Sheppard Refuses to See Slides of Wife;
Sobs Unnerve Court

CLEVELAND (AP)—Defense lawyers opened a searching examination today into the state's report on the beaten corpse of murdered Marilyn Sheppard.

While her accused slayer and husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, listened with his long delicate fingers pressed to his lips, defense counsel William J. Corrigan closely questioned Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson.

"In the case of Marilyn Sheppard, did you draw a conclusion about where the weapon first hit the body?" asked Corrigan, terday stated that she had been "No," replied Adelson, who yesterday struck 35 times on the head, face, shoulders and hands. The jury also looked at seven colored slides of the body projected on a screen. One of the slides showed a fingernail had been nearly torn off the ring finger of Marilyn Sheppard's left hand.

Sheppard broke down and sobbed while the jury looked at the grisly pictures yesterday. Today, at least at first, his expression was inscrutable.

The films showed the red-rimmed gashes left by blows which shattered the skull of Marilyn Sheppard, 31, and left her lifeless in her bed last July 4.

There were seven views in all. As they were shown by Deputy Coroner Lester Adelson, the state's first witness, Sheppard slowly lost his composure and gave way to racking, silent sobs.

Sheppard did not see the photographs. He chose to sit behind the screen set up in the courtroom. But he could hear Adelson as the coroner's aide described some of the 35 injuries he said he found on the body.

At first, the 30-year-old defendant sat stiff and erect, his figure outlined against the dreary half-light which crept past closed venetian

Urges 5-County Water Authority

Body Would Take Over
Existing Well Supplies
Throughout Area

A five-county water authority for the Detroit metropolitan area has been recommended by the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

Under the recommendation, the authority would take over the supply and distribution of water throughout the area, buying up existing facilities and expanding them.

Howard K. Kelley, Royal Oak mayor, told the committee meeting in Berkley yesterday that "immediate steps must be taken to solve the water problem if the area is not to expand itself into a drought by 1970."

Committee representatives from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and Washtenaw counties agreed to poll their board of supervisors to see if financial support could be provided for studies and for state legislation to permit establishment of the inter-county authority.

They will report back at a meeting Dec. 7.

Kelley said the Detroit Metropolitan Area Planning Commission foresees blanket development of the area as far as Pontiac, Ulen, Monroe and Plymouth by 1970.

"It would be impossible, Kelley said, 'for Detroit's single source of water supply to provide for the future needs of the metropolitan area as experts foresee them.'"

The committee recommended building water intake plants on Lake Huron and Lake Erie to supplement supplies from Detroit's present intake at Belle Isle in the Detroit River.

Rep. George A. Dondero said federal aid might be available if a defense industry emergency could be shown.

Gls Ordered Out as Love-Starved Elephant Deserts

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—U.S. Army reinforcements were called out here last night when Bosco, a love starved elephant, bolted from a circus after injuring his keeper.

A 19-year-old bull weighing four tons, Bosco crashed through a stone wall, demolished a bicycle, uprooted young trees, crushed a handcart, smashed some garden chairs, and headed for a forest.

Circus men finally lured him back with a bag of apples.

Two U.S. Army jeeps with mounted machine guns were stationed outside Bosco's stockade for the rest of the night, but the big elephant was quiet.

Circus men said Bosco started on his rampage because he has no girl friend.

Sommerlaties Leave Russia

Embassy Wife Labeled
Undesirable Person
After Scuffle

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Mrs. Betty Jane Sommerlatie, tagged persona non grata (personally undesirable) by the Kremlin, arrived here today on her way home to the United States. She was ailing and mum to reporters' questions.

Her husband, Karl, second secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, also refused comment on anything concerning events in the Soviet Union.

After a brief stopover here, the Sommerlaties went on to Stockholm, the second lap of their homeward journey.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and other top embassy officials saw them off, as did representatives of many other Western and Asian embassies. Mrs. Sommerlatie showed no visible regret at her departure.

of "hooliganism," charging she struck a workman in an argument Oct. 25 over where to take pictures of some Russian children. Mrs. Houston Stitt, wife of the assistant U.S. naval attaché, said she actually hit the workman in an effort to free Mrs. Sommerlatie.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry asked that Mrs. Sommerlatie leave the country and was adamant to strong representations by Bohlen. The State Department said the Soviet secret police had illegally detained the two embassy wives and subjected them to personal indignities.

Sommerlatie has been given a new assignment in Washington.

To Replace Subway With Conveyor Belt

NEW YORK (AP)—The four-block shuttle subway run between Times Square and Grand Central Terminal will be replaced by a conveyor belt system.

As announced yesterday, the conveyor will work like this:

Riders will board gondola type cars on a moving belt traveling at a mile and a half an hour in the loading areas. The cars will accelerate to 15 miles an hour in the tunnel.

The $3,881,000 contract for the new system, expected to take two to three years to complete, was awarded to Passenger Belt Conveyors, Inc., of Akron, Ohio. An additional $1,100,000 will be required for reconstruction of the present tunnel.

Authorities estimate the new facility will accommodate a peak passenger load of 22,000 per hour.

The chief American delegate to the U.N. announced to the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee that this would be a gigantic forward step for 1955 in President Eisenhower's plans for an international pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Outlining a program of action for the next year—years before a proposed international agency is created to oversee the atomic energy program—Lodge said the United States is ready to train persons to operate nuclear reactors, to offer courses in nuclear safety, and to invite 150 foreign nuclear experts to visit American cancer research facilities and swap views with U. S. doctors.

Lodge also announced the United States is ready to give to the

Dems Studying Job of Taking Reins in Senate

Some Party Members
Express Misgivings on Slim Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats canvassed the job of taking over the reins in the Senate as well as the House today, with a pledge to meet President Eisenhower "more than halfway" in tackling the nation's problems.

Although several veteran senators expressed some misgivings about taking control with the narrow margin won in Tuesday's elections, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said: "Apparently there will be a majority of the members of the Senate sufficient to organize it. If we can organize it, we will."

The Texan, in a statement issued at Austin, said the Democrats are determined to approach the issues "in a spirit of cooperation."

"We will meet the President more than halfway in any effort to work out a common solution to the difficult problems of national security, peace and of prosperity," he said.

"Naturally, if we cannot agree with the President, we will vote our convictions. But... there will be no obstruction for the sake of obstruction and no harassing for the sake of partisan advantage."

The Democratic Senate victory apparently was sealed yesterday when a virtually complete Oregon count showed that Richard L. Neuberger had unseated Republican Sen. Guy Cordon by slightly more than 2,000 votes.

Barring any upsets in possible recounts there or elsewhere, this meant a Senate lineup of 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon, who says he will vote with the Democrats on Senate control starting in 1955.

In the House, the Democratic margin was more solid—232 to 203. Senate Republican Leader Kenneth C. Culberson said he expected the Democrats to take control and added:

"They may find they have some problems in taking on control when it depends on the vote of the Independent party (Morse)."

He said the election outcome was not "a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration" but the normal mid-term gain the outs can expect.

Johnson listed a bipartisan foreign policy among things he said a Democratic Congress will seek to achieve, along with a strong national defense, "reasonable" farm legislation, antimonopoly safeguards in the atomic energy law and others.

He said also he considers the President's foreign trade program vital, and added: "We're not going to bottle it up as the 83rd Congress did." Eisenhower originally sought a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act with new authority to cut tariffs. After important GOP opposition developed, he settled for a simple one-year extension, which Congress passed.

Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) has said he is dubious about his party's taking over the Senate with a margin which could be wiped out by one death in a state with a Republican governor.

Fund Donations Boosting Total

$16,000 More Is Added
by Store and Office
Workers Yesterday

Contributions from hundreds of workers in downtown stores and other business places poured into United Fund headquarters yesterday adding nearly $16,000 to the previous day's figures.

The total was brought to 83 per cent of the $525,823 goal on the day first set for campaign closing, according to Frank S. Lyndall, campaign manager.

The drive has been extended a week to permit completion of solicitation and allow volunteers to bring in the $84,469 still needed.

Employees of Waite's Department Store more than doubled their donations of last year, contributing $900 so far, with more pledges expected.

Partial returns from Pontiac city employees showed $2,022. Employees of the Pontiac Press have contributed $1,600 in addition to the firm's $1,800. Sears Roebuck employees have donated $1,744.

Contributions received during the week from the Banks and Finance Division include Pontiac State Bank, $850; Home and Auto Loan, $500; Pontiac Federal Sav.

Weather to Stay Cool in Pontiac Area

The weather outlook for the next few days calls for no drastic changes. Temperatures will average near the normal maximum of 51, minimum of 36.

Saturday will be slightly warmer, with the high expected to be near 45 degrees. Tonight's low will be a little colder, between 26 and 30.

Snow flurries after Sunday will total around .10 of an inch.

Yesterday's temperatures remained almost constant, ranging from 33 to 39 degrees. Today at 8 o'clock the thermometer reading was 33, rising to 38 by 1 p.m.

Sen. Morse May Win Back Committee Posts Lost in '53

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) appeared a likely winner today in his two-year feud with Senate Republicans over their action in quelling him from two major committees after he quit the GOP.

Four Democratic senators said in separate interviews they expect Morse to be restored to places on the Armed Services and Labor committee which he lost in January 1953.

They noted that Morse had played a dual role in giving the Democrats the apparent strength to organize the new Senate which meets next Jan. 5.

He campaigned vigorously for Richard L. Neuberger, Oregon Democrat who defeated GOP Sen. Guy Cordon to give the Democrats their 48th seat in the new Senate. And, well before the election, Morse had announced he would vote with the Democrats on organizing the new Senate. That is the vital 49th vote they need.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who recalled that he was among the Democrats who sought to have Morse restored to his old committees early in 1953, said the Oregon senator was "a very effective campaigner and he did a great deal of good."

"He will be a valuable member of his old committees," Kefauver said.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said: "I would assume that Lyndon Johnson (the Democratic leader) and the Steering Committee of the Democratic party will do a better job than the Republicans did."

Sen. Pastore (D-RI) said Morse is entitled to his old committee posts and seniority "if he is going to work with the Democrats."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), said the Democrats as a majority party "will have the responsibility for assigning any independent senators." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Voter Files Protest: Ike Not on Ballot

MARHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP)—Election judges still were chuckling today about the indignant woman voter during Tuesday's general election who stuck her head out of the voting booth and declared:

"This isn't right, I won't stand for it."

Asked what it was all about she declared: "Why, Eisenhower's name isn't on this ballot."

She was calmed when it was explained the President wasn't up for reelection this year.

will sponsor a resolution calling for the U.N. to convene an international scientific conference next year to discuss many aspects of the atomic pool plan.

The international agency could be set up, he explained, on a basis similar to the specialized agencies of the U.N. These agencies are related to the U.N. in common purposes but operate under their own budgets and constitution. The Americans so far have shown a determination to keep the President's program clear of close entangling ties with the U.N.

Lodge said small research reactors, which can be built in a year's time for well under $500,000, would help in the practical application of atomic research to medicine, farming and industry.

Looking to the immediate future, He declared:

Farm Supports to Remain Issue

New Battle Shapes Up
Under Dem Leaders of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Varying assessments of the election returns made it virtually certain today that again next year, as in 1954, one of the major congressional battles will swirl around farm price supports.

In something of a surprise, Congress this year granted the Eisenhower administration's request that high rigid price supports be scrapped in favor of a flexible system. It narrowed down the range of flexibility, however, for the crop year 1955.

Thus, it appeared certain that the farm price debate would carry over into the 1955 presidential campaign.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson yesterday hailed GOP victories in the farm belt as a vindication of his flexible price support program, singling out results in Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado to support his contention that he had not misplaced his faith in the "stability and wisdom of our farmers."

On the other hand, Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina, who will assume chairmanship of the House Agriculture Committee under the Democrats, asserted that dissatisfied farmers were a factor in Republican loss of the House.

Cooley has sent out a call for a caucus of House committee members for next week to map farm legislation strategy at the next session starting in January.

Rep. Abernethy (D-Miss), a senior member of the committee, said in an interview he is confident Congress will return to mandatory price supports at 90 per cent of parity for basic crops in 1956.

Under farm law basic crops are defined as cotton, wheat, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts. Of these, only tobacco continues to receive rigid 90 per cent government support under the Eisenhower program.

Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The Eisenhower farm law has not yet become effective, and will not until 1955. It provides for a flexible program of supports according to supply, and is designed to discourage production in periods of surplus and encourage it in time of scarcity.

"We are prepared to start discussion with other countries for the conclusion of bilateral agreements which will make it possible for us, under our laws, to furnish technical information, technical assistance, and necessary amounts of fissionable materials for the construction and operation of research reactors to be located abroad."

He said that, pending the creation of the proposed international agency, the United States is prepared in 1955 to:

1. Establish a reactor training school early in the year and invite 30 to 50 scientists and engineers from overseas to study practical reactor engineering so they may

Wife Watching as Pilot Rides to Fiery Death

Convair's Super - Fast
YF2Y1 Breaks Apart,
Plunges Into Sea

By VERN HAUGLAND
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Convair YF2Y1 Sea-Dart, the world's fastest seaplane, broke apart, burst into flames and plunged into San Diego harbor yesterday.

Its pilot, Charles E. Richbourg, rode the fore part of the delta-wing, needle-nosed jet fighter to his death before the shocked eyes of hundreds of spectators, among them his wife Margaret.

Mrs. Richbourg, mother of their two small children, only last Saturday helped her husband celebrate his 31st birthday.

The sight of the burning, crumbling plane disintegrating before her left her dazed, and a friend led her quickly to an automobile.

The Navy promptly launched an investigation, and today had divers exploring the bottom of the bay, some 40 feet deep, for bits of wreckage which might help explain the accident.

Capt. F. K. Sisson, Navy Bureau of Aeronautics representative at the Convair plant here, said he was at a complete loss as to the cause.

"We just don't know why it happened, but we intend to try to find out," he told reporters.

Richbourg had taken the Sea-Dart off from the bay only a few minutes earlier on a regular test flight which a group of more than a hundred visiting aviation writers had been invited to watch. The Navy was especially proud of its ownership of the world's first jet-powered seaplane fighter because of the way in which it combined the speed of land-based jets with the versatility of water-based aircraft.

Richbourg had flown the YF2Y1 and its companion fighter, the XF2Y1, many times without difficulty. Last Aug. 3 the Convair test pilot flew the YF2Y1 faster than the speed of sound during a shallow dive from an altitude of 34,000 feet.

Sound travels 670 miles an hour at that altitude, and the Sea-Dart (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Objection Made to Assessment

Telegraph Road Group
Asked to Help Pay for Blacktopping

Pontiac City Commission last night deferred action on an assessment for part of the cost of blacktopping a section of Telegraph road after a number of residents objected. The section of the state highway involved is between W. Huron and Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Frank O'Brien, representing property owners, charged residents "were not getting a fair shake." O'Brien said he and other owners had been assessed $88 each in 1947, when two lanes and a center island strip were constructed.

He said the owners felt it unreasonable that they should again be assessed for road improvements only seven years later.

Commissioner Floyd F. Miles pointed out that current assessments were for blacktopping of the original highway section laid in 1928. He said this was the first time this section has been resurfaced.

The original strips have never been recapped at a cost to residents, although an experimental resurfacing was put on by the state in 1952 free of charge.

The planned assessment for the job is $1.50 a frontage foot.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the State Highway Department wanted to project completed before cold weather, and the commission approved the work without holding a public hearing on it. He said the city had

The Day in Birmingham

First Presbyterian Church Dedication Set for Sunday

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — A month of special activities and programs will be culminated here Sunday, when duplicate dedication services are held at 9:45 and 11:15 a.m. at the newly constructed First Presbyterian Church on West Maple Ave. at Pleasant St.

It will be exactly eight months from the day members moved into their $1,285,000 building. Here to share in the commemoration will be the highest honorary officeholder in the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, who will serve as guest minister.

President of Maryville College at Maryville, Tenn. Dr. Lloyd this spring was elected moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

His outstanding service in the ecumenical movement includes his prominence in negotiations leading to a plan of union among the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., and the United Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Lloyd served as chairman of both the Joint Negotiating Committee and of the Joint Conference which drafted the plan now before the presbyteries.

The identical services will include a choral call to worship by the Rev. Robert W. Gibson Jr., and a reading of the scriptures by the Rev. Robert S. Graham. Ernest W. Sealhorn will make the presentation of the keys to the minister, Dr. W. Glen Harris, with the pronouncement of dedication by L. A. Komjathy.

An open house for the community and a reception of new members will take place from 3 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Maurice Garabrant, director of music at Christ Church Cranbrook, will present an organ recital at a festival evensong service to follow at 8 p.m. At that time Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" will be sung by the church choir, assisted by the quartet: Ruth Killean, soprano; Alice Engram Vallois, alto; Laverne Nancarrow, tenor; and Edward Johns, baritone.

Others participating in the evening service will be L. Robert Slusser, organist and choirmaster of the church; and Kent McDonald, director of music at St. James Episcopal Church, who will be guest piano accompanist.

Birmingham's newest theater group, the Jopston Players, will present its first endeavor to the public with an 8:15 performance tomorrow night at the Community House. This first of a series of productions is entitled "Traumerciel," (Violence) a revue in fantasy.

Jopston Players was organized through the combined talents and efforts of Joseph Zabelski, his wife Patricia, and Thomas Leick, of 344 W. Brown St., all of whom have theatrical backgrounds. Leick is not only director and choreographer of the two-act "Traumerciel," but has designed the sets and costumes.

The first act will open with a Peruvian dance, followed by Leick's one-act drama, "Emmy." Next will come a dance epiphany and a scene from Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly."

Piano impressionisms will open act two and lead to the climax, a dance drama with narration called, "Five Worlds of Creation."

What to do on those cold Saturday mornings has been partly solved by the YMCA for girls aged 8 to 14. The Y has announced that a craft and games program will be open from 9:30 a.m. to noon each Saturday, under the leadership of Kingswood School seniors Lynn Dolza, Susie Zummink, Virginia Dawson and Lynn Heinrich.

City Commissioners approved an agreement this week whereby Birmingham and other member cities will provide supplemental fire protection in the case of an emergency.

One stipulation was that approval was predicated on a six-

Guest preacher at both services will be Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd who, as moderator of the 166th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, holds the highest honorary office in the church.

U.S. Ready on Plan for Atomic Pool

become competent operators of such installations.

2. Offer under the sponsorship of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission courses in industrial medicine, industrial hygiene and radiological physics and the theory and use of radiation instruments.

3. Open the Argonne Cancer Hospital at the University of Chicago, the Brookhaven National Laboratory and the cancer research hospital at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies for one to two-year courses on the use of atomic energy in medicine and biology, for approximately 5 to 10 foreign students per course.

4. Invite 150 "competent and distinguished visitors" in the field of cancer research from overseas to visit American cancer research facilities.

5. Offer special four-week courses in radio-isotope tracer techniques.

The proposed atomic agency, Lodge continued, would be created by negotiations among interested governments. He said it would consult and cooperate with U.N. bodies dealing with related work as well as with atomic energy organizations of U.N. members.

He explained that the United States originally envisioned the international agency would hold fissile materials itself, "but after the Soviet rejection of the United States proposals, all the negotiating states concluded that it might be preferable that the agency act as a clearing house for requests made to the agency by the various beneficiaries."

"The donor state would earmark fissile materials for the agency's operations and would transfer those fissile materials directly to the projects approved by the agency," he said.

The peaceful atomic pool plan was first proposed by President Eisenhower in an address to the Assembly last Dec. 8. It was amplified here in a speech by Secretary of State Dulles in September.

Hopes that the Eisenhower plan might win Soviet support were sparked by the rare East-West harmony prevailing yesterday, when the Assembly unanimously approved private big power talks on disarmament aimed at eventual prohibition of nuclear weapons. The call for talks was made by Russia and the Western Powers in their first concerted action on disarmament in eight years.

Adding to the prospect of Soviet cooperation was Eisenhower's announcement Wednesday that the United States is engaged in what it hopes is a "new phase" of negotiations with Russia on creation of the proposed international atomic pool.

Informed sources said the resolution would ask the conference to report back to the U.N. on progress made towards peaceful utilization of atomic materials by nations who have developed nuclear energy or have uranium resources.

Observers speculated whether Russia would be willing to take part in the proposed agency, or whether she would insist on prohibition of all nuclear weapons as a premise to any international move towards peaceful development.

The Russians recently reversed their previous stand on this when they agreed to negotiate for a step-by-step reduction of conventional armaments, with the ban on atom and hydrogen bombs coming midway in the process.

Fastest Seaplane Explodes, Burns

has a rated capability of more than 700 miles an hour.

On the fatal run, Richbourg had planned to make a speed dash before watchers assembled at the Corvair beaching ramp at Lindbergh Field.

About 20 persons, including this writer, were watching from a pier extending out into the water. Possibly 300 others were standing on the nearby shore.

The Sea-Dart sped toward us in a gradual dive. One observer estimated it was approaching at about 400 miles an hour.

As it neared us, the battle craft wobbled sharply, turning first its flat base and its equally flat upper side toward us.

"What kind of maneuver is that?" one watcher exclaimed. Then, incredibly, the machine started coming apart. There was a bright puff of flame, and the craft porpoised upward. "Look out, it's going to explode!" someone shouted.

The plane was only about 300 feet above the water and possibly that far as sea. As the fuselage broke up, fuel lines parted, pouring a petroleum mixture into the hot jet stream. There was a great, brilliant sheet of fire, and black debris showered from it.

For a moment the searing heat of the exploding fuel stung our faces, despite the distance between us and the disintegrating plane. Some of the watchers flung themselves to the ground to escape the flames and the flying wreckage.

Rescue boats swung into action. Divers found the front part of the wreckage and extricated the pilot within three minutes. He died, however, before an ambulance could start him toward a hospital.

The tragedy wiped out the elation the group of observers had experienced a few hours earlier in watching the first public demonstration of the Navy's Convair Pogo Stick XFV1 experimental fighter plane.

That odd looking craft took off straight upward, hovered, backed down to a landing on its tail, then took off vertically again, swung over through a graceful arc into a horizontal position, flew around like a fast fighter airplane — which is what it is meant to be — and then descended vertically to earth again.

J. F. (Skeets) Coleman, a veteran test pilot, put the plane through its remarkable paces and called the craft the easiest kind of a plane to operate.

Ziem Cites Anti-Bingo Vote

Says Law Prohibiting Gambling to Be Strictly Enforced Here

A voter's decision Tuesday against legalizing bingo in Michigan has caused Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem to emphasize enforcement of anti-gaming laws.

On inquiry by the Pontiac Press, Ziem issued the statement which follows:

"Regardless of individual personal opinions on the subject of bingo, raffles and other lotteries, the people of Michigan and Oakland County have spoken.

"The people have indicated by their vote that they desire these operations not to be legalized."

"Therefore the police departments have no other alternative than to enforce the law on these operations. A letter from this office so informing the police departments will be mailed in a few days.

"I have faith that the people of our county will obey the law they have voted upon and abide by their own decision."

Oakland County provided 14,193 of the majority against the proposal, with 72,361 voting "No" and 58,168 "yes."

Escanaba Car Fines Paid Off With Spuds

ESCANABA — Parking violators paid off tickets with potatoes, instead of money, today.

A ticket costs a peck. Ordinarily it is 50 cents.

The new fine schedule, which prevailed today only, was instituted in connection with the Upper Peninsula Potato Show, which opened yesterday in Escanaba.

Violators delivered their potatoes to justices of the peace, who in turn, passed them on to the City Welfare Department.

Man Is Fined $75 for Drunk Driving

A Waterford Township jury yesterday convicted Clifford L. Marsac, 47, of 198 W. Walton Blvd., of driving under the influence of liquor.

Five men and one woman defendants paid off one and one-half hours before they brought in their verdict to Justice Willis D. Lefurgy, who fined Marsac $75 and $25 costs.

Marsac, arrested by Waterford Township Patrolman Charles T. Whitlock Oct. 10 on US-10, near Kennett road, pleaded not guilty at his first arraignment and requested the jury trial.

Gail Russell Hospitalized After Attack of Hepatitis

HOLLYWOOD — Movie actress Gail Russell has been hospitalized more than a week, suffering from hepatitis.

Dr. J. Howard Payne, her physician, said last night that the actress, recently divorced by actor Guy Madison, was in critical condition when she entered the hospital and although "still a very sick girl" is showing signs of recovery. He said she would have to remain in the hospital for a long time.

Gold fish, escaping from ornamental ponds, have increased naturally in some places until they are numerous enough to be caught and sold as food.

Because albinos usually have weak eyes and do not have nature's camouflage, they usually do not survive long in the wild state, says the National Geographic Society.

Methodists of Commerce Prepare for Fund Drive

COMMERCE — One of the oldest churches in this part of the state will attempt to raise $30,000 in one afternoon Sunday to provide money for a new church building.

Commerce Methodist Church will launch its building crusade at 2 p. m. Sunday when some 90 members meet at the church to form teams and receive visitation assignments. The teams will go out in pairs to call on the 325 church families in a canvass for donations and pledges.

The Rev. George C. Nothdurf of the Methodist National Board of Missions in Philadelphia, Pa., will preach at both 8:30 and 11 a. m. services on the topic "Using Our Talents," and direct the fund crusade.

The $30,000 goal represents half the cost of a planned $60,000 building to be erected at the church's new three-acre site on Commerce road just west of the village limits. To this building will be joined the original church, which will be moved when the new unit is complete.

The proposed two-level building, part of a master plan which allows for expansion, will provide a fellowship hall on the main floor, and a kitchen and flexible educational room in the basement.

The hall will have a stage for recreation and fellowship meetings, and will be adaptable for use as a church school on Sunday mornings.

According to the pastor, the Rev. Perry A. Thomas, some 240 Sunday School children have caused an overcrowding problem. Currently the parsonage has had to be converted to Sunday School use, and an adult class has been forced to hold its meetings in a nearby store.

Final reports on the building crusade will be turned in Tuesday, when teams will meet at the church.
