

Child Crushed by Piano

VICTIM OF TRAGEDY — Brenda Harrison, 10, was killed yesterday by the very thing that brought her great happiness — an old upright piano. Deputy Sheriff Paul Mills examines the piano at an abandoned schoolhouse in the village of Sodus, in southwestern Michigan. Workers tearing down the building told Brenda she could have the piano if she could get someone to move it. She was crushed while examining her gift.

Little Girl's Happy Heart

Stilled by Fatal Tragedy

SODUS (AP)—Brenda Harrison, 10, had wanted for a long time to have a piano so she could study music.

Her dream came true yesterday. There was a piano in an abandoned school house in the village. St. Paul's Evangelical Church across the road had purchased the building and volunteer workers were tearing it down. A worker told Brenda she could have the piano if she could get someone to move it away.

It wasn't much of a piano—just an old upright but it was a piano.

Brenda skipped home from school at noon and excitedly told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harrison, the happy news.

RETURNED TO SCHOOL

After school, she just had to see her piano again before she could think of things like supper. She went back to the abandoned school. The wreckers had gone.

The piano—standing askew on a six-inch-high platform with a cast-iron base—was a wondrous sight.

Brenda, apparently trying to figure out how to have her precious gift moved to her home, tested its weight.

The piano toppled off the platform and pinned her beneath it. The crash was heard by Brenda's brother, Gene, 12, and a neighbor boy, Jimmy Long, 10, playing in another part of the old school.

They tried to lift the piano off Brenda, but couldn't budge it. They called two other children to help. The four—straining mightily—got the piano off Brenda. They laid her on the grass of the school playground and ran for help.

Brenda died of head injuries in a hospital within an hour—without ever getting to touch the keys of her piano.

Spot Arms Checks Proposed by U.S.

GENEVA (U)—The United States proposed a sweeping world disarmament program today with a new enforcement concept based on spot checks in the territories of the great powers.

The detailed 35-page treaty draft was submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference by U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean.

Dean said the new plan was based on the principle "that the nations of the world should seize a moment in time to stop the arms race, to freeze the military situation as it then appears, and to shrink it to zero, always keeping the relative military positions of the parties as near as possible to what it was at the beginning."

Instead of starting the disarmament process with an inventory of national military establishments — which the Russians have always rejected as espionage — the new American plan called for spot checks in selected areas.

These checks would be conducted on the sampling technique developed by big industrial corporations.

ONLY SAMPLE AREAS

The military forces and installations in any sample area would give international inspectors a picture of the total.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin told newsmen at the end of the meeting the new American plan "does not seem to contain anything new."

But he said the Soviet government will give the plan careful study.

Zorin did not speak at the three-hour meeting. The two Communist speakers, Miles Trenchard of Bulgaria and Jiri Hajek of Czechoslovakia, said they still preferred the Soviet plan.

British Minister of State Joseph B. Golder and Italian Delegate Francesco Cossiga both expressed their government's approval and support for the U.S. proposal.

Like the Soviet plan for the disarmament within four years, the U.S. plan contained no time limit for its completion.

The first two of its three main stages would last three years each.

Study Advises Increase of 200 Beds in 4 Years at St. Joseph Mercy

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital has been advised to add 200 beds in the next four years to keep pace with Pontiac area's growing hospital needs.

A cost estimate was not revealed.

In a four-month study just completed, Fred A. McNamara, an experienced analyst of hospital needs, calls upon St. Joseph's to overcome more than half of the area's predicted bed shortage in 1966.

McNamara said he made two broad recommendations to the staff:

- 1—Modernize existing facilities and "straighten out" present deficiencies in space.
- 2—Then, go ahead and enlarge by 200 beds.

HIRED FOR STUDY

McNamara, a senior associate with the hospital consulting firm of James A. Hamilton Associates (Minneapolis), was hired by St. Joseph's last December to determine what kind of program is needed for future needs.

He based his finding, he said, on hospital needs within a 15-mile radius of Pontiac, which he termed the city's "hospital service area."

Three other hospitals—and their share of the load—figured in his study: Pontiac General, Pontiac Osteopathic and Royal Oak's William Beaumont.

By 1966, McNamara estimated, the area will be short a total of 388 beds—150 for "chronic" short-term patients, 150 for "typical" patients and 88 for short-term mental patients.

McNamara advises St. Joseph to cut 800 beds from that figure —150 for "typical" illnesses and the rest divided evenly between chronic and mental ailments.

St. Joseph was built for 276 beds, he said, but now operates with 326. He counts this difference as the first 50 beds of the proposed increase.

'BIGGEST PROBLEM'

The hospital's biggest immediate problem, McNamara said, is to bring its present facilities and services up to an equal level with the number of beds.

"They're not only short of beds and rooms," he said, "but the supporting services are short."

Supporting services include such things as food processing and distribution, surgical facilities and research areas.

McNamara said the hospital needs almost an 80 per cent increase in net floor space to house these services under existing conditions. Another 55,000 net square feet would be required for increasing from 336 to 476 beds according to his recommendation.

JFK Cancels Court Martials

'Complainers' Get Break

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy announced today that in the spirit of Easter week he has canceled court-martial proceedings against a National Guardsman who complained against the President's call-up of Reservists.

At a news conference carried to the nation over live television and radio, Kennedy said that gripes by a small number of reservists were more misguided than anything else.

Ole Sol Planning to Brighten Area Skies Tomorrow

The weatherman has changed his tune and now sings of sunshine instead of showers. Tonight will be fair and cool, the low about 35.

Skies will be sunny tomorrow with temperatures rising to 52. For the next five days, we will average near 52 and the low in the mid 30s.

Thirty-nine was the lowest reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 52 at 2 p.m.

He Suffered in the Garden

OUTSIDE-THIEF WALLS, JERUSALEM, Jordan (U)—You couldn't call it light. Yet you can see quite well in it. Your eyes adjust. From purple-tinted pines high overhead, the vague and filmy violet glow reveals the snow-white rock.

Tradition marks it as the spot where Jesus prayed and sweated in agony before His seizure.

"Father... not my will, but Thine, be done."

The outcropped rock, of chalky flint, is rough and vivid even in the dim illumination. A parapet and rail of iron thorns surround the rock. Inside All-Nations Church atop the Mount of Olives, we kneel there momentarily. A somber, phantom quality of self-reproach, of helpless human wrongness, flits that hushed basilica.

Tells Newsmen No Punishment Over Price Row

President and Blough Hold Friendly Confab During Evening

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy said today his administration has no ill will toward the steel industry as a result of the battle over a price increase, and intends to take no punitive action.

In a far more conciliatory, more friendly mood than he was at this time last week, Kennedy said the government is not unmindful of needs of the steel industry for investment capital to modernize plants and equipment—a major reason for the industry gave for its short-lived price hike.

The administration, Kennedy told a news conference, believes in free enterprise and initiative, in cooperation of industry and labor.

He stated a determination to hold the government's role to the minimum necessary to protect the public interest.

There can be "no room on either side for hostility or vindictiveness," he said.

In a formal statement at the outset of his session with newsmen, Kennedy said his administration harbors no ill will against any individual, corporation, industry or segment of the American economy.

SEES STEEL PROBLEMS

Kennedy said he recognizes steel's need to be able to compete with foreign firms, to be able to grow in order to use idle capacity.

But he also said it is necessary to prevent an inflationary spiral, to foster free collective bargaining and price increases, with the least possible government interference.

It was in that connection that he spoke of the limits on the government's role.

The chief executive wound up with a prediction that in the period just ahead industrial profits will be "the highest in history."

Kennedy's statement followed a meeting last night with Roger M. Blough, chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp., a meeting which the White House described as "cordial and useful."

Kennedy Warms Up to Steel Industry

As he had done exactly a week before when he told Kennedy of the price increase. This time the head of "big steel" and the President of the United States apparently were bent on establishing more amiable relations.

Kennedy denounced the price increase as unjustified and irresponsible. He turned a massive power attack against it, and U.S. Steel and the companies which had followed its price lead backed down on the increase.

Reporters would not leave the steel episode alone after the reading of the statement. One asked whether the President would act as forcefully against a union if it did not go along with his voluntary program for wage-price restraint.

A FREE MARKET Kennedy said the country has a free economy and prices are to be set in a free market. But the government would like both labor and industry to remain very conscious of the public interest in their decisions, he said.

Kennedy denied he had set the price of steel. What he did, he said, was to set the national interest before that of the steel companies. It was this, his competitor said, that set the price—not the President, he said.

Easter Egg Hunt Set Saturday at Local Parks

The eighth annual Easter Egg Hunt for boys and girls of pre-school age through 10 years old will be held this Saturday at 2 p.m. at Jayco, Oakland, Murphy and Benetite parks.

Some 4,000 eggs will be hidden in the parks and prizes awarded to youngsters finding the most eggs. Parents should bring their children to the park about 10 miles before the hunt is slated to begin.

The event is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and various civic organizations.

JFK Sees No Change in Red Stand Says U.S. to Proceed With N-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asserted bluntly today that "we shall proceed" with the impending new round of nuclear weapons tests over the central Pacific unless Russia drops its opposition to international inspection as part of a test ban agreement.

Kennedy said a new conference that indications for a Russian reversal are "negative." Tests are expected to begin in about a week.

Kennedy said the recent message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the subject was not encouraging and "the chances for securing an agreement now seem negative."

Macmillan had addressed an appeal to Khrushchev to start negotiations on an international inspection system to police a test ban. Inspection is the central issue.

Khrushchev declined, standing on the familiar Soviet position that the Western powers want to introduce spies into Russia.

Store-Close Bill Up to Swainson

LANSING (AP)—Only Gov. Swainson's signature was needed today to force Michigan a Saturday-Sunday store-closing law.

The House, backing down from earlier objections, adopted 13 Senate amendments to the legislation yesterday and routed it to the governor.

Swainson declined comment on the bill, saying he wanted to give it thorough study before deciding whether to sign it.

The bill will compel most stores throughout the state to close either on Saturday or Sunday. However, sales of necessities except from the ban for various other reasons would be permitted.

Food stores having less than 4,000 square feet of floor space open to the public also would not be covered. Additionally, county supervisors, by a two-thirds vote, could lift the ban on sale of any or all items listed in the bill.

The law would not take effect until 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

It is not necessary to stay for the entire three hours, the pastor said. Those entering or leaving during the service will be asked to do so during the singing of hymns.

A service of Holy Communion with sermon is set for 7:30 p.m. on Maundy Thursday.

MAUNDY THURSDAY U. P. Maundy Thursday Communion will be observed at 7 p.m. with Rev. Theodore R. Albrecht giving the meditation. Elders will assist with Holy Communion.

The congregation will worship with Baldwin Evangelical United Brethren Friday evening.

ORCHARD LAKE COMMUNITY The Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian will observe a service of Tenebrae Thursday evening. Music will be by the Church Choir directed by Mrs. Alice Smith.

Rev. Edward D. Archard, pastor, will present brief interpretations of the Seven Last Words of Jesus at the Good Friday service at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m.

UNITED The "Seven Last Words" will be the subject of the devotional service from noon to 1 p.m. Friday.

Start Mediation in Paper Strike

Police Head Edwards Talks to Management, Hoffa in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards today met with Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and management representatives in the first mediation session designed to end a threat of Detroit's two daily newspapers.

All participants expressed optimism a settlement would be reached in the dispute which has resulted in no weekday editions of the Detroit News or Detroit Free Press for the last seven days.

Commissioner Edwards said "We are starting mediation with a desire on the part of all parties to reach a settlement and we hope we can do it."

Edwards said both sides had agreed to a general news blockade for the duration of the negotiations. He indicated that as mediator, he might issue an occasional statement when developments warranted, but there would be no other releases.

Robert C. Ruiz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, headed the management group which included Edwin K. Wheeler, general manager of the Detroit News, and Henry Weidner, business manager of the Detroit Free Press.

Hoffa was accompanied by Joe Prebenda, a Teamsters business agent; Charles O'Connor, president, and Clare O'Brien, business agent, respectively of Local 372 which is on strike at the Free Press.

Hoffa said prior to the session, "I feel it was necessary to ask for the mediation to get an impartial look at our problems. Maybe we can take a different tack in reaching a settlement."

The annual card party and fashion show of St. Catherine's Guild of St. James Episcopal Church May 8 will feature bridal gowns from the past to the present.

The 8 p.m. event, with the theme "Bridal Moments," will be held at the church.

Mrs. Wayne Jensen, general chairman, said that 20 gowns dating from 1860 have been loaned by members of the community. Tickets can be obtained by contacting the church office or Mrs. Douglas Robertson, 424 Cooper St., Royal Oak.

Service for J. Robert Mosley, 60, of 789 Shirley Drive, will be 4 p.m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Mrs. Mosley died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Minn., after a brief illness.

He was vice president of the book Paint and Varnish Co., Detroit. He had been with the firm 35 years.

The head usher at Christ Church Cranbrook and a former vestryman, he was a member of Orchard Lake Country Club, Oakland Hills Country Club and the Detroit Athletic Club.

Surviving are his wife Margaret; a daughter, Mrs. Clyde E. Thompson of Littleton, Colo.; a son, James R. of Bay City; his mother, Mrs. Lillian Mosley of Kansas City; two sisters, one brother and two grandchildren.

The family requests that any memorial tributes be made to the Rectory's Discernment Fund, Christ Church Cranbrook.

Service arrangements were made by the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Mrs. William A. Grooms, service for Mrs. William A. Grooms, 80, of 187 Stanley St., will be 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Manly Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Grooms died at home yesterday.

She was a past Noble Grand of the Order of the Eastern Star, Lodge 465 and was a member of the Past Noble Grand's Club.

Surviving are daughter, Mrs. Ralph Mosley, son Arnold W. both of Birmingham; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Showing One's Temper Seems to Be Paying Off

Washingtonians Blow Their Tops ... Right Out Loud

WASHINGTON — Perhaps we can blame it on the late spring, but England's "angry young men" are beginning to sound downright cheerful after the recent rash of trait outbursts by Washington officials.

Everyone knows by now that President Kennedy opened his news conference last week with an "angry blast" at a "tiny handful of steel executives" who raised the price of steel six dollars a ton.

Thousands of words have been written about JFK's "huff" and "fury," and about the "explosion" of shock and anger on Capitol Hill.

The display of temper apparently paid off, because the "tiny handful" of steel executives didn't come back with the feathers still on.

Peace reigned only long enough to get us through the Sabbath day. Monday's headline screamed: "Kennedy Seen 'Furious' Over Berlin-Plan Leak." Apparently a lot of "leaking" had been going on during the week-end.

State Department officials "bashed" to newsmen that Kennedy was "furious" because West German officials had prematurely "leaked" details of a new American proposal on Berlin.

One story said West German angrily denied any "official leak," while an "official" angrily charged that Bonn released it "deliberately" to sabotage our negotiations with the Russians.

The President and his new frustration were not the only Washingtonians who have been displaying their tempers lately. Time Magazine reports that House GOP Leader Charles Halleck "stormed out of the Capitol and kicked the side of his official Cadillac in anger."

Equally irately, Republican Whip Leslie Arends exclaimed: "I'm astonished."

The butt of their anger was indoctrinating troops against communism.

Even the local citizenry seem to be in somewhat of a temper lately. Some mothers have been lately protesting a "Handbook for Caretakers" which the D.C. school board has been distributing free to high school students.

The pamphlet advises boys to spruce up by using clear nail polish, makeup, scent, and girdles to conceal fatty bulges. One woman started out her letter, "I am an angry mother with a son in the District school system." She went on to prove it by damning the unmaelization of men by such misified advice.

Everyone is mad at the Internal Revenue Service during this unpredictable month of income tax deadlines and dismal rainstorms.

Perhaps that is why even the thinnest gags are attracting more than their share of attention from angry - weary Washingtonians. These two are currently provoking thin smiles:

—With one eye on Richard M. Nixon's best-selling book, "Crises," and the other on the recent steel drama, a presidential aide advised Kennedy to write a time entitled: "My Six-Dollar Crises."

—Conservatives are circulating a trick equation: All plus 120 equal 1964. If you renumber your checks, 1964 is the symbol for gold. The rest is easy.

Attached was the message: "Here is the shirt off my back."

"The gentleman also paid his tax," said Floyd West, state tax collector.

down the strangely nebulous and lavender hall-light.

"They hated me without a cause."

He knew dread there. Scripture says His sweat resembled drops of blood.

Outside the door, a garden grows. The Garden of Gethsemane — the garden of the olive press. Today it's landscaped, fenced, expertly pruned and fertilized. A perfectly pleasant little tourist spot.

But long ago, it formed the setting for a searing drama of the ages. Here is where He came that night, awaiting man's destructive

"My soul is very sorrowful."

"Remain . . . and watch with me."

They went to sleep, while He was swept with torment by the rock.

"If it be possible, let this cup pass . . . But 'as Thou wilt.'"

A group of eight old, knotted, olive trees preside within that tidy garden.

THEIR HARD GRANDEUR

No manipulations can erase their hard and durable grandeur. Olive trees don't even reach their fruitful stage until they're 30 years of age, and these reflect the ravages of time beyond the measuring — perhaps as long as 20 centuries, they are claimed.

It may have been there then, or others just like them, when He was tortured by humanity's rejection.

"I am the vine, you are the branches."

The garden wasn't trimmed and tended then, as it is now. Nor was it just a little plot atop the mountain crest. Other places on the hill are claimed by eastern churches as the site. But this seems academic.

HAD HEAVY GROVES

Old descriptions indicate this total mountain ridge, which over-

"O Father . . . the world has not known Thee . . ."

The bulging trunks and limbs are gnarled, pitted, twisted, hunched and beaten by the elements.

And yet, the foliage up above is supple, light and silvery green, and bursting with the buds of spring.

"In the world you have come tribulation; but I have overcome the world."

The sturdy, scarred and battered trunk sustains the fragile counter-

A note of mystery invests the olive tree, its agelessness, its strength, its branch the emblem of peace. It grows in toughest, loneliest ground. Both wild and tame, it girds the hills and covers vast plantations. Its produce is the staple of the land.

It fuels the lamps, anoints the skin, is used sometimes as medicine. More importantly, it's food, for rich and poor, at breakfast, noon and night. Pickled green or packed while ripe in brine. Natives call the olive "king" of trees. An ample harvest signifies the blessings of the Lord.

So it was that Jesus, in his final hours of freedom, sought His favored place, the forested retreat, the Mount of Olives. Each night, throughout Passover week, He brought His men up here, for safety and for rest. Then came the farewell-meeting.

"I am the vine, you are the branches."

The garden wasn't trimmed and tended then, as it is now. Nor was it just a little plot atop the mountain crest. Other places on the hill are claimed by eastern churches as the site. But this seems academic.

HAD HEAVY GROVES

Old descriptions indicate this total mountain ridge, which overlooks the city from the east, was clothed in heavy groves and shrubs. Laurel, myrtle, thin-leaved silph, broken limbs. And underneath, a carpet thick with fallen leaves among the rugged olives.

"As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me."

This, and other things, He said that night, preparing for the world's peace. The mount, almost 2,000 feet in elevation, rises just across the deep-seated Kidron valley running north-to-south along the city's eastern wall.

The dominating height provides a sweeping view of old Jerusalem, as well as its outlying features. Jesus from this vantage point, looked out with saddened eye.

"If the world hates you, know that it has hated me before . . ."

Across the valley, bounded by its massive walls, the city has a timeless look of history. Turrets, cloisters, steeples, balustrades. Yet it pales beside the glory of the city Jesus knew.

Where before the Jewish temple stretched along the eastern wall, its vast and gleaming alabaster porches, courts and colonnades a wonder of the age, a single, stately—Mosaic mosaic—Kohbet: ne-Sakbra — Dome of Rock — now stands astride the holy Mount Moriah.

Its giant golden dome provides an apt reminder of the past magnificence confronting Jesus.

"And what shall I say, 'Father, since me from this hour? No, for this purpose I have come . . ."

The city's flat, white roofs, its arches, terraces and steps deployed across the four connecting hills are typical and likely little changed. Around it all the high old patchwork wall, rebuilt repeatedly, contains some ancient blocks that may go back as far as Solomon.

Thirty-five imposing towers deck the walls. Eight enormous gates, along the different sides, go through it, bearing names that make a litany of old — Herod's, Jaffa, Sheep (St. Stephen's), Dung and Zion.

MUCH HAS DISAPPEARED

Of the city Jesus saw, however, much is gone, perhaps the southern third of it, left outside the later Roman wall. The Golden gate, a twin-arched portal once most splendid of them all, was plastered shut about four centuries ago.

Gazing from Mount Olivet, you see the whole expanse, awash with sun. The ancient city and the new one went beyond the guarded borderline with Israel.

"Jerusalem, Jerusalem . . . would that even today you knew the things that make for peace."

Just below, along the base of Olivet, are ancient graves, once dappled by the whitened Jewish burial urns. Prophetic lore declares that here the dead shall first arise on resurrection day.

"I go away . . . and I will come again and take you to myself."

The Kidron valley — sometimes called Jehoshaphat — no longer has its huddled pilgrim tents. Nor the casemate Jesus crossed. Here and there are churches, houses, tombs of Abraham and Zachariah. A bright, white minaret. The ancient pool of Siloam to the south.

Just beyond extends the Hinnom valley of the fire, an old battlefield, once a scene of pagan infant sacrifice to Moloch. Its name has been associated with the flames of hell.

"A little longer . . . then I go to Him who sent me . . . The world will see me no more, but . . . because I live you will live also."

The olive trees enfolded them in shadows. Meanwhile, Roman troops across the valley readied their crosses.

"Abide in me, and I in you."

He went apart to pray, while tired, perplexed apostles dived head against the rock.

"Now is the judgment of the world."

The flint that mixes with the limestone in that rock gives it a strange irradiation. It's called "sani."

It forms the caprock of this Mount of Olives, sometimes called the Mount of Lighths.

"Father . . . as Thou didst send me into the world, so I have sent them into the world . . ."

In times gone by, beams kindled on this mount announced each month's new moon.

"My Father, if I cannot pass unless I drink it, Thy will be done."

The torchlights flickered through the trees, and armor clanked.

"The rulers of this world are coming . . ."

He waked His men, and then with firm intent, surrendered in the garden.

(Tomorrow: The street that led to the Cross.)

'Let's Steel Contract Without Taking Bids'

WASHINGTON (U-P) Rep. Gerald Ford Jr., R-Mich., is calling for a congressional investigation into the awarding of a steel contract to Ford said a special heat-treatment for steel for Polaris submarines involved in the contract was developed several years ago by U.S. Steel and made available to its competitors.

Ever since, the Michigan Republican said, contracts for this steel have been let on the basis of sealed, competitive bids, in accordance with the law. He added that in recent years Armco Steel Co., Lukens and U.S. have shared in supplying this steel.

But last Friday, Ford continued, on the basis of a telephone call an order for 11,000 tons was given to Lukens.

"They even ignored Armco, which hadn't raised its prices," Ford said, adding: "They should be asked why the competitive bidding process required by law was bypassed in this case."

Car Kills Rail Repairman

DETROIT (U-P) — A railway crossing repairman was killed last night when an auto crashed through a barricade in Detroit and struck him and two other workmen. The victim was Emanuel Cole Jr., a Detroit employee of the New York Central Railroad. The other two hit were hospitalized.

BUSINESS TACTICS

Ford said the Lukens award "was a method of trying to club and coerce someone," and added: "It was a tactic of big government against private enterprise."

McNamara announced the award of the contract, worth $5 to $6 million, at the height of the Kennedy administration's counter-offensive against the increase in steel prices by U.S. Steel and six companies which followed suit.

Lukens did not join in the increase, which later was rescinded by all the companies.

Alfred G. Wilson Will Now Filed

Family and Institutions
Named; MSUO Handled
in 1957

Relative and favorite institutions of the late Alfred G. Wilson are named major beneficiaries in his will, in Oakland County Probate Court.

In the will, Mr. Wilson left $100,000 and all personal property and effects to his widow, Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson, 480 Adams Road, Averb Township.

He leaves $15,000 to his daughter, Mrs. Thomas S. Eccles, and $10,000 to his son, Richard S. Wilson, both of Bloomfield Township.

No bequest is made to Mr. Wilson's stepdaughter, Mrs. Frederick L. Van Lennep, of Lexington, Ky. She is a daughter of Mrs. Wilson's marriage to the late auto industrialist John Dodge.

Mr. Wilson, who died at 79 in his winter home at Scottsdale, Ariz., April 8, also made bequests of $10,000 each to his alma mater, Beloit College, Wis., and the Boy Scouts of America. Another $5,000 is left to the First Protestant Society of Detroit and $3,000 to the University Presbyterian Church of Rochester.

Michigan State University Oakland, which Mr. Wilson and his wife helped create, was not named in the will.

In January 1957, the Wilsons donated $2 million and their 1,400-acre Meadow Brook estate to found the University.

Ignores Congress Race for State Re-Election Try

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Harry Litch, R-Benton Harbor, announced today that he will be a candidate for re-election.

The announcement ended speculation that Litch would make a try for the 6th Congressional District seat of Rep. Clay Hoffman of Allegan, who is retiring.

More Publicity Given Defeats Than Triumphs

Some of our Latin American cousins feel that we devote columns to their misfortunes and a minimum of newspaper space to their triumphs and victories. Recently, Argentina with her troubles and difficulties is making the front pages of all the newspapers in the United States. Costa Rica is getting practically nothing and she completed a very successful election.

Perhaps it all dates back to the ancient dictum that "there's no news when a man and his wife get along pleasantly; but let one of them administer a beating of sorts and they both get into court and then find themselves in print.

Suffice to say, Costa Rica recently had an election and Francisco Jose. Orlich was named President. Senor Orlich is a grand citizen in every respect. He believes in justice to all classes and is an ardent advocate of democracy. The election was a model of civic deportment and procedure.

Costa Rica and Uruguay are top examples of western civilization and democracy, anyway. Costa Rica doesn't possess an army at all and is rightfully proud of the fact her outlay for teachers is greater than for police.

Under her current administration, Costa Rica can bank upon four more years of progress and a general advancement in economic, educational and spiritual affairs.

This newspaper will always be concerned with the tribulations and the triumphs of our Latin American cohorts.

Roosevelt Was Warned Not to Trust Stalin

(The Chicago Tribune)
Archbishop Spellman of New York had a long and close association with President FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT. His memoirs disclose his feelings as an "ominous change" came over Roosevelt.

SPELLMAN was already "troubled by doubts" when the Casablanca conference of 1943 produced ROOSEVELT's "unconditional surrender" formula.

The Quebec conference of 1944, at which Roosevelt scrawled his "OK — FDR" to the Morgenthau plan for wrecking a defeated Germany's mines and factories and forcing the German people to subsist in a soup kitchen economy, fed the archbishop's doubts. Roosevelt, after his return from Quebec, confessed he was "frankly staggered" and he said he had subscribed to the idea "without much thought."

Still, his blunders did not discourage him from his continuing intention of appeasing Stalin and communism. He would tell Spellman, "with a disarming smile," that "the Pope is too worried about communism." He would expound to the archbishop how "Russia has need of protection."

So he persisted in the plan to deed a large swath of Catholic Poland to the Kremlin atheists, ignoring SPELLMAN's argument that this would be immoral and that Poles could never be transformed into Russians. SPELLMAN had been "shocked profoundly" that ROOSEVELT would go halfway around the world to meet STALIN in his own back yard at Tehran. He "felt humiliation" in 1945 when ROOSEVELT then went to Russia to join STALIN at Yalta. ROOSEVELT would tell him, "Don't worry, I know how to talk to STALIN."

The archbishop remonstrated,

"You can't trust him. He'll never cooperate."

Roosevelt's health was precarious by the time he left for the Crimea. He could not formulate his thoughts and had even greater difficulty expressing them.

Knowledge of the extent of Roosevelt's surrender at Yalta, especially the transfer of Japan's Kurile Islands to the Soviet Union, transformed Spellman's "old doubts and fears... into genuine disillusionment." For not long before Roosevelt pointed to these islands and told Spellman, "These are a dagger aimed at the heart of America. They must never fall into the hands of an enemy." And now the President himself had placed that dagger in the enemy's hand.

Cardinal SPELLMAN's memoirs are recommended reading.

Oddities in News Happenings That Are Quite Remote from Usual Channel

By JOE HAAS
The deer in the vicinity of Pontiac are getting reckless. Their close communion with human beings is causing them to adopt their ways. Quite a number of them have been reported as coming downtown late at night. Some even invade the old courthouse corner in quest of grazing on its lawn. They seem to like the white lights. Latest report is from Gregory Gayson of Birmingham, who phones that a full grown deer galloped up Saginaw Street in front of his car on Orchard Lake Avenue to Huron Street, shortly before four o'clock the other morning.

Hollywood: Where a family tree has a tough growth.

A young lemon tree, brought back from Florida by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Rhubottom of Birmingham, now has five lemons on it, much larger than the usual market kind.

A peony clump near the base of a warm chimney at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Pliny of Drayton Plains is already in bud.

Accompanying his baseball cent entry,

Franklin Bachel of Drayton Plains sent along statistics to show that some of Detroit's best seasons followed a bad showing in the grapefruit league—and vice versa.

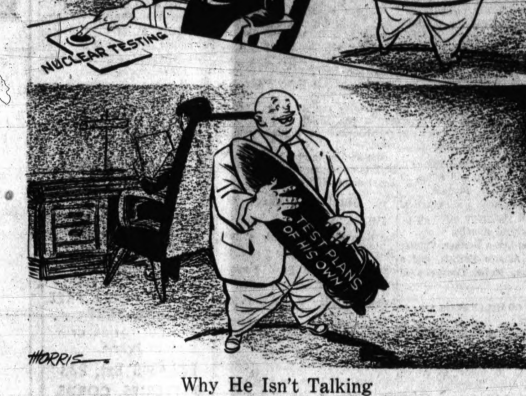

After reading our item about the wild geese being good mathematicians,

Mrs. Anna Frankel of Keego Harbor calls up to remind us that all birds do a better job of allowing each other ample roosting space than do humans.

In the poultry house of Ben Kristan near Rochester is a hen that lays eggs with the letter "K" quite plainly marked on the shell. Mr. Kristan phones that she may be doing this for any one of three reasons: loyalty to her owner; in honor of John F. Kennedy, or they may come from a crotchety old rooster pass biddy, whose bickering and troublesome ways have made her the most disagreeable thing in the flock, hated by all the other chickens, and who may be laying them in honor of another world character. (P.S.: Tell you who if I knew how to spell it.)

Why He Isn't Talking

David Lawrence Says:

Business Discouraged by JFK

WASHINGTON—Reports coming in now from all parts of the country tell how shocked and surprised businessmen are as a result of President Kennedy's sudden assault on the free enterprise system.

For 15 months now, businessmen have been trying to make up their minds about President Kennedy's attitude toward them.

There's been a tendency to give him credit for earnestness and fairness. Businessmen had observed that the President often spoke vehemently in denial of any idea that he was "antibusiness."

Yet it was known that among the advisers surrounding him, there were some who are inclined toward socialist doctrines euphemistically called a "planned economy."

Actually, in the period of more than a year that Mr. Kennedy has been in the White House, nothing really significant had happened on which a comprehensive judgment could be formed as to his basic attitude toward business. So everybody has waited for a clue.

Now the die has been cast. The way Mr. Kennedy reacted after the announcement of the decision of the steel companies to raise their prices last week has produced a profound change.

There is discouragement as well as a glum feeling about the future of American business. Business decisions now evidently must take into account political considerations in the White House. Even European businessmen are aghast at the turn of events, and some call it "the Kennedy effect."

Already in Congress bills are being proposed by the radicals to break up businesses or to put pressure on them to stop price increases. Nothing is said about restraining the exorbitant demands of labor for wage increases.

In fact, the strangest development of all is the outcry from the steelworkers union that they had been deceived by the decision to make a steel price rise. For they did obtain fringe benefits that will cost the industry an estimated $100 million a year.

MUST PAY
The steel companies have to pay for these extra costs. Businessmen really don't like to increase prices—it's always a competitive risk.

But when they are caught between the steel and the necessity of keeping their profits at a certain ratio, so that investors will continue to furnish the money with which to modernize plant and equipment, something has to be done to make ends meet.

Criticism has been heard here and there among businessmen that the U.S. Steel Corp. was wrong in its "fining"—that it should have waited and introduced price changes gradually. The companies waited four years during which period they were compelled to raise wages three times.

Anyone who knows the steel business will tell you that, if you wait too long after an increase in wage costs, you can't get the money back to help pay for it. The steel companies tried last week a partial catching up on past wage increases, but their timing is still criticized.

When is it ever the "right time" to announce a price increase? Now, with the government show-

Voice of the People: 'It's Time for Government to Aid U.S. Taxpayer'

In a current speech Congressman Richard L. Roudsback, R-Ind., said: "The supply of American dollars seems endless... a dam for Lettish Ghana; a nuclear power plant in Tito; a steel mill for Poland; baskets of dollars for Sukarno of Indonesia and Nehru of India.

"It's about time we had some federal aid for the taxpayer—in the form of reduced spending; an end to welfare state schemes; a halt to deficit spending; no more increases of 70,000 persons on the federal payroll; and a big ax to the foreign aid program.

"Khrushchev's fondest hope is to see this nation ravage its own economy and resources; foreign aid and deficit spending are making his dreams come true. If foreign aid handouts are ever stopped, the biggest tears will be shed in Moscow."

'OK to Lay Pipeline as a Safeguard'
It would be all right to lay pipeline from Detroit to Pontiac as a safeguard. At present we don't seem to be facing a water shortage. It is claimed our water rates will double. People are having a hard time paying water bills now. What will we do if rates are doubled? It's time people have a voice in the management of their own affairs.

'People Must Stop Tax Increase'
I'm opposed to any further increase in taxes. Our government must live within its budget even if it means some reduced services. A common ground that shall be of benefit to both the government and the people must be found. The liberals must become more conservative and vice versa if our economy is to be on a more sound basis.

We must have schools, good roads and other necessary services, but we must also find some means to reduce expenditures. Otherwise we shall all be on the welfare in a bankrupt nation.

'Jobless Mother Can't Find Work'
Why is it a widow or divorcee with children to support has a hard time getting a job? Married women with children seem to get first choice of any job they have to take. I've lived in Pontiac for four months and have yet to be called to a job for which I've applied.

Mrs. Dorothy Payne

'Why Do We Have Multiple Standards?'
I have just learned the amazing fact that many states deny epileptics the right to marry. But yet, almost certainly these same states permit profane illegitimate procreation and even go as far as to force this with Aid to Dependent Children money.

I must admit—no particular of fence meant to those who believe in and brag about being "fashioned in God's image"—and disregarding man's accomplishments in the arts and sciences, that of all animals it is unlikely there is one which is more foolish or more a proponent and victim of multiple standards than the human.

'Divorced Men Deserve Rights'
The Friend of the Court should be called "Friend of the Court for Women Only." It does very little for men. Laws were made to be revised. That's why we have representatives in Lansing. When a woman remarries all obligation to the first husband should be dropped.

'What's the Purpose of Lumber Camp?'
Could someone please explain this sawmill lumber camp in our Pontiac Recreation Area on Gale Road? Is the lumber for the state? Is it really worth losing our large trees in this wonderful area?

Two Sick to Look

Smiles
Frowns and scowls lose people lots of friends. Take another look.

A woman upon reaching 101 advised friends never to hurry. Foster a slow recipe for a long life.

It's fine for parents to stay up to kiss the kids goodnight but think of the sleep they lose.

Glasses improve some people's game, says a golf pro. He means the kind you wear.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Give Your Eyes the Care Needed

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE 1-487: Lois M., aged 19, is a studious college coed.

"But, Dr. Crane," she began, "I have headaches a great deal and our school physician says I need glasses."

"One of my eyes is weaker than the other. But I hate to wear glasses for a girl's chances for dates?"

"You know what they say, namely, that boys don't make passes at girls who wear glasses."

"So what should I do to relieve my eyestrain?"

DR. PSYCHOLOGY
When you read, make it a habit to raise your eyes and focus on a distant object, even if only for a moment, as you turn each page.

For that gives your eye muscles a momentary break in their constant strain of keeping a focus at a 20-inch distance, which is about the usual range of the page.

To appreciate how the eyes are strained, suppose you held a heavy suitcase in one hand steady for an hour.

Why, in a matter of 5 minutes your muscles would be registering pain and fatigue. So you normally shift hands or set down the heavy load for a few moments, don't you?

Well, the inner muscles of each eyeball also are in constant strain as long as you are focused on your book, or even the nearby TV screen.

So rest them every couple of minutes by looking across the room, or out the window at a distant object, as you turn the page.

Also, bathe your eyes occasionally and always at bedtime, using hot water and then cold. Keep alternating for several minutes.

For this change from hot to cold and back again, stimulates greater circulation and thus flushes out the fatigue products from overworked muscles.

If you have poor circulation in your legs, do the same. Put two buckets or foot tubs. Place hot water in one and cold water in the other.

Then rest your feet in the hot water for 10 minutes, then place them in the cold for a minute; then back to the hot, etc. Repeat this process for 10 minutes or longer. You will often notice a marked reduction in cramps and fatigue.

Eventually, the weaker eye this grows almost blind, just because of this disease.

A cross-eyed person likewise in a few days, two equally good eyes, but he can pay attention to just one, so the ignored eye goes almost blind.

That's why we urge correction of crossed eyes early.

Lois should then wear properly fitted glasses that will balance her eyes and cause her to use on dates where she knows she will be kissed at the end of the evening. So send for my 200-point "Rating Scale for Sweethearts." They show girls how to be popular despite eye glasses.

Leaders Feel New Passover Needed Today

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK — At Jewish dinner tables around the world tonight, the head of the house will hold up some pieces of flat, unleavened bread wrapped in a napkin and say:

"Let this be the bread of affliction which our fathers ate in the land of Egypt. Let all who are hungry come, and eat. Let all who are in want come and celebrate the Passover with us."

Thus begins the world's oldest festival of freedom, commemorating the deliverance of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt.

At the seder tonight—the ritual meal of song, prayer, symbolism and story—families will relive in memory the stirring drama of the escape from the tyranny of the pharaoh.

It was mankind's first great struggle for liberty, and the week-long celebration of it is often called "the season of our freedom."

STILL STRUGGLING

Comments came from many Jewish leaders.

"The struggle is as crucial today as at any time in the 3,500 years since the children of Israel fled ancient Egypt under the leadership of Moses," said Rabbi Julius Mark, president of the Synagogue Council of America.

As head of the organization representing all three branches of Reform—Dr. Mark said in a Passover statement: "Freedom can never be permanently won but must be fought for and achieved in every generation."

Once again in the modern era, he said, "divisive forces in our society" are challenging the principles of democracy.

"To the modern pharaohs who persist in keeping their Jewish communities in political, social and religious bondage, we echo the challenge of Moses, 'Let my people go,'" Dr. Mark said.

Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of Yeshiva University, said, "We are confronted with the striking parallel of some 2½ million of our brethren enslaved by a newer form of tyranny."

Rabbi Dr. Albert G. Minds, of Minneapolis, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, said freedom is "not only a priceless possession inherited from the past, but one to be achieved by each generation of men."

SEASON TO RENEW

The general chairman of the combined campaign for American Reform Judaism, Jack Davis, said the season was a time for renewed Jewish commitment to God—to "do all in their power to oppose the setting of brother against brother, and nation against nation."

The National Jewish Welfare Board said it has distributed supplies for Passover meals to 100,000 Jewish service men around the world, and arranged for special services for them and their families.

The Jewish Braille Institute of America said that free copies of the Haggadah (the Passover narrative) in Braille or on recordings have been provided to more than 1,000 Jewish blind persons.

For the first time, a new passage will be added to the seder ritual in many Jewish homes,

Northern Italian City Covered by Pink Snow
CUNEO, Italy (AP) — It snowed pink in this little north Italian city Tuesday.

Italian meteorologists speculated that the rusty snow flakes contained minute particles of Sahara sand, borne northward from Africa on warm air currents that mixed with a cold front descending from Scandinavia.

Seaway Authority Loses $10.2 Million

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian St. Lawrence Seaway Authority had a net loss of $10.2 million in the 1961 navigation season.

The authority's annual report, presented in the House of Commons yesterday, said income reached a record $10.4 million in 1961, compared with $9.36 million for 1960 and $9.1 million in 1959, the first year the seaway operated. The report said that since there was no change in the toll structure in 1961 the higher income was due entirely to increased tonnage.

Red Chinese Errors Don't Aid the West

By HARVEY MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—The Red Chinese leadership has apparently acknowledged what was generally known: that it jumped too far too fast and fell on its face.
 * * *
 There is no comfort for the West in this. There is not even a small sign the Communists are weakened or endangered.
 In Premier Chou En-lai's report of calamities there is no whine for pity. It seems clear the Chinese Communists will prevent the people's misery to the greatest extent even harder.

 If the West or Russia expected three years of disaster to soften Red China's attitude toward others of them, they guessed wrong. The Red Chinese are still defiant, still belligerent, still unbending.
 Chou in a report to the highly secret session of the National People's Congress admitted that Red China has suffered both natural calamities and a man-made economic disaster for the past three years.

 The China mainland underwent severe food shortages in recent years and had to import wheat but Chou indicated this means the Chinese must work even harder.
 The people's communes, set up under Chou, Mao Tse-tung and other Red Chinese leaders, have been severely criticized in the West on several grounds — that they demoralized Chinese family life. Red reduced the Chinese to a hard-labor-peasantry than they ever had had, and that Mao and his friends had far overextended themselves.

CONCESSIONS SEEN
 There are indications in Chou's report that the leadership thinks it may have made some mistakes in handling the communes. But the report shows no thought of abandoning them, just improving them.
 A resolution approved by the congress suggests that there will be some changes in the communes but the emphasis will be on even greater effort to produce food to meet China's needs.

 Some concessions may be made to give the masses some of the necessities of living.
 The resolution, involving a 10-point program, spoke of rational arrangement of production in light and heavy industry so that an increase of daily necessities can be realized.

Yet, almost immediately afterwards, this same resolution calls for getting a lot of people out of the cities and back to the farms to turn out food.
 There was no sign of even a little change in Red China's foreign policy. Its women, outlined in Chou's report, was still aimed at the West, particularly against American "imperialism."
 This has been the unvarying Red Chinese theme, repeated through the years, and with in-sheep-creating pain to the Russians when Premier Khrushchev tried his new line of "peaceful co-existence."

 Anyone who remembers the iron will and discipline of the Red Chinese leaders — between the time Chiang Kai-shek drove them into isolation in China's northwest corner in the 1930s and the time they returned in 1949 to drive him to Formosa — could not realistically have expected any softening just because they ran into some setbacks while trying too hard.
 Great Britain has about 10 million head of cattle and 19 million sheep.

New Offensives Threaten Reds

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow is mounting two heavy propaganda offensives.

One is against the European Common Market. The other attacks the Kennedy administration's Alliance for Progress program in Latin America.

The Moscow broadsheets may herald much more direct Communist efforts to harass and impede the European integration movement and to sow confusion in the Latin American effort to produce stability through economic aid.

Both movements represent disarming threats to Communist expansion plans.

Moscow probably considers the Common Market by far the greater menace, but heaviest Soviet propaganda guns are zeroed now worry is a stepped-up effort to bring into being some of the political goals of the 1957 Rome Treaty which gave birth to the Common Market concept.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is reported determined to beef up a drive toward closer integration by supporting measures leading to greater political unity.

There are reports now that a compromise is in the making between Adenauer's views and those of French President De Gaulle, who has been stying away from any idea of surrendering national sovereignty.

Present Common Market members are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Britain, long aloof and skeptical, is represented as willing to accept the Rome Treaty's implications. Other nations are clamoring to get aboard.

KREMLIN MAY ACT

All this eventually may spur the Kremlin to action to avert what it must regard as a real threat to communism from West European political union.

Moscow might turn to desperation tactics which could involve dumping such commodities as oil and gold, to a barrage of barrier deals or perhaps even to more violent measures.

The Alliance for Progress is another source of Kremlin worry. Any prospect of economic improvement in Latin American tends to cut ground from under the Communists.

Soviet newspaper blasts calling the U.S. effort in Latin America an "alliance for plunder" are broadcast to the hemisphere in a torrent of Spanish-language transmissions.

The alliance, say the broadcasts, is a plot to protect a "new colonial policy" and "the sharks of Wall Street."

"The people of Latin America," said a typical broadcast in the Spanish language, "are every day more convinced that the United States does not show real interest in the welfare of their people and that the North American loans only seek profits and the political and economic subjugation of the Latin American countries. Imperialism cannot exist without the exploitation of underdeveloped countries."

76-Year-Old Cabbie Gets His First Ticket

FREEDPORT, N.Y. (AP)—Paul Davison goes to court April 23 to answer a traffic summons—an act he figures will be "just about the bitterest pill I've ever had to swallow."

The ticket that Davison was handed yesterday for allegedly running a traffic light was his first in 40 years as a taxi driver. He is 76 years old.

on the Latin American alliance. That may be because more concrete action against the Common Market is being considered in the Kremlin.

The European development already constitutes a serious setback for communism.

In cooperation with the United States, the Common Market has a vast aggregate of economic power and skill eclipsing that of the Red bloc.

The implications of this can be of greater importance even than such trouble spots as West Berlin or Viet Nam.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

But, doctors say, has to new laxative principle that re-creates 3 segments of youthful regularity. As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and strain so they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAD gives you its special 3-seg effect.

1) COLONAD prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. 2) helps restore flabby colon muscles with unique rebuilding action. 3) acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAD relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Introductory Size 43¢.

Mojave Desert Communities Hit Scorching 106

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Mojave Desert of California was the hottest spot in the nation Tuesday. At Ripley and at Thousand Palms, in Riverside County, the mercury rose to 106.

At Palm Desert—where former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, are vacationing—the temperature reached 105.

It was 104 at Palm Springs, the movie stars' Mecca, which tied Yuma, Ariz., and Presidio, Tex., for the next hottest sites in the country.

Fire has taken 118,000 American lives in the past 10 years, according to figures of the National Fire Protective association.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra has departed on a two-month world tour during which he will give concerts to benefit underprivileged children in eight countries. Sinatra is paying all expenses for musicians and crewmen on the trip. The group will visit Japan, Israel, Greece, Italy, England and France.

Sinatra recently returned from a similar benefit trip to Mexico. One concert will be given May 31 in Mexico in support of Princess Grace's fund for needy children. As Grace Kelly she costarred with Sinatra and Bing Crosby in a movie before marrying Prince Rainier, ruler of the principality.

Norway Seeking Tanks Despite U. S. Cut in Aid

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway hopes to get medium tanks from the United States in spite of the cutbacks of military aid to Norway and Denmark announced by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, a spokesman for the Defense Ministry said today. The spokesman said his government may give up other kinds of military aid in order to get the tanks. Norway at present only has light M4 Chaffee tanks.

Snow Removal Cost $7.5 Million

State Road Dept. Tab
Near Record for Winter
Set in 1958-59

LANSING (U) — The State Highway Department reports it spent a near record $7.5 million for snow removal last winter.

This was still under the high of $7.8 million spent during the winter of 1958-59.

Howard H. Hill, deputy state highway commissioner, said although last winter was more severe than the 1958-59 winter, increased efficiency resulted in lower costs.

The average winter snow removal bill is $5.1 million, he said. The department reported it used 155,500 tons of salt on rural state trunklines during the winter, nearly double the tonnage of the previous year and also a new high.

Winter highway maintenance has been stepped up to keep pace with a booming growth in winter sports, Hill said. He estimated skiers spend an average of $18 million in Michigan each winter.

"Good winter maintenance on state highways helps skiers reach our winter resorts when skiing is at its best," Hill said.

Consider Use of Carport for Expansion

In many homes, that extra space you need can be found at the side door. Or more specifically—in the carport. Located adjacent to the kitchen, as is the case in many instances, the carport presents a virtually untapped area that's right in line for the next home addition. In addition to their primary role, carports are also popular sites for family cookouts and play areas for the children.

Still another possibility is advanced by the Southern Pine Association—conversion of carports into family rooms or family room-dining room-den combinations.

Such transformations are relatively simple since the roof is already in being. All that remains to be done is to fill in the open areas between posts with framing and finish and to provide a comfortable floor.

Many carports have ceilings of wood joists or wood plank-and-beam. Such members can be beautifully finished with colored stains and left exposed. Wood siding on the exterior walls and wood paneling on the interior are perfect complements for the beamed ceiling.

System Gathers New Oil Data

Tulsa University Has
Up-to-Date Library on Latest in Industry

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — It takes about 30 minutes of reading for oil technicians to learn the latest in their business.

The University of Tulsa has installed a unique new system which abstracts steps 500 magazines for data and reports on oil business, from under the ground to the refinery.

Dr. E. T. Guerrero, head of the TU petroleum engineering department, said his library is the most complete covering the search for oil, drilling, completion of wells, production of oil and transportation.

Data from the refinery to the customer is handled by a similar service offered by the American Petroleum Institute.

Guerrero's library dates back 30 years. Standard Oil Co., Indiana, donated the index from which the University has started its service.

The library receives magazines in 10 languages, including 28 Russian publications. Vital articles are indexed and technicians can read brief summaries of subjects that meet their interest. If more information is needed, they can hunt out the original article.

Voices of Students Circle the World

MUSKOGEE (UPI)—Pupils here have been speaking to pupils around the world through an International Tape Exchange program started by a junior high school English teacher.

It was exchanged with a tape from Australia.

Other tape exchanges followed with schools in Japan, Sweden, England, New Zealand, Germany, India and Austria.

Seder Fete Tonight for Jewish Families

By MARY ANGLEMIER

As Jewish families throughout the world sit down to the annual seder dinner tonight they are celebrating the oldest continually observed ritual in the world.

Beginning at sundown Jews will mark the festival of Passover which celebrates the exodus of the Jews under the leadership of Moses from the slavery of Egypt more than 3,000 years ago. The festival lasts for a week among liberal Jews and eight days among the traditionalists.

The seder is built around the family dining and worshipping together, and handing down to the children the greatest story of Jewish heritage.

The festival is called Passover because the Bible says God "passed over" the homes of Israelites in Egypt to strike the blow that liberated Hebrew people enslaved by the Pharaoh Rameses II more than 1,300 years before the birth of Christ.

ESCAPE OF THE JEWS

It marks the escape of the Jews under Moses when the waters of the Red Sea parted just long enough for them to cross. Its rituals commemorate a dramatic struggle for freedom and annual rededications to the principle of liberty.

The seder table is set with the best dishes, linen and silver the family can afford. Just before sundown the mother lights the candles, and all members of the family gather around, including the young children.

Each step of the seder is prescribed by tradition and each item of food has a symbolic meaning.

As a part of the reading in the Passover prayer book the youngest child asks, "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

TELLS THE STORY

The father then relates the story of the Exodus and explains to all the meaning of symbols.

There is the matzoh—the unleavened bread, to recall the bread baked in haste as the Israelites took flight from Egypt. There are the bitter herbs as reminders of the hardships undergone by the slaves under Pharaoh in the years of their oppression.

The sprig of parsley on the table is to remind the assembly that Passover is also a festival of spring.

A roasted shank-bone is an emblem of the paschal lamb; and the haroset, a mixture of apples, nuts, raisins, cinnamon and wine, symbolizes the mortar from which the Israelites made bricks for the Egyptian pyramids.

"The Passover seder teaches us to share our blessings with all of our neighbors, Jews and non-Jews alike. We must be generous and charitable toward the weak, the persecuted, the alien—for we were strangers in the land of Egypt," said Rabbi Nathan Herschfield of Temple Beth Jacob.

MEMORIES MUST LIVE

"We must keep alive the memories of our ancestors' trials lest we become arrogant and cruel," he added.

A temple service will be held at 10:30 Thursday morning at the synagogue on Elizabeth Lake Road. Traditional service also will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings at 7:30 in Congregation B'nai Israel.

The youth group of Temple Beth Jacob will conduct the annual seder for the Jewish patients at Pontiac State Hospital Sunday afternoon.

Rabbi and Mrs. Israel Goodman of Oneida Road are following the order of service in the Passover "Haggadah" at the seder tonight. Unable to be with their parents on this special family night are daughters Arlene, a student at New York University, and Lila, who attends George Washington University. Rabbi Goodman is spiritual leader of Congregation B'nai Israel.

Blow Nose at Table (but Easy)

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Of late I have noticed an increasing number of people blowing their noses at table in a public dining room. Not too infrequently I have had someone at my own table do the same. I find this habit quite nauseating.

Since many of those who do this are people of seeming refinement, I have often wondered if I could be wrong about this being bad manners.

I know that in our house when any of us have to blow our noses, we leave the table to do so. I would appreciate your comments on this not very pleasant subject.

A: One should of course avoid blowing one's nose at the table if possible. But if this is unavoidable, it should be done as briefly and as silently as possible, and one does not draw further attention to it by apologizing. It is not necessary to leave the table.

Q: Will you please give me some information about a rehearsal dinner? Who gives it and who is included besides the wedding attendants?

A: There is no rule about a rehearsal dinner. In fact, comparatively few are given at all. The wedding party usually meets at the church for the rehearsal and stays an indefinite length of time. Afterward, perhaps they all go back to the house of the bride or another relative and have a simple but-let supper. On the other hand, they even more often disperse.

Again, sometimes, they have a dinner for the bridal party, after which they go to the rehearsal. This dinner usually includes none but the wedding attendants or, perhaps, it includes other members of both their families.

Women's Section

Teaching their daughter Leonie the meaning of the Passover and the symbolic foods served at the seder are Rabbi and Mrs. Nathan Herschfield of Temple Beth Jacob. Leonie tries the matzoh—the unleavened bread—which recalls the bread baked in haste as the Israelites took flight from Egypt. Baby Joel does lots of looking but little listening. The seder dinner is tonight.

In Small Town

Business, Pleasure Mix

By ANNE VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband travels and he spends a lot of time in a certain small town. I never could understand it because he doesn't get enough business out of that town to stay there overnight the way he does.

He has told me about a divorce he takes to dinner when he is there, but he says he sees her for "business" reasons. Do you really think he is seeing her for business reasons?

WONDERING WIFE DEAR WONDERING: I don't know. What's her business?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is in his third year of college and hopes to go on to law school. His grandparents are financing his education as we are unable to. He is a fine boy and we are all very proud of him. He has fallen in love with a girl he met at school. We have met her and think she is wonderful.

His grandparents do not like the match because she is an adopted girl and her mother was unmarried. They think the girl is not "good enough" for our boy. They have threatened to cut off financial help if he doesn't break off with her. We say the girl can't help what her mother did. How can we solve this?

ucation badly enough, he'll find a way.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl. My problem is that I can't date a boy unless he passes inspection by my parents. I don't mind this, but their way of looking him over is to invite him to our house for supper.

As soon as he walks in he is attacked by 4 inquisitive kids. (My younger sisters and brothers.) They ask him questions like, "Did you come to see Linda?" "Do you love her?" "When are you going to get married?" This is very embarrassing. I lost two very good guys this way. What should I do?

VICTIM OF LARGE FAMILY DEAR VICTIM: Give your little sisters and brothers some basic training. Youth is no excuse for asking guests embarrassing questions. If children are old enough to talk, they are old enough to learn when to be quiet.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Unit Marks Observance of Child Welfare Month

Chief Pontiac Unit No. 377, American Legion Auxiliary, observed April's designation as Child Welfare and Pan American Month during a recent meeting at the Post Home on Oakland Lake.

Child Welfare Chairman Mrs. Charles Chandler introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkby, executive secretary of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Mrs. Kirkby gave an account of the organization's work with handicapped and crippled children.

A paper on Columbia, the Pan American country being studied by the auxiliary this year, was read by Mrs. James Van Cleave, who traced Columbian culture to present day. Junior Activities Chairman Mrs. Verner Macdon invited all Junior Auxiliary members, Sons of the Legion, members' children and children of the community to Saturday's Easter egg hunt. The annual event will take place 2 p.m. at the Post Home.

The Unit will send two delegates to Wolverine Girl's State this year, as the auxiliary's Past Presidents Parley is sponsoring a girl. Mrs. Theodore Salokid said the girls will be selected from Pontiac Northern and Waterford Township High Schools.

Mrs. Alfred Galda, ways and means chairman, asked the membership to increase ticket sales for the joint card party with the men of the Legion at the Post Home, April 24, 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Joseph Charter, rehabilitation chairman, asked that materials had been purchased for the Dearborn Veterans Hospital so that the patients may send gifts to their mothers in May. Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Tunningley and Mrs. Frank Huebner. An evening of dancing, sponsored by the Legion's membership chairman, John Harrington, followed the meeting.

PEO Sisterhood Unit Initiates New Member

Chapter AW of PEO Sisterhood met at the home of Mrs. Ashton W. Emery on Dixie Highway Monday evening and initiated Mrs. Edward F. Lewis into the Sisterhood.

The program was provided by Mrs. Walter J. Teeuwissen who read poetry she had written over the years. Mrs. William F. Kalwitz presided at the tea table.

Delegates to the annual Michigan State Chapter Convention of PEO Sisterhood in Ann Arbor were Mrs. Norman Bartell and Mrs. Teeuwissen. Also attending the recent conference were: Rev. Walter J. Teeuwissen, the James Boazes, the William L. Millers, the Everett Petersons, the Webster S. Francises and the Paul M. Snovers.

Next meeting is May 7 at the home of Mrs. Earl Rinker of Latham Road.

Luncheon Served for Colonial Group

Members of the Colonial Group, First Congregational Church, met for luncheon and a business meeting recently at the Brookside Drive home of Mrs. Adolph Magnus.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Cray, Mrs. L. L. Dunlap, Mrs. Marcus Scott and Mrs. John Goepfert.

Party Follows Moshier-Huff Rites

A reception and supper-dance in the German Club, Auburn Heights, followed the Saturday evening vows of Janice Sue Huff to Robert L. Moshier in the First Presbyterian Church. White gladiol, pompons and anemones formed a background for the ceremony performed by Rev. Galen Hershey.

Daughter of the Orval L. Huffs of North Perry Street, the bride appeared in ivory silk organza and Alecon lace over taffeta, styled with chapel train. Miniature pearl orange blossoms secured her nylon net butterfly veil and she carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

The attendants wore apricot silk organza over taffeta, styled with rose-cambray bustle back. Vicki Huff, her sister's maid-of-honor, carried a basket of white carnations and roses.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Mortimore, Mrs. Donald Moshier and the bridegroom's sister Patricia carried white carnations and Mary Jo roses. Cathy Heck, Union Lake, was flower girl and Ricky Moshier carried the rings.

Son of the Robert L. Moshiers of Dunley Street, Avon Township.

the bridegroom was assisted by his brother Donald, James and Daniel Moshier ushered with the bride's cousin, Jack Johnston, Berkeley.

Peach carnations and white roses accented Mrs. Huff's dress of beige silk organza over taffeta, with embroidered floral hemline detail.

The mother of the bridegroom, who chose Wedgwood blue taffeta, wore white roses and pink carnations at her shoulder.

The newlyweds will reside on South Marshall Street.

Sorority President Is Mrs. Elwyn Hall

Installation of the following new officers for Xi Alpha Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority occupied members during Tuesday evening's meeting at the home of Mrs. Harvey Kerr on Coleman Street.

Mrs. William Chast conducted the ritual for the officers: Mrs. Elwyn Hall, president; Mrs. Laurence Robertson, vice president; Mrs. Willard Sovey, treasurer; Mrs. Bernice Fritschel, recording secretary; and Mrs. George Henson, corresponding secretary.

Plans were also made to attend the sorority founder's day banquet at Edgewood Country Club April 25. The Central High School Caribbeans will provide the program for the affair.

Special guests for the meeting were Mrs. William Emery from Centralia, Ontario, Canada, and Mrs. Robert Dodd of Cambridge, Ohio.

Manitoba is rated as a prairie province, but 30 per cent of the land area is covered with evergreen and mixed forests.

Club Hears Travel Talk on Europe

Pontiac Women's Club members heard "New Lessons from Old Europe," a talk by Dr. Emil Kontz during their meeting at the City Library Monday.

Dr. Kontz of the Bethany Baptist Church showed pictures from eight European countries to accompany his travel talk.

Announcement was made of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs' annual training program, April 24 at the Royal Oak Women's Club. The next meeting of the Federation will be May 4 at Orionville.

The Pontiac group's May meeting will be the yearly luncheon at the Hotel Waldron. Mrs. W. E. C. Huthwaite is chairman. Arranging Monday's meeting were: Mrs. Forrest Brown, Mrs. Charles Lloyd, Mrs. C. M. Pelton, Mrs. Walter Krause and Mrs. Albert Simpson.

Others were: Mrs. P. C. Miles, Mrs. E. E. Johnston, Mrs. William Morris and Mrs. Hayden Henley.

Children Seek to Stand as Individuals

MRS. MUREL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Last summer a noted child psychologist and his family visited us in the country. At breakfast on the day of their departure, his cherished 17-year-old daughter turned to him suddenly to ask, "What train are you taking home, dad?" "The 8:45," said the father. "Why?"

"I'm taking the 5:20 home," his daughter told him. "I don't want to go home with you and mother. I want to go by myself."

There was a moment of uncomfortable silence. Then his wife broke it by chuckling. "All right," she said, "so we're poison again. But see that you have some tea ready for us when we get home because we'll be feeling hot and cross and will want some."

In adolescence the children of the wisest among us tend to find family "togetherness" oppressive. SEEK 'SEPARATENESS'

In adolescence a child will find reasons to sit apart from us in trains or buses. On Sunday mornings the son who has always driven to church with us will misty a wallet in the hope the delaying tactic will compel us to leave him—and let him get to church alone.

The family unity in which children could once contentedly submerge themselves now conveys family oppression to them, the terrifying suggestion that we will use the old oneness with us to deny them release to their own lives—and the big approaching Separation.

To see this enables us to grant the demands for the little preliminary separations.

If we don't see it, the demands wound us. Hurt by the pulls away from us, we expect more hurt. We become suspicious of the demands, wondering darkly, "What's Lie up to with this wish to take a train home by herself? What's Bill planning to do on the way to church that he doesn't want us to know about?"

And then real trouble begins. Our amplexuous confirms the near-adult child's fear of family oppression. As we pour reproach on the desire to choose trains, friends and clothes different from our choices, resentment of our domination hardens into the grim resolve to differ from us in everything.

In her book "A Matter of Life and Death," critic and lecturer Virginia Peterson describes the development of such a resolve in herself. Addressing the mother who could permit no adventures into difference from her, Miss Peterson writes: "Because strawberries disagreed with you, they became my favorite food. When you fixed on a certain dress for me, it became the dress I disliked the most. Whatever you feared I made a point of braving. Nothing, I resolved, would show that you and I were kin."

It's a book for parents to read and think about.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

The Tailor Trix Winner award of the week goes to Mrs. T. A. Lyons, New Haven, Ind., for this idea for hubby's trousers. "My husband does a lot of work outdoors and the cuffs of his wash pants get just full of dirt, dried grass, etc. He suggested a sew snipe on where the cuffs are tacked at the seams. It works like a charm. I unnap the cuffs and clean them out before washing the pants. leave them unnaped, they will wash cleaner, dry faster, and need to be snapped again after pressing. Such a simple thing and such a big help."

TRY A FITTING

Dear Eunice:

"My arms must be shorter than the pattern calls for because the elbow darts are always down too low for me. Is there a simple way of measuring for this?"

Mrs. C. M.

I would suggest that you baste the elbow darts in and not change them until after you have basted the sleeve into the armhole. When the sleeve is adjusted correctly, you can bend your elbow and the darts or fullness must be at the exact bend of your elbow. You will probably only have to do this once and you will know just how much to shorten all sleeves. This adjustment would mean taking a fold in the pattern ABOVE the elbow.

TRY USING DARTS

Dear Eunice:

"If my dress is not long-waisted enough in front and I have to add to the bodice front, how can I make the side seams come out even?"

Mrs. M. T.

If you need additional length in the bodice front it is probably due to a large bust. The larger your bust measurement, the more dart control is needed. In order to make the side seams come out even, you will add to the front only, now pin a dart at the underarm, directly opposite the fullest part of the bust. This dart should take up the exact extra length added. You will find that the bodice front and back now come out even and also that you will have a much nicer fit.

Next week's column will discuss the woman who has to add to the back bodice and not to the front.

CONCEAL RAW EDGES

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Could you please, give instructions for making felled seams?"

Mrs. A. A.

A "felled" seam is a seam that has all the raw edges enclosed. It is found on sports wear, shirts, pajamas, etc. After stitching your regular 1/2-inch seam, press both seams in one direction. Now trim the UNDER seam to 1/4-inch. The wider or TOP seam is now turned under at the raw edge and basted over the seam you have trimmed down.

Machine stitch close to this turned edge. The machine stitching will show on the right side, so be sure your stitching is exactly the same distance from the seamline.

Many clothes that do not ravel are treated in a similar way and give the same appearance from the right side. After machine stitching your regular 1/2-inch seam, again press the seams to one side. Now from the right side of your garment, machine stitch through these seams about 1/4 inch from the seam line. Instead of a folded and finished seam on the inside, the edges will still be raw. This should only be done on fabrics that do not ravel.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Interfacing: This is the term used to refer to the "extra" layer of fabric used in the fronts and collars of all garments. I prefer a woven-type interfacing in most cases. This can be purchased in various weights and you should choose the weight according to the type of fabric your garment is made of and also the style of the garment. Always cut the interfacing on the lengthwise grain of the fabric, just as you do with your garment.

Please send your questions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. If you want a collection of the 20 most frequently asked questions, send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Good News for Skinny Skimmers

Dior Takes to Ski Slopes

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — Christian Dior of New York Tuesday offered 40 good reasons why style-conscious women—and women-conscious men—will take to the snowy hills next fall.

That many ski costumes, created in Paris by designer Marc Bohan, were modeled by lean-limbed ladies who proved, among other things, that Parisian snow pants can be as sexy as a Bardot bikini.

Designer Bohan mixed the usual figure-hiding sweater over a sweater over a sweater costume that has been wearing and watching down and constricting the movements of the snow skimmer for years.

Made from various French stretch fabrics and insulated, these Dior clothes are warm, though they don't often look it, and they're lighter than a snow flake.

SKINNY, SKINNY

Skinny pants, skinnier than skin, Eskimo parkies with French accents, and clothing for beside the roaring fire were exhibited as ideal ski-lodge luggage.

"A well-dressed skier will want to wear a new costume each day," one of the show-room personnel said hopefully.

A black vinyl costume, a streamlined version of a motorcycle racing suit, shimmered and weaved all the way from the hooded head to the glistening toes of one curvy model.

Some parkies were flat topped with visors; others were fitted helmet style, but almost all seemed to turn the unbending ladies into astronauts.

Most jackets and coats were bloused or belted low at the hip. Some were in fake fur, but others, in flower-spangled or paisley jersey, were strictly springtime. Other times the models wore brilliant-hued doublets over turtle-necked, long-sleeved shirts and tights like pages out of medieval history.

And on still other occasions the dainty ladies slithered from one side of the crowded showroom to another in velveteens and corbays and iridescent fabrics that hitherto have never seen a ski slope.

Women over size 12 are advised to wear darker, less conspicuous colors, the show-room spokesman pointed out. But dainty ladies as slim as exclamation marks are encouraged to wear those vivid pants that appear to be painted on.

It is explained that this tight fit is eased a little just below the knees, to allow for plenty of agile skidding action. For what woman would want to fall on her Dior?

At Least Fashions
Change Fairly OftenBy RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One thing about women's fashions no matter how silly and unbecoming they sometimes are: if you don't like a fashion all you have to do is wait a little while and it's out.

The good news right now is that the bushy-pardon, bouffant—hairdo that has made so many women look top-heavy and unbecoming is now old hat, or rather, old head. So women can stop rattling their hair to make it stand out and go back to hair that fits the head.

The other good news from the fashion world is that those point-of toes that made even women with small feet look as though they were size nine shoes are being squared off for a shorter look.

And the needle heels that women have been tottering around on for several years seems to be on the way out, too, along with the pointed toe.

ALL FOR BETTER

Of course, we women don't have any guarantee that the fashions to come will be comfortable, care-free and generally becoming, but shoes couldn't be any more comfortable than they have been and no hair style could look worse on the average woman than the ratted bouffant.

In both these cases any change is bound to be for the better, just as anything that replaced the sack dress was bound to be an improvement.

So if we women won't buck unbecoming or uncomfortable or downright silly fashion trends — and we don't seem to have the nerve to do that—at least, we can always console ourselves with the thought that no feminine fashion is going to last very long.

And that's about the only consolation we have so long as we figure we have to be in fashion no matter how we look wearing the latest thing or sporting the latest hairdo.

No Time to Be Lonely

Be Busy and You're Happy

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you are sometimes sunk by the never-ending work and emotional investment required to keep your family happy and well fed, and your home a place of charm and peace, or by the myriad duties you fall heir to because you are a woman, don't be!

You are the one best qualified by nature to cope with the amenities and rough edges of life. You write the letters of thanks and condolence. You probably select most of the Christmas gifts. You bundle the stubbed toes. You call on friends who are ill. You plan birthday parties for the children, and then remind them of their father's birthday.

MEET CHESSES

Many of you invest time and energy in civic projects, and on top of all this meet the minor but devastating daily crises which occur in any household; everything from the unexpected houseguest, the daughter who doesn't have a date, or the son who didn't make the team, to a sudden case of measles and a broken water pipe.

Now let's consider the man. If you sometimes wonder, momentarily, if it is all worthwhile because of the pressure of providing for your family as you would like and because of the turmoil and hecticness and problems which

The loneliest and most unhappy folks on earth are those who are not needed. It may be very hectic to be needed at times, and the more people who need you the more hectic it is, but you will NEVER be lonely.

Studies have shown that bachelors are not as happy as married men, and that unmarried women are happier than unmarried men. Such studies also indicate that women have a more difficult time adjusting to divorce than men do.

Unit Hears Talks on Cosmetics

Committee heads were appointed and members witnessed a cosmetic demonstration during a recent meeting of the Business Institute Women's Club at the TBI library.

President Grace Trapp selected the following committee: Programs, Mrs. Donald Beutler and Miss Trapp; membership, Betty Whitson; social and house, Mrs. William Kovin and Mrs. Robert Wiegand; publicity, Mrs. Sol Lomerson; scholarship, Miss Whitson; Mrs. Paul Gorman and Mrs. S. E. Minard; telephone, Mrs. Minard, Patricia Wagner and Mrs. Lehr Miller; ways and means, Mrs. Lillian Quayle and Mrs. Charles Van Trease, and floral, Mary Parker.

Mrs. Marjorie Giles, a representative for a beauty firm, gave a lecture and demonstrated on the proper use of cosmetics.

Members were asked to collect their "white elephants" for the auction at the May meeting.

Hostess Mrs. Donald Beutler received assistance from Miss Trapp.

Set Banquet for Teachers

Pontiac Education Association will hold its annual spring banquet April 26 in the Hillside Room at Devon Gables. This year's speaker is Dr. Frank Court, minister of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Lincoln, Neb. His topic is entitled "The Ayes Have It."

Dr. Court has had wide experience as a presidential appointee to national committees on youth work and education. He has served as chairman of the American Red Cross and spent many years as a chaplain with U.S. Armed Forces overseas.

New Rules Suggested on Campaign Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan commission today recommended tax incentives for presidential campaign contributors to encourage massive participation in U.S. political life.

The commission, in a report to President Kennedy, estimated 1960's overall political spending at between $15 million and $17 million. But it rejected for the time being the idea of government subsidies for campaigning.

The group noted the swift evolution of the campaign — from 1860 when Abraham Lincoln never left his home in Springfield, Ill., or made a single speech, to 1960 when John F. Kennedy made 360 speeches and traveled 44,000 miles.

One of the toughest problems to come out of this transition from horse and buggy politicking to the jet and television age is how to pay the high costs of campaigning.

the commission. Its recommendations included:

LIFT CEILINGS

—Repeat of ceilings on contributions and on spending by political committees. It called them "strict."

—Strict procedures for reporting campaign gifts and expenditures and rigid enforcement of election laws to gain public confidence in the financing of vital political activity.

—Allow broadcaster to make equal time available to major party presidential nominees, without having to recognize minor party candidates. The television networks did this for the 1960 Nixon-Kennedy debates.

The commission said to present practices, the parties encounter enormous difficulties in raising adequate funds at the proper time.

"Given the erratic flow of funds and the periodic crises in campaign finance, individuals and organizations providing substantial gifts at critical moments can threaten to place a candidate in a moral bind," it said.

A chronic difficulty in raising money, said the commission, "has long been the lurking suspicion that contributing to political parties is somehow a shoddy business."

New Cabinet Meets in Paris

De Gaulle Presides at 1st Formal Session of Ministers

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle presided today at the first working session of the new French cabinet of Premier Georges Pompidou with the situation in terrorist-racked Algeria overshadowing other problems.

High on the agenda were tough new measures to stamp out the Secret Army Organization (OAS) and restore law and order to the huge northwest African territory which has been promised full independence from France.

De Gaulle yesterday took personal charge of the urgent government moves to end the OAS campaign of terrorism, which has claimed a toll of nearly 3,000 victims since the first of the year.

De Gaulle was reported deeply disturbed by the situation in Algeria's big cities, said to be bordering on anarchy one month after the Evian cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels.

The new cabinet decided at its first informal gathering Monday that first priority must be given to restoring order in Algeria, particularly in Oran.

In spite of the massive intervention of the French army and authorities have failed thus far to curb OAS terrorism.

One of the biggest fears here is that the terrorist campaign will provoke Moslem civilians into mass reprisals against European and plunge Algeria into a new bloodbath. Moslems already were getting restive and the first mass Moslem-European clash since the cease-fire last March 19 erupted yesterday.

Both De Gaulle and Pompidou met yesterday with Christian Fouchet, the French high commissioner in Algeria, who made a surprise flying visit to Paris to discuss new security measures. Fouchet also met with Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe.

Second Reading Progressing on Schedule

Con-Con Hopes to Adjourn on Time

LANSING (UPI) — The completion on time of the first day of second reading for proposals at the constitutional convention has raised hopes of meeting a proposed May 11 adjournment despite a mountain of work remaining.

Six proposals of the education committee were on the second reading calendar for today. Education Committee Chairman Alvin M. Boutley, R-Oakwood, told delegates that he hoped to wrap these up in the morning session.

If it is possible delegates would return to unfinished first reading matters still pending. They were warned of the likelihood of a night session.

Still lacking first consideration was a controversial section dealing with the state's powers of eminent domain plus a handful of proposals from the committee on up laws calling for it.

"We must pick these up where we can squeeze a little time out of the second reading requirements," Rules Committee Chairman Richard C. Van Dusen, R-Birmingham, said. "For this reason I suggest that delegates be prepared for a night session as we have had for the past several Wednesday nights."

After a slow start yesterday delegates dispatched the nine local government sections in rapid order.

HOME-RULE SECTION

The most difficulty had been expected with the compromise section providing for county home rule but only if the legislature set up laws calling for it.

Home rule partisans fought a stiff battle for a self-executing provision in the constitution when the matter was up, on first reading and Charles L. Folio, D-Escanaba, offered a self-executing proposal again. It was swiftly defeated, 10-7, and the compromise carried, 106-21.

The hot potato turned out to be the section dealing with the powers of cities and villages.

Legislative Powers Committee Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., R-Pleasant Ridge, offered an amendment, which had been skipped over on first reading, to concentrate wage and hour powers over employees within local governments.

The proposals would have made unconstitutional state laws governing the working conditions of firemen and policemen.

The issue carried after debate was limited to 30 minutes by a 65-54 vote. A move to extend the debate and reconsider the matter resulted in another approval of the provision by a 64-63 vote.

A plea that fire and police officers needed special legislative protection because of the nature of their jobs apparently had fallen on deaf ears.

A short time later, however, delegates returned to the touchy matter, agreed to a slight change and then killed the whole proposal on an 84-43 vote which wiped out all previous action.

Ask Parents Help to Stop Stealing Fad

BRISTOL, Va. (UPI) — Police appealed to parents yesterday to aid them in the investigation of a series of shoplifting thefts by as many as 200 boys and girls in this Virginia-Tennessee border city.

The groups, ranging in age from 12 to 18 years, apparently consider shoplifting "a bid or luck," said Police Chief Mark Kline of Bristol, Tenn. "It's no luck to us. Stealing is no joke and police will not treat it as a joke."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING FOR persons living in or owning property in the Central Business District of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, to be held at the City of Pontiac, Michigan, on the 20th day of May, 1962, at 8:00 P.M. at the City Hall, 200 Park Street, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Pontiac City Commission is the Local Public Agency authorized to undertake the urban renewal project which is identified by the following general boundary description, on the west, by Western Railroad and Cass Avenue, on the east, by Saginaw Street, on the south, by College Street extended, and on the north, by the City of Pontiac. The accompanying map, accurately and under the public authority.

The Pontiac City Commission has filed this public hearing for the purpose of considering a proposal to undertake a development plan for industrial, commercial and residential areas in the Central Business District Area, City of Pontiac, Michigan, under State Act 244, P.A. 1949, as amended, and local laws, with special financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. The urban renewal plan proposed the acquisition of land in the project area, the demolition or removal of buildings and improvements, the installation, construction or reconstruction of streets, sidewalks, and other site improvements, the development or redevelopment by private enterprise or public agencies as authorized by law.

The procedures for acquiring property and for relocating displaced individuals, families and businesses will also be under consideration.

The Pontiac City Commission will afford any interested person or organization an opportunity to express their opinion of the urban renewal plan.

Meeting held and a formal description of the Urban Renewal Plan are available from the Public Information Office, City Planning and Urban Renewal Department, located on the 2nd floor, City Hall, 200 Park Street from 8:30 a.m. through 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Frame Home Partially Burns; Damage $4,000

A fire started by faulty electrical wiring gutted the second floor of a two-story frame home at 43 Ellwood Ave. early today, causing damages estimated at $4,000. No one was injured.

The owner, Mrs. Jessie Williams, and her son were on the first floor of the home when the fire broke out about 4 a.m.

Firemen had the blaze extinguished in an hour.

Flames burned through the roof over a second floor bathroom and destroyed the interior of a hallway and bedroom on the same floor, according to firemen. There also was smoke and water damage to the first floor.

Fire Marshall Charles Metz said improperly installed electrical wiring in the attic portion of the second floor had caused the blaze. Metz estimated damage to the building at $2,500 and the loss of contents at $1,500. The home and contents were insured.

Don't You Believe It! Get True Facts, Ignore Beliefs About Our Food

Misconceptions, fallacies and age-old superstitions are among the greatest threats to the nutritional well-being of many Americans. Nutritional misconceptions adversely alter food purchasing and eating habits. Too often they make the housewife a prime target for the pitch of the modern snake oil salesman with his alfalfa, watercress and 32 ingredient capsules which do little to improve nutrition and much to upset the monthly budget.

Here are but a few of the common nutritional concepts which are based on belief, rather than fact:

Belief: Certain foods, such as blackstrap molasses and yogurt, will prolong life and youth.

Fact: There is no known miracle food. A careful varied selection of foods is the best insurance known for a long, healthy life. Blackstrap molasses is the dark syrup remaining after the thick extraction of sugar from raw cane. It contains small amounts of vitamins and minerals. Yogurt, which is a cultured milk product, contains only the vitamins and minerals which were present in the original milk source.

Belief: Aluminum cooking utensils are harmful to foods.

Fact: Constant experimental observations have not uncovered any evidence of harm in aluminum cooking utensils. The American Cancer Society has reported that aluminum cooking utensils do not contaminate food or "in any way contribute to the development of cancer or any other disease." Cooking practices, rather than pots and pans, can destroy the nutrients in foods.

Belief: Synthetic vitamins are less powerful than natural ones.

Fact: Vitamins which are manufactured synthetically are chemically and nutritionally identical to naturally occurring vitamins. Scientists have been able to duplicate the molecular structure and chemical formulas and through synthesis have copied, and even improved upon, nature.

Belief: Soil depletion has produced vitamin and mineral-poor foods which, in turn, cause malnutrition.

Fact: According to a spokesman of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, "The composition of the soil has very little effect on the composition of the plants grown on it." The quality of the soil on which food is grown has a definite effect on the quantity, but little effect on the quality of the crop.

Belief: Carotenes don't count when dieting.

Fact: The number of calories ingested has a direct relationship to the weight loss or gain. The best approach to a dieting program is a change in eating habits built around a diet balanced in vitamins, minerals and other essential nutrients, and containing a calorie quota low enough to produce a small but continuing weight loss. The calorie quota is best determined by your physician, who will consider your age, level of activity, and health status.

Belief: Multivitamin supplements increase appetite and should be avoided when dieting.

Fact: Multiple vitamin supplements have no known effect on appetite. Most tablets contain no more calories than a cup of black coffee. Supplements are designed solely to provide insurance against vitamin inadequacies, a factor to be considered in any diet program.

Belief: Raw vegetable juices can prevent or cure disease.

Fact: The juice of vegetables have no more nutrients than they did before they were extracted. Vegetables alone are excellent sources of essential nutrients and should be included in the daily diet. There is no scientific evidence for such claims as: celery juice aids digestion and helps relieve rheumatism; carrot juice improves the complexion; parsley juice is a body-building tonic; garlic juice reduces high blood pressure; white radish and lemon juices aid in preventing gall bladder attacks.

Watch John H. Rousselet

California Vote to Be Birch Weathervane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Watch test of public sentiment about the California's June 5 primary for a controversial John Birch Society.

Don't forget!

A Plumrose Danish Ham in every Easter basket!

It's Denmark's finest—tender, lean, juicy. Feast on it baked and glazed. Delicious Easter dinner! Enjoy it cold. Delicious supper! And so easy. Ready-cooked, no bone, no waste, no refrigeration. 1 lb., 2 lb., and 3 lb. sizes. Other Plumrose products: Canadian Style Bacon • Picnics • Pork Shoulders • Canned Sliced Bacon • Cocktail Sausages • Deviled Ham

Three members of the right-wing anti-Communist group are asking Republican voters to nominate them for Congress.

Two are incumbents who face men with no political experience. Because of this they are favored to win re-election, and victory for them would not necessarily mean a vote of approval for the Birch Society.

The third race is in a newly created district where there is no incumbent. The Birch Society man who has never held public office faces the former mayor of one of the suburban cities in the district. If the Birch man wins, observers say, much will be due to the considerable Birch Society strength in the district.

The man insiders are watching most closely is Rep. John H. Rousselet, Republican from the 25th district, the one former Vice President Richard M. Nixon served when he was in Congress.

RENOUNCED BY NIXON

Rousselet, 32, was a personal friend and political protégé of Nixon until Rousselet announced he was a member of the Birch Society.

Then Nixon, who is running for governor of California, said: "There is no place on the Republican ticket for a candidate who seeks or accepts the support of the John Birch Society."

The other pro-Birch incumbent is Edgar Hiestand, a veteran of 66 who rolled into office with the Eisenhower tide in 1952. Hiestand has said he is a member of the society but has not made it an issue the way Rousselet has.

He has not, for instance, deliberately baited known Birch foes as Rousselet did last November when he publicly invited Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown to attend a society meeting.

Brown, a candidate for re-election, gave a foretaste of what Birch supporters can expect from Democrats in fall campaigning in his reply.

"It is absolutely clear to me from the mail I receive from members of your society and from the published statements of its leader (Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass.) that it is anachronistic in nature and antagonistic to the ideals of a well ordered Democracy... The strength of America lies in people who engage in free and open debate, not in conspiratorial discussions of such absurd views as those of Mr. Welch which hold that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is a conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy, or that Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached for adhering to the dictates of law rather than to the dictates of a self-appointed elite."

Republican party leaders have been hesitant to endorse the three Birch men. All three come for districts in which Democrats outnumber Republicans almost two to one, and party leaders figure the "Bircher" label might make the tough job of winning in Democratic strongholds even tougher.

Rousselet has never said why he deliberately gave Brown an opportunity to attack the society, but observers point out it gave Rousselet a chance to make a public break with Welch.

Government Should Give Help to the Middle-Aged

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The government must safeguard the whooping crane and the bald eagle.

The governments has programs to protect the young and soften the last years of the old.

The government has programs to aid the manufacturer and help the farmer.

Name any group in America and the government has bought up something to do for it.

Every group, that is, except one—the middle-aged.

Middle-aged people make up the great forgotten class of this country. Uncle Sam remembers them only at income tax time, when he puts a memorable hand in their pocket.

GREATEST RESOURCE

This governmental neglect of the middle-aged is hard to understand when you consider they are one of the nation's great natural resources—as important in their way as iron ore, lumber or the corn crop.

Middle-aged people hold most of the votes, pay most of the bills, and do far more than their fair share of the national working.

If all the middle-aged people in America went on strike and did nothing but sit on their hands for a month, civilization as we know it would crumble like a fallen cookie.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Realizing their own key importance in the scheme of things, more and more thoughtful middle-aged people are beginning to ask, "When is the government going to do something for us?"

The problem is—What can be done?

Obviously, it would be impractical for the government to provide a federal sanctuary for the middle-aged, as it has done for the whooping crane. Middle-aged people simply do not thrive in a wilderness swamp.

THIS A WAY

There are too many of them all so, it must be admitted, for the government to reward them with a bonus for merely being alive. That would bankrupt everybody else.

But here are a few things Congress might do to foster, sustain, develop, encourage and protect the middle-aged:

Pass a law making middle-aged respectable. One of its provisions would require the young to salute or hold their hats over their hearts whenever anyone between the ages of 40 and 65 passes by.

BOON TO MEN

Pass a law making all bald-headed, paunchy men irresistible.

Pass a law making all women with dyed hair and bifocal glasses utterly, utterly charming.

Pass a law insuring absolute quiet whenever a middle-aged person decides he has something to say.

Pass a law giving free parking spaces to middle-aged motorists.

and providing a Boy Scout at every crossing to help steer middle-aged pedestrians safely across the street.

Pass a law making it a federal offense to laugh at, interrupt, annoy, worry or harass a middle-aged person in any manner whatsoever.

Let Congress establish legislation such as this and to one who reached middle-age would no longer have to feel like he had committed a crime; it would be a downright privilege, and people would fight for the chance to be over 40.

Anyway, it's an idea.

Kent County to Sponsor Salk Building Drive

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Kent County's chapter of the National Foundation announced yesterday it will sponsor a building drive June 1-15, separate from the annual March of Dimes, to raise money for a research institute to be headed by Dr. Jonas Salk.

The campaign is part of a national drive to obtain $15 million for the proposed Salk Institute for biological studies near La Jolla, Calif.

HE GREW HAIR

(Advertisement)

Before Erickson Treatment

A Few Months Later

Mr. T. A. Malton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for an interview with the Erickson representative—and he grew his hair in only a few months with the exclusive home method.

Erickson HAIR and SCALP SPECIALISTS

World's Largest Home Treatment System

Will be in Pontiac, Waldron Hotel, 36 E. Pike, RE 5-6168

Tomorrow, Thurs., April 19 Only

The Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists' District Director, Mr. A. C. Erickson on his regularly scheduled visit, will be at the Waldron Hotel between 12:00 and 8:00 p.m. Every hair-worried person should take advantage of this great opportunity.

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Thousands have reported satisfaction from the Erickson Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? Anyway it costs you nothing to come in and learn how thousands have been helped by the years of Erickson experience plus the wonderful opportunity for help it offers. Just go to the Waldron Hotel in Pontiac on Thursday, April 19 only, between 12:00 m. and 8:00 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for Mr. Erickson. He will do the rest.

Interviews are given in private. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

Hopless Cases Refused

Erickson Specialists will accept only clients whose hair will respond to treatment. They cannot help individuals who are sick, bald or the majority of cases of baldness, and excessive hair loss, called male pattern baldness, where no treatment, including the Erickson method, is of any value. Therefore, Erickson will continue their policy of refusing all hopeless cases. The person shown above does not have variant of this great opportunity.

Senate Reviews Once-Dead Bill

Would Require Agency Rules Be Approved by Legislature

LANSING (AP)—The Senate took a long look at corpses of two bills it killed, decided to breathe new life into one and bury the other a second time.

The measure twice killed would have given delegates to county political conventions more say in electing their county officers.

The bill given a new lease on life would require legislative approval of rules set up by state agencies.

Political considerations were behind both actions taken yesterday.

Rep. Russell H. Strange Jr., R-Clare has persistently introduced the bill that would give county delegates more power to select their county chairman and other officers. This would mean the candidates for county and legislative office would have to give up their present rule over such selections.

The measure has the support of both the Democratic and Republican state central committees.

The Senate voted overwhelming for reconsideration.

On a second try, it was killed again 16-14, two votes short of the 18 necessary for passage.

Those who voted first for consideration, but then switched, pointed out that the house was asked for appointment of a committee to study such matters as this hot political issue.

The veto bill would give the legislature absolute power over the rule-making authority of various state departments. It was beaten once by a 17-14 vote.

The measure passed 19-12 the second time around.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Gail Handy, R-Eau Claire, would require the legislative approval before any rule by a state administrative agency became effective.

Angry Widower Kills Greek Premier's Doctor

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Constantine Caramanlis' personal physician, Dr. Nicolas Yannopoulos, was shot and killed today in one of Athens' main squares.

Police said the killer, a 35-year-old barber named Stephanos Sigouratos, was angry because his wife died after Yannopoulos operated on her. The 33-year-old doctor was chief surgeon at Greece's big general hospital.

Group Drafting Party Principles

GOP Committee to Hear Rockefeller

By JACK BEEL.
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate House committee drafting a proposed statement of Republican principles met the views of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York today on major domestic and foreign policies.

Rockefeller, touching bases with all available Republicans, is expected to get a favorable reception from the policy makers for his latest theme that Republicans are wasting time looking for liberal or conservative solutions to the nation's problems.

He has been bearing down on the note in what is regarded as an effort to quiet conservative opposition not only to his re-election as governor of New York but his expected bid for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Rockefeller has been tagged as a liberal in the minds of many of his party members.

Two ARMBRANDS' He told a Republican women's conference yesterday, "People who go around wearing an arm band looking for a liberal solution or a conservative solution are merely binding themselves to the realities of the situation. It is like the man who says 'Don't confuse me with the facts; my mind is made up.'"

Despite this disclaimer of any label, Rockefeller's cure for some of the country's ills remains too liberal for some Republicans.

A case in point is his espousal of a program for medical care for the elderly financed by Social Security taxes. Except for an option for beneficiaries to choose cash, this parallels President Kennedy's plan, which a majority of

Science at Work

By The Associated Press
A tricky virus, rats on the bottle, bad weather in space and why things stick together are subjects for science at work.

ONE MAN'S COLD
The same virus which causes a type of severe cold in humans has been found to cause tumors in hamsters. The culprit is an adenovirus, first isolated by researchers tracking down the epidemics of colds that beset soldiers early in barracks life.

Now U.S. soldiers are given a vaccine to protect them from the colds and the virus. The virus is only known to cause cold-type symptoms in humans. There is no evidence it causes cancer.

But in rats, one type of adenovirus (adenovirus 12) has caused cancer in hamsters when injected into the lungs, say Drs. John J. Trevisan and Yoshio Yabe of Baylor University.

The lung cancers are highly malignant, sometimes spread to the liver and can be transplanted into other animals.

BROTHER RAT
Male rats drink more alcoholic beverages than female rats, once they have both been introduced to drinking.

So reports Margaret L. Clay, University of Michigan psychologist. In seeking clues to alcoholism, she made drinkers out of laboratory rats, animals normally teetotalers.

Young rats, born to parents of flexible behavior, tended to drink more than rats born to parents with a more rigid behavior, Miss Clay said. Behavior was determined by tests.

The rats did more drinking when faced with distressing problems. But rats failed to become problem drinkers. In the first place they wouldn't drink enough to become stupefied. And second, they would not go too far out of their way for a drink if it was difficult to get.

STORMY WEATHER
Space pilots may have to check up on the weather on the sun before venturing into space. Bad weather on the sun could be a matter of life or death.

When solar flares—great eruptions—break out on the surface of the sun, solar storms unleash showers of high energy particles—radiation—into space.

Man may have to try predicting when such storms will occur, explained Dr. Carl Von Kenschitzki of Lockheed-California Co. Unprotected in a spacecraft, a man could receive a fatal dose of radiation in only a brief exposure.

Yet enough lead shielding to protect an entire spacecraft would be too heavy to lug into space.

It might be possible to have a special protection compartment in the spacecraft for space pilots to duck into when they know a storm is coming.

The activity of the sun's surface seems to follow 11-year cycles.

At the sun's equator one time around takes only 27 days, while at its poles one complete turn takes 30 days, Von Kenschitzki said.

Waterford Dems Plan Economic Discussion
Waterford's Democratic Club will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday in the CAI Building to discuss proposals for the economic development of Michigan.

Guest speaker will be Ralph T. Johnson of Oak Park. Johnson is director of investigation for the Michigan Corporation Securities Commission in Detroit.

One of the foreign observers who saw a Federal military balloon in the air near Richmond in 1962 was Count Von Zepplin, who later built the famous dirigibles. He was an observer for Prussia.

Waterford Twp. Slates Summer Rec Program
The summer recreation program in Waterford Township is scheduled to get under way June 23, according to recreation director Robert Lawver.

Full-day playgrounds will be operated at Domesboro, Springham, Drayton Plains and Leggett schools. Half-day activities are slated for Cooley, Lutes, Burt, Grayson, Montclair, Waterford Village, Schoolcraft and Waterford Center schools.

Five lakes have been tentatively selected for the swim program. They are Elizabeth, Oakland, Lotus, Williams and Watkins.

The day camp program will start July 9.

The recreation department will operate on a budget of $46,000.78 during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Of this total $36,438.26 will be appropriated on an equal basis by the school board and township board. The remaining $10,222.50 will be derived from activities income.

BAKED TABLET HAM
Place ham, fat side up in shallow baking pan, on rack if possible. Bake in slow (325°) oven, uncovered. IGA Tablette ham is a tenderized ham and has merely to be heated through. Remove from oven 20 minutes before completely baked. With sharp knife, score fat into diamond shapes. Insert chop into center of each diamond.
To glaze ham, spread entire surface with mixture of prepared mustard, brown sugar, and honey. Return to oven (325°) until surface is glazed, about 30 minutes. Baste a few times to make sure glaze catches. Serve hot with mashed or boiled potatoes and your choice of vegetable.

Shelby Twp. OKs Utica-Detroit Water Deal

Clears Final Obstacle to Construction of Line

Utica residents were looking forward today to having Detroit water on tap by September following removal last night of the last obstacle to construction of a connecting water line.

The Shelby Township Board last night gave its approval to the contract between Utica and Detroit following an agreement worked out with Utica officials on the future of water lines served by Utica but located in the township.

Detroit had held up construction of a water-line from 17-mile Road in Sterling Township to Utica pending approval of the contract by Shelby and Sterling townships. Sterling gave its approval two months ago.

Utica Mayor Fred H. Beck said today that Detroit water should be available to residents of his city by September, if no further delays occur.

Win Interlochen Scholarships

Three Romeo High Boys Chosen for Summer Music Camp

ROMEO — Three Romeo High School band members, all boys, last night were named winners of 2-week summer scholarships to the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

They were Marc Kost, a senior who plays the cornet; Robert Agne, a junior, saxophone; and William Nichols, a senior, clarinet.

Three other band members were chosen as alternates. In order, they were Carol Burgess, a senior, cornet; Lynn Warren, a junior, cornet; and David Engel, a senior, bass.

Announcement of the winners and alternates was made at the 37th annual Interlochen Music Scholarship Concert that featured the concert band and mixed chorus, both directed by E. C. Ojala.

The six chosen by a representative group of citizens and a vote of their fellow musicians. Concert proceeds plus contributions from area organizations, business firms and individuals provide the money for the scholarships.

3 Face Arraignment on Gambling Charge

Three Royal Oak Township residents charged with maintaining and operating a gambling establishment will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court May 14.

Catherine R. Peterson, 26, John Marshall, 33, both of 2070 Westview St., and Benny Fields, 42, of 2163 Glenview St., were released on $200 bond each following their arraignment before Justice of Peace Lennie C. Cash.

The three were arrested following a raid by Sheriff Deputies at the Westview address. Twenty-seven others were arrested in the March 3 raid.

Churches to Join for Observance of Good Friday

OXFORD — Good Friday Open Services will be held here this year from 1 to 2:45 p.m. at the Oxford Methodist Church. Other participating churches will be the Free Methodist and Immanuel Congregational.

Meditation talks will be given by Rev. Fred Clark of the Methodist Church; Rev. Alvin Eddy, retired Methodist minister; Rev. Harold West, Free Methodist Church; and Rev. Anthony Nelson, Immanuel Congregational Church.

Mrs. George Wood, representing the Oxford Methodist Club, has arranged for musical numbers by the choir from each church, by a quartet and by a soloist, James Cockcroft.

Organist will be Mrs. Elva Wilcox.

After necessary expenses are deducted, the offering will go to Church World Relief for refugee relief work.

Independence Planning 5 Precincts Instead of 3

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Members of the Township Board last night passed a resolution increasing the number of voting precincts from three to five.

Township Clerk Howard Altman, who prepared the new precinct map for consideration of the board, said the adjustment was made to come within the 10 registered voter limitation. The map and a copy of the resolution will be submitted to the county clerk.

Independence Planning 5 Precincts Instead of 3

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Members of the Township Board last night passed a resolution increasing the number of voting precincts from three to five.

Township Clerk Howard Altman, who prepared the new precinct map for consideration of the board, said the adjustment was made to come within the 10 registered voter limitation. The map and a copy of the resolution will be submitted to the county clerk.

CONSUMER MARKETING EXPERTS—Chatting at dinner prior to a public symposium dealing with protection of food at all levels of handling are these four specialists in the field. They are, from left, Harold Schmidt of Ortonville, vice chairman of the Oakland County Marketing Information for Consumers Council; Mrs. Josephine Lawry, county extension agent in consumer marketing information; James McCallum of Pontiac, council chairman; and George Stachwick of Lansing, state project leader. The symposium was held at Lincoln Junior High School, Pontiac.

$160,365 From Twist Drill

Hospital Gets Funds

ROCHESTER — National Twist Drill and Tool Co. employees in their in-plant solicitation for the Rochester Unit, Crittenton General Hospital Building Fund have pledged $160,365 on a payroll deduction plan, according to an announcement made today by Industrial Division Co-chairman Clarence J. Cadieux.

"We are proud indeed of the community spirit and positive response to a real area need demonstrated by National Twist Drill employees," said Cadieux.

Chairman of the company's in-plant campaign was D. E. Tolhurst.

"The $160,365 pledged by our employees on a minimum payroll-deduction basis will be increased when nonparticipating employees are called on at home," said Tolhurst.

Thus the sum total of the in-plant employee solicitation, together with the $250,000 corporate contribution of National Twist Drill and the site for the new Crittenton General Hospital, appraised at $100,000, is $510,365.

Budget in Shelby Twp. Helps Firemen, Police

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A 1962-63 total budget of $384,248 featuring improvements in fire and police departments has been approved by the Shelby Township Board.

Included are a new dispatching system for the fire and police departments, pay raises for firemen and policemen and purchase of a fire department rescue truck for both departments.

The new budget, some $100,000 higher than the current 1961-62 budget, also provides for a $19,000 road improvement program.

The total budget includes a general fund budget of $243,555, a fire department budget of $108,094 and a police department budget of $32,599.

Fire and police departments will share the $155,000 cost of the new dispatching system, which will hire four persons between 40 and 65 to handle phone and radio calls for both departments.

Under the present system, termed "a bad situation" by Township Supervisor L. E. Evans, one of the two full-time firemen on duty at the main fire station must remain at the telephone and radio.

Firemen received a four per cent salary increase under the new budget, while an across-the-board pay raise of $200 per year went to the seven-man police force.

GMC LOWEST

An allocation of $3,670 was made for purchase of the fire department.

CAP Cadets Plan to Sell 10,000 Boxes of Candy

Boxes of candy will be sold by the Civil Air Patrol, International Group 630, beginning Friday to raise funds for uniforms and expenses of going to camp for two weeks this summer.

CAP cadets will sell the candy boxes at local shopping centers for $1 a box. The group plans to sell 10,000 boxes during the drive.

Mrs. Lance Nixon Linda Moehliman Weds

LAKE ORION — White snapdragons, red roses and white carnations graced the altar of the Lake Orion Methodist Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Linda Lee Moehliman and Lance Robert Nixon. Rev. Albert B. Johns read the candidaught service.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Moehliman.

The bride wore a lace-trimmed gown of ruffled sheer and lace featuring a fitted-lace bodice with bateau neckline and long, tapered sleeves. A lace regum adorned the bouffant skirt.

Her velvet headband held a double, shoulder-length veil of French illusion, and she carried Better Times red roses and white carnations in a Hogarth curve arrangement.

Mrs. Robert E. Moehliman was matron of honor for her sister-in-law, Bridgette Moehliman. Caroline Biskley of Utica and Kim Nixon, sister of the bridegroom.

Serving as best man was Rex Furell of Pontiac. Ushers were Francis Thompson of Pontiac and Art Burney of Lakeville.

The church gown of the bride was the setting for the reception that followed the nuptials. Upon their return from their honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds will reside at 38 S. Washington St., Oxford.

Point Creek Methodists Plan Easter Breakfast

Point Creek Methodist Church will hold its annual Easter breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m. Sunday at the Oakland Township Hall.

Along with the breakfast, which will be open to the public, will be a service of Easter candy with proceeds going into the church's fund.

Walled Lake Council Elects New Members to Top Posts

By JIM LONG

WALLED LAKE — Two of the city's newest council members were elected mayor and mayor pro tem last night and its county supervisor of nearly eight years failed to be reappointed.

It had taken the council three meetings to decide the shift in control and name Louis E. James as mayor and Wendell Kellogg as mayor pro tem.

Councilman Marshall E. Taylor, the city's representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors since the city incorporated and mayor last year, was nominated for reappointment. He lost out, however, to E. V. Mercer, a former city councilman, who was defeated for re-election a year ago.

The organizational meeting was held prior to the regular session of the council. It had been adjourned twice last week because of a deadlock in electing a mayor.

TOOK 83 BALLOTS

The council resumed voting on the 73rd ballot last night. It took another 10 ballots to make the choice of mayor. Only two ballots were necessary to select Kellogg as mayor pro tem.

James said it was "the greatest honor I have ever received." He said he would serve one year as mayor, the same length term he was elected to since he replaced fourth in votes for the four expiring council posts.

Owner of Club Mute Over Tax

Carl G. Ruebelman of Indianwood in Court on Evasion Charge

ORION TOWNSHIP — Carl G. Ruebelman of 230 Cayuga Road, owner of the Indianwood Golf and Country Club, stood mute on charges of income tax evasion in U.S. District Court in Detroit yesterday.

"NOT GUILTY"

A plea of not guilty was entered for Ruebelman and he was released on personal bond of $3,000. No trial date was set.

Ruebelman was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on two counts of income tax evasion.

One accuses him of failing to report some $11,000 in income on his 1957 tax return and the other charges him with filing a false partnership return for the Joseph Schaefer Co., 2118 Mack Ave., Detroit.

Ruebelman, who holds a two-thirds interest in the firm, was accused of illegally deducting $26,000 in expenses on the partnership's 1957 return. The $17,000 he is accused of failing to report on his personal return represents his two-thirds interest in the $26,000.

He reported an income of $22,000 when he should have reported $49,000, according to Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. William Merrill. He paid $1,558 in 1957 income taxes. He should have paid $3,840, Merrill said.

May Ask City Employees to Live in Community

WALLED LAKE — A proposed ordinance that would require city employees to become city residents will be considered by the City Council at its May 1 meeting.

The proposal was presented by Councilman Clyde Motor last night but was tabled until more information can be obtained on what other cities require of its employees.

Motor submitted the proposal after learning that about 60 per cent of the salaries paid out to city workers went to those living outside the city limits.

Motor proposed that all full-time city employees be required to move into the city within one year after the time they were hired unless permitted otherwise by action of the council.

The proposal also would affect present employees.

Opposition to the plan was voiced by several councilmen who said they did not believe it was fair because there could be no guarantee how long an individual might work for the city.

Councilman Marshall E. Taylor said the ordinance would be "unjust and a burden to the employee."

"We have employees who have worked for the city for years and they shouldn't have to sacrifice their homes," Taylor said.

To Discuss Organizing Jaycee Unit

CLARKISTON — Young men in the Clarkiston-Independence Township area will meet tonight at 8 at the Clarkiston Cafe to further plans for a new Junior Chamber of Commerce chapter for the community.

Results of an initial meeting held this month indicated that interest was high in establishing a local Jaycee chapter. Members of the Pontiac Jaycees are guiding the new group and James Rutledge, president of the Pontiac organization, conducted the initial meeting.

Selection of a nominating committee for officers, the naming of a by-laws committee and discussion of civic projects to be undertaken will take place at tonight's meeting.

All interested men between 21 and 25 inclusive are invited to attend the session.

Bonnie Sue Peters Plans May Wedding

ORTONVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Marshall E. Peitchard, 114 James St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lance Cal. Bonnie Sue Peters to Staff Sgt. Robert J. Coulter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Coulter of Somerville.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are in the U. S. Marine Corps, stationed in Arlington, Va.

The wedding date has been set for May 15. The newlyweds will live in Arlington after a honeymoon at Cape Cod, Mass.

Breakfast, Skit Set Tomorrow at Rochester Church

ROCHESTER — A Holy Week Breakfast served by the Women's Fellowship will begin Maundy Thursday observances tomorrow at the First Congregational Church here.

Scheduled for 10 to 11 a.m., the breakfast will feature a skit entitled "Where Was the Garden?" by Mrs. Arthur Dewey.

A skit, "The Seamless Robe," will be presented by the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship, directed by Alva Williams, at 8:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall following 8 p.m. communion services.

Easter Sunday services will begin at 8 a.m. with a Sunrise Service in the church and a "Resurrection" followed by a breakfast and two regular services at 9:30 and 11 a.m. by Rev. Robert H. Jacobson.

Rev. Jacobson's Easter sermon will be entitled, "Life Is Open at Both Ends."

In Independence Twp. Rites Launch Church

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Ground has been broken for the new Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church to be built on the corner of Maybree and Winell roads here.

Some 70 members and friends of the church were present for the ground breaking as Rev. Lyle H. Howson, pastor of the Pontiac Free Methodist Church and chairman of the East Michigan Conference Board of Evangelism, turned the first shovel of dirt.

Rev. Thomas E. Dunn, pastor of the church, welcomed the group.

Those in attendance were then led by Edwin Stevens in singing "How Firm a Foundation." Rev. Dale Woods, district superintendent of the Pontiac and Lakeview districts of the Free Methodist Church, spoke on the significance of the occasion.

Members of the church board of trustees, Keith Pratt, Edwin Stevens, Paul Ragatz and Marvin Stevens, also participated in the groundbreaking ceremony.

Construction of the first unit is scheduled to begin soon, Rev. Dunn said today. Provision also has been made for a larger unit in the future when the first building will become the fellowship hall and educational building.

Avondale Plan Calls for Improvements to All Facilities, New Unit

Improvements at all Avondale schools and construction of one new elementary school are included in the proposed $1.29 million bond issue to be presented to Avondale School District voters June 11.

The program calls for new classrooms and multipurpose rooms at the Elmwood, Stiles and Stone elementary schools and new classrooms, a multipurpose room and cafeteria at the Auburn Heights Elementary School.

Addition of classrooms and a cafeteria to the junior high school would also be part of the bond issue, along with drafting and mechanical arts classrooms for the senior high school.

Construction of a new elementary school would be scheduled for 1965, with location yet to be determined.

Centreville Man, 65, Runs Power Plant for Fun

His Hobby: Generating Big Sparks of Electricity

By BOB STEPHENSON
Kalamazoo Gazette
Writer for The AP
CENTREVILLE — As

lubby, Lawrence McClish generates electricity. Not just a spark or two, but enough to light an entire village.

McClish, 65, has possibly one of the most powerful pastimes in the country.

He owns and operates a hydro-electric power plant for fun. Some people enjoy collecting, salt shakers, others find pleasure in model building; McClish gets a kick out of generating 200 kilowatts.

Nearly three years ago the retired Kalamazooan bought an abandoned power plant, complete with dam, on the Little Prairie River.

Since then he has transformed the broken down ruins into a vibrating, amazing exhibit of power.

Two water-operated generators, one capable of producing 125 kilowatts and the other 75, purr constantly in the now neat little building. The machinery is as well-shined as grandma's parlor stove and the floors are as clean as a hospital's.

To the layman, who thinks it's an accomplishment to match a bulb out of the dining room chandelier without getting a shock, McClish's plant is as professional appearing as the works at Grand Coulee Dam.

But in a way the McClish power plant is not the end, only the means. The current from the massive generators is used in the—for a lack of a formal name—McClish museum of prime movers.

In a 30-by-108-foot concrete block building, 40 yards from the power plant McClish has collected enough generators, electric motors and historical odds and ends to make any museum curators envious.

The current he generates is devoted solely to lighting and heating the still unfinished museum.

Here is a sample of what you'll be able to find in the museum when it opens:

—An 80- to 100-year-old reciprocating steam engine.

—A steam turbine-driven generator capable of turning out 300 kilowatts.

—A 30-horsepower reciprocating steam engine and generator.

—A natural gas-burning internal combustion 15 h.p. engine.

—Electric motors of all sizes, shapes and vintage.

—Ditto for generators.

Merely having the machines on display is not enough for McClish.

They've got to work to earn their keep.

"Take that engine," McClish says, indicating a huge machine. "You can set it up here. Maybe it has a piston missing. Nobody would know. But it wouldn't run."

"I would like to make this a place where people can come and see these machines in operation."

Paintstakingly restoring the relics is a full-time job for McClish.

It has been far from an inexpensive venture for McClish. He's not saying how costly his hobby is, but he bought the site from the village of Centreville, Mills and power plants of one sort or another had been located there since 1806.

Consumers Power Co. was the most recent user of the power plant.

Harvard-Radcliffe Dem Club Backs Kennedy Rival

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Young Democratic Club of Harvard University and Radcliffe College last night endorsed Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. over Harvard alumnus Edward M. Kennedy in their fight for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

McCormack, 35-year-old nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., is a graduate of Boston University Law School. Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, was graduated from Harvard and the University of Virginia Law School.

Placards Guilty to Crime Committed in the Jail

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Jim Kersey faces sentencing on a charge incurred after his arrival at Warren County jail to serve a three-day sentence for driving under the influence of liquor.

Kersey pleaded guilty yesterday to violating the penal code.

When he arrived at the jail last Friday, he was searched by Sheriff Donald Allen. He found a pint of liquor strapped to Kersey's leg.

Only about 12 per cent of passenger automobiles produced today are painted black, although as late as 1948 it was used on 25 per cent.

The two big generators came from the Three Rivers municipal plant. McClish paid $1,500 for the pair.

Much of the collection in the museum he accumulated over the last 50 years. When he finds a bargain, he can't resist.

For instance, in the museum McClish has a complete power board, motor-generator, switching panel, batteries and ringing equipment. A telephone technician has been helping him put it into working order.

The museum is built on the foundation of an old power plant. An overshot waterwheel mounted over the race outside the building adds a quaint touch. The wheel, incidentally, started its career as a fan in the forced-draft blower in a steam boiler plant.

Eventually McClish hopes to hook an 1879 generator to the wheel. He and his wife have quarters on the lower level. The kitchen, as you might expect, is equipped with electrical appliances. In one corner an ancient water-powered generator is still capable of kicking out a few watts with the turn of a valve.

McClish was born in Kalamazoo and his family moved to Mendon when he was a boy. There he started working in the power plant, which in three days operated only from dusk until midnight.

Later in life, in Kalamazoo, McClish worked as an electrician and radio repairman. He also serviced electrical equipment in local theaters. And during that time he was saving old wiring fixtures, light bulbs and odds and ends.

MUSEUM OF ANTIQUES

A box in his museum is full of antique light bulbs. There is a pair of Edison movie projectors which date before the 20th century.

Other historical relics in the collection include:

—Early sound equipment used for the first talking movies.

—Telephones dating from 1879.

—Early phonographs complete with cylindrical records.

—Arc street lamps, flat irons, cradles and even an ancient television set with a screen the size of the end of a shoebox.

When will McClish open his museum? He's not really sure.

"There's a lot of work to do. Maybe more work than I've got years," he says.

Planned is an addition to the museum to house a boiler for operating the various steam engines. Someday, McClish says, he would like to build a home for him and his wife across the river on the banks of the race.

Right now though, the museum and the power plant come first.

Individual Incomes Set Record in March

WASHINGTON (AP)—Individual incomes set a record in March, largely because of improved employment in the automobile and clothing industries.

The Commerce Department said yesterday that personal income in March was running at an annual rate of $65.3 billion, after making allowances for non-seasonal fluctuations. This was 20 million higher than February and 525 million above March 1961.

Of the March increase over February, $1.2 billion reflected an increase in wage and salary payments which hit an annual rate of $24.3 billion.

The largest payroll advance was in manufacturing, reflecting increased production of autos and wearing apparel. Most of the improvement mirrored rising employment, plus some increase in the average work week.

Bill Asks Medal From Kennedy for Bob Hope

WASHINGTON (AP)—A gold medal for comedian Bob Hope, to be presented by President Kennedy, would be authorized under a bill sponsored by Rep. D. S. Saund, D-Calif.

The medal would recognize Hope's role as an unofficial ambassador of good will in many trips abroad entertaining members of the armed forces and promoting world peace.

Saund said the bill has the support of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who offered him the first opportunity to introduce it. Hope is a part-time resident of Palm Springs, Calif., in Saund's congressional district.

An early form of "God Save the Queen" was written in 1619 by an organist named John Bull, but the Frogs, toads, newts and salamanders are the most common amphibians. They represent an intermediate stage of development between fish and reptiles.

Pleads Innocent to Kidnaping Girl, 3

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Carolyn Cain Beck, 19, of Muskegon, Mich., pleaded innocent to kidnaping charges in U.S. District Court yesterday.

Mrs. Beck is awaiting psychiatric examination. She is charged with the March 13 kidnaping of 3-year-old Sharon Henderson from her home in the Texas Panhandle town of Conway, 35 miles east of Amarillo. Mrs. Beck and the girl were picked up in a police roadblock at Grants on U.S. 66 March 14. Her trial is expected to start next month.

Airline Seeks New Route

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lake Central Airlines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday for authority to operate between Indianapolis and Detroit by way of Muncie-Anderson-New Castle and Fort Wayne, Ind., and Lima and Toledo, Ohio.

2 Red Defectors Back in Russia Hit U.S. Hounding

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Russians who quit political refuge in the West said today they decided to return home when U.S. intelligence agents tried to turn them into spies against their native land.

They told their stories at a news conference staged by the press department of the Soviet Foreign Ministry. One was Alexei Golub, 36, a biochemist who defected in the Netherlands last October while on a tour with his wife. His wife returned without him. Last month Golub was sent back to Moscow at his own request. The other was introduced as Nikolai Vokhmintsev, 33, an electrician who said he sought asylum at the U.S. Embassy in Rome while in Italy as a tourist.

Wild turkeys are distributed all the way from parts of Canada to the Central American countries.

How do you measure 30 years?

We at Osmun's have offered many values during the past three decades. During those years our friends have come to rely on an Osmun's sale as something special . . . above the ordinary in actual value received.

Today, that tradition remains as strong as ever. And here is what we mean.

Pictured above is the biggest Spring suit value in all of Pontiac. Our famous lightweight Martinelli 2-pants suits have been fine buys at $59.50 for years. But through a very fortunate purchase we were able to round up a special shipment at a very special price: $49.

This includes the justly famous Martinelli needlework, latest 1962 Spring shades, and comfortable 55% Dacron-45% worsted fabrics. And remember you pay nothing extra for the extra trousers.

Come in today. You'll find a high, wide, and handsome collection of these rich-looking Spring-weight suits waiting for you. We repeat: It's Pontiac's biggest value.

Special Note: With Easter just 4 days away, we will make all necessary alterations in time for you to wear your suit on Easter Sunday. Fair enough?

WHAT WAS THAT? — Jim Piersall, Washington's excitable outfielder, has some words for plate umpire Frank Umont when he called a 2nd strike on him in the 1st inning of Tuesday's game at Detroit. The fiery Senator fanned on the next pitch. The catcher is Dick Brown.

Tigers Please Scheffing in 9-2 Kamp

'Slower' Robinson Leads Chisox Win

By The Associated Press
Floyd Robinson, not a go-goer by Chicago White Sox standards, is off and running as the much-needed power hitter that Manager Al Lopez has sought to revitalize his sputtering attack of the past two seasons.

The 25-year-old San Diego, Calif., native doesn't burn up the bases as teammates Jim Landis and Luis Aparicio, but his red-hot bat has sent him to the top of the American League's early season runs batted in leaders with 13 and suddenly the Sox find the go-go-ing 1st order.

Robinson, who hit a nifty 310 as a rookie, is going along at a 500 clip at the start of his sophomore season and single-handedly nailed the Minnesota Twins 3-0 Tuesday with his second home run, a pair of doubles and seven runs batted in.

YANKS HOMER TWICE

And just as dynamic as Robinson's hitting was the New York Yankees approval of the reduced mileage to Baltimore's outfield fences, as the Yanks crashed a pair of home runs in whipping the Birds 8-3.

Dick Donovan pitched his second straight shutout over Boston, blanking the Red Sox for Cleveland 5-0 while Jim Bunning of Detroit shut out Washington 3-0, backed by four home runs. Kansas City spoiled the Los Angeles Angels debut in the new Chavez Ravine stadium with a 5-1 victory in other A.L. action.

Robinson, who hit 11 homers and had 59 RBI as a rookie, backed rookie Joe Mauer's hit pitching with a three-run, first-inning homer off loser Camilo Pascual, had a two-run double in the fifth and a three-run double in the ninth. He also had a single and now has 12 hits in 24 at bats for a .500 average.

SKOWRON HAS 3 RBIs

Baltimore moved in its distant outfield barrier during the winter and Bill Skowron took aim on the left field fence with a tie-breaking shot in the seventh. He also drove in three runs, while Boyer had two RBIs, one on his fifth inning homer, and Elston Howard also had a pair of RBIs. Jim Coates, who pitched four innings of hitless ball in relief of Whitey Ford, was the winner and reliever Dick Hall lost. Gus Triandos homered for Baltimore.

Donovan beat the Red Sox again with his second straight five-inning shutout. The little lefty had four hits and threw out a runner at the plate. Bill Monbouquette, who had a 12-inning, 4-0 victory over the Indians last week, was the loser.

Kansas City rookie John Wyatt, Jr., (1-1) gave only four hits until he tied in the sixth inning. Dan McDevitt and Bob Grim finished up Ken McBride lost and 3-1. Four of the A's runs were unearned as they scored twice in the third and fourth innings to overcome a 1-0 deficit.

Chicago tied a major league record by using five pitchers in the eighth inning of its game with Pittsburgh but couldn't stop the Pirates from rallying for six runs in the last two innings. Harvey Haddix, the last of four Pirate pitchers, was the sixth lefty to beat the Cubs this season.

SCHULTZ TAKES LOSS
Barney Schultz, third of seven

his left shoulder while making an off-balance throw in the sixth. The little lefty had used only four hits and, in his usual fine fielding style, already had six assists.

The Cubs finally broke through for two runs on Larker's homer in the sixth but the Mets got even with an unearned run in the eighth and Bell's homer in the ninth. The winning blow by Budin was hit off loser Herb McFord, who took over in the ninth after Hook left for a pinch hit. Jim Golden was the winner in relief.

Bucs Stay Unbeaten; Dodgers Win

Colts Defeat Mets

By The Associated Press
The eager Houston Colts have driven first blood in the battle of the have-nots in the National League.

After one week of play, the youthful Colts are scurrying along in fourth place, only two games off the pace, and the New York Mets still are looking for their first victory.

The two new clubs of the National League met for the first time Tuesday afternoon at the Polo Grounds with the Colts grabbing a 5-2 decision on a Don Buddin's three-run homer in the 11th inning.

COLTS SHOW POWER

The older Mets, with a veteran lineup of faded names, were supposed to be the long ball hitters. The Colts were reported to be a fiery band of line-drive single power for all their runs on Norm Larker's two-run homer and Buddin's winning blow. Gus Bell's homer that tied the score with two out in the ninth was the only explosion by the Mets, who have lost all five starts.

Pittsburgh rebounded from a five-run start by Chicago in the first inning and handed the Cubs their seventh straight defeat 10-4. It was the sixth victory for the unbeaten Pirates.

Los Angeles bombarded San Francisco's pitchers for eight runs in the early innings and held on for an 8-7 decision with Frank Howard and rookie Tim Lincecum hitting home runs.

MORE COLD WEATHER

A scheduled night game between St. Louis and Philadelphia was postponed because of cold weather. Cincinnati and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

Bobby Shantz and Jay Hook were hooked up in a fine scoreless duel at the Polo Grounds until Shantz suffered a catch in his left shoulder while making an off-balance throw in the sixth. The little lefty had used only four hits and, in his usual fine fielding style, already had six assists.

The Cubs finally broke through for two runs on Larker's homer in the sixth but the Mets got even with an unearned run in the eighth and Bell's homer in the ninth. Bunning Wins; Aided by Belts of Four Mates

Koline, Brown, Cash and Bruton Homer; Boros Slams Ball

DETROIT — It was just the type of game that delights Bob Scheffing the most — good pitching, timely hitting and help for the Detroit Tigers' hard core.

"This was the first time we looked like a ball club," exuded Scheffing after the Tigers made fast and decisive work of the Washington Senators yesterday, 9-2.

All Koline and Norm Cash — the hard-core hitters along with Rocky Colletto — smashed home runs. Jim Bunning, making his first start, delivered the Tigers' first complete game victory, doling out seven hits.

But what pleased Scheffing most was the punch provided by Billy Bruton, Dick Brown and Steve Boros. Bruton smashed a three-run homer and chipped in with a run-scoring single. Brown homered, drove in two runs and had two singles. Boros had a double and single.

"The three big guys can't do it alone," said Scheffing. "That's what I liked so much about it. Brown, Boros and Bruton have got to be here."

NO HITS FOR ROCKY
"We made nine runs and Colavito didn't get a hit. It's just last year when we got that last hit. Last year we even won when Mantle and Roger Maris don't hit."

Boros and Brown had been in a slump and hadn't hit safely this season until the Tigers landed into Washington's Benito Santos.

Brown had lost his first string catching job to Mike Roark until Scheffing decided to take him off the bench for a fresh change. Boros' long slump had Scheffing trying to trade for another third baseman for a while.

Brown's three hits came a day after he and Scheffing had looked at movies on last season's early games when the catcher was hitting so well.

It's Time of Year for Archers, Dogs

By DON VOGEL

About the only things going these days—between the close of ice fishing and the trout opener—are a few crow hunters, bow fishermen and dogs.

Every weekend there seems to be a field trial, obedience match or bench show for the canines.

Activity continues Saturday and Sunday at Highland with the Greater Detroit Bird Dog Club stakes. Two other field events are set for the Highland area.

On April 28-29 the John Hadaway Shooting Dog Classic will be held. The Cash Patterson Classic is scheduled May 5-6.

Dave Grubb, the Lake Orion dog trainer, will have some of his charges in all three trials. And a couple are good ones.

They are the Unchained Melody, an English Setter, owned by Dick Wilson, of Walled Lake, and Grubb's own pointer, the Prairie Breeze.

Hazardous, a pointer recently acquired by Wilson and handled by Grubb, is another possibility.

DERBY WINNER

Hazardous placed first in the derby last weekend at the Great Lakes Field Trial near Winnetka, Ind. Melody was first in open shooting in the same trial.

Wilson is a coach at the new North Farmington High School.

Boaters are running upstream along the eastern Great Lakes shore line. Cays are beginning to move to their spawning areas, too. This means that the bow and arrow boys will find it.

The dipnetters are getting frustrated—and so are the smelt. The silvery fish have moved closer to shore, according to commercial fishermen, and the runs are expected to begin this weekend.

A couple of warm days or a good warm rain will help the situation.

Perch are beginning to show up in streams and rivers flowing into Lakes St. Clair and Huron, but are on the small side. Larger perch are being taken in deep water.

The cool weather has sent the walleyes in the St. Clair River back to sailing.

A few anglers are beginning to venture out on Oakland County Lakes, but the fishing has been very slow. The pike opener April 29 should start things rolling again.

Crow hunters are beginning to have trouble finding the wily birds. Mating season has arrived and crows usually break away from the main group in pairs to set up housekeeping. The shooting will be spotty for the next two months.

HIGH PLACINGS

Some of the local winners at Sunday's Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club matches were Jerry Burkett, Pontiac, high waterman; Thomas Rutherford, Pontiac, top American water spaniel; Linda Armstrong, Pontiac, high German shorthaired pointer; and Patricia, was second.

Marge Reynolds, Pontiac, had the second highest retriever; Paul Lampkin, Waterford, third place golden; Mary Jane Page, Pontiac, second place Labrador retriever.

The third edition of the "Michigan Campground Guide" has been published.

Completely revised, this edition lists more than 800 Michigan campgrounds including 190 that are privately owned.

It can be purchased for $1 at newsstands, camping and sporting equipment stores, trailer dealers, or directly from the publishers. Address mail orders to Michigan Campground Guide, 128 East Michigan Ave., Battle Creek.

The Winchester-Western ammunition people are claiming the new process of enclosing a plastic sleeve around the shot charge in their shells will create a better pattern. The sleeve is supposed to hold the shot together until it leaves the barrel.

Duby Goes 200.440 in Miss U.S. I Hydro on Alabama Waters

GUNTERVILLE, Ala. (AP) — After almost two weeks of waiting for a break in the weather, Roy Duby of Detroit raced his Miss U.S. I Hydroplane to world record speeds for the kilometer and mile Tuesday. Part of his run on Gunterville Lake near this north Alabama town was made in a drizzle.

Following conference among officials, Duby's clocking was set at 200.440 miles per hour for one mile and 198.168 for one kilometer.

Duby's efforts were sanctioned by the American Powerboat Association.

His 1-mile speed of 200.440 compares with the old record of 192.001 m.p.h. set by Bill Muncey, driving a Miss Thriftway of Seattle, Wash.

Duby's 1-kilometer speed of 198.168 beat the old record of 185.329 m.p.h. set by Jack Regan, driving Hawaii Kai III of Seattle.

Pike Planted in Five Lakes by Department

Five inland lakes were recently planted with 1,200 adult northern pike under the Conservation Department's continuing program to revitalize fishing in waters where problems have developed.

The plantings totaled 600 pike in West Londo Lake, Isoc County; 150 in Stone Lake, Cass County; and 500 in Austin, West and Long Lakes, Kalamazoo County.

Austin Lake received 250 pike while West and Long Lakes got 150 and 100, respectively.

The fish were netted from the Keweenaw River in Bay County during spring spawning runs. They were captured and replanted before spawning to boost lake production in the lakes this spring.

All five lakes were chemically treated by the department in recent years to eliminate overcrowded conditions which had led to serious stunting among their fish populations.

This is the dramatic introduction to a 90-minute wildlife film being scripted and photographed in the Florida Everglades by a Michigan biologist.

Birds stretch noisy challenges. The new film is entitled "Intrusion." It will cover 600 years of history—starting with Ponce de Leon's search for the fountain of youth—in depicting civilization's encroachment upon Florida's wildlife.

The new film is entitled "Intrusion." It will cover 600 years of history—starting with Ponce de Leon's search for the fountain of youth—in depicting civilization's encroachment upon Florida's wildlife.

Jameson plans to work with Seminole Indians, pick up natural sounds of individual animals and birds, shoot the bird of others, the hatching of wild turkeys and gators.

"We will try to show," Jameson says, "that although Ponce de Leon did not discover the fountain of youth, he did find nature's cycle operating under an abundance of birds and animals."

Actual filming is the easiest part.

"TROUT GLADNESS" — The trout season opens in a week and a half, April 28. Until then, fishermen can mentally project themselves into the position of the angler shown above. The fish that has just taken the fly is a rainbow. The outlook is for slightly high, but clear streams in Northern Michigan.

Trout Season to Start on April 28

Expect Higher Streams for Opening

Michigan trout fishermen can expect northern streams to be generally higher than a year ago, especially in the Upper Peninsula, on the April 28 opener.

If the weather cooperates, there should be little snow runoff entering most streams in the northern Lower Peninsula by opening day. This would leave waters warmer than usual and perhaps clear.

In some part of the Upper Peninsula where snow depths are going down more slowly, the spring runoff may put streams on the muddy side.

However, high waters are expected during big trout well visits tributaries in the Escanaba district and provide some first-rate catches.

Plenty of action is in the offing for fishermen who take to trout lakes in the southern lower peninsula where the department will have planted approximately 130,000 legal-size rainbows, brookies and browns by the end of April.

Another 23,000 keeper-size fish will have been released in trout lakes of the northern Lower Peninsula by the time fishermen swing into action. Upper peninsula permits will be held to about 5,000 trout.

The department's major spring planting effort in the Upper Peninsula will get under way in May.

Loss of available land and a loss of the dedication of the hunter of the past are factors in the shift, said Frank L. Trevis, executive director of the Field Service Bureau of Columbus, Ohio.

He predicted that 25 percent of all hunters will use preserves in 20 years — compared with about one percent now.

The population of the United States will double in 40 years, with a corresponding loss of land available for hunting.

The casual city-dwelling hunter of today is not the dedicated sportsman of the past. He needs the guarantee of game, professional guidance and good dogs found on preserves, Trevis said.

The growth of family recreation will add to the expansion, he said, with preserves adding swimming and fishing pools, horseback riding, camping grounds and other facilities.

Wood Memorial Attracts Dozen Horses Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — The $73,000-a-day horse race at the Wood Memorial Aqueduct on Saturday, final big Eastern race for 3-year-olds before the Kentucky Derby, is expected to attract a dozen or more starters.

Verne Winchell's Son King, Townsend Martin's Sunrise County and Robert Lehman's Prego head the field for the 14-mile race which has produced six Derby winners.

Gustave Ring's Stinson Beach won a Wood timeup Monday, beating James W. Rodgers' Due o'Rough by a length on a sloppy track. Stinson Beach, however, is not eligible for the Derby May 5 in Louisville, but may go in the Preakness May 19 at Pimlico.

Many Problems Confronted by Wildlife

Concerned Over Cars, Oil Heaters

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Indians started worrying when the settlers began killing off the buffalo but today conservation officials are concerned over the fatal effects to game of the oil heater, the automobile and the harvesting machine.

Maybe it's a sign of how times change. But the effect is the same.

Things get tougher by the year for wild life.

As example, increasingly expanded farmland cuts down on cover for game. The oil heater has wiped out a need for the old-fashioned woodpile, which served as great cover for rabbits and such. Harvesting machines must be used during the nesting season.

Shelterbelts and windbreaks, a line of which has been built from the Dakotas to Texas, have proved useful to both farmer and game. They cut down on wind erosion in the spring and catch winter snow for future moisture. They also provide shelter for pheasant, quail and rabbit.

Heading the list of trees that remain on sale are red pine seedlings which total 3,000,000. Good supplies of white pine and jack pine seedlings, Austrian pine, white pine transplants, and white spruce are also available.

Nearly 4,000,000 young trees have been ordered since January when sales were launched to again encourage reforestation of private lands for future timber production, erosion control, and farm windbreaks.

The department's tree shipment are scheduled to begin next week, continuing through May 30. Official stock price lists and order blanks may be obtained from the department's forestry division in Lansing or locally at offices of district foresters and county extension agents.

Predicts More Hunters to Try Private Areas

EAST LANSING (AP) — Growing numbers of American hunters will abandon the wilds for private hunting preserves, an outdoorsman predicted here.

Loss of available land and a loss of the dedication of the hunter of the past are factors in the shift, said Frank L. Trevis, executive director of the Field Service Bureau of Columbus, Ohio.

He predicted that 25 percent of all hunters will use preserves in 20 years — compared with about one percent now.

breaking forms of keeping warm inside the old homestead, things are getting tougher for the wild life on the outside.

Burning over the land, too, robbed game of cover but has been proved a fallacy in good farm management, conservation officials report. It promotes faster spring growth by warming the ground but robs the soil of nitrogen and cuts grass production in late summer.

Sitting Bull probably had a right to be provoked with the buffalo hunters. Gunners in Iowa last year killed 5,367 deer. Of that number, only 357 fell to the bow and arrow. And in West Virginia the wild turkey kill last year was 1,070, which certainly wouldn't have made the Pilgrims welcome if they had pulled that rock at Plymouth.

Things actually are so complicated in the wild life field at the moment that Hialeah race course in Florida has been declared an official sanctuary for the Audubon Society.

This is not predicated on the way some jockeys ride there nor on the manners of some jostling plumpers rushing to the mistlewood, but on the fact that Hialeah is accredited because of its 350-bird flamingo colony which resides in the infield lake. This sanctuary in the winter also attracts visiting ducks, geese, cormorants, blackbirds, etc. The visiting birds on the other side of the fence get no protection.

However, the flamingos must be protected. The original flock was imported from Cuba. That now is something else which has gone out along with sugar, alligator hides and the Havana cigar.

Ridan's Owners Charged in Sale of Race Horse

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The owners of Ridan, one of the favorites for the Kentucky Derby May 5, are charged in a Federal Court suit with selling an unfit horse.

The suit, filed Monday by Mrs. Barbara Whitney Hendley, doing business as, in Lexington, asked $17,500 damages from John L. Greer of Knoxville, Tenn., Ernest H. Wood of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Dorothy Jolley of Miami.

Mrs. Hendley said she bought a 3-year-old colt named Mount Hope at last fall's auction of Breeder's Sales Co. in Lexington from the defendants and that the colt had a fractured bone, although represented as being in sound condition.

The suit asked $15,000 as the purchase price of Mount Hope, with the remainder sales tax, board bills and veterinary fees.

Astro Candidate May Apply Now

To Choose 5-10 Jet Test
Pilots for Gemini Space
Docking Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet test pilots who would like to be astronauts in the Gemini space docking project can start applying now. Five to 10 of them will be selected by fall.

The Gemini project is another step in the process of sending a three-man Apollo spacecraft to the moon and back, possibly by 1968.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the seven-man project Mercury team in Mercury space capsule operations and will join the seven in piloting the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

NASA said Robert R. Gilruth of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston will receive applications until June 1.

RENDZVOUS OPERATION

The first unmanned orbital flight of a two-place Gemini capsule is planned for next year. It is the docking maneuver which will first involve test.

Docking involves a rendezvous in orbit with another space vehicle sent up separately. The idea is that a separately orbited engine could provide the extra thrust needed to get an Apollo capsule to the moon.

The space agency said Apollo flight crews will be selected from the seven current astronauts, the five to 10 to be chosen by fall and a third group of astronauts that probably will be selected in the late stages of the Apollo mooncraft development program.

Candidates for the Gemini project must be experienced jet test pilots, younger than 35 and no taller than 6 feet.

They must hold a college degree in the physical or biological sciences or in engineering. Also, they must have attained experimental flight test status either through the military services, the aerospace industry or NASA, or be graduates of a military test pilot school.

Long-Life Theory —Vote for Dems, Smoke, Get Fat

COLEBROOK, Conn. (AP)—Be a Democrat, smoke and don't diet if you want to live to be 101, says Frederick B. Comstock of Colebrook.

He observed his birthday today. Comstock is an avid political and baseball fan. In politics, he roots for the Democrats and in sports for the Milwaukee Braves. Comstock cast his first ballot for Grover Cleveland in 1884 and his most recent for President Kennedy in 1960.

Michigan Tech to Set Up Temporary Facilities

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Classroom facilities destroyed in the April 6 fire at the Michigan Tech branch campus here will be replaced by temporary quarters. The Michigan Tech Board of Control at Houghton has authorized school officials to proceed with such plans.

A permanent replacement of the lost facilities will be a long term project, officials said.

Bronze age burial urns and splinters of early Stone Age vases, 3,000 to 4,000 years old, have been reported found in the Malchin district of East Germany.

Kill Driver as 3 Flee to West

E. Berlin Police Shoot
as Truck Rams Wall; 2
Escape; One Wounded

BERLIN (AP) — Three East Germans crashed a gravel-filled truck through a Communist barrier into West Berlin today, but Red machinegun fire killed the driver and wounded a companion.

East German border police fired repeatedly as the 24-year-old driver roared through the wooden barrier at a midtown crossing point in the Berlin wall at 1 a.m.

The heavy truck smashed into a house on the West Berlin side. One passenger, 20, was shot in the shoulder. The other, 29, escaped with bruises. The pair was taken to a West Berlin hospital.

About an hour later, two East German soldiers tried to get through fences separating West Berlin from East German soil in the southwest part of the city. One man was believed wounded in the attempt, but his comrade made it safely.

Just before the first escape was made, East and West police exchanged a barrage of stones and tear gas grenades across the wall. A West Berlin newspaper reported today that a lieutenant colonel of an East German armored unit shot himself on the border when caught by an East German patrol in an escape attempt on March 28.

IRS Gets 10th Return From Mysterious XYZ

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—For the tenth, straight year, the Internal Revenue Service office here has received a return from an anonymous taxpayer who signs himself "XYZ."

IRS officials disclosed yesterday they had received this year cash totaling $541 in an envelope with a Richmond postmark. An accompanying note stated simply: "Apply to my income tax, XYZ."

Jordan Announces Gift for Samaritan Group

AMMAN (AP) — Jordan's government announced a $2,800 Passover gift yesterday for the tiny community of Samaritans living in Jordan.

The Samaritans, who number about 220, claim descent from ancient Israelites who intermarried with other Semitic tribes. They are man-made, and can never provide the same beauty as God's flowers. As they become dirty and unsightly, they create an impression of neglect, rather than remembrance. Such so-called "forgetting flowers," not only become very unsightly from weather conditions, but create a serious problem in the care and maintenance program of the cemetery in general.

For these reasons, it is not possible to permit any of these imitation flowers as decorations.

Artificial wreaths, winter wreaths and other blankets are permitted from November 15th to April 1st. We respectfully remind that these regulations be observed. Additional questions regarding this will be answered at the Cemetery office. We thank you for your cooperation.

A NEW POLICY

Flowers come from God and are a fitting symbol of life to all the beauty. Flowers are the embodiment of our hope of eternal life. The use of flowers, therefore, is an eloquent testimony of love and respect and is a beautiful and attractive memorialization.

To display this affection and respect, authorized bed plantings and floral tributes, with annual flowers only, can be used. From April 1st to November 1st, the grass growing season. Fresh flower bouquets and potted plants will also be permitted on such specific days as Easter, Mother's Day, Father's Day — Memorial Day — Armed Forces Day and at times of interest and may remain for a period of seven days before removal. Potted annual plants not called for will be placed and cared for in the "Flower Bed of Memory."

Alfred G. Wilson Will Now Filed

Family and Institutions
Named; MSUO Handled
in 1957

Relatives and favorite institutions of the late Alfred G. Wilson are named major beneficiaries in his will filed in Oakland County Probate Court.

In the will, Mr. Wilson left $100,000 and all personal property and effects to his widow, Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson, 480 Adams Road, Avon Township.

He leaves $15,000 to his daughter, Mrs. Thomas S. Eccles, and $10,000 to his son, Richard S. Wilson, both of Bloomfield Township.

No bequest is made to Mr. Wilson's stepdaughters, Mrs. Frederick J. Van Lennep, of Lexington, Ky. She is a daughter of Mrs. Wilson's marriage to the late auto industrialist John Dodge.

Mr. Wilson, who died at 79 in his winter home at Scottsdale, Ariz., April 6, also made bequests of $10,000 each to his alma mater, Beloit College, Wis., and the Boy Scouts of America. Another $5,000 is left to the First Protestant Society of Detroit and $3,000 to the University Presbyterian Church of Rochester.

Michigan State University Oakland, which Mr. Wilson and his wife helped create, was not named in the will.

Ignores Congress Race for State Re-Election Try

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Harry Litwack, R-Benton Harbor, announced today that he will be a candidate for re-election.

The announcement ended speculation that Litwack would make a try for the 4th Congressional District seat of Rep. Clare Hoffman of Allegan, who is retiring.

More Publicity Given Defeats Than Triumphs

Some of our Latin American cousins feel that we devote columns to their misfortunes and a minimum of newspaper space to their triumphs and victories. Recently, Argentina with her troubles and difficulties is making the front pages of all the newspapers in the United States. Costa Rica is getting practically nothing and she completed a very successful election.

Perhaps it all dates back to the ancient dictum that "there's no news" when a man and his wife get along pleasantly; but let one of them administer a beating of sorts and they both get into court and then find themselves in print.

Suffice to say, Costa Rica recently had an election and Francisco Jose Orlich was named President. Senor Orlich is a grand citizen in every respect. He believes in justice to all classes and is an ardent advocate of democracy. The election was a model of civic deportment and procedure. Costa Rica and Uruguay are top examples of western civilization and democracy, anyway. Costa Rica doesn't possess an army at all and is rightfully proud of the fact her outlay for teachers is greater than for police.

Under her current administration, Costa Rica can bank upon four more years of progress and a general advancement in economic, educational and spiritual affairs.

This newspaper will always be concerned with the tribulations and the triumphs of our Latin American cohorts.

Roosevelt Was Warned Not to Trust Stalin

(The Chicago Tribune)
Archbishop SPELLMAN of New York had a long and close association with President FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT. His memoirs disclose his feelings as an "ominous change" came over ROOSEVELT.

SPELLMAN was already "troubled by doubts" when the Casablanca conference of 1943 produced ROOSEVELT's "unconditional surrender" formula.

The Quebec conference of 1944, at which Roosevelt scrawled his "OK — FDR" to the Morgenthau plan for wrecking a defeated Germany's mines and factories and forcing the German people to subsist in a soup kitchen economy, fed the archbishop's doubts. Roosevelt, after his return from Quebec, confessed he was "frankly staggered" and he said he had subscribed to the idea "without much thought."

Still, his blunders did not discourage him from his continuing intention of appeasing Stalin and communism. He would tell Spellman, "with a disarming smile," that "the Pope is too worried about communism." He would expound to the archbishop how "Russia has need of protection."

So he persisted in the plan to lead a large swath of Catholic Poland to the Kremlin atheists, ignoring SPELLMAN's argument that this would be immoral and that Poles could never be transformed into Russians.

SPELLMAN had been "shocked profoundly" that ROOSEVELT would go halfway around the world to meet STALIN in his own back yard at Tehran. He "felt humiliated" in 1945 when ROOSEVELT then went to Russia to join STALIN at Yalta. ROOSEVELT would tell him, "Don't worry, I know how to talk to STALIN."

The archbishop remonstrated,

"You can't trust him. He'll never cooperate."

Roosevelt's health was precarious by the time he left for the Crimea. He could not formulate his thoughts and had even greater difficulty expressing them.

Knowledge of the extent of Roosevelt's surrender at Yalta, especially the transfer of Japan's Kurile Islands to the Soviet Union, transformed Spellman's "old doubts and fears . . . into genuine disillusionment." For not long before Roosevelt pointed to these islands and told Spellman, "Those are a dagger aimed at the heart of America. They must never fall into the hands of an enemy." And now the President himself had placed that dagger in the enemy's hand.

Cardinal SPELLMAN's memoirs are recommended reading.

Happenings That Are Quite Remote from Usual Channel

By JOE HAAS
The deer in the vicinity of Pontiac are getting reckless. Their closer communion with human beings is causing them to adopt their ways. Quite a number of them have been reported as coming downtown late at night. Some even invaded the old courthouse corner in quest of grazing on its lawn. They seem to like the white lights. Latest report is from Gregory Gayson of Birmingham, who phones that a full grown deer galloped up Baginaw Street in front of his car on Orchard Lake Avenue to Huron Street, shortly before four o'clock the other morning.

Hollywood: Where a family tree has a tough growth.

A young lemon tree, brought back from Florida by

A pony clump near the base of a warm chimney at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Pliny of Drayton Plains is already in bud.

Accompanying his baseball contest entry,

Franklin Bacholz of Drayton Plains sent along statistics to show that some of Detroit's best seasons followed if he'd mowing in the grapefruit league—and vice versa.

After reading our item about the wild geese being good mathematicians, Mrs. Anna Frankol of Keego Harbor calls up to remind us that all birds do a better job of allowing each other ample roosting space than do humans.

In the poultry house of Ben Kristian near Rochester is a hen that lays eggs with the letter "K" quite plainly marked on the shell. Mr. Kristian phones that he may be doing this for any one of three reasons: loyalty to her owner; in honor of John F. Kennedy, or they may come from a crotchety old sour puss biddy whose bickering and troublesome ways have made her the most disagreeable thing in the flock, hated by all the other chickens, and who may be laying them in honor of another world character. (P.S.: I'd tell you who if I knew how to spell it!)

Why He Isn't Talking

David Lawrence Says:

Business Discouraged by JFK

WASHINGTON—Reports coming in now from all parts of the country tell how shocked and surprised

'businessmen are as a result of President Kennedy's sudden assault on the free enterprise system. For 15 months now, businessmen have been trying to make up their minds about President Kennedy's attitude toward them.

There's been a tendency to give him credit for earnestness and fairness. Businessmen had observed that the President often spoke vehemently in denial of any idea that he was "antibusiness."

It was known that among the advisers surrounding him, there were some who are inclined toward socialistic doctrines euphemistically called a "planned economy."

Actually, in the period of more than a year that Mr. Kennedy has been in the White House, nothing really significant had happened on which a comprehensive judgment could be formed as to his basic attitude toward business. So everybody has waited for a clue.

Now the die has been cast. The way Mr. Kennedy reacted after the announcement of the decision of the steel companies to raise their prices last week has produced a profound change.

There is discouragement as well as a glum feeling about the future of American business. Business decisions now evidently must take into account political considerations in the White House. Even European businessmen are aghast at the turn of events, and some call it "socialistic."

Already in Congress bills are being proposed by the radicals to break up businesses or to put pressure on them to stop price increases. Nothing is said about restraining the exorbitant demands of labor for wage increases.

In fact, the strangest development of all is the outcry from the steelworkers union that they had been deceived by the decision to make a steel price rise. For they did obtain fringe benefits that will cost the industry an estimated $100 million a year.

MUST PAY

The steel companies have to pay for these extra costs. Businessmen really don't like to increase prices — it's always a competitive risk. But when they are caught between this and the necessity of keeping their profits at a certain rate, so that investors will continue to furnish the money with which to modernize plant and equipment, something has to be done to make ends meet.

Criticism has been heard here and there among businessmen that the U.S. Steel Corp. was wrong in its "timing"—that it should have waited and introduced price changes gradually. The companies waited four years during which period they were compelled to raise wages three times.

Anyone who knows the steel business will tell you that, if you wait too long after an increase in wage costs, you can't get the money back to help pay for it. The steel companies tried last week a partial catching up on past wage increases, but their timing is still criticized.

When is it ever the "right time" to announce a price increase? Now, with the government showing hostility to price rises, many companies in various lines throughout the country will have to accept the "profit squeeze" and deficits, or else take the risk of incurring the ire of the President if they finally do increase prices. It's going to be a tough decision to make.

Certainly few businessmen in such a mood are thinking of expansion. This means a drag on the durable goods side, and perhaps near unemployment.

It means that European steel-makers will be given more time in which to grab a bigger and bigger share of the American market. There'll be some attempts by the administration to "butter up" business, especially in pushing for legislation granting some tax credits, but this will hardly restore faith in the President's policies.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Immunization as Vital Today as It Ever Was

If you've been careless about keeping up with your immunizations, here's a lesson that may give you cause for second thoughts.

A young student from Pakistan was exposed to smallpox before leaving for college in England. He was perfectly well when he prepared for the trip but he hadn't had a recent vaccination. As time was short, he obtained a certificate from an obliging physician. The certificate was accepted at the London airport where he arrived by jet within the matter of a few hours.

About a week later—the incubation period of smallpox is a week to 10 days or even more—he fell ill and was taken to the college infirmary. It was thought he might have malaria since that disease occurs also frequently in his homeland.

When he died, a few days later, a postmortem examination was done by the hospital pathologist. Although this pathologist was an eminent physician, he just hadn't bothered to keep his immunizations up-to-date.

DOCTOR DIED
At the conclusion of the examination, the doctor-pathologist decided that the young man had died of smallpox that was unrecognized because none of the staff physicians had ever observed the disease and all took it for granted that their patient, because of his certificate, must have been immune.

Within a few days after the examination, the doctor-pathologist became ill. And within the course of another few days, he died despite heroic efforts to treat him with powerful drugs.

Keeping up with an immunization schedule is a small price to pay for almost certain protection from serious diseases that may be life-threatening.

These include smallpox against which we may be vaccinated every three to five years; typhoid, diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis and whooping cough against which, after the original immunization, we may take "boosters" every three to five years.

To argue that such immunizations are a waste, because we live far away from ports of entry and hence may never be in contact with jet travelers, is a mistake that may prove fatal.

Although our U.S. Public Health Service is undoubtedly the finest medical organization of its kind in the entire world, its officers at ports of entry cannot diagnose infections during their phases of incubation.

It's up to you to protect yourself and members of your family from exposure to jet-propelled passengers who might well be walking down your Main Street.

Voice of the People:

It's Time for Government to Aid U.S. Taxpayer

In a current speech Congressman Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., said: "The supply of American dollars seems endless . . . a dam for leftist Ghana; a nuclear power plant to Tito; a steel mill for Poland; baskets of dollars for Sukarno of Indonesia and Nehru of India.

"It's about time we had some federal aid for the taxpayer—in the form of reduced spending; an end to welfare state schemes; a halt to deficit spending; no more increases of 75,000 persons on the federal payroll; and a big ax to the foreign aid program.

"Khrushchev's fondest hope is to see this nation ravage its own economy and resources; foreign aid and deficit spending are making his dreams come true. If foreign aid handouts are ever stopped, the biggest tears will be shed in Moscow.

'OK to Lay Pipeline as a Safeguard'

It would be all right to lay pipeline from Detroit to Pontiac as a safeguard. At present we don't seem to be facing a water shortage. It is claimed our water rates will double. People are having a hard time paying water bills now. What will we do if rates are doubled? It's time people have a voice in the management of their own affairs.

Offer Suggestions for Teen-Ager

In reply to Sherry Barton, teenage girls need not suffer from lack of something to do. The YWCA is more than happy to organize Y-Teen Clubs and group activities wherever there is a need. This includes all of Pontiac and surrounding communities.

We have had Co-ed Canteens, parties, day camp and many kinds of supervised activities for young people. All you have to do is let us know what you are interested in as a call or come in for additional information.

Perhaps Sherry Barton, might like some adult assistance in organizing a group of girls. A suggestion is to invite a number of girls to her home with the idea in mind to interest their parents. A Girls American League of Service (GALS) could meet at each other's homes until they become established. She may be surprised to find that many agree with her.

You Sick to Look

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Give Your Eyes the Care Needed

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE L-487: Lois M., aged 19, is a student college coed.

"But, Dr. Crane," she began, "I have headaches a great deal and my school physician says I need glasses."

"One of my eyes is weaker than the other. But I hate to wear glasses for fear they will spoil a girl's chances for dates."

"You know what they say, namely, that boys don't make passes at girls who wear glasses."

"So what should I do to relieve my eyestrain?"

EYE PSYCHOLOGY
When you read, make it a habit to raise your eyes and focus on a distant object, even if only for a moment, as you turn each page.

For that gives your eye muscles a momentary break in their constant strain of keeping a focus at a 30-inch range, which is about the usual distance of the page.

To appreciate how the eyes are misused, suppose you held a heavy suitcase in one hand steadily for an hour.

Why, in a matter of 5 minutes your muscles would be registering pain and fatigue. So your normally shift hands or set down the heavy load for a few moments, don't you?

So rest them every couple of minutes by looking across the room, out the window or at a distant object, as you turn the page.

Also, bathe your eyes occasionally and always at bedtime, using hot water and then cold. Keep alternating for several minutes.

For this change from hot to cold and back again, stimulates greater circulation and thus flushes out the fatigue products from over-worked muscles.

If you have poor circulation in your legs, do the same. Prepare two buckets or foot tubs. Place hot water in one and cold water in the other.

Then rest your feet in the hot water for a full minute, after which place them in the cold for a minute; then back to the hot, etc.

Repeat this process for 10 minutes or longer. You will often notice a marked reduction in cramps and fatigue.

EYE BALANCE
A girl like Lois should remember, too, that when your eyes are not equal in strength, you tend to use the stronger and ignore the weaker.

Eventually, the weaker eye thus grows almost blind, just because of this disuse.

A cross-eyed person likewise may have two equally good eyes, but he can pay attention to just one, so the ignored eye goes almost blind.

That's why we urge correction of crossed eyes early.

Lois should thus wear properly fitted glasses that will balance her eyes and cause her to use

'People Must Stop Tax Increase'

I'm opposed to any further increase in taxes. Our government must live within its budget even if it means some reduced services. A common ground that shall be of benefit to both the government and the people must be found. The liberals must become more conservative and vice versa if our economy is to be on a more sound basis.

We must have schools, good roads and other necessary services, but we must also find some means to reduce expenditures. Otherwise we shall all be on the welfare in a bankrupt nation.

Jobless Mother Can't Find Work

Why is it a widow or divorcee with children to support has a hard time getting a job? Married women with children seem to get first choice as they don't have to land dependents. I've lived in Pontiac for four months and have yet to be called to a job for which I've applied.

'Why Do We Have Multiple Standards?'

I have just learned the amazing fact that many state day epileptics the right to marry. But yet, almost certainly these same states permit profane illegitimate procreation and even go so far as to foster this with Aid to Dependent Children monies.

I must admit—no particular offense meant to those who believe in and brag about being "fashioned in God's image"—and disorganizing man's accomplishments in the arts and sciences, that of all animals it is unlikely there is one which is more foolish or more a proponent and victim of multiple standards than the human.

No Time to Be Lonely

Be Busy and You're Happy

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you are sometimes sunk by the never-ending work and emotional investment required to keep your family happy and well fed, and your home a place of charm and peace, or by the myriad duties you fall heir to because you are a woman, don't be!

You are the one best qualified by nature to cope with the amenities and rough edges of life. You write the letters of thanks and condolence. You probably select most of the Christmas gifts. You bandage the stubbed toe.

You call on friends who are ill. You plan birthday parties for the children, and then remind them of their father's birthday.

MEET CRISES

Many of you invest time and energy in civic projects, and on top of all this meet the minor but devastating daily crises which occur in any household; everything from the unexpected houseguest, the daughter who doesn't have a date, or the son who didn't make the team, to a sudden case of measles and a broken water pipe.

Now let's consider the man. If you sometimes wonder, momentarily, if it is all worthwhile because of the pressure of providing for your family as you would like and because of the turmoil and hecticness and problems which often greet you when you come home; if you sometimes envy your bachelor friends who have

Mother has many assorted duties. But she is the one best qualified to handle domestic difficulties and it is a blessing to be needed.

Unit Hears Talks on Cosmetics

Committee heads were appointed and members witnessed a cosmetic demonstration during a recent meeting of the Business Institute Women's Club at the TBI library.

President Grace Trapp selected the following committees: Programs, Mrs. Donald Beutler and Miss Trapp; membership, Betty Whitson; social and house, Mrs. William Kovin and Mrs. Robert Wiegand; publicity, Mrs. Sol Lomerson; scholarship, Miss Whitson; Mrs. Paul Garman and Mrs. S. E. Minard; telephone, Mrs. Minard; Patricia Wagner and Mrs. Lehr Miller; ways and means, Mrs. Lillian Quayle and Mrs. Charles Van Trease, and floral, Mary Parker.

Mrs. Marjorie Giles, a representative for a beauty firm, gave a lecture and demonstrated on the proper use of cosmetics.

Hostess Mrs. Donald Beutler received assistance from Miss Tapp.

Set Banquet for Teachers

Pontiac Education Association will hold its annual spring banquet April 26 in the Hillside Room at Devon Gables. This year's speaker is Dr. Frank Court, minister of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Lincoln, Neb. His talk is entitled "The Ayes Have It."

Dr. Court has had wide experience as a presidential appointee to national committees on youth work and education. He has served as chairman of the American Red Cross and spent many years as a chaplain with U.S. Armed Forces overseas.

What Does It Take to Teach?

(Editor's Note—This week's school teacher tips comprise the fourth in a 12-week series of career articles, giving you in a capsule up-to-minute facts on job possibilities in industry and the professions. Source: U. S. Department of Labor.)

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

Educational Requirements:

Elementary School—Four years of college required in all but eight states.

Secondary School—Four years of college, usually including education courses, practice teaching, and specialized study.

College and University—Bachelor's and master's degrees. Many colleges insist that instructors meet all requirements for the Ph.D. degree except the dissertation.

Personal Qualifications:

Zeal for imparting knowledge; in younger grades, patience and love of children; in secondary school, enthusiasm for a particular field of knowledge, appreciation of problems of adolescents, patience and self-discipline; in college and university, scholarly knowledge of area taught, ability to help students develop intellectual curiosity and trained minds; intellectual vision and imagination.

Advantages of Profession:

Numerous openings in all fields; summer vacation, which, however, may have to be used for further study or for additional income; employment opportunities for women; combines well with homemaking; variety of special fields in addition to classroom teaching (there's a particular shortage of guidance counselors); opportunity to combine teaching with writing, lecturing, research, special projects; security provided often by tenure.

Disadvantages:

Salaries are still not high; extra-curricular demands on teachers' time by school and community; need to keep abreast of new curriculum and teaching ideas; need to continue with study for personal advancement and higher salaries.

Salaries:

Elementary schools, $4,835 average; Secondary schools, $5,334 average; College and university, $7,330 average.

Co-op Dinner Attended by Twin Mothers Club

Twin Mothers Club of Oakland County attended a cooperative dinner Monday with the Twin Mothers Club of Wayne County. Oakland County Club members attending were: Mrs. Fred Wilcox, Mrs. Robert Van Meer, Mrs. Charles Hatter, Mrs. William Raymond, Mrs. Paul Kilar, James Cleary and Mrs. Robert Green.

Mrs. Green spoke on what the national organization of twin mothers clubs does for local groups. Earlier this month, Mrs. Green met in Utica with several mothers of twins to help them organize a club in Macomb County.

The Oakland County group welcomed two new members and one candidate member. New additions are Mrs. Richard Drake, Union Lake, and Mrs. Stanley Garwood, Orchard Lake. Mrs. Garwood is an honorary member since she is the mother of triplets.

show to benefit emotionally disturbed children at the hospital.

At the third annual dinner May 10 at Hawaiian Gardens in Holly the Mother of the Year will be selected from the membership by Janet Odell, food editor of The Pontiac Press.

Paper Dolls 'Cut Out' Into Space Travel

(UPI)—One day, women also will travel in space. When they are ready to go, go, there already is a suit for the occasion—made of paper.

The suit, developed by American Cyanamid's paper chemicals division, looks something like a pair of overalls, except the cuffs are flared. The suit was displayed in New York at the national convention of a technical division of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

Kenneth E. Youngchild of the firm said the suit was designed for disposal from space craft by jettisoning, and that paper is practical for space travel because of its light weight, strength, and absorbent and sanitary qualities.

Don't You Believe It! Get True Facts, Ignore Beliefs About Our Food

Misconceptions, fallacies and are based on belief, rather than fact. The greatest threats to the nutritional well-being of many Americans. Nutritional misconceptions adversely affect food purchasing and eating habits. Too often they make the housewife a prime target for the pitch of the modern snake oil salesman with his alfalfa, watercress and 32 ingredient capsules which do little to improve nutrition and much to upset the monthly budget.

Here are but a few of the common nutritional concepts which Belief: Certain foods, such as blackstrap molasses and yogurt, will prolong life and youth.

Fact: There is no known miracle food. A careful varied selection of foods is the best insurance known for a long, healthy life. Blackstrap molasses is the dark syrup remaining after the third extraction of sugar from raw cane. It contains small amounts of vitamins and minerals. Yogurt, which is a cultured milk product, contains only the vitamins and minerals which were present in the original milk source.

Belief: Aluminum cooking utensils are harmful to foods.

Fact: Constant experimental observations have not uncovered any evidence of harm in aluminum cooking utensils. The American Cancer Society has reported that aluminum cooking utensils do not contaminate food or "in any way contribute to the development of cancer or any other disease." Cooking practices, rather than pots and pans, can destroy the nutrients in foods.

Belief: Synthetic vitamins are less powerful than natural ones. Fact: Vitamins which are manufactured synthetically are chemically and nutritionally identical to naturally occurring vitamins. Scientists have been able to duplicate the molecular structures and chemical formulas and through synthesis have copied, and even improved upon, nature.

Belief: Soil depletion has produced vitamin and mineral-poor foods which, in turn, cause malnutrition.

Fact: According to a spokesman of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, "The composition of the soil has very little effect on the composition of the plants grown on it." The quality of the soil on which food is grown has a definite effect on the quantity, but little effect on the quality of the crop.

Belief: All Americans now get an adequate supply of essential nutrients from their food.

Fact: Although an adequate diet is readily available to all, a disturbing minority of Americans fail to eat foods containing proper amounts of vitamins and minerals. Nutritional surveys on food consumption patterns, have revealed nutrient deficiencies in the diets of large numbers of teenagers, housewives and senior citizens. These surveys have shown suboptimal intake of such vital nutrients as vitamin C, vitamin D and calcium and iron.

Belief: Calories don't count when dieting.

Fact: The number of calories ingested has a direct relationship to the weight loss or gain. The best approach to a dieting program is a change in eating habits built around a diet balanced in vitamins, minerals and other essential nutrients, and containing a calorie quota low enough to produce a small but continuing weight loss. The calorie quota is best determined by your physician, who will consider your age, level of activity, and health status.

Belief: Multivitamin supplements increase appetite and should be avoided when dieting.

Fact: Multiple vitamin supplements have no known effect on appetite. Most tablets contain no more calories than a cup of black coffee. Supplements are designed solely to provide insurance against vitamin inadequacies, a factor to be considered in any diet program.

Belief: Raw vegetable juices can prevent or cure disease.

Fact: The juice of vegetables have no more nutrients than they did before they were extracted. Vegetables alone are excellent sources of essential nutrients and should be included in the daily diet. There is no scientific evidence for such claims as: celery juice aids digestion and helps relieve rheumatism; carrot juice improves the complexion; parsley juice is a body-building tonic; garlic juice reduces high blood pressure; white radish and lemon juices aid in preventing gall bladder attacks.

California Vote to Be Birch Weathervane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Watch test of public sentiment about the California's June 5 primary for a controversial John Birch Society.

Don't forget!

A Plumrose Danish Ham in every Easter basket!

It's Denmark's finest—tender, lean, juicy. Feast on it baked and glazed. Delicious Easter dinner! Enjoy it cold. Delicious supper. And so easy. Ready-cooked, no bone, no waste, no refrigeration. 1 lb., 2 lb., and 3 lb. sizes. Other Plumrose products: Canadian Style Bacon • Picnics • Pork Shoulders • Canned Sliced Bacon • Cocktail Sausages • Deviled Ham

Three members of the right-wing anti-Communist group are asking Republican voters to nominate them for Congress.

Two are incumbents who face men with no political experience. Because of this they are favored to win re-election, and victory for them would not necessarily mean a vote of approval for the Birch Society.

The third race is in a newly created district where there is no incumbent. The Birch Society man, who has never held public office, faces the former mayor of one of the suburban cities in the district. If the Birch man wins, observers say, much will be due to the considerable Birch Society strength in the districts.

The man insiders are watching most closely is Rep. John H. Rousselet, Republican from the 25th district, the one former Vice President Richard M. Nixon served when he was in Congress.

RENOUNCED BY NIXON

Rousselet, 32, was a personal friend and political protégé of Nixon—until Rousselet announced he was a member of the Birch Society.

Then Nixon, who is running for governor of California, said: "There is no place on the Republican ticket for a candidate who seeks or accepts the support of the John Birch Society."

The other pro-Birch incumbent is Edgar Hiestand, a veteran of 60 who rolled into office with the Eisenhower tide in 1952. Hiestand has said he is a member of the society but has not made it an issue the way Rousselet has.

He has not, for instance, delibately baited known Birch foes as Rousselet did last November when he publicly invited Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown to attend a society meeting.

Brown, a candidate for re-election, gave a foretaste of what Birch supporters can expect from Democrats in fall campaigning in his reply:

"It is absolutely clear to me from the mail I receive from members of your society and from the published statements of its leader (Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass.) that it is anarchistic in nature and antagonistic to the ideals of a well ordered Democracy. . . . The strength of America lies in people who engage in free and open debate, not in conspiratorial discussions of such absurd views as those of Mr. Welch which hold that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is a conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy, or that Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached for adhering to the dictates of law rather than to the dictates of a self-appointed elite."

Republican party leaders have been hesitant to endorse the three Birch men. All three come for districts in which Democrats outnumber Republicans almost two to one, and party leaders figure the "Bircher" label might make the tough job of winning in Democratic strongholds even tougher.

Rousselet has never said why he deliberately gave Brown an opportunity to attack the society, but observers point out it gave Rousselet a chance to make a public break with Welch.

BAKED TABLERITE HAM
Place ham, fat side up in shallow baking pan, on rack if possible. Bake in slow (325°) oven, uncovered. (A Tablerite ham is a tenderized ham and has merely to be heated through.) Remove from oven 20 minutes before completely baked. With sharp knife, score fat into diamond shapes. Insert clove into center of each diamond.
To glaze ham, spread entire surface with mixture of prepared mustard, brown sugar, and honey. Return to oven (375°) until surface is glazed, about 30 minutes. Baste a few times to make sure glaze catches. Serve hot with mashed or boiled potatoes and your choice of vegetable.
