Canal Proposal Stirs Opposition in Panama, U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A skittish political problem appears to be building in Panama and the United States over a proposed treaty giving Panama full sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone and a voice in managing the canal.

Critics in Panama say the treaty does not go far enough; in Washington, foes say it goes too far, especially in light of what has happened to the Suez Canal under control of the United Arab Republic.

Some Congressmen have been clamoring for details about the treaty, some of which had been a well-guarded secret until the Chicago Tribune published in today's editions what it said was the full text of three treaties involved.

The text provides for a boost in tolls to make the canal a profitable enterprise aimed at satisfying Panama's demand for more revenue.

Tolls have not been increased since the canal was opened in 1914 by the United States, which now pays Panama $1.93 million annually. Toll increases would increase that more than tenfold to about $22 million a year in 1972.

Some U.S. critics fear Panama could nationalize the waterway as the U.A.R. did with the Suez Canal. The treaty would give Panama sovereignty in a new and smaller Canal Zone.

The Panama Canal Co., a U.S. government corporation operating the canal, would be replaced by a nine-member board, including five appointees of the U.S. president and four by the Panamanian president.

Accompanying treaties cover maintenance of U.S. military bases in Panama and the building of a sea-level waterway if Panama is picked as its site.

Most congressional criticism has been in the House, which has no vote on treaties, a function of the Senate.

But House critics say they are making their voices heard in the Senate and elsewhere. Rep. Armistead I. Selden, D-Ala., announced recently that 120 House members had introduced or joined in sponsoring resolutions about the matter.

MONEY BY MAIL — Robert M. Critchfield, major gifts chairman of the fund drive for the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America's Lost Lake Reservation, shows a $10,000 check from the Kresge Foundation to Star Scout Jeff Dow of 625 Cameron. The $485,000 already collected will go towards purchase and development of the reservation near Clare.

Kresge Foundation Gives Scouts Grant

The Kresge Foundation has given a $10,000 grant to the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America towards the purchase and development of the Council's Lost Lake Reservation near Clare.

The gift was announced by Robert M. Critchfield, major gifts chairman in the council's $550,000 Lost Lake campaign. The gift, the second largest on the campaign, brings the total funds collected to $485,000.

"This most generous Kresge Foundation gift pushes our campaign close to completion.

"This, together with other anticipated gifts places us within reach of our $550,000 goal. Such public spirited gifts are insuring the future camping program of Scouting in Oakland and Macomb counties" said Critchfield.

★ ★ ★

EQUIPMENT ADDED

Considerable equipment has already been added to the reservation although several more years will be required to develop the area fully. Recent additions include a new dock, two boats, six canoes, fire protection equipment, and troop camp site facilities.

Argentine Wins British Open

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, 44-year-old golfing gypsy from Argentina, stood off the challenge of defending titleholder Jack Nicklaus today and ended 20 years of frustration by winning the British Open Golf Championship.

The balding Latin American, runner-up in 1950 and third on four other occasions, fired a final round 70 for 278 that beat out Nicklaus by two shots.

The powerful American star rammed home a 25-foot putt on the 72nd hole for a final 69 and 280

Gary Player of South Africa, who started the last day two shots back of De Vicenzo and one ahead of Nicklaus, struggled with a cold putter, shooting a 74 for 284, which gave him a tie for third place with 22-year-old Clive Clark of England, who had a final 72.

De Vicenzo's lead was cut to two strokes by Nicklaus at the nine-hole turn, but the Argentine didn't waver.

Rails Face Midnight Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of a major railroad strike hung over the nation today after leaders of six shopcraft unions reaffirmed their decision to rescind their no-strike pledge as of midnight tonight.

"Anything may occur out in the field whether we control it or don't control it," Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, said yesterday.

Government and industry sources indicated they believe any strike would be against only a few major lines, rather than against the 90 per cent of the nation's railroad involved in the wage dispute.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., noted yesterday "the rumor that some strikes might occur over the weekend on some railroad properties, such as the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific."

★ ★ ★

Union leaders representing some 137,000 shopcraft workers refused to extend their voluntary no-strike pledge Thursday after a Senate-House conference was recessed Monday without reaching a decision on a bill designed to avert a strike. They reaffirmed their decision yesterday.

'EVERYTHING IT CAN"

White House press secretary George Christian, quoting President Johnson as saying "a strike at this time would have grave consequences," said yesterday "the government is going to do everything it can" to prevent a strike.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara met earlier yesterday with congressional leaders of both parties to advise them of the situation.

The Senate-House conferees are deadlocked in their attempts to resolve differences in legislation passed by the Senate and the House a month ago.

★ ★ ★

The Senate version, proposed by Johnson, would provide for 90 days of intensive efforts to win a voluntary agreement. If this failed, the bill would provide for a compulsory settlement. The House dropped the provision for any compulsory settlement.

The other unions involved represent sheet metal workers, boilermakers, electricians, carmen and firemen and oilers.

They are demanding a 6.5 per cent pay hike this year and 5 per cent next year, plus 12.5 cents an hour in each of the two years for skilled workers. They now average $2.94 an hour, with skilled workers earning up to $3.05 an hour.

The railroad have offered a 6 per cent hike for an 18-month agreement, plus a five-cent skill increase.

U.S. Toll Is Heavy as VC Blast Base

SAIGON (AP) — The mighty U.S. air base at Da Nang was reeling today from a Communist rocket attack that left eight Americans dead, 173 wounded and 42 airplanes crippled or wrecked at a cost of $80 million.

It was the worst punishment inflicted on the U.S. base, which has been hit twice before in the past five months.

Earlier, 13 Americans had been reported killed, but five Marines at first presumed dead were accounted for.

The sprawling 1,800-acre base on South Vietnam's Northern sea coast, launching pad for many of the bombing raids on North Vietnam, was shut down after the attack.

★ ★ ★

Crews went out to repair one badly cratered 10,000-foot runway and sweep debris off another.

FIRE FOR 45 MINUTES

The Communists fired for 45 minutes early today from two positions 4.3 miles southwest of the huge base. Their deadly aim left little doubt the rockets had been well zeroed-in in advance.

Six F4C Phantom jets, each worth nearly $2 million, were among the aircraft destroyed.

Ten Phantoms were heavily damaged. Two Marine F8 Crusader jets and three Air Force C130 cargo planes were also wrecked in the Communist rocket barrage. Other planes knocked out were not immediately listed.

★ ★ ★

The rocket shelling was described by an Air Force spokesman as "the worst ever" to hit the base.

CASUALTY BREAKDOWN

The U.S. Command said eight Air Force men were killed and 138 airmen were wounded. Thirty-five U.S. Marines were wounded.

Of the 173 wounded, about 40 were hospitalized. Some of the others suffered only minor injuries such as cuts and bruises.

The Communists pumped 50 rockets into the big air base in the attack. U.S. officers identified the rockets as 122mm and of Soviet origin.

★ ★ ★

They had said earlier that some of the rockets were 140mm but late reports showed only the smaller 122mm were fired.

Robbins' Estate Hearing Slated

A hearing on a settlement reached between the beneficiaries and heirs of the estate of the late Royal Oak industrialist Jim Robbins will be held Tuesday in Oakland County Probate Court.

Judge Donald E. Adams will be asked to approve an agreement which changes the will of Robbins, killed last September when his private jet plane crashed in South Dakota.

In February, an inventory showed that Robbins had $11 million in cash and $10 million in securities in companies other than his own.

The value of his holdings in his own firms has not yet been determined.

★ ★ ★

Under the terms of the settlement, a trust fund will be set up with the six beneficiaries and heirs receiving varying percentages on its annual income.

They only received benefits from 40 per cent of the trust under the will, with the remaining 60 per cent reinvested annually.

The settlement also names Robbins daughter, Mrs. Alice Kathy Luby of Birmingham as one of the heirs. Previously she had not been included. The will stated that she had already been cared for when she married.

In addition to the 13 per cent she will receive from the trust, she and her brother James M., each will receive $400,000 over a three-year period.

★ ★ ★

James will receive 23.7 per cent of income from the trust fund.

NY Nixed 'Whoopees'

Pontiac isn't the only city which has experienced troubles with electronic sirens.

★ ★ ★

The police department of New York City reports that electronic sirens were used on its cars on an experimental basis.

Lt. William L. Harris, in command of the department's motor transport unit, said their use was discontinued after the Mayor's Committee on Noise Abatement criticized their sound.

All police cars now use the standard electrically activated sirens, he said.

Harris said ambulances owned by the nation's largest city have not used any sirens for a number of years but an effort is now being made to equip them with nonelectronic sirens.

He said there are no restrictions, at present, as to the type of sirens to be used on privately owned ambulances.

PARKING VIOLATOR 'PARKED' — Eugene, Ore., police decided 29 unpaid parking tickets was enough. So they attached a boot to the front wheel of the violator's car preventing it from being driven. City Residents to Get Tax Choice

How do you want to pay it?

That is the question Pontiac residents will be asked sometime this fall.

City commissioners have agreed they will attempt to determine voter predisposition to either an income tax or a hike in the property millage levy in an advisory vote.

It is expected sometime in September.

City officials met during the week with members of the Citizens Finance Study Committee steering committee to discuss the commission decision.

The citizens committee earlier this week recommended that the commission impose a city income tax for the next fiscal year to meet a threatening fiscal crisis.

CUT PROPERTY TAX

Included in the recommendation was a proposal that the commission lower the property tax levy from 10 mills to 7 mills.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the steering committee agreed that the advisory vote was well-considered.

In a letter to members of the full committee, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the commission "felt that an advisory vote prior to the adoption of any income tax is very important," even though the "commissioners individually went on record in the past as favoring the city income tax as the best source for the long-range solution to our financial problems."

Taylor said the election ballot might be worded as follows:

Do you favor solving the city's financial crisis with an income tax or a tax rate (millage) increase?

VOTER COULD CHOOSE

The voter would then be able to choose between voting for a 4-mill property tax increase or a city income tax with an accompanying 3-mill property tax reduction.

The commission may adopt a resolution at its Tuesday meeting calling for the advisory vote.

Taylor said the situation is very serious, and the city administration has to meet certain deadlines if it is going to enact any kind of tax during 1968.

★ ★ ★

In order to adopt an income tax ordinance that would start Jan. 1, the commission would have to pass it at a formal session no later than Nov. 1.

REFERENDUM PETITIONS

Although it is not known whether there will be organized opposition to a city income tax, the commissioners have been apprised that petitions calling for a referendum vote could then be filed until Dec. 15.

In the event that a referendum is called for, it would be held between Feb. 3 and March 20 and then the tax, if approved by the majority, would begin July 1.

In order to raise the millage rate, a proposition would have to be placed before the voters no later than Oct. 31 to be in effect in 1968.

City officials have stated that a new source of tax income must be tapped or there will be a drastic cut in services and employes next year.

A layoff of some 100 to 110 employes of the 770 now working for the city might be necessary.

11 Die in N.J. Riot; Hartford Cools Off

By the Associated Press

Negro rioting in Newark, N.J., left the city with 11 dead today after a third night of chaos. In Hartford, Conn., hit by less serious disorders, the police chief said, "I feel we've come through."

Eight persons, all Negroes except for a white policeman, died Friday night in Newark in a crossfire of shots from snipers, police and National Guardsmen. More than 500 injuries and damage in the millions was reported in the city, just across the Hudson River and 20 minutes away from Manhattan by bus.

* * *

National Guardsmen patrolled the debris-lined streets in Jeeps that carried submachine guns. "This is just like two countries fighting," said Sgt. Fred Schlueter. Gov. Richard Hughes called the situation a "criminal insurrection."

Some 18 miles southwest of Newark, in Plainfield, N.J., a group of 40 Negroes tossed rocks at police cars and through the windows of several stores Friday.

Gov. Hughes dismissed outside agitators as a factor in the Newark rioting and blamed it mainly on the "harping" of local civil rights leaders.

In Hartford, Police Chief John J. Kerrigan said, "I hope the entire city can come back to normal as quick as possible, now."

He was heartened by a night of relative calm Friday. No injuries were reported and there was only minor property damage in the city's turbulent north end, the site of two days of rock-throwing, fire-bombing violence.

A state of emergency was to remain through the weekend, however, and the city manager said he was putting off a report on measures to be taken in the disciplining of Police accused of brutality in the arrest of a Negro.

Israel Claims Downing of 3 Egyptian Jets

By the Associated Press

Israel claimed it shot down three Egyptian MIG21s today, and the two sides resumed their cannon duels along the Suez Canal after an all-day battle killed at least 33 persons and wounded 58 Friday.

The United Nations starts sending observers to the canal today to try to halt fighting along the cease-fire line.

* * *

The new clashes ranged from Port Taufiq on the southern tip of the canal to the Great Bitter Lake and a railroad bridge at Firdan, north of Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, the Israeli army said.

The Israelis said Egyptian antiaircraft fire had hit one of their jets, but the pilot ejected and was rescued by Israeli forces.

* * *

A spokesman said the Israeli jets were called to strafe Egyptian artillery which opened fire on Israeli trucks near the Bitter Lake and troops at Firdan and to fight four Egyptian MIGs which attacked those same points.

Apartment Blaze Does $200 Damage

Fire, blamed on careless smoking, broke out in a basement apartment of a three-story brick building at 574 W. Huron last night, causing an estimated $200 damage.

* * *

City firemen required less than 20 minutes to extinguish the fire, which started in a couch of an apartment occupied by Thomas Mayes.

* * *

Firemen set damage at $100 each to the building and contents. The building is owned by Edwin M. Beresford of 3928 Cottontail, Bloomfield Township.

City Man Is Charged With Wife's Murder

A Pontiac man was charged with murder yesterday when his 20-year-old wife died in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, from injuries received in a June 28 shooting.

The victim, Ruth Moses, died at 4:40 p.m. yesterday, according to University Hospital officials. She had been transferred there Thursday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Her husband, Robert, 23, of 292 Russell was arraigned on an open charge of murder this morning before Municipal Court Judge Maurice E. Finegan. He stood mute.

The suspect will appear in Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing at 9 a.m. Wednesday. He is being held in Oakland County Jail without bond.

Moses allegedly shot his wife with a pistol about noon on the 28th. He then drove her to the hospital and shortly afterwards was arrested.

City police said the shooting occurred in a car parked on South East Boulevard between Whittemore and Osmun.

The bullet struck the victim in the midsection, according to investigating officers.

Mrs. Moses at first appeared to be making progress. Hospital officials said her condition had progressed from critical to fair the day after the alleged shooting.

Moses orginally had been charged with assault with intent to commit murder and was released after posting bond.

2 'Teen-Age' Girls Foiled in Theft Try

A 45-year-old Pontiac woman fought off two girls who she said attempted to steal her wallet after forcing their way into her home.

* * *

Agnes Arnold of 133½ E. Howard told city police that the girls, whom she described as teen-aged, said they were selling magazines and that when she said she wasn't interested, the pair forced their way into the home.

She said one of the girls started an argument while her accomplice ran into the bedroom, and grabbed the wallet.

The Arnold woman said she then started to struggle with the intruders, chasing them from the house.

* * *

Pontiac Youth Killed During Viet Combat

A Pontiac youth, Army Spec. 4 Bernie L. Tate, was killed during combat operations in Vietnam.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Menard Tate of 47 N. Ardmore, he died last Wednesday.

Spec. 4 Tate, 20, was a platoon sergeant stationed at Cu Chi.

"He just wrote home. He was counting the days until he could come home. He didn't say much about what he was doing," said the sergeant's father.

Tate, who left for Vietnam in October 1966, had worked for Pontiac Motor Division. He graduated from Pontiac Central High School in 1964.

Pontiac Woman Is Robbed of $89

A Pontiac woman, who had just cashed her pay check, was robbed of $89 outside a North Perry grocery store shortly before 7 last night.

Betty Glaspie, 32, of 7 Lucille told city police one of four males who were congregated outside the Kroger store at 750 N. Perry grabbed her purse as she left the building.

She said the four subjects escaped on foot along Linda Vista.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Three Canadian researchers said Friday they have developed over the past year a device that removes up to 90 per cent of the harmful tars from cigarettes by percolating the smoke.

The researchers described the device as a major breakthrough in the elimination of health hazards from cigarette smoking and said their research was "somewhat farther ahead" as compared with the new cigarette filter announced by Columbia University in New York Thursday.

Fire Chief Retires, Served for 40 Years

Pontiac Fire Chief James R. White, who rose from fireman to the department head in 14 years, spent his last day on the job yesterday.

Actually, his retirement won't be officially effective until Aug. 12, his 62nd birthday, but White will put in his last month on a hunting and fishing vacation.

This is a far cry from the pace he's worked at with the Pontiac department for 40 years.

"I've always been a fireman, not just a staff man," he said.

* * *

White worked his first 18 years with the department "at the bottom of the ladder." This was in the days before civil service, when seniority was the sole prompter of promotions.

MOVED UP

However, he ascended the leadership scale rapidly after that period.

He was made lieutenant in 1945, captain in 1949, assistant chief in 1955 and chief in 1959.

The department has shown tremendous growth during his tenure.

* * *

"There were 40 men in three stations when I started," he recalled. Now, there are more than 180 men in six city stations.

VIVID MEMORY

From these years of his rise and the department's expansion, White remembers one incident most vividly.

It occurred when he was a new lieutenant.

"We received a call that a woman's pet bird had escaped the house and lit in a tree.

* * *

"Since I was quite an outdoorsman, I usually was the one to climb high places when it was necessary.

BEFUDDLE BIRD

"Also, I had read somewhere that a bird in captivity will become befuddled and fly to ground when hit with a stream of water.

"So, I spoke up and before I knew it, neighbors had their garden hoses out and I climbed the tree and played a stream on the bird.

"It flew farther and faster than I ever saw a bird fly before."

* * *

BIRD IN HAND

"Instead," he recalled, "the woman to thank me, for the bird had flown right into the hand of a painter at a nearby house and was returned shortly after we left the scene."

Many of his memories have been less pleasant, including the some 40 fatalities due to fires he's witnessed.

He also recalls big blazes such as the Chase's Department Store fire of 1942, which gutted the five-story building on North Saginaw.

* * *

White is intensely proud that the new central station at 123 E. Pike with it's ultra-modern alarm system was built during his reign.

TAKE IT EASY

Now, he'll have more time to hunt and fish at his Lake Superior lodge in Canada and to simply take it easy at home at 3061 St. Jude, Waterford Township, with his wife.

His tenure, from recruit to chief, is over, and looking back, as always, is a more advantageous perspective.

But, there isn't much he'd change, if given the opportunity. "I'd still be a fireman," he said.

UAW Aiming at Past Profits

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union revealed yesterday it has its sights on sharing in past as well as future profits of the auto companies.

Ken Bannon, UAW vice president and director of the Ford department, said the union's demand for a "substantial" wage increase in its 1967 contracts included provisions for "catching up" on the workers' share of industry profits made since the last contract was signed in 1964.

* * *

In addition, he said, the UAW was seeking a profit-sharing provision in the new contract to provide year-end bonuses as a share of the profits the companies make in the future.

* * *

"We are not going to forget yesterday," said Bannon in reference to profits the companies made in 1965-66 and the profits expected in 1967. Profits in 1966 were of record proportions with General Motors reporting earnings exceeding $2 billion.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Some thundershower activity is expected tonight over northern Florida. It will be warmer over the Great Lakes region, Mississippi Valley, southern Plains and southern Texas. Cooler weather is in store for the Great Basin.

News Briefs at a Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Israel is going to get a bill from the United States for damages and compensation for deaths and injuries in the Israeli attack on the U.S. communications ship Liberty during the Middle East war. Secretary of State Dean Rusk informed the Senate Foreign Relations committee of the move yesterday, adding that inquiries into the Israeli air and sea attack on the vessel indicate it was "in no way justified." To date, he said, "I do not believe we have had an adequate justification from Israel." He promised the panel a full report.

Pioneer Pilot Dies

MURPHY, N.C. (AP) — The man thought to be the last of the pioneer pilots of the Wright brothers flying machines has died at the age of 83. Harry Nelson Atwood, who held several flight records set in the first part of this century, died yesterday in a hospital near Murphy. It was in the baby Wright — a flimsy biplane constructed in the Wright brother's machine shop at Dayton, Ohio — that Atwood in 1911 flew 1,256 miles between St. Louis and New York City in 28 hours and 58 minutes.

S. Viets Upset Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House GOP leader Gerald Ford said last night he was disappointed in the South Vietnamese army, but praised the South Koreans for their part in the Vietnam war. Ford said he agreed with Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., that it would be a good idea to have more South Korean soldiers in Vietnam. "I understand they have done a superb job and I compliment them for it," he said.

Ticket Saver Fined

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Motorist Henry E. Hessler, 25, of Grand Rapids found it doesn't pay to hoard parking tickets. He saved 67 of them and Thursday was taken before Police Court Judge Robert Smolenski who called it "about the most flagrant case of excessive parking tickets I've seen" and then ordered Hossler to pay fines and costs of $388.40.

Guardsmen Gather

GRAYLING (UPI) — Nearly 6,000 Michigan National Guardsmen turned Camp Grayling into a tent city today prior to two weeks of annual summer training which begins Monday. The guardsmen spent most of early parts of Michigan to this 130,000-acre military reservation to set up camp.

De Gaulle to Start Trip

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle was scheduled to begin a 13-day trip to Canada today. Officials said there was little likelihood the French president would see President Johnson. De Gaulle was scheduled to fly to the northern French province of Brittany this morning to board the cruiser Admiral Colbert for a five-day Atlantic crossing. Government sources said it was highly doubtful de Gaulle would meet Johnson during his North American stay.

Warns of Strike Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)— The rail strike threatened by six shopcrafts unions this weekend "would likely result in legislation they would be very unhappy with," Rep. John P. Dingell, D-Mich., said yesterday. Speaking at a Washington news conference, the Detroit congressman said he had told his friends in organized labor that a strike at this stage would be very unwise.

District Needs More Teachers

Waterford Is Having Trouble Filling Posts

The Waterford Township School District is encountering more difficulty than usual filling teaching vacancies this summer for the forthcoming school year.

M. Barrett Vorce, associate superintendent of instruction and personnel, said there are 33 openings, mostly on the secondary level.

In mid-July last year, by comparison, only 10 teaching positions were unfilled.

Vorce attributes the unusually large number of vacancies to a wave of late resignations and to an increase in student enrollment on the secondary level.

* * *

Twenty of the 33 vacancies are in the junior and senior high schools. Needed are three industrial arts teachers, three counselors, three mathematics and science teachers two librarians, two English teachers, an English-journalism teacher, two instrumental music teachers, a vocal music teacher, a social science teacher and a mathematics-boys' physical education teacher.

ELEMENTARY LEVEL

On the elementary school level, 376 of the 380 positions have been filled.

Nine other openings exist in the system. The openings are for three special education teachers, three diagnosticians and three school social workers.

Vorce said he is "searching more diligently" for teaching prospects by visiting more universities, contacting commercial teacher agencies and advertising in newspapers, something the district hasn't had to do before.

A few more resignations are anticipated before the fall term begins which means that additional vacancies will be created.

Two Suspects in Holdup Are in FBI's Hands

The two men suspected of robbing a Shelby Township credit union of $15,748 were turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities last night.

The Ford Federal Credit Union on Mound Road south of 23 Mile Road was robbed at gunpoint at 10:35 a.m. yesterday.

Willie L. Edwards, 35, and Richard Kenney, 25, both of Detroit are currently in the Wayne County jail charged with bank robbery.

The men were turned over to the FBI because the credit union was federally insured according to Shelby Township police who made the original arrest.

The two men were arrested shortly after the holdup at the end of a high speed chase. Township police pursued the men's car until it crashed into a hill attempting to make a right turn.

One man was arrested next to the car while the other took cover behind a bush carrying a 12-gauge shotgun. The police were able to talk him into surrendering.

Police were rushing to the National Bank of Detroit branch office in Utica at the time the Federal Credit Union was hit. Officers said they received a telephone call saying that the bank was being robbed. The tip was apparently a ruse to distract them from the credit union.

Waterford Slated to Act on 4 Rezoning Requests

The Waterford Township Board is expected to take action on four rezoning requests at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

* * *

Up for consideration are requests to rezone property on Scott Lake Road at Alliance from single-family residential to multiple dwelling for apartments and property at Hadrill Court and Telegraph for a restaurant.

Also on the agenda are proposals to rezone property on Sashabaw between Pomeroy and Midland from single-family residential to multiple dwelling for apartments and property at Watkins Lake Road and Scott Lake Road for a church.

The board also is slated to divulge information on its attempt to secure financial consultants to help guide the community's future endeavors.

The township has contacted various firms and has received a few replies. Interviews will follow before anyone is hired.

BLACKTOPPING PROJECT

In other business, the board will discuss a road blacktopping project for Van Zandt Street to be financed equally by the township, school district and Oakland County Road Commission.

* * *

The board also will consider the lease purchase of a copying machine, a minor revision in the repayment schedule for the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System and will open bids on a property floater policy.

Congo Continues on Verge of Chaos

By the Associated Press

News Analysis

While the Congo government says it has put down the latest uprising there, it is hard to escape the conclusion that the country continues on the verge of chaos.

This is the country with the greatest potential among all the nations of black Africa. Yet it has shown continued inability to stand on its own feet. This has been concealed in recent years by apparent progress in stability and economy. There are signs that such progress lacks a solid basis.

* * *

With every step forward it has taken in its seven years of turbulent independence, the Congo has often seemed to take one or more steps backward.

Many Western diplomats see the root of the trouble in the Congolese National Army, its undisciplined troops, its ambitious officers and its tradition of mutiny.

The diplomats are consistently overruled by their governments.

MOBUTU 'ONLY HOPE'

The United States, Belgium and other Western countries have helped to train and equip the force built up by ex-journalist Gen. Joseph D. Mobutu. They regard President Mobuto and his army as the only hope of welding the enormous former Belgian Congo into a nation and putting an end to the constant threat of anarchy, bloodshed and Communist infiltration in the heart of Africa.

Neither Mobuto nor his army has lived up to the Western governments' expectations. Yet they see no alternative to their present policy. The warnings of diplomats on the spot have been swept aside by the overriding need to back the only strongman in sight.

* * *

Behind the rivalries and intrigues of Congolese politicians, Mobutu has held the only real power in the country since he staged his first coup in September 1960. The politicians, including his present archenemy, former Premier Moise Tshombe, headed the government in turns by Mobutu's tolerance until he himself assumed the presidency five years later.

But while Mobutu controlled the politicians in Kinshasa, he never effectively controlled his troops, particularly in the remote districts of the country.

The nucleus of the army was the 40,000-strong Force Publique, a Belgian-officered body, left behind when Belgium relinquished its colonial rule in July 1960.

Within 24 hours of independence, the African enlisted men mutinied against their Belgian officers and started a chain reaction of violence from which the Congo has not yet emerged.

The United Nations brought in troops of many nations to reestablish order, while the Force Publique renamed itself the Congolese National Army and overnight commissioned its African sergeants to take the place of the Belgian officers.

Senior United Nations officers recommended at the time that a new start should be made in creating a disciplined and military backbone for the Congo, with officers brought from old established armies in Africa and Europe.

Mobutu angrily rejected the idea and the United Nations had no mandate to impose it by force.

Yet the Congo needed United Nations troops to subdue the Tshombe secession in Katanga and had to call in Belgian paratroopers and white mercenaries to stem the Communist-supported Simba rebellion which by 1964 had engulfed two-thirds of the country.

For a while, the mercenaries helped to make Mobutu's army a relatively effective fighting force. Wherever a mercenary-led unit appeared, the rebels fled into the bush.

The official government monthly Kolgo magazine not long ago paid warm tribute to French mercenary Col. Bob Denard for liberating Kisangani from Katangan rebels as recently as September 1966.

But Mobutu, speaking more and more as a champion of the struggle against "neocolonialism," began to regard the mercenaries as a blemish on his record and decided gradually to eliminate them.

An English nurse, Winifred Davies, was one of the victims of this decision. She was killed by Simba rebels in May after being kept prisoner in the bush for over three years. Mobutu had repeatedly rejected official British appeals to send a mercenary-led task force to rescue Miss Davies, on the grounds that he did not wish the mercenaries to be given such an occasion for publicity.

Denard's mercenaries were mostly adventurers attracted by high wages. They had no loyalty to any government or military establishment and were far from the disciplined body of officers needed to whip the Congolese army into shape.

MERCENARY REVOLT

Early this month, for reasons believed connected with the Algiers arrest of Tshombe, the mercenaries rebelled against the Mobutu regime. With the help of the fanatically pro-Tshombe gendarmes, they put Mobutu's army to flight whenever it appeared—sometimes without firing a single shot.

They occupied several major cities in the eastern Congo and might have taken Kinshasa if they had really tried. It was obvious that they operated from inside Congo territory and that they were until recently on the government payroll.

* * *

In a series of statements, Mobutu denounced what he called the mercenaries' "invasion" of the Congo from abroad and whipped up latent hatred of Europeans in general by accusing white settlers of aiding the invasion.

When the mercenaries withdrew voluntarily from the city of Bukavu, according to information reaching neighboring countries, Mobutu's troops went on a rampage of killing and looting directed against European residents and Congolese suspected as "spies and saboteurs."

The government evidently blocked the Europeans' escape by refusing to allow them to leave the Congo over the nearby Rwanda border.

All available evidence from refugees and eyewitnesses indicated that the settlers, far from helping the mutinous mercenaries, deeply resented their arrival which disrupted several years of relative tranquility in the Bukavu area.

Many Europeans, including some of the white missionaries, are discouraged and readp to go home.

Many Western diplomats fear it may be too late for the radical reorganization of the Congolese army which they have always seen as the only way to prevent the nation slipping deeper into chaos.

House Study Units Picked

LANSING (UPI)—Special committees of the House of Representatives were appointed yesterday by House Speaker Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, to study property tax exemptions, local water system controls and statutory implementation of the Constitution.

Rep. James Folks, R-Horton, was named chariman of the committee to study real and personal property tax exemptions.

The committee will examine tax exemptions now allowed by the constitution "to determine whether these exemptions are based on criterias of fairness or on group pressures."

A seven-member committee headed by Rep. Harry E. Rohlfs, R-Akron, will try to determine if municipally owned water systems should be regulated.

The resolution creating the committee notes "there are consistent complaints against rates charged by municipally owned water systems." The Public Service Commission regulates privately owned water companies, but has no control over city systems.

Sweeps School Troubles Under Rug

Recent events in the Troy School District lead one to wonder whether the school board and administration are running a school system or a major league baseball team. When things go from bad to worse for a ball club, the favorite among immediate cures seems to be to fire the manager or coaches. While such action may confirm the fact that the executive powers are concerned, it rarely cures anything.

In Troy the problem is money. There isn't enough coming in to keep up with educational demands in this rapidly growing community. The school district expects to have a $465,000 deficit by next June. It asked for an eight-mill tax rate hike for one year to solve this problem. Voters rejected the millage proposal in last month's school district election.

★ ★ ★

Faced with a financial emergency, the school board since has busied itself with motions to fire High School Principal Joseph Bechard; eliminate the "modular system," an experimental education system in effect at the high school; and return to traditional classroom procedure. These proposals were defeated by a slim 4-3 vote of the board.

To be sure, the board and administration are not acting alone. Their actions came largely in response to public pressure.

The question we raise is this: Would these moves have solved the fiscal problem? We think not. At least there has been little if any solid evidence that firing the principal and returning to traditional classroom procedures will result in a substantial cut in the cost of running the school system.

★ ★ ★

The board, however, did anounce that an austerity program was being put into effect, barring a drastic change in the financial situation. It includes dropping music and art and putting junior high students on a shift basis so that half will go to school in the morning and half in the afternoon.

We can't blame the board for doing this. What else can they do? But it does seem a ridiculous backward step in our society where the Federal Government spends thousands annually to bring the likes of art and music into the lives of culturally deprived children.

Finally, a committee of citizens has formed in Troy to petition for a new election on the millage issue. This seems the most logical step — one that should have been the first step.

★ ★ ★

For example, in the Holly School District where a 10-mill tax request was defeated in last month's election, school officials have already slated another millage vote for July 25 and have set up a series of public meetings to explain their needs to the voters.

The setback was critical in Holly too, but it's been met with calm, constructive action. We suggest the same prevail in Troy.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Father John James Halligan has brought hope and a new sense of pride to hundreds of young, homeless bootblacks in Quito, Ecuador.

Coming from a family with a tradition of religious service, he knew from the age of 16 that he wanted to join the Jesuit order and do missionary work. After years of teaching, Father Halligan arrived in Ecuador in June 1963. There he created an organization called Christ of the Andes Mission which included several medical and welfare programs in one over-all operation.

The last of these programs and the most exciting has been the Working Boys Center. In Feburary 1966 the volunteer leaders of the bootblack's club asked Halligan if they could be included in the Christ of The Andes Mission operation. He agreed and with a loosely organized group of about two dozen youths The Working Boys Center has grown to a membership of 197. They provide daily meals, recreational facilities, some schooling, a savings program and carpentry and shoe production shop.

"It is a difficult struggle," Father Halligan says, "our ultimate goal is to give the 300 shoeshine boys in Quito's main square the same kind of education and training and some of the advantages of the children from the higher economic brackets." He calls his approach to life "religion in action." "My work and the work of my church is helping to break the poverty cycle through loving intervention," he asserts.

Resident Voices Opinion on Waterford Landfill

I was present at the so-called public hearing of the Waterford Township planning commission concerning the landfill. Since I was not allowed to speak, and as a mother fiercely concerned with her children's welfare, I will have to speak through the freedom of the press.

★ ★ ★

The peak hours of operation of the landfill would be around 12, 2 and 4 p.m. These are the peak hours for school buses running on Maceday Lake and Williams Lake roads. Mention was made of tax monies coming from this venture and usable for schools. Children in our subdivision immediately environed by this property go to Independence Township schools. The probability of pollution of the lakes frightens me, and who is to stop undesirables from scavenging and remaining in the area to scavenge more than the dump.

The area of these excavations is a treasure trove of Devonian era fossils. Under supervision this area could be used to teach our children of our world's humble beginnings. God help us if future generations find only the garbage of the era 1967.

Do people who plant flowers on graves of loved ones each year and place wreaths or blankets on the graves at Christmas ever think how much more good that money would do if it were donated to any of the causes trying to find cures for cancer, leukemia, polio, etc.? This makes them a minority group because they had no one in their class to represent them. 'Let's Oppose Proposal to Loan to Enemy'

I learned of the Johnson administration's intention to bring up a proposal on the Senate floor to loan $50 million of our hard-earned tax dollars to enable Italian Fiat company to build a vast new automobile plant in Communist Russia. This proposed loan is just one example of the Johnson Administration steadily increasing the nature of our business with Russia.

★ ★ ★

Every time we expand trade with Communist countries it relieves their civilian economy and enables them to divert more material, machinery, etc. in construction of weapons to be sent to Hanoi, which in turn is killing off and mutilating our young men in greater numbers. It's from an essay on love by Ralph Waldo Emerson, and the actual quotation reads: "All mankind loves a lover."

Rails Flash Danger Signal for Government Relief

The Nation's railroads have asked for an emergency increase in freight rates of from one-half cent to 3 cents per hundred pounds.

In petitioning the Interstate Commerce Commission for this modest boost, they told the commission they couldn't meet their higher labor and other costs without the increase and warned that "working capital has already been depleted to the point where it cannot be relied upon in meeting the emergency situation which now confronts the railroads."

Even the proposed boost in rates will be insufficient to cover additional expenses, which have been estimated at $444 million for the Country as a whole.

While costs are rising, net operating income has suffered a sharp decline. In the first quarter of 1967, it dropped more than 30 per cent compared with the same quarter in 1966. The rate of return for the industry in the first quarter of this year has been estimated at 3.60 per cent, which is less than the 3.76 per cent of 1951 described by the Interstate Commerce Commission as "substandard and inadequate."

At the moment, however, the destiny of the rails lies mainly in the degree of wisdom exercised by Congress and the regulatory agencies in dealing with wage and rate problems and their relation to public interest.

Viet Puzzle: Stalemate or Slow Win

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Take your choice.

When Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, went to Vietnam last week to confer with the American commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the general told him: "The war is not a stalemate. We are winning slowly but steadily."

MARLOW

The North Vietnamese were the ones who called the war a stalemate.

This country has about 465,000 men in Vietnam and Westmoreland reportedly wanted 100,000 to 140,000 more. Word began to drift back from Saigon that McNamara thought Westmoreland's figures too high.

Thursday the two men, together with President Johnson, had a news conference at the White House.

NUMBER A MYSTERY

None of them would reveal how many more men Westmoreland will get or, for that matter, exactly how many he requested. If it's true, as reported, that he wanted 100,000 to 140,000 he seems unlikely to get them.

If there were differences between Westmoreland and the Johnson administration the President sewed them together and put a shine on them.

He said: "We have reached a meeting of the minds."

★ ★ ★

But Johnson seemed irked by the North Vietnamese description of the war as a stalemate, a contradiction of Westmoreland's modest claim about a slow but steady victory.

'STALEMATE A FICTION'

Midway through the news conference the President told the general:

"I wonder if you could tell us what we have done in the last year and expect in the next year, very briefly. Touch on this 'stalemate' creature."

Westmoreland promptly appeared more optimistic than he did in Saigon when talking to McNamara. "The statement we are in a stalemate is a complete fiction," he said. "It is completely unrealistic."

★ ★ ★

Since Westmoreland has never said publicly exactly how many men he originally thought he needed, it is not clear whether he has been talked into taking less. Johnson's phrase about the "meeting of the minds." could be interpreted that way.

But what does seem clear is that the Johnson administration is trying to stick to a rule it laid down on military manpower last November before Westmoreland's present call for more troops.

★ ★ ★

At that time McNamara, looking ahead to 1967, said draft calls would be lower this year than in 1966. He repeated this Thursday. He also said something else last November.

It was this: While about 200,000 men were shipped to Vietnam in 1966, "the increase next year will be nothing of that order." And so far the figures bear him out.

★ ★ ★

By the end of 1966 there were 389,000 Americans in Vietnam. Now there are about 465,000, an increase of 76,000 with 1967 more than half over. Johnson and McNamara have made it plain another 20,000 to 30,000 would certainly be sent.

But they're deliberately vague on how many more will go after that.

★ ★ ★

One thing is certain: When Westmoreland publicly agreed to Johnson's statement that he will get the force he recommended he will never be able to turn out he doesn't have enough.

Confident Living:

Turn Every Defeat Into Victory

By
NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

An important secret of living successfully in this world is to turn every defeat into a victory. The negative thinker will immediately react that this is living in a dream world and cannot be done. But it is done repeatedly by strong-minded, strong-willed and strong believing people.

DR. PEALE

Some very wise men are lined up on the side of the proposition that you have in you to do just about what you will with your life. For example, Plato said: "Take charge of your life; you can do what you will with it."

Success depends on how and what you think — the type and quality of your thoughts — according to Disraeli who said: "Nurture great thoughts for you will never go higher than you think."

★ ★ ★

Power flows to the person who firmly believes that he can — to the individual who sends out positive, not negative thoughts. Emerson stated: "Great hearts send forth the secret force that incessantly draws great events."

Like attracks like. Send out negative thoughts and they will activate the world around you negatively, drawing back to you negative results. Send out positive thoughts and actions and you will stimulate positively about you, and draw positive results to yourself.

You can turn every defeat into a victory by using three dynamic principles: (1) the in-spite-of principle; (2) the relentless pressure principle; (3) the as-if principle.

★ ★ ★

The in-spite-of principle is the belief that you can carry on in spite of . . . that you can attain objectives and realize goals in spite of every obstacle. You fight on to win in spite of every opposition and setback. You never lose heart or give up in spite of dark and dismal prospects.

Washington Irving stated it this way: "Little minds are tamed and subjugated by misfortune but great minds rise above it." Get with the in-spite-of principle and nothing can get you down or defeat you.

Next—the relentless pressure principle. You have a goal, one that you want to achieve. To succeed you will need to do several things: work hard, study seriously, and develop proper skills and plenty of know-how.

★ ★ ★

But when you get discouraged, when you cannot seem to make it, there is one thing you cannot do without. It is the priceless ingredient of success — relentless pressure. You just never give up, never quit, never let up on concentrated effort.

Finally — the as-if principle. Combined with the other two principles it constitutes a way of thinking and working that can turn defeat into victory. The as-if principle was first announced by Professor William James, father of American psychological philosophy.

The idea is this. If you don't like the way you are, if you want to be otherwise, start acting as if you were that new way. If you proceed with relentless pressure you will become as you desire in spite of difficulty.

If you are filled with fear and want instead to be filled with courage, start acting as if you had courage. It may be awkward at first, but keep acting as if and in time you will become courageous.

★ ★ ★

If you are failing, start acting as if you were succeeding. Of course, you must apply other rules of success, namely: study, work, effort, personality growth; but you also need the as-if principle to really succeed.

This principle works on the basis of the psychological law that you tend to become what you truly image or desire, provided you want it badly enough to give yourself to get it.

With these three creative principles you can turn every defeat into a victory.

Ionia Letters Release Hit

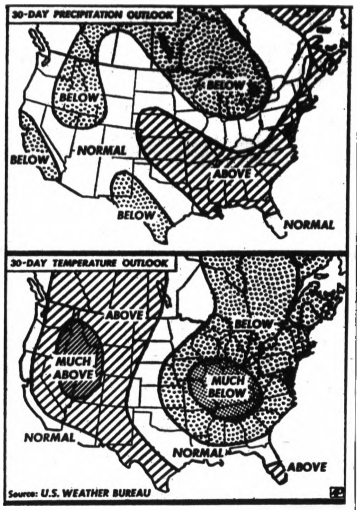

IONIA (UPI) — "Loudmouth publicity seeking" by Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey was responsible for his releasing two letters from inmates complaining of mistreatment at Ionia State Hospital, Ionia County Prosecutor Walter Marks said yesterday.

Harvey said the letters claimed criminal sexual psycopaths were being beaten and intimidated because they complained about treatment.

"It sounds like some loudmouth publicity seeking by someone who isn't aware of the rules," Marks said. "If he had any real concern, he would have reported it to the attorney general . . . not used the news media as a scandalmonger."

Ionia State Hospital Superintendent Dr. A. A. Birzgalis yesterday acknowledged stricter security measures because of recent events evolving from the escape of several criminal sexual psycopaths.

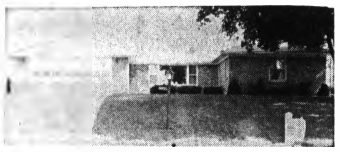

Ionia County Sheriff Gary Newton described Harvey as "young and aggressive" but said his criticism was not justified.

Death of Man Found in Park Pen Is Probed

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Police continued an investigation today in the death of a 42-year-old Macon man whose body was discovered in an abandoned monkey pen at a downtown park.

Detective Chief W. H. Bargeron said officials have ruled strangulation in the death of Quitman Shelton.

The detective said Shelton's body was discovered Friday by an 8-year-old girl who told him she had gone into the abandoned building looking for the monkeys that once were housed there.

Bargeron said Shelton had been missing since Tuesday.

Job Corpsmen to Pick Up Fish

LUDINGTON (AP) — The federal government is ordering 600 Job Corps trainees to clean up the Lake Michigan shore line littered by millions of dead and decaying fish.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., reported the government action today after officials asked that the shore line be declared a national disaster area.

The vast incidence of the dying fish, called alewives, "has been the most severe since the menace began in the Great Lakes back in the early 1950s," Griffin said.

He said if the fish continued to pile up and rot on beaches, it "could become both health and pollution hazards."

The Ludington Chamber of Commerce contacted Griffin's office and sent a telegram to Gov. George Romney, asking Thursday that President Johnson declare the beaches a disaster area.

The Job Corps trainees will be assigned to the fish cleanup from the Ft. Custer training center near Battle Creek and the Hoxie Conservation Center near Manistee, Griffin said.

The trainees were ordered to the task by the Office of Economic Opportunity after Griffin contacted the department's head, R. Sargent Shriver.

Lew Soli, Ludington Chamber of Commerce vice President, said the alewife die-off "not only affected the tourist business, but also constituted a health hazard."

A bill was introduced in the U.S. House Thursday, asking for a $5-million appropriation to find a solution to the alewife problem.

The fish have been washing up dead in millions along the lake shores, smelling up the beaches, and closing down some Michigan resorts.

Authorities have said that the best way to eliminate the problem would be to stock the Great Lakes with predator trout and coho salmon, which feed on the fish.

Widow Wants to 'Beat the Traffic'--- Needs Tip on Snaring Friend's Mate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is a very nice-looking, well-to-do gentleman in this town whose wife is dying of cancer. No one knows how much longer she'll last, but she's in the hospital now, so the end is probably near.

ABBY

This gentleman would make a fine husband, and I know that the minute his wife dies there will be a rush of widows and divorcees at his doorstep.

I would like to beat the traffic, but I don't know how to go about it without being obvious. Got any ideas? Would it be O.K. to invite him to my apartment for dinner some night?

Or would it be more subtle to fix a nice hot meal and send it over to his house? Any advice you have on this subject would be appreciated. Keep my name and city confidential, please.

WIDE AWAKE WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Sorry, I can't help you "beat the traffic," but since you've asked for advice on the subject, quit scheming! You'd fool no one. Least of all the gentleman.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: If a man is married to a woman who is "cold," or always "too tired" to satisfy her husband's physical needs, he gets a lot of sympathy. And if he should go elsewhere for what he's missing at home, no one blames him.

But how about a woman? She can be love-starved for years, and if she so much as looks at another man, she's considered a tramp.

Well, I'm not a tramp, Abby. I'm a decent, normal woman who has been married for 16 years to a man who has given me a fine home, children, financial security, and companionship. But for the last four years his interest in sex has diminished to nothing.

We are both in our early forties, and I think we are much too young to consider the physical side of our marriage finished. Or am I wrong? I've tried everything to revive his interest in me, but it's hopeless. He refuses to discuss it, and he won't see a doctor. Meanwhile I'm left frustrated.

I've never been unfaithful in my life, although I have had chances. I am attractive, look younger than my years, and lately I have been wondering if perhaps an affair on the side would save my husband's face, and our marriage? Or am I rationalizing? Woman to woman, what do you think?

ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: Woman to woman, I think you ought to tell your husband that if he values his marriage he had better see a doctor for a thorough check-up. He could have a physical disorder which he ought to know about.

If it's not "physical," that's still another problem; but it's not normal for a man his age to have lost all interest in sex. Let him know you love him, but have serious doubts about how much longer you can remain faithful. Leave the rest to him.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056

Will Meet on Tuesday

At Meadow Brook

Sunday Schedule Changes

Oakland University's Meadow Brook Festival will change its Sunday series performance time from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 beginning today in response to hundreds of requests. Grounds will open at 5:30 p.m. for picnics and buffet service.

* * *

Hiroyuki Iwaki will guest conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra this Sunday with soprano Jane Marsh the soloist. She will be heard in arias from Refice's "Cecilia" and Verdi's "Otello" on a program which includes Mayuzumi's "Bugaku" Suite and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor.

* * *

On Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., the Meadow Brook School of Music Orchestra will appear in the Baldwin Pavilion with Robert Shaw and James Levine sharing the podium.

Shaw will conduct Haydn's Symphony No. 92 in G major ("Oxford") and Levine will direct Debussy's "La Mer" and Berg's Violin Concerto with Cleveland Orchestra member Jerome Rosin as soloist.

* * *

Thursday, Friday, and next Saturday at 8:30 p.m., and next Sunday at 7:30, Sixten Ehrling wil return from three guest engagements with the Philadelphia Orchestra for the Festival performances with Van Cliburn, pianist, as soloist.

BRAHMS CONCERTO

Cliburn wil play the Brahms Concerto No. 2 in B flat major Thursday and Friday on a program which will also feature the world premiere of Eugene Zador's Concerto for Trombone with Allen Chase as soloist.

Franz Berwald's Tragic Overture to "Estrella de Soria" and William Kraft's "Concerto Grosso" are also scheduled.

Saturday and Sunday Cliburn will play the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 3 in D minor on a program which will include Irwin Bazelon's Symphony No. 2 ("Testimonial to a Big City") and Berg's Violin Concerto with Gordon Staples the soloist.

Apparel Industry Closes Preview of What Women Expect for Fall

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's all over now but the buying.

New York's apparel industry has paraded full scale its feminine fashions for fall and winter for both store buyers and news media.

* * *

Now all you women need to do is assess, assort, and line up the assets for additions to your wardrobes.

There's something for everyone in a season in which some of the kookiest of clothes have emerged, and scared women half to death at the thought of wearing them.

HEM REASSURING

Be assured, not all hemlines are at mid-thigh. And there are some of the most beautifully cut, handsomely designed, and becoming clothes any fashion season ever has produced.

If you have good legs, this IS your year. Never has fashion lavished so much attention on this part of the anatomy.

* * *

There are the designers who show hems splitting the kneecap or an inch or so above. And, featured along with short skirts in many collections is the "midi-skirt," a new name for an old length, about mid-calf.

But a drastic drop soon. No, said some individual designers and manufacturers. "Skirt lengths don't change much," said Vincent Monte Sano, "even though Paris may try to give longer skirts a big push." Paris couturiers begin their fall and winter showings July 24.

COLOR BINGE

Certainly the hosiery industry is banking on continuation of the above-knee hemlines. It's off on a binge of color.

Look for daytime hosiery in texture boucles, crochets and knits, for knee highs for wear with town suits as well as with shorts. More tights are being made to eliminate that gap between short skirt and stocking top.

* * *

In footwear, watch for the blunt toe eliminating the pointed one, continued popularity of the low heel, but with some heels higher, to about two inches—what once was called the medium heel.

Boots go with everything, and the newest ones are of soft kids or vinyls, and reach well above the knees.

Most of the focus for fall is on legs, but there's room elsewhere for changes too. Start with what the milliners have in mind.

OTHER TRENDS:

Hair Styles—Some stylists call for curl, others say a smooth but not sleek "do." The shorter lengths prevail and hair pieces are more varied than ever with pin-on curls favored over the straight "fall."

Makeup—The no-color look is giving way to delicate pinks and cinnamon tones. Eye makeup goes on heavily, still, and the newest thing some of the models wear are painted-on eyelashes drawn right up to meet the eyebrow.

She Certainly May Refuse Guest Liquor

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer who asked that she remain anonymous.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: When a hostess gives a party and one of her guests is drinking too much, can she refuse to serve him any more liquor? We live in the suburbs and many of our friends have to drive back to the city after a party and I feel it my responsibility that they get home safely.

Is there a tactful way to handle this situation? — Mrs. A. B.

Dear Mrs. A. B.: She certainly can refuse to serve more liquor to any guest who has had too much to drink. She can also ask a friend to drive him home, and she can, if necessary, ask someone to take his car keys so that he cannot drive himself.

Or she and her husband can call a cab for him, or insist that he stay overnight with them. It may not be tactful, but the direct approach is necessary to keep him from killing himself, or someone else on the road.

Convention Discussed

Chapter 4, Pontiac Blue Star Mothers, met recently in the Commerce Road home of Mrs. Lettie Hancock. The matter of delegates to attend the annual convention in Phoenix, Ariz. was discussed and tabled. Mrs. George Leinenger and Mrs. Herman Dennis were named to attend the 25th anniversary of Chapter 30 of Detroit, on Tuesday.

* * *

Luncheon and games concluded the meeting.

Union Lake Home Site of Local Sorority Party

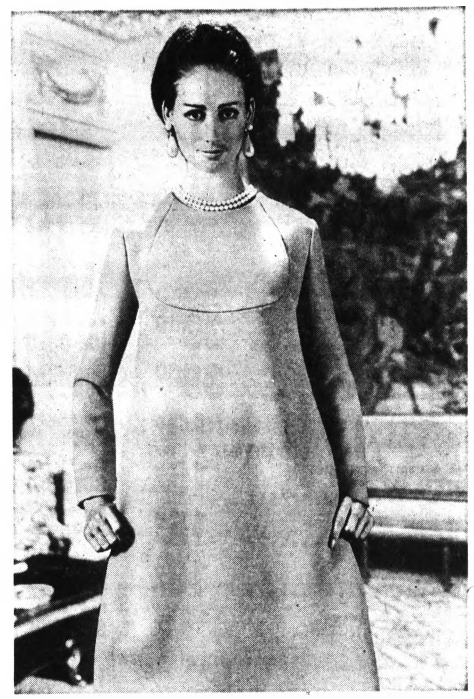

Beta Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority had its annual summer party recently at the home of Mrs. John Orosey of Union Lake.

* * *

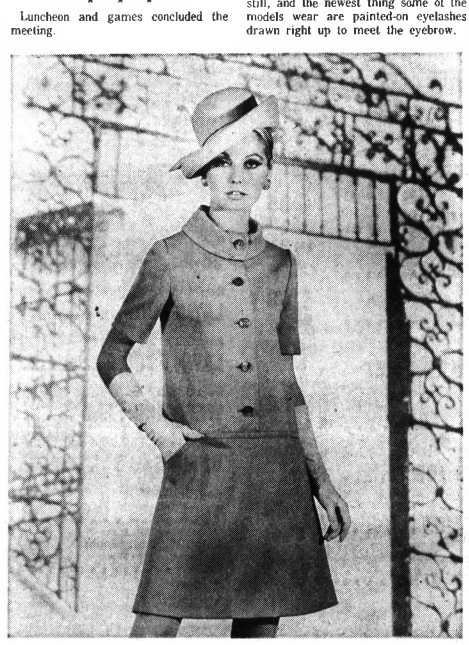

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Rudy Mazza, Mrs. Edgar Plympton and Mrs. Rex Parker.

Relaxing around the pool were: Mrs. Ralph Allen, Mrs. Jere Donaldson, Mrs. James George, Mrs. Gordon Irwin, Mrs. William Leigh, Mrs. Fred Mueller and Mrs. Donald Murphy.

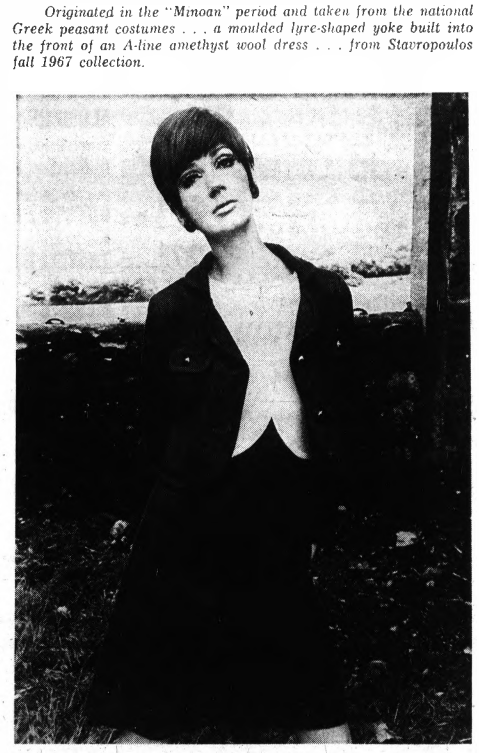

Mrs. Peter Neill, Mrs. Joseph Orosey, Mrs. Carl Rose, Mrs. Jerry Strang, Mrs. Robert Thatcher, Mrs. Dorsey Underwood, Mrs. James Vincent and Mrs. Robert Williams were also present.

Originated in the "Minoan" period and taken from the national Greek peasant costumes . . . a moulded lyre-shaped yoke built into the front of an A-line amethyst wool dress . . . from Stavropoulos fall 1967 collection.

Chartreuse wool jersey dress, fully silk lined, with dropped waistline from Malcolm Starr's fall 1967 collection designed by Elinor Simmons. Welt seaming accents the rolled collar and gently shaped skirt.

From Kimberly's fall 1967 collection . . . A costume in indigo and oatmeal wool knit. Brief scalloped jacket has rounded lapels and the dress a contrasting scalloped bodice.

Hayley Mills Out to Show She's No Longer a Child

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The more avid movie fans long have displayed a reluctance to allow their favorites to grow up. Many followers of Judy Garland still see her as the wide-eyed Dorothy of "Wizard of Oz" searching over the rainbow, rather than as a woman with more than the unsual troubles of middle age.

THOMAS

Likewise those who have followed the career of Hayley Mills—you loved her in "Parent Trap," thrilled to her in "Summer Magic"—will find trouble adjusting to the new image in which she has cast herself, on and off the screen.

Hayley visited here after a six-city tour in which she exhibited her new self. Significantly, she has been accompanied by Roy Boulting, the coproducer-director, with his twin brother, John, of her latest film, and with whom she is unabashedly in love.

This despite the facts that he is 53 and still married.

"The divorce has been going on for four long years," remarked Haley, who recently turned 21. "Such things move very slowly in England."

* *

"As for our future plans, I can't say, really," added Boulting, a slender man with hair combed over his forehead, Beatle style.

"If I were to say I can scarcely wait to be divorced so I can marry Hayley, it might very well prejudice my case. The British courts are funny, that way; they like to make the final determination."

The new film, "The Family Way," also seems likely to upset the Hayley Mills fans. She has gone the way of all flesh for actresses nowadays.

The film features a controversial scene in which she steps out of a bathtub and is viewed from the rear. The sequence almost caused "The Family Way" to be condemned by the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures.

Boulting said that he had received "an impassioned telecall" from a Warner Bros. executive, importuning him to come to New York and discuss the matter with the Catholic officials. The director was told that the 70-odd reviewers for the group thought the film was excellent, yet it could not be passed because of strictures against nudity in films.

* *

"Then I suggest you return to your bishops and have them change the rules against nudity; I will not take out the scene," declared Boulting after due consultation.

Later he was notified that the condemned rating had been changed to "recommended for adults with reservations."

Hawley expects the new film to remove forever "the Pollyanna-Walt Disney" aura which has marked her career.

Gasoline Card Fraud Charged

DETROIT (UPI) — Seven operators of gasoline stations in the Detroit area yesterday were charged with conspiracy in what was described as a $100,000 gasoline credit card fraud.

Wayne County Presecutor William Cahalan described the operation as a method of using "lost" cards to defraud Standard Oil Co. He said the fraud started early this year when a man sold a lost credit card to the operator of a Standard station.

The operators of the stations would then use the cards to turn in false bills for payment to the company. All of the cards used had been lost by their owners.

Standard Oil Co. spokesmen said the company would bear the entire loss and no holder of one of the cards used would suffer any financial loss.

* * *

Cahalan said Raymond McKamey began the scheme by going around to stations and ask if his card had been left by mistake. The attendants checked through cards that had been forgotten by customers and McKamey would remember one of the names.

After the first attendant was off duty, McKamey would return to the station and claim one of the cards which bore a name he had memorized earlier. McKamey was named a co-conspirator because he agreed to testify against those charged in the conspiracy.

Marshall Mum on 5th Amendment at Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Thurgood Marshall, it was almost like pleading the Fifth Amendment on the Fifth Amendment.

* * *

The nominee to the Supreme Court was asked at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing Friday how he interpreted the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which prevents an individual from being required to incriminate himself in testimony.

* * *

Marshall declined to answer on grounds that "any statement I made construing the Fifth Amendment would require me to disqualify myself" from future Supreme Court cases on the subject.

* * *

The first Negro nominated to the high court again refused to give his over-all opinion of Supreme Court rulings on confessions — a refusal which, for the second consecutive day, appeared to irritate some Southern Democratic members of the committee.

"If you don't have any opinion on what the Constitution means, you ought not to be confirmed," snapped Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

Marshall, now U.S. solicitor general, suggested committee members check his previous opinions as a U.S. Appeals Court judge or his briefs as solicitor general to learn his views.

A majority of the committee already has spoken in favor of Marshall's confirmation by the Senate.

The Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine in New York City has been under construction since 1891, but is still only two-thirds complete.

Neat Brick Home Of The Paul Karr Family Located On Halberd Drive In Commerce Township

Green-Gold Walls, Sculptured Gold Carpeting And White Dacron Batiste Draperies Set Living Room Background

Franklin Stove With Gas-Fired Ceramic Logs Adds Cheery Note And A Warming Atmosphere To Family Room

Lana, 18, Larry, 14, And Laddy Take A Lemonade Break On Patio

Early American Sets Theme

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Mrs. Paul Karr casts her vote for an Early American interior blending modern adaptations of old favorites and family pieces passed down through the generations.

* * *

Starting with the sculptured olive green carpeting, she chose a deceiving green-gold for her living room wall coloring. In the light of day, the walls appear gold but as the light diminishes they take on a definite olive green cast.

A brass fireplace basket holds magazines beside the wing back sofa covered in a shade of brown on white print depicting the manufacture of paper during the early colonial days.

Brown candles in brass candlesticks, a brass candle snuffer and a plastic fruit arrangement in a wooden container add decorator touches to the miniature maple trestle table before the sofa.

* * *

Grouped before the room's picture window are a maple dough box and a Hitchcock rocker. The cut looped chair pad was designed and made by the Karrs' daughter Lana as a school project.

CHECKED GINGHAM

A coffee grinder lamp of wrought iron and maple topped by a red checked gingham over parchment shade lights the grouping.

Colored glass bottles introduce bright spots of color to the window ledge. Draping the window are dacron batiste tie-backs.

In the efficiently designed kitchen Mrs. Karr continues the Early American theme with a pine dry sink.

* * *

Colorful fresh peonies fill an old salt glaze jug in the dropped portion of the sink while on the drying ledge stands a frosted cut crystal spoon goblet which belonged to Mrs. Karr's grandmother.

* * *

On the wall are two spice racks, a black iron trivet, kitchen prints and a wooden butter paddle and pestle discovered in an antique shop. A ladder-back maple chair with a reed seat completes the grouping.

In the nearby family room, added onto the existing house some years ago the colonial trend continues. Brass appointments gleam on the black Franklin stove.

"It originally burned logs," said Mrs. Karr, "but they proved to be quite a nuisance so we converted to the gas-fired ceramic logs and they are ideal.

* * *

"The fire looks real, the heat is welcome and there are no ashes to have to empty and clean out."

* * *

The lantern lamp on the maple square table serving the room's loveseat was made by Mr. Karr.

* * *

The maple framed loveseat and matching chairs are covered in a primitive print of brown, gold, white and pale pumpkin.

first sight because of its angled plan and imposing stone chimney.

The basic house is set at an angle from the rest of the structure, which comprises the porch, laundry, bath, workshop and two-car garage. The porch itself is another interesting feature, a large "sitting" area popular in certain types of houses many years ago.

It stretches 17' and serves as a weather protection for the front entrance and a protected walk between the house and the garage, as well as being an ideal place for outdoor relaxation.

Be Prepared and Avoid

Ready-Mix Concrete Problems

You can mix your own concrete from a portland cement, sand, gravel and water, or you can buy the dry ingredients pre-mixed and just add water. Or you can buy ready-mixed concrete and eliminate all that work of mixing. You just pick up a phone and place an order.

But using ready-mixed concrete has its own problems — not great ones, to be sure, but matters important to a good job.

You have to know how much concrete is needed, when it will be delivered, how closely it can be delivered to the job area.

You will need extra help and enough tools on hand when it arrives, for there is no waiting around with concrete.

SOLD BY YARD

Concrete is sold by the cubic yard and most ready-mix companies will deliver one cubic yard or more. If you need less, mix your own.

There are charts for finding the proper amount of concrete. Just remember that it is in cubic yards — figure the volume by multiplying length, width and thickness in feet or fractions of feet and divide by 27.

How thick should it be? For a patio or walk, three to four inches should be enough. Make a driveway at least six inches thick.

Ready-mix companies cannot run out with an order the day you call. Order in advance. If it is a small order — four cubic yards or less — give plenty of notice, sice the company combines such orders to make a full load.

* * *

Clear a path so that the driver can get as close as possible to the work area. If he can't get to the form, you will have to haul the concrete in a wheelbarrow the additional distance.

This is time-consuming and back-breaking work and can cost extra for holding up the truck.

Use 2x12 planks over your drive if you think the truck may be too heavy for it, or over your lawn (if it is necessary to that way), but the lawn must be dry.

If there is a septic tank or oil tank buried in the area, avoid driving over that spot.

HARDENS IMMEDIATELY

Concrete starts to harden as soon as it's poured. You could probably handle it yourself when you mix your own a bag at a time, but for large amounts, have at least one person to help.

Have all the necessary tools — shovels, rakes, wheelbarrow, strikeoff board, floats and trowel.

If you fill the form from the farthest end and keep pouring fresh concrete into the end of the stuff already poured, you will cut handling to the minimum.

Forms should be in and finished before the truck arrives. Once the ready-mixed is poured, the finishing is the same as if you had mixed your own.

Paint Request Is Answered

QUESTION: I have three separate questions and would appreciate if you can answer all of them, since I will be doing the work when my vacation comes up next month.

I intend to paint our house, which is made of cinder block. What type of paint is best for this kind of surface, which was previously painted before I bought the house and which seems to be in good condition?

I also will be painting our garage, which has asbestos cement shingles. Can I use the same paint for the garage as for the house?

And, finally, there is a tool shed in the yard which I also want to paint. It appears to be redwood, although I am not sure. There is no paint on it now. What is your advice about this?

ANSWER: Because cinder block has both acid and alkaline in it, oil paints are not recommended.

POOL PAINT

Your house and garage with the same paint, although exterior latex paint formulated for use on masonry could also be used.

As for the redwood, don't paint it unless you want to change its color.

Use clear water repellent to retain its natural look as well as preserve it, although it usually will hold well without a coating.

TOMORROW — Austere but exciting is this dramatic study designed by Albert Herbert, A.I.D., in the international modern style. The strong outlines of furniture and architecture are softened by the shaggy texture of the carpet. Tomorrow's heirlooms, the chaise by Le Corbusier and the Marcel Breuer chair, silhouetted against a brilliant blue wall, dominate the uncluttered room.

Buy Home Today Says S&L Man

If you're thinking about a new home, now's the time to buy, in the opinion of Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League.

Strunk, writing in American Home magazine, said: "It seems foolish for families to deny themselves the privilege of buying their first home or upgrading their present housing in hope of a low-cost tomorrow which may never come."

The decreasing number of homes being built, plus increased costs of labor, materials and mortgages, makes it unwise for home purchasers to wait until "things go down," Strunk feels.

He said the tight money of 1966 provided few buyer prospects to the home seller. As a result, there are many bargains among existing homes on the market today for a shrewd buyer.

To judge the value of an older house, the article suggested, note how well-kept it is compared with its neighbors.

SUBTRACT

Deduct from the asking price the price of the lot, plus $1,000 for a one-car garage, $2,000 for a two-car garage.

Measure the square footage of each room of the house and divide this into the above dollar value to determine the approximate price per square foot.

Buyers are advised to:

• Be wary of buying the most expensive house in the area; the less valuable houses around it may depress its value.

* * *

Conversely, the lower priced house in the neighborhood, due to surrounding houses, may have its value raised.

• Check the condition of paint, rainspouts, siding, roofing, and the possibility of water leakage in the basement.

Wallcovering Is an Animal Skin

There's a jungle beat headed ed for walls simulated animal skins — leopard, tiger and zebra — are among designs in a new group of flocked wall coverings.

Flocked wallcoverings, long associated with the Victorian period, are gaining in importance on the contemporary furnishings scene as smart clubs, restaurants and theatres used raised patterns on their walls.

* * *

The new collection contains flocks on flocks, prints on flocks multi-color flocks and flocks on foils.

Paint Edges With Care

When painting into corners, don't poke or jab them with a large brush.

This will cause a puddle of paint to form and you will be sacrificing neat, finished edges.

Cut in around corners with a trimmer designed for that job.

Know Your Sandpapers

Since clear finishing materials — varnish, shellac, lacquer, etc. — tend to magnify rather than hide surface irregularities, it is especially important that wood to be coated with these products is ultra smooth.

How much sanding is necessary to produce the desired result depends on whether the wood is very rough, slightly rough or fairly smooth before you go to work on it.

It calls for the use of the proper abrasive paper, generally called sandpaper, although none of the many varieties contains any sand.

Sandpaper for many years was graded according to numbers. The professional knew what all the numbers meant, but the amateur found them a headache, especially when he discovered that there were two sets of numbers meaning entirely different things.

Manufacturers of abrasive materials began to see the necessity of revising their grading designations.

LABELED

Today, most sandpaper comes labeled with words that mean something . . . fine, medium, coarse and very coarse, among others.

Sandpaper is made of different kinds of minerals. The most common of these minerals is white quartz, which we know as flint.

Flint sandpaper is usually the cheapest and has many uses in light work, but is neither as tough nor as hard as other types.

Garnet paper, made of red quartz, is hard and durable and a fine all-purpose sandpaper for the woodworker.

Emery paper is even tougher, which is why it is used so much on metal. Two of the other minerals used for making sandpaper, aluminum oxide and silicon, rank close to diamonds in hardness and are made by fusing materials in an electric furnace.

and are made by fusing materials in an electric furnace.

Because they are so hard, aluminum oxide or silicon can be used on both woods and metal and will stand up well under heavy-duty power sanding.

All of these abrasives come in grades, ranging from very fine to very coarse. They also come in open or closed coatings.

An open coating means the mineral particles on the backing are spaced far apart. This allows the sanded material to fall free without clogging the sandpaper and so can be used for removing paint or working on old finishes or gummy surfaces.

A closed coating means the mineral particles are close together on the paper and is the type used for most general sanding.

* * *

Coarse sandpaper is used for removing irregularities, medium for smoothing the wood and fine for sanding between coats and to prepare the wood for the finishing material.

There are some refinements of these fundamentals, which you will learn from experience, but if you observe the fundamentals you will not go far wrong.

Most sanding is done with the grain of the wood. There are some power sanders which permit sanding in any direction, but the instructions that come with these machines will fill you in on that.

When doing hand sanding, the paper must be backed by a wood or metal block or by a rubber or felt pad. There are ready - made sanding blocks available in any of these materials.

* * *

The finer the sanding being done, the more important it is that the backing have a "give" to it.

Thus, if you were doing very coarse sanding, you would use a metal block; a little less coarse sanding, you would use wood with rubber and felt pads for fine sanding.

Psychology in Furniture

Furniture to grow up with is taking the place of parents' castoffs in the bedrooms of American children, says William P. Kemp, Sr., a furniture manufacturer.

That's good psychology for child-raising as well as good business for him, says Kemp.

As he sees it, sturdy, attractive and easy-to-clean furniture designed to grow up with children, using styling which will appeal to them now and as they grow older, is good psychology.

Children develop a sense of permanence from keeping the same things, and have a pride of ownership which leads them to take better care of their possessions, Kemp believes.

He even feels children will take an interest in picking up their rooms if the furniture is theirs.

Furniture that "grows up with the children" can include bunk beds which can become singles later, desks with lots of drawer space, and toy chests which can become hope chests for girls.

Auto Vacuum Proves Handy

A new super suction vacuum for autos plugs into the car cigarette lighter for on-the-spot cleaning.

Its miniaturized high-speed motor outdistances most home vacuums, the manufacturer reports.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIAN GAMES

QUESTION: What kind of games did Indians play?

* * *

ANSWER: Most Indian men were busy hunting animals for food or making war on enemy tribes. The women took care of the children, cooked the food, made the clothes. The games of Indian children prepared them for these grown-up activities.

When they reached 7 or 8, the boys began to play games which would develop their strength and cunning, such as the war game.

Two bands of boys would put feathers in their hair, separate and hide in the woods, then sneak up and try to grab the enemy's feathers. Or they might play hoop target by rolling a hoop along and trying to throw a spear through it while in motion.

As the boys grew to men, they played many active games, such as racing, and various games with balls, one of which (main picture) developed into the well-known game of lacrosse.

Indian girls had dolls to play with, often beautifully decorated.

The Indians also liked to play guessing games, such as holding a group of sticks in a closed fist, with certain sticks marked. Then the other side would guess where the marked sticks were being held.

Canada to Harness Waterfall

CHURCHILL FALLS, Labrador (AP) — A billion-dollar project to utilize power asleep since the Ice Age is being born here.

Churchill Falls, which drops farther than Niagara and inspired the project, will disappear in the seven years it takes to develop production of 4½-million kilowatts of electricity for distribution in eastern Canada and probably the United States.

* * *

This is described as the largest single-site power project in the world.

Monday, Newfoundland's Premier Joseph Smallwood will formally break ground. Alongside him will be Winston Churchill, grandson of Sir Winston Churchill.

MADE INTRODUCTION

In 1952, Sir Winston introduced Smallwood to Edmund L. De Rothschild, British banker. That led to formation of the British Newfoundland Corp., and the renaming of Grand Falls as Churchill falls and of the Hamilton River as Churchill River.

A preliminary bridge-building project was completed in 1964.

* * *

Then the venture was delayed pending agreement on disposal of power.

Last October, Hydro-Electric, a corporation owned by Quebec Province, agreed to buy from Churchill Falls Labrador Corp. all the electricity not needed by Newfoundland for its own ore and industrial development. Hydro-Electric, spending $300 million on the lines, will pick up the power at the Quebec border. The basic project, including lines to the border, will cost $800 million.

* * *

The source of power is the fact that the river in 16 miles drops almost twice the fall of the entire Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system from Lake Superior to tidewater. The Churchill Falls themselves drop 245 feet.

Officials Alarmed

N. Koreans Step Up Raids

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — American and South Korean military officials are alarmed at sharply increasing guerrilla-type harassment activities by North Korean Communists.

It affects areas far south of the military demarcation line separating South Korea from the Communist North.

* * *

Disguised in dark green South Korean combat uniforms, North Korean army regulars launched a series of ambushes and raids south of the truce zone during recent weeks.

One took place about 60 miles northeast of Seoul July 1 a few hours after President Chung Hee Park was sworn in for his second four-year term.

SEVEN KILLED

Seven South Koreans, including two officers, were killed when a group of over 10 North Koreans threw hand grenades and fired submachine guns

* * *

Nearly 50 South Korean soldiers have been killed since January in gunfights with intruders.

Maj. Gen. Marvin C. Demler, senior U.N. Command delegate, reported at a Joint Military Armistice Commission meeting recently that 15 North Korean soldiers were killed in nine encounters between June 28 and July 5.

CONCERNED?

Can you measure the value of examinations and diagnosis? The fee paid your doctor is not alone for what he does — it also compensates him for his knowledge of what to do and what not to do.

Likewise there are years of research, study and experience that are a part of every prescription dispensed by your pharmacist. When your doctor hands you a prescription for one of the new drugs and you get it filled — the cost may seem a high price to pay.

But think what that prescription may do for you . . . get you well, get you back on the job sooner — and even possibly save your life.

Sylvan Lake Church Calls New Pastor

REV. J. S. SCHALKHAUSER

When the Rev. James A. Schalkhauser decided to enter the ministry he was doing what comes naturally for a Schalkhauser.

He is the fifth in his family to answer the pastoral call, following his father, grandfather and two uncles.

The Rev. Mr. Schalkhauser who was installed last Sunday as pastor of the Sylvan Lake Lutheran Church (his first parish) had this to say of his pastoral lineage: "There seems to be a natural tendency in our family toward the theological. I'm sure it had an influence on entering the ministry."

The church is located at 2399 Figa just off of Orchard Lake Road.

His ordination on June 18 at St. James Lutheran Church in Detroit was a family affair.

His father, the Rev. E. H. Schalkhauser, once pastor of that church and now regional director of evangelism for the American Lutheran Church, delivered the sermon.

An uncle, the Rev. Harry Schalkhauser, now retired, performed the ordination rites.

PASTORS IN FAMILY

Other pastors in the family include his grandfather, the late Rev. Carl Schalkhauser of Reedsburg, Wis.; another uncle, Carl Schalkhauser, administrator at the Lutheran Home in Oconomowoc, Wis.

And there's also a brother-in-law, the Rev. Richard Anderson of Artesian, S. Dak.

A graduate of Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, the new pastor completed his training at Wartburg Theological Seminary.

He interned at the First Lutheran Church in Blue Island, Ill., then taught a year at the parochial school of that church.

On Aug. 15, 1964 he married the former Joan Emmert of Mt. Cloud, Minn.

Pastor Schalkhauser was born Sept. 16, 1949, in Slayton, Minn. His hobbies are photography, repairing and building radio and TV sets, and creative design.

Noted Preachers to Speak

The Rev. George A. Buttrick will deliver his second guest sermon of the summer at Kirk in the Hills tomorrow. His sermon topic at both the 9:30 and 11:30 morning services will be "Loneliness."

* * *

Dr. Buttrick who spoke last Sunday at the Kirk is one of America's most celebrated Protestant preachers. Currently he serves as professor of preaching at Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Ill.

This marks the ninth summer Dr. Buttrick has delivered sermons from the Kirk's pulpit.

Former pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City and preacher to the University of Harvard, he is the author of numerous books and was general editor of the Interpreter's Bible, a 12-volume commentary on the Holy Scriptures.

The Kirk School will hold two sessions in the Abbey concurrently with the worship services. The full Chancel Choir will also sing at both hours.

CHURCH OF CHRIST WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Hobart Ashby, minister of the Garden City Church of Christ, will be the featured speaker in a series of meetings at Waterford Township Church of Christ, 4991 Williams Lake.

* * *

The series opening tomorrow will continue through July 23 with services daily at 8 p.m. Sunday worship hours are 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Dan Woodroof, minister of the church, will direct congregational singing.

Mr. Woodroof said the series of meetings entitled "Learning to Live" is designed to share the joy of discovering the truth as revealed in the Bible, to invite a study of the Bible, and to bring a plea for restoring the religion as revealed in the New Testament.

FIRST METHODIST

John Voegeli, associate director of Michigan Temperance Foundation, will be guest speaker at morning worship tomorrow in First Methodist Church. His theme is "The Sin of Silence."

Voegeli came to MTF with a college background in theology and speech. In addition to his present work he is continuing his education in the field of political science at Michigan State University.

A major part of his responsibility is in working with the State Legislature as a registered lobbyist for the Temperance Foundation.

With a major concern in the area of both liquor and gambling legislation, the MTF is the only church-related interdenominational organization to have a registered lobbyist at the State Capitol in Lansing.

His responsibility also includes sharing the MTF education program which reaches nearly 100,000 teenagers a year.

How Much Will It Cost?

This is a good question to ask when approached by persons offering to do services for you.

If this had been done by several persons who called us about types of service they might have been saved considerable money. List the things to be done for the price quoted.

Don't give money to men you hire to work around your property until they have finished the work. Cases are reported where these men have collected amounts to purchase material for the work they are doing and then never return to complete the job. Be sure you get a receipt for any and all work done by men who are not employees of business firms, but are doing work for themselves. This will save any dispute about bills being rendered at a later date.

Be a little smarter than they are—deal only with reliable local firms.

INSTALLMENT No. 30

CHAPTER 30

THERE were no two ways about it. The man and his car were gone, and with them my valise. As far as I could see up and down the canal, nothing floated on its glassy water but the rowboat we had been moored to.

I had thrust the automatic into my hip pocket. I reached for it, and a familiar voice said, "No, that would be a mistake."

I turned to face the speaker, my hand conspicuously away from my pocket. The man I knew as Fra Pietro was not wearing his robe now but was dressed in a badly wrinkled silk suit. The patches of sweat showing through the jacket made plain the martyrdom he must have been suffering, wearing that suit beneath a heavy robe in the sweatbox of a compartment on the Milan-Venice train.

There were other striking differences in his appearance, too. The freshly shaved tonsure was hidden by a jaunty beret, the eyes distorted behind the strong glasses were cold with menace, and that beautifully manicured hand held not an olive branch, but a deadly-looking long-barreled pistol aimed square at my chest.

"Hands up, please," repeated the make-believe Fra Pietro, and when I still disregarded the command he said patiently, "Don't be stubborn. Your boatman has been paid off and sent away; you're stuck here; accept the situation."

"Are you from the police?" I said.

"Hardly. I am Pietro Cimino."

Then a voice hailed me. Henri de Villemont's.

"Monsieur Davis."

From the direction of it, he had taken up a position not far from Cimino's, but I wasn't going to verify that by raising my head into the line of fire.

"Yes?"

"Don't you think the time has come for us to settle matters between us, Monsieur Davis?"

"On what terms, Colonel?"

"Excellent terms. More than you deserve." The voice hardened. "And I am a doctor not military officer. Please remember for your future well-being that it is Dr. Hubert Morillon you are dealing with.

"Well?" said de Villemont impatiently.

"I'm sorry, Doctor." I said heavy stress on the "doctor." "It's hard for me to discuss anything with a gun at my head."

"That's easily solved. Take a look, monsieur, and you'll see I have much more faith in you than you have in me."

I did too then. He had moved away from my concealment and stood there in the middle of the clearing before me, the easiest target in the world, even for a small-caliber automatic like the one I had trained on him.

"You see?" de Villemont held his arms wide. "And as for my man—" He half turned and made a sharp gesture toward Cimino's place of concealment. However the gunman felt about it, one didn't lightly disobey that sort of command from Henri de Villemont. Slowly and reluctantly, Cimino appeared from behind his tree, and as de Villemont continued to stare hard at him, even more slowly and reluctantly thrust his gun away in a shoulder holster.

I got up and walked around the hull of the boat toward de Villemont, keeping the automatic on him, and making sure he stood between Cimino and me.

"What gives you such faith in me, Doctor?"

"Your understanding of your position, Monsieur Davis. Any attempt to kill me would, therefore, mean your own death, and, of course, Fra me's Beyond that, where will you go, what will you do, if by the wildest of miracles, you could dispose of both Pietro and me? Run in circles until the police catch up with you? Or even more likely, until my angry and vengeful friends do?"

"What do you offer instead?"

"Safe conduct out of the country. My boat returns here tonight, and under cover of darkness you can be started on your way to the Dalmatian coast. Later, your transportation to South America will be arranged."

"Penniless and without luggage?" I said, to sound him out. "My valise was in the boat Pietro sent away."

"Retro is not that stupid. The valise is among those trees there. And money will be provided."

"And all my other belongings? My clothing and books and manuscripts that were taken from the house on the rue d. Courcelles? What happened to them?"

"I will not dissemble," said de Villemont. "Charles Leschenhaut felt that instead of being an extraordinary fool, you might perhaps be an extraordinary clever agent of the CIA or British Intelligence. Your belongings were therefore removed to his apartment, where he could investigate them at his leisure. He has now assured me that nothing indicates you are any sort of an agent."

"Just a fool."

"Very much so. But I must admit, one who has a way of getting what he wants." There was no humor in the cold smile he gave me. "In an amazingly short time, you have won the affections of my son and my wife."

"Doctor, if we were alone—" De Villemont nodded contemptously in Cimino's direction.

"If you wish Madame as your escort when you leave tonight, I'd say I was well rid of her."

"And what then?" It was Anne. "What then, Henri?"

"Hubert," snapped de Villemont.

"Henri. Colonel Henri de Villemont." Anne almost spat out the words. "My husband, who would let his son be murdered to protect his own skin. What are the plans this time, husband? Last time, it was to be an accident in the mountains. What is it to be now? A drowning in the Adriatic?

"For Paul's sake alone, let's be honest with each other. The organization wants my money but it would be hard for them to get it until I'm proved dead. That's what you're arranging now, isn't it? Some convenient way of getting rid of me so that my body can be recovered to settle all legal questions of my will and Paul's guardianship at once!"

"My dear, if you persist in these delusions, you will most certainly wind up in the madhouse."

"I? Am I the one who butchers innocent people for the sake of an insane dream? Am I the one who made our son a hostage to a real madman like Charles Leschenhaut?"

"Yes!" de Villemont exploded. "If you had been understanding—if you had tried to make yourself my wife instead of my enemy, do you think I would have agreed to such a terrible arrangement? Do you think I love Paul less than you do? But look at where we are now, at the disaster you and Davis threaten. Isn't this proof that Charles was wise to demand such an arrangement? If it weren't for that, you would gladly have sent me, your husband, to the guillotine long ago, would have destroyed the one movement capable of making the world a fit place for my son to live in! You were the one, madame, who made the child a hostage!"

Davis has to reckon with a desperate attack.

Labor Predicts '68 End to 'Baby Boom' Job Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department foresees a 1968 end to the flood of youth into the labor market from the historic post-World War II baby boom—but first the crop will balloon by nearly one million more youngsters.

Monumental job problems raised by the record influx of 16- to 21-year-olds began in 1965.

* * *

The coming year's peak rise to about 21.5 million in the 16-21 bracket will place the severest strain on the government's nationwide youth employment campaign.

Despite that campaign headed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the massive rise in the youth population has kept the unemployment rate among youngsters more than triple the nation's over-all jobless rate.

SUBSTANTIALLY BETTER

Latest figures place the jobless rate among youths 16 to 21 at 15.2 per cent, compared with the national rate of 4 per cent among all workers. But that represented substantial improvement over 1965's youth jobless rate of 18.5 per cent.

* * *

Even though 1.6 million new jobs were found for youngsters the last two years, the youth population barely has kept its head above water in the job market.

But the government's concerted employment campaign and the rapidly expanding economy the last two years prevented a more disastrous unemployment problem among youngsters.

* * *

The big birth boom was at its height 20 years ago after World War II GIs returned home and began raising families. Thus, the job problems for those maturing youngsters come now.

RATES DECREASE

"Unemployment rates among youths tend to decrease as they move out of their teens," said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

* * *

After next year, the bulk of the postwar baby boom will have moved into the 21-year-old age group. "Unemployment rates for 16- and 17-year-olds were two to three times as high as for 20-and 21-year-olds," said a Bureau of Labor Statistics study.

* * *

Since 1965, the nation's total youth population has grown from a little over 19 million to 20.6 million. Nearly all the 1.5 million additional youngsters were working or looking for work this summer.

* * *

The number of youths in the labor force over those two years climbed from 10.5 million to more than 12 million and the number who found jobs rose from 8.6 million to 10.2 million.

MORE JOBS

Thus, about 100,000 more jobs were found than the 1.5 million increase in the number of youths looking for work.

The number of youths 16 to 21 most of them looking for jobs, will rise nearly one million next year. Government officials dealing with the youth employment problem will get a breather in 1969, when an increase of only 100,000 youngsters is expected. An increase of some 400,000 a year is expected from 1970 to 1975.

After 1975, there may be the reverse "happy problem" of having more jobs available than youngsters to fill them, said Dennis F. Johnston of the Bureau of Labor Statictics.

Economist Seeking S. Viet Presidency on Platform of Peace

SAIGON (AP) — Au Truong Thanh, a brilliant 42-year-old economist, is running for president of South Vietnam on a platform of peace. If his opponents don't get him disqualified, he will at least inject the peace issue into the campaign.

Thanh admits there's little chance he'll win. "But I intend to change the presidential elections into a referendum on the basic problems of war and peace," he said.

"The Vietnamese people are involved in a war without the opportunity to ask for peace," he said. He intends to inject peace into the campaign "so it will be more difficult for the other tickets to avoid the problems."

"I'm not a dreamer," Thanh went on, "I am quite realistic. The first job is to get to the people, to put the matter before them. Then, if they are bombed or if they step on a mine, they must tell themselves they are responsible because they did not fight for peace."

Thanh alone of the military and civilian candidates entered in the Sept. 3 presidential election is calling for a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam and South Vietnam and for serious study of how to bring peace to the country.

Educated in France, Thanh has served as economics minister in three governments, most recently under Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

* * *

The slate of Ky for vice president and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president is now expected to win.

Thanh is highly rated for his economic knowledge by Americans who dealt with him when he was in the government. Professionally, he is a successful investment counselor and lives in a large, modern house in Saigon with his wife and four children. He owns a sleek, black limousine.

National police officials have said they have proof that Thanh had ties with the Vietcong. Thanh fears he will be arrested.

Vietnamese sources report that the Provisional Assembly's Central Election Committee will recommend that Thanh's ticket be eliminated for "pro-communism and neutralism." Both are grounds for elimination under South Vietnam's new election laws.

Tax-Hike Reasons Numerous

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even without signs that the administration's predicted economic boom is near at hand, President Johnson still has plenty of weapons to use in a fight for higher income taxes.

* * *

The costs of the Vietnam war are going up, the budget deficit is widening and interest rates have been rising.

These alone add up to a persuasive argument likely to make it easier to override the skepticism Congres has expressed on the need to raise taxes.

In justifying Johnson's January recommendation for a 6 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes, administration economists leaned heavily on their forecast of an economic upturn — with renewed inflationary trends — in the last six months of 1967.

* * *

At this point there has been scant evidence to bear out their prediction, and yesterday yet another economic indicator showed little pickup from its sluggishness the last few months.

FED INDEX

This was the Federal Reserve Board's index for U.S. industrial output in June. It declined for the fifth time in the last six months, dropping three-tenths of 1 per cent to 155.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

It put the index at its lowest level since April 1966, when it was 153.9 per cent.

Declines in output of television sets, radios, furniture, appliances, industrial equipment, iron and steel and most other industrial materials in June more than offset a 4 per cent increase in auto assemblies and gains in production of oil and defense equipment.

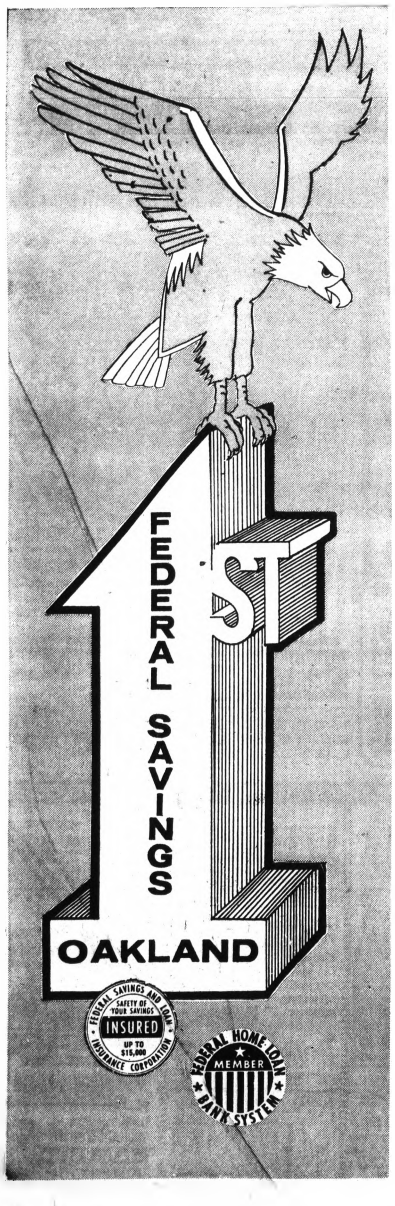

* * *

But despite the index's continued poor showing, administration economists feel it's only a matter of time before it and other indicators pick up.

OU Net Courts Have Busy Day

By JERE CRAIG

One finalist was determined in men's senior singles Friday night and the eighth annual Oakland County Open Tennis Tournament moved into its busiest day this morning at the Oakland University courts.

* * *

Veteran county tennis title contender Ralph Alee of Pontiac trimmed Milt Walton of Pontiac, 6-1, 6-1, and then battled past Pontiac's Dan Murphy, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, in a seniors' semifinal.

Murphy had eliminated Pontiac's Herb Parrot, 6-7, 6-0, in his earlier match.

Alee will have to wait to learn who his finals opponent will be next Friday.

* * *

Harvery Burdick of Pontiac struggled past Birmingham attorney Larry King, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, and is slated to meet defending seniors' champ Leon Hibbs of Pontiac at 2 p.m. today.

NEXT MATCH

That survivor then will play Walled Lake's Herm Stone — a winner over Union Lake's Hiram Jones — in the other seniors' semifinal Thursday night.

This morning play began at 9 o'clock in men's and junior singles. It continues all day, concluding with one men's doubles match at 7 p.m. — Jones and Ron Toroni meeting Gary Rogers and Roger Benter.

* * *

The junior doubles events will begin 11 a.m. tomorrow. Men's doubles will resume at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. In addition, the remainder of the first two rounds of men's singles will be played tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Providing bad weather plus the length and number of matches slated this weekend do not force week-night play next week, the survivors will resume their quest of the five net titles next Friday.

Trophies will be awarded the champions and runners-up in all five events.

All contestants are requested to appear at least 20 minutes prior to their scheduled starting time. They must provide one new ball for each match through the quarter-finals. A limited supply of balls will be sold at the courts.

ONE TOO MANY — The action is hot and heavy around third base in the seventh inning of Cincinnati-New York game last night, after the Mets Ed Charles (5) was caught off third with the bases loaded. In a rundown that ensued Charles belly-slides back into third to find teammate Ron Swoboda (4) perched on the hot corner. Swoboda was ruled out. Cincinnati players are Tommy Helms (19), Tony Perez (24), and Jim Coker (7).

Latin Linksman Leads in Open

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, the 44-year-old Argentinian, held a two-stroke lead over Gary Player of South Africa and a rallying Jack Nicklaus today with nine holes to play in the British Open Golf Championship.

Nicklaus, the defending champion from Columbus, Ohio, birdied the eighth and ninth holes to make the nine-hole turn of the final round in 35, one under par.

He picked up a shot on both de Vicenzo and Player, the leaders who were playing the final twosome of the day over the 6,995-yard, par 72 Hoylake links.

De Vicenzo, who started the final round at 208 — eight under par — and two strokes ahead of Player at 210, shot the first nine in par 36. So did Player.

This gave the Argentinian a 63-hole score of 244, with Nicklaus and Player following at 246.

A threat emerged in the form of Sebastian Miguel, the slender Spanish veteran, who had a blistering 33 on the front nine for a score of 247. With nine holes to play, he was three back of the leader and only one back of Nicklaus and Player.

"He's teaching me Spanish. I'm teaching him Scotch, and between us we're teaching ourselves how to putt."

Speaking was Willy Aitchinson, 42-year-old Scot, the caddy for Roberto de Vicenze, a 44-year-old Argentinian who moved into the final round of the 1967 British Open golf championship eight under par and two shots ahead of the field.

* * *

Willy has caddied for the late Tony Lema and many other Americans over the years and his favorite American is now a Latin.

"Roberto says to me, com'est'da or sonething that sounds like that, and I say to him, hit the putt through and don't stab it," says Willy.

De Vicenzo, after 10 tries at the British Open, still holds one of the most consistent records in it. His personable obedience to good manners plus a talent for fracturing the English language has made him one of the most popular players ever to tour the foreign circuit.

HAS 208

The Argentinian has been close before and still can be beaten. After 54 holes he stood at 208, acquired over Hoylake's 6,995-yard par 72 course in perfect conditions without the usual wind and rain.

Reconstructed recently, Hoylake surrendered its record scores — they once said breaking 70 was impossible — and De Vicenzo and Player proved that Friday with remarkably well played 67's, now the official course record.

Tigers Skid; Yanks Sweep First Twin Bill

Detroit Falls Farther Behind AL Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's gotten into the Washington Senators?

Or, what's happened to the Detroit Tigers?

The Senators are riding a five-game winning streak — the last three compliments of the Tigers, who tumbled 3-1 Firday night to absorb their fourth consecutive defeat.

In 30 tries, the Tigers managed only six hits as they fell 3½ games behind the pace-setting Chicago White Sox who split two with California.

Washington needed only five hits to drop the third place Detroiters.

Bill Freehan tied the game, 1-1, in the seventh with a solo home run but Washington came back with two runs in the eighth to win it.

Ed Stroud opened the Washington eighth with a lead-off single, then stole second and went to third on a throwing error by Freehan.

Paul Casanova blooped a single into short right, scoring Stroud and Valentine, and the Senators had the game.

Detroit and Washington meet again in a single game today with the Tigers sending Mickey Lolich, 5-10 against Barry Moore, 5-7.

City Golfer Fires 71, Is Off Pace

From Our News Wires

Pontiac's Dick Robertson, former city champion, carded a one-under-par 71 yesterday for a total of 228 after 54 holes in the National Amateur Publinx Tournament in Seattle, Wash.

ROBERTSON

Despite the 71, Robertson is 16 strokes back of the leader, Mike Simmerman of Kettering.

Zimmerman posted a 74 yesterday giving his a two-over-par 212 for the 54 holes. The final round is slated for today over the tricky Jefferson Park Municipal Course.

Allan Thompson of Pleasant Ridge, Mich., was in at 223 and James Law of Harper Woods had a 225. Graham Walker of Rochester was tied with Robertson at 228 and Timo Kilpelainen of Farmington was in at 232.

Birdies Help Champs

A late string of birdies carried defending champion Chuck Byrne and Joe Brisson to a 3-2 victory yesterday and into the semifinals of the 22nd annual Birmingham Invitational Golf Tournament.

The Byrne-Brisson duo picked up birdie putts on the final three holes to down Dave Paul and Dr. John Sigler in second round action. Brisson rolled in a 10-footer at No. 17 and rapped in a 60-footer on the final hole.

In the upper bracket semifinal match this morning, Byrne and Brisson were slated to take on A. V. Lotti and GAM champion Pete Jackson who moved up yesterday with a 1-up win in 23 holes over Earl Burt and Tom Lowery.

* * *

In the lower bracket, John Duncan and Mike Jackson, Pete's brother, were slated to meet Leonard Trotta and Jim Smith in the other semifinal match. The finals were scheduled for this afternoon.

Duncan and Jackson knocked off Leonard Malis and Bill Curtis, 2 and 1, while Trotta and Smith posted a 2-up win over John Panelli and Fred Broad.

Miss Shook Triumphs

From Our News Wires

One of her easiest matches came yesterday as Patti Shook, a 24-year-old Saginaw schoolteacher, downed Cynthia Hill of South Haven to win the state Women's Amateur golf championship at Red Run in Royal Oak.

"It was a beautiful match to watch," said Red Run pro Frank Metzer, referee of the match. "She (Patti) just split the fairways and had maximum control."

MISS SHOOK

Miss Shook won the 12th, 13th and 14th holes to beat Miss Hill, a sophomore at the University of Miami, Fla.

Earlier in the day, Miss Shook ousted defending champion Joyce Kazmierski, 4 and 3. She was two over par in the semifinal match, but finished the final against Miss Hill at even par.

Three Gals Share 1st

Three players shared the top spot as play opened today in the third round of the 13th Ladies PGA Championship in Sutton, Mass.

* * *

Leading with three-under-par 143s were Shirley Englehorn, Kathy Whitworth and Clifford Ann A. Creed. Mickey Wright was in at 145.

Scalp Indians; Chicago Splits; Twins Beaten

By The Associated Press

Shades of yesteryear. If you didn't know better, you might even think it was the Yankees of old. They got the pitching, some power, the old Yankee luck and swept two from Cleveland.

* * *

But there's one important difference between this crew and the outfit that terrorized the American League for decades.

New York's 2-1 and 2-0 sweep Friday night was the Yanks' first doubleheader victory of the season—they've lost two and split nine — and left them still floundering in ninth place.

The only one they're terrorizing now is Washington, the team they're fighting for eighth place. The Senators stayed on top by one percentage point with a 3-1 victory over Detroit.

Boston bombed Baltimore 11-5, Kansas City took Minnesota 3-2 and the California Angels and Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader, all in night games. California won the first game 3-2 before the White Sox romped 8-0.

* * *

Fritz Peterson and Al Downing, a pair of young lefties, provided the pitching for the Yankees. Peterson hurled a four-hit shutout in the nightcap after Downing had run his record to 10-5 with a five-hit effort in the first game.

END SKID

John Donaldson drove in two runs with a pair of singles and rookie relief pitcher Tony Pierce choked off a bases-loaded threat as the keys to Kansas City's decision over Minnesota. The victory snapped a six-game Kansas City losing string.

Boston unleashed a 12-hit attack, spiced by home runs by Tony Conigliaro and Carl Yastrzemski in the Red Sox' romp over Baltimore.

Record Fleet Set for Long Boat Trip

CHICAGO (AP) — One record was broken before the sailing race from Chicago to Mackinac Island got started today.

That was the number of entries — 168.

Sunny skies and variable winds buoyed hopes for good weather on the 333-mile trip.

The race committee arranged a timetable for departures of boats in six divisions between 1 p.m. and 2:15 p.m. CDT, with the big craft leaving Chicago's downtown lakefront last.

Much interest was focused on the big boats. Among them was Escapade, a 73-footer owned by Peter Grimm of Chicago. Escapade won the 1951 Mackinac contest, and returned to the competition after spending the intervening years in the Atlantic Ocean.

The 1966 winner, Blitzen, was not entered in the 1967 sailing — the 60th for the race.

Cody said operators of power boats have been asked to avoid Mackinac Island's harbor around the time of the race's finish.

Tackle Sanders Quits

Lions' Rookies Face Cutdown

DETROIT (AP) — The problem of how many rookies and free agents to cut after today's first Detroit Lions' scrimmage boils down to the number of mattresses at training camp.

The Lions Friday added a "clubhouse lawyer" to the squad, who might help them solve the problem.

The Lions have 66 beds available at their Cranbrook training camp. Since 43 of them were sagging under the weight of the rookies and free agents, the Lions had to cut 11 today to make room for the 34 veterans reporting Sunday.

With the addition of veteran tackle Charlie Bradshaw to the team, the Lions gained a lawyer who finished first in the Texas bar exam in 1964.

Though the Lions had acquired rights to the 6-foot-6 Bradshaw by trading running back Bruce McLenna to the newly franchised New Orleans Saints, the 31-year-old Bradshaw said he was retiring.

However, General Manager Russ Thomas convinced Bradshaw to bring his nine years of NFL experience to the Lions this season.

Daryl Sanders, an offensive tackle with the Lions for the past four years, announced Friday he is retiring. He had signed a contract for the 1967 season.

Ed Mathews Slams 500th Home Run

BY the ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Ed Mathews could call his shots, the Atlanta Braves would be a lot more embarrassed than Juan Marichal today.

"I wish it would have come against the Braves," Mathews said Friday night after smashing the 500th home run of his major league career — a three-run shot off Marichal that carried Houston to an 8-6 victory over San Francisco.

It was the seventh homer of the season for Mathews, who hit 493 in 15 years with the Braves in Boston, Milwaukee and Atlanta before being dispatched to the Astros in a winter trade.

The 35-year-old third baseman thus became the seventh member of the elite 500 club, joining the Giants' Willie Mays and the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle as the only active players who have reached the magic figure.

Babe Ruth heads the all-time list with 714 lifetime homers. Mays has 555, Jimmy Foxx, 534, Ted Williams, 521, Mantle, 512, and Mel Ott, 511.

"Don't ask me how many I hope to hit . . . it was tough enough to get this one," Mathews said after powering the Astros to the fifth victory in their last six games.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati nipped the New York Mets 1-0 in 10 innings, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Atlanta topped Philadelphia 4-2 and Los Angeles downed the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

1ST PITCH

Mathews connected on Marichal's first pitch following singles by Jim Wynn and Rusty Staub in the sixth inning, giving the Astros a 6-4 lead they never relinquished.

Rookie Gary Nolan of Cincinnati hooked up in a scoreless duel with the Mets' Jack Fisher until the 10th inning, when Tony Perez' bases-loaded single won it for the Reds.

Orlando Cepeda's pinch hit single drove in the tying run in the seventh inning and Julian Javier scored one out later on a throwing error by left fielder Jose Pagan, sending the Cardinals past Pittsburgh.

Rice Carty pounded a three-run homer in the first inning and Hank Aaron provided an insurance run with his 23rd homer as the Braves held off the Phillies. Winner Tony Cloninger gave up a first-inning homer to Tony Gonzalez.

The Dodgers snapped a four-game losing string behind rookie Bill Singer, who blanked Chicago on four hits until the eighth, when he came up with a tender elbow and gave way to Ron Perranoski. Lou Johnson cracked a two-run double and Al Ferrara homered to pace the LA attack.

Clippers Clout Talbott

Ties in football leave you guessing who's better, but an early-season tie in Class A baseball is keeping the productive R. T. Clippers from taking first place in the city men's league.

The Clippers raked a couple of Talbott Lumber pitchers for 14 hits last night in taking a 19-3 verdict that raised their record to 11-3-1, and it's that last numeral that's keeping the team out of first.

M. G. Collision and Booth Homes lead the loop with 11-3 marks. But since a tie in city play counts a half win and a half loss, the Clippers are riding in third place. They played to a 6-6 standoff against Pass Excavating early in the campaign.

The Clippers, leading the league in extra-base hits, came up with two doubles and a homer last night as they crushed the lumber crew. The winners tallied five times in the first, twice in the second and third and wrapped it up with 10 in the fifth.

In a makeup game at 8 p.m. today, C.I.O. 594 meets U.A.W. 653 at Jaycee Park.

Southfield (1-4-4) moved into first place in the American Legion District 18 race with an 8-3 decision over Walled Lake (15-5) last night.

In other games, Clarkston downed Waterford in eight innings, 5-4, Troy (7-11) trimmed Berkley (4-15), 4-2, and Farmington (9-10) blanked Milford (4-16), 5-0, behind the pitching of George Dubinski.

Fords Outlawed in Road Racing

Detroit (AP) — Ford Motor Co.'s thundering racers have bowed out of the 24-hour LeMans race — which they dominated two years in a row — for next year at least.

The Ford cars are powered by seven-liter engines. However, a recent ruling by the international governing body of road racing limits such cars to engines of three liters, smaller than any American - produced engine.

Chalet Inn came up with five runs in the last three innings, slowing Wagon Wheel, 7-6, in city International Slow-Pitch action last night.

The result left both teams with 7-3 records for the first half of the season that ends tomorrow night with two games. Pontiac Press meets Grubb's Kennels and Hagen Shell plays Local 596. A win for the pressmen would give them a share of the lead along with MGM-Shalea and the Sportsmen.

Neil Goloshin led the Chalet attack with three hits and teammate Sid Knowlton picked up a single and double, the latter driving home the winning run in the sixth inning.

Al Crawford had three hits for the losers.

In Waterford Men's Softball Action last night Midget Bar (10-9) moved into third place by downing Clarkston Appliance (6-11) by a score of 7-3. Midget pitcher Bill Goulet was aided in his winning effort by teammate Brian Rudd who belted out three hits.

In the second game Spencer Floor Covering (17-2) whipped Clydes Frame & Wheel (9-10) 15-1. Winning pitcher Jim McCellan hurled a two-hitter. Jim Patterson had three hits for Spencer.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Quickly now, which club is represented by the most golfers in the National Amateur Publinx now being played in Seattle?

If your guess was some club other than Rochester Country Club, you have just made a booboo.

Mrs. Eleanor Sadowski, owner of the Rochester layout, sponsors three teams in the Michigan Publinx Golf Association, and five members from that trio qualified for the trip to Seattle.

And she might well be the sponsor of the champion.

Graham Walker, pattern maker who lives in Rochester, was just three strokes back of the leader after the first round yesterday. Walker plays on the club's No. 2 team. Another member of that team, Don Brooks of Ferndale, checked in with a 75.

James Law was in at 73 and Allan Thompson at 74. Both are members of the No. 1 team. The fifth member of the Rochester family, Claude Dwight, another on the No. 1 crew, had problems during a round of 80.

CLUB OPEN

Bramblewood Country Club on Miner Road near Holly is open for business.

Sharing the second spot with 50's were Dave Arsen and Sid Graves. Ray Ballard posted a 33 to lead the net scorers and Craig Lukas posted a 35.

In the girls division at the par-3 course at Waterford Hills, Debbie Daubbner posted a 46 to lead the way. Trudy Bills came in with a 50 and Ckaudia Pachaud carded a 55.

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

West's double of four spades is not recommended. He knows that South is in for some bad news in trumps but North and South have reached game with no strain at all and the double may give away the trump situation in time for declarer to guard against it.

JACOBY

It is a cardinal principle of bidding that you don't double when you may be jeopardizing the setting trick.

The double didn't hurt this time. West was sure of his two trump tricks anyway, but he slipped in the defense later on.

South won the heart lead and decided to attack the diamond suit before going after trumps. West rose with his ace of diamonds and led a second heart.

South trumped in dummy, crashed dummy's ace of trumps just in case East might be holding one. Then he started to play more diamonds. He discarded club on the third diamond lead.

West ruffed and led a club. South went right up with dummy's ace and discarded his last club on another diamond lead. West ruffed and led a second club but South was able to ruff in his own hand; drew trumps stopping in dummy and make the rest of the tricks with just in case East might be holding one. Then he started to play more diamonds. He discarded club on the third diamond lead. what was left of the diamond suit.

How could West West have beaten the contract?

When he took his ace of diamonds he should have led a club rather than the second heart. Then when he ruffed for the first time he could have given his partner a club trick.

Former Pontiac resident Edward A. Skae, a manufacturing executive and member of one of Detroit's oldest families, died yesterday. He was 57.

Requiem Mass will be 11 a.m. Monday in St. Paul Catholic Church, 15 Lake Shore, Grosse Pointe Farms. Burial will be private.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the William R. Hamilton Co. Chapel, 3975 Cass, Detroit.

Surviving are his wife, Jean; two sons, Edward A. Jr. and John D.; three daughters, Mrs. Martin J. O'Brien, Anne and Susan; two grandchildren; and two sisters.

Skae of 17 Preston Place, Grosse Pointe Farms, founded Equipment Manufacturing, Inc., in 1940 and was president of the Admos Co. Both companies are in Warren.

He also was a former director of Detroit Recreation Co. and the Hammond Building Co.

Skae's grandmother, Mrs. George H. Hammond, was instrumental in the construction of the old Hammond Building, one of Detroit's first skyscrapers.

Mr. Skae was a 1931 graduate of the University of Michigan's engineering school.

He was a member of the Yondotega Club, the Detroit Club, the Country Club of Detroit, the University Club, the Detroit Historical Society, the Hundred Club and the Newcommen Society of North America.

A hunting and fishing enthusiast, Mr. Skae was a trustee of Ducks Unlimited.

News in Brief

George Glyfield of 20 Taylor reported to city police yesterday the larceny of a baby carriage valued at $200 during a breakin of his garage.

An undetermined number of rings were reported taken from the Enggass Jewelry Co., 25 N Saginaw, today by someone who had broken a display window at the store, according to Pontiac police.

Silverless Coin Move Finished

WASHINGTON (AP) — The transition to silverless coins which began in 1965 is now complete, the Treasury Department said Friday night as it abandoned its policy of selling silver to domestic users for $1.29 an ounce.

It said future sales of up to two million ounces a week will be made at the going market price, now about $1.70 an ounce.

* * *

In maintaining the price of silver at the lower level the Treasury sought to keep silver coins in circulation rather than melted for their silver content.

Dimes, quarters and half dollars containing 90 per cent silver are worth their face value when the price reaches $1.38 an ounce. Silver dollars, which haven't been minted since 1935, each contain $1 worth of silver at $1.29 an ounce.

* * *

The department said it now has enough of the new cupro-nickel coins to insure an adequate supply even if the old silver coins should disappear.

It is still illegal, however, to melt, treat or export silver coins for a quick profit. The maximum penalty for a violation of this law is a $10,000 fine and five years in jail.

ACTION RECOMMENDED

The new action was recommended by the Commission on the Coinage which held its second all-day meeting at the department Friday. The commission was set up by a 1965 act which removed all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver in half dollars from 90 to 40 per cent.

Silver demand, especially in photography and other industries, far outstrips production.

Domestic consumption last year totaled 156 million ounces compared with production of 42 million ounces. The Treasury made up most of the difference by selling from its dwindling stockpile.

* * *

The Treasury's problem has been complicated in recent years by the coin shortage. Heavy minting of coins to end the shortage ate heavily into the silver supply. So Congress in 1965 adopted the new cupro-nickel coin.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said about 8.25 billion cupro-nickel dimes and quarters have thus far been minted and about 5 billion of them have yet to be placed on circulation.

8.5 BILLION

Circulation of dimes and quarters is estimated at 8.5 billion pieces. Pennies and nickels contain no silver.

Half dollars containing 40 per cent silver wouldn't be worth their face value unless the price rose to $3.38 an ounce.

Bids Restricted on Power Units

U.S. Firms Protected on Dam; Soviets Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's decision to bar foreign bidding on three Grand Coulee Dam power units protects American industry in the first round of worldwide competition to develop giant power turbines and generators.

Among those kept out are the Soviets, where interest in building units for the giant dam in the state of Washington had stirred some congressional criticism.

* * *

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the Soviets are doing "impressive work" on developing large hydroelectric power units and he called it "one of the best areas for competition."

But, as he announced Friday that the first three large power units for Grand Coulee would be made only by American companies, he said it was important to have this new technology effectively developed in this country.

Allis-Chalmers, General Electric, Westinghouse, Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton and Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., so far have expressed interest in bidding.

The generating units to be made will have a capacity of 600,000 kilowatts each, nearly three times as much as anything in operation in the world.

Reclamation Commissioner Floyd Dominy said American companies were reluctant to bid unless they had protection from foreign companies which often underbid U.S. industry.

Dominy cited as an example the awarding of a contract to Hitachi, New York, Ltd., a Japanese firm which bid $999,560 to make three large pumps and motors for the Garrison Diversion Unit in North Dakota.

Judge Rules 2 Guilty of Knife Assault

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday found two men guilty of assault with intent to do great bodily harm with a knife during a fight outside a Pontiac bar last winter.

The men, Claude Burnette Jr., 23, no known address, and Eugene Jones, 24, of 224 Ferry, will be sentenced July 25.

They were convicted of inflicting wounds on four men — Richard Pointer, 29, of 1767 Beacheroft, Keego Harbor; Connie Fields, 30, of 577 Upland; Michael Godoshian, 42, of 176 E. Wilson; and John Nedrick, 26, of 52½ Seneca.

The incident took place about 9 p.m. Feb. 10 in the city parking lot adjacent to the Timberlane Bar, 18 N. Perry.

Pontiac police arrested Burnett and Jones a short time later as they tried to hide in a snow-covered field about four blocks from the scene of the fight.

They had waived their right to a trial by a jury.

People in the News

By the Associated Press

Gerry Mulligan, the American jazz musician, borrowed an alto saxaphone and sat in with a group of Russian players for a six-hour impromptu jam session.

Mulligan, who usually plays baritone sax, was applauded wildly by 150 musicians and their friends in a hot, smoke-filled club on Gorky Street last night.

"I don't like to give compliments," a local musician told him, "but I just want you to know everyone in Moscow plays the way he plays because of you, Gerry."

"They're good," Mulligan said during a break as he sat beside his wife, Sandy Dennis, star of "Up the Down Staircase." The film is the main United States entry in the Moscow Film Festival.

Mulligan and a Moscow quartet ended with a version of "Getting Sentimental Over You." It was interrupted six times by applause.

Most of the conservatively dressed men and mostly stout women expressed no aversion to being photographed. Only one car drove off when the camera was aimed in its direction.

Canine's Trips Airline's Slips

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — For nine years Pepper led a sort of uneventful dog's life, some toys to play with and an occasional cat to chase. In the past 10 days she has had two airplane trips to Alaska — both by accident.

Pepper, a short-haired terrier belonging to the J.C. Hegenauers of Seattle, disappeared from home July 4.

She next was spotted standing by an empty cage in the freight terminal of an airline. An employe put two and two together and Pepper into the Alaska-bound cage.

* * *

The Alaska addressees said Pepper wasn't theirs so she was shipped back to Seattle. Someone thought a mistake had been made so Pepper went back to Alaska again.

When she returned the second time an airline employe took her home. His wife spotted a "lost dog" ad and Pepper finally was reunited with the Hegenauers.

Jayne's Estate Is Estimated at $800,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield's business manager says she left more than $800,000.

Charles Goldring, one of four men seeking appointment as administrator of the estate, filed a petition Friday in Superior Court which claimed the blonde actress left $35,000 in cash, $163,500 in stocks and personal property worth $250,000.

* * *

He estimated her real property at $363,000. Miss Mansfield's mother, Mrs. Vera Peers of Dallas, Tex., nominated Goldring as administrator.

The entertainer died June 29 in an automobile accident near New Orleans, La.

OTHERS WANT JOB

The others who want to administer the estate are Los Angeles County Public Administrator Baldo Kristovich; Miss Mansfield's second husband, actor-muscleman Mickey Hargitay; and her third husband, director Matt Cimber.

A hearing to determine the administrator is scheduled for July 21.

Mitchum Shoots War Scene Primed by Invisible Bottle

By EARL WILSON

ROME—It was almost 3 o'clock in the morning, and Robert Mitchum, in a mud-splattered World War II uniform, was about to do a scene in "Anzio" here with Peter Falk out in a big field an hour from Rome . . . but as they were getting ready to shoot, Mitchum yelled to the director, Eddie Dmytrik, "Can you see the wine bottle?"

WILSON

"I can even tell the vintage," the director yelled back.

Mitchum was just being his own colorful individualistic self—incorrigible, undisciplined, and interesting. There wasn't supposed to be any wine bottle in the scene and Mitchum was trying to emphasize that he was drinking when he shouldn't have been.

"I don't know what I'm doing, I'm stoned," he said to me.

* * *

This was an exaggeration but with Mitchum it's getting to be expected. He never has been one to pamper his bosses. Frequently he broke in to mention that nobody around the picture including himself knew what he was doing.

"This war correspondent character you're playing—is that supposed to be a Hemingway type?" I asked Mitchum.

"I haven't the slightest idea and they haven't the slightest idea," he shrugged.

Now he got into a Lincoln that Elizabeth Taylor gave to her chauffeur when she finished "Cleopatra" and set him up in the private-chauffeuring business. Mitchum is using it because the biggest compact car here is not large enough for his long legs.

* * *

He rode back to the studio where he changed and we discussed the movie which will emphasize the Anzio Beach phase of World War II.

"Nobody can say I'm not cooperative," Mitchum said. "I even went to a script conference. I don't know why.

"I found out we're expected to write our own dialogue. That'll give you an idea."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Betty Spiegel bought a 19th century bird cage ($450) at the new Aux Puces cafe (where everything's on sale) for John Cohn. Hairdresser Leslie Blanchard saw some women at Gallagher's and sighed, "So many Twiggy hairdos — and so few Twiggy figures."

Carol Bruce at La Crepe au Village paid $37.50 for a painting labeled "A frankly fake Piscasso"—because its frame was like one she's bought for $100 . . . Van Cliburn at the chic French restaurant, La Comedie, ordered western omelette, Texas style.

* * *

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's true that marriage can open many doors for a woman—doors to jewelry shops, doors to fur shops, etc.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "If you can't think of any other way to flatter a man, tell him he's the sort of man who can't be flattered."

EARL'S PEARLS: To err is human, to forgive divine . . . and to get your wife to forget about it; terrible expensive.—Angie Papadakis.

Flip Wilson insists he's not surprised at LBJ's sudden surge in the polls: "Old Granddad's always been popular." That's earl, brother.

Viet GI Buildup Put at 80,000-100,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces in Vietnam probably will be beefed up by 80,000 to 100,000 men, mostly combat troops, to bring the American troop strength there to between 540,000 and 550,000 within a year, say Pentagon military sources.

The prospect in the wake of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's recent visit to Vietnam and Gen. William C. Westmoreland's conferences here after McNamara's return is for the increase in authorized U.S. strength to total about 60,000 or 70,000 men.

* *

This is the equivalent of two divisions plus their support. It represents the lower range of alternative proposals offered by Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam.

* *

Before these units are prepared for movement, some 20,000 to 30,000 other troops will be shipped to Vietnam over the next three months to fill out the long-standing authorization of 480,000 men.

Like the bulk of reinforcements to follow later, these men will be chiefly combat-type units.

The largest of the outfits earmarked to go within about 90 days is the Army's new 198th Infantry Brigade, activated in May at Ft. Hood, Tex. The 198th numbers 5,600 men.

Artillery battalions, helicopter companies and similar outfits also will be included in the 20,000-to-30,000-man increment.

Although the later reinforcements, to be sent during the remainder of the 1968 fiscal year, are spoken of in terms of division forces, it is likely they will move to Vietnam in lesser formations, probably brigades and smaller units.

The Army could draw brigades out of its existing forces in the mainland United States and Hawaii, form entirely new units, or follow a combination of these courses.

Since the major Vietnam buildup began in mid-1965, the Army has created one new division and four independent infantry brigades.

* *

One controlling factor in the pace of the buildup is availability of equipment.

McNamara's statement that there will be no extension of the one-year tour of duty in Vietnam nor "any significant impact on current draft calls" suggests he has placed a limiting framework around the extent of the immediately foreseeable commitment of U.S. forces to Vietnam.

Westmoreland made clear Thursday he foresees a greater ratio of combat to support troops in the buildup just ahead.

He told a White House news conference that, as a result of a two-year development of a big logistical base, "We are now in a position where, for every man that is deployed, we will get a double return in combat power."

The U.S. commander in Vietnam also said, "We will get greater return in combat power for the forces that are henceforth deployed."

NAACP Teens Win First Floor Fight

BOSTON (AP) — A noisy revolt by two antiestablishment factions of NAACP delegates set the stage for heated debate today on a wide variety of touchy resolutions on the last day of the group's 58th annual convention.

Teen-aged delegates from youth councils surprised observers Friday by winning their first big floor fight, an effort to get the number of their members on the board of directors raised from 3 to 17.

* * *

The convention adopted a resolution recommending this after Alfred Williams, 23, of East Lansing, Mich., shouted to the convention floor: "We believe in the NAACP and are tired of seeing other organizations steal the angry young Negro, steal the militants. There are new trends in civil rights. We'll make you a new organization if you can't do it yourself."

The resolution simply recommends such action to the board of directors, which has the power to veto it.

NEWARK RIOT

Speaking to a banquet at the convention Friday night, Executive Director Roy Wilkins referred to the riot in a Negro slum in Newark, N.J.

He said the riot is a "challenge to every white men and woman and every black man and woman who believes in human decency.

"If anything puts a sobering effect on the convention it should be Newark. We can't afford to have division in our ranks. We've got to have unity."

A dramatic rebellion by the largest single state delegation, the group from New York, had kept about half the 1,000 delegates on the convention floor after adjournment to adopt, in a protest vote, an emergency resolution calling for an overhaul of the board and the constitution.

ADJOURNMENT CALLED

"If you adjourn, we will not leave," delegates shouted at Chairman Matthew Perry, who called for adjournment before their resolution could be presented.

Perry adjourned. The lights went out. But about 500 delegates, singing, "We shall not be moved," stayed in their seats to adopt, by the light of a single television camera, the resolution urging a committee to suggest ways of making the board more responsive to the people.

That resolution and a number of others is expected to come to the floor sometime today, in what could be a long session.

The "Young Turks" are confident their constitutional amendment calling for a similar overhaul, which has been bottled up in the resolutions committee, will be on the floor for a vote.

Members of the San Francisco and Greenwich Village-Chelsea branches, who originally called for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, predict a resolution linking the war with dwindling support of the poverty program will be approved by the resolutions committee. They said they could support it.

Among the measures passed out of committee Friday was one asking for an NAACP crash insist that Agriculture Secretary program to send food, medical supplies, doctors and dentists to Mississippi Negroes, who a convention report said are being deliberately denied jobs and welfare.

* * *

It asked President Johnson to Orville Freeman and other Cabinet members stop "placating local officials for political rea-sons at the expense of the thousands of starving Negro citizens of Mississippi."

Another asked the Defense Department to transfer its enforcement program prohibiting racial discrimination by government contractors back from military to civilian control.

Land Transfer Hearings Set

Oakland Schools has set three hearings for the transfer of property from one local district to another.

* * *

A hearing will be held 4 p.m. July 27 on whether a "sizable" portion of the Walled Lake district should be returned to Waterford Township district.

On Aug. 10 a hearing will be held at 4 p.m. on a petition to transfer property from Troy to Birmingham district and at 8 p.m. a joint hearing with Lapeer intermediate district on transfer of property from Lake Orion to Oxford.

In other matters, Oakland Schools hired Florence Coulter of New Jersey to be director of reading interns and Robert Reeves of East Lansing as administrative assistant.

Reeves replaces Kenneth Olserr who had resigned to become superintendent of Okemos schools.

Bias Charges Will Be Aired

State Panel to Probe Beach-Boat Facility

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will conduct a hearing this month on charges that the Bloomfield Beach and Boat Facility, 4300 Cass - Elizabeth, discriminates against Negroes and Orientals.

A complaint was filed against the organization by Martin Kalish of Detroit. He said that after answering an ad seeking members he was told he could not entertain Negroes or Orientals on his boat or have them use beaches maintained by the organization.

The Bloomfield Beach and Boat Facility maintains docking facilities and swimming beaches at Cass Lake and Elizabeth Lake.

A company spokesman said it is a private organization comprised of residents of Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham.

The Civil Rights Commission investigators said that because the company advertised for members in Michigan newspapers its facilities are considered "a place of public accomodation."

VISITED OFFICE

Kalish said that he visited the office of the organization in order to apply for membership and to secure boat and well facilities.

At that time, he said, he was informed that the organization had a policy which expressly disallowed Negroes or Orientals from enjoying any of the facilities.

The Civil Rights Commission said the hearing was scheduled following investigation "which disclosed sufficient evidence to support the allegations and after attempts to conciliate through private discussion had failed."

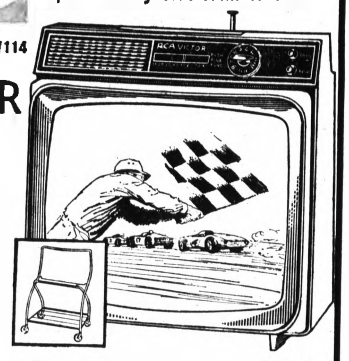

The public hearing will be held at 10 a.m., July 26, in the court room of the Michigan Court of Appeals, 900 First Federal Building, Detroit.

The charge will be reviewed by Commissioners Sidney M. Shevitz, Father Theodore E. LaMarre and Mrs. Frank Wylie.

Canal Proposal Stirs Opposition in Panama, U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A skittish political problem appears to be building in Panama and the United States over a proposed treaty giving Panama full sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone and a voice in managing the canal.

Critics in Panama say the treaty does not go far enough; in Washington, foes say it goes too far, especially in light of what has happened to the Suez Canal under control of the United Arab Republic.

Some Congressmen have been clamoring for details about the treaty, some of which had been a well-guarded secret until the Chicago Tribune published in today's editions what it said was the full text of three treaties involved.

The text provides for a boost in tolls to make the canal a profitable enterprise aimed at satisfying Panama's demand for more revenue.

Tolls have not been increased since the canal was opened in 1914 by the United States, which now pays Panama $1.93 million annually. Toll increases would increase that more than tenfold to about $22 million a year in 1972.

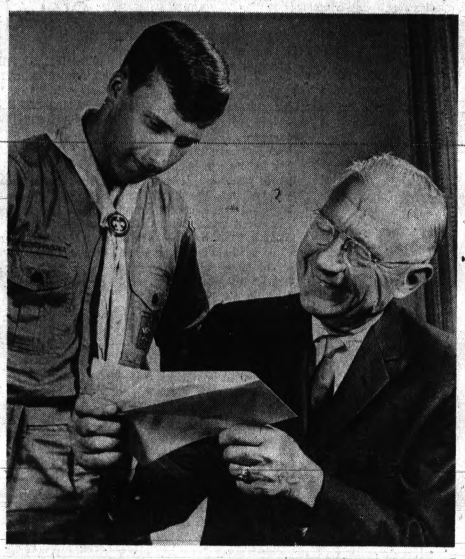

Some U.S. critics fear Panama could nationalize the waterway as the U.A.R. did with the Suez Canal. The treaty would give Panama sovereignty in a new and smaller Canal Zone.

The Panama Canal Co., a U.S. government corporation operating the canal, would be replaced by a nine-member board, including five appointees of the U.S. president and four by the Panamanian president.

Accompanying treaties cover maintenance of U.S. military bases in Panama and the building of a sea-level waterway if Panama is picked as its site.

Most congressional criticism has been in the House, which has no vote on treaties, a function of the Senate.

But House critics say they are making their voices heard in the Senate and elsewhere. Rep. Armistead I. Selden, D-Ala., announced recently that 129 House members had introduced or joined in sponsoring resolutions about the matter.

MONEY BY MAIL — Robert M. Critchfield, major gifts chairman of the fund drive for the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America's Lost Lake Reservation, shows a $10,000 check from the Kresge Foundation to Star Scout Jeff Dow of 625 Cameron. The $485,000 already collected will go towards purchase and development of the reservation near Clare.

Kresge Foundation Gives Scouts Grant

The Kresge Foundation has given a $10,000 grant to the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America towards the pruchase and development of the Council's Lost Lake Reservation near Clare.

The gift was announced by Robert M. Critchfield, major gifts chairman in the council's $550,000 Lost Lake campaign. The gift, the second largest on the campaign, brings the total funds collected to $485,000.

"This most generous Kresge Foundation gift pushes our campaign close to completion.

"This, together with other anticipated gifts places us within reach of our $550,000 goal. Such public spirited gifts are insuring the future camping program of Scouting in Oakland and Macomb counties" said Critchfield.

★ ★ ★

EQUIPMENT ADDED

Considerable equipment has already been added to the reservation although several more years will be required to develop the area fully. Recent additions include a new dock, two boats, six canoes, fire protection equipment, and troop camp site facilities.

Latest Launch 'Most Accurate'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists said today the flight of Surveyor 4, hurtling toward a Sunday night landing on the moon, appeared to be the most accurate launch to date.

If an in-flight correction is successful, a spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the 2,290-pound craft probably will land 80 miles southwest of its intended target.

"This indicates extreme accuracy," the spokesman said.

The target on the dry bay Sinus Medii is so rugged, officials said, that Surveyor was given only a 50-50 chance of landing gently enough to carry out its job-prospecting for iron with camera, shovel and magnet.

★ ★ ★

The three-legged craft, launched yesterday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., carries a digging scoop for a rudimentary experiment in the first chemical analysis of moon soil.

U.S. Toll Is Heavy as VC Blast Base

SAIGON (AP) — The mighty U.S. air base at Da Nang was reeling today from a Communist rocket attack that left eight Americans dead, 173 wounded and 42 airplanes crippled or wrecked at a cost of $80 million.

It was the worst punishment inflicted on the U.S. base, which has been hit twice before in the past five months.

Earlier, 13 Americans had been reported killed, but five Marines at first presumed dead were accounted for.

The sprawling 1,800-acre base on South Vietnam's Northern sea coast, launching pad for many of the bombing raids on North Vietnam, was shut down after the attack.

★ ★ ★

Crews went out to repair one badly cratered 10,000-foot runway and sweep debris off another.

FIRE FOR 45 MINUTES

The Communists fired for 45 minutes early today from two positions 4.3 miles southwest of the huge base. Their deadly aim left little doubt the rockets had been well zeroed-in in advance.

Six F4C Phantom jets, each worth nearly $2 million, were among the aircraft destroyed.

Ten Phantoms were heavily damaged. Two Marine F8 Crusader jets and three Air Force C130 cargo planes were also wrecked in the Communist rocket barrage. Other planes knocked out were not immediately listed.

★ ★ ★

The rocket shelling was described by an Air Force spokesman as "the worst ever" to hit the base.

CASUALTY BREAKDOWN

The U.S. Command said eight Air Force men were killed and 138 airmen were wounded. Thirty-five U.S. Marines were wounded.

Of the 173 wounded, about 40 were hospitalized. Some of the others suffered only minor injuries such as cuts and bruises.

The Communists pumped 50 rockets into the big air base in the attack. U.S. officers identified the rockets as 122mm and of Soviet origin.

★ ★ ★

They had said earlier that some of the rockets were 140mm but late reports showed only the smaller 122mm were fired.

Robbins' Estate Hearing Slated

A hearing on a settlement reached between the beneficiaries and heirs of the estate of the late Royal Oak industrialist Jim Robbins will be held Tuesday in Oakland County Probate Court.

Judge Donald E. Adams will be asked to approve an agreement which changes the will of Robbins, killed last September when his private jet plane crashed in South Dakota.

In February, an inventory showed that Robbins had $11 million in cash and $10 million in securities in companies other than his own.

The value of his holdings in his own firms has not yet been determined.

★ ★ ★

Under the terms of the settlement, a trust fund will be set up with the six beneficiaries and heirs receiving varying percentages on its annual income.

They only received benefits from 40 per cent of the trust under the will, with the remaining 60 per cent reinvested annually.

The settlement also names Robbins daughter, Mrs. Alice Kathy Luby of Birmingham as one of the heirs. Previously she had not been included. The will stated that she had already been cared for when she married.

In addition to the 13 per cent she will receive from the trust, she and her brother James M., each will receive $400,000 over a three-year period.

★ ★ ★

James will receive 23.7 per cent of income from the trust fund.

NY Nixed 'Whoopees'

Pontiac isn't the only city which has experienced troubles with electronic sirens.

★ ★ ★

The police department of New York City reports that electronic sirens were used on its cars on an experimental basis.

Lt. William L. Harris, in command of the department's motor transport unit, said their use was discontinued after the Mayor's Committee on Noise Abatement criticized their sound.

All police cars now use the standard electrically activated sirens, he said.

Harris said ambulances owned by the nation's largest city have not used any sirens for a number of years but an effort is now being made to equip them with nonelectronic sirens.

He said there are no restrictions, at present, as to the type of sirens to be used on privately owned ambulances.

PARKING VIOLATOR 'PARKED' — Eugene, Ore., police decided 29 unpaid parking tickets was enough. So they attached a boot to the front wheel of the violator's car preventing it from being driven. The officer is putting a notice on the windshield to tell the owner he can get his auto released by paying the parking fines.

Rails Face Midnight Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of a major railroad strike hung over the nation today after leaders of six shopcraft unions reaffirmed their decision to rescind their no-strike pledge as of midnight tonight.

"Anything may occur out in the field whether we control it or don't control it," Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, said yesterday.

Government and industry sources indicated they believe any strike would be against only a few major lines, rather than against the 90 per cent of the nation's railroad involved in the wage dispute.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., noted yesterday "the rumor that some strikes might occur over the weekend on some railroad properties, such as the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific."

★ ★ ★

Union leaders representing some 137,000 shopcraft workers refused to extend their voluntary no-strike pledge Thursday after a Senate-House conference was recessed Monday without reaching a decision on a bill designed to avert a strike. They reaffirmed their decision yesterday.

'EVERYTHING IT CAN'

White House press secretary George Christian, quoting President Johnson as saying "a strike at this time would have grave consequences," said yesterday "the government is going to do everything it can" to prevent a strike.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara met earlier yesterday with congressional leaders of both parties to advise them of the situation.

Senate-House conferees are deadlocked in their attempts to resolve differences in legislation passed by the Senate and the House a month ago.

★ ★ ★

The Senate version, proposed by Johnson, would provide for 90 days of intensive efforts to win a voluntary agreement. If this failed, the bill would provide for a compulsory settlement. The House dropped the provision for any compulsory settlement.

The other unions involved represent sheet metal workers, boilermakers, electricians, carmen and firemen and oilers.

They are demanding a 6.5 per cent pay hike this year and 5 per cent next year, plus 12.5 cents an hour in each of the two years for skilled workers. They now average $2.94 an hour, with skilled workers earning up to $3.05 an hour.

The railroad have offered a 6 per cent hike for an 18-month agreement, plus a five-cent skill increase.

City Residents to Get Tax Choice

How do you want to pay it?

That is the question Pontiac residents will be asked sometime this fall.

City commissioners have agreed they will attempt to determine voter predisposition to either an income tax or a hike in the property millage levy in an advisory vote, it is expected sometime in September.

City officials met during the week with members of the Citizens Finance Study Committee steering committee to discuss the commission decision.

The citizens committee earlier this week recommended that the commission impose a city income tax for the next fiscal year to meet a threatening fiscal crisis.

CUT PROPERTY TAX

Included in the recommendation was a proposal that the commission lower the property tax levy from 10 mills to 7 mills.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the steering committee agreed that the advisory vote was well-considered.

In a letter to members of the full committee, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the commission "felt that an advisory vote prior to the adoption of any income tax is very important," even though the "commissioners individually went on record in the past as favoring the city income tax as the best source for the long-range solution to our financial problems."

★ ★ ★

Taylor said the election ballot might be worded as follows:

Do you favor solving the city's financial crisis with an income tax or a tax rate (millage) increase?

VOTER COULD CHOOSE

The voter would then be able to choose between voting for a 4-mill property tax increase or a city income tax with an accompanying 3-mill property tax reduction.

The commission may adopt a resolution at its Tuesday meeting calling for the advisory vote.

Taylor said the situation is very serious, and the city administration has to meet certain deadlines if it is going to enact any kind of tax during 1968.

★ ★ ★

In order to adopt an income tax ordinance that would start Jan. 1, the commission would have to pass it at a formal session no later than Nov. 1.

REFERENDUM PETITIONS

Although it is not known whether there will be organized opposition to a city income tax, the commissioners have been apprised that petitions calling for a referendum vote could then be filed until Dec. 15.

In the event that a referendum is called for, it would be held between Feb. 3 and March 20 and then the tax, if approved by the majority, would begin July 1.

In order to raise the millage rate, a proposition would have to be placed before the voters no later than Oct. 31 to be in effect in 1968.

City officials have stated that a new source of tax income must be tapped or there will be a drastic cut in services and employes next year.

A layoff of some 100 to 110 employes of the 770 now working for the city might be necessary.

11 Die in N.J. Riot; Hartford Cools Off

By the Associated Press

Negro rioting in Newark, N.J., left the city with 11 dead today after a third night of chaos. In Hartford, Conn., hit by less serious disorders, the police chief said, "I feel we've come through."

Eight persons, all Negroes except for a white policeman, died Friday night in Newark in a crossfire of shots from snipers, police and National Guardsmen. More than 500 injuries and damage in the millions was reported in the city, just across the Hudson River and 20 minutes away from Manhattan by bus.

* * *

National Guardsmen patrolled the debris-lined streets in Jeeps that carried submachine guns.

"This is just like two countries fighting," said Sgt. Fred Schlueter. Gov. Richard Hughes called the situation a "criminal insurrection."

Some 18 miles southwest of Newark, in Plainfield, N.J., a group of 40 Negroes tossed rocks at police cars and through the windows of several stores Friday.

Gov. Hughes dismissed outside agitators as a factor in the Newark rioting and blamed it mainly on the "harping" of local civil rights leaders.

In Hartford, Police Chief John J. Kerrigan said, "I hope the entire city can come back to normal as quick as possible, now."

He was heartened by a night of relative calm Friday. No injuries were reported and there was only minor property damage in the city's turbulent north end, the site of two days of rock-throwing, fire-bombing violence.

A state of emergency was to remain through the weekend, however, and the city manager said he was putting off a report on measures to be taken in the disciplining of Police accused of brutality in the arrest of a Negro.

News Briefs at a Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Israel is going to get a bill from the United States for damages and compensation for deaths and injuries in the Israeli attack on the U.S. communications ship Liberty during the Middle East war. Secretary of State Dean Rusk informed the Senate Foreign Relations committee of the move yesterday, adding that inquiries into the Israeli air and sea attack on the vessel indicate it was "in no way justified." To date, he said, "I do not believe we have had an adequate justification from Israel." He promised the panel a full report.

Pioneer Pilot Dies

MURPHY, N.C. (AP) — The man thought to be the last of the pioneer pilots of the Wright brothers flying machines has died at the age of 83. Harry Nelson Atwood, who held several flight records set in the first part of this century, died yesterday in a hospital near Murphy. It was in the baby Wright — a flimsy biplane constructed in the Wright brother's machine shop at Dayton, Ohio — that Atwood in 1911 flew 1,256 miles between St. Louis and New York City in 28 hours and 58 minutes.

S. Viets Upset Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House GOP leader Gerald Ford said last night he was disappointed in the South Vietnamese army, but praised the South Koreans for their parts in the Vietnam war. Ford said he agreed with Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., that it would be a good idea to have more South Korean soldiers in Vietnam. "I understand they have done a superb job and I compliment them for it," he said.

Ticket Saver Fined

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Motorist Henry E. Hessler, 25, of Grand Rapids found it doesn't pay to hoard parking tickets. He saved 67 of them and Thursday was taken before Police Court Judge Robert Smolenski who called it "about the most flagrant case of excessive parking tickets I've seen" and then ordered Hossler to pay fines and costs of $388.40.

Guardsmen Gather

GRAYLING (UPI) — Nearly 6,000 Michigan National Guardsmen turned Camp Grayling into a tent city today prior to two weeks of annual summer training which begins Monday. The guardsmen spent most of early parts of Michigan to this 130,000-acre military reservation to set up camp.

De Gaulle to Start Trip

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle was scheduled to begin a 13-day trip to Canada today. Officials said there was little likelihood the French president would see President Johnson. De Gaulle was scheduled to fly to the northern French province of Brittany this morning to board the cruiser Admiral Colbert for a five-day Atlantic crossing. Government sources said it was highly doubtful de Gaulle would meet Johnson during his North American stay.

Warns of Strike Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)— The rail strike threatened by six shopcrafts unions this weekend "would likely result in legislation they would be very unhappy with," Rep. John P. Dingell, D-Mich., said yesterday. Speaking at a Washington news conference, the Detroit congressman said he had told his friends in organized labor that a strike at this stage would be very unwise.

Aid Asked for Counties

PORT HURON (AP)—The Farmers Home Administration has been asked to declare seven Michigan counties "areas eligible for emergency farm loans" because of crop damage due to late frost, cold weather and excessive rain. The counties are Antrim, Charlevoix, Huron, Mason, Oceana, Sanilac and Van Buren.

2 'Teen-Age' Girls Foiled in Theft Try

A 45-year-old Pontiac woman fought off two girls who she said attempted to steal her wallet after forcing their way into her home.

* * *

Agnes Arnold of 133½ E. Howard told city police that the girls, whom she described as teen-aged, said they were selling magazines and that when she said she wasn't interested, the pair forced their way into the home.

She said one of the girls started an argument while her accomplice ran into the bedroom, and grabbed the wallet.

The Arnold woman said she then started to struggle with the intruders, chasing them from the house.

* * *

Nothing was missing from the wallet, which was found on the ground at Howard and Edison.

Apartment Blaze Does $200 Damage

Fire, blamed on careless smoking, broke out in a basement apartment of a three-story brick building at 574 W. Huron last night, causing an estimated $200 damage.

* * *

City firemen required less than 20 minutes to extinguish the fire, which starter in a couch of an apartment occupied by Thomas Mayes.

* * *

Firemen set damage at $100 each to the building and contents. The building is owned by by Edwin M. Beresford of 3928 Cottontail, Bloomfield Township.

U.S. construction contracts for 1966 totaled an estimated $50.15 billion, a record amount and about two per cent more than the previous year.

3 Canadians Claim Safest Cigarette Filter

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Three Canadian researchers said Friday they have developed over the past year a device that removes up to 90 per cent of the harmful tars from cigarettes by percolating the smoke.

The researchers described the device as a major breakthrough in the elimination of health hazards from cigarette smoking and said their research was "somewhat farther ahead" as compared with the new cigarette filter announced by Columbia University in New York Thursday.

The Columbia filter was developed after eight years of experimentation by Robert K. Strickman of River Vale, N.J. Columbia, given major rights to the filter by Strickman, said it is an average 70 per cent more effective than filters now on the market.

The Canadians — Otto Brudy, Peter Brudy and Dr. Joseph E. H. Habowsky of the University of Windsor—said Columbia's announcement "forced us to report our own most striking findings."

'NO FLAVOR LOSS'

They said the percolator causes no loss of cigarette flavor and, in some cases, improves the taste.

This claim was disputed by John H. Delvin, president of Rothmans of Pall Mall of Canada Ltd., a major Canadian cigarette manufacturer. Devlin said technicians from his company who tested percolator samples three months ago found that they produced a poor taste.

* * *

They did not believe that the device could be successfully marketed, he added. He said Rothmans is interested in obtaining a licensing agreement for the Columbia filter.

The Canadian researchers said the inventor of the percolator is Otto Brudy, 61-year-old superintendent of research equipment at the University of Windsor, who began experimenting with cigarette filters 30 years ago.

Israel Claims Downing of 3 Egyptian Jets

By the Associated Press

Israel claimed it shot down three Egyptian MIG21s today, and the two sides resumed their cannon duels along the Suez Canal after an all-day battle killed at least 33 persons and wounded 58 Friday.

The United Nations starts sending observers to the canal today to try to halt fighting along the cease-fire line.

* * *

The new clashes ranged from Port Taufiq on the southern tip of the canal to the Great Bitter Lake and a railroad bridge at Firdan, north of Ismailia, about halfway up the canal, the Israeli army said.

The Israelis said Egyptian antiaircraft fire had hit one of their jets, but the pilot ejected and was rescued by Israeli forces.

* * *

A spokesman said the Israeli jets were called to strafe Egyptian artillery which opened fire on Israeli trucks near the Bitter Lake and troops at Firdan and to fight four Egyptian MIGs which attacked those same points.

PLEASANT SURPRISE — Pontiac Fire Chief James White and his wife take a look at one of the presents he received yesterday at a "retirement" party held in city hall. It was White's last official duty day before retirement.

Served for 40 Years Fire Chief Retires,

Pontiac Fire Chief James R. White, who rose from fireman to the department head in 14 years, spent his last day on the job yesterday.

Actually, his retirement won't be officially effective until Aug. 12, his 62nd birthday, but White will put in his last month on a hunting and fishing vacation.

This is a far cry from the pace he's worked at with the Pontiac department for 40 years.

"I've always been a fireman, not just a staff man," he said.

* * *

White worked his first 18 years with the department "at the bottom of the ladder." This was in the days before civil service, when seniority was the sole prompter of promotions.

MOVED UP

However, he ascended the leadership scale rapidly after that period.

He was made lieutenant in 1945, captain in 1949, assistant chief in 1955 and chief in 1959.

The department has shown tremendous growth during his tenure.

* * *

"There were 40 men in three stations when I started," he recalled. Now, there are more than 180 men in six city stations.

VIVID MEMORY

From these years of his rise and the department's expansion, White remembers one incident most vividly.

It occurred when he was a new lieutenant.

"We received a call that a woman's pet bird had escaped the house and lit in a tree.

* * *

"Since I was quite an outdoorsman, I usually was the one to climb high places when it was necessary.

BEFUDDLE BIRD

"Also, I had read somewhere that a bird in captivity will become befuddled and fly to ground when bit with a stream of water.

"So, I spoke up and before I knew it, neighbors had their garden hoses out and I climbed the tree and played a stream on the bird.

"It flew farther and faster than I ever saw a bird fly before."

* * *

After bowing out as gracefully as possible, White prepared himself for the barbs of his co-workers.

BIRD IN HAND

"Instead," he recalled, "the woman to thank me, for the bird had flown right into the hand of a painter at a nearby house and was returned shortly after we left the scene."

Many of his memories have been less pleasant, including the some 40 fatalities due to fires he's witnessed.

He also recalls big blazes such as the Chase's Department Store fire of 1942, which gutted the five-story building on North Saginaw.

* * *

White is intensely proud that the new central station at 123 E. Pike with it's ultra-modern alarm system was built during his reign.

TAKE IT EASY

Now, he'll have more time to hunt and fish at his Lake Superior lodge in Canada and to simply take it easy at home at 5061 St. Jude, Waterford Township, with his wife.

His tenure, from recruit to chief, is over, and looking back, as always, is a more advantageous perspective.

But, there isn't much he'd change, if given the opportunity.

"I'd still be a fireman," he said.

SPEC. 4 TATE

Pontiac Youth Killed During Viet Combat

A Pontiac youth, Army Spec. 4 Bernie L. Tate, was killed during combat operations in Vietnam.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Menard Tate of 47 N. Ardmore, he died last Wednesday.

Spec. 4 Tate, 20, was a platoon sergeant stationed at Cu Chi.

"He just wrote home. He was counting the days until he could come home. He didn't say much about what he was doing," said the sergeant's father.

Tate, who left for Vietnam in October 1966, had worked for Pontiac Motor Division. He graduated from Pontiac Central High School in 1964.

Pontiac Woman Is Robbed of $89

A Pontiac woman, who had just cashed her pay check, was robbed of $89 outside a North Perry grocery store shortly before 7 last night.

Betty Glaspie, 32, of 7 Lucille told city police one of four males who were congregated outside the Kroger store at 750 N. Perry grabbed her purse as she left the building.

She said the four subjects escaped on foot along Linda Vista.

UAW Aiming at Profits

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union revealed yesterday it has its sights on sharing in past as well as future profits of the auto companies.

Ken Bannon, UAW vice president and director of the Ford department, said the union's demand for a "substantial" wage increase in its 1967 contracts included provisions for "catching up" on the workers' share of industry profits made since the last contract was signed in 1964.

* * *

In addition, he said, the UAW was seeking a profit-sharing provision in the new contract to provide year-end bonuses as a share of the profits the companies make in the future.

* * *

"We are not going to forget yesterday," said Bannon in reference to profits the companies made in 1965-66 and the profits expected in 1967. Profits in 1966 were of record proportions with General Motors reporting earnings exceeding $2 billion.

Bloodmobile Set at Elks Temple

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be stationed at the Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake, July 24, between 2 and 8 p.m. Donors are encouraged to credit their blood donations to the account of their choice.

Blood collections during the first half of June averaged 268 pints a day which is far less than the minimum 380 pints needed by Detroit Metropolitan area hospitals. Contact the Red Cross for an appointment.

Two Suspects in Holdup Are in FBI's Hands

The two men suspected of robbing a Shelby Township credit union of $15,748 were turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities last night.

The Ford Federal Credit Union on Mound Road south of 22 Mile Road was robbed at gunpoint at 10:35 a.m. yesterday.

Willie L. Edwards, 35, and Richard Kenney, 25, both of Detroit are currently in the Wayne County jail charged with bank robbery.

The men were turned over to the FBI because the credit union was federally insured according to Shelby Township police who made the original arrest.

The two men were arrested shortly after the holdup at the end of a high speed chase. Township police pursued the men's car until it crashed into a hill attempting to make a right turn.

* * *

One man was arrested next to the car while the other took cover behind a bush carrying a 12-gauge shotgun. The police were able to talk him into surrendering.

Police were rushing to the National Bank of Detroit branch office in Utica at the time the Federal Credit Union was hit. Officers said they received a telephone call saying that the bank was being robbed. The tip was apparently a ruse to distract them from the credit union.

Service Set for Nun

DETROIT (AP)— Services will be Monday for Sister Mary Canisius, I.H.M., who taught English throughout the secondary schools of the Archdiocese of Detroit for almost 40 years. She died Thursday at Monroe at the age of 62.

District Needs More Teachers

Waterford Is Having Trouble Filling Posts

The Waterford Township School District is encountering more difficulty than usual filling teaching vacancies this summer for the forthcoming school year.

M. Barrett Vorce, associate superintendent of instruction and personnel, said there are 33 openings, mostly on the secondary level.

In mid-July last year, by comparison, only 10 teaching positions were unfilled.

Vorce attributes the unusually large number of vacancies to a wave of late resignations and to an increase in student enrollment on the secondary level.

Twenty of the 33 vacancies are in the junior and senior high schools. Needed are three industrial arts teachers, three counselors, three mathematics and science teachers two librarians, two English teachers, an English-journalism teacher, two instrumental music teachers, a vocal music teacher, a social science teacher and a mathematics-boys' physical education teacher.

ELEMENTARY LEVEL

On the elementary school level, 376 of the 380 positions have been filled.

Nine other openings exist in the system. The openings are for three special education teachers, three diagnosticians and three school social workers.

Vorce said he is "searching more diligently" for teaching prospects by visiting more universities, contacting commercial teacher agencies and advertising in newspapers. something the district hasn't had to do before.

A few more resignations are anticipated before the fall term begins which means that additional vacancies will be created.

Waterford Slated to Act on 4 Rezoning Requests

The Waterford Township Board is expected to take action on four rezoning requests at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

* * *

Up for consideration are requests to rezone property on Scott Lake Road at Alliance from single-family residential to multiple dwelling for apartments and property at Hadrill Court and Telegraph for a restaurant.

Also on the agenda are proposals to rezone property on Sashabaw between Pomeroy and Midland from single-family residential to multiple dwelling for apartments and property at Watkins Lake Road and Scott Lake Road for a church.

The board also is slated to divulge information on its attempt to secure financial consultants to help guide the community's future endeavors.

* * *

The township has contacted various firms and has received a few replies. Interviews will follow before anyone is hired.

BLACKTOPPING PROJECT

In other business, the board will discuss a road blacktopping project for Van Zandt Street to be financed equally by the township, school district and Oakland County Road Commission.

The board also will consider the lease purchase of a copying machine, a minor revision in the repayment schedule for the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System and will open bids on a property floater policy.

She Certainly May Refuse Guest Liquor

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer who asked that she remain anonymous.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: When a hostess gives a party and one of her guests is drinking too much, can she refuse to serve him any more liquor? We live in the suburbs and many of our friends have to drive back to the city after a party and I feel it my responsibility that they get home safely.

Is there a tactful way to handle this situation? — Mrs. A. B.

Dear Mrs. A. B.: She certainly can refuse to serve more liquor to any guest who has had too much to drink. She can also ask a friend to drive him home, and she can, if necessary, ask someone to take his car keys so that he cannot drive himself.

Or she and her husband can call a cab for him, or insist that he stay overnight with them. It may not be tactful, but the direct approach is necessary to keep him from killing himself, or someone else on the road.

Apparel Industry Closes Preview of What Women Expect for Fall

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's all over now but the buying.

New York's apparel industry has paraded full scale its feminine fashions for fall and winter for both store buyers and news media.

★ ★ ★

Now all you women need to do is assess, assort, and line up the assets for additions to your wardrobes.

There's something for everyone in a season in which some of the kookiest of clothes have emerged, and scared women half to death at the thought of wearing them.

HEM REASSURING

Be assured, not all hemlines are at mid-thigh. And there are some of the most beautifully cut, handsomely designed, and becoming clothes any fashion season ever has produced.

If you have good legs, this IS your year. Never has fashion lavished so much attention on this part of the anatomy.

★ ★ ★

There are the designers who show hems splitting the kneecap or an inch or so above. And, featured along with short skirts in many collections is the "midi-skirt," a new name for an old length, about mid-calf.

But a drastic drop soon. No, said some individual designers and manufacturers. "Skirt lengths don't change much," said Vincent Monte Sano, "even though Paris may try to give longer skirts a big push." Paris couturiers begin their fall and winter showings July 24.

COLOR BINGE

Certainly the hosiery industry is banking on continuation of the above-knee hemlines. It's off on a binge of color.

Look for daytime hosiery in texture boucles, crochets and knits, for knee highs for wear with town suits as well as with shorts. More tights are being made to eliminate that gap between short skirt and stocking top.

★ ★ ★

In footwear, watch for the blunt toe eliminating the pointed one, continued popularity of the low heel, but with some heels higher, to about two inches—what once was called the medium heel.

Boots go with everything, and the newest ones are of soft kids or vinyls, and reach well above the knees.

Most of the focus for fall is on legs, but there's room elsewhere for changes too. Start with what the milliners have in mind.

OTHER TRENDS:

Hair Styles—Some stylists call for curl, others say a smooth but not sleek "do." The shorter lengths prevail and hair pieces are more varied than ever with pin-on curls favored over the straight "fall."

Makeup—The no-color look is giving way to delicate pinks and cinnamon tones. Eye makeup goes on heavily, still, and the newest thing some of the models wear are painted-on eyelashes drawn right up to meet the eyebrow.

Convention Discussed

Chapter 4, Pontiac Blue Star Mothers, met recently in the Commerce Road home of Mrs. Lettie Hancock. The matter of delegates to attend the annual convention in Phoenix, Ariz. was discussed and tabled. Mrs. George Leinenger and Mrs. Herman Dennis were named to attend the 25th anniversary of Chapter 30 of Detroit, on Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Luncheon and games concluded the meeting.

Widow Wants to 'Beat the Traffic'--- Needs Tip on Snaring Friend's Mate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is a very nice-looking, well-to-do gentleman in this town whose wife is dying of cancer. No one knows how much longer she'll last, but she's in the hospital now, so the end is probably near.

ABBY

This gentleman would make a fine husband, and I know that the minute his wife dies there will be a rush of widows and divorcees at his doorstep.

I would like to beat the traffic, but I don't know how to go about it without being obvious. Got any ideas? Would it be O.K. to invite him to my apartment for dinner some night?

Or would it be more subtle to fix a nice hot meal and send it over to his house? Any advice you have on this subject would be appreciated. Keep my name and city confidential, please.

WIDE AWAKE WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Sorry, I can't help you "beat the traffic," but since you've asked for advice on the subject, quit scheming! You'd fool no one. Least of all the gentleman.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If a man is married to a woman who is "cold," or always "too tired" to satisfy her husband's physical needs, he gets a lot of sympathy. And if he should go elsewhere for what he's missing at home, no one blames him.

But how about a woman? She can be love-starved for years, and if she so much as looks at another man, she's considered a tramp.

Well, I'm not a tramp, Abby. I'm a decent, normal woman who has been married for 16 years to a man who has given me a fine home, children, financial security, and companionship. But for the last four years his interest in sex has diminished to nothing.

We are both in our early forties, and I think we are much too young to consider the physical side of our marriage finished. Or am I wrong? I've tried everything to revive his interest in me, but it's hopeless. He refuses to discuss it, and he won't see a doctor. Meanwhile I'm left frustrated.

I've never been unfaithful in my life, although I have had chances. I am attractive, look younger than my years, and lately I have been wondering if perhaps an affair on the side would save my husband's face, and our marriage? Or am I rationalizing? Woman to woman, what do you think?

ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: Woman to woman, I think you ought to tell your husband that if he values his marriage he had better see a doctor for a thorough check-up. He could have a physical disorder which he ought to know about.

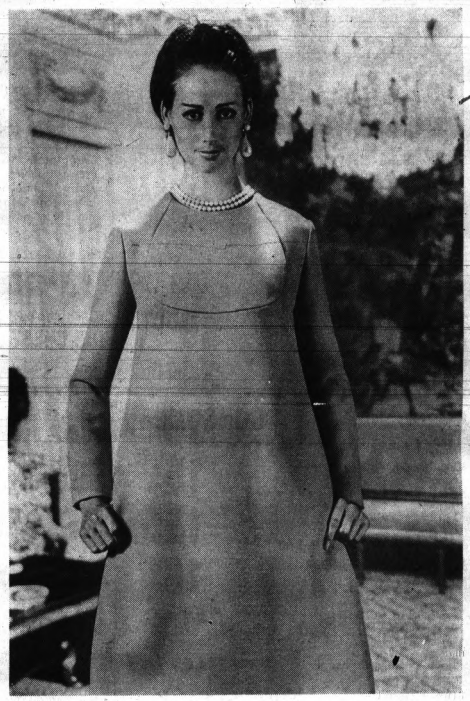

If it's not "physical," that's still another problem; but it's not normal for a man his age to have lost all interest in sex. Let him know you love him, but have serious doubts about how much longer you can remain faithful. Leave the rest to him.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056

Sylvan Lake Church Calls New Pastor

REV. J. S. SCHALKHAUSER

When the Rev. James A. Schalkhauser decided to enter the ministry he was doing what comes naturally for a Schalkhauser.

He is the fifth in his family to answer the pastoral call, following his father, grandfather and two uncles.

The Rev. Mr. Schalkhauser who was installed last Sunday as pastor of the Sylvan Lake Lutheran Church (his first parish) had this to say of his pastoral lineage: "There seems to be a natural tendency in our family toward the theological. I'm sure it had an influence on entering the ministry."

The church is located at 2399 Figa just off of Orchard Lake Road.

His ordination on June 18 at St. James Lutheran Church in Detroit was a family affair.

His father, the Rev. E. H. Schalkhauser, once pastor of that church and now regional director of evangelism for the American Lutheran Church, delivered the sermon.

An uncle, the Rev. Harry Schalkhauser, now retired, performed the ordination rites.

A graduate of Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, the new pastor completed his training at Wartburg Theological Seminary.

He interned at the First Lutheran Church in Blue Island, Ill., then taught a year at the parochial school of that church.

On Aug. 15, 1964 he married the former Joan Emmert of Mt. Cloud, Minn.

Pastor Schalkhauser was born Sept. 16, 1949, in Slayton, Minn. His hobbies are photography, repairing and building radio and TV sets, and creative design.
