Rare Heart Surgery Performed at Pontiac General Hospital

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

A rare heart operation, one of the new surgical techniques being used to save the lives of cardiac victims, was performed recently at Pontiac General Hospital by a Beck of Western Reserve University in Cleveland, the operation is known as Beck I, to distinguish it from another heart procedure also developed by him.

Developed by Dr. Claude S. Principals and essential facts about the pioneering operation at Pontiac General are these:

The Patient: The Rev. Edwin DuBois, 61, of Drayton Plains.

The Surgeon: Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger.

The Complaint: Angina pectoris, a disorder in which reduced blood flow to the heart muscles causes intense pain, and reduces or halts the patient's normal activities.

The Treatment: Restricting flow of blood from the heart muscle to encourage additional formation of vascular channels in the muscle; 2. Irritating the heart by rubbing the surface with steel wool, and injecting powdered asbestos between the heart and the sac in which it is enclosed . . . for the purpose of creating additional circulation and more adequate blood supply where most needed.

The Result: Rev. DuBois was discharged from the hospital Tuesday, 12 days after the operation. Tests indicate his condition is near normal. He may look forward to a goodly number of additional years of active life.

The above paragraphs reduce Rev. DuBois' operation to the simplest possible terms, for ease of understanding.

The operation, of course, is not that simple. In fact it is not simple at all. Like all heart surgery it is quite complicated.

The operating surgeon is backed up by competent assistants; trained operating-room teams do their part; sensitive instruments and machines assist every step of the way. All possible emergencies are anticipated and plans made to meet them. These things are discussed later in this article.

Here is what happened in the operating room at Pontiac General Hospital:

PREPARATION, SAFEGUARDS

At the start of the operation these things were done to safeguard the patient and assist the surgeon:

1.—An anesthetic drug was given in the vein of his arm.

2.—A tube was inserted through his mouth into his windpipe, to supply extra oxygen as needed.

3.—A cardiograph was attached by wires to his arms and legs. Through these wires electric impulses registered at all times on the machine the patient's heart beat. This electronic "watchdog" would warn the surgeon instantly through irregular heart beats of any impending danger.

4.—Ready for use also was a machine (called Jefferson ventilator) designed to fill and empty the lungs, thus taking over the actual breathing for the patient as necessary during the operation.

5.—Finally, tubes were inserted in the patient's veins in order that extra blood, other fluids and medicine could be administered quickly if needed.

With these preparations, the operation could proceed. The patient lay on his right side, with

Benefits of Operation on Eden Not Determined

BOSTON (AP)—The doctor who operated on former British Prime Minister Anthony Eden said today "it is too early to determine the ultimate benefit that will be obtained from the operation."

Dr. Richard Cattell, who operated on Eden for a bile duct obstruction last Saturday, also said in a morning bulletin that "it is impossible to predict whether there will be a recurrence of the obstruction."

The weatherman said the temperature would be around the 50-degree mark but that the skies would be cloudy with some fog. The chances of a heavy rain are remote, he added.

The Tigers are due to meet the Cleveland Indians, with Billy Hoelt, the Tigers' 20-game winning southpaw, opposing another 20-game winner, righthander Bob Lemon of the Indians.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers and a high of 56 to 60.

Last night's fog forced Detroit area airports to close and caused cancellation of Willow Run commercial flights from 8 p.m. until early today. Heavy fog also caused 54 freighters to drop anchor near Detroit.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 47. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 52.

The annual Good Friday services sponsored by the Pontiac Pastors' Association will be held from noon to 3 p.m. in Central Methodist Church. The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, president of the association, will preside for the first hour.

The Seven Last Words of Christ will be given by the following pastors, the Rev. William H. Hakes of the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Maynard Oest-erle of Bethel Evangelical & Reformed Church, and the Rev. Orville Eastman of the First United Missionary Church.

Tigers Face Rain for Home Opener

DETROIT (AP)—The Weather Bureau said today the home opener of the Detroit Tigers will be marred by light rain or drizzle through most of the afternoon.

The weatherman said the temperature would be around the 50-degree mark but that the skies would be cloudy with some fog. The chances of a heavy rain are remote, he added.

The Tigers are due to meet the Cleveland Indians, with Billy Hoelt, the Tigers' 20-game winning southpaw, opposing another 20-game winner, righthander Bob Lemon of the Indians.

'Wife Has Amnesia or Is Captive'—Scott

DETROIT (AP)—Leonard Ewing Scott, facing charges of juggling his wealthy wife's money and murdering her, says she is "alive and either being held against her will for profit or suffering from amnesia."

Scott's 63-year-old wife, the five times married Los Angeles socialite Mrs. Evelyn Throsby Scott, disappeared from her swanky home two years ago. She was not reported missing until a year later and no trace has been found other than some personal effects in the backyard of her home.

Scott, sought 11 months by the police of two countries, was apprehended Monday at the Canadian end of the International Tunnel that connects Detroit with Windsor, Ont.

He is in jail here awaiting an extradition hearing May 7.

Scott, meeting with newsmen after spending a night in jail, said he jumped bond and fled California last May because he feared for his life. A "strange car" forced him off a highway, he said, and he decided to "keep going while I was still around."

At the time he was free under $25,000 bond, he had been indicted by a Los Angeles Grand Jury on a charge of mishandling his wife's estate. The estate was estimated at $600,000.

Five months later Scott, a 60-year-old retired Los Angeles investment broker, was indicted by a Los Angeles Grand Jury on a charge of murder in the disappearance of his wife.

GIVES MESSAGE

Scott declined to elaborate on his theory that his wife is alive and being held captive or is a victim of amnesia, but in answer to a newsmen's question he said he would like to get this message to her:

"I would like to tell Evelyn to return if she can and clear this thing up. She does not have to explain any of her actions or where she has been, any more than she has in the past."

He said his wife's wealth was "ludicrously" less than the "fantastic figure" of $600,000.

It was indicated that the new court test, probably in the form of a quo warranto proceeding questioning his right to serve, will not be undertaken until Mackie is sworn into office.

Holy Week services at St. Mary's in the Hills Episcopal Church will

At the Lutheran Church of the Ascension, Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 tonight and at the same time Friday, a special office of prayer will be held.

New members will be received into the fellowship of the First Congregational Church tonight at 7:30. The Women's Fellowship will

Civilians Hear Reports of Progress in Starting 4-Year College

By HAROLD S. COHEN

A local branch of Michigan State University will open its doors to some 1,000 Oakland-Macomb County students in the fall of 1959, if all goes according to present plans, Durwood Varner, MSU vice president told the Pontiac Civitan Club at a luncheon meeting yesterday.

An architect has been engaged for the first building to be erected at Meadowbrook Farm, the 1,400 acre estate between Pontiac and Rochester given last January to the university by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson, he said.

Dr. Varner added the architect was now doing site studies and the construction contract should be let in about one year, with 18 months for completion.

Funds for this first building will come from the $2 million given MSU by Mrs. Wilson along with the $8 million estate, he said.

A complete four-year college is planned, Dr. Varner told the club, based on the recommendations of a citizens' committee.

The committee rejected both a junior college and a senior college alone as inadequate for the needs of the two counties.

It suggested a broad liberal arts university, with emphasis on schools of engineering, business administration and teacher training.

Union Official Denies Violence

Testimony of Others Calling Him Terrorist Branded as False

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Durkin, a power in the Scranton, Pa., Teamsters Union, today branded as false testimony linking him with violence.

He protested against being questioned now before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, contending it might prejudice his trial on pending federal charges of taking "kickbacks" and new trial on charges of conspiracy in the dynamiting of a home.

But the graying, 50-year-old witness invoked his Fifth Amendment plea. He had invoked the amendment's protection against self-incrimination yesterday in refusing to tell the committee his occupation—the only question asked him then.

But today, with his lawyer beside him, Durkin answered the question and challenged the truthfulness of prior accusing witnesses.

He identified himself as secretary-treasurer and business agent of the Teamsters Union Local 229, vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and financial secretary of the Central Labor Union in Scranton.

Under questioning by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), the committee chairman, and Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, Durkin denied he ever made threatening telephone calls to Arnold Schiavi, Italian pizza baker in Scranton, as Schiavi had testified.

He also denied that he had supplied a stink bomb and ordered it thrown through Schiavi's bakery window, as alleged by Paul Bradshaw, self-styled former strong arm man for the union.

Turnpike Hopes Pinned on Bill

Senate Eyes Legislation Giving Road Authority Financial Boost

Hopes for the dormant Michigan Turnpike Authority and its plans for a north-south toll road east of Pontiac are pinned on legislation placed yesterday before the Senate in Lansing.

Authority Chairman George N. Higgins, of Ferndale today said he is hopeful for enactment of the bill to provide a financial shot in the arm for his agency.

State gasoline taxes derived from turnpike use would be pledged by the measure to back up retirement of turnpike bond issues, if tolls fell short of expectation.

This guarantee would make sale of bonds attractive enough, Higgins believed, to interest purchasers who last summer flatly refused to invest in the toll road.

The bill was reported favorably out of the Senate Highways Committee yesterday. If passed by the Senate, and by the House, Higgins is sure bonding companies will be willing to invest.

Offices, Stores Plan Three-Hour Closing

City and county offices and most downtown stores will be closed tomorrow from noon until 3 p.m. in observance of Good Friday.

Most shops in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center will be closed then also.

Both downtown banks, their branches, and savings and loan associations must remain open but will be operating on "skeleton crews," officials reported.

2 Auto Insurance Groups Won't Up Rates; Third Has

Two major auto insurance companies said today that they will not boost their rates, while a third said a rate hike is already in effect.

Robert Gibbons, district manager for State Farm Insurance Co., said auto insurance rates were raised recently to meet higher repair costs and company losses.

But at the same time, spokesmen for Allstate Insurance Co. and the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Automobile Club of Michigan said they did not contemplate rate boosts at this time.

These announcements followed yesterday's report that 250 companies in the state, writing policies under two national bureaus, had hiked their rates.

Unmarried males under 25 years are expected to bear the brunt of the increases because of rising number of accidents in this classification, Joseph A. Navarre, state insurance commissioner, said.

Gibbons reported that in this classification for liability insurance on an annual scale, rates went up April 11 from $56 to $78. Minor increases were noted in the over-25 class, while comprehensive insurance was boosted 18 per cent, he said.

For the many burred companies here, rates for the under-25 male class jumped Wednesday from $76 to $116.

Gloomy Is the Word for Weather Outlook

The U. S. Weather Bureau reports that "gloomy" is the word best describing the weather expected this weekend. But gloom or no, temperatures will be mild.

Occasional rain or drizzle and fog are in tonight's outlook, low near 48.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers and a high of 56 to 60.

Last night's fog forced Detroit area airports to close and caused cancellation of Willow Run commercial flights from 8 p.m. until early today. Heavy fog also caused 54 freighters to drop anchor near Detroit.

City Bus Drivers Reject Contract

Seek Larger Increase, Other Fringe Benefits in New Agreement

City bus drivers last night rejected a proposed company two-year contract as the drivers' union and Pontiac City Lines, Inc. continued negotiations to prevent a stoppage of bus service here.

The contract included a seven cents hourly wage increase and additions to driver vacation plans, according to John Sytsma, president of Local 1079 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.

Forty drivers have asked for a 20-cent wage boost. They presently receive $1.85 an hour.

Sytsma said a walkout of the drivers "will perhaps" occur, but added, "we will exhaust all possible efforts to reach an agreement first."

"The contract didn't include anything on holidays or insurance fringe benefits we had asked for," he added.

He said he knew of no immediate plans for another company-union meeting. Officials of the company were not available for comment.

Foreign Pilgrims Gather in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Foreign pilgrims began gathering in Jerusalem today for visits to holy places over the Easter weekend.

Groups of 34 from Denmark, 30 from Italy and 20 priests mostly from Canada arrived at the Israeli port of Haifa yesterday aboard the liner Messapia.

This year's Easter tourist season is the poorest in years. Only about 1,500 foreigners had arrived in Israel or Jordan by Monday to make the pilgrimage to the holy places. Last year the number was 15,000.

The slump is attributed to the tense Middle East situation.

2 Bengal Tigers Fight Fatal Battle in Circus Arena

NEW YORK (AP)—Two tigers staged a jungle-style fight to the death before 15,000 spectators in the circus arena at Madison Square Garden yesterday.

A 7-year-old female royal bengal tiger named Ila—valued at nearly $5,000—was killed by a 4-year-old male named Rajah. The fight lasted three minutes.

The two first cuffed and snarled at each other during their act, in which they were part of a team of 12 tigers handled by trainer Trevor Bale.

Bale apparently managed to pacify them but at the end of the act, as the tigers were being herded into a runway to leave the ring, Rajah pounced on Ila and the mauling, clawing death battle ensued.

Roustabouts of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus, armed with steel bars, finally separated the two tigers and got them out of the arena. Ila bled to death while a veterinarian worked over her.

Rajah suffered only a few scratches and will stay with the act.

Boys' Club Director Coulacos Resigns

The Board of Directors of the Pontiac Boys' Club today accepted the resignation of William V. Coulacos as executive director of the club.

Coulacos, 30, is leaving the club almost four years to the day he was appointed to direct the local club. He will remain in Pontiac as a life insurance agent.

"Bill has built this club up to one of the outstanding boys clubs in the country," Addison K. Oakley, president of the club, said as the board accepted the resignation with regrets.

"The philosophy he has used to get down to the level of the boy in program and guidance techniques has been recognized as the success factor for the boys club movement in this city," Oakley commented.

Before being appointed executive director in April 1933, Coulacos held assistant directorship at the Holyoke, Mass. Boys Club.

After leaving there, Coulacos was appointed physical education director here, a position he held before being appointed executive director.

He is president of the Boys' Clubs of Michigan and Ohio Assn., a member of the Boys' Clubs of America Professional Assn., and a member of a committee on teenage programs and activities for the Boys' Clubs of America.

A graduate of Springfield College in Springfield, Mass., Coulacos received a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education and a master's degree in education.

He lives with his wife and one daughter at 102 E. Sheffield Ave.

Edgar Disclaims Breach With Ike

Brother of President Insists No Differences Exist in Family

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edgar Eisenhower says "a breach in our family is the last thing that could ever develop."

Edgar, the President's older brother, also said last night:

"I want to make it very plain there are no differences between my brothers and me. We can differ on a friendly basis and no rancor is involved."

He caused quite a stir earlier this week when he was quoted as criticizing the size of the President's budget.

When the President was asked yesterday about this and about reports that Edgar was "disturbed about the liberal influence of Milton and Sherrin Adams," he told his news conference good humorously:

"Edgar has been criticizing me since I was 5 years old."

Edgar Eisenhower, 68, is 22 months older than the President. Milton Eisenhower, another brother of the President, is head of Johns Hopkins University and sometimes has been consulted on various matters by the chief executive. Sherman Adams is Eisenhower's top aide.

Edgar, a Tacoma, Wash., attorney, attended a White House stag dinner last night, along with other guests of the President.

Later, he told an interviewer that "Dwight and Milton kiddingly gave me some advice about dealing with the press."

In Chicago, Earl Eisenhower, a young brother of the President, said "it's nothing new" for Edgar to be critical. He added that Edgar has "been that way for about 60 years."

The Day in Birmingham Pastoral Institute Slated to Open for Studies Soon

Howe S.T.D., professor of pastoral theology at the Protestant Episcopal seminary in Virginia for 13 years will direct the newly founded institute.

Hazel Park Holdup Suspect Arrested

Troy Police arrested a Hazel Park man yesterday and charged him with being one of three men who attempted to hold up a gas station attendant April 9.

William Amos Wall, 21, of 23704 Melville, Hazel Park, is in the Oakland County Jail today awaiting examination before Troy Justice Charles H. Losey Monday. He failed to furnish a $3,000 bond.

Troy Police Chief David E. Gratto said Wall admitted he was one who shot at Walter Popovich, attendant at Mobil Gas Station, 5007 Rochester Rd.

Wall took police to a woods near John R. between 17 and 18 Mile roads yesterday where he had thrown a .22 caliber pistol that night, and the gun was recovered according to Gratto.

Dewayne A. Youngblood, 20, of 6167 Voerner, Center Line, arrested after he was held by Popovich while two men fled, is also in jail awaiting examination Monday.

Oak Park Industrialist Admits Tax Evasion

George N. Atkinson Jr., owner of the Zenith Manufacturing Co., 26670 Harding St., Oak Park, yesterday admitted in Detroit Federal Court he failed to pay more than $145,000 due in income taxes.

Judge Theodore Levin deferred sentencing until a probation department report.

Atkinson, 38, of 19334 Archdale Rd., Detroit, pleaded guilty to two parts of a four-count indictment drawn Jan. 22 on charges of evading taxes from 1930 to 1933.

He was free under $20,000 personal bond. Atkinson is known as a leading manufacturer of precision airplane engine parts.

George E. Woods, assistant U.S. attorney, said the government will file civil suit to collect $218,344 in unpaid taxes, penalties and interest.

Walled Lake Youth Hurt as Car Hits Culvert

Michael Smith, 16, of 40000 Fourteen Mile Rd., Walled Lake, was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after the station wagon he was driving ran off the road and hit a culvert yesterday.

Sheriff's deputies report Smith was driving west on Fourteen Mile road about 8:30 p.m. when the accident occurred between Decker and Haggerty roads.

Lansing Family to See Mideast

Will Visit Grandfather, Premier of Jordan, Summer in Lebanon

LANSING (U) — Three young Lansing children will fly with their mother to the Middle East next month for a first meeting with their grandfather—the new premier of the Arab state of Jordan.

News of appointment of Dr. Hussein Fahri Khalidi, 51, as premier in the seven-man cabinet of King Hussein of Jordan came as a thrill to his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hatem Khalidi of Lansing.

She said his appointment "assures that Jordan will continue to align itself with the Western powers."

Mrs. Khalidi met her husband in 1947 at Michigan State University where he was studying for a master's degree in geology. Both are of Lebanese descent.

Khalidi, now a United States citizen, has worked for various oil companies since receiving his degree in 1950 and recently has been prospecting for uranium, oil and other minerals in Yemen, a tiny, mountainous country in Saudi Arabia.

Their children are Ramsey, 6; Omar, 3; and Lila Joy, 2.

The family plans to leave New York next month for Beirut, Lebanon, where they will live for the summer. They will return to this country in the autumn and take up permanent residence in Texas.

Invite Youths to Observe Scandinavian Council

COPENHAGEN — The advisory Scandinavian Council has agreed to admit observers from political youth organizations in Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Iceland, and Finland to all its plenary sessions.

Elephant-Skin Boys, Giants Hard to Find

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — It's getting tougher and tougher to find good commercial freaks.

That's the conclusion of Dick Best, an official of Royal American Shows, who for a good part of his 31 years in show business has been rounding up fat women, giants, elephantskin boys, two-faced men and so forth.

Best says better pre-natal care

Receive Full Treatment

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Four chickens were penalized for failing to place in a poultry show.

Their boy owners took the birds behind the coliseum and enjoyed barbecued chicken.

Thirteen Big Number in Lives of Twins

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Twins Ronald and Donald Bezella are 13, and their parents have the figures, mostly 13, to prove it.

The boys were born at 9:13 a.m., Aug. 13, 1943. Their mother, whose birthday is July 13, was in room 413 at the hospital and had been married 13 years when the boys arrived.

Ronald and Donald each have 13 letters in their names and were baptized on the 13th Sunday of the year. The boys will graduate from the eighth grade on June 13.

All the Facts Exposed

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The Van Tan Club, a nudist group, has offered to provide speakers of both sexes to organizations wanting to learn about the nudist philosophy.

Texas Isn't Much, Says Arizona Native in Paper

SAN MANUEL, Ariz. (AP) — The weekly San Manuel Miner recently printed on its front page — in boldface type and "with great pleasure" — this letter from Texas:

"I want to subscribe to the Miner. I used to live in your fair city, and loved it. I miss San Manuel and Arizona very much."

Texas don't have much to brag about."

The paper did not print the subscriber's name "for fear word of this may find its way to Texas and reprisals may be visited on this fine San Manuel booster."

Iceland has put new taxes on "necessentials" — cars, foreign exchange issued for travel abroad, and other items, to raise funds for its anti-inflation program. Reykjavik reports.

Students May Fidget; School Open in April

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When pupils in mountain schools of Pike County become restless about mid-April, it is understandable. Traditionally, in other years, rural classrooms have closed then, to save the children travel on roads muddied by spring rains and thaws, and to enable them to help with spring farm chores.

They returned to school on the nearest Monday to July 20th, while pupils in more urban areas were in the middle of their vacations. Last, the county board decreed, all schools would open at the same time, in September, and close in late May.

A Baghdad carpet firm now uses looms from England. Carpets made on these looms cannot be distinguished from handmade, it is claimed. (Whether they will fly has not been determined.)

Downtown Merchants Plan City Face-Lifting

Pontiac's Downtown Merchants' Association gives every indication of becoming one of the liveliest organizations functioning in the City.

The executive committee held another meeting this week and it was apparent that the spirit "to-do" is uppermost. President A. C. GIRARD outlined a full and busy program. It will require man hours and dollars and the group pledges both.

A thorough modernization program is "in the mill." This generally includes active participation in hastening a new through-way and especially one which will aid downtown. Secondly comes the question of "skid row" and Federal aid in clearing these sub-standard Saginaw street blocks if possible and replacing them with the most modern retail establishments possible. Also, the group believes downtown Pontiac needs a general face lifting, in addition to the big skid row project.

Merchants will be urged to modernize the interiors of their stores and add new fronts. The question of parking is another big problem which the group will study and consider. Plans are laid for personal visits to other cities which are ahead of Pontiac. A few have already launched downtown improvement programs and the local group plans to study their operations and profit from their mistakes and their triumphs. Also, there will be concerted merchandising events in which the group participates.

The entire program will be worked through close cooperation with City Manager Walter K. Willman who will constitute the clearing house for all coordinated activities.

Labor Force in U.S.A. Almost Fully Employed

According to the Commerce and Labor Departments total employment in the United States reached 63.2 million in February, the highest in history for that month.

Commerce Secretary WEEKS announced a few days ago that the figure for March would be almost 64 million, indicating a healthy increase in the number of jobs.

In January when employment declined to 62.9 million after the holiday season, the number of persons classified as unemployed totaled 2.9 million, slightly more than in January, 1936. But of this total almost half, 1.4 million, had been out of work four weeks or less. Only 188,000 had been jobless for more than 26 weeks—a half year.

Individuals in the "over 26 weeks" group represented the hard core of the unemployed. Yet in January they were only three-tenths of one per cent of the U.S. civilian labor force of 65,830,000. This is such a small percentage that at the present time the goal of "full employment" in this country virtually has been attained.

A WESTERN woman whose husband gave her 25 cents a day to use as she wished saved these quarters until she accumulated enough to buy a divorce. There are some women a man can't afford to be nice to.

Soviet Citizens Cheated

The Soviet Government has announced that it is preparing to suspend for 20 to 25 years any further payments in interest and principal on about $65 billion worth of bonds it has sold to its people under pressure.

In breaking the bad news Soviet Secretary KHRUSHCHEV, anticipating criticism, hoped to soften the blow by this propaganda barrage:

"The capitalist merchant who would cut his father's throat for one-half per cent of profit," said KHRUSHCHEV, "will never understand the soul of the Soviet people. He will never believe you are doing this of your own free will. He will read the papers and say they have intimidated the workers and peasants into accepting this measure."

And the "capitalist merchant" would be right. In other words the workers' forced loans to the Soviet government of from two to four weeks pay every year are being confiscated.

In JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, a 105-year-old bachelor who became engaged to an 87-year-old woman told a reporter, "At last I've found the right woman."—News item. In this case the saying, "Better late than never," probably applies rather weakly.

The Man About Town

An Early Spring?

Many Indications of It, but Some Contradictions

Fat man: One who usually can be trusted, because it's difficult for him to stoop to anything low.

Despite some reports to the contrary, a glorious spring season seems to be waiting in even a little ahead of time. With forsythia bushes resplendent with a yellow glow more intensive than in former years,

Mrs. Randall Orcutt of Waterford says that all other vegetation is following suit at least two weeks ahead of the average year.

Crocus in bloom in her yard under the last snow are reported by Mrs. Margaret Opperman of Walled Lake, who also has tulips in bud.

Responding to a treatment of forced growth (which she says is a secret), pansies in the yard of Mrs. Coventry Redworth of Drayton Plains, started blooming this week. She expects to have peonies in bloom next week.

Narcissus plants in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Sullivan of Elizabeth Lake Estates, are given a consistent heat treatment by the furnace chimney, and already have flowers nearly six inches across.

Even the hens are doing their share to make it a prolific spring, with one in the flock of Frank Peterson of Columbiaville, laying an egg 3x6 inches in size.

However, still a firm believer in the old theory that the frogs must be frozen up three times before spring is here for keeps,

Ferry Latimer of Rochester, phones that they still have twice to go.

Saturday is the final day to mail your entry in this column's

Big Oak Tree Contest, giving its approximate diameter three feet above the ground, and other particulars.

Out with his usual flare for statistics, Larry Lynn of Birmingham, phones me that after an observation of over 30 years, he has found that a poor start means a good finish for the Detroit Tigers.

Married in a double wedding 40 years ago,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hauxwell and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings of Lake Orion, have missed only two anniversaries of the occasion when they did not celebrate it together.

And It Is Like Pulling Teeth!

Propaganda Funds Foolishly Cut

WASHINGTON — Billions for war, but a mere pittance for the dissemination of ideas that could influence peoples abroad, restrain war! That's the curious result of "meat-axe" method of cutting the budget which seems to have been adopted by the Democratic Party that controls Congress today.

The proposed cost of armaments runs to $38 billion. It is a vital part of the federal budget, because it is counted on to help deter potential enemies from attacking the United States and its allies.

But less than one-third of one per cent of what is being spent for armament now has been appropriated by the House of Representatives for the U.S. Information Agency, which has the main responsibility for transmitting the American viewpoint on peace throughout the world.

A cut of $38,000,000 just made by the House of Representatives leaves the U.S. Information Agency $106,000,000 for next year. This is $7,000,000 less than was voted for the current year. Yet the problems of the Middle East and the Far East are no less critical than they were, and the task of cementing relations with our allies in Europe has not by any means diminished in importance.

RUSSIA SPENDS BILLIONS Soviet Russia spends billions where America spends a few millions in communicating with other peoples, especially in the areas of most strategic importance. The United States is relatively new at the business of exporting ideas. Some mistakes have been made—but not as many perhaps as in the doing out of billions to foreign governments to help rehabilitate their economic structures since World War II.

The objective—to prevent the spread of international communism—is admitted everywhere in Washington to be worth while. But when it comes to supplying the necessary funds to carry on that phase of the "cold war," Congress seems indifferent.

This is not because of partisanship alone. There are other factors. One is the lack of familiarity of members of Congress themselves with the many influences that are operative every day in foreign lands to check American diplomacy and threaten the defeat of our efforts to win the friendship of other peoples.

The Soviet auxiliaries among the intellectuals are numerous in many countries, and the press is actually controlled by agents of Moscow in various parts of the world where the U.S. information service is trying to offset Communist propaganda. It's a battle that America cannot afford to lose, and it takes money to fight that kind of warfare.

The U.S. Information Agency makes available free, for instance, the texts of important American pronouncements of policy because the newspapers abroad couldn't possibly afford to pay the heavy costs of cable tolls to get those speeches transmitted. There are literally dozens of other worthwhile projects which are designed to inform the peoples abroad concerning America's peaceful intentions and her humanitarian interest in the welfare of other nations. Instead of encouraging this work, Congress is shortsightedly discouraging it.

AMERICANS SHOCKED

It is shocking to any American who travels abroad to discover how little is known about the United States even in the English-speaking countries. Very few newspapers and periodicals are sent from America to other countries—only a few thousands here and there. The vast population of the rest of the world has a scant knowledge of America's purposes and policies. As a consequence, the distortions distributed by the Communists have to be challenged again and again. If Congress doesn't furnish the necessary money to the U.S. Information Agency, the growth of anti-American sentiment will go unchecked.

The potentialities of the various means of communication are limitless. Yet the House of Representatives has actually cut down the program of the U.S. Information Agency and evidently prefers to give a clear field to the Communists in this "cold war." Will the Senate do likewise?

What the House has just done is a tragic development—a failure to recognize that war can be prevented only by getting peoples to reject the policies of dictators and by winning the hearts and minds of peoples. Ideas are plentiful, but money to convey them is almost as necessary as any other deterrent force.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Rabies Season on Way -- Watch Out for Phobias!

Well, here we go again. The "rabies season" is coming! It seems to me it is high time that the medical profession re-examine phobia and try to take a 20th century view of it.

Such as the view of Drs. Dowling and Denison after

DR. BRADY many years of experience in dealing with the rabies problem in Birmingham, Ala. They say:

"Rabies is primarily a veterinary problem. Regardless of its prevalence in dogs, it will probably never cause sufficient mortality among human beings in this region" (the rabies capital of North America) "to allow its classification as a public health problem of importance."

That, I believe, is the most sensible thing that any authority has said about the phobia since I began "quacking it" in the newspapers.

Please understand clearly that anything I say about the treatment of dog bite is merely my opinion. Certainly, I don't know any more about it than any other doctor knows or should know.

TREAT AS OTHER WOUNDS

I believe the treatment of dog bite is or should be the same as the treatment of any other fresh wound: Wash out the wound with soap and water, cut away dead tissue, close the wound with stitches, if necessary, apply a sterile or mildly antiseptic dressing to protect against secondary infection. Then administer tetanus antitoxin or toxoid.

That's all the treatment I'd want if I were bitten by an animal that a veterinarian suspected or believed rabid. Under no conceivable circumstance would I submit to so-called Pasteur treatment.

In my opinion, the practice of cauterizing dog bite with fuming nitric acid or other destructive agent is unjustifiable, for two reasons.

First, it leaves the wound in the most favorable condition for the growth of clostridium tetani (tetanus bacillus, lockjaw germ) and production of its deadly toxin. Second, it leaves an ugly scar—if the victim recovers.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Psychology Can Work Wonders

Jed was a veritable "bearcat" at the office. However, his secretary used good strategy. Soon he not only liked her, but she no longer hated him. Remember the old story about the contest between the sun and the wind who tried to make the traveler shed his coat? Well, sincere compliments create a sunny atmosphere and melt down the coldest type of personality.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case U-338: Jed Z., aged 43, is typical of a certain type of boss.

"Dr. Crane, he was a bearcat at the office," his secretary informed me.

"When I first started to work for him, I was in tears twice before the day ended. I finally decided I couldn't stand him any longer."

"He would scold everybody else for his own mistakes and even snoop around my desk just to find some minor flaw so he could criticize me."

"Nobody in the office liked him. One of the other girls told me he had three secretaries in the last year who quit."

"So I determined to do the same. But the salary was good and I have a widowed mother living with me, so I hesitated."

"That's when I decided to take your course in applied psychology. I figured if I couldn't learn how to get along with him by the end of the first six weeks of your class, then I'd look for another job, regardless."

City Commission Replies to Letter of Paul Kern Jr.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Mr. Paul A. Kern Jr., a resident of Orchard Lake, recently raised the question as to why we pay more for a city manager than the City of Toledo, a city four times the size of Pontiac.

The present city manager of Toledo held a similar position in Pueblo, Colo., a city much smaller than Pontiac. He was hired by the City of Toledo within the last three months at an annual salary of $17,250. The Ohio Municipal League has recommended that the position should eventually pay $25,000.

Pontiac's city manager, Mr. Walter K. Willman, is a veteran with 25 years experience and is nationally recognized as one of the top men in his profession. This is proved by hardly a month going by without some city bidding for his services and also by the fact that Mr. Kern's father was one of the City Commissioners who succeeded in enticing Mr. Willman to leave Port Huron and to come to Pontiac.

In 1931 Pontiac was employing a director of public safety and a civilian defense director at salaries of $7,500 and $5,200 per year, respectively. Mr. Willman has assumed these duties himself and has thus saved $12,700 a year without disrupting the smooth operation of the City of Pontiac.

A good city manager will save the city his salary many, many times over. Pontiac is fortunate to have such an able man to administer our city affairs.

I see Saginaw street assessments have been reduced and I guess it's justified. However, if we get that new road near downtown, we may be able to restore the former figure. We need the money and the business.

'Congress Didn't Know Better'

I think Mr. Summerfield should not have caused so much disappointment and expense to the people by not opening the post offices on Saturday just because some Congressmen held up his appropriation. They probably did not know better.

It was probably the same Congressmen who built a $128,000 cow barn in Lebanon just to show the farmers what kinds of barns they wanted on the farms. What a joke, when the best of the farmers lives on $100 or less a year.

It was probably the same Congressmen that gave India $20.5 million worth of new railroad equipment. Only three nations in the world have better equipment than India, and her ruler could have given millions, if needed. For more facts and figures read the article of George Meader of Michigan which recently appeared in a national digest.

Tired of Paying Postal Deficit

Before World War II the Post Office Department lost less than 50 million dollars a year. Now it runs ten times that. The Government handles every class of mail, except parcel post, for less than cost. The bigger the volume of mail, the more the taxpayers will have to dig up.

All "mail rates should be increased. I, for one, am tired of paying the postal deficit for a lot of other people. These gigantic firms that use the mail on enormous scales can pay their own bills.

'We Earn Living Just like You'

"Reader's" letter was slightly ridiculous. There are no hands than feed us save God's and our own. We work hard for what we get just like anyone else. We pay taxes, buy food, clothing, etc. Nothing is given to us.

Wages are good here, but the cost of living is much higher here, so a person doesn't come out ahead.

Starving? Not by a long shot. People of the South put fine meals on their tables and there's always enough in case company drops in. We don't really know why we came, so don't ask us. It would be hard to answer. Michigan is far from being the land of plenty.

School Policy Is Criticized

When a person spends thousands of dollars to buy a home within five blocks of a school, you would think his worries about a school would be over. But the School Board says the policy is not to have over 650 students in an elementary school. Therefore, it is necessary, to send our children 12 blocks to school, across four main intersections with worry of the shop traffic going to and from Pontiac Motors.

Maybe the board is going to buy some new property to build a million dollar building for another small school, when a few thousand could put a good addition on some of the present buildings and make a lot of tax paying parents happy. As it is a lot of parents are dissatisfied with the way the Board of Education is being operated.

Guidance Clinic Open House Set

Plans for Observance of Mental Health Week in Pontiac, Birmingham

Plans for open houses during Mental Health Week were formulated at the monthly board meeting of the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic yesterday.

The Pontiac Clinic will hold open house from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m. May 2, and the Birmingham branch will do the same May 1, Mrs. Edwin Clarke, of Birmingham, reported.

The board also discussed the clinic's participation in a joint workshop with Pontiac State Hospital on "The Disturbed Child in Treatment."

The workshop, for professional people, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday, at the hospital.

The clinic also will take a booth at the Health Fair, sponsored by the United Community Services of Southern Oakland County, May 23-25 at Northland.

Dr. Herman Dunseith, head of the steering committee, reported on progress in establishing a south Oakland branch of the clinic.

Pontiac Man, 60, Will See Brother for First Time

A 60-year-old Pontiac man was scheduled to leave for New York today to see his brother for the first time.

Harry G. Pappas, of 740 E. Pike St., retired city restaurateur, expects to greet the ship Queen Fredericks Tuesday. A brother, Stefanos, 41, is sailing in on the ship after serving as a Greek clergyman for its Easter voyage.

The elder Pappas said his brother, born 10 years after he left Greece for the United States in 1907, is both a minister and a student at the Mt. Athos Monastery in Daphni, Greece.

"Even though he has no visa to land in this country, I hope to talk to some people in New York so I may have a visit for at least a day," an excited Harry Pappas said.

Boy, 10, Hurt Saturday, Reported Improving

Ten-year-old Walter Jones Jr. involved in an accident while riding his homemade bicycle Saturday, was taken off of the critical list today at Pontiac General Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the boy was "fairly good." He was operated on Saturday night for a fractured skull and "severe concussion."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, 111 1/2 E. Huron St.

sity is still an unsettled problem, Dr. Varner said. He listed three possibilities:

1. Funds from industry.
2. Direct state grants by appropriation.

3. A state law which would permit MSU to finance a building program bond issue by pledging all student fees to repayment.

Dr. Varner said he thought the third proposal would go a long way to solve the growing pains of the state's colleges and universities.

In discussing the need for a university in the Oakland-Macomb area, Dr. Varner cited both population growth predictions and projected increases in MSU enrollment.

He said Oakland-Macomb will hit a combined population of 878,000 persons by 1970 and 2 million by 1980.

COLLEGE NEEDED

Even today, he continued, the area is probably the only one of its density in the country without a single post-high school educational institution.

Dr. Varner said predictions of MSU growth, which have always been too low in the past, show a student body of 44,000 by 1970, compared with 19,125 now and 6,900 before World War II.

"This is more than we want on one campus," he said. "We would like to limit our East Lansing enrollment to around 30,000."

The only answer, he added, is to diffuse the student body with local branches of the university. This would prove a great saving to parents, by permitting their youngsters to live at home while attending college, he stated.

Meadowbrook Hall, the fabulous Wilson home, would probably not be used for offices or a student union, but would be preserved as a cultural center, Dr. Varner said.

The Sarah Van Housen Jones gift of 300 acres, northeast of Rochester, which was made just before the Wilson gift, he said, would not be developed in the near future, but would become a valuable adjunct to the branch university in years to come.

Congress Faces Easter Dilemma

Must Cancel Vacation or Recess Without Vote on Fund for Nedy

WASHINGTON (INS)—The 85th Congress must decide today whether to take an Easter recess without voting funds to keep up payments to the nation's needy.

That was the big political issue — and the big political risk — in a deficiency resolution hanging fire in both houses on the eve of a planned ten-day Easter holiday.

Both houses halted work last night after a day of battling the deficiency measure back and forth, with each chamber refusing to give in completely on the several issues involved.

Major point of dispute affected 275 million dollars of federal grants to the states for continuation of assistance payments to the aged, blind, disabled and dependent children.

This was being held up by a fight over a House demand for a $16,728,000 limitation on administrative expenses for the program. The Senate was insisting that the present 50-50 federal-state division be continued.

Detroiters Bound Over on Hazel Park Theft

Two Detroit men waived examination and were bound over to Circuit Court yesterday charged with stealing sheet metal from a Hazel Park awning company.

After failing to furnish $2,000 bonds, William Madison, 26, of 3589 28th St., and Jesse White, 36, of 3550 29th St., were returned to the Oakland County Jail until arraignment in the higher court Monday.

They were arraigned before Hazel Park Justice Robert C. Baldwin.

CMC Graduate to Head Camp

John Leroy, 27, Takes Post at Boys Ranch; to Supervise 20 Lads

A Central Michigan College graduate has been named resident superintendent of Camp Oakland, operated by Oakland County Juvenile Court on Handsome Lake between Oxford and Lake Orion.

John R. Leroy, 27, takes over duties as superintendent of the year-round Boys' Ranch, Camp Director William Matus announced.

The $5,000-a-year job was left vacant by Richard Wagner, who resigned recently for a teaching profession.

A former resident of Mt. Pleasant, Leroy was graduated in February with a major in psychology. Married, he will live at the camp to supervise the activities of an average 20 boys, placed there as wards of the court.

This program is in addition to summertime activities for 200 boys of the Oakland County Children's Home and the wintertime work program for a smaller number of youths housed at the home as wards of the court.

Charge Policeman With Manslaughter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A policeman faces manslaughter charges today in the death of a pedestrian which he allegedly reported to his superiors as a hit-run accident.

Authorities said the patrolman, Thomas Murgitroyde, 47, phoned yesterday while off-duty that he had found a hit-run victim lying in the street. The victim, Michael Toth, 37, a trucking firm employee, was dead on arrival at Hahnemann Hospital.

Traces of blood and human hair were found on the front of Murgitroyde's own car in a routine investigation, said Capt. Joseph P. Cunne of the Accident Investigation Division.

Name Low Bidders on Road Projects

Low bidders on two Oakland County road projects were announced today by Charles M. Ziegler, State Highway Commissioner.

Contracts were expected to be awarded soon to a Wyandotte firm, Loselle Construction Co. for $482,799 of construction at the new Lincoln Motor Division plant at Wyandotte and Lake and Howell Construction Co. of Howell, for 7.1 miles of improvement on Dequindre Rd.

The Wyandotte project calls for 1.5 miles of a four-lane, divided highway on M218 from U.S. 16 to West road. It is designed for heavy plant traffic.

New concrete will be laid on Dequindre from Fourteen Mile road to existing M58. The low bid was $130,525.

Are Women Men's Equal 'in Sickness and Death?'

NEW YORK (NEA)—Women wanted equality—well, they got it. Not only are they competing with men in business and professions, but they're coming up fast on mortality charts, too.

Dr. John R. Mote, a distinguished medical educator and medical consultant in the industrial field, says that in the last generation there has been a marked increase in the "stress-caused" ailments among female patients.

"About the only thing we can measure statistically," he says, "is the coronary-heart attack-death rates. And there are far more deaths by coronary now than before the war, among women."

But the change goes beyond that, Mote says most doctors know, although no statistics are available, that they have far more women patients now than formerly complaining of duodenal ulcers, colitis, chronic stomach complaints. And all these are symptoms of stress.

"The culture patterns have changed in the last generation," he says. "Women compete with men in business and professions, and garden clubs. Our mothers never had these stresses. And it's taking its toll."

Heart attack rates among women have doubled in one generation. Practicing physicians see ever-increasing streams of women with the same nervous complaints that used to be the unhappy exclusive property of men. Druggists sell more and more barbiturates and sleeping pills and tranquilizers, and women are their biggest customers.

RELAXING MACHINES

Mote is medical consultant to a concern which manufactures a variety of mechanical devices designed to relax the human body—leads to a relaxed mind.

Owen K. Murphy, the relaxed president of the firm, sees a great day coming when relaxing "machines" will be in every home, just like washing machines.

"It has come," he says. "It's inevitable. I certainly think the American people will come to realize that relaxation is every bit as important as clean clothes."

Mote sees machine-inspired relaxation as a safer way of inducing sleep, for example, than continued use of sedation. He's handled installations of mechanical relaxers in hospitals, mental institutions and other places where the value could be measured.

But his pet theory is that the average American housewife, more than any other category, needs to relax. If she doesn't, she may wind up as the same kind of nervous wreck her husband is.

Helicopters Re-seed Oregon's Forests

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — The whirly-bird has moved into the forestry picture in Oregon and from all reports is doing a good job.

Helicopters are being used for re-seeding thousands of acres of burned and cut-over timber land in the state and also for fire control work.

The helicopters are ideal for re-seeding because they can fly low enough and slow enough for pilots to make certain the seed is distributed correctly.

Mad Pool Player Breaks Cue on Opponent's Head

OKLAHOMA CITY (M) — It really was "dirty pool," a billiard player explained to police.

"I put up with this character for 30 minutes," he said. "Every time I'd get ready to shoot he'd lie on the pool table. I got mad and shoved him back. He called me a dirty name."

The attempt at a game ended when the player broke the cue over the head of his antagonist.

Beetle Feasts on Aphids, Other Plant Pests; Few Insects More Helpful

WASHINGTON — The ladybird — like a robin — is one of spring's most welcome harbingers.

Millions strong, the tiny beetles scurry from winter hiding places to feast all summer long on aphids and other minute plant pests.

True to its name, the ladybird has an impeccable reputation. Few insects are more helpful to man, the National Geographic Society says. The beetle carries no diseases or parasites. Above all a gourmet, it sticks to a meat diet and never nibbles a housewife's begonias or beans.

From the aphid's standpoint, however, the lady beetle is anything but a lady. It is a ferocious predator and has a gargantuan appetite. Ladybirds gobble up every aphid they can get their paws on. A normal menu includes up to 50 a day.

REAL HEROINE

One ladybird, Vedalia of Australia, is a heroine. In the late 1860's, cottony-cushion scales migrated from Australia. This pest has an insatiable desire for citrus fruit. Having no natural predators in the United States, it threatened to destroy orange groves.

The United States and California Governments sent an entomologist to Australia to find a natural enemy. Vedalia was chosen and imported. Within two years, it had cottony-cushion scales under control.

Ladybird's valuable service as an exterminator of pests has been recognized since the Middle Ages. The insect was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and called the beetle or bird of Our Lady.

Sometime later, a now-familiar nursery rhyme was sung in England. It goes: "Ladybird, ladybird, fly away home; your house is on fire, and your children will burn."

This bit of doggerel, seemingly nonsensical, probably refers to the burning of hop vines in Britain. In late summer, the vines are teeming with plant lice and their hungry guests — the ladybird and its young.

Shortage in Elementary Grades Persists

NEA Hails Rise in Men Teachers for High Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Education Assn. today hailed an indicated upswing in the number of men entering the teaching profession.

But it cautioned that this will throw the supply of new teachers out of balance, with elementary schools getting the short end of the stick.

Childhood Diseases Increase in County

Chicken pox, scarlet fever and mumps, the most common childhood diseases at this time of year, showed a general increase throughout Oakland County last week, although they declined in Pontiac.

The County Health Dept. reports 181 cases of chicken pox compared with 111 the week before. Scarlet fever hit 74 victims, as compared with 51 the week earlier.

The complete reports of both Pontiac and County Health Depts. on communicable diseases are as follows:

	Pontiac	Prev. Week	Year Ago
Chicken pox	181	111	86
Scarlet fever	74	51	33
Mumps	17	12	6
Tuberculosis	2	8	0
Whooping cough	0	2	6

In its annual report on teacher supply and demand, the NEA's Research Division said college graduations declined sharply between 1930 and 1935 as the "depression baby" generation reached its senior year.

"This steady decrease has a vital relationship to the production of new teachers that has been overlooked before," said Ray C. Maul, assistant research director. "The important fact to notice is that the five-year loss was in men."

Men college graduates fell off by nearly half in the five-year period, and most new men teachers go into the high school field.

"Now we are riding on an upward trend as far as college graduates are concerned," Maul said. "This means more men graduates in the coming years and therefore more high school teachers."

An NEA summary of the report said: "As the number of qualified teacher prospects increases from year to year the number of high school teaching hopefuls will become more and more out of line with that in the elementary field." Maul urged that colleges attempt to steer more men into elementary teaching.

The NEA reported last week in its monthly journal that the teacher supply outlook, based on indicated college graduations this spring, is "generally encouraging." It said qualified elementary teachers will increase 4.89 per cent over 1936 and high school teachers 13.86 per cent.

A complete summary of the survey was published today in the Journal of Teacher Education, organ of NEA's Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

For the second straight year, the total indicated supply of new teachers will increase approximately 10 per cent. The NEA estimated this year's teacher graduates at 107,432, of which 64,656 will qualify as high school teachers.

As in previous years, there is a heavy imbalance among high school teaching fields. Scarcity of science and mathematics teachers, again is particularly noticeable. General science, biology, chemistry and physics apparently will get less than 8 per cent of the total, but men's physical education will get nearly 11 per cent and social studies a little over 16 per cent.

Not Above Suspicion

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A confiscated moonshine still was set up at the Richmond Police Academy. But Federal Authorities declined to run the risk of letting some rookie cop run off a batch in his spare time. Federal Alcohol Tax agents insisted on puncturing the cooker vat at several places just to make certain.

And, as usual, the NEA said, not all who qualify as teachers will actually teach.

Indians Become Civilized

MORLEY, Alta. (AP)—The Stony Indians have decided to drop the tradition of hereditary chiefs and are registering nominations for the election of chiefs and councillors. The Indians attend meetings clad in blue jeans and cowboy boots. Start proceedings in the name of the queen and close with a prayer.

San Francisco Bachelors Ponder: Have Ball? or Close Bar?

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — The Bachelors, an organization with the sole purpose of staging San Francisco's annual Bachelors Ball, pondered a grim decision today. They can go ahead with their 43rd ball in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel April 27 only if they agree that the bar will close at 2 a.m., the legal closing hour. Ernest O. McCormick III, the group's president, acknowledged little luck in hunting another site. "Almost nobody seems to want us," he said.

The Bachelors Ball is a robust gala of the San Francisco social season. It traditionally gets under way about midnight and lasts until 7 a.m. or later.

Traditionally, liquor was poured beyond 2 a.m. on the basis that the ball was a private party using facilities withdrawn from licensed public use.

The Sheraton-Palace, apprehensive about the problem of drinking by guests just under the minimum legal age of 21, asked a consultation by Bachelors leaders with Frank Fullenwider, area director of the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

Fullenwider's ruling: No exemption from the letter of the law for the Bachelors. All members of a feminine group calling themselves Spinners are guests at the Bachelors Ball, and many of the girls haven't turned 21.

"We will be happy to have them if they comply with the state laws—just like any other party," said a hotel spokesman.

So the question President McCormick and his board will decide today is: Will the bar close at 2 a.m., or will there be no Bachelors Ball?

House Receives Cemetery Bill

Proposed Law Allows Small Graveyards Time to Seek Reinstatement

Small cemeteries dotting Oakland County would be aided by legislation passed by the State Senate and now before the House, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, of Drayton Plains said today.

The measure would allow cemeteries whose non-profit corporation status has expired a 2½-year period of grace to seek reinstatement, Lodge said.

Need for the bill has arisen, Lodge explained, because many small cemeteries have failed in recent years to submit annual reports, required by law from non-profit corporations.

The state must accordingly question the legal status of the graveyards, Lodge said, and this could produce involved courtroom entanglements, especially for older cemeteries no longer used for new burials.

However, under the proposed legislation, such cemeteries would have until July 1, 1960 to file for reinstatement with the Michigan Corporations Commission. The charge would be $10, Lodge said.

London Zoo's 78-year-old collector, Wilfred Frost, has sailed for New Guinea to catch rare birds of paradise. It's his 53rd trip to the Far East.

Term Student Protest 'Spring Exuberance'

AMHERST, Mass. (U) — Some Amherst College faculty members unofficially dismissed as "spring exuberance" the protest of more than 200 students against an administration policy of compulsory church service attendance.

College regulations require that students attend services of their own faith at least twice a week. More than 200 students gathered at a rally last night to protest the policy. Speakers emphasized they oppose compulsion, not religious services.

College officials said they would take no action.

College Seeks to Move

PORT HURON (U) — Business and industry groups have contributed $20,500 to a fund for moving facilities of Port Huron Junior College into the old Port Huron High School building. School Superintendent Howard D. Crull said it is hoped state aid will make up the estimated $100,000 needed for the relocation.

U. of M. Surveys New Engineers

Find Starting Salaries $5,500; 47 Per Cent of Grads Stay in State

ANN ARBOR (U) — What happens to the young engineer after he graduates from college?

He commands an annual salary of at least $5,500, a University of Michigan survey of 1936 engineering students shows.

The University learned that its engineering graduates who possess just a bachelor's degree earned an average of $468 per month. The wages for holders of advanced degrees are somewhat higher. An engineer with a master's degree makes $538 per month and one with a doctorate can receive $688 per month.

The university found out that some 47 per cent of its 1936 graduates accepted engineering positions in Michigan. The percentage surprised Prof. John G. Young, director of the university's engineering placement office.

In view of the nationwide demand for engineers and the fact that recruiters came here from all parts of the country seeking graduates, he said, "The number of men who accepted jobs in this state is surprisingly large."

"I've heard that 40 per cent of the engineering class from another Midwestern university went to California alone last year."

Young said the university will graduate 700 engineers in June. They are being sought by 600 different engineering firms, he said.

The starting salary for the 1937 graduate will be about 10 per cent higher than it was for engineers who graduated last year, Young predicted.

Butcher Seeks Damages

RENO (U) — A butcher has filed a $2,500 defamation of character suit against a motorist who accused him of speeding. Edwin M. Bracken said he passed Edward H. Gent at a reasonable rate of speed but Gent went to police and signed a speeding complaint. Bracken was acquitted by municipal court.

EASTER COLORING SERIES
4. The Easter Rabbit

There is an old belief that the sun on Easter morning dances in the sky, and if you rise very early and go up on a hill you might see it. Another old legend says that the Easter bunny was believed to be an escort of the goddess Ostara. He is supposed to leave baskets of beautifully colored eggs hidden here and there for the children to find, but he runs away so quickly, the children almost never see him.

Here is an Easter Bunny who has left a fine basket of eggs in the grass and is galloping away toward the rising sun to see if it really will dance in the sky.

If you color this picture carefully, using soft tints in the background and bright colors on the Easter eggs and the foreground grass, the rabbit will stand out against the sky and make a fine addition to your set of Easter pictures.

(If you have an idea for Junior Editors, send it to this newspaper. Charity Brunson, Cranbury, N. J., won $10 for her suggestion. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Milkman Drinks Java

MILWAUKEE — Carl Serio pressed for time on a morning when the temperature was zero, put a cup of too-hot coffee in the milk chute to cool while he finished getting ready for work.

Serio searched about the hall, then looked outside and there was the milkman drinking the coffee. "Thanks mighty thoughtful," said the deliveryman.

"Nothing at all," said Serio meekly.

Teenagers Dislike to Consult Elders

MOUNT PLEASANT — Teenagers are more likely to talk over problems with each other than with parents or teachers.

That's the finding of Dr. Leslie O. Carlin of Central Michigan College, who said his study indicated that the "barrier separating teachers and students is as realistic as the sound barrier."

Of 172 new college freshmen questioned, 57 per cent said they discussed problems with their companions and 28 per cent confided in parents. Eight per cent talked things over with teachers. And seven per cent said they didn't confide in anybody.

Dr. Carlin urged teachers to "shatter the barrier which separates students and themselves." He added: "Teaching must become more than a practice, it must be a dedication to the youth we teach."

JOIN PONTIAC POLICE — Chief of Pontiac Police Herbert W. Straley swears in five men who were graduated from the Detroit Police Training Academy Tuesday at the Veteran's Memorial Building in Detroit. The new officers, who just completed the eight week training course are (l-r): Dallas Flesher, 30, of 2122 Crescent Lake Rd.; Richard A. Navarre, 25, of 506 E. Columbia Ave.; William F. Moore, 27, of Walled Lake; Karl D. Kilmer, 22, of Milford and James I. Batchelor, 23, of 137 S. Tilden St. These men will now become probationary patrolmen for six months according to Straley.

More Salk Vaccine Received by State

LANSING — The State Health Department has received nearly 56,000 more doses of polio vaccine and will start immediately to distribute it to local health units under the state's free inoculation program.

The shipment is the second batch obtained by the department since state funds for vaccine purposes were exhausted last month.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said the two shipments were ordered after he was assured by legislative leaders that supplemental funds would be voted to pay for vaccine purchases during the rest of the 1956-57 fiscal year.

Heustis said an additional 1,179,000 doses would be needed to complete immunization of all eligible persons — pregnant women and children from one to 14.

Becomes Living Medical Laboratory

Detroit Aids Research in Food Absorption Study

CHICAGO — Albert Drolet used to be a roofer in Detroit but now he is a walking, talking, living medical laboratory playing a lead role in science's search for the answers to food absorption questions.

To Dr. Aline U. Orten of Wayne State University, Detroit, one of the scientists on the outside looking in this human house of experimentation, Drolet, 49, provides a unique and marvelous opportunity.

"There is no similar situation in the world," said Dr. Orten.

To Drolet, whose intestines are made available to science through two openings in his abdomen, the paying job as "laboratory assistant" is a great improvement over roofing.

"In roofing," he said, "you freeze in the winter and burn up in the summer."

In his new assignment there is occasional pain, but Dr. Orten says Drolet is interested in the experiments and impressed with the importance of his new work.

Through the openings in his abdomen the scientists insert amino acids which make up protein foods—meat, eggs, fish and milk—and study their absorption by an isolated portion of Drolet's intestine.

Circulating blood makes amino

acids available to the body for tissue building.

The foods are left in Drolet's intestine for periods ranging from 15 minutes to several hours. Then they are removed and analyzed.

Typical of the findings, says Dr. Orten, is that the "emotional state of a patient definitely affects the movement or reaction of the intestine."

An intestinal ailment two years ago led to Drolet's entry into the sphere of science. He was unable to resume his work as a roofer.

When he was approached with the idea of making a career of being a living laboratory, he accepted.

Drolet's story was told by Dr. Orten at the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology meeting here this week.

Need Tickets for Trial

Rare Heart Operation Is First at City Hospital

the left side of the body, in which the heart is located, uppermost.

THE OPERATION BEGINS

Access to the heart is the first objective.

Dr. Sullenberger made a light scratch on the chest wall to indicate where the incision would be made. The patient is covered entirely, with only the small area of the operation exposed.

Tissues of the chest wall were divided, exposing the ribs, and an incision made between the sixth and seventh ribs, and these ribs spread apart with a special instrument for that purpose.

(During these steps bleeding is controlled by closing each bleeding point with a small clamp, and then trying them with a fine, black thread.)

Spreading of the ribs, exposes the lungs. The lungs were pushed into the upper chest cavity and held there with gauze sponges, to be out of the way during the operation.

Now exposed was the sac of membrane which encloses the heart.

At this point a slowing of the heart beat was recorded (just below 60 beats per minute). An injection into the patient's vein of a drug (atropine sulphate) gave a boost to the slowing heart beat.

Opening of the membrane surrounding the heart (called the pericardial sac) exposed the heart. The surgeon had now arrived at the point where measures to correct the patient's ailment could be taken.

But the heart itself was not quite ready. It recorded freakish, irregular beats, bordering on a condition in which the muscles contract rapidly and without orderly rhythm.

The surgeon bathed the heart in a solution of procaine which restored regular and steady pulsation.

CORRECTIVE MEASURES

Now the stage was set for the first of two major phases of the Beck I operation: Retarding to an extent the return flow of blood from the heart muscles.

Accompanying each coronary artery is a big vein (called the coronary sinus). This vein was encircled with a heavy black thread and reduced to a diameter of three millimeters (normal is 10 to 12 millimeters). The coronary sinus and its tributary veins distended as they filled with blood.

Second step employed a common household item—steel wool. The surface of the heart was rubbed briskly with the steel wool until there was a small amount of bleeding.

Then a small amount (about four grams) of powdered asbestos, in a solution, was poured into the sac surrounding the heart. The sac was then closed quickly and the opening deftly stitched by the surgeon.

Thus the tedious part of the operation was complete.

Final step in the operation was closing the incision in the chest, after the lung was re-expanded with help of the breathing machine mentioned earlier. Breathing tube and wires to the cardiograph were removed and the patient was ready to leave the operating room.

He was partially conscious as he was wheeled to the post-anesthesia recovery room, where his return to consciousness was supervised by trained hospital personnel. The entire operation required two hours.

TEAMWORK ESSENTIAL

Teamwork is of utmost importance in a successful operation. The internist who made the diagnosis, advised the type of surgical treatment and warned of precautions to be taken was Dr. Frank J. Fitzpatrick.

Assisting surgeons were Dr. Harvey Gumbel and Dr. Arthur Calkins of the hospital's resident staff. Dr. Aben Hoekman and Dr. Harriett Clarke were the anesthesiologists.

Other attending physicians were Dr. H. L. DeVito, Dr. Walter Oliphant and Dr. Donald Niederhucke.

Operating room nurses were Sue Livingston, scrub nurse, and Patricia Miner, circulating nurse. Grace Bloomstrand, OR supervisor, kept supplies handy at all times.

A week after the operation when this reporter visited the patient he was sitting up in bed, and talked with enthusiasm of the plans he has for continuing, now, his work in the ministry. His interest is primarily with young people.

His hospital table was piled high with cards and letters carrying prayers and messages of encouragement. Among them were messages from boys at the Starr Commonwealth for Boys, where he held his last active position before angina cut short his career.

Joins Fair Commission

LANSING (U)—Jack W. O'Connor, Hastings hog farmer, was named by Gov. Williams as a member of the state fair commission, succeeding Mark L. Crawford of Coldwater, deceased.

PATIENT PREPARED FOR OPERATION — The Rev. Edwin DuBois, 61, is readied for the heart operation designed to increase blood flow to heart muscle. A tube through his mouth into the windpipe will supply oxygen. Electrodes hooked to his arms and legs are connected to a cardiograph (at extreme right). The Jefferson ventilator (a pump and bellows machine, left) takes over his breathing. The anesthesiologist attending Rev. DuBois is Dr. Aben Hoekman. He is assisted by Dr. Harriett Clarke.

CHEST CLOSURE READIED — Various layers of the chest are about to be closed with black silk thread. The ribs will next be drawn together in their original position, using black silk thread.

The lung has been re-expanded by pressure applied to the breathing bag of the anesthesia machine.

HEART IS EXPOSED — An incision between the sixth and seventh ribs has been made, and the ribs spread apart with the large steel instrument shown. The lung, packed out of the operative field, exposes the pericardium where an incision was made allowing access to the heart surface. Then the surgeon was ready to begin the actual procedure.

CLOSEUP OF PROCEDURE — The first step in the Beck I Procedure, that of tying down the coronary vein for the purpose of slowing the return flow of blood from heart muscle, has been completed by Surgeon Sullenberger. At this point he is abrading the surface of the heart muscle and the lining of the pericardial sac. The final step consists of placing powdered asbestos into the pericardium to produce inflammation which increases formation of adhesions which in turn develops blood-going vessels to the heart muscle.

PATIENT LEAVES HOSPITAL — The Rev. Edwin DuBois was discharged from the hospital 12 days after the operation with real hope for the future. Mrs. DuBois assists her husband as he prepares to leave his room.

School Board Hikes Teachers' Salaries

Salary boosts totaling $210,000 were granted Pontiac School System teachers in a schedule of salaries adopted by the Board of Education last night.

The schedule, essentially a reworking of a previous one proposed by the administration, sets a range for teachers with a bachelor's degree of $4,350 to $6,500, and for master's degree of $4,550 to $6,850.

The schedule was opposed as inadequate by representatives of the Pontiac Federation of Teachers, AFL, which represents a minority of the systems' teachers.

It also fell short of requests by the Pontiac Education Assn., representing the majority of teachers, who had asked boosts totaling $448,000.

The cost of the adopted plan was well within the $250,000 which the board had set aside in the budget for all salary increases including maintenance men, custodians and secretaries.

Former AF Major Is Declared Insane

ABILENE, Tex. (U)—A former Air Force major who flew reconnaissance for the atomic bomb raids on Japan was ordered committed to a veterans hospital yesterday for treatment of a mental disorder.

Two psychiatrists testified that former Maj. Claude R. Eatherly, 38, is insane. The testimony was given in a hearing to determine if Eatherly was capable of defending himself against charges of burglarizing post offices at Avoca and View, Tex., in April 1956.

Eatherly, of Van Alstyne, Tex., was released to his brother Joe with orders to report to the VA hospital at Waco, Tex., today.

Eatherly was pilot of a B29 which flew reconnaissance for the atomic bomb raids on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II. He was indicted on the burglary charges at Amarillo Jan. 11 and was freed on $5,000 bond.

Man, Twice Retired, Seeks Science Tutor

GLENDALE, Calif. (U)—William Jonathan Waters, twice retired, has completed his first formal schooling since high school in 1897.

He's now 77. He retired first as a vaudeville dancer, later as a contractor. The course he completed recently at Glendale College was in chemistry.

Watters is looking now for a tutor to help him with more advanced chemistry and higher mathematics. "It's not the sheepskin I'm after," he explains. "It's the knowledge." He adds: "Chemistry is interesting — but nuclear physics is enchanting."

No Storage Charges?

DALLAS (U)—Fred Simmerli took a pocket watch to a jewelry store for repairs 25 years ago. He recently took a clock to the same store and remembered the pocket watch. Proprietor Wallace H. Peacock wound it and gave it to Simmerli in good running order.

Ad Agency Woos Station Manager for Its 'Client'

VANCOUVER, B.C. (U)—A billboard sign across the street from radio station CKWX shows entwined hearts and the cryptic question: "Tiny, is it yes?"

The station explains: An advertising agent went affectionate a week ago soliciting its account. First, station manager F. H. (Tiny) Elphicke received an elaborate mash note.

Then, another letter brought an inexpensive engagement ring. The next day, a cake, flowers, a magnum of champagne and a silver slipper.

Yesterday it was the sign. So Elphicke sent a return note: "Enough of this love-making. Get down to business."

Damaging Storm Hits San Francisco Area

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—A noisy and damaging storm carried by 52-mile-an-hour winds yesterday swept across the San Francisco Bay area.

One man was electrocuted when he tried to pick up the end of an electric wire that was blown down.

The storm damaged roofs, toppled a 180-foot radio tower, damaged power facilities, felled trees, broke windows and clogged storm drains.

MEMO TO CAESAR

The Body Is Not in the Tomb

Claudia's letter to Caesar's mother continued . . . Even while the Nazarene's body was wracked with that horrible pain on the cross and while the crowd was hooting at him he did a thing which proves how deeply he believed the doctrine of gentleness which he preached.

No offered a little prayer and said, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

Can you imagine saying that, at such a time? Now I come to what has been troubling me most.

While the man was dying, the soldiers cast lots for possession of his clothing. And one of my maids tells me that it suddenly grew so dark they could not see the markings on the dice. Here in the city it seemed as if a vast cloud had obscured the sun completely. And there was an earth tremor which caused the great veil in the temple of this man's people to rend in two.

It was a most terrifying experience and it lasted for three hours.

I am most upset by the whole thing, dearest Livia, and I beseech you again to get us transferred from here if you can. Non have I told you everything.

After Jesus died, a man named Joseph, from Arimathea, came to the palace and asked Pilate if he might have the dead man's body. I joined in urging Pilate to grant his request and finally the governor consented.

This Joseph took the body to a fine garden which he has and placed it in a good tomb after properly wrapping it in burial clothes.

I was happy that, at least, the good man had a decent grave. Guards were sent to watch the place, because the populace had been so stirred up the local authorities feared someone might try to steal the body. And what they feared happened: The guards fell asleep and the body disappeared.

Of course, the guards say they did not fall asleep. They maintain they were stunned by an apparition from the sky and that the Nazarene walked from his tomb.

I feel the guards are lying to protect themselves, but how can one know about these things since so much that is strange and incomprehensible has been reported about this Nazarene?

I only know he was a good man and that an evil has been done. I wish we were safely out of it.

(Signed) Claudia

Kent County Value Up

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Kent County tax bureau director Harold A. Linn says the 1937 state equalized valuation of the county is expected to reach a record high of at least $883,333,325 — about $20,000,000 more than last year.

By early this year, Salk vaccine will cost only about 80 cents per injection in Austria, Vienna, predicts.

Singer Sues for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U)—Peruvian singer Yma Sumac has sued for divorce from Moises Vivanco, musical director. Last January Vivanco was declared by a court to be the father of 2-year-old twin daughters by Maureen Shea, Miss Sumac's former secretary.

Illinois Police Search Clues

Bullet - Riddled Body Found in Trunk of Car in Gang-Style Slaying

JOLIET, Ill. (U)—State and Will County police today hunted for clues in the gangland style slaying of a former Chicago policeman, one of the Moretti brothers who figured in the sensational murder trial of their policeman brother in 1932.

The strangled, bullet-riddled and beaten body of husky Salvatore Moretti, 32, was found yesterday in the trunk of an auto alongside a lonely country road about seven miles west of Joliet.

A few miles from the death scene is Stateville Penitentiary where Salvatore's brother Michael, 37, is serving a life sentence for the 1931 slaying of a 15-year-old youth in a West Side Chicago lot after a tavern fight.

Salvatore, a bachelor, was an auto salesman since he was fired five years ago from the Park District police in another development stemming from Michael's murder case.

His body, shot twice in the head and twice in the chest, was found in the 1937 model car owned by his twin brother Vincent, a Chicago Park District policeman. Vincent said he usually lent his car to Salvatore, with whom he lived.

Willard Blood, Will County coroner, said that deep, dark indentations on the neck indicated Salvatore had been strangled, apparently with a cord, and then shot four times.

Salvatore, who with Vincent joined the Park police in 1947, was discharged in 1932 for failure to testify before a Cook County grand jury in connection with Michael's murder case.

Hilberry Chief Speaker

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Dr. Clarence B. Hilberry, president of Wayne State University, and Mrs. John B. Virtue, University of Michigan lecturer and special assistant state attorney general, are scheduled among principal speakers April 26-28 at the convention of the Michigan Division of the American Assn. of University Women.

Great South Pole Incubator Tests End in Failure

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U)—That great South Pole incubator experiment has ended in failure.

Dr. Robert J. Adams of Memphis, a Navy dentist serving at Little America in the antarctic, has been trying to make South Pole history by hatching eggs in a homemade incubator. He kept the home folks informed.

The report last night, via ham radio, was that none of the eggs in several batches ever hatched. Some of them developed embryos up to the "crucial" 13th day — but that was it.

"It was the humidity," said Adams. "It just couldn't be controlled."

Mackinac Ferry Rebuilt

CHEBOYGAN (U)—The Mackinac Islander, a ferry which carried thousands of vacationers to Mackinac Island, is being rebuilt as a log freighter. The new owner is Ernest Mantheir, who is having a diesel engine installed in the old ferry.

No Basic Agreement Yet on Tolls to Be Charged

Push Starts Soon to Meet April '59 Seaway Target

MONTREAL (U)—The big sup-higher tolls to protect their own shipping. . . . The project must pay for itself in tolls over 50 years. The two countries are still negotiating on what the charges will be.

Unless a compromise is reached shippers may have to pay two sets of tolls—a low rate through Canadian locks and a higher one through the American water gates. . . . The Canadian St. Lawrence Seaway Authority's share of the cost, estimated four years ago at an outside 300 million dollars, may reach 30 million more. The American counterpart, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., was expected to fork up 105 million. This estimate is said to have jumped by 35 million.

The New York State Power Authority and the Ontario Hydroelectric Power Commission are to share the estimated 600-million-dollar cost of a 2,500,000-horsepower generating complex. The accuracy of this estimate is not certain.

An example of the way cost estimates can fool the experts is the channel around the American sector of the international rapids. A two-mile channel must be dredged south of Cornwall Island to two docks that sidestep the joint Ontario-New York power development near Cornwall and Massena. Bids were called on an original 16-million-dollar estimate for this work. Not one contractor responded. The estimate was doubled. Still nobody stepped up.

Seaway sources indicate a disagreement over the size of ships that will be permitted to navigate the locks. The United States is reported to want ships 730 feet long, containing the bigger ships will carry more cargo subject to tolls. The Canadians are said to want a maximum of 715 feet, containing these smaller vessels will pass through the locks more rapidly. It seems clear that vessels with a maximum draft of 27 feet will be able to sail the entire route. Canada hasn't decided whether it will let ships using the Seaway operate in Canadian coastal trade.

More Bibles have been sold in Japan since the end of World War II than in the 60 preceding years, says the American Bible Society.

Peace at Any Price Was Driver's Motto

HOBBS, N. M., (U)—O. L. Voorhees, 45, was booked for leaving the scene of an accident and driving intoxicated after a three-car accident. He told police the reason he didn't stop when his car struck another automobile, causing it to slam into a third car, was because he didn't want to get into an argument with a woman driver in one of the cars.

Strangers Safe in Tough Sector

London's Off-Beat Soho Won't Harm Those Who Keep Nose Clean

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Among the world's most off-beat districts, London's Soho is reputed to be safer for strangers than for residents.

Described in a recent issue of a national magazine as an irregular parallelogram at the city heart, Soho is made up of a crosshatching of narrow streets and alleys about a mile square.

"People have been screaming to clean up Soho for centuries," says the article, "but this little slice of Hell seems as invincible as the Tower of London."

Despite any and all pressures, however, the girls in Soho are still on the street corners night and day, the little gambling clubs or "spitebars" as the underworld calls them, are still going strong; the husky young punks or "tearaways" still pace about with razors tucked up their sleeves; and the tourists still make back along the curb-stones.

Drugs smuggled into London through the East India Docks also invariably find their way to Soho streets and cellars.

One London plain-clothes man is quoted in the article as declaring: "Soho is the safest place in the world for a stranger — provided he keeps his nose clean."

"If he flashes a roll, gets drunk and lets himself be picked up, he has only himself to blame if he's rolled and even brutally beaten."

Bob Considine Says:

Hunch Gave Pyle Another 15 Years

NEW YORK (INS) — Ernie Pyle, who was killed on Ie Shima on April 18, 1945, had been living on borrowed time for about 15 years prior to that.

Ernie was aviation editor of the Washington Daily News in 1930. The Lockheed people had come up with a fast single-engine plane called the Vega, if memory serves, and a man who dreamed of quick transportation between Washington and New York offered to demonstrate it with Pyle as a passenger.

Off they went from Washington's old airport (which had an automobile road running through it, and power lines around two sides of it) and in a few minutes the pilot guessed he must be over Baltimore.

They had run into a peapod fog. Their radio contact with the rest of the world was sketchy at best. There was no radar, of course, and a minimum of cockpit aids.

As they breezed along at a real good clip the pilot turned to Ernie and asked, "You got any idea where the Baltimore airport might be?"

OFF TO THE LEFT
Pyle scratched and said, "I don't know, but I have a hunch it ought to be off there somewhere to the left."

"Okay," the pilot said, and banked left.

Just as he did, Pyle looked to the right and caught sight of a chilling scene. It was a girl, typing at an office desk, about 20 feet away.

The plane was flying below the top level of Baltimore's lone mutant-like skyscraper. If the plane had proceeded on its former course for another micro-second, well . . .

Brother Edgar Eisenhower, who lowered the boom on brother Dwight's 72 billion dollar budget and brother Milton's "liberal" influence on the President, said himself a real mouthful for our Ruth Montgomery the other day. Some closed-door family sessions probably will emerge out of that one.

Edgar Eisenhower has had strong feelings about the way the country has been run for a long time, and the wonder is that he BERLIN (INS) — The East German Communist Ministry of Education warned four school mistresses to think twice about their petition for permission to wear knee breeches in the classroom.

"Pirate pants," as the Germans call them, could be flattering to a young gym instructor, Educational Adviser Horst Krahn said.

"But," he added, "where the trousers may incite sober reflections and, in case of extreme abundance may even provoke difficulties in the maintenance of discipline."

Are You a Unitarian Without Knowing It?

Do you believe the Bible to be an inspiring human document rather than the literal "word of God"?
Do you believe Jesus to have been a great religious teacher, rather than a pre-existent or pre-made deity?
Do you believe the development of character to be more important than the accepting of religious creeds?
Do you believe that "religious truth" to be acceptable must be in harmony with the truth in every field, science included?
Do you believe in the brotherhood of man, irrespective of nation, race or creed?
Do you believe the purpose of religion to be to help us live this life nobly and constructively?
If you do, then you think as most Unitarians do.

A meeting of those interested in Unitarianism is to be held at the Pontiac Savings and Loan League, 901 W. Huron, Friday, April 18th, 8:00 P. M. Call or write for further information, Rev. Russell L. Lincoln, 968 Cambridge Place, Birmingham, Mich. MAYfair 6-1114.

Detroit Pedaled to Fame at Age of 3

'Sugar Chile' Puts His Piano Aside, He'd Rather Be Known as 'Doctor'

OLIVET (U)—"Sugar Chile" Robinson, one-time child prodigy of boogie woogie piano, has grown up. Now a poised, 17-year-old freshman at Olivet College, "Sugar Chile" would just as soon be called by his real name, Frank. He is the age of 3, young Robinson had, studying hard hoping to become a doctor.

"Sugar Chile is gone," he says. "I want to come back as Dr. Frank Robinson."

When he started performing at the age of 3, young Robinson had a good living at it for a dozen years, I'm finally learning how to read music and what I really should be doing with my fingers.

Frank was born in Detroit in 1930, one of six children of ice-man Clarence Robinson and his wife. No one else in the family had much musical interest.

But Sugar Chile—nicknamed by an older brother—used to climb up on the piano bench and flail away at the keys from the time he was a year and a half.

"By the time I was 3, I could play most of the popular songs I heard on the radio," Frank said. "I had to hit the keys with my fists and elbows because I wasn't strong enough to use my fingers. I'd kind of sing along with the music."

Sugar Chile's first professional appearance was at the age of 3 in a Detroit amateur show. He was an immediate hit.

Audiences roared as he toddled to the piano, then applauded his fist-thumping, rhythmic beat. He appeared in the movies, toured with his own stage show, played Madison Square Garden in New York, the London Palladium and before President Truman in Washington.

His last professional appearance was in 1935 at a Chicago night club. Then he decided to complete his education.

Young Robinson is probably one of Olivet's wealthiest freshmen. He earned more than $100,000 after taxes. The money has gone into a trust fund under Probate Court supervision.

Soviet Russia has ordered 20 trawlers from a British shipbuilding firm.

THE NAVY'S XKDT-1 — A drone to prove that missiles work.

New Drone to Make Sure All Missiles 'Shoot to Kill'

DALLAS, Tex. (NEA) — In the guided missile business you've got to shoot to kill.

After a certain early point, "practice" firing is a waste of time.

This is especially true of ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles.

As a result, a new phase of the missile business, the construction of target missiles, has had to undergo a recent and sudden large expansion.

Up until a few years ago the huge supply of lumbering World War II surplus planes converted to pilotless drone targets served this purpose. This supply quickly dwindled and the new missiles were demanding faster, more elusive targets to more accurately challenge their new performances.

One of the most critical and elusive characteristics of a missile is its "closing performance." This is the ability of a missile to zero in on the target and hit it in the final split second of approach.

Making sure a missile can do this is "shooting to kill."

Temco Aircraft Corp. of Dallas and Ryan and Radioplane are among the chief firms developing and producing target missiles.

Temco's target, being purchased by the Navy, is the XKDT-1, a rocket-powered drone which has a top speed only slightly less than the speed of sound.

The XKDT-1 works this way: A carrier - based Navy plane takes the drone to high altitude, perhaps 50,000 feet or higher. The pilot presses a button and the swept-wing drone roars away under its own power.

Without further control from either the air or the ground, the target zooms off on its pre-set course. It then comes under attack from missiles carried by Navy jet planes. It can be used as the target for missiles launched from ships or the ground.

Temco's missile target has a power plant which lasts about eight minutes. During this time, it will eject flares intermittently, making visual tracking possible. The other target missiles have a similar performance.

The XKDT-1 is only about 12 feet long, 10 inches in diameter and has wings of about 58 inches. Missile guidance systems and radar stations "see" the target as large as a fighter plane on their scopes.

Development of the missile target itself has been only part of the job. Under the new "weapons system" concept Temco also provides the Navy with launchers, check-out and handling equipment needed for the drone.

A "console" electronics panel is used to check all equipment on the device before the target becomes airborne, thus reducing chances of a mis-fire to a minimum.

Education Hits Mice Where It Hurts

SANTA FE (INS)—Foresters finally have outsmarted mice by discovering it is better to educate than to exterminate.

The rodents annually take a heavy toll of forests by eating the seeds of fir, spruce and pine. Coating the seeds with poison merely kills off one generation. The next generation would move in in a matter of weeks.

Now, the seeds are coated with a solution which merely makes the mice ill. The intelligent rodents quickly determine the cause and stay away from the seeds.

Remaining on the scene, they prevent new populations of mice from moving in.

Astronomy Prof Explains Setting Date for Easter

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Why is this Sunday Easter? Because last Sunday there was a full moon, explains Miss Hazel Losh, University of Michigan professor of astronomy. She says the date for Easter was fixed in 325 A.D., when the church fathers gathered in council. "It was set as the Sunday following the first full moon that occurs after the sun enters the Equinox," Miss Losh states. The first full moon of spring was April 14. Easter can actually fall anytime during the 35-day period between March 22 and April 23, depending upon the moon, of course, says Miss Losh. "In 1943, it occurred on this latest day, but this will not happen again until 2038," she says. "A March 22 Easter will not take place until 2285."

The first sky writing is attributed to a group at Amherst College in 1909.

This Spring Brings Memories to 'Bud' — Plane Rides With 'Slim' — Chute Jumps —

NEW YORK (INS). — This spring is bringing back to men like H. A. Gurney memories of the day of the Jenny, and of wing-walking and barnstorming, and of a lanky lad called "Slim."

It was back in 1921, 36 years ago, that "Bud" Gurney was working his way through High School by helping around Lincoln Standard Aircraft Corp. at Lincoln, Nebraska.

"They advertised for students," he said in an interview the other day. "Slim was the only one that showed up with $500." The two young men took their first airplane ride together.

"Within a week after that first ride," Gurney said, "Slim talked to a man who made parachutes. We took two old balloon chutes. We both made jumps.

"But the company didn't want 'Slim' to solo—they didn't want to risk the airplane."

Five years later, on May 20, 1927, "Slim" took off on one of the great flights of aviation — from Roosevelt Field, L. I., to Le Bourget, Paris. When he landed on May 21, 1927, Charles A. Lindbergh, known as "Slim," had become a world hero.

But most of the time "Bud" Gurney knew him, he was just another pilot, perhaps more aware of aviation's future—"he dreamed, lived and was aviation"—but still full of fun.

Gurney, now a senior captain with United Airlines on the Los Angeles to Honolulu flight, was swept back to the days of the 1920's in his many hours as technical adviser for the motion picture, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

"I'd hear my name," he said, "but it's kind of difficult these days to realize there's much connection between the Bud Gurney today and the one that existed then."

Now Gurney is the father of five, living on a 38-acre ranch in Woodland Hills, Calif., in the west end of the San Fernando valley. One of his sons is an Air Force pilot and West Point graduate.

PLAYED BY EAR

"In our day there were so many unknowns," he said, "You played it all by ear and took your chances. Now all the major answers are in. It's a scientific game. My son has a better background, and an education in all those things that took us years to learn."

Boy, 8, Bags Moose

QUESNEL, B. C. (U. S. — Eight-year-old Wesson Bryant is the youngest hunter in this area to bag his Moose. He saved up to buy a restricted fire-arms license and dropped the animal with a single shot from his 30-30 rifle.

He Ruined the Effect

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (U. S. — The Holdenville Daily News as an advertising gimmick drenched its columns with perfumed ink. And next to the story explaining the stunt was a picture, by coincidence of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson tightly holding his nose.

Pearson Denies Norman Disloyal

Claims Senate Group Used Unfounded Report as Basis for Charges

OTTAWA (U)—Foreign Minister Lester Pearson said last night a Canadian secret agent's report which later proved to be unfounded was used by a U.S. Senate subcommittee in charging Canadian diplomat Herbert Norman with having been a Communist.

Pearson said the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in October 1950 forwarded to U.S. security agencies a report from a secret agent that Norman was a member of the Canadian Communist party in 1940.

The foreign minister said this "no doubt" was the basis of the statement by Robert Morris, counsel of the U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee, last month that "Norman was identified in February 1940 as a member of the Communist party."

But Pearson said the RCMP in December 1950 had sent the U.S. security agencies this report: "We have made extensive inquiries concerning the information (on Norman) originally supplied by our secret agent, and have arrived at the decision that the information given is one of either mistaken identity or unfounded rumor by an unidentified source. Of the numerous points supplied at the time, the majority have been absolutely determined to be in error, the remaining few have not been confirmed nor does there appear to be any answer to them."

Norman's suicide in Cairo April 4, after publication of Morris' remarks to the Senate subcommittee touched off a storm of criticism in Canada of the Senate group.

Pearson disclosed the RCMP reports on Norman in a telegram to the Montreal Gazette, sent after the paper's Ottawa correspondent wrote that the foreign minister must have known that Norman maintained "strange, ultra-left-wing associations . . . as late as February 1950."

Pearson said in his telegram last night that he "would be unworthy to be a minister of the crown and should resign" if he had known of any "strange ultra-left-wing associations" by Norman or that Norman was a Communist during his government service.

Methodist Men to Get View of Government

Rev. John W. Mulder of the Walled Lake Methodist Church will be among 90 Methodist ministers from across the country attending a seminar in Washington D. C., April 23-25.

Purpose of the seminar is to give a minister from each conference in the country a behind-the-scenes view of national government, particularly as it affects the problems of world peace.

Policy-making personnel of the State Department will be leaders. The group will also be attending a session of the House and Senate.

It is expected that each of the participating ministers will report to the Churches in their area of the inner workings of the policy making organizations of our national government.

Man Accused in Knifing Freed on $100 Bond

Casey was freed on a $100 bond until arraignment in the higher court Monday.

Sylvan Lake Appoints City Manager

Louis G. Barry Receives Post After Rink Injury

Former acting Waterford Township supervisor Louis G. Barry has been appointed city manager of Sylvan Lake, and will assume duties April 29, according to Mayor Howard Wideman.

Since being relieved of his position as township supervisor April 11, Barry and Mrs. Dorcas Tibbals, former township treasurer, have been retained by the newly elected Democratic board.

Ray Harrington, former clerk, has been seriously ill since the election.

Elmer Johnson, new supervisor had requested that Barry be retained this week, to continue brief the new officials on township policies, and the general routine duties.

Mrs. Tibbals was instrumental in getting out the $11,000 township payroll before terminating her work with the township.

"This move has greatly benefited Waterford Township," Johnson said. "There were a few projects of which we knew nothing about, that would have developed into

Commons OKs Defense Slash

British Prime Minister Says Plan Won't Cut Troops' Striking Power

LONDON (U)—The House of Commons has approved the Conservative government's decision to trim the British armed forces and rely on nuclear weapons for defense.

Speaking just before the House voted down a Labor party motion of no confidence 309-258, Prime Minister Macmillan said the new defense plan will take some of the teeth from Britain's contribution to the Atlantic Alliance but will not reduce the striking power of British forces.

"We propose to make a very small reduction in the teeth and to give them more bite, and in various ways to make drastic reductions in the tail," the Prime Minister said.

The opposition party's motion attacked the Conservative party government's "undue dependence" on nuclear weapons in the new defense program and also demanded postponement of British hydrogen bomb tests scheduled in the Pacific this summer. The Laborites wanted the government to work, meanwhile, for abolition of all such tests through international agreement.

The defense plan is pegged to a future arsenal of American-made guided missiles fitted with nuclear warheads made in Britain. A mobile ground force is also to be maintained to be rushed into action when small wars threaten. The program is calculated to cut Britain's armed forces almost in half over the next five years with an immediate saving of 196 million dollars in the next year.

court cases, if they had not been expedited immediately," he added.

One of the biggest township problems facing the new board was the unsatisfactory water supply condition in the Venice of the Lakes subdivision on Cass Lake Road.

This 40-year old privately-operated water system has been a headache to township officials for the last three years, according to Barry.

In February, State Commissioner of Public Health, Albert Heastie, condemned the water supply as "unhealthy and polluted, thereby dangerous for public consumption."

State-leased emergency chlorination equipment was connected to the well, as a temporary measure for the 100-home subdivision. The state claimed that the well was not adequately isolated from sewage pollution.

The problem was brought to a head and a resolution reached this week, when Barry, Johnson, James Seeterlin, clerk, met in Detroit with the assistant Attorney General, Michigan State Health officials and representatives of the subdivision's association.

The group reached an agreement on methods of financing, township specifications, fire hydrants and state health requirements, which will be presented at the regular township board meeting, Monday night, for board action, Johnson said.

'Hot Cossack' Boils After Rink Injury

NEW YORK (U)—If you're billed as "The Great Dimitry, the Hot Cossack," and your act includes tossing knives at targets with your teeth, getting some teeth knocked out can have serious consequences.

That's the contention of Dimitry Matvienko, who said he has performed internationally for 25 years. He filed suit yesterday for $250,000 damages.

Matvienko said he fell down Feb. 10 while skating on a city-operated ice rink, losing several teeth and injuring his jaw. He said the city negligently allowed the rink to be "in a rutted condition with holes and soft areas."

Pakistan is to have a new air conditioning and refrigerating firm, in Karachi.

There's more to be proud of in this one!

The Sweet, Smooth and Sassy Chevrolet

Sure, you'll be proud of the way this frisky new Chevy behaves on the road. And you'll take extra pride in its new careful construction, the greater attention to detail, the finishing touches you don't find in other low-priced cars.

There's a certain something about the new Chevrolet that puts its head and shoulders above the other cars in its field. Actually it's a lot of "somethings." It's a look of substance. It's Chevy's rock-solid feel on the road. It's the fine finishing touch that Chevrolet gives even the smallest details.

For one thing, the other low-priced cars don't have Body by Fisher. For another, they can't hold a candle to Chevy when it comes to performance. Remember, only a couple of months ago Chevrolet won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy as "best performing U. S. automobile." Automotive experts decided that. And you'll agree with them once you drive a Chevy. You can't help but like the sweet, smooth and sassy way Chevy takes to the road! Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's and try one.

Cookie Ducks Swim Amid Easter Flowers

Calendars notwithstanding, the coming of Spring is a state of mind. To some it appears with the first jonquil; to others with the arrival of a robin on the lawn. For most people, however, the awakening of Spring is coincident with Easter, for Easter is traditionally a symbol of nature's rebirth. It's a wonderful time to bring Spring indoors with colorful bouquets of jonquils, hyacinths and daffodils, and for introducing the seasonal theme in menu planning.

Appropriate to Easter and especially appealing to the small fry are easy-to-make golden cookies assembled in the shape of baby ducks. These ducks, complete with chocolate-coated almond beaks, can be used as an interesting centerpiece for the Easter table.

Made with golden shortening, the cookies are tender, flaky and oh so yummy! Arrange the ducks on a crystal platter to stimulate a pond, surround them by seasonal flowers and serve them for dessert with an extra large serving of strawberry ice cream.

Cookie Ducks
 1/2 cup golden shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 egg
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1/2 teaspoon soda
 1/2 cup milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla

1 whole blanched almond or peanut
 16 entrails
 Blend golden shortening, sugar and egg. Stir in the nuts. Stir in the combined dry ingredients alternately with the milk and vanilla.

With a kitchen tablespoon scoop up a spoonful of the dough and level off the dough by drawing the spoon up against the side of the mixing bowl. Slide the mound of dough off onto a greased cookie sheet. Make 8 mounds with the tablespoon, then make 8 smaller mounds in a similar way using a kitchen teaspoon. Insert the pointed end of a blanched almond in one side of simulates a pond, they are surrounded by seasonal buds and flowers.

each small mound, press a currant on each side for the eyes, and bake in a 375 degree oven for 15 minutes, removing the small mounds at the end of 12 minutes. Cool the cookies on a cake rack. To assemble the cookie ducks, spread the underside of the small mounds with orange marmalade or peanut butter and sit one on each large mound. Brush the almond "beaks" with a little melted chocolate. Makes 8 cookie ducks.

Meat, Poultry, Fish Enhanced by Lemon

To bring out a delicate flavor, sprinkle lamb or fish with lemon juice a few minutes before cooking. This cuts down odors, adds to the flavor and tenderizes the meat.

Use the same trick on chicken or turkey—rub the poultry inside and out with a cut lemon for white, juicy and tender meat.

And, for added zest, try a big squeeze of lemon juice over fried or broiled liver, steaks or chops, the old-fashioned fried egg, or veal cutlets. Even hamburger gets a face-lift when lemon juice enters the picture. Or try baking pork chops with a slice of lemon atop.

The extra special touch to make any fish or meat dish tops—add the lemon juice to melted butter and baste with the mixture.

Serve Seafood Onion Soup Mix on Crisp Noodles

Items on your canned foods shelf frequently can be the inspiration for a delicious Lenten entree. The base for this Seafood Au Gratin, for example, is simply a can of lobster, one of crab and a can of mushrooms. The only cooking preparation required is the making of a cheese sauce with which to bind the delicately flavored foods together.

To provide contrast in texture serve the creamed dish over crisp Chinese noodles which are available in cans too and need no further cooking.

Seafood Au Gratin
 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 cup can mushrooms, sliced
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 cups milk
 1 cup grated process American cheese
 1 6-oz. can lobster
 1 6-oz. can crabmeat
 1 can Chinese noodles

Cook mushrooms in butter; blend in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in cheese. Add lobster and crab and heat through. Serve hot over individual portions of the noodles.

Onion Soup Mix Helps Flavor Stew

There will still be many a chilly day in Spring when a plate of hot lamb stew will just hit the spot with the family. You can make it a new way which boasts the added rich flavor of a package of onion soup mix.

This stew features all the other good ingredients of an old-fashioned stew: lamb, chopped celery, carrots, quartered potatoes, and seasoning.

The onion soup mix is added very conveniently right from the package. The soup mix heightens the flavor of the other ingredients and lends added nourishment as well.

Since this is a wonderful meal-in-one dish that is actually quite filling on its own, you need only fix a nice crisp fruit salad to go with it. And, of course, hot buttered biscuits are delicious with stew.

Homemakers find onion soup mix adds a superb flavor to gravy, meat loaf, pot roast, among other things. Try it tomorrow in this lamb stew and you will file this recipe under "F" for family favorites.

Lamb Stew
 2 pounds boned lamb shoulder
 1 tablespoon fat
 2 cloves garlic, minced
 1 package onion soup mix
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 cup chopped celery
 1 cup boiling water
 4 pared medium carrots, cut in quarters
 2 or 3 medium potatoes, quartered
 2 tablespoons flour—mixed with 1/4 cup water
 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped

Remove gristle and excess fat from lamb and cut lamb into 2-inch cubes. Heat fat in heavy 3-quart Dutch oven or cooking dish, add garlic and saute 3 minutes. Remove pan from heat and add lamb cubes, onion soup mix, salt, pepper, and chopped celery. Pour boiling water over the meat mixture.

Simmer, covered, 1 1/2 hours or until lamb is very tender. Put in carrots, cook five minutes, then add potatoes. Cook until vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. Thicken with flour-water mixture if desired. Stir in chopped parsley. Makes 6 or 8 servings.

"YES, WE'RE HAVING COMPANY" — With seven to plan for on Easter, Mrs. Julius Haida of 940 Tecumseh has her menu well in mind except for the dessert. She is planning to serve leg of lamb, stuffed baked potatoes, a tossed salad and some vegetable. We're going to get her recipe for the stuffed potatoes and publish it in the daily recipe column.

"HAM, OF COURSE," — Mrs. Lowell Fockler of 162 Pioneer replied when asked what her Easter dinner menu would be. She was shopping early to get a good selection. The ham will be baked with a glaze of mustard, orange marmalade and brown sugar. Mrs. Fockler's parents will join their son-in-law, daughter and two-year-old grandson, David, for Easter dinner. In addition to ham they will eat glazed sweet potatoes, a molded salad, asparagus and probably cake for dessert. Mrs. Fockler loves to cook.

"OH, GOODNESS, I DON'T KNOW" — Little Mrs. David Briggs of 1043 Myrtle has been married only a month and some one was pressing to tell her Easter menu! She thought she would have ham, so we steered her over to the meat department where Paul Willhite showed her half a ham. Mrs. Briggs says she likes to cook and her husband is pleased with her meals. "But I think he's prejudiced."

"SURE, I'M HAVING COMPANY" — All week Mrs. Guy Wilson checks out groceries for other people. That doesn't stop her from preparing an Easter dinner for six to eight people. Her menu includes ham baked with a pineapple glaze, sweet potatoes, a tossed salad and homemade apple pie. The Wilsons live at 2627 Auburn avenue.

Strict Care Necessary to Keep Frozen Foods

Have you ever been disappointed with a package of frozen food? Associated with poor, unattractive quality are:

Brown peach slices
Silver-gray size berries
Olive-drab snap beans
Grayish brown cauliflower
Rancid chicken or turkey
Curdled white sauce or gravy

These products have been abused. Mishandling could have been due to:

Ignorance, in store or at home
Carelessness, any place from field to processor, to seller, to kitchen
Accident, the current goes off and freezer warms up
Too much pressure, or inadequate equipment

The higher the temperature, the greater the damage is done in a given length of time. The longer the time, the more damage occurs at a given temperature.

If frozen foods were always kept at zero or below, there would be no problem.

Any rise in temperature speeds changes in all frozen products. Letting a package of frozen food get up to 25 degrees for just one day is worse than using a package from a pack more than a year old but held at zero or colder. Once damage is done, it cannot be undone. Frozen products allowed to reach 20 to 30 degrees can be reduced to zero to slow further damage—but will not heal the damage already done.

So, it is important to buy frozen food from a reliable, careful handler. So, you should choose packages that are frozen solid, that show no stains, that show no breaks in the outside wrap.

So, unless you have a freezer, use any frozen packages within a week after purchase. Keep them in the ice cube compartment. (This is about 15 degrees.) And if you have a freezer, the best temperature for storing frozen food is zero or lower.

If ice cream dips easily when taken from the freezer, the temperature is 12 degrees or higher. If it is too hard to dip, the temperature is 5 degrees or lower. You might use this as a simple guide to the temperature of your freezer.

In a freezer at 0 degrees F. fruits and vegetables will keep a year, fish 4-6 months, meats 4 to 12 months according to the kind. So, keep frozen foods frozen until used. Never refreeze, once they are thawed. You will find both quality and flavor changes.

Prepared frozen foods are the fastest growing part of the frozen food industry. According to a recent study, frozen processed foods such as pies, dinners, and soups, took 4 cents of the urban household food dollar. (Urban families are 59 per cent of the population, 69 per cent of the food market).

Grill Chuck Steak Inside Salt Paste

Make a stiff paste of salt, using 1 cup salt to 3 or 4 tablespoons water. Spread top of chuck steak with 1/2" layer of salt paste, after first sprinkling meat with tenderizer.

Dampen double thickness of paper toweling twice the size of the meat. Cover coated side of meat with toweling, and place this side down in open wire broiler. Cover top of meat with 1/2" layer of salt, and fold other half of dampened paper over it. Close broiler and place on grill above flame or hot charcoal fire.

To grill 1 1/2" thick piece "medium well," allow about 14 minutes. When meat is cooked, paper-salt layer will lift off in one piece. And chuck tastes just like steak!

Week's Best Buys Reflect Demands for Easter Food

Easter hats won't be any more important than Easter dinner. This special meal will be a festive affair, but with the good supplies of ham and poultry, it need not be expensive, says the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. It can be more colorful when asparagus, broccoli, sweet potatoes, lettuce and romaine are selected from current vegetable stocks.

Desserts and fruit cups may take advantage of thrifty bananas, fresh or canned pineapple and strawberries. Easter decorations will be gayly colored and fun to eat, for eggs are temptingly priced for this week's market basket.

MEAT FOR DINNER—The size and what the family likes will help decide whether smoked ham or turkey is the traditional meat choice.

Twelve to fourteen pound whole smoked hams are priced at about 50 to 60 cents a pound. The difference in price is mostly due to added processes such as removing part of the bone or fully cooking the ham so it is ready to serve.

Double check labels when selecting part of a ham. Butt or shank halves with the center slices will cost more per pound than the portions without the center slices, but the halves will actually serve more people per pound and be somewhat easier to carve.

Young ten to fourteen pound turkeys or large twenty to twenty-four pound turkeys are available at about 40 to 50 cents per pound. Since a pound of ready to cook turkey will yield 2 1/2 to 3 servings, the cost per serving will not be more than 18 to 20 cents. This is reasonable for such festive eating.

Most turkeys will be frozen, so choose one on which the freezer wrap is unbroken. Any break in the outside wrap allows air to enter and dry the frozen meat.

Besides these traditional meats others are tagged to rate Easter attention. A standing rib-roast, leg of lamb, roast chicken or duck are more expensive choices. Boston Butt is a thrifty roast.

VEGETABLES AND FRUITS—Freshness and greenness as typical of spring, are easy to spot at produce counters. Fresh asparagus is more plentiful than it has been. Broccoli quality continues to be very good. Firm, tender stalks that are a fresh blue-green and buds that are tightly closed tell that broccoli is of good quality.

Constant ham companions, sweet potatoes and pineapple, are featured items for the market list. Combinations of lettuce and romaine are colorful flavorful salad greens. Cabbage is another salad favorite because of economy and high vitamin C content.

A fruit cup, salad, or dessert of fresh bananas, pineapple, and strawberries is not so extravagant as it might sound. Bananas continue at low cost levels. The large No. 8 size pineapple will cut into about a quart of fresh pieces. Pricewise, the frozen strawberries are now the better value.

EGGS—To accommodate the Easter bunny, retailers are offering large Grade A eggs at 30 to 40 cents a dozen in many stores. Some egg dyes look best on all white eggs, so check egg cartons for this information if necessary. Usually the mixed eggs are several cents less per dozen for the same grade. For decorated eggs, the all white may be best; for cooking or breakfast eggs the mixed may be the wisest buy.

Hot Ham Sandwich With Orange Raisin Sauce
2 cups very thinly sliced cooked ham
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups orange juice
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup shredded carrot
6 hot slices buttered toast

Combine sugar, mustard, flour, and salt in a saucepan. Gradually stir in the orange juice. Stir and cook until sauce boils. Add raisins and cook 2 minutes. Just before serving, stir in carrots. Place ham on hot toast and cover with sauce. Serve hot. Yield: 4 servings.

Note to Brides: Buy a canvas cover for your pastry board and a stockinet cover for your rolling pin. These accessories are invaluable aids in rolling out pie or cookie dough.

Serve Green Beans With Touch of Red

Green Beans with Pimiento Sauce
1 can (about 1 pound) whole green beans
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 drained canned pimiento (chopped)
Heat green beans in their liquid and drain. Put butter, lemon juice and chopped pimiento in saucepan and heat until butter melts. Mix with drained hot beans. Makes 4 servings.

Fry slices of Canadian bacon lightly or they will be dry and hard.

Score Potatoes, Add Salt

Scrub large baking or boiling potatoes and wipe dry. Rub well with shortening, then score through almost to bottom in several places. Sprinkle with salt. Wrap each potato in heavy foil, bake in 350 degree oven until done.

End of Lent Means Time to Try New Desserts

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Home Editor

We feel in the mood to talk about desserts. Perhaps it's because we have been counting calories for so many weeks that we feel like indulging in something sweet for a change.

All these gorgeous looking pictures of gooey desserts and recipes for luscious calorie-filled dishes come to our desk day after day. Let's gather them all in one article for a real binge.

Desserts have an important part in our diets. They are an essential part of any meal—if they are well planned. Even if you love apple pie, you wouldn't eat it for seven days a week.

Let's start with a Trifle. Now an English Trifle is an expensive, ornate concoction of sponge cake, lady fingers, fruit or jam, wine, baked custard and whipped cream. The trifle we offer for your approval is much simpler.

Nutmeg Baked Trifle

Ingredients:
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Two 8-inch sponge cake layers
Meringue
Ground nutmeg for garnish

Combine first three ingredients in a saucepan. Add egg yolks and 2 tablespoons of the milk. Mix well. Heat remaining milk and add gradually to the egg yolk mixture. Mix well. Cook over hot water or low heat until mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring constantly. Add salt until soft peaks are formed. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff.

Cut each sponge cake layer into 2 crosswise slices. Place one slice in the bottom of a 2-quart casserole. Cover with custard. Repeat this process, using the remaining sponge cake and custard and having custard as the top layer.

Top with meringue and bake in a preheated slow oven (325 degrees) 30 minutes or until meringue is brown. Garnish with ground nutmeg. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Meringue

3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar

Your bridge club will like this tangy mousse. It combines frozen lemonade concentrate with apricots and bananas in a delicious blend. It can be easily frozen in your refrigerator tray.

Lemonade Fruit Mousse

Ingredients:
1 cup dry macaroon or coconut cookie crumbs
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
1 cup apricot puree (use baby food cans of strained apricots, or put cooked apricots through sieve)
1 cup mashed bananas
1 (8-oz.) can frozen concentrate for lemonade
1/4 cup sugar (or to taste)
1 pint-whipping cream
Crush cookie crumbs, fine and line refrigerator tray, or a mold, with one-half of crumbs. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve with boiling water. Combine apricot puree, mashed bananas and concentrate for lemonade. Add sugar to taste. Add to gelatin mixture. Cool.

Whip cream and fold into mixture. Pour into the crumb-lined tray and top with remaining crumbs. Freeze until firm (5 to 4 hours). Serves 6-8.

Although this recipe calls for fresh strawberries, you can use frozen ones, thawed. You will need two small boxes or one large box for this pie recipe.

Strawberry Cream Pie

Ingredients:
1 9-inch baked pie shell
1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced
1/2 cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 pint cream for whipping
2 tablespoons sugar

Sprinkle sugar over strawberries (frozen ones need no additional sugar). Soften gelatin in cold water for 10 minutes; add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add gelatin, lemon juice and salt to strawberries and chill until mixture is egg white consistency.

Whip cream and stir in 3 tablespoons sugar. Fold into the strawberry mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Serve as is, or garnish the top with fresh strawberries and whipped cream.

Macaroon Pineapple Pudding

Ingredients:
1 pint milk
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin dissolved in 1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup cut, drained maraschino cherries
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring
6 macaroons, dried and crushed (about 2 cups)
1 pint whipping cream—1/2 pint to be used in the recipe and 1/2 pint to be used for garnish

Beat egg yolks; add 1/2 cup powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Scald the milk, add to egg yolk mixture carefully and cook over a medium heat until it coats the spoon. Dissolve gelatin and add to custard. Stir thoroughly. Add almond flavoring and crushed macaroons.

Beat egg whites until real stiff and add to above mixture, stirring well. Set aside to cool.

After cooled, beat 1/2 pint whipping cream to which add 2 tablespoons powdered sugar. Add this to pudding together with crushed pineapple and cut maraschino cherries. Stir occasionally during the time it is setting. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve. Let's end this discussion of desserts with an ice cream recipe. This one combines vanilla ice cream, coconut and a sweet cherry sauce.

Cherry Snowballs

Ingredients:
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 package coconut (1/4 pound) chopped
1 No. 2 1/2 can sweet dark cherries with juice (about 1 1/2 cups)
2/3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar

Scoop balls of ice cream and roll in chopped coconut. (A No. 16 scoop makes 12 snowballs.) Set in freezer, or refrigerator until serving time.

Serve with cherry sauce which has been made ahead by combining cornstarch thoroughly with sugar, then with cherry and lemon juice, and cooked over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add pitted cherries and chill. Serve over snowballs. Serves 8 to 12.

Just for Fun An Easter Fancy

Bake an Egg Cake for Fun

In honor of Easter comes this Easter Egg Cake, gloriously and oh, so simply made from an altogether new instant devil's food cake mix. Two eggs and water are put into the mixing bowl at the same time as a package of this mix; and happy day! They are all mixed together at once—with just one beating.

'Tired' Salad Saves Time

Make four to six hours before serving. This "tired salad" saves on-the-spot hostess time, fits in with a do-it-the-easy-way meal.

Salade Fatigue (Tired Salad)

- 1 head iceberg lettuce
- 1 large onion
- 1 small bunch watercress
- 1 pound tomatoes
- 1 stalk celery
- 3 hard cooked eggs
- Some anchovy fillets
- 1 egg
- 1 pepper
- 1 mustard
- Vinegar, to dampen
- Salt oil, to dampen
- 1 cucumber

Mix dry, the lettuce, onion, watercress, tomatoes, celery, eggs, anchovy fillets, cucumber... then toss. Add dressing of oil, vinegar, pinch of mustard, salt and pepper. Put on bottom shelf of refrigerator and serve four to six hours later when it is reasonably limp and the dressing has permeated the salad completely.

Be careful with oil and vinegar using sparing amounts as you toss salad. Rub bowl with garlic as wished.

Orange Rice Good Eating With Broiled Chicken

Orange Rice and Celery

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery crescents
- 1 tablespoon finely sliced onion
- 1 tablespoon sliced orange rind
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup rice
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1/2 cup converted-type rice

Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan over low heat; add celery and onion; cook gently, stirring several times, about 5 minutes. Add orange rind, water, orange juice, a pinch of thyme and salt.

Add rice. Bring to a boil; cover and cook slowly until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed about 25 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

Easter Egg Cake

1 package devil's food mix
Chocolate cream frosting
Prepare instant devil's food mix according to package directions, baking in 2 round 8 or 9-inch layer pans.

Chocolate Cream Frosting

1 package (1 ounce) cream cheese
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Dash of salt
3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
Soften cream cheese with part of milk; add salt. Then add sugar, alternating with rest of milk, blending well after each addition. Melt and add chocolate; and beat until smooth and of right consistency to spread. Makes 2 cups frosting.

DEMONSTRATION OUTLINE

For Easter Egg Cake

There are just a few simple steps in making this Easter Egg Cake, yet it is so dramatic that it is bound to be a sure fire hit in every home when it makes a proud appearance at Easter time. It's got personality, good looks, charm and versatility — all the qualities of a star! Here's how to do it:

Prepare instant devil's food mix according to directions on package and bake in either two round 8- or 9-inch layers. Cut each cake layer in two, about 1/4-inch off-center, making two larger and two smaller.

Spread a rich chocolate frosting on bottom of each layer. Stand the layers, cut side down, on a cake plate, placing the two larger pieces together in the center and a smaller piece on either side.

To accentuate oval shape of cake trim off the four outside corners, top and bottom.

Then cover entire cake with more chocolate frosting. Decorate with tinted frosting and candy flowers.

She Two-Times Potatoes

There's a two-timing young lady at the University of Illinois who has found in advance a way to put a meal on the table in a hurry, leaving more time in the living room with husband (when she gets one) or friends. She's a student in experimental cookery in the College of Home Economics, and two of the tricks she worked out to the satisfaction of herself and her instructor, are ways of preparing French fried potatoes and scalloped potatoes so there's only a little work to do at the last minute.

Use Your Imagination

Vary that plain recipe for dropped cookies by substituting brown sugar for half the white sugar called for, by using grated orange rind instead of vanilla, or by spicing with cinnamon and nutmeg.

The secret is to two-time the potatoes; that is, cook them two times; cook them part-way in advance, perhaps in the morning, and give them their final cooking just before they are to be served.

To make French fried potatoes, this sharp two-timer cooks the potatoes in the morning so they are blanched but not brown. Then, just before serving, have the deep fat heated to cooking temperature, pop in the pre-cooked potatoes and they'll be ready to eat in just a few minutes.

For scalloped potatoes, make a thin white sauce in a sauce pan. Add sliced potatoes and boil for two minutes. Then put the potatoes and the sauce in a buttered casserole. If baked immediately, they'll be done in about 30 minutes. If they're allowed to cool, baking will take 45 to 60 minutes, at 350 degrees.

Probably you don't need to be reminded that potatoes are usually plentiful now, with a super-abundance of old-crop potatoes and plenty of new ones.

Two Kinds of Oil Blend in Dressing

An all-purpose dressing that is fine for a green salad.

Good Dressing

- 1/2 cup peanut oil
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 cup salad vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Shake all ingredients together thoroughly in a small jar with a screwtop; refrigerate. Shake thoroughly before using.

Team Poached Eggs With Toast, Cheese

Team these three — toast, poached eggs and cheese sauce for the quickest-ever supper dish. Into a gently bubbling cheese sauce break as many eggs as needed. Slowly simmer until the eggs are set. Serve on slices of piping hot enriched bread toast. You may dilute Cheese Whiz with a little milk to be used for the cheese sauce.

Cover that saucepan of water you are heating for cooking vegetables or other foods; the vapor that rises and does not escape will help the water to come to a boil rapidly.

Village of Bethany Rich in Shrines Commemorating Christ's Last Visit

EDITOR'S NOTE: A Moslem minaret and a Christian bell tower rise over one of the best-known shrines of Christianity — the tomb from which the Bible says Christ raised Lazarus. Here is a report on that site and the village of Bethany, fourth in a series on famous places of Palestine.

By WILTON WYNN

BETHANY, Jordan — The village of Bethany has an intimate association with Jesus' last days on earth.

It was from here He caught sight of Jerusalem as He arrived

The minaret is a recent addition to an old mosque which since the 14th Century has covered the tomb. For many centuries Christians were not allowed to visit the tomb, but later arrangements made it possible for persons of all faiths to visit the site.

FRAGMENTS REMAIN
In the courtyard of the adjoining Franciscan church you can see fragments of the floor of the poverty-stricken Arab families. You can hardly tell where ancient ruins end and modern buildings begin. In one stone hovel, an Arab family hangs its wash on an ancient Greco-Roman column. One family uses the roof of its neighbor lower down as a terrace where it spreads its stocks of wheat.

On the first Palm Sunday, Jesus walked from similar scenes to the next village on the Mount of Olives, Bethphage. A square stone inside a Franciscan chapel in a pine grove in Bethphage is said to be the one from which Jesus mounted the donkey to begin his triumphal ride into the holy city.

Just beyond Bethphage the triumphal path leaves the paved road and follows a trail between the stone terraces of olive groves, past the Garden of Gethsemane, across the Valley of Kidron to the wall of Jerusalem.

From the Mount of Olives you can get a striking view of Jerusalem and its surroundings. In the foreground, you see the Arab city. Beyond it, across no-man's-land, is the Israeli sector.

MODERN TENSION HIGH

Armed guards patrol the line on either side; Arabs and Israelis have been at war since 1948. The people on either side of the line have no contact with each other.

The sight of this divided city today affects the traveler very much as Jesus was touched when He saw the troubled holy city in His day and wept:

"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings!"

Tomorrow:
The City of Jerusalem.

SS Aquarama to Sail June 21

Slate Luxury Liner's
First Detroit-Cleveland
Round Trip Cruise

DETROIT (INS)—The SS Aquarama, a multi-million dollar Great Lakes luxury liner, is scheduled to begin Cleveland-to-Detroit cruises June 21.

J. Lee Barrett, president of the Michigan - Ohio Navigation Co., operators of the spacious cruiser, said the vessel will be used for daily round-trip service.

The schedule showed that on Wednesday through Saturday the ship will leave Detroit at 8:15 a.m. EST and arrive in Cleveland at 4:15 p.m. EST.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, sailing will originate in Cleveland from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. EST, returning to Cleveland at midnight.

Final cruise of the 1957 pleasure season will be September 15. Barrett said extensive plans are being made to accommodate organizations, desiring special group arrangements.

He said the 520-foot vessel will dock at the foot of West 3rd street, near Municipal Stadium, in Cleveland and at the Riverview Park, at West Grand Blvd., in Detroit.

The ship, an ocean-going craft, has space for 185 autos and can accommodate 2,500 people.

Barrett said continuous cruise round-trip rates will run from $7.77 up to $11.72. Children from 5 to 11 years of age travel for half fare. Autos (passenger driven) can be accommodated for $8.74 one way.

HE WAS HERE — Two shrines, one Moslem and the other Christian, rise over the tomb of Lazarus in the village of Bethany.

from Jericho to face the ordeal of the cross. It was from here He made plans for His triumphal entry into Jerusalem on the first Palm Sunday. And it was in Bethany that He spent His last happy hours, with some of His dearest friends.

Bethany today is an Arab village set on the hillside overlooking the Valley of Jehoshaphat. Every detail of Jesus' last visit here is commemorated in religious sites and shrines.

TOMB HELD SACRED

Both Moslems and Christians hold sacred a deep grotto in the center of the village from which Jesus is said to have raised Lazarus after he had been dead four days. Two towers rise above the shrine, one a Christian church bell tower, the other a Moslem minaret.

The ruins of a narrow, vaulted stone building connect the church and mosque.

Local traditions say this was the house of Mary and Martha, where Jesus rested before making His final journey into Jerusalem.

On the edge of Bethany as you come from Jericho is a domed Greek Orthodox church marking the spot where some believe Mary and Martha met Jesus to tell Him their brother Lazarus was dead.

From the bell tower of this church, you get a perfect view of Bethany. On the Jerusalem road, you see a typical scene of modern Arab Palestine — men in wide cloaks and flowing Arab headdresses, women in embroidered dresses and shawls carrying enormous loads on their heads, a horse-drawn cart delivering bread, a few overloaded donkeys picking their way along, and the continual coming and going of the modern invader, the automobile, carrying passengers back and forth from Jerusalem to Jericho.

On the rise of ground to the right of the road you see the minaret and bell tower marking the tomb of Lazarus.

Fourth Century church which first marked this site as the tomb of Lazarus. Two feet above that floor are remains of a Crusaders' church, built here in the 12th Century.

Stretching out from the mosque and church is a honeycomb of crumbling stone houses, one built on top of another, inhabited by

State Pays Homage to Arbor Day Founder

LANSING — Michigan will celebrate Arbor Day April 26 and at the same time pay homage to the man from Monroe who was its founder.

Gov. Williams, officially proclaiming the observance today, noted that this year marks the 125th anniversary of the birth of J. Sterling Morton, who founded Arbor Day in 1872.

Morton grew up in Monroe and attended the University of Michigan.

"It is appropriate," said the governor in his proclamation, "that we pay him special homage as we plant our symbolic trees this spring."

"Although Arbor Day has always been especially celebrated in our schools and has had widespread influence upon the youth of this state," he added, "it is also desirable that our adult population recognize that trees, soil, water and wildlife, all closely related, need the understanding, love, care and protection of all of us."

Sparta Bond Vote Soon

SPARTA — The 75-member citizens committee on school enlargement has disclosed plans for a $1,300,000 bond issue to construct a new high school for the recently consolidated Sparta area school district. Chairman Glenn S. Bradford said the board of education expects to set a ballot date at a special meeting next Monday.

DETROIT EDISON'S NEW ELECTRIC WATER-HEATING SERVICE

New 1957 Electric Water Heaters built to Edison's specifications, plus Edison's new Super-Supply Plan, give you more hot water, more economically

Here's good news from Detroit Edison. Now the safest, most dependable water heaters on the market are available at prices anyone can afford. With Edison's new Super-Supply Plan and the new type electric water heaters you can get plenty of hot water for just pennies a day.

New type heaters for new economy
Detroit Edison joined with appliance manufacturers to bring you these new electric water heaters—built to Edison's own rigid specifications, backed by Edison service.

Completely redesigned, the 1957 heaters have two heating elements, one near the top, the other near the bottom. Both have greatly increased wattage. Both operate completely automatically. Result—hotter water, faster! In fact, you get more hot water than ever before from the same size tank.

What is Edison's Super-Supply Plan?
For still greater economy, Edison is offering a new water-heating service plan. This Super-Supply Plan makes available abundant hot water at a surprisingly low cost. Think of it—all the hot water you need for just a few pennies per day.

Only Electric Water Heaters offer so much
In addition to their fast heating ability, electric water heaters offer many other important advantages. Of course, they're the safest water heaters ever built. There's no flame to worry about. No odor from fumes. Because they require no fuel, electric water heaters can be installed anywhere—even in the kitchen or utility room. And excellent insulation makes the new models cool, top to bottom.

You can be confident that with an electric water heater you have done another job better, electrically.

Buddy Elliott invites you to check these tremendous advantages of ELECTRIC water heating before you buy.

Prober Hits Proposed Immigration Law Change

Warns DAR of Red 'Goal'

WASHINGTON (INS)—The staff director of the House Un-American Activities Committee asserted today that administration-proposed changes in the immigration law would give U.S. communists their "number one" goal.

Richard Arens told the 66th annual Continental Congress of the Daughters of American Revolution:

"If the provisions of the various pending amendments should be adopted by the Congress, immigration to the United States would be trebled, the security provisions of the law would be destroyed, and it would all be done in the name of 'democracy, liberalism' and similar catch phrases."

He charged that "political hucksters who auction visas for so-called nationality bloc votes" are aiding Communists in their drive to change the McCarran-Walter Act, which he called their "number one objective."

Arens spoke as DAR members prepared to vote on a series of resolutions, including one in opposition to changing the immigration law. The delegates also were casting ballots today to choose seven new vice presidents general to serve during the next three years.

President Eisenhower, earlier this year, appealed to Congress to relax the immigration law so as

Methodist Guild Hears Talks on Missions

"Missions Abroad and in Our Own Country" was the topic for discussion at the recent meeting of the Junior Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church. Vera Murphy was hostess to members in her home on Mohawk road for the meeting.

Arens' superior on the Un-American Activities Committee, chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), the co-sponsor of the McCarran-Walter Act and chairman of the House Immigration subcommittee, is an avowed opponent of any changes in the law.

The staff director said the Communist Party has created more than 180 groups in the U.S. "for the purpose of building 'grass roots' sentiment at the crossroads, to bring pressure on Congress to weaken" the act.

He added that "vast sums have been expended to create in the minds of the American people an attitude of hostility toward our immigration and nationality laws, and to soften up the security screening procedures."

Foes Meet at the Home of Friend

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "The other afternoon a friend came to visit me. About 15 minutes later another friend stopped by to see me. The two women in question are not on speaking terms. When I went to the door to let the second friend in I said nothing to her about Mrs. B's being there."

"When she walked into the room and saw her she turned to me and said: 'I see you have company. I will stop in to see you another time' and left promptly. It was a very embarrassing situation for all. Will you please tell me if there was any possible way to avoid this situation?"

Answer: If you knew that they were not on speaking terms, when you opened the door for the second visitor you should have said, "I think I should tell you that Mrs. B. is here in case you mind seeing her." Then it would have been up to her whether or not she came in.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I attended a fashionable wedding at which all of the 200 guests, with the exception of me, gave the bride couple a cash gift."

"After the dinner, the guests formed a line and presented their envelopes to the bride as they went up to wish her happiness."

Answer: I myself have never encountered this but I have heard that it is customary in some communities. Correctly, when money is given for a wedding present, it should be in the form of a check and sent beforehand.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The father of one of the girls in the office has passed away and the following problem has arisen: When flowers are sent to the funeral home, to whom are they sent? (a) To the deceased? (b) To the widow? (c) To the daughter (our co-worker)?"

Answer: Ordinarily flowers are sent to "the Funeral of John Smith." But in your case they should be sent to the daughter.

'We Have No Office Staff to Help Us'

Gals Jeer Expert Mr. Housewife

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN. A letter I printed from a man who claimed to be the perfect housekeeper. He bemoaned the fact that women did not have their housework better organized.

"It's the details of housekeeping," writes a reader, "which bog us down."

Mrs. Clough to Head Pioneer Sisters

Other officers elected were Mrs. E. R. Miller, secretary and Mrs. Fairchild, treasurer.

Club Makes Plans to Visit State Hospital

Mrs. Merrill Petrie presided at the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Metropolitan Club, held Tuesday at the American Legion Home on Auburn avenue. The group made plans to tour Pontiac State Hospital during open house week.

The auxiliary will be host to surrounding auxiliaries on May 15 at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building. Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Ruel Baker, assisted by Mrs. John DePauw, Mrs. Park Nique, Mrs. Merrill Petrie and Mrs. John Schroeder.

These comments from readers will scratch an itch for many of you and they also are amusing and interesting.

"I can see that the man who wrote the letter has no children. I could be well organized, too, if I kept my children tied and gagged and locked in the closet all day."

Another: "Perhaps when my children go to school I will have more time but until then no male efficiency expert is going to tell me I am disorganized. Pity the family which is so organized that there is never time for a smile, a laugh, a hug, or a spur-of-the-moment excursion."

Again: "There is one point I would like to bring to this man's attention. We consider efficient housekeeping only one phase of our job. He didn't mention time to nurse a bruised knee or heart, or time for character building, or being a good listener about a hard day at the office or any of the little things which make a house a home."

IT'S A BUSINESS
Another: "Housekeeping is, in a way, a business, and as such has its share of details. It is these, Mr. Housewife, which bog us down. We have no office staff to help us handle them. Washing, ironing, cleaning, cooking and shopping are the big picture. Think of the details."

Again: "Mr. X's letter on 'housekeeping' was so enjoyable that I made a special effort today to organize my work so there would be time to write this."

"That is to say that in our household of six (plus one turtle, two mice and a small cricket), I have mentally piled up the areas of work and tagged them with the years. I am likely to get to them. It brings me up to 1961."

"What I really admire about Mr. X is not his marvelous dispatchment but his detachment and his apparent calm and complete adjustment to his routine. When my head stops whirling I am going to try it, seven days a week."

Still another: "The gimmick, I believe, is outside stimulation. Businessmen would go stale, too, if they lived and worked all day

Mrs. Wilson Anticipates Retirement

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Charles E. Wilson is all set to leave town the minute her husband resigns as secretary of defense. She's been making her plans for weeks, and three handsome houses, 15 grandchildren and a most happy spirit await the day.

A June leave-taking had been talked of, she admitted, but she told me "the exact date has not yet been decided."

The outspoken Cabinet wife, whose criticism of the President for his rebuke of her husband last January caused something of a furore, has denied urging her husband to resign. She admitted, however, "we think he has the right to take it easy now."

Part of Jessie Wilson's plan for helping her husband "take it easy" has been adding an extra room to the handsome, seven-room ante-bellum mansion at Richlands, their 4,000-acre plantation in Louisiana, "a sort of recreation room where the men can go after hunting, or fishing."

The property, she added, also has been repainted, redecorated, and furniture bought with the place has been repupolstered.

TRAVEL SOUVENIRS
"When we leave here, we'll take some of the things we've collected in our travels from our Washington apartment to Richlands," she went on.

"I bought a lot of beautiful things in Paris, a beautiful hand-carved screen with the original tapestry I got for a song, about 40 pieces of Limoges, and some French furniture. Any drawing room has to have the French touch."

Some of the Meissen figurines she collects will go to the Wilsons' Bloomfield Hills home, as will additions to the Rose and Snow and Button and Daisy early American glass she keeps in two Georgian corner cupboard cabinets in her French blue dining room.

Mrs. Wilson said she had no special plans for the future. "I will do what my husband does, go where he goes," she said. "I always have."

If he goes hunting or fishing, she'll go along, though she doesn't

LAUGHS AT ARTICLE

Mrs. Wilson laughed over an article describing her as "sitting quietly with her neepoint and grandchildren."

"I haven't touched neepoint for 15 years," she told me, "and anyone knows you can't sit quietly with 15 grandchildren."

She doesn't expect to spend all her time at the plantation, either.

"We have three homes," she explained. "Besides Richlands and the home in Bloomfield Hills, we have our summer place at Walloon Lake in northern Michigan. We also have leased a ranch in Florida, but that will be mostly for the children."

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Sometimes ignorance is bliss — at least, that's how Elsie K. feels.

Elsie is a young mother of four children, who are all in school. For a long time, she had wanted to take a vocational test. Finally an old college friend of her husband's, who is a vocational counselor, gave her the works.

"But," Elsie wailed, "I was better off before. He tells me I'm a natural for the selling field, that I would have wonderful fun in it and make a lot of money. But the trouble is, I can't take a full-time job."

"All that's left is selling things door to door — and I just couldn't stand that. After all, I would have to interrupt busy housewives and push products at them — and I know what that's like!"

TYPICAL MISTAKE

This woman is making a typical mistake — thinking that selling is just selling. There's a world of difference between selling one kind of product and selling another.

I know women who believe so much in the product they sell that they honestly feel they're doing their customers a favor.

I have seen women, who were miserable selling cosmetics, become blissfully contented when they switched to vitamins — and vice versa!

The first thing for this woman to do — and for all of you who are

Preserve Beauty While Cleaning House in Spring

Even if you don't do an annual spring housecleaning, spring does somehow lend itself to tasks that have gone untended all winter. Among these are cleaning out the closets and kitchen cupboards and scrubbing same. While this is fine for the house, it's rough on beauty.

So, before you start your cleaning campaign, undertake the protection of your good looks. Hands should be sheathed in rubber gloves and creamed when you've finished work. Hair should be protected by a scarf tied turban style.

Give your face a thorough cream-and-lotion cleansing as soon as the cleaning jobs are finished. If the weather permits, have the windows open while you work so that you breathe as little dust as possible.

interested in sales — is to analyze yourself and see what kind of product would be best for you.

Make a list of the kind of products you enjoy using the most. Make a list of the kind of shop windows that fascinate you. List the kind of ads you invariably read in your paper, whether you're planning to buy such a product or not.

MAJOR INTERESTS

You'll come up with quite a list of major interests, of products which you might so enjoy selling that, as the saying goes, "It doesn't seem like selling at all!"

As for the business of selling door to door, that too, has changed. Many firms arrange the work so that you can make appointments in advance.

Then, again, today's housewife is often so busy with boring chores, and so lonesome working by herself, that she actually welcomes a salesperson to break the monotony!

If you'd like to find out what kind of product you could sell best, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of all the different companies in the direct sales field.

Teachers, Students Alike Divided on Issue

Abolish Report Cards? 'No,' Say 45 Pct. of Teenagers

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

To the surprise of no one—parents and teachers in particular—report cards are not over-popular with young scholars.

Teenagers do not even give them a passing mark. Only 51 per cent of the girls and 39 per cent of the boys we interviewed across the country are in favor of the report card method of measuring academic achievement. Neither percentage would be an acceptable grade in any school in the country.

Since they fail to make the grade with the high school set, what should be done about report cards?

Abolish them, demanded 44 per cent of the boys and 30 per cent of the girls.

Others in the anti-report card faction had reservations about total abolition and suggested an alternative, like withholding grades from students and parents but retaining them in school records, or substituting personal conferences with teachers for formal marks.

TEACHERS DISAGREE, TOO

Educators themselves are widely divided on the best type of report cards but few favor doing away with periodic reports to parents.

Many modern schools supplement report cards with conferences with parents and students. Others have been experimenting with the essay-type report card, a case history account of the student's progress.

This way it is possible to praise the effort of lower bracket stu-

No more of this if some teenagers have their way. This refers to the report card method of informing parents of their children's progress. There has been much discussion on this subject in PTAs throughout the country.

dents who are trying their best on limited abilities.

In general, however, educators have found two objections to detailed reports: Teachers often do not know how to write them and parents are not satisfied with them.

WANT BUILDUP

"We are told," says Mrs. Katherine Troyer, an elementary school teacher in Winnetka, Ill., "that parents want something they can point to and say 'this is what Johnny is doing.' We feel that parents who request this are doing so because grades are ego-builders for themselves."

Many boys and girls taking part in our nationwide survey blamed both teachers and parents for using report cards as a method of stirring up competition for grades rather than as a yardstick of student progress.

"Teachers and parents alike," complained a Milwaukee boy, "use report cards as a whip over our heads." His was a common complaint.

Others thought that the struggle for grades often took the place of a real quest for learning and put the student under an unnecessary strain.

UNFAIR TO SOME

Students who were doing well and had no reason to fear report cards pointed out that the system placed an unfair stigma on less gifted boys and girls.

"Joe and I have been friends for years," confided a Baltimore sophomore. "I'm a straight honor student and he's a real dud. He's miserable every time the report card goes out because I always do terrifically well and he usually just manages to skin by. I think it's rotten. He does as well as he can and I don't even bother much."

Many adults, however, believe that schools should train students for the competitive element in later life and see no harm in children of unequal abilities competing against each other.

Some schools attempt to soften the competitive element in grading by giving A-B-C marks for subjects like reading and mathematics and "satisfactory-unsatisfactory" for music, art, physical education and other subjects where special talent is so important.

WHO'S TO BLAME?

If report cards have set off an ego-building battle for marks, who's to blame?

"Teachers mostly," answered 42 per cent of the boys and girls queried.

Many youngsters said that their teachers place too much stress on good marks and not enough on good work.

"They warn you that if you do not pay attention, you'll flunk," said a New York boy. "You never hear them say that if you don't pay attention you might miss some pretty useful stuff."

Another commented candidly: "I'm studying Algebra to pass it, not learn it. Cramming is my strong point."

"My father," said an Ohio lad, "has been looking for honors on my card since I entered high school. He should know by now that the best I'll ever do is 80, still he gets mad because the kid next door always gets 90."

CARDS DEFENDED

In the midst of these young critics of "the system" stand a 45 per cent minority of the girls and boys interviewed who defended both the teachers and the use of report cards.

"In my school the teachers are doing the best they can with very little good material to work with," commented a Nebraska lad who offered a rather frank appraisal of his classmates.

"My junior class is not exactly the brightest or the most attentive. I don't think many teenagers are particularly interested in school at this age."

The pro-report card faction, for the most part, regarded their continued use as something necessary until a better scheme came along.

"There doesn't seem to be any other way to tell how a student is progressing," admitted a 15-year-old girl. "When something better is invented, then I'll be against report cards—not until."

Many insisted that without report cards they would have no way of knowing whether their work was meeting acceptable standards.

CUTOFF POINT

"A person has to know where he stacks up with the rest of the world," said an 18-year-old high school senior. "We don't live in a vacuum. So if you're a C student, what's wrong with that? It's not a crime to get 70's instead of 90's."

NEEDED FOR COLLEGE

Some defended report cards on the grounds that a reliable standard for measuring high school work was needed to win acceptance into most of the nation's colleges.

"How could a person get into a college without marks?" asked a 14-year-old girl.

If good grades are a prerequisite for entering college, argued some teenagers, then why bother sending them home each month to stir up family rivalries? Wouldn't it be better if high schools imply told a student from time to time whether his work showed future college possibilities?

"The ideal solution," suggested a 16-year-old junior, "would be for schools to send student records on to colleges without showing them either to the student or his family. Report cards wouldn't be needed and college applications could still be met."

Her "ideal solution" failed to take into account what parents would have to say upon learning for the first time that their sons and daughters were not scholastically prepared for college. And what would the seniors themselves have to say when first confronted with this information?

"We're surely going to get marked in college," said a 17-year-old graduating senior, "so why not now? Can you imagine the shock—to arrive at college and get a report card for the first time? It would be murder."

Several youngsters said they intended to avoid that shock by enrolling in a college that dispensed with grades and report cards. They thought they would learn more in the long run without, as one boy put it, "constantly striving to get to the top."

Charge Industry Wasting Talent of Skilled Workers

CHICAGO (INS) — The blame for America's critical shortage of scientists and engineers has been laid partly on the doorstep of industry itself for "wasting vital talent."

An independent group hopes to straighten out the situation this June in Chicago by presenting the Technical Career Conference, a gigantic job mart for technical personnel.

Marcus W. Hinson, who will direct the Career Council's show, explains that companies are crying for good technical workers, "but once they are hired, their abilities are often thrown away."

Hinson, an electrical engineer since 1923, lecturer, radio consultant and manager of industrial expositions, has been working on the conference for over a year.

DRIFT INTO SALES
"Engineers and scientists drift into sales jobs and management," he said, "often because they can't make nearly as much money in creative work."

Hinson explained that while these workers start at higher salaries than men in other fields, they are about equal in income within three years and fall behind after five years.

"Electronics and physics people are often shunted from key research jobs by way of monetary reward," he said.

CAN'T BOOST PAY

"When a man does an outstanding piece of research work, the company often wants to boost his salary. But under the present system, you can't pay him what he is worth unless you give him a management job."

"Not only is the company losing a top research man," Hinson said, "but the man is often neither good nor happy at his new job."

The Technical Career Conference is aimed at salvaging these creative scientists and engineers from the drudgery jobs they now hold.

"Companies will set up exhibitions to sell not their products, but research programs and the scientific tools they can put at the command of employees," said Hinson.

He said the companies will have a chance to see many men in the field who might not talk about a new job under ordinary conditions, unless they were ready to quit.

Asked if he didn't think many companies would object to their men attending the conference, Hinson chuckled.

DURING JUNE

"I know darn well they will. That is why we scheduled the thing for June, the vacation season."

"But whenever I hear an industrial leader say he doesn't want his men attending, I am tempted to ask, 'What's the matter, aren't you treating them right?'"

"We feel the man who has a good job will stick with it. He'll really appreciate it after seeing what the others have to offer."

"He won't change jobs merely because the grass looks greener elsewhere. He will have the opportunity to examine that grass pretty carefully."

EMPLOYERS' VIEWS

The manager said the conference will also attempt to discuss subjects that don't get an airing from the employees' point of view anywhere else.

What is wrong with procedures and laws governing patents? How can technical manpower be conserved through better library facilities? Is thoughtless classification of information by the armed forces wasting manpower? All these will be discussed.

One important topic for discussion will be the matter of making pay attractive for top research workers.

"We need engineers and scientists more than ever," Hinson said. "It is time we stopped throwing away the fine men we have."

AIRBORNE BEAUTY — Britain's choice to represent her in the international contest to find the world's ideal air hostess is 25-year-old Margaret Sheffield. A stewardess with British Overseas Airways, she will compete with other nations' representatives in a contest to be held in the United States in connection with the 30th anniversary of Lindbergh's solo transatlantic flight, May 20-21, 1927.

Sewer Water May Be Re-used

Industry Has Proved Its Economy; Barrier in Home Psychological

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — An engineering professor says the time may come when Americans will use reclaimed sewer water for domestic purposes.

"Water is neither created nor destroyed, nor is it changed in any form; it merely becomes dirty and all we have to do is wash it," says John Clark.

The New Mexico A&M Professor, a specialist in sanitary engineering, says industry "has proved that it is economical in certain instances" to use treated sewer water, and only psychological barriers keep it from being a source of water for ordinary home use.

"Our psychological attitudes regarding sewage water for personal use will have to be overcome if we are to be space travelers or live for a while on a satellite circling the earth," he says.

"It seems improbable that we will be able to carry along the huge amounts of water necessary to our persons on a trip lasting days, months or even years.

"In the absence of other available supplies, it might be necessary to treat and re-use the same water many times.

Industry does not have the psychological barrier, however, and Clark says it "will readily take" the reclaimed water.

As for domestic use, he says one thing that would help knock down the psychological barrier would be a time lag.

"Then a person wouldn't have the feeling of drinking the same water for dinner that he had for breakfast.

"One method for providing a time lag would be lagooning for a month or so. The lagoon could be a natural lake or reservoir or series of park ponds. These bodies of water should have a maximum of beauty and recreational use. Public contact with this water would go a long way to prove that it is just like any other water and maybe a lot cleaner than some."

As long as it is properly treated between each use, Clark maintains the same water can be used over and over again.

Although admitting that the psychological barrier to using "washed" sewage water for drinking purposes is so high the system is not likely to be adopted in the near future, Clark nevertheless points out the barrier is illogical.

"After all," he says, "the water that you drank today may have once been in Cleopatra's swimming pool."

India does not expect the Suez situation to cut its "gas" supply, as some parts of the country already are supplied from Indian fields in Assam.

Before the Tigers even get their baseball feet on the home base paths at Briggs Stadium, football had to sneak into the local picture for a few notes of interest yesterday.

As far as Pontiac itself goes, the attention at the Waldron Hotel was focused last evening on Jesse MacLeay who was greeted at a reception given by city civic leaders.

And while the comments such as "Oh no, not again," were heard when the Tiger score was passed around, the questions everyone threw at MacLeay were in true form, but just natural for a welcoming reception of a new football coach.

"What are your plans for football at Pontiac High?" "Where do you figure the problems will be?" "What kind of football team can you hope for from a school the size of Pontiac?"

And there were others, which would be difficult for any man who has been in town two days to answer adequately.

Of course, MacLeay wasted no time in attempting to begin analysis of the local grid picture.

He attended the high school's spring bust Tuesday night. He spoke briefly to some 90 boys who would answer the football call in September. He talked with Ed Graybiel, whose shoulders bore the brunt of the dining room quarterbacks for the past few years.

He looked over the school and its grid facilities, and he graciously listened to all the favorable and unfavorable comments of what "was" and what "should be."

Quite a physical and mental tour for such a short stay, but as it appears, MacLeay's own shoulders are pretty big, and he has from now until September to complete his analysis.

LIONS TAKE A LOCAL SITE

The pro level of football also drew some local interest when the Lions announced they would use Cranbrook's facilities as "home" for their training season.

The Crane site isn't really new as far as the Detroit grid organization goes. The Lions spent a few years training at the Oakland County school between 1934 and 1941, and "it's just like coming home," said one Lion official.

Offers came from 23 places including the Upper Peninsula, plus Minnesota and Far West sites, but the Lions denoted they would rather stay in Michigan. Besides, the facilities at Cranbrook are quite adequate and still within the heavy Detroit-Pontiac area populace.

The terms of the agreement for using Cranbrook are just for one year, and being a private school with limited public access, it was contracted that practice sessions would not be open to the public.

Lion officials however are hoping for the possibility of arranging a full scrimmage session or two for public viewing.

Tigers Make '57 Debut in Briggs Stadium Opener

Bengals Fall Short Again, 5-4

Wanted: 1 Extra Run

DETROIT (U) — Wanted: one run, deliver to the Tigers, Briggs Stadium, Detroit. Reward: the gratitude of a million fans.

Those words would need no explanation if found hanging over an entrance to Briggs Stadium, where the Tigers came home to play an American League game today for the first time in 1957.

The Tigers, badgered by one-run losses throughout their Florida spring training season, open at home against the Cleveland Indians today. Their record in the young American League pennant race is 0-2 and — you guessed it — both losses were by one run.

The Kansas City Athletics, almost a unanimous choice of the pre-season guessers to finish in the second division, administered their second straight one-run defeat to the Tigers at Kansas City yesterday. The score was 5-4.

During the exhibition season the Tigers stumbled through to a 10-18 record, the worst compiled by a Major League team, and 11 of those losses were by one run.

The first two games of the regular season showed no change in the tide for the Tigers. They either lacked the punch at the plate to get the one run needed to tie a close game, or they failed to come up with the pitching needed to hold a slim lead.

It was a case of both at Kansas City yesterday.

The Tigers roared to three runs in the first inning on a hit batsman, two walks and Ray Boone's base-clearing double.

The lead was short-lived. The A's pounced on Detroit starter Jim Bunning in the home half of the first inning and shelled him from the mound. Duke Maas took over and got the A's out with only two runs across, leaving the Tigers a thin 3-2 lead.

The A's got to Maas in the third for two more runs on homers by Hector Lopez and Harry Simpson.

Detroit tied it up in the fourth with one run on singles by Boone and Maas.

The Kansas City half of the fourth inning saw the winning run for the A's and the end of the afternoon for Maas.

Pistons Draft Ebben, Kramer

ST. LOUIS (U) — The Detroit Pistons drafted eight college players in the National Basketball Association draft yesterday. Two of the Pistons' choices were Michigan athletes.

The Pistons' franchise was moved from Fort Wayne, Ind., to Detroit at the end of the 1956-57 season. The NBA board of governors today approved the shift.

The Pistons' surprising choice was Bob McCoy, high jumping ace from Grambling College in Louisiana.

McCoy, 6-foot-5 and played center at Grambling.

As was expected, the new Detroit pro cage franchise grabbed Bill Ebben, high-scoring forward from the University of Detroit, as its second choice, and then picked Michigan's Ron Kramer as its 4th choice.

Kramer, however, is destined for a football career with the Green Bay Packers, while Ebben, under a cooperative five-year engineering plan at U. of D., still has one year of college remaining.

George Brown, Wayne University's agile center, was selected by the Minneapolis Lakers. The only other player from Michigan drafted was George Ferguson of Michigan State picked by Minneapolis.

These were Detroit Draft choices by rounds: 1st—yielded to New York as part of previous deal; (2) Bob McCoy, Grambling; (3) Bill Ebben, Detroit; (4) Kurt Eglebert, St. Josephs, Pa.; (5) Ron Kramer, Michigan; (6) Wait Adamushka, St. Francis, Brooklyn; (7) Carl Boldt, San Francisco; (8) Doug Boldt, now in Army; (9) Bob Lazor, Pitt; (10) Passed, and (11) Passed.

Here are some of the other leading choices made by NBA teams yesterday:

CINCINNATI—Gerry Paulson, Manhattan; Jed Dummeyer, Minnesota; Phil Murrel, Drake; George Ferguson, Michigan State; Harvey Schmidt, Illinois.

ST. LOUIS—John Smith, Notre Dame; Hank Nowak, Canisius; Bill Derragh, Louisville.

NEW YORK—Garry Clark, Syracuse; Rayford Wells, Lenoir-Rhyne, N.C.; Lee Marshall, Washington A. & M.

PHILADELPHIA—Angelo Lombardo, Manhattan; Ray Radzinski, St. Joseph's; Pa.; Jim Radcliff, Lafayette, Pa.; Alton Lewis, LaSalle.

SYRACUSE—Vince Cohen, Syracuse; Jerry Mallett, Baylor; Frank Minno, Cincinnati; Lyndon Lee, Oklahoma City University; Dick Gaines, Seton Hall.

BOSTON—Charles Schram, Western Illinois; Jim Ashmore, Mississippi State; Grady Wallace, South Carolina; Maurice King, Kansas.

A no-hitter by Fred Broward of Romeo featured the baseball action as the Bulldogs walloped Lake Orion by a 15-0 count for their 3rd successive shutout win.

Avondale scored eight big runs in the 2nd inning and then held off two Warren rallies to eke out a 9-8 verdict as Jerry Hill garnered two doubles and a single.

Down at Southfield, a blop single by Bill Heffner was the only Bluejay hit as the home club bowed to Redford Union, 6-2. Winner Brook Tillyan felled 14.

On the track front, Lake Orion's thincads made up for the baseball setback by routing rival Clarkston 65-44 at Clarkston led by Jim Drake, Jim Neph and John Schoff.

Clawson, Fitzgerald and Roseville battled right down to the final out before their triangular meet was decided. A victory in the 330 gave Clawson the verdict with 48 points. Fitzgerald had 45 and Roseville 44. Fitzgerald had two double winners and Roseville one but Clawson's balance paid off.

Several events are on tap around the county today weather permitting.

The Pontiac High golfers are slated to play host to Waterford while the net team is at Cranbrook. Another golf match has Country Day at Bloomfield Hills.

In track, Cranbrook is at home against Assumption, Milford competes in the Howell Invitational, and Hazel Park is at Royal Oak.

Two baseball contests are scheduled.

MATCHING RECORDS — Two of American League's leading hurlers, Billy Hoelt of the Tigers and Bob Lemon of the Indians, will match identical 20-14 records posted in 1956 when the two teams meet in Briggs Stadium today.

Hoelt Gets Call to Move Detroit Into Win Column

DETROIT — Whether the Tigers win, place or even show in the American League this season is a long way from being determined, but Jack Tighe, the new Bengal jockey, was scheduled today to wear the floral horseshoe which in racing usually is found in the winner's circle.

Tighe brought the Tigers home to Briggs Stadium to meet Cleveland after a pair of one-run defeats at the hands of the Yankees castoffs in Kansas City, and part of Detroit opening day ceremony called for the rookie manager to be crowned with a good luck horseshoe by the fireman's association of Detroit.

Just as was the case for the past two years, a crowd bettering 45,000 was expected to be dampened for the opening ceremonies.

The weather was seen as a big factor in hope for any attendance records. The record crowd for opening day was set in 1949 when 53,433 fans greeted the Tigers. Since then the largest opening day crowd was 46,994 for the 1954 opener.

A pair of pitchers with identical records were slated to oppose each other, Billy Hoelt for the Tigers and Bob Lemon for the Indians. Each compiled a 20-14 mark during the 1956 campaign.

In the series between the two teams last year both pitchers each posted similar records. Hoelt defeated the Indians twice and was beaten three times, and Lemon also won two and lost three against the Tigers.

The game will also feature the first meeting of the league's two newest managers, Tighe for the Tigers and Kerby Farrell of the Indians.

A change was expected in the Detroit lineup. Tighe figured he might move Ray Boone back to third to permit Ed Robinson, always a good hitter at Briggs Stadium, to take over at first.

Elsewhere in the American which had no other games scheduled yesterday, the second shift of home openers sent the New York Yankees and Johnny Kucks 18-9 to Boston against the Red Sox and Frank Sullivan 14-7 before a hoped for 30,000.

Kansas City, with Alex Kellner, (7-4) was at Chicago to face the White Sox and Jack Harshman (15-11) with 25,000 expected to sit in.

Washington set up the AL's first night game, with the Senators throwing Ted Abernathy (1-3) against Baltimore's Ray Moore (12-7) tonight.

PCL Veteran Dies
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U) — Bill Sweeney, veteran manager of Portland's Pacific Coast League baseball team, died early this morning at Mercy Hospital following surgery for a perforated ulcer. He was 53.

23 Top Golfers in Las Vegas Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U) — Prospects of blustery winds were not the only hazard facing a picked field of 23 famous golfers today as play got under way in the $38,500 Tournament of Champions.

The course — the Desert Inn Country Club's 7,102-yard, par 36-72 layout stretched out over what once was a playground for rattlesnakes and prairie dogs—is no pushover.

Authority for this is Jimmy Demaret, the Texan from Kiamath Lake, N.Y., the happy warrior of thousands of wars on the golf courses of the nation.

The Desert Inn test is not of the caliber of, for instance, of the big course at Augusta, Ga., scene of three triumphs in the Masters by Demaret. "But the course here is much better than most of the courses we play on the tournament trail," said Sir James as he made ready to tackle the task at hand.

"The greens are exceptionally good and there isn't a hole you can take lightly. It took 281 to win here last year. That will indicate what the course calls for."

Demaret is one of the strong threats to haul down the $10,000 first purse when the 72-hole event concludes Sunday.

Among other pre-shooting favorites are Cary Middlecoff, who has fared badly in recent tournaments and hasn't won one since he took the big one, the National Open in 1956, and surprisingly enough, Dow Finsterwald, a young pro from Tequesta, Fla.

Rated behind were such seasoned performers as Doug Ford and Ed Furgol, and the two-time winner in 1955-56, Gene Littler, whose last tournament win was here.

Mike Souchak, the big fellow from Grossinger, N.Y., by way of North Carolina, and Art Wall Jr., the pride of Pocono Manor, Pa., were listed as just so-so. Wall tamed the course in 1954 with his 72-hole score of 278, 10 under par and the tournament record.

Ted Kroll, the "world" champion, has no better than a 124 favorite, and youthful Jay Herbert from Louisiana was the same figure.

Renfrew Listed for Hockey Post

Ex-Michigan Star Seen Replacing Vic Heyliger as Wolverine Coach

ANN ARBOR (U) — Al Renfrew, who led North Dakota to one of its better seasons, is the leading candidate to replace Vic Heyliger as Michigan's hockey coach.

Even the Michigan players will be surprised if Renfrew isn't signed to a contract by May 15.

Renfrew, a Wolverine star in his own right during the 1940s, is the man who put Michigan Tech's hockey machine into working order. He's known as an organizer. He did the same thing in one year at North Dakota.

The name of Marty Pavelich, a long time Detroit Red Wing forward, has been tossed into the hopper. Pavelich says he's interested. But athletic director Fritz Criesler said Pavelich never did ask him for the job. Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit sextet, is the one mentioning Pavelich's name.

The third candidate is Jack MacInnes, who just completed his third season as pilot of Michigan Tech. Like Renfrew, he possesses the basic quality of a Michigan coach—he went to school at Michigan.

Jim Bates Selected MVP in City Basketball Loop

Jim Bates, mathematics teacher at Walled Lake High School, has been named the Most Valuable Player in Pontiac's City Basketball League for the 1956-57 season.

The award is made annually by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

An assistant football and basketball coach for the Vikings, Bates led his Walled Lake Super Market quintet to a regular season record of 10 wins against 4 losses, 2 for 2nd place in the adult Am. League.

Bates, who lives at 33113 Thoms St. in Farmington, scored 285 points in 14 games for a 20.3 average.

The star Walled Lake forward earned the MVP award over a strong field of candidates, approximately 600 players from 29 teams were eligible for the honor.

Judging and selection were based on ability, team control, self control under pressure, maintenance of high team morale, cooperation with officials, acceptance of adverse decisions, exceptional sportsmanship and fair play.

Cloudy skies and occasional rains failed to wipe out all of the sports events scheduled around the area yesterday.

A no-hitter by Fred Broward of Romeo featured the baseball action as the Bulldogs walloped Lake Orion by a 15-0 count for their 3rd successive shutout win.

Down at Southfield, a blop single by Bill Heffner was the only Bluejay hit as the home club bowed to Redford Union, 6-2. Winner Brook Tillyan felled 14.

On the track front, Lake Orion's thincads made up for the baseball setback by routing rival Clarkston 65-44 at Clarkston led by Jim Drake, Jim Neph and John Schoff.

Clawson, Fitzgerald and Roseville battled right down to the final out before their triangular meet was decided. A victory in the 330 gave Clawson the verdict with 48 points. Fitzgerald had 45 and Roseville 44. Fitzgerald had two double winners and Roseville one but Clawson's balance paid off.

Several events are on tap around the county today weather permitting.

The Pontiac High golfers are slated to play host to Waterford while the net team is at Cranbrook. Another golf match has Country Day at Bloomfield Hills.

In track, Cranbrook is at home against Assumption, Milford competes in the Howell Invitational, and Hazel Park is at Royal Oak.

Two baseball contests are scheduled.

Cloudy skies and occasional rains failed to wipe out all of the sports events scheduled around the area yesterday.

A no-hitter by Fred Broward of Romeo featured the baseball action as the Bulldogs walloped Lake Orion by a 15-0 count for their 3rd successive shutout win.

Avondale scored eight big runs in the 2nd inning and then held off two Warren rallies to eke out a 9-8 verdict as Jerry Hill garnered two doubles and a single.

Injured Musial May Miss 1st Tilt in 6 Years

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, injured iron man of the St. Louis Cardinals, may miss a game for the first time in six years tonight.

"I won't damage myself physically or hurt the club just to keep that streak going," he said. "If I'm not capable of playing, I won't start."

Musial injured a muscle in his back sometime during the opening day game at Cincinnati but it wasn't disclosed until last night. It was a jolt to fans who had watched the 36-year-old star play against the Redlegs as though he had invented hitting. He had a perfect 4-for-4 day including two doubles.

Now is the time for all men and women bowlers who have qualified to roll up their sleeves to get ready for the finals of the 1st annual Press Bowlerama tournament. All finalists, who qualified after two weekends of bowling, will take the alleys at 1:00 p.m. Saturday at Huron Bowl.

Divers Take Spotlight in Swim Meet

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—America's finest women divers take the spotlight tonight as the three-day National AAU senior women's indoor swimming and diving championships wind up at the Beverly Hills High School tank.

Whatever happens may be somewhat of an anti-climax after 14-year-old Sylvia Ruuska's record-breaking duel with Cris von Saltza in the 500-yard freestyle last night.

Freckled-faced Sylvia, youngest American swimmer at Melbourne in 1956, managed to hold off a determined finish by 13-year-old Miss von Saltza, representing the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club. Sylvia won by a touch in 5:47.8, a new American and women's indoor record.

This bettered the old indoor mark of 5:55.3, set in 1956 by Douglas Gray of the Walter Reed Swim Club, Washington, D. C. It also topped the American record of 5:51.9 Miss von Saltza posted in a qualifying heat.

It was the second record set in this meet by Miss Ruuska, representing the Berkeley, Calif., YMCA. Tuesday she sped 5:08 in the 400-yard individual medley to beat the 5:10.5 set by M. Kok of Holland in 1955.

Olympic winner Shelley Mann,

A total of 39 men and 13 women have qualified for the finals, and each bowler will receive at least five dollars just for being a finalist.

Of the 39 men, 29 will win more than the five dollars for qualifying in a prize list ranging from $425 down to $6.25.

Seven of the 12 lady finalists will grab a prize scaled from $205 down to $10.

In the event of a tie for first place, a one-game roll-off will be held to determine the champion and also the winner of the desk pen-calendar set.

Ties in other positions will share the total of the two places they have won.

All rules in the finals will be the same as the qualifying rounds, that is, on 70 per cent handicap based on 200 scratch.

All averages of the finalists have been checked with the Detroit office of the ABC and Pontiac WIBC.

Later in the afternoon, following Saturday's action, there will be formal presentations of checks and trophies to all finalists.

The ceremonies will take place from the lounge stage of the 300 Club at 4:30 p.m. The time between the completion of bowling and the ceremonies will be used to check score sheets and to arrange list of prize winners.

It will also enable bowlers to prepare for the presentations and photography session.

Here is a repeat list of the qualifiers.

Spanish Athlete Shatters World's Javelin Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new record. Because of several international "phenom" who sign will make his debut in the United States has bettered the world javelin hurling record with a unique sidearm-underhand delivery it was disclosed today.

He is Miguel Quadra Salcedo, a 23-year-old Spaniard who made his record toss virtually unnoticed last weekend while competing for the Puerto Rico College of Agriculture and Mechanics in that island territory.

The husky, handsome 6-footer will make his debut at the Penn Relays Carnival here April 26-27 while track officials try to determine if his style is legal and the University of Pennsylvania tries to keep anyone from getting hurt.

Jack Glascott, Penn supervisor of intermural athletics and a former Penn track coach, reported today that Quadra Salcedo threw the javelin 284 feet, 7 1/2 inches in the Puerto Rican meet. The accepted world record is 281-2 by Egil Danielsen of Norway.

Glascott, referee for the meet, has been trying since then to determine if the Puerto Rican toss could be accepted as a new world record.

Just before the Melbourne Olympics last year the International Amateur Athletic Federation barred a complete turn in the javelin event. Some Europeans were using his style to toss for more than 300 feet—but they couldn't control the direction.

Is that the safety factor worrying Penn officials?

No, says Glascott, "we're worried he may throw the javelin into the grandstand."

Webb's Victory Boomed by Fans

CHICAGO (AP)—Spider Webb, third-ranking middleweight contender, discovered last night he is pretty much of a sucker for a left.

Unranked Randy Sandy of New York neatly left-hooked his way to one of the biggest ring upsets of the season.

Webb was awarded a unanimous 10-round decision in the Chicago Stadium televised scrap with the boos of 1,362 ringside fans ringing in his ears.

It was a savage, action-packed brawl from start to finish and both fighters at the end were smeared with blood from eye cuts. The last round was a brutal exchange all the way and the fans arose to applaud the action.

Boxer Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., is the seventh of 11 children of a Georgia minister-farmer.

Northville Track Set for Opening Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—Northville Downs opens its 38-night harness racing season tonight. The opening is the earliest in the history of Michigan harness racing.

The track will be closed Good Friday and will reopen Saturday night.

The 1957 stakes program includes the $5,000 Northville Pace, May 1, the $5,000 Northville Trot, May 8, and a $10,000 running in the spring series of the Trans-America Stakes, May 24.

Hoover's Surge Brings Victory

Beats Lillard in Pin Classic After 1 Loss in Masters' Test

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, who learned to bowl as a pinboy, today reigned as the American Bowling Congress Masters champion for the second consecutive year.

Hoover, beaten once in the double-elimination tournament, came back strong last night to defeat Bill Lillard of Chicago in two consecutive matches to take the championship. It was the first time in seven years of Masters play that a champion has won twice in a row.

Hoover picked up $1,200 for winning the title.

Dick Weber, St. Louis, and J. B. Solomon, Dallas, were awarded fifth and sixth places, respectively. Weber bested Solomon 872 to 839 in the match that decided their finish. Milt Molhusen of Tulsa, Okla., took fourth place in beating Solomon 870 to 772.

Lightweight boxer Joey Lopez was born in Cape Verde Islands, Portugal.

Dayton Five Regains
Lead in WIBC Event

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Geneva Recreation of Dayton, without knocking down a single pin, has resumed the lead in team Division No. 2 of the women's International Bowling Congress tournament here.

Geneva Recreation with 2,322, was in second place behind the Cal Tawny Movers, also of Dayton, who led the division with 2,378. But Division No. 2 is limited to teams with averages between 650 and 750, and officials, after rechecking their arithmetic, discovered that Cal Tawny's was over 750.

As a result, Cal Tawny was forced to move up into the championship division (750 or higher averages) where a 2,378 score is relatively low.

Meets Ex-Amateur Foe

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson will take on a foe from his amateur days in an exhibition bout here April 25.

Promoter Jimmy Lott said yesterday that Patterson has agreed to meet Chief Alvin Williams in a four-rounder at the Fort Smith Sports Arena. Both fighters are New Yorkers.

3 Area Teams at Mansfield

Chiefs Defend Their '56 Title
in Ohio Relays

Birmingham, Rochester, Berkley Represented — F. Northern In, Too

By H. GUY MOATS

Three area track squads, headed by the defending titlists, Pontiac High's Chiefs, go to Mansfield O., Friday for one of the nation's top prep relay meets. The meet is the 26th annual event conducted under the supervision of veteran athletic director Harry Mehock of the host school.

Pontiac, led by the incomparable Hayes Jones, and with a fine group of other top individuals, many of whom are graduated, scored a record victory as the 1st team ever to take the title on its 1st try. Chiefs counted 34½ points, well in front. Jones accounted for 16. Pontiac was also the first team outside Ohio to win the championship. Jones is now a star at Eastern Michigan college.

PHS is sending 13 athletes, less than half of whom were in last year's meet. Birmingham has 9, headed by a 12-foot vaulter in Bill McFarlen. A back injury has benched Tom Segal, Maples other 12-foot vaulter for the season.

Rochester is among the entries with its all-around star Dave Peters as top man.

Berkley also will be represented. Flint Northern, with a well-balanced squad is a threat, according to Mehock. Vikings have fine dash men, good distance runners and are strong in the relays and hurdles.

Mehock pointed out today that probably the biggest title threats were Lakewood and East Cleveland Tech. He expected more than 100 teams, with between 20-25 from Michigan.

Pontiac's entries include Chief's top point-maker this spring, Hudson Ray in the jumps; Sophomore Fred Brooks a 6-3 jumper; Archie Brooks in the quarter; Mike Hardman in the shot; John Phlegm, BROTHER ACTS — Michigan State University's three "brother acts" are all dressed up — apparently for a most unusual game. The three sets of athletic brothers are (above L-R) Tom and Brian McNeely, promising freshman linemen in football, Bruno and Ed Pollesel, varsity ice-hockey players, and Henry and Fordy Kennedy, distance running stars of the track and cross-country teams.

Jim Hawkins, Leslie Watkins and Dick Koller in the hurdles; Joe Hill in the 100 and 880-yard relay; Alex Barge, Tom Conley 880-yard relay; Larry Beamer in the half-mile and Roger Coats in the mile.

Kenneth Ambrose's Maple squad includes, besides McFarlane, Chuck Gibson, shot; Bob Stephenson, high jump; Jim Macdonald, broad jump, dashes; 2-mile relay; Rich Riley, Phil Ingraham, Tom Pontiac, Lynn Best; Fred Michelson, dashes.

Rochester will send Dave Eldred with Dave Peters. Peters is a high and broad jumper. Eldred, a 51-foot shotgutter, Coach Bob Jereus will accompany the boys.

Vikings' Norb Baber says his squad will include 14-15 boys. Some of them are John Dennis, dashes; Phil Gansen, broad jump, relay, 440; Reg Ollard, hurdles; high jump; Leon McGee, hurdles; Jim Moore, are hurdler; John Sharp, relays; Bernie Williams, dashes. Northern won the 1956 shuttle-hurdle relay.

Dartmouth first played intercollegiate hockey in 1905.

OCSC Archers
in Night Event

A "torchlight" archery shoot, plus a social feature has been set up for members of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club Archery group. Friday's shoot will be made by the light from flashlights carried by the bowmen.

Members' wives will be guests and there will be food and prizes. In the last club shoot winners included: juniors, Jack Hirneisen; intermediate Jim Winger, Howard Bolin; men, Bill Giles and George White; women, Carol Hargraves, Theobelle Payne, Annie Knox, Mary Mills, Reva DeRousha, Ruth Baker, Polly Babin, Jean Durbin, Dorothy France and Wanda Listerman.

Ebben Helps 'Stars'
Beat Globe Trotters

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The College All-Stars, led by Bill Ebben and John Smyth who had 31 points between them, last night defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters, 75-57, for their fourth victory in the current basketball tour.

Ebben, of the University of Detroit, scored 16 points, all on field goals. Smyth, of Notre Dame, had 15.

The All-Stars, to all intents and purposes, put the ball game out of reach with two 21-point periods at the start to hold a 42-24 lead at the half. It was one of their best showings in the 19-game tour which winds up today at Cincinnati.

The Trotters, who have won 14 games, got 15-point performances from Roman Turman and Andy Johnson.

Syracuse has had only nine losing seasons in 35 years of intercollegiate basketball.

Russian Polar Team Still Adrift on Ice Base

MOSCOW (AP) — Personnel of the Soviet Union's "North Pole-1" scientific station have passed more than a thousand days on an ice drift in the Central Polar Basin. A Soviet announcement here said the station was first established in April, 1954, and in the two years which followed drifted roughly along the east-west hemisphere boundaries.

Speed of clocks is based on the turning of the earth which varies less than 30/100ths of a second in a century.

Filmland Parties of Past Recalled With Nostalgia

(Fourth of six articles on Hollywood life.)

By HUBBARD KEAVY
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Like the ads say, there are imitations but only one is genuine. That is how old-timers in Hollywood, with dreamy eyes, allude to the parties "they used to give at Pickfair."

Many movieland hostesses have tried, without lasting or notable success, to recapture the aura of splendor that surrounded the parties that Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks gave at their hilltop home. A screen credit, in the old days, was less important than a bid to Pickfair. If you were on the "A" list you might see the inside of Pickfair two or three times a month.

Mary and Doug had a special penchant for royalty. There was one soiree, in honor of the duchess of something, whose formality hit a new high for filmland. Everyone who amounted to anything was there. There was a receiving line, a polite punch, delicate hors d'oeuvres and soft music. It was a little like a movie in a setting of overdone French drawing room with the gilt, the brocades, the hand painted piano. But unlike a movie, nothing dramatic happened.

One thing to be said for Pickfair parties, they never became brawls. Mary's innate good taste prevented that.

But Pickfair wasn't the only place for parties. I think of one at Lew Cody's. It was after a Fifi D'Orsay wedding. Fifi, in her impetuous way, called her friends to say there'd be a reception at Lew's house. Lew was a good host always — there'd be plenty of the essentials for a slam-bang party in his refrigerator, his kitchen, his rumpus room. Scores of well-wishers showed up.

The party was in high gear when Lew — his driveway was blocked and he parked his car on the next street — came home. Fifi had neglected to tell Lew she was taking over his house. But Lew loved a party so much that he made a few phone calls and shortly the crowd was augmented by Lew's party-loving friends. Lew told me later the reception lasted a couple of days.

Lew and his pal Buster Keaton once acquired a large bus and fitted it out like one of today's modern trailers. They called it a land yacht and, verily, it was. One day when Victor McLaglen was celebrating something, and had about 300 at his estate, Fairbanks, Lew and Buster drove their yacht right up into the formal garden abut the swimming pool. Buster, who was the admiral of his one-yacht fleet, always wore an appropriate uniform complete with epaulettes and yards of gold braid when on tour. The party was wet enough, but Buster made it more so: he dived into the pool in full regalia.

Counterfeit Coin Catches Expert

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y. (INS) — Dr. Kenneth Scott of the Wagner College faculty, who for several years has made a hobby of studying counterfeiting in colonial days, knows how it feels to be "caught with the evidence."

The professor was stopped by a police car after he'd paid to cross a toll bridge, and was confronted with a counterfeit quarter which he had unwittingly passed.

His memory saved him when he realized that the phony coin must have been given him with some other change — an infrequent misfortune, according to the Secret Service, which reports that coins make up only 1 per cent of the counterfeit money in circulation today.

Dr. Scott's third book on his hobby research subject, "Counterfeiting in Colonial Days," will be published in May.

An Honest Man Wanted

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—When the chairman called for "someone honest" to draw the door prize at a parent-teacher meeting, Police Sgt. Clifford Payne, the guest speaker, got the job. He promptly reached into the bowl and drew his own number.

Colorado Pupils Hear Elvis Croon on Way to Class

GOLDEN, Colo. (INS) — Youthful passengers on four Jefferson County (Colo.) school buses are currently "rockin' n' rollin'" to classes.

Radios have recently been installed in the buses and Elvis Presley usually gets the nod over a newscaster.

Riley Scott, Evergreen elementary school principal, suggested having radios to entertain the children during the long trips to and from school.

County school supervisor Lester Witt says the radios were donated by automobile junk dealers and were repaired and installed at the school bus shops.

Denies Political Ambitions

Hagerty Brings Prestige to Once Little-Known Job

By International News Service

Jim Hagerty, who disclaims any political ambitions beyond his job as White House news secretary, recently laughed off a proposal that he run for governor of New York.

But the serious mention of his name as a GOP standard-bearer illustrates the stature the brusque spoken ex-newsman has given to the once little-known job of press secretary to the President.

Hagerty's homely Irish features and Bronx brogue are nearly as familiar to millions of television viewers as President Eisenhower himself.

It is quite possible in this age of electronic miracles that he could be elected to high public office on the strength of his TV popularity and his reputation as one of the President's closest advisers.

It is a measure of Hagerty's devotion to President Eisenhower that he has no desire to advance his own career in politics any further.

FOLLOW ME OUT He assures intimates that when Eisenhower leaves the White House he will be right behind him. But when the President retires to the serenity of his Gettysburg farm, his 47-year-old press aide probably will fade away into a $50,000-a-year public relations job.

Hagerty joined the Eisenhower team in 1952 as a gift from Thomas E. Dewey, who felt the GOP's soldier-candidate deserved the best to be had in the way of a press aide. He had filled the same role for Dewey in the Governor's unsuccessful campaigns for the White House in 1944 and 1948.

Before becoming Dewey's press secretary in 1948, Hagerty had spent nine years with the New York Times, where his father was a revered political reporter.

President Eisenhower, like most newsmen, was quickly impressed by Hagerty's professional competence in the 1952 campaign and later in the White House.

Today, Hagerty is as close to Eisenhower as any member of the presidential staff and the two are frequent golfing companions.

Hagerty, whose game is considered slightly better than the President's, loyally insists that he usually comes out second best.

Car Lights Guide Plane to Airport Landing Strip

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (U. S. —) Hearing an airplane circle about the town at night, residents here knew what to do.

for the airport, lined up their cars on either side of the landing strip, and kept their lights burning.
