Parents See Daughter Die as Plane Hits Home

3 Dead, 9 Hurt as Plane Crashes Apartment House

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Wealthy playboy Joel W. Thorne's plane crashed into a two-story apartment house last night bringing flaming death to the pilot and two others—one a newly-christened baby.

Nine persons were injured, at least two of them critically.

The plane, registered to the 40-year-old Thorne in Las Vegas, Nev., plummeted out of the overcast 12 minutes after taking off from Lockheed Air Terminal in nearby Burbank.

One eyewitness said a wing dropped off before the craft plunged into the building. Rescuers said the pilot was burned beyond immediate identification. Police Lt. Roy O. Miller said papers, including a will, indicated it was Thorne. The pilot also gave that name on takeoff.

The other known dead were identified as:

Mrs. Betty Jean Wolf, 18, resident in the upstairs apartment where the plane crashed.

Sheryl Camille Preston, 2 months, who had just been baptized two hours earlier.

The baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Preston, who lived in the downstairs apartment; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marchica of Los Angeles; and Miss Anna Presinano of Lyndhurst, N.J., were injured or burned seriously.

INJURED CRITICALLY
Critically injured were the Marchica's two children, John, 7, and Patricia, 10. All remained at North Hollywood Receiving Hospital.

Thorne, heir to a New York banking fortune, long had been known as a pilot of fast planes, cars and motorcycles. The Thorne-Engineering Special he built in 1946 was driven to victory in the Indianapolis Speedway classic by George Robson.

Before moving to Las Vegas about seven years ago, Thorne was a frequent headline-maker around Hollywood. He was twice injured severely in motorcycle accidents and still walked with a cane.

Ike OKs Budget Given by Wilson for Military Needs

DENVER—President Eisenhower took a 24-hour recess from Cabinet-level conferences today after approving new assurances there will be no further military cuts without a "radical change" in the world situation.

The latest assurances, from Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, followed similar forecasts from Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of the Treasury Humphreys after their earlier talks with Eisenhower at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Dulles is flying here from Washington tonight for a final conference with Eisenhower tomorrow before he and Wilson leave for the foreign ministers' conference opening at Geneva Oct. 27.

The gradual return to active direction of government is proving a good tonic for the President.

But the big news around the Denver White House is the President's own progress. He is now sitting up regularly in an easy chair, into which he is lifted from his bed. By Saturday, he may be taking the first few steps around his hospital room.

General Pate Named Marine Corps Head

WASHINGTON—Lt. Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, a 57-year-old South Carolinian, will take over Jan. 1 as commandant of the Marine Corps.

He will succeed Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, under whom he has served as deputy commandant. Shepherd is retiring. Pate will be the corps' 21st commandant.

The announcement of Pate's elevation was made by Secretary of Defense Wilson after a call on President Eisenhower at Denver. Pate said it came as a surprise to him, and he was "very much excited and quite humble."

A native of Port Royal, S. C., Pate entered the Marine Corps after his 1921 graduation from the Virginia Military Institute.

A major at the outbreak of World War II, he gained distinction in helping plan such Pacific amphibious operations as Guadalcanal, Peleliu, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Today's tour of the Ohio toll road was set-up by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), chairman of the highway committee, and Rep. Emil A. Peltz (R-Rogers City), roads and bridges chairman.

They said they plan to call a meeting of the authority and the highway commission to settle the turnpike-free road dispute.

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Residents of flood-stricken areas in the northeastern states today guarded against the outbreak of disease in ravaged sections as officials pledged an all-out effort to eliminate the danger of future floods.

Residents of communities whose water mains were burst by the flood, or whose water supplies may have been contaminated were warned to boil all drinking water. Typhoid shots were administered where they were needed. Persons who have wells near septic tanks were advised to boil their drinking water.

The principal battleground in the fight against the threat of disease was in Connecticut, worst hit of the flood stricken states, which included: Pennsylvania,

Turnpike Head Hits Pressures

Higgins 'Won't Yield' to Big Land Owners in Toll Road Route

The Michigan Turnpike Authority will refuse to yield to "pressure" of large property owners, MTA Chairman George N. Higgins said today.

Before leaving for a tour of the new Ohio Turnpike with a group of legislators, Higgins said:

"We are not yielding to the owners of country estates at the expense of the little fellow regardless of how much pressure they try to apply."

Higgins charged that "a number of real estate interests and large property owners . . . are pressuring us to move our proposed location off their vacant land on to somebody else's property."

The authority plans to build a 113-mile toll road from Rockwood, on the south, north to Saginaw.

At an informal dinner meeting at Dearborn Inn last night, Higgins said not more than 100 homes on the proposed route would have to be moved.

He added that the bulk of these are in the Foxcroft section along Telegraph road, and in Allen Park.

Attending the meeting were members of the Senate Highway Committee, the House Roads and Bridges Committee and State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Ziegler, who has plans for a north-south superhighway which would be paid for by taxes, said: "If the turnpike authority works it out, I say more power to them. I'm glad to see any kind of a road built in Michigan."

Today's tour of the Ohio toll road was set-up by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), chairman of the highway committee, and Rep. Emil A. Peltz (R-Rogers City), roads and bridges chairman.

They said they plan to call a meeting of the authority and the highway commission to settle the turnpike-free road dispute.

New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.
The toll of dead rose to 47—23 in New England.

The four days of torrential rain left 30,000 homeless and jobless. Property damage from the second flood disaster to hit the area in two months seemed certain to crack the $100 million mark, but was expected to fall short of August's half-billion dollar level.

Weathermen agreed guardedly that the worst was past and predicted only light, scattered rain through today.

In Denver, President Eisenhower authorized federal aid for new areas of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey which he declared to be "major disaster" localities.

Fight Over TV Ends Tragically for Youngster

Debate Possible Action About Seven-Year-Old Stanley A. Mack

LAPEER—Lapeer County authorities today are debating what action, if any, will be taken against 7-year-old Stanley A. Mack, who killed his brother Lawrence, 6, yesterday with a single shot from a .22 rifle during an argument over television programs.

The boys, residing with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Harp at 5744 Lum Rd., Lum, were watching television together in the living room at 4:30 p.m. Their mother was tending the baby in another part of the house.

Lawrence had been switching the television from channel to channel and Stanley told him to stop. The two brothers argued.

Lapeer County Undersheriff William J. Porter said Stanley took an unloaded .22 calibre rifle from a living room corner, loaded it with a shell lying on a nearby plate, and shot Lawrence.

"He kept changing channels, so, just like we do when we play Indians, I shot him," Porter quoted Stanley as saying.

Thinking the boy only wounded, Mrs. Harp called an Imlay City ambulance, but driver Lester Smith realized the boy was dead. The youth was taken to the Voorhes-Siple Funeral Home, where arrangements are pending.

The family is formerly of Pontiac and the father is employed at the Pontiac Motor Division.

Lawrence and Stanley are the sons of Mrs. Florence Harp and the late Stanley L. Mack. The stepfather is Robert J. Harp.

Sheriff Clark Gregory of Lapeer said today that until all evidence was obtained and weighed, nothing would be done.

Grocery Chain Head Lauds Newspapers

CHICAGO—The President of the National Tea Co. said Monday night newspaper advertising has "built our business" and that his firm of chain groceries spends two-thirds of its advertising budget on newspaper ads. Its advertising budget last year was 5½ million dollars.

H. V. McNamara spoke at the annual meeting of the Inland Daily Press Assn., organization of Midwestern newspaper executives.

TB May Be Licked

NEW YORK—A mass test of the tuberculosis-preventing drug isoniazid will be made within a year. Announcing this, Dr. Carroll E. Palmer, U. S. Public Health Service scientist, said if the drug is as effective against TB in humans as in animals, entire populations can be protected for as little as a penny a day.

Federal Civil Defense Director Val Peterson and Governor Abraham A. Ribicoff toured stricken sections of Connecticut.

At Norwalk, one of the hardest hit Connecticut communities, Peterson pledged speedy federal aid. A similar promise was given by Ribicoff.

Ribicoff said there was no reason why a "finer, greater Norwalk" cannot emerge "from this disaster," and declared:

"Norwalk like the Aug. 19 victims of Winsted and Putnam presents a great opportunity for rebuilding and redevelopment."

He and Peterson were agreed on the need for sound flood control projects, and the need for federal-backed insurance to absorb the shock of flood losses.

At the same time in Boston U.S. Senator Prescott Bush of Connecticut, urged establishment of a $300 million flood and hurricane protection program.

He said the states should have no hesitancy about asking the government for the money for this work, which he said had been blocked thus far by "squabbling among ourselves," among other things, Bush declared:

DEPARTING GUEST—Princess Margaret, wearing evening gown and furs leaves the London apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bonham Carter last night after dining with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend and the Carters. Townsend left the dinner party a half hour after the princess and told newsmen: "I have no answers for you."

Margaret Appears Sad

Queen Arrives in London for Talks About Romance

LONDON (INS)—Queen Elizabeth came back to London today and to a series of talks with her family, her government and her church that may decide the fate of the Margaret-Townsend romance.

The reputed love of the Queen's 25-year-old sister for divorced RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend has created intricate problems for crown, state and church.

The three are in delicate balance at the apex of Britain's tradition-encrusted form of government. To avoid a serious national split, all three would have to co-operate to some extent if Margaret has decided to go through with the marriage.

Elizabeth, whose arrival on the overnight train from Scotland brought all the members of the royal family to the capital, presumably will go over once again with her sister the implications of such a wedding.

Elizabeth's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the queen mother also will take part in the family conferences.

Hospital Plans 175 More Beds

Architects Are Studying St. Joseph's Need for Increased Facilities

Announcement of plans for adding a new south wing to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was made today by Sister Mary William, administrator. The addition will add at least 175 beds and increase all other hospital facilities.

Goal of the addition and remodeling is to bring the facilities up to 1960 standards, including the out-patient department, to add a 25-bed psychiatric nursing unit, add approximately ten operating and at least five new delivery rooms, and to provide additional private rooms.

This announcement followed a conference between members of the hospital administration staff and a team of architects and engineers from Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, Inc. of Detroit. The Detroit men toured the hospital, studied the needs and obtained information from various departments.

Dr. C. A. Smith, Chief of Staff, led a question and answer period in which all heads of departments took part. The architects will study the statistics they obtained and will present an overall plan and sketches later this fall.

Once the building plans are approved, a fund raising program is proposed in the area served by the hospital. It is hoped that ground can be broken by next July or August.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 47 degrees. The thermometer registered 54 at 1 p.m.

Toll Road Foes Favor Ziegler's Freeway Plan

Devon Gables Session Attracts 650; Higgins' Statements Criticized

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

The president of a group fighting the proposed Rockwood-Saginaw toll road last night declared its construction would not free funds to build other needed highways.

Robert Vanderkloot, of Bloomfield Township, spoke before about 650 persons attending a meeting of the Citizens Protective Assn. of Michigan at Devon Gables.

Speakers from communities along the 113-mile turnpike route joined Vanderkloot in voicing opposition to the plan. He referred to several statements he alleged had been made by Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins, terming them "half truths."

Higgins has stated that if the turnpike is built "funds will automatically be released to build roads in other parts of the state," said Vanderkloot.

(The toll road would be financed through a revenue bond issue to be paid off by toll charges collected once the road began operating.)

The speaker referred to the north-south freeway planned to run through Oakland County by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. If built, it would make the toll road impractical by taking potential traffic from the pay-highway it has been said.

"The free limited-access highway proposed by Ziegler, many parts of which are already completed, is part of what is termed the National Interstate Highway System," Vanderkloot stated.

"Federal-aid funds are allotted for this system on a project basis . . . each project or road is approved for funds individually, depending upon its importance to the system as a whole."

"If the turnpike instead of the free road is built, federal funds allotted to this part of the interstate system, could not be diverted to any other road in the state. Thus, such funds would be lost to Michigan."

"Ziegler estimates it will cost $115,000,000 to build a freeway from Toledo to Bay City. The turnpike will cost $194,000,000, not $164,000,000 as Higgins says."

But because Ziegler's road would receive federal-aid money amounting to 80 per cent of total cost, it would cost Michigan $39,000,000, Vanderkloot asserted.

Kavanagh Takes Permit Re-exam

Attorney General Given Warning After License Test Is Completed

LANSING—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has been placed on a modified probation for having three speeding convictions against him in one year.

Kavanagh got the decision at a license re-examination in the Secretary of State's office yesterday as the climax of a furor over charges that an earlier case against him had been dropped because of "favoritism."

Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas of St. Clair County had charged that orders to Kavanagh to appear at the Montcalm County sheriff's office last Jan. 19 for a license re-examination were dropped as a favor by someone in the office of Secy. of State James M. Haro.

Denying knowledge of the incident, Haro summoned Kavanagh to reappear.

In a closed hearing with examiner Supervisor Fred Van Osdel, Kavanagh said he was subjected to an eye examination and then a review of his driving record.

Kavanagh said Van Osdel told him that if he were arrested again within six months he would be called in for a review of his case.

Night Watchman

A soundly sleeping night watchman got his come-uppance last night from a thief who must still be laughing.

Detroit Dan Diehr, on guard at the Chicken and Biacuts restaurant at 970 E. Auburn Rd., was still dozing peacefully when Sheriff's Deputies Perry Sharp and Sheldon Stiles decided to investigate the restaurant's open door.

They found that 25 cartons of cigarettes, six boxes of cigars and 11 cartons of chewing gum were missing.

And the floor around the sleeping watchman was strewn with cigarettes.

'Jury Bugging' Probe
Report to Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Judiciary Committee said today he would study a transcript of a "jury bugging" probe before deciding whether to press for further congressional action.

The investigation involved the recording of jury deliberations by a "bug" or hidden microphone in five or six civil cases in a Wichita, Kan., federal court in May 1954.

The presiding judge, the chief judge of the 10th Judicial Circuit, and attorneys in the cases involved approved the action in advance as part of a study of the jury system by University of Chicago researchers.

State Jailers to Attend
Special School Session

LANSING (AP)—Some 150 jail employees are expected to attend a three-day "School for Jailers" this month at the State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson.

The school, to be held Oct. 25-27, is sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Prisons and the State Department of Corrections.

The "students," turnkeys, sheriffs, matrons, cooks and prison guards, will see demonstrations of prisoner searching techniques, fire extinguishing and cooking.

Inglisbee Is Charged With Armed Robbery

A charge of armed robbery was entered yesterday against Richard L. Inglisbee, 29, who was caught Saturday night less than an hour after he was believed to have held up a grocery store.

Pontiac Detective Thomas Mitchell, in charge of the case who heard Inglisbee's confession, explained today that it was legally possible to issue a charge of armed robbery even though the "gun" Inglisbee used was a wooden dummy.

John E. Ostrander recently was elected Pontiac district chairman of Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Ostrander, of 1609 Park Way, Sylvan Lake, succeeds John Riley in the supervision of the 36 scout units in the Pontiac District, said Van Braidwood, district executive.

JOHN E. OSTRANDER

Pontiac district includes 1,646 registered boys and leaders, and the new chairman is responsible for guiding and formulating operations in the area, Braidwood explained.

During his scouting career, Ostrander has received the Scouters Key award, and the American Legion Americanism medal. During his tenure as a Sea Scout Skipper the ship was awarded national rating twice, and regional rating three times.

The election meeting included progress reports given by several committee heads. D. B. Eames, chairman of the Finance Committee, gave the 33 men present a report on the Pontiac Area United Fund, and offered suggestions whereby the scouters could assist the campaign.

Probation Camp
Site Is Studied

Grand Traverse Seen as Likely Location for Unique Institution

LANSING (AP)—Location of a 100-man probation recovery camp in southeastern Grand Traverse County is "very likely," State Corrections Director Gus Harrison said today.

Harrison said the Grand Traverse County Board of Supervisors unanimously passed a resolution inviting the Corrections Commission to locate the camp in their county.

"That virtually assures its location there," Harrison said. "I expect the commission to act on the invitation at its November meeting."

If a Grand Traverse site is approved, the camp—a unique idea in itself—would be operated on a unique basis.

"We're trying to work out an arrangement with Northwestern Michigan College at Traverse City whereby the faculty would give our boys instruction and our men would provide labor on the campus," Harrison said.

The camp would take care of youthful offenders who are placed on probation but whose homes are considered unfit as a place to serve the probationary period.

The legislature authorized the camp at its last session, appropriating $50,000 for construction but nothing for operating expenses.

Harrison said the commission might agree to ask the Legislature for operating funds at its next session.

"We hope to get an early start on the camp—maybe within a month," Harrison said.

French Deciding
Fate of Faure

Vital Confidence Vote
by Parliament to View
His Algerian Policy

PARIS (AP)—Last-minute political decisions and party switches held the key today to Premier Edgar Faure's political fate as the National Assembly gathered for a crucial vote of confidence on the government's Algerian policy.

Hours of debate were expected, with the balloting probably to come after midnight.

Most parties and individual deputies appeared to be viewing their votes in the light of the general French political situation, with Algerian considerations carrying little weight.

After the Assembly's long weekend recess, the outlook for Faure seemed a little brighter. Four days of reflection had made some deputies wary of a ministerial crisis at this time. Others feared no more satisfactory government could be formed.

One great hope held by friends of the government was that the reforms in French Morocco, might be under way, but disclosure of a final decision had to wait until tonight.

The possibility that the government's downfall would bring an immediate general election—never a pleasant thought to French politicians—also aided the Premier.

Spike Briggs Must Buy
Tigers by October 27th

By BILL CORUM
NEW YORK (INS)—Looks as though a friend of mine has been pushed into a tight corner out in Detroit.

My friend's name is Spike Briggs, or Walter O. Briggs Jr., if we are going to be formal about it, although I don't know why we should.

The last time I saw him was back last summer, when he was appearing on TV between games of a Yankee-Tiger doubleheader in the Yankee Stadium and talking with pride about young Al Kaline, Detroit's first National MVP in several years.

Now, it appears, that not because he, Briggs, wants to, but because of legal situations and circumstances, he may be forced out of baseball.

Or, at any rate, forced out of it in the city in which he belongs, Detroit.

OCT. 27 DEADLINE
They say that if Spike hasn't bought the Detroit club by Oct. 27, that he can't buy it under the law because he is one of trustees of his father's estate.

Let's look at the Detroit situation from a national, local, and Detroit civic standpoint.

Queen in London for Talks on Meg

ning meeting with Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

And tomorrow night, the entire royal family will dine with the Archbishop of Canterbury and most of the major bishops of the Church of England.

It is the church's opposition to the remarriage of divorced persons which has created the difficult political problems, as well as a personal problem for the deeply religious Margaret.

With these climactic discussions in sight, the two principals held last night what may be their last lengthy meeting for some time. It was a dinner party at the home of a mutual friend, Max Bonham Carter, one of Margaret's long list of suitors who since has married.

It is the fifth straight evening that the princess and the pilot had shared since he returned from his "exile" job of air attaché at the British Embassy and Margaret ended her Scottish holiday.

But yesterday, the first time since their reunion, photographers caught pictures of the sad-faced princess.

Her stern and unsmiling look as she rode about London raised the question of whether her apparent misery was the result of something she already knows or something she expects to hear soon.

Normally an animated young woman who waves and smiles from her car, yesterday she sat staring straight ahead seemingly distracted.

Townsend, although he answered newsmen's unending questions in his usual pleasant manner, also seemed more subdued in contrast to his buoyant spirits over the weekend.

Today the princess goes back to her "job" of being royalty. She is scheduled to make daily appearances at public functions for the next week.

Handicapped
Need $1 Million

Dr. Taylor Suggests
Stepped-Up Program
in Michigan Schools

LANSING (AP)—The state's school chief recommended today that the Legislature provide an additional one million dollars to step up the state's program for mentally and physically handicapped children.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, made the recommendations to Gov. Williams and the Legislature as a prelude to the Nov. 1 special legislative session.

Dr. Taylor also urged that additional money for public school teachers' salary wages be made in such a form that it could benefit non-teaching school employees as well.

Dr. Taylor said that state contributions for the schooling of mentally and physically handicapped children have fallen behind the demand, although it provided a $1,990,000 grant from the state aid fund this year.

This meets 48.5 per cent of the state's share of the mentally handicapped program and 75.25 per cent of the physically handicapped program, he said.

Parents, he said, are anxious to keep their handicapped children at home wherever possible. The falling state contributions for their schooling, he said, has discouraged school districts from expanding their programs and from taking in children from other districts.

Adequate school programs for the handicapped, he said, might relieve some of the pressure on mental institutions.

Gov. Williams has called for expansion of the mental hospitals to care for a waiting list of 1,221 mentally defective children.

Marial Law Remains in Strike-Ridden City

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—Strike-torn New Castle and Hagerstown settled down today to make the best of martial law that shows no sign of ending.

Concentration of National Guard troops was thinned, with 200 of the 600 men here moved to nearby Hagerstown, headquarters of the strike-plagued Perfect Circle Corp. Nonstrikers again went to work quietly in the New Castle foundry, where a riot last night wounded Oct. 5. Partial operations also continued in other PC plants in Hagerstown and Richmond.

Some 400 other Guardsmen left Hagerstown and Richmond last night after Gov. George N. Craig proclaimed an end of martial law around the two PC plants in Richmond.

Gov. Craig said martial law must continue in the two cities until he gets assurances from both the military officials and the CIO United Auto Workers there will be no more violence.

The Day in Birmingham
City Awards Contract for Rubbish Collection

BIRMINGHAM—In routine business last night, the City Commission awarded a one year contract for garbage and rubbish collection to the Commercial Removal Co.

The $58,000 contract calls for the usual twice-a-week garbage collection during summer months.

Garbage will still be picked up at the rear of the home or at the curb, the latter at a savings of over $9 annually to the household. Commissioners discussed but could see no real savings in turning the collection job over to the DPW.

Lawmakers held out little hope that Municipal Parking Lot No. one on Pierce Street would be ready for operation by Saturday and thought it most likely that the official opening would be Oct. 25. The Chamber of Commerce plans brief dedication ceremonies.

Three separate Nov. 14 hearings were scheduled, one to hear objections to widening Willits Street between Woodward and Bates, another for objections to new sidewalks on Willits from Woodward to Chester. The third is for sidewalk construction on Bates, running about 300 feet north from Willits.

Richard Thom, well-known local artist, will address the Newcomers Club following a 12:30 p. m. luncheon Thursday at the Commercial House. Thom has won international recognition for his series of paintings, "A History of Pharmacy in Pictures," which he was commissioned to do by Parke, Davis Co., Detroit.

In addition to discussing the detail and accuracy involved in the series, he will show colored slides on various stages of development in the 13th picture. He has completed 30 of the paintings, which are currently on exhibit at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

The Ladies Society of Redeemer Lutheran Church will sponsor its annual two-day fall rummage sale at the church on West Maple avenue from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Thursday and Friday. Proceeds from the sale, for which Mrs. R. K. Lewis and Mrs. Lee Mohr are co-chairmen, will go to Lutheran World Relief.

First in a series of square dances will be held Thursday at Walnut Lake School PTA. Instructions will begin at 8 p. m. at the school, with the dance festivities from 9 to 11.

Books for the school library will be purchased with proceeds.

At an open meeting sponsored by Friends of the Baldwin Public Library at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow, Royce Howes, associate editor of the Detroit Free Press, will speak on "The Modern Newspaper—Its Problems, Operation and Aims." The public lecture will be held at the library.

Franklin School youngsters will have their own Halloween doings come Oct. 31. The school PTA and Franklin Community Assn. will sponsor a fair that night from 7 to 9.

Movies, a puppet show, square and ballroom dancing, a white elephant sale, fish pond and bake sale are all included on the program designed for the whole family.

Hickory Grove Sells
New School Bonds

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Hickory Grove School District last night sold $550,000 in bonds to the First of Michigan Corp., low bidder with a net interest rate of 3.2 per cent.

Dr. James Read, school board president, said plans still call for groundbreaking for a new eight-classroom elementary school, around the first of the year.

The district has the distinction of, at present, having only one four-classroom school to serve 180 students.

Tentative site for the school is a 25 acre parcel on Lahser Road, between Square Lake and Hickory Grove Roads, on which the board holds an option.

The bonds will provide for the building site and added operating costs.

Single Fingerprint
Brings Confession

BIRMINGHAM— "This is the first time that I can remember in a long time when a single fingerprint has led to a confession," was the comment of Oakland County Prosecutor Fred Ziem, yesterday, after he had taken statements from two youths who police said have admitted an Oct. 9 break-in.

Charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, are Ronald Bell, 17, of 768 Davis St., and Garnett F. Gregg, 20, of Rochester, who waived examination when they appeared this morning before Justice John J. Gaffin.

They were released on $2,000 bond each, for the $40 to $50 burglary and will appear Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Police said the fingerprint found on a cash register at Northwood Lanes, 234 South Hunter Blvd., which was burglarized Oct. 9, was credited for arrest of the youths. Both have worked as pin setters at the bowling alley.

Second of Series on State's Accident Problem

A Speed Limit Is as Effective as Its Enforcement

This is the second in a series of articles on the Michigan traffic safety question before the Legislature, written by E. C. Hayhow, editor of the Hilledale Daily News and formerly an official in state and Detroit safety organizations and distributed by the Associated Press.

By E. C. HAYHOW

The other day a state legislator asked me if I favored adding 200 men to the Michigan State Police force, a recommendation Governor Williams is expected to make at the special session of the Legislature called to adopt measures to halt the soaring traffic death toll in this state.

I told him I thought such a request was modest and should be considered as only the first step toward providing the number of men the State Police actually need.

Commissioner Joseph A. Childs has told traffic authorities he needs 467 more troopers to patrol our highways and enforce our traffic laws adequately.

The addition of 200 men to his force would be, of course, a fine start toward that goal.

Our State Police force now totals approximately 750 men. Pennsylvania has 1,844 men in its state police organization; California, 1,526; New York, 1,229. It is significant that all three of these states have lower traffic death rates than Michigan.

DIRECT RELATION

It is a well established fact that there is a direct relationship between enforcement of traffic laws and accident prevention.

When enforcement is vigorous and steady, traffic deaths come down, and vice versa. With our state police so woefully undermanned, traffic law enforcement in the state's rural areas is always inadequate, sometimes negligible.

Another proposal expected to come before the Legislature, although not yet included in the Governor's program, is closely related to the need for more state police.

This proposal will call for a fixed speed limit to replace the "reasonable and prudent" law we now have, a law which, because of its vagueness, is unfair to motorists and hard to enforce.

SPEED LIMIT NEEDED

Commissioner Childs is on record as advocating a law calling for a maximum speed of 60 miles an hour during the day and 50 at night. Speed is an important factor, so the idea of a fixed speed makes sense to me.

But here is an example of what I meant when I said earlier that first things must come first.

Before we establish a maxion the ballot and they voted yes unanimously.

imum speed limit, we must increase our enforcement potential.

No speed law can be really effective unless there are enough police officers to assure that it is enforced.

A maximum speed law plus 200 more state police would be a potent accident prevention weapon.

Driver education is another of the important basic matters to be taken up at the special session.

NO FACILITIES

About two-thirds of Michigan's public high schools today offer a driver training course, which includes behind-the-wheel practice driving. The discouraging thing is, however, that only 25 per cent of the graduates of these schools have an opportunity to take this course because of the lack of automobiles or teachers. The common practice is for local automobile dealers to provide the cars, with the school systems bearing the teachers' salaries and operating costs.

The driver education proposal would assist the schools financially. The state would reimburse the schools a stipulated sum for each student enrolled in a driver training course.

There is no argument about the need for this type of education. Survey after survey has shown that trained drivers get involved in only half as many accidents as untrained drivers, and that they also commit only about half as many violations. Any controversy in connection with driver education which may arise at Lansing probably will center on how the program is to be financed.

Whatever the financing method, the proposal would be a step forward for traffic safety.

The most controversial of the basic proposals to be taken up at the special session will involve the driver licensing program and whether this function should be transferred from local police and sheriffs to trained state civil service employees.

California Wife Beaten to Death

Police Say Her Son, 19, Confesses Killing Spouse of Wealthy Executive

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The wife of a wealthy advertising executive has been brutally beaten to death and police say her 19-year-old son admits killing her.

The youth, John P. Hawley, 19, admitted "I did it—I killed my mother," after regaining consciousness last night in a San Bernardino Hospital. Detective Leonard Alter said.

Hawley threw himself under the wheels of a truck in a suicide try, police said, a few hours after the body of Mrs. Iris Hawley, 50, was found in her blood-spattered bedroom.

Her husband William, a West Coast executive of Foster & Kleiser, was in San Francisco at the time of the attack but flew back.

Alter and Pasadena officers said the boy, a strapping six-footer, had a history as a mental patient. Police said a note was found near the mother's body and quoted a phrase: "There's more to this than just gum-popping."

Alter quoted the youth as saying he killed his mother early Sunday. Asked why, the detective said the youth replied: "They wouldn't tell me about my eyes. There's no light in them." Alter said Hawley also complained that his parents never let him have bubble-gum.

The youth was not formally charged.

Northwest Airlines Asks Rate Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Northwest Airlines has filed fares with the Civil Aeronautics Board for combined coach and freight airplanes between Detroit, Milwaukee, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York.

The fares, offering reductions from $2 to $11 subject to CAB approval, are to take effect Oct. 30. They are $9 between Detroit and Milwaukee, $20 between Detroit and Minneapolis, $18 between Detroit and New York, $12 between Milwaukee and Minneapolis, $29 between Milwaukee and New York, and $36 between Minneapolis and New York.

The coach-freight flights would originate at Minneapolis at 10 p.m. and at New York at 11 p.m. On Mondays through Fridays, with 62-seat DC4 airplanes. On any flight, however, the number of seats may be reduced to accommodate cargo.

Scotland's lowlands represent only about 10 percent of the country's area but contain about 75 percent of the population and most of its industry.

HORSES! HORSES! HORSES!

The Hunter 2

There are lots of horses in the world, but they fall mainly into three types: the big heavy draft horses with huge feet and immense strength; the tough shaggy horses, often small; the slender, fast horses.

The third type, race horses and hunters, are descended from Arabian steeds. They are bred for speed and the fine lines of their bodies. You all know about horse racing, where the long, slim horse is ridden by jockeys who know just how to get the most speed from their mounts.

There are also steeplechase runs, where the horses make high jumps over hedges and long difficult jumps over water.

Here is Polly on her horse Jeeves, a jumper. Paste this picture on cereal box cardboard and color it with crayons. Cut out Polly, Jeeves and the base. Fasten the long strip beneath the horse behind the base with a brass fastener through the two holes indicated.

Fold back the ends of the base along the dotted lines and the base will stand up. Swing Jeeves' back to the right and then push him over to the left and he will jump.

Navy Claims New Speed Record for Jet Planes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new world speed record of 695.163 m.p.h. for a 500-kilometer closed course is claimed by the Navy.

Lt. Gordon Gray, 32, La Jolla, Calif., set the mark in a Douglas A4D Skyhawk jet last Saturday at Edwards Air Force Base. It was announced yesterday. It was nearly 50 miles an hour faster than the old record of 649.46 m.p.h. held by

Maj. John L. Armstrong in an Air Force F86H Sabre Jet since Sept. 3, 1954.

Doubly Sure of Death

DORCHESTER, England (AP)—A coroner's jury decided that 66-year-old Harry May killed himself by jamming the accelerator of his car to the floor, then running at full speed through his heart. The speedometer of the car, which smashed into a tree, was stuck at 77 miles an hour.

HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

Your Partner In Safety!

You can readily appreciate that the truck driver—who's what you might call a professional driver—drives many more miles per year, on the average, than the private motorist.

If anyone is interested in driving carefully, in achieving long-time safety records, it's the truck driver. For driving's his business, his bread and butter. If, through an accident, he's kept off the road, his earnings stop and his job may be jeopardized. He simply can't afford to be anything but a safe, careful, courteous driver—and the records show that's what most truck drivers are.

Here, from your partner in safety—the truck driver—are some friendly suggestions for furthering safe driving on our highways. If everybody cooperates, we'll all enjoy happier, safer driving.

1. Be sure your car is in good operating condition at all times. Have it checked periodically by a competent mechanic.
2. Obey all traffic laws. They were formulated to protect you and everyone who uses our highways.
3. In planning a trip, don't schedule more miles per day than you can comfortably and safely drive. Figure an average speed of 30 miles per hour and limit your driving time to 10 hours at most.
4. On long drives, stop now and then to rest and relax. Pull off the road to a safe parking position, get out and stretch. Don't drive if you're sleepy.
5. Never pass on a hill. It should be obvious to everyone who drives that to do so is about as lacking in common sense as anything one might do.
6. Courtesy and patience are two very necessary ingredients of safe driving. Respect the rights of others and don't let a slow-moving motorist or some other obstacle in your path up your blood pressure. Impatience can lead to taking chances and taking chances is something a good driver just doesn't do.

Report on UNESCO Rejected by Legion

This newspaper shares the disappointment many citizens must feel in the American Legion's rejection of the MURPHY report on UNESCO.

In 1953 the Legion's national executive committee denounced the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. Four months later it named a six man committee headed by Past Commander RAY MURPHY to investigate charges against UNESCO.

Principal among these was that UNESCO educational materials subverted American school children by "propounding world citizenship and adherence to a nebulous world government." It also was charged that UNESCO was infiltrated by Communists and Atheists.

Last Spring after exhaustive investigation, the MURPHY committee submitted a 40,000 word report. In it UNESCO was completely cleared of being either communistic or atheistic or of favoring world government.

At that time we commended the MURPHY Committee and hoped the report would receive due consideration. In Miami, however, it got anything but that. Instead, the delegates passed resolutions condemning UNESCO and demanding that the United States abolish its National Commission for UNESCO.

Finally, the MURPHY report containing proof that UNESCO was not guilty as charged, was shouted down without debate and without a record vote. Fortunately for the country and the United Nations, the Legion's action has no meaning beyond the opinion expressed.

This incident makes one wonder who knows most about UNESCO, the convention delegates or the Legion committee that studied the subject over an extensive period of time.

Cornell Expert Sees End of Crop Surpluses

In a thought provoking address, Professor HERRELL DEGRAFF of Cornell University took a look at American agriculture and remains optimistic.

Speaking before the Institute of Cooperation at Purdue University, he examined farm production past, present and future. In the process he highlighted factors which too often are ignored in discussions of farm problems.

One is the decrease since 1920 from 60,000,000 to 40,000,000 acres in land producing crops for export. This has had the effect of increasing by six per cent the acreage available for domestic purposes.

An even more important factor has been the 80 per cent decline in the number of horses and mules from 26,000,000 to less than five million. This has released 75,000,000 acres formerly used for raising draft animal feed, thus adding 21 per cent to land available for human needs.

A third and very important factor is increased crop yields per acre. National averages, all groups included, now run a little more than 25 per cent above 1920 levels.

A fourth factor is a 10 per cent increase in livestock and 60 per cent in the amount of meat, milk and egg production since 1920. These increases have occurred despite the fact that there has been no gain in total farm acreage during that period. On the overall basis Professor DEGRAFF believes that the cost-price relationship will hold close to 85 per cent of parity for all crops and livestock.

His optimism for agriculture seems justified by the facts he has cited. For example, his belief that farm surpluses will melt away before our steady population growth is soundly based. Our Census Bureau predicts that population will increase 7.5 per cent by 1960 and 25 per cent by 1975.

Slowpokes Dangerous

Many motorists must have been cheered to note that recognition has been given to the danger created by abnormally slow automobile drivers.

This came from a panel of experts during the recent convention of the American Automobile Association in Washington. Members of that panel were a Michigan traffic director, a Virginia State Police official and an Indiana Legislator. The Michigan member branded the slowpoke "as great a menace as the fast driver."

No one in his right mind advocates excessive speed. But on roads capable of moving large volumes of traffic expeditiously, so-called Sunday drivers are the cause of needless traffic hazards.

Convention discussion brought out the fact that police arrest as many slowpokes as speeders on Los Angeles freeways. In our view that policy makes sense.

FEDERAL inheritance taxes are so high that in many a case the happiest mourner at a rich man's funeral is Uncle Sam.

The Man About Town First Frost Delayed

Everything Now Is Matured; Farmers Hoping for a Freeze

Feel: What you should not drive like—you may meet another.

It is only about once in a quarter century that the first killing frost in this area holds off until after the middle of October, as it has this year. Our farmers now are saying, "Let it come," as there is nothing in the crop production line that it can harm. In fact, a freeze would be welcomed by the potato growers. It would shrivel up the vines, and get them out of the way of the diggers. Corn and other fall crops not already harvested have matured to a point beyond frost damage. Some of our flowers would suffer, but that's the only adverse circumstance about a killing frost at this late date.

On a European trip, Congressman George A. Dondero writes: "Ten days at sea is too long. Land next Sunday at Naples."

"We saw pictures of a Missouri boy and a 13½-pound cabbage in some of the Michigan papers," phoned

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Wheeling of Keego Harbor, "and beg to inform the world that we raised one that weighs over three times as much, 43 pounds."

Notice in the clerks' headquarters of one of Pontiac's largest stores:

"Be a self starter and the boss won't have to be a crank."

Three young-at-heart football fans, Lemuel VanSyckle, 97, of Waterford, and John Marvin, 91, and Joe Ammon, 88, of Clarkston, enjoyed a weekend game, and also did a good job at carrying the ball at the pancake supper that followed.

The office observer already calls attention to the fact that 1956 will have more than the average number of Fridays the thirteenth. It will have three, in January, April and July. The current year had only one, in May.

A phone call from Mrs. Bernard Feldman of Cass Lake, says she has taken all of the autumn foliage tours mapped in the Pontiac Press, and is prouder than ever of her county.

When their poultry flock decreased a few every night, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Freling of Waterford, put up a vigil, and caught a ferret and their family pet cat fighting over one of the carcasses.

It has been brought to my attention by Postmaster Leslie H. Dean that a concise and instructive pamphlet on parcel wrapping will soon be available for free distribution at the post office.

ADA Condemnation of Nixon May Help His Nomination by the Republican Party

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon's chances of becoming the Republican presidential nominee if Ike doesn't run have been given a notable assist from an unexpected quarter — the "Americans for Democratic Action."

Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., national chairman for the organization, has come out with a piece of advice to the Republicans—namely, "to drop Richard Nixon."

The main argument seems to be that the "independent voter" will not accept Nixon. By "independent voter," of course, the ADA spokesman means the radical and socialist groups in America which the ADA has been trying for several years to increase but which still constitute a small minority as contrasted with the overwhelming majority of non-radical groups.

Rauh in his pronouncement says the Conservative Republicans are trying "to clean up" Vice President Nixon. If it has reference to the famous campaign fund which caused excitement in 1952 campaign, it might furnish what some Republicans have been longing for—namely, to bring to public attention the two campaign funds which Stevenson mentioned in 1952 but never explained and the names of the contributors who he never made public.

GUTTER CAMPAIGN Rauh declared Nixon conducted a "gutter and huckster" campaign for the vice presidency in 1952 and got in the Senate "by conducting one of the most infamous smear campaigns in American political history."

By "smear campaign" is meant Nixon's anti-Communist issue, which the ADA chairman in a statement only a few weeks ago seemed to think has since subsided.

Nixon has been a thorn in the side of the ADA and Democratic leaders because he helped expose Alger Hiss as a perjurer — an unforgivable crime so far as the radicals are concerned. It was Nixon who did not hesitate to discuss the anti-Communist problem in the 1954 congressional campaign, arousing the ire of certain Democrats on Capitol Hill.

HELPED ELECT IKE It was "Korea, communism, and corruption" which epitomized as issues the movement against Trumanism in 1952 and helped to elect Eisenhower. Recently those with whom the wish has been father to the thought have sought to make it appear that the anti-Communist issue is dead and buried.

But the anti-Communist issue isn't dead in American politics. It will cost the Democrats millions of votes next time because there is no evidence that the Democratic party leadership has taken a firm stand against Communist infiltration in America. Instead, the main energies of the Democratic leaders have been applied toward discrediting the Eisenhower regime's security program.

Efforts have been made seeking to prove that the persons fired on security grounds by the Eisenhower Administration were really fired for political purposes. "The Fund for the Republic," which is playing the same game on the security issue as the ADA and the Democratic party strategists, recently sponsored a "study" of about 50 selected cases, giving out only fragments of testimony designed to prove that the persons involved were unfairly treated.

WILL INSURE CLEAN-UP Some day the administration will be compelled to answer this form of attack by publicizing some of the cases that arose under the Truman regime involving great danger to the national security, and this will only tend to intensify the anti-Communist issue.

Certainly the nomination of Vice President Nixon will insure a "clean-up," but it will not be the Republican nominee or the party that will be the subject of the "clean-up." Presidential elections are often swung by group voting. There are enough Democrats who feel deeply on the anti-Communist issue to vote against Stevenson who to them typifies the Truman attitude of softness toward the issue.

Maybe someone will come along to advise the Democrats "to drop Stevenson" and rally behind Hariman, who seems to be the only Democrat in the presidential race at least inclined toward a realistic point of view on the anti-Communist issue.

Film Star Calls Childbirth a "Religious Experience"

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A movie star, planning to have her baby the natural way, said she wants to know exactly what is happening when her baby is born—"It should be the greatest thrill of a woman's lifetime."

Another movie star had her first baby in a hospital in the standard nineteenth century way. "Toward the end of the first stage of labor they gave me a shot of something — and the next thing I knew I had a baby. They told me I should have been grateful. I wasn't. They had put me out against my wishes."

The poor girl should have realized that the hospital "officials" have to make a big deal of childbirth and the "patient" must leave her wishes, dignity and other trifles at home. The great doctors and oversophisticated nurses in the hospital can't bother with such things.

When this young mother had her second baby, it was at home by natural childbirth. This, she says, was "a beautiful experience; I'd even call it a religious experience." Her answer to a friend who asked her why a movie star should prefer natural childbirth, with all that pain; "Pain, my eye. It's just a few contractions."

WORD TO MOTHERS

To prospective mothers who are at the mercy of the old timers, another observation made by this movie actress who has born one child the nineteenth century way and one the Reade way (natural) should be of interest.

"Knowing that you can have the anesthetic at any time you want it—you don't want it! At least I didn't. But the fact that it's available is insurance against being tense. You can relax."

Now if I were to make such a statement as a doctor a lot of well, shall we say wisecracking women would ask how many babies I have had, or something equally absurd. We can't blame the poor creatures — the only instruction they have had is what the old timers have deemed proper.

One doctor, an old timer, told the first star quoted that he would deliver her baby for $2,000 and she knows another doctor who named a $5,000 fee to one of her friends. The doctor who attended her confinement at home charged $300.

After all, when you make a production out of it, in the hospital, with all the glamour, men in white, masked marvels, etc., somebody must pay for it.

FEELS SORRY I feel sorry for the poor creatures who have to enter an institution and submit to all the rules and regulations in order to have a baby. I can sympathize with them when they return home with a baby, if they wonder whether the smart nurse picked the right baby from the lot on display in the show window.

But all I can do about it is to keep telling them that home is the best place to have a baby. Every woman who expects a baby may learn something to the advantage of her welfare and happiness by studying Little Lesson No. 4, Preparing for Maternity, for which send me 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich. (Copyright 1955)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

It's Difficult to Translate Idioms, Which Reflect Psychology of Words

"Idioms" are special uses of words which are not easy to translate literally into another language. Notice the dismay of the Spanish student who complimented his dance partner on how well she looked in her "nightgown." Advertisers call this the "feeling tone" of words.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case P-358: Earlier this year I received a letter taking me to task for a supposed error in my column.

I had asked: "At which celebration below would chrysanthemums be most appropriate?"

Then I had given four possible answers: Mother's Day — Dad's Day — Labor Day — Father's Day. And I had indicated that Dad's Day was the correct reply.

To my surprise, however, I received the following terse warning from the National Father's Day Committee:

"I should like you to know that the official holiday is called Father's Day and the official flower is the red rose for the living and the white rose for the departed."

But this executive apparently isn't up-to-date on American college football games. For there is a big difference in America between Dad's Day and Father's Day. He mistook the football October tribute called Dad's Day for his own pet project of Father's Day. That would be an easy error for any foreigner to make, since football is so typically an American pastime.

'Teenage Girls' Conduct Depends on Appearance'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Something should be done about the wearing of Levi's by teenage girls. I have worked for the past four years with teenagers and younger girls. Naturally I have had the chance to study them as they pass from one age to another.

Among the teenage girls, I find their conduct is governed by their appearance. The greater percentage of our teenage girls are too masculine, and the wearing of Levi's is one of its encouraging factors.

This is what we want and need . . . more teenage ladies and less tomboys. When dressed like boys, they act like boys. A lady-like teenage girl helps to improve the conduct of teenage boys.

All mothers who have teenage girls should start an all-out war against the wearing of Levi's by their daughters.

The problem is becoming a serious one in our recreational areas.

'Observer' Thinks Law Should Be Taught to All

Modern living is all right if the people keep the law. But according to the records, the people have lost the law.

I would suggest that the churches where people are flocking for comfort teach them the law. Modern living without law brings sickness, high costs of living, tragedies beyond imagination.

Our youth are drifting into a world of make believe. They, at 12 years of age, act and dress like 18 year olds. They have missed the greatest years of their lives to learn, because the law has not been taught.

You can see and hear it every day.

Argentina's New Regime Fights for Men's Minds

By BRUCE HENDERSON

(For Hal Boyle)

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A battle royal for men's minds is going on in Argentina. The outcome could decide whether this nation builds democracy from the ruins of shattered Peronism or reverts to dictatorship.

A press campaign is trying to persuade the working man still fanatically dedicated to Juan Peron that he can get along even better without the fallen president—and be free besides. It is being conducted by the provisional government set up after rebels ousted Peron last month.

It's an important propaganda job and a tough one. Without at least the passive cooperation of these peoples, achieving stability will be difficult. Peron has a 10-year head start in drilling into their minds the idea he was the only one capable of leading them to the better life.

Argentina's General Confederation of Labor (CGT) claims six million of the country's 19 million citizens. The CGT was Peron's big fist.

In 1945 a daylong strike and demonstration by the CGT forced a military clique which had arrested Peron to free him. That show of mass support hoisted Peron into the presidency the following year.

How many of the CGT's claimed six million are still avid followers of the exiled Peron is questionable, but surely the figure is high. Unless taught something other than "Peronismo," they could be a constant threat to tranquility.

The government of Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi is trying to show the Peronistas the difference between labor unions free to chart their own course and those dominated by a government. It is also trying to get across the meaning of "hard money." Newspapers under temporary direction of the provisional authorities carry editorial on these subjects almost daily.

Typical were two editorials on the same page of "La Epoca" one day last week. One, aimed at CGT-affiliated unions which will elect new officers soon under government supervision, said:

"An effective union democracy is the task of the hour."

The second editorial, entitled "Salary and Money," carried forward the contention of Peron's opponents that salary raises have given the workers were quickly gobbled up by inflation.

"The people work and for their work receive a salary in pesos made of paper," it said. "Pesos have value because they represent the nation's wealth. Governments spend and spend. When their money is gone, instead of reducing the spending, they print pesos, which is easier. Paper costs little and is printed rapidly. What happens then?"

"If more pesos are printed but no more wealth is developed, each peso is worth less wealth. The salaries, then, are not enough. One must augment them, because prices go up." In Argentina such thoughts have not been brought up publicly for a long time.

Looking Back

15 Years Ago: 800,000 MEN may be drafted within eight months. ONE FORECAST has Willie president by five million votes. 20 Years Ago: JAPS MAY seize five Chinese states. BRITAIN DEMANDS France's aid in Mediterranean; Laval consents.

you tried to change it literally into German or French?

A Spanish boy was enrolled at Northwestern University some years ago. He came from Mexico and could speak barely a dozen words of English.

But he picked up our language rapidly. Since he was handsome and chivalrous, the coeds were enamored of him.

He was to escort one of them to a formal dance, so he called for her at the dormitory.

As she came down the stairway in her evening gown, this tactful Spanish boy decided to pay her a compliment.

"How beautiful you look in your nightgown," he gallantly stated. At which the other girls laughed and giggled.

"How should I know it was wrong?" the boy later asked me. "My English professor said 'evening' and 'night' are synonyms and can be substituted for each other."

But it is our idiom to link "evening" with the apparel of a girl, attending a formal night party. So we speak of "evening gown" at the 8 o'clock dance and "nightgown" when she retires to her bed at maybe 2 a.m.

A false note is struck when we violate this idiomatic use of words. In advertising, we talk about the proper "feeling tone," which means the appropriate use of language.

"A slender maiden" thus differs from "A skinny maiden" in its feeling tone, doesn't it? That's part of the psychology of words, for words have distinctive personalities. Even synonyms are not identical twins.

For further information about advertising, send for my booklet "Modern Advertising & Selling Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope and 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send this psychological chart and pamphlet. (Copyright 1955)

Following their honeymoon trip to Canada the newlyweds will make their home on Winkelman drive.

Wilma Clack Becomes Fall Bride

William G. Brodes Will Make Home in Drayton Woods

Before an altar banked with fugi chrysanthemums and palms, Wilma J. Clack became the bride of William G. Brode on Saturday evening.

The 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Tom Malone at Bethany Baptist Church in the presence of 300 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson of East Mansfield avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brode of Seminoles avenue.

A gown of Rose Pointe Chantilly lace over satin, featuring a cathedral-length train, was worn by the bride. Her illusion veil was secured by a Juliet cap and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

She carried an arrangement of white roses and ivy for her bridal bouquet.

Rosie Maxim was the bride's maid of honor. Mrs. Robert Pierson, sister of the bridegroom; Reba Adler, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Robert Schmitzer were the bride's other attendants.

ALL GOWNED ALIKE

All of the attendants wore gowns fashioned alike in fantasy green crystallette. They carried arrangements of fugi chrysanthemums in shades of rust and gold.

Deborah Adler, another cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Her gown was identical in color and fashion to the attendants.

William Pierson, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

L. Bruce J. Brode performed the duties of best man for his brother, and the guests were seated by Norman Jennings, Robert Pierson and Robert Clark.

When Mrs. Wilson received her guests at the reception held immediately following the ceremony in the parlors of the church, she was wearing a dark green tulle dress with mauve accessories and a pink rose corsage.

CHOOSES BLUE

Mrs. Brode chose a Wedgewood blue tulle dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For their honeymoon trip to Florida, the new Mrs. Brode wore a blue suit with matching accessories and a white rose corsage.

Death-Oh, Deah, One Just Mustn't Forget the Filly

LONDON (U-P)—The Daily Telegraph complained today that the British press had neglected Juliet Jones in its coverage of Princess Margaret's and Peter Townsend's weekend in the country.

Juliet, a 3-year-old filly owned by Miss Norah Wilmot, was ridden by Townsend during the visit he and the princess made to her cousin's country home. Telegraph columnist "Peterborough" commented.

"The events of the weekend seem to have resulted in press disclo-tures of the private lives of anyone remotely concerned with the two principal characters. "I feel the picture should be completed with some personal information about Juliet Jones, the filly whose early morning gallops have been mentioned."

"She last ran at Windsor Sept. 14 and was fifth out of seven runners."

"Before that she ran successively at Leicester, Birmingham and Nottingham."

"On each occasion she ran last."

Dandelions are found most abundantly on the warmest areas of the ground and buried heating pipelines often can be traced by their concentration.

Hollywood Headlines:

Swedes' Nude Swimming Fails to Shock Mitchum

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—Rover boy Robert Mitchum is back from film making abroad with his usual supply of unusual tales.

Like watching member of a film company in Sweden—male and female—strip down for a noon-time swim.

Mitchum is a magnet for odd happenings, as anyone who reads the daily press can tell you. The way he tells them, they sound normal enough. For instance, he told of filming locations for his European-made movie "Foreign Intrigue."

"We were at a summer resort, down the archipelago," he remarked. "It was during the summer, and pretty warm for Sweden. So when lunch time came, some of the people, including the wardrobe girl, took off their clothes and went swimming."

No suits? "Of course not. In Sweden, the summer season lasts only about two weeks. It doesn't pay to invest in a swimming suit."

Did he join them?

"No. I was hungry for lunch. Besides, the water's too cold. When it gets up to 45 degrees, the Swedes think it's like a warm bath. They'd even swim in a martini." So saying, he ordered another cold one for himself. The

Was he shocked? (Now there's a silly question—Mitchum shocked by anything?)

"No," he confirmed. "It seemed perfectly natural and wholesome. I was a guest of the country; I had to accept their customs."

"As a matter of fact, when we were in Stockholm the mothers were campaigning for mixed nude bathing in the schools. The adults do it, so they argued it was traumatic for the children to be subjected to false prudery."

He added that he was less impressed by the bathing habits he encountered on the French Riviera, where bikini suits are rampant.

"Some of the French babes looked okay in them," he observed. "But others merely exposed undulant rolls of flab."

Jane Withers to Marry Singer Aboard Yacht

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—Actress Jane Withers has announced that she and singer Ken Errair will be married Sunday on a yacht in Newport harbor.

The former child star whose divorce from Texas oilman William P. Moss Jr. became final last July 20 said she and Errair will leave immediately for Juarez, Mex., where he has a singing date.

Miss Withers, 29, and Moss had three children. This will be the first marriage for Errair, 27, whose parents live in Detroit.

Brothers Ending Fireworks Art After 25 Years

COLOMA, Mich. (U-P)—The Picone brothers have set off their last whooshing skyrocket, their last burst of starfire, their last old glory blazing red, white and blue against the night sky.

Sam and Joe Picone are retiring from the fireworks business by dissolving the Michigan Fireworks Display Co., finishing 25 years of providing beauty and thrills for thousands of spectators at fairs, carnivals, civic events and holidays.

A family tragedy involving a fatal accident in another fireworks plant was responsible in large part for the Picones' decision to retire. A brother, Frank, was killed last year in an explosion at a Chicago fireworks factory he was visiting.

Sam and Joe had carried on in a trade learned from their father, Frank Picone. Father Picone worked as a youth in an Italian government arsenal, making explosives for ammunition. He came to America in 1900 and taught his craft to his sons.

ELABORATE DISPLAYS
The brothers began making elaborate fireworks displays as a sideline on their farm north of Coloma. In their work they put an art and spirit brought from Italy, where fireworks displays are stupendous things, staged at religious festivals the year round.

It takes years of experience and experimenting to work out an elaborate display piece, arranging its various parts and setting them off with split-second timing.

They proudly note they never had an accident in their many years of manufacturing fireworks. From the Picone plant have come intricate battle scenes, racing bikes, attacking airplanes, flowers in bloom. Sandwiched between the big displays were skyrockets, shooting stars, and roman candles.

BIGGEST SHOW
One of their biggest shows in a quarter century of spectacular displays was an hour and 15 minutes of fireworks at the Coloma Gladiolus Festival last year. Their grand finale came with this year's Blossomland Festival at St. Joseph. It wound up with the boom of 150 exploding star shells.

Court Costs, Probation Awarded by Judge

Jack W. Rivers, 18, of 9180 Redwood, Milford, yesterday was placed on three-year probation and assessed $200 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

Rivers admitted Sept. 21 breaking into the Zesto Drive-In, 3400 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, last Aug. 15.

Evasive Description

MOSCOW (U-P)—The latest volume of the Soviet Encyclopedia doesn't quite acknowledge that the Wright Brothers were the first to fly an airplane, but it does concede: "The Wrights were the first masters of the art of piloting a plane in flight and in making a landing with the motor shut off."

Jury to Decide Sanity of Murder Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY (U-P)—A jury today will decide whether Otto A. Loel is sane. If they find he is, he will go on trial immediately for the knife slaying of a California housewife.

Psychiatrists yesterday testified that the 44-year-old wanderer was an "abnormal personality" but not insane. One described him as a man without a conscience.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jeanne Henderson, 31, of Compton, Calif., was found stabbed 13 times in a motel here Jan. 10, 1954.

Loel was arrested a year later in Sanford, Fla.

He detailed a weird life to psychiatrists at an Oklahoma state hospital, claiming to have been a confidence man in China, a milk farmer, lumberjack and a police chief at the small western Oregon town of Sandy in 1948.

Loel told doctors that he had a fight with Mrs. Henderson in the motel but had no memory of stabbing her.

John Waynes Expect April Visit From Stork

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—Actor John Wayne has disclosed he and his wife, the former Pilar Palette, Peruvian beauty, are expecting a baby next April.

Wayne, 48, and Miss Palette, 27, were married last Nov. 2. She is his third wife. He had four children by his first marriage to Josephine Saenz, none by his second wife, Esperanza (Chata) Bauer.

Peaks, Planutis on Bench From Minor Ailments

Both, However, May Be Ready for Illini in Saturday Game

EAST LANSING (AP)—Minor ailments have benched two of Michigan State's 1st string backfield men.

Left half Clarence Peaks is resting an ankle injured in Saturday's 21-7 upset over Notre Dame. Full back Gerry Planutis is confined to the college infirmary with a chest cold.

Team physicians expect both to shape up for Saturday's Big Ten meeting with the University of Illinois.

Second string right half Jim Wulff missed practice yesterday because of a strained muscle. It was questionable if he would be ready by Saturday.

John Matsko, 2nd string center suffered a hip injury Saturday. He was called home to St. Michael, Pa. yesterday by the death of his father.

Matsko's hip injury wasn't believed serious enough to keep him out of the Illinois game.

Meanwhile the Spartan 1st string worked out against 2nd and 3rd stringers using University of Illinois players yesterday as Coach Duffy Daugherty sought to bolster the Spartan defense against the Illini.

Tribe Reaches Player Limit

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians brought their roster to its top limit of 44 today by acquiring a pitcher from San Diego, another from Reading, three players from their Tulsa farm club and four from Indianapolis.

Because the Tribe has four ex-servicemen, it is allowed to carry four above the 40-player limit. Walvers were asked on outfielder Ralph Kiner, who has announced he is retiring.

Lynn Waldorf Has Friend in California Chancellor

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Chancellor Clark Kerr of the University of California quickly rallied to the defense of football Coach Lynn O. (Poppy) Waldorf, who was hung in effigy on a campus gate yesterday.

Waldorf, whose Bear squad was trimmed 21-0 last Saturday by Oregon, wryly told sports writers: "It's one of the hazards of the coaching profession."

Kerr said a few students who considered themselves "vigilantes" were responsible.

"Students and alumni will be shocked, as I am, by the attack against Coach Waldorf," Kerr said in a statement, "especially in view of the fine contributions that he has made to our team since coming here in 1947."

"Coach Waldorf's record of 63

Injuries Hit 'M' Precision Play

ANN ARBOR (AP)—That one golden moment when 11 men jell into an unstoppable football offense has escaped Michigan's top ranked Wolverines so far this year. Again Saturday against Northwestern, Michigan capitalized on fumbles, brilliant individual play and a crushing defense for its two touchdown victory.

But the grinding, yard-a-second offense which means every man is working together as a perfect cohesive unit has not shown itself yet.

The reason is very likely the obvious one. Michigan's players have been bound together more by adhesive tape than they have by practice.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan thinks "these injuries are running us into the ground."

"The boys haven't worked together enough to get the confidence and precision that comes with acting as a unit," Oosterbaan says.

Testimony appeared all over "They get used to their timing and ball handling when they work together—we just haven't been able to do this with all the injuries we've had," Oosterbaan says.

the field Saturday. Oosterbaan was forced to start a 4th string full-back, Earl Johnson.

To spell Johnson he dug into his injury list and called on ailing Lou Baldacci, the 1st string fullback, and hobbling Dave Hill, the 2nd stringer, both of whom played somewhat stiff-legged.

Oosterbaan started 2nd string center Jerry Goebel playing with a bad knee.

Right halfback Tony Branoff tried four times to skirt the Northwestern left end on the reverse. He lost the ball twice and 13 yards besides.

Reason may or may not have been that for most of the season, Ron Kramer has been Michigan's left end, but Saturday he was nursing a fractured rib on the sidelines.

End Mike Rotunno, played a fine defensive game, returning to the field even after he had hurt his ankle. With Rotunno playing injured, Kramer's absence was felt even more.

With a Little Brown Jug battle brewing next Saturday against a Minnesota team in perfect health, Michigan may be without the services of quarterback Jim Maddock (bruised hip) and Rotunno.

For a Loosing Cause

The Athletics led the American League in home runs in the 1943 season with a total of 112, but finished in cellar position in the loop standings.

Arizona reports that 86 per cent of its high schools field football teams.

Tigers Showed Attendance Rise

Home and Away Mark Up 18 Per Cent; Road Increase Best in AL

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tiger combined attendance, home and road, was up 18 per cent in 1955 over 1954 figures, according to final tabulations. Detroit also showed the greatest increase in total road attendance of any club in the American League.

On home attendance of 1,181,338, the Tigers showed an increase of nine per cent over 1954 in customers attending games at Briggs Stadium.

"Our home attendance was most gratifying in view of the bad weather which we feel cut down the gate at several of the bigger games," Spike Briggs said.

As a road attraction the Tigers picked up 346,029 or 31 per cent over the previous season with 1,080,787.

Night game attendance at home was 473,600 for 14 night games. For a like number of night contests the previous attendance was 434,956. Increase was 38,544.

Inter-Lakes League football race is nearing the finish line. Up to now it looks certain that Southfield, Van Dyke and Waterford are on the inside track.

Farmington Falcons and the 1954 loop champion Berkley Bears have been virtually scratched from the race. Each has failed to count in the win column and has lost three league games. Tom Evans' Walled Lake Vikings rate as long-shots but still show signs of contention for the crown.

Each of the six I-L schools faces two more conference contests with Friday night's homecoming battle at Van Dyke against Southfield playing a major role in determining this year's top team. Blue-jays and Abes are tied for I-L 1st place.

Only losses for both schools have come in non-league clashes with the Jays failing in their opener to Birmingham Maples, 14-7, while Van Dyke dropped its 1st game to East Detroit, 19-0.

In a 2nd I-L meeting, Waterford Skippers face scoreless Berkley at home and aim to keep their scoring spree alive after trouncing Farmington last week, 40-6. They are in 2nd place.

A final league encounter pits Farmington against Walled Lake on the Vikings' home field. Vikings will aim to even their 1-2 mark while the visitors seek their initial league victory. Their only win was a one-point squeak over non-league Rochester 14-13.

Dan Barnabo's Romeo gridders hope to take revenge of last Friday's loss to Lapeer (6-0) at Oxford. It was the Bulldogs' 1st loss this year and the 1st touchdown scored against the squad since the opener on Sept. 16. Oxford holds a 1-3-1 mark.

In another independent battle, Lapeer goes to Rochester to tackle Gene Konley's team, rested after a week's layoff while Lapeer will strive to better its 4-1 record. On the same card, Bloomfield Hills, jubilant after last week's 1st win in two-and-a-half years, goes to Harper Woods South Lyon with Oak Park at Oak Park.

Release From A's Points to End of Raschi Career

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Vic Raschi, once one of the New York Yankees' top pitchers, apparently is at the end of his major league playing was let out "to make room on our staff for younger men."

"Raschi was a fine example to our young pitchers last season," Kennedy added. "He is not only a skillful pitcher but a great competitor and I know they benefited from watching him."

The hurler started his professional career in Amsterdam, N.Y., of the Canadian-American League.

The veteran righthander was given his unconditional release yesterday by the Kansas City Athletics. He won four games and lost six for the A's in the past baseball season, completing only one game.

Raschi, who will be 37 next March, spent seven years with the Yankees and was a 20-game winner three seasons. He appeared in 11 World Series games.

The Yankees sold him to the St. Louis Cardinals after the 1953 season for a reported $85,000 and he won eight and lost nine with them. The Cards released him last spring and the Athletics picked him up.

Ray Kennedy, the A's player personnel manager, said Raschi

A Rarity Among College Coaches

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—It turns out there's more security in college football coaching than in most other jobs—for some people, that is.

Take Lombe S. Honaker, for example. He turned up as a young ambitious coach at Maryville College shortly after World War I, has now reached the middle of his 35th season at the East Tennessee institution and apparently can have the job as long as he wants it.

Or take P. V. (Putty) Overall, who has been coaching most of the time since 1924 at Tennessee Polytechnic Institute in Cookeville.

There's Andrew (Scrappy) Moore, a fixture at the University of Chattanooga since the late 1920's first as an assistant and then as head coach.

As head coaches, these three mentors have put in 85 years on the gridiron, counting this season. Overall, who tried to step aside for a younger man two or three times, finally succeeded and is watching Tennessee Tech football this year as faculty chairman of athletics.

wins, 21 losses and 4 ties to date is one of which we can all be proud...

"His fine attitude toward the men and the sport they play has added to the all around education of the players and complemented the objectives of a great university."

"It is a privilege," Kerr concluded, "for the university to continue to meet its obligations to a fine man."

Waldorf's California team will meet Southern California next Saturday, 33-21 victor last week over powerful Wisconsin of the big 10.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY
FEEL WEIGHT OF BALL—Pendulum! Impress the word on your mind when you take your stance. Concentrate on it, as all the stars do. Bowling begins with the push-away of the ball, as sketch shows, and then comes pendulum motion. It's the answer for sound, effortless form. The ball must be swung freely, so that you feel its weight all the way through its backward and forward arc. Let it swing of its own weight, and you'll soon have it in a constant groove. You'll develop consistent speed and control.

If you feel you need a little more speed, don't try to get it by rushing your footwork or hurrying the swing. It simply doesn't work. To increase speed, you lengthen the swinging arc by adding to the push-away. Pendulum motion! Develop it, and you're well on your way to top scoring.

Grains Display
Deep Lethargy

CHICAGO (AP)—In an extremely slow trade grains dipped slightly under previous closing prices on the Board of Trade today.

The main feature of the market was its deep lethargy. After initial transactions were completed, buying and selling orders dried up. Brokers stood around the pits with little to do. Only in soybeans was there any real activity.

A steady tone was maintained at the start, giving way later to a slightly easier tendency. This wasn't based on any selling pressure, but rather reflected a lack of demand.

Wheat, near the end of the first hour was $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower, December \$2.03; corn $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower, December \$1.27; oats $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, December 62 $\frac{1}{2}$; rye unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, December \$1.08 $\frac{1}{2}$; soybeans $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower, November \$2.33 and 15 to October \$2.50.
