Few Names Shy of Facing Romney

Political Upstart Left at Gate

LANSING (AP)—John Dalzell, a political unknown, almost became the man who challenged George Romney, a political star, for the Republican nomination for governor.

At 3:50 p.m. yesterday, the stocky little travel agency owner rushed into the state elections office in the capitol laden with nominating petitions. It was 10 minutes before the deadline for candidates to file for the Aug. 7 primary election.

Dalzell, who runs the Vacationland Travel Center in Detroit, was trailed by a pretty little secretary and both were all but counting signatures on the run.

Reporters, surprised to learn that Romney might have a bona fide opponent, surrounded Dalzell and began firing questions.

"Have you got enough signatures?" asked one.

"I don't know; I'm adding them up," said Dalzell, glancing uneasily at his wristmatch.

Dalzell's face fell as he totaled up his figures. His secretary looked as if she wanted to cry.

"It looks to me like I've got only 14,397 signatures," he said. "The statutory requirement is 14,542.

"Even if I did have enough, I'd have to allow myself some leeway for signatures that would be voided for one reason or another."

Sitting at a nearby desk, State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery was listening to a telephone operator recite the time of day.

"That's it; it's 4 o'clock," he announced bringing his right arm down in a vertical sweep. An assistant slammed shut the door to the office.

"Well, that's a lot of work that went down the drain," said Dalzell sadly. "If I had one more day..."

"I guess I won't get to run this year; I started out too late," he said, then added brightening:

"But I'll be back in 1964."

Action Is Seen as 'American' Faces Walkout

Situation at TWA Still Moment-to-Moment as Engineers Eye Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy created an emergency board under the Railway Labor Act today to probe the threatened strike against American Airlines, heading off the walkout for at least 60 days.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was expected to act today to head off a strike threat on American Airlines, in the midst of continuing efforts to settle a different union's dispute with Trans World Airlines.

The TWA walkout threat is the more imminent, held off only from moment to moment while the Flight Engineers International Association studied terms proposed by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The American disagreement is with 10,000 ground personnel represented by the Transport Workers Union. In that case there is a definite deadline of midnight Friday, but legal procedures to obtain at least a 60-day delay are still open.

Both unions are affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The National Mediation Board was reported to have certified to the White House that the threatened strike on American would endanger public transport service.

★ ★ ★

Early today Goldberg said there had been progress toward settlement of the TWA dispute.

HOPEFUL REPORT

Goldberg gave the hopeful report as he recessed the marathon negotiations at the request of union officials who asked for a chance to confer with their local chapters.

He declined to reveal the reason for the union conference but presumably the flight engineer representatives want to sound out members on the government's latest proposal for solving the wrangle over jobs in the cockpits of jet airliners.

Goldberg presented the proposal to the airline and Flight Engineers International Association Tuesday just at the 1 p.m. (Pontiac Time) deadline the union had

Shows Duties of Sheriff's Dept.

MINIATURE COUNTY — A trailer-mounted county in miniature, depicting functions of a typical sheriff's department, was sent to the Michigan Sheriff's Association Convention in Bay City today as a gift from Oakland County Sheriff's Department, its volunteer marine division and area merchants. Admiring the hand-made display are (from left) Sheriff Frank Irons, Safety Director Donald Kratt and Marine Deputy James M. Bayes, who designed and built the unit with aid from other marine deputies.

End Nears for County Courthouse

★ ★ ★

Demolition hardly will be noticeable at first, however. Crews will gut the building's interior before setting down the Cleveland sandstone walls.

Both buildings have been vacant since last August. Operations were moved into the new court tower at the County Service Center on Telegraph Road.

During the interim, the county has been unsuccessful in efforts to sell the old courthouse property.

County officials are hopeful that razing the outdated buildings will make the site more desirable to any prospective buyer.

Shirley MacLaine Robbed in Leningrad

LENINGRAD (AP) — Hollywood star Shirley MacLaine flew out of Leningrad today after being robbed and tossed out of her hotel room at midnight. Airline tickets, films and jewelry were missing.

Before boarding a plane for Moscow the weary actress who is traveling privately through the Soviet Union said: "Well, I wanted to see how the comman man travels around here, now I know."

Miss MacLaine's night of troubles started when she decided to pass up a midnight train for Moscow rather than leave a dinner party she gave in a local restaurant for about a dozen Russian and American students.

46 Join Election Line-Up Before County Primary

The starting gate closed behind 46 candidates yesterday as they lined up for election in Oakland County.

When the 4 p.m. filing deadline arrived, incumbents for all 17 county posts on this year's ballot had filed for nomination in the Aug. 7 primary. Six of the current office holders—all but one of them Republicans—face challenges in their re-election bids.

Eleven other incumbents—seven Republicans, one Democrat and three nonpartisans—are unopposed in their party's primary.

Unchallenged incumbents on the Republican ticket are U.S. Congressman William S. Broomfield, Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Sheriff Frank W. Irons, Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy, Treasurer Charles Sparks, Surveyor Ralph A. Main and 3rd District State Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr.

Pontiac's 2nd District Rep. Arthur J. Law is the only Democratic incumbent running unopposed in the primary.

Meanwhile, three nonpartisan posts will be eliminated from the primary ballot because current office holders are unchallenged, said Election Clerk Mabel Child.

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams and Circuit Court commissioners Maurice Cole and Verne Hampton are assured of re-election and will be placed only on the November general election ballot.

Shaping up as one of the hardest-fought primary battles is the Republican state senator contest between incumbent Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, con-con delegate Richard D. Kuhn and Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber. The winner will be pitted against the lone Democratic candidate, Leland H. Smith, a political science teacher at Highland Park Junior College.

Broomfield's challenge for the U.S. House of Representatives in November will come from either Birmingham attorney George J. Fulkerson or George E. Lennox, owner of a Royal Oak tool supply company who lost the same nomination in 1960.

Also in the general election, Law will face Republican Robert C. Smith, a history and government teacher in Waterford

City Designates Week to Register Before Primary

The week of June 25 has been named as Voter Registration Week in Pontiac, by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Registration hours are Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. To accommodate voters who want to register for the Aug. 7 primary, the clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, July 9, the deadline date for registration.

★ ★ ★

Eligible to register are those who will be 21 by Aug. 7; those who have not voted in the last four years; those who have changed addresses within the city; and those who have moved into the city and resided here 30 days.

Thursday Forecast: a Day to Play Hooky

Thursday will be mostly sunny and warmer, a perfect day for a sun tan or picnic.

Skies will be clear and temperatures on the cool side tonight, the low about 55, the weatherman said.

For the next five days high temperatures will range in the upper 70s and drop to a few degrees below 60 at night. A few scattered showers or thundershowers are predicted over the weekend.

Morning northerly winds at 3 miles per hour will become light variable at 6 to 12 m.p.h. tonight and Thursday.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 55. At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 71.

Plan for Clinton River Tabled by Commission

A slashed Clinton River improvement plan last night failed to win approval by the City Commission.

An informal session on the plan was set for 7 p.m. Monday.

Originally a $4-million plan to improve river drainage had been proposed by the old City Commission.

Drainage would be improved by widening, deepening and straightening the river bed.

A $2.5-million plan placed on the table last night met objections from Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and Milton E. Henry.

Henry, along with Commissioners Robert A. Landry and Winford E. Bottom, had originally opposed the $4-million plan when it was discussed by the old commission last March. They said the project wasn't necessary now, would harness the city under a large debt and would take the place of other needed improvements.

Last night City Manager Robert Stierer said, "I am surprised that you should now wish to review all the points we've talked about all the way through last December. I wouldn't bring this to you, if I did not think you agreed on this at your informal meeting."

Harmon questioned both the necessity and the manner of financing the drainage improvement plan.

★ ★ ★

"I think we're hog-tying ourselves with the capital improvement fund," he said. "I don't think the fund will stand this load."

As one way out, he suggested the city might await appropriation of new antirecession public works funds by Congress instead of adding the project to its urban renewal bill.

Both Henry and Harmon criticized arguments for using the river project's cost to jack up total cost of the R44 urban renewal project to yield a $400,000 "credit" against the city's first urban renewal project (R20).

The urban renewal act permits such "crediting." This allows cities to delay paying their one-third share of the total urban renewal cost. During the delay, the city could plan to raise enough money to meet this cost by resale of urban renewal land.

Commissioner William H. Taylor, pressing for approval of the project, said:

"I have seen the city go down hill constantly. It is 15 years behind now in urban renewal. If we want to get things done, we must move. This is the time to get the Clinton River project done."

Stierer also had made a bid for approval of the project noting its delay was holding up the R44 renewal project in Chicago urban renewal offices. Stierer also had wanted the go-ahead so that construction could be intermeshed with construction of the perimeter road.

Commissioners Hit County Plans for Allen Airport

The City Commission last night hit Oakland County plans to expand the Allen Airport in Orion Township.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners passed by 5-to-1 vote a resolution opposing any further expenditure of tax money for the airport.

★ ★ ★

The chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, Delos Hamlin, said yesterday he would recommend that the county not abandon plans for enlarging the Allen Airport for noncommercial use.

★ ★ ★

County plans for a multi-million-dollar major jet airport were rejected this week by the Federal Aviation Agency for lack of air space and possible conflict with a future Pontiac Municipal Airport instrument-landing system.

U.S.-France Rift Still There

Rusk, NATO Heads Talk

The conference made no real progress toward smoothing differences between France and the United States.

Rusk arrived in Paris on Tuesday for the first stop on a West European tour to shore up the unity of NATO. American sources said his initial talk with De Gaulle was animated, friendly and searching but that it didn't budge the French leader.

Rusk met first today with Gen. Laurie Norstad, NATO supreme commander, and then talked with Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter, the permanent U.S. representative of the 15-nation NATO Council.

There was no immediate indication of the substance of their talks. It was thought likely they briefly reviewed current NATO problems, including the issue of giving America's allies a greater share in deciding on when and how NATO's arsenal of American nuclear warheads might be used.

After his meetings with Norstad and Finletter, Rusk went to the sprawling NATO headquarters at the edge of Paris for talks with NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker and a session with the council.

INFORMAL MEETING

U.S. sources said Rusk was meeting informally with the council and had no prepared statement or specific proposals to put before the group.

Later, Rusk was to return to his consultations with French leaders — the main purpose of his three-day trip to Paris. He had two meetings scheduled with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and was to call on Premier Georges Pompidou.

Talks Shifted to New Locale

Ford, UAW Meet Today in Cleveland to Renew Strike Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiations between Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers Union moved to Cleveland, Ohio, today as both the company and union issued statements on their positions on issues involved in a strike at a key stamping plant.

The strike, which began June 6 at Ford's Walton Hills, Ohio, plant near Cleveland, has idled 70,000 Ford workers.

UAW representatives requested the transfer of negotiations after a three-hour negotiating session Tuesday failed to make progress toward a settlemen.

★ ★ ★

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, charged that Ford had provoked the strike of 3,200 Walton Hills plant workers to serve what he said were the company's political purposes in Michigan.

WOULD SEE FORD

Reuther offered to meet personally with Henry Ford II, company board chairman.

Two Ford officials made public today the company's position on the strike.

Charles H. Patterson, vice president-manufacturing group, and M. M. Cummins, Ford director of labor relations, said UAW members at the Walton Hills plant are a more militant type of unionist than at the company's Chicago stamping plant.

★ ★ ★

The number of Ford employes idled because of parts shortages resulting from the strike climbed to 70,000 Tuesday with layoffs to an additional 20,000 workers in the company's manufacturing plants across the nation. Operations involved in truck production are continuing.

MAY SLOW '63 MODEL

Henry Ford II told a news conference Tuesday in San Francisco the strike, over a work standards dispute, may delay the company's 1963 model automobiles.

★ ★ ★

Reuther's charge was that Ford provoked the strike in an attempt to win Michigan Gov. John Swainson's approval of a legislature-passed bill which would nullify a State Supreme Court decision permitting workers laid off because of a strike in another plant of the same corporation to collect unemployment compensation.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to Swainson, Kenneth D. Cassidy, Ford vice president for industrial relations, said the decision forces Michigan employers "to finance strikes against themselves."

Plans Plant at Albion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Air Reduction Co. today made plans to build a $3.7-million plant in Albion, Mich., and engineers said the facility may employ up to 200 persons.

Big N-Bomb Flop 2nd in Two Tries

HONOLULU (AP)—Malfunction of a Thor missile forced the United States to destroy a gigantic nuclear device in flight near Johnston Island late Tuesday night without exploding it.

No specific explanation was given for the failure. Joint Task Force 8 said in its official statement that the shot was scrapped due to a malfunction in the system.

The nuclear device was blown apart and dropped harmlessly into the ocean. There was no nuclear detonation.

Task force headquarters said a survey immediately after the destruction of the missile and warhead showed that part of the debris dropped on Johnston Island and adjacent Sand Island. The announcement said there was no danger on the island from radioactivity. The rest of the debris, the announcement said, fell into the open sea.

SAME PROBLEM?

It was assumed, however, that the term "the system" referred to trouble with the Thor's tracking system—the same problem that caused failure of the first Johnston test shot June 4.

Tuesday night's test was to have been the biggest and highest in the United States' current Pacific test series. The nuclear package was classified as megaton-plus in million tons of TNT. Its power had been estimated unofficially at about 10 megatons.

Previous announcements said the detonation was to be at an altitude of hundreds of kilometers. Unofficially, estimates were 200 miles.

★ ★ ★

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, announced the failure about 20 minutes after launch. He had returned hours earlier from Johnston Island.

FOLLOWED SILENCE

Announcement of the failure followed a silence on radios monitoring the countdown.

"A Thor booster was launched tonight at about 10:47 p.m. carrying a nuclear device, designed for one of the high-altitude tests in the current U.S. test series from Johnston Island. Due to a malfunction in the system, the nuclear device was purposely destroyed without a nuclear detonation," the announcement said.

"The debris fell into the open sea well within the safety area which was previously designated. There was no danger to test personnel. There will be no danger to human life or hazardous levels of radioactivity in the ocean."

Unions Demand Part of Algeria

Oran Group Threatens Total Exodus Unless Country Partitioned

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's European labor unions warned today that unless autonomous zones are set up in western Algeria for the European population, it will call on the settlers to flee the country.

★ ★ ★

A communique from the Joint Committee of Labor Unions in Oran said the Moslem nationalist leaders must sign an agreement officially sanctioning the partitioning of the territory by June 30.

★ ★ ★

If not, the communique said, the committee will be forced to demand the immediate departure of the population to avoid genocide.

SECOND ULTIMATUM

It was the second European ultimatum in Algeria in the past 12 hours. Tuesday night the Algiers command of the Secret Army Organization called for immediate incorporation of Europeans into the local Moslem security force to maintain order.

★ ★ ★

European settlers in western Algeria for some time have been demanding a regroupment of the population along ethnic lines. The Secret Army has been attempting to form defensive bastions in Oran, Sidi bel Abbes, Mostaganem, Arzew and Perregaux.

CONDEMN PLAN

The Moslem Nationalists condemned the plan Tuesday. Nationalist Premier Youssef ben Khedda said Arab nations have pledged to help Algeria in dealing with "imperialists" attempting to carry out a partition.

★ ★ ★

The Oran labor committee announced the peace accord of last Sunday between the Algiers Secret Army command and some Moslem Nationalists as "involving only several persons more interested in defending their own interests rather than those of Algeria, France and the West."

It said the agreements cannot be considered valid.

The unions called for international solidarity in organizing a speedy evacuation of Europeans from Algeria in case the demands are not granted.

Tiros V May Link East-West Programs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — America's newest weather satellite, Tiros V, orbiting on its hurricane and storm hunting mission, will prove to be the first step toward a cooperative space program between the United States and the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

The weather watch satellite, launched Tuesday from Cape Canaveral, will photograph cloud cover over a much greater area of the world than any of the previous four Tiros satellites.

Earlier this month, American and Soviet scientists signed a pact in Geneva agreeing to share data received from their respective weather satellites — with a long-range look at possibly building a broad mutual space research program.

46 in Vote Line-Up Before Primary

Township, for Pontiac's seat in the state House of Representatives. Both men are unopposed in their party's primary.

In Waterford Township, incumbent Rep. Lloyd Anderson has been challenged for the 1st District Republican nomination by Michael L. Carl of Highland Township, who served as a sergeant-at-arms at con-con.

Of the remaining six county-wide offices, final November pairings already are determined for four posts in which each party has only one candidate. Here are the lineups:

Clerk-Register — Murphy versus Democrat David S. Lees of Troy, who lost to Murphy in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Treasurer — Sparks against Mrs. Betty McVay, a former teacher and vice chairman of the Democratic county committee.

★ ★ ★

Surveyor — Main versus Democrat Stanley F. Dunn of Bloomfield Township, who was defeated by Main in 1960.

FOR SHERIFF

Three Democrats are seeking to take the sheriff's job away from Irons. They are Kenneth G. Hirt, a former member of Irons' staff; Homer Hight, who lost a previous sheriff's bid, and William A. Smith of Madison Heights.

The race for drain commissioner finds two candidates in each party trying for nomination. Republican incumbent Daniel W. Barry faces Art Becker of Southfield and Democrat Roy J. Russell, who lost to Barry in 1960, faces Daniel T. Berry of Davisburg.

Third District. Republican — Hogan; Democrat — John F. Foley, a Birmingham attorney.

★ ★ ★

Fourth District. Republicans — Incumbent Rep. Ray L. Baker and Terrence E. Nagle of Beverley Hills; Democrats — Archie H. Bailey of Berkley and Albert A. Kramer and Maxwell M. Gurman, both of Oak Park.

Fifth District. Republicans — Incumbent Rep. William Hayward and Donald Sargent of Pleasant Ridge; Democrat — Harold J. Robinson of Royal Oak.

Predicts End to Prestige Fight

Humphrey Sees Finish to Money Bill Battle by House and Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sham battle over prestige which has kept House and Senate members from acting on money bills will be settled by next week, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted today.

★ ★ ★

The dispute between the two appropriations committees has left secret service agents temporarily payless and has cramped other agencies for funds as the fiscal year nears its June 30 end.

Humphrey, the acting Senate Democratic leader, told a news conference he is confident a compromise will be worked out.

"How foolish — how unfortunate — this all is," Humphrey said. "The government can't be stymied and stalled by this argument over procedure. I am one who believes that the substance of government takes precedent over procedure."

Humphrey declined to disclose any details of the agreement he predicted except to note that members of the Senate and House appropriations committees had agreed that they would meet in the old Supreme Court chamber to compromise differing Senate and House versions of bills.

House members have demanded that the chairmanship of conference committees be rotated between House and Senate members. In return, senators demanded that they be allowed to originate half of all appropriations bills, which by tradition have always been started in the House.

The Day in Birmingham

School Board Approves $850,000 Budget Hike

BIRMINGHAM — A $7,283,000 school budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year was adopted last night by the Birmingham Board of Education.

Expenditures are in line with a five-year projection that was made in accordance with a millage increase that was approved last November.

At that time the school board announced plans to gear the budgets for the next five years with revenue anticipated from the tax increase, about 2.6 mills for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The request on the ballot was for five mills but the board was able to reduce its debt retirement by 2.4 mills.

Property taxes and state aid will provide the bulk of the revenue for the new budget.

TO PAY FOR BUDGET

Nearly $4.75 million will be received from local taxes while another $2 million will come from the state.

Revenue from local taxes is anticipated at about $1.2 million more than last year.

Almost 75 per cent of the budget is earmarked for instruction (teacher and principal salaries, school libraries, clerical salaries and teaching supplies).

Another 19 per cent will be allocated for the operation and maintenance of schools.

During July and August new hours at Cranbrook Institute of Science will be in effect, it was announced today.

They are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturday and Sunday hours are 2 to 5 p.m.

The summer schedule for the planetarium provides the usual demonstrations on Saturday and Sunday at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. and Wednesdays at 4 p.m.

If attendance warrants, public demonstrations at the planetarium will be given during July and August on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Demonstrations in the Henry S. Hulbert Observatory are scheduled for July 6, 10 and 12 at 8:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by phoning extension 71 at the Institute.

issues he had taken up with De Gaulle.

U.S. opposition to De Gaulle's plan to give his armies their own atomic arsenal was one of the main points discussed by Rusk and the French president for an hour and a quarter Tuesday in the Elysee Palace.

'DANGEROUS'

Rusk told De Gaulle in effect that creation of an independent French nuclear striking force would be dangerous and ineffective as a deterrent against Communist attack. He reportedly made no offer to share nuclear secrets that only Britain now gets from the United States.

De Gaulle listened pleasantly, but apparently remained adamant in his determination to concentrate French energies and resources on development of France's own nuclear force.

Rusk told newsmen later it had been a most interesting conversation. An American source said the talk had produced no agreement or any new proposals, but that the two leaders had stressed unity on basic commitments of both countries to the Western alliance.

The source said the talk will probably lead to a conference between De Gaulle and President Kennedy before the end of the year. He said, however, that the question of such a summit meeting did not come up during the talk.

Monte Carlo for Greece

ATHENS (UPI)—Greece's first gambling casino is scheduled to open in the Achillae Palace on the island of Corfu in the spring of 1963. The establishment is being built by a German company in a former residence of the Empress Elizabeth of Austria and later of Kaiser Wilhelm II.

Kennedy Expected to Head Off Strike

set to strike TWA's transcontinental and overseas operations.

TWA SUFFERS LOSS

The union postponed the strike but not in time to head off picketing at New York's Idlewild Airport and at TWA terminals at Kansas City and San Francisco. The pickets finally withdrew.

Few flights were reported delayed but a TWA spokesman in Kansas City said the airline suffered a substantial loss of business because of confusion over the strike situation.

Its terms were not made public immediately but it was believed to contain job and union security pledges for the engineers.

For several years, the engineers union has been locked in a feud with the Air Line Pilots Association over job rights aboard jet airliners.

Government boards recommended a cut in present four-man crews —three pilots and an engineer — to three-man crews, with two pilots and a pilot-engineer.

The argument between the two AFL-CIO unions was over which would represent the third man.

HENRY M. HOGAN JR.

Will Seek 2nd Term From Third District

Hogan, 29, of 4253 W. Orchard Hill was first elected to the Lansing post in 1960.

In announcing his candidacy, Hogan blamed Michigan's problems in part on the division of parties who hold power in the executive and legislative branch.

"The trouble is," he said, "that the Republicans control both houses and the Democrats maintain the executive offices. It's almost an impossibility for either the governor or the legislature to get across responsible legislation.

"If one introduces, the other vetoes; and if the governor recommends, the legislature ignores."

Hogan added:

SEES GOP GOVERNOR

"I sincerely believe that a Republican governor will be inaugurated in Lansing next January."

He is associate publisher of the Birmingham Eccentric, vice president of Averill Press and a partner in the law firm of Kinsey, Parsons and Bahr.

JOHN F. FOLEY

Files for Position as Representative in 3rd District

John F. Foley, 185 Euclid Ave., Birmingham, filed yesterday as a Democratic candidate for state representative in the Third Legislative District of Oakland County. Foley, 34, is an attorney.

★ ★ ★

Foley was graduated from Birmingham High School. He did his undergraduate work at Georgetown University and received his law degree from the University of Michigan.

He has practiced law in Birmingham and was an attorney for the National Labor Relations Board in Detroit.

Foley is presently an associate in the Detroit law firm of Schwartz, O'Hare and Levin.

★ ★ ★

He also worked as a radio news writer in Clinton, Iowa.

Foley has four children and is married to the former Joan Marlow.

MICHAEL J. CARL

After Nomination in First District

The son of a Highland Township justice of the peace is campaigning on a platform of "better communication between the people and their representative" in his bid for Republican nomination as 1st District state representative.

Michael J. Carl, 27, 3285 Highland Blvd., Highland Township, charges that the people of the 1st district "are not being represented on major issues" by the incumbent GOP representative, Lloyd L. Anderson.

"I believe the position of state representative should be maintained 12 months a year," said Carl, who just completed working in the nonelective post as sergeant at arms of the state constitutional convention.

Carl, son of Justice Roy J. Carl, said he "wholeheartedly supports the proposed constitution" and is for a more adequate mental health program and a more active participation in the Republican party.

He interrupted his studies as a political science student at Michigan State University to take the con-con post.

He's Got All the Answers

Yes, It's Hot Enough; Now, Any Questions?

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Yes, it's hot enough for me. No, I don't think it's all Kennedy's fault. Yes, the Yankees sure need Mantle. No, I don't think a younger manager would help the Mets. Yes, they've got to do something about the traffic other than give out more tickets.

No, De Gaulle shouldn't show those OAS mugs any mercy. Yes, it was unfair of the flight engineers union to pick on TWA No, I never saw more improvement in TV than the recent coverage of golf. Yes, Krishna Menon abuses the hospitality. No, those clowns who shook hands over a neutral Laos are sure to split again.

Yes, I sorely miss John Daly on news and special events. No, I haven't seen a look like Billie Sol Estes gave that witness against him since Tony Galento used to waddle out of his corner intent on eating his an opponent. Yes, I think Panama deserves more than we pay her.

No, I don't think the Filipinos have a right to the additional millions demanded to reconstruct or patch buildings damaged in the course of our liberation of the islands. Yes, with Liz, MM and Dean Martin telling the studios off, the nuts have taken over the nut house.

No, I didn't know until reading "The Siege of Fort Arthur," by Reginald Hargreaves, that in the 3,640 years of its recorded history, the world has known only 292 years that were free from the clash of arms.

Yes, those wrinkle proof summer suits can be taught to wrinkle. No, I never buy products whose commercials blast on twice as loud as the program they've interrupted. Yes, "doll" stories are the dullest. No, they chickened out and didn't give Liz Taylor a real asp in that final scene.

LIKE OLD TIMES

Yes, it seemed like old times when it was announced that "Sammy," a new British film production has been adopted from an American TV play named "Eddie." No, I haven't heard a better title for an album than Paul Garvey's "Sing Along With Yma Sumac."

Yes, Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia is right when he says, of "Advise and Consent," "The Senate can be ridiculous enough at times, all by itself, so why make it look more ridiculous?"

No, Jack Nicklaus is here to stay. Yes, when Konrad Adenauer and Willy Brandt appealed to the Soviet Union Sunday to let the German people decide their own fate by a free plebiscite, N.S. Khrushchev was taking his afternoon nap.

No, there won't be a more talked about book this summer than Bob Ruark's massive "Uhuru," next month's Book of the Month selection and Bob's second such winner in the last four tries.

Yes, the oddest law suit now pending in Bonn is that of Cicero, the gentleman's gentleman-spy who, while battling for the British ambassador to Turkey, revealed stunning information to the Nazis—including D-Day plans.

He's asking the Adenauer government for $800,000, the amount the Nazis paid him in British pounds which proved to be counterfeit.

MIGHTY ODD

No, no town has or has had odder-named banks than New York City: Dime, Dollar, Corn Exchange (James Thurber once carried an armful of corn into one of its branches and demanded an exchange), Chemical, "The" bank for savings, Dry Dock, Emigrant, Fuji, Rural, Seamen's Serial, not to overlook the Bank of Wong Quing and the Yugoslav National.

Yes, those Madison Avenue types, brave as they are, still look a little waeko in their Bermuda shorts. No, there must be nothing closer to hell than a prison riot such as the one at Montreal.

Yes, any intended traveler to Rome is missing a great bet if he doesn't take along Barret McGurn's "A Reporter Looks at the Vatican." No, the astronauts are not wearing thin in the personality department, as you'll see when NASA unleashes Roy Cooper, who also plays git-tar.

Yes, you're right, it is the heat.

Registration Set for Tennis Lessons

W. Reich to Pay U.S. $75 Million on Material Loan

BONN (AP) — The West German government will pay $75 million to the United States as a one time settlement for military equipment it received on loan between 1955 and 1960.

★ ★ ★

A foreign office spokesman says an agreement calling for the payment was signed here May 25 by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder and U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling.

★ ★ ★

The equipment was loaned to West Germany during the first years of its armed forces buildup. The spokesman said most of this equipment now was either outdated or used up. U.S. officials said the $75 million represents the scrap value of the equipment, original value of which reportedly was about $1 billion.

Senator's Life Good Reading

Jack Bell Offers New Analysis of Goldwater's Personality

By CORENNA M. ALDRICH

"Mr. Conservative: Barry Goldwater" by Jack Bell.

★ ★ ★

Staunch supporters and avid foes are often the only ones likely to be interested in books about public figures, but not so with Jack Bell's "Mr. Conservative: Barry Goldwater."

★ ★ ★

Even persons only vaguely aware of this determined senator from Arizona will find stimulating and rewarding reading here. The author presents a most comprehensive analysis of Goldwater's personality and convictions, and at the same time concisely delineates differences between various party factions.

★ ★ ★

As one of the nation's most experienced political writers, Bell provides clear insight into political scenes that often seem muddled and dreary to average citizens.

★ ★ ★

Well chosen anecdotes and quotations, along with Bell's sense of humor, provide spirit enough to hold the attention of almost any reader, from students of politics to even the most politically unaware.

★ ★ ★

But one of the most satisfying aspects of "Mr. Conservative" is the absolute fairness Bell uses in dealing with so controversial a subject. Rarely will readers find themselves given the facts so completely and objectively and allowed to make final judgment so freely.

Dies of Cancer at 68

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Will Wright, 68, a veteran actor who often played grizzled Western types in the movies and on television, died Tuesday of cancer.

AP Photofax

UNDER HIS HAT — Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier-designate of Laos, prepares to light his cigar under cover of his hat on arriving at Vientiane from his headquarters in east central Laos. Souvanna won agreement to his latest demands and machinery was set in motion again yesterday to install his coalition regime.

Germans Land in England

PEMBROKE DOCK, Wales (AP) — The German freighter Trautenfels arrived yesterday with 102 panzer officers and men and 40 tanks. It was the advance guard of seven panzer battalions which will spend the next four months training in Britain.

Publisher's Wife Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Howard, 46, wife of Jack R. Howard, president and general manager of Scripps-Howard newspapers, died Tuesday night after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. She was active in several organizations, including the Inter-American Press Association.

Romney to Shun Sunday Politics

Sabbath Engagements Refused by Candidate for Governor

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney will be staying away from politics on Sundays.

The likely Republican candidate for governor of Michigan has drawn a line against any public engagements on the sabbath, an aide says.

The aide said Romney has done so out of a "personal conviction" Sunday should be devoted to church and family life and he should have no political obligations on that day.

He has instructed his staff to leave Sundays open, without exception, the aide said.

Romney already has declined several invitations for appearances on Sundays without going into any explanation other than expressing regrets, the aide said.

Romney began a two-week vacation yesterday. He said his family went to their cottage on Lake Huron. He will return to politics July 4 at a series of Independence Day celebrations.

Romney's campaign headquarters here said he took the vacation "following an intensive 12-month period of strenuous personal activity involving private business affairs, Michigan's constitutional convention and organizing his campaign."

And Tim Tugbutton Dislikes 'Waste'

'We're a' Spendin' Too Much'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Hon. Timothy Tugbutton stormed into the newsroom today in a fearsome rage, striking out with his cane and hollering, "Tain't right and I ain't gonna stand for it."

Whacking his stick on the news desk, the old man shattered the tip. The ferrule flipped into the works of a news wire teletype, jamming the machine and delaying transmission of a red hot report that the U.S. Treasury still was in the red with no prospect of getting out.

"In the red," Tugbutton shouted. "Of course we're in the red. That's just what I'm talking about. We're in the red and when we have a chance to save a few dimes or pennies, the government is looking the other way. 'Tain't right, that's what it is."

"What about that?" he demanded. "Here is this Organization of American States laying out nearly $250,000 for an Italian firm to study agriculture in Ecuador, and who pays the bill?"

"I'll tell you who pays the bill. The U.S. taxpayer, that's who."

EXAMINED CLIPPING

Dillman examined the clipping. The study had, indeed, been ordered at a cost of $249,600 and it was to be conducted, the story said, under the Alliance For Progress program in which the United States is to invest billions of dollars in an effort to raise living standards in South and Central America.

The study is to be carried out under the supervision of technicians representing the Organization of American States.

"A' course it's a good idea," Tugbutton replied, getting red again in the face. "But, why an Italian firm? The U.S. handed this Organization of American States $6 million to help along the Alliance for Progress. That's where that study money will come from, the study money that is being exported to Italy.

"That young fella in the White House, wasn't he saying just the other day that our trouble in the U.S. wasn't inflation or big government deficits or the like o' that? He said our trouble was too many dollars escaping from the U.S.A., like these study dollars are escaping to Italy.

"What I want to know is who made the deal to give this $6 million to this Organization of American States with no strings attached about spending the money in the U.S. if what was wanted was available here. That's what I want to know.

CAN'T RAISE BY TAXES

"We spend so much money on our Agriculture Department that we can't raise it by taxes and the department has so many employes you can't count 'em. And who does this farm study in Ecuador? The Italians, that's who.

"That don't make no sense to me," Tugbutton said angrily, "It ain't the only thing in Washington that don't make no sense, either."

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Relief, doctors say, lies in new laxative principle that re-creates 3 essentials of youthful regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels water from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and shrink so they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all laxative laxatives, only ex-LAX COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief:

(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) helps restore flabby colon muscles with unique rebulking action; (3) acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight, is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Introductory Size 43¢.

Kennedy Not So Firm in Airline Situation

To all who wondered if President KENNEDY would speak as firmly to union labor as he had to business, and especially the steel industry, he has given his answer in the negative with the threatened walkout of flight engineers.

In a speech not long ago before the UAW in Atlantic City, the President said, "I believe it is the business of the President of the United States to concern himself with the general welfare and the public interest."

He further cited the fact that 14- or 15 million Americans have the resources to maintain representatives in Washington to protect their interests, and for the other 150- to 160 million people it is the responsibility of the President.

Certainly, to date in the airline dispute, the President has not acted in a firm manner. At least he has not spoken out as he did in the steel price increase.

The haggling still continues with Labor Secretary ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG acting as moderator.

There is talk of hopes that the President will use his power to block a strike by naming a White House emergency board which would investigate the dispute and recommend a settlement.

If the President would do this instead of vacillating he would be defending the general welfare and the public interest.

Huge Audience Proves Religion's Not Declining

Anyone laboring under the misapprehension that religion is on the downgrade might take note of the 116,000 persons in Soldier Field recently to hear BILLY GRAHAM preach.

With the thermometer hovering around 90, the audience jammed the large stadium in Chicago to listen to GRAHAM in his "Crusade for Christ."

GRAHAM

★ ★ ★

The enthusiastic crowd obviously came to hear a sermon by evangelist Graham on the topic of God. They got just that. He told the Chicagoans to dedicate their lives to God.

Continuing, GRAHAM said, "Put religion into your social, economic and civil lives," and urged listeners to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

No one can argue with this code to better ourselves. Graham's sermons are down to earth and his conception of the way we should live our lives is well worth the attention of all Americans.

The fact that so many people are turning out for religious services proves once and for all that religion is far from dead. And we hasten to add that we are most happy to report this.

Recent Hollywood Move Is Long Overdue

There is a somber note which goes beyond the reports of canceling plans for a movie called "Something's Got to Give."

The bare details are known, concerning the work record of Marilyn Monroe, her firing, refusal of costar Dean Martin to work with a substitute and the resultant decision to abandon the film.

The loss of the picture is not important—most of MARILYN's epics probably won't rate the late show in a couple of years—but the decision to halt the production is important. It meant plenty to the hundreds of employes who were put out of work, and they hollered.

Of greater importance is the firmer line that the industry is taking against capricious individuals who have little regard for living up to their contracts. The tab on this one was $2 million down the drain.

Down the same rat hole were millions on a "Mutiny on the Bounty" remake with Marlon Brando, and starring the queen bee herself, Elizabeth Taylor, of the "Cleopatra" fiasco in Italy.

★ ★ ★

The movie industry must take its stars in hand and enforce contract provisions before more money is wasted. Such a move is long overdue.

The Man About Town

Defies Drought

Troy Farmer Finds Corn Shoulder High

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

Relating in a recent column how over the years the Old MAT had taken on a lot of dead-weight through collecting what finally proved to be mostly worthless keys, he offered the whole key-lection to anyone interested. Well, sir age seven, of 2415 Garland, a man who knows a good thing when he sees it, let it be known that if there was one thing he could use in his business, it was those keys.

Now on their way to him, it is hoped that among them will be the key to untold good health, prosperity and happiness for Young Mat.

Seeing a recent photograph in The Press showing a farmer despondent over the failure of his corn crop due to the drought, of Troy, last week did a little sizing up of his own sweet corn. Found it to be shoulder high and tasseling out; and as evidence he enclosed a tassel in his letter to the MAT! . . . He said that the land he now works is part of a much larger farm his great-grandfather purchased from the government in 1836, 100 acres of which are now part of White Chapel.

Forrest Daniels

A thoughtful essay titled "What is Daylight" by

Mrs. Lydia Smith

The author, citing Biblical references, shows that besides the creation of the visible, material light we know as the sun, the Creator had endowed the Universe with an all-pervasive, spiritual force which invisibly motivates us and is finally the source of all true "light" and guidance.

---

By the way, why don't you vacation-bound readers send the MAT a little card, now and then? He'd kinda like to know what gives with you.

David Lawrence Says:

Must Keep N-Arms From France

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the obvious is either overlooked or doesn't sink in right away. A case in point is what's happening in America's relations with the Soviet Union.

LAWRENCE

A "stalemate" is really now in effect. Will it develop into one of those long periods of peace in world history based on the maintenance of a "balance of power" without a big war?

Thus, it is obvious that Premier Khrushchev, without signing an agreement with this country, and President Kennedy, without signing an agreement with Moscow, have both come separately to the conclusion that Red China's possession of nuclear weapons could lead to a nuclear war which might destroy everybody.

If nuclear arms are to be withheld from Red China by Russia, isn't it logical then for the United States, as a balancing factor, to withhold nuclear weapons from France or any other country hereafter? Back of this unwritten understanding emerges, as always in diplomacy, a powerful reason why a given policy makes sense from the standpoint of both sides.

Red China could be an irresponsible wielder of nuclear weapons. This could lead to a nuclear war that could destroy Russia as well as other areas of the world. Hence Moscow is unwilling to build up Red China as a nuclear power.

France, of course, wouldn't be irresponsible or go counter to American desires, but if the United States distributes nuclear data and equipment and helps build up other nations allied with it, the Soviet Union couldn't logically withhold nuclear knowledge and weapons from Red China.

Now this doesn't mean that America intends to reduce in any way its nuclear power. Nor is there to be any hesitation about using nuclear weapons if circumstances ever require it. What is planned is to concentrate nuclear power inside the NATO alliance for defensive purposes in Europe and leave the main control to the United States because the truly big missile bases are in this country.

COSTLY PROJECT

Hence, the building of nuclear strength for military purposes by any power except the United States and the Soviet Union would be a costly, dangerous and, indeed, superfluous project.

Even Great Britain is finding it an expensive undertaking, and her contributions hereafter will be largely supplementary and not independent of NATO.

Secretary Rusk has gone to Paris to argue all this out with Gen. De Gaulle, but Secretary McNamara's speech laid the main points on the line ahead of time.

President Kennedy has, therefore, developed a sound policy, and, since it happens by coincidence to be based on the very same kind of argument that appeals to the Soviet government in its relations with Red China, the world may hope for a period of "stalemate."

It goes without saying that the big task still is to avert a nuclear outbreak as between the Soviet Union and the United States. And this means that monkey business in and around Berlin has to be suspended by Mr. Khrushchev, and the "crisis" atmosphere avoided so that fears of a surprise attack on the nuclear side will be largely removed.

Now this doesn't bar the building up by either side of conventional forces—ordinary armies and navies.

The United States wants to strengthen NATO and already has promised some missile-bearing Polaris submarines for the use of the western alliance. But, as Mr. McNamara has pointed out, defense in modern wars is not the responsibility of any power but of all powers in an alliance.

It's a necessary strategy, as World War I and World War II proved. Allied rather than individual planning now has been accepted as vital in deterring or preventing a third world war.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pyorrhea Can Be Traced to Nutritional Deficiency

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"I have just finished treatment for pyorrhea and am happy to say all my teeth have been saved. The dentist who brought this all about is a periodontist and specializes exclusively in gum troubles.

"I had seven resected (resection means surgical removal of an organ or structure) and every tooth in my mouth scraped to the bone.

For weeks I had complained to my dentist. As far back as a year ago, I wanted to know why my gums bled when I chewed anything hard or brushed too briskly. The reply I received was just 'tenderness and sensitivity.'

"Now I can brush hard and chew anything, and my gums are pink and firm.

"Please advise the gentleman who wrote regarding his pyorrhea and fear of losing all his teeth to see a periodontist as soon as possible. I'm sure he will be happy with the results."

Sincerely,

Mrs. ——, Newark, N.J.

Yes, but having no list of periodontists, I can only suggest that the gentleman ask his own dentist to refer him to a periodontist.

I thank you, and the periodontists will thank you, for your fine testimonial.

You do not say, Ma'am, anything about nutrition, but I am sending you a complimentary copy of Little Lesson No. 1, "Save Your Teeth." Please read what I say about nutritional deficiency and pyorrhea. Show it to your dentist and your periodontist and tell me what you and they think of it:

TAKE CALCIUM

I may be wrong—indeed, thousands of dentists will tell you I am wrong—but I believe an adequate daily intake of calcium and vitamin D is a fundamental requirement for prevention, relief or possible cure of pyorrhea.

But then, everybody knows by now that I am more or less hipped on the idea that nutritional deficiency is the underlying cause of a good many common ailments.

DENYES

Although Urban Renewal is rapidly picking up speed and some physical benefits are not far off, individual businessmen and property owners should not sit idly by awaiting a miracle. Good maintenance and improvement of existing business property is just as essential today as it ever was if downtown Pontiac is to go forward.

Help! Help!

From here on, the Girl Scout feud will have to be fought within the organization. The Pontiac Press feels no constructive community purpose is served by continuing to air all the dirty linen in public. Private comments from other readers indicate a unanimous agreement with this decision.

Furthermore, the good ladies are becoming increasingly ashamed to use their name and they seek greater refuge behind anonymous signatures as they pelt each other with mud balls.

Writes on Election of Board Members

It is a myth that any so-called clique can take over the Pontiac School Board in 1 year. There are 7 members who are elected as follows: two each year for 3 years, and one member the 4th year. This was done so the functions of a school board cannot be disrupted at any time.

The rules to operate schools are laid down by the state. The rules for the handicapped children's program are made by the county. Rules for vocational, lunch programs and any other programs, which come under the National Defense Act if they participate, are laid down by Federal Government.

Mr. Henry's behavior has hurt his race far more than he knows and this is a shame as we have many outstanding upright Negro citizens.

By the same token it is just as bad for a school board and an ex-member to pass judgment on who should or should not be a candidate for the school board and spend considerable money as a group to perpetuate themselves in office.

Tax Reduction

Dothan Eagle
Dothan, Alabama

We take President Kennedy's promise of a tax reduction at some future time with a large helping of salt.

The President's promise may be well intended but they do not always wind up as understood. Remember how the New Frontier turned out? We thought he was going to run a taut ship, with everything in order. He talked of frugality in government and self-sacrifice on the part of each individual, saying in his inaugural address: "My fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

As for this admonition, he set an example by putting brother Bobby Kennedy on the Federal payroll as Attorney General and two brothers-in-law in big jobs and by lending the prestige of his office to promote the candidacy of brother Ted for the Senate, in the last 18 months the cost of government has increased a supposedly 20 per cent. The debt limit has been raised from $295 billion to $298 billion, to $300 billion and currently he wants $308 billion.

★ ★ ★

The New Frontiersmen have already indicated they don't intend to take in less money. They are going to get in some other way an amount equal to or exceeding any reduction in income taxes. The only place they can get this money is out of the pockets of people, individually or in groups. Our conclusion that all this promising is going to be phony is based on the current talk about a reduction in tax to business through a proposed acceleration of depreciation. The owner of the article to be depreciated will pay no less money. His taxes will be reduced for the first part but increased over the last part.

We suggest the following actions to help him serve his country better than he proposes:

1. Make amends for what he did to Americans in every sort of business as to undo the wrong that resulted. This is a monumental undertaking, perhaps beyond his competency.

2. Reduce the expenses of the Federal government. Herein lies the greatest potential for stopping inflation.

3. Stop trying to reorganize the Federal Government with the apparent purpose of giving him more power.

★ ★ ★

In the White House is a young man of great vigor, power, ambition and potential in a time of unprecedented strife and grave danger at home and abroad.

Our prayers might help him chart the right course. Let's try that.

Government

The Daily Oklahoman

George Washington's Farewell Address contained a plea for "vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debts which unavoidable wars may have occasioned."

★ ★ ★

This excellent admonition now is honored wholly in the breach. Its fundamental worth is nevertheless attested by anxieties that often are expressed concerning what the spendthrift present Federal Government would use for money if it ever got involved in another major war. The threatening situation in Laos lends urgency.

If the Government can't get its house in order under conditions of peace and prosperity what are the prospects for averting a financial disaster in the event of a big scale war? The prospects are pretty bleak.

Non-military spending rose by $2.4 billion and military spending rose by $1.5 billion between July, 1961, and January, 1962. The government has incurred deficits in 24 of the last 30 years. The deficit a year ago was $3.9 billion. The deficit for the 1962 fiscal year ending next June 30 will be $7 billion to $10 billion. The deficit for the 1963 fiscal year starting next June 30 is estimated already at more than $4 billion and is climbing.

Foreign aid spending now totals more than $100 billion. It gives every indication of continuing. Foreign creditors demanding gold for their giveaway dollars have caused the United States to lose 30 per cent of its gold in recent years.

In the circumstances some degree of restraint with respect to political domestic-civilian spending might seem indicated. But the Kennedy Administration is proposing programs that would raise spending by more than $2.5 billion in fiscal 1963 and by more than $9 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965.

★ ★ ★

This would go for aid to education, space exploration, medical care for the aged, federal pay raises, higher military allowances and retirement pay, public welfare, aid to distressed areas, job retraining for the unemployed, the Peace Corps, civil defense shelters, and aid for disabled veterans.

In President Kennedy's first year in office federal employment rose by nearly 77,000. By mid-1963 the increase is expected to come to 200,000.

A war on top of all the other woes easily could touch off a stampede by foreign creditors seeking gold.

A gold embargo then might become necessary with all the fiscal and economic reprisals that could entail. The Government would be forced into immediate wage and price controls. Wartime wage and price controls without rationing would mean black marketing. Already it's beginning to suffer somewhat as a result of his dictatorial tendencies and his punitive attitude toward business.

GOP to Fight Vote on Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans threatened an all-out fight today against any administration effort to force a Senate vote on President Kennedy's plan for health care for the elderly.

The Kennedy bill, which calls for Social Security financing of hospital and nursing home benefits, remains stalled in the House Ways and Means Committee despite indications that the President is willing to compromise on some of its features.

TO TRY FOR VOTE

If this situation doesn't change, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. said he will offer the proposal as a rider on some House-passed revenue measure.

"I am determined to get a vote in the Senate on this, come what may," Anderson said.

Since the House must originate such legislation, it would be unlikely to accept such a Senate amendment. The Anderson move would be designed to put senators on record on the issue in a campaign year.

PLEDGES FIGHT

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview that if the Democrats try such a maneuver they will find they have a fight on their hands.

"We will certainly be loaded with ammunition in this case," Dirksen said. "This proposal will require lengthy and detailed discussion in the Senate. We will be ready for them."

Asked if Republican talk might delay a possible mid-September adjournment of Congress, Dirksen shrugged. He said that would depend somewhat on when the Democrats chose to make their move.

With some notable exceptions congressional Republicans appear ready to take their case to the voters in November without any additional legislation in the field of health care for the elderly.

SUPPORT LIMITED

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is sponsoring a modified version of the Kennedy bill. But he has only limited support among the minority.

Dirksen has called for an additional year's experience under the Kerr-Mills Act, under which the government puts up the major share of funds to finance state programs for aged needy persons.

The Senate subcommittee on aging reported Tuesday that after 18 months of operations the Kerr-Mills Act is in use in only 24 states. It said 88,000 persons, representing ½ of 1 per cent of those over 65, are receiving benefits.

URGES JFK PLAN

The subcommittee said 90 per cent of all payments are being made in California, Massachusetts, Michigan and New York.

Chairman Pat McNamara, D-Mich., used the report to argue that the program ought to be supplemented by the Kennedy plan for financing through Social Security taxes.

He said the survey "shows quite conclusively that, measured against anticipated results, Kerr-Mills has fallen considerably short of the goal set by its more optimistic proponents."

Officials Disagree on Any Recession

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Two top officials of the labor department were in disagreement today over prospects of a recession in 1963.

* * *

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said chartings of the nation's postwar economy indicate a recession next year.

"The only question," he said Tuesday, "has been exactly when it is coming."

* * *

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, Clague's boss, promptly disagreed with the recession forecast.

"The economic facts do not bear out such an assumption," Goldberg said in a statement issued in Washington.

Clague, who discussed the economic picture at the opening session of the 20th Interstate Conference on Labor Statistics, said later that his statement was made during a question-and-answer period and that it did not represent the official view of the U.S. Labor Department.

Even With Astronauts, Airline Engineers

Featherbedding Sickness Hitting America Today

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Let's pretend that the year is 1966. Three astronauts have successfully orbited the earth in an Apollo spacecraft. Preparations are now under way to launch a lunar orbital flight, but because of some technical improvements in the Apollo, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has decided that only two astronauts are needed to operate the craft, making it possible for the third man to be a scientist.

The astronauts issue a strike call. The original seven, plus the second team added to the program in the fall of 1962 and other subsequent enrollees contend that they are being threatened with technological unemployment.

Automation is not going to be allowed to replace the astronauts if their union (International Astronauts Association AFL-CIO) can prevent it. The labor secretary offers binding arbitration, but the union chief grimly refuses.

Unless plans are canceled to make the third man a scientist, or the spacecraft is enlarged to carry a fourth man, our space program will be immobilized.

The President warns of the inherent danger to our space race with Soviet Russia. The union chief shrugs that that's just too bad.

The government should have thought of that before it made the technical improvements that obviated the necessity for a third astronaut. The strike was called.

We leave you there, cliff-hanging, until the next installment is lived, for it may not be as farfetched as it sounds.

Something of the sort is going on in America today, with organized groups adamantly and relentlessly fighting progress.

The Flight Engineers' International Association (AFL-CIO) has been taking strike votes against three major airlines to force them to carry two flight engineers on jet airliners, although simplification of jet motors makes one of them unnecessary.

Government boards have ruled that three crewmen are sufficient in jet cockpits.

The Air Line Pilots Association says the second man should be a copilot, and the companies agree. Flight engineers, refusing to accept the ruling, decided to strike.

President Kennedy, expressing concern over the effect of a strike on our balance of payments problem and unemployment in the air travel industry, appealed to both sides to submit to binding arbitration of their differences.

The companies agreed. The engineers adamantly declined.

This is only one manifestation of a sickness that is gripping America. The descendants of the pioneers who hacked this country from the wilderness with their own hands now demand to be paid for performing unnecessary jobs.

Featherbedding is a waste we cannot afford. It has helped to bankrupt railroads.

It is rampant in the entertainment field, where ghost orchestras and curtain-pullers for nonexistent curtains must be paid; and in the printing and building trades.

It has even entered our space program, and in one 60-day period this spring illegal strikes at missile bases exceeded the national average of strikes in all other industries.

A petty jurisdictional dispute at a vital Titan missile site between two unions spread to a dozen other Titan missile bases, and cost the nation nearly 3,000 man-days in the missile race with Russia.

If self-serving workers and union bosses are permitted to tie up our economy everytime that technological improvements pinch some shoe, we aren't going to be a first class power much longer.

Without progress, no nation can long survive.

Thwart Confidence Game Aimed at $2-Million Fraud

WHEATON, Ill. (UPI)—A suspicious lawyer and a curious police chief thwarted an intricate confidence game aimed at bilking a banker and religious tracts publisher of $2 million, it was revealed yesterday.

Du Page County State's Atty. William Bauer said the alleged attempt to defraud Robert Van Campen, board chairman of the Hitchcock Press and vice president of the Cary-Wheaton bank, was under investigation.

Bauer said the attempt to obtain $2 million from Van Campen for patent rights to a revolutionary fertilizer process would have been a "monumental swindle."

Several months ago Van Campen was approached by a man claiming to represent the Minneapolis, Minn., patent owner of a fertilizer which speeded plant growth by as much as 600 per cent.

The man claimed that the $2 million purchase price would be repaid many times over from $18 million in royalties due on the process.

While the investigation was being conducted a stranger appeared. He claimed to represent a St. Louis, Mo., client who would pay $3.85 million for the patent if Van Campen could furnish clear title.

One of the Van Campen attorneys became suspicious and asked Wheaton Police Chief Herb White to make inquiries. White became curious about telephone calls made by the would-be patent buyer.

The police chief found that the telephone calls were being made to the man who wanted to sell the patent to Van Campen.

The mysterious stranger, who had shown a portfolio which he claimed contained certified checks for the $3.85 million his client would pay for the patent, suddenly vanished after dropping off the portfolio at the police station in nearby La Grange, Ill.

The man said the portfolio contained materials of interest to the Wheaton police department. When the portfolio was opened it was found to contain pieces of cardboard.

Bauer said there have been no charges filed in the case but the parties involved will have "some tall explaining to do" if they are to avoid an appearance before the grand jury.

Vote Count Error Cuts Primary Edge

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Maynard C. Dolloff's victory edge in a tight battle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination stood at a scant 139 votes today.

★ ★ ★

A belatedly discovered error in the returns from Sidney, near Waterville, cut 180 votes from the former state grange master's edge over National Committeeman Richard J. Dubord.

REDUCES COUNT

It reduced Dolloff's unofficial total in Monday's primary to 18,106. Dubord's remained at 17,967.

Dubord, who has refused to admit defeat, said he has received reports of sizable errors in several communities. Beyond that, he wouldn't comment, he said, until the official tabulation becomes available July 11.

★ ★ ★

Dolloff, advised of the Sidney error, withdrew a statement saying he seemed to be nominated. "I don't know what to think now," he said, "In view of this discrepancy anything could happen."

So Big City Life's for Kids? Phooey! Says Kansas Dad

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this article was with The Associated Press for 11 years, was a fellow war correspondent with Hal Boyle and lived with him for a while in Europe. He is now editor and publisher of the Abilene, Kan. Reflector-Chronicle.)

By HENRY B. JAMESON

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Balderdash!

This is my reply to my good friend Hal Boyle's recent column on the joys of raising a child in New York instead of the wide open spaces. We carried Hal's column as usual in my paper but I still don't agree with him.

He's been cooped up around New York too long. He should come out more often and see—and enjoy—how the other half lives; how we really live. There is a difference between living and existing.

My viewpoint is not based on lack of experience. I, too, lived in big cities from Kansas City and St. Louis to New York and London. Our son was born while I was a war correspondent in Europe. A desire not to raise him too "veddy, veddy" well over there was one reason for not accepting an AP offer to remain abroad.

HORRIBLE EXPERIENCE

We lived in New York until Junior was three years old. What a horrible experience that was—a third-floor walkup apartment in Far Rockaway. It leaked. We had experience with those playgrounds Boyle wrote about.

★ ★ ★

They're all right, when there's nothing better, but it's unfortunate some people have to live like that. The only grass the kid ever saw was on a nearby church yard. He did learn to fight there, however. Had to in order to get a ride down the slippery slide in the playground.

★ ★ ★

I rode a train an hour a day each way and seldom got acquainted with the family except on weekends. Going to the hot and crowded beach now and then to be pushed around was a big deal. Those poor kids thought they were having fun.

Our little guy has grown up to be a 6-foot-2 college sophomore, (University of Kansas), and a perfect specimen of health. He grew up near a creek that runs through our town. He could run away and play but never get lost.

LEARNED TO FISH

He learned to fish, swim, boat, sled, ice skate outdoors on real ice within walking distance of home — a big two-story house with a large lawn on which he and his pals dug the usual cave.

He got dirty. He went barefooted, he walked to elementary schools, he learned the enjoyment of picnicking and cooking out, he had an air rifle and a place to shoot it, along the creek, out in the country or at the nearby Country Club shooting range or lake.

★ ★ ★

Boyle talks about supervised playgrounds in the city offering everything from hopscotch to basketball. What a pity! We have those, too. But our kids all have basketball courts in the backyard, too. The little girls have dogs, cats and other pets and play out in the wide open freedom spaces right along with the boys. We have 200 little boys, and some girls, playing organized baseball at the city park.

FREEDOM TO RIDE

Our son had bicycles and freedom to ride. He had a pony available. A municipal swimming pool was within easy reach. It was easy to belong to the Boy Scouts. After lots of camping trips—for kids, not organized family budgeted vacations which Boyle mentions—junior life saving, etc, he became an Eagle Scout.

He received a nomination to the Naval Academy at Annapolis and the third question was "Are you an Eagle Scout?"

He's played golf since the age of 9—and you don't have to wait half a day to get on the courts.

Boyle glosses over city life with "Look at the culture they get."

We're not exactly uncultured. But our kids don't have to go to a zoo to see a cow, horse, fox, buffalo or coyote. What do the city kids know about wheat, corn, barley, alfalfa, combines? We have fine libraries and museums too. And we watch the same movies and television shows.

Boyle says "If your child is a genius, or retarded, or has a particular health problem, he is more likely to find facilities for special care in the big city."

SMART KIDS, TOO

"We have smart kids, too, and just as many Phi Beta Kappas percentagewise. We have fine hospitals with the same facilities, just as close, and probably easier to reach, than across town in New York.

As a matter of fact, many wealthy New Yorkers suffering from city frustration come to the famous Menninger Clinic in near-by Topeka for help.

Boyle calls the roll of a few famous people raised in the big city; mostly musicians, actors and writers.

Let him call the roll of the presidents of the United States. See how many came from the country.

Mine Firm Official Is Probed by Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators expected to make public today earnings of a big mining company whose vice president spent four years in a high government post dealing with metals and minerals for the strategic stockpile.

The official, former Assistant Interior Secretary Felix E. Wormser, said yesterday he sold all his stock in the St. Josephs Lead Co. when he entered government service in April 1953.

He said he received no benefits whatever from the company until June 1957, when he left the Interior Department to resume his association with the lead and zinc mining firm.

Wormser told Sen. Stuart Symington's Armed Services subcommittee that his company accounted for probably 40 per cent of annual U.S. lead ore production. The company also operates mines in South America.

State Parks Get Books

LANSING (AP) —The State Library has dispatched 8,200 books to 42 state parks in Michigan for use by campers this summer. The average park library now has about 250 books which are available at the park manager's office, the State Library announced today.

Kept Prize at Shower for Her

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I attended a bridal shower last evening for my nephew's bride-to-be. After the presents were opened, we played several games. The bride-to-be took part in all these games and she won first prize for one of them.

I was very much surprised at this and think the guest of honor was very much out of order for accepting a prize in addition to all the other presents she received. Will you please give me your opinion on this matter?

A: The guest of honor had every right to keep the prize she won. Had the hostess accepted a prize in her own house, would have been another matter.

Q: How do I go about inviting a young woman who is a stranger, to spend the weekend with us? She is a particular friend of a young man who often stays with us and we want to ask her because he would like us to. Is our invitation through him sufficient? If not, will you please tell me how to word a note to someone I don't know?

A: You should write to her, and say something like the following: "Dear Miss Brown, John Smith has spoken about you so often that we feel we must meet you. Will you come out with him to spend this weekend with us? We hope you will say yes."

Q: I am going to be married shortly and would like to know if I should invite my employer to my wedding. I have been working as his secretary for a year. He is far above us socially and I do not want to overstep my bounds, but neither do I want to slight him. Will you please tell me what to do?

A: Tell him that if he will be free on the day of your marriage and would like to come to your wedding, you would love to have him do so.

Hudson-Myre Nuptials

Couple Weds in St. Michael Church

Wed in a double-ring ceremony Saturday morning in St. Michael Church were Kathleen Ann Myre and Airman 3.C. Robert L. Hudson preceding a nuptial Mass offered by Rev. James Hayes.

★ ★ ★

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Edward E. Myre of Nelson Street and the late Mr. Myre, was given in marriage by her brother Ernest. The Robert E. Hudsons of South Marshall Street are the bridegroom's parents.

★ ★ ★

Silk illusion veiling secured by a crystal tiara complemented the bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and tiered pleated tulle over taffeta. The bridegroom's crystal gift rosary was entwined in her cascade of pink and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Wearing ballerina-length dresses of lace and chiffon over taffeta were maid of honor Sharon Saxton in Copenhagen blue, and bridesmaids Bonnie Hudson, the bridegroom's sister, and the bride's cousin Linda Taylor, of Lake Orion, in powder blue. They held yellow carnations.

★ ★ ★

John Galardo was best man. Seating guests were the bride's cousin John Shagena, of Cass City, Michael Petruccia, Joseph Galardo and the bridegroom's brother Harold.

★ ★ ★

Yellow roses and orange accessories complemented Mrs. Myre's dress of beige embroidered linen. The mother of the bridegroom wore turquoise silk organza and corsage of pink roses.

ADK's Area Council Meets for Luncheon

Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority's area council met at Ted's Restaurant for luncheon, with the following chapters represented: Rho, Zeta, Epsilon, Alpha Lambda, Xi, Alpha Delta and Alpha Nu.

Attending were Mrs. John Landon, Margaret MacKenzie, Mrs. Morrell Jones, Opal Waker, Dolly Best, Frances Weirer, Reta Bland, Mrs. John Borsvold, Marie Kish, Alice Hagood and Faye Donelson.

Chairman Iva Landon gave a resume of the State President's Council held recently in Lansing. Group problems were discussed and recommendations made to be presented at their fall meeting.

Plans were made to present favors to all delegates to the Alpha Delta Kappa state convention in Warren on Sept. 22.

Miss Landon appointed Rho Chapter to secure the place, and Zeta the program for a joint Founder's Day Dinner on Oct. 4. Xi Chapter will handle favors and decorations. Past president of the various chapters will conduct the commemorative ritual.

Each chapter reported it was promoting fraternal education.

All present told of plans to attend the Sunday buffet luncheon at Devon Gables in honor of Nellie Morris, grand national president of the sorority. Agnes Shipman and Marie Neal, of Kansas City, co-founders of the sorority, will also be present.

Pupils to Give Piano Recital

Participating in the program were Rosemary Lawson, Marilyn Pederson, John Walton, Linda Shelton, Nancy and Jody Schmucker, Annely Glogowski, Lois Gustafson, Nancy Church, Dick, Linda and Nancy Jositas; Debbie Van Natter, Linda Kreps, Sally Cupp and Sharon Bishop.

Sorority Meets at Woman's Home

The Alpha Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority held their last meeting of the 1961-1962 season Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Homer Tinney, Elizabeth Lake Road.

A dinner for the retiring officers will be held next Tuesday at Devon Gables. The annual picnic will be held July 29.

Sunday at 9

Yachting Association Sets Breakfast Date

Over 125 friends and members of the Watkins Lake Yachting Association will attend the group's eighth annual "Skippers Breakfast" Sunday.

Breakfast will be served between 9 and 10:30 a.m. at the Florence Road home of Commodore and Mrs. Francis Fleck. Following the breakfast the "Sunday sailors" cast off for the weekly sailboat race.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Fred Poole. She is assisted by Mrs. Fleck, Mrs. Glenn Fries Jr., Mrs. Neil Wheeler, Mrs. John Howell and Mrs. Ben Weber.

Flapping the flapjacks and frying the bacon will be chefs Glenn Fries Jr., Francis Fleck and James Parschall.

Junior helpers are Betty Jane Wheeler, Mary Poole, Betsy Poole and Nancy Howell.

Dirt Eats Fuel

Dirt wastes fuel, so keep gas burners free from grease and grime. Soak them in hot soap or detergent suds, then scour with a stiff brush to remove dirt and food drippings. Also wash all other removable range parts; rinse with hot water, and put them back bone dry.

Tonight at First Methodist

To Honor 2 Ministers

The official board and special committee of the First Methodist Church will be hosts at an open house for Rev. Paul T. Hart and Rev. Donald Wittbrodt in the church parlors this evening. Friends and members of the church will greet them from 7 to 9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Hart, pastor of First Methodist for the past six years, was appointed minister of Oak Park Church, Flint last week in Adrian by Bishop Marshall R. Reed, head of the Michigan Methodist Conference.

★ ★ ★

Pastor Wittbrodt, associate minister of First Church for the past year, was named pastor of the Methodist Church in Millington.

Backus-Boadway Rites

Wedding Reception Held at Church

Candlelight vows of Betty June Boadway to Robert M. Backus were spoken before Rev. Robert Shelton Saturday evening in Barnett Chapel of the First Baptist Church. Palms and white gladioli adorned the altar.

Receiving in the church parlors following the ceremony were the newlyweds and their parents, the H. L. Boadways of Elwood Street and the Albert Backuses of West Walton Boulevard.

A fitted bodice of Brussels lace extended into a full skirt and chapel train of white organza over taffeta for the bride. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was fitted to a pillbox of pearls and Alencon lace. She carried white roses and carnations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Barcome, her sister's matron of honor, wore floor-length aquamarine silk organza over taffeta and held a cascade of pink carnations.

On the esquire side were the bride's brothers, William Boadway, best man, and Kenneth Boadway, who ushered with Albert Gibbons.

The couple will have a Pontiac address on their return from a honeymoon in Wisconsin and the northwestern states.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boadway chose blue lace with matching jacket. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in Bermuda blue silk. Both wore pink carnations and sweetheart roses.

Wed Saturday in Barnett Chapel, First Baptist Church, were Betty June Boadway, daughter of the H. L. Boadways of Elwood Street and Robert Backus, son of the Albert Backuses of West Walton Boulevard.

Club Holds a Picnic Luncheon

New member, Mrs. William Vogel, was honored with the presentation of a corsage by Mrs. Clarence Myers, chairman for the day. Mrs. Myers then gave a brief summary of the club's history.

Members of the committee for the luncheon were Mrs. E. M. Malone, Mrs. J. Gardner Lewis, Mrs. Earl Eddy, Mrs. Maxwell Lucas, Mrs. R. J. Boynton, Mrs. W. H. Bedard, Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs H. J. Berry, and Mrs. F. A. Parks.

Plans for a card party June 28 at the Oakland County Boat Club with dessert luncheon, and a white elephant sale were revealed by Mrs Earl Hoskins.

The next regular meeting of the club will be the Past Presidents Luncheon Sept. 17 at Rotunda Inn.

Garden Branch Plans for Show

The June meeting of the New England Estates Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association was held at the home of Mrs. Richard Hulbert on West Long Road.

Mrs. Al Georgeff and Mrs. Max Hawkins were cohostesses for the evening.

The Garden Club will participate in the flower show June 27 at the Sylvan Lake Lutheran Church.

Mother-in-Law Scare Just a False Alarm

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Just recently a woman accused of arson admitted that she burned down her own home when she got the word that her mother-in-law was coming to live with her. Sounds pretty drastic, doesn't it?

The poor woman has probably been reading for years all those articles and "expert" opinions pointing out that two women can't live happily under one roof.

For 15 or 20 years now the word has been: "Don't take a mother or a mother-in-law into your home." As thoroughly as wives have been sold the idea of togetherness for husband, wife and children they've been sold the idea that letting grandma enter the home is sure to be a major catastrophe.

The word has long been out that when grandma moves in peace and happiness fly out the window.

Grandma—we have been told over and over—will prevent husband and wife from having the easy, comfortable companionship that is their right. She will either spoil the children or try to boss them or tell the parents how to bring them up.

She will demand that the house be run to suit her. She'll take sides in arguments. Oh, the picture has been painted black indeed.

Despite that fact, many mothers do have to move in with their married children—and often the setup works out happily for all concerned.

But, thanks to all the scare articles telling what a mistake it is for three generations to try to live together, most couples face a mother's coming to live with them with fear and trembling.

They groan and their friends sympathize. But few—fortunately—consider burning down the house before mother can wreck it.

Bride-Elect Is Honored With Shower

Bride-elect Karen Kaye Anderson, daughter of Rep. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Anderson of Lincolnshire Drive, Waterford Township, was honored at a luncheon and linen shower, in the Clarkston home of Mrs. Stephen Longair. Mrs. Louis Wood was cohostess.

★ ★ ★

Places were marked for the honoree's mother and Mrs. Everett M. Bishop of Monroe, mother of David Bishop, future bridegroom. Other guests were Mrs. Donald Denhoff, Saline, Mrs. Richard Sanderson, Clawson, Mrs. Thomas Sawyer and Mrs. George Elder, both of Flint.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Floyd LeVigne and Mrs. Charles Andrews with daughter Karen came from Drayton Plains and Mrs. Gerald Anderson and Mrs. H. Wayne Longair from Clarkston.

Remove Spot

An unusual use for meat tenderizer is to remove blood from fabric. Cover the stain with the tenderizer, and apply warm water to make a paste. After 15-30 minutes, sponge with cool water; then launder as usual in plenty of soap or detergent suds.

At UF Tea

'To Say 'Thanks'

★ ★ ★

"The tea serves to honor both men and women who have given many hours of volunteer service to the community through service committees of the women's division and volunteers associated with United Fund agencies," says Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, women's division chairman.

Speaker for the occasion will be Larry Payne, news director of radio station WPON.

Presentation of awards will be made by Mrs. Noffsinger and Karl Bradley, executive director, Pontiac Area United Fund. Awards will be presented to volunteers on the basis of length of service and outstanding volunteer contributions.

TO RECEIVE AWARDS

Members of the following women's division committees will be receiving awards: friendly visitors, motor-aides, Central Volunteer Bureau, tribute fund, and women's campaign.

Agencies participating in the awards program include: St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic; Michigan Children's Aid Society, Oakland County Branch; Community Activities, Inc.; Boy Scouts of America, Clinton Valley Council; Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls; Catholic Social Services of Oakland County; Family Service of Oakland County; Boys' Club of Pontiac, Inc.; Michigan Cancer Foundation; American Red Cross, Oakland County Chapter; Young Men's Christian Association; Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council; Big Brothers of Oakland County; U. S. O., Pontiac Committee; Pontiac Urban League; Young Women's Christian Association; Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association.

St. Michael's Class of '42 Plans Reunion Saturday

Classmates in St. Michael's High School, class of 1942, will travel from as far west as Colorado and as far east as Maryland to attend their 20th reunion Saturday evening at the Green Parrot.

Reunion activities begin with dinner at 7 p.m. at the North Ferry Street location. A social hour follows the dinner at 9 p.m.

Handling arrangements for the affair are committee members Mrs. John Kay of West Longfellow Avenue; Mrs. Robert Blaicher of Cannon City, Colo.; Richard Steele of Baybrook Drive, Waterford Township; Richard Mineweaser of St. Joseph Street; and Raymond H. Genereux, East Jackson Street, Lake Orion.

The William P. Webers

On Canada Honeymoon

Parents of the former Martha Pulleyblank of Motorway Drive are the Donald H. Pulleyblanks. The bridegroom is the son of the William V. Webers of Kalamazoo.

The bride was attended by Nancy Young of Lakeside Drive while Lyndon Smith performed the duties of best man. Seating guests were Ronald Pulleyblank of Pontiac, and John Weber of Kalamazoo.

The new Mrs. Weber is a senior at Western Michigan University. Her husband served two years in the navy and is presently a junior at Western Michigan.

VFW Groups Announce Coming Dates

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Oakland County Council of Veterans Auxiliaries met at Post 1370 on South Saginaw Street and announced the forthcoming events:

June 29 VFW past presidents of Oakland County Council of Auxiliaries will hold a picnic at the VFW Memorial Park, 6 p.m. in Royal Oak.

There will be a pancake dinner July 7 at the VFW Auxiliary 4156 at Oxbow Lake.

A carnival is planned for July 15 at the VFW home in Eaton Rapids.

During the meeting Mrs. Otto Zinader, Oakland County Council president, was elected delegate to the Michigan department convention of VFW Auxiliaries Thursday to Sunday in Sault Ste. Marie.

Don't Ruffle His Feathers

Be Kind to Car Driver

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always fighting with cab drivers and gets absolutely furious when I criticize him for it. He says, right or wrong, a wife should stick up for her husband.

I say, right or wrong, it is bad to disturb the emotional equilibriunf of a man who has to control a dangerous vehicle in traffic all day long. What do you think?

CHARLOTTE

DEAR CHARLOTTE: It is definitely wrong to ruffle the feathers of the bird behind the wheel. Furthermore, it's dangerous. Some cab drivers deserve a generous tip—others deserve none. And some passengers should walk if they can't ride without heckling the driver.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When I sorted the laundry this morning I found lipstick all over the collar of my husband's shirt. He tried to tell me it was tomato juice. What would you do in a case like that?

GWEN

DEAR GWEN: I'd find out who the tomato was.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How much does a mother owe her children? I have a three-year-old son and a 2-year old daughter. My husband is dead.

I have a chance to marry two men. The first appeals to me very much (physically) but he doesn't like children. He says they make him nervous. He wants to marry me, but I'm afraid to marry him.

The second is just the opposite. He is crazy about children and would make a wonderful father. He doesn't appeal to me as strongly as the first man.

Should I marry the first man and hope I can change him? Or should I marry the second man and be satisfied with a husband who will be good to all of us? I am 26. The first man is 30. The second is 33.

"EENY MEENY"

DEAR "EENY": I don't want to be a "meany"—but I wouldn't see the first man any "moe"! The second man would probably make you happier.

It's easier to learn to love a man (physically) who is good to you and your children than it is to change one because he "appeals" to you.

So Let's Play in Teams

We're Not All Quiz Kids

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-445: Sylvia B., aged 21, is active in her local church.

"Dr. Crane, I enjoy working with the young people," she said.

"For I have charge of social events and entertainment. It seemed to me that we could use some of your Bible tests and other material on Sunday nights.

DR. CRANE

"I know many of the kids enjoy them. But when I tried them out last week, a lot of the young folks acted indifferent.

"Yet when I had let them take the tests in private, they had been very enthusiastic.

"So why did they change their tune when I tried to use such pencil-and-paper contests for group entertainment?"

EGO DEFLATION

It was because they feared the ego deflation of having their boy friend or girl friend see their low score.

Most people don't win the top prizes on mental tests on intellectual games. They realize they aren't quiz kids.

So they hesitate to try such pencil-and-paper games at group parties and church social affairs.

★ ★ ★

However, you can remedy the matter very easily if you will divide them into small teams of four to six. Let them pool their combined knowledge.

★ ★ ★

Then, if they fail to rate the top scores or win a prize, they can soothe their vanity by realizing it wasn't a personal evidence of stupidity.

For they had several other people in the same boat (team) with them. And this is an essential point for all youth leaders to remember.

PARLOR GAME STRATEGY

Many games that people will disdain, are really received enthusiastically by those same folks, if you simply protect their ego.

For nobody wants to be "shown up" in public. For example, if a girl has a first date with a much desired escort, she is doubly fearful lest he find out that she makes a low score.

To avoid that disaster, she purposely affects disinterest or boredom regarding the game that is announced.

So put each person into a small cooperating group, which will then protect her ego.

She and her new boy friend can thus work together, along with possibly one or two other couples.

Their combined mental output then enters the competition against the combined product of other groups at the same party.

If her group fails to win top-notch honors, she now doesn't mind, for her boy friend is in the same dilemma with her, for they pooled their wits so neither one can highhat the other.

USE OBJECTIVE TESTS

In Sunday School, too, when you employ 4-answer or "multiple choice" Bible questions, plus true-false, completion, matching problems, etc., it is also well to let the children score their own papers and then keep them to take home.

★ ★ ★

Also, urge them to test their Daddy and Mother on the same Bible quiz. This enhances their interest in it.

For they relish "showing up" their parents. And the fact they can administer the test to their parents, makes them take the teacher-role.

Thus, they learn more about the Bible by repeating your test items and correcting the errors of Daddy and Mother.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Pythian Sisters Plan Meeting in September

Tentative plans were made for the Grand Temple meeting Sept. 20, 21, 22 at the Hotel Henrose, Detroit.

Since last September, the sisters have made 1,744 cancer pads. Their Gray Lady has spent 300 hours at Pontiac General Hospital.

The Temple meetings will resume in September.

ETHEL LOUISE JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Jones of Deland Court announce the engagement of their daughter Ethel Louise to Payton H. Granderson Jr., son of the senior Grandersons of Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding.

Tips on Careers

Have Your Eye on Engineering?

(Editor's Note — This week's tips on engineering make up the ninth in a 12-week series of career articles, giving you in a capsule up-to-minute facts on job possibilities in industry and the professions. Source: U. S. Department of Labor.)

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

Educational Requirements: Bachelor's degree in engineering is minimum; proportion of engineers with advanced degrees still small, but growing. (A few engineers enter the field with training in physics or one of the natural sciences.)

Personal Requirements: Keen interest in math; ingenuity in solving problems; good business sense; interest and ability in detail.

Advantages: Largest profession for men and one of fastest-growing; big current demand (employment prospects through the mid-60's good because there is no anticipated rise in the number of engineering graduates until then;) good salaries initially, marked increase in earnings as experience is gained; 25 specialized fields, but since there is a common body of knowledge of engineering in each, engineers can shift readily from one field to another.

Disadvantages: Need for keeping abreast with ever-changing developments by reading, participating in societies, etc.; pressure to meet deadlines; certain branches of engineering require continual relocation.

Salaries: Inexperienced engineering graduates earn from $5,900 to $6,825 depending on the kind of engineering; engineering graduates with a master's degree receive $800 to $1,400 more; salaries for those with a doctorate, between $9,000 and $11,000 a year; marked increase in earnings with experience (median annual salary of those with ten years experience, $10,000 — with 20 years', $12,400; 10 per cent of those with 20 years' experience earned $17,600 or more).

Reunion Breakfast Held

The Teacher's Exchange Club held a breakfast Saturday at Ted's Restaurant in honor of its 25th reunion.

Mrs. Irwin Gottschalk was mistress of ceremony while Mrs. Lenn Kennady gave a history of the club's activities.

The guest list included Mrs. Ron Chandler and Carol Knapp.

The former members in attendance were Mrs. Edith McKee, Mrs. Archie Leonard, Mrs. Irene Albright, Mrs. Steward Knapp, Mrs. Margaret Crelby, Mrs. Jesse Medlen, Mrs. James Morse, the club's second president, Mrs. Sally Bishop, Mrs. Roy Long, Mrs. Marian Cowan, and Mrs. Blanche Ingalsbe.

MRS. RICHARD DAWSON

Mrs. Richard Dawson of South East Boulevard, received the College of Regents Degree, the highest honor given in the Women of the Moose. Four years of work in the Moose and service as senior regent of the chapter, as well as helping the chapter attain honors, are necessary to receive the revered cap and gown.

Grissom Given AF Trophy for Space Flight

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert made the formal presentation of the plaque citing Grissom as "the Air Force member who has made the most outstanding contribution to the nation's progress in aerospace" in the past year.

The presentation ceremony, at National Geographic Society headquarters, was attended by Air Force and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials and members of the astronaut's family.

Reports Discovery 20 Ancient Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—An archeologist said yesterday that excavations at the site of Dothan, 60 miles north of Jerusalem, had "significantly borne out the Bible as a historical document."

The archeologist, Dr. Joseph P. Free of Wheaton (Ill.) College, who spent three months at the site, said diggers had uncovered 20 cities built on top of one another and dating back 5,000 years.

"We found six ash levels fitted between 1200 and 1000 B.C.," he said. "We know from the Bible that Palestine was invaded six times in that period and was subject to half a dozen destructions."

Dr. Free is director of that Near East School of Archeology in Jerusalem.

Scott Rained Out Opening Night in Central Park

"The Merchant of Venice," starring George C. Scott as Shylock, was well under way in the new $400,000 open-air theater when lightning and thunder appeared.

As rain fell, members of the audience began to leave and the show was stopped.

"The Merchant of Venice, scheduled to run through July 7, is the first of three scheduled Shakespeare productions to be performed free under the stars in Central Park.

Named to Health Post

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The Regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare yesterday announced appointment of Alfred J. Francfort as regional representative of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance for Michigan and Ohio. His office will be in Cleveland, and he will replace Byron E. Goetz who has been transferred to the Chicago office.

Sweden Installs TVs for Construction Men

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — TV sets will brighten the barracks of workers at government-run emergency construction projects.

The government will provide the sets and each worker will pay three cents a day for maintenance under an agreement between the Construction Workers Union and the National Labor Market Board announced yesterday.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Zoning Board of Independence Township, Oakland County, Michigan, will hold a Public Hearing on June 26, 1962, 7:30 p.m., at the Township Hall, Clarkston, Michigan, to consider the following changes in Township Zoning Districts:

(1) To rezone the following described property from Suburban Farms to Commercial-1:

N 200 ft of the N 825 ft of the W ½ of NE ¼ of Sec. 27, T4N, R8E, except that part taken for Highway purposes.

(2) To rezone the following described property from Suburban Farms to Manufacturing-1:

N 825 ft of the W ½ of NE ¼ of Section 27, T4N, R8E, excepting therefrom the W 300 ft, also except that part taken for Highway purposes.

(3) To rezone the following described property from Residence-1 to Commercial-1:

Part of the NW ¼ of Section 30, T4N, R8E, described as beginning at a point located N 701° 25' 15" W 11.75 ft from the SW cor of Lot 2 of Clarkston Medical Sub. No. 1 as recorded in Liber 105, Page 29 of Plats of Oakland County Records; th from said point of beginning on a curve to the right (R=300.00 ft, delta 21° 37' 45", LC=N 58° 25' 46" W 112.49 ft) an arc distance of 113.25 ft; th N 30° 01' 50" E 188.85 ft; th S 60° 54' 30" W 231.09 ft to point of beginning. Containing 0.27 acres.

A map showing the proposed changes in the Zoning Districts may be examined in the Township Hall during regular office hours.

Line Must Hire Negro Hostess

Northwest Ordered by FEPC to Give Woman Job as Stewardess

DETROIT (UPI) — Northwest Airlines, Inc., must hire a Negro woman, now a clerk in the airline's Chicago office, as a stewardess, the Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission ruled yesterday.

The FEPC found the airline guilty of discrimination in refusing to give a stewardess job to Marlene White, 27, formerly of Detroit, who began her fight for the position in March 1957.

The commission ordered the airline to put Miss White in the next scheduled stewardess training school at St. Paul, Minn., and to assign her upon satisfactory completion of training.

It also ordered the airline to notify its representatives within 30 days that Michigan recruiting, hiring and total employment practices "be free of discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry."

Miss White was called twice to the home office and training school in St. Paul following her original application but was turned down for stewardess training. She was hired as a reservations clerk in June 1959.

Airline officials testified at an FEPC hearing last February that Miss White's stewardess application was denied for reasons other than race.

Under Michigan law, the airline has 30 days to comply with the order or the commission will seek a contempt citation.

Illinois Band Wins Contest

School Aggregation Named Champions at 'Music Man' Premiere

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP)—The Lockport, Ill. high school band, whose veteran director stresses musicianship, not showmanship, began a whirlwind 10-day tour today as national high school marching band champion.

Director Ernest Caneva's 103-member band won the contest Tuesday night over 27 over bands from all parts of the United States without so much as one scantily clad majorette.

GIANT PARADE

The contest was held in conjunction with the 24th annual North Iowa Band Festival and the press premiere of Warner Bros.' screen presentation of Meredith Willson's "The Music Man."

More than 100,000 persons turned out for the all-day spectacle, which included a gigantic parade of 119 bands, 43 floats, 84 beauty queens and stars of Hollywood and Broadway.

It was the biggest parade of bands in the city's 109-year history.

A crowd of about 15,000 was on hand for the awards presentations at Roosevelt Field and to see the celebrities.

MADE A COLONEL

Willson, a native of Mason City and extremely popular in his hometown, was made an honorary colonel by Gov. Norman Erbe.

Robert Preston, star of the Broadway and Hollywood versions of "The Music Man," drew a laugh when he said, "Meredith and I always shake hands when we meet, or even kiss, but now he's a colonel and I will have to salute him."

Chitchat About the White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Backstairs at the White House:

Want to hear something chilling?

There are pony hoof marks all over the White House golf green. When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower hears about this, there could be new political warfare.

★ ★ ★

Caroline Kennedy's two ponies normally are not allowed to roam, but they did on at least one occasion and the once mirror-smooth putting green now resembles the beginner's tee at a public driving range.

★ ★ ★

Also there are some spike marks on the green made by high-fashion heels of women who somehow did not have the same reverence for golf that existed in the White House a couple of years back.

★ ★ ★

Rene Verdon, Mrs. Kennedy's French chef, is getting television offers — and turning them down. If Verdon wants to continue cooking at the White House, he'll continue his anonymity.

Once he departs the Kennedy kitchens, however, he should be able to name his own price at virtually any hotel or restaurant in the country. And imagine how a Verdon cookbook would sell.

★ ★ ★

A not entirely reverent soul comes up with a fine idea for healing the breach between business and President Kennedy. Sell the sponsorship of his televised news conferences to U.S. Steel.

★ ★ ★

Sour note on Pierre Salinger's recent 37th birthday: A reminder that more former presidents are living than are ex-White House press secretaries.

Also, that Pierre will be out of work before he's 44 years old. Of course, he'll probably go on to make a million dollars in private industry after the President leaves office, but this still won't get him helicopter rides for free.

★ ★ ★

From this slim little paperback comes one idea which the Democrats find utterly devastating — that Richard M. Nixon still wants to debate with his political opponents, but only on radio.

Speaking of fun, the President had a lot of it the other day when he toured exhibits at the National Archives. He entered quietly and unannounced.

Several times he joined tourists groups peering into cases of historic documents and double-takes by the sight-seers would have driven Allen ("Candid Camera") Funt crazy with envy.

One woman had to look at the President three times, from about a foot away, before she could comprehend. When she got the idea, her howl of glee reached siren intensity.

TV Producer Dead at 52

LITTLETON, N.H. (AP) — Alfred Levy, 52, one of television's pioneer producers and packagers, died Tuesday. Levy, born in Douglas, Ariz., was president of Talent Associates-Paramount, Ltd., which produced such shows as "Armstrong Circle Theater" and "Mr. Peepers."

Roberts, Kuhn, Huber Toss Quips, Before GOP Women

Oakland County's three Republican candidates for state senator met in face-to-face debate yesterday for the first time — and Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber was the man in the middle.

★ ★ ★

Befitting his role in the campaign thus far, Huber was seated between Pontiac's incumbent Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and Waterford Township's con-con delegate Richard D. Kuhn as the three candidates addressed a meeting of the Birmingham-Troy Republican Women's Club in Birmingham.

HUBER IN MIDDLE

While Roberts and Kuhn have exchanged harsh criticism in recent weeks, Huber has remained largely aloof, preferring to state his platform without direct reference to his opponents.

The Troy mayor stood his middle ground again yesterday as Roberts and Kuhn, from either side, tossed challenges and jibes at one another.

Kuhn lashed out at Roberts for joining with Democrats to approve a state income tax (Roberts later reversed his stand), for voting not to submit the income tax question to voters and for requesting a ballot designation as incumbent for the Aug. 7 primary election.

As he discussed the income tax — which he said he opposes "100 per cent" — Kuhn pounded the speaker's table and cried:

"This is one issue that really gets me mad . . . Our senator (Roberts) should not have joined the Democrats."

Kuhn also challenged Roberts to withdraw his application for ballot designation, charging that the senator "doesn't want to run on the record and he doesn't want to run on the issues."

★ ★ ★

Roberts jabbed back by saying Kuhn "has a phobia" about the ballot designation issue.

Roberts said his own "ghoulish sense of humor," in part, led him to request ballot designation — "because it gets Dick (Kuhn) excited."

THREATENS LAWSUIT

Kuhn has threatened a lawsuit to have ballot designation declared unconstitutional unless Roberts withdraws his request.

Meanwhile, Huber, maintaining outward neutrality although he and Kuhn voiced similar strong opposition to an income tax, would not openly challenge or needle either of his opponents.

Speaking first to the women's group, the mayor outlined his four-point campaign program:

4-POINT PROGRAM

1—No state income tax.
2—No city tax on nonresidents. (Huber is a member of the Vigilance Tax Committee fighting Detroit's tax on nonresidents.)
3—A balanced budget.
4—Reduced expenditures.

"It has been said this is a negative program," Huber said. "This is the most positive plan you can have.

"You can live with a budget if you're budget-oriented and aren't defeated before you get started."

Kuhn, following Huber in a series of 15-minute speeches by each candidate, said the key to reform in Lansing is to trim expenses.

"When you don't have money," Kuhn said, "you cut."

★ ★ ★

Kuhn opposes a state income tax, he said, because it does away with initiative, incentive and character, an objection also voiced by Huber. He warned the group that the income tax is not a dead issue and will come up again in the next legislative session.

★ ★ ★

In his speech, Kuhn also criticized state legislators for raising their pay 40 per cent when the state is "broke." When he restated his complaint later during a question-answer session, Roberts interrupted:

"Could I say a word on the pay raise? I just want to say I didn't vote for it."

Roberts, in his speech, said the only issue which appears to seriously divide all three candidates is the income tax.

"Personally, I abhor it," the senator said, "but if there's no other way out I won't stand up and oppose it."

★ ★ ★

Proposing a series of business tax relief programs, Roberts said income lost from these programs probably would have to be replaced by an income tax. He answered qualms expressed by Kuhn and Huber that an income tax would be continually progressive by pointing out a section of the proposed new constitution would provide for a flat rate tax.

City Wants Bids for Water Plant

Total Construction Cost $3,987,000 to Be Set for Detroit Supply

Pontiac is seeking bidders for improvements to its water system at an estimated total construction cost of $3,987,000.

★ ★ ★

The construction is needed to allow the city to receive Detroit water.

Authority to advertise for bids was given last night by the City Commission.

The biggest single construction cost will be an estimated $1,540,000 for mains, pipelines, valves and fittings to revamp the present system which draws water from 30 wells.

The plan calls for a main trunk line to be laid from the planned pumping plant at South Boulevard and Opdyke Road through the center of the city to an area near the Pontiac Motor Division plant.

The other major cost will be $1,180,000 estimated for the pumping station, elevated storage tank, a maintenance and service building, ground storage tanks and other miscellaneous structures.

★ ★ ★

The entire project will be let in five separate bids.

The bids are to be tabulated and presented to the commission at the Aug. 7 meeting.

A total of $3,770,000 of the cost is expected to be financed through a bond issue. The application for the issue now is before the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for approval. A total of $217,000 will come from Water fund surpluses.

★ ★ ★

The over-all construction cost includes land cost of the pumping plant site at Opdyke Road and South Boulevard, a contingency fund, legal and financial advisory fees, interest and the construction itself.

City Steps Up Tax Center Bid

Names Big Committee to Assist IRS Men in Planning This Locale

Pontiac last night took another step to show its strong bid for the new Internal Revenue Service Center, also sought by Detroit and Port Huron.

Stating that the city "is in the number one position to get the IRS Center," Acting Mayor Winford E. Bottom appointed members to an IRS committee established earlier this year by commission resolution.

Named were: Thomas Wiethorn, general manager of the Fisher Body Division; ex-city manager Walter K. Williman; Pontiac merchant Monroe Osmun; Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland; Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press; Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce;

★ ★ ★

Named from city government were: Commissioners Winford E. Bottom, Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry, and city manager Robert Stierer; city director of finance, Marvin Alward, and city attorney William Ewart.

Oxford Boy Hurt in Auto Accident

The boy, John T. Jones of 29 Pearl St., is reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. The driver, Harold W. Thombley, 20, 159 Pleasant St., Romeo told Pontiac police his brakes failed when the boy ran in front of his car.

Grapefruit was not generally recognized as a fruit of commercial possibilities until it was introduced at the Chicago Exposition in 1893.

Pontiac Area Deaths

MRS. ROBERT McDONALD

Service for Mrs. Robert (Elizabeth) McDonald, 76, of 26 Murphy St. will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Huntoon-Funeral Home with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McDonald died yesterday of a heart ailment in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a long illness.

She was a retired employe of Waite's Department Store and a member of Central Methodist Church.

EARL F. STEPHISON

Service for Earl F. Stephison, 72, of 12 Downing Court will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Sparks-Griffin Chapel with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mr. Stephison, a retired employe of Metes & Power, Inc., died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital after a long illness.

Surviving besides his wife, Gwen, are a son Roland of Pontiac; three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Adell of Pontiac, Mrs. Ursula Schram of Detroit and Mrs. Lucille McMichael in California; and 16 grandchildren.

★ ★ ★

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Beulah Cotcher of Pontiac and Mrs. Vada Shaver of Sylvan Lake, and a brother.

MRS. EDGAR C. KECK

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Service for former township resident Mrs. Edgar C. (Myrtle) Keck, 60, of Williamston, will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Williamston Lutheran Church.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Keck died yesterday at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing. Her body is at Grosline Funeral Home, Williamston.

WILLIAM J. SHOOK

HOLLY—Service for William J. Shook, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shook of 801 Maryann Drive, will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Rita's Catholic Church, with burial to follow at Lakeside Cemetery.

William died yesterday at Hurley Hospital, Flint, after an illness since birth.

Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Cheryl, at home, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rodgers of Holly and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jaworski of Durand.

The boy's body is at Dryer Funeral Home.

Waterford CAI Opens Its Membership Drive

Community Activities, Inc., in Waterford Township launched its annual summer membership drive during last weekend's CAI Fair. The campaign for new members will continue until Sept. 1.

★ ★ ★

During the year CAI members are offered five special events and they can participate in scheduled instructional classes at reduced rates, according to director Robert Bauer.

Bottom Reports 'Progress' by Downtown Assn.

Pontiac Acting Mayor Winford E. Bottom last night reported "definite progress" in the work of the Downtown Pontiac Association to improve the downtown area.

Bottom and City Manager Robert Stierer met with the association Monday to review advances made in the city's urban renewal program.

Bottom told fellow commissioners that, "under the leadership of as capable man as Walter K. Williman, who is executive director of the association, I am sure we can expect definite improvement of the downtown area."

★ ★ ★

"We talked about the report on downtown which was filed two months ago," Willman said. "I've been retained by the downtown people to work on this plan. It is a cooperative effort between city and downtown association."

Re-Elect Woman to Post on Housing Commission

Mrs. Mary A. Killian of 119 Lincoln St. will serve another five-year term on the Pontiac Housing Commission.

She was renamed to the position last night in a unanimous vote by the Pontiac City Commission.

Final Site Is Selected for Swimming Program

The final swimming site for the Waterford Township Recreation Department's summer swim program has been designated as 4641 Motorway Drive on Elizabeth Lake.

Registration for the program will be held Monday at 1 p.m. at the recreation headquarters in the Community Activities Building, 5640 Williams Lake Road, Waterford Township.

Children outgrow their shoes every one to six months until they reach the age of about 15, according to studies made by foot specialists.

Senate to Vote on Sugar Act

House Holds Up Small Quota for Cuba Just 'in Case'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday — in face of a June 30 deadline — a five-year-extension of the Sugar Act. It would give most of Cuba's former quota of nearly 3 million tons a year to friendly countries.

★ ★ ★

However, the bill sets in reserve a 1.5-million-ton slice in case Cuba should some day free itself from the present Communist government.

The House acted quickly at the urging of Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of The Agriculture Committee. The vote was 319 to 72.

It is now up to the Senate to get the bill passed before the June 30 expiration date of the act.

★ ★ ★

The measure would hike the quota for domestic sugar producers from 54 per cent to nearly 60 per cent of U.S. consumption. Domestic producers also would get 63 per cent of any future growth in American use of sugar.

Young Parents Should Think Twice

Grandparents 'LOVE' to Baby Sit

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — It is an accepted fact of American life that grandparents spoil their grandchildren.

But a fact which is not so commonly accepted is this:

Grandchildren also spoil their grandparents . . . spoil their furniture, spoil their clothes and, if they stick around long and loudly enough, spoil their day.

It is perhaps (perhaps?—it is decidedly) un-American to say so, but it has been my observation that there is a wild misconception in the minds of young parents today.

They assume that "Grandma and Grandpa" are simply dying to dote on their little ones . . . to baby-sit with them endlessly . . . to have the bouncing babies as house guests for weekends.

These parents think that when Grandma buys the baby a new toy, she wants to show him how to use it. When Grandma buys the baby a new dress, she wants to put it on the infant, personally. When Grandpa buys junior a baseball glove, it means (these parents think) that he wants to play nine innings with the lad.

BACK-BREAKING LABOR

"Would you like to take the baby for the day?" mother inquires of grandmother, as if she were offering her a month's vacation instead of 16 hours of back-breaking labor.

What can grandmother say? She's supposed to be delighted. Everybody knows grandmothers are supposed to be delighted to sit with kiddies. "I'd be delighted," she says.

Then she calls off her bridge date, rolls up her sleeves, takes an aspirin and puts on her jolly grandmother expression.

I have never heard of a grandparent turning down an "opportunity" to care for a grandchild with any excuse short of a severe migraine; but I have seen the expressions on the faces of grandbaby-sitters which have said, very clearly, "I'm too old for this sort of thing."

Yet these words are never spoken by a red-blooded (however bloodied) American grandparent.

We live in a society where it would be almost immoral to admit you didn't enjoy being an overworked, unpaid grandparent.

★ ★ ★

The role of the mother in our modern household is changing, but the undefiled position of grandmother—we haven't updated our thinking on that one yet!

DONE WITH DIAPERS

As for grandfather, it never occurs to anyone (except perhaps him—and he'd hardly admit it, even to himself) that he has had done with diapers and sandboxes.

He has worked hard for the privilege of enjoying his leisure time with the Old Lady. He has had it with shrieks and burps, and now enjoys quiet.

But young parents, of course, cannot see these things.

They assume that their parents are as ecstatic about those little, active demons as if they were just starting out in married life again.

Young parents feel guilty if they don't bring the whooping herd over to Grandpa's house for frequent and long visits.

Young parents believe what they read in the old wives tales—that grandparents would rather spoil grandchildren than do anything else in the world.

Perhaps some of them would. But for those millions of U.S. grandfolks who (secretly, of course) cringe slightly at the thought of another day with the wee ones, I recommend establishment of a "grandparents day."

★ ★ ★

The observance would be simple. The kiddies would offer presents to their oldest, most underprivileged baby sitters—tranquillizers, good books, theater tickets — and they would be sent always by mail.

Never in person.

Woman to Run Against Sheriff; 'He's Too Old'

DETROIT (AP)—A woman bar owner and mother filed for the Democratic nomination for Wayne County sheriff yesterday because incumbent Andrew Baird is "too old."

Baird, longtime sheriff, is 83. His latest of 16 rivals, Mrs. Lee Reno, said "as a taxpayer, I resent a man that old running for office."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Reno, 37, mother of two children, conceded that her sex could be a handicap in the sheriff's post but said "anyone younger than Baird could do a better job."

Movie Director Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Borzage, 69, who came to Hollywood as an actor in 1913 and became a top motion picture director, died Tuesday of cancer. Borzage, known for his tender love stories, won Academy awards in 1927 for "Seventh Heaven" and in 1931 for "Bad Girl."

Rails Strike Too; France in Snarl

Workers Join Utilities Employes in Spreading Antigovernment Action

PARIS (UPI) — Railwaymen joined gas and electric workers today in a spreading antigovernment strike that crippled France's transportation and deprived much of the nation of power, light and hot meals.

Communist, Socialist and Roman Catholic union organizations all supported the mass effort to force the government to relax its efforts to hold the line against inflation.

The strikers are demanding increases in excess of the $30-a-week wages authorized by the government and a reduction of their present 48-hour work week.

For the gas and electric workers, today's walkout was the second dawn-to-dusk strike in as many days. Railway workers joined in with scattered two-hour stoppages.

Few householders could prepare hot food, and many restaurants were reduced to serving sandwiches and salads by candlelight.

Not only the railways but all electric transportation was crippled by the strike.

Many major factories, including the Renault and Citroen automobile works, were forced to close.

Miss Christian Denied Any of Power Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The district Court of Appeal rejected the petition of actress Linda Christian for $200,000 from the estate of her late husband, Tyrone Power.

In denying her appeal the court upheld a Superior Court decision which held that the actress and the children were adequately provided for in the property settlement which accompanied her divorce decree in 1955.

Lad TRIED to Be Quiet as a Mouse

MEMPHIS (AP) — The youngster squirmed and wiggled so in his church pew that the whole family was embarrassed by his misbehavior. He defended staunchly that there was something dreadful wrong with his new coat.

And, by golly, he was right. A search conducted later in the privacy of hime turned up a mouse in the lining nibbling on cookie crumbs left in the pocket.

Child Proves Fisherman's Luck Is Real Thing

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—There is such a thing as fisherman's luck.

A 14 or 15-year-old boy fishing nearby struck up a conversation, then started helping Larry out, baiting his hook and helping him with his casting and so on.

He had leaned his rod and reel against the railing and was helping Larry, when suddenly the rig went sailing into the bay.

Sadly, the boy left the bridge. About 10 minutes later, Larry hooked something and pulled it in. It was the older boy's rod and reel and on the end of the line was a 15-inch trout.

Now the Simons family is looking for the boy to give him back his rig.

More than 40 million wrist watches will be sold in this country by 1970, almost double the amount of today's market.

Logical Prescription: Get Nonallergic Doc

LULA, Miss. (AP) — Due to his sensitive nose, Dr. Namo Yeates keeps his office fresh by spraying perfume around every now and then.

The fellow ran for his life but was plugged in the leg. So back he went to Dr. Yeates' office to have the bullet cut out.

"I didn't charge him," Dr. Yeates said.

Japan Has Eel Farms

TOKYO — Japanese fishermen cannot meet the domestic demand for certain kinds of fish. This situation has led to unique fish-culture projects in which eels, shrimp, turtles, sea bream and mullet are raised. So popular are eels that there are 760 eel farms, and in Tokyo alone nearly 1,000 eel-specialty restaurants are listed in the classified pages of the phone book.

Egypt Announces TV Studio Finished

CAIRO (AP) — Work has been completed on the construction of what Egypt authorities claim to be among the best TV studios in the world.

The new studio, which occupies part of the fourth floor of the uncompleted new TV center in Cairo, covers an area of 840 square meters (2540 square feet).

★ ★ ★

The new studio, with a capacity of 900 persons, is designed and equipped to suit the production of plays. Its large stage has been equipped with the most modern apparatus for automatic change of scenes.

Gas, Air Make Power

DALLAS — Research is underway on natural-gas fuel cells which produce electricity directly from a mixture of gas and air by chemical action. Scientists already have built experimental fuel cells of this type that operate silently and efficiently and have no moving parts to be serviced or replaced.

MRS. MARY KATHERINE THOMAS WINS TEL-HURON AWARD for Distinguished Service

Mrs. Mary Katherine Thomas being presented with the Tel-Huron Distinguished Service Award by Mr. Lawrence Rattner, of the Tel-Huron Management Corporation.

Pontiac, Mich. June 15, 1962. The second Tel-Huron award, of a $25.00 merchandise certificate and a handsome plaque of imported English tile, for courteous, interested service to customers was presented to Mrs. Mary Thomas today at Tel-Huron.

Mrs. Thomas of Cunningham's Drug Store won by a close margin over a number of other employes at the Compact Center who, according to customers comments and observance by the Tel-Huron judges, were making it a regular daily practice to be friendly, helpful and courteous in every customer contact. The Tel-Huron merchants feel that this sort of service is playing an important part in bringing most of the people, who visit all the new shops and centers that are opening up all around us, back to Tel-Huron to do their shopping. That, plus the fact that you walk less, park closer and shop easier at Tel-Huron has contributed a lot to keeping both our business and our spirits up.

Brazilian President Plans New Cabinet

BRAZILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart has called on Foreign Minister Francisco San Tiago Dantas to form a new Cabinet, a presidential spokesman said Tuesday.

The present Cabinet plans to resign June 26 to permit several members to qualify for the October congressional elections.

Dantas, who would be prime minister in the new Cabinet, earlier had insisted he intended to run for Congress. Cabinet ministers and other public officials must resign 90 days before election to qualify.

Dies in Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Gabriel Passos, 61, Brazil's minister of mines and energy and a leading advocate of that nation's move to nationalize private electric utilities, died Tuesday night. He was a brother-in-law of former President Juscelino Kubitschek.

To Construct Supports in Independence Hall

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Work will begin about July 1 and continue seven months on a $186,690 project to install structural steel supports in Independence Hall.

★ ★ ★

H. O. Anderson, superintendent of Independence National Historical Park, said the supports are necessary before the first-floor assembly room can be renovated. The room is the site of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

Alcatraz Trio 'Best Prepared' of All Escapees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Evidence mounted Tuesday that the three bank robbers who broke out of Alcatraz last week were probably the best prepared of the 38 men who have tried to escape "The Rock."

★ ★ ★

A high federal prison official in Washington, Fred T. Wilkinson, confirmed that the three convicts had set up a secret workshop in a ventilator shaft in back of and above their cell block.

★ ★ ★

Wilkinson said the men may have had access to this workshop for possibly a year. Found in the workshop were an electric fan that had been converted into a drill, a crowbar and other equipment. The escapees, Frank Lee Morris, 35; John Anglin, 32, and Clarence Anglin, 31, used spoons to chisel out ventilator shaft covers in their cells. They made dummy covers for the holes and apparently moved in and out at will.

Gunfire Reported on Berlin Border

BERLIN (AP) — At least 20 shots were fired during the night by East German guards along the borders of West Berlin, West Berlin police reported today.

Scattered tommy gun fire—at least 15 shots—was heard near the Teltow Canal, in southern Berlin, about midnight. Three Western squad cars rushed to the scene.

After an hour's fruitless search, a police spokesman said if a refugee had tried to get across the barbed wire, he must have been caught.

Five shots were heard by Western police at Reinickendorf, in northern Berlin. Police again assumed the shots were aimed at a fleeing refugee.

Pickpocket Gets 2 Cents

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — John Frank Bush of Montgomery was arrested as a pickpocket and charged with larceny Tuesday. Police said the billfold Bush is accused of lifting contained two cents.

To Open Last Section of Freeway Near Clare

CLARE (AP) — The southbound lanes of U.S. 27 freeway on a four-mile section between Clare and Harrison will be opened to traffic Thursday, eliminating the last section of two-way traffic on the freeway between M30 north of Brighton and Waters.

★ ★ ★

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said bad weather delayed completion of the southbound lanes last fall.

Talk about royalty.

The prince of summer suitings has traditionally been Mohair. And with good reason. No other fabric has been quite able to match its regal look and yet remain as downright cool.

The secret?

No secret at all. All you need is the special glossy hair of the Angora goat. It's tough. It's silky. And it's very *un*common. But most important, it can be woven into the lightest, crispest suits under the summer sun: Mohair.

Notice the "can be." Not everyone is capable of getting everything out of Mohair that Nature put into it. It takes skill . . . and lots of experience.

For over 30 years we at Osmun's have been fortunate to have one of Michigan's largest collections of fine Mohair suits from America's finest houses. You'll find rich solid shades and subtle self-stripes and plaids. The styling is perfection. Our tailors perfectionists.

Why not stop by either Osmun's store soon and see how handsome Cool can be?

Quigley Plant Hit by Zoning

FARMINGTON —The future of a manufacturing company here appeared uncertain today with the firm's rejection of a city plan that would allow it to expand.

"I'm not sure what will happen now," said Charles A. Quigley, president of Quigley Machine Products, 30966 Grand River Ave., which deals chiefly in lighting equipment.

"I like the present location of the plant. I don't want to relocate. But it seems to me that if the plant is to grow, it will have to be somewhere else," he said.

Quigley yesterday turned down the city's compromise proposal aimed at satisfying both him and nearby residents who have objected to the rezoning of property at the rear of the plant and the subsequent expansion.

Property owners in the Floral Park subdivision, just north of the plant, are protesting that the $250,000 expansion, which would increase the size of the plant three times, would lower the value of their homes.

In a reply to a City Council resolution, agreeing to the rezoning and expansion with certain provision, Quigley said he had carefully reviewed the agreement and has concluded that "it is not acceptable."

'ECONOMICALLY IMPOSSIBLE'

He wrote: "The Council's decision not to adopt two key features of the proposed development which we had emphasized were absolutely essential to the expansion of our facilities at the present site would place a straight jacket on our operations and have made further improvements or expansion in the Grand River-Nine Mile Road area economically impossible for us."

The agreement, he said, restricted the utilization of the entire area on the Nine Mile Road side of the plant for parking and storage, and the extension of the main building to within 30 feet rather than 12 feet of one of the lot lines.

He also cited two other restrictions that would hamper his plan for expansion. They are the elimination of any vehicle access to the main building from Lilac Street and the limitations placed on the use of a nearby storage building.

Quigley, who has attempted to get approval on expansion plans for 18 months, wants to increase the size of his plant by about 16,000 square feet.

SEPARATED FROM HOMES

This, he said, would be enclosed by an 18-foot high building and separated from neighboring homes by a six-foot green belt.

Oddly enough, the three closest residents to the Quigley plant do not object to the expansion, saying that the plans they have seen would be an improvement over the present plant and its outside storage area.

"We have made every effort, at considerable expense, to eliminate the areas of contention which have been the source of friction between us and some of the residents of the subdivision," Quigley added.

* * * *

"In view of the council's action, we have no alternative but to look elsewhere for the answer to our expansion problems."

* * *

Quigley said that he has received about 300 offers from around the nation to relocate his plant.

"Nothing is definite," said Quigley. "I have 72 employes to think about before I make a move."

MAY RELOCATE — The proposed $250,000 expansion of the Quigley Machine Products Co. in Farmington seems unlikely since its owner, Charles A. Quigley, has turned down a proposal from the City Council that would allow him to increase the size of the plant but not to his specifications, which he claims are essential. The company, which does a reported $1-million-a-year business, wants to triple the size of its present plant, but neighboring homeowners object.

NEWS OF THE AREA

'No Violation' in Levy Setup

Walled Lake Council Learns New Rate Not Illegal in State

WALLED LAKE — The City Council learned last night that it had not violated state tax laws in setting the 1962-63 tax rate last month.

* * *

Councilman Clyde E. Mottor had charged that the tax rate was illegal because the council was setting aside for another purpose one of the 15 mills to be levied for each $1,000 of assessed valuation designated for general operations.

The accumulation of money in a special fund violated the state law, he said.

City Attorney Howard Bond, however, told the council that if the money was intended for a specific project in the future, the tax could be levied without question.

* * *

It would be illegal if, the tax collected without anything special planned, or if it were impossible to use the money for any project, he said.

The council, questioned by Bond before he gave his opinion, said the funds were to be used to purchase municipal property.

A question, also raised by Mottor, on following parliamentary procedure in setting the tax rate was dropped after the council was told that it was a minor point of contention.

* * *

Tax bills will be mailed June 29-30. Their preparation had been delayed until the council received a ruling.

Deny Zoning Change; Aim at Yard Solution

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Trustees and zoning board members decided to deny a zoning change petition at a joint meeting here last night but did not abandon the problem that prompted the request.

* * *

At the same time, they took a step toward pleasing residents near the property in question beyond their goal of blocking the proposed change of 5 acres of land at 1960 Taylor Road from residential zoning to commercial.

Trustee Kenneth Gidley and zoning board member Lloyd Lady were appointed to work out a solution to the problem of Sam Gottsman's junk yard located adjacent to the 5 acres.

Owner James Dodd, 1411 Rosedale St., West Bloomfield Township, had petitioned for the zoning change to clear the way for sale of the 5 acres to Gottsman for expansion of the junk yard, which now occupies only 1 acre.

* * *

Zoning board member Walter Smith said Gottsman's dismantling yard would surely die if it could not expand.

Among the possible solutions Gidley and Lady will discuss with Gottsman is a relocation of the junk yard in another area of the township where commercial zoning is already in effect.

Residents objected to the proposed change at a zoning board hearing June 4 because the expansion would spoil the area's potential beauty and lower their property values. They had resigned themselves, however, to the junk yard's remaining on its one acre even if it could not expand.

REMOVED UNITS

Dodd, who has already removed several condemned trailer - like housing units from his property, said the remaining four would be removed soon. He said he could not develop property next to a junk yard or sell except to the junk yard's owner.

* * *

With no other use possible, the land would become covered with weeds and be a bigger eyesore than ever, he said.

* * *

The zoning board recommended the petition be denied June 4 but asked for further study by trustees, who then set last night's meeting. About 20 nearby residents attended.

Saves Old Car in Fire; Faints

Area Man Collapses After Rescuing Antique; Condition Listed Good

Harold J. Stone, 58545 Van Dyke Road, was expected to be released today from St. Joseph's Hospital Mount Clemens, where he was taken after firemen on the scene revived him with oxygen.

Firemen from the Washington and Romeo departments were fighting a fire that started shortly before noon in a storage building behind the F. C. Blome Printing at 6719 West St. and spread to a barn behind Stone's home. Stone's 1908 automobile was in the barn.

Although firemen gained control of the fire within half an hour, according to Washington Assistant Fire Chief William Alward, both the storage building and the barn burned to the ground.

Romeo state police suspected the blaze was touched off by an arsonist. The storage building, owned by Roy Church of Utica and rented to the printing company, contained no electricity and was used only to store scrap paper.

No estimate of damage was available.

Clarkston Plans Parade to Mark Fourth of July

* * *

Jack Hess, chairman of the 1962 festivities, said the parade was substituted for games held in previous years in an effort to make the program more interesting for young and old alike.

The parade, led by a color guard, will get under way at 10 a.m. downtown. An open house will be held at the fire hall following the parade, and there will be fireworks that evening at sunset.

According to Hess, cash prizes will be offered for the best float, best children's float and best children's costume.

Aims for Mackinac Island

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Timber Tony Calary planned to try to reach Mackinac Island from the eastern upper peninsula city of De Tour today in his planned 314-mile rowboat trip from Sault Ste. Marie to Muskegon. He hopes to reach there June 30.

Romeo School Board Hears Driveway Plans

ROMEO—A school bus transfer center at the senior high school was honored last night as an alternate for a proposed circular drive which would doom some 10 stately trees in front of the junior high.

* * *

This alternate was just one offered by a citizens committee organized May 28 when the school board agreed to hear substitute plans which would allow the trees —some of them over 100 years old—to remain standing.

Representing 141 petitioners and others fighting to save the trees, the group last night outlined four proposals for board of education members. Summarizing was chairman Norman L. Schock, president of the Romeo Historical Society.

The petitioners had said that construction of the drive requiring removal of the trees would devaluate their property and ruin the historic site of the onetime Romeo branch of the University of Michigan.

PROPOSALS OFFERED

One suggestion was a paved driveway paralleling Chandler Street on the school property behind the junior high requiring no tree removal.

The second proposition was the use of Thompson Place between the junior high and agricultural building now closed off to through traffic.

A paved area to the west and paralleling Prospect Street, necessitating the removal of seven trees, was the third alternate proposal.

* * *

Thomas J. Schultz, 6633 28-Mile Road, Washington, showed detailed drawings of each proposal and gave specific details about grade levels and length and width of drives.

A couple of hours of discussion followed during which architect C. Wendell Smith of Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., Detroit, commented on each proposal citing major drawbacks in each case except the senior high bus transfer center.

The shuttling of buses at the senior high did not, however, solve the traffic congestion problem at the junior high, both the architect and board members said.

RELUCTANT TO CHANGE

Buses still would have to load and unload there and some provision would have to be made for an off-street bus area, they emphasized.

The board was reluctant to discard its original plan for the circular drive which would make the front entrance of the junior high more useful, they said.

Their major concern, however, was the grade which they conceded might be a little steep.

The Thompson Place and Chandler Street proposals were immediately discarded as impractical, the first because of the steep grade and the second because of limitation of space, primarily for sidewalks beside the proposed bus-loading area.

* * *

Several board members commented that the citizens' committee indicated more basic concern for children's safety last night than for the trees.

They cited the difference in their circular drive and the citizen's' Prospect Street suggestion only amounted to three trees.

Supt. T. C. Filppula was directed to obtain information from the architect about the feasibility of using the senior high school property as a bus transfer area and about moving the proposed junior high drive closer to Prospect Street.

* * *

As a warning, the superintendent reminded board members that they have a contract for their current construction program which would not allow much more deliberation on this problem to meet work completion deadlines.

Launch Drive for Hospital

Rochester, Avon Twp. Businessmen Meet to Kick Off Campaign

ROCHESTER — Some 60 business and professional men met here last night to kick off the Rochester-Avon Township business and professional division of the fund campaign for the new Rochester Unit of the Crittenton General Hospital.

* * *

They will call on more than 300 of their business and professional neighbors in a week-long drive as part of the effort to raise $2,225,000 toward construction of the proposed 95-million 205-bed hospital.

Tharley Allen and Ralph Garner, cochairmen of the business and professional division, called for an all-out effort to demonstrate the support of those who would live closest to the hospital.

It will be located on Auburn Road near John R Road in Avon Township.

OUTLINES VALUE

John Peterson and Thor Ulseth, cochairmen of the Rochester-Avon Township section of the division, outlined the economic value to the area of the 400 jobs, $1.5-million annual payroll, and $1 million in annual expenditures for supplies and services anticipated for the hospital.

Leaders of the campaign have recently expanded their efforts into Lake Orion and Oxford. About one-third of the $2,225,000 goal has been attained so far.

The remainder of the $5 million needed is expected to come from federal aid, funds on hand and mortgage financing.

* * *

Success of the public fund campaign is necessary to qualify for federal assistance.

New Assistant Minister Arrives in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — Rev. Jack E. Giguere, ordained Sunday at Adrian College, arrived yesterday to assume duties as assistant minister at the First Methodist Church here.

* * *

Rev. Giguere's appointment was announced prior to his ordination by Resident Bishop Marshall R. Reed. Rev. William Richards is pastor of the local Church.

A native of Flint, Rev. Giguere completed his education at Albion College. He and his wife Joyce, a graduate of the Baltimore College of Commerce, were married last fall.

* * *

For the past three years Mr. Giguere served as assistant minister at the Brooklyn Methodist Church in Baltimore, Md., while pursuing graduate work towards an S.T.B. degree at Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. This degree was conferred upon him last week.

A reception for the new assistant minister and his wife is planned for Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the parlor of the north wing of the church. Mrs. Harold Bauer, president of the Woman's Society, is chairman of the reception program.

All residents of the community are invited.

* * *

Mr. Giguere's work in the church will involve administering to the constituents of the church, directing the youth program and administering the membership, social concerns and missions commission. He will also preach once a month and work with young adults.

Pontiac Press Photo

ENTERS 'NEW' CHURCH — Rev. Jack E. Giguere, newly appointed assistant minister of the First Methodist Church, and Mrs. Giguere are shown entering the church yesterday shortly after their arrival in Clarkston. A tour of the church facilities was the first item on their busy get-acquainted schedule.

Among the structures housing summer theaters in West Michigan are old barns, tents, ancient opera houses, abandoned dancehalls and modern playhouses. One, near Petoskey, is located on a lake and some patrons come by boat.

Troy City Manager Gets Added Job--as CD Head

TROY—City Manager David E. Firestone is not sure whether to be proud or regretful that the City Commission has entrusted him with an additional job.

* * *

Firestone was given the added duties of civil defense director by the City Commission Monday when former CD Director Clarence F. Long was dismissed from his post.

Commissioners were following a civil defense committee recommendation that the program be organized with a director who is in a position to coordinate city fire and police departments with CD volunteers.

Firestone said today he would begin immediately to study the existing program and proposed changes before making recommendations to commissioners.

* * *

Probable result of the change in direction will be a new civil defense ordinance providing for CD volunteers to augment the police and fire departments in emergencies, according to Firestone.

Under the present ordinance, he said, it's the other way around —police and fire departments are supposed to augment the volunteers.

The change ended a long controversy between Long and city officials, especially Mayor Robert J. Huber. Long was expected to be fired last November after a new ordinance gave the City Commission the power to dismiss him without the proof of malfeasance, incompetence or neglect of duty required in the previous ordinance.

'FAILED TO COOPERATE'

Huber, who defeated Long for mayor in 1959 and again this spring, had charged Long failed to cooperate with commissioners.

Huber, Firestone and Long were all members of the civil defense committee that recommended the reorganization. City Commissioner Vincent McAvoy and Baker Junior High School Principal John Diefenbaker are the other members. Long abstained from voting on the reorganization recommendation.

In other action, commissioners have set July 9 for a hearing on plans for water transmission lines in southeast Troy to tie into the Detroit water system at Dequindre and 14-Mile roads.

To be financed by special assessment, the water lines will be the first step in a program to furnish all of Troy with Detroit water.

SPORT IN TURKEY — Followers of the sport of camel wrestling gather in a circle on plain at Izmit, near Istanbul, to watch a local match. The object is for one camel to throw the other to the ground as fanciers lay wagers on their choices.

But It'll Be Retroactive

Brazil Slow to Ratify Extradition Pact

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — A U.S. embassy spokesman says the U.S.-Brazilian Extradition Treaty signed 18 months ago will be retroactive — if Brazil's congress ever gets around to ratifying it.

Embassy legal attache Robert Shields said the treaty "will cover any fugitive now staying in Brazil" — such as Lowell Birrell, who faces trial in New York on indictments charging $14 million in stock frauds, or Benjack Cage, who fled here after being convicted in Texas of embezzlement.

A third American, Earl Belle of Pittsburgh, probably will be immune from extradition because he is the father of a son born in Brazil. Brazilian law forbids the deportation of the parents of a native-born citizen.

U.S. Ambassador Lincoln Gordon and Foreign Minister San Thiago Dantas signed an additional provision of the treaty yesterday which clarifies its terms regarding the extradition of Brazilians from Brazil or Americans from the United States.

* * *

Details of the additional provision were not made public immediately, but Gordon said it "clears up ambiguity" on a disputed point.

COINCIDENTAL

The ambassador said it was "merely coincidence" that the clarifying provision was signed just after the arrival here of Edward Gilbert, who flew down to Rio after withdrawing $1.9 million from the accounts of the E. L. Bruce Co., flooring and wax manufacturer, of which he was president.

Federal and city authorities in New York are looking into Gilbert's financial affairs, but no criminal charges have been filed against him.

An attorney here quoted Gilbert Friday as saying that any money he brought to Brazil with him was his own.

Rio society columnist Andre Todor, who says he has been in touch with Gilbert, told newsmen yesterday that an attorney from New York will arrive here tomorrow to "straighten out (Gilbert's) problems." He did not identify the attorney.

Todor said Gilbert is not hiding —just "staying away from the (foreign) press until the proper time." He said the American executive probably would hold a news conference after his attorney arrives.

The extradition treaty was signed in January 1961, and ratified by the U.S. Senate in March of that year. No action by the Brazilian congress appears likely until after the October elections.

Area Teachers to Get Awards at State Fair

Five area teachers will receive awards on Teachers Day during the Michigan State Fair to be held Aug. 24 to Sept. 3.

Previously announced were Dr. Chandos Reid, Michigan Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, Waterford Township Schools; and William Shunck, Michigan Association of School Administrators, Waterford.

In addition, two Pontiac and one Drayton Plains educator were named to receive awards by the State Fair Teachers Committee.

Howard Malwitz, 502 Moore, of the Michigan Art Education Association; Peter Spurck, 741 Jamestown Road, of the Michigan Federation of Teachers, and Robert Cook, 3825 Shoals, Drayton Plains, also of the Michigan Federation of Teachers, will receive awards on Teachers Day, Aug. 31.

State Produces Much Charcoal

Northern Hardwoods Are Best Suited for Lumps or Briquets

The season for cooking outdoors is here! From now until the end of the season, charcoal will be a regular item on the shopping list.

There are different types of charcoal, but that made from hard woods is the best quality states the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Michigan produces about three-fourths of the nation's hardwood charcoal supply. It is produced in the Upper Peninsula where the dense, slow-burning hardwoods are ideally suited for the production of charcoal. Maple, birch, beech, oak and elm are used, and only wood which is not suitable for lumber is made into charcoal.

It takes about sixty pounds of wood to produce ten pounds of charcoal. Much of the natural moisture must be removed before the wood can be carbonized. Wood is carbonized in air-tight retort ovens to eliminate the oxygen so the wood cannot burn and the chemical by-products can be drawn off.

After the carbonization process, the charcoal is cooled (called conditioning). Extreme caution must be taken to prevent spontaneous combustion. It is then ready for processing or packaging.

The lump charcoal is passed over a screen and the larger lumps are bagged. The smaller lumps are put through a grinding operation, mixed with a binder and compressed into dense pillow-shaped pellets called briquets.

Briquets give a lasting, intense and evenly distributed heat ideal for barbecuing. They burn evenly without "pop sparks" or flames.

No More Fish Bones Stuck in Your Throat

Lovers of seafood can enjoy their fare with even greater relaxation in the future as a result of a clever detection process which will be reported on at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists at Miami Beach recently.

An X-ray bone detection unit has been perfected which will disclose even tiny bones no greater than 0.012 inches in diameter as the fillets pass under its penetrating eye on production belts moving at speeds of up to 25 feet per minute.

Instead of picking a stray bone out of your teeth — as sometimes happens today—an X-ray machine will not pick that bone out of the fish by casting its shadow against a fluoroscopic screen such as used for diagnosis by doctors.

The sensitivity of the unit decreases with the thickness of the fish examined but the X-ray is effective in "diagnosing" even tiny bones in fish fillets one-half inch thick.

The process was perfected by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in cooperation with a research laboratory and marks one of the many new developments in the field of food science and technology.

Keeping Cereals

Whole grain cereals such as wheat germ, corn meal and whole wheat flour will keep best in the refrigerator during hot weather. Home economists suggest that they be stored in air-tight containers.

Milk, Ice Cream and Cheese Spell Out Dairy Month

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

June in the dairy industry is their special month. The milkmen are not particularly concerned with girl graduates or blushing brides. They just want to advertise their products. Milk, cheese, butter, ice cream and any of the related products make for fine warm weather eating.

* * *

This week we have a most welcome visitor at our house—a sister. You know how it is when relatives come — you want to show off your best. Since Sis is a fine cook, we always like to share new food ideas with her.

Sunday night we had a new dairy dessert that she thoroughly enjoyed; we did too. The Teen-Ager turned up his nose at the sour cream topping. But we recommend Baked Custard A La Glaze for plain or party meals.

Baked Custard A La Glaze

6 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk, scalded and slightly cooled
2 teaspoons vanilla
Nutmeg
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind (optional)
1½ cups sweetened sliced strawberries

* * *

Combine eggs, ½ cup sugar and salt. Slowly stir in milk and 2 teaspoons vanilla. Pour into baking dish; sprinkle top with nutmeg. Set in shallow pan on oven rack. Pour hot water around dish, 1 inch deep. Bake 1 hour in 325-degree oven or until knife inserted 1 inch from edge comes out clean.

Combine sour cream, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and lemon rind. Spread over top of custard; return to oven 5 minutes longer. Remove to cooling rack, then chill. Serve with strawberries spooned over top. Makes 8-10 servings.

If you keep vanilla ice cream on hand, you can turn it into all sorts of interesting desserts. For instance, why not make your own ripple ice cream? You can have a different flavor each time without having to keep half a dozen containers of ice cream in the freezer.

"Do-It-Yourself"
Ripple Ice Cream

½ gallon vanilla ice cream
6 tablespoons (½ 6-oz. can) frozen raspberry-lemon punch concentrate, thawed

Allow ice cream to soften slightly. (This may be done by placing carton of ice cream in food-cooling section of refrigerator for about 20-30 minutes.)

Using a large serving spoon scoop a layer of ice cream in 9½x5x3-inch metal loaf pan. Drizzle 2 tablespoons fruit punch concentrate over ice cream. Repeat, alternating layers of ice cream quickly. Place on floor of freezer section to refreeze.

* * *

Don't you like recipes that do double duty? The last one today is for a cottage cheese spread. Serve it for the appetizer course; use it as a dressing for vegetable salads; or incorporate it into an exciting sandwich.

Quick Sweet, Sour Pork Starts With Frozen Juice

Here's sweet and sour pork easy and delicious. Saute loin or rib pork chops until golden on both sides. Season with salt and pepper.

* * *

Combine 1 can thawed frozen concentrate for Pineapple-Lemon punch with ¼ cup salad oil, 4 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Pour over chops; cover and simmer until tender, about 45 minutes.

Nippy Cottage Cheese Spread

2 cups cottage chese
6-8 anchovies, minced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1 teaspoon poppy seed
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper

* * *

Note: This spread may be used as an ingredient for a knife-and-fork sandwich. On a slice of rye bread layer lettuce, ham, Nippy Cottage Cheese Spread and a tomato slice. Makes a good hearty luncheon sandwich.

Spanish Scrambled Eggs Cooked With Olive Oil

An impromptu summer lunch for two can be served in a few minutes when eggs are scrambled the Spanish way. Saute a few chopped scallions and ½ of a chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil until limp but not browned.

Add 3 eggs which have been mixed lightly with a fork. Season with salt and pepper and 2 or more tablespoons of tomato sauce. Stir lightly with a fork, lifting to the center as the eggs cook. Serve at once. Over-cooking spoils color, texture — and flavor!

Add Cottage Cheese

You can add extra nourishment to your favorite potato salad by adding 2 cups (16 ounce carton) creamed cottage cheese to each 3 cups of potato salad. This makes 6 to 8 servings.

Nut and Fruit Filling

Make up a package of seven-minute frosting mix and fold chopped nuts plus raisins, figs or dates into one-third of the frosting. Use the nut-and-fruit mixture between two cake layers; cover the cake with the remaining two-thirds frosting.

Ice Cream Pie Has Crumb Crust

Peanut Butter Mixed With Corn Syrup to Swirl Into Filling

Here is a handsome pie that is sure to delight the taste buds of young and old alike, whether it be family or friends. So simple to make, it combines sugar honey grahams with chunk-style peanut butter as well as vanilla ice cream.

Three all-time favorites in this one easy to prepare, fanciful and tasty dessert treat. A three-to-one bet you'll find these convenient products available in your kitchen right now! Then, all you will need is a few minutes of preparation time and voila, an exciting new taste combination 'Peanut Butter Swirl Pie' will be ready for its debut at your command.

Peanut Butter Swirl Pie

20 squares sugar honey grahams, finely rolled
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
2/3 cup chunk-style peanut butter
¼ cup dark or light corn syrup
3 tablespoons water
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened

Prepare one 9-inch sugar honey graham cracker pie shell according to package directions. Freeze finished shell. Blend chunk-style peanut butter with corn syrup and water until smooth. Place by tablespoonfuls in softened vanilla ice cream, swirl through. Refreeze ice cream mixture until ice cream has hardened enough to spoon into prepared pie shell. Keep pie frozen until serving time. Makes 8 servings.

Buttermilk Is Used to Coat Chicken Parts

Chicken fried this way has a crisp coating.

Crisp Fried Chicken

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup buttermilk
½ teaspoon baking soda

Have chickens cut so drumsticks, 2nd joints, wings, breasts and backs are separate; then have each breast cut into 4 pieces and each back into 2 pieces.

Mix together the flour, salt and pepper. Stir making soda into buttermilk. Roll chicken, a piece at a time, in seasoned four; dip into buttermilk; roll again in flour.

Fry in deep fat (350 degrees), without frying basket, until lightly browned—10 to 15 minutes—and cooked through. Makes 8 servings.

Baked Custard Calls for Slow Oven Setting

Baked custard should be smooth and free from bubbles. If a watery liquid appears when it is served, that indicates overbaking. For best results home economists with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association recommend placing the custard cups or bake pan in a pan of water to keep the temperature below the boiling point.

* * *

The oven temperature control should be set at 350 degrees. Individual cup custards may bake in 20 to 25 minutes. Custard baked in a large dish will require 35 to 45 minutes, depending on the amount.

Still One Magic Word for Reducing – Balance

Not any old Aladdin's lamp works in losing weight even if you say words like, "Calories don't count." Only the genuine article—energy balance — and its golden rule, "Eat less. Exercise more," can give you the results you want.

The latest false Aladdin's lamp for reducing — a revival of the high fat, low carbohydrate diet — has been studied many times in the past 30 years. Most recently, doctors in London, Copenhagen, and at Columbia University ganged up on the question through experiment and reported these results: Patients gained weight when they were able to tolerate a diet high in fat and low in carbohydrate. Only those who could not eat the diet lost weight. They complained of nausea, huffed and puffed on little exertion, were tired and irritable.

Because fat is not burned completely when a diet furnishes too little carbohydrate, abnormal end-products of fat build up within the body to cause acidosis. For this reason, persons on a high fat, low carbohydrate diet need close medical attention.

For weight control, most doctors pick out the only Aladdin's lamp that works. The magic words, they say:

Add extra physical activity, each day.

A walk may do.

Eat less of all food. But include, daily — four ounces of lean meat or its alternates, two servings of skim milk or low fat cheese, four servings of enriched or whole grain bread and other cereal foods, four servings of vegetables and unsweetened fruits.

Cheese Dresses Spinach

You can dress up spinach by cooking one package of frozen spinach according to package directions; drain well. Add 1 3-ounce package of cream cheese and 1 clove of garlic (optional). Heat and stir to melt cheese. Remove garlic. Makes 3 servings.

Use Unsalted Butter for This Frosting

A layer of sponge cake may be filled with a rich chocolate frosting and cut in small pieces to serve with ice cream to a crowd.

Chocolate Frosting Roll

¼ pound unsalted butter (soft)
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups confectioners sugar
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted and cooled)
3 to 4 tablespoons heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 sponge cake (baked in a regular or aluminum foil jelly roll pan)

★ ★ ★

In a small deep bowl with the electric mixer, beat together the unsalted butter and salt until fluffy. Beat in 1 cup of the sugar, a tablespoon at a time. Add the chocolate; continue beating in gradually the remaining 1 cup sugar, cream and vanilla.

If frosting seems too soft for spreading, chill; spread as much frosting as possible over sponge cake; roll up; decorate top of roll with any remaining frosting. Chill before slicing and serving.

State Regulates Honey

Michigan law states that extracted honey in retail packages must conform to U. S. Grade A or U. S. Fancy. This assures shoppers of top quality says the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. The label must state "White," "Amber" or "Dark" according to the color of the honey.

Pineapple Is All-Purpose Fruit for Summer Use

Canned pineapple is called the good combination fruit. Try it many ways with plentiful fruits this summer. Contrast its tangy flavor with more bland fruits such as cantaloupe, honeydew, pears or green grapes. Add its bright color to unpared apple, blueberries or Bing cherries. Contrast its crispness with banana slices, raspberries or strawberries.

Add its sweetness to tart fruits such as plums, grapefruit or oranges. Pineapple fruit cups become ambrosial if sprinkled with toasted coconut, salted almonds and maraschino cherries.

Lime Juice Wonderful With Grilled Meat, Fish

Whatever you're planning for your next cookout, take a sack of those big Persian limes with you. You'll be surprised at the extra flavor and added zing a little lime juice creates. Whether it's beef, lamb, poultry, pork, or seafood, lime juice used judiciously brings a special kind of acidity and flavor neither vinegar or other citrus has.

Build your fire in plenty of time to burn down to glowing coals unless carbon is your favorite seasoning. Be sure you have plenty of coals for the length of time and the degree of heat you need — a fast hot fire for broiling, a slow moderate fire for roasting and barbecuing. A meat thermometer will take the guess-work out of roasting and large cuts of meat.

Generally outdoor cooking takes longer than oven cooking because so much heat escapes, so don't rush it. If your estimate of cooking time is longer than 30 minutes, start a second batch of charcoal in a bucket half filled with sand at the same time you start cooking the meat.

An empty spray bottle of window cleaner or insecticide, washed thoroughly and filled with clean water, makes a handy extinguisher for errant flames.

Broiled Shrimp

3 pounds jumbo shrimp.

Wash and peel shrimp, leaving the tail section. Place in a bowl and mix together:

½ cup lime juice
½ cup peanut oil
2 teaspoons salt
1 clove of garlic, crushed
¼ teaspoon Tabasco

★ ★ ★

Pour marinate over the shrimp several hours before cooking or still better, allow to stand in marinate overnight in the refrigerator. Place shrimp in curled position on a fine weave grill press. Cook over moderate fire, turning and basting frequently until shrimp turn pink, then golden brown. Serves 6.

★ ★ ★

Round Bone Roast

1¼ inch thick round bone roast

Place in a shallow pan and pierce the lean with tines of a fork and sprinkle with tenderizer. Make enough marinate to come half way up the side of the roast in the following proportion:

1 cup lime juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
1 teaspoon dried oregano

Pour marinate over roast and let stand several hours, flipping the meat over at intervals to saturate both sides. Cook over a hot fire, 15 minutes to each side. Salt and pepper when removed from grill.

★ ★ ★

Leg of Lamb Rotisserie

Select about a 6 pound leg of lamb and have butcher bone and roll it. Place lamb in a plastic freezer bag and pour lime juice to cover completely when bag is sealed. Let stand in refrigerator overnight.

Skewer lengthwise on rotisserie spit and insert a meat thermometer in large end making sure sensitive end of thermometer does not touch metal spit. Cook slowly over a medium fire and baste frequently with a marinate made of:

lime juice from bag
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ cup sugar in just enough hot water to dissolve

Cook until thermometer reads 180 degrees. Serves 6 to 8.

Serve Sweet Cheese Dip in Pineapple Shells

Hawaiian Dip features cottage cheese and pineapple in a delightful medley. Cut a fresh pineapple in half crosswise and remove the pulp in large chunks. Cut the pulp into bite-sized pieces, add a little sugar and let marinate an hour in the refrigerator. Then pour the juice into a cup of cottage cheese along with sweet or sour cream as desired. Sweeten with honey as needed.

Serve cheese in pineapple shell "bowls" on a plate surrounded by pieces of pineapple and whole fresh strawberries. And don't forget a supply of wooden picks for dunkin' ease.

Slice thin apipe banana and fold into the batter for waffles.

College Costs Jump Faster Than Income

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Every deserving boy and girl should have an opportunity to go to college. This is the American dream. But can this dream become a reality in the face of skyrocketing costs?

DR. NASON

The U.S. Office of Education predicts that a year at college will cost from $3,000 to $5,000 by 1970, depending on the school. This is about double the present cost.

At the same time, it is predicted that the average family income in America will increase from the present $7,000 to $9,000 a year in 1970. Thus college costs are rising faster than family income.

Students and parents are going to need a helping hand.

One solution would be a vast program of federal scholarships. Another would be government loans to students.

I have a suggestion that would combine the two—and encourage the student to do his best work as well.

Let's grant government loans on the basis of need to students who have been selected for admission to college. When they complete their work, cancel part of the loan. If they drop out, they repay the money.

★ ★ ★

Any earnest student should be willing to assume such a contract. And the public should be willing to offer it to him, since the country benefits from its educated men and women.

ATTACK COSTS

We can attack rising college costs from other angles, too.

We can make greater use of college buildings and equipment. We can use them more hours a day, more days a year. One of the most successful classes in my memory was a trigonometry class of ex-GIs held from 4 to 5 p.m. They wanted an education so badly they were willing to come at any hour.

We can increase the number of community colleges. They are close to home and thus cut living and traveling expenses for students and their parents.

★ ★ ★

We can give closer attention to the drop-out problem which adds to the expense of running a college.

★ ★ ★

The drop out's college admittance has been processed. He has taken tests. He has taken up the time of counselors and instructors. All these things have cost money.

★ ★ ★

That portion of the cost over and above what he has paid must be paid by others.

★ ★ ★

Every capable boy and girl deserves an opportunity to go to college. Let's do what we can to make that opportunity possible—even in the face of rising costs.

★ ★ ★

To Open Season at Playgrounds in Waterford Twp.

More than 2,000 children are expected to turn out Monday when the Waterford Township Recreation Department's 1962 playground season begins at 13 schools.

Sites for 9 a.m.-to-noon playground sessions are Burt, Haviland, Lutes, Monteith and Schoolcraft. Afternoon activities from 1 to 4:30 will take place at Cooley, Grayson, Stringham, Waterford Center and Waterford Village.

Full day playgrounds will be conducted at Donelson, Drayton Plains and Leggett.

What If It's Made of Green Cheese?

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A University of Rochester biologist is designing a portable laboratory he hopes will analyze the stuff the moon is made of.

Dr. Wolf Vishniac said the laboratory, small enough for space travel, consists basically of a device to draw up surface material, like dust, from the moon, and chemically treated paper to analyze it.

★ ★ ★

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Good defense frequently creates an illusion that will defeat an apparently ironclad contract.

Opening lead—♠4

West made the normal opening of the four of spades and after South played the ten from dummy, East won with the king.

East did not see any reason to return the spade suit and decided to shift to hearts.

Which heart? If he simply led the deuce, South would play low and have no further worries about the hand, but East had a far better idea.

He led the queen of hearts!

If South were looking at all the cards he would rise with the king and go about the business of taking ten tricks, but South could not see the ace of hearts in the East hand and the jack of hearts in the West hand.

Furthermore, East had created the illusion that he held the jack and West the ace. South therefore played low. East continued with the deuce of hearts and again South played low, whereupon the hand collapsed. West made his jack of hearts and East set the hand with the ace and nine.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Thursday

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): If you try to evade responsibility today you may actually be inviting it. Smart to realize that one close to you is your responsibility. Be understanding.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): If you feel "weighed down" will benefit by starting new slate. Shake your Taurus "horns" and charge! Make your own path and let belittlers get out of the way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Day when your ideas emphasized, when you put them to work. Excellent for creative activity. Take notes. Apply experience to present problems. And show loved one you care.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Trying to convince yourself that a situation is what you want it to be is a cruel form of self-deception. Face facts today, especially about finances. Tonight, stay close to home.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Today, stay lowkey down temporarily to take stock. Tonight would be good time for stepping out in style. Remain alert, but do more listening than talking.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): For you, this period symbolizes end of vacation or play. Solar chart indicates that ambitions, responsibilities shine in bright focus. Don't run away from trouble, but see it as sporting challenge.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Frivolous action now could create costly situation. Better take road of caution. Avoid one who constantly bickers. Excellent evening for reading, research, double checking facts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Strength of will essential. Remain determined to finish projects. Others may try to tell you there are easier ways. Perhaps. But your way is for you. Stick to ideals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Recognition could come today, either from family and friends, or in larger, worldier sense. Accept honors graciously. Arrogance hampers future progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Study details carefully. There could be "fly in ointment." By being well-prepared, you could achieve a great deal in personal and professional sense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): An idea presented by member of opposite sex carries much merit. At first you may be skeptical. But keep mind open. Cycle remains high. You could "cash in" on the auspices.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Be considerate of friend who is down on his luck. A generous attitude today could mean much to your future. Practice Golden Rule. Ignore petty gossip.

IF THURSDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . your personality often is so sparkling that you attract "misfits." But as would a bright light. Learn to distinguish between what is superficial, and what is lasting. And the future will be much brighter.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Pressure builds to point where world figure is called upon to state his views. Could be major surprise in store. Look for persons born in February, May and June to make headlines. Sound word to Aquarius: Be inventive, willing to take path which is not worn. Create new "highways!"

So Few Inhibitions Now Gypsy Talks of Changes

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—"My, how things have changed in Hollywood," said Gypsy Rose Lee. "They used to say, 'Cover her up.' Now they say, 'Show us a little more leg, Gypsy'."

Ah yes, times do change. When she first came to Hollywood in 1938, she couldn't even be called Gypsy Rose Lee in the screen credits. She had to go by her rightful name, Louise Hovick.

"The stigma, I guess," she explained, referring to her strip-tease career.

THOMAS

Now she is back with her own famous name in a lusty role for "A Woman in July" and giving pointers to Joanne Woodward, who plays a stripper in the film.

"I guess the stigma has gone," Gypsy laughed. "Or maybe it's all right to show more as long as there are wrinkles."

★ ★ ★

Nonsense. At 48 Gypsy still looks as elegantly put together as she did when she was taking it off in the big time. But her stripping days are behind her.

"When did you last strip?" I asked.

COULDN'T FACE IT

"You mean aside from when I went to bed last night? It was two years ago New Year's. I was playing a club in St. Petersburg, Fla. It was a nice club and they were nice audiences, but one night I just couldn't face it any longer."

★ ★ ★

Being Gypsy, she has not been idle. She uprooted herself from Manhattan ("too much noise, dirt and cold") and planted down in a Spanish hacienda near the Sunset Strip (natch). "My son will be going to Columbia University for four years, so I might as well live out here and be comfortable," she said.

She has been doing a lot of summer and winter stock, but allows no dates to interfere with the spring and fall planting season. She also plans to clear away the stage dates so she can nurture a new novel.

Gypsy said she had followed the congressional hearings on the state of the night club business. They confirmed her feelings: That the art of the strip tease has fallen on bad days.

"When I started out, burlesque was a good show," she recalled. "You got great comedians—like Phil Silvers, Abbott and Costello, Red Buttons, Rags Ragland. Besides the strippers, you got big production numbers.

"Now all the night clubs offer are 10 strippers and an emcee. The strippers have had no training in burlesque, and they all perform alike."

Lieutenant Governor Post Up in Air

August Primary Almost Routine Affair

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Aug. 7 primary election will be a comparatively quiet affair at the state level, with contests for lieutenant governor creating the only stir.

Candidates for governor and congressman-at-large will be unchallenged and most congressmen will not encounter any primary opposition.

A rush of last-minute entries for lesser contests beat yesterday's 4 p.m. filing deadline.

Counting signatures on his nominating petitions, he found he fell 145 short of the 14,452 required for a Republican candidate — 1 per cent of the vote cast for the GOP candidate for secretary of state in 1960.

ROMNEY AND SWAINSON

That left both Romney and Gov. Swainson with clear sailing for the gubernatorial nominations.

A last-minute entry was Joseph E. Lewandowski, former Hamtramck mayor and municipal judge, who filed to run against Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski in the Democratic primary.

The same pair opposed each other last February in a race to succeed Rep. Thaddeus Machrowicz in the 1st Congressional District. Lucien Nedzi of Hamtramck won the party nomination, tantamount to election in the 1st district.

Lewandowski, who lost a bid for re-election as municipal judge in April, filed only 1,886 signatures over the statutory 17,859 minimum for a Democratic candidate.

"I just might have to have those signatures carefully checked," said Lesinski, who was accompanied by his wife and five children as he filed for a second term. He submitted more than 36,000 signatures from all 83 counties.

Filing for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor was Rockwell T. Gust of Grosse Pointe Farms, an attorney and delegate to the constitutional convention.

His opponents will be former Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid of Detroit and Sen. John H. Stahlin of Bedding.

Neil Staebler, Democrat from Ann Arbor, and Alvin M. Bentley, Republican from Owosso, are unopposed in the primary contest for congressman-at-large.

The most hotly contested primary for a congressional seat will take place in the Fourth District, which retiring Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of Allegan has filled since 1934.

Republican entries in the strongly GOP district are former Sen. Edward Hutchinson of Fennville, House Speaker Don R. Fears of Buchanan; Chester Byrns, St. Joseph attorney, and Lee Boothby of Niles. Both Hutchinson and Boothby are constitutional convention delegates.

The only other primary contest outstate is set for the Second District where Thomas P. Payne, Ann Arbor auto dealer, and Joseph B. Gasiorowski of Bedford Township, both filed for the Democratic nomination. Payne opposed Republican George Meader, the incumbent, in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Other outstate entries:

Third District — Rep. August E. Johansen, R-Battle Creek, and Paul H. Todd Jr., D-Kalamazoo.

Fifth District — Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Grand Rapids, and William G. Reamon, D-Grand Rapids.

Sixth District — Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-East Lansing, and Don Hayworth, D-East Lansing.

Eighth district — Rep. James Harvey, R-Saginaw, and Jerome T. Hart, D-Saginaw.

Ninth District — Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Traverse City, and Donald G. Jennings, D-Manistee.

11th District — Rep. Victor A. Knox, R-Sault Ste. Marie, and Warren P. Cleary, D-Escanaba.

Truman Helps Observe W. Virginia Birthday

The event marks the beginning of a drive to collect $1 million to finance the state's centennial celebration next year.

$28,500 PBA Event at 300 Bowl Aug. 16-19

One of the outstanding events in Pontiac sports history is coming up in mid-August when the nation's best keglers come here for a Professional Bowlers Association tournament.

A combined purse of $28,500 will be the goal of 118 pros and 214 amateurs in two separate parts of the tourney. A total of $23,400 will be on the line in the three-day pro battle after pro-am teams clash for $3,100. Trophies will also be awarded.

LOCAL STARS IN

Proprietor Joe Puertas, spare king Monroe Moore and George Chicovsky of 300 will compete against the big pros. Paul George and Bob Lowry are PBA applicants who will also be on the firing line. Joe Bonfiglio and Mike Samardzija of Huron Bowl are others eligible as members. A rolloff at 300 will determine 10 amateurs from area cities to go into the regular tourney.

Qualifying at six local establishments will determine the 204 amateurs who will team with 102 pros for the pro-am. There will be one pro with every two amateurs.

A public drawing will be held at 300 to match the amateurs and pros as three-man units.

Lakewood Lanes, West Side Recreation, the new North Hills Lanes in Rochester, Howe's Lanes, Auburn Lanes and 300 are the places to qualify starting tomorrow and continuing until the list of 204 is completed.

Amateurs will bowl handicap in the qualifying and pro-am with one of every 10 contestants at each site to gain the right to compete with the big boys. Qualifying entry fee will be $7. There will be no extra charge for being in the tourney. Men may keep re-entering to try to make it until the list of 204 is completed.

All money in the pro-am purse will go to the local contestants. The pros will donate their time.

The 1st 30 teams will finish in the money topped by $1,000 for the champions. Places will be determined by total pinfall for three games.

840 SEATS

Seating space will be available for 840 persons for all eight sessions. Ticket books covering all action can be purchased for $10 where buying separate ducats would cost $14. Prices will range from $1 to $2.50 per session. There will be at least two squads each session.

The big weekend will start with afternoon practice for the pros. They will sign autographs at that time. The pro-am will be held that night starting at 6:15.

Pro qualifying is set for Friday and Saturday with the finals Sunday. The top 16 qualifiers will roll in head-to-head competition in two series of eight one-game matches to decide the crown. Keglers get points for defeating an opponent and for pinfall.

Moore, a veteran of the PBA tour, will serve as tournament director assisted by Al Capsolis.

Surprising Angels Capture 3rd Place

By The Associated Press

Could be the Los Angeles Angels have taken the New York Yankees' place in more ways than one.

★ ★ ★

The ever-surprising Angels took over third place from the Yankees in the ever-surprising American League race Tuesday night and they did it by beating the Yanks' once-private patsies—the Kansas City Athletics. Their 7-4 decision was the Angels sixth straight victory over the A's and their ninth in 12 meetings this year.

Meanwhile, Boston knocked off Cleveland's front-running Indians 4-2, Minnesota moved up by rapping Chicago 9-4, Baltimore won its fifth in a row and handed the Yanks their fifth successive defeat, 3-1.

MARGIN CUT

Cleveland is now half game ahead of the Twins, Los Angeles 2½ back in third, and the Yankees slumped to fourth, three games behind the Indians.

The Angels socked four homers, three doubles and collected six walks against four Kansas City pitchers but still had to struggle to beat the A's. Angel starter Ken McBride homered off losing John Wyatt in the third and Leon Wagner raised his league-leading total to 19 when he connected with a man on in the fifth, making it 3-1. The Angels also got two more homers from Felix Torres and Lee Thomas.

McBride was chased in the seventh when George Alusik hit a pinch homer, Jerry Lumpe tripled and Manny Jimenez singled. Then in the last of the ninth, Lumpe, Jimenez and Norm Siebern tagged relievers Art Fowler for singles—producing a run — before Ed Charles bounced into a game-ending double play.

The Orioles, shut out the last four times Chuck Estrada started, finally gave the hard - throwing right-hander enough runs to win against the Yankees. Brooks Robinson paced Baltimore with a tie-breaking homer against Ralph Terry in the sixth inning and a run-scoring single in the eighth.

10 STRANDED

Estrada gave up seven hits and three walks in eight innings, but the once-awesome Bombers again showed a frustrating lack of punch by stranding 10 runners and sank to their eighth loss in their last nine starts. The Orioles, just 4½ games off the pace in fourth place, won their eighth in 10 games.

Harmon Killebrew launched Minnesota's assault on the White Sox when he cracked his 15th homer with one on in the first off Juan Pizarro. The Twins got two more off the Chicago lefty in the second then ripped Dom Zanni with a five-run explosion in the fifth. Southpaw Jim Kaat slugged a homer as did Vic Power and Bob Allison, with two aboard. Kaat won his seventh victory in 11 decisions.

★ ★ ★

Bill Monbouquette cooled off the Indians, who had won four in a row and nine of 12, pitching a four-hitter. In the eighth, a walk and Gene Green's pinch homer gave Cleveland its two runs. The Red Sox collected all 10 of their hits and three of their runs against Ruban Gomez, the ex-National Leaguer making his first start in the majors since 1960.

FRANK LARY

Batting Champ Gets Two Hits, Including Homer

Tiger Hurler 'Curves' Washington to Defeat; Scheffing Happy

"It was the most encouraging game we've had in a long, long time," said manager Bob Scheffing after the two heroes of the Tigers' 1961 pennant challenge teamed up in a 5-0 blanking of the Washington Senators last night.

Lary, the baseball's top right hander with 23 victories last year, recorded his second victory after eight failures. He hadn't won since the home opener, April 13.

Cash, the defending American League batting king whose average had dwindled to .238, came through with two run-producing hits. He cracked his 17th homer—a towering drive off a post in the upper right field stands, — in the second and a single in the fourth.

"That makes two strong performances in a row for Lary," beamed Scheffing, whose Tigers had lost 10 of their previous 13 games. "He pitched just about as well as he did last week in New York when he lost because we didn't hit for him. And it was the first time Cash got two hits in a game in a long time."

STILL BOTHERED

Lary still isn't 100 per cent recovered from the sore shoulder that ruined his hopes for another 20-victory season.

"But I feel pretty good about this one," said the pitcher. "My shoulder felt better after the game than it did in New York. Yet there's still a little twinge in my shoulder. Especially when I throw my fast ball because I throw that with my arm way out and that pulls the back of my shoulder.

"That's why I used mostly breaking stuff. My arm is close in when I throw my curve and it doesn't irritate the tendon as much."

Jake Wood singled in the first, stole second and rode home on Purnal Goldy's single. Cash hit his homer leading off the second and drove in Goldy, who'd singled, with his base hit in the fourth. The Tigers added another run in the fourth and a run on Chico Fernandez' single in the seventh.

The only time Lary was in trouble was in the seventh when he got Jimmy Pearsall on a long foul to Cash with the bases loaded for the third out.

Seven-Game Loss Skein Ends for Haupt Pontiac

Two unearned runs in the first inning paved the way for George Adams who fired a two-hitter.

Dixie Bar used two unearned first inning runs to start a 4-1 victory over Rockcote Paint. Norm Tick hurled a three-hitter in this "C" contest.

CIO Edged Again, 3-2; Two Softball Shutouts

Don Nicholie was the culprit this time as the insurance nine scored once in the bottom of the 7th inning to nip the CIO, 3-2.

Ed Lovell reached 2nd base on an outfield error to lead off the stanza and went to 3rd on Ron Smith's single. Then Powell came through with his safety to end the contest and pin defeat on CIO pitcher Bill McGuire.

★ ★ ★

The winning hurler was Dick Lamphere, who relieved starter Tom McCormick in the 5th stanza. It was the 1st victory of the season for Lamphere, who quelled CIO uprisings in the 5th and 6th innings.

McGuire was touched for seven safeties. The Union club garnered only two and both came against Thompson.

The fatal two-base error in the 7th was the CIO's 6th fielding mistake of the game. Nicholie was guilty of three errors.

TWO SOFTBALL SHUTOUTS

Harlan (Fat) Keith twirled a two-hit shutout as defending champion Sno-Bol trimmed Elks No. 810 by a 3-0 count. Sno-Bol made eight hits, two each by Gene Shell and John Long.

Arro Realty whitewashed Huron Bowl, 6-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Walt Travis. Arro also collected eight hits with Louie Seay, John Snyder and Travis getting two apiece.

Slugfests were the rule in the other games as Fisher Body whipped 300 Bowl, 9-7, and the Pontiac Police outscored the UAW, 14-11.

Ken Spears of Fisher Body and 300 Bowl's Don Quackenbush each bagged three safeties. Two runs in the 6th gave Fisher the decision.

The Policemen tallied six times in the 5th to post their verdict. They chalked up 14 hits. The UAW make a dozen safeties, three by Tom Metsdorf.

In City Junior League baseball practice games yesterday, the West Side Kiwanis downed Pontiac Northern, 9-7; James Water blasted Eastern Junior Hi-N, 11-3; L. D. McLauchlin blanked Bernie Lovell, 11-0; Moose drubbed the Pontiac Tigers, 12-0; 300 Lounge defeated the Great Lakes Giants, 9-7; and the Azteca Juniors shut out Cass Lake, 9-0.

★ ★ ★

The Kiwanis-PNH contest was in the Class D division. All the others were Class E games.

City Best Ball Event Saturday

Paul Bada, Hausman to Defend Title at Pontiac Municipal

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual City Best Ball golf tournament will be conducted over an 18-hole route Saturday at Pontiac Municipal golf course.

Entries are now being accepted for the tourney, which has grown in popularity each succeeding year.

Sixty-nine two-man teams competed a year ago and there are indications that Saturday's field will top this figure, according to course manager L. C. (Cresse) Barner.

Pairings and starting times will be posted only for those entries registered before 6 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). Post entries will be accepted.

New York Will Host 1964 Olympic Trials

NEW YORK (AP) — A giant package deal will bring New York virtually all the trials for the 1964 Olympics in conjunction with the World's Fair. Official announcement by the U.S. Olympic Association and the World's Fair Committee is expected shortly, it was indicated today.

The package probably will amount to about one million dollars for the Olympic Committee. The World's Fair Committee has guaranteed the Olympic Committee $350,000, plus all television receipts.

Grand Rapids Is Host

State Publinx Tourney Will Start Tomorrow

GRAND RAPIDS — The Michigan Publinx Golf Association's annual state match play championship begins a four-day stand here Thursday at Lincoln Country Club.

Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds for flights tomorrow start things rolling, then match play takes the spotlight Friday through Sunday.

The low 63 shooters in tomorrows qualifiers, join defending MPGA champion Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti in the championship flight for head-to-head combat. Wilson is exempt from qualifying.

Wilson this weekend will be attempting to do what only two other players in MPGA history have succeeded in doing — win the state title for the 3rd time.

He also will be trying to duplicate a feat performed by only one other public links golfer — win the crown three times in succession.

ANDONIAN'S THE MAN

The man currently holding this distiction is Pontiac's Mike Andonian, who won the state title in 1956-1957-1958. Wilson triumphed last year at Pontiac Country Club and in 1960 at Loch Alpine.

The other three-time titleholder is veteran Jay Law of Harper Woods, who took top honors in alternate years — 1943, 1945 and 1947.

Both Andonian and Law are among the nearly 200 players slated to tee off at Lincoln C.C. Thursday.

Other star-studded entries include Pontiac's Roy Iceberg, former state public links champ; Detroit's John Kurach, runnerup a year ago at Pontiac C.C.; and Al Whited of Wayne, twice a state finalist.

New tees have been built at Lincoln to lengthen several holes while trees and bunkers have been added during the past three years.

This marks the first time that the state publinx championship has been held on the western side of the state.

Piersall Laughs Off Loss in Showmanship Contest

DETROIT (AP)—Jimmy Piersall's showmanship backfired last night and he thought it was uproariously funny.

The Washington center fielder spent much of the evening sparring with Frank Lary and wound up with the Tiger pitcher upstaging him.

Piersall's antics started when he began a conversation with a woman fan while he waited his turn to hit in the third. He struck out, but next time up he lined his second single.

Piersall danced and pranced off first base, daring Lary to throw over. Lary did and Piersall bounced back to first base. Then he stepped off in a slow motion jig, twitching his body and yelling that Lary was throwing spitballs.

★ ★ ★

When Chuck Hinton filed out to end the inning, Piersall tore heading around the bases until he rounded third and cut in on a beeline toward the pitchers' mound. He was on a collision course with Lary, who was walking back to the dugout, but veered away at the last instant.

WALKED AWAY

The bases were loaded next time Piersall came up in the seventh and he represented the tying run. It was a moment of drama and Piersall was at his best. On his second swing his bat slipped and landed near the mound.

Lary walked over, picked it up by the handle and Piersall waited for it to be brought to him. The Tiger pitcher took one look at Piersall and let the bat fall right where it had been.

The crowd of 12,815 roared with laughter as Piersall strolled out 40 feet to recover his bat. As he walked back amid the laughter, Piersall's face was wide open with a grin.

★ ★ ★

After fouling off four pitches, Peirsall hit a foul into the right field bullpen and Norm Cash ran way out to grab it backhanded for the third out.

THE PALMER METHOD

by Arnold Palmer

3 BASIC STANCES -- LEARN THEM

There are three basic golf stances -- square, closed and open. This illustration shows the feet in a closed stance, the right foot withdrawn from the intended line of flight. This stance tends to cause you to hit more from the inside than usual; a hook will often result.

Here's the open stance, with the left foot withdrawn from the intended line. It's used for shorter clubs, as a rule, and tends to cut down the backswing. This, in turn, reduces distance. This stance may also cause a fade or slice.

Close to 700 Boys in Waterford Loop

Nearly 700 boys will be playing baseball when the Waterford Township Recreation Department's junior baseball program gets underway tomorrow at 6 p.m.

A record 43 teams are registered for the program, nearly double the number participating in the 1961 season. When the program was launched in 1959 there were only 12 teams in action.

Games are played each weekday at 6 p.m. and all day Saturday at six fields in the township. Ball fields utilized are at Pierce Junior High School, Waterford Township High School, Crary Junior High School, the Optimist Park, Drayton Plains Field and at Pontiac Lake School.

Life Becomes Lonely for 'Weeping Greek'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Life has been a series of dull towns and lonely hotels for big George Zaharias since the Babe went away.

★ ★ ★

Big George, who was billed in his wrestling days as "the Weeping Greek from Cripple Creek," never was as contented as when he lived joyously in the shadow of Babe Didriksen. But it all turned sour when the Babe died in 1956.

"I've got to take the old days," says Big George in his deep rumbling voice. "They were the best."

That goes, you know, whether he's talking about wrestling or the mere process of day to day living.

He was one of the good ones, the "Weeping Greek," when he was hurling his 225 pounds around the ring in the gruelling theatrics of his trade. Big George worked at it from 1927 through 20 bruising years and he met and knew them all.

ADDED WEIGHT

"Understand, I'm not knocking these guys today," he urged as he settled his current 330 pounds into a protesting arm chair, "They're really great.

★ ★ ★

"But, he added in his slow, easy manner, "guys like Strangler Lewis, Jim Londos and Ray Steeker could beat anybody on earth today."

Wrestlers are regarded as muscular thespians who conspire in a pre-arranged fantasy but George contends, without debating the point, that "I had great pride in my ability and what I did."

He was midway in his mat career when he was paired with the Babe in a Los Angeles golf tournament in 1938, shortly after she had taken to golf seriously.

★ ★ ★

"She was my girl, right then and there," he remembers dolefully. "She said to me, 'What are you lookin' at?' I grinned at her and said 'You, 'cause you're my kind of girl. How about dinner?' She looked me over and said okay. She was my girl from then on."

They were quite a pair, the wiry, tom-boyish Babe who was quick to speak, and the slow, ambling and amiable behemoth. She reached the golfing peak as he faded from the limelight and big George was perfectly content to bask in her reflected glory.

There was a lot of it, too. The Babe was the first Yank to win the British Amateur, in 1947, and she turned professional after that and proceeded to mop up. She won two U.S. Open crowns and, when they bought a golf course in Florida, the world was their personal oyster.

But then the Babe had a cancer operation in 1953 and it was thought she had beaten the rap when she came back to take the Open again in 1954. The axe started to fall when she was advised she had it again late in 1955.

END WAS NEAR

"Well," she told George, "that's the rub of the green."

It ended for them in September of 1956 in a hospital in Galveston, Tex.

"She looked up at me and said 'hold me like you used to honey,'" George remembers. "That was it."

There have been ups and downs for him since then. But nothing filled the void and at the moment the memories are leading him into an attempt to buy the Professional Golf Association course at Dunedin, Fla., when that group moves to West Palm Beach. Waiting it out, George has that telling comment.

★ ★ ★

"I've got to take the old days." If you know him, it's easy to understand just why.

Bass Clef Among Favorites in $50,000 Event

Lapeer Horse in Michigan Mile

In May, 1957, Mrs. V. E. Smith of Lapeer, took the mare Etelka to Pontiac's Shinrone Farm to the court of the Michigan sire, Gold Note.

On April 15, 1958, Etelka gave birth to a foal which was to bring thoroughbred fame to Michigan, to Shinrone and to Mrs. Smith.

The foal, now a four-year-old chestnut gelding, was Bass Clef, who this Saturday will go to the post at the Detroit Race Course in quest of the State's richest racing prize, the $50,000-added Michigan Mile and One Sixteenth.

Bass Clef, trained by John Hart, tuned up for his battle by winning a two and one-half length victory in last Saturday's "Mile" Trial at the DRC and indications are that he is again rounding into the form which brought him a third place finish in last year's Kentucky Derby and a victory in the $40,000 Louisiana Derby a year ago March.

His $6,500 winner's share of last Saturday's $10,000 "Trial" brought his lifetime earnings to close to $115,000 and despite the likely presence of Calumet Farm's Beau Prince, Hasty House Farm's El Loco, among others, Bass Clef will draw heavy support from the local fans.

Carrying Mrs. Smith's gold and white silks will be one of Bass Clef's closest racing friends, jockey Ronnie Baldwin, who has been aboard him in all of Bass Clef's outstanding races.

Racing Secretary John C. Daniel has assigned Bass Clef 111 pounds for the "Mile," seven pounds lighter than El Loco, highweight among the expected starters.

SWEEPSTAKES WINNER

Next to El Loco in the weight column is J. Graham Brown's Run For Nurse, winner of the $50,000-added Detroit Sweepstakes last summer, who will carry 117.

Beau Prince, the four-year-old son of Bull Lea, the all-time leading broodmare sire, will have Calumet's devil red silks and jockey Steve Brooks, fifth all-time money winning rider, making up his impost of 115 pounds.

Upwards of 23,000 fans are expected by post time for the first race, 2:00 p.m.

Defending Champ, Miss Wilder Advance

SPRING LAKE (UPI)—Medalist Sherry Wilder of Grand Rapids and defending champion Mrs. Dwight Anneaux of South Bend, Ind., were favored today to gain the finals of the Spring Lake Women's Invitational golf tournament.

Miss Wilder, 18-year-old Grand Rapids women's champion, was pitted against Mrs. Richard Babcock of Spring Lake and Mrs. Anneaux was matched with Mrs. Edgar Reynolds of Lansing in the semifinals.

Miss Wilder proved her recent Grand Rapids tournament victory was no fluke in the quarter-finals yesterday when she beat Mrs. Jack Scripsema of Grand Rapids, 4-2. Mrs. Scripsema is a six-time winner of the Grand Rapids title and took the Spring Lake crown in 1958.

Racial Question Looms Behind Grid Application

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The racial question lurks in the shadows of this city's bid for a franchise in the American Football League, although supporters of the enterprise shy away from comment on the issue.

★ ★ ★

A New Orleans group headed by businessman Dave Dixon has submitted a formal bid for an AFL franchise and the league's expansion committee chairman—Lamar Hunt of the Dallas Texans—said Tuesday he would vote for the city's admission into the league next week at a meeting in Boston.

Hunt laid down three requisites for pro football in New Orleans—1. Proper stadium, 2. Proper financial backing, and 3. an advance ticket sale of 20,000.

NO COMMENT

He said he felt the first two conditions had already been met but had no comment on the racial question.

The only mention of the issue by New Orleans backers has been "It will take care of itself when the time comes."

A state law banning integrated athletic competition was declared unconstitutional by federal courts. Nevertheless, the ban has continued — although there are some signs of a gradual relaxation of the policy.

Any move to segregate seats would undoubtedly be protested by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The NAACP has already complained about similar practices in at least one other major league football town.

MAJOR PROBLEM

Integrated seating would bring angry criticism from segregationists throughout the state, who are extremely vocal.

Hunt said that he believed other members of the AFL expansion committee would vote for New Orleans also at the June 25-27 meeting.

While he was here, the City Board of Commissioners said it favored granting use of municipally-owned City Park Stadium for a local AFL team. Dixon has said his group has plans to increase the stadium capacity to 45,000 to meet league requirements. It now seats 28,000.

Few people may realize all that goes into staging such an event as the big Professional Bowlers Association tournament to be held in August at 300 Bowl.

The time and effort and big financial contribution required for such a promotion would likely be overlooked by most.

We decided these facts might be interesting for publication and obtained them from the men who know—host proprietor Joe Puertas and directors Monroe Moore and Al Capsolis.

This trio and many others have already put in countless hours on the project and will be on the go night and day for the next two months taking care of the many incidentals.

It will cost Puertas about $15,000 featuring $10,600 added to the purse. He must pay for advertising, printing of tickets and program inserts, the rental and installation of bleachers, additional help and various miscellaneous items.

He must supply a paddock for the bowlers, a press room, tournament officials, statisticians, scorekeepers, runners to carry scores, ticket takers, ushers, police, telephones, typewriters, an office for statisticians, telescores adding machines, a mimeograph machine and even marking pencils.

Another P.B.A. requirement is that the lanes to be used must be recoated 15 days prior to the bowling if they have not been resurfaced within 30 days of the meet.

Local tourney officials must oversee the pro-am qualifying which starts tomorrow at six establishments in and around Pontiac. They must conduct a registration and stage an opening night ceremony featuring various dignitaries.

There are other requirements. They will be kept busy helping the visiting stars with housing and travel and will provide a special luncheon setup so participants will not have to leave the building for meals.

These facts and many others show what kind of an undertaking this is. Puertas & Co., one of the newer groups in the business here, are to be congratulated for taking on such a venture. They hope to make it an annual affair.

EXTRA NOTES

Ace Only Thing New in Weekly WDGA Tourney

There was really only one thing new in the weekly Women's District Golf Association tournament Tuesday at Lochmoor and that was provided by Mrs. Victor Rothberg of Tam O'Shanter.

Mrs. Rothberg used her No. 5 wood to knock the ball into the cup for a hole-in-one on Lochmoor's 125-yard 8th hole. The ace helped her shoot a 51.

Beyond that, it was the same old story as Mrs. John Hume Jr. shot 81 to win the event by two strokes. It was the 4th tourney win of the 1962 season for Mrs. Hume, who ran away with the WDGA 54-hole medal play title last week at Red Run.

Player overcame a two-stroke deficit with a string of birdies that started on the 12th hole of the 6,465-yard par 36-35—71 South Shore Country Club course.

Western Seniors Play Opens at Port Huron

★ ★ ★

Dr. Donald J. Jaffar and Simeon Janes of Detroit shot a 35-32 for a low gross 67 yesterday, winning the tourney's best ball event on the Black River Country Club course.

George Haggarty of Detroit turned in the best individual score, a 70. Haggarty and Port Huron's Fred L. Riggin Sr. placed second in low net with a 63.

More than 200 seniors, aged 55 or over, tee off for the first 18 holes today of the 36-hole contest. Haggarty and Jaffar are Dawson's chief challengers for the title.

Charge of 'Dirty Play' Hurled at Drysdale

LOS ANGELES (AP)—St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane, angered on two counts by the conduct of Don Drysdale, accuses the controversial Dodger pitcher of dirty play and promises:

"We'll retaliate any time we can."

★ ★ ★

Drysdale—who slid hard into second baseman Julian Javier Tuesday night and later brushed him back with a pitch—responded:

"If Keane wants to retaliate, I'll be around all season."

POSTED WIN

Drysdale, who seems to become involved in at least one major controversy a season, picked up his 11th victory as the league-leading Dodgers beat the Cards for the second straight time, 3-2.

In the sixth inning, Drysdale singled and came wheeling into second base at full tilt when Maury Wills hit a grounder toward third. Drysdale, trying to break up a double play, collided with Javier and bowled the slender second baseman over. Javier suffered a leg bruise.

So far as the game was concerned, the play was meaningless—for Wills' grounder went foul and Drysdale had to go back to first base.

But, so far as Javier and Drysdale were concerned, the collision evidently had plenty of meaning. When Wills finally grounded to shortstop Dal Maxvill, Drysdale was forced at second. Javier, relaying the ball to first, made an exceptionally low throw—one that might have hit Drysdale if he hadn't gone into his slide early.

BRUSH OFF

When Javier came to bat in the seventh, he had to jump to get out of the way of a high, inside fast ball.

Said Keane later:

"I thought Drysdale intentionally kicked Javier (at second base).

"He's thrown at other guys and he definitely threw at Javier (in the seventh)... if he says he didn't deliberately try to deck him, he's a liar."

★ ★ ★

Keane charged that Drysdale "went completely out of his way and we'll retaliate any time we can."

Said Drysdale:

"I was within my rights going into second base. Javier just wasn't out of the way, that's all.

"That's baseball, trying to break up the double play. I wasn't trying to hurt him. I was within my rights. I didn't spike him.

"In the seventh, I threw a high fast ball and the ball ran in on him. I was trying to drive him back. That's how I struck him out before. I was watching his feet and I thought he was looking for an outside pitch.

"I'm not going to try to hit a man in that situation, with all those left-handers coming up after him and the game tied. A guy like that can run and he might have stolen second if I'd hit him."

WILLIE DECKED

In the first inning, Dodger outfielder Willie Davis was hit in the helmet by a pitch from Curt Simmons. Willie wasn't hurt, and the incident provoked no immediate controversy.

But Drysdale later demanded:

"What do the Cardinals say about Willie getting hit in the head? Simmons has better control than to hit a guy on the head.

"As far as I'm concerned, they started it by hitting Willie. I didn't hit anybody tonight."

. . . And Rivals as He Bags 11th Win

Drysdale's Mastering His Temper

By The Associated Press

If he can just control his temper, the pundits have been saying for the last six years, there's just no telling what Don Drysdale might do.

★ ★ ★

A 20 game winner? Easy, the story went, just get that temper under control. He's got everything, the experts said; size, stamina, speed.

And Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers—a calm, placid Don Drysdale so far this season—is finally making the experts look good.

With a firm rein on the fiery temper that has been one of the chief reasons he's failed to make the magic 20 wins in six previous seasons, the 6-foot-6 right-hander is off to his best start and is one of the prime movers in the Dodgers drive to the top of the National League.

JUMP LEAD

He notched his 11th victory Tuesday night as the Dodgers moved out to a 2½ games advantage over the faltering San Francisco Giants. Last season, the big right-hander didn't get No. 11 until Sept. 4.

His steady nine-hitter and his eighth complete game, along with some lusty hitting by Frank Howard, helped the Dodgers to a 3-2 victory over St. Louis while San Francisco was taking a 6-4 drubbing at the hands of the surprising Houston Colts.

In other National League games, Cincinnati took over third from Pittsburgh by edging the Pirates 2-1, Chicago came from behind to beat Philadelphia 9-5 and the New York Mets broke a seven game losing string, 6-5, against Milwaukee.

Howard's 10th homer got the Dodgers off to a 2-0 lead in the first and he scored the winner on a misplayed grounder in the seventh. He was on third, Ron Fairly on first and there was one out when Duke Snider bounced back to the pitcher, Lindy McDaniel, who unaccountably threw to first while Howard scored the winning run.

FOURTH IN ROW

Houston right-hander Dick Farrell choked off a Giant rally in the ninth as the Colts won their fifth in six starts and knocked San Francisco another game off the pace. The Colts belted Billy O'Dell (7-6) for three runs in the first and were never headed. Hal Smith homered for the winners in the sixth, and drove in another with a single.

Jerry Lynch's single drove in Don Blasingame with the run that broke a 1-1 tie and pulled Cincinnati into a third place tie with the Pirates. It was the Reds sixth victory in seven games with Pittsburgh.

The Cubs collected their fifth straight victory in the comeback against the Phillies. Philadelphia had a 3-3 lead going into the ninth, but the Cubs jammed in six runs against five Philadelphia pitchers.

★ ★ ★

Roger Craig's (4-9) seven-hitter and home runs by Gene Woodling and Joe Christopher were the big items in the Mets victory over Milwaukee, the sixth time in 10 meetings the league's tail-enders have beaten the Braves. Eddie Mathews hit his 12th homer for the losers.

NEW 'JEEP' TORNADO-OHC ENGINE

You'll be amazed at its performance!

BIRTH OF A CHAMPION! Today, after years of research, development and testing, Willys Motors proudly presents the 'Jeep' Tornado-OHC—America's first overhead camshaft engine designed for commercial vehicles.

WHAT IS AN OHC ENGINE? In a pushrod engine the valves are on top—the camshaft, which operates them, is at the bottom. It's an awkward situation like playing the piano sitting on the floor—you have to stretch up and over to hit the keys. Giving the Tornado-OHC engine overhead cams—which is what the initials OHC stand for—is like giving the pianist a chair. You get much better performance.

LOADED OHC 'JEEP' VEHICLE PULLS LIKE IT'S EMPTY! 33% more power—and, more important, very high torque at very low engine speeds give the Tornado-OHC engine better acceleration and much longer life.

EASY GOING—ON GAS AND MAINTENANCE! Higher thermal efficiency means up to 25% better gas economy. Fewer moving parts mean simpler, less frequent, less expensive maintenance.

COME IN AND TEST DRIVE THE TORNADO-OHC ENGINE—now available in 'Jeep' Pick-ups, 4-wheel drive Utility Wagons, 2WD Station Wagons and Panel Deliveries. But be warned—with its exciting performance you'll probably want to take it home with you!

Official Lists Organization's Recommendations

Urges Cutback in Trout Creel Limits

DETROIT (AP)—Want better trout fishing? An organization called Trout, Unlimited claims it has the answers.

The proposal that draws the most attention is a simple one:

Kill fewer trout.

This means, according to Art Neumann, vice president of Trout, Unlimited, smaller creel limits and the use of lures which permit undersized fish to be released without injury.

Neumann says the group also thinks the answers to better trout fishing lie in more research on trout and more emphasis on stream improvement and watershed rehabilitation.

He says more hatcheries and more planted trout are not the answer.

"Conservatively, trout cost about 40 cents each to raise to catchable size and plant. Only about one out of four or five planted are ever caught by fishermen," Neumann said. "If a hundred trout were planted during a season in a given section of stream . . . only one would survive to the next year even if no fishing were allowed.

FEW SURVIVE

"Hatchery trout just aren't able to make a go of it in a wild environment. It just isn't possible to produce fish in captivity that will survive floods and anchor ice and predation."

★ ★ ★

Neumann, a tall, slim man who appears to spend more time pushing Trout, Unlimited than he does his fishing equipment business, puts it this way:

"In Michigan today we have three kinds of trout fishing. First — quality fishing for native trout in restricted waters; second—seasonal steelhead fishing in streams flowing into large inland lakes and the Great Lakes, and, third—'put and take' fishing for hatchery trout. Except for migratory rainbows, every trout fisherman in the state knows that the only place we have wild trout in size and quantity anymore is in restricted 'flies only' waters. Shocking tests and creel census reports have proven this conclusively . . . and these are wild fish that nature produced, not expensive hatchery fish."

Neumann contends trout waters should be classified three ways—1, good waters that, with good management, need no stocking. 2, those needing some stocking to supplement nature's output. 3, those waters that are to be managed on strictly a put-and-take basis.

Neumann contends there is something for everyone this way.

Good management, he contends, means keeping the river free of silt and pollution and not destroying the watershed. It also means fly-fishing only—or, perhaps—artificial lures only. "Research has shown that a tremendous majority of the fish caught on live bait are hooked too deeply to live. That means small fish can't be released uninjured. It also means that fishermen can't fish for sport and release most or all of his legal-sized fish, since they will die from the damage done by the hook."

Nuemann, who lives in Saginaw on the southern edge of Michigan's northern trout country, says further research is needed to determine whether spinners, plugs, etc., will allow fish to be released uninjured. "Trout hooked on flies are almost always hooked in the lips," he contends, and can be unhooked and released easily.

Good management also means a low creel limit, based on the stream's ability to produce fish. Many streams, Neumann contends, should be "fishing-for-fun" areas, in other words, all fish except real trophy fish should be returned to the water. This, he contends, would produce excellent fishing for everyone with a good chance of landing a real lunker.

Put-and-take fishing waters, he said, should allow bait fishing.

"Every effort should be made to catch all the fish planted there," he says. "Remember, they cost 40 cents apiece."

LISTS OBJECTIONS

What are the objections to Trout, Unlimited's proposals?

"Well," he says, "it's often called a 'rich man's game.' Flies only stretches are called discriminatory. Actually, a fly-fishing outfit is no more expensive than a bait-casting or spinning outfit. And who is being discriminated against? The trout fisherman fishing flies only waters can keep only fish 9 or 10 inches long or longer and the regular state-wide limit is 7 inches. The fisherman on restricted waters can keep only five fish instead of 10. We want to discriminate in favor of the trout.

"People have got to stop considering trout as food fish and consider them a sport fish which must be well managed or they will disappear."

Neumann says another factor is that most state fish commissions are oriented in the direction of more hatcheries and planted fish, rather than better management of trout and trout water.

Trout, Unlimited, a non-profit organization, was founded by 15 serious fishermen in the summer of 1959. They met on the banks of Michigan's famous Au Sable River and from that meeting has come an organization that now claims about 1,500 members and chapters in New England, Ohio, Illinois, and Wisconsin in addition to Michigan. More chapters are being formed all the time, Neumann says.

"Mostly," Neumann says, "we are trying to educate. All advances in trout management and the urge to preserve trout fishing must come from the people. So that's what we're trying to do—educate the people."

MIGHTY BITE — Tinker Belle had just about all she could handle when she tried to carry off a 12-inch rainbow caught in a northern Arizona stream. Tinker, a Chihuahua, is three months old and weighs one pound. Al Ruland of Phoenix was attempting to get a picture of the trout he caught when Tinker got into the act.

ARCHERY QUEEN — Judy Raedeke, 18-year-old college freshman from Bay City, will reign as queen of the National Field Archery Association's first annual Great Lakes sectional tournament this weekend at Midland. The Mid-Michee Bowmen will host shooters from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin on its 112-target roving range.

Increased Weed Growth on Lakes Is Explained

People using lakes in Southeastern Michigan are becoming concerned over the increase in weeds each year.

★ ★ ★

A. B. Cook, chief of the Conservation Department's fish division, gives what he believes to be the cause of this rapid growth.

"Believe it or not, septic tanks are largely responsible for the heavy weed growths," he said. "More homes are being constructed around lakes and the septic tank comes with them.

"Many of the filter beds from these tanks lead into the lakes. This doesn't mean that the water is being polluted. But the water draining into the lakes is highly fertile.

★ ★ ★

"This added fertility is causing weeds to grow where they never have before and is causing existing weed beds to expand and become denser."

He suggested sewage disposal plants as a solution.

WENT RIDING

Saturday was opening day of the bass season on Lake St. Clair but members of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association, meeting in Mt. Clemens, left their fishing equipment on land.

They were more interested in cruising around the famed Flats area. For many, it was their first trip through this bass producing section.

The maze of channels and cuts impressed most of the writers more than the fishing and duck hunting potential.

Donating equipment for use by the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club in its duck impoundment project are Bob Dunn of Pontiac, Don Turner of Lake Orion and the J. R. Panelli Company of Southfield.

In addition to the duck ponds and planting food grain crops, OCSC and the Oakland County Earthmovers and Excavators Association are planning to fill an access trail spanning a quarter of a mile.

Brush pile cutting also has started in the Holly recreation area, site of the projects.

NEW BUILDING

The Conservation Commission has given approval to plans for the construction of a bathhouse-rest rooms-concession building at Dodge Bros. state park No. 4 on Cass Lake.

Heavy public use of the park has overtaxed the present structure built 25 years ago, according to the commission.

It will be Ladies Night at the monthly membership meeting of the Multi-Lakes Conservation Association tonight.

Resource Expert Preparing Report

Expect Recreation Demand to Triple

LANSING (AP)—Michigan, the nation's seventh most populous state, has approximately eight million residents.

★ ★ ★

In another 10 years, the count should go up to between 10 and 11 million and by the start of the 21st century, it should more than double, according to estimates of the census experts.

In the same span of 38 years, the demand for recreation is expected to triple as the standard work week drops from the current 40 hours and average income continues to go up.

Put these growth factors together and you'll understand why Congress set up the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission four years ago to assess the American people's outdoor recreation wants and needs and project them to the year 2,000. The same commission is surveying the nation's recreation resources and mapping out policies and programs to develop and use them.

On a smaller scale, Gov. Swainson earlier this year called for development of a recreation program for Michigan, a state with far better potential than most for filling the needs of its people and the millions of tourists who visit it every year.

EARLY REPORT

The State Conservation Commission set to work of the governor's request and obtained the services of Louis F. Twardzik, assistant professor in Michigan State University's department of resource development. This month, he finished a preliminary draft of his recommendations, which will be submitted to the State Conservation Department and the commission for review and possible change.

Important among Twardzik's recommendations is creation of a state recreation division in the Conservation Department, which already ministers to many recreation needs through its game, fish and parks programs.

It would develop long-range plans for development of recreational opportunities, coordinate and guide local recreation programs and offer technical assistance and advice to the multitude of commercial and private recreation services. The latter would work with the state tourist council and other tourist organizations as well as universities offering help to those in the tourist business.

Twardzik also recommended reorganization of the Inter-Agency Council for Recreation into an inter-government recreation advisory council to advise the conservation commission, coordinate all governmental recreational activities in Michigan and help contribute to the state recreation plan. The present council is made up of all state agencies, along with colleges and universities and various private organizations dealing with recreation.

A third proposal would create a state recreation planning and studies advisory committee, to be appointed by the governor. Its primary function would be to advise the Conservation Department, stimulate research, planning and education programs by private firms and organizations and to help coordinate recreation planning and research throughout the state.

CAN'T DO ALL

Government, Twardzik noted, can no longer meet all the public demands for outdoor recreation —boating centers, baseball diamonds, swimming pools and the like.

"Government must take private and commercial supplies of recreation into partnership by coordinating all its own efforts with theirs," he said. "It must not only supply areas and facilities, but also encourage non-governmental suppliers of recreation."

Michigan's master recreation program obviously is still very much in the early formative stage. Only the broad outlines are starting to emerge.

Green Battling for Golf Berth in NCAA Meet

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Peter Green of Franklin Village, a student at the University of North Carolina, is among 13 golfers competing today for the last five places qualifying in the NCAA tournament here.

Green and those tied with him fired 156s for 36-holes. As soon as the final qualifiers are known, match play will get under way.

There will be a new champion. Jack Nicklaus, who won last year, has turned pro. He won the U.S. Open last weekend.

Nicklaus Takes 3rd in Tour Winnings

His $15,000 Open check has now given him $43,198.95 putting him third behind Arnold Palmer and Gene Littler.

The Western Open in Medinah, Ill., is the next stop for Nicklaus and Palmer.

Large Marlin Boated by New Jersey Angler

HATTERAS, N.C. (AP) — A New Jersey fisherman pulled an 810-pound blue marlin out of the Atlantic waters Monday. It apparently was a record marlin catch.

The fish was caught by Gary Stukes of Montclair, N.J., on 130-pound test line. He was using a 10-0 reel.

BIGGER THAN LIFE — It took John McHugh of Detroit a long time to land this 726-pound groper off Brisbane, Australia, but it was worth it. Most of it is eatable.

List Methods for Regaining Defaulted Land

Former owners still have two ways to reclaim lands that have reverted to the state through the default of 1958 tax payments.

They may apply to the Conservation Department's lands division in Lansing between now and July 31, requiring that their tax-reverted lands be offered for sale at a public auction. Under law, the sale price would not exceed 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of these lands.

Former land owners may also petition their local units of government for resolutions withholding their properties from sale. If their requests are granted, they may pay back taxes at the office of their county treasurer and thereby obtain re-conveyance deeds from the state.

In this case, applicants will have until the first Tuesday of November, 1963, to erase their tax delinquencies. Where properties are improved, occupants will be required to make monthly rental payments to the state until their taxes are repaid. Rental fees do not apply toward reducing overdue tax bills.

Career Award for Eddy

Gerald E. Eddy, director of Michigan's Conservation Department, was named to receive a 1962 career service award for state employes from the Michigan Capital Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Girl to Captain Team

Tech Geology Student Packs Powerful Rifle

Jilann's collegiate and pre-collegiate records more than substantiate the statement. This season she has an overall average of 291.5 out of a possible 300, tops on the team. Last year, fresh out of high school, she led the Michigan Tech varsity rifle team with a 288.7 season long average.

Rifle shooting first interested Jilann as a 12-year-old in Grand Rapids. Since that time, three goals had been uppermost in her mind. Number one, to study geological engineering at Michigan Tech; number two, to fire on the Michigan Tech varsity rifle team; number three, to become the very best rifle shooter in the nation.

For the past four years Jilann has captured the national women's a position rifle championship. In so doing she established 12 national rifle records along the way, including last year's mark of 395 x 400. In addition to the National Women's Championships she has won, Jilann has also won the Michigan State Galary Women's Championship three times, the National Women's Gallery Championship, plus the National Collegiate Smallbore Championship.

Last summer Jilann was selected on the Randie Trophy Women's International Team. In the competition, she fired a 400-28c, one of three firing a perfect 400. She ranked 2nd on the basis of X's. Jilann was also on the team in 1959.

Jilann, captain-elect of the 1962-63 Tech team, credits Cecil Greenhoe, her first coach at the Grand Rapids Rifle and Pistol Club, for her success, and her father who assisted her in the basic fundamentals of shooting. After gaining these techniques, Jilann then went on to develop her own individual shooting style.

Michigan Tech's sharp shooting co-ed is the restpient of a Michigan High school scholarship, awarded her on the basis of her outstanding high school scholastic record. During her nearly two full years, she has averaged a "B," and carried a 3.15 average for the winter term of 1962 in the tough geological engineering curriculum.

Following last summer's outstanding shooting spree, Jilann was notified by Olympic officials that the U.S. was thinking of sending a women's rifle team to the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Growth Stocks Slip

Market Weaker in Noon Sales

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weakened after an early advance and was irregularly lower early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

While most changes were narrow, losses of 1 or 2 points by some blue chips were disturbing to market averages.

A spate of short covering which boosted some of the "growth" issues and others yesterday and early today seemed to have run its course as these stocks lost ground, some showing net losses.

A short sale is a sale of borrowed stock in the hope that the loan can be repaid with stock bought at a lower price in the future. A very large monthly total of short sales is expected to be announced after today's market close.

ON SHORT SALES

Short sale contracts were "covered" by many who were afraid that an advance in prices might cause a panic among the shorts.

International Business Machines, among those involved in this situation, was up about 4 points at the start but showed a net loss of more than 3 in the afternoon. Polaroid wiped out a 3-point loss and was fractionally lower. Xerox cut a 2-point rise to a fraction.

* * *

Meanwhile, U.S. Steel dropped a couple of points. A prominently-published news article noted Big Steel's declining profit margins.

Du Pont was another 2-point loser. Ford stretched its loses to about 2. General Electric and Eastman Kodak slipped more than a point apiece.

A forum of the New York Society of Security Analysts yesterday afternoon brought forth a number of views on the current situation of the economy and the stock market, most of them extremely cautious.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading. Gainers included Tel -A-Sign, Mountain States Telephone, Gilbert Yellowknife, Universal Controls, Syntex and Aerojet - General. Among losers were Sonotone, Fanny Farmer, Pall Corp, "A", Firth Sterling and General Development.

Government Bonds Up

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange opened mixed except for rails, which were mostly lower.

Over-the-counter dealers in treasury securities quoted long bonds up 2/32 or so and intermediates by 1/32 or 2/32. Trading was described as moderate.

* * *

There were a few price changes of more than a point among corporates outside the convertible section. They included TWA 6½s up 1 at 58 at one time, Illinois Central Railroad 3¾s of 1974 up 2⅞ at 85⅞ and General Cigar 5½s off 1 at 101.

Dave Beck Will Enter Federal Prison Today

SEATTLE (AP) — Dave Beck, 68-year-old president of the former Teamsters' Union, goes to federal prison today, but he says he does not have to stay down, just because he was knocked down.

★ ★ ★

Beck, wealthy Seattle businessman, was expected at the U.S. marshal's office in Tacoma. From there he was to take the short boat trip to McNeil Island federal penitentiary, in Puget Sound.

'DO YOU GET UP?'

On the eve of his five-year term for filing fraudulent tax returns, he told a reporter: "You don't have to fall down just because you've been knocked down. What matters is, 'Do you get up again?' "

Beck swore he did no wrong—that he was a scapegoat.

★ ★ ★

"But under our system of government, when the courts have had their say, you accept it.

"That's life. Everything has its ups and downs."

★ ★ ★

His arrival at McNeil Island will mark the close of five years of legal maneuvers to stay free. Beck was convicted on two charges which played a minor part in his tax evasion trial in 1958-59.

DENIES PART

The charges were filing fraudulent tax returns for the union's Joint Council 28 Building Association in Seattle. Beck swears he never saw the returns, but the courts said he should have known what they contained. They were information returns involving no tax payments.

★ ★ ★

Government charges that he evaded paying $240,000 in taxes for the years 1950-53 were dismissed, but a few days ago the U.S. Supreme Court upheld his conviction on the false income re-

Rules Tax Returns Legally Filed April 15

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—An income tax return is legally filed April 15, no matter how much earlier it is actually mailed, a judge ruled Tuesday in a first test of a special 1954 tax law.

★ ★ ★

The question was raised by defense lawyers in the trial of George Homer Wolf, a Hammond City councilman charged with evading tax on an alleged $2,000 kickback from a toll road contractor.

★ ★ ★

Wolf's counsel contended the six-year limit on tax prosecution had run out on Wolf's 1955 tax return, mailed in January 1956. He was indicted last February.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert A. Grant ruled the six-year limit actually didn't run out until April 15, 1962.

Estes Creditors to Study Talks

Substantial Progress Reported at Meeting in Dallas Yesterday

DALLAS (UPI)—A committee of Billie Sol Estes' creditors planned to meet Friday in El Paso to study results of a meeting in Dallas where "some progress" was made between committee representatives and lawyers for the farm tycoon.

★ ★ ★

M. R. Irion of Dallas, an attorney for Pacific Finance and spokesman for the attorneys, said "substantial progress was made" in the meeting yesterday.

The four persons in the closed meeting pledged themselves to secrecy. Estes admits owing $38 million. He claims assets of about $30 million.

The negotiations between the committee and Estes' attorneys are final efforts to keep Estes from involuntary bankruptcy.

NEW PLAN REPORTED

Reports circulating indicated yesterday's meeting included a new plan based on an undisclosed offer to buy Estes' 15 grain elevators in the Plainview area.

Irion would not comment on the reports.

Irion and Berry Edwards of El Paso will report Friday to the full creditors committee. The committee will then make a recommendation to Federal Judge R. Ewing Thomason.

The creditors could recommend immediate involuntary bankruptcy for the farm financier or accept any new proposal made by Estes.

★ ★ ★

Irion and Edwards met yesterday with John Cofer of Austin and John Dennison of Pecos, attorneys for Estes, and also conferred with Grady Clark of Corpus Christi, hired by Estes' receiver, Harry Moore of El Paso, to run the grain business portion of the Estes' operations.

Oklahoma Gets Reshuffle Order

Special U.S. Court Rules Apportionment Laws Null and Void

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A three-judge special federal court declared yesterday all Oklahoma's legislative apportionment laws null and void because of discrimination against urban residents. It gave the state until July 31 to start correcting the situation.

The court ruled in a suit brought by an Oklahoma City taxpayer and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor this spring. It heard arguments a week ago.

If Gov. J. Howard Edmondson has called the legislature into special session by July 31 for the specific purpose of reapportioning its membership the court said it will delay final action until Sept. 16.

This gives the legislature nearly three months to meet the court's requirements.

An opinion by Chief Justice A. P. Murrah of the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals said it is preferable that the legislature apportion itself according to the long-ignored state constitutional formula based principally on population.

CARRIES THREAT

But the opinion carried a threat of court intervention if action is not taken soon at the Capitol.

It said possible remedies would be for the court to spell out a new apportionment formula, or for elections at large of state senators and representatives until the legislature complies with the constitution.

Murrah said the opinion and interlocutory decree were concurred in by U.S. Dist. Judges Ross Rizley and Fred Daugherty.

The court's action was based on the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court March 26 which stated the federal courts have the right to intercede when state legislators refuse to properly apportion themselves.

There are 200,000 automotive service stations spread across the nation which did an $18 billion business last year. Manufacturers of gasoline and oil, parts and accessories, and tires and tubes, whose products are sold wholly or partially through service stations, helped promote their merchandise with a combined $3.2 million investment in national newspaper advertising in 1960.

WANTS GROWN-UP ROLES — Blonde Cheryl Holdridge, who is 18 years old today, sits next to her Sherman Oaks, Calif., swimming pool in her first bikini. A few years ago, practically every child in the country knew Cheryl as one of the Mouseketeers of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on television. Now that she's 18, she wants to do "grown-up, sexy roles."

Mouseketeer Trades Her 'Ears' for Bikini

A few years ago, practically every kid in the country knew Cheryl, along with Annette, Doreen, Darlene, Cubby and the other Mouseketeers of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on television.

Had anyone known how Cheryl would develop, the show would have had more daddies watching than kids.

Few grow up as well as Cheryl. At 18, she looks better than Marilyn Monroe did at that age. No need for further comparisons.

The bikini, Cheryl's first, is a symbol.

"I no longer want to be known as a child actress," she said. "I want to do grown-up roles, sexy roles."

Cheryl, a professional actress for half her years, has not gone unnoticed since the Mouseketeers went off the air. She has worked steadily in movies and television.

Screen Gems has her under contract for a new television series while Warners is testing her for a young sexpot role opposite Henry Fonda in "Spencer's Mountain."

"I'm serious about a career, nothing else," she said.

What about boys?

"I'm too fickle about men. I can be in love with four at the same time. I don't think they'll be any problem.

She has one favorite — Elvis Presley.

"But I've never met him," she moaned.

Jackie Kennedy's Double Not So Certain It Helps

By EARL WILSON

Pretty Patricia Breckir, actress-model and assistant director came into Toots Shor's the other night looking so much like Jackie Kennedy that Toots Shor suddenly stopped bawling out the columnists. Not only that, but Mrs. Toots Shor stopped bawling out Mr. Toots Shor.

WILSON

"Did anybody ever tell you . . ." I said to Miss Breckir, who was the date of that gay boulevardier, sports scribe Leonard Koppett.

"Everybody!" she said, not at all unflattered. Pat was in the Vassar '57 class (Jackie was there a little earlier, she speaks French fluently, rides, appeared often on "The Verdict Is Yours"—and used to be a blonde . . . and inspired people to say "Do you know you look like Joanne Woodward?"

Red Buttons confused her by saying, "Do you know you look like Paul Newman?" Pat just wishes somebody'd say "Do you know you look like Pat Breckir?"

★ ★ ★

Pat, whose father is a psychiatrist and mother a psychologist, comes from White Plains, N.Y. Often when people insist she's Jackie Kennedy, she says, "Oh no—I'm her sister—the Princess."

What's she doing now? That's the point of this.

Collecting unemployment insurance.

(So you girls out there, trying to look like Jackie—maybe it wouldn't help you!)

★ ★ ★

You secretaries — and other chair-sitters: When you're typing, tuck your hips under you, and you'll avoid Secretary Spread. So say Miss Paige Palmer—the Cleveland physical fitness expert—who also told me I should inform all gals how to get into cabs gracefully. "Put your left foot in first, slide your derriere in on the seat next, then pull your other foot in. And do not back out of the cab so that they see your derriere emerging—before they see your pretty face!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mel Ferrer persuaded Eddie Fisher to make a fast get-the-money trip to S. America in mid-summer. Eddie's doing 3 weeks at $27,500-a-week at the Latin Casino, Camden, in September, and will star at the Miami Beach Eden Roc in February. . . . Beautiful Linda Wehle suddenly remembered she'd been married and pulled out as Pines Hotel's entrant in the Sullivan County "Miss Universe" finals. Arleen Gordon, Brooklyn's 33, was rushed in . . . The Legion of Decency gave J. Gleason's "Oigot" an A-1 rating. . . . MGM wants Rex Russell for the film version of "Iguana". . . . Carol Bruce hobbled into the Penguin — torn knee ligament—and the patrons called her "Chesterfield" . . . Tony Curtis is trying to get a Soviet OK to autotour Russia while he's in Europe for the Berlin Film Festival.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Bernie Allen says he can't stand violence on TV. So he stopped watching telecasts of the N.Y. Mets' games.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Remember when double parking was illegal—instead of impossible?

A Michigan paper had this typographical terror: "For the thrill of performing at the White House, the 24-year-old vocalist broke off an engagement to sin in Paris." . . . That's earl, brother.

Few Mourn Passing of '61-62 TV Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The 1961-62 television season has, for the most part, come to a quiet end. As the re-runs crowd the home screens, there will be few mourners at its passing.

★ ★ ★

For a second year in a row, it has been a period rarely sparked by creativity—a period dominated by formula writing and production-line entertainment containing very little that was fresh or novel.

NEWS TOPS

The high points of the season, curiously enough, were the news shows — the cameras on the launching of manned rockets into space, a tour of the White House, an investigation of the operation of a book-making establishment.

★ ★ ★

It was a time when the industry —really nervous about strong criticism by Congressional subcommittees, the Federal Communications Commission and articulate critics — seriously attempted to curb scenes of violence.

FEW GOOD DRAMAS

It was a time when there were few original dramas, and most of those were second-rate and seemed to have been scripts found at the back of an authors desk drawer. The most interesting dramas were adaptations of Broadway successes or novels.

★ ★ ★

The networks did a lot of bragging about their news and public affairs shows but continued to schedule most of them on the outside fringes of valuable prime evening time.

LIKED DOCTORS

The public, in survey after survey, showed a marked preference for pure entertainment—the Westerns, the doctors, the comedians.

It has been, in short, period with many more downs than ups.

★ ★ ★

"Noah and the Flood," CBS' expensive excursion into culture last week, may have improved the corporate images of the network and the shampoo company that sponsored it, but it apparently didn't impress the public much.

★ ★ ★

A sampling of the New York area by one research outfit indicated that every other competing network show had a larger audience than the dance-drama—and NBC's "Dr. Kildare" and "Hazel" had twice as many viewers.

Souvanna of Laos Asks Stronger Red China Ties

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier-designate of the coalition Laos government, has called for strengthening of ties with Red China, the New China News Agency reported.

★ ★ ★

In a broadcast monitored here the agency said Souvanna messaged Premier Chou En-lai his thanks for Red Chinese support "accorded us at the Geneva conference and in Laos itself in our struggle for peace, neutrality, national independence."

Roadblocks Thrown Up to Stop Car Thievery

POZNAN, Poland (AP)—Police roadblocks have been thrown up around this central Polish city to stop car thievery at the Poznan International Trade Fair. Fifteen cars have been stolen since the opening of the fair 10 days ago brought an invasion of automobiles from throughout Europe.

The victims include the director of the fair, Adam Askanas.

Truck Flips on Car; Woman, 72, Unhurt

BAY CITY (AP)—A Florida woman escaped unhurt yesterday when an oil tank truck, turning sharply to avoid collision with her car, rolled over on top of it. The truck driver suffered only minor injuries.

State police said the car, driven by Mrs. Ola B. Jones, 72, of Lakeland, Fla., went through a red light and the truck, driven by Richard Duke, 44, of Akron, Ohio, turned in the same direction in an attempt to avoid a broadside collision.

Soviet General Is Dead

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Gen. Aleksei Antonov, chief of staff of the Warsaw Pact died today. Antonov, who was 66, commandered Soviet armies in the Caucasus during World War II and later served as chief of staff of Soviet armed forces.

Most of the lakes in western North Carolina are artificial. Largest is Fontana in the Great Smokies.

Let George Do It, He Says

Executive Order Saves Time for JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's latest executive order—hot off the White House mimeograph—spells out a dozen easy-to-take steps for getting an executive order to the President's desk.

★ ★ ★

The White House produced the new order Tuesday, the last sent to Kennedy under a 14-year-old order on orders.

★ ★ ★

The changes it makes "are relatively minor but are deemed necessary and desirable in the light of experience under the existing order," the White House said.

From now on, when a government agency wants the President to issue an executive order or a proclamation, the outfit's boss must supply a letter explaining and justifying the request.

This has been the practice, the White House said. The new order simply makes it formal.

LET GEORGE DO IT

The order also authorizes the director of the Bureau of the Budget, who is in charge of proclamations for the observance of special days and similar occasions, to tap someone else for the paperwork. He can assign the chore to whatever agency "he may consider appropriate."

★ ★ ★

Budget directors, the White House said, have been doing this for a long time.

A few things to watch in whipping up a proposed executive order:

★ ★ ★

—Spelling and punctuation. Under provisions of the order the style has to conform to the Government Printing Office manual.

—The title. A proposed order or proclamation has to have a suitable one.

★ ★ ★

—Geographic names. They must be spelled in line with the decisions of the Board on Geographic Names.

★ ★ ★

—The paper it's on. "Proposed executive orders and proclamations shall be typewritten on paper approximately 8 x 13 inches, shall have a left-hand margin of approximately 1½ inches and a right-hand margin of approximately 1 inch."

★ ★ ★

Once those details are out of the way, the order-proposer submits his document—plus seven copies—to the budget director, along with a letter explaining its "nature, purpose, background and effect."

If it gets a clean bill of health in the Budget Bureau, the proposal goes to the attorney general for a once-over on questions of form and legality. Under the new order, the attorney general doesn't have to do this personally.

★ ★ ★

With an okay from the attorney general, a routine order or proclamation goes to the director of the Office of the Federal Register who checks the spelling and makes sure the document measures up to the style rules.

★ ★ ★

If it measures up, the proposal is sent to President Kennedy. The man who decides whether it will become an order of the government or a piece of waste paper.

May Help Cure Congenital Illness

Find Heart Disease Substance

CHICAGO (UPI)—Northwestern University researchers report discovery of a substance which may lead to solution of a cause of congenital heart disease.

The substance, still unidentified, was found to cause development of deformed hearts in baby chicks, the researchers said in a report on the "antiheart serum" in the current issue of the Northwestern medical school's quarterly bulletin.

The report was prepared by Dr. Richard H. Licata, Northwestern anatomy lecturer and chairman of congenital heart disease research at Hektoen Institute of Cook County Hospital; Dr. Maurice Lev, Northwestern pathologist and director of Hektoen heart research; and Dr. Eric R. Brown, Hektoen immunologist.

The substance was isolated by making a powder of the hearts of newly-hatched chicks. The powder then was injected into rabbits, which reacted by producing the "antiheart serum" in their blood.

When injected into eggs containing 3-day-old chick embryos, all sorts of heart abnormalities—similar to those found in human babies—resulted.

PRIMARY TARGET

Studies with fluorescent antibodies that glowed in the dark showed that the muscle wall of the heart was probably the primary target of the serum.

The Northwestern team currently was seeking to find the same substance in the blood of pregnant women who previously have given birth to children with heart defects.

"Finding this serum has widespread significance," Licata said. "It may give us an idea of the mechanism by which birth defects are caused. It may be of diagnostic value. And it may eventually lead to preventive measures."

The researchers hoped that the discovery might open the prospect of analyzing the blood during pregnancy, to tell in advance if the child is apt to be born with a defective heart.

★ ★ ★

It will also create a research tool which will permit scientists to create abnormalities at will and under controlled conditions to learn more about why and how birth defects occur, Licata said.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Further Talks Set

New River Plan Tabled

A slashed Clinton River improvement plan last night failed to win approval by the City Commission. An informal session on the plan was set for 7 p.m. Monday.

★ ★ ★

Originally a $4-million plan to improve river drainage had been proposed by the old City Commission.

Drainage would be improved by widening, deepening and straightening the river bed.

A $2.5-million plan placed on the table last night met objections from Commissioners Charles H. Harmon and Milton R. Henry.

Henry, along with Commissioners Robert A. Landry and Winford E. Bottom, had originally opposed the $4-million plan when it was discussed by the old commission last March. They said the project wasn't necessary now, would harness the city under a large debt and would take the place of other needed improvements.

STIERER 'SURPRISED'

Last night City Manager Robert Stierer said, "I am surprised that you should now wish to review all the points we've talked about all the way through last December. I wouldn't bring this to you, if I did not think you agreed on this at your informal meeting."

Harmon questioned both the necessity and the manner of financing the drainage improvement plan.

"I think we're hog-tying ourselves with the capital improvement fund," he said. "I don't think the fund will stand this load."

As one way out, he suggested the city might await appropriation of new antirecession public works funds by Congress instead of adding the project to its urban renewal bill.

Both Henry and Harmon criticized arguments for using the river project's cost to jack up total cost of the R44 urban renewal project to yield a $400,000 "credit" against the city's first urban renewal project (R20).

The urban renewal act permits such "crediting." This allows cities to delay paying their one-third share of the total urban renewal cost. During the delay, the city could plan to raise enough money to meet this cost by resale of urban renewal land.

Commissioner William H. Taylor, pressing for approval of the project, said:

"I have seen the city go down hill constantly. It is 15 years behind now in urban renewal. If we want to get things done, we must move. This is the time to the Clinton River project done."

★ ★ ★

Stierer also had made a bid for approval of the project noting its delay was holding up the R44 renewal project in Chicago urban renewal offices. Stierer also had wanted the go-ahead so that construction could be intermeshed with construction of the perimeter road.

The resolution amending the project to $2½ million was tabled.

Rusk Begins Confabs With NATO Leaders

De Gaulle Talk Fails to Smooth Differences Between U. S., France

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk today began a round of consultations with North Atlantic Treaty Organization military and political leaders after a meeting with French President Charles de Gaulle that made no real progress toward smoothing differences between France and the United States.

Rusk arrived in Paris on Tuesday for the first stop on a West European tour to shore up the unity of NATO. American sources said his initial talk with De Gaulle was animated, friendly and searching but that it didn't budge the French leader.

Rusk met first today with Gen. Laurie Norstad, NATO supreme commander, and then talked with Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter, the permanent U.S. representative of the 15-nation NATO Council.

There was no immediate indication of the substance of their talks. It was thought likely they briefly reviewed current NATO problems, including the issue of giving America's allies a greater share in deciding on when and how NATO's arsenal of American nuclear warheads might be used.

After his meetings with Norstad and Finletter, Rusk went to the sprawling NATO headquarters at the edge of Paris for talks with NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker and a session with the council.

INFORMAL MEETING

U.S. sources said Rusk was meeting informally with the council and had no prepared statement or specific proposals to put before the group.

Political Upstart Left at Gate

LANSING (AP)—John Dalzell, a political unknown, almost became the man who challenged George Romney, a political star, for the Republican nomination for governor.

At 3:50 p.m. yesterday, the stocky little travel agency owner rushed into the state elections office in the capitol laden with nominating petitions. It was 10 minutes before the deadline for candidates to file for the Aug. 7 primary election.

Dalzell, who runs the Vacationland Travel Center in Detroit, was trailed by a pretty little secretary and both were all but counting signatures on the run.

★ ★ ★

Reporters, surprised to learn that Romney might have a bona fide opponent, surrounded Dalzell and began firing questions.

"Have you got enough signatures?" asked one.

"I don't know; I'm adding them up," said Dalzell, glancing uneasily at his wristmatch.

NOT ENOUGH

Dalzell's face fell as he totaled up his figures. His secretary looked as if she wanted to cry.

"It looks to me like I've got only 14,397 signatures," he said. "The statutory requirement is 14,542.

"Even if I did have enough, I'd have to allow myself some leeway for signatures that would be voided for one reason or another."

Sitting at a nearby desk, State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery was listening to a telephone operator recite the time of day.

"That's it; it's 4 o'clock," he announced bringing his right arm down in a verticle sweep. An assistant slammed shut the door to the office.

"Well, that's a lot of work that went down the drain," said Dalzell sadly. "If I had one more day . . ."

"I guess I won't get to run this year; I started out too late," he said, then added brightening:

"But I'll be back in 1964."

Airline Dispute Negotiations Look Hopeful

Goldberg Waits While Union Officials Talk to Local Chapters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said early today there has been progress toward settling a dispute between the Flight Engineers Union and Trans World Airlines.

Goldberg gave the hopeful report as he recessed the marathon negotiations at the request of union officials who asked for a chance to confer with their local chapters.

He declined to reveal the reason for the union conference but presumably the flight engineer representatives want to sound out members on the government's latest proposal for solving the wrangle over jobs in the cockpits of jet airliners.

Goldberg presented the proposal to the airline and Flight Engineers International Association Tuesday just at the 1 p.m. (Pontiac Time) deadline the union had set to strike TWA's transcontinental and overseas operations.

TWA SUFFERS LOSS

The union postponed the strike but not in time to head off picketing at New York's Idlewild Airport and at TWA terminals at Kansas City and San Francisco. The pickets finally withdrew.

Few flights were reported delayed but a TWA spokesman in Kansas City said the airline suffered a substantial loss of business because of confusion over the strike situation.

Its terms were not made public immediately but it was believed to contain job and union security pledges for the engineers.

For several years, the engineers union has been locked in a feud with the Air Line Pilots Association over job rights aboard jet airliners.

Government boards recommended a cut in present four-man crews —three pilots and an engineer— to three-man crews, with two pilots and a pilot-engineer.

The argument between the two AFL-CIO unions was over which would represent the third man.

Union Charges on Strike 'Puzzle' Ford Company

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union (UAW) and the Ford Motor Co. exchanged broadsides yesterday in negotiations seeking to settle an Ohio plant walkout. The dispute has idled 70,000 workers.

The Union accused Ford of provoking the strike in order "to serve its own political purpose in Michigan." The company denied the charge, calling it "puzzling" in view of the fact that Ford is enjoying its second best sales year in history.

At the same time, Union President Walter P. Reuther said he was willing to enter negotiations personally with Henry Ford II, board chairman of the company," if Ford would return to Detroit from his travels about the country."

The Union asked Ford late yesterday to agree to a new scene for the talks — the Manger Hotel in Cleveland. Ford accepted the suggestion and said talks would resume at 1 p.m. EST today in the Ohio city.

CHARGES FORD

Reuther charged Ford with trying to force the hand of Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson, a Democrat, who now has a bill before him which would nullify an unemployment compensation decision of the Michigan Supreme Court.

The ruling, known as the Ford-Canton decision, permits workers laid off because of a strike in another plant of the same corporation to collect unemployment compensation.

The bill passed by the Michigan legislature nullifies the State Supreme Court's 1959 decision and is designed to prevent an employer from financing a strike against himself.

★ ★ ★

Reuther said, "Developments in the last 24 hours have definitely confirmed suspicions we have entertained for some time that the motives behind the Ford Motor Co.'s provocation and prolongation of the strike are purely political.

★ ★ ★

"They are designed to bring pressure on Gov. Swainson to approve House Bill 61."

The strike was touched off June 7 by the 3,200 employes at the Walton Hills stamping plant in suburban Cleveland.

It came at a time when the company was stepping up production schedules. The dispute is over work standards.

Ford laid off another 20,000 employes yesterday, raising to 70,000 the number of workers idled by the single plant strike.

46 Join Election Line-Up Before County Primary

The starting gate closed behind 46 candidates yesterday as they lined up for election in Oakland County.

When the 4 p.m. filing deadline arrived, incumbents for all 17 county posts on this year's ballot had filed for nomination in the Aug. 7 primary. Six of the current office holders—all but one of them Republicans—face challenges in their re-election bids.

Eleven other incumbents—seven Republicans, one Democrat and three nonpartisans—are unopposed in their party's primary.

Pontiac's 2nd District Rep. Arthur J. Law is the only Democratic incumbent running unopposed in the primary.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, three nonpartisan posts will be eliminated from the primary ballot because current office holders are unchallenged, said Election Clerk Mabel Child.

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams and Circuit Court commissioners Maurice Cole and Verne Hampton are assured of re-election and will be placed only on the November general election ballot.

Shaping up as one of the hardest-fought primary battles is the Republican state senator contest between incumbent Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, con-con delegate Richard D. Kuhn and Troy Mayor Robert J. Huber. The winner will be pitted against the lone Democratic candidate, Leland H. Smith, a political science teacher at Highland Park Junior College.

BROOMFIELD CHALLENGE

Broomfield's challenge for the U.S. House of Representatives in November will come from either Birmingham attorney George J. Fulkerson or George E. Lennox, owner of a Royal Oak tool supply company who lost the same nomination in 1960.

Also in the general election, Law will face Republican Robert C. Smith, a history and government teacher in Waterford Township, for Pontiac's seat in the state House of Representatives. Both men are unopposed in their party's primary.

City Designates Week to Register Before Primary

The week of June 25 has been named as Voter Registration Week in Pontiac, by the City Commission.

Registration hours are Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. To accommodate voters who want to register for the Aug. 7 primary, the clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, July 9, the deadline date for registration.

★ ★ ★

Eligible to register are those who will be 21 by Aug. 7; those who have not voted in the last four years; those who have changed addresses within the city; and those who have moved into the city and resided here 30 days.

Demolition Set, End Near for 'Ages-Old' Courthouse

Demolition hardly will be noticeable at first, however. Crews will gut the building's interior before taking down the Cleveland sandstone walls.

Both buildings have been vacant since last August. Operations were moved into the new court tower at the County Service Center on Telegraph Road.

During the interim, the county has been unsuccessful in efforts to sell the old courthouse property.

County officials are hopeful that razing the outdated buildings will make the site more desirable to any prospective buyer.

Work will proceed on both projects simultaneously and could be started this week, Arakelian said.

Commissioners Hit County Plans for Allen Airport

The City Commission last night hit Oakland County plans to expand the Allen Airport in Orion Township.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners passed by 5-to-1 vote a resolution opposing any further expenditure of tax money for the airport.

★ ★ ★

The chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, Delos Hamlin, said yesterday he would recommend that the county not abandon plans for enlarging the Allen Airport.

★ ★ ★

County plans for a multi-million-dollar major jet airport were rejected this week by the Federal Aviation Agency for lack of air space and possible conflict with a future Pontiac Municipal Airport instrument-landing system.

Shirley MacLaine Robbed in Leningrad

LENINGRAD (AP) — Hollywood star Shirley MacLaine flew out of Leningrad today after being robbed and tossed out of her hotel room at midnight. Airline tickets, films and jewelry were missing.

Before boarding a plane for Moscow the weary actress who is traveling privately through the Soviet Union said: "Well, I wanted to see how the comman man travels around here, now I know."

★ ★ ★

Miss MacLaine's night of troubles started when she decided to pass up a midnight train for Moscow rather than leave a dinner party she gave in a local restaurant for about a dozen Russian and American students.

Sees U. S. Recognition

BERLIN (UPI) — President Kennedy "is moving toward positive recognition" of the present borders dividing Germany, East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht said in a speech released today.

Shows Duties of Sheriff's Dept.

MINIATURE COUNTY — A trailer-mounted county in miniature, depicting functions of a typical sheriff's department, was sent to the Michigan Sheriff's Association Convention in Bay City today as a gift from Oakland County Sheriff's Department, its volunteer marine division and area merchants. Admiring the hand-made display are (from left) Sheriff Frank Irons, Safety Director Donald Kratt and Marine Deputy James M. Bayes, who designed and built the unit with aid from other marine deputies.

Thursday Forecast: a Day to Play Hooky

Thursday will be mostly sunny and warmer, a perfect day for a sun tan or picnic.

Skies will be clear and temperatures on the cool side tonight, the low about 55, the weatherman said.

For the next five days high temperatures will range in the upper 70s and drop to a few degrees below 60 at night. A few scattered showers or thundershowers are predicted over the weekend.

Morning northerly winds at 3 miles per hour will become light variable at 6 to 12 m.p.h. tonight and Thursday.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 55. At 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 71.

Plans Plant at Albion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Air Reduction Co. today made plans to build a $3.7-million plant in Albion, Mich., and engineers said the facility may employ up to 200 persons.

Big N-Bomb Flop 2nd in Two Tries

HONOLULU (AP)—Malfunction of a Thor missile forced the United States to destroy a gigantic nuclear device in flight near Johnston Island late Tuesday night without exploding it.

No specific explanation was given for the failure. Joint Task Force 8 said in its official statement that the shot was scrapped due to a malfunction in the system.

The nuclear device was blown apart and dropped harmlessly into the ocean. There was no nuclear detonation.

SAME PROBLEM?

It was assumed, however, that the term "the system" referred to trouble with the Thor's tracking system—the same problem that caused failure of the first Johnston test shot June 4.

Tuesday night's test was to have been the biggest and highest in the United States' current Pacific test series. The nuclear package was classified as megaton-plus in million tons of TNT. Its power had been estimated unofficially at about 10 megatons.

Previous announcements said the detonation was to be at an altitude of hundreds of kilometers. Unofficially, estimates were 200 miles.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, announced the failure about 20 minutes after launch. He had returned hours earlier from Johnston Island.

FOLLOWED SILENCE

Announcement of the failure followed a silence on radios monitoring the countdown.

"A Thor booster was launched tonight at about 10:47 p.m. carrying a nuclear device, designed for one of the high-altitude tests in the current U.S. test series from Johnston Island. Due to a malfunction in the system, the nuclear device was purposely destroyed without a nuclear detonation," the announcement said.

★ ★ ★

"The debris fell into the open sea well within the safety area which was previously designated. There was no danger to test personnel. There will be no danger to human life or hazardous levels of radioactivity in the ocean."

A task force spokesman said it was not immediately known how long it will be before another shot will be held at Johnston.

RESIDENTS DISAPPOINTED

The failure was a disappointment for thousands of Hawaiians who lined beaches and highlands, hoping to see the big shot.

The test was expected to have been visible in Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of Johnston Island.

Unions Demand Part of Algeria

Oran Group Threatens Total Exodus Unless Country Partitioned

ALGIERS' (AP)—Algeria's European labor unions warned today that unless autonomous zones are set up in western Algeria for the European population, it will call on the settlers to flee the country.

★ ★ ★

A communique from the Joint Committee of Labor Unions in Oran said the Moslem nationalist leaders must sign an agreement officially sanctioning the partitioning of the territory by June 30.

★ ★ ★

If not, the communique said, the committee will be forced to demand the immediate departure of the population to avoid genocide.

SECOND ULTIMATUM

It was the second European ultimatum in Algeria in the past 12 hours. Tuesday night the Algiers command of the Secret Army Organization called for immediate incorporation of Europeans into the local Moslem security force to maintain order.

★ ★ ★

European settlers in western Algeria for some time have been demanding a regroupment of the population along ethnic lines. The Secret Army has been attempting to form defensive bastions in Oran, Sidi bel Abbes, Mostaganem, Arzew and Perregaux.

CONDEMN PLAN

The Moslem Nationalists condemned the plan Tuesday. Nationalist Premier Youssef ben Khedda said Arab nations have pledged to help Algeria in dealing with "imperialists" attempting to carry out a partition.

★ ★ ★

The Oran labor committee denounced the peace accord of last Sunday between the Algiers Secret Army command and some Moslem Nationalists as "involving only several persons more interested in defending their own interests rather than those of Algeria, France and the West."

It said the agreements cannot be considered valid.

The unions called for international solidarity in organizing a speedy evacuation of Europeans from Algeria in case the demands are not granted.

SHE'S MISS MICHIGAN—Judith Lamparter, 18, Miss Michigan-Universe, doesn't have any Hollywood ambitions. A Detroiter, this 5-foot-6 blonde beauty will be a sophomore at Michigan State University next fall. She's a 35-23-35, and plans to be a school teacher. Judith hopes to win the title of Miss United States in Miami July 6 to 16 at the Miss Universe contest.

Tiros V May Link East-West Programs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — America's newest weather satellite, Tiros V, orbiting on its hurricane and storm hunting mission, may prove to be the first step toward a cooperative space program between the United States and the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

The weather watch satellite, launched Tuesday from Cape Canaveral, will photograph cloud cover over a much greater area of the world than any of the previous four Tiros satellites.

Earlier this month, American and Soviet scientists signed a pact in Geneva agreeing to share data received from their respective weather satellites — with a long-range look at possibly building a broad mutual space research program.

46 in Vote Line-Up Before Primary

bent Rep. Lloyd Anderson has been challenged for the 1st District Republican nomination by Michael L. Carl of Highland Township, who served as a sergeant-at-arms at con-con.

★ ★ ★

Of the remaining six county-wide offices, final November pairings already are determined for four posts by which each party has only one candidate. Here are the lineups:

Clerk-Register — Murphy versus Democrat David S. Lees of Troy, who lost to Murphy in 1960.

Treasurer — Sparks against Mrs. Betty McVay, a former teacher and vice chairman of the Democratic county committee.

Surveyor — Main versus Democrat Stanley F. Dunn of Bloomfield Township, who was defeated by Main in 1960.

FOR SHERIFF

Three Democrats are seeking to take the sheriff's job away from Irons. They are Kenneth G. Hirt, a former member of Irons' staff; Homer Hight, who lost a previous sheriff's bid, and William A. Smith of Madison Heights.

The race for drain commissioner finds two candidates in each party trying for nomination. Republican incumbent Daniel W. Barry faces Art Becker of Southfield and Democrat Roy J. Russell, who lost to Barry in 1960, faces Daniel T. Berry of Davisburg.

Third District. Republican — Hogan; Democrat — John F. Foley, a Birmingham attorney.

★ ★ ★

Fourth District. Republicans — Incumbent Rep. Ray L. Baker and Terrence E. Nagle of Beverley Hills; Democrats — Archie H. Bailey of Berkley and Albert A. Kramer and Maxwell M. Gurnan, both of Oak Park.

British Jetliner Makes Safe Emergency Landing

LONDON (AP) —A British Boeing 707 jetliner from New York made a safe emergency landing with 111 passengers today at London Airport.

★ ★ ★

The BOAC plane had landed at Prestwick, Scotland, after the flight from New York. It took off for Manchester and London. The pilot found that he could not retract the wheels and flew direct to London landing with the wheels down.

Cabinet Faces Ruling Problems

Diefenbaker Calls In Ministers to Map New Plans for Government

TORONTO (AP) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker summoned his Conservative cabinet to a post-election meeting today to map plans for ruling the country without a majority in parliament.

The 67-year-old Conservative leader flew back to Ottawa last night from his Saskatchewan home, where he received the news of Monday's national election. He indicated at the time that he intended to carry on with a minority government.

The election gave the Conservatives only 118 of the 265 House of Commons seats, 15 short of a majority. But Diefenbaker stated that, as the largest political bloc in the House, "we are still the government of Canada."

Among the problems facing him is to try to get an understanding with one or both of the minor parties — the Social Credit and New Democratic parties — as to what extent they will cooperate. They hold the balance of power.

WOULD BE OUSTED

If they should refuse, the government would be forced out by a vote of no confidence on the first major legislation to come up in parliament.

However, both parties have indicated they will cooperate on essential "housekeeping" legislation, at least until a new election can be held.

The government also must decide when to call the newly elected parliament into session.

The session is now scheduled for July 25 but it could be called earlier or later. The latter alternative seemed most likely, perhaps not until fall unless the other parties press for an earlier meeting.

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson also called in top members of his party today for a policy session in Ottawa. The Liberals came through the election with sharp gains, winning 96 seats in comparison with the 51 they held in previous parliament.

The Social Credit party won 30 seats, 26 of them in Quebec, and the New Democratic party took 19.

A new election could be brought about in two ways: the government might voluntarily dissolve parliament and call for an election, as Diefenbaker did in 1958 after ruling for nine month's as a minority government; or the opposition parties could force an election by joining to defeat the government on major legislation.

Bad Day for Burglars

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. Burglars cracked a safe at Broward County United Fund headquarters and got away with $100,000 in checks and $800 cash. Each of the checks, however, was stamped "for deposit only." Authorities said they would be worthless to the burglars.

The Day in Birmingham

School Board Approves $850,000 Budget Hike

BIRMINGHAM — A $7,233,000 school budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year was adopted last night by the Birmingham Board of Education.

Expenditures are in line with a five-year projection that was made in accordance with a millage increase that was approved last November.

At that time the school board announced plans to gear the budgets for the next five years with revenue anticipated from the tax increase, about 2.6 mills for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The request on the ballot was for five mills but the board was able to reduce its debt retirement by 2.4 mills.

★ ★ ★

Property taxes and state aid will provide the bulk of the revenue for the new budget.

TO PAY FOR BUDGET

Nearly $4.75 million will be received from local taxes while another $2 million will come from the state.

Revenue from local taxes is anticipated at about $1.3 million more than last year.

Almost 75 per cent of the budget is earmarked for instruction (teacher and principal salaries, school libraries, clerical salaries and teaching supplies).

Another 19 per cent will be allocated for the operation and maintenance of schools.

During July and August new hours at Cranbrook Institute of Science will be in effect, it was announced today.

They are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Saturday and Sunday hours are 2 to 5 p.m.

The summer schedule for the planetarium provides the usual demonstrations on Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. and Wednesdays at 4 p.m.

If attendance warrants, public demonstrations at the planetarium will be given during July and August on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Demonstrations in the Henry S. Hulbert Observatory are scheduled for July 6, 10 and 12 at 8:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by phoning extension 71 at the Institute.

Rusk Begins Talks With NATO Leaders

his consultations with French leaders — the main purpose of his three-day trip to Paris. He had two meetings scheduled with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and was to call on Premier Georges Pompidou.

During his talks with Couve de Murville, Rusk was expected to deal more specifically with the issues he had taken up with De Gaulle.

★ ★ ★

U.S. opposition to De Gaulle's plan to give his armies their own atomic arsenal was one of the main points discussed by Rusk and the French president for an hour and a quarter Tuesday in the Elysee Palace.

'DANGEROUS'

Rusk told De Gaulle in effect that creation of an independent French nuclear striking force would be dangerous and ineffective as a deterrent against Communist attack. He reportedly made no offer to share nuclear secrets that only Britain now gets from the United States.

De Gaulle listened pleasantly, but apparently remained adamant in his determination to concentrate French energies and resources on development of France's own nuclear force.

Rusk told newsmen later it had been a most interesting conversation. An American source said the talk had produced no agreement or any new proposals, but that the two leaders had stressed unity on basic commitments of both countries to the Western alliance.

★ ★ ★

The source said the talk will probably lead to a conference between De Gaulle and President Kennedy before the end of the year. He said, however, that the question of such a summit meeting did not come up during the talk.

Woman Alone in Dem Primary for Treasurer

The lone woman enlisted in Oakland County's political wars this election year is Mrs. Betty McVay of 1678 Yosemite, Birmingham.

Mrs. McVay is running unopposed for the Democratic nomination to face Republican incumbent Charles Sparks in the race for county treasurer.

A former school teacher in Virginia, Mrs. McVay has been active in county politics for several years. She is vice chairman of the Democratic county committee, chairman of the Birmingham Democratic Club and a precinct delegate.

Announcing her election bid, Mrs. McVay said:

"Being deeply interested in good government and believing that the people have a right to a choice of candidates for public office, I offer myself as a candidate for the office of county treasurer in the August primary on the Democratic ticket."

HENRY M. HOGAN JR.

Will Seek 2nd Term From Third District

State Rep. Henry M. Hogan, Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, today said he would seek a second term as legislator from Oakland County's 3rd district.

Hogan, 29, of 4253 W. Orchard Hill was first elected to the Lansing post in 1960.

In announcing his candidacy, Hogan blamed Michigan's problems in part on the division of parties who hold power in the executive and legislative branch.

"The trouble is," he said, "that the Republicans control both houses and the Democrats maintain the executive offices. It's almost an impossibility for either the governor or the legislature to get across responsible legislation. ..."If one introduces, the other vetoes; and if the governor recommends, the legislature ignores."

Hogan added:

SEES GOP GOVERNOR

"I sincerely believe that a Republican governor will be inaugurated in Lansing next January."

He is associate publisher of the Birmingham Eccentric, vice president of Averill Press and a partner in the law firm of Emery, Parsons and Bahr.

JOHN F. FOLEY

Files for Petition as Representative in 3rd District

John F. Foley, 185 Euclid Ave., Birmingham, today filed as a Democratic candidate for state representative in the Third Legislative District of Oakland County. Foley, 34, is an attorney.

★ ★ ★

Foley was graduated from Birmingham High School. He did his undergraduate work at Georgetown University and received his law degree from the University of Michigan.

He has practiced law in Birmingham and was an attorney for the National Labor Relations Board in Detroit.

Foley is presently an associate in the Detroit law firm of Schwartz, O'Hare and Levin.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

He also worked as a radio news writer in Clinton, Iowa.

Foley has four children and is married to the former Joan Marlow.

MICHAEL J. CARL

After Nomination in First District

The son of a Highland Township justice of the peace is campaigning on a platform of "better communication between the people and their representative" in his bid for Republican nomination as 1st District state representative.

Michael J. Carl, 27, 3525 Highland Blvd., Highland Township, charges that the people of the 1st district "are not being represented on major issues" by the incumbent GOP representative, Lloyd L. Anderson.

"I believe the position of state representative should be maintained 12 months a year," said Carl, who just completed working in the nonelective post as sergeant at arms of the state constitutional convention.

Carl, son of Justice Roy J. Carl, said he "wholeheartedly supports the proposed constitution" and is for a more adequate mental health program and a more active participation in the Republican party.

He interrupted his studies as a political science student at Michigan State University to take the con-con post.

Kennedy Not So Firm in Airline Situation

To all who wondered if President KENNEDY would speak as firmly to union labor as he had to business, and especially the steel industry, he has given his answer in the negative with the threatened walkout of flight engineers.

In a speech not long ago before the UAW in Atlantic City, the President said, "I believe it is the business of the President of the United States to concern himself with the general welfare and the public interest."

He further cited the fact that 14- or 15 million Americans have the resources to maintain representatives in Washington to protect their interests, and for the other 150- to 160 million people it is the responsibility of the President.

Certainly, to date in the airline dispute, the President has not acted in a firm manner. At least he has not spoken out as he did in the steel price increase.

The haggling still continues with Labor Secretary ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG acting as moderator.

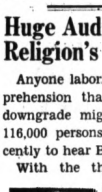
There is talk of hopes that the President will use his power to block a strike by naming a White House emergency board which would investigate the dispute and recommend a settlement.

If the President would do this instead of vacillating he would be defending the general welfare and the public interest.

Huge Audience Proves Religion's Not Declining

Anyone laboring under the misapprehension that religion is on the downgrade might take note of the 116,000 persons in Soldier Field recently to hear BILLY GRAHAM preach.

With the thermometer hovering around 90, the audience jammed the large stadium in Chicago to listen to GRAHAM in his "Crusade for Christ."



GRAHAM

This attendance far outstrips the crowds of recent years for the annual All Star football game and many other top performances sponsored at the large outdoor arena.

★ ★ ★

The enthusiastic crowd obviously came to hear a sermon by evangelist Graham on the topic of God. They got just that. He told the Chicagoans to dedicate their lives to God.

Continuing, GRAHAM said, "Put religion into your social, economic and civil lives," and urged listeners to fight what he termed, "internal decadence of the culture."

★ ★ ★

No one can argue with this code to better ourselves. Graham's sermons are down to earth and his conception of the way we should live our lives is well worth the attention of all Americans.

The fact that so many people are turning out for religious services proves once and for all that religion is far from dead. And we hasten to add that we are most happy to report this.

Recent Hollywood Move Is Long Overdue

There is a somber note which goes beyond the reports of canceling plans for a movie called "Something's Got to Give."

The bare details are known, concerning the work record of Marilyn Monroe, her firing, refusal of costar Dean Martin to work with a substitute and the resultant decision to abandon the film.

The loss of the picture is not important—most of MARILYN'S epics probably won't rate the late show in a couple of years—but the decision to halt the production is important. It meant plenty to the hundreds of employes who were put out of work, and they hollered.

Of greater importance is the firmer line that the industry is taking against capricious individuals who have little regard for living up to their contracts. The tab on this one was $2 million down the drain.

★ ★ ★

Down the same rat hole were millions on a "Mutiny on the Bounty" remake with Marlon Brando, and starring the queen bee herself, Elizabeth Taylor, of the "Cleopatra" fiasco in Italy.

★ ★ ★

The movie industry must take its stars in hand and enforce contract provisions before more money is wasted. Such a move is long overdue.

Troy Farmer Finds Corn Shoulder High

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

Relating in a recent column how over the years the Old MAT had taken on a lot of dead weight through collecting what finally proved to be mostly worthless keys, he offered the whole key-lection to anyone interested. Well, sir

David Lawrence Says:

Must Keep N-Arms From France

WASHINGTON! — Sometimes the obvious is either overlooked or doesn't sink in right away. A case in point is what's happening in America's relations with the Soviet Union.

A "stalemate" is really now in effect. Will it develop into one of those long periods of peace in world history based on the maintenance of a "balance of power" without a big war?

LAWRENCE

Thus, it is obvious that Premier Khrushchev, without signing an agreement with this country, and President Kennedy, without signing an agreement with Moscow, have both come separately to the conclusion that Red China's possession of nuclear weapons could lead to a nuclear war which might destroy everybody.

★ ★ ★

If nuclear arms are to be withheld from Red China by Russia, isn't it logical then for the United States, as a balancing factor, to withhold nuclear weapons from France or any other country hereafter? Back of this unwritten understanding emerges, as always in diplomacy, a powerful reason why a given policy makes sense from the standpoint of both sides.

Red China could be an irresponsible wielder of nuclear weapons. This could lead to a nuclear war that could destroy Russia as well as other areas of the world. Hence Moscow is unwilling to build up Red China as a nuclear power.

France, of course, wouldn't be irresponsible or go counter to American desires, but if the United States distributes nuclear data and equipment and helps build up other nations allied with it, the Soviet Union couldn't logically withhold nuclear knowledge and weapons from Red China.

★ ★ ★

Now this doesn't mean that America intends to reduce in any way its nuclear power. Nor is there to be any hesitation about using nuclear weapons if circumstances ever require it. What is planned is to concentrate nuclear power inside the NATO alliance for defensive purposes in Europe and leave the main control to the United States because the truly big missile bases are in this country.

COSTLY PROJECT

Hence, the building of nuclear strength for military purposes by any power except the United States and the Soviet Union would be a costly, dangerous and, indeed, superfluous project.

Even Great Britain is finding it an expensive undertaking, and her contributions hereafter will be largely supplementary and not independent of NATO.

Secretary Rusk has gone to Paris to argue all this out with Gen. De Gaulle, but Secretary McNamara's speech laid the main points on the line ahead of time.

President Kennedy has, therefore, developed a sound policy, and, since it happens by coincidence to be based on the very same kind of argument that appeals to the Soviet government in its relations with Red China, the world may hope for a period of "stalemate."

It goes without saying that the big task still is to avert a nuclear outbreak as between the Soviet Union and the United States. And this means that monkey business in and around Berlin has to be suspended by Mr. Khrushchev, and the "crisis" atmosphere avoided so that fears of a surprise attack on the nuclear side will be largely removed.

Now this doesn't bar the building up by either side of conventional forces—ordinary armies and navies.

The United States wants to strengthen NATO and already has promised some missile-bearing Polaris submarines for the use of the western alliance. But, as Mr. McNamara has pointed out, defense in modern wars is not the responsibility of any power but of all powers in an alliance.

It's a necessary strategy, as World War I and World War II proved. Allied rather than individual planning now has been accepted as vital in deterring or preventing a third world war.

Pyorrhea Can Be Traced to Nutritional Deficiency

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"I have just finished treatment for pyorrhea and am happy to say all my teeth have been saved. The dentist who brought this all about is a peridontist and specializes exclusively in gum troubles.

"I had seven resected (resection means surgical removal of an organ or structure) and every tooth in my mouth scraped to the bone.

For weeks I had complained to my dentist. As far back as a year ago, I wanted to know why my gums bled when I chewed anything hard or brushed too briskly. The reply I received was just 'tenderness and sensitivity.'

"Now I can brush hard and chew anything, and my gums are pink and firm.

"Please advise the gentleman who wrote regarding his pyorrhea and fear of losing all his teeth to see a peridontist as soon as possible. I'm sure he will be happy with the results."

Sincerely,

Mrs. ———, Newark, N.J.

Yes, but having no list of peridontists, I can only suggest that the gentleman ask his own dentist to refer him to a peridontist.

I thank you, and the peridontists will thank you, for your fine testimonial.

You do not say, Ma'am, anything about nutrition, but I am sending you a complimentary copy of Little Lesson No. 1, "Save Your Teeth." Please read what I say about nutritional deficiency and pyorrhea. Show it to your dentist and your peridontist and tell me what you and they think of it.

TAKE CALCIUM

I may be wrong—indeed, thousands of dentists will tell you I am wrong—but I believe an adequate daily intake of calcium and vitamin D is a fundamental requirement for prevention, relief or possible cure of pyorrhea.

But then, everybody knows by now that I am more or less hipped on the idea that nutritional deficiency is the underlying cause of a good many common ailments.

It is a myth that any so-called clique can take over the Pontiac School Board in 1 year. There are 7 members who are elected as follows: two each year for 3 years, and one member the 4th year. This was done so the functions of a school board cannot be disrupted at any time.

The rules to operate schools are laid down by the state. The rules for the handicapped children's program are made by the county. Rules for vocational, lunch programs and any other programs, which come under the National Defense Act of they participate, are laid down by by the Federal Government.

Mr. Henry's behavior has hurt his race far more than he knows and this is a shame as we have many outstanding upright Negro citizens.

By the same token it is just as bad for a school board and an ex-member to pass judgment on who should or should not be a candidate for the school board and spend considerable money as a group to perpetuate themselves in office.

Tax Reduction

Dothan Eagle
The Daily Oklahoman

We take President Kennedy's promise of a tax reduction at some future time with a large helping of salt.

The President's promise may be well intended but they do not always wind up as understood. Remember how the New Frontier turned out? We thought he was going to run a taut ship, with everything in order. He talked of frugality in government and self-sacrifice on the part of each individual, saying in his inaugural address: "My fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

As for this admonition, he set an example by putting brother Bobby Kennedy on the Federal payroll as Attorney General and two brothers-in-law in big jobs and by lending the prestige of his office to promote the candidacy of brother Ted for the Senate. In the last 18 months the cost of government has increased a supposedly 20 per cent. The debt limit has been raised from $293 billion to $298 billion, to $300 billion and currently he wants $308 billion.

★ ★ ★

The New Frontiersmen have already indicated they don't intend to take in less money. They are going to get in some other way an amount equal to or exceeding any reduction in income taxes. The only place they can get this money is out of the pockets of people, individually or in groups. Our conclusion that all this promising is going to be phony is based on the current talk about a reduction in tax to business through a proposed acceleration of depreciation. The owner of the article to be depreciated will pay no less money. His taxes will be reduced for the first part but increased over the last part.

We suggest the following actions to help him serve his country better than he proposes:

1. Make amends for what he did to Americans in every sort of business as to undo the wrong that resulted. This is a monumental undertaking, perhaps beyond his competency.

2. Reduce the expenses of the Federal government. Herein lies the greatest potential for stopping inflation.

3. Stop trying to reorganize the Federal Government with the apparent purpose of giving him more power.

★ ★ ★

In the White House is a young man of great vigor, power, ambition and potential in a time of unprecedented strife and grave danger at home and abroad.

Our prayers might help him chart the right course. Let's try that.

Government

(The Daily Oklahoman)

George Washington's Farewell Address contained a plea for "vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debts which unavoidable wars may have occasioned."

★ ★ ★

This excellent admonition now is honored wholly in the breach. Its fundamental worth is nevertheless attested by anxieties that often are expressed concerning what the spendthrift present Federal Government would use for money if it ever got involved in another major war. The threatening situation in Laos lends urgency.

If the Government can't get its house in order under conditions of peace and prosperity what are the prospects for averting a financial disaster in the event of a big scale war? The prospects are pretty bleak.

Non-military spending rose by $2.4 billion and military spending rose by $1.5 billion between July, 1961, and January, 1962. The government has incurred deficits in 24 of the last 30 years. The deficit a year ago was $3.9 billion. The deficit for the 1962 fiscal year ending next June 30 will be $7 billion to $10 billion. The deficit for the 1963 fiscal year starting next June 30 is estimated already at more than $4 billion and is climbing.

Foreign aid spending now totals more than $100 billion. It gives every indication of continuing. Foreign creditors demanding gold for their giveaway dollars have caused the United States to lose 30 per cent of its gold in recent years.

★ ★ ★

In the circumstances some degree of restraint with respect to political domestic-civilian spending might seem indicated. But the Kennedy Administration is proposing programs that would raise spending by more than $2.5 billion in fiscal 1963 and by more than $9 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963.

★ ★ ★

This would go for aid to education, space exploration, medical care for the aged, federal pay raises, higher military allowances and retirement pay, public welfare, aid to distressed areas, job retraining for the unemployed, the Peace Corps, civil defense shelters, and aid for disabled veterans.

In President Kennedy's first year in office federal employment rose by nearly 77,000. By mid-1963 the increase is expected to come to 200,000.

A war on top of all the other woes easily could touch off a stampede by foreign creditors seeking gold.

★ ★ ★

A gold embargo then might become necessary with all the fiscal and economic reprisals that could entail. The Government would be forced into immediate wage and price controls. Wartime wage and price controls without rationing would mean black marketing. Already it's beginning to suffer somewhat as a result of his dictatorial tendencies and his punitive attitude toward business.

Even With Astronauts, Airline Engineers

Featherbedding Sickness Hitting America Today

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Let's pretend that the year is 1966. Three astronauts have successfully orbited the earth in an Apollo spacecraft. Preparations are now under way to launch a lunar orbital flight, but because of some technical improvements in the Apollo, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has decided that only two astronauts are needed to operate the craft, making it possible for the third man to be a scientist.

The astronauts issue a strike call. The original seven, plus the second team added to the program in the fall of 1962 and other subsequent enrollees, contend that they are being threatened with technological unemployment.

Automation is not going to be allowed to replace the astronauts if their union (International Astronauts Association (AFL-CIO) can prevent it. The labor secretary offers binding arbitration, but the union chief grimly refuses.

Unless plans are canceled to make the third man a scientist, or the spacecraft is enlarged to carry a fourth man, our space program will be demobilized.

The President warns of the inherent danger to our space race with Soviet Russia. The union chief shrugs that that's just too bad.

The government should have thought of that before it made the technical improvements that obviated the necessity for a third astronaut. The strike was called.

We leave you there, cliff-hanging, until the next installment is faxed, for it may not be as far-fetched as it sounds.

Something of the sort is going on in America today, with organized groups adamantly and relentlessly fighting progress.

The Flight Engineers International Association (AFL-CIO) has been liking strike votes against three major airlines to force them to carry two flight engineers on jet airliners, although simplification of jet engine models one of them unnecessary.

Government boards have ruled that three crewmen are sufficient in jet cockpits.

The Air Line Pilots Association says the second man should be a copilot, and the companies agree. Flight engineers, refusing to accept the ruling, decided to strike.

President Kennedy, expressing concern over the effect of a strike on our balance of payments problem and unemployment in the air travel industry, appealed to both sides to submit to binding arbitration of their differences.

The companies agreed. The engineers adamantly declined.

This is only one manifestation of a sickness that is gripping America. The descendants of the pioneers who hacked this country from the wilderness with their own hands now demand to be paid for performing unnecessary jobs.

★ ★ ★

Featherbedding is a waste we cannot afford. It has helped to bankrupt railroads.

It is rampant in the entertainment field, where ghost orchestras and curtain-pullers for non-existent curtains must be paid; and in the printing and building trades.

It has even entered our space program, and in one 60-day period this spring illegal strikes at missile bases exceeded the national average of strikes in all other industries.

A petty jurisdictional dispute at a vital Titan missile site between two unions spread to a dozen other Titan missile bases, and cost the nation nearly 3,000 man-days in the missile race with Russia.

★ ★ ★

If self-serving workers and union bosses are permitted to tie up our economy everytime that technological improvements pinch some shoe, we aren't going to be a first class power much longer. Without progress, no nation can long survive.

Thwart Confidence Game Aimed at $2-Million Fraud

WHEATON, Ill. (UPI)—A suspicious lawyer and a curious police chief thwarted an intricate confidence game aimed at bilking a banker and religious tracts publisher of $2 million, it was revealed yesterday.

Du Page County State's Atty. Wiliam Bauer said the alleged attempt to defraud Robert Van Campen, board chairman of the Hitchcock Press and vice president of the Cary-Wheaton bank, was under investigation.

Bauer said the attempt to obtain $2 million from Van Campen for patent rights to a revolutionary fertilizer process would have been a "monumental swindle."

Several months ago Van Campen was approached by a man claiming to represent the Minneapolis, Minn., patent owner of a fertilizer which speeded plant growth by as much as 600 per cent.

The man claimed that the $2 million purchase price would be repaid many times over from $18 million in royalties due on the process.

While the investigation was being conducted a stranger appeared. He claimed to represent a St. Louis, Mo., client who would pay $3.85 million for the patent if Van Campen could furnish clear title.

One of the Van Campen attorneys became suspicious and asked Wheaton Police Chief Herb White to make inquiries. White became curious about telephone calls made by the would-be patent buyer.

The police chief found that the telephone calls were being made to the man who wanted to sell the patent to Van Campen.

The mysterious stranger, who had shown a portfolio which he claimed contained certified checks for the $3.85 million his client would pay for the patent, suddenly vanished after dropping off the portfolio at the police station in nearby La Grange, Ill.

The man said the portfolio contained materials of interest to the Wheaton police department. When the portfolio was opened it was found to contain pieces of cardboard.

Bauer said there have been no charges filed in the case but the parties involved will have "some tall explaining to do" if they are to avoid an appearance before the grand jury.

Mother-in-Law Scare Just a False Alarm

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Just recently a woman accused of arson admitted that she burned down her own home when she got the word that her mother-in-law was coming to live with her. Sounds pretty drastic, doesn't it?

The poor woman has probably been reading for years all those articles and "expert" opinions pointing out that two women can't live happily under one roof.

For 15 or 20 years now the word has been: "Don't take a mother or a mother-in-law into your home." As thoroughly as wives have been sold the idea of togetherness for husband, wife and children they've been sold the idea that letting grandma enter the home is sure to be a major catastrophe.

★ ★ ★

The word has long been out that when grandma moves in peace and happiness fly out the window.

Grandma—we have been told over and over—will prevent husband and wife from having the easy, comfortable companionship that is their right. She will either spoil the children or try to boss them or tell the parents how to bring them up.

She will demand that the house be run to suit her. She'll take sides in arguments. Oh, the picture has been painted black indeed.

Despite that fact, many mothers do have to move in with their married children—and often the setup works out happily for all concerned.

But, thanks to all the scare articles telling what a mistake it is for three generations to try to live together, most couples face a mother's coming to live with them with fear and trembling.

They groan and their friends sympathize. But few—fortunately—consider burning down the house before mother can wreck it.

"The tea serves to honor both men and women who have given many hours of volunteer service to the community through service committees of the women's division and volunteers associated with United Fund agencies," says Mrs. Walter Noftsinger, women's division chairman.

Speaker for the occasion will be Larry Payne, news director of radio station WPON.

Presentation of awards will be made by Mrs. Noftsinger and Karl Bradley, executive director, Pontiac Area United Fund. Awards will be presented to volunteers on the basis of length of service and outstanding volunteer contributions.

TO RECEIVE AWARDS

Agencies participating in the awards program include: St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic; Michigan Children's Aid Society, Oakland County Branch; Community Activities, Inc.; Boy Scouts of America, Clinton Valley Council; Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls; Catholic Social Services of Oakland County; Family Service of Oakland County; Boys' Club of Pontiac, Inc.; Michigan Cancer Foundation; American Red Cross, Oakland County Chapter; Young Men's Christian Association; Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council; Big Brothers of Oakland County; U. S. O., Pontiac Committee; Pontiac Urban League; Young Women's Christian Association; Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association.

Scouts Earn Awards

We're Not All Quiz Kids

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-445: Sylvia B., aged 21, is active in her local church.

"Dr. Crane, I enjoy working with the young people," she said.

"For I have charge of social events and entertainment. It seemed to me that we could use some of your Bible tests and other material on Sunday nights.

"I know many of the kids enjoy them. But when I tried them out last week, a lot of the young folks acted indifferent.

"Yet when I had let them take the tests in private, they had been very enthusiastic.

"So why did they change their tune when I tried to use such pencil-and-paper contests for group entertainment?"

DR. CRANE

EGO DEFLATION

It was because they feared the ego deflation of having their boy friend or girl friend see their low score.

Most people don't win the top prizes on mental tests on intellectual games. They realize they aren't quiz kids.

So they hesitate to try such pencil-and-paper games at group parties and church social affairs.

★ ★ ★

However, you can remedy the matter very easily if you will divide them into small teams of four to six. Let them pool their combined knowledge.

★ ★ ★

Then, if they fail to rate the top scores or win a prize, they can soothe their vanity by realizing it wasn't a personal evidence of stupidity.

For they had several other people in the same boat (team) with them. And this is an essential point for all youth leaders to remember.

PARLOR GAME STRATEGY

Many games that people will disdain, are really received enthusiastically by those same folks, if you simply protect their ego.

For nobody wants to be "shown up" in public. For example, if a girl has a first date with a much desired escort, she is doubly fearful lest he find out that she makes a low score.

To avoid that disaster, she purposely affects disinterest, or boredom regarding the game that is announced.

★ ★ ★

So put each person into a small cooperating group, which will then protect her ego.

★ ★ ★

She and her new boy friend can thus work together, along with possibly one or two other couples.

Their combined mental output then enters the competition against the combined product of other groups at the same party.

If her group fails to win top-notch honors, she now doesn't mind, for her boy friend is in the same dilemma with her, for they pooled their wits so neither one can highhat the other.

USE OBJECTIVE TESTS

In Sunday School, too, when you employ 4-answer or "multiple choice" Bible questions, plus true-false, completion, matching problems, etc., it is also well to let the children score their own papers and then keep them to take home.

★ ★ ★

Also, urge them to test their Daddy and Mother on the same Bible quiz. This enhances their interest in it.

For they relish "showing up" their parents. And the fact they can administer the test to their parents, makes them take the teacher-role.

Thus, they learn more about the Bible by repeating your test items and correcting the errors of Daddy and Mother.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Pythian Sisters Plan Meeting in September

Tentative plans were made for the Grand Temple meeting Sept. 20, 21, 22 at the Hotel Hemrose, Detroit.

Since last September, the sisters have made 1,744 cancer pads. Their Gray Lady has spent 300 hours at Pontiac General Hospital.

The Temple meetings will resume in September.

ETHEL LOUISE JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Jones of Deland Court announce the engagement of their daughter Ethel Louise to Payton H. Granderson Jr., son of the senior Grandersons of Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding.

Tips on Careers

Have Your Eye on Engineering?

(Editor's Note — This week's tips on engineering, make up the ninth in a 12-week series of career articles, giving you in a capsule up-to-minute facts on job possibilities in industry and the professions. Source: U. S. Department of Labor.)

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

Educational Requirements: Bachelor's degree in engineering is minimum; proportion of engineers with advanced degrees still small, but growing. (A few engineers enter the field with training in physics or one of the natural sciences.)

Personal Requirements: Keen interest in math; ingenuity in solving problems; good business sense; interest and ability in detail.

Advantages: Largest profession for men and one of fastest-growing; big current demand (employment prospects through the mid-60's good because there is no anticipated rise in the number of engineering graduates until then;) good salaries initially, marked increase in earnings as experience is gained; 25 specialized fields, but since there is a common body of knowledge of engineering in each, engineers can shift readily from one field to another.

Disadvantages: Need for keeping abreast with ever-changing developments by reading, participating in societies, etc.; pressure to meet deadlines; certain branches of engineering require continual relocation.

Salaries: Inexperienced engineering graduates earn from $5,900 to $6,825 depending on the kind of engineering; engineering graduates with a master's degree receive $800 to $1,400 more; salaries for those with a doctorate, between $9,000 and $11,000 a year; marked increase in earnings with experience (median annual salary of those with ten years experience, $10,000 — with 20 years', $12,400; 10 per cent of those with 20 years' experience earned $17,600 or more).

By Teachers' Club

Reunion Breakfast Held

The Teacher's Exchange Club held a breakfast Saturday at Ted's Restaurant in honor of its 25th reunion.

Mrs. Irwin Gottschalk was mistress of ceremony while Mrs. Lenn Kennady gave a history of the club's activities. Hostesses were Mrs. James Hull, Mrs. William Lewis and Marjorie Cotterman.

The guest list included Mrs. Ron Chandler and Carol Knapp.

The former members in attendance were Mrs. Edith McKee, Mrs. Archie Leonard, Mrs. Irene Albright, Mrs. Steward Knapp, Mrs. Margaret Crelby, Mrs. Jesse Medlen, Mrs. James Morse, the club's second president, Mrs. Sally Bishop, Mrs. Roy Long, Mrs. Marian Gowan, and Mrs. Blanche Ingalsbe.

MRS. RICHARD DAWSON

Mrs. Richard Dawson of South East Boulevard, received the College of Regents Degree, the highest honor given in the Women of the Moose. Four years of work in the Moose and service as senior regent of the chapter, as well as helping the chapter attain honors, are necessary to receive the revered cap and gown.

State Produces Much Charcoal

Northern Hardwoods Are Best Suited for Lumps or Briquets

The season for cooking outdoors is here! From now until the end of the season, charcoal will be a regular item on the shopping list.

There are different types of charcoal, but that made from hard woods is the best quality states the Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Michigan produces about three-fourths of the nation's hardwood charcoal supply. It is produced in the Upper Peninsula where the dense, slow-burning hardwoods are ideally suited for the production of charcoal. Maple, birch, beech, oak and elm are used, and only wood which is not suitable for lumber is made into charcoal.

It takes about sixty pounds of wood to produce ten pounds of charcoal. Much of the natural moisture must be removed before the wood can be carbonized. Wood is carbonized in air-tight retort ovens to eliminate the oxygen so the wood cannot burn and the chemical by-products can be drawn off.

After the carbonization process, the charcoal is cooled (called conditioning). Extreme caution must be taken to prevent spontaneous combustion. It is then ready for processing or packaging.

The lump charcoal is passed over a screen and the larger lumps are bagged. The smaller lumps are put through a grinding operation, mixed with a binder and compressed into dense pillow-shaped pellets called briquets.

Briquets give a lasting, intense and evenly distributed heat ideal for barbecuing. They burn evenly without "pop sparks" or flames.

Milk, Ice Cream and Cheese Spell Out Dairy Month

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

June in the dairy industry is their special month. The milkmen are not particularly concerned with girl graduates or blushing brides. They just want to advertise their products — Milk, cheese, butter, ice cream and any of the related products — make for fine warm weather eating.

This week we have a most welcome visitor at our house—a sister. You know how it is when relatives come — you want to show off your best. Since Sis is a fine cook, we always like to share new food ideas with her.

Sunday night we had a new dairy dessert that she thoroughly enjoyed; we did too. The Teen-Ager turned up his nose at the sour cream topping. But we recommend Baked Custard A La Glaze for plain or party meals.

Baked Custard A La Glaze

6 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk, scalded and slightly cooled
2 teaspoons vanilla
Nutmeg
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind (optional)
1½ cups sweetened sliced strawberries

Combine eggs, ½ cup sugar and salt. Slowly stir in milk and 2 teaspoons vanilla. Pour into baking dish; sprinkle top with nutmeg. Set in shallow pan on oven rack. Pour hot water around dish, 1 inch deep. Bake 1 hour in 325-degree oven or until knife inserted 1 inch from edge comes out clean.

Combine sour cream, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and lemon rind. Spread over top of custard; return to oven 5 minutes longer. Remove to cooling rack, then chill. Serve with strawberries spooned over top. Makes 8-10 servings.

If you keep vanilla ice cream on hand, you can turn it into all sorts of interesting desserts. For instance, why not make your own ripple ice cream? You can have a different flavor each time without having to keep half a dozen containers of ice cream in the freezer.

"Do-It-Yourself" Ripple Ice Cream

½ gallon vanilla ice cream
6 tablespoons (½ 6-oz. can) frozen raspberry-lemon punch concentrate, thawed

Allow ice cream to soften slightly. (This may be done by placing carton of ice cream in food-cooling section of refrigerator for about 20-30 minutes.)

Using a large serving spoon scoop a layer of ice cream in 9½x3x3-inch metal loaf pan. Drizzle 2 tablespoons fruit punch concentrate over ice cream. Repeat, alternating layers of ice cream quickly. Place on floor of freezer section to refreeze.

Don't you like recipes that do double duty? The last one today is for a cottage cheese spread. Serve it for the appetizer course; use it as a dressing for vegetable salads; or incorporate it into an exciting sandwich.

Nippy Cottage Cheese Spread

2 cups cottage chese
6-8 anchovies, minced
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped chives
1 teaspoon poppy seed
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper

Note: This spread may be used as an ingredient for a knife-and-fork sandwich. On a slice of rye bread layer lettuce, ham, Nippy Cottage Cheese Spread and a tomato slice. Makes a good hearty luncheon sandwich.

PEANUT BUTTER SWIRL PIE — The crust is a regular graham cracker shell. It's put into the freezer while you prepare the filling. Peanut butter and cornsyrup are spooned through vanilla ice cream. The resulting mixture goes into the frozen crust and the whole is kept frozen until serving time. Yummy!

Ice Cream Pie Has Crumb Crust

Peanut Butter Mixed With Corn Syrup to Swirl Into Filling

Here is a handsome pie that is sure to delight the taste buds of young and old alike, whether it be family or friends. So simple to make, it combines sugar honey grahams with chunk-style peanut butter as well as vanilla ice cream.

Three all-time favorites in this one easy to prepare, fanciful and tasty dessert treat. A three-to-one bet you'll find these convenient products available in your kitchen right now! Then, all you need is a few minutes of preparation time and voila, an exciting new taste combination "Peanut Butter Swirl Pie" will be ready for its debut at your command.

Peanut Butter Swirl Pie

20 squares sugar honey grahams, finely rolled
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
⅔ cup chunk-style peanut butter
¼ cup dark or light corn syrup
3 tablespoons water
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened

Prepare one 9-inch sugar honey graham cracker pie shell according to package directions. Freeze finished shell. Blend chunk-style peanut butter with corn syrup and water until smooth. Place by tablespoonfuls in softened vanilla ice cream, swirl through. Refreeze ice cream mixture until ice cream has hardened enough to spoon into prepared pie shell. Keep pie frozen until serving time. Makes 8 servings.

Buttermilk Is Used to Coat Chicken Parts

Chicken fried this way has a crisp coating.

Crisp Fried Chicken

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup buttermilk
½ teaspoon baking soda

Have chickens cut so drumsticks, 2nd joints, wings, breasts and backs are separate; then have each breast cut into 4 pieces and each back into 2 pieces.

Mix together the flour, salt and pepper. Stir making soda into buttermilk. Roll chicken, a piece at a time, in seasoned flour; dip into buttermilk; roll again in flour.

Fry in deep fat (350 degrees), without frying basket, until lightly browned—10 to 15 minutes—and cooked through. Makes 8 servings.

Baked Custard Calls for Slow Oven Setting

Baked custard should be smooth and free from bubbles. If a watery liquid appears when it is served, that indicates overbaking. For best results home economists with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association recommend placing the custard cups or bake pan in a pan of water to keep the temperature below the boiling point.

★ ★ ★

The oven temperature control should be set at 350 degrees. Individual cup custards may bake in 20 to 25 minutes. Custard baked in a large dish will require 35 to 45 minutes, depending on the amount.

No More Fish Bones Stuck in Your Throat

Lovers of seafood can enjoy their fare with even greater relaxation in the future as a result of a clever detection process which will be reported on at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists at Miami Beach recently.

An X-ray bone detection unit has been perfected which will disclose even tiny bones no greater than 0.012 inches in diameter as the fillets pass under its penetrating eye on production belts moving at speeds of up to 25 feet per minute.

Instead of picking a stray bone out of your teeth — as sometimes happens today—an X-ray machine will not pick that bone out of the fish by casting its shadow against a fluoroscopic screen such as used for diagnosis by doctors.

The sensitivity of the unit decreases with the thickness of the fish examined but the X-ray is effective in "diagnosing" even tiny bones in fish fillets one-half inch thick.

The process was perfected by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in cooperation with a research laboratory and marks one of the many new developments in the field of food science and technology.

Keeping Cereals

Whole grain cereals such as wheat germ, corn meal and whole wheat flour will keep best in the refrigerator during hot weather. Home economists suggest that they be stored in air-tight containers.

Quick Sweet, Sour Pork Starts With Frozen Juice

Here's sweet and sour pork easy and delicious. Saute loin or rib pork chops until golden on both sides. Season with salt and pepper.

★ ★ ★

Combine 1 can thawed frozen concentrate for Pineapple-Lemon punch with ¼ cup salad oil, 4 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Pour over chops; cover and simmer until tender, about 45 minutes.

Spanish Scrambled Eggs Cooked With Olive Oil

An impromptu summer lunch for two can be served in a few minutes when eggs are scrambled the Spanish way. Saute a few chopped scallions and ½ of a chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil until limp but not browned.

Add 3 eggs which have been mixed lightly with a fork. Season with salt and pepper and 2 or more tablespoons of tomato sauce. Stir lightly with a fork, lifting to the center as the eggs cook. Serve at once. Over-cooking spoils color, texture — and flavor!

Add Cottage Cheese

You can add extra nourishment to your favorite potato salad by adding 2 cups (16 ounce carton) creamed cottage cheese to each 3 cups of potato salad. This makes 6 to 8 servings.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Nut and Fruit Filling

Make up a package of seven-minute frosting mix and fold chopped nuts plus raisins, figs or dates into one-third of the frosting. Use the nut-and-fruit mixture between two cake layers; cover the cake with the remaining two-thirds frosting.

Trading Is Moderate

Stock Market Moves Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market nudged to the upside on balance in moderate trading early today.

★ ★ ★

Gains of most key stocks were narrow and there was a liberal assortment of losses. Many issues were unchanged.

The badly-battered "growth" issues which advanced yesterday in response to short covering were active and higher today for the same reason.

International Business Machines was up about 7, Polaroid more than 3 and Xerox more than 2.

"Short sales" are sales of borrowed stock with the hope by the seller that he can repay the stock by buying it in the future at a lower price.

The total of such short sales for the latest period is due to be announced after the market close and is expected to be large.

"Covering" of such short sale contracts frequently leads to advances in prices.

General Motors was active, erasing an early loss and moving fractionally higher. Other auto stocks were mixed.

★ ★ ★

Nonferrous metals were higher with gold mining issues steady. Fractional gains were made by Anaconda, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge.

Steels were narrowly mixed. U.S. Steel dropped a fraction. A published article noted big steel's declining profit margin. Bethlehem added a fraction.

Tobaccos and rubbers were on the upside. Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco were up about a point. Leading rubbers added fractions.

★ ★ ★

Prices moved higher on the American Stock Exchange. Among moderate gainers were Universal Controls, Simca, Heli-Coil, Aeronetics, General, Edo Corp. "A," and Louisiana Land.

Government Bonds Up

Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange opened mixed except for rails, which were mostly lower.

Over-the-counter dealers in treasury securities quoted long bonds up 2/32 or so and intermediates by 1/32 or 2/32. Trading was described as moderate.

★ ★ ★

There were a few price changes of more than a point among corporates outside the convertible section. They included TWA 6½s up 1 at 58 at one time, Illinois Central Railroad 3¾s of 1974 up 2⅞ at 85⅞ and General Cigar 5½s off 1 at 101.

Classified Ads Popular Method

Predicted a $1-Billion Business Soon; Section Liked by Both Sexes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An official of the American Newspaper Publishers Association foresees classified advertising, now an $800-million-a-year business, as a $1-billion annual business "in just a few years."

Charles P. Lipscomb Jr., president of the bureau of advertising of the ANPA, says classified advertising had increased 210 per cent in the last 20 years and was the fastest growing of all newspaper advertising.

"The most significant research fact that I have learned about in this business, is that women like advertising best of all sections of the newspaper and men like it better than everything else except for the sports news. Classified is one of the big reasons we can make that statement."

The association gave its Mc Govern Award to Herman H. Ridder, publisher of the Long Beach (Calif.) Independent Press & Telegram, as the publisher who did the most for classified advertising.

The five-day convention ends Thursday.

Early Grain Trade Slow and Indecisive

CHICAGO (AP) — Early grain futures transactions were slow and indecisive today and prices showed little trend on the Board of Trade.

Except for some fairly sharp setbacks in rye, all fluctuations held with small fractions of previous closes. Brokers said speculators apparently were on both sides of trade.

The scattered support for wheat was understood to have been related again to reports of stem rust in the maturing winter crop in sections of the Great Plains, particularly Nebraska. Firmness in soybean meal and soybean oil neutralized activity in the soybean pit.

Debate Loud on 3 Budgets

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Treasury can be in the red or the black depending on which set of books you believe, Sam Dawson, (AP) business news analyst, points out in this, second of four self-contained articles on the debate over the federal budget.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Uncle Sam has his fingers in so many things today that when he closes his books on this fiscal year June 30 it will be hard to say how much he is behind. One way of figuring will put him around $7 billion in the red, another at least $8.5 billion behind, and still a third will show him fairly close to breaking even.

DEBT UP $10 BILLION

And to add to the confusion the federal debt — which includes everything from your U.S. Savings Bonds to the Treasury's short-term IOUs at the banks—will be close to $300 billion, up almost $10 billion on the year.

There are three ways of fashioning a federal budget as variously used by Congress, the Budget Bureau, or the U.S. Treasury and some government and private economists. Each serves a different purpose in showing the government's impact on financial or economic affairs.

A big storm, however, is blowing up as to which of the three should be used—the official or administrative budget, the cash budget or the national income accounts budget. Often when one shows a deficit, another shows a surplus. This is handy in political debate. But also sheds light on what is happening to the economy.

★ ★ ★

"If the administrative budget were balanced, the federal government would be taking in about $4 billion more than it was spending."

He was contending that the official budget, more often than not in the red, gave far from an accurate account.

This, greatly simplified, is how the three budgets work:

The administrative budget, set up by Congress in 1921, is the one you hear about, the one the Congress debates.

It is proposed by a president in January and lists as expenditures sums for national defense, space research, foreign aid, agriculture, housing, commerce and transportation, health and welfare, education, veterans benefits, and interest — more than $9 billion a year in interest on the national debt.

The administrative budget also estimates receipts of individual income taxes, corporate income taxes, excise, estate and gift taxes, and customs revenue.

★ ★ ★

But the U.S. Treasury receives and pays out money for other purposes — Social Security, veterans insurance, unemployment benefits, highway and other trust funds. So it has a cash budget.

★ ★ ★

In the 1962 fiscal year now in its final days, the cash figures will be from $20 billion to $23 billion higher than those in the administrative budget.

This cash budget is used by many economists to trace the impact of government on the economy—is the Treasury pumping money into it or draining money out?

INCOME BUDGET

But of late many economists hold that even the cash budget gives less than an accurate picture. So this year, for the first time, President Kennedy offered Congress still a third summary of federal finances—the national income accounts.

This was devised by the Department of Commerce. It shows not what the Treasury has collected, but what has been put aside for tax payments. For example, what a corporation builds up to meet future tax bills—funds it can't spend in the business or commit for expansion.

★ ★ ★

Budget Director David E. Bell says that this fiscal year corporate tax accruals will run $3 billion higher than corporate tax receipts.

National income accounts also exclude government loans from the spending side of the ledger, holding these will be paid back and aren't like salaries — money paid out and gone forever.

Some would exclude still other expenditures from the regular, official budget—spending for education, research and development as well as loans and public works. This theory lumps these as capital items—that is, spending which will show some kind of a return some time.

These are the various types of budgets the President proposes as subjects for a serious dialogue — and the debate could be loud and long.

Thursday: Will Treasury deficits weaken our dollar or will they get the economy rolling?

Sleepy Broker Has Accidents With His Pistol

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The way Lloyd L. Ward told it to police, he was sleeping soundly when his wife turned off the late show on television.

★ ★ ★

Startled awake, Ward seized a pistol, cried, "What's that?" and stumbled over a table. The pistol fired, putting a hole in a bedroom wall.

WENT OFF AGAIN

Mrs. Ward grabbed the pistol, threw it into the carport and told her husband to leave it there until morning.

But Ward, a broker, said it was too valuable and picked up the pistol. While he was trying to remove the shells, the gun fired again, knocking a hole in the carport wall.

★ ★ ★

Police arrived and arrested Ward Tuesday, a judge agreed with the prosecutor that a charge of carrying a pistol should be dismissed.

State Refining Firm Granted Import Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Osceola Refining Co., Inc., of Reed City, Mich., may import an additional 292 barrels of crude oil daily effective July 1, the Oil Import Appeals Board announced yesterday.

The company currently holds a crude oil import allocation of 213 barrels daily.

It had asked an increase to 500 barrels daily on grounds of exceptional hardship and an error by the government in 1957 in not having issued the company an import allocation under the old voluntary control program.

Westerner's Idea Could Save Town

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Jack C. Toole, a tall, suntanned Montana rancher, businessman and politician who wears well-cut business suits and western boots, headed back to Montana today—after leaving the Ford Motor Co. with an idea for a new product.

The new product — a tractor attachement for spreading pelletized cattle feed in winter — is the result of the first "idea fair" held in Sunburst, Mont.

He attributes the invention to the fair, even though he later said he invented it himself.

Ford engineers, whom he visited yesterday, seemed interested, he said. The rancher, a member of the President's Advisory Commission on Aging, attended the 15th annual conference on aging at the University of Michigan.

The idea might not seem like much to a lot of people, he said, but it could mean a lot to Sunburst's population of "700 or 800." The spreader could be built in Sunburst and distributed by Ford, he said.

'WE CAN DO IT'

"It's made up of standard parts and requires no machining; we could do it," he added.

Sunburst, he explained, is depressed. A substantial amount of the town housing now stands vacant.

The Sunburst Development Co., which would manufacture the spreader and any other marketable products invented there, is willing to work as a nonprofit organization. It has one goal, he said — to provide jobs.

The idea behind the idea fair is the same, Toole added.

The former Montana legislator and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor outlined the idea fair at a conference on rural planning for job opportunities for older citizens, he said.

★ ★ ★

"We in Sunburst could use their talent; we'd be tickled to death to have it. It's a shame to waste it," he said.

A lack of skill and poor transportation facilities in and to Sunburst have thwarted attempts to attract industry to the town, he said.

Toole said he thought of the idea fair when he realized how many items he made himself or use in his ranching operation.

Several firms have expressed interest in some of the 60 ideas presented at the fair, he said, and a few since have been patented.

'No Early Hike in Steel Prices'

Metalworking Weekly Says JFK Clash Nixed Raise Before Sept.

NEW YORK (AP)—The effects of the clash with President Kennedy rule out serious thoughts of a steel price increase before September, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly said the earliest possibility would be in that month and could only be selective.

It made the comment after noting that the new steel labor contract will add an estimated $2 a ton to the cost of making steel when it becomes effective July 1.

★ ★ ★

The added cost will come, it added, at a time when steel orders are at a rate that would justify steel production equal to only 50 per cent of capacity.

The new labor contract may cause considerable disruption at the local level, the Iron Age said, because of what it termed complicated security provisions that are still being worked out.

The September increases might be possible, said the Iron Age, because inventory liquidations should be past and an upturn in steel orders and production may be under way.

★ ★ ★

The short-term outlook is poor, the magazine said. It predicted a production drop of 10 per cent in July and said a resurgence of buying by automakers for August is not likely to reach expected strength.

Great Lakes Cargo Ahead of Last Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—Iron ore, coal and grain shipments on the Great Lakes last month were 5,090,844 net tons ahead of shipments in May 1961, the Lake Carriers' Association reported today.

Grain cargoes totaled 2,293,149 net tons, against 2,340,247 a year ago, the dropoff being attributable to the later opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway because of the damaged snell lock. U.S. vessels carried 13 per cent of the cargoes; overseas vessels, 38 per cent; and Canadian ships the remainder.

Iron ore shipments of 10,180,087 net tons compared with 5,864,916 a year ago when ore shipping started later.

Net tons of coal loaded at Lake Erie and Lake Michigan were 5,678,289 last month, compared with 4,855,518 in May 1961.

Orders Miners Strike

BOCHUM, Germany (AP) — Union headquarters today ordered more than 400,000 coal miners in the Ruhr and Aachen districts to go on an indefinite strike June 27. Observers predicted a government-sponsored compromise would avert the walkout.

Expect Pickup in Drain Work

Steel Men Return to Job Today on 12-Town Project

Work on the 12-Town Storm Relief Drain in South Oakland County was expected to gain impetus today with the return of steel workers to the $40-million construction job.

★ ★ ★

Settlement of a 50-day strike of the re-enforced concrete steel workers Local 426 (AFL-CIO) against the associated general contractors was announced late yesterday.

Details of the agreement reached have not yet been made available.

While the strike halted major highway construction and other construction across the state since May 1, work proceeded around the affected sections of the 12-Town Drain.

★ ★ ★

The steel workers had been employed in the inserting of re-enforcing rods into the huge concrete drain pipes.

Earlier, the tunnel workers went on strike for 75 days for higher wages.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry said today the strikes probably would prolong work on the drain, originally scheduled for completion in late 1963. He didn't know how long an extension of time might be required.

More than 165 million tons of coal have been saved by the U.S. Bureau of Mines by controlling fires in inactive deposits. oxygen and nitrogen.

Executive Order Saves Time for JFK

(a18 ryyrexecutive orders ....1f20
EXECUTIVE —4-36 Sp&OL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's latest executive order—hot off the White House mimeograph—spells out a dozen easy-to-take steps for getting an executive order to the President's desk.

★ ★ ★

The White House produced the new order Tuesday, the last sent to Kennedy under a 14-year-old order, on orders.

★ ★ ★

The changes it makes "are relatively minor but are deemed necessary and desirable in the light of experience under the existing order," the White House said.

From now on, when a government agency wants the President to issue an executive order or a proclamation, the outfit's boss must supply a letter explaining and justifying the request.

This has been the practice, the White House said. The new order simply makes it formal.

LET GEORGE DO IT

The order also authorizes the director of the Bureau of the Budget, who is in charge of proclamations for the observance of special days and similar occasions, to tap someone else for the paperwork. He can assign the chore to whatever agency "he may consider appropriate."

★ ★ ★

Budget directors, the White House said, have been doing this for a long time.

★ ★ ★

—Spelling and punctuation. Under provisions of the order the style has to conform to the Government Printing Office manual.

—The title. A proposed order or proclamation has to have a suitable one.

★ ★ ★

—Geographic names. They must be spelled in line with the decisions of the Board on Geographic Names.

★ ★ ★

—The paper it's on. "Proposed executive orders and proclamations shall be typewritten on paper approximately 8 x 13 inches, shall have a left-hand margin of approximately 1½ inches and a right-hand margin of approximately 1 inch."

★ ★ ★

Once those details are out of the way, the order-proposer submits his document—plus seven copies—to the budget director, along with a letter explaining its "nature, purpose, background and effect."

If it gets a clean bill of health in the Budget Bureau, the proposal goes to the attorney general for a once-over on questions of form and legality. Under the new order, the attorney general doesn't have to do this personally.

★ ★ ★

With an okay from the attorney general, a routine order or proclamation goes to the director of the Office of the Federal Register, who checks the spelling and makes sure the document measures up to the style rules.

★ ★ ★

If it measures up, the proposal is sent to President Kennedy, the man who decides whether it will become an order of the government or a piece of waste paper.

Find Heart Disease Substance

CHICAGO (UPI)—Northwestern University researchers report discovery of a substance which may lead to solution of a cause of congential heart disease.

The substance, still unidentified, was found to cause development of deformed hearts in baby chicks, the researchers said in a report on the "antiheart serum" in the current issue of the Northwestern medical school's quarterly bulletin.

The report was prepared by Dr. Richard H. Licata, Northwestern anatomy lecturer and chairman of congenital heart disease research at Hektoen Institute of Cook County Hospital; Dr. Maurice Lev, Northwestern pathologist and director of Hektoen heart research; and Dr. Eric R. Brown, Hektoen immunologist.

The substance was isolated by making a powder of the hearts of newly-hatched chicks. The powder then was injected into rabbits, which reacted by producing the "antiheart serum" in their blood.

When injected into eggs containing 3-day-old chick embryos, all sorts of heart abnormalities—similar to those found in human babies—resulted.

PRIMARY TARGET

Studies with fluorescent antibodies that glowed in the dark showed that the muscle wall of the heart was probably the primary target of the serum.

The Northwestern team currently was seeking to find the same substance in the blood of pregnant women who previously have given birth to children with heart defects.

"Finding this serum has widespread significance," Licata said, "It may give us an idea of the mechanism by which birth defects are caused. It may be of diagnostic value. And it may eventually lead to preventive measures."

The researchers hoped that the discovery might open the prospect of analyzing the blood during pregnancy, to tell in advance if the child is apt to be born with a defective heart.

★ ★ ★

It will also create a research tool which will permit scientists to create abnormalities at will and under controlled conditions to learn more about why and how birth defects occur, Licata said.

Oklahoma Gets Reshuffle Order

Special U.S. Court Rules Apportionment Laws Null and Void

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A three-judge special federal court declared yesterday all Oklahoma's legislative apportionment laws null and void because of discrimination against urban residents. It gave the state until July 31 to start correcting the situation.

The court ruled in a suit brought by an Oklahoma City taxpayer and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor this spring. It heard arguments a week ago.

If Gov. J. Howard Edmondson has called the legislature into special session by July 31 for the specific purpose of reapportioning its membership the court said it will delay final action until Sept. 10.

This gives the legislature nearly three months to meet the court's requirements.

An opinion by Chief Justice A. P. Murrah of the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals said it is preferable that the legislature apportion itself according to the long-ignored state constitutional formula based principally on population.

CARRIES THREAT

It said possible remedies would be for the court to spell out a new apportionment formula or for elections at large of state senators and representatives until the legislature complies with the constitution.

Murrah said the opinion and interlocutory decree were concurred in by U.S. Dist. Judges Ross Rizley and Fred Daugherty.

The court's action was based on the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court March 26 which stated the federal courts have the right to intercede when state legislators refuse to properly apportion themselves.

Manufacturers of gasoline and oil, parts and accessories, and tires and tubes, whose products are sold wholly or partially through service stations, helped promote their merchandise with a combined $33.2 million investment in national newspaper advertising in 1960.

Jackie Kennedy's Double Not So Certain It Helps

By EARL WILSON

Pretty Patricia Breckir, actress-model and assistant director cahe into Toots Shor's the other night looking so much like Jackie Kennedy that Toots Shor suddenly stopped bawling out the columnists. Not only that, but Mrs. Toots Shor stopped bawling out Mr. Toots Shor.

WILSON

"Did anybody ever tell you . . ." I said to Miss Breckir, who was the date of that gay boulevardier, sports scribe Leonard Koppett.

"Everybody!" she said, not at all unflattered. Pat was in the Vassar '57 class (Jackie was there a little earlier, she speaks French fluently, rides, appeared often on "The Verdict Is Yours"—and used to be a blonde . . . and inspired people to say "Do you know you look like Joanne Woodward?"

Red Buttons confused her by saying, "Do you know you look like Paul Newman?" Pat just wishes somebody'd say "Do you know you look like Pat Breckir?"

★ ★ ★

Pat, whose father is a psychiatrist'and mother a psychologist, comes from White Plains, N.Y. Often when people insist she's Jackie Kennedy, she says, "Oh no—I'm her sister—the Princess."

What's she doing now? That's the point of this.

Collecting unemployment insurance.

(So you girls out there, trying to look like Jackie—maybe it wouldn't help you!)

★ ★ ★

You secretaries — and other chair-sitters: When you're typing, tuck your hips under you, and you'll avoid Secretary Spread. So say Miss Paige Palmer—the Cleveland physical fitness expert—who also told me I should inform all gals how to get into cabs gracefully. "Put your left foot in first, slide your derriere in on the seat next, then pull your other foot in. And do not back out of the cab so that they see your derriere emerging—before they see your pretty face!".

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mel Ferrer persuaded Eddie Fisher to make a fast get-the-money trip to S. America in mid-summer. Eddie's doing 3 weeks at $27,500-a-week at the Latin Casino, Camden, in September, and will star at the Miami Beach Eden Roc in February. . . . Beautiful Linda Wehle suddenly remembered she'd been married and pulled out as Pines Hotel's entrant in the Sullivan County "Miss Universe" finals. Arleen Gordon, Brooklyn's BB, was rushed in . . . The Legion of Decency gave J. Gleason's "Gigot" an A-1 rating. . . . MGM wants Roz Russell for the film version of "Iguana". . . . Carol Bruce hobbled into the Penguin — torn knee ligament—and the patrons called her "Chester" . . . Tony Curtis is trying to get a Soviet OK to autotour Russia while he's in Europe for the Berlin Film Festival.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Bernie Allen says he can't stand violence on TV. So he stopped watching telecasts of the N.Y. Mets' games.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Remember when double parking was illegal—instead of impossible?

A Michigan paper had this typographical terror: "For the thrill of performing at the White House, the 24-year-old vocalist broke off an engagement to sin in Paris." . . . That's earl, brother.

WANTS GROWN-UP ROLES — Blonde Cheryl Holdridge, who is 18 years old today, sits next to her Sherman Oaks, Calif., swimming pool in her first bikini. A few years ago, practically every child in the country knew Cheryl as one of the Mouseketeers of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on television. Now that she's 18, she wants to do "grown-up, sexy roles."

Mouseketeer Trades Her 'Ears' for Bikini

A few years ago, practically every kid in the country knew Cheryl, along with Annette, Doreen, Darlene, Cubby and the other Mouseteers of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse Club on television.

Had anyone known how Cheryl would develop, the show would have had more daddies watching than kids.

Few grow up as well as Cheryl. At 18, she looks better than Marilyn Monroe did at that age. No need for further comparisons.

The bikini, Cheryl's first, is a symbol.

"I no longer want to be known as a child actress," she said. "I want to do grown-up roles, sexy roles."

Cheryl, a professional actress for half her years, has not gone unnoticed since the Mouseketeers went off the air. She has worked steadily in movies and television.

Screen Gems has her under contract for a new television series while Warners is testing her for a young sexpot role opposite Henry Fonda in "Spencer's Mountain."

"I'm serious about a career, nothing else," she said.

What about boys?

"I'm too fickle about men. I can be in love with four at the same time. I don't think they'll be any problem.

She has one favorite —Elvis Presley.

"But I've never met him," she moaned.

Truck Flips on Car; Woman, 72, Unhurt

BAY CITY (AP)—A Florida woman escaped unhurt yesterday when an oil tank truck, turning sharply to avoid collision with her car, rolled over on top of it. The truck driver suffered only minor injuries.

State police said the car, driven by Mrs. Ola B. Jones, 72, of Lakeland, Fla., went through a red light and the truck, driven by Richard Duke, 44, of Akron, Ohio, turned in the same direction in an attempt to avoid a broadside collision.

Few Mourn Passing of '61-62 TV Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The 1961-62 television season has, for the most part, come to a quiet end. As the re-runs crowd the home screens, there will be few mourners at its passing.

★ ★ ★

For a second year in a row, it has been a period rarely sparked by creativity—a period dominated by formula writing and production-line entertainment containing very little that was fresh or novel.

NEWS TOPS

The high points of the season, curiously enough, were the news shows — the cameras on the launching of manned rockets into space, a tour of the White House, an investigation of the operation of a book-making establishment.

★ ★ ★

It was a time when the industry —really nervous about strong criticism by Congressional subcommittees, the Federal Communications Commission and articulate critics — seriously attempted to curb scenes of violence.

FEW GOOD DRAMAS

It was a time when there were few original dramas, and most of those were second-rate and seemed to have been scripts found at the back of an authors desk drawer. The most interesting dramas were adaptations of Broadway successes or novels.

★ ★ ★

The networks did a lot of bragging about their news and public affairs shows but continued to schedule most of them on the outside fringes of valuable prime evening time.

LIKED DOCTORS

The public, in survey after survey, showed marked preference for pure entertainment—the Westerns, the doctors, the comedians.

It has been, in short, period with many more downs than ups.

"Noah and the Flood," CBS' expensive excursion into culture last week, may have improved the corporate images of the network and the shampoo company that sponsored it, but it apparently didn't impress the public much.

★ ★ ★

A sampling of the New York area by one research outfit indicated that every other competing network show had a larger audience than the dance-drama—and NBC's "Dr. Kildare", and "Hazel" had twice as many viewers.

Souvanna of Laos Asks Stronger Red China Ties

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier-designate of the coalition Laos government, has called for strengthening of ties with Red China, the New China News Agency reported.

★ ★ ★

In a broadcast monitored here the agency said Souvanna messaged Premier Chou En-lai his thanks for Red Chinese support "provided us at the Geneva conference and in Laos itself in our struggle for peace, neutrality, national independence."

Roadblocks Thrown Up to Stop Car Thievery

POZNAN, Poland (AP)—Police roadblocks have been thrown up around this central Polish city to stop car thievery at the Poznan International Trade Fair. Fifteen cars have been stolen since the opening of the fair 10 days ago brought an invasion of automobiles from throughout Europe.

The victims include the director of the fair, Adam Askanas.
