Rapid Cooling System

THIS IS THE LIFE — A sure way to beat the heat is shown here by David Gerken, 17, lifeguard at Avon Park, Rochester. He is shooting the rapids created by the waterfall under the bridge at the south side of the pond. The north side of the bridge is the spot reserved for Avon Township swimmers who daily fill the pond to near capacity during the present hot spell. David lives at 1003 W. 5th St.

Ship Launches Polaris Missile 'Successfully'

All Stages Ignite Okay; Thor Also Fired Earlier Today in Good Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy for the first time today fired a test version of Polaris submarine missile from a ship at sea.

An informed source reported shortly after the launching that the shot was highly successful.

The spectacular launching appeared perfect as compressed air shot the Polaris from a tube burrowed into the deck of the USS Observation Island. The first stage ignited some 70 feet above the deck.

A 28-foot missile arched high in the sky and headed down the Atlantic missile range, spurting a long tail of white smoke. A break in the smoke trail and a puff of fire 60 seconds later indicated burnout of the first stage and ignition of the second.

The Observation Island was cruising slowly in calm waters about seven miles off shore at the time of the launching. Newsmen saw the smoke trail clearly from the beach but the missile was a fiery pinpoint in the sky.

ANOTHER STEP

The ship launching was another step in developing the Polaris as a deadly weapon for ocean prowling submarines.

This was the second missile fired here today. Earlier a Thor intermediate range rocket was launched successfully on a 1,500 mile reliability test.

One hour and 22 minutes after today's thor launching, a recovery ship retrieved a data capsule that popped out of the Thor nose cone near Antigua Island. The capsule contained instruments to record the performance of the missile and the nose cone.

The capsule also reportedly carried a camera to photograph the earth from high altitude. Cameras have ridden in several Thors in recent months. Three of them have been recovered.

Attention has been focused on the Polaris program since Adm. Arleigh Burke, U.S. chief of naval operations, announced last week that Russia probably has submarines capable of firing ballistic missiles.

The Soviet missiles, launched from conventional submarines, probably have ranges of less than 200 miles.

When operational, the Polaris will have an initial capacity of 1,200 miles. But it will be at least a year before it is ready for combat use. It currently is being tested over 600-700 mile ranges.

Earlier this week, a Polaris was launched from a land pad at the Cape but failed to achieve all its test objectives because of a malfunction in the second stage. Only four of 14 previous shots of the two-stage test vehicle were completely successful.

Creeping In Early?

WAVE THEIR GREETINGS — President Eisenhower and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer acknowledge cheers from the crowd before entering the residence of U. S. Ambassador to West Germany at Bad Godesberg yesterday. The President received a warm welcome from the West Germans after he landed at the airport near Bonn. Eisenhower is making an official call on West German President Theodor Heuss today. Bad Godesberg is across the Rhine River from Bonn.

Talks 5½ Hours With Adenauer; Finds Rapport

Chancellor Also Hopes Khrushchev Visit May Thaw Cold War Ice

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower wound up his talks in Germany today with a pledge to protect the people of West Berlin and to stand fast with America's Allies against the menace of Soviet communism.

Eisenhower then left for London at 5:15 p.m. (11:15 a.m. EST).

The President conferred for 5½ hours with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the two issued a communique pronouncing the Western Alliance "of utmost importance to world peace."

The two governments, the communique said, hold mutual cooperation "one of the pillars of the foreign policies of the two countries." Eisenhower told a news conference he saw no evidence here of disunity among the Western Allies.

At the same the President said he believes closer unity of the nations of Western Europe "is really the hope for salvation of the world."

The statements added up to a firm assurance by the President that in his forthcoming talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev he will do nothing to undercut the NATO alliance.

Eisenhower emphasized he will hold "conversations and not negotiations" with Khrushchev.

The communique said Eisenhower "referred once again to the pledge given by the United States and its allies to protect the freedom and welfare of the people of Berlin."

THOUSANDS CHEER

Eisenhower and Adenauer, the communique said, engaged in "a private detailed discussion on worldwide political questions."

It listed some of them: Disarmament, Berlin and German reunification, European integration and Allied unity.

Eisenhower left Bonn with the ringing cheers of the West German public. When he walked from Adenauer's Palais Schaumburg, thousands were lined up to say goodby.

Cries of "I like Ike" were heard. Some spectators threw bouquets of flowers.

Eisenhower waved back, beaming with delight.

He then took off in a helicopter for Wahn Airport en route to London and talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Adenauer accompanied him in the helicopter.

Crowds broke through the police lines at the heliport to pat him on the back.

Before returning to the United States Sept. 4, he will visit Paris for discussions with President Charles de Gaulle.

HOPE TO MELT ICE

Eisenhower told his news conference he believes Adenauer shares his view that the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks may "melt a little of the ice" in the cold war.

Eisenhower addressed a news conference at the West German Foreign Ministry—the first he had ever held on foreign soil since be-

Cooling thundershowers were banging their way back into Pontiac early this afternoon, threatening a repeat performance of the electrical outburst that pounded Oakland County for more than four hours last night.

A seven-day streak of 90-degree weather apparently was snapped at 12:20 p.m. when rain sent the mercury tumbling from 87 degrees to the mid-70s in less than an hour.

But real relief from the heat isn't in sight yet. The Weather Bureau said thundershowers will probably keep on battering the area afternoons and evenings throughout a hot and humid weekend.

Wires were downed and several area homes damaged by lightning last night as the statewide storm claimed two lives and caused heavy damage elsewhere.

The storm began at 7:30 p.m. and pushed the temperature down to a sleepable 68 at midnight last night.

At least 20 areas in the county were without electricity for varying periods of time as lightning broke wires and blew out transformers.

The Buno road area south of Milford was still without service this morning.

Lightning cut off telephone service at the Milford Fire Department several hours and knocked out its siren temporarily.

A big break left Troy residents in the vicinity of Squirrel and Long Lake roads without lights for more than four hours.

Bloomfield Township firemen spent 35 minutes removing hot wires which were downed by lightning at Gilbert Lake and Quarton roads.

Pontiac was left relatively unscathed.

Two homes in Shelby Township were struck by lightning, and several nearby high tension wires were downed late yesterday afternoon.

Although the homes did not catch fire, there was about $300 damage to the exterior of each, firemen said.

The area, bounded roughly by 21 and 22 Mile roads and Van Dyke and Shelby roads was blacked out nearly an hour after lightning set a power transformer ablaze.

Detroit Edison Co. said it had 27 repair crews out mending broken lines most of the night. All service was normal at 11 a.m., it said.

The storm hit harder at other parts of the state.

At Bay City, a lightning bolt killed Timothy Wurdock, 8, of Jackson and injured four other children as they were about to go swimming.

Harold Douglas, 30, of Cass City, a Detroit Edison Co. repairman was killed when he touched a live wire while working on felled lines near New Baltimore.

Lightning left half of Mt. Clem-

Lightning Stuns Woman, Kills Dog Near Children

The sleeping wife of a Waterford Township fireman was temporarily paralyzed last night by lightning that flashed down her bedroom wall.

All the electrical wires in the home of Raymond Bush, 1394 Airway Dr., Waterford Township, were burnt out by the 11:30 p.m. bolt that left the left arm and side of Bush's wife, Elizabeth, 50, immobile for two hours.

There was no fire, but two grandchildren sleeping on the living room floor for coolness narrowly missed injury.

Lightning killed a mongrel dog before the horrified eyes of six Pontiac youngsters shortly before 2 p.m. yesterday.

The dog, "Little One," was leashed by a metal chain to a wire fence in the front yard at 481 Second St., and the six neighborhood tots, ages 5 to 10, were jostling with him while a rainless electrical storm passed overhead.

A sudden bolt struck the fence, electrocuting the dog.

The dog's owner, Brenda Wright, 13, rushed from her house and cradled her dead dog in her arms, sobbing hysterically.

Salary Hikes Suggested for County's Employes

In the hands of a committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors today is a recommendation of pay raises for county employes next year and the hiring of 10 new employes.

The report was presented this morning by the Salaries Committee of the Board to the Ways and Means Committee of the Board.

It came at a time when the W-M Committee was hard at work trying to find ways to cutting some $1,551,000 from the county's preliminary 1960 budget of $13,997,018. The cut is necessary because the previously-approved budget was based on the county getting $6.47 of the 15-mill tax levy. It got only $5.62.

Frazer W. Staman, chairman of the Salaries Committee, said suggested pay raises for 1,198 employes would cost the county $223,203 next year. He said employes haven't had a raise since January 1958.

Staman's report also recommends hiring seven new sheriff's deputies, two new employes for Juvenile Court and a part-time pharmacist for the Royal Oak social welfare office.

Addition of the new deputies comes from the recommendation of Sheriff Frank W. Irons that his department be put on a 40-hour week instead of a 48-hour week.

In a belt-tightening drive earlier, departmental requests for 69 new employes next year was trimmed to 37, and now to 10.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee adjourned for lunch promising to return this afternoon to debate the salaries report. None would commit themselves beforehand.

Meanwhile, members of the seven-man committee, which has the job of trimming the budget and making its recommendations to the full Board Sept. 14, heard Robert Y. Moore, chairman of

Peake Family Safe; Not in Earthquake

The Shelby Township family of three and their Pontiac companion reported missing since the Montana earthquake Aug. 17 have been located and are en route home.

★ ★ ★

James Peake, 53, of 47880 Pinecrest St.; his wife, Grace, 52; and son, Eugene, 28, had not been heard from since they left on vacation two weeks ago. Accompanying them was Larry Smootz, 29, of 23 S. Paddock St.

Peake's daughter, Mrs. John Nelson of Lapeer, received a telegram from the American Red Cross yesterday notifying her that the four had been located visiting relatives in Oregon and now were headed back to Michigan.

Another daughter, Mrs. Ralph Williams, of 3185 Willett St., said today she was "glad the nightmare was over." Her sentiments were echoed by Smootz's family, who did not realize that he was listed as missing until they read about it in yesterday's Pontiac Press.

10 to 40 Dead as Quake Rocks South Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Southern Mexico today counted at least 10 dead following the nation's worst earthquake of the year. Communications were still out to many points, and some estimates of the toll went as high as 40 dead.

The quake hit about 2:20 a.m. Wednesday, spreading destruction and panic across the six tropical states of Veracruz, Oaxaca, Campeche, Yucatan, Puebla and Tabasco. The heaviest shocks apparently were felt on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, narrowest Mexican point between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific.

Rains Hindering Work on Xways

Downpour Last Night Caused Machinery to Be Moved Higher

DETROIT (AP)—Reopening of two sections of Detroit's heavily-traveled expressways, knocked out by flash floods Sunday, may be delayed by fresh flooding during last night's brief but violent storm.

Sunday's torrential rainstorm overtaxed the expressway's storm sewer system and burst two major lines.

The multi-million dollar freeways were flooded 12 feet deep Sunday in spots and thousands of persons stranded when their cars were caught in the swirling waters.

Work crews labored round-the-clock to reach the broken main. By late afternoon yesterday the area around the most serious break, on the westbound Ford Expressway, had been cleared.

★ ★ ★

Then the rains came again. The excavation was filled quickly by cascading waters and made a morass of the surrounding area. Workers hurriedly moved construction equipment to higher ground.

Publisher Returns to Report on Trip Through Russia

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, Pontiac Press

Your peripatetic reporter crept into this Dante's inferno yesterday after 12 days in Russia. It was hot there. "Unusual," they said in Russian.

It was hot in Berlin. It was very warm in Warsaw. And while a night in Denmark's superb Copenhagen was just dilly, a four hour drive around London Tuesday saw the mercury and humidity parade upward, hand in hand.

But these climatic readings were in the eighties.

The climactic nineties were reserved for America.

In a report to my home community on Russia, I don't want anyone to conclude that I think 12 days in the land of communism make me "an authority." My American pal, Don Maxwell, Editor of The Chicago Tribune, is a brilliant man, but I'm just one of the marginal boys that still believes "a dollar saved is a dollar earned" and all those other Simple Simon, anti-Communist pronouncements. This enunciation of intent just says that one of your fellow townsmen is bringing back a first hand report on Russia—as he saw it.

Herodotus, be not too severe in your judgment.

This is the first of a few articles and in the last I'll try and draw some conclusions.

Hubert Parnakivi, Russia's 10,000 meter champ who whipped our boys in Philadelphia last month, did nobly when he said:

"Things are not as bad over here as we have been told. Equally, things are not as bad in Russia as you have been told. We need to learn a lot about each other."

That was precisely the intention and purport of our visit.

We flew to Berlin, met Larry Rue, European correspondent of The Tribune and then drove to Warsaw and on to Moscow in a Mercedes Benz. The car had a diesel motor as the diesel gives greater mileage, and in Russia you don't coast into the nearest gas station when the tank goes "phutt." You may be 50 kilometers from aid and succor. Although the roads are broad, smooth and excellent, there aren't 50 million motorists in Russia yelling "fill 'er up!" No, indeedy.

When you cross the border from Poland into Russia, the Poles give you a good going over and then you're in the hands of the Communists. This is a police state and every individual is fearfully inconsequential—that goes for you, too—and you sense it. Together the border activities are a two hour job.

The first sign of communism is the collective farms. A group of farmers join together to harvest the crops on a given area and an elected "boss" distributes and assigns the work.

Everyone's equal.

They share and share alike.

If Ivan does more work than Smalovitch, he doesn't fare one whit better and so individual initiative goes right down the drain. Incentive is killed at the start and you can settle easily for mine run mediocrity. The products of the collective work are divided equally after the state takes its own cut first.

★ ★ ★

I was amazed at the way wheat was threshed. It's spread across the beautiful, hard surfaced roads so the automobiles, trucks and horses can pound over it in an unending succession. Then it's swept off and the straw separated. The very thought of this dictated a toast regimen—three times a day — in the hope that toasting might add some sanitation and protection. We saw women doing by far the great bulk of the work and there are miles and miles of this ancient and primitive procedure.

★ ★ ★

An interpreter met us at the border and you have one all the time you're there. Don't tackle Russia without one. You can't speak the language and they can't understand yours.

★ ★ ★

Downtown streets in Moscow are constantly crowded—even jammed—and the stores seem to be doing a tremendous business. Part of this is due to the fact the number of outlets is less than we have here in comparable cities.

Prices are intriguing.

Plain, serviceable merchandise is low in cost but anything approaching the "luxury level" finds the rubles skyrocketing. A pair of women's shoes with broad toes, low heels and a tough leather, may sell for five dollars but anything more stylish than that finds the tag vaulting to $25 or $30. A man's suit of sturdy design will go for $30 but one with modern styling and fine material skyrockets the cost to $150 or more.

★ ★ ★

Everyone told us to be sure and see Metro. Metro is Moscow's subway, and it practically beggars description. First, we were treated to the longest and steepest escalator ride in history. It plunges down, down and down until you furtively look around for a Chinaman, a South Sea Islander or whoever is on the other side of the world from Russia.

The stations are simply beautiful.

One offers a series of several dozen huge paintings that must have taken years and years to do. Another had a big group of mosaics that were absolute works of art and another featured sculpturing with several dozen figures standing six or eight feet high. All of these art objects are huge in size and the whole place is brilliantly lighted.

★ ★ ★

In comparison, the New York subway looks like a junk yard that had been conceived and abandoned in prehistoric times. Metro suggests an art gallery and those of you who suspect I'm a bit balmy, can take a quick hop, step and jump to Moscow and look for yourselves.

★ ★ ★

The marble that has gone into the entrances and exits suggests that Washington D. C. finally has a rival for profligacy with other peoples' money in building memorials, temples and everlasting shrines — with your cash.

★ ★ ★

The trains are bright, clean and inviting in comparison with the dirty, dingy, repulsive cars that New York always offers.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. Exhibition comes in for a tremendous run.

It's very popular.

And it's packed.

★ ★ ★

The Russians admit rather freely that the things we show have outstripped them, "but not by much in many cases." And further they suggest they're surprised that "we haven't done better than we have,

Nikita Writes to Adenauer: Says Reds Won't Change

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says his talks with President Eisenhower may mean the start of gradual adjustment of outstanding differences between the Communists and the West. But he says Soviet opposition to Western ideas on German reunification haven't relaxed a bit.

The Soviet premier in a new note to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said once more that the great powers should leave the reunification of Germany to negotiations between the East and West German governments.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev sent his letter to Adenauer nine days ago but it was published only Wednesday night—apparently to time with Eisenhower's arrival in Bonn for talks with the West German chancellor.

★ ★ ★

"It is clear to any realistically minded state that the policy of reunification by the efforts of others, and with the abolition of the Socialist system in the (Communist) German Democratic Republic to boot, is insolvent," Khrushchev said.

★ ★ ★

The West contends that reunification must be worked out by the Big Four who led the fight against Hitler Germany and who divided Germany after the war. The Western Allies also refused to recognize the East German regime on an equal basis with the West German government.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev wrote the West German chancellor that his own talks with Eisenhower could result in "mutually acceptable decisions."

But the Soviet premier said Adenauer must recognize there are two German states—the capitalist West and Communist East.

Khrushchev declared that Adenauer's refusal to deal with the East Germans "leads one to think that you do not want the reunification of Germany, but merely look for arguments to continue the disputes and thereby prolong the state of the cold war."

Johnson Backs Russian's Visit

Must Stand Behind Ike, Says Senator; 'Nikita Can't Brainwash Us'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Americans must—and will—stand behind President Eisenhower in making the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev serve the nation's best interest, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) told the American Legion National convention today.

"I have no fears that Mr. Khrushchev can contaminate the American people," the Senate majority leader said. "We can take in stride the best brainwashing he can offer. Our problem is to see to it that Khrushchev will have a true picture of our country, a true picture of our people and our purpose."

★ ★ ★

Johnson spoke as Legion delegates prepared to vote on foreign relations resolutions, some reportedly aimed at condemning the Khrushchev visit and calling for a tougher stand against the Soviets in the cold war.

★ ★ ★

Legionnaires have remained critical of the Khrushchev tour even after a talk in support of it before the convention Tuesday by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Day in Birmingham

Foreign Students to See Real American Homes

BIRMINGHAM — Foreign students arriving at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor this semester will have the welcome mat rolled out for them by Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area residents in "Operation Friendship."

The residents, headed by Mrs. Sylvester Trythall of 4858 Willow Lane, will go to Ann Arbor Friday afternoon to pick up the students and bring them home in accordance with arrangements made by the U. of M. Alumnae Assn. with the university.

The students, who will be taking an orientation course at Cranbrook prior to beginning classes, will spend the weekend with their host families, enabling them to better understand what life in this country is really like and what they can expect during their stay here.

The orientation program at Cranbrook will be conducted by Dr. James M. Davis, director of U. of M.'s International Center.

The program is designed to help the foreign students adjust to academic and social life on the campus. It also will enable them to better understand their American classmates.

"Students from overseas come here with a very distorted conception of family life in this country," said Dr. Davis.

AS WE REALLY ARE

"Being welcomed informally into a home almost immediately upon arrival will not only make the students feel wanted, but will give them a picture of us as we really are," he added.

The students will remain with their host families through Sunday.

Three area residents have been named officers of the Wayne State University Fund organization for 1959-60.

Walter F. Carey of 6125 Middle Belt Rd., president of Automobile Carriers, Inc., has been elected chairman of the fund group's board of governors.

Louis G. Seaton of 8128 Hendrie Blvd., General Motors Corp. vice president, and Dr. W. Kenneth Tregenza of 100 Linda Lane, Bloomfield Hills, are newly elected vice presidents.

The fund has collected over $284,000 from alumni, friends of the university, organizations and foundations during the past five years.

★ ★ ★

The money has been used for scholarships, student emergency loans, research, faculty conference travel, special equipment, faculty center furnishings, president's fund, athletic facilities, special projects and university centennial recognition.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. model home came in for the greatest doubt. It is announced as a $13,000 structure—because it is—and $5,000 more went into furnishings.

Tass, the Soviet News Agency said of this building:

"There's no more truth in showing this as a typical home of the American worker than, say, in showing the Taj Mahal as a typical home of a Bombay textile worker."

The furnishings are more modernistic than the "average American home" but the total investment isn't.

We went to a circus one night. It only had one ring as compared to the orthodox five over here, but the acts were superb. They had a bear that put on the greatest animal act I ever saw. Tigers splashed in and swam about and bears "paddled their own canoes" in an incredible succession of acts. They have a clown that ranks among the best of all time.

RECRUITING DIFFICULT

Total salaries budget for the county next year is set tentatively at $5,432,751. This represents a $323,852 increase over the current schedule.

According to John W. Witherup, county personnel director, the suggested pay hikes are needed because the county is "having considerable difficulty recruiting" semiprofessional help under the present pay scale.

The committee's report comes on the heels of Tuesday's criticism of the W-M Committe for slashing $35,000 as the Child Guidance Clinic's share of the 1960 budget.

The money would be used for the Clinic's treating emotionally-disturbed children.

Supervisors told Clinic officials they didn't have the money to give them because of the lowered tax allocation.

He is currently majoring in engineering science. Last semester he carried 19½ hours credit. This year he'll carry 21½ hours. To graduate he will have completed 176 credit hours.

HE LIKES FLYING

The curriculum he will follow includes four divisions: basic sciences, applied sciences, social sciences and humanities. Graduates usually end up with 34½ hours basic, 35 applied, and 29½ hours in social sciences, plus 40 hours in humanities.

Training in airmanship includes military, leadership, physical and navigation training totaling about 171 hours in the air during a four-year period.

Conlan, who wants to become a fighter pilot, just returned from two weeks of pilot indoctrination training at Malden Air Base, Malden, Mo.

He got his official "Tiger" card and plaque when he broke through the sound barrier in a supersonic jet intercepter flying out of Hamilton AFB, near San Francisco last spring.

And what does he think about all this flying? "The more the merrier," says Conlan, a young man with his eye on the future.

No More 'Lassie,' Clancy, Says Doc; Go Chase a Cat

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—The doctor says Clancy MacGillicuddy has to cut down his television viewing time.

Clancy is convalescing from an operation for eye cataracts, resulting, the veterinarian said, from too much TV viewing.

But Clancy will be allowed to watch his favorite program — "Lassie." You see, Clancy is a 3-year-old Dalmatian.

Justice of the Peace Alice K. Burridge, who owns Clancy, says the dog whimpers his way through the plot of the "Lassie" show. "He actually gets bug-eyed watching it."

Russia Doesn't Want Nikita; Ohio, That Is

RUSSIA, Ohio (AP)—Khrushchev not welcome in Russia?

That's right. Scores of American cities have been flooding the State Department with invitations for the Soviet premier when he visits the United States next month. But the 400 citizens of this west-central Ohio community want no part of comrade Nikita.

Almost every resident is a Roman Catholic.

Seventy-five per cent of the population is of French descent. The founders were veterans of Napoleon's futile invasion of Russia.

Arriving here, they looked at the level land near the Indiana border and said it looked like Russia. So they named it so.

Masked Bandit Robs Gas Station Worker

A 21-year-old gas station attendant was held up at gunpoint early this morning and robbed of $49 by a masked bandit.

★ ★ ★

William Burke, 833 Sarasota Ave. told Pontiac police he was eating at 2 a.m. when the gunman crept up behind him.

Burke said the gunman forced him to walk to a field behind the gas station.

The holdup man told him to take off all his clothes, then ordered him to return to the gas station, Burke said.

★ ★ ★

Ford Production Halt Sinks Auto Figures

DETROIT (AP) — Ford, last of the automakers to wind up 1959 model production, ends its run this week, cutting total industry production to the lowest figure of the year.

Automotive News said Ford will close out with about 11,300 cars during the current week. The over-all total for all carmakers will be 17,805 units.

Chevrolet will built 2,800 Corvairs this week. Studebaker-Packard is expected to produce 3,176 new models; Plymouth 300 and Imperial 200.

Industry production last week was 31,741 cars.

Truck production was estimated at 14,482 against 14,670 a week ago. Canadian plants built 1,320 cars and trucks compared with 3,011 last week.

Individuality Costs $50

UNION, S. C. (UPI) — A pretty, 18-year-old girl who was fined $50 yesterday for swimming in the nude explained it was "just my way of taking a bath."

Personnel Shifts Sweep City's Postal Department

The largest personnel change in the Pontiac Post Office Department in recent years was announced today by Acting Postmaster Robert C. Miller.

Ten employes have been promoted as a result of recent retirements of the superintendent of mails, superintendent of the Federal Station downtown, assistant superintendent of Federal Station and the foreman of mails.

Arthur L. Ewald, assistant superintendent of Federal Station, leaves the postal service Monday after 42 years service. He was appointed in 1917. His is the most recent retirement.

The Post Office Department has awarded Ewald a "Certificate of Honorary Recognition for devotion to duty in the course of an honorable career in the United States Postal Service," and conveys official commendation from the postmaster general.

SUMMERFIELD WRITES

A letter of recognition was written to Ewald by the Hon. Arthur E. Summerfield, postmaster general.

Named to fill the new positions by Miller "after careful and thorough screening," are:

Robert J. Featherston, 42, 2160 Richter, Drayton Plains, superintendent of mails, with 18 years service.

Wilmore A. Green, 35, 651 Second St., assistant superintendent of mails, with 11 years service.

Clarence H. Smith Jr., 43, 37 Vinewood, superintendent of Federal Station, with 23 years service.

Volney C. Shafer, 38, 437 Boyd, assistant superintendent of Federal Station, with 11 years service.

Ralph A. Dean, 39, 79 Hamilton, superintendent of main office window service, with 11 years service.

Thomas Black, 52, 518 Northfield, foreman of mails with 18 years service.

Henry St. John, 52, 339 Voorheis Rd., foreman of mails, with 32 years service.

Edward J. Cornell Jr., 46, 35 Henderson, foreman of mails, with 13 years service.

Kenneth C. Gottschall, 43, 8929 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, foreman of mails, with 13 years service.

Robert Wolcott, 41, 1114 Vermont, Royal Oak, route examiner, with 21 years postal service.

Designed for Automation

Display New Mail Aids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield put on display today a variety of new devices designed to apply automation to the handling of mail.

He also announced major plans for a revolutionary post office and working laboratory, to be built at Oakland, Calif.

Summerfield said the fully mechanized office at Oakland will process mail and serve as a testing ground for still newer devices. It is expected to be under construction within a year by the Food Machinery and Chemical Corp. of San Jose, Calif.

The installation will be called "Project Gateway," because it will be the post office through which a large amount of west coast mail flows.

Summerfield said the office will speed the mail flow for much of the coast. It also will handle mail for the armed services in the Pacific and regular mail for Hawaii, the Orient, the South Pacific and Australia, as well as west coast air mail for Europe via the Polar Route.

★ ★ ★

Summerfield said fully mechanized facilities are almost complete at Denver, Colo., and Flint, Mich. Projects in Detroit and Providence, R.I., will be completed next year. He said other priority projects are at Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., Houston, Cincinnati, Harrisburg, Pa., and Boston.

Doctor's Will Frees Patients From Paying

CHICAGO (AP) — The will of a Marengo doctor who died at 79 wiped out all unpaid medical fees owed by his patients.

"Having practiced medicine and surgery for 45 years in Marengo," wrote Dr. William V. Gooder, "I hereby cancel and forgive all unpaid medical fees owed me by any and all former patients."

The attorney who filed the will Wednesday estimated the unpaid bills at about $25,000.

Dr. Gooder died Aug. 10. His wife died 10 years ago. His estate, estimated at $100,000 was left in trust for his housekeeper of 10 years.

One of six retail trade employes is engaged in the public eating industry.

Michigan Will Harvest Bumper Crop of Grapes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will harvest a bumper grape crop this fall, the State Agriculture Department reported today.

The production of 56,000 tons will be 5,500 tons more than last year and well above the 10-year average of 37,650 tons.

Harvest of early varieties is just starting and quality is reported as excellent. The large blue Concord grapes, sold principally to juice plants, wineries and jelly manufacturers, are the main variety.

Michigan's top grape-producing counties, located in the extreme southwestern area of the state, rank high nationally among the nation's more than 3,500 counties.

Van Buren is 14th, Berrien 17th, Kalamazoo 37th and Allegan 57th.

Women outnumber men, 52 to 48, as shareholders in public corporations in the United States.

Michigan and Wisconsin Plan Mortuary Swap

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Michigan and Wisconsin soon will be able to swap undertakers.

The Michigan Board of Mortuary Science met with the Wisconsin board here to iron out details of a reciprocal agreement for licensing morticians.

Wisconsin formerly had only a two-year college education requirement but now matches Michigan's three-year requirement. The board explained the agreement would be of service to residents on both sides of the Michigan-Wisconsin border.

Michigan has a similar agreement with Ohio but not with Illinois and Indiana, which have lower education standards, the board said.

One-half of the passenger automobiles in the United States are 4-door sedans.

State Lawyers Study Insurance for Clients

LANSING (AP) — A committee of the State Bar of Michigan has initiated a study of the feasibility of setting up a clients security fund, bar president, Raymond H. Dresser reported.

The fund would be assembled by contributions or backed by insurance to restore to a client the embezzlements of a lawyer.

The fund plan, under study by the bar's committee on insurance law, was described as "simply good public relations."

Such a plan has been in operation for many years in England. Recently one was adopted by Vermont and others are under study in many states.

The committee is also investigating the possibility of securing liability insurance for the entire bar to protect the public from acts of malpractice by bar members.

New Bill Will Limit Motor Scooter Use

Two recent stories again call attention to motor scooters. It is headlines like "Boy Escapes Injury After Scooter Crash" and "Scooter-Truck Accident Kills Waterford Boy" that cause untold grief and sorrow.

★ ★ ★

Monday Governor Williams signed a bill that bans 14-year-olds from motor scooter operation, and raises the minimum age to 15. It also prohibits double riding on scooters and prohibits operation after dark without permission of local police.

The measure is a start to cut down on motor scooter accidents. The Legislature and the Governor are to be congratulated for this action.

However, the original bill had more teeth and would have been a greater deterrent against these unnecessary accidents. According to this new bill, which takes effect 90 days after the Legislature adjourns, local police will determine whether after dark riding is permissible.

It seems reasonable to believe that such a ban should be in effect in Oakland County. With our continual heavy traffic conditions, the scooters pose a double hazard for the motorist.

★ ★ ★

Not only must the automobile driver give extra room for the scooters, but he must also be careful in so doing not to turn into the path of another car.

Today's congested highways are no place for the tiny motor scooters after dusk.

Hawaii Now Official as Our Fiftieth State

Welcome, Hawaii, as the fiftieth state in our Union. Last week the President made this official proclamation.

★ ★ ★

A few vital statistics on our new state: Hawaii is the southernmost state in the U.S., lying farther south than Florida; it has a population of 640,000, which makes it the third largest state at the time of admittance to the Union.

★ ★ ★

Its area is 6,400 square miles—just smaller than New Jersey, larger than Connecticut. It is composed of eight major islands strung out over 400 miles.

★ ★ ★

If you're wondering what its state flower is, mark down hibiscus. For a little confusion, its motto is Ua Mau Ke Ea O Ka Aina I Ka Pono (The Life of the Land Is Preserved in Righteousness.)

U.S. Foreign Branches Are Expanding Rapidly

A recent survey shows that American private industry is expanding abroad at a significant rate.

New money for plants, equipment and property outside the United States will run to $2.144 billion this year and as much for 1960, an increase of five per cent over 1958, says a McGraw-Hill study. Most of the expansion will be in Europe rather than in Canada and Latin America as has been the case heretofore.

★ ★ ★

This trend is attributable to new conditions created by the European Common Market (ECM). Over 400 manufacturing firms in Britain are wholly or partially owned by Americans. British Treasury figures show that about four per cent of the labor force, that is 375,000 persons are employed by such firms which account for 5.5 per cent of Britain's manufacturing output. More than 3,000 American firms have opened branches in foreign countries. Those in Europe will have tariff free access to all ECM members.

U.S. companies are pushing sales by foreign subsidiaries to such an extent that they are expected to increase faster than our exports. Automation and American know-how on top of lower foreign wages are said to be cutting into our export markets.

Although warnings are being sounded, American labor spokesmen do not view the situation as particularly alarming and are not likely to do so as long as there is general prosperity.

Sticky: The weather — in two ways: everything sticks to you, and such weather sticks around too long.

The new branch of the Community National Bank at Waterford's main corner is only following the pattern set by the first pioneers in that area. One of their initial acts was to establish a depository at the same location.

When that community on the Detroit and Saginaw Indian trail was first settled in 1819, it is a matter of recorded history that two of its first white men, had the foresight to start a depository there. It was for hay and grain.

For several years the horses that drew the stage coaches on the turnpike, now the Dixie Highway, received their stop over feedings of hay and oats from the bins of this depository, succeeded 140 years after its opening by another depository. Who says that history does not repeat itself?

David Lawrence Quotes Nixon:

'There's Hope in Khrushchev Visit'

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon says the United States isn't going to be fooled by the Khrushchev visit. He adds that President Eisenhower isn't going to be "taken in or bluffed."

LAWRENCE

Nixon further declares that "it would be naive and wishful thinking to assume that the visit of Khrushchev to the United States will result in any basic change in the Communist objective of world domination or their adherence to policies designed to achieve that goal."

These and other statements of a dramatic nature are contained in the remarkable speech made by the Vice President before the 41st national convention of the American Legion held at Minneapolis this week.

★ ★ ★

What Nixon has said is bound to have a far-reaching effect on both sides of the Atlantic, especially since the substance of it was discussed with President Eisenhower before he left for Europe yesterday.

The speech warn that the world should be alert to the propaganda maneuvers involved in the Khrushchev visit.

Nixon urges that the Soviet Premier be given courteous treatment while here and explains more clearly than has anyone else heretofore just what the American government hopes will be gained by the Khrushchev visit.

Nixon pointedly says:

"We should be under no illusions that Khrushchev's belief in the superiority of the Communist system will be changed in any significant respect by his seeing the great productivity of the American economy.

"Everything he sees in the United States will be seen through Communist eyes and the picture will be distorted or magnified so that it fits into the rigid description of free societies which the Communist doctrine has painted for over 100 years.

"Nor should we be under any illusions that better understanding between the Soviet leaders and ourselves is all that is needed to resolve our differences and to assure peace. . . .Charm, words of friendship, gracious toasts are not going to have the slightest effect in deterring Khrushchev from his basic objectives."

Then what useful purpose can the trip serve?

Nixon raises the question and answers it by saying, first, that Khrushchev is "a man who holds in his hands the greatest power any one man has ever held in the history of civilization—who by his decision alone could press the button which could start a chain reaction which would destroy civilization as we know it."

Then how can his attitude be changed? Nixon thinks that in the conversations with the President and in his trip across the country Khrushchev "will see and hear some things which will change his preconceived notions about the United States and which in turn will give him pause before he embarks on a course of action in the future which might be contrary to our vital interests."

What are some of those things he "will see and hear"?

Nixon says: "He will find that not only are we strong militarily and economically, but that the American people have the will to use their strength to defend our freedom or the freedom of others any place in the world.

"He will find that the overwhelming majority of the American people are as dedicated to our system as he is to his. He will find that we will no more tolerate being pushed around than will he."

But how will the Soviet Premier discover the resoluteness of the American people?

The answer is that it is by just such speeches as the vice president himself has just delivered, by the resolutions and statements of such organizations as the American Legion and the AFL-CIO, by the outspoken protests of many other groups, and by what the American press tells him.

Smiles

It's just human nature for people to spend weeks raisng a few radishes when they could buy a whole bunch for a dime.

Dr. William Brady Says:

New Treatment of Piles Consists of Injections

There's no sense in enduring constant trouble or repeated "attacks" of piles, now that good doctors everywhere are skilled in ambulatory treatment, which is safe, painless and at least as effective as hospitalization and major surgery.

DR. BRADY

Sometimes the old timers who still perpetrate the crude clamp and cautery atrocity on their credulous customers give persons subject to piles a wrong impression of office, injection, ambulatory treatment, because they are uninformed and unskilled in the technique.

This modern treatment of piles is suitable for INTERNAL piles only and cannot be applied to external piles. Internal piles are bleeding piles, but not very painful except when they are "down" with defecation—then it is necessary to replace the pile mass by pressure while in the hip-high, head-low position to gain the help of gravity.

External piles seldom bleed, but they are generally more painful than internal piles. The curative treatment for an external pile, inflammation of which is the very painful condition commonly called an "attack" of piles, is surgical incision, under local or general anesthesia, turning out the clot if the pile is thrombosed, and closing the incision with suture. This shortens the "attack" several days. However the victim may prefer to suffer for a week longer and be cured by nature—organization of the clot, formation of scar tissue and slow but sure shriveling of the pile. This cures that particular pile (hemorrhoid) as certainly as injection or radical surgery would, but of course doesn't prevent development of other piles in the future any more than injection or operation does.

Prevention of internal hemorrhoids (piles) is mainly a matter of general hygiene.

Prevention of external piles (hemorrhoids) and "attacks" or piles is almost entirely a matter of careful toilet of the perineum, soap and water cleanliness.

Various rectal troubles other than piles (hemorrhoids) are improperly treated, sometimes with unhappy consequences, when the nature of the trouble has not been diagnosed. The only way an accurate diagnosis can be made is by direct examination with headlight and speculum. A doctor who treats "piles" without having made such examination is doing harm.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Press Courtesy Rekindles Irritated Reader's Loyalty

The Press has been serving Pontiac for years with accurate daily account of news and features, and most of us, though taking this for granted, appreciate it very much. But what of other services The Press offers?

★ ★ ★

While in high school I edited the school newspaper. The Press gave me and my staff invaluable advice and offered many free services which the school print shop couldn't provide. As students we certainly appreciated this, but as we entered college or obtained jobs, we forgot our friend, The Press.

★ ★ ★

Recently I placed a want ad in The Press which was erroneously placed. I became quite angry, refused to pay my bill and began to call The Press a few names. But when I thought the situation over calmly, I wrote to John Riley and explained my grievance. The next morning George Inman called and sincerely apologized for the error and made satisfactory adjustment. I was so impressed by the prompt, courteous action of The Press that my old loyalty returned a hundredfold.

'Can Health Officials Curb the Vendors?

The police department has tried in vain to rid the streets of ice cream vendors. Why can't the health department take a part in getting rid of these fellows? I've seen more times than once the driver holding ice cream in one hand and a dog in the other.

Would any of you go into a store to buy meat, candy, etc., while the groceryman carried a dog around in the store?

So let's make the streets safer and healthier for the children we cherish so much. Pets are fine for children, but to mix dogs with ice cream from unwashed hands doesn't really seem exactly a healthy situation.

Nehru Getting Close-Up Look at Communism

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Prime Minister Nehru of India is having to change his tune after many years of a sort of neutralism which seemed to be either more tolerant or more ignorant of communism than of the West.

As long as the Communists were invading Korea, Viet Nam, shooting up Hungary and Quemoy and now Laos, the leader of the Indian independence movement showed few signs of being moved.

★ ★ ★

But the Chinese Communists, with their action against Tibet and their threats against Bhutan and Sikkim, have now driven closer to where Nehru lives.

He also has had a close-to-home demonstration of Communist tactics in India's own Kerala state, and has had to hand its government into the hands of the national regime to preserve order.

★ ★ ★

He has had to warn Red China that India will fight if necessary for Sikkim and Bhutan.

This is a drastic change of pace for the neutral Nehru.

It marks a further deterioration of the Communist position in Asia, which has seen Peiping cast off all of the propagandistic five principles of coexistence by which it sought to lull Asia into a false sense of security.

★ ★ ★

"China is accomplishing for the West what the United States has been attempting all these years in vain," said an important chain of Indian newspapers in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras.

"Whether India likes the role or not non-Communist nations on the periphery of the Chinese land mass will increasingly look to (India) as they prepare to defend against Chinese Communist expansionism."

It is interesting to note, too, that Peiping is beating the expansionist drums just at a time when Nikita Khrushchev has been denying the expansionist aims of international communism.

The Peiping-New Delhi situation heightens the importance of the test which the Reds are now offering the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in Laos.

The Indian editorial remarks that Red China's folly has turned the thoughts of Asia's smaller nations toward security, and suggests that the United States might find more takers now than when she first offered membership in SEATO.

If SEATO can act effectively in Laos it might offer the foundation for a vastly strengthened Asiatic front.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Children Are Our Finest Resource

A good teacher should inspire and lead his eager pupils into fascinating fields of knowledge. He should be specially trained for this career, since teaching is a branch of salesmanship. But notice the difference between college profs and those in high school or grammar school. Don't kotow to a mere Ph. D. unless its owner can "sell" his ideas successfully in the classroom.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C - 428: When Dr. Benjamin Willis, our Chicago Superintendent of Schools, asked me to address several thousand teachers the day after Labor Day, I gladly agreed.

DR. CRANE

For education is my pet hobby and our 5 Crane children had spent 13 years apiece (total of 65 years) in the Chicago public schools.

During that time I had addressed dozens of audiences of teachers, principals, state educational conventions, and PTA groups. Repeatedly I told the teachers that they are dealing with America's greatest natural resource — our children.

Teachers stand before our youngsters in a directive capacity more hours per school day than do the actual mothers of those kids, and far more than do we fathers.

★ ★ ★

A good teacher should thus realize she functions as a glorified foster parent to her pupils.

She should thus smile at the opening of class, despite her peptic ulcer or aching bunions, for a smile reassures shy tots and makes them relax happily.

TEACHER & PREACHER

A good teacher should have the same idealistic call to mold the lives of children that is usually ascribed to clergymen.

If a teacher is motivated primarily by desire for a big salary, get out of the field and go into business, but don't jeopardize the future careers of youngsters.

And a good teacher should never be measured by the arbitrary modern yardstick of how many college degrees she holds.

★ ★ ★

A cheery girl whom youngsters love, and who has missionary fervor to teach them geography or arithmetic and history, even though she has only 2 years of college, is far superior to a sourpuss with an M.A. degree.

For the dyspeptic teacher kills the liking of children for school and drives them into the offices of us psychiatrists.

BEST TEACHERS

You readers may not realize this shocking fact but the professors in the colleges are far inferior as teachers to those in grade and high school.

For the latter must take many specialized courses in psychology and education. They also are required to do practice teaching till they demonstrate that they are fairly successful in this career.

But a college prof need have no course whatever in psychology. He may never have had a single class in public speaking or classroom methods.

If he just wins his Ph.D., as in physics or chemistry or any other subject, and has written a supposedly learned paper, he will be picked to strut his stuff before a flock of college freshmen.

Yet he may know NOTHING about the art of teaching, for teaching is a specialized form of salesmanship. That's why thousands of Ph. D. profs are total flops in the classroom.

They couldn't sell life insurance or automobiles, let alone abstract scientific symbols.

So don't let a campus locale or a Ph.D. degree impress you unduly about a professor. The best teachers are in the high schools and grade schools, for they picked pedagogy as a career and studied specially for it.

Leave by Plane Today

4 U. S.-Reared Brothers Joining Russian Parents

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four American-reared brothers, loaded down with American toys and baseball equipment, leave today to begin a new life with their Russian parents in a country they've never seen—the Soviet Union.

Their departure by plane (at 3 p.m. EST) marks the end of two years of diplomatic and legal bickering during which the Soviet government successfully sought to reunite the boys with their parents, George and Nadejda Kozmin.

The boys, wearing Chicago White Sox baseball caps, arrived yesterday afternoon from Chicago on the first leg of their trip to the Soviet Union.

They and Boris Kolodyazhny, first secretary of the Soviet Embassy, who accompanied them, were met at La Guardia Airport by 12 Russian officials and promptly whisked to the Soviet staff residence at Glen Cove, N.Y., where they spent the night.

IN FIRM CUSTODY

Although still in the United States, it was obvious that the boys were in firm Russian custody. When a photographer tried to take a picture of one of the boys wearing a baseball cap, a Russian official quickly snatched the cap from the lad's head.

★ ★ ★

At least one of the boys, Paul, 10, was sad—even tearful—about leaving the only country he has ever known. His two older brothers, Richard, 12, and George, 11, were enthusiastic about the trip and the prospect of a reunion with their parents.

The fourth, Peter, 3, was too young to know what the commotion was all about. Ironically, he, the only one of the four born in this country, is the only one who conceivably could return here of his own volition.

But he would have to wait at least 18 years—until he reaches 21. The others, presumably, are leaving for good.

The three older boys were born in a displaced persons camp in Germany and brought to Chicago by their parents in 1951. Subsequently, the parents, who had left Russia during World War II, both were hospitalized for mental treatment. The older boys were placed in a children's home while the younger brothers were put in the custody of foster parents.

RETURNED TO RUSSIA

Finally, in 1957, the parents, now discharged from the hospital but apparently disillusioned about their lot in the United States, decided to return to Russia.

However, a judge refused to permit the Kozmins to take the children with them until assurance was received that the parents were mentally and financially able to care for them.

★ ★ ★

A week ago Federal Judge Thomas A. Kluczynski ruled that the assurances had been received and that the court could not "separate parents from children and brothers from brothers without just cause."

Woman's Billfold, $340 Stolen at Bible Study

The theft of her billfold containing $340 while she attended a Bible study class was reported to Pontiac police yesterday by Elnoria Jackson, 601 Montana Ave.

She told police she was attending the class at 304 Harrison Ave. The billfold was in her purse, she told officers.

EMPTY RICE BOWL — This photograph of a Chinese child holding an empty rice bowl was removed from the American Exhibition here in Moscow yesterday after a complaint by Soviet authorities. The picture, taken by George Silk of Life Magazine, was part of Edward Steichen's 'Family of Man' photographic display at the exhibit. Harold McClellan, exhibition director, said that he pointed out to the Soviets that the picture was meant to be a universal symbol of hunger and had a rightful place in the exhibit. But the photo was taken down when the Soviet authorities continued to protest.

Fair to Have Farm

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — A complete farm, valued at $60,000, will be in operation at the New York State Fair when it opens Sept. 4. The farm will feature a modern home especially designed for rural living, a poultry house, a herd of 25 Ayrshire cows and a shop equipped to make daily machinery repairs.

Junk Dwellers Being Beached

Chinese Fishermen Are Being Put in Villages by Communists

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Communists are putting China's floating population into a social dry-dock.

By the end of this year, all fishermen operating along the Pearl River in South China will have been moved ashore into housing settlements.

For these fishermen, who number in the thousands, it will be a shocking break with tradition. For centuries, they and their ancestors have lived, loved, eaten and slept on board their junks and sampans.

Their rare excursions ashore were to sell their catches and occasionally purchase the necessities of life. But for all intents and purposes, they lived on water from birth 'til death.

Now the Communists are changing all that. Already the majority have been re-settled ashore, and the remaining 5,000 will be transplanted by the end of 1959.

The magazine Peking Review said of the program that the Communists by no means intend to put the fishermen to work at other jobs. They still will go to sea to catch fish—but their families will stay shore.

The Reds give sociological reasons for the program, but it is apparent that what they really want to do is hold the families as virtual hostages to make sure the fishermen return to China after their expeditions and sell their catches to the state.

What has troubled the Communists, especially in recent months, is the increasing number of fishermen who have fled to Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao. The Portuguese enclave alone has embraced an estimated 800 junks carrying as many as 6,000 persons all told.

The exodus from Red Chinese waters wasn't apparent at first, because it has been normal for junks to tie up any place they choose, even inside Macao harbor, for hours or days, while awaiting good fishing weather.

One morning, however, both the Communist Chinese and the Portuguese government of Macao awoke to the fact that many of the junks were determined to stay.

Recently, a Macao government official admitted that the Reds had planted agents among the floating population in an attempt to lure the fishermen back to China. Some fishermen even have been kidnaped at gunpoint.

Behind this migration is the Communist regulation which forced fishermen to turn over their entire catch to the government, in return for credit coupons exchangeable at state-run stores for food and household necessities.

This system ran against the fishermen's traditionally independent grain. They didn't mind selling their catches to the Reds, but they wanted, as they had done for centuries, to sell to the highest bidder.

And they wanted to keep a sufficient quantity of their catch to feed their junk-borne families.

Air Force Recruiter Eyes Ohio Senators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — M/Sgt. Robert W. Britton, an Air Force recruiter, is waiting to see if any members of the Ohio Senate drop in to enlist.

Chosen "serviceman of the month" by the Community Relations Council, the sergeant toured the Statehouse, met the governor, and made a brief talk before the Senate on the value of a military career. He received a standing ovation.

Councilmen Resolve to Watch TV Tuesdays

WILLCOX, Ariz. (AP) — Willcox City Council had a problem: A favorite TV program of councilmen was scheduled on meeting night, the second Tuesday of each month.

Suggestion: Buy a TV set so the councilmen could watch. Rejected.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Fire Chief Seeks Pre-1926 Hook, Ladder

FLORHAM PARK, N.J. (AP) — If anyone knows of a pre-1926 hook and ladder that's for sale, would he please get in touch with the Florham Park volunteer fire department?

It's not that the department doesn't use the latest fire-fighting equipment. The hook and ladder is wanted by Anthony Bertello, deputy chief of the department, who collects antique fire-fighting equipment and wants a mechanized hook and ladder to add to his collection.

State Trooper Knows His Roads, Proves It

OXFORD, Conn. (AP) — State Trooper Stanley Sobieski knows his roads and can prove it.

While chasing a stockcar driver at high speeds over some back roads, Sobieski suddenly stopped, turned around and headed in the other direction.

★ ★ ★

He turned down a side road and took a short cut to a highway. There he came out on the road in front of the speeding car. The driver, George Rzeszutek, 24, was booked for driving while his license was under suspension and driving an unregistered car.

Arizona Gains Residents

TUCSON—Arizona gained 23.8 per cent in population between 1950 and 1954. In the same period the population gain for Florida was about 19.1 per cent.

Hospitals Were Scarce

NEW YORK—As late as 1870 it is reported there were less than 150 hospitals in the U.S. and they were confined chiefly in the eastern seaboard cities.

Portable Fire Escape Lightweight, All-Metal

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A new, light-weight, all-metal portable fire escape can be handled by a child. It is strong enough to hold an entire family at once. Invented by Louis Davis, it has been endorsed by fire chiefs and school officials.

The ladder (Wind-O-Scape) is available in 14 and 24-foot lengths. It comes packaged in a cardboard box for placement under a window. If fire breaks out, the resident merely hauls out the ladder, drops the anchor over the sill and tosses the ladder out the window.

Birds Nest in Glass Fiber

Bird nests made of spun volcano glass have been found in Hawaii National Park, a wonderland of fire and lava, says the National Geographical Magazine. Squirted into the air, droplets of lava often string out as filaments, then solidify into long threads. At least three species of birds have used the material, gathering together thousands upon thousands of the delicate fibers to shape the nests.

The Nazis melted down an estimated 150,000 German bells in order to help fight World War II.

Rochester Plans Rebirth of City

Hopes Midtown Plaza Will Reverse Decline of Downtown Section

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—Rochester, nestled along the Genesee River in the western part of New York State, is an old city with modern problems—and modern ideas for solving them.

The stepped-up pace of today's living created serious troubles for city planners. The downtown business section—Rochester's greatest single tax and commercial asset—was deteriorating alarmingly.

So, in 1958, a decision was reached to build an ultra-modern "Midtown Plaza" geared to trigger the "rebirth" of a city which was but a tiny settlement in 1834. The face-lifting program was launched to benefit some 400,000 residents of this Monroe County seat.

Midtown Plaza, the 15-million-dollar dream of four Rochester merchants, is expected to be completed by 1961. It will turn seven acres of surface parking lots and isolated business establishments into an "inner downtown," heated in winter and cooled in summer and containing a 30-store shoppig area, an 18-story office building-restaurant-hotel, a bus terminal and a 2,000-car parking garage.

In general, it will set the stage for renovation of all downtown business areas.

The "room temperature" feature will develop the 400-by-125-foot central plaza into a garden spot, complete with birds, trees and fountains.

There are other improvement campaigns going on in and around Rochester.

For example, there's the Genesee Valley regional market, built three years ago on a site five miles south of the city to facilities for rapid distribution of farm products.

Hanover Houses, a state-subsidized housing project, is typical of Rochester's drive to eliminate slums. The project, which started operation six years ago, now accommodates 1,950 persons.

A civic center, still in the embryo stage, is high on the planning list of the "new" Rochester. Its purpose will be to bring about a closely-knit city-county government and facilitate economical operation of its various agencies.

An energetic program also is under way to create a network of roads connecting Rochester and urban areas. A total of 52 million dollars has been set aside to carry out the arterial highway plan.

Rochester, long an attractive community to the tourist, is the home of Eastman Kodak Co., which manufacturers, in addition to cameras and the appurtenances, 90 per cent of the nation's motion-picture film. The city also is classed as one of the world's leading centers for producing optical goods and surgical instruments.

Yuletide Tradition Proves Expensive

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UP — It's a Yuletide tradition in the David Tucker family here to let their 5-year-old son, Patrick, light the Christmas tree.

But Mrs. Tucker never got around to throwing away last year's tree. There it stood on the back porch, brown, brittle and droopy.

But recently Patrick decided to light the tree once again. This time he used a match.

Firemen said the blaze did $25 damage to the porch.

Convicts Never Let Others Steal Thunder

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) Inmates at Connecticut State Prison won't let anyone steal their glory.

When the Minnesota State Prison claimed that its convict newspaper was the oldest in the nation, having been established in 1887, the Connecticut prisoners pointed out that their own "Monthly Record" first appeared in 1827.

Toledo Will Vote on Type of Rule

Choices Confusing as Dems Push One Form; City Another

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—For the second time in three years, Toledoans probably will vote next Nov. 3 on whether to keep their 23-year-old city manager form of government.

They may find their choices confusing. The ballots are likely to contain two charter amendments on the subject, each proposing a different change.

One, backed by the local Democratic organization, would dump the city manager system and substitute a strong mayor government. The mayor's office would be elective and would carry full executive and administrative powers.

The Democrats have turned in 20,249 signatures on petitions for a strong mayor amendment. If the election board finds the required 13,500 valid signatures, the issue can go on the ballots.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, city council has voted to put another proposed amendment before the voters. This one, sponsored by Mayor John Yager, provides for an elected mayor with limited veto powers. The mayor could vote only to break a tie.

The Democratic organization has accused Yager and the city manager bloc in council of whipping up the latter proposal in a deliberate effort to confuse and divide the voters. If both amendments should fail, the present city manager system would continue.

In the existing system, the city manager is appointed by the nine-member council which is elected on a non-partisan, at-large basis. The manager, who can be removed only by a majority vote of council, has no veto power. Council elects the mayor from its own ranks.

In 1957, the Democratic organization made its previous bid to knock out the city manager government by sponsoring a strong mayor amendment similar to the one it is backing this year.

The proposal went on the ballots and was defeated, 57,592 to 24,783.

Washtenaw County OKs 'Lady Chatterly's Lover'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Washtenaw County prosecutor has decided not to seek a court order banning newsstand sales of the novel, "Lady Chatterly's Lover."

Prosecutor William S. Ager Jr. investigated the D. H. Lawrence book after a citizen complained it was being made available to minors.

Ager said that after reading the novel, he and his staff decided action to ban its general distribution would not be successful. He added the opinion "in no way deals with approval or disapproval of the book."

However, the prosecutor noted that authorities in English literature hold that the novel is a "serious literary work." It concern a love affair between an Englishwoman and a gamekeeper on her husband's estate.

HEAD FOR HOMECOMING — "Get along thar yew stubborn mules," shouts Otis Bower as he and, from left, Mrs. William Nixon and Mrs. Irvin Wik head for the Homecoming celebration at Walled Lake. The event will get under way tomorrow and last through Sunday, featuring parades, dances, beauty queens, games and contests.

Dance Tomorrow Begins Gala 3-Day Celebration

WALLED LAKE — Former residents from far and near are expected to return tomorrow to join in Walled Lake's first annual Homecoming celebration.

The gala event, which will last through Sunday, will be sparked with a parade, dances, choice of a queen, a horse show, ox roast, games, contests and a special show by the Fire Department.

The Walled Lake-Wixom Lions Club will kick off the Homecoming by sponsoring a dance at the Walled Lake Casino at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow. Music will be provided by Larry Elgart and his orchestra.

Highlight of the evening will be the crowning by "Miss Walled Lake," Janice Howland, 18, of "Mrs. Lion of 1959" at 11 p.m. A drawing for a free lot in the Twin Beach Country Club Subdivision, donated by Ben Schneider will follow.

The Keystone Kops will "take over" police duties in the city for the three-day event as far as "special homecoming violations" are concerned.

A kangaroo court will mete sentences to those deemed by the Kops as "too dangerous to be on the streets."

Walled Lake Rotary Club is in charge of arrangements for the kangaroo court.

The ox roast will be held Saturday night under the auspices of Mario's Pizzeria, in conjunction with a rock 'n' roll dance at the Maple Plaza area.

A parade featuring numerous floats, bands, a Nike missile from the U. S. Army Base at Commerce, the Oakland County Sheriff's Mounted Posse and other colorful horseback riders, will be staged Sunday at 2 p.m.

It will form at the Lakeside Market at 1 p.m. and proceed north on Pontiac trail as far as the junior high school.

HORSE SHOW SLATED

A horse show will be staged in the afternoon at the junior high grounds. Pony rides for youngsters will be made available by the Meadowbrook Pony Farm.

From 3 until 4:30 p.m. Sunday, the Walled Lake Fire Department and five other area fire departments will put on a special exhibition at the school grounds.

Events will include a tug o' war, a water fight, pit fires demonstration and a simulated small house fire.

Other fire departments are from Commerce, Novi, White Lake, West Bloomfield Townships and Union Lake.

Games for children in age groups 7 and under, 8 to 11, 11 to 14, and 15 and over will be provided at the school Sunday, with suitable prizes for each group.

Also, there will be a pet parade and bicycle parade for the youngsters with more prizes to be awarded.

TEENAGERS TO DANCE

A teenage dance will be held at the Wrigley Store parking lot between 8:30 and 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

A square dance will be staged in the junior high school gym at the same time, with Haan's orchestra and caller Hal Brown on hand.

A style show presenting teenage fashions, sub-teen fashions, and latest stylings in men's and women's wear will be presented on the lawn of the junior high school in the afternoon.

State Assails Sewage Plant

Romeo Told to Stop Dumping Raw Waste Into Clinton River

ROMEO — The Romeo Village Council is taking steps to determine what should be done to renovate the present sewage treatment plant which has been condemned by the State Department of Health.

State tests show the treatment plant is inadequate and that raw sewage is being emptied into the Clinton River.

The Council has authorized McMahon Engineering Co., village engineers, to study the problem and report its findings and recommendations by the end of October.

Built 34 years ago, the present sewage treatment plant was designed to serve a village population about two-thirds the size it is today.

50 PER CENT EFFECTIVE

Some additional equipment was added 20 years ago, but the health department contends that the plant now is only 50 per cent effective.

Romeo's current water consumption is over 400,000 gallons per day, well over four times the use when the plant was new.

Adding this factor to the age of the facility, the health department said only added plant capacity will eliminate the problem.

★ ★ ★

The engineering study will cover predicted population, water supply and usage, future garbage and other waste disposal methods which would be applicable in Romeo in years to come.

The treatment plant is located one mile east of the village.

New Postmaster Starts Sept. 18 in Lathrup

LATHRUP VILLAGE—This city will have a new postmaster beginning Sept. 18.

Robert C. Steger, 62, of 18530 San Diego Rd., has been appointed to the position, with confirmation to come later from the U. S. Senate.

He will replace David B. Redwood, 70, of 1571 San Rosa Rd., who has been acting postmaster the past three years.

Steger is a designing engineer for the Walmil Co., heat treating firm in Pleasant Ridge.

Going Up South of 14-Mile Road

Lay Cornerstone of Franklin Fire Hall

FRANKLIN VILLAGE — The cornerstone of the new fire hall, presently under construction for the Franklin Volunteer Fire Department, was laid at 9 a.m. today.

★ ★ ★

The colonial-style building is being built on Franklin road just south of 14-Mile road.

Although the volunteer company has only two fire engines, the new fire hall will have stalls for four vehicles in the event that two more engines should be added in the future.

The second floor of the new building is planned to enable conversion into living quarters should they become necessary for a permanent force at some future date.

ALL VOLUNTEERS

At present, the company is composed entirely of volunteer members who leave their work to answer fire calls in the village.

It is estimated that the building will cost $75,000. It will be 45 feet across the front and 80 feet deep. Construction is scheduled for completion Nov. 15.

A colonial-style architecture was chosen for the fire hall in keeping with the general architecture of the village, explained Harry Allen, a member of the department's commission.

The fire department is maintained by subscriptions in the village.

WHITTLES AWAY — A complete circus has been hand-carved by Benjamin Franklin Dunn of Sylvan Lake. He whittled the 400 figures of circus performers, animals and wagons during the last five winters since retiring as a farmer.

Retired Farmer Creates Circus From Old Sticks

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A retired farmer, Benjamin Franklin Dunn of Sylvan Lake, believes in "whittling away his time," and has carved a complete circus out of old wooden sticks.

★ ★ ★

It has taken the 69-year-old widower five winters of sparetime work to whittle and assemble his project, and, when all parts are placed close together, it reaches more than 100 feet in length.

Every weekend Dunn hauls his hundreds of hand-carved figures, wagons and circus rides down to a cleared area next to Sandy Beach on Dixie highway.

Wagon-drawn animals and circus performers are meticulously assembled in a long parade that reaches almost to the edge of Silver Lake.

GUARDS AGAINST WIND

Pieces of wire are bent over the base of the larger figures and pushed into the ground for support against a sudden high wind.

He carefully unloads his carvings of wild animals, circus band, a tribe of Indians and an entire village of head-hunters.

Paul Bunyan, with Babe, his blue ox, and a huge log gets into the circus parade along with 20 pigtailed Chinamen, a gaudy bandwagon of happy clowns, zebras, elephants and camels.

★ ★ ★

Four prancing white horses pull each of the nine gold-caged miniature animals, followed by a 16-piece band and more circus performers.

On each side of a runway there is a brightly painted merry-go-round, a four-seat ferris wheel with 16 different carved figures set for a thrill ride and a crack-the-whip that really cracks.

Every brilliantly colored 6-inch-high figure seems to be whittled in perfect proportion for its individual setting.

A daredevil high diver is perched on top of a "huge" ladder ready for the leap into a small water tank at the bottom.

A tightrope walker is set to go on with his balancing stick poised in midair. Bareback riders seem to have been stopped in action on their spirited horses and the clowns, roustabouts and dancing girls stir the imagination of both young and old.

One of the highlights of the free show is a 12-unit train on a wooden track 42 feet long.

There is an engineer, fireman and brakeman up front, followed by a coach with 20 entirely different little "people" riding. Even the caboose has a pair of trainmen.

Dunn lives with friends at 1615 Parkway Dr., and does odd-job gardening during the summer. After his wife died, he decided to leave his northern Michigan farm and get into a hobby "that would never run out."

So, as long as Dunn can go on whittling, the fantastic circus will continue to grow in the winter, to delight people in the summer.

Rochester Teachers Meet

ROCHESTER—Elementary and secondary school principals in the Rochester district reported yesterday to begin preparations for the opening of school.

Teachers will report on Sept. 2 for three days of preparation prior to the opening of school. Get-acquainted sessions will be held at each school at 8:30 that morning.

The informal meetings will be followed by a general session for all teachers in the student center of the high school from 10 a.m. to noon. The entire faculty will be welcomed by Supt. Donald C. Baldwin and Ronald Kevern, president of the Rochester Education Assn., at that time.

Afternoon sessions will follow in the individual buildings.

On Sept. 3, all teachers will visit Selfridge Air Force Base for a workshop, the theme of which will be "Education for the Space Age."

Highlight of the day will be an address by R. W. Felts of the engineering division of Chrysler Corp. entitled "Education for Missiles."

LAPEER DAY QUEEN — Petite Joanne Maasch, 17, of Oregon Township, sold the most prize tickets entitling her to reign over the "Lapeer Days" celebration which ends tonight. She topped nine other girls in sales with the two close behind her named first and second maid of honor. The queen's identity was revealed on the bandstand in front of the courthouse last night where spectators waited over an hour for the rain to stop to learn Joanne had won.

143-Year-Old Hearse Startles Customers

OGDENSBURG, N. J. (AP) — Winfred Hinkley, an auctioneer and collector of antiques, startles people whenever he shows off his latest collector's item.

It's a 143-year-old, hand-carved horse-drawn hearse.

Hinkley proudly displays it around town in his spare time, sitting behind a team of two horses and dressed in a black mourning suit.

'Bonus' of $110,000 Far Exceeds His Needs

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI)— There's such a thing as making too much money. Take the case of John O. Ekblom.

He was named chairman of the board of the Hupp Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio, and the board promptly set his salary at $42,000 and offered him a "bonus" of $110,000. Ekblom turned down the bonus saying, "The total of $152,000 far exceeds my needs and my appetite."

Big Business Is Shelled by Williams for Troubles

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Williams placed the blame for Michigan's legislative tax deadlock on big business last night.

He said a "propaganda campaign" has been cranked up to block any kind of tax increase on business.

★ ★ ★

Speaking over a Detroit television station, the Democratic governor declared that Michigan industry is enjoying its biggest profits in history but claims that it cannot pay additional taxes.

"Thus, with broken promises, stubborn refusal to compromise and drummed-up propaganda," he said, "a new deadlock has been created in the Legislature."

The governor said that by Aug. 19, House and Senate conferees were only a million and a half dollars apart in negotiations aimed at a tax settlement but the conference broke up without success.

'SOMETHING HAPPENED'

He added:

"It is obvious that something had happened to prevent a solution of this question. What happened was the intervention of lobbyists for a few big business interests."

"Spokesmen for several large auto companies, a large chemical firm, the Detroit Board of Commerce, the Michigan Manufacturers Assn. and other business interests moved in and vetoed any compromise which included a single penny of taxes on profitable business."

Williams said lobbyists told the Republican-controlled Senate that business in Michigan had refused to pay "one single penny" of the state's new taxes and that the state's consumers and property owners could "pay it all and like it."

★ ★ ★

The governor conceded defeat in his efforts to have a state income tax enacted.

He said both the House and Senate have now adopted substantially identical versions of the Republican-sponsored use tax, which will amount to a one-cent increase in the sales tax.

Williams' blast against big business brought a quick response from the Republican camp.

'SLURS INTEGRITY'

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings of Holland, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, said the governor had slurred the integrity of the several hundred businessmen who testified before his committee this week "by intimating they were helpless pawns being manipulated by big business."

Cotton Production Rises

BIRMINGHAM — As much cotton is produced today on 25 million acres as was taken from 40 million acres 25 years ago, according to U.S. crop estimates.

Corn Crop Grows

When the first commercial hybrid corn seeds were put on the market in 1922, only 10 bushels were available. In 1958, 94 per cent of the 3,800,000,000 bushels of corn harvested in the U.S. alone was hybrid.

Rattler Bites Curious Man in Commerce Twp.

A man who curiously picked up a small snake yesterday was bitten on the right thumb by what turned out to be a baby rattlesnake near Fisher road, Commerce Township.

★ ★ ★

Donald E. Marsh of Ellsworth, visiting in Royal Oak, is reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Marsh told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies he picked up the snake and it suddenly turned and bit him.

The bite was opened by a doctor before Marsh was taken to the hospital.

MSUO Offering Diversified Range of Courses for Adults This Autumn

Adults of the Oakland-Macomb community will be offered an interesting choice of educational courses this fall through Michigan State University Oakland's continuing education program.

★ ★ ★

Sixteen courses in business, engineering, communications, liberal and the fine arts will feature the first edition of MSUO's offerings to adults.

According to Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of the program, courses will give adults of the community an opportunity to go back to school along with high school and collegiate youngsters.

All these courses, except for mathematics and business administration, carry no academic prerequisites and are open to any adults with an interest in the subject matter.

QUALIFIED INSTRUCTORS

The instructors are all qualified, according to Eklund, with extensive experience both in teaching and in the practice of their specialty.

Several of MSUO's full-time faculty members will teach a course in the program. Other members of the continuing education faculty have been carefully selected according to their academic and professional competences, Eklund said.

Courses will meet one period a week for ten weeks.

The continuing education schedule of classes is as follows:

ACCOUNTING—FINANCIAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE: A course to acquaint the accountant and other management personnel with a working knowledge of accounting data and financial statements, their uses and analyses. Among the major topics are the income statement, the balance sheet, funds and fund statements, consolidated statements, corporate capital problems, and depreciation.

The course will serve as both a refresher and advanced course for accountants and is particularly appropriate for business administrators, managers, attorneys and those seeking an underst anding of accounting concepts and practices.

The class will meet from 7-10 p. m. Mondays, starting Sept. 21. Instructor will be Aubrey Roberts, a Pontiac accountant. Tuition: $30.

★ ★ ★

BASIC ENGINEERING I—ELECTRICAL CIRCUITS THEORY: First of a three-term series of basic engineering courses designed to present the general principles of direct and alternating electricity, and to show how these principles are applied in circuits (first term), electrical machinery (second term) and electronics (third term). An MSUO certificate will be issued upon satisfactory completion of the series.

This first course will cover the basic ideas and effects of electricity, the electircal properties of wires and cables, direct-current circuits, Ohm's Law, power, energy, Kirchoff's Laws, alternating-current circuits, inductance, capitance, power-factor, and electrical measurements.

Included will be methods for predicting the effects of electrical energy by mathematical calculation.

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Tuesdays starting Sept. 29. Instructor will be Robert Allured, electronics engineer at the General Motors Technical Center. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

CREATIVE PROBLEM SOLVING — Since modern business places increasing value on the creative abilities of management and employes alike, the purpose of this course is to develop skill in exercising creativity by identifying the steps in the creative process and by practice in the application of these techniques to the solution of actual problems offered by the class

Problem - analysis, idea - getting techniques, stimulants and blocks to creativity are among the principal subtopics.

Class time will be devoted to lectures, discussion and analysis of case and class problems.

The class will meet from 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays. Instructor will be Dr. Robert Bolda, an industrial psychologist of the Chevrolet Engineering Staff. Tuition: $35.

INTRODUCTION TO MANAGEMENT—The purpose of this course is to acquaint the student with the art and science of management; the human and technical considerations.

It is designed for those who may be called upon to supervise the work of others, those presently engaged in supervision and those who desire knowledge for solving management problems.

Among areas to be covered are: basis of management, functions of manager, line and staff, training, communications, appraisals and planning.

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Mondays starting Sept. 28. Instructor will be Alex Capsalis, management consultant for Bendix Aviation Corp. Tuition: $30.

★ ★ ★

MATHEMATICS REFRESHER FOR ENGINEERS I—A course designed for engineers and others who wish a comprehensive review of mathematics. Offered in two-term sequence, the first term will cover fundamental ideas of mathematics, including exponents and radicals, logarithms, quadratic equations, binominal theorems, fundamental operations.

Other topics include graphing and factoring, trigonometric functions, radian measure, law of sines, solution of plane triangle, and use of tables.

(The second term will progress to analytic geometry, calculus, statistics and allied subjects.)

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays starting Sept. 24. Instructor will be Hubert Stephens of the Chrysler Engineering Staff. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

THE STOCK MARKET AND INVESTMENT ANALYSIS — An introductory course covering stock market operations, interpretation of investment and financial news, operation of mutual funds, setting up an investment program and operation of tax-free municipal bonds.

A few of the specific items in the course will be the history of the stock exchange, stock expansion, function of the security dealer, investment analysis, planning individual portfolios and the relation of municipal bonds to the investment portfolios.

The class will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays starting Sept. 30.

Instructor will be Alex Riker of the First of Michigan, a brokerage firm. Tuition: $20.

★ ★ ★

EFFECTIVE SPEAKING AND LEADERSHIP—This course will analyze and provide practical experience in the principles of effective speaking, both formal and conversational. Special emphasis will be given personality factors, audience empathy, techniques of individual and group motivation and development of personal poise and confidence

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Mondays starting Sept. 28.

Instructor will be Dr. Mary Ann Cusack, who holds a doctoral degree in communfcations. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

RAPID READING—This course is designed for adults who wish to read faster, comprehend more of the material read, and develop better study skills. Class work will treat individual needs of students with emphasis on discovering reading level, analyzing difficulties in reading, developing maximum achievement in reading efficiency and learning effective study skills.

Reasonable diligence of course learning will assure reading efficiency improvement of at least 200 to 300 per cent and more.

The course is particularly appropriate for individuals in industry who as part of their work read or screen large amounts of printed material, either technical or nontechnical.

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays starting Sept. 24. Instructor will be Mrs. M. Wiersma, a Pontiac school teacher. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

BASIC DRAWING—A course presenting the fundamentals of visual form through an analysis of the structure underlying all forms in nature. The course will place emphasis on creative interpretation in the form of a personal statement utilizing knowledge of space, movement, value, perspective, proportion.

Various techniques will be explored, including, pencil, pen and ink, charcoal, conte crayon.

The classes will meet from 7-10 p.m. Tuesdays starting Sept. 22.

Instructor will be Lloyd Radell, artist and teacher. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

BASIC DRAWING AND OIL PAINTING—This course is presented for the benefit of those who cannot readily arrange evening hours, and for the evening students who are desirous of more rapidly furthering their development by additional instruction and practice.

The class meets from 1-4 p.m. Saturdays starting Sept. 26. Instructor will be Radell. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

COLOR AND DESIGN—This course will provide the student with an awareness and working knowledge of those basic elements found in all good spacial organization, through specific problem assignments dealing with form, shape, movement, texture, value and a thorough analysis of color schemes which will import the ability to manipulate these elements.

Such manipulation is stressed as being vital in all created art objects, whether traditional or contemporary statements in painting, sculpture and architecture.

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Mondays starting Sept. 21.

Instructor will be Radell. Tuition: $25.

INTRODUCTION TO THE VISUAL ARTS—A course for those interested in the growth and development of the visual arts (primitive through modern) through familiarization with the classical achievements of the masters in painting, sculpture and architecture

Color slides, lectures and discussions will consider the artist and the unique social and technical problems of his time, thereby enabling the student to better understand the art and the factors motivating art in our own day. Museum trips will be arranged.

The class meets from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Tuesdays starting Sept. 29.

Instructor will be Radell. Tuition: $20.

★ ★ ★

OIL PAINTING—This course deals with the fundamentals and techniques of the oil medium. Emphasis is placed on the individual student's creative interpretation of the still life and other subject matter, appropriate to his stage of development.

Sound technical knowledge is taught, as well as constant improvement of the design elements as related to form and content.

★ ★ ★

The class meets from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays starting Sept. 24. Instructor will be Radell. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

HISTORY OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION—A course in the political, social, economic and cultural factors and institutions undergirding our Western heritage. The course will be concerned with western civilization from the time of the Greeks to the present and will include study of the art, literature, philosophy and religion influencing and influenced by the Western traditions.

This course is appropriate for all adults interested in a deeper understanding and appreciation of the sources of our "way of life."

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Wednesdays starting Sept. 23.

The instructor will be Dr. George Matthews, chairman of the MSUO history faculty group. Tuition: $25.

OUR HERITAGE IN AMERICAN POLITICS: A course focused upon the intentions and beliefs of America's Founding Fathers and how these have influenced the evolutionary development of American political life.

The course will also consider the issues that have united—or divided—American pioneers, to the problems that still intrigue and perturb America today—national versus states' rights, aristocratic versus popular sovereignty, and individualism versus collective sovereignty.

The class meets from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays starting Sept. 24.

Instructor will be Dr. Gerald Straka, MSUO history instructor. Tuition: $25.

★ ★ ★

PHILOSOPHY IN LITERATURE: This course presupposes no background in philosophy—only an interest in discussing the great problems and ideas of mankind. From lectures and literature the student will acquire a sense of the historical development of philosophy from ancient Greece to the present, a knowledge of the problems of philosophy, and an appreciation of the many forms of literature in which philosophy appears.

Among the literary classics with which the student will become acquainted are: Plato's "Meno," Lucretius' "On the Nature of Things," St. Augustine's "Confessions," Descartes' "Discourse on Method," Shakespeare's "King Lear" and Camus' "The Stranger."

Inexpensive and paper back editions of these and other readings will be made available for the students' personal library and later reference.

The class will meet from 7-10 p.m. Tuesdays starting Sept 29. Instructor will be Dr. Richard Burke, MSUO philosophy instructor. Tuition: $25.

Enrollments will be limited in all courses. Interested persons are urged to call MSUO and reserve space in the program.

Deposit Must Await Solving of Theft

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Police and FBI men filled the bank lobby shortly after a holdup man escaped with $14,376.

Outside, a man rapped on the door. "Let me in. I have business with the bank," he told a guard. When asked what was his business, the man said he wanted to make a deposit.

"Someone just made a withdrawal and you'll have to wait," a spectator in the crowd said.

Kill More Than Snakes

Bees, Wasps Deadly

NEW YORK (AP)—Afraid of poisonous snakes?

Bees and wasps actually carry a greater kiss of death for Americans.

Poisonous bites killed 215 Americans in 1950-54. Eighty-five died from stings of bees, wasps, hornets, and yellow jackets, compared with 71 killed by snakes. Poisonous spiders killed another 39. Scorpions, sting rays and other beasts did in the rest.

The figures are reported by Dr. Henry M. Parrish of Burlington, Vt., who thinks that previous estimates of bites and stings by venomous animals and insects are far too low.

Many deaths from poisonous bites are very likely erroneously attributed to heart attacks, heat strokes, or other causes, he writes in the American Medical Assn.'s archives of internal medicine.

Rattlesnakes were the most dangerous single species, killing 55 persons, but bees were next most deadly, taking 55 human lives, he says. He analyzed sting and bite deaths recorded by the national office of vital statistics.

Bees, wasps, hornets and other winged messengers of death usually kill quickly, often within an hour, by causing fatal shock or allergic reactions, he says. Poisons from snakes and spiders usually take several hours to kill.

By states, the highest death tolls during the five years were Texas 36, Georgia 19, California 18, Florida 13, Alabama, Kentucky and North Carolina 10 each, and Arizona 9. The New England states seem safest, Dr. Parrish finds.

Summer and warm months are the most dangerous.

Two Leaders Resign at Kazoo Paper Firm

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—The chairman of the board and the technical director of the Sutherland Paper Co. here announced their resignations yesterday. No reason was given.

William Race, chairman of the board since last December, was the son-in-law of Louis W. Sutherland, previous chairman of the board and one of the company's co-founders.

Martin Joseph Galbraith, vice president and technical director, also resigned. Galbraith had been vice president since 1950.

Sutherland is the largest industry within Kalamazoo city proper.

Lansing Faces Shortage of Milk

LANSING (UPI)—Lansing residents were scheduled to be without nearly all of their milk supply today as area dairy farmers began diversion of milk from three major Lansing dairies.

The Lansing Milk Producers Association, a branch of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, voted to divert the milk from the Lansing area in order to obtain higher producer prices.

★ ★ ★

Members of the LMPA yesterday made many farm-to-farm visits in the capital city area, telling farmers of the situation and urging their cooperation in the price battle.

★ ★ ★

The campaign is also an effort to get recognition of the LMPA as bargaining agent for area milk producers.

Guy Lombardo Tests New Boat at Bay City

BAY CITY (UPI)—Band leader and boat racer Guy Lombardo launched his latest hydroplane today and ran the jet-powered Tempo-Alcoa through initial tuning-up trials.

The aluminum hulled boat took a short run on Saginaw Bay and was back for adjustments shortly after Lombardo's wife, Lily May, christened it.

The cooperative venture, backed by Lombardo, designer Les Staudacher of Kawkawlin, Mich., and Alcoa Aluminum, produced a 5,800-pound boat with a rolled and tapered one-piece bottom designed for greater speed. The jet engine alone weighs 2,500 pounds.

The 400 Have Phones

HE RE-GREW HAIR

Before Erickson Treatment

A Few Months Later

Thomas A. Melton Jr. of Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, (above) shows he re-grew hair by the Erickson Home Treatment method.

Hair Specialists Here Friday Will Show How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

CHICAGO — New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Pontiac, Michigan, on Friday, August 28th only.

Trichologist L. E. Schroer will be in charge, representing the dynamic Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 12:30 to 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Auburin Hotel.

At the home office of the Erickson organization, a new, even more successful method of treatment was announced — a treatment that you can easily administer yourself at home.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by an Erickson expert.

Who Can Be Helped?

For many years now Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Erickson home treatment.

Will the new Erickson treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Erickson home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Erickson method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late."

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss" — or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95%

"Actually, our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says D. W. Erickson, director of the organization, "for we satisfy at least 95% of our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a 'doubter' or a 'putter-offer' where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem."

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private.

Hours are from 12:30 P. M. to 8:30 P. M.

Commanded Operations 'Deep Freeze'

'Mr. Antarctic,' Admiral Dufek, to Retire

ADM. GEORGE DUFEK

By HARRY W. FRANTZ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rear Adm. George J. Dufek will retire Sept. 1 after a naval career distinguished by notable achievements in the polar regions.

Long a devoted associate of Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Adm. Dufek has worn the mantle of "Mr. Antarctica" since Byrd died in 1957. No other American officer has been identified more closely with the peaceful exploration and scientific conquest of the southernmost continent.

The present worldwide attention to Antarctica has resulted in a large degree from Dufek's application of modern technology to the problems of transport and human habitation in that continent.

A member of two U. S. expeditions in the Arctic and six in Antarctica during a 20-year period, Dufek is now unchallenged as the foremost American authority in the planning and command of maritime, air and land operations in the ice-bound polar regions.

On April 15 at New York Dufek turned over the command of the U. S. naval support forces, Antarctica, to Rear Adm. David M. Tyree. Tyree also has been appointed by President Eisenhower as U. S. Antarctic projects officer, succeeding Dufek as adviser on political, scientific and legislative activities affecting Antarctica.

Dufek was commander of Operations Deep Freeze I, II, III and IV, which planned and conducted the logistical support for the U. S. Antarctica program during the International Geophysical Year. He sent more ships, men and airplanes to the southern continent than had been there through all history.

Eleven other countries with Antarctic programs benefitted directly or indirectly from the Byrd-Dufek demonstration that the scientific conquest of Antarctica and permanent human habitation were practicable enterprises.

Apart from his physical tasks in Antarctica, Dufek is likely to be remembered as one of the great diplomats of the U. S. Navy.

Before the International Geophysical Year there was considerable uneasiness that the activities of expeditions from 12 nations in that region might lead to unforeseen antagonisms and incidents. Actually, the international cooperation for advancement of science was accomplished without a single unpleasant episode. There were many instances of extraordinary assistance in emergencies, and a general atmosphere of international friendship was maintained.

Adm. Dufek's efforts thus contributed to the continuation of international scientific cooperation in Antarctica following the International Geophysical Year. In October, delegates from 12 nations will meet in Washington to negotiate a treaty which may establish Antarctica as a vast scientific laboratory for peaceful enterprices.

Although Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower all turned to Dufek as a master of ship and air operations in polar regions, it a member of a seafaring family is a curious fact that he was not and in his youth he thought of an army career.

The Admiral's father, Frank, was born at Pargue, and emigrated to the United States about 1885. The father was a cabinetmaker and founded a piano factory at Rockford, Ill. His mother, Mary Wachuta, was born in Prairie Du Chien, Wis., of Czech ancestry.

George Dufek, was born at Rockford, Ill., Feb. 10, 1903, far from the United States seaboard.

In high school he was Captain of Cadets and he thought about entering West Point. Instead, he was given an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he was graduated in 1925.

His early interest in Antarctica was accidental. While he was serving as a lieutenant at San Diego in the spring of 1939, the Navy Department called for volunteers for Byrd's expedition to Antarctica. Dufek's application was accepted. In September 1939 he became navigator of the ship, Bear, which was flagship of a Navy Antarctic Development Project ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During the 1939-40 season Dufek made exploratory flights over parts of Antarctica and was given a medal.

In World War II he served as U. S. Naval observer for aviation at London, as senior naval aviator at Oran and Mers El Kebir during the North African invasion, as staff officer in command groups which planned the invasions of Sicily, Italy and Southern France. His numerous citations all remarked of his skill at planning and coordinating operations.

He was commander of the aircraft carrier Bogue which, with escorting vessels, sank the last German submarine sunk in World War II. After the war he was commanding officer of the former Japanese Naval Air Base at Ominato, Japan, and later commanded the Naval Air Transport Service Terminal near Tokyo.

In 1946 Dufek was sent to the Arctic as chief staff officer on a U. S. Navy-Coast Guard expedition to establish weather bases in the polar regions. He returned to Washington to help plan Operation High-Jump in Antarctica, and as a captain sailed with 13 ships of the task force under direction of Adm. Byrd.

Dufek's group of three ships in 1947 traced the coastline between Little America and the Palmer Peninsula. He made the first flight over the Thurston Peninsula. He also was acclaimed for rescue operations of a fallen airplane. Adm. Byrd said that his rescue of six survivors was "in many ways unequalled in all the history of polar rescues."

★ ★ ★

In 1948, Dufek went back to the Arctic in command of a task force to establish new weather stations near the North Pole. His vessels went further north under their own power than any other ship had.

In 1949-1950 Dufek worked with the Logistic Planning Section of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In 1951-52 during the Korean conflict he was commander of the U.S.S. Antietam which set a new safety record for aircraft carrier operations under combat conditions.

In August, 1954, he was designated as head of the Special Antarctic Planning Group in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

In March, 1955, he became commander of task force 43 for Operation Deep Freeze. In July, 1957, President Eisenhower named him U. S. Antarctic Projects Officer, in which post he succeeded Byrd as senior U. S. advisor on activities affecting the American Antarctic program.

Since then he has been the key figure in Antarctic plans and projects.

★ ★ ★

After retirement he will continue to write and lecture on polar topics, with special emphasis on their importance to the dawning space age.

De Gaulle in Algeria to Check on Rebels

ALGIERS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle arrived in Algeria today for a personal check on military efforts to crush the nationalist rebellion in the French North African territory.

★ ★ ★

He flew from Paris to the western Algerian city of Thiersville, about 70 miles south of Oran, then took a helicopter to a military base at Sida, 30 miles away.

★ ★ ★

A tight security blackout was imposed on his movements for the next four days. Spokesmen said he is on a purely military visit and will not go to any big cities.

Railway trackage with ordinary use may last for about 20 to 25 years.

Woman Dies of Old Radium Poisoning

CHICAGO (AP)—Another member of the so-called "Society of the Living Dead"—that doomed group of women who in the 1920s painted radium on watch dials—is dead.

Beatrice Workman, 54, of suburban Park Ridge died Tuesday. An autopsy Wednesday showed death was from radium poisoning.

Her husband, Thomas, 57, told newsmen his wife had suffered from effects of the radium poisoning for 30 years.

Before her marriage in 1923, Mrs. Workman was one of a group of girls working at the Radium Dial Co. in Ottawa, Ill. It was their job to paint the numbers on watch faces with radium, so the dial would glow in the dark.

To keep the bristles pointed, the girls often licked the brush with their tongues before dipping it in a radium salt solution.

The Ottawa group totaled about 25 girls. How many still survive is not known. Hundreds of other women in similar jobs throughout the country also fell victim to the poisoning.

More than a dozen of the Ottawa group later sued for damages. The only one to win—Catherine Donohue—was dead before she could collect the $7,500 awarded her.

A year and a half ago, Workman said, his wife entered a hospital where a bone marrow sample indicated the presence of radium salts. She remained in the hospital until her death.

Collapsible steel barrels are being used to conserve shipping space.

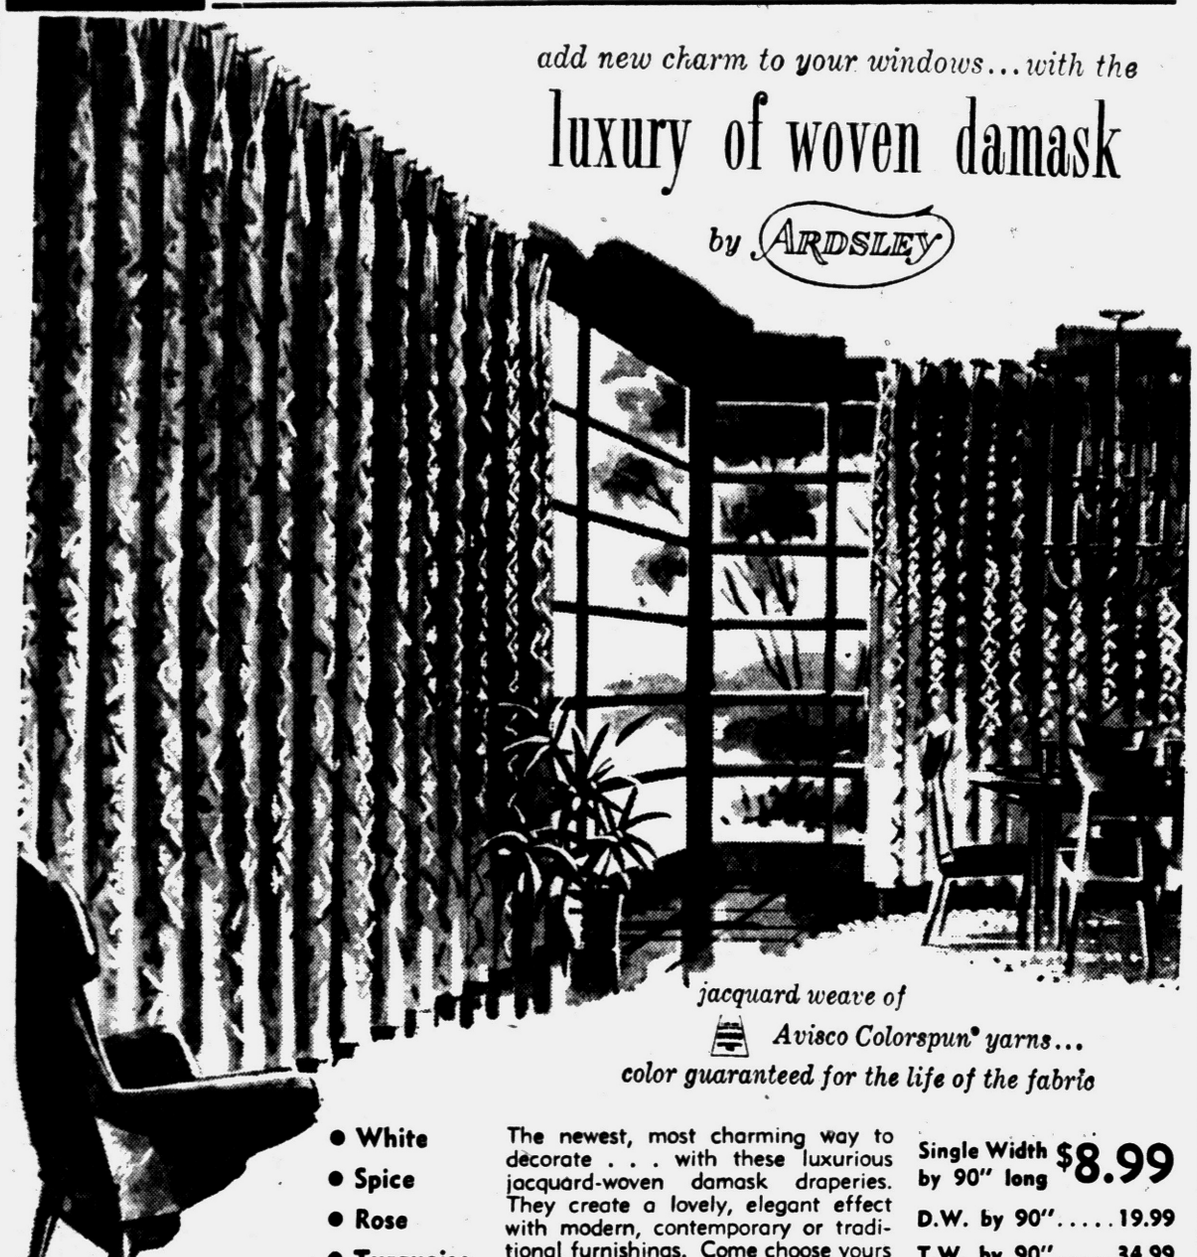

Agrees to Liberalizing Changes in Bank Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today agreed to liberalizing changes in the lending and borrowing authority of national banks.

The House agreed to Senate changes in the bill, sending it to the President.

It would increase the ceiling on a bank's borrowing authority from 100 per cent of capital to 100 per cent of capital plus 50 per cent of surplus. It also would liberalize some of the exceptions to the general rule that banks can lend no more than 10 per cent of its capital and surplus to one borrower, and liberalize some of the restrictions on real estate loans by national banks.

Twin-Brother Battery Pitcher Jonnard Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Claude Jonnard, 61, pitching member of the famed Jonnard twin-brother battery of the early 1920s, died today following an operation for a heart ailment.

He and his catcher brother, Clarence, were born Nov. 23, 1897.

The two never served as a major league battery although both were in the big leagues at the same time, Claude primarily as a pitcher with the New York Giants and Clarence with the Philadelphia Phils.

Claude pitched in two games of the 1923 World Series for the Giants against the New York Yankees. Casey Stengel, now manager of the Yankees, was the batting star for the Giants in the series which the American League team won, 4 games to 2.

★ ★ ★

Until stricken three years ago, Claude was employed as a supervisor in the Giants' farm system.

Takes Only Cigarettes From Dixie Gas Station

Someone broke into a gas station at 9203 Dixie Hwy., Independence Township, Tuesday night, taking only a few packages of cigarettes. According to Oakland County Sheriff's Dept., a pinball machine and cigarettes were rifled and a gas pump damaged, but no money was taken.

Has Four Points for Propaganda

Sen. Symington Wants to Push Battle Against Communism

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) today advocated a four-point "new major offensive in this battle for men's minds" against communism.

The Communists, Symington said, "are believed to be spending between two and three billion dollars a year" on psychological warfare.

By contrast, "our total effort in this field amounted to less than 150 million dollars" last year, he said.

Symington, in a prepared speech for the National Convention of Amvets, outlined this program for stepping up America's own psychological war efforts:

OUTLINES FOUR WAYS

1. Intensification of radio broadcasting behind the Iron Curtain, presenting "the truth about America."

2. Increased personal contacts between Communist and Free World peoples, through travel, letters and exchange programs.

3. Better preparation of U. S. foreign service personnel for jobs abroad. "We cannot get over our message to another land or person if our representatives do not know the language."

4. A much more effective use of religion as an antidote to communism."

Symington said 80 per cent of the people behind the Iron Curtain are Christians and "a large percentage of them are devout; and therefore, when their beliefs rub against the atheistic policies of their Communist rulers, friction is automatic.

Australia's wool clip for one season runs well beyond the $750 million mark in normal years.

Man Reports His Skis Stolen at Maceday Lake

Water skis, valued at $40, were reported stolen to Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. yesterday. Owner Ralph Anderson, of 6650 Manson St., Waterford Township, said he leaned them against his boat at Maceday Lake, and a short while later they were gone.

*MILES PER GALLON

ONE OF 7 BIG BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

Proof that Chevy delivers the most miles from a gallon comes from an indisputable source: this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. For a pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class—got top mileage, in fact, of any full-sized car. Over the Run's long, rugged course, over mountain and desert in the long, long haul from Los Angeles to Kansas City, the winning Chevrolet averaged a whopping 22.38 miles per gallon. That's the kind of economy-engineering that keeps you saving while you drive!

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES—In competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevy outstopped both of the "other two." Naturally—Chevy brakes with bonded linings are far larger, built to lengthen brake life by up to 66%.

BEST TRADE-IN—Look at the record—the used car prices in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this abundantly clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for instance, is as much as 5.9 inches wider than in comparable cars.

BEST RIDE—MOTOR TREND magazine names Chevy ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But this is one Chevy feature you really should discover for yourself, at your Chevrolet dealer's. Stop by soon!

Will Work With Other Governors for Segregation

Mississippi's Barnett a Real Deep South Man

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Thirty years as a criminal lawyer failed to rub out the farm boy in Ross Robert Barnett.

Perhaps that's why today he is the governor-elect of Mississippi.

This craggy-faced champion of racial segregation has spent his 61 years in the center of Mississippi. In a sense, he is Mississippi in the flesh—conservative, regionally proud, uncompromising on matters touching the Southern way of life.

In predicting his victory in Tuesday's Democratic runoff primary, one politician said: "He's a cinch. Farmers have always elected Mississippi governors. Barnett looks like a Mississippi farmer. They'll vote for him."

That's an oddity of sorts. For 33 years, Ross Barnett has been a Mississippi version of the big city lawyer, living and working in Jackson, the state's capital and metropolis.

★ ★ ★

But, it's true. The rural flavor of his native Leake County lingers on. For instance, in April of this year, candidate Barnett walked into the spinning propeller of a private airplane at a Coldwater airport. A millimeter from death, Barnett received a 12-inch gash in his chest and a damaged left arm, which still hangs all but uselessly.

In his solemn way with his canted grin, Barnett commented: "The front end of an airplane has more kick than the rear end of a Mississippi mule."

Such a homely allusion comes from his days as the youngest of 10 children on a small farm in the Standing Pine community.

Tall and spare, the new Mississippi chief executive moves deliberately like his Confederate soldier-father, speaks poorly by oratorical standards, often reading speeches woodenly. But he is dedicated to the Deep South and its patterns.

★ ★ ★

"I am going," he said, "to put forth every effort to organize Southern governors, to create and crystallize public opinion throughout this nation with reference to our traditions and Southern way of life."

FIRST FAMILY — Ross R. Barnett (seated center) and his family gather in Jackson, Miss. for a television interview with Owens Alexander (right) upon Barnett's apparent victory in Tuesday's Democratic second primary for governor of Mississippi. Mrs. Barnett sits at left. Standing (l to r) are children: Mrs. Bobby Branum, Ross Jr., and Mrs. A. B. Atkins Jr. of Homer, La.

He means it too. Ross Barnett isn't a man who skips from idea to idea, from one way to another. He's a devoted family man, father of two daughters and a son, past president of the State Bar Assn., a Baptist deacon, a joiner of many organizations.

★ ★ ★

Long ago he conceived the idea of being governor. This was his third try.

Donald Cook, one of Broadway's most humorous comedy stars, began his career as a solemn bank clerk.

Company in Detroit 73 Years to Transfer

DETROIT (UP) — A company which has been in Detroit for 73 years is transferring operations to Prophetstown, Ill.

The Penberthy Manufacturing Co. division of Buffalo-Eclipse Corp. has halted production and will lay off the last of its 150 hourly rated employes Monday.

Hourly employes are members of the United Steel Workers Union but have not been affected by the nationwide steel strike.

Buffalo-Eclipse said supervisory, engineering and sales personnel are included in the transfer to Illinois. A company statement said the move is expected to result in "improved products and more efficient production."

★ ★ ★

The company makes gauges, valves, pumps and related products.

Soviets Report Loan to Guinea

Will Be Used to Aid Industries and Repaid Over 12 Years

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Wednesday a 140 million ruble (35 million dollar) loan to Guinea, the new Negro republic in West Africa.

A joint communique from the Soviets and a Guinean delegation said the money will be used for building up industries. It will be repaid over 12 years at 2½ per cent interest. Guinea will use the money in purchasing Soviet equipment.

The Russians have been strengthening political and economic relations with African states, including Ghana, Ethiopia and the Sudan.

Guinea has been receiving arms from Czechoslovakia.

Farmers Can Set Off Firecrackers, Says Law

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — About the only persons who can use firecrackers legally in Wisconsin now are farmers.

A bill signed into law recently permits orchard owners and strawberry raisers to set off fireworks to scare away birds bent on damaging crops.

Brothers-in-Law Get Shot Up Identically

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Two brothers-in-law were wounded in the same hand, by the same gun, on the same day.

Six hours later, George Heuthingon decided he would finish cleaning the gun. Another cartridge exploded, wounding Heuthingon's left hand.

A 1919 congressional act congerred legal status on the U.S. Navy band.

Send for Card Telling About Autumn Color

LANSING (UPI) — Visitors to Michigan's scenic fall color areas will be able to get a personalized service directing them to the right places, the State Tourist Council said today.

For the fifth year, the council offers travelers individually addressed postcards when autumn color is best. The postcards will tell when the peak of the color display is and where it is.

All the prospective traveler need do is write the council offices in Lansing.

But Threat From Reds Grows More Serious

Laos Fails to Ask for Any SEATO Aid

By MAX HARRELSON
AP Staff Write

The government of Laos says the threat from Communist rebels is growing steadily more serious, but it has made no move to ask the aid of either the United Nations or the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The SEATO pact was signed in 1954 just six weeks after the Geneva armistice ending the Indochina War. And the eight SEATO signers included a special protocol bringing Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam under the wing of the anti-Communist alliance.

In the event of any armed attack or threat which might endanger peace, the eight SEATO members are obligated to consult immediately on measures to be taken. But they also are bound not to intervene on the territory of the attacked country without an invitation of the government concerned.

So far there has been no such invitation from Laos. Nor have any SEATO countries suggested such an invitation might be in order. Members of the alliance are France, the former ruler of Indochina; the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines.

★ ★ ★

The SEATO pact does not offer the rigid guarantees of action provided by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It calls only for consultations on any use of force or threat of force. This, however, would not prevent the alliance from acting if its members agree that intervention is necessary.

Two other agencies might be invoked.

★ ★ ★

One is the United Nations, which has been mentioned frequently since fighting in Laos resumed. A representative of the Laotian government has consulted with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and with some U.S. delegations on the possibility of having observers sent to Laos. But no request has been made for action by the Security Council or the General Assembly.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is reported to have expressed the belief in private conversations recently that U.N. observers should be sent to Laos as soon as possible. Many diplomats believe this may happen, at least as a first step.

A less likely possibility is the reconvening of the three-nation armistice commission set up by the 1954 Geneva armistice. This commission consisted of India, Poland and Canada. It adjourned in July 1958.

India and the Soviet Union have been pressing for the commission to be called into operation again. But the Laotian government contends that the commission completed its functions and its reestablishment would be an interference in the internal affairs of Laos.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd says he will not act to reconvene the commission without the consent of the Laotian government. Britain and the Soviet Union were cochairmen of the Geneva armistice conference.

WHERE RED ACTION IS REPORTED — This map outlines Laos where Communist guerrillas are invading. Little skirmishing was reported, except at Pak Seng, underlined, where Royal Laotian troops battled rebels.

Pianist-Composer Has Severe Critic

NEW YORK (UPI)—To pianist-composer Linda Babits, winning musical contests for her "Palisades Park Suite" is regular fare. In the last year she has won three major prizes — the John Golden Award, Salt Lake Philharmonic Competitions and the Palisades Composition Award — worth a total of $2,000.

Linda says there's no secret about her writing, she just has an effective listener in 8-year-old sister Olivia. Says Linda: "I play the piece for Olivia. If she doesn't squirm, stretch, read, write, color, draw, get hungry or thirsty or fall asleep, I know the piece is right."

There were four trailer parks in New York City at latest count.

Electrical Failures Top Auto Calls for Help

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Electrical failure was the number one cause of automobile breakdowns in 1958 according to a study made by the American Automobile Assn. (AAA). Flat tires and ignition troubles came next as the major causes of auto trouble.

All told, the AAA reported receiving nearly 60 million calls for service last year. But it said that there were fewer cases of motorists running out of gas or getting stuck in the mud or snow because "drivers have become more intelligent."

In Brainerd, Minn., is a huge image of Paul Bunyan, the folklore hero of lumberjacks who was said to have used a trimmed pine tree for a pencil.

Hits Raft With Boat; Pilot Is Injured

A Highland Township man suffered minor injuries yesterday when he drove his motorboat at full throttle into a stationary, eight-foot square raft on Duck Lake, Highland Township.

John G. Jackson, 33, of 2315 Highland Dr., was treated for face cuts and later released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

He told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that he had turned around to scold his 10-year-old daughter playing in the back of the boat and did not see the raft. The girl was not injured.

Loan U.A.R. $40 Million for Suez Development

CAIRO (UPI)—A 40-million-dollar World Bank loan to the United Arab Republic will be earmarked for specific phases of development of the Suez Canal, informed sources said today.

A World Bank mission completed preliminary talks with U.A.R. officials yesterday on the loan to help finance a program for widening the waterway.

The loan agreemeent is expected to be made final in Washington next month. The canal project will cost an estimated 250 million dollars and will take 10 years to complete.

Troubles Grow for Junk Dealer

Facing Trial on 6 Other Charges, Jailed After Pointing Rifle

Junk dealer Felix Hooks, 59, of 418 Harvey St., was arraigned in Municipal Court this morning before Judge Cecil McCallum on a charge of aiming a firearm without malice.

Hooks, who was to face trial on six other charges today, pleaded not guilty and was returned to the Oakland County Jail. Bond was set at $500.

Hooks apparently argued with his neighbors yesterday after City Dog Warden William Schneider picked up four diseased dogs he owned.

A complaint against Hooks was signed by Mrs. Evelyn Chaumley, 499 Colorado. She told police Hooks pointed a rifle at neighbors and children from his front yard.

When police arrived, Hooks at first barricaded himself inside his home. Officers talked him into surrendering peacefully.

Trial on the charge, a misdemeanor, was set for Sept. 2.

He faces trial today on six counts brought by city health authorities. His trial, originally set for July 2, was postponed to July 30, and then to today by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Squeeze Play Nearly Disbands Her Team

MILWAUKEE (AP)—For Miss Kathleen Krast, 20, an attractive coed, 13 is an unlucky number.

She was accused of carrying 13 passengers in her car — all little boys.

Miss Krast explained to the judge that the youngsters are members of a school playground baseball team and she's their coach.

BALMORAL CASTLE FROM THE AIR—Ike will find the clock turned back to the time Queen Victoria called it "This Dear Paradise" when he visits Balmoral Castle in Scotland Aug. 28 as Queen Elizabeth's guest. But the cold rooms and food are expected to be warmed by the air of friendliness which prevails in this royal retreat.

Britain Awaits Eisenhower Wearing Air of Friendliness

LONDON (AP) — Usually reserved Britain is wearing an air of happy expectation and open handed friendliness as President Eisenhower turns to consultations with Prime Minister Macmillan.

The President will have three temporary white houses, including one in a royal residence, during his six-day visit to this island realm. This idea has intrigued the public. For Britons generally this gives the visit an intimate tone.

The British, unrivaled in the business of organizing state ceremonials of great pomp for princes of distant states, are not making the President's visit an occasion for hanging out miles of flags. It's explained that this is an official rather than a state visit—a distinction in protocol like the difference between a friendly dinner party and a full dress banquet.

The emphasis here is on treating the President as an old friend with an opportunity to wish him well on his initiative in personal diplomacy.

A Low cartoon in the Manchester Guardian sums up the British attitude. It shows a woman identified as hope and a baby designated as the future holding American flags and standing at the foot of aircraft steps. The caption: "Waiting."

★ ★ ★

Elaborate security precautions, including the organization of a crack motorcycle police escort, have been provided for the President.

Instantaneous and spy-proof communications will link him with Washington from each of the three White Houses in Britain—Balmoral, Chequers and Winfield House.

The President, as head of state and chief executive of his country, does not delegate his duties to someone in Washington when he is abroad. Thus wherever he is the White House is also.

Balmoral Castle in the beautiful valley of the River Dee is a residence of Queen Elizabeth II.

Largely the work of Prince Albert 106 years ago, it is a building of many turrets and battlements. It has little architectural distinction but seems to reflect a Rhinelander's idea of what a Scottish castle should look like. Inside the decor is Victorian with a scattering of Tartans on the floors and walls.

★ ★ ★

The castle is hardly cozy. The kitchens are three minutes walk from the dining room. Food has to be reheated on hot plates.

The estate consists of 24,000 acres. Tourists often park along a highway to try to snap the royal family. Camouflage nets have been erected in some places to give the grounds more privacy.

Eisenhower will awake Saturday to an unfamiliar reveille. Every morning the Queen's piper plays for 15 minutes.

Winfield House, where the President will spend most of his time, is U. S. government property occupied by Ambassador John Hay Whitney. It was built by heiress Barbara Hutton on the edge of Regent's Park in the heart of London. It cost 2½ millions in the depression year of 1934.

This 40-room house of neo-Georgian style saw service as a Royal Air Force mess during the war and later was a club for U. S. Air Force officers.

★ ★ ★

Miss Hutton gave the house—with its then gold plated bathroom fixtures—to the American government as an ambassador's residence.

British experts do not regard Winfield House as particularly distinguished in architecture but it looks like many other grand mansions and even office blocks in London.

Chequers, where the President will spend Saturday and Sunday talking privately with Macmillan, is the prime minister's official country residence. It is high in the Chiltern Hills of Buckinghamshire some 40 miles from London. The handsome early Elizabethan manor lies in a lush setting of 1,000 acres of farm and woodland. The late Lord Lee of Fareham gave it to the British nation as a place where prime ministers could rest.

Macmillan seldom uses Chequers as a weekend retreat, preferring his own country home in Sussex, but he sometimes calls cabinet ministers there to hammer out policies. A meeting at Chequers attracts less attention than the usual cabinet gatherings at 10 Downing St., the prime minister's London residence.

From No. 10 the President and the prime minister will make their unique broadcast together Monday evening.

★ ★ ★

If the President decides to come back to Britain for a couple of days rest, after his Paris talks next week, he will go to Culzean Castle overlooking the Firth of Clyde. It has 2,000 acres of shooting land and a nine hole golf course.

This castle was built in the last quarter of the 18th Century to a design of Robert Adam and was turned over to Scotland by the Fifth Marquis of Ailsa in 1945.

A spacious top floor apartment is always kept ready for Eisenhower. The people of Scotland gave it to him for life as a tribute to his services in World War II.

Detroit to Clear Total 265 Acres

Are Next Targets in Campaign to Clean Up Blight Areas

DETROIT (UPI)—Three areas totaling 265 acres are the next targets in Detroit's campaign against blight.

Two sites will be cleared of slums and the land put up for sale for industrial redevelopment and homes and the third is a 50-block "conservation" area.

★ ★ ★

A 135-acre area adjoining the downtown Lafayette Park redevelopment project will be cleared and used for new houses and apartment buildings.

An 80-acre extension will be added to the 17-acre Milwaukee-Junction site already cleared for industrial purposes alongside the proposed route of the Chrysler expressway.

The 50-block "conservation" area near the Ambassador Bridge in downtown Detroit will be cleared only of substandard and nonconforming structures.

Streets, parks and other public facilities will be improved, and parks and playgrounds will be added to induce residents to improve their property.

The priority schedule was approved by Mayor Louis Miriani yesterday and will be presented to common council within 30 days. The plan will then be presented to the federal government for approval, which would bring federal funds to finance two-thirds of the cost.

Bernstein, Orchestra Leave for Leningrad

MOSCOW (AP)—Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra have triumphantly concluded the first part of their Soviet concert visit. They leave for Leningrad Friday.

"The orchestra consists of wonderful musicians, many of whom are unquestionably great artists," said famed Soviet composer Aram Khachaturian.

Writing in the government newspaper Izvestia, Khachaturian said the orchestra's tonal balance is "impeccable." Its purity of intonation and beauty of sound "impressive."

When Bernstein conducts, the composer observed, the audience feels that music is his element.

Tourists Flocking to Alaska

ANCHORAGE (UPI) — Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, is looking forward to the biggest tourist season in its history this summer. The only trouble is it might be too big.

Merchants are happily anticipating the sound of jingling cash registers but those directly involved in the tourist industry are fast developing ulcers over the very real prospect of not being able to meet the demand for accommodations.

Travel agents and progressive hotel owners realize that their future business depends largely on the impression Alaska makes this summer on the flood of visitors expected to arrive for a glimpse of the 49th state.

To avoid requiring tourists to sleep in their cars because they cannot find rooms, the Chamber of Commerce opened its tourist information center a month early on May 1.

Since June 1, two girls have been on duty seven days a week to help steer visitors and to act as a clearing house for information on sleeping accommodations.

The chamber has also issued a call to local residents to open their homes to outsiders when hotels and motels are full. These private rooms will be inspected before they are placed no the office's accommodations list.

Until this year, Alaska's tourist business was strictly a summertime deal. Hotels and motels were practically empty half the year and only partly full during spring and fall.

Up to Alaska's entry into the union, people knew little about the former territory and thought everyone lived in igloos. But the millions of dollars of free publicity which followed statehood has loosend pocketbooks all over the country and created a lively curiosity among residents of the "South 48" to find out more about their neighbors to the north.

For the first time since the war and then the big construction boom of 1952 and 1953, Anchorage hotels were filled to capacity all this past winter.

Financiers, especially those from the east coast and Texas, have been sliding in and out of town in droves looking for places to spend their money and some have found them.

* *

Michael Halbouty, independent Texas wildcatter, joined forces with Walter J. Hickel, Anchorage millionaire contractor, to build a $10,000,000 hotel and office building, development in downtown Anchorage.

The two structures are scheduled for completion in 1961. The Captain Cook Hotel will have 11 stories and the office building 10.

Western Hotels, owners of the Westward Hotel and Westward Inn, bought out the former owners of the Anchorage Hotel this spring. The company has already started work on building what will eventually be a 16-story hotel development.

But Alaskans are still faced with the problem of handling more tourists than they have room for during the next two years.

Sponsor Dance Sunday

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The Teen Club of St. Patrick Catholic Church is sponsoring a semi-formal dance at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Westacres Country Club. The public is invited. Tickets will be available at the door.

8 Blind Models 'Show' Dresses to Blind Women

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Eight blind models walked surely across the floor of the Fiesta Auditorium in Plummer Park last night holding tightly to the leashes of seeing-eye dogs as they modeled their dresses for a blind audience.

★ ★ ★

The occasion was the first of a series of semiannual fashion shows for blind women of the Los Angeles area co-sponsored by the blind industries of California and the R. L. Spencer Inc. Fashion House.

With few exceptions, the audience of about 75 women was totally blind.

Commentary for the unique showing was done by fashion designer Blackwell. He introduced actress Ann Blyth to the audience. She in turn led eight blind models —three of them modeling for the first time—into the audience to display the 24 gowns in the showing.

★ ★ ★

Miss Blyth herself modeled two gowns and, armed with a hand microphone, stepped into the audience so the sightless women could "see" them with their fingers in what it termed "brailled."

Blackwell introduced each gown with a detailed description of their styling, color and fabric as each model was led into the audience to be "brailled."

Potluck Not on the Menu

DES MOINES (UPI) — It was communion Sunday at a Des Moines church, and 6-year-old Stephen Hoff was impressed by the communion table. He asked several questions, and finally inquired loudly, "When are they going to serve the potluck?"

There are more than 250 lakes within the limits of Glacier National Park.

Swallow Joins In Song About Sparrow

FRIENDSHIP, Md. (UPI)—"His eye is on the sparrow," sang the tenor at Sunday morning worship at the Methodist church.

With that, a swallow flitted in through an open window, flew among the rafters a short time and flew out.

Soloist Loren Bloom, whose eye was on the music, didn't see the winged messenger. But the congregation smiled knowingly.

For wash-and-wear fabrics, choose a pattern design that is not broken up by too many seams or topstitching.

Sees Canada Sore Over Water Steal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt) said today that enactment of a bill to permit Chicago to take more water from Lake Michigan would imperil friendly relations with Canada.

Prouty's speech for the Senate came as opponents laid the groundwork for an effort to send the bill to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a report on its international implications.

But Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) and other supporters of the House-passed bill to authorize the additional diversion for Chicago's sewage disposal system demonstrated yesterday they have more than enough strength for passage it they can force it to a vote.

Even then, they confront the likelihood of a veto by President Eisenhower, who has twice vetoed similar legislation because of Canadian objections.

Why Was Woman on Desert Road?

'She Looked Right at Truck'

COACHELLA, Calif. (AP) — "Right now," said the highway patrolman, "we're just listing it as a traffic fatality."

But there was more than that to the strange death of Jean Elizabeth Wood.

She stood on Highway 99 Wednesday miles from civilization, and stared death in the eyes. The eyes were the headlights of a huge truck bearing down on her.

She didn't budge. The truck driver didn't see her. He just felt a thud.

Her body landed 110 feet from the point of impact.

Authorities today were still trying to figure it out. The 26-year-old woman was wearing a black party dress, in the middle of nowhere. She had no car nearby. The nearest house was miles away. Coachella, the closest town, was 20 miles north.

★ ★ ★

James Frye, 25, of South Torrance, Calif., saw her killed. He had driven by, ahead of the truck, and almost hit her himself.

"Suddenly there she was in front of me," he said. "I slid off the road. I couldn't believe it—a girl there in the desert.

"'What are you doing?' I shouted.

"She just stood there, and sorta looked over at me. I started to get out and grab her, because I saw this truck coming. But there wasn't time. She was looking at the truck when it hit her. It was terrible."

The truck driver, Fredrich Widemann of Artesia, Calif., found her body. Frye didn't want to look.

Later a newsman talked with one of the operators of a Riverside hotel, where the woman had lived since June 24.

"She was very depressed last night," the hotel operator said. "She was almost crying. She worked as a waitress at one of the bars here at one time. She told me last night she hadn't worked for two or three weeks."

★ ★ ★

She didn't have a car; but Riverside police said she was driving one Tuesday night. She got a ticket for speeding.

Authorities located the woman's mother in Spokane, Wash. "I don't know what to think," said Vera Harty. "We haven't heard from her since she visited here last May."

Mrs. Harty said her daughter had been married three times and was separated from her third husband. Mrs. Harty is caring for her two children.

Reporter Confirmed for Oakland Court

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has confirmed the appointment of Lorraine A. Bruzdewicz as court reporter for Oakland County Circuit Judge Theodore F. Hughes.

Miss Bruzdewicz, of 19627 Hanna St., Detroit, was a court reporter for Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem for seven years before starting with Judge Hughes July 1.

She is expected to continue in her new capacity for either Ziem or Stanton G. Dondero, whichever of the two new circuit judges beginning terms Jan. 1 will take over Judge Hughes' courtroom when he relinquished his bench Dec. 31.

Make Good Use of Seasonal Fruits

PEACH CAKE WAFFLES — Serve sweetened fresh peaches on top of vanilla ice cream with a base of tender waffles. Keep the fruit from darkening by adding some ascorbic acid as soon as it is peeled and cut. This dessert might be served at a Sunday brunch.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When berries are in season, we think there is nothing like them. Then come the later fruits and we're sure it's the best time of the year. In fact, we hardly know which fruit we like best right now. Fresh fruit is one thing we tried to have on hand for every one of our camping trip meals.

Michigan peaches are in the market now, as delicious as ever. We know you will eat them out of hand, on cereal and cut up with sugar and cream. Why not try some new ways of serving peaches?

Take, for example, this Peach Doodle. It is similar to an apple dessert most everyone likes. The topping in this case is made with bite-size shredded wheat biscuits.

Peach Doodle

3 tablespoons margarine or butter
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups bite-size shredded wheat biscuits crushed to 1 cup
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon tapioca
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups (2 lbs.) sliced fresh peaches
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees). Butter a shallow baking dish. Melt margarine. Stir in brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and nutmeg. Add cereal crumbs. Mix well. Remove from heat.

Mix granulated sugar, tapioca and ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon. Combine sugar mixture, peaches and lemon juice. Place in baking dish. Top with crumbs. Bake 20 minutes or until bubbly. Serve warm or cold. Yield: 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

Another interesting way to serve peaches is as a topping for waffles. This can be either a dessert or a brunch dish.

Fresh Peach Cake Waffles

⅔ tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons ascorbic acid mixture
3 cups sliced fresh peaches
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

★ ★ ★

Combine sugar and ascorbic acid mixture; add peaches and toss well to coat each slice. Set aside. (These may be prepared in advance to prevent last minute preparation.)

Beat eggs until light and thick. Gradually beat in sugar. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and mix into egg mixture. Stir in water, butter and vanilla.

Heat waffle iron and grease for first waffle. Pour about 2/3 cup batter into iron and bake 2 to 2½ minutes. (Note: these waffles are very tender so between bakings, if necessary, brush out crumbs that might break off.) Serve hot waffles with a scoop of vanilla ice cream topped with salad peaches. Makes about 8 Peach Waffles.

★ ★ ★

Then there are plums. Calorie counters will be happy to know that large plums have only 18 calories apiece in them. Buy a variety so that you can offer a bowlful of multi-colored fruit. The USDA suggests that you sprinkle powdered sugar over plums and let them stand an hour or so before serving. Or you can marinate them in olive oil, flavored by a cordial or liqueur flavoring. Serve with a dab of sweetened whipped cream.

★ ★ ★

Pears may be poached for an interesting dessert. They are delicious without anything added to them, but the Low Calorie Sabayon Sauce will gild the lily.

Glazed Pears

Wash 6 fresh Bartletts and, if you like, peel them. In a sauce pan, boil 1 cup sugar with 1 cup water for 5 minutes. Cook 3 pears at a time in simmering syrup until they're just barely tender. When pears are poached remove them from the syrup; cook until consistency of honey. Flavor with vanilla, brandy or liqueur. Pour syrup over pears and chill.

Low Calorie Sabayon Sauce

Mix grated rind and juice of ½ lemon, ¼ cup sherry or marsala wine, 1-3 cup sugar and 2 egg yolks in top of double boiler. Stir vigorously over hot water until thickened, using a wire whisk. Fold in 2 egg whites, beaten until they stand in peaks (do not beat until they are dry-looking.) Serve immediately over glazed pears.

★ ★ ★

A small spoon makes attractive melon balls. Combine them with canned pineapple (or frozen if you have it) and serve in cold sherbet glasses. Kirsch may be added if you like it.

Cantaloupe and Pineapple

1 medium-sized cantaloupe
1 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) pineapple chunks
2 tablespoons kirsch (if desired)

Cut cantaloupe in half the long way; remove seeds. With a melon-baller or round-bowled ½-teaspoon measuring spoon cut balls out of cantaloupe flesh. Add to pineapple chunks and syrup. Stir in kirsch if used. Chill. Makes 6 servings.

Italians Serve Veal in Wine Sauce

Quick main dish from the skillet.

Veal Alla Marsala

1 pound thinly sliced veal (from the leg)
3 to 4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter
⅓ cup Marsala

Coat veal with flour mixed with salt and pepper. Melt butter in heavy hot 10-inch skillet; add as many pieces of veal as will fit in pan in one layer. Brown meat rapidly on both sides; by this time it should be cooked through.

★ ★ ★

Remove and keep hot while you brown remaining meat if necessary; remove these pieces. Pour the Marsala into the skillet and stir well. Pour this small amount of sauce over the veal. Makes 3 servings.

Rare or Well Done

In the just-for-fun department: wooden paddles, somewhat like ice cream sucker sticks, marked in degrees of doneness of meat. Use them to identify sandwiches and steaks as they come from the grill. Picnic departments have them.

Vegetable Stuffing in Summer Turkey

A few additions to a packaged stuffing give fine flavor.

Vegetable-Bread Stuffing

¼ pound butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion (cut in thin strips)
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup grated (medium) carrot (loosely packed)
1 cup boiling water
1 bag (8 ounces) herb-seasoned stuffing

Melt butter in a 12-inch skillet or 3-quart saucepan over low heat. Add onion, celery and carrot; cook gently until onion is transparent. Add water and stuffing; mix thoroughly. Use for stuffing body and neck cavity of a 7-pound turkey (ready-to-cook weight). Spit-roast in electric rotisserie or roast regular way in oven.

All Meat Nutritious

Have you ever wondered whether the higher grades of meat had more nutritional value than the lower grades? According to the MSU Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, the amount of food energy, vitamins, minerals and protein contained in meat is figured on the amount of fat, bone and lean present in the meat. Because one piece of meat is more tender or of a different grade, does not mean it will be better from a health standpoint.

Keep Out of Sunlight

Tomatoes with a greenish cast will ripen better at room temperature than in direct sunlight. Unripe tomatoes that are refrigerated immediately will not ripen properly and will become watery.

Many good cooks like to have beef for hamburgers ground coarsely just once.

Prepare Meal Ahead to Take on Picnic

Whether the weekend takes you off on a boat, to a lake by car, or into your own back yard, the vittals you serve are a vital part of the day's pleasure.

It will be an even better day when you take out cold fried chicken, zesty with Parmesan cheese, and served with bundles of crisp vegetable sticks, sun-warmed ripe tomatoes, and prebuttered rolls.

Add a jug of cooling summer refresher, and carry ice cubes separately in an insulated bag, to avoid diluting the punch. Reserve a spot in the shade for the punch jug, and tuck your box of juicy peach turnovers next to it, for a fitting finale

Parmesan Fried Chicken

3 fryers—2 pounds each (ready-to-cook)
1 cup flour
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon paprika
2¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
Fat or oil for frying

Have chickens cut into quarters or smaller serving pieces. Combine flour, cheese, paprika, salt, pepper, oregano and garlic in a paper bag. Shake well. Drop in chicken pieces, two or three at a time, and shake until coated.

Heat ½-inch fat or oil in each of two large skillets. Brown meaty pieces of chicken first, turning with tongs or two spoons to brown all sides. Cook uncovered, until meatiest pieces are fork-tender, 15 to 20 minutes on each side. Yield 6 to 8 servings.

Tangy Picnic Cooler

Reconstitute one can (6 oz. each) of frozen concentrate for limeade and of grapefruit-pineapple juice or combine to your taste: Lemonade and grape juice; pink lemonade and limeade; lemonade and fruit punch; orange and pineapple juice; berry and orange juice.

Pour into a jug or a clean glass jar with a tight-fitting lid. Cover tightly. As an extra cool fillip, garnish each glass with a wedge or two of fresh lime. Makes 8 drinks.

If you picnic at the twilight hour or run up the cocktail flag on a boat deck, use the same blends of fruit juices as the base for a summer party drink.

Peach Turnovers

3 cups biscuit mix
¼ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup milk
3 cups coarsely diced fresh peaches
¾ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
Dash of salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Place biscuit mix in a bowl. Cut in the ¼ cup butter or margarine until of crumb consistency. Add milk. Stir to form dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead lightly. Roll into a rectangle 20 x 10 inches. Cut into 8 five-inch squares. Combine next 6 ingredients.

Spoon peach mixture over diagonal half of each square. Dot each with part of remaining butter or margarine. Fold over unfilled side of soft dough carefully. Pinch edges together. Brush tops with milk, if desired. Bake on ungreased cooky sheet in a preheated 400 degrees F. (hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Yield: 8 turnovers.

Dill Dressed Potatoes Star in Colorful Salad

When it's your turn to "bring the salad" for any gathering this summer, this dilly potato salad is an excellent possibility to consider. Potato salad is popular with just about everyone and this particular version has a novel mustard and dill dressing that sets it aside from the ordinary and should make a big hit with the crowd.

★ ★ ★

The dilly dressing for the salad is made by the simple shake-up method. All this involves is putting the ingredients in a pint jar and shaking vigorously — nothing could be much easier. Evaporated milk is one of those ingredients so the dressing is creamy smooth and beautifully blended. With dill weed, prepared mustard and garlic also included you can imagine what a pleasantly zippy dressing it is, too.

★ ★ ★

Strips of red pimient and the green of celery and cucumber along with the mustard-yellow dressing make this a particularly colorful potato salad.

Dilly Potato Salad

7 cups sliced cooked potatoes (about 3 lbs.)
1 cup thinly sliced cucumber
2 cups sliced celery
1 jar pimiento (4 oz.), drained and cut into 1-inch strips
4 hard cooked eggs, cut into sixteenths
½ cup finely chopped onion

Place all ingredients in a large bowl or pan and chill thoroughly. Add chilled Dilly Dressing and mix lightly with a fork and spoon until vegetables are well coated. Garnish with sliced hard cooked eggs, if desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

★ ★ ★

Dilly Dressing

½ cup salad oil
½ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup prepared mustard
1½ tablespoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cloves garlic
½ teaspoon dill weed

Place all ingredients in a pint jar with a screw top lid. Secure lid and shake vigorously until smoothly blended, about 1 minute. Chill. Remove garlic cloves and discard before using dressing.

Braised Squash Joins Tomatoes

Delightful vegetable combination.

Stewed Tomatoes with Squash

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion (quartered and cut into thin strips)
2 medium-sized (1¼ pounds) yellow crookneck squash (pared and thinly sliced)
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1¼ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over low heat; add onion, arrange squash over onion. Cover and cook very slowly until onion is transparent, shaking pan often. Add tomatoes, salt and pepper; heat.

Stir cornstarch and water together until smooth. Add and stir constantly until sauce is clear and thickened. Makes 6 servings.

Basil and Tomatoes

Fresh basil leaves are delightful to add to tossed green salads after they have been marinated in olive oil and wine vinegar; keep them in a covered container in the refrigerator overnight for the marinating.

BLUEBERRY ROLY POLY—For a surprise breakfast bread, try this Blueberry Roly Poly. It's a Pennsylvania Dutch recipe. Cut it on the the diagonal for serving. Looks prettier that way.

'Boiled' Coffee Excellent

When guests and family outgrow the coffee percolator, make coffee the way grandma did. Bring 8 cups of fresh water to a fast boil over a high gas flame. For every 8 cups of coffee use 1 egg, 1¼ cups regular grind coffee and ½ cup cold water. When the water is boiling, add the coffee-egg mixture and stir well. Bring the coffee back to the boiling point, then turn the flame back and simmer for 4 minutes. Turn out the flame and add ½ cup cold water to settle the coffee grounds.

Chopped parsley or pimiento added to melted butter is delicious served with broiled fish fillets.

Fancy Deviled Eggs

Deviled eggs are perfect picnic partners with potato salad and cold cuts. For a new twist, when fixing deviled eggs, add about a tablespoon of cottage cheese for each yolk. Top each egg with the scored rind of a cucumber slice.

Pan-fry squares of cooked ham and serve with a spicy relish sauce.

Baste Pork Butt With Ginger Ale

Any of this meat leftover makes fine sandwiches.

Smoked Boneless Pork Shoulder Butt

2¼-pound smoked boneless pork shoulder butt
Whole cloves
1 bottle (7 ounces) ginger ale

Remove both plastic wrapping and stockinette cover from butt. Insert whole cloves at about 1-inch intervals over entire surface. Place in baking dish or pan (6 by 10 or 7 by 11 inches); pour ginger ale over butt. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 1 hour (butt will be browned), then 20 minutes in slow (325 degrees) oven.

Vanilla Flavored

Poached fruit a la mode is in order at this season of the year. Peel, core or pit and slice fruit in season. Poach in enough sugar and water syrup to cover, using ⅔ cup sugar to 1 cup water, flavored with ½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Chill. Serve topped with ice cream.

Ever add a pinch of ground allspice to meat patties?

Blueberry Roly Poly Will Surprise 'Em

Looking for a surprise breakfast bread? Well, now is the season for fresh cultivated blueberries. So let's use a recipe from the Pennsylvania Dutch, and berries from Michigan and New Jersey.

Blueberry Roly Poly

One cup fresh cultivated blueberries
2½ teaspoons baking powder
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or shortening
2 eggs
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
Fresh lemon juice

Wash and drain blueberries. Place in bowl and sprinkle with few drops lemon juice and 2 tablespoons sugar. Set aside.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add shortening, mixing in well with fork. Beat egg slightly in measuring cup and add milk to make ¾ cup. Add liquid to flour, mixing well. Roll out on floured board into oblong piece about ½-inch thick. Sprinkle dough with fresh blueberries, pressing berries gently into dough.

Roll up to make a long thin roll (dough will triple in volume during baking). Place in a greased shallow pan and bake for 45 minutes at 375 degrees F.

Pennsylvania Dutch Upside Down Cake

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
pinch salt
¾ cup milk
2 cups fresh blueberries, sweetened with ½ cup sugar

Cream shortening well and add sugar slowly. Add unbeaten egg and vanilla; beat until well blended. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk; mix well. Mix berries and sugar and put in a well-greased square loaf pan; pour in batter. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees F. about 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Fruit Mold Has Fluffy Milk Base

If your family's appetites seem to be lagging due to warmer weather, you can depend upon molded fruit salads to tempt them at supper time. This is especially true when the salads are light and fluffy in texture. New recipes are just what you're looking for . . . whipped evaporated milk is an ingredient with fruits in molded salads which are perfect for meals which are light but satisfying. These new "whipped sundae salads" are pretty to look at, delicious to eat and good for you.

Apricot Whipped Sundae Salad

3½ cups (29-ounce can) apricot halves
1 package (3-ounces) orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup chopped pecans
1 cup chopped celery

Drain apricots; reserve 1 cup syrup. Dice apricots; reserve. Heat apricot syrup to boiling. Pour over gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill until thick and syrupy.

Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until ice crystals form around edge (about 15-20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice. Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Add mayonnaise, pecans, celery and apricots to gelatin mixture. Fold into whipped evaporated milk.

Turn into 2 1-quart molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish as desired.

Time to Can Tomatoes, Freeze Local Melons

Do you make the most of the season when you are buying and preserving food? asks the MSU Marketing Agent. For example, we know that home-grown fruits and vegetables are coming to market. Do you know when some will hit their peak of production? Do you know the size that gives the most for your money? Here are clues to help with your buying.

The peak of the Michigan tomato market will be this week and next. Sixty thousand to 70,000 packages a day will be sold each day in the Benton Harbor Fruit Market. If you're choosing tomatoes to can, a bushel yields 15 to 20 quarts. The 14-pound baskets are about a third of a bushel; make 5 to 6 quarts canned.

And an example from Michigan's protein products, now and for the coming month or two—the economy size may be the small egg. The hens hatched in the spring have reached laying age. The first eggs they lay are small, so we have an abundance of small eggs.

When the price difference between small and large size eggs of the same grade is as much or more than 15 cents a pound, the small size is the best egg value. When small eggs are cheaper pound for pound, they may meet the small serving needs of your children, they are fine for hard cooked or stuffed eggs, for salads and for casseroles. In recipes, three small eggs measure the same as two large eggs.

Don't let the coarse outside appearance of Michigan cantaloupe fool you, advises Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. The heavy netting is usually a sign of good quality. If they are picked ripe, cantaloupe are juicy and sweet. Check to see that the blossom end is slightly indented and calloused. Check for fragrant aroma.

Michigan's melon season is short, so if you care to freeze some for later use, follow Michigan State University's directions: Peel, remove seeds, cut flesh in chunks, or cut melon with melon ball cutter. Pack in layers with waxed paper between. Cover with cool 40 per cent syrup (made with 3 cups of sugar to 4 cups of water). Or mix melon with one cup of sugar to six cups of fruit before packaging.

Generally speaking, for 49 to 79 cents a pound, you can serve chuck roast. Allow around 3½ to 4 hours to braise a five-pound roast with bone in. For large boneless roasts allow one hour more. Pop the roast into a heavy kettle, brown in fat, add water, cover tightly and let simmer while you shop or relax.

If you choose, you could cook the roast and use the meat for barbecued sandwiches later. Beef roasts aren't so popular in summer as in winter, and this is one reason why costs are more reasonable at this time.

Now is a good time to buy hen turkeys weighing around 10 to 15 pounds. Check to see if the turkey is a young roasting hen turkey. It will be more tender and cook in less time than a mature hen turkey.

Lamb supplies are expected to increase. More of those born this spring are of market size. Although lamb supplies are never large compared to other red meats, the increase may bring some slight reductions which will be to your advantage.

For summertime, pork prices remain relatively reasonable. Pork Boston butt is one of the leaner cuts at 49 cents a pound this week. That's 16 cents per serving. Picnics (from the front shoulder) are 39 cents or 19½ cents per serving.

Chilled Maple Drink

Any maple syrup in the house? You can whip up a nutritious drink teenagers will love! For each cup of chilled milk add three tablespoons of maple syrup; mix well and top with a big scoop (one-quarter pint) vanilla ice cream. That will hold them!

Barbecue Meat Sandwiches Over Coals

"When dog days are here we just pick up what the refrigerator offers and take to the breezes!" one homemaker tells us.

Ask questions and you find this family has some good picnic tricks. Sunday's leftover roast meat appears in sandwiches that are special because they are made from popular brown-and-serve French bread and barbecue sauce.

The sandwich makings are packed into the picnic basket, then put together and heated on an outdoor fire at the picnic spot. Here's just how to do this:

Jiffy Barbecued Sandwiches

2 loaves (5 ounces each) brown-and-serve French bread
12 slices roast beef or pork or lamb or turkey (each 4 by 3 by ⅛ inches)
1 cup ready-prepared barbecue sauce

Cut each loaf of bread into 12 equal-sized slices. Fold the edges of each meat slice over toward the center so that the meat fits the slice of bread.

Spear folded meat slices, one at a time, with a fork and dip into the barbecue sauce; sandwich each meat slice between two slices of bread. String sandwiches on long sharp-pointed skewer.

Heat sandwiches over hot coals (outdoors) or under range broiler (indoors) turning to toast bread on all sides. Makes 6 servings — 2 sandwiches per serving.

Mrs. Donovan Wharff, left, and Mrs. Ursula Casey will be among nurses taking the course at MSUO this fall. The course is offered to nurses for college credit or just pure enjoyment.

Classes for Nurses Offered at MSUO

Michigan State University Oakland is offering Michigan State University extension courses for nurses who wish to earn college credits or who wish to take courses for personal enjoyment.

★ ★ ★

This fall the course is Political Science 300, National Government.

The course is also approved for graduate credit. It will be given Thursday evenings Sept. 24 through Dec. 3 for three credit hours. Registration will be Sept. 17 and 18.

★ ★ ★

Last winter and spring about 20 registered nurses from Oakland County entered the program and took a course in child psychology and adolescent psychology.

The Oakland County District Nurses' Assn. has met with Dr. Lowell Eklund, associate director for continuing education at MSUO, to plan these courses.

★ ★ ★

It was felt that the most pressing need for nurses was for courses that would give credit toward the batchelor's degree.

Further courses will be planned on the basis of continued interest shown by nurses in the county.

★ ★ ★

For further information about this program, contact Dr. Eklund's office at MSUO or Mrs. Ralph Sherrod at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Best That You Foot Hotel Bill

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, his wife and young daughter are coming to visit us. We've invited her parents to come too so all will drive in the latter's car. They have insisted that we get a room for them at the hotel because they feel they will be crowding us. We know they would be more comfortable by themselves, and we will invite them for most of their meals. The question is: Shall we now pay for their room at the hotel since they are coming at our invitation? We don't want them to feel that we are lacking in hospitality and yet we don't want them to be made uncomfortable by our paying their hotel bill.

Answer: I think you should take it for granted that you will pay the parents' hotel bill and arrange this with the hotel to tell them they are your guests. For them to accept this is entirely proper, but if they personally protest, it is better to let them pay the bill rather than go into a discussion on the subject.

Dear Mrs. Post: On occasion I go out to lunch with a friend who is a very meager tipper. In fact, she doesn't believe in the custom. It embarrasses me terribly because I am inclined to be overgenerous for service when it is good. Is there any way a guest might add to a hostess' tip without embarrassing or belittling her?

Answer: In this embarrassing situation there is nothing you can do, except to make a point of remembering which waiter served you so that if he does so again when you are the hostess, you may be overgenerous with your tip.

Dear Mrs. Post: When addressing wedding invitations to a husband and wife, is it permissible to use the symbol for the word AND instead of writing it out? For example: Mr. & Mrs. John Smith, or Mr. AND Mrs. John Smith?

★ ★ ★

Answer: On wedding invitations the word AND must be written out.

Washable Enamel Adds Distinction

Do - it - yourselfers can add bright and distinctive touches to any room with a piece or two of unpainted furniture. Finish the wood with washable enamel or high-gloss paint in any of the many attractive colors.

★ ★ ★

You'll find the results practical as well as pretty—because smudges and finger marks can be wiped off with a sudsy cloth to make these pieces good as new.

Lather Holds Dirt

Leaving soap lather on the skin after washing makes the skin taut and also may make you feel itchy. It also makes little sense, because the lather holds the loosened dirt that you were trying to wash off in the first place.

Mrs. Gallaudet Is Busy

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Mrs. Francis C. Gallaudet of Shadow Lane, has spent most of August making careful plans for the second week in September.

First, planning for the Sept. 7 marriage of her daughter Janet ("Jeff") to Ralph A. Sturges III of New York, then for the Sept. 12 debut of another daughter, Andrea.

Each event will mean many house guests, both out-of-town relatives and school friends of these popular girls.

Mrs. Edwin K. Bodkin has entertained at a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Club and the Spinster dinner was given Monday by Mrs. Jere B. Gillette and her sister Mrs. William E. Murphy Jr. of Ann Arbor in the former's home on Hickory Heights drive.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James C. Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Foster will give a bar shower and buffet supper for Jeff and Ralph in the former's new home on Willow Lane.

Dr. and Mrs. John R. McDonald have planned a luncheon for Saturday, Sept. 5 for out-of-town guests, and that evening the bride-elect's uncle and aunts Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Skae and Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan Jr. will be hosts at a dinner party at the Little Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Weed Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Chad M. Ritchie will be hosts at a "brunch" for Sunday, Sept. 6.

Andrea Gallaudet will be presented to society the Saturday after her sister's wedding by Mr. and Mrs. Gallaudet at a reception at Birmingham Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. West are planning an informal open house late Sunday afternoon for Mrs. West's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Torrey Shallcross.

Mike and Mary have been living in Maryland since their June wedding until this month when Mike completed his military service in Chicago.

Mrs. Shallcross' mother Mrs. Bruce Smith and her brother Alexander will come from her home in Elkridge, Md. to spend the weekend with the Wests in their home on Lone Pine road.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Everell E. Fisher will be hosts at luncheon Friday for out-of-town guests coming to attend the Saturday wedding of Joan Fisher and Robert E. Gerwin of Indianapolis.

The affair will be given in the Fisher's home, Thimble Farm, on Lone Pine road.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. A. C. Girard and her son Michael drove to New York to meet Shelagh Girard Tuesday when she landed from a six-week tour of Europe. Mr. Girard flew down in time to meet Mrs. Girard and Mike and be on the dock when the S. S. Queen Elizabeth landed.

Countrysiders Hear of Trees' Problems

Wayne B. Seifert was guest speaker at the meeting of the Countryside Improvement Assn. Wednesday. "Beautiful Trees of Our Countryside and Their Problems" was his subject.

Hostess for the day was Mrs. Paul Terry of Locklin lane, assisted by Mrs. Jack Van Coevering, Mrs. Webster Francis and Mrs. Lynn Johnson.

Cook Finds Repair Kit Handy

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — A girl needs more than a stove, food and recipes to demonstrate cooking to Yugoslavs.

Mary Pauline Murray, a home economist from Miami, Fla., is going to the International Trade Fair at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, armed with a screwdriver, nail file and bobby pins.

★ ★ ★

"Just in case something happens to the stove. There won't be a service man around," Miss Murray explained in an interview en route to the fair.

She boned up on repair work until she felt capable of handling minor breakdowns herself. "And I sure could straw boss someone else," she laughed.

The pretty, 30-year-old brunette will demonstrate the electronic range at the fair for two weeks, Sept. 5-20, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SPEEDY BREAKFAST

She will cook a complete breakfast in four minutes and 25 seconds (not counting preparation time) in the model kitchen of the U. S. pavilion.

★ ★ ★

The meal will include a baked apple, 90 seconds; oatmeal, 60 seconds; crisp bacon, 90 seconds; and an egg, 25 seconds.

She also will bake cup cakes (60 seconds) to show how they rise "just like that."

"I can do a dinner in 30 minutes—chops, a small roast or chicken with home-made bread, rolls or biscuits and dessert.

"But we decided against a dinner because it takes so long and wouldn't hold people's attention," the economist explained.

Yugoslavian girls will translate her commentary, and spectators will be able to inspect the range and ask questions. Food and cooking utensils will be sent from the United States.

SHUNS EXPERT ROLE

Miss Murray will wear drip-dry shirtwaists instead of a uniform because "a uniform makes people think I'm an expert. I want to look like a homemaker so I can get closer to people."

A native of Newport, Tenn., Miss Murray, who goes by the nickname "Polly," started demonstrating electronic ranges in 1956, working on one of the original seven hand-built models.

Today, as a home economist for an electric appliance firm, she works with electric utilities in the care and use of equipment, trains retail salesmen, conducts cooking schools, work fairs, home shows and high school and college workshops.

Her territory ranges from Miami and Jacksonville to south Georgia.

She plans to teach the Yugoslavian interpreters to operate the range "so they won't think it's witchcraft."

"You'd be surprised," she added, "how many people see but don't believe. And wherever I go, they always ask the same questions."

These include—how long does it take to cook a turkey? (One hour for a 12-pound bird.)

Can you burn yourself? (Microwaves, or high-frequency radio energy, create heat in food. But the air in the oven, the oven itself and utensils remain at room temperature.)

What is the price? (About $950.) How does the food taste? (Better.)

We added one more question: Has Miss Murray ever burned a meal?

"Well," she said, smiling, "you don't exactly burn things. It's more dehydration. You have no trouble if you follow instructions. But at first I couldn't imagine food was done in such a short time, so I was tempted to add another minute."

Teenager President? He'd Kill the Draft

By EUGENE GILBERT

Want a balanced budget, reduced income taxes and an end to the draft? Then elect a teenager President in 1960.

These three items led the list of campaign promises made by teenagers in a nationwide survey that asked this main question: "If I were president, the first thing I'd do would be. . ."

★ ★ ★

The fact that abolishing the draft led the list by a wide margin is not surprising, since it is the one problem that affects teenagers directly. But a breakdown of the vote provided a real surprise.

★ ★ ★

It showed that girls are far more opposed to the draft than boys. Among the girls, 67 per cent listed abolishing the draft as the number one plank in their presidential platform, compared with only 38 per cent of the boys.

REDUCED TAXES

Reduced income taxes and a balanced budget placed second and third on the teenage list of presidential promises, drawing 38 per cent and a 30 per cent vote respectively.

Their reasons for supporting these two planks generally coincided. Halting inflation, increasing spending power, lowering the national debt and curbing bureaucracy were among the reasons cited.

★ ★ ★

On one side they favored a balanced budget and reduced income taxes, while on the other they wanted increased defense spending and some form of federal aid to education.

AGAINST FEDERAL CONTROL

Some reconciled abolishing the draft with their desire for stepped up defenses by arguing that manpower was not the primary need in the missile age.

And despite their stand on federal aid to education, teenagers in general felt that educational problems should be left up to the states and not brought under federal control.

"Each state knows its own needs better than any federal agency," pointed out an 18-year-old Oklahoma City youngster.

In other areas, based on the majority opinions expressed in the survey, a teenaged President would:

Oppose attempts to halt atom bomb tests.

Oppose a summit meeting at this time with the Russians.

Prepare to attack Russia, if necessary, before Russia attacks us.

LIFE TOO EASY?

The teenage stand against new holidays will no doubt come as a surprise to parents and teachers convinced that their charges are constantly searching for opportunities to avoid school.

Adults reading these survey results will be saddened or gladdened by the knowledge that the Constitution povides that the President must be at least 35 years of age.

Education and Precautions Can Prevent Injuries to Youngsters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly 16 million American children — one out of every three youngsters upder 15 — were injured last year in accidents.

This does NOT include minor wounds treated at home with love-and-liniment. It includes only injuries serious enough to send a child to a doctor, or to keep him out of school one or more days.

It also includes 15,000 fatal accidents.

Studies by the U.S. Public Health service show that a third of the fatal accidents, and more than half the non-fatal accidents, occurred while children were in the supposed "safety" of their homes.

Most accidents could have been prevented if parents had taken reasonable precautions.

To cut down accidents among children, the Public Health Service and the Children's Bureau made a list of safety tips for parents.

Here are some recommendations:

Use high shelves or locked cupboards to store lye, bleaches, garden sprays, rat bait, kerosene, insect powders, ammonia, permanent wave solutions, turpentine, moth crystals, cleaning fluids, and furniture polish. About 600,000 children, mostly under age two, are poisoned each year by swallowing household poisons.

Drain old medicine bottles down the toilet before throwing them away.

Never keep sleeping pills, aspirin, poisons or drugs in unlocked bathroom cabinets.

If you use flavored medicines, be sure to tell your child it is medicine. Don't trick him into thinking it's candy.

★ ★ ★

Never leave a sleeping child alone in the house, even for a few minutes.

Check window screens annually to make sure they are fastened securely and the wire is not rusted.

String clotheslines so high that children cannot run into them.

If you have venetian blinds, cut open the loop at the end of the cords to eliminate the chance of a child getting his head caught in a noose. (You'd be surprised how often it happens.)

BEWARE APPLIANCES

Buy electric appliances that bear the safety label of Underwriters Laboratories. Replace worn cords promptly. Tape over unused electric outlets within a child's reach. Don't use portable electric heaters in bathrooms.

Inspect toys frequently to be sure they have not become dangerous from use. Don't put a child to bed with playthings small enough to go into his mouth. Securely fasten button-eyes on stuffed animals, wheels on toy cars.

If you own guns, be sure they are unloaded and kept out of children's reach. Lock ammunition in a container or closet. Children who see TV westerns may learn how to load a gun.

Always place a firescreen in front of a fireplace in use. Never leave a child alone with a lighted stove, candle or lamp.

Keep knives, icepicks, scissors, needles and other sharp utensils out of reach.

If you store a lawnmower, hedge clippers, saws or machinery in your garage or basement, keep the doors closed.

When cooking, turn the handles of pans on the stove away from the front, so that a child can't pull them over.

When young children are about, use table mats instead of tablecloths that hang over the table edge. A toddler's tug may bring hot coffee or soup down on him.

An adult should be present when small children play in bathtubs to prevent scalding or drowning.

Keep matches out of reach of young children. Teach older children to use matches safely.

Keep stairs free. Teach children to put away toys that might cause falls. Avoid high polish on floors. Small rugs should have non-skid backing.

Teach children to have a healthy fear of moving vehicles and to cross streets only at crosswalks with the traffic light. Before crossing a street with your child, remind him to look in both directions — don't let him depend on you to look. Always make sure no child is playing in the driveway before backing out a car. Then check again.

It's Boring

Perfection Not Beauty

Lots of girls entertain the notion that if they had perfect features, they'd be beautiful. Actually, this is far from true.

★ ★ ★

Perfection is nearly always boring and most great beauties have been far from perfect. A square jawline, a snub nose, a wide mouth, eyes too large for the face, all of these imperfections have made certain beauties endearing. For the imperfect face is the interesting face.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps another reason that so-called perfect beauty is boring is that the people possessing such faces value them so highly that they have failed to make themselves charming to others. And charm is a part of beauty and rates high. It has often turned an ugly duckling into a swan. It is an elusive, silvery, bitter-sweet quality that is captivating to the beholder.

★ ★ ★

You may never be a great beauty but you can be interesting and, therefore, charming.

Reason . . . Poor Posture

Fatigue Hits in the Neck

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Fatigue seems to hit lots of folks at the back of the neck. Many things can cause this. Poor posture is perhaps the most usual reason. If you allow your neck to sink in at its base, this produces a strain which is tiring.

Sometimes the work a woman does requires her to hold her head in one position for long periods of time. If this is true, she should raise her head, lower it backward or turn it to change the position at fairly frequent intervals.

Sometimes the aching neck is a signal that we are doing too much that we are living at too hectic a pace, that we need more relaxation. For some this is a sign of nervous tension and can be trusted as a barometer of general condition.

MAKES US TIRED

Whatever the cause, when we feel this way it makes us tired all over. Massage, heat and relaxing exercises will give much relief. Lie down flat on your back without a pillow. Place a head pad or a hot water bottle underneath your neck. Relax completely until the area at the base of the neck is well heated.

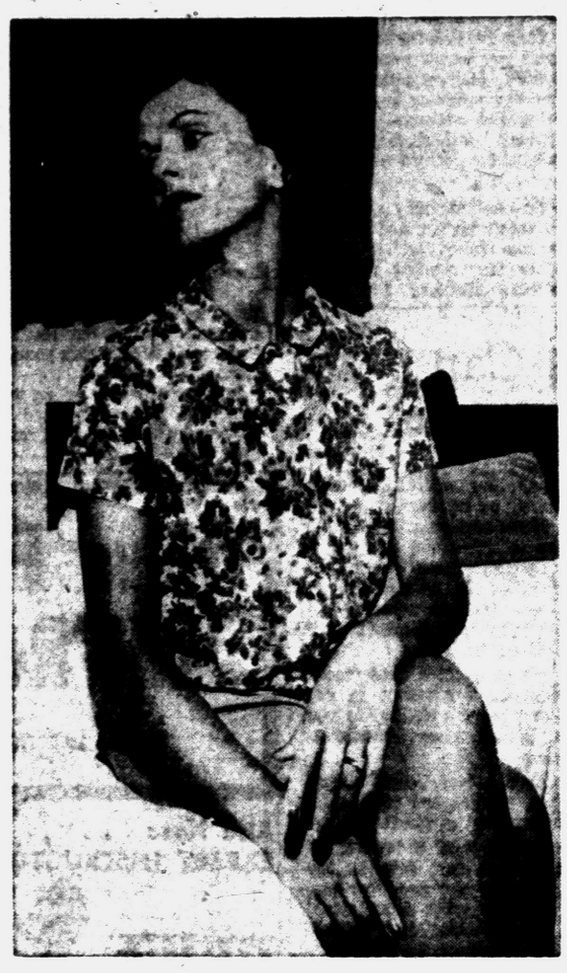

After this massage your neck, digging in with your fingers from the base of your neck to your hair line and even a little above it. Next do a few exercises. Make circles with your head, and make the circles complete. Circle first in one direction and then in the other. Lower the head backward. Raise it. Look up over your left shoulder. Return head to normal position. Look up over your right shoulder. Return to position. Any of these stretching motions are helpful.

ONLY TEMPORARY

These measures are only temporary. For permanent correction improve your posture, slow down and, lie down without a pillow when you take little rest periods. Of course if you have any real pain in your neck or if any discomfort continues you should consult your physician. I am speaking only of the tired ache many folks experience.

If you would like to have my exercises for the chinline, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Exercises for Distributing Your Weight Attractively."

This neck exercise is relaxing. Make circles with your head and make the circles complete, first in one direction and then in the other. Lower head backward, raise it. Look up over your right shoulder, as pictured, and then the left.

Chic Furs Not Tough on Budget

NEW YORK — Luxurious fur coats, ranging in price from a mere $245 to $750, were shown here recently as part of a collection done by outstanding fashion designers.

The collection includes full-length coats as well as jackets, capes, shrugs and stoles. Some of the full-length coats have sweeping fullness; others are cut trench or polo coat style. There are coats with removable trim to make them ideal for accessorizing.

Most of the furs are familiar but the manner in which they have been handled is not. Furs include pony, Persian lamb, dyed, sheared and natural Southern muskrat, hair seal, cape seal, squirrel, Italian lamb, pieced mink, Persian paw, mouton, sheared and natural raccoon, gamaquito, spotted cat, rabbit, blue fox, mink, beaver, badger, fox, stone marten and lynx.

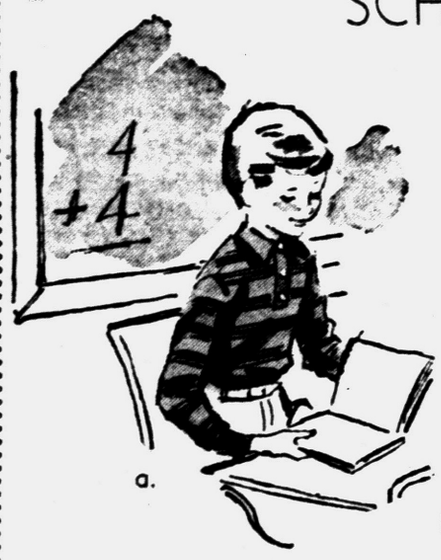

The idea behind the collection is to give women fashionable furs at budget prices. It's also meant to give the woman who would like to own a fur a chance to buy something other than mink. Desirable as mink is, the designers realize that not every woman can afford it.

This flattering jumper of imported wool comes in either solid collars or a variety of plaids. With an overblouse effect, the dress is accented by a trim bow at the waist.

Little Things Mean a Lot When Apart

By RUTH MILLETT

Did you read about those young Englishmen who took out insurance as protection against their best girls falling in love while the girls were away at summer vacation spots?

Well, there are other and even better ways for a young man to protect himself against another man grabbing his girl when he and she are separated.

He can write romantic letters, filling them with all sorts of pretty sentiments he might be timid about speaking when they are face to face.

He can call her on the phone and tell her he just couldn't live another day without hearing her voice.

He can send her little gifts—some with sentimental value, some to make her laugh.

And if all this devotion doesn't make her want to hurry home, he can always drop the word that he got so lonely he took one of her best friends out dancing. That is almost sure to bring her back.

Actually, being apart gives a man a fine opportunity to woo a girl in an old-fashioned, romantic way. Love letters can be read over and over and saved. A voice coming across the miles is far more thrilling than one coming from a booth in the corner drugstore.

And if there needs to be a little competition to convince the girl she had better hold onto her young man, separation gives a man a good excuse for spending a few evenings with someone else.

★ ★ ★

So no young man has to go to an insurance company. With a little imagination and a lot of sweet words he can protect himself.

Plastic Shade Pull Protects Shades

The problem with window shades of the past has been fingerprints on the shade pull or—even worse—on the shade itself.

The solution turns out not to be fingerbowls at every window, but plastic shade pulls that slide onto shades from the side. These slide off again whenever they need to be washed with soap or detergent suds.

Don't Make Another Mistake . . . Abby

Illegitimate Daughter Asks Father's Name

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I was in my teens and unmarried, I had a baby girl. I later married a wonderful man who knew the whole story. My daughter is now 8 years old.

ABBY

I am sorry to say that some adults seem to think that children are deaf. I am guilty of that fault because I thought she was too young to understand. She knows that my husband is not her real father.

She doesn't know the name of her real father, but I am afraid one day she will ask me to tell her. He is respectably married with a family of his own. I believe in being honest, Abby, but what can I tell this child?

GUILTY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Just because you made one mistake doesn't mean you have to make two. Telling your daughter the name of her "real" father would only bring her needless unhappiness (not to mention the complications involving innocent parties.) You are sitting on a keg of dynamite. Keep the lid on. If she asks you, tell her her "real" father is no longer living. A kind lie is sometimes better than a cruel truth.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Your letter about "God's Will" brings to mind one of my favorite stories:

A farmer bought an old rundown farm which had lain idle for many years. After many long months, by the sweat of his brow, he produced fine crops which were beautiful to behold.

A preacher, driving along the countryside stopped to admire the crops. He congratulated the farmer saying, "The Lord has certainly done a fine piece of work here!"

"He has," replied the farmer, "but He has sure done a a lot better since I started helping Him."

Yours truly,
"PORTLAND"

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have been going steady with a boy 17. I don't know how to put this, but I am beginning to wonder how much he tells his best friend. I know some girls tell their best friends everything, but how about boys?

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Stop worrying about how much your boyfriend tells and start putting a limit on what there is to tell.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECRETLY WED": You would be wise to tell your parents at once. Sneaking around is degrading. And it is entirely unnecessary under the circumstances.

★ ★ ★

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

From the Christian Dior New York Fall 1959 Collection comes this one-piece dress of gray and black imported tweed. A black leather belt accents the waist and under the slightly shaped skirt is a small petticoat.

How About This Idea for Hobby?

PHILADELPHIA — Making mosaics out of linoleum floor tile is the somewhat unusual hobby of Mrs. Charlotte W. Burns, who has won prizes for some of her artistic creations.

"They all think I'm crazy," she laughs, "and I never bother to explain."

Mrs. Burns took up her unique art work to have something to do during the long hours of night when she couldn't sleep. She explains:

"When my husband contracted multiple sclerosis eight years ago, I used to sit up all hours of the night nursing him. When he entered a nursing home four years ago, I couldn't get back into the habit of sleeping.

★ ★ ★

"So one night I was just sitting staring at the floor when I thought of trying to make a mosaic out of those little squares of linoleum. And that's when they all began to think I was wacky."

Mrs. Burns says she haunted hardware stores, spending hours selecting squares of the linoleum tile from racks of different colors. Then she would take them home and cut them up in little pieces, like confetti.

First she cuts the tile up into little, long, fat, thin and squatty pieces. It's a haphazard process because at this point she doesn't know where they're going to go. Then she glues them onto a piece of hardboard. When the picture is finished, she fits it into a frame. She says:

"Sometimes I have a general idea of what I'm doing but it doesn't always come out according to plan."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Burns, a beautician who has her own shop, came up with a picture called "Witch Doctor" that won her a prize in a national fine arts contest for beauticians sponsored by a hair color manufacturing firm.

Mrs. Burns' home is stacked with floor tile in every color of the rainbow.

"But," she says, "I just wish the manufacturers would make more blue and white ones. They're nice for sky and water scenes."

Sun Fun Hard on Hair, Take It Slow, Use Aids

Summertime is that easy-going season to look relaxed and casual. Yes, it is that, but it's also the time for special care to keep from looking like you've let your looks go, too.

Beauty-wise, sun fun and swimming are fine for people only when they take them with a little caution and protect themselves from an excess of either.

Ellen Noreen Baum, beauty authority, has some words of wisdom to convey on the subject that will save you from hair and skin problems this season.

"Take the sun gradually," she warns, "to avoid drying-out the precious oils in both your skin and hair. A little prevention goes a long way, so be sure to tuck a bottle of sun lotion and a scarf for your hair on every beach outing."

If your hair does bleach-out in the sun, she suggests a temporary color hair rinse to condition the hair as well as to revive the natural color. This is particularly important for the fair-skinned, fair-haired ones, but brunettes and redheads have this problem, too.

RINSES HELP

Even for the stay-at-home working in the garden, sunning on the patio or just plain being lazy, drying breezes will take some of the shine out of lovely locks. Color rinses add color and vitality to hair, so important in the summer. Skin lotions and the same caution should prevail here as well as in the wide-open spaces.

★ ★ ★

Whether it's just watching the polo matches, going to a baseball game or really soaking-up the sun on the beach, before the hair is too much exposed, wrap a scarf to match play togs or bathing suit around the head. "Be sure, too," Mrs. Baum adds, "to remember a bathing cap when you plunge into the surf or swimming pool. Chlorinated pool water is especially damaging to the hair."

"The scarf is a good idea, too, for horseback riding and sailing, when dust and wind in big doses damage the delicate balance of oils in the hair," she says. Summer looks like a beauty's joy to the observer, but it can make a raving beauty look like a beachcomer in no time at all.

Average life expectancy of industrial workers in the United States is 70 years.

Wear Wool Year-Round

Sheer wool is one of the most versatile of all fabrics. In gay prints, solid colors or lightweight tweeds, it can do year-round duty in any situation, from boudoir to ballroom.

★ ★ ★

Sheer printed wool is a great idea for a party dress, which will be as correct and comfortable for summer as winter. Local sewing center experts suggest a short formal dress in sheer wool print, strapless and full-skirted, becoming to any figure. It's easy to sew, if you use a steam iron to smooth seams as you sew.

★ ★ ★

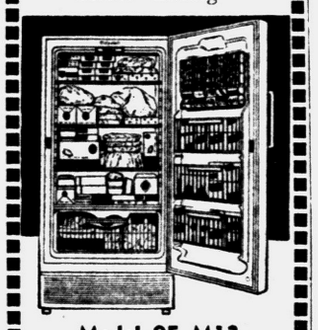

A girl planning spring formal dances might choose a sheer wool print in tones of lime and melon on a white ground, with a hem-length sash of green satin. A standard pattern gives full directions, calling for about six yards of fabric, plus a couple of yards of wide ribbon for the sash. A surplice bodice treatment is a new note.

When you use salad dressing mix to season meat, poultry or vegetables, cut down the amount of salt called for in the recipe.

For hot sleeping weather here's just the thing. A three piece sleeper of drip-dry plisse. The third piece is an extra pair of pants.

Fur Scarves Add Elegance to Suit

Fur scarves give a touch of elegance to collarless suits for fall. Designer Ben Zuckerman shows the scarves cut in narrow, two-skin strips.

They can be tied into bows or looped and buttoned to the suit. The scarves come in such furs as chinchilla, black mink, nutria and white mink.

Not So Today

In 1837 Mount Holyoke, a Massachusetts woman's college, opened with laboratory work in chemistry as part of the regular curriculum although many felt that chemistry was not "a subject for a lady to manage."

Mimi Hines Forgets Rules

How to Be Happy in Marriage?

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Mimi Hines is one of the world's most happily married women, and nobody can understand why.

As one-half of the suddenly famous comedy team of Phil Ford and Mimi Hines, this unlikely wife has broken all the rules for a happy marriage.

She doesn't darn her husband's socks, or cook big juicy steaks for his dinner. She doesn't stay demurely in the background when he tells a funny story. She doesn't shop for new draperies and "his and hers" towels.

LIVE ON TRAINS

Since their marriage seven years ago, Phil and Mimi have never had a home, or even an apartment. Most of the time they live on trains and planes, with an occasional hotel suite.

"Once we did buy a 37-foot trailer, all painted silver and big as a locomotive," says Mimi. "I decided I would be domestic and put up frilly curtains and learn to cook. But it didn't work out."

★ ★ ★

"Mimi's idea of learning to cook was to stick to one thing until she mastered it," says Phil, "So we had roast duck with orange sauce every night for a week. Then the trailer burned up when a brake caught fire going down a mountain road and we gave it all up."

Mimi and Phil have been on stage almost since birth. Mimi made her debut at the age of 2 and Phil was not much older when he got footlight fever. They met in Anchorage, Alaska, where each was doing a separate night club act. Then Mimi's club went broke and Phil's partner quit, so they formed a team.

They've been playing hotels and clubs ever since, but just hit the big time after a guest appearance on the Jack Paar television show which had the audience rolling in the aisles. There followed in quick succession an engagement at New York's Copacabana and their current appearance at the Waldorf Astoria. Now Phil and Mimi figure they've got it made.

PARIS AND MOSCOW

This summer they're booked to appear in Paris and at the Moscow exhibit. What do they plan to dish out for the Russians?

"Oh just our usual act," says Phil. "Mimi's brand of humor is sort of universal. When she falls on her face, you can laugh even in Japanese."

Mimi insists that she really has motherly and domestic yearnings, if she just had a chance to prove it. In the last few years she has raised 30 poodle pups, offspring of their two French poodles, Monte and Lili.

"We have given the pups to friends all over America. There's even one in Cuba," says Mimi. "So whenever we travel we have to go and visit them all, like grandchildren.

"Lili still travels with us, but Monte got kind of a psychosis, so we had to leave him with a chorus girl friend in Chicago. The other night she called us up and said—'Monte saw you on television and he's homesick. You've got to talk to him. He's trying to jump into the television set.'"

★ ★ ★

Both Phil and Mimi would like to have children some day, but they have no intention of settling down in a split-level ranch house. Says Mimi:

"They'll probably be born on a jet plane somewhere, and we'll just work them into the act."

Think Out Purchases

Learning to dress well is a matter of trial and error. Some women take to it more readily than others; some never learn.

An innate love of fine fabrics and good leather is a great help. So is a sense of color. Even then, you can make mistakes. Don't let this discourage you. Make your decisions and learn from them.

Don't take your best friend with you when you shop; learn to depend entirely on your own judgment. And don't buy a dress because the salesgirl thinks it's cute or has one just like it. These are NOT selling points.

You can save time by thinking out your purchase in advance. This means that you're buying something that really fits into your wardrobe, that is the color, fabric and style you want and will wear. Make sure that you have the right accessories for the new addition to your wardrobe.

★ ★ ★

Then wear your new dress, suit or coat with pride and listen to the compliments.

Pajama Parties on the Campus

High school and college campuses may look like pajama parties on rainy days. A new rain coat for teenagers comes styled like an extra-long shirt.

★ ★ ★

It is water-resistant poplin with special cuff gussets for protection, button-down collar, button-pocket, and shirt-tail hem. The shirts come in bright yellow, orange, natural and black.

This two piece outfit of fur blend material features a short box jacket over a slim lined dress. It comes in gold, blue, red, green or brown.

To the unaided eye, snow appears white. But polarized light brings out the many different colors in snow crystals.

Persian King Was Bathing Advocate

Darius, King of Persia from 521-486 B. C., was an ardent advocate of bathing.

It was a common occurrence during a prolonged banquet for him to be lifted from the table, golden chair and all, to be dipped in perfumed bath water by slaves and then returned to enjoy the next course.

Soda Rids Vases of Scum Deposit

To remove the scum from vases, wash them in a solution of two tablespoons of baking soda per quart of water.

Swish the solution around in the vase, let it stand for a few minutes, then rinse.

For sparkle, add a few drops of ammonia to the water in which glassware is to be washed.

No Hope in Sight for Steel Peace

Nationwide Strike in 44th Day; Mediator and Union Pessimistic

NEW YORK (AP)—No hope was seen for an early settlement of the nationwide steel strike as it went into its 44th day today.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union of America, warned against "false optimism when none is warranted."

★ ★ ★

McDonald said: "I feel compelled to deny once again that there is agreement near between the union and industry on any issue, economic or otherwise. It is cruel and inhuman to buoy hopes on the basis of rumor and conjecture."

★ ★ ★

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was equally pessimistic.

Asked whether an early settlement was in prospect, Finnegan said "by no means."

Finnean and McDonald made their statements to newsmen after McDonald returned to the negotiations here Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

McDonald had left the negotiations Aug. 7, saying they were a sham and were getting nowhere. He said he returned at the request of the federal government.

Believes He Has Way to Escape Heavy Traffic

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A Santa Monica inventor has come up with a flivverplane which he says will enable commuters on the congested Los Angeles freeways to get away from it all.

★ ★ ★

Ben Kaufman exhibited a remote-controlled scale model of the device Wednesday — a two-seater with an 180 horsepower engine which cruises at 165 miles an hour. It will have a hovering ceiling of 6,000 feet, a maximum of 19,000 and can take off vertically from residential carports.

★ ★ ★

The cost of getting away from it all — $16,000.

Reach an Agreement on TV Political Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tentative agreement has been reached on a compromise bill to exempt TV and radio news programs from giving equal time to all candidates for a political office.

Senate-House conferees Wednesday reported the agreement. They have been working to reconcile different bills on the subject passed by the House and Senate. The conference committee meets again today for final action.

The compromise exempts bona fide newscasts, and also news interviews, news documentaries and on-the-spot coverage of news events.

Car Sales Reach High for August

Upset Usual Trend of Summer Slump; Pontiac Fourth

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said Wednesday that more new cars are being sold this month than in July, a reversal of the usual sales trend.

In the first 20 days of August 300,500 cars were sold, Ward's said. The second 10 day period ran 161,892 units, some 23,000 ahead of the first 10 day period of the month.

Ward's said this should mean sales of nearly 470,000 domestic built cars this month against July's total of 452,600. Last August only 324,000 cars were sold.

Chevrolet is outselling Ford this month followed by Plymouth, Pontiac and Rambler. Ford was the July leader.

Pontiac Aquatics Head Attends YMCA Confab

John J. Moreau, aquatics director of the Pontiac YMCA, is attending the fourth National YMCA Aquatic Conference at George Williams College in Chicago.

The conference, which began Sunday and runs through Saturday, is being attended by 90 delegates from across the nation who are meeting to review the National YMCA Aquatic program and make any revisions necessary to keep it up to date.

★ ★ ★

The conference is being held in connection with the Pan-American Games and has drawn top swimming people from several nations to participate as advisers and observers.

South Dakota is governed by its original constitution adopted in 1889.

STEPPING FROM PAST TO FUTURE — A Spitfire, one of the types of aircraft used 20 years ago in the Battle of Britain, leads an aerial parade of British aircraft in recent flight over the English coast near Norfolk. Another Battle of Britain veteran, the Hurricane, is second from bottom. At top is a Javelin VII, with a Hunter IV next, both latest jet models. The British Air Council has decided to retire permanently the Spitfire and Hurricane planes after their annual fly-over Sept. 30 over London.

Learn These Basic Rules to Keep Peace With Pets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Scientists have sent mail by missile, but they can't get off the ground in their efforts to solve an age-old postal problem — how to get Fido to relax his grip on the seat of the postman's pants.

Postmen, along with salesmen, delivery boys, casual callers and other miscellaneous human victims are suffering at east 300 nips a day across the nation.

That is the number of dog bites that are reported. Authorities fear, there are many more that aren't.

More than 100,000 dog bites were reported in the United States last year. Opportunities for even more assaults are greater this year for the simple reason that there are more dogs — 25 million of them all told.

Most dogs are regarded as well-mannered and well-trained by Tex Fawcett, veteran dog trainer, leading expert on man's best friend and an official of the Purina Dog Care Center at St. Louis, Mo.

★ ★ ★

But the few trouble makers often spoil things for all the docile dogs. Fawcett offered United Press International a list of helpful tips for keeping peace with the pet world. Here is what he advised:

—Never force your attentions on a strange dog. You may not be afraid of him, but HE is likely to be afraid of you. Let him make the first effort to break the ice.

—Don't run, even if a barking dog is charging straight at you with teeth bared. Your flight will make him think you have bad intentions and should be bitten. Just stand still and talk to him in a reassuring voice, holding your hands well out of his reach, until he has calmed down. Then slowly walk away.

—Avoid sudden, jerky movements. If a dog seems friendly, slowly extend the back of a doubled-up fist — your left one, if you are right handed — and let the dog sniff it.

—Never lean over a strange dog. Stoop to his level. A standing person looks like a giant to a little dog.

—Don't back a dog into a corner. If he feels trapped, he may try to fight his way out. More dogs bite through fear and excitement than meanness.

—Don't shout. It will enrage a quick-tempered dog and intimidate a shy one. Talk to him in a soothing tone, using his name often.

—If you think you might see the dog again, get the owner to introduce you to the animal formally.

—If your business involves house calls, carry dog biscuits in your pocket. But never give a dog anything to eat without permission of its master — if he's around.

"Most important," Fawcett said, "is the dog owner's responsibility to teach his pet good manners. Deter him from excessive barking and growling. They almost always lead to biting.

"If you are a pet owner and even if your pet's duties include being a watchdog, you should take the time to introduce him to everyone who calls regularly at your house — particularly the postman."

Find Phosphorite on Ocean Floor Off West Coast

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Possibility of a new West Coast industry was suggested with the recent discovery of an undetermined amount of phosphorite deposits in the sea not far from here.

A half ton of the mineral was dredged from the ocean bottom during a preliminary expedition headed by scientists from the University of California.

Dr. Herbert Hawks, professor of mineral exploration at the university, suggested the phosphorite could be the basis for a fertilizer industry if it could be produced in competition with phosphate from Idaho and Florida. Phosphate is a major ingredient in commercial fertilizers.

Hawks explained the phosphorite deposits had been accumulating on the ocean floor for millions of years, some of it as much as six feet thick.

Beavers Not Eager to Work in Fair

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Beavers have a reputation for working — but not at the right time.

For years Wisconsin State Fair officials have had beavers on exhibit, hoping they would demonstrate their dam building techniques. But now they've been dismissed as just plain lazy.

★ ★ ★

This year the fair replaced them with otters, the comedians of the woods.

Has Lot on the Beam

MIAMI — Brightest lighthouse in the United States is located at Hillsboro Inlet, Florida. The total candlepower of its beam is said to be about 5.5 million.

Terry Zerbe saw an ad for a little sports car that offered this inducement: "There's no room in it for a mother-in-law!" . . . A lot of guys who drive like they owned the road don't even own the car. —Earl Wilson.

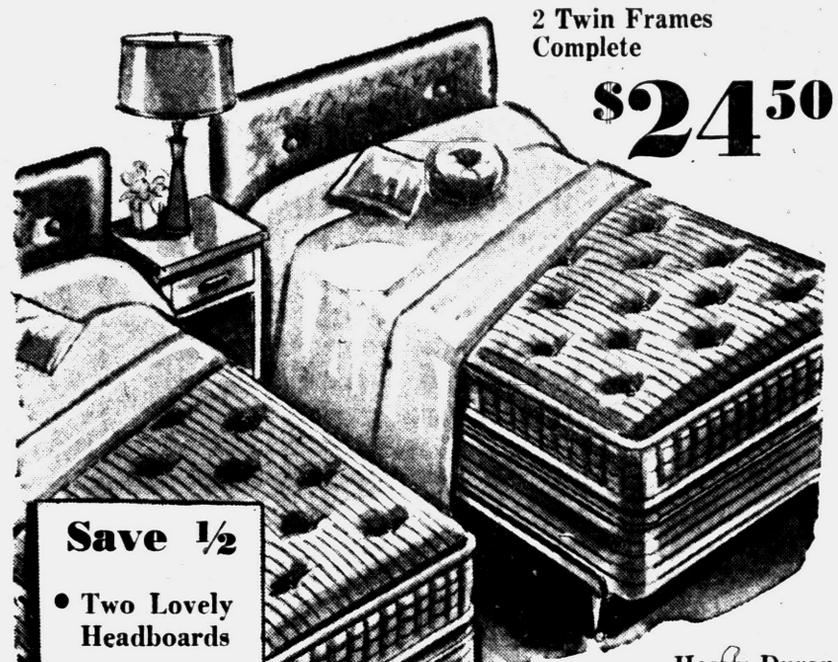

Bouncing Is Expensive

NEW YORK — Loss from worthless checks offered for payment in the U. S. in a single year runs as high as $300 million, according to banking estimates.

Still Without Clues in Murder of Coed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police today were without a concrete lead to the identity of the killer of attractive University of Southern California coed Linda Edna Martin.

★ ★ ★

The 21-year-old coed's former husband, John L. Taylor, 24, was completely eliminated yesterday as a possible suspect in the baffling case, police said.

Capt. Sidney Lambert said Los Angeles police received a "timetable" of Taylor's whereabouts at the time of the Sunday knifing.

Taylor was in Glenview or Evanston, Ill., during the "critieal hours," according to the Illinois report.

★ ★ ★

Miss Martin, of Rockville Center, N.Y., was found stabbed three times and bleeding to death in the stairway leading to her fiance's apartment.

Police said she apparently was stabbed shortly after she stepped nude from her bath.

California's New Law:

Must Wear Robes to Try Rogues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Starting next month, it will be against the law for a California judge to hear a suit in a suit.

Whether he likes it or not, he must try black rogues in black robes.

In fact, this costume will be required for all trials, because a new state law says: "Every judge of a court of record shall in open court during presentation of causes before him wear a judicial robe which he shall furnish at his own expense."

★ ★ ★

Some judges have been wearing robes on their own, but others think very little of such fancy getup.

Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson, for example, calls the law "the most stupid piece of legislation I have ever heard of."

"I am waiting with bated breath," he said, "to see what kind of uniform the legislators order for themselves."

"Another effort to augment the principles of conformity that have been evident during the past 25 years in this country," grumbled Superior Court Judge Joseph L. Call.

NO ROBE IN HEAVEN?

Judge Call said he will conform. But he pointed to the state constitution, which says judges must swear to support and defend the state and federal constitutions — "and no other oath, declaration or test shall be required."

Robe wearing, Call believes, is an unconstitutional test under this provision.

Superior Court Judge Arthur Crum, who has never owned a robe during his 28 years on the bench, commented: "I don't think you can make a judge out of a man simply by making him a clothes rack."

★ ★ ★

Superior Court Judge Frank G. Swain, put his complaint in poetry:

"Some judges do not wish to wear a robe in earthly courts.

"Of such apostasy, take care — it blackens their reports.

"The Judgment Day will weigh their worth by canon 67:

"Those who refuse a robe on earth will get no robe in heaven."

Herter Rivaling Ike's Popularity in West Germany

BONN (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was proving today to be nearly as popular as President Eisenhower in West Germany.

Herter did not accompany the President to see West German President Theodor Heuss but left the temporary White House later and drove directly to the chancellory.

As he passed through the city he received rousing cheers from the same crowds that had given Eisenhower an ovation shortly before.

At the residence in Bad Godesberg where they are staying, the crowds that chanted for Eisenhower to make an appearance also called for Herter.

Los Angeles to Double-Guard Soviet Leader

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police are taking elaborate steps to make sure nothing goes wrong during Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit here Sept. 19.

For one thing, Police Chief William Parker says he will have a 70 or 80-page pamphlet of instructions printed and distributed to officers guarding the Soviet leader.

The pamphlet, Parker said, will include maps and a minute-by-minute timetable of Khrushchev's itinerary.

Extra police will be on duty to keep Khrushchev out of harm.

State Now Ranks 13th in Army Guard Strength

LANSING (AP) — Michigan ranks 13th among the 52 states and territories in percentage of Army National Guard strength, state Guard headquarters announced today.

Michigan had 10,977 officers and men as of July 31, 256 above the authorized ceiling strength. Since then, the Guard has been authorized to build to a total of 11,628 officers and men.

The Michigan Air Guard ranked 12th with 1,712 officers and men, 94.4 per cent of authorized strength.

ACTOR'S SON TO MARRY — Alan Ladd Jr., son of the film actor, and Patricia Ann Beazley, 23, apply for a marriage license here in Santa Monica, Calif. this week. They met while attending the University of Southern California. They plan to marry Sunday. Ladd is an actors' agent.

Hollywood Headlines:

Movie Magnate, Now 77, Planning More Pictures

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Seven is a lucky number. Now I've got two sevens so I must be doubly lucky."

With obvious delight, Samuel Goldwyn made this quip on the occasion of his 77th birthday today. He is spending it as he has most of his life—working.

"I've been working since I was 11 years old," he said. "And I'm going to keep right on working. That's how I live."

★ ★ ★

The shiny dome, the high Polish-accented voice and the Goldwyn legend have been part of the movie world for almost a half century. The past year has seen the loss of most of the remaining pioneers of the films—Cecil B. De Mille, Jesse Lasky, Louis B. Mayer and Harry Cohn.

★ ★ ★

Goldwyn talked only briefly of their passing.

"I miss Cecil; he was a wonderful man. Jesse too. We started together in the movie business 48 years ago.

NEVER LOOKS BACK

"But I never look back. The only certain thing is change. The world is going through a great many changes and you have to adjust yourself to them."

He added that many good producers have risen in the second generation of film makers. But he is disturbed by two elements of the Hollywood scene:

1. Production abroad. "It saddens me to see producers running away from Hollywood to make films elsewhere. You talk about the Moscow exhibit showing the American way of life. Our movies have done that for 50 years. Hollywood has been our greatest ambassador.

2. Sex in films. "I always made pictures for the whole family. I never had a picture turned down because I'm my own censor. I don't have to undress my actresses to sell pictures. You can be just as successful making clean films as some of the racy pictures that are being made today."

★ ★ ★

Goldwyn plans to spend the next year opening "Porgy and Bess" in Japan, India and the capitals of Europe. He will also tour the Middle East "to explore the possibilities of my next production."

There seemed no doubt in his mind that he would be out selling the new film as he neared his 80th birthday.

"I am more alive than ever," he said with a familiar grin. "I'm very young in my mind."

Plant Costs Rising

NEW YORK (UPI)—The cost of running a plant is rising at a rapid clip. By the end of the year, it will probably cost 80 per cent more to run one than it did in 1947, trade sources reveal.

Salt Has Many Uses

There are about 14,000 different uses for salt, from seasoning food and freezing ice cream to melting ice, cleaning teeth and making medicines.

Bob Thomas Says:

Marc Connelly Tears Off His First Big Movie Role

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actors who fret about method and mood will be angry with playwright Marc Connelly. At 68, he's tearing off his firts pig movie role and finds it darned easy.

THOMAS

"Heavens, yes," he exclaims.

"A good actor is merely a good editor. He practices economy, learning that he can be more effective by doing just one-tenth of the motions he could use. He edits out the unnecessary things.

"It's the same in painting. The beauty of a line is not in how much it contains, but how little."

★ ★ ★

Connelly, the author of "Green Pastures" and many other hit plays, is working for Josh Logan in "Tall Story." He portrays a college professor, the same role he created on Broadway.

Connelly's acting career started early but had a long interruption.

"I started acting in my own plays at the age of 8 in my father's hotel in Pittsburgh," he said. "My father had been an actor and all the theatrical people stayed there."

★ ★ ★

His writing career took priority, first as a newsaperman, then as a dramatist. He did some acting in talkie shorts, performing in skits he had written for club shows.

"I was always filling in for actors in my plays who got sick," he said. "I directed most of the plays, so I knew what I was doing."

His first important return to the theater was in a revival of "Our Town," which he played in New York and London right after the war. He has since made many TV appearances.

★ ★ ★

Connelly is a roundish, bald, bespectacled, grandfatherly type—sort of an intellectual Guy Kibbee. He could probably have a solid career as an actor in plays and films if he wanted it. He doesn't.

"I don't have the burning inner desire to act, as actors do," he said. "I have fun at it, but it isn't essential to my well-being."

Benzie County's Panty Burglar Is Father of 2

BEULAH (UPI)—Benzie County's "panty burglar" has been arrested.

State Police said Jerry Lyle Hawkins, 24, of rural Benzonia, a father of two, has admitted that he broke into 13 homes in the Beulah-Benzonia area during the last 18 months to steal women's lingerie and an occasional dress.

He also admitted stealing women's panties from 10 clotheslines in the area, officers said.

State Police said Hawkins said he cut up some of the clothing and had hidden other panties in wooded areas and in his car.

Hawkins was freed on $500 bond on burglary charges after waiving justice court examination and will be arraigned later in circuit court.

Officers said Hawkins ignored many valuables during the breakins, taking only lingerie.

125 Flee Flood in Wisconsin

Cloudburst Puts River, Streams on Rampage; Child Missing

VIROQUA, Wis. (AP)—A cloudburst Wednesday night sent the Kickapoo River and tributary streams swirling across the southwestern Wisconsin countryside. Some 125 residents of the community of Avalanche were evacuated before the town was flooded.

★ ★ ★

Barbara Larson, 2, was carried downstream on the swollen west branch of the Kickapoo when a floating log hit her father, Harland Larson, forcing the child from his grasp. The body still had not been recovered this morning.

Deputy Sheriff Milton Guell said at least three trailer homes were swept away in Avalanche.

★ ★ ★

Most of the residents were taken to a hospital in Viroqua for treatment of shock and exposure. No serious injuries were reported.

In Viroqua the rainfall measured 3.75 inches. La Crosse had 4.50 inches. Some flooding was reported on the La Crosse River.

Cross Official Skips 'Exploratory' Confab

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—Another attempt at ending the three-week-old Cross Co. strike was up in the air today after an official of the struck automation machinery firm declined to attend an "exploratory conference."

★ ★ ★

Federal and state mediators had asked Ralph E. Cross, company executive vice president, to attend a meeting scheduled for today. However, Cross said yesterday he had a previous commitment.

★ ★ ★

In letters to the mediators, Cross said:

"The present situation results from a controversy between two groups of shop employes. One wants no union, the other wants the United Auto Workers. The company is neutral."

Bhutan Moves to Seek Aid Against Red China

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — The small Himalayan state of Bhutan, sandwiched between India and Tibet, soon may start diplomatic relations with world powers such as the United States, Russia and Britain, it was reported yesterday.

Sadar D. K. Sen, legal and political adviser to Bhutan, said Bhutan was anxious to emphasize its sovereign character in light of reports of Communist Chinese troops movements along the border. While India has agreed to defend Bhutan against any aggressor, Bhutan feels it may need help from other sources also, Sen said.

In Scandinavian Suburbia

Victor Borge Entertains in a Castle

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

COPENHAGEN — Victor Borge owns a large, but not gaudy, castle here in Scandinavian suburbia. At his invitation we dropped in last night for dinner and were disappointed to discover the place had no ghosts.

Nearby Elsinore Castle is "a shade better" in that line, Borge admitted. It has a ghost. Borge just has guests.

That was for certain, Frydenlund Castle, 15 minutes out of midtown Copenhagen, was jumping with writers, lawyers, agents and friends when we pulled through its great fresh-painted ivory-colored portal at six p.m.

Borge's sweet-sixteenish daughter greeted us and led the way to an enormous two-fireplace, circular parlor where Sanna Borge, Victor's perky Kentucky-born wife, took over. She said her husband was finishing filming a television spectacular for next October for NBC but would be home any minute. Meantime how about a stroll around the grounds?

"We were looking for a little fishing cottage," Sanna said, stepping daintily along a pathway arched with 200-year-old linden trees, "when Frydenlund came up for sale. Borge was out of town but he called me and said grab it." She smiled. "Some cottage! But it's really not very large—for a castle."

★ ★ ★

Borge describes it this way: "Lauritz Melchior but not as big as the Waldorf Astoria."

We continued walking through the castle grounds which include 150 acres of apple and cherry trees. The 16,000 apple trees pay for part of the upkeep of the castle and the cherry trees are a new business project for the pianist-comedian: He raises them to help supply the delightful wherewithal for the famous Danish drink, cherry heering.

"It's a new project," grinned Sanna, "to go along with the rock cornish hens he raises in Connecticut and all the other projects. I may wind up picking cherries you know. But it'll be considerably better than the days when Borge decided to raise geese. "Gee, I had to use pliers to get those feathers out."

Sanna took us to the 18th century servants' quarters — now being converted to a guest house —and to the stables, where the Borges and their five children keep four riding horses. The biggest is a brown mare named Silly Jane who kicked enthusiastically at the stall as Sanna arrived. "Settle down, Jane," warned Sanna, "or we shall have Victor play for you."

VICTOR BORGE

Meantime back at the castle Borge returned home—weary after 12 hours shooting but refusing to admit it. For the next seven hours he entertained. Not at the piano, but with puns and that backward sense of humor for which he is famous in public.

But he also was philosophical. He is a rarity among comedians, a man who needs no "material" to be amusing among friends, yet a man who thinks deeply and lets you know what he's thinking.

For instance, for hours in New York he's talked to me about his theory that every man is made up of thousands of machines which govern his capacities and his actions in life—a musical registry machine, an ambition machine, a good timing machine, a health machine and so on. Some of these machines work better in one man than another.

"Take the timing machine," he said. "For me it has always worked out well. The newspaper cameraman who is on the corner exactly when the woman gets run down—his timing machine works well. But some people are never at the right place at the right time. These are the people who were born not to catch the boat."

We asked who controls these machines — is it God? Borge smiled, as if his "second-sense machine" was spinning competently.

"I think God is too busy, don't you? It is up to each of us to keep our equipment in good shape."

Coming from a man who owns a castle in Denmark, a farm in Connecticut and the goodwill of millions of fans, this seems like good personal engineering advice.

Will Ike Veto Housing Bill?

President Has Dropped Hints; Could Mean an Extra Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans speculated today about a special session of Congress if President Eisenhower vetoes the compromise housing bill coming up for debate in the House.

The President has dropped a few hints along these lines, but said nothing definite before he left for Europe Wednesday.

Eisenhower vetoed a much larger $1,375,000,000 housing bill passed by Congress last month. An attempt to override the veto failed. Then the Senate passed a pared-down $1,050,000,000 compromise and sent it to the House.

★ ★ ★

In his special message to Congress two days ago, the President pleaded for an increase in the Federal Housing Administration's loan insurance authority. He said it should not be "contingent upon the possibility of approval by the President, after the Congress has adjourned, of legislation which contains features that the administration finds seriously objectionable."

The FHA loan authority the President wants is included in the housing bill. Eisenhower was saying pretty plainly that he doesn't like some features of the compromise housing bill and doesn't want the FHA matter tied to it in case he vetoes the housing bill.

But as the new compromise bill came to the floor, Democratic leaders were warning it was this or nothing.

Poncho of 'Cisco Kid' in Pittsburgh Hospital

PITTSBURGH Pa. (AP)—Actor Leo Carrillo was listed in good condition at Sewickley Valley Hospital today after being removed from a plane here.

Carrillo was en route from Moosic, Pa., to Los Angeles when he stopped off here to change flights. Becoming ill, he was taken to the hospital and given a transfusion.

He plays Poncho in "The Cisco Kid" TV show.

Celebrates 64th Birthday

Long Asks Campaign Help

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gov. Earl K. Long celebrated his 64th birthday Wednesday with the hope presents would include "a little campaign money."

The volatile governor barreled into New Orleans claiming he would win his bid for an unprecedented fourth term "in the first primary."

He denied earlier that he was in the state's largest city for a meeting with a U. S. internal revenue serving official to discuss his income tax problems. Long's returns have been under investigation for several years.

"I'm here to see a few friends and maybe raise a little campaign money," he snorted. "I may even go to Bourbon Street."

The governor said he will resign as the state's chief executive by Oct. 15 but will put off filing for re-election until the last minute.

Louisiana law prohibits a governor from succeeding himself. Long believes if he resigns before his term is complete he will be eligible for re-election.

"John Paul Jones" Sheds New Light on American Naval Hero

He was a handsome man and a vain one, who would have his uniforms made to order, with flashy epaulets to impress the ladies.

He spoke impeccable French, but could curse in English with the best of them.

He was at home on the sea, and his courage in the face of the enemy was legendary, yet he was capable of writing the most tender love letters, and his treatment of his men was, by the standards of his times, extremely humane.

This is just part of the fascinating picture of John Paul Jones, America's first naval hero and founder of Annapolis, which emerges from Samuel Bronston's "John Paul Jones," filmed in eye-filled Technirama and Technicolor and due Friday at the Blue Sky Theatre.

Robert Stack stars in the title role of the Warner Bros. release, directed by John Farrow. Stack, as one of Hollywood's most popular young actors, contributes to the recreation of the man as he really was—intelligent, contemplative, a dandy in appearance but with an unsuspected depth of heart; loved by those who knew him well, but a lonely man who found his fulfillment in action at sea.

A whole gallery of historical personalities come to life in this multi-million dollar production: Charles Coburn plays the aging Benjamin Franklin, Macdonald Carey portrays the fiery Patrick Henry, Marisa Pavan and Erin O'Brien have the roles of the beautiful women in Jones' life, Jean Pierre Aumont plays King Louis XVI, and Bette Davis makes a special guest star appearance of Catherine the Great of Imperial Russia.

The story goes that when Jones died, he was a man broken in spirit and without a cent to his name. The first may be true, because Jones for years was unable to get the command of an American ship which he wanted so much. But penniless he was not; there were some $35,000 in his account when he died.

Some say Jones died of a broken heart. But history played one of its ironic tricks on him. Just a few weeks after his death, the letter arrived from Washington informing him of his commission to take to sea to fight the pirates off Algiers. His country had recognized him at last.

"John Paul Jones" was written for the screen by director John Farrow and Jesse Lasky, Jr. Max Steiner wrote the stirring musical score, which has been recorded by Warner Bros. Records.

Robert Stack plays title role in Samuel Bronston's "John Paul Jones," Warner Bros. Technicolor presentation opening Friday at the BLUE SKY Theatre.

Traverse City Hunts Ragweed; Offers Prizes

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Traverse City children have collected an estimated 20 tons of ragweed so far during a month-long campaign to "keep the breezes free of sneezes."

More than $200 in prize money will be awarded to children under 18 who collect the most ragweed during the contest that ends Aug. 31.

In addition, free theater tickets are being given to children for the first, second and third 20 pounds they gather while free rides on amusement park concessions are given for the fourth 20 pounds they turn in.

This marks the 15th year an organized campaign has been held to rid the area of the noxious weeds.

New Northwood School to Open; Oil Industry Lauds Centennial

ALMA (UPI) — This central Michigan city has two major events on its calendar for today.

Northwood College, which starts its first year of operation next month, will stage a preview for the press.

The mid-Michigan oil centennial dinner sponsored by the Alma Chamber of Commerce will honor the founders and present leaders of the state's oil industry.

★ ★ ★

The new college will offer courses in such technical subjects as bookkeeping, office and sales management, shorthand, accounting, and the use of business and office machines of advanced types.

Officials say it will be the only private accredited college in the nation providing airline hostess training.

The school's three dormitories, two classroom buildings and administration building are located in a two-block area in downtown Alma.

★ ★ ★

President Arthur Turner, former admissions director at Alma College said the school will provide room and board for students just like larger institutions.

About 200 students are expected this fall. Turner said the college will expand into other buildings as money becomes available.

Scotland Yard Reveals Details

England Prepares for Ike

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard has announced a few details of the massive security arrangements worked out with the U. S. Secret Service for the President's visit this week.

Scotland Yard's Inspector Reginald Beardwell has retrained the 16-man motorcycle platoon that escorted former British visitors Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai A. Bulganin in 1956.

"The only other occasion Inspector Beardwell's special cycle group was used was during the visit of President Tito of Yugoslavia," a Scotland Yard spokesman said.

The spokesman said all security arrangements for the presidential visit were dovetailed to Secret Service requirements.

"The Yard and the Secret Service have worked very, very closely on this," the spokesman said.

Every step of Eisenhower's British travel has been checked. Scotland Yard will handle presidential security in London, at Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's official country residence and at Balmoral Castle where Queen Elizabeth entertains Eisenhower.

"The Yard's authority does not extend to other areas in Britain which the President will visit. Local police and the Secret Service have taken care of that," the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Scotland Yard's special branch, Britain's version of the Secret Service and the FBI, has posted men at airports and seaports to spot the arrival of any persons known to be dangerous to the American chief of state. Special provision has been made to house Secret Service men in a side building within the walls of Balmoral Castle.

N-Test Ban Talks Recess to Oct. 12

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States, Britian and Russia Wednesday recessed the nuclear weapons test ban conference until Oct. 12.

The recess will give President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev a chance to get the negotiations moving again.

The two are expected to use the occasion of their talks in Washington next month to seek agreement on vital issues blocking East-West accord on a treaty to prohibit nuclear weapons tests.

Tax Bill Hits at Boundaries

Measure in Senate to Curb Levies on Sales Crossing State Lines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has passed and returned to the Senate legislation temporarily limiting states' powers to tax the income of businesses which cross state lines to seek sales.

★ ★ ★

The measure, which would apply to the 1959 and 1960 tax years, would exempt firms from state or local income taxes if they merely solicited orders in a state.

A state or its local governments could impose an income tax only if a company or its agents maintained an office, salable inventory, warehouse or other place of business in the state.

The Senate passed a differing version of the bill last week. In contrast to heated Senate debate, the House stamped approval on the measure Tuesday with little discussion.

The Senate bill would permanently exempt from state taxes firms that send only salesmen into a state.

The measures stem from recent Supreme Court rulings permitting a state to tax income from the sale of goods within its borders, even though the goods were shipped from a company in another state.

Grand Rapids Against State

Suit Due on Street Rule

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A suit designed to prevent the State Highway Department from banning parking and left turns on highway U.S. 31 in Grand Rapids will be tried in superior court starting Sept. 22, court officials report.

Dr. Raymond A. Sherwin, a north side dentist, and 20 other businessmen filed the suit last spring after the highway department placed a parking and left turn ban on the highway within the city.

Former Superior Judge Thaddeus B. Taylor issued a temporary injunction in April prohibiting Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs from enforcing the state bans and they were immediately lifted and replaced by modified city parking and left turn regulations.

The suit contends the state parking and left turn restrictions were arbitrary, were imposed without a public hearing and caused the plaintiffs loss of business.

★ ★ ★

The suit to make the injunction permanent will be heard by Circuit Judge Fred N. Searl. Superior Judge Claude Vanderploeg has disqualified himself because he was city attorney at the time the suit was started.

The battle for hurdles supremacy in American track has turned into a hectic duel between Hayes Jones and Lee Calhoun.

The two speedsters were running nip and tuck in the first 10 times they faced each other in competition.

From indoor to outdoor competition Jones and Calhoun each alternated winning the high hurdles.

"He has beaten me five times and I have beaten him five times," said Jones recently as he talked about his hopes for the U.S. Olympics.

★ ★ ★

If the alternate system of winning was to continue, Hayes pointed out, then it would be Calhoun's turn to win the Pan-Am games, noting the fact that he beat Calhoun in the Russian meet in Philadelphia.

But last weekend however, Hayes took the lead in the battle with Calhoun by scoring a victory in Buffalo. This gives him six wins to Calhoun's five

"I don't care how many times he beats me, just so I can win in the Olympic trials," Hayes said. "Of course it's getting so that we are making it a personal effort just to beat each other," he added.

★ ★ ★

When the Olympic trials are completed, Oakland County may have two representatives in the world wide games.

Of course we are hoping that Hayes makes the grade, but another blossoming track star who could earn his way to Rome is Farmington's Warren Cawley.

Hayes believes Cawley is a good bet in the long distance hurdles. So, Oakland County, especially Pontiac and Farmington citizens, will have a lot to cheer about in the Olympic trials next spring, probably to be held in California.

The Davis Cup tennis matches will be televised in the United States for the first time in four years, Saturday and Sunday. The singles finals are set for approximately 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

University of Michigan's football schedules from 1959 through 1964 lists 54 games of which only 17 are on the road. There are seven home games in the 1961 and 1963 seasons and six in each of the other seasons at Ann Arbor.

Maverick Favored in Final Heat of Harmsworth

AP Wirephoto

BIG CHALLENGE — Maverick, the U. S. hydroplane, gets ready to take lead on the first turn in the Harmsworth trophy race against Canadian challenger Miss Supertest III. The U. S. boat, driven by Bill Stead, never lost the lead in winning the second heat yesterday. The two boats are even and the final heat to decide winner takes place today on the Detroit River.

Ex-Race Pro Gar Wood Scoffs at Hydroplanes

DETROIT (AP) — The man who has won more Harmsworth trophy races than anybody else scoffed as the hydroplanes Maverick of the U.S.A. and Miss Supertest III of Canada readied for their duel on the Detroit River.

"They ought to call it an airboat race now, not a speedboat race," said 78-year-old Gar Wood. "Those things don't run on water, they run on air."

He deplored post-war changes in Harmsworth rules that permit hydroplanes to compete.

At full throttle unlimited class hydroplanes touch the water at only three points. The points are the tips of two pontoon-like sponsons that end about where the cockpit begins and the tip of the tail. Often daylight is visible below them.

Wood recalled that some of his winning Miss Americas weighed up to 10 tons and touched on 10 to 15 square feet of water at full throttle.

The Detroit River was choppy in a 15-mile southwesterly wind, but there were no whitecaps visible when it was decided to delay yesterday's race 15 minutes for quieter water.

"Any Miss America would run over those ripples and never feel them," Wood said as he waited in the $50,000 judges stand he built beside the river for speeding events.

"Why, I raced Kaye Don in four-foot seas on Lake St. Clair in 1932 and averaged nearly 80 miles an hour. Take one of those things (hydroplanes) and it would either dive or fly in seas a quarter that high."

Incidentally hydroplanes have kept the trophy here since Wood last defended with Miss America X in 1933. But he pointed out, "I averaged 86.939 miles an hour and these things averaged less than 10 miles an hour more yesterday."

Miss America X was powered by four Packard engines of 2,000 horsepower each and was a 39-footer. Maverick and Miss Supertest are 30-footers and have one 2,500 horsepower engine each.

"I built my Miss Americas to go anywhere anytime. Whatever water a fellow wanted to challenge in, I was ready for him."

What challenger over his eight successful defenses gave him the most concern?

"Betty Carstairs' Estell V," was the prompt reply. "I don't say it would have won, but it was mighty fast. It's a pity it knocked itself out."

U.S. Speedboat Wins Handily to Even Score

Canadian Challenger Miss Supertest Falls Behind at Start

DETROIT (AP) — The experts favored Maverick to turn back Canada's challenge today in the third and deciding race for the Harmsworth Trophy, symbol of international speedboat supremacy.

But nobody quoted any odds because of the unpredictability of 2,000-plus horsepower hydroplanes. Loosening of a minor screw can knock out a $25,000 power plant.

Canada's challenging Miss Supertest III and Maverick tangle in the final 45-mile race on the Detroit River today (5 p.m.). They are even at one each after two races.

Maverick outclassed Miss Supertest all the way yesterday in the second duel between the mighty powerboats. Maverick has won 27 of the 30 three-mile laps covered thus far.

★ ★ ★

A broken supercharger drive shaft knocked Maverick out of an opening victory Tuesday after driver Bill Stead, a Nevada cattle rancher, had kept her out front through 12 of 15 laps. Supertest then coasted from what appeared certain defeat to victory.

Stead had a 1,000-yard lead at the end of a new Harmsworth Trophy race record of 102.988 m.p.h. yesterday. The old record of 101.181 m.p.h. was set in 1950 by Slo-Mo-Shun IV.

Miss Supertest fell below 100 m.p.h. on only two laps, the first and fourth, and ended up with a record-topping average of 101.746 herself.

Maverick's best lap speed was 104.875 on the 10th, a shade below the new lap record of 105.675 m.p.h. which she set Tuesday. Miss Supertest hit 104.600 m.p.h. on the 13th, her best speed.

Ontario chicken farmer, Bob Hayward, Miss Supertest's driver, confided to newsmen afterward he had been getting very close to maximum power from Miss Supertest's Rolls-Royce-Griffon engine and didn't think he could have got more to catch Maverick after the U.S. defender grabbed the lead on the first turn of the first lap.

Stead, on the other hand, expressed doubt he ever pushed Maverick's Allison aircraft engine to more than 90 per cent of its capabilities, but said he ran as fast as he could go with safety on a choppy river that forced a 15-minute delay at the start.

For a time there was some talk of a postponement, and officials looked with apprehension to today's forecast of rainy, windy weather. Small craft warnings were up overnight.

★ ★ ★

Apparently determined to run in front if he could and let Maverick bounce through his wake, Hayward floored Miss Supertest's throttle with the opening gun.

Maverick shot across the starting line a boat-length or less in front. Down the straightway, Miss Supertest edged to the front, but Hayward said he hit rough water on the first turn and had to throttle back sharply to retain control.

Zooming on the inside, Stead turned Maverick inside the bouncing Canadian challenger and shot ahead into the backstretch. He stayed there the rest of the way with speeds hitting as high as 165 m.p.h. on the straightaways.

Tigers Helped to Win by Own Error

Bengals Score Verdict Over Senators, 3-2

Bunning Needs Help in Winning 13th Game of Season

DETROIT (UPI)—Harvey Kuenn committed an error and manager Jimmie Dykes thinks it helped rather than hindered the Detroit Tigers.

The misplay came on Julio Becquer's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning yesterday, but the Tigers still managed a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Becquer's hard single to right chased home two runs and sent Bob Allison to third. When Kuenn failed to handle the hit cleanly, Becquer reached second.

"That might have been a big play for us," Dykes said. "It left first base open so we could walk pinch-hitter Roy Sievers."

★ ★ ★

Dykes said he would have pitched to Sievers if Becquer had remained at first after the single.

Reno Bertoia, another pinch-hitter, fouled out after the intentional pass to Sievers to leave the bases loaded and the Tigers in command by one run.

Jim Bunning was working on a one-hitter until the eighth inning when he wilted in temperatures of more than 90 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Ken Aspromonte, whose second inning single was the lone safety off Bunnng through the first seven, walked to open the top of the eighth.

Bunning then struck out pinch-hitter Hal Naragon — his 11th strikeout of the game.

Pete Burnside relieved Bunning and threw four wide pitches to Sievers before retiring Bertoia.

Dave Sisler took over on the mound in the ninth and got in a mild jam with two out when Naragon beat out an infield hit and Lemon walked. When the count reached three balls and no strikes on Green, Tom Morgan was summoned from the bullpen and he got green on a forceout to preserve Bunning's 13th win against 10 losses.

Kemmerer suffered his 14th setback against seven triumphs.

The Tigers are idle today and move to Kansas City tomorrow night to open a three-game series. Dykes said Frank Lary, Paul Foytack and Don Mossi will oppose the athletics in that order.

DAVIS CUP FOES — Alex Olmedo and Barry Mackay of the U. S. Davis Cup tennis team will face Australia's Rod Laver and Neale Fraser in the opening round at Forest Hills, N. Y. Friday. Olmedo will meet Fraser and MacKay will face Laver in the singles matches. The draw was made yesterday in New York. Fraser is considered Australia's number one player.

Sizzling Bucs Enter Flag Chase

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's persistent Pirates, still fourth, seven games behind with 26 to play, suddenly have cut themselves in on that National League pennant scrap as the hottest club in the race.

★ ★ ★

They've won 12 of their last 15, running up an 8-3 record against the three clubs they have to beat —San Francisco, Los Angeles and Milwaukee—by jolting the first-place Giants 5-4 in 10 innings last night.

★ ★ ★

Manager Danny Murtaugh, fighting to be heard over his shouting, chortling Bucs, called it "a helluva game to win." And if the black-browed Irishman wasn't exactly elegant, who can say it better?

Shut out on two hits for eighth innings by right-hander Jack Sanford, the Pirates pounded across four runs for a tie in the ninth, then beat reliever Stu Miller in the 10th on singles by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski.

That trimmed the Giants' lead over idle Los Angeles to three games. St. Louis held Milwaukee in third place, four games back, by beating the Braves 5-2.

Chicago wrested fifth place from Cincinnati, beating the Reds 9-5 in the only other NL game scheduled.

The Pirates got rid of Sanford, who had a perfect game until the sixth, with singles by Skinner and Dick Groat and a double by Bob Clemente in the ninth. Rocky Nelson then was safe on an error after Miller (7-7) relieved and the Bucs got their tie on a sacrifice fly by Smoky Burgess, a single by Don Hoak and Dick Stuart's double.

Ron Kline (9-13), the loser in two of the Bucs' three defeats during their surge and beaten by the Giants before he retired a man Tuesday night, put it away with a one-hit, shutout relief job in the 10th.

Jackie Brandt drove in three runs with two singles against starter Bennie Daniels for the Giants, who lost the series 1-2.

The Pirates, winning 17 of their 19 extra-inning games, also have taken three of four games from both Los Angeles and Milwaukee in the spurt. The Giants (7-7) and Dodgers (8-8) have played .500 ball during the Bucs' 12-2 span. Milwaukee is 8-9.

St. Louis junked its loss string at seven while barring the Braves from second place. Larry Jackson (11-12) did it, winning his third in a row from Milwaukee with a seven-hitter and seven strikeouts. He gave up a first inning run, but then blanked the Braves until the ninth.

Mrs. Wright Metro Winner

Heat and Thunderstorm Fail to Stop Victory at Bald Mountain

Neither intense heat nor severe thundershowers could keep Mrs. W. D. Wright from winning her first Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament Wednesday at Bald Mountain Golf Club.

Playing on her home course, Mrs. Wright toured the rolling Bald Mountain layout in 81 blows for a two-stroke victory in the weekly WMGA tourney. Her scorecard read 42-39.

Mrs. Bruce Hilkene finished 2nd in the field of 67 starters with 41-42—83. Play was held up for several minutes by a hard thunderstorm and lightning struck the club's flag pole. Thirteen players failed to complete their rounds because of the extreme heat.

Championship flight scores:

Mrs. W. D. Wright	42-39—81
Mrs. Bruce Hilkene	41-42—83
Mrs. Vaughan Nesbit	46-41—87
Mrs. W. H. Palco	46-42—88
Mrs. E. R. Boyer	45-44—89
Mrs. James Miller	48-42—90

Pageantry Touches Off Pan-American Contests

CHICAGO (AP)—The largest International sports spectacle in United States' history starts today as the third Pan American games are touched off with breath-taking pageantry in mammoth Soldier Field.

The opening day ceremonies, beginning at 1:30 p.m. bring about an official start of the games which, as a sort of junior Olympic games, follow up similar shows at Buenos Aires in 1951 and at Mexico City in 1955.

This is a widespread athletic carnival in which the United States is expected to make a runaway of most major events in the 20-sport competition.

A continuing heat wave, with 90 degree temperatures, was predicted for the opening ceremonies in which 2,152 athletes from 24 nations will parade before 70,000 in Soldier Field on Chicago's Lake Michigan front.

★ ★ ★

Actual competition begins Friday in track and field, baseball, basketball, fencing, soccer football, tennis, volleyball, weight-lifting, and yachting.

The remainder of the sports will be contested before the Sept. 7 closing.

The opening highlights include a 24-gun salute to the visiting athletes; a welcoming speech in behalf of the President of the United States by Dr. Milton Eisenhower; Mayor Daley's proclamation opening the games; the arrival of the Pan-American torch and release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship among Pan-American nations.

★ ★ ★

The 2½ hour program at Soldier Field will end with a fireworks demonstration during which flags of the 24 competing countries will be parachuted onto the field.

The invocation was to be delivered by the Catholic archbishop of Chicago, Albert Gregory Meyer.

The American track squad is expected to have things its own way on the newly-installed red running track in Soldier Field. However, in distance events, Latin American stars may run away with gold medals.

The Friday track and field competition includes hammer throw and high jump finals; 400 meter hurdles semifinals; 100 meter dash trials; 800 meter trials; and 10,000 meter finals. In women's competition, finals will be held in the javelin throw, with trials through semifinals in the 60 meter run.

Miss Gunderson Is Upset Victim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Philadelphia veterans who weren't supposed to do any such thing have shouldered their way into the quarter-finals of the U. S. Women's Amateur golf championship.

While Mrs. Mark Porter and Mrs. Paul Klinefelter were surprise arrivals in the round of eight today while JoAnne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., was absent just as unexpectedly.

Mrs. Klinefelter, 31-year-old housewife, shut the door on 20-year-old Miss Gunderson yesterday, 1 up.

Defending champion Anne Quast, 21, of Marysville, Wash. headed the younger set, which advanced with the oldtimers on the Congressional Country Club's 6,457-yard, par 37-37—74 course.

Green Trails by 1 in Western Tourney

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Par-busting Howell Fraser, the favorite from Panama City, Fla., paced a giant teenage field into today's final qualifying round of the Western Junior Golf Championships.

Fraser, the Florida Open champion, shot a 35-34—69 Tuesday to lead a field of 182 entries.

Only three other teenagers—all Midwest entries — bettered par Tuesday. Ed Moehling Jr. of Park Ridge, Ill., and Peter Green of Franklin, Mich. scored 70. Charles Newton of Ann Arbor, Mich. had 71.

Qualifiers Will Close Today at Indianwood CC

Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds will be completde today for Indianwood Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament.

Competition is scheduled in five flights and upwards of 80 two-man teams are expected to enter match play, which runs tomorrow through Sunday.

Several strong teams are on the entry list, headed by Indianwood's Ferd Henkel and Dick Whiting of Red Run and Wally Smith of Pontiac and Red Run's George Wilson.

Last year's tourney ended in a co-championship for Jack Zinn-Paul Anderson and Bud Stevens-Don Mead when darkness prevented completion of the title match with the two teams all even.

Tigers Sign 2 More for Farm Teams

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers today announced the signing of an Oshawa, Ont., boy and a Detroit area youth to 1960 minor league contracts.

John Ryan, a 19-year-old third basemen, was the leading hitter for three straight years in a junior league at Toronto, Ont. He will join Decatur of the Class D Midwest League next spring.

Leo Marentette, a husky 210-pound catcher who doubles as pitcher, will be assigned to the Tigers' Montgomery farm club. Marentette of Garden City, Mich., was an outstanding athlete at Wayne High School.

Doctoring Your Golf

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Sloppy swing.
DIAGNOSIS: Lunging from the top.
By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

TREATMENT: One of the hardest lessons to learn in golf is that the top of the backswing isn't the place to begin applying full power. Maybe it's because it just seems logical that once the top of the backswing is reached, the time has come to throw everything into the downswing.

As I've pointed out before, the overall action beginning at the top of the backswing should be slow and smooth, building up to full power just as the clubhead reaches the ball on the downswing.

The best way to achieve this is to think the swing through before you start it.

Picture the action in your mind — smooth and relatively slow backswing, turning the body without swaying, slow and smooth start of the downswing, hitting through the ball with both hands, and finishing with the hands opposite the left ear and the body still on balance.

Then proceed to carry out the plan you've just thought through.

'Sick of Second-Guessing'

Drysdale Hurls Blast Against Own Dugout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, a yong pitcher whose torrid delivery is matched by his temper, has blown his top again—this time against his own dugout.

Some of the people in there, he says, are second-guessing him.

Before the Los Angeles Dodgers returned from Philadelphia yesterday, Drysdale was quoted as saying:

"I'm sick of second-guessing. We've got some guys on this club who really put the best second-guessers to shame. Everything on our club is the pitcher's fault . . . if they could win games by talking, we'd be in first place by 17 games by now."

★ ★ ★

After his arrival here, he elaborated: "I just got sick and tired of writers quoting people on our own ball club about what's wrong with Drysdale."

He said those "who have things to say about me on this club never tell me. Always it's somebody else who comes to me with the criticism . . ."

Drysdale refused to identify his tormentors, but he did say: "My objections were not directed at Manager Walt Alston or the players. I don't have to name anybody. They know who they are."

★ ★ ★

With Alston and the players eliminated, the coaches would be about the only ones left, outside of members of the club's administrative staff. The coaches are Charlie Dressen, Joe Becker, Pee-Wee Reese and Greg Mulleavy.

"It's not directed at all of them," Drysdale said. 'But if the shoe fits, let them wear it."

Drysdale, whose 15-9 record is the best on the club, has suffered three straight losses.

★ ★ ★

Said General Manager Buzzie Bavasi about the latest outburst: "I'm not annoyed at Drysdale for getting mad about losing some tough games lately . . . but the things he says which reflect on other members of the organization I'll have to discuss with him."

Detroiters Near Lead

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Two Detroit youths were among the leaders today midway in the 14th annual William Randolph Hearst National Junior Golf Tournament.

Larry Joseph carried a 75-78—153 into today's round. Bob McGillen had a 93-80—173.

John Raffaniello of New York was the leader with 74-75—149.

Aussie Captain Thinks They'll Regain Trophy

Hopman Sees 2 U.S. Singles Wins, but He's Confident of Victory

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Maybe he was looking for a little psychological edge, but canny Harry Hopman, Australia's Davis Cup captain, today put big Barry MacKay squarely on the spot.

MacKay and Alex Olmedo will play singles for the United States in its defense of the famed trophy tomorrow at the West Side Tennis Club. Olmedo takes on Neale Fraser in the first test at 1 p.m., EST, and MacKay goes against Rod Laver in the second match.

"I think we'll win the Cup, 3-2," said the sandy-haired Hopman. "Olmedo is the Wimbledon champion, and as such he must be given the edge in his two singles."

So Hopman blithely concedes two singles to the United States, which means that the Aussies must win the other two singles plus the doubles to take the Cup Down Under.

"Yes," he said, "I'm counting on Fraser and Laver to beat MacKay. I haven't announced my doubles combination officially, but of course it will be Fraser and Roy Emerson.

"I know Fraser and Laver have improved considerably since Wimbledon (last spring). I don't know how much the American boys have improved."

Then it's strictly up to MacKay, the towering Air Force youngster from Akron, Ohio. As far as Barry is concerned, though, Hopman could be in another world with the astronauts.

"I'm playing the best tennis of my life," he said with a shrug. "I intend to win two singles matches."

After the first two singles, the doubles will be played Saturday and the final two singles Sunday. Olmedo gets first crack in that one, too, meeting Laver. So it's conceivable that if the challenge round goes down to the wire MacKay will be sent out to win it.

Just Ask Mrs. Stengel

Who Will Manage Yanks?

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Want to know who's going to manage the New York Yankees next year?

Mrs. Edna Stengel can tell you —Casey Stengel's the name.

"I don't want him to quit," Mrs. Stengel told an interviewer yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"He'll be around baseball as long as he has the health to walk out there on the diamond. I want him to come back and show everyone he's as great a manager as he ever was. I know he's determined to win next year to prove he hasn't lost his touch.

★ ★ ★

"Casey's as great as he ever was. I can't go through life without breaking a dish and I don't expect Casey to go through baseball without having his pitfalls."

Colavito Blasts Another Homer

Indians 1 Game Out of Lead

By The Associated Press

Cleveland's Big Guy is up, Chicago's Big Guys are down—and the Indians have trimmed the White Sox' American League lead to one game. It's as simple as that.

With Rocky Colavito blasting home runs again, the Injuns have chopped 3½ games off Chicago's lead by winning eight in a row, their longest streak since 1956.

The White Sox have barely played .500 (5-4) ball in that span, hurting from the loss of injured Billy Pierce and the ineffective work of ailing Dick Donovan—a void that has piled too big a pitching load on Early Wynn, their right-handed ace at 39.

Colavito edged the Indians closer to the lead by socking a tie-breaking homer in the eighth inning last night for a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees. It was Rocky's third in two games and his 38th of the year—tops in the majors.

The White Sox were beaten 7-6 by Boston as Wynn, starting with only two days' rest, lost his second in a row and failed to go all the way for the third straight time.

Baltimore jumped into third place, 14 games behind, with a 6-3 victory at Kansas City. Detroit tied New York for fourth by beating Washington 3-2.

Cleveland (75-51), making up four games on Chicago (75-49) in the loss column with the streak, twice battled back for ties in the first two innings after solo homers by Yankees Mickey Mantle (25) and Elston Howard (17), then blew a 4-2 lead on Howard's two-out, two-run double in the eighth.

Colavito, who has homered for his only three hits in 17 at bats, then clobbered Ryne Duren (2-6) for the clincher. Duren, once the Yanks' ace in the hole, has been tagged for five home runs in his last seven innings.

Jim Perry (10-5), a top prospect for AL rookie honors, wrapped it up for the Indains after relieving starter Gary Bell in the eighth.

Wynn (16-9) had allowed only two hits and led 2-1 until the Red Sox put across four runs, two unearned, in the seventh. A pinch double by Gene Stephens started it. An error and walk chased Wynn and reliever Gerry Staley then gave up a two-run single by Gary Geiger, an RBI single by Pete Runnels and a sacrifice fly by Frank Malzone.

Two runs in the eighth, both unearned on an error and squeeze bunt by relief pitcher Nels Chittum, put it away against Turk Lown, giving the Red Sox just enough cushion to beat off Chicago's final bid on Jim Rivera's three-run double in the eighth. Bill Monbouquette (5-5) won it.

★ ★ ★

The Orioles beat lefty Bud Daley (15-9) for the first time in six decisions behind homers by Bob Nieman (15), Brooks Robinson (2) and Willie Tasby (11). Daley was handed an automatic $50 bean-ball fine by Umpire Frank Umont when he nicked Nieman. Jerry Walker (9-7) won it with relief from Milt Pappas.

Prep Gridder Fatally Injured in Practice

HONDO, Tex. (AP)—An injury in a practice scrimmage caused the death Wednesday night of a Hondo schoolboy football player—possibly the nation's first in the sport this year. Death was attributed to a brain concussion.

Pilar Cantu III, 16, a high school sophomore, suffered the injury in a head-on collision with an opposing player from MacArthur High School in San Antonio.

BRONX BOMBER — Rocky Colavito, Cleveland's Bronx-born slugger, took it out on his home area baseball team the New York Yankees by blasting his 38th homer of the season yesterday to help the Indians to a 5-4 victory. It came with score tied 4-4. He has hit nine against the Yanks.

1959 Tourney to Carry Four October Weeks

New Features Added for Annual Handicap Singles Event

Dates and sites for the 3rd annual Pontiac Press Handicap Singles Bowlerama have been selected with many features and additions for the 1959 tournament.

In the past two years, the Bowlerama was held during the spring months. The 1959 edition will be held during the four Sundays of October.

An increase in the top three guaranteed prizes in both the men's and women's divisions is the feature of the 1959 tourney without increasing the entry fees.

In fact, the women's entry fee has been lowered from $6 to $5 and the top prize upped from $250 to $300. Second and third place prizes have also jumped to $150 and $100 respectively.

Men's qualifying dates have been set for October 4, Oct. 11 and Oct. 18. The women will qualify Oct. 18th and the finals of both divisions will be held Oct. 25th at the new Huron Bowl.

Qualifying sites chosen this year are Westside Recreation, Rochester Lanes, Maple Lanes and Lakewood Lanes. Sylvan Lanes has been named the alternate qualifying site in event entries exceed expectations.

Bowlers this year have a deadline for entering as midnight Wednesday prior to the qualifying date they have selected. If a bowler choses to roll his qualifying round October 4th, his entry must be turned in by Wednesday, Sept. 30th.

Top three guaranteed prizes for men are $500, $250, and $125. Other prizes are assured for at least 10 per cent of entries with every qualifier certain of sharing the prize fund.

The first tournament in 1957 drew 500 entries and 60 winners shared a total of $1,635 in prize money. Last year a total of 76 bowlers took home a portion of the $2,340 in prize money.

A highlight feature of the 1959 tournament will be a sideline invitational tournament for the top actual scores. The leading actual scores from the qualifying rounds will be invited to participate in separate tourney to find the Men's City Bowlerama Actual champion.

The Bowlerama is open to any resident of Oakland County or any bowler who participates in a league that bowls in an Oakland County alley.

Entry blanks will be available in all Oakland County alleys within the next week. Tournament details and rules are denoted on the entry forms.

No Decision Yet About Surgery on Doby's Ankle

BALTIMORE (AP) — Doctors will begin treating Larry Doby's fractured left ankle within the next couple of days but there has been no decision about surgery.

★ ★ ★

The 34-year-old slugging outfielder, who played 12 years in the American League until recently sent to the minors, flew from the West Coast yesterday to see Dr. George Bennett.

★ ★ ★

The slightest movement of his leg caused him to grit his teeth in pain as he checked into Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Pilots 5 Winners

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Hugh Bell, veteran Winter Park, Fla., reinsman, has taken over the driving lead at Roosevelt Raceway thanks to five winners last night.

Probe Continues as Calm Settles Over Fight Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—Comparative calm settled over the strife-ridden heavyweight championship fight situation today. But it could be the lull before the storm.

The New York State Athletic Commission still is investigating the promotion of the June 26 Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson title bout, and now has minutes of the grand jury probe.

★ ★ ★

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said his investigation had revealed nothing that would warrant an indictment. But he suggested the commission might want to take action as a result of the exposure of an underworld taint in the promotion.

Another ripple disturbing the calm was the threat of Vincent Velella to sue Bill Rosensohn for 5 million dollars for defamation of character.

★ ★ ★

Velella is the new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., and it was his falling out with Rosensohn, then president of Enterprises and front man in the promotion of the fight, which precipitated the investigations.

Hogan's statement, released Tuesday, quoted Rosensohn as saying Velella was a front man for Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno in the promotion.

Salerno, an ex-convict described as an associate of racketeers, has been sought for two weeks by the district attorney's office.

★ ★ ★

"I am not a front man for anyone by myself," Velella declared heatedly after his arrival fom a trip to Sweden.

Meanwhile, Johansson cabled the athletic commission he will be in New York late next month to discuss details of a return match with Patterson.

★ ★ ★

The champion reiterated last night that he will fight nobody until he meets Patterson again.

"I have no plans for fighting anyone except Floyd," he said.

★ ★ ★

A big business group, headed by Welsh promoter Con Beynon, had hoped to tempt Johansson to meet either Henry Cooper, British Empire champion, or Joe Erskine. Some reports said the group was prepared to offer Ingemar $28,000.

Johansson signed a contract Tuesday in Sweden for the return with Patterson. The fight will be held early next year, with the exact date and site still undetermined.

In Los Angeles, Atty. General Stanley Mosk said it would be advisable to have the contracts on file four to six weeks before the fight if the rematch is held in California. This would allow ample time to investigate all those who signed contracts.

Is It Too Late for Milwaukee?

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Have the Milwaukee Braves had it?

The figures say maybe so. Manager Fred Haney says: "They don't mean a thing."

After last night's 5-2 loss to St. Louis, Milwaukee is four games back of league-leading San Francisco with 28 games left to play.

Since the first All-Star Game, Milwaukee has a 24-25 record. The Giants are 26-19, a .578 clip.

If the Giants continue their pace, the Braves would have to win 21 of 28—a .750 percentage—to shade Bill Rigney's club.

Win Is Important for Lions' Morale

Detroit Faces Winless Giants Saturday Night

New Yorkers Trying to Avoid Same Fate as '58 Lions

Pre-season football games don't determine much in the National Football League race but the Detroit Lions figure any kind of a victory is important even if just to help the morale of the team.

A few exhibition wins could help the confidence of the Lions who are trying to bounce back from a serious tumble in 1958 after winning the championship in 1957.

The question is whether the downfall was because of some bad breaks in injuries or due to a poor football team. The crumble started in pre-season play and continued for 7 straight games.

The 1959 Lions are undergoing only a mild changeover and are depending more on some key men returning to the form that helped so much in the 1957 championship campaign.

On Saturday night at Briggs Stadium, the Lions will face a team that is trying to avoid the kind of disaster that struck them last year. The New York Giants, champions of the Eastern Division, are guarding against such a letdown.

"We could have won three more games with a decent bounce of the football here and there," insists head coach George Wilson.

Luck plays an important part in the final standings, but there can be no question that the Detroit club had talent far inferior to that on at least two other clubs a season ago.

Wilson will depend primarily on a veteran crew Saturday night against the Giants, who lost an overtime struggle to the Baltimore Colts in last year's world title match. He also will get another thorough look at prize lineman Mike Rabold and fullback Nick Pietrosante, the two rookies regarded as shoo-ins for the squad.

The Lions' experimenting is all but finished. Wilson pretty well knows by now what four or five rookies are going to stick on the 35-man squad.

★ ★ ★

The Giants, boasting one of the strongest defensive units in the Eastern Division will be after their first victory of the pre-season campaign. They dropped a 24-21 decision to Philadelphia, then lost 28-3 to the world champion Colts.

DOUBLES FINALISTS — The losers (left) Tom Belton and Bruno Kearns congratulate the winners Ralph Alee and John Martusiewicz after the latter pair scored a three-set victory, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5 to win the Oakland County Open doubles championship yesterday on the Pontiac Central courts. Alee also won the singles championship last weekend. Trophy awards were presented to winners and runners-up by the Pontiac Recreation department.

Doubles Champions

Alee-Martusiewicz Win

Singles champion Ralph Alee and partner John Martusiewicz rallied from a 2-4 deficit in the third set to win the County Open doubles championship by defeating Tom Belton and Bruno Kearns, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

The long match in the humid weather started on an even keel as all four players won their respective services for a 2-2 count.

Belton made it 3-2 on his service. Martusiewicz tied it 3-3 and then came the deciding break of Kearns' service.

In the second set it was 4-1 and 5-2 advantage for Belton-Kearns before they won it 6-4.

In the final set what appeared to be a big factor was the break of Alee's service to give Belton-Kearns a 4-2 lead.

The clincher came when Martusiewicz-Alee broke Kearns' service to score the victory.

State Golfers Have Trouble

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — A Florida sprite, who came here direct from two weeks of golfing with Sam Snead, sported a two-stroke lead today as the 14th International Jaycee Junior golf tournament entered its 2nd round at Elizabeth Manor Country Club.

Fritz Leffingwell Jr., former Florida high school champion and current Florida Junior champ, used superb putting Wednesday to gain the advantage over a field of 100 tennage golfers.

The 17-year-old Leffingwell, who lives in Miami Shores, one-putted nine greens while compiling a one-under-par 69 on scores of 34-35.

Dennis Golbesky of Dearborn paced the Michigan foursome yesterday in the 1st round of championship medal play. Golbesky carded a 75, four strokes better than any of his teammates.

Dennis English of Lansing came next with 79. Birmingham's Gary Mouw, Michigan Jaycee champion, skidded to 82 and Willard Kari of Montague soared to 85.

Leffingwell, who weighs 118 pounds, posted his sub-par total despite erratic iron play. He hit only eight greens in regulation, but his putter paid off.

Trailing Leffingwell in 2nd place at 71 was Harry Toscano of New Castle, Pa.

Six players were bunched at 73. They included Steve Oppermann, Millbrae, Calif.; Charles Layton, Waycross, Ga.; Bruce Richards, Bellevue, Wash.; Maury Finkelstein, Savannah, Ga.; Barry Bruce, Beverly, Mass.; Lynn Yturri, Ontario, Ore.

Harold Bradley coached Duke basketball nine seasons.

Willie Shoemaker led jockeys in the 1958 season with 300 wins.

To Meet Sales Prediction

Auto Industry Must Step Up Selling

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry will have to step up its selling pace considerably during the remaining four months of the year if it expects to meet a now general prediction of 6,300,000 sales for 1959.

This figure, which is General Motors' most recent estimate of the market, includes about 5,700,000 American made cars and some 600,000 imports. It represents a jump of about 200,000 American cars and 100,000 imports from the estimate at the start of the 1959 model year 12 months ago.

Automotive News, an authoritative trade paper, estimates that the four millionth sale of the year was made yesterday and figures the four million included some 330,000 imports.

It took 59 selling days to market the first million cars this year. With the advent of spring the second million was sold in 48 days and the third million in 43 days. Then it took 52 selling days to reach the four million mark. Including today there are 102 selling days left in the year.

To reach the 6,300,000 figure the sales would have to run one million every 44 days. The average rate for each million so far has been 51 days.

★ ★ ★

A couple of factors can juggle the figures. The most important is public acceptance of the new models which come into the showrooms in early October. If there is a rush to buy, the sales figure probably can be met. But if you look and don't buy, the final sales figure is apt to be six million for the year at best.

In 1957 the industry recorded its four millionth sale on the identical date as this year. Yet the over-all figure for the year was a shade under six million, mainly because the 1958 models failed to excite the buyers in the region of their pocketbooks.

A new factor clouding the issue this fall is the new small car of Ford, Chevrolet and Chrysler. These cars, especially in the case of Chrysler, may run behind the established lines in early production. Thus some sales could be delayed.

The continuing steel strike remains still another factor. Only Chrysler among the Big Three, has said flatly that it can build cars into November without additional steel.

Ford produces half of its own steel and has said it can get volume 1960 model production under way although it hasn't said how long the volume would last. The four General Motors lines (all except Chevrolet) which held new car previews last week indicated they had enough steel for introduction models but not too much more.

★ ★ ★

Although almost all assembly lines are down at the moment for model changeovers, there are a lot of new cars to be sold. A government spokesman estimated the inventory runs between 960,000 and 992,000, a record.

The industry is counting on shaving this figure drastically by 1960 model introduction time.

Faubus Weary but Will Act

May Face Integration Trouble at Dollarway School District

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP—Although admittedly weary of school desegregation difficulties, Gov. Orval E. Faubus says he will not shrink from his responsibilities in any new school crisis.

Faubus said Wednesday he did not want to use his police powers again in dealing with integration strife.

★ ★ ★

"I have no desire to test my powers," he said. "But don't misunderstand me, I won't shrink responsibility that is mine to put down any disturbance."

★ ★ ★

Tension has risen over impending integration at the Dollarway School District, 42 miles southeast of here near Pine Bluff. Residents there have asked the governor to use all his powers to keep three Negroes from entering the 1,150-pupil all-white Dollarway School.

A federal judge has ordered the Negroes admitted when school opens Sept. 8. The school district appealed the ruling to the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis. A hearing is set for Monday.

Expect Eden, Churchill at Dinner for President

LONDON (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden and Sir Winston Churchill are expected to be among 30 or 40 guests at the dinner Prime Minister Macmillan will give Monday night for President Eisenhower.

Invitations have been extended to both former prime ministers who were wartime associates of the President.

Male Stand-In for Bride Hears 'Man and Wife'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two local men stood in front of Justice of the Peace Albert Trevino Wednesday and heard him say "I now pronounce you man and wife."

The proxy ceremony united Sgt. Horst E. Neumann, 30, of Fort Sam Houston here, and Margaretha Clara Bohm, 19, of Bavaria.

A woman had been scheduled to stand in for the bride, but when she failed to show up her place was taken by the court's civil clerk, Herman Lin.

Continue Bargaining on Labor Curb Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House-Senate conferees working on the labor control bill meet again for hard bargaining today after a new Senate compromise plan failed to bring final agreement.

This is the eighth day of Conference sessions on the controversial measure, passed in different form by the House and Senate.

It was obvious that substantial concessions made by four Democratic senate conferees were not enough to win over a majority of the House group.

The biggest differences developed Wednesday on the issue of secondary boycotts, one of the three most hotly disputed provisions.

Punch at Waiter Costs Mickey Cohen $4,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A waiter roughed up by Mickey Cohen in a Hollywood restaurant last Jan. 28 has been awarded $4,000 in damages.

Arthur M. Black, 30, asked for $50,000. He said the ex-gambler struck him without warning during a crowded reception.

The judge said there is "abundant testimony by Black that he was unable to procure work as a waiter because restaurant owners feared reprisal from Cohen."

U.S. Rushes Aid to Laos Army

Hope Tiny Kingdom's Own Forces Can Cope With Red Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—American aid in increased amount was earmarked for Laos today amid hopes that the tiny kingdom's own troops can cope with Communist attacks.

★ ★ ★

The State Department announced Wednesday the U.S. step-up in aid —following an urgent appeal from the Laotian capital of Vientiane— in order to boost the size of Laos' 25,000-man army and supply it with light equipment ranging from small arms to tents.

★ ★ ★

The United States already has been pouring in aid at the rate of about 30 million dollars this year, two-thirds of it to take care of the Laotian army payroll.

How much more money will be added and how big a Laotian army and local police force will be subsidized was not disclosed.

The Southeast Asian country had about 30,000 men in its army when the 1954 Geneva armistice ended the Indochina war. Its local village militia total 16,000.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-NY), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, urged that America send Marines to Laos and station an aircraft carrier in the area.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, however, said he knows of no plan for intervention by American troops or by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The SEATO defense organization which includes the United States and seven other nations with Southeast Asia interests was scheduled to meet here in unusual session late in September. But officials hoped the heavier U.S. aid, plus some U.N. support sought by Laos, would take care of the Red menace.

REPORTS SKETCHY

White pointed an accusing finger at neighboring North Viet Nam, Communist China and Moscow in denouncing the attacks by Communist rebels which have centered on northern provinces along the border between Laos and North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Reports on just what is happening in Laos' mountains and jungles are still sketchy here. Estimates on the numbers of Reds who are inside the kingdom's borders now range from 800 to 3,000. Communist infiltrators are said to have spread widely in the past few days, but only minor skirmishes have been reported.

Washington has no official word of Red Chinese troops entering the fray.

Iron Curtain Won't Rise for This Performance

NEW GLARUS, Wis. (AP) — The Wilhelm Tell Players, who stage an annual pageant here, would like to place flowers on the grave of Friedrich von Schiller, author of a drama about Switzerland's fight for freedom.

★ ★ ★

But there's one big complication: Schiller is buried in Weimer, about 100 miles inside the Communist zone of East Germany.

Business and Finance

Grain Futures Barely Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices remained almost stationary today with dealings at a very low volume in early transactions on the Board of Trade.

★ ★ ★

Nearly all contracts were within minimum fractions of previous closes in the absence of any commercial business to develop overnight, either domestic or export. Trading virtually stalled within the first 10 minutes.

★ ★ ★

After about an hour wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel lower, September $1.90¾; corn ⅝ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.16⅞; oats ⅛ to ½ higher, September new type contract 66½; rye unchanged to ⅞ higher, September $1.30⅞; soybeans unchanged to ¼ lower, September $2.10¾.

BB Shot Fells Pet Parakeet: 3 Hearts Broken

Three heart-broken Waterford Township children and neighborhood youngsters today buried their pet parakeet bird, Gigi, who was the victim of a senseless BB gun shot yesterday.

Four years ago, when Juanita Simmons, 1326 Hendricks St., was five years old, her dad Kenneth Simmons gave her a tiny blue parakeet for her birthday.

Gigi grew up with Juanita and the other Simmons children, Maureen, 11, and Jeffrey, 5, and was loved by the entire family for her intelligence and happy chatter.

All summer long, Gigi was taken from her cage out into the fresh air and sunshine for healthier and cooler living.

A special hook was installed for the cage on the back porch where the bird could also pick up a few outdoor noises to imitate.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Simmons returned from shopping and found the tiny bird laying dead in the bottom of the cage. Someone had killed her with one BB shot through the back.

"There are many boys in our neighborhood who have BB guns," says Mrs. Simmons, "but I can't think of one who could be so cruel at to shoot a helpless caged bird."

Others Won't, He Did

WEST LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Salesman Michael Reid, 48, was fined $50 yesterday for giving in to an almost irresistible impulse —during an argument, he squirted his neighbor with a garden hose.

Market Stages Brisk Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and motors paced a fairly brisk stock market rally early today.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to about a point.

The market was generally higher in an active opening then the steels and motors forged into the lead. The showing was unusually good for recent dull sessions.

Gains of a point or better were made by U. S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Lukens and Allegheny Ludlum. Youngstown Sheet added about 2.

Ford and Chrysler gained a point or so. General Motors and American Motors rose fractionally.

Despite a warning by the head of the United Steelworkers against "false optimism" in regard to a steel strike settlement, the feeling grew that some favorable development is in the offing. This was buttressed by an article published in a financial daily.

★ ★ ★

The chart pattern of some stocks and talk about possible stock splits also drew in buyers, brokers said.

Food Machinery & Chemical rose ⅜ to 54½ on a 5,000-share block following news the firm will build the nation's second automated post office. The stock later stretched its gain to about a point.

Alcoa rose more than a point and Reynolds Metals about 2. Litton Industries was ahead around 3 and Zenith about 2.

Kennecott picked up a point or so. Similar gains were made by Goodyear, Goodrich, Liggett & Myers and Du Pont.

Studebaker - Packard (when-issued) rose ⅛ to 9⅝ on a big block of 10,000 shares. Standard Gas & Electric was unchanged at 4¾ on a block of 13,800 shares.

Perfectionist Goofs

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (UPI)—Charles Mills, a freshman at Ogdensburg Free Academy, won the pole vault event in an intra-squad track meet with a 9½-foot leap, but he wasn't satisifed with his performance. So he tried again — and broke his left arm.

Race Hassle Rocks American Legion

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The American Legion convention, torn by a hot racial battle, prepared for what looked like a shoo-in election of a new national commander.

★ ★ ★

Top Legion insiders said Martin McKneally, 44-year-old bachelor lawyer from Newburgh, N.Y., was a cinch to succeed Preston J. Moore of Stillwater, Okla.

One top Legion official predicted only McKneally would actually be nominated from the floor.

The floor fight broke out yesterday when Alaska tried for adoption on a resolution removing a "white only" clause from the by-laws of the 40 & 8, the Legion's fun-making branch.

CLAUSE 'UNLAWFUL'

The convention earlier adopted a report declaring the discrimination clause was "unlawful."

But the convention, by a 1,650-1,388 vote, refused to support the Alaska resolution to remove racial discrimination. Instead, delegates accepted a Hawaii resolution calling for a joint meeting of Legion and 40 & 8 brass to settle the race question.

Debate reached a fever pitch when the Rev. Edwin Goodwin, Honolulu, took the floor.

★ ★ ★

"Those who support this bigotry in the American Legion are bastards of Satan," Goodwin shouted with tears in his eyes.

Despite the moderate "settlement," the racial question was far from settled.

John Hobble, newly-elected 40 & 8 commander from Liberal, Kan., indicated his group would continue to fight for the right to bar nonwhites when leaders of the two organizations meet.

FAVORS STATUS QUO

"I'm in favor of the old status quo," Hobble said. "I believe the rule has operated all right the way it was written." He said only a minority wanted a change.

But Moore said "We in the American Legion don't recognize any color line. An as American and as a member of the 40 & 8 I hope that it will be done away with."

While the Legion delegates were adopting the moderate approach, the 40 & 8, meeting in St. Paul voted to continue its color restriction.

★ ★ ★

Delegate George Lewis of Memphis, Tenn., told the convention the question is "an internal matter for the 40 & 8."

James D. Johnson, Cleveland, argued that if the antidiscrimination resolution were adopted "we can leave Minneapolis with the feeling that we have done something for all veterans and for all the people of America."

DOWNWARD HOSE — Another Waterford Township garden hose is seeking something in the earth's innards as it doggedly burrows downward, in the Sam Ferguson yard at 3847 Embarcadero St. Dickie Ferguson stands in a 3-foot hole trying vainly to recover the end of the hose, as Mrs. Ferguson, her daughter Sharyn, and neighbors Mrs. David Foran and Ted Spring watch.

Another Hose Heading Down

With the downward disappearance of a garden hose in the front yard of the Sam Ferguson home at 3847 Embarcadero St., Waterford Township, a new speed record in nuzzling nozzles is being set.

Mrs. Ferguson turned on the water in the hose, at a dribbling-pace yesterday noon. Two hours later she returned to see the hose moving downward, and called her next door neighbor, Ted Spring.

There was no signs of digging around the hole the hose was disappearing into. In fact there was no hole, the hose was just going down like something was pulling from the other end.

Spring sprang into action with a sharp shovel, and after digging through sod, hard clay, sand and rock, he gave up. The water was turned off, but the hose went right on burrowing.

Then the plastic hose was disconnected from the tap on the side of the house, and still moved on down.

After the hole had been dug around the persistent ground-digger, Spring marked a spot on the hose and began to time its movement, and found it was going down at the rate of one-half inch every three minutes.

No one has come up with an answer as to how or why. Of the five or six reported in Waterford Township it looks like the Ferguson's hose is way down under—ahead of the others.

Alfredo Camarero Gets $1,400

Swims English Channel

DOVER, England (UPI)—Argentine swimmer Alfredo Camarero won the International Cross-Channel race today, making the grueling 22-mile swim across the choppy English Channel in 11 hours, 45 minutes and 26 seconds.

Only 11 swimmers were left in the race after Camarero finished, four of them women — including Greta Andersen and Myra Thompson, both of Long Beach, Calif. Both were back in the pack, plugging away toward the English shore.

The race was marred by a chaotic start and fears for a time that one of the swimmers had lost his life.

The missing swimmer, Primo Ferreira of Portugal, turned up safe and sound in a French hotel. He had turned around and swum back to Calais, after his escort boat lost track of him two hours after the pre-dawn start in the race from Cap Gris Nez, France.

Sixteen of the 38 registered swimmers failed even to get started because of a foul-up in escort boat arrangements and the belief the condition of the channel today made their chances hopeless.

Camarero's victory in the cross-channel race, organized by promoter Billy Butlin, brings him the top prize of $1,400.

Take a Picture of U.S. Satellite 14,000 Miles Out

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The Woomera satellite tracking station has photographed the U.S. paddle-wheel satellite at a distance of 14,000 miles, Supply Minister Alan Hulme announced today.

★ ★ ★

He said the photograph has been flown to the United States for examination.

The photograph is a remarkable achievement, Hulme said, because the central section of the satellite is only two feet in diameter, with four-feet long paddles on each side.

★ ★ ★

The paddlewheel satellite was launched Aug. 7.

Legion Accepts Nikita's Visit

Surprise at Convention Comes in Last-Minute Substitute Resolution

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The American Legion today voted to accept "with dignity" the visit next month to the United States of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The move came as a surprise when the Legion's Foreign Relations Committee submitted a last-minute resolution which was substituted for one opposing the Soviet Premier's visit.

The convention did, however, declare there should be no further summit talks until a number of conditions are met by Russia, including free elections in satellite nations and a halt in espionage activities by the Soviet Union.

The modified resolution appeared to be a result of the influence on the legionnaires of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He told the convention two days ago that Khrushchev's visit was in the interest of avoiding a misunderstanding that might lead to war.

Action on the resolution came after Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) told delegations America must — and will — stand behind President Eisenhower in making the Khrushchev visit serve the nation's best interests.

Area Retail Sales Booming in July

DETROIT (AP) — Retail sales in the Detroit area during July were well ahead of last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports.

The increase was led by furniture stores with sales 21 per cent ahead of July a year ago. Men's clothing and appliances were up 14 per cent and women's apparel and department stores were up 10 per cent.

Europe is dotted with tiny, vest-pocket countries, each of which may be seen by a tourist in one day. These include Andorra, Monaco, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg and San Marino.

2-Month N-Test Delay Gives Geneva Time

Union, the other two atomic powers, also have kept the lid on nuclear testing since last fall.

Eisnhower acted in face of continued pressure from some military, atomic energy and conatomic blasts was to expire a year from the opening of the Geneva conference, but Eisenhower has ordered the deadline extended to Dec. 31.

Both Britain and the Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—An order by President Eisenhower to hold off any U.S. nuclear tests for another two months gives the Geneva negotiators more time to work out an agreement for an international ban.

★ ★ ★

The Geneva talks, started last Oct. 31, were recessed Wenesday for six weeks. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, the U.S. representative, must return home for the start of the U.N. General Assembly session next month.

★ ★ ★

America's self-imposed ban on gressional officials to resume atomic shots.

★ ★ ★

They argue that a halt on improving these weapons through testing boosts the relative strength of the Communists.

But Eisenhower's action was praised by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee. He said the President's action "holds out some hope that a controlled cessation of nuclear weapons tests may be negotiated."

Latin America Priest Hails Credit Unions

A Jesuit priest told GMTC employes of the Federal Credit Union that credit unions such as theirs in Latin American countries are providing our State Department with a first line of defense against Communist infiltration.

★ ★ ★

Fr. Gerard McLaughlin, assigned to assist Fr. J. P. Sullivan in missionary work in Jamaica, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the 23-year-old GMTC Credit Union.

★ ★ ★

"The credit unions organized in the Caribbean and Central American areas are effectively teaching the natives to save regularly for future needs rather than live from day to day," said Fr. McLaughlin.

Jeanne Says Hunches Really Pay Off for Her

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There's this new girl in town named Jeanne Baird who says she's doing well because she plays hunches. She had this hunch, she says, that she should leave L.A. for N.Y.

In 10 weeks, she's done Dave Garroway's show two weeks, been offered a lead in a B'way show which she turned down, and been given a panel seat on the daytime "Pantomime Quiz."

"Hunches have paid off," she says.

It could be, but I've got a hunch, too, and my hunch is that Jeanne's done well because she looks like Jean Arthur, Susan Hayward, Ann Bancroft, and Paulette Goddard.

WILSON

Born in Meadville, reared in Santa Barbara, veteran (already) of about 25 top TV shows, Jeanne's often confused with Eugenie Baird.

JEANNE

They even have the same doctor. His secretary got their charts mixed up. Oooh, wouldn't that be dreadful if the secretary got some patients' ailments mixed up, too, and gave a pep pill to a gal who needed a slow-down tablet? Wouldn't this make a great TV thriller for Jeanne Baird—and Eugenie Baird?

Marilyn Monroe — who doesn't look 33, but candidly announces she is — was scolded by a friend for admitting it. "But above all, why do you tell your age voluntarily?" the friend asked her.

"Why do you think?" retorted Marilyn. "Because they found my birth certificate!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

British Reveal Spaceman Goal

Plan 'Flying Pyramid' for Safe Journey and Return to Earth

LONDON (UPI) — A team of British scientists today disclosed plans to launch a two-ton "flying pyramid" designed to rocket two men 700 miles into space and bring them safely back to earth.

★ ★ ★

The delta-finned space ship, developed by private enterprise, is Britain's first major step into experimental human flights into outer space.

The pyramid-shaped ship and its planned flight was revealed in a paper read at the British Commonwealth Space Flight Symposium.

The scientists worked out the plan as members of the Hawker Siddeley Aviation Advanced Projects Group led by Britain's top space scientist, Dr. W. F. Hilton.

★ ★ ★

Hilton said the team concentrated on cracking the toughest nut of space flights—how to get a human back to earth from outer space—and bypassed lesser space problems that the United States and the Soviet Union have used huge outlays of appropriated money to tackle.

Dr. Hilton's team said it would require the cooperation of many British firms to bring the launching about since it would cost more than Britain presently contemplates spending.

Art Officials Hang Heads

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Officials of the New Haven Arts Festival hung their heads when they discovered that two of the paintings on exhibit were drawing considerable attention because they were hung upside down.

Alaskan Officials Doubt Reports of Mercury Fortune

COLD BAY, Alaska (AP) — Is there a fabulously rich vein of mercury in southwestern Alaska as a Norfolk, Va., Air Force enlisted man contends?

Alaska officials said Wednesday they didn't think so and cast doubt on reports by Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett that he has inherited claims to a cinnabar lode worth 40 million dollars and perhaps more.

★ ★ ★

Wallace G. MacNice, deputy U.S. commissioner, said Howlett, now stationed at Castle Air Force Base near Merced, Calif., had filed six claims in the Chignik area, 200 miles northeast of here.

But, said MacNice, Howlett filled them out incorrectly and the claims were returned with instructions to refile them. They have not yet been received here, he said.

★ ★ ★

Howlett said he inherited the claim from the late Cora Dinsmore, a crippled widow he had befriended. However, MacNice said records here, which go back to 1869, fail to mention any persons named Dinsmore.

Sallade Talking About Romney

Ann Arbor Republican Sees AMC Man Likely Governor Candidate

ANN ARBOR (AP) — George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., again has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for governor — this although Romney has said he has no political ambitions.

★ ★ ★

Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), who is booming Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the Republican presidential nomination, made the suggestion last night at a meeting of the Washtenaw County Young Republican Club.

"It is entirely possible that he (Romney) personally should offer himself as a candidate for governor," Sallade said. "Maybe in that way we will get the housecleaning that is truthfully needed in Lansing and in the Republican Party.

"It would be a serious error to assume that the present financial crisis will automatically return us to power," Sallade said. "Blunders committed by the Party organization and especially the legislative leadership could well turn victory prospects into certain defeat."

Sallade said in the current tax fight "the Republican Senate has danced like robots on a string to the dictates of the lobbyists representing the largest Michigan corporations."

★ ★ ★

Sallade backed Romney's contention that a new third force is badly needed on the state political scene.

U.S., Poland Plan Soon to Reopen Consulates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Poland will reopen their consulates in each other's country "in the near future."

The State Department said the action stems from an agreement last year and reflects a gradual improvement in relations with Poland since the end of the Stalin era. The U.S. consulate will be reopened in Poznan and the Polish consulate will be reopened in Chicago.

Both consulates were closed in 1951 "for administrative reasons" when relations were strained between the two countries.

Supplies Own Feast

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Kenneth Simonds received a suspended 90 day jail sentence for stealing 12 dozen doughnuts, five cans of orange juice, 10 packages of cookies, 10 loaves of bread, 10 packages of buns and two quarts of milk.

Will Televise President's Visit

BBC Says Americans Can See Events Soon After They Happen

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) announced Wednesday viewers in America will see the televised events of President Eisenhower's European visit only a few hours after they actually happen.

Donald Edwards, editors of the BBC's news division, told a news conference the pictures will be transmitted through a combined use of the Eurovision network and the cable film method, first used during Queen Elizabeth's recent visit to Canada.

Edwards said pictures showing Eisenhower's arrival in Bonn Wednesday were expected to be showing on American TV screens three or four hours later.

Because of the high cost of the cable film method only carefully edited film will be sent.

Jupiter Successful on Shortened Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —An abbreviated flight was made successfully last night by an Army Jupiter missile.

★ ★ ★

The big bird was fired only 350 miles in a demonstration of the weapon's flexibility.

An Army announcement last night was interpreted to mean that the missile's nose cone landed on a preselected target area in the Atlantic tracking range.

The Jupiter is designed to travel 1,700 miles.

Government Plans Auction Over Television

NEW YORK (UPI)—The government is going to auction off two million dollars worth of surplus goods over a six-city closed circuit television network.

Teleprompter Corp., which will supervise the auction, announced that prospective buyers must register to be admitted to viewing areas in the six cities: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Columbus, Ohio.

The items for sale, ranging from men's underwear to women's scarves, will be flashed on 26-by-36-foot screens from the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, the Air Force depot at Shelby, Ohio, and at the Army engineer depot at Granite City, Ill.

Each buyer will be equipped with a small placard carrying a number that he can raise when he wants to bid. When recognized by an auctioneer, the bidder will make his bid over a two-way audio circuit.

U.S. Fraud Suspect Kicked Out of Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The Brazilian government today ordered Lowell McAfee Birrell, charged in New York with fraud, to leave the country within 15 days.

★ ★ ★

Birrell, 52, is wanted by New York authorities on charges of defrauding stockholders of two corporations of 14 million dollars.

Birrell was indicted in New York last month on 16 counts. He has been in jail in Rio since July 23, charged with entering Brazil illegally on a falsified Canadian passport.

Birrell was formerly president of the Swan-Finch Oil Corp., and chairman of the Doeskin Products Corp. He is accused of fraud against their stockholders. He disappeared in 1957 and only recently was located in Brazil.

Sharp Acting Rescues U. S. Steel Hour's Cliche

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—About once every summer, the U.S. Steel Hour comes up with a diverting, enjoyable comedy.

★ ★ ★

And such an occasion came last night, thanks chiefly to some fine-honed acting by Hans Conried, Monique Van Vooren and Scott McKay.

The story of "A Taste for Champagne" on the CBS-TV vehicle was one of those pooped-out packages of popcorn; timid bookkeeper swipes company payroll, flies to Paris with gorgeous blonde and, after a suitable interval (second act) of wooing and wining, is brought to justice (but not too harshly because he's so lovable.)

Because this plot is so familiar, the job of making it fresh and interesting was all the harder.

★ ★ ★

But the mission was accomplished through the bright dialogue by Bob Van Scoyk, the irresistable, roguish charm of Conried, the sharpness of Miss Van Vooren's portrayal of a continental gold-digger. She has added new, er, dimensions, to her appeal. She can act.

SHORT SHOTS: Last night's wacky prize on NBC-TV's Price Is Right: a portable home pizza oven . . . ABC-TV began repeating old Great Gildersleeve episodes last night. Know something? Gildy's not so great.

Dave King repeated his prize blooper of last week when he told his NBC - TV audience, "Please don't think your letters go unappreciated, because they do." Only this time, he was aware of it.

On I've Got a Secret, Bill Cullen got himself in a jam with this question, asked of two contestants: "Are your parents married, possibly?" As the laughter subsided, he added, "I'd like to rephrase the question . . . but it's too late."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Former heavyweight champ Jack Dempsey will teach Ben Gazzara how to come out swinging for the fight scenes in "Body and Soul," the Du Pont Show of the Month set for Monday, Sept. 28 on CBS-TV . . . Shakespeare's "The Tempest," originally listed for May 2 NBC televiewing, has been moved up to Wednesday, Feb. 3.

The new Charley Weaver Show, which debuts on ABC-TV Wednesday, Sept. 30, may feature Zsa Zsa Gabor as its first guest. Based on the radio show, "Hobby Lobby," the format also gives Weaver, or Cliff Arquette, room for his comedy ruminations.

Dentists Face Patients' Fears

Inaugurate Program to Assure Public They Are Sympathetic

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dentists here have launched a "How to Win Friends" program in which they assure patients they're thoroughly sympathetic with their fears and try to prove such fears have little basis nowadays.

The San Francisco Dental Society started the "public welfare" program in consultation with psychiatrists.

It is aimed at persuading the public that the most prevalent kind of dental neglect is failure through fear to make an appointment with the dentist.

The problem of the feelings, fears, strengths, weaknesses and problems of dental patients has received little attention in our dental colleges in the past," said Dr. Loren R. Borland, clinical pathologist and University of California instructor in dentistry.

★ ★ ★

Dentists should never scold nervous patients but should accept the fact that a needle full of novocaine terrified them, added Dr. Haskell F. Norman of the San Francisco Psychoanalytic Institute.

Borland said friendly chats with patients actually will save a dentist time.

★ ★ ★

"With a good relationship between patient and dentist — rather like the old 'family doctor' friendship — work can be done far more quickly," he said.

Newspaper Audience Largest, Most Constant

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newspaper audience is not only the largest of all audiences, it is a constant audience, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The number of people who buy and read newspapers remains pretty much the same throughout the year in contrast with the wide variance in usage of television sets between winter and summer, the association noted.

City Has Three Limits

ST. CLOUD—This Central Minnesota city is one of the few in the U. S. to have its corporate limits in three counties.

Use Self Like Car

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) —Mrs. Walter C. Faxon, 102 years of age, says that if you want to live as long as she has, "take as good care of yourself as you do of your own automobile."

The Gulf stream is only about 15 miles wide and it flows at a speed of about six miles per hour.

Pleasure Boating Takes Most People and Money

NEW YORK (UPI)—The leader among all "take part" recreation activities for American is pleasure boating, according to Sales Finance News.

Not only does boating claim the most people participating — some 35 million — but it also claims the most total dollars spent, more than $2 billion a year, the publication said.

An Independent at Last

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—Rep. George Brush, 75, a lifetime Republican, donated $5 to the Democratic Party because "I'm an Independent now. I call them as I see 'em."

New Muzzle Invented

WINCHESTER, Va. (UPI) — G. W. Jones has patented a muzzle which will permit a dog to pant or drink but not to bite. Jones has been a postman 28 years.

Most species of spiders have eight single-lens eyes, symmetrically spaced, enabling them to see in eight directions at once.

Film Reports Increase

NEW YORK (UPI)—Growing interest in "the visual" is reflected in increased use of film for annual reports. Many executives believe the film report, complete with sound track, represents the ultimate in making reports more informative, interesting and visually attractive.

2 Congressmen Ask Leniency for AF Smuggler

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two congressmen want the Air Force to be lenient with an airman who smuggled a German woman and her child on an airplane.

The child's cries gave away the stowaways. The Air Force has decided to court-martial Airman William R. Arnett in the case.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky), who asked the Air Force to reconsider its decision, said that Arnett intends to marry the young woman and "one cannot help but respect and admire the noble intentions and actions of Airman Arnett even though they were misdirected and include an intention to commit a crime."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Frank Chelf (D-Ky) also spoke out in Arnett's defense.

"I will personally defend him without pay if the Air Force dares to court-martial him," Chelf said.
