

DeGaulle Move Perils Common Mart

ONE COLOR

LONDON (AP) — Cracks yawned in the European Common Market today on the eve of President Nixon's visit to Europe.

British sources reported yesterday that President Charles de Gaulle of France had sought British help to form a new alliance that would scuttle the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

French Foreign Minister Michel Debre denied the report and criticized Britain for releasing it.

In London, foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said today Britain refused to trade its friendship with the United States for a European trade alliance with de Gaulle.

DEFENDS POLICY

Stewart's statement was the first by a British government official since yesterday's disclosure.

The report shook Common Market members who feel de Gaulle no longer has faith in the economic alliance.

Diplomatic sources predicted the market cannot continue operating in its present form without French support, particularly as the six member nations are already deadlocked over de Gaulle's refusal to let Britain join the trade pact.

Qualified informants in London said the French president confided his plan to British Ambassador Christopher Soames 18 days ago. They said it called for a loose European free trade area to be run by a council of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy.

DEFENDS POLICY

In announcing the British refusal to go along with de Gaulle, Stewart defended the policy of Western European allies on maintaining close ties with the Americans.

"The United States alone among the superpowers in the world is a democracy. For example, people who disagree with the policy of the U.S. government on Vietnam can and do say so," he said.

City-Union Talks Stalled; Key Bargainer Is Stricken

Negotiations between the city and three of its employe unions broke off yesterday when the city's chief negotiator, David Burgess, 54, a Detroit lawyer, was stricken with a heart attack.

Two unions representing city service workers were still striking today in a walkout which began last Friday. Also negotiating for a new wage and fringe benefit package is the Pontiac Firefighters Association.

The firemen staged two walkouts last weekend but returned to duty under court order.

Negotiations between the city and the three unions were to resume 10 a.m. Monday with a staff attorney from Burgess' firm, Gilbert Cox, assuming his duties. Burgess was under treatment today at Pontiac General Hospital.

In another development relating to the negotiations, a legal move announced Wednesday by the attorney for the three unions appears to have been frustrated.

Winston Livingston said he had filed a motion with the Michigan Appeals Court attempting to interfere with collections of the Pontiac income tax.

Livingston's motion asked for withdrawal of a suit that originated in Oakland County Circuit Court. The original suit blocked a referendum on the issue asked in petitions presented to the city.

State Budget Shuns Critical PSH Needs

Mental patients at Pontiac State Hospital apparently will have to put up with a shortage of people to care for them, freezing cold air leaking through windows and rooms without heat or electricity for at least a few more years.

The State Legislature is considering the hospital's budget for fiscal 1969-70 in a bill which doesn't include money for these top priority needs, according to Gerald Bax, the hospital's nonmedical administrative officer.

says the proposed budget recommended by Gov. Miliken "provides only for a continuation of present programs," which in some cases are below minimum needs.

"Unmet needs and an accumulation of years of inadequate budgets continue to pervade the bulk of the hospital's operations," Martin said.

FIFTH IN PRIORITY

Bax said the proposed operational budget only gives money beyond the present programs to the hospital's No. 5 priority item — a central surgical program.

"We are strongly urging legislators to restore at least our top two priority items," Martin commented.

Weather Change Due on Weekend

It looks like the Pontiac area is due for a change in the weather over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast the following day-by-day report:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy with chance of occasional rain by late afternoon, possibly changing to light snow late tonight and ending tomorrow morning. High today 39 to 44. Low tonight 25 to 30.

Winds were east to northeast at eight to 18 miles per hour.

TOMORROW — A little cooler, high 33 to 38.

MONDAY — Mostly cloudy with little temperature change.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 30 today and tonight, 20 tomorrow.

Twenty seven was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 43 at 2 p.m.

249 Reds Killed in 'Truce' Battles

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops attacked two U.S. bases early today, five hours before the Vietcong-proclaimed Tet cease-fire ended. Spokesmen said these and seven other fights cost the enemy 249 men killed.

One attack was on the Phan Rang air base where former President Lyndon B. Johnson's son-in-law is stationed. But spokesmen said Airman 1 C. Patrick Nugent was on a week's leave and not on base at the time.

Seventy-five mortar shells hit the base 160 miles northeast of Saigon, wounding five airmen and causing minor damage to some aircraft. Air Force gunships raked the enemy firing positions, and South Korean troops sweeping the area this morning found blood trails leading from two mortar emplacements.

In the second attack, enemy troops charged under cover of a 30-round mortar barrage and blasted their way into a base of the 101st Airborne Division 97 miles east of Saigon.

2 YANKS KILLED

The enemy killed two American paratroopers and wounded 29 others before being driven back by the paratroopers and helicopter gunships. Twelve enemy bodies were found.

Battlefield communiques said allied forces killed at least 237 other enemy in seven fights north and south of Saigon, five of them yesterday and two Thursday.

U.S. losses were six killed and eight wounded, and South Vietnamese losses were four killed and 22 wounded. U.S. spokesmen credited fighter-bombers for the 24-to-1 kill ratio.

BRING CASE BACK

Livingston sought to bring the case back to circuit court and seek to have an election called.

However, his motion to the Appeals Court was rejected. In a letter to Livingston's law firm and all parties concerned from Clerk of the Michigan Court of Appeals, Ronald L. Dziericki, the motion was called "unique and curious."

The letter stated, in part, "It is not clear in my mind exactly what you intend to achieve by the filing of this document . . . your alleged withdrawal of opposition."

'Stadium Would Be Asset'

Charles B. Edwards Jr., chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, thinks an Oakland County sports stadium would prove a distinct asset to the entire county and state.

Besides being located near the state's population center, such a stadium would become a source of local pride bringing new taxing base plus additional trade and travel to the area, Edwards said.

"I believe the county has unique benefits to contribute for the successful operation of such a facility," Edwards said. "It would be situated in a prosperous area accessible by modern highways as well as by air."

Pontiac and Walled Lake are seeking selection as the site of a domed stadium to replace Tiger Stadium.

SHOOTING SPREE IS OVER — Police move in on a Washington, D. C., rooming house, set afire by a tear gas grenade, after a two-hour shooting match yesterday with a sniper inside. The man, Thomas Walton, apparently committed suicide. Police said the shooting began when he argued with his landlady at breakfast. She and another woman, also a tenant, were killed, three policemen were wounded and three more were injured in the siege.

Suspension Policy Stiffens at Berkeley

By the Associated Press

University of California regents have given campus administrators power to suspend students with an immediate hearing in an attempt to quell chaotic conditions of the Berkeley campus.

The regents met yesterday in Berkeley as 2,500 protesters demonstrated noisily nearby, jeering Gov. Ronald Reagan.

But heavy rain and the shadow of 1,000 National Guardsmen camped five miles away averted a repetition of Thursday's violent clash between police and 2,000 demonstrators.

related to the fourth anniversary of the assassination of Malcolm X.

Nearly 100 Negro students seized a building at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., but abandoned it after college officials canceled afternoon classes and scheduled a memorial service for Malcolm X.

The University of Pennsylvania declared Feb. 21 and the anniversary of the assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., April 4, as religious holidays, but students refused to end a four-day sit-in.

Long Island and Fordham universities and the City College of New York held memorial services for Malcolm X that drew hundreds of admirers, some of them white.

BOYCOTT AT PRINCETON

Fear of Surgery Costs His Life

MIAMI (AP) — Alexander Bienkowski twice panicked and refused to let doctors change a mechanical stimulator in his heart. The operation was performed yesterday—but too late.

Bienkowski, 54, was at Jackson Memorial Hospital, awaiting the operation that he dreaded.

"His heart stopped about 3 p.m. Thursday," said Mrs. Toni Lee of Miami, Bienkowski's daughter. "He still had the old pacemaker in. They shocked his heart into beating again and rushed him into surgery."

"He was placed in intensive care following the operation. The monitor showed that his heart stopped 11 times."

The monitor stopped for the final time at 3:30 a.m. yesterday.

Bienkowski was dead.

He had agreed to submit to the pacemaker operation after his wife Mary obtained a Valentine's Day court order without her husband's knowledge. She was appointed guardian of his heart, so in case he panicked again, she could order the operation.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS CAPTURED — Dayton, Ohio, police move in to capture three suspects yesterday 20 minutes after the holdup of a bank messenger. Two of the suspects were hiding in the trunk of a car. Detectives said all but 50 cents of the $871 in loot, and two pistols were taken from the men after their car was spotted three miles away from the scene of the holdup.

I-75 Fatality Leads to Second Crash

Last Year to Date 20

An Ohio man was killed early this morning on I-75 near Clarkston, and two other cars crashed as an ambulance came toward them the wrong way on the expressway.

Killed in the first crash was Bernard P. Helm, 22, of Kirtland, Ohio. Witnesses told deputies the car the victim was driving northbound passed them at a high rate of speed.

Helm's car went off the road and disintegrated in the crash and the man was pronounced dead at the scene, deputies said.

Two other cars crashed at the accident site shortly after the 2:15 a.m. mishap. Apparent cause of the second crash was confusion caused by the Fleet Ambulance driver arriving on the scene from a southbound direction, deputies said.

Involved in the second crash were cars driven by Willard G. Burdick Jr., 20, of Fenton and Harold E. Burger of Highland Park. Burger was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Burdick was uninjured.

Deputies said the ambulance driver, Cliff Titus, 23, of Mount Morris, had crossed the median from the southbound lane and was approaching the original accident at the time of the second crash. An investigation was to continue today.

Five Charter Proposals Are Put on Ballot

BIRMINGHAM — Five more proposals for amendments to the city charter — bringing the total to six — have been added to the ballot by the City Commission for voter approval at the April 8 City Election.

- Additional proposals include:
- Increase the present limitation on city purchases without competitive bids to $4,000 with a 5-3 vote of the commission and to $2,000 on a lesser vote.
 - Delete portions of the city charter which deal with the office of municipal judge. (The post has been replaced by a District Court.)
 - Elimination of the office of constable due to establishment of a District Court.
 - Change the procedure for vacating public streets and alleys. Revised procedure would require a public hearing with four weeks notice.
 - Add a provision whereby property owners who are scheduled for an assessment are to be given 10 days written notice of the special assessment hearing.

The previously announced amendment change calls for deletion of the charter amendment providing for appointments to the county board of supervisors. (They are now elected by districts.)

The South Oakland County Model Railroad Club was to open its annual open house today at 2 p.m. in the Grand Trunk Western railroad station, 245 S. Elton.

The open house runs from 2 to 4:30 p.m. today and Sunday and the following weekend March 1-2 at the same times.

Members of the model railroad club have patterned the model railroad layout after the Detroit to Durand section of the Grand Trunk & Western. Over 1,200 feet of track are in operation including a portion of the GTW Port Huron to Chicago mainline complete with operating signals and automatic train control.

The model railroad is normally in full operation, 8:11 p.m. on the third Friday of every month and open to visitors.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — John D. L'Hote, 3218 Woodside, has been named to the State Fire Safety Board by Gov. William Milliken. The term will expire July 15, 1972.

L'Hote is a physical plant manager for the Detroit Board of Education.

Israel Expected to Strike Back

TEL AVIV (U) — Arabs and Jews alike expressed belief today the bomb blast that shattered Jerusalem's biggest supermarket will surely trigger a counter-blow from Israel.

The dynamite explosion killed two university students and wounded nine other holiday shoppers in the Superol Market yesterday. It came only 72 hours after the Arab machine-gun attack on an Israeli El Al jetliner in Zurich, Switzerland.

A Though certain there would be a militant Israeli reaction, few had the slightest idea when, where and how it might be executed.

The likeliest targets are the airports, bridges, dams or oil installations of the four Arab nations which ring Israel on all sides except the Mediterranean — Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

CLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist guerrilla outfit with an office in Amman, Jordan, claimed responsibility for the supermarket blast, just as it did for the Zurich raid.

But angry Israeli officials blamed Arab governments for this spectacular foray and other bloody incidents in the guerrilla warfare-called resistance by the Arabs, terrorism by the Israelis.

The four governments disclaim responsibility for the guerrillas' operations, but all have expressed support in varying degree for the Beirut said all reported their defenses alerted for the expected counterblow.

Of the four Arab powers, only Syria has not been hit by an Israeli retaliatory attack. Its new French-built airport might tempt Israeli raiders.

China to Free Yanks?

HONG KONG (U) — A Hong Kong government spokesman said yesterday 15 yachtsmen, including six Americans, who were taken prisoner by the Communist Chinese last Sunday may be released after the Chinese lunar new year holidays that end March 3.

'Sirhan Planned to Shoot RFK'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan confided to an acquaintance last April that he planned to shoot Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and he was observed on the scene 48 hours before the assassination, witnesses testified yesterday at Sirhan's first-degree murder trial.

The prosecution, developing its theme of premeditated murder, has called 46 witnesses and appears likely to rest its case next week. The trial is in recess until Monday.

Alvin Clark, a mountaineer, goateed Negro, testified yesterday that Sirhan told him two months before the assassination, "I'm planning on shooting him."

Clark, who collects trash at the Sirhan home in Pasadena, said they became friendly, with Sirhan providing coffee and sandwiches. Shortly after the assassination of Martin Luther King, Clark said Sirhan, a 24-year-old Jordanian, "asked me who I was going to vote for. I told him Sen. Kennedy."

ADMITTS STATEMENT

"What do you want to vote for that son of a b, because I'm planning on shooting him," Clark quoted Sirhan as saying.

On cross-examination, Clark was asked if he told the FBI after Kennedy's death that "you wouldn't want to take the oath because you hated Sirhan so much you would do anything to see him convicted?"

"Yes," replied Clark.

The prosecution then asked Clark if he told the truth in his testimony and he said he had.

The defense contends that Sirhan was in a trance and incapable of premeditated murder — for which the possible penalty is death — when he shot the 42-year-old Kennedy last June 5.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is off to a relatively good start with skillful labor leaders who opposed his election, but a fight is budding over the federal minimum wage.

"The AFL-CIO goal in the 91st Congress will be a $2 minimum wage with universal coverage," the labor federation's Executive Council said yesterday after hearing Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz' opposition to any hike in the present $1.60 minimum.

Shultz also got nowhere with leaders of the 13.8 million-member labor federation in suggesting that there could be a lower federal minimum for youngsters just entering the labor market.

"We won't go for that at all," said a source in the AFL-CIO.

Kidnap Suspect Mute to Charge

A 17-year-old escapee from a state training school is being held in the Oakland County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond on charges of kidnaping and robbing a 74-year-old Novi woman Thursday night.

Kenneth W. Owens of Ionia stood mute to the charges when he was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Wallick Lake District Judge Martin Boyle. The judge delayed setting a date for a preliminary examination until after the court appoints an attorney for Owens.

Owens and a 16-year-old companion, both escapees from Whitmore Lake State Training School, were arrested after abducting Mrs. Orelia Thompson from her home at knifepoint.

Wisnom police stopped them in Mrs. Thompson's car because one of the headlights was out. Owens is also charged with stealing the car.

Novi police said the Oakland County Prosecutor's office will ask juvenile authorities to waive jurisdiction over the 16-year-old so he can be tried as an adult.

disagreement after a closed meeting. But a federation source said the lower pay for youngsters is "the biggest potential fight between us and the administration."

"I am satisfied that he has not made up his mind on this fully," Meany said of Shultz, and the secretary himself told newsmen he was just throwing out the idea of considering lower federal pay standards for new job market entrants.

Meany did not appear disturbed after questioning Shultz about Nixon's call for new methods for dealing with national emergency strikes.

"He indicated he didn't have the answer. I said I didn't have the answer and I haven't found anybody else who has the answer," Meany said.

Labor leaders feel generally that Nixon's comment was prompted by the longshoremen's strike, and that there probably will be no major move to tamper with the Taft-Hartley Act's provision for 80-day cooling off injunctions, the only current federal weapon against most strikes.

tion does not change the posture of the appeal."

At the time the move was announced several attorneys and officials commented it was doubtful the motion would have any legal status or purpose except as a tactic in negotiations.

In yesterday's talks between city and union bargaining teams only slight progress was noted.

Garbage Pickup Points Are Listed

The Pontiac Department of Public Works and Services has announced establishing drop points for garbage during the strike against the city by employees.

- At the points will be city garbage trucks. The service will be temporary and is meant to prevent serious, unsanitary accumulations of refuse, it was announced. Drop points will be operating 10 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at:
- Pontiac General Hospital Parking lot.
- Pontiac Golf Course clubhouse.
- Murphy Park parking lot, Reed and South East Boulevard.
- Incinerator site, Featherstone and East Boulevard.
- City Hall parking lot.
- Joyce Park, Walton and Joslyn.

Budget Ignores Needs at PSH hospital's 1,750 patients, have only two attendants for 90 patients.

Five new positions in adult psychiatry are included in the proposal, according to Bax.

Pontiac State Hospital provides surgical services to patients from a 10-county region.

Some $111,000 in the budget for the surgical program will provide for hiring nine personnel and purchase of drugs and supplies.

A hospital request for $50,000 to start replacing old windows apparently will not be met, says Bax. Blankets, rags and newspapers will have to be used to keep the cold air out.

From 400 to 600 patients in the 91-year-old section of the hospital still will be without heat or electricity in the 200 to 300 rooms they use primarily for sleeping, Bax said.

NOT REALLY GENEROUS

Martin said the governor's budget request increase of $1 million for the hospital appears generous on the surface but is really not.

"Two-thirds of the increase is GREET LABOR LEADERS—A smiling Secretary of Labor George Shultz and cigar-chomping AFL-CIO President George Meany greet labor leaders at a meeting yesterday at Miami Beach.

Garbage continued to accumulate around the city, but a stopgap measure of providing drop-off points around the city has been initiated.

The firmers are asking parity with an offer reportedly made to Pontiac police. It would give police $10,000 per year retroactive to Jan. 1 and $10,000 annually beginning July 1. The city's offer to firemen was $400 less. Other striking city employees are asking for raises that average 35 cents per hour. The three unions also are seeking retirement and longevity pay adjustments.

HST in Hospital, Ready to Go Home

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman continued improving today after an attack of intestinal influenza and already chafed to get out of the hospital and go home.

A spokesman for Research Hospital said the 84-year-old Truman slept well last night and dined this morning on a poached egg, toast and hot tea.

"He has already expressed a desire to go home," the spokesman said.

The former president's physicians have said he probably will be allowed to go home in a few days after treatment for an attack of gastrointestinal flu caused by a virus.

This year's budget for the hospital is $10.7 million. The hospital requested $10.9 million from the state, not including its supplemental needs and salaries.

Gov. William Milliken has recommended an all-inclusive budget package of $11.7 million.

Martin has threatened cutbacks in programs and an increased waiting list for admission if sufficient funds aren't received.

A money shortage already is causing some problems this year, Bax reports.

At the present spending pace, the hospital would end this fiscal year about $75,000 in the red, he said. More fringe benefits and overtime are being paid than expected.

Minor cutbacks in office supplies and in personnel — leaving noncritical positions unfilled — will be made to end the year with no deficit, according to Bax. Medical supplies and drugs will not be reduced.

One major cutback Martin announced which will affect next year's budget is the closing of six old adult rehabilitation cottages, which house a total of 360 beds.

PATIENT SHIFT SET

Patients left homeless by the closing will be placed in another section of the hospital or be sent to such other facilities as nursing homes.

The deactivation process, scheduled to start soon, will take about one year.

Waterford Schools Data Is Available

The Waterford Township School District Public Information Committee, in an effort to inform district residents, has asked that all questions regarding the township's school situation be directed to its office.

Questions may be sent to the Public Information Committee, 3101 W. Walton, Waterford Township, 48055.

The school board is considering setting an election March 26 on a two-year $-mill tax increase.

The same proposal along with a $10.3-million bond issue was defeated Dec. 7.

Singer Finds Out Why Life Is Worth Living

By TONY FONTANE
Entertainer, Hollywood, Calif.
I grew up associating religion with poverty. And I hated both of them.

When I was a small boy in my home town of Ann Arbor, Mich., my father, a Baptist minister, accepted a call from a church in western Canada, but on our way we came upon a run-down "rescue mission" in Grand Forks, N.D., and Dad decided that this was where God wanted him to be.

So we settled down to the only life I knew until I was 17—a skid row world of derelicts, alcoholics and starving migrants who, it appeared to me, were always ready to sing a hymn in exchange for a meal.

At evening services I often heard my father tell the men that God would provide for them if they would just abandon themselves to Him. It seemed to me that my parents had certainly abandoned themselves to God, and I saw little evidence that He was providing very much.

DAYDREAMS
Somewhere along the line, I picked up a lot of daydreams. I wanted to be rich and famous, and I got the idea that my world of wealth and fame would be in show business. I thought of little else.

I never hesitated to tell anybody exactly where I was going in life, on my own.

Hearing me, Mother would quote James 4:14: "You know not what you shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is just a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away."

TWO HIT RECORDS
I lived only to get away. My chance came when I finished high school. I joined the Coast Guard—the fastest way I knew to get out of town. And I didn't return home until five years later when my mother was dying.

By then, my career was progressing. I had two hit records: I was appearing on nationwide TV and in the best nightclubs.

Leaving this exciting world even briefly, and even for a reason as serious as my mother's life, bitterly depressed me.

The sight of my mother, withering away from cancer of the spine, aroused all my old resentments. I asked her, "Is this the way God treats people who love Him?"

"Don't say that, Tony," she said. "Pray with me. I want to be able to accept God's will."

"Let's pray for a miracle," I suggested, taunting her. "You have one coming. You've worked hard enough for it."

"The only miracle I want,"

she said, "is to have enough love for God that I can accept His will for me now. Pray with me Son."

NEVER REALLY PRAYED

"No," I said, "I don't pray anymore. I don't think I've ever really prayed in my life."

As soon as I could after Mother's death, I was on my way out of Grand Forks, again feeling free and relieved.

By 1957, I was living like a king. I had my own TV show. I had a beautiful wife, a beautiful daughter, a beautiful home, foreign cars — my self-made world in my hands.

Then, in a split second, that world was wrenched away by a car accident.

At the hospital, the doctor told my wife, Kerry, that I had suffered a fractured skull, brain damage, internal chest injuries; I was blinded and had lost my voice. She handed the doctor a blank check and, "Fill it out for any amount you need, Doctor. Just save Tony's life."

"IN HANDS OF GOD"

The doctor refused the check. "There isn't enough money in the world to enable us to do anything for your husband," he said. "He is in the hands of God — God of the impossible."

Kneeling at my bedside, Kerry prayed. "Lord, here and now I accept You as my Savior. I don't know how I'll do it — You'll have to show me — but I promise that I will spend the rest of my life serving You."

Let Tony live so that we can serve You together."

With that double-barreled act of faith, my wife committed me to the Lord at a moment I was unable to make any decision of my own.

After God performed the impossible and I began a complete recovery, Kerry told me about her promise — for both of us.

LIFE HAS MEANING

Kerry's prayer became my prayer, not only because it had saved my life, but because I realized that by serving the Lord my life could now have a meaning and purpose for someone besides myself.

And I have come to know something else. There had been nothing wrong with my ambition to become a successful singer — God gives us our talents to be used.

But what had been wrong was my motivation. Instead of glorifying God with the talents He gave me, I sought success in order to show Him up. I almost had to lose my life to learn that being "poor in spirit" means acknowledging that what I am and what I possess comes from God, and that life has value only when I put nothing before Him.

Learning this, I realized what a truly abundant life my parents had lived.

Next — Archie Moore, former world heavyweight champion, tells how faith has enabled him to lead scores of young boys to a better life.

Coming of Age—6

Important to Know Legal Obligations

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is and even earlier in New still assumes the legal obligation of ownership can become a her? The legal authorities say the sixth article in a 10-part series designed to help young people cope with the new challenges they face as they enter legal adulthood.)

By SIDNEY MARGOLIS

Almost all of your more serious relationships with the other sex, whether in or out of marriage, are governed by laws. These laws can affect you more seriously than you realize.

You should be aware of your potential legal obligations in man-woman relationships and the minimum age requirements and defenses.

At 21 men can marry in many states without parental consent, before, reaching his majority and hostility exists, the question can you be compelled to marry Hampshire and Hawaii (at 20); Alaska (19); Idaho and South children.

Young adults, understandably, especially often when costly engagement rings are involved. Money, securities, property, even gifts from relatives, sometimes also become an issue.

Young adults also sometimes express concern about "breach of promise" suits if an engagement is broken. While some states have abolished such suits, and in general the trend seems to be against them, in many states a man still can be sued for breaking a promise to marry without the girl's agreement or mitigating circumstances.

HOSTILITY COMPLICATES If the parting is friendly, there usually will be no different difficulty in working out what is returned and what is kept. But if the parting is hostile, the question can you be compelled to marry no; not by the girl, her family, a shotgun, nor even a court. The only exception, according to Samuel J. Kling, author of "Sexual Behavior and the Law," may be if the man has been convicted of rape or seduction, and the court offers a choice of marriage or jail.

In fact, if you are forced to marry under threat of harm (but not merely public exposure), you probably could seek an annulment.

If a man fathers a child illegitimately, he can be required to support the child even though he cannot be made to marry the mother.

Illegitimacy is a growing problem. The rate of illegitimate births has doubled in the past 20 years, and is especially high among young people. Almost 100,000 of the annual crop of 255,000 illegitimate babies are born to teen-age mothers.

Sometimes the accused may claim he is not the father of the child. In fact, the number of disputed paternity cases going to the courts for adjudication has increased in recent years. A man is, of course, entitled to a hearing or trial on a paternity charge, as Parnell Callahan points out in "Legal Status of Young Adults." In at least some cases, say legal authorities, the accused man was not really the father.

In past years the courts have tended to lean backward on behalf of the woman and the child, sometimes unfairly so, according to Sidney B. Schatkin, a New York City official who has supervised these cases.

Nation Honors Founder

Today the Nation honors its founder on his 237th anniversary.

Rightly called the Father of His Country, GEORGE WASHINGTON was supremely the right man in the right place at the right time.

Whether the United States would have materialized without WASHINGTON'S dedicated leadership is of course pointless conjecture. But certain it is that it was his deep sense of justice, indomitable courage and inspired dedication to the cause of freedom that enabled him to weld 13 antagonist colonies into an effective federation not only to win an eight-year war for independence but to unite them under a democratic constitution unequalled in world annals.

Contrary to popular belief, the Revolutionary War by no means reflected unanimous sentiment for separation from England, the mother country. The sizable number of Tories, those who opposed such an objective, opposed Washington at every turn, making the War as much a civil war as a war of liberation.

After victory was won on the battlefield, WASHINGTON, then 51, retired in 1783 to well-earned peace and tranquility of his beloved Mt. Vernon estate in Virginia.

But it was not to be. Fourteen years later, with the weak Articles of Confederation that had bound the colonies during armed conflict falling apart, WASHINGTON was drafted to head a Constitutional Convention. After a year of unremitting toil by the delegates, the Constitution was adopted, and WASHINGTON was elected the first president of the United States on Feb. 4, 1789.

The great patriot was reelected four years later, but declined to consider a third term—thus establishing the two-term tradition that endured until broken by President FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT in 1940.

George Washington's public utterances are replete with wisdom and foresightedness. Perhaps one embodied in his farewell address to the American people is especially prophetic and pertinent to our parlous times "... The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government. But the Constitution which at any time exists, until changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

HUD OK Given 'Plan'

When Housing and Urban Development (HUD) regional official KENNETH WILCOX during a recent visit here flashed the "go-ahead" signal on Pontiac's proposed $100-million downtown rebuilding program, the 27-acre project cleared the last governmental hurdle.

The stage is now set for implementation by individual entrepreneurs of the huge undertaking within the "piecemeal" concept of the plan.

Comparing the plan to one adopted by Boston, Wilcox urged the City and the several interested developers to get busy at once and start the dirt flying on the revitalization of the municipality's central business area.

WILCOX

Wilcox's approval of the master plan followed similar endorsement expressed a month ago by another HUD official, THOMAS KILBRIDE.

Known as the Pontiac Plan, the project involves a complex of office, apartment and commercial buildings, residential and medical care facilities for senior citizens and a sports arena, complemented by a hotel, restaurant and convention center.

Reflecting the enthusiasm of the community, The Press expresses gratification over the Federal stamp of approval given the local development program, which had been given the blessing of the City Fathers a month ago.

Again we say, "Let's Go, Pontiac."

Senator Reviews National Budget

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

Sometimes, when I look at the figures and verify that the budget of the United States has grown from $3.3 billion to $195 billion since I came to Washington as a congressman in 1933, I feel like the old-time farmer who saw his first giraffe:

DIRKSEN

"I see it," he exclaimed, "but I don't believe it!"

The budget is made up long in advance. It is a colossal task that must frighten the budget makers as they work on the prospective budgets for as far ahead as 1971, 1972 and 1973, which is what they are doing. Right now in 1969, however, we are concerned with the budget for the fiscal year 1970. It begins on July 1, 1969, and ends June 30, 1970.

Obviously, the first concern is with how much we will have to spend. Here are the rounded-off estimates of government income:

For fiscal 1970, it is estimated that the U.S. government will extract $90.5 billion in receipts from individuals as income taxes, $40 billion from corporations as income taxes, $46 billion in Social Security taxes from both employers and employees, $15.7 billion in excise taxes on autos, tires, liquor, tobacco and other items, and $5 to $6 billion from miscellaneous sources. That totals up to a big $198 billion. Some total! Take note that I refer to those items as budget receipts. But there's a gimmick in it.

Before I explain the gimmick, however, we should pass on to the spending side of the ledger sheet. Spending seems to be less painful than collecting and, of course, it is more fun for those who do the disbursing.

The first item is a whopper—the amount earmarked for national defense. It includes the Vietnamese operations and what we spend to rebuild our weapons inventory, together with the cost of new weapons and research for still newer ones. It comes to $77.5 billion.

Then there is the interest that must be paid on the public debt—$16 billion. When you spend more than you take in, you must borrow in the money market where everybody else borrows. Interest rates, even for government, are the highest in 100 years. And they have to be paid.

Among the other billions of dollars it takes to run the government, Social Security, Medicare and related programs will call for a total of $42.5 billion in the next fiscal year. Just around the corner is a pay increase for both military and civilian personnel that calls for $2.8 billion. As war continues, the list of disabled veterans, widows and orphans grows apace, and so the outlay for these deserving Americans will come to $6 billion. The federal government assists the states with grants for their old-age assistance programs that will come to $7.5 billion. And don't forget, federal programs usually start small and then mushroom big.

You may think that a $3 billion difference between income and outgo isn't so very large, but it is, and especially if you go back to that gimmick included in the total income. In the matter of receipts, the budget makers include $5 billion, which is taken from the Social Security fund. That income has already been counted elsewhere, and it has to be put back into the Social Security surplus some day. That's not a very funny gimmick.

It all adds up to that amazing spiral of spending and taxes that will be reflected in the budget and in the citizens' tax bill.

Where will it end?

The POWER of FAITH

As Others Portray the Lenten Story—1

Jesus in the Wilderness—China

"And there came a voice from heaven saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness and he was there in the wilderness 40 days, tempted of Satan; and was with wild beasts..."

St. Mark 1:11, 13

This we are told by Mark of Jesus' 40 days of fasting and being tempted, which is commemorated by the 40 days of Lent.

The story has been interpreted by artists of many cultures using their heritage in their interpretation. Luke Chen, the prolific Chinese Christian artist who studied at the Catholic University in Peking, has used the ancient rules of classic painting. He has painted the wild beast for itself and also as a symbol of Satan and evil, making the meaning clearer to his people in its simplicity. The painting can also give us another concept of those 40 days.

This panel and the four succeeding panels have been produced through the cooperation of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Confident Living:

Attitudes Can Alter Our Lives

By NORMAN VINCENT

PEALE

"For years I worried so much that at times I could not sleep." So read a letter from a reader.

"Then one night I reflected that worrying was foolish; if the thing did not happen, all my worrying was for nothing—and if it did happen, my worrying had not prevented it. So I decided to stop."

"For many years now," he continues, "I have followed this rule and have been the better for it. I have had several operations and they did not worry me a bit. Everyone was amazed that I didn't worry about going to the hospital. I asked my physician to get the best surgeons he knew and I trusted them. I am thankful everything turned out all right."

That is how creative thinking gave one man permanent release from the misery of the worry habit. New thinking about problems and difficulties can change many things.

The great golfer, Gary Player, maintains that his spectacular victories have been largely due to consistent positive thinking about the difficulties of his exacting game. "What you think while playing golf," he says, "probably the most important single part of your game."

And he is able to cite any number of examples from his own experience.

"One reason that golfers let down on the back nine," he writes in an article in "Golf Digest," "is because they regard the 18 holes as two 9-hole rounds. So maybe you find yourself shooting steady golf on the first nine, attacking all the time. But comes the second nine, and you get scared and suddenly begin playing defensively, trying to hang on to your score instead of trying to turn in a better second nine."

"Between nines I say to myself, 'Gary, you were two under par that first side... let's see if you can go two under this side.' In other words, just continue to play a positive attacking game of golf."

Another tricky hurdle which Player mentions is a golfer's mental reaction when he finds he is about to play in tournament on a course that is in poor condition. The temptation, he observes, is to complain—which, in his experience, "doesn't improve the course, and certainly doesn't help your game."

He recalls that one time after practice rounds before a tournament he told himself and a number of other people that there was no way he could win on such a course—the fairway grass was too long and there just was no way you could control the ball. But on the night before the first match he had some sober second thoughts.

"I realized," he says, "that I'd been doing my best all day to talk myself out of winning. So I decided to change my thinking. 'I'm going to win this tournament,' I told myself. 'I love to play from these kinds of lies.' Thanks largely to this change in my thinking I did win the tournament."

A Michigan woman reports a similar experience in overcoming a different kind of trouble. "From way back I was plagued with an inferiority complex which in recent years was complicated by a mother-in-law problem. She was a woman of domineering, overbearing nature. Whenever I was alone with her I was practically murdered with severely critical remarks."

"But one day after some inspirational reading, I realized that this could be a learning experience for me and that with positive thinking I could come to the point where criticism would no longer be a torture for me. In fact, I could even become a better person for it."

"So I have learned to control my emotions. Our two little girls and my husband are consequently happier and, of course, I've never possessed such peace of mind and heart!"

Changed thinking can relieve you of anxiety and tension, make you more successful in your job, and improve your personal relationships. In fact, it can change your life.

"The greatest discovery of my generation," said the great psychologist-philosopher, William James, "is that human beings can alter their lives by altering their attitudes." Well, 60 years have passed since William James' time. Nowadays more and more people are grasping this tremendous fact. Those who ignore it just aren't "mod."

'It Is Time for Parents to Express Themselves'

Everyone is all hung up on the parochial bill, but no one does anything about taxes, what is taught in the schools, dope the kids are getting, etc. etc. etc. God has been taken out of the schools; now let's do away with the schools that teach about God. Morality has gone down the drain in the colleges. So what?

Dr. Spock said spare the rod and let the child express himself. I think it is time parents and adults start using the rod and expressing themselves about morality, dope, taxes and religion.

Discussion Continues on Waterford Schools

A recent news article in The Pontiac Press indicates that a poll will decide "whether a repeat millage election will be scheduled March 26" in the Waterford school district; but a paid advertisement in the same issue states, "A special election having been called to be held in this school district on the 26th day of March, 1969..." The cost of these repetitive but unsuccessful special elections is not known, but the tax paper must also shoulder this burden. Again it appears that an effort is to be made to get approval to increase the already exorbitant school millage, although two recent attempts have resulted in emphatic denials by the over-burdened taxpayers.

'Let Customer Make Choice on Produce'

Where can people find an adequate supply of grapes? There must be something we can do to encourage produce to reach the markets without harassment from politicians. The markets could offer stiffer resistance to this type of pressure and let the customer make his own choice for a change.

Writer Is Upset With Today's Society

I'm so upset with our society that I have doubts about whether I want to grow up in it. People are so wrapped up in their own family problems that they have little knowledge of what's happening in our society. There is so much confusion, youth rebellion is getting to be an everyday event, and racial problems are something always discussed but very little progress made in finding a solution. This society needs someone to get us on the ball about the problems of today.

'Doubt Chances of Having Peaceful World'

I try to be optimistic about mankind's chances of having a peaceful world, but after events of the past several years I doubt that those chances are good. I am a white person and I needn't live in a ghetto to know how it feels to be ostracized. I live in an area I thought to be desirable, but it didn't take me long to discover the intolerance and small-mindedness that existed. To culminate the harassment, some good-thinking soul put some shot into a dearly-loved pet and set my children's minds to wondering about their fellowman who could deliberately kill this animal.

'We'd Have Better City Without Mall'

If we just pass through the parking mall in Pontiac, they charge a nickel for going through. If the parking mall wasn't in downtown we would probably have a better city and more people would come to Pontiac and shop instead of going to other shopping areas.

ABM Foes Will Address Supervisors

The planning, building and zoning committee of the County Board of Supervisors will allow opponents of the government's proposed antiholistic missile system to speak at its session at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Board of Supervisors conference room.

Committee Chairman Niles Olson, D-Orion Township, said he had been asked by Calvin Lippitt, chairman of a rally committee sponsored by the 18th Congressional District Political Coalition, to speak at yesterday's board session. He said he told Lippitt the committee would be willing to hear objections Monday.

Olson noted a meeting had been scheduled for March 3 with Sens. Philip Hart and Robert Griffin and Congressmen William S. Broomfield and Jack McDonald in Washington to talk about the missile sites. The meeting will take place while supervisors are in Washington for a legislative conference March 2-5.

"After we get back with some information, we'll hold all the public hearings anyone wants," Olson promised.

Credit Union Group Hears '68 Report

Members of the Pontiac Co-op Federal Credit Union and the Pontiac Consumers Cooperative held a dual meeting earlier this week at the Pontiac Elks Club.

The group, all credit union members, heard reports of 1968 operations, including the payment of $138,000 in member dividends and elected directors for two-year terms.

Latin Quarter Padlocked for Lack of Rent

NEW YORK (AP)—The Latin Quarter nightclub, famous girl-watching spot shut down since December by a strike of its chorines, has been padlocked for nonpayment of rent.

As a "For Rent" sign went up Thursday on the two-story building on 48th Street near Broadway, Lou Walters, the club's producing-director and manager, said, "I am sure this is the end of the club."

The Latin Quarter has been a favorite place with tourists and conventioners since it opened during World War II.

The club closed Dec. 27 after its nine chorus girls struck for higher pay. As a result, the management was forced to refund $30,000 to patrons who had made reservations for New Year's Eve.

Said one chorine, Maureen Byrnes, who had been on the picket line: "I thought we were doing the right thing but I certainly didn't mean to sink the ship."

Homes for U.P.

HOUGHTON (AP)—A group of developers has purchased the Isle Royal Sands and has announced plans to build 500 homes on the 250-acre site east of this Keweenaw Peninsula community. Fill dirt will be hauled in to cover the sands, which consist of ground-up copper rock deposited in Portage Lake by the Isle Royale Mining Co. from 1900 to 1948.

ECORSE CREEK Yields Bodies of 2 Children

ECORSE (AP)—The bodies of two small children who were reported missing from their ECORSE homes Thursday night, were found Friday by a detective making the final search of ECORSE Creek in 24 hours.

The bodies of Michael Inch, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Inch, and Lori Stein, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stein, were recovered from the creek in a search police thought would be fruitless.

By Friday morning, both sets of parents, who at first had thought their children hadn't met with any foul play, were convinced the pair had been abducted.

The children apparently went to play near the creek, three blocks west of their neighboring homes, and fell through thin ice. They were last seen alive at 5:30 p.m. Thursday about a block away from the creek.

Police reported no foul play in the two deaths.

Surviving are his wife, Emily; his mother, Mrs. Lillian Lutz; two daughters, Mrs. Patricia Valentine and Mrs. Sherry Ann Abo; a son, Lynn E.; five grandchildren; and four brothers.

The family suggests memorials be made to Peace Lutheran Church.

Elvira Saldana

Service for Elvira Saldana, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Saldana, 15 Euclid, will be 10 a.m. Monday at St. Vincent Catholic Church, with burial in Mount Hope Cemetery.

A Rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

The youngest, a student at Hawthorne Elementary School, died Thursday.

Surviving in addition to those listed previously are grandfathers Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Calvo of Mexico and Mrs. Dolores Saldana of Edinburg, Tex.

Anthony Shortway

Service for former Pontiac resident Anthony Shortway, 87, of 8228 S. State, Goodrich, will be 11 a.m. Monday at the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Pontiac, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Shortway died yesterday. He was a retired automobile salesman.

He is survived by his wife, Florence B.; a daughter, Mrs. Vern Ferdon of Goodrich; a son, Eugene W. Upliger of Pontiac; a brother; two grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

Albert E. Winger

Service for Albert E. Winger, 72, of 687 Reynolds, Waterford Township, will be 11 p.m. Monday at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, with burial in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens.

Mr. Winger died Thursday. He was a retired machine operator at Pontiac Motor Division.

Surviving are his wife, Lillie M.; two daughters, Mrs. Riley Cox of Waterford Township and Mrs. Marshall Charter of Union Lake; one son, George A. of Union Lake; three brothers; one sister; 10 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

BIRMINGHAM — Service for Mrs. Mary R. Allison, 81, of 2512 Dorchester will be 2 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, with burial at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

She died Friday.

Mrs. Allison was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Birmingham, and Order of Easter Star, Lincoln Chapter 309, Lakewood, Ohio.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Alva C. Spein of Birmingham, a sister and three grandsons.

Heylett B. Barker

BEVERLY HILLS — Service for Heylett B. Barker, 74, of 18108 Dunblaine will be 11 a.m. Monday at St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit. His body is at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham.

Mr. Barker died yesterday. He was a retired sales representative for the Stiffel Lamp Co., a member of the Detroit Yacht Club and a past president of the Furniture Club of Detroit.

Surviving are his wife, Jessica; two daughters, Mrs. John Tracy of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Charles Williamson of Birmingham; one brother, and six grandchildren.

Andrew J. Burgdorf

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Services for former resident Andrew J. Burgdorf, 63, of Gaylord will be 10 a.m. Monday at Walker Funeral Home, Gaylord, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Burgdorf, a former service station operator in Pontiac Township, died yesterday.

Surviving are his wife, Florence; a son, Joseph E. of Gaylord; a brother, Joseph L. of Pontiac; two sisters, Mrs. Merle Hardman of Pontiac and Mrs. Gabrielle Whitley of Utica; and a grandson.

Bert S. Johnson

HOLLY — Requiem mass for Bert S. Johnson, 80, of 302 Oakland will be 11 a.m. Monday, at the St. Rita's Catholic Church, with burial in Lakeside Cemetery.

He died yesterday.

Pollution Bill Changes Eyed

LANSING (UPI) — Amendments may be proposed to the $335-million water pollution control bills to lift the 25 per cent ceiling on the amount the state can contribute to local sewage treatment plants.

Rep. Warren N. Goemaere, D-Roseville, chairman of the Conservation Committee which is holding hearings on the bills, said yesterday the limit must be removed "if the bills are to do any good."

Goemaere's comments followed a two-hour hearing at which Gerald Remus, general manager of the Light and Sewer Department of Detroit, testified the limit would mean the department would be $17 million short of what it needs to meet contract obligations of $159 million for pollution control.

Presently, the department supplies fresh water for 46 per cent of the state's population and provides 40 per cent of the population with water pollution control.

Gas Main Breaks

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — A ruptured gas main forced a highway to temporarily close during a rainstorm on the I-75 expressway at 14 Mile Road in six stepdaughters; and two stepsons, including Richard Wayne of Lake Orion and Mrs. Phillip Welch of Clarkston.

Study Urges Changes in Bank Setup

LANSING (AP) — A Joint Senate-House study committee looking into Michigan's controversial banking structure has recommended that corporations be allowed to own bank stock and bank holding companies be regulated.

Such action, the committee said, would provide more bank competition and more effective banking operations.

"Michigan is the only state in the Union which has a general prohibition against corporations owning bank stock," the committee reported, adding:

"This prohibition is antiquated and should be changed, not only in the interest of progress but to clarify the legal status of some stocks in Michigan banks now held by corporations."

The joint committee, headed by Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, reported the findings of an outside consultant group, Carter H. Golembie Associates of Washington, D.C. The organization was paid $13,000 to conduct a three-month study of Michigan's banking structure.

Good News for Sheri as Transfer Is OK'd

A pretty blonde girl from Royal Oak who was born deaf and is mentally ill now has some hopes of returning to a normal life.

Sheri Painter's parents had requested that she be admitted to Northville State Hospital in Detroit where she could receive complete specialized treatment.

But because she lives in Oakland County, State Mental Health Department regulations required her to go to Pontiac State Hospital.

This past week, however, the Department of Mental Health authorized her to transfer to Northville where she will be treated by Dr. James Sonnega, reportedly the only specialist in the state trained to work with the deaf mentally ill.

SHOWED IMPROVEMENT

Sheri was at Pontiac State Hospital for about two months and hospital workers said she showed improvement.

Sheri's mother, Mrs. Joseph Painter, said it was a good time to transfer to Northville since the physician helping her at Pontiac State has just been drafted into the Army.

Grants Worth $13,920 Set for Oakland U.

Almost $14,000 in National Science Foundation (NSF) funds to support undergraduate research participation at Oakland University was among major gifts to OU accepted yesterday by the board of trustees of Michigan State University at their regular monthly meeting in East Lansing.

NSF gave $7,920 to support research by biology majors and $6,000 for research by chemistry majors.

The board also accepted the gift of a 12-foot dinghy with gear and trailer to be used by the OU Sailing Club. The gift, from Buell Doelle of Grosse Pointe Farms, was valued at $750.

Urban Coalition Forms in State

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Representatives from many of the state's larger cities met here yesterday under the sponsorship of the United Auto Workers to work on preliminary plans for organization of the National Urban Coalition in Michigan.

John W. Gardner, former secretary for Health, Education and Welfare, chairman of the group, told the representatives that the most serious handicap of any local community "is the fragmentation of the community and fragmentation of community leadership."

Gardner said the National Urban Coalition was not focusing on one specific problem facing communities but on the over-all problem of bringing government and private resources into a better working relationship to meet the crisis facing the nation's cities.

Expansion of the organization, formed 18 months ago to tap all resources and reorder priorities at state and local levels, is progressing at a rapid rate, Gardner said.

Black History in Area Is on Exhibit at OU

Oakland County's "spur" of the Underground Railroad and other articles of local black history are highlighted in a special exhibit now on display at Oakland University's Kresge Library.

The exhibit, entitled "February and the Black Man," focuses primarily on the greater Pontiac community.

A series of pictures shows part of the Underground Railroad in Oakland County as it functioned during the Civil War.

Documents and newspaper clippings show the progression of the inquiry of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission into the state of race relations in Pontiac.

Other pictures and articles show black people and the history they have made in Pontiac this year.

Convention to Hear OCC's Tendler

Mitchell Tendler, director of community relations for Oakland Community College, will address the annual convention of American Association of Junior Colleges Tuesday in Atlanta, Ga.

Tendler will discuss "Pressure from the Community" on a panel discussion.

He has served on the OCC staff since 1965 and is presently president of the Michigan Association of Community College Public Information Officers.

Be It a Nip or a Sip, Catnip Means a Trip

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recent reports that some young people are turning on by smoking catnip go a long way toward explaining certain mysteries of my childhood.

Catnip, as you know, is a strongly scented herb with bluish flowers.
Although known primarily as a cat delicacy, it has been used medicinally, usually as a home remedy, in the treatment of such ailments as colic and cholera, an anemic condition sometimes called green sickness.

According to the journal of the American Medical Association, it has never been credited in psychopharmacology with having a psychedelic potential.

But youths who have smoked catnip leaves or tobacco flavored with catnip, claim it produces the same effect as marijuana or LSD.

STRANGE BEHAVIOR

While reading of this matter,
I got to thinking about a cat I used to own and about one of my grandmothers, who was a devotee of catnip tea. Both behaved rather strangely at times.

The cat, for no apparent reason, would suddenly crouch would reply. "I'm overdue in down, lurch forward, face St. Louis."

around the floor to get up speed, and then spring into the air, wildly waving his legs and tail.

Occasionally he would land flat on his back in defiance of feline tradition.

"What's wrong with that crazy cat?" my mother would exclaim. "He looks like he is trying to fly."

CAT'S MIND BENT

Nobody could figure it out at the time, but I now realize that he was hallucinating. Under the mind-bending influence of too much catnip, he fancied himself another Orville Wright.

I also can now understand what used to come over my grandmother late in an afternoon when she was sitting on the porch in her rocking chair.

She would begin rocking very slowly, gradually accelerating the tempo and all the while making a rhythmic "choo-choochoo" noise. When she reached full speed, with the wind whistling under the visor of her sunbonnet, she would lift an arm as though pulling a cord and go "took took."

I, being a curious lad, would say, "What inarnation are you doing, Grammikin?"

"Go peddle your papers somewhere else, sonny," she reason, would suddenly crouch

Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKS

At scale of the hardness of ten minerals

1. Talc	6. Orthoclase
2. Gypsum	7. Quartz
3. Calcite	8. Topaz
4. Fluorite	9. Corundum
5. Apatite	10. Diamond

SEE? YOUR BIT OF QUARTZ SCRATCHES THE FLUORITE PIECE

SO THAT PROVES QUARTZ IS HARDER THAN NUMBER 4 ON THE SCALE!

Check these by the scratch test.

STEEL FILE hardness 6.5

1 PENNY 3in. hardness

ROUGH ENOUGH

QUESTION: How can one tell which rocks are harder than others?

ANSWER: The method we show in the picture is not as exact as methods used in laboratories, but it is very useful to the beginner who is collecting and studying minerals. We show the names of 10 minerals with numbers, one being the softest and 10 the hardest.

You find the hardness of a mineral by finding which other minerals it can scratch when the two are rubbed together — and which other minerals will leave a scratch on it.

If you tried to scratch diamond with a bit of talc, nothing would happen, proving diamond is harder than talc. Another proof of this is that diamond scratches talc very easily. Since diamond also scratches all the other minerals, it rates as 10 in the hardness scale.

In the picture, a bit of quartz is scratching fluorite, showing quartz to be harder than number 4. When big George shows Harry that quartz can also scratch apatite and orthoclase, but is itself scratched by topaz, corundum and diamond, Harry will understand why quartz ranks number 7 on the scale.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

GLENWOOD PLAZA - NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

Please, let's set the record straight.

During the course of our continued struggle to seal off the oil leak in the Santa Barbara Channel, a statement has been attributed to me by the press, radio and television. A statement which, quite understandably, has generated a certain degree of public outcry.

Were this statement true, I should have nothing to do but shoulder the burden in silence, accepting the response as my due.

The fact is that at no time, anywhere, did I make that insensitive statement charged to me. The Wall Street Journal, acknowledging its error, printed the following letter from me on February 14th:

Editor, The Wall Street Journal:

Since the first moment of the very regrettable incident affecting the Union Oil Company-operated well in the Santa Barbara Channel, the Union Oil Co. has mustered an ever increasing force of men and material to control the well and to clean the ocean and beaches. At the same time, the company has taken steps particularly to care for wild fowl and/or marine life adversely affected by the slick.

It is particularly galling, therefore, in view of this all-out effort, to read, in a page-one story on Feb. 7, a statement attributed as testimony by me before a Senate subcommittee on Feb. 5, 1969, in which I was falsely charged with callously saying:

"I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a few birds."

I said no such thing at any time, anywhere, nor did I say it before the Muskie Senate subcommittee. My comments relative to our concern about wildlife, as reported in the official transcript of the proceedings, follow:

"Mr. Chairman, I would like to comment further here: I think we have to look at these problems relatively. I am always tremendously impressed at the publicity that death of birds receives versus the loss of people in our country in this day and age. When I think of the folks that gave up their lives when they came down into the ocean off Los Angeles some three weeks ago and the fact that our society forgets about that within a 24-hour period, I think relative to that the fact that we have had no loss of life from this incident is important.

"We set up, on the third day of the incident, a bird sanctuary, set up with appropriate scientists and cleaning chemicals to try to do our best to save our feathered friends, but I do say to you that relative to the number of deaths that have occurred in this fair city due to crime and all the accidents that do occur—relative to that problem of our nation, this desecration to the offshore area of Santa Barbara, although important and certainly one which we are fully devoted to taking care of, relatively it does seem that we should give this thing a little perspective."

In addition, we have assigned marine biologists and other scientists to assess the effects of the oil on marine life and to determine in what fashion we might be able to expedite a return to a normal balance of under-sea life.

And of course we have not overlooked people. With our three partners in the well—Gulf, Mobil and Texaco—we have arranged for our insurance carriers to set up special offices to quickly handle damage claims to boats or other property.

We have provided more than a score of boats, several airplanes, miles of plastic and wooden booms, thousands of bales of straw, dozens of vacuum trucks, dump trucks and bulldozers and more than 500 men for cleanup operations on land and sea.

It is well nigh impossible to say how deeply we regret this accident. We have operated at all times with procedures approved by our three partners and the Federal regulatory authorities:

Fred L. Hartley
President

Union Oil Company

Los Angeles

(The Journal regrets its inaccurate quoting of Mr. Hartley. —Ed.)

In view of our attitude and these things we are doing, it is most distressing that because I voluntarily and responsibly appeared before a United States Senate Committee to provide information needed for possible legislation, that I—or any other private citizen—should be maligned by manufactured quotations.

For seventy-eight years we have been building with the country. In its economy. And in its communities. We share a great stake in its future.

We are confident that those who have known the company during its long history understand and respect our philosophy and record as a good citizen and a good neighbor. By our actions we hope still to merit that understanding and respect.

In Washington's Time

Life mask of George Washington, made in 1785. (Pierpoint Morgan Library)

Documents of an era, when they survive, give us the flavor of the times. The rare documents of Washington's day displayed on this page are only a small sample of an extensive private collection belonging to Mr. Ernest L. Chambré, of New York. They reveal details of the topics which filled the minutes, and the days, which made up the momentous years through which Washington lived: years when the first few colonists were spurred by misery and injustices into daring to grasp their freedom.

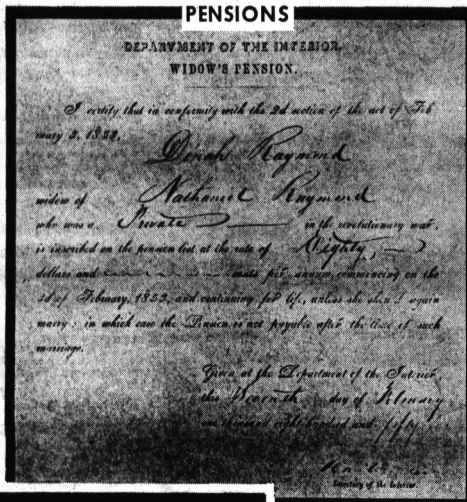

Mr. Chambré's collection comprises a vast number of American documents from the colonial and revolutionary periods. A customs specialist by profession, his lifetime hobby has been collecting American historical letters and manuscripts. This selection is particularly interesting in that it includes references to matters which still concern us today—prisoner-of-war exchange, taxation, pensions and loyalty oaths.

History can seem remote, and heroes awesome figures. But they spoke our language, after all, and to read the words which they read, and those which they themselves penned, is an exciting experience which gives an extra dimension to our understanding of the past.

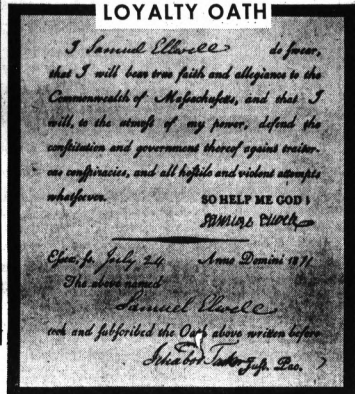

General Washington portrayed by an Englishman who had never seen him, engraved for Murray's History of the American War.

PENSIONS

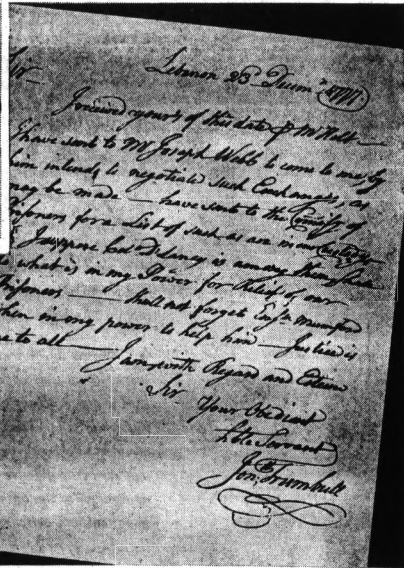

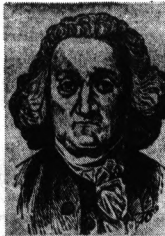

In 1854 the widow of a private in the Revolutionary War was awarded a pension of $80 a year (Revolutionary pensions were still being paid into the beginning of this century). A childless soldier's widow now could get up to $74 a month.

LOYALTY OATH

An oath of allegiance to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts signed in 1811—an early example of a practice which still holds great solemnity and dignity in American life.

PRISONER-OF-WAR EXCHANGE

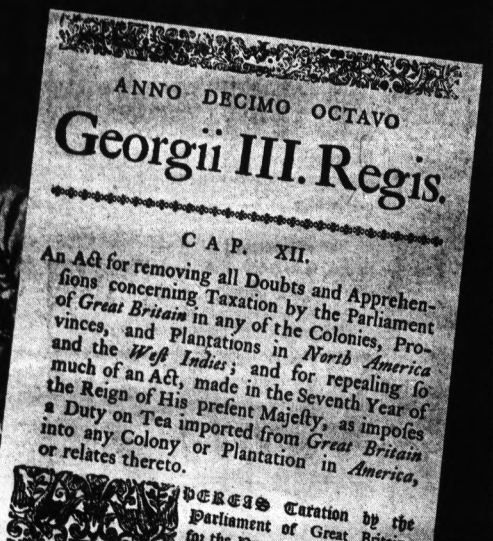

Lebanon, 23 December 1777. Sir, I received yours of this date & Mr. Holt—I have sent to Mr. Joseph Webb to come to me by him intend to negotiate such exchanges, as may be made—have sent to the Commissary of Prisoners for a List of such as are in our Custody. I suppose Col. D'Lancy is among them, shall do what is in my Power for Relief of our Prisoners—shall not forget Esq. Mumford when in my power to help him—Justice is due to all—I am with Regard and Esteem Sir Your Obedient hble. Servant Jonathan Trumbull. Prisoner-of-war exchange was a current topic then, as well as now in Vietnam, as the letter indicates. Jonathan Trumbull, politician, was Washington's valued counsellor during the war.

This Week's PICTURE SHOW—AP Newswire.

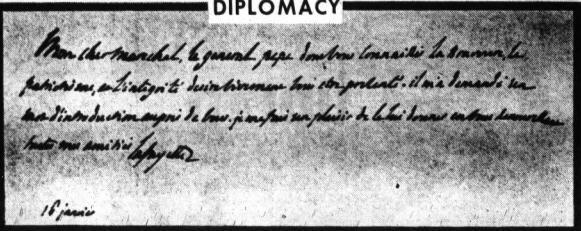

After the Boston Tea Party in 1773, this act of 1777 "for removing all Doubts . . . concerning Taxation . . . and for repealing . . . a Duty on Tea . . ." was a belated and useless gesture of appeasement. The portrait is of George III by Richard Houston, 1772.

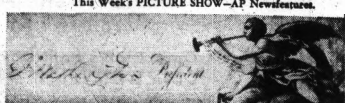

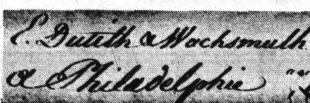

DIPLOMACY

State Dem Leaders Eye Rejected Platform Planks

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Democratic party leaders are taking a close second look at parts of the party platform that failed to win approval at their Feb. 2 convention.

At a meeting of the five-member State Central Committee on the Michigan State University campus today, they talked about tax aid to parochial schools, abortion law revision and county supervisor salaries, among other politically sensitive subjects.

"The Parochial issue will be intensely discussed, but it's up in the air about whether it will pass," he said.

Levin is minority leader of the Michigan Senate and recently resigned as Democratic state chairman.

Friction among party factions at the Detroit convention two weeks ago resulted in Parochial, abortion and like issues being referred to the central committee for study and recommendation.

State Chairman James McNeely said he hopes the committee takes a stand one way or another. Last week the state Republican convention refused to even consider resolutions dealing with controversial legislation.

The abortion measure calls for repeal of Michigan's "arbitrary county boards of supervisors who set 'exorbitant' salaries and ask the Legislature to obtain an abortion set 'proper guidelines'."

SHARON HURREN

Teen of Week Is Scholar at Catholic High

This week's Teen of the Week is Sharon Hurren, a senior at Pontiac Catholic High School.

Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hurren of 16 Grandie, is an honor student and a member of the National Honor Society.

A member of St. Michael's Parish, she is president of the parish Teen Club, and aids in teaching Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes on Saturday mornings.

She is a member of the Pontiac Citizens Committee on Youth and has received an "outstanding volunteer" award from the Optimists Club. She is also a member of Youth Forum Panel Program on radio station WPN.

WORKS ON PAPER

At PCHS, Sharon helps write the school newspaper, is a member on the cast of the school plan and of the projection club, and is on the graduation committee for the 1969 graduating class.

Following her graduation, Sharon plans to attend Oakland University, majoring in special education.

Sharon says she feels that "concern with problems of the world and the eagerness to become involved should be a vital part in the life of every teen-ager today. There is so much to be done, so very much to be gained and it is up to today's teens, tomorrow's leaders, to carry it out."

MSU to Have a New Prexy 'by July 1'

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University trustees have set a July 1 deadline for hiring a new president to guide the 46,000-student "Big Ten" school.

Chairman Don Stevens, said the talent hunt won't be limited to "someone with a pedigree."

The timetable was agreed upon at a meeting yesterday that included a week, unsuccessful effort by 40 dissident students to present a "list of grievances" against school officials.

The students marched, singing and shouting, into the trustees room in the Kelllogg Center, but left in a hurry after being warned they would be removed bodily by campus police.

They were protesting the ouster of an assistant psychology professor who let his students grade themselves, and what they called "a just demand to open the university." They also urged the trustees to let black faculty and students nominate their own candidate for MSU president.

COMMITTEE SET UP

The trustees, who met later in the day with 15 student representatives of an organization called "the Movement," set up a three-member presidential selection committee headed by Stevens to screen applications for the $40,000 per year job. Other members are trustees Frank Hartman of Flint and Frank Merriman of Deckerville.

"At this juncture," Stevens told a news conference, "no one is in and no one is out — the field is wide open to everyone and anyone. We're not necessarily looking for someone with a pedigree."

Cultural Rebirth Due

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The time for Pontiac to shed her industrial, "lunch box" image is now, and her citizens are the best equipped to do just that, says area sculptor, James Dewitt King.

The 'how' says King, whose works are currently on exhibition at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, is a cultural renaissance with local artists tapped for resources.

How do we shape up today? Financially, says the 27-year-old Chicago native, the community is stable and prosperous with a bright future.

Geographically we can't lose either, with Oakland County growing in population by leaps and bounds. Our central location is a third factor in our favor.

Culturally, however, King feels we're borrowers, and will continue to be until we cultivate our own artistic talents.

"You can't BRING culture to a city, says King. "It's got to be bred from within, be a part of one's life to really be understood."

The ironic dilemma of Michigan artists is that everyone looks to New York for the final word on art, which is exactly what New Yorkers did in the 1920s when Paris was the unquestioned culture center, notes King.

"But as they (New Yorkers) soon found, the only way to live in a cultural environment is by having it right there, which is what we must now do," he says.

A positive approach with fantastic potential from King's point of view is the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, which is still in its first year.

In keeping with King's comments on the fundamentals of making your own 'happening,' is the unique media in which he works.

Why metal? "Because it's the medium of our times," says King.

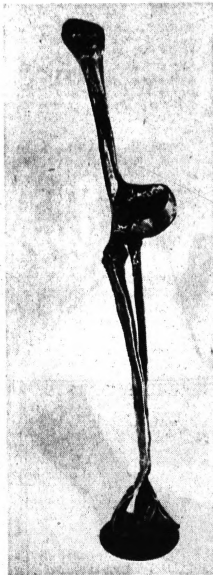

As for his works of art, which are welded together in a studio garage behind the King family home on Victory Drive, they show a distinct simplicity, enhanced, perhaps, by the clean cut look of metal.

In style, King again refers to an 'emotional happening' when creating in the abstract.

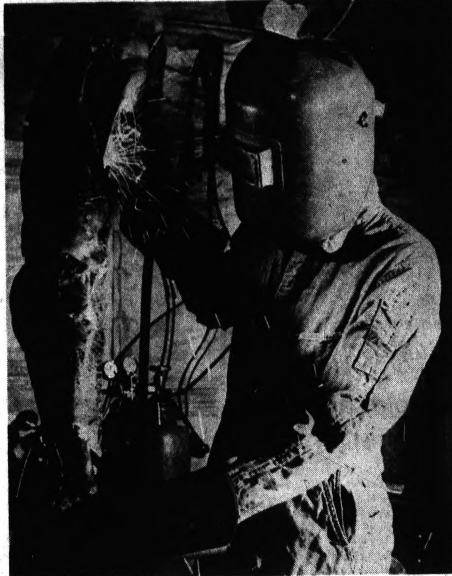

"An artist lays his guts on the line every time he creates something and sets it out for the public to see," he says.

And like culture, if they can respond out of something in their past or it reminds them of a part of their lives, they'll be able to enjoy it for what it is he concluded.

King is among 17 artists now participating in the 'Spectrum' exhibit at PCAC through March 2.

"The Girl With The Skinny Legs"

"Metal," says King, "is the medium of our times."

Thirsty Fans Disrupt Line of Spectators

of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: Nothing irritates me more at sports events than those who just get seated and have to have their drinks. Everybody in the row has to pass the drinks from vendor to drinkers, then pass the money, then the change coming back.

Two innings later these drinkers must dispose of drinks, so everyone in the row has to get up to let them out. Not once does this go on, but all during the game. And now and then you get these drinks in your lap or down your back.—A Sports Fan

Dear Sports Fan: People who have inside seats have as much right to a drink as those on the aisle, and there's no other way they can get it. However, they would be better neighbors if they would restrain themselves from making frequent purchases, and certainly they could wait until between periods or innings to leave their seats.

Read this letter, fans, and think how your neighbors feel.

WITCHCRAFT

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently witnessed a wedding where all three bridesmaids wore black velvet with black bows on their heads. The men wore black, naturally. When the group was assembled on the altar, it looked more like a funeral than a wedding. The bride in the traditional white helped the situation. Your comments will be appreciated.—Marilyn

Dear Marilyn: A wedding with everyone in black sounds like something out of the days of witchcraft. It makes me think of "Rosemary's Baby." It is certainly not appropriate for a ceremony which should be happy—and avoid all possible hints of a funeral.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am being childish, but I am worried about something I can't confide in anyone else. I am scheduled to have some extensive dental surgery in the near future and my dentist has informed me that I will have to be "put under" with a regular anesthetic.

That doesn't bother me, but I understand people tell a lot of tales out of school while they are "under" and I don't want to take any chances because our dentist belongs to our club and it could be embarrassing, if you know what I mean.

I would appreciate any help you can give me.

Diet for Long Life Smells of Onions

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Mrs. Enogene Waling, who celebrated her 102nd birthday Friday, says her secret to long life is to eat raw onions, limburger cheese, smoked and pickled herring, and to "live right."

Do this, she said, and the "Lord will take care of you."

It's a family formula. Mrs. Waling's son—D. W. Waling of Kalamazoo—is 80. Her brother, Samuel, is 97 and her "kid sister"—Mrs. Alice Mason of Kalamazoo—is 90. Mrs. Waling's mother lived to be 99.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

They had a birthday party for Mrs. Waling at the Verdies Nursing Home, where she is a patient. President Nixon and Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken sent congratulatory messages and Mayor Paul Schrier showed up in person.

Ex-Preacher Takes 19th Bride

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Glen Wolfe, Hollywood hotelman and former preacher, has a way with young women. He proved it again Friday when he married for the 19th time — taking as a bride a 23-year-old hazel eyed beauty.

Wolfe, 56, told newsmen he proposed on Valentine's day.

The gray-haired groom and his bride were married at the Los Angeles County Courthouse. After the brief ceremony, they dashed out a side exit and drove to a Hollywood restaurant for a wedding meal.

Wolfe said he had visited the restaurant in the past with other brides, some whom were in their teens.

The couple planned only a short honeymoon trip. "We plan to visit Disneyland," Wolfe said.

PAST RECORD

Wolfe has made it his avocation to meet and marry beautiful young women. His first nuptials were in 1920. The longest union lasted five years, the shortest five days. He once said he had 31 children.

He has been married to 17 young women. He twice married, divorced and remarried the same woman.

Wolfe said he met his latest bride, whom he would identify only as "Gloria," after placing a newspaper advertisement 2½ years ago for a baby sitter for his son, John, now 5.

Wolfe's license to perform weddings as an ordained (Baptist) minister was revoked in 1960 by a civil court judge who said Wolfe's personal marriage history was "disgusting."

Wolfe's last known marriage was to an 18-year-old blonde hairstylist from Hollywood who was awarded a divorce in October, 1967. She told the judge she and Wolfe had only a "father-daughter" relationship.

Several years ago a newsmen asked Wolfe about his penchant for youthful wives. His response was:

"The army wants them at 18 and so do I."

George Honest, Smartly Coiffed

For anyone who doesn't happen to like cherry pie, George Washington's birthday used to be something of a flop (apart from getting a holiday, of course).

But this year it's different. The news about George is that he's not only due to be remembered on the food page, he's making news on the fashion front as well.

THE 'PERUKE'

Who would have thought, to tell the truth, that America's first president would have started a fashion look? But the newest hairdo around this spring is the one with the "Presidential Peruke."

It's great for girls with long locks — all they have to do is tie a satin bow at the nape and they've got a built-in peruke.

Good for the shorter coiffed too — they simply fix a long fall or unplaited braid on the back of the head and they've got the "Presidential" too.

Main thing is to make sure the ends of the peruke curl under and that the bow is not an overwhelming one. Best sized ribbon to tie up your "Presidential" is about a half inch wide.

Fears Talking While Under the Influence of Anesthetics

all kinds of problems. One of the biggest is my husband, Sam. He brings the boys in for poker two nights a week. If that was all, I wouldn't complain. The boys never have the poker game at their house. Never. They come here like wolves with empty stomachs, and pretty soon Sam comes and asks me to fix the boys a snack, so I fix up a big plate of sandwiches. Next it's beer. Abby, twice a week gets pretty expensive with the allowance I get.

I have mentioned this to Sam, but he refuses to say a word to the boys about it. So what should I do?

SAM'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Inform Sam that unless he sweetens the pot, or asks his poker pals to ante up — no refreshments! And tell him you're a pretty good poker player, too, so he'd better not call your bluff.

DEAR ABBY: This problem has created my brother, sisters and myself extreme embarrassment and shame. Our parents have been divorced for several years. Dad, remarried, but his wife left him shortly afterwards, so now he goes to visit Mom quite often.

We children are all married and could provide a room for Dad when he comes to town, but he prefers staying with Mom at her one-bedroom apartment. I'm sure he's not sleeping on the couch. How can we convince them that if they're going to live together again they should get married? People are beginning to talk.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Your parents' behavior reflects only on themselves. Let them know you disapprove of their unconventional behavior and forget it. They'll do what they want to do anyway.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Officials for both firms said they do not discriminate.

James Hoppin, area manager for the Silhouette-American firm, apologized for the treatment Miss Holmes got, the paper said, and offered her a free workout.

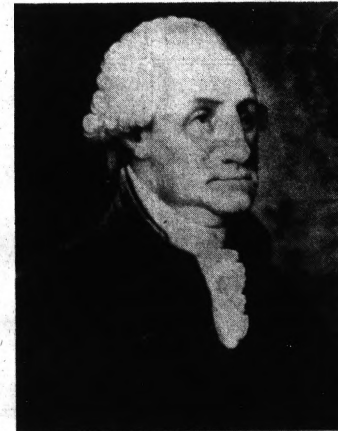

Vic Tanny's Nicholas Patru said his firm is the only one in the area with any Negro members.

Both Patru and Hoppin were quoted as saying they did not know how many black members their respective spas had, because they do not keep such records.

Student Recital Slated

The Pontiac Music Guild will hold a student recital at the First Congregational Church Sunday at 3 p.m. The following teachers will present students: Mesdames Carl Clifford, Don Derragon, Walter Greig, C. W. Shepard, Walt Schmitz, David Schweigert and Lester Snell.

Others are Mrs. Hazel Gessinger, Lester Snell, Elda Sutter, Amy Hogle and Charles Wilson. The recital is open to the public.

George, we'd never tell a lie about that hairdo. Fast is, it's right back in style. The "Presidential Peruke" is fashion's way of saying "Happy Birthday to You" on Feb. 22.

Mrs. Paul Carriger of Rowley Drive has just the head of hair to fashion in peruke style—no wig needed. This picture proves the style has charm for today's woman. Thanks, George.

Any day now the Guide Dogs for the Blind organization will come to take the dog, Bettina, away for her final training.

"It's sort of like raising a baby and then having to give it up," says Jeannie. "She's part of the family now, but of course she's needed as a guide dog."

Both the Misses Carwood and Wiseman attended Fallbrook High School and are members of its 4-H Club group.

The girls figure it costs about $150 of their own money to train and feed their charges until they are ready for their final steps with the guide dog organization.

Near-Empty Clubhouse Greet's Detroit Tiger Pilot

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Mayo Smith, a veteran of 36 years in baseball, looked about the near-empty clubhouse of Marchant Stadium this morning more with compassion than with anger.

There was a notice on the board which read "all players in uniform at 10 a.m."

About 15 of the 60 lockers were occupied, mostly with rookies who are more concerned with winning a major league position than winning another concession from the club owners in threat of a player's strike.

"I never thought I'd live to see the day that this great game would be placed in such a position, but I'm optimistic that the players will all be here within the week," said the Detroit Tiger manager.

"I'd start the countdown March 1, then I'd start worrying," he added.

SMITH'S COMMENTS

Smith, who said he had not talked to a single Tiger player about the current players-owners dispute, noted that he was "in favor of the players getting everything they can in their contract," but offered these views in comment of the situation:

"I read over all of the demands asked and concessions made and I think the owners' program of benefits is very fair."

"I don't think the majority of players really know what the issues are about."

"It's all well and good for the players to want the clubs to participate in a program for their benefits, but every player has to ask of himself, if his share of participation is honorable."

"What I mean here is that every club I know has paid most of the living expenses of a player while he is training to do his job, and I don't know of a club which has ever backed out on a contract if a player becomes sick or injured."

STARTING DAY

"When you go get most any other job in life you get paid from the day you start and not for the time you are training yourself or job hunting."

Talking about what affect a pro-longed absence might have on the team and the conditions of the players, Smith said:

"It will certainly be a big break for many of the rookies who might be on the borderline of making it into the majors, but it will be difficult for the veterans who have weight or arm control problems."

"Conditioning is a slow process, it will create a lot of problems for the individual if he doesn't engage in our kind of physical activity while this negotiation is going on."

"This will have even a greater affect on pitchers, many of whom are slow starters as it is now."

Smith indicated he would keep a larger number of pitchers in camp this year. "This will certainly have an affect on our exhibition season, it might be until the final few games that a pitcher might be allowed to go even seven innings."

About the Tigers' as a team and the personnel, Smith said that Tom Matchick will get the first and biggest crack at the problem spot on the team — shortstop.

The best team in the Inter-Lakes League at this stage of the season likely won't finish atop the standings next week, but coach Ray Boyle and the Farmington Falcons are having some fun deciding who will.

They knocked off pacesetter Livonia Stevenson Friday night, 61-58, to knot the Spartans again with Pontiac Northern's Huskies who methodically downed Waterford, 88-77.

against the taller Skippers but its cool shooting kept it from pulling into a lopsided lead.

The hustling defensive work of Moncrief — he grabbed 21 rebounds — and Williams' scurrying up and down the court kept the visitors from sustaining any offensive drive, although WTHS did reduce its deficit to 72-47 at 4:55 to play.

Mike Sheldon scored 12 of his 26 points in the closing session to spark the rally. But Moncrief, who led all scorers with 28 markers, dropped in six straight charity tosses in the late going.

Williams made 10 of 24 shots to post 25 points, the best night he has ever had for the Huskies. Led by Moncrief and Garcia Crawford (17 rebounds), PNH had a 64-38 domination of the backboards.

The winners only hit 36 per cent of their shots (34 of 64), while Waterford's 16 of 34 final half shooting brought it up to 42 per cent with an over-all 28 of 66 for the night.

Walled Lake, loser of its last six in a row, started strong in both halves at Lathrup. Coach John Oswald alternated his seniors and underclassmen and received a strong rebounding effort from Mike Ridley (17), Mary Gross (14) and Greg Wendell (10).

Both teams were off target but the Vikings managed a 21-13 edge in baskets.

Now 3-12 over-all, Walled Lake's defense held Lathrup's Chargers to the lowest total by its rivals since the 1965 quarterfinalists stopped Kettering with 37 in regional play.

The Vikings managed 16-11 and 16-9 advantages in the first and third quarters in developing their 14-point conquest.

PIONEER CONNECTS — Daryl Iwankovich of Oakland University grabbed for the ball, but connected with the head of Wayne State's Bob Schulte instead as the Tartar forward came down with a rebound in last night's game at OU. Behind Iwankovich is teammate Greg Ramsey and Wayne's Fred Martus (33). The Tartars won, 74-69.

Farmington ended Stevenson's eight-game victory skid while extending its own success surge to five in a row. The Falcons now are 6-3 and hold third place, one game behind PNH and the Spartans who are 7-2. Northern and WTHS are other recent Falcon victims.

Stevenson has the toughest test next week, entertaining a good Waterford quintet who it only defeated by two points in their first encounter. Farmington will visit Walled Lake.

Northern, meanwhile, will invade winless Lathrup.

Stevenson's trip to Farmington last night resulted in a hard-fought struggle that ended in a hassle among the officials, scorekeepers and the visitors.

Farmington forged a 36-28 lead in the opening half. The host quintet never trailed, but Stevenson fought back with a sustained last-half push.

Paul White hit 7 of 10 free throw tries in the final quarter to help Farmington teammate Mark Lynott with the scoring. The Falcons connected on 10 charity tosses and three baskets in the last period.

Lynott and the Spartans' Jerry Dettler each scored 18 points. Four of the winners were in twin figures.

At PNH, a sparse crowd watched the host Huskies jump into a quick 6-0 lead and never trail. Waterford reduced its gap to two points three times, the last coming at 18:16 late in the first period.

With Charley Moncrief and Eddie Williams teaming for 17 points in the second quarter and another 16 in the third period, the Huskies surged into 35-22 and then 51-35 advantages.

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Some good news for Pontiac Central's Chiefs trickled down from up north but the squad apparently needs more help than it's going to get in its bid to gain a piece of the Saginaw Valley Conference championship.

While the Chiefs were knocking off visiting Flint Southern last night, 90-64, Flint Central's league-leading Indians (10-1) were upset by Saginaw's Trojans, 88-75.

ONE-GAME LEAD

The effect of those verdicts is that Flint Central now holds a one-game edge over Pontiac Central with just one game to play. The Indians meet lowly Bay City Handy (2-9) in their final and they're a virtual shoo-in in that one, while PCH must take on well-balanced Saginaw Arthur Hill.

Elsewhere in the SVC last night, Flint Northern surprised Saginaw Arthur Hill, 77-70, and Bay City Central turned back Handy, 69-73.

This current Pontiac Central quintet is scoring more points than any other PCH team.

Along with their 9-2 record in league competition, the Chiefs own an over-all mark of 13-2 and they're ranked among the top 10 in the state Class A poll.

HIT RECORD

For their 15 games, the Chiefs are averaging 81 points a game and they've hit 90 or better four times this season. The high point was a record 109 points against Bay City Handy.

Southwestern, having its worst year in the SVC with a 6-12 record, offered but token opposition to the strong Chiefs.

GOOD BENCH

Central coach Ralph Grubb has his starters on the bench early in the game in a gesture of sportsmanship, but it didn't help. His reserves just aren't that bad.

The Chiefs ran up a 13-0 lead before Southwestern managed a bucket, and they held a 24-8 lead after one frame and a 43-27 margin at intermission.

FOUR IN FINALE

Four seniors playing their final home game wound up with a lot of playing time and one of them, Clayton Burch, one of Grubb's starting guards, checked in with 24 points for his top performance of the season.

Bowing out along with Burch were Waverly Jones, Larry Walker and A. B. Davis. Walker scored six points. Jones and Davis added four.

GOOD REBOUNDERS

While they made little noise in the scoring column, Jones and Davis turned out to be a good one-two rebounding combination during their tenure.

Helping Burch with the scoring were Monte Herring with 18 and Campy Russell with 12.

The Chiefs dominated the backboards, posting a 64-33 edge in that department.

For Southwestern, Charlie Fraizer led the way with 13 points and Mike Davis added 12. The Colts hit on 26 of 71 shots while the Chiefs made 38 of 86.

NEVER TRAILED

Saginaw never trailed in posting its upset decision over Flint Central, 80-73 ranked Class A team in the state.

Sparking the attack for Saginaw in the four-marred game — 30 personals were called on each team — were Ed Roberson (22), Ted Prince (16) and Von Nickleberry (16). Ken Brady led Flint Central with 32 points and Craig Conney added 14.

Larry Banks tossed in 27 points and Dave Frost added 26 in leading Flint Northern past Arthur Hill Northern won it with a 22-14 edge in the fourth frame. Mark Champagne led Arthur Hill with 23 markers. Tom Rousseau checked in with 22.

Brief Streak Ends for Cranbrook Five

Special To The Press

BUFFALO — Cranbrook School's brief winning streak came to a halt here last night as Nichols School dealt the Cranes a 65-49 setback.

The Cranes went into the game with a two-game winning string after knocking off Kiski and Detroit Country Day, but a cool first half here sent them tumbling to their 10th loss against three wins.

Ed Zabolocki led Nichols with 28 points. The winners raced to a 49-22 lead at intermission and held off the Cranes in the second half.

Jim Williams tossed in 14 markers and Rod Fonta added 12 for Cranbrook.

"I'm worried," said Oakland University basketball coach Gene Bolden before last night's game with Wayne State. "The boys came here acting like this is an afterthought practice."

If the Pioneers ever practiced as badly as they played against Wayne, Bolden would be excused for cracking the proverbial whip. He tried it in another form against the Tartars.

However, results were not consistent and Wayne State carried a 74-69 victory back to Detroit.

The Pioneers, who are 9-10 for the season, will get a chance to square their record tonight when they play Adrian College (2-15) at OU. One of Adrian's wins came earlier in the season against Oakland.

Wayne is a well-drilled team that plays good defense but lacks outside scoring. It was obvious from the outset that OU had the better scoring and rebounding up front and could handle the Tartars offense that uses patterns designed for percentage shots inside.

One major problem cropped up... the Pioneers couldn't handle the ball. And when they did, passes consistently landed in the hands of the opportunistic foe.

Still, the Pioneers managed to stay ahead by two or three points during most of the first half, on the strength of layups by Greg Ramsey and Tom Allan.

But the turnovers began to take their toll.

Wayne's 5-7 Don Didlake led the Tartars in front 27-23. Just before the intermission the Pioneers rallied and pulled into a 38-37 lead.

The second half started like the first—

Wayne plugging away and the Pioneers throwing away. After four minutes and four Wayne points later, Bolden made his move.

He pulled the first liners and went to the third unit. They tried hard, both on offense and defense. But the round ball wouldn't go in and soon the ballhandling miscues started.

The regulars returned with 12:12 to play and Wayne added, 51-42.

The errors disappeared for a time and John Eley shot and rebounded the Pioneers to a 58-41 tie. Just as suddenly bad times in the form of turnovers returned and Bob Schulte's three-point pull put Wayne ahead for good.

Ramney led all scorers with 19 points and Eley added 17. Didlake proved to be a big threat, scoring 21 for the Tartars and playing a solid game on defense.

Titans Bid for Crown

The biggest athletic moment in Pontiac Catholic's two-year history comes Sunday in the University of Detroit Memorial Building at 7 p.m.

The Titans will take on powerful Wyandotte Mt. Carmel for the Detroit Catholic League's second division basketball championship. In another top-flight game at 8:30, Detroit, Holy Redeemer and Detroit St. Martin DePorres battle for the first division crown.

The finals will feature four of the state's top-ranked quintets.

Pontiac Catholic (14-2) is eighth in Class C and Mt. Carmel (15-0) No. 1 in Class D. St. Martin DePorres (15-0) is the top "C" quintet and Holy Redeemer (15-1) holds down the third spot in Class B.

Pontiac Catholic will be an underdog. But this isn't anything new for the Titans and Coach Mel Larson this season. They were rated behind Orchard Lake St. Mary in the Northwest Catholic League preseason forecast. However, they came on strong to tie the Eagles for the title.

In the second division quarter-finals, PCHS disposed of Detroit St. Andrew, 66-51, and then pulled a major upset of All Saints, 60-59, to reach the title game. Mt. Carmel knocked Ol. St. Mary out, 73-52, in its first tourney test.

Hillsdale 131-115 Loser to Chicago State Five

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago State Teachers College jumped ahead fast and went all the day Friday night whipping Hillsdale 131-115.

Melvin Agee set a school record with 41 points for the Chicagoans, who never let Hillsdale get closer than 10 points after the opening minutes.

Tom Wilson had 29 points for Hillsdale, whose record now is 7-18.

Mike Campbell Wins Twice; Pioneers Lose

Mike Campbell won two events and set one record, but the effort came in a losing cause last night as Oakland University's swimmers dropped a 75-38 decision to Northern Michigan.

In all, 10 records were broken, four by OU's Pioneers who are now 12-5 for the campaign. Campbell turned in an OU school record with a 1:51.2 clocking in the 200-yard freestyle and he came back later to win the 100 freestyle in 50.4 seconds.

Art Colton set a mark in the one-meter diving event with 239.85 points, Jack Parker, with 221.15 points, eased the three-meter diving mark and the other OU standard was broken by Ed Engelhart with a 2:11 clocking in the 200-yard backstroke.

The series entitled "Behold the Man" deals with the passion of Jesus Christ viewed by modern men and women.

Participants are Lynn Walker, Jerry Brabant, Marvin Smith, Mrs. Steve Ruelle, Joseph Novak, Mrs. Orville McMorris, Mrs. Dale Sexton, Roger Carlson and Pastor John Cooper.

"Jesus' Priceless Treasure" by Bach is used as the central hymn of the drama.

UNITED METHODIST LAKE ORION

A cooperative supper at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday will precede the program when J. Douglas Parker of Warren United Methodist Church in Warren is the speaker.

Mrs. Fred Dodd and Lee Davids are co-chairmen of the dinners held during Lent. A nursery is provided for small children.

ST. JAMES BAPTIST

The Goldenaires of St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley, will sponsor a musical program at 8 tonight. Featured will be the Morning Doves, Goldenettes, Pontiac Spirituals and Wandering Travelers.

Special guests will be the Mighty Voices of Wonders, a vocal group from Detroit.

Take Signatures to Cape Kennedy

Thousands Sign Petitions

The public rebuff made by Mrs. Madelyn Murray O'Haire concerning the Scripture reading by one of the astronauts caused quite a stir among those of the opposite view.

Among them was the Rev. Larry Evey, pastor of the Oxford Free Methodist Church in Oxford, who said "Even though many people have spoken out on certain issues of a moral or ethical nature, my feeling was that it was time everyone in my church took time to put themselves on record concerning this particular matter."

With this in mind, a petition was distributed throughout the congregation.

Within five days, the call came to the church office for more copies. Additional printings were made to meet demands. By the Feb. 19 deadline for their return lists of signatures came through the mail from many outstate locations.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Several churches in the area made reproductions of the petition and circulated them through congregations. One complete list was from a military base, filled on both sides with names of service men and women.

Pastor Evey reported "When I saw the looming magnitude of what I had intended to be a local venture, the momentum even increased among my own people. One man and his wife turned in over 1,900 names."

At the last count 5,368 names were returned to the church with many petitions still out.

Gordon L. Harris, chief of public affairs for National Aeronautics and Space Administration, contacted Pastor Evey this week and affirmed that personnel involved in the space program will be on hand to receive the petitions.

When asked what effect this drive might have had on his spiritual and social concern."

Works With Youth

Serves Church, Community

For nearly 50 years Mrs. Mary H. Woods of 45 Gillespie better known as Mother Woods has been serving the old and young in her church and community.

Now at 75 years of age she is still active in helping to make the world a better place to live.

Mrs. Woods was born on a farm in Kentucky, one of 16 children.

After courses at a normal training center she taught school in the Kentucky hills.

Antoinette Meutman, registered nurse who has served 58 years on the medical mission field of India will speak at the women's luncheon at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Cochairmen Mrs. Leland Johnson and Mrs. Robert Simpson, will be assisted by Florence and books. She works to eliminate crime by counseling Richard Cardona, Mrs. Robert with mothers, fathers and Blue, Mrs. Maxwell Foss, Mrs. young people.

Herbert Gocha, Mrs. Jessie Vore and Mrs. Leo Carrin.

where there is trouble," Mother Woods said. "Many homes are saved by prayer."

WITH BIBLE

When Mrs. Woods hears of girls or boys getting into trouble, she goes to the home with her Bible, reads to the family and prays for each person. Then she talks the problem over with those concerned.

Mrs. Woods served as assistant director of the Southwest Community Center, now known as the Pontiac Area Urban League with Dennis Dowdale, executive director. She helped lay the foundation for Negro teachers in Pontiac.

The first president of the Mary Morton Chapter of the WCTU, Mrs. Woods was chosen that this young man had lived to Mother of the Year of her near her. His father tried to church in 1950. She is a member being up his seven children of the National Health Society alone after the death of his and honorary member of twice. Mrs. Woods said she Cookman College. She has shared her home, food and assisted with United Fund pleasures with the family.

drives and work of the American Red Cross.

TOUCHES LIVES Her name is not written in the hall of fame, but in the lives of men, women, boys and girls. She serves her church as a home missionary.

A few weeks ago while standing on Saginaw Street waiting for a bus a white man came along and called "Hello Mother, you don't remember me?"

"I told him, no I don't know," Mrs. Woods said. "Don't you remember how you used to feed me? When you and your family went to church I climbed in your kitchen window and ate all the cornbread," the man told me.

Then Mother Woods explained: "I told him, no I don't know."

"I told him, no I don't know."

'Living Christ' Film Series Starts Sunday

The Biblical drama film series entitled "The Living Christ" will be shown at Walled Lake United Methodist Church, Walled Lake beginning at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the sanctuary.

Refreshments will be served following the film and discussion period.

The pictures produced by Cathedral Films are all in color.

The first film depicts the faithful account of Isaiah's prophecy and its fulfillment, the journey to Bethlehem, the manger scene and the Adoration of the Shepherds.

A family cooperative supper is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Thursday. The second film of the series, "Escape to Egypt" will be shown.

Dr. Joseph T. Edward, district superintendent, will preside at the 7:30 p.m. conference Friday.

Bible study of Paul's letter to the Ephesians is slated for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Prayer vigil will follow.

Teen-Agers Speak in Lenten Services

The Children's Teen-agers and Adult choirs are joining the congregation in presenting the gospel message at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, 318 Auburn each Wednesday evening during the Lenten season.

The time is 7:30 p.m.

In the church darkened to accentuate the lighted cross, a teen-ager invites the congregation to Christian thought and meditation by speaking aloud his or her personal and private thoughts, Pastor Ralph Claus said.

Lenten hymns will be used by the pastor as a key to the understanding of Christian life and love. Larry Kasat serves as organist.

Mark 800th Anniversary

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — The Dean and Chapter of Canterbury Cathedral have appointed Gerald Peacock, senior modern languages master at King's School, Canterbury, to draw up plans for celebrating in 1970 the 800th anniversary of the death of Thomas Becket.

Thomas Becket was Archbishop of Canterbury in the reign of King Henry II. He was slain in the cathedral by four of the King's knights on Dec. 29, 1170. Henry later did public penance at the tomb of Thomas, who was canonized.

Lutherans Help Episcopalians

MANDAN, N. D. (AP) — The recent convention of the Episcopalians in North Dakota opened with a religious service in a church of another faith.

About 250 delegates and clergy met in First Lutheran Church in Mandan because no Episcopal church was available to hold that large a crowd. Other sessions of the convention were held in an Episcopal church.

New Hymn Sunday

A new hymn entitled "Breathe On Me, Breath of God" will be sung for the first time in America during the confirmation service at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Clarkston at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will officiate.

According to Ivan Rouse, teacher of piano and organ at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, the hymn was composed by Freda Swain of Portsmouth, England.

A pianist, Mrs. Swain studied pianoforte playing with Dora Matthay in London from 1913 to 1917. She also studied with Arthur Alexander whom she married in 1911.

She received instruction in violin from Maurice Sons and played flute in the college orchestra.

FOUND'S MOVEMENT

In 1906 Freda Swain founded the British Music Movement for the promotion of new and often unpublished works. She introduced promising artists at performances in various private houses.

During World War II Freda's husband found himself in South Africa and unable to return home. Freda wrote for him a pianoforte concerto which was scored on very thin paper.

She mailed it to him in installments. It was copied there into orchestral parts and performed by him in Cape Town and other South African towns.

Rouse who visited Freda Swain in England last summer said she writes music simply as she wishes without conforming to modern theories.

Philosophy Professor at Temple

According to Thomas Horwitz, president of Temple Beth Jacob, the Temple Sisterhood, Brotherhood and adult education groups will sponsor the Sabbath service at 8:30 p.m. on March 7.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Alvin Reines, professor of Jewish philosophy at Hebrew Union College — Jewish Institute of Religion in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dr. Reines, a noted theologian, will speak on "The Jewish Search for God." Rabbi Philip Berkowitz will conduct the service.

Participants in the service include Mrs. Mae Asher, Alan Goldstein, Julie Simon, and David Stulberg, all of Birmingham; Dr. Robert Gash of Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Arthur Kohn of Rochester; and Harry Klenner of Union Lake. The public is invited.

Way of Cross at Colombiere

Knights of Columbus Pope John XXIII, Council 5436 will hold a Way of the Cross at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Colombiere College, with the Rev. William Shirock presiding.

An invitation is extended to members of Our Lady of the Lakes parish and other Catholic parishes of the Pontiac area, Father Shirock said.

Founded in 1824

Celebrate 145th Birthday

As members and friends of the First Presbyterian Church attend worship services tomorrow, they will celebrate the joyous occasion of the 145th anniversary of the founding of the church.

The processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation" will be followed by the Chancel Choir singing "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty." Pastor Galen E. Hershey will preach on "Format for the Future."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Newman will greet worshippers. Deacons Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Guzman and the Charles Kneales will serve as coffee hour hosts.

IN 1824 First Presbyterian Church was organized in the farm home of John and Mary Voorhees on the corner of Opdyke and Grand Trunk Trail in 1824. The Rev. Eldad Goodman, a home missionary from the Geneva Presbytery of New York State was the organizing pastor.

Thirteen persons were received as charter members.

At that time the population of Oakland County was 1,360. After worshipping in the homes of members and other buildings for the first 20 years, the congregation erected its first church, a red brick building on the corner of Saginaw and Huron in 1844.

FIRST PASTOR The Rev. Isaac Ruggles was the first pastor. With the completion of the Erie Canal in 1825, there was an influx of people from the East.

The congregation built the second church on the present site in 1871. The church caught fire in 1915. The interior was seriously damaged that the building was razed. The bell survived and now hangs in the southeast tower.

The present church was constructed and dedicated in 1924. After consulting with national, state and community leaders, a study committee proposed the building of the five-story Christian education building, housing 24 classrooms, chapel, five offices and lounge.

In 1963 the congregation installed a new three-manual Casavant organ with a total of 2,270 pipes. The 1,400 member congregation is now in the process of plans for renovating the sanctuary and dining room.

During the 145 years First Presbyterian Church has been served by 20 pastors, including the Rev. Galen E. Hershey.

Fellowship Seeks Divine Guidance

The Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship is sponsoring a prayer meeting Monday through Friday at 7:30 each evening in New Bethel Baptist Church.

The purpose of the prayer meetings is to ask for Divine guidance to help solve the problems of the City of Pontiac. There will be no preaching, choir singing or offering. Everyone brings his own prayer.

The Rev. Lee A. Gragg, president of the fellowship and pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, asks all pastors to postpone their week day meetings and to encourage their members to attend the worship gatherings.

Plan Bellhouse

The missionary department of Antioch Missionary Baptist Church will sponsor a musical program at 4 p.m. tomorrow. Featured will be the Rev. Clinton LeVert Jr. and the LeVert Sisters. Other musical groups will also perform.

His first club play should be a low one to dummy's 10. He will be home free unless East is able to win with the jack. That is just what East does. If East returns a heart, South should ruff again still keeping his discard in reserve. If East returns a heart, South should take his ace right away. If East returns a club, South should play low.

Let's assume a spade return. South takes his ace and leads his other low club to dummy's ace. He has hopes that the king will appear but it doesn't and he is down to the last shot in his locker.

He discards his queen of clubs on dummy's ace of hearts and

How to Make Best of Taxing Situation—3

Your Home Offers Money-Saving Deductions

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The typical homeowner's tender feelings for his castle, mortgaged though it be, are at flood stage right about now as he adds up the money-saving deductions and other income tax savers hiding behind each shutter and shingle.

First, there's all that interest you pay on the monthly mortgage payments — deductible, every bit of it.

The next big item is real estate tax, both state and local if you get hit both ways. It's all deductible.

In addition to these two major tax reducers, available to every homeowner, there are dozens more that cover special situations. Try not to miss any you're entitled to, because the Internal Revenue Service swears it wants you to take full advantage of every legal means of holding down the amount of tax you pay.

CASUALTY, THEFT LOSSES
Many homeowners, for instance, are entitled to deductions for casualty or theft losses but fail to put in for them. They're deductible to the extent that they exceed $100 after subtracting insurance settlements, if any.

But the $100 rule must be applied to each such loss — you can't add up a year's losses and treat them as one.

The tax collectors define a casualty as partial or total destruction resulting from an "identifiable event of a sudden, unexpected or unusual nature."

Hurricanes? Sure. Also windstorms, flash floods, falling trees, runaway cars that crash through the bedroom wall and riot damage, once a rarity but common enough these days.

EASY TO UNDERSTAND

Theft losses are easy enough to understand. Homeowners have more and more expensive things to attract the larcenous. And they leave a lot of it outdoors, things like statuary and gadget-laden lawn equipment that costs as much as a good used car.

If you are required as a condition of employment to use part of your home as a place of business, you may deduct an appropriate percentage of home maintenance costs such as heat, light, telephone, cleaning and decorating bills.

There are also tax angles to consider when you change homes.

Most sellers nowadays get more for their homes than they paid. The thing to remember is that you'll have to pay taxes on this profit unless you invest it in another home costing at least as much within a year before or after the sale.

ADJUSTED PRICE

If the house is being built for you and construction started either before the sale or not later than one year after, you have up to 18 months after the sale to move in.

It may be that when you decided to move you first had your old place painted and had a carpenter in to make a few repairs in hopes of getting a better price.

Though not deducted in figuring the profit, these fixing-up expenses may be subtracted from the final sale price to yield the "adjusted sales price," the one you compare with the purchase price of your new house to find how much gain is to be taxed currently — if any.

But to be considered, repairs must be made within 90 days before the sale contract is signed and they must be paid for within 30 days after the sale. So if the carpenter is slow about billing you, go after him.

SPECIAL BREAK

Persons over 65 can get a special break when selling their homes. It will be dealt with in the next article in this series.

Of course, not everybody sells at a profit. If you're a loser, your loss, unfortunately, isn't deductible.

But maybe the process of moving to the new residence will add to your list of deductions.

A deductible move has to be made at the worker's expense in connection with a new job or because of a transfer. And your new place of employment must be at least 20 straight-line miles farther from your old home than your previous home-to-job mileage.

That 20-mile rule throws a lot of people so let's run through it slowly.

If you used to live in Bankruptcy Heights, 10 miles from your place of work in City A, you will meet the 20-mile test if your new place of work in City B is at least 30 miles (20 plus 10) from Bankruptcy Heights. The location of your new home doesn't enter into the calculations at all.

Once you get to your new area, you must work full time for at least 39 weeks out of your first year there. It's permissible to change jobs, though, so long as you stay in the same general commuting area.

On a deductible move, expenses that qualify include all of the regular movers' charges plus such extras as the cost of shipping your automobile and pets, so by all means take the pony along. IRS insists all expenses have to be reasonable, however.

Finally, you can deduct the expenses you run up getting from the old to the new home, including meals, lodging and transportation.

If you use your car instead of plane, train, bus or boat, you may either deduct 5 cents a mile or your actual out-of-pocket expenses.

These would normally be limited to gasoline, oil and tolls, but if you have a breakdown enroute the repair bill is deductible too.

2 Doctors Separate Siamese Twins

SAIGON (AP) — Two American doctors separated a pair of newborn Siamese twins Friday in a two-hour operation at a U.S. Army evacuation hospital at Vung Tau, a spokesman said today.

The infant Vietnamese girls were joined at the abdomen and shared a common liver, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said one of the twins was in satisfactory condition but the other was "weakening."

The spokesman said the Siamese twins were delivered by a midwife Thursday.

Kids Discuss Presidential 'Fibs'

DETROIT (AP)—There's this cherry tree lying on the ground, see, and what we want to know, kids, is whether you think President Nixon would have admitted cutting it down.

"No!" was the unanimous answer when a group of third and fourth graders in a Detroit school was asked the question the day before the birthday of George Washington, the president who reportedly never fibbed.

Former President Johnson, they decided, would have told the truth.

"I guess you know we're all Democrats," confided Martha Netherton, 9.

"HAVE TO TELL FIBS"

Not quite a consensus thought, as one student remarked, "my grandfather said if George Washington lived in Texas he would have told a lot of fibs like President Johnson."

Nodding sagely, Ron Shmyr, 9, said he believed that presidents and politicians have to tell fibs sometimes to protect the people. For instance "when there's a war you shouldn't tell the truth about what our side is doing," he said.

"Presidents tell fibs when they campaign," concluded another.

As for why George Washington chopped the tree down, because Washington wanted to try out a new hatchet.

"I read in a book that he danced all night before he went to work," Matthew continued.

"I don't think that was very smart. I don't like to dance, especially with girls," the boy concluded.

DIFFERENT ANGLE
Another student at the modern near-downtown school had a different angle. Matthew Tuchow, 8, said the tree was felled

Former Judge Quits Practice After Probe

HOWELL (AP) — Former Livingston County Probate Judge Francis E. Barron resigned from his law practice Friday after the Michigan State Bar submitted a petition in Livingston County Circuit Court asking suspension of Barron's license to practice.

Barron is one of several Livingston County lawyers presently being investigated by a special grievance committee of the State Bar. They are charged with collusion, fraud, conspiracy and other professional misconduct.

The Bar's petition noted Barron is one and unable to defend himself adequately against complaints filed with the committee. It made the suspension until Barron is well enough to answer the charges.

Barron signed a consent agreement, acknowledging it is "in the best interest of health" to withdraw. Hillsdale County Judge Robert W. McIntyre, sitting as visiting judge, signed an order suspending the license indefinitely.

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State University board of trustees Friday awarded a $800,000 contract for construction of an observatory on the campus. The observatory, scheduled to be completed in December, will house a 24-inch aperture reflecting telescope.

'Detroit Schools Facing Catastrophe'

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. William G. Milliken was told yesterday Detroit's public schools could be forced to close next year if millions of dollars in additional state tax aid are not forthcoming. "We are facing a catastrophe," said Richard H. Austin, chairman of a Detroit citizens' committee at a meeting with the governor. "If we do not get some additional money we may find ourselves in the same situation as Youngstown, Ohio," he said. Public schools in Youngstown were forced to shut down last year after voters rejected a tax increase proposal. They are approximately $30 million in debt. There are approximately 330,000 students attending Detroit's public schools this year. Fifty-five per cent are Negro. Milliken said Detroit is confronting "a very, very tough problem" but he made no promises of new state aid to help ease the fiscal pinch caused by increasing enrollments, higher teacher salaries and inflation. Austin and I will not at this time make any commitments," the governor said. "But I'm deeply concerned about what happens." Austin said. "Our public schools in Detroit can't wait any longer for additional funds." Austin said the citizens committee, which includes some of the state's most influential industrial and business leaders, will meet again with Milliken and the Legislature "to explain the state has the primary problem and get action."

Low-Piled Carpeting In Stained Glass Pattern Used On Floor And Wall

White Plush Carpets Walls And Ceiling Of Card Alcove Adjoining Living Room

Bachelor Casts Vote for Lakeside Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Water sports enthusiast Edward Hunter of West Bloomfield Township didn't let bachelorhood hold him back from the joys of homeownership. The lure of a lakeside home proved irresistible and he became one of the landed gentry.

With a highly developed sense of the artistic, Hunter told his interior designer, Ron Gardner of Thomas Furniture in Waterford Township, that he liked color, lots of color.

"And color he's got," said Gardner. "The living room is carpeted in scarlet. We alternated strips of the scarlet plush with white plush on one wall. And in the adjoining card room, the white plush walls and ceiling provide contrast to the scarlet floor carpeting."

Black leather chairs serve the alcove's octagon oak table. A wood and ruby glass hanging fixture and a wall candle sconce provide light.

In a lakeside corner of the living room is a conversation arrangement of three red and white houndstooth-checked chairs. A black wrought-iron hanging fixture above the chairs features amber glass inserts. The grouping's black octagon table is edged in white.

Before the black and walnut sofa are matching wrought iron and marble cigarette tables. Back cushions on the sofa are scarlet.

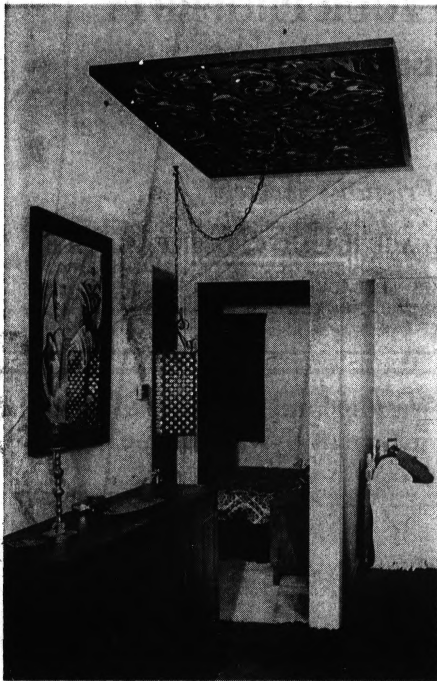

A multiple wrought-iron and ruby glass sconce hangs above the fruitwood stereo highlighted by a matador sculpture. Black and white throw pillows nestle into the curve of the black plush lounge.

The master bedroom and guest room opening off the central hall continue the black, white and scarlet color theme.

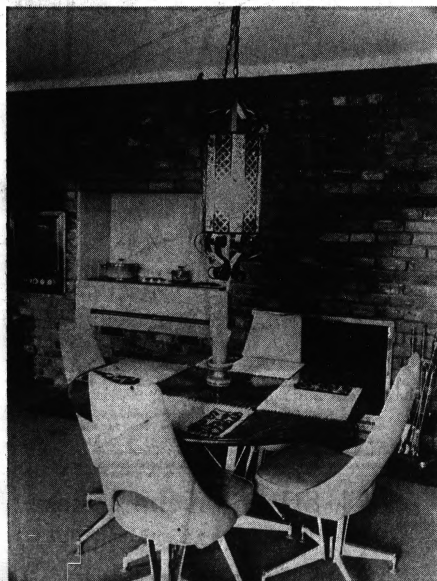

The master bedroom features white carpeting, while the walls, ceiling and draperies are black, with the exception of an outside brick wall and the inside door wall, which are painted white. A black and white quilted spread coordinates the two-color theme.

In the guest room, scarlet carpeting, draperies, ceiling and one wall contrast with the remaining three white walls. Scarlet throw pillows are used on the white candlewick spread.

CONTEMPORARY design and New England styling are delightfully combined in this most distinctive two-story house, with the structural portion at the right housing a fireplace

Two-Story Has Contemporary Line

Quite a departure from the designs of most two-story houses, this one includes innovations in both the floor arrangement and the exterior.

Immediately apparent on moving into the slate-floored foyer is that the living room is an entirely separate unit isolated from the balance of the house.

A high wall at the front for privacy and large glass areas toward the rear garden combine to make this room livable and practical.

Its focal point, an attractive fireplace, is on the wall opposite large window over the sink, but the foyer and thus quickly because of the 12 linear feet of living room that is deliberately isolated from the rest of the living area.

sliding glass doors in the family room.

Next to the kitchen, between it and the two-car garage, is a laundry room, with space for a washer and dryer, a pantry and a mud closet.

In this area, there are three doorways, one from the outside to the laundry room, a second from the outside to the garage, and a third between the laundry room and the garage.

DINING ROOM

A separate dining room has a large triple window and is accessible directly from the main hall.

Off the same hall are two guest coat closets and a powder room.

The second floor has a dramatic approach because the foyer is two stories high, with a balconied upper hall overlooking the area. There are three bedrooms.

The owners have their own bathroom with a stall shower, while the hall bath has the tub and toilet separated from the lavatory-vanity area.

One of the two closets in the owners' bedroom is of the walk-in type. Each bathroom has a window.

EXTERIOR

The unusual and interesting exterior is contemporary, but retains the residential character almost reminiscent of the "salt box" of New England.

The large areas of shingled surfaces, both roof and side walls, make for an interesting relationship.

A large wall of stone at the front of the living room, plus a stone chimney and several panels of stone at the front entrance, provide an individual character.

The roof lines sweep downward, balancing the appearance of the two-story structure against the length of the lower living room-foyer area.

An interesting design detail is achieved through the use of long vertical louvers both in the garage and second floor.

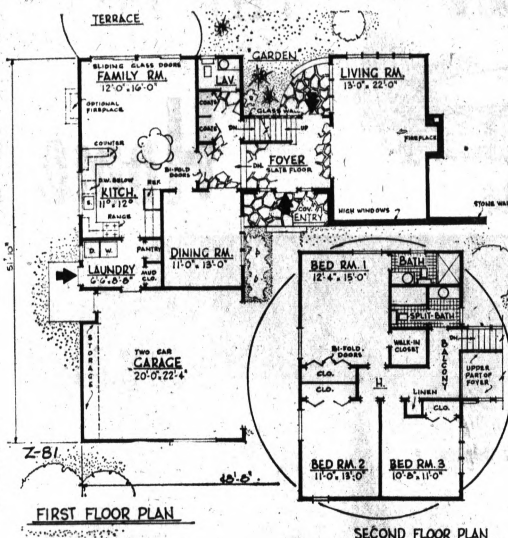

GARAGE DOORS

Note, too, the placement of the garage doors facing in toward the entrance approach.

An unusual two-story house is Design Z-81, but with all the elements for complete family living.

Z-81 STATISTICS

Design Z-81 has a living room, family room, kitchen, dining room, lavatory, laundry room and foyer on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1157 square feet. A garden area on this floor is behind the foyer. There are three bedrooms and two baths on the second floor, totaling 770 square feet. A two-car garage has a special storage nook. There is a cellar under the living room. Over-all dimensions, including the garage, are 48'8" by 51' 10".

FLOOR PLANS — Different but practical floor arrangement keeps living room for formal entertaining while permitting the family room-kitchen, with a combined length of 24', to be used for informal living for members of the family as well as guests.

New Rough Siding Has High Appeal

Home designers, bowing to public demand for informal appearance and rugged wearing qualities in exterior siding, are specifying a "rough and ready" hardwood with unusual appeal.

Research has developed a Western style product, which provides a deep-textured exterior with the appearance of a rough-sawn surface.

Available in three styles, it is designed to give a fine, rustic appearance to a dwelling or other building, plus years of low-keep care.

It is available at lumber yards in panels, grooved panels or lap style. All are factory-primed and back-sealed, for final on-the-job painting. These sidings also take decorative stain.

Elegant Touch

Convenience, Beauty in Storm Windows

When you remodel your home you naturally want convenience and beauty.

One important place to start is with aluminum combination windows and doors, for they not only add to the exterior appearance of your home, but

Mud Rooms Aid Chores

A "mud room" is a cousin to the foyer.

Both are anterooms, but while the foyer is designed for the convenience of guests and visitors, the "mud room" is primarily for family use.

Basically a "mud room" is a small area usually located just inside a side or rear door where family members can clean up before entering the home.

It eases Mom's other rooms.

The only requirement in a "mud room" is that wall and floor be surfaced with waterproof, easy-to-clean materials such as ceramic tile.

Helpful, but not necessary are such added conveniences as a shower, a countertop lavatory, a laundry and storage space for heavy outer clothing, shoes, boots, rubbers and slippers and seasonal outdoor equipment such as leaf rakes or snow shovels.

have a ready-made convenience that's hard to match.

Aluminum combination windows and doors take the hassle out of putting up screens and storms. You just pull or squeeze a lock on each side of the storm window frame and slide the window up until it locks in place.

Roll the aluminum screen down and you're ready for summer.

COMBINATION

Both combination aluminum storms and screens are easily accessible for sudden change in temperatures. This tailor-made convenience is a time saver but more importantly, a money-saver.

Being aluminum combination storms and screens require little or no maintenance. The material doesn't rot or fade; it won't rust and never needs painting.

These low maintenance characteristics of aluminum on windows and doors increase the leisure hours for the man around the house, and are just a few reasons why seven out of eight homeowners prefer aluminum screening.

CONVENIENT

Aluminum combination windows, not only have the convenience of self-storing components, but they are designed to fit snugly to the aluminum frames, which, when installed to the house, are weathersealed. This weather sealing becomes part of the installation to shut out the cold winter blasts and reduce fuel bills.

Bleached Spots Will Darken

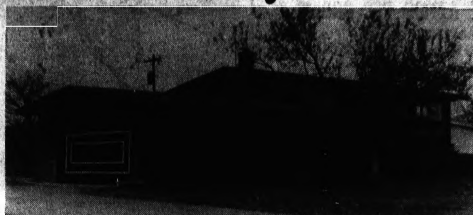

When a picture has been hanging against a wood wall for some years, the paneling behind it may be a lighter shade than the rest of the wall.

But if the picture is removed, the area will darken to match the surrounding wall surface, often within six months.

Repainting Tip

Repainting woodwork? Even if previously washed, wipe moldings with liquid sandpaper to remove every trace of grease before painting.

WHAT IS KLINGELHUT FACE BRICK SIDING?

It is the Multi-Purpose Brick Siding that does so many jobs — BETTER

Klingelhut brick is genuine, individually made, kiln-fired brick of standard dimension except that it is 1 1/2 inch thick. It is bonded to 3/8 inch insulating gesso by an exclusive process developed by Klingelhut. This produces an insulating combination equal to 4 inches of blown-in insulation — or 4 feet of solid brick.

• Gives year-round insulation
• Reduces fuel costs • Beautifies your home, increases its value • Resists fire • Ends repair and maintenance bills — no painting • Economical to install

AVON PARK — Mobile home living takes on a luxury look at Avon Park, 2000 Auburn, Avon Township. All mobile homes are on grade level with landscaped lots and patios for outdoor living. Designed for retired or about-to-be retired residents, the community will feature a soon-to-be constructed clubhouse for its residents. Seven furnished models are available for inspection from noon to 3 p.m. daily.

WIDE LIVING ROOM — Pull-outs extend the living room in many of the Avon Park mobile homes. Six hundred mobile home sites are available on the 106-acre development. Each site has its own private, paved two-car parking area lighted by a gaslight. Residents are entitled to free rubbish pickup and free snow removal. Lawn care for the 5000-foot lots is also available as are laundry facilities. All public utilities are underground to preserve the natural beauty of the site.

Today Through March 2

Ag Exhibit at Cobo

The United States Department of Agriculture will have an exhibit in the Builders Home, Furniture at Flower Show at Cobo Hall, which opened today and runs through March 2.

Color it green with trees for shade and beauty will be the theme of the exhibit, developed by the department's National Arboretum in Washington. There will be a zone map emphasizing the first principle in tree planting—selection of the right tree for the climate, soils and site.

Proper planting and care of trees after planting are also featured in the exhibit with bright colored transparencies showing the various uses of trees for shade, color, form and privacy.

Two recent publications, "Trees for Shade and Beauty" and "Color It Green with Trees: a Calendar for Home Arborists," will be handed out at the booth. Order blanks for obtaining other publications of interest to home gardeners will also be at the booth.

EXTRAVAGANZA
 Thomas A. Duke, president of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit and chairman of the Department of Agriculture display would round out the most complete exhibition of everything that grows in this year's show.

There are eight large show gardens, a third of an acre garden built by the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation, extensive floral exhibits by the Michigan Horticultural Society, and hundreds of displays prepared by the Allied Florists and the Florists Transworld Delivery and the independent florists of the Detroit area.

Another big drawing card of the show is the $20,000 grand prize, given to the person who estimates the correct number of nails in a plastic model house, on display when the doors open at Cobo Hall.

Keep Closet Dry Stop Mold Growth

A basement closet for storing out-of-season clothing is satisfactory if it is thoroughly dry. "Reasonably dry" isn't enough, for mold can develop in damp garments. Good ventilation is needed. This can come through louvers on opposite sides of the closet.

For added safety, use a chemical dehumidifier or a small bag of calcium chloride crystals suspended over an open jar.

Wooden Frame Supporting Link

Some people may be surprised to know that most homes popularly identified as "brick" are in fact wood frame. This means there is a supporting structure of lumber behind the masonry veneer appearing on exterior walls.

The safety of the walls depends on the strength of the structural lumber.

Maryland Hospitals Flooded With Outside Pleas for Abortions

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Two hospitals are being asked to perform so many abortions that they have been unable to handle all the requests and have begun rejecting out-of-state applicants.

"If we took everyone requesting an abortion, we wouldn't have a bed left in the hospital," said Dr. John E. Savage, head of the Greater Baltimore Medical Center's abortion screening committee.

"We can't be the abortionists for the East Coast," said Dr. Alan C. Barnes, chairman of the Johns Hopkins Medical Institution's obstetrics and gynecology department. "I get about 17 phone calls a day from out-of-state residents seeking abortions."

Sinal Hospital and the medical center have imposed restrictions against accepting out-of-state applications. A Johns Hopkins spokesman said Friday physicians practicing there have been "encouraged" to limit abortions to Maryland residents.

LIBERALIZED LAW

Maryland's new liberalized abortion law, enacted last July, permits an abortion if a mother's life is threatened by the pregnancy, if there is substantial risk to her mental or physical health, if there is likelihood the child will be born deformed or retarded or when the pregnancy results from rape.

Spokesmen for all three hospitals said they felt the restriction on out-of-state residents was justified because the law was enacted by Maryland legislators for Maryland citizens.

Dr. Savage said it appeared an "impression was gained in other states that all you had to do was come to Maryland."

If Maryland becomes an abortion center, said Dr. Barnes, "no other state will do its share and invest the time and money we have to lower criminal abortion death rates."

None of the hospitals would reveal the number of abortions performed since the law took effect.

ONE COLOR

MAKE OVER PAGES

LONDON (AP) — Cracks yawned in the European Common Market today on the eve of President Nixon's visit to Europe.

British sources reported yesterday that President Charles de Gaulle of France had sought British help to form a new alliance that would scuttle the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

French Foreign Minister Michel Debre denied the report and criticized Britain for releasing it.

In London, foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said today Britain refused to trade its friendship with the United

DEFENDS POLICY

Stewart's statement was the first by a British government official since yesterday's disclosure.

The report shook Common Market members who feel de Gaulle no longer has faith in the economic alliance.

Diplomatic sources predicted the market cannot continue operating in its present form without French support, particularly as the six member nations are already deadlocked over de Gaulle's refusal to let Britain join the trade pact.

Qualified informants in London said the French president confided his plan to British Ambassador Christopher Soames 18 days ago. They said it called for a loose European free trade area to be run by a council of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy.

DEFENDS POLICY

In announcing the British refusal to go along with de Gaulle, Stewart defended

the policy of Western European allies on maintaining close ties with the Americans.

"The United States alone among the superpowers in the world is a democracy. For example, people who disagree with the policy of the U.S. government on Vietnam can and do say so," he said.

City-Union Talks Stalled; Key Bargainer Is Stricken

Negotiations between the city and three of its employe unions broke off yesterday when the city's chief negotiator, David Burgess, 54, a Detroit lawyer, was stricken with a heart attack.

Two unions representing city service workers were still striking today in a walkout which began last Friday. Also negotiating for a new wage and fringe benefit package is the Pontiac Firefighters Association.

The firemen staged two walkouts last weekend but returned to duty under court order.

Negotiations between the city and the three unions were to resume 10 a.m. Monday with a staff attorney from Burgess' firm, Gilbert Cox, assuming his duties. Burgess was under treatment today at Pontiac General Hospital.

In another development relating to the negotiations, a legal move announced Wednesday by the attorney for the three unions appears to have been frustrated.

Winston Livingston said he had filed a motion with the Michigan Appeals Court attempting to interfere with collections of the Pontiac income tax.

Livingston's motion asked for withdrawal of a suit that originated in Oakland County Circuit Court. The original suit blocked a referendum on the issue asked in petitions presented to the city.

The court had declared the petitions invalid. Livingston and represented the fireman's and police associations in the suit, which had the effect of allowing the city to begin the tax last January.

BRING CASE BACK

Livingston sought to bring the case back to circuit court and seek to have an election called.

However, his motion to the Appeals Court was rejected. In a letter to Livingston's law firm and all parties concerned from Clerk of the Michigan Court of Appeals, Ronald L. Dzierbicki, the motion was called "unique and curious."

The letter stated, "It is not clear in my mind exactly what you intend to achieve by the filing of this document... your alleged withdrawal of opposition." (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 3)

249 Reds Killed in 'Truce' Battles

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops attacked two U.S. bases early today, five hours before the Viet Cong-proclaimed Tet cease-fire ended. Spokesmen said these and seven other fights cost the enemy 249 men killed.

One attack was on the Phan Rang air base where former President Lyndon B. Johnson's son-in-law is stationed. But spokesmen said Airman 1 C. Patrick Nugent was on a week's leave and not on base at the time.

Seventy-five mortar shells hit the base 160 miles northeast of Saigon, wounding five airmen and causing minor damage to some aircraft. Air Force gunships raked the enemy firing positions, and South Korean troops sweeping the area this morning found blood trails leading from two mortar emplacements.

In the second attack, enemy troops charged under cover of a 30-round mortar barrage and blasted their way into a base of the 101st Airborne Division 97 miles east of Saigon.

2 YANKS KILLED

The enemy killed two American paratroopers and wounded 29 others before being driven back by the paratroopers and helicopter gunships. Twelve enemy bodies were found.

Battlefield communiques said allied forces killed at least 237 other enemy in seven fights north and south of Saigon, five of them yesterday and two Thurs. day.

U.S. losses were six killed and eight wounded, and South Vietnamese losses were four killed and 22 wounded. U.S. spokesmen credited fighter-bombers for the 24-to-1 kill ratio.

State Budget Shuns Critical PSH Needs

Mental patients at Pontiac State Hospital apparently will have to put up with a shortage of people to care for them, freezing cold air leaking through windows and rooms without heat or electricity for at least a few more years.

The State Legislature is considering the hospital's budget for fiscal 1969-70 in a bill which doesn't include money for these top priority needs, according to Gerald Bax, the hospital's nonmedical administrative officer.

Medical Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin

Weather Change Due on Weekend

It looks like the Pontiac area is due for a change in the weather over the weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast the following day-by-day report:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy with chance of occasional rain by late afternoon, possibly changing to light snow late tonight and ending tomorrow morning. High today 30 to 44. Low tonight 25 to 30.

Winds were east to northeast at eight to 18 miles per hour.

TOMORROW — A little cooler, high 33 to 38.

MONDAY — Mostly cloudy with little temperature change. Precipitation probabilities in per cent are 30 today and tonight, 20 tomorrow.

"Twenty seven was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 38 at 12:30 p.m.

says the proposed budget recommended by Gov. Milliken "provides only for a continuation of present programs," which in some cases are below minimum needs.

"Unmet needs and an accumulation of years of inadequate budgets continue to preclude the bulk of the hospital's operations," Martin said.

FIFTH IN PRIORITY

Bax said the proposed operational budget only gives money beyond the present programs to the hospital's No. 5 priority item — a central surgical program.

"We are strongly urging legislators to restore at least our top two priority items," Martin commented.

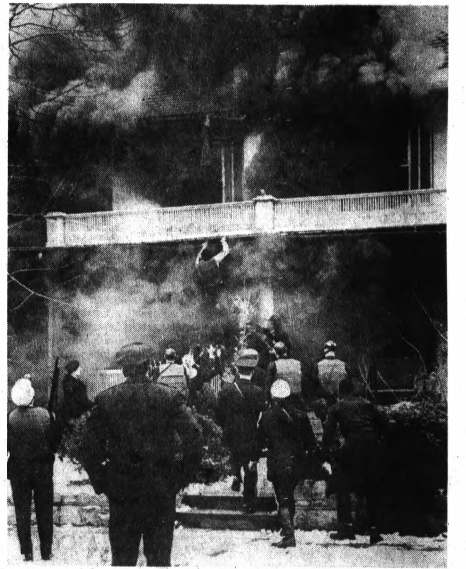

Bax reports that State Department of Mental Health officials have agreed to recommend the inclusion of the following items in the budget:

• Adding 26 nursing positions at a cost of about $175,000 in the "most poorly staffed adult psychiatric programs."

• Hiring 10 more professional and nonprofessional workers at an approximate cost of $75,000 to "bring the adolescent program up to minimal staffing level required to treat 60 children."

Some units in the adult psychiatric program, which serve most of the SHOOTING SPREE IS OVER — Police move in on a Washington, D.C., rooming house, set aflame by a tear gas grenade, after a two-hour shooting attack yesterday with a sniper inside. The man, Thomas Walton, apparently committed suicide. Police said the shooting began when he argued with his landlady at breakfast. She and another woman, also a tenant were killed, three policemen were wounded and three more were injured in the siege.

Suspension Policy Stiffens at Berkeley

By the Associated Press

University of California regents have given campus administrators power to suspend students with an immediate hearing in an attempt to quell chaotic conditions of the Berkeley campus.

The regents met yesterday in Berkeley as 2,500 protesters demonstrated noisily nearby, jeering Gov. Ronald Reagan.

But heavy rain and the shadow of 1,000 National Guardsmen camped five miles away averted a repetition of Thursday's violent clash between police and 2,000 demonstrators.

The new policy, approved on an 18-3 vote, calls for immediate suspension of students when "there is reasonable cause to believe" they disrupted a campus by violence, threats or other activities. Suspended students would have a hearing within two weeks and would face suspension for a full semester or possible expulsion from the university.

OTHER CAMPUSES HIT

Other campuses across the country also were hit with demonstrations, some related to the fourth anniversary of the assassination of Malcolm X.

Nearly 100 Negro students seized a building at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., but abandoned it after college officials canceled afternoon classes and scheduled a memorial service for Malcolm X.

The University of Pennsylvania declared Feb. 21 and the anniversary of the assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., April 4, as religious holidays, but students refused to end a four-day sit-in.

Long Island and Fordham universities and the City College of New York held memorial services for Malcolm X that drew hundreds of admirers, some of them white.

BOYCOTT AT PRINCETON

Negro students at Princeton University boycotted classes and conducted a vigil to mark the assassination date.

Fear of Surgery Costs His Life

MIAMI (AP) — Alexander Bienkowski twice panicked and refused to let doctors change a mechanical stimulator in his heart. The operation was performed yesterday—but too late.

Bienkowski, 54, was at Jackson Memorial Hospital, awaiting the operation that he dreaded.

"His heart stopped about 3 p.m. Thursday," said Mrs. Toni Lee of Miami, Bienkowski's daughter. "He still had the old pacemaker in. They shocked his heart into beating again and rushed him into surgery."

"He was placed in intensive care following the operation. The monitor showed that his heart stopped 11 times."

The monitor stopped for the final time at 3:30 a.m. yesterday. Bienkowski was dead.

He had agreed to submit to the pacemaker operation after his wife Mary obtained a Valentine's Day court order without her husband's knowledge. She was appointed guardian of his heart, so in case he panicked again, she could order the operation.

'Stadium Would Be Asset'

Charles B. Edwards Jr., chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, thinks an Oakland County sports stadium would prove a distinct asset to the entire county and state.

Besides being located near the state's population center, such a stadium would become a source of local pride bringing new taxing base plus additional trade and travel to the area, Edwards said.

"I believe the county has unique benefits to contribute for the successful operation of such a facility," Edwards said. "It would be situated in a prosperous area accessible by modern highways as well as by air."

Pontiac and Walled Lake are seeking selection as the site of a domed stadium to replace Tiger Stadium.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS CAPTURED — Dayton, Ohio, police move in to capture three suspects yesterday 20 minutes after the holdup of a bank messenger. Two of the suspects were hiding in the trunk of a car. Detectives said all but 50 cents of the $871 in loot, and two pistols were taken from the men after their car was spotted three miles away from the scene of the holdup.

I-75 Fatality Leads to Second Crash

An Ohio man was killed early this morning on I-75 near Clarkston, and two other cars crashed as an ambulance came toward them the wrong way on the expressway.

Killed in the first crash was Bernard P. Halm, 22, of Kirtland, Ohio. Witnesses told deputies the car the victim was driving northbound passed them at a high rate of speed.

Helm's car went off the road and disintegrated in the crash and the man was pronounced dead at the scene, deputies said.

Two other cars crashed at the accident site shortly after the 2:15 a.m. mishap. Apparent cause of the second crash was confusion caused by the Fleet Ambulance driver arriving on the scene from a southbound direction, deputies said.

Involved in the second crash were cars driven by Willard G. Burdick Jr., 20, of Fenton and Harold E. Burger of Highland Park. Burger was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Burdick was uninjured.

Deputies said the ambulance driver, Cliff Titus, 23, of Mount Morris, had crossed the median from the southbound lane and was approaching the original accident at the time of the second crash. An investigation was to continue today.

Harry S. Truman Still in Hospital

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman rested comfortably during his second night at Research Hospital and is still in satisfactory condition, hospital officials said this morning.

The 84-year-old Truman is being treated for "simple gastrointestinal flu caused by a virus." His physicians said if his improvement continued he should be able to return to his home in Independence, Mo., within a few days.

Shultz Opposes Labor's Plan for $2 Floor

Fight Brewing Over Minimum Wage

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is off to a relatively good start with skittish labor leaders who opposed his election, but a fight is budding over the federal minimum wage.

"The AFL-CIO goal in the 91st Congress will be a $2 minimum wage with universal coverage," the labor federation's Executive Council said yesterday after hearing Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz' opposition to any hike in the present $1.60 minimum.

Shultz also got nowhere with leaders of the 13.6 million-member labor federation in suggesting that there could be a lower federal minimum for youngsters just entering the labor market.

"We won't go for that at all," said a source in the AFL-CIO.

Shultz and AFL-CIO President George Meany did not make much of the disagreement after a closed meeting. But a federation source said the lower pay for youngsters is "the biggest potential fight between us and the administration."

"I am satisfied that he has not made up his mind on this fully," Meany said. Shultz, and the secretary himself told newsmen he was just throwing out the idea of considering lower federal pay standards for new job market entrants.

Many did not appear disturbed after questioning Shultz about Nixon's call for new methods for dealing with national emergency strikes.

"He indicated he didn't have the answer, I said I didn't have the answer and I haven't found anybody else who has the answer," Meany said.

Labor leaders feel generally that Nixon's comment was prompted by the longshoremen's strike, and that there probably will be no major move to tamper with the Taft-Hartley Act's provision for 80-day cooling off injunctions, the only current federal weapon against most strikes.

tion does not change the posture of the appeal.

At the time the move was announced several attorneys and officials commented it was doubtful the motion would have any legal status or purpose except as a tactic in negotiations.

In yesterday's talks between city and union bargaining teams only slight progress was noted.

Garbage continued to accumulate around the city, but a stopgap measure of providing drop-off points around the city has been initiated.

The firemen are asking parity with an offer reportedly made to Pontiac police. It would give police $10,000 per year retroactive to Jan. 1 and $10,000 annually beginning July 1. The city's offer to firemen was $400 less. Other striking city employees are asking for raises that average 35 cents per hour. The three unions also are seeking retirement and longevity pay adjustments.

Leftist Leader to Seek Pakistan Presidency

KARACHI, Pakistan (U) — Leftist leader Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, who danced for joy when President Mohammed Ayub Khan announced he will not seek a third term in 1970, was preparing today to bid for the presidency.

The former foreign minister who was released from three months detention last week said he might fly to Dacca, capital of East Pakistan, for weekend talks with other opposition leaders to prepare for elections next January.

Bhutto was reported eager to meet with Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, chief of the rightist Awami League party in East Pakistan, and Maulana Bhashani, head of the pro-Peking wing of the National Awami party.

GM Asked to Take School Site Stand

General Motors Corp., the city's largest employer, has been requested by a citizens committee to take a stand on the controversial super high school site.

The auto firm also was asked if it might "compensate for the difference in costs" for a central city location over the selected site at Pontiac State Hospital.

The proposals were made in telegrams sent to GM Board Chairman James M. Roche and Martin J. Caserio, GMC Truck and Coach Division manager.

Committee members are Mrs. Eldred Sweeney, 228 Orchard Lake, Mrs. Ralph Tyson, 2786 Eastways, Bloomfield Township, and Stuart B. Filler, 285 Whittemore.

The group, calling itself the Committee to Involve General Motors in Pontiac Life, told the executives, "We are sure a forward-looking company like yours can see that by making the school more relevant to the black community you enrich the potential of your local labor force."

The officials were asked to reply by Monday.

'Berlin Wall to Open if Vote Is Called Off'

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin's Communist party promised today East Germany would open the Berlin wall for the Easter holidays if West Germany calls off an election in the divided city next month.

Simultaneously, the Soviet military attaché in East Germany warned that the Western allies would be responsible for the "consequences" if the West German election is held in West Berlin.

Five Charter Proposals Are Put on Ballot

BIRMINGHAM — Five more proposals for amendments to the city charter — bringing the total to six — have been added to the ballot by the City Commission for voter approval at the April 8 City Election.

Additional proposals include:

- Increase the present limitation on city purchases without competitive bids to $4,000 with a 5-2 vote of the commission and to $2,000 on a lesser vote;
- Delete portions of the city charter which deal with the office of municipal judge. (The post has been replaced by a District Court);
- Elimination of the office of constable due to establishment of a District Court;
- Change the procedure for vacating public streets and alleys. Revised procedure would require a public hearing with four weeks notice;
- Add a provision whereby property owners who are scheduled for an assessment are to be given 10 days written notice of the special assessment hearing.

The previously announced amendment change calls for deletion of the charter amendment providing for appointments to the county board of supervisors. (They are now elected by districts.)

The South Oakland County Model Railroad Club was to open its annual open house today at 2 p.m. in the Grand Trunk Western railroad station, 245 S. Eton.

The open house runs from 2 to 4:30 p.m. today and Sunday and the following weekend March 1-2 at the same times.

Members of the model railroad club have patterned the model railroad layout after the Detroit to Durand section of the Grand Trunk & Western. Over 1,200 feet of track are in operation including a portion of the GTW Port Huron to Chicago mainline complete with operating signals and automatic train control. The model railroad is normally in full operation, 8-11 p.m. on the third Friday of every month and open to visitors.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — John D. L'hoite, 3218 Woodside, has been named to the State Fire Safety Board by Gov. William Milliken. The term will expire July 15, 1972.

L'hoite is a physical plant manager for the Detroit Board of Education.

Mrs. Wilson Trust Is Upheld in Court

The three children of Mrs. Matilda Wilson, benefactress of Oakland University, have lost their case in Oakland County Probate Court to dissolve a $15-million charitable trust fund established by their late mother and have the money divided among them.

Judge Donald E. Adams ruled that the children have no right to the fund since Mrs. Wilson's will clearly indicated how she wanted it distributed.

The will was contested by Mrs. Frances Dodge Van Lennep of Lexington, Ky., Mrs. Thomas Eccles of Scottsdale, Ariz., and Richard Wilson of Bloomfield Hills.

In her will dated March 9, 1967, seven months before her death, Mrs. Wilson left a number of personal items to Mrs. Van Lennep and $10,000 to each of the other children.

She noted in her will that financial papers had already been made for the children.

In their suit filed against their mother's estate, the children contended, among other things, that the two officers in the fund were in conflict of interest because they were instrumental in preparing the will. Judge Adams rejected the argument.

After the distribution of specific property and cash to persons and organizations named in the will, including $300,000 for a professorship at Oakland University and $200,000 in trust for each of her two grandchildren, the remainder was placed in the existing Matilda R. Wilson Fund for charitable purposes.

Waterford Schools Data Is Available

The Waterford Township School District Public Information Committee, in an effort to inform district residents, has asked that all questions regarding the township's school situation be directed to its office.

Questions may be sent to the Public Information Committee, 2101 W. Walton, Waterford Township, 48055.

The school board is considering setting an election for March 26 on a two-year 9-mill tax increase.

The same proposal along with a $10.3-million bond issue was defeated Dec. 7.

Garbage Pickup Points Are Listed

The Pontiac Department of Public Works and Services has announced establishing drop points for garbage during the strike against the city by employees.

At the points will be city garbage trucks. The service will be temporary and is meant to prevent serious, unsanitary accumulations of refuse, it was announced. Drop points will be operating 1 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at:

- Pontiac General Hospital Parking lot.
- Pontiac Golf Course clubhouse.
- Murphy Park parking lot, Reed and South East Boulevard.
- Incinerator site, Featherstone and East Boulevard.
- City Hall parking lot.
- Jaycee Park, Walton and Joslyn.

hospital's 1,750 patients, have only two attendants for 90 patients.

Five new positions in adult psychiatry are included in the proposal, according to Bax.

Pontiac State Hospital provides surgical services to patients from a 10-county region.

Some $111,000 in the budget for the surgical program will provide for hiring nine personnel and purchase of drugs and supplies.

A hospital request for $50,000 to start replacing old windows apparently will not be met, says Bax. Blankets, rags and newspapers will have to be used to keep the cold air out.

From 400 to 600 patients in the 91-year-old section of the hospital still will be without heat or electricity in the 200 to 300 rooms they use primarily for sleeping, Bax said.

NOT REALLY GENEROUS

Martin said the governor's budget request increase of $1 million for the hospital appears generous on the surface but is really not.

"Two-thirds of the increase is swallowed up in the general seven per cent pay raise already authorized by the Department of Civil Service, effective July 1," the superintendent said.

This year's budget for the hospital is $10.7 million. The hospital requested $10.9 million from the state, not including its supplemental needs and salaries.

Gov. William Milliken has recommended an all-inclusive budget package of $11.7 million.

CUTBACKS THREATENED

Martin has threatened cutbacks in programs and an increased waiting list for admission if sufficient funds aren't received.

A money shortage already is causing some problems this year, Bax reports. At the present spending pace, the hospital would end this fiscal year with $75,000 in the red, he said. More fringe benefits and overtime are being paid than expected.

Minor cutbacks in office supplies and in personnel — leaving noncritical positions unfilled — will be made to end the year with no deficit, according to Bax. Medical supplies and drugs will not be reduced.

One major cutback Martin announced which will affect next year's budget is the closing of six old adult rehabilitation cottages, which house a total of 303 beds.

PATIENT SHIFT SET

Patients left homeless by the closing will be placed in another section of the hospital or be sent to such other facilities as nursing homes. The deactivation process, scheduled to start soon, will take about one year.

China to Free Yanks?

HONG KONG (U) — A Hong Kong government spokesman said yesterday 15 yachtsmen, including six Americans, who were taken prisoner by the Communist Chinese last Sunday may be released after the Chinese lunar new year holidays that end March 3.

'Sirhan Planned to Shoot RFK'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan confided to an acquaintance last April that he planned to shoot Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and he was observed on the scene 48 hours before the assassination, witnesses testified yesterday at Sirhan's first-degree murder trial.

The prosecution, developing its theme of premeditated murder, has called 46 witnesses and appears likely to rest its case next week. The trial is in recess until Monday.

Alvin Clark, a moustachioed, goateed Negro, testified yesterday that Sirhan told him two months before the assassination, "I'm planning on shooting him."

Clark, who collects trash at the Sirhan home in Pasadena, said they became friendly with Sirhan providing coffee and sandwiches. Shortly after the assassination of Martin Luther King, Clark said Sirhan, a 24-year-old Jordanian, "asked me who I was going to vote for. I told him Sen. Kennedy."

ADmits STATEMENT

"What do you want to vote for that son of a b for, because I'm planning on shooting him," Clark quoted Sirhan as saying.

On cross-examination, Clark was asked if he told the FBI after Kennedy's death that "you wouldn't want to take the oath because you hated Sirhan so much you would do anything to see him convicted?"

"Yes," replied Clark.

The prosecution then asked Clark if he told the truth in his testimony and he said he had.

The defense contends that Sirhan was in a trance and incapable of premeditated murder — for which the possible penalty is death — when he shot the 42-year-old Kennedy last June 5.

State Dem Leaders Eye Rejected Platform Planks

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan State University Democratic party leaders are taking a close second look at parts of the party platform that failed to win approval at their Feb. 2 convention.

At a meeting of the five-member State Central Committee on Monday, the Michigan State University reform resolution will be discussed, they talked pass," said State Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley, prior to the session getting under way.

"The Parochial issue will be intensely discussed, but it's up in the air about whether it will pass," he said.

Levin is minority leader of the Michigan Senate and recently resigned as Democratic state chairman.

State Chairman James McNeely said he hopes the committee for study and recommendation.

The abortion measure calls for repeal of Michigan's "archaic" law and enactment of a law which permits any woman to obtain an abortion set "proper guidelines."

Another resolution would ensure county boards of supervisors who set "exorbitant" salaries and ask the Legislature to "proper guidelines."

SHARON HURREN

Teen of Week Is Scholar at Catholic High

This week's Teen of the Week is Sharon Hurren, a senior at Pontiac Catholic High School.

Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hurren of 16 Grandie, is an honor student and a member of the National Honor Society.

A member of St. Michael's Parish, she is president of the parish Teen Club, and is in teaching Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes on Saturday mornings.

She is a member of the Pontiac Citizens Committee on Youth and has received an "outstanding volunteer" award from the Optimists Club. She is also a member of Youth Forum Panel Program on radio station WPON.

WORKS ON PAPER

At PCHS, Sharon helps write the school newspaper, is a member on the cast of the school plan and of the projection club, and is on the graduation committee for the 1969 graduating class.

Following her graduation, Sharon plans to attend Oakland University, majoring in special education.

Sharon says she feels that "concern with problems of the world and the eagerness to become involved should be a vital part in the life of every teen-ager today. There is so much to be done, so very much to be gained and it is up to today's teens, tomorrow's leaders, to carry it out."

MSU to Have a New Prexy 'by July 1'

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University trustees have set a July 1 deadline for hiring a new president to guide the 46,000-student Big Ten school.

Chairman Don Stevens, said the talent hunt won't be limited to "someone with a pedigree."

The timetable was agreed upon at a meeting yesterday that included a week, unsuccessful effort by 40 dissident students to present a "list of grievances" against school officials.

The students marched, singing and shouting, into the trustees room in the Kellogg Center, but left in a hurry after being warned they would be removed bodily by campus police.

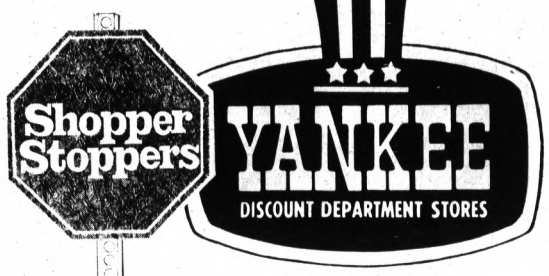

COMMITTEE SET UP

The trustees, who met later in the day with 15 student representatives of an organization called "the Movement," set up a three-member presidential selection committee headed by Stevens to screen applications for the $140,000 per year job. Other members are trustees Frank Hartman of Flint and Frank Merriman of Deckerville.

"At this juncture," Stevens told a news conference, "no one is in and no one is out — the field is wide open to everyone and anyone. We're not necessarily looking for someone with a pedigree."

Cultural Rebirth Due

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The time for Pontiac to shed her industrial "lunch box" image is now, and her citizens are the best equipped to do just that, says area sculptor, James Dewitt King.

The "how" says King, whose works are currently on exhibition at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, is a cultural renaissance with local artists tapped for resources.

"The Girl With The Skinny Legs"

How do we shape up today? Financially, says the 27-year-old Chicago native, the community is stable and prosperous with a bright future.

Geographically we can't lose either, with Oakland County growing in population by leaps and bounds. Our central location is a third factor in our favor.

Culturally, however, King feels we're borrowers, and will continue to be until we cultivate our own artistic talents.

"You can't BRING culture to a city, says King. "It's got to be bred from within, be a part of one's life to really be understood."

The ironic dilemma of Michigan artists is that everyone looks to New York for the final word on art, which is exactly what New Yorkers did in the 1920s when Paris was the unquestioned culture center, notes King.

"But as they (New Yorkers) soon found, the only way to live in a cultural environment is by having it right there, which is what we must now do," he says.

A positive approach with fantastic potential from King's point of view is the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, which is still in its first year.

In keeping with King's comments on the fundamentals of making your own "happening," is the unique media in which he works.

Why metal? "Because it's the medium of our times," says King.

As for his works of art, which are welded together in a studio garage behind the King family home on Victory Drive, they show a distinct simplicity, enhanced, perhaps, by the clean cut look of metal.

In style, King again refers to an "emotional happening" when creating in the abstract. "An artist lays his guts on the line every time he creates something and sets it out for the public to see," he says.

And like culture, if they can respond out of something in their past, it reminds them of a part of their lives, they'll be able to enjoy it for what it is he concluded.

King is among 17 artists now participating in the "Spectrum" exhibit at PCAC through March 2.

At Reducing Salons

Discrimination Apparent

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit-area reducing salons discriminate against would-be Negro patrons in a variety of ways, a Detroit newspaper study indicates.

The newspaper sent two women reporters—one white and one black and both weighing about the same and having similar figures—into the health spas in an effort to see if they were discriminating against Negroes.

Susan Holmes, a Negro reporter, and Katherine Sudomier, white, were chosen for the assignment. Both stand 5-feet-5. Susan weighs 123 pounds, Kathy 118.

The two reporters made individual visits, minutes apart, to Vic Tanny and Silhouette-American spas at six locations.

The Negro reporter discovered she could not enroll in a reducing course in Dearborn because she lives in Detroit, while the white reporter was welcomed despite her River Rouge address.

COSTS DIFFER
The cost for Miss Holmes, had she been able to enroll at the Dearborn facility, would have been $444 for the first year, $240 for the second, and $50 each for the third and fourth. Mrs. Sudomier was quoted an average of $120 a year for the four years.

Another method of discouraging Negro applicants the reporters encountered was an offer made by the facilities to finance membership costs for the white woman, while financing arrangements for the Negro woman were left to her.

Mrs. Sudomier was given application forms on the spot in one salon in Royal Oak; Miss Holmes was told she'd have to make an appointment for a later date.

In one Detroit facility, the white reporter was offered a contract. The black reporter was told she'd have to pay cash.

Officials for both firms said they do not discriminate.

James Hoppin, area manager for the Silhouette-American firm, apologized for the treatment Miss Holmes got, the paper said, and offered her a free workout.

Vic Tanny's Nicholas Patru said his firm is the only one in the area with any Negro members.

Both Patru and Hoppin were quoted as saying they did not know how many black members their respective spas had, because they do not keep such records.

Diet for Long Life Smells of Onions

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Mrs. Emogene Waling, who celebrated her 102nd birthday Friday, says her secret to long life is to eat raw onions, limburger cheese, smoked and pickled herring, and to "live right."

It's a family formula. Mrs. Waling's son—D. W. Waling of Kalamazoo—is 80. Her brother, Samuel, is 87 and her "kid sister"—Mrs. Alice Mason of Kalamazoo—is 90. Mrs. Waling's mother lived to be 99.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

They had a birthday party for Mrs. Waling at the Verdries Nursing Home, where she is a patient. President Nixon and Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken sent congratulatory messages and Mayor Paul Schriber showed up in person.

Thirsty Fans Disrupt Line of Spectators

of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: Nothing irritates me more at sports events than those who just get seated and have to have their drinks. Everybody in the row has to pass the drinks from vendor to drinker, then pass the money, then the change coming back.

Two innings later these drinkers must dispose of drinks, so everyone in the row has to get up to let them out. Not once does this go on, but all during the game. And now and then you get these drinks in your lap or down your back.—A Sports Fan

Dear Sports Fan: People who have inside seats have as much right to a drink as those on the aisle, and there's no other way they can get it. However, they would be better neighbors if they would restrain themselves from making frequent purchases, and certainly they could wait until between periods or innings to leave their seats.

Read this letter, fans, and think how your neighbors feel.

WITCHCRAFT

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently witnessed a wedding where all three bridesmaids wore black velvet with black bows on their heads. The men wore black, naturally. When the group was assembled on the altar, it looked more like a funeral than a wedding. The bride in the traditional white helped the situation. Your comments will be appreciated. —Marilyn

Dear Marilyn: A wedding with everyone in black sounds like something out of the days of witchcraft. It makes me think of "Rosemary's Baby." It is certainly not appropriate for a ceremony which should be happy—and avoid all possible hints of a funeral.

Ex-Preacher Takes His Bride

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Glen Wolfe, Hollywood hotelman and former preacher, has a way with young women. He proved it again Friday when he married for the 18th time — taking as a bride a 23-year-old hazel eyed beauty.

Wolfe, 56, told newsmen he proposed on Valentine's day.

The gray-haired groom and his bride were married at the Los Angeles County Courthouse. After the brief ceremony, they dashed out a side exit and drove to a Hollywood restaurant for a wedding meal.

Wolfe said he had visited the restaurant in the past with other brides, some whom were in their teens. The couple planned only a short honeymoon trip. "We plan to visit Disneyland," Wolfe said.

PAST RECORD

Wolfe has made it his avocation to meet and marry beautiful young women. His first nuptials were in 1930. The longest union lasted five years, the shortest five days. He once said he had 31 children.

He has been married to 17 young women. He twice married, divorced and remarried the same women.

Wolfe said he met his latest bride, whom he would identify only as "Gloria," after placing a newspaper advertisement 2½ years ago for a baby sitter for his son, John, now 5.

Wolfe's license to perform weddings as an ordained (Baptist) minister was revoked in 1960 by a civil court judge who said Wolfe's personal marriage history was "disgusting."

Wolfe's last known marriage was to an 18-year-old blonde hair stylist from Hollywood who was awarded a divorce in October, 1967. She told the judge she

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am being childish, but I am worried about something I can't confide in anyone else. I am scheduled to have some extensive dental surgery in the near future and my dentist has informed me that I will have to be "put under" with a regular anesthetic.

That doesn't bother me, but I understand people tell a lot of tales out of school while they are "under" and I don't want to take any chances because our dentist belongs to our club and it could be embarrassing, if you know what I mean.

I would appreciate any help you can give me.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry, it will be practically impossible for you to put your foot in your mouth while your dentist has his hand in it. Besides, only a psychiatrist gets paid for listening.

DEAR ABBY: I am a housewife with all kinds of problems. One of the biggest is my husband, Sam. He brags the boys in for poker two nights a week. If that was all, I wouldn't complain. The boys never have the poker game at their house. Never. They come here like wolves with empty stomachs, and pretty soon Sam comes and asks me to fix the boys a snack, so I fix up a big plate of sandwiches. Next it's beer. Abby, twice a week gets pretty expensive with the allowance I get.

I have mentioned this to Sam, but he refuses to say a word to the boys about it. So what should I do?

SAM'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Inform Sam that unless he sweetens the pot, or asks his poker pals to ante up — no refreshments! And tell him you're a pretty good poker player, too, so he'd better not call your bluff.

DEAR ABBY: This problem has caused my brother, sisters and myself extreme embarrassment and shame. Our parents have been divorced for several years. Dad remarried, but his wife left him shortly afterwards, so now he goes to visit Mom quite often.

We children are all married and could provide a room for Dad when he comes to town, but he prefers staying with Mom at her one-bedroom apartment. I'm sure he's not sleeping on the couch. How can we convince them that if they're going to live together again they should

George Honest, Smarly Coiffed

For anyone who doesn't happen to like cherry pie, George Washington's birth day used to be something of a flop (apart from getting a holiday, of course).

But this year it's different. The news about George is that he's not only due to be remembered on the food page, he's making news on the fashion front as well.

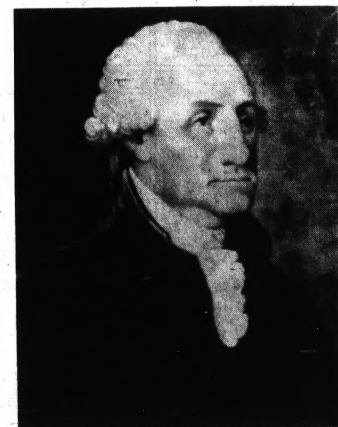

THE 'PERUKE'

Who would have thought, to tell the truth, that America's first president would have started a fashion look? But the newest hairdo around this spring is the one with the "Presidential Peruke."

It's great for girls with long locks — all they have to do is tie a satin bow at the nape and they've got a built-in peruke.

Good for the shorter coiffed too — they simply fix a long fall or unplaited braid on the back of the head and they've got the "Presidential" too.

Main thing is to make sure the ends of the peruke curl under and that the bow is not an overwhelming one. Best sized ribbon to tie up your "Presidential" is about a half inch wide.

George, we'd never tell a lie about that hairdo. Fast is, it's right back in style. The "Presidential Peruke" is fashion's way of saying "Happy Birthday to You" on Feb. 22.

Mrs. Paul Carriger of Rowley Drive has just the head of hair to fashion in peruke style—no wig needed. This picture proves the style has charm for today's woman. Thanks, George.

Take Signatures to Cape Kennedy

Thousands Sign Petitions

The public rebuff made by people. One man and his wife, Mrs. Madelyn Murray O'Haire, concerning the Scripture reading by one of the astronauts caused quite a stir among those of the opposite view.

Among them was the Rev. Larry Evoy, pastor of the Oxford Free Methodist Church in Oxford, who said "Even though many people have spoken out on certain issues of a moral or ethical nature, my feeling was that it was time everyone in my church took time to put themselves on record concerning this particular matter."

With this in mind, a petition was distributed throughout the congregation.

Within five days, the call came to the church office for more copies. Additional printings were made to meet demands. By the Feb. 19 deadline for their return lists of signatures came through the mail from many outstate locations.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Several churches in the area made reproductions of the petition and circulated them through congregations. One complete list was from a military base, filled on both sides with names of service men and women.

Pastor Evoy reported "When I saw the looming magnitude of what I had intended to be a local venture, the momentum even increased among my own public affairs for National Aeronautics and Space Administration, contacted Pastor Evoy this week and affirmed that personnel involved in the space program will be on hand to receive the petitions.

When asked what effect this drive might have had on his spiritual and social concern."

Negro History Is Subject

Newman AME Set for Dinner Friday

The third in a series of programs on Negro History at Newman AME Church, Brush and Bagley will concern "What's Happening Today in Pontiac?" The program will take place at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Christopher Brown, Elbert Hatchett, Charles Tucker, Albert Shaw and Robert Wright, all community leaders will speak on "Education," "Business," "The Community," "Housing" and "Youth of Today."

A question and answer period will follow with refreshments.

DIGGS SPEAKS

Congressman Charles Diggs Jr. of Detroit will be keynote speaker at the Founder's Day Dinner Friday. The dinner is sponsored by the Newman AME Church.

Christopher Brown will serve as master of ceremonies at the 6:30 p.m. event. Mrs. Elbert Hatchett will sing.

The dinner is in memory of Richard Allen, first elected bishop to serve the African Methodist Episcopal Church. He is considered the most significant of a small band of black men who organized the AME Church.

Black people worshiped at White Methodist churches in Philadelphia during the 1780s.

Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia is the Mother church because this was the first legal place of worship when the group organized.

Young People Plan Program at Liberty

Young people of Liberty Baptist Church are sponsoring a Negro History and Contribution program at 7 p.m. tomorrow. Orlando Burton, assistant principal of Eastern Junior High School, will be master of ceremonies.

A brief history of the legislation affecting Black Americans of the country will be presented.

The program is designed to present feelings of Black Americans in the past and present. Speakers will include adults and students of Eastern Junior High School.

The public is invited, Pastor Alvin Hawkins said.

Evening Mass

"The Bible and Conscience" will be the theme of the second in the series of Mass homilies at St. Michael Catholic Church, slated for 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Missionary Shows Slides at Lakeland

The Rev. Henri Ferger, missionary for the United Presbyterian Church in Guatemala, will speak and show slides of his work at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Lakeland United Presbyterian Church, Waterford Township.

Missionary Ferger has given many years to his calling. He served on the mission field in India from 1916 to 1959.

After his retirement he continued to make use of his hobby of photography in a continuing ministry touring the world mission fields and taking pictures.

For the past 10 years of his service, the Rev. Mr. Ferger was on loan to the pioneer work of Radio and Audio-visual Service Council of the National Christian Council of India.

Cochairmen Mrs. Leland Johnson and Mrs. Robert Simpson, and Mrs. Robert Pasco, Mrs. Richard Cardona, Mrs. Robert Blue, Mrs. Maxwell Foss, Mrs. Herbert Goeha, Mrs. Jessie Vore and Mrs. Leo Carrin.

where there is trouble," Mother drives and work of the American Red Cross.

WITH BIBLE When Mrs. Woods hears of girls or boys getting into trouble, she goes to the home with her Bible, reads to the family and prays for each person.

Then she talks the problem over with those concerned.

Mrs. Woods served as assistant director of the Southwest Community Center, now known as the Pontiac Area Urban League with Dennis Dowdale, executive director. She helped lay the foundation for Negro teachers in Pontiac.

The first president of the Mary Morton Chapter of the WCTU, Mrs. Woods was chosen Mother of the Year of her church in 1950. She is a member of the National Health Society alone after the death of his wife. Mrs. Woods said she Cookman College. She has shared her home, food and pleasures with the family.

TOUCHES LIVES

Her name is not written in the hall of fame, but in the lives of men, women, boys and girls. She serves her church as a home missionary.

A few weeks ago while standing on Saginaw Street waiting for a bus a white man came along and called "Hello Mother, I told him, no I don't know you."

"Don't you remember how you used to feed me? When you fed me, you used to feed me to church I climbed in your kitchen window and ate all the cornbread," the man told me.

Then Mother Woods explained that this young man had lived near her. His father tried to bring up his seven children alone after the death of his wife. Mrs. Woods said she Cookman College. She has shared her home, food and pleasures with the family.

Robert Blue of 5899 Cambrook, both of Waterford Township, and Mrs. Maxwell Foss of 2530 Tackles, White Lake Township. The luncheon is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday.

'M' Regents Vow to Hear All Sides

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Board of Regents vowed Friday to "listen to the university community" in an effort to keep the campus open to conflicting opinions and make needed changes.

The regents adopted a statement condemning violence in the university community and noting that Michigan has so far escaped the nationwide wave of campus troubles.

The board also passed a statement of "regret" over public criticism of the play "Dionysus in 69," in which 10 actors were arrested for appearing nude.
