Hurricane Crashes Inland, Spawns Killer Tornadoes

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah, a vicious storm that has taken nearby 30 lives, crashed inland today and spun off killing and destructive tornadoes.

The Weather Bureau said at a late hour that the eye was between San Benito and Harlingen after smashing ashore at the mouth of the Rio Grande, which separates Texas and Mexico.

Hurricane normally begin a great curve toward the northeast when they hit land and this does not rule out the possibility it might turn into the Gulf of Mexico again.

But it eased the severity of the forecasts for Corpus Christi, 160 miles north of Brownsville, where the Weather Bureau earlier predicted Beulah would hit with storm-driven tides of possible historic heights.

★ ★ ★

At Corpus Christi, rain and wind hit and some trees toppled, but traffic remained heavy on streets and many business houses remained open.

FORCE DROPS

The force of the winds, once estimated at 160 miles per hour while the hurricane was in the Gulf of Mexico, began to drop. Beulah was 600 miles in diameter.

An estimated 30,000 persons on the United States side of the Rio Grande fled to safer ground ahead of the hurricane. Ham radio operators said a Mexican village suffered heavy damage.

Toradoes spawned by the hurricane dipped down along the coast for more than 250 miles to the north.

★ ★ ★

The tornadoes killed at least three persons. Another was missing as half a dozen of the twisters struck, destroying homes and wrecking automobiles.

THREE KILLED

The tornadoes a phenomenon of big hurricanes, killed three persons at Palacios, midway between Houston and Corpus Christi on Matagorda Bay.

★ ★ ★

The tornado deaths brought the toll of Beulah to 27 since it was spawned in the Atlantic Ocean days ago, with one person missing. Heaviest death toll was in the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

City Income Tax Is Favored in Pontiac Vote

BRITAIN'S NEWEST — The 58,000-ton Queen Elizabeth II, Britain's newest ocean liner, goes down the ways into the River Clyde at Clydebank, Scotland, today after being launched by Queen Elizabeth II. The ship's predecessor, the liner Queen Elizabeth, is going out of service soon.

By BOB WISLER

Pontiac residents who went to the polls yesterday showed they prefer a city income tax rather than a hike in the property tax levy.

Unofficial totals were 4,682 in favor of an income tax (with a 3-mill property tax decrease), 2,606 for raising the property tax levy by 4 mills ($4 per $1,000 of assessed valuation).

Nearly 25 per cent of the city's 30,000 registered voters took part in the election, a higher percentage than city officials had anticipated.

However, whether this is a high enough percentage to conclude that the City Commission will definitely enact an income tax ordinance is a question that apparently remains open.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said today that the City Commission will have to study the results of the election precinct by precinct before making a final decision.

"This will have to be decided by the commission as a group," he said.

Commissioners were informed of the results of the election at last night's commission meeting but adjourned without stating they will definitely enact an income tax.

Taylor said the commissioners would probably decide at next Monday's informal meeting.

The mayor indicated concern that enactment of an income tax could set off a drive for a referendum vote.

The commission passed an income tax in 1964 but a drive for a referendum vote led to a repeal of the ordinance. In March 1965, about 28 per cent of city voters turned thumbs down on an income tax by nearly 2½ to 1. Totals were 6,647 against, 2,637 for.

Because of the disheartening results of that election commissioners this year decided on an advisory election before attempting to enact any kind of new tax.

"We were accused of shoving an income tax through the last time," one commissioner said. The advisory vote was to preclude that charge, he said.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's vote clearly showed a preference for an income tax—one per cent for residents, a half per cent for nonresidents working in the city.

Only four precincts went for a raise in the property tax levy, and three of these were in District 3.

The other was in District 2, precinct 40 (voting at Washington Junior High School), where a property tax hike was favored by a thin margin of 135 to 130.

Even in District 3 the total vote was conclusively for the income tax—416 to 313. In its three precincts favoring the property tax raise the margin only totaled 17 votes, 186 for the raise and 171 for an income tax.

Voters in District 1, 4 and 5 were more than 2-1 in favor of an income tax. The results: District 1, income tax, 340, property tax raise, 165; District 4, income tax, 968, property tax raise, 411; District 5, income tax, 1,370, property tax raise, 626.

Other results: District 2, income tax 790, property tax hike, 646; District 6, income tax 489, property tax hike, 222; District 7, income tax 309, property tax raise, 223.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

Taylor expressed appreciation to city employes, especially firemen and members of the Citizens Finance Study Committee, who campaigned for a voter turnout.

★ ★ ★

He said he thought that voters recognized city efforts to cut expenses to meet pressing financial problems. "I think it was a vote of confidence," he said.

To levy an income tax effective Jan. 1 the commission must pass an ordinance by Nov. 1.

Open Housing Delay Charged

The question of an open occupancy ordinance for Pontiac came up again last night with a charge that the commission is stalling on the issue.

Placard-carrying Negro youths paced in front of the City Hall entrance prior to the commission meeting with such messages as, "Action, Not Talk." "Taxation Is Equal, Why Not Housing?" "The Black Rebellion Wants You."

Related Stories, Pages A-2, F-1

Richard Northcross, president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY), who five weeks ago asked for an open occupancy ordinance, read a statement which said the organization will "picket, demonstrate and employ any method at our command to prod the City Commission into enacting a strong open occupancy ordinance."

In opening his remarks, Northcross accused the city government of employing a stall.

This brought immediate reaction from Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. who said he would adjourn the meeting if Northcross merely wanted to criticize the commission.

DEVOTED TIME

Taylor said he and other city officials had devoted a great deal of time to meeting with the Negro organization in attempts to solve its problems.

Although Northcross at one point said "diplomacy (on the part of POOBY) had just about run its course," he mentioned that "We are still ready to talk."

Northcross read a statement, endorsed by the organization, which said "it appears to us that the commission intends to employ all the means at its command to delay enactment of a much needed open occupancy ordinance in face of the obvious urgency of the present situation."

Taylor scheduled five informal commission meetings in forthcoming weeks to discuss the ordinance and other city matters. The commissioners received another sheaf of documents from Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant to help them reach a decision on the ordinance.

MEETING NOT SCHEDULED

In response to a question from the audience, Taylor said the commission has not yet held an informal meeting to discuss the ordinance.

On Medicare Rate

Elderly Await Word

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly are supposed to find out by Oct. 1 whether the $3 a month they now pay for doctor-bill insurance under Medicare will be increased for the coming two years, but the announcement may be delayed.

★ ★ ★

It was learned the administration is considering asking Congress to extend the date by which John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, is required to announce the new rate.

Sources said department officials would like to see the date extended until Congress has completed action on Medicare provisions in the Social Security bill — probably not until November.

Department officials say many pending Medicare proposals could require a rate increase above whatever increase the department might now find necessary.

One proposal, now being hotly debated, would add the cost of prescription drugs to Medicare benefits.

50-CENT INCREASE

Administration officials have said this would mean raising the rate by 50 cents to $1. The government contributes an equal amount.

Gardner said last week he is against adding drugs to Medicare before he gets a final task force report on the issue next June 1.

The Social Security package, including Medicare, has passed the House and now is in the Senate.

Pan Am Strikers Ignoring Courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking Pan American World Airways workers ignored back-to-work court orders and peace-making efforts of federal mediators today in a walkout that slowed operations of the nation's biggest overseas airline.

"There are pickets at every station," said a spokesman for the AFL-CIO Brotherhod of Railway and Airline Clerks, "and there are long delays on all flights." However, a Pan American spokesman in New York said the planes were flying.

It was not clear how many of the 7,000 clerks, ticket agents and cargo handlers were striking.

REPRESENTATION BATTLE

The dispute involves wages and a battle between the clerks and the Teamsters Union for bargaining rights for the 7,000 workers involved.

Rain to Continue Through Tonight

Showers arriving early this morning are expected to continue intermittently through tonight.

Tomorrow will be somewhat cooler with a chance of more showers. Temperatures falling into the low 60s tonight will rise into the 70s tomorrow.

The outlook for Friday is fair and unseasonably cool.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 40, tonight and tomorrow 50.

The low prior to 8 a.m. in the downtown Pontiac area was 65. By 2 p.m. the mercury had edged up to 79.

Teacher Return Sought in Suit

The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education this morning filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court, asking for an order forcing its striking teachers back to classes.

Teachers in the school district are the only ones in Oakland County that have not returned to work for the start of the new school year.

Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin received the petition of Charles Fine, attorney for the school board, but at 1 p.m. had not yet signed it or scheduled a hearing for an injunction against the teachers.

Before 700 teachers at the Birmingham Board of Education meeting last night, a Birmingham Education Association spokesman requested that the board meet with them directly instead of continuing to use representatives as go-betweens in negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John B. Smith, superintendent, said that the board would make a decision on the matter within a few days.

Teachers in Birmingham have been back to work since Monday following the granting of a return-to-work injunction.

Antirat Funds Get Tentative Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, by one vote, has tentatively approved a $40-million increase in funds authorized for rat extermination and other state health programs.

If sustained on a vote scheduled for today, the action could partially erase what many members consider a black mark on the House for its rejection in July of the administration's $40-million rat control bill.

The measure, adopted 129 to 128 yesterday as an amendment to a $850-million health bill, would increase the funds available for state public health programs.

OU Mourns Loss of Founder

By DICK ROBINSON

Oakland University students, faculty and staff and many others are today mourning the loss of a dear friend — Mrs. Alfred (Matilda) Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilson, 83, Dodge automobile heiress, society matron and philanthropist who gave a gift of $10 million to start OU 10 years ago, suffered a heart attack yesterday in Brussels, Belgium.

She was in Brussels with her Howell estate manager and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark, to look over Belgian draft horses to stock her estate near Howell.

Mrs. Wilson was hospitalized Monday when she complained of a stomach upset. She died in a Brussels Red Cross hospital.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State University Board of Trustees, which also governs OU, will not meet at Oakland University tomorrow as scheduled because of Mrs. Wilson's death, MSU President Dr. John Hannah announced today.

IN EAST LANSING

The meeting will be held in East Lansing as normal. Hannah said the next meeting would be held at OU.

OU's staff was shocked yesterday by the news of Mrs. Wilson's death.

As one secretary put it, "We were so surprised. Everything just stopped here. She was old but so active that we just didn't think about her dying."

★ ★ ★

The Oakland student body has placed an oil painting of her and student donated flowers in the lobby of the building named after her, Matilda R. Wilson Hall.

AT HALF STAFF

In addition, Oakland's flag is at half staff in her memory.

Three OU students who escorted her to her last university function — the freshman convocation two weeks ago —will fly to New York City tomorrow to bring back her body to Detroit for service and burial Saturday.

U. N.'s New Red President Urges Mideast Peace Effort

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's new Communist president called on the 122 member states to embark today on a study aimed at finding a "lasting solution" to the Middle East problem.

Tall, silver-haired Corneliu Manescu, foreign minister of Romania, is the first Communist to be assembly president. He was elected Tuesday in a secret ballot with 112 votes for him to 1 for Tanzanian Ambassador John W. S. Malecela.

The assembly's prime duty, said Manescu, 51, is "to concentrate its efforts upon a thorough study of this (the Middle East) problem that could lead to a lasting solution in keeping with the vital interests of the peoples of that region."

The dispute was handed to the assembly by the emergency session that met after the six-day June war between Israel and the Arabs but could agree on no solutions. The Middle East dilemma headed the list of 96 items on the proposed agenda for the 22nd session.

OTHER ISSUES

Other key issues were the problem of substituting U.N. for South African control in South-West Africa, the question of seating Communist China and the means of achieving disarmament.

* * *

A Big Four discussion on the Middle East is a possibility with the arrival in New York of foreign ministers from the Soviet Union, France, England and the United States.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown arrives today and Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected Sunday night. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is already in New York and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville is due tonight.

4 Americans in Viet Quit in War Protest

SAIGON (AP) — The director and three senior staff members of a volunteer organization teaching and counseling in Vietnam's hamlets and rural areas, partly with U.S. government aid, have resigned in protest against what they called America's "self-defeating" war policies.

The four quit the agency, International Voluntary Services, and 49 of the group's 152 teachers, social workers and farm specialists in Vietnam signed an open letter to President Johnson charging that "the United States continues to let self-interest stand in the way of self-determination in Vietnam."

"The trend has been escalation of the war," the letter said. "We say the trend should be de-escalation."

The services' workers on farms, helping refugees and the aged, and teaching English are financed largely by funds from the U.S. Agency for International Development.

PRIVATE ORGANIZATION

Volunteers include college graduates, former soldiers and several conscientious objectors performing alternate service. The organization is private and nonprofit.

* * *

The resignations came during a dispute between relief agencies and the U.S. Mission in Vietnam over civilian volunteers' latitude in expressing their opinions on the war to Vietnamese and other Americans.

* * *

The volunteers have indicated they believed they were being pushed toward an unwanted association with the war. The open letter to the President contended there was more anti-Americanism in Vietnam now than ever before.

Resigning are Don Luce of East Calais, Vt., director of IVS in Vietnam who has been in the country for nine years; Gene Stolzfus of Aurora, Ohio, associate director who has been here four years; and William Meyers of Souderton, Pa. and Don Ronk of Arcata, Calif., who have worked in Vietnam for the organization for three and two years respectively.

Explaining the group's position, the letter said "some of us feel that we can no longer justify our staying, for often we are interpreted as representatives of American policy. Others of us wish to stay and continue to serve the Vietnamese. It is with sadness, therefore, that we make our view known. But because above all our first concern is for the Vietnamese, there is no alternative. It is their cry and ours: End this war."

Electric Auto to Start Tour of Nine States

DETROIT (AP) — The Mars II, a zippy little 15-horsepower electric car, was due to whiz out of Detroit today on the first leg of a 2,000-mile trip to Phoenix, Ariz.

The trip, billed as the first cross-country journey by an electric auto, is a demonstration and promotion tour sponsored by the car's owner, Arizona Public Service Co.

Mars II is a product of Electric Fuel Propulsion Co. of Detroit. Robert Aronson, company president, was to drive the car.

Mars II, a converted, five-passenger Renault-10, weighs 3,640 pounds, hits a top speed of 60 miles an hour and accelerates from 0 to 40 mph in 10 seconds, manufacturers said.

TWO-WEEK TREK

The car is due to cross nine states in about two weeks and make 36 stops for battery recharging. The first stop was set for Toledo today. Officials said a quick charge will accompany the Mars II and be used at each stop.

'Machine Gun Molly'

She Dies a Gunfighter

MONTREAL (UPI) — Machine Gun Molly, the 29-year-old mother who liked to take her children along on bank holdups, died a gunfighter's death Tuesday — on the run and with a sawed-off shotgun and pistols by her side.

As police rifle and machine-gun fire ripped into the getaway car that she wheeled through suburban Montreal streets, Molly plowed into the side of a bus and died. It was not known if the bullets or the crash killed her.

Police said Molly — her real name was Monica Proietti Smith was able to handle a machine gun "like a commando." The 95-pound woman was sought for questioning in 20 holdups last year.

Police said that on many of them her two children were by her side to throw off suspicion.

* * *

Molly's underworld specialty, detectives said, was driving getaway cars and before she rammed the bus, Molly had raced at speeds of more than 100 miles per hour, jumping from street to sidewalk and against the flow of oncoming traffic.

* * *

The gun battle began after three bandits entered a credit union in Montreal North and robbed it, then fled in Molly's car.

Police Arrest 2 City Men in Morning Heroin Raid

Two Pontiac men described by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Bruce T. Leitman as "known heroin pushers and addicts" — were arrested today in an early morning police raid at a city home, according to police.

* * *

Officers acting on orders from S. Jerome Bronson, county prosecutor, said they impounded three capsules believed to contain heroin and as many as 1,000 empty gelatin capsules apparently used to cap the drug for sale.

The raid at 123 Prospect, which was carried out shortly before 1 a.m. by police personnel from the Pontiac, Detroit and State Police departments, reportedly followed a sale of heroin, allegedly by one of the men arrested, to an undercover police officer.

In custody in Oakland County Jail pending arraignment later today are Calvin Waugh, about 41, and Herbert Fortier, 57, both of the Prospect address, police said.

* * *

Warrants charging each with both sale and possession of heroin will be sought, according to the prosecutor's office.

Leitman said police found the three capsules containing the alleged heroin in a toilet, indicating more capsules had been flushed down when officers arrived.

He said the makings of a "fix," the equipment used for taking the drug, such as a hypodermic needle and spoon, were found at the scene.

An unregistered 38-caliber pistol was also impounded, according to police.

* * *

Leitman described the raid as the "best-coordinated police work" he'd seen and said it signaled a general crackdown by area police departments and his office on "the widespread use of heroin."

WITHDRAWAL TREATMENT

Both Waugh and Fortier were treated at Pontiac General Hospital to assure they would face no danger during withdrawal from the drug while incarcerated, he said.

* * *

The penalty for sale of heroin is 20 years to life imprisonment, while possession of the drug carries a maximum 10-year sentence.

Cities Are Told: Use Fluorides

State Edict May Stir 20-Year-Old Battle

LANSING (AP) — Michigan communities of more than 1,000 were on notice today that their water supplies must be fluoridated—an order expected to rekindle a more than 20-year-old controversy.

* * *

State Health Director Dr. Albert E. Heustis, invoking administrative rule-making power formally ordered fluoridation of all Michigan water supplies serving more than 1,000 people.

* * *

Heustis took the action, the health department said, on the basis of legislation going back to 1913 which gives the director the authority to make sure public water supplies are "pure and wholesome."

TESTIMONY CONSIDERED

The step was taken, Heustis said, after careful consideration of all testimony following a public hearing on the proposed rule July 24.

"The evidence is clear and overwhelming," he said "that fluoridation provides improved dental health for all children; dental health that carries over into their adult years."

* * *

There was no immediate reaction from groups who strongly oppose fluoridation on grounds that it is harmful to health, and violates religious beliefs and provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

LEGALITY CLEARED

The department said the legality of the rule has been cleared with the attorney general's office and that it was filed Monday with the secretary of state for printing in the next quarterly Michigan Administrative Code — expected about mid-February, 1968.

The rule will take effect when printed in the code, the health department said.

* * *

A timetable sets fluoridation deadlines of Oct. 1, 1968 for water supplies serving more than 5,000 people; July 1, 1969 for those serving between 2,000 and 5,000; and July 1, 1970 for those serving between 1,000 and 2,000.

* * *

Heustis said the rule is subject to review by the Joint Administrative Rules Committee, which can, if it sees fit, temporarily suspend the rule and recommend the Legislature disapprove it by concurrent resolution.

Birmingham Area News

City to Honor Police, Firemen

BIRMINGHAM — In appreciation of their service, the city's police and firemen will be honored Sunday at a public ceremoney at the Adams Fire Station.

Mayor William Roberts said the program is aimed at giving recognition to members of the department whose role in the community is too frequently taken for granted.

"Recent civil disturbances have again made us aware of the vital services we receive from our regular and trained volunteer police and firemen," said Roberts.

"These few men routinely risk their safety and lives to make our property safer," he added.

The keynote speaker at the 3 p.m. ceremony will be Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

HISTORICAL REVIEW

A historical review of the departments will be presented by Jervis B. McMechan, chairman of the Birmingham Historical Board.

The program, which will include the dedication of the new police pistol range, will be emceed my former Mayor Charles W. Renfrew.

Open houses are scheduled between the hours of 2:30 and 5 p.m. at the police station, the Adams and Chesterfield fire stations.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mair Taylor, recognized, and published authority on American youth, will speak tomorrow evening to the St. Hugo PTG at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria on teenage smoking and youth development.

Taylor is the author of two books, "Understanding Your Teenaged Boy" and "Uncluttered Psychology for Parents."

'Double-Talk' Charged in Taubman Plan Queries

Charging the City Commission with "double-talk" and "half answers," Donald H. Frayer, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Pontiac's Positive Progress (CCPPP), last night pointedly asked the commission's position in regard to an agreement with developer A. Alfred Taubman.

* * *

Mayor William H. Taylor listened to Frayer but declined to give any specific answers.

He said Taubman is presently negotiating with prospective department stores and premature disclosure of the progress or results could be damaging.

Taylor said the agreement with Taubman, an Oak Park developer who has been a chief figure in formation of a number of shopping centers, runs until Sept. 27.

* * *

The mayor indicated the City Commission will honor the agreement until then and at that time will appraise the situation.

PANEL ORGANIZATION

The CCPPP was organized nearly a year ago after a stormy public hearing after which the commission voted 6-1 to sign an agreement with Taubman.

That agreement gave Taubman privileges in attempting to line up tenants for a proposed downtown shopping center.

It was originally voted to be in effect for six months but a six-month extension was granted in March.

* * *

The agreement calls for Taubman to secure notable department stores as long-term tenants for the proposed shopping center before further plans can be made.

FRAYER'S QUESTIONS

Frayer, last night asked:

- If Taubman has tenants. If not, what the commission intends to do to develop the downtown urban renewal land.

* * *

- If the commisson intends to renew the agreement which ends Sept. 27.

* * *

- If the city commission will encourage other developers to compete for rights to form a shopping center in the urban renewal area downtown.

Nature Center at Waterford Turns to Fall

Drayton Plains Nature Center, Inc., will hold its first fall meeting at 7:30 tomorrow night at Pierce Junior High School, 5145 Hatchery, Waterford Township.

Slides, featuring Michigan plants and wildlife, will be shown.

* * *

The business session will include budget reports, discussion of plans for fall programs and hiring of personnel at the nature center and the appointment of a nominating committee for board members.

A spokesman announced that the nature center has begun a new, visitors' schedule. It is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays.

Veterans Council Is Reactivated; 1st Meeting Set

The reactivated Greater Pontiac Council of Veterans will hold its first meeting at 8 tonight at the Cook-Nelson American Legion Post, 206 Auburn.

All members of veterans' organizations are invited, according to a council spokesman.

"The council was reactivated because of the pressing needs for veterans to take an interest in community affairs," he said.

The council last met in 1948, according to the spokesman.

*

Guests at the meeting will be William K. Hanger, Pontiac chief of police, and Fire Chief Charles Marion.

Israelis Sink 3 Egypt Boats

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli tank gunners sank three Egyptian patrol boats carrying about 45 armed and helmeted soldiers today after Egypt twice tried to ferry then down the blocked Suez Canal, an Israeli armed forces spokesman said.

* * *

About 15 Egyptians in fatigue uniforms jumped from each craft into the canal after tanks fired on them at dawn and again about 2½ hours later, sources said. They were seen struggling in the water and several casualties were reported.

* * *

An Egyptian official in Cairo denied the Israeli claim, charging that the Israelis opened fire without provocation on Egyptian positions across the 100-yard wide canal. He maintained no Egyptian boats were on the waterway.

Locks on Autos Are a Wash-Out

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — A safety device which locked doors on some model Fords whenever their speed went above 8 miles per hour has been discontinued in Canada, a company spokesman said.

The reason is that Canadian car washes use rollers to spin the wheels during cleaning, thus activating the locks.

OU Mourns the Death of Mrs. Wilson

The students — Patrick Gibson, Detroit senior; James Gray, Detroit junior and Andy Bilinski, Rochester, N. Y., sophomore — invited her to dinner at their dormitory before the cermonies and escorted her to the event.

At the service Saturday, the Oakland University singers, a coral group of about 40, will sing.

MANY CLOSE FRIENDS

Mrs. Wilson, who gave away millions of dollars of the fortune she inherited on the death of her first husband, automobileman John F. Dodge, had many close friends.

Oakland University Chancellor Durward B. Varner has this to say of Mrs. Wilson:

* * *

"What is not so well known about her is the very close personal relationship between every member of this university community and Mrs. Wilson.

* * *

"She was loved and respected by all of us who had the privilege of knowing her and working with her. She never refused an invitation from the students to participate in their affairs."

PERSONAL LOSS

Said Dr. Hannah:

"We at Michigan State University feel a deep sense of personal loss in the death of Mrs. Wilson. She was a vital, active partner in the work of the university for so long as a trustee, as an honorary alumna, as a great and generous friend that it is hard to comprehend that she is with us no longer.

"Certainly she will never be forgotten for what she did for Michigan State and for Oakland universities and, through them, for the people of Michigan.

"She was a great and gracious friend, and we shall miss her greatly."

Edward Goodwin, director of the university food service, who had six students in his office planning her 84th birthday party next month when the news broke, said:

* * *

"What can you say about someone so wonderful. As far as I'm concerned it's the end of an era of great ladies. Few people are left in the world with the enthusiasm she had."

Goodwin designed, decorated and presented her with a birthday cake for the past three years at the biggest campus social event of the season, Mrs. Wilson's Weekend.

* * *

"She was a great lady and a great friend of faculty and students," Donald D. O'Dowd, OU provost said. "One of her remarkable qualities was showing a supportive interest in Oakland University."

Oakland University students yesterday took it upon themselves to collect money for a memorial to Mrs. Wilson, according to Patrick Gibson, Detroit senior.

He said students collected more than $600 last night in the dormitories.

* * *

Today students are signing petitions to assess every student who enters OU $1 per semester to go into the memorial fund.

TO GET APPROVAL

Gibson said he and other students would take the money already collected and the petitions to the Michigan State-Oakland universities trustees' meeting tomorrow in East Lansing to get approval for the $1 assessment.

* * *

"I don't know what we will do with the money — whether we will build something or set up a scholarship fund — but we want every student who comes to Oakland to know who Mrs. Wilson was," explained Gibson, who is heading the drive.

Service Slated for Mrs. Wilson

Service for Mrs. Alfred (Matilda) Wilson, benefactress of Oakland University, will be 11 a.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church, 2930 Woodward, Detroit, where she met her late husband.

Burial by the William R. Hamilton Funeral Home of Detroit will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery beside her second husband, Alfred G. Wilson, who died in 1962.

Lindsay Plan Aired in NY Teacher Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators today considered a new peace proposal advanced by Mayor John V. Lindsay as pressures mounted for a settlement of the nine-day walkout of teachers in the 1.1 million-pupil New York City public school system.

The board of education and the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers met past midnight at Gracie Mansion for the third consecutive night, weighing the plan which would alter the board's offer of a two-year $125-million package.

Instead, Lindsay proposed that the contract period be extended to 26 months and that $10.4 million or more be added to the total package.

The Association of Assistant Principals called on its 1,600 members to stay off the job today after the board rejected an association request to close the city's 900 schools on safety grounds.

'ONE MORE DAY'

The Council of Supervisory Associations also demanded that schools be closed at once and gave the board "one more day" to act.

After that, the council said it would urge its 3,600 members to "dismiss pupils as soon as they report to schools to protect them against hazardous conditions that now exist."

The council also demanded a voice in the negotiations.

Supervisory personnel have been principally responsible for keeping the schools open on a token basis during the walkout which began Sept. 11, the start of the fall term.

UNION BLAMED

In a statement issued during the day the board of education blamed the 49,000-member union's "unyielding" position for the continuing impasse. The board cited four major unresolved issues: salary demands, a shorter workweek for non-teaching personnel, expansion of the More Effective Schools program insisted on by the union, and a reduction in teaching time.

The board said issues that were just about resolved included the problem of handling disruptive pupils. The board suggested a compromise which would provide an independent panel to review such cases.

★ ★ ★

However, Dan Sanders, an aide to union President Albert Shanker, later denied that the issues were near settlement. "This type of report really does disservice to the negotiations," he said

The mayor's peace formula, not formally announced, was put forward early Tuesday at the end of a nine-hour negotiating session.

27-MONTH PACKAGE

A similar move provided the key to last spring's salary dispute between the city and police and firemen. They accepted a 27-month package after turning down a two-year pact.

Attendance at the schools dropped again Tuesday, to 308,891, or well under one-third of the total enrollment.

★ ★ ★

As he returned to Gracie Mansion for talks Tuesday, Shanker told newsmen: "It would be virtually impossible to get the schools open before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, even if there was a settlement this week."

★ ★ ★

The yearly salary scale under the old contract ranged from $5,400 to $11,950. The UFT sought a wage scale of $7,500 to $18,000 for teachers and rejected the $125-million package recommended by a mediation panel which called for a scale from $6,600 to $13,600.

An estimated total of 4.65 million travelers flew or sailed across the North Atlantic in 1965.

TAKING SHAPE — Birmingham's newest skyscraper now reaches its final height of six stories. The exterior facing is nearing completion. The Merrillwood Building, Woodward at Merrill, will house apartments, offices and commercial space. The cost is approximately $2,557,800. Construction began this year.

Group Forming to Study Growth of Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The City Council is taking names for a fact-finding committee to study the city's growth in light of its proposal to annex Wolverine Lake Village and parts of Commerce Township.

The committee will include interested citizens and government officials, said Walled Lake Mayor Wendel G. Kellogg Jr. at last night's council meeting.

He was definite in saying that the top administrators of the city, Wolverine Lake Village and Commerce Township would be asked to participate on the committee.

Kellogg added that he is trying to find "some unbiased people" to begin the committee work.

The conclusions of the committee will be reported to the public, the mayor said.

"I'm not afraid of fact-finding," said the mayor. He added that he is sure the facts will show that incorporation of the surrounding areas as one entity is best.

The annexation petitions from Wolverine Lake Village have been approved by the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. A public hearing has been set for Oct. 12 and an election tentatively for Jan. 16.

The petitions from the township will be considered Sept. 29 by the committee, which tabled them for an opinion from corporation counsel on an alleged precedent the committee may be making if it accepts the petitions, said committee chairman Philip Mastin, Jr.

Wolverine Lake Village and parts of the township including some land considered for the annexation are also considered in a village incorporation proposal.

CITYHOOD PETITIONS

The village cityhood petitions have been in circulation since Sept. 9, said Clifford Cottrell, village manager and head of the citizens' committee circulating the petitions.

Also at last night's meeting, the Walled Lake council awarded to Barthel Construction Co. the bid of $15,885 for concrete paving of Common Street.

City Manager Royce Downey announced that Oct. 6 is the last day for registering for the special school election Nov. 8. Voters will be considering a 10-mill operational levy.

State Approval Necessary

W. Bloomfield District Tables Bond Vote

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education has tabled its original resolution to hold a $4.6 million bond issue election Oct. 30.

The board, complying with a new law, must have its bonds prequalified, or approved, by the State Department of Education before more definite plans are made, said Schools Supt. Leif Hougen.

The approval is necessary if the school district expects to borrow from the state school bond loan fund, said the superintendent.

Approval may take several months, with the district supplying the state education department with information of the growth and evaluation of the district, Hougen said.

★ ★ ★

When the West Bloomfield Board of Education tentatively set the election last week, it was unaware of the new law requiring prequalification, explained Hougen.

LEVY RENEWAL

The bond issue will be a renewal of a 9-mill tax levy approved June 1963 and expiring this December. The renewal would be for five years beginning Dec., 1968.

The levy is planned to finance a proposed high school estimated to cost between $8.9 million and $8 million. The school, to be built on 56 acres across from the West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake Road, is expected to be completed by Sept., 1970, said Hougen.

The board recently ratified the master teachers' contract, approved by teachers Sept. 5.

★ ★ ★

Details of the contract could not be revealed until both the board of education and the teachers had voted approval.

TEACHER SALARIES

Starting salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree went up from $5,650 last year to $6,350 this year. The maximum at the tenth year increased from $9,000 last year to $10,000 this year.

Teachers with a master's degree now start at $6,800 instead of last year's $6,650. At the 11th year, the salary is $11,000 compared to last year's figure of $12,000 after the 12th year.

Salary increases were also approved for the more advanced masters and doctorate levels.

Other contract benefits include increased hospitalization and life insurance payments by the district.

The board further adopted a school lunch policy stating that all elementary pupils living less than three fourths of a mile from school are to go home for lunch.

"In unusual cases, school principals will make exceptions to this rule," Hougen said.

The superintendent explained that this policy is similar to the schools' handling of the situation previously.

Legalities Again Stymie Novi Quest to Become City

NOVI — Novi Village's attempts to become a city, which began in late 1965, have once again been stymied.

In a ruling made yesterday by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer, the village heard that it cannot hold an election on its incorporation as a home rule city.

Beer was upholding the first ruling on the issue by Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore in early 1966, said Beer.

Moore had declared that petitions proposing an election for a home rule city were faulty because the village did not meet the state statute requirement that an area must contain at least 500 persons per square mile to qualify for home rule.

Beer also stated yesterday that there can't be an election now unless new petitions are circulated and meet all requirements of the law on population density and are accompanied by a proper map describing the area.

TO RESUME MATTER

Novi Village Attorney Howard I. Bond said yesterday that he again would take up the incorporation matter with the village council late this week or early next week.

In his decision, Beer considered three cases representing suits and counter-suits regarding the cityhood election.

Moore's 1966 decision was on the first case. The second decision by Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn was that as an already incorporated entity, the village was not bound by the state statute.

★ ★ ★

Novi Township officials then sought an injunction to stop the cityhood vote set for April 4. This was countered by a suit filed by a village citizens committee to stop the township from interfering.

All the matters were presented in early March to Beer, who then, too, upheld Moore's original decision.

The village filed a special appeal with the State Court of Appeals and before the hearing, the circuit court withdrew its order restraining the village from holding the election.

By then, the village had to call off the election because too much time had lapsed, according to Bond.

Upon a suggestion by the county court, the village entered as a party in the third suit between the Township supervisor and the village citizens' committee chairman.

MAY HEARING

At the May pre-trial hearing of the case, the attorneys agreed on the facts submitted and that testimony wasn't attorneys' briefs and heard their arguments.

Troy Principal Is Reassigned to High School

TROY — Clyde Peterson principal of the unfinished Rex B. Smith Junior High School since July, has been appointed principal of Troy High School by the board of education.

This follows the announced resignation on Sept. 11, of Joseph Bechard who was brought under fire this summer by parents and teachers and subsequently placed on a one-year probation period.

The appointment came at a recent special meeting of the school board. At the same meeting board member William Stewart announced his resignation due to a job transfer to Warren, Ohio.

Stewart's term runs to 1970. The board is slated to appoint an interim board member until an election can be held next June.

★ ★ ★

Bechard leaves for a job in Cleveland on Oct. 1 when Peterson will take over as head of the experimental curriculum school. Troy High School is maintaining its third year of flexible classroom scheduling system which places more responsibility on the student than does the standard system.

CLAWSON RESIDENT

Peterson was recommended and appointed by the board at a recent special meeting. The 35-year-old Clawson resident is married and has three children.

Prior to taking over Smith Junior High School, which is closed due to a cutback caused by a millage election defeat, Peterson was principal of Big Beaver Elementary School from 1961-67 and before that taught high school math and coached junior high in the Troy system.

He has a master's degree from the University of Michigan and a B.A. from Northern Michigan University.

GOP Club to Meet

The Milford-Highland Republican Club will meet tonight at 8 at the Highland Township Hall. Guest speaker will be State Representative Clifford H. Smart, R-60th District.

AREA NEWS

Keego Harbor Report Says Reappraisal Progressing

KEEGO HARBOR — The City Council last night heard that the reappraisal of city property is progressing satisfactorily and ahead of schedule.

Field operations are nearly complete, reported W. M. Meier, a former Southfield city assessor whose company is doing the reappraising.

The city's first total reappraisal was begun in early July. Meier said he expects to be completed before the Dec. 31 deadline, which is also city tax day.

"The purpose of the citywide reappraisal is to bring assessments up to date," said Meier.

★ ★ ★

Although the city is 10 years old, lack of funds until now have prevented a complete reappraisal, City Manager Gary L. Dickson explained.

MEMBER SHOP TABLED

The council last night also tabled its consideration of joining the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments. The city's membership fee, based on population, would be $180 per year, said Dickson.

The council approved a $5 permit fee for water service line inspection.

In other action, the council recognized auxiliary police officer Albert Klug for saving an infant's life by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

$50,000 Blaze Hits Birmingham Building

BIRMINGHAM—Fire of undetermined origin last night burned up an estimated $40,000 of the contents and damaged the Stanger's Designs building at 808 S. Woodward to the extent of $10,000.

The two-alarm blaze was reported by the Birmingham Police Department at 12:51 a. m. today. Some 25 Birmingham firemen on the scene had it under control by 2:17 a. m.

Firemen said the blaze apparently originated in the rear one-level section of the store where Christmas advertisements and paint were stored. The front section of the store is a two-level brick structure.

Rezoning Hearing for Dump Sept. 28

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A petition to force rezoning for a dump north of the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks on White Lake Road is due for a hearing Sept. 28 before Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

The Independence Township Board was informed at its meeting last night that Roy Brothers, owners of gas stations in the township, have sought court help to reverse a year-old decision of the township.

The planning commission last year recommended to the Township Board that it deny a rezoning petition.

A road improvement project on a half mile of Eston Road from Clarkston Road north to Algonquin was approved.

Work on Converting Hospital to Nursing Home Is Started

FARMINGTON — Construction has begun on the rebuilding of the former Children's Hospital here into a 188-bed extended care nursing home with supporting facilities.

The hospital, on 12½ acres at the intersection of Tuck and Grand River, will be known as the Farmington Nursing Home.

The facility is expected to be in operation within the next year under the direction of the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home Association.

The $1,297,200 conversion project is being done by the Kendall Construction Co., Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Children's Hospital was closed by the state in 1961 for lack of funds to make repairs. The building was 40 years old at that time and had been used by the state for six years.

Originally it was owned by the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

PTA Meets Tomorrow

Stone School PTA will meet at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the school, 3941 S. Adams, to discuss a new safety plan for children.

Due for consideration is the "Helping Hand" program sponsored by the American Association for Retired Persons. Certain homes, identified by hands in the windows, would provide refuge for a child in trouble.

Drive-In Ordinance Is Adopted in Troy

TROY — The Troy City Commission has adopted a drive-in restaurant ordinance aimed at preventing future problems in dealing with noise, litter and cruising.

City Manager Paul York said that even though Troy has only two restaurants classified as drive-ins, the ordinance was passed to lay down guidelines felt necessary due to the community's rapid growth.

He added that there were no particular problems or complaints which caused the action.

The rules call for an annual $25 license; limits on operational time from 5 a.m. to 12 midnight; and guideline controls for litter cleanup, loudspeakers other than a public address system, and provisions to control cruising and congregating.

Years of Oxford Postal Work Recalled

By JEAN SAILE

OXFORD — It's postmaster, not postmistress. And, after all, Mrs. Donald Awrey ought to know.

The pleasant postmaster of Oxford retired last Friday. She has been succeeded by Truman Horton of 88 Park former substitute clerk of the office.

Instead, the Awreys — he's a retired barber — are just getting used to the idea that their pleasant home at 46 Pontiac is the only responsibility they now have.

When Mrs. Awrey was first introduced to Oxford's Post Office, she was 19-year-old Irene Clack, recently graduated from Oxford High School and fresh from a year's job with the American Express Co. office.

It was July 1926. Skirts were above the knee, "but not mini-length", Mrs. Awrey recalls.

Pontiac Press Photo

Mrs. Donald Awrey Has Retired As Oxford Postmaster

LESS UNREST

There was a post-World War I feverishness, "but not as much unrest or violence as there is now".

Ahead of her were job promotions from substitute clerk to clerk to assistant postmaster and finally eight years ago to the job of postmaster.

At one time in the 1930s she substituted as mail carrier in the downtown area.

"And that's postmaster," she said referring to her immediate past title, "not postmistress. The government changed the classification some time ago. I guess they figured we all did the same job so we should have the same title."

FOUR MOVES

She's seen the post office move four times — once operating out of a car dealership showroom when officials felt the rent was too high on the building formerly used.

The present building on Hudson street was erected in the 1950s, she remembers.

A familiarity with the Oxfords of Ohio, Mississippi, Massachusetts, Georgia and New York has come about as a result of her job, and one time she and her husband drove out of their way on vacation to visit the Oxford in New York.

"It was a small town like ours," she reported.

Because of past confusion over towns with the same name, Mrs. Awrey is a strong booster of the Zip Code method of addressing.

"It's saving all sorts of work and confusion," she reports.

Mrs. Awrey has noted the need for a work-saver as she's seen the volume of mail increase "probably 40 per cent" since she became postmaster.

★ ★ ★

"It's the growth of the subdivisions in the area west of town that has made the biggest difference in our business," she said.

'WORST WINTER EVER'

She's also seen what was to her the "worst winter ever" to hamper mail delivery.

"There were days last winter when the carriers couldn't even get to the office, let alone deliver the mail."

An avid supporter of the Oxford Congregational Church, she's been financial secretary for 13 years and is serving her 12th year as treasurer.

★ ★ ★

It's the people — both those she served and those she worked with — that Mrs. Awrey remembers as she views some of the many remembrances that have come her way since Friday.

From the number of cards, flowers and gifts, it appears that the town will also miss Mrs. Awrey.

Space Lab Cutbacks Viewed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — What's ahead for Jet Propulsion Laboratory?

The director of this $260-million-a-year headquarters for unmanned planetary probes says it has been hit hard by cancellation of its programs for the 1970s, "but the future is not catastrophic."

★ ★ ★

Dr. William H. Pickering said in an interview Monday that the $100-million laboratory's staff of 4,500 would be reduced by about 200, mostly engineers, over the next six months.

"But I refuse to be pessimistic—other uses will be found for this national asset" if the planetary program is not reinstated, Pickering said.

WILL KEEP BUSY

The 170-acre complex of 141 buildings will keep busy through 1969 with Surveyor mooncraft and Mariner vehicles to Venus and Mars. Its plans for the 1970s, which called for landing 10-ton Voyagers to search for life on Mars, were placed in jeopardy recently when the House refused to vote funds to get the program started.

★ ★ ★

Pickering holds no hope that the Senate will restore the funds this year, but says he firmly believes some kind of planetary program will be approved next year.

★ ★ ★

If not, he said, "This laboratory is a national asset which can serve the nation in many ways, such as air and water pollution and oceanography."

It would not be the first time the laboratory's mission has been changed.

ROCKET RESEACH

Started by the California Institute of Technology in 1936 as a small rocket research laboratory, JPL was later taken over by the Army and developed the Corporal and Sergeant ballistic missiles, forerunners of today's intercontinental missiles and space boosters.

In 1958, shortly after an Army-JPL team launched this country's first satellite, Explorer 1, the laboratory was transferred to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Still operated by Caltech under NASA contract, JPL has for years directed this nation's lunar and planetary programs, including Ranger and Surveyor mooncraft, and Mariners sent to Venus and Mars.

Through its worldwide tracking network, JPL currently is controlling Surveyor 5, which soft-landed on the moon Sept. 10, and Mariner 5, which will climax a four-month voyage by flying within 2,500 miles to Venus Oct. 19.

Divorces Hard on Soviet Dads

Ex-Wives May Keep Them From Children

MOSCOW (AP) — A woman who looked into the problems of broken homes in the Soviet Union has proposed a society for the protection of fathers.

She took pity on them because in this country ex-wives can keep their former husbands from visiting the couple's children.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lubov Yunina, a jurist on the editorial board of the newspaper Literaturnaya Rossiya — Literary Russia — argued that the practice is cruel to the fathers and harmful for the children.

MEN IN TEARS

She told of visits to her office of men who broke down in tears.

One out of nine marriages in the Soviet Union ends in divorce. The couples most often involved have been married five to nine years, the period during which a family is usually started. Mothers almost invariably get custody of the children.

★ ★ ★

The father has to turn over 25 per cent of his pay to the divorced wife for the support of one child, 30 per cent for two children and up to 50 per cent for more. But he gets no enforceable visiting rights. Courts and other organizations will urge the ex-wives to grant these, but she can refuse.

SYMPATHY TO WOMEN

"It has become a rule that if a family breaks up, regardless of the real guilt, the sympathy of society goes to the women," Mrs. Yunina said.

The paper cited letters from readers on the practice.

A teacher wrote: "Of course the present practice is just. It usually happens that a father tries to see the child until he remarries. Then he has children by his new wife and they become dearer to him. His visits to the first child become rarer and rarer, then stop altogether."

But a young woman wrote: "It's unjust. My mother would not let me see my father, after they divorced when I was 2. I regretted while I was growing up that I had no father. When I met him 18 years later we were strangers. I will have a grudge against my mother all my life for this."

Mrs. Yunina said some mothers get revenge on their ex-husbands by keeping them from the children.

Danny to Detroit

DETROIT (AP — Comedian Danny Thomas is to perform at a $100-a-plate dinner Saturday in Detroit to raise funds for food, medicine, clothing and shelter for refugees in the Middle East. Thomas also is to perform Sunday at a benefit show in the Masonic Auditorium. Proceeds from the show also will go to Middle East refugees.

30-Day Forecast: Pattern Weather

By Science Service

SUITLAND, Md. — The map of the country's weather for the next 30 days is likely to show temperature variations occurring in stripes and rainfall variations in spots, the Weather Bureau's Extended Forecast Division says.

★ ★ ★

The Bureau's outlook for mid-September to mid-October calls for temperatures to average above normal over the northern third of the nation and also in the far Southwest.

Below-normal temperatures are likely over the southern third of the country east of the Continental Divide. In the intermediate zone between those areas, near-normal temperatures are anticipated.

Rainfall is expected to exceed normal in the South, while below-normal precipitation is indicated over the Northeast and also the intermountain region.

Meadow Brook Theater Expands

The John Fernald Company at Meadow Brook Theater deserves a loud "Bravo."

This repertory group is less than a year old and already is expanding its season. In addtion it is negotiating a possible tour next year.

Mr. Fernald, the director, brought his company to the Oakland University campus last fall. Their first production was in January 1967.

Repertory theater is no soft prospect. The going is often rough and the first season—on a new stage, in a new theater and facing a new audience — is particularly fraught with pitfalls.

Members of the Fernald company worked hard, overcame many first-year obstacles and finished with a respectable season of accomplishment behind them last May.

Then followed the announcement that the 1967-68 season would expand from 20 to 35 weeks. Last week Mr. Fernald announced plans to keep the repertory group on the campus next summer for performances during the eight weeks of the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

* * *

He also announced he currently is negotiating to take the company on tour to Durham, N.H., and Oakland, Calif. Meanwhile, another new twist, the Academy of Dramatic Art at Oakland University, opens Sept. 29 under FERNALD's direction.

It all adds up to a well deserved step forward for a hard working staff at Meadow Brook Theater and the promise of some first rate theater for Oakland County residents in the year to come.

Giveaway Business Lures Host of 'Customers'

When are you leaving on your free trip around the world?

Or on the super-deluxe tour of South America with all expenses paid for you, mama and the kids — plus bales of cash for incidental luxuries?

Are you enjoying your Olympic-sized swimming pool, your baronial estate, the new automobile, color television set or the 10,000 cans of soup?

You have never won any of these?

* * *

Well, someone has. And thousands of other lucky folks have hit or will hit jackpots of varying values in the 600 razzle-dazzle sales promotions conducted in the United States this year.

Never in the history of mankind has such general and spectacular use been made of the most irresistible bait yet invented — something for nothing.

Americans by the millions are trying for these gratuitous goodies—cash and merchandise totaling about $100 million.

It's fun, it puts added zip and zing into our everyday living—and there's always the chance we may win.

* * *

There is also, of course, the chance that we may NOT win. Since as many as 30 million people enter some of these sweepstakes, someone has to lose.

So while we wait for the mailman to bring the good news, it just might be smart to keep on working and paying the bills and maybe even trying to save a few bucks.

There is, we hear, still a way to go places and have things, even if we don't win a prize. It's to use our own money.

Even this way, we are told, it can be fun.

Motorcycle Casualty Statistics Zoom Upward

Accident statistics provide grim proof of the growing popularity of motorcycles, motorscooters and motorized bicycles.

Latest available figures indicate there were 1,534 motorcycle fatalities in 1965. This was more than double the toll only four years earlier.

According to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statistics, if the trend continues, we can expect between 4,000 and 5,000 motorcycle fatalities annually by 1970.

A dozen years ago, only 412,000 motorcycles were registered in the country, says the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. By 1965, the number had risen to 1,381,000. An estimated half million vehicles were added during 1966. It is expected that the annual increase will reach a million a year by 1970, with a total of five million registrations that year.

Paradoxically, the rate of fatalities based on motorcycle registrations has declined, but it is still 2½ times that of all other motor vehicles.

On a mileage basis, the death rate for motorcycle drivers ranges between four and eight times that for drivers, passengers and pedestrians in all other motor vehicle accidents.

Clearly, these two-wheeled asphalt-scorchers are not toys.

Fulbright Statement Jogs Memory

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright, now anxious to curb the president's power in foreign affairs, is getting a little hard to follow if your memory is good. His own memory sounds hazy.

MARLOW

In 1961, in a speech which got little attention, Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, complained the president had too many restraints on him in foreign affairs.

"We have hobbled the president by too niggardly a grant of power," he said.

Now, in a statement copyrighted by Newsday, a New York newspaper, he complains "that the power of Congress in foreign policy has been diminishing throughout this century." He wants Congress to reassert its authority.

* * *

In 1954 Sen. John W. Bricker, R-Ohio, tried to cut the president's power by proposing a constitutional amendment requiring congressional approval by both Houses for treaties and executive agreements.

NAY VOTE

Fulbright voted against it, saying it was a "retreat from the world."

This summer Fulbright proposed and built his Newsday piece around it — this piece was just a rewrite of a speech he made July 19 — that the Senate pass a resolution that Congress as well as the president must approve not only treaties but executive agreements and commitments made by the president.

In 1961, the day before making his complaint that the president didn't have enough power, Fulbright came away from seeing President John F. Kennedy at the White House, saying he endorsed the use of U.S. military forces — if considered necessary—to prevent South Vietnam from being overrun by the Communists.

* * *

But now, Fulbright, one of the Senate's "doves" on the war in Vietnam, is Johnson's most constant critic on that conflict. After North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin in 1964, Johnson asked Congress to pass a resolution approving his use of the armed forces in Vietnam to stop aggression if necessary. Both houses approved overwhelmingly.

FULL SIGNIFICANCE

Fulbright was in charge of getting the resolution through and, when asked if he thought it gave the president enough authority to get into a war in Vietnam, he said that was how he interpreted it. Now he says he didn't realize the full significance of the Tonkin Gulf resolution.

In the Newsday piece Fulbright complained that in this century presidents have been making war without a declaration by Congress. But he is against rescinding the Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

He forgot something in the Newsday statement. He said the exclusive authority for Congress to initiate war was "substantially respected in the 19th century."

* * *

But there were two undeclared wars in the 19th century and one in the 18th: From 1798 to 1800 this country was in an undeclared naval war with France, from 1801 to 1805 and again in 1815 this country was at war with the pirates of Tripoli and the Barbary Coast.

'Set 'Im Up In The Other Alley'

David Lawrence Says:

McNamara Speech Significant

WASHINGTON — What may prove to be the most significant event of the year 1967 in world history is the ensuing effect of an official revelation just made which measures American and Soviet nuclear strength today and in the future.

LAWRENCE

The comparison is contained in a carefully prepared speech delivered by Secretary of Defense McNamara on Monday in San Francisco to the editors and publishers of the United Press International.

The leaders of the Soviet Union will examine the address minutely, and so will the rulers of Red China.

When they have digested its contents, they will realize that the United States does not intend to fall behind in the nuclear-arms race and that, while it is willing to apply limitations on further development, these can never be agreed upon and applied unless there is mutual trust and a readiness to allow constant inspection.

McNamara's positive statements about the capability of the United States and the Soviet Union to destroy each other are terrifying, particularly the observation that "If man is to have a future at all, it will have to be a future overshadowed with the permanent possibility of thermonuclear holocaust."

* * *

The defense secretary, in explaining our "assured destruction capability," made it clear that the United States "must be able to absorb the total weight of nuclear attack on our country" and retaliate so effectively as to destroy the aggressor.

He said deterrence of nuclear aggression means "the certainty of suicide to the aggressor — not merely to his military forces, but to his society as a whole."

McNamara defined "first-strike capability" as the substantial elimination of a retaliatory strike by the nation that is attacked. He declared:

"The United States cannot — and will not — ever permit itself to get into the position in which another nation, or combination of nations, would possess such a first-strike capability, which could be effectively used against it . . . ."

* * *

Lately there has been much talk about the failure of the United States to build an anti-ballistic - missile system to counter Russia's advance in that field.

McNamara is willing to accede partially to the demands of those members of Congress and military men who have been arguing all along for such a system. But the secretary prefers to speak of it as a defense against Red China.

He insists that the United States "must maintain substantial conventional forces," too, to protect its interests in other parts of the world.

Visit to Wounded Son Finds Him Full of Fight

NEW YORK — On the way out to Vietnam, during a stopover at Guam, I met a mature-type Navy lieutenant named R. A. Eckert browsing about the neat little air terminal. He lay full 50 fathoms deep in thought.

CONSIDINE

"What takes you back to war?" I asked him after a long spell, looking at his ribbons from other wars and other times.

"My Marine son was hit the other day," he said quietly. "I'm going out there to try to see him." I asked him to drop me a note and let me know how things turned out.

Here it is:

"I've returned from the East and am back in the Bay Area for a time," he writes from San Leandro, Calif.

"To make a long story short, after several inquiries I found out that he had been evacuated from Da Nang to the naval hospital at Yokosuka, Japan. So I went there and they let me see him for seven hours.

"I found him to be in real good spirits and anxious to get out of the place and rejoin his regiment. He was hit twice by rifle fire, both times in the upper left arm, and had been operated on twice before I saw him.

"Presently, he cannot move his arms or fingers, but he's anxious to start building strength back into them.

"His outfit, L Company, 3rd Battalion, 1st Marines, has seen much action in the last year.

"It's certainly a different war than the 1st Marines fought at Guadalcanal, much more fluid, no pitched battles, just daily constant skirmishes, booby traps, and endless days of patrol, sniper fire, land mines and plenty of rice paddies to cross.

"The morale of the 1st Marines must be of the highest, else why would a crazy young kid of 19 be anxious to rejoin his platoon.

"Truly, the thing that bothered him the most was the fact that he might be in the hospital over a month, and end up being posted to another regiment.

"I thank God that he is going to be OK, and told him not to 'volunteer' for anything. But at his age, he has trouble with his hearing also. All his buddies do, too.

"Might I add if you know anyone who needs help from a tough little Marine just have him get in touch with Ray Eckert, Lance Cpl. USMC, Ward 5A, USN Hospital, FPO, San Francisco, 96662."

Voice of the People:

Answers Recent Letter on Allowable Deductions

A recent Voice of the People letter was erroneously titled "Artificial Limbs Aren't Tax Deductible." Some handicapped taxpayers might fail to claim legally allowable medical expense deductions on the basis of the information in the letter.

The law defines "medical expense" for Federal tax purposes as including "amounts paid for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, or for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body." Thus, the cost of an artificial limb, and a wide variety of other orthopedic and prosthetic appliances, would be considered as allowable medical expense deduction subject to the prescribed limitations applicable to all taxpayers.

However, a related statutory provision denies deductions for "personal, living or family expenses" such as shoes and clothing. It was apparently this type of expense that was denied as a deduction in the case cited, not the cost of an artificial limb, related appurtenances or maintenance.

Discusses Romney's Comment on Vietnam

Governor Romney has finally shown his true colors. Recently he completely withdrew his support of the United States involvement in Vietnam. He claims that while on his visit there in 1965 he was brainwashed by American officials into believing that our support in the war was necessary. Suddenly he has seen the light. The only light he sees is shining in the White House windows.

* * *

Many Americans, possibly the majority, are also against the war and to our Governor these people mean votes in the upcoming presidential election should he be nominated. None of us like war, but must we wait for communism to reach our shores before we begin to fight? Do we want a man who can be so easily brainwashed for President?

U Thant to Quit?

The (Portland) Oregonian

If the notoriously unrealiable newspaper Al Ahram (which speaks for the Nasser government on most matters) could possibly be right in saying Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations is threatening to quit, a lot of Americans will have trouble suppressing a cheer.

* * *

U Thant, the newspaper said, is angry because the United States and the Soviet Union haven't helped him solve world problems, including Vietnam and the Middle East.

The United States and the Soviet Union both urged U Thant to take a second five-year term, despite his obvious failure to measure up to the stature of his predecessors.

* * *

Since then, he made the historic blooper of too-hasty withdrawal of U.N. peace-keeping forces from the Egyptian side of the border with Israel, opening the way for a blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba and the Israeli-Arab war.

And he has continued to push his own play to end the Vietnam war at the expense of the South Vietnamese, while resisting moves to have the United Nations debate a resolution on Vietnam.

* * *

The only reasons U Thant is secretary general is that the Soviet Union and the western powers couldn't agree on anyone else.

Maybe they couldn't if U Thant quits. But this seems improbable. And a replacement might be an improvement.

Our Liberty

The San Diego Union

Every American has the right to make foolish statements. He also has the right to start and to promote the wildest kind of debate. The Constitution provides for free speech.

It rightly credited man with being able to decide what is good or what is bad in the governmental system.

This is all part of the American tradition of liberty, so dearly won and so precious in its every application.

But the very assaults on freedom and liberty by the application of this right today should cause us all to pause and consider where it is heading.

* * *

Under the guise of "Civil Liberties" there has emerged a burgeoning and interfering modern protest movement. It is even against the law and order within which any liberty must prevail.

A century ago the American churchman Nathaniel J. Burton said: "There is no liberty worth anything which is not liberty under law."

And another American churchman, John H. Oerter, at that time said. "Personal liberty is the right to act without interference within the limits of the law."

* * *

Today, however, it is the law itself whch is assailed. And it is the very officers of the law who personally and collectively are abused and attacked in the performance of their duty.

The fine line of distinction between what is in the general good and what inhibits the true expression of freedom of dissent requires microscopic examination. It must never arbitrarily be thrust aside.

But no true American could support a doctrine which places the freedom of exhibitionism of a few above the freedom and safety of the majority.

Average Student—5

Self-Expression Is Important

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

Are you an average C student who sits quietly in class, reciting only when absolutely necessary?

NASON

If so, you are neglecting one of the most important activities in the learning process — formulating and expressing ideas.

To explain an idea in words you must bring it to the center of your attention and formulate your thoughts clearly.

This process makes the knowledge definitely your own. It places it firmly in your memory.

Once you clarify the ideas you are ready for tests and for further learning in the subject as well.

★ ★ ★

To convince yourself that practice in expressing ideas will make your schoolwork easier and your test grades higher, give the following suggestions your best efforts:

When you have completed your over-all review in preparation for a test, make up some likely questions and answer them. You may have to recheck the text for specifics and examples.

The table of contents is an excellent source of major topics for formulating questions. It contains the points the author considers important.

Having completed your own review, team up with one of your classmates. Take turns holding the book and asking questions while the other answers.

You need not wait until test time to start practicing these techniques. Skim over the chapter to be studied, decide what you are supposed to know about it and read to answer your questions.

★ ★ ★

Recite your findings after reading each section of material.

NOT LIMITED

However, you should not limit your practice to answering questions.

When you have finished a chapter, whether it be history or chemistry, try to state in words what the chapter was all about.

Think about each idea discussed in class. Be ready to give a clear explanation even though there is little chance you will be called upon to recite.

Carry the habit a little further and you will find yourself organizing and rephrasing the ideas presented by the teacher.

Will Lynda Bird Become a Dove?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We hear a lot these days about youthful rebellion: how children no longer respect their parents, and like that.

WEST

In this regard President Johnson has been extremely fortunate. As far as I can tell, his two daughters have never given him a minutes trouble.

★ ★ ★

Luci already is happily married and now Lynda's romance with George Hamilton is about to have a happy ending. She is engaged to somebody else.

If everything proceeds as presently indicated, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb will marry Lynda in early December and go to Vietnam in early March.

It was the prospect of a combat assignment so soon after the wedding that started me to musing over what might happen if Lynda—God forbid:—were as rebellious as some of her contemporaries.

★ ★ ★

Come fly with me on wings of time to April 1968. The spring picketing season has begun at the White House and the first group of marchers is the Brides-for-Peace Association.

LEADER USHERED IN

Arrangements are made for one of their leaders to present a petition to the President. As she is ushered into his office, the President is concentrating on an important paper.

"Good morning. I'll be with you in a moment. I'm very busy today so if you will . . . Lynda Bird! What are you doing here?"

"I brought in a petition from the group outside."

"But, Lynda, that's a protest group."

"I'm collecting material for one of my magazine articles."

"Good. I'm glad you've found something to occupy your time while Chuck is away. What is the name of the article?"

"It's called 'Bring the Boys Home from Vietnam — Now!'"

"Now, Lynda, you knew when you married Chuck that he was due for a Vietnam assignment. When did you develop this anti-war feeling?"

"On my honeymoon."

"Well, this is no way to act. Come let us reason together. And stop waving that "stop the bombing' poster in my face."

"I don't have time to argue, Daddy. I've got a new job and I'm late for work already."

"For whom are you working?"

"Sen. Fulbright."

"Great Pedernales! Why couldn't you have married a movie actor?"

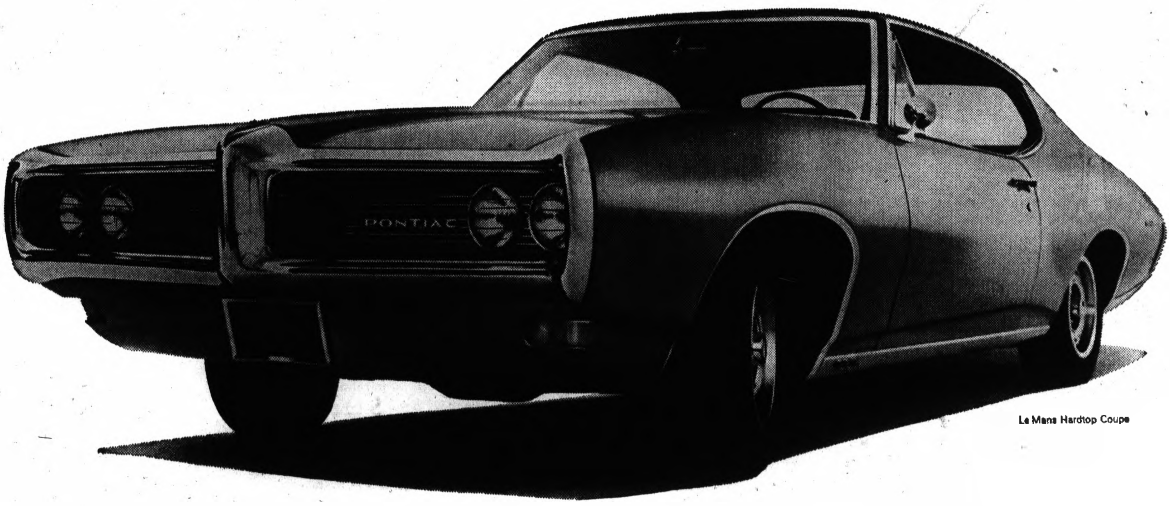
Pontiac announces the great American sport for '68

Bonneville's plush paneled and padded door. That raffish V-crest is a side marker light. One of the sweet decisions you'll have to make. You'll have to kick it to believe it. You can order disappearing wipers on Tempests, too.



Le Mans Hardtop Coupe

Wide-Tracking has never been farther removed from just plain ordinary driving. One look at our stylish '68 Pontiacs should tell you that. One ride will convince you!

Our sporty new Tempests and Le Mans are new from the wheels up. There's a new 175-hp Overhead Cam Six. New sports car feel. Smoother ride. Superior stability and response. Disappearing windshield wipers on all GTOs and Le Mans. Even wider Wide-Track. And you can choose from two new regular- or premium-gas 350 cu. in. V-8s!

Our fabulous GTO boasts the neatest engineering innovation of the year—an exclusive revolutionary new bumper. It's the same lustrous color as the car. But it won't chip, fade or corrode. And you won't believe what this bumper does until you see it with your own eyes!

Naturally, our new Bonnevilles, Grand Prixs, Catalinas, Executives and Venturas won't take a back seat to anyone! Especially with their bold new integral bumper-grilles that are nearly twice as strong as before. There's also new Wide-Track ride. Improved handling. Smoother engines. And more new features for your protection, like a buzzer that warns you when you forget your ignition key.

Isn't it about time you decided to give up plain ordinary driving? Don't fritter away another hour. See your Pontiac dealer today and start Wide-Tracking!

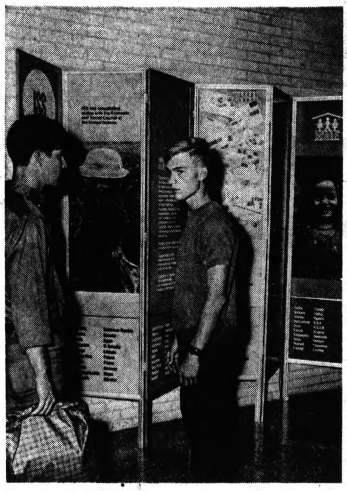
Agency Display Chaiman Ted Pearson Checks Exhibits During UF Week At The Mall



INTERNATIONAL AID—Jim Miller (left) of 653 Laguna, Wolverine Lake, and David Smaltz of 8604 Palomino, Commerce Township, read about the International Social Services. This United Fund Agency counsels immigrant families, families separated in different countries and those with problems of international marriages, or difficulties over intercountry and intercultural needs.

When pressed against the heart, the machine's microphone picks up the sound of your heartbeat. The rate is also shown by a tiny light moving across a graph at the speed of the heart's movement.

Wonders of UF in Mall Display

"Wonders at Work — the United Way" is the theme of the Pontiac Area United Fund display of services currently at the Pontiac Mall.

Some 35 agencies have displays in this showing which ends Saturday.

The show at the Mall is intended to be educational as well as giving an intimate glimpse into everyday Wonders at Work made possible by the annual United Fund campaign, according to Ted Pearson, agency display chairman for the 1967 drive.

Highlights of the show include demonstrations, an artificial working kidney, blood typing by the Red Cross and a Michigan Diabetes Association blood-harvesting mobile unit where the public can take a free diabetes test Friday.

★ ★ ★

Slide films and photo sequences are being shown by family and child car services. Crafts, exhibits and performance demonstrations can be seen at many of the youth club exhibits. Health and research groups also have displays.

Floyd Metz, executive director of Big Brothers of Oakland County, is assisting Pearson.

The United Fund campaign is Oct. 17 through Nov. 10. This year's goal is $1.13 million.

ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY MACHINE — Demonstrating how the kidney machine works is Jack Adams of Ann Arbor, a field representative of the Michigan Kidney Foundation. The patient's blood flows through the machine where all impurities are cleaned out. The process, which takes almost 10 hours twice a week, is used to clean the blood of patients who have malfunctioning, or no, kidneys.

GIVING BLOOD—Helen Kuzwa, a registered nurse working for the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross, takes blood from donor Karen J. Kelly of Detroit. Blood-typing services will be performed throughout the week. A letter containing test results will be sent to each donor stating his blood type.

State Youth Confab Critical of Schools, Police

LANSING (AP) — Provide more teachers and better policemen. Raise the draft age. Give sex education to sixth graders and birth control information to high school students. Consider lowering the drinking age and legalizing marijuana.

Those are among recommendations presented to acting Gov. William Milliken Tuesday by 110 youngsters from Detroit, Flint, and Inkster and Ann Arbor who participated in a recent youth conference.

Many were "inner city" youngsters, and they were critical of schools, job opportunities recreational facilities and the police.

* * *

"The youths said the police often stop them, search them and treat them roughly, especially youth of the poorer neighborhoods," the conference report said. "At the same time, police are not around when trouble starts."

* * *

The youngsters concluded that "the only way to get more, better trained, mature and unbiased police is to pay more money and give them a better public status." Police training should include psychology and human courses, they said.

Teachers should teach and counselors should counsel, leaving discipline, attendance taking and similar chores to others, the youth concluded. Teachers should be paid more and trained better and should have smaller classes, they said.

New Unit to Give Job Aid to Disabled State Workers

LANSING (AP) — A special disability review board to help return disabled state workers to employment in state jobs has been created by the State Civil Service Commission.

Creation of such a board had been urged by State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald who told the commission the state's record of rehabilitating workers was "most unimpressive."

* * *

The commission said Tuesday that recent studies show the cost of workmen's compensation payments to state employes increased 240 per cent in the last 10 years while the number of employes increased only 38 per cent.

SOME FORM

The seven-member board will meet every three weeks to consider placement possibilities for injured state workers who are drawing workmen's compensation and who have a doctor's recommendation that they return to some form of work commensurate with their partial disability.

Members of the board are Edmund Herndon and Robert F. Milliman, both of the Department of Labor; Ernest Wallick, William Marshall, John Conley and John R. O'Connor of the Department of Civil Service; and Gerald W. Harding, Michigan State Accident Fund.

The commission said its employe relations division plans to study suggested changes in its overtime policy and possible changes in policy which would require state agencies to give administrative leave and pay travel expenses for employes who come to Lansing for hearings on grievances.

PAUSES FOR MOMENT — A South Vietnamese youngster turns from his meal to watch U.S. Marines passing in his village near Tam Ky in the northern part of the country. The boy's meal consists of rice and green onion shoots.

Central Park Becomes a 'Happening'

NEW YORK (UPI) — It used to be that many people were scared to go into Central Park, but now the muggers and hoodlums have been upstaged by all the crazy goings on day and night.

★ ★ ★

You can see Douglas Fairbanks Jr. casually pedaling along on a bicycle. The chorus girls from a Broadway musical playing softball or Mayor John V. Lindsay being knocked flat by a hard block in touch football.

Barbra Streisand singing late into the night before 100,000 people in the Sheep Meadow. A German beer garden with a strolling accordionist. Free stilt walking. The New York Metropolitan Opera Company singing away like mad on a portable outdoor stage.

Free cardboard and paint for a paper castle-building contest. A half-mile-long canvas so people can paint pictures elbow to elbow. The finals of the city's soap box derby. Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass blasting away in a drenching rain.

★ ★ ★

Most of this has come about in the little over a year and one-half since Lindsay took office and appointed two of the most imaginative park commissioners in history — Thomas P. Hoving and his successor and present commissioner August Heckscher.

AUTOS BANNED

One of the things they have done is to close the main road arteries in the park to all automobiles on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and on Tuesday evenings and turn them over to bicyclists.

On Sundays some 7,000 people have been turning out to rent bikes, including a contingent from the Soviet mission to the United Nations and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and several of his brood.

Mercury vapor lamps have been installed throughout the 840 acres and they are kept burning throughout the night.

★ ★ ★

New police use of motor scooters has enabled an officer to cover six times as much ground as foot patrolmen.

A huge new swimming pool was opened this summer at the northern end adjoining the Negro area of Harlem and $100,000 "adventure playground" for the children on Central Park west. The zoo at the southern end is, as always, one of the biggest attractions.

Job Opposed by Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A candidate for sheriff bases his campaign on an unusual platform—do away with the job.

"I would hope that I would be the last sheriff of San Francisco," says David Johnson, 41, field representative for the Bay Area Urban League.

Johnson would turn over county jails to the state Department of Corrections. Since running the jails is one of the sheriff's main jobs, Johnson figures there wouldn't be much else to do.

Project Fails in Search for Tiny Neutrino

By Science Service

CHICAGO — Scientists are using 100,000 gallons of cleaning fluid, buried almost a mile underground, to search for the phantom particle known as the neutrino.

★ ★ ★

The search was unsuccessful in the first 48 days of exposure, Dr. Raymond Davis Jr. told the American Chemical Society meeting here. The experiment is continuing, under the aegis of Brookhaven National Laboratory. The tank of tetrachloroethylene is buried nearly 5,000 feet deep in an abandoned South Dakota gold mine.

The neutrino is an elusive elementary particle that results from many nuclear reactions, including the thermonuclear fusion of hydrogen commonly believed to be the sun's source of heat.

The experiment is based on the characteristics of chlorine 37, which makes up one-fourth of naturally occuring cholorine.

★ ★ ★

Very rarely a chlorine 37 atom will react with a neutrino, forming radioactive argon 37. After about a month the argon decays back again into chlorine, according to the latest theoretical figures.

1 TO 2 BILLION

Dr. Davis said between one and two billion neutrinos should pass through the tank every day as a result of solar fusion. Of these only two per day should react with chlorine 37 to form argon.

The fact that he didn't find any neutrino reactions means that the true value should be at the low end of the predicted range or even lower. Dr. Davis is refining his detecting equipment to be able to pick up as few as 50 argon atoms.

Neutrinos aren't stopped by matter the way other particles are, so those created in the sun center can reach the earth unhindered. Since they are the only evidence we have of what goes on beneath the surface of the sun, Dr. Davis said it is worth going to great trouble to pick them up.

★ ★ ★

The tank is buried to eliminate the chance that argon 37 could be formed by other radiation than neutrinos.

Comic valentines originated in America and were sometimes called "penny dreadfuls."

Town Finally Gets Government

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — A five-member board of trustees will be sworn in Friday in nearby Jeffersonville, Ky., the first formal government in the town since the turn of the century.

★ ★ ★

Jeffersonville, population about 500, has been chartered since 1876. But since 1900 it has depended upon Montgomery County officials for its government functions. Townspeople petitioned the county to appoint a governing body. When the board takes office, Jeffersonville will be able to apply for federal money to build a water system.

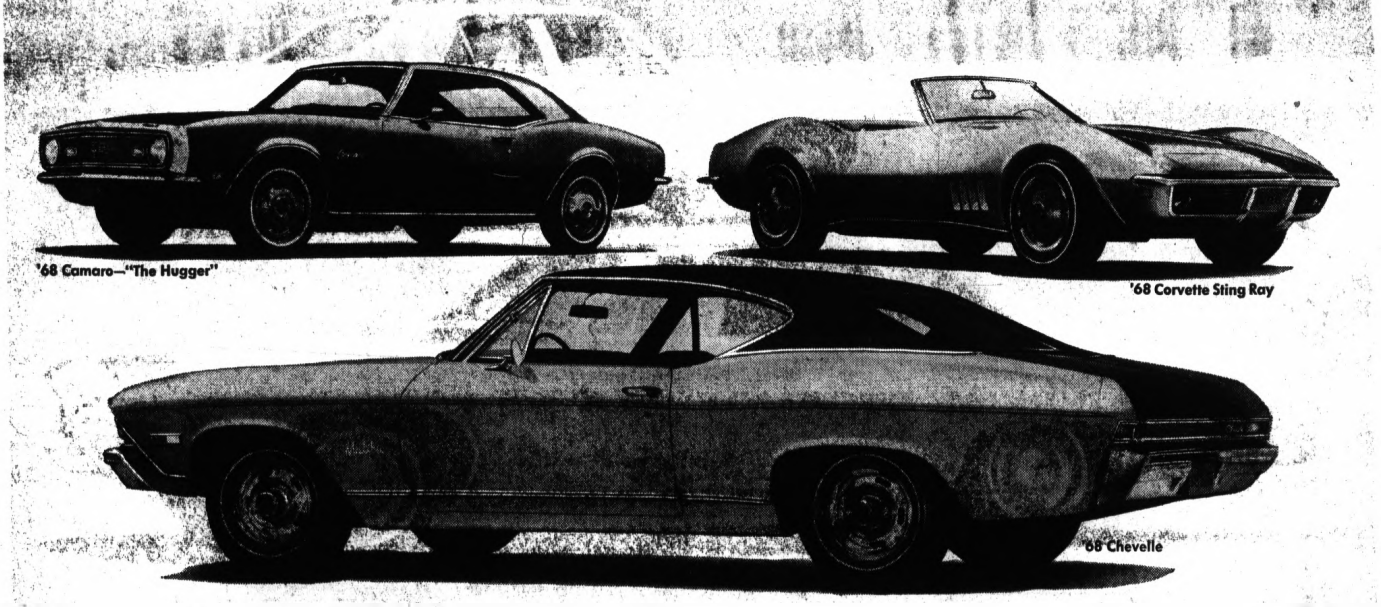
'68s Top Secrets are here

The 1968 Chevrolets

Chevrolets are priced for greater value! The lowest priced 1968 Chevrolets are (models not shown): Corvair 500 Sport Coupe $2,220.00; Chevy II Nova Coupe $2,199.00; Camaro Sport Coupe $2,565.00; Chevelle 300 Coupe $2,318.00; Chevrolet Biscayne 2-Door Sedan $2,558.00; Corvette Convertible $4,320.00.

Manufacturer's suggested retail prices including Federal Excise Tax, suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Transportation charges, accessories, optional equipment, state and local taxes additional.

Dramatic! Distinctive! Daringly new!



'68 Camaro—"The Hugger"

'68 Corvette Sting Ray

'68 Chevelle

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE

And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION

There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES

You get the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW

There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's. CHEVROLET

Official Details New State Income Tax Rules

LANSING (AP) —If you have an average-size family and an average-size income, you've got a pay cut coming up.

Michigan's new 2.6 per cent personal income tax takes effect Oct. 1, and the results should show up on paychecks issued in the state after that date.

State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock, the man in charge of collecting the new tax and tracking down those who neglect to pay it, expects a flood of some three million returns before the due date — next April 30.

He also expects that a number of taxpayers — unfamiliar with the mechanics of the new tax —will make mistakes. But don't he warns, try to convince him you didn't know about it.

"It's a bit difficult for me to believe," says Lock, "that any citizen who is going to be liable for this tax won't know about it. There's certainly been enough publicity."

EXPECTED REVENUE

He expects to collect $70 to $175 million in net new revenue next April. For a full tax year, the yield of the 1967 fiscal reform package is estimated at $239 million.

Employers who now withhold the federal tax from their employes' paychecks will be required, beginning in October, to withhold the state tax, too.

Lock says his office has mailed forms and witholding tables to about 200,000 Michigan employers, and adds they should be ready to start the new deductions on time.

The tax you'll pay next April won't be on income for all of 1967. Since the tax bill passed by the Legislature this year doesn't take effect until October, you'll be taxed only on income for the last three months of 1967.

* * *

You have a choice of paying tax on that income or of taking your income for the whole year, dividing it by four, and paying the tax on that. Do whichever leaves you with a smaller tax bill.

PROBABLE QUESTIONS

Here are some questions which are likely to occur to a person wrestling with a new set of tax forms. The answers are based on interviews with Revenue Department officials and a study of the new tax laws.

Q: How much of my income, as an individual taxpayer, is subject to the state income tax?

A: About the same as the "adjusted gross income" entry on your federal tax form. You get a bigger exemption for yourself and your dependents, but you can't deduct church or charitable contributions, medical expenses or interest on debts.

Pay the state tax on interest earned from obligations of other states or their subdivisions, but not on interest from bonds issued by federal agencies, the State of Michigan or local Michigan governments. Military pay is exempt.

Q: What about the exemptions? How big are they?

A: For a full tax year, your kids are worth $1,200 each. You'll be able to subtract $1,200 for yourself and another $1,200 for each dependent from your year's income before starting to calculate your tax bill.

But don't try that next April. Your first tax bill will be for only one quarter of a year (October, November and December 1967), so you'll only be entitled to one quarter of the annual deduction—or $300 each for yourself and your dependents.

DEPENDENT EXEMPTION

The state's per-dependent exemption is just twice as big as the federal government allows. If you have a wife and three children and make less than $6,000 a year, the state won't tax your income at all.

Q: Didn't the Legislature approve other tax changes this year — like relief from property taxes and city income taxes?

A: Yep. But don't worry about them yet. They don't take effect until Jan. 1, so they have nothing to do with the tax return you'll file next April.

If you have any money left in April 1969, you'll be able to subtract part of your property tax and local income tax bills from the amount you owe the state. People who rent their homes will be able to struggle with a rent relief formula so vague that one Revenue Department analyst says it "looks like a license to steal."

Also taking effect Jan. 1 are income taxes on corporations and financial institutions and a cut in the intangibles tax.

Q: When should a couple file a joint return with the state?

A: Do whatever you do with your federal income tax. If you file a joint return with the Internal Revenue Service, file one with the state.

In Wake of Mideast War

Refugee Problem Is Growing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A problem of humanity that has gone on nearly 20 years—what to do about the Palestine refugee—is growing in the wake of the Middle East war.

It started when the old British-mandated territory of Palestine was partitioned to form a Jewish homeland, now Israel. It reached a climax in the Arab-Israeli war of 1948, when many Arabs were uprooted from their homes.

There were slightly fewer than a million refugees then. Some have found a life of their own, but others have multiplied—there are grandchildren of the original refugees who are refugees now. And their number grew in the war last June, so that today 1,317,000 are registered with the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, or UNRWA.

In June more than 100,000 arabs crossed the Jordan River into the Hashemite kingdom of Jordan. They were joined by perhaps 100,000 more unregistered refugees, Palestinians with settled homes and jobs on the west bank of the Jordan, now occupied by Israel. Some fled to the Gaza Strip, others to Syria.

MISSION CONTINUES

UNRWA must gather the tribe in its separate refuges and carry on with its mission of feeding, educating and nursing.

Some 300,000 are living under Israeli occupation on the west bank of the Jordan. About 420,000 registered refugees and perhaps 100,000 so far unregistered are on the east bank, 400,000 in the Gaza Strip and 150,000 in Syria. Other refugees, in Lebanon, were untouched by the war.

★ ★ ★

But Lawrence Michelmore, commissioner general of UNRWA, at his headquarters desk here in Beirut, is not dismayed by the task ahead.

"Our mandate will continue to follow its usual line," he said.

BASIC FOOD ALLOTMENT

His mandate, roughly, is to provide a basic food allotment for those refugees who need it, plus such other services as health care, education, welfare and vocational training.

The war brought considerable disruption to these services. Teachers and staff were dispersed, some installations in the Gaza Strip were damaged, UNRWA vehicles disappeared. But the greatest problem is the dispersion of the refugees themselves.

The Jordanian government put pressure on refugees to return to the west bank of the river as they saw the magnitude of their problem mounting. Refugees were told they would be denied all forms of relief if they did not return—no housing, no schools, no rations, government officials said.

Jordanian officials are highly suspicious of Israeli motives in taking back only 14,000, mostly "new" refugees, Palestinians who had their own homes on the west bank. Very few of the 100,000 registered refugees who fled across the river were approved for repatriation by Israel.

UNRWA operates 54 permanent refugee camps in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, the Gaza Strip and Israeli-occupied West Jordan. Before the war only 65 per cent of the registered refugees were receiving the basic rations. The rest were managing for themselves, but receiving other services.

More than 235,000 refugee children were in school and 3,500 young men and women were taking vocational or teacher training.

Some 45,000 refugee babies are born annually.

The basic monthly ration for refugees who need it is 22 pounds of flour, 1.3 pounds of peas or similar food, 1.3 pounds of sugar, 1.1 pounds of rice, 13 ounces of oil and a piece of soap.

Through 1966 the nations of the world contributed $551 million to support palestine refugees. The United States supplied $387 million of that.

Birth-Control Clue in Mice

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) —At a renovated barn near the tree-shaded campus of The College of William and Mary, Dr. Richard C. Terman is seeking answers to the world's population explosion by studying the mating habits of 1,500 tiny deermice.

Under a grant from the National Institute of Health (NIH) Terman is investigating a self-regulating birth control mechanism in deermice, which apparently switches on when they are threatened by overcrowding.

The mechanism which triggers population control in deermice could probably evolve in people, Terman said, which would be undesirable.

"We must find ways of controlling our population before the biological controls take over," he said.

"There are apparently controlling mechanics which can evolve in all forms (of life)," Terman added. "Similar kinds of findings are being studied in the common housemouse, Norway rats and even birds.

Family Loses Third Child by Drowning

EAST DOVER, Vt. (AP) — For the third time in 10 months, Mr. and Mrs. John Goode have lost a child by drowning.

Their 5-year-old son, James, fell into the family swimming pool Tuesday. The father found the body.

★ ★ ★

Last Dec. 1, a car driven by Mrs. Goode plunged into the West River at Dummerston and two of their children drowned. They were Robert Goode, 2, and John Goode Jr., twin brother of the boy who drowned Tuesday.

Berry's Sweetness 1,500 Times Sugar

By Science Service

CHICAGO — The world's sweetest natural substance—1,500 times as sweet as sugar—has been found in an African berry.

The discovery of the "Serendipity berry" came after screening several hundred fruits from Africa and Indonesia in a search for new sweetening material that didn't have the bitter after-taste of present artificial sweeteners, Dr. George E. Inglett told the American Chemical Society Convention here.

Serendipity implies a pleasant, unexpected event,' which is just what Dr. Inglett experienced when the berries, received from Nigeria as an unidentified tropical fruit, turned out to be intensely sweet.

The berry was later identifed by a botanist from Sierra Leone as Dioscoreothyllum cumminsii.

Artificial sweeteners are being more and more used in many food products, and the Food and Drug Administration is investigating whether they are a threat to the health if taken in large quantities.

Dr. Inglett said the new sweetener wouldn't necessarily be any safer just because it grows naturally. He said no tests on its toxicity had been run.

After treatment by an enzyme, the fruit product has a quality sweetness that is 1,500 times sweeter than sugar, Dr. Inglett reported. The widely used artificial sweetener, sodium cyclamate, is 30 times sweeter than sugar.

PIN-WORMS

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Riots Main Target as New Laws Help States Fight Crime

CHICAGO (AP) — State legislatures, alarmed by slum rioting and complaints that recent court decisions tipped the scales of justice in favor of criminal elements, have enacted some tough legislation against lawbreakers this year.

Many of the new statutes, an Associated Press survey showed, were aimed at rioting.

* * *

Four states made it a crime to possess or traffic in home made bombs such as those often used to start fires during racial disorders.

Four others made it a jail or prison offense to attack or harass firemen or policemen trying to carry out their duties.

POWERS WIDENED

A number of states widened the powers of the police to detain and search suspected criminals without first obtaining warrants.

Two states boosted the penalties for crimes committed with weapons, and California prohibited loaded firearms in public places.

* * *

Eight states moved toward better coordination and training in law enforcement. Several others wrote laws to cope with what some Utah Republican legislators termed "dilution of police powers by the U.S. Supreme Court."

Arizona, Massachusetts, Utah and Texas now authorize the arrest of a crime suspect without a warrant—in Texas, even on suspicion of intent to commit a crime. However, similar legislation was defeated in Georgia, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

IN EMERGENCY

Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Nebraska and Ohio granted or increased powers of state authorities to deal with emergencies, such as riots. But Colorado, which gave police and sheriffs emergency crowd control powers in disasters—the outgrowth of 1965 floods—refused to make these powers applicable to riots.

* * *

Kansas made it a felony punishable by three years imprisonment to strike a law enforcement officer with intent to injure him.

Pennsylvania and Ohio prescribed jail sentences for harassing firemen in performance of duties. Ohio also is applying its law to policemen on duty at fires or disasters.

STATE NETWORKS

Florida broadened the powers of its sheriffs' bureau, in effect creating a state police force. A half dozen states—California, Colorado, Maine, New York, Vermont and Washington—set up state agencies for law enforcement coordination, centralization or training.

Massachusetts and Connecticut voted themselves into the pact, but New Hampshire's lawmakers turned down a proposal to set up a state crime commission.

* * *

Montana's criminal procedures were recodified "in line with recent decisions of the Supreme Court," a Legislative Council spokesman said. One procedure would be issuance of a notice to appear in court, instead of an arrest without a warrant, with failure to appear constituting grounds for issuing a warrant. The idea is to ward off false arrest damage suits.

A new Texas law permits the courtroom use of a defendant's oral confession if it led to material evidence of the crime.

AMENDED LAWS

Utah amended several laws to conform to U.S. Supreme Court guidelines.

Several states toughened penalties for crime.

California increased minimum sentences in case of injury to the victim of rape or robbery.

* * *

Nebraska boosted the 20-year sentence for habitual criminals 60 years.

A Texas convict now must serve one-third of his sentence or 20 years, whichever is less, before parole. Formerly it was one-fourth or 15.

LOAN SHARKS HIT

Massachusetts increased the penalty for assault and battery to collect a debt—a measure aimed at loan sharks.

Junior Editors Quiz on HUSKIES

QUESTION: What is the origin of the husky dog?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: There are several breeds of powerful dogs used to haul dog sleds in northern countries. They are often spoken of as huskies or Eskimo dogs, for they are related in type even if originating in different places.

These breeds are alike in having heavy coats as well as possessing great strength, courage and intelligence.

Huskies belong to a dog group called lupine, because such breeds have sometimes been crossed with wolves, from which animals huskies probably originated.

The Eskimo dog (upper right) is a powerful animal weighing about 85 pounds. Three to eight such dogs make a team pulling a sled, which carries supplies and a driver who usually walks or runs behind, hopping on the sled now and then to catch his breath.

The Malmute is supposed to have originated in Alaska about 1000 B.C, or earlier. The Siberian huskies and the beautiful pure white Samoyeds are other husky breeds thought to have originated in Siberia, also about 1000 B.C.

Help! I'm a Prisoner in a Supermarket Aisle

By JAMES F. DONAHUE

BOSTON (AP) — Supermarkets have become so big and crowded that many have established one-way traffic in their aisles. This can cause tremendous problems, especially for unwary males.

Like for Ted Lumpke, who was 30 when his wife got sick and he had to go to a supermarket for the first time. As soon as he got his grocery push cart he made a wrong turn down a one-way aisle.

★ ★ ★

The store manager came rushing down the aisle waving his arms. "You can't push your push cart east on this aisle," he said. "This is a west aisle."

"Where are the eggs?" Lumpke asked.

"Row G, Section A, Shelf 3, eggs, beans and bacon," the manager said.

AISLE DILEMMA

Lumpke backed out and went to Row G, but it was one way west at his end and he wanted to go east. He went around the store and came to Row G at its other end and there he saw a sign saying Row G was one way east.

That is impossible, Lumpke thought, because if Row G were one way east at the west end and one way west at the east end, then nobody could get into Row G.

★ ★ ★

Lumpke found the store manager. "There's something wrong with the signs on Row G," he said. "They're west at the east end and east at the west end."

The manager came, looked and saw the signs.

"It means nobody can get into Row G," Lumpke said. "And what's worse, it means anybody who might be in Row G right now can't get out."

The manager thought about it. "Yes," he said. "But, of course, that's impossible," and he walked away.

VIOLATES SIGN

So Lumpke threw caution to the wind and pushed his push cart in violation of the west sign east on Row G.

The shelves were almost bare and covered with dust. There was dust on the floor and foot prints, and grass had grown up in places between the broken linoleum.

★ ★ ★

The sign mixup must have occurred months ago, Lumpke thought, even years.

He pushed his cart over the cracked floor and found a starved, emaciated woman against an empty carton of beans.

★ ★ ★

"Thank God," she said. "They've fixed the signs. I'm the lone survivor of a shopping party trapped in 1961 when the signs were mixed up. I've been existing on eggs, bacon and beans for six years."

"But the signs haven't been changed," Lumpke said.

LOOK OF WONDER

The woman's thin, cracked face turned white. "But how did you get in?" she asked.

"I went east at the west end," Lumpke said, and the woman could only look at him in wonder.

★ ★ ★

"Come with me," Lumpke said. He helped the poor woman to the west end of the aisle where they met the store manager.

"Here," the manager said, "you can't come out. This is the west end of Row G, an east aisle."

STAY FOREVER

"But if we can't come out by going west at the east end or east at the west end," Lumpke said, "then we shall have to stay here forever."

"I can't help that," the manager said.

"Without a chaperon?" Lumpke asked indignantly. "In a supermarket, the last bastion of middle-class morality?"

★ ★ ★

The manager, realizing Lumpke had appealed to a higher law, let them out.

Cadillac presents elegance in action!

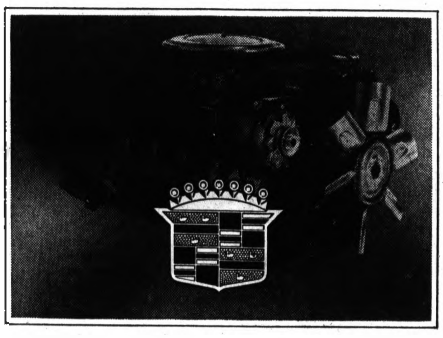
And the "inside story" for 1968 starts with the biggest, smoothest V-8 engine ever put into a production motor car.



Brilliant new styling • Dramatic new interiors • Totally new instrument panel • Concealed windshield wipers • Improved variable ratio power steering • New disc brakes available • Wide choice of eleven exciting new body styles.

Now, enter a new era of luxury car performance—with the biggest and smoothest engine ever put into a production passenger car—the completely new Cadillac 472 V-8. This new V-8 has the greatest torque, or usable power, of any passenger car engine and has the newest combination of engine components since Cadillac pioneered the V-8 fifty-three years ago. You will notice a brilliant improvement in passing performance that in no way compromises a huge reserve of power to operate all of Cadillac's usual power conveniences.

You will also be impressed with its amazing quiet—so remarkable that only its responsiveness reminds you that a great new engine lies under the hood.

Cadillac for 1968 provides, in addition, its well-proved triple braking system with finned drums that delivers smooth, straight stopping power. Front disc brakes are available for those who prefer the further refinement of an advanced disc-and-drum combination, and this year they're standard on Eldorado. You may also choose a greatly improved air conditioning system that moves more air more quietly.

There is a new instrument panel . . . windshield wipers that disappear when not in use . . . new brilliance of styling and interiors so beautiful and luxurious that they must be seen to be believed.

Whether your preference is for one of the more traditional models—or the classic beauty of the Eldorado—come discover new elegance and excitement in luxury motoring!

OU's First Lady to Be Sadly Missed

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

The first lady of Oakland University is gone. There are saddened hearts throughout the area and those who knew and worked with Matilda Wilson realize that there will never be her like again.

Mrs. Semon Knudsen who, with her husband, was chairman of the first Meadow Brook Music Festival says:

"She was a woman of tremendous vision and she never took herself too seriously. She was always outside herself.

"She was the outstanding woman in our area who did more and more as she got older rather than less. The Meadow Brook Festival is a wonderful memorial to her."

* * *

Mrs. Frank H. Boyer, president of the Village Woman's Club:

"Everyone loved her and we'll certainly miss her."

And Mrs. Marvin Katke, president Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, spoke for that group:

"The members of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association are deeply saddened by the loss of their dearly loved leader, Mrs. Alfred Wilson. Her unassuming, kindly and cooperative way set a shining example for fellow members to follow.

"Mrs. Wilson was a member of honor of the Bloomfield Hills branch and also of the Rochester branch, an honorary member of the Michigan Division and the immediate past national president of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. She was currently working on plans for the triennial conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

"She was always generous, fair-minded and willing to serve the causes in which she believed. Such inspiring leadership will be sorely missed."

Our contacts with Mrs. Wilson were mainly in connection with activities at Oakland University.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

We did see her at a surprise birthday party the Village Woman's Club gave her a couple of years ago. Now, it wasn't easy to outsmart Mrs. Wilson, but the women planning the party did.

It was great fun to glimpse her face as she walked into a group of well wishers singing, "Happy Birthday."

It wasn't easy to give her a present—this woman who had so much wealth that she could give a gift worth $10 million to Michigan State University.

But a gold charm for her bracelet always pleased her. At the VWC party it was a replica of the front door of the club; she was the president.

* * *

One night in the summer of 1966 we were invited to a pre-concert dinner party at Trumbull Terrace. Mrs. Wilson was there and was wearing her charm bracelet.

We asked her about all the charms. One had to with her many years of work with the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Several came from Oakland University. One was a copy of the cornerstone of Matilda Wilson Hall. We remembered the day she troweled mortar on the cornerstone. She thoroughly enjoyed such occasions.

HORSE LOVER

We never saw her drive her famous horses. But many times we saw her drive into Meadow Brook Festival grounds. We don't know how she drove those Percherons, but we'll wager it was with the same flourish as she drove a car.

Although she herself was not a college graduate, she will probably be remembered best in connection with a great educational institution, Oakland University.

Although she would have been the first to scoff at the idea of being in "high society," the great and famous sought her out and enjoyed her company.

* * *

One of her great loves was flowers. Always on social occasions at Meadow Brook Hall there were masses of flowers everywhere, usually picked from her gardens or greenhouse.

Each June after the opening concert of Meadow Brook Festival, a stroll through her rose garden was a must.

And how she loved her "kids" at Oakland University. We've always maintained that associating with them kept her young.

EVER YOUNG

The only way she was ever old was in calendar years. Her alert mind put many a younger person to shame.

She will probably become a legend at OU. But those of us who came in contact with her keen mind, her sense of fun and her tremendous interest in living are the better for it.

Past Presidents Are Honorees

The Pontiac Women's Club met Monday for luncheon at First Federal Savings of Oakland, opening their 65th year of operation.

* * *

Past Presidents' Day was observed with the following past presidents being presented with corsages: Mrs. Clarence Myers, Mrs. Haydon Henley, Mrs. Henry Simpson and Mrs. Lee Hill.

* * *

The project committee, under chairmanship of Mrs. Earle Hoskins, served the luncheon. Assisting were Mrs. H. M. Anderson, and Mesdames Rose, Simpson, Harvey May, A. P. Hudson, Myers, Leroy Hecox and Hill.

* * *

Announcement was made of the 49th convention of the southeastern district to be held in Royal Oak Oct. 10-11.

* * *

The hostess club will be the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs.

The first benefit luncheon, card party and fashion show is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Oct. 6 at Devon Gables.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Even Oldsters Have Problems

Lengthen Skirt, Shorten Visit

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an old lady of 71, and every time I visit a certain friend of mine her husband goes into raptures over what beautiful legs I have.

ABBY

Everyone says I have nice legs for an old lady, and now that I have been wearing my skirts a little shorter, I suppose they are more conspicuous, but all that talk from Milton about my legs is very embarrassing.

Not only that, but he is a camera nut, and is always wanting to take pictures of my legs.

I know he reads your column, so will you please tell Milton to act his age. He is 73 and still looking.

NICE LEGS

* * *

DEAR LEGS: Don't be too rough on your elderly friend. If you're truly embarrassed, the next time you visit your friend, make your skirt longer or your visit shorter.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem no one has been able to solve and I hate myself for it.

I am a sleeper. I just can't seem to get up in the morning. I have tried taking afternoon naps, thinking I needed more sleep, but that hasn't helped. I have a wonderful husband who gets the children up, sees that they're properly dressed, makes sure they eat a good breakfast, and get to school on time. He even looks after our little two-year-old until I get up.

Abby, I really want to get up in the morning like a wife should, but I can't seem to do it. No one can wake me up! I can sleep through anything.

I've been to all kinds of doctors, both mental and physical, and they have all turned me loose saying there is nothing wrong with me and they can't help me. If you or any of your readers have any suggestions, I'd be so thankful.

SLEEPYHEAD

* * *

DEAR SLEEPYHEAD: If "all kinds of doctors" have been unable to help you, learn to live with your problem and don't feel guilty. You're lucky you were not sleeping when that wonderful husband of yours came knocking at your door.

DEAR ABBY: People are always asking me, "Where did you buy those shoes? Or that dress? And how much did you pay for it?" I never know how to get out of telling them, so I go ahead and answer their questions as though I were on a witness stand.

* * *

I suppose I could say, "It's none of your business," but I haven't got the nerve, so I find myself telling lots of things I really don't want to tell.

Have you a solution for my problem? I'm sure many others would like to know the answer.

TIMID

Casting an appraising eye upon an elaborately-beaded creation which will be shown in Hadassah's fashion show Thursday evening, is Mrs. Stephen Friedman of Orchard Lake, (right). Mrs. George Wyman of Kingsmill Road, another of the Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood, strikes a modeling pose in a glittering brocade minidress. The high-style collection was designed by students at Hadassah's Alice Seligsberg Vocational High School in Jerusalem.

Show Features New Styles by Israeli Students

An array of colorful, intricately-designed costumes are featured in a fashion show which will take place Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Temple Beth Jacob under the auspices of Pontiac chapter of Hadassah.

The collection of 27 new designs was created by students of Hadassah's Alice Seligsberg Vocational High School in Jerusalem.

In addition to its fashion training, the school offers courses in homemaking secretarial skills, dental and laboratory assistants' work, and arts and crafts.

* * *

Entitled "Today's Challenge — Tomorrow's Achievement," the collection includes high-style gowns reflecting the cultures of ancient communities; hand-loomed woolen suits; dresses of vibrant, hand-screened silk prints and lame cocktail ensembles.

Israeli dances and a satire called "Mostly About Women," an original dance by American choregographer Charles Weidman, will be performed before and during the show by the Festival Dancers of the Jewish Community Center under the directon of Harriet Berg.

Models of the new modes will be Mesdames Harold Bienenfeld, Herbert Bisgeier, Gus Cefelli, Harold Chapman, Herman Dickstein, Noel Goldberg, Ralph Merkovitz, Marvin Talan, Richard Wolfe and George Wyman.

* * *

Lorene Babcock, of the WWJ-TV "Living" Show, will be the fashion commentator.

Mrs. David Saks is chairman of the event, with Mrs. Irving Gordon, cochairman.

Sharon Snyder to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Snyder of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Sue, to William Michael Newman, son of Mrs. Margaret J. Newman of Muskegon and Raymond A. Newman of Dearborn.

Miss Snyder and her fiance, who is currently attending Wayne State University Law School, are graduates of Oakland University.

A late December wedding is planned.

Fashions inspired by the revival of the movie, "Gone With the Wind" are modeled for cochairmen of the benefit premiere who are brothers-in-law. From the left are Paul McKenney, Bloomfield Hills; Judi March of Southfield; and Robert VanderKloot, Franklin. The Oct. 18 event at the Madison Theater, Detroit, will raise funds for a new building on Northwood Institute's Midland campus.

Trial Weekly Spending for Small Budget

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am 18, a high school graduate, and work as a beauty operator. Would you please make me out a budget for $60 a week take-home pay? I have to pay $15 a week room and board, but I would appreciate advice on how to use the rest, as I haven't the experience in supporting what needs to be supported!

How much insurance should I carry? I am mainly interested in: Savings, Clothing, Advancement, Banking. If there's anything else you can think of, please include it.

H.D., Parma, Ohio

MARY FEELEY

Dear H. D.:

How about lipstick, postage stamps, pizzas, and movies?

Seriously, you've got an imposing list of objectives there — especially Advancement and Banking. And I'm glad to see that at 18 you're thinking big even on a modest income. The time to start learning how to handle your money is when you bring home your first earnings.

If you get the habit of budgeting now, you'll get more out of money when you have more to manage — including your husband's income, probably.

Since you're financially independent, so to speak, it's up to you to assume the responsibility for your own insurance, both life and health — for a checking account and savings account — for medical expenses such as drugs, dentist and doctor bills — and, of course, for the normal day-to-day running expenses.

So consider this weekly budget set-up and see how it works in actual practice for awhile:

Room and board $15
Savings account for life and health insurance, medical costs $12
Savings account for emergencies, vacations, other needs $12
Special Checking account for clothing, gifts $10
(Keep charge accounts geared to your bank balance)
Running money for the week, including lunches, transportation, church, cleaning, shoe repairs, grooming items, nylons, recreation $18

That's a total of $60. I suggest the two separate savings accounts, so that although you save by the week, you can pay your insurance premiums by the year, which is cheaper.

Also, you don't want to carry surplus cash around in your wallet. Somehow it will get spent and then you won't have funds to pay medical bills when they pop up. Or take a vacation

Local Sororities Begin Their Year's Activities

Beta Mu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Tuesday in the South Cass Lake Road home of Mrs. Leon Rose.

Mexico and its customs was the subject of the first educational talk of the year given by Mrs. Troy Smith who recently returned from a trip to Mexico.

* * *

Marie Jimenez and Mrs. Lawrence Hartman were appointed delegates to the 1967-68 Pontiac City Council of the sorority.

Mrs. Wayne Francisco and Mrs. Joseph Mendoza, co-chairmen of the ways and means committee, announced that proceeds of this month's candy sale will be donated to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, Inc.

Beta Sigma Phi

Mrs. John Combs of Midland Drive assumed her new duties as president of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Xi Beta Theta chapter, at Monday's meeting in her home.

* * *

Others assuming office this year are Mrs. Wendell Doolin, vice president; Mrs. Robert Lyon and Mrs. Jack Koyl, secretaries; and Mrs. Edward Forsyth, treasurer.

New committees were appointed and plans set for Beta Sigma Phi's participation in the bazaar Nov. 14 in the YWCA.

Pi Omicron

At a recent meeting of Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority, Mrs. Robert Dunham announced that plans are well under way for the season's activities, including the yearly project in support of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

* * *

A check for $400 will be transmitted this week to the Society from the sorority's national headquarters, a gift of the Iota Eta chapter.

The Michigan State Board luncheon meeting is scheduled for noon Sunday at Devon Gables.

NEXT MEETING

The October meeting will be in the Illinois Road home of Mrs. Joseph Chummings. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Carl Tricker of Lotus Drive.

Now What Is Your Response to Bullies?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Once, when I was hurrying through a slum district of my city, the door of a saloon I was approaching suddenly burst open and a gargantuan bartender in white apron broke out of it to shove an old man into the street.

Drunk, the old man staggered, righted himself and turned to protest to the bartender. But he got no chance to say what was in his poor befuddled head. For the great ham of the bartender's hand shot out to give him a crack across that head, which sent him spinning up against the building where he crashed and lay still.

Now, somewhere I'd read the phrase "towering rage." But until that moment it had been just a metaphor to me. Lord knows I had felt rage before but never before in such absolute form. Do you remember Lewis Carroll's Alice when she discovered herself to be suddenly taller than trees? Well, that's how I felt, I absolutely towered with rage.

Actually, all I did was to walk up to the bartender and say something about "beasts." What I said vaporized the bartender. And with that I turned my back on the nothing that was left of him to take the old man to a hospital.

And in general this has been my response to bullies from Hitler through to that bartender as far back as I can remember. Which brings me to the point raised by a reader who writes: "Bless you, you have finally clarified for us the proper behavior for parents whose children are married to bullies.

We have sent our married children that column of yours which says that parents are entitled to explode their anger when made to witness bullying treatment of a child by a husband or wife."

Don't bless me too quickly, friend. Because we can't get away with explosions of rage at a child's bullying mate unless such explosions have been our characteristic response to bullies.

As I say, they have been mine all my life. And my married child is only too well-aware of this fact. So, if her husband made me the witness of bullying treatment of her (which he won't because he's a darling), she could feel no offended astonishment at my howls of rage. Indeed, if I didn't trumpet with rage, she'd know there was something gone awfully wrong with me.

So nobody can make universal law to govern parents' behavior in these situations. If your customary response to bullies is the meek "minding of your own business," meekly minding it is what you'll have to do when your children's mates bully them.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Sister Mary Xavier is back in Chicago with her troupe of 12 pretty and proper young ladies from Dubuque, Iowa. They arrived yesterday from a 50-day tour that took them 15,000 miles to entertain thousands of GIs in Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland.

"We performed everywhere," said Suellen Siliskar, 20, a member of the Coffee House Theater group at Clarke College, a Catholic girls' school in Dubuque.

She recalled one show "in a boiler room for one sailor who couldn't get to the show. One show for one sailor. It was great." They were under the direction of Sister Mary Xavier Coens, B.V.M., whose trip to European bases in 1963 marked the first time a nun directed entertainment for American troops.

Ex-Miss USA Wins Divorce

Terry Lynn Huntingdon, 27, Miss USA in the 1959 Miss USA in the 1959 Miss Universe contest, won a default divorce yesterday in Santa Monica, Calif., from Ted Poliskin, also 27, a business executive.

She charged extreme cruelty. Her suit said they separated last April 26 after 10 days of marriage. She waived alimony and said there is no community property. Both live in Los Angeles.

Snow Thwarts Arctic Trek

Luther Meyers, 71-year-old retired San Francisco newspaperman, was back in Inuvik, N.W.T., today, cheated by the approaching Arctic winter of completing a 2,700-mile solo canoe trip. Because of snow, Meyers turned back at Reindeer Station on the Mackenzie River, 200 miles short of his goal.

He set out in a 17-foot plastic canoe June 21 from Summit Lake on the Arctic-Pacific Divide 40 miles north of Prince George, B.C. Meyers followed the Crooked, Parsnip, Peace and Slave rivers to Great Slave Lake, then pushed north on the Mackenzie to Inuvik, 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton.

This was Meyers' fifth trip in the Arctic and he plans to return next year. He hopes to contribute to the knowledge of the vast northland.

"One-man expeditions have made real contributions in the past," he said. "As the Loucheux Indians say: 'No try, no nothing; try, maybe something.'"

Admiral Says Bomb Halt Would Extend Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, has warned Congress that a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam would be a "disaster" for the United States that would extend the war indefinitely.

* * *

Sharp predicted that a cessation of the U.S. air strikes would mean an immediate and large increase in Americans killed. "We would, in my opinion, be extending the war indefinitely," he said.

The Pacific commander also said that the proposed barbed wire and electronic "anti-infiltration" barrier across the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) announced last month by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara "will never be a substitute for bombing.

"The most undesirable thing that could happen would be to put this in and then stop the bombing; because immediately everything would flow down there and this obstacle system is only an obstacle system. It is not going to completely stop anything so that that obstacle system would be very rapidly broached in quantity if we stopped the bombing," Sharp said.

BOOST MORALE

He said that an end to the bombing also would boost North Vietnamese morale, lead to a considerable buildup of American ground forces, and create an immediate buildup of Communist supplies, including artillery, behind the DMZ.

Sharp's assessment of the air war was given to the Senate preparedness subcommittee Aug. 9-10, one day after the administration cleared 16 new targets for bombing. Some of the target clearances were requested by Sharp as far back as 1966.

* * *

On the basis of his testimony and that of other high-ranking military men, the subcommittee issued a report sharply criticizing the administration for "shackling" American air power and ignoring the advice of the military. The report urged the mining of the Haiphong harbor.

Neglect Is Foe of Old Pompeii

WASHINGTON — Ancient Pompeii, a city that has survived earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, and air raids, now faces a more subtle foe — neglect.

Southern Italy's baking sun, winter rains, and erosion are wearing away Pompeian frescoes and masonry. Weeds sprout in the famous amphitheater.

Ironically, Pompeii attracts more than enough tourist fees to pay for its upkeep. The Italian Government must divert about half these funds, however, to maintain other important archeological monuments that are not so popular.

Restoration was a problem, even in ancient times, the National Geographic Society says. An earthquake in A.D. 63 damaged almost every building in Pompeii; fearful of further catastrophes, the Roman Senate Senate at first withheld restoration funds. It later relented, and a revitalized city rose on the site.

Restoration was still under way in A.D. 79 when nearby Mount Vesuvius erupted with a terrifying roar on a hot August morning. Burning lava flowed down the mountain's shuddering slopes. A black blanket of dust enveloped Pompeii.

Pliny the Younger, who witnessed the eruption from 18 miles away, described the gloom as "the darkness of a sealed room without lights."

$1-Million Aid for Refugees

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan received Tuesday the largest single private donation so far for refugees from the June Middle East war—a $1-million check fom Near East Emergency Donations, NEED, whose honorary chairman is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The check, to be given to the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Refugee Work, was presented to King Hussein by Clayton Brace, a vice president of Time, Inc.

Founded by David Rockefeller and James A. Linen of Time, NEED is conducting a campaign among American business circles to raise funds for Arab war victims.

Trial Postponed for Ailing Miriani

DETROIT (AP)—Councilman Louis G. Miriani's trial on charges of income tax evasion was postponed indefinitely Tuesday in U. S. District Court when doctors testified he was too ill to stand trial at this time.

Doctors testified the 72-year-old Miriani is suffering high blood pressure, angina pectoris and possible kidney damage. He currently is confined to Detroit's Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital.

Job Drive Starts

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce opened a drive Tuesday to provide 1,000 "meaningful jobs" for the city's Negroes and disadvantaged in the next three months. Working in cooperation with local business and industry, the chamber will act as coordinator of the project.

Dirksen Clears Percy as Illinois Favorite Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the 58-vote Illinois delegation ratifies the deal, Sen. Charles H. Percy will get the state's favorite son designation and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen will claim a limelight at the 1968 Republican convention.

Percy, a relative liberal and a dove on the Vietnam war, got clearance Tuesday from Dirksen, the conservative GOP leader of the Senate and a hard-liner on Vietnam, for home base support to prospect the Republican presidential nomination field.

★ ★ ★

The price tag on this agreement is the expected designation of Dirksen as chairman of the state delegation, his appointment to the national platform drafting committee and his selection as chairman of that group.

Dirksen looks to this forum, with its attendant glare of public exposure, to further his campaign for reelection to a fourth Senate term. Dirksen, who will be 72 in 1968, may find the going tough, particularly if democrat Adlai Stevenson III is his opponent.

COOPERATION NEEDED

The Dirksen-Percy accommodation, worked out in the interest of Illinois GOP unity, will require the cooperation of convention delegates elected in next June's primary.

In 1964 the Illinois delegation stuck with Barry Goldwater like paper on the wall. There is no positive assurance an organization-oriented delegation will go along with Percy, who is not exactly a favorite with party conservatives.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen said in a statement drafted after consulting with Percy that there are some "mechanical problems" about designating his colleague as a favorite son but "I don't believe they are unsurmountable."

While he put Percy "high on any list" of possibilities for the nomination, he said when asked whether the junior senator is a "serious candidate:" "I refuse to be entrapped" by an answer.

He turned off questions about possible support for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. But he indicated he expects the delegation to look over the field after a complementary first ballot vote for Percy.

News Analysis

While Dirksen said he has "absolutely no . . . personal desires or ambition" to become a favorite son, he declined to close the door against such a possibility if other arrangements fell through.

For Percy, the Dirksen clearance enhanced the possibility he will go into the convention as a possible compromise choice of the moderates if Gov. George Romney of Michigan suffers a setback in the preliminary campaigning. It would be difficult for Percy to maintain this position without Illinois backing.

★ ★ ★

There was a political risk, however, that Percy might encounter difficulties in presidential primaries where his name is likely to be entered without his consent.

REAGAN STANCE

Reagan has said he will not sign the required disclaimer of presidential ambitions to get his name off the ballot in those states because this would conflict with his favorite son stance in California.

★ ★ ★

Percy may face the same question if he elects not to campaign in primary states, since he could hardly disclaim interest in the nomination and expect the Illinois delegation subsequently to give him a formal boost for it.

★ ★ ★

Percy said in Chicago "of course if the party asked me to be the favorite son candidate I would accept." But he would not speculate on his chances of getting the nomination. He has said previously he is not a candidate.

★ ★ ★

But he said if the GOP "presents a good candidate to the American people, one who can attract independent votes as well as Republican votes, then we can win in 1968."

DISSATISFACTION CITED

He cited the war, economic developments, a proposed tax hike and farm prices in saying "I feel there is great disgust with the Johnson administration."

MARINE BUDDIES — His facial wounds bandaged, a U.S. Marine gets a helping hand from a buddy, who carries both their rifles, after a battle near Cham Son in northern South Vietnam last week. Twenty Marines were wounded in the battle. The North Vietnamese regulars and Vietcong attackers were repelled as they tried to overrun the command post of the 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines.

Retired Exec Suggests Impeachment of Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A retired Michigan businessman yesterday suggested to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that President Johnson should be impeached for his actions in Vietnam.

Another witness told the committee the President "simply does not have the constitutional powers which he claims are his."

The statements came during a hearing on Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright's resolution calling for a definition of national commitments.

The witnesses were two octogenarians: George M. Montross, 81, Detroit, a retired businessman who has made a lifelong hobby of the study of government and the Constitution, and Albert Levitt, 80, Hancock, N.H retired U.S. district judge and professor of constitutional law.

★ ★ ★

Levitt said Fulbright's resolution is "greatly needed now because President Johnson has claimed, and is now claiming, that he has the power and the authority to make national commitments by the United States to foreign powers even though those commitments violate the Constitution."

DELIBERATE USAGE

He said the commitments are "deliberately used by him to invade and circumvent the inherent sovereignty of the people of the Unied States."

Levitt cited Vietnam, the observance of sanctions against Rhodesia and a commitment to the territorial integrity of the states of the Middle East as examples.

Montross went even further. "The impeachment provision is available," he said.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the Senate's leading foes of the President's actions in Vietnam, said he agreed with all the witnesses' statements except that one.

'CAREFUL STUDY'

"I have made a careful study," Morse said, and I do not believe there is any basis for impeachment of the President on the Vietnam issue."

"I think Mr. Johnson is vulnerable in this regard," Montross argued.

"You believe that ignoring or violating the Constitution is tantamount to treason," Fulbright asked.

"Proving treason is not necessary," Montross said. "A president may also be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors."

Maternity Fashions Hurt by Tent Dress

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The tent dress was responsible for the worst maternity fashion season in 30 years, a Philadelphia maker of dresses for mothers-to-be says.

"Our volume dropped 25 to 30 per cent last season," says dress firm executive Albert Nipon.

The reason: With tents already in their wardrobes, expecting mothers didn't feel the need for special clothes and stayed away from maternity departments.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Ingredients in Instant Coffee Not Harmful

BRANDSTADT

Q — A friend told me that instant coffee contains some ingredients that are harmful to the kidneys. Is this true?

A — The caffeine in coffee is a mild diuretic (promotes the excertion of water through the kidneys) but this is in no way harmful.

Your friend may have heard of a recent study that suggested that in diabetics coffee drinking raises the blood sugar level.

* * *

The report was, however, inconclusive and the fact that in this study instant coffee was used instead of regular or drip grind was of no significance.

Q — I am 55 and drink five or six cups of coffee a day. My husband says this will increase the wrinkles in my face. What do you think?

* *

A — Coffee gets plamed for everything these days.

Q — In a recent column you stated that tea is a healthful drink and preferred to coffee. In what way is it healthful?

A — I did not say that tea was preferable to coffee, only that it is preferred by some persons.

These drinks, taken in moderation, are healthful insofar as they enable many persons who dislike plain water to get the fluids they need.

Still Keeps Going

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A. I. Decker has been sworn in as bailiff of the district court in Douglas County for another 4-year term. Decker is 90 years of age.

There are 217 doctors per 100,000 people in New York.

Naturalists Use Radio to Track Eagles

WASHINGTON — Naturalists are wiring golden eagles for sound in an effort to save these magnificent birds from extinction.

The specie breeds slowly, and only 10,000 golden eagles may survive in North America. Pesticides are suspected of taking a toll.

By tracking birds known to have ingested pesticides, biologists hope to determine the effects of poison on the eagle population.

The tool they use is a one-ounce radio transmitter. Strapped to a bird's leg and sealed in plastic, the tiny set can send a signal for two miles.

Tunnels Cut Under Frisco

2 Mechanical Moles Work on 1st Subway

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two mechanical moles are burrowing quietly under Mission Street for San Francisco's first subway.

From the days of horse-drawn streetcars, San Franciscans have traveled on the surface—except for tunnels through Twin Peaks. It's been by cable car, streetcar, trackless trolley or bus, linking with ferry boats or bridges.

* * *

Subway tubes, scheduled for completion in 1969, will be part of the 75 miles of the $1-billion San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District. The system will tie three counties together with 75 miles of subway, surface, elevated and underwater high-speed rail lines.

* * *

It includes five miles of twin and four-bore tubes under San Francisco.

TWIN LOWERED

The first of 18 tunneling machines and shields that will operate under San Francisco's streets began boring in mid-July.

* * *

Its 93-ton twin was lowered in September to the mud-splattered bottom of a four-story hole that marks their starting point at 15th and Mission streets. It will trail a safe 150 feet behind its companion as they cut mile-long twin bores to 8th and Market streets near the Civic Center.

* * *

The rest of the San Francisco tunneling will be carried out under eight other contracts. No other has begun. Some are still to be let. Stations, all to be built by cut and cover operations, involve still other contracts.

Two blocks from the start of the first tunneling operation doctors are examining prospective sandhogs in the still uncompleted Transit Compressed Air Medical Center.

12 PCT. FAIL TESTS

Roughly 12 per cent of prospective underground workers have failed to pass the rigid physical examinations.

Most of the tunnel work, from 40 to 90 feet underground, will be done under compressed air with separate air locks for workmen and for the muck removed.

* * *

"The increased pressure is not in itself dangerous and presents no risk to the work," labor union representatives were told when sandhogging was brought to San Francisco. "However, after a man has worked in an environment of increased pressure for a time, it is necessary to reduce air pressure about him slowly.

* * *

"It is this decompression which presents some hazards."

The medical center will be equipped with a decompression chamber, just in case any of the sandhogs get the bends.

Near Suicide a Mistake

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—She swallowed a handful of sleeping tablets but didn't mean to commit suicide.

Police pieced together the story while the woman's stomach was being pumped out at a hospital.

The young wife argued with her husband and threatened to kill herself. He scoffed. She took a handful of sleeping pills and popped them into her mouth — making sure to keep them in her cheek.

He got frantic and started shaking her. She swallowed the pills.

★ ★ ★

The quick trip to the hospital corrected the physical problem. The couple was left to work out their other problems on their own.

Ball Team on Its Toes With Ballet

VICTORIA (AP)—Don Smyth, coach of the University of Victoria volleyball team, probably wouldn't be surprised if some of his boys showed up for practice in leotards.

★ ★ ★

The team has embarked on a ballet dance training technique designed to help them dance rings around their opponents.

The Vikings concentrate on pirouettes, pas de chats and sautes rather than spikes, blocks and serves.

"My wife Lorraine came through with the idea to teach them ballet," says Smyth.

★ ★ ★

"I laughed at first but it is really working. The boys are becoming more supple and have better muscle control."

Women Officials Face-Lift Town

TATUM, N.M. (AP) — With a woman as mayor and another woman as manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, this small ranching town in southeastern New Mexico has given itself a beauty treatment.

★ ★ ★

The chamber official, Mildred Jones, directed the operation, with the cooperation of Mayor Bina Mae Hall.

★ ★ ★

Flowers were planted along the Lovington highway, eight tumbled-down houses were demolished and the debris carted away, junk cars that had been community eyesores were disposed of, weeds were mowed and buildings were painted.

'Piloting Safer Than Driving'

IOWA FALLS, Iowa (AP) — Learning to fly a single-engine plane is simpler and safer than starting to drive an automobile, believes Paul I. Barker, who was nearly 50 when he qualified for his license.

★ ★ ★

Says the life insurance agent and member of the Scenic City Flying Club: "The training is more thorough.

★ ★ ★

"You have to know why a plane flies, about the engine, what to do in emergencies — and you don't have to face the dangers of highway traffic."

UNDERGROUND DANCER — Teen-agers, like this Indonesian girl clad in a miniskirt and leather boots, meet secretly once a month as members of a club called Jakarta 007 to indulge in the kind of dancing that is frowned upon in their country.

BENDING BUS — This new wrinkle in Stockholm traffic will be ready early in 1968. The Swedish-built vehicle will hold 118 passengers and weighs 20 tons. Test driving has shown the "trailer" end, connected by a turntable and accordion-type arrangement, allows the bus to take the narrowest streets and sharpest corners much better than regular buses.

Scientist Is General in 'Barnacle War'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The following communique in the Great Barnacle War was issued from the advanced headquarters of Prof. Dennis Crisp at the Marine Science Laboratories in Britain:

"The enemy still is inflicting heavy losses of tens of millions of dollars a year on mankind and still is resisting a counter-attack on a broad front. But he has been forced to yield information which may be of value in increasing world food resources."

The barnacle doesn't look like much of an opponent to warrant the array of scientific brainpower against him. He doesn't do very much except squat in one place — small blobs of cement-like material familiar to everyone who has ever visited the seashore.

Yet that, precisely, is why he is such a commercially important nuisance. He settles on and fouls the hulls of ships; he settles in and blocks the pipes of industrial plants and use seawater for such purposes as cooling.

The first rule of warfare is to know your enemy, and Prof. Crisp has spent a long time studying the barnacle which was — next to evolution — one of the big interests of Charles Darwin. Crisp sketched the present state of our knowledge in the current issue of "science Journal."

Barnacles evolved their stationary mode of life after millions of years as free swimming crustaceans. Nature has a habit of building all sort of survival safeguards into its oldest species and the barnacle has the astonishing faculty of being able to recognize even a single protein molecule left by a previous barnacle.

This ability to identify the past presence of another barnacle is vital, for the perpetuation of the species depends on living in colonies. Barnacles are hermaphrodites — male and female at the same time — but they breed by cross-fertilization with other barnacles.

'68 Buick. Now we're talking your language.

We changed the Skylark from front to rear, we gave it a whole new look, simply because we believe you want a car like this. In other words, we're talking your language.

We thought you'd like to have a little easier time parking. So we shortened the wheelbase of the two-door Skylark down to 112 inches.

The new 230-hp., V-8 engine runs on regular gas. It's standard on all Skylark Custom models.

We also refused to limit your choices. Skylark Custom comes in four models, 15 colors and 32 trim combinations. So talk to the man who talks your language, your Buick dealer.

All Buicks have a full line of General Motors safety features as standard equipment. For example, side marker lights and energy-absorbing steering column.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

The '68 Buicks are at your Buick-Opel dealer's now. He's ready to talk your language.

Toy Wagons Viet-Bound, Thanks to Marine

AP Wirephoto

WORD FROM VIETNAM — Mrs. William D. Abbott of Stafford, Va., and her two children, Randy, 12, and Theone, 10, read a letter from her husband in Vietnam. Sgt. Abbott wrote his family of the need for children's wagons in Vietnam, and that resulted in Operation Red Wagon.

CAMP CARROLL, Vietnam (AP) — One thousand little red wagons are heading from the United States to South Vietnam to play a role in the other war.

"This kind of thing may be more important than shooting people," said M. Sgt. William D. Abbott, who came up with the wagon idea.

Abbott, a soft-spoken 39-year-old Marine, got to thinking about it after he saw a Vietnamese boy dragging a discarded ammunition box through the mud of a refugee village near this artillery post just south of the demilitarized zone.

Being pulled along inside the box was another Vietnamese child.

'PRETTY NICE'

"I just thought it might be pretty nice if they had a real wagon," Abbott said.

★ ★ ★

He wrote his wife, Madreen, in Stafford, Va., where she lives with their two children, and asked her to send him a couple of little red wagons. She did. One of them went to a Vietnamese child "and it must have 10,000 miles on it by now," Abbott said. He gave the second one to a Roman Catholic priest who helps handle the refugee families at nearby Cam Lo.

★ ★ ★

Then the word got around back in the states about the wagons, especially in the circles of the Amateur Trapshooting Association of America, in which Abbott and his wife have long been active. It snowballed and the trapshooters began "Operation Red Wagon." Money was raised at shooting events, starting last June 25 with the Fall Creek Valley Club at Anderson, Ind.

Abbott got the okay from his commanding officers to go ahead with the project on this end, and the enthusiastic endorsement of Hugh McKinley of Vandalia, Ohio, manager of the trapshooting association, and Ralph Taylor of Keedysville, Md., association president.

"I thought we might get enough money to buy 40 or 50 wagons. maybe a hundred at the most," Abbott said, "but the first thing I knew there was enough for a thousand."

★ ★ ★

The wagons cost $4 apiece in the United States. The shipping to South Vietnam is handled by the association and the Marines.

The wagon that Abbott gave the priest is used as a display model to let the refugee children know that more are on the way.

Fire Hits Grocery

MONROE (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin Tuesday caused more than $30,000 damage to a Gruber's Food Market at Detroit Beach, some five miles north of Monroe. Two passersby who stopped to help firemen were slightly injured by broken glass.

What's This? Producer Making a Silent Film?!

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's this? Somebody making a SILENT movie again after all these years?

Yes, he's Ralph Andrews, an independent television producer. The film, his first for theaters, is "The Silent Treatment." Judging from two reels he projected for this reporter, it will be as wild as the soundless Charlie Chaplin and Keystone Kops antics of the '20s.

★ ★ ★

There are the frantic chases, exaggerated gestures and dialogue cards instead of audible words. Will moderns go to see this first Hollywood silent since Chaplin's 1936 "Modern Times."

Andrews is so sure they will that he financed the film himself, is directing it and isn't bothering to seek a distributor until he has a rough cut assembled this fall.

FILM PLOT

Andrews sketched his film's plot:

An advertising agency selects a clean-shaven hippie (Monty Ingels) for a promotional stunt. If Ingels can make $10,000 worth of purchases in two weeks with a client's credit card, using no cash, he'll win a prize. His escapades involve one of the biggest casts of bit-playing guest stars ever assembled.

★ ★ ★

Rowan and Martin are cops, Barry Sullivan a car-rental proprietor, Wally Cox a masseur, Godfrey Cambridge a hotel manager, Phyllis Diller a prostitute working for "Never on Sunday, Inc." Others including George Raft, Rudy Vallee, Gene Autry and Jackie Coogan — Chaplin's costar in the silents' famed "The Kid" — flash by. President and Mrs. Johnson and California Gov. Ronald Reagan join the action on clips from press-conference newsreels.

★ ★ ★

"First time in history a president has had a part in a movie," Andrews exulted.

RUSTY WATER?

Two things to do about it:

1 First, get yourself a good water conditioning unit. They're less expensive than you might think.

2 Use Diamond Crystal REDOUT salt nuggets regularly. REDOUT is a water softener salt with a special additive that eliminates iron stains to provide you with pure, crystal-clear water and keeps your water softener working at peak efficiency.

Saigon Blast Is Tied to Chinese Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The bombing of the Nationalist Chinese Embassy in Saigon may have been touched off by intrigues among Communist members of this city's Chinese community rather than Vietcong terrorists, intelligence sources said today.

The sources say they are convinced that the blast Tuesday was meant to kill the Chinese ambassador, Hu Lien, a four-star general.

★ ★ ★

The explosion at the embassy, two blocks from the U.S. Embassy in downtown Saigon, heavily damaged the two-story building and injured scores of embassy personnel. No one in the embassy was killed.

"Where the bomb was placed and the shape of the charge show that the explosion was aimed at the ambassador's office," an intelligence officer said.

BELOW THE OFFICE

The bomb in a satchel, was carried into the visa section of the embassy, just below the ambassador's second-floor office.

"The ambassador is a man of very precise routine and he should have been in his office and the bomb would have got him there. But luckily he had just been called out of his office when the bomb went off," the intelligence officer said.

★ ★ ★

The ambassador was not injured, Col. Charles T. Chung, the chief intelligence officer of the embassy, also escaped injury in the blast.

But a woman followed him to his home in Cholon, the Chinese quarter of Saigon, and shot him in the back as he stood in front of his home. Chung turned around to take the gun away from the woman and was shot, again, in the thigh. He is in serious condition at a hospital and the woman assailant, of Chinese descent, was captured.

★ ★ ★

Chung arrived in Saigon recently and spread word that he was going to make it tough for Chinese Communists here.

Errant Missile Believed Found

VAN HORN, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman at White Sands Missile Range says a civilian helicopter crew has sighted what is "believed to be the impact point of a Pershing nose cone" from an Army missile that went off course.

The sighting was made Tuesday about 50 miles southwest of Van Horn in a secluded area of northern Mexico.

* * *

A 12-man team from the missile range gathered today in this West Texas community to await permission from the Mexican government to cross the border and recover components of the Pershing missile.

The two-ton, $750,000 artillery missile was launched Sept. 12 from Blanding, Utah, intended to impact 350 nautical miles to the south at White Sands in southern New Mexico.

COPTER SEARCHES

Helicopter searches combed the lonely Mexican border area for seven days before the sighting was made, in a general area where White Sands said they received a report that a Mexican cowboy had found missile debris. The helicopter was under contract to White Sands.

White Sands officials said the missile's guidance and control section, contained classified material. It was designed to fall to earth separately from a dummy warhead.

* * *

The U.S. Embassy in Mexico City sought permission to send the recovery team into northern Mexico.

Radar had tracked the two-stage, supersonic missile to a point 140 miles southeast of Juarez, Mexico, or south of Van Horn.

The Pershing launched from mobile vehicles is about 35 feet long, 40 inches around and has a range of 100-400 nautical miles.

The guidance system is designed to control the missile until cutoff and separation of the second stage. Under wartime conditions, the missile is designed to carry a nuclear warhead, but during test firings from Blanding the warhead contains no explosive capabilities and usually disentegrates.

Injury Probe Involves Kin of Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — The son-in-law of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is under investigation for an accident in which his car hit a woman pushing a baby carriage across a Moscow street, informed sources said today.

The son-in-law, Alexei I. Adzhubei, was editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and an important aide to Khrushchev before the latter was ousted three years ago. Since then Adzhubei has been one of the editors of the minor magazine "Soviet Union."

* * *

The sources said the accident occurred several days ago. One source said the woman was seriously injured but the baby carriage was not hit.

Under the Soviet legal system, an investigation might take several weeks. It determines whether criminal charges will be pressed.

Hearing Set in Traffic Death

A 17-year-old Commerce Township youth, charged in connection with a traffic death last April, is scheduled to be arraigned at 9 a.m. next Wednesday before Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts.

David G. Smaltz of 8604 Palomino was bound over to Circuit Court last week by Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead who reduced the charge against the suspect from involuntary manslaughter to negligent homicide.

Killed in the April 22 crash was Mrs. David Sonnenberg, 17, of 23 W. Kennett.

Waterford Township police allege Smaltz's car crossed the center line on Dixie Highway near Watkins Lake Road and collided with the victim's automobile.

A third car also was involved, according to police.

Move to Rent Office for Justice Tabled

LANSING (UPI) — The State Administrative Board yesterday tabled a proposal to pay $629 a month rent for the next eight years for office space in downtown Detroit for Supreme Court Justice Thomas E. Brennan.

Brennan, since being elected last fall, has been without an office and would like to work near his Detroit home when the court is not in session.

Only three of the eight Supreme Court justices use offices on the third floor of the Capitol full-time.

The board — composed of the top six state officials — questioned the request for office space for Brennan because of "insufficient justification for the need for the office and because the term of the lease extended beyond the usual five-year limitation for office space rental."

The board asked the Department of Administration to clarify the need for office space and to determine whether the location should be in Detroit or elsewhere.

Brennan has sought office space in the First National Bank of Detroit. Justice Theodore Souris maintains an office in the State Court of Appeals building in Detroit.

Cost of operating the office is paid out of Supreme Court funds.

Chief Justice John Dethmers and Justices Thomas Kavanagh and Paul Adams have offices in the Capitol.

Union Members Reject Network Pacts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has stepped into a television and radio technicians' contract dispute in an effort to prevent a possible strike against the National Broadcasting Co. and American Broadcasting Co.

William E. Simkin, director of the service, sent telegrams to the networks and the technicians' union Tuesday calling them to a meeting with federal mediators here Thursday.

★ ★ ★

"Both parties," the telegrams said, "have a public responsibility to exert every effort to maintain this vital service and to continue operations without any interruption."

Simkin acted shortly after the AFL—CIO National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians (NABET) announced membership rejection of proposed new contracts with NBC and ABC.

NEW DEMANDS

The union's eight-man negotiating committee was summoned to New York to draw up new demands, and it is scheduled to hold its first meeting tonight.

Dorr Wilson, an assistant to NABET President Eugene P. Klumpp, said:

"If our new demands can't be met—and we don't know what they are yet—then we are in a strike situation again."

★ ★ ★

Columbia Broadcasting System technicians are not involved in the dispute. They are represented by the AFL—CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

On Sept. 5, as a NABET strike against NBC and ABC was threatened, leaders of the union and network negotiators reached a tentative agreement in Miami Beach on new contracts to cover 3,000 employes in five cities, New York, Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

MAIL VOTE

The union announced the mail vote by members at ABC was 987 to 177 against the proposed contract and by members at NBC was 889 to 332 against.

★ ★ ★

NABET's negotiating committee had expressed dissatisfaction with the proposed ABC pact and submitted it to the membership "without recommendation." The proposed NBC contract had been recommended to the members for approval.

A&P

It isn't easy to buy bean coffee!

Nowadays, very few stores offer you bean coffee.

Why does A&P still offer coffees in the bean?
Basically, because "We Care."
Specifically, because we know these facts:
The coffee bean is nature's seal that holds the flavor.
Once that seal is broken by grinding, flavor fades...
NO MATTER HOW IT'S PACKAGED.
The shorter the time between grinding the beans and brewing your coffee, the greater the flavor.

Something else that's important to full coffee flavor
...the correct grind.
We don't have just one or two grinds. We have seven.
We custom-grind your coffee to fit your coffeemaker.

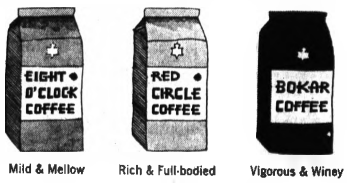
So if you want the finest cup of "The Think Drink" you've ever tasted, buy and brew one of A&P's three Bean Coffee blends.



Mild & Mellow | Rich & Full-bodied | Vigorous & Winey

Not every store can offer you custom-ground bean coffee.
A&P can and does.
Shouldn't A&P be your store?

U.S. Has Funds to Start ABM Network

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government already has enough money alloted to begin deployment of the $5 billion missile defense (ABM) system outlined this week by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

But officials said the decision will probably add about $1 billion to the budget President Johnson will send to Congress next January for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1968.

* * *

The Nike-X defense system is scheduled to be built over five years to ward off any low-scale nuclear attack by Red China in the 1970s.

NO EFFECT

For the current fiscal year, however, the big defense decision will have no effect on the budget which the administration is already under heavy pressure to cut.

Some members of Congress have demanded cuts in nondefense spending as the price for adoption of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Government sources estimate that up to $700 million is available to the Pentagon to begin the program during the current fiscal year.

$375 MILLION

In submitting his budget to Congress last January for this fiscal year, President Johnson reserved $375 million for possible production of Nike-X.

He said at the time, however, that no action would be taken immediately to deploy a missile defense and said discussions would be initiated with the Soviet Union on limiting missile deployment.

* * *

In the event these discussions prove unsuccessful," Johnson said, "we will reconsider our deployment decision."

APPEAL TO SOVIET

When McNamara announced the go-ahead decision on the antimissile system, he appealed to the Soviet Union to negotiate an agreement to limit the nuclear arms race, and the State Department underlined that appeal Tuesday.

* * *

However, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said, "We've not had much success in developing such discussions up to now. We intend to continue trying."

Woods in U.P. Get a Glow On

LANSING (UPI) — Treewatchers, your time has come!

The Michigan Tourist Council reported yesterday that Michigan's fall color show is under way as frosts are beginning to put a glow on Upper Peninsula woods.

* * *

The council said peak viewing times are expected in early October in the U.P., in mid-October in the northern Lower Peninsula and late in the month in the southern third of the state.

Reagan Backs ABM Net

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday gave qualified and questioning endorsement to a newly announced limited antiballistic (ABM) umbrella.

The California Republican mentioned as a possible 1968 presidential candidate, publicly worried, however, that the Johnson administration was "reacting instead of acting."

* * *

Reagan's remarks came during a question period at the conclusion of an address to the 8th annual Conference of United Press International Editors and Publishers. John W. Fitzgerald, editor of The Pontiac Press, is among those attending.

Administration plans to build a $5-billion ABM network during the next five years were disclosed Monday at the UPI conference by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

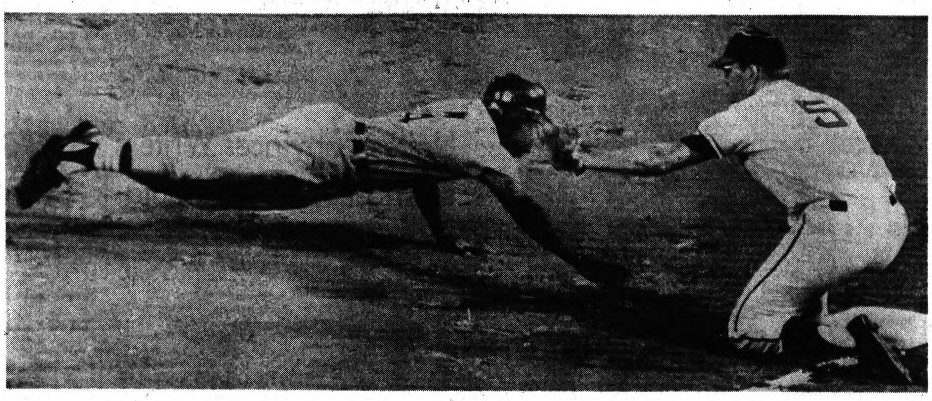
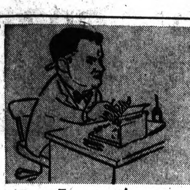
Punchless Tigers Tumble to 4th in Pennant Race



AP Wirephoto

PICKED OFF — California Angels' first baseman Don Mincher applies the tag to Chicago's Tommy McCraw after taking a throw from pitcher Jim McGlothlin in the first inning of their game in Anaheim, Calif., last night. The pickoff was one of the few bright spots for the Angels who were blanked 3-0.



From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Still betting that the Detroit Tigers are going to win the American League pennant?

Forget it. It's not likely to happen.

But if anyone insists, they'd better take 4-1 odds behind Minnesota, Boston and Chicago.

* * *

Up to the Red Sox series ending last night, there was still hope, but the Tigers proved what many have said all along — they are better choke artists than they are clutch hitters.

On paper, what White Sox manager Eddie Stanky said holds some merit — that the Tigers should be 10 games ahead in the league.

Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles also hit the nail on the head when he left Detroit last week saying the Tigers could win it but they're expecting someone else to do it for them.

Why won't the Tigers win the pennant?

- Because Norm Cash hits homers and hits long fly balls with no one on base, but pops to the catcher or takes a third strike with the big run in position.
- Because Bill Freehan seems to have more opportunity to drive in runners but is notorious for hitting into double plays.
- Because Don Wert, a fine glove man, is slower than Grandma Kearns and could not score from second on a double.
- Because Ray Oyler would have a hard time making the class A team in Pontiac.
- Because the Tigers are so loaded with would-be sluggers that the sacrifice, squeeze play and drag bunt aren't part of their baseball itinerary.

Now that we've said it all again for the second time, the first being back in the March Grapefruit period, even the thought itself of a World Series being held in the skid row area around Tiger Stadium would be enough to discourage a visitor after one visit.

TERRIBLE AREA

It's a shame a city of two million really can't handle the autos of a crowd of 40,000.

The shanty dwellers in the area have a field day most any time an event is held at Tiger Stadium.

They park cars in chuck holes, in seas of dust and dirt, on sidewalks, on what are supposed to be lawns and even on curbs where no parking signs are clearly visible, for two bucks a car.

When the game is over, the thought of leaving the area is even more horrible, especially after a verbal bout with a drunken resident car lot "businessman" is usually certain.

Well, anyway Go Get 'Em Tigers! We COULD be wrong too, you know.

Pitchers Keep White Sox, Minnesota on Track

Chicago's No-Hit Ace Joe Horlen Halts Angels 3-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — Bill Rigney, manager of the California Angels, believes Chicago is destined to win the American League championship and he says pitching is the reason the White Sox will prevail in the four-team scramble.

* * *

"I thought for a while that Boston would win it, but now it looks like Chicago, because of its pitching." That was his observation Tuesday night after Chicago right-hander Joe Horlen hurled a six-hitter to snap the Angels' four-game winning streak 3-0.

If the White Sox win the pennant, they're apt to set major league records for fewest runs scored annd lowest team batting averages for any title winner. But it is also true that their pitching staff's 2.50 earned run average is the class of both leagues.

As Rigney points out, the White Sox have only nine games left in the final 12 days. It means Chicago might be able to get by with only its six best pitchers—starters Horlen, Gary Peters, Tommy John, Cisco Carlos, and relievers Hoyt Wilhelm and Bobby Locker.

* * *

The six have a combined ERA of only 2.09.

The Detroit Tigers announced Tuesday they would begin selling World Series tickets Saturday, by mail order only.

* * *

The Tigers said the tickets would be sold in sets, with each set including one ticket for each of the four games scheduled for the American League park. The limit is two sets per customer.

No mail order postmarked before Saturday Sept. 23 will be accepted, the team said.

The tickets will cost $48 per set for box seats, $32 per set for reserved grandstand seats and $24 per set for reserved pavilion seats, the Tigers said. Each order also must include $1 for mailing and handling.

Each order must include a stamped, addressed return envelope, must be for one person only and should be addressed to Detroit Tigers, P. O. Box 400, Detroit, Mich. 48232, with full payment enclosed by certified check, cashier's check or money order.

Wolverines Tuning for Passing Contest

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The name of the game at Michigan this year is pass, both on offense and defense, and it should show up early when the Wolverines open the football season against Duke Saturday at Michigan Stadium.

The Wolverines have in senior quarterback Dick Vidmer the best passer in the Big Ten and in a collection of untried defensive backs, possibly the worst pass defense.

* * *

Michigan Coach Bump Elliott, with three fine running backs gone and a shaky offensive line will have to throw if he wants to score and he is certain his rookie defensive backfield will get its share of action from opposing quarterbacks.

Duke's Jerry Woodall passed for 177 yards in a 31-13 victory over Wake Forest in the Blue Devils' season opener.

Elliott said the Duke scouting report showed "a very impressive team."

Vidmer passed for a Big Ten record 10 touchdowns last season when Michigan won six of 10 games, including a 4-3 conference mark.

His top target, All-America end Jack Clancy, who set Big Ten records of 50 receptions for 698 yards, is gone, along with top running backs Carl Ward, Jim Detwiler and Dave Fisher, all listed among the top ten conference backs in rushing.

So much of the Wolverine offense will center around Vidmer, who was third in total offense last year and had the lowest interception ratio in the Big Ten, including 47 passes in a 20-7 loss to champion Michigan State without an interception.

Elliott figures his team to be about in the middle of this year's conference field with a higher finish if "our new players come through for us."

Among them will be Vidmer's primary receivers, Jim Berline, Clancy's understudy at split end and tight end Jim Mandich, whom Elliott calls "probably as good a sophomore as Michigan has ever had."

Warren Sipp, a tight end last year, has been converted to fullback to help give Vidmer blocking protection. Halfbacks Ernie Sharpe and Ron Johnson are average runners but both good pass receivers.

The only proven players on the offensive line are center Joe Dayton, this year's captain, and Ray Phillips, one of the top tackeles in the conference last year, who will play guard this season.

The other offensive line positions are up for grabs among a group of untried underclassmen and a few seniors.

Among the 14 starters Michigan lost with June graduation was its fine defensive backfield of John Rowser, Rich Volk, Mike Bass and Rick Sygar, who doubled as a placekicker.

Mets Sign Catcher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Senger, a 19-year-old catcher from Baltimore, has been signed by the New York Mets for the 1968 season. He is a right-handed hitter.

Cut Enables Champ to Post TKO Win, Keep Flyweight Title

LONDON (AP) — "I hit him so hard that it really hurt my hand," Chartchai Chionio of Thailand said Tuesday night after he had retained the world flyweight boxing championship by stopping Scotland's Walter McGowan in the seventh round.

Welsh referee Ike Powell stopped the scheduled 15-rounder after one minute of the seventh round with blood pouring down McGownan's face froma cut over his left eye.

* * *

"I had McGowan well ahead on points when that cut happened," Powell said. "But it was so bad I couldn't let it go on."

Twins' Boswell Checks Athletics in 8-2 Triumph

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Minnesota's Dave Boswell was so wild he was almost yanked early in his two-hitter Tuesday night, but regained his control just in time by overcoming a sore back which he told manager Cal Ermer "felt just fine."

* * *

The back was so sore and stiff Boswell said he had trouble getting the ball low. He walked five men, hit another and made two wild pitches in the first four innings.

"I told the man I was just fine," Boswell said, "because I just hate to come out of a game. I decided I'd have to bend more and get the ball low in spite of the pain."

His 8-2 victory over Kansas City kept the Twins in a first place tie in the hectic American League pennant at home.

* * *

Boswell walked only one more man after the fourth and retired 16 of the last 17 batters to get his 14th victory against 11 defeats.

SINGLE-HANDED EFFORT — Second baseman Mike Andrews of Boston makes this throw to first to complete a double play in the first inning against the Detroit Tigers in Detroit last night. With the bases loaded and one out, Andrews fielded Jerry Lumpe's grounder, tagged Tigers' Dick McAuliffe (on ground at left) and flipped the ball to first. In background are Bosox shortstop Rico Petrocelli and umpire Bill Haller.

Bengals Leave Mates Stranded in 4-2 Setback

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Baseball frustration in Detroit is spell T-I-G-E-R-S.

The Boston Red Sox proved this point before 43,004 witnesses at Tiger Stadium last night where they took a 4-2 base-stranding session from the Tigers.

The victory put the Red Sox into a first place tie with the Minnesota Twins in the American League, helped the White Sox stay within a half game and shoved the Tigers into fourth place, one game behind.

* * *

For the second night in a row, Jim Northrup put the Tigers within grasp of victory, only to have the Red Sox pull it out in the final inning.

Northrup blasted a 1-2 pitch into the third deck of the right field stands, scoring Al Kaline ahead of him in the sixth inning for a 2-1 lead.

Except for this inning, the Tigers could do nothing to pad the lead for starter Mickey Lolich who tried to help his own cause with two sharp singles.

TEN LEFT ON BASE

They left 10 men on base, twice with the bases loaded, once with first and third occupied and no outs, again with men on first and third and one out and finally in the ninth with first and second and one out.

Two wild pitches helped the Bosox. Lolich threw one past Bill Freehan in the second and Russ Gibson followed with a two out single to score Reggie Smith for a 1-0 lead.

In the Tiger third, after Freehan flied out, Don Wert and Lolich singled. Dick McAuliffe hit a sharp single to right to load the bases with Wert holding at third.

The infielders were playing deep and Jerry Lumpe bounced to second where Mike Andrews tagged McAuliffe and doubled Lumpe at first to end the inning.

In the fourth frame, Kaline walked and Willie Horton sent him to third with a single. But Northrup popped out, Cash struck out and Freehan gounded out.

In the second and sixth innings, Cash hit towering flies to the warning track in right center. In the fourth and eighth innings with men waiting to tag up, he struck out and popped up.

Freehan, likewise, hit long flies in the third and sixth, but with men waiting to tag up in the fourth and eighth he gounded out and doubled up.

BOSTON'S RALLY

Boston's ninth-inning spurt started with a single by Jerry Adair, a walk to Carl Yastrzemski and a single by George Scott, which sent Lolich to the showers and scored Adair with the tying run.

Reggie Smith, one of Boston's better clutch hitters, gave the Tigers a pointer, in baseball strategy by advancing the two runners with a sacrifice.

Reliefer Earl Wilson intentionally walked pinch hitter Dalton Jones, the hero of the Monday night game, and with pinch hitter Norm Siebern at the plate, Wilson uncorked a wild pitch to allow Yastrzemski to score.

Siebern was walked intentionally and Gibson wouldn't cooperate with the double play strategy as he hit a deep fly to Kaline to send Scott home with the third run of the inning.

Lennie Green and McAuliffe walked with one out in the Tigers' ninth but young lefty Bill Landis struck out pinch hitter Ed Mathews and Kaline hit a hard liner off righty Gary Bell to end the game.

Lolich had 13 strikeouts before giving way to Wilson in the ninth. He had struck out the side in the first and eighth innings, but got little help from the heavy lumber department.

The New York Yankees make a short visit tonight to Tiger Stadium with Joe Sparma scheduled to go against Al Downing.

The Tigers are off Thursday and play a twi-nighter in Washington on Friday.

Bowling Scores

Bill Crawford sent the 300 Bowl Classic off to a running start last Thursday with a 248—642 performance that was better than the majority of last year's scoring.

Joe Foster took high game honors with a strong 253 (600). Monroe Moore had 210-213—624, Bill Gohsman 208-213 — 612, Larry Crake 234—611, Walt Honchell 227—607, Elmer Dickson 234—601 and Walt Conta a 234.

McCullough Realty swept four points aided by a 1016.

Wednesday's North Hill Classic finds Four-O-Six Bar a point ahead of four other teams after two weeks. The barmen had a 1044 game last week in staying ahead of the field.

* * *

Curt Ferris had 235-223—659 and Jerry Hoffman 237-233—650 to feature the scoring. Joe Foster matched Hoffman's 237, while Carl Behrick hit 225-220—644 and Al Boughner 223-216—637.

TOUGH BRONCO — Senior linebacker Rolf Strout was named Mid-American Conference lineman of the week by the Associated Press for his play in Western Michigan's victory over Miami of Ohio Saturday. The 219-pound, 6-foot Bronco ace figured in 23 tackles in the 24-14 decision.

For Play Against Packers

Karras Collects Grid Honor

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It's been a long time since Alex Karras, often called one of the best pass rushers in the NFL, received any personal recognition for any single game accomplishment.

But the Goldn Greek was honored as the defensive lineman of the week by the Associated Press today because of his play against Green Bay last Sunday, and this should be bad news for Frank Ryan, the next quarterback in line to meet the Lions.

Karras and Pontiac's Jerry Rush, playing for the departed Roger Brown, mauled Green Bay's Bart Starr in the 17-17 deadlock last Sunday.

Karras hit him four times, twice in the late stages, but it wasn't enough to stop the cool Packer signal caller from getting off the pass which led to the tie.

Ryan, the aerial artist of the Eastern Division Cleveland Browns, was battered and bruised and he was playing with both ankles taped for sprains against the Dallas Cowboys last Sunday when the Browns lost 21-14 before 81,000 fans.

"He's battered from head to toe," said Cleveland publicity director Nate Wallack, "but he's a game competitor and he'll be ready Sunday."

The meeting with the Browns is one of the rare regular season contests between the two teams.

FIRST VICTORY

In 1964, the Browns defeated the Lions for the first time in regular season play, and they have never won in regular season in Tiger Stadium.

"Up to last week, Dallas never won in Cleveland Stadim either," reminded Wallack, "so things are due to change for us sometime."

The Browns had the poorest exhibition record in history in losing all five games, but again Wallack pointed out that rookie defensive backs played most of the time, and now the veterans are all in good physical condition for the first time.

The Browns had the second and seventh best rushers in the NFL in 1966 with Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green in total yardage. Kelly led the league in average with 5.5 yards per try.

Gary Collins, one of the top pass receivers in the league, al had physical problems for awhile, but he caught five pas in the loss to Dallas last week and is back in line as Ryan's favorite target.

An old familiar face will be back in Tiger Stadium in a Browns' uniform. Nick Pietrosante, signed asa free agent last September when released by ex-coach Harry Gilmer, still lives in Birmingham and is in business with former teammate Joe Schmidt, now head coach of the Lions.

Kickoff Sunday at Tiger Stadium is 1:30 p.m. Some 10,000 tickets are still available for the game.

Unitas Convinces Writers in Effort Against Atlanta

NEW YORK (AP) — The Atlanta game was something special to John Unitas. A year ago he came out of Atlanta with a damaged right shoulder that threatened to end his career. The rest of the season was an agony of pain and interceptions because John couldn't put the speed on his short passes in tight situations.

Unitas tried something different this year. In pre-season camp of the Baltimore Colts he babied his arm, warming up only once a day and cutting down on the number of passes he threw. In the pre-season games he saw limited action.

Last Sunday was opening day in the National Football League. Unitas and the Colts faced Atlanta at Memorial Stadium. They were asking the question: Is Unitas sound?

The veteran quarterback provided the answer by completing 22 of 32 passes for two touchdowns and 401 yards, his very first 400-plus game in 12 years of pro ball.

"I think this was John's all-time best passing performance," said Coach Don Shula of the Colts.

NO STOPPING HIM

John throws the ball, sore arm and all, just as well as he always did," commented ex-teammate Alex Hawkins, now an Atlanta flanker. "You have to appreciate how much he did when you consider he doesn't have a running back going for him. We knew he was going to pass but we still couldn't stop him."

With testimonials like that, the Associated Press couldn't go wrong in naming Unitas the NFL Offensive Player of the Week.

* * *

Unitas hit Tom Matte over the middle on the first 1967 play from scrimmage for an 88-yard touchdown pass. Later he threw a 55-yard TD pass to Jimmy Orr and completed four straight for 51 yards in a clinching fourth quarter TD drive in a 38-31 victory.

Cincinnati, Big O in Contract Haggle

CINCINNATI (AP) — The deadlock between the Cincinnati Royals and their biggest star continued today and Oscar Robertson admitted he and the National Basketball Association club remained "far apart" on his salary for the 1967-68 season.

* * *

The Big O, who scores a good one-fourth of the Royals' points, confirmed Tuesday night he is asking for more than $100,000. Estimates of his salary for last season ranged from $75,000 to $95,000.

* * *

Robertson became a holdout officially Tuesday for the second year in a row and his attorney, J. W. Brown, said he would "sign a contract with somebody" — perhaps the Indianapolis Pacers of the new American Basketball Association.

* * *

Pacers' officials declined comment, but a spokesman said "if we got him we'd have some costly lawsuits on our hands."

Harriers Extend Winning Streak

Highland Lakes Posts 28th Straight Decision

Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College upped its two-season cross country victory string to 28 in a row with a 19-45 conquest of OCC's Auburn Hills campus Tuesday.

Freshman John Stevens from Ortonville started the season in fast-stepping style by leading the Highlanders with a 17:09 clocking for the three miles, only 14 seconds off the course record.

Teammate Harold Boone of Pontiac was second in 17:24. Auburn Hills' Larry Carter from Pontiac took third, well behind the two pacesetters.

Highland Lakes then scored in the fourth, fifth and seventh places.

* * *

The Highlanders' second meet will be Friday at Dearborn's Henry Ford Community College. Port Huron JC will visit Auburn Hills' the same day.

Tuesday's run was the first official meet for both OCC campuses in the Michigan Community Junior College Athletic Association.

N. Y.'s Marshall Injured on Ice

I Bet You Didn't Know

By John Carter

Here's a hard-to-believe fact about the great Jim Brown who played in the National Football League from 1957 through 1965 . . . Did you know that Brown NEVER missed a game because of injuries in any of his nine full seasons in pro football! . . . That's rather amazing when you consider how many times Brown carried the ball and when you consider the terrific beating he took from tacklers game after game.

* * *

How's this for a football oddity . . . Did you know there was once a man who was head coach of both a college and a pro football team AT THE SAME TIME! . . . It seems unbelievable, but it's true . . . Back in 1941, Buff Donelli was head coach of Duquesne University and the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League at the same time . . . Finally, the pro league ordered him to choose one job or the other and he gave up the Steeler post . . . But, for part of the 1941 season, Buff Donelli made football history.

* * *

Ever wonder what the record is in pro football for a passer having the most passes intercepted in one game . . . The record was set in 1950 when passer Jim Hardy of the Cardinals had eight of his passes intercepted in one game.

* *

I bet you didn't know . . . that a good snow tire costs less than a cheap one. Come see us — that's the only kind we sell — good ones!

RON BISHOP
At Helm for Arrows

Grid Czar Warns Against Dirty Play

Commissioner John Abel of the Midwest Football League today warned the Pontiac Firebirds and the Mt. Clemens Arrows to "lay off any dirty play and keep it clean" Saturday night when the teams meet in the big grudge battle at Wisner Stadium.

Abel, who suspended a member of the Ypsilanti Vikings for one game because of temperamental antics two weeks ago, said that suspensions would follow any report by game officials of dirty play in this game in Pontiac or any other in the league.

The Firebirds will be 10 to 13 point underdogs to the team which reigned in Pontiac for two years before coach Lisle Wells took his franchise back to Mt. Clemens.

Because of contract clauses with Wells, many of the players who were favorites with Pontiac fans will be on the Mt. Clemens roster Saturday night.

Tony Odneal, Steve Szabo and Gene Luppino, all Pontiac residents, are on the Mt. Clemens roster, reportedly playing out the one year option clauses in their contracts.

Ron Bishop, former All-County star from Royal Oak Shrine, is one of three quarterbacks on the Mt. Clemens squad.

Bill Harrington, who shared the duties with Bishop in Pontiac last year, is now calling the signals for the Firebirds and the contest could be showdown between the two former teammates.

The Firebirds bought Harrington's contract from Mt. Clemens just as the season started.

Other players who were with the Arrows last year and who are now with the Firebirds include defensive back Mike Pryor, defensive end Don Quinn, defensive back George Tanner, offensive lineman Don Barrick, end Mike Brown, safety John Lane, kicker Ed McQueen and running back Willie Jones.

ADVANCE TICKETS

Pontiac Firebirds officials report the best advance sale of tickets of the season for the game and indications point to a possible crowd of 5,000 for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff Saturday.

Advance tickets are on sale at Osmun's Griff's Grill, Bob-Ken's VFW Post 1370 and the downtown office of the Firebirds, 12 N. Saginaw.

Duffy Prepares Field

Fast Track at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Coach Duffy Daugherty is gambling by insisting on track field conditions for Saturday's Michigan State football opener against Houston.

The turf in Spartan stadium is clipped short and Daugherty has told groundskeepers not to water the grass.

His theory is that the short grass and a dry field make better running conditions for his break-away backs.

Quarterback Jimmy Raye runs like a scatback and always is a long yardage threat on the ground from the option play.

Halfbacks Dwight Lee and Frank Waters and Reserve back Lamarr Thomas all are a threat to go all the way any time they see daylight.

But Houston also has some track stars in football uniform.

End Ken Herbert was the national scoring champ in 1966 with 113 points. Halfback Warren Mcvea is a sprint champion who averaged more than 10 yards every time he took a pass or ran from scrimmage during the past two years. Don Bean was tops nationally in punt return yardage with 19 runbacks for 318 yards.

Houston also led the nation in total offense with an average of 537 yards a game.

Spartan workouts this week were closed to all except newsmen who regularly cover the team.

"We're not so concerned about secrecy, we just want the players to be able to concentrate without any distractions," Daugherty explained.

Daugherty drilled his first and second offensive units against dummies Tuesday while the defensive squad scrimmaged against reserves running Houston offensive plays.

Defensive tackle Tody Smith, the Spartans' largest player at 6-5 and 275 pounds, took part in drills although he still is nursing an injured ankle and is a doubtful starter for the Houston game.

Orion Visits Rochester

New-Look Loop Raises Curtain

The debut of the new-look Oakland A League will be Friday night but the change will only be noticeable at two locations.

Lake Orion will invade preseason title favorite Rochester and Troy will travel to Madison in two games that are in keeping with the Oakland-A's former alignment.

★ ★ ★

The changes will be evident at Avondale and in Utica as Romeo's Bulldogs, who visit Avon, and Utica's Chieftains, who entertain Clawson, make their league debuts.

The two Macomb County elevens replace Warren's Fitzgerald and Cousino preps in the O-A. Both Romeo and Utica have competed on an independent basis with some league schools in the past.

★ ★ ★

The Bulldogs' trip to Avondale will put teams rated outside shots at the title. Neither made an impressive start last week in their nonleague openers, although Romeo did squeak out a 7-6 win over Lapeer.

Avondale's Yellow Jackets lost, 31-21, at Milford. They showed a good passing game in the defeat. Both Romeo and the Yellow Jackets boast good size and Avondale may have a slight advantage in speed.

Utica was expected to push Rochester for the title in many preseason forecasts by the coaches, but the Chieftains didn't look impressive in losing their opener.

Clawson isn't expected to contend, but won last week and should be a good test for newcomer Utica.

Rochester didn't hurt its image any with a strong second half surge against outmanned Utica Stevenson last Friday. Lake Orion showed unexpected scoring punch despite losing its opener, but the host Falcons should have too much depth for young Orion.

★ ★ ★

Troy's Colt perennially challenge in the O-A grid race. They had a slow start in practice but gained valuable ground in nipping Berkley last week. Their trip to Madison should result in the winner becoming a contender.

Brothers Sparkle in Touch Victory for Ron's Roost

The Hayward brothers' passing attack and alert defensive play featured last night's opening games in the Pontiac Men's Recreation Touch Football League at Nortside Park.

Ron's Roost ripped Seagram's Seven, 25-0, as Bud Hayward passed for two six-pointers to Larry and Garry Hayward.

Chuck Graves registered a safety in the closing minutes of the contest to earn Sashabaw Products an 8-6 triumph over Tyson's Tigers in the other game.

Tyson's scored first on a 49-yard scoring pass, All Edwards to Gene Simmons; but Sashabaw's Tom Dabbs hit Rich Bates on an 18-yarder to knot the score in the third period.

Tomahawks Set Early Workout

Pro Cagers to Meet Tomorrow at PNH

The Pontiac Tomahawks of the North American Basketball League will have an informal workout 8-10 p.m. Thursday at Northern High School's gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

Coach Bob Duffy, former Colgate University star and coach, will meet any interested candidates at that time. Duffy will also announce the formal workout schedule — expected to begin Sept. 30 at PNH — during tomorrow's practice.

The Tomahawks are the new member of the NABL, an eight-team semiprofessional league that includes Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Battle Creek, Chicago, Lansing, Holland and Columbus, Ohio.

The league season will begin in early November. The Tomahawks have a 12-game home schedule opening with Grand Rapids Nov. 18. Nine away contests are on the Pontiac card, beginning Nov. 11 in Holland.

★ ★ ★

Season ticket sales for the Tomahawks will be announced soon by the Pontiac Football Company, sponsors of the team.

Cards' Skipper Turns to Series Plans

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Outside the Sheraton Hotel hung a big sign: "Congratulations St. Louis Cardinals, National League Champions."

Inside, the flush of Monday night's pennant clinching victory over the Philadelphia Phillies have worn off, Manager Red Schoendienst made plans for the balance of the season and the World Series.

Schoendienst had recovered from the wild champagne celebration in the dressing room after the game and a later party at a downtown restaurant. He had even forgotten an early morning ride home in a $37,000 Rolls Royce.

The Cardinals' manager was all baseball again.

He said he planned to pitch Bob Gibson, 13-6, Steve Carlton, 14-8, Nelson Briles, 13-5, and Dick Hughes, 14-6, in rotation the rest of the National League season. The one exception would be to skip Hughes, who pitched Tuesday night, on his next turn.

Schoendienst said Hughes was a little arm weary and could use the extra rest. Hughes has pitched 213 1-3 innings and posted an ERA of 2.79. The 29-year-old first-year pitcher could be in line for Rookie-of-the-Year honors.

LOOKED STRONG

You couldn't tell the Phillies Hughes is arm weary. The right-hander blanked them 1-0 Tuesday night with five hits, striking out seven and looking strong enough in the ninth to go as long as he had to.

The Phillies didn't get a hit until the fourth, and only in the sixth did they place two men on base. Hughes met the challenge by retiring the hot hitting Tony Gonzalez with runners at first and third to end the inning.

The loser was Jim Bunning, a 16-game winner. Bunning lost his 14th, and fourth by a 1-0 score. He lost a fifth 2-0. Bunning went eight innings and gave up six hits while striking out seven, boosting his league leading strikeout total to 234.

The 44-year-old Schoendienst, a pennant winner in his third year as a manager, didn't say so specifically, but he indicated the Gibson, Carlton, Briles, Hughes quartet would be the pitchers for the series.

Gibson, the nine-year veteran who recently returned to action after suffering a broken leg July 15, probably will open the fall classic for the Cards. He pitched the pennant clincher Monday night for his 13th victory and third straight since being reactivated.

Schoendienst said he would juggle the rest of the line-up to give some of his regulars a rest. The last week of the season, the team which will open the series will play every game to keep them sharp.

The St. Louis skipper, who will be entering his fifth series, three as a player, one as a coach and now one as the field boss, doesn't care which American League team wins the four-club dogfight now going on among Detroit, Minnesota, Boston and Chicago. His comment was, "Let the best team win.

"I would hate to see a playoff," he said. "But it looks like a cinch for a tie and a playoff."

Schoendienst doesn't want his players to have to sit around without competitive play while the American Leaguers get involved in a two or three-way playoff.

QUESTION MARKS

Meanwhile, most experts still were trying to figure out how the Cardinals WON the pennant, let alone by the 13-game margin they now hold. They were a 20-1 shot at the start of the season, a team with suspect pitching, a hole at third base, and question mark in right field.

Schoendienst said they did it with aggressiveness, hustle, great production from young pitchers such as Carlton and Hughes, speed, good defense and a hungry attitude.

* * *

What makes the rise from sixth place to champion even more amazing for the Cards is that they won without a 20-game pitching winner. The biggest winners are Hughes with 15, Carlton 14 and Gibson at 13— he lost almost seven weeks with the busted leg.

The last National League team to win the flag without a 20-game winner was the 1959 Dodgers, and that included a playoff. Don Drysdale was the big winner with 17.

Indian Hurler Siebert Halts Senators, 2-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Max Alvis hit his 20th home run and Sonny Siebert blanked Washington on seven hits as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Senators 2-0 Tuesday night.

Alvis slammed his homer into the left field seats in the fourth. The Indians added another run in the fifth when Vic Davalillo doubled, stole third and scored on Rich Scheinblum's sacrifice fly.

The victory allowed the Indians to edge past Washington into sixth place in the American League.

Demonstrations Kickoff Classes in Dog Training

The first of three dog obedience demonstrations scheduled this month will be tonight at the CAI Building in Waterford at 7:30.

* * *

The others will be at West Junior High in Bloomfield Hills, Sept. 25, and at Walled Lake senior high, Sept. 26. Both will start at 8 p.m.

* * *

Regular obedience classes under the direction of the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will begin the following week at the Waterford and Bloomfield sites and Walled Lake junior high.

Dog owners planning to attend the demonstrations are requested to leave their pets home. A veterinarian's health certificate is required before dogs can be enrolled. Canines must be at least six months old.

Registrations will be taken the night of the demonstrations. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Len Schell, SMOTC training director, at 624-1314.

The Southern Michigan club has been conducting the classes in the Pontiac and Detroit areas for the last several years. Additional classes are scheduled for Troy, Berkley and Royal Oak.

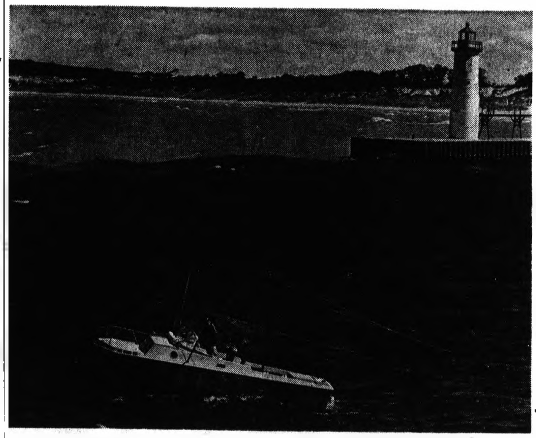
Along the Outdoor Trail

with DON VOGEL—Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press



GREAT LAKES OUTRIGGERS — Four outriggers can be noted on this boat in Lake Michigan. The anglers are after coho salmon and this technique — patterned after salt water fishing — is expected to become popular among salmon charter boats in the years to come. Most anglers in private boats are using the conventional method—holding a rod—while trolling near Manistee and Arcadia.

Permits Required

Set Rules on Goose Hunting

For the first time since 1963, geese will be legal targets this fall in the Saginaw County Goose Management Area under permit systems and special regulations.

The area, closed to goose hunting for the last three years to promote a build-up of local and migratory flocks, will be managed during an Oct. 16-Nov. 17 season for quality shooting on about 65,000 acres.

* * *

It will cover the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge, the Shiawassee River State Game Area and adjacent private lands.

Those sportsmen hoping to hunt on the federal [illegible] have through Oct. 1 to get their postmarked permit applications in the mail. Their applications must be sent to headquarters of the national wildlife refuge at Saginaw.

Special forms for these permit entries are available from the refuge's headquarters, and the Conservation Department's headquarters at Grand Rapids, Jackson, Imlay City, Pontiac Lake and Rose Lake.

They also may be obtained from the Department's Game Division in Lansing, its Detroit information office, the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, and conservation field offices at St. Charles and Caro.

Hunters applying for daily shooting spots at any of 20 blinds to be open at the national refuge must submit each application in parties of two. When the number of these entries outnumber permits to be issued for any day, drawings will be held to determine successful twosomes.

Applicants selected to get permits will then be instructed to appear at the refuge's headquarters at a specified time on the day of their hunts for drawings that will determine their exact shooting places.

Sportsmen will be limited to one hunt on the refuge during the season and they may submit only one application. Each permit holder will be charged a hunting fee of $2.

No pre-season application or fees are required of those who want to hunt at the Shiawassee River State Game Area. Free daily permits will be mandatory for the area's "Managed Hunting Unit" but they will not be needed elsewhere in the state game site.

Hunters can get in the running for these permits by showing up daily at the Department's St. Charles Field office at 5 a.m. and 11 a.m. Drawings will be held at those times to select each day's lucky hunters for 88 available shooting posts.

The 5 a.m. drawing will determine who will hunt waterfowl in the managed hunting area from sunrise to 12 noon. The second one at 11 a.m. will be for afternoon hunting, limited to duck shooting.

New Limits for Salmon Established

The Conservation Commission last week adopted liberalized coho salmon creel limits to clear up confusion among anglers and to let them keep more of the big fish they are hooking in northern Lake Michigan.

The new creel quotas, which last through Nov. 30, allow fishermen a daily catch of 10 pounds and one coho, or two coho both weighing over 10 pounds.

Also as changed, anglers may have two days' catch in their possession rather than the one day limit that stood before.

However, coho fishermen may not have more than one day's catch aboard their boats.

As approved by the Commission, the new coho creel limits are completely separated from the former combination quotas which also covered trout.

Named Co-Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold C. Jordahl of Madison, Wis., is the new alternate federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission

Mackinac Area May Get Coho

Plans Are Being Made for Added Waters

LANSING (AP) — The Straits of Mackinac area may have Coho salmon fishing by 1970, reports Rep. Robert Davis, R-St. Ignace.

* * *

Davis said he contacted the fisheries division of the State Conservation Department to find out department plans for planting Cohos around the straits.

* * *

Wayne Tody, fish division chief, told him that the Charlevoix, Grand Traverse and St. Ignace areas are high on the salmon planting priority list, Davis said.

* * *

Because of the current shortage of young fish, the department plans limited plantings in previously developed areas next spring, he reported.

But it is hoped that enough salmon eggs will be hatched to allow expansion into new areas in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Michigan.

"This could come about in 1969," Davis said.

* * *

Davis said lack of facilities to breed the fish are holding up the program. He said he plans to urge other legislators to support added funds for new hatchery facilities next year.

Archers Banned at Fort Custer

There are no plans to allow archery deer hunting in the Fort Custer Military Reservation this fall, but permit applications are being taken by the Conservation Department to hunt the area during the firearm deer season.

* * *

Applications must be submitted on special forms available from the post, the Conservation Department's game division in Lansing and conservation district headquarters at Plainwell and Jackson. The deadline is Oct. 16.

Nine Speakers Set for M-LCA Event

Farmer - sportsmen relations will be discussed by nine experts from various fields Saturday at Multi-Lakes Conservation Association.

Billed as one of the largest programs of its kind in Michigan the session will start with a 5 p.m. dinner at the club house and be followed by the panel discussion at 7 p.m.

Speakers will represent the fields of conservation, agriculture, science and writing.

* * *

Donald W. Douglass, chief of Conservation Department's game division, will act as moderator and summarize the panel's discussion.

Others on the panel will be Arlow Boyce, private land management development biologist with the department; Eugene Dice, professor of natural resources at the University of Michigan; Larry Ewing, field service division manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Herman Haedicke, regional law supervisor for the Conservation Department; Charles Shick, department game extension specialist; Lee Smits, Michigan Outdoor Writers Association; Charles Smith, soil conservation biologist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture; and Joel Young, ACP specialist with USGA.

The object of their discussion will be to determine methods that can be used to improve farmer-hunter relations that have been slowly deteriorating over the years.

FARMERS INVITED

Multi-Lakes members are inviting farmers to the meeting.

Tom Brooks, president of M-LCA, will preside over the program. Art Hutchings, noted outdoor photographer and lecturer of Bloomfield Hills, will be toast master.

An ox roast is scheduled Sunday and several award winning films, including The Wood Duck's World and Michili Wapiti Elk, will be shown during the day.

Saginaw Bay Site Excellent for Teal

Excellent hunting at North Island in Saginaw Bay marked the opening of the special teal season last weekend.

The many limit bags taken were just about equally divided between blue and green wing teal. Action at St. Clair Flates was only fair with few hunters in the marshes after 10 a.m. Sunday.

* * *

Conservation officers found more fishermen than hunters on the open water and reported walleyes and perch biting good around Strawberry Island and the Middle Channel.

Most of the teal were taken in the marshes. Snipe gunning at both the Bay and Harsen's Island was good. Few rails were reported. The special season ends Saturday.

LBJ, Cabinet to Focus on Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson apparently is getting the message from Congress that he must cut federal spending if he wants to save his proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge.

The chief executive called in his Cabinet today for a midday meeting, and the major topic was likely to be the problem of cutting "nonessential" government spending.

The Cabinet session followed by a day the President's regular weekly breakfast meeting with House and Senate leaders during which he outlined the difficulties he is having in cutting federal spending.

He was quoted as saying that he had only about $20 billion under his control.

★ ★ ★

The President's use of the $20-billion figure was a development in itself. When he proposed the 10 per cent income tax surcharge on Aug. 3 Johnson told Congress he had spending discretion over only about $12 billion, with the rest of the huge federal budget already committed to defense and other untouchable programs.

ANOTHER $8 BILLION

Apparently, between Aug. 3 and now the Chief Executive has come up with another $8 billion which might be eligible for chopping.

According to White House Press Secretary George Christian, the President is studying the possibility of reductions in funds for the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Housing and Urban Development and Agriculture; the space program; and several independent agencies.

Rails Melt Snow

MONCTON, N.B. (UPI) — A new method of clearing snow from railway tracks is being tested by the CNR here. Propane heats the rails which melt the snow as it falls. The equipment is switched on automatically when it starts snowing.

State Confab Set for GOP Leaders

MACKINAC ISLAND (UPI)— More than 700 Michigan Republican leaders but not Gov. George Romney, are expected to attend the 7th biennial conference this week, State GOP Chairman Elly M. Peterson announced yesterday.

Romney, titular head of the Republican party in Michigan, will be in California on the last lap of his tour of urban slums.

Physical ailments such as ulcers and allergies can be aggravated by excessive noise.

OCC Sets Parents' Class

"Sex, Morals and Society," a course designed to provide sex information to parents of teen-agers, will be offered by Oakland Community College, starting tonight.

The five-session course will be held at Pontiac Northern High School, Wednesdays, tonight through Oct. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Courses will also be given at Birmingham Seaholm High School, Mondays, Sept. 25 to Oct. 30 from 8 to 10 p.m. and at Jardon Vocational Center in Ferndale, Tuesdays, Oct. 3 to Nov. 7 at 7 to 9 p.m.

The first session will deal with Socio-Cultural Factors in Sexual Behavior; second, Psycho-Sexual Development; third, American Values and Sex; fourth, Sexual Behavior and Adolescence; fifth and sixth, Sex and Society: Issues in Conflict.

Fee for the course is $12.

MSU Tuition System Hit by Students, Parents, Legislators

By JIM NICHOLS
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — Students, parents and legislators joined Tuesday to denounce Michigan State University's new sliding-scale tuition system, while an MSU administrator declined to say what he thought of it.

"Extremely unfair," said the mother of an MSU freshman. "Blackmail," said another mother.

* * *

"A step toward total socialism unfair, unreasonable and totally uncalled for," added a student.

The statements were made at a House subcommittee's hearing on the new MSU tuition system, under which annual per-resident-student payments range from $354 to $501, depending on the income of a student's parents.
parents.

TAX DATA REQUIRED

Parents who want to pay less than the $501 maximum are required to send to the university their 1966 income tax data and prove they earned less than $16,700 that year.

Witnesses charged the system was unfair to working students and to parents with more than one college-aged child. Some added they regarded it as an invasion of privacy.

Only one witness—Rep. Thomas White, D-Detroit — praised the system as "a new and exciting program."

University Secretary Jack Breslin — representing MSU President John A. Hannah—refused to say what either he or Hannah thought of the system, which Democratic members of the MSU Board of Trustees passed last July on a 5-3 party line vote.

3 TO 1 AGAINST

But Breslin acknowledged that the "hundreds" of letters he had received on the subject ran about three to one against it.

"I have received a number of communications from alumni stating they would no longer support the university by cash gifts or send their sons and daughters to the university," Breslin told the committee. "But I think we'll have to wait and see what really happens."

Other witnesses were outspokenly opposed to the "ability-to-pay" system.

"What they're doing is slapping a fine of $147 per year on anyone who wants to keep his financial affairs his own private business," said MSU junior Jeff Routson.

"As a general principle," agreed Mrs. Marjorie Eicher of Orchard Lake, mother of four children including an MSU sophomore, "I feel, and my husband feels, that our income tax form is a private matter between us and the federal government."

"More and more our privacy is being turned toward socialism," warned Mrs. Robert Partlan of Birmingham, a mother of six.

"UGLY WORD"

"Blackmail is an ugly word," said Mrs. Sam J. Slawson of St. Clair Shores, "but what other word describes paying for privacy?"

Breslin said a new fee determination office, set up at MSU to administer the new tuition system, at one time had 17 full-time and 3 part-time employes and now is down to eight full-time persons.

Breslin said the plan, designed to raise tuitions by about $4 million this school year, cost $10,000 to administer.

Men and women who smoke or have smoked cigarettes lose one-third more workdays each year because of sickness than nonsmokers.

Cooked Corn Is Different in Fish Salad

Fresh sweet corn will continue plentiful during September. So enjoy it and all its delicious variations.

Try fresh kernels mixed with shrimp in a surprise salad. And, as you know, scalloped fresh corn and tomatoes is a succulent vegetable dish.

Corn and Shrimp Salad

1 1-3 cups cooked corn, cut off the cob (approximately 4 ears)
1 cup chilled peeled and deveined cooked shrimp
1 cup diced fresh green pepper
½ cup diced fresh celery
½ teaspoon chili powder
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
Head lettuce

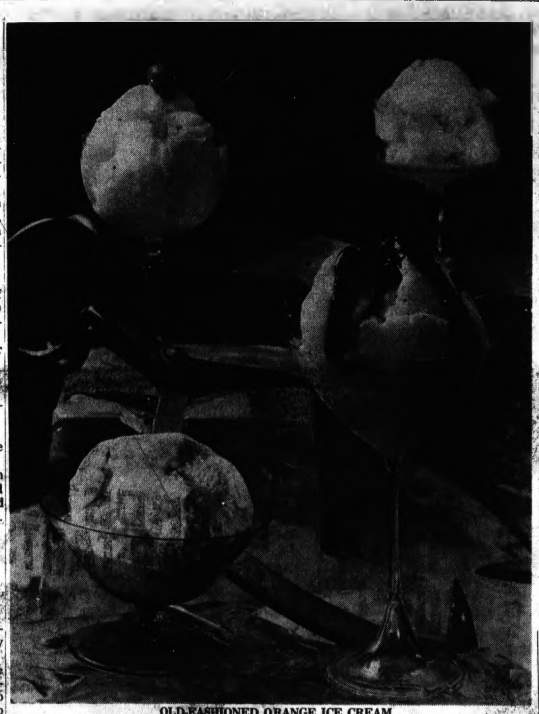
Mix corn with shrimp, green pepper and seasonings. Add mayonnaise and lemon juice and toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Six servings.

Celery Soup Is Creamy Base

Treat crisp salads to this velvet-smooth Celery Anchovy Dressing.

Place an unopened can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Blend soup and ¼ cup mayonnaise; stir in 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 4 anchovies, chopped, and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Serve with green salad. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

Never carve meat that is on a plastic plate or platter. This mars both the surface of the dish and the knife.



OLD-FASHIONED ORANGE ICE CREAM

Flavor Comes From Frozen Juice

Frosty and delicious, these late-summer delights will keep their appeal any time of the year. And what's most pleasing about them is that they are not only simple and quick to prepare, but they're also loaded with nutritious vitamin C from the frozen Florida orange juice concentrate used as a base.

The Old Fashioned Orange Ice Cream cooks in a matter of minutes and can be poured into the ice cream freezer and turned over to the official hand turner while you select the garnishes.

OLD FASHIONED ORANGE ICE CREAM

2 cups milk
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup heavy cream
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Mix together sugar, flour and salt; add small amount of the scalded milk and stir to a paste. Gradually add to remaining milk in top of double boiler.

Cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Beat eggs slightly; stir in small amount milk mixture. Gradually return to double boiler and cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat; cool.

Stir in heavy cream and undiluted orange concentrate; mix well. Turn into cream can of hand-turned or electric crank freezer. Freeze according to freezer directions. Allow to ripen in ice cream freezer according to freezer directions or place cream can in home freezer. Yield: 1 quart.

Orange Sauce

1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1½ cups light corn syrup

Combine undiluted orange concentrate and corn syrup; stir until blended. Serve over ice cream after blended. Yield: 2¼ cups.

Florida Chocolate Sauce

½ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted (6 ounce can = ¾ cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 tablespoons sugar

In small saucepan, combine undiluted orange concentrate, chocolate morsels and sugar. Heat slowly over low heat, stirring constantly until chocolate morsels are melted and sugar dissolved. Serve warm over ice cream. Yield: Approximately 1¼ cups.

Spice at Table

It's a good idea to add only sugar to homemade applesauce; then when the sauce is served, pass the cinnamon shaker and nutmeg grinder and let family and guests add their own spice — or pass it up!

Diced leftover baked ham is good to add to panned green cabbage.

Filling Soup Can Be Meal's Main Course

Herbed fish soup is different and satisfying for a main course soup meal. Cut two ounces of salt pork in small cubes; cook until brown. Remove pork and save. Add a 7-ounce can of drained fish flakes and a chopped medium size onion to the fat; cook until lightly browned.

Add one can each of condensed vegetable soup and chicken with rice soup, two soup cans water, and a crushed bay leaf. Simmer a few minutes. Sprinkle pork cubes on top of each serving. Makes four to six servings.

Butter Flavor Is Added Touch

So often a little touch of butter makes a big difference in cooking . . . especially in barbecue cooking. Next time you're doing chicken brush it with a mixture of melted butter, lemon juice and curry powder.

The proportions we like are ½ cup butter, to ¼ cup lemon juice and 1 teaspoon curry powder but you may want to experiment a little on your own.

Garlic Steak

Some good cooks like to brush a steak with olive oil before broiling. If you like, you may let a peeled halved garlic clove steep in the oil before using on the steak.

Care of Onions

When onions first begin to sprout, they should be immediately wrapped in aluminum foil and placed in the refrigerator. They will keep this way until you use them.

Like the Swedes

Want a "different" first course? Serve marinated herring fillets with new potatoes (boiled) and sour cream mixed with loads of minced parsley and chives.

PONDEROSA!

How about some "Old Fashioned" Eating Bread!

NEW FROM Oven-fresh

PONDEROSA BREAD — straight from the secret recipes of this famous old ranch — is now available at your local stores.

The recipe for this unique bread goes back over 100 years — about 1848.

This exciting recipe calls for rare and unusual pinches of this and that . . . things like sugar and spice, and all things nice . . . for a taste and flavor that will win your favor.

It also calls for a few pinches of salt, a lot of egg yolks and copious quantities of non-fat milk solids. Naturally we can't disclose our precious recipe . . . but . . . once you have tasted Ponderosa Bread you'll know we cupped, stirred, pinched and baked something "out of this world" . . . old fashioned eating bread!

You don't have to worry about calories either — one slice of Ponderosa contains no more calories than an apple . . . and less than a grapefruit.

Please, though, do us a favor. Please don't use Ponderosa Bread for turkey stuffing or garlic bread. Toast it if you wish as the flavor really comes out that way. But please don't hide its great flavor and unique taste. This wonderful old fashioned bread is for eating!

One Recipe Provides Two Big Meals

Ah, the many-splendored meatball! Dressed in dozens of different ways, these well-seasoned, roly-poly chunks of ground beef are enthusiastically received by kids and adults — guests and family.

Here's a meatball recipe that's doubly talented. Surround Double-Take Meatballs with fluffy rice or noodles for a robust main dish.

Or heap the tiny meatballs and their tomato-y sauce into a chafing dish. Provide colorful wooden picks, and you have toothsome tidbits to grace a party table.

Double-Take Meatballs owe their delightful flavor to just a few carefully chosen ingredients. Herb seasoned stuffing croutons not only provide savory taste but also give lightness and "stretch" to the ground beef and pork combination.

Soy sauce gives the meat a nuance of Oriental savor; water chestnuts add crunch.

Bake the meatballs in rosy canned tomato sauce. Tomato sauce and ground meats have long been a highly compatible pair — have you ever noticed how the flavor of one just seems to make the other one taste better?

Double-Take Meatballs

2 cups herb seasoned stuffing croutons
¾ cup milk
1 lb. ground beef
½ lb. ground pork
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 (5-oz.) can water chestnuts, drained and finely chopped
2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce

Soak croutons in milk 5 minutes or until soft. Add remaining ingredients except tomato sauce; combine thoroughly. Shape level tablespoonfuls into small balls; place in shallow baking pan.

Pour tomato sauce over meatballs. Bake at 350 degrees 40 minutes. Skim any fat off sauce.

To serve as main dish, arrange meatballs and sauce on serving platter and serve with cooked rice or noodles.

To serve as appetizer, heap meatballs and sauce in chafing dish and provide wooden picks for serving. Makes 6 main-dish or 12 to 18 appetizer servings.

DOUBLE-TAKE MEATBALLS — Tonight, intriguingly seasoned Double-Take Meatballs go to the supper table wreathed with fluffy rice and served with a salad and crusty rolls. Another evening, the one-bite-sized meatballs keep cozily warm in a chafing dish as tempting party nibbles.

Add Cream to Hot Sauce

For a real honest-to-goodness butterscotch sauce with real butter appeal, try this recipe.

In a small saucepan melt ¼ cup (½ stick) butter; add ¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar and 1 tablespoon corn syrup. Bring to a boil and cook until sugar is dissolved.

Gradually add ½ cup whipping cream, stirring constantly and return to a boil. Cool. Yield — 1 cup.

Note: One-half cup chopped walnuts may be added to sauce when cool. Luscious on vanilla ice cream. Try it!

TOWN HOUSE COOKIES — Some cookies are meant to appeal more to adult tastes; these, flavored with brandy or rum fall into that category. Make some now, then save the recipe for holiday time.

Cookies Melt in Mouth

Dip in Wheat Germ

Usually when we think of cookies we think of children, but grown-ups like cookies, too.

We can prove it with this new recipe for wheat germ town house cookies. They're not as big as saucers; rather they're smaller, melt-in-your-mouth morsels, not too sweet and delicately flavored with brandy or rum.

But they are tops in taste the wheat germ contributing its good protein and all-round bonus in vitamins and minerals.

You'll serve these sophisticated cookies with cups of coffee rather than mugs of milk, at lunches when friends come over or at dinner with ice cream. And if dad takes a lunchbox, he can munch on a few while waiting for the whistle to blow.

Town House Cookies

1¾ cups unsifted flour
½ cup wheat germ
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup softened butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon brandy or rum flavoring
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
1 egg white, slightly beaten
½ cup wheat germ

Measure flour, ½ cup wheat germ and salt onto wax paper. Stir well to blend. Cream butter, sugar and flavoring thoroughly. Add blended dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Mix well. Stir in nuts.

Chill dough ½ hour or until firm. Shape into 1-inch balls. Dip top half in egg white, then in remaining wheat germ. Place on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes. Yield: 6 dozen cookies.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Smoked pork loin chops.

Q. Where do they come from? How are they identified?

A. They come from the loin section and contain two muscles, the eye of the loin as well as the tenderloin. These muscles are separated by a T-shaped bone. The chops are cured and smoked by a process similar to that used for ham and Canadian-style bacon so they also have the deeper pink color of cured and smoked pork.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. Usually by broiling and pan-broiling although they may also be baked (roasted). Smoked pork loin chops are very popular for out-of-doors grilling, although, of course, they may also be broiled in the range. These chops, when cut three-fourths of an inch thick, should be broiled seven to eight minutes per side, thus giving a total cooking time of 15 minutes. This same cooking time applies to outdoor cooking if the grill temperature is kept at moderate. Panbroiling time is about 20 minutes, baking (on a rack) in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) requires 25 to 30 minutes or time to brown.

Can of Sauce Handy to Use

Here is a quick and easy for the day you don't know what to serve.

Roslyn's Skillet Hamburger

2 tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, diced
1 clove garlic, minced
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 cup marinara sauce (from a jar or can)
1 package (8 ounces) broad noodles
½ cup commercial sour cream
Salt and pepper to taste

In a large skillet, melt the butter. Add the onion and garlic; cook slowly until golden; add beef; crumble with a fork until the meat loses its redness. Stir in marinara sauce.

Prepare the noodles according to package directions; drain and add to meat mixture. Just before serving, stir in the sour cream, salt and pepper; heat but do not boil. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Now, you can get Kellogg's Pop-Tarts with frosting, too!

This new frosting won't melt at toaster temperatures

They said Pop-Tarts® couldn't be topped. So we frosted that idea—with white, pink, and brown-sugar icing. Same crisp, tender-sweet crust. Same luscious whole-fruit preserve fillings as in regular Pop-Tarts . . . plus a brand-new filling: Dutch Apple. Mmmm . . . old-fashioned homemade apple pie flavor with just the right touch of cinnamon.

And they won't melt in your toaster. (Honest.) It's a top-secret topping, a special tasty icing made just for toaster temperatures. But breakfast is only the beginning. Since they need no refrigeration, Frosted Pop-Tarts can go where the appetites happen. A luncheon dessert. An after-school treat. A TV snack. The Jack of all Treats from Kellogg's®.

EASY SALMON PIE — Serve a simple main dish pie. When you are looking for an easy way to feed the family, consider this flavorful recipe. Some of the cheese pastry is cut into rounds to decorate the edge.

Pepper Pot Soup, Salmon in Filling for Dinner Pie

Tasty Salmon Pie eliminates long hours of preparation while retaining eye and taste appeal.

A tender, flaky crust sprinkled with paprika and grated Cheddar cheese to add color and flavor, forms the base. Canned soup and salmon plus green pepper do the rest.

Made in the morning, refrigerated til serving time, and then popped into the oven — it's as easy as pie! A tossed salad to round out the menu and dinner is ready.

No need to hesitate serving the pie for company dinners either — it's attractive as well as delicious. Your guests are bound to wonder how you did it while you sit back and let them figure out the unusual flavors.

EASY SALMON PIE
One 9-inch pie

2 cups sifted enriched flour*
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons grated Cheddar cheese
⅔ cup shortening
6-8 tablespoons cold water
Salmon Filling

Sift together flour, salt and paprika. Stir in grated cheese. Cut in shortening until pieces are size of small peas. Sprinkle with water, a little at a time, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together.

Turn out onto lightly floured surface and press together; divide in half. Roll out half of dough to circle ⅛-inch thick; fit gently into pan. Trim pastry. Fill with Salmon Filling.

Roll out remaining dough. Cut circles and place around rim of pie, overlapping edges. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven, 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Salmon Filling

2 cans (10¾ oz. each) pepper pot soup
1 can (1 lb.) salmon
1 green pepper, diced

Combine soup, salmon and green pepper.

* If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls per cup, according to USDA recommendations.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit salt.

AMBROSIA — Carefully peel six oranges, removing all membranes. Section. Combine ascorbic acid mixture and one-fourth cup confectioners' sugar. Peel three bananas and slice into sugar mixture. Arrange alternate layers of orange and bananas in a glass bowl or in individual dessert dishes. sprinkle each layer of shredded coconut. Chill well. Makes six servings.

Yogurt Is Used for a Salad

For an especially delicious salad, prepare this Cucumber Sour Cream Dressing and serve it immediately over sliced beets or sliced tomatoes.

In a bowl blend together 1½ teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt; fold in 1 cup of dairy sour cream or yogurt and 1½ cups peeled chopped cucumber. Yields: 2½ cups.

Wine Helps Season Dried Bean Casserole

Who wants a "finger" sandwich after a lively swim or hike? Geared to outdoor appetites is this Country Casserole that can be prepared ahead, except for final baking. Wonderful in Winter, too!

Country Casserole

1 lb. dried lima beans
2 medium onions, sliced
salt and pepper
4 slices bacon
1 can (6 oz.) broiled sliced mushrooms
¾ cup chili sauce or ketchup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
1 teaspoon sugar
⅓ cup Burgundy wine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup soft bread crumbs
Soak beans overnight in cold water to cover. Drain; cover with boiling water. Add onion; cook slowly until beans are tender (about 2 hours.) Drain; season to taste.

Cook bacon until crisp; drain and crumble; save drippings. Drain mushrooms; save broth. Add mushrooms and bacon to beans; mix well.

Combine mushroom broth, chili sauce, Worcestershire, add enough water to make 2 cups. Blend cornstarch and cold water; add. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened and clear; add to bean mixture; mix well.

Turn into 2-quart casserole. Combine crumbs and bacon drippings; scatter on top. Bake at 400 degrees about 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Note: Country Casserole also may be made with kidney beans.

Shrimp Salad

Diced cucumber as well as the usual diced celery makes an excellent addition to a shrimp and mayonnaise mixture that is to be used as a salad or sandwich filling.

For a two-in-one vegetable, stuff tomatoes with creamed spinach and bake long enough to have both tomatoes and spinach piping hot.

It's Low-Caloried

Use your electric blender to obtain a smooth mixture from creamstyle cottage cheese plus the addition of a little lemon juice and buttermilk; serve as "ersatz" sour cream to weight-watchers.

Onions, Egg Top Pumpernickel

On a half slice of cocktail-size pumpernickel bread, spread watercress butter (softened butter mixed with finely chopped watercress, or substitute parsley).

Lay a thin portion of a slice of Idaho sweet Spanish onion on buttered bread. Top onion with a slice of hard-cooked egg. Salt.

Garnish each portion with paprika and a small piece of an anchovy fillet, if desired. Secur with a toothpick if necessary.

Some foods, like meat loaf, are juicier slice better when when made with nonfat dry made with nonfat dry milk. That's because nonfat dry milk retains flavorful juices.

OVEN-BAKED ROQUEFORT CHICKEN

Roquefort Sauce Is Topping on Chicken

Rich, creamy Roquefort cheese can make even the most humble dish seem important. Take, for instance, that ubiquitous bird, the chicken, which turns up dutifully for roasting, boiling, broiling or frying at least once a week in every household.

With a bit of imagination, and some Roquefort cheese, the creative cook transforms it into an elegant repast as you can see in the recipe given below for Oven-Browned Roquefort Chicken.

The chicken pieces, coated with flour and fragrantly herbed with rosemary, are browned in a heavy skillet. Then they are transferred to a baking dish and smothered in a marvelous mixture of sour cream, lemon, chives and crumbled Roquefort cheese.

The rich and pungent flavor of this cheese, made exclusively from sheep's milk (which is why genuine Roquefort carries a little red sheep seal on its foil) permeates the sauce giving the chicken a new and original taste sensation.

Served with tiny green peas and mushrooms, a tossed green salad, this would make pluperfect party fare the next time you entertain.

Oven-Browned Roquefort Chicken

6 chicken parts, or 1 (3½ lbs.) chicken, cut in pieces
3 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
3 to 4 tablespoons vegetable oil, butter or margarine
2-3 cup commercial sour cream
2 teaspoons chopped chives
⅓ cup crumbled Roquefort cheese, packed
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup silvered blanched almonds

Wipe chicken pieces with a damp paper towel. Combine flour, 1 teaspoon of the salt, pepper, rosemary in a heavy brown paper bag. Shake chicken pieces in flour mixture, coating each piece well.

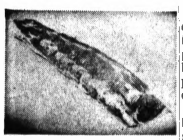
Heat oil in a heavy skillet; brown chicken. Remove to a shallow baking dish.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Blend together sour cream, remaining salt, chives, Roquefort cheese, lemon rind and juice. Spread mixture over chicken in pan.

Bake in preheated oven 30 minutes. Sprinkle with almonds. Continue to bake until almonds are browned, about 10 to 15 minutes long.

Makes 6 servings.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz



Q. What's the name of this meat cut?

A. Pork tenderloin.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. This is the small muscle of the loin section. It's a small (one-half to one pound), tender, boneless cut. The larger end is round but it tapers gradually to a thin, rather flat, end. Fibers run lengthwise. There's a small amount of fat within the cut as well as on the outside. Pork tenderloin is sometimes sold whole. At other times it's cut into patties and flattened by the retailer.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Pork tenderloin may be roasted, broiled or braised. Patties may be pan-fried or braised. For roasting, place the tenderloin on a rack in an open roasting pan. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until the roast meat thermometer registers 170 degrees. For braising patties, brown the patties using lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add two to three tablespoons of water, cover tightly and cook slowly about 30 minutes or until done.

Fill Cuke Boats

Sail into a "low-cal." cucumber boat by mixing together 2 4¾-oz. cans chicken spread, 3 slices crispy cooked bacon (crumbled) and 1 cup chopped celery. Scoop seeds from 4 halved and peeled cucumbers—salt them lightly and fill with chicken spread mixture. Serves 8 adventures—92 calories each.

Really Sharp

Some cooks like to add a little horseradish (from a bottle) to a blue cheese dressing. This combination may please the man in your house.

Herbs and Onions Good With Beets

Fresh beets are a tender bright red blessing just as is or in salads and relishes. Cook without peeling.

Do not cut off the little roots and leave at least an inch of the stems on. This will prevent loss of color during cooking. When cooked and cooled, trim and slip off skins.

Sweet pickled beets are easy to prepare. Peel cooked beets and slice thickly into a bowl or jar. Alternate with sliced onions.

For 8 or 9 medium beets, heat together ½-cup each of sugar, water and vinegar. Add 1 teaspoon mixed pickling spice and 1 teaspoon salt — or salt to taste —to the pickling vinegar and simmer about 5 minutes.

Strain over sliced beets and onions and let marinate several hours or overnight.

★ ★ ★

Beet greens are high in vitamin A and iron. A cupful provides 80 per cent of the daily recommended allowance of vitamin A and a third of the iron.

Herbed Fresh Beets

2 pounds (about 12) fresh beets
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon crumbled marjoram leaves
Fresh onion rings for garnish

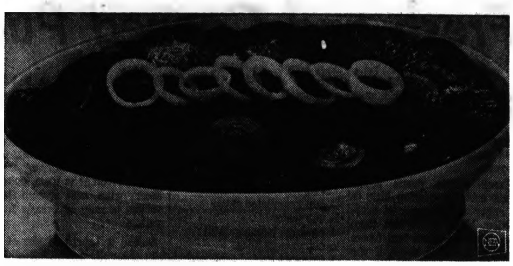
Cut off tops of beets, leaving 1-inch of stem and root end attached. Wash thoroughly. Place in saucepan with 1 teaspoon salt and boiling water to cover.

Cover and cook until beets are tender, 25 to 35 minutes. (Cooking time depends upon size and age of beets.)

Meanwhile, melt butter and blend lemon juice and seasonings. Peel and slice beets. Add lemon butter. Mix lightly. Garnish with onion rings. Six servings.

Separate as Needed

As "iceburg" lettuce does not easily separate into leaves, wash and chill until ready to use, then cut into slices and use as a base for a salad or chip into small pieces to use in a mixed salad.



HERBED FRESH BEETS — Buy a few bunches of fresh beets and prepare them in herb butter. Onion rings add zest as a garnish.

For Richer Soup

Planning to serve fish chowder to Sunday-night supper company? Use light cream instead of milk in the soup and it will be extra good.

Cooking Shrimp

Tie mixed spice in cheesecloth and add to the water in which you cook shrimp. Save the shrimp cooking liquid to use as a base for fish soup.

Bite-Size Pieces

Nice for brunch: fresh fruit all prepared for easy eating. But keep the fruit good-size pieces—each piece just enough for two bites!

Fresh and Canned Purple Plums Make Many Elegant Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Fresh purple plums are still in the market until early October and you can enjoy their good taste in the canned state all year.

Fresh purple prune plums freeze easily, requiring little or no sugar and no special preparation. Wash them; cut them to remove the seeds and freeze them on a cookie sheet, if you like. Store in a plastic bag or firm container.

But for enjoying right now, try some of the following recipes.

Why not a shortcake? Layer plum wedges between two sections of rich shortcake and serve with some form of cream.

Add grenadine, Cointreau, Curacao or Kirsch to the fruit and let it stand an hour or more at room temperature.

FRESH PURPLE PRUNE PLUM SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
3-ounce package cream cheese
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg, well-beaten
About ½ cup milk
Fresh Purple Prune Plums (about 1 quart prepared plums)
Additional butter as needed

Sift together first four ingredients. Add cream cheese and butter; cut it in with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Pour beaten egg into measuring cup. Add milk to make ¾ cup. Gradually stir into flour mixture.

Turn out onto floured cloth or board and knead dough about 30 seconds. Pat half the dough into a well-buttered round 8-inch layer cake pan. Brush surface generously with melted butter and sprinkle with granulated sugar.

Bake in a pre-heated hot (450 degrees F.) oven about 20 minutes. Remove the cooked shortcake to a serving plate and, using a pancake turner or wide spatula, lift off the top.

While still hot, dot lower half with softened butter, cover with half or more of sweetened purple plums. Replace top half and cover with remaining plums. Serve hot, cut in wedges, with heavy cream, pour-on or whipped, or thick dairy-soured cream.

Grated orange rind may be added to the dough or used to sprinkle over the slightly-sweetened whipped cream. Yield: 6 generous servings, 8 polite ones.

As a change from the usual jellied fruit salad, make this one with fresh plums.

PLUM JELLIED SALAD

¾ cup granulated sugar
¾ cup water
1 package lemon gelatin
½ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup coarsely-cut peeled apples
1 and ¼ cups seeded white grape halves
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 and ½ cups coarsely cut fresh purple prune plums

Bring sugar and water to boiling point. Dissolve gelatin in hot syrup. Add orange juice and rind; chill. When it starts to thicken, stir in other ingredients. Pour into 1 and ½ quart mold, oiled. Chill until firm.

Turn out on a chilled plate; garnish with crisp greens. Serve with mayonnaise to which has been added a little orange juice and rind, with whipped cream folded in if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Small marshmallows may be used in place of nuts.

If you don't have any fresh plums on hand, but do have some of the canned variety, here's a trio of different desserts to be fixed.

PURPLE PLUM TRIFLE

Sponge, chiffon or angel cake
1 package vanilla pudding mix (not instant)
Milk according to package directions
Sherry wine or other flavoring
1 and ½ cups purple plum conserve
½ pint (1 cup) heavy or whipping cream
Toasted slivered almonds

If cake is baked in a tube cake or a deep round or square pan, cool and cut crosswise in 5 even layers just before using.

Prepare vanilla pudding mix with milk, according to directions. Cool, stirring frequently. Flavor to taste, using sherry wine, rum or rum flavoring, brandy or brandy flavoring.

Spread 2 layers of the cake with the chilled pudding and 3 layers with Purple Plum Conserve. Stack, alternating layers on serving plate, starting and ending with the conserve-spread layers.

Stick a long thin metal skewer into each quarter of the cake and 1 inch from the edge to hold cake from sliding while chilling. Chill several hours.

Just before serving, whip cream. Sweeten very lightly. Pile around edge of cake. Sprinkle with toasted slivered almonds. May be chilled again.

EASY-DO PURPLE PLUM CONSERVE

2 cans (1 lb. 13- or 14-ounce) Purple Plums (3 and ½ cups drained and seeded plums)
2 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon each grated lemon and orange rind
1 tablespoon each lemon and orange juice
⅔ cup golden seedless raisins
⅔ cup coarsely-chopped walnut meats

Combine all except walnuts. Place over high heat. Stir constantly until boiling point. Reduce heat to simmer and cook for about 15 minutes, stirring several times. Add walnuts. Cook about 5 minutes.

To test: remove conserve from heat. Chill a spoonful of the mixture. It should be just thick enough to spread.

Pour into 4 sterilized hot jars or jelly glasses and seal with lids or paraffin, according to manufacturer's directions.

This conserve is so good with the breakfast toast or with any hot bread and something special when served with baked ham. May be thinned with a bit of the purple plum syrup if to be used for a sauce.

PLUM-FLECKED ICE CREAM

All you need is vanilla ice cream and canned purple plums. The size of cans or jars does not matter, as you can so easily use up any of the plums which you do not need for the ice cream.

The basic recipe is 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream and 1 cup of drained and chopped canned purple plums. The plums must be well drained (at least an hour) before removing seeds and chopping fine. Or put into your blender.

Stir cut plums into the softened ice cream using a wooden spoon or low speed on electric mixer. Small quantities, to be used soon, may be turned into a freezer tray or loaf bread pan and placed in freezer section of refrigerator.

Larger amounts may be packed into freezer containers with covers and kept in freezer. Variations: brandy or rum flavoring may be added. A bit of red coloring gives a lovely pink color to complement the bits of purple plum skins.

PURPLE PLUMS FLAMBE

This flaming sauce is wonderful served over vanilla ice cream in meringue shells or over sponge or pound cake squares. You will need a 1 pound 13- or 14-ounce can or jar of purple plums, ice cream, and meringue shells.

To prepare plum sauce: drain the plums. Remove stones. Cut plums in quarters.

Heat one cup of the plum syrup; stir in 2 teaspoons of cornstarch after mixing with 2 tablespoons of the cold plum syrup. Stir and cook until the sauce is clear.

If desired, ½ teaspoon grated orange or lemon rind and 2 whole cloves may be added during the cooking.

To serve at the table: place the prepared plums in a chafing dish or a container over a candle warmer. Pour over them the warmed sauce. When plums are heated through, pour 4 to 5 tablespoons brandy or kirsch over the top and blaze. (See your cookbook for how-to-do.)

Serve flaming sauce over ice cream in meringue shells or on squares of cake. Makes 6 servings.

PLUM DESSERTS

Darkness Makes Fruit Ripen Soon

To finish ripening tomatoes or to ripen green bananas, put them in a paper bag, close the top with a rubber band and place them away in a dark place for a few days. They will ripen up nice and even.

When slicing bananas, you can keep them from turning dark by sprinkling them with lemon juice.

FRESH PLUM SHORTCAKE

Singer's Name Given to Casserole

Have you ever figured out how many times a year you serve chicken? It's really amazing how often you can serve this popular meat and still not tire of its savory taste and its tenderness.

* * *

When you do want a change from chicken broiled, fried, baked or stewed, turn to some of the favorite chicken casseroles and creamed dishes.

It may take a few minutes longer to prepare these recipes which use cooked chicken and broth, but you can usually do most of the preparing ahead of time and finish the cooking in short order.

There are chicken dishes galor, but one of the best is Chicken Tetrazzini.

This has become a classic in American homes and restaurants since its invention by the chef of a New York restaurant. He prepared it in honor of a popular Italian opera singer of an earlier generation, Luisa Tetrazzini. She was not only a talented singer but a skilled cook who thought everyone should eat well.

Chicken Tetrazzini

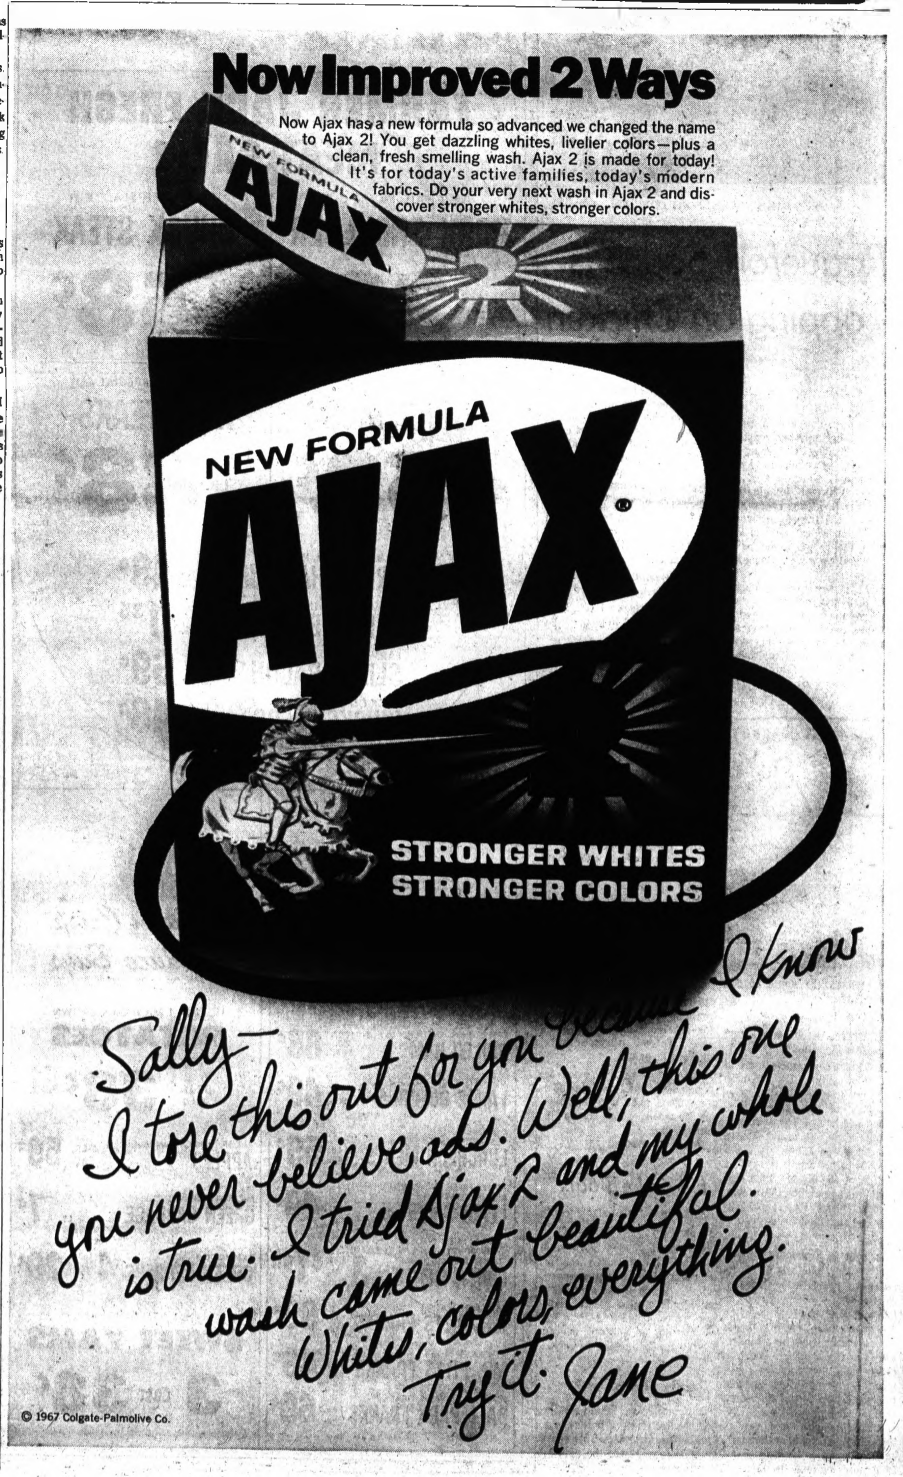
8 oz. uncooked long spaghetti broken in half
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon celery salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup chicken broth
3 cups chopped cooked chicken
1 can (2 oz.) mushrooms, drained
¼ cup pimiento strips
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a large saucepan cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Stir in 1 tablespoon butter until butter is melted; set aside.

In a 3-quart saucepan melt 2 tablespoons butter; stir in flour, salt, paprika, celery salt and pepper. Remove from heat, gradualy stir in milk and chicken broth.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add chicken, mushrooms, pimiento, spaghetti and ¼ cup Paresan cheese; heat thoroughly.

Place chicken mixture on ovenproof platter or shallow casserole; sprinkle remaining ½ cup Parmesan cheese over top. Broil about 3 inches from heat until lightly browned. Makes 6-8 servings.



More Units OK'd for Housing Project

Returning to the subject of rent supplement housing after a six-week delay, Pontiac city commissioners last night approved a higher concentration for a planned 520-unit project in the northwest section of the city.

In a 5-2 vote the commission gave approval to a request to add 200 more units on a 10-acre site northeast of Alcott Elementary School.

The commission move enables developer Charles L. Langs to seek federal funds for the 200 units. He already has received approval for 520 units on 40 acres surrounding the school.

Commissioners Robert C. Irwin, District 2, and John A. Dugan, District 5, voted against the proposal. Irwin claimed that the approval would lead to the creation of a ghetto.

* * *

Dugan, who voted with five other commissioners in April (Irwin abstaining) to approve the 520 units, said he felt another 200 units in that particular location would be too many.

RECOGNIZE NEED

The five commissioners, although not overly enthusiastic, voted in favor of the move because they saw it as an opportunity to get needed 3,4- and 5-bedroom units into the planned project.

Irwin said, "We all recognize the need for this type of housing," but indicated that 720 units in one location was too many.

"If that's not the biggest dogone ghetto you're planning on the north end. I don't know what is," Irwin added.

* * *

He said the commission should attempt instead to get some of the approved 500 units constructed with 3, 4- and 5-bedrooms.

REFERS TO STUDY

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, countered: "The only thing wrong with this proposal is that we are only going to have 700 units."

He made reference to a recently completed housing study of Pontiac, saying that it shows Pontiac is short of all kinds of housing, including public housing and its variations.

Other commissioners spoke of the need and the opportunity to secure federal funds.

* * *

The rent supplement plan calls for federal subsidies to persons over 62 years old, those physically disabled, those displaced from former homes by disaster, governmental action or because of substandard housing. Income limitations apply also.

REQUEST DEFERRED

Langs, who asked approval of the extra 200 units in early August, has indicated that he will attempt to build three-, four- and 5-bedroom units in that phase. His request was deferred for study.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and U.S. Rep. Jack A. McDonald, R-19th District, have promised to attempt to get an extra appropriation for these 200 units so that the larger units can be constructed.

The government approved $409,000 in federal funds for the first 520 units but these are planned to be efficiency, one- and two-bedroom units.

* * *

Plans now call for the project to be constructed in three phases with further federal approval after each phase. The first, to begin any day, calls for 200 units.

MORE UNITS

If that is successful and the developer and government are satisfied another 175 units would be built. The third phase calls for 150 units.

Plans also call for the first 200 units to be occupied by persons requiring rent supplement. In the future the units could be occupied by those needing the supplement and higher income tenants not needing subsidy.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. expressed confidence that city officials could, in working with the Michigan legislators in Washington, get a good mix of 3, 4- and 5-bedroom units in the project.

* * *

Rent supplement housing, a relatively new and controversial program, has run into congressional opposition.

Although Congress so far has refused to pass a Johnson-requested appropriation bill to further the program, indications are that the congressional mood is changing and a appropriation will be made.

This would make it easier to secure the approval for Pontiac of the extra 200 units.

City Affairs

Sale of Park Land to GM OK'd

City commissioners last night approved the sale of a 1.72-acre parcel of Aaron Perry Park land to General Motors for construction of an electric power substation.

GM, in conjunction with Consumers Power Co., plans to construct the station by 1970.

The park is located south of Monticalm and east of Saginaw.

When completed it will transmit 120,000 volts for operation of electric melting furnaces in the Pontiac Motor Division foundry across the street from the park.

* * *

Officials said construction would cut down smoke, dust and dirt from the foundry operation. The property is not essential for recreation purposes, they said.

$15,100 PRICE

The land will be sold for $15,100, the amount offered by the Argonaut Realty Division of GM. This is within two appraisals of the land, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said.

Commissioners rejected four bids submitted for improvements to the sewage treatment plants.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service, recommended the city reject the bids because the lowest was $46,000 over previous engineer estimates and considerably more than allocated in a tentative budget.

Modified bids for installation of chlorination equipment at the East Boulevard plant and equipment to increase the aeration capacity at the Opdyke plant will be sought.

OTHER BUSINESS

Bids ranged from $136,390 to $162,370.

In other business, commissioners gave first reading approval to a change in the zoning ordinance which will give the city a greater degree of freedom in obtaining easements and rights-of-way for utilities and streets in multiple developments.

The city has been hampered in securing them because in most cases it seeks them before approving rezoning requests. Developers only have options on them. Most of the time, however, deed land which are contingent on rezoning approval.

Since the developers don't actually own the land they can't deliver the easements or rights-of-way, Warren said.

WOULD ALLOW REZONING

The change would allow the rezoning and call for the dedications before final site plan approval.

The city manager also promised a report on a complaint lodged by a citizen at the meeting.

Lydia Kincade, 248 Bondale, said an area at the rear of her house was a home and breeding place for rats.

* * *

She asked that the administration take steps to eliminate the rats before her children were bitten.

BIG BROTHERS' LETTER

The commission received a letter from Big Brothers of Oakland County encouraging elimination of blight and substandard housing.

The organization said it is hampered in its activities because of wretched conditions which some of its charges live under.

Commissioners also authorized sending the annual workable program for federal approval.

* * *

This, necessary for federal funding of urban renewal programs, outlines activities in the past year and explains goals in the next in the areas of codes and ordinances, community planning neighborhood analyses, administrative organization, housing for displaced families and citizens participation in the urban renewal programs.

Man Ignored Own Advice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Raymond Farber had an embarrassing announcement to make at the closing session of a security council conference held here.

While he was telling of the latest advances in electronic devices for burglar detection, a thief climbed through a bedroom window at his home and stole $34.

Farber, who publishes a trade journal, "Security World," admitted his home was not equipped with a burglar alarm of any kind.

The population of California will increase by 1985 to 29 million perons if interstate migration stays at about its present level.

Opening lead—♥J

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

In Victor Mollo's "Bridge in the Menagerie," Hideous Hog wants to play all dummies. He is typical of a great many players in this respect but this hog at least justifies his hogging by playing very well.

JACOBY

Today's hand finds him playing with the Rabbit. The Hog has broken the Rabbit of the habit of bidding no-trump and feels safe in opening with one club. The Rabbit's two spade response produces a two no-trump rebid from the Hog.

He plans to raise to four spades if the Rabbit rebids his spade suit but when the Rabbit goes to three hearts the Hog barges right into six no-trump.

We don't quite understand the Rabbit's three heart bid but as Victor explains, no one understands the Rabbit's bid or plays.

The Hog is delighted with the dummy and sees that his six no-trump will make if he can collect three spade tricks. He wins the heart lead and cashes dummy's ace of spades, just in case there is a singleton king somewhere.

★ ★ ★

East shows out and the Hog appears to be down one but at least he has avoided the spade trap. No amount of genius could bring home a spade slam.

Actually the Hog is not too worried about his contract. He runs off four clubs and is pleased to see a diamond and a spade discard from West.

Three diamonds come next and on the third diamond West has to discard again. Another spade discard will be fatal so West lets a heart go. The Hog knows now that West has one heart and three spades. He proceeds to cash dummy's remaining top heart and leads a spade to his queen.

West can't afford to duck, nor can he afford to take his king. The Hog shows his hand and chalks up another slam.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1♣	Pass	1♦
Pass	1♥	Pass	4♥
Pass	4♠	Pass	4N.T.
Pass	5♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠K9 ♥AJ54 ♦AQ43 ♣Q82

What do you do now?

A—Bid five no-trump. You are still trying for seven.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner bids six hearts to show two kings. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): How you manage your assets, money is of utmost importance. Don't feel you can carry everyone's burden. First take care of your own responsibilities. Be calm and positive.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Cycle continues high. You are able to take initiative to embark upon new projects. Display independence of thought, action. New contacts add up to gain, profit. Be sparkling.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Handle confidential matters. Not wise to depend on superficial information. Check sources. Be self-reliant. Don't be afraid of opposition. Welcome challenge. You're due to excel.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Be wary of those who make glib promises. Reach out for your own information. Examine and investigate. Social activity tonight should set away you from basic purpose. Think.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Separate business from pleasure. Temptation is to mix the two elements. Not wise today. Finish one aspect of activity before beginning anew. Know where you stand and why.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Put various ideas to use. Don't falter where principles are concerned. Your ideals are worthwhile. One who is envious may try to convince you otherwise. Stand fast.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be conservative where money enters picture. Don't force issues. Extend hand of friendship to one close to you. Recent argument should not be permitted to fermend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Affairs of those close to you dominate attention. Could involve mate, partner. See issues as they exist. Be practical and truthful within. Avoid tendency toward wishful thinking.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be considerate of needs of others if the favor will be returned. Day to practice golden rule. If could change tone of your life. You are due for reward. Could be big one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Finish rather than start—get basic issues settled. Then you will be in mood for creative endeavors. Evening favors frank discussion with one close to you. Be forthright.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stress daring, unorthodox approach. You will be well received if you take initiative. Holding back today gives impression of backwardness. Opposition due to melt.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Avoid controversy with kin, neighbors. Some money questions are not as serious as they appear. Realize this—respond accordingly. Sense of humor today works wonders.

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are versatile, have fine sense of comedy. Could succeed as director of sales promotion. Fine time for marriage. If married, there could be addition to family. Money situation due to improve.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for TAURUS, GEMINI. Special word to CAPRICORN: romance in spotlight.

Bob Hope Looks Back Over 30 Years With NBC

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Bob Hope comments on his 30 years with NBC:

"When I started with the network, Gen. Sarnoff was down in the basement supplying the power with a hand generator. Why, in those days he was still using the enlisted men's washroom."

The sage of North Hollywood doesn't like to reminisce — "that's one of my laws." But he had to pause for a backward look as he passed the three-decade mark with one network. All right, so he did do a radio show in 1936. But it wasn't until 1937 that he came to Hollywood and became NBC's boy.

Hope recalled:

'BIG BROADCAST'

"I arrived on Sept. 7, 1937, to make 'The Big Broadcast.' My show was still coming from the East, so I had to cut in a five-minute spot from Hollywood. On a Friday I was playing golf with John Swallow, who was the head of NBC here, and I asked him how big an audience I would have for the show.

"He took a long look at me and said, 'You need an audience?' I told him I couldn't play jokes to an empty studio, and so he came up with a solution. Edgar Bergen was on before me and his Chase and Sanborn show which was very popular.

"Swallow said when the audience came out of the Bergen show, he would have ropes up to lead them right into my studio.

"So that's what happened. As they started walking in, I shouted, 'Come right in, folks, and sit down. I'm going to do a little show for you, but I don't have time to explain it. Just laugh now and figure it out later.' So I played to a half-filled house — only a few dissidents walked out."

Hope will appear his usual suave self as he strolls on stage for his NBC special tonight. The show marks his 18th year in television, and he'll have his heaviest schedule of comedy shows — nine in all, including the Christmas show from you-know-where.

TODAY AND YESTERDAY — This is comedian Bob Hope as he appeared for pictures in 1940 (right) and more recently in Hollywood. He came to Hollywood in September of 1937 to become NBC's boy. Tonight, Hope will appear his usual suave self as he appears on stage for his NBC special, marking his 18th year in televisoin.

Uranium Teeth

Until the atomic era, uranium was merely a byproduct of radium and vanadium mines, useful for coloring glass, pottery and artifical teeth, the National Geographic Society says.

Trading Fairly Active

Stock Mart Shaves Early Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market shaved an early loss and was on virtually an even keel in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Prices sank at the opening in continuation of Tuesday's sharp decline which interrupted an extended advance that had taken the market to a new 1967 high.

* * *

Brokers said the market was due for a pause. They noted there had been no change in the fundamental inspirations for buying — particularly the growing threat of inflation.

The New York Stock Exchange halted trading in Bethlehem Steel and Cerro when the companies announced they were discussing a $330-million merger. At the time Bethlehem was up ⅛ at 37⅝ and Cerro was up 1¼ at 47¼. When trading in Bethlehem resumed it was quoted at 37⅞, up ⅜.

AVERAGES UP, DOWN

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up .06 at 930.13 after having been down more than 2 points early in the session.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon showed a loss of .7 at 340.1 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .2 and utilities unchanged.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. H&B American gained more than 3 points. Electronic Assistance, advanced 2 points and Speed-O-Print was up more than a point. Fractional losses were taken by United Asbestos, Syntex and Alterman Foods.

GM Is Stealing Market--UAW

Firm Denies Output Hike at Ford Expense

DETROIT (AP)—A top United Auto Workers Union official says General Motors Corp. is "stealing as much of the market" as it can while Ford Motor Co. is idled by a UAW strike.

GM is "piling on as much production as possible," said Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department. The company denied the charge.

* * *

With Ford shut down by some 160,000 UAW workers in support of demands for a new contract, Woodcock said GM's production of 1968 models "is greater now than at any time in other model starts."

Woodcock said he toured 13 cities having GM plants last week, meeting with local union officals.

'OUTPUT UNCHANGED'

"Our production schedule today is unchanged since before the selection of a strike target," a GM spokesman said.

The UAW has named Ford as the target for a labor contract that would replace the three-year pact which expired Sept. 6 and set a pattern for settlements at GM and Chrysler Corp. Contracts at the latter also expired Sept. 6, but the union has continued working without a contract.

* * *

Labor demands include a guaranteed annual income, a share of corporate profits, a "substantial" pay hike, boosts in fringe benefits and improved working conditions. Both union and Ford officials have indicated the strike would last a month or longer.

Meanwhile, bargainers decided Tuesday at GM to concentrate immediately on seeking at-the-plant working agreements which supplement national contracts.

LOCAL-LEVEL STRIKES

Strikes in support of demands on such local-level agreements crippled GM for periods of up to five weeks after national contracts had been settled in 1958, 1961 and 1964.

Both sides at GM agreed to forego bargaining on a national contract for at least two weeks while negotiators aim toward settling local-level demands at the firm's 200 plants around the nation. Company and union staff members from Detroit are planning to step in and help speed talks at 75 of the plants where a GM spokesman said about 25,000 demands are unsettled.

The meeting Tuesday at GM was the first since the UAW struck Ford. The union and Chrysler have not decided yet when to resume bargaining.

Ford and UAW negotiators again put noneconomic issues on the agenda for their meeting today.

His Influence Lingers in D.C.

Heller Advises Surtax

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Walter W. Heller retired in 1964 as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, but his advice has continued to flow as if he had an open conduit to Washington.

CUNNIFF

From Minneapolis, where he is a professor and a banker, Heller has continued to influence public matters, bringing some fame to his bank and school and, it is assumed, wisdom to those who listen to his advice.

In the opinion of some New Frontiersmen, at least, Heller has a legitimate claim to the status of oracle, for he was chief economist when the Kennedy administration challenged some conventional views on taxes.

* * *

In the early years of this decade Heller recommended a tax cut although the budget was glowing red, the economy was already fairly prosperous and a conflict in Vietnam was burning up more and more money.

ECONOMY'S POTENTIAL

Heller believed then that the economy was capable of still more capacity if freed from the rein of restrictive taxes. As a result, taxes in 1964 and 1965 were cut by about $20 billion.

As forecast, the demand for goods rose, production expanded, and more rather than less tax revenue poured in. The tax base had grown.

* * *

This was not unique, for taxes had been cut several times before to spur an economy capable of noninflationary expansion. But for various reasons the 1964 tax cut was the most dramatic use of the concept.

HARDSHIP AT HOME

Unfortunately, Heller could not spur his own economy. He resigned in 1964, claiming that in order to advise the federal government on finances he had to borrow $16,000 in three years to feed his family.

This week Heller, the man who cut taxes, came out with some strong words in favor of raising taxes.

* * *

In his role as economist with the National City Bank he urged that: "If Congress fails to enact the surtax, brisk expansion threatens to turn into a galloping advance that would make a 3 per cent rise in the Consumer Price Index the very least we could expect in 1968."

SURTAX BENEFITS

"If Congress prudently passes the 10 per cent surtax, it will sharply improve 1968 prospects by:

"—Bringing the expansion of demand back to a sustainable rate;

* * *

"—Opening up enough breathing space for monetary policy to operate effectively without a drastic new credit squeeze;

" — Providing more elbow room for the most urgent domestic probelms."

Heller has held some of these views on the present economy for many months. Even before the Johnson administration suggested a surtax last January, Heller had been recommending the same thing.

SPUR TO INFLATION

Heller is saying, in effect, that to attempt to spur more output from the present economy might produce only inflation instead.

Nevertheless, he feels, the federal government needs a surtax to fight "the good fight against inflation and ghettos, side by side with war in Vietnam."

* * *

He concedes that Congress may look at events differently, but he ignored the vastly changed political climate when he observes:

"One wonders why Congress, which had the gumption to enact some $15 billion of tax increases in 1950-1951 to finance the Korean conflict, should now balk at a much more modest increase."

* * *

These then are some of the arguments for a tax increase by the man who built a big reputation on a big tax cut—who perhaps helped to produce the boom now forecast, a boom the administration feels can become inflated and perhaps burst.

1968 VOLKSWAGEN—The fastback sedan incorporates a number of comfort, convenience and safety improvements for 1968—among them headrests for front-seat occupants — and features a new electronic fuel-injection system for its 65-horsepower air-cooled rear engine. Like Volkswagen's beetle-shaped sedan, both fastback and its companion squareback sedan are available with sliding steel sun roofs.

'68 VW Has a Slightly Different Look

The familiar Volkswagen "beetle" has taken on a slightly different appearance as a result of the dozens of changes engineered into it.

Major technical improvement for 1968 for VW's third group of vehicles, its fastback and squareback sedans, is an electronic fuel-injection system.

The new Volkswagen goes on sale Friday at the following area dealers: Autobahn Motors, 1765 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, and Bill Golling VW, 1821 Maplelawn, Troy.

The 1968 model includes the addition of built-in headrests designed to give front-seat occupants of all VW sedans and Karmann Ghia coupes protection against whiplash injuries.

* * *

Other safety features built into the VW sedans for 1968 include higher and stronger bumpers and safety rim wheels. The new bumpers also shorten the VW sedans over-all length by an inch and a half to 158.7 inches.

Although the box-shaped VW station wagons and trucks retain their practical, rectangular shape, their corners have been rounded, a one-piece wrap-around windshield has replaced the original split-window type, small slide windows have given way to "picture windows" and a 3½-foot-wide sliding door replaces double swinging doors used on previous models.

* * *

The 1968 station wagon models are five inches longer than last year's, now measuring 174 inches.

* * *

Other improvements in the 1968 VW station wagon and truck line include a 57-horsepower engine—up slightly from the previous 53 hp—a new rear suspension and a 16-gallon fuel tank, increased from the 10.6-gallon capacity of the past.

Edison Firm's Revenues Up

Detroit Edison's gross revenues were $407,382,859 for the 12 months that ended Aug. 31, 1967. Gross revenues for the corresponding period of 1965-66 were $383,642,060.

Net earnings of the company for the 12 months through Aug. 31, 1967, were $60,174,380, or $2.09 per share on the 28,831,790 shares outstanding at the end of the period.

For the previous 12 months, which ended Aug. 31, 1966, net earnings were $59,169,207, or $2.05 per share on 28,826,250 shares outstanding at the end of that period.

News in Brief

Charles Gayette of 4000 Silverbirch, Waterford Township, reported to township police today the theft of a door off his car, which was parked in his driveway.

Lino Garcia of 17 Baxter told Pontiac police late yesterday that someone entered his home by cutting through a screen and stole two watches valued at some $85 from his bedroom.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEARS

Q) "I am a school teacher, 50, and plan to retire in 10 years. I am strictly an amateur when it comes to stocks and I have read your column diligently. You mention Bristol-Myers; American Hospital; Holiday Inns; Gillette; Borg-Warner; Southern Rwy.; C.I.T. Financial; International Harvester; Pacific Lighting and American Tel. & Tel. Which would you choose if I wanted three or four?" L. B.

A) All of these issues are good in their class, I believe, but each has been mentioned here for different purposes. It is most important at this time that you decide on an investment objective and buy stocks strictly in line with that goal.

The first four stocks you list are classified as fast growth issues, providing low current income but a strong potential for increasing your principle over a period of years. The remainder are mainly income issues although Harvester and Borg-Warner have considerable appeal for long-term appreciation. In your particular situation, income should be a secondary consideration and in spite of market risks involved at current high levels, I suggest you buy Bristol-Myers, American Hospital, Holiday Inns and Gillette, in the expectation that you can enhance your capital over the next 10 years and then switch for higher yield in retirement.

Q) "I would like your opinion on investing in Florida land in a community being built by General Development. I hear good reports on this company. What is your judgment?" F. C.

A) I regard General Development as a thoroughly reputable concern in its field. It is partly owned by City Investing, a major New York real estate operator, which is planning ultimate control. I would make no investment in land, though, without a personal checkup on my proposed purchase including location, utilities and tax situation.

McDonald Gives Support to Police Benefits Bill

Citing his support of the recent passage of the law enforcement officer benefit bill in the House, Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th district, said today "It is time to recognize that police do not cause riots — they prevent them."

McDONALD

"It is time," said McDonald, "to reaffirm our confidence in our police departments.

The new measure provides benefits to state and local police or their survivors, when the officer is disabled or killed while apprehending a person who has violated a federal law.

"Throughout the U.S., the men who constitute our first line of defense against the encroachment of the lawless deserve the respect and support of the citizens they swear to protect," McDonald said.

* * *

"The passage of the Law Enforcement Benefit bill serves as such a reaffirmation," he added.

"Policemen must exercise the acumen of a socialogist in dealing with explosive situations," said McDonald. "He must demonstrate the expertise of a constitutional lawyer in questioning individuals suspected of criminal offenses. And must have the impartiality of a judge."

The policeman, said McDonald, is called upon to protect the rights of demonstrators and, at the same time, is often the target of those who feel their rights are being denied.

Before the end of 1967, U. S. motorists will have driven about two billion miles in rented automobiles.

Youth Is Fined $75 in Break-In

A 17-year-old youth pleaded guilty to a reduced charge yesterday in connection with an Aug. 19 break-in at H and H Auto Sales, 7675 M59, Waterford Township.

* * *

Gordon E. Myers of 76 Edgelake, Waterford Township, pleaded guilty to entering without permission at a hearing before Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead. He had been charged with breaking and entering.

* * *

Myers was fined $75 and ordered to pay $25 court costs.

A hearing for a second suspect in the break-in, Jerry R. Rowsey, 19, of 8226 M59, White Lake Township, will be held Nov. 14 before Hempstead.

* * *

Automobile parts, valued at $125, were taken in the break-in, according to township police.

Robbery Try in Waterford

A Waterford Township resident told township police a youth armed with a small knife attempted to rob her at about 9:30 last night.

* * *

Barbara Martin of 1104 LaSalle said she was walking home from the Pontiac Mall, where she is employed, when she was confronted by the youth at the Boston-Rogers intersection.

* * *

She told police the hoodlum grabbed her by the arm and warned her not to make any noise or he would use the knife.

She said she managed to escape his grasp and run home safely after the youth tried to grab her purse.

* * *

The youth was described as about 17 years old, 5-10 or 5-11, huskily built with dark hair and wearing dark clothing.

New miniantennas are being developed which will in the future be installed in television sets, eliminating rabbit-ear and rooftop antennas, as well as adapted to spacecraft and supersonic aircraft.

Post Office to Welcome the Public

The public is invited to an open house at the Pontiac Post Office, 735 W. Huron, highlighting Postal Services Day tomorrow.

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., has proclaimed tomorrow as Postal Services Day in tribute to "postal employes who daily perform many thankless and unrecognized tasks that benefit us all."

Also on Postal Services Day, letter carriers will begin delivering to every householder a kit of eight postal cards which can be mailed back to the post office to obtain the zip codes for "zipless" addresses.

Each card will be sent to the post office which services that address needing a Zip Code. The proper Zip will be added and sent back to the householder. No postage is needed on the cards.

* * *

"Zip Code is the key to better service and we want to make it as easy as possible to obtain the codes needed to fill out personal mailing lists," Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson said.

$130 in Stereo Gear Stolen From Auto

Stereo tape equipment valued at more than $130 was stolen from an Avon Township youth's car while parked in the General Motors Truck and Coach Division lot on East South Blvd., it was reported early today.

* * *

Eugene Harden, 19, of 2860 Devondale told Pontiac police a stereo player, an earphone and two tapes were taken from the car.

* * *

Investigators said entry was made by unlocking a door with a wire-like device.

For Bond Issue

School Borrowing OK'd

Pontiac's school system has been given the go-ahead to borrow $3.82 million for a bond issue — the last issuance of bonds without voter approval.

The State Municipal Finance Commission gave Pontiac approval to issue the bonds for the new elementary school at the Lincoln Junior High School site, one or two units of the planned Human Resources Center and other school rehabilitations and additions and site acquisitions.

School districts are permitted to borrow up to 2 per cent of their assessed valuation without getting citizens' approval.

Pontiac has now used up its limit — $9.1 million — and school officials say it's probable they will have to go to the voters this spring for additional issue of bonds and or increased milliage.

Report Issued on Bus Usage

The number of passengers using the Pontiac Transit Corp.'s buses rose in August from the previous month but is down from August 1966, according to a monthly report.

The report, received by the City Commission last night, shows a slight rise in revenue and an increase over the July in the average fare.

The average fare has gone steadily up since February (21 cents) to 24 cents in June, 25 cents in July and 26 cents in August. This has gone up as the number of passengers, generally, has decreased.

The company operated buses for 31,737 miles last month, carried 48,293 passengers and received revenue of $12,466, up from July's 28,579, $11,252 and 44,580 passengers.

* * *

In August 1966, the average fare was 24 cents, the miles 28,310, the revenue $12,182 and the passengers, 50,169.

Pacification—a Subtler War

(EDITOR'S NOTE—How effective is the unheralded war —the war called "pacification"? American correspondent Bob Considine discusses this vital question in the third in a series of firsthand reports assessing the war.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

SAIGON — Buried somewhere in bunker-surrounded "Pentagon East," the U.S. military and aid headquarters recently completed on the edge of attack-prone Tan Son Nhut Airbase, is a computer that keeps the box score on Vietnam's war-within-a-war.

CONSIDINE

This quiet and seldom - publicized conflict is called the pacification program.

Its black-pajamas troops, if they can be called that, are mostly Vietnamese, men and women, trained and salaried by the U. S. Their mission is peaceful but they are tagged with the bristling title of Revolutionary Development Groups.

There are 470 of them in action, each made up of 59 technicians, skilled and semi-skilled workers.

The computer is so sophisticated that it can print a daily map of South Vietnam showing the number, location and condition of security of this nation's 12,500 hamlets.

* * *

It is from the populations of those rural and remote places that the Vietcong squeeze the manpower, rice and money they desperately need to pursue their war against the Saigon government and its several active allies.

SIMPLE AS THAT

If we win the shooting war but fail to put over the pacification program and neglect to make straight the path of the revolutionary development groups, we blow our immense investment in blood, bone and billions.

It is as harrowingly simple as that.

The war-within-a-war is not as far along as Gen. William C. Westmoreland's No. 1 war, the shooting war in which half a million Americans of all services are engaged.

There is a breath of a hint that there may be a break of some sort in the war by Christmas, and almost surely by the next U.S. elections. The estimates about the subtler but equally important war are much cloudier.

MAN IN CHARGE

I had a talk recently with the man in charge of this difficult undertaking. He is Robert W. Komer, formerly of the Central Intelligence Agency, now holder of the title of Gen. Westmoreland's deputy for civil operations and revolutionary development support.

The trim 45-year-old product of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration has ambassadorial rank in what Robin (the Green Berets) Moore would call "the country team," our coordinated military-political - diplomatic-aid-intelligence delegation to this far-off land.

The computer had just coughed up the day's map. The box score was not one calculated to impress an innocent bystander.

* * *

Of the 12,509 hamlets of Vietnam only 168 were shown to have a Class AAA rating, according to the computer. A Class AAA hamlet has a solid [illegible] government, adequate defense, and its Vietcong infrastructure — the enemy underground — has been demolished.

CLASS BBB

The map showed many more Class BBB hamlets.

"They are hamlets with a little less development but just as much security," Ambassador Komer explained. "Class CCC hamlets, which you can see sprinkled here and there, still constitute something of a threat but have a high degree of government control. Classes DDD and EEE are still strictly contested."

I noticed a Class V. The Vs were as thick as a swarm of gnats in An Giang and An Xuyen, the southernmost region of the country, and, also quite prevalent in the central highlands.

* * *

"They are all VC controlled," the ambassador said. He said it matter of fact, not with any resignation in his voice.

"We're winning them over steadily," he continued. "It baffles us over here to read in some American newspaper, or hear on the air, that we are mired in some gigantic stalemate. We're not. There's an incredible intellectual lag afoot at home.

"The enemy once could move in on a strategic hamlet the day it was completed and either take it over for himself or destroy all that the people had put together with our help. He was in charge.

"Now we chase him, secure the hamlet and — most important — keep it secured.

* * *

"We're spending 10 times as much money on rural construction and betterment than we did in the days when the original strategic hamlet program was advanced in 1962 and 1963. It's the best investment we make over here.

VIETNAMESE PLAN

"This is a Vietnamese plan carried out by Vietnamese with our aid.

"The people of a hamlet liberated from the VC are in no mood to welcome us with open arms. They fear that the VC will come back when we leave and take revenge on all who cooperated. So Vietnam troops are stationed there to maintain security, and then come the revolutionary development groups.

"They wear the black pajamas of the countryside. They speak the language. They have been recruited from that general area, so they have relatives and friends in the hamlet. They bring medicine, food and knowhow.

* * *

"They have been trained by us in first aid services, have a knowledge of land reform, are proficient in improved methods of farming, and what not.

LISTEN TO GRIEVANCES

"They listen to the grievances and aspirations of the people of the hamlet, who may want a bridge, a road to a better market area, a dam behind which to acquire a fishery, a school, a bona fide teacher. We move in the supplies; the local people do the building.

"The whole program is fortunate in having at its head one of the best men in the country, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Hong, a real whizbang—honest to the core. He spends most of his time in the field."

The ambassador's brow furrowed.

* * *

"But our critics back home seem to feel that as long as there isn't total security there's no security at all," he said. "They don't seem to sense that it isn't that the VC can blow up a bridge: It's how quickly we can repair it.

SIGNIFICANT TRENDS

"They miss significant trends, too.

"For example, in 1965 the war was largely in IV Corps, the south. Now half of the enemy activity is now North Vietnamese, as opposed to hardly 10 per cent in 1965. This means that we're drying up the enemy in the south; the VC recruitment there has fallen off 50 per cent. We've opened 90 per cent of the key roads in daytime, with convoy, and 45 per cent without convoy.

"There are other barometers. In 1965, about 11,000 enemy troops came over to our side, most of them with their weapons. The Vietnamese call them 'Rallyers' and do not treat them as prisoners of war.

* * *

"Last year the total was 21,000. As of Sept. 1 of this year the figure is 22,000. It could go as high as 40,000 by the end of the year.

COUNTER GUERRILLAS

"Some of these people have gone into revolutionary development work. Some are part of the Kit Carson scouts, working as counterguerrillas in the areas they know best. Still others have been formed into armed propaganda teams.

* * *

"The cost is peanuts. It costs us $127.12 per rallyer, as opposed to Sen. Richard Russell's estimate that the cost of killing one ofthem in combat works out to something like $300,000. We've got the cheapest program in Vietnam.

* * *

"Cumulatively, we're grinding this guy, this enemy, down to the nub. We're winning. . ."

Retrieval Setup for Rocket Eyed

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — In an attempt to shave some of the cost off launching a $190-million Saturn 5 moon rocket, a team of engineers has come up with a way to retrieve the rocket's spent booster from the sea and refurbish it for use again.

At a price of an estimated $75 million apiece, the 138-foot Saturn 5 first stage is the most expensive part of the moon rocket. Yet it is discarded after only 2½ minutes of operation.

By using parachutes, control jets, fins and a unique "soft splash" ocean-landing technique, engineers at the Marshall Space Flight Center have devised a way to recover and reuse a booster at a saving of from 40 to 60 per cent of the cost of a new one.

The idea of recovering a burned-out first stage is not new. It dates to the late 1950s when the United States was launching Redstone and Jupiter rockets. The first four Saturn 1 rockets even had room built in them for recovery systems.

George Detko, chief of vehicle systems at Marshall's advanced Systems Office, said the early booster retrieval plans were dropped because the main effort then was to just build and fly the rockets successfully "without beginning another problem.

MAIN PROBLEM

The main problem today is money.

To develop a recovery and refurbishment system for a moon rocket booster would cost around $100 million.

And then to make the system pay for itself would call for a launch rate of something like six Saturns a year.

Detko expects this to happen in the mid-1970s with a higher launch rate next decade.

Neil Blasts Beatles' Boost of 'Turned On' Effect Drugs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Something ought to be done about the Beatles' publicly talking about using LSD," Neil Diamond said.

The young singer-composer whose song, "I'm a Believer," sold close to 10,000,000 on a Monkee recording, doesn't quite know what should be done with the Beatles. Could you find some way to put 'em in a dungeon or at least in jail?

WILSON

"It was very stupid on their part," snorted Diamond, who's 25 and knows about LSD and marijuana, too—he's tried both.

"I once smoked marijuana," he told me. "It was a very disappointing experience. The effect was no more than that of a screwdriver.

"When I used LSD—just once—I stopped being aware of myself," Diamond said. "Then it became a nightmare in color . . . colors that weren't there. I wasn't rational. It didn't wear off for a couple of days and its effect continued for much longer.

"I know of a musician who used LSD," Diamond said—he gave me the musician's name—"and he wound up in a home for the insane.

"Most users, I think, are losers. They think they're turning themselves on—but actually they're turning themselves off—trying to escape from the world.

"The musician woh took LSD—he could have avoided his 'trip' and accomplished the same thing by taking rat poison!"

Cadillac Repels Skunk Invaders

CADILLAC, (AP) — Armed with 12-gauge shotguns, patrolmen drive around the city in the dead of night, checking areas where invaders have been reported.

★ ★ ★

"The patrol got seven in one night," Lt. Willard Irwin said. "They've killed about 30 or 40 this fall."

The invaders are skunks.

The patrol has been under way for 10 years but Irwin said there are more skunks this year.

"It gets pretty ripe once in a while," he said. "But even in damp weather when the smell is worst, it goes away in a couple of days."

Irwin said he believes the skunks come in out of the dry woods to dig in lawns for food and will leave "as soon as the snow flies."

Rocky: Still Back Romney

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he is standing by Michigan Gov. George Romney despite a pollster's report that Romney's "brainwashing" remark about the Vietnam war had dropped him to fourth place in the Republican White House standings.

Rockefeller again disclaimed any presidential ambitions of his own when asked to comment Tuesday on the findings of a poll by Louis Harris that showed he had replaced Romney as the GOP's strongest potential candidate.

"Well, I'm very hopeful that Mr. Romney will come back up in the standings," Rockefeller told a news conference.

★ ★ ★

Under questioning, he said that he was "very grateful and highly complimented" that people who participated in the poll had expressed support for him.

"But that doesn't influence my decision as regards candidacy," Rockefeller added.

He said, "I am not nor will I be a candidate."

The Harris poll liisted former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in second place, behind Rockefeller, and California Gov. Ronald Reagan in third place.

Rockefeller, who has been backing Romney for the 1968 nomination, said the Michigan governor merely was trying to "dramatize" his belief that President Johnson's administration was presenting a one-sided view of the Vietnam war.

Salesmen Take Pause That Idles

DETROIT (AP) — A wildcat strike by about 100 driver-salesmen and their helpers idled some 350 other workers Tuesday at the Coca-Cola Bottling Plant in Detroit.

Robert B. Healy, company vice president and general manager, said the driver-salesmen walked off the job because union officials said commission rates on a new 10-ounce bottle six pack are not spelled out in their current contract.

MSU Assesses Its Growing Pains

EAST LANSING (UPI — A 100 per cent increase in enrollment from 19,000 to more than 38,000 students in just eight years has produced some severe strains on the undergraduate program at Michigan State University, a faculty committee reported yesterday.

The conclusion was reached in a 132-page report issued by the Committee on Undergraduate Education. The committee was appointed by MSU President John Hannah to make recommendations for improving the undergraduate program.

The committee said the unprecedented growth of MSU has produced heavy teaching loads, large classes and strained facilities and resources.

"The postwar era at MSU may constitute the most remarkable period in the history of any institution of higher learning in the Western World," MSU said in a statement concerning the committee report.

★ ★ ★

Undergraduate education can be improved through superior classroom teaching and a greater commitment by students, the report said.

★ ★ ★

"It is in the classroom that the student must find exemplified those qualities of mind, those commitments to reason and inquiry and the pursuit of excellence that have always marked the best in university teaching and scholarship," the committee said.

Local Voters Favor City Income Tax

By BOB WISLER

Pontiac residents who went to the polls yesterday showed they prefer a city income tax rather than a hike in the property tax levy.

Unofficial totals were 4,687 in favor of an income tax (with a 3-mill property tax decrease), 2,605 for raising the property tax levy by 4 mills ($4 per $1,000 of assessed valuation).

Nearly 25 per cent of the city's 30,000 registered voters took part in the election, a higher percentage than city officials had anticipated.

However, whether this is a high enough percentage to conclude that the City Commission will definitely enact an income tax ordinance is a question that apparently remains open.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said today that the City Commission will have to study the results of the election precinct by precinct before making a final decision.

"This will have to be decided by the commission as a group," he said.

Commissioners were informed of the results of the election at last night's commission meeting but adjourned without stating they will definitely enact an income tax.

Taylor said the commissioners would probably decide at next Monday's informal meeting.

The mayor indicated concern that enactment of an income tax could set off a drive for a referendum vote.

The commission passed an income tax in 1964 but a drive for a referendum vote led to a repeal of the ordinance. In March 1965, about 28 per cent of city voters turned thumbs down on an income tax by nearly 2½ to 1. Totals were 6,647 against, 2,637 for.

Because of the disheartening results of that election commissioners this year decided on an advisory election before attempting to enact any kind of new tax.

"We were accused of shoving an income tax through the last time," one commissioner said. The advisory vote was to preclude that charge, he said.

Yesterday's vote clearly showed a preference for an income tax—one per cent for residents, a half per cent for nonresidents working in the city.

Only four precincts went for a raise in the property tax levy, and three of these were in District 3.

The other was in District 2, precinct 40 (voting at Washington Junior High School), where a property tax hike was favored by a thin margin of 135 to 130.

Even in District 3 the total vote was conclusively for the income tax—416 to 313. In its three districts favoring the property tax raise the margin only totaled 17 votes, 188 for the raise and 171 for an income tax.

Voters in District 1, 4 and 5 were more than 2-1 in favor of an income tax. The results: District 5, income tax, 1,375, property tax raise, 626; District 1, income tax, 340, property tax raise, 165; District 4, income tax, 988, property tax raise, 411; District 5, income tax, 1,375, property tax raise, 626.

★ ★ ★

Other results: District 2, income tax 790, property tax hike, 646; District 6, income tax 489, property tax hike, 222; District 7, income tax 309, property tax raise, 223.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

Taylor expressed appreciation to city employes, especially firemen, members of the Citizens Finance Study Committee, who campaigned for a voter turnout.

★ ★ ★

He said he thought that voters recognized city efforts to cut expenses to meet pressing financial problems. "I think it was a vote of confidence," he said.

To levy an income tax effective Jan. 1 the commission must pass an ordinance by Nov. 1.

Medicare Rate News to Wait?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly are supposed to find out by Oct. 1 whether the $3 a month they now pay for doctor-bill insurance under medicare will be increased for the coming two years, but the announcement may be delayed.

It was learned the administration is considering asking Congress to extend the date by which John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, is required to announce the new rate.

Sources said department officials would like to see the date extended until Congress has completed action on medicare provisions in the Social Security bill — probably not until November.

Department officials say many pending medicare proposals could require a rate increase above whatever increase the department might now find necessary.

One proposal, now being hotly debated, would add the cost of prescription drugs to medicare benefits.

50-CENT INCREASE

Administration officials have said this would mean raising the rate by 50 cents to $1. The government contributes an equal amount.

Gardner said last week he is against adding drugs to medicare before he gets a final task force report on the issue next June 1.

The Social Security package, including medicare, has passed the House and now is in the Senate.

ARSON SUSPECTED — For the second night in a row, fire heavily damaged this building on Kalamazoo's racially mixed north side last night. Damage estimates run as high as $150,000. The building belongs to Millwork Supply Co. A nearby lumberyard also was hit by fire. Authorities suspect arsonists in the area, which has been hit by three fires in 36 hours.

Teacher Return Sought in Suit

The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education this morning filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court, asking for an order forcing its striking teachers back to classes.

Teachers in the school district are the only ones in Oakland County that have not returned to work for the start of the new school year.

Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin received the petition of Charles Fine, attorney for the school board, but at 11 a.m. had not yet signed it or scheduled a hearing for an injuction against the teachers.

Before 700 teachers at the Birmingham Board of Education meeting last night, a Birmingham Education Association (BEA) spokesman requested that the board will meet them directly instead of continuing to use representatives as go-betweens in negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John B. Smith, superintendant, said that the board would make a decision on the matter within a few days.

Teachers in Birmingham have been back to work since Monday following the granting of a return-to-work injunction.

Open Housing Delay Charged

The question of an open occupancy ordinance for Pontiac came up again last night with a charge that the commission is stalling on the issue.

Placard-carrying Negro youths paced in front of the City Hall entrance prior to the commission meeting with such messages as, "Action, Not Talk," "Taxation Is Equal, Why Not Housing?" "The Black Rebellion Wants You."

Related Stories, Pages A-2, F-1

Richard Northcross, president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth (POOBY), who five weeks ago asked for an open occupancy ordinance, read a statement which said the organization will "picket, demonstrate and employ any method at our command to prod the City Commission into enacting a strong open occupancy ordinance."

In opening his remarks, Northcross accused the city government of employing a stall.

★ ★ ★

This brought immediate reaction from Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. who said he would adjourn the meeting if Northcross merely wanted to criticize the commission.

DEVOTED TIME

Taylor said he and other city officials had devoted a great deal of time to meeting with the Negro organization in attempts to solve its problems.

Although Northcross at one point said "diplomacy (on the part of POOBY) had just about run its course," he mentioned that "We are still ready to talk."

Northcross read a statement, endorsed by the organization, which said "it appears to us that the commission intends to employ all the means at is command to delay enactment of a much needed open occupancy ordinance in face of the obvious urgency of the present situation."

★ ★ ★

Taylor scheduled five informal commission meetings in forthcoming weeks to discuss the ordinance and other city matters. The commissioners received another sheaf of documents from Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant to help them reach a decision on the ordinance.

MEETING NOT SCHEDULED

In response to a question from the audience, Taylor said the commission has not yet scheduled an informal meeting to discuss the ordinance.

Hurricane Beulah Batters Brownsville, Tex.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah battered Brownsville with winds surging above 100 miles per hour today and, slightly weakened by the onslaught hurled her remaining strength toward Corpus Christi—and that was lot.

★ ★ ★

More than 30,000 Texans had fled far inland or taken refuge in home town shelters. Their flight was orderly and appeared to mostly cheerful — even taken as fun, at first, by some.

But in neighboring Matamoros, Mex., officials reported fear and confusion as citizens scrambled for shelter.

Beulah had approached the Texas-Mexico coast with winds of 160 m.p.h. whirling around her center.

★ ★ ★

Her slam at the Rio Grande Valley and her charge upcoast cut her big punch to 150 m.p.h., even though the eye, the focal point of her power, remained over water.

MUSCULAR STORM

But as she aimed her dead calm eye at Corpus Christi she remained one of the most muscular storms ever recorded, and the Weather Bureau predicted Beulah would still pack a punch of better than 100 m.p.h. when the eye finally crashed ashore.

With two twisters already reported, the Weather Bureau expected a few more tornadoes within 80 miles of the coast between Corpus Christi and Galveston.

"She's just about the biggest, nastiest storm I've ever seen," said the veteran pilot of a Navy hurricane-hunting team after flying through the eye.

★ ★ ★

At 7 a.m. CDT Beulah was 125 miles south of Corpus Christi and moving northward at about 12 m.p.h.

NEARLY WIPED OUT

Meanwhile, ham operators reported the tiny town of Valle Hermoso, Mex., 15 miles south of Brownsville, was nearly wiped out. Many residents had been evacuated before the storm hit.

Gov. John Connally called out about 1,300 National Guardsmen.

The Weather Bureau called for immediate evacuation of Rockport, Fulton, Aransas Pass and low parts of Ingleside and for the Lamar and Good Island areas, all near Corpus Christi, and advised residents of some housing developments at Corpus Christi to be ready to move when necessary.

No deaths or injuries were reported immediately as the first hurricane-force winds pounded the Texas Coast.

Earlier, Beulah had been blamed for 24 deaths—23 in the Eastern Caribbean and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and one when big waves rolling up the Gulf flung a 15-year-old girl from her surfboard near Freeport, south of Houston.

Antirat Funds Get Tentative Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, by one vote, has tentatively approved a $40-million increase in funds authorized for rat extermination and other state health programs.

If sustained on a vote scheduled for today, the action could partially erase what many members consider a black mark on the House for its rejection in July of the administration's $40-million rat control bill.

The measure, adopted 129 to 128 yesterday as an amendment to a $950-million health bill, would increase the funds available for state public health programs.

Pan Am Strike Sputters at Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks against Pan American World Airways got off to an uneven, sputtering start early today.

A federal judge in New York declared the strike illegal and another, in Honolulu, ordered strikers there back to work.

About 250 Pan American ground service employes in Honolulu began walking off their jobs nearly six hours before the 12:01 a.m. EDT deadline.

But Judge C. Nils Tavares of U.S. District Court in Honolulu granted an airline request and ordered the strikers to return to work.

The 7,000 clerks, ticket writers and cargo men represented by the union struck in other areas also.

OU Mourns Loss of Founder

By DICK ROBINSON

Oakland University students, faculty and staff and many others are today mourning the loss of a dear friend — Mrs. Alfred (Matilda) Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wilson, 83, Dodge automobile heiress, society matron and philanthropist who gave a gift of $10 million to start OU 10 years ago, suffered a heart attack yesterday in Brussels, Belgium.

She was in Brussels with her Howell estate manager and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clark, to look over Belgian draft horses to stock her estate near Howell.

Mrs. Wilson was hospitalized Monday when she complained of a stomach upset. She died in a Brussels Red Cross hospital.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State University Board of Trustees, which also governs OU, will not meet at Oakland University tomorrow as scheduled because of Mrs. Wilson's death, MSU President Dr. John Hannah announced today.

IN EAST LANSING

The meeting will be held in East Lansing as normal. Hannah said the next meeting would be held at OU.

OU's staff was shocked yesterday by the news of Mrs. Wilson's death.

As one secretary put it, "We were so surprised. Everything just stopped here. She was old but so active that we just didn't think about her dying."

★ ★ ★

The Oakland student body has placed an oil painting of her and student donated flowers in the lobby of the building named after her, Matilda R. Wilson Hall.

AT HALF STAFF

In addition, Oakland's flag is at half staff in her memory.

Three OU students who escorted her to her last university function — the freshman convocation two weeks ago —will fly to New York City tomorrow to bring back her body to Detroit for service and burial Saturday.

Lindsay Plan Aired in NY Teacher Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators today considered a new peace proposal advanced by Mayor John V. Lindsay as pressures mounted for a settlement of the nine-day walkout of teachers in the 1.1 million-pupil New York City public school system.

The board of education and the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers met past midnight at Gracie Mansion for the third consecutive night, weighing the plan which would alter the board's offer of a two-year $125-million package.

* * *

Instead, Lindsay proposed that the contract period be extended to 26 months and that $10.4 million or more be added to the total package.

The Association of Assistant Principals called on its 1,600 members to stay off the job today after the board rejected an association request to close the city's 900 schools on safety grounds.

'ONE MORE DAY'

The Council of Supervisory Associations also demanded that schools be closed at once and gave the board "one more day" to act.

After that, the council said it would urge its 3,600 members to "dismiss pupils as soon as they report to schools to protect them against hazardous conditions that now exist."

* * *

The council also demanded a voice in the negotiations.

Supervisory personnel have been principally responsible for keeping the schools open on a token basis during the walkout which began Sept. 11, the start of the fall term.

UNION BLAMED

In a statement issued during the day the board of education blamed the 49,000-member union's "unyielding" position for the continuing impasse. The board cited four major unresolved issues: salary demands, a shorter workweek for non-teaching personnel, expansion of the More Effective Schools program insisted on by the union, and a reduction in teaching time.

The board said issues that were just about resolved included the problem of handling disruptive pupils. The board suggested a compromise which would provide an independent panel to review such cases.

* * *

However, Dan Sanders, an aide to union President Albert Shanker, later denied that the issues were near settlement. "This type of report really does disservice to the negotiations," he said.

The mayor's peace formula, not formally announced, was put forward early Tuesday at the end of a nine-hour negotiating session.

27-MONTH PACKAGE

A similar move provided the key to last spring's salary dispute between the city and police and firemen. They accepted a 27-month package after turning down a two-year pact.

Attendance at the schools dropped again Tuesday, to 308,891, or well under one-third of the total enrollment.

* * *

As he returned to Gracie Mansion for talks Tuesday, Shanker told newsmen: "It would be virtually impossible to get the schools open before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, even if there was a settlement this week."

* * *

The yearly salary scale under the old contract ranged from $5,400 to $11,950. The UFT sought a wage scale of $7,500 to $18,000 for teachers and rejected the $125-million package recommended by a mediation panel which called for a scale from $6,600 to $13,600.

An estimated total of 4.65 million travelers flew or sailed across the North Atlantic in 1965.

TAKING SHAPE — Birmingham's newest skyscraper now reaches its final height of six stories. The exterior facing is nearing completion. The Merrillwood Building, Woodward at Merrill, will house apartments, offices and commercial space. The cost is approximately $2,557,800. Construction began this year.

Group Forming to Study Growth of Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The City Council is taking names for a fact-finding in light of its proposal to annex Wolverine Lake Village and parts of Commerce Township.

The committee will include interested citizens and government officials, said Walled Lake Mayor Wendel G. Kellogg Jr. at last night's council meeting.

He was definite in saying that the top administrators of the city, Wolverine Lake Village and Commerce Township would be asked to participate on the committee.

Kellogg added that he is trying to find "some unbiased people" to begin the committee work.

★ ★ ★

The conclusions of the committee will be reported to the public, the mayor said.

"I'm not afraid of fact-finding," said the mayor. He added that he is sure the facts will show that incorporation of the surrounding areas as one entity is best.

The annexation petitions from Wolverine Lake Village have been approved by the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. A public hearing has been set for Oct. 12 and an election tentatively for Jan. 16.

The petitions from the township will be considered Sept. 29 by the committee, which tabled them for an opinion from corporation counsel on an alleged precedent the committee may be making if it accepts the petitions, said committee chairman Philip Mastin, Jr.

Wolverine Lake Village and parts of the township including some land considered for the annexation are also considered in a village incorporation proposal.

CITYHOOD PETITIONS

The village cityhood petitions have been in circulation since Sept. 9, said Clifford Cottrell, village manager and head of the citizens' committee circulating the petitions.

Also at last night's meeting, the Walled Lake council awarded to Barthel Construction Co. the bid of $15,885 for concrete paving of Common Stireet.

City Manager Royce Downey announced that Oct. 6 is the last day for registering for the special school election Nov. 8. Voters will be considering a 10-mill operational levy.

State Approval Necessary

W. Bloomfield District Tables Bond Vote

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education has tabled its original resolution to hold a $4.6 million bond issue election Oct. 30.

The board, complying with a new law, must have its bonds prequalified, or approved, by the State Department of Education before more definite plans are made, said Schools Supt. Leif Hougen.

The approval is necessary if the school district expects to borrow from the state school bond loan fund, said the superintendent.

Approval may take several months, with the district supplying the state education department with information of the growth and evaluation of the district, Hougen said.

★ ★ ★

When the West Bloomfield Board of Education tentatively set the election last week, it was unaware of the new law requiring prequalification, explained Hougen.

LEVY RENEWAL

The bond issue will be a renewal of a 9-mill tax levy approved June 1963 and expiring this December. The renewal would be for five years beginning Dec., 1968.

The levy is planned to finance a proposed high school estimated to cost between $6.5 million and $8 million. The school, to be built on 56 acres across from the West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake Road, is expected to be completed by Sept., 1970, said Hougen.

The board recently ratified the master teachers' contract, approved by teachers Sept. 5.

★ ★ ★

Details of the contract could not be imum at the tenth year increased from $9,000 last year to $10,000 this year.

Teachers with a master's degree now start at $6,900 instead of last year's $6,650. At the 11th year, the salary is $11,000 compared to last year's figure of $12,000 after the 12th year.

Salary increases were also approved for the more advanced masters and doctorate levels.

Other contract benefits include increased hospitalization and life insurance payments by the district.

The board further adopted a school lunch policy stating that all elementary pupils living less than three fourths of a mile from school are to go home for lunch.

"In unusual cases, school principals will make exceptions to this rule," Hougen said.

The superintendent explained that this policy is similar to the schools' handling of the situation previously.

Work on Converting Hospital to Nursing Home Is Started

FARMINGTON — Construction has begun on the rebuilding of the former Children's Hospital here into a 188-bed extended care nursing home with supporting facilities.

The hospital, on 12½ acres at the intersection of Tuck and Grand River, will be known as the Farmington Nursing Home.

The facility is expected to be in operation within the next year under the direction of the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home Association.

The $1,297,300 conversion project is being done by the Kendall Construction Co., Detroit.

The Children's Hospital was closed by the state in 1961 for lack of funds to make repairs. The building was 40 years old at that time and had been used by the state for six years.

Originally it was owned by the Children's Hospital of Michigan.

Legalities Again Stymie Novi Quest to Become City

NOVI — Novi Village's attempts to become a city, which began in late 1965, have once again been stymied.

In a ruling made yesterday by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer, the village heard that it cannot hold an election on its incorporation as a home rule city.

Beer was upholding the first ruling on the issue by Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore in early 1966, said Beer.

Moore had declared that petitions proposing an election for a home rule city were faulty because the village did not meet the state statute requirement that an area must contain at least 500 persons per square mile to qualify for home rule.

Beer also stated yesterday that there can't be an election now unless new petitions are circulated and meet all requirements of the law on population density and are accompanied by a proper map describing the area.

TO RESUME MATTER

Novi Village Attorney Howard I. Bond said yesterday that he again would take up the incorporation matter with the village council late this week or early next week.

In his decision, Beer considered three cases representing suits and counter-suits regarding the cityhood election.

Moore's 1966 decision was on the first case. The second decision by Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn was that as an already incorporated entity, the village was not bound by the state statute.

★ ★ ★

Novi Township officials then sought an injunction to stop the cityhood vote set for April 4. This was countered by a suit filed by a village citizens committee to stop the township from interfering.

All the matters were presented in early March to Beer, who then, too, upheld Moore's original decision.

The village filed a special appeal with the State Court of Appeals and before the hearing, the circuit court withdrew its order restraining the village from holding the election.

By then, the village had to call off the election because too much time had lapsed, according to Bond.

Upon a suggestion by the county court, the village entered as a party in the third suit between the Township supervisor and the village citizens' committee chairman.

Drive-In Ordinance Is Adopted in Troy

TROY — The Troy City Commission has adopted a drive-in restaurant ordinance aimed at preventing future problems in dealing with noise, litter and cruising.

City Manager Paul York said that even though Troy has only two restaurants classified as drive-ins, the ordinance was passed to lay down guidelines felt necessary due to the community's rapid growth.

★ ★ ★

He added that there were no particular problems or complaints which caused the action.

The rules call for an annual $25 license; limits on operational time from 5 a.m. to 12 midnight; and guideline controls for litter cleanup, loudspeakers other than a public address system, and provisions to control cruising and congregating.

Troy Principal Is Reassigned to High School

TROY — Clyde Peterson principal of the unfinished Rex B. Smith Junior High School since July, has been appointed principal of Troy High School by the board of education.

This follows the announced resignation on Sept. 11, of Joseph Bechard who was brought under fire this summer by parents and teachers and subsequently placed on a one-year probation period.

The appointment came at a recent special meeting of the school board. At the same meeting board member William Stewart announced his resignation due to a job transfer to Warren, Ohio.

Stewart's term runs to 1970. The board is slated to appoint an interim board member until an election can be held next June.

★ ★ ★

Bechard leaves for a job in Cleveland on Oct. 1 when Peterson will take over as head of the experimental curriculum school. Troy High School is maintaining its third year of flexible classroom scheduling system which places more responsibilty on the student than does the standard system.

CLAWSON RESIDENT

Peterson was recommended and appointed by the board at a recent special meeting. The 35-year-old Clawson resident is married and has three children.

Prior to taking over Smith Junior High School, which is closed due to a cutback caused by a millage election defeat, Peterson was principal of Big Beaver Elementary School from 1961-67 and before that taught high school math and coached junior high in the Troy system.

He has a master's degree from the University of Michigan and a B.A. from Northern Michigan University.

GOP Club to Meet

The Milford-Highland Republican Club will meet tonight at 8 at the Highland Township Hall. Guest speaker will be State Representative Clifford H. Smart, R-66th District.

Keego Harbor Report Says Reappraisal Progressing

KEEGO HARBOR — The City Council last night heard that the reappraisal of city property is progressing satisfactorily and ahead of schedule.

Field operations are nearly complete, reported W.M. Meier, a former Southfield city assessor whose company is doing the reappraising.

The city's first total reappraisal was begun in early July. Meier said he expects to be completed before the Dec. 31 deadline, which is also city tax day.

"The purpose of the citywide reappraisal is to bring assessments up to date," said Meier.

Although the city is 10 years old, lack of funds until now have prevented a complete reappraisal, City Manager Gary L. Dickson explained.

MEMBER SHOP TABLED

The council last night also tabled its consideration of joining the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments. The city's membership fee, based on population, would be $180 per year, said Dickson.

The council approved a $5 permit fee for water service line inspection.

$50,000 Blaze Hits Birmingham Building

BIRMINGHAM—Fire of undetermined origin last night burned up an estimated $40,000 of the contents and damaged the Stanger's Designs building at 808 S. Woodward to the extent of $10,000.

The two-alarm blaze was reported by the Birmingham Police Department at 12:51 a.m. today. Some 25 Birmingham firemen on the scene had it under control by 2:17 a.m.

Firemen said the blaze apparently originated in the rear one-level section of the store where Christmas advertisements and paint were stored. The front section of the store is a two-level brick structure.

Rezoning Hearing for Dump Sept. 28

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A petition to force rezoning for a dump north of the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks on White Lake Road is due for a hearing Sept. 28 before Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

The Independence Township Board was informed at its meeting last night that Roy Brothers, owners of gas stations in the township, have sought court help to reverse a year-old decision of the township.

The planning commission last year recommended to the Township Board that it deny a rezoning petition.

A road improvement project on a half mile of Eston Road from Clarkston Road north to Algonquin was approved.

Years of Oxford Postal Work Recalled

By JEAN SAILE

OXFORD — It's postmaster, not postmistress. And, after all, Mrs. Donald Awrey ought to know.

The pleasant postmaster of Oxford retired last Friday. She has been succeeded by Truman Horton of 88 Park former substitute clerk of the office.

Instead, the Awreys — he's a retired barber — are just getting used to the idea that their pleasant home at 46 Pontiac is the only responsibility they now have.

When Mrs. Awrey was first introduced to Oxford's Post Office, she was 19-year-old Irene Clack, recently graduated from Oxford High School and fresh from a year's job with the American Express Co. office.

It was July 1928. Skirts were above the knee, "but not mini-length", Mrs. Awrey recalls.

LESS UNREST

There was a post-World War I feverishness, "but not as much unrest or violence as there is now".

Ahead of her were job promotions from substitute clerk to clerk to assistant postmaster and finally eight years ago to the job of postmaster.

At one time in the 1930s she substituted as mail carrier in the downtown area.

"And that's postmaster," she said referring to her immediate past title, "not postmistress. The government changed the classification some time ago. I guess they figured we all did the same job so we should have the same title."

FOUR MOVES

She's seen the post office move four times — once operating out of a car dealership showroom when officials felt the rent was too high on the building formerly used.

The present building on Hudson street was erected in the 1950s, she remembers.

A familiarity with the Oxfords of Ohio, Mississippi, Massachusetts, Georgia and New York has come about as a result of her job, and one time she and her husband drove out of their way on vacation to visit the Oxford in New York.

"It was a small town like ours," she reported.

Because of past confusion over towns with the same name, Mrs. Awrey is a strong booster of the Zip Code method of addressing.

"It's saving all sorts of work and confusion," she reports.

Mrs. Awrey has noted the need for a work-saver as she's seen the volume of mail increase "probably 40 per cent" since she became postmaster.

★ ★ ★

"It's the growth of the subdivisions in the area west of town that has made the biggest difference in our business," she said.

'WORST WINTER EVER'

She's also seen what was to her the "worst winter ever" to hamper mail delivery.

"There were days last winter when the carriers couldn't even get to the office, let alone deliver the mail."

An avid supporter of the Oxford Congregational Church, she's been financial secretary for 13 years and is serving her 12th year as treasurer.

★ ★ ★

It's the people — both those she served and those she worked with — that Mrs. Awrey remembers as she views some of the many remembrances that have come her way since Friday.

From the number of cards, flowers and gifts, it appears that the town will also miss Mrs. Awrey.

In Wake of Mideast War

Refugee Problem Is Growing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A problem of humanity that has gone on nearly 20 years—what to do about the Palestine refugee—is growing in the wake of the Middle East war.

It started when the old British-mandated territory of Palestine was partitioned to form a Jewish homeland, now Israel. It reached a climax in the Arab-Israeli war of 1948, when many Arabs were uprooted from their homes.

* * *

There were slightly fewer than a million refugees then. Some have found a life of their own, but others have multiplied—there are grandchildren of the original refugees who are refugees now. And their number grew in the war last June, so that today 1,317,000 are registered with the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, or UNRWA.

In June more than 100,000 arabs crossed the Jordan River into the Hashemite kingdom of Jordan. They were joined by perhaps 100,000 more unregistered refugees, Palestinians with settled homes and jobs on the west bank of the Jordan, now occupied by Israel. Some fled to the Gaza Strip, others to Syria.

MISSION CONTINUES

UNRWA must gather the tribe in its separate refuges and carry on with its mission of feeding, educating and nursing.

Some 300,000 are living under Israeli occupation on the west bank of the Jordan. About 420,000 registered refugees and perhaps 100,000 so far unregistered are on the east bank, 400,000 in the Gaza Strip and 150,000 in Syria. Other refugees, in Lebanon, were untouched by the war.

* * *

But Lawrence Michelmore, commissioner general of UNRWA, at his headquarters desk here in Beirut, is not dismayed by the task ahead.

"Our mandate will continue to follow its usual line," he said.

BASIC FOOD ALLOTMENT

His mandate, roughly, is to provide a basic food allotment for those refugees who need it, plus such other services as health care, education, welfare and vocational training.

The war brought considerable disruption to these services. Teachers and staff were dispersed, some installations in the Gaza Strip were damaged, UNRWA vehicles disappeared. But the greatest problem is the dispersion of the refugees themselves.

* * *

The Jordanian government put pressure on refugees to return to the west bank of the river as they saw the magnitude of their problem mounting. Refugees were told they would be denied all forms of relief if they did not return—no housing, no schools, no rations, government officials said.

Jordanian officials are highly suspicious of Israeli motives in taking back only 14,000, mostly "new" refugees. Palestinians who had their own homes on the west bank. Very few of the 100,000 registered refugees who fled across the river were approved for repatriation by Israel.

UNRWA operates 54 permanent refugee camps in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, the Gaza Strip and Israeli-occupied West Jordan. Before the war only 65 per cent of the registered refugees were receiving the basic rations. The rest were managing for themselves, but receiving other services.

More than 235,000 refugee children were in school and 3,500 young men and women were taking vocational or teacher training.

Some 45,000 refugee babies are born annually.

The basic monthly ration for refugees who need it is 22 pounds of flour, 1.3 pounds of peas or similar food, 1.3 pounds of sugar, 1.1 pounds of rice, 13 ounces of oil and a piece of soap.

Through 1966 the nations of the world contributed $551 million to support palestine refugees. The United States supplied $387 million of that.

Family Loses Third Child by Drowning

EAST DOVER, Vt. (AP) — For the third time in 10 months, Mr. and Mrs. John Goode have lost a child by drowning.

Their 5-year-old son, James, fell into the family swimming pool Tuesday. The father found the body.

* * *

Last Dec. 1, a car driven by Mrs. Goode plunged into the West River at Dummerston and two of their children drowned. They were Robert Goode, 2, and John Goode Jr., twin brother of the boy who drowned Tuesday.

Berry's Sweetness 1,500 Times Sugar

By Science Service

CHICAGO — The world's sweetest natural substance—1,500 times as sweet as sugar—has been found in an African berry.

The discovery of the "Serendipity berry" came after screening several hundred fruits from Africa and Indonesia in a search for new sweetening material that didn't have the bitter after-taste of present artificial sweeteners, Dr. George E. Inglett told the American Chemical Society Convention here.

Serendipity implies a pleasant, unexpected event, which is just what Dr. Inglett experienced when the berries, received from Nigeria as an unidentified tropical fruit, turned out to be intensely sweet.

The berry was later identifed by a botanist from Sierra Leone as Dioscoreothyllum cumminsii.

Artificial sweeteners are being more and more used in many food products, and the Food and Drug Administration is investigating whether they are a threat to the health if taken in large quantities.

* * *

Dr. Inglett said the new sweetener wouldn't necessarily be any safer just because it grows naturally. He said no tests on its toxicity had been run.

After treatment by an enzyme, the fruit product has a quality sweetness that is 1,500 times sweeter than sugar, Dr. Inglett reported. The widely used artificial sweetener, sodium cyclamate, is 30 times sweeter than sugar.

PIN-WORMS

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Birth-Control Clue in Mice

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) —At a renovated barn near the tree-shaded campus of The College of William and Mary, Dr. Richard C. Terman is seeking answers to the world's population explosion by studying the mating habits of 1,500 tiny deermice.

Under a grant from the National Institute of Health (NIH) Terman is investigating a self-regulating birth control mechanism in deermice, which apparently switches on when they are threatened by overcrowding.

The mechanism which triggers population control in deermice could probably evolve in people, Terman said, which would be undesirable.

"We must find ways of controlling our population before the biological controls take over," he said.

"There are apparently controlling mechanics which can evolve in all forms (of life)," Terman added. "Similar kinds of findings are being studied in the common housemouse, Norway rats and even birds.

Cadillac presents elegance in action!

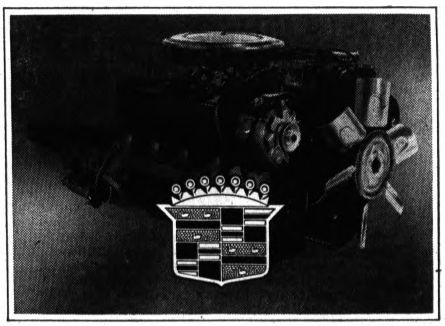
And the "inside story" for 1968 starts with the biggest, smoothest V-8 engine ever put into a production motor car.



Brilliant new styling • Dramatic new interiors • Totally new instrument panel • Concealed windshield wipers • Improved variable ratio power steering • New disc brakes available • Wide choice of eleven exciting new body styles.

Now, enter a new era of luxury car performance—with the biggest and smoothest engine ever put into a production passenger car—the completely new Cadillac 472 V-8. This new V-8 has the greatest torque, or usable power, of any passenger car engine and has the newest combination of engine components since Cadillac pioneered the V-8 fifty-three years ago. You will notice a brilliant improvement in passing performance that in no way compromises a huge reserve of power to operate all of Cadillac's usual power conveniences.

You will also be impressed with its amazing quiet—so remarkable that only its responsiveness reminds you that a great new engine lies under the hood.

Cadillac for 1968 provides, in addition, its well-proved triple braking system with finned drums that delivers smooth, straight stopping power. Front disc brakes are available for those who prefer the further refinement of an advanced disc-and-drum combination, and this year they're standard on Eldorado. You may also choose a greatly improved air conditioning system that moves more air more quietly.

There is a new instrument panel ... windshield wipers that disappear when not in use ... new brilliance of styling and interiors so beautiful and luxurious that they must be seen to be believed.

Whether your preference is for one of the more traditional models—or the classic beauty of the Eldorado—come discover new elegance and excitement in luxury motoring!

OU's First Lady to Be Sadly Missed

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

The first lady of Oakland University is gone. There are saddened hearts throughout the area and those who knew and worked with Matilda Wilson realize that there will never be her like again.

Mrs. Semon Knudsen who, with her husband, was chairman of the first Meadow Brook Music Festival says:

"She was a woman of tremendous vision and she never took herself too seriously. She was always outside herself.

"She was the outstanding woman in our area who did more and more as she got older rather than less. The Meadow Brook Festival is a wonderful memorial to her."

* * *

Mrs. Frank H. Boyer, president of the Village Woman's Club:

"Everyone loved her and we'll certainly miss her."

And Mrs. Marvin Katke, president Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, spoke for that group:

"The members of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association are deeply saddened by the loss of their dearly loved leader, Mrs. Alfred Wilson. Her unassuming, kindly and cooperative way set a shining example for fellow members to follow.

"Mrs. Wilson was a member of honor of the Bloomfield Hills branch and also of the Rochester branch, an honorary member of the Michigan Division and the immediate past national president of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. She was currently working on plans for the triennial conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

"She was always generous, fair-minded and willing to serve the causes in which she believed. Such inspiring leadership will be sorely missed."

Our contacts with Mrs. Wilson were mainly in connection with activities at Oakland University.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

We did see her at a surprise birthday party the Village Woman's Club gave her a couple of years ago. Now, it wasn't easy to outsmart Mrs. Wilson, but the women planning the party did.

It was great fun to glimpse her face as she walked into a group of well wishers singing, "Happy Birthday."

It wasn't easy to give her a present—this woman who had so much wealth that she could give a gift worth $10 million to Michigan State University.

But a gold charm for her bracelet always pleased her. At the VWC party it was a replica of the front door of the club; she was the president.

* * *

One night in the summer of 1966 we were invited to a pre-concert dinner party at Trumbull Terrace. Mrs. Wilson was there and was wearing her charm bracelet.

We asked her about all the charms. One had to with her many years of work with the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Several came from Oakland University. One was a copy of the cornerstone of Matilda Wilson Hall. We remembered the day she troweled mortar on the cornerstone. She thoroughly enjoyed such occasions.

HORSE LOVER

We never saw her drive her famous horses. But many times we saw her drive into Meadow Brook Festival grounds. We don't know how she drove those Percherons, but we'll wager it was with the same flourish as she drove a car.

Although she herself was not a college graduate, she will probably be remembered best in connection with a great educational institution, Oakland University.

Although she would have been the first to scoff at the idea of being in "high society," the great and famous sought her out and enjoyed her company.

* * *

One of her great loves was flowers. Always on social occasions at Meadow Brook Hall there were masses of flowers everywhere, usually picked from her gardens or greenhouse.

Each June after the opening concert of Meadow Brook Festival, a stroll through her rose garden was a must.

And how she loved her "kids" at Oakland University. We've always maintained that associating with them kept her young.

EVER YOUNG

The only way she was ever old was in calendar years. Her alert mind put many a younger person to shame.

She will probably become a legend at OU. But those of us who came in contact with her keen mind, her sense of fun and her tremendous interest in living are the better for it.

Past Presidents Are Honorees

Past Presidents' Day was observed with the following past presidents being presented with corsages: Mrs. Clarence Myers, Mrs. Hayden Henley, Mrs. Henry Simpson and Mrs. Lee Hill.

* * *

The project committee, under chairmanship of Mrs. Earle Hoskins, served the luncheon. Assisting were Mrs. H. M. Anderson, and Mesdames Rose, Simpson, Harvey May, A. P. Hudson, Myers, Leroy Hecox and Hill.

* * *

Announcement was made of the 49th convention of the southeastern district to be held in Royal Oak Oct. 10-11.

* * *

The hostess club will be the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs.

* * *

The first benefit luncheon, card party and fashion show is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Oct. 6 at Devon Gables.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Even Oldsters Have Problems

Lengthen Skirt, Shorten Visit

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an old lady of 71, and every time I visit a certain friend of mine her husband goes into raptures over what beautiful legs I have.

ABBY

Everyone says I have nice legs for an old lady, and now that I have been wearing my skirts a little shorter, I suppose they are more conspicuous, but all that talk from Milton about my legs is very embarrassing.

Not only that, but he is a camera nut, and is always wanting to take pictures of my legs.

I know he reads your column, so will you please tell Milton to act his age. He is 73 and still looking.

* * *

DEAR LEGS: Don't be too rough on your elderly friend. If you're truly embarrassed, the next time you visit your friend, make your skirt longer or your visit shorter.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem no one has been able to solve and I hate myself for it.

I am a sleeper. I just can't seem to get up in the morning. I have tried taking afternoon naps, thinking I needed more sleep, but that hasn't helped. I have a wonderful husband who gets the children up, sees that they're properly dressed, makes sure they eat a good breakfast, and get to school on time. He even looks after our little two-year-old until I get up.

Abby, I really want to get up in the morning like a wife should, but I can't seem to do it. No one can wake me up! I can sleep through anything.

I've been to all kinds of doctors, both mental and physical, and they have all turned me loose saying there is nothing wrong with me and they can't help me. If you or any of your readers have any suggestions, I'd be so thankful.

* * *

DEAR SLEEPYHEAD: If "all kinds of doctors" have been unable to help you, learn to live with your problem and don't feel guilty. You're lucky you were not sleeping when that wonderful husband of yours came knocking at your door.

DEAR ABBY: People are always asking me, "Where did you buy those shoes? Or that dress? And how much did you pay for it?" I never know how to get out of telling them, so I go ahead and answer their questions as though I were on a witness stand.

* * *

I suppose I could say, "It's none of your business," but I haven't got the nerve, so I find myself telling lots of things I really don't want to tell.

Have you a solution for my problem? I'm sure many others would like to know the answer.

Mrs. George Wyman of Kingsmill Road, another of the Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood, strikes a modeling pose in a glittering brocade minidress. The high-style collection was designed by students at Hadassah's Alice Seligsberg Vocational High School in Jerusalem.

Show Features New Styles by Israeli Students

An array of colorful, intricately-designed costumes are featured in a fashion show which will take place Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Temple Beth Jacob under the auspices of Pontiac chapter of Hadassah.

The collection of 27 new designs was created by students of Hadassah's Alice Seligsberg Vocational High School in Jerusalem.

In addition to its fashion training, the school offers courses in homemaking secretarial skills, dental and laboratory assistants' work, and arts and crafts.

* * *

Entitled "Today's Challenge — Tomorrow's Achievement," the collection includes high-style gowns reflecting the cultures of ancient communities; hand-loomed woolen suits; dresses of vibrant, hand-screened silk prints and lame cocktail ensembles.

Israeli dances and a satire called "Mostly About Women," an original dance by American choregographer Charles Weidman, will be performed before and during the show by the Festival Dancers of the Jewish Community Center under the direction of Harriet Berg.

Models of the new modes will be Mesdames Harold Bienenfeld, Herbert Bisgeier, Gus Cefelli, Harold Chapman, Herman Dickstein, Noel Goldberg, Ralph Merkovitz, Marvin Talan, Richard Wolfe and George Wyman.

* * *

Lorene Babcock, of the WWJ-TV "Living" Show, will be the fashion commentator.

Mrs. David Saks is chairman of the event, with Mrs. Irving Gordon, cochairman.

Sharon Snyder to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Snyder of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Sue, to William Michael Newman, son of Mrs. Margaret J. Newman of Muskegon and Raymond A. Newman of Dearborn.

Miss Snyder and her fiance, who is currently attending Wayne State University Law School, are graduates of Oakland University.

A late December wedding is planned.

Fashions inspired by the revival of the movie, "Gone With the Wind" are modeled for cochairmen of the benefit premiere who are brothers-in-law. From the left are Paul McKenney, Bloomfield Hills; Judi March of Southfield; and Robert VanderKloot, Franklin. The Oct. 18 event at the Madison Theater, Detroit, will raise funds for a new building on Northwood Institute's Midland campus.

More Units OK'd for Housing Project

Returning to the subject of rent supplement housing after a six-week delay, Pontiac city commissioners last night approved a higher concentration for a planned 520-unit project in the northwest section of the city.

In a 5-2 vote the commission gave approval to a request to add 200 more units on a 10-acre site northeast of Alcott Elementary School.

The commission move enables developer Charles L. Langs to seek federal funds for the 200 units. He already has received approval for 520 units on 40 acres surrounding the school.

Commissioners Robert C. Irwin, District 2, and John A. Dugan, District 5, voted against the proposal. Irwin claimed that the approval would lead to the creation of a ghetto.

★ ★ ★

Dugan, who voted with five other commissioners in April (Irwin abstaining) to approve the 520 units, said he felt another 200 units in that particular location would be too many.

RECOGNIZE NEED

The five commissioners, although not overly enthusiastic, voted in favor of the move because they saw it as an opportunity to get needed 3, 4- and 5-bedroom units into the planned project.

Irwin said, "We all recognize the need for this type of housing," but indicated that 720 units in one location was too many.

"If that's not the biggest dog-gone ghetto you're planning on the north end. I don't know what is," Irwin added.

★ ★ ★

He said the commission should attempt instead to get some of the approved 500 units constructed with 3, 4- and 5-bedrooms.

REFERS TO STUDY

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, countered: "The only thing wrong with this proposal is that we are only going to have 700 units."

He made reference to a recently completed housing study of Pontiac, saying that it shows Pontiac is short of all kinds of housing, including public housing and its variations.

Other commissioners spoke of the need and the opportunity to secure federal funds.

★ ★ ★

The rent supplement plan calls for federal subsidies to persons over 62 years old, those physically disabled, those displaced from former homes by disaster, governmental action or because of substandard housing. Income limitations apply also.

REQUEST DEFERRED

Langs, who asked approval of the extra 200 units in early August, has indicated that he will attempt to build three-, four- and 5-bedroom units in that phase. His request was deferred for study.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and U.S. Rep. Jack A. McDonald, R-19th District, have promised to attempt to get an extra appropriation for these 200 units so that the larger units can be constructed.

The government approved $409,000 in federal funds for the first 520 units but these are planned to be efficiency, one- and two-bedroom units.

★ ★ ★

Plans now call for the project to be constructed in three phases with further federal approval after each phase. The first, to begin any day, calls for 200 units.

MORE UNITS

If that is successful and the developer and government are satisfied another 175 units would be built. The third phase calls for 150 units.

Plans also call for the first 200 units to be occupied by persons requiring rent supplement. In the future the units could be occupied by those needing the supplement and higher income tenants not needing subsidy.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. expressed confidence that city officials could, in working with the Michigan legislators in Washington, get a good mix of 3, 4- and 5-bedroom units in the project.

★ ★ ★

Rent supplement housing, a relatively new and controversial program, has run into congressional opposition.

Although Congress so far has refused to pass a Johnson-requested appropriation bill to further the program, indications are that the congressional mood is changing and a appropriation will be made.

This would make it easier to secure the approval for Pontiac of the extra 200 units.

City Affairs

Sale of Park Land to GM OK'd

City commissioners last night approved the sale of a 1.72-acre parcel of Aaron Perry Park land to General Motors for construction of an electric power substation.

GM, in conjunction with Consumers Power Co., plans to construct the station by 1970.

The park is located south of Montcalm and east of Saginaw.

When completed it will transmit 120,000 volts for operation of electric melting furnaces in the Pontiac Motor Division foundry across the street from the park.

★ ★ ★

Officials said construction would cut down smoke, dust and dirt from the foundry operation. The property is not essential for recreation purposes, they said.

$15,100 PRICE

The land will be sold for $15,100, the amount offered by the Argonaut Realty Division of GM. This is within two appraisals of the land, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said.

Commissioners rejected four bids submitted for improvements to the sewage treatment plants.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service, recommended the city reject the bids because the lowest was $46,000 over previous engineer estimates and considerably more than allocated in a tentative budget.

Modified bids for installation of chlorination equipment at the East Boulevard plant and equipment to increase the aeration capacity at the Opdyke plant will be sought.

OTHER BUSINESS

Bids ranged from $136,390 to $162,370.

In other business, commissioners gave first reading approval to a change in the zoning ordinance which will give the city a greater degree of freedom in obtaining easements and rights-of-way for utilities and streets in multiple developments.

The city has been hampered in securing them because in most cases it seeks them before approving rezoning requests. velopers only have options on Most of the time, however, deland which are ocntingent on rezoning approval.

Since the developers don't actually own the land they can't deliver the easements of rights-of-way, Warren said.

WOULD ALLOW REZONING

The change would allow the rezoning and call for the dedications before final site plan approval.

The city manager also promised a report on a complaint lodged by a citizen at the meeting.

Lydia Kincade, 248 Bondale, said an area at the rear of her house was a home and breeding place for rats.

She asked that the administration take steps to eliminate the rats before her children were bitten.

BIG BROTHERS' LETTER

The commission received a letter from Big Brothers of Oakland County encouraging elimination of blight and substandard housing.

The organization said it is hampered in its activities because of wretched conditions which some of its charges live under.....

Commissioners also authorized sending the annual workable program for federal approval.

Man Ignored Own Advice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Raymond Farber had an embarrassing announcement to make at the closing session of a security council conference held here.

While he was telling of the latest advances in electronic devices for burglar detection, a thief climbed through a bedroom window at his home and stole $84.

Farber, who publishes a trade journal, "Security World," admitted his home was not equipped with a burglar alarm of any kind.

The population of California will increase by 1985 to 29 million perons if interstate migration stays at about its present level.

Our new Eagles aren't fly-by-nights!

We have just unpacked our latest shipment of Eagle suits for fall and winter.

And we would like to say that the styling is Today . . . without getting ridiculous about it. Which means they'll still be in style years from now. Lapels are trim, not microscopic. Shoulders are—well, the way shoulders should be. And the number of buttons goes from one to three, depending on where you want to go.

Fabrics? The whole handsome range from lustrous weaves to blends to pure imported woolens. And the colorings have to be seen to be applauded. So come in and see our timeless collection of Eagle suits. There isn't a fly-by-night in the flock.

'When We Can Least Afford It'

AMC Hit by Another Walkout

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—American Motors Corp., hit Monday by another walkout at its Milwaukee body plant, warned workers Tuesday that wildcat strikes are damaging the company "when we can least afford it."

The walkouts are receiving "nationwide publicity and notoriety," plant manager S. M. Reed said in a letter to 4,000 production workers, "at a time when we must make the most favorable impression on the buying public."

* * *

About 2,000 workers walked off their jobs after their lunch hour Monday, halting production in what Wallace K. Bruss, president of United Auto Workers Local 75, termed an unauthorized action.

About 3,000 took part in a similar stoppage Sept. 11.

The union ordered the men back to work in both cases. The company offered to meet to discuss grievances.

* * *

Reed said continued production was so important that disciplinary action would be waived against those "who have participated in the unauthorized work stoppages of the last week," but said the waiver would not apply to the future.

GM Is Stealing Market--UAW

Firm Denies Output Hike at Ford Expense

DETROIT (AP)—A top United Auto Workers Union official says General Motors Corp. is "stealing as much of the market" as it can while Ford Motor Co. is idled by a UAW strike.

GM is "piling on as much production as possible," said Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department. The company denied the charge.

* * *

With Ford shut down by some 160,000 UAW workers in support of demands for a new contract, Woodcock said GM's production of 1968 models "is greater now than at any time in other model starts."

Woodcock said he toured 13 cities having GM plants last week, meeting with local union officals.

'OUTPUT UNCHANGED'

"Our production schedule today is unchanged since before the selection of a strike target," a GM spokesman said.

The UAW has named Ford as the target for a labor contract that would replace the three-year pact which expired Sept. 6 and set a pattern for settlements at GM and Chrysler Corp. Contracts at the latter also expired Sept. 6, but the union has continued working without a contract.

* * *

Labor demands include a guaranteed annual income, a share of corporate profits, a "substantial" pay hike, boosts in fringe benefits and improved working conditions. Both union and Ford officials have indicated the strike would last a month or longer.

Meanwhile, bargainers decided Tuesday at GM to concentrate immediately on seeking at-the-plant working agreements which supplement national contracts.

LOCAL-LEVEL STRIKES

Strikes in support of demands on such local-level agreements crippled GM for periods of up to five weeks after national contracts had been settled in 1958, 1961 and 1964.

Both sides at GM agreed to forego bargaining on a national contract for at least two weeks while negotiators aim toward settling local-level demands at the firm's 200 plants around the nation. Company and union staff members from Detroit are planning to step in and help speed talks at 75 of the plants where a GM spokesman said about 25,000 demands are unsettled.

The meeting Tuesday at GM was the first since the UAW struck Ford. The union and Chrysler have not decided yet when to resume bargaining.

Ford and UAW negotiators again put noneconomic issues on the agenda for their meeting today.

His Influence Lingers in D.C.

Heller Advises Surtax

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Walter W. Heller retired in 1964 as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, but his advice has continued to flow as if he had an open conduit to Washington.

CUNNIFF

From Minneapolis, where he is a professor and a banker, Heller has continued to influence public matters, bringing some fame to his bank and school and, it is assumed, wisdom to those who listen to his advice.

In the opinion of some New Frontiersmen, at least, Heller has a legitimate claim to the status of oracle, for he was chief economist when the Kennedy administration challenged some conventional views on taxes.

* * *

In the early years of this decade Heller recommended a tax cut although the budget was glowing red, the economy was already fairly prosperous and a conflict in Vietnam was burning up more and more money.

ECONOMY'S POTENTIAL

Heller believed then that the economy was capable of still more capacity if freed from the rein of restrictive taxes. As a result, taxes in 1964 and 1965 were cut by about $20 billion.

As forecast, the demand for goods rose, production expanded, and more rather than less tax revenue poured in. The tax base had grown.

* * *

This was not unique, for taxes had been cut several times before to spur an economy capable of noninflationary expansion. But for various reasons the 1964 tax cut was the most dramatic use of the concept.

HARDSHIP AT HOME

Unfortunately, Heller could not spur his own economy. He resigned in 1964, claiming that in order to advise the federal government on finances he had to borrow $16,000 in three years to feed his family.

This week Heller, the man who cut taxes, came out with some strong words in favor of raising taxes.

* * *

In his role as economist with the National City Bank he urged that: "If Congress fails to enact the surtax, brisk expansion threatens to turn into a galloping advance that would make a 3 per cent rise in the Consumer Price Index the very least we could expect in 1968."

SURTAX BENEFITS

"If Congress prudently passes the 10 per cent surtax, it will sharply improve 1968 prospects by:

"—Bringing the expansion of demand back to a sustainable rate;

* * *

"—Opening up enough breathing space for monetary policy to operate effectively without a drastic new credit squeeze;

" — Providing more elbow room for the most urgent domestic probelms."

Heller has held some of these views on the present economy for many months. Even before the Johnson administration suggested a surtax last January, Heller had been recommending the same thing.

SPUR TO INFLATION

Heller is saying, in effect, that to attempt to spur more output from the present economy might produce only inflation instead.

Nevertheless, he feels, the federal government needs a surtax to fight "the good fight against inflation and ghettos, side by side with war in Vietnam."

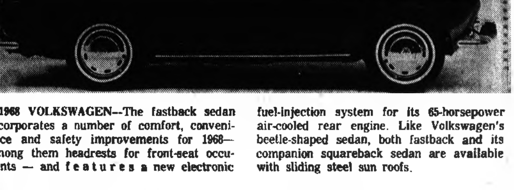
* * *

He concedes that Congress may look at events differently, but he ignored the vastly changed political climate when he observes:

"One wonders why Congress, which had the gumption to enact some $15 billion of tax increases in 1950-1951 to finance the Korean conflict, should now balk at a much more modest increase."

* * *

These then are some of the arguments for a tax increase by the man who built a big reputation on a big tax cut—who perhaps helped to produce the boom now forecast, a boom the administration feels can become inflated and perhaps burst.



1968 VOLKSWAGEN—The fastback sedan incorporates a number of comfort, convenience and safety improvements for 1968—among them headrests for front-seat occupants — and features a new electronic fuel-injection system for its 65-horsepower air-cooled rear engine. Like Volkswagen's beetle-shaped sedan, both fastback and its companion squareback sedan are available with sliding steel sun roofs.

'68 VW Has a Slightly Different Look

The familiar Volkswagen "beetle" has taken on a slightly different appearance as a result of the dozens of changes engineered into it.

Major technical improvement for 1968 for VW's third group of vehicles, its fastback and squareback sedans, is an electronic fuel-injection system.

The new Volkswagen goes on sale Friday at the following area dealers: Autobahn Motors, 1765 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, and Bill Golling VW, 1821 Maplelawn, Troy.

The 1968 model includes the addition of built-in headrests designed to give front-seat occupants of all VW sedans and Karmann Ghia coupes protection against whiplash injuries.

* * *

Other safety features built into the VW sedans for 1968 include higher and stronger bumpers and safety rim wheels. The new bumpers also shorten the VW sedans over-all length by an inch and a half to 158.7 inches.

Although the box-shaped VW station wagons and trucks retain their practical, rectangular shape, their corners have been rounded, a one-piece wraparound windshield has replaced the original split-window type, small slide windows have given way to "picture windows" and a 3½-foot-wide sliding door replaces double swinging doors used on previous models.

* * *

The 1968 station wagon models are five inches longer than last year's, now measuring 174 inches.

* * *

Other improvements in the 1968 VW station wagon and truck line include a 57-horsepower engine—up slightly from the previous 53 hp—a new rear suspension and a 16-gallon fuel tank, increased from the 10.6-gallon capacity of the past.

Edison Firm's Revenues Up

Detroit Edison's gross revenues were $407,382,859 for the 12 months that ended Aug. 31, 1967. Gross revenues for the corresponding period of 1965-66 were $383,642,060.

Net earnings of the company for the 12 months through Aug. 31, 1967, were $60,174,380, or $2.09 per share on the 28,831,790 shares outstanding at the end of the period.

For the previous 12 months, which ended Aug. 31, 1966, net earnings were $59,169,207, or $2.05 per share on 28,826,250 shares outstanding at the end of that period.

Food Dealers to Eye Crime, Riot Causes

BOYNE MOUNTAIN (UPI) — Michigan food dealers are going to focus attention on the causes of crime and riots when they meet here Sept. 24-27 for their annual convention.

* * *

Don E. Taylor said yesterday the Michigan Food Dealers Association will concern itself with that problem" because businessmen and especially food dealers in Detroit and other larger Michigan cities have been badly hurt by both crime and riots in the past year."

News in Brief

Charles Gayette of 4000 Silverbirch, Waterford Township, reported to township police today the theft of a door off his car, which was parked in his driveway.

Lino Garcia of 17 Baxter told Pontiac police late yesterday that someone entered his home by cutting through a screen and stole two watches valued at some $85 from his bedroom.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEARS

Q) "I am a school teacher, 50, and plan to retire in 10 years. I am strictly an amateur when it comes to stocks and I have read your column diligently. You mention Bristol-Myers; American Hospital; Holiday Inns; Gillette; Borg-Warner; Southern Rwy.; C.I.T. Financial; International Harvester; Pacific Lighting and American Tel. & Tel. Which would you choose if I wanted three or four?" L. B.

A) All of these issues are good in their class, I believe, but each has been mentioned here for different purposes. It is most important at this time that you decide on an investment objective and buy stocks strictly in line with that goal.

The first four stocks you list are classified as fast growth issues, providing low current income but a strong potential for increasing your principle over a period of years. The remainder are mainly income issues although Harvester and Borg-Warner have considerable appeal for long-term appreciation. In your particular situation, income should be a secondary consideration and in spite of market risks involved at current high levels, I suggest you buy Bristol-Myers, American Hospital, Holiday Inns and Gillette, in the expectation that you can enhance your capital over the next 10 years and then switch for higher yield in retirement.

* * *

Q) "I would like your opinion on investing in Florida land in a community being built by General Development. I hear good reports on this company. What is your judgment?" F. C.

A) I regard General Development as a thoroughly reputable concern in its field. It is partly owned by City Investing, a major New York real estate operator, which is planning ultimate control. I would make no investment in land, though, without a personal checkup on my proposed purchase including location, utilities and tax situation.

McDonald Gives Support to Police Benefits Bill

Citing his support of the recent passage of the law enforcement officer benefit bill in the House, Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th district, said today "It is time to recognize that police do not cause riots — they prevent them."

McDONALD

"It is time," said McDonald," to reaffirm our confidence in our police departments.

The new measure provides benefits to state and local police or their suvivors, when the officer is disabled or killed while apprehending a person who has violated a federal law.

"Throughout the U.S., the men who constitute our first line of defense against the encroachment of the lawless deserve the respect and support of the citizens they swear to protect," McDonald said.

* * *

"The passage of the Law Enforcement Benefit bill serves as such a reaffirmantion," he added.

"Policemen must exercise the acumen of a socialogist in dealing with explosive situations," said McDonald. "He must demonstrate the expertise of a constititional lawyer in questioning individuals suspected of criminal offenses. And must have the impartiality of a judge."

The policeman, said McDonald, is called upon to protect the rights of demonstrators and, at the same time, is often the target of those who feel their rights are being denied.

Before the end of 1967, U. S. motorists will have driven about two billion miles in rented automobiles.

Youth Is Fined $75 in Break-In

A 17-year-old youth pleaded guilty to a reduced charge yesterday in connection with an Aug. 19 break-in at H and H Auto Sales, 7675 M59, Waterford Township.

* * *

Gordon E. Myers of 26 Edgelake, Waterford Township, pleaded guilty to entering without permission at a hearing before Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead. He had been charged with breaking and entering.

* * *

Myers was fined $75 and ordered to pay $25 court costs.

A hearing for a second suspect in the break-in, Jerry R. Rowsey, 19, of 8226 M59, White Lake Township, will be held Nov. 14 before Hempstead.

* * *

Automobile parts, valued at $125, were taken in the break-in, according to township police.

Robbery Try in Waterford

A Waterford Township resident told township police a youth armed with a small knife attempted to rob her at about 9:30 last night.

* * *

Barbara Martin of 1104 LaSalle said she was walking home from the Pontiac Mall, where she is employed, when she was confronted by the youth at the Boston-Rogers intersection.

* * *

She told police the hoodlum grabbed her by the arm and warned her not to make any noise or he would use the knife.

She said she managed to escape his grasp and run home safely after the youth tried to grab her purse.

* * *

The youth was described as about 17 years old, 5-10 or 5-11, huskily built with dark hair and wearing dark clothing.

New miniantennas are being developed which will in the future be installed in television sets, eliminating rabbit-ear and rooftop antennas, as well as adapted to spacecraft and super sonic aircraft.

Post Office to Welcome the Public

The public is invited to an open house at the Pontiac Post Office, 735 W. Huron, highlighting Postal Services Day tomorrow.

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., has proclaimed tomorrow as Postal Services Day in tribute to "postal employes who daily perform many thankless and unrecognized tasks that benefit us all."

Also on Postal Services Day, letter carriers will begin delivering to every householder a kit of eight postal cards which can be mailed back to the post office to obtain the zip codes for "zipless" addresses.

Each card will be sent to the post office which services that address needing a Zip Code. The proper Zip will be added and sent back to the householder. No postage is needed on the cards.

* * *

"Zip Code is the key to better service and we want to make it as easy as possible to obtain the codes needed to fill out personal mailing lists," Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson said.

$130 in Stereo Gear Stolen From Auto

Stereo tape equipment valued at more than $130 was stolen from an Avon Township youth's car while parked in the General Motors Truck and Coach Division lot on East South Blvd., it was reported early today.

* * *

Eugene Harden, 19, of 2860 Devondale told Pontiac police a stereo player, an earphone and two tapes were taken from the car.

* * *

Investigators said entry was made by unlocking a door with a wire-like device.

For Bond Issue

School Borrowing OK'd

Pontiac's school system has been given the go-ahead to borrow $3.82 million for a bond issue — the last issuance of bonds without voter approval.

The State Public Service Commission gave Pontiac approval to issue the bonds for the new elementary school at the Lincoln Junior High School site, one or two units of the planned Human Resources Center and other school rehabilitations and additions and site acquisitions.

School districts are permitted to borrow up to 2 per cent of their assessed valuation without getting citizens' approval.

Pontiac has now used up its limit — $9.1 million — and school officials say it's probable they will have to go to the voters this spring for additional issue of bonds and or increased millage.

Report Issued on Bus Usage

The number of passengers using the Pontiac Transit Corp.'s buses rose in August from the previous month but is down from August 1966, according to a monthly report.

The report, received by the City Commission last night, shows a slight rise in revenue and an increase over the July in the average fare.

The average fare has gone steadily up since February (21 cents) to 24 cents in June, 25 cents in July and 26 cents in August. This has gone up as the number of passengers, generally, has decreased.

The company operated buses for 31,737 miles last month, carried 48,293 passengers and received revenue of $12,466, up from July's 28,579, $11,252 and 44,580 passengers.

* * *

In August 1966, the average fare was 24 cents, the miles 28,310, the revenue $12,182 and the passengers, 50,169.

Considine on Vietnam—3

Pacification—a Subtler War

(EDITOR'S NOTE—How effective is the unheralded war—the war called "pacification"? American correspondent Bob Considine discusses this vital question in the third in a series of firsthand reports assessing the war.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

SAIGON — Buried somewhere in bunker-surrounded "Pentagon East," the U.S. military and aid headquarters recently completed on the edge of attack-prone Tan Son Nhut Airbase, is a computer that keeps the box score on Vietnam's war-within-a-war.

CONSIDINE

This quiet and seldom-publicized conflict is called the pacification program.

Its black-pajamas troops, if they can be called that, are mostly Vietnamese, men and women, trained and salaried by the U. S. Their mission is peaceful but they are tagged with the bristling title of Revolutionary Development Groups.

There are 470 of them in action, each made up of 50 technicians, skilled and semi-skilled workers.

The computer is so sophisticated that it can print a daily map of South Vietnam showing the number, location and condition of security of this nation's 12,500 hamlets.

* * *

It is from the populations of those rural and remote places that the Vietcong squeeze the manpower, rice and money they desperately need to pursue their war against the Saigon government and its several active allies.

SIMPLE AS THAT

If we win the shooting war but fail to put over the pacification program and neglect to make straight the path of the revolutionary development groups, we blow our immense investment in blood, bone and billions.

It is as harrowingly simple as that.

The war-within-a-war is not as far along as Gen. William C. Westmoreland's No. 1 war, the shooting war in which half a million Americans of all services are engaged.

There is a breath of a hint that there may be a break of some sort in the war by Christmas, and almost surely by the next U.S. elections. The estimates about the subtler but equally important war are much cloudier.

MAN IN CHARGE

I had a talk recently with the man in charge of this difficult undertaking. He is Robert W. Komer, formerly of the Central Intelligence Agency, now holder of the title of Gen. Westmoreland's deputy for civil operations and revolutionary development support.

The trim 45-year-old product of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration has ambassadorial rank in what Robin (the Green Berets) Moore would call "the country team," our coordinated military-political - diplomatic-aid-intelligence delegation to this far-off land.

The computer had just coughed up the day's map. The box score was not one calculated to impress an innocent bystander.

* * *

Of the 12,500 hamlets of Vietnam only 168 were shown to have a Class AAA rating, according to the computer. A Class AAA hamlet has a solid mayor, good local government, adequate defense, and its Vietcong infrastructure — the enemy underground — has been demolished.

CLASS BBB

The map showed many more Class BBB hamlets.

"They are hamlets with a little less development but just as much security," Ambassador Komer explained. "Class CCC hamlets, which you can see sprinkled here and there, still constitute something of a threat but have a high degree of government control. Classes DDD and EEE are still strictly contested."

I noticed a Class V. The Vs were as thick as a swarm of gnats in An Giang and An Xuyen, the southernmost region of the country, and, also quite prevalent in the central highlands.

* * *

"They are all VC controlled," the ambassador said. He said it matter of fact, not with any resignation in his voice.

"We're winning them over steadily," he continued. "It baffles us over here to read in some American newspaper, or hear on the air, that we are mired in some gigantic stalemate. We're not. There's an incredible intellectual lag afoot at home.

"The enemy once could move in on a strategic hamlet the day it was completed and either take it over for himself or destroy all that the people had put together with our help. He was in charge.

"Now we chase him, secure the hamlet and — most important — keep it secured.

* * *

"We're spending 10 times as much money on rural construction and betterment than we did in the days when the original strategic hamlet program was advanced in 1962 and 1963. It's the best investment we make over here.

VIETNAMESE PLAN

"This is a Vietnamese plan carried out by Vietnamese with our aid.

"The people of a hamlet liberated from the VC are in no mood to welcome us with open arms. They fear that the VC will come back when we leave and take revenge on all who cooperated. So Vietnam troops are stationed there to maintain security, and then come the revolutionary development groups.

"They wear the black pajamas of the countryside. They speak the language. They have been recruited from that general area, so they have relatives and friends in the hamlet. They bring medicine, food and know-how.

* * *

"They have been trained by us in first aid services, have a knowledge of land reform, are proficient in improved methods of farming, and what not.

LISTEN TO GRIEVANCES

"They listen to the grievances and aspirations of the people of the hamlet, who may want a bridge, a road to a better market area, a dam behind which to acquire a fishery, a school, a bona fide teacher. We move in the supplies; the local people do the building.

"The whole program is fortunate in having at its head one of the best men in the country, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Hong, a real whizbang—honest to the core. He spends most of his time in the field."

The ambassador's brow furrowed.

* * *

"But our critics back home seem to feel that as long as there isn't total security there's no security at all," he said. "They don't seem to sense that it isn't that the VC can blow up a bridge: It's how quickly we can repair it.

SIGNIFICANT TRENDS

"They miss significant trends, too.

"For example, in 1965 the war was largely in IV Corps, the south. Now half of the enemy activity is now North Vietnamese, as opposed to hardly 10 per cent in 1965. This means that we're drying up the enemy in the south; the VC recruitment there has fallen off 50 per cent. We've opened 90 per cent of the key roads in daytime, with convoy, and 45 per cent without convoy.

"There are other barometers. In 1965, about 11,000 enemy troops came over to our side, most of them with their weapons. The Vietnamese call them 'Rallyers' and do not treat them as prisoners of war.

* * *

"Last year the total was 21,000. As of Sept. 1 of this year the figure is 22,000. It could go as high as 40,000 by the end of the year.

COUNTER GUERRILLAS

"Some of these people have gone into revolutionary development work. Some are part of the Kit Carson scouts, working as counterguerrillas in the areas they know best. Still others have been formed into armed propaganda teams.

* * *

"The cost is peanuts. It costs us $127.12 per rallyer, as opposed to Sen. Richard Russell's estimate that the cost of killing one ofthem in combat works out to something like $300,000. We've got the cheapest program in Vietnam.

* * *

"Cumulatively, we're grinding this guy, this enemy, down to the nub. We're winning. . ."
