

Widen Search for 3 Convicts

AIR-SEA HUNT — A Coast Guard helicopter circles Angel Island in San Francisco Bay as a Coast Guard boat combs the water in search of three convicts who escaped from their cells on Alcatraz Island, 1 1/2 miles to the south-east.

Warden Tells How Trio Fled

Seek Alcatraz Escapees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The search went on today for three bank robbers who vanished from tide-swept Alcatraz Island prison in San Francisco Bay Tuesday after wriggling through cell wall vents tediously enlarged with stolen spoons.

Warden Otis Blackwell said he does not believe the three men, led by a convict with an IQ of 123, are alive if they tried to swim for it.

However, because of the thoroughness of the trio's planning to bust "The Rock," officials concede that the men could have made it ashore on a makeshift raft.

Area to Get Nice Day in Mid-70s

The good old summertime will reign in the Pontiac area for the next few days with high temperatures in the mid-70s and the low ranging in the high 50s.

Sunday will be a little cooler than temperatures will be somewhat warmer Monday. Precipitation will total about .25 of an inch in weekend showers.

Northeasterly morning winds at 8 to 18 miles per hour will diminish tonight becoming 8 to 12 m.p. Thursday.

Fifty-four was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the mercury reading was 57.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flight engineers said today with labor settlement talks getting nowhere they expect to strike tonight on three major airlines—Pan American, Trans World and Eastern.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mystery man slumped overboard in a 1961 raid at Apalachicola, N. Y., was to be deported today.

Just a Customer — Witness Says of Billie Sol

Commercial Solvents President Insists Prior Testimony is False

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., said today his company's relationship with Billie Sol Estes "was that of customer and supplier — and no more."

Testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the Estes case, Wheeler took issue with testimony given by Frank Cain, a finance company lawyer, before a Texas court of inquiry.

"Most of Cain's testimony is false and defamatory," Wheeler said.

Cain, a Dallas lawyer, representing Pacific Finance Co., had testified that Estes had told him "they want to put me into business in Brazil."

In Franklin, Tex., attorneys for Estes asked—then withdrew—a request to excuse Estes from testifying before the county grand jury.

All eight said they did not view Estes as a possible defendant in the June 3, 1961, death of Marshall, a federal agriculture official.

Cain had questioned each juror on whether publicly given the Estes affidavit had put Estes under "heavy suspicion" in regard to Marshall's death.

The chemical firm which Wheeler had financed Estes' defense in anhydrous ammonia — a part of a many-sided business enterprise that collapsed when Estes was indicted for fraud last April.

AS SECURITY
To secure his borrowings, Estes signed over to Commercial Solvents the payments he was to receive from the government for surplus grain storage.

Wheeler denied that he had said anything about establishing a business for Estes in Brazil, or had offered to help him with secret deposits in a Swiss bank.

Explaining how Commercial Solvents persuaded Estes to sign over payments for surplus grain storage, Wheeler said:

"The customer wanted credit and CSC was quite willing to do so. It was in no way a loan, as the credit was adequately covered by collateral."

The list of collateral that CSC obtained from Estes indicates how prudent the corporation was in demanding security as a condition of continuing business relations.

In addition to his huge dealings in surplus grain storage and cotton allotment transfers, Estes built up a pyramid in the liquid fertilizer business.

20 to Graduate at Church

Commencement exercises of the Emmanuel Christian School are to be held 7:30 p.m. today at the church, with 20 seniors in the graduating class.

Dr. Tom Malone, founder and president of the 13-year-old school will deliver the commencement address to the graduates. Dr. Malone received his Ph.D. degree at Fort Worth Seminary in Fort Worth, Tex.

The senior class will be presented by Assistant Principal Charles Joan. Dr. Malone will award the diplomas.

Valdostian Virginia Vincent will speak in behalf of the graduating class.

Dr. Malone also delivered the baccalaureate message in baccalaureate services Sunday at the church.

Hails Formation of Government as Milestone

Urges Cooperation at Geneva, in Asia Nation to Solve Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Soviet Premier Khrushchev today that the formation of a coalition government in Laos is very encouraging.

Kennedy replied to a message from Khrushchev in which the Soviet leader said the agreement on a coalition government could serve as a guide to the solution of other problems between East and West.

Dirksen Urges Defense Bill Cut

Amendment Would Put $570 Funds Back at Level Set by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen moved today to cut the pending $48.5-billion defense money bill by reducing funds provided to speed development of the controversial R570 superatomic strike plane.

The Illinois Republican offered an amendment to cut $330 million from the bill as approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The effect of his proposal would be to trim R570 funds from the committee's $481 million down to the $171 million recommended in President Kennedy's budget for the plane, once known as the B70.

Dirksen's proposal brought immediate protests from Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., acting chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the bill, and from Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., the Appropriation Committee's top ranking Republican.

Robertson asked whether Dirksen wanted to rely entirely on missiles or favored a "balanced" striking force.

Saltonstall agreed the additional R570 money may be needed to speed development of the big superatomic strike plane.

The House was braced for a partisan floor fight over Kennedy's request that the ceiling on the national debt be boosted to a record $338 billion.

Republicans lined up behind a substitute bill that would set the limit at $306 billion. They said this would force the administration to cut $32 billion from planned spending for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Administration supporters contended that adoption of the GOP amendment would force the President to call Congress back for a special session next November or require fiscal juggling that would boost the cost of running the government.

The existing temporary limit of $300 billion is scheduled under permanent law to drop to $285 billion on July 1. Since the actual debt is expected to stand at $295 billion, Congress must act.

U.S. Poised to Snoop on Russia's N-Tests

Atmospheric Nuclear Testing Soon, American Experts Reportedly are Preparing to Do a Little Snooping of Their Own

WASHINGTON (AP)—With Russia expected to resume atmospheric nuclear testing soon, American experts reportedly are preparing to do a little snooping of their own.

The Russians have four instrument ships posted around Christmas and Johnson islands in the Pacific to gather information about the American test series which began April 25 and now has reached about the midway point.

There is every reason to believe the Russians have collected considerable data in the weeks their ships have been there.

Although neither of the great nuclear powers says anything publicly about its own snooping operations, each has kept close check on what the other has been doing in nuclear test blasts over the years of the atomic weapons race.

The new Soviet series could come at any time in view of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent declaration that the American experiments have "forced us to renew our tests."

The Russians normally test in remote regions or deep in the nuclear test blasts over the years of the atomic weapons race.

This makes it more difficult to finish high school, and receive his diploma right along with 342 admiring classmates.

The long fight to get up on his feet and walk again has not been easy. Neither was high school under the circumstances. But for 19-year-old Gene, it was all worth it.

Six operations, innumerable hours in uncomfortable casts, rehabilitation centers, leg braces, crutches and finally walking with a cane — these were the milestones.

Amazingly, the youth who lives with his family, the Julius Willette at 5620 Carroll Lake Road, Union Lake, is an expert water skier, and plays football with neighborhood friends. He loves to do the twist (he's got an advanced degree, he says, because his special heavy shoes hold him down).

Gene rides a motor scooter and loves to swim, hunt and fish. Because a ruling prohibits children with disabilities to ride the school bus, Gene had to learn how to drive a car if he wanted to finish high school. He drives his dad's "stick shift."

With the full approval of the American Automobile Association Gene has a part-time job driving a car for a neighborhood friend, Mr. Sam Aldrich.

LONG COMEBACK — Gene Willette, 19, of Union Lake pauses in his job of cleaning even though to ponder the 12 years he has been learning to move about normally since a two-story jump from a barn left him paralyzed from the hips down. Gene will join fellow classmates walking down the aisle of Walled Lake High School to get their diplomas tomorrow night.

Gen. Harkins Determined They Won't Win

South Viet Nam Commies Are a Formidable Enemy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
SAIGON South Viet Nam—Gen. Paul D. Harkins is a square-jawed, sandy-haired, four-star general who commands U.S. forces both in Thailand and South Viet Nam. He takes the firm view that the Communists are not going to be allowed to take over either country.

And in the last few months there has been evidence to support what otherwise might be undue optimism in a country 65 per cent controlled in whole or in part by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

What gains there have been against the Viet Cong may be attributed to two factors—first the helicopter which transports government troops and their American instructors swiftly. And the strategic hamlet which it is hoped ultimately will cut Viet Cong lines of supply and communication and at the same time teach their inhabitants the basic values of true Democracy.

Statistics may be misleading but a glance at a few of them illustrates the enormous task facing the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem and Gen. Harkins.

If the past year, Viet Cong attacks, acts of sabotage or kidnappings have been occurring at the rate of about 500 per month. It is estimated that the Viet Cong kidnaps or kills at least six local government representatives each day.

One thousand school classrooms have been closed down. Out of a total of 3,000 local health centers, more than 600 have been forced to close.

The malaria eradication program has been hampered seriously by the kidnapping or killing of anti-malaria teams.

A BRIDGE A DAY

Bridges and the coastal railway have been special Viet Cong targets. It is estimated that at least one bridge a day is damaged or destroyed.

In recent weeks, Viet Cong attacks forced the closing of two rubber plantations, one of them with a capacity of 1,000 tons annually.

Vietnamese generally lump events of the last year into one word. They call it the "Terror" and they place its beginnings at the time of the Communists' conquest of neighboring Southeast Laos.

The fall of southeast Laos opened up the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail over which it is estimated that at least four divisions of well-trained guerrillas have infiltrated South Viet Nam in the last year.

So effective have been Viet Cong tactics in the rich, rice-growing delta of the Mekong River that this year the government was forced to borrow 49,000 tons of rice from the United States.

A common Communist tactic in the southeast Asian war has been an attempt to turn the enemy's rear into the Communist front. This has been accomplished effectively in the delta which is the farthest point from recognized Communist territory in North Viet Nam.

When the Communists of Ho Chi Minh defeated the French at Dien Bien Phu and presumably with drew to the north after the agreement at Geneva, they deliberately left behind strong Communist cells in the delta. The men thus left behind, married and learned the language and the customs, but never forgot their mission.

Among many villagers they are heroes of the resistance—first against the French and now against the Americans.

The first nuclear reactor on a college campus was installed at the North Carolina State College at Raleigh, in 1953.

Black pearls were produced by oysters near La Paz in Lower California. A light wiped out the beds about 20 years ago.

Pop In on Grass Fire — Get Popped Back at FLORIDA, Ohio (AP) — Popcorn, popcorn everywhere, but not a kernel to eat.

Firemen arrived to fight a grass fire at a farm near here recently and found it had spread to a 10-acre field on which popcorn was grown last year.

Kernels still scattered around the field from the harvest sure had things popping.

Senator's Sharp Wit Slashes at Capital's Didos

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Never underestimate the power of "wit." The deft application of honed humor can more effectively pierce the pomposity of a political rival than the meat-ax approach of the campaign slugging.

Few politicians have mastered the art of witicism. Most take themselves and their "mission" too seriously. The world-avers are seldom noted for their sense of humor.

NO OLD JOKES
This so-called art of witicism is far removed from the recounting of "jokes" to warm-up an audience. Jokes are at best twice-told-tales. They obviously do not originate with the speaker.

Wit is a sharp-edged silhouette that can nearly do-to-death a political rival, or take one's own goods off the hook.

Abraham Lincoln was the old maestro in this department.

President Kennedy has developed the talent to a remarkable degree.

Adlai Stevenson exhibited it, but at the wrong time, when he was on a collision course with a national hero of World War II.

Given reasonable odds, however, it is almost sure-fire in a campaign.

The senator-with by all odds the greatest flair for wit and spice is white-thatched Kenneth Keating of New York.

When the Washington press corps first discovered this press in Ken, it credited a smart magazine writer who had recently gone to work for him.

WRITER LONG GONE
The writer is long gone, however, and the Keating wit survives unimpaired. The other evening he wowed a county Republican gathering with a full-fledged sample of his pizic humor.

Posing as a political traveling agent, Ken took chortling New Yorkers on a wild goose chase through the New Frontier.

TOUR STARTS
"Our first stop is wonderful Washington—the home of the national debt," he began. "If you have your kiddies with you, I suggest that you try the pony rides at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue—that's the Kennedy corral."

After the White House stop, he took them to the mint to see Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon. "One of the world's greatest amateur magicians, who can turn himself from a Republican into a Democrat."

Spotting the man who used to be "a sound dollar man" in the Eisenhower administration, Keating said of magician Dillon:

"Another thing he can do is cut taxes and spend more money both at the same time, although this trick doesn't work very well. His biggest hit is known as the 'disappearing dollar.' I know how he does it: It goes down the gold drain."

Keating guided his tourists past the new "White House power plant" where JFK is trying to "generate new political power," and on to New York to see a show called "The 1962 Democratic Review." Billing it as a unique experiment in show business, he said: "It is a show without any stars. Everybody is in the chorus. You may have heard their catchy tune. 'We Don't Wanta Run for Office in November.'"

The tour next headed for Boston, the original home of "the reigning political royalty." Ballyhoosing that "everything in Boston is Kennedy," he said:

"They're even thinking of renaming the Red Sox—the Bobby Sox." He said everyone is agog with talk about "the coronation of Bonny Prince Edward," but that Teddy might get dis-

Lodged.

The tour flew Southwest, "to gaze on the beautiful fertilizer tanks of West Texas," and on to California, where Dick Nixon is saying: "Let's get California moving again."

The political satire continued on around the world, pausing briefly in India, "which the New Frontier has renamed Ind-ee-er," and in Pakistan, where Lyndon B. Johnson would "walk a mile for a camel driver."

After similar stops in Moscow, Paris and London, Keating con-

Viet Nam Quoting Captive?

Say Yank Hits U.S. Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—The Vietnamese Communists say an American soldier they are holding captive has written his family attacking U.S. military support of President Ngo Dinh Diem's fight against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The U.S. embassy today made public two additional statements by the captive, one in Vietnamese and the Communist "liberation radio" and attributed to Spec. 4 George F. Fryett Jr., 26, of California.

The embassy yesterday released a broadcast statement quoting Fryett as denouncing "the criminal maneuvers of U.S. imperialism and the Diem administration in South Viet Nam."

The statements released today were addressed to the International Red Cross and to "Dear dad, dear wife Clara, and dear daughter Victoria."

Fryett was quoted as writing his family:

"War has not existed between North and South Viet Nam. South Viet Nam and its people have only risen to protect their peaceful traditions and happiness."

"The only thing I can say is that I am very sorry for having played a role in the forces that are being exploited in South Viet Nam."

"The truth has been concealed from the American public. This situation should not be allowed to continue."

Embassy officials expressed the opinion the soldier might have been brainwashed.

Cummings Back as Supervisor

City Commissioners Return 25-Year Veteran to County Board Post

The Pontiac City Commission last night reappointed a man of 25 years service to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Named to the board was R. C. Cummings, who has served on the body for 25 years and is a member of the ways and means committee. The commission in May had removed Cummings, along with three other supervisors, Philip E. Rowston, Wayne Anable and Mrs. Lee Hill from the board. Appointment of the four had been made earlier by the old City Commission shortly before the new body took office.

Last night, all six commissioners present agreed that Cummings' 25 years experience was valuable and his seat on the ways and means group too important to leave empty.

Commissioner Milton Henry denied charges that the commission removed the supervisors "recklessly and irresponsibly."

"I resent the implication," he added, "that we removed anybody out of pure malice. We have exercised the right to remove persons who shouldn't have been there to begin with."

OAS Terrorists Burn College, 5 Buildings

ALGIERS (U)—As the terrorist Secret Army Organization pressed its scorched earth campaign in Algiers today, six explosions set off a technical college and five private buildings.

Fire engines sped through the streets unencumbered by traffic because of the Moslem Achours holiday. The holiday is observed by the administration, public services and most merchants.

Police reported three Europeans were kidnapped by Moslems in broad daylight in Boufarik, south of Algiers.

They estimate 200 Europeans have been abducted by Moslems in the past two months in the greater Algiers area. Several dozen have been found dead, some bearing marks of torture.

Parachute Model of Space Capsule Into Texas Bay

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A full-scale model of the Mercury space capsule used by America's astronauts was successfully parachuted into Trinity Bay here Tuesday.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration manned space craft center crews directed the operation, designed to improve the parachute system of the capsule. A spokesman said a model of the improved Mercury capsule will be dropped in about 20 days and the remodeled capsule itself will be tested in about a month.

The new capsule will use retro rockets instead of a parachute to lessen the impact.

Woman Hurt Critically in Train-Truck Mishap

ANN ARBOR (U)—A 65-year-old grandmother was in critical condition at an Ann Arbor hospital last night after a truck-train accident in which she ordered two granddaughters to safety before the crash.

Mrs. Cecile Thayer of Indian River was reported unconscious and suffering multiple injuries. She was in a pickup truck that was struck by a New York Central freight train at Indian River yesterday.

Dies of Crash Injuries

DETROIT (U)—Virginia Collins, 43, of St. Clair Shores, died today of injuries received Monday in a car-truck crash.

Flag Day Means Little to Many Americans

The pity of Flag Day, Thursday, June 14, is that too few Americans will observe it. There was a time way back when, that nearly every family in the block kept a flag for such occasions.

Now, when we talk about "waving the flag," the phrase is used to mean overzealous patriotism.

Flag Day's roots go back to June 14, 1777, when the Second Continental Congress at Philadelphia adopted a resolution offered by its Marine Committee: "Resolved that the Flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, that the Union be 13 stars white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

As time went on, the admission of new states burdened the emblem with the stripes supposed to represent them. So Congress ordered that after July 4, 1818, the Flag should have 13 stripes, symbolizing the 13 original states; that the Union have 20 stars, and that whenever a new state was admitted, a new star would be added to the Union on the Independence Day following its admission.

On July 4, 1960, the 49-star flag was replaced by a flag with a 50th star—for Hawaii—in the field of blue.

If recent past experience is any criterion, Thursday will be relatively flagless except for those on public and institutional type buildings.

U.S. Woman Learns—Dancing Illegal in Saigon

"When in Rome . . ." also means Saigon, a young lady employed in the U.S. Embassy has learned.

The law of the land there recently put its foot down on dancing, among other things.

The crowd said to ta to the cha cha when the president passed a morals law which made such gyrations illegal, along with beauty contests, boxing, organized fights between animals, sorcery and birth control.

The young lady had a small party in progress, with dancing by the guests, when five policemen cut in. There was no evidence of sorcery, apparently, but the dancing had to stop.

Come to think of it, with boxing as bad as it is here, and the twist still in force, such a law might not be a bad idea. But beauty contests would be a loss, and having a taboo on voodoo would wreak havoc on the ram's horn business.

New Farm Program Would Benefit Few

Shortly, the House of Representatives will be considering the Administration's new farm program. As we understand this measure, along with many others, it will increase the price of food and the cost of the agricultural program as well.

Unless you want your grocery bill to go up, you should oppose the bill. Oddly enough, the farmers who are supposed to benefit are fighting it through their Farm Bureau Federation.

Key provision is that which would require every miller and processor of wheat for human consumption to buy "certificates" with his wheat. The farmer who wants to sell wheat must have a "certificate" to sell, too.

This slip of paper not only establishes how much wheat he will be allowed to raise, but also entitles him to a bonus price which the consumer ultimately must pay.

The certificate idea is now referred to as a "bread tax." Theoretically, two-thirds of the farmers who grow wheat must approve this plan before it can go into effect. But the Administration has a weapon to make sure the farmers vote for it.

The alternative the farmers face if they don't ballot for the bill would be cancellation of all price supports on wheat. They also face the prospect of the Commodity Credit Corporation dumping mountains of surplus wheat on the market and running the price down.

It's as simple as this: they either accept the Administration's plan or approve the collapse of the wheat market.

To us it seems incongruous for an administration which will use all its weapons to prevent a steel price increase in the name of maintaining price stability, to use weapons just as potent to force up the price of food.

Haven for Keys Columnist Divests Self of 30 Years' Weight

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

Years ago, there was a best-seller titled "The Keeper of the Keys." I disremember, as the fella said, what it was all about, but the title must have been prophetically aimed at me.

For, if the MAT may be pardoned a reference to his previous occupation, in relinquishing the management of The Waldron he figured that a ring of keys accumulated during his tenure should be turned over to someone. Might want to unlock something, you know.

Well! By actual count there were 23 keys on the ring. After prolonged search of memory, trial and error and just plain deduction, it was possible to establish the usefulness of just five—except that in two cases there was no longer need to keep locked the premises to which the keys gave access.

So-o-o, if anyone has plans to go in the used key business, the MAT's entire stock of orphaned ones is at his disposal.

Robert Bordwell

the greatest grower of Big Boy tomatoes in the known world—well, on Knottwood Drive then, if you're going to split hairs—has got his all stacked up and is sitting back looking for a bumper crop . . . And the MAT hastens to add that if Bob thinks for one minute that this is a hint he could use a few come harvest time, Bob's right!

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Watching, Waiting in SE Asia

WASHINGTON — The biggest game of double cross the world has ever witnessed is going on in Southeast Asia. The Soviet Union is double-crossing her ally — Red China. The Red Chinese are double-crossing the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the United States is playing a crafty game of watching and waiting, and thus far seems to have managed to keep the Communists from achieving their main aim.

For Red China's true aim is not merely to capture Laos, but to grab all of Southeast Asia. It may take quite a while to do it, but this is the long-range scheme as it is being unfolded step by step.

The Soviet Union's purpose, on the other hand, is actually to prevent the Red Chinese from achieving a mastery of the southeast Asia area, while ostensibly giving them support.

This means that, for the moment, the idea of a unity of factions in Laos — sometimes called a "coalition" government — is acceptable to the Russians and, for exactly opposite reasons, also to the Red Chinese.

The Soviets are confident that, by their methods of infiltration, they can control the so-called "neutral" government of Laos, while the Red Chinese think they can do the same through their own techniques. But the real objective of Red China is to get hold of South Viet Nam and Thailand, as well as Laos.

U.S. ROADBLOCK

The United States has put up a roadblock against the conquest of Laos by sending Marines in substantial numbers to nearby Thailand and a fleet to adjacent waters to show the Communists that America means business and will intervene in Laos if it becomes necessary.

It was this move, rather than any feeling of forbearance, which caused Red China and the Soviets to let the "coalition" government emerge in Laos.

Whether the recent activities by the United States have effectively stopped the Red Chinese plan to take over Southeast Asia, or merely caused a temporary interruption, cannot be determined at this time.

Unquestionably, each side is watching the other, and if there is any sign of faltering on the part of America, developments can come quickly and decisively.

What seems incredible today is the way the peoples of the West have allowed their own propaganda to become so weak and vacillating in the face of the biggest march of imperialism the present century has witnessed.

The Soviet Union has already extended her empire far and wide to cover more territory than the czars of Russia ever hoped to conquer.

CROSSER BORDERS

Red China has moved into neighboring areas, too, and has attached countries across her borders. If the Red Chinese weren't restrained by fears of Western military action, they would not hesitate to make a grab for India and Pakistan as well.

Incidentally, the Soviet Union, though claiming to be neutral, has been sending military supplies from North Viet Nam to Laos, and yet criticizes the United States for sending military advisors to Laos.

The Red Chinese, for the time being, are concentrating their strategy on Southeast Asia, but they are not sure where the Soviets may stand if a crisis comes.

It is this, rather than ideological differences, which may have caused talk of estrangement in relations between the two big Communist allies.

What has really confused the outside world is the way the Communists have operated in Southeast Asia. They have refrained from a strategy of direct invasion and, as President Kennedy describes it in a report to Congress this week, "have turned to the use of indirect subversion, infiltration, and guerrilla warfare."

Thus, the President points out

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Tips Offered on Saving Top Nutrition in Foods

As a nation, we are the best fed people of all times. Nutritional problems frequently are those of overproduction and overeating.

Nevertheless, during periods of unusual demand, such as the months of pregnancy and the years of childhood growth, efforts must be made to preserve the nutritional values of products we buy and to reduce spoilage and waste to a minimum.

To assist the housewife toward this end, thus stretching the dollar to the limit of its purchasing power, the AMA compiled on food and nutrition has issued a series of useful booklets.

Much of the information was originally published in their magazine, "Today's Health."

Here are some of the practical suggestions that should have appeal to the prospective mother and the housewife who is faced three daily with the problem of stoking the furnaces of a brood of rapidly growing youngsters.

STORE IN REFRIGERATOR

Store milk and milk products in refrigerator. Certain B vitamins contained in milk are destroyed by light.

Store frozen foods in freezer at zero degrees F. or less (do not freeze after thawing).

Store canned goods in cool, dry area at about 50 degrees F. (roof cellar or back of refrigerator).

Store opened canned foods, juices and leftovers in refrigerator after covering tightly.

Wrap dark green leafy vegetables, broccoli, asparagus, lettuce, etc. in wet cloth and store in humidity or coldest part of refrigerator (50 degrees F. or below).

In closed container, place beans, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers etc. in refrigerator.

Place fruit in refrigerator if possible. Refrigerate berries, (Vitamin C is rapidly lost unless protected).

To prevent withering, store potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips etc. in cool, dry place. Vitamin C content is highest in small, new, freshly dug tubers such as potatoes.

In trimming vegetables, remember that less attractive outer leaves contain the highest concentrations of vitamins and minerals.

Memoranda in Department of Justice files on suspected subversive organizations between April 29, 1953, and Oct. 25, 1955, were consolidated into one list issued on Nov. 1, 1955. It is a single sheet of paper of business letter size, printed on both sides in four columns of names.

The list originally contained 288 names, but five have been crossed off. They were removed by publication of notice in the official Federal Register after evidence was given that these organizations were not subversive.

that there are 300 combat divisions and more than 4,000 jet aircraft, as well as sizable naval forces, poised in the Far East.

But these forces can be swung into action in Southeast Asia whenever the Communists feel the time is ripe and they have enough internal support to warrant a take-over and conquest.

'A. G.'s List'—Now Museum Piece

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When an applicant for a United States Government job is given a security check, he must sign a statement that he does not belong and never has belonged to 283 organizations known as what is known as "The Attorney General's List."

Preparation of this list of subversive organizations began in 1953, and was back to President Harry Truman's famous Executive Order 9835 of 1948. The security program established under this order was revised by President Eisenhower's Executive Order 10450 of 1953.

Memoranda in Department of Justice files on suspected subversive organizations between April 29, 1953, and Oct. 25, 1955, were consolidated into one list issued on Nov. 1, 1955. It is a single sheet of paper of business letter size, printed on both sides in four columns of names.

The list originally contained 288 names, but five have been crossed off. They were removed by publication of notice in the official Federal Register after evidence was given that these organizations were not subversive.

Otherwise, the list has not been revised since 1953. So it is now an official document over six years old. It is obsolete and almost meaningless, except as a historical check list for government and business personnel officers.

A few non-Communist organizations are listed—such as the Ku Klux Klan, which is still considered active. The German-American Bund, the Sokoku Kai (Fatherland Society) of Japan and a few other organizations which disappeared at the end of World War II are also listed.

But George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi party, which has its headquarters in Arlington, Va. across the Potomac from Washington, is not listed. Neither are a number of admittedly Communist fronts of recent origin.

"The A. G.'s List" is overwhelmingly of Communist organizations whose names have been publicly disclosed about 10 years ago, and usually up to 1955. A check by the most authoritative sources available reveals that only 11 of the Communist front organizations listed are active today.

'Paper Didn't Print Both Sides of Story'

A good paper prints both sides of any question. As to the letter written by Mr. Sutt and the subsequent letters criticizing one person for one remark. However, you failed to print this person's answer.

You at no time proved whether the school candidate was hand picked or exercising his right to run for office. You also failed to print any of the letters written to you by a number of Central High students about the incident at that school. I wonder if Mr. Sutt ever stopped to think how the Negro race acquired all of its different skin coloring in America.

Editor's Note: We print 98 letters out of 1,000. We did print Henry's letter. Your statement is wrong. We did refuse a couple of editorials on Henry's remark over actual intercourse between races. Wouldn't you?

Rakes Dr. Crane Over the Coals

I protest against your publishing a column by Dr. George Crane. The inaccurate content is such that I cannot conceive of any responsible editor approving it.

Dr. Crane's reference to "specialized medicine" in Britain ignores the success of the British people and medical profession. "Specialized" medical treatment is precisely what many of us receive from doctors now, in cubbyhole consultation rooms with several receiving surgery treatments in 20-second installments, after waiting perhaps a half-hour to 2 hours.

Dr. Crane says, "Half of the folks past 65 are spending their own money on liquor and cigarettes . . . why should taxpayers step in and pay to combat lung cancer and heart attacks they are deliberately producing by squandering their own money. . . ."

What are his statistics? Who would "deliberately" produce cancer and heart attacks in himself?

Crane's colleagues are far from agreement and it is hardly in the American tradition to deny treatment because patients refuse from their own lack of judgment.

My first instinct was to cancel my subscription. However, even editors are human.

Franya A. Donagan

under the American system of fair play, every organization and its members are entitled to a hearing before they may be stigmatized in any way.

There is a big difference between saying that an organization is Communist infiltrated and saying that it is Communist dominated. To say that an organization is Communist controlled may be considered libelous.

Evidence on the degree of contact cases come only from witness whose testimony, if made public, might destroy a government source of information.

The government is, in effect, hamstringing. So summary decision was made during the Eisenhower administration that updating the list might do injury to some organizations and their members if falsely accused. Atty. Gen. William F. Rogers ruled against revision.

Since the Kennedy administration has come to Washington, some cases have been given to making a test case on listing the American Nazi party. But the conclusion was made that it would be best not to risk it.

This is not a permanent decision, however, and it may be reconsidered. This is where the matter stands today. The attorney general's list is seven years out of date.

Man Pleads Guilty to Assault Charge

A former Hazel Park resident pleaded guilty in circuit court yesterday to assault with intent to rape a 24-year-old Ferndale woman in a March.

Thomas Doyle, 31, entered his plea before Judge Stanton Dondero. Two original counts of kidnapping and rape against him were dropped.

Doyle allegedly jumped into the woman's car at a daylight in Royal Oak and forced her at gunpoint to drive to Madison Heights.

When Doyle was apprehended later at a Royal Oak hotel, police said they found a submachinegun under his mattress and a .38 caliber pistol under his pillow.

A case against Doyle for possession of a machinegun is pending, along with a charge for uttering and publishing.

Sentencing on the assault charge will be June 26.

Six GO-Parties Gross $450,000 in Michigan

A series of Republican-sponsored stage shows presented last month in Birmingham and five other Michigan cities grossed some $450,000 for the state GOP, Republican finance chairman Don Ahrens reports.

About 25,000 persons turned out for the six "GO-Party" productions, Ahrens said, paying from $2.50 to $50 a ticket. Last year's shows brought in about $400,000.

Ahrens said cost of the "GO-Parties" was 10 per cent of the gross last year and should be about the same this year.

Last month's productions featured singers Tony Martin and the Mills Brothers. Other cities on the tour were Grand Rapids, Lansing, Muskegon, Detroit and Flint.

"GO-Parties" replaced closed-circuit television dinners as major GOP fund-raising campaigns in Michigan in 1960. Republicans in four other states are expected to stage similar shows this year.

Pontiac City Affairs

Choose Vendor for Parks

The City Commission last night awarded a contract to Blue Island Sales of 3217 Dixie Highway, to provide refreshments in city parks this summer.

The city is to get 11 per cent of gross sales of Blue Island in the parks.

The other two bidders were Good Humor Corp. of Detroit, 10 per cent, and Mike Haroutianian of 281 Ferry St., 8 per cent.

The ice-cream and confection trucks will circulate in the following parks: Beaudette, Murphy, Aaron Ferry, Jaycee, Hawthorne, Oakland and Columbia-Johns. Also included is the Bagley and Brush field.

Private groups can bring in their own vendors to sell to groups. City Manager Robert Sierier said, but the main selling permit will be issued only to the firm which won the contract last night.

TO DEMOLISH STATION
Also last night, the commission accepted a low bid of $2,713 for demolition of the old Central Fire Station by Wolverine Lumber and Wire Co. of Pontiac, Demolition.

Chevy Official Named to Head Michigan UF
Edward H. Kelley, general manufacturing manager of Chevrolet Division, General Motors Corp., was elected president of the Michigan Union Fund, at an annual meeting Monday held at Kellogg Center, East Lansing.

Kelley succeeds Jack F. Wolfman, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Oldsmobile Division.

Recognized at the meeting of 500 volunteers for outstanding service to the fund were Wolfram; Clarence T. Jones, comptroller of Fisher Body Division in Flint; Mrs. Paul E. Krause of Detroit, the fund's membership committee chairman; and W. D. McIntyre, executive vice president of Monroe Auto Equipment.

Elder John Erhard had reported that the church had failed to sell the land during the last two years because of zoning restrictions.

ON CITY STREETS
In regard to the city's street system, the commission:

1—Heard an engineer's estimate of $12,137 total cost for curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work on Cameron Avenue, from Madison Avenue to the south line of Lot 567 of Perry Park subdivision. A public hearing on intent to construct was set for June 19.

2—Heard a city engineer's estimate of $11,630 total cost for similar work on Madison Avenue from Perry Street to Emerson Avenue. A public hearing on intent to construct was set for June 19.

3—Approved a resolution to accept special assessment rolls prepared by the city assessor for curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work on Fourth Avenue from Fuller Street to Arlene Avenue, and on Robinson Avenue from Perry Street to Manhattan Avenue. A public hearing was set for June 19.

4—Confirmed a special assessment roll for sanitary sewers on Clara Avenue from Arlene Avenue to Joslyn Avenue; Fuller Street from Clara Avenue to Peacock Avenue; and Peacock Avenue from Fuller Street to Joslyn Avenue.

5—Confirmed a special assessment roll for storm drains on Emory Street from Osun Lake ditch to Hollister Street; Hollister Street from Emory to Crittenden Street; and Crittenden Street from Hollister Street to a point 250 feet south-easterly of Hollister.

6—Confirmed special assessment rolls for combined sewer and related work on Stanley Avenue from Kennett Road to Strathmore Avenue.

Also approved was a request from the Oakland County 4-H Agricultural Association to conduct its annual festival Aug. 7-11 on 4-H grounds at Perry Street and Pontiac Lake Road.

Appointed Chairman of Drive for Institute

John W. Butler, executive vice president of Demery Stores, has been appointed chairman of the Oakland County Campaign for the Salk Institute for Biological Studies Fund.

The fund, sponsored by the March of Dimes, is a national appeal for funds to build and equip a research institute for Dr. Salk, developer of the polio vaccine.

The goal set by the Oakland County Chapter is $58,000.

Union Poll Gives Dems Fall Gains

Reversal of Trend Seen in Congressional Vote; JFK's Popularity Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A union-conducted poll indicates that the Democrats will reverse a historic trend and gain House and Senate seats from the Republicans in the November elections.

Results of the opinion survey among members of the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) also showed that President Kennedy's popularity soared following his successful opposition to a steel price increase last April.

It also showed "frustration" over lack of accomplishment by the Democratic-controlled Congress and a possible GOP advantage in the administration's failure to cut sharply into unemployment.

The poll indicated that medical care for the aged under Social Security as advocated by the President and opposed by the American Medical Association has solid public backing.

The poll, conducted by Roy Purdy of the Communications Workers, predicted former President Harry S. Truman's victory in 1948 and has been generally considered to have reflected as a reliable indicator of political opinion.

Purdy commented in a report to delegates at the union's convention in Milwaukee that the poll was taken in April and did not reflect the impact of the Billie Sol Estes scandal or the sharp gyrations of the stock market this month.

But, the report said, answers to a questionnaire pointed to Democratic gains in both the House and Senate this fall.

City Man, 26, Held on Narcotics Charge

A 26-year-old Pontiac man will appear in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday on a charge of violating the state narcotic laws.

George H. Williams, 181 Delwood St., is being held for the county jail after failing to meet the $1,000 bond set at his arraignment Monday before Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Alton Gilbert.

Williams was arrested Saturday afternoon while sitting in a parked car at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center.

Bloomfield Township and State police detectives allege that Williams was in possession of narcotics when they arrested him.

Judge Gives Go-Ahead and Man Leaves

BALTIMORE (AP)—Judge Robert Hammerman cleared his throat and told the defendant to "go ahead."

George Lacy turned and began walking out of Central Municipal Court, but a bailiff caught up with the 63-year-old bricklayer and escorted him back before the bench.

Judge Hammerman explained that "go ahead" referred to the testimony and not Lacy's freedom. At the conclusion of the hearing, Lacy was fined $10 for disorderly conduct.

Electronics Company Profits From Oranges

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The unusual combination of oranges and missile parts has proven a successful diversification for an electronics firm.

The firm built its plant on a 24-acre orange grove and for the first few years made more money selling oranges than electronics.

Eviction Won by Birmingham

Court Issues Injunction Against Shop Owner Without License

The city of Birmingham won its court fight Monday to evict a businesswoman from her dress shop at 208 Hamilton St.

Circuit Judge William Beer issued a permanent injunction restraining Mrs. Kathy Craig from conducting business because she does not have a merchant's license. Mrs. Craig has 20 days to vacate the shop. She has no plans to appeal the court decision.

Mrs. Craig started the court battle last month when she was granted a temporary injunction to stop eviction proceedings by the city.

City officials ordered the eviction when they found Mrs. Craig's shop violated an ordinance requiring new businesses to be in a fire-proof building.

Mrs. Craig contended she had a right to stay because the city earlier issued a building permit and certificate of occupancy. She said she spent $5,000 in building repairs and about $10,000 in stock before the fire ordinance violation was discovered.

$1,860 Biggest Toll in Current Rash of Safe Thefts

An estimated $1,860 in cash, largest amount taken in a current flurry of safe burglaries in Pontiac, was reported stolen Monday afternoon from a home at 331 Voshell Road.

William W. Hill, 44, said thieves broke into his home through a wall while he was away between 3 and 5:30 p.m. The thieves forced open a safe, which was only about $100 in petty cash, according to Ray Westrick, office manager.

Earlier in the day, officials of J. A. Friedman Inc., a construction firm at 735 S. Paddock St., reported that thieves had ripped open a wall-to-wall safe and a smaller safe kept inside. Thieves got only about $100 in petty cash, according to Ray Westrick, office manager.

Small amounts of money also were taken by burglars who forced open safes at Spark's Service Station, 204 S. Saginaw St., and Pontiac Central High School, 250 W. Third St. The last three burglaries apparently occurred over the weekend when the buildings were unoccupied, police said.

'Car Registrations Will Top 100 Million'

PHILADELPHIA (U.S. — An official of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads said yesterday he expects motor vehicle registrations to go over the 100 million mark in 1972, the year the inter-state highway system is scheduled for completion.

In remarks prepared for the conference of the National Association of Tax Administrators, E. M. Cope, chief of the highway statistics branch of the bureau, said he expects registrations to exceed 108 million by 1975.

"This would bring about a ratio of one vehicle for each 1.36 persons in the 15-74 age group, and a highway fuel consumption rate of over 20 billion gallons a year," said Cope. "It's hard to believe that these figures we are talking about are for 1975, only 13 years away."

Frog Hollow Still Taking Reservations

Frog Hollow Day Camp has openings for more campers ages 7-13 in all periods between June 25 and Aug. 10.

The camp, operated by the Parks and Recreation Department, is located at Pontiac Lake Recreation area and offers a program of swimming, camping, woodcraft and hiking. Transportation is provided the campers by buses which leave the old Court House at 9 a.m. and return at 4:15 p.m.

Registration at $8 may be made at the Parks and Recreation Office in the City Hall, 35 S. Park Street.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Doctors say, this is one laxative that works. It's called Colomax. As you grow older, the natural muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and thicken on the colon wall, stimulating the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only new Colomax gives you its special 3-way relief. (1) Colomax prevents the formation of dry, hardened stools. (2) Colomax relieves bowel pain or cramps. (3) Colomax relieves constipation with unique relaxing action. It acts gently on the nerve reflex that stimulates the "mass movement" of your lower colon. Colomax relieves even chronic constipation overnight. It was hospital-proved safe drug for exceptional medicine. Introducing the 4.54

To Aid 3 Counties Needing Relief Funds

LANSING 6 — Three northern Michigan counties which have exhausted their welfare funds will receive an emergency appropriation totaling $30,000, the Social Welfare Department said today.

Without it, they would not be able to make direct relief payments past the end of the week, the department said. Gogebic County will receive $9,525, Lake County $8,900 and Lape County $7,365, enabling them to meet direct relief obligations till July 1.

Fifteen to 20 other counties have exhausted their direct relief funds but have been able to draw money from other welfare funds to continue payments to needy families, said a department spokesman.

Sandburg to Get His High School Diploma at Last

GALESBURG, Ill. 6 — Carl Sandburg, Pulitzer Prize poet and historian, finally is going to get a high school diploma.

Galesburg High School officials decided Monday night to confer the diploma on Sandburg on his 85th birthday Jan. 6, 1963. Sandburg finished eighth grade in Galesburg, then I ended west to to work in the wheat fields of Nebraska.

He later returned and took a special qualifying examination for admission to Lombard College where he was a student from 1886 to 1902.

The white-haired biographer of Lincoln has been awarded honorary doctorates from many institutions including Yale, Harvard, Northwestern and Knox College which absorbed Lombard.

Mickey Rooney Files Bankruptcy Petitions

HOLLYWOOD 6 — Actor Mickey Rooney today filed petitions of voluntary bankruptcy in federal court.

Rooney listed debts of $184,514 and assets of $500 worth of household goods and clothes. His biggest debt, he said, is $168,000 due on a personal loan from Fryman Enterprises, Beverly Hills. The U.S. Internal Revenue Bureau demands $106,686 in income taxes, and the state of California $9,826 in state income taxes. Horne and women both contributed to his financial difficulties. He lost $2,000 at the races last year, his petitions showed, while three of his ex-wives are creditors.

Land slippage amounting to almost 21 feet was recorded during the disastrous earthquake which rocked San Francisco in 1906.

Convicted of Violating Government Check Law

GRAND RAPIDS 6 — A federal court jury yesterday convicted Robert J. H. Brooks, 23, of Battle Creek on a charge of government check law violation.

The two-day trial was held before U.S. District Court Judge W. Wallace Kent.

Brooks was remanded to jail to await a sentence date. He had pleaded innocent last May 29 to the charge of passing a forged $100 government check March 31 at Battle Creek.

Editorial Writer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edward C. Krauss, 78, editorial writer for the Los Angeles Times for 30 years before he retired in 1937, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Krauss joined the Times in 1923 after working for the Toledo (Ohio) Blade and the old New York Herald. He was born in Ottumwa, Ohio.

Savings Back After Trip on Auto Fender

DETROIT (AP) — Aziz Zarou has his life savings back today. They had gone for a ride on the fender of a car and fallen off into a downtown gutter.

Edward Kay, 19, found Zarou's savings — a stack of $100 U.S. savings bonds — and turned them over to police.

Zarou went to police headquarters with a list of serial numbers of 40 bonds. Police returned 40 bonds to him.

"Maybe I don't count as good," said Zarou who explained he had left the bonds on a car fender while he got a coin for parking out of his pocket.

Issue Call to Abolish House Anti-Red Unit

ADRIAN, Mich. — The board of Christian social concerns of the Detroit Methodist Conference has issued a call for the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

In a report issued by the board to be presented at the 121st Detroit annual conference in Adrian, the board said "We feel that it is in the best interests of traditional American government procedures that the HUAC ought to be abolished."

The report is an official recommendation to the 1,000 delegates convening in Adrian today for the five-day meeting.

The board said "by its 'guilt-by-association' tactics, the committee has projected the image of being the sole judge of what is and what is not 'un-American.'"

Plan to Double Scenic Shoreline Roads in State

LANSING, Mich. — A State Highway Department official says plans are in the making to nearly double Michigan's system of scenic shoreline highways within the next 20 years.

John W. Knecht Jr., public hearings director, says Michigan Great Lakes scenic shorelines now has more than 300 miles of highways and will have nearly 1,400 miles if present plans materialize.

"We in the highway department liken scenic highways to a string of pearls," Knecht said, "a modern highway network linking superior points of interest along our shorelines."

The new highways, he said, will make more of Michigan's scenery and history easily accessible to everyone, drawing more visitors and vacation dollars to the state.

There's Always One to Spoil Everything

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Blue Grass State of Kentucky has no monopoly on blue grass.

It grows better and more abundantly in northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, New Jersey and New York, explains Robert Buckner of the University of Kentucky agronomy department. Buckner calls blue grass a cool-grass and says, "We are on the southern edge of the region of adaptation — blue grass really grows much better in the Midwest and Northeast."

To Ask Britain About Rhodesia

U. N. Delegations Want New Constitution for Southern Territory

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — African and Asian delegations worked today on a resolution for the U. N. General Assembly asking Britain to call a conference soon to draft a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia.

The 51-nation Asian-African group scheduled a late-afternoon meeting in an effort to finish the draft before the start of assembly debate Thursday on the situation in the white-ruled British African territory.

The assembly voted 62-26 Tuesday, with 15 abstentions, to debate Britain's plans for a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia. Forty-one members of the Asian-African group charged the proposed constitution would perpetuate the rule of the white minority.

The United States joined Britain in opposing the debate.

Later, the Asian-African group spent almost two hours in private session discussing a resolution on Southern Rhodesia prepared on the basis of a text originally drawn up by the assembly's special committee of 17 on independence for colonial territories.

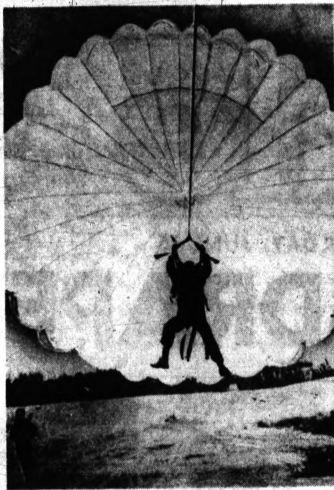

The group approved the preamble of the resolution, with some revisions, and then endorsed the first working paragraph, which approved a report on Southern Rhodesia from the special committee.

2 Unions to Share Ushering Jobs at Circus in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The ushering jobs at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus here are going to be shared by two unions as the result of a temporary settlement in a jurisdictional dispute yesterday.

Pickets of the Building Service Employees' Union (AFL-CIO) withdrew from Cobo Convention Area where they had protested the hiring of members of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees Union (AFL-CIO) for the jobs.

The pickets maintained the jobs traditionally have been assigned to members of their union. The unions will share the work until a permanent settlement is reached.

Cotter Pin May Be Key to 707 Crash at Idlewild

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mechanic's oversight, a tiny cotter pin and a bolt less than an inch long could have been the ingredients of disaster in the New York crash of a jet liner, the Federal Aviation Agency says.

Ninety-five people were killed when the American Airlines Boeing 707 plunged into Jamaica Bay on March 1, seconds after taking off from Idlewild Airport.

The FAA said the bolt, part of a complex rudder mechanism, may have slipped out of place when a nut securing it fell off for lack of the little cotter pin.

The agency wired airlines and other organizations that fly 707 jets Tuesday, warning them of the potential danger spot. One such warning went to the Military Air Transport Service, which operates the Boeing jets used by President

George C. Prill, director of the FAA flight standards service, said the New York crash "could have been the result of an installation mistake by one man on one aircraft."

"NOT FIRST TIME"

"We do not see this as a possible explanation for any other 707 crash about which we have any information," he said. "But it would not be the first time that an airplane crashed because a mechanic left a cotter pin out of a bolt."

"You cannot say this is it—we can never prove it happened even though it could have happened," Prill said the civil aeronautics board still is investigating the New York crash and will make the final decision on the probable function of the rudder boost system.

In his wire to 10 U.S. airlines, Prill said information on the speed and altitude of the crash plane, obtained from the flight recorders, Prill said investigations in order to explain standards used for qualifying school districts, for bond issues. The construction cost

Expect Long Delay on Patent for Your Invention

By PHYLIS BATELLE
NEW YORK — Almost every adult in America has thought of himself, at one time or another, as an inventor.

"Inventing" is a form of creative activity which even the least creative man likes to claim he has. A man walked into the office of Albert Gelardin, an inventions buyer, and explained he had invented a three-way car: It could fly through the air, roll along the highway, and churn through the waves.

"How does it work?" Gelardin inquired.

The inventor was illigant.

"I'm not an engineer," he said. "I'm an idea man!"

This is the kind of "invention" the average man considers his. He does not realize, as the expert pointed out, that the idea is less than one per cent of the invention. The manufacture of the idea is 10 per cent. And 90 per cent of the success of an invention is finding a market for, and selling it.

The column I wrote five years ago about this discomfiting interview with Mr. Gelardin was meant to discourage the average man from wasting his leisure time in creating novel ideas that have one chance in a thousand of seeing the light of a television commercial. But the column, rather than discouraging a amateur inventor, brought in—is still, in fact, bringing—eager mail.

Only last month there was a letter from a lady in the mid-West who claimed she had saved my column for five years until her invention would be perfected. Now, at last, it is perfected. Where, she wanted to know, could she contact Mr. Gelardin?

PATENT NEEDED

I have no idea where Mr. G. is today. The last words I heard him speak were, "But don't forget, I never look at an invention unless it has been patented"—and then he was gone. Leaving me to be besieged by my readers with home-made innovations.

Personally, I have only one invention, a buck-passing system dreamed up to handle this peculiar situation. Since Mr. Gelardin's advice was to get your invention patented, first thing, I have researched the patent situation and will reveal the particulars:

Write to the U.S. Patent Office, Washington, D.C., and file an application with the commissioner, giving a full description of the invention and enclosing a $30 fee. The fee, incidentally, is the same today as it was when the patent system was started in the 18th century.

If you receive a patent, it gives you the right to prevent anyone else from using or selling your invention for 17 years.

You may, however, have to wait some time for an answer.

More than 300 applications a day

pour into the patent office. Of these, only three out of five become patents. And, in spite of help from a computer which sifts through past patents to see how new your idea actually is, there is a backlog of some 200,000 potential patents.

It takes about three years to process a patent.

When you consider this—added to Gelardin's advice that the invention itself is only 10 per cent of the commercial product—you may realize that there is no point becoming impatient.

Take one of those new inventions, a tranquillizer. Indulge in that great-time-honored invention, prayer. And maybe someday, if your invention is a really good one, God and big business will help you sell it.

Meantime, please don't write me. I can't even invent a good excuse.

You Receive Thanks for Your Traffic Fine

ATLANTA (AP) — When you pay your fine to the traffic department of suburban Deatur's police station, you receive a cash register slip as a receipt.

On the back of the slip is printed: "Thank you for your patronage."

Man Pleads Guilty to Highland Break-In

One of two 22-year-old men charged with breaking and entering a Highland Township service station early Monday in circuit court.

Sidney McIntosh, of 343 Louise, Highland Park, will be sentenced June 26. His alleged accomplice, Raymond Willis, of 1563 Harbut, Detroit, pleaded innocent and will be scheduled for trial.

Both men were apprehended by police after a robbery at Corey's service station, 1538 W. Highland Road.

Let Hubby Do It—Abby

Just Shift the Burden

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a man who had all kinds of "big ideas." Thank heavens I was able to support myself because that's what I have been doing.

But I can't support both of us forever. Abby, he is "proud." He is a college grad. (I am not.) He has been offered jobs, but he doesn't accept them because they are all "beneath him." I tell him to take whatever he can get until one of his big "deals" materializes.

It is like talking to the wall. What does a wife do with a husband who sits at home doing nothing and then goes out to collect unemployment compensation? Fortunately, we have no children.

CARRYING THE LOAD
DEAR CARRYING: Perhaps you are doing such a good job of "carrying the load" your husband is reluctant to compete with you. Why don't you quit your job and hoist the burden on his shoulders, for awhile? He might surprise you. And if he doesn't, you'll know that you "have a child" after all.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me what you consider a decent curfew for a 15-year-old girl on a Saturday night?

DEAR JOANIE: Midnight. But the caliber of the boy you're with is more important than the hour of your return home.

DEAR ABBY: Why are so many people ashamed to admit they don't understand modern art? It is almost comical to watch some people trying desperately to make sense out of splashes, circles, squares and abstracts.

Although they can't begin to figure out what the artist had in mind when he painted it, they will say it is "magnificent" and "exciting."

In the field of writing, we do not disarrange letters and mix up words and expect people to find the "beauty" and "meaning" in it. Why then all this gobbledygook in painting? I just don't get it.

FRANK AND HONEST

DEAR FRANK: I don't get it, either. Let's merge.

Confidential to Abby readers: "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." E. Burke said it and I believe it. Exercise your right to vote.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Bethel 5 Will Install New Officers Saturday

PAMELA TIBBETTS

Post Auxiliary Meets to Plan for Convention

Wright Fourier AMVET Auxiliary Post 161 met at Mrs. Edward J. Mason's Lake Orion home Sunday and made plans to attend the state convention in Detroit.

President Mrs. Edwin H. Good will represent the auxiliary during the June 29-31 sessions at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, Mrs. Carl Crisman is alternate.

Others who will attend the meetings are Mrs. Albert Emmsley, Mrs. William Marshall, Mrs. Margaret Spelling and Mrs. Edward J. Mason.

The auxiliary also mapped out details for their "two ball" golf at the Davisburg course July 4. A cooperative luncheon will follow the link activities at the home of Mrs. Carl Crisman in Clarkston.

International Order of Job's Daughters, Bethel 5, will conduct an installation of officers at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Masonic Temple on East Lawrence Street.

Pamela Tibbetts will be installed as honored queen. Assisting Sally Ide, installing officer, in the Twenty-Third Degree ceremony will be Pat Rahlis, Sandra Schmidt, Karen Antolich, Mary Choate, Carolyn Campbell, Barbara Le-corn, Kiki Sobies, Kay Lee, Marilyn Vernon and Mrs. George Killen.

Lisa Kim Caswell will be the Bible escort, and Norman Norgren and Robert Chambers will be flag escorts.

TO TAKE OFFICE

Also to be installed are Eleanor Stuart, senior princess; Donna Chambers, junior princess; Edna Isenberg, guide; Dale Ann Caswell, marshal; Lois Deaton chaplain; and Pamela Stewart, musician.

Others taking office will be Sandra Coombs, recorder; Gail Coughlin, senior custodian; Pamela Powers, junior custodian; Barbara Vaisbuch, treasurer; Joy Carroll, librarian; Judy Almus, inner guard; and Janet Duval, outer guard.

Concluding the list are Donna Wisniewski, Linda Isenberg, Linda Mason, Sharon Carroll and Carol McFarland, messengers; Marlene Kibbie, soloist; Cheri Gay, Bethel flag bearer; and Marlene Sherrod, registrar.

To Open Wisner Home

Members of the Oakland County Historical Foundation have voted to open the Gov. Moses Wisner home on Oakland Avenue to visitors on Wednesday afternoons from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. with a guide to show people about.

A small fee will be charged for adults, but no charge will be made for children accompanied by an adult.

In the past the house has been open at intervals with volunteer help, but this will be the first time a regular schedule has been tried.

Two new improvements are under way at the home. Inside, one of the small downstairs rooms is being re-modeled into a public powder room. Outside, the roof cellar is being rebuilt, and it is hoped that volunteer work of some of the brick and stone mason craftsmen in the area will assist the project.

The committee in charge of the interior has kept to a policy of using only furnishings that are of the 1860-1880 period when the house was occupied by Gov. Wisner. Original furniture is preserved and used in the parlor. Original pieces also are on display in other rooms, supplemented by gifts that fit into the period.

Recent improvements include a wire fence to enclose the property of three sides, and the furnishing of a small play room to display dolls and toys of the era.

Improvements on the home have been made possible by the gifts of area clubs and interested parties, since the property has only a small regular income from memberships and other sources.

Some 300 third grade school children have been shown through the home this spring.

Hang Your Soap

Hang your personal soap up to dry — on an ingenious 3-inch rubber disk equipped on both sides with many tenacious little suction cups.

Here's how: wet the back of the disk and press it firmly against a wall or bathtub, then push the damp soap against the front of holder. This gadget is fine for shower enthusiasts, since it places the soap at any convenient level, eliminating stretching or stooping.

Prevent Trouble

Exercise Your Feet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The saying, "My poor aching back," has meaning for many folks. However, I doubt that backaches cause any more fatigue or discomfort than weak feet do. These can give you a backache!

Preventative measures are easier than cures, and a few exercises for the feet should be a part of a daily routine. This is especially true if you are on your feet a lot of the time, or if you are overweight. In either case, your under-pinnings take a beating.

Stand on a book or a step with your toes hanging over the edge. Curl your toes around the edge of the book or step. Grip hard and hold for a few moments. Relax. Continue.

If you are feeling playful do the following. If you aren't, maybe this exercise will make you feel that way. Anyway, it's good for your arches.

If you have some marbles around the house, throw them onto the floor. Pick them up with your toes one at a time and toss them away. Continue. Don't forget your left foot. If you have given up marbles, you can use a pencil.

This next one makes you look silly, but it will not make you feel silly. Walk about the room, putting as much weight as you can on the outer edges of your feet.

We figure-mold our hips and abdomens and build up our bosoms but forget about our feet which carry everything in heat, in snow, in flat country and on hills. They do deserve some consideration!

Educational Requirements: High school graduation almost always a requirement; business course either in high school or after graduation; good stenographic and typing skills, plus strong grammatical knowledge; ability to use office machines an extra asset; in some fields, knowledge of special terminology such as medicine, law, or engineering a necessity.

Personal Requirements: Manual dexterity; good vision; conscientiousness; friendly manner; attractive appearance; discretion; initiative for more responsible jobs.

Advantages: Thousands of openings, since there has been a shortage of workers with stenographic and typing skills since World War II; future demand not affected by technological developments, but work requirements may change with introduction of new office machinery; new opportunities continually being created by expansion in business and government activities; opportunity for many part-time workers.

Disadvantages: Beginning positions may be repetitive and monotonous; great amount of detail; not too much opportunity for imaginative or first-hand work except in top executive secretarial jobs.

Salaries: Junior typists, $45.50 to $68 a week; senior typists, $55.50 to $87.50; transcription machine operators, $48 to $76.50; general stenographers, $58.50 to $87; secretaries, $70 to $110.

Math Dept. Head Is Named to Donner Chair

Hubert V. Davis, head of the mathematics department at Cranbrook School, has been named to the Donner Chair, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Bruce N. Coulter.

The teaching grant provides the recipient with an estimated $12,000 annual salary. It was awarded to Cranbrook last year by the Donner Foundation of Philadelphia. Cranbrook is one of 15 independent secondary schools sharing equally in the $4.5 million teaching endowment.

Mr. Davis came to Cranbrook in 1952. He received his B.S. Degree from Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine, and his M. A. Degree from the University of Michigan. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and the Cum Laude Society.

Mr. Coulter, an English instructor, resigned from the school after 26 years to become headmaster of Kingsbury School in Oxford.

Air-Cell Blanket

A newly developed cotton blanket features an air-cell weave construction to provide maximum warmth without weight. It is pre-shrunk, stain resistant, and said to retain its shape through numerous launderings in the hottest possible sudsy and rinses.

This type of blanket, which will be available for home use later, is being tested in hospitals where it can be boiled and sterilized repeatedly to avoid transmitting contagious diseases.

Steppers Honor Square Dancers of Centennial

A roundup for Greater Pontiac Centennial Square Dancers is planned by the Style Steppers Square Dance Club Saturday.

All square dancers and friends are invited to Pontiac Township Hall, 6000 E. 12th Ave., Pontiac, for the 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. event.

Ed Farr is caller for this centennial anniversary dance, which recognizes those dancers who took part in "The Pontiac story."

A workshop is planned between 8 and 8:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served. Costumes are optional.

Change Date of Gathering

A change of meeting date is announced by the City of Pontiac Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1370.

During July and August the group will meet the second Friday of the month.

In other announcements, the group's Americanism dinner is set for Sunday at the post on South Saginaw Street. Proceeds from the turkey dinner will go toward the purchase of flags. President Mrs. George Pappas has appointed Mrs. E. D. Birdsal as secretary for the auxiliary.

In 46 of the states, individual cities are authorized to establish courts for juvenile offenders.

MRS. WILLIAM L. YOUNG

Guendolyn Sue Bellamy and William L. Young were well Saturday in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Their parents are the Samuel A. Bellamys, Tangent Drive, Waterford Township, and the Toivo Johnsons of Auburn Heights.

Pair Exchanges Vows in Afternoon Service

Guendolyn Sue Bellamy exchanged vows with William L. Young of Foster Street Saturday afternoon in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Elder Hubert Brown performed the ceremony before a background of palms and white peonies.

After greeting guests in the church pews, the Samuel A. Bellamys, parents of the bride, were hosts at a reception in their home on Tangent Drive, Waterford Township. The bridegroom is the son of the Toivo Johnsons of Auburn Heights.

A butterfly veil of silk illusion cascaded over the bride's face, complemented the bride's floor-length gown of off-white silk organza over tulle. Her lace bodice was embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Linda Groves, maid of honor, appeared in floor-length orchid organza and carried white carnations and pink roses. Wearing identical dresses were bridesmaids Norma Dabbs, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Kenneth Frazer, sister of the bridegroom. They carried pink roses and carnations.

On the esquire side were Thomas Smith, best man, and ushers Gene and Ted Dabbs. After a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live in Pontiac.

Mrs. Bellamy chose turquoise silk organza over tulle for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in floor-length gown of off-white silk organza over tulle. Her corsage were pink roses.

Teenagers Understood by Novelist

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE
Teen-agers who can't make up their minds about their future careers—and may not even care a hoot what they do when they're adults—have a friend in Michael Blankfort, California novelist who incorporated just such a confused character in his most recent book, "Goodbye, I Guess."
"Of course the kids are in a bad spot," says Blankfort. "They may not live out their years. They're faced with seemingly insoluble problems. One of the reasons there are so many student demonstrations is because of this very frustration."

Fear, too, he says, causes teen-agers in nuclear 1962 to act as though they didn't care about anything. "They're indifferent. To quote them in their own dialogue, they say 'Why sweat?' Beneath this seeming indifference, they're actually scared to death."
"Because they're scared about what's going to happen to the world, they're also scared of trying anything new. They want to stick around their own backyard. They don't want to add to new people and new situations."

Sympathetic as he is with this kind of psychology, Blankfort would gently remind American teen-agers that others like them in countries that have actually been torn by war did not let the future shadow the present.

"Look at the French," he advises. "Their sense of life is enormous. They respond with intensity. They live day to day."

And that, he adds, is a good prescription for the unsettled American teen-ager. "Find something of interest each day, and enjoy it."

Women Must Upgrade Work of Homekeeping

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON—If women did not have a low grade opinion of their own value around the house, at least one very important working mother would have a lot less work to do.

She is Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and director of the Women's Bureau.

As such she has recently been busy urging Congress to eliminate inequalities in wages, job and advancement opportunities among some 25 million women in the nation's working force.

But she also wrinkles her brow about two other problems: the working mother's need for dependable help at home, and the need for more employment opportunities for the mature woman without previous business training or experience.

These two dilemmas could solve each other, and industry could benefit at the same time, points out Mrs. Peterson who has four young children at home.

PRESTIGE NEEDED

"But everybody has to have a little more respect for domesticity. We need to make it a bit more of a profession."

"Who has already had success and experience in raising children and taking care of a home? Why, older women of course," she says, "the tall, handsome blonde sometimes answers her own questions."

If there was more prestige and more money for this kind of work, older women would be unashamed to take over chores left behind by the mother on the job, she says.

"But we women are to blame. We downgrade our work so. We think it's so worthless that we're not willing to pay for it when somebody else must do it."

Of course, working women must have salaries large enough to enable them to pay for adequate help around the house. And Uncle Sam must be sympathetic enough to allow women to deduct this from their incomes as a legitimate expense.

These are goals for the recently appointed President's Commission on the Status of Women, with which Mrs. Peterson works very closely.

TALENT UNLEASHED

When these are met, industry itself will benefit, she says, because more women with special skills and education will be able to fill serious shortages in certain areas.

"I know what it is to run a

Twin Mothers Plan Meeting for Tomorrow

Twin Mothers Club will hear George Caronis of the youth assistance program during Thursday's meeting at the 300 Bowl.

Mr. Caronis will tell the group how parents can help their children to be emotionally well-adjusted.

Election of officers will also be held at this time with President Mrs. Fred Willcock of Clarkston in charge. Mrs. Harry Julien of Oxford is in charge of nominations.

The club will stage its third annual picnic Sunday at the 4th grounds on M24 near Lake Orion. Mrs. Ronald Collins of Clarkston is directing the plans.

Church Group Changes Date

Women of the Church of the Immaculate Word will not hold their monthly meeting at the regular date. They will meet instead at the parsonage on Mulberry Road, June 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Niomi Altar Guild will meet at the regular time at the parsonage June 28 at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Roy Borstrom will preside in the absence of President Mrs. Earl Thorpe. Mrs. Walter Latozas and Mrs. Gurnard Turquist will also take part in the program.

Hostesses for the breakfast are Mrs. O. H. Lindmark and Mrs. Joseph Lorenz. Women on Altar Guild duties for the month are Mrs. Walter Kollander and Mrs. Lorenz.

Serbinoffs to Honeymoon in Europe

The Christopher Serbinoffs who spoke vows before Rev. George Nickloff Sunday afternoon in St. Clements Orthodox Church, Detroit, are flying to Europe this week for a summer honeymoon.

The former Judith Ann Dunn of South Shore Drive, Watkins Lake, is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Dunn, Rochester, Minn.

Chantilly lace, touched with sequins and seed pearls, accented the puffed-out bodice of white silk organza styled with chapel train. A bouffant veil of silk illusion was fitted to a crown of lace and pearls. The bride carried white roses and stephanotis for the ceremony and a church reception.

Maid of honor, Caryl Bierbaum, Ann Arbor, appeared in a princess-line dress of blue silk organza. Her cascade bouquet included pink and white roses.

Christopher Nicholas of Warren performed the duties of best man for the bridegroom, the son of the Thomas Serbinoffs of Sunnybeach Drive, White Lake Township.

The bride is a graduate of University of Minnesota where she is affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority. Her husband is an alumnae of University of Michigan.

While a combination orchid accented a pink linen dress and a matching three-quarter length coat for Mrs. Dunn and ice-blue silk for the mother of the bridegroom.

MRS. CHRISTOPHER SERBINOFF

Vows were exchanged by Judith Ann Dunn, Watkins Lake, daughter of Mrs. Alice Dunn, Rochester, Minn., and Christopher Serbinoff, son of the Thomas Serbinoffs, White Lake Township, Sunday in St. Clements Orthodox Church, Detroit.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Winner of this week's Tailor Trick, immediately and give me some helpful hints that I can pass on to all of the women who read this column.

"With summer really here, I thought your readers might enjoy a favorite hat trick of mine. "Remove the old flower and grosgrain bands from any summer hat, all the way from panama to small straw clothes. Use leftover fabric from your summer dresses and make plain or pleated bands for your hat.

They can easily be applied to your hat by sewing snaps every two inches around the crown of the hat. Sew the other half of the snaps to your fabric band, in this way they can be changed in a jiffy.

"You can also attach a band of flowers to a velvet ribbon and snap it on for a change. One hat can fit into almost every occasion. "Your small fry will also love the idea if you just tie their beach clothes back on their beach hats."

STITCHING TRICK

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: "In many of the ready made shorts and slacks there is a permanent crease sewed in. How would you suggest going about this when you make your own sport clothes?"

After the shorts or slacks have been finished, fold them carefully so that the side seams will come directly over the inner-leg seams. Press on the folds, both front and back. After they have been accurately pressed, machine stitch as close to the pressed edge as possible.

These are usually only stitched in the front, from the waistband to the hem. If you stitch the back crease, do so from the hip-line to the hemline only.

The machine stitching makes your garment appear pressed at all times and will definitely look neater.

WANTS SUGGESTIONS

"Dear Eunice: "I have some pheasant feathers that I want to use to make a hat. What kind of glue would I use and how would I go about covering a hat?"

Mrs. F. G. I have recently received several letters about hats made of pheasant feathers. This would be a good summer project and your hat would be ready to wear by fall. I am hoping some of you readers who have become proficient at this.

If you would like Mrs. Farmer's leaflet which explains how to make spaghetti straps and rope belts sent 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Baritone Heads Department at Interlochen

Former leading baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera and the Cincinnati Opera, Barre Hill, has accepted an appointment to head the voice and opera department of Interlochen Arts Academy.

Mr. Hill is former head of the voice department at the University of Oklahoma and has served as chairman of the voice and opera departments at the National Music Camp and the University of Michigan at Interlochen. He also taught voice and opera at the American Conservatory in Chicago.

Since 1959, Mr. Hill has been grass roots opera chairman for the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The new Academy, which opens Sept. 9, is a specialized school for gifted students of high school age. It will offer a full college preparatory curriculum, with emphasis on music and the arts.

Howard Polley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Polley, Ascut Street, Waterford Township, was graduated June 1 from the Detroit Business Institute. He received a bachelor of science degree with a major in accounting.

Measure Child's Progress Against Past

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Until two months ago I lived in a rural area where our 4-year-old girl had no other children to play with.

Now we have moved to a suburb where she has several playmates, but she is still quite shy with them.

Instead of running out to join them in games the way they do with each other, she will hang around the stoop until they call her or come into the yard. She doesn't know how to defend her toys from them either but will let them run off with them.

ANSWER: But this present shyness is less than it was when she first met these children? If so, what are you fussing about? Do you think it's fair to measure the social ease of a little girl who has never had playmates with the social ease of other youngsters who have always had them? I don't.

I think that the only meaningful way you can possibly judge your little girl's social self-confidence is to check what it is now against what it was when she first acquired these friends.

It is a child's own progress, not other children's achievements, that probably evaluates her current performance.

Surely this must make sense to you. If I started taking driving lessons I would get pretty discouraged if I began to compare my skill with the skill of experienced drivers.

To truly judge it, I have to become aware of my improvement, saying to myself, "I'm certainly better at parking today than I was three days ago."

If your husband insists on measuring his business success against that of his employer, how can he get any reliable estimate of it? He can't.

As the employer's success developed from a financial position that was different from your husband's, it doesn't tell us a thing about your husband's.

To get an accurate perspective on his success, your husband has to think to himself, "I am doing well inasmuch as I have been able to improve this year's work over last year's work."

If we insist on comparing our achievements to other people's instead of comparing them with our own past performance, then we may have to collapse into discouragement.

We can lose appreciation of children's progress, too, by comparing it with other children's. It's nice that your little girl's playmates are so sure of themselves that they can run off with her toys—but it's just as nice that she is managing to get herself included in their games. In view of the difference between their social experience and hers, I'd say she was coming along pretty well.

I suggest that we feel grateful for her progress in self-confidence.

Teething Toll Told

Teething takes a toll on the playpen—and on baby, too—when the "chewing" surface isn't kept clean. A careful mother protects the safety of her child by washing the frame regularly with soap or detergent suds, then rinsing and wiping it dry.

Plastic-covered bumpers should be suds-sponged to help keep the infant's surroundings germ-free during the vulnerable teething period.

Bread, Cheese and Eggs Become Luncheon Dish

By JANET ODELL Pontiac Press Home Editor

Sometimes we get recipes in the mail from readers and for this we are grateful. But we wish said readers would tell us something of themselves too, especially when they have no telephone with which we could do some sleuthing.

Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple of Pontiac sends us a recipe she used often during Lent. It's one that could be a Friday favorite throughout the year.

CHEESE SANDWICH CASSEROLE

By Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple Trim crust from 8 slices of bread and make up 4 cheese sandwiches, buttering the bread on both sides. Put in lightly buttered baking dish.

Beat up 3 eggs with 1 1/2 cups milk and salt and pepper and pour over sandwiches. Let set for 1 hour. Bake 1 hour, first 15 minutes at 400 degrees and last 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

For variety, tuna or chopped hard cooked eggs may be added inside the sandwich. Serves 4.

Sneaks Up on Spy Ship for Photos

Navy Pilot Catches Reds With Suspenders Dangling

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — Navy sources told last night how its Neptune patrol planes tricked a Soviet spy ship in the Pacific into showing its espionage equipment.

The Navy pulled the scheme because pictures taken through a submarine's periscope of the spy ship's operations were not too good.

Sources said U.S. planes, ships and submarines had been shadowing the Russians but always found the crews in a playful mood.

"Every time an American ship approached, or one of our planes passed overhead, we'd see the happy Russians playing volleyball, waving gleefully just like a cruise ship," these sources said.

But American ingenuity finally produced for the Navy the pictures needed.

Neptune patrol planes made sweeps on exact schedules with no attempt made to hide the fact that the planes were on a photographic mission.

The Russians fell for the trick.

They would hide their equipment at the scheduled time and start playing volleyball for the Neptune photographers.

"One day," a Navy source said, "the Neptune made its usual before-lunch visit, circled the ship, shot his pictures and left just as he always had done."

"After disappearing over the horizon and looting around for half an hour the plane came back, belly on the deck and so low the napping Russians missed him in their radar."

"We caught them with their suspenders dangling but with their aerials and screens strung up all over the place. We got some wonderful pictures, too, one showing a Russian sailor shaking his fist at the plane."

GAME OF WITS

Navy sources said at least two Soviet spy ships and several transfers had been shadowed since they began entering the Pacific April 25.

"Our main objective," a Navy communications expert said, "was to find out what type of electronic and communications gear they were carrying. The Russian objective was to keep us from finding out."

No attempt was ever made to molest either the first ship sighted, the Al Voyevskoy, an alleged "hydrographic" vessel, her sister ship, the Shaka-Sity, or the Russian "fishing trawlers."

But they were shadowed constantly as the ships moved south toward the nuclear testing area.

The Russians were so cagey in concealing their equipment that the U.S. Navy had to outsmart them by playing dumb.

Once the Russians were caught off guard by the low-flying Neptune, the U.S. Navy got what it wanted — valuable intelligence about their operations.

"One thing we learned," a reliable source said, "was that these ships have computers aboard equal to anything we possess."

Argentine Rail Retirees Plead for Back Pensions

MENDOZA, Argentina (UPI) — Retired railwaymen announced today they would be reduced to begging for food unless the government starts payment by Friday of pensions now four months in arrears.

An announcement said the pensioners are having trouble getting credit from grocers and that electric and gas supplies to many of their homes have been cut off because of nonpayment of bills.

Both Parties Borrow From Kennedy

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's longest and most grueling election campaign in history comes to a close Monday when ten million voters select the country's 25th parliament.

Most signs indicate neither Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative party nor the Liberal opposition, led by Lester B. Pearson, will win a clear majority. A photo finish appeared more likely.

Both parties admit borrowing freely from President Kennedy's successful 1960 campaign tactics. Diefenbaker, 66, and Pearson, 66, have covered more than 15,000 miles in cross-country election-circuit since parliament was dissolved just before Easter.

Should the Conservatives and Liberals fight each other to a standstill in the 265-seat House of Commons two minority parties, one Socialist and the other right-wing, could elect enough members to hold a balance of power in parliament. Another national vote will be held within six months.

Things were different in 1958. The Conservatives won a record 208 seats.

RECORD FIELD
A record field of 1,015 candidates, including 14 Communists, has been waging an eight-week campaign, longest in the country's history. Although the Communist party is legal here, its candidates were expected to forfeit their $200 deposits by failing to draw half as many votes as the winner.

If current sentiment prevails, federal law probably will be changed within the next few years to hold the campaign to four or five weeks.

The ten million eligible voters were labeled "apathetic" early in the campaign, but interest has increased as election day nears. In deed, some recent meetings have been as rough as any on record, and Diefenbaker spoke twice in one week before crowds which appeared on the borderline of violence.

Otherwise, the campaigning has followed usual practice — old-fashioned mainstreets in rural areas and more modern techniques such as rallies in the large urban centers.

Diefenbaker has denied his administration's five-year record. Pearson, borrowing a Kennedy phrase, calls the 1957-62 era "the wasted years."

One issue appeared to stand out as the campaign neared the wire.

The dispute began on May 3 when Finance Minister Donald Fleming issued a surprise announcement that the government had decided to place the Canadian dollar at 93¢ of its United States counterpart.

A nationwide controversy resulted and the parties have waged war on what the move means for Canada.

Asks GOP Unity in Connecticut; Backs Opponent

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—John Davis Lodge, calling for an end to Republican factionalism in Connecticut, has decided against waging a primary fight for the U.S. Senate nomination.

Lodge, former governor and ambassador to Spain under the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, threw his support behind Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., who received the party's endorsement at the state convention last week.

Seely-Brown, an eastern Connecticut apple grower, beat Lodge 476 to 163.

Rocky Predicts Low Tax Cut

Says Plant Write-Offs More Effective Way to Stimulate Economy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller predicts that the nation's taxpayers will react with both delight and disappointment to the income tax cut sponsored by President Kennedy.

The delight will be the natural reaction of taxpayers everywhere—including himself—to a tax cut, the governor said Tuesday at a news conference.

DISAPPOINTED

The disappointment, he predicted, would be felt by millions of taxpayers when they found out the actual amount of individual tax relief involved.

Rockefeller said the full impact of the tax plan could not be judged until the President announced a detailed plan.

Kennedy has said he will ask Congress next January to approve an across-the-board reduction in personal and corporate income tax rates. He has not indicated how much of a cut he will recommend.

Rockefeller said he had no objections to tax relief at the time of a budget deficit. He said the chief consideration should be whether tax relief would be a stimulus to the economy.

Faster tax write-offs on plants and equipment of business and industry would be more effective than income-tax cuts in stimulating the economy, the governor said.

The governor, a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, said again his chief political concern was his re-election campaign and he was neither seeking nor receiving support from national Republican leaders for any presidential bid.

Laos Coalition May See Rough Going

TOKYO (AP)—To the optimists, agreement to establish a neutral coalition government in Laos paves the way for unity and peace in that tiny jungle kingdom.

The leaders of the three rival factions finally got together. They decided on a government headed by neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and a Cabinet ostensibly dominated by his middle-of-the-road faction.

Pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong and right-winger Gen. Phoumi Nosavan agreed to become deputy premiers, on an equal footing.

UNANIMOUSLY But the truce clause the three leaders wrote into their pact promises to become a formidable obstacle to smooth operation of the Laotian government. The trio must agree unanimously on all decisions affecting the key ministries of defense, interior—controlling the police—and foreign affairs.

Statements after the agreement were reached indicate this will take some doing. Tough, stubborn Gen. Phoumi gave in and agreed to the coalition only after extreme pressure from the United States. He declared he would follow the agreement "providing everyone else does the same."

Souphanouvong's statement consisted mainly of an attack on the United States. He predicted that U.S. forces in neighboring Thailand will help Laotian "reactionaries to sow, on our lands, troubles and provocations of one sort or another."

ONLY SOLUTION Phoumi is almost certain to tangle with Foreign Minister Quin Pholsena and Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavanna, close associates of Souvanna, who himself took the defense ministry.

He is certain to have difficulty with Souvanna's military leaders, in turn (Laos) into a military Viet Nam.

Detroit School Board Blasted by NAACP

DETROIT (AP)—A representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says the Detroit Board of Education has failed to cooperate in hearings on a school system racial bias report.

Charles Wells, chairman of the NAACP education committee, said yesterday the board did not give proper notice of its meetings for consideration of the report. Wells said the NAACP wished to sit with the board at its meetings. There was no comment from the board on Wells' statement.

An estimated million couples will seek help from a marriage counselor this year. Experts say 70 per cent will be helped, 25 per cent will see no change, and the remaining 5 per cent will find their marriages worsened.

U. of M. to Show Photos of Architect's Work

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The work of Michigan-born architect A. J. D. will be the subject of a photographic exhibition in the University of Michigan Museum of Art.

The two-month-long exhibition starts tomorrow. It will feature 175 photographs—black and white and color—and five models of Dows-designed structures, the university said.

Indict Texas Judge for Not Filing Tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—El Paso County Judge Woodrow Bean was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday for failing to file income tax returns.

Bean, defeated June 2 in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large, acknowledged during the campaign that he had not reported his income to the government. He said amounts withheld from his salary more than covered what he owed.

Asserting the income tax was unconstitutional, Bean said April 30 he had been unable to get federal authorities to file a test case. The 44-year-old judge declined comment on indictments charging willful failure to file returns for 1956 through 1960 on total income of $33,296.58.

If convicted, Bean could receive one year in prison and $10,000 on each of five counts.

Her 96th Ticket Is Final Straw—She Sues

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Louella Puett, 82, says her civil rights were violated when she received her 96th traffic ticket here in 1959 and so she is suing for $200,000.

She also would like U.S. District Court to stop Detroit Traffic Judge George T. Murphy from bringing her to trial on a charge which grew out of the ticketing.

Mrs. Puett names the city of Detroit, two traffic judges, including Murphy, a former city corporation counsel, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor and a Detroit policeman in her suit.

She was placed on a two-year, no-driving probation in October, 1959, accused of leaving the scene of an accident. This was a result of her 96th ticketing.

Still pending in the charge stemmed from ticket No. 96, issued 20 days later when she was stopped for driving without a valid license. This is the charge Mrs. Puett wants the federal court to quash.

Minister's Son, Friend Killed Riding Bicycle

BOYNE CITY (AP)—The 15-year-old son of a Boyne City minister and his young companion were killed yesterday when the bicycle they were riding was struck by a truck on M75, just east of this city.

Charlevoix Sheriff Glenn Rose identified the youths as John Steele, son of Rev. and Mrs. Laverne Steele, and James Blessington, also 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Blessington Jr., also of Boyne City.

Iraq Premier Promises Free Elections in Year

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq's Premier Abd al-Karim Kassam has promised the Iraqi people free elections and a constitution next year. Radio Baghdad reported Tuesday.

Kassam's regime has been operating without a constitution or elections since the premier took power after a revolution in July 1958.

A Million Dollars to Relieve Itch of Piles

It is estimated that over a million dollars a year is spent on varied remedies to relieve itch of piles. Yet druggists tell you that cooling, astringent, Petroleumatum soothes pile torture in minutes. The box or 8¢ tube applicator. Peterson's Ointment gives fast, joyful relief from itching. Be delighted or money back.

Doctors at U. of M. in Record Number

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A record 1,148 practicing Michigan physicians studied at the University of Michigan in the past academic year, the university said today. The doctors took one or more of 39 courses offered by university Civil Liberties Union, died Tuesday specialists since last September, day Mrs. Baldwin, who was born said Dr. John M. Sheldon, director of the program. Courses ranged in length from a half-day to seven months, Sheldon said. The previous record was 830 in 1959-60.

Dies in New York at 64

NEW YORK (AP) — Evelyn Preston Baldwin, 64, a one-time organizer for the United Mine Workers and wife of Roger N. Baldwin, founder of the American Civil Liberties Union, died Tuesday in Colorado Springs, Colo., at one time had worked for the British Labor party.

U.S. Unite Training Thai Border Police

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thai border police units are training with American combat infantrymen in the foothills of central Thailand, the U.S. embassy said today.

The trainers are units of the 27th Infantry Wolfhound Battalion based near Korat, 115 miles northeast of Bangkok. The Wolfhounds were flown here last month at the height of the crisis in neighboring Laos.

Object of the training is to familiarize the Thai border police with tactics and weapons used by the Wolfhounds, who are rated among the top jungle fighters in the U.S. Army.

Grand Rapids Sets Furniture Exposition

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A springboard to buying for late season sales, the Grand Rapids Summer Furniture Market opens tomorrow for a 18-day run.

F. W. Dunn, managing director of the Grand Rapids Furniture Market Association, expects approximately 800 buyers will register. The summer market last year registered commercial buyers from 37 states.

The Grand Rapids furniture exposition opens in advance of a sister showing which starts June 18 at Chicago. The dates make a doubleheader schedule for many visiting buyers.

Quebec's Upper Town suggests a section of France transplanted to Canada. The Gallic charm is preserved in small hotels, intimate cafes, horse-drawn taxis and a chimney-pot skyline.

Button Mania Pushed to Alarming State

KETTERING, Ohio (AP) — The trouble with the push-button age is that someone invariably pushes the wrong button.

A group of foreign visitors were observing operations of a local supermarket when a light went out inside a walk-in cooler. A button found by one of the visitors didn't turn on the lights, but it did sound an alarm at police headquarters. Within minutes, five cruisers were at the scene.

MOTOR MAZE — Motors, drive shafts and pipes are lined up in processing engine room of $3,200,000 sewage plant. Federal grant would make direct local tax cost nearly an even $3 million.

BIG TOUT — Looking like the smokestacks of an ancient locomotive, incinerator chimneys from the city's new sewage treatment plant rise at Auburn and Opdyke. Construction began in June 1961.

City to Ask U.S. Aid on New Sewage Plant

The federal government will be asked to share with Pontiac city taxpayers in construction of the $3,200,000 sewage treatment plant now under way at Opdyke Road and Auburn Avenue.

Federal Money Will Help State in TV Education

EAST LANSING — An expected $1 million in federal assistance could provide "the breakthrough we've been waiting for" in Michigan's educational television program, Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said today.

Bartlett, addressing the Citizens Committee for Educational TV at a conference here, said the state stands to gain that much as a result of the Educational Television Appropriation Act signed by President Kennedy last month.

The money, Bartlett said, would be used for stations and other facilities in a program to expand the state's educational television system.

"I am convinced this could well prove to be the breakthrough we've needed to use more adequately the television medium as an educational aid," said Bartlett.

Boys' State Calls 7 Area Students To Leave Tomorrow for Citizenship School Sponsored by Legion

Seven local high school students sponsored by the two Pontiac area American Legion Posts will leave tomorrow for the 25th annual Wolverine Boys' State in East Lansing.

American Legion officials say the teen-agers selected to attend Boys' State, an eight-day citizenship school held on the Michigan State University campus, were chosen on the basis of leadership, sportsmanship, personality and mental alertness.

Daniel T. Murphy Jr., Boys' State chairman for Cook-Nelson Post No. 29, said five students will be sponsored by his post.

They are Roger J. Shaw, 30 Delaware Drive; Keith W. Cooley, 441 Bartlett Ave.; Michael J. Jenkins, 62 Wenomah Drive; Wayne C. Thomas, 129 Oliver St.; and Philip W. Weber, 2481 Walce Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

Edward J. Guida, 4550 Elizabeth Lake Road, and David E. Trapp, 4486 Sedum Glen, both of Waterford Township, have been chosen to represent Chief Pontiac Post No. 377, according to Vernon L. Maccom, Boys' State chairman for that post.

All are students entering their last year of high school. A total of 1,135 students from throughout Michigan will attend this year.

Under the guidance of American Legion instructors, the boys will elect city, county and state officials; learn how to draft bills; enact them into law; and then enforce and administer the laws after they are passed. The "school" ends June 21.

School Board Moving Up Time for Its Meeting

The Pontiac Board of Education will move up to 5 p.m. the time for its regular meeting tomorrow to leave administrators and board members time to attend graduation ceremonies.

First item on the agenda is a canvass of election results. Next is a report on wage schedules and work policies for Local 719 of Public Employees Council 77 and the United Skilled Maintenance Trades Employees, 4.

Both unions have requested the board to pay for Blue Cross coverage.

Other items are: tabulation of bids for Central High School boilers, awarding of a contract for Central High School gas service, and scheduling of meetings for July.

Confirm Assessment Rolls

The City of Sylvan Lake last night confirmed assessment rolls for its 1962 paving program and the Woodland storm drain.

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for portable typewriters. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more of them made, the less each cost. Result: new and better portable typewriters mass produced for more people at lower prices by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

TO JULLIARD — Dr. Peter Menin, 33, director of the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore since 1958, has been named president of the Julliard School of Music in New York and will assume the post Nov. 1.

Will Take Over Water System

Waterford to Operate Vista Villa Supply for Temporary Period

An agreement calling for Waterford Township to take over the operation of the Vista Villa subdivision water system was approved Monday night by the township board.

The township will operate the system with financing guaranteed by the developer. When 45 homes in the area are occupied the township will then include the unit in its integrated water system on a self-sustaining basis.

In other action the board approved a fireworks permit for Percy Hunt. A July 4 family reunion is held annually at the Hunt home on Watkins Lake.

An ordinance prepared by township attorney Paul Mandel specifying that a permit for lake wood-cutting must be obtained from the township was introduced and will be acted upon at a subsequent board meeting.

The need for such an ordinance regulating weed-cutting was presented to the board a week ago by a group of residents on Silver Lake. They said careless cutting results in the foliage piling up on beaches and giving off an offensive odor as the weeds decay.

An amendment to the township building ordinance was introduced and will be considered in the future. It calls for health department approval of a premise with a private water supply before occupancy will be permitted.

The board re-appointed supervisor Elmer Johnson and Fred Haggard to three-year terms on the planning commission. The terms of both had recently expired.

Routine Check of Lawn Avoids Possible Mishap

BENTON HARBOR (U)—A routine precaution of having her children "scout" the lawn for debris before she started the power mower paid off for Mrs. Elmer Bendix of route 4, Benton Harbor.

A 5-year-old son, Martin, brought her a 20-caliber armor-piercing shell. It was live and could have exploded on contact with the mower blades according to Benton County Sheriff's deputies who answered her telephone call for instructions.

There was no indication of how the shell came to be on the Bendix lawn. But it was an unscheduled out-of-class exercise for the deputies whose office yesterday started a course in explosive ordinance reconnaissance.

Florida Grows Tobacco (Since Cuba Embargo)

QUINCY, Fla. (AP) — A new money crop—100 acres of Cuban leaf tobacco—is being harvested and processed by west Florida growers.

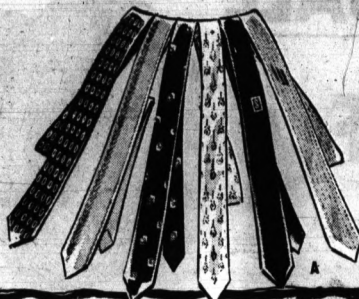

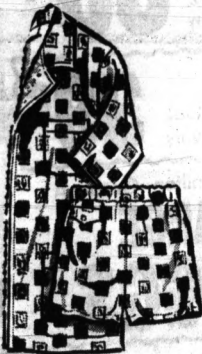

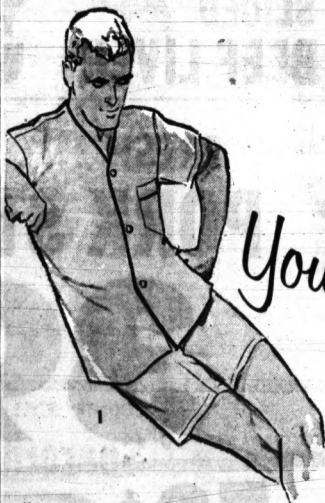

Growers reported a ready market for the leaf, which they say is much in demand now that the United States has embargoed the Cuban product.

Jelly Roll Procedure Is Followed for Pecan Cake

A 1½ quart casserole is the baking "pan" for Pecan Casserole Cake. This puts the delicious dessert within the realm of many home bakers who might not have the spring form or deep round baking pan usually used for this type of cake; a perfectly round, attractive shape is the result.

Pecan Casserole Cake is well-named, for the vanilla extract in it gives the sweet yeast dough a cake-like flavor. The filling is a mixture of ground pecans and plump raisins are added for extra interest and good taste. The cake should be served in slices, and reserved for such occasions as tea, dessert luncheons and Sunday brunch. Though whenever it's served, it will be welcome.

Pecan Casserole Cake
 1-3 cup melted margarine or butter
 1 cup sugar
 1 cup evaporated milk or light cream egg yolk, unbeaten
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
 1-3 cup very warm water
 2 cups sifted flour
 1 egg white
 1-3 cup sugar
 1-3 cup finely chopped or ground pecans
 2-3 cup seedless raisins
 In large bowl, combine melted margarine, 1 cup sugar, milk, egg yolk, salt, and vanilla; mix well. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into very warm water; stir until dissolved; add to first mixture. Stir in flour to make soft dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, 1 hour (dough will not be doubled in bulk). Turn dough out onto floured board. Roll out to make 20 by 6 inch oblong. Beat egg white until stiff, gradually beat in ½ cup of sugar until mixture is glossy and stands in soft peaks. Fold in nuts and raisins. Spread on dough.

Roll up from long side, jelly-roll fashion; pinch edge to seal. Arrange in coil in greased 1½ quart round casserole. Let rise ½ hour. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from casserole to wire rack; cool.

When cold, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting and sprinkle with chopped pecans. Makes 1 cake.

Glaze Your Doughnuts

Want to give store-bought plain doughnuts a glaze? Heat them in the oven and while they are still warm dip them in confectioners' sugar that has been mixed until smooth with a third as much boiling water. Add the boiling water to the sugar gradually, mixing vigorously as you do so.

Cubes of Bread Give Body to Cheese Puff

An old perennial that's always good whether served with or without a sauce.

Bread and Cheese Puff

1 cup milk
 1 cup soft fine bread crumbs (crusts removed)
 1 pound grated cheddar cheese (1 cup packed down)
 3 eggs (separated)
 1½ teaspoon salt

In a 1-quart saucepan scald the milk; add bread crumbs and cheese; stir over very low heat until cheese melts; remove from heat.

Beat egg whites and salt until soft peaks form; without washing beater, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Fold egg yolks into warm bread crumb mixture; fold in beaten whites. Turn into buttered 1 quart baking or souffle dish (11 by 5 inches deep).

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until puffed and browned. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Double Cheese Filling

Mix equal parts of cream cheese and Roquefort in an electric blender, or force through a fine strainer to make smooth. Use as a filling for 2-inch lengths of celery; sprinkle the cheese filling with paprika for a pretty touch.

Handle Greenhouse Tomatoes Carefully

Pontiac Press Home Editor

It seems to us that we could write about Michigan-grown fooding every week in the year and not run out of material. This week we're going to talk about two locally grown items.

Today it's greenhouse tomatoes which are now in ample supply. They are the most flavorful tomatoes to buy before the field grown crop is ready.

If you are like us, you have some mistaken ideas about greenhouse tomatoes. Many of us get so tired of the tomatoes we buy all winter because they have little taste and are often rubbery. All they add to a salad is color.

But greenhouse tomatoes are different.

You'll find about 28 acres of tomatoes growing under glass in the same southwestern area of the state where you find celery growing. In fact, the Hollanders who have the stem-lett on to seal in the vitamins and freshness. That is the way you tell them from hot-house tomatoes in plastic packages.

They are not picked until they PROUD OF THEM — John K. Trocke, District Extension Agent, Marketing, Southwestern Michigan, shows off a basket of the state's flavorful greenhouse tomatoes. Readers active in 4-H work may recognize Trocke as a former 4-H Agent in Oakland County a number of years ago. He'd be the first to recommend your using greenhouse tomatoes now until you can get home grown ones.

Watch for New Cheese Developed by MSU

EAST LANSING — A Michigan State University-developed cheese may soon be on the market, and pre-market tests show it will give other varieties a run for their money.

Called Dagano (pronounced Duh-GAA no), it is a Swiss-like cheese with a pleasing, nutty flavor.

According to Dr. T. L. Hedrick, MSU food scientists, several midwestern dairy companies are making plans to produce and sell the new cheese.

Dagano is a familiar item to students and faculty at MSU, where it is one of the leading sellers at the campus dairy store, even though no attempts have been made to promote it.

Dagano has proved popular elsewhere, too.

"Acceptance and preference studies in Detroit indicated there's a good, potential market for it," Hedrick said. Some 118 supermarket customers in that city were tested for their acceptance of the cheese. Dagano also appealed widely to people attending several cheese festivals, where the on-the-spot consumption of the cheese was equal to or greater than any of the other varieties.

Dagano may cost less than some other cheeses, Hedrick reported. One reason is the high yield from a given amount of milk. Another reason is its short ripening period. Both factors mean it costs less to produce.

Pickle-Cheese Kabobs
Travel Well for Lunch

Juicy foods like pickles and tomatoes are all too often omitted from lunch box menus because they're so likely to leak — yet they're the very kinds of foods that are needed to give such menus the flair they deserve, keep them from being dry and tasteless.

Here's a quick way with pickles that will be welcome in any carried lunch: make pickle kabobs by alternating cubes of pickle with cubes of cheese on a flat wooden stick, and overwrap all with transparent wrap to keep the juices exactly where they belong.

NO-BAKE CHEESE CAKE — The idea isn't new, but some of the ingredients are — like frozen concentrated limeade to give this cheese cake a tangy flavor. You'll need a spring form for this recipe; that's a pan with removable rim. If you substitute deep, sort topping mix for the whipped cream, the calorie count will go down, pleasing those who are trying to get slim for swim suits.

ripens and changes the taste. Just let them sit on a table until they are fully red. Keep them out of direct sunlight.

We're sure you don't need this admonition. But under no circumstances should you pinch tomatoes when buying them. This is no way to judge them and it only results in inferior food for someone else. And do try not to drop them at any time; they bruise easily.

NEVER PUT THEM IN THE REFRIGERATOR. This stops the

Broiled Tomato Slices
Cover big slices of tomatoes with equal parts of dairy sour cream and mayonnaise mixed with just a hint of curry powder. Salt and pepper to taste. Broil 4-inches from flame just until topping bubbles.

Stuffed Hot Dogs Appeal to Teens

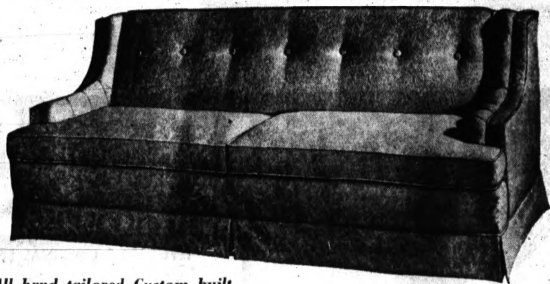

Youngsters like these perk-up franks and they can prepare them:

Stuffed Franks
Frankfurters
Pickle relish
Cheddar cheese

Make 4 diagonal crosswise cuts in each frankfurter, but not all the way through. Using a tiny spoon, stuff a little pickle relish into each cut; tuck a strip of cheese in, too. Broil stuffed franks several inches from heat source until hot through and lightly browned.

Kuhn Offers 'Truths' in Report

Republican con- delegate efforts by Democrats to defeat the Richard Kuhn last night unveiled constitution as "emotionalism, half truths and untruths."

Kuhn's report, titled "Don't Be Misled," deals with six different sections of the new constitution. It lists what the Oakland County Termini Township distributed copies of his 10-page report to members of the audience and labeled his own counter-arguments.

In the section on legislative apportionment, which Kuhn calls the "most partisan issue" at the convention, he asserts three important changes have been made to improve apportionment:

THREE CHANGES

1-Counties, in order to hold one seat in the House of Representatives, must have 70 per cent of the population figure which entitles a county to one seat. The present requirement is 50 per cent.

2-Senate apportionment will be on the basis of 80 per cent for population and 20 per cent for area.

3-Re-apportionment will be handled by a bipartisan commission, rather than the legislature.

These changes, Kuhn insists, dispute the Democratic contention that the new constitution does not provide equitable apportionment. Discussing civil rights, Kuhn says Democrats argue no strength limitation is retained to protect the people.

"In addition, he says the new document establishes a powerful civil rights commission with the right to act in all areas and which can provide "one of the strongest constitutional attacks on discrimination."

In other sections of the new constitution, here are the key issues noted by Kuhn and his stand on them:

TAXATION AND FINANCE: A graduated state income tax is prohibited to prevent overburdening state residents. The 15-mill tax limitation is retained to protect the people.

CIVIL SERVICE: The legislature can veto pay increases by two-thirds vote to guard against "unreasonable" increases. Agency heads can fire employees, not for political reasons, but to increase efficiency.

JUDICIAL BRANCH: The governor's power to fill court vacancies is revoked to prevent appointment of "political friends."

(A district plan for electing supreme court justices, though discussed, was not adopted, as Democrats were reported to have said, Kuhn noted.)

APPOINTED VS. ELECTED OFFICIALS: Half the eight-man "ad board" is appointed, half elected, a compromise designed to prevent "back passing."

Criticizing the Democratic stand, Kuhn said it is "unfortunate that the many Democratic delegates of good will, who worked so hard at the convention, must now support their party's position."

Arizona's vast domain is divided into only 14 counties.

Boy Killed, Other Hurt in Scooter-Car Smashup

HARBOR BEACH (AP) - A motor scooter with two boys aboard collided with a car at a county road intersection near here Tuesday night.

Allen Sengstock, 12, of Port Hope, driving the scooter, was killed. His brother Reinhard, 11, was injured.

The car driver, Irvin Becker, 27, of Harbor Beach, was unhurt. State police said he would be questioned.

U.N. in Fair Shape for Congo Expense

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations may have to borrow up to $3 million within the next 10 days to meet expenses for its emergency force in the Congo and Middle East and its routine operations, officials said Tuesday night.

They said, however, that the United Nations hopes to avoid such borrowing by the sale of U.N. bonds and the receipt of new governmental contributions.

Officials said the U.N. cash position is much better than it was at this time last year, because eight countries already have purchased $30,870,000 of the $300 million bond issue authorized by the General Assembly last December.

The province of British Columbia is more than five times greater in area than the state of Washington which borders it along the extended American-Canadian frontier.

Little Rock Ships Goat to Hyannis Freedom Riders

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A 140-pound goat named Samson was shipped to Hyannis, Mass., last night by Little Rock segregationists to provide a barbecue for the "reverse freedom riders" there.

Samson, a bearded specimen with a span of about two and a half feet between his curved horns, was shipped in care of Selectman Thomas E. Murphy in Hyannis.

"Barbecued goat, prepared by an expert like Davis Harris with his secret sauce, should make July 4, 1962, a gala occasion long to be remembered," said Dr. Malcolm Taylor, chairman of the Freedom Riders North committee of the Capital Citizens Council.

Harris, one of the first riders to leave here for Hyannis, is a cook.

Asks GOP Petitions Be Voided in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—A friend of Richard Durnan, whose leadership of the Republican party in the 18th Congressional District is being contested, filed suit yesterday asking that qualifying petitions for 29 candidates for precinct delegate be voided.

Mrs. William B. Chambers asked that petitions for John Feikens, former Republican state chairman and federal judge, be ruled defective by the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Feikens, along with other Republicans, is seeking to oust Durnan from party leadership post. Feikens is a candidate for precinct delegate.

Avernum, a small crater lake in southern Italy, near Cuma, was regarded by the Romans as the entrance to hell because of its sulphuric vapors and gloomy aspects. Its name was later used for hell itself.

'Welfare Woes Fault of Citizens Dodging Duties'

DETROIT (AP)—A Catholic churchman says Americans, by dodging citizenship responsibilities, have themselves to blame for present health and welfare problems.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond J. Gallagher, secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, says "lethargy and indifference" on the part of the public is a cause of the problems.

Msgr. Gallagher, speaking last night to the annual Charities Banquet of the Archdiocese of Detroit, warned a loss of freedom may result because Americans have allowed politicians to do the work citizens themselves should do.

Science at Work

Birds, Bees Are Smart Little Fellows

By The Associated Press
Bird and bee navigation secrets, balloons for scientists, and a space jaywalker are topics in science news:
BIRD AND BEE SECRETS
Humans have made great progress in developing guidance systems for space vehicles, but "it will take 100 years for electronics to catch up with the sophisticated guidance and sensory systems of the birds and the bees," says John L. Burns, former president of Radio Corporation of America.

"Evidence now at hand suggests that in flight the bat finds his way by bouncing ultrasonic waves off solid objects; the pigeon homes on the magnetic lines of the earth; a bird flies thousands of miles from the tree branch in your backyard, and returns to the same branch, through stellar navigation."
"The eye and brain of the human frog filter out all discordant information except the movement of the fly his palpa craves—a superb example of image recognition and interpretation."
"If we could only translate this characteristic into a mathematical formula—and then into hardware—we could endow an earth satellite with a similarly adaptable 'eye' that would select the precise information it was sent aloft to obtain."

FLOATING LABORATORY
Scientists are getting their own special balloon flight station, to be set up this summer at Palestine, Texas.
From this base, they can release balloons lifting up instruments for high altitude study of the atmosphere and weather phenomena, for astronomical studies above the clouding effects of the earth's air, and for capturing primary cosmic rays.
Long planned, the balloon facility will be built and operated by the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo. with the tab paid by the National Science Foundation. It is part of the Center's scientific balloon program, designed to spur improvement in balloon technology for scientific research.

SPACE JAYWALKER
Hermes is the name of one of the sun's minor planets, a chunk of rock about a mile in diameter, weighing perhaps three million tons.
Unlike other minor planets that follow orderly paths between Mars and Jupiter, Hermes has an eccentric orbit, and can actually come within about 200,000 miles of the earth, closer than the moon itself, and near miss, commencing by speaking.

But the chance that it or similar bodies would ever collide with the earth with devastating effects is infinitesimally small, says John W. Macvey in Space Digest magazine.
Perhaps, he suggests, men in space ships one day might be able to rendezvous with one of the minor planets possessing a wide-ranging orbit, equip it with transmitters, and let it send back data on the reaches of space it visits.

TRAIN BURNS AFTER CRASH—This train started burning after it was derailed by a collision with an automobile seven miles south of Orlando, Fla. Air Force firemen from McCoy Air Force Base rush to the scene in an attempt to bring the blaze under control. The only casualty was Mrs. Richard Mosher, 28, wife of an airman stationed at McCoy.

Doesn't Flatly Oppose It HST Raps Short Week

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman has expressed some doubt of the value of a four-day 30-hour work week.
He did not flatly oppose such a proposal pending before the Office Employees International Union, however. The former president addressed 300 delegates to a five-day convention of the union Tuesday.
On the four-day week resolution proposed by Howard A. Coughlin of New York, union president, Truman commented: "I don't think you get enough time to work."
"I work 14 to 15 hours a day and I believe the more a man works the better. The more work a man does, the less likely he is to get into devilment."

Will Launch Group for New Constitution

DETROIT (AP) — An organization favoring adoption of the proposed new state constitution will be launched Saturday at the Dearborn center of the University of Michigan.
Stephen Nisbet, president of the constitutional convention, will be the principal speaker at an organizational meeting called by the "coordinating committee for the new constitution."
Dr. Dewey Barich, chairman-pro-tem of the new group, said invitations were mailed to all convention delegates, representatives of citizen groups and individual citizens who have campaigned for a new constitution in the past.

Arrest Man in Slaying of Flint Mother of Four

FLINT (AP) — Police here have arrested Julian Meriez, a 38-year-old Flint man for investigation of murder in the death of Susie Buchanan, also 38, a divorcee and mother of four.
Mrs. Buchanan was stabbed to death at her Flint home yesterday.

Supposing YOUR Little Girl Disappeared!

TACOMA — Say you are the parents of four happy children, living in a pleasant home in a quiet neighborhood. Then one morning you awaken and learn that your 8-year-old daughter is gone from her bedroom.

There is a frantic search. Days, weeks and months pass and there are only false clues and dead ends.

This happened to Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Burr the morning of Aug. 31, 1961. More than nine months later the case of Ann Marie Burr still is an agonizing mystery.

It was cold and rainy that Aug. 31, Mrs. Burr, 33, awakened shortly after 5:30 a.m. She heard their youngest child, Mary, 3, crying. Mary was merely bothered by a cast put on her arm after an accident. The other children, Greg, 5, and Julie, 7, were safe asleep in a basement bedroom.

But when Mrs. Burr looked in Ann Marie's bedroom, it was empty.

The Burrs searched every room and closet in the two-story brick home. They called police.

There was ample cause for alarm. The front door, locked and latched with a night chain the evening before, was open. A small living room window, closed the night before, also was open. A little bench beneath the window was overturned.

Donald and Beverly Burr live now in a tangled web of confusion, sorrow and apprehension, hoping against mounting odds that their blonde, hazel-eyed daughter may be alive.

No ransom ever was asked. No cut-and-dried explanation is available.

Tacoma police are just as puzzled.

More than 1,500 persons were questioned in the first 12 days of the search.

Robert J. Drost, detective captain, has a 500-page file on the Ann Marie case on a rack above his desk.

"I've read every page in that file four times," said Drost, "and it reads the same each time."

BULLETINS GO OUT

Missing person bulletins have been sent to every state and to Canada and Mexico. When Ann Marie first disappeared, hundreds of searchers combed the city's wooded areas and vacant lots.

Police made a house-to-house check of the neighborhood. All known child molesters and sex offenders were questioned.

With no proof Ann Marie was abducted, the FBI could only stand by to assist. Today, while police are almost certain there was an abduction, the case still has not been listed officially as kidnapping.

Ann Marie was described as a spunky, intelligent child, somewhat shy. She was ready to enter the third grade in a few days.

Her parents, not wealthy, were not a likely mark for a kidnaper. The father is a warehouseman at nearby Camp Murray.

The night before the disappearance, the Burrs put their four children to bed about 8 p.m. Ann Marie and Mary both had upstairs rooms.

LOCKED DOORS

The parents, who were home all evening, went to bed about 11 p.m. They said they locked and chained the front door, locked the back door and made sure all the windows were closed.

Sometime during the night or early morning Ann Marie brought her little sister downstairs because she was crying. Uncertain of the time and not fully awake, Mrs. Burr sent the children back upstairs. It was the last time she saw Ann Marie.

Investigators found no sign of a struggle in Ann Marie's bedroom, and nothing disturbed in the house.

A later check showed footprints beneath the window but the clues proved valueless.

How anyone could have gotten the girl out of the house without awakening the parents remains a mystery.

Some believe Ann Marie might have wandered into the living room and been taken quietly by someone she recognized, or that she might have stepped outside and been grabbed by a sex deviate.

Whatever happened, nearly everyone feels sure she didn't wander off alone, barefoot and clad only in a nightgown.

After the disappearance, the mother declared:

"I've tried to think otherwise but I can only think it was one of those maniacs . . ."

Rewards for return of Ann Marie on arrest and conviction of those responsible for her disappearance now total $5,000.

Newspapers, touched by pleas of the parents, have periodically printed pictures of the missing child. As these appear, new reports come in.

After her picture appeared in Manitoba Province papers in Canada early in June, Canadian police were told that a girl answering Ann Marie's description was seen in a cafe in the town of Portage La Prairie. The cafe operator said two women and a man were with the girl. Like other such reports, nothing came of it. To Donald and Beverly Burr, who have tried to live a normal life with their remaining children, it is a mystery that must be resolved.

"We pray and pray," said Ann Marie's mother. "You've got to help your own little girl. You just can't give up."

State High Court Promised Pay

Atty. General's Office Disperses Fear of Lag in Salary Checks

LANSING (AP) — Members of the State Supreme Court won't have a payless pay day Friday, promises the attorney general's office.

The high court justices were threatened with a lag in pay checks because the legislature has so far failed to act on a deficiency appropriation bill to cover their salaries.

The legislature adjourned for two weeks last Friday without approval of the measure and there was only $2,500 left in the kitty for pay checks.

Ira Polley, state controller, asked the attorney general's office to suggest a way out.

Leon S. Cohan, deputy attorney general, said the matter could be taken care of by a routine transfer of funds within the court budget. The transfer probably will be approved by the State Administrative Board some time today, he said.

The eight justices — all now paid $25,500 a year—draw $1,000 on the 1st and 15th of each month.

To Leave Executive Post on Grand Rapids Body

GRAND RAPIDS — Phillip R. Young, executive secretary of the Downtown Council of Grand Rapids, Inc., since its formation in 1958, is leaving Aug. 1 to accept a similar post at Wichita, Kan. He will succeed Russell McCure who moved up from the Wichita post to that of city manager.

Name Art Institute Head

DETROIT — Willis Franklin Woods, currently head of the Norton Gallery in West Palm Beach, Fla., will take over as August director of the Detroit Institute of Arts. The $16,000-a-year post has been vacant since last February.

State Firm Gets Contract

WASHINGTON — A $3,017,403 Army contract for production of tank modification kits has been awarded Domestic Corp., Ecorse, Mich., Sen. Pat McClellan and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, announced yesterday.

Official Offers Safe for Sale as Shelter

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida's commissioner of agriculture, Doyle Clouser, has a bargain to offer for someone who wants to pick up an old safe cheap.

Clouser's safe is a large walk-in type, big enough to hold a horse. Clouser says he will consider almost any offer.

"It would make an excellent bomb shelter," he said.

MM's Firing May Be Turning Point

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Future historians may mark the firing of Marilyn Monroe as the turning point in the studio's relations with stars. Offhand you might think that any studio that would fire Marilyn could be considered to have lost its corporate mind. But that happened last week when the famed blonde was handed a pink slip and a half-million-dollar suit for suing "Something's Got to Give."

Marilyn said she had been ill. The studio claimed her illness wasn't physical and it could no longer afford her phobia against punctuality.

TEMPERMENTS OUT

The merits of each case remain to be thrashed out, perhaps in the courts. But trend-setters may be able to draw this conclusion: the already-ailing movie industry can not afford temperment any more.

Perhaps in other times 20th Century-Fox might have tried to ease Marilyn through the firing; it did so in "Let's Make Love."

But on another continent a movie titled "Cleopatra" was grinding out the company's dwindling millions. Faced with temperamental stars at two ends of its operation, something had to give.

Stars have been fired before. Distressed with Judy Garland's tardiness and tantrums, MGM summarily dismissed her when "Annie Get Your Gun." Betty Hutton got the job.

GIVEN FREE REIN

Such stern treatment of stars has disappeared in the past decade. The reasons are simple: all stars became free-lancers, independent of studio control. With studios starting to develop new talent, the established stars were more and more in demand and were given free rein.

This matter of giving stars free rein has hit some studios where it hurts—right in the profit column.

Paramount gave Marlon Brando carte blanche to make a Western, "One-Eyed Jacks," took over a year to film, making it a shaky investment in a time when Westerns have been selling well.

The travails of "Mutiny on the Bounty" have been well documented. Whether they were caused by a star's pig-headedness or the lack of strong executive control can be debated.

Universal had a rough go with Kirk Douglas's personal effort, "Spartacus," though it seems to be coming out satisfactorily.

The studios now can pause and wonder: are some stars worth all the trouble?

Some observers say stars are not that important. They point out that "The Last Sunset" with Kirk Douglas and Rock Hudson was a bomb. "The Misfits" with Monroe, Gable, Cliff, etc., was also a dud. Names don't always sell.

On the other hand, some stars can be unique. No one could play Cleopatra better than Liz Taylor. No one is a more convincing sexpot than Marilyn Monroe.

But faced with using unique stars and inviting bankruptcy, the studios may be forced to get along without them.

Ava Gardner to Make Film Near Madrid

MADRID, Spain — Actress Ava Gardner is returning to the screen after a three-year absence in a film being produced only 16 miles from her home in Madrid.

Officials of Samuel Bronston Productions said today Miss Gardner has agreed to play the leading feminine role in "50 Days at Peking."

Director Nicholas Ray expects to start shooting on location near Madrid about July 1.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed. Miss Gardner, whose last film was "On the Beach," had reportedly asked for $500,000.

In the film of the Cuban rebellion, she will portray the widow of a Russian baron caught up in the siege of Peking.

Swainson Hits Campaign Trail

Shakes Workers' Hands at Buick Plant Gate in Flint; Today It's Dodge

LANING (U) — With the November election still five months away, Gov. Swainson already is campaigning in mid-season style.

The Democratic governor, bidding for a second term, made his first plant gate appearance of the campaign yesterday. He arose at dawn to shake hands with workers at a Buick plant in Flint.

He's doing the same thing at a Dodge truck plant in Warren today.

Swainson, unofficially hit the campaign trail for the first time last week with appearances in several cities in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Yesterday, he started casting for votes in Flint during a 14-hour day that included appearances before union local presidents, Chevrolet Local 658, Genesee County officials and Democratic party leaders and two groups of business and professional people.

A grueling schedule starting at 5:30 a.m. today takes him through Macomb County for coffee hours, receptions, meetings with Democratic party leaders and a handshaking session with plant workers.

Tomorrow, Swainson will meet with Wayne County supervisors, attend a testimonial dinner for Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley in Detroit and crown Miss Michigan-Universe at a Detroit shopping center.

Virtually certain to be Swainson's opponent in the Nov. 6 election is George Romney, former American Motors Corp. president.

"The governor knows full well that he's started on the toughest battle of his political career," said one capital observer.

Dogs, Cats, Dogs Found by Police in Boston Home

BOSTON (AP)—Cats, and cats, and cats, dogs, and dogs, and dogs.

That's what police found in a Hyde Park dwelling when they broke down the door after neighbors complained of offensive odors.

On the ground floor, the officers counted 111 dogs of all sizes, shapes and breeds.

Upstairs, there were some 60 cats, black, calico large small—all kinds.

Animal rescue league crews removed the menagerie and police took a 63-year-old widow to Boston State Hospital for mental observation.

Police said the animals were well fed but the house wasn't fit for a dog or cat to live in.

News Conference for JFK on Thursday

WASHINGTON (U) — President Kennedy will hold a news conference Thursday at 3 p.m. (Pon-tiac time).

Reversing a previous White House announcement that there would be no presidential meeting with newsmen this week, press secretary Pierre Salinger said signals were switched because Kennedy's schedule opened up, thus allowing time for the conference.

Algerian Chief Refuses Any Concession to OAS

TUNIS (AP)—Algerian national Premier Youssef Ben Khedda, categorically rejected today the possibility of revising the Algerian peace agreements to give further guarantees to European residents.

The head of the Algerian provisional government charged that "a series of maneuvers" is being made "in an attempt to subvert the Evian (peace) agreements by making it appear possible they can be revised under the pretext of giving additional guarantees to the Europeans."

DEKIES POSSIBILITY
"My government categorically excludes this possibility," Ben Khedda said.

Ben Khedda, who made his statement as he left for Cairo, said, "The return of real peace can only be realized through the loyal application of the accords concluded at Evian."

Ben Khedda's statement came after two weeks of contacts between representatives of Algeria's European minority and members of the Algerian provisional executive body which is governing the North African territory until the July 1 self-determination referendum.

HAD LET UP
The European Secret Army Organization, trying to preserve French rule in Algeria, let up on its killing of Moslems when the secret contacts were begun. The secret army recently intensified scorched earth tactics, destroying schools and other installations by fire and explosives.

Ben Khedda's declaration may be followed by a resumption of large-scale murder of Moslems by the European terrorists. The nationalist premier said so far France had not employed sufficient means to re-establish order in Algeria.

"In certain French political and military circles," he said, "there is complacency and complicity with colonialist extremists."

Ben Khedda flew to Cairo for a meeting of the Casablanca alliance of African states. He indicated he would seek military aid against European terrorism should France not put it down.

TO BLOCK CONCESSIONS
Ben Khedda's statement bore out word from Paris that Belkacem Krim, vice premier of the exiled nationalist regime, had gone to Algiers Monday to block any further concessions to the Europeans.

There has been no clear explanation of just what the European settlers were trying to get in the way of guarantees. The Evian agreements guarantee civil rights for those Europeans who remain in an independent Algeria ruled by the Moslems. However, the Europeans will lose the privileged position they have under the French administration.

Intervention of American warmongers and their agents. There may be maneuvers to prevent the coalition government from fulfilling its proper functions, to sow division in front of Laotian patriots and even to overthrow the government coalition."

Red Prince to Mind Store in Laos Later This Month

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Already mulling at "American warmongers," pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong will take temporary command of Laos' new coalition government late this month.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier designate of the new government, said Tuesday he and right-wing leader Gen. Phoumi Nosavan will be in Europe at the same time. During their absence, he said, "the whole burden of state affairs will fall on Souphanouvong."

Phoumi, like Souphanouvong, slated to become a deputy premier, will lead a Cabinet delegation to Switzerland June 24 or 25 to certify the 14-nation Geneva agreement on Laos pledging the little Southeast Asian nation to neutrality in the cold war.

Souvanna said he is going to France to attend the wedding of his daughter.

NOT CLEAR
Just what powers Souphanouvong will be able to wield while running Laos was not clear. The bulk of the Cabinet posts are in vested in neutralists, and the coalition agreement stipulates that all decisions related to the ministries of defense, interior and foreign affairs must have the unanimous agreement of the three faction leaders — Souvanna, Souphanouvong and Phoumi.

Souvanna, Souphanouvong's half brother and ally in precoalition maneuvering, welcomed the American pressure that forced the right-wing Vientiane regime to give way to the coalition. But Souphanouvong has shown no softening in his anti-American position.

MAKES DECLARATION
Immediately after the coalition agreement was signed at the rebel headquarters in Khong Khay, the pro-Communist prince declared:

"One must not forget that near our frontiers (in Thailand and South Viet Nam) there are armed American forces and these forces will support the reactionaries to sow trouble and provocations on our lands."

"I think that what we have just achieved is only a great step in the long struggle of the Laotian people. There exists yet a number of obstacles prompted by in-

Next to you . . . who knows Father best?

Maybe Dad takes his leisure seriously: fishing, bowling, hunting . . . that sort of thing.

Or maybe he takes it lying down — in front of a TV set. Either way, we at Osmun's have known exactly what gifts he'll like for Father's Day. We've had over thirty years of solid experience in pleasing fathers.

But we had help.

We had the wives and sons and daughters and all the other people who knew their man . . . and knew the store that understands men.

This Father's Day, June 17th, you can choose with confidence from more practical, reasonably priced gifts than ever before at either Osmun's store. Shown above are a few (of the many, many) examples:

Step Toward Peace Means Trouble in Laos

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Laos has just taken its first step toward peace, but it history means anything this is just the first step toward real trouble.

For more than a year, the United States has urged the three warring parties—one pro-Western, one neutralist, one pro-Communist—to bury the hatchet and form a coalition government in which all three could share.

Tuesday they signed an agreement and on paper it looks pleasantly reasonable.

Of the 19 Cabinet posts, 11 go to neutralists, four to members of the present pro-Western royal government, and four to the pro-Communist group. The top job and the three most important Cabinet jobs go to neutralists.

Prince Souvanna Phouma will be premier and defense minister; Pheng Phongsavan will head the Interior Ministry which controls the police; Quin Pholsena, who has made bitterly anti-American statements, will be foreign minister.

REDS TO ACT UP

The head of the pro-Communist group, Prince Souphanouvong, will be deputy premier and economics minister. One of the leaders of the pro-Western group, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, who has been criticized by the United States, will also be a deputy premier and minister of finance.

It is unusual to think the pro-Communist will simply serve in the government, always acting like nice boys without trying to take it over, either suddenly, in an unexpected rush, or gradually.

And, if they do, will the United States sit idly by and not interfere? If this country does interfere, it's highly unlikely Red China and Russia will look the other way.

They can argue then that the United States is an aggressor, interfering with a legitimate Lao government. They can't make that argument against American troops in Thailand and South Vietnam. In those two places the troops were invited in.

Seventy-five days from Tuesday's signing all foreign troops are to be withdrawn from Laos. The United States has about 300 observers there, helping the pro-Western government. It has been estimated about 10,000 men from Communist North Vietnam are in Laos, supporting the pro-Communist forces there.

After these foreign troops leave, the new Laotian government is supposed to merge into one national army the troops of the present opposing forces: the pro-Communist from the north, the pro-Western from the south.

This merger attempt may bring cause for trouble, there is still one more, a beast, lying ahead.

In short, new peace in Laos looks like a preliminary to new trouble. And any trouble will be trouble for the United States which now is deeply involved in Southeast Asia and can hardly afford to see any of it slip away, no matter how.

He had hardly said this when American officials in Laos were

Find Antisub Bomb in Water at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—An antisubmarine bomb with 254 pounds of TNT in its nose was found on the Memphis waterfront a few feet from the anchorage of three explosive-laden barges.

The police emergency squad took the bomb to the Memphis Naval Station for checking.

The World War II type depth charge bomb was nestled on the far bank of Mud Island, opposite the heart of Memphis' downtown district.

Capt. Clyde Robinson of the tug H. E. Bowles spotted the bomb about 10 feet from his three barges. He told police his cargo consisted of two barges of other and one of naptha and other high explosives.

A circular concrete highway being built around the 218,000-acre area of Moscov will be about 66 miles long.

Gay, Secretary 'Just Friends'

Will Stand by Brother, Charged With Slaying Oil Co. Executive

NEW YORK (UPI)—The secretary of slain oil company executive Taylor S. Gay insisted today she had only a "platonic friendship" with her boss, shot to death while out on a date with her.

Mary Mullooly, 42, said she would stand by her brother, who was to be charged today with homicide in the death of Gay, vice president and a director of Phillips Petroleum Co.

Gay, 54, died in a hospital yesterday of a single wound from a .25-caliber pistol. His accused assailant, James Patrick Mullooly, 41, shot the $50,000-a-year executive as Gay and Miss Mullooly stood in the Hudson and Manhattan railroad terminal here Monday night, police said.

Mullooly told police that Gay, estranged from his wife for six years, "needed killing" because "I just couldn't see a married man taking out a single girl."

Miss Mullooly, who obtained an attorney to defend her brother, with whom she shares an apartment in Jersey City, N.J., described her relationship with Gay as "only a platonic friendship."

She and Gay, for whom she worked since 1958, had an occasional dinner date, Miss Mullooly said. They had just returned from dinner Monday night and were waiting for a train to take the woman to Jersey City when confronted by Mullooly, police said.

Miss Mullooly described her 6-foot 5-inch, 250-pound brother as "very friendly."

"He's always been that way — sort of strict ... I will stand by him ... It's a horrible mistake. The whole thing was a horrible mistake. This was no love affair."

Mullooly was smiling yesterday at his arraignment on felonious assault charges. Gay's at the time was still in critical condition but died later.

Waterford J. C. Golf Set

The Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct its annual junior golf championship next Monday, June 18, at Morey's Golf and Country Club. This is the same day that the Pontiac Jaycees have selected for their junior tourney at Pontiac Municipal course. The Waterford Jaycees tourney is open to all boys from 11 to 17 years of age in the Oakland County area. Entry blanks may be obtained from area high school coaches and also at the first tee prior to the 8 a.m. starting time. The entry fee is $2 and that will include a lunch in Morey's dining room following the event. Area youngsters are allowed to compete in only one local chapter tournament. The low four scorers in the Waterford Jaycees Chapter's event will qualify for sectional competition. Dates and sites for the sectional events, new this year, have not been announced. Competition will be conducted over an 18-hole medal play distance. Bill Sharp is tourney chairman and he may be reached for additional information by calling FE 2-9101.

Bar Nine Holds Lead

Bob & Larry's Bar beat a Haskins Chevrolet bid to take first in Waterford Class C softball 10-4 last night. Dick Nichols blasted a home run and single and Maurice Yarnold collected a double and triple to pace the bar team to its fifth win against one setback. A pair of doubles by Mike Kelly sparked Lakeland Pharmacy past Hault. Pontiac 12-2 in the other "C" contest.

TRUE LOCAL CHAMPIONS — Members of the P.L. of P. bowling team pose with the many awards they won during the recent bowling season as champions of both city classic leagues and top performers in state and national events. They are, front to back, Capt. Carl Behrick, Dick Carmichael, Bob Lowry, Gene Shell, Paul George, Ed Avadenka and Bob Gormong. Shell bowled in tourneys only. Missing from the photo is Wally Johnson.

Won Two Major Leagues, Strong in Tourneys

There is no question about it. The P. L. of P. team was the outstanding men's bowling contingent of the 1961-62 season around the Pontiac area. Carl Behrick & Company won the two leagues considered to possess the outstanding talent here — the Huron and West Side Classics. The group took a total of nine places on the money list in the Michigan State Men's tournament. Some of the individuals won money in the big American Bowling Congress event at Des Moines, Iowa. Paul George was Eastern Michigan qualifying champion in state competition for the National Match Game Championships with Behrick an alternate. In the closing weeks with the title apparently on ice, Carmichael finished as the high average man in the West Side major loop with 197 while hitting at a 192 clip at Huron. Bob Lowry had marks of 196 and 190. Behrick 197 and 185 and Bob Gormong about 183 at both places. George competed with the team at Huron only and carried 191. Ed Avadenka took his place at West Side and averaged 180. Wally Johnson was the other team member. Gene Shell was added for the tournaments. EX-PRESS CHAMPS Gormong and George are former Pontiac Press Bowlerama actual division champions. Behrick and Lowry were also on the Lakewood Lanes quintet which won the 1st team tournament held in connection with the Press Bowlerama last December. Behrick was in one other league besides the classic and was also on the top team there. The same men may get together as a team when another regular season rolls around. They have expressed interest in representing some establishment in an enlarged version of the traveling league currently on trial. Although their sponsor has remained mysterious, their combined ability with the round ball and pins is easily recognizable. The letters P. L. of P. stand for a business venture which may materialize here. Bowling is a full-time occupation for Behrick who is a machinist, at both Lakewood and Maple Lanes. He has done some instructing at Lakewood and may do the same at the Walled Lake place. Lowry sells bowling balls and trophies among other things for a Pontiac trophy store. George owns and operates a cleaning business. Gormong is a truck driver. Carmichael works in a GM plant. Avadenka is a pharmacist, Shell a car-penter and Johnson a paint and varnish company employee.

The Veterans Disposal team of Pontiac will be among the titlists honored tonight at the annual Champions' Dinner slated for the Latin Quarter in Detroit. Being held for the 3rd time, the affair will again be sponsored by the Detroit Bowling Council.

Other winners in the big Greater Detroit Bowling Association meet, Detroit's women's city victors, top finishers of the Champion of Champions event sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Detroit and others who have won in major events will come in for glory.

Special awards will go to new American Bowling Congress Hall of Fame member Johnny Crimmins and Ernie Babcock, who rolled successive perfect games and set a new Detroit record of 838. Tributes will be paid to others. Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh will welcome the champions. Several other city business, civic, industrial and bowling officials and several keg proprietors will be in attendance. The Pontiac aggregation hit 2,945 handicaps in a rollout to gain $1,800 and trophies. A $45 by Trussman McDonald featured a 2,867 actual.

Veterans, a Huron Classic team, advanced to the finals by winning in opening Class B action at Huron Bowl. Area proprietors will be happy to know a new keg establishment is going to be constructed near Pontiac. Leo and Don Spalla have announced plans to open a modern 40-lane place to be called Orchard Lanes Aug. 25. Both are veterans in the business.

House will be located on Opdyke Road just north of South Blvd. near the Bloomfield Orchards subdivision. It will include the latest in equipment, ample parking, air conditioning, a banquet room, supervised playroom, cocktail lounge, quickie bar and snack bar.

People from Rochester, Pontiac, Auburn Heights and Birmingham have won prizes during "Bowlers Dream" contest at Auburn Lanes.

Joe Gavie fired 237-219-214-670, George Kirms 235-204-259-288, Gene Luppine 207-235-200-645 and Bob DeLisle 212-227-605 in Sylvan Lanes' Men's summer action. Luppine and DeLisle recently combined for 1,302. Boss man Art Rosner says he has openings in regular season Tuesday night senior house loop. Recent WIBC records showed seven league 300s and three 200s.

Milwaukee Samardzija has taken over individual lead with 25 points in traveling league. ABC preparing to send out record 17 million pieces of literature to approximately 2,500 affiliated associations. Supply kits will go to some 88,000 leagues for the 1962-63 season.

Madison Junior High tourney may be repeated on a larger scale next year. Teachers, secretaries, administrators, maintenance workers and other adults served as student partners this season at 300 Bowl. Kay Coppola had 181 triplicate which included an all spare game in Detroit. Margie Croft was really seeing triple at Lima, Ohio. She rolled three 511 series, three consecutive nights and three different lanes.

Echo Park Camp Adds Riding Paths
 Children on horseback will trot along bridle paths at Echo Park Day Camp this summer in a new program to be directed by equestrienne Theda Lounsbury. The day camp plans to add a riding ring, paddock and stables at 4275 Echo Road, Bloomfield Hills, site of the former Newcomb estate "The Jumpers." Echo Park director Walter Baker said horsemanship instruction will be free to all day campers eight through 17 years old. The program begins July 2 and is scheduled to close at the end of the day camping period, Aug. 27.

THE PALMER METHOD

THAT IMPORTANT FIRST FOOT

No part of the full swing is more important than that first foot. The clubhead should be moved low to the ground and as parallel as possible to the intended line of flight as the swing starts. If you pivot correctly, the clubface will begin to open a bit at almost the first movement. No twisting of the wrists should occur now or later, in an effort to control this opening.

Besides not twisting the wrists, don't allow them to break. This is usually caused by the right hand taking over and bringing the club upward too directly. Make this movement a gradual one, with the weight transferring slowly to the instep of the right foot.

Dodgers, Chisox and Orioles Lose

Giants End Slump

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Giants, who had lost six straight and skidded to second place in the National League, did an abrupt about-face Tuesday night, sweeping a two-night doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and 7-5 to move back to within a game of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers were soundly trounced 15-2 by the Milwaukee Braves, who put on their greatest scoring show of the season behind Lew Burdette.

In other National action, Pittsburgh jumped into third place over the Reds, who slipped all the way to fifth, by beating the Chicago Cubs 4-3. The St. Louis Cardinals also pushed past the Reds into fourth with a 3-2 win over Philadelphia, and the Houston Colts took the New York Mets 3-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees edged the Detroit Tigers on Roger Maris' 11th home run of the year and Bill Stafford's six-hitter, 2-1.

A'S TRIUMPH

Kansas City beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1, and the Boston Red Sox took the Baltimore Orioles 4-3.

Cleveland at Washington was postponed by rain.

Juan Marichal pitched and battered the Giants to the first game victory over the Reds, to run his season mark to 9-4. Gordon Coleman homered in the fourth for a Red lead that stood until the seventh, when the Giants got their pair on a triple by Jim Davenport, a sacrifice fly, a double by Jose Pagan and a single by Marichal.

Orlando Cepeda led the way for the Giants in the second game with a three-run homer in the first and a solo in the fifth.

LONG AWAITED

Burdette bested the Dodgers at Milwaukee for the first time in nearly five years. Eddie Mathews hit his 11th homer of the year and No. 381 of his career, to move into a tie with Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for eighth place among the all-time home run hitters.

Elroy Face got Ernie Banks to smack into a game-ending double play to save the Pirates' win over the Cubs. Pittsburgh scored twice in each of the first two innings and held off the Cubs to the end.

The St. Louis Cards, who had a seven game winning streak snapped by the Phillies Monday, had trouble with them again until rookie Fred Whitfield banged a two-run homer off Paul Brown in the eighth.

Fifth American English Winner

HOYLAK, England (UPI) — Robert Sweeney of New York, 50-year-old investment banker who won the British Amateur golf championship 25 years ago, advanced to the third round of the 1962 tournament today with a 1 up victory over John Glover of Ireland.

Sweeney was the fifth American to reach the third round. Four Yanks won second-round matches yesterday. Eight others were scheduled to play second-round matches today on the rain-softened 6,984-yard Hoylake course. Several third-round matches also were scheduled.

The sun broke through the clouds early this morning after another night of rain further dampened the course. There was only a slight breeze as the earliest shooters teed off to complete the second round.

Sweeney entered in this tournament for the first time in eight years, grabbed a 3 up lead at the turn and beat off Glover's determined rally on the last nine holes.

Mrs. Hume Leads by 6 at Red Run

Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex is a 15-foot putt for a birdie deuce at No. 8. Her remaining putts, for the most part, were within 4 or 5 feet of the cup. She one-putted seven greens and three-putted only once.

Mrs. Hume, who won WDGA titles before as the former Marjorie Row, led her closest rival by six strokes entering today's 2nd round at Red Run Golf Club.

Deadly approach irons and some sharp putting highlighted Mrs. Hume's efforts in Tuesday's opening round as she toured the Red Run course in 40-37-77, two over women's par of 38-37.

Occupying 2nd place was Mrs. Samuel E. (Susie) Gawne of Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Gawne carded 42-41-83.

Mrs. Hume sank a 20-yard wedge shot for a birdie four on Mrs. Hume's 37 on the back nine was the best among 37 entries in the championship flight. Mrs. Gawne's 41 on the back side was 2nd low.

Mrs. Charles Fox of Farmington paced the 1st flight with 42-47-89. Mrs. Elmer Cornish of Oakland Hills headed the 2nd flight with 47-46-83; and Mrs. Ben Ragland of Pine Lake and Mrs. Paul Witt of Lakepointe were tied for the lead in the 3rd flight at 98.

TOP BASS — Cliff Hamacher of Lake Orion caught this 6-pound 4-ounce bass Sunday at Silver Lake. The largemouth is the heaviest entered in The Press Big Fish Derby's bass division this spring. He caught the bass on a Dardevil.

BRIEF LEADER — This 5-pound 14-ounce largemouth bass, taken at Spring Lake by Jerry Bunch of Drayton Plains, held the Derby's bass division lead until Hamacher entered his fish. Bunch caught his largemouth at 7 p.m. Friday on a nightcrawler.

Largemouth Bass, 6 1/4-Pounds, Tops Press Derby Silver Lake Yields Another Leader

If fishing pressure on Silver Lake gets heavier this week, it can be blamed on the large bass being taken there.

For the second time since the June 6 opening of the black bass season, a leader in The Press Big Fish Derby's bass division has been caught from the lake along Walton avenue.

Estimate 60,920 Perished Winter Deer Kill Set

LANSING (UPI) — The unfurled reports of deer deaths by other than hunting are now confirmed.

An estimated 60,920 animals were lost between mid-November and this year's late spring. This was slightly more than the number taken by archers and firearm hunters during the 15-day season last fall.

The Conservation Department's dead deer survey indicated the winter losses totaled 54,500 in the Upper Peninsula and 25,000 in the Lower Peninsula.

Actual losses, however, were believed to be much higher than the spot survey showed, department officials said.

The main cause of the losses was starvation, much of it due to the long, harsh winter. Running dogs, accidents, disease and predators also were blamed for a number of the deaths noted.

While the death toll was high, department spokesmen said it was eased somewhat by the mild spring breakup. A slow change from winter to spring, as occurred this year, usually saves thousands of animals which might be on the verge of starvation.

The cottages are among five northern Michigan properties to go at public auction at Grayling June 25. The parcels, in Alcona, Crawford, Cheboygan and Roscommon counties are appraised at $13,150.

The cottages and land were purchased as part of the freeway expansion.

"One of the fellows was up looking them over and saw a trout rolling in the water from the dock," a department employee reported.

Minimum price on one of the cottages is $5,500. It includes a one acre lot, four room and bath log-cabin cottage and 175 feet of river front.

The second had a minimum price of $2,250. It includes 1.2 acres of land and 220 feet of river frontage, a four room log-cabin cottage and a second building that is a combination guest house, garage and workshop.

Drayton Hatchery Termed 'Obsolete'

The Drayton Plains fish hatchery "is now obsolete" and the State Conservation Department has "no future plans" for the facility.

A.B. Cook, chief of the department's fish division, also told members of the Lakeland Conservation League last week that "a shortage of funds" and "pollution pushed along the decision to close the 54-year-old fish rearing station earlier this year."

Gerald Eddy, Conservation Department director, was supposed to be at the meeting with Cook, but was unable to attend because of Conservation Commission meeting in Traverse City.

"We have come to believe that pike hold the key to bringing fishing back on lakes now overpopulated with stunted fish," said Cook. "We don't know much about the pike's spawning habits yet, but we do know that deep ponds would be needed if pike are to be raised artificially."

"These ponds would have to be such as to be quickly flushed. Under the present austerity conditions we do not have the money to change the obsolete facilities at Drayton Plains."

WATER PROBLEM
"And even if we did make improvements, the water problem would make operation impossible," the fish division chief pointed out.

the lead away from a 5-pound 14-ounce bass caught Friday at Spring Lake by Jerry Bunch, 400 Rossett Street, Drayton Plains.

Hamacher was fishing with Jim Dibble, 845 Leydard street, when he hooked his big bass at 10:30 a.m. on a medium sized Dardevil.

The pair also took another "average" bass.

ST. CLAIR OPENS
Area bass fishermen can switch their activities to Lake St. Clair Saturday. The season opens that day on the lake and in the Detroit and St. Clair rivers.

Only the United States side of these waters will be open, however, as the season in Ontario does not start until June 23.

Catfish over 15 pounds are hitting near the mouth of the Clinton River and along the Lake St. Clair shoreline south of Mt. Clemens. Walleyes are now in the St. Clair River with slight fishing producing the best catches.

Good catches of bluegills are being taken in Middle Straits, Union, Oxbow and Elizabeth Lakes. Perch are hitting at Pine, Bridge and Long (Orion) Lakes.

Monday and Lake Orion are good for catfish.

Other leaders in The Press Derby, which ends Sept. 4, are pike, 20 pounds; 5 ounces; rainbow, 1 pound; 2 ounces; rainbow, no entries.

Duck Outlook Is Brighter

Manitoba Above 1961 in Supply of Water; Two Areas Dry

May rains over a good portion of the waterfowl breeding range have improved habitat conditions but the breeding pair population shows a decline in the areas surveyed by Ducks Unlimited.

Good rains are still needed to ensure brood survival in large areas of both Saskatchewan and Alberta.

DU General Manager Angus Gavin stresses the fact that "above normal precipitation over the southern portion of Manitoba has practically assured sufficient water for brood survival in this province." He also cites the need for more rains in southern areas of the two provinces immediately west of Manitoba.

The report points up southern Alberta's "very dry state" and the fact that "the only waters in the area available for breeding birds are irrigation reservoirs and Ducks Unlimited projects."

Parklands and areas more to the north are in better condition with good duck populations.

Area State Police District Champs in Sharpshooting

A team of troopers from the Pontiac State Police Post yesterday won the first-place sharpshooters' trophy at the spring shooting match for the State Police Department's Second District.

The Pontiac troopers scored a composite total of 1,002 bullets out of 1,200 shots by 38 caliber revolvers. The event was held at the Birmingham Police Department range.

Top guns from the Pontiac post were Troopers Richard Weeks and Wilbur Rykert, each scoring 269 out of 300. Harold Wade was next with 258 followed by John Brown with 246.

Pheasant Population Expected to Be Same

LANSING (UPI) — The State Conservation Department reports that Michigan's pheasant breeding potential seems as good this year as last.

The male ringneck count about matches last year's, the department said, although the hen population is up slightly.

Pheasant population in Southeast Michigan is up 29 per cent, according to the spring crowing survey, the department said.

Wrong Hunting Hours

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — George Romans, 48, Muskegon, was fined $100 Monday and given a suspended sentence by U.S. Dist. Judge W. Wallace Kent for hunting migratory waterfowl outside legal hours. Romans was placed on probation for one year.

Thinking About Car Insurance?

LOOK AT THE LEADER

No. 5 of a series. The Insurance Exchange at the Auto Club was the first insurance organization in Michigan to offer "Fellow Member Collision Protection." This no-cost feature means that if a member with collision insurance from the Exchange collides with another automobile insured with the Exchange, his entire collision damages are paid in full... regardless of fault, regardless of stated deductible. If both cars carry collision coverage with the Exchange, both are paid in full.

This protection saves money for Exchange-insured Club members. Call and join them.

Not So Good for Others

Summer School OK for Some Students

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

There are pitfalls as well as opportunities in summer school for credit.

Summer school courses crowd about 19 weeks' work into six weeks. For some students this is good.

If they have made low grades in geometry, history or any other course, and can run over the same work quickly in summer school, this will give them an opportunity to organize their thoughts and DR. NASON strengthens their basic knowledge.

They already have in mind many of the basic facts and ideas and rapid review will necessitate a broad approach, leaving out unessential details. Such an experience prepares weak students for better work in the fall.

On the other hand, a student taking a beginning course for the first time in summer school may be headed for trouble. Unless he has unusual ability, there is a good chance that he will not acquire a satisfactory foundation.

This is especially true if he is

Foreign Car Sales Drop in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Foreign car sales in Michigan dropped last month as the registration of American-made models shot up.

The May import registrations in the secretary of state's office totaled 1,074. This represented a drop of 20 per cent from the April figure and was a new monthly low for the year.

Most of the registrations last month were the German-made Volkswagens.

placed in a class made up largely of repeaters. Summer classes suffered for credit at the junior or senior high school level should be geared either to the slow group or the fast group of learners—not both.

Parents should determine what kind of pupils their child will be associated with as well as the program for which the course is being offered.

Summer school provides an opportunity for students to maintain skills between school terms as well as to catch up.

The 12-week vacation is long enough for many students to grow "stale" in their work habits and to forget partially learned subject matter, especially in languages. Repeating the last course may be helpful.

Summer school offers opportunity for pursuing rewarding electives. High school students find it hard to meet college requirements during the regular school year. There is no room in their programs for typing, shorthand, art or music.

I have known high school students with all As and Bs on their records to avoid manual skill subjects for fear of receiving a low grade.

Actually a low grade in one of these subjects is not that important. What is important is that the students stay with such training until they are reasonably proficient.

The ability to use their hands in typing, shorthand or art will prove beneficial not only throughout the rest of their schooling but all through life.

Boy of Year Award Last One of Many

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI)—Even before he was named "Boy of the Year" by the Boys Clubs of America, Newark's Stephen Latz, 15, had established a reputation for outstanding achievements as a student, athlete, youth leader and community service worker.

The sophomore's scholastic honors include: consistent honor roll membership with a straight A average, member of student council and swimming team, reporter for the school paper, violinist with the school orchestra, member and leader of Future Physicians of America and Future Scientists of America.

Another Sidor-Tierney hand illustrates the value of using a high card play as a come-on rather than a suit preference request for a shift to the higher of the two side suits.

Some players might quarrel with South's two spade opening, but not one can possibly find fault with the final six spade contract. That is no except possibly this particular North and South who saw game and rubber fly out the window.

West opened the king of clubs and East played the jack. West saw no reason to shift to a heart or to a diamond either and would

But Another Drive Expected

Mart Resists Wave of Selling

NEW YORK (AP)—A turbulent stock market, resisting a selling drive that came within an ace of driving it to new 1962 lows, seemed to have pulled itself out of its slump early this afternoon.

The ticker tape ran as much as 15 minutes behind transactions and first-hour transactions soared to 1.3 million shares compared with yesterday's $30.00 as the declining market found support and buyers rushed back into action.

Once more, brokers said, it was a question of prices being driven low enough to appear as "bargains" to traders and investors.

Bonds Narrowly Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices were narrowly mixed at the opening today.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said most issues were unchanged. A few intermediaries dropped 1/32 or so in extremely quiet dealings.

Rails opened a shade lower in corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Industrials also were weaker. Utilities were mixed.

Few changes amounted to as much as a point, even among the usually volatile convertibles.

Play Program to Open Monday

Avon Group to Start Summer Activities for Young in Rochester

ROCHESTER — The AYSHA (Avon Youth Service and Recreation Association) summer recreation program will open at the Avon Park Pavilion and at Halbach Field Monday at 10:30 a.m.

The program will run for eight weeks ending Aug. 10. Both the pavilion and ball park will be in operation from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

It is estimated that 35 teams will engage in the youth baseball program which will result in championships in three divisions. In addition to the baseball program a wide variety of activities for youth of all ages will be offered in the pavilion.

Tennis lessons will be offered on Tuesday and Thursday mornings throughout the program at the courts located at the Central Junior High School. Lessons will be conducted between 10 a.m. and noon and will be under the direction of Howland Fisk.

BATON LESSONS

Carol McCotter will be in charge of the baton lessons which will also be held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings between 10 a.m. and noon. Baton lessons will be offered at the park with registration taking place next Tuesday 10 a.m.

Other activities will include bike rides and horse shoe tournaments.

Buses will again pick up township children on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and bring them to the park as well as return them after the day's activities.

Anyone having questions about the summer's activities is asked to contact Robert Jereau, 1370 Sycamore St.

Car Hits Boy on Bike in Farmington Twp.

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A 7-year-old boy was injured yesterday when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver while riding his bicycle on Westwood Road.

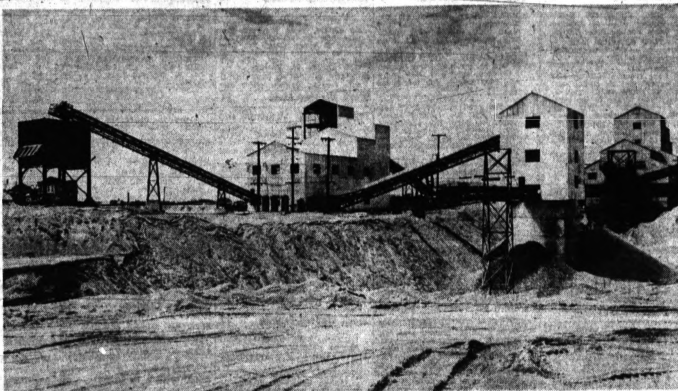

Peter Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Phillips of 30299 Barwell St., suffered a cut under an eye, requiring 25 stitches and a slight fracture of a cheek bone, according to township police.

The accident occurred about 2:45 p.m. on Westwood Road in the Kimbrey Subdivision, 11-Mile and Middle Belt roads.

The license number of a red car seen near the accident scene has been given to police.

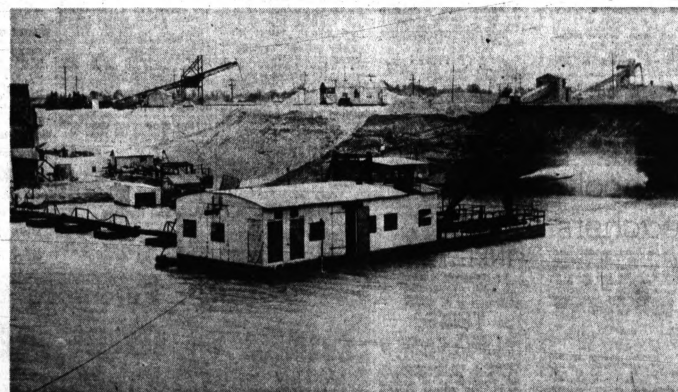

Class of '57 to Meet

Avondale High School's Class of 1957 will hold its first reunion Sunday at Bloomer State Park near Rochester. Class members are urged to bring their families and food for a picnic at noon.

HEAVY MEDIA PLANT — The building furthest east from the road at American Aggregates, north of Oxford, houses a giant drum that separates deleterious stones from 'AA' gravel by a "heavy media" process that floats away the lighter-weight undeletable stone. American Aggregates is the only gravel company that uses the new method, which keeps the percentage of deleterious stone under the maximum 3 per cent permitted in 'AA' gravel for concrete exposed to weather.

DREDGING GRAVEL — One of the two gravel mining machines is done by a dredge that throws a stream of water into the lake of a pit, saturating the gravel until it collapses into the lake on which the dredge floats. The gravel is then sucked from beneath the water and pumped into a hopper. It later joins gravel dug by the bucket of a huge dredge in a waiting pile alongside the road. The lake, formed by the area's water table, is enlarged by this "wet bank" method.

Zoning Change Rejected

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has joined the zoning board in turning down one controversial zoning change petition and scheduled a joint public meeting for further discussion of another.

The zoning board had denied a petition to change land from residential to commercial after a number of residents on and near the property objected. The land, three-fourths of a mile long, is located on the south side of East Walton Boulevard from Phillips Road to Jomick Street.

Home owners who said they get along fine with their neighbors except on the zoning of their property argued it out with each other at a public hearing June 4.

Although Otto H. Meyer, who sells cars and camp trailers from his garage at 2780 E. Walton Blvd., claimed 91 per cent of the residents in the area concerned had signed the petition for the change, some who did not sign charged their neighbors had been tricked.

Meyer and three or four others who operate businesses from their garages had sought its change to permit expansion of their businesses, which they estimated do as nonconforming residents.

Residents near five acres of land at 1960 Taylor Road appeared at the same public hearing to protest the area's rezoning, which was requested by owner James Dodd, 1411 Rosedale, West Bloomfield Township, to clear the way for sale of the land to Sam Gottman of Detroit.

DISMANTLING YARD — Gottman operates an adjacent junk yard, which he prefers to call a "dismantling yard" and which he would expand if the property is rezoned.

Residents who claimed the expansion would spoil the area's potential beauty and lower the value of their property will have another chance to air their objections Tuesday at a 7:30 p.m. joint meeting of the Township Board and the zoning board.

The zoning board had denied the petition for change, but requested such a joint meeting (for further consideration).

The Township Board has appointed Dr. Stanley Slovick, 3336 Auburn Rd., to the zoning board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Roy Maxwell.

In other action, the Township Board appointed Township Supervisor Leroy Davis and trustees Kenneth Gidley, Wayne Devor and George Lyle as temporary representatives to the Avon-Rochester Regional Planning Commission.

The township had accepted invitations from Avon Township and Rochester to join the planning group.

Trustees also formally accepted the Bloomfield Orchards subdivision water system, which the township has been operating. The subdivision is located at South Boulevard and Opdyke Road.

Teacher Wins Pension Chance

Troy Woman, 72, Gets Contract as Substitute in Board 'Compromise'

TROY — A 72-year-old teacher who was almost kept from qualifying for a pension by a school board policy was last night granted a contract as a permanent substitute teacher that assured her of the pension.

The compromise was worked out at a meeting of the Troy Board of Education after receipt of two petitions asking board members to reconsider their decision not to grant a contract to Miss Loretta Robinson, first grade teacher at Poppleton School.

A petition signed by 126 teachers and another from 165 parents requested that Miss Robinson be permitted to teach her 10th year despite a school board policy of mandatory retirement at age 70.

Supt. Rex B. Smith had recommended the policy be waived for Miss Robinson, a former college teacher whose nine years in the state's public school system are one short of the number required for a minimum pension.

School board members also approved a policy change proposed by Smith to allow principals a one-year probation period after which they could return to teaching if they discovered they were not suited for administrative

Farmington Gets Bond Sale Okay

Finance Commission Gives Go-Ahead on $13,000 Issue

FARMINGTON — This city has become the first community to receive permission to sell special assessment bonds since such approval from the State Municipal Finance Commission was held up by a recent State Supreme Court decision.

Approval of some $6 million in special assessment bonds throughout the state has been held in abeyance by the commission since the high court ruled that persons in the assessment district must be notified of public hearings by mail.

Since the ruling the state legislature passed a statute clarifying procedures for notifying citizens of such sales. It became effective yesterday.

The Finance Commission immediately approved $13,000 in bonds for Farmington street improvements.

This will allow the city to sell bonds to finance the paving of Hawthorne street from Grand River to Nine Mile Road, and Liberty street from State to Allamora streets.

The city had asked approval of the bond sale two months ago.

Edward B. Mikrut, finance commission director, said speedy attention would be given to the applications adding up to a near $6 million backlog.

Approvals on the others can be expected around Aug. 1, he said. Mikrut said if local units of government mailed notices under any effective statute they do have to make new applications for the borrowings.

If they mailed notices when not required under the statute, they have to again go through the formality of mailing notices and holding hearings to qualify for loan approval.

Church at Rochester Sets Vacation School

ROCHESTER — "Growth into Christian Maturity" will be the theme of the first daily vacation school June 18 through 29 at St. Philip's Episcopal Church here.

Corporate worship, Bible stories, related arts and crafts and recreation will be included in the 9 to 11:45 a.m. sessions Monday through Friday.

Theme for youngsters entering kindergarten and the first grade will be "God Loves Me," for second and third graders, "God is Good, God is Great;" for fourth and fifth graders, "Telling People About God;" and for sixth and seventh graders, "This Own Child."

It's 'Only' Gravel--but Gold to Oxford

By JIM DYGERT

OXFORD — It's a rare motorist who is not seized with conflicting thoughts when he cruises past one of the world's largest gravel pits alongside M24 just north of here.

Though awed by the vastness of it all and mystified by huge and strangely shaped structures sprawled among towering piles of gravel and sand, he still finds it easy to assume that gravel mining consists of little more than scooping it off the ground and loading it on trucks.

There's good reason for awe. Operations here by American Aggregates Corp., the world's largest gravel company, extend over 2,300 acres, almost four square miles.

Since its 1928 purchase of the area's first gravel pit from the old Detroit and Oxford Sand and Gravel Co., American Aggregates has been the main force in making Oxford the gravel capital of the world and Michigan the nation's leader in the production of aggregates.

When Oxford's gravel mining began 50 years ago, parks and cemeteries were the only customers. Business began to boom in the 1940s when concrete came into sharp demand for industrial, residential and highway construction.

Today, one year's production from the firm's Oxford pit could build a four-lane superhighway from Detroit to Chicago. Annual capacity is three million tons. But gravel deposits once predicted to last hundreds of years are now expected to be gone in 30 to 50 years.

Proof enough that gravel mining is no casual dig-and-load business what goes on in those strange-looking buildings. Mazes of conveyor belts (2½ miles of them altogether) clip along in every direction while giant crushers and scrubbers threaten to shatter the car with their relentless, deafening roar. And this is only part of it.

VAST PIT AREA

Stretching westward from the road for almost two miles is the pit area. Out of sight from the passing motorist, a dragline that looks like a giant crane strips off a three-foot layer of dirt. Great steel feet on the dragline actually walk — one mile per eight-hour day.

After the gravel is exposed, an even bigger dragline with a 135-foot boom and a 5-yard bucket takes over, lifting 27,000 pounds of gravel with each heave. The gravel then rides a railroad to a "surge pile," or waiting pile, next to the road.

Some 35 feet down in a pit near the road, a dredge, which looks like a big houseboat, throws a stream of water into the pit's wall, saturating the gravel until it collapses into the lake on which the dredge floats.

The dredge's 1,000-horsepower pump then sucks the gravel from beneath the water and pumps it into a hopper where it is de-sanded before a conveyor carries it to the same surge pile.

Formed by the area's water table and 90 feet deep in spots, the lake is enlarged by this "wet bank" method.

CROSSES ON CONVEYOR

From the surge pile, the gravel crosses to the east side of M24 on a conveyor through a tunnel from 1½ to 20 feet beneath the road.

Part of it then goes to a crushing plant that turns out sharp-edged gravel used in bituminous concrete, better known to the outside world as asphalt paving or "black top."

Another portion heads for the main plant to become 'AA' gravel for use in general purpose concrete. A third portion is watered off to a separate plant for processing into 'AA' gravel for concrete exposed to the weather.

Only 3 per cent deleterious material — soft and brittle stone that causes concrete to crack, crumble or develop holes — is permitted in 'AA' gravel, compared to 10 per cent for 'A'.

After deleterious material has been removed, screens then separate stones by size while jets of water wash the gravel and smaller particles are carried off to become sand, another of the firm's five basic products.

Fifth product is base course aggregate, a less refined gravel with some clay to serve as a binder. It is used as a sub-base for roads and for gravel road surfaces.

Stones are later re-combined in blends of various sizes by dropping them through gauges (trap doors) at the bottom of storage bins into a conveyor in a reclaiming tunnel. All quality and size specifications are set by the Michigan Highway Department.

An experimental lab at the pit tests concrete made from varying gravel qualities and stone and gravel and sand mixtures. "More research has gone into concrete than any other building material," says Lawrence S. Clark, the firm's assistant secretary.

In Oxford pit is currently mined under a joint ownership arrangement with Ray Industries. Plant manager is Jack Salawedel, 355 Granger Road, Oxford Township. Employment reaches about 180 in the peak summer season.

The firm's pit near Brighton, one of four others in Michigan, produces about the same as the Oxford pit, but covers less area. Smaller pits are located near Romeo, Milford and Kalamazoo. The company has 22 more in Ohio and Indiana.

Four other gravel companies operate in the immediate Oxford area, while many more have pits nearby. The four are Koenig Coal and Supply Co., northeast of the village; Mickelson Corp. on Seymour Lake Road; John R. Sand and Gravel further west on Seymour Lake Road; and Oxford Sand and Gravel on Metamora Road.

They, along with American Aggregates, have given Oxford its claim to gravel fame.

OXFORD LAKE — Created by American Aggregates after it bought the gravel pit there in 1944, Oxford Lake is the result of an American Aggregates land rehabilitation program. Mining is done according to a long range plan that provides for restoration of land beauty, according to company officials. The company plans to develop the lake and its surrounding land, located south of Lakeville Road within the Oxford Village limits.

To Call Meeting to Create Joint Planning Board

ORION TOWNSHIP — The township board last night decided to invite the Lake Orion Village Council and zoning boards of both the village and the township to a meeting to discuss establishment of a joint planning commission.

Creation of a planning commission was recommended by the township's zoning board.

In other action, trustees adopted a uniform ordinance regulating lake activities previously adopted by eight other townships.

The ordinance sets times for water skiing, limits boat speeds near bathing areas, restricts power boat operation by persons under 14 years old, and makes residence less punishable as a misdemeanor.

State Traffic Kills 553

EAST-LANSING IN — Traffic accidents have killed 553 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll on the same date last year was 652.

SHARON L. OLSON

Año H. Olson of 2336 Cole Road, Orion Township, and Mrs. Robert Piper of South Telegraph Road announce the engagement of their daughter Sharon Lee to Ruben Reyes of 103 N. Washington St., Oxford. No wedding date has been set.

Eve Mobile Classrooms for Utica School System

UTICA — The Board of Education here may be the first school system in the area to take a lesson from the well-known house trailer.

School board members have decided to look into the possibility of solving a space problem with mobile classrooms similar to house trailers.

Supr. Fred M. Atkinson suggests the use of house trailers recently developed to help schools relieve temporary space headaches, when some 30 parents showed up at a school board meeting to protest the transfer of their children to another school several miles away.

A trailer classroom holds 30 students, Atkinson said, and though it rests on pillars when in place, can be readily moved.

OBJECT TO MOVE

The parents objected to moving their children from the overcrowded Ewell Elementary School in the northern part of the school district to the new Plumcroft School in the southern part of the district. The new Ewell Elementary School is built in their area.

Construction contracts for the new school have been awarded with Gilbert and Kerner of Utica winning the job of general contractor with a bid of $229,741.

Mechanical work contract went to Boh Plumbing and Heating Co. for $39,200 and the electrical contract to Boh Plumbing and Heating Co. for $39,200 and the electrical contract to Boh Plumbing and Heating Co. for $39,200.

GAR Rochester Women to Hold Rummage Sale

ROCHESTER — The Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, will hold a rummage sale Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 130 University Drive, across from the fire hall.

Shoes and clothing will be sold and the money used to help veterans' families and support other practical projects.

Officers of Bethel 68 Will Be Installed

MILFORD — Officers of Bethel 68, International Order of Job's Daughters, will be installed at an 8 p.m. public ceremony Saturday at the Davisburg Masonic Temple.

Ponders Hard Years

LONG COMEBACK — Gene Willett, 19, of Union Lake ponders in his job of cleaning eavegutters to ponder the 12 years he has been learning to move about normally since a two-story jump from a barn left him paralyzed from the hips down. Gene will join fellow classmates walking down the aisle of Walled Lake High School to get their well-earned diplomas tomorrow night.

Teen Beats Disability to Earn His Diploma

Two 7-year-old youngsters poised for a moment in the open door of their uncle's second story barn near Holly. Then one jumped.

The hay pile below wasn't as deep as it appeared and Gene Willett smashed through — splintering his spine and leaving him paralyzed from the hips down.

That was 12 years ago. Tomorrow night Gene will walk up to the platform of the Walled Lake High School and receive his diploma right along with 342 admiring classmates.

The long fight to get up on his feet and walk again has been a long one. Neither was high school under the circumstances. But for 19-year-old Gene, it was all worth it.

Six operations, innumerable hours in uncomfortable casts, rehabilitation centers, legs in braces, crutches and finally walking with a cane — these were the milestones.

Amazingly, the youth who lives with his family, the Julius Willetts at 5620 Carroll Lake Road, Union Lake, is an expert water skier, and plays football with neighborhood friends. He loves to ride the water skis (he's got an advance, he says, because his special heavy shoes hold him down).

Gene rides a motor scooter and loves to swim, hunt and fish. When a ruling prohibits children with disabilities to ride the school bus, Gene had to learn how to drive a car if he wanted to finish high school. He drives the family's '62 Mustang.

With the full approval of the American Automobile Association Gene has a part-time job driving a car for a neighborhood friend, Mrs. Sam Aldrich. He does all her shopping (I'm a pretty good bargain hunter), mows the big lawn and, when he isn't cleaning out the eavegutters, he's tuning up his friend's 1956 model car.

Each September, Gene will be off for four years of study at Pine Lake College near Kalamazoo, Michigan in accounting.

But tomorrow night will be the biggest milestone.

Just a Customer —Witness Says of Billie Sol

Commercial Solvents
President Insists Prior Testimony Is False

FROM OUR NEWS WIRE
WASHINGTON — Maynard C. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp., said today his company's relationship with Billie Sol Estes "was that of customer and supplier — and no more."

Testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the Estes case, Wheeler took issue with testimony given by Frank Cain, a finance company lawyer, before a Texas court of inquiry.

"Most of Cain's testimony is false and defamatory," Wheeler said.

Cain, a Dallas lawyer representing Pacific Finance Co., had testified that Estes had told him "they want to put me into business in Brazil." He said Estes was referring to Commercial Solvents Corp.

In Franklin, Tex., Estes' lawyer filed a petition for a writ to keep Estes from testifying before a Texas grand jury.

The grand jury wants to find out what connection, if any, Estes has with the death of agriculture agent Henry H. Marshall. Marshall was believed to be investigating Estes' cotton allotment operations when he was found shot to death June 3, 1961.

John Coker of Austin, Estes' attorney, said he was asking for the well "on the grounds that if he (Estes) is under heavy suspicion of murder, the grand jury has no right to call him at all."

The chemical firm which Wheeler heads had financed Estes' dealings in anhydrous ammonia — part of a many-sided business enterprise that collapsed when Estes was indicted for fraud last April.

AS SECURITY
To secure his borrowings, Estes signed over to Commercial Solvents the payments he was to receive from the government for surplus grain storage.

Wheeler denied that he had said anything about establishing a business for Estes in Brazil, or had offered to help him with secret deposits in a Swiss bank.

Explaining how Commercial Solvents persuaded Estes to sign over payments for surplus grain storage, Wheeler said:

"The customer wanted credit and CSC was quite willing to accommodate its customer as long as the credit was adequately covered by collateral."

"The list of collateral that CSC obtained from Estes indicates how prudent the corporation was in demanding security as a condition of continuing business relations."

In addition to his huge dealings in surplus grain storage and cotton allotment transfers, Estes built up a flimsy pyramid in the liquid fertilizer business, trying to corner the market in west Texas by cutting prices below cost.

The fertilizer was anhydrous ammonia, use of which has become a way of life for farmers in suit-shaped 100,000-gallon tanks, mounted on wheels for easy movement.

Lacking such buying support, they said, a further slump may result.

The market suffered its third worst loss of the current stock Tuesday. An estimated $5.8 billion was erased from the quoted value of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market was too delicately balanced to resist statements and developments which investors considered disturbing, some Wall Street sources said.

YALE TALK?

They mentioned President Kennedy's remarks at the Yale University commencement exercises which were interpreted in some financial circles as meaning he wouldn't back down from his economic ideas in the face of disapproval by business men.

They also referred to the statement by Federal Budget Director David E. Bell in a New York speech that the administration would change its spending and tax policies this year if the economy falls into a serious lag.

All through the recent market decline Kennedy and his advisers have articulated it to what they called investors' realization that stock prices had climbed too far and a belief that inflation's effect on the economy had abated.

On Monday, Kennedy said it was false to ascribe "any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel" to lack of confidence in his administration.

Widen Search for 3 Convicts

AIR-SEA HUNT — A Coast Guard helicopter circles Angel Island in San Francisco Bay as a Coast Guard boat combs the water in search of three convicts who escaped from their cells on Alcatraz Island, 1 1/2 miles to the south-east.

Warden Tells How Trio Fleed

Seek Alcatraz Escapees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three men escaped the attention of authorities. At 3 p.m. Monday, as usual, the three men escaped from their cell block on Alcatraz Island, 1 1/2 miles to the south-east.

It was found that the trio, apparently for weeks, had been digging at plaster and cement four inches thick with bits of spoons. Their painstaking effort loosened a metal cover leading to a ventilation shaft through each cell wall.

The 8-by-12 inch openings connected the cells with a service shaft a yard wide.

From there it was 30 feet up to be their sleeping forms and plaster, paint and hair heads and pillow bodies.

The alarm was sounded immediately.

The alarm was sounded immediately.

It was found that the trio, apparently for weeks, had been digging at plaster and cement four inches thick with bits of spoons.

Their painstaking effort loosened a metal cover leading to a ventilation shaft through each cell wall.

The 8-by-12 inch openings connected the cells with a service shaft a yard wide.

From there it was 30 feet up to be their sleeping forms and plaster, paint and hair heads and pillow bodies.

U.S. Ready to Snoop on Red N-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Russia expected to resume atmospheric nuclear testing soon, American experts reportedly are preparing to do a little snooping of their own.

The Russians have four instrument ships posted around Christmas and Johnston Islands in the Pacific to gather information about the American test series.

which began April 25 and now has reached about the midway point. There is every reason to believe the Russians have collected considerable data in the weeks their ships have been there.

Although neither of the great nuclear powers says anything publicly about its own snooping operations, each has kept a close check on what the other has been doing in nuclear test blasts over the years of the atomic weapons race.

The new Soviet series could come at any time in view of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's recent declaration that the American experiments have "forced us to renew our tests."

The Russians normally test in remote regions or deep in the heart of the Soviet Union, MAKES IT HARD

This makes it more difficult to get a reasonably close look, but there is clear evidence this has not hampered the United States in obtaining solid scientific information about Soviet test results.

On the basis of this knowledge, President Kennedy was able to tell the nation last March that the Soviet series in late 1961 "reflected a highly sophisticated technology," that many of those tests were aimed at improving Soviet defenses against missiles, and that one Russian device was exploded more than 100 miles aloft.

The Russian tests last fall, it is known, were conducted above an uninhabited Novaya Zemlya, a crescent-shaped island on the edge of the Arctic.

So far as is known, the United States does not have the kind of instrument ships being used by the Soviets to spy on U.S. tests in the Pacific.

UP Supervisors Fail to Elect Head —on 103rd Try

CRYSTAL FALLS, Ill. — Iron County's board of supervisors has failed for the 103rd time to elect a new chairman.

The 20-member board took four ballots last night but was unable to come up with the 11-vote majority needed to elect one of two candidates vying for the post.

Iron County has been without a supervisor board chairman since April 9, when the first 26 ballots were cast. Most of the ballots have been a 10-10 deadlock.

Area Will Enjoy Warmer Weather for a Few Days

The good old summertime will reign in the Pontiac area for the next few days with high temperatures in the mid-70s and the low ranging in the high 50s.

Sunday will be a little cooler than temperatures will be some warmer Monday. Precipitation will total about .25 of an inch in weekend showers.

Northeastern morning winds at 8 to 18 miles per hour will diminish tonight becoming 8 to 12 m.p.h. Thursday.

Fifty-four was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the mercury reading was 60.

Administration supporters contended that adoption of the GOP substitute would force the President to call Congress back for a special session next November or require fiscal juggling that would lead to cost of running the government.

The existing temporary limit of $300 billion is scheduled under permanent law to drop to $285 billion on July 1. Since the actual debt then is expected to stand at $290 billion, Congress must act.

"The aim would be to cut the total by some $300 million," said Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen. He announced that the Senate opened debate on the big appropriation bill, a peacetime record for defense spending.

Flag Day Means Little to Many Americans

The pity of Flag Day, Thursday, June 14, 1877, when the Second Continental Congress at Philadelphia adopted a resolution offered by its Marine Committee: "Resolved that the Flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, and the Union be 13 stars white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

Now, when we talk about "waving the flag," the phrase is used to mean overzealous patriotism.

Flag Day's roots go back to June 14, 1777, when the Second Continental Congress at Philadelphia adopted a resolution offered by its Marine Committee: "Resolved that the Flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, and the Union be 13 stars white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

As time went on, the admission of new states burdened the emblem with the stripes supposed to represent them. So Congress ordered that after July 4, 1818, the Flag should have 13 stripes, symbolizing the 13 original states; that the Union have 20 stars, and that whenever a new state was admitted, a new star would be added to the Union on the Independence Day following its admission.

On July 4, 1960, the 48-star flag was replaced by a flag with a 50th star—for Hawaii—in the field of blue.

If recent past experience is any criterion, Thursday will be relatively flimsy except for those on public and institutional type buildings.

What's wrong with our Flag and the great things it stands for?

U.S. Woman Learns—Dancing Illegal in Saigon

"When in Rome . . ." also means Saigon, a young lady employed in the U.S. Embassy has learned.

The law of the land there recently put its foot down on dancing, among other things.

The crowd said it to be the cha cha when the president passed a morals law which made such gyrations illegal, along with beauty contests, boxing, organized fights between animals, sorcery and birth control.

The young lady had a small party in progress, with dancing by the guests, when five policemen cut in. There was no evidence of sorcery, apparently, but the dancing had to stop.

Come to think of it, with boxing as bad as it is here, and the twist still in force, such a law might not be a bad idea. But beauty contests would be a loss, and having a taboo on voodoo would wreak havoc on the ram's horn business.

New Farm Program Would Benefit Few

Shortly, the House of Representatives will be considering the Administration's new farm program. As we understand this measure, along with many others, it will increase the price of food and the cost of the agricultural program as well.

Unless you want your grocery bill to go up, you should oppose the bill. Oddly enough, the farmers who are supposed to benefit are fighting it through their Farm Bureau Federation.

Key provision is that which would require every miller and processor of wheat for human consumption to buy "certificates" with his wheat. The farmer who wants to sell wheat must have a "certificate" to sell, too.

This slip of paper not only establishes how much wheat he will be allowed to raise, but also entitles him to a bonus price which the consumer ultimately must pay.

The certificate idea is now referred to as a "bread tax."

Theoretically, two-thirds of the farmers who grow wheat must approve this plan before it can go into effect. But the Administration has a weapon to make sure the farmers vote for it.

The alternative the farmers face if they don't ballot for the bill would be cancellation of all price supports on wheat. They also face the prospect of the Commodity Credit Corporation dumping mountains of surplus wheat on the market and running the price down.

It's as simple as this: they either accept the Administration's plan or approve the collapse of the wheat market.

To us it seems incongruous for an administration which will use all its weapons to prevent a steel price increase in the name of maintaining price stability, to use weapons just as potent to force up the price of food.

The Man About Town

Haven for Keys Columnist Divests Self of 30 Years' Weight

Years ago, there was a best-seller titled "The Keeper of the Keys." I disremember, as the fella said, what it was all about but the title must have been prophetically aimed at me.

For, if the MAT may be pardoned a reference to his previous occupation, in relinquishing the management of The Waldron he figured that a ring of keys accumulated during his tenure should be turned over to someone. Might want to unlock something, you know.

Well! By actual count there were 22 keys on the ring. After prolonged search of memory, trial and error and just plain deduction, it was possible to establish the usefulness of just five—except that in two cases there was no longer need to keep locked the premises to which the keys gave access.

So-o-o, if anyone has plans to go in the used key business, the MAT's entire stock of orphaned ones is at his disposal.

Robert Bordwell the greatest grower of Big Boy tomatoes in the known world—well, on Knollwood Drive then, if you're going to split hairs—has got his all stacked up and is sitting back looking for a bigger crop. . . . And the MAT hastens to add that if Bob thinks for one minute that this is a hint he could use a few come harvest time, Bob's right!

Verbal Orchids to—

Mrs. Edith Sparks of Parshville; 89th birthday.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Watching, Waiting in SE Asia

WASHINGTON — The biggest game of double cross the world has ever witnessed is going on in Southeast Asia. The Soviet Union is double-crossing her ally Red China. The Red Chinese are double-crossing the Soviets.

Meanwhile, the United States is playing a crafty game of watching and waiting, and thus far seems to have managed to keep the Communists from achieving their main aim.

For Red China's true aim is not merely to capture Laos, but to grab all of Southeast Asia. It may take quite a while to do it, but this is the long-range scheme as it is being unfolded step by step.

The Soviet Union's purpose, on the other hand, is actually to prevent the Red Chinese from achieving a mastery of the southeast Asia, while ostensibly giving them support.

This means that, for the moment, the idea of a unity of factions in Laos—sometimes called a "coalition" government—is acceptable to the Russians and, for exactly opposite reasons, also to the Red Chinese.

The Soviets are confident that, by their methods of infiltration, they can control the so-called "neutral" government of Laos, while the Red Chinese have effectively done the same through their own techniques. But the real objective of Red China is to get hold of South Viet Nam and Thailand, as well as Laos.

U.S. ROADBLOCK

The United States has put up a roadblock against the conquest of Laos by sending Marines in substantial numbers to nearby Thailand and a fleet to adjacent waters to show the Communists that America means business and will even intervene in Laos if it becomes necessary.

It was this move, rather than any feeling of forbearance, which caused Red China and the Soviets to let the "coalition" government emerge in Laos.

Whether the recent activities by the United States have effectively stopped the Red Chinese plan to take over Southeast Asia, or merely caused a temporary interruption, cannot be determined at this time.

Unquestionably, each side is watching the other, and if there is any sign of faltering on the part of America, developments can come quickly and decisively.

What seems incredible today is the way the peoples of Laos and West have allowed their own propaganda to become so weak and vacillating in the face of the biggest march of imperialism the present century has witnessed.

The Soviet Union has already extended her empire far and wide to cover more territory than the czars of Russia ever hoped to conquer.

CROSSES BORDERS

Red China has moved into neighboring areas, too, and has attacked countries across her borders. If the Red Chinese weren't restrained by fears of Western military action, they would not hesitate to make a dash for India and Pakistan as well.

There are 200 combat divisions and more than 4,000 jet aircraft, as well as sizable naval forces, poised in the Far East. But these forces can be swung into action in Southeast Asia whenever the Communists feel the time is ripe and they have enough internal support to warrant a take-over and conquest.

Tips Offered on Saving Top Nutrition in Foods

As a nation, we are the best fed people of all times. Nutritional problems frequently are those of overproduction and overeating.

Nevertheless, during periods of unusual demand, such as the months of pregnancy and efforts must be made to preserve the nutritional values of products we buy and to reduce spoilage and waste to a minimum.

To assist the housewife toward this end, thus stretching the dollar to the limit of its purchasing power, the AMA composed on food and nutrition has issued a series of useful booklets.

Much of the information was originally published in their magazine, "Today's Health."

Here are some of the practical suggestions that should have appeal to the prospective mother and to the housewife who is faced three daily with the problem of stoking the furnace of a brood of rapidly growing youngsters.

STORE IN REFRIGERATOR Store milk and milk products in refrigerator. Certain B vitamin constituents are destroyed by light. Store frozen foods in freezer at zero degrees F. or less (do not freeze after thawing).

Store canned goods in cool, dry area at about 50 degrees F. (room cellar or back of refrigerator). Store opened canned food, juices and leftovers in refrigerator after covering tightly.

Wrap dark green leafy vegetables, broccoli, asparagus, lettuce, etc. in wet cloth and store in humidifier or coldest part of refrigerator (50 degrees F. or below).

In closed container, place beans, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers etc. in refrigerator.

Place fruit in refrigerator if possible. Refrigerate berries, (Vitamin C is rapidly lost unless protected.)

To prevent withering, store potatoes, carrots, turnips, parsnips etc. in cool, dry place. Vitamin C content is highest in small, new, freshly dug tubers such as potatoes.

In trimming vegetables, remember that less attractive outer leaves contain highest concentrations of vitamins and minerals.

Memoranda in Department of Justice files on suspected subversive organizations between April 29, 1953, and Oct. 25, 1953, were connected into one list issued on Nov. 1, 1953. It is a single sheet of paper of business letter size, printed on both sides in four columns of names.

The list originally contained 238 names, but five have been crossed off. They were removed by publication of notice in the official Federal Register after evidence was given that these organizations were not subversive.

Otherwise, the list has not been revised since 1953. So it is now an official document over six years old. It is obsolete and almost meaningless, except as a historical check list for government and business personnel officers.

A few non-Communist organizations are listed—such as the Ku Klux Klan, which is still considered active. The German-American Bund, the Sokoku Kai (Fatherland Society) of Japan and a few other organizations which dis-

State Legislators Ruffle Feathers

Here's an idea on how to get Michigan out of the red and pay our legislators "the raise they voted themselves." Cut out all Lansing offices and run the state direct from union headquarters, thus eliminating the middleman.

Yours for Cheaper and Better Government

Our legislators voted themselves a $2,000 pay raise making them the highest in the 50 states. Thus they show their contempt for the people. However, they may have a point. Anyone dumb enough to vote them into office couldn't rate very high in their opinion.

I hope the new constitution has a provision to limit the quantity and raise the quality of our representatives. The instigator of the pay raise says it won't benefit him.

If the voters of Michigan haven't sold their birthright for less than a mess of pottage, it won't do the rest of them any good either.

A Word to the Wise

I won a bet. It was that if the legislature could find any new tax sources, the first thing they would do would be raise their own salaries. Well, as I said before, I won.

An increase of $2,000 more a year isn't bad for the performance they put on, but they forgot to add the amusement tax.

'Paper Didn't Print Both Sides of Story'

A good paper prints both sides of any question. I refer to the letter written by Mr. Sutt and the subsequent letters criticizing one person for one remark. However, you failed to print this person's answer.

You at no time proved whether the school candidate was hand picked or exercising his right to run as any American. You also failed to print any of the letters written to you by a number of Central High students about the incident at that school. I wonder if Mr. Sutt ever stopped to think how the Negro race acquired all of its different skin coloring in America.

Rakes Dr. Crane Over the Coals

I protest against your publishing a column by Dr. George Crane. The inaccurate content is such that I cannot conceive of any responsible editor approving it.

Dr. Crane's reference to "socialized medicine" in Britain ignores the success of the British people and medical profession. "Socialized" medical treatment is precisely what many of us receive from doctors now, in cubbyhole consultation rooms with several receiving summer incomes as 20-second installments, after waiting perhaps a half-hour to 2 hours.

Dr. Crane says, "Half of the doctors past 65 are spending their own money on liquor and cigarettes . . . why should taxpayers step in and pay to combat lung cancer and heart attacks they are deliberately producing by squandering their own money . . ." What are his statistics? Who would "deliberately" produce cancer and heart attacks in himself?

Crane's colleagues are far from agreement and it is hardly in the American tradition to deny treatment because people suffer from their own lack of judgment.

My first instinct was to cancel my subscription. However, even editors are human.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Winner of this week's Tailor Tris pressing board award is Mrs. M. A. Wicks, Grand Forks, N.D., who helped her husband to win this interesting hat.

"With summer really here, I thought your readers might enjoy a favorite hat trick of mine. "Remove the old flower and gingham bands from any summer hat, all the way from panamas to small straw clothes. Use leftover fabric from your summer dresses and make plain or pleated bands for your hat.

"You can easily be applied to your hat by sewing snaps every two inches around the crown of the hat. Sew the other half of the snaps to your fabric band, in this way they can be changed in a jiffy.

"You can also attach a band of flowers to a velvet ribbon and snap it on for a change. One hat can fit into almost every occasion.

"Your small try will also love the idea if you put their play clothes fabric on their beach hats."

STITCHING TRICK
"Dear Mrs. Farmer: "In many of the ready made shorts and slacks there is a permanent crease sewed in. How would you suggest going about this when you make your own sports clothes?"

After the shorts or slacks have been finished, fold them carefully so that the side seams will come directly over the inner-leg seams. Press on the folds, both front and back. After they have been accu-ately pressed, machine stitch as close to the pressed edge as possible.

These are usually only stitched in the front, from the waistband to the hem. If you stitch the back crease, do so from the hip-line to the hemline only.

The machine stitching makes your garment appear pressed at all times and will definitely look better.

WANTS SUGGESTIONS
"Dear Eunice: "I have some pheasant feathers that I want to use to make a hat. What kind of glue would I use and how would I go about covering a hat?"

Mrs. F. G. "I have recently received several letters about hats made of pheasant feathers. This would be a good summer project and your hat would be ready to wear by fall. I am hoping some of you readers who have become proficient at this

If you would like Mrs. Farmer's leaflet which explains how to make pheasant hats and ruga belts sent 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Measure Child's Progress Against Past

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Until two months ago we lived in a rural area where our 4-year-old girl had no other children to play with.

Now we have moved to a suburb where she has several playmates, but she is still quite shy with them.

Instead of running out to join them in games the way they do with each other, she will hang around the stoop until they call her or come into the yard. She doesn't know how to defend herself from them either but will let them run off with them.

ANSWER: But this present shyness is less than it was when she first met these children?

If so, what are you fussing about? Do you think it's fair to measure the social ease of a little girl who has never had playmates with the social ease of other youngsters who have always had them? I don't.

I think that the only meaningful way you can possibly judge your little girl's social self-confidence is to check what it is now against what it was when she first acquired these friends.

It is a child's own progress, not other children's achievements, that probably evaluates his current performance.

Surely this must make sense to you. If I started taking driving lessons I would get pretty discouraged if I began to compare my skill with the skill of experienced drivers.

To truly judge it, I have to become aware of my improvement, saying to myself, "I'm certainly better at parking today than I was three days ago."

If your husband insists on measuring his business success against that of his employer, how can he get any reliable estimate of it? He can't.

As the employer's success developed from a financial position that was different from your husband's, it doesn't tell us a thing about your husband's.

To get an accurate perspective on his success, your husband has to think to himself, "I am doing well inasmuch as I have been able to improve this year's work over last year's work."

If we insist on comparing our achievements to other people's instead of comparing them with our own past performance, then we may have to collapse into discouragement.

We can lose appreciation of children's progress, too, by comparing it with other children's. It's nice that your little girl's playmates are so sure of themselves that they can run off with her toys—but it's just as nice that she is managing to get herself included in their games. In view of the difference between their social experience and hers, I'd say she was coming along pretty well.

I suggest that we feel gratitude for her progress in self-confidence.

Teething Toll Told

Teething takes a toll on the playmate and on baby, too—if the "chewing" surface isn't kept clean. A careful mother protects the safety of her child by washing the frame regularly with soap or detergent suds, then rinsing and wiping it dry.

Plastic-covered bumpers should be suds-sponged to help keep the infant's surroundings germ-free during the vulnerable teething period.

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Sometimes we get recipes in the mail from readers and for this we are grateful. But we wish said readers would tell us something of themselves too, especially when they have no telephone with which we could do some sleuthing.

Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple of Pontiac sends us a recipe she used often during Lent. It's one that could be a Friday favorite throughout the year.

CHEESE SANDWICH CASEROLE

By Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple
Trim crust from 8 slices of bread and make up 4 cheese sandwiches, buttering the bread on both sides. Put in lightly buttered baking dish.

Beat up 3 eggs with 1/4 cup milk and salt and pepper and pour over sandwiches. Let set for 1 hour. Bake 1 hour, first 15 minutes at 400 degrees and last 45 minutes at 300 degrees.

For variety, tuna or chopped hard cooked eggs may be added inside the sandwich. Serves 4.

Sorority Holds Meeting, Elects Mrs. Lear

The Pagoda in Clawson was the scene of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, Alpha Omicron Chapter's final meeting of the season.

"Installation of new officers highlighted the Saturday afternoon program. Heading the group next session will be: Mrs. Huber Lear, president; Esther Cole, first vice president; Mrs. Richard Thomas, second vice president; Harriet Campbell, secretary; Mrs. Joan Stogger, treasurer; and Mrs. Vern R. Richards, corresponding secretary.

Final reports, voting on prospective members and scholarship collection also were covered at the meeting.

CLAUDIA B. WASIK

Graduated June 9 from Eastern Michigan University was Claudia B. Wasik. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Wasik, Spence Street. A past president of Delta Zeta Sorority, she will continue her work in the alumnae field while teaching at Detroit's Liggett School.

Church Group Has Birthday Party

Standish Group of First Congregational Church met at the Rochester home of Mrs. Charles Andrews for the annual birthday party luncheon. Sharing the hostess honors were Mrs. Ray Meiser and Mrs. Floyd Moore.

Twenty-two members and three guests, Mrs. Ross Boyd of Wayne, Mrs. Lawrence Rutledge and Ethlyn Peterson attended. New member Mrs. Simon VanPutten was welcomed by the group.

Baritone Heads Department at Interlochen

Former leading baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera and the Cincinnati Opera, Barrie Hill, has accepted an appointment to head the voice and opera department of Interlochen Arts Academy.

Mr. Hill is former head of the voice department at the University of Oklahoma and has served as chairman of the voice and opera departments at the National Music Camp and the University of Michigan at Interlochen. He also taught voice and opera at the American Conservatory in Chicago.

Since 1959, Mr. Hill has been grass roots chairman for the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The new Academy, which opens Sept. 9, is a specialized school for gifted students of high school age. It will offer a full college preparatory curriculum, with emphasis on music and the arts.

U.S. Fighting to Keep Gold

MARKETS

Wall Street Figures Approach May

Mart Takes Flop in a Flurry

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined in heavy trading today as Wall Street worried whether the general level would hold above the 1962 bottom or plunge through it to a new low. As trading began, the market was just above the lows reached in the big plunge at the end of May. The list retreated on a broad front, but most of the key stocks were fractional.

Although early transactions were stable, they were nothing like the size of blocks on May 25, "Black Monday."

Bonds Narrowly Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices were narrowly mixed at the opening today.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said most issues were unchanged. A few intermediate maturities dropped 1/32 to 1/8 in extremely quiet dealings.

Foreign Steel Goes Begging

NEW YORK—Business and government are joining forces to seek ways to halt the outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury.

But even as they are trying to find a common cause after many weeks of bickering on other problems, foreign traders in the metal were expressing skepticism by raising the price of gold again on the London free market.

Priced at $20 Less Per Ton But Buyers Find Final Costs High

NEW YORK (AP) — Foreign steel is being offered at $20 to $25 a ton below domestic prices but is not finding too many takers, the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly said that in the current soft market U.S. steel users are reluctant to cut domestic mill orders further, despite the price advantages of the moment.
