Detroit site has not yet been ruled out. The Detroit Board of Commerce has commissioned an economic possibility study. A preliminary report issued early in August apparently left the teams unimpressed.

Pontiac last January appointed a Stadium Authority to carry out plans and negotiations with the teams. The authority has announced it has an economically feasible plan to build a $65-million, domed, twin-stadium complex for the teams with revenue bonds (no millage called for).

Spokesmen for the Lions said they were going to announce a decision the week after Labor Day, but this deadline passed with no word.

Armed Pair Gets $5,000 at Wixom Credit Union

The Wixom Credit Union, 29100 Wixom, was robbed of an estimated $5,000-6,000 this afternoon by two armed bandits.

★ ★ ★

James Price, manager of the credit union, said the gunmen entered the facility located in a trailer across the road from Ford Motor Co.'s Wixom plant about 12:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Price said he and three employes, two of them women, were standing at the counter when the bandits walked in brandishing pistols and announced "This is a stickup."

★ ★ ★

The exact amount of money taken was not immediately known, said Price, who noted, however, that about $5,500 to $6,000 had been on hand when they opened and that several withdrawals had been made by customers.

★ ★ ★

The robbers were Negroes, Price said. The pair fled in a car but the victims were unable to give a description.

★ ★ ★

Wixom police are handling the investigation.

Barbara Gets 7 to 20 Years

Reputed Detroit area Mafia chieftain Joseph Barbara Jr. was sentenced to seven to 20 years in the state prison today for extorting $4,000 from the wife of underworld informer Peter Lazaros of Troy.

★ ★ ★

The 33-year-old Barbara will begin serving his prison term immediately since Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem refused to free him on bond while he appeals his conviction.

★ ★ ★

Barbara, the president of the Tri-County Sanitation Co., was found guilty by a jury Aug. 13 of extorting $4,000 from Delores Lazaros while her husband was in prison for a fraud conviction.

★ ★ ★

The incident, along with the alleged rape of Mrs. Lazaros by Barbara, is reportedly the reason Lazaros began telling authorities about underworld activities. Lazaros was released from prison last October while his case is being appealed.

THREATS OF VIOLENCE

Ziem noted that while it is within his discretion, it has been his practice in cases of intended violence or threats of violence not to allow appeals bonds.

★ ★ ★

Ziem said he saw no reason why he should change his policy in this case.

Teachers Spurn Contract Offer

BIRMINGHAM — Members of the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) refused to ratify a tentative agreement with the board of education last night, 345 to 280.

★ ★ ★

The BEA will meet Tuesday night "to determine a future course of action," according to Donald Cameron, the organization's executive secretary. Cameron said a strike vote will be held and other possible alternatives discussed.

★ ★ ★

Classes meanwhile will meet as scheduled throughout the district. Teachers have been reporting for work since classes began as scheduled Sept. 3.

★ ★ ★

Differences over the salary range in the middle part of the pay scale were considered the principal factors for rejection of the contract.

★ ★ ★

Under terms of the tentative contract, the salary scale ranged from a $7,450 minimum to a $13,800 maximum.

School Board Ignores Plea in Hiring Hassle

The Pontiac School Board last night was asked to change its mind on the hiring of an assistant superintendent. But the board took no action, adjourning its meeting amid the audience's increasingly bitter denunciations.

The board announced Sept. 4 it had selected a Virginia man, Dr. William Edmonds, director of the Virginia State College Graduate School, Petersburg, Va., for the position. The recommendation of the board's citizens committee on human relations was for John F. Perdue, director of school-community and human relations.

A one-day boycott protesting Edmonds' selection was held Sept. 10 with over 400 teachers reported absent.

The human relations committee asked the board to reconsider last night. After about one hour of discussion on the issue, the board abruptly at 11 p.m. called for and passed a motion to adjourn.

LIAISON DESTROYED

The chairman of the human relations committee, Charlie Harrison, warned that unless the hiring was reconsidered, the committee's role "of being a liaison between the board of education and the community has been destroyed."

Another committee member, Frank Johnson, reminded the board of past recommendations concerning appointment of the assistant superintendent.

He said the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC), in its report on the city in January, recommended the post be created and filled by a man "sensitive to minority group problems in the community."

* * *

In choosing Dr. Edmonds over Perdue, Johnson said, the board was ignoring the MCRC, the human relations committee, the local 90-citizen Equality of Educational Opportunity Commisison (EEO), and the majority of teachers and staff members at the schools.

RECALL CAMPAIGN

After last week's boycott, a recall campaign was initiated against the four members of the seven-member board who voted for Edmonds — Russell Brown, John K. Irwin Jr., Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek.

At last night's meeting it was announced that more than 3,000 signatures on recall petitions had been obtained. More than 6,000 are needed.

At least 200 persons jammed the small administration auditorium for the stormy meeting. While a majority of those making statements were opposed to board actions on agenda items, several stood in support of "respect" for the board.

One woman predicted more white people will be attending future board meetings. The audience was about one-fourth black, and many identified themselves as teachers.

RESIGNATIONS DEMANDED

The board was vilified in a statement read from the Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL). The statement called members "incompetent, chaotic, disgraceful . . . ignorant . . . undemocratic . . ."

The VOCAL statement concluded by demanding the resignation of the members who had voted, in effect, against Perdue.

Blue Shield Asks to Raise Rates

LANSING (UPI) — Health insurance rate increases averaging $2.43 per family have been requested by Michigan Blue Shield for the first three months of 1970.

Citing inflationary medical costs as the reason for the request, Blue Shield officials asked the rate-regulating State Insurance Commission for the hike yesterday at a public hearing.

* * *

If approved, the average increase of 16.7 per cent of the base rate would affect those contracts renewable from the first of the year through March 31, 1970 — about 274,000. If the hike is extended to cover the remaining three quarters, almost all other 4.5 million insurees would be affected.

Not included in the hike would be policies for supplemental Medicare coverage.

* * *

Specifically, the rate raise would mean single persons would pay an average of 45 cents more per year, a couple $2.10 and families $2.43 annually.

Personnel at HQ Hit

Drastic Shakeup Jars OEO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Economic Opportunity is about to undergo a drastic shakeup of headquarters personnel. The disclosure left nearly 100 of the antipoverty agency's employes without specific duties and facing an uncertain future.

The shakeup disclosure was made suddenly—and apparently without warning—Wednesday in a memorandum from OEO Director Donald Rumsfeld to all 1,100 headquarters personnel. Attached to the memorandum was a list of about 900 people who will have definite new assignments.

* * *

Those not on the list, many in the $15,000 to $20,000 salary range, were told they were being put in a pool, to be used wherever they were needed, until their future was decided.

Sources within OEO said many of the 100 people left in professional limbo had been associated with the antipoverty agency's more controversial programs.

SOME FEARFUL

Some expressed the fear they were being eased out of the agency entirely.

An OEO spokesman denied that these people were on "a blacklist," but stopped short of guaranteeing that all would have jobs when the reorganization is complete.

* * *

Referring to those not on the list, the memorandum said:

"If your name does not appear on the lists, supervisory personnel and representatives of the personnel office will contact you directly and discuss assignment possibilities. Until you are reassigned, you will be retained in your present title, grade and salary, in an unassigned status, available for detail or loan to any of the OEO offices and divisions where your services can be utilized."

BLACKBALL LIST

One top OEO official who asked not to be identified referred to the unassigned personnel as being on "a blackball list."

"They're dumping us into one big pool according to Rumsfeld," the official said. "To me that pool looks more like a bottomless pit that drops right into oblivion."

Hearing Is Set on Proposal for Condominiums

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission and the planning commission will consider a proposal by the Woodbury Construction Co. to build condominium and single-family residences on the northwest corner of Hickory Grove and Lahser Roads. The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 14 at the city office building.

The problem concerning the construction plans reportedly centers on whether or not there should be a condominium-type development in the city, according to Commissioner Louis G. Colombo Jr.

* * *

Woodbury plans call for construction of 100 detached condominium units of two or three bedrooms in the $70,000 to $90,000 range.

She has 12 years experience in the Birmingham schools as an elementary teacher, arithmetic consultant and diagnostician. Mrs. Ruhly has also taught classes in child and adolescent psychology at Wayne State.

Members of the Birmingham Senior Men's Club were scheduled to see a film titled "Golf a Go Go," showing the "nine most beautiful holes in the United States" at their meeting this morning in the Community House, 380 S. Bates.

Discussion topic for the day was "Should wage and price controls be applied to the national economy in order to check inflation?"

2 Units Kick Off PAUF Drive

The commercial and manufacturing divisions of the Pontiac Area United Fund (PAUF) began their campaigns yesterday with a luncheon at the Elks Club, 114 Orchard Lake.

This year's total goal for the two divisions is $365,814 out of a general campaign goal of $1.24 million, Howard M. Nelson, commercial division chairman told some 200 volunteers.

* * *

Frederick J. Poole, president of PAUF, said money collected in this year's campaign again will be used to support the 55 United Fund fund agencies and will be dispersed on the basis of need.

"For the past two years the PAUF drive has failed to reach the goal set by its directors, causing agencies to operate at a deficit." Poole said. He added that there is no reserve to fall back on for immediate need.

Last year's goal was set at $1.13 million and contributions totaled about $1.7 million.

Poole said, volunteer solicitors have a real challenge before them and expressed hopes that the enthusiasm and dedication they have displayed will encourage the people whom they contact.

* * *

The volunteers heard speaker John Greenwood, assistant regional manager for the American National Red Cross in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, talk about action of the Red Cross during the recent hurricane along the Gulf Coast.

Greenwood's speech entitled, "Things Just Don't Happen," pointed to the fact people and money make them happen, referring to volunteers from all over the country who arrived to help in cleanup and other aid along the 55 miles of coastline damaged by hurricane Camille.

He presented a vivid picture of the disaster and said 18,000 homes were destroyed and another 26,000 were damaged.

"The Red Cross met Camille head-on," he said, "and 662 trained volunteers were sent into the area."

* * *

Commercial division volunteers will call on area retailers, educational, professional and community leaders for donations. Small manufacturing firms and companies will be contacted by manufacturing division volunteers headed by Lawrence Wiseman.

The PAUF general campaign this year starts Oct. 4 and is to run through Nov. 7.

Waterford Schools Want Rehearing, Set Millage Vote

can't be counted upon to come up with funds.

"It's about time we talked to the State Legislature to do something about this," he commented.

Stanley Kurzman, a parent in the school district and one of three attorneys for parents who took the school board to court, praised Farnum's millage proposal as "the only responsible solution."

"I hope you will go forward and implement full days," he told the board. "If the supreme court reverses the decision, you'd be in the same boat next year anyway without more money."

However, parents who hired the other two lawyers indicated to them they won't support more millage.

One emotional mother in a crowd of nearly 200 people, Mrs. William Schmidt of 5831 Elizabeth Lake, told the board "millage exploits the poor and is only patchwork to take the pressure off the Legislature."

"You should cross the bridge when you come to it. If you face bankruptcy or annexation, go to the voters and tell them they'll have to vote 'yes.'"

The millage issue was approved by the board 7-0 and the bond issue 6-1 with Eldon C. Rosegart opposed.

Trustee Louis Schimmel Jr. said 800 students would have no school to go to in a few years if a new junior high school was not built soon.

The school bond issue, defeated last March, will cost taxpayers about $1 million more now as construction and interest costs mount at $100,000 per month, according to Pagen.

When Kurzman learned the board was considering a delay in restoring full-day sessions, he withdrew his pledge to work for a millage increase.

A motion to ask for a stay and start appeal procedures were defeated, 4-3. Voting against it were Schimmel, Farnum, President Philip M. Hampton and Mrs. Peggy L. Wood.

Board officials said if they did restore full day classes, the district probably would run out of money about February and it would be difficult to borrow money because the board couldn't repay it.

If it ran out of money, it probably could get a loan from the state like Inkster did last year but if it doesn't balance the budget immediately the district could be consolidated with another, school officials warn.

Soviet Report Claims Talks Set With China

There was no official confirmation of the report, which spread through Western and neutral embassies.

The report said Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had persuaded Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in their brief talk at Peking Airport last week to send a delegation to this capital to discuss the border troubles which have caused at least five pitched battles in the past six months.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast tonight for the Southeast, Southwest and Northwest. Cooler temperatures are expected in the Great Lakes area and Northwest.

Senate Fate Uncertain

House Passes Electoral Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment calling for the direct, popular election of the president has been approved by the House in such an overwhelming fashion that even the measure's supporters are surprised—and pleased.

The size of yesterday'h vote — 339-70—raised backers' hopes that the proposal can win Senate approval, state ratification and become the 26th amendment to the Constitution.

* * *

However Senate prospects for the proposal are uncertain. There is strong opposition in the Judiciary Committee, where the question of electoral reform is now stalled.

The House vote disclosed solid bipartisan support for the proposal, which would scrap the system used to elect every President since George Washington.

Instead of voting for electors who then cast their ballots for the president, citizens would vote directly for their candidate.

And instead of counting up the electoral votes of the states to determine the president, the winner would be the candidate who got the most individual votes in a nationwide tally.

* * *

A candidate would have to get at least 40 per cent of the popular vote to win. If none did, there would be a runoff between the top two.

Opponents charged the 40 per cent provision could lead to a minority president, but Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., manager of the bill, countered by pointing out that 15 presidents have been elected with less than 50 per cent of the popular vote. That includes President Nixon, who got slightly more than 43 per cent.

A politically aware Oakland County Board of Supervisors may be inclined to settle for less than a fully developed jet-type airport in Orion Township.

* * *

Those were the indications yesterday as a motion to recommend a $250,000 Orion Airport budget appropriation squeaked by the county aviation and transportation committee on a 4-3 vote.

* * *

A previous motion to deny funds to carry out the airport's master plan, passed by a 6-1 vote, with chairman Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, in lone opposition. First-stage development of the master plan is estimated to cost more than $20 million.

The appropriation, as passed, has yet to gain approval of the county's finance committee and the full board of supervisors.

As provided in the motion by Mahlon Benson, R-Waterford Township, the recommended appropriation would provide for cost studies on paving the existing north-south sod runway, leveling and paving an east-west strip, and construction of T-hangars for rental to plane owners.

Voting with Benson were George Grba, D-Pontiac, who seconded the motion, Gabler and Frank Richardson, R-Waterford Township.

Opposition led by Niles Olson, D-Orion Township, chairman of the three-man airport board charged with administration of county airports, noted that the money, once in the budget, might be spent by the airport board in any way it saw fit. Voting with Olson against the measure were Philip Mastin, D-Hazel Park, and Dennis Aaron, D-Huntington Woods.

Olson's fellow members on the airport administrative board are Benson and Gabler.

Several representatives from Orion Township were present to plead that some action be taken by the county — either that plans for airport development be abandoned or that a definite indication be made that the county will proceed.

A land-use study of the area surrounding the airport, prepared by Vilican Leman Associates of Southfield now engaged in preparing a township master plan — was presented to the committee.

* * *

Other figures made available by Township Supervisor John Lessiter showed $5 million of recent development on area included within the master plan — land which the county would have to purchase.

A Lake Angelus homeowner, James H. Klipfel of 630 Lake Angelus Shores, vowed that some 200 business and community leaders of his area would fight development "in any way possible."

Viet Fighting Light; B52s Raid on Border

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command today reported only light scattered ground fighting in Vietnam, but American B52 bombers dropped 1,200 tons of bombs along the Cambodian border northeast of Saigon.

The new raids came on the heels of a report from U.S. officials in Washington that the Nixon administration is prepared to negotiate an end to the B52 raids in South Vietnam if the North Vietnamese and Vietcong de-escalate the war.

U.S. headquarters said eight waves of the big bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps in an area three by seven miles located 100 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Part of the target was within a mile of the border.

* * *

In the ground war, a Vietcong force upset a U. S. Marine ambush early today, then attacked the patrol after it retreated, killing two Marines and wounding 11. Headquarters said, "Enemy losses are unknown at this time."

The fight took place 26 miles south of Da Nang. As the Marines waited in hiding, the Vietcong shelled the patrol, indicating they knew where the Marines were.

The attack caused no casualties, but the Marines went scurrying back to their base. Half an hour later the Vietcong attacked them.

North Vietnamese troops attacked a night bivouac position of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division 58 miles northwest of Saigon, wounding eight Americans. The enemy soldiers were driven back by artillery and helicopter fire, but their losses were not known.

U.S. headquarters reported 31 enemy rocket and mortar attacks overnight in which eight Americans were wounded.

Dealers Suing Mobil Oil

DETROIT (UPI) — A $10-million damage suit has been filed by 14 Detroit area Mobil gas station managers against Mobil Oil Corp., charging the company with rigging wholesale prices of oil products.

* * *

Filing the suit yesterday on behalf of all Mobil dealers in the state, the managers charged Mobil has "intimidated various of the plaintiffs as well as other Mobil dealers with the threats to cancel their leases, arbitrary and capricious refusal to renew leases and by threatening to raise leases as they come up for renewal to an unconscionable percentage."

The suit was filed in Wayne County Circuit Court. The 14 managers said they were acting on behalf of "all members of the public who are affected by the illegal and discriminatory pricing policies" of Mobil.

Jesuit College Unit Has a Lay Majority

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — For the first time in its 100-year history, Jesuit-run Canisius College has laymen on its governing board, and they form a majority.

* * *

The Very Rev. James M. Demske, Canisius president, announced Thursday the seven lay appointments to the board of trustees. He said he and four other priests would remain on the body.

* * *

Father Demske said the rest of the 25-member board—10 more laymen and three Jesuits —would be appointed next month.

Residents in Independence Have Water, Can't Use It

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Residents living in the Woodhull Lake area of the township are suffering from acute frustration.

The water is there, but they cannot have it.

* * *

The approximate 30 property owners with dry wells are waiting for the Oakland County Health Department to complete tests on water that is being piped into the Pinedale, Clinton, Lakeview and Hillcrest Street district via temporary pipeline.

Initial samples taken from the new line have indicated that the water is not yet suitable for drinking. Further tests are to be taken today.

'OK UNLIKELY TILL MONDAY'

Township Clerk Howard Altman said he does not expect the Health Department to approve the water for public use until Monday morning.

"This is not to say that the water is contaminated. In the testing process, any contact the water has with sand or any of the equipment in the construction area can throw the testing off."

* * *

"Contrary to rumors we have not turned on the water and will not until we have complete approval from the County Health Department," Altman noted.

Altman also asserted that residents living in the adjacent Pelton Heights subdivision who have charged that their water supply is being strained are misinformed.

AUTHORIZED USE

The temporary line installation has been tapped off the Pelton Heights water system.

"Before we constructed the temporary line the State Health Department authorized using water from the Pelton Heights subdivision. There is enough water in that system to supply 100 additional homes.

* * *

"The residents have to realize they don't own that water system. They only pay for services from it and cannot control it. The township is the owner and controlling authority of the water system," Altman declared.

Construction crews have completed the laying of about one mile of pipeline. About 600 feet more is needed in order to service all homes without water in the district.

WATER FROM TANK

Residents have obtained water from a tank furnished by the County Department of Public Works since wells went dry nearly two weeks ago.

Altman said that the bill for the temporary line project, which he estimates will be in the $6,000 range, will be presented to the County DPW.

"The county has made arrangements to finance the Waterford Township water relief projects and there is no reason the county can't do the same for residents in Independence Township," Altman declared.

Heart Repair for Oakland Twp. Lad, 8

Boy Faces Rare Surgery

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Michael Hewitt's mother will not wake him up for school Monday. Instead a nurse will begin to prepare him for his second major heart operation.

MICHAEL

Mike Hewitt is 8 years old. His operation will be difficult. It's the first time such surgery has been performed at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. If it succeeds, Mike will be normal and will be able to run and play like other children.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hewitt, 1435 Gunn, was born with four major heart defects. He's been in and out of hospitals since he was 14 months old.

* * *

His first operation was corrective to reroute the oxygen through his heart, which has a hole in it.

Six years ago, doctors didn't know how long the surgery would keep Mike alive. They knew it was possible for Mike's condition to reverse itself at any time.

DOING IT OVER

Monday the doctors hope to perform the first surgery over again and to correct all the other defects.

It's possible now because last spring Dr. Eduardo Arciniegas came to Ford Hospital. He's the only surgeon at Ford capable of performing the operation. Ford is now the fifth hospital in the country equipped to handle such a case.

* * *

Mike will live with a heart pump throughout the entire operation. His small body's vital signs will be checked and rechecked while doctor's delicately piece together a heart that should function as any 8-year-old's does.

* * *

NOT ALL CAN HELP

Mrs. Hewitt has asked neighbors to help give blood, if they can. As usual some are willing, but many are reluctant or, because of illness, find they cannot give blood.

Though Mike understands a little of the operation, he's thinking of what he'll be able to do after he comes home from the hospital.

* * *

"Mike's just thrilled with the idea of being normal and being able to run with the other children," said Mrs. Hewitt. "He already has plans to go horseback riding as soon as he comes home."

* * *

A few months ago Mike's father bought him a minibike to ride around the house and visit the neighborhood children.

* * *

Before, if Mike had to walk over to their houses he'd have to lie on the grass a while and build up his strength to walk back home. With the minibike, he scoots over to his friends easily and has even worn a path by riding around and around the house for hours on end.

SOMETHING TO PULL FOR

His mother said the minibike also gives Mike something "to pull for" during and after the operation.

* * *

Mrs. Hewitt said Mike's personality has undergone a change because he spends so much time in the hospital. "He worries a lot and cries and sometimes is irritable," she said. "I think it's because he's tired and wonders if he'll be put back in school."

* * *

Mike's in the third grade at North Hill Elementary School, Rochester. Even though he's been in the hospital "at least four months each year," he's managed to keep up with his classmates. But this year looks difficult.

* * *

Mike will need two weeks to recover in the hospital and at least two weeks at home if the operation is successful. A tutor will come to the house for the last two weeks.

* * *

Mrs. Hewitt said Mike loves to get cards. There's a bulletin board in the children's wing at Henry Ford Hospital. "Mike feels just wonderful when there's a card with his name on the board," she said.

Officers Elected by Avon's School for Leader Dogs

AVON TOWNSHIP — Basil M. Briggs of 900 Broodwood, Birmingham, was elected president of Leader Dogs for the Blind recently at the school's annual board meeting.

* * *

Briggs, an attorney with Evans, Boyer, Luptak and Briggs of Birmingham, replaces Carlton M. Higbie of the Higbie Manufacturing Co., Rochester. Higbie will remain an active trustee of the organization, a United Fund Agency.

* * *

Other recently elected officers include Harold L. Pocklington, vice president; Martin S. Hayden, secretary; and William S. Hickey, treasurer.

Leader Dogs for the Blind, 1039 S. Rochester, graduated 172 leader dogs during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969.

* * *

Future plans call for additional kennel space due to an increasing demand for leader dogs. German shepherds, Labrador and golden retrievers and malamutes, 1 to 2 years of age are accepted for training if they qualify in a carefully conducted screening test.

Politics or Fear of Nude Movies?

Plan for 3rd Theater Snagged

By NED ADAMSON

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is either caught up in a little political pressure or is afraid America's great nudity drive might invade Birmingham.

A Detroit investor, Stewart Gorlick, who wants to establish a small theater here, which he insists will not show "nude specials" such as "I Am Curious (Yellow)," believes the problem is politics.

The difficulty stems from Gorlick's attempt to remodel a vacant auto-dealer showroom into what he calls a "small, intimate cinema operation that would present selected films in good taste and nonobjectionable to Birmingham residents."

The city fathers reportedly have told Gorlick they have delayed action on his request in order to learn more about the intended filmfare and appointments of the theater.

News Analysis

The city has had a moritorium on issuance of building permits because of revamping of the ordinances concerning height of buildings in and near the community's central business district.

* * *

Gorlick maintained at a recent commission meeting that his proposed alterations would not increase the height of the existing structure.

* * *

"Our plans for the building are in complete conformance with the present commerical zoning. I am sure that the only reason the commission has held up action on the building permit is because of pressure from owners of the two existing theaters in Birmingham," Gorlick declared.

"It is obvious that owners of the other two theaters are putting pressure on the commission to keep us from putting in another theater," he said.

DOWN THE STREET

The other two theaters in the city, owned by United Theatres Inc. of Detroit, a division of ABC-Paramount, are just down the street from Gorlick's proposed new cinema.

* * *

Gorlick said his proposed theater would be similar to the Studio chain operation in metropolitan Detroit which specializes in foreign and American think-type films.

* * *

"A theater of this type is needed in Birmingham and would prove to be very beneficial to the community," Gorlick said.

Birmingham's two exisiting threaters specialize in general-interest family fare.

Sen. Huber Faces Democratic Club Members

Conservative Confronts Liberals in Troy

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

TROY — Robert J. Huber, the noted conservative, and some 25 members of the Troy Democratic Club, notably liberal, last night staged an approach-avoidance confrontation of ideology.

Huber — the fire-eating conservative who represents the 18th District in the Michigan Senate (Royal Oak north to Rochester, Bloomfield Township east to Clawson) — proved disappointing to some, but always genial.

Lightly taunted by his political foes, Sen. Huber generally gingerly avoided answers to direct questions.

News Analysis

Probably the only positive declaration made by the senator was: "Roger Craig (D-Dearborn, an outspoken liberal) and I are the only two men in the Senate who stand for definite ideologies.

FISCAL REFORM

"I'm not like a former governor who campaigned on the 'fiscal reform' theme. What does 'fiscal reform' mean anyway? To the senior citizens on fixed incomes, it is designed to mean 'I'll get some tax relief.' To the giant corporation, it means 'I'll get a fair shake,' " Huber said.

"The term 'fiscal reform' is designed to mean so many things to so many people that it has become meaningless. I'm a guy — and so is Roger (Craig) — who puts his ideas straight on the table. Everyone knows the rules of the game when I campaign," Huber said.

Huber, the owner of six industrial plants in six states and a six-year mayor of his home city of Troy, recently bolted the Senate GOP caucus.

"I walked out of that Republican caucus because it no longer reflected the will of the majority," Huber explained.

"I'm not the only one who quits caucuses," Huber said. "A full year before I quit, Sen. Basil Brown (D-Highland Park, a black liberal) dropped out of his Democratic caucus. He hasn't gone back and neither will I.

"I suggested to Basil that we form the Afro-American Bund caucus," Huber said.

The most important principal of politics he believes, is the concept that power is held by the electorate.

"That's what I believe in above all else," he expounded, "power to the people."

PANTHER SLOGAN

An audience member noted that "power to the people" was not only a "Huberism," but was also the slogan of the revolutionary Black Panther party.

"Do I look like a Black Panther?" Huber exploded, refusing to answer the accompanying question: "Do you agree then, with the philosophy of the Black Panthers?"

* * *

Huber chopped away at his familiar targets: Oakland University Chancellor Durward Varner for his alleged allowing of "immoral" activities on the OU campus,, "the protest bit," and sex education in public schools.

"I do not believe that just because you have Van Cliburn on the one hand, you can burn the flag on the other," Huber said, referring to militant campus demonstrations.

'JUST CAN'T ACCEPT'

"I simply cannot accept the philosophy of a university chancellor (Varner) who says he will 'tolerate anything on campus until someone complains,' " Huber declared.

Huber claimed that students in the OU fine arts department were in the habit of creating plaster-of-paris male sex organs and that this was part of the "age of permissiveness" tolerated by Chancellor Varner.

* * *

Prompted to explain an apparent contradiction — his "power to the people" philosophy and his objection to Varner's "toleration of anything until someone complains" tenet — Huber said:

"I think we can change things by our greatest power — the vote. We don't have to protest in the streets or destroy property to change philosophies."

'I Never Agreed With The Korean War And I Don't Agree With The Vietnam War. No One Voted Whether We Should Send Our Boys Off To War, And I Think That Vote Should Be Held Nationally'

—State Sen. Robert J. Huber.

'LET PEOPLE DECIDE'

Huber suggested that the people decide what heretofore the politicians decided for them, in keeping with his "power to the people" theme:

"We should vote by referendum on all matters of policy — the state income tax, the open-housing question and property taxes," Hubert declared.

* * *

Asked if morality could be decided by referendum, Huber said, "Yes. There would probably be one question per year — and I'm sure the majority would vote it down.

"I never agreed with the Korean war and I don't agree with the Vietnam war. No one voted whether we should send our boys off to war, and I think that vote should be held nationally," Huber said.

NON VOTERS HIT

"Anyone who sits home and doesn't vote, who doesn't become politically active, can't be an intelligent citizen," he said.

Huber said that majority agreement was the road to change.

* * *

"Sen. Huber, would you abide by a majority referendum decision that you be executed?," asked a long-haired audience member.

"Ask me something sensible!" Huber snapped.

'DOES IT TRANSCEND?'

"Then you do agree that sometimes a minority right or morality transcends majority rule?," the questioner persisted.

On his activity in the Special Senate Committee to Investigate Campus Disorder, Huber said:

"I never wanted the committee assignment. It just came to me. It's very difficult — especially as a conservative — to run a committee like that. You get the McCarthy-hearings stuff thrown at you right away."

Huber said he had assembled "the best brains in Michigan" on the committee, which will soon make recommendations on legislation — or no legislation — to respond to campus disorders.

"One thing we do know," Huber commented, "is that we cannot allow violent, revolutionary-minded groups to take over our campuses."

ON SEX EDUCATION

On the sex education attack, Huber pointed out:

"In California — which is not exactly a neanderthal community — they have banned SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States, which some have labeled a Communist front group).

"I fail to see why we need a totally integrated sex education program in grades kindergarten through 12. The sex education bill — which I voted for — was designed to cooperate with parental will.

"The parent was supposed to be able to pull his child from the sex education class if he wished. How does a parent pull his child from a totally integrated sex education program without completely removing him from school?" Huber asked.

Huber declared that he would not accept Republican nominations for either the Michigan gubernatorial race or the upcoming U.S. Senate contest.

A Look at TV

Networks Starting to Overfeed Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Network television now is overfeeding its viewers as extravagantly as it starved him during the summer famine.

With ABC and NBC presenting on Thursday night the season premieres of some of their most popular programs—"That Girl," "Bewitched," "Daniel Boone" and "Ironside" — CBS busily loaded in a special to conflict with them. It was called "The Time of Man" and was based, up to a point, on some unusual film and commentary obtained through the American Museum of Natural History.

* * *

The point of the program was that man is in danger of bringing about his own extinction by his intemperence—hardly a novel TV theme.

The program began by explaining the chemistry of the world's creation and moved, step by step, through the age of dinosaurs. The program was most interesting when it lingered on sequences showing the tribal characteristics of some primitive African tribes.

CHILDEN TURNED OUT

Some film showed one tribe in which each man and woman takes care of his own needs without any feeling toward his fellow man and where children are turned out to fend for themselves at the age of 3. Another tribe was shown in an ages-old ritual of warfare and reprisal, so old that it has lost its meaning.

The program made its point about the futility of war. But then it moved on to a portion that seemed to belong to some other program. This was a montage of old and recent film clips that in a few minutes ran through history from the time film was invented until the astronauts stepped onto the moon.

* * *

Its sudden change of style and message suggested there was just not enough museum film to fill the hour.

The show had its premiere Tuesday night. Miss Reynolds quit the next day, citing the cigarette ad.

"I was especially concerned because of the number of children viewing early time-slot programs," she said.

Her contract calls for 24 shows, of which 10 have been taped.

She Gets Custody, Alimony—No Divorce

The daughter of former Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez has been granted custody of her two children, alimony and child support—but no divorce from her husband.

Margott Brook, 23, was granted custody of Margo Alejandra, 5, and Lee Marcos, 2, plus $75 a week in payments by her husband, onetime Miami Beach carhop Lee Brook, 26.

The unusual "alimony without divorce" arrangement was ordered by Miami Circuit Court Judge George E. Schulz because the couple did not meet Florida's six-month residency requirement. They have been married since July 24, 1963.

Art Buy Takes Imagination

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 200 art patrons and celebrities are being offered the chance to buy an object d'art which they will never see, which will never be described to them and whose creator will never be identified to them.

"We want the owner to be free to imagine what the object is," explains Tom Parrish, 27, spokesman for a group of young artists who thought up the scheme.

* * *

The group mailed out letters Monday soliciting bids on the never-to-be-seen-by-the-buyer art from a variety of persons including Beatle John Lennon, his wife Yoko Ono, actor Richard Burton and financier Howard Hughes.

There actually will be an object and it will be placed somewhere, aPrrish hastened to assure an interviewer. A signed certificate from a lawyer attesting to this will be placed in a bank and the buyer will get a bill of sale.

* * *

Then it is up to the owner. "It is going to create for the owner a new sort of identity with every object," said Parrish. "It's possible for him to think every object is his at one time."

BOAT OR BUOY? — This round sailboat that can navigate itself for a year without being touched by man is being developed by RCA for oceanographic and other missions. The unmanned craft, which looks more like a buoy than a sailboat, has rigid plastic foam-filled sails and is capable of remaining at one point at sea for up to a year with a mooring. It is called a SKAMP — Station Keeping and Mobile Platform.

Municipal Bonds Slump

The realm of finance is subject to many and diverse pressures a barometer of which is to be found in the ebb and flow of the bond market.

Currently municipal bonds, which governmental units rely on to fund capital improvements, seem to be going begging. A local offering of $9 million to build a new jail, and two others in nearby communities totaling $1.430 million found no bidders. Wayne County has been unable to sell $69 million in bonds for airport improvements. The rate of interest on the unsubscribed securities was a tax-free 6 per cent—the maximum permitted by State law.

★ ★ ★

Investor indifference to what would ordinarily be considered excellent investment opportunities is attributable to the scarcity of money, the higher interest rates paid on industrial bonds (even though they are taxable) and the 9-10 per cent interest financial institutions—the principal bidders on State and municipal bonds—now charge on commercial loans.

Another factor, probably the most significant, is the uncertainty concerning final action the Congress will take respecting the elimination of tax exemption for municipal bonds, one of the provisions of the House-passed tax-reform bill now before the Senate.

Should the upper house go along on this point, state and local governments would have to raise the interest ceiling on their bond offerings to keep competitive for investment capital. Until final version of the tax-reform bill clarifies the tax status of such securities, capital funds for public projects are likely to be hard to find.

★ ★ ★

It is a reasonable assumption, however, that before the bill becomes law, the Senate will have rejected House action on the controversial exemption issue, thereby restoring public acceptance of State and municipal securities and making available the dollars continually needed by divisions of government.

Maps Chart Landscape Shift

Next to the daily newspaper and the telephone book, the publication most used and most often taken for granted as a source of instant information is probably the lowly road map.

The above profundity is inspired by one of those usually useless press releases with which the incoming mail is always stuffed and finds its way to newspaper editorial desks.

Somewhere on every road map is a town or place that doesn't exist. The imaginary name is put in to foil copyright infringements, according to travel authority LESTER B. DILL.

★ ★ ★

All right, let's consider the lowly road map and how it has grown.

★ ★ ★ ★

Maps have come a long way since oil companies began handing them out in 1918, and an even longer way since primitive motoring guides carried such instructions as: "Turn left at blacksmith shop and proceed two miles to crossroad at white fence near old sycamore tree . . ."

Today, more than 300 million maps are printed and distributed free at gas stations every year, and the average modern map contains 20 categories of supplemental information besides the necessary colored lines, route numbers and place names.

Another profound thought occurs: A collection of all the maps published in the past half-century would constitute an unusual and graphic record of how the national landscape has been transformed by the automobile.

Some people save old license plates. Surely someone must have a chronological set of road maps for his home state.

★ ★ ★

Now, if only they'll come up with a self-folding map—THAT will be worth an editorial.

Miniskirt Seen as Driving Aid

The miniskirt, while it may fall short in some respects, has won the praise of an insurance company as a safe-driving costume.

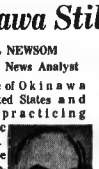
The miniskirt gives a woman greater leg freedom for easier braking and acceleration, says Aetna Insurance and Casualty.

The actuaries now join millions of male pedestrians who have long been giving nods of approval to miniskirted motorists—usually when viewed from a high curb as they stop for a light or round a corner.

Okinawa Still Thorny for U.S., Japan

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On the issue of Okinawa both the United States and Japan are practicing diplomatic brinkmanship.



NEWSOM

Prior to the arrival of Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi for his Washington meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers it had been hoped that conditions for the return of Okinawa to Japan could be settled between the two, needing only the formality of approval by President Nixon and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato in November.

★ ★ ★

Instead, nothing has been settled and Aichi has predicted frankly that final terms probably will not be settled until the last day of the Nixon-Sato meeting scheduled in Washington for Nov. 19-21.

The difficulty is that, while agreeing Okinawa must be returned to Japanese sovereignty, the two approached the problem from different angles.

DEPENDENT ON RETURN

The Sato government has staked its life on the return of Okinawa in 1972 and approaches it as a political problem.

Okinawa is the United States' most strategic base in the Pacific and the United States therefore approaches it as a military problem.

★ ★ ★

Japan agrees that the United States may keep its bases on Okinawa but demands that they be governed by the same rules as are American bases in Japan.

These rules would require that the United States consult with Japan prior to the dispatch of U.S. forces from Okinawa on an offensive mission and the removal of nuclear weapons from the bases.

FREE USE

The United States says it must have "free" use of the bases if it is to carry out its obligations to defend Japan and the rest of Asia.

Reportedly, it would be willing to remove its nuclear weapons in peace time but demands the right to return them in the event of a threat to Formosa, the Philippines or South Korea.

★ ★ ★

The Japanese hold there is no possibility of an outside threat to the Philippines and they fear the effect of their relations with Red China if they agree to the inclusion of Formosa in the nuclear defense perimeter. They would permit it in the case of South Korea.

Becoming inextricably bound up also in the U.S.-Japan negotiations over Okinawa is the equally thorny problem of economic relations between the two.

★ ★ ★

For the return of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands captured in World War II, the United States wants other than purely military concessions. For instance, it wants Japan to impose self-restrictions on sale of textiles, electronic items and steel. It also wants Japan to lift its own restrictions on U.S. investments in Japan.

Both sides know that eventually a compromise must be reached. But neither so far has budged from its tough stance.

Like Charity, It Should Begin At Home!

David Lawrence Says:

Nixon Puts Challenge to U.N.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon in his speech yesterday laid before the United Nations a challenge to live up to the purposes of its charter and find a way to end the war in Vietnam.

LAWRENCE

Nixon emphasized that it is the right of the people of every country "to determine their own destiny without outside interference" and that "as long as we live with the threat of aggression, we need physical restraints to contain it."

★ ★ ★

Yet the United Nations is doing nothing in that direction. Even the exercise of diplomatic influence is at a standstill as most of the countries of the world have adopted an attitude of aloofness. They mistakenly believe their own safety lies in such a course.

Nixon pointed out that, while the United States at the end of World War II "assumed the major responsibility for world peace" because it had sufficient strength, the time has come for peoples everywhere to realize that one nation cannot do it all.

REMINDED U. N.

Nixon reminded the general assembly that the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam nearly a year ago and that troop withdrawals on a large scale have been started.

The lack of response from Hanoi, he argued, "makes it urgent that the U. N. members — those in this room — who have long taken an active interest in peace in Vietnam now take an active hand in achieving it."

★ ★ ★

So Nixon is fully justified in calling for active participation by the United Nations. He did not specify any military moves or offer any proposal for collective action. While the United States has a few allies in Vietnam, the President made a broad appeal to the U.N. for its cooperation.

Without the help of the rest of the world in Vietnam, the United States can hardly hope to withdraw virtually all of its forces within two or three years.

COLLECTIVE EFFORT

Will the other countries join in a collective effort to bring peace? Will the United Nations take over the main responsibility through the supervision of elections and the maintenance of a peace-keeping force?

The occupation of Eastern Europe by the Russians is a tragic example of the futility of the U. N. and the failure of the free nations to unite in preserving territorial integrity and political independence.

★ ★ ★

Will the U. N. now do something to unite the world on this issue? President Nixon has posed the question at an opportune time.

Bob Considine Asks:

Will Survivors of Viet Share Fate of Old Vets?

NEW YORK — There were pieces in the papers the other day about the 71st reunion of the veterans of the Spanish-American War. The drowsy rally took place in San Diego and 83 survivors showed up. Some wore their old uniforms and spoke of Teddy. They meant Roosevelt, not Kennedy.

CONSIDINE

The gaffers, all in their 80s and 90s, sounded off in a clear cackle.

★ ★ ★

"Adventure," one old guy answered to a reporter's question of why he had volunteered. "It didn't have a damn thing to do with patriotism. It was the excitement and the adventure."

Another veteran was miffed because he had stopped a group of high school students and asked them what they had studied about his war, which in effect made America an international power, and none of them had ever heard of it. The U.S. suffered 385 battle deaths during the four-month span of the conflict.

★ ★ ★

The veterans had two things in common: their yellowed newspaper clippings and their strong disapproval of today's anti-Vietnam youths. "What's wrong with them," one said, "is that they're afraid to face the bullet."

★ ★ ★

Will the veterans of Vietnam ever get that old? Will they ever sit around in, on or off their rockers, trying to get the young people of the year 2046 to hold still long enough to tell 'em what it was really like around Da Nang and in the Mekong?

Hard to believe . . . just as it was hard to believe that the brave lads who came home proudly from the two big World Wars and the one in Korea could ever get old and, in some cases, tiresome.

Nguyen Cao Ky (with the consent of his boss, President Thieu) must have gotten a kick out of upsetting the carefully laid plans of President Nixon and the U.S. brass in South Vietnam, on the matter of the new troop withdrawal plans.

Ky scooped Washington and Gen. Abrams by about 24 hours. Nixon was described as being almost as indignant as LBJ used to get when there was a "leak" in a story which he was looking forward to releasing with a flare of bugles and the ringing of church bells.

★ ★ ★

Ky (and to a perhaps lesser degree) Thieu just doesn't like the way we're running this war. He thinks that if we insist on fighting a limited war we should have stayed home and let the South Vietnamese try to win it. He has the odd notion (best expressed by Alexander, Hannibal, Napoleon, MacArthur, etc.) that the best way to get out of a bloody war is to win it.

Waterford School Heads Have Support of Reader

I cast a vote of approval for the Waterford school board, and particularly to the administrative leaders. I have a child on half-day sessions and certainly would like him on full days; however, I blame the antimillage voters and not the above mentioned groups for Waterford's present dilemma. Let's help our school system by intelligent criticism and not inane stone throwing.

Voices Objection to Human Relations Meet

I express objection to the so-called human relations meetings and feel that the public and decent teachers are due an apology. Those who found fault with parts of the program were branded "Birchers." Those who objected to the vulgar language were told to get out if they didn't like it, while others who disagreed were labled white racist. The sensitivity type of program and the high pressure coercion are a part of the procedure used by the Communists to break down morals.

★ ★ ★

Teaching and working with Pontiac schools and their employes, I find it a fine educational system. I doubt the 9% per cent agreement figure quoted so often about those who favored what went on in the meetings. The students and parents for the most part did not represent the students and parents I have taught and worked with, black or white.

There are things in our society which are not right. The problem is still sin and the only cure is a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

'Parents Should Stop Bickering on Schools'

Are parents concerned about their children's education and ability to get along with others? For the most part, the answer is an emphatic no. Parents are concerned only with their own greedy desires and personal prestige. We should be ashamed. We bicker when our children are unable to attend a new school or aren't bussed to school, while others are. Most alarming is the attitude of parents when their children are to attend school with those of a different color. It is time parents learn and pass on to their children the talent of being tolerant of others. Until this is accomplished, this bickering will never diminish.

'Will Urge Support for Judge Haynsworth'

I am a member of the UAW and have said nothing about the nomination of Judge Haynsworth of the U.S. Supreme Court. Therefore, the people who released that news should speak for themselves or check with all of the UAW members first. If the UAW and the NAACP are against Judge Haynsworth, he must be a good man, so I am writing the two senators of Michigan asking them to vote in favor of him. I hope a lot of other people will do the same. How many UAW members had a voice in the $500,000 that Walter Reuther gave to Marshall Tito?

Question and Answer

In a previous answer you stated that legally a divorce cannot be canceled over the telephone, but had to be done in writing. If a divorce suit was stopped over the phone after papers were served, can it be reinstated to action without paying an additional fee to the lawyer?

B. LEE

REPLY

We don't remember making any such statement about canceling divorce actions. Furthermore, fees charged by attorneys would vary from case to case, and we cannot advise you on legal matters such as this.

Question and Answer

I've paid for a correspondence course through Modern Upholstery Institute, P.O. Box 809, Orange, Calif. I enrolled in June 1964, but through circumstances beyond my control I didn't finish the course. It's been a long time, but I'd still like to finish. Would this be possible without paying for it a second time?

MRS. N. A. 1719

REPLY

The school director regrets there is a time limit of three years, and says several letters were sent to you asking you about completing the course. However, he still has your file, and said he would examine it to see if some payment arrangement might be made so you can complete the course more easily. You can expect a letter from him.

Old Chutes

Philadelphia Inquirer

Considering the vast amount of effort that has gone into aircraft research and development in recent years it is somewhat ironic that crewmen of military aircraft must still depend on the same basic style of parachutes that were available from the earliest day of aviation.

The Navy is to be congratulated, it seems to us, in being the first to make a vigorous attempt to find something better.

Its award of a $100,000 contract for development of an airplane ejection seat that can fly itself for 50 miles after separation from its aircraft may well be a landmark in aviation science.

The specific aim of the device the Navy has in mind is to enable a pilot whose plane is seriously damaged in a combat area to reach some specific point where rescue is feasible rather than being forced to land wherever the winds may carry him.

The Naval Air Development Center at Johnsonville, Pa., says that it took the combat experience in Vietnam to demonstrate "the need to provide flying crews with the means to remove themselves from the vicinity of the downed aircraft." Perhaps so, but the need was observed in both World War II and Korea, and nothing as important as this was ever done about it.

Possibly the developer will not be able to come through on schedule with a practical device. If so; we hope the project will not be abandoned prematurely. In an age of huge aircraft something more than parachutes is needed.

Logical Steps

Ludington News

The U.S. industrial-military alliance has made the United States the best armed country in the world. This of course has been accomplished at the taxpayer's expense.

In the past, Congress has given the military carte blanche for its expenditures. Fear of Russia and the need to oppose communism prompted Congress to go along with the military.

The policy of fighting a defensive war in Vietnam, that seemed designed to placate the enemy instead of forcing him to surrender, has disgusted the American people. They rightly believe that it is futile to waste lives and treasure on a war that cannot be won, because of the policy of our State and Executive Departments.

Reducing appropriations for military equipment is a logical next step. There is no doubt that from five to ten billion dollars can be cut from the fat of our defense budget. Congress should insist on such a cut and should also look with a jaundiced eye on any proposals for interplanetary space exploration.

There are too many domestic problems that need financial aid not to effect such economies.

His Name Is Zwach; He's Always at Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a name like Zwach, a man's got to have a sense of humor. And when he's a congressman, like Rep. John M. Zwach, he also needs infinite patience.

The Hon. John Zwach of Minnesota is the last man on the congressional roll call, benind the Hons. Clement J. Zablocki of Wisconsin and Roger H. Zion of Indiana.

Sometimes by the time the clerk gets around to calling Republican Zwach, such fortunates as Watkins Abbit of Virginia—the No. 1 man—and Thomas Abernethy of Mississippi, have voted and gone to lunch.

There are a few things the House of Representatives loves more than roll calls as seniority—but not many.

TIME CONSUMER

No device is used more frequently, although not always for counting votes. It's a handy time-consumer, vote-staller and mind-changer. It's a fine irritant to members who approve or disapprove certain legislation but who'd rather not be put on record.

* * *

Its as handy as a pocketknife in a Boy Scout's palm to members who are deft in its uses—and most are. They've been 154 already this year:

Mr. Cabell . . . Mr. Caffery . . . Mr. Cahill . . .

Congressman Zwach, pronounced Swack, has to endure the calling of 434 names before it's his turn. If everybody is there at roll-call time—a rarity like the whooping crane—Zwach's moment might come as quickly as 20 minutes after the start.

* * *

But when the leaders of the House decide to give missing members time to get to the floor from their offices or wherever, the reading clerks use their most mellifluous voices and slowly roll out the names, savoring every syllable, pausing majestically at every opportunity.

DRAGGING IT OUT

Mr. Gallifianakis . . . Mr. Gallagher . . . Mr. Garmatz . . . Mr Gaydos . . . Mr. Gettys . . . Mr Giaimo . . . The clerks repeat "aye." And drag out the nooooo.

Being the last man out gives 434 members a chance to get to Zwach on a close vote. Is there more pressure, arm twisting?

"It could," said Zwach in an interview, "but almost always I vote on the first round. So I'm not among those who might get some pressure."

The roll is called twice. Those who missed both calls stand in the well of the House and signal to be recognized to vote:

Mr. Mikva . . . Mr. Miller of Ohio . . . Mr. Miller of California . . . Mr. Mills.

AN ADVANTAGE

Is there an advantage, from a political standpoint, to knowing which way a vote is going?

"Ostensibly, yes. But seldom for me," said Zwach. 9 of 100 roll calls, I already know how I'm going to vot.e"

'IN 99'

The Minnesotan has little hope of ever moving up from the bottom rung. In the previous 90 congresses—and in the Continental Congress, for that matter, there were no House members whose place would be below Zwach.

"I'd just as soon have a reverse alphabetical roll call," he said. "I wouldn't object to it—to voting first." He adds: "I doubt if it's ever done."

POFF, POLLICK

Mr. Poff . . . Mr. Pollock . . . Mr. Powell . . . Mr. Preyer . . . Mr. Price of Illinois . . . Mr. Price of Texas.

Has his vote ever broken a tie?

"Not in Congress," said Zwach. "But it did at least once in both the House and Senate in Minnesota." Zwach had to endure being last serving 23 years in those bodies.

For more than 30 years there have been Z-men in Congress. Zioncheck in 1933-1936; Zimmerman, 1937-1948; Zablocki, low from 1949 through 1954; Zelenko, 1955-1962; Zablocki again.

Yates . . . Yatron . . . Young . . . Zablocl . . . Zion.

And then comes Zwach.

U.S. Space Goal? A Matter of Debate

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — When President John F. Kennedy set the United States on course to the moon in 1961, Congress accepted this space goal without debate.

Now the goal has been achieved and this nation has reached an important decision point on where space-faring Americans should go in the future. President Nixon soon will make his choice, but this time it will be debated—in Congress and across the land.

News Analysis

A national debate already is under way on proposed goals, especially on whether U.S. astronauts should aim for Mars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration welcomes the discussions. Administrator Thomas O. Paine says: "The question of the immediate future of the space program now lies before us. In my view it is a question of pace. The directions are clear. NASA will move ahead on several fronts in a balanced program, including science, applications, exploration and new technology.

PROPER DEBATE

"But how vigorously we want to pursue the space program is the question that is now the subject, very properly, of national debate."

Paine was a member of a task force which on Monday submitted to Nixon possible directions for the U.S. space program.

The group gave the President three possible alternatives, with the main differences being the timing for a manned Mars mission.

The first option calls for a manned Mars landing in 1982, the second in 1986 and the third sometime after 1990.

COSTLY OPTIONS

Under the first and most expensive option, the annual NASA budget would climb steadily from the current $3.7 billion a year to about $8 billion for each fiscal year from 1970 through 1980 for a total of $78.2 billion by 1982.

The second and third alternatives would keep the annual cost at the present level for the next two fiscal years, rising to $5.7 billion in 1976. The second alternative would increase the budget to a peak of about $8 billion in 1980, with an 11-year total of $57.5 billion. Option three would cost $54.1 billion in the same period.

* * *

Whether Nixon includes a Mars mission in his master plan will depend on the outcome of public debate. But most observers believe he will approve other major task force recommendations. These are to develop a huge multipurpose space station in the mid-1970s and to build a reusable airplanelike shuttle vehicle to service the station.

The initial station would house six to 12 men, would increase to 50 men and women by 1980 and to 100 a few years later.

NUCLEAR ROCKET

Nixon also is expected to back continued development of the Nerva nuclear rocket, which could be operational in the late 1970s.

The President may hold off a decision on whether to propose a base on the moon or a moon-orbiting space station until after the United States has conducted additional moon landings in the Apollo program. Nine more landings of two-men teams have been funded for the next three years, with each visiting a different area of the moon.

* * *

The United States spent a total of $21.1 billion on operations leading up to the Apollo 11 moon landing in July. That price tag included all flights in the Mercury and Gemini programs, the unmanned moon explorers like the Surveyors and lunar orbiters and construction of launch facilities.

It also included most of the hardware for the follow-on Apollo flights. Thus, the total cost of nine additional Apollo man-on-the-moon landings will be $3.9 billion—or about $433 million each.

WANTS RETURNS

But it is the $21-billion figure that bothers the taxpayer. And he would like to start receiving something for his space dollar.

NASA sees the earth-orbiting space station as offering the best hope for economic return. It could serve as an observation platform for weathermen, astronomers or geologists searching for earth's hidden riches. Scientists cite the attractions to medical men, biologists and engineers to conduct experiments in a true vacuum and in weightlessness.

The station also could serve as an orbiting platform for military missions. Astronauts could conduct daily reconnaissance over every part of the globe, spotting missile bases, aircraft, submarines and troop movements.

The station would have commercial applications. Insurance companies which pay storm damages might support improved weather forecasting. Oil companies might finance exploration by trained geologists aboard the platform. Owners of timber might pay for forest fire observation. Farm organizations might support surveillance of crop disease, weather forecasts and a search for arable land.

Even with this outside monetary help, NASA estimates that with present space vehicles, the one-year cost of operating a 50-to-100-man space station would be well over $1 billion.

It is here that the United States confronts the most serious obstacle now limiting space exploration—the high cost of getting into orbit and the difficulty of retrieving things sent up.

That is why the task force has recommended development of the shuttle to service space stations orbiting both earth and moon. They would ferry crewmen, scientists and supplies and would return to earth with experiments, photographs, military information and possibly specialized items manufactured in the vacuum of space.

The development of the space station and the shuttle would be applicable to a manned Mars mission. Thus, Nixon could wait several years before making a decision on Mars.

If the go-ahead is given for an expedition to the Red Planet, the spaceship would be delivered in sections by shuttle to the space station where it would be assembled and launched by reusable nuclear rockets. A 12-man crew is being considered for such a flight, with half of them to land on Mars while the others orbit above.

Is anyone willing to take a chance?

Dear Reverend, Father or Rabbi:

We understand why you love to raffle off Cadillacs, T-Birds and Continentals.

They draw the crowds.

But consider the poor soul who wins. He has to pay about $1000 in income tax. At least $425 a year for gas. And who knows how much for oil and antifreeze.

Now think how charitable it would be to raffle off a Volkswagen Fastback Sedan.

It needs only about $420 for income tax. About $150 a year for gas.

No antifreeze. And, it takes pints of oil, not the usual quarts.

Now you may ask, what makes this Volkswagen fancy enough to raffle off?

Well, it comes with wall-to-wall carpeting. Front seats that adjust to 49 positions. Fold-down arm rests in the rear. An electric clock. And, as options: a three speed fully automatic transmission and air conditioning.

So, if you're thinking of raffling off a fancy car, lift up your eyes.

And behold.

The Volkswagen Fastback Sedan.

2 Green Berets Will Testify Against Other 6

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — Two of the eight Green Beret men charged with murdering a Vietnamese agent are not being brought to trial because the Army is arranging for them to testify against the other six Special Forces men, military sources said today.

The sources said the two men, Chief Warrant Officer Edward M. Boyle of New York City and Sgt. 1.C. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla., will be given immunity from U.S. prosecution, and the Army now is talking with the Saigon government to arrange for immunity at that end.

* * *

The Army announced Thursday that Col. Robert B. Rheault, 43, of Vineyard Haven, Mass., commander of the Special Forces in Vietnam when the agent disappeared, and five of his staff officers would stand trial before an Army court on charges of murder and conspiracy.

An Army spokesman also announced that charges against Boyle and Smith were being held in abeyance pending trial of the other cases. No explanation was given.

Boyle had been living in the same barracks at Long Binh with Rheault and the five other officers under guard, but he was moved out shortly before the others were notified at 9 p.m. Thursday that they would be tried. This morning a military policeman went to the building and collected a duffle bag and uniform belonging to Boyle.

A U.S. Army spokesman said Boyle and Smith "are no longer under confinement but are in a parole status." However, he said the two men must remain on the Long Binh base 15 miles north of Saigon "so that they will be readily available."

* * *

He said Boyle has been assigned to other officer's quarters, while Smith is in a non-commissioned officers' barracks.

Rheault and the other five officers "felt deserted and betrayed" when they were told they would be tried, one military defense counsel, Capt. John S. Berry, said.

'ALL OUT RUNNING'

He added that Rheault "has assumed leadership and is determined not to let their morale sink. This morning he had them all out running."

Several of the military defense attorneys accused Army judge advocate's office of lack of cooperation.

* * *

They said they had asked that the men be permitted to telephone their families when they were informed of the charges in July, but were told the families could read about it in the newspapers.

Berry said an officer from the judge advocate's office told him: "What ever you can arrange is all right, but not at government expense." Berry added that the only telephone in the building where the prisoners are held is "Class C," a line over which the defendants can't even contact their attorneys at another military exchange.

The Army still refuses to make any details of the case public. But other sources have reported that the man killed was a Vietnamese working for the Special Forces in Cambodia who was discovered to be working for North Vietnam. The body reportedly was dumped in the South China Sea and has not been found.

Corporate Approach Doomed?

Nixon Postal Plan Near Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's postal corporation plan is scheduled to get its first—and possibly last—congressional test next week and even the proposal's backers hold little hope for its approval.

* * *

"The postal unions haven't agreed to it and it's unlikely that anybody will try to run roughshod over them," said Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the plan's principal House sponsor.

* * *

"If the unions really go to work and put all their muscle into it, we won't get very far."

Eight postal unions saying they represent more than 700,000 of the nation's 750,000 postal employes urged the 26 members of the House Post Office Committee by telegram Thursday to vote against the corporation concept. The committee is slated to vote Tuesday.

RIGHT TO STRIKE

The unions say they would not accept the plan without the right to strike—a condition they know neither Congress nor the administration will agree to.

The unions contend the self-supporting, government-owned postal corporation would try to break even partly through keeping wages low. And, they say, without the right to strike employes would be at management's mercy.

* * *

They favor a plan by Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., that would give the Post Office more businesslike control over its operations but keep wage-setting and labor problems in the hands of Congress.

* * *

If the corporation plan loses as expected in committee there is still a chance, particularly if the unions and administration reached some compromise, for it to win in the end.

ONE COMPROMISE

The best prospect for such a compromise appears to be some provision for automatic compulsory arbitration on wages and benefits in lieu of the right to strike.

But no such compromise is reported in sight after weeks of negotiation between Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount and union representatives.

Londonderry Catholics to Demolish Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Roman Catholics of Londonderry, the town where the Catholic-Protestant war erupted last month, agreed today to demolish their barricades Monday.

They will be replaced by thin white painted lines to keep the feuding Protestants and Catholics apart.

* * *

Sean Keenan, chairman of the Derry Citizens' Defense Association in the Catholic Bogside district, told newsmen after 24 hours of talks with the British Army that:

- The Northern Ireland government's largely Protestant police force will stay out of Bogside.
- Military police will not try to arrest anyone in Bogside for anything done before the barricades come down.
- Military police will be allowed to enter the area in answer to emergency calls, but other troops will stay out.
- The Bogsiders' vigilante police force will continue to operate in the district.

Keenan said the barriers would not be removed until Monday because the Rev. Ian Paisley, the Protestant militant, is scheduled to hold a meeting in Londonderry Sunday, "and perhaps a few of his followers might try to make their way into the Bogside."

"I would advise them against this," he added.

* * *

British Defense Minister Denis Healey on Thursday began a tour of the British army units keeping peace in Northern Ireland. As he was leaving a Catholic section of Belfast, a scuffle broke out between 200 shouting people and the rear men in Healey's armed army escort. No injuries were reported, but one soldier was pushed against a Jeep and another's steel helmet was knocked off.

The army said 39 barriers had been taken down in the past two days in Belfast.

Gaming Losses Hit Record in Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Patrons at Nevada's gambling casinos lost a record $457 million during the 1969 fiscal year, the state says.

The Nevada Gaming Commission reported Thursday the gross from casino play, primarily in Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe, was $69 million more than the last fiscal year.

The state's share was $33.3 million, derived from taxes and license fees.

Climbers Plan to Scale Yosemite Height Despite Injury

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Two of America's leading rock climbers plan a third assault on one of the nation's toughest unscaled granite walls — even though one now is laid up with a broken leg.

Warren Harding and Galen Rowell had planned to tackle the 2,200-foot south face of Half Dome next week. It's the famed granite hulk here that looks as if part has been chopped off with a meat cleaver.

But Harding, 45, of West Sacramento, Calif.—who in a decade of rock climbing has never been hurt seriously—is in a Sacramento hospital. His left leg was broken in two places when he was struck by a car while working on a construction project.

It happened Wednesday 20 minutes before quitting time, after which he and Rowell, 29, of Albany, Calif., were to begin assembling equipment for the climb.

'WOULD HAVE MADE IT'

"I think very definitely we would have made it," Harding said. "We'll probably go next spring, depending on how the leg is.

Said Rowell: "I'm not going on that climb without him."

* * *

They were to be joined on the approximately 10-day climb by Joe Faint of San Francisco.

Before the accident, Harding talked about the plans in an interview.

TRAPPED BY BLIZZARD

Harding and Rowell passed the halfway mark on the smooth rock face of Half Dome on attempts in 1966 and 1968. During the 1968 climb, in November, a blizzard trapped them high on the rock wall after six days of climbing. Fellow Yosemite climbers and National Park Service officials rescued them with the aid of a helicopter.

The vertical north face of Half Dome, at the head of Yosemite Valley, is familiar to tourists and has been climbed by several routes. But visitors rarely see the south face on the "back" of Half Dome.

* * *

"It's always been one of the big, unsolved problems of The Valley" said Harding.

To climbers around the world, "The Valley" means Yosemite.

The upper 1,000 feet are virtually devoid of the crack systems that enable climbers to scale seemingly impossible rock walls.

Harding, Rowell and Faint will have to "engineer" their way up this area, averaging an angle of 75 degrees, by using the most advanced techniques of rock climbing.

* * *

In the past, much of the climbing was done by the laborious process of drilling holes in the rock, then standing in nylon slings attached to expansion bolts.

* * *

Harding has developed a speedier process. He drills a shallow hole and places a "cliffhanger" in it. This is a 3½-inch long piece of metal with a curved point on one end and an eye in the other.

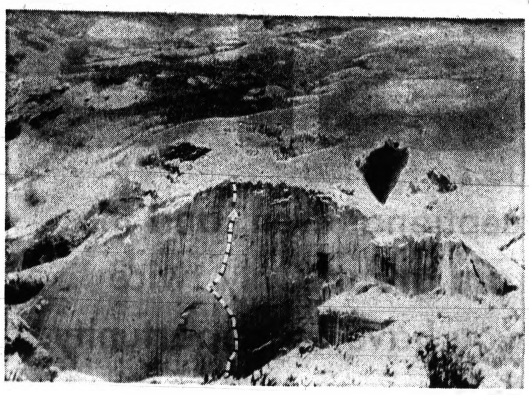
Harding jams the sharpened point of the hook into the rock, the eye end hanging down. Through the eyes goes a carabine—an oval aluminum snaplink. Through the carabiner goes the inch-wide nylon slings in which he stands, and the climbing rope that would hold him in case of a fall.

WHY THE CLIMB?

Some mountaineers scoff at such "rock engineering," but Harding said, "If it's something I want to climb by bolting all the way, I damn well will. It's all a matter of what you want to do."

What he wants to do is climb Half Dome's south face. Why?

"I was fascinated by the face," says the wiry 5-foot-6, 140-pounder who was on the team that made the first ascent of Yosemite's El Capitan in 1958, the first of the so-called "big wall" climbs in The Valley.



AP Wirephoto

WILL IT BE CONQUERED?—This is the south face of Half Dome in Yosemite National Park, one of the major unscaled granite walls in the nation, which three American rock climbers had hoped to conquer next week. The dotted line indicates the route which Warren Harding, Galen Rowell and Joe Faint planned to take up the 2,200-foot wall. The attempt will have to be delayed since Harding was struck by a car this week.

Looking Ahead to Retirement?

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Retirement is a time for travel, sports and hobbies, and many Americans are seeking this easy life at earlier ages, according to a University of Michigan study.

Financial factors, primarily expected retirement income, are of major importance in the retirement decision, the sutdy says.

* * *

Health, on-the-job satisfactions, ability to enjoy leisure activities, and social attitudes toward retirement also are significantly related to retirement planning.

Based on interviews with older automobile workers and a representative sample of the population as a whole, the study was published recently by the U-M Institute for Social Research and supported in part by a grant from the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare.

MORE COMMON

"During the last five or six years, there has been some tendency for early retirement planning to become more common," wrote Richard E. Barfield and James N. Morgan of the Survey Research Center.

"It is likely that more and more early retirees will be people who planned for early retirement and are financially prepared for it.

* * *

"The result is likely to be an increasing discrepancy between those who retired as they had planned to and those who retired unexpectedly, often without planning and in most cases with inadequate retirement incomes."

Barfield and Morgan pointed to the early retirement package negotiated by the United Auto Workers union in 1964.

'VIGOROUS RESPONSE'

"The vigorous response of auto workers to the improved early retirement package would seem to imply that an increase in pension benefits will lead to a significant increase in early retirees," they commented.

* * *

For both national and auto workers samples, there was found a "threshold" level of retirement income which most people seem to consider necessary to insure a reasonably adequate postretirement living standard. Currently this level is about $4,000 a year.

Here, much to the discomfort of smaller cars. '70 Nova.

Nova has smaller cars squirming principally because it doesn't make you squirm.

The not-too-small Nova Coupe seats five adults.

Sedan, six.

And you get windows instead of portholes. A bona fide trunk. And a wide-stance ride on a 111" wheelbase.

Further, you have a happy choice of six engines and five transmissions (including low-cost, no clutch Torque-Drive).

And Nova is anything but dowdy. See above.

Certainly, little cars have to be more than a little uneasy about Nova's easy price.

It simply doesn't cost that much more to own that much more car.

It's a Whole New World for William Bradley Hampton

SHIRLEY GRAY

State Rep. and Mrs. William P. Hampton of Bloomfield Hills welcomed their first son and second child, Sept. 10. His name is William Bradley.

Mrs. Hampton, the former Betsy Bradley of Pontiac, arrived home from William Beaumont Hospital this week just in time to bake a cake in celebration of little Mary Elizabeth's first birthday Wednesday.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bradley of Spokane Drive, and the Verne C. Hamptons of Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

It's old home week for Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Nolte Jr., whose most recent address was London, England, where Henry toiled for Ford Motor Company for two years.

★ ★ ★

The Noltes are back to stay, looking at houses in the Birmingham area.

In the interim, they'll be honored guests at a small dinner party this evening at the home of William and Kitty Davenport in Bloomfield Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Goode are waving goodbye to the house on Lone Pine Road, opting instead for carefree apartment life. The new address is Kingsridge Apartments.

HUNTERS BACK

Two area big-game hunters are back in town after forays out West. Maynard Andreae alternated trout fishing with vocalizing with his barbershop singing group, the Buckaroosters, somewhere in the wilds of Montana.

Are Your Kisses Sick, Sick, Sick?

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Experiments in kissing are planned at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

It's all in the interest of science, of course.

Dr. Elliot Dick, associate professor of preventive medicine, and Dr. Donn J. D'Alessio, an assistant professor, want to determine the role of kissing in the spreading of common cold viruses.

★ ★ ★

The plan is to ask for volunteers who will be given the virus. Then the participants — blindfolded — will kiss for one to two minute periods.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, anonymity is important because our objective is to see if direct contact with someone spreads cold viruses," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The blindfolds will prevent later contact among participants. We will even lead the subjects down the elevator blindfolded to further ensure no one meets each other."

★ ★ ★

Dick was asked why the kissing will be limited to two minutes.

★ ★ ★

"The whole thing could be shot if we didn't," he said. "It could go on all night."

Governor Accepts Post

Gov. William G. Milliken is honorary chairman of the 50th anniversary sponsors' committee for the United States League of Women Voters.

★ ★ ★

The anniversary fund-raising drive has a goal of $11,000,000 of which $5,000,000 will be contributed by League members.

Woman Makes Changes in White House Decor

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — "Always remember to pay just as much attention to an order for a slipcover as to an order to do a whole house. You never know where it will lead."

The words were those of a rug salesman to Sarah Jackson Doyle when she first started a decorating career. She heeded and eventually the advice led her to the White House.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Doyle for the past several months has been commuting between her New York office and Washington where she helped Mrs. Richard M. Nixon decorate the family rooms of the Executive Mansion. And while the first family was in San Clemente, she redid the President's Oval Office in the White House. Just what new decor awaited Mr. Nixon when he returned hasn't been announced. Mrs. Doyle leaves such matters to presidential press secretaries.

But what she did for the family quarters is known—such as a red, white and blue scheme for President Nixon's bedroom.

ACCIDENTAL

It was just accidental that the scheme was so patriotic in feeling. Mrs. Doyle said the President likes blues, so she put in a cornflower blue carpet, the bedspread has a white background with red and blue figures, the walls are white, a red rep wing chair sits in front of the fireplace.

Mrs. Nixon made very little change in the color scheme, mostly yellow, that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had used in her bedroom. She did bring along from the Fifth Avenue apartment in New York some small French chairs and personal mementoes—"she leans to things French, to clear colors and pastels," Mrs. Doyle said.

★ ★ ★

As for Tricia's bedroom, it's in her favorite pinks and white.

One of the items added of which Mrs. Doyle is most proud is the new gold synthetic carpeting, 340 yards of it covering the rooms on the second floor, and another 200 square yards in deep red plush for the "red carpet treatment" in the grand hall and on the grand staircase. All were the gift of Eastman Chemical Products.

Loaned to the family rooms are several pictures from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a piano from Steinway.

PEOPLE'S 'HOUSE'

"Mrs. Johnson went off beautifying America," said Mrs. Doyle in an interview. "I think Mrs. Nixon will continue to beautify the White House. It belongs to the people. It ought to have as many treasures as Buckingham Palace . . . the greatest of American furniture."

Through the years, Mrs. Doyle has done the homes of many of the prominent, although she doesn't like to name-drop, and done entire offices for many big companies. She was the first woman ever asked to do the Plaza Hotel ballroom.

That Kind of Ultimatum Shows His True Motives

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you for some practical words of advice to pass on to my 16-year-old daughter. She is a fine, pretty, intelligent girl with high ideals. Popular, too, and respected by her classmates.

I have instilled the "old fashioned" virtues in her and we have had some frank discussions about sex. She's always believed that it paid off to be "nice," and went with one of the most popular boys in high school. They enjoyed a decent, fun relationship and considered themselves "in love" as most kids do. She wore his "friendship" ring and he wore hers.

★ ★ ★

She told me that lately he was trying to get her to go a little bit further than she wanted to go, but she managed to keep him in line.

Last week he gave her an ultimatum, and when she refused to cross the limit line, he dropped her and went back to his old girl. (He had told my daughter that he'd been intimate with that girl, and I have reason to believe he had. I am not knocking her, but she has had no supervision, having lived with a divorced mother who has a poor reputation and is never home herself.)

Now my daughter feels that being "good" did not pay off. In her disappointment and jealousy and through her 16-year-old eyes she's played life's game honorably and lost, while the other girl did all the "wrong" things and won. What can I say to her?

HER MOM

DEAR MOM: You can tell her that "life's game" is hardly over at age 16, and a boy who would give her such an ultimatum is no bargain. Tell her, too, that before the game is over, she'll realize that though she may have lost one boy friend, she won much more.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Some very good friends of ours have a son who has gone the hippie route. When we inquire about their "children," (they have others who are married and one is in the service) should we inquire about their hippie son? Or should we just not mention him, like he is "dead?" We know that they are pretty sick about the life he leads.

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: Knowing that your friends would be hurt or embarrassed by the mention of their hippie son, don't mention him.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I was crazy about this man who was wonderful company and a great guy. The only thing wrong with him was that sometimes he drank too much. Then he got quarrelsome and moody. He wanted to marry me, but I was afraid of his drinking and kept putting him off. He got tired of my stalling and married somebody else.

★ ★ ★

I hear his wife sold him on A.A. and he hasn't had a drink in a year. I can't get this guy off my mind and now I'm eating my heart out. Can you help me?

LONELY IN A CROWD

★ ★ ★

DEAR LONELY: Quit eating your heart out with thoughts of what might have been. The one who got away always looks best. And should you ever meet another "wonderful guy" whose only weakness is joy juice, try to sell him on A.A. and if you succeed, then marry him.

Lunch Rewards Busy Secretary in Consulate

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband took some business correspondence to the German Consulate in our city for translation. A secretary there was assigned to help him and did all the necessary typing. The Consulate refused payment, so my husband asked the secretary out to lunch as a way of thanking her.

Was it necessary for my husband to personally thank the secretary? If so, how? I doubt the propriety of the lunch. — Mrs. S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S: Yes, your husband owed the girl a "thanks." An invitation to lunch is an accepted way of saying "Thank you" in the business world. Unless your husband saw the secretary socially more than on this one occasion, there was no impropriety. He could equally well have sent her an impersonal gift, but many men have difficulty in finding the right thing and the luncheon was a simpler solution.

MATRON OF HONOR

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently read in a marriage notice in our newspaper that the bride chose her mother as matron of honor. Is this considered etiquette? — Rosemary.

★ ★ ★

Dear Rosemary: The bride's mother's place in the wedding is that of hostess and mother — not as "best friend". Maids or matrons of honor should be contemporaries of the bride. By having her mother as her attendant, the bride deprives her of the dignity and honor of a mother's more mature position.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. Please tell me how long I have to exercise in order to get results in improved figure. I read somewhere that one should do exercises for an hour a day in order to see any difference.

A. If you thought that you probably turned into an earnest clock watcher. No! An hour is not necessary. In fact, women have had nice results even when coming to my classes several times a week for a 35-minute exercise period. However, your results will be much better if you exercise every day.

A half hour, counting short rest periods, is sufficient if you do the best exercises correctly. So, do not give up or be dismayed, but do them EVERY day.

* * *

Q. I am only 21 years old and have a couple of definite lines on my forehead. Is there anything which would help me lose them?

A. Since you are so young it is apparent that facial expressions and mannerisms have caused these. You evidently lift your eyebrows when you talk. First, you must overcome this habit or all of the corrective measures will be of little avail. Remember to keep your eyebrows in place. Then apply cream each night.

Massage ALONG the lines, using your third finger in a rotary motion. After massaging for a while remove cream and place cutouts over the lines; after smoothing them out. Leave these on all night.

* * *

Q. My eyelashes are insignificantly light brown. The space between my eye and brow is fat. When I wear mascara, it comes off on my lid and looks as though I have had a punch in both eyes. What can I do?

A. Why not use one of the waterproof mascaras? I think you would find that this stays on the lashes.

* * *

Q. Is there any way to overcome one-sideness? One hip is more prominent than the other, probably from carrying books.

* * *

A. This may very well come from carrying books. Young people shou'd remember this and carry books first on one side and then on the other, or even better, hold the back erect and hold the books in front of you. When one hip is higher than the other, it is usually due to a spinal curvature. You should see a well-trained person and take corrective exercises while you are still young enough to improve the situation.

* * *

Q. Is it proper for a girl who wears rim glasses to wear earrings?

A. The girl who wears glasses should be careful about wearing earrings. The whole combination is apt to look "fussy." Anyway do not wear elaborate ones. The button type is best.

* * *

Q. Do you think it's really wise to add a great deal of hair all at once? Wouldn't it cause embarrassment with one's friends and family?

A. That is up to you to decide. If you think you would like to do it gradually until you and your friends and family get used to it, we are happy to give you your weave in stages.

Knits Are Versatile Fall Fabric

Are you a busy home sew-er who wants attractive clothes that are both easy to make and easy to care for? Then, knit fabrics are ideal for you. Supple, versatile and resilient, fall and winter, single and double knits come in a variety of weights and textures.

Meg Carter, sewing expert for The McCall Pattern Company, says, "By using the correct sewing techniques, you will find that knits adapt to most pattern designs."

To begin with, the lengthwise rib of a knit is the straight of grain. Therefore, avoid purchasing knits with a rib severely twisted out of line. In a crosswise print, the design should be at right angles to the lengthwise ribs of the fabric, not the fold.

* * *

Many double knits do not need an underlining. You should, however, underline lightweight jerseys with a soft silk-like fabric to prevent them from sagging with general wear. It is also necessary to line slim skirts to keep them from losing their shape.

Certain areas of your knit garment will need to be stabilized to prevent stretching. On the shoulder seams, pin preshrunk seam tape along the seam line before stitching, then include it in the steam. Reinforce button holes and faced edges with interfacing.

* * *

To maintain the crispness of the hem in an A-line or slim skirt, interface the hem allowance with bias strips.

THREAD

When stitching a knit fabric, use a cotton covered polyester thread. The cotton covering makes the thread sew and look like cotton thread, but the polyester core provides strength and elasticity necessary for knit fabrics.

* * *

Stitch with a fine machine needle, a loose tension and 12-15 stitches per inch. A very small zig-zag stitch also provides a certain amount of stretch to the seam that will prevent the threads from breaking when the garment is worn.

* * *

Before you construct the garment, experiment with various stitch lengths and tensions to find the best one for your fabric.

Everything's coming up skinny for the sew generation. Skinny fit. Skinny styling, skinny fabrics. Pictured are skinny dresses that are more than dresses when worn over matching pants. A total look just right when made in your favorite knit fabric. Left: McCall's Pattern No. 2010. Right: A polo shirt silhouette to be worn over pants as shown but just as great with a skirt or as street length as a one-piece dress. McCall's Pattern No. 2093.

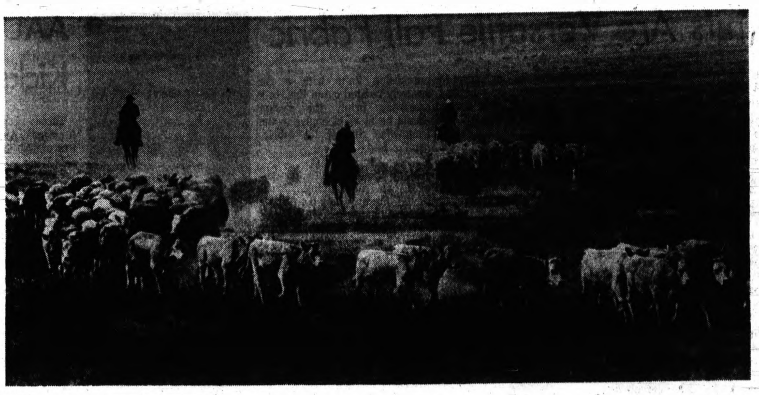
Old West Lives on Modern-Day Cattle Drive



AP Photos

A Scene From The Past Is Re-Created As Cattle Are Driven To Summer Pasture In Colorado

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Old West is gone, but the cowboy is still out there. The cattle business has moved somewhat into the Jet Age—or at least the age of the highway and railroad — but, it seems on a cattle drive there's no substitute for a man on a horse.)

By JOHN T. Wheeler
AP Newsfeatures Writer

ALONG THE CONTINENTAL DIVIDE, N.M. — The rustlers mostly are gone now, and the Indians drive dusty pickup trucks. Instead of facing almost certain lynch law justice, a modern horse thief owes society no more than the man who steals a portable television set.

Old-timers talk wistfully of the Old West as a living thing strangled by millions of miles of barbed wire, an invention they equate with the use of heroin.

* * *

Where once huge cattle drives slowly wound their way to America's dinner plates over the Chisholm and other fabled trails, cattle now move by rail and superhighways when they travel any great distance.

Well, not all the time.

MODERN DRIVE

In one of the largest cattle drives of modern times, cowboys—and executives—of the Great Western Land and Cattle Co. drove some 600 head of Charolais yearlings out of New Mexico's flatlands, along America's spine on the Continental Divide and into summer pasture in southern Colorado. The 192-mile trip took 14 days.

The comparative frills for the drive brought leg-slapping guffaws from those whose days aboard horses reached back to near the turn of the century.

* * *

"My gawd," said one sexagenarian, "You don't mean they're even taking an electric deep freeze for the chuck wagon. And tents. And one of those radio telephones in an air-conditioned station wagon! And pillows! Now, don't that beat all?"

"It's a good thing most of the old-timers are gone," said another old-timer. "Because if they could have seen this they just naturally would have died anyway."

QUITE A SIGHT

When the drive pushed off, one cowboy said, "I guess we do make quite a sight, what with all these dudes along."

The "dudes" mostly were stockholders or friends. Some knew nothing of ranching or the cattle business except what they saw on annual financial reports from Great Western.

* * *

Most of the dudes didn't stay for the first full day. By the end of the second, the herd was under the control of hard-core cow-punchers and horse wranglers.

Even what old-timers considered frills did little to ease the life of the modern cowhand.

UP AT 4:30 A.M.

The workday was about the same as a century ago. Up at 4:30 a.m., a quick, heavy breakfast and then into the saddle by 6.

The average day meant about 12 hours in the saddle and a boredom only occasionally relieved by trouble with the herd, including in this case one ministampede set off by an Indian boy's barking dog.

* * *

Diamond Smith and his chuck wagon with deep freeze probably were the most welcome frills to the drive. Diamond is a professional outdoor chef who boasts he once cooked a ceremonial dinner of six whole buffalo for 1,500 Southern Ute Indians. The traditional fare for drovers-beans, sourdough bread and beef, beef, beef—was replaced by a menu of Mexican food, ham sandwiches, fruit pies, beans and beef, beef, beef.

The first days of the drive were rough even for the most seasoned cowboys. Many were used to working three or four hours a day on horseback. But for days, their leg muscles were knotted just as tight and their knees were just as concentrated a collection of shooting pains as the novices reported.

SOCIAL CENTER

Diamond Smith's cook fire was the natural social center of each night's camp. There were no songs except for the mostly sad country-western tunes that blared from the cook's transistor radio.

Until muscles regained their tone several days out, each morning was a special agony of straightening limbs and starting them functioning again by walking stiff-legged to the campfire for a breakfast of eggs, bacon, pancakes and scalding coffee. This would have to last the seven hours until the inevitable sandwich and fruit lunch was brought along the trail.

* * *

At the steel corral each day, a tired voice would call out, "Okay, turn 'em loose," and with a few shouts and waved arms from the cowboys, the herd would slowly begin to snake out. One rider took the lead as a cowboy Pied Piper and the other hands wordlessly took positions along the flanks of the herd that sometimes stretched out more than a mile, sometimes bunched up in less than the length of two football fields.

There were only two tasks for the next to 12 to 14 hours: Keep the herd together; keep it moving.

WELL-COINED

The expression "herd instinct" was well-coined. If the outriders permitted, one or two yearlings would turn aside or stop to graze, and soon hundreds behind them would be doing the same. An orderly line of cattle pointed north to Colorado one minute could become a mass of confusion that could take half an hour to sort the next.

So small a thing as one of the lead heifers turning around at one point doubled the entire herd back on itself. The Indian boy's barking dog sent the cattle into a ministampede with about 50 head, representing $15,000, plunging toward the edge of a cliff. One cowboy who helped turn back the racing cattle said if they were sufficiently "spooked" the cattle would have followed one another off the cliff to their deaths if they had not been caught in time.

* * *

Today's ranch hand earns from $200 to $400 a month and found—food and a bunk. The work is among the worst in terms of pay, hardship, hours and needed stamina. Half-hearted attempts at unionizing the highly individualistic cowhands never left the ground.

Cowboys have a hard time explaining what it is that draws them to the range. A common answer—especially to outsiders—is, "This is all I know." But in less guarded moments, some talk lyrically, if laconically, of the beauty of the desert flowering in the spring. Or of the massive red sandstone mesas. Or of being "on top of the world" on the Continental Divide where rainstorms are cleaved to feed rivers running either east or west.

FEELING OF PRIDE

One of the things that holds men to ranch life is a feeling of pride that they have met and matched repeatedly a rugged test of manhood.

This in turn seems to leave their egos at rest. Early in the drive, the cowhands rode horses that hadn't known the pressures of man, saddle and bridle for many months, leaving them half-wild. So many men were bucked off that one noted wryly the second night, "It sure as hell is raining cowboys around here."

* * *

If any of those bucked off was embarrassed or sensitive about the fact, it didn't show. This applied to vice presidents and the toughest horsemen.

Many words were spoken about the various mounts men drew from day to day during the drive. Few were complimentary, and none reflected that love the fictional cowboy is supposed to feel for his mount.

TEENS ALONG

"Even the jackass has more sense than a horse," said one wrangler. Another to a man bucked off a horse with a bad reputation: "Why don't you just buy that thing, and then you at least could have the pleasure of shooting it."

Three teen-age girls and one boy accompanied the drive. Each was an expert horseman and each enjoyed adult status around the campfire.

* * *

"Generation gap?" one cowboy father said in answer to a question. "Well, sure, I guess we have some trouble with our kids. But nothing like you read about in the papers or see on television. Hell, a boy don't have to prove himself a man by going up against his father out here. He can prove himself in the saddle."

Don Wilder, 35, left a job with the California Auto Club in Los Angels to return to the life of a cowhand. The former school teacher gave his children as one reason.

BETTER LIFE

"I want my kids to grow up in this environment. It makes for a much better family life; like we're all closer together. The kids have chores to do now. In that Los Angeles apartment my boy's only job was to make his bed."

The cowgirls, who lived in a pickup truck camper with indoor plumbing, were a bit hard to wake up in the morning, but rode just as hard, ate as much dust and could rattle off as many blue oaths at erring cows and horses as the male cowhands. But at the same time they could be demure and even shy around men. A feisty blonde who uttered a comparatively mild curse at a heifer clamped her hand over her mouth when she realized a male outsider was within earshot. She said softly, "Oh, I beg your pardon."

* * *

Although the Indians now reserve their war paint for the tourists, relations between ranchers and Navahos in this area were not the smoothest. Despite having a legal right of way over various Navaho ranches, the drive repeatedly paid tribute to Indians who invariably approached them. "We don't want trouble," one executive said.

When the drive reached and began crossing the Navaho Jicarilla Reservation, the Indians gave a lunch in honor of the drive. They had settled on a $50-a-day charge for letting the herd cross their land, after first agreeing to $30 and then boosting their demand to $120.

Indian troubles clearly are low-keyed compared to the past when raiding parties repeatedly attacked trail herds to drive off cattle for Indian stew pots.

Rustlers are fewer, but mechanized. Because of strict brand laws, it is virtually impossible to move cattle by truck for any distance without a state, county or local check. Each head of cattle sold also requires inspection, said Ron Wilder, executive vice president of Great Western. The modern rustler, therefore, drives onto a remote section of a ranch, catches, kills and dresses out several head and then hangs them in a deep-freeze truck which normally can go about its business on the highways unhindered.

* * *

Wilder is typical of the new breed of cattle baron. The former Texan spent his youth around ranch animals but went to school at UCLA and later sold insurance and securities. He is part of a management team that includes Kenneth Eubanks, former dean at a university and now company president, and Bill Hollis, vice president for finance and former assistant university dean.

* * *

Great Western in fact is a land and cattle company which owns no ranchland and would prefer to own only a small percentage of the cattle in its care. The company leases land from ranchers and pays them to care for cattle purchased mainly by the well-to-do.

LITTLE CHANGE SEEN

But if the Old West is gone and the cattle business now is moving into the field of modern finance and corporate structure, everyone agrees that as long as there are ranches, the life of the cowboy will be pretty much the same hard task.

* * *

Even as he ridiculed today's cattle drive, one of the old-timers commanded one of the dudes going along: "You pay good attention out there, son. This will be one of the last big drives. In a few years this will all be over and done. And I hope I don't see the time. But don't pay too much attention to all the talk about helicopters and airplanes and the like. There never will be a substitute for a man on a horse out here."

Judge Eases Restrictions After Newsmen Arrested

CHICAGO (AP) — The chief judge of U.S. District Court in Chicago has modified his restrictions on news coverage in and around the Federal Building. The action came after 10 newsmen were arrested for defying the limitations.

Judge William J. Campbell agreed to ease the restrictions somewhat Thursday night after meeting informally with Don H. Reuben, representing the four major daily newspapers in Chicago. The Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association had asked for the modification.

* * *

The restrictions were imposed Wednesday by Judge Campbell. Under his directive, cameras and tape recorders were banned inside the building, on an adjoining plaza and on sidewalks around the downtown building on three sides.

The modification will allow one room of the building to be used for news conferences and permit cameras and tape recorders to be operated in any nonjudicial office.

ORDER BEFORE TRIAL

Campbell issued the order a week before the scheduled trial of eight persons charged with violating a federal antiriot law in connection with police-protester clashes during the Democratic National Convention in August 1968.

* * *

The arrests Thursday followed an attempt by Sherman Skolnick, a self-taught legal researcher, to hold a news conference in the building to announce he had filed a suit challenging the judge's order on grounds it was unconstitutional.

* * *

Soon afterwards, Skolnick also was arrested when he allegedly took a photograph of a U.S. marshal on a sidewalk near the building.

The 10 newsmen arrested were Michael Rollins, a WCFL radio station reporter; Charles Doehrer, a Resistance Press photographer; Arvid Carlson, a WGN-TV cameraman; Leonard Walters, a WBBM radio reporter; Walden Wright, a WFLD television cameraman; and Stanhope Gould, John Lawrence, Tom Cosgrove, Charles Quinlan and Del Hall, a CBS television crew.

Rollins was released on a $250 signature bond by U.S. Commissioner James T. Balog, who continued his case to Sept. 25. Eight of the others were freed also, either because they took no photos or made no broadcast footage, or because they were outside the area of the ban.

Doehrer and Skolnick were released on recognizance bonds after a preliminary hearing be-

Yellow Jacket Nest Removed ---Painfully

BLYTHE, Ga. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Padgett finally got rid of a huge nest of yellow jackets in their attic, but it was a painful victory.

* * *

Half a dozen members of this rural community's volunteer fire department were badly stung when they climbed into the attic to hose down the yellow jackets' five-pound nest with carbon dioxide fire-freezing gas.

* * *

That only stunned the insects. They struck back as one fireman carrying part of the nest out of the house in a plastic bag inadvertently released them. He tossed the bundle into a cotton field and fled down the road.

* * *

L. W. Sanders, an employe of the local veterans hospital, finally dislodged the rest of the nest with insect spray.

* * *

Padget, 60, who has been blind for 17 years, said the yellow jackets had been flying into the bedroom at night and stinging him and his wife while they slept.

Doctors' Insurance Going Up 110 Pct.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An insurance broker says the premium that southern California doctors pay for malpractice coverage will go up an average of 110 per cent on Oct. 1.

* * *

John Allen, president of Nettleship Co., which handles nearly all malpractice insurance in southern California, said Thursday the increase is because claims per doctor have doubled since 1958 and the cost per claim has gone up sixfold.

* * *

Allen said the lowest premium for doctors in the highest rate scale—orthopedic surgeons, neurosurgeans, plastic surgeons and anesthesiologists—will jump from $1,591 to $3,452 for coverage of $100,000 per claim up to three claims a year. He said most physicians carry coverage up to $1 million.

Rep. Broomfield Praises Nixon's Speech at U.N.

Congressman William S. Broomfield of Royal Oak, a former delegate to the United Nations, praised President Nixon's speech before the U.N. yesterday as "one of the finest" ever delivered to the world body by "a chief of state and especially an American president."

"For the first time, America has put the issue of Vietnam squarely before the 126 member nations of the U.N. General Assembly," said Broomfield, a delegate to the U.N. in 1967 under the Johnson administration.

* * *

Broomfield, a Republican, said if the U.N. is ever to fulfill its purpose as the world's peacemaker, the "superpowers will have to allow it the authority to deal with the major areas of crisis."

"The President placed Vietnam at the doorstep of Hanoi. Let the critics of the war now turn to North Vietnam for a response," continued Broomfield.

"I have been urging such a step since I served as a principal delegate to the United Nations.

"At that time, despite my urgings, the Johnson Administration refused to allow the issue of Vietnam to come before the world body," the congressman said.

"They were afraid its members would condemn the U.S. for the bombing of North Vietnam."

* * *

"The president's speech yesterday clearly demonstrated that the U.S. has no such fears now. It is sincere in its determination to find an honorable solution to the war."

Grandson Means Vote for Legislator

LANSING (AP) — Rep. William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, says he probably won't run for the Legislature in 1990—but if he does, he'll be counting on one additional vote.

Fitzgerald says that vote would come from Timothy Patrick Fitzgerald, his first grandchild, "without question, the greatest grandchild ever born." The baby was born recently to Fitzgerald's son Timothy and daughter-in-law Karen.

Chief of Staff at PGH to Stay Through '70

Dr. Rockwood W. Bullard Jr. of 6745 Parke Lake, Clarkston, will remain as chief of staff for another year at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Bullard's term was increased from one to two years as the hospital's board of directors adopted new rules and bylaws last night. Bullard will serve until Dec. 31, 1970.

* * *

The new regulations also carry an impeachment clause allowing removal of a hospital officer on a two-thirds vote of the board and permitting the board's executive committee to name a successor. No such rule existed previously.

The board confirmed Dr. Shelby Baylis' appointment as a part-time chief of surgery. He will be paid $10,000 a year for his administrative duties in connection with the department.

NURSING DIRECTOR

Dr. Roger Nelson, newly appointed administrator of the hospital, reported the search for a director of nursing continues.

Reorganization of the emergency room as a clinical department in the hospital, giving it the same status as other departments, was okayed by the board.

* * *

The restructuring, allowing other department chiefs a say in the administration of the department, will permit the acceptance of emergency room specialists, according to Dr. Robert L. Tupper, director of medical education.

Polls Show Many W. Germans Undecided as Election Nears

BONN, Germany (AP) — With West Germany's general election nine days away, opinion polls say a large percentage of the voters are undecided and either major party has a chance to come in ahead.

One poll indicates 16 per cent of the 38 million voters haven't made up their minds.

* * *

The two parties, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, are partners in the present government. But they are going into the election Sept. 28 as rivals.

Each would like to win the largest number of the 496 voting seats in the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, and thus make its leader West Germany's next chancellor.

MUST SEEK PARTNER

None of the pollsters gives the major parties a chace to win a majority in the Bundestag, meaning that the party winning the most seats must seek a partner to govern.

The leading party could seek a partnership with the Free Democrats, now in opposition with 49 Bundestag seats, or the two major parties could continue the present "grand coalition."

* * *

The Social Democrats want to form a government with the Free Democrats. The Christian Democrats want to prevent this and are for continuing the present coalition until the next election, in 1973.

Two other parties are in the race nationally—the ultraright-ist National Democratic party and the Action for Democratic Freedom, a union of the extreme left including the newly constituted Communist party. Neither is given much of a chance of capturing enough votes to enter the Bundestag.

POLITICAL CAPITAL

Leaders of the Christan Democrats and the Social Democrats are trying to make political capital out of the country's labor unrest. Political analysts believe that a series of wildcat strikes earlier this month, in which some 50,000 miners and steel workers and 8,000 shipyard workers demanded higher wages, hurt the Socialists most. The public tends to hold them responsible for the workers' actions.

* * *

In an effort to counter this, top Social Democratic leaders held a news conference Thursday and demanded that Kiesinger call a Cabinet meeting to discuss wage demands by some 1.2 million public employes.

Garbage collectors in some communities had already left their jobs and the public employes' union was meeting in Berlin to formulate demands.

Although no more Cabinet meetings had been scheduled before the election, Kiesinger, in Hamburg on a campaign tour, agreed to hold the meeting.

The top Social Democratic leadership, including Brandt, Economics Minister Karl Schiller, German Affairs Minister Herbert Wehner, Justice Minister Horst Ehmke and Helmut Schmidt, the Social Democratic leader in the Bundestag, appeared at the news conference. This guaranteed them wide public exposure in newspapers and on television.

Arab Guerrillas' Claim of Biggest Attack on Israel Disputed

Fatah claimed its guerrillas made their heaviest attacks ever on Israel Thursday night, but Israel reported only one skirmish in which it said four Arab saboteurs and no Israelis were killed.

A spokesman for Fatah, the largest Palestinian guerrilla organization, said in Amman that hundreds of commandos attacked 14 positions along a 30-mile front in the Jordan Valley. A later communique said the raiders wiped out two Israeli observation posts and three advance posts in the central valley.

* * *

The spokesman said the raiders used a variety of weapons, including heavy mortars, and that the Israeli air force was forced to send in jets for night strikes against them.

"This must be a joke," said the Israeli army spokesman, Lt. Col. Srubavel Shalev. "Maybe the Fatah can run air sorties at night when they can't even see the targets but we certainly cannot."

Shalev said there had been only four reports of light arms and mortar fire in the area, with one Israeli soldier slightly wounded.

* * *

Later the Israeli command reported a skirmish after midnight 25 miles north of the Dead Sea. It said an Israeli patrol killed four Arabs near the Damiya Bridge across the Jordan, and "More bodies might be found later at the scene of the encounter." There were no Israeli casualties, he added.

A Jordanian army spokesman reported Israeli mortars and machine guns fired on some Jordanian positions in the southern Jordan Valley, but he said there were no Jordanian casualties.

In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser replaced the Egyptian army's chief of staff and the navy's commander without explanation. Nasser is in bed with what has been described as a case of acute influenza, but informants said he has set up an office in his sickroom and is running the country from there.

INTELLIGENCE CHIEF

The Middle East News Agency said Nasser had appointed Lt. Gen. Mohammed Sadek, chief of military intelligence since 1966, as his new army chief of staff, while Navy Col. Mahmoud Fahmi Abdul Rahman was made commander of the navy.

Sadek replaces Lt. Gen. Ahmed Ismail, last heard of when he addressed graduates of the Egyptian War Academy Sept. 9. Rahman succeeds Capt. Faud Zikrey.

* * *

The Israeli government announced tough new commerce and travel regulations for the city of Hebron, on the occupied West Bank. A spokesman said the new rules forbid residents to work in Israel, to travel either in Jordan or Israel and to trade in either of the two states.

He said the restrictions were ordered because of a growing number of sabotage incidents in the city, including the attempted assassination of the military governor three weeks ago and an attack on a police patrol four days ago in which five Israelis were wounded.

Elsewhere:

The Israeli army loaded the bodies of two Egyptian pilots on an International Red Cross launch and sent them across the Suez Canal to Egypt. The pilots were shot down over the Sinai Desert last week during a big air battle.

Opening lead—♦K

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand is taken from an early round match in the 1930 Vanderbilt Cup tournament. South was the late Philip Hal Sims, the greatest auction bridge player of all time and one of the titans of those early days of contract. North was Willard S. Karn who was destined to win the 1931 Vanderbilt with Sims and Oswald Jacoby and David Bruce.

Bruce held the West cards and was then a rather unknown young player. Sims' one-spade opening and Karn's raise to two spades were about the same bids that would be made today except that a lot of players would open the South hand with a forcing bid of some sort.

★ ★ ★

Sims' hand was so strong that he decided to bid six once Karn raised him. His 1930 style would be to jump right to the slam but he saw no harm in trying a little deception. He stopped to bid three diamonds!

Karn went back to three spades. He didn't know what Sims' three diamond bid meant except that it was a force and all his hand warranted was the most minimum response he could make.

This deception boomeranged. Bruce was unknown back then but he was already a great player and he said to himself, "Sims was going to six anyway. Maybe he wanted to stop a diamond lead."

Out came the diamond king and Sims was one down before he could get started.

Neither the Sims team nor the Bruce team won the Vanderbilt that year but Sims was so impressed by this lead that he asked Bruce to join the team he was starting and to play with Jacoby.

The Sims, Karn, Bruce, Jacoby team won everything in 1931 but broke up shortly after while the Bruce-Jacoby partnership continued as the base of the famous Four Aces team that dominated bridge from 1932 to 1941.

Policies OK'd on Conducting School Board Sessions

The Pontiac School Board adopted a set of policies on conducting board meetings last night amid objections by many members of the audience and one board member, Dr. Robert R. Turpin.

Board President Russell Brown explained the rules were formed from existing policies and allowed broader participation by the public in board business. The board used recommendations of committees plus advice of legal counsel, Brown said. He said Schools Supt. Dana Whitmer had prepared the final wording.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Turpin objected to adoption of the rules on short notice. He insisted the rules should first be formally presented and then voted on at a following meeting, as called for in the bylaws.

His was the only negative vote heard and the rules were adopted. However, the regulations are only to serve on an interim basis, according to Brown. He said the board wishes to see how the rules work before they become official policy.

OBJECT TO RULES

Some members of the audience objected to the rules and to their temporary nature. It was observed that rules had also been changed twice since April and that citizens in attendance had a hard time remembering which rules were in effect.

★ ★ ★

Set up in the guidelines are formation of the agenda items, public notice of meetings and definitions of public and ecutive sessions.

Audience participation is included in rule four: "Members of the audience may speak to agenda items which are of direct concern to the individual during the board meetings upon recognition by the presiding officer.

"The presiding officer may request each speaker to state his name and address prior to speaking and may limit each speaker to one appearance for each agenda item."

Brown spasmodically observed this last night, but did not recognize all speakers who wished to speak on each item. Calls for votes on the question at hand often cut discussion short.

PROVISION FOR HEARING

Also in the rules is provision for hearing at the end of a meeting from persons on subjects not on the agenda. This "discussion period" lasted for about one hour but was curtailed by an approved motion to adjourn at 11 p.m.

William Knudsen was retained as appraiser and Bruce Annett as realtor in acquiring property for the proposed new high school and Crofoot Elementary on West Huron. Knudsen is to get $175 per property acquired and Annett 6 per cent of the cost of residential property acquired and 10 per cent for commercial property.

★ ★ ★

The proposal recommended that Annett retain the services of Joseph Singleton, a black realtor, for the project. Some audience members said they felt Annett was retaining Singleton only to meet state requirements for nondiscrimination in his firm.

The board tabled a contract agreement with the Pontiac area Urban League. The league, since 1966, has been providing wide-ranging services aimed at promoting incentive in the poorer sections of the school district.

FEDERAL MONEY

The contract would have approved $16,000 for continuation of the program which has a total cost of $19,961. The $16,000 is federal money under Title I, it was explained. Presenting the program renewal request was Huevon Peery, assistant director of community action programs under Title I.

Blacks in the audience questioned whether the program had shown any results in raising the intellectual level in the target areas. Peery admitted the program had not done so, insofar as test results had shown, but that attitudes had been improved.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board ratified the contract with its Food Service Employes Union, Local 719, AFSCME.

Hampton Gives Preview of State Education Crisis

REP. HAMPTON

A preview of the coming crisis in education in Michigan to be faced by the State Legislature was given by State Rep. William P. Hampton, R-Birmingham, yesterday.

He gave a report on the Legislature to the Rotary Club luncheon.

★ ★ ★

The key to the attempt at educational reform will be Gov. Milliken's proposal to be announced in about two weeks, Hampton said. The proposal is expected to include proposed state constitutional amendments.

Hampton gave what he considered would be important factors in reform:

- Reorganization of the State Board of Education as it now exists — elected on a partisan basis — to either an appointed board or one elected on a nonpartisan basis.
- Abolishment of the intermediate school district system, which handles special education and administrative duties, and replacement with regional school districts (from 12 to 15).
- Reduction of school districts, eliminating by consolidation those not offering 1-12 grades. This would reduce total districts from 640 to about 300, but not change the essential structure.
- Changing the system of financial support.

'OUT OF DATE'

On this last item, Hampton said, "School financing on property taxes is out of date." He pointed out in some district each pupil is supported by $4,000 valuation and by $40,000 in others. He suggested either a statewide property tax or income tax.

Such a restructuring would leave districts with the power to vote millage to better their own district, Hampton suggested.

★ ★ ★

The entire Legislature will concentrate on the problems of schools when the current recess ends next week, Hampton said. He called the proposals by Milliken to be placed before them, "the most bold and imaginative ever seen.

"Undoubtedly when it comes out there will be some things in it you won't like . . . but don't throw stones on the whole program. If ever we needed support, it's now. I hope we can get together and achieve reform," Hampton said.

EXPLAINS VOTE

He also explained his vote against parochiaid, "I want to see the public schools put in order financially first and to encourage a dual system now is beyond our means."

★ ★ ★

Hampton also provided the Rotarians with background on legislation that killed the establishment of a state college of osteopathy in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

In July the State Legislature provided for a college of osteopathy for the first time, but specified it must be located at an existing campus with a medical school.

★ ★ ★

"Members of the Legislature felt that creating a separate facility (in Pontiac) would forge a division between the two fields (osteopathy, allopathy) . . . and many of them feel eventually the two will merge."

UNFORTUNATE FOR CITY

This is unfortunate for Pontiac, Hampton observed, after $500,000 had been raised by the public to purchase land to the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM).

★ ★ ★

"The people in Pontiac should have sat down with professionals" before proceeding with MCOM, Hampton said.

★ ★ ★

In reporting on this legislation session, Hampton gave these examples of accomplishment.

- Creation of the osteopathic college.
- Implementation of the two voter-approved bond measures, $335 million for water pollution and $100 million for recreation.
- Appropriating $100 million for low-income housing.
- Lifting of the 7 per cent mortgage ceiling
- Providing for a budget surplus expected to be over $10 million by next June.
- Passing a bill establishing compulsory arbitration for police and firemen. (This bill has a two-year limit and is described as an experiment. Hampton expressed personal reservations about giving arbitrators power over tax money.)

The bottle of Bourbon you can't buy for love nor money.

At the Beam distillery, there's some Bourbon we bottled in 1911. Our chemist asked for a sample to compare it with the Jim Beam Bourbon we make today. Well, we gave him a drop, and he found out today's Jim Beam has the same good light taste that our 1911 Bourbon had. And our 1911 Bourbon tastes as good as it did in 1795. That's because the Beam formula has been part of our secret family art for six generations. We don't mind proving it scientifically. We just don't like using our only bottle of 1911 Bourbon to do it. Canapes begin a meal with delicious imagination. The appetizer served depends on "who, what, where, and when" you are serving. Sweetish canapes go with sweetish drinks like Whiskey Sours or Alexanders. With dry drinks like Martinis it's best to serve sugarless canapes. Most crackers collapse when covered with moist spreads, so serve them "with" not "under" and let your guests serve their own. Scatter bowls of salted nuts, chilled raw vegetables in ice, and olives around your table. Make at least two or three different kinds, including one non-fattening one. Your guest will enjoy pre-meal drinks when delicious canapes accompany them.

Singer Helen O'Connell Never Ages...but Fans Do

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After a number of years in semi-retirement, Helen O'Connell, who rose to stardom as a pop vocalist during the big band era, has gotten her career into high gear again.

WEST

The amazing thing about this is that Miss O'Connell looks almost exactly like she did when I fell in love with her about 30 years ago.

* * *

She still has the same effervescent eyes, blonde hair unsullied by dishwater gray and dimples darting in and out of cheeks virtually unfurrowed by the plow of time. And she is still hitting every note right on the tonsil. It's all kind of weird.

How Miss O'Connell has managed to avoid growing older along with the rest of us is one of life's deepest mysteries to her contemporaries.

STARTED YOUNG

Some say it's because Miss O'Connell started young. They say she began singing with Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra when she was only 3 years old and was barely 4 when she first recorded "Green Eyes," "Amapola" and "Tangerine."

Others say Miss O'Connell keeps herself packed in ice when she is not on stage. Still others claim she does it with mirrors.

* * *

Hoping to learn more about the matter, I dropped in the other evening at the Shoreham Blue Room, a local concert hall where Miss O'Connell is currently appearing in nightly recital.

As I was being shown to a table, I noticed an odd noise in the room and asked the waiter about it.

'NOSTALGIA PUMP'

"That is our nostalgia pump," the waiter explained. "We have a middle-aged audience tonight, and anytime Miss O'Connell appears before a middle-aged audience the nostalgia gets so deep we have to pump it out."

* * *

If she didn't have to appear in living nostalgia, Miss O'Connell probably could be making a fortune as a rock singer, which is where the big money is. She has what it takes to be a hit with the teen-age nitwits of today.

STANDING OVATIONS

But everywhere she goes, she is reclaimed by the teen-age nitwits of yesterday, who insist that she lapse into "Green Eyes," "Amapola" and "Tangerine."

Twice on the night of my visit, the audience gave her a standing ovation. Which isn't easy to do with varicose veins.

When I finally got a word with Miss O'Connell, I asked how she had maintained her youthful appearance. She professed to be baffled by it, too.

"If I know how I did it, I wouldn't be singing for a living," she said.

* * *

Highway Week

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed next week as Michigan Highway Week, calling the state's roads "the finest in the nation. "Our growing reliance on adequate, modern roads and streets emphasizes the importance of safe, efficient highway transportation in expanding Michigan's economic growth," the governor said.

In 1966, the world population increased by about 70 million.

Hospital Periled by Fund-Drive Lag

PLAINWELL (UPI) — Pipp Community Hospital, a 40-bed facility that serves southeastern Allegan County is in danger of losing its state license because a $1-million fund drive to upgrade it is foundering.

With less than two weeks to go to the Sept. 30 target date to raise the money, only 10 per cent of the needed money has been pledged.

* * *

"There seems to be a general lack of interest and understanding of the dire consequences that will result if the program falls," Wayne Campbell, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, said yesterday.

"Everyone seems to be waiting for the other person to make the first move, and time is running out," he said.

BEGUN LAST JUNE

The fund drive was begun last June to raise $600,000 to improve the 8-year-old structure to bring it into compliance with state health and building codes. Another $400,000 was sought to add a 30-bed wing.

To date, however, only $100,000 has been pledged.

* * *

Repeated inspections of the hospital by officials from the Michigan Department of Public Health and the State Fire Marshal's Office have pinpointed 29 deficiencies or noncompliances with state codes and regulations.

Hospital officials said that the upgrading of codes with the advent of Medicare and Medicaid programs outdated several aspects of the structure, which complied with existing codes when the hospital was planned in 1959.

WOULD LOSE INCOME

Since the hospital derives more than 80 per cent of its business from insurance, Medicare and Medicaid patients, all of that income will be lost if the hospital loses its license, Campbell said.

"As the situaion exists, the hospital is less than 90 days from ceasing to exist," Campbell said.

Should Pipp Community close, area residents would be forced to travel 10 miles to Kalamazoo or 35 miles to Grand Rapids for hospital care.

Haircut Ordered for Band Director

CAMP HILL, Pa. (AP) — Backed up by the school board, Supt. Stanton W. Simkins has told the 24-year-old high school band director, Reese Llewellyn, he would have to cut his hair as he was setting a bad example for the pupils.

"It was not because his hair was not well kept," Simkins said. "It was not a lack of grooming. It was just long."

* * *

Llewellyn, who said he has worn his hair the same length since joining the faculty three years ago, called "this whole thing ridiculous." But, according to Simkins, he agreed to a haircut.

Lab in Woods Cuts Traverse City Dropout Rate

By FREDERICK H. TREESH
United Press International

Trees, ponds, plants, animals. What education value have these things that America has in such abundance outside its urban centers?

Holding power, according to school officials in Traverse City. The school system in the northern Michigan city credits its pioneering outdoor education program with keeping many boys from dropping out before they get their high school diplomas.

* * *

Since 1966, about 50 teen-age students have spent half of every day working and learning at the Traverse City schools' field laboratory, a 212-acre wooded tract 20 minutes by bus from the high school.

These boys — about 5 per cent that school officials are convinced otherwise would drop out—spend their mornings at the field laboratory, cutting timber, constructing nature trails, building bridges and small building and learning to operate the tools and equipment at the school's own sawmill. In the afternoon, the youths return to the classroom for academic subjects.

BOOSTS OUTLOOK

"This kind of outdoor work provides a favorable experience for the boys and gives them a better outlook toward school," says Allen Lockman, a veteran teacher who directs the outdoor education program.

Lockman says that in addition to learning vocational skills that will serve them well after graduation, the boys often profit by gaining confidence and self-esteem.

"When the kids give speeches on how to run the sawmill the other students find them as interesting as the boy who scored the winning touchdown in Friday night's football game, and this gives them great confidence," Lockman said.

* * *

Although the field laboratory primarily is intended as a work experience to keep potential dropouts motivated, its value doesn't end there. Other students from the district visit the preserve and learn about nature and conservation in a way that could not be duplicated in the classroom.

'Bar-Stander' Earl Wonders About a Brandy for a Dandy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It was immediately clear to me as I sat down at the Sherry-Netherlands bar and ordered an aperitif that the huge man next to me was John Jacob Astor, known in his set as Jack, of which he has a lot.

WILSON

Should I say hello? What did we have to talk about except the money he has and the money I don't? I kept quiet.

"Courvoisier," he said. He asked for it in a smaller glass than the barman had brought, and with less ice. The barman shrugged. He didn't know, nor did anybody in the room — but me — that this was one of the great rich names of the world.

* * *

Through the mirror I suddenly saw Jack Astor groping through breast pockets, pants pockets, hip pockets — for money!

My turn had come: "Do a good turn daily" from the Boy Scouts' handbook.

"Mr. Astor," I suddenly spoke up, "I'm Earl Wilson."

"AM I GLAD TO SEE YOU!" he exclaimed. "I seem to have lost my wallet."

Grandly, I whipped out my own. His tab was $2. I generously handed him a $10 bill.

"I guess I can reach you . . .," he said.

I gave him my address.

Jack Astor sipped his brandy meditatively. He lives mostly in Miami now, has become a bit of a recluse, he said.

"I must have left my wallet at Reuben's," he went on. "You know, I usually carry two wallets."

"Two? Why two?"

"In case I lose one," he explained.

* * *

It was after I left that I got to wondering whether this was really John Jacob Astor or somebody resembling him who'd hooked me for $10. Anyway, it would make a yarn for my memoirs — John Jacob Astor had to be bankrolled for a booze by Earl Wilson because he'd lost both of his wallets.

New Chairman of Arts Council to Lead by Consensus

NANCY HANKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Within two days after President Nixon nominated her to be chairman of the National Council on the Arts, Nancy Hanks got 400 messages from well-wishers.

The important part for her was "almost everyone of them said they'd do anything they can to help—and I'm keeping a record of that."

* * *

Miss Hanks, a chic, astute operative for 16 years in influential corridors of public service and private philanthropy, believes in getting things done through cooperative effort and committee consensus.

"I really enjoy it and I benefit from the views of other people. With the Rockefeller panels I've had good training. I haven't been able to do things in any other fashion."

HAS NO OPPOSITION

As head of the arts agency, for which she must yet be confirmed by the Senate—there is no detectable opposition—the ready-smiling Miss Hanks will be both the arbiter of federal assistance to culture and one of the administration's top-ranked women.

"Well, I don't know about that," she responds to suggestion that feminine charm may enlist congressional gallantry to support aesthetic effort and open legislative purse-strings. "Well" is a favorite cautionary prologue to almost every answer she makes after meditating on any question about her new job.

* * *

Does she expect tangible official support to advance the federal arts-support program?

"Oh, very definitely," she said. "I don't believe in attempting to do a job unless you have a chance of doing an effective one. I'm convinced the administration is interested in the cultural development of the country. I had a very good talk with the President, and his understanding of the problems was wonderful."

PROBLEMS WORSE

Miss Hanks said that in the four years since she supervised publication of a survey by the Rockefeller Brothers fund called "The Performing Arts: Prospects and Problems" the financial problems have worsened.

"But things are better in many areas that we approached," she added. "I feel that the arts institutions are increasingly better administered. And in 1965 there was very little cooperation in the arts. Now they are cooperating marvelously in many communities. I just feel that arts are much strengthened in working with each other."

* * *

Is there such a thing as a "culture explosion"?

"I'm quite certain—you can't document this in statistics or anything—I'm quite certain there is a growing interest on the part of the American public in the arts," she said. "You cannot document whether the increased interest in the amateur arts—people just enjoying music and dance—has already shown an increase in professional activity. But there's no question in my mind it will. No question at all."

SHE SPLITS CASH

As chairman of the national council and its collateral facility, the National Endowment for the Arts, Miss Hanks will supervise assistance next year of about $7¼ million—the sum has passed the Senate but awaits House action—for symphony orchestras, dance, opera, theater and supportive activities.

"At the moment," she said, "I'd be unable to say what I thought the federal government should give or what state governments should give so that we could have a really strong development of the arts in this country. I am, however, highly optimistic."

* * *

The Council-Endowment program was set up four years ago, the first direct federal commitment to air aesthetic endeavor, with about $2½ million.

Miss Hanks' predecessor was Roger L. Stevens, real estate magnate and Broadway producer, whose term expired last March. She does not believe that the hiatus in command has adversely affected the agency's work.

EXTREMELY EXCITING

"When I think of how far we've come in four years—this is what I think has been extremely exciting," she said.

"I don't mean to be Pollyana about it, but given from where we started, I don't think we've done too badly. I think if we see major changes and interest develop in the next four years as we have in the past four, we should all be very pleased."

* * *

Miss Hanks at work fits the image of a successful woman in business: reddish-brown hair carefully coiffed, quietly modish costume, a voice all confident modulation. Her city residence is in a smart Fifth Avenue apartment house, and there's a weekend home at socially correct Southampton where horticultural relaxation concentrates on dahlias and tomato plants.

Her background might have been specifically designed to prepare for the limelight of responsibility, although she says "I certainly did not go to college with all this in mind."

DAD AN ATTORNEY

She was born Dec. 31, 1927, at Miami Beach, Fla., the daughter of Bryan Cayce and Virginia Wooding Hanks. Her father, now residing again in his home state of Texas, is a utilities attorney long active in New York and Florida.

Miss Hanks completed high school at Montclair, N.J., in 1945, studied for a summer at the University of Colorado, took and A.B. degree magna cum laude (plus a Phi Beta Kappa key) at Duke University, then journeyed to further study at Oxford.

* * *

During 1951-52 she was on the staff of the Office of Defense Mobilization, in 1953 joined the office of Nelson A. Rockefeller who was serving in various advisory capacities to President Eisenhower.

The arts became her particular interest when the Rockefeller Brothers Fund initiated the first depth-study of professional performing organizations. She also worked on a survey of museum needs and last year became president of the Associated Councils of the Arts which coordinates and focusses state-level endeavor.

* * *

Miss Hanks will sever that affiliation upon confirmation to federal office, and must determine whether any conflict of interest attaches to such duties as a council member of the American Association of Museums, a trustee of Duke University, Robert College in Istanbul and the Museum of Primitive Art.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The phone won't ring as often in the sports department of The Press anymore, and it won't be as noisy at the state tournament basketball games, especially if Pontiac Central is playing in the regionals or quarterfinals.

Clell "Mutt" Morse was buried this morning and with his passing, local athletics has lost one of its most rabid boosters.

It was almost like clock work for Morse to dial The Press every Saturday morning or Monday morning to find out how the local teams did, or how the Saturday night college games turned out.

The pros and cons of sports, of past records or scores were daily conversation pieces at Mutts's famous hamburger house the Triple XXX on West Huron.

MUTT MORSE

"I'll bet you five bucks that it was . . ." Mutt's voice would carry through the screen doors and almost down to the railroad tracks.

He was a giver and taker of all bets and with his knowledge of sports he was more often a winner.

We will never forget a basketball game one night in Saginaw when Pontiac Central, fighting for the Saginaw Valley title, was beaten late in the game on what PCH fans say was a shot by a Saginaw Valley player following a travel violation.

As the gun sounded, with the Chiefs losing on the argued shot, the first spectator on the floor pointing a finger in the officials' nose was Mutt.

"That was a traveling before the shot as sure as I'm standing here," Mutt proceeded to yell.

With the standing room crowd jamming and pushing around the court, someone knocked Mutt of balance. Of course it was too crowded for Mutt to fall, but in the spur of the moment the official quipped back at Mutt, "As sure as you're standing, huh?"

MELLOWING YEARS

In recent years Mutt held down his enthusiasm to some applause and a few cheering comments from the stands.

Most local folks will remember Mutt from his sparkling days as a softball pitcher in city recreation play.

* * *

When Shaw's Jeweler's teams were the softball powers in the city and district in the early 40's. Morse was the pitcher who had local and state foes in utter frustration.

One of his most bitter rivals in the city was the GM Truck team, whom Mutt enjoyed beating more than anyone. Old clips from The Press Sports pages gave it top page attention when the GM team was able to gain one of its rare victories from Mutt.

* *

Later in the 40's he pitched for Torridheet and in the early 50's he knocked his old team. Shaw's, out of a state tournament while pitching for Pfeiffer's.

There is no exact total recorded, but during his pitching heyday Mutt was supposed to have had 23 no-hitters, six of which be lost.

A quote from a Press story called him the "unluckiest no hit pitcher" in softball.

In a state tournament game against Lansing one time, Mutt pitched a no-hitter, struck out 18 batters and still lost the game.

In state tournament play at Escanaba one year, Mutt pitched in three games in one day and gave up a total of only three hits, and it was in one of those losing no-hitters that his team was knocked out of the tournament.

LAST APPEARANCE

His last appearance, which he called an honor, was to pitch against the famous touring softball quartet, the King and His Court in 1964 at Wisner Stadium.

The King and His Court did appear in Pontiac just a few weeks back, and although Mutt was now totally "retired" from softball, he did look back and say that his stint on the mound five years ago "will be one of my fondest memories . . . I'd say it was my swan song."

It will be a long time before those who can remember, will certainly forget some of Mutt's years as king of Pontiac softball.

New Season, New Look for M, MSU

Schembechler Makes Debut as Michigan Coach

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Though the series itself is old, dating back to 1906, the emphasis is on the new when Vanderbilt takes on Michigan in the opener for both clubs Saturday at Ann Arbor.

For Vanderbilt, there's a new offense, the triple option, a new defense which features a fourman front line, and a new idea as far as Commodore football is concerned—winning.

Coach Bill Pace guided the Commodores to a 5-4-1 record last year in his second season as head coach, and it was their first winning campaign in a decade. Vandy hasn't won more than five games in a single year since 1955, when the record was 8-3.

NEW COACH

For Michigan, there's a new coach in Bo Schembechler and a new synthetic turf playing surface in the Wolverines' 100,000 seat stadium.

"Our main concern is to go up there and keep from getting physically overpowered," Pace said. "They have quite a size advantage, and might just decide to line up and run the ball right at us. That could make it mighty rough in the fourth quarter, since most of our depth is young and inexperienced.

"But we hope at least partially to make up in quickness what we lack in size."

* * *

Michigan's Schembechler, who will be making his coaching debut as a replacement for Bump Elliott, says his worries are along the same lines—size vs. quickness—but on the other side of the coin.

"They're very quick and well coached," Schembechler said of the Commodores. "And I think they can be a very good passing team. Their backs are very quick. It isn't a power offense."

INJURIES HURT

The Wolverine defense will be weakened considerably by the loss of Phil Seymour, an All Big Ten defensive end who will be out for at least the first three games with an injury. And sophomore defensive back Dave Zuccarelli, who had been pegged for a starting job, is out for the season with a broken ankle.

* * *

The last time the two teams met, in 1923, Michigan came away with a 3-0 victory. The closest in nine games Vandy has come to beating the Wolverines was in 1922, when the teams battled to a scoreless tie.

NEW FOOTWEAR—You can't tell by the feet but the new cleated football shoe being worn by both Michigan and Michigan State this season is being modeled by former Royal Oak Shrine player Paul Seymour. Seymour is a sophomore end at Michigan. Both state schools open their season tomorrow on their newly installed Tartan turf gridirons.

Michigan State Hosts Huskies at E. Lansing

EAST LANSING (AP)— Razzle dazzle plays and long breakaway runs can be expected from both teams when Michigan State opens its football season against Washington Saturday in Spartan Stadium.

Washington has enjoyed artificial turf at home for a season. MSU has been practicing on its synthetic grass all fall. The turf favors the fast man, and both have sprinter runners.

It will be the first football meeting between the two schools. The last time MSU played a Pacific Northwest team was in 1954, when the Spartans won 54-6 over Washington State.

SIMILAR OFFENSE

Both teams will be using a triple option offense, calling for intricate ball handling by the quarterback. Any back or end is a threat in this type of offense, first used with great success by Texas and Houston.

* * *

Washington is starting out with what could be considered a suicide schedule. After the game with MSU, the Huskies move down to Michigan, then take on Big Ten champ Ohio State at Seattle.

Washington coach Jim Owens set up the schedule himself when he was athletic director.

"You have to play good teams to attract top talent," he philosophized.

The teams are alike also in wanting to get off to a flying start after poor 1968 performances. Washington was 3-5-2 won, lost and tied and MSU broke even with a 5-5 record.

JUNIOR QB

The Spartans will be led by junior quarterback Bill Triplett, an equal threat at the run or pass. Washington coaches must have had a fit of horrors when they saw movies of the Spartan spring game.

* * *

Coach Duffy Daugherty's top offensive and defensive units shut out the reserves 82-0.

Workhorse halfback Tommy Love is recovering from a minor injury and will see service. Spelling him will be sophomore Eric Allen, who showed off with a 95-yard scoring sprint at last intersquad game.

BIG END

Tight end Jim Nicholson of Hawaii, 6-feet, 7-inches is a towering pass target. Flanker Herb Washington of Flint has a track star background. Both are sophomores.

The Spartan defensive line is much heavier and more experienced this season.

* * *

Junior quarterback Gene Willis has been outstanding in early drills for Washington. The bread and butter back is fullback Bo Cornell, who scored six touchdowns last season.

Washington also has a classy looking split end, Ralph Bayard, a junior college transfer from San Francisco City College. A fellow named O. J. Simpson came from the same college.

Attendance for the 1:30 (EST) kickoff is expected to be around 50,000 despite a strike by maintenance workers that forced the cancellation of the start of MSU classes.

Firebirds at Grand Rapids

Second Half in MFL Play

The second half of the Midwest Football League schedule starts Saturday and the Pontiac Firebirds are hopeful it will be a repeat of the opening game of the season.

* * *

In the season opener seven games ago, the Firebirds whipped Grand Rapids, 36-6, while Lackawanna was trouncing Lansing 31-13.

* * *

Tomorrow, the F-Birds travel to Grand Rapids and Lansing faces the Lancers in Lackawanna.

The Central Division race continues in a deadlock with Pontiac and Lansing at the top, and the Firebirds are now hoping the tie will be broken Saturday.

However, Lansing showed it wasn't ready to let the Firebirds back into any title when the Stars defeated Dayton two weeks ago and then put the pressure on the F-Birds, who ultimately also whipped Dayton last week.

* * *

One thing coach Tom Tracy has to fear tomorrow is the possibility that the Firebirds will be looking ahead to the big encounter with Lackawanna next Saturday.

The Lancer scouts who watched the F-Birds defeat Dayton were impressed with the improvement of the local gridders, but they apparently weren't convinced that the Lancers could be challenged by anyone in the league.

* * *

Tickets for the home game with Lackawanna next week are available in advance at VFW Post 1370, Bob-Ken's, Osmuns, Griff's Firebird Lounge and Coleman's furniture.

The record crowd of 5,967 set against Dayton could be altered in the Lackawanna contest.

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Let's see. Allie Sherman is out. Vince Lombardi is in Washington. Joe Namath has sold out Bachelors III. And John Unitas and Gale Sayers are back.

The new National Football league season opens Sunday with a sizzler—Los Angeles at Baltimore—and the American Football League already is heading into a second week.

Baltimore 24, Los Angeles 17—Unitas is back and the Colts have won six straight in the exhibition season. A couple of tough defensive clubs. Rams have Les Josephson and Larry Smith to run but miss Bernie Casey as a target for Roman Gabriel. Terry Colen, filling in for Jerry Hill, has a knee problem so Unitas had better be hot.

* * *

Green Bay 17, Chicago 13— Packers' offense started to click when Travis Williams took over. Bart Starr healthy and rebuilt offensive line improving. Gale Sayers could break it open. Packers better than in 19-0 loss in exhibition.

Cleveland 24, Philadelphia 14—New Astroturf won't help Jerry Williams' Eagles, although Browns are hurting in defensive backfield. Loss of Gary Pettigrew blow to Eagles. Leroy Kelly primed for fast start with rookie Ron Johnson to help.

Minnesota 24, New York 21— Could be an upset if Giants are keyed up to "show Allie". Vikings won exhibition, using reserves in second half. Fran Tarkenton would like to do a job on his old mates but the Giants have lost 14 straight to the West.

St. Louis 27, Dallas 21—The Cards to upend the Cowboys, especially if Craig Morton can't go. Charley Johnson's tosses to Jackie Smith should do the job. Loss of Bob Hayes cripples Dallas but rookie Calvin Hill looks like an exciting runner.

* * *

Detroit 21, Pittsburgh 10—Mel Farr probable despite virus and now fully recovered from knee surgery; Lem Barney in the secondary and the Lions' rush line will give Dick Shiner a rough afternoon.

Washington 17, New Orleans 14—Sonny Jurgensen should be enough to give Vince Lombardi his first win as Redskins' coach. Lions bombed Saints in final exhibition. However, New Orleans holds 2-1 edge over Washington in series.

San Francisco 38, Atlanta 17 —Winless 49ers who lost all exhibition games must go all out against Norm Van Brocklin's charged-up Falcons, who have been getting strong efforts from Jim Butler and Junior Coffey.

AFL

Oakland 35, Miami 21 (Saturday night) — Raiders opened with 21-17 win over Houston and will be making second straight home appearance. Miami always dangerous with Bob Griese passing but Oakland has too much pass rush.

New York 23, Denver 17— Even if Joe Namath can't go all the way, Jets should be able to sneak past Broncs, who always give them trouble. Don't forget, Denver beat the Jets last year 21-13 and also won last meeting in 1967.

Kansas City 35, Boston 14— Chiefs can call the score in this one after romping through exhibition series and opening game with San Diego. Kansas City ball hawks can make life miserable for Mike Tallaferro.

Houston 30, Buffalo 14—Oilers' only worry is O.J. Simpson on those kick returns. Jerry Levias new threat in Houston attack.

San Diego 28, Cincinnati 14— Greg Cook's passing won't be enough to match Chargers' scoring potential. San Diego won handily in both 1968 games although offense was flat against Chiefs in the opener.

Lions Can't Assume Steelers as 'Cousins'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

There was a time in the past when playing the Pittsburgh Steelers, the Detroit Lions could almost automatically chalk up a victory.

This hasn't been the case in recent years and the bad part of it, the Lions always seem to play their poorest games against the Steelers, who have never won an NFL title.

The Lions took it on the chin 24-14 in 1967, were beaten in a dull encounter 17-3 in Pittsburgh in 1966.

In 1962, when the Lions had probably their best team of this decade, they routed the Steelers 45-7.

A real sleepy affair was the 10-10 struggle in the rain in Pittsburgh's Forbes Field when Bobby Lane, who had been traded the previous season to the Steelers, called the signals against the Lions.

LEAD SERIES

Up to that point the Lions had won 11 of 15 games. Now the over-all series stands 12-6-1 for the Lions.

Sunday's game will be the last between the two teams under the NFL alignment as it stands.

Pittsburgh, along with Cleveland and Baltimore, will be moved into the AFL divisions for the 1970 season.

The Lions, after a 5-1 exhibition season, have the break in the schedule in the early games as compared to the other teams in the Central Division.

* * *

The Packers must play the Bears, 49ers and Vikings in their first three games; the Bears must meet the Packers, Cardinals and Giants while the Vikings have the Giants, Colts and Packers as starters.

The Lions have the Steelers, Giants and Browns in their first three, but the team which has the tough grind is the Giants who face Minnesota, Detroit and Chicago in that order.

At any rate, coach Joe Schmidt makes his second visit to his hometown as head coach, having been victimized by the lowly Steelers in 1967.

TOUGH DEFENSE

Defensively, the Steelers are considered among the better teams in the league, and have the 4th best runner in the NFL last year, Dick Hoak.

It will be Bill Munson at quarterback against Dick Shiner of the Steelers.

Chuck Noll has given the Steelers the new look as its head coach and he is grooming former Notre Dame star Terry Hanratty for the quarterback's slot.

Kickoff, Michigan time Sunday is 12:15. The Lions are presently 6-point favorites.

Vikings Sideline Green Bay's QB

By the Associated Press

Forget about Minnesota's tough front four, the Vikings front office has forced an opposing quarterback to the bench and the National Football League season hasn't even started yet.

The quarterback is veteran Zeke Bratkowski, who retired as a player Thursday to remain with the Green Bay Packers as an assistant coach.

* * *

The Packers had hoped to clear Bratkowski, who will be 38 Oct. 20, on waivers so he would be available for emergency duty behind Bart Starr and Don Horn.

But Minnesota claimed him. Viking General Manager Jim Finks said letting Green Bay clear Bratkowski would be like giving the Packers an extra player.

So, when Green Bay opens the regular season at home against Chicago Sunday, Bratkowski will be on the sidelines but not in uniform.

MORRALL BENCHED

Another veteran who will be on the bench Sunday, but in uniform, will be Earl Norrall, who signed a contract with the Baltimore Colts Thursday.

Morrall led the Colts to the NFL title last year but has lost the No. 1 quarterbacking job to Johnny Unitas, who will start against Los Angeles Sunday.

Joe Namath, whose battered right knee took a heavy blow in the world champion New York Jets' victory over Buffalo in an American Football League opener last Sunday, worked out Thursday and appears ready to start against Denver.

In other developments, the NFL Atlanta Falcons signed veteran receiver Gail Cogdill and cut three rookies; the NFL Dallas Cowboys waived veteran safety Dick Daniels and the NFL Washington Redskins waived quarterback Harry Theofiledes.

The Redskins had to drop a man after signing veteran quarterback Frank Ryan, cut by Cleveland, to be backup to Sonny Jurgensen.

First Round 66s by Bolt, Furgol Leading Seniors

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A year ago, Tommy Bolt was the loneliest man on the golf course. Today he's just one of the crowd.

Bolt and Marty Furgol each fired scores of four-under-par 66 to grab Thursday's first round lead in the $70,000 U.S. National Senior Open Golf Tournament. Twenty-four other golfers are within four strokes of the leaders.

* * *

Last year, Bolt, from Sarasota, Fla., shot a brilliant 62 to take the opening-round lead. It was enough to prevent any serious challenges as he romped to a nine-stroke victory with a 282.

He carded a 33 on the front nine of the par-70 Tropicana Country Club course, then duplicated it on the back nine. Furgol, of Moorsetown, N.J., had a first-day 34-32.

* * *

This year's first-place prize is $7,500. The 13th annual tourney is being played on the par-71 Winterwood Golf club and Bonanza Country Club courses as well as the Tropicana.

One stroke off the pace are Jack Mann of Calexico, Calif., who fired his 67 at Winterwood, and Herman Keiser of Barberton, Ohio, who played at Tropicana.

* * *

Three players—Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., Jack Koennecker of Palm Springs, Calif., and amateur Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oaks, Mich.—are tied for fifth with 68s.

Lolich Wants Added Turn in Search of Two Wins

Indians Tag Mickey Early in 6-4 Win

Southpaw Would Like to Pitch Saturday to Search for 19th

DETROIT (UPI) — Nothing greedy about Mickey Lolich. All he really wants is two more victories.

"I want to start Saturday if I can," The Detroit Tigers' southpaw said. "I mean if (Earl) Wilson is hurt and can't take his turn.

★ ★ ★

"I wouldn't want to bump him out. But if I can, I'd like to start Saturday."

★ ★ ★

Lolich is volunteering to pitch with two day's rest because he only went four innings Thursday and was denied his bid for a 19th win.

BOMBED EARLY

Instead, Mickey was tagged with his ninth loss of the year as the Cleveland Indians bombed him for five runs in the first inning and went on to a 6-4 victory over the Tigers behind the 13-strikeout pitching of Sam McDowell, who is now 17-14.

★ ★ ★

Do 20 wins actually mean that much to Lolich? Well, does a basketball mean anything to Dave Bing?

★ ★ ★

"That's what separates the men from the boys," Lolich said, untypically using the cliche to illustrate his feelings. "It'll make all the difference in the world.

"If I win just 18 or 19 I'll still level."

MAY CHANGE

Manager Mayo Smith had tabbed Pat Dobson to start Saturday's game since Wilson has a strained muscle in his pitching shoulder. But Lolich will likely get the call if willing, which is like asking Cinderella if she wants to go to a ball.

★ ★ ★

Lolich wouldn't have to go through all the extra bother if he could have done something about that atrocious first inning.

★ ★ ★

Jose Cardenal started it off by hitting a 2-0 pitch for his 11th home run. One out later Larry Brown and Ken Harrelson singled and Tony Horton doubled home one run.

Ray Fosse, who normally couldn't hit Willy Moses' fast ball for a home run, smacked a Lolich curve for his second home run of the season to make it 5-0.

WILD PITCH

A single by Frank Baker, a wild Lolich pitch and a single by Larry Brown produced the final Cleveland run in the fifth.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers kept pecking away at McDowell, who will put a team back in the game if any pitcher can, scoring single runs in the first two innings on a single by Willie Horton and Ike Brown's fifth home run.

★ ★ ★

Don Wert knocked in another with a sacrifice fly in the sixth and McDowell wild-pitched home the last in the seventh following a double by Dave Campbell and single by Al Kaline.

★ ★ ★

McDowell, who induced Campbell to ground out with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth, increased his lead over Lolich to 19 in the strikeout department. He now has 268 in his quest for a fourth "K" title in five years.

★ ★ ★

The Boston Red Sox come in today to open a three-game set which pretty well should settle second place. Ken Brett, 1-1, opposes Denny McLain, 23-7, in the first game tonight.

PATTERNED WALK — Cleveland Indian catcher Ray Fosse (8) bring up the rear after his homer drove in Ken Harrelson (40) and Tony Horton (11) in yesterday's game at Cleveland where the Indians defeated the Tigers, 6-4. Cleveland batboy and umpire Larry Barnett were the home plate welcome.

Playing-Out-String-Time

Can't Tell September Stars

By the Associated Press

Vern Geishert . . . Mike Hedlund . . . Johnny Ellis.

It's playing-out-the-string time in the American League, and sometimes you can't tell the September stars without a scorecard.

Geishert, a 23-year-old fastballer recently promoted from the minors by the California Angels, left his mark on Minnesota Thursday, saving a 5-2 triumph over the West Division leaders with 2 2-3 innings of strong relief work.

★ ★ ★

Kansas City's Hedlund, also 23, tossed his first complete game in the majors, trimming the sinking Oakland Athletics 6-1 for a 3-5 first-year record.

Ellis, at 21 one of the New York Yankees' brightest prospects, beat Washington 4-3 with a two-run pinch single.

ORIOLES SPLIT

In the other AL action, Baltimore's East Division kings split a twi-nighter with Boston, winning 6-4 behind Mike Cuellar before bowing 5-0 to Vicente Romo. Seattle and the Chicago White Sox were idle.

Geishert, called up from California's Hawaii farm club last month, replaced Angel ace Andy Messersmith in the seventh inning with one out, one run in and the bases jammed.

The rookie right-hander threw a double play pitch to Craig Nettles, ending the threat, and yielded one hit—a ninth inning homer by Cesar Tovar—the rest of the way, preserving Messersmith's 16th victory.

Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Voss delivered two runs apiece for the Angels with singles.

The Twins remained nine games ahead of second place Oakland in the West, but their magic number for nailing the division crown dipped to five as Hedlund tamed the A's on seven scattered hits for his first victory since May 15.

RE-INJURES KNEE — Willie Mays grimaces and grabs his left knee which was previously injured as he sprawls at the plate in the game against the Houston Astro's. Mays swung and missed a pitch before he went down. He left the game and as result his 600th home run try will have to wait.

Beats Montreal, 2-0

Seaver Adds Warmth to Mets

By the Associated Press

On a cold September night in Canada, Manager Gil Hodges and his New York Mets were thankful they had their Tom Seaver around to keep them warm.

The brilliant young right-hander kept the red-hot Mets pennant drive burning brightly with a five-hit shutout in a 2-0 victory over Montreal Thursday night that helped New York boost its lead back to five games in the National League east.

★ ★ ★

"I had to work fast in the last couple of innings because I started to feel the cold," said Seaver of the 50-degree weather that was almost as cold as the Mets' only serious challenger, the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs dropped a 5-3 decision to Philadelphia in an afternoon game—their 12th setback in 15 games—in falling six games back of New York in the loss column. The Mets' magic number for clinching the divisional title was reduced to eight.

STILL SCRAMBLING

Meanwhile, the West Division race remained as scrambled as ever as Los Angeles knocked Atlanta out of first place with a 5-2 victory and San Francisco took over the top spot by beating Houston 9-3.

★ ★ ★

The Giants, however, hold only a half-game lead over the Dodgers and the Braves, while fourth-place Cincinnati is just two games off the pace despite a 7-1 loss at San Diego.

St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 8-7 in the other NL game.

★ ★ ★

Seaver struck out nine in increasing his season total to 200 and kept the five hits well spaced in adding another chapter to the Mets' fantastic pitching during their pennant drive.

Seaver, who won his eighth straight pushing his record to 23-7, and Jerry Koosman, who shutout the Expos the night before, have been the mainstays of a staff that has now produced 11 shutouts in New York's last 35 games.

NO HOMERS

Met pitchers haven't yielded a home run in the last 22 games.

During that span, the Mets have won 29 of 36 games—including 13 of their last 14—in roaring from 9½ games back of the Cubs on Aug. 13 to their present comfortable lead.

About the only one who isn't conceeding the title to the Mets is Cub boss Leo Durocher.

"I'm not going to give up, I'll tell you that," barked Durocher after Cookie Rojas' homer in the eighth touched off a three-run rally that gave the Phils their victory. "This thing isn't over yet. We just have to go out and challenge the Cardinals (the Cubs' next foe) and play like hell."

Jack Hiatt slammed a three-run homer and a run-scoring single to power the Giants past Houston. But the Giants had to wait some eight hours, until the Dodgers beat Atlanta, to claim solo possession of first place.

Rookie Ted Sizemore's bases-loaded triple in the sixth inning and Jim Lefebvre's single keyed a four-run Dodger sixth that produced the triumph.

Britons Holding Ryder Cup Lead

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Britain's Ryder Cup Captain Eric Brown, scenting victory over the Americans for the first time in a dozen years, patted his youngsters on the back but called on his veterans today to try to widen a slim but important lead.

"In this four ball (better ball) competition, it is experience that counts now," the jubilant Scot said, his own naturally optimistic spirits that much higher after the British wound up Thursday's foursomes with 4½ points to the United States' 3½.

American Captain Sam Snead said he was undisturbed by trailing this early in the game but like Brown said it would be experience that counted in today's eight matches.

★ ★ ★

"And all these boys are truly experienced," he said of the 12 Americans who average 33 years of age, have won a million and a half dollars this year and altogether have triumphed in about 130 golf tournaments over the years.

★ ★ ★

"I think we'll play a little better now, more used to this course and especially these greens which are really tough to putt. I didn't see very much good putting out there yesterday."

★ ★ ★

The eight fourballs are followed by 16 singles matches on Saturday in a unique competition started by a British seed merchant, Sam Ryder, in 1927.

Nervous Ashe Begins Davis Cup Playoffs

CLEVELAND HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — There's a big difference in playing tennis for yourself and playing for Uncle Sam, Arthur Ashe Jr., America's top Davis Cup ace, said Thursday.

"When I'm playing Davis Cup, I get very tense and keyed up," the 26-year-old veteran of 13 cup matches added. "It's a big responsibility.

"When I am playing a tournament on my own, I couldn't care less. I am loose and relaxed. In Davis Cup matches, the pressure is tremendous.

"You lose it and you don't get a chance to redeem yourself for a year. It's like the blade of an axe—all the weight tapers down to that one fine edge where you almost stake your tennis world in two hours of play."

The edge of the axe comes up for Ashe again today when he faces Ilie Nastase, Romania's sensational 23-year-old giant-killer in the opening match of the 1969 Davis Cup Challenge Round.

The three-day, five-match series decides the residence of the 69-year-old silver bowl for the next 12 months. It has never gone behind the Iron Curtain.

No Soccer Decision for Groves' Squad

Birmingham Groves soccer team still is looking for its first win . . . or loss . . . of the season.

The Falcons played their second straight tie yesterday in a scoreless duel with Cranbrook. A rematch is scheduled next Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield Hills Lahser broke into the win column for the first time with a 3-1 victory over Livonia Stevenson. Bruce McKellar, John Cdengros and Barry Kovach scored for Lahser which has a record of 1-1 and will meet Grosse Pointe US next Tuesday.

Golf Classic Still Unable to Pay

DETROIT (AP) — One of the sponsors of the disastrous Michigan Golf Classic said Thursday he still doesn't know when the tournament's golfers will be paid because "we're still trying to put our figures together."

Phil Lachman, a Detroit trophy manufacturer who cosponsored the event with business man John Brennan, said that "every day we have a new problem facing us."

★ ★ ★

The four-day tournament was won Sept. 7 by Larry Ziegler and an hour after the victory the Professional Golfers' Association announced the Michigan Golf Classic, Inc. (Lachman and Brennan) could not pay the prize money. Ziegler was supposed to take home a $20,000 top prize of the $100,000 new tournament.

"We had quite a mess," Lachman said. "Trying to figure out what we have coming in and what we owe is quite a job."

Lachman and Brennan held a press conference the day after the Classic ended and said it would be seven to 10 days before they could say where they stood financially.

MONEY ADVANCED

The next day Joe Dey, commissioner of the PGA Tournament Players Division, advanced $50,000 out of his office's general fund and mailed the money direct to the players. Each player got half of his original prize winnings.

Dey's office said it has hired a lawyer and "hopes to get the money back."

Meanwhile, Lachman said tournament director Marshall Chambers has been fired from his $400-a-week job.

"The job Marshall was originally hired to do wasn't done and only John and I have knowledge of the things involved," Lachman said. "So we can't even hire anyone to work on them."

★ ★ ★

"We've received a lot of phone calls and I've received letters that reassured me that people had no question of our integrity in this thing," he added.

★ ★ ★

He said he can't say how much longer it will take before the Michigan Golf Classic, Inc., has things straightened out.

In a side note, Lachman said someone telephoned him after the tournament and said he wanted to pay for his parking.

"He said he sneaked into the lot on a marshal's badge that wasn't his," Lachman said.

BH Lahser Harriers Top Romeo, 15-45

The Oakland A cross country season got under way yesterday with Bloomfield Hills Lahser taking a 15-45 victory at Romeo.

Lahser moved in for the first five places led by Jeff Shanks in 10:53 followed by Steve Young, Jay Kezshumbaum, Rick Ryan and Mike Manz.

★ ★ ★

In the Inter-Lakes Pontiac Northern and Southfield captured impressive victories. George Pickering of Pontiac Northern set a course record as Northern rolled to a 19-38 win over Livonia Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

Jim Goodfellow of Oxford set the old course record of 9:57.8 last week, Pickering new mark is 9:49. Doug Kurtis of Stevenson placed second followed by four Huskies, Bill Turnbull, Dave Cudnohufsky, Jack Barnes and Tom Barnes.

★ ★ ★

Gary Andrew set the pace for Southfield in a 17-46 romping over Waterford Mott with a winning time of 10:27. Brad Holft, Christ Sorrenson and Jaan Tuulik gave Southfield four of the top five runners. Roger Strader was fourth for Mott.

Walled Lake Western nipped Livonia Churchill 24-35. Jim Kurtis of Churchill was first with three Walled Lake runners following. Walled Lake Central topped Waterford 23-36. Steve Moffet of Waterford of Waterford finished first in 10:11.

★ ★ ★

Waterford Kettering's Kevin Reabe may have established a new course record when his school ran against Milford in a cross country meet Thursday afternoon, but it was the Redskins who came out on top when the final points were tabulated.

★ ★ ★

Milford, the defending Wayne-Oakland league champs, was edged out of first and second by Reabe and Don Meyerhoffer.

★ ★ ★

The Redskins bounced back to win the meet 26-30 on overall points by picking up the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth places.

★ ★ ★

Reabe, who's time of 10:29.5 clipped the course record by 13 seconds, was followed by teammate Meyerhoffer, 10:45, and Milford's Ron Morrison, 10:58.

Major Colleges Start Play

Kentucky Tests Rose Sniffing Indiana

By the Associated Press
Associated Press Sports Writer

Indiana has the potential, Penn State has a puzzle, and Southern California has a problem as most of the nation's major college football teams open the 1969 season Saturday.

Indiana's power-packed Hoosiers, most everyone's choice to represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl this year since Ohio State cannot repeat for the trip, plays at Kentucky in their curtain-raiser.

★ ★ ★

Penn State, ranked No. 2 in the nation last year, faces "an unknown quantity" in Navy, according to Coach Joe Paterno.

And Southern California, which lost to top-ranked Ohio State in the Rose Bowl last year, meets Nebraska with the possibility that No. 1 quarterback Jimmy Jones will be on the shelf.

NEW COACH

Kentucky will be eager for a successful start under new coach John Ray, formerly with Notre Dame. But it appears that the hot shot Hoosiers have too much power with the passing of Harry Gonso and running of John Isenbarger and Jade Butcher.

Paterno says Penn State's game with Navy is the most difficult opener he's faced.

"We know so little about Navy," said Paterno. "They have a new coach, new system and new staff. They're an unknown quantity."

The Middies, who meet Penn State at Annapolis, Md., are under the guidance of Rick Forzano, former coach of Connecticut and an assistant with the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

Coach John McKay of Southern California says that Jones, a highly touted sophomore has been troubled the past several days with muscle spasms in his back and may not play at all.

★ ★ ★

McKay said a final decision will not be made until game time. With two other candidates ailing, the job may fall to the No. 4 quarterback, Greg Briner, another sophomore.

"There's no sense in taking a chance with Jones," said McKay. "His future is too bright."

★ ★ ★

Ohio State is the only team in the Big Ten delaying its start until next week. The Buckeyes make their season debut at home against Texas Christian University on Sept. 27.

★ ★ ★

Other top games Saturday find Northwestern at Notre Dame; Purdue at TCU, Washington State at Illinois, Oregon State at Iowa; Vanderbilt at Michigan; Washington at Michigan State; Oklahoma at Wisconsin; Texas at California and Iowa State at Syracuse.

★ ★ ★

Also Oklahoma State at Arkansas; Houston at Florida; SMU at Georgia Tech; North Carolina at North Carolina State; Alabama at Virginia Tech and these night games, Texas A&M at LSU; Pitt at UCLA; Kansas State at Baylor and Kansas at Texas Tech.

Notre Dame, which lost quarterback Terry Hanratty to graduation, plans to stick more to the ground than usual and rely on the power running of fullback Jeff Zimmerman and halfbacks Denny Allan and Ed Ziegler. Joe Theismann, a scrambling quarterback, will direct the offense.

"Theismann proved in the final three games last year that he can throw the ball," says Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian. "But now he doesn't have any experienced receivers to work with."

Armstrong carpeting is new, tough, soft, clean. And in your neighborhood now.

Lawyer for Refs to Meet NHL Over Dispute

TORONTO (AP) — Charles Mulcahy, vice-president of the Boston Bruins, met Thursday night with Joe Kane, lawyer for 20 National Hockey League referees and linesmen who are refusing to sign 1969-70 contracts until the NHL recognizes their association.

Subject of the discussions at Maple Leaf Gardens was not announced but it was believed Mulcahy was acting as a mediator in the dispute.

★ ★ ★

The 13 referees and seven linesmen walked out of a training camp in Brantford, Ont., Monday, demanding official recognition for their National Hockey League Referees' and Linesmen's Association.

The holdouts, which include veterans Bill Friday, Vern Buffey and Bruce Hood, also are seeking an improved contract system, increased salaries and pension and medical insurance plans paid in full by the NHL.

JUG WAITING — The Little Brown Jug is waiting for Laverne Hanover driven by Billy Haughton in the passing classic for three year olds at Delaware, Ohio. Second is Kat Byrd. Haughton set a record in winning his fourth jug victory. It had a purse of $109,731.

Laverne Sets Pace

Jug Victory 'Never in Doubt'

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Veteran harness race driver Billy Haughton never had any doubts that Laverne Hanover would win the 24th running of the Little Brown Jug.

"The colt raced exactly like I knew he would," Haughton said Thursday after he guided the brilliant brown colt to a raceoff triumph in the pacing classic for 3-year-olds.

"I have been confident all week long. I felt there were two horses to beat—Kat Byrd and Bye Bye Sam."

* * *

The 45-year-old Haughton, who now has won more than $3 million in purses, made it look easy with the Tar Heel son out of Lavish Hanover.

Laverne, racing in his usual style, came from behind with a strong stretch drive to cop the second division by 1¾ lengths over stable entry Nardins Grand Slam.

Haughton didn't wait that long in the raceoff about an hour later directing Laverne to the front just before the three-quarter pole and cruising home 2½ lengths ahead of Kat Byrd.

Laverne covered his first mile around the Delaware County Fairgrounds in 2:00 4-5 and romped the raceoff in 2:00 2-5.

RECORD WIN

Haughton, racking up his fourth Jug triumph, a record, was lavish in his praise of Laverne, owned by Thomas W. Murphy Jr., a stock broker from New York City.

"He is a lot better than Rum Customer. He is consistently good week after week." Haughton won the Jug last year with Rum Customer.

* * *

Murphy, who bought Laverne in a yearling sale for $20,000, has seen his investment pay off more than tenfold.

Laverne's victory here was worth a record $43,892 and padded her season bankroll to well over $210,000.

A record crowd of 44,721 watched the Jug, with its record purse of $109,731, under cool temperatures and cloudy skies, contrasted to Wednesday's heavy rains.

Laverne's two major challengers, Bye Bye Sam and Kat Byrd, did not fare too well. Bye Bye Sam, winner of the Messenger Stake last May, the first leg in pacing's triple crown, finished fourth in the first division and then was scratched because of 103 temperature.

Kat Byrd, racing mostly in the East, finished fourth in the second heat and made a bid in the raceoff before Laverne caught and passed him.

* * *

Lightning Wave, a 12-1 shot, was the upset victor in the first division. Driven by Marc Ferguson, Lightning Wave nosed out Going Thru by a head. The bay colt, owned by Double Z. & P. Stables of Middletown, Ohio, returned $28.40 to his backers but finished dead last in the raceoff.

It marked the eighth straight success for Laverne and his 17th victory in 21 starts. Laverne now moves into the favorite's role for the third leg of the triple—the Cane Futurity at Yonkers Raceway Nov. 22.

Lightning Wave, whose first division victory was worth $16,459, was trying to duplicate the triumph of her father, Shadow Wave, who won the Jug in 1958.

Blues Defeat Toronto

OTTAWA (AP) — Third-period goals by Al Arbour and Ab McDonald led the St. Louis Blues to an uphill 5-3 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs in a National Hockey League exhibition game Thursday night.

Shotput Mark by Russian Gal

ATHENS (AP) — So far at the European Track and Field Championships, the women have been doing all the work.

On the first day of the six-day affair, a burly Russian girl heaved the shot put to a world record. Nadezhda Chizhova a university student at Leningrad set the mark at 67¼ feet after a thrilling duel with her East German rival Margitta Gummel.

* * *

On Thursday at Athens' Karaiskakis Stadium, it was much the same tune, with France's Nicole Duclos, a petite French secretary and Collette Bessom, a physical education teacher from the Bordeaux area.

* * *

Both girls surged to a world record for the 400 meters, clocked in the same time of 51.7.

* * *

They both think the mark can be lowered and in a few years, a woman should run the distance in 50 seconds," said Miss Besson, who usually beats her compatriots in the event.

* * *

But on Thursday, Miss Duclos finished with a last burst of speed and threw herself on the tape to win a photo finish.

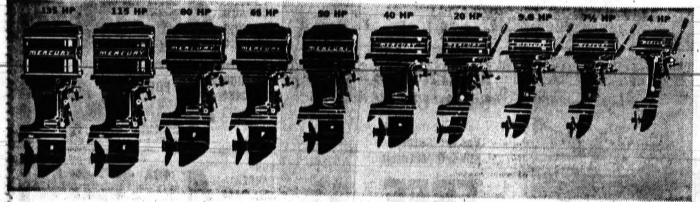
1970 Mercury

Now with Thunderbolt ignition across the line.



New Thunderbolt ignition in every 1970 Mercury!

Breakerless Thunderbolt (no points at all) from the 135 down through the 40 hp.

Mercs from 20 through the 4 hp have new Maker-Point Thunderbolt: the spark plug is fired by the points making contact. This reduces arcing and increases point life. Result: points used in the Mercs from 20 hp down last the life of the engine.

Both Thunderbolt systems are capacitor-discharge type and have the incredibly fast Thunderbolt rise time, which zaps up to 40,000 volts to the spark plugs in microseconds.

With Thunderbolt, Mercury continues to have the hottest spark, the fastest start in boating—for every Mercury in the line.

More news: Perma-Gap spark plugs on all '70 Mercs.

A new super-tough metal alloy for the center electrode resists spark erosion. Under normal operating conditions, Perma-Gap plugs (another Mercury exclusive) will last the life of the engine.

Thunderbolt ignition and Perma-Gap spark plugs prevent spark plug fouling and pre-ignition due to lead deposit . . . so you can take advantage of regular automotive gasoline for every 1970 Mercury.

Northern Regrouping Forces for Invasion by Mott Gridders

The Huskies of Pontiac Northern will have the friendly confines of Wisner Stadium tomorrow night as they make their home debut against Waterford Mott.

Northern was toppled by North Farmington last week, 28-12, and coach Dave Schmidt is hoping to regroup his forces for the contest against Mott.

The game is one of a handful on the Saturday night schedule.

LAKERS HOME

In a pair of Northwest Catholic League games, Hamtramck St. Florian visits Waterford Our Lady of Lakes with kickoff slated for 7:30 on the Waterford Kettering field, while Utica St. Lawrence entertains Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows in an 8 p.m. scrap on the Utica High School field.

* * *

In an afternoon game, Detroit Country Day, a 6-0 winner over Byron last week, visits Columbus Academy.

NO SOFT TOUCH

Mott is no soft touch and Schmidt knows it. He was on hand last Friday as the Corsairs came from behind in the final minute of play to whip township rival Kettering, 14-7.

The Corsairs pass a lot and that's likely to bother the Huskies, since pass defense isn't one of the things they do particularly well.

NEW LINEUP

The PNH defense, with exception of tackles Mario Castillo and Dave Guy, is new and Schmidt attributes the loss to North Farmington primarily to the greenness of that unit.

The Huskies were in the game for a half, trailing 8-6 at intermission, but thereafter it was all North Farmington. "We didn't have the ball," lamented Schmidt. "We had it for only 16 plays in the second half," he added. Usually, a team will have the ball for 30-40 plays a half.

CAUSES WORRIES

And the passing game of Mott does worry Schmidt. In watching the Corsairs down Kettering, the veteran PNH mentor came away impressed with the passing of junior Bill Ziem and the receiving of halfback Terry Ruffatto and end Bob Schupbach.

The game marks the first meeting between Northern and Mott. The Corsairs replace Kettering on PNH's schedule.

* * *

Mott has a veteran club and coach George Perry is obviously optimistic as he views the '69 season.

LAKERS SHARP

Coach Joe Sharpe and the Lakers of WOLL were impressive last week in their 38-0 romp past St. Rita, and they aren't expected to have more than token opposition from St. Florian.

The Lakers, sparked by halfback Jim Tracey, were a pre-season pick to battle Ferndale St. James for the Northwest championship. The Lakers were the only team to down St. James last season.

Survey Starts on BH School Rec Programs

How does the recreation program stack up?

That's the question officials are trying to answer in a survey now under way in the Bloomfield Hills School District.

* * *

A three-page questionnaire mailed to residents of the district this week by the Bloomfield Hills Recreation Commission asks for opinions concerning existing recreational programs and facilities in the district.

Recreation officials say the results from the survey will be used in planning for the recreational needs of the district. The school district provides the budget for administration of the recreation program and makes facilities available, while the operating budget is self-sustaining through a schedule of fees and charges.

Swim Coach Is Selected

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Clarence "Chick" Webb was named head swimming coach at Temple University Thursday, succeeding Joe Verduer.

Webb coached at the city's George Washington high school the last six years and produced five undefeated teams.

Broncos Face Strong Pacific

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Western Michigan's new offense has passed its first football test but Saturday it may be the Broncos' defense which is under fire.

Using its new triple option formation, Western rolled over Central Michigan 24-0 in its season last Saturday.

* * *

This Saturday, the opposition is more imposing. The Broncos take on University of the Pacific on the Tigers' home field.

Pacific fell before Texas-El Paso 14-10 in its own opener last weekend but the Tigers should thoroughly test Western's comparatively inexperienced defensive unit.

The Tigers lost only 10 lettermen through graduation after a 7-3 season in 1968—their best in a decade. Thirty-two lettermen are back, including the entire backfield, and the Tigers are two deep with experienced players at most positions.

Bailey Joins Bruins

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Garnet Bailey, third-year professional from Lloydminster, Sask., has signed his 1969-70 contract with the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

Jim Lonborg Is Sidelined by Injury

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg, who has had nothing but trouble since the glory days of 1967, may be sidelined for the rest of this season as a result of a freak injury.

The tall right-hander suffered a badly lacerated foot when he slipped while racing through a heavy rainstorm Wednesday night, and a club spokesman said Thursday it appeared he might be through for the season.

* * *

Lonborg had driven home from Fenway Park after a game against the Baltimore Orioles was rained out, and reports were that he was wearing sandals and no socks.

When he got out of his car in the parking lot of his apartment building he sprinted for the structure, but slipped.

The accident was only the latest in the long series of troubles which have plagued Lonborg ever since he pitched the Red Sox to the 1967 pennant with a 22-9 record, won two more games in the World Series, and was named the AL's Cy Young Award winner as its top pitcher.

An off-season ski injury that year followed by other problems in the spring and summer reduced his effectiveness in 1968, which he finished with a 6-10 record. This year, again plagued by a series of physical ailments, he had fashioned only a 7-11 mark.

Fireworks Due in Golf Play

Senior Amateur in Quarter-Final Round

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The opening quarter-final match between David Goldman of Dallas, Tex., and Bob Cochran of St. Louis was expected to produce the most fireworks today in the United States Golf Association's Senior amateur tournament.

Goldman is the tournament medalist and the world senior champion. Cochran, 57, ex-Walker Cupper and former four-time amateur champion of Missouri, is noted for his tenacious shot-making under tournament pressure.

* * *

The quarter-finals were being played this morning and the semifinals this afternoon.

Three national champions were in the quarter-final field. They were defending champion Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn.; Raymond Palmer of Grosse Ile, Mich., the 1967 titlist; and Merrill Carlsmith of Hilo, Hawaii, champion in 1962 and 1963.

Palmer was matched against Robert Loufek of Rock Island, Ill.; Carlsmith against Alan Howard, Des Moines, Iowa; and Person against Len Bjorklund, Edina, Minn.

Burton Scores Decision

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Willie Burton of New York scored a 10-round decision over Al Banks of Dallas Thursday night. Burton, who was penalized four times for low blows, weighed 190 and Banks 195.

Black Hawks' Star Suffers Mild Attack

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenny Wharram 37-year-old rightwinger for the Chicago Black Hawks, suffered a slight heart attack Thursday night, the club announced.

Wharram entered Henrotin Hospital Monday with pericarditis—inflammation of the membrane enclosing the heart.

Attendants said his condition was satisfactory.

Wharram, from Ferris, Ont., has been a Hawk regular since 1958. He scored 30 goals last season. His best season was 1963-64 when he scored 39 goals and was named on the All-Star first team.

Laker Sold to Bucks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks announced Thursday they had purchased Fred Crawford, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound guard, from the Los Angeles Lakers.

The only thing good enough to cover Armstrong tile is new Armstrong carpeting.

Action Heavy in Keg Classic

Crown Heating Leads County League

Action continues hot and heavy in the Oakland All-Star Classic with seven teams, out of a total of 14, tied for various positions in the latest standings.

* * *

Crown Heating, which had been leading the pack for most of the competition, found itself in a tie for first place with Hartford Roof, each team with 12-4 won-lost point record.

* * *

The Hartford team, behind Ed Gibbs' 648 series, high for the week, recorded a combined total of 2946 as compared to Crown's 2666 total last week. Tony Ledesma and Bob Chamberlain aided Hartford's winning edge with series of 594 and 602, respectively.

* * *

Vincent Sanders, of Redford Trophy, led all bowlers last week in the high series with a 709 total followed by Ed Gibbs, 648; Jim Milford, 621; Mo Moore, 612; Rich Toles, 609; Bob Chamberlain, 602; and Ed Jostock, 601.

* * *

Individual high game honors also went to Sanders with a 277, followed by Karl Vandermortel, 250; Sanders, 231; Ed Gibbs, 226; and Rock Klein, 225.

* * *

Monday night the Oakland All-Star Classic will resume competition at the Savoy Lanes in Pontiac, and Yorba Linda Lanes, Royal Oak the following Monday.

HEY, UP THERE — Anybody home? David Stewart, 3, heard the story of "Jack, the Giant Killer" in nursery school and he's just a little bit leery of what might be lurking at the top of the sunflower in his backyard. About 14-foot high, it grew two feet during the last week. David is the son of the Jack Stewarts of 3700 David K, Waterford Township.

Heavy Shade Can Hurt Tree

That tree providing abundant shade from the hot sun may be giving too much shade for its own good.

A tree expert says "if a tree's crown is too thick, twigs and branches die for lack of sufficient sunlight. And a top-heavy tree is a push-over when gale winds strike."

Overshade cuts off needed air and light to grass and plantings nearby.

Too much shade induces growth of mildews and molds on leaves of plants and garden furniture.

GRAY MOLD

Gray mold, fostered by heavy shade, attacks lilacs and other shrubs, causing leaves to dry up, stems to curl and twist.

To correct overshading, prune to open the crown of a tree to sunlight.

Thin out excessive branches, cut back wayward ones, eliminate cross-over branches rubbing against each other, and eliminate hazardous branches overhanging sidewalks, drives or buildings.

A Pretty Planter

Two large clay pots of 10 or 12 inches make an attractive chairside planter. Simply glue their bottoms together, and run a dowel through both drainage holes. The top of one pot will sit solidly on the floor and the other will hold the plant.

Purchasing Top Quality Bulbs Insures Good Results

An especially nice way to cure winter blues is the indoor blooming of forced daffodils, hyacinths or tulips.

Bulb varieties recommended for forcing are large, firm and perfect. It's not a good idea to economize on bulbs, for when you buy top-quality, you'll be sure of good results.

* * *

Choose the right kind of quality container, too. The low squatty red clay pots known as bulb pans are recommended by expert professional growers.

A four- or five-inch bulb pan will accommodate one hyacinth, one or possibly two daffodils and two or three tulip bulbs. A 6- or 7-inch pot can be planted more extensively — with three or four hyacinths or daffodils, and four to six tulips. Use the same variety in a single pot so all bulbs in one pot will flower at the same time.

READY TO PLANT

When ready to plant, cover the drainage hole of each clay bulb pan with a flat or concave piece of broken flower pot, and fill in a half-inch of pebbles. Garden soil rich in humus and sand is good for bulb forcing.

Fill the pot with soil, leaving about three inches of space to the rim, and place the bulbs on the soil bed with about a half-inch of space between them. Fill in soil so the necks of the bulbs remain slightly out of the potting mixture, and press soil down firmly to eliminate any large air pockets. Leave some space between the rim of the pot and the top of the soil to facilitate watering.

Then thoroughly water each pot. After soaking, cover each pot with an inverted clay pot of the same size to protect new shoots as they grow.

Next, place each pot and its covering in a deep trench or coldframe for an 8 to 10 week rooting period. Fill in six inches of soil over the tops of the pots and then cover with a thick layer of leaves or salt-hay mulch. Temperature in the coldframe should remain constant at about 40 degrees.

BEGIN FORCING

About ten weeks later root structures should be formed and you can begin forcing. Check this by digging up one pot and gently knocking the soil ball from the pot to see if it is covered with a network of roots. If it is, bring the pot into a 50 to 55 degree north window until shoots turn green.

It can then be moved to a sunny degree location, with soil kept well-watered, and the blooming period will begin.

Bring several pots in at the same time for a lavishly colorful display, or force your bulbs one by one in succession, to spread out the blooming period.

* * *

If you plant your bulbs by October 15, your home will be alive with the lovely colors and perfume of springtime during January and February.

The farmer who improves the fertility of his soil is truly a public servant and will leave more for posterity than he takes for himself.

Hardy Bulbs Fall Planted

The best time to plant hardy bulbs is in the fall — this includes tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, crocus and similar bulbs either for formal beds or field use.

Peonies and similar hardy roots can be planted in the fall, as can daylilies.

* * *

Perennials may be planted in the fall or spring. A good rule to follow is that known hardy plants and bulbs of all kinds can be planted in the fall, as desired.

Nurserymen are the principle sources for the quality bulbs and perennials.

RELIABLE SOURCE

Avoid undersized bulbs and perennials. Purchase them from a reliable source if you wish success.

* * *

Bulbs range in size from small bulblets for a coupls of cents to 20 cents or more each for the best quality. The latter will produce numerous flowers, compared to one, or none, from the bulblets.

Even for hybridizing the larger bulbs are often preferred. There are many kinds of daffodils and tulips.

* * *

Ask your nurseryman to show you color photos of them, or select them from your favorite mail order nursery catalogue.

Green Will Be Very Big in Fall

Green will be a very big color this fall, especially in house plants. Visit your local florist or grower and see the many different clay-potted foliage plants avilable. They'll range from small cacti in 2-inch clay pots to a large specimen palm or philodendron that will decorate a corner of the living room.

* * *

Make sure you select quality green plants, grown and conditioned in red clay pots for your local environment.

Frank's has helped improve 927,755,000 square feet of lawns in Michigan this year by selling famous Scotts products to 128,181 customers with the understanding that if they were in any way dissatisfied with the results their money would be promptly and smilingly refunded at the store.

997 OUT OF EVERY 1,000 WERE COMPLETELY SATISFIED

They enjoyed thick, green, healthy and weed-free lawns with the use of Scotts products. But what of the others? In some cases heavy rains washed away the recently applied product. In other cases severe drought took its toll. These customers expressed something less than complete satisfaction.

THE OTHER 3 CUSTOMERS

Approximately three customers out of every thousand sought a refund on Scotts products from Frank's. In every case they received their money back in full . . . promptly, courteously and without embarrassing questions, or delays, just as we promised.

Hang Up Your Hoe: Cleaned and in Tip-Top Shape

Tradition says it's time to hang up the hoe, but don't put it or any other tool away dirty. This doesn't mean you should make a fetish of it. However, if you take a little more time now your tools will be clean, sharp and ready to do a good job for you when you need them again.

First be sure all are free of caked mud and soil. An old trowel is good for scraping dirty, they will become rusted and hard to use.

* * *

It is also a good idea to run a sharp file or sharpening stone over the cutting edge of all shovels, hoes, etc. If you have an emery wheel to hold them against, results are even better. In either case, you will be surprised how much more efficiently sharp tools work.

* * *

Finally, wipe off all metal parts with an oil-soaked rag to prevent rust.

ENGLISH HABIT

Many English gardeners have a habit which we would do well to copy even if our climate is not as wet as theirs. They keep a pail or small drum of oily sand where they store their tools and every time they use one, they just jab it into the sand and remove it. This both cleans and oils in one operation.

If tool handles haven't been treated for several years, rub them with linseed oil. This will keep them from absorbing water in wet weather, and from getting too dried out during drought times. Wooden ladders should also be treated with linseed oil periodically.

* * *

Have you considered painting your tool handles with some identifying mark? One or more bands of luminous paint is ideal for this. Then if you mislay or leave tools in the grass, you can easily find them even in poor light. Such markings are also handy if you live in a neighborhood where others borrow your tools.

Garden tools with movable parts such as rotary lawn shears need a spot of penetrating or machine oil on the pins on which they work and between all moving parts. If any handles are broken or cracked, this is also a good time to remove the old ones and replace them.

TIP-TOP SHAPE

Finally, don't just toss your tools into a corner of your cellar or garage. Stand them up where they can be seen or hang them on pegs in the wall. This will keep your newly cleaned and sharpened tools out of any water that may spill on the floor and free from most dust and dirt. Your tools will be in tip-top shape when you need them again.

Tulips Must Be Planted in the Fall

Inexperienced gardeners often make the mistake of planting tulips in the early spring, expecting a beautiful display that same year. The fact is, the tulip — as well as the daffodil, crocus, and hyacinth — must be planted in the fall to ensure their emergence the following spring.

When planting these hardy varieties, gardening experts recommend removing five to six inches of soil from the planting area (depending on the size of the bulb) and setting the bulb in place. Mix equal parts of soil and horticultural vermiculite and fill the hole with the mixture.

* * *

Once introduced into the soil, vermiculite remains as a permanent conditioner. Heavy clay soils are aerated and broken up. Sandy soils are given new body with vermiculite. Moisture is controlled and released to the plant as needed.

After planting, the beds should remain untouched until the frost has penetrated an inch or two. At this time, spread two or three inches of vermiculite over the bulbs as a mulch. Because of its insulating properties, vermiculite prevents the frost from penetrating too deeply.

IN SPRING

In spring, before the first growth appears above the surface, the coarse portions of the mulch should be removed.

These hardy spring-flowering bulbs will add greatly to the beauty of any garden as long as they are planted in the fall and then protected through the winter.

Apple Harvester Aids Efficiency, Lessens Bruises

A mechanical apple harvester with a new catching frame has been tested in New York State.

To minimize bruises and improve handling efficiency, the new frame consists of two wings with eight built-in conveyor belts that occupy the entire surface of the frame. These conveyors transfer apples more rapidly and efficiently.

* * *

Two layers of nylon-fabric strips are stretched above the conveyors to catch and filter apples as they are shaken from the tree by the arms of the machine. Cross conveyor belts at the end of the frame fill the collecting boxes with apples. False, padded bottoms in the containers move up and down to take in apples gently.

The machine can harvest 150 to 200 bushels per hour, the developers report.

Armstrong tile grows up. Now, test-sit Armstrong carpeting.

Good Gardener Keeps Vegetable Beds in Full Production

You can always tell a good gardener by the way he keeps his garden busy growing something. No space is wasted and after the yearly crops are out something else goes in.

So, even the smallest gardens can be highly productive.

* * *

In general, it appears better to follow leaf with root crops and vice versa, nitrogen-fixing types like beans and peas with non-nitrogen fixing ones, etc.

A little known plant that makes a good second crop is Chinese cabbage, which can be eaten like lettuce or cabbage. In fact, one reason it is not well-known is the fact that it does not do well planted early. Don't even try to plant it before mid-July.

Still another which makes fast growth and does well planted late is the kohlrabi. If you don't know it, It's a white turnip-shaped vegetable that grows just above the ground and tastes like a very mild cabbage. (It can be sliced raw in salads or the slices cooked in soups or stews).

WINTERING OVER

Finally, in September spinach and corn salad can be planted for wintering over. And, of course, farther south, like Tidewater Virginia, greens and similar plants are sown to stay out all winter.

* * *

However, even though the garden was dug up in the spring, don't count upon that again. Turn the soil over with a spade or fork once more working in another two or three pounds of a good vegetable fertilizer and a little compost per 100 square feet. Then rake it smooth again before planting.

* * *

If the season is dry, it often helps to soak the larger seeds over night before planting or to pour water in the furrows before covering the seed.

Another practice that works very well to speed up germination is to cover the rows with boards, newspapers or old burlap bags until the seedlings show above ground. After that, water and cultivate to keep down weeds as necessary.

PULL OLD CROPS

Finally, as space becomes empty late in the season pull out the old crops, loosen the soil again and sow it with winter rye to put humus back into the soil when it is spaded in next spring. The winter rye is sown at the rate of ½ pound per 100 square feet.

"Conservation of souls and conservation of soil are inseparable — what is good for the land is good for man." — Morris E. Fonda, "THE LORD'S LAND."

Experts Say Store Plants

Dahlias and tuberous begonias, like so many of the really colorful plants, are just too tender to survive a winter outdoors. This goes for cannas, caladiums, and gladiolus as well.

Gardening experts at W. R. Grace & Co.'s Zonolite Division recommend lifting the roots, tubers and corms of these plants shortly after the first killing frost, and storing them for the next year.

* * *

Dig far enough away from the base of the plants, and deep enough to avoid injury. Leave the soil clinging to dahlia tubers and canna and caladium roots. Store them in a dry spot until the soil dries and falls away from the roots. Shake off remaining soil and cut away the dried stem.

Also cut away diseased or soft spots, and dust the cut surfaces with sulphur or captan.

SECOND LAYER

Pour some horticultural vermiculite in a box. Rest the tubers or roots in the box and completely cover them with a second layer of vermiculite. Store at temperatures between 40 and 50 degrees. Vermiculite's insulating properties will protect roots against moisture, mildew and severe temperature changes.

* * *

Treat begonia tubers and gladiolus corms the same way. But store them at temperatures not lower than 50 degrees. Roots should be checked periodically for drying or rotting. If roots begin to shrivel, moisten vermiculite slightly.

Floribunda Now Factor in Flowers

The Floribunda rose is an evolution from the small Polyantha through intermediary sizes to the present size Floribunda rose which is becoming so much a part of the flower world.

It was hybridized from varieties which had hardiness, firmness of color and general shapeliness in plant and flower.

* * *

The flower itself is invariably a small Hybrid Tea and it has some features which make it very outstanding over other types of roses.

The plants remain clean and are very disease resistant, have the tendency to resist blackspot and other diseases which has helped to retain their foliage down to the very ground.

INTENSIVE EFFORT

In fact, the Floribunda rose is the result of intensive effort to have roses for every door yard which require little care and have a great amount of bloom.

The present Floribunda is emerging that way and is going to stay as a definite factor in the rose family.

It is going to be an influence in the use of roses—just like the early French roses which bloomed only once in the olden days.

* * *

The Floribunda rose is going to be one of the major items of decoration for yards, gardens and parks for many generations to come.

Now's Ideal Time to Kill Annual Crabgrass, Bluegrass

From now until mid-September is an ideal time for homeowners to knock down annual bluegrass and crabgrass with a single punch. A treatment with one lawn herbicide will get them both.

* * *

Everybody hates crabgrass, but homeowners may ask: Who wants to kill bluegrass?

If you have annual bluegrass you should want to control it, according to lawn-care experts at Stauffer Chemical Company. It is a far cry from its desirable turf relatives, the perennial bluegrasses.

Annual bluegrass, scientifically named Poa annua, actually is a weed common to lawns across the country. The real hot spots, however, for reasons too complex to explain, are the New York City metropolitan-suburban area and Oklahoma!

Why is annual bluegrass bad? Golf course superintendents will tell you that it germinates and the seeds are spread easily by you pale yellow seedheads appear in the fall; then generally lies dormant over the winter months (in the north).

In the spring it competes vigorously with desirable lawn and park grasses. Then the characteristic hot, dry summer weather arrives, the Poa annua dies out, and large, ugly bare spots are left in the lawn.

If you have Poa annua in your lawn, chances are you are over an area.

GOOD CHANCE

The lawn men at Stauffer point out that homeowners in and around New York City and Oklahoma have one good chance left this year to control next year's Poa annua and crabgrass headaches with an application of betasan® herbicide, a unique product.

As a pre-emergence herbicide, Betasan stops annual bluegrass before it starts by destroying 'germinating' seeds. However, it allows the desirable perennial bent, fescue and bluegrass varieties to fill in during their period of most rapid growth — cool weather.

* * *

Betasan herbicide is available from Scott and Ortho lawn product dealers in the New York area and across the country. Just follow directions on the label for controlling both annual bluegrass and crabgrass. The herbicide can be applied as a granular material in a conventional lawn spreader, or as a spray.

champ when it comes to taking just helping it wipe out good grasses in the spring when you go out there early and pour on the lawn fertilizer!

Crabgrass, the other villian of this story, comes on a little later, but it is the all-time champ when it comes to taking over an area.

Evergreens Keep Color All Winter

Any home property in the temperate zone can be drab and dreary in the winter months when lawns are dormant, unless there are generous plantings of evergreens which maintain their color all winter.

Red-berried trees and shrubs can provide warmth.

* * *

In snowy climates, snow and evergreens go beautifully together, adding a live-in hospitable look to the property.

The hemlocks, yews, junipers, spruces and arborvitae add varying green coloring from the deepest greens of the yews, to the gray-blues of spruces like koster, Coorado, and Black Hills, and Pfister junipers; the lighter green of Arbor vitae.

WELCOME COLOR

A mixture of evergreens provides most welcome color.

Holly, rhododendrons and other plants may be evergreen to give variety of leaf structure, while the barks of deciduous trees and shrubs may excite considerable winter interest.

* * *

Birch, beech, Enouymous alatus have interesting bark structure.

The branch structure of fruit trees can be intriguing against snow, providing there are splashes of green foliage to offset the deserted look of winter browns, grays and whites.

SUGGESTIONS

Nurserymen have numerous suggestions for winter color and warmth which can serve in other seasons as well.

Shady Spots Need Color

Do you see shady spots before your eyes?

If so, brighen them with a multicolored show of tuberous begonias in individual red clay pots from five to 10 inches in diameter.

They can be put out any time after danger of frost is past.

Indoor Gardens Cure the Blues

End of the summer blues can be partially cured by bringing a portion of the garden back indoors this fall. Some of the clay-potted plants that have been "plunged" in planter box or garden soil may have outgrown their old homes.

If plants do need repotting, choose clay pots a size or two larger than the one the plant is in now and soak new clay pots in water for an hour or two before using.

Outlook for Michigan's U.P. Generally Favorable

By United Press International

Michigan's Upper Peninsula, with a long history of economic boom or bust, is going through a period of transition that could lead to a new era of prosperity and stability.

Although there are some bleak spots, the general outlook for Michigan north of the Straits of Mackinac is favorable.

* * *

Diversification is the key — less reliance upon hard mining and lumbering, the two industries that built the U.P. but also have been responsible for its mercurial economic history.

The U.P. comprises about one-third of Michigan's land area, but only 3 per cent of the state's population. As a consequence, the U.P. often comes out on the short end. But this is changing.

STAKE IN U.P.

As Gov. William G. Milliken recently said: "All of Michigan has a stake in what is happening in the Upper Peninsula just as all of Michigan has a stake in what is happing in the more heavily populated areas."

Tourism is one of the important new contributors to the economy.

* * *

With its vast areas of wilderness, hundreds of miles of shoreline and clean, clear air almost everywhere, the Upper Peninsula is beginning to realize its potential as a tourists' playground — summer and winter.

This past summer was the best on record, and the lowering of the tolls on the Mackinac Bridge to $1.50 one way is given much of the credit.

NICE WEATHER

The weatherman also cooperated, bringing the second warmest August on record and keeping rainfall at a minimum.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission estimates that tourists generate $1 of every $3 of retail sales in the Upper Peninsula. And the Upper Peninsula Michigan Tourist Association reports that $190 million annually is added to the economy.

* * *

The tourist association says if the U.P. is to increase its share of the competitive tourism dollar, it will have to spend hundreds of millions in the next decade on advertising and development of new recreational complexes.

But as Sault Ste. Marie discovered, tourism alone is not enough.

Nearly 1 million persons came to the Soo this summer to visit the new Poe Locks and spend more than ever. Yet the historic city has fallen on hard times, and things probably will get worse before they bet better.

The city is feeling the shockwaves of the defense department's decision to close nearby Kincheloe Air Force Base by October 1970.

The base contributes mightily to the economy of the tricounty area of Chippewa, Mackinac and Luce with 12,000 airmen, 400 civilian employes and an annual payroll of $24 million.

Loss of such a resource is a heavy blow, particularly to a city without any industries to take up the slack.

COOPERATION

The state and federal government are cooperating with the counties to find industrial tenants for the $72-million Kincheloe facility, but there is great concern.

"The people are scared and justifiably so," said Cevil Darnell, executive director of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce.

* * *

Robert McDonald, director of a privately funded industrial council, is cautiously optimistic that new occupants for Kincheloe will be found.

A group of promoters, he said, "has three or four industries ready to move in." His fingers were crossed.

CANADIANS ENVIED

People on the Michigan side of the Soo have some reason to look with envy on their Canadian neighbors in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Bill Drapper, secretary of the city's chamber of commerce, foresees "great expansion of secondary industry" — expansion that is being encouraged by the Canadian government.

* * *

Canada classified the area as a "development area" and therefore eligible to use government grants and loans to lure new industry and stimulate growth of existing plants.

Under this program, a firm could receive up to $12 million in assistance for expansion or location.

ECONOMY HURT

The economy on the Candian side at present, however, has been damaged by a complicated labor dispute at Algona Steel Corp., the city's largest employer. About 8,000 workers were off their jobs for more than six weeks.

Both cities have reaped benefits from the Poe Locks that have made the Soo seaway the busiest in the world. But more advantage could be taken if either city had a port to permit shipping on the giant freighters that pass by empty.

* * *

Fortunately for the eastern U.P., the least-known mining activity — limestone quarrying — continues to flourish with three operations in Chippewa and Machinac counties producing about 10 million tons of limestone each year.

In the western regions, copper and iron ore, the mainstays of the U.P. economy for 100 years, are enjoying minor booms, despite setbacks such as the closing of the Calumet mines 13 months ago.

MORE EFFICIENT

Although the number of iron ore mines will have declined from 36 in 1950 to nine by the end of the year, those that are operating are doing well through more efficient operations. Modern "pelletizing" plants on the Marquette and Menominee ranges are producing a higher grade of ore.

Through the years more than 1,000 mines operated in the copper country on Keweenaw Peninsula, and until the turn of the century Michigan ranked No. 1 in copper production.

* * *

Today, there is only one active copper mine — at White Pine, some 75 miles southwest of the heart of the copper country.

Some 25,000 tons of ore, with 22 pounds of copper per ton, are being mined daily at White Pine. And 2,600 persons are employed.

The forestry industry also is enjoying a resurgence. In the last four years paper and lumber firms have invested more than $400 million in 13 new plants and expansion of 10 others. The industry will spend $150 million more in the next few years.

There has been encouraging development of secondary industries, some of which are dependent on ore and lumber but many which are not.

* * *

The Chamber of Commerce recently reported that in the last four years, $20 million has been invested in general manufacturing.

The northern beef enterprises demonstration center near Chatham in Alger County is an example of efforts to diversify and make fuller use of natural resources.

Financed in part by a $104,200 grant by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, the center will bring new jobs and new dollars to an area where both are in short supply.

* * *

The expansion of educational facilities has provided a stabilizing force. Building programs are under way at Michigan Tech at Houghton and at Northern Michigan University at Marquette.

The Houghton-Hancock economy would have been hurt much more than it was by the closing of the Calumet mines had it not been for the growth — and steady paydays — of Michigan Tech.

The development of winter sports activities is bringing new money to the Upper Peninsula. Snowmobiles abound.

Ironwood will have the first ski-flying hill in North America this winter, and will be host to the first International Ski Flying Meet in the Western Hemisphere.

While the general picture for the U.P. is bright, age-old problems persist: a sparse and declining population, distance from markets, inadequate highways.

But even the U.P.'s remoteness is being turned to advantage as urban centers become more congested, the air and water more polluted and the streets less safe.

Junior Editors Quiz on YAWNING

QUESTON: What makes us yawn?

* * *

ANSWER: Please don't fall asleep while we're explaining what a yawn is, as all the people in the picture seem to be doing. Although we don't catch yawns, as we might some illness, they certainly seem to pass from person to person.

This is caused by suggestion. If we see another doing something, we often want to do it, too.

Scientists do not know the whole story about yawning. They are not certain about what section of the nervous system controls it. They say it is an involuntary reflex, something you do without consciously meaning to do so.

Once started, it's difficult to stop. You can close your mouth, but the contraction of muscles inside goes on.

Yawning, caused by drowsiness, is a kind of warning telling us we need to sleep. At the same time, by opening your mouth wide and stretching the muscles you are getting more air into your lungs and helping the blood circulate.

This tends to keep you awake until you can get the sleep you need. People probably cover their yawns with their hands because they know they're not very pretty while yawning.

Trade Moderately Active

Mart Inches Slightly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market inched slightly higher in moderately active trading early this afternoon, with gains leading losses by a bit better than 150 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 0.47 at 832.04.

* * *

Analysts said the market was getting some early buoyancy from selective buying but added that investors were made cautious by the approaching weekend as well as "waiting to see if the market would be able to penetrate the 840 level of the Dow industrial."

They said that "to get a sustained move the market has to push through the 840, and this might bring in a lot of the cash currently sitting on the sidelines."

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .3 at 290.6, with industrials up .3, rails up .1, and utilities up .4.

Oils, some of which had been hit by profit taking recently, were mixed.

Texaco, third most-active on the New York Stock Exchange, was up ¼ at 31½. Occidental Petroleum was off 1¼ at 26⅝; Natomas, up 1½ at 98⅞; Ashland Oil, up 1⅛ at 35⅞; Standard Oil of California, off ⅛ at 58; and Standard Oil (Ind.), up ⅜ at 54¼.

Hare Is Eying Education Post

Retiring Secretary Won't Quit Politics

LANSING (UPI) — A thinner, older James M. Hare is bowing out of the secretary of state's job he has held for the last 15 years, and wants a younger man to replace him.

"A guy who's had a couple of heart attacks does not have the stamina to run day after day," Hare told a news conference yesterday.

* * *

But Hare, whose name has become virtually synonymous in Michigan with his title, indicated his political career does not end here. He said that, instead of seeking an eighth term, he may run for one of the statewide education posts where he can still be in pubic service but under less pressure.

* * *

The 59-year-old Hare spoke of his "disappointments" in failing to win passage of legislative programs in recent years and to enact a "public disclosure" bill to require political candidates to report sources of income.

SET AN EXAMPLE

New administrations are placing "too much emphasis" on simply pouring more money into programs that aren't working well, the pipe-smoking secretary said. "I did try to set an example in my own department by reducing the budget by several million dollars," he said.

Two severe heart attacks — the latest in 1968 — prompted Hare to say, "I feel that my successor should be a younger man, hopefully dedicated to those same programs and able to devote the necessary 60 hours a week to the job that it requires . . .

* * *

"I was putting in 80-90 hours a week and I just can't do that anymore."

Hare was asked if state law requires he resign from his present position to be eligible to run for an education post in 1970.

"If it comes to that you can forget the education post," he said.

Griffin Bids for Post as GOP Whip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has declared himself a candidate for the job of minority whip in the U.S. Senate.

Griffin announced Thursday also that he would not be a candidate for minority leader.

* * *

No one else has declared for the No. 2 spot but Griffin is among six who have been mentioned by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the present whip who is running for the Senate Republican leadership.

* * *

The others are Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, James B. Pearson of Kansas, Jack Miller of Iowa, Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska.

BIGGER LEAD

Scott claimed Thursday a steadily widening lead in the three-man race for the Senate minority leadership—a vacancy created by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Baker and Hruska are fighting Scott for the post.

* * *

Scott said, "We're just stapling everything down, just getting insurance votes."

Scott said a caucus is slated for next Wednesday where a new leader and assistant leader will be elected.

Weather Ignorance Costly to Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — "A trend in recent years to cool weather in the Southeast will be broken this winter. In fact, the entire Middle and South Atlantic region will have a mild and open winter.

CUNNIFF

"Coastal stations will receive substantially below normal precipitation totals with little, if any, snow . . . Marked dryness and warmth in the Florida peninsula suggests an ideal winter tourist season . . ."

* * *

Could businessmen benefit from such long-range forecasts, scietifically made four to six months ahead of time? Could a manufacturer of tires, for example feel confident in September that fewer snow tires will be needed in Richmond, Va., next February?

Through the years businessmen have lost billions of dollars by failing to understand how weather changes their markets. Like others, they do a lot of talking but little else.

CURIOUS ATTITUDE

The attitude is a curious one, for healthy businesses seldom overlook chances for reducing losses by employing the skills and machines of science to reduce variables and lessen risks.

Highway contractrs, for example, use seismometers to estimate the cubic yards of cuts and fills needed before making bids. They measure distances exactly. They check prices of equipment. And then they flip a coin about the weather.

* * *

Often it is this very factor that forces them to take losses. Heavy rains can bog down trucks. Early frost can make earth-moving difficult. Snow can immobilize every man and machine.

Retailers, farmers, air-conditioner manufacturers and others have from time to time made efforts greater than flipping a coin. A pharmaceutical company sends copies of long-range forecasts by Weather Trends Inc. to 60,000 doctors. And many businesses consult Dr. Irving Krick of Palm Springs, Calif.

DESPAIR, IGNORANCE

Often, however, the attitude of business is one of despair and ignorance.

"Businessmen don't know how or to what extent their businesses are operationally weather-sensitive," says Dr. Hurd C. Willett, professor emeritus of meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

* * *

It is Willet who signed his name to the forecast for the lower East Coast states, now being distributed to clients of a newly formed, Boston-based company called Statistical Weather Information.

* * *

"Even those who subscribe to long-range forecasts misuse them, perhaps turning them over to the comptroller," said John Prohaska, a meteorologist. Willet, Prohaska and Dr. Donald DeVorkin, all with MIT backgrounds, are founders of SWI.

ASSEMBLE DATA

After years of research the three scientists have assembled 400,000 bits of weather information. The mass is fed into electronic computers for statistical relationships that become the basis for forecasts up to six months ahead.

* * *

The data, collected from Weather Bureau, private and military records covering thousands of square miles and several decades, are staggering.

* * *

To determine what the temperature will be at a given point six months hence, for example, atmospheric pressure readings for 30 years at 132 locations from England to Japan and Mexico to the Arctic are analyzed.

More Unions Seek Tie to ALA, Reuther Says

DETROIT (AP) — Despite an AFL-CIO threat to expel the International Chemical Workers for joining, Walter P. Reuther says several other unions have applied for membership in the Alliance for Labor Action—ALA —formed by his United Auto Workers and the Teamsters.

* * *

While he declined in an interview to name the applicants, Reuther said, "We will be acting on those shortly and will announce them" when they are voted in.

So far the Chemical Workers is the only AFL-CIO union to join the ALA, and AFL-CIO President George Meany wants their 110,000 members expelled as a lesson to the federation's other 121 unions that they can't have one foot in his camp and the other in Reuther's.

The ouster move will come next month at the AFL-CIO convention. "It's a hard decision but there's no choice," says one high AFL-CIO official. Meany views the alliance as a competitive organization, damaging to the trade union movement.

CHARGE DENIED

Reuther, on the other hand, says this isn't so, that the ALA "is not a dual labor organization."

"If those who apply for ALA membership want to stay in the AFL-CIO, that's all right with us," Reuther said. "If they do not choose to remain, that also is O.K."

* * *

"Our movement is not designed to divide the AFL-CIO, just to revitalize it."

Accusing the 75-year-old Meany of being dictatorial, ignoring the AFL-CIO constitution and of permitting the labor movement to "vegetate," the 62-year-old Reuther pulled his 1.7-million member United Auto Workers out of the federation last year.

* * *

A few months later he joined the 1.9-million-member Teamsters Union in forming ALA. The Teamsters were kicked out of the AFL-CIO on corruption charges in 1957.

Smallest Hike in Prices Set by Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has posted the smallest price increase of the Big Three automakers, but the No. 3 car producer is also spending less money than Ford and General Motors to convert previously optional equipment to standard items on 1970 models.

Chrysler said $28 of the $107 increase in the sticker price of its average car would come from making items such as fiber-glass-belted tires, which were optional on 1969 models, standard equipment on 1970s.

* * *

Ford said roughly $55 of its $108 increase went for this purpose and GM allocated $40 of its $125 increase.

All three auto makers said the biggest previously optional item was figer-glass-belted tires, which will be standard on all GM models and on most Ford and Chrysler products.

ITEMS VARY

The other now-standard items vary from model to model but they include power disc brakes on all Chevrolet Chevelle eight-cylinder station wagons ($61) and on Ford LTD's ($69).

"Genuine walnut interior accents," an optional item last year, are now standard on Ford's $6,822 Continental Mark III.

"That's real wood," explained a Ford spokesman, adding he wasn't sure what the walnut trim cost as an option.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own CPC International, Detroit Edison and Sterling Drug, all bought at high prices. Is this a good time, now that they're lower, to add to them? — W.E.

* * *

A. Before making further purchases it is important to decide on your investment objective. You have two income holdings, CPC and Detroit Edison, whereas Sterling Drug is a growth issue. While each class has merit, the success on a financial program depends on setting goals and making investments accordingly. If you need additional income, then by all means add to CPC and-or Detroit, both of which yield over 5 per cent. Sterling Drug has excellent long-range growth prospects well suited to a person building toward retirement 10 to 20 years away.

UAW Restates Offer to AMC

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Negotiators for the United Auto Workers reiterated their demand for an 11-month contract with American Motors Corp. yesterday and spelled out the wage increases they are seeking.

* * *

In the third bargaining session since Aug. 18, union negotiators told representatives of the auto maker they want wage increases totaling 39 cents an hour for production workers and 54 cents for skilled tradesmen.

* * *

AMC did not budge from its previous offer of a package valued at 47 cents an hour over a two-year period, or 23 cents the first year and 24 cents the second, a union spokesman said.

The talks were recessed again until Sept. 30. The current two-year contract expires Oct. 16.

Pornography Distributors Target of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, responding to public demand for a crackdown, has quietly mounted an extensive campaign against huge mail-order distributors of pornography.

As a result, 20 persons and 22 companies have been idicted or arrested during the past eight months on charges of distributing obscene materials.

* * *

A new round of prosecutions is expected in the next two weeks, and Justice Department lawyers are evaluating results from 14 investigations to determine if grand jury action should be sought.

The antipornography activity — a joint effort by the Justice and Post Office departments — followed two years of little action resulting from broad interpretations of Surpeme Court decisions on obscenity.

DIFFERING VIEW

But Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell differed with the previous administration on interpretation of the opinons and he ordered more vigorous prosecution.

* * *

In a letter to Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, Mitchell laid down his views on prosecuting smut peddlers, emphasizing the main thrust of enforcement should be against bit interstate distributors.

"The prosecutive efforts of the department . . . " he told Blount, "are aimed at bringing to trial at the earliest possible dates the large mail order distributors presently under indictment.

"In addition, we will provide expeditious review of the vestigations completed by the postal inspection service, and, where appropriate, indictments will be sought."

PRESENTS PROPOSALS

Mitchell presented to Congress earlier this summer two new proposals aimed at protecting minors and stopping questionable material from reaching persons who don't want to get it in the mail.

* * *

The attorney general said this legislation should provide the government with "important new prosecutive tools" and that he feels confident the joint Justice-Post Office efforts "will contribute greatly to reducing the problem of obscenity in the mails."

* * *

In deciding to start new test cases, Mitchell particularly emphasized the need for amplification of Supreme Court opinions which banned publications that might be "harmful to children" although not legally obscene for adults.

* * *

Department sources said about six new cases are ready for presentation to grand juries, possibly within two weeks.

CORPORATIONS LISTED

Among those already being prosecuted or under investigation, the department claims, is "the vast majority of the large-scale dealers in pornographic material." The officials list "about 20 to 25 large corporations" that traffic in pornography.

Clothing Increase Denied

ADC Mothers Told: No Funds

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken says there can be no increase in the $22 a year children's clothing allowance awarded welfare mothers because "There is no money."

"I am constrained by the fiscal and legislative facts surrounding this matter," Milliken said. "Neither I nor the social services department director (R. Bernard Houston) can act contrary to those facts."

* * *

Milliken's decision not to increase clothing allowances beyond the present level appeared to close the last door of appeal for some women receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) in the Detroit and Lansing areas who have sought increases to as much as $75 a year.

Milliken met earlier Thursday with representatives of the Detroit welfare recipients after demonstrations there led to closing of some state welfare offices.

STATEMENT BRANDED

House Speaker William A. Ryan promptly branded Milliken's decision and reasoning, contained in a five-page analysis, as "sleight of hand."

Ryan, who championed the cause of the ADC demonstrators in Detroit, said he had urged them to delay a contemplated demonstration at the Capitol.

* * *

"I can't say what they'll do now," Ryan said after reading Milliken's decision. "It's hard to say whether the mothers will go to jail instead of sending their children to school."

Michigan's basic ADC appropriation this year is $159 million, Milliken said, but "the Legislature took deliberate steps to carve out $3 million and no more" for the personal and clothing expenses of school children.

A MANDATE

In addition, he said, "the Legislature clearly mandated that no state funds may be expended to match county expenditures to supplement aid for clothing for children."

Milliken cited an opinion by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley saying no state funds may be used for matching purposes for clothing allowances although the social services director might define "emergencies" for funding purposes.

* * *

Ryan contended Milliken's refusal of further aid overlooked a formula put in the welfare budget by the Legislature under which state funds would be used to match additional county welfare appropriations.

That formula, Ryan said, was intended to supply aid above the $3 million supplemental for clothing.

NO POSSIBILITY

Milliken said his analysis showed the Legislature "intended to rule out even the possibility of any payments for clothing other than those for which it expressly made provision."

Sex Ed on TV Proposed

DEARBORN (AP)—The treasurer of the state board of education, James F. O'Neil, proposed Thursday night that programs in sex education for parents be carried as a public service by television stations throughout Michigan.

Speaking at a news conference at Dearborn High School before the board of education's ninth and final hearing of sex education guidelines for public schools, O'Neil said he was preparing a letter explaining his plan to television station managers.

* * *

He said the program should be shown immediately after 11 p.m. newscasts.

O'Neil said he believed, like the majority of Michigan parents that sex education is the primary responsibility of parents. He said the real reason parents are failing to provide the instruction to their children is that they themselves haven't been taught.

* * *

The State Board of Education member said parents could then decide whether they wanted to teach their children themselves, or use the materials shown on television.

Also speaking at the news conference were Robert Johnson, president of the Detroit Education Association, and Mrs. Lillian Barlow Price, president of Parents United for Responsible Education. Both blasted a handbook for high school teachers and counselers on sex education.

Fuzzy View: Rough Winter

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Winter will hit suddenly and be rough from beginning to end if you believe in the forecast of the wooly bear caterpillar.

This prognostication was made Thursday by Herbert B. Krone, a retired Lancaster newsman who spends much of his time studying the fuzzy worms.

* * *

"The wooly bear is rolling again and he is black from stern to stern, blacker than I ever saw before," he said.

* * *

Krone said that black segments on the caterpillar indicate a hard wintry period . . . brown segments indicate mild winters.

* * *

Krone said of the coming winter, "There will be no mercy. It will be cold straight through. Around Christmas either corner the snow shovel supply or lock yourself in for a long stay."

Reds Step Up Attacks on Nixon Peace Acts

PARIS (UPI) — The Communists at the Vietnam talks have stepped up denunciations of U.S. peace moves in an apparent campaign to make President Nixon appear at least as tough as former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Eight months after his inauguration and a series of moves toward deescalating the fighting, Nixon is confronted with almost constant charges he is stepping up the war.

* * *

Diplomats at the Paris talks said that contrary to their tradition of caution, Hanoi and the Vietcong have lately been condemning Nixon's Vietnam policy within minutes after each U.S. pronouncement.

Allied officials said the Communist delegations sought to play for time, hoping their denunciations of Nixon ultimately will stir up more antiwar sentiment in the American public.

COMMUNIST AIM

Diplomats said the Communists' aim was to establish the idea that one U.S. administration was an unyielding on the war as the other.

* * *

The latest example was Nixon's appeal to the U.N. General Assembly yesterday. He asked U.N. members to pressure Hanoi to show a more flexible position.

* * *

"The United Nations has no right to intervene in the Vietnamese problem," said Vietcong spokesman Duong Dinh Thao. North Vietnam had more to say on the issue:

* * *

"There are many nations in the United Nations that support the Vietnamese people's fight against American aggression. We are sure that each day more countries will come to support our demands that the United States will end its war and pull out its troops unconditionally."

TALKING ABOUT PEACE

"Since he has assumed his official functions — since inauguration — Nixon has been speaking a lot about peace," a Vietcong spokesman said. "He even made a lyrical allusion to traveling on wings of peace.

* * *

"In his recent trip to Asia, Nixon also spoke a lot about peace. But even official U.S. circles have stated that Nixon follows in Johnson's footsteps.

* * *

His recent moves, the suspension of troop withdrawals, reactivation of B52 bombing missions and recently the new drop-by-drop pullout of troops all have been denounced by world public opinion."

Car for Sale: 'Goldfinger' Bondmobile

LONDON (AP) — James Bond's 150-mile-an-hour Aston Martin is for sale, complete with ejector seats, bulletproof windshield, machine guns, smoke machine, oil slick spray, revolving license plates and radar.

The price is $12,000; the producers of the movie "Goldfinger" paid $42,000 for it.

* * *

"It's been tremendous fun," said K. H. Luscombe-White, the owner, "but I think it's a luxury for a richer man than me."

He had swapped a Ferrari for the Bondmobile.

* * *

Luscombe-White said he never used the old slick or the smokescreen — "They're tempting sometimes, but one might be rather unpopular."

Saw No Blood on Mary Jo, Police Chief Says

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police Chief Dominick J. Arena says he saw no blood on Mary Jo Kopechne's body when it was removed from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car last July 19.

Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis declared Thursday he had information that there was blood in her mouth and nostrils and on her clothing. He raised the question whether this was "consistent with death by drowning."

Arena, who was present when a skin diver recovered the body, said: "When she was in my arms, waiting to put her on the boat, I saw no indication of blood."

Dr. Donald R. Mills, medical examiner for the district, who certified the cause of death as drowning, declined to comment on the Dinis statement.

The district attorney made his assertion in an amendment to a petition in the Common Pleas Court of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where he is seeking exhumation of Miss Kopechne's body for an autopsy.

* * *

Judge Bernard C. Brominski set a hearing on the petition for Sept. 29.

* * *

An attorney for the 28-year-old secretary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, who oppose exhumation, said Dinis would have to "present evidence to show that his averments are true."

In his amended petition Dinis also told the Pennsylvania court that Kennedy had given differing versions of the accident in his police report and a subsequent television broadcast.

* * *

Dinis said that each version omitted "many important details of the accident and the events immediately preceding and following it."

* * *

Sources close to the case said an Edgartown undertaker's assistant had told attorneys for Kennedy he found no blood around Miss Kopechne's nasal passages. A cosmetician at the Plymouth, Pa., funeral home where the body was prepared for viewing prior to burial in nearby Larksville was said to have made a similar statement.

* * *

The sources said a pathologist, however had told the Kennedy lawyers that scraping of the body as it was pulled through a window of the car could have caused an oozing of blood.

* * *

In his amended court petition Dinis said without giving the source of his information that:

"There appear on the white shirt worn by Mary Jo Kopechne 'washed out' reddish brown and brown stains on the backs of both sleeves, the back and collar; that these stains give positive benzidrine reaction, an indication of the presence of residual traces of blood; that said residue si of insufficient amount to make further test as to specific origin or type.

"That investigation has revealed there was present a certain amount of blood in both Mary Jo Kopechne's mouth and nose."

Dinis said, "The public interest in general and the proper administration of justice in particular require that Dr. Mills' determination of the cause of death be verified as definitively as possible."

* * *

He added, "The only way in which this can be done is through an autopsy."

* * *

An Edgartown inquest into the death ordered by Dinis has been postponed until the Massachusetts Supreme Court rules on procedural questions raised by counsel for the senator.

So reads an invitation distributed to men's dormitories on the University of Northern Iowa campus by coed leaders of a sort of freedom demonstration today.

* * *

The affair will reach a climax at 10 p.m. with a rally at Prexy's Pond, a shallow pool on the university grounds.

"We don't have any plans for a mass disposal of bras in the pond," said one coed, "but you never can tell what some of the students might do."

Cat Survives 28-Day Trip in Bedsprings

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — Traveling in the bedsprings of a double bed, a female cat made it from Augusta, Ga., to Colorado Springs in 28 days.

★ ★ ★

Snowball, a year-old kitten belonging to Janice George, daughter of Ft. Carson's new deputy post provost marshal, began the ordeal when movers arrived to pack the couple's belongings for the trip to Ft. Carson.

★ ★ ★

Apparently frightened, the cat hid in the bedsprings and was taken away unnoticed by the movers.

★ ★ ★

After three days of searching, the Georges gave up. But when the van began unloading at Ft. Carson, Snowball turned up—thirsty, hungry and exhausted.

★ ★ ★

The family said a veterinarian advised them Snowball would recover.

Total national health care expenditures in 1966 came to $45.1 million, 6.1 per cent of the gross national product.

Do You Have Prestige? Here Are Some Ways to Tell

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you given yourself a prestige checkup lately?

If not, why not?

Millions of Americans now get some kind of annual medical checkup. This is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough.

BOYLE

A medical checkup only determines the state of your physical health. It lets you know how much wear and tear your body is showing and whether you still have muscle tone or have gone flabby.

* * *

What you need to know in addition is the state of your social health. Competition is not only the life of trade, it is also the life of our business-oriented society.

Are you still clawing your way up the ladder of success or, unknowingly, have you begun to zoom on a toboggan path toward Nonentity Swamp? Only a regular prestige checkup can give you the answer.

YOU CAN DO IT

In time, of course, these checkups will be given by computers. But there is no reason why, if you are one of those do-it-yourself guys, you can't figure out yourself the state of your prestige.

You can congratulate yourself that you're doing okay if—

The wife of the boss insists that you dance with her at least twice at the annual office spring get-together.

Instead of your getting an occasional dunning letter from the alumni office, the president of your college suggests having lunch with you when he drops into town.

You quit hanging around pool halls and spend more time at country clubs.

DON'T WORRY

When you drop into the bank to explain how your wife overdrew your joint account, the banker no longer looks at you in chill disbelief. He calls you by your first name—or, better yet, by your initials — and says not to worry about it until the bank does.

On a business trip you don't feel it necessary to wash your own socks in the hotel washbowl; at home your wife has quit ironing your shirts and now sends them to the laundry.

At least one member of the family has had a small nervous breakdown and emerged from it successfully.

You have been asked to head a charitable drive in your community, even if it was only to raise funds to wipe out chilblains among the Eskimos.

The shoeshine man who goes from floor to floor in your building is now willing to trade stock market tips with you because he figures you may have almost as much inside knowledge as he does.

You no longer can waste time at the barbershop leafing through naughty magazines while awaiting your turn in the chair. Your secretary now arranges your haircuts by appointment.

If you want to kill a dull workday afternoon by taking in a movie, you are free to do so. The office underlings will only assume that you're at your club conscientiously losing a golf game to a major contact.

Your neighbors, who would dislike you if you bought a new car more expensive than they could afford, now dislike you because you bought one cheaper than they can afford. They suspect such attempts at tact indicate you're getting rather smug and condescending.

Well, the truth is, you are, aren't you? But you've also got something else, too—prestige, one price of which is always envy.

Class-Day Rehearing to Be Sought

By DICK ROBINSON

The Waterford Township Board of Education will ask for reconsideration of a court ruling that it restore full-day classes.

This was decided last night at a 5½-hour meeting at which the board also announced it would schedule a millage and bond issue vote in November.

Instead of asking for a stay of the court order and then appealing, the board authorized its attorney to ask for reconsideration of the ruling. This means half-day sessions will continue for now.

A millage hike was called the only workable method of financing education in the school district. A no-tax-increase bond issue would provide for building another junior high school.

* * *

Date of the election was set as Nov. 25. No dollar amounts were established for the proposals. Voters have turned down two millage issues in the past 10 months — three in the past two years.

SEPT. 29 DEADLINE

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer said a week ago that the school district must restore full-day classes for its 18,500 students by Sept. 29.

School Attorney John Rogers said he will ask for a rehearing in a motion to be filed with Beer today. It is expected to be heard Wednesday.

If it is denied, Rogers said he could ask Beer for a stay of the order pending appeal. If that's not successful, he would ask for an extension of the two week time limit or a stay and appeal in a higher court.

He said the board has 20 days after the formal entry of the Judge's order, also expected Wednesday, to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court.

TAKING MEASURES

In the meantime, Rogers indicated he hopes to convince the judge the school district is taking measures to comply with his order.

Preliminary plans are being made to restore full-day sessions, according to acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen. The board decided to seek approval from the state's Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $1.25 million.

* * *

Rogers recommended that the board see what happens on his motion for a rehearing and in a similar Livonia case being appealed to the State Supreme Court before deciding on an appeal.

New trustee Billie S. Farnum, a former congressman and state auditor general, proposed the millage election.

He indicated this is one of only two ways to finance education permanently. The other is the State Legislature, which

No November, December Draft Calls

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today canceled all November and December draft calls and ordered that the 29,000 men scheduled for induction in October be called over a three-month period at a monthly average of less than 10,000 men.

Our Newswires

WASHINGTON — Sources say President Nixon may announce today plans to slash autumn draft calls to 10,000 or less a month.

* * *

They add he probably will stop short of an outright temporary suspension of the calls. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had announced earlier that 29,000 men will be inducted in October, no change from the September call. The year's high was 33,700 in Feburary, the low was 22,300 in July.

Nixon scheduled a public statement today on future plans for the Selective Service System prior to a Laird news conference at the White House.

But unless the administration decides to completely suspend the draft for the last three months of this year, it appears that the total number of men drafted for 1969 will be about the same as last year.

The administration was expected to couple the announcement with a plea for congressional action on draft reform legislation.

By the end of this month, 260,000 men will have been drafted into the armed services, compared with 296,000 for all of 1968.

Thus only a complete suspension, or something close to it, for October, November and December would leave the 1969 total lower than last year's.

Laird told a news conference Wednesday that troop withdrawals from Vietnam as well as military economies at home will have a "very significant effect," on the draft.

ACTION PROMISED

Nixon had promised, at the National Governor's Conference in Colorado Springs, Colo, recently: "We shall have some directives that will be issued in the very near future that will accomplish" some of the goals concerning what he called "the unnecessarily long period of uncertainty that now hangs over the lives of millions of our young people."

There had been much speculation but no certain information about the direction Nixon planned to take in accomplishing this goal.

Earlier this week, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler acknowledged that outright suspension of the draft for at least a month or longer had been under discussion. However, administration sources said later such a move was not under consideration for the immediate future.

Factors pointing toward lower draft calls included the promised cutback of at least 60,000 men in the Vietnam fighting force between July 8 and Dec. 15 plus a general anti-inflation economy directive from the White House ordering a reduction in defense spending — to be accomplished in part by deactivation of military units and ships.

Health-Research Cuts Widen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has extended its controversial health program cutbacks to five projects that apply research gains to patient treatment for chronic diseases, including cancer.

Budget authorities in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare have ordered drastic cuts this year and termination next year of the chronic disease programs involving cancer, respiratory ailments, diabetes, arthritis, heart and stroke and neurological and sensory disorders.

Dr. Stanley W. Olson, director of HEW's regional medical programs service, confirmed that five of eight units in his chronic disease division will lose more than half of their funds this year. Current plans are to drop them next year, at a savings of $8.7 million, he said.

The latest cuts follows announcement of plans by the National Institutes of Health to pare 5 to 10 per cent from medical research outlays and to eliminate up to 19 small clinical research centers across the country.

The new budget restrictions are expected to increase already vocal protests from the medical community and some congressional leaders.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat, spoke out against medical program cutbacks last night in a speech in Boston. "The impact of the cuts will be felt in medical schools, universities and research centers throughout the nation," Kennedy said.

The retrenchment in government health programs results from President Nixon's order to chop $3.5 billion from the federal budget in the fight against inflation.

The latest five affected units are the major source of federal funding for the transfer of research breakthroughs in chronic diseases to everyday medical practice, Olson said.

The cancer control program, for example, has arranged for more than 1.3 million women in the past 3½ years to receive the latest in diagnostic tests for tumors.

Government sources say the American Academy of General Practice probably will have to end the cancer-test program if federal support is withdrawn.

Rehabilitation programs for chronic lung disease at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver and at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Minneapolis will be "seriously affected" by the cuts, the sources said.

Four field stations of the heart disease and stroke control program—in San Francisco, Columbia, Mo., Washington D.C. aand Atlanta—will be forced to close, one official said.

Defense Critics in Senate Pledge to Continue Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of defense costs say a new era has opened in public awareness of Pentagon spending despite their crushing defeat on attempt after attempt to trim a $20-billion bill for military hardware.

"We have made a good fight," said Democrat William Proxmire of Wisconsin, a leader in the two-month battle that ended last night with passage of the bill.

"But," he added, "this is merely the opening shot in a larger effort. The critical review will go on."

"A defense system which for years has operated without sufficient public and private checks has now b een exposed to the sunlight," said Republican Edward Brooke of Massachusetts.

The Proxmire and Brooke comments came as the huge appropriations measure finally passed on an 81-5 vote.

Although it passed virtually intact — only $70 million was chopped out — it took 39 full days of debate over the two-month period. Pentagon backers had to throw back more than a dozen attempts to delay such major programs as the Safeguard missile defense system, a new nuclear carrier, mammoth new battle tanks, squadrons of superjet fighters and a new manned bomber.

* * *

The bill that finances all the United States' military hardware for fiscal 1970 now goes to the House where far easier going is expected.

The measure, however, must again go through the Senate for appropriation of the actual cash.

Barbara Gets 7 to 20 Years

Reputed Detroit area Mafia chieftain Joseph Barbara Jr. was sentenced to seven to 20 years in the state prison today for extorting $4,000 from the wife of underworld informer Peter Lazaros of Troy.

BARBARA

The 33-year-old Barbara will begin serving his prison term immediately since Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem refused to free him on bond while he appeals his conviction.

* * *

Barbara, the president of the Tri-County Sanitation Co., was found guilty by a jury Aug. 13 of extorting $4,000 from Delores Lazaros while her husband was in prison for a fraud conviction.

The incident, along with the alleged rape of Mrs. Lazaros by Barbara, is reportedly the reason Lazaros began telling authorities about underworld activities. Lazaros was released from prison last October while his case is being appealed.

THREATS OF VIOLENCE

Ziem noted that it is within discretion of the judge to grant appeal bonds, but that it has been his practice in cases of intended violence or threats of violence not to allow appeals bonds.

Ziem said he saw no reason why he should change his policy in this case.

* * *

On Monday, Ziem denied a motion of defense attorney Ivan Barris of Detroit that Barbara be granted a new trial. Ziem ruled that Barbara received a fair trial and was found guilty by a jury.

Southfield Stadium Appears Doomed

A Southfield site for a domed stadium for the Detroit iLons and Tigers apparently was doomed yesterday in action by the Southfield Planning Commission.

The move left a proposed location on Pontiac's eastern boundary very prominent in consideration.

* * *

Last spring, spokesmen for both teams indicated the Southfield site was preferable if a downtown Detroit site proved unfeasible.

However, Southfield's planning commission voted a recommendation last night to rezone the proposed 360-acre proposed location near I-696 and Telegraph for entirely different uses — residential, office, educational and research building development.

GOING TO COUNCIL

The recommendation will go to the City Council in November. There was considerable opposition to the proposed stadium in Southfield including that of Mayor Norman W. Feder. A ballot proposal set for next August would limit any stadium construction to less than 12,000 capacity, if passed by voters.

This latest incident in the quest of the two teams for replacing aging Tiger Stadium could spur action toward naming the oPntiac site as preferred.

* * *

A downtown Detroit site has not yet been ruled out. The Detroit oBard of Commerce has commissioned study. A preliminary report issued early in August apparently left an economic feasibility the teams unimpressed.

Among other factors it reported the land available would allow only about 5,000 parking spaces and that fans would have to use parking spaces elsewhere in the downtown area.

VALUE OF PROPERTY

It has also been indicated that the New York Central Railroad has valued its property along the riverfront needed for the stadium at $38 million.

Pontiac last January appointed a Stadium Authority to carry out plans and negotiations with the teams. The authority has announced it has an economically feasible plan to build a $65-million, domed, twin-stadium complex for the teams with revenue bonds (no millage called for).

Spokesmen for the Lions said they were going to announce a decision the week after Labor Day, but this deadline passed with no word.

DRYING UP? — Eagle Lake in Waterford Township is about 2½ feet below its normal water level, as the height of the dock above the water indicates. Pumping of water from the ground to afford dry excavations for a nearby section of the giant Clinton-Oakland Interceptor Sewer is lowering the lake, county officials admit. But water now is being pumped back into the lake. Residents are concerned that their property might drop in value. (Related story, page A-4.)

School Board Ignores Plea in Hiring Hassle

The Pontiac School Board last night was asked to change its mind on the hiring of an assistant superintendent. But the board took no action, adjourning its meeting amid the audience's increasingly bitter denunciations.

The board announced Sept. 4 it had selected a Virginia man, Dr. William Edmonds, director of the Virginia State College Graduate School, Petersburg, Va., for the position. The recommendation of the board's citizens committee on human relations was for John F. Perdue, director of school-community and human relations.

A one-day boycott protesting Edmonds' selection was held Sept. 10 with over 400 teachers reported absent.

The human relations committee asked the board to reconsider last night. After about one hour of discussion on the issue, the board abruptly at 11 p.m. called for and passed a motion to adjourn.

LIAISON DESTROYED

The chairman of the human relations committee, Charlie Harrison, warned that unless the hiring was reconsidered, the committee's role "of being a liaison between the board of education and the community has been destroyed."

Another committee member, Frank Johnson, reminded the board of past recommendations concerning appointment of the assistant superintendent.

He said the Michigan Civil Rights Commission (MCRC), in its report on the city in January, recommended the post be created and filled by a man "sensitive to minority group problems in the community."

* * *

In choosing Dr. Edmonds over Perdue, Johnson said, the board was ignoring the MCRC, the human relations committee, the local 90-citizen Equality of Educational Opportunity Commisison (EEO), and the majority of teachers and staff members at the schools.

RECALL CAMPAIGN

After last week's boycott, a recall campaign was initiated against the four members of the seven-member board who voted for Edmonds — Russell Brown, John K. Irwin Jr., Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek.

At last night's meeting it was announced that more than 3,000 signatures on recall petitions had been obtained. More than 6,000 are needed.

At least 200 persons jammed the small administration auditorium for the stormy meeting. While a majority of those making statements were opposed to board actions on agenda items, several stood in support of "respect" for the board.

One woman predicted more white people will be attending future board meetings. The audience was about one-fourth black, and many identified themselves as teachers.

RESIGNATIONS DEMANDED

The board was vilified in a statement read from the Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL). The statement called members "incompetent, chaotic, disgraceful . . . ignorant . . . undemocratic . . ."

* * *

The VOCAL statement concluded by demanding the resignation of the members who had voted, in effect, against Perdue.

Blue Shield Asks to Raise Rates

LANSING (UPI) — Health insurance rate increases averaging $2.43 per family have been requested by Michigan Blue Shield for the first three months of 1970.

Citing inflationary medical costs as the reason for the request, Blue Shield officials asked the rate-regulating State Insurance Commission for the hike yesterday at a public hearing.

* * *

If approved, the average increase of 16.7 per cent of the base rate would affect those contracts renewable from the first of the year through March 31, 1970 — about 274,000. If the hike is extended to cover the remaining three quarters, almost all other 4.5 million insurees would be affected.

Not included in the hike would be policies for supplemental Medicare coverage.

* * *

Specifically, the rate raise would mean single persons would pay an average of 45 cents more per year, a couple $2.10 and families $2.43 annually.

Drastic Shakeup Jars OEO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Economic Opportunity is about to undergo a drastic shakeup of headquarters personnel. The disclosure left nearly 100 of the antipoverty agency's employes without specific duties and facing an uncertain future.

The shakeup disclosure was made suddenly—and apparently without warning—Wednesday in a memorandum from OEO Director Donald Rumsfeld to all 1,100 headquarters personnel. Attached to the memorandum was a list of about 900 people who will have definite new assignments.

* * *

Those not on the list, many in the $15,000 to $20,000 salary range, were told they were being put in a pool, to be used wherever they were needed, until their future was decided.

Sources within OEO said many of the 100 people left in professional limbo had been associated with the antipoverty agency's more controversial programs.

SOME FEARFUL

Some expressed the fear they were being eased out of the agency entirely.

An OEO spokesman denied that these people were on "a blacklist," but stopped short of guaranteeing that all would have jobs when the reorganization is complete.

* * *

Referring to those not on the list, the memorandum said:

"If your name does not appear on the lists, supervisory personnel and representatives of the personnel office will contact you directly and discuss assignment possibilities. Until you are reassigned, you will be retained in your present title, grade and salary, in an unassigned status, available for detail or loan to any of the OEO offices and divisions where your services can be utilized."

BLACKBALL LIST

One top OEO official who asked not to be identified referred to the unassigned personnel as being on "a blackball list."

"They're dumping us into one big pool according to Rumsfeld," the official said. "To me that pool looks more like a bottomless pit that drops right into oblivion."

Hearing Is Set on Proposal for Condominiums

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission and the planning commission will consider a proposal by the Woodbury Construction Co. to build condominium and single-family residences on the northwest corner of Hickory Grove and Lahser Roads. The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 14 at the city office building.

The problem concerning the construction plans reportedly centers on whether or not there should be a condominium-type development in the city, according to Commissioner Louis G. Colombo Jr.

* * *

Woodbury plans call for construction of 100 detached condominium units of two or three bedrooms in the $70,000 to $90,000 range.

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Velma M. Ruhly has been appointed principal at Westchester Elementary School.

She replaces Dr. Francis R. Goetz who was transferred to the principleship of Harlan Elementary School.

Mrs. Ruhly of Beverly Hills holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Wayne State University and is completing work on a doctorate in education.

She has 12 years experience in the Birmingham schools as an elementary teacher, arithmetic consultant and diagnotician. Mrs. Ruhly has also taught classes in child and adolescent psychology at Wayne State.

Members of the Birmingham Senior Men's Club were scheduled to see a film titled "Golf a Go Go," showing the "nine most beautiful holes in the United States" at their meeting this morning in the Community House, 380 S. Bates.

Discussion topic for the day was "Should wage and price controls be applied to the national economy in order to check inflation?"

Birmingham-Bloomfield area residents will have an opportunity to take the Peace Corps entrance examination tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at two locations.

The exam will be given in Room 222, Federal Building at Fort and Shelby in Detroit and in Room 1 of the Federal Building at E. Huron and Perry in Pontiac.

Persons interested in taking the exam must present an application to the tester before the exam begins. Forms can be obtained from any post office.

Soviet Report Claims Talks Set With China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviets today circulated an unconfirmed report that they will receive a top-level Communist Chinese delegation in Moscow within three weeks to discuss their border quarrel.

There was no official confirmation of the report, which spread through Western and neutral embassies.

* * *

The report said Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had persuaded Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in their brief talk at Peking Airport last week to send a delegation to this capital to discuss the border troubles which have caused at least five pitched battles in the past six months.

2 Units Kick Off PAUF Drive

The commercial and manufacturing divisions of the Pontiac Area United Fund (PAUF) began their campaigns yesterday with a luncheon at the Elks Club, 114 Orchard Lake.

This year's total goal for the two divisions is $365,814 out of a general campaign goal of $1.24 million, Howard M. Nelson, commercial division chairman told some 200 volunteers.

* * *

Frederick J. Poole, president of PAUF, said money collected in this year's campaign again will be used to support the 55 United Fund Fund agencies and will be dispersed on the basis of need.

"For the past two years the PAUF drive has failed to reach the goal set by its directors, causing agencies to operate at a deficit," Poole said. He added that there is no reserve to fall back on for immediate need.

Last year's goal was set at $1.13 million and contributions totaled about $1.7 million.

Poole said, volunteer solicitors have a real challenge before them and expressed hopes that the enthusiasm and dedication they have displayed will encourage the people whom they contact.

* * *

The volunteers heard speaker John Greenwood, assistant regional manager for the American National Red Cross in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, talk about action of the Red Cross during the recent hurricane along the Gulf Coast.

Greenwood's speech entitled, "Things Just Don't Happen," pointed to the fact people and money make them happen, referring to volunteers from all over the country who arrived to help in cleanup and other aid along the 55 miles of coastline damaged by hurricane Camille.

He presented a vivid picture of the disaster and said 18,000 homes were destroyed and another 26,000 were damaged.

"The Red Cross met Camille head-on," he said, "and 662 trained volunteers were sent into the area."

* * *

Commercial division volunteers will call on area retailers, educational, professional and community leaders for donations. Small manufacturing firms and companies will be contacted by manufacturing division volunteers headed by Lawrence Wiseman.

The PAUF general campaign this year starts Oct. 4 and is to run through Nov. 7.

can't be counted upon to come up with funds.

"It's about time we talked to the State Legislature to do something about this," he commeneed.

Stanley Kurzman, a parent in the school district and one of three attorneys for parents who took the school board to court, praised Farnum's millage proposal as "the only responsible solution."

"I hope you will go forward and implement full days," he toldthe board. "If the supreme court reverses the decision, you'd be in the same boat next ear anyway without more money."

However, parents who hired the other two lawyers indicated to them they won't support more millage.

One emotional mother in a crowd of nearly 200 people, Mrs. William Schildt of 5831 Elizabeth Lake, told the board "millage exploits the poor and is only patchwork to take the pressure of the Legislature."

"You should cross the bridge when you come to it. If you face bankruptcy or annexation, go to the voters and tell them they'll have to vote 'yes.'"

The millage issue was approved by the board 7-0 and the bond issue 6-1 with Eldon C. Rosegart opposed.

800 students would have no school to go to in a few years if a new junior high school was not built soon.

The school bond issue, defeated last March, will cost taxpayers about $1 million more now as construction and interest costs mount at $100,000 per month, according to Pagen.

When Kurzman learned the board was considering a delay in restoring full-day sessions, he withdrew his pledge to work for a millage increase.

* * *

A motion to ask for a stay and start appeal procedures was dfeated, 4-3. Voting against it were Schimmel, Farnum, President Phillip M. Hampton and Mrs. Peggy L. Wood.

Board officials said if they did restore full day classes, the district probably would run out of money about February andit would be difficult to borrow money because the board couldn't repay it.

If it ran out of money, it probably could get a loan from the state like Inkster did last year but if it doesn't balance the budget immediately the district could be consolidated with another, school officials warn.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast tonight for the Southeast, Southwest and Northwest. Cooler temperatures are expected in the Great Lakes area and Northwest.

Senate Fate Uncertain

House Passes Electoral Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment calling for the direct, popular election of the president has been approved by the House in such an overwhelming fashion that even the measure's supporters are surprised—and pleased.

The size of yesterday'h vote — 339-70—raised backers' hopes that the proposal can win Senate approval, state ratification and become the 26th amendment to the Constitution.

* * *

However Senate prospects for the proposal are uncertain. There is strong opposition in the Judiciary Committee, where the question of electoral reform is now stalled.

The House vote disclosed solid bipartisan support for the proposal, which would scrap the system used to elect every President since George Washington.

Instead of voting for electors who then cast their ballots for the president, citizens would vote directly for their candidate.

And instead of counting up the electoral votes of the states to determine the president, the winner would be the candidate who got the most individual votes in a nationwide tally.

* * *

A candidate would have to get at least 40 per cent of the popular vote to win. If none did, there would be a runoff between the top two.

Opponents charged the 40 per cent provision could lead to a minority president, but Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., manager of the bill, countered by pointing out that 15 presidents have been elected with less than 50 per cent of the popular vote. That includes President Nixon, who got slightly more than 43 per cent.

Orion Jetport Plans Jeopardized

A politically aware Oakland County Board of Supervisors may be inclined to settle for less than a fully developed jet-type airport in Orion Township.

Those were the indications yesterday as a motion to recommend a $250,000 Orion Airport budget appropriation committee on a 4-3 vote.

A previous motion to deny funds to carry out the airport's master plan, passed by a 6-1 vote, with chairman Wallace Gabler, R-Royal Oak, in lone opposition. First-stage development of the master plan is estimated to cost more than $20 million.

The appropriation, as passed, has yet to gain approval of the county's finance committee and the full board of supervisors.

As provided in the motion by Mahlon Benson, R-Waterford Township, the recommended appropriation would provide for cost studies on paving the existing north-south sod runway, leveling and paving an east-west strip, and construction of T-hangars for rental to plane owners.

Voting with Benson were George Grba, D-Pontiac, who seconded the motion, Gabler and Frank Richardson, R-Waterford Township.

Opposition led by Niles Olson, D-Orion Township, chairman of the three-man airport board charged with administration of county airports, noted that the money, once in the budget, might be spent by the airport board in any way it saw fit. Voting with Olson against the measure were Philip Mastin, D-Hazel Park, and Dennis Aaron, D-Huntington Woods.

Olson's fellow members on the airport administrative board are Benson and Gabler.

Several representatives from Orion Township were present to plead that some action be taken by the county — either that plans for airport development be abandoned or that a definite indication be made that the county will proceed.

A land-use study of the area surrounding the airport, prepared by Villcan Leman Associates of Southfield now engaged in preparing a township master plan — was presented to the committee.

Other figures made available by Township Supervisor John Lessiter showed $5 million of recent development on area included within the master plan — land which the county would have to purchase.

A Lake Angelus homeowner, James H. Klipfel of 530 Lake Angelus Shores, vowed that some 200 business and community leaders of his area would fight "in any way possible" development.

Residents in Independence Have Water, Can't Use It

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Residents living in the Woodhull Lake area of the township are suffering from acute frustration.

The water is there, but they cannot have it.

* * *

The approximate 30 property owners with dry wells are waiting for the Oakland County Health Department to complete tests on water that is being piped into the Pinedale, Clinton, Lakeview and Hillcrest Street district via temporary pipeline.

Initial samples taken from the new line have indicated that the water is not yet suitable for drinking. Further tests are to be taken today.

'OK UNLIKELY TILL MONDAY'

Township Clerk Howard Altman said he does not expect the Health Department to approve the water for public use until Monday morning.

"This is not to say that the water is contaminated. In the testing process, any contact the water has with sand or any of the equipment in the construction area can throw the testing off."

* * *

"Contrary to rumors we have not turned on the water and will not until we have complete approval from the County Health Department," Altman noted.

Altman also asserted that residents living in the adjacent Pelton Heights subdivision who have charged that their water supply is being strained are misinformed.

AUTHORIZED USE

The temporary line installation has been tapped off the Pelton Heights water system.

"Before we constructed the temporary line the State Health Department authorized using water from the Pelton Heights subdivision. There is enough water in that system to supply 100 additional homes.

* * *

"The residents have to realize they don't own that water system. They only pay for services from it and cannot control it. The township is the owner and controlling authority of the water system," Altman declared.

Construction crews have completed the laying of about one mile of pipeline. About 600 feet more is needed in order to service all homes without water in the district.

WATER FROM TANK

Residents have obtained water from a tank furnished by the County Department of Public Works since wells went dry nearly two weeks ago.

Altman said that the bill for the temporary line project, which he estimates will be in the $6,000 range, will be presented to the County DPW.

"The county has made arrangements to finance the Waterford Township water relief projects and there is no reason the county can't do the same for residents in Independence Township," Altman declared.

Politics or Fear of Nude Movies?

Plan for 3rd Theater Snagged

By NED ADAMSON

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is either caught up in a little political pressure or is afraid America's great nudity drive might invade Birmingham.

A Detroit investor, Stewart Gorlick, who wants to establish a small theater here, which he insists will not show "nude specials" such as "I Am Curious (Yellow)," believes the problem is politics.

The difficulty stems from Gorlick's attempt to remodel a vacant auto-dealer showroom into what he calls a "small, intimate cinema operation that would present selected films in good taste and nonobjectionable to Birmingham residents."

The city fathers reportedly have told Gorlick they have delayed action on his request in order to learn more about the intended filmfare and appointments of the theater.

News Analysis

The city has had a moritorium on issuance of building permits because of revamping of the ordinances concerning height of buildings in and near the community's central business district.

* * *

Gorlick maintained at a recent commission meeting that his proposed alterations would not increase the height of the existing structure.

* * *

"Our plans for the building are in complete conformance with the present commerical zoning. I am sure that the only reason the commission has held up action on the building permit is because of pressure from owners of the two existing theaters in Birmingham," Gorlick declared.

"It is obvious that owners of the other two theaters are putting pressure on the commission to keep us from putting in another theater," he said.

DOWN THE STREET

The other two theaters in the city, owned by United Theatres Inc. of Detroit, a division of ABC-Paramount, are just down the street from Gorlick's proposed new cinema.

* * *

Gorlick said his proposed theater would be similar to the Studio chain operation in metropolitan Detroit which specializes in foreign and American think-type films.

* * *

"A theater of this type is needed in Birmingham and would prove to be very beneficial to the community," Gorlick said.

Birmingham's two exisiting threaters specialize in general-interest family fare.

Heart Repair for Oakland Twp. Lad, 8

Boy Faces Rare Surgery

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Michael Hewitt's mother will not wake him up for school Monday. Instead a nurse will begin to prepare him for his second major heart operation.

MICHAEL

Mike Hewitt is 8 years old. His operation will be difficult. It's the first time such surgery has been performed at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. If it succeeds, Mike will be normal and will be able to run and play like other children.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hewitt, 1435 Gunn, was born with four major heart defects. He's been in and out of hospitals since he was 14 months old.

* * *

His first operation was corrective to reroute the oxygen through his heart, which has a hole in it.

Six years ago, doctors didn't know how long the surgery would keep Mike alive. They knew it was possible for Mike's condition to reverse itself at any time.

DOING IT OVER

Monday the doctors hope to perform the first surgery over again and to correct all the other defects.

It's possible now because last spring Dr. Eduardo Arcinlegas came to Ford Hospital. He's the only surgeon at Ford capable of performing the operation. Ford is now the fifth hospital in the country equipped to handle such a case.

* * *

Mike will live with a heart pump throughout the entire operation. His small body's vital signs will be checked and rechecked while doctor's delicately piece together a heart that should function as any 8-year-old's does.

* * *

NOT ALL CAN HELP

Mrs. Hewitt has asked neighbors to help give blood, if they can. As usual some are willing, but many are reluctant or, because of illness, find they cannot give blood.

Though Mike understands a little of the operation, he's thinking of what he'll be able to do after he comes home from the hospital.

* * *

"Mike's just thrilled with the idea of being normal and being able to run with the other children," said Mrs. Hewitt. "He already has plans to go horseback riding as soon as he comes home."

* * *

A few months ago Mike's father bought him a minibike to ride around the house and visit the neighborhood children.

* * *

Before, if Mike had to walk over to their houses he'd have to lie on the grass a while and build up his strength to walk back home. With the minibike, he scoots over to his friends easily and has even worn a path by riding around and around the house for hours on end.

SOMETHING TO PULL FOR

His mother said the minibike also gives Mike something "to pull for" during and after the operation.

* * *

Mrs. Hewitt said Mike's personality has undergone a change because he spends so much time in the hospital. "He worries a lot and cries and sometimes is irritable," she said. "I think it's because he's tired and wonders if he'll be put back in school."

* * *

Mike's in the third grade at North Hill Elementary School, Rochester. Even though he's been in the hospital "at least four months each year," he's managed to keep up with his classmates. But this year looks difficult.

* * *

Mike will need two weeks to recover in the hospital and at least two weeks at home if the operation is successful. A tutor will come to the house for the last two weeks.

* * *

Mrs. Hewitt said Mike loves to get cards. There's a bulletin board in the children's wing at Henry Ford Hospital. "Mike feels just wonderful when there's a card with his name on the board," she said.

Officers Elected by Avon's School for Leader Dogs

AVON TOWNSHIP — Basil M. Briggs of 900 Broodwood, Birmingham, was elected president of Leader Dogs for the Blind recently at the school's annual board meeting.

* * *

Briggs, an attorney with Evans, Boyer, Luptak and Briggs of Birmingham, replaces Carlton M. Higbie of the Higbie Manufacturing Co., Rochester. Higbie will remain an active trustee of the organization, a United Fund Agency.

* * *

Other recently elected officers include Harold L. Pocklington, vice president; Martin S. Hayden, secretary; and William S. Hickey, treasurer.

Leader Dogs for the Blind, 1039 S. Rochester, graduated 172 leader dogs during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969.

* * *

Future plans call for additional kennel space due to an increasing demand for leader dogs. German shepherds, Labrador and golden retrievers and malamutes, 1 to 2 years of age are accepted for training if they qualify in a carefully conducted screening test.

Sen. Huber Faces Democratic Club Members

Conservative Confronts Liberals in Troy

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

TROY — Robert J. Huber, the noted conservative, and some 25 members of the Troy Democratic Club, notably liberal, last night staged an approach-avoidance confrontation of ideology.

Huber — the fire-eating conservative who represents the 16th District in the Michigan Senate (Royal Oak north to Rochester, Bloomfield Township east to Clawson) — proved disappointing to some, but always genial.

Lightly taunted by his political foes, Sen. Huber generally gingerly avoided answers to direct questions.

News Analysis

Probably the only positive declaration made by the senator was: "Roger Craig (D-Dearborn, an outspoken liberal) and I are the only two men in the Senate who stand for definite ideologies."

FISCAL REFORM

"I'm not like a former governor who campaigned on the 'fiscal reform' theme. What does 'fiscal reform' mean anyway? To the senior citizens on fixed incomes, it is designed to mean 'I'll get some tax relief.' To the giant corporation, it means 'I'll get a fair shake,' " Huber said.

"The term 'fiscal reform' is designed to mean so many things to so many people that it has become meaningless. I'm a guy — and so is Roger (Craig) — who puts his ideas straight on the table. Everyone knows the rules of the game when I campaign," Huber said.

Huber, the owner of six industrial plants in six states and a six-year mayor of his home city of Troy, recently bolted the Senate GOP caucus.

"I walked out of that Republican caucus because it no longer reflected the will of the majority," Huber explained.

"I'm not the only one who quits caucuses," Huber said. "A full year before I quit, Sen. Basil Brown (D-Highland Park, a black liberal) dropped out of his Democratic caucus. He hasn't gone back and neither will I.

"I suggested to Basil that we form the Afro-American Bund caucus," Huber said.

The most important principal of politics he believes, is the concept that power is held by the electorate.

"That's what I believe in above all else," expounded, "power to the people."

PANTHER SLOGAN

An audience member noted that "power to the people" was not only a "Huberism," but was also the slogan of the revolutionary Black Panther party.

"Do I look like a Black Panther?" Huber exploded, refusing to answer the accompanying question: "Do you agree then, with the philosophy of the Black Panthers?"

* * *

Huber chopped away at his familiar targets: Oakland University Chancellor Durward Varner for his alleged allowing of "immoral" activities on the OU campus,, "the protest bit," and sex education in public schools.

"I do not believe that just because you have Van Cliburn on the one hand, you can burn the flag on the othe," Huber said, referring to militant campus demonstrations.

'JUST CAN'T ACCEPT'

"I simply cannot accept the philosophy of a university chancellor (Varner) who says he will 'tolerate anything on campus until someone complains,' " Huber declared.

Huber claimed that students in the OU fine arts department were in the habit of creating plaster-of-paris male sex organs and that this was part of the "age of permissiveness" tolerated by Chancellor Varner.

* * *

Prompted to explain an apparent contradiction — his "power to the people" philosophy and his objection to Varner's "toleration of anything until someone complains" tenet — Huber said:

"I think we can change things by our greatest power — the vote. We don't have to protest in the streets or destroy property to change philosophies."

'I Never Agreed With The Korean War And I Don't Agree With The Vietnam War. No One Voted Whether We Should Send Our Boys Off To War, And I Think That Vote Should Be Held Nationally'

—State Sen. Robert J. Huber

'LET PEOPLE DECIDE'

Huber suggested that the people decide what heretofore the politicians decided for them, in keeping with his "power to the people" theme:

"We should vote by referendum on all matters of policy — the state income tax, the open-housing question and property taxes," Hubert declared.

* * *

Asked if morality could be decided by referendum, Huber said, "Yes. There would probably be one question per year — and I'm sure the majority would vote it down.

"I never agreed with the Korean war and I don't agree with the Vietnam war. No one voted whether we should send our boys off to war, and I think that vote should be held nationally," Huber said.

NON VOTERS HIT

"Anyone who sits home and doesn't vote, who doesn't become politically active, can't be an intelligent citizen," he said.

Huber said that majority agreement was the road to change.

* * *

"Sen. Huber, would you abide by a majority referendum decision that you be executed?," asked a long-haired audience member.

"Ask me something sensible!" Huber snapped.

'DOES IT TRANSCEND?'

"Then you do agree that sometimes a minority right or morality transcends mapority rule?," the questioner persisted.

On his activity in the Special Senate Committee to Investigate Campus Disorder, Huber said:

"I never wanted the committee assignment. It just came to me. It's very difficult — especially as a conservative — to run a committee like that. You get the McCarthy-hearings stuff thrown at you right away."

Huber said he had assembled "the best brains in Michigan" on the committee, which will soon make recommendations on legislation — or no legislation — to respond to campus disorders.

"One thing we do know," Huber commented, "is that we cannot allow violent, revolutionary-minded groups to take over our campuses."

ON SEX EDUCATION

On the sex education attack, Huber pointed out:

"In California — which is not exactly a neanderthal community — they have banned SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States, which some have labeled a Communist front group).

"I fail to see why we need a totally integrated sex education program in grades kindergarten through 12. The sex education bill — which I voted for — was designed to cooperate with parental will.

"The parent was supposed to be able to pull his child from the sex education class if he wished. How does a parent pull his child from a totally integrated sex education program without completely removing him from school?" Huber asked.

Huber declared that he would not accept Republican nominations for either the Michigan gubernatorial race or the upcoming U.S. Senate contest.

A Look at TV

Networks Starting to Overfeed Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Network television now is overfeeding its viewers as extravagantly as it starved him during the summer famine.

With ABC and NBC presenting on Thursday night the season premieres of some of their most popular programs—"That Girl," "Bewitched," "Daniel Boone" and "Ironside" — CBS busily loaded in a special to conflict with them. It was called "The Time of Man" and was based, up to a point, on some unusual film and commentary obtained through the American Museum of Natural History.

* * *

The point of the program was that man is in danger of bringing about his own extinction by his intemperence—hardly a novel TV theme.

The program began by explaining the chemistry of the world's creation and moved, step by step, through the age of dinosaurs. The program was most interesting when it lingered on sequences showing the tribal characteristics of some primitive African tribes.

CHILDEN TURNED OUT

Some film showed one tribe in which each man and woman takes care of his own needs without any feeling toward his fellow man and where children are turned out to fend for themselves at the age of 3. Another tribe was shown in an ages-old ritual of warfare and reprisal, so old that it has lost its meaning.

The program made its point about the futility of war. But then it moved on to a portion that seemed to belong to some other program. This was a montage of old and recent film clips that in a few minutes ran through history from the time film was invented until the astronauts stepped onto the moon.

* * *

Its sudden change of style and message suggested there was just not enough museum film to fill the hour.

Debbie Reynolds, who quit her new television series because the network ran a cigarette commercial, accompanying its premiere, has decided to carry on after all.

DEBBIE

She said yesterday NBC had explained to her that it could not jettison such commercials because it had a contractual commitment with the American Brands Co.

The show had its premiere Tuesday night. Miss Reynolds quit the next day, citing the cigarette ad.

"I was especially concerned because of the number of children viewing early time-slot programs," she said.

Her contract calls for 24 shows, of which 10 have been taped.

Art Buy Takes Imagination

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 200 art patrons and celebrities are being offered the chance to buy an object d'art which they will never see, which will never be described to them and whose creator will never be identified to them.

"We want the owner to be free to imagine what the object is," explains Tom Parrish, 27, spokesman for a group of young artists who thought up the scheme.

* * *

The group mailed out letters Monday soliciting bids on the never-to-be-seen-by-the-buyer art from a variety of persons including Beatle John Lennon, his wife Yoko Ono, actor Richard Burton and financier Howard Hughes.

There actually will be an object and it will be placed somewhere, aParrish hastened to assure an interviewer. A signed certificate from a lawyer attesting to this will be placed in a bank and the buyer will get a bill of sale.

* * *

Then it is up to the owner. "It is going to create for the owner a new sort of identity with every object," said Parrish. "It's possible for him to think every object is his at one time."

Are Your Kisses Sick, Sick, Sick?

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Experiments in kissing are planned at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

It's all in the interest of science, of course.

Dr. Elliot Dick, associate professor of preventive medicine, and Dr. Donn J. D'Alessio, an assistant professor, want to determine the role of kissing in the spreading of common cold viruses.

★ ★ ★

The plan is to ask for volunteers who will be given the virus. Then the participants — blindfolded — will kiss for one to two minute periods.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, anonymity is important because our objective is to see if direct contact with someone spreads cold viruses," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The blindfolds will prevent later contact among participants. We will even lead the subjects down the elevator blindfolded to further ensure no one meets each other."

★ ★ ★

Dick was asked why the kissing will be limited to two minutes.

★ ★ ★

"The whole thing could be shot if we didn't," he said. "It could go on all night."

Woman Makes Changes in White House Decor

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — "Always remember to pay just as much attention to an order for a slipcover as to an order to do a whole house. You never know where it will lead."

The words were those of a rug salesman to Sarah Jackson Doyle when she first started a decorating career. She heeded and eventually the advice led her to the White House.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Doyle for the past several months has been commuting between her New York office and Washington where she helped Mrs. Richard M. Nixon decorate the family rooms of the Executive Mansion. And while the first family was in San Clemente, she redid the President's Oval Office in the White House. Just what new decor awaited Mr. Nixon when he returned hasn't been announced. Mrs. Doyle leaves such matters to presidential press secretaries.

But what she did for the family quarters is known—such as a red, white and blue scheme for President Nixon's bedroom.

ACCIDENTAL

It was just accidental that the scheme was so patriotic in feeling. Mrs. Doyle said the President likes blues, so she put in a cornflower blue carpet, the bedspread has a white background with red and blue figures, the walls are white, a red rep wing chair sits in front of the fireplace.

Mrs. Nixon made very little change in the color scheme, mostly yellow, that Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had used in her bedroom. She did bring along from the Fifth Avenue apartment in New York some small French chairs and personal mementoes—"she leans to things French, to clear colors and pastels," Mrs. Doyle said.

★ ★ ★

As for Tricia's bedroom, it's in her favorite pinks and white.

One of the items added of which Mrs. Doyle is most proud is the new gold synthetic carpeting, 340 yards of it covering the rooms on the second floor, and another 200 square yards in deep red plush for the "red carpet treatment" in the grand hall and on the grand staircase. All were the gift of Eastman Chemical Products.

Loaned to the family rooms are several pictures from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and a piano from Steinway.

PEOPLE'S 'HOUSE'

"Mrs. Johnson went off beautifying America," said Mrs. Doyle in an interview. "I think Mrs. Nixon will continue to beautify the White House. It belongs to the people. It ought to have as many treasures as Buckingham Palace . . . the greatest of American furniture."

Through the years, Mrs. Doyle has done the homes of many of the prominent, although she doesn't like to name-drop, and done entire offices for many big companies. She was the first woman ever asked to do the Plaza Hotel ballroom.

That Kind of Ultimatum Shows His True Motives

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you for some practical words of advice to pass on to my 16-year-old daughter. She is a fine, pretty, intelligent girl with high ideals. Popular, too, and respected by her classmates.

I have instilled the "old fashioned" virtues in her and we have had some frank discussions about sex. She's always believed that it paid off to be "nice," and went with one of the most popular boys in high school. They enjoyed a decent, fun relationship and considered themselves "in love" as most kids do. She wore his "friendship" ring and he wore hers.

★ ★ ★

She told me that lately he was trying to get her to go a little bit further than she wanted to go, but she managed to keep him in line.

Last week he gave her an ultimatum, and when she refused to cross the limit line, he dropped her and went back to his old girl. (He had told my daughter that he'd been intimate with that girl, and I have reason to believe he had. I am not knocking her, but she has had no supervision, having lived with a divorced mother who has a poor reputation and is never home herself.)

Now my daughter feels that being "good" did not pay off. In her disappointment and jealousy and through her 16-year-old eyes she's played life's game honorably and lost, while the other girl did all the "wrong" things and won. What can I say to her?

HER MOM

DEAR MOM: You can tell her that "life's game" is hardly over at age 16, and a boy who would give her such an ultimatum is no bargain. Tell her, too, that before the game is over, she'll realize that though she may have lost one boy friend, she won much more.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Some very good friends of ours have a son who has gone the hippie route. When we inquire about their "children," (they have others who are married and one is in the service) should we inquire about their hippie son? Or should we just not mention him, like he is "dead?" We know that they are pretty sick about the life he leads.

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: Knowing that your friends would be hurt or embarrassed by the mention of their hippie son, don't mention him.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I was crazy about this man who was wonderful company and a great guy. The only thing wrong with him was that sometimes he drank too much. Then he got quarrelsome and moody. He wanted to marry me, but I was afraid of his drinking and kept putting him off. He got tired of my stalling and married somebody else.

★ ★ ★

I hear his wife sold him on A.A. and he hasn't had a drink in a year. I can't get this guy off my mind and now I'm eating my heart out. Can you help me?

LONELY IN A CROWD

★ ★ ★

DEAR LONELY: Quit eating your heart out with thoughts of what might have been. The one who got away always looks best. And should you ever meet another "wonderful guy" whose only weakness is joy juice, try to sell him on A.A. and if you succeed, then marry him.

Lunch Rewards Busy Secretary in Consulate

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband took some business correspondence to the German Consulate in our city for translation. A secretary there was assigned to help him and did all the necessary typing. The Consulate refused payment, so my husband asked the secretary out to lunch as a way of thanking her.

Was it necessary for my husband to personally thank the secretary? If so, how? I doubt the propriety of the lunch. — Mrs. S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S: Yes, your husband owed the girl a "thanks." An invitation to lunch is an accepted way of saying "Thank you" in the business world. Unless your husband saw the secretary socially more than on this one occasion, there was no impropriety. He could equally well have sent her an impersonal gift, but many men have difficulty in finding the right thing and the luncheon was a simpler solution.

MATRON OF HONOR

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently read in a marriage notice in our newspaper that the bride chose her mother as matron of honor. Is this considered etiquette? — Rosemary.

★ ★ ★

Dear Rosemary: The bride's mother's place in the wedding is that of hostess and mother — not as "best friend". Maids or matrons of honor should be contemporaries of the bride. By having her mother as her attendant, the bride deprives her of the dignity and honor of a mother's more mature position.

Judge Eases Restrictions After Newsmen Arrested

CHICAGO (AP) — The chief judge of U.S. District Court in Chicago has modified his restrictions on news coverage in and around the Federal Building. The action came after 10 newsmen were arrested for defying the limitations.

Judge William J. Campbell agreed to ease the restrictions somewhat Thursday night after meeting informally with Don H. Reuben, representing the four major daily newspapers in Chicago. The Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association had asked for the modification.

* * *

The restrictions were imposed Wednesday by Judge Campbell. Under his directive, cameras and tape recorders were banned inside the building, on an adjoining plaza and on sidewalks around the downtown building on three sides.

The modification will allow one room of the building to be used for news conferences and permit cameras and tape recorders to be operated in any nonjudicial office.

ORDER BEFORE TRIAL

Campbell issued the order a week before the scheduled trial of eight persons charged with violating a federal antiriot law in connection with police-protester clashes during the Democratic National Convention in August 1968.

* * *

The arrests Thursday followed an attempt by Sherman Skolnick, a self-taught legal researcher, to hold a news conference in the building to announce he had filed a suit challenging the judge's order on grounds it was unconstitutional.

* * *

Soon afterwards, Skolnick also was arrested when he allegedly took a photograph of a U.S. marshal on a sidewalk near the building.

The 10 newsmen arrested were Michael Rollins, a WCFL radio station reporter; Charles Doehrer, a Resistance Press photographer; Arvid Carlson, a WGN-TV cameraman; Leonard Walters a WBBM radio reporter; Walden Wright, a WFLD television cameraman; and Stanhope Gould, John Lawrence, Tom Cosgrove, Charles Quinlan and Del Hall, a CBS television crew.

Rollins was released on a $250 signature bond by U.S. Commissioner James T. Balog, who continued his case to Sept. 25. Eight of the others were freed also, either because they took no photos or made no broadcast footage, or because they were outside the area of the ban.

Doehrer and Skolnick were released on recognizance bonds after a preliminary hearing be-

Yellow Jacket Nest Removed ---Painfully

BLYTHE, Ga. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Padgett finally got rid of a huge nest of yellow jackets in their attic, but it was a painful victory.

* * *

Half a dozen members of this rural community's volunteer fire department were badly stung when they climbed into the attic to hose down the yellow jackets' five-pound nest with carbon dioxide fire-freezing gas.

* * *

That only stunned the insects. They struck back as one fireman carrying part of the nest out of the house in a plastic bag inadvertently released them. He tossed the bundle into a cotton field and fled down the road.

* * *

L. W. Sanders, an employe of the local veterans hospital, finally dislodged the rest of the nest with insect spray.

* * *

Padgett, 60, who has been blind for 17 years, said the yellow jackets had been flying into the bedroom at night and stinging him and his wife while they slept.

Doctors' Insurance Going Up 110 Pct.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An insurance broker says the premium that southern California doctors pay for malpractice coverage will go up an average of 110 per cent on Oct. 1.

* * *

John Allen, president of Nelsdeship Co., which handles nearly all malpractice insurance in southern California, said Thursday the increase is because claims per doctor have doubled since 1958 and the cost per claim has gone up sixfold.

* * *

Allen said the lowest premium for doctors in the highest rate scale—orthopedic surgeons, neurosurgeons, plastic surgeons and anesthesiologists—will jump from $1,591 to $3,452 for coverage of $100,000 per claim up to three claims a year. He said most physicians carry coverage up to $1 million.

Rep. Broomfield Praises Nixon's Speech at U.N.

Congressman William S. Broomfield of Royal Oak, a former delegate to the United Nations, praised President Nixon's speech before the U.N. yesterday as "one of the finest" ever delivered to the world body by "a chief of state and especially an American president."

"For the first time, America has put the issue of Vietnam squarely before the 126 member nations of the U.N. General Assembly," said Broomfield, a delegate to the U.N. in 1967 under the Johnson administration.

* * *

Broomfield, a Republican, said if the U.N. is ever to fulfill its purpose as the world's peacemaker, the "superpowers will have to allow it the authority to deal with the major areas of crisis."

"The President placed Vietnam at the doorstep of Hanoi. Let the critics of the war now turn to North Vietnam for a response," continued Broomfield.

"I have been urging such a step since I served as a principal delegate to the United Nations.

"At that time, despite my urgings, the Johnson Administration refused to allow the issue of Vietnam to come before the world body," the congressman said.

"They were afraid its members would condemn the U.S. for the bombing of North Vietnam."

* * *

"The president's speech yesterday clearly demonstrated that the U.S. has no such fears now. It is sincere in its determination to find an honorable solution to the war."

Gun Falls, Fires; Tavern Owner Is Shot in Back

A gun-toting bar owner is in "poor to fair" condition at Botsford Hospital, Farmington, today. Novi police said his pocket derringer slipped to the floor and shot him in the back, just above the left hip.

Clarence W. Leonard, 40, 2475 S. Commerce, Commerce Township reportedly was disturbed by some recent troubles in his East Shore Bar, Eastlake and 14 Mile, Novi. He loaded his 38-caliber derringer and put it in his back pocket last night, officers said.

As he sat on a stool at the bar, the cocked pistol dropped to the floor and discharged, according to investigators.

LANSING (AP) — Rep. William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, says he probably won't run for the Legislature in 1990—but if he does, he'll be counting on one additional vote.

Chief of Staff at PGH to Stay Through '70

Dr. Rockwood W. Bullard Jr., of 6745 Parke Lake, Clarkston, will remain as chief of staff for another year at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Bullard's term was increased from one to two years as the hospital's board of directors adopted new rules and bylaws last night. Bullard will serve until Dec. 31, 1970.

* * *

The new regulations also carry an impeachment clause allowing removal of a hospital officer on a two-thirds vote of the board and permitting the board's executive committee to name a successor. No such rule existed previously.

The board confirmed Dr. Shelby Baylis' appointment as a part-time chief of surgery. He will be paid $10,000 a year for his administrative duties in connection with the department.

Reorganization of the emergency room as a clinical department in the hospital, giving it the same status as other departments, was okayed by the board.

* * *

The restructuring, allowing other department chiefs a say in the administration of the department, will permit the acceptance of emergency room specialists, according to Dr. Robert L. Tupper, director of medical education.

Analysts said the market "appears to be in a base-building phase between 800 and 840 on the DJI," adding that penetration of 840 could "bring in significant buying."

Prices had a higher tone on the American Stock Exchange.

Making fractional gains were Alaska Airlines, Allen Electric, British Petroleum, and Home Oil Class A.

Hare Is Eying Education Post

Retiring Secretary Won't Quit Politics

LANSING (UPI) — A thinner, older James M. Hare is bowing out of the secretary of state's job he has held for the last 15 years, and wants a younger man to replace him.

"A guy who's had a couple of heart attacks does not have the stamina to run day after day," Hare told a news coneerence yesterday.

* * *

But Hare, whose name has become virtually synonymous in Michigan with his title, indicated his political career does not end here. He said that, instead of seeking an eighth term, he may run for one of the statewide education posts where he can still be in pubic service but under less pressure.

* * *

The 59-year-old Hare spoke of his "disappointments" in failing to win passage of legislative programs in recent years and to enact a "public disclosure" bill to require political candidates to report sources of income.

SET AN EXAMPLE

New administrations are placing "too much emphasis" on simply pouring more money into programs that aren't working well, the pipe-smoking secretary said. "I did try to set an example in my own department by reducing the budget by several millin dollars," he said.

* * *

Two severe heart attacks — th latest in 1968 — prompted Hare to say, "I feel that my successor should be a younger man, hopefully dedicated to those same programs and able to devote the necessary 60 hours a week to the job that it requires . . .

* * *

"I was putting in 80-90 hours a week and I just can't do that anymore."

Hare was asked if state law requires he resign from his present position to be eligible to run for an education post in 1970.

"If it comes to that you can forget the education post," he said.

Weather Ignorance Costly to Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — "A trend in recent years to cool weather in the Southeast will be broken this winter. In fact, the entire Middle and South Atlantic region will have a mild and open winter.

CUNNIFF

"Coastal stations will receive substantially below normal precipitation totals with little, if any, snow . . . Marked dryness and warmth in the Florida peninsula suggests an ideal winter tourist season . . ."

* * *

Could businessmen benefit from such long-range forecasts, scietifically made four to six months ahead of time? Could a manufacturer of tires, for example feel confident in September that fewer snow tires will be needed in Richmond, Va., next February?

Through the years businessmen have lost billions of dollars by failing to understand how weather changes their markets. Like others, they do a lot of talking but little else.

CURIOUS ATTITUDE

The attitude is a curious one, for healthy businesses seldom overlook chances for reducing losses by employing the skills and machines of science to reduce variables and lessen risks.

Highway contractrs, for example, use seismometers to estimate the cubic yards of cuts and fills needed before making bids. They measure distances exactly. They check prices of equipment. And then they flip a coin about the weather.

* * *

Often it is this very factor that forces them to take losses. Heavy rains can bog down trucks. Early frost can make earth-moving difficult. Snow can immobilize every man and machine.

Retailers, farmers, air-conditioner manufacturers and others have from time to time made efforts greater than flipping a coin. A pharmaceutical company sends copies of long-range forecasts by Weather Trends Inc. to 60,000 doctors. And many businesses consult Dr. Irving Krick of Palm Springs, Calif.

DESPAIR, IGNORANCE

Often, however, the attitude of business is one of despair and ignorance.

"Businessmen don't know how or to what extent their businesses are operationally weather-sensitive," says Dr. Hurd C. Willett, professor emeritus of meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

* * *

It is Willet who signed his name to the forecast for the lower East Coast states, now being distributed to clients of a newly formed, Boston-based company called Statistical Weather Information.

"Even those who subscribe to long-range forecasts misuse them, perhaps turning them over to the comptroller," said John Prohaska, a meteorologist. Willet, Prohaska and Dr. Donald DeVorkin, all with MIT backgrounds, are founders of SWI.

ASSEMBLE DATA

After years of research the three scientists have assembled 400,000 bits of weather information. The mass is fed into electronic computers for statistical relationships that become the basis for forecasts up to six months ahead.

The data, collected from Weather Bureau, private and military records covering thousands of square miles and several decades, are staggering.

* * *

To determine what the temperature will be at a given point six months hence, for example, atmospheric pressure readings for 30 years at 132 locations from England to Japan and Mexico to the Arctic are analyzed.

Studies have shown, the scientists claim, that atmospheric pressures at particular places and times are related to temperatures at other locations at later dates.

* * *

Similar relationships between precipitation at a given location and temperatures at other, often widely separated locations, have been shown. These historical relationships, they maintain, permit forecasts to be made seasonally.

More Unions Seek Tie to ALA, Reuther Says

DETROIT (AP) — Despite an AFL-CIO threat to expel the International Chemical Workers for joining, Walter P. Reuther says several other unions have applied for membership in the Alliance for Labor Action—ALA—formed by his United Auto Workers and the Teamsters.

* * *

While he declined in an interview to name the applicants, Reuther said, "We will be acting on those shortly and will announce them" when they are voted in.

So far the Chemical Workers is the only AFL-CIO union to join the ALA, and AFL-CIO President George Meany wants their 110,000 members expelled as a lesson to the federation's other 121 unions that they can't have one foot in his camp and the other in Reuther's.

The ouster move will come next month at the AFL-CIO convention. "It's a hard decision but there's no choice," says one high AFL-CIO official. Meany views the alliance as a competitive organization, damaging to the trade union movement.

CHARGE DENIED

Reuther, on the other hand, says this isn't so, that the ALA "is not a dual labor organization."

"If those who apply for ALA membership want to stay in the AFL-CIO, that's all right with us," Reuther said. "If they do not choose to remain, that also is O.K."

* * *

"Our movement is not designed to divide the AFL-CIO, just to revitalize it."

Accusing the 75-year-old Meany of being dictatorial, ignoring the AFL-CIO constitution and of permitting the labor movement to "vegetate," the 62-year-old Reuther pulled his 1.7-million member United Auto Workers out of the federation last year.

* * *

A few months later, he joined the 1.9-million-member Teamsters Union in forming ALA. The Teamsters were kicked out of the AFL-CIO on corruption charges in 1957.

Smallest Hike in Prices Set by Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has posted the smallest price increase of the Big Three automakers, but the No. 3 car producer is also spending less money than Ford and General Motors to convert previously optional equipment to standard items on 1970 models.

Chrysler said $28 of the $107 increase in the sticker price of its average car would come from making items such as fiber-glass-belted tires, which were optional on 1969 models, standard equipment on 1970s.

* * *

Ford said roughly $55 of its $108 increase went for this purpose and GM allocated $40 of its $125 increase.

All three auto makers said the biggest previously optional item was figer-glass-belted tires, which will be standard on all GM models and on most Ford and Chrysler products.

ITEMS VARY

The other now-standard items vary from model to model but they include power disc brakes on all Chevrolet Chevelle eight-cylinder station wagons ($61) and on Ford LTD's ($69).

"Genuine walnut interior accents," an optional item last year, are now standard on Ford's $6,822 Continental Mark III.

"That's real wood," explained a Ford spokesman, adding he wasn't sure what the walnut trim cost as an option.

Griffin Bids for Post as GOP Whip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has declared himself a candidate for the job of minority whip in the U.S. Senate.

Griffin announced Thursday also that he would not be a candidate for minority leader.

* * *

No one else has declared for the No. 2 spot but Griffin is among six who have been mentioned by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the present whip who is running for the Senate Republican leadership.

* * *

BIGGER LEAD

Scott claimed Thursday a steadily widening lead in the three-man race for the Senate minority leadership—a vacancy created by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Baker and Hruska are fighting Scott for the post.

* * *

Scott said, "We're just stapling everything down, just getting insurance votes."

Scott said a caucus is slated for next Wednesday where a new leader and assistant leader will be elected.

News in Brief

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own CPC International, Detroit Edison and Sterling Drug, all bought at high prices. Is this a good time, now that they're lower, to add to them? — W.E.

* * *

A. Before making further purchases it is important to decide on your investment objective. You have two income holdings, CPC and Detroit Edison, whereas Sterling Drug is a growth issue. While each class has merit, the success on a financial program depends on setting goals and making investments accordingly. If you need additional income, then by all means add to CPC and-or Detroit, both of which yield over 5 per cent. Sterling Drug has excellent long-range growth prospects well suited to a person building toward retirement 10 to 20 years away.

UAW Restates Offer to AMC

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Negotiators for the United Auto Workers reiterated their demand for an 11-month contract with American Motors Corp. yesterday and spelled out the wage increases they are seeking.

* * *

In the third bargaining session since Aug. 18, union negotiators told representatives of the auto maker they want wage increases totaling 39 cents an hour for production workers and 54 cents for skilled tradesmen.

* * *

AMC did not budge from its previous offer of a package valued at 47 cents an hour over a two-year period, or 23 cents the first year and 24 cents the second, a union spokesman said.

The talks were recessed again until Sept. 30. The current two-year contract expires Oct. 16.
