Negro Students in Central High for Third Time

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.,—Negro children—escorted by only two GI's who didn't even bother to take their rifles along—walked into Little Rock's Central High School today for their third straight day of integrated classes.

Nor did the federal troops—agents of what Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus lambasted last night as the Eisenhower administration's "police state" tactics—encounter any troublemakers in the vicinity of the newly integrated school.

The white pupils themselves behaved as though history was happening to somebody else. They romped on their way to school much as they used to do before the U.S. Government decided that federal court orders to desegregate Central High could only be carried out by the U. S. Army.

However, four white girls, their schoolbooks under their arms, did walk out of the school half an hour after the Negroes went in. Although refusing to talk with reporters, they left no doubt that their walkout was caused by integration.

Gov. Faubus told Arkansans last night they have no choice concerning integration in the face of what he called "unsheathed bayonets" and "police state methods" in the Little Rock racial struggle. He urged them to be calm.

But immediately after the talk, a former Arkansas governor, Sid McMath, and an NAACP field secretary, Clarence A. Laws, declared Faubus' words were not consiliatory, but instead were inflammatory.

In the sometimes bitter speech, Faubus attacked use of federal force to integrate Central High School, then advised his listeners:

"Let us go about our normal purusits in a friendly, peaceful manner, obeying all laws and orders, including those of Gen. Walker and his troops."

This referred to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, placed in command of paratroop units flown to Little Rock Tuesday to enforce

President Dives in Atomic Sub

Ike Takes First Ride in Seawolf; 'Memorable Experience,' He Says

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower took an underseas cruise aboard the atomic submarine Seawolf yesterday and called it a memorable experience.

He told the crew: "I suppose you know this is the first time I have been aboard an atomic reactor submarine. Everything was of interest to me, including the gadgets and all the machines.

"But more interesting to me was to see the United States Navy at work. I am proud of every man aboard ship."

In the last few months or so, old soldier Eisenhower has begun taking a special shine to the Navy. Capt. E. P. Aurand, appointed the President's naval aide last year, is considered the fellow responsible.

Last March, for example, when the President was trying to shake a persistent cough, he went to the Bermuda conference aboard the guided missile cruiser Canberra. Along the way the Navy put on a spectacular demonstration of atomic age sea power.

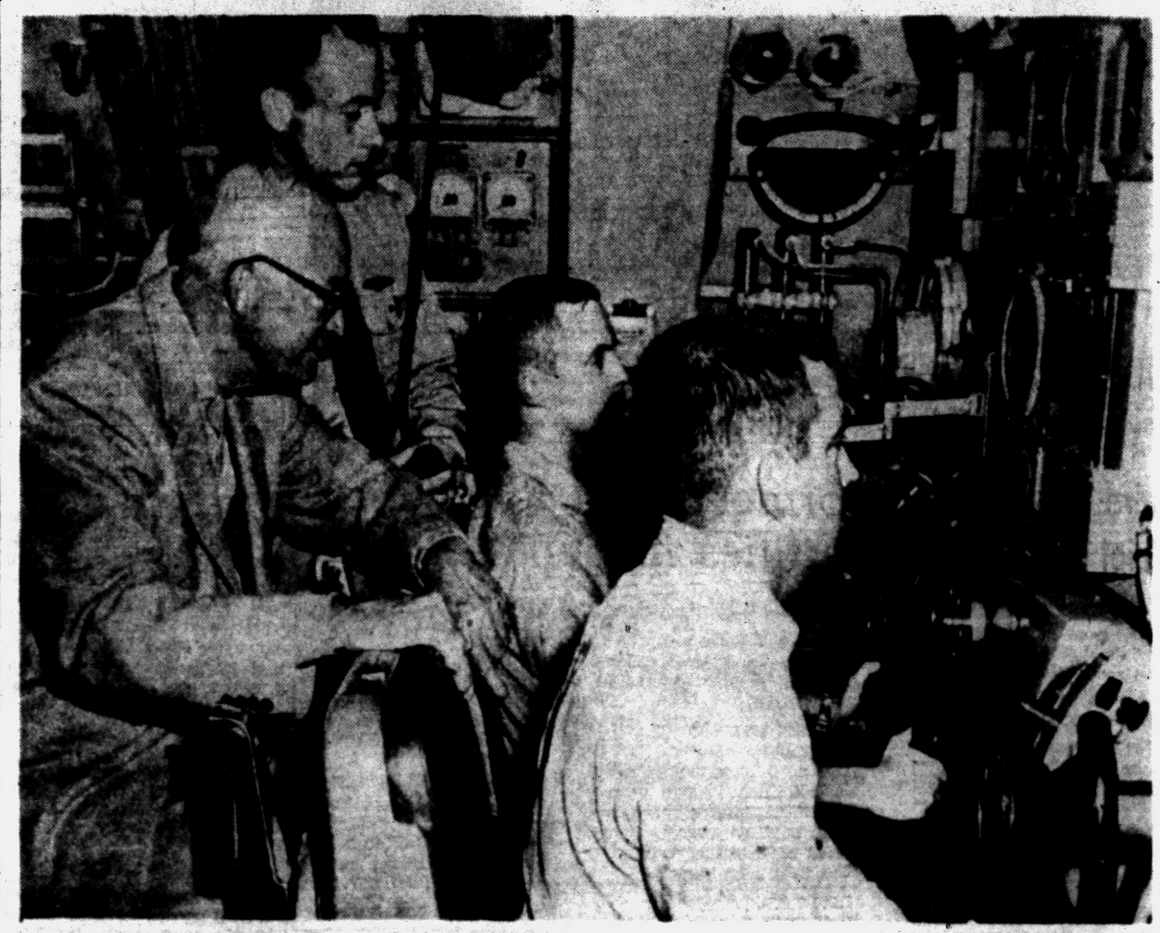

Then in June Eisenhower

MIAMI BEACH—Chrysler Corp. unveiled for newsmen here Thursday afternoon the 1958 cars with which its divisions expect to better the sales and production records of the current year.

Predicting substantial gains for the next year, L. L. Colbert, Chrysler president, said the corporation had produced 1,213,000 cars in its United States plants at the end of the '57 model run early this month.

1—Further development of the fin-and-dart styling of the '57 cars;

2—An 11-square foot windshield that extends into the roof as well as around the sides for additional visibility;

3—Extensive use of stainless steel and aluminum in grilles of all five lines;

NEW COLORS, TONES

Color-wise Chrysler stylists have probed the spectrum for a range of 87 solid hues and 371 two-tone color combinations.

The new cars will go on public display late in October, from the 23rd through the 28th. No price indication is as yet available.

In evaluating prospects for the coming year Colbert said, "On the basis of indications we have right now it looks as if retail sales of new cars in the United States during 1958 may rise above the 6 million mark for the third time in the history of the industry."

He indicated belief that the car market may range between six and seven million a year for the next

Former 614 Official Tells of Threats on His Life

Robert P. Scott Reports Brother of Jimmy Hoffa Tried to Enter Rackets

Oakland County held the spotlight at the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee today as a prominent Pontiac Democrat and former Teamsters official was revealed as a "secret witness."

Robert P. Scott, 51, of 31 Bloomfield Terrace told how a powerful Teamster official tried to "muscle into Oakland County rackets" and how Scott's life subsequently was threatened.

The official named by Scott was William Hoffa, brother of Teamsters' boss James R. Hoffa, and a business agent of Pontiac Local 614.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, who had refused to reveal Scott's name before he was called to the stand, said the Pontiac man's testimony was considered "of major importance" in the investigation of the financial affairs of James Hoffa, front runner for election as national president of the Teamsters next week.

Scott Describes Rigged Election

Former 614 Aide Says Two Anonymous Calls Warned on Talking

A former official of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 testified in Washington today that the election at which he won office was "rigged" by union officials.

Robert P. Scott, of 31 Bloomfield Terrace, believed his wife was "hounded to death" by union officials making telephone calls threatening his life.

Now a member of the Michigan State Board of Barber Examiners, Scott told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee he had received two anonymous telephone calls last week warning him not to testify.

But Scott said he decided to testify anyway, because he had been subpoenaed and because he considered James R. Hoffa, Michigan Teamster boss and trustee of the Pontiac local, "not a good influence for the labor movement."

Hoffa, chief target in the Senate investigation, is favored as winner in the Teamsters national presidency election next week.

The labor leader's name also was mentioned by a Royal Oak plant manager, who testified he contracted with a friend of Hoffa's because he was "alleged to be boss of the waterfront."

Scott linked Hoffa's name to a 1949 election at which officials declared all members of Pontiac Local 614 were ineligible for office, he said, except themselves and Scott.

The top officials at that time were Daniel J. Keating, president, and Louis C. Linteau, secretary-treasurer. Scott was elected vice-president, but quit the union not long afterwards for reasons which he did not state.

Keating, originally appointed to the post by Hoffa, and Linteau were later convicted and imprisoned for their part in a $100,000 shakedown of Detroit area contractors. Upon their 1954 conviction, Hoffa took over the local's reins.

ROBERT P. SCOTT

Scott, former vice president of the Pontiac Teamsters local and a long-time secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor, tossed a bombshell into the committee hearings.

He said the threat of death came after he refused to come to William Hoffa's aid. Without going into detail, Scott said he was "told by fellow in Detroit that Billy Hoffa wanted to hire him to bump me off because I interfered with him getting into the rackets."

Scott said he had been asked by another Teamster leader "to put the fix in with the Oakland County prosecutor so some of the boys could run a gambling joint."

The official that made this request, Scott testified, was Owen (Bert) Brennan, a Hoffa associate and president of Teamster Local 337 in Detroit.

When he refused, Scott told the committee, Brennan threatened that he "had better have his life insurance paid up."

Of Hoffa, who reportedly was instrumental in getting Scott elected to the MF of L post, Scott said he was threatened

Boy Returns Unharmed

Man Admits Lee Crary Abduction

EVERETT, Wash. (INS) — Snohomish County authorities said today an Everett man has admitted abducting 8-year-old Lee Crary of Edmonds and writing the boy's parents a $10,000 ransom note.

Undersheriff Ray Ryan said George Edward Collins Jr., 20, an unemployed airplane riveter, made an oral admission after being questioned by sheriffs deputies and FBI agents.

Ryan said Collins also implicated his wife, Katherine, 21, in the abduction. The woman was picked up by deputies and ordered held without charge.

Collins was arrested last night at the home of his father in Everett. The suspect, father of a six-month-old child, also was held in Snohomish County Jail without charge.

John F. Desmond, FBI agent in charge at Seattle, said any prosecution would originate with state authorities.

The abducted boy, who had been missing since Monday afternoon, was found shortly before noon yesterday walking along a road near Lake Stevens, 12 miles northeast of Everett. He gave officers a description of a man who, he said, had tied him and placed him in an automobile trunk.

KEPT IN GARAGE

Collins told authorities he kept the boy in a car in a garage, Ryan said. The two apparently slept in the car during the nights.

Collins told law officers the abduction was an impulsive act. He said he got the idea when he saw Lee on his bicycle Monday afternoon.

Collins said he was formerly employed at a school in the neighborhood of the Crary home at Edmonds. He said he was out of work Monday and had returned to the neighborhood to find a job.

The boy told officers he was not harmed or threatened by his abductor.

He said he was left tied in a wooded area near Lake Stevens Thursday and managed to work free of his bonds. He ran to a road, where he was found.

The note demanding $10,000 was addressed to the boy's aunt in Alderwood Manor. It was crudely printed in pencil and received at the Lynnwood post office Wednesday.

The boy's father, Ed Crary, an auto parts salesman of modest means, expressed relief on learning last night that Collins had been arrested.

TIRED, BUT JOYFUL — Tension and relief were mirrored in the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crary as they were reunited with their eight-year-old son, Lee, who had been missing since Monday. Found unharmed, the boy said he was held by a man part of the time since he disappeared in Seattle, Washington. AP Wirephoto

Snarls at Orchard Lake-Telegraph!

Police Could Aid Traffic

With the Orchard Lake-Telegraph Road intersection still incomplete, traffic snarls are getting out of hand. At peak rush hours in the morning and afternoon motorists are backed up for a half mile or better.

The regular traffic signal light is not sufficient to handle the heavy load of cars at peak hours.

Help is needed from one of the three law enforcement bodies responsible for traffic in this area. One or two officers directing the heavy flow of automobiles would help eliminate this overly congested area.

Ex-Teamster Official Scott Tells of Threats

when he tried to quit the job four years ago.

In spite of Hoffa's threat "to break both my arms and legs" the Pontiac man said he quit anyway, "because I didn't like the way Hoffa and others were changing the constitution."

Scott, a barber until he suffered a stroke several years ago, is a member of the Michigan State Board of Barber Examiners.

He has been a Pontiac delegate to state Democratic conventions for a number of years, including this year, and is known as one of the party's more active members in Pontiac.

A native of Grand Rapids, he came to Pontiac in 1914 and in 1946 was an unsuccessful candidate for city commissioner.

He has been a business agent and legislative representative for the State Journeymen Barbers association, a member of the Pontiac Barbers association and at one time was active in the East Side Civic association.

Scott went on to testify that he once spied on a Michigan grand jury for Hoffa.

He said that he was fed information about proceedings of a Detroit grand jury in 1948 and 1949 which subsequently handed down an indictment against Hoffa.

Scott was not immediately asked by the committee to elaborate further on the alleged efforts of Teamsters leaders to get into Oakland County rackets.

The witness, however, did say that William Hoffa was interested in getting into Michigan's numbers rackets.

This testimony followed Scott's early revelation that he believed his first wife, the former Lillian Schimke, was "hounded to death by Teamsters officials."

Scott has remarried, and his present wife, Mrs. Madelyn Scott, also is active in the Democratic party.

Scott had also testified that union officials at Pontiac Local 614 had "rigged" the election in which he won the post of vice president.

Following his testimony, Scott remained under subpoena by the committee for possible appearance at another hearing. He has been granted the full protection of the committee against possible violence against his person.

Scott was kept under subpoena after he completed his testimony, a device which Chairman McClellan said would bring the FBI into action if anyone seeks reprisal against Scott or members of his family.

When Scott said he had received phone calls advising him not to testify, McClellan said, "I assume you are not very scared."

"I'm not scared very much personally," Scott replied, "but I have a little daughter I'm worried about . . ."

McClellan: "Do you think they're capable of doing harm to you or your family?"

Scott: "If you have seen the business agents of the Teamsters Union you know how big and how strong they are."

Asked from whom the calls had come, Scott said he did not know at the time, "but I believe they were from Teamsters local officials."

Scott said he received two anonymous telephone calls on Monday or Tuesday night last week.

"I was told not to appear here and testify in front of this labor committee," he said. He did not specifically term the calls threatening.

Scott also testified he was asked by James Hoffa to intercede for persons convicted of criminal offenses and that he "hid out" William Hoffa in a hotel while the latter was a fugitive from justice.

He said the bills for William Hoffa's hotel room, shared by Mrs. William Hoffa, were paid from union funds.

Was Mrs. Hoffa with him, Kennedy asked.

"Part of the time," Scott said. "Then she ran away from him.

He said a man he named as Tom Burke went to the west and brought back Mrs. William Hoffa. Scott said expenses of the trip by Burke amounted to $7,000 and were paid with Local 614 funds.

Kennedy read into the record charges that had been placed against William Hoffa since 1938. They included assault and battery, felonious assault, probation violation, carrying a concealed weapon for which he was sentenced in 1942 to from one to five years in jail, a violation of a parole and armed robbery in 1948.

Kennedy said William Hoffa was acquitted on the armed robbery charge and that it was in connection with that case that he was hidden out.

"Did his brother James arrange for you to hide him out when he was a fugitive from justice," McClellan asked. Scott replied yes.

He said that during the time William Hoffa was hiding out he received $75 a week from the local —"he was doing nothing, but that's what he got."

In reply to questions about requests from James Hoffa to use influence on behalf of convicted criminals, Scott said:

"One fellow was in jail for life and he asked me to intercede with the governor for a pardon. I told him I wouldn't do that because I wouldn't be any good as a lobbyist . . ."

He testified that "Jimmy contacted me" regarding the father-in-law of Pete Licavoli, who was not further identified. Scott said the father-in-law, Frank Campanaro, had been placed on parole in Michigan with a condition of the parole being that he leave the United States.

"Did James Hoffa speak to you regarding promotion of some police officers?" Kennedy asked.

"He did," Scott said, "and wanted two state police officers promoted." The subject was not pursued.

Scott told of many rows with Hoffa and Bert Brennan as a consequence of which he said he left the Teamsters union.

He said they illegally changed the union constitution at one time to abolish one of his jobs and that a vice president named John Fitzgerald, who since has died, resigned in protest but "took it back because he got $1,400 he was not entitled to" from union funds.

Scott told the committee he hopes Congress will pass a law enabling labor union members to appeal to the courts for redress of grievances.

"In Local 614 the rank and file knows what's going on," he said. "They can't get redress from Mr. Hoffa . . . Jimmy can do anything he wants to, contrary to the constitution, and who are you going to appeal to?"

He said once, at orders of Daniel Keating, president of Local 614, he induced an employer to fire a union man for objecting to Keating's methods in the union. Neither the employer nor the union member was named.

Scott said this also was done on other occasions, and added that one result was that "if you went to an employer to enforce a contract, he would tell you 'I did you a favor, forget about the contract'."

But he said the employers are more to blame than business agents.

"I never was accustomed to earning more than $100 a week," Scott said. "When the employer starts flaunting nice vacations and nice clothes — not too many of them won't take it."

Civic Officials Urge Use of Parking Lot No. 2

BIRMINGHAM — Chamber of Commerce officials today joined police in urging greater use of parking lot number two at Ferndale and Park street. Approaches to the lot are nearing completion.

This particular lot will have 129 twelve-hour meters. C. of C. officials asked their business members to urge employes to patronize these meters, along with the 174 in lot number 1, on Pierce St.

They point out that this will greatly relieve street congestion and leave other spaces available to short-time parkers who are in the city making purchases.

The Chamber also is recommending to the city that lot number four on Brownell Street be provided with 12-hour meters, to care for persons working in that vicinity.

Pythian Sisters of Birmingham will hold their regular meeting at 8 p.m. Oct. 1 in the Community House.

He is survived by two daughters, Patricia Ann and Lanie Lee, of Torrance, Calif.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vint of Birmingham, with whom he made his home; two sisters, Mrs. John A. Gaydos of Huntington Woods and Mrs. Fred Gosline of Oxford.

Miracle Mile Stores Open

Of four stores contacted, all said business yesterday ran from 20 to 50 per cent over expectations, despite several handicaps, particularly the construction at Telegraph and Orchard Lake which slowed traffic to a walk.

Ralph Eastridge, manager of J. C. Penney, said business was "wonderful," with the store crowded most the day and all evening. "Our help was working at full speed all the time," he added.

William MacDonald, of W. T. Grant, echoed his remarks saying business ran 50 per cent over estimated volume.

George Gust, Kinsel Drug manager, said that sales were 20 per cent over anticipated volume, while Richard O. Williams, of Kresges, said it ran 25 per cent over for his store.

Several of the managers complained, however, about it taking customers 20 minutes to get through the Telegraph road construction area. All noted, too, that a traffic light promised by the State Highway Dept. was not up on Telegraph where southbound cars turn into the shopping center.

All the managers agreed that as other stores open next month, shopper traffic should run even heavier than is expected during the next few weeks.

Third 'Mixed' Day Quiet in Little Rock

federal court integration orders at the 2,000-student school.

An army spokesman said Walker would have no comment.

TONE SORROWFUL

The governor's tone was sorrowful as he reviewed the events of the past four weeks and advised citizens to remain calm.

But his voice occasionally rang with emotion as he attacked persons he blamed for the presence of federal troops in Little Rock.

Faubus in his speech declared: "We are now an occupied territory. Evidence of the naked force of the federal government is here apparent in these unsheathed bayonets in the back of schoolgirls . . . in the bloody face of this railroad worker who was bayoneted and then felled by the butt of a rifle."

Faubus singled out three persons he said were opponents in the integration battle.

The governor said editor Harry Ashmore of the Arkansas Gazette used the Little Rock newspaper to forward integration.

He said Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann has been repudiated by voters and the City Council.

The governor added: "They bear a heavy responsibility for the unhappy events of the past few days."

The governor admitted Little Rock now is quiet, but sought to draw a parallel between the calm here and that in Paris during the occupation by the Germans and in Budapest today.

In his speech, Faubus again attacked U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies, who issued the injunction which enjoined Faubus from using National Guard troops to interfere with integration. He was assigned here for six months to fill a vacancy.

IKE DIDN'T LISTEN

At President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Newport, R. I., White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said today in reply to questions that Eisenhower did not listen to the broadcast of Faubus' speech. Asked about the President's reaction to accounts of the speech received otherwise, Hagerty said:

"Oh, I would think he had no reaction to it. The speech by the governor spoke for itself."

Scott gave this account of previous events to the select Senate committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark):

Scott had been with the CIO in the early 1940's and led a successful drive to stop the teamsters from organizing Pontiac grocery stores. It was during this period that his wife, an arthritis victim, received the telephone calls while he was away from home.

He said the calls were constantly telling her "that I was bumped off, or laying in a gutter someplace." He said she fell down many times on the way to the phone and testified that her doctor was convinced that the falls hastened her death in 1946.

He said he did not know who made the telephone calls, but after joining the Teamsters had picked up information that the calls were made by officials of Local 614.

Scott said he joined the local in 1945 after Hoffa had promised to make him a business agent. Hoffa was also instrumental in getting him elected to a post with the Michigan Federation of Labor, Scott said.

Scott's testimony came minutes before Federal Judge J. Dickinson Letts refused to set aside a suit to stop the Teamsters Union election in Miami next week.

Letts denied a motion to quash the suit after Teamsters attorneys contended that the international union had not been given proper advance notice of the action.

The suit was filed by 13 rank and file teamsters from New York who claim that the forthcoming election has been "rigged" in favor of Hoffa to succeed retiring president Dave Beck.

Part of the rank and file evidence comes from Pontiac. About 50 members of Local 614 have signed affidavits saying they were never allowed to vote for the local's four delegates to the convention.

In continuing his testimony about the 1949 election, Scott said that by-laws required potential officers to have paid their dues in advance but that he knew that no one in the Pontiac local had done so.

"I don't know of anyone who did," he testified, "but the girl in the office recorded that we had."

Scott also testified that he had been ordered by Hoffa to contact delegates to the State Democratic convention to help elect Hoffa's attorney, George Fitzgerald, as Michigan national committeeman in 1948.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) called this a "complete violation of federal law."

Last week, Scott said, he got two telephone calls on either Monday or Tuesday, warning him "not to appear here and testify in front of the labor committee."

When Scott revealed the threat against his life, Chairman McClellan immediately offered him the full protection of the committee and warned that anyone attempting to stop a witness from testifying was in contempt of Congress.

The Royal Oak man, Robert McKercher, testified that he contracted with Zigmont (Ziggy) Snyder, business agent of Detroit Teamsters Local 299, of which Hoffa is president, because Snyder was "alleged to be the boss of the waterfront."

McKercher is plant manager of the International Milling Co. in Detroit. He said he entered into a contract with Snyder in January, 1954, for unloading grain. McKercher said that under the contract, Snyder received $20,000 to $25,000 a year, depending on the amount of grain unloaded.

Snyder has been listed by the committee as a missing witness, but McKercher said he has seen Snyder two days ago. McKercher asked for and received authority from the committee to subpoena Snyder if he sees him again.

McKercher guessed that Snyder was not a dues-paying member of the Teamsters Union, and Sen. McClellan said that this point should be brought out to show that the union frequently works at cross-purpose to the "interests of the working people."

Sen. McClellan granted the request of Hoffa and other officials of the Detroit local, that they be excused from further testimony until counts of wiretapping and perjury against Hoffa are disposed of in New York courts.

He refused to put off questioning of Owen (Bert) Brennen, president of Detroit Teamsters Local 377 and a close associate of Hoffa.

several years and that by 1960, because of population growth, a seven-million-car year may be considered just average.

A factor in the '58 picture are the 19 million cars sold in 1955 through 1957, resulting in a substantial backlog of 1 to 3 year old cars now available for turnins on new models.

Of the 7.4 million cars sold in 1955, 57 per cent were sold on installment terms of from 30 to 36 months, Colbert said, resulting in a large number of people now in a position to purchase new cars on credit plans.

Eisenhower Rides in Atomic Sub spent 24 hours aboard the super aircraft carrier Saratoga off the Florida coast. Again, the Navy put on a thrilling exhibition.

Then yesterday the mighty atomic submarine Seawolf showed up at anchor just a mile offshore from Eisenhower's vacation headquarters. On the way back from the golf course shortly after noon the cabin cruiser he uses to cross the bay pulled alongside the Seawolf and the President went aboard.

He had lunch of steak and mushrooms with the enlisted men, tried out the periscope, took a close look at the sub's atomic power plant—all in all had a wonderful time, and he said so.

The Seawolf dove to a depth of 60 feet and stayed there for 15 minutes about seven miles southwest of the bay in Atlantic waters off Brenton Point.

Eisenhower is the first president to ride an atomic sub, but is not the first president to dive in an underseas craft. The first was Theodore Roosevelt in 1909. President Truman also cruised underseas.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does winter have days with less sunlight than the other seasons? Is this why it is the coldest of our seasons?

other season. Fall, which ends Dec. 21 this year, averages the same amount of sunlight, per day, as does winter.

The shortest day of the year, Dec. 21, is the winter solstice and from then until the summer solstice in June the days are getting longer. So the days actually begin to get longer as soon as winter begins.

Winter is the coldest of the seasons because the earth loses most of its summer heat by January and February, the coldest months. But January and February contain more daylight than November and December.

Extend U. S. 23 to Turnpike

Michigan, Ohio Set Route

LANSING (AP) — A breakthrough in plans for development of U.S.23, possibly destined to become the main thoroughfare from Ohio to the Mackinac Straits, has been announced by the State Highway Department.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said a long stalemate between the Michigan and Ohio highway departments over relocating the present U.S.23 has been resolved with agreement on a line for the relocated segment.

Plans now call for extension of the highway as a four lane, divided route almost directly south from Dundee to the Ohio border just east of Sylvania.

Ohio has agreed to provide a connection with the Ohio Turnpike a few miles to the south.

Because of expectations for a large increase in traffic volume, especially considering improvements now under way to the north, the new segment will have a median strip from 46 to 70 feet wide to allow for widening should traffic warrant.

The first step toward actual construction will come with letting of a contract next week for a bridge across the Detroit-Toledo and Ironton Railroad three miles south of Dundee.

Several other grade separations, interchanges and bridges will have to be constructed.

Mackie said the Dundee-Sylvania expressway will be part of an over-all improvement of U.S.23 from the Ohio line north to Standish in Arenac County.

From Flint north to Kawkawlin in Bay County, it will become part of the new Detroit to the Soo section of the interstate system of highways.

From Fenton to Bay City, construction is in various stages, with the 34-mile Fenton-Clio segment scheduled for completion later this year.

U.S.23 already has been rebuilt from Dundee north to Milan and from Ann Arbor to Whitmore Lake Village, in some places with dual roadways and elsewhere with sufficient right of way for addition of a second roadway in the future.

The Highway Department said studies are being made looking toward relocation of U.S.23 near the Ohio line to hook in with the new U.S.23 just south of M151.

Legal Suit Nearly Stops Financing Straits Bridge

LANSING (AP) — It was Dec. 16 in the 70th year of the Mackinac Bridge dream, with the intricate machinery of financing ready to start turning the next day, when a monkey wrench suddenly was thrown into the works.

The wrench was in the form of a state Supreme Court suit challenging the right of the State Administrative Board to approve bond sale terms on Dec. 17, 1953.

The board was to meet immediately after bids were opened in Gov. Williams' office the morning of the 17th and the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority voted formal acceptance of the winning offer.

Without the board's official approval, immediate sale would be blocked. The deadline for taking advantage of a legislative move to encourage prospective bond purchasers was two weeks off.

Authority Chairman Prentiss M. Brown in Lansing Dec. 16 quickly learned of the suit filed by State Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson).

Brown hastily arranged an informal interview with several Supreme Court justices. Accompanied by Authority attorneys, he argued for delay.

It was more than a month later that the Supreme Court handed down a decision rejecting Nichols' position. Meantime, sale of the bonds was completed, subject only to formalities set for Feb. 17, 1954 in New York.

On that date, the bonds were delivered and, in the directors' room of the Bankers Trust Co., Joseph King, president of the Union Securities Corp., handed Brown a check for $96,400,033.33.

The amount was in payment for purchase of $79,800,000 in 4 per cent bonds, and 20 million dollars more in 5¼ per cent bonds, less discount and accrued interest.

BONDS CALLABLE

The bonds were callable, that is may be retired before maturity if bridge income warrants, thus effecting a savings on interest. They were retirable out of bridge revenue only, and legally could not become a charge against the state.

If the bonds run their full 40-year term, bondholders would receive a total of $212,449,837 in principal repayment and interest, fixing the ultimate overall cost of the bridge at that amount.

Brown expects a quicker pay out.

Whereas financing originally was predicted on an average toll of $3.08, the actual toll at the start will be slightly higher, since the ferry fee has risen since first calculations were made.

From the start, some skeptics have expressed misgivings about traffic estimates worked up by Cloverdale and Colpitts, New York financial consultants, to determine whether the project would pay out.

The estimate for 1958, in the first full year of operation, calls for passage of 1,927,000 cars and trucks over the bridge. By 1993, the New Yorkers figured, traffic would hit 5,423,000 vehicles.

The predicted increase struck some legislators as incredible, even though tight-fisted investors finally accepted them by implication.

The New York experts looked largely to what they called "induced" traffic to build up the count, plus an annual increase increment based on population, rising vehicle numbers and travel increase factors.

Induced traffic is that attracted by the bridge spectacle and by changed patterns of truck and car movement caused by presence of the bridge, greater convenience and like considerations.

Twice, in the 1930s, the federal government turned down bids to finance the bridge, and in the early 1950s the Legislature turned down a proposal to pay for it out of a half penny increase in the state gasoline tax.

In recent weeks, there has been talk that the federal government might absorb a large share in the cost through designation of the bridge as a segment of the interstate system of highways qualifying the state for reimbursement to the tune of actual construction expenditures.

To Air Water Problems

CADILLAC (AP) — City Commission has called a genera, meeting Oct. 16 to discuss problems surrounding proposed renovation of the Cadillac water system. A study program was started two weeks ago when the Commission repealed a $1,200,000 revenue bond ordinance after 1,500 taxpayers signed petitions asking a referendum on the water bond ordinance. Voters last fall rejected a proposed $1,800,000 general and revenue bond issue to finance improvements.

Brucker Halts Training Order

Cancels Plan to Alert Crack Army Units for Emergency Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Brucker has hastily canceled an order for Army forces in the South to step up training for riot duty. He said he realized the order "might be subject to misinterpretation."

Meanwhile, officials sought to discount an initial announcement which had described the order as alerting crack units throughout the South for emergency duty. The text of the order was not made public.

The order was issued Wednesday, the day after battle-equipped paratroopers moved into Little Rock, Ark., to enforce federal court orders requiring racial integration in that city's Central High School.

Brucker said he learned about the order "after its issuance in routine fashion" and that he had ordered it revoked immediately. He called it a "precautionary training directive" and said it was "suggested by the recent emergency employment of units of the 101st Airborne Division" in Little Rock.

The paratroopers were sent to Little Rock after President Eisenhower directed the use of regular troops and the federalization of the Arkansas National Guard to prevent any more mob violence from interfering with the carrying out of the court orders on school integration.

Brucker said the new order directed "an increased emphasis on training for riot duty . . . and for organization and training for air and motor movement."

Existence of the order first was disclosed to newsmen during an informal conversation with a high-ranking Army officer at the Pentagon. Reporters were unable to find out who issued it.

At Newport, R.I., where Eisenhower is vacationing, press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President wasn't aware of the new order and had nothing to do with its issuance.

Lack of Manpower Big Medical Problem

Lack of manpower in medicine, especially in teaching, research and patient care, is the most important problem facing American medicine today, according to the dean of the University of Michigan medical school.

Dr. Albert C. Furstenberg spoke Thursday to members of the Eastern Michigan American Association of Hospital Accountants who are holding their annual meeting at the nurse's home of St. Joheph Mercy Hospital.

Representatives from more than 75 hospitals in Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Ann Arbor and Pontiac are attending the meeting.

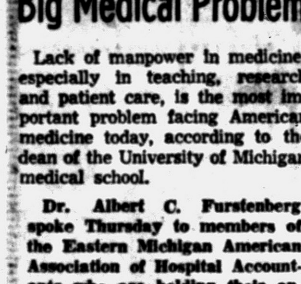

Furstenberg stressed the need for a nationwide public relations program to inform people of the needs created by medicine's major problems.

He explained that the population increase from 140 million in 1940 to 175 million today has overwhelmed attempts by medical schools to keep pace with the need for doctors.

Report Increase in Asian Flu

Cases in United States Show Rapid Rise, Says Health Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today the number of Asian flu cases apparently is going up rapidly in this country.

A spokesman said there are increasing reports of outbreaks in schools and colleges in various sections.

The service's weekly summary of reports from individual states will be made public tomorrow, and in the meantime there was no numerical estimate of how many cases there have been. Last week's estimated cumulative total was about 100,000.

The spokesman said there has been no evidence of a specific directional pattern in spread of the disease. He made the statement when asked if it appeared to be moving from west to east.

The first reported outbreak, he recalled, occurred at Newport, R. I., among naval personnel back in June.

He added, however, that study of the records now indicates the first outbreak may have been at Ft. Ord, Calif.

During June, outbreaks also were reported in Valley Forge, Pa., among Boy Scouts from all parts of the nation, and at a church conference in Iowa.

The first state regarded as having statewide incidence was Louisiana. Then came regional outbreaks in Mississippi, Texas and Utah. New York state has also reported increasing occurrence.

"The reports indicate the incidence jumps around and there is no evidence of specific directional pattern," the spokesman said.

Other Public Health Service officials said that release of additional Asian flu vaccine is expected in the next few days, with the volume expected to increase steadily in the next few weeks.

They said nothing had developed to alter the estimate that 85 million doses will have been released by the end of the year. The total cleared thus far has been 6,957,032 doses, although an initial goal had been the release of 8 million doses by September.

Hal Boyle Quotes Red Buttons:

'If You Get a Kick in the Ego, Go to Work'

NEW YORK (AP)—"My advice to anyone who gets a kick in the ego," said Red Buttons, "is not to become introspective—but to go out and work."

The wiry little comic, now riding high in the show world again, still has rueful memories of being shot down like a clay pigeon three years ago when falling ratings forced his TV show to fold.

"I went mental fishing for almost two full years. What a trap that is to fall into — self-pity and bitterness. There is nothing more boring than self-pity.

"But after wasting a lot of time brooding, I got plain tired of feeling sorry for myself. I began really to think.

"Personal rejection is a hard thing to face. Nobody likes to be stripped in public, and I wasn't only stripped—I was tarred and feathered, too.

"But what it did finally was to encourage me in a strange sort of way—to try new fields and tap resources in myself I had never bothered to explore. I found I did have some kind of interior altitude—as anybody finds he does when he fights with his back to the wall."

Red, his faith in himself restored, returned to the night club circuit, and found he could do as well as ever. Then Hollywood beckoned. In a straight acting role as airman Kelly in the film version of James Michener's "Sayonara" he had the kind of success that marked Frank Sinatra's comeback in "From Here to Eternity."

This came as no great surprise to Buttons, a slum kid who worked to the top the long slow hard way.

During his stay in Japan, where the film was shot, Red, who has 22 sport coats, also picked up four dozen monogrammed silk shirts.

"I got them as a terrific bargain from a guy named Nakamura Shapiro," he said.

A big wardrobe is a form of security to Red who says he was so poor as a child he had to "go upstairs to the candy store" and attended a school so tough "we had a recess every hour just to carry out the wounded."

"Nobody can tell me that Milton Berle—and other performers like Jackie Gleason, Ed Wynn, Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, who had TV shows and lost them—lack talent or don't have comic force," he said.

"There is too much of a tendency to bury people prematurely. I've never read so many obituaries of people who are alive and kicking.

"In this business you can be hot one year and cold the next, but there are too many gloom peddlers who write a man off while he's still warm."

Red said that after he lost his TV show whenever he shook hands it was like gripping a frozen herring.

"Now when I shake hands I feel fingers again," he said, "and it's a good feeling."

Order Slowly Emerges From Arkansas Chaos

It has required the President of the United States, Federalizing of local troops and the presence of the 101st Airborne Paratroopers. This last contingent is a hardy group of two-fisted performers that don't stand for funny business.

Even Faubus knows this.

It's completely within his comprehension.

The whole thing continues to be a sorry spectable. Troops are still present to allow nine frightened Negroes to attend school—a right that's guaranteed by law.

Next week the nation and the civilized world will witness the somewhat grotesque sight of the President of the United States "meeting" with a committee of five Southern governors to "discuss the issue." What these four Democratic and one Republican leaders will "review" is something best known to the intrepid five.

The Negroes are going to school with the white children whether the five Southerners like it or not.

Segregation is against the law.

The die-hards are whipped.

They may not like it and they have made it painfully clear that they don't like colored children attending school with white children, but their personal inclinations must bow.

The entire proceeding has been badly bungled by Democratic Governor Orval E. Faubus, who apparently has struggled to create as big a turmoil as possible. In this he has been eminently successful. As an American executive and a law-abiding citizen, he ranks as a first rate nincompoop.

He is the only person that stands to gain personally. Faubus can shortly peddle his own "version" to a few magazines, perhaps a radio station or two and scrape up a paid appearance on Steve Allen's show.

The Arkansas Governor's television speech last night was more or less an inflammatory effort that sought to justify law defiance and to arouse other susceptible Southerners. Faubus was completely "in character."

The United States is roundly and soundly panned all over the world for this disgraceful spectacle. We have lost international prestige and standing. Our colors have been dragged through the mud. The Press feels the President has acted too slowly throughout.

He shadowboxed too much.

Sec'y Mitchell Warns of Craftsman Shortage

In an address before the Commerce and Industry Association of New York, Secretary of Labor MITCHELL pointed out the startling fact that despite a huge growth in the work force, there are no more skilled craftsmen in industry than there were five years ago.

Paradoxically, at a time when automation is coming into widespread use, the Secretary said the need for trained workers also has increased. Technology has not replaced people. Industries are short of engineers, clerical help, managerial personnel, craftsmen and semi-skilled workers and the condition is worsening.

One reason for this, he argues, is the fact that employment policies have excluded large segments of the work force from on-the-job training and advancement on the grounds of age, sex, race, religion or national origin. U. S. Department of Labor studies of future manpower needs indicate that training of each individual is necessary to the health and growth of our economy.

By 1965 the Gross National Product must increase by 40 per cent to $560 billion to provide for an expected population of 193 million. To reach such proportions in goods and services 10 million additional workers will be needed.

We have no quarrel with Secretary MITCHELL's contention that employers are going to have to step up on-the-job training and apprenticeship practices in order to fit the right worker into the right job. "Pirating" skilled labor from other employers may give temporary advantage but does not increase the available supply of skills.

In speaking of the four-day work week the Labor Secretary said "we cannot consider it without paying heed to its consequence. At no time should a shorter work week be permitted to lessen our ability to produce the goods that we can consume in this country." Our real need, he emphasized, is for vigorous action in intelligent use of manpower.

Possibility of an Early Fall

David Lawrence Says:

Many Schools Not Integrated

WASHINGTON — Every public school in the United States that is "segregated" — which means that for any reason whatsoever all white pupils are in a single building and all Negroes are in a separate location —is today violating "the law of the land," as now interpreted by the President and enforced by federal bayonets.

LAWRENCE

"Voluntary segregation" is taboo. "Enforced integration" is now the command.

Unless the governors of every state—Northern as well as Southern —take steps promptly to require that attendance at every school be mixed in large proportions as soon as possible, so that there is no segregation of either whites or Negroes in separate schools, these governors, too, will be violating what the President terms "the law of the land."

He repeated in his television address Tuesday the Supreme Court's declaration that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

NEW YORK RESPONDS

Negro organizations have called to the attention of the Board of Education in New York City that "segregation" continues there and have declared that the ratio in every school in the metropolis should approximate about 85 per cent whites and 15 per cent Negro —the proportion of the races there today. A school with 40 per cent Negroes in New York City has been termed by these same organizations to be a "segregated" school.

The Supreme Court of the United States ruled in 1954 that, because a Negro student feels a sense of inferiority in a segregated school, there must be an opportunity for mingling with large numbers of white students or else there are no "equal educational opportunities."

The nation's capital, with several all-white and many all-Negro schools, is evidently disregarding "the law of the land." A sprinkling here and there of one or the other of the two racial groups isn't a fulfillment of the Supreme Court's definition of the psychological benefits of "integration." Applying the formula of "integration" demanded by the New York City groups would require that every public school in the District of Columbia contain 70 per cent Negroes, 30 per cent whites.

NOT SURPRISING

These developments may come as a surprise to most people in the North who have assumed all along that "integration" was not compulsory everywhere — as, indeed, a three-judge federal court said in 1955 in a decision as yet unreversed. But, in enforcing the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States of 1954, Major General Edwin A. Walker, the military commander of the U.S. Army of occupation at Little Rock, said this week, upon instruction from his superiors at Washington, that all "separate" schools are barred.

Law-abiding citizens in the North, therefore, must begin to conform at once to the same edicts against which the people at Little Rock have been protesting.

General Walker was not limited to the task of protecting the city against violence. He entered the classrooms of the high school and, just as in Reconstruction days, threatened dire consequences to the pupils if the rules laid down by the military officer were not upheld.

MUST REVISE SYSTEMS

Unquestionably General Walker's instructions were prepared in advance in Washington. He told the students that the Supreme Court's decision makes it necessary "for those states maintaining separate schools to revise their systems to eliminate distinction on the basis of color."

This edict means that excuses about residence and zoning no longer can prevail. The board of education in New York City, for example, is transporting Negro pupils at least an hour's bus ride from their homes in order to get them into predominantly white schools.

The purpose is to give them the alleged benefits of "integration." For the Supreme Court's decree said that such "psychological" advantages are essential and come within the meaning of "equal protection of the laws." Hence, no separate schools of any kind can be justified legally hereafter even on a voluntary basis.

From now on Governor Harriman of New York and other chief executives of Northern states will be on the spot. What, it will be asked, are they doing to abolish all-white schools, the existence of which today are a violation of "the law of the land"?

It's a tragic turn of events but the people of the North have not yet awakened to the fact that, in the eyes of federal authority, they can be regarded as "lawless" as the people of Arkansas so long as they allow any "segregation" of whites or of Negroes in the public schools to continue.

Smiles

Nothing like being hand-in-glove. It's the hand in the other glove you have to watch.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Snickersnee' Best Way If Tonsils Must Come Out

The theory that removal of part or all of the tonsils and/or adenoid mass (pharyngeal tonsil) will diminish the frequency of so-called "colds" or lessen the severity of such illnesses is merely an expression of hope or opinion.

DR. BRADY

In practice it seems that children whose tonsils have been removed continue to have such illnesses with about the same frequency and severity as do children whose tonsils have not been removed.

What the doctors and specialists call tonsillectomy seldom "gets" all of the tonsil. It actually amounts to an unjustifiably dangerous and brutal tonsillotomy—only an honest tonsillotomy is instantaneous and no more dangerous than extraction of a tooth.

I call tonsillotomy "clipping" because the operation consists of one quick chop by the guillotine, tonsillotome or snicker-snee.

Tonsillectomy is advisable, in my judgment, only when breathing, swallowing, speech, or hearing is impaired by the enlarged tonsil. Chop or clip off enough to free the obstruction.

The zeal of the ever-ready operators who boast that they do tonsillectomy and get every bit of tonsil is based on the quaint notion that tonsil (adenoid, lymphoid, round-cell) tissue is in itself harmful or malignant, and hence should be removed entirely, even at risk of life.

MAJOR OPERATION

After all, tonsillectomy is a major operation with all the hazards of major surgery, and death is one of the hazards in every instance.

And it is not just my observation, but the consensus of medical opinion, that most children 3 to 6 years of age have three or more colds a year. Colds become less frequent from the age of 6 to 10 years, still less at high school age.

Statistical studies reveal only a slight benefit for the children whose tonsils and adenoids have been removed. If healthy tonsils and adenoids are removed, the child may become even more susceptible to colds."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Readers Send Comments on Problem of Integration

Phooey on segregation and all its aunts and uncles. What's more, three cheers for Satchmo. I'm with him all the way. Does that old goat, Faubus, think he's God? As far as I'm concerned, Billy Graham can take his next crusade south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Mary Sue Ritter

Southerner, Westerner, Easterner or Michigander, I know there is good and bad in all of them. What I disapprove of are the drifters who cause damage and then we have to pay for that and their health problems.

Observer

Just because The Press didn't print an article to your liking is no reason to criticize it. You are not in the South now, Mr. Nance, and we think everyone should be punished for all their wrong doings, regardless of race, creed or color. Stop looking at the Negro as the one who commits all crimes. There's a bad apple in every bushel and I'm sure all those little girls who are raped aren't victims of Negroes.

A. Weaver

Recently I suggested putting the integration problem to a national vote. Nowhere did I degrade or suggest a Negro isn't a first class citizen. In his haste to chide me, Mr. Kuklaw doesn't even touch on the subject my letter dealt with.

Clyde E. Peters

16½ E. Huron

Some individuals don't comprehend what they read. My comments on mixed marriages and integration weren't against Negroes, but against mixed marriages as the main reason given by Southern whites for rejecting integration.

As for white and Negro leaders solving the problem, how can this be when only the white leader is recognized? I'm a Negro and know the facts. The truth always hurts, Mr. Thomas, and I repeat there are exceptions to the rule.

Mrs. W. Stephens

117 S. Cass Ave.

Governor Faubus knew what he was doing when he called out the National Guard. If he hadn't made a big thing of it, nothing would have happened. School children aren't concerned over Negroes entering their schools. Parents are the cause of the trouble.

America is supposed to be an example for other nations. This is a pretty poor way of doing it. Even if Negroes were allowed to get a good education, they are restricted from using it. You see few Negro doctors, secretaries, etc., working in public offices. There's no overnight answer to the problem. It will take years of thinking, tolerance and understanding to wipe this out. But we as Americans must do it.

Joyce Malone

70 Hillfield

Integration, like Judgment Day, is inevitable, so we may as well grin and bear it.

H.C.G.

More people should get something started to prevent any more riots. It's bad enough to fight with other countries, let alone among ourselves. What will other countries think of us? We preach brotherhood, but we don't live it.

Iris Glidden

I'm almost ashamed to say I was born in Arkansas. I can very well see why people from the North think Southerners are ignorant. After what has been happening, I am inclined to agree with them. Maybe I've lost my Southern ways and if this is the way they act, I'm glad I have.

J. Haynes

3601 Mann Rd.

Within the last few weeks I'd be rather hesitant about admitting I was from the South. The two pictures on page one Monday were especially stimulating. The one showing a "fearless" crowd slapping a colored minister around and just below it a picture of Eisenhower evidently having the time of his life. It's hard to figure.

Lin L. Herron

210½ Sanderson St.

It makes me ill to think people all over the world will judge Americans by the few who feel they have a right to take law into their own hands.

All my life in Oakland County and in college I've known Negroes who are fine people and outstanding citizens. That's why I feel sick when ignorant white people make it hard for people of a different skin to get an education which is their legal right.

I hope people of the world will give us a second chance, for we Americans who were fortunate enough to have families who taught us tolerance from the day we were born will teach our children tolerance, too, with the fervent hope that the future will prove our country is still the land of the free.

Concerned American

What's the difference between what's happening in the South and kids in New York running wild and brawling in the streets. I'm glad I live in the North where white people are civilized. They had better be thankful their children are healthy and normal and not worry about what color the student in the next seat is. Better send Little Rock to Russia, for its actions are much better suited for that.

Writes of Perils of Sewer Work

We wonder if any of the commissioners have taken the time to go out on some of the City sewer jobs? You should talk not only to the foremen but to the ones down in the holes risking their lives. Many of these jobs aren't safe, but the foremen won't say so. I know one who forced his boys down in the hole, even though he was told it wasn't safe. We want our sons and husbands home safe, not crippled because of some foreman's ignorance. I'm a mother of a son who dug with his bare hands to help save his buddy's life.

Questions Sending Child to a Home

It seems to be a sport in juvenile court to place a boy or girl in a state home if he or she can't keep up with studies at school. As far as learning a trade at the home is concerned, I know the children don't learn a thing, because I've had dealings with them.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Small School Best for Clergyman

Joel doesn't know where to go to college. And he wonders whether to become a psychologist or a clergyman. How would you advise him? Read my suggestions below. And all athletes should study this case carefully, for an athlete has a natural advantage if he chooses the most influential profession in America.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-305: Joel J., aged 18, is planning to go to college next term.

DR. CRANE

"I like your practical kind of psychology. I have used it in high school on many occasions and it always works.

"Recently, I decided I would like to become a professor of psychology or else a clergyman. I don't know just which.

"So where would you suggest I attend college? Should I enroll at the state university or try a small college?"

WHICH COLLEGE?

As a rule, pick a college not too far from home, for it will be cheaper when you come and go.

When you graduate, people don't care much where you attended. They seldom even ask what grades you made! But they do ask if you are a college man or woman.

A state university now charges about $300 tuition for the 2-semester school year.

Small private colleges run $500 to $800, with some eastern schools topping the $1,000 mark. And that doesn't include board, room or books.

If a man is planning to be a clergyman, I'd suggest a smaller college, for a fellow then has more chance at winning a letter in sports when he competes with only 300 other men instead of 5,000.

There are some stellar exceptions, like Rev. Bob Richards, the pole vault star from the University of Illinois.

ATHLETIC CLERGYMEN

The modern pulpit demands a versatile pastor who is athletic and can thus command the respect of teenagers.

A clergyman doesn't need to win a college letter but it certainly helps him with young people.

The age of the cloistered theological students with thick horn-rimmed glasses and 5-syllable vocabulary, is passe.

Nowadays we'd rather have a "C" man who can mingle gracefully with people and win friends than a straight "A" Phi Beta Kappa who is aloof and lacking in teenage oomph.

I don't wish to minimize the respect due to frail clergy, but the modern world craves versatile pastors.

The pulpit is a unique position for social as well as moral leadership. But young clergymen can win teenagers faster if they can prove their leadership in sports.

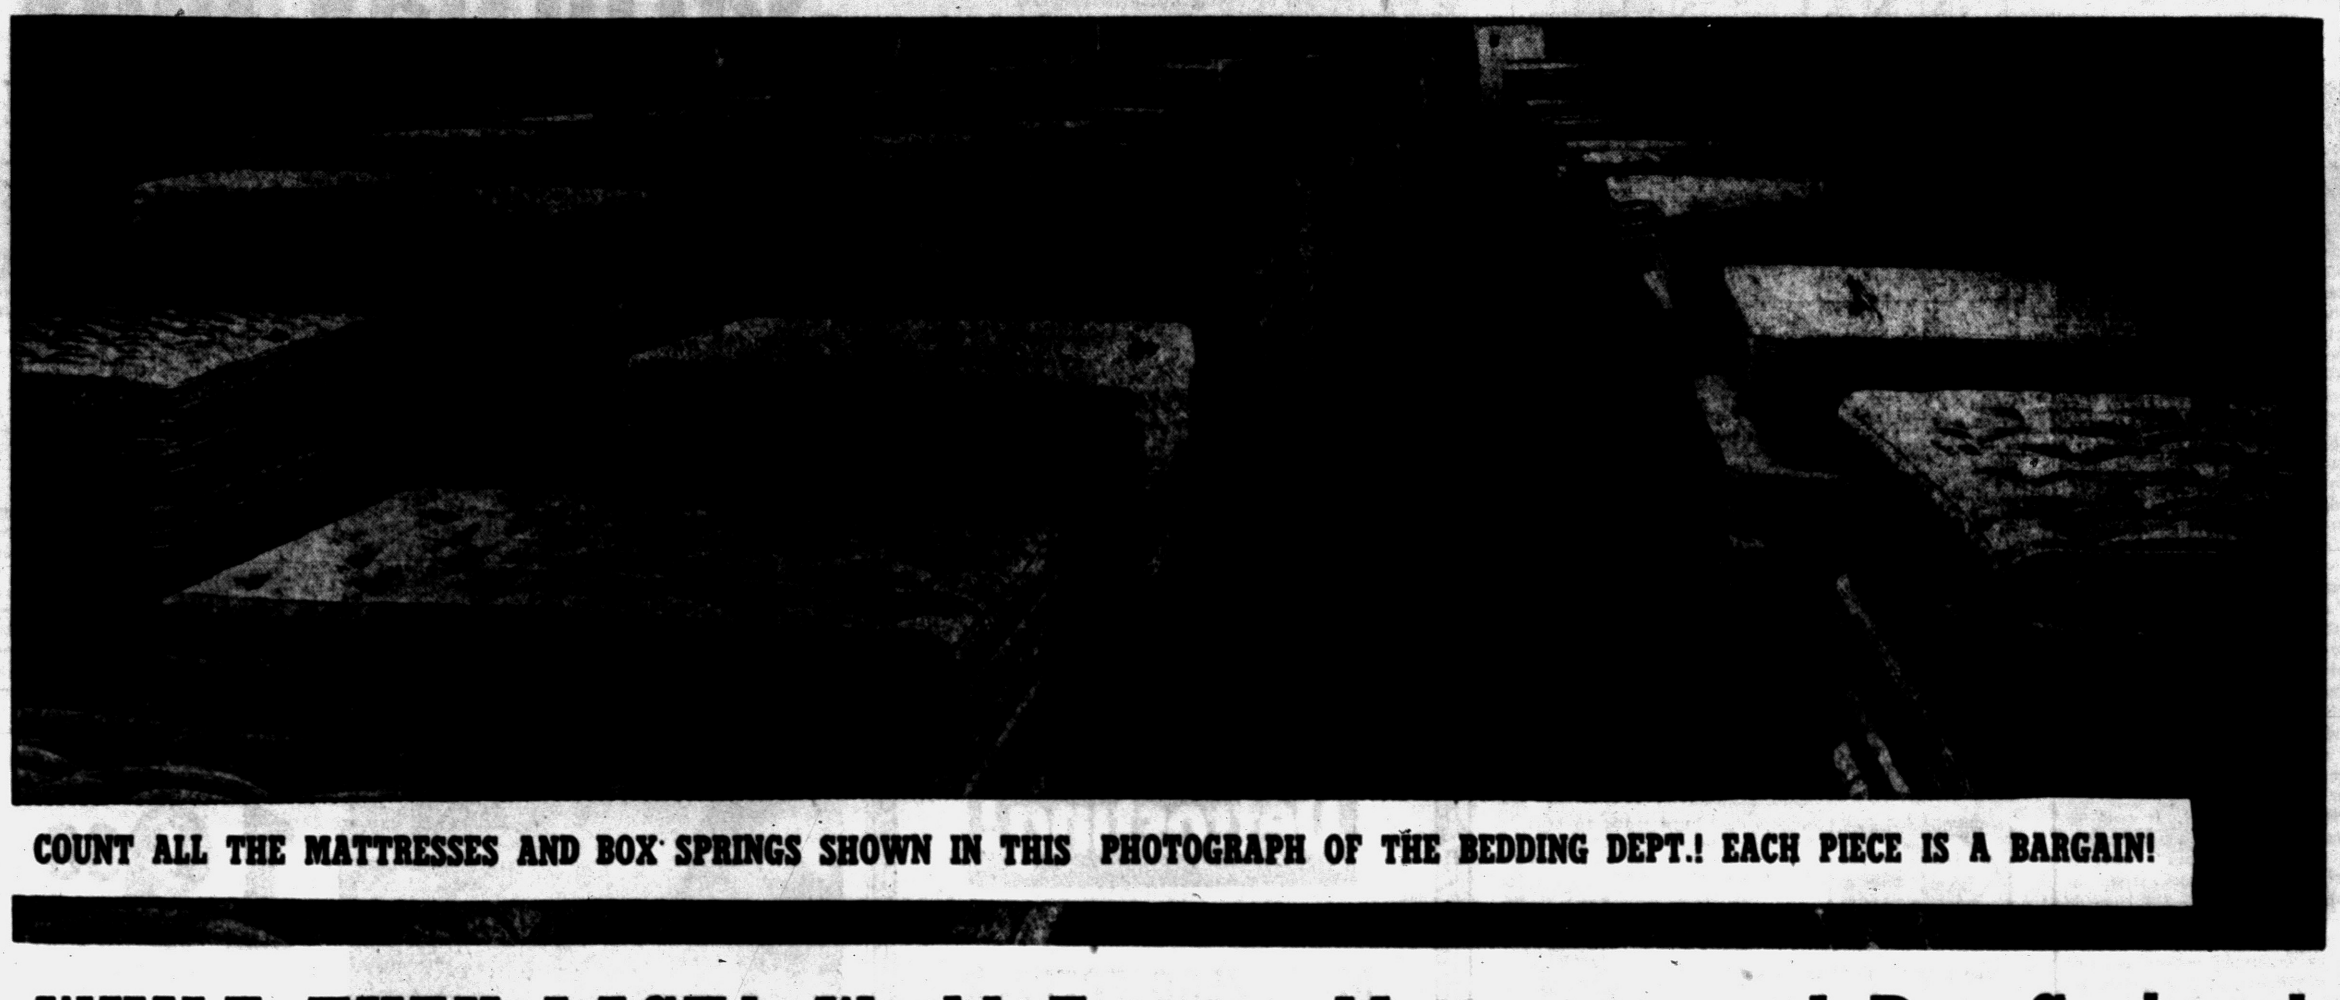

So more of you college athletes should imitate Rev. Bob Richards by selecting the ministry for your career. It's the most influential job in modern society!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

The following are the correct answers and explanations to the Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (2) GRADE. Without talented players, the manager will be forced to make some kind of trade, even with Minor Leaguers. It's the GRADE he probably won't make.

B. (4) SINGING. Ringing sound may blend with the music as part of the effect. SINGING sound must rise, or the singer is apparently doing nothing but standing there, his voice drowned out by the orchestra.

C. (6) FOOLISH. It is proverbial that a fool will learn in no school but that of experience. But a mulish (stubborn) fellow is one who resists learning, even by experience. Stubbornness is often more of a deterrent to learning than foolishness is.

D. (8) HISTORY. Religious HISTORY can be called "somewhat dramatic." Religious mystery would be one form of drama, the medieval mystery play, and therefore, wholly dramatic.

E. (10) VIVID. An arguer with a livid expression, in this case, would have to be ashy pale. Such color would certainly indicate passionate involvement in the argument. But one with a VIVID (highly animated) expression "could be called" impassioned; VIVID is the looser term, leaving some room for other interpretations.

F. (11) DERISIVE. Divisive means causing disagreements, so that divisive remarks would divide the organization. DERISIVE remarks may be of a varying degree of seriousness, but being offered as jeer or jest, shouldn't cause any serious situations, even in a loosely knit group.

G. (14) STIMULATING. A bonus for fulfillment of contract must certainly be offered for the purpose of STIMULATING the fulfillment — assuring its completion and speeding it. Even if the bonus is stipulated in the contract, it is there obviously to STIMULATE the execution.

H. (16) MENTION. It would be impossible for an active soldier to do his "best work" (serve in active duty) without strain or tension of some sort. But he could do so without MENTION. It is naturally impossible to see that every deserving soldier is cited in dispatches. Many heroes remain unsung.

I. (18) TRUSTY. If a person is crusty, he is bad-tempered already, so that hesitation will be of no avail. A bold man would quickly weary of using tact to spare a crusty, or peevish, partner. It is a TRUSTY, worthy and reliable, partner that one would hesitate to vex with questions.

J. (20) WONDER. Many wonders have been overlooked in science only to be rediscovered later on. But a scientist worthy of the name could not fail to notice a great blunder. Every experiment is checked and tried many times over a long period in order to be sure that no great or small blunders are made.

K. (21) NOODLE. If he can't use his NOODLE or head, he's not smart and will surely be caught — hence he might just as well reform. If he has boodle, a robbery has been accomplished, and he can hope to get loot of useable nature on the next job.

L. (24) PROBABLE. Nothing, strictly speaking, is "highly provable." Things are provable or not. Since stock-market speculation is actually unprovable, PROBABLE must be the word.

M. (25) FEATURES. The projection booth in a movie theater would (not "could") be one of the most important fixtures. But in "a theater," the booth could be one of the most important FEATURES, since the stage, seating, lighting, etc. also would be important FEATURES.

N. (28) CHEERY. A cheeky (impertinent) girl would only be another source of trouble for the fellow. He gets into enough hot water by himself. A CHEERY girl would help him by having a nice disposition.

O. (30) FINICAL. Cynical reactions may be just right for certain books, in fact necessary in some cases. But FINICAL implies petty carping. This is more likely to cause protests from readers.

P. (32) JUMBLE. The confused mixture of sound in a TV studio may be prevented from going out over the air, by use of particular microphones. Many sounds cannot be heard if a mike isn't nearby. With a rumble, you get a pervasive deep sound which is heard all around. This could not be eliminated and would disturb the telecast.

Q. (34) POTATION. A drink is frequently accepted without hesitation. Even a casual person thinks twice before accepting a petition to sign, especially in these days of suspicion.

R. (35) REVOLT. "Ensuing result" is so obviously redundant, meaning "resulting result," that REVOLT must be the choice here.

S. (37) PROVIDENT. To be a tycoon at all is to be wealthy enough to be prominent. PROVIDENT implies the opposite — the improvident or free-spending rich man. The one who provides for the future, i.e. the PROVIDENT one would be expected to have little financial embarrassment.

T. (40) MOLLIFY. The owner would be more likely to soothe or appease some of his performers by raises or special concessions, than to modify or change even slightly schedules that might then upset many other members of the circus troupe.

Fall Drills Show Army of West Germany 'Patchy'

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

WITH GERMAN ARMY (AP) — The German army — once top of the class — is emerging today from the kindergarten.

About 35,000 men on fall maneuvers have been showing their paces in public this week for the first time since West Germany began to rearm as a member of the Atlantic Alliance.

The once all-powerful Wehrmacht made an almost apologetic appearance. Officers had strict instructions not to snarl civilian traffic or upset farmers by running tanks over their crops.

The men themselves were obviously self-conscious under the gaze of the crowds — mostly noisy little boys.

The forces are a curious combination of returned veterans of the Nazi conquest of Europe and conscripts who were born the year when Hitler attacked Poland.

Men who fought at Stalingrad, on the Normandy beaches and in the Western desert were going through the same old basic routine again as volunteers. With them were the first 10,000 postwar conscripts called up last April.

Why did the professionals come back? The answers given to this correspondent covered nearly everything except a desire for revenge or an urge to conquer.

Mostly it was they simply liked the army life. Many could give no better explanation than to say "I'm just a soldier."

There was no high-flown talk about being a bastion against Red conquest of free Europe.

A typical exercise was that carried out by the 2nd Grenadier (infantry) Division in the green, wooded hills of northern Hesse.

A combat group of three infantry battalions and attached artillery, tanks, engineers and signals was ordered to move about 70 miles northward to take up positions to repel an enemy attack.

The exercise was devised to get the group of 3,400 men used to moving in an orderly way in its 650 vehicles and then deploying into a tactical position in open country.

Early today the group was in its assigned defensive position south of Kassel after some confusion, due partly to unfamiliarity with new U.S. equipment.

The maneuvers seemed old-fashioned. There was no hint that strategy and tactics have changed since 1945.

Money Rules Simplified for Tourists to Japan

TOKYO—Japan has simplified its foreign-exchange rules for visitors. Under the revised system, visitors are required to declare upon entry only the total amount of cash held in foreign notes in excess of $50. Foreign coins, travelers' checks, and letters of credit need not be declared.

On leaving Japan, visitors are allowed to take out no larger amount of foreign notes than declared when entering, except for those purchased through legal channels.

EXPLAINS TRAFFIC ACCIDENT MAP — If you have had a traffic accident in Pontiac this year, and it was reported to the police department, its location is shown here on this map in the City Hall being explained to City Manager Walter K. Willman (right). City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel points out the heavy concentration of accidents in the downtown area.

Vanderstempel 'Spots' Accident Areas

Pinpoints City's Traffic Picture

If Pontiac Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel sees red, yellow and blue spots in his sleep, it's all because of you, Mr. and Mrs. Driver.

On the wall of his City Hall office, Vanderstempel has a large map of Pontiac with a mass of red, yellow and blue pins showing the location of traffic accidents that have occurred here this year.

Among the approximate 850 pins there appear only two red ones. And Vanderstempel hopes he doesn't have to post any more, for red pins indicate fatal accidents.

Blue indicates property damage, while yellow shows personal injury accidents.

ACCIDENTS DROP

With the use of a somewhat similar map and other preventative measures, traffic accidents in Pontiac decreased 13 per cent over the previous year.

The new map aids Vanderstempel and other traffic officials in determining where new signals or traffic signs should be placed.

Besides the downtown area, pins posted along Auburn, West Huron and Baldwin show other high traffic accident spots in the city.

Vanderstempel emphasized that where each pin is posted doesn't necessarily mean the traffic system is at fault. "Don't forget the driver himself is the biggest cause of accidents," the official said.

Point Proved: Never Argue With Woman

According to Pontiac police, Harry Reynolds, of 476 California St., entered the New China Restaurant, 426 S. Saginaw St., at 3 a.m. and got into an argument with Marie Mason, the owner's wife.

She ordered him out finally, but he refused to go. Mrs. Mason then, according to police, went to the kitchen and got a 32 caliber revolver. Again she told Reynolds to leave, but he held his ground.

The irate woman fired one shot into the floor near Reynolds, but he still wouldn't budge. Her next shot hit him in the right ankle. Reynolds was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he is in satisfactory condition. No one has been charged in the matter as yet.

5 Integrated Schools 'Practically Normal'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Attendance at the five integrated grammar schools here has returned "practically to normal," Asst. Supt. W. H. Oliver says.

"As far as we know, only seven children in the whole system are being kept home because of desegregation," he added. "We expect that they will return to class soon."

Set Hearing on Depot

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Michigan Public Service Commission will hold a hearing at Cheboygan court house Oct. 8 on whether the New York Central depot at Wolverine should be abandoned.

Thai Premier Sees Danger in Red State

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Pote Sarasin said yesterday Red China's sponsorship of a Thai free state in southwest China "is considered dangerous to Thailand's interests."

Speaking at his first regular news conference, Pote said he had heard reports connecting the free state regime with former Thai Premier Pridi Phanomyong. Pridi was overthrown in a coup 10 years ago, fled to Hong Kong and later turned up in Shanghai.

Pote said his government has a plan to counter the free-Thai group but preferred to keep it under wraps for the present.

Matador in 1st Flight New Mexico to Utah

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The Air Force says the first flight of a Matador guided missile from New Mexico to Utah was a success.

The big surface-to-surface missile was escorted on the flight of about 600 miles from the Air Force missile center here to a range at Wendover Air Force Base, Utah, yesterday by four jet fighter planes.

The Air Force says it plans similar off-range tests from time to time and jet escort planes accompanying the missile will be able to destroy them if trouble develops.

Women Docile if Pitted Against Designers

NEW YORK (INS)—The American woman is an alarmingly docile creature when pitted against the greedy whims of fashion designers.

Let her husband suggest timidly that she give up wearing black because it gives her that clorox-bleach complexion, and she likely will snap his head off.

But let a Chanel or Dior tell her to wear orange and purple because that's the fashion fund-raising two-tone of the year, and she will gladly dress like a sideshow to please.

This is not necessarily because she hates her husband—she just plain doesn't trust him, or herself, to know what is best for her face, her figure, her feet.

Paris and Rome and our own beloved Seventh Avenue, N. Y., speak in such extravagantly erudite terms, rarely less than eight syllables per neckline detail, that they sound as authoritative as a doctor prescribing propanediol dicarbamate. Never mind what it is—you'll take it.

With every new season, there's a new form of "coordinated" look that women are urged to—and generally do—leap upon. This autumn it's the long narrow look (see the saggy, baggy, drop shoulder, droop bustline chemise). And to finish it off, for the coordinated top-to-toe effect, a woman is ordered to wear pointed toes, presumably to match her pointed head.

This I object to. Even if the man in my life, observing my size 8's in their first points, hadn't asked was I going to trowel the garden or spear up litter?—even if that hadn't happened, I'd have objected.

So I went to David Evins, America's top shoe designer, to ask just how far fashion can go toward misshaping and exaggerating women's feet, especially if they are too long already?

"Look," he said, "obviously you are one of those women who still thinks the short, chubby, cute look is 'in.' We've gotten away from that. The days when a tiny foot—a 4-B—was the desirable size were the days when a girl fainted at a dirty story.

"Now everything's size 8 and up, and a long, narrow foot is the elegant-looking foot; goes with the skinny look. The pointed toe shoe only adds a quarter to a half-inch to a woman's usual shoe length, and what's wrong with that?"

But if a girl already has big feeet . . . ?

Evins, a handsome devil if obstinate, poofed. "The fact that a girl wears a size 10 is no indication she has to go to Todd's shipyard and get herself launched. Everything's bigger these days. That includes business, let's face it. The pointed-toe has caught on so well, our profits are up 30 per cent."

He went on: "A good designer doesn't want to force anything down women's throats . . . This is a new look that came out of Italy, and after two years of getting used to it, all the smart American women love it."

Which makes me a rare and unusual form of female, 24 months behind the times, pedestrian in my pedal extremities, and still fraught—as I regard my toes—with the curious sensation of being a giantess making like a leprechaun.

Bob Considine Says:

Gen. Walker Upholds Supremacy of Law

LITTLE ROCK (INS) — If you were a puzzled white student registered and present in Central High School, here in this troubled town on the day the nine Negro kids were forcibly integrated, you would have heard a General speak as few military men have before him.

He was a 47-year-old two-star general named Edwin A. Walker . . . West Point '31 . . . Aleutians . . . Italy . . . France . . . Germany . . . Korea. He trained Rangers in how to break a neck. This day he tried to train children in how to save necks, including perhaps their own.

"The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States," he began, while the Negro students neared the school, "guarantees to all citizens the equal protection of the laws.

"Since the adoption of this amendment, many states have provided separate schools for their children on the basis of color. The laws establishing such schools have, however, been challenged in the courts; and about three years ago the Supreme Court of the United States determined that such laws are contrary to the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment and consequently invalid.

"This decision by the highest court in the land is, of course, an authoritative interpretation of our Constitution, is binding on all citizens and government officers, both state and federal, and may not, under our law, be changed except by an amendment to the Constitution."

He measured his audience as he might a regiment. But this day he was father, explaining the law rather than laying it down.

"Because of the Supreme Court's decision," he went on, "it became necessary for those states maintaining separate schools to revise their systems to eliminate distinctions on the basis of color, The nature of these plans was left to the states and local communities, subject to approval by the local Federal District Courts.

"The Little Rock School District prepared such a plan which was approved by both the District Court and Circuit Court of Appeals. This plan provides for a very gradual abandonment of the separate school system starting this year.

"Subsequent to the approval of this plan, attempts were made in courts to prevent the school authorities from putting it into effect. I need not go into the details of this litigation; sufficient to say, it was unsuccessful, and that the plan as originally approved remains unchanged and in full force and effect.

"During the past few weeks, as you are well aware, the situation in Little Rock has been such as to prevent the entrance of a few students into your high school. Therefore, to see that the laws of the land be faithfully executed, the President has found it necessary to call the National Guard of Arkansas into the federal service and has directed that this force and such other armed forces as may be made available be used to enforce the orders of the court. As an officer of the United States Army, I have been chosen to command these forces and to execute the President's orders."

'We are governed by laws,' the officer said, "and not by the decrees of one man or one class of men." He said there was nothing to fear from his soldiers, but left the strong impression that he would not and could not tolerate interference with what he had been charged with doing."

There were mixed reports about the reception he received at the conclusion of the lecture. Some students said there was a "rising ovation." A girl said she had been bored by it and the applause was perfunctory.

His presence in Little Rock is a source of great embarrassment to many here in the capital of the state. How would you like your own town, or a portion of it, placed under the control of the Feds? Not much, I'll bet you. Nor does the average man in the 101st Airborne Division relish his job, though a few of them seemed to throw their weight around a bit unduly the first day on the job.

Walker's great contribution, the future may show, is that he embodies discipline, typifies the conformist to such a degree that his example could conceivably become epidemic, even in a region that generally wants integration as little as the rock of the same name.

GOP Worker Gets $500 Fine

McAlpine Is Sentenced for Phony Letters Sent to Detroit Negroes

A Pleasant Ridge advertising man has been fined $500 in Detroit for his part in sending unsigned election propaganda to Detroit Negroes during the 1956 campaign.

John R. McAlpine, 41, of 29 Cambridge Blvd., state GOP campaign manager in 1952 and a voluntary Republican worker in 1956, was told by Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman:

"You are a fall guy. Full exposure of everyone connected would be extremely humiliating and embarrassing to other persons."

McAlpine had faced a possible $1,000 fine and one year in prison after pleading guilty Aug. 16 to violating election laws.

The letters were sent to about 6,000 Detroit Negroes, urging them to vote Democratic because "the Democratic party keeps the colored in their place." The letters were signed only by the nonexistent "White Citizens Council of Atlanta, Ga."

McAlpine admitted flying to Atlanta with the letters. They were mailed back to Detroit.

Many By-Products From Cryolite

IVIGTUT, Greenland—Many by-products are derived from cryolite ore, which is used mainly in the manufacture of aluminum. The steel industry uses the fluorite and hagemannite left over after the refining. Ironworks use the siderite and by special processing this is rendered suitable for coating welding rods. An insecticide is obtained from passing the dust from the factory air-cleaning plant and dust filters through a special atomizing process. Other by-products are galena, zinc-blende, and chalcopyrite, which are sold to metal-extracting firms.

Man 'Frozen' During Operation

Hospital Patient Breathes for 18 Hours by Machine

BOSTON (INS) — A machine has taken over the breathing function for a New England Center Hospital patient for 18 hours while a delicate circulatory operation was performed.

Hospital officials said it was believed to be the first time a machine was used for such a purpose for such a long period. They are not claiming a record, however.

The patient was Charles J. Downey, 52, Springfield, estimator for a Springfield trucking firm, who underwent the operation last Thursday for correction of what physicians described as an aneurysm of the ascending aorta, the largest artery in the body.

Doctors described the ailment as something like a bubble or balloon on the artery wall. It had to be removed and the artery closed with sutures.

During 16 of the 18 hours that the mechanical breathing apparatus, invented by Dr. Benjamin E. Etsten, was in use, Downey was "frozen" or in a state of hypothermia — artificial hibernation, in which his temperature was lowered to 87 degrees. The actual operation lasted eight and a half hours.

Hospital authorities said the operation has been performed in only 12 hospitals and that it has been performed no more than 20 times in all in this country.

Dr. Etsten explained that after the patient's conscious efforts to breathe have stopped, the anesthetist breathed for him by operating the machine, which he called a ventilator. The machine replaces the movement of the chest muscles and human breathing apparatus, including the lungs.

The operation started at 8 a.m., last Thursday and was completed successfully at 8:30 p.m. At 2 a.m. Friday Downey's temperature had returned to normal.

Saturday morning he demanded coffee and on Monday he was able to sit on the side of his bed for breakfast. Later that day he was able to get out of bed and walk.

Finally Finds Buddy Snoozing on Pier

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — "You haven't dragged anything out of the lake lately?" a young man asked at police headquarters.

"Such as?" the patrolman asked.

"As a guy," the youth replied.

It seems the young man and his buddy were swimming at a Lake Geneva pier. They agreed to race under the pier and see who could get to the other side first.

The first young man, on reaching the other side, didn't see his friend. He left the beach and went up town. About three hours later he wondered if something could have happened, so he went to the station. Officers rushed out to investigate.

Moderate on Segregation

Hodges Heads Governors to Talk Schools With Ike

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP)—North Carolina's Democratic Gov. Luther H. Hodges has been thrown somewhat reluctantly, he says, into the role of peacemaker in the dispute over President Eisenhower's use of federal troops to enforce integration in Little Rock, Ark.

Hodges, son of a tenant farmer, has been described as a moderate on the school segregation issue, but he has stated repeatedly he opposes mixing of the races in the schools.

He has labeled the U.S. Supreme Court integration decision as usurpation of power but said he and North Carolina must recognize it as the law of the land.

Recently, in advance of the admission of 11 Negro children to previously all-white schools in North Carolina's three largest cities, Hodges warned bluntly that lawlessness or violence would not be tolerated. There were no serious incidents as this limited integration was carried out.

Hodges is chairman of a committee of five Southern governors who will call on Eisenhower at the White House Tuesday. Their purpose is to persuade the President to withdraw federal troops from Little Rock.

Hodges has said he considers the President's action in sending troops to Little Rock was "a tragic mistake," and that "we are extremely hopeful of success" in the meeting with the President.

Leading the Southern Delegation, Hodges said, was a "job I would not want" but one he felt he had to accept.

The story of Hodges' career reads like a Horatio Alger rags-to-riches yarn. When Hodges was born in 1898, his father was a tenant farmer. The future governor worked his way through the University of North Carolina and to a top rung in the textile industry.

In 1950, Hodges retired as a vice president of Marshall Field & Co., and shortly afterwards took an important post with the Economic Cooperation Administration in Germany before returning to North Carolina and plunging into politics.

As governor, the segregation issue has taken up more of Hodges' time than any other problem, but he easily persuaded North Carolina's Legislature and its people to approve his "safety-valve" plan for dealing with the issue.

This plan supplements a pupil assignment law enacted by the 1955 Legislature. Under the assignment law, the power to assign children to schools was turned over to local school boards. Hodges' "safety-valve" plans allows those who object to sending their children to a mixed school to seek transfer to other nonintegrated schools. It also allows tuition grants from the state for such children to attend private schools. As a last resort, people in local school districts can vote to close their schools.

The North Carolina plan seeks to comply with the Supreme Court decision by allowing some integration—but only a trickle. The U.S. Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the assignment law. So, the big legal test will come on the administration of the law.

Under the law, school units at Charlotte, Greensboro and Winston-Salem admitted a handful of Negro children to hitherto all-white schools.

Hodges said he is still firmly convinced that "any substantial mixing of the races in our schools would result in the destruction of the public school system."

Former Soviet Agent in Frankfurt Hospital

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP) — Nikolai Khokhlov, Soviet secret police agent who defected in 1954, was reported critically ill today in a Frankfurt hospital from arsenic poisoning he said was given him by Russian agents.

Khokhlov, 34, gave himself up to U.S. authorities in Frankfurt Feb. 20, 1954. He had come here with orders to kill Georgi Okolovich, a leader of the anti-Soviet NTS organization.

German police confirmed that Khokhlov was in the Frankfurt city hospital but refused further information.

Khokhlov was reported to have told his doctor he believed the arsenic was given him Sept. 16 and that he was certain it was administered by Soviet agents. There was no indication of how it was administered.

New Laws Take Effect Today

No More Water-Skiing After Dark!

LANSING (AP) — Starting today, you'll be breaking the law if you sell near beer to minors, water-ski more than an hour after sunset or install a TV set in your car so the screen is visible to the driver.

Enacted laws forbidding such practices are among 207 which automatically take effect tomorrow, 90 days after final adjournment of the 1957 Legislature.

Most major bills, including those dealing with taxes and appropriations, went into effect while the lawmakers were in session, or shortly after adjournment.

One which goes into operation tomorrow sets up a pension plan for veteran Legislators, paying them up to $2,000 a year, depending on age and length of service. Nine eligible lawmakers, however, already have turned down pensions.

TO CUT DIVORCE

Another law provides a 60-day "cooling off" period in divorce cases. Designed to reduce break-up of homes and cut juvenile delinquency, it stipulates that no complaint can be filed for divorce or separate maintenance until two months after notice is served by process of summons or otherwise.

An amendment to the motor vehicle code provides that license plates stay through the year with the purchaser rather than his car or truck. Secy. of State James M. Hare asked for the change as a prelude to proposed "permanent" license plates good for several years.

Among other changes in motor vehicle laws are those moving up the first issuing date of license plates to Nov. 1 of the preceding year and permitting rural letter carriers and wreckers to use flashing red lights.

Another authorizes formation of county "Driver Safety" schools for repeated violators of traffic laws, authorizing judges to make attendance compulsory. Still another puts a ban on the oscillating, blinking or rotating lights used for advertising purposes along highways.

PAY AS YOU GO HUNTING

Fishermen and hunters are affected by important changes in conservation laws, including increases in the cost of hunting and fishing licenses. Others authorize establishment of "pay-as-you-go" hunting on privately owned preserves and empower the Conservation Department to set up five experimental game management areas totaling 60,000 acres.

Though the boating season is virtually over, water enthusiasts should take note of a new law requiring registration of all power boats and any sailboat over 16 feet long. The law also cracks down on drunk and reckless boat drivers and night water-skiers.

Public protection is the aim of a law authorizing probate judges to commit tuberculosis victims to sanitoria and health authorities to hold them there till they're cured.

The cost of crime also moves up tomorrow under a law boosting the dividing line between misdemeanors and felonies from $50 to $100.

Burned Mom's Condition Fair

Novi Woman Whose 2 Tots Died in Home Fire Hospitalized

A Novi Township mother remains in fair condition in University Hospital at Ann Arbor today, after receiving severe burns in a vain attempt to save two of her children from the flames which leveled her home.

Mrs. Leona Shunatona, 32, has second and third degree burns over the upper part of her body.

Novi Township Fire Chief Fred Loynes said today a defective oil stove caused the blaze which killed Peggy, 3½, and Bobby, 5.

The Shunatona one-story frame house at 2465 Shawood Rd., was gutted by the fire. Mrs. Shunatona's other children, Ellen, 10, Patricia, 9, and Betsy, 9 months, were away.

Annexation Would Boost Holland to 2nd Place

LANSING, (AP) — Holland may soon become the second largest city in Michigan in terms of measureed miles.

Petitions filed with the Secretary of State's office seek to add four adjoining townships to Holland. If the petitions are found in proper form, an annexation election will be ordered in the townships.

If annexation is approved, Holland's city limits would cover an approximate 40 miles and it would become the second largest city in the state—second only to Detroit.

U. of M. Student Gets Photo

Sneaks in Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A reporter on the University of Michigan student newspaper slipped past Army lines and into the newly integrated Central High School here yesterday to get a photograph of a Negro student attending classes.

Jim Elsman Jr., 21, a senior at the U. of M., used a borrowed student library card to get past paratroopers. He got a photograph of Jefferson Thomas, one of the nine Negro students in the school, before a woman teacher discovered him in a geography class.

He was escorted out of the building by two paratroopers.

Elsman said that since "we have a human interest in this story," he had told the student newspaper editor at Ann Arbor that he would try to slip into the school and find out what was happening.

"I approached a hooky-playing girl and borrowed her library card," Elsman said.

Soldiers permit only youths with library cards to enter the school.

Dressed in a striped blue shirt, light gabardine slacks and tennis shoes, Elsman walked into the school with other students.

He wound up in the geography class next to Thomas.

"I practically had never taken a picture," Elsman said, "and it took me almost a minute to get set up."

Elsman quoted one white student as saying: "Don't let him (Thomas) move or it'll be too dark to show."

Elsman snapped the shutter and the commotion brought the woman teacher to the back of the room.

"Oh, she was very friendly," Elsman said. "She said she used to do some work at the University of Michigan.

Elsman said that he then was taken to the principal's office where two paratroopers took him outside.

"They were nice," he said. "They were laughing about it."

Elsman said he had been in the building about half an hour.

He said he left Michigan by train Wednesday, arrived in Kansas City and flew here.

'If Flu Bug Bites' Doctors Suggest Home Treatment

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Asian flu bug bites you, the best treatment is four steps:

Go to bed, at home.
Consult your doctor.
Take plenty of fluids.
Use aspirin or other fever-fighting drugs.

This is the advice from a special committee on influenza of the American Medical Assn.

Antibiotics and sulfa drugs don't do anything against the flu virus. Your doctor may use them if you get complications — infections by bacteria following along when flu has put you in a weakened condition.

Newspaper Woman Believed Kidnaped

JOLIET, Ill. (INS)—A statewide search was being conducted today for a 45-year-old Joliet newspaper woman who was feared kidnaped from in front of her home.

She is Amelia Zelko, business manager of the Spectator, a Joliet weekly paper. She joined the paper when it was owned by William R. McCabe, whose secretary she had been during McCabe's term as state's attorney of Will County, from 1932 to 1936.

McCabe said "Molly," as she was known to the staff, left the office Wednesday night at 11:27 o'clock and said, "I'll see you in the morning."

By the following noon—press day for the paper—she had not yet appeared. Her car was found parked in front of her home. One of her shoes was found on top of the car trunk, and the other on the ground nearby. Police said her apartment gave the appearance of not having been used that night.

The paper reportedly had been crusading against pinball and slot machine gambling. McCabe was kidnaped and beaten in 1948 during a gang war for control of gambling in the county. His arms and legs were broken and he was left for dead.

To Dedicate Post Office

BAY PORT (AP) — Rep. Robert J. Mc Intosh (R-Mich) will be principal speaker at dedication of the new Bay Port post office Saturday. It replaces a building destroyed by fire Jan. 14, 1956.

Offer Cures for State's Ailing Dairy Industry

LANSING (AP)—Half a dozen farm leaders offered half a dozen cures yesterday for ailments of Michigan's troubled dairy industry.

Their proposals left a legislative study committee wholly undecided on what to do about farmer complaints on price squeeze troubles.

"We're up in the air on this thing," said Rep. Andrew Cobb, Elsie dairy farmer and committee chairman who ran a three-day hearing on the milk problems. His committee, more than half of them dairy farmers, agreed.

Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn., called for laws curbing what he said were widespread unfair trade practices holding down the price of milk paid to farmers.

"Our 16,500 members want milk legislation, but we don't want milk price controls, or milk production controls at the farm level," he declared.

On Lake's heels came Rolland Brengle, president of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., who urged formation of an "all-powerful" milk commission or control board to keep a close watch on the dairy industry. Milk controls, he asserted, boost the milk price at the farm level.

At the other extreme, Homer Martin, organization director of the Dairy Famers Cooperative Assn., scored nearly all government help.

"All we need is collective bargaining rights for the dairy farmer so that he can determine the price he gets for his milk products," he said.

Dan Reed, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, said the 69,000 farm families in his organization might support milk legislation but generally opposed stiff controls. But John Spoelman, president of the Michigan Farmers Union, called for controls, pointing to farmer support of similar regulation over wheat and other farm products.

Spoleman asked for legislation setting up the milk industry as a public utility, with attendant price fixing.

Arthur J. Gude, New Hampshire dairy farmer and president of the National Dairymen's Assn., contended the answer to dairy problems lies in action on a national level through a national organization.

Agriculture experts from Michigan State University and the State Agriculture Department and 20 milk dealers testified in two days of secret hearings.

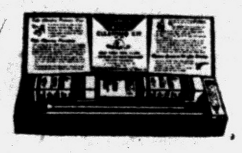

Cobb said chain store and supermarket representatives would be subpoenaed to testify at another hearing next month.

Prize Money Now at $300 in Pot-O-Gold

Another new puzzle adds another $100 to the Pot-O-Gold coffers, bringing it back to the $300 mark. If no one has found the answers to last week's puzzle, a perfect solution for this puzzle will empty the pot. Read all rules and clues carefully.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Nasser Willing to Meet With Ike

Ready to Discuss Peace in Mideast if U.S. Takes Initiative on Conference

CAIRO (AP)—President Nasser of Egypt says he has no objection to a face-to-face meeting with President Eisenhower to discuss a Middle Eastern settlement if Eisenhower takes the initiative for such a conference.

In a joint interview with Associated Press and National Broadcasting Co. correspondents Nasser said he did not want to propose such a meeting lest the State Department reply with a statement rejecting the proposal in a manner humiliating to Egypt.

"But I am ready to do anything possible for the cause of peace," the Egyptian President said. "I would have no objection to meeting Eisenhower if he took the initiative."

Looking physically fit and smiling, Nasser received the newsmen in the garden of his home inside an army compound of the Cairo suburb of Abbassaia. He had no notes and no official advisers.

Nasser sharply defended his policy of positive neutrality, reiterated his pledge of all-out support of Syria and warned that Egypt may shop for more arms if Israel continues to build up its military strength.

Asked if Egypt would send troops to aid Syria in case of aggression against that country, Nasser replied: "As you know, we have an agreement with Syria regarding defense against aggression, and if any aggression occurs against Syria, Egypt will support Syria by all means. But the exact means depends on the kind of aggression."

Nasser denied that Syria had gone Communist, and predicted that Syria never would go Communist.

'Chaos, Its Cause, Cure'—Subject of Billy Graham

STONY BROOK, N. Y. (AP)—Billy Graham told a chilled outdoor crowd of 5,500 last night that "there has been a breakdown of morality in every area of our life."

The evangelist cited as examples the Little Rock, Ark., situation and the atomic missile race between the United States and Russia.

The Long Island temperature was in the low 50s and almost everyone in the crowd wore a topcoat. Some brought blankets. Graham, who moves around vigorously with gestures, went coatless until almost the end of the service, when he borrowed one for a few minutes.

At the end of the service 450 persons stepped forward to make "decisions for Christ."

Graham discussed "chaos, cause and cure" from Corinthians—the chaos of the present world, its cause in man's sinfulness and its cure by personal redemption through Christ.

Graham said the missile race and the development of nuclear mass destruction weapons mean that "we may be living in the last generation" ever on earth.

For the cure, he said, "I offer you a living Christ."

Man Who Escaped Arraigned Oct. 1

Cecil Parks, 46, of 104 Pinegrove, the prisoner whose escape from brought dismissal charges against them, was bound over to circuit court yesterday.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum set bond at $200 and fixed arraignment for Oct. 1. Parks is accused of taking indecent liberties with a 9-year-old girl.

Parks, who escaped from Det. Sgt. Raymond Meggitt and Det. Robert Emery, later surrendered to Meggitt. Both officers were acquitted of major charges against them by the Civil Service Commission and fined leave days for errors in judgment.

Dr. Heustis Will Speak

BOYNE CITY (AP) — Human relations in local health department activities is the theme of a regional conference Oct. 3—4 at Boyne Falls for public health workers from the upper half of the lower peninsula and three eastern counties of the Upper Peninsula. Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, is among scheduled speakers.

Holding Fire Classes

HART (AP) — Volunteer firemen from Hart, Walkerville and New Era are taking part in six weeks of demonstrations and classroom instruction in improved fire fighting methods. The classes are conducted by Wallace F. Gannon, retired Muskegon fire chief who now is instructor for Michigan State University.

Makes Own Survey of What Men Wear

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — What is the well-dressed slob supposed to wear now to the World Series and to the football games?

WILSON

Appointing myself your Gents' Fashion Editor, I've been investigating, in light of all the yelling about women's fashions. I commenced my research at the Basilio-Robinson fight.

"What's that?" I asked. "Merely cashmere," he admitted wearily. Steve Allen described his "garment" as something new — "unborn linoleum."

It all seems to show that no matter how horribly women get themselves up in the new Gunnysack Look, our menfolk have a pride.

And—even though they're supposed to wear sports shirts and slacks—they don't.

Jim Farley, Red Buttons, George Jessel, Rocky Graziano—oh, yes, and Gov. Harriman—were there quite normally attired. I myself am a member of the Shirttail-Out, Baggy Britches Brigade, and only wanted to get on record that the gents may not ever dress well but they do always dress the same.

You have heard one woman say to another, "What jewelry did you wear this evening?" That's never any trouble with men.

For when I dropped this question, one fellow said, "Just my diamond elk's tooth," and another grunted that he would be glad to show me his solid gold dental work. Men's fashions must be SO easy to writer, after all.

Ethel Merman and Fernando Lamas—co stars in "Happy Hunting" who don't speak offstage — were given adjoining tables at a night club, and didn't speak there, either... Senator Kefauver seen at the Lido in Paris, which is very sophisticated, was teased about whether he was vote-hunting there . . . Show girl Mary Bokino was a runner-up for the "National Pin-Up Queen of '57 title.

MARY BOKINO

Oscar Hammerstein's daughter-in-law, Basha Regis, is in the chorus of his "Carousel" at City Center . . . Cary Grant's investing his '56 salaries in South American real estate . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: No matter what you do, there's usually someone who will say he always suspected you would. That's earl, brother.

Hostesses Aid Wives of Military

Provide Data for Families Stationed All Over World

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—The Armed Forces Hostess Assn., friend in need to thousands of service families the world over, tries to answer queries on a multitude of subjects.

"We try to help anyone wanting any information any place where military personnel are stationed," explains Mrs. John A. Peters, wife of an Army lieutenant colonel and president of the association of volunteer officers' wives which has its headquarters and information clearing house at the Pentagon.

AROUND THE GLOBE

The store of information on housing, transportation, schools, recreation, babysitters and other subjects is obtained from the presidents of officers' wives' clubs on posts around the globe.

"They know what women want," observes Lylas Peters, "the many varied problems that plague the poor service wife who must pack up and move her family when her husband is transferred from post to post every three or four years. When they get stuck, we're the ones to help."

Mrs. Peters says that as of January 1957, there were some 2,913,144 dependents of armed forces personnel stationed with the continental limits of the United States and abroad.

When writing for information, either to the Pentagon offices of the association or to a local post, a self-addressed, stamped envelope must be enclosed and certain details must be supplied the hostesses.

HUSBAND'S RANK

First, a correspondent must give her husband's service rank. Second, if there are children, ages and type of school they wish to enroll them in, public, private or parochial. Third, exactly where her husband is stationed.

Formed in Washington in 1949 by a small group of women under the direction of Mrs. F. P. Campbell, wife of an Army colonel, the organization of volunteer answer-ladies and problem-solvers has boomed to 1,000 clubs.

Some 60 of these are operating in this area alone. In the Pentagon a staff of 40 volunteers rotates in manning the office, each serving at least two full days each month.

One of the main functions of the association is to extend a personal welcome to newly-appointed officers and their families in the community and to supply assistance to all service personnell in their new surroundings.

On entering this area the service wife is contacted by one of the neighborhood hostesses who tries to help her and her family become a part of, rather than an addition to, the community.

With Expansion Program in Mind

Legislators Tour Child Guidance Clinic

Three Oakland County Legislators toured the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic on Franklin boulevard yesterday, viewing the facilities with next year's state appropriations in mind.

Present for luncheon and the tour were Sen. L. Harvey Lodge of Drayton Plains; Rep. Farrell E. Roberts of West Bloomfield Township and Rep. Donald A. Brown of Royal Oak.

The county's four other representatives were unable to attend, said Madeleine Half, the clinic's director.

Miss Half and Mrs. Lawrence S. Martz of Wing Lake, accompanied the legislators on their tour. Mrs. Martz is chairman of the clinic's board of directors.

The clinic already has asked Lansing for a full clinic to replace the facilities in Royal Oak next year. If it is approved, funds must then be appropriated by the legislature.

State funds, Mrs. Half explained, are for the salaries of the clinic's staff psychologists and professional help.

The clinic also is supported by Oakland County, the Birmingham Junior League, the South Oakland County School Boards and the Pontiac and Detroit United Funds. The clinic also has a branch in Birmingham.

All three branches are open to all county residents for the diagnosis and treatment of children with emotional disturbances.

'Laundress' Now Is Chic Expert

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Times change faster than we do, so that a lot of the mental images we carry around are no longer in existence.

LITTLE OLD LADY

We picture, and many of the children's books portray, grandmother as a little old lady, with wispy white hair drawn into a woebegone knot, wearing a black dress and a gray shawl and, of course, sitting in a rocking chair.

Yet what child that you know today has a grandmother like that?

The same is true vocationally.

The words "seamstress and "laundress" bring to mind characters from O. Henry — genteel, pathetic, starving. But the women I know who are engaged in these two activities today are chic, peppy and prosperous!

Mrs. Y. is one of them. But to call her a laundress seems ridiculous to me.

FRAGILE NAPKINS

I met Mrs. Y. when my regular laundry refused to wash some very old linen napkins claiming the lace was too fragile and might easily be torn.

I usually wash them myself, but this was one of those weeks. With work, guests and children around, I just didn't have the time to do them up.

Then my laundryman told me that I might try Mrs. Y.

"She specializes in difficult things," he told me, "and we've heard good things about her."

He gave me her number.

Mrs. Y. did a beautiful job.

Later, I asked her how she got started in this work.

"I love delicate old things," she told me, "and I know they are impossible for the average laundry to handle.

QUITE AN ART

"In my day, the lady of the house automatically did them herself. But today, she either doesn't have time or honestly doesn't know how. It's quite an art.

"I have really studied it, learning about soaps, water temperatures, soft versus hard water, different kinds of stains and how to remove them, and so forth. And now I'm really an expert.

"When my daughters got ready to launder their fancy trousseau things, they called on me for help. And then their friends did, too. Finally my husband said I should charge people for this service and set up a real 'shop' in the basement laundry. So I did.

"Of course, I didn't want to ask my friends 'for business,' so I wrote a letter to the big laundries in town and enclosed some of my cards. And do you know, they've recommended so many customers to me! After that, word of mouth does it."

EFFICIENT LAUNDRY

She showed me her bright, efficient laundry. And noting her slim figure, well-coiffured white hair and sparkling blue eyes, I couldn't help thinking that the world is really improving by leaps and bounds.

"Taking in washing," which in my childhood was the saddest thing you could imagine, has become a profitable and interesting home project!

If you'd like ideas on a home service, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Unexpected Caller Now Seems Hurt

Was Hostess Rude Not to Break Prior Engagement?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend called on me the other evening just as I was going out. She left promptly without seeming offended when I explained that I had an engagement. Since then, however, she has not called nor have I seen her.

"My husband thinks I was rude to go out and that she has a perfect right to feel slighted as her visit entailed a half hour's ride on the bus to get here. He thinks I should go to see her and apologize for my behavior.

"I maintain that anyone who visits a person without calling first runs the risk of this situation and that I was quite within the bounds of etiquette to keep my engagement. Will you please tell me which one of us is right?"

Answer: You are right and there was nothing rude in your behavior. Good manners exacted that you keep the engagement you had made, rather than stay home with an unexpected visitor. If I were you I would, however, telephone her and say how sorry you were not to be able to stay with her and that you would like her to have lunch with you.

Elected by Stabafa

Sue Koprince was named president of Stabafa Club when the group met Tuesday evening in the Ottawa drive home of Judy Dearing. Miss Dearing was elected vice president; Patsy Reigle, recording secretary; Barbara Stang, corresponding secretary, and Kay Jerome, treasurer.

She's Greatly Bothered by Heat

Should Mature Woman Avoid Sun?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Will you please clear up something for me? I have felt the heat greatly this past summer. I do not care to sit in the sun. I have been told that it is because I am going through the menopause.

"Is there any truth in this? Does a woman feel the heat and avoid the sun at this time? Is it dangerous to get too much sun during menopause? I wish you would answer this in your column."

A. Some women experience "hot flashes" or a sudden sensation of being very warm. The face flushes. This lasts for a few seconds. The body does seem to be a bit off balance during this time of life so that a woman might feel the hot weather more than usual.

However, there is no more danger than usual, so far as I know, from being in the sun. However, there is no necessity for it. You get all of the vitamin D you require from sitting on a covered porch or by an open window.

Brown spots often develop when a woman spends much time in the sunshine. This happens even more often as she grows older.

Q. "I am 14 years old. My measurements are bust 38, waist 28 and hips 42 inches. Please tell me what my measurements should be for a girl of my age."

A. It would be impossible to give you individual measurements because weight and bone structure enter into the picture. You did not tell me how tall you are or how much you weigh, but your measurements indicate that you are overweight.

Your bust and waist are in good ratio. In fact it is surprising that your waist is that small at your age. Your hips are too large.

If you are overweight, reduce under the supervision of your family physician and take hip-slimming exercises. If you, or any of my readers, would like to have my hip-reducing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3. Address me in care of The Pontiac Press.

Q. "I am 17 years old. I do not think the nipples of my breasts are normal. Even the least little chill changes their shape. After a few minutes they return to their usual size. I have not told my mother because I am afraid that I have some awful disease of the bust."

A. I feel sure that you are quite normal. By all means tell your mother so that you will not worry. If there is any reason for it, she will take you to see a physician. This fear is not good for you.

Tomorrow: "What You Can Do for Defective Neck, Chin."

Glaze Cake With Juice After Baking

Mrs. Dodge Serves Orange Date Treat to Dinner Guests

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here's a recipe for a cake that has an unusual topping. It's not a frosting but a glaze and is poured over the warm cake. Mrs. J. Ross Dodge of Loon Lake says it is a favorite with guests to whom she serves it.

Mrs. Dodge has a full time job so her hours as a home-maker are limited. She is especially fond of roses and spends many hours in the garden working with them.

ORANGE DATE CAKE
By Mrs. J. Ross Dodge

1 cup sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup nutmeats
Juice of 1 orange
½ cup sugar

Cream butter or margarine and sugar together. Add egg and beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with sour milk. Add dates and nuts.

Pour into greased 8x8x2 pan. Bake 30-35 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Remove from oven, mix orange juice and ½ cup sugar. Pour over warm cake. This will make a crunchy glaze.

Little Child Does Not Mean Big Threats

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Gerard's grandma came to look after him while his mother was at the hospital having his baby sister. Later she stayed on to help her daughter get used to what everyone called the "new routines."

Gerard didn't like them much. He particularly resented the new routine which obliged his mother to nurse the baby instead of undressing him for his nap.

He hated the abrupt way Grandma jerked his T-shirt off. So one day when her jerking pulled his hair, he kicked at her, yelling, "Go away — or I'll kill you, I'll kill you . . ."

Horified, Grandma gasped. So shocked was she that the power of her feeling overwhelmed Gerard's mother, until she, too, felt there was something really awful about his threat to exterminate Grandma.

There was not.

When a small child threatens to kill us, he is not threatening to involve us in rigor mortis and other final experience. What he wants is the death of some behavior of ours that seems obstructive to him.

Thus, Gerard wanted to kill, not Grandma but her insistence on giving him the attention he wanted from his mother. What his threat said to her was, "Get out of the way of my rights to my mother!"

IRRESPONSIBLE WORDS

People of Gerard's age brandish threatening words about as irresponsibly as they grab at scissors, matches and other endangering objects.

It is a great relief to realize that this is the truth — and be freed from the obligation to respond to their threats with shock and agitation like Grandma's.

As you know, child psychiatrists are very anxious for us to calmly accept children's expressed wishes to "kill" us.

So long as we read adult experience into such threats, it's hard to accept them calmly. No normal parent, I think, could be completely comfortable with his child's genuine wish to murder him.

But we can deal calmly with his wish for our earthly end the moment we can see that what he really wants is the end of our refusal to let him go on playing with the garden hose, to ride his bicycle across the street — and otherwise do as he pleases without restriction.

It's the old obligation to feel in the little child's terms.

St. Thomas Aquinas Church of Nahant, Mass., was the setting for the wedding of Mona Duggan and James Hiram Nesbitt. Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. D. Joseph Duggan, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Anna Nesbitt and James Nesbitt.

James H. Nesbitt Takes Mona Duggan as Bride

Mona Duggan and James Hiram Nesbitt of Boston, Mass., were united in marriage in St. Thomas Aquinas Church of Nahant, Mass. The double-ring ceremony was performed Sept. 14.

Dr. and Mrs. D. Joseph Duggan of Nahant, Mass., are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Anna Nesbitt of South Jessie street and James Nesbitt of Cottage street.

The bridegroom's brother, N. Quentin Nesbitt of Indianapolis, Ind., was best man. John R. Duggan of Jamaica Plain, Mass., a brother of the bride; Robert J. McIlveen Jr. of Nahant, James G. Richardson of Martin, Tenn., and Robert S. McCarthy of Boston, Mass., seated the guests.

For receiving guests at a reception in the bride's home, Mrs. Duggan chose a royal blue chiffon gown with matching accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies and fucsias. Mrs. Nesbitt, the bridegroom's mother, wore a French blue faille taffeta self-trimmed gown with matching feather hat. She had a rubrum lily and fuscia corsage.

The bride attended Brimmer and May School, Middlebury College and Katherine Gibbs School. The bridegroom attended Alma College and was graduated from the University of Michigan.

WINNING CHEERS AND SMILES — The smiles on these girls, the senior cheerleaders of St. Frederick High School, are really warranted this week since the school won their first football game in four years Sunday by a 50 to 0 shutout. Ready to give an extra big cheer this Sunday when the Rams battle St. James of Ferndale in hopes of another victory are left to right: Peggy Owens, 2860 Chadwick Dr.; Maureen Drake, of 2141 Klingensmith Dr.; Sharon Talbot, 251 S. Initiate St. Mike's Frosh Tonight

By MICHAEL BUCHANAN

Freshmen at St. Michael High School will be in for a time of their life tonight when the seniors give them a dance and initiation combined.

Jim Fox was the hero at the St. Michael-Benedictine football game at Wisner Stadium Sunday. St. Michaels won by the score of 13-6. Fox made the two touchdowns and Jerry Ohngren kicked the extra point.

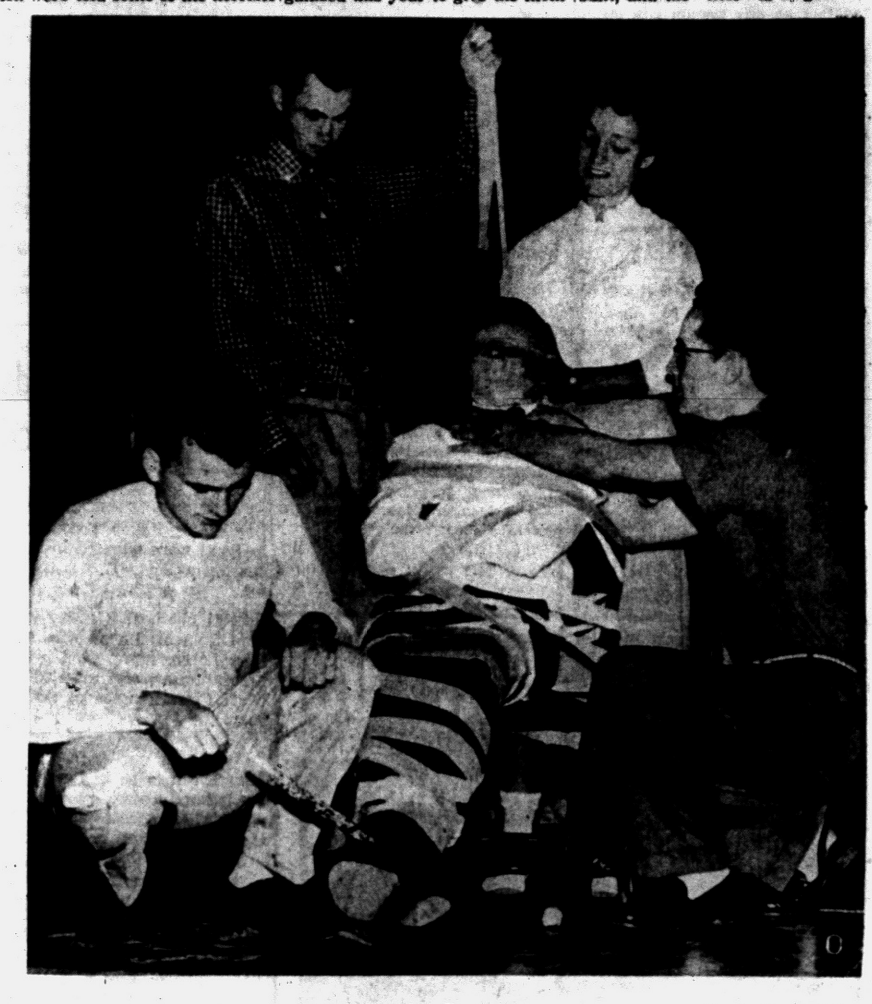

This is the first time we have ever played the new school of Benedictine in Detroit.

The class officers were elected at St. Michaels last week. Senior class officers are: Mike Biallas, president; Bob Mineweaser, vice president; Charlie Merithew, secretary, and Connie Shindorf, treasurer.

Also, for the first time this year, there will be officers elected for the CYO (Catholic Youth Organization), which, incidentally, held a dance last Friday. The freshmen were told some of the horrible comings of tonight, which will be the Freshman welcome dance, immortal in St. Michaels.

The future teachers and future social workers clubs will be organized this year to give the members some idea of the work involved in these fields.

There is noticeable progress on the school's dedication. The foundation forms are being built, and the "hole" is larger.

Invitations were mailed this week to parents of Waterford Township High school students requesting their attendance at the first meeting of the Parent-Teachers-Students Association on Wednesday morning. Entertainment for the evening will be supplied by the music department of the high school. A brief business meeting will include an introduction of the new principal, James S. Fry.

Sophomore class officers have been nominated after a week of petitioning. Nominations were: president Bob Cooper and Tim Patterson; vice-president, Fred Cook and Carole Kaines; treasurer, Charlotte Braiden, Betty Vernan, and Sherry Bertram. Petitions are still circulating for secretary. Nominees will be voted upon on Monday in sophomore homerooms.

Square Dance Scheduled Tonight

St. Fred's Rally Over Win

By PAT FOSTER

After meeting and beating Holy Cross, Marine City in the season's opener Sunday night at Wisner Stadium, St. Fred's is looking forward to a win-filled football season.

Spurred on by the 50-0 shutout, team and school spirits were really running at high tide after 34 winless games.

The victory was celebrated by a huge rally at the school and an open-house at the home of Pat O'Leary.

St. Fred's Junior Cheerleaders made their debut at a pep rally Friday afternoon. The meeting was conducted by our co-captains Dick Kast and Marty Koenig.

The first general meeting of Our Lady's Sodality was held Sept. 17 and plans are under way for the election of officers and the organization of home-room sodality groups.

Representatives were elected for the student council Monday. Senior members include Chuck Maloney, Pat Saghy, Brion Payette and Maureen Drake.

In the junior class the list is composed of Jerri Dodski, Jack Lyons, Tom Nesbit and Mary Jean Brandt. The sophomores have elected Gail Vitsikinski, Charlette O'Shust, Joe Keller and Charles Guibord. The freshman list includes Mike Reed, Barbara Kast, Brenda Bushell and Norbert Hoffman.

A square dance will be held in the hall tonight. Holy Name Society is sponsoring the event.

County High Schools Hold Elections

Election fever raged in Walled Lake High this week as candidates for class offices scurried to get signatures on their petitions and their campaign managers chose the best spots to display posters and "gimmicks" to advantage. The disease is expected to subside when secret ballots are cast next week.

Will it be the same blue with blue and gold tassel? The Senior cap and gown committee decides the problem this week. Another group selected the style of announcements. Meanwhile, a Junior group selected ring styles to display for the entire class so they can vote for their choice.

AT WEST BLOOMFIELD

The senior class at West Bloomfield High School is in the process of working toward their trip to New York City in May.

Dulce Espinueva, exchange student from the Philippines, has been making her home at 7030 Commerce Road, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lester E. Olmsead and daughter, Kathy.

At a recent assembly Sybil Simons, West Bloomfield's exchange student to a foreign country, gave an informative description of her stay in Germany. Sybil wore a dress which was made by her German mother.

The West Bloomfield High School band under the direction of J. Pfuffer will be taking part in the "University of Michigan Band Day" on the fifth of October.

Fifty-one band members including the majorettes will attend. The band will also participate in a parade October 9, which opens fire prevention week in Pontiac.

AT LAKE ORION

Seniors are the busiest of the school however, with their project of selling magazines for their senior class trip expenses which will finish Monday.

Drag-on-in Board of the Youth Center (the school emblem is the Dragon) have elected Larry Kelly, president; John Taylor, vice - president; Mary Lynn Shoup, secretary; and Cindy Greenless, treasurer.

The new flag pole dedicated by the class of '56 was erected over the weekend and furniture for the lounge, the class of '57 choice for the school, has been ordered by the committee chosen for that purpose and may be here in time for the school's decision.

AT AVONDALE

Melody Jones, a comedy drama by Nathan and Ruth Hale, has been selected by Miss Margaret Rose as the production for the Avondale High School senior play.

Tryouts are now being held and the production schedules will begin next week.

Carol Atwood and Barbara Parker attended the National Cheerleaders camp 'Smith-Walbridge' at Elkhart Indiana this summer. The girls took first place in the cheering exhibitions, aside of learning new cheers, good cheering rules, crowd psychology and sportsmanship.

AT CLARKSTON

Clarkston High School will soon have their own school paper. Under the guidance of Miss Klauser and Mrs. Peterson, interested students are recruiting reporters and editors for the paper, which should be in publication in a week.

The four-page paper will be mimeographed except for special occasions, such as homecoming, prom, and graduation, when printed issues with pictures will be distributed.

To start the year off 50 Clarkston band members and five majorettes will attend the Annual Band Day on October 5th at the University of Michigan Ann Arbor.

There will be 190 bands participating in this event consisting of approximately 12,000 musicians.

Our five majorettes will be featured along with the other school majorettes in a pre-game exhibition with the University of Michigan Band playing for them.

PARIS — An electronic shorthand device that may reduce typists' and stenographers' jobs to punchboard operations has been invented in France. A stilettolike writing instrument is touched by the operator to copper contact studs labeled with shorthand symbols. The contact activates a 57-tube machine that can store 16 sentences in its memory and type as fast as any person can speak.

Reuther Extolls Medical Plans

Tells State Physicians Health Insurance Is Essential

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Walter Reuther told Michigan doctors yesterday that labor and medicine are becoming increasingly dependent on each other.

"Health insurance has become nothing less than essential and its further development inescapable," said the president of the United Auto Workers Union.

Reuther was to deliver the 1957 Biddle lecture Thursday before the Michigan State Medical Society here, but has been ill with flu. His speech was read to the convention by UAW vice president Leonard Woodcock.

Reuther took note of the objections of many medical groups to health and medical insurance programs. He said medical societies entered the pre-paid plans reluctantly to avert the possibility of socialized medicine.

Unions, on the other hand, entered voluntary insurance reluctantly because a government program was not available," Reuther said.

"The original motivations of both medicine and labor are now of only academic interest," the UAW president told the Medical Society. "What is far more important is that both are actively involved in pre-payment and our common problem is to make it work."

Reuther said troublesome problems to be settled include the scope of health insurance and the setting of fees that are adequate and, at the same time, equitable.

As to criticism from some quarters over union insistence that medical insurance be included in contracts with management, Reuther said it is false to assume that the workers are not paying for what they get.

Reuther said he would like to dispel the "bogeyman" that insurance plans tend to destroy the personal relationship between doctor and patient and encourage "assembly-line medicine."

Consider Seattle Future NL Entry

Coast City Mentioned in Realignment Talk by Owners

SEATTLE (AP)—Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers and other National League team owners are giving serious thought to inclusion of this city of 600,000 in a new, 10-team realignment of the loop, a Seattle financier said today.

J. McElroy McCaw, the owner of a string of radio stations and other interests on the Pacific Coast, including the Seattle Americans of the Western Hockey League, said he had conversed and corresponded with O'Malley on the proposed move.

"Both O'Malley and Horace Stoneham (owner of the New York Giants) told me the league is much interested in Seattle," McCaw said. "They both say the time to make the move is now.

"Both men are anxious for at least one more city on the Coast."

Explaining, McCaw said the one more city would be Seattle, after the Giants move to San Francisco and if the Dodgers make their proposed move to Los Angeles.

McCaw quoted O'Malley as saying the National League, expanded to nine teams with the addition of Seattle, would be increased to a 10-team loop by bringing in Minneapolis.

Ninowski Gets Starting Call at Quarterback

Indiana Presents New Look Against MSU 11 Tomorrow Afternoon

Spartan coaches, traditionally, slip their quarterback the first series of plays for a Saturday on a Friday afternoon.

Then the squad runs through those plays to make sure of getting them right. But they aren't obvious to the practice spectator because they are smuggled in among 30 or 40 other plays.

So Jim Ninowski, starting at quarterback for State for the first time, will have his instruction on what to throw at Indiana just a few minutes after kickoff time tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

For a number of games, Michigan State passed on the first play, which generally is used as a running gambit.

Then the word went out to watch for the pass so Daugherty switched signals.

One thing State probably will do is run each of the first three plays from a different pattern — split T, single wing or one of the many variations of the multiple offense.

The idea is to keep the opponent off balance and shifting the defense. Often, the spotters in the press box can spot an opponent weakness just from that first series.

Today's workout was scheduled for Spartan Stadium as a last look at the place before game time. Indiana is scheduled to arrive here shortly before noon and also will work out in the rebuilt football bowl.

A student cheer leader started the "Rose Bowl" chant and it was picked up with enthusiasm.

Daugherty admitted he liked the enthusiasm and his high pick as fourth in the Associated Press poll.

But he added. "Let's win a few games first. Right now all I can see is Indiana."

STARTS FOR MSU—Jim Ninowski, senior quarterback from Detroit's Pershing High School, will start for Michigan State as the Spartans open the home season tomorrow against Big 10 for Indiana.

Denver Downs Bisons for 3rd Series Win

DENVER (AP)—A see-saw battle of power gave Denver its third straight victory over Buffalo last night in the 41st Little World Series, and a chance for an unprecedented four-year sweep by one league.

The American Assn. representatives rallied from a two-run deficit and went on to win, 13-9. The series shifts to Buffalo's International League park, where it resumes tomorrow night to determine the winner of the best-of-7 series.

Home Series Ends Season

Tigers Sweep Sox

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe's unpredictable Detroit Tigers are home again almost secure in a first division finish for the first time in seven years.

The Tigers, who swept their two-game series in Chicago with the American League runnerup White Sox, now finish the season at Briggs Stadium in a three-game series starting tonight with the Kansas City Athletics.

In tonight's opener, righthander Jim Bunning will make his third try for the charmed circle of 20 victories. It's his last good chance after he missed out on two previous efforts. He has eight defeats.

Detroit's 3 to 2 victory over Chicago yesterday, in which pitcher Paul Foytack was a comeback star, virtually clinched fourth place.

Not since 1950 have the Tigers ended in the first division. Only a collapse could prevent it now. Detroit has a full three-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians, who are tied for fifth.

Foytack, winning his 14th game against 10 losses, was superb until two singles and a walk filled the bases in the Chicago seventh and former Tiger Earl Torgeson singled home two runs as a pinch hitter.

Up to the seventh Foytack, without a victory in weeks, had allowed only two hits. Lou Sleater relieved him after Torgeson's hit. In the eighth, Duke Maas relieved Sleater when the Sox threatened another rally.

Detroit put together six of its nine hits off Bill Fischer and Don Rudolph for its three runs in the first two innings. After that, the Tigers offered little as an attack.

Officials of the teams huddled and vice president John Rigney of Chicago said "we kicked around a few names." Rigney said there will be more talks during the World Series.

The White Sox are reported interested in shortstop Harvey Kuenn and the Tigers in outfielder Larry Doby and catcher Les Moss.

Harris Scores TKO at Saginaw

Lowry Wins by Knockout

SAGINAW (AP) — Pat Lowry of Toledo knocked out Willie Barbois of Toronto in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round middleweight bout at Saginaw last night.

Lowry, who at 155 pounds, was one pound under Barbois, was slightly behind in points when he connected with a short right to the jaw that floored his opponent for the count.

Musial Assured of 7th Hitting Title at .351

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, excused for the season's last three games along with seven other St. Louis Cardinal players, has wrapped up his seventh National League batting crown with a .351 average, his best in six years.

Musial batted a sizzling .516 down the stretch with 16 hits in his last 31 times at bat after returning to the line-up. He had been out with a shoulder injury.

Quarterback Released

Lions Through With 'Dub'

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions have released quarterback Tom Dublinski whose switch to Canadian football in 1955 embroiled the Lions in a two-year court case with the Toronto Argonauts.

The 27-year-old one-time understudy to Bobby Layne checked in at the Lions office in Detroit yesterday after being released earlier this week by the Argonauts of the Canadian Big Four League. The Argonauts let him go because of injuries.

Injuries also kept Dublinski out of part of the 1956 season.

The Lions filed a damage suit when Dublinski went with the Argos. Detroit insisted Dublinski had violated the option clause in his contract.

After a long series of hearings in various courts the Lions were awarded $11,000 in damages and costs.

Tigers Sign Pitcher From Grand Rapids

DETROIT (AP)—Dick Klunder, a southpaw pitcher from Grand Rapids Central High School, has signed a minor league contract with the Detroit Tigers.

Klunder, 19, signed with the Class B Durham Club. He pitched with the Grand Rapids Sullivan team that competed in the National Baseball Congress tournament in Wichita, Kan., this summer.

The Tigers also announced the signing of two other players to minor league contracts. They are Dick Nicholas, an infielder who attends the University of Buffalo, and outfielder Ronald Myers of Elizabethtown, Ky.

Wolverines Are Favored Over Southern Cal

Pacific Coast Team Still Suffering From Edict Effects

Gone from the Wolverines are most of the players who brought success to Michigan for three seasons.

Recently graduated Terry Barr, Tom Maentz, Ron Kramer, Jim Maddock, Dick Hill and Mike Rotunno and Co. never were able to bring Michigan out to this sunny climate for a Rose Bowl game.

But in the last three seasons, they won 20 of 27 games and never finished lower than third in the Big Ten. Their places have been taken by Mike Shatusky, Walt Johnson, Gary Prahst, Gene Snider, Jim Davies and Larry Faul. All were understudies last year to what coach Bennie Oosterbaan likes to call "my stars."

Southern Cal also has undergone a tremendous manpower turnover. Jon Arnett, the best back on the Pacific Coast last season, has graduated. C. R. Roberts, a blasting fullback, has fallen before the sword of the Pacific Coast Conference and its illegal edict. Several of Roberts' senior teammates likewise have been barred from a season of competition.

The Trojans are under a new coach, Don Clark, a former professional with the San Francisco Forty-Niners. He lost his coaching debut last Saturday to Oregon State, 20-0.

Clark has built a heavy but immobile line paced by 255-pound tackle Monte Clark. It outweighs the faster Michigan forward wall by 10 pounds per man. Oregon State proved the Trojans can be pushed around.

Southern Cal has a novice backfield. Only right halfback Tony Ortega is a holdover regular. Junior Jim Conroy is the quarterback for Troy. He was a reserve last year and is considered a poor passer.

The Wolverines are favored by two touchdowns. Kickoff time is 4 p. m. (EST).

Michigan and Southern Cal have met only once before, in the 1948 Rose Bowl. The Wolverines rolled to an easy 49-0 victory.

It will be Michigan's first appearance in the 101,356-seat coliseum that was erected to house the 1932 Olympic games.

Speiser Wants to Meet Durelle

Offer Canadian $7,500 for Fight in Detroit Next Month

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Spieser, brother and manager of light heavyweight boxer Chuck Spieser, yesterday challenged Yvon Durelle to a 10-round bout and said the fight would draw $50,000 in Detroit.

"Durelle needs a good win in the light-heavy division before he can think of taking on Archie Moore," said Joe, who took over last month when Spieser ended his agreement with manager Hec Knowles. "Right now a Moore-Durelle fight wouldn't draw anything and Archie knows it. Durelle his win over Besmanoff."

Promoter Julius Piazza said he has offered Durelle $7,500 or 30 per cent of the gate to meet Spieser in a Detroit bout Oct. 17 or 24. Piazza said he previously had offerered Durelle $5,00.

Law Concerning Guns in Cars in Effect Now

LANSING (AP) — With waterfowl and small game seasons about to open, the State Conservation Department today reminded hunters of a new law concerning transportation of guns in motor vehicles.

The law stipulates that a gun, rifle or shotgun, must be placed in a case and fastened, disassembled or stored in the closed trunk of a car whenever it's transported in a motor vehicle.

Purpose of the act was to discourage roadside hunting.

The law also applies to bows and arrows, specifying that a bow must be encased or placed in the car trunk, not merely unstrung.

Lou Little Calls 'em

Looking around the country, so well sprinkled with major games tomorrow, and knowing what the coaches and their men have been though in the last four weeks, I have been thinking about a development which I'm convinced has meant a great deal to college football.

We're getting the best game these days that we have ever seen. We're getting it because the boys have learned, and so have the coaches, that the qualities which make a man good on the attack almost invariably are complemented by abilities which make good on defense.

When we have the two-platoon plan—and I was then an exponent of it with so many others—we divided the squad into offensive and defensive players.

We picked a man for one or the other. He was a "one-channel" player. We pegged him that way and naturally he was quickly convinced that, if picked for offense he was inferior on defense, and vice versa. He developed a mental reservation.

When, because of popular demand more than for any other reason, the two-platoon plan was abandoned, we quickly found that the good players soon were not only able but anxious to go both ways. Lack of confidence which many had developed in half their game soon disappeared.

So, when squads like Army and Nebraska, LSU and Alabama, Tennessee and Auburn, Ohio State and TCU, Michigan and USC, Minnesota and Washington, or Stanford and Northwestern, and the many others, clash tomorrow, you'll be seeing in concept and probably in execution the best game we've ever had.

LOU LITTLE PICKS

Army over Nebraska. Army lacks depth, but quality is there.
Yale over Connecticut. Eli building again and early work has been good.
Holy Cross over VMI H. C. faces heavy schedule with improved outfit.
Maryland over N. C. State. Close one; this may be N.C. State's best team.
Penn State over Penn. Quakers improved, but State packs more power.
Pitt over Oregon. Panthers should find themselves.
LSU over Alabama if LSU line does its job for its fleet backs.
Ohio State over TCU. Buckeyes may not hit Big Ten top, but they're good.
Michigan State over Indiana. State may be Big Ten's strongest.
Penn State over Penn. Quakers improved, but State packs more power.
Michigan over USC. Wolverines should be versatile, powerful.
Stanford over Northwestern. So close that home setting gives Stanford edge.

NFL Opens 38th Year; Lions Face Baltimore

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Another highly successful season is anticipated when the National Football League opens its 38th season Sunday with a full schedule of six games.

Many traditional openers will initiate the 1957 campaign. Most traditional opener will be the 77th game in the rivalry between the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears to be played in dedication of Green Bay's new City Stadium.

Other openers will have the Detroit Lions at Baltimore, the New York Giants at Cleveland, the Philadelphia Eagles at Los Angeles, Chicago Cardinals at San Francisco and Washington at Pittsburgh.

The meeting between Detroit and Baltimore will be the 9th in the series. Lone victory for the Colts came in the 1955 opener.

Detroit finished the exhibition campaign with a 3-3 mark after winning the first three. A wave of injuries, which saw 11 ailing Lions get hurt, was a definite factor in final three pre-season games.

The return of Jim Doran and Ray Krouse, who missed the Giants' game, should bolster the Lions. Doran was out for three games. Dave Middleton, the team's top pass receiver will also be ready after missing the New York contest because of final exams in medical school.

End Dorne Dibble is still out with a leg injury and linebacker Sonny Gandee is out for the season with a torn cartilage.

Newly acquired Frank Gatski will start at center, thereby moving Charley Ane to tackle. Roger Zatkoff will be a starter in Gandee's position.

Bobby Layne will get the starting call at quarterback along with Gene Gedman and John Henry Johnson or Tom Tracy in the backfield.

Baltimore has a 2-2-1 pre-season record with wins over Philadelphia and the Cardinals and a tie with the Bears. The losses were to Washington and the Cards.

Kickoff time is 1:00 p.m., Detroit, and the game will be televised on Channel 2.

Army Begins 68th Grid Year Saturday

The Cadets are 18-point favorites over the Cornhuskers, who lost to Washington State last week 34-14. This will be the first time since 1928 the two teams met—and only the second time over-all. The Cadets, with Chris Cagle riding high, won the first one 13-3.

Blaik, while rich in bulky linemen, still is hurting for experience. Quarterback Dave Bourland, center, Jim Kernan, guards Stan Slater and Bill Rowe and fullback Vince Barta are the only ones who saw any amount of regular varsity experience in 1956.

61 Pros Play in State 36-Hole Event Sunday; Johnson Defends Title

By BILL CORNWELL

It's farewell to golf in Michigan for another season Sunday when the Michigan Section of the Professional Golfers' Association conducts its annual 36-hole state tournament at Birmingham Country Club.

Sixty-one pros, led by defending champion Jimmy Johnson, will shoot for the coveted state PGA crown in the final tourney of the 1957 season.

With the exception of Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert, all of Michigan's big-name pros are entered in the medal play event. The long-hitting Harbert had a previous golfing commitment and was unable to join the crowd.

Former National Open king Jack Fleck, who missed this year's state Open tourney, will be on hand Sunday and rates a strong chance to carry home the honors. Fleck is now head pro at Rochester Golf and Country Club.

Two of the state's finest young pros, Gene Bone of Tam O'Shanter and Bob Inman of Detroit Golf Club, are ineligible for this tournament because they have not yet completed their five-year PGA apprenticeships.

Par at the Birmingham layout is 36-36—72 and the yardage for the one-day championship test will be 6,837.

Ray Maguire, the host pro, reports that the course is in perfect condition. "The course is just perfect right now," said Maguire, "and if we don't have a heavy rain between now and Sunday, the layout will play fast."

Golfers will leave the 1st tee at seven-minute intervals, starting at 8 a.m. The 2nd round is scheduled to begin sometime between 12 noon and 12:30 and the '57 Michigan PGA king should be known by 6:30 p.m.

An 18-hole pro-member tournament on Saturday will serve as a preliminary to Sunday's main show.

Cleveland Trips Kansas City, 2-1

Rookies Pace Victory in Drive for Fourth Place Deadlock

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Indians kept alive hopes for a possible share of 4th place and a new contract for manager Kerby Farrell by edging Kansas City 2-1 in one of the two games played in the major yesterday.

Detroit clinched at least a tie for fourth with a 3-2 victory over Chicago in the only other contest.

A pair of late-season arrivals paced the Indians. Vito Valentinetti hurled his 1st Major League complete game with a five-hitter as infielder Billy Harrell garnered two of the four Tribe hits, one a triple, to drive in a run.

Farrell appears to be the only doubtful repeater among seven big league managers still unsigned for 1958. A tie for 4th could change that situation.

The most first downs ever made by Michigan State in a single football game was 33 against Marquette in 1952.

Chiefs, Skippers Both After 1st Wins

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac's football team visits the law-making city of Lansing tonight, hoping to crack the victory column against Sexton High School, another win-hungry ball club.

The Chiefs, with good potential in their running game, could upset the favored Big Reds if they can show better defensive efforts than they did against Wyandotte.

Changes have been made in the line and defensive backfield by Coach Jesse MacLeay with the hope of stopping the Sexton ground attack which gained over 220 yards running in the 19-6 loss to Muskegon.

"As long as our running game was working, we did not have to pass," said Sexton coach Buck Nystrom. "We have a couple of good ends as receivers and are ready to throw if necessary," he added.

Sexton has speed in the backfield with halfbacks Bob Litten, 155 pounds, and Fritz Kellerman at 145, and power with fullback Larry Gruhn, a hard running 165-pounder.

Larry Douglas will draw the starting assignment for Pontiac at fullback in place of Archie Brooks, who may see action at halfback. Another change will be to move Jim Hawkins to the starting halfback post in place of Jim Kellar.

Big man in Pontiac's line again will be Willie Duncan, 187-pound guard. Duncan will find an old wrestling foe in the opposite line when he meets Gery Williams, Sexton's 215-pound tackle.

Duncan and Williams faced each other during the wrestling season and the sturdy PHS grappler did well in losing by one point in his first attempt at the sport. Williams is the son of Michigan's governor. He stands 6-3 and is a senior at Sexton.

Game time at Lansing is 8 p.m. Next week the Chiefs will meet Ferndale on the Wisner gridiron.

Waterford Will Change Lineup for Lapeer 11

Junior Wendy Meyer Gets Starting Nod at Quarterback

In the words of the popular song of a few years ago, "there'll be some changes made" in Waterford's starting lineup tonight when the Skippers meet a dangerous Lapeer football team at Lapeer.

Head coach Dave Freeman plans at least three changes in the Waterford offensive platoon when the 8 o'clock kickoff time arrives in an effort to get the Skippers rolling after last week's 26-0 loss to Royal Oak Dondero.

Wendy Meyer, 175-pound junior, will replace Jim Green at quarterback while either Dick Finkbiener or Milton Mielke is slated to relieve Olin Wright of his fullback position.

Bob Mellema will probably start at guard in place of Dennis Kind, although Duane Hooper is also a candidate for the job.

End John Keating and center Doug Hales are nursing injuries this week and their status is uncertain. Tony Hiller, Keating's understudy, and center Bruce Hempton are ready to go if the occasion demands it.

Lapeer is a somewhat inexperienced but capable squad which opened its '57 season with a last-minute 7-6 victory over Caro. The Panthers are seeking revenge for a 20-13 setback at the hands of the Skippers a year ago.

Waterford will be a slight favorite in tonight's contest.

Chips-Hillsdale Battle Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long-awaited, much-debated battle between Hillsdale and Central Michigan comes off Saturday at Mount Pleasant.

Though two straight losses by Central Michigan have rubbed some of the shine off the game, it still is ranked as the top small college attraction around the state as 12 teams swing into action.

Eastern Michigan and Illinois Normal start the weekend firing Friday night at Ypsilanti, kicking off the Interstate Conference activity. The rest of the MIAC teams will be busy with non-league games.

Eastern got a major surprise last weekend when an inspired Hope college team escaped with a 19-6 triumph that buoyed Hope's chances of deposing long-ruling Hillsdale as MIAA champion.

Upset-Minded Wolves Host Milford Tonight

By CHUCK ABAIR

Three league battles and a non-loop affair involving defending champion Northville heads a full slate of action for Wayne-Oakland teams today as the 2nd weekend of the new football season gets under way.

Two local tussles that could have considerable bearing on the final standings will find Holly at Bloomfield Hills this afternoon at 3:30 and Milford at Clarkston tonight at 8.

WOLVES' STARTER — Senior Jim Jensen will be operating in the starting backfield tonight as Clarkston hosts Milford in an important Wayne-Oakland tussle. He ran well at Oxford to help spark the Wolves to an opening triumph.

Clarenceville, which bowed to the new Bloomfield Hills entry last week, plays at Brighton in the other league tilt. Northville goes to Thurston still seeking its 1st triumph after a one-point setback by Plymouth in the opener.

Holly will have a long edge on size and experience and must be rated the favorite at Bloomfield. The Broncos have 18 lettermen back from their 2nd place eleven of last year including such big boys as tackle Ken Leese, 210, and 196-pound center Phil Valek.

Speed, hustle and hard-running fullback Jim Kearney are the chief factors in the Barons' favor. Kearney was the 2nd highest individual scorer in Oakland County last fall and he got off to a fast start this season with two touchdowns in his 1st game.

Holly came out of its hard-fought 6-6 tie at Grand Blanc in good physical shape. Bloomfield should be improved physically with quarterback Doug Danziger back in the lineup.

That could turn out to be a ding-dong battle at Clarkston with the Wolves hungry for an upset that could make them a title threat this season. Like Holly, Milford is big and well set for experienced hands.

Various illnesses and the failure of halfback Kent See to recover from an injury have hindered drills at Clarkston and caused more shifting in the starting array by coach Ed Hintz.

Some of his lineup changes will be the insertion of 200-pound Oxford transfer Bill Noles at an end and starting jobs for Jim Jensen and Russ Soffredine in the backfield.

Milford skipper Dick Yeager will stick with the same starting unit which performed so well in downing West Bloomfield. It includes nine seniors. First team backs Pat Kelley, Gerry Hackett and Frank Redman and reserve end Andre Lavoy all got TD's in the opener giving an indication of the Redskin balance.

Maples After Upset of Bay City

TOUGH SLEDDING — It's been a lot of hard work for the Rochester grid team this week in preparation for an invasion by Farmington tonight. Coach Gene Konley rides the blocking sled and keeps his linemen going. Rochester lost its opener to Davison last week.

Wolfpack Rated Number Three Team in State

Birmingham Is Keyed for Upset; BC Is Hit by Flu Bug

By BILL CORNWELL

Illness hit the Bay City Central football camp Thursday on the eve of the Wolfpack's invasion of Birmingham for Oakland County's "game of the week."

Five of coach Elmer Engel's regulars plus a 2nd stringer were on the sidelines yesterday as the Wolves went through their final preparations for tonight's struggle with underdog Birmingham.

Whether or not it was Asian flu which put the Bay City gridders off their feet could not be immediately determined. Port Huron was the 1st Michigan high school to feel the effects of the Asian bug when 27 Big Red varsity players were taken ill Wednesday.

The sick Bay City regulars are end Jim Schultz, center Tim Plum, defensive tackle Mike Burt, fullback Ken Carey and halfback Ervin (Butch) Kokaly, the sparkplug of the Wolves' attack. Chris Mathews a reserve halfback, was also stricken.

Eagle said that all of the boys were given penicillin shots and sent home to bed. He expressed hope that the penicillin plus a good night's sleep would find his charges ready for duty tonight.

With or without them, the Wolves will be prohibitive favorites to hand Birmingham its 1st loss when action begins at 8 p.m.

Bay City is currently ranked No. 3 in the state Class A poll and many experts think that the Wolves will rise to the top of the heap before the 1957 season is over. They are favored to dethrone Flint Northern as champs of the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Kokaly, along with quarterback Jerry Gross, may give the Maples fits. Kokaly is a 170-pound speed demon who runs the 100-yard dash in 10.4. Gross is a talented "T" operator and passer who threw four touchdown aerials during Central's 48-0 romp over Owosso a week ago.

Birmingham's hopes of upsetting the Wolves ride mainly on the broad shoulders of big Chuck Gibson, 220-pound fullback who sparked coach Carl Lemle's Maples to a 19-7 win over Cranbrook last week.

PGA Collecting Tourney Fees if Co-Sponsored

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Efforts of the Professional Golfers Assn. to collect entry fees from PGA-co-sponsored tournaments prompted a fresh expression of concern today from backers of the $37,500 Houston Open.

Chick McCarthy, president of the Houston Golf Assn., said a letter signed by most members of the Ryder Cup and challenge teams informed the Houston sponsors their appearance here is conditioned on acceptance of the PGA's new contract terms.

He quoted the group as writing they would agree to reducing the purse for this richest tournament on the winter tour to $30,000 provided entry fees go to the PGA tournament bureau.

Walled Lake, Rochester, Romeo Hosts

Area Grid Teams Have Full Slate

Walled Lake and Romeo, two of the area's biggest football powerhouses last year, hope to continue their winning ways tonight and there is every reason to believe that they will.

Defending Inter-Lakes Conference champion Walled Lake, 26-12 conqueror of Redford Union a week ago, seeks to extend its winning streak to 10 games at the expense of West Bloomfield on the Walled Lake gridiron.

Romeo, which defeated Richmond by a 6-0 score last Friday, is heavily favored to down invading Avondale. The Bulldogs, beaten only once in 1956, have deserted the independent ranks to join the Tri-County League.

While Walled Lake and Romeo are still engaging in non-league activity, Lake Orion will open its bid for the Oakland B crown against Madison and defending title-holder Clawson plays host to Fitzgerald.

Farmington, not highly regarded in pre-season forecasts, startled the crystal ball gazers a week ago by snapping Livonia Bentley's 15-game victory string. Rochester, in the meantime, was bowing to Davison 13-0.

West Bloomfield looks outmanned and outclassed by the Vikings. The game will match two of Oakland's better quarterbacks, Frank Fink of Walled Lake and the Lakers' John Lucadam.

Avondale coach Frank Crowell has made several alterations in his starting lineup for tonight's battle with Romeo, but the changes are not likely to prevent the Jackets from absorbing another licking. They were routed by Inkster Roosevelt last week 50-7.

End Al Alcorn, tackle Pat Shurtz, guard Don Barnhart and halfback Dick Hutchinson will be new Avondale starters. They should get a rough initiation at the hands of Butch Dallwitz and company.

Lake Orion will try to forget the fact that Clawson has already been conceded the Oakland B title by most onlookers when the Dragons go to Madison. Orion looked impressive routing Roseville in the season opener and gets the nod in this one.

Clawson, which has another powerhouse this year, is a top-heavy choice to dispose of Fitzgerald, despite the Spartans' 6-0 upset of Utica last Friday.

League activity around the area picks up a little tonight, headed by a three-game program in the Wayne-Oakland circuit, but the bulk of conference play starts a week hence.

Three games are scheduled in the Southern Thumb League—Dryden at Armada, Capac at Brown City and Memphis at Almont. North Branch visits Oxford to lift the lid on the South Central race. Utica hosts South Lake in a Bi-County game.

Milwaukee to Rely on Power

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves have the power. The New York Yankees have the speed and a better defense.

That is a brief summation of the relative outfield strength of the 1957 World Series participants.

Closer inspection of the situation, however, reveals that the outcome of the championship games may depend on the performances of three outfielders.

The tide will swing to the Yanks if Mickey Mantle can recover sufficiently from his leg injuries to handle the bulk of his team's long ball hitting and do a capable job in centerfield.

Or the pendulum could swing to the Braves if:

1. Bob Hazle, a .408 batter in 39 games, finds Yankee pitchers as easy to hit as those in the National League.

2. Hank Aaron, the Major League leader in home runs and runs batted in, delivers the same timely blows he did so often during the regular season.

Hazle will replace Pafko against righthanders. And Tony Kubek or Enos Slaughter will take over from Howard when Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl pitch for the Braves.

Aaron, with 44 homers, Covington, with 21, and Hazel, with 7, give the Milwaukee outfielders a total of 72 circuit blows. Among the Yank outfielders who figure to see the most action, Mantle has 34, Bauer 18 and Kubek 3 for an aggregate of 55. Pafko has hit 7, Howard 8 and Slaughter 5.

Except for Hazle, Mantle's .365 batting average is the highest on both outfield squads. Aaron is next with .325. Kubek is at .295, Bauer at .259, Howard .257 and Slaughter .254. Covington shows a .289 mark and Pafko .280.

LONG TIME — Paul Foytack finally won his 14th game yesterday in beating the White Sox. He has not gained a decision since August 13 when he was sidelined because of shoulder injuries.

Play Saturday Afternoon

Cranes Meet Lake Forest

An old rivalry will be renewed when Cranbrook opens its home season Saturday afternoon against Lake Forest Academy of Chicago.

The Cranes, who gave Birmingham a battle on the Maple gridiron last week, have won the last three contests played against the Lakers, 14-6 in 1954, 13-0 in 1955 and 34-13 last year.

In three seasons before this Lake Forest was victorious by scores of 20-0 in 1953, 19-14 in 1952 and 21-7 in 1951.

The Chicago Academy won its season opener, 13-12, from a strong Racine Lutheran team when Mike O'Brien, a halfback scored both touchdowns. O'Brien and Les Turner, a fullback, are the big guns for Lake Forest.

Coach Mac Dahl of the Lakers has 13 lettermen, all offensive or defensive regulars, returning as he begins his first season as head coach. Former coach John Hastings is now the team's line coach.

Cranbrook will be strengthened with the eligibility of several players who could not play in high school competition but who can play against prep insitutions.

Halfback Stuart Clark from Champaign, Ill., and quarterback Dick Eberline of Rochester, along with end Dan Crowley of Birmingham and tackle Bill Wheeler of Peoria will be able to play.

Game time on the Crane gridiron is 2:00 p.m.

Giardello to Fight Bobby Lane Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—With little to gain and much to lose in his pursuit of a crack at the middleweight title, Joey Giardello of Brooklyn takes on Bobby Lane of Miami in a 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena tonight.

Joey, ranked by Ring Magazine yesterday as fifth among contenders for Carmen Basilio's newly won middleweight crown, is a 9-5 favorite over the unranked, 23-year-old Floridian. A notch ahead of Giardello, in fourth, is Rory Calhoun whom Joey beat here in a split decision earlier this year.

A setback at the hands of Lane, would wipe out the gain in ratings Giardello has made since a year ago this week when he smashed Bobby Boyd, breaking the Chicagoan's jaw.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Most bowlers with a short hook ball follow a line pretty close to that shown in today's drawing. Note how the ball follows a fairly straight line as it moves down the alley. Then, as it nears the pins, its hooking action takes over and moves it into the 1-3 strike pocket.

If you're having trouble early in the league season getting your ball to behave in this way, don't worry about it. Most bowlers have trouble getting a normal hook ball early in the year, as I told a class in Denver a few weeks ago.

One reason is because a bowler's finger action may not be normal after several months of bowling inactivity. The ball probably feels heavy, too, because the wrist and finger muscles need exercise. But as you bowl more, this will change.

Another problem arises with the alleys themselves. Most of them have been resurfaced during the summer, and they'll be a bit "stiff" or "slick" until they've been bowled on a bit. Later in the year, they'll take your ball better.

'Gun Man's Walk' at Columbia

Teen Dreamboat Hunter to Co-Star With Van Heflin

By LOULLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I can practically hear the 'teenagers cheering section letting out a roar over the news that their dreamboat Tab Hunter returns to work immediately co-starring with Van Heflin in "Gun Man's Walk" at Columbia (a loan-out from Warners for Tab).

The popular Mr. Hunter got himself suspended by Warners, but managed to startle the record world with the sensationally successful hit "Young Love." He is doing another record, "Learning to Love," the theme song of "Lafayette Escadrille," for his home studio.

Recently when Tab was taken off suspension by Warners he was announced for the lead in "Damn Yankees," but he'll do "Gun Man's Walk" first.

My young friend Tony Perkins is on his way by car to visit Asheville, N.C., the birthplace of Thomas Wolfe. Tony, who appears in "Look Homeward, Angel," the Wolfe stage play, will meet Wolfe's relatives before he goes on to New York.

Tony will occupy the same dressing room at the Barrymore Theatre that he used three years ago when he was an unknown. He is superstitious and chose it in preference to the "star" dressing room.

He had his last date before he left Hollywood with Norma Moore, his old girl friend who came here from New York to do a matinee TV show. And you can bank on his seeing much more of her in New York.

One of the most important of our industry's functions is the American Heart Association's luncheon being given for that great heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Dr. White, who was called in when President Eisenhower was stricken, is considered one of the greatest authorities in America today on heart conditions.

It will be a privilege to hear him speak at the luncheon Oct. 2, at the Beverly Hills Hotel. The sponsors for this event are Spyros Skouras and Jack Warner and the committee members are all top names. Eddie Cantor and I are serving as co-chairmen.

The women will love "Until They Sail," with its sentiment, drama and love interest. The men will enjoy it, too, and understand why Paul Newman fell in love with Jean Simmons, who besides being a good actress is so appealing. Paul has some extremely mature lines, but then this story about the American Marines and the love-starved women of New Zealand is adult.

I fell in love with blonde, 15-year-old Sandra Dee, former 'teenage model. She is a fresh young beauty who makes her debut as one of four sisters. Surprising to see Piper Laurie as a young "tramp," who scores in this off-type role. I particularly like Charles Drake as Joan Fontaine's lover (she is excellent, too).

Also, a nod to both producer Charles Schnee and director Robert Wise for giving us a movie that isn't too long and is box-office.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The condition of Molly Bee, Tommy Sands' favorite girlfriend, is no better. Molly, who has had pneumonia, had a relapse and must stay in bed two weeks.

Mrs. Earl Warren, wife of our Supreme Court Justice, and daughter, Virginia, are at the Beverly Hilton Hotel visiting Honeybear Warren (Mrs. Stuart Brien), who expects her first baby in November.

Earl Holliman, who is dating Dolores Hart, says he's in love.

Suzy Parker who was in town only long enough to greet her friends and then she was off to Paris to see the boyfriend Pierre Lasalle.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Johnny Appleseed's Birthday

Honors Favorite Son

PITTSBURGH (INS)—The State of Pennsylvania honors a bow-legged old man in tattered clothes who wore a tin dipper for a hat and skipped out of Pittsburgh one day with a face red as an apple and a sack of seeds swinging from his belt.

Johnny Appleseed's real name was Jonathan Chapman, and he came to Pittsburgh from Connecticut in 1794. He lived in the village for 12 years working on river rafts and scows that shuttled settlers west.

CAUGHT MOVING SPIRIT

He caught the spirit of the movement in the tales and young legends he heard up and down the banks of the Ohio River which fanned West from Pittsburgh.

Leaving his log cabin, garden and beehives behind him, he took off with nothing but a bag of apple seeds and eventually covered more than 10,000 miles of wilderness planting apple trees in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

He often appeared at forest clearings in front of lonely pioneer homes where he would stop for a while, distribute his seed and instructions for planting and then disappear into the wilderness again. People began to call him Johnny Appleseed.

Word of his work got around. One time when it was learned that he was heading for Marietta, O., Commander Whipple of Fort Harmer turned out his entire garrison and had them plow land to receive his apple seeds.

WANDERED 40 YEARS

It is estimated that about 100,000 acres of fine apple orchards grew up from the seeds sown by Johnny Appleseed in his 40 years of wandering.

Beloved of white man as well as the Indian, he went about unarmed and ranged for miles in front of the pioneers planting the seeds, sleeping in the forests and talking to the small animals and birds.

Lots of Wire in Bridge

NEW YORK—Some 105,000 miles of wire make up the four main suspension cables of the towering George Washington Bridge, which carries some 100,000 automobiles a day across the Hudson River. That's enough wire to circle the world four times.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: What is the Rosetta stone?

ANSWER: The Rosetta stone was made of basalt, about the size of a table top. It was found in Egypt not far from the town of Rosetta, by one of Napoleon's soldiers in 1788. One polished side had three columns of writing, partially worn away during the course of 2,000 years. The columns consisted of writing: one in hieroglyphs, the second in demotic script and the third in Greek. Hieroglyphic and demotic writing were ancient Egyptian—the difference was like that between printing and longhand writing. One of Napoleon's generals translated the Greek, but it took years before a Frenchman named Champollion, a genius with languages, deciphered the hieroglyphs. In doing this he unlocked the door to the ancient Egyptian language which up to that time no one had been able to read. The Rosetta stone, which was written by Egyptian priests in 196, B.C. praising Ptolemy V, is now in the British Buseum.

TIRED OF MOWING THE LAWN? — If the man of the house is tired of mowing the lawn, he might take a suggestion from Theodore Burck, of 1228 N. Main St., Rochester. Burck, who recently retired and moved to Rochester from Detroit, built himself a new home and planted a lawn of squash. Now, instead of mowing a lawn and throwing away the grass, he picks the ripe squash and serves it for dinner.

Prune, Mulch Roses

In hybrid tea and floribunda roses pruning and mulching will soon be at hand. The best pruning practice seems to be cutting the stems back until there is 8-12 inches of stub remaining. Then mulch this crown with leaves or soil in early November. Not only does this prun-back destroy most of the diseases and insects, but successfully prevents freeze back of the canes and roots.

Use Chopped Leaves for Mulching

Protect Perennial Beds Now

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Asst. County Agricultural Agent

Frost will soon kill our fall blooming perennials, and then comes the problem of good winter care. Many gardeners feel it is a matter of conservation as well as good fall garden care to use the dying tops of phlox, chrysanthemum, iris, etc., as protection covers for these perennials. But careful study shows this is not the case.

Phlox is commonly grown and is well adopted for this portion of Michigan. One of the serious problems with this attractive plant is mildew. The white growth causes these leaves to turn brown. Various kinds of mites also cause severe damage when present.

This fungus and insect survive the winter in a dormant stage on the old stems. Consequently, using these stems as a cover makes perpetuation extremely simple. If these were cut close to the ground and incorporated in a compost pile instead, the organic matter could still be saved, yet these overwintering fungus and insect stages destroyed.

It is a common practice to allow the late summer and fall foliage to remain as a ground cover for the partially exposed rhizomes. It is far better to remove these leaves and add those, the borer eggs and the leaf spot diseases to the compost pile instead.

MITES DAMAGE MUMS

Fall chrysanthemums and delphiniums have problems too. Mites often cause severe damage to these plants. Yet, their only method of overwintering is on the above ground leaves and stems. Again, cutting these dying stems after frost has destroyed their beauty. Removing them from your perennial garden is the best plan.

Many more cases of disease and insect survival on the leaves and stems can be cited. Gather the fallen leaves and blooms, and cut the dead stems flush with the ground. Then burn or compost them.

There's no hurry about this final clean up until late October when everything has been killed down by several light frosts. At this time, completely remove all frozen vines and tops and carefully rake up fallen leaves and blossoms.

If you plan to fertilize, this is an opportune time. Broadcast 3-5 pounds of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 per 100 square feet. Fertilizing in April is considered more timely, but convenience is a factor here.

What are we to use as a ground cover and mulch? What we need for an area of this sort is some plant material which is rather loose, doesn't have seed, doesn't carry diseases or insects injurious to flowers, and gradually rots.

CHOPPED LEAVES IDEAL

Peat is such a product though expense usually limits its use. Sawdust or chopped straw are also effective. But chopped leaves not only is an ideal material but they usually are free and destined for the compost pile or fire. A rotary lawn mower would be useful for this purpose, or an attachment for mowers which chops up leaves.

A layer of mulch should not exceed two feet in depth. If it is allowed to remain in place during next spring and summer it will do much to control weeds and be a constant source of plant food as the mulching material gradually rots.

Fall Care for Gladiolus

A serious problem on gladiolus, both in the field and in storage, are thrips. In storage they continue to feed on the corms while living in the papery husks. As soon as these corms are dug and dried, dust the corms with DDT dust.

Where small quantities are present, the use of DDT Aerosol Bombs will do a speedy and effective job. If you husk your corms during the winter, give them a second application of DDT.

New Aspen Debarker

PORTLAND, Ore. — A new nonpoisonous debarking chemical hormone that will not affect aspen-root suckering has been developed. The hormone, when sprayed on the base of aspens in an oil solution, upsets the cellular structure of the cambium layer, loosening the bark and killing the tree.

SOME TOMATOES — Mrs. Rosa Matlock, 233 N. East Blvd., claims when she grows tomatoes, she makes it worthwhile. The steak tomato on the left weighs two and one quarter pounds while the right one weighs one and three-quarter pounds. The tomato caught between the middle of the two giants is about normal sized.

Helpful Hints for Gardeners

Clean Up Your Garden

By SYLVIA De STEIGER
Garden Editor

Droopy plants should be kept moderately watered and observed for several weeks. Don't feed them —they may be suffering from indigestion. When plants show symptoms of a specific disease (discolored foliage, deformed stalks) check authoritative sources for a remedy.

USE VINES TO DISGUISE

Vines are not only ornamental but will serve to disguise unsightly spots and make a practical screen to insure privacy. For any rough textured surfaces, vines known as "self climbers" can be used to cover completely.

Some of these are Boston Ivy, Virginia Creeper and Creeping Fig. These vines pull themselves upward wherever they can get a toe-hold by means of little aerial rootlets and without artificial support.

DIG WEEDS — DON'T CUT

Keep lawns smooth and beautiful by digging out weeds and crabgrass. Cutting off these pests will only encourage them to grow bigger, and if left to seed they will propate a hundredfold.

Rock salt or kerosene poured in heart of the weed will kill it bue must be done very carefully as they also kill any other plant and if absorbed by soil, will make it incapable of bearing. Commercial weed killers are good and most successful if used exactly as directed.

PREPARE TO TRANSPLANT

For successful transplanting always prepare the new location first by digging the hole to receive the plant. Spade the hole well, fill with water and when this sinks in, place the plant and pack soil firmly around it. Keep partially shaded and moist for several weeks, after which it should receive usual care.

SOAK PLANT BEFORE

Before transplanting be sure the soil around the plant to be dug is wet enough to form a good ball of earth around the roots.

It's best to soak the plant for several hours the day before digging. Have burlap ready to bind around immediately so soil will hold firmly around the roots.

In fact, there is nothing that keeps its youth, so far as I know, but a tree and truth.—Oliver Wendell Holmes

Many Farm Jobs Going Begging; Training Needed

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS) — America doesn't need as many workers "down on the farm" as it used to, but it does require thousands more trained workers than ever before for farm-related jobs.

Many of thes jobs are going begging for lack of applicants, says F. E. Price, dean of agriculture at Oregon State College.

Price says opportunities for college graduates in agricultural fields are brightest in history, despite the declining numbers of actual farm workers needed to produce food and fiber for this country.

He points out that the eight million farm workers today represent only about one-third of the number actually involved in agriculture and related industries.

Few young people are aware, Price says, of such opportunities as these:

Agricultural research, in which more than $300,000,000 is spent each year; county agent and farm organization jobs; high school and college agricultural teaching; farm banking and credit and agricultural insurance and land appraisal; farm machinery and equipment; food processing and feed manufacturing; pesticides and herbicides; farm reporting and advertising for publications, radio and TV; conservation work in various fields; food and feed inspection and regulation; foreign agricultural service and others.

"The first farmer was the first man, and all historic nobility rests on possession and use of land." . . . Ralph Waldo Emerson.

TVA Lakes Visitors Increase Fourfold

KNOXVILLE — The 20-odd Tennessee Valley Authority lakes in seven Southeastern states were the object of more than 30,000,000 visits during 1956 by residents in their immediate regions and vacationists from afar. Ten years ago, when data on recreational use of the lakes was first collected, there were only 7,300,000 visits.

New Oil Protects Against Corrosion

NEW YORK — A corrosion-protective oil has been developed by a Staten Island concern to provide a moisture-proof and vapor-proof barrier against corrosion.

Polished metal parts treated with the oil under humidity-box testing have withstood 100 per cent humidity at 120 degrees for more than two months without rusting.

Many in Dairy Business

BOSTON — New England's dairy business represents a capital investment of $700,000,000 and accounts for one third of the region's total farm income. The area has about 34,000 commercial dairy farms.

Medieval legend asserts that the first roses ever seen by man appeared miraculously at Bethlehem as the result of prayers by a fair maiden who had been falsely accused.

Market Yawns After Fluttering

NEW YORK (AP) — The market lapsed into dull irregularity early today after an initial flutter to the upside.

Aircrafts, mail orders and leading rails had a slightly higher edge. Steels and oils were mixed. Utilities were easy. Motors showed scant change with some stocks firm.

The news included a continuing softness in steel scrap prices and a drop in machine tool orders. Trading also was dampened by usual pre-weekend influences, heightened by the Jewish new year holidays.

Douglas aircraft managed a gain of close to a point while Boeing and United Aircraft were steady. Sears Roebuck gained a little and Montgomery Ward was firm. Fractional gains were posted for New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Illinois Central.

But Youngstown Sheet lost around a point and U. S. Steel a fraction. Republic Steel eased. Texas Co. made a small gain.

Ford and Studebaker - Packard showed scant change. Chrysler moved a little to the upside while General Motors was firm.

Opening blocks included: Bethlehem Steel up at 41¾ on 2,500 shares; General Motors unchanged at 39⅞ on 2,000; and New York Central up ½ at 23¾ on 1,000.

Typhoon Faye Kills 1 Marine, 19 Natives

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Typhoon Faye struck this U. S. island stronghold yesterday with suddenly developed winds of 146 miles an hour, killing one U. S. Marine and at least 19 Okinawans.

Military spokesmen said the Marine died in Ryukyus Army Hospital after being hit by flying debris at the height of the 10-hour storm. His name was withheld.

The Ryukyus government said the death toll among Okinawans is expected to mount.

Officials reported 112 island residents were injured and more than 100 are missing. Twenty-one fishing boats each carrying two or three men were unaccounted for.

Raking the 65-mile-long island, the typhoon caused damage to military installations, equipment and planes that is expected to top 10 million dollars. The Air Force said that damage to aircraft was extensive, but gave no details.

Okinawa, 400 miles off the coast of Communist China, was caught by surprise.

The typhoon rolled along most of Wednesday as a tropical disturbance with winds of only 50 miles an hour. It had been expected to pass well off the coast.

Worth Waiting For

Grains Steady, Trade Limited

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures held about steady in limited dealings on the board of trade today.

There was little business in wheat. The market continues short of commercial demand and there has been nothing to indicate any improvement in foreign business in the near future.

There was some buying of corn by processors on the recent decline, although purchases were said not to be large. Some hedging also was apparent in the feed grain.

Freezing temperatures forecast for some sections of the corn and soybean belt were not as severe as expected and this had some effect on beans in early dealings, with prices off fractionally.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅝ to ½ lower, Dec. $2.15¾; corn was unchanged to ¼ lower, Dec. $1.20½; oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec. 65½; rye was ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. $1.27⅜; soybeans were ⅜ to ¾ lower, Nov. $2.28½; and lard was 5 cents lower to 5 cents higher a hundred pounds, Oct. $11.27.

Saud Patching Syria-U.S. Rift

Arabian King Telling Syrians United States Friendly

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — King Saud, acting the role of Middle East peacemaker, is reported urging Syria and the United States to patch up their differences.

The Saudi Arabian monarch came here Wednesday for talks with Syrian leaders. Reliable sources said he told them he has advised the United States to pursue a "policy of reconciliation" with Syria.

Relations between the United States and Syria dropped to a new low last month when Syria accused the United States of plotting to overthrow the Damascus regime.

Informants said Saud disclosed to the Syrians that he has expressed dissatisfaction to President Eisenhower over U.S. policy toward Syria.

They said he also told Eisenhower that U.S. fears of Soviet penetration in Syria "have no substantial justification."

The King was said to have told the Syrians that his brother Crown Prince Faisal is making efforts in Washington to ease the strain in Syrian-U.S. relations.

There were signs that the Saudi moves to lessen friction might be paying off. In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles offered yesterday to meet with Foreign Minister Salah Bitar of Syria if the Syrian official requests such a meeting.

States Race for Boom

Big Scramble for New Industries

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — New factors today are entering into the scramble of the states to lure more industries.

The stakes are big. Business is spending at a 37 billion dollars a year clip for new plants and equipment. Until recently about half of that was going for new plants instead of for modernization of old ones.

Countless localities, 46 of the states, many utilities, railways, banks are estimated to be spending 37 million dollars this year to attract new plants to sites they serve. More than 6,000 separate organizations are reported participating in this commercial war.

But the contest is taking on some new aspects:

One unknown quantity is what effect, if any, the rising racial tensions in various parts of the nation might have on industrial planning. The coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway will affect the jockeying for position. The fast-growing Southwest and Far West are building new markets to be served.

The race already is hot enough. Arkansas has attracted 90 new industries there since its industrial development board was launched two years ago with Winthrop Rockefeller as a moving light.

Mississippi added 49 new plants just last year. Louisiana has brought in many new industries, with a huge chemical plant growth under way. The textile industry has blossomed throughout the South.

The northern tier of states have their own drive well under way before the seaway arrives. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota have state plans for luring more factories. The New York state commerce commissioner is bringing 400 community representatives together next week to launch a fresh drive.

New England fights back hard after the loss of part of its textile industry. The Massachusetts Department of Commerce and the New England Council talk up diversified industries. Vermont advertises widely and its Greater Burlington Industrial Corp. is an example of a city's drive that landed a new business machine factory.

Board Reports School Status

PTA Hears Discussion of Building Progress, Award of Contracts

A progress report on the new senior high school and the awarding of a number of paving and site development contracts were the main items of business before the Pontiac Board of Education last night.

The board held its meeting at the Pontiac Senior High School as guests of the PTA. It was the first of several such regular meetings to be held at schools to give parents an opportunity to observe and discuss board work.

A contract for $225,215 was awarded to A. J. Miller, Inc. for site work at the new high school and for installation of an underground water piping system for the football field. The contract also calls for a ramp at the driver education area near the school.

Asphalt paving contracts were awarded the Ann Arbor Construction Co. for play areas at the following schools: Bagley, Baldwin, Longfellow, McConnell, Wever, Whitfield, Whittier, Wilson, Wisner, Mark Twain and Rogers.

The same firm received contracts for paving the driver training area at Wisner Stadium and for three new tennis courts at Pontiac Senior High School.

Dr. Otto Hufziger, assistant superintendent, reported on construction of the new high school. He said the steel was expected in two weeks and the boilers by Nov. 1. The boilers will be hooked to the Madison Junior High system during Christmas vacation, he said.

Dr. Dana Whitmer, superintendent, reported on preliminary plans for transferring operations from the old high school to the new one next September.

Some 985 students, in all grades, will move next fall, he said, on the basis of where they live.

Will Williams Receive Present of Orange Juice?

LANSING (AP) — A delicate matter leading to bad feeling between the states of Michigan and Florida was diplomatically smoothed over today by Gov. Williams.

Williams ordered the State Department of Agriculture not to enforce a rule requiring that the word "concentrated" on frozen concentrated orange juice labels be at least half the size of the word "orange juice".

The size of the wording was a topic of official letters between Florida Gov. Leroy Collins and Williams.

Collins protested that the labels used by citrus packers of the Florida juice in 47 states were only ruled misleading in Michigan.

Williams told the State Department of Agriculture not to be so strict and to confer with the citrus packing industry about the labeling.

No one will be surprised if a crate of frozen orange juice is delivered soon to the executive office.

100th Birthday Passes Quickly

Native of Genoa, Italy, He Whittles Replicas of Columbus' Ship

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Rocco Disderide celebrated his 100th birthday today, quietly puffing on his pipe and counting the years.

"Yes, 100 years is a long time," he said reflectively. "But it's not as long as most people think.

"I wouldn't want to live another century. The world is for the younger people. I've had enough."

Of course, Disderide has his own timeproof formula for longevity.

"Never work too hard," he suggested. "I've worked hard only once in my life. That was with a pick and shovel on the New York Central in New York."

A century young, Disderide acts like a man of 30. He reads and watches television without eye glasses. His hearing is good. When he needs a haircut, he walks downtown to a barbershop.

'Mother Adams' Robs the Sick

Seeking Old Con Woman

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit police were hunting today for "Mother Adams," a kindly confidence woman who apparently works door to door.

Mrs. Idell Blair, 24, Complained to police about "Mother Adams" yesterday.

Mrs. Blair said "Mother Adams" knocked on her door last Tuesday and asked if she was troubled by any "disorders."

Mrs. Blair said she told the woman she suffered from a stomach ailment whereupon "Mother Adams" offered to remove the "curse" causing the trouble. Mrs. Blair quoted her as saying:

"Put all your money and jewelry together and go to a cemetery. Your stomach ailment will disappear."

Mrs. Blair said her visitor then added:

"The trip might be too strenuous. Give the money to me and I'll have it blessed. I'll return it to you Thursday and all your troubles will disappear."

Mrs. Blair gave the woman $1,255 and waited for yesterday, but "Mother Adams" didn't knock again.

2 Refineries Hit by Fires, Blasts

Police Seek Arsonist in Grand Rapids Area $300,000 Tank Blazes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Fires followed by a series of explosions last night destroyed eight gasoline and fuel oil storage tanks at two Grand Rapids area refineries.

No persons were reported injured in the spectacular fires at the Cornell Oil Co., in suburban Wyoming Township, and the Ver Brugge Oil Co., in Southeast Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids Fire Chief Frank H. Burns said the Ver Brugge company fire was the work of an arsonist. Wyoming Township Fire Marshal J. L. Waalkes said he believed an arsonist was responsible for the Cornell Company fire. The two fires were about four miles apart.

The fires touched off a series of what Waalkes called "controlled" explosions when intense heat released safety valves atop the Cornell storage tanks.

Walter W. Alley, Cornell president, estimated damages at $350,000. He said the fire destroyed four 20,000-gallon tanks containing gasoline and fuel oil and one 10,000-gallon gasoline storage tank.

Wyoming Township firemen, aided by firemen from six nearby communities prevented the flames and heat from reaching a 110,000-gallon fuel oil tank.

Flames shot 300 to 400 feet in the air and were visible from Ionia and Greenville.

The Ver Brugge fire destroyed three 10,000-gallon gasoline storage tanks. Firemen prevented the flames from reaching two 10,000-gallon fuel oil storage tanks.

Texan Petitions Government for 1918 War Debt

DALLAS (AP) — Robert Burns DeWitt, Dallas accountant, says he's tired of waiting for Uncle Sam to repay him a 1918 war debt.

He filed suit in Federal District Court yesterday for $4,100 plus interest. DeWitt says he advanced the money to feed, house and otherwise provide for a number of Army volunteers for five months in Groesbeck, Tex., until they could be sent to training camps near San Antonio.

He says Army regulations then authorized this practice by civilians.

DeWitt's subsequent claim for repayment many times has been approved but never paid, the suit adds, and several bills to appropriate the money have died in Congress for lack of action.

His lawyer said DeWitt has spent $2,500 trying to collect. He estimated that with interest the government now owes the Texan about $10,000.

Teamsters Drop Revision; Beck to Retire on $50,000

MIAMI BEACH (INS) — Dave Beck will be shorn of official influence in union affairs when he retires as president of the gigantic International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

At Miami Beach, where delegates were preparing for the opening Monday of the annual convention of the Union, the constitution committee decided yesterday to drop a revision in the 1952 constitution which would have designated Beck as President Emeritus.

Beck told newsmen he asked the committee to take that action because the provision "was controversial." He said the provision had been created for the late Daniel J. Tobin, President of the Teamsters for 45 years, and only for Tobin.

★ ★ ★ ●

As President Emeritus, he would have been able to sit as a delegate in future conventions and serve as consultant to the new president and the executive council. Beck now will retire on his pension of $50,000 a year.

Students to Pay for Bomb Scare

Tough Assignment Part of Punishment Awaiting Four Held at Lansing

LANSING (AP) — Four Lansing students who admitted phoning fake bomb scares will be required to make a detailed study of an actual school bombing as part of their punishment.

Probate Judge Robert L. Drake has ordered three high school boys and one junior high school girl committed to the county juvenile home to await a judgment on their cases next Tuesday.

All have admitted taking part in the fake bomb scare calls which emptied Lansing's Sexton High and West Junior High Schools.

Drake said the juveniles will be required to make a full study and report of the disaster "including a historical account of the number of innocent young persons killed, the number of families grieved and the continuing effect on the community."

Hoping to Restore Old Biddle House

LANSING (AP) — The Mackinac Island State Park Commission was asked today to get a hustle on to help save the historic Biddle House on the island.

"Already too much has been lost through apathy and neglect," A. N. Langius, chairman of the Biddle House Restoration Committee and head of the building division of the State Department of Administration wrote W. S. Woodfill, chairman of the park commission.

Langius asked the commission to convey the Biddle House property to the restoration committee as soon as possible.

He explained this will help the fund-raising drive to restore the house.

The Biddle House, built around 1800, is believed to be the oldest existing private home in Michigan.

Union and company officials said the dispute was over establishing wage rates, apprentice programs, equalization of hours, seniority provisions and other economic matters normally covered in the local contract.

HAPPY HOME LIFE—Steverino, the greyhound pup who assists with the commercials on Steve Allen's show, is a well-adjusted canine who lives in New York with a houseful of other animals. The Allen variety program is telecast Sundays at 7 p. m.

Allen's Buddy Is Really 'She'

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Latest animal to capture the hearts of the TV public is Steverino, the little greyhound pup used on the Steve Allen commercials. And, in case you worry about dogs in show business, this is a report on the home life of Steverino.

He is, first of all, a she. And she is a happy and well-adjusted canine. She lives most of the time in a brownstone house on the West Side of lower Manhattan.

She doesn't live alone, however. A quick, and not necessarily complete, census of her roommates showed.

A full-grown Great Dane, a Great Dane pup, a Russian wolfhound, two basset hounds, a Welch corgi, another greyhound, a kangaroo named Victoria, a wombat, four Siamese cats and some odds and ends like birds and people.

The chief people there are Lorrain and Bernie D'Essen who run the place, which they call Animal Talent Scouts.

They have a farm in New Jersey and Steverino and her friends spend a day or two a week there, but the rest of the time they're city slickers.

THE BEST PLACE

"The city is the best place for animals who perform," says Lorrain, an ex-model and lifelong animal lover. "They get used to noises and people and sirens and things."

Every day the neighborhood kids get to walk the dogs around the block.

When the D'Essens were given the assignment to procure a greyhound pup for the show, they figured it would be easy to find one. It wasn't. They spent some $600 on phone calls alone—including a few to Kenya in Africa—but couldn't find a satisfactory pup.

They finally found Steverino and her sister in Clay Center, Kan. (Steverino got the job because she arrived first, her sister a few days later.)

LADYLIKE POOCH

She wears a rhinestone collar, curls up in a sling chair and eats with ladylike daintiness. The D'Essens say you can tell a dog, like a person, by the way it eats.

On TV she never gets nervous, never has accidents, and is beloved by Steve Allen who is allergic to most animals, but not to her.

Race for Arms, Food

Kremlin Scraps 5-Year Plan; Starts Again With 7

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The Kremlin admits this in the announcement that the current five-year economic plan which was to have ended in 1960 is being scrapped and replaced by a seven-year program running from 1959 to the end of 1965.

Khrushchev, who considers himself an expert on many things, especially agriculture, boasted in his U. S. filmed interview last May that the U.S.S.R. would equal per capita American output of milk and butter by 1958. He added that "we hope to catch up" in livestock production "in 1960 or 1961."

The doubters are not confined to the West. Take for instance, the views of Milovan Djilas, the former Yugoslav Communist vice president now jailed in Yugoslavia after breaking with President Marshal Tito.

In his recent book, "The New Class," Djilas said that Communist economy is perhaps the most wasteful in history and Soviet attempts to overtake the most highly developed nations such as the United States "is senseless."

LIST INDICTMENTS

Red leaders really think that they know economic laws whereas "the truth is that the only thing they know how to do is to seize control of the economy. . . This created the illusion in their minds that they succeeded because of their exceptional scientific ability."

Some elaborate attempts by the Red monopolists have been made to give the workers a share in profits. But then the bureaucrats grab the so-called profits and justify their action by saying that "they are checking inflation and investing the money wisely."

There is no right to strike, there are no free trade unions, and the underpaid workers naturally are slow and listless. There is no incentive as under the capitalist system. "Thefts and misappropriations are inevitable. It is not just poverty that motivates people to steal 'national property' but the fact that the property does not seem to belong to anyone."

Russian priority on atomic energy disrupts other branches of the economy. "Excessive production costs and chronic inflation are rampant. The Communist planned economy conceals within itself an anarchy of a special kind. In spite of the fact that it is planned, it is perhaps the most wasteful economy in the history of human society."

As for Khrushchev's latest plan and other juggling in the past, Djilas says that the Red leaders indulge in bouts of self-criticism but the regime and party do not recover any losses. He concludes: "They have 'noted' the errors and these errors will be 'corrected.' So let's begin all over again!"

Suspect Faulty Wiring in Thomas Home Fire

ROMEO — Local volunteer firemen were called to the Don Thomas home, 3601 West 31 Mile Rd., to fight a flash fire shorty before noon yesterday. Faulty wiring was suspected as the cause of the blaze, which resulted in several thousand dollars worth of damage to the frame structure.

Thomas fought the fire with a garden hose until firemen arrived to bring flames under control in a matter of minutes.

No Evidence of Plot to Kill British Queen

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says it can find no evidence of a plot to assassinate Queen Elizabeth II on her visit to New York next month.

A brief Scotland Yard statement last night said "there was in fact no threat" in a report Lady Patricia Fairweather passed on to the yard.

She said she received word two weeks ago from a visiting American that Irish-Americans sympathetic to the outlawed Irish Republican Army were behind a plot.

"There is probably nothing in it," she told newsmen," but I thought it should be reported."

Ford Co. Reports Theft of Statue

DETROIT (AP) — A $20,000 statue of John Burroughs, naturalist, author and life-long friend of Henry Ford, is missing from the garden of Fairlane, the Ford Motor Co. reported yesterday.

The company said the three-foot bronze statue first was discovered missing last June. The theft was reported to Dearborn Police yesterday after company investigators were unable to locate it.

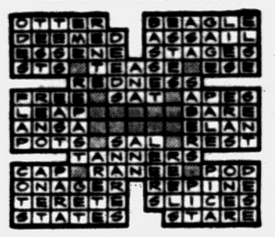

Sculptured by C. S. Pietro, it was purchased by Ford in 1919.

Edsel to Sponsor Show

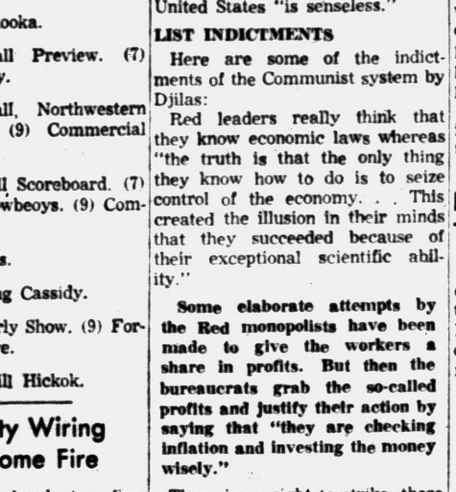

DEARBORN (INS)—Edsel Division of Ford Motor Co. said it will become an alternate-week sponsor of the television show "Wagon Train" (NBC) starting Oct. 25.

Travel Lectures to Start Oct. 29

Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Again Launches Adventure Series

The Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Club is about to launch its yearly travel and adventure lecture series, which will begin Tuesday evening, Oct. 29, in the Pontiac High School Auditorium.

The series of travelogues is expected to draw larger crowds this year than ever before, and season tickets are selling rapidly. They cost $5 each and are good for all of this year's seven top travelogues from October to March, 1958.

Each travelogue has been especially chosen from among the nation's most outstanding personalities in the field. All proceeds will be turned to children's groups throughout the Pontiac area.

Beginning with Julian Gromer's "Atlantic Coast Wonderland," on Oct. 29, audiences will view a film sparked with humor, adventure, time-lapse flower photography, and high fidelity music.

Gromer, once an enthusiastic boat racer, changed his major hobby from boats to producing travel films over 10 years ago. Before that time he had won 37 prize trophies with a racing boat he built himself.

On Nov. 12, Robert Friars, whose varied career has included stints as a writer, photographer, lecturer, and in radio and television, will present his "Morocco Holiday."

As a student at the University of Michigan, Friars took a series of long summer trips. Lack of funds was never a deterrent. One year he took off to make a hitch-hiking trip around the world on $82. His roommate bet him $5 he couldn't do it. Friars won.

He will be followed, on Dec. 10, by Karl Robinson's "Madeira and the Azores" film.

Robinson has spent 25 years living and working in foreign fields. The past 15 have been devoted to photographic studies of Alaska, Austria, China, Japan, and Turkey.

Robert Davis, whose 20 years of experience have brought forth adventure-packed travelogues, short subjects for television and educational use, and commercial films, will present his film, "The Canary Islands," on Jan. 14.

The fifth film in the series, "Europe's Toy Countries," will bring Nicol Smith to Pontiac. The date will be Feb. 11.

Smith was the first person to explore and photograph the remote interior of the Island of Hainan, and the first to make a round trip over the Burma Road during the rainy season.

On March 4, audiences will see Stan Midgley's "Colorado." Midgley, an expert mountain climber and photographer, is one of the nation's noted producers of travelogues.

The final film in the series will be Clifford J. Kamen's "South From Zanzibar." A graduate of Northwestern University, in 1935, his travels have since carried him to 41 foreign countries, giving him a reputation as one of America's leading travel-film producers.
