Safe Driving Urged at Start of Long Holiday

Thousands of Pontiac industrial workers were set today for a long holiday, starting with Independence Day tomorrow and extending through Sunday.

Production at the city's three largest plants was scheduled to drop off following today's afternoon shift, with only maintenance personnel and a few key workers remaining on the job.

The four-day holiday schedule affects Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body and General Motors Truck & Coach Divisions. Smaller industrial plants were following suit.

Businesses generally will observe the Fourth of July holiday and then revert Friday to normal business hours, said the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

An exception is barber shops, which will remain closed from tonight to Monday morning.

Oakland County offices will be closed Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. City offices, however, will reopen Friday after closing down for Independence Day.

Banks will observe the July Fourth holiday and then reopen for normal hours Friday and Saturday.

Law enforcement officials renewed their pleas today for safe driving over the long holiday period.

The National Safety Council estimates that 45 million motor vehicles will be rolling on the nation's streets and highways. That's 13 vehicles for each mile of the entire street and highway system, but they won't be spaced that way. On many routes they'll be bumper-to-bumper.

The Council also predicted that 535 Americans will lose their lives in traffic during the holiday period that begins at 6 p.m. local time tonight and ends at midnight Sunday.

That number would top the record of 491 fatalities set during the four-day celebration of Independence Day in 1950.

The NSC made a study of traffic deaths during the 1956 Labor Day weekend and found:

The most likely victims are men between the ages of 25 and 44.

The most hazardous period is between 6 p.m. and midnight early in the holiday period while the traveler is en route to his destination.

Speed is involved in 7 out of 10 fatal accidents.

Drinking is a factor in almost half the accidents.

Eight of each 10 of the accidents occur in a rural area.

In Oakland County, in addition to increased road patrol work by the State Police and sheriff's office, the Red Cross has announced it will have 75 first aid specialists manning Oakland County roads today, tomorrow and Sunday.

The Red Cross personnel will be stationed at 10 locations in the county from 1 to 10 p.m. each of the three days.

They will maintain telephone contact with police road patrols and give first aid help where possible, officials said.

The 75 workers will be stationed at the intersections of Square Lake Road and Telegraph; U. S. 10 and 15; Updyke and Walton; Union Lake and Commerce; West Maple and Telegraph; Airport and M59; Rochester and M59; Dixie Highway and Telegraph; and two spots on Dixie Highway.

The state highway department announced that five vessels will supply continuous service between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace at the Straits of Mackinac over the Fourth of July weekend.

Departures are planned on the half hour or at more frequent intervals during peak traffic periods.

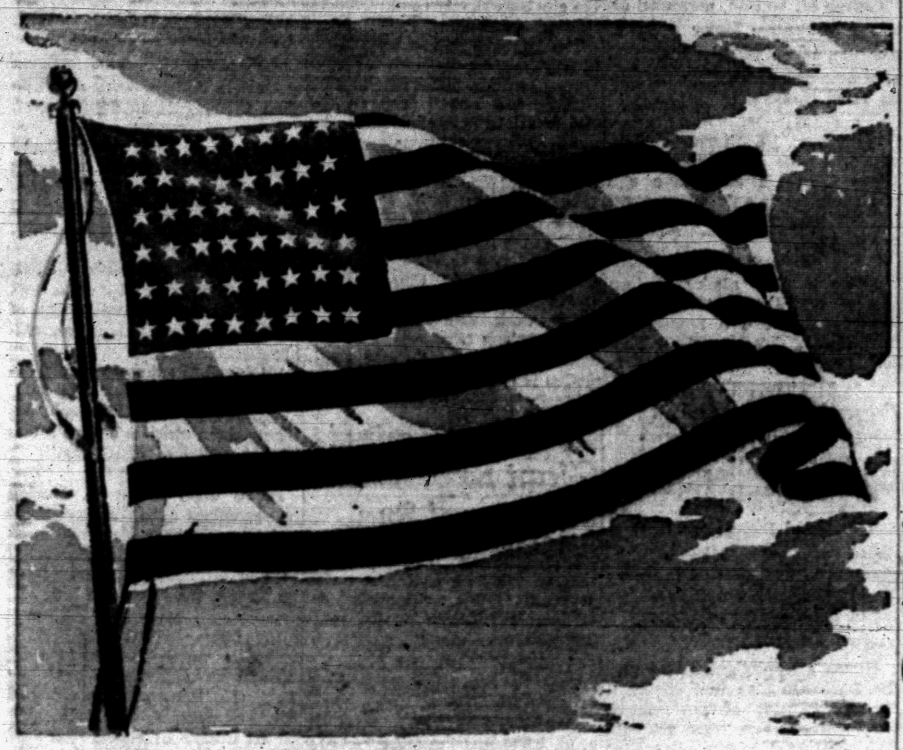

The department also said all road and bridge construction work, except emergency construction, will be suspended from noon Wednesday until Monday morning in order not to interfere with the crush of traffic.

World Influence at Stake

Can U.S. Meet Challenge?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

This Fourth of July finds American world leadership faced with a grave challenge.

Such portents as the outbreak of anti-American rioting in Formosa and the steady undercurrent of anti-Americanism in underdeveloped areas point up the development of a new phase in a fateful battle of ideas.

At stake in the battle is a vast well of good will and influence built up over nearly two centuries of American democracy and enhanced by the enormous impact of the United States abroad since World War II.

World communism recently threw out new challenges to the spread of the American idea. Principles embodied in the Declaration of Independence, to which the signers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, are being brushed aside by the Communists as meaningless.

SEES SOCIALISM

Communism's chief spokesman, Nikita Khrushchev, has told the world Americans a generation or two hence will cast aside the belief that all men are entitled equally to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and will voluntarily adopt a Soviet-like system.

The Soviet military machine has crushed a Hungarian revolution sparked by a notion that governments instituted among men derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

The United States remains a beacon for the yearnings of people in less lucky lands. But in the maze of cold war politics—disappointment, disillusion and bitterness have provided ammunition for a stepped up attack on the American idea.

That idea took shape 181 years ago, in a square, high-ceilinged room in Philadephia's old state house on Chestnut street. There a group of patriots signed a document which set a world revolution in motion. The revolution is still going on.

The world then was divided among imperial powers. Britain, Spain and Portugal ruled much of it. Ottoman Turkey held all the Middle East. Russia had Alaska.

The American rebellion had immediate impact in France. From

Firm in Monroe Fights Injunction

Asks Court to Nullify Writ Obtained by UAW to Halt Moving

MONROE (AP) — The Monroe Auto Equipment Co. has asked Circuit Court to dissolve a temporary injunction obtained by the United Auto Workers Union to keep the company from moving machinery from Monroe to its plant in Hartwell, Ga.

Judge William J. Weipert Jr. set a hearing for 3 p.m. today. The judge denied a union request for a four-day postponment.

The company said the Circuit Court lacked jurisdiction and should dismiss the union's complaint.

UAW Local 878 said the company violated a contract with the union by attempting to move machinery without the union's permission. The company said the contract already had been breached by the union and was no longer in effect.

A company spokesman said no jobs would be lost at the Monroe plant by moving equipment to the Georgia plant. He said the equipment, loaded on seven gondola cars, had not been in use and duplicates other machinery in the plant.

William D. McIntyre, general manager and vice president of the firm, said there was no intention of abandoning the Monroe plant unless, he said, "the union failed to stop its harassment."

Pickets from Local 878 stood guard over the weekend to prevent movement of the machinery. A union spokesman said the company imported 25 men from Georgia to load the equipment.

The Monroe plant, which once employed 1,400 workers, has reduced its work force to 325. The plant has been closed down for annual inventory but will reopen Monday.

Senate-House Battle Looms on Defense Bills

Billion Dollar Difference in Fund Appropriations Must Be Worked Out

WASHINGTON (INS) — A hot fight was foreseen today among Senate-House conferees over a billion dollar difference in the defense money bills approved by the two bodies.

The Senate passed a 34½ billion dollar measure last night without a dissenting vote, after beating down two stiff attempts by the dwindling economy bloc to tear it down.

The total is about a billion dollars more than the House approved during the height of its economy drive, and is just about the amount President Eisenhower stipulated was essential to finance his defense program.

However, the total is expected to be chopped several hundred million dollars by the conferees in order to reach a compromise agreement.

Attempts on the floor last night to cut the appropriation by a half billion dollars, and by 182 million dollars, were overwhelmingly defeated.

The most votes the economy bloc could muster were 24 in favor of the latter amendment, with 11 Democrats and 13 Republicans joining forces. Only seven votes — all Democratic — were cast for the half billion dollar reduction.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La), a member of the Appropriations Committee, commented that "It is apparent the economy wave has dwindled to a ripple."

The Senate bill would give the Air Force $16,384,093,000, or $560,873,000 more than the House voted. The Navy would get $10,054,255,000, which is $252,900,000 more than the House approved, and the Army would receive $7,397,156,000, or $157,731,000 more than the house.

Also approved by the Senate were amendments that would:

— Direct Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to eliminate waste and overlapping in the non-combat activities of the military. The hottest debate on the bill came over denunciations of Pentagon waste.

— Direct the Pentagon to award contracts to the lowest bidder on a competitive basis whenever practicable.

Want Police Probe Left to Commission

Any investigation of the Pontiac Police Dept. should be left to the newly-appointed Civil Service Commission, city commissioners said Tuesday night.

Six commissioners issued the following statement: "Since the Civil Service Commission is the duly-constituted forum advocated by the Police Officers Association and approved by the voters, it seems logical that an investigation of the alleged complaints should be conducted by that group before we seek the services of other sources."

The statement was signed by Commissioners John E. Carry, Mayor Pro-tem John A. Dugan, Floyd P. Miles, Roy V. Cooley, Philip E. Rowston, and Gilbert W. Long. Mayor William W. Donaldson is on a Denver vacation.

The commissioners preferred a joint statement when asked individually whether they favored an "outside" investigator to look into recently disputed affairs of the department.

"Since all of us agreed along the same line we decided on signing one statement," said Rowston, who drafted the statement and acted as spokesman for the group.

The Press in a Monday editorial recommended an investigation. It mentioned former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard as a possible choice for the study.

Five prominent citizens yesterday endorsed the Press' proposal.

City Attorney William A. Ewart last night ruled that Civil Service Commissioners Gerald Guinan, Theodore Carlson, and Stuart Austin have the authority under the state law to perform such an investigation.

This opinion was concurred with by Paul L. Meredith, attorney for the Police Association.

It is this association which has asked for a probe of the department. With this request, Association members vowed to unseat Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, based on alleged charges against him."

Property Losses in Millions; 400 Die in 2 Villages

Stricken Area Covers 50,000 Square Miles; 100 Towns Destroyed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Rescue workers came across the bodies of 400 victims in two earthquake-devastated villages in northern Iran today. The discovery boosted the over-all death toll to 750. More than 3,000 persons are missing.

The rescue workers uncovered the victims in the villages of Tighband and Sangchal. They had not been listed in previous reports.

Property losses also were huge from yesterday's quakes ranging over a 500-mile arc in northern Iran extending up to the Soviet border.

The quakes spread death and damage over the Elburz mountain range, along the Caspian Sea's southern edge and up to the Soviet border on both sides fof the sea.

Iranian officials estimated the property loss at more than 12½ million dollars.

100 VILLAGES DESTROYED

More than 100 villages were described by officials as wiped out and nearly 50 more partly damaged.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, who is vacationing in Switzerland with Queen Soraya, ordered large scale relief operations for the stricken area, estimated to cover 50,000 square miles.

No fresh tremors were reported today but the frightened populace slept in the streets and fields last night.

Many roads were destroyed as a result of landslides. Telephone and telegraph lines were down between the small towns and villages of the stricken area. Messengers on horses provided the only means of communication.

There was no word of what happened on the Soviet side of the border.

OIL CENTER NEAR

The Soviet Union's big Baku oil production center is on the western side of the Caspian.

The string of popular resort villages ringing the base of 18,600-foot Mt. Demavend, 35 miles east of Tehran, apparently felt the brunt of the shocks. Reports said a quake lasting more than two minutes flattened most of these centers.

The village of Navak, near Firuz Kuh, was reported destroyed. The fate of its 310 inhabitants was unknown.

Other dispatches said 40 persons perished in Polour Larijan, 12 in Firuz Kuh and eight in Demavend.

The quakes shook Tehran slightly damaging the Justice Ministry and the Central Railway station.

The longest shock lasted 30 seconds. No casualties were reported in the capital.

Plan Production of New Missile

Contract for Pilotless, Jet-Powered Bomber Awarded by Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today that it has ordered quantity production of its Snark intercontinental guided missile — a jet powered pilotless bomber.

It announced the award of a 73-million-dollar contract to Northrop Aircraft, Inc., and said operational units of the Strategic Air Command will receive the missiles as they come off the production line at Hawthorne, Calif.

The Air Force said the eight-ton missile, powered by a J57 turbo jet engine, is "designed to carry a nuclear warhead at high speeds and high altitudes" over intercontinental ranges, which means about 5,000 miles.

The Snark uses an "air breathing" engine. That means it must travel within the earth's atmosphere.

This is in contrast with the projected ballistic missiles, whose trajectories will carry them into the edges of space and hurl them through the air at speeds of many thousands of miles an hour.

The Air Force decision to go ahead with full-scale production of the Snark seems to emphasize previous predictions that the advent of a reliable intermediate or long range ballistic missile having a range of 1,500 to 5,000 miles is still far enough in the future to warrant proceeding with mass manufacture of a slower interim weapon.

The sharply swept-back wings of the Snark have a spread of 42 feet. Its length is 74 feet.

Nuclear Missile Base Guards Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — The Fifth Regional Air Defense Command announced Tuesday that a new guided missile base, capable of handling nuclear weapons, has been established at Fort and Pennsylvania in Riverview near Detroit. It is equipped with six launching platforms instead of the usual three.

The command said the double site will be equipped with the nike Ajax missile. It added there were indications the site also will be stocked with the nike Hercules, a new missile capable of carrying a nuclear warhead.

Will Rise 100 to 200 Miles

First Big Rocket 'Shoot' Set

NEW YORK (AP)—A huge Fourth of July skyrocket tomorrow goes seeking new freedoms and powers for mankind.

What it learns could help bring the new freedom of space travel. Or tap a new source of chemical energy high in the air over our heads. Or help control weather and disastrous storms.

This skyrocket is not the kind set off to awe and please kids.

It's a 24-foot-long monster, an Aerobee H1, powered to rise 100 to 200 miles and radio back knowledge of the skies. Scheduled for launching at Ft. Churchill, Canada, it will be the first of the biggest "shoots" in rocketry during the International Geophysical Year.

Altogether IGY will see some 400 rockets big and little whooshed up by the United States, Russia, Britain, Japan, France and Australia to check on the earth's air and its remaining mysteries.

Air is a vital domain, especially the first six or seven feet in which we breathe. Our air rises hundreds of miles, with 99 per cent of it compressed within the first 20 miles.

The one per cent above that is a fantastically complex chemical and electrical cauldron created mainly by the sun's energy, explains Dr. Peter H. Wyckoff of the Air Force Cambridge Research Center, Boston.

This high thin air is the home of the ionosphere, the electrified air that makes radio broadcasts possible; the home of the dazzling Northern Lights, and a storage battery of vast chemical energy if it can be understood and put to use.

What happens up there vitally affects our weather too.

Balloons can rise about 30 miles, and tell much. Rockets supply probing fingers to learn a lot more. All knowledge will be shared among all 61 nations cooperating in the IGY.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What do you need to know about isobars, in reading a weather map? What are isobars supposed to tell you, anyhow?

Isobars are merely lines which have been named by man to designate places of equal pressure. They are simply drawn through the various points reporting the same barometric on a weather map — so they denote pressure.

Other clues can be found in the lines which cover every weather map. If these isobars are close together, that means that pressure changes are rather great, since the pressure is different just a short distance away — from one line to another.

In such cases winds are likely to be high, and bad weather — rain or storm — could be the result. The numbers you see along these isobars indicate the pressure. Forget about what the numbers mean; that will only confuse you.

Concentrate, instead, on the higher and lower numbers. The highest ones denote high pressure — good weather — and the lower ones bad weather. Beware of low numbers and lines close together. This combination adds up to trouble.

Perfect Vaccine to Combat Flu From Orient

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York World - Telegram and Sun said today that six U. S. drug firms have perfected a vaccine to combat Asiatic flu.

The paper said all of the firms expect to be producing the vaccine in "commercial quantities" by October, when the epidemic threat is due to reach its peak.

Immunization will be assured most persons, the paper said, through one inoculation at a probable cost of $1.20 to $1.50 a dose. In some cases periodic booster shots will be needed.

The six companies were named as American Cyanamid Co's. Lederle Division; Parke, Davis; Ely Lilly; the Pitman - Moore unit of Allied Laboratories; Vick Chemical's national drug divisoon, and Merck.

The six companies worked independently in developing the vaccine. One source said they were helped immeasurably by the fact that the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., had isolated a strong strain of the virus at an Army base in the Orient. The virus then was distributed to the firms.

Government agencies already have ordered at least four million cubic centimeters of the vaccine, the newspaper said. It was said that in general the vaccine will prove effective against the most likely types of attack — A and A prime. It still is undetermined whether it will immunize against type B.

Dulles Warns of Soviet Last Lap

Sees Red 'Death Throes' Over Perilous Nine Years

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has advised President Eisenhower privately that he believes the threat of Soviet Communism will disappear within the next nine years.

At the same time, however, Dulles sounded a grim warning that the early 1960s can be a particularly trying and dangerous period while the Russian Bear grapples with the death throes of Communism.

This personal conviction was undoubtedly what the secretary had in mind at his news conference, when he confidently predicted that Soviet Red Boss Nikita Khrushchev's "posterity" will live in freedom.

Dulles declined to predict to newsmen exactly what time limit he has set on the death struggle of international communism. However, he is known to believe that this second decade of the cold war will be its last.

The secretary's brother, Central Intelligence Chief Allen Dulles, also is known to feel that the Soviet leaders themselves inadvertently set off the fatal chain of events when they decided to educate the Russian people, and particularly the scientists.

CIA Director Dulles has advised top-level administration sources that these next nine years will see a continuation of unrest in the satellites, more breakaways from the Soviet orbit, and increasing internal crisis for the Kremlin bosses.

Secretary Dulles, in White House discussions, has stressed the historical precedents pointing up the fact that despotic regimes have been most dangerous in their "death throes."

Official to Spurn Mackie Hearing

Kavanagh Says He's Already Given Opinion on Qualifications

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh says he very likely will spurn an invitation to take part in court proceedings to determine whether John C. Mackie is qualified to hold the job of state highway commissioner.

Kavanagh said yesterday he had received a letter from Robert Childs, attorney for the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, asking him to join in a court test of the issue.

"I already gave my opinion on the matter last February, and that is that Mackie is fully qualified for the job," Kavanagh said, "I see no reason why I should take part in further proceedings."

The engineering society said it would try to oust Mackie through a Supreme Court suit. It claims state law requires the commissioner to be a "registered professional engineer."

Mackie says the law specifies the commissioner must be a "competent engineer" and that he meets the requirement as a surveyor and civil engineering graduate of Michigan State University."

The society tried earlier to have the Supreme Court remove Mackie from the April 1 election ballot on the same ground. Its removal petition was denied.

4-Day Search Ends as Plane Spots Body

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP)—A low-flying airplane yesterday ended a massive four-day search when it spotted the body of Cheryl Lea Johnston, 5, floating in the Rouge River near this southern Oregon town.

About 2,000 persons had searched for the girl since she disappeared Saturday from a picnic area along the stream.

Her body was recovered about three miles downstream from where she had been attending a children's picnic. She was dressed in a bathing suit.

Coroner Virgil Hull said the child apparently had been in the stream about three days.

Firm Discovers Shortages in Funds

DETROIT (INS) — Raymond F. Giffels, president of the engineering-architectural firm of Giffels & Vallet, said today an audit showed substantial shortages in company funds, presumably through embezzlement.

Giffels said any estimate of the losses "over a period of years" could only be guessed at because the audit ordered when he became president hasn't been completed.

He succeeded Victor E. Vallet who retired from the firm, one of the largest of its kind in the world, on Jan. 1.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor William R. Bolio said a company spokesman stated the amount missing "might run into thousands."

The firm, with offices in downtown Detroit, employes 1,000 persons. Its projects include the $49,000,000 Convention Hall under construction in Detroit's new civic center.

5 Drown in State as Holiday Starts

ATTEMPTS RESCUE

Glen Batchelor, 70, Cincinnati, Ohio, drowned in Houghton Lake when he dove into the lake in an effort to rescue his 16-year-old grandson who had been run over by a boat. The grandson was rescued by other boaters.

Meanwhile, state and county police continued to drag Green Lake near Traverse City for the bodies of three fishermen presumed drowned when their boat upset Monday.

State police identified the missing as Melvin Gill, 33, Mesick; Wallace Harrington, 27, Rochester; and Dorothy Brown, 26, also of Rochester.

Four Injured in Crash as Auto Strikes Pole

Four persons were injured in a Commerce township accident early today when a car driven by Richard L. George, 33, of 8730 Albany St., Oak Park, ran off Cooley Lake road and struck a utility pole.

George and two others were treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with minor cuts and bruises. They were George's sister, Lois, 29, of the same address, and Thomas McGrath, 22, of 18451 Plainview St., Detroit.

The remaining passenger, Edith Cuzelis, 32, of 714 S. Oakman Ave., Detroit, is reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital with head cuts and a possible concussion.

Value of Woman's Estate Set at About $6 Million

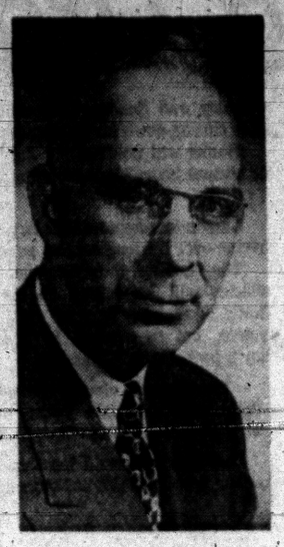

DEDHAM, Mass. (INS) — The will of the late Mrs. Grace Knight Babson of Wellesley was on file today in Dedham Probate Court and disclosed an estate valued at $5,864,615.

Mrs. Babson, wife of statistician Roger W. Babson, died April 30 at the age of 82. She amassed much of her fortune independently, starting with a $600 savings account 50 years ago.

She was closely associated with her husband's business ventures.

One third of the estate was left to her daughter, Mrs. Edith Babson Mustard of Wellesley Hills; one third to Webber College at Lake Wales, Fla., and one third to a charitable trust.

Active in civic affairs, Watson is vice president of the Pontiac Kiwanis Club and a member of the board of directors of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

Can America Meet Global Challenge?

the two revolutions, along with the example of British parliamentary government, the world revolution began its ceaseless progress.

ADOPT IDEA

France's revolutionaries adopted the American idea that liberty is the prime goal of government. Their doctrine that "men are born free and equal in rights" echoed the Declaration of Independence.

To Spanish-Amricans, the example of their northern neighbor was electrifying. As country after country hacked away colonial shackles, their constitutions frequently copied that of the United States in form. The liberator Bolivar viewed the United States, particularly after the 1823 Monroe Doctrine, as a protecting wing for all Western Hemisphere independence movements. U.S. policy was for quick recogition of those revolutionary governments, and this outraged the courts of Europe.

In the Eastern Hemisphere, however, the real United States impact was not felt until the 20th Century. It reached huge proportions after World War II. The good will toward the United States was so pronounced in Asia and Africa just after the war that any hint of American support for a colonial power would bring a wave of bitter disillusion.

When newly independent Indonesia emerged, its regard for United States example was evident in such manifestations as the appearance on Indonesian postage stamps of the likenesses of American revolutionary heroes. Echoing the Declaration of Independence, Indonesia's constitution pledged the people "happiness, prosperity, peace and freedom."

If admiration is reflected by emulation, there is much evidence of around the world, even Communist countries.

In Japan there are glittering American-style supermarkets to serve a new generation of baseball fans. Manila looks and acts in many ways like an American city. There are American-style nightclubs in Rangoon, replicas of main street ice cream parlors in Bangkok, hamburger and juke joints in Beirut, American soft-drink signs spotting the Egyptian deserts, snack bars in Paris, American automobiles everywhere, American universities turning out statesmen for Middle East countries.

LIKE OLD MODELS

The automobiles on a Moscow street remind one of the American product of 15 years ago. Youngsters in Leningrad smuggle in jazz records and ape American ways. Belgrade radio constantly blares the latest popular American tunes.

But these are superficial aspects of American influence. The impact goes much deeper.

The cold war had brought cold realities. To build defense against steady Communist encroachments on free nations, it would be necessary to have the wholehearted support of allies. At the same time, to ward off Red encroachments on former colonial areas, it would be just as necessary to give those people some token of support for their aspirations.

Enemies of the American idea seized eagerly on the dilemma, intent on exploiting it to the full. They may not hope ever to match the extent of the American impact throughout the world. They probably do hope, by playing upon impatience, disappointment and envy, to challenge the world leadership of the United States.

The Day in Birmingham

Pierce Street Residents Protest All-Day Parking

BIRMINGHAM — A petition signed by 16 Pierce street families with a total of 34 children is asking city commissioners to limit parking between Brown and Frank streets.

The practice of all-day parking, they point out, leaves the street solidly lined with cars on both sides. Besides the inherent danger this brings to their children, residents point out the difficulty and hazard it presents to them as they try to enter or leave their driveways. Pierce is one of the heaviest traveled north-south streets out of the business area west of Woodward avenue.

Commissioners told petitioners the area is included in a major traffic survey now being made. City Manager Harold K. Schone and Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley will, however, have a special check made and report their findings next Monday.

Permission to cross 14 Mile road to Cranbrook road with a sewer line has been granted Bloomfield Township by the city of Birmingham.

The township is contemplating the construction of a lateral sanitary line to the sewage treatment plant on Cranbrook. It is proposed to construct it in the immediate future to service the Valley Woods School near Lahser road and south of 14 Mile road.

Township officials assured commissioners that the work would be done at no cost to Birmingham.

Victor Peck and Eugene Barry have been named to fill vacancies on the Birmingham Plan Board. Their appointment was confirmed by commissioners Monday night.

Commissioner Florence Willett, named to work with groups and individuals in the beautification of Shain Park, reports plans progressing rapidly.

"It is not yet time to reveal details of the program," she said, "but I am sure it will be something Birmingham officials and residents will be proud of and enjoy."

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley has promised action on reports of violators who have placed business signs on city property. According to city ordinance, all signs must be located inside the lot line.

Baby Girl Hammond

Service will be held at 11 a.m. Friday in Huntoon Chapel for Baby Girl Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hammond of 624 Cherry Ct., here, who died three hours after birth in St. Joseph Hospital Tuesday.

The infant is survived by her parents and a brother, Eugene, and sister, Linda, all at home.

6-Inch Concrete Saves $92,000 on City Project

Two inches sliced off the planned concrete paving of Featherstone and Columbia avenues will save the city $92,000, city commissioners learned last night.

The commission heard tabulation of new bids for the work after rejecting earlier bids for placing pavement 8 inches deep on the two arterials. First bids were far above estimates, officials said.

Commissioners approved a low bid of $262,536, submitted by G. Tocalino & Sons.

The pavement will be six inches thick in the middle of the avenues, and thickened to eight inches at the intergal curbs, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn explained.

The work will include storm sewers along the one and six tenths mile project, he said. Completion is expected in late fall.

Scientists Detect Giant Explosion on Face of Sun

ROME (AP)—Another giant explosion on the face of the sun was observed today. Scientists described it as "one of the most powerful ever seen."

The Swedish-operated observatory on the Isle of Capri noted the explosion at 8:22 a. m. (2:22 a. m. EST) and immediately flashed word to the European headquarters of the International Geophysical Year in Holland.

Officials there said the Capri observation was the first to be made in Europe of this latest in a series of solar explosions which began June 28. The sun flares are bombarding the earth with magnetic hurricanes and electric storms, creating widespread radio blackouts.

The Capri scientists said the first effects of the sun blast will be felt before dawn Thursday (10 p. m. EST Wednesday).

Dismiss One Charge Against Rippe

DETROIT (AP) — Charges that Harold Rippe, former Taylor Township supervisor solicited and received $6,000 in bribes were ordered dropped yesterday by Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara.

The judge, however, ruled that extortion charges against Rippe would be submitted to a jury which has ben hearing evidence on both counts against the 45-year-old politician who quit office rather than face an ouster hearing.

The jury was scheduled to begin deliberations today on the extortion count. A conviction could bring up to 20 years imprisonment.

Both bribery and extortion charges were preferred against Rippe by a one-man grand jury investigating governments of down-river Detroit communities.

Hoffa-Fischbach Trial Continues Into 11th Day

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Bribery-Conspiracy trial of No. 2 Teamsters union chieftain James R. Hoffa and Miami attorney Hyman I. Fischbach moves into its 11th day today.

Government's key witness, New York lawyer-investigator John Cye Cheasty — who has testified that he was hired by the two defendants to spy for them from the inside of the Senate Rackets Committee staff — continues on the witness stand.

The federal court will recess until Monday after this afternoon's session.

News Flash

HASTINGS - ON - HUDSON, N. Y. (INS) — Mystery today shrouded the slaying of a Hastings-on-Hudson youth while his parents and a younger brother were away on a Florida vacation. The nude and battered body of Robert Rusch Jr., 18, was found in the blood-spattered bedroom of his parents' fifth floor apartment in the fashionable Hastings Terraces. Furniture in the lavishly decorated apartment, police said, was smashed and broken as though a terrific fight had taken place.

Capital Plans Warm Welcome for Tourists

WASHINGTON — The nation's capital has ordered a new stock of welcome mats.

With the blessing of the federal government, the District of Columbia seeks to attract visitors with a "Summer Jubilee," inaugurated this year.

Bunting, flags, and special hotel rates will flower throughout the city. The jubilee will feature patriotism, history, music, theater, arts, and sports amid the traditional attractions of Washington.

Noting a steady increase in the number of Americans visiting their capital, Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, has called for even more pilgrimages, especially by young persons.

"The more our people visit the cultural institutions of Washington," he said, "the greater their understanding will be of the things that have made our country great.

"Pride in country is one thing that every Washington visitor, young or old, takes home with him. As greater and greater numbers of our citizens visit here annually, greater numbers become more proud of America's past, more aware of America's present, more dedicated to America's future."

The Jubilee, June 15 through Labor Day, will include many special events as well as summer series of concerts, plays, baseball games, historical tours and art exhibits.

On the schedule are spectacular fireworks display at the Washington Monument on July 4; the President's Cup Regatta, with week ends of canoe, swimming, and sailboat races leading up to the climactic powerboat competition, Sept. 21 and 22.

Semifinals in the Miss Washington contest will be held July 21, July 29, and Aug. 5, with finals scheduled for Aug. 12.

Among the more popular magnets for Jubilee visitors will be the old faithfuls — the Capitol where, if Congress is in session, they can see laws being made; the White House, open from 10 a.m. to noon Tuesday through Sunday; the inspiring marble memorials to Jefferson, Lincoln, and Washington; the Library of Congress, with its exhibits and unparalleled book collections; the Washington Zoo; and various government offices, such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The hospitable FBI shows visitors its scientific methods of crime detection; agents demonstrate pistol and submachine gun firing.

Another great attraction, the Smithsonian Institution, has modernized many of its displays and is steadily improving others.

Across the Potomac River are the Pentagon, the Iwo Jima Memorial, and Arlington National Cemetery, with the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. George Washington's Mount Vernon is a short trip down river.

The effect the sponsors hope the Capital will have on visitors has been summed up by Dorothea Jones in her recent book, "Washington Is Wonderful." She writes:

"If, standing off looking at the glowing Capitol dome lifted almost like a crown into a fading twilight, you suddenly realize that you are 'posterity' — the one that Washington and Jefferson and all the others knew would come along some day to receive all this — you'll never be quite the same again."

Upper Peninsula Becomes Laboratory

Geologists Probe Ditches

MARQUETTE (AP) — A farmer living north of Moss Lake in Delta County got a surprise the morning of June 14.

He was going about his chores when a caravan of cars drove into his farmyard.

The farmer approached one of the drivers.

"I think you're looking for U.S. 2. It's over that way," he said.

But the 60 people in the cars weren't looking for a major highway. They wanted a side road.

WENT TO DRAINAGE DITCH

At the farmer's direction, they drove a short way further, stopped and got out of their cars with small picks in hand and began chipping at the rock in the bottom of a drainage ditch.

The rock was part of a giant continuing table of rock of the Silurian Era. This period, which geologists believe started about 315 million years ago, lasted 30 million years. In this era the seas spread repeatedly.

The passengers in the cars were members of the Michigan Geological Society, on their annual excursion. Scientists from the Midwest and Canada, representing state and federal governments, universities and industrial firms were in the party.

Michigan's upper peninsula provides a bountiful laboratory for geologists.

Rocks of the pre-Cambrian Era are visible in the western half of the peninsula and rocks of the Silurian and other eras in other sections of the peninsula.

The Cambrian period, which began about 550 million years ago, is cited by geologists as a major dividing line in geological history. It was in this period, they believe, that shelled animals first became common.

The table of rock inspected by the scientists in Delta County extends into Wisconsin and Illinois and into northern Indiana, and east to Ontario and Western New York.

Won Nickname 'The Brain'

Gruenther Served 30 Years

By International News Service

During his 30 years in the Army, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther won the nickname "The Brain" and was called "one of the most brilliant men in the service."

For five years, at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe, Gruenther used his brains and talent for organization to guard against the man-made disaster of war.

CLEAN UP

Now, as president of the American Red Cross, he is using them to help clean up and repair the nature-made disaster of Hurricane Audrey in Louisiana.

Gruenther took a first-hand look at the area yesterday. And if the experience of officers at SHAPE is any guide, the staff of the Red Cross already has received a goodly supply of terse memos, each marked "for action."

At SHAPE, they sometimes numbered 75 a day and were affectionately known as "gruenthergrams."

WEST POINT

The 58-year-old Gruenther went from Nebraska to West Point, was graduated fourth in his class, and from 1919 to 1941 served in routine peacetime assignments. Among them was a term of eight years as instructor and assistant professor at West Point. For this he got the nickname, "professor."

During this same period, he earned an outstanding reputation in his hobby—contract bridge. He once was well known as a tournament player and referee, and is now best-known as a regular partner of another former SHAPE commander, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The President first became aware of Gruenther's brilliance when "Al" became deputy chief of staff of Allied Force Headquarters in Europe in mid-1942. Gruenther held top staff jobs throughout the war in Europe and afterwards in Washington.

Gen. Eisenhower took him to Paris as his chief of staff when SHAPE was set up in 1951 and gave him the top post in 1953.

When Gruenther retired last fall, he was offered many high-paying posts in industry. One reason, it was reported, why he took the Red Cross job was that it would put him in Washington and give him the time to be an unofficial adviser to his long-time boss.

Gruenther is married, the father of two sons.

Frostbitten Kitten Back on Feet Again

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Snowball —a real cool cat if there ever was one—was reported doing quite well today.

A veterinarian said the four-week-old kitten should recover. It had spent a night in a food freezer.

Mrs. L. C. Nunnally said the kitten apparently jumped into the freezer when her 9-year-old son, Billy, opened it to get some ice cream.

Next day Mrs. Nunnally opened the freezer — and out hopped the kitten on "stilt-like legs."

To Honor Magsaysay

GUAM (AP)—Marbo, a camp for 1,500 Filipino workers employed by the U.S. Air Force, will be renamed Magsaysay Village tomorrow. It will honor Ramon Magsaysay, late president of the Philippines.

The capital of Mexico, Mexico City, is located more than 7,000 feet above sea level.

The first passenger elevator was believed installed in New York in 1857.

Gals Must Rough It on the Mayflower

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — From the moment your foot skids off the wet wooden plank of a rope ladder, leaving you clinging only to prayer and the hand of a brownish man with a reddish beard—you realize this is the time of decision.

Do you board the "Mayflower II" for a floundering fling at the past? Or do you back out now, and return to the luxury of safety and an even-keel stomach?

But you find you are committed to sailing aboard the Mayflower now, and there is no way to back down—not gracefully. It's up and over the side to join Capt. Villiers and his rock 'n' roll crew, or it's your derriere in the drink.

Aboard the picturesque ship, which at first appears to be the size of your living room and a few hours later seems considerably smaller, the spirits are high. This is the first time women have been permitted aboard and an air of gaiety persists. Well, if not gaiety, amusement.

In the prow of the ship, a "ladies' room" has been installed among the tow-lines and leftover potatoes. And two sleeping compartments have been set aside for the girls.

Yours is a bunk three feet above another bunk. It measures five feet long, which means draping the feet just a trifle. It is 20 inches wide, which necessitates a certain amount of other draping. No door, but a spare blanket and hooks.

Aft of the bunk room, there is a main cabin, equipped with an oak dining table, cushion-covered benches and a small quantity of books to keep busy those who can read on the bias.

The most worn and appreciated of these are three Holy Bibles, a novel called "Virtue Undone, or the Carefree Smuggler" and "Night Runners of Bengal."

The kitten which perches on a volume called "Les Girls" is Felix, ship's cat. He is black and cuddly of appearance, though seafaring of disposition. Meaning he lists slightly as he walks, and he spits—though never into the wind.

The 21 crewmen are suspicious at first of the women (though the women are perfectly disguised in disarray and slack slacks to make them indistinguishable from nonentities) but quickly the sailors lose their embarrassment and begin to sing hymns. And other numbers typical of seafarers.

FARE IS DANDY

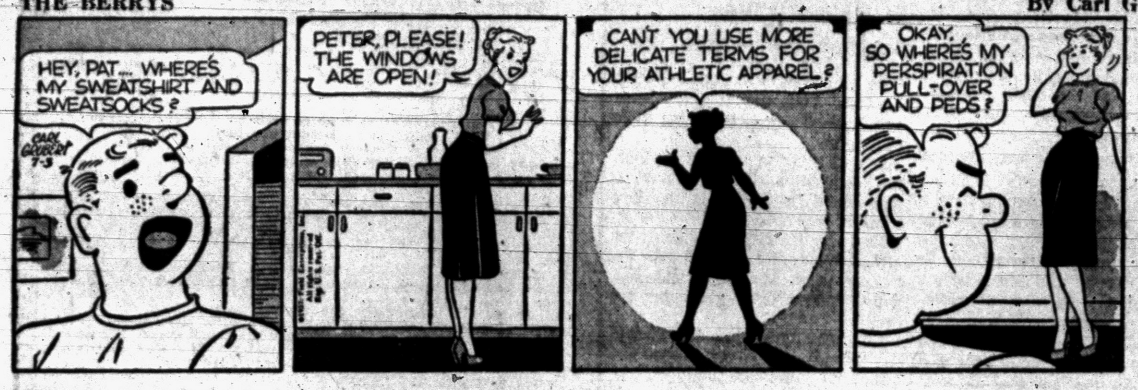

At dinnertime, the fare is dandy: Sardines on toast (Piece de Felix), cold beef and tossed green salad. With Skotch and coffee.

The entertainment for the girls in the evening is attempting to cold-cream their faces without mirrors.

Vanity being an unaccepted Pilgrim trait, added to the more practical fact of the matter that nobody thought to hang looking glasses where rain slickers should be, causes the 20th Century women a great deal of justifiable worry.

It's a wonderful experience, though. Chance of a lifetime to relive the memory of Miss Oceanus Hopkins, the little lady who came over on that first Mayflower four centuries ago.

Disarmament Talks Couched in Generalities; Accord Far Off

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big bang — the explosion of nuclear weapons being tested — may still be heard on the Fourth of July a year from now.

The United States and Russia have made a little progress toward agreeing on an end to the tests and on disarmament. Both sides have made some concessions.

That's a long way from real or final agreement. They're talking mostly about general principles now. The whole business may blow up when they get down to details.

This country is laying down conditions the Russians may refuse. And the Eisenhower administration itself seems divided on whether there should be agreement.

That probably explains in part why Harold Stassen — representing this country at the disarmament talks in London — has been so long getting to the point.

This step-by-step story shows where the two countries have shifted ground and where they are now:

This country has consistently argued any general agreement on disarmament must be accompanied by an inspection system in the United States and Russia to prevent cheating. The Russians had consistently opposed letting outsiders inside Russia.

At the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva in 1955 President Eisenhower — as a step towards reaching agreement on a full inspection system — said both countries should agree to inspection by each other from the air.

The Russians laughed at the idea of aerial inspection. But last Nov. 17 Premier Bulganin wrote to Eisenhower, agreeing to some sky inspection, and some ground inspectors at control points — like airports and railroads.

He linked these things with a reduction in the armed forces of the two countries — he said they should cut down to 2½ million men — and with an end to nuclear weapons production and testing.

But in January the United States, going before the United Nations, laid down its position which remained the American position until recently. This was it:

First, an agreement to end the production of nuclear weapons. That would require an inspection system. After production definitely had stopped, there could be an agreement on ending nuclear tests. That, too, would require inspectors.

This country took notice of Bulganin's proposal for cutting the armed forces to 2½ million men but said that would require inspection too. In short, inspection all the way.

In March the disarmament talks were resumed in London among the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada. Stassen talked for this country, but not much. The talks dawdled for weeks, on all sides.

But Secretary of State Dulles a week ago made it clear that one agreement depends on another. And where that leads no one knows. The full American position hasn't been laid out yet. Nor has the full Russian position.

The disarmament talks still can blow up when the United States and Russia get down to talking on how they'd actually carry out anything they agreed to in principle.

Prisoner Disappears but Returns Truck

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Salveneous Eugene Laws, 29, of Graham, an honor prisoner at the county prison farm here, was supposed to take a truck from Farm 1 to Farm No. 2.

Hours later, he called from Danville, Va., to tell officials the truck was there. So it was. But Laws, who had only 16 days left to serve, was not. He hasn't been seen since.

Firemen's Comment: 'Just Like a Woman'?

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Catherine Freeman was 250 miles from home when she remembered her electric coffee pot was still connected.

So, from Niagara Falls, N.Y., she called the Kalamazoo Fire Department.

Firemen climbed through an upstairs window to her apartment and pulled the plug. The pot was hot and dry but there was no damage.

Right Answers to Pot-O-Gold Worth $1,500

You're a rare one indeed if you can pass up an opportunity to win $1,500, especially when it takes no more effort than Pot-O-Gold. Besides the chance of winning all that money, you'll find you have lots of fun trying to outwit the puzzle people. Read all rules and clues carefully.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Had More Than Duty Involved in This Arrest

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—More than duty was involved when juvenile officer Robert Dunkeson arrested a 13-year-old boy at nearby Citrus Heights.

Dunkeson said the unnamed youngster admitted a string of 15 burglaries over the last three weeks. The boy hit Dunkeson's house five times for loot ranging from soft drinks and ice cream to rings.

"I had to catch the kid," Dunkeson said. "He was stealing me out of house and home."

CHAPTER 33

I didn't wake until nearly noon, when Red and Curly slammed in, cursing the cold and pounding circulation back into their legs and arms.

"No fire," Curly said disgustedly.

I sat up and rubbed my face, feeling as if I had not slept at all. I said, "I shot and killed, Gene Dillingham last night."

They stood rigid; then Red muttered, "By God, it was a long time coming, Will."

I told them how it had been.

Red got the fire going and the three of us stood around the stove. Then we heard Maria pounding on the triangle, announcing dinner. As we left the bunkhouse Red said: "Ben Sawhill came back with us. He was in a hurry to get here this morning."

We went into the warm kitchen and I asked about Sarah. Maria said she was in the front room with Sawhill.

When we finished eating, I said, "I hate to send you boys back into the cold, but there's a couple of chores that's got to be done. One of you will have to take Dillingham's body to town. The other one has to go to Canon City and tell the sheriff."

With that settled, they left the house, and I went into the front room. Sarah and Sawhill were sitting in rocking chairs in front of the fireplace holding hands. The wheel chair was not in the room. Sawhill rose when he heard me come in, and nodded gravely.

"We were waiting for you, Will," he said. "I'll eat my dinner while Sarah talks to you."

Sarah sat with her head bowed, her hands clasped in her lap. Then, very slowly, she lifted her head and stared at me, and I was shocked by the haggard expression on her face.

"It's not easy for me to say I'm whipped," she said, "but I am. I've never understood how some people can live for such simple things. Joe—happy as long as he kept settlers out of the valley. . . . John—with his silly colony. But you," She shook her head. "You aren't simple-minded."

I expected her to try to explain how she had been able to walk the night before, but that apparently wasn't in her mind at all. She would ignore it, I thought, just as she had ignored so many other things. There was only one world to Sarah Pardee: her world as she wanted to see it.

I said, "I don't know how simple-minded I am, but I can tell you what I want. I want to live on the Box P. It's home to me. I'm that much like Joe. I can't go off and leave it the way you've told me to. Once I started feeling that half the ranch was mine, I couldn't keep from making plans. Changes that I think would be improvements—"

"Will." She held up a hand. "Will. I should have told you this first. Ben explained it and I understand. You love the Box P. I don't. Besides, you saved my life last night. It's only fair that I leave. I'll sell my half to you. Talk to Ben about it. Any price that he agrees to will satisfy me. Is that all you want? Are you as single-minded as Joe was?"

"You know what else I want," I said. "I want to bring Nela here as my wife and raise a family and . . ."

"Yes, Will, I know," she said passionately. "Maybe there was a time when Joe felt that way, too, but he began growing in the wrong direction. Don't let it happen to you. I'm going to marry Ben. Give me until tomorrow noon. Then bring your wife here. Grip and hold tight what you want, Will, and never let it go."

Her hand closed into hard little fists on her lap. "I wrote to Nela last winter, you know," she said, "and Nela wrote to me, but all that time it never occurred to me you'd fall in love with her. I encouraged her to come with John. Isn't it funny, Will, how you help to bring about the very thing you don't want to happen?"

She got up and walked to me and put her hands on my shoulders, the old softness and beauty returning for a moment to her face. "You did something for me no one else had ever done. You filled a place in my heart that had been empty for as long as I could remember. I bought you with my love, Will. You never knew, but that's the way it was. I owned you, and then when I saw how you felt toward Nela and how she felt toward you." She swallowed. "No use to try to tell you what it did to me."

I backed away a step, but she followed me. "It will be different with Ben," she went on. "He loves me. Maybe he'll be able to give me what I've needed." She put a hand up to the back of my head and tipped it forward. "As long as you've been here, Will, you've never kissed me."

So I kissed her, her hands holding me with possessive strength, and all the time I was afraid Ben Sawhill would come through the door. Then she wheeled and walked toward the kitchen door, heels clicking sharply on the floor. I turned and went out through the front door, feeling sorry for Ben Sawhill.

I got Dillingham's money belt and saddlebags from the bunkhouse. When I started toward the barn, Red was loading Dillingham's body into the wagon. He stepped into the seat and took the lines. When I reached him, he said: "There was something I aimed to say, Will, but you got to telling how you plugged Dillingham and I plumb forgot. Costello and Brahams and some more — six of 'em, all told — was in Alton's place last night with me and Curly and Sawhill. They'd chased some settlers down ahead of us, you know. They claimed they was gonna clean the West Fork of every clodbuster —"

I started to swear at him, and then I stopped. He said, "Well, now, you've got no call to—"

"I'm sorry, Red." I started toward the corral, on the run. I called back, "I wish you'd told me when you first got here."

He sat there while I threw the saddle on my bay. When I rode out of the yard, he was still sitting there. Then he yelled, "Will, I'll come along if you're gonna need another gun."

"This is a job I've got to do myself," I shouted back at him, and went down the slope toward the road.

I rode as fast as I could; but there were places where the snow had drifted across the road, and it was all my horse could do to wallow through. I felt I had to stop at Kathy Morgan's place, even though time was all-important.

I ran across the porch and went in without knocking. Kathy lay on the couch, and when she heard me come in she lifted herself on one elbow and blinked at me.

"You were wrong," I said. "Sarah's alive, but Dillingham's dead." I threw the heavy saddlebags on the couch. "There's your money!"

She grabbed the saddlebags and hugged them to her breasts. "Poor Gene," she whimpered, and began to cry.

"You've got your money, Kathy," I said slowly. "Sarah is leaving the valley. You can't hurt her any more. Now you're getting out. I'll give you twenty-four hours. If you're not gone . . ."

"I'll be gone," she said. "Nothing to stay for now. Get out of here, Will — get out and leave me alone."

I obeyed. Mounting, I rode across the bridge. When I reached the junction of the road that came up the creek from Alton's Trading Post, I saw that a band of horsemen had come up the canyon and turned west. I felt certain Costello would go after Mathers, knowing that if Mathers left, the other settlers would follow.

I kept on, driven by the knowledge that this was the last job to be done and the most important one. Our future depended upon it. If we could not live in peace with other cowmen, neighbors we had known for years, there was no hope for the valley.

When I reached Mathers' cabin, I still had no idea what I would find. Six horses were in front, four with men mounted and two with saddles empty . . .

How can Will prevent what he fears will happen in Mathers' cabin? His story reaches tense suspense in the conclusion of "Gunlock" tomorrow.

Czechs Invite West Residents to Vacation in 'Hunters' Paradise'

PRAGUE (AP)—They are inviting gun-carrying Westerners to Communist Czechoslovakia. Czech officials boast that this country is a "hunter's paradise" and there are many who agree.

Hunting in Czechoslovakia has become one of the most exclusive—and most expensive—hobbies of Western Europe's upper brackets. French Marquis, British business executives, Swedish industrialists and German brewery owners shoulder their guns to travel to this dollar-short Red nation.

And the Czechs claim a conducted safari in South Africa is kid stuff compared to hunting brown bears and wolves in Carpathia.

To those who are less keen on breath-taking adventures but would like to register a big bag, they offer pheasant and hare shooting with certified bags that surpass all West European standards.

Accommodations offered range from simple wooden hunting lodges in the Carpathian Mountains to a ballroom-sized bedroom in a Moravian castle. The costs range from $5 to $11 per person daily, including food.

The high cost of a hunting trip to Czechoslovakia makes it quite an exclusive affair. "Basic fees" range from $1.20 for a hare to $1,500 for a seasoned bear. Stags also are among the expensive game, with a 16-antler species costing more than $1,000.

U. S. Churches to Give Aid to New Immigrants

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. churches have been called upon to provide expanded programs of pastoral care to refugees and other immigrants newly settled in their communities.

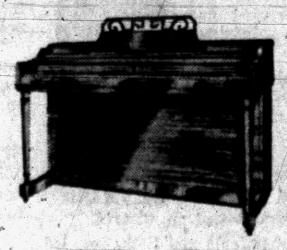

The Rev. M. Bengt Hoffman, Geneva, Switzerland, director of the Department of World Service of the Lutheran World Federation, says churches face loss of thousands of communicants if they fail to develop programs to welcome the newcomers into the churches and community life.

Membership in OTC Vital to U.S. Trade

President Eisenhower repeatedly has requested Congressional approval of U.S. membership in the proposed Organization for Trade Co-operation (OTC) but all action has been blocked by high protectionists.

Congress failed in 1956 to act on a bill authorizing participation in this international organization which administers the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and to which the U.S. has been a party since 1948. Its aim is to foster trade by reciprocal trade concessions and adherence to nondiscriminatory standards.

Last year GATT was adhered to by 35 countries representing 80 per cent of the world's trade. OTC was to come into existence when approved by nations representing 85 per cent of total GATT trade. Since our trade is 20 per cent of the total, U.S. approval is necessary for OTC's establishment.

The agency was to administer the trade rules of GATT, sponsor international trade negotiations and facilitate consultations on trade questions. It also would study and make recommendations on international trade policy.

The American Council of the International Chamber of Commerce reaffirms its support of OTC. It stresses the new urgency of U.S. membership because of Europe's plans for a common market. This means gradual elimination of trade barriers against each other and establishment of a uniform tariff on goods from the outside world.

It appears now a matter of self defense for the United States to enter into the proposed OTC agreement not only to expand our foreign trade but to keep it.

Population Increase Slows Advancement

The number of people in the world is increasing by more than 120,000 a day and the present global total is 2.8 billion.

Almost every country is growing but the less developed countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America are outdistancing the rest. In some the population is mounting at the high rate of three per cent a year and even the United States rate of 1.5 per cent is expected to double our population by the end of the century.

This extraordinary increase is complicating efforts to improve the lot of people in backward countries and adding a new problem to foreign aid. Hopes for raising living standards in these nations are being dimmed because of rapid population expansion.

In most of those countries the people use primitive methods to eke out a starvation diet. Although there may be abundant natural resources, skills and capital are needed to develop them. The answer is increased productivity through better use of land and introduction of manufacturing and service enterprises to provide employment. All this costs money and outside assistance is needed.

The International Bank of Reconstruction and Development and the U.S. Export-Import Bank are two sources. Congress is considering a $2 billion revolving fund. However, no proposals so far advanced promise the underdeveloped countries aid in the amounts needed to make a better life for greatly expanded populations.

Therefore, says Editorial Research, more and more attention is being paid to means of reducing birth rates. By an elaborate birth control campaign Japan has cut its rate from 34 per thousand in 1947 to 19 per thousand in 1955. India also is opening family planning clinics.

At age 102 an Islington, England, woman attributes her longevity to drinking small quantities of whiskey daily. It could be that this practice is not only physically healthful, but that it also provides a keen incentive to living.

Again and alas, for the ninth consecutive month, the cost of living has risen! However, demand for it continues strong, and there seems to be no indication yet that it may be priced out of the market.

A broken heart will not mend as long as it is worn on the sleeve.

The Man About Town

Buel Is President

Top Officer in the Largest School District in County

July 4: When the fireworks casualty list is succeeded by the auto ditto.

Up in my home town of Holly,
Buel E. Starr
has been elected President of the Board of Education. He is General Manufacturing Manager at Pontiac Motor Division,
and lives in Springfield Township. The Holly Area Schools cover the largest territory of any school system in Oakland County, extending into five townships. It is in the midst of a $1,250,000 building program. Congratulations to Buel and to the Holly Area Schools.

Spending most of his life in Pontiac,
Herman Kaster,
now of Oxford, phones that back around the turn of the century the Fourth of July always was ushered in here at sunrise by firing an anvil the number of times that it was years since 1776. "And I loaded the anvil with old fashioned gunpowder," he says, "and we woke up everybody in the city."

Just as forehanded as when she lived in Pontiac for 30 years was Mrs. Lena Vera Blackburn
of Davison, who died Sunday. She wrote her own obituary.

My idea of a person who produces supreme joy in big quantities is Virgil Ludington
who has seven acres of strawberries just up in Lapeer County, from which 30,000 quarts have been picked.

I like those new traffic signs:
"Gawk from the sidewalk."

Another former Oakland County publisher today comes out of retirement, when Hazen J. Smith
assumes his duties as postmaster at South Lyon, where he formerly edited the Herald. He succeeds
Alexander H. Shaw who retires on account of ill health.

Township librarian at North Branch for 27 years,
Mrs. Nellie Uhlinger
is retiring. She says her people generally have been prompt in returning books.

The deer are coming south, according to Blanchard Burman
of Clarkston. He drove over 1,000 miles on the main roads in Northern Michigan, and saw only one, but saw two just after he crossed the Oakland County line on returning. He asserts, however, that our county now is so thickly populated that the deer can hardly get out of sight of some main road.

"I'm Almost as Civilized as an Ol' Blockbuster Now"

David Lawrence Says:

Do Clerks Write Court Decisions?

WASHINGTON — The Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives wants to know how far the recent decisions of the Supreme Court go toward limiting or crippling the investigative powers of Congress. So a special committee of five members has been appointed to conduct an inquiry.

LAWRENCE

But before any such inquiry can be effective, will the House of Representatives accept the Supreme Court's edict and pass a resolution stating exactly what it wishes to investigate, and, if it should decide to call any witnesses, will the committee make clear in advance just what the witnesses are to be asked?

Any investigation probably will be useless unless the House of Representatives is prepared to assert fully its prerogatives under the Constitution, which says each house can make its own rules governing its proceedings.

There are lots of things about the operations of the Supreme Court of the United States which, under the "right to know" doctrine, Congress can seek to learn.

LAW CLERKS

There is, for example, the role of "law clerks." Maybe they ought to be summoned to testify to explain recent decisions. Some of these aides are brilliant students of the law and perhaps know more about the new-fangled reasoning in the so-called "liberal" decisions than do some of the justices themselves.

In the March, 1956, issue of the "California Law Review," for instance, there was published an article entitled "The Federal Loyalty-Security Program: A Proposed Statute." One of its three authors was Graham B. Moody Jr., who was described in a footnote as "head law clerk to the chief justice of the United States."

Moody, in this article, proposed a bill which Congress was evidently urged to enact in place of the executive order setting forth the President's loyalty and security program. It was this order whose scope was subsequently modified by the Supreme Court's decision in the Cole case.

Among the recommendations of the suggested bill is the point that a distinction should be made between employes in "security sensitive" agencies and ordinary employes of the government.

The Supreme Court itself had under consideration at the time the Cole case and, in a decision handed down on June 11, 1956, made just such a distinction. The court said that the Congress didn't mean to allow nonsensitive agencies to be covered by the President's regulations.

Moody left the service of the chief justice a few days after the decision in the Cole case was handed down, as the term of the court ended. Moody, of course, had just as much right to publish his article as the justices themselves seem to assert off the bench in making public speeches on controversial issues of the day.

KNOWS A LOT

Unquestionably Moody knows a lot about the powers of Congress in these matters and, in the article in the "California Law Review" which he co-authored, a footnote occurs: "For what it may be worth, it is the writers' belief that some type of federal security program is both politically and socially justifiable."

But the article points out that Congress should exclude from consideration as charges by any executive department against any employe such things as the signing of petitions, presence "at a gathering of two or more people," use of an alias, attendance at educational institutions, travel outside the United States.

It isn't clear from the article whether all questions relative to such points would be barred from inquiry or merely omitted in setting up "standards" to assure that discharges from government employment would not occur solely on account of their "associations" or "passive activity."

The House Judiciary Committee will not get very far with its inquiry unless it is prepared to investigate the processes of the Supreme Court itself. For the American people have the right to find out who writes the decisions of the Supreme Court.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Bad Habits Often Cause Ailments of Middle Age

The middle aged woman — that's from 35 to 55 — who has any discomfort or disability or any new complaint or symptom or fear or anxiety, will seek the advice of her physician if she has good sense.

If perchance she selects one who goofs, say by telling her that most women have some such disturbance as hers at the "critical" time of life, she would be wise to look around for a 20th century physician.

DR. BRADY

That bugbear of middle age, "hot flashes," sudden flushing or flustering associated with distressing warmth and sweating, is a disturbance of metabolism (oxidation or combustion rate).

It occurs most frequently in middle aged persons but is by no means confined to women. It just seems that way because the women talk about it (to each other) whereas men prefer to keep quiet about it, lest they become subject to jest.

The middle aged person who gets general exercise every day walking to and from work instead of riding, doing ordinary housework or other physical activity that relieves the pressure on the ischial tuberosities for an hour more — is much less likely to have hot flashes than is one who gets little or no general exercise.

HABITS ARE CAUSE

Too many have become settled in bad habits by the time they reach the "dangerous age," eating too heartily, drinking, smoking and just sitting.

For relief of hot flashes it is a good idea to boost your calcium metabolism by following a high calcium diet and or supplementing your ordinary diet with an optimal daily ration of Ca and D (vitamin D, that is, which is essential for normal assimilation and utilization of calcium).

If this does no good, in any case it can do no harm. Instructions in pamphlet The Menopause, available on written, signed request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A more expensive remedy for hot flashes, which only your physician can administer or prescribe, is ovarian hormone. Various preparations of the hormone, for intramuscular injection or in tablet form, are estriol, theelin, premarin. Hormone treatment should bring considerable relief in a week or less; if not, it should be discontinued.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press.

'Crime Suspects' Names Should Not Be Publicized'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Can someone please answer this question? Why, when a murder or crime has been committed, are suspects' names and even addresses announced, published, televised and otherwise publicized?

What if the suspect proves to be innocent? What then? He is still known to all his friends, acquaintances and family to be suspected as one who is capable of such crimes. To me, to be suspected of some of these horrible crimes would be almost as bad as being convicted of having done them.

Isn't there something that can be done?

'Tables Turned on Williams'

For eight years Governor Williams has thrived politically while asking questions and making comments that were impossible to answer. Now the Republicans have turned the tables and "Soapy" is squirming and complaining that his accusers are unfair.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway is bringing many industries to the Great Lakes region and some to Michigan in spite of the Williams tax program. This tax program must be driving some industry out of the state because Mr. Williams is clearly worried. In the words of the immortal Shakespeare, "Methinks the gentleman doth protest too much."

Teachers Discuss Year Long School

This school controversy is becoming absurd. I'll voice my opinion, then ignore remarks of those who don't know what they're talking about.

Everyone should know and remember teachers are not paid for those so-called three months vacation (2½ in Pontiac, to be exact) I and many others would be glad to work the extra three months if there were money to pay us. Some do teach in the summer, but there aren't enough children going to school then to pay all of us. If we're not teaching, we're going to school in order to become better teachers.

Men and women in the shops, after so much seniority, get one week paid vacation, then a two-week paid vacation. Teachers get paid for three days they don't work: Labor Day, New Year's Day and Memorial Day. We don't even get paid for Christmas vacation.

If there were school in summer, it would cost taxpayers more. Some days there would have to be heat, there would be electricity and water. Also, children get restless during hot days of May and June. I doubt they'd accomplish enough to pay for the expense for the entire hot summer. I'm inclined to think those who want school year around are merely wanting cheap baby sitters for their children.

Dorothy Weaver Robison
(Teacher, Wever School)

C.S. mentioned the fine young people who'd be discouraged from teaching if year-'round schools go into effect. If the only reason they're going into teaching is because they get summers off, I doubt they'd be very good teachers. Wouldn't things be just dandy if no one were to go into fields because they have to work the full year? School systems could get along fine without a lot of those people who teach only because it's convenient.

Policeman Denies Claim of Woman

The letter from 20-Year-Old Female about car insurance rates was boastful but hardly intelligent. Unfair and stupid laws have been made in the past, and higher rates for males under 25 is no exception. I ask her to observe on any day downtown the number of women who disregard the Don't Walk signs at busy intersections and explain, if women can't cross streets on foot with traffic signals, what can you expect when they drive?

I have also found more women driving without a license than men. It must be either one of women's special privileges or they can't pass the road test. There are lousy men drivers and there are good women drivers, but I have just given merely two examples that this business of "women are better drivers" is a fairy tale that even insurance companies are falling for.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Overdependence Ruins Marriage

Beth feels that she is entirely innocent. But she has ruined two marriages. Indirectly, her parents are to blame, for they stunted her emotional growth. Why will such parents be so blind? They'd be shocked if they were responsible for causing Beth to have a low I. Q., but they have given her a very low E. Q. (Emotional Quotient).

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-327: Beth K., aged 29, is a very attractive looking woman.

"But she never got loose from her mamma's apron strings," her second husband informed me.

DR. CRANE

"She was a spoiled only child and hasn't realized that fact even yet. Her first marriage lasted five years and then ended in divorce.

"Her parents and Beth, too, led me to believe it was largely the fault of her first husband.

"But now that I have been married to her for a year, I can see that Beth was chiefly at fault, even though she doesn't realize it.

"For example, she never had spent a night away from her folks until her marriage.

"Her girl friends wanted her to go to college, but that meant leaving home, which she refused to do.

"She hadn't even been away for a week at the summer camp which her local church sponsored, although many of her high school classmates coaxed her to go along with them.

"When she first married, she insisted that her husband give up his good job in a neighboring city and go to work for her Dad, so they could live next door to her parents.

"And she took orders from Mamma and Papa, which obviously rankled with her first husband, for I have experienced the same thing, too.

"Her first husband would have stuck to her, even so, if she had been willing to have a family.

"But her mother vetoed the idea, fearing that something might happen to Beth in childbirth.

"So her first husband finally deserted her and Beth got a divorce. Two years elapsed and then I came along.

"Beth is really a very attractive girl and I believed her account of her first marriage, so I asked her to be my wife.

"Since my work is such that I couldn't go into partnership with her Dad, I finally persuaded Beth to join me in a city about 100 miles from her home.

"But Beth was restless. And every weekend we had to drive down to her folks to spend Saturday and Sunday.

"That put a crimp into my social life in my own town and hampered me in my profession.

"But Beth insisted, saying her parents would be so unhappy if she wasn't there to eat Sunday dinner with them.

"Well, I made my big mistake by giving in to her at the start of our marriage. Now I can't reassert myself. It is too late.

"And I am hamstrung by her parents' generosity and kindness to me, so it makes me look like a heel if I even suggest that I'd like to have a little home life of my own at our apartment.

"Actually, Beth is undeveloped emotionally. She is living at the level of a little girl in kindergarten or first grade, where Mamma's rules are absolute.

"And I can see myself heading for a divorce very soon, since this kind of life is not only intolerable to a self-respecting husband, but is ruining my professional contacts, too.

"I'll lose a lot of patients if I don't stay in our own town and mingle with them socially and at church.

"Dr. Crane, I just wish you'd warn other prospective husbands, as well as doting parents.

"They should send their children away to summer church camps and otherwise teach them to grow up emotionally, long before they get to the marriageable age."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Do You Speak Egnlish?'

Soviets Dress Up Their Newspapers With New Stress on 'Reader Appeal'

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet press is trying to make itself more interesting to its readers. If Joseph Stalin were to come back today, he would have a hard time recognizing some of the newspapers which used to devote most of their columns to eulogies of him.

The innovations include human interest materials, more and appealing photographs, broader use of cartoons and sketches, more verse, wider employment of varied kinds of type design, new fashions in presentation of news and propaganda.

Pravda is pretty much the same paper it always was with only moderate alterations. But Komsomol Pravda, the Soviet youth paper, is trying to jazz itself up.

Take a recent copy:

A photo shows a Soviet steel worker wiping the sweat off his brow and smiling. There have always been plenty of pictures of workers in Soviet newspapers, but the workers were always poker faced and never sweating.

A spread shows the work of a Polish dramatic club, and one photo features a good looking Polish girl. In the past attractive girls were extremely rare in Soviet papers. It apparently is no longer a dangerous thing to be pretty.

A headline on the back page reads "do you speak Egnlish"—printed in Egnlish. It says some young people in the Ukraine have a special circle where they study English.

A neighboring piece shows two Chinese twins named for a pair of Soviet destroyers which visited Shanghai last year. They were adopted by the crews of the respective warships. While this story has a political angle, it's on the soft-sell side.

All papers, Komsomol Pravda included, still carry boring editorials and boiler plate issued by the Soviet propaganda machine. But most Moscow newspapers are livelier than they used to be.

Junior Editors Quiz on "OLD IRONSIDES"

QUESTION: Was "Old Ironsides" really made of iron?

ANSWER: "Old Ironsides" was the nickname for the U. S. S. Constitution, a frigate, actually made of wood. It was her indestructibility in battle that won her the name of "Old Ironsides."

On August 19, 1812, the "Constitution" came on the British ship Guerriere, about a hundred miles from Boston. The Constitution fought with the British ship and for 30 minutes the two exchanged a furious fire. The Guerriere lost her masts and surrendered. On Dec. 19 of the same year, the Constitution blasted out another victory near the coast of Brazil. Her crew, seeing cannon balls bounce off her tough oaken bulwarks, proudly named her "Old Ironsides."

When the Constitution grew old, it was proposed to scrap her. But Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote a poem about the old ship, and everyone from children to adults contributed money to save her.

Today, "Old Ironsides" still floats in the Boston Harbor where the public can visit her.

FOR YOU TO DO: Ask your parents to help you look up Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem. Then read it to see how Holmes won over a nation to the cause of a ship.

Marine Wedding Boom Keeps Office Open Late

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Round-the-clock marriage license service was resumed today at the San Diego County clerk's oceanside office, mainly to accommodate Marines who have been landed and are well in hand.

County supervisors voted last night to restore $2,644 to the office budget for maintaining 24-hour service after clerk Bud James told them the office collected $8,000 annually from Camp Pendleton Marines in license fees. Closing the office at night would be poor economy, he argued.

Bob Considine Says:

Weather Woes Train U.S. for War

EN ROUTE TO YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (INS) — It seemed appropriate, on the way to witnessing what will be the biggest atomic blast ever held in this country, to talk with Val Peterson.

The former federal civil service administrator, who is soon going to Copenhagen as U.S. ambassador, was back in the muck and mire of nature-spawned disaster in the wake of Hurricane Audrey. He was the President's special emissary at the scene.

We flew into Cameron, La., together in a helicopter. It resembled one of those sample villages the civil defense people erect around the base of a test tower at Yucca Flat — after the hellish explosion. The sorry sight stirred some memories, excited come potentialities, in Peterson.

"We had a hundred major disasters in the United States during my 4½ years in civil defense," the blunt, bald Air Force officer and former governor of Nebraska said. "They ranged all the way from blizzards to an eruption of a volcano on Hawaii.

"In years gone by they would have occasioned much more loss of life and property. You can say what you will about Public Law 875 but it has made possible for the first time a sense of team play among the military, civilian and all related organizations who now respond to disasters.

"All these units and people now respond automatically when people are in trouble. We just didn't have this, on such a basis, before 875."

DISASTER CONSCIOUS

Peterson became diaster conscious while serving as Nebraska governor.

"We sure had a time with the weather when I was in, out there," he said. "Remember Operation Snowbound?"

"From one-half to two-thirds of the state was covered with 100 inches of snow. By spring it dawned on me that Nebraska should have a disaster plan.

"It was one of the first ever put through in the nation. Any damned fool should have had sense enough to do that, of course, but now every state has something like it."

Peterson feels that this new teamwork and consciousness of disaster is of tremendous value to the U.S. in view of the atomic times.

"We've learned to operate in a hurry in the face of trouble," he said. "And we've learned to operate decisively, effectively and generously. These troubles we've had with the weather have provided us with the best possible laboratory for research against a military attack on the United States.

"What we went through in Louisiana after Hurricane Audrey, and what we went through during the earlier and greater destruction in California, New England, Kansas City and the other places, is infinitesimal compared to the damage an enemy H-bomb would cause over a metropolitan area.

BREIF THE PEOPLE

"Yet those natural disasters have briefed the people, have sent them through a training course which will serve them well if the worst comes. They've experienced all the elements of realism. They've seen death, destruction, suffering, property loss, chaos in communications."

President Eisenhower made a good choice in picking Peterson for a top post in an area under heavy Soviet pressure. Peterson is half Danish, half Swedish.

His father was born around Uland. His mother came from Sweden's delightful and colorful Visby, on Gotland, in the Baltic.

"I speak 'Kitchen Swedish'," he said, "though Danish was the first language learned around Oakland, Neb. I don't attempt to make any talks in the native tongue of the people I'm being sent to, though, until I learn Drawing Room Danish.

Blood Test Pioneer Retires From U.M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dr. Reuben L. Kahn, discoverer of the Kahn blood test, has retired after 29 years at the University of Michigan.

However, Dr. Kahn will continue his research as a consultant in the university's department of dermatology. His blood test is used today as part of the pre-marital physical examinations the world over.

Dr. Kahn was working as an immunologist at the Michigan State Health Department when he made his discovery, 35 years ago.

"It was Thanksgiving eve in 1922," Dr. Kahn recalled. "I had worked late in the laboratory and raced home to tell my wife of an observation I had made where I mixed the blood of a syphilitic patient with a reagent and got an immediate precipation."

Dr. Kahn never had his turkey the next day. He was too busy in the lab working on his new discovery.

Dr. Kahn was born in Lithuania in 1887. He immigrated to the United States when he was 12 and studied at Valparaiso University in Indiana and Yale University's medical school.

Whooping Crane Leaves 'Bride' at the Altar

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A whooping crane who decided to stay south this year left his bride at the altar yesterday when he died after being captured.

The male bird was captured after a three-hour chase Monday. He was intended as a mate for Rosie, a female member of the vanishing species, who was captured last year with an injured wing and now resides in a San Antonio zoo.

Claud Lard, manager of the refuge near Austwell, Tex., where the score or so of remaining birds winter, ran down the male. He said he didn't know why it didn't go north to its usual Canadian summer grounds.

Authorities said the captured male apparently died of heat exhaustion.

Airport Geography Ruins Big Welcome

DALLAS (AP)—D. L. Strada, national Amvet commander from Washington, arrived yesterday and the local post decided to make a big thing out of it . . . police escort, reception committee, reporters, photographers and all that.

But at the airport, the reception committee got mixed up and went to the gates at one end of the terminal. Strada came in at the other end.

The veterans' organization head waited around a while, gave up and went to his hotel.

Meanwhile, the official greeters wandered around for a time before discovering their mistake. The official welcoming was replaced by an informal one at the hotel.

Strada is on a tour of Amvets posts.

Hollywood Headlines

Here's How You Can Be Millionaire in Movieland

By BOB THOMAS

(Last of three articles on Hollywood millionairs.)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—So you want to be a millionaire.

If you play your cards right, have a great deal of talent and no little luck, you could make it in Hollywood. If you do, here is your code for success:

1. Avoid working for a flat salary. It is almost impossible to become a millionaire on a salary today.

Most of the rich stars are those who have formed their own companies. This allows them to be taxed on a corporate rather than personal basis. And when they dispose of their holdings, it's a capital gain. Example: The late Humphrey Bogart earned a million dollars from the sale of his Santana Productions.

If you don't form a company, at least take a percentage of the picture profits. This brings revenue over a long period.

2. Invest in oil. That's the only way to make and keep big money from an investment, thanks to the well-known depletion allowance. Ask Bob Hope and Bing Crosby; they'll tell you.

If you don't have connections for oil, put the money in real estate. You can seldom go wrong with land these days, especially in California.

3. Don't get divorced. Nothing can torpedo a fortune so fast as a broken marriage. Errol Flynn was one of Hollywood's biggest earners, but he has only recently climbed out of debt. The main reason: two expensive divorces.

Alimony has kept others like Tyrone Power and Jack Webb from joining the list of Hollywood's 25 wealthiest. It is estimated that a million dollars in alimony is paid every month by filmdom's ex-husbands.

4. Live sensibly. Today's stars cannot afford to live like Harold Lloyd with his great mansion and private golf course. But a lot of them try.

Many newcomers to wealth in Hollywood come from poor backgrounds and feel they need great houses and lavish wardrobes as a symbol of achievement. They think they must "live like movie stars." That's the road to disaster.

5. Keep up your taxes. Your first fiscal obligation is to Uncle Sam, and don't forget it. Once you get behind, you may never get ahead. Ask Joe Louis.

Errol Flynn, Frank Sinatra and Orson Welles are Hollywood examples of what can happen if you lag behind in taxes. You still must pay taxes on current earnings while paying principal and interest on past ones.

Well, there you have it — the simple rules on how to make millions in Hollywood. Of course, it will help if you have the God-given talent to entertain people on a mass scale.

One thing I can't guarantee you. Happiness. The millions may bring you big houses, fast cars, beautiful wives or handsome husbands, but you won't necessarily be contented.

Take a look at the 25 richest people in Hollywood. Some of them are full of frustrations and lack anyone they can really call a friend. So maybe we're better off as we are.

Texas Plane Grounded by Warning of Bomb

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A Trans-Texas Airways plane with 16 passengers and a crew of three aboard was called back last night and searched at Beaumont after an anonymous phone call warned of a bomb.

Another plane was searched before passengers were allowed to board.

No bomb was found.

Hotels in France Adopt Single-Price Bill Plan

PARIS — Some 1,500 hotels in every region of France have adopted the practice of presenting a single-price hotel bill in which tax, service, and continental breakfast (rolls, butter, and coffee) are included in one unit.

Formerly in France, and still in many other European countries, each item on the bill was presented separately, which was often confusing to travelers unfamilair with the system.

Hal Boyle Says:

Jerry Puts Comics in 2 Categories

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Lewis, who makes more per hour being funny than the average man does per year being serious, says any mother can raise her boy to be a comedian.

"He can at least learn to be a taught comedian," said Jerry, "and probably make a good living just standing up and reeling off memorized jokes.

"Show business is full of such imposters."

Lewis, who has just completed his first solo film, "The Delicate Delinquent," believes the public often fails to realize that humor, like love, comes in many varieties.

Leaving the field of love to those more expert, Jerry gave these views on humor:

"The big difference in the field is between the taught comedian and the natural funnyman.

"The taught comedian is imitative, and has no born talent. Often he is extremely witty, but his humor comes second-hand. He generally pokes fun at others, and is often cruel. At the back of his mind he is always desperately thinking, 'What'll I do next?' He has to, because most of his humor is contrived, or borrowed.

"But a born funnyman's humor is compulsive. He holds himself up to ridicule, realizing it's easier for people to laugh at someone else than it is for them to laugh at themselves. He is also more spontaneous and creative in any situation—less dependent on others for material."

Either through a sense of kindliness—or a well-ingrained sense of self-preservation—Jerry declined to name the outstanding "taught comedians" practicing the healing art of yuk merchandising today. But he had no hesitancy in reeling off a few comics, past and present, whom he regards as "natural funnymen."

"In the silent films Charlie Chaplin — the greatest ever — and Harry Langdon were outstanding," he said. "So was W. C. Fields. So are Jackie Gleason and Milton Berle. Berle is a past master."

Lewis modestly forbore saying which class he regarded himself as belonging to other than by cheerfully observing in passing, "I am a born idiot."

In 31 years, however, he has parlayed this natural defect (if it is one, as non-Lewis fans claim) into one of the highest-rewarded talents for zany tactics since mankind started paying money to be amused.

Everyone now is familiar with the trials and tribulations of all the sad comedians, behind whose million-dollar bank accounts lurk many a broken heart.

Jerry, who wears his heart as well as his funnybone on his sleeve, has a couple to tell, too.

For example, the time when, driving through the countryside, he suddenly felt he was undergoing a heart attack—he has suffered mild ticker murmurs since his youth. Frantically he sought out the nearest doctor, beat on the door, and gasped out his fears.

"You know what happened?" asked Jerry. "The doc turned and called back to his wife, 'Mama, come here. Here's Jerry Lewis playing a trick?'

"I had a terrible time getting him to give me a real examination. Luckily, all I had was indigestion."

Jerry learned another price comedians play when his son, Gary, then 10, came to him and said:

"Daddy, do you have to make faces on television? Why can't you sell insurance or something, like other daddies?

"Why do people laugh at you and say you're silly?"

His son's attitude, Jerry said, almost made him give up show business. But he found a better answer this year by taking Gary behind the scenes and putting him on a TV show with him.

"When he saw that it was just a world of make-believe," recalled Jerry, "and found out that I was really somebody in the field—a guy with 30 employes and a payroll of nearly $750,000—he got the idea.

"Now he wants to be a comedian himself. He will too. The kid's full of talent—a natural funnyman."

There are about 12 different species of walnuts, eight or nine of which can be cultivated commercially.

Sand buckets are for water, too, according to small Gregg Boekeloo of Coleman avenue. He was cooling off at Sylvan Lake recently with Linda Leach, also of Coleman avenue.

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. John Klausmeyer of Oakwood avenue and her daughter, Jacalyn, were photographed recently at the lake — where many Pontiac families will gather for the Fourth of July. Jacalyn was more concerned with the camera than with the prospect of a dip in the water.

And, 'way out in the woods at Dodge Park No. 4 was A. W. Gault of South Avery road. Bookwork was easy in the restful atmosphere of shady trees in the park. With carpeting being laid at home, Mr. Gault found the park an ideal "office away from the office."

Independence Day Spirit Fails to Stir Teenagers

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

For most American teenagers, the magic of the Fourth of July was somehow lost in the ban on fireworks and the tangle of holiday traffic.

Our national surveys indicate that the Fourth doesn't stir the hearts of modern teenagers to any real degree. They find more excitement in family holidays than they do in Independence Day.

Nearly half of the teenagers questioned by our interviewers felt their parents got a bigger kick out of the Fourth, say 20 years ago, than present teenagers get today.

One possibility, it seems, is that school is out when the Fourth is celebrated and there doesn't seem to be any special agency to focus teenage attention on the holiday or to point up its importance.

It seems to be a fact also that the lack of accessible organized fireworks displays figures in the lack of enthusiasm.

Nothing has come up to take the place of fireworks as a symbol of the meaning of the Fourth.

CHRISTMAS KIND

"I like the Christmas, Thanksgiving kind of holidays," explained one college sophomore.

"We all get together for a big turkey dinner and family conclave. It's a wonderful feeling of belonging. July 4th doesn't offer anything like that."

"The Fourth is nothing to me," noted a 14-year-old girl. "Just an excuse for Dad to get a long weekend off from work."

"July 4th," asserted a Minneapolis youth, "is just another excuse for politicians to blow off steam on everything under the sun. The meaning of the day died with the signers of the Declaration of Independence."

Against the 50 per cent who feel their folks had more Independence Day fun are just 16 per cent who think their folks as teenagers had less Fourth of July kicks.

Another 34 per cent figure the Fourth is about the same today as it was yesterday, funwise.

WHAT'S SO DIFFERENT?

Let 15-year-old Joel speak for the group who believes the Fourth hasn't changed too much. He said:

"What could be so different? They had parties; we have parties. They had picnics; we do the same. Young people always do the same things no matter when they are young.

And then there is the Newark, N. J., miss who said today's parents couldn't possibly have had as much fun because "they were so chaperoned, they weren't permitted to breathe by themselves."

But perhaps most representative is 17-year-old Jennie who said:

"Maybe if we made a bigger deal out of the Fourth like our parents used to do, it would mean more to us."

This seems to be the crux of most of the objections as evidenced by the answers to another question put to our national sampling. The question was:

"Should fireworks be made legal in all states for celebrating the Fourth or should they be outlawed all over?"

A hefty 57 per cent of the teenagers said that fireworks, now banned in 30 of the 48 states, should be made uniformly legal.

BIG OCCASION

"It's no fun without fireworks," said one crew-cut lad. "They made the Fourth of July a big occasion."

But a surprisingly large number of teenagers discount the celebration value of the Roman candles, firecrackers and sky rockets all together.

Forty-one per cent answered that fireworks should be made illegal — and many of these qualified their answer with remarks that they are a genuine danger to life and health.

As 16-year-old Kyle sadly recalled, "My cousin lost his eye because of a firecracker. I wouldn't want to see it happen to anyone else."

Generally speaking the Fourth has, it seems, fallen in importance in the teenage mind.

James Kitson Claims Bride

Fight for Domination Upsets Home

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What a life! Far too many homes are in a state of constant turmoil because of the struggle for domination which is going on between the husband and wife.

What could age one more rapidly? The husband dominates in some homes and the wife in others while, fortunately, there are some happy domiciles where it is a 50-50 proposition.

This wish to dominate has always confused me. I feel as though I ought to be in there fighting but I can't find anything to fight about. Guess I just don't have any rights. Anyway I would rather be happy than win.

This constant struggle from the altar to the grave is actually a serious matter, not only for the husband and wife but for the children in the home.

Based on statistics, young men and women who have grown up in happy homes are the very best matrimonial bets, while those who have matured in an atmosphere of antagonism and strife are the worst. Naturally there are exceptions to this.

However, we can see how this would be true as a rule. Young folks who grow up in the tradition of give and take, of thoughtfulness and adjustment to the wishes and needs of others are, of necessity, better adjusted than they otherwise would have been.

They are freer of complexes and destructive attitudes and prejudices toward their husbands and wives than less fortunate young people.

Many mothers make the mistake of impressing their daughters with the idea that they must not be imposed upon, that they must "fight for their rights." They do this either by the spoken word or with their own attitude toward marriage.

We handicap our children unless we teach them that in marriage each partner must make adjustments and compromises for their mutual happiness; that each must work for the success of their marriage; that love is the magic touchstone. In light of this viewpoint "rights" seem to disappear.

Mrs. Dawe Uses Only Peel of Orange in Sandwich Loaf

By JANET ODELL

You're going to want some fancy bread for sandwiches this holiday weekend, we know. Do try making a loaf of Mrs. Ralph Dawe's Orange Bread. It is delicious just spread with butter or made into cream cheese sandwiches.

Mrs. Dawe teaches during the school year. She also teaches Sunday School. For recreation she likes to play Bridge and to bowl. There are two daughters in the Dawe household.

ORANGE BREAD

By Mrs. Ralph Dawe

Peel from 3 oranges, cut into strips
½ cup water
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 beaten egg
3 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Put orange peel strips into salted water and parboil until tender (This is not the water called for in the recipe). Drain. Then add sugar and drained peel to the 1-3 cup of water and boil slowly to the sticky stage. Watch, as this mixture tends to burn easily.

When peel is transparent and sticky add milk. Let cool. Then add rest of ingredients. Pour into greased bread pan.

Cover with another pan or make a tent of aluminum foil over the dough. Bake 30 minutes at 400 degrees. Remove pan or foil and reduce heat to 300 degrees. Bake another 30-40 minutes. The bread rises and space must be allowed above it during the baking. Makes one loaf.

Good High School Students Surpass Those Who Strive for Mediocrity

By RUTH MILLETT

A 15-year-old boy writes: "My parents keep after me to study and make good grades. They've even been after me to go out for the debating team. I can't seem to make them understand that it might have been all right to be an 'A' student when they were growing up, but things are different now.

"Everybody in our school looks down on the kids who are 'brains.' So why should I want to be one? Can't you please write something for parents who don't seem to understand that if you are an outstanding student you're a square?"

I'd rather write something for high school students who are living in a tight little dream world, kidding yourselves that the important thing in life is to be mediocre, so you won't arouse anyone's dislike or jealousy.

The squares you are talking about are going to be the students who in a few years will be getting into the best colleges. Kids who have been content with poor grades will be scrambling around to find any college that will take them.

A few years later the squares will be taking the best jobs. The kids who were so afraid of being different they never bothered to make more than a passing grade will be working for the squares.

Mediocrity and being like the herd may seem to pay off in high school. Some of the best athletes and the most popular girls may pass their courses by the skin of their teeth.

But once that high school diploma is yours, you step out of that little dream world into a world where ambition, hard work, brains and originality start paying off.

It is sad that today's parents have such a hard time convincing their teenagers that mediocrity is a mighty poor goal.

Tell Friend if You Have Heard Story

But Don't Interrupt When Tale Is New to Others

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a friend starts to tell a story that you have heard, is it considered impolite to tell that person that you have heard the story, or must you sit and listen to it as if you had never heard it?"

Answer: If your friend is telling the story to a group and the others apparently have not heard it, you say nothing; but if you are the only listener, you can, in fact, you should, say something like, "Oh, Jane told me all about that this morning."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our daughter announced her engagement to a young man about a year ago. Several months later the engagement was broken by mutual consent. Now our daughter plans to become engaged again and I am wondering just how to announce this second engagement.

"We are having a small dinner party to celebrate the occasion. Shall we announce it in the newspaper? The first engagement was given prominent notice. What is best taste in a situation of this kind?"

Answer: Avoid any mention of her previous engagement and merely announce it as though it were a first engagement—Mr. and Mrs. John Jones announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to . . . etc.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste for a man to go without a hat? My husband does not like hats and never wears one. I have been trying to tell him that in order to be considered well dressed a man should wear a hat on the street.

"My husband dresses well and takes great pride in his appearance, but I can't convince him that he should wear a hat. A word from you might help."

Answer: On a city street a hat is definitely a requirement of a gentleman. In the country he wears one or not as he chooses.

Let's Trim Your Problem

Often we hear the complaint that a lovely hairdo won't last long because the hair grows heavy and long so quickly. There are different ways of handling this problem and here are a couple:

The hair can be cut short and styled when the permanent wave is given. A few weeks later, when the hair is too heavy and long for the original style, the hair can be restyled. This second style being used until the next permanent.

Another solution is to cut the hair when it gets too long, (usually 6 weeks) and have a few permanent wave curls where necessary. This isn't as expensive as it sounds for often the haircut and the curls can be repeated two or three times before a full permanent wave has to be given. We have seen the customer gain a new personality when the bulky hair was trimmed to a smart new casual. Let us help you find a practical solution for your hair styling problem.

PRIMER FOR AMERICANS

COPYRIGHT 1956, SIGURD S. LARMON

You live in the United States of America. You are an American.

Real Americans like their country. They are proud of it. They think it is a good place to live. And they want to keep it good—to keep it getting better and better all the time.

Why is America the way it is? What makes it a good place to live? The answer is simply this:

Throughout our history most Americans have believed that every person has certain rights and duties and responsibilities.

Americans have believed that there are certain things that people should do, and other things they should not do.

They have also believed in certain things that people are, and are not.

These things that people believe are called principles. This book is an attempt to state the Principles of America in simple, primer fashion so that you can understand them, learn them, and remember them.

This is important. It was because earlier Americans believed in these principles and guided their lives by them, that America has grown to be the good place it is.

If all of us learn and remember these principles—if we also guide our lives by them—then we can help to keep America growing better, and better, and better.

And if we follow these Principles of America, we can help make the world a better place to live in, too.

The Principles of America are these . . .

1. Each Person is of Importance and Value as an Individual.

This is the cornerstone . . . the foundation of all our other beliefs in a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.

From it comes our hatred of those "isms" under which the individual has no value or importance as a person, but is only one of many unimportant people who have to live the way their leaders tell them to.

Coming directly from that first principle are two other principles that are also part of the foundation of Americanism.

2. We Believe that All Men should Enjoy Personal Freedom.

3. We Believe that All Men are Created Equal.

It is worth noting that the Declaration of Independence expressed the belief that "all men are created equal." It did not state or imply a belief that men develop equally or have equal ability, or that they should ever be forced to an exact equality of thought, speech or material possessions.

That would be equality without freedom. Americans have always believed the two should go together.

From the days of the Declaration of Independence and the writing of the Constitution, Americans have known that even though Life, Liberty, and other unalienable rights are granted to man by his Creator, they require some protection by man himself.

So, in our Constitution, and in other laws of our land, there are set down principles to protect the rights and freedoms and equality of individuals. And these principles play an important part in keeping America a good place in which to live.

4. The Right to Freedom of Speech.

This includes freedom of the press, of radio, of motion pictures, of every means by which man may express his thoughts on any subject.

5. The Right to Freedom of Assembly.

As we believe in the right of individual action, so we believe that individuals should be free to act together for the benefit of all. This IS Democracy.

6. The Right to Freedom of Worship.

Not only is the individual free to worship as he will, but religions themselves are free and equal . . . regardless of their size or their beliefs.

7. The Right to Security of Person and Property.

Not just one, but three Amendments to the Constitution (4th, 5th and 14th) protect against illegal search and seizure, or loss of life, liberty, or property, without "due process of law."

8. The Right to Equal Protection before the Law.

As individuals are equally important, so laws must apply equally to all, without special privileges for any particular individuals or groups.

9. The Right to Freedom from Slavery.

This includes "the right to quit," for no individual may be forced to work for another.

10. The Right to Petition the Government.

The legally guaranteed right of the individual to "petition the government for redress of grievances" is evidence of the American belief that government is the servant, not the master, of the people.

11. The Right to Vote for people of your choice.

This is the individual's most potent weapon in the protection of his rights and freedoms . . . a weapon that to be effective must be constantly and wisely used.

The Principles of America hold that every man has . . .

12. The Right to a Good Education.

13. The Right to Live where he pleases.

14. The Right to Work where he wants to.

15. The Right to Join and Belong to an Organization.

16. The Right to Own Property.

17. The Right to Start his Own Business.

18. The Right to Manage his Own Affairs.

19. The Right to Make a Profit or to Fail, depending on his Own Ability.

There are other, similar rights of individual action which are Principles of America, but all of these individual rights may be combined in these two broad principles . . .

20. Every Man is entitled to Freedom and Equality of Opportunity.

21. Every Man may Earn his Living When, Where, and How he wants to.

There are also Limiting Principles . . .

Principles of individual freedom sometimes clash with those of individual equality. Therefore our rights as individuals must be limited, and those limitations are themselves principles.

22. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Equal Rights of Other Individuals.

Your right to swing your arms stops where the other fellow's nose starts.

23. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Welfare of the People as a Whole.

Freedom of speech does not give the individual the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theatre.

24. Every Individual owes Obedience to the Laws under which he Lives.

The individual has the right to talk against a law, to work and vote to change that law, but NOT to disobey that law.

Principles that are Patterns of Behavior . . .

Many of our principles of individual freedom and equality are guaranteed to us by law.

But we have other beliefs, other general rules of action and conduct that have grown to the status of principles. They have stood the test of time. They have worked. They have become a basic part of the way we live and of the way we look at things.

These principles, too, are foundations of Americanism. They are as true, if not more true, today than they were in 1850 or in 1750.

If America stays free, they will still hold true in 2050.

25. Every Man shall be Judged by his Own Record.

A man's family background, his race or his religion, is not as important as what that man himself can do, for Americans believe a man must stand on his own feet.

26. Every Man is Free to Achieve as much as he can.

We believe that where any boy may become President, where any man may achieve greatness, there is the greatest incentive for every man to do his best.

27. To Achieve anything, a Man should be Willing to Work.

Americans have always known that "you don't get something for nothing," that to get anything takes a willingness to work and to work hard.

28. Achievement also Depends upon the Ability to do a Good Job.

Add to "willingness to work" the ability to produce results and the combination is the basis for most individual achievement in our country.

29. Every Man has the Right to a Fair Share of the Results of his Work and his Ability.

Because of this belief, America has not only produced more goods, but they have been more fairly and more widely shared by more people than in any other country.

30. Security is the Ability of a Man to Provide for himself.

The only true security for any individual is the opportunity, the ability, and the determination to work and plan and save for his own present and future. Self-reliance is vital to individual independence and personal freedom. No man can be "proud and free" who depends on others for his security.

31. When an Individual cannot Provide his own Security, the Responsibility should be Assumed by Others.

We believe that no one should starve, or be without adequate clothing and shelter, so those who have more than their basic needs share the responsibility of providing the essentials of security for those who need help.

Printed as a Public Service by

The Pontiac Press

32. Every Individual must Deal Fairly with other Individuals.

Honesty, fairness, and personal integrity are virtues that help free and independent individuals get along with each other without losing their independence.

33. Fair and Free Competition is a Good Thing.

Americans have always believed that competition among individuals or groups encourages greater effort which in turn brings greater benefits to all.

34. Cooperation among Individuals is Vitally Important.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said: "The freedom to compete vigorously accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth."

Principles of Individual Responsibility . . .

Freedom for individuals carries with it an equal responsibility to use that freedom wisely. Therefore, if we wish to remain free, we must faithfully fulfill our responsibilities as free men.

35. The Individual is Responsible for himself and his Family.

He must protect them and provide for their present and future well-being.

36. The Individual has Responsibilities to the Groups of which he is a Part.

He must give of his best to his community, his church, his employer, his union, and to every group in which individuals cooperate for their mutual benefit.

37. The Individual has Responsibilities to his Country.

He must be an active citizen, interesting himself in local, state, and national government, voting wisely, thinking and speaking and acting to preserve and strengthen freedom, equality and opportunity for every individual.

38. The Individual has Responsibilities to the World.

Man's horizons have expanded. What happens in the world affects him, and his actions can affect the world. Today, therefore, each man has a responsibility to act—and to encourage his country to act—so that freedom and cooperation will be encouraged among the people and the nations of the world.

For America's Future

Most of us are still confident of ourselves and of our country. We do not claim perfection. But we have faith in our ability to move forward, to improve, to grow, to provide more and more individuals with more and more of everything they want and need in life . . .

If we, the people of the United States, want to have more material benefits, we must believe in and follow these two principles:

39. The only way we can Have More is to Produce More; and

40. As we Produce More, we must make it possible for More and More People to Enjoy that which we Produce.

If we, the people of the United States, want to have a better life, spiritually as well as materially . . .

41. We must stand firmly for our Beliefs, our Rights, our Principles.

WALT WHITMAN, writing nearly 100 years ago, put it this way:

"There is no week, nor day, nor hour when tyranny may not enter upon this country if the people lose their supreme confidence in themselves . . ."

There are those who would chip away our confidence so that their special brand of tyranny might creep into America. They must not succeed. So, let us ask of every plan, or act, or idea . . .

Is it With or Against the Principles of America?

Holiday Celebrations Scheduled in Oakland Area

Parades, Fetes, Fireworks Prepared by Communities

Numerous towns and cities in the Oakland County area will be holding Independence Day celebrations Thursday, some of them lasting over the weekend.

Among festivities planned are demonstrations by area fire departments, ball games, parades, bazaars, festivals, burning of the flares and fireworks displays.

Utica will hold its 11th annual parade and festival which attracts thousands from surrounding communities. Gov. Williams will be present to crown "Miss Utica."

At Clifford, the annual homecoming is slated for three days, from Friday through Sunday. Rochester Firemen are preparing a fireworks display for townsfolk, to be held at St. Andrew Catholic School there. Walled Lake Park announces its annual evening display of fireworks.

Auburn Heights

At 7 p.m. on July 4, the Fire Dept. here will hold a demonstration on Squirrel road across from the Auburn Heights Schools.

The exhibition will include the burning of a shanty and methods of control and the burning of a pit of oil which will be put out through the use of foam.

A ladder display and a girls drill team will be on hand also. The siren will sound at 7 p.m., followed by a display of $500 worth of fireworks, aerial and ground.

According to fire chief, Carl Schingeck, three trucks from three stations will participate in the event. The group will give away a rotisserie, fishing equipment and boys and girls bicycles.

Clarkston

The Firefighters Assn. is sponsoring a July 4 celebration for Clarkston. A parade will form at the Community Activities Building on N. Main street and at 10 a.m. will start the march to the high school where children's events, races and games will be held.

A ball game between two of the Clarkston Dance Clubs, the Saturday Nighters and Fourth Nighters, will be a feature of the afternoon.

Fireworks at dark and dancing in the street after the fireworks at the high school, are the evening's attractions.

Clawson

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., a parade will mark the start of the July 4 festivities which will feature antique cars, tanks, and the Oakland County Sheriff's posse.

This will be followed by a flag-raising ceremony, beauty contest and variety show in the city park. Distinguished guests will be Michigan senators, William S. Broomfield and Charles E. Potter.

About 20,000 persons are expected to attend the celebration, which has been held annually for over a quarter of a century.

Commerce Township

Commerce Township will be brightened by a red glow at 10 p.m. on the Fourth of July.

Residents who bought flares from the Commerce Goodfellows have been asked to light them at the same time. The sale of flares by the Goodfellows is an annual project.

A local fireworks display will be held at the Commerce Drive-In Theater.

Lake Orion

Lake Orion's traditional burning of the flares will be the fireworks of the community again this year.

The Rotary Club has set up a booth at the main corners to sell the flares with the profits being used for such projects as the Orion Youth Center, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, red feather, etc.

Since 1944 when the idea was born, the 10 p.m. curfew has been the signal to light thousands of flares along the shoreline and docks, in the village park and on private lawn, with a glow lighting the sky for about 15 minutes and outlining the lake.

About 3,800 flares have been purchased for this year's sale.

Lathrup

This village will again have a fireworks display at the recreation area at Rainbow drive and Southfield road in the evening. The Lathrup Police Youth Recreation Dept., Inc., has mailed 1,500 tickets to Lathrup residents which will permit their cars to park in the area.

Oak Park

Marking its 12th birthday as a city, Oak Park will hold an all-day celebration July 4, starting at 10 a.m. Among other things there will be a birthday ceremony at 2 p.m. in the city park, followed by the Miss Oak Park Beauty Contest at 3 p.m.

West Bloomfield Township

Plans have been made for both indoor and outdoor July 4 celebrations for the Twin Beach Golf Club Assn. members and families.

An assortment of games and races will be held and prizes awarded the winners. Indoor bazaar will be held for the adults. There will be a variety of booths among which will be aprons, plants, puppets, white-elephants and a teenage booth.

The new play-yard will be opened for the first time for the children. This is to be operated on the co-op plan with teenagers baby sitting for children of members and their guests, according to Mrs. Lillian Danboise who is in charge.

Redlegs Regain NL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The changeable National League baseball race gets more like the weather all the time. If you don't like the way things are going, stick around a few minutes.

No one's settled in the NL's top perch long enough to get the seat warm and, with seven changes in the last month alone, no one is likely to.

Cincinnati's there now after a three-week absence, the result of an 8-6 victory over Chicago yesterday afternoon coupled with Milwaukee's 4-2 loss last night to Von McDaniel, fabulous teenager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

But the Braves, trailing by a half game, are matched with the Redlegs in Cincinnati tonight and could move back up by winning St. Louis is just a game behind after 18-year-old McDaniel's 4th straight and Brooklyn, a 6-0 winner over the New York Giants behind 40-year-old Sal Maglie, has a 2½ game deficit. Fifth place Philadelphia, idle with Pittsburgh yesterday, is only four games back.

And so it goes with the Redlegs, Braves, Cardinals and Dodgers each having taken over at one time or another in the leap-frog battle. Philadelphia's the only close-up contender that hasn't reached the top but twice the Phils have been within a half game of doing it.

There's no such immediate complication in the American League with the leading New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox still two games apart after winning again and the closest of the trailers, Boston and Cleveland, eight games off the pace.

Both the Yanks and White Sox came from behind Tuesday, the Yanks beating pesky Baltimore 6-4 on Gil McDougald's two-run, 11th inning double for Whitey Ford's second relief triumph in two days, and the White Sox downing Detroit, 4-2.

Boston edged Washington 2-1 to take over 3rd place by .005 percentage from Cleveland, which was idled along with Kansas City.

Three more hits produced two runs and when the youngster gave up another hit in the eighth, Hoyt Wilhelm came in from the bullpen to close out the last two innings.

The Yanks, 17-3 in their current drive, rallied twice to tie Baltimore before McDougald's clutch hit in the 11th. Ford, winning over ex-Dodger Ken Lehman, had received credit for Monday night's 3-2 Yankee victory in his first appearance since he developed arm trouble in May.

Home Run in 8th Wins for White Sox; Tigers Go to Cleveland

DETROIT (AP) — They said it just couldn't happen again—but it has.

Frank Lary, the one Detroit Tiger pitcher who can appropriately be dubbed a "tough-luck" competitor, dropped his 10th decision yesterday. He gave the Chicago White Sox nine hits and one of them—a three-run home run by Larry Doby in the eighth inning—sealed a 4-2 Chicago White Sox victory.

At this very same time a year ago, Lary's record was 4-10. The gritty son of Dixie went on to record 17 wins in his next 20 decisions, finishing with 21 triumphs and 13 losses for the finest mark in the American League.

Everyone — including Lary himself — said such a fate couldn't befall the stock righthander again this year. But an assortment of items—including three line drives that smacked Lary, inadequate hitting on the part of his teammates and some occasional shoddy pitching on Lary's part—leave the 1957 record just like the 1956 mark.

And it was what both Lary and manager Jack Tighe called "a perfect pitch" to Doby that brought on the latest disaster for Lary and the Tigers.

With pitcher Billy Pierce and Minnie Minoso on base with singles, and with two batters retired and a 3-2 count on Doby, the Chicago centerfielder wiped out a 2-1 Detroit lead with his seventh home run.

Duke Maas, who has been belted freely his last few times out, was to oppose southpaw Don Mossi as the Tigers opened a brief stand in Cleveland today. The two teams will play a July 4 doubleheader in Cleveland before the Tigers return home for a Friday night encounter against the Kansas City Athletics.

The Detroit Tigers haven't taken a complete series from the Chicago White Sox since 1950. This year the Sox have won seven of nine games between the two teams thus far.

Red Wing defenseman Warren Godfrey will be the guest of the Pontiac Rotary Club at a luncheon Thursday, July 11th at the Waldron.

The last day of the Detroit Tigers' rained out baseball clinic will be held Saturday by Pat Mullin at the University of Detroit campus field starting at 9:30 a.m.

Tourney Wants More Top U.S. Golfers

Americans Can 'Save' British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Pressure is building up to "save" the famed old British Open tournament — the oldest national championship in golf — by attracting more stars from the U. S.

"And I mean the stars," said N. C. Selway, chairman of the royal and ancient championship committee today, as the tournament proper got under way. "We want at least a half-dozen of the top U. S. players every year. They are the lifeblood of the tournament."

He added that the prize money must be increased and the date changed.

There is definite sentiment for upping the ante (top prize now is only $2,800), but all efforts to move the tournament back to September when it won't conflict with the U. S. summer circuit have failed.

Before World War II, the tournament annually drew all the top Americans.

"But since then the quality has almost gone out of the entry," said one high official sadly. Since something must be done, it is a good bet that in the next year or two, the dates will be moved back to September.

"We've got to get more overseas players here or see the open go down the drain. This is an international event, but it is ceasing to be very important. The Americans are the ones to save it."

An average of only one or two top-line U. S. players have been in the tournament in the past 10 years. This year's best is Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis and runner-up in the U. S. Open.

"I missed three tournaments in the states by entering," he said. "And, frankly, I'm taking a big chance of losing a lot of money. It cost so much to come over that you have to win first money to break even.

"I thought it was worth the risk because this is a great old tournament. But you can see why most Americans don't come."

Middlecoff, who has been bothered by a cold, qualified yesterday by the narrowest of margins. He went around the old course in 73 for a two-day qualifying total of 148, getting in by just one stroke.

Today, in the first round of the Open after yesterday's qualifying, Middlecoff shot a par 72. K. A. MacDonald of England took the lead among early finishers with a 69.

Other Americans who qualified were Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, with a 141; Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., with a 148 and Frank D. Keck, an air force lieutenant from Champaign, Ill., with a 149.

Former Cincinnati Star Luque Has Fatal Attack

HAVANA (AP)—Adolfo Luque, Cuba's greatest pitcher in the major leagues, died of a heart attack last night. He would have been 67 Aug. 4.

A member of the Cincinnati world champions in 1919 when the Reds beat the Chicago White Sox in the "Black Sox" series, Luque reached his greatest heights in 1923.

That year he won 27 games for Cincinnati and lost eight while pitching 322 innings for an earned run average of 1.93.

Gray Easy for Joey Giardello

DETROIT (AP) — Middleweight Joe Gray of suburban Dearborn tried to move too far too fast when he decided he was ready to tangle with fifth-ranked Joey Giardello of Philadelphia.

Gray entered his scheduled 10-round bout with Giardello at the State Fair Coliseum last night with an impressive record. In 20 pro bouts, the young Michigan boxer had won 18, lost one and fought Ralph (Tiger) Jones, then fifth-ranked, to a draw in Flint last April.

But Gray apparently hadn't reckoned with Giardello's experience and fell victim to a technical knockout in the 6th round.

GOOD LOOKER — Ann Roniger holds the girls' national record for the standing broad jump and is co-holder of the 75-yard dash mark. Moving into adult competition, the 14-year-old lass of Elmdale hopes to become the first Kansas woman to compete as a member of the U. S. Olympic team.

Burgess Misses No-Hit Attempt

Elmo Burgess, ace softball pitcher for the Pontiac Police, was only one out away from a no-hitter Tuesday in City League action at Beaudette Park.

Then John Mayer of Franklin Products ruined his bid with a single. Burgess retired the next batter and settled for a one-hitter, which was plenty good enough to give the Police team a 2-0 victory over Franklin.

Luther Gilmore was the only other Franklin player to touch 1st when he was hit by a pitched ball leading off in the 1st inning. The Policemen scored twice in the 3rd and that was all Burgess needed.

Pitcher Skip Baribeau of Drive-In Cleaners reached 2nd on an outfield error and tallied the winning run on Earl Bruske's single as tough-luck Oxbow Pavilion dropped an eight-inning heartbreaker, 5-4. Drive-In rallied from a 3-0 deficit to win the overtime contest.

Ron Clark hurled two-hit ball as Deni's Corner defeated Lane's Drive-In, 6-3.

In girls' games at North Side Park, North Side Auto Sales handed Commerce Theater its 1st loss of the season, 4-1, behind the steady pitching of Katy Boykins, and the West Side Merchants surprised Gingellville, 7-4, on seven-hit hurling by Bernice Dennis.

Union Topples Jewelers, 2-0

The Class A City Baseball League championship race was a little closer today, thanks to pitcher Jim Wagner of CIO Local 594.

Wagner hurled a masterful three-hit shutout last night at Wisner Field as the Union club toppled league-leading Shaw's Jewelers, 2-0.

Victory pulled the CIO to within one full game of Shaw's. The Jewelers boast an 8-2 record while the runner-up Union team stands at 7-3.

Veteran Herman Bishop hurled for Shaw's and battled Wagner on even terms until the 6th inning when the CIO tallied both of its runs. Singles by Chuck Graves, Dave Cooper and LeRoy Baines, sandwiched around a sacrifice, walk and error, doomed Bishop.

Wagner gave up singles to Warren Scheibner in the 1st and 3rd innings and a single to Bishop in the 3rd. He fanned four and walked two.

IBC 'Breakup' Delayed

Time Granted for Appeal

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Boxing Club was conducting business at the same old stand today and will continue to do so until at least Nov. 1, courtesy of Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Judge Ryan yesterday ordered Jim Norris and Arthur Wirtz, the two top wheels in the IBC, to break up the club, but immediately granted them a four-month stay to enable them to appeal to the Supreme Court.

"Our present thinking is that we will appeal," said Norris.

Judge Ryan said the IBC must file for the review within 60 days or the government could nullify the stay he granted. Norris agreed to have his attorneys ask for the review.

Most of the final judgment comprised findings that Judge Ryan had previously announced when he found the IBC guilty of monopoly.

His orders to Norris and Wirtz were as follows:

Divest themselves of all their Madison Square Garden stock within five years.

Divorce themselves completely from the Garden.

Dissolve the IBC of New York and Chicago.

12 RBI's in Game

Bob Deering of the 2nd place Christian Missionary Alliance team in the Church Softball League became a one-man wrecking crew last night when he batted in 12 runs in a 21-2 waltz over Stone Baptist.

There was also plenty of clutch-hitting in other games around the loop. A three-run homer by Early Wilson gave Liberty Baptist a 6-4 upset win over Central Christian, Al Olson belted two homers for five RBI's in First Presbyterian's 7-3 triumph over Five Points and Church of the Brethren tripped the Salvation Army 6-2.

Milford, Rochester Scrap for Top Spot

There's a sizzling scrap going on in the 18th District Junior American Legion baseball league. Milford, which is unbeaten, and Rochester with one loss in five starts, will be shooting for the lead, tonight and Sunday.

Rochester is idle today, after taking a 5-3 win from Clawson last weekend. Rochester had a date today with Pontiac, but the Boys' Club nine has withdrawn from the circuit.

Tonight's games — Milford hosts Birmingham; Clawson is at Berkley. Sunday's games — Milford at Clawson; Berkley at Rochester; Birmingham is idle.

Horseshoe Loop Opens Play Here

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced the start of a horseshoe league for all interested players in the area.

Singles matches consisting of three 25-point games each Thursday night are being held at Oakland Park. Play begins each week at 7 p.m. with no entry fee or deadline for joining.

The league is set up on a round-robin basis to enable all participants to play each other with three points awarded for a victory. A loser may score one point by making 20 points in a match. Doubles will be added later in the season and a tournament for singles and doubles is also planned.

Sally carried rounds of 39-37. She sank a 15-foot putt for an angle three on the 18th hole to go along with two birdies, four bogies and 11 pars.

Mrs. John Laboskey took 2nd place in the WDGA meet with a 79, while Mrs. S. E. Gawne and Mrs. J. G. Israel tied for 3rd with 83s.

Mackay Wins Another

8 'Freshmen' on NL Roster

CINCINNATI (AP)—Manager Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers dipped deep into the ranks of the Milwaukee Braves today to complete a 25-man National League squad that will meet American Leaguers in the annual major league All-Star Game at St. Louis July 9.

Alston, as manager of the 1956 league champion Dodgers, will pilot the All-Stars. He picked five Braves, including All-Star veteran pitcher Warren Spahn.

Hank Aaron of the Braves already had been named by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick as right fielder in place of Wally Post of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who led a fans' vote which Frick said was "unbalanced" by an avalanche of votes from Cincinnati.

Alston's selections, plus the fans' vote for Don Hoak of Cincinnati as the starting third baseman, gave the National League eight "freshmen," as far as All-Star competition is concerned.

But the National League also had the "All Star" of All-Stars in first baseman Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, named for the 14th time.

Milwaukeeans named by Alston, as announced from National League headquarters, were pitchers Lew Burdette and Spahn and infielders Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan and Red Schoendienst.

Alston named four right-handers and three southpaws on his hurling staff and, among them, they had a combined 47 won and 29 lost record through games of last Friday.

Spahn of the Braves is the most seasoned All-Star veteran. He has been on eight previous All-Star squads.

Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phils and Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants will be the other southpaws while the right-handers will be Burdette, Larry Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals, Clem Labine of Alston's Dodgers and Jack Sanford of the Phils.

Burdette, Jackson and Sanford are first timers.

The starting outfield will be Aaron, Willie Mays of the Giants and Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Redlegs. To back them up, Alston picked Gus Bell of the Redlegs, and two newcomers to All-Star play, Gino Cimoli of the Dodgers and Wally Moon of the Cardinals.

Supporting the starting infield of Hoak, Roy McMillan and Johnny Temple of Cincinnati and Musial of the Cards will be Alston's selections of Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, and Logan, Schoendienst and Mathews of the Braves.

Alston picked Hank Foiles of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Hal Smith of the Cardinals, both first year men in All-Star competition, to back up starting catcher Ed Bailey of the Redlegs.

Baptist, White's Win in Softball

Emanuel Baptist and White Bros. Realty added another mark in the win column last night with victories in the Waterford Softball League.

The Baptist romped to a 12-2 triumph over Weldon Thrifty scoring eight times in the 7th with eight of its 11 hits. Winner "Fat" Keith had 12 strikeouts. Gilchrist of the losers had a home run.

White Realty had to come from behind in the 6th frame to down Gidley Electric 4-2. Catcher Jim Addiss, playing his 1st game in the league, broke up the battle with a two-run single.

Oakland Lakes Yield Big Rock Bass, Perch

Last year's champion Pontiac Press "big fish derby" pike fisherman, Jack Wilds of Clarkston, took a 12-inch perch from a lake near his home on Andersonville road. Jack says he's still after the "big one."

A 11½-inch-1½-pound rock bass was landed last night on Lake Orion by 13-year-old Doug Gabbard, 2890 Stoney Creek road, Orion. He was with his dad, Floyd. A big flatfish was the lure.

Cranbrook Wins in 8, No-Hitter for Midget

Cranbrook nipped the Keego Harbor Boys' Club in the 1st inning contest of the early season and the Midget Leagues had their 3rd no-hitter in two days in the feature games of the city baseball loops yesterday.

Pinch-hitter Larry Demcerick singled and moved around the bases on a stolen base, error and passed ball to give Cranbrook a 4-3 triumph in Class D play. Ron Wilkinson of the Pontiac Boys' Club hurled a four-inning no-hitter in the American League beating the Little Eagles 11-1.

Sends Record Area Team

32 Skate in National Test

The Pontiac area will have its biggest roller-skating team since entry in the North American tourney, when 32 make the trip to Oakland, Calif., July 22-28.

Most of the team members will be accompanied by their parents and a number of them will combine for a motorcar caravan, Bert Anselmy of Rolladium Rink says. Anselmy will make the trip also. The team will represent Rolladium, which is shooting for its 4th straight North American title. Its team of 26 members won at Richmond, Va., in 1956.

Included in the team is one national championship set of fours, Ricky Martins, Sue Welch, Charles Parker and Anita Stewart. Many of the team will skate in more than one of the 34 events.

Other team members are — Brian, David and Lynn Marchewka; Marvin and Gary Perkins; Viria Landon, Sylvia Ritchie, Jill Maneck, Pat Jarrard, Dennis Horrall, John Reeding, Robyn White, Gale Enzminger, Diane Grassi, Jerry Hamlin, Cecilia Darimont, Louis Parker, Mary Alice Clouse, Mickey McGuire, Karen Swanson, Penny Money, Jack Horner, Danny Reidl, Carol Rye, Rejeanna Sluter, Rolly Lund, Patty Blazak and Lynn Stits.

Close Competition

Silver Lake Golf Club's women's league yesterday ran into several close contests in the regular round of play. There were ties for second for low net and for the blind hole.

Mrs. Edward Dalton and Mrs. Aubyn Coops tied at 32, back of the low net winner, Mrs. Maynard Eysaman who had 28. Mrs. Andy Condon and Mrs. Lorin Aris tied for blind hole.

British Girl, 3 Americans Reach Semis at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — A gangling schoolgirl slammed a tennis ball at the wall of her suburban home — and bang went another window. It was part of the way of life at the Truman home just outside London.

So Pop Truman decided to chop down his favorite oak in the yard and turn the space into a tennis court.

That's what put his daughter on the road to tennis fame.

Now Christine Truman, 16, six feet tall, shy and fair-haired is in the semifinals of the women's singles competition at Wimbledon. Tomorrow, she meets the favored Althea Gibson of New York.

Christine already has won a degree of fame. She is the youngest lass to reach the semi-finals here during the current century — the youngest to get to the penultimate round since Lottie Dod turned the trick in 1887.

Lottie then was 15. She won the title and went on to repeat the following year.

Christine reached the round of four yesterday by trouncing Mrs. Betty Pratt, an American living in Jamaica, BWI, 9-7, 5-7, 6-4. Miss Gibson gained her bracket by ousting Sandra Reynolds of South Africa, 6-3, 6-4.

The other semi-final will pit Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., against Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N. Y. Miss Hard advanced at the expense of four-time winner Louis Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, while Mrs. Knode eliminated Rosa Maria Reyes of Mexico, 64, 6-0.

All Briton's eyes are on Miss Truman, for the country has been starving for a British women's singles victory here since 1937 when homebred Dorothy Round won it.

Miss Truman quit school so she could concentrate on tennis. Does she fear facing the favorite?

"I don't mind playing Althea at all," she said. "I've got everything to win and nothing to lose."

The U. S. has no entries left in the men's singles semis which were to be decided today.

If you could SEE IT

A very astute businessman recently said, "If people could see automobile protection like they see the automobile they buy, what a difference it might make in their lives."

They would then understand the wide gap between just an automobile insurance policy and the combination of Automobile Club services and the insurance by this Exchange at the Club.

A combination that has changed completely the old conception of car owners' protection; the combination that provides a wide, secure, dependable shelter that is one of the great modern developments of car ownership, and as normal to your motoring as modern tires or modern gas. Automobile protection has grown up. What do you have?

DODGE TRUCKS most powerful of low-priced 3

Dodge matches reserve power against truck "C" and truck "F" in this test for safer passing ability. All three are comparably equipped and loaded with 1000 lbs. A skilled test driver is behind each wheel. Here's the flag, they're off!

Dodge takes an early lead and at 30 m.p.h. is widening the gap. Truck "C" and truck "F" are straining to deliver their peak performance. But that Dodge 204-hp. V-8 keeps gaining easily. Its added power means less wear, fewer repairs, too.

In just one quarter mile Dodge is five lengths ahead of truck "C", seven lengths out front of truck "F". And this is but one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding value of the low-priced three.

'Audrey' Upsets Angling Prediction for Trout

By JACK PATTERSON

Ran across a sonic fish "caller" the other day in a local sporting goods store and it started us wondering about the usefulness of noise makers as an aid to the fisherman. The principle is nothing new, of course. Most any farm boy of a generation or so ago was quite aware that a bumble - bee sunk in a glass jar had magicau fish attracting powers. A worm dangled alongside had a very short life expectancy.

PATTERSON

Now it seems reasonable to suppose that if the bumble-bee deal works — and local hotel proprietor Charlie Chapman says it does — then a mechanical whatzit that makes more or less the same sound should work too.

Thus the fisherman who wants to ring an underwater dinner bell has a choice of plunking down nine fifty for a battery-operated robot or going afield and fetching himself a bumble-bee. The choice is determined largely by fatness of purse and/or fleetness afoot.

In view of the July 1st tax increases on certain aids to the sportsman this could turn out to be a very uncomfortable summer for bumble-bees.

The tail-end disturbances of H. Audrey somewhat upset our fishing forecast and we'll extend the "about the best" trout fishing period up until mid-July. Any experiences the angler suffers which seem at odds with predictions in this column can be laid to sun-spots, which are very active now and difficult for us to control from this distance.

Local fishing has suffered from too much wind the last few days, but if things have finally settled down, as they appear to at this moment, evening surface bluegill fishing should be very good.

A small popper bug (we like black best, although bluegills can get surprisingly color-selective at times) fished with a fly rod and a long leader, should do the trick. If there is no activity in the shallows try deeper water. If they're hungry a popper will pull them up from 15 or 20 feet.

Bass fishing isn't what it ought to be at this time of year, but whether that is due to the bass or the caliber of today's fisherman would be hard to say. One thing that works sometimes when bass are in the shallows is a "dead" streamer. The fish are very shy and going after them is not unlike bonefishing.

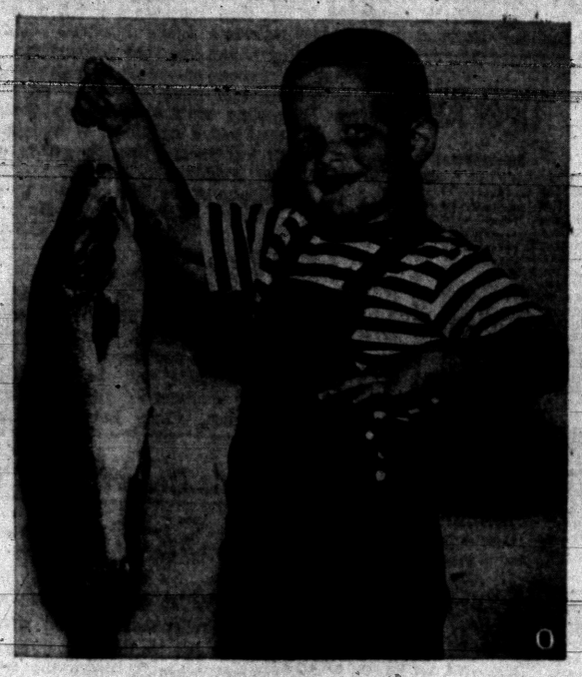

Find a cruising fish and lay the fly well ahead of him. Let it stay on the bottom. The tiniest twitch as he gets closer will usually attract his attention.

Avoid any sudden motions of the fly and now and then the fish will move right in and take it. Patience is the vital quality here.

If everything else fails, anchor off the drop-off, fish a small minnow on a small hook and long, light leader.

Busy Holiday for Boat Clubs

Tonight's "nite - owl" (cq) race, and the events of July 4, and the weekend will serve as tuneups for the big Michigan district lightning regatta at the Cass Lake club, July 19-20-21. It is expected that about 75 of these fast sailing craft will take part. Charles Buck is the club's racing committee head. Annual Fourth potluck dinner will be held Thursday.

Watkins Lake Yachting association also will race its three classes (snipes, thistles and lightnings) on Thursday morning, Friday night and Sunday morning and afternoon.

W. Michigan Holds Holiday Boat Races

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — The snarling buzz of outboard motorboats is scheduled next weekend for Grand Haven and Muskegon in two major events sponsored by the Western Michigan Stock Outboard Racing Assn.

More than 200 boats are expected Saturday in the 100-mile fourth annual West Michigan Marathon over a Grand River and Spring Lake course. A closed-course Mona Lake race is scheduled Sunday.

'Top o' Michigan' Set for Aug. 4

One of Michigan's big outboard events of the season has been set for Aug. 4, with an entry expected to include many of the state's best drivers. The Top O'Michigan 87 - mile marathon runs through several lakes and rivers in the Cheboygan area, starting and ending at Topinabee.

Entries close at midnight July 31. They should be sent to Cheboygan County Chamber of Commerce.

Solunar Tables

The following solunar tables, prepared especially for the Pontiac area should help the fisherman to pick the best times for his sport. These tables, drafted by John Alden Knight, show the best times of day for fishing with the major periods lasting for an hour to an hour and a half. Minor periods are of shorter duration.

3 Big Gun Events

Oakland County Sportsmen's club shooters have three big gun events coming up this summer. First is the important Michigan smallbore rifle match shoot, July 13-14.

Equally important, to the skeeters, is the annual two-day Chief Pontiac event, in which many of the state's best shotgunners are expected to take part.

On Aug. 11, the annual Chief Pontiac smallbore rifle match takes place. All three shoots are scheduled for the OCSC ranges and fields.

Rod-Making an Art

Good Split Bamboo Poles Costly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Yes, junior, once upon a time they made the best fish poles out of wood.

As a matter of fact, many a man whose memory goes back beyond the era of super plastics will tell you that they still do. Not many, maybe, but a handful of the legendary craftsmen are still in business.

Oh, the engineers can show you with a slide rule how a modern mass-produced rod of synthetic resins or glass fibre can do anything that the old hand-made bamboos did, for one-fourth or less of the cost.

But a slide rule has no tender heart, no appreciation for the arts. And a custom crafted split bamboo fly rod, junior, was and is as much a work of art as a piece of fishing tackle.

Of the great names of the tradition-hallowed craft, these five at least are still active, comparatively speaking: the Charles F. Orvis Co. of Manchester, Vt., the H. L. Leonard Co., Andrew Kull of Lake Mills, Wis., E. F. Payne of Highland Mills, N. Y., and the Thomas Rod Co.

Altogether, these five make perhaps 4,000 rods a year, and the Orvis firm makes three-quarters of the total. Leonard turns out about 450, Payne 200, Thomas about 150, and Kull — probably the last of the finicky individual craftsmen — fewer than 50 and then mostly for the children and grandchildren of old clients.

With some 22 million fishermen around, this means that precious few of them stand much chance of ever seeing a real live Leonard or a Kull bamboo in action, to say nothing of owning one. Owning one involves the expenditure of up to about $200, but in most cases that's hardly the problem. The Orvis firm recently opened a shop at its Vermont home and now you can stop in and buy yourself a rod even if you're nobody.

Still Game Animal

Skunks on Protected List

LANSING (AP) — Michigan skunks came out smelling like a rose, so to speak, in consideration of a proposal to take them off the list of animals protected by state game laws.

The law now authorizes trappers to take skunks from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.

A steady, though unspectacular increase in his numbers has aroused some sentiment to make him legal game the year around. Some farmers complain he has become increasing troublesome in his forages for food.

Field men of the state conservation department took up the matter at a meeting earlier this month, but decided not to call upon the state conservation commission to remove the skunk from the protected list.

As Dave Jenkins, department game biologist, explains it year around trapping would encourage a great many people to make pets of the animals, after proper deodorization, of course.

Skunks, however, are highly susceptible to rabies and an increase in the number trapped and kept for pets would boost the chances for human contact with rabid animals.

Sportsmen's Regatta Planned at Wolverine

Second annual sportsmen's motorboat regatta will take place at Wolverine this weekend (July 6). Site is at Silver Lake, at Wolverine.

Event is for stock utility runabouts (A-B-C) and hydroplanes (A-B).

No Shooting Until 1958

LANSING — Conservation department officials explain why private shooting preserves will not be in operation in Michigan until 1958.

A letter, in answer to several inquiries, is being mailed to interested persons, outlining the procedures which necessitate a delay in the establishment of preserves.

In the letter, the department points out that the legislative act which authorizes private shooting preserves is not effective until Sept. 27 — 90 days after the legislature adjourns — and no action is possible until after that date.

The legislative act itself makes preserve regulations subject to specific legal procedures and codes which will require public hearings and approval by the state Attorney General.

This will involve 30 days for advertising hearings and filing required legal briefs, as well as time for setting up regulations and submitting them to the state Conservation Commission for approval, time for revisions arising out of the public hearings, and time for review by the Attorney General.

"After approval, additional time will be needed for such details as printing regulations and forms, submitting applications, inspecting properties, and certifying the number and kind of birds to be shot," the letter explains.

Full compliance with the law would make it impossible for actual licensing of preserves to begin before December, at the earliest. Thus, the requirements, for all practical purposes, eliminate shooting preserves for 1957.

Because of this mandatory delay, no licensing will be done until 1958.

Young Rider Hits Top

A half dozen years ago, young Howard (Howie) Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Miller, 5730 North Third St., Rochester, made his first appearance in the saddle at a Four-H horse show. Saturday, in his first season of open competition in a major show, he rode to a victory in the tough Six Bars event at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Howard gave Flannigan, his fine jumper, a brilliant ride over the high bars, turning in the only perfect round, riding against some of the country's best. Flannigan is nine years old, has been owned by Miller for the last two years. His first jumper was Tic-Tock.

Chuck Grant has been Howard's instructor, and Miller has done most of his riding at Grant's stables.

Very happy over the victory, Miller is planning to take Flannigan to the Jackson show this week, and possibly will ride in the Metamora Hunt show this month.

Wheat Prices Drift Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures drifted lower on the board of trade today following the advance of the previous session, but oats and corn showed little change in early trading.

Some wheat selling was influenced by reports of clear weather overnight in the winter wheat belt. And indications of favorable harvesting weather for the next few days.

Soybeans were firmer than other grains, with buying reflecting reported agreement to ship surplus crops to iron curtain countries on a barter basis.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅜ to one cent lower, July $2.12⅜; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, July $1.31⅛; oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, July 68; rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.23; soybeans were ⅝ to 1⅜ higher, July $2.38¾; and lard was unchanged to five cents a hundred pounds higher, July $13.30.

Phone Calls Going Up —Sky-High, in Fact!

DETROIT (AP) — The day when airplane passengers will be able to pick up a telephone and call their friends far below on the ground isn't too far off.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. says it and Illinois Bell plan to begin air-to-ground telephone testing between Detroit and Chicago in September. The experiment will be the first of its kind in the country.

During the tests only one call at a time will be permitted, and their maximum range will be about 100 miles.

Market Forges Further Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market forged still further gains as trading became heavier early this afternoon.

A wide range of pivotal stocks stepped ahead from fractions to more than a point. Meanwhile, specialties strode forward to much bigger gains.

Ignoring tomorrow's July 4 holiday and prospects of a long weekend, the market advanced with confidence bolstered by an assortment of news items.

Aircrafts were helped by Senate passage of the defense spending bill restoring much of the funds cut by the House. Coppers were spurred by reports Chile may cut copper production 10 per cent. Wall Street was impressed also by predictions of continued business boom with no war and depression in a poll conducted by Dun & Bradstreet.

The recovery by bonds, brokers said, lent new strength to investment type stocks. At the same time, they noted that with the first six months of the year past, there was now a considerable amount of re-investment in progress, because of the tax considerations.

Council Okays Rules for Skiers at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Village Council has tentatively approved recommendations of the Lake Orion Boat Club for water skiers here.

Recommendations made by the group: Observers must be in the boat and not in the water; life jackets must be worn by skiers for protection and boats and skiers should remain about 200 feet from shore in wider parts of lake in order to prevent accidents.

Following approval by the village attorney and a 30 day wait, the recommendations would become an ordinance.

Area Left Out of Cobo Plans

Detroiter Draws Line of Transportation Study at Fourteen Mile Road

Pontiac and North Oakland County have been left out of Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo's preliminary plans for a study of the metropolitan area's transportation needs.

Nine county communities have been invited to take part, but they are all located south of Fourteen Mile road.

City Manager Walter K. Willman is not worried, saying that if Pontiac wants a voice in the planning, it can get it.

"In the meantime," he said, "we are going ahead with our own transportation planning.

"If sometime in the future we want to coordinate our planning with Detroit's, I'm sure we'll be able to."

In Birmingham, south of Pontiac, but north of the Fourteen Mile road line, City Manager Harold K. Schone felt differently.

"Birmingham has a large number of commuters to and from Detroit," he observed. "The city definitely should be included in the study."

HIGHWAYS INADEQUATE

Schone pointed out that the reliance of many Birmingham commuters on train transportation indicates highway facilities are inadequate.

"This is one of the main Birmingham problems that the study should cover," he stated.

The Detroit plan calls for coordination of city highways and transportation systems with services rendered by bus lines, railroads, water and air transport facilities.

Mayors and supervisors of 33 suburban communities have been invited to attend a first meeting Tuesday in Detroit. Oakland County communities included are: Hazel Park, Ferndale, Oak Park, Royal Oak, Berkley, Lathrup Village, Southfield Township, Farmington Township and Royal Oak Township.

Expect Steel Output to Pass Predictions

NEW YORK (AP)—Indications are that July steel output may not be as low as had been feared earlier, Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

While July is still expected to be the low point for the year, the magazine said "The month may contain the seeds of an upturn that could carry through the fourth quarter."

"July production," Iron Age said, "among the larger companies could be anywhere from three to eight points higher than expected as recently as a month ago.

"It will depend on individual company product mix and how hard salesmen push for new business."

Some of the pick up in July business is due to increased ordering from Detroit, Iron Age said. It added, "Part of this represents trial orders for new models, but part could be due to need for tonnages to fill in depleted inventories."

Most steel users plan to pass along higher steel costs to customers, the publication said, adding, "Wherever competition will allow, prices of products made of steel will go up as soon as the added costs can be figured."

Await Soviet Nuclear Ban Reaction

Disarmament Hopes Rise

LONDON (AP)—Western delegates to the London disarmament talks appeared hopeful today at initial Russian reaction to the U.S. proposal for a trial ban on all atomic and hydrogen weapon tests.

Word from Moscow on top-level Soviet reaction was awaited anxiously.

The conditional American proposal for a 10-month ban on tests was presented to the five-nation U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee yesterday by Harold E. Stassen, U.S. delegate. He laid down these conditions:

(1) That the Soviet Union and the West at the same time agree to stop producing materials for nuclear arms in 1959; (2) that the ban on tests and production should be supervised and controlled; and (3) that the bans should be written into a limited disarmament treaty.

The West previously had insisted that a halt to nuclear arms production must be effective at the same time any ban was made on tests. But under the new proposal the West would be halting tests on a Soviet promise to stop building nuclear weapons in 1959.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin welcomed the American proposal. He said he was happy the West had recognized the need for halting tests and that an effort was being made to achieve a solution.

Stassen termed the 10-month ban a sort of trial, to become effective the day after a partial disarmament pact is ratified by the major powers. The United States previously has indicated no U.S. action could be taken before Congress meets in January.

In the first phase of the U.S. plan, tests would be stopped and international squads of inspectors would be stationed at strategic points in the United States, Britain, Russia and the Pacific. Their duty would be to check on any illegal testing.

In the second phase, production of nuclear materials for weapons would be halted and agreed quantities of atomic raw materials would be turned to peaceful uses.

The plan would require detailed negotiations to work out an effective control system.

Boost Charge for Water Tap

City's Commissioners Seek Better Balance on Installation Costs

Written into law last night by the City Commission was an ordinance increasing rates for tapping into the city's water system from $75 to $125.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the boost was necessary to more evenly balance city costs for installation of meters and equipment and charges for such service.

He added that Pontiac lost approximately $32,000 last year under the old charge.

The new one will apply only to new homes tying into city mains.

Commissioners last evening breezed through a routine 27-point agenda in about 24 minutes.

APPROVE LEASE RENEWAL

Approved were renewal of two one-year leases at $57.16 per month with Gene Featherston and Lyle A. Finkle for used car lots on South Saginaw street.

The commission accepted several special assessment rolls for public improvement work and set payments for 14 similar projects in the city.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles offered as a public necessity the construction of sidewalks on both sides of High street from Blaine avenue to Summit street.

Former City Man Wins Dow Corning High Post

The appointment of a former Pontiac resident to one of three key supervisory positions at the new Dow Corning Silicone Specialties Division plant in Greensboro, N. C., has been announced by A. William Rhodes, manager of the division.

GRIFFIN

Jerald L. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Griffin, 987 Argyle St. and present assistant credit manager of Dow Corning, will be accounting supervisor of the new plant. His wife Valeta, is a former resident of Waterford Township.

Griffin, who attended Pontiac High School, presently is employed in the Dow Corning home offices at Midland. He will transfer to Greensboro when the new plant, now under construction, is completed late this summer.

Boy, 15, Hurt in Crash, Reported Improving

A 15-year-old Pontiac boy Clark S. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis of 26 Rose Ct. who was injured in an accident Thursday night, is still on the danger list but steadily improving, University Hospital officials in Ann Arbor reported yesterday.

The boy suffered a dislocated hip and serious head injuries in the accident which killed Charles H. Steven, 40, of 200 E. Pike St. The two-car collision on U. S.-12 about 20 miles west of Ann Arbor also claimed the lives of two Detroiters, and injured two others.

Czechoslovakia to Import Cars

Only a Few Motorists Will Be Able to Buy Western Autos

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia, richest of all East European Communist countries, will import its first sizable number of Western cars this year. Only a few private motorists can hope to get one.

Cars are the only products still rationed in this country.

Czechs are motoring fans by tradition. Czechoslovakia has its own Skoda automobile plant and is famed for its cross country motor cyclists.

A flashy new-model Western car always attracts a crowd in Prague, although it has more automobile traffic than any other East European city.

Government agencies have priority in purchasing cars. Private buyers applying for a ration coupon must show a certificate from a savings bank that the applicant has a deposit designed for the purchase. In addition, the Trade Union must certify his "merits" in the economic reconstruction of the country.

Rumors have it that in Prague alone, more than 30,000 people have filed applications for a car. The prices are exorbitant. A small Czech-produced Spartak sells for 27,000 crowns, more than twice the average annual salary (there is no free exchange of the crown: it may be worth from 3 to 14 cents).

This year's imports will probably total about 10,000 automobiles, including several thousand from Russia and East Germany.

Italian and possibly also British cars will make their debut on Czech roads this year. France has exported cars previously to Czechslovakia and will sell another contingent in 1957.

Rain Squall Hits Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A sudden rain squall, with wind gusts up to 73 miles an hour, struck the Soo late yesterday. Tree limbs were snapped, some trees felled, power lines broken and an estimated 1.2 inches of rain dumped in half an hour. No injuries, however, were reported.

Bond Issue Approved

The State Municipal Finance Commission yesterday approved a proposed bond issue of $25,000 by the city of Farmington for the purchase of public works equipment.

CAREER REVITALIZED — Vic Damone welcomes Peggy King and Rogers Williams tonight at 7 o'clock when the hour-long "Vic Damone Show" has its premiere on CBS-TV. The young singer believes that this program marks a turning point in his career, which lost some steam after his two-year hitch in the Army.

Believes Army Slowed Career

Singer Is Taking Over Godfrey Variety Show for the Summer

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Twelve years ago a darkly handsome teenage singer appeared on Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" show and strained the applause meter with a soulful rendition of "Prisoner of Love."

Tonight, the same singer reaches a milestone in what he chooses, at the comparatively tender age of 28, to regard his comeback when he returns to CBS as the star of a musical variety show replacing the Godfrey show for the summer.

And for the first time since he stripped off the khaki of Uncle Sam's Army, Vic Damone feels that he has "a chance again — for acceptance."

Those who see only the ever-smiling exterior of show business may find it difficult to understand where Damone has been that gives him a base from which to come back. He has been a "name" singer for a decade.

But Damone insists that he has "the lumps" to prove it takes more than a familiar name to make a star.

METEORIC CAREER

His pre-service career fully warranted the use of the theatrical cliche "meteoric." His recordings sold like diamonds in June, and he was the darling of nightclub owners, to whom each note he sang was a dollar sign.

He was rapidly approaching a cushioned seat on top of the world when the call to arms came to Damone in 1951.

Military service in itself was no great burden to Damone. He went to Europe prepared to fulfill whatever duties might be assigned to him.

But patriotism became tinged with anger and bitterness when he found that while the Army was bringing third-rate performers to camp to entertain the troops, he was not allowed until late in his two-year hitch to sing a note outside the shower room.

And while his superiors forbade Damone to make more recordings, even on his own time, other singers were stepping into his spot in the public eye with hit after hit.

HE'D LOST HEART

"I got out of the Army dejected, put down," Damone said. "It showed in my work. I'd lost something—the heart—so people wouldn't accept me again. Why should they?"

Motion pictures — "Athena," "Deep in My Heart," "Hit the Deck" and "Kismet" — proved as disappointing as his nightclub appearances and recordings.

Then Damone was offered the chance to record "On the Street Where You Live" from "My Fair Lady." Damone says in a classic understatement that "it started something."

That single disk already has sold almost a million and a quarter copies. In its wake, Damone's subsequent recordings have moved progressively upward on the sales charts.

"For the first time since I got out of the Army," he sighed, "I really feel that I have a chance again — for acceptance.

"And what's more I have a beautiful son (Perry, 20 months) and a beautiful wife (Pier Angeli) and she loves me and I love her. What more do I need?"

Service Station Attendant Helps Couples Marry

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — A 60-year-old service station attendant has retired here to make a living helping couples get married.

In this Bryan County city next to the Texas line, thousands of couples from out of state, mostly Texas, come each year to get married.

He tells them how to get blood tests, a license and a judge. As for his sign, he said he added the lake and fishing as an after thought in case anyone was looking for them.

Cupid's helper doesn't charge, but he makes his living from tips. "When you get a couple on the way to get married, you find them in a most generous mood," he chuckled. "If they won't tip you then, you'd never get a nickel out of them."

Parents Fight Trial of GI Son in France

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — The parents of an American GI accused by the French of killing an Algerian vowed yesterday to "fight against any trial in a French court."

The GI, Specialist 3.c. Dewayne McOsker, 21, could be sentenced to the guillotine if convicted by a French court. He was handed over to French authorities Saturday night under the existing status of forces agreement between France and the United States.

McOsker, a cook, is accused of killing the Algerian in a dispute over payment for two cartons of American cigarettes that McOsker sold him.

The GI's mother, Mrs. Lester McOsker, Manhasset, said her son had never been in any trouble before. "I'm worried," she said. "I can't believe a thing like this ever happened."

A family friend said she had been given sedatives and ordered to bed.

Yesterday the McOskers retained two American attorneys.

Set Murder Trial Date for L. Ewing Scott

LOS ANGELES (AP) — L. Ewing Scott will go to trial on a charge of murdering his wife Sept. 16.

The date was set yesterday when Scott appeared in court and pleaded innocent to all charges against him in connection with his long-missing wife Evelyn.

The 61-year-old former stock broker is also accused of grand theft and forgery in his handling of her estate. Mrs. Scott has not been seen since she disappeared in May 1955.

Man, 79, Marries Old Sweetheart, 77

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It wasn't quite a June wedding, but that didn't bother Joe Sprows, 79, of Lamar, Colo., and Mrs. Leota Bowman, 77, Oklahoma City.

After a 60-year separation, the couple, surrounded by their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, were married at the bride's home last night.

Daughters and sons were witnesses. Granddaughters had charge of the music and guest book. And a great-granddaughter helped cut the cake.

Sprows and his new bride were high school sweethearts at Noble when Oklahoma was still a territory. Their planned marriage was stopped by her parents, and Sprows left.

Both married and reared families. About a year ago, Sprows looked up his old sweetheart for the first time in 60 years.

Actor Bogart's Yacht Sold for $33,000

LOS ANGELE (AP) — The late Humphrey Bogart's 55-foot yacht, Santana has been sold for $33,000 to Willis E. Hunt of San Diego.

The yacht was one of the great loves of Bogart's life. At his funeral a replica of the sleek yawl was at the altar instead of a casket.

The Santana's sale, approved yesterday in Superior Court, is part of the liquidation of Bogart's estate, believed to exceed a million ollars. Most of it has been left to his widow, actress Lauren Bacall, and their children, Stephen, 7, and Leslie, 4.

Vandals Work on Trucks

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Lorenzo Lente of Albuquerque decided somebody didn't want him to drive his pickup truck one day recently when he found: Fertilizer in the gasoline tank, sand in the oil and a broken distributor.

Earl Wilson's Mingling With Westhampton Set

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The wife and I went out to Westhampton Beach, L. I.—on the "American Riviera"—which is peopled with rich folks who have a hard time spending the interest on their interest.

Some of the women never wear mink because they think it's shabby. The men don't tip you off on what stocks to buy—but what companies to buy.

A Boston lady admired a couple of small cars—a Chevrolet Corvette and a Ford Thunderbird, which were allowed in.

"But you have a Cadillac," I mentioned to her.

"You can get pretty tired of Cadillacs!" she whimpered.

Huntington Hartford 3d, Standard Oil heir Dick Cowell and his fiancee Gail Whitney, Temple Texas, Dave Garroway, Eleanor Holm and her beau, the rich model, Vic Cutrere, the Max Liebmans, Charles Addams, TV star Bobby Sherwood, and playwright Mike V. Gazzo were there—and so was comedian Jack Carter and his gal, socialite water skier Anne Johnson.

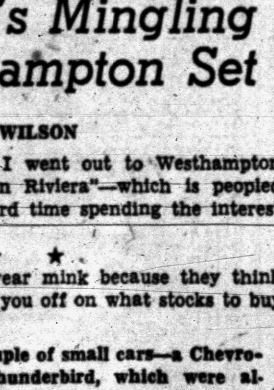

Everybody was happy.

I called a waiter at the Bath and Tennis Club. He didn't say "This is not my station;" he said, "This is not my restaurant."

It wasn't either; he owned two down the street.

It's the kind of place where young millionaires work as a hobby. Irwin Kramer, of the Hotel Edison family, took over Hampton Inn and converted the Trade Winds Room into the beach's hot spot. So all Saturday night he headwaitered at the velvet rope and enjoyed it.

Noted Moravian Church Razed in Pennsylvania

LITITZ, Pa. (AP) — The famed Moravian church of this Pennsylvania Dutch stronghold of Lancaster County and the rectory next door burned down yesterday. The board of trustees said the loss, in money value, may run to a million dollars. In intangibles, the board added, the loss is incalcuable.

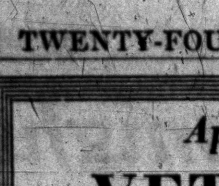

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The church was built in 1787 and was rich in tradition and folklore.

The blind and deaf and the dumb were counted separately for the first time in the 1830 federal census.

Wisconsin was the leading cheese producing state in the Union in 1950 with an output of 420,945,000 pounds.
