Molotov Hints Concessions

Soviet Diplomat Brings Different View to Geneva

Western Allies Believe Recall to Moscow Has Softened Red Attitude

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to the Big Four conference today from top level talks in Moscow.

Western leaders believe a remark he made in the Soviet capital about bringing "better baggage" with him meant his three-day talks there had softened Soviet opposition to Germany's early reunification.

American authorities also speculated he might be ready to put a more friendly front on Russia's attitude toward President Eisenhower's proposal for reciprocal aerial inspection of military installations in the United States and the Soviet Union — while renewing the Soviet demand for prompt outlawing of atomic weapons.

Molotov, who went to Moscow last weekend and participated in the celebration of the Bolshevik revolution anniversary, indicated there last night he might be bringing new proposals to Geneva.

Answering a question at a Kremlin reception, he said:

Told of Molotov's remark, Soviet Premier Bulganin commented with a smile, "That is exactly right."

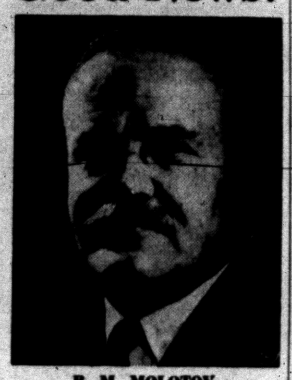

Molotov added he thought it possible for the Geneva meeting of foreign ministers to produce an East-West agreement, saying, "Why should we have gone to Geneva if we did not think we could reach agreement."

"Of course," he continued, "there will be certain difficulties on some questions. But you know the Russian proverb, 'Moscow was not built in one day'."

Whatever the Russian's next move may be, it seemed clear the conference was going into a critical phase and that Germany was the heart of it.

Probe Explosion in Plane Crash

DENVER (AP)—Probers are studying evidence of a "bomb-like explosion" which shattered the rear luggage hold of a United Air Lines plane in a crash killing 44 persons Nov. 1, a Civil Aeronautics Board officials said last night.

James N. Peyton, chief of the CAB's investigation division, said sidewalls of the luggage compartment "were pushed out and the floor was in pieces."

It appeared something "foreign" exploded in the airliner crash near Longmont, Colo., he said. Asked to explain "foreign," Peyton said he meant something "not a part" of the plane.

He said luggage stored in the No. 4 compartment had an acrid smell, "like gunpowder, or an exploding firecracker."

Peyton would not say it was a bomb that exploded. He said: "We know there was an explosion on board. There are several peculiar aspects but I don't know the answer yet."

Peyton said "there still has been no evidence of malfunction" of the aircraft. Investigators estimated the plane was at 11,000 feet and still climbing when the explosion occurred.

It was the second United Air Lines crash in the Rocky Mountain region within a month. On Oct. 6 a UAL coach flight smashed into Medicine Bow Peak in southern Wyoming, killing all 66 aboard in the nation's worst commercial air lines disaster.

Envoy Says All of Israel Ready to Battle Egypt

DETROIT (INS)—Dr. Dov Joseph, Israel's Minister for development, said in Detroit yesterday that every able-bodied man and woman in his country stand ready to defend their newfound liberty.

Dr. Joseph, now on a 20-day tour of the United States to spark the current Bond for Israel Drive, said he "hoped and prayed" there would not be war between Israel and Egypt.

He added, however, that "there is a sober realization throughout Israel today of the gravity of the situation."

The 56-year-old leader gave two ways to avoid war:

"Make sure Egypt does not receive Communist arms or, if they do, provide Israel with an equal number. Then there will be no war."

Cancer Doctors Lose Licenses

Board Finds Physicians Guilty of 'Dishonorable' Clinic Operations

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The licenses of seven doctors associated with the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic of Dallas were revoked yesterday by the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners.

The six osteopaths and one medical doctor were found guilty of "unprofessional" and "dishonorable" conduct after a day-long hearing.

The identical charges against all seven included:

1. Practicing medicine with an organization "fostered and promoted by a layman who has been convicted of the practice of medicine without a license."

2. "Using and participating in the using of certain false and misleading advertising matter by the said Hoxsey Cancer Clinic."

3. That the doctors were connected with clinic claims that it could cure cancer where other doctors have failed.

4. That the doctors allowed the clinic the use of their medical licenses to practice medicine.

Dr. Hoxsey said his clinic treated cancer "by chemo therapy. We do not use X-ray, radium or surgery. Chemo therapy is treatment by internal medication by formulas handed down by four generations of my own family and prepared under our supervision by some of the leading drug manufacturers."

Leaves Denver Friday

Ike Will Address Nation From Hospital and Capital

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower will address the nation briefly on television and radio when he checks out of Fitzsimons Army Hospital Friday and again when he arrives in Washington that afternoon.

The Denver remarks—the President's first to the country after seven weeks of hospital convalescence—will be at Lowry Air Force Base a moment before he walks up the 17-step ramp to his private plane, Columbine III.

And his equally informal talk in Washington will be at the Military Air Transport Terminal at National Airport when he steps from the plane there.

Eisenhower's doctors announced here yesterday he will leave the hospital Friday. He will spend the weekend resting up in the White House after arrival in the capital, then journey by automobile Monday to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for a further recovery period of perhaps six weeks.

No specific time has been announced yet for the President's departure from Denver or for arrival in Washington. The major TV and radio networks are planning "live" coverage of his remarks to the nation.

The President's doctors said it will be late January or early February before he can make a sound decision—solely from the standpoint of his physical condition—on whether to seek reelection.

Dr. Howard Snyder, the President's personal physician hinted that after a stay at Gettysburg the President might move to a warmer climate for further convalescence. But other White House aides said later that Eisenhower wants to remain at his farm unless the doctors decide such a move is necessary to facilitate recovery.

The President will be attended at Gettysburg by Snyder only on a regular basis. White plans to visit the farm in about a month for a new check on recovery progress.

Starting next month the physicians plan to let Eisenhower travel 25 miles from Gettysburg to his Catoctin Mountain retreat at Thurmont, Md., to attend Cabinet and possibly National Security Council meetings.

Warmer Weather Predicted for Area

The weatherman says it will be warmer tomorrow afternoon with a high in the low 40's.

It will be partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. The low tonight will be near 25 degrees.

Temperatures will average from three to six degrees below normal for the next five days. It will be warmer Wednesday and then becoming colder again by Friday. It is expected to be rather cold over the weekend according to the Weather Bureau.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 30 degrees. The thermometer registered 35 at 2 p.m.

Wilson Returns From Geneva

Would Favor Another Summit Confab; to Act in Army-Air Force Spat

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said on his return to Washington yesterday that he would favor another "summit" meeting of the Big Four leaders if such a step would continue progress toward world peace.

Wilson, who has been attending the meeting of foreign ministers in Geneva as an observer, said he is not certain a "summit" conference will be needed. President Eisenhower met last summer with the Russian, British and French chiefs of state at such a top-level bargaining conference.

Wilson also promised to deal promptly with a hot Army-Air Force dispute over whether the ground forces should be permitted miles or more to strike a military target.

Chiefs of the Air Force and Navy have asserted that the Air Force should have exclusive jurisdiction over "medium range" missiles — from 750 to 2,500 miles—as well as long range intercontinental types, designed for ranges from 2,500 to more than 5,000 miles.

Wilson said he found the Russian negotiators at Geneva were "very affable," but also "rather determined on objectives that seem desirable from their point of view."

Woodward Deer Rams Into Car of City Resident

Deer don't abound in this area anymore, but one bounded head-on into a car headed north on Woodward Avenue in Bloomfield Hills at 11 p.m. last night.

Kenneth E. Sturdevant, 21, of 92 Summit Ave., was returning to Pontiac with a friend after eating dinner in Birmingham. " A buck suddenly jumped out of nowhere," the Fisher Body worker stated, "and hit the car headon."

The six-point, 150-pound animal was killed instantly. Sturdevant's car received minor damage to one headlight and the grille. The deer was turned over to conservation officers.

Auto License Plates to Be Smaller

Confirms Mrs. Woodward's Story

Youth Admits to Prowling

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — A prowler, who at first denied being on the estate of William E. Woodward Jr. the night of his shotgun death, now says he was breaking into the house at the time.

Paul W. Wirths' new version of his activities in the early morning of Oct. 30 was reported by Nassau County police officials yesterday.

The new account supports on some points the story given by beautiful, blonde Ann Woodward who said she thought she was shooting at a prowler when she killed her wealthy sportsman husband.

Mrs. Woodward, 39, who has been in a hospital under a doctor's care for shock and grief since the day of the shooting, told police a noise woke her around 2 o'clock that Sunday morning and deep-seated fear of a prowler panicked her into shooting blindly into a darkened hall.

Her 35-year-old husband was standing across the hall at the door of his bedroom and caught a blast of gunshot on the side of his head, dying almost immediately.

Two days after the shooting, Wirths, a 23-year-old German refugee, was picked up as a prowler known to have been operating in the estate-dotted section of Long Island's North Shore. He was held on a burglary charge not connected with the Woodward case.

He first told police he broke into the Woodward garage and swimming pool bathhouse several days before the shooting but on that night was creeping around a nearby country club.

Then yesterday Wirths asked to speak to a detective and authorities said he told this story:

On that Saturday night Wirths hung around the 12-room Woodward house at Oyster Bay, occasionally peering in the windows. He didn't keep close tabs on the time, but figured it was sometime between 11 p.m. and 2 a.m., that a man and woman drove up and walked from the garage to the house.

This was very likely the Woodwards who returned from a party for the Duchess of Windsor around 1 a.m.

Wirths then saw lights go on in

State Republicans Move to Develop 'United Front'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan Republican chiefs, with top national GOP leaders sitting in, have come up with a plan which they hope will close a party split and give them a "United Front" in next year's elections.

The party has been split between factions led by State Chairman John Feikens and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

Leonard W. Hall, national chairman, sat in yesterday on a peace meeting which came up with a plan to give an important voice in the coming campaign to those Michigan Republicans "disagreeing with the present leadership" of Feikens.

Besides Hall, Robert Humpheys, national campaign director; Clifford O'Sullivan, Michigan national committeeman, and Summerfield were among those attending the closed-door meeting.

O'Sullivan and Feikens said at a news conference that it is no secret some Michigan Republican leaders have opposed Feikens. So to present a "united front" to Democrats next year they said they decided to "broaden the base" of the Michigan campaign committee.

Feikens said O'Sullivan, Mrs. Catherine Gibson of Monroe, vice chairman of the state central committee; Mrs. Rae C. Hooker of Mount Pleasant, national committeewoman, "and others" would be added to the campaign committee.

The "others," Feikens conceded, will consist chiefly of those who have opposed his leadership.

REVISE BYLAWS

Asked whether Summerfield had approved the program, O'Sullivan replied: "Yes, I would say so."

O'Sullivan said it also would be necessary to revise the bylaws of the state central committee to broaden the base of the campaign committee.

With the changes, O'Sullivan said "it will be possible to bring into our campaign organization the representatives of all elements of the party, including our congressional delegation, our Michigan legislative representatives, our Young Republicans and our women's organizations."

"If it (the campaign committee) is to be properly balanced, it should include representation of those who may have been in disagreement with the present leadership of the party, O'Sullivan added.

New Committee Works Toward Compromise

Continued Impasse Will Kill All Programs Aimed at Aiding Defectives

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Legislature's bitter week-old fight over additional bed space for mentally deficient children reached the do-or-die stage at noon today.

The first conference committee of House and Senate opponents in the second special session in two weeks failed to agree and a second was named for a showdown on the issue.

If the second committee can not reach a compromise acceptable to both sides or if one chamber will not back down, all programs for absorbing 1,221 mentally deficient children on state hospital waiting lists are dead.

For the first time, the House appointed a committee which looked like one which might either compromise or concede defeat. It was composed of Reps. Richard Van Dusen (R-Detroit), Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) and Frank D. Williams (D-Detroit).

The Senate sent back into the fray its original "three blocks of granite": Sens. Edward Hutchinson of Fennville, Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek and Frank M. Beadle of St. Clair, all Republicans who have refused to budge an inch throughout the controversy.

An attempt by Rep. Richard D. Smith (R-Bay City) to work out a compromise on the House floor was blocked by a parliamentary ruling. Smith proposed converting the Howell State Sanatorium into a mental hospital and transferring the patients there to the Oakland County TB sanatorium.

With only slight modifications, the House and Senate positions were the same as last week.

By 32-1 the Senate voted a $1,265,522 appropriation to provide 1,750 additional beds for the 1,221 children awaiting admission to state hospitals.

The House voted 90 to 9 to appropriate $5,096,060 to provide 2,400 beds.

The House vote included the purchase of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the Farmington Children's Home, as well as placing 800 children in the Fort Custer Station Hospital under state lease. This was a concession on the part of the House, which originally favored using only 600 beds at Ft. Custer.

Water Situation Termed Crucial

$671 Million Needed Alone in Six Counties Facing Shortages

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan local governments will need nearly a billion dollars in the next 10 years to meet water and sewage system needs, the State Water Resources Commission told a conference of governmental representatives yesterday.

The Commission said the billion dollar estimate resulted from answers to questionnaires sent 352 governmental subdivisions in the state.

Of the total, it said, an estimated 671 million dollars will be needed in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Monroe Counties.

The conference was called by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who declared there would be "tragic consequences" if a statewide continuing program is not developed.

The Governor criticized what he said was failure of the Legislature to grant repeated requests for funds for a water resources and other water study.

Edward Connor, Detroit councilman and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, urged that state and federal funds be made available for study, research and planning of water supply systems.

Reporter Sees City Night Life on Vice Squad Tour

By BUD MARTZ

What does the Pontiac Vice Squad do on a "routine night?"

I was sent out last Friday night to answer this question. I was to spend the night riding in a patrol car with Pontiac Police detectives Herbert Cooley and Orville Johnston.

It amounted to a guided tour of the seamiest side of Pontiac life. And it gets pretty seamy. In the seven hours between 9 p.m. and 4 a.m., I was to see illegal gambling dens, illegal drinking places, narcotics users and bordellos—all inside the city limits.

The evening got off to a quick start at the police station. It was just 9 p.m. when a factory worker came in to tell the comically tragic story of how his week's paycheck had been taken from him by two confidence men.

They had contacted him, he said, by asking directions to a nonexistent hotel. Failing to find it, they apparently gave up the search and suggested a game of poker. The worker didn't want to play, so they "borrowed" his week's pay to finance the hand, one of the men putting up a cheap watch for security.

The money then disappeared in one hand of "three-card monte," a variation of the old shell game.

First stop was behind the old waterworks building, where a car was parked. Investigating, Cooley and Johnston found a young and attractive girl sitting alone. The motor was turned on; she was smoking a cigarette.

She had been waiting for someone. Her eyes were heavy-lidded, the pupils unnaturally dilated; she moved slowly and her speech was slurred. She had been taking dope.

We searched the car, but found nothing. In the end she got a ticket for driving without a license, and her car was towed to the Police Yard.

We drove on, through residential streets. After a time Cooley, who was driving, slowed down and pointed.

"See that house? Third on the left? That's Edna's (the name is fictitious). Get anything there—liquor, gambling, dope, women. Edna's a smart operator; hard to pin anything on her. We keep trying, though—we'll tip her over later tonight."

He explained that although police know definitely of about 40 illegal establishments within the city limits, warrants for raids could not be obtained without the cooperation of citizens.

And, he added dryly, the citizens who make such establishments profitable aren't the type to swear out complaints.

A tip-over raid, he explained, is one in which officers investigate a house which has previously been complained of, hoping to find clear evidence of illegal activity. Even when a tip-over raid doesn't produce evidence, he said, it succeeds in halting activity for the night.

We drove past several more places, waiting for crowds to gather. This generally happens, the detectives said, after two in the morning.

"Charley used to operate out of there," Johnston said, pointing to one house. "He got educated about three weeks ago. His place was raided, his stuff was smashed, he was locked up. He really got religion."

We parked for a while on the corner of Bagley street and Wessen street, center of a high proportion of the city's illegal activity.

"The Corner," Johnston said. "You know, this is one of the most famous places in the state. They come here from Detroit, Kentucky, Canada, all over the country.

"The other day we picked up a

Report Delayed on Parking Lot

City Manager Walter K. Willman has put over for another week his report on a new municipal parking lot program.

Originally scheduled for presentation at last week's City Commission meeting, the report was postponed at the request of the bonding attorney.

Willman said today the attorney has requested another week to study the proposals and prepare the necessary legal papers.

"The bonding ordinance has to be 100 per cent perfect for presentation to the state," he said. "We want it to be correct and the attorney said he could not have it ready until next week."

Although parking is not up for discussion at tonight's Commission meeting, other important matters are.

Included is an order from the State health commissioner regarding sewage treatment facilities and a communication from the State Water Resources Commission concerning Clinton River pollution.

Also on the 26-point agenda are appointment of members to the city's new Historical Commission, plus a report recommending a hike in commissioner's pay.

Construction of a storm drain in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genesee and Telegraph is also slated for discussion.

Three reports are due from the City Plan commission and the city attorney is to report on a rezoning ordinance.

Also on tap is a communication from the governor regarding an election by city employes seeking social security benefits.

The agenda also includes:

Resolutions to accept deed for property on South Parke street and right-of-way for alley purposes in assessor's plat 13.

Estimate for water main in South boulevard, from Bradford to Meadow; Tex avenue, from South boulevard to end of existing main; Meadow avenue from South boulevard to Michigan Airline Railroad.

Resolutions of public necessity and estimates for curb, gutter, drainage and sanitary sewers on Pearsall street from Franklin to Motor.

Hearings on special assessment rolls for curb, gutter and drainage on Alton avenue from Franklin to Motor and on Howland avenue from California to Luther.

Hearings on special assessment roll for storm drains on:

Howland avenue from Dellwood to Luther.
Fildew avenue west and east of Bagley.
Bagley street from Alton to Fildew.
Pearsall avenue from Bagley to Franklin.

Police Arrest Three in Raid

A Pontiac Police Vice Squad raid on a house at 100 Jackson St. yesterday resulted in three arrests and the confiscation of $244.66 in numbers betting receipt slips.

Sgt. William Nesbitt, who conducted the raid with Detective Eugene Hendren, said the 168 slips were one man's collections for one day.

Armed with a warrant for a traffic offense, Nesbitt and Hendren raided the house yesterday afternoon, catching the three unprepared. Scattering as the officers appeared in the door, they tried to hide and burn the incriminating receipts and records.

Held for investigation on vilolating State gambling laws were Sam Guthrie, 54, of 100 Jackson St.; Jessie Tiller, 50, of 106 Jackson St.; and Wesley Williams, 59, of 110 Jackson St.

Prowler Entered Woodwards' Home

various parts of the house. This would fit Mrs. Woodward's report she and her husband, fearing someone might break in, had inspected all parts of the house before retiring in separate bedrooms with loaded shotguns at hand.

A branch of the tree broke under his weight, he said, and police reported finding the broken branch when Wirths was taken back to the 60-acre estate to reenact his movements.

Wirths found a glass-paneled door leading from the roof into an unoccupied guest room. It was unlocked but dampness made it sticky and caused a noise when he forced it open.

WIRTHS STARTLED

When the door was flung open, a curtain blew out and swept across Wirths' face, startling him and causing him to knock a shotgun he was carrying against the building.

He paused a moment and was just stepping into the room when he heard the gunfire downstairs. He thought it was fired at him.

"It sounded like a cannon. I didn't wait. I got the hell out of there," he told police.

He said he jumped from the roof to the ground and fled. When police doubted he could make the nearly 20-foot leap without injury, he offered to do it again. The offer was declined.

Police have announced their investigation of the case has turned up nothing to contradict Mrs. Woodward's claim that the fatal shooting was an accident. Asked what significance he attached to Wirths' new story, Nassau County Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said:

"I am not going to attempt to credit it with any great significance at this time. I give it to you now only to show that we are making a complete and thorough check of everything in this case and to refute some innuendoes that we are not conducting an all-out investigation because somebody in this case is worth 10 million bucks."

PUT OFF WILL

The filing of Woodward's will, which distributes an estate estimated at 10 million dollars, has been put off until his widow is able to leave the hospital.

Newspapers reported the estate will be shared principally by the widow and two sons, William III, 11, and James, 7. Copies of the will have been turned over to police authorities for study in connection with their investigation, but no details have been announced.

Off-Year Elections Probed for National Vote Trends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Contests for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia drew the most attention in off-year elections today to fill state, county and city offices.

Although national issues were lacking, the balloting was watched for some hint of possible trends in voter sentiment.

Sharing interest with candidate scraps was an Ohio referendum on a proposal that would clear the way for a supplemental layoff pay plan negotiated by Ford and General Motors with some 700,000 CIO auto workers.

The only congressional contest involved Michigan's 15th—Detroit District where 21 candidates battled in a primary for places in a Dec. 13 special election to fill a House vacancy caused by the death last September of Rep. John D. Dingell, Democrat.

Aside from scores of city elections, state legislatures were being chosen in Kentucky and Virginia, now firmly in Democratic hands, and in New Jersey, where the legislature long has been Republican-controlled.

Mississippi was electing a governor, but this was a formality. J. P. Coleman, Democrat, won the primary and had no Republican opposition today.

Most political experts figured the Democrats would retain the Kentucky governorship and Philadelphia's City Hall.

Some of them, however, had doubts about Kentucky where a deep Democratic split was expected to help the Republican candidate.

CHANDLER'S RUNNING

Chandler leaders predicted victory for their man by upwards of 100,000 votes. Denney captains forecast his triumph by 25,000 to 60,000.

The Democrats split this year in a bitter primary campaign. Chandler won nomination over the combined opposition of Gov. Wetherby's state organization and Sens. Barkley and Clements. Those three later pledged support to the Democratic ticket.

Also on the Kentucky ballot was a state constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18. Only Georgia now allows 18 year olds to vote.

Philadelphians were deciding a race for mayor between Democrat Richardson Dilworth, 57, former district attorney, and Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, 35, an advertising executive. Both call themselves liberals.

Also electing mayors or city councilmen were Boston, Cleveland, Indianapolis, and many smaller cities in Arkansas, Connecticut, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and Wyoming. Some of these were nonpartisan elections.

guy from Florida. He'd only been in the state two days, but he was here at the Corner."

As we watched, a car with Ontario license plates drove slowly by.

Cooley, who had been watching a sidewalk gathering, grunted in disgust. "He's seen us," he said. "That guy in the light topcoat. He was about to make a buy for the one in the car, but he's seen us." The gathering broke up and the men drifted unobtrusively away.

It was 2:40 a.m. Cooley flipped the ignition on; it was time for the tip-over raids.

We went to Edna's first. It was a neatly-painted house, inconspicuous in what I would have labeled a fairly good district.

"Hello Edna. Where's all your business tonight?"

"Sure wish I knew. Quiet as the grave."

We walked in. The parlor was quietly decorated, quietly lighted. On the sofa two girls were smoking and sipping highballs. They stared at us, not speaking. Edna chatted gaily.

There aren't any gilded dens of vice in Pontiac. Not in the old tradition of red plush, and gilt-framed mirrors. Edna's, Cooley and Johnston said, was one of the classiest in the city.

Our next stop was a bit more sordid. There were about 15 people sitting in a dingy basement room. Cigarette smoke and the odor of stale beer and unwashed bodies filled the room.

Cooley explored with a flashlight, while we stared at each other. Emerging from a bedroom, he turned to the boy nearest him.

"You live here?"

"No, sir."

"Go where you live."

The boy rose, bolted for the door. "This is the way out," he breathed. The rest filed after him.

Going out, I noticed a rickety table literally covered with burned-out electrical fuses. Pointing them out to Cooley, I told him the place would probably burn down before he got a warrant to close it.

"No," he said. "These places never burn down. They just keep rollin' along."

Hardy Golfers to Brave Winter's Snow, Sleet

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (INS) — Golfers are a hardy breed. The Westchester County Park Commission has announced the Saxon Woods Golf Course at Scarsdale will be kept open all winter, instead of closing in December, to accommodate "snow-bird" golfers.

Woman Struck by Car

Mrs. Helen V. Travis, 17, of 14 Carter St. was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital last night after she had been struck by a car in front of her home. Pontiac police said the driver was Charles Theobald, 17, of 21 N. Saginaw St.

Woman, 55, Hurt in Fall

Mrs. Esther Eldred, 55, of Rochester was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today with a possible skull fracture and head lacerations after she fell down stairs in her home. She said she had become "dizzy" while standing at the top of the stairs.

U.N. Assembly Voting Today

The first ballot will be the 13th in the series to select a successor to the two-year post being vacated by Turkey.

The Philippines, which has led on all previous ballots, received 34 votes to 24 for Yugoslavia and 2 for India at the last voting session on Oct. 27. Thirty-nine votes are required for election.

A compromise proposal to give the Philippines Turkey's seat on the understanding Yugoslavia would succeed Manila in 1958 was endorsed by the U. S. but rejected by Britain.

BRITISH BACK REDS

As a result, the U. S. and a majority of the U. N. members remained behind the Manila bid while Britain and Russia continued to support the Belgrade government.

A British spokesman admitted "there is a case for wider Asian representation" on the 11-nation council but asserted that "in present circumstances" the proposed compromise was out of place.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in endorsing the compromise, which has been discussed privately for a week, called it an "equitable" solution to the deadlock.

ANNOUNCED FIRST

The Philippines was the first to announce its candidacy for the post while Yugoslavia was drafted by Britain and Russia after Communist Poland was defeated on the early ballots.

Both the U. S. and the Philippines held high hopes of a Manila victory. Yugoslav sources were silent.

It was believed that the compromise proposal met little favor with the Belgrade delegation, in view of British opposition to the plan.

Tigers Sign Gordon to Replace Lynn Rowe

The 40-year-old Gordon has been supervisor of scouts on the West Coast for Detroit since 1953. He joined the Tiger organization after two seasons, 1951 and 1952, as manager of Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

15th District Now Choosing Nominees for Dingell Post

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's 15th Congressional District chooses a Republican and Democratic nominee today to oppose each other in special election to determine which will succeed the late Rep. John Dingell (D-Mich).

Twelve Democrats were battling for the nomination in the usually heavily Democratic district and eight sought the Republican nomination.

But they apparently had stirred little interest, because election officials predicted not more than 20 per cent of the district's 161,813 voters would cast ballots before the polls close at 8 p.m.

Dingell had represented the district from its creation in 1933 until his recent death, and his son, John Jr., is among Democratic candidates. So is Ernest J. Lacey, Michigan's Democratic national committeeman, and City Councilman Eugene I. Van Antwerp, former Detroit mayor.

Thomas E. Brennan, an attorney, and Gregory M. Pillon, who won the 1954 GOP nomination but lost to Dingell, and Larry Middleton, a former prosecutor's assistant, were conceded those with "best chances" among the Republican candidates.

Three Detroit suburbs also hold elections today, with Mayor Orville Hubbard seeking his eighth two-year term in Dearborn. Royal Oak and Huntington Woods also choose municipal officials.

Hubbard is opposed by Ray F. Parker, a former councilman whose campaign the Mayor ignored in late stages to concentrate an attack on Municipal Judge George T. Martin. Hubbard is supporting Duane Dunick who quit his job in the city comptroller's office to oppose Martin.

Dearborn also will elect seven councilmen.

Senators Hear Ex-GE Official

Testifies for Anti-Trust Group of GM's Bigness, Offers Curb Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. K. Quinn businessman and author, told senators today "General Motors is entirely too big."

"It unwittingly threatens the very existence of countless good companies and eventually our own free American institutions," Quinn said in a statement prepared for the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee at the opening session of a four week "study" of GM, the world's largest manufacturing firm.

Quinn proposed a "maximum free enterprise bill" designed to restrict the size of large corporations and possibly to persuade them to break up. This, said Quinn, is the way to deal with what he termed the "giantism issue." He said this is the "pressing, dreadful issue" facing the country.

Long a critic of large corporations, Quinn formerly was a vice-president of the General Electric Corp. He now is head of two small firms, T. K. Quinn Co. and Monitor Equipment Corp., in New York. He has written a number of books, including "Giant Business: Threat to Democracy" and "I Quit Monster Business."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), presiding over the hearings, has said they are not an investigation of GM. But he said the subcommittee wants to try to find out how GM grew so big and to look into complaints that GM has exerted undue pressure on its dealers and suppliers.

Quinn suggested the imposition of steeper corporation income tax rates on firms exceeding the maximum. Tax rates would be graded upwards as the size of these firms increased.

Quinn said the "enormous purchasing power" of GM and its large advertising outlays give it strength that he said is unhealthy for the country.

Aside from car manufacture, Quinn said, GM "could at will enter any field it chooses and become even more industrially dominant."

Legislature Stymies Over Hospital Issue

approval, the Senate sweetened its bill—as compared to last week—by increasing the number of children in boarding homes from 100 to 300 and the number to be kept in private hospitals under state contract from 175 to 300.

MAY BUY HOSPITALS

The House agreed to these boosts, but still demanded the purchase of the two local hospitals. To offset some Senate criticism of the price, the House agreed to buy the institutions at a price to be fixed by the state tax commission.

Oakland County had put a two million dollar price on its sanatorium and trustees of the Farmington Hospital asked $750,000.

The Senate appointed Senators Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing), Frank N. Beadle (R-St. Clair) and Garland B. Lane (D-Flint) as a committee to investigate the feasibility of the two purchases if no decision can be reached until the January session.

BROOMFIELD COMMENTS

Meanwhile, Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said he has a definite commitment from the Senate Finance Committee that Oakland County will be given preference for the construction of a new institution when the regular session begins in January.

"The Oakland TB Sanatorium might be taken over at that time and worked into a building program," he stated. "I'm insisting on a new institution in Oakland, because the problem is most acute in Southeastern Michigan.

"Of the 23 Republican senators, 22 are against purchase of the sanatorium before a full appraisal is made. I will support the purchase once we have the appraisal."

Some lawmakers were talking of keeping the Legislature in recess until the end of the year if no agreement is reached on the mental hospital problem.

This would prevent Gov. Williams from calling them back into a third special session.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Approves Another $5,427 for Rink

BIRMINGHAM — Eton Park Ice Skating Rink costs rose another $5,427 last night but not without considerable discussion before the City Commission approved electrical, plumbing, and entrance changes for the warming building.

Left unanswered despite much debate, was who to blame, in connection with $2,899, for added electrical work increasing the size of the switchgear or service panel. The system originally planned would not have carried the necessary load.

No action was taken on a report from the Recreation Board outlining a proposed budget and hours of operation for the rink.

Neither was action taken on rezoning 89 lots in the Adams Village Subdivision, formerly the 40 acre Porritt property on South Adams road, from income bungalow to single family residence zoning. Because of an error in advertising the hearing, a new one will be held Nov. 28.

In a separate hearing, lawmakers did, however, decide not to rezone Lot 30 in the subdivision from its present Business A classification to single family residence. The lot is located at the northeast corner of the acreage.

Final approval was given to a Civil Defense ordinance which will take effect upon newspaper publication. Commissioners turned a proposed professional office district zoning classification over to City Attorney Forbes Hascall.

The planning board's new classification will receive commission attention after it is put in legal language.

Israeli's Envoy to Seek U.S. Aid

Request for Armaments Seen to Counter Arabs and Russian Aid

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett will go to the United States this week to renew Israel's bid for arms.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman explained the request arises from renewed Israeli - Arab border clashes and efforts by the Soviet bloc to penetrate the Middle East through arms and economic aid for Arab states. He said:

"Previously, we had been favorable to a limitation or restriction of armaments to the Middle East. Now we ask for the right to a balance in armaments."

He made it clear Israel now wants arms equal to the reported multimillion dollar shipment Egypt has begun receiving from the Czechs.

Sharett already has taken his views to Geneva where he saw Secretary of State Dulles at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

Sharett is expected to leave for New York Wednesday.

The bloodiest Arab-Jewish battle since the 1948 Palestine War has just underscored Sharett's warning at Geneva that the period of war in the strained Middle East has increased.

Hardly had he returned from Geneva and Paris than the fighting flared at the Israeli-Egyptian border in the El Auja-Nizana zone about 50 miles south of Gaza.

Despite U. N. appeals for Jews and Arabs to restore the peace in the strife-torn zone, plus the four-day military lull in the fighting there, there was no assurance that it will not break out again.

In Moscow, Soviet First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich was reported Monday night to have been "sharply critical" of Israel's foreign policy during a dinner with Israeli Ambassador Joseph Avidar.

Kills Sons, Receives Two Life Sentences

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Annie Laurie Williams was under two life sentences today for killing her sons, Conrad, 8, and Calvin, 9, and dismembering their bodies last Feb. 16.

She was sentenced by Dist. Judge William E. Stone to not less than two years nor more than life after pleading guilty before two separate juries. Both convicted the 32-year-old former dime store clerk and recommended life terms.

Mrs. Williams had no comment to make before being sentenced.

Mrs. Williams told officers of strangling the boys and helping bury the dismembered bodies. They were found in four paper-wrapped packages after a young friend, who helped her bury them, became suspicious. She had told him the packages contained spoiled venison.

Dist. Atty. Marsene Johnson Jr. said that Mrs. Williams will not be eligible for parole for a minimum of 17 years on each of the two sentences if the state board of pardons and paroles follows its usual custom.

Report Delayed on Parking Lot

City Manager Walter K. Willman has put over for another week his report on a new municipal parking lot program.

Originally scheduled for presentation at last week's City Commission meeting, the report was postponed at the request of the bonding attorney.

Willman said today the attorney has requested another week to study the proposals and prepare the necessary legal papers.

"The bonding ordinance has to be 100 per cent perfect for presentation to the state," he said. "We want it to be correct and the attorney said he could not have it ready until next week."

Although parking is not up for discussion at tonight's Commission meeting, other important matters are.

Included is an order from the State health commissioner regarding sewage treatment facilities and a communication from the State Water Resources Commission concerning Clinton River pollution.

Also on the 26-point agenda are appointment of members to the city's new Historical Commission, plus a report recommending a hike in commissioner's pay.

Construction of a storm drain in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genesee and Telegraph is also slated for discussion.

Three reports are due from the City Plan commission and the city attorney is to report on a rezoning ordinance.

Also on tap is a communication from the governor regarding an election by city employes seeking social security benefits.

The agenda also includes:

Resolutions to accept deed for property on South Parke street and right-of-way for alley purposes in assessor's plat 13.

Estimate for water main in South boulevard, from Bradford to Meadow; Tex avenue, from South boulevard to end of existing main; Meadow avenue from South boulevard to Michigan Airline Railroad.

Resolutions of public necessity and estimates for curb, gutter, drainage and sanitary sewers on Pearsall street from Franklin to Motor.

Hearings on special assessment rolls for curb, gutter and drainage on Alton avenue from Franklin to Motor and on Howland avenue from California to Luther.

Hearings on special assessment roll for storm drains on:

A Pontiac Police Vice Squad raid on a house at 100 Jackson St. yesterday resulted in three arrests and the confiscation of $244.66 in numbers betting receipt slips.

Sgt. William Nesbitt, who conducted the raid with Detective Eugene Hendren, said the 168 slips were one man's collections for one day.

Armed with a warrant for a traffic offense, Nesbitt and Hendren raided the house yesterday afternoon, catching the three unprepared. Scattering as the officers appeared in the door, they tried to hide and burn the incriminating receipts and records.

Held for investigation on vilolating State gambling laws were Sam Guthrie, 54, of 100 Jackson St.; Jessie Tiller, 50, of 106 Jackson St.; and Wesley Williams, 59, of 110 Jackson St.

Prowler Entered Woodwards' Home

various parts of the house. This would fit Mrs. Woodward's report she and her husband, fearing someone might break in, had inspected all parts of the house before retiring in separate bedrooms with loaded shotguns at hand.

A branch of the tree broke under his weight, he said, and police reported finding the broken branch when Wirths was taken back to the 60-acre estate to reenact his movements.

Wirths found a glass-paneled door leading from the roof into an unoccupied guest room. It was unlocked but dampness made it sticky and caused a noise when he forced it open.

WIRTHS STARTLED

When the door was flung open, a curtain blew out and swept across Wirths' face, startling him and causing him to knock a shotgun he was carrying against the building.

He paused a moment and was just stepping into the room when he heard the gunfire downstairs. He thought it was fired at him.

"It sounded like a cannon. I didn't wait. I got the hell out of there," he told police.

He said he jumped from the roof to the ground and fled. When police doubted he could make the nearly 20-foot leap without injury, he offered to do it again. The offer was declined.

Police have announced their investigation of the case has turned up nothing to contradict Mrs. Woodward's claim that the fatal shooting was an accident. Asked what significance he attached to Wirths' new story, Nassau County Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said:

"I am not going to attempt to credit it with any great significance at this time. I give it to you now only to show that we are making a complete and thorough check of everything in this case and to refute some innuendoes that we are not conducting an all-out investigation because somebody in this case is worth 10 million bucks."

PUT OFF WILL

The filing of Woodward's will, which distributes an estate estimated at 10 million dollars, has been put off until his widow is able to leave the hospital.

Newspapers reported the estate will be shared principally by the widow and two sons, William III, 11, and James, 7. Copies of the will have been turned over to police authorities for study in connection with their investigation, but no details have been announced.

Off-Year Elections Probed for National Vote Trends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Contests for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia drew the most attention in off-year elections today to fill state, county and city offices.

Although national issues were lacking, the balloting was watched for some hint of possible trends in voter sentiment.

Sharing interest with candidate scraps was an Ohio referendum on a proposal that would clear the way for a supplemental layoff pay plan negotiated by Ford and General Motors with some 700,000 CIO auto workers.

The only congressional contest involved Michigan's 15th—Detroit District where 21 candidates battled in a primary for places in a Dec. 13 special election to fill a House vacancy caused by the death last September of Rep. John D. Dingell, Democrat.

Aside from scores of city elections, state legislatures were being chosen in Kentucky and Virginia, now firmly in Democratic hands, and in New Jersey, where the legislature long has been Republican-controlled.

Mississippi was electing a governor, but this was a formality. J. P. Coleman, Democrat, won the primary and had no Republican opposition today.

Most political experts figured the Democrats would retain the Kentucky governorship and Philadelphia's City Hall.

CHANDLER'S RUNNING

The Democratic candidate for governor of Kentucky is A. B. "Happy" Chandler, former governor, senator and baseball commissioner. Chandler is trying for a political comeback after 10 years. His Republican opponent is Edwin R. Denney, former U.S. attorney for Eastern Kentucky. Under state law, Democratic Gov. Lawrence Wetherby could not seek reelection.

Chandler leaders predicted victory for their man by upwards of 100,000 votes. Denney captains forecast his triumph by 25,000 to 60,000.

The Democrats split this year in a bitter primary campaign. Chandler won nomination over the combined opposition of Gov. Wetherby's state organization and Sens. Barkley and Clements. Those three later pledged support to the Democratic ticket.

Also on the Kentucky ballot was a state constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age from 21 to 18. Only Georgia now allows 18 year olds to vote.

Philadelphians were deciding a race for mayor between Democrat Richardson Dilworth, 57, former district attorney, and Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, 35, an advertising executive. Both call themselves liberals.

Also electing mayors or city councilmen were Boston, Cleveland, Indianapolis, and many smaller cities in Arkansas, Connecticut, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and Wyoming. Some of these were nonpartisan elections.

Reporter Receives Tour of City Vice

As we watched, a car with Ontario license plates drove slowly by.

Cooley, who had been watching a sidewalk gathering, grunted in disgust. "He's seen us," he said. "That guy in the light topcoat. He was about to make a buy for the one in the car, but he's seen us." The gathering broke up and the men drifted unobtrusively away.

It was 2:40 a.m. Cooley flipped the ignition on: it was time for the tip-over raids.

We went to Edna's first. It was a neatly-painted house, inconspicuous in what I would have labeled a fairly good district.

"Hello, Edna. Where's all your business tonight?"

"Sure wish I knew. Quiet as the grave."

We walked in. The parlor was quietly decorated, quietly lighted. On the sofa two girls were smoking and sipping highballs. They stared at us, not speaking. Edna chatted gaily.

There aren't any gilded dens of vice in Pontiac. Not in the old tradition of red plush, and gilt-framed mirrors. Edna's, Cooley and Johnston said, was one of the classiest in the city.

Our next stop was a bit more sordid. There were about 15 people sitting in a dingy basement room. Cigarette smoke and the odor of stale beer and unwashed bodies filled the room.

Cooley explored with a flashlight, while we stared at each other. Emerging from a bedroom, he turned to the boy nearest him.

"You live here?"

"No, sir."

"Go where you live."

The boy rose, bolted for the door. "This is the way out," he breathed. The rest filed after him.

Going out, I noticed a rickety table literally covered with burned-out electrical fuses. Pointing them out to Cooley, I told him the place would probably burn down before he got a warrant to close it.

"No," he said. "These places never burn down. They just keep rollin' along."

Hardy Golfers to Brave Winter's Snow, Sleet

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (INS) — Golfers are a hardy breed. The Westchester County Park Commission has announced the Saxon Woods Golf Course at Scarsdale will be kept open all winter, instead of closing in December, to accommodate "snow-bird" golfers.

Woman Struck by Car

Mrs. Helen V. Travis, 17, of 14 Carter St. was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital last night after she had been struck by a car in front of her home. Pontiac police said the driver was Charles Theobald, 17, of 21 N. Saginaw St.

Woman, 55, Hurt in Fall

Mrs. Esther Eldred, 55, of Rochester was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today with a possible skull fracture and head lacerations after she fell down stairs in her home. She said she had become "dizzy" while standing at the top of the stairs.

U.N. Assembly Voting Today

The first ballot will be the 13th in the series to select a successor to the two-year post being vacated by Turkey.

The Philippines, which has led on all previous ballots, received 34 votes to 24 for Yugoslavia and 2 for India at the last voting session on Oct. 27. Thirty-nine votes are required for election.

A compromise proposal to give the Philippines Turkey's seat on the understanding Yugoslavia would succeed Manila in 1958 was endorsed by the U. S. but rejected by Britain.

BRITISH BACK REDS

As a result, the U. S. and a majority of the U. N. members remained behind the Manila bid while Britain and Russia continued to support the Belgrade government.

A British spokesman admitted "there is a case for wider Asian representation" on the 11-nation council but asserted that "in present circumstances" the proposed compromise was out of place.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in endorsing the compromise, which has been discussed privately for a week, called it an "equitable" solution to the deadlock.

ANNOUNCED FIRST

The Philippines was the first to announce its candidacy for the post while Yugoslavia was drafted by Britain and Russia after Communist Poland was defeated on the early ballots.

Both the U. S. and the Philippines held high hopes of a Manila victory, Yugoslav sources were silent.

It was believed that the compromise proposal met little favor with the Belgrade delegation, in view of British opposition to the plan.

Tigers Sign Gordon to Replace Lynn Rowe

The 40-year-old Gordon has been supervisor of scouts on the West Coast for Detroit since 1953. He joined the Tiger organization after two seasons, 1951 and 1952, as manager of Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

15th District Now Choosing Nominees for Dingell Post

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's 15th Congressional District chooses a Republican and Democratic nominee today to oppose each other in special election to determine which will succeed the late Rep. John Dingell (D-Mich).

Twelve Democrats were battling for the nomination in the usually heavily Democratic district and eight sought the Republican nomination.

But they apparently had stirred little interest, because election officials predicted not more than 20 per cent of the district's 161,813 voters would cast ballots before the polls close at 8 p.m.

Dingell had represented the district from its creation in 1933 until his recent death, and his son, John Jr., is among Democratic candidates. So is Ernest J. Lacey, Michigan's Democratic national committeeman, and City Councilman Eugene I. Van Antwerp, former Detroit mayor.

Young Dingell has endorsement of the Wayne CIO Council.

Thomas E. Brennan, an attorney, and Gregory M. Pillon, who won the 1954 GOP nomination but lost to Dingell, and Larry Middleton, a former prosecutor's assistant, were conceded those with "best chances" among the Republican candidates.

Three Detroit suburbs also hold elections today, with Mayor Orville Hubbard seeking his eighth two-year term in Dearborn. Royal Oak and Huntington Woods also choose municipal officials.

Hubbard is opposed by Ray F. Parker, a former councilman whose campaign the Mayor ignored in late stages to concentrate an attack on Municipal Judge George T. Martin. Hubbard is supporting Duane Dunlek who quit his job in the city comptroller's office to oppose Martin.

Dearborn also will elect seven councilmen.

Senators Hear Ex-GE Official

Testifies for Anti-Trust Group of GM's Bigness, Offers Curb Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. K. Quinn businessman and author, told senators today "General Motors is entirely too big."

"It unwittingly threatens the very existence of countless good companies and eventually our own free American institutions," Quinn said in a statement prepared for the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee at the opening session of a four week "study" of GM, the world's largest manufacturing firm.

Quinn proposed a "maximum free enterprise bill" designed to restrict the size of large corporations and possibly to persuade them to break up. This, said Quinn, is the way to deal with what he termed the "giantism issue." He said this is the "pressing, dreadful issue" facing the country.

Long a critic of large corporations, Quinn formerly was a vice-president of the General Electric Corp. He now is head of two small firms, T. K. Quinn Co. and Monitor Equipment Corp., in New York. He has written a number of books, including "Giant Business: Threat to Democracy" and "I Quit Monster Business."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), presiding over the hearings, has said they are not an investigation of GM. But he said the subcommittee wants to try to find out how GM grew so big and to look into complaints that GM has exerted undue pressure on its dealers and suppliers.

Quinn suggested the imposition of steeper corporation income tax rates on firms exceeding the maximum. Tax rates would be graded upwards as the size of these firms increased.

Quinn said the "enormous purchasing power" of GM and its large advertising outlays give it strength that he said is unhealthy for the country.

Aside from car manufacture, Quinn said, GM "could at will enter any field it chooses and become even more industrially dominant."

approval, the Senate sweetened its bill—as compared to last week—by increasing the number of children in boarding homes from 100 to 300 and the number to be kept in private hospitals under state contract from 175 to 300.

MAY BUY HOSPITALS

The House agreed to these boosts, but still demanded the purchase of the two local hospitals. To offset some Senate criticism of the price, the House agreed to buy the institutions at a price to be fixed by the state tax commission.

Oakland County had put a two million dollar price on its sanatorium and trustees of the Farmington Hospital asked $750,000.

The Senate appointed Senators Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing), Frank N. Beadle (R-St. Clair) and Garland B. Lane (D-Flint) as a committee to investigate the feasibility of the two purchases if no decision can be reached until the January session.

BROOMFIELD COMMENTS

Meanwhile, Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said he has a definite commitment from the Senate Finance Committee that Oakland County will be given preference for the construction of a new institution when the regular session begins in January.

"The Oakland TB Sanatorium might be taken over at that time and worked into a building program," he stated. "I'm insisting on a new institution in Oakland, because the problem is most acute in Southeastern Michigan.

"Of the 23 Republican senators, 22 are against purchase of the sanatorium before a full appraisal is made. I will support the purchase once we have the appraisal."

Some lawmakers were talking of keeping the Legislature in recess until the end of the year if no agreement is reached on the mental hospital problem.

This would prevent Gov. Williams from calling them back into a third special session.

Commission Approves Another $5,427 for Rink

BIRMINGHAM — Eton Park Ice Skating Rink costs rose another $5,427 last night but not without considerable discussion before the City Commission approved electrical, plumbing, and entrance changes for the warming building.

Left unanswered despite much debate, was who to blame, in connection with $2,899, for added electrical work increasing the size of the switchgear or service panel. The system originally planned would not have carried the necessary load.

No action was taken on a report from the Recreation Board outlining a proposed budget and hours of operation for the rink.

Neither was action taken on rezoning 89 lots in the Adams Village Subdivision, formerly the 40 acre Porritt property on South Adams road, from income bungalow to single family residence zoning. Because of an error in advertising the hearing, a new one will be held Nov. 28.

In a separate hearing, lawmakers did, however, decide not to rezone Lot 30 in the subdivision from its present Business A classification to single family residence. The lot is located at the northeast corner of the acreage.

Final approval was given to a Civil Defense ordinance which will take effect upon newspaper publication. Commissioners turned a proposed professional office district zoning classification over to City Attorney Forbes Hascall.

The planning board's new classification will receive commission attention after it is put in legal language.

Israeli's Envoy to Seek U.S. Aid

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett will go to the United States this week to renew Israel's bid for arms.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman explained the request arises from renewed Israeli - Arab border clashes and efforts by the Soviet bloc to penetrate the Middle East through arms and economic aid for Arab states. He said:

"Previously, we had been favorable to a limitation or restriction of armaments to the Middle East. Now we ask for the right to a balance in armaments."

He made it clear Israel now wants arms equal to the reported multimillion dollar shipment Egypt has begun receiving from the Czechs.

Sharett already has taken his views to Geneva where he saw Secretary of State Dulles at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

Sharett is expected to leave for New York Wednesday.

The bloodiest Arab-Jewish battle since the 1948 Palestine War has just underscored Sharett's warning at Geneva that the period of war in the strained Middle East has increased.

Hardly had he returned from Geneva and Paris than the fighting flared at the Israeli-Egyptian border in the El Auja-Nizana zone about 50 miles south of Gaza.

Despite U. N. appeals for Jews and Arabs to restore the peace in the strife-torn zone, plus the four-day military lull in the fighting there, there was no assurance that it will not break out again.

In Moscow, Soviet First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich was reported Monday night to have been "sharply critical" of Israel's foreign policy during a dinner with Israeli Ambassador Joseph Avidar.

Kills Sons, Receives Two Life Sentences

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Annie Laurie Williams was under two life sentences today for killing her sons, Conrad, 8, and Calvin, 9, and dismembering their bodies last Feb. 16.

She was sentenced by Dist. Judge William E. Stone to not less than two years nor more than life after pleading guilty before two separate juries. Both convicted the 32-year-old former dime store clerk and recommended life terms.

Mrs. Williams had no comment to make before being sentenced.

Mrs. Williams told officers of strangling the boys and helping bury the dismembered bodies. They were found in four paper-wrapped packages after a young friend, who helped her bury them, became suspicious. She had told him the packages contained spoiled venison.

Dist. Atty. Marsene Johnson Jr. said that Mrs. Williams will not be eligible for parole for a minimum of 17 years on each of the two sentences if the state board of pardons and paroles follows its usual custom.

Occupation Troops' Exit Heralds Opera Rebirth and Classic Fetes

VIENNA—Autumn will find this gay, waltzing, musical capital of Austria at its best.

After seventeen years of war and occupation, Vienna is well back to becoming what Johannes Brahms called "the musician's holy city." This year the music, dancing and festivals take added luster. By October the last of the occupation forces will have gone, and Vienna—and all Austria—will celebrate its freedom.

The new freedom will be celebrated with the reopening of the State Opera. The first performance will be Beethoven's "Fidelio." The Opera Festival will include "Don Giovanni," "Aida," and "Der Rosenkavelier."

The return of Vienna's Opera means a gala season, a revival of Austria's golden epoch. Beginning Christmas until Lent, Vienna will be the scene for dozens of opera balls, festival balls, masked balls, Chambermaids' and Bakers' balls and other gay gatherings.

Since Vienna offers a variety to amuse the young, many American tourists bring their entire family to the Austrian capital. Under the family fare plan a plan a family of four traveling first-class from New York to Vienna can save as much as $900 under current round-trip transatlantic air fares. Only the head of the family pays the full fare.

HOTELS WAITING

It will be easier this fall to find a hotel room in Vienna. Some of the major Ringstrasse hotels such as the Grand, Imperial and Bristol which were requisitioned by the occupying powers will be open to tourists for the first time since the war.

The Hotel Sacher has been modernized. But many treasures from the old days remain, including an exquisitely carved suite of furniture from Mayerling where Crown Prince Rudolf and Maria Vetsera committed suicide.

Liberation not only increases accommodations but also opens all of eastern Austria to tourism. The pre-war highlight in this area was the Danube River trip, a half-day journey by steamer from Linz to Vienna. The river is now open to passenger traffic, and the scenery is superb.

Along the route are such storied sights as Melk, a monastery famous for its imperial riches; Duernstein, where Richard the Lion Hearted was imprisoned during the Crusades; Kreuzenstein, a completely medieval castle restored by Count Wilczek, author of the gay memoirs, "Gentlemen of Vienna." Domingating the Danube is the beautiful abbey at Klosterneuburg which Charles V designed to resemble the Prado in Madrid.

Irish Plowmen Receive Prizes to Wed Sooner

DUBLIN — James J. Bergin, who is credited with putting an end to the "vanishing plow" in Eire, now wants to put an end to the vanishing plowman.

As founder of the National Plowing Association he announced plans, to give cash prizes of $280 to a young man and woman who win a plowing competition and get married before they are 25—not necessarily to each other. Ireland has too many old maids and bachelors, he says.

"In 1953 we started a plowing competition for women, the winner of which was 'Queen of the plow' ", he said. "In 1956 we'll start the marriages prizes and $280, besides the regulation prize, will go to the 'Queen of the plow' if she marries.

There is a dual purpose—to get young people married (late marriages are too common) and keep interest in plowing alive."

Politico's Life History Is Campaign Plank

Here's a sample:

"Married 42 years to the same lovely wife. A few enemies and run-of-the-mill vices. No lodge affiliations because I forgot to pay my dues. Like to play cards and bingo. Have two good ears for spicy stories and gossip. Like to argue. Allergic to taxes, hypocrites and politicians."

Fishing, bicycling and roller skating are among America's favorite participation sports, followed by softball, hunting, horseshoes, golf, shuffleboard, volleyball, tennis and diking.

Boy, 14, Loses Bet as He's Snatched From Precipice

Today, he was glad to be alive to tell about the bet he lost.

The youth and four companions wagered one another yesterday they could not climb the sheer 125-foot wall of dirt and jagged rock.

The others quit at 30 feet. Tom climbed until he was only 25 feet from the top but there his finers could find nothing to grasp.

He lay "flat against the precipice, white with fear," related officers who rescued him 30 minutes later. He was pulled to safety by a rope lowered from the cliff-top.

Brothers Discover Hooky Is Dynamite

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP)—Robert Lee Pultz, 13, and his younger brother, Edward, played hooky from school here yesterday and hid out in a building.

They shivered in the near-freezing temperatures for a while, then built a fire. One of them picked up an object nearby and tossed it on the blaze.

The object was a dynamite cap. Unknown to the boys, their place of hiding was a storehouse for dynamite.

Luck was with them, though. The dynamite cap exploded but nothing else did. Robert was wounded in the face and chest — not seriously. Edward wasn't hurt at all.

Barefoot Jap Attempts to Snatch Police Shoes

TOKYO (AP) — Failing to steal a wallet in a downtown hotel room last night, Toyoichi Ogama, 29, fled barefoot until he reached another hotel.

He poked into a shoe case to grab a pair and, in jig time, was arrested: It wasn't a hotel at all—a policeman's dormitory.

WEATHER—?

How Does the Wind Blow?

Studying the wind helps in predicting the weather. Weather vanes tell us the direction of the wind. Usually they are placed on top of a house or barn. Sometimes a vane is shaped like an arrow, often like a rooster.

Fix a toothpick or pin at the back with gummed paper as shown in the small drawing at the left, letting it extend below the feet of the rooster.

To let your rooster turn in the breeze, push the end of the pin or toothpick into a soda straw, with the base resting across the top of the tube. You can hold it in the wind or blow on it to make it turn.

State May Lose Federal Funds

Economic Development Department Not Eligible for $50,000 Grant

LANSING (AP) — The State will apparently lose out on a share of one million dollars appropriated by the federal government for urban planning by small cities.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh held today that the Economic Development Department is not eligible for the federal funds because it is empowered only to "encourage and assist" communities in planning.

Congress appropriated one million dollars for the planning purposes, but under the act state governments must either let contracts for the planning or carry out the work themselves.

Michigan's share of the aid was set at $50,000. The Act authorized five million dollars for the purpose, but Congress appropriated only one million.

NONE ELIGIBLE

Assistant Attorney General Russell A. Searl said that as far as he knows no other state agency would be eligible to use the funds.

In another opinion, Kavanagh held that townships boards cannot contribute township funds to non-profit charities.

Kavanagh issued the opinion in answer to a question from Douglas L. Williams, Tuscola County prosecuting attorney.

A third opinion held that Redford Township in Wayne County could not receive a larger share of the sales tax if a special federal census were held.

Kavanagh said the township's share of the sales tax could be affected, however, if a special county-wide census were held.

Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) requested the opinion, commenting that the last census set the township's population at 19,000, although township records place it now at 49,000.

Friend Reports Baron Married to 'Babs' Hutton

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — A friend here of Baron Gottfried von Cramm said the onetime German tennis star married dime store heiress Barbara Hutton in Paris today.

A woman tennis friend of Von Cramm, who would not be quoted by name, said she received a telephone call from the 46-year-old baron in which he disclosed the wedding.

The informant had no details and her report was not confirmed immediately.

Her divorce from Porfirio Rubirosa became final July 30 on publication of notice by his attorney in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic. They were married Dec. 30, 1953 and separated 10 weeks later.

Reports Gloria DeHaven Wasn't Fired by Berle

No, says her agent, the blonde actress and Berle cancelled the date because the part wasn't important enough.

But the comedian's office said yesterday he fired Miss DeHaven and engaged singer Kay Thompson when Gloria failed to report for rehearsals of the color show.

Dulles Urges Lowering of East-West Barriers

If there isn't a lowering of communications barriers between Russia and the West within a reasonable time, it won't be the fault of Secretary Dulles and the Eisenhower Administration.

With the Geneva conference deadlocked on such major subjects as European security and unification of Germany, Mr. Dulles advanced proposals on which agreements should be possible. They include a long list of concessions the United States is prepared to make if Russia would reciprocate.

Besides announcing abandonment of virtually all passport restriction, Mr. Dulles proposed the break down of cultural and economic barriers, including an exchange of radio programs. He even went so far as to suggest that the United States is ready to allow Russia to circulate its official magazine in this country if the Russians do likewise for our magazine Amerika.

Another Dulles suggestion was that Russian planes be allowed to land at Idlewild airport in New York if U. S., British and French planes are allowed to land in Moscow. There even was a hint that there could be mutual lowering of barriers to trade in the non-strategic field.

Mr. Dulles' proposals took on added weight because British Foreign Secretary Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Pinay joined him in this means of urging reciprocal Russian action.

It is to be hoped that Russia will give these proposals sympathetic consideration. Anything which contributes to better understanding between peoples cannot help but strengthen peace.

Junior Achievement

Once again the Press is privileged to commend the teenagers and sponsors of Pontiac's Junior Achievement program.

This year 200 students with the advice and sponsorship of well known local companies, joined in organizing 13 Junior Achievement firms.

Besides electing officers and selling stock in the firms at 50 cents a share, the students chose the products they will manufacture between now and next May. These include jewelry, wire products and Christmas decorations and door chimes. Others are sprinkling cans, memo pads, wooden stools, plant boxes, chopping blocks and bud vases.

Among individual sponsoring companies are Pontiac Motor Division, Fisher Body Division, Progressive Welding Sales Co., Community National Bank and the Detroit Edison. Others are Pontiac State Bank, Michigan Bell Telephone, Standard Oil of Indiana, General Motors Truck, Consumers Power and Pontiac Exchange and Rotary Clubs.

Junior Achievement teaches the fundamentals of organizing, financing and production. For that reason we always have regarded it as providing the most valuable extracurricular instruction available to teenagers.

In our opinion the fact that 200 Pontiac students and 6,000 others participate in Southeastern Michigan is a promise of important future social and economic benefits.

Safety factors for cars will not offset the danger resulting from increased horsepower. The manufacturers ought to either turn out cars that won't attain flying speed or put wings on them.

Blessing of Rural Phones

After six years it not only is possible but necessary to say that the Rural Electrical Administration's telephone program is both a success and a blessing.

Since its inauguration more than 500,000 phones have been installed in farm homes, using more than 45,000 miles of pole line.

This is the achievement of 176 companies and 175 co-operatives. It was financed by REA loans totaling $235,000,000 which are being repaid. Here is a splendid example of public and private co-operation.

Only those who lived on farms before electrification can realize the great step forward telephones made possible. Besides ending farm family isolation, they have made farmers more efficient by saving their time and freeing them from some of the burdens of distance.

With the advent of telephones, farm life became safer by making it possible to summon help quickly in the event of medical emergency. It has brought farm families more companionship and ready access to useful information.

Beyond doubt the REA loans which financed this program have been more than justified by the benefits.

A Shot in the Arm

David Lawrence Says:

New Jersey Legislature Election Vote May Indicate Party Preference in Nation

WASHINGTON — Again, as in 1954, local elections are being surveyed to determine whether any national trend appears to give a hint for 1956.

Election of a state legislature in New Jersey has been expected to reveal a part yattitude, though experience there in the past with contests for the legislature has indicated a position consistently favoring the Republicans.

It usually takes time for a change in the governorship to to be reflected down through the legislature in any state. Instances of the governorship going to one political party while both houses of the legislature go the other way are not unusual in northern states. This happened in New York in 1954 when Harriman, a Democrat, became governor and the legislature remained Republican in both houses.

The reason for this, of course, is the same as in congressional elections in off-years. Thus, in 1954 the House of Representatives went Democratic even though two years before President Eisenhower swept the country on the Republican ticket. There were some observers who in 1954 thought they detected a national trend but there was nothing conclusive about it either way. It was, on the whole, a close election between the parties and a change of just a handful of districts would have given the Republicans a victory.

LOCAL ISSUES FOLLOWED

Contests for state legislature, like contests for Congress, are enmeshed in local issues and candidates do not hesitate to take their stand irrespective of party doctrine. Thus in Virginia this year it is not surprising to find here and there a Republican nominee who favors segregation. This is in deference to local sentiment and means that maybe the candidate in question ralizes he wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance unless he expressed himself that way.

Other candidates in Virginia who say they respect the Supreme Court's rulings still hedge a bit and find some ambiguous way to express themselves so as to try to corral the voters on both sides. It is hard to discern a national trend under such circumstances.

The municipal election in Philadelphia could have national significance, but not from a party standpoint. An issue of corruption threw out of power four years ago the Republicans who had held the city hall for generations. But now, with Reform Republicans fighting Reform Democrats, it is difficult to measure how much the people still hold the Republican Party responsible for the sins of the past, and how much they are rewarding or opposing the incumbents, as the case may be, on the actual record of Democratic rule.

PEOPLE FORGET QUICKLY

Surely it is a far cry from a national trend when a city like Philadelphia votes primarily on a local problem involving corruption as an issue. Everyone familiar with American politics is aware that in federal, state and municipal elections there is likely to be less partisanship exhibited on questions of integrity than on anything else. The old slogan "Turn the Rascals Out" still holds good everywhere.

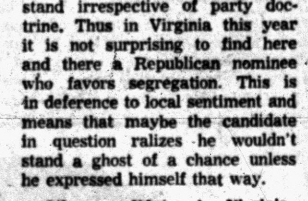

But it is also true that the people forget quickly. Despite the bad record of Tammany Hall in New York City the people have repeatedly returned the Democrats to power after only a brief interval of probation.

The Democrats in Congress have been trying desperately this year to devise some kind of Republican analogy on the integrity issue, but they haven't succeeded, though they will offer Dixon-Yates and the socalled deviations of the "Dollar-a-Year Men" as a possible basis for voter resentment.

So far as the 1955 elections are concerned, a most important thing to watch is how much apathy is manifested—that is, how large or small the vote is on state and city elections in the same localities compared to other years. In a time of prosperity like the present it would not be surprising when the final tallies are in to see a relatively small vote totaled up for both parties and all candidates.

Weeping Eczema Caused by Deficiency in Calcium

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

New Jersey reader writes:

I would like to thank you for some of your good advice. About a year ago my daughter had a great deal of trouble from weeping eczema.

Two skin specialists prescribed antihistamines, which gave only temporary relief. Then she started supplementing her diet with Calcium and vitamin D as you suggested.

Now her skin is clear and occasionally when exposed to something to which she reacts she gets a spot the size of a dime, which disappears almost immediately. Of course she continues taking her daily ration of Calcicaps. Thank you so much.

Eczema is one of the numerous common ailments which in my opinion—and what I don't know about medical questions fills tons and tons of tomes—are manifestations of calcium deficiency.

Before you give this serious consideration it is only fair that I warn you about Brady and his teachings. He tells what he believes is true, without first clearing it with the boys at AMA headquarters.

From what the girl's mother says it is apparent that the girl has the right idea—she continues taking calcium and D. Just as you continue taking a substantial breakfast of fruit, cereal, bacon and eggs or fish or cheese or milk every schoolday or workday morning, not just coffee and a roll, tea and toast, if you want to keep in fine fettle.

FOOD CLEARED

The calcium and D that cleared this girl's eczema is food, not medicine. If she stops taking it most days the year around probably the eczema will recur.

If the girl consumes enough milk cheese, beans, peas, nuts, peanuts, greens and leafy vegetables and exposes enough of her skin to sunlight or skyshine she'll get enough calcium and vitamin D to clear up or prevent eczema.

It is not my intention to say that calcium deficiency is the only cause of eczema or that eczema is more frequent than other manifestations of calcium deficiency.

I do say it can do no harm in any circumstance and may give your general health and vite an unexpected boost if you'll supplement your regular diet with a good daily ration of calcium and D for two or three months, and at the same time revise it to include more of the high calcium foods and less cheat-foods.

Cheat-foods are comestibles that have been robbed of their natural vitamins and-or minerals by long storage, purification, refinement, sterilization, improper cooking, oxidation, etc.

Don't you poor geeks let some far away trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer scare you about "excess calcium."

No recognized health, nutrition or medical authority dares to specify how much "too much" calcium is or who advises, recommends or prescribes it.

And don't let the fast buck medical merchants persuade you that calcium deficiency is just one of my pipe dreams.

I wish I could claim paternity, but I must defer to Sherman who called attention to it in his book, Chemistry of Food and Nutrition, which we might call the nutritionist's Bible.

Says High Prices Aren't Result of Union Demands

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I read Mr. Hillman has again taken trouble to "warn" us that it is those wicked unions and their demands for higher wages that's destroying our freedom and our economy.

Mr. Hillman, haven't you read how GM's, Ford's, et al., profits have broken previous records again this year? But haven't we also read that some 1956 models will cost as much as $243 more?

It's about time the moral and economic responsibility is fixed for those ever-rising prices.

Not a matter of higher wages, strikes, etc., but charging all the auto market will bear. Low wages in Europe do not produce a cheaper car.

Hal Boyle Says:

Pajamas to Match Autos --- That's Just Too Much

NEW YORK (AP)—Does your fountain pen match the upholstery of your new motor car? Is your underwear the same color as your front fender?

The latest tip from the world of high style is that you should dress so as to please your automobile, or at least to conform to its colors.

While waiting for the long line of cars to get untangled Rubin, a glove manufacturer, mulled over the problem of turning out something new and different in driving gloves. Suddenly the thought flashed into his mind:

"Why not match the gloves to the car?"

The idea was tried out and proved so successful that now a program has been launched to key all clothing and clothing accessories to the color of the new 1956 cars.

This latest line of auto apparel—called car-mates—consists of 40 wardrobe items ranging from neckties to wallets. It is sponsored by 27 manufacturers and the Ford Motor Co.

Presumably the manufacturers of other cars such as Cadillacs, Buicks, Packards and Studebakers have adopted a lets-wait-and-see attitude on this novel merchandising stunt.

When we set about matching our wardrobes with the new two-tone automobiles practically anything can happen—and probably will.

The average man naturally doesn't want his new motor car to get an inferiority complex. So he won't mind too much wearing colonial white and fiesta red underwear if, by thus becoming color wedded to his car, it really makes the car feel better. Everybody likes to ride in a happy and contented vehicle.

But if his wife insists she feels it necessary to dye her hair colonial white and fiesta red just so she can merge her personality better with the family automobile? A man can love a white-haired wife. He can love a red-haired wife. But can any man go on feeling romantic about a red-and-white-haired wife?

There is also the question of expense. Can the average man afford to junk his family's entire wardrobe and buy complete new outfits for them every time he buys a new car?

Suppose he decides it'll be cheaper year after year merely to purchase fresh wardrobes for the family—and just slap a matching new coat of paint on the old bus. What'll that do to the market for new cars?

Another problem. When a fellow does trade in his old car on a new one, does the used car dealer give him a trade-in allowance on every member of the family's old wardrobe, too? Do second hand car dealers want to get into the second hand clothing business also?

Personally, I don't mind getting a new two-tone fountain pen or cigaret lighter to achieve color harmony with a new car. But what about pajamas? It is suggested that men's pajamas should also match their automobile.

Here is where I feel sure the average citizen will draw the line. Few fellows spend much time driving around in pajamas, and those who do usually end up in jail.

I wear my pajamas in the house, and I don't feel it is any business of a motor car what color they are. If the day ever comes when I have to pick my pajamas merely to please the idle whims of a style-snooty automobile—well, I'll walk to work first.

The motor car may rule garage and highway, but it will kindly keep its radiator out of the nation's boudoirs. Don't you feel the automobile sometimes shows a tendency to throw its horsepower around too much?

If motor cars are so darn smart, why can't they go out and find their own parking places?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Depend on Outsiders to Salvage Your Marriage; Only You Can Do It

Harold's wife has taken their children and run away. Now, belatedly, he wants some outside adviser to perform a miracle and restore a happy home. You married folks must make your own happiness. No outsider can do it for you. So grow up, meaning, live marriage per the rules outlined below. Start properly on your honeymoon.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-380: Harold J., aged 29, has been married six years.

"Dr. Crane, I simply must see you as soon as possible," he explained over the long distance telephone.

* * *

"My wife has left me and says she wants a divorce. But we have two fine children, and I love her.

"So when can I see you?"

GUARD AGAINST DIVORCE

"Have you sent for my 'Tests for Husbands & Wives?" via your local newspaper?" I inquired, and he said "No."

"Have you obtained a copy of my booklet 'Sex Problems in Marriage'? I added, and he answered in the negative.

"Do you have the 'Tests for Good Parents'?" I persisted and again he answered "No."

"Then I can produce no miracle," I went on, "so it would be foolish for you to make a costly trip to Chicago to see me.

"No psychiatrist or Marriage Counsellor can make your marriage a happy one. It is up to you and your wife.

"And if you have taken no steps to vaccinate your home against divorce, then outsiders can't force a belated domestic harmony and love upon you from without.

"Oh, I'll mail you those booklets just mentioned. Then you better see if your wife will give you a second chance to build a new and happy home life.

"Your minister or priest will help urge her to reconsider, if you make a sincere effort.

"But nobody can actually rebuild your happy home except yourselves. So get to work at it and quit looking for outsiders to perform miracles for you."

SAVE YOURSELVES

Maybe some of you readers think I am callous and hard hearted, but that is not the case.

Too many of you lazily blunder along and ignore the scientific warnings issued in this educational column.

Apparently you think you are above and beyond the dangers that beset all the rest of mankind.

"Dr. Crane, I've read your column for 10 years," many a college educated wife will tearfully exclaim, "but I never dreamed I would ever need to ask you for advice."

Well, why haven't you dreamed you'd need counsel? What makes millions of Americans think they will never encounter cancer of the body or cancer of their marriage, which is what divorce really is?

Quit expecting physicians to do medical miracles, for your bodily health is still chiefly dependent upon your own behavior.

And your psychological problems must ultimately be solved by you yourself.

So start looking to yourself for help instead of to imagined miracle workers outside your home.

MARRIAGE INSURANCE

Pick quality matrimonial material before you ever marry. Then have a church wedding, even if it is only a simple affair. Start marriage religiously.

And attend church together the 1st Sunday of your honeymoon. Continue to do so thereafter, rain or shine.

Don't forget to pay your mate a compliment each day. And operate your home on a budget. Don't expect hand-outs from Uncle Sam or in-laws. Stand on your own feet financially.

Then learn the sexual data essential to prevent divorce. And don't wait till divorce is upon you before you decide to start living marriage per the rules.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit). Then apply its pertinent advice.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

British Ventchah Meg's Choice to Hurt Empiuh

By EARL WILSON

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Christmas coming soon," notes Vaughn Monroe. "That's when your neighbor's radio keeps you up till 4 a.m. playing 'Silent Night'."

Bridgetown, Barbados — The man in the street down here in these British West Indian colonies thinks Princess Margaret should have "had a go" at marrying that Townsend boy.

One man said to me, "What's she supposed to do now—marry some decrepit, diseased, 70-year-old duke? I ventchah that this will be very unpopular in what is left of the Empiuh."

It was with some astonishment that this columnist — who's changed from a table-hopper to an island hopper—found himself on British soil when romantic folks were postmortemíng the great love affair.

PRINCESS MARGARET

But the stewardess of the British West Indian Airways plane said in a London accent, "Would you please extinguish your cigarets and fahsten your seat belts." And when we settled down at a paradise-type hotel, the Coral Reef, and got BBC on the radio, there was a man who kept talking about "vittamins" and "vittamin pills."

You almost have to be here to realize there's a hunk of veddy proper Mother England down in this hot land. There's a Trafalgar Square and a Nelson statue in the torrid little town, and we had a sample of British tradition at dinner, at which we were honored by the governor, Sir Patrick Muir Renson.

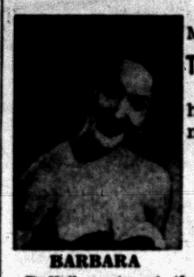

"Well, I'm stuffed," I said when we'd finished dessert. If everybody's done, let's blow."

I scraped back my chair, but a restraining hand was laid on my arm by a diplomat. "Nobody rises until the governor has gone," I was told. As the governor was having a good time talking to Linda Darnell, we didn't go for quite a while.

However, we learned how to wind up a cocktail party: Start singing "God Save the Queen."

A British subject born down this way, who sent two boys back to England to school, told me, 'I consider myself 80 per cent American, and I think this attitude on Princess Margaret is an indication of how behind the times Mother England is."

"The Old Lady," he added, referring to Mother England, "has had it."

BARBARA

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Lilli St. Cyr and husband Ted Jordan had a big backstage battle in a Pittsburgh night club.

Singer Eileen Barton went on with her cafe act in the midwest while the place was being raided by the cops . . . Sarah Churchill and Tony Beauchamp, reported splitting, were together in Rome and Paris . . . The "Guys and Dolls" party at the Harwyn featured Barbara Brent and the other Goldwyn Girls.

Bob Stack and Rosemary Bowe set the date: April 19 . . . Gov. Simms of New Mexico, at the Champagne Gallery, requested "Deep in the Heart of Texas" . . . James Michener's wife requested an Australian visa for their honeymoon trip, got one for Austria instead . . . Mervyn LeRoy will have the actors take a bow at the end of his film, "The Bad Seed."

NBC's signed comedian Alan King for a big buildup . . . Ex-basketballer Tony Lavelli and Latin ¼ honey Rosemary Kittleton, a couple of six-footers, are dating.

Stoa of Attalos Rising in Athens

Ancient Market Place Is Being Reconstructed by U.S. Archeologists

ATHENS (AP) — The Stoa of Attalos is rising again on the ancient market place, just as the Athenians of 2,200 years ago knew it. The operation crowns 20 years' work by archeologists of the American School of Classical Studies here.

The market square was the political, commercial and social center of classical Athens. In its stoas, or long porches, merchants had shops, people met to conduct business or to gossip, philosophers expounded their views. Sometimes public banquets were spread in their shelter.

Most splendid of all the stoas was erected by Attalos II, King of Pergamon —Asia Minor. He had studied in Athens as a youth. On ascending the throne in 159 B.C. He gave the stoa as an expression of gratitude to the old city.

TWO STORIES LONG

His stoa was 382 feet long, 64 feet wide, two stories high and with a broad terrace along the entire front. From the back of each floor a row of 21 shops faced out through a deep porch supported by a double row of columns. The facade fronting the square was of snow white pentelic marble.

When the Herulians raided Athens in 267 A.D., the market square buildings were almost all destroyed. The shell of the Stoa of Attalos, however, was incorporated in a new fortification wall. This accounts for its preservation.

Director of reconstruction is Homer A. Thompson, professor of classical archaeology at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J.

The reconstructed stoa also will serve as a museum for some 65,000 objects uncovered by American excavators in 20 years digging at the market square. These cover 50 centuries. In a basement storeroom, Librarian - in - Charge Margaret F. Larson, of Wilmington, Del., has some 6,700 marble inscriptions excavated from the market square.

Man Drinks Evidence, Is Arrested Anyway

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (AP)—Jack Eldridge stayed one step ahead of the law until the evidence was gone.

Deputy Howard Johnson said Eldridge "kept jumping around the room to elude us. Finally, he downed a whole pint of moonshine whisky and broke the bottle against a wall."

But Eldridge, arrested at his home with a woman companion, went to jail anyway, on a morals charge. A hearing was set for Nov. 17.

Actor Mature's Wife Sues for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Victor Mature's estranged wife is scheduled to ask a judge for a divorce today, ending a six-year marriage. She alleges extreme cruelty.

The case was set for a hearing yesterday but was postponed a day for final settlement of property details. Mature, 41, recently returned from England, where he is making a movie. He will return Nov. 15.

Mrs. Mature estimates that her husband will earn $450,000 this year.

Bob Considine Says:

Herbert Hoover Enjoys Being 'A Real Doll'

NEW YORK (INS)—An NBC-TV cameraman who worked on Ray Henle's filmed hour-long "Conversation With Herbert Hoover," a jewel of a show we saw last Sunday, couldn't restrain himself when the 81-year-old ex-President finished the chore.

"You're a real doll, Mr. Hoover," he said, pumping his hand.

It shook the old gentleman. The next day he took the puzzling matter to a friend of many years. The friend hadn't heard the expression either but promised to submit the case to a hep niece.

Triumphantly, he returned to Hoover the following day and told him that the girl had approved.

"Chief, 'a real doll' means that you're quite a fellow, that you're okay with whoever said it," the friend explained.

It pleased Hoover. Next time he saw his friend he winked and said, "I'm a real doll."

GOOD TIME

Hoover had a good time on the show:

"The only gift your President receives from the American people is the President's flag. He gets no pension. He gets no title. But he gets his own flag and has a right to fly it...

"A man who was a senator carries the title long after he leaves the Senate. A Kentucky colonel is called colonel away from Louisville. A President out of office is just 'mister'. I think it's a comfortable feeling...

"I go fishing whenever I get a chance. I have rather a yen for fishing because the ripple of a brook and the slap of a wave against the side of a boat will brain-wash almost anybody into a much clearer position."

"You have a famous statement about fishing, haven't you?" Henle asked.

"Well," Hoover answered, "I once explained why I think Presidents fish. They all went fishing; they all have, even though they haven't fished before.

"That's because the American people have respect for privacy only on two occasions, one of them when a man is praying and the other when he is fishing. And the President can't pray all the time..."

NEVER A SALARY

Hoover never accepted a salary as President and gave his salary as Secretary of Commerce to charity. Henle asked him why. He said:

"I've never accepted compensation for federal service except in this sense: That I have at times taken federal salaries and expended them on matters that are outside my own needs and uses.

"I was led to doing this by an as "I was led to doing this by an overall question of conviction of my own, and I don't say this in disparagement of men accepting salaries from the government because most of our officials must have such salaries in order to live.

"But it happens that I prospered in my profession at a time when the income tax was only 1 per cent. I was thus able to save a competence and I felt I owed my country a debt that was unpayable. I felt I had no right to ask her to pay me..."

Flying back to New York with Mr. Hoover on United Airlines' executive plane after his 80th birthday celebration at his birthplace in Iowa, I couldn't help but stare as he sat there puffing his pipe and opening congratulatory wires from people all over the world—including people who had belted him around for years.

"You feel any bitterness?" I asked him.

He shook his head. "Reminds me of the story of the old fellow about my own time in life who stood up in the prayer meeting when the preacher asked, 'Can anybody in this congregation honestly say he doesn't have a single enemy?'

"This old party said, 'I don't,' and when the preacher invited him to share his secret with the rest of the people he just said, 'I outlived the dastards'."

Bad Spark Plug Cuts Mileage

Misfiring Terminals May Reduce Distance 40 Pct., Report Notes

FLINT, Mich. — Looking for increased gasoline mileage from your car?

Consider these facts recently reported by automotive engineers in response to a request from a major oil company:

If your car has a V-8 engine and one plug is not firing correctly, your mileage may fall off as much as 14 per cent.

For example, if you can get 18 miles a gallon of moderate speed, your mileage would drop to 15.5 when the one plug was "missing."

With two plugs misfiring, your mileage may be off 25 per cent from the normal figure—or, in our example, down to 13.5 miles per gallon.

MILEAGE CUT

And, if you should have three plugs out of order, your mileage can go down some 40 per cent. That would mean only 11 miles per gallon for the car that otherwise gets 18.

The amount of fuel your car needs to maintain a given speed increases in proportion to the number of spark plugs that aren't working.

What causes a spark plug to miss?

Fouling is usually the answer and there are three general types of fouling—gas, oil and lead.

Gas fouling generally results from incomplete combustion of rich gasoline mixtures—often traceable to poor carburetor adjustment.

Oil fouling stems from too much oil in the combustion chamber. This points to worn piston rings or valve guides or some other mechanical defect.

Oil Drilling Expenses Show Sharp Increase

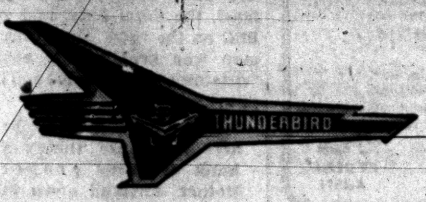

NEW YORK — Oil-well-drilling costs have increased to an average of $12 a foot compared with $8.25 in 1944. The need for drilling deepest wells is largely blamed for the increase.

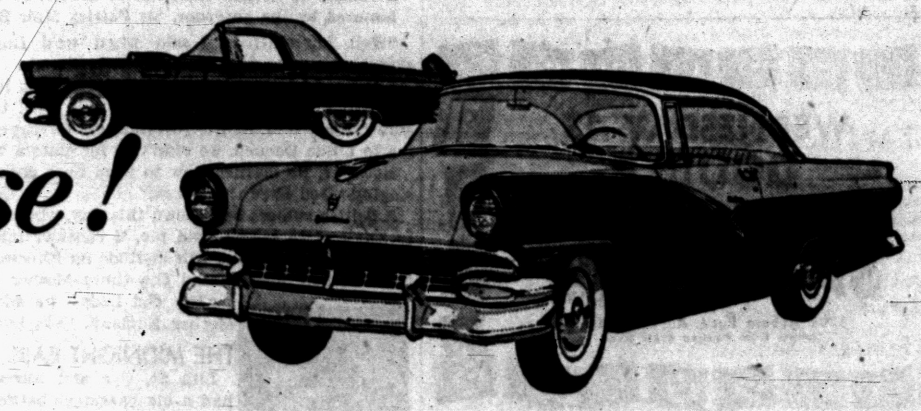

Wells are being sunk to an average depth of 4,025 feet compared with 3,275 feet in 1944. And dry holes averaged 37 per cent of drillings in 1954 compared with 22 per cent in the late 30's.

Duck Overcoats Worn by Wool Carrying Sheep

ENCINO, N. M. — Some 50,000 New Mexico sheep are to wear 10-ounce duck jackets this winter with matching shoulder and leg straps that will protect their wool from weather, dust, and wind.

The suits have zipper fasteners to permit expansion as the fleece grows.

Tests have shown that the fleece of the average jacketed sheep was weighed with 20 to 25 per cent less dirt than that of unclothed sheep.

And the average fleece taken from the protected animal weighed 14 pounds compared with an 18-pound average from "unclothed" sheep. The sheep clothing also is said to reduce shearing costs.

Window Dummies Rile African Censor

CAPETOWN — Store windows decorated with dummies of women in scant underclothing need censoring, according to P. F. Kincaid. He is chairman of the South African Board of Censors.

"We struggle to reduce the circulation of films and books in which barely-dressed women appear, yet there is little use in our doing so while the same thing can be seen every day in shop windows.

"Some sort of action should be possible." Agreeing, Professor E. G. Pells, of the University of Cape Town, said: "The expositions in some shop windows have shocked me. Some of the displays are almost inciting."

Prelate Urges U.S. Admit More

Catholic Charity Leader Asks Immigration Rules Be Slackened

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Roman Catholic clergyman yesterday told some 1,500 delegates to the National Catholic Charities Conference that the United States should ease up on its immigration policies and allow more underprivileged immigrants to enter this country.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward E. Swanstrom of New York, executive director of Catholic Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Council, said:

"This country could easily absorb 250,000 additional immigrants a year. I believe immigration policies should be modified to make it easier for immigrants to come to this country. Some 450,000 deported persons were admitted between 1948 and 1952 and today hardly anyone knows of their existence because they fitted in so well."

Msgr. Swanstrom said the Catholic Relief Services agency has distributed food and clothing worth 115 million dollars to underprivileged persons around the world without distinction as to race or creed.

Another speaker on the panel discussing "Our Overseas Neighbors and Community Development," was Dr. Henry Whiting, also of New York, executive secretary of the Division of Welfare of the National Lutheran Council. He told the group:

"The apathy of many in church and church work who seek to excuse themselves from carrying programs of community development because of lack of funds, equipment and other resources is amazing.

Bordeaux Wine Makers Seeking Big U.S. Market

BORDEAUX —By clever advertising and the training of American wine waiters, wine producers here hope to expand sales of the region's famous wines in the United States.

Overproduction of wine in recent years has been a serious problem to the district and caused the wine sector of the Bordeaux economy to sag.

A "seal of quality" for which wines must qualify under exacting tests, will be a feature of the new program, and a booklet, "How to Become a Wine Expert", will be distributed in America.

In 1956, a full length cinemascope film will be produced in the ancient village of St. Emilion, center of a famous wine district.

'Classrooms Investment' Education Week Subject

"Your Investment in Classrooms" was the topic in Pontiac and area schools today, as city and county joined the nation in observing the third day of American Education Week. Central theme of the week, "Schools —Your Investment in America" is being broken down into seven daily topics.

Focal point of the week will come tonight when the Pontiac White House Conference on Education is held at 7:30 p.m. at Pontiac High School.

Editors, industrial and civic leaders will moderate the conference, which will deal with educational problems and seek practical solutions. All parents have been urged to attend, according to Mrs. William Wright, president of the Pontiac Council of PTAs which is sponsoring the meeting.

Six Pontiac schools—Emerson, Linda Vista, Webster, Central, Malkim and McCarroll—are holding open house daily in observance of the week.

School programs planned tomorrow are:

Owen PTA meeting, 2:30 p.m.

with Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools, as guest speaker.

Eastern Junior High, 7-9 p.m., open house with program featuring the presentation of a flag to the school by the Marine Corps League.

2,000 Fragments Restore Altar Piece

LONDON — After years of labor a noted Grinlin Gibons altar piece at St. Mary's Church has been restored. It was shattered by bombing in 1940.

Nearly 2,000 fragments have been pieced together and the finished appearance of the altar piece is said to be better than before the war. Accumulated grime has been removed from the carvings, which have been resored to their original light color.

The piece dates from 1686. Its main structure is of oak with four Corinthian pillars and a gilded centerpiece. When the church was damaged, Miss Lane, the vergeress, then in her 70s, scrambled over the wreckage, helping fill boxes with broken carvings.

Irish Lake Spaded for Historical Finds

DUBLIN, Eire—With trowels and other small implements, 15 men have been assembling a jigsaw of history in Eire.

Employed by the Irish National Museum they have been uncovering the crannogs on Lough Gara, in County Roscommon. The object is to discover how the Bronze Age lake dwellrs lived in Ireland.

Although their existence had long been known, little attention was paid to the lake dwellings there until three years ago when the lake's level dropped six feet due to an irrigation project.

Since then many important archaeological finds have been made. Bones of horses, swine and deer and painted stone blades (Bann flakes) have been found.

Gaylord to Open 'Meat Pole' Event for Deer Hunters

GAYLORD (AP) — Hunters heading north into deer country will drive into a near-Madri Gras atmosphere when they reach Gaylord Saturday night.

Skyrockets will flash in the air and searchlights will prowl the skies as the city celebrates its annual all night opening preceding the hunting season.

Gaylord's "Meat Pole" already is well known by hunters traveling through the city in past years.

This year, a tug of war is promised by Secretary-Manager Douglas Nash of the Otsego County Chamber of Commerce. It will pit the east side of town against the west side.

A hunters' talent show will be staged on the courthouse lawn with entertainment from a deer camp quartet and the Sault Ste. Marie, pipe band.

Stores remain open all night and hunters swap stories over a crackerbarrel set up in the C. of C.'s log cabin headquarters.

Gaylord started staying open all night before the deer season in 1951 when 76 deer and four bear were hung from the "Meat Pole."

With eight and a half inches of snow on the ground, prospects now are for a white opening for the hunting season.

The 1956 Buick SUPER 4-Door Riviera

WHAT YOU SEE pictured here is Buick for 1956—and it nods to no equal for looks and action.

You can judge the first part as your eyes rove from the wind-splitting "V" of that gleaming grille to the sassy slant of that rear-fender profile.

And you see it in every clean-sculptured line—in the rich new fabrics—in the smart color harmonies—in the jewel-like fittings—in every detail of décor.

But what you see from the curb is more than matched by what you feel at the wheel—and you can take that as gospel.

Great New Getaway With Better Gas Mileage

What's new in the '56 Dynaflow is this: in the first inch of the pedal's travel—and not with wide-open throttle—your Buick gets going from a standing start like a lark leaving the nest, with not a hint of hesitation between take-hold and take-off.

It's acceleration that's silk-smooth, instant and certain. And you get it—along with a bountiful boost in gas-saving mileage—right in the normal driving range, where your gas pedal spends most of its time.

But comes an emergency—a sudden need for safety-surge action to get out of a tight spot—and you floor the pedal to switch the pitch of this airplane-inspired Dynaflow. Instantly and smoothly, you're at full-power acceleration—a thrill beyond words.

There's a lot more we could tell you about these great new Buicks for 1956.

About a brilliantly styled new instrument panel. About a superb new ride with deep-oil cushioning. About a wholly new front-end geometry that adds a serene "sense of direction" and a new ease of handling to every Buick's every inch of travel.

About greater new safety, too—from smoother, surer, Safety-Line brakes—from new Safety-Aim headlamps—from new interlocking safety latches—from a new Safety Power Steering†—from the added protection, at your option, of seat belts and a soft padded cover on the instrument panel. Plus, of course, the extra safety of panoramic windshield visibility, of tubeless tires, of Safety-Ride rims, of torque-tube stability.

But the best way to get the whole story of the best Buick yet is right at the wheel of one of these '56 beauties. Drop in on us this week and let the thrills fall where they may.

Stones Used in Weighing British Physiques

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

LONDON (INS)—It's humbling for a woman with any vanity at all to be told—as I've been—that she weighs "8 stone, 5."

Makes one feel so lumpy.

This, however, is the way they weigh the British lady. For every 14 pounds, she is credited with 1 stone. And after you've added up the stones, or 14 poundses, whatever is left over in poundage is just sort of dangled at the end—like a clumsy participle.

Thus, if you weigh 160, you are listed unflatteringly at 11 stone, 6.

Well, I was complaining the other night about how I'd been eating so many scones that I was picking up stones, especially around the hips, and the Englishman with me literally flipped his mustache.

"On th countr-ry," he said, "to be the ideal English figger, you should put on, let's see, about 10 (meaning lbs., not stones). We have just had a large survey and found that the average ideal figger here is a rounded shape adding up to 9 stone, 4."

IDEAL FIGURES HIGH

Scientifically distributed, this ideal Tess of Trafalgar divides up into a 36½-inch bust, 27 waist, 38½ hip, and 5-ft.-3-in. height.

"It is not exactly the same ideal as you Americans have," said the gentleman, "but you American girls never eat, of course. Over here we went through a long period where we couldn't eat well and our girls looked scrawny like American girls.

"Now we're so delighted with the food that it is a pleasure to have a plump ideal."

The national average on curves in Britain has just been ascertained by the measurement of 5,000 volunteer ladies, ranging in age from 18 to 65. They were taped and stone-weighed by several girls especially trained to use measuring devices loaned out for the survey by the British Ministry of Health.

Among them were dress models with 35-inch hips, and mature housewives with 60-inch hips, it is revealed, but taken altogether they averaged out measuring 38½ in the area of the torso which most concerns women of all civilized nationalities.

WORRIES SLIM DOWN STARS

I reminded my friend then of such experts as Ann Todd, Sarah Churchill, Margaret Leighton and their slim friends. He shook his head. "They work too hard, poor little birds," he said glumly.

And Diana Dors, the hot new film star who is 5-ft.-5 and weighs 8 stone, 6 lbs.?

"Apparently," he said, "she worries."

This advice notwithstanding, I shall worry plenty, too, till I get home to New York where ladies dine on coffee (black) and cigarettes. And where an overload of stones is called gluttony rather than glamor.

Motto for the day:

When in Rome, you may do as the Romans do.

Aussies Planning to Divide States

4 of 6 Big Areas Ask Partition; Say Sydney Getting More Attention

WASHINGTON — Australia as well as the United States may soon increase its number of states. Americans would do it by adding from without. Australians would divide from within.

Apportioned into six giant states —the largest about three times the size of Texas — Australia has resisted further dividing ever since the adoption of its federal constitution on January 1, 1901, says the National Geographic Society.

Demands for partition have risen in all but two of the states. And three different Royal Commissions have studied the desirability of creating new states.

But so far only one area, called New England, appears close to achieving partition. It is a region of 64,000 square miles (almost equal to the six American New England states) in the north and northeast parts of New South Wales, the first of the island continent's original colonies.

They hold that the area downstate around Sydney, the nation's largest city, is being developed at the expense of theirs. The Sydney area, for example, contains nine-tenths of the state's electric power, but only two-thirds of the people.

If allowed to run their own affairs, New Englanders say they could develop more resources and stop the "tragic rush to the cities." Industry has developed to such an extent in cities that a larger proportion of Australian than American workers now is employed in factories.

OPPONENTS REPLY

Their opponents say that decentralizing government would not decentralize industries — at best only create more smaller cities. New England, they add, already is well developed.

According to the constitution, the formation of a new state is subject to the approval of the state from which it is carved. Thus, though 77 per cent of the people in 21 New England counties voted "yes" in a statehood referendum in December 1953, New South Wales was still not willing to let them go.

Now New Englanders have their own flag and air line and even a Constituent Assembly, a shadow parliament which passes laws but cannot enforce them.

Hike in Camera Sales

NEW YORK—Three out of every four American families own one or more still cameras, of which about 5,000,000 a year are now sold compared with 2,700,000 in 1940. More than 2,000,000 families in this country make home-type movies.

In Africa's Ituri Forest live pygmy tribes while nearby are Nilotic tribes, among the tallest in the world, ranging up to 7 feet.

Reception, Tea to Honor State Hospital Volunteers

Volunteers at Pontiac State Hospital are aware of the tremendous job they are doing for patients within the institution.

They are aware of this because the patients have shown them in so many ways just what their coming to the hospital means—and because staff members have thought enough of them to give them special training in the care of the mentally ill.

Wednesday these volunteers will be honored at a reception and tea to be held at the hospital. There will be awards given to presidents of clubs and to various individuals.

Dorothy Roe, director of the Recreational Therapy Department, was the first hospital employe to make use of volunteers.

Having had extensive experience in Army general hospitals during World War II, she realized the important place of such individuals in a well-rounded program, and that the program could be more therapeutic because of the volunteer.

STARTED WITH 20

The first group, consisting of 20 women, was trained by this department. After completing a course of training, these volunteers actively engaged, under the direction of Miss Roe, in recreational therapy activities.

Because of their efforts, it was possible to continue many programs which would otherwise have had to be discontinued, as personnel did not keep pace with increase in the hospital population.

The Social Service Department, noting the success of the volunteer program in these recreational activities, learned that interested people in the community would be willing to give several hours a week to provide the same kind of entertainment for patients in the family care homes.

Under the direction of Marguerite M. Parrish, social service director, and Richard Arthaud, case work supervisor, the project was begun.

Soon there were 40 volunteers giving their time and effort to this program. These volunteers, like the others, were given a course of training. The course was set up and directed by Miss Parrish and Mr. Arthaud.

Included were hospital activities, a history of the hospital, an explanation of the hospital facilities, and information regarding mental illness and how to work with the mentally ill, as well as some of the basic rules of recreational therapy.

From the beginning the patients were enthusiastic about the proposed parties, and as they progressed they anticipated each coming party.

The volunteer has, within a short time, become an integral part of the family care program. They range from young business women to women who have grown families. There also are several men in the volunteer program.

Some of the volunteers help in the Social Service office, acting as receptionists. Although they do not work directly with the patient, they are still helping him. Office routines are essential components of good patient care.

VOLUNTEERS ADDED

The most recent department to use volunteers is the Occupational Therapy Department, where volunteers work under the direction of Mrs. Eleanore McCurry.

In this department volunteers come each week and conduct classes in specialized activities.

One group teaches art metal and jewelry making while another teaches flower arranging and corsage making. Ceramic classes also have been taught by volunteers.

The most recent project is training for a life occupation. One of the volunteers who is an expert in her field is training patients in horticulture. This involves trips to local florists and regular lessons each week.

Volunteers also help with the special program which has been initiated for the very young patients in the hospital. They help with actual teaching, supervise study periods and take the children on field trips.

The hospital has had sufficient experience with the volunteer program to recognize its tremendous value to the mental health movement generally. There is no other source of public education more valuable than the person who contributes his service without expectation of reward.

The volunteer telling about his experience to his friends tends to build confidence and spread a real understanding.

The goal of the volunteer program, as of any type of psychiatric activity, is the eventual resocialization of the individual. A patient can never be considered as an isolated unit—his family, his friends, his neighbors and society at large are also involved.

In the hospital he is a member of a controlled society, and his ability to adjust to some other type of living away from the hospital depends a great deal upon the attitude of society. This can be done by volunteers who represent society in the hospital setting.

Pontiac State Hospital staff members have noted the value of such service to the volunteer himself. This value lies in his changing attitudes toward those different from himself, whether in a mental hospital or in the community.

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, medical superintendent, believes that as a result of this program, the mental hospitals and their patients will never again be forgotten.

9th Annual Fall Concert Sets Record

The excellent training of students of the Pontiac High School Vocal Department by George Putnam and his assistants, Mrs. Doreen Voltmann and Merlin Asplin was evidenced at the 9th annual Fall Vocal Clinic held last evening at the High School.

The program, under the direction of guest conductor, Maynard Klein, Director of Choirs at the University of Michigan, was soul stirring.

Each selection presented by the musical organizations individually and in the mass numbers was wonderful in its own class. The 700 voices of the Glee Clubs, the A Capella Choir and the ensembles presented an enjoyable evening for the crowd which overflowed into the upper balcony seats.

The variety of selections in the program was shown in the Senior Boys Ensemble. Their pieces ranged from the gay "By the Watermelon Vine, Lindy Lou," to the slower tempo of "Sweet, Sweet, Roses of Morn" and the rollicking "Eight Bells."

The opening chorus of the Bartered Bride," sung by the combined chorus called the audience to "come let us be merry." The mood of the audience changed with each selection. "Dedication" by Wolfgang Muller and Robert Franz was a prayer in song by the men's glee club.

The chorus responded to the expert direction of Mr. Klein, who appeared for the second time as guest director of the Fall Vocal Clinic.

For the students, participation in the concert left them with a feeling of accomplishment and the audience, who left humming snatches of songs, had a greater appreciation of the work and perseverance of faculty and students in presenting a program such as this.

Who Writes Thank You for Flowers?

Givers Obviously Will Expect Note From Uncle

By EMILY POST

"When my father died, his brother, who lives in another city, came here for the funeral. A group of my uncle's friends from his home town got together and sent a beautiful floral piece to the funeral.

"After the funeral I said something to my uncle about his writing a thank-you note to these friends, but he informed me that it was my place to do this.

"My contention is that since the flowers came from people I do not know and were sent solely for my uncle's sake, that he should write the note. Will you please tell me who is the proper one to write the note?"

Answer: Obviously your uncle is the one they expect to hear from—but a note from you also would be correct.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in two months. In making up my guest list, I find I will be able to include the 10 young women in my office with whom I have become very friendly over the past years. I cannot, however, invite their husbands to the reception inasmuch as I am limited.

"Would it be proper to invite only the women as a whole (one invitation to the office) or must I invite their husbands too. I'm afraid that if I have to invite their husbands, I will have to exclude my co-workers from the guest list."

Answer: You will have to exclude them if you cannot invite the husbands.

Here's Tint Hair Rinse Methods

1. Buy only rinses made by reputable companies. It's wise to look for seals that indicate the product has been accepted by one or more well-known testing organizations.

2. Read the directions and follow them carefully. Good color hair rinses are precise chemical formulations. The manufacturer wants you to be satisfied with his product and his directions are aimed at giving you the best possible results.

3. Buy the color that's most flattering to you.

Chapters Celebrate Third Birthday

The Alpha Beta group served as hostess at the third birthday luncheon. Mrs. Iva O'Dell, president of the hostess club, welcomed the guests and presented Lorena Adams, program chairman of the day.

Mrs. Albert Kohn, first president of Alpha Beta, gave the invocation and Mrs. Louise Birkitt, first president of Alpha Gamma, reviewed the history of the chapters.

Mrs. Fred R. Tiffany, speaker, gave a reading entitled "The Lesson," which highlighted the spiritual and cultural progress of a Chinese family through the understanding help of a missionary working with a young Chinese woman.

Appearing on the program was a quartett, "The Powder Puffers," which sang several numbers.

Mrs. Olive Lord, music chairman, was the director-accompanist for a group which included Mrs. Harvey Bidstrup, Aldine French, Mrs. Philip J. Kinsella, Mrs. Kohn, Mrs. Harold Northon, Mrs. George Panks and Mrs. T. E. Wiersema.

Assisting Miss Adams in making arrangements for the affair were Mrs. Harley Gibson and Mrs. William Perrin.

The officers of the two clubs served as a reception committee for the social hour preceding the luncheon.

Paris Uses Snythetic Furs

PARIS (INS)—Smart as well as budget-minded women in Paris will wear fur which has a mineral or vegetable rather than animal origin.

Fur fabrics, either imitating real pelts or just cosily shaggy and fuzzy, will run competition to beaver, ermine, leopard and Persian lamb. And since imitation furs have been used by top Paris fashion stylists you can wear them safely without fear of looking "inexpensive."

Chanel is showing a sporty little jacket of a fur fabric that looks just like ocelot. It is snugly fitted and of hip-bone length. The three-quarter sleeves are cuffed and trimmed with gilded, engraved cuff-links and the jacket is buttoned from the little collar down with matching buttons. Worn with a cherry colored jersey skirt, it doesn't pretend to be anything but young and smart looking.

Pierre Balmain, who made such a hit last season with his mannstyled shirt of genuine white ermine, now proposes this style in white fur-fabric trimmed with black jet buttons. To combine this fur shirt with a really Parisian outfit, he shows it with a flaring black "broadtail" skirt of mineral origin.

The fur look of dynel has also appealed to Paris fashion designers. Gilbert Orcel shows a white dynel fur-cap and matching stole as elegant accessories for an autumn cocktail party.

Many of the "fur" hats, so fashionable in Paris this season, have never been near an animal. Berets, looking like beaver, or high Persian toque hats resembling Persian lamb, are part of the new winter look.

New Corduroy Designs Give Luxury

Escorted by the most aristocratic companions . . . satin, fur, lace . . . corduroy makes its debut this season in a new role of elegance.

Its surprise appearance in the French collections was anticipated by our own designers, who have fashioned it into dressy daytime costumes, theater suits, and evening ensembles. In such knowing hands, the effect is one of great chic and sophistication.

With its characteristic ribbed surface, corduroy tailors perfectly to the flowing silhouette of the tunic suit. Used with lace, at neck and wrists, it has the party manners of velvet plus its own built-in virtues. And its alliance with satin is one of the season's happiest combinations.

This two-some is particularly new-looking in the dress and matching coat costume. One designer poses a stark white satin coat, lined with wide wale in tobacco brown, over a dress of the same corduroy, fitted to the slimmest of sheaths.

Fur touches are another device to produce the wanted aura of luxury. For dressy daytime, Pierre Balmain tucks a scarf of softest mink into the stand-away collar of a fitted coat dress in gray corduroy. And a little white beaver collar turns a black wide wale tunic into a delicious theater suit.

Carrying out the Oriental theme, in patterns derived from Indian saris, are a group of glamorous corduroy costumes for evening and at home wear. Softest pinwale, in scarlet, emerald or black, is lavishly embroidered in gold for draped blouses exposing one shoulder, for trousers, and for cocktail and dinner length skirts.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kabcenell of Cherokee road were photographed just before sailing on a cruise of The Netherlands West Indies, Venezuela and Colombia on the Santa Paula.

Chopin Juniors Have Meeting

Carole Cole served as program chairman. Piano solos were given by Linda Bleise, Janine Mosbey, Susan Rogers, Michael Omens, Deanna Mosbey, Roger Benter and Audrey Schultz. Marilyn Morris and Flora McCartney also played.

The story of the piano and its place in the symphony orchestra was the subject of the day. Judy Hillman and Judy McLane supervised refreshments for the gathering.

Connie Clinton was a guest of the group. Mrs. Clifford showed slides of her trip to the Orient.

Guild Will Sponsor Toy Demonstration

Mrs. Donald Richards, general chairman, announced plans for a toy demonstration to be held Thursday evening, when members of Guild 12 of All Saints Episcopal Cnurch met recently.

Mrs. William Gessas, Mrs. Ralph Allen and Mrs. Harry Stevens are assisting with arrangements for the affair to be held at 8 o'clock in the Rose Kneale Room of Stevens Hall.

Dessert and coffee will be served by members of the Guild. Mrs. Richards announced that the public is invited to attend.

Guild Planning Square Dance

A true Western atmosphere will be evidenced in the gymnasium of Stevens Hall on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ronald Allcorn, general chairman, announced plans for a square dance party being sponsored by members of Guild Five of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Pete Lergin will call the quadrilles to the lively Western tunes. Mrs. Raymond Reeves and Mrs. Gladys LeBair are serving on the refreshment committee.

Mrs. James Hampton is in charge of publicity, and tickets are being handled by Mrs. Fred Honeycutt.

The committee announced that tickets may be secured from members or at the door Thursday evening.

Debunking Odd Notions on Veneers

One idea which should be cleared up is that "veneer" furniture is not necessarily inferior to "solid." Today many of the finest pieces of furniture are made from veneers. There will be cheap veneers, of course, just as there are cheap solid pieces, and fine veneers just as there are fine solids.

In buying upholstered furniture, the home decorator must depend on the manufacturer's reputation and the reliability of the store, since she cannot examine the inner construction. But by asking a few questions, she can learn whether she is getting the most for her furniture dollar.

If the furniture is cotton-cushioned, she can be sure it will provide buoyant support and that the upholstering fabrics will not "creep" or wrinkle.

Before investing in a new piece of furniture, the homemaker should make sure it will go with the older pieces she wants to keep. A new pastel colored chair, placed in the same room with older furniture covered in dark fabric, may make the other pieces look dingy.

Collegiate Pajamas

MR. and MRS. HUGH J. GRAHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Graham were married Saturday evening in Stone Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Taylor of Bathurst street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Graham of York street.

The Skinner satin skirt of the bridal gown featured a train and fell from a Chantilly lace bodice with a scoop neckline and tapered sleeves of lace. The neckline was trimmed with sequins. Her fingertip veil was secured by a crown of pearls and sequins.

Mrs. John Gisse of California served as her sister's matron of honor wearing a mint green floor-length gown of tulle over satin.

The other bridal attendants, Mrs. Harlan Green of Big Rapids, Darlene Haselhuhn, Susan Taylor and Christine Taylor, wore gowns similar to the matron of honor's in shades of yellow and orchid. They carried cascade arrangements of carnations.

Bill Graham was his brother's best man, and ushers were Bill McArthur and Earl Baur of Pinebog.

Following the reception held in the church parlors, the bride changed to a brown and pink wool suit with matching accessories for their wedding trip through the Eastern states.

Tweed gets fur trim of every type this fall, both in suits and coats. Mink and ermine are favorites but there's even a black-and-brown tweed coat with trim of black Persian lamb. Elegant, too.

Married Saturday were Marlene F. Kistler and Harold E. Cozart. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Kistler of Rochester, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cozart of South Merrimac street.

Fashion Belts Belts Into Retirement

This year's fashion news says hats are bigger and shoulders are wider. Belts have practically disappeared. Once again, the backbone of Paris fashion is provided by Balenciaga and Dior, and to a lesser degree, Givenchy.

Balenciaga knows exactly how the woman of chic wants to look in a suit. His continuously evoling jacket is shorter now, about 21 inches, and he gives special attention to the skirt—a wide, flat panel pleat in back; another pleat, or even a little fullness, in front.

As for color, he uses light-colored tweeds and much black—black is the favorite new "color" of Paris. A Balenciaga trend-setter for certain is his marvelous new wool from Lesur that looks knitted but isn't.

The best coat at Balenciaga, and in Paris, is elephant gray wool, so extraordinary in cut that it gives a woman a slender, wand-like figure yet slips on and off with the greatest of ease. He has coats in tweed, in fleecy wool or cheviot, nearly always light in color; they range in length from seven-eighths on down.

In his very young, thin black wool dresses Balenciaga achieves a beauty of cut that is both intricate and simple. Never has a woman's figure been shown to greater advantage; slim as a sliver, feminine, and elegant. The secret is the widening shoulder line which calls attention to the top rather than the hips.

Remove Mimeo Ink

If not, the stain may be oil-base and those spots must be rubbed with glycerine and washed in hot soapsuds and then rinsed.

Between 10 and 15 per cent of children are nearsighted.

Furniture Coloration Determined by Wood

The variety of woods to choose from allows one to achieve any kind of an effect, contemporary or colonial, modern or traditional.

The widely used western pine region woods, for example, are ten in number, each with its own texture, grain and coloration.

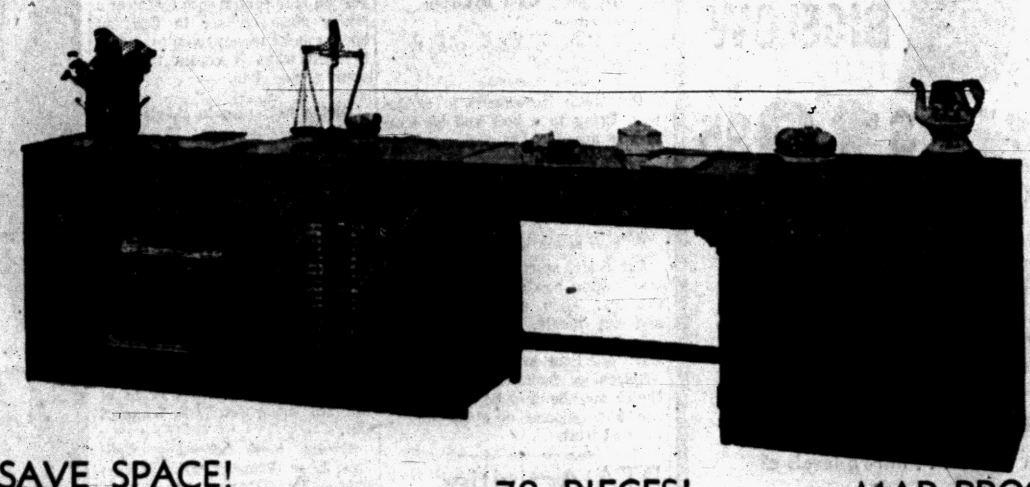

On the light side are Idaho white pine, sugar pine, ponderosa pine, lodgepole pine, white fir and Engelmann spruce, but varying among them from creamy white through pale straw to rosy white.

Fruitcakes Are in Order Right Now

Mrs. Byington Adds Crushed Pineapple to Her Holiday Loaf

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There's no time like the present to make your holiday fruit cake. It needs a number of weeks to ripen so as to be at its very best for Christmas. Mrs. Glen Byington of Williams Lake has a good recipe she uses for her family.

Mrs. Byington is a pleasant person to be with; we met her when we were sharing common responsibilities as chaperons for a Girl Scout trip. She helps with her daughter's Scout troop. This past summer she aided in the polio clinics.

FRUIT CAKE
By Mrs. Glen Byington

1 cup raisins
1 cup dates, cut up
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 cups hot water
2 cups sugar
5 tablespoons shortening

Put these ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil and let simmer 10 minutes. Let cool.

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1½ cups broken nut meats

Sift flour, spices, soda and salt into mixing bowl. Add cooled fruit mixture. Then add beaten eggs and nut meats, mix well. Pour into 2 greased cake pans 9x4x4. Bake one hour in 350-degree oven.

Spices or fruits of your own choice may be used, as long as you use 2 teaspoons of spice and 3 cups of fruit.

Class Needs Help in Building Up Treasury

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

I believe in giving people something for their money. It may be old-fashioned of me. But I can't see asking friends and people to contribute to a fund that's going to be spent on your own fun.

If you're trying to collect money to spend on other people it's different. All of which feeling lies behind my suggestions to this girl who feels her class treasury's pump needs priming.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm the president of the sophomore class and I think it's time we started building up our treasury for our senior trip. There are 39 students in our class and I think they're all willing to help.

"The trouble is we can't have dances and such to raise the money. We're desperately in need of help. Have you any suggestions?"

Answer: You desperately need help because your treasury's desperately broke? Well, my first suggestion is to confer with last year's senior class adviser to find out how much money you're going to need when it comes time for your senior trip.

Divide that sum in thirds as a quota for this year. Make it more if you want to get a real head start on your fund.

Then find out from your principal just how far you can go in fund-raising around school. Could you, for instance, make and sell candied apples at lunchtime and after school.

Could you set up and man a refreshment stand for games? Could you sponsor the visit of some celebrity or entertainer to your school, and charge admission?

Armed with the vital statistics and the necessary permission, tackle your class. It may turn out that each member of the class will be held individually responsible for a certain fixed sum. In which case, come up with some ideas for earning the dough.

Suggest that the boys team up to wash cars. Either at some fixed spot where water and electricity are donated free, or by appointments at the people's houses. Vacuuming and polishing extra.

Or let them make contracts with neighbors or friends to rake their leaves and shovel their snow—a contract that lasts all winter for a fee payable in advance.

The girls can bake cakes and cookies, make candy and prepare salted nuts and stuffed fruits. If each girl has a specialty you can peddle samples and keep yourselves busy all winter.

High-type babysitting — the mother's helper variety — will bring in money. Rent yourselves out for the whole day so mothers can go Christmas shopping.

Hints Help Insure Meat Cut Versatility

Homemakers can make better use of many meat cuts if they remember seven points about meat care and preparation.

The list, prepared by University of Nebraska nutritionist Ethel Diedrichsen, recommends:

1. Fresh meat should be stored loosely wrapped in the refrigerator.
2. Cooked meat should be stored tightly wrapped in the refrigerator.
3. The fat and lean of the less-demanded cuts of meat have the same food value as the fat and lean of the more popular cuts.
4. All meat is tender when cooked by the right method for that particular cut.
5. Meat cooked in liquid should be simmered, never boiled.
6. Roasts should be cooked uncovered, with no water added.
7. Steaks should be turned only once when broiling.

Protect Any Gadgets You Develop

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Lucy Brett Andrew has always been interested in thinking up new and better gadgets and products.

As long ago as 1939, she organized the first Inventors' Day at the New York World's Fair. She has invented many items herself, as well as teaching, lecturing and advising on inventions.

She knows just about all there is to know on the subject, from how to think creatively in the first place, through to how to patent your "brain child."

But it's that patenting aspect which made me take interest in Miss Andrew. Many of my readers are working on inventions, but find the business of protecting them a source of much confusion.

Miss Andrew has written a little booklet on the subject which is a gold mine. It is called "Practical Patent Procedure," and can be had for one dollar.

NOT ALL THE SAME

"Even as you and I go about our daily activities, there is a possibility some of us may find a better way to accomplish some routine work. Inventors are not always cut from the same cloth.

"The banker, a gay little girl at the lunch counter, the mechanic, the professional man, a mother, a salesman, an artist, all know pretty well what their daily routine will be.

"But any of these people, as they go about their chosen work, may see how a machine could be made more efficient, a new method would be an improvement, a better process developed, a more beautiful design conceived or a prettier rose grown."

Then she goes on to tell everything you need to know about patenting a product, from the birth of the idea through to the decision whether to sell it outright or manufacture it yourself.

She does not expect her book to take the place of the services of a good patent attorney, but she does make you sufficiently well informed about it so that you can cooperate intelligentty and have a good idea of what you're doing.

If you would like to know how to get a copy of "Practical Patent Procedure," send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, in care of the Pontiac Press, and I will give you the information.

MR. and MRS. JACK CRAWFORD

Marlene Beattie Speaks Vows in St. Vincent Rite

Marlene Lorraine Beattie and Jack Thomas Crawford were married in a 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass at St. Vincent de Paul Church Saturday morning. The Rev. Joseph Immel performed the ceremony in the presence of 250 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Beattie of Willard street, and Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur H. Crawford of Whittemore street are parents of the bridegroom.

She wore a pearl-heart shaped necklace and tiny earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. A nylon tulle veil edged in lace fell from her pearl crown. Her bridal bouquet featured a cascade arrangement of white orchid.

Mrs. Robert Callahan, matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of crystallette in hunter green. The other bridal attendants, Eva Johnson, Janice Young and Carolyn Evans, wore gowns similar to the matron of honor's in shades of copper and gold.

Flower girl Pamela Knapp wore a crystallette frock in an aqua shade. All the attendants wore small hats matching their gowns and carried orchids on their prayerbooks.

James Grappin served as best man. Seating the guests were Frank Beattie and Kenneth Beattie, brothers of the bride, and Peter Nye, Larry Evans was ringbearer.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party and the immediate families was held in the Hotel Waldron immediately following the ceremony. At the evening reception held in Amvets Hall, Mrs. Beattie received the guests wearing a copper gold silk dress with black accessories.

Mrs. Crawford wore an aqua dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white baby chrysanthemums.

Easy to Wash Cotton Quilts

Actually the freshness of your bedroom depends on much more than fresh sheets. Regular washing of quilts, mattress covers and pads insures pleasanter sleeping and makes these items endure.

The task is all the easier since none of this bedding needs ironing. The air spaces in a quilt or pad are what give fluffiness and warmth, and pressing would destroy these qualities.

Cotton quilts will wash in a jiffy especially if you don't let them get soiled enough to need soaking or rubbing. Use more generous suds than for other laundering.

A handy tip for hanging quilts and pads is to use two parallel clotheslines a foot or two apart. Hang each piece over the two clotheslines for quicker drying and avoid that crease down the middle.

When you buy quilts, remember that the closer the stitching, the better. This keeps the padding from shifting.

But if the padding does shift a bit, just "massage" the lumpy spot with your hands once the quilt is dry, and it will respond by smoothing out satisfactorily.

Three exciting desserts you can now make with cake mixes . . . thanks to Duncan Hines

Duncan Hines' version of Washington Pie

made with his Sunshine Sponge Cake Mix

Mix as the package directs (it's easy—you need just one bowl). Adding 2 fresh eggs to those already in the mix makes it rise high as an angel food, tender, moist and light. Bake in a tube pan, or in 3 layers if you choose.

When cool, cut the tube cake in 5 layers, or split each layer in half. (Toothpicks inserted to mark the layers will guide your sharp knife.) Spread each layer with bright, tart-sweet jam (red raspberry, cherry or strawberry). Cover top with jam and edge with a swirl of whipped cream, if desired. A really beautiful dessert!

Chocolate Peppermint Cream Roll

made with Duncan Hines Chocolate Angel Food Mix

Make a big, party-size roll—like this: Line bottom of 15½ x 10½" jelly roll pan with waxed paper. Spread batter in pan and bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes. Immediately turn upside down on a towel sprinkled with powdered sugar. Remove paper from cake. Starting at short end, roll up cake and towel together. Cool. Unroll cake and remove towel.

Spread with this filling: Beat 1 cup whipping cream until it begins to thicken. Gradually beat in ⅓ cup sugar and ½ cup crushed peppermint candy. Beat until stiff. Reroll; chill. Serve with chocolate syrup.

Burnt Sugar Cake with Burnt Sugar Frosting

Enough flavoring for both in the box of mix

This is news! Duncan Hines has found a way to package a concentrated burnt sugar syrup in a special plastic packet inside the box. So, you don't have to caramelize any sugar! Here's all you do:

Empty the packet of burnt sugar concentrate into enough water to make ½ cup. Add half of this mixture to the cake batter (package tells how and when). Use the other half in the frosting, made according to recipe on package. Then you'll have old-fashioned Burnt Sugar Cake as it tastes best—with a thick filling and frosting that repeat the rich caramel flavor of the cake.

Different, delicious, easy . . . with Duncan Hines' new Cake Mixes—Sunshine Sponge, Chocolate Angel Food and Burnt Sugar

Duncan Hines says: "In my travels I have tasted many unusual and delicious cakes, and I consider these among the best. Now, with my three newest mixes, you in your own kitchen can make them easily and quickly.

"Each of these cakes used to be considered hard to make. For instance, a fine sponge cake required tedious folding-in of flour, spoonful by spoonful. Chocolate Angel Food needs a special chocolate, to blend properly with the delicate egg whites. And burnt sugar is difficult to caramelize to just the right flavor and consistency. With my new mixes, all the tricky steps are eliminated.

"Wouldn't you be proud to serve these cakes as they are pictured? Don't be afraid to try these unusual variations—that's half the fun of baking! I think you will be surprised to find that a really elegant cake-dessert is often just as easy to create as the standard kind. Try one of them the very next time you bake."

Presidency of Grinnell's Newest Wainger Triumph

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

Jack Wainger's election yesterday as president of Grinnell Bros. music store chain put the crowning touch on a series of transactions which has sky-rocketed him to statewide business prominence.

Wainger had little more than a desire to be his own boss when he came to Pontiac in 1928 to establish the WKC Store.

JACK WAINGER

Today, the 48-year-old Wainger is president of four companies doing $15 million worth of business a year.

Friendly and personable when recounting his past, Wainger becomes contagiously enthusiastic when he talks about future plans—things he will do when he gets his latest acquisitions shaped up.

EYES SHOPPING CENTER

With an eye to the future, Wainger has plans on file for a unique shopping center on Orchard Lake avenue near Telegraph Rd.

But things were not always on such a large and fast-moving scale for Wainger.

When he graduated from high school in Detroit, his father, who was a neighborhood grocer, and his mother hoped he would follow his two older brothers into medical studies.

"The closest I came was attending pharmaceutical college," he recalls.

While studying, he worked at the main Cunningham drug store in Detroit. But when he had received his state pharmacist's license, there was no opening in the drug department.

So he was shifted, temporarily, it was thought, to the radio department.

TURNS TO RADIOS

Wainger liked selling radios and early in 1928 decided to forget pharmacy and go into business.

With his dentist brother-in-law, Dr. Samuel Coogan, and David Kessler, a former real estate agent, supplying the capital, the WKC Store was founded at 118 N. Saginaw St.

In 1934, WKC moved to larger quarters at 108 N. Saginaw, dropping its line of pianos and adding radios and appliances.

Then, the brothers-in-law began branching out. They purchased the People's State Bank Building in 1944, changing its name to the Pontiac State Bank Building a year later.

In 1945, they bought the Kobacker Furniture Co., an eight-floor retail furniture firm in Flint.

On property along Orchard Lake Ave., near Telegraph, the WKC owners began construction of a building for WKC in 1952. The building now houses a market.

It is next to the market that WKC President Wainger intends to construct his unusual shopping center.

'IT WILL BE THERE'

"Construction depends," he said, "on how soon we can get Grinnell's and Wright-Kay organized and I can get away."

"But one of these days it will be there."

Wainger's biggest deals have come in recent months. Last March, WKC—which he wholly owns—bought controlling interest in the 30-store Grinnell chains.

Last month, Grinnell's purchased all the stock of Wright-Kay, a Detroit company since 1861.

He still owns the Kobacker Furniture Co., which represents his fourth presidency.

Wainger, who lived in Pontiac for 15 years, splits his time between offices here and in Detroit.

He moved to Detroit in 1947, where he lives with his wife, Ruth. Two daughters are in school. Janice, 16, attends Kingswood School and 21-year-old Judith is a senior at Simmons College.

To what does J. J. Wainger attribute his fabulous rise?

25 Flee Fire in Detroit; Two Women, Baby Saved

DETROIT (INS) — Two women and a baby were rescued, 25 others were routed in their night clothes and one man was injured in a fire at a three-story Detroit rooming house early today.

The fire started in the basement apartment of Omar Stafford, 35, who suffered a cut hand.

Firemen said Stafford apparently fell asleep on a davenport.

Mrs. Marilda Ponke, 58, who occupies a third floor apartment, was rescued by firemen using a ladder. Joyce Bonnarrigo, 22, and her small son, Herbert, also were brought down the ladder.

Damage was estaimted at about $1,000.

Coast No Challenge, Says Marilyn

(Editor's Note: The following article by Broadway Columnist Earl Wilson is the fourth in a series in which the Press presents an analysis of the outlooks and attitudes which make Marilyn Monroe the unique creature that she is.)

By EARL WILSON

No rebellion starts from a single cause, not even the rebellion of Marilyn Monroe. There are many Marilyn Monroes in the MM who is every man's dream and every woman's envy — and Hollywood pinched them all.

Diplomatically, perhaps, Marilyn doesn't call her flight from Hollywood a "rebellion." "I just know I wanted to grow and develop, and that wasn't happening in Hollywood," she told me.

Which Marilyn, then, is she trying to improve?

There's the Marilyn who loves Goya, and Louis Armstrong, and Tennessee Williams, and Mozart—and Brooklyn shopkeepers.

There's the Marilyn whose baby stare can melt the most hardened waiter, or can pierce through the fine print of a contract like a hardened lawyer.

All of them, it seems.

Her many facets sparkled the other night when I met her in a little French restaurant in the East 50s. The "new" Marilyn she unveiled was by turns a breathless undergrad discovering "culture," an outlander discovering the big city, a woman discovering herself.

ALWAYS PUNCTUAL

I heard the silken sultriness of that voice as the door opened . . . then Marilyn bounced in as only she can bounce, plopped down beside me . . . and I copped a peek at my watch.

She was only 15 minutes late! Such punctuality was amazing. It was unbelievable. I made a little notation, "The new Marilyn is unusually punctual (for her)."

"I have a few hundred question here," I said, "which The Post wished me to ask you."

Marilyn leaned across the table and looked at the folded, torn, somewhat soiled piece of copy paper as though it were a precious jewel. She possesses the quality of making you feel that you and your wishes are inordinately important.

"I also have a little note," I continued, "explaining that they wish to write some pieces about you which are rather "egg-heady"."

"Top-of-the-brow stuff," I said. "Here's a funny question down here. It isn't very egg-heady, though. They want me to ask you, 'Does it feel good to have a lot of money?'"

"I'll let you know!" she rifled back at me.

Milton H. Greene, the glamour photographer who's vice president of Marilyn Monroe Productions, had escorted "the new Marilyn" to meet me. He'd gone for a moment to phone his office, but now he was back and laughing at Marilyn's retort to the opening question.

"Would you care for a drink?" a waiter interrupted.

"A bacardi, please," smiled Marilyn, putting some sex appeal in it.

The waiter departed in a dream.

"Are you ready for the questions?" I asked, making like Hal March.

'GROW AND DEVELOP'

"Ready," replied Marilyn, leaning across the table again to fix her gaze carefully on the list. The answers are verbatim.

"Do you consider that there is a NEW Marilyn Monroe?" I asked.

"I consider I would like to grow and develop, I don't wish to be a new person," she said.

"Do you consider you have changed in the last year?"

"Yes, I hope through growth and development I have—I hope. I hope!"

"Do you feel you are in rebellion against becoming a stereotyped Hollywood actress?"

"I just know I wanted to grow and develop and that wasn't happening in Hollywood."

"Do you want to be known first as a great actress or a great glamour girl?"

"I'd like to be known as a real actress and human being, but listen, there's nothing wrong with glamour either. I think everything adds up. I'll never knock glamour. I want to eat my cake and have it, too."

I was beginning to feel like a district attorney.

Q. What change will result from your New York drama training. A. This I would rather let speak for itself in my work in the future. Of course, I hope to improve, though.

Q. What movie role did you like best and which did you like least. A. Of all the roles I've had I've really liked two. "Asphalt Jungle," Joe Manckiewicz directing, and "The Seven-Year Itch," with William Wilder directing. The one I liked least: "No Business Like You Know What." I was miscast.

I not only didn't like what they did to me but I didn't like what I did. I had to be continually taking off my shoes because of the difference in statures of Donald O'Connor and me. I admire Donald very much. He can be serious and I can be serious but we can't be serious together. I'm a little too fully-blossomed for him and he is perennially youthful.

Q. Do you have any love life now. A. If there were, I wouldn't tell you, Earl.

Q. What of the future. A. Who knows? I'm looking.

Q. What of DiMaggio. A. DiMaggio? He's back from Europe. I know that because I read it somewhere.

Q. Who is your favorite actor and favorite actress. A. Gable, Brando, Sinatra, Charles Laughton—I'd love to work with Sir Laurence Olivier sometime . . . something kind of special. There are so many French actors, and then there's DeSica . . . you see how many favorite actors I have. And actresses — I like nearly all of them.

HER 'BEDROOM VOICE'

It's time, I figured for a change of pace. "Why are you so appealing?" I asked. Marilyn playfully pretending to be wide-eyed, said, "Who do you MEAN is appealing?"

"What about your bedroom voice?"

"BEDROOM voice? I use this voice everywhere, except in the bedroom. I never talk in the bedroom . . ."

"Except on the phone."

"Why?"

"Because I live alone."

Marilyn clearly enjoyed this little verbal ping pong. It was getting quite dark in the little restaurant and I lit matches to see the questions. Marilyn, one of those rare women who aren't near-sighted, pushed the matches back.

"I can see fine," she said.

The waiter refilled our glasses. He was the happiest waiter in town, for Marilyn smiled at him again.

Occasionally I'd say, "You don't have to answer that one, on advice of reporter."

"Oh, I'm not afraid to answer it!" Marilyn smiled at me like she did at the waiter and I was the happiest reporter in town. Back to work.

Q. What plays do you like best and who is your favorite playwright. A. "Seven-Year Itch" wasn't my favorite play. I guess my very favorite plays were "Streetcar Named Desire" and "Death of a Salesman." I enjoyed "Skin of Our Teeth" but not as much. My favorite playwrights: Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams.

Q. What part would you have enjoyed playing on the stage. A. I would have enjoyed playing the Vivian Blaine part in "Guys and Dolls"—who wouldn't?

Q. What about your music and art. A. Painters, you mean. I'm in love practically with Picasso but Goya's No. 1. Jazz I'm insane about. Louis Armstrong and Earl Bostick—it just gets stronger all the time. I guess my favorite composer is Beethoven.

I also like Richard Rodgers, Harold Arlen, Cole Porter, Mozart, Mendelssohn—we won't go into all those. Museums? I've been going to museums seeing prints for years but never the originals like now. Like the Goya etchings on the wages of war at the Metropolitan.

'LOVES EGYPTIANS'

Q. Didn't you go to Brooklyn to look at paintings. A. Oh. I went twice to the Brooklyn Museum to see the costumes of the early Chinese empire and also the Egyptians. I love those early Egyptians.

Q. In fact, I heard you love Brooklyn. A. Oh, I do! Sometimes I just take one little section, like along the water, and I walk. I like how the storekeepers sort of stand out on the sidewalks and watch life go by. They don't do that over on this side of the bridge. They're in their stores here. Things are more hectic. Things are slower over there.

Q. What are your favorite sports. A. I tried water-skiing but I was vertical only about once.

Q. Baseball. A. No, I haven't been to a baseball game yet. I would like to see the Brooklyn Dodgers. If they play, I'm going to go.

I informed her that I'd heard on good authority that they'd won the National League pennant.

"I'm going to go!" she announced.

Q. What about the Yankees. A. Well, I'm for the Dodgers!

Q. Why are you for the Dodgers? A. Maybe because it's psychological.

Q. "Who are your favorite authors?"

She took a deep breath.

"Dostoievsky, J. D. Salinger, George Bernard Shaw. I liked 'Stanislavsky Directs,' a new book. Poetry — 'The Plain and the Shadow,' by Norman Rosten. He's one of my favorite contemporary poets. Then I love Keats. I love 'Ode to a Nightingale.' Also I like Walt Whitman. I keep Walt Whitman next to my bed. I keep going back to him all the time. Also Dame Edith Sitwell. But have no time now. G. B. Shaw—I'm reading him little by little. I think I first talked about him with Constance Collier (the late actress and drama coach who taught Marilyn briefly). She had a great appreciation of him. Then Milton (Greene), too, is always quoting him. That's his favorite."

Without changing the subject I said:

"What about your baby stare?"

"That's because of the parts I play," Marilyn said. "If I play a stupid girl and ask a stupid question, I've got to follow it through. What am I supposed to do—look intelligent?"

Q. How come your walk. A. I started walking when I was nine months old and I've been walking since and I've never had a lesson.

Q. How do you keep your figure? A. By eating spaghetti—and I do enjoy a good massage every so often.

Q. Do you ever buy your own dinner? A. Well, I have! And I do, when all of us eat at Child's on Broadway between classes. I buy my own dinner sometimes because I eat alone a lot.

Q. Do you have much difficulty getting around the city? A. No, the cab drivers are very nice, and besides, I learn a lot from men.

A QUESTION AMUSES — A famous smile greets a question by Columnist Earl Wilson as Marilyn perches on the edge of a chair during a recent New York interview.

Adlai Will Get Dems Support, Humphrey Says

Minnesota Leader Sees Favorite Sons Endorsing Stevenson at Chicago

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) predicted flatly today that "two-thirds of the favorite sons" at the 1956 Democratic convention will back Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Humphrey's statement amounted to an assertion that there is no serious "Stop Stevenson" movement in the making.

A Stevenson supporter himself, the senator said in an interview he does not expect the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee to be opposed in the Minnesota presidential primary.

Stevenson is expected to announce in Chicago next week—probably Thursday—that he will be an active candidate for the Democratic nomination and will enter the March 20 Minnesota primary. Humphrey was instrumental in getting the Minnesota state central committee to urge the former Illinois governor last week to enter that primary.

CONCERN OVER SOUTH

Stevenson campaign leaders recently were concerned with published reports that Southern Democrats, led by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, were promoting "favorite son" candidates to keep the convention from stampeding to Stevenson prematurely.

Johnson's friends emphasized that he was mainly concerned with making sure the party nominee and platform bore the imprint of "moderate" policy he stands for.

Johnson, who is recuperating from a severe heart attack suffered last July 2, is likely to be the Texas "favorite son" at the Chicago convention next August. There will undoubtedly be a number of others, including such top contenders as New York's Gov. Averell Harriman, New Jersey's Robert Meyner, Georgia's Richard B. Russell and Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver.

$1.8 Million Tax Dispute Brought to Court by Kin

DETROIT (INS) — Disputed inheritance taxes totaling more than $1.8 million will be aired in federal tax court tomorrow at a hearing involving the estates of three granddaughters of the founder of Wyandotte Chemicals Corp.

The dispute arises between attorneys for the Internal Revenue Bureau and the estates over the valuation placed on stock of the chemical company.

Meanwhile, the government yesterday settled tax claims of $1,081,963 against five Detroiters for $200,880.

Court Ends Segregation in Parks and Playgrounds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One more battle in America's most sensational social revolution — the effort to wipe out racial segregation —has been fought and won.

The Supreme Court yesterday ordered an end to segregation in public parks and public playgrounds in Maryland and on public golf courses in Georgia.

While this action was less spectacular than the court's ruling in May 1954 — when it said segregation in public schools must end—it was far-reaching nevertheless.

The court now apparently has said — although it didn't use this exact language — that segregation in the United States must end in any place or facility that is paid for by the public, that is, paid for with tax money.

The court ruling did not say Negroes cannot be excluded from a recreational area or any other facility — like a beach, or playground, or golf course — that is privately owned and operated by an individual or limited group of individuals.

APPLIES TO ALL STATES

It seems certain that in the end yesterday's decision in the Maryland and Georgia cases will have to apply to all states and cities. The classic example of this kind of thing was in the high court's ban on segregation in public schools.

In that case the court ruled directly against only a handful of states but it soon became clear the decision applied to all states, although not all states have yet complied.

The court has consistently been following this principle in cases involving facilities that are supported by public tax money: That "separate but equal" arrangements for Negroes are no longer enough and are unconstitutional.

The fight against other forms of segregation is going forward. Some years ago the Supreme Court banned segregation on interstate buses — those crossing state lines.

Now Negroes are fighting against segregation on buses which operate entirely within a city or state. A test case was made against segregation on buses operated by a utility company in Columbia, S. C.

The U. S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., with jurisdiction over South Carolina, ordered segregation banned on the Columbia buses. In doing so the appellate court was following the lead of the Supreme Court in the school case.

It said that even though accommodations for Negroes on the buses—where they had to ride separate from the whites — were equal to those of the whites, they were not enough.

That case is now being appealed to the Supreme Court which, if it upholds the Appellate Court in the Columbia case, will in effect be wiping out segregation on buses in all states and cities.

Meanwhile the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People — which has been the spearhead of the fight against segregation in all its forms — is attacking on still another front.

It has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to forbid segregation of interstate travelers not only aboard trains but also in station waiting rooms and depot restaurants.

The NAACP was asked yesterday if now it intends to fight against segregation in privately-owned movie theaters and restaurants. A spokesman for the NAACP was rather vague on this. He indicated that may be done later but emphasized that right now the NAACP is concentrating mainly on getting an end to public school segregation in those states which are fighting or stalling on the Supreme Court decision.

Irish People Lead World in Drinking—Milk Products

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the month for loyal citizens to celebrate (a) National Cheese Shopper's Month and (b) National Baked-in-Butter Turkey Time.

The gastronomic doubleheader has a single purpose:

To tease us into using more dairy products, and incidentally whittle away at this nation's vexing dairy surpluses.

A fellow over at the Agriculture Department dropped by today to make an additional point.

"Did you know," he asked, "that if each of us would drink three extra glasses of milk each week we'd have the dairy surplus problem pretty well licked?"

Without waiting for an answer, he had another question:

WHAT COUNTRY LEADS?

"What country leads the world in the consumption of milk products?"

That turned out to be a tough one. For it's a country renowned, in fiction at least, for its pubs and its whisky. Good old Ireland is in first place.

The thought of all those Irishmen standing around swilling milk and nibbling cheese is indeed a switch.

New Zealand is second among the milk fanciers, Sweden third, Australia fourth, Canada fifth, and you have to go all the way down to 13th place to find the United States.

THE SAD STORY

The statistics tell the sad story: The Irish down 1,425 pounds of milk products per capita each year compared with 699 pounds here.

Incidentally, for rich living New Zealand stacks right up near the top. The report shows it leads the world in drinking fluid milk, eats the most butter and is a country of big meat eaters.

How come this country trails so badly in milk consumption? It's prosperous, and its cows are contented.

"You can't use my name in this," the fellow said, "because each of us at the Agriculture Department thinks his product is the best. But I'm sold on dairy products. This nation consumes 3.6 gallons of ice cream per person, for example, and my wife says I easily make up for 10 people.

"The dairy farmer works harder for his dollar than any other farmer. Cows never take a day off. I was raised in Wisconsin, dairy country, and I know."

Police Follow Lead in Racketeer's Death

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Officers were working today on what they term "the hottest lead yet" in the bomb-slaying of Willie Bioff. It is also the only lead they have made public in any detail.

Sheriff L. C. Boies disclosed last night that an underworld bomb expert is reported to have been in Phoenix at the same time the former Hollywood labor racketeer died in a tremendous explosion, and left a few hours after.

An order has been sent out to arrest the hoodlum, Boies said, but he refused to name him.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

A 29-year-old bricklayer from New Orleans identified as William Savoie was booked by officers who said he tried to mulct Mrs. Bioff out of $10,000 for information that would supposedly lead her to Bioff's killer.

Detective Gordon Selby said Savoie admitted he had made up the whole story, which he said was that Bioff had told him he was afraid a "Charles Scarish" in Ohio was out to kill him. Savoie never even met Bioff, Selby said.

Mrs. Bioff appeared at a mortuary to view her husband's mangled body. She is scheduled to appear at a coroner's inquest today.

Friends Help Crippled Man Build Home

This week friends and neighbors of Alonza Henderson hammered the last nail and slapped on the last daub of paint, as they completed their project of rebuilding the crippled man's home at 96 W. Rutgers St.

Henderson, confined to a wheelchair since 1949 when he was hurt in a car crash that took the life of his wife, bought a condemned house this spring and set out to make it livable. Always self-reliant, he was determined to accomplish the work himself in spite of his handicap with the aid of several friends and members of the Parkdale Church of the Nazarene who had offered to help him.

Members of the Owen-Hawthorne-Wever Community Club decided that anyone with as much gumption as Henderson deserved a helping hand, so they made the rebuilding of the home a club "neighborhood betterment" project.

Between June and November, some 37 volunteer workers pitched in to help Henderson remodel his home. They moved the 18x20 foot three-room house on a new foundation, added a bathroom and a hallway to the garage with a special ramp for the wheelchair, and wired the rooms for electricity.

Working together, church and club members installed siding, put in windows, painted the interior and the exterior trim, and put on a new roof.

Henderson dug trenches, crawled around and did plumbing work, even hoisted himself up to the roof to help lay roofing.

"I always believed where there's a will, there's a way," said Henderson.

Henderson makes his own livelihood by selling greeting cards and stainless steel tableware. His income is augmented by a pension from Pontiac Motor Division, where he was employed for 15 years. He gets around the city by means of a specially-built, small red car, a kind of motorized wheelchair made and donated to him by a Pontiac manufacturer.

In the project of remodeling his home, materials were donated by lumber companies, heating, paint, electrical, window sash and chimney firms, as well as individuals.

"Alonza Henderson doesn't owe us a thing—we've all been paid in satisfaction we got out of helping so fine a person," said Pete Mihay, spokesman for the group and chairman of the Owen-Hawthorne-Wever committee.

Prop Man Murders Woman, Shoots Self

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lovers' quarrel ended in death last night for a movie studio prop man, William Tripp, about 50, and Mrs. Rhoda MacIntosh, 49, police reported.

Detectives D. J. Johnson and C. W. Maney said Tripp blasted Mrs. MacIntosh three times with his 12-gauge pump gun, reloaded and blew his head off.

The officers said a neighbor, John Chilberg, gave this account:

Mrs. MacIntosh came running out of a west Los Angeles apartment house, screaming: "He has a gun."

She hid behind her automobile, parked in the driveway, but Tripp saw her and three times they circled the car in a deadly chase. Then Tripp fired. As Mrs. MacIntosh lay on the ground Tripp stood over her and pumped two more rounds into her chest.

He ran into the house, got more shells, lay down beside the dead woman, pulled the twine he had fastened to the trigger, and killed himself.

Tripp was a prop man for 20th Century-Fox Studio. Friends said he and Mrs. MacIntosh quarreled often.

Hollywood Headlines:

By BOB THOMAS

Jayne admits it is a fantastic story. She was a Bryn Mawr girl, but that doesn't mean she got an elegant education; she was born in that Pennsylvania community. Her family later moved to Dallas, and she grew up telling everyone she was going to be a movie star.

"Ridiculous!" they scorned.

Regardless, she studied acting at the University of Texas, SMU and the Dallas Institute of Performing Arts. Also UCLA. A year ago, she stormed the studios, informing them she was ready to be discovered. The Paramount people were startled enough to give her a test. Nothing. It was the same story at Warners.

It was a photographer's holiday. Jayne stole the spotlight from Jane Russell, Debbie Reynolds, Mala Powers and other glamor girls. How? Well, her measurements are 40!-21!-35½! — the exclamation marks are used advisedly.

Besides, she was wearing a Bikini. And there's nothing that stirs the interest of a red-blooded American photographer like a Bikini.

She was doing an independent film in Philadelphia when a deal for a play came up. It was George Axelrod's "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" a Hollywood satire that required a blonde star with a show-stopping figure.

"A lot of girls wanted the role—Sheree North, Barbara Britton, even Marilyn Monroe asked for it," said Jayne.

But she won out, and the movie offers started to pour in, even while the show was breaking in on the road. They came from MGM, Paramount, the first studio to turn her down, and Warners, which dropped her. Also 20th Century-Fox. Jayne said she's up for two roles once designed for Monroe —"Bus Stop" and "The Revolt of Mamie Stover."

That's a long way for a girl to come in a year and Jayne can thank her lucky cheesecake.

"That trip to Florida started everything," she admitted. "I don't mind posing for leg art; I think it's good for your career. If you get too Grace Kellyish, you're overlooking a large audience of men."

Whipping Abolished as Indian Discipline

BOMBAY — India's lawmakers have passed the government-proposed bill to abolish whipping as a punishment, New Delhi reports. It is the opinion of most penalogists, the Home Minister advised the House that whipping serves no social purpose—that, in fact, those subjected to this punishment tenaciously adhere to their evil course and do not give up their evil ways.

They become still more desperate. Referring to suggestions that capital punishment, too, should be banned, the Minister said there is no comparison between the two.

"In one case you deal with a man in such a manner that he remains alive but may become a burden on society," he said. "In the other case you get rid of a man with great regret and sorrow but at least he can do no more wrong."

Prehistoric Men Left Mementos

WASHINGTON — Human beings have lived in the northern Missouri Basin for at least 7,000 years.

The prehistoric people—presumably of the same type physically as living Plains Indians — passed through many cultural changes due to migrations, variations in climate, perhaps major wars.

They were, at various periods, hunters, farmers, food gatherers, Sometimes they combined all three ways of life.

This lost chapter is being tentatively reconstructed from the surveys and excavations carried out under the River Basins Surveys project of thte Smithsonian Institution and various federal and state cooperating agencies.

A large number of archeological sites, eventually to be flooded under the government's river development program, have been investigated in order to salvage scientific material of value.

In the course of this archeological work, evidences of what apparently was an early human occupancy of the area were found in the basin of the Angostura Reservoir on the Cheyenne River in South Dakota.

Official Predicts A-Power Electricity for France

DETRROIT (AP) — The boss of France's National Electric Company says his country will have atomic power before it has an atomb bomb.

Marcel Flouret, chairman of Electricite de France, told newsmen here scientists are building a power plant which will be producing eectricity in 1956. By 1960 France hopes to have three atomic plants in operation, he said.

Flouret's firm is the second largest public utility in the world. It is exceeded only by the Central Electric Authority of Great Britain in scope of operation. Flouret is touring this country to study American methods of expanding power production.

At least one automobile is owned by 71 per cent of U.S. families.

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. George Rieveschl Jr., the physician who discovered the anti-histamine, Benadryl, settled a $608,647 back income tax claim for $84,250 yesterday at a hearing before U.S. Tax Court Judge Graydon G. Whitney.

The Grosse Pointe Farms physician and his wife, Clara, were charged for 1951 and 1952.

The doctor said the government's claim was based on payments to him by a drug manufacturer for his patented durg. The government claimed the payments were royalties and should be regarded as ordinary income, not capital gains.

In another case, a $33,216 claim against drug store chain owner Nate S. Shapiro of Detroit and his wife, Ruth, was settled for $21,500. Shapiro filed claim when the government disallowed a bad debt deduction in 1950.

Also, a $440,000 claim against the state of Detroit auto dealer Louis Rose was settled for $95,130.

Adroit Islanders Enact Historical Biblical Dramas

SYDNEY — Rarotonga, in the Cook Islands of the South Pacific, recently held its big annual event, the Nuku, or Biblical play.

Introduced about 1918 by the Rev. Bond-James, the Nuku is an attempt to give Rarotongan children a clearer insight into Biblical history.

It is enacted by adult members of the London Missionary Society and the islanders' natural talent for singing and improvisations offsets any lack of stage props.

This year they portrayed Greek soldiers wearing armor. No armor of any kind being available, the soldiers appeared in what seemed to be dazzling suits of freshly burnished steel.

Asks Court to Bar GM From Politics

DETROIT (AP)—A Circuit Court suit was filed yesterday asking that General Motors Corp. be restrained from engaging in political activity of any kind.

Thomas L. Poindexter, Detroit attorney who was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress a year ago, charged in the suit that GM "uses its power and wealth to participate politically and illegally in local, state and national elections."

Poindexter said the big corporation spends 44 million dollars a year on advertising and public relations. He said it "has used the power of its advertising expenditures to force newspapers and other media to slant news coverage to General Motors' advantage and purposes."

General Motors did not comment.

AM Executive Sees Industry Aiding Public

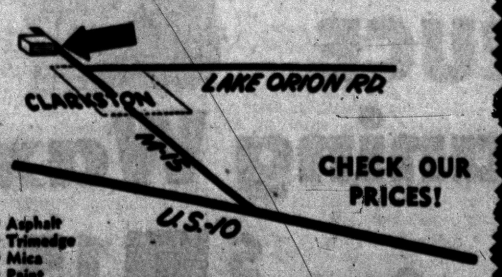

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Vice President Edward L. Cushman said yesterday that the auto industry is in a position to "give the most it has ever given to its employes, dealers and stockholders."

Addressing the Financial Analysts Society of Detroit, Cushman, who heads American's industrial relations department, said auto firms, under new three-year labor contracts, have geared themselves "to a constant increase in benefits derived from the industry by every segment of the public."

23 Caught in Police Raids to Face Gambling Charges

MARSHALL (AP)—Twenty-three persons, arrested in a series of weekend raids against what police said was a three-county, million-dollar-a-year numbers racket, were scheduled to be arraigned today.

Fourteen pleaded guilty yesterday to frequeting a gambling house and were fined $50 and assessed $4.90 cost each. Any who doesn't pay will serve jail terms, said Justice of the Peace R. D. Scott.

State Police Sgt. Carl W. Robinson said that 18 of those to face Scott today would be charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling laws and five with possession of gambling equipment.

State police carried out simultaneous raids in Battle Creek, Albion, Kalamazoo, Allen Park and Lincoln Park on what Robinson described as syndicate-operated houses.

LEADER SURRENDERS

Harry Koneke, 46, of Lincoln Park, who Robinson accused of being "one of the leaders of the syndicate," surrendered yesterday and was brought to Marshall. Robinson said Koneke would be charged with conspiracy today.

Robinson said police confiscated nearly $6,000 cash, thousands of bet slips, seven cars, two safes and gambling records and equipment in the raids.

WASHINGTON — Human beings have lived in the northern Missouri Basin for at least 7,000 years.

The prehistoric people—presumably of the same type physically as living Plains Indians — passed through many cultural changes due to migrations, variations in climate, perhaps major wars.

They were, at various periods, hunters, farmers, food gatherers. Sometimes they combined all three ways of life.

This lost chapter is being tentatively reconstructed from the surveys and excavations carried out under the River Basins Surveys project of thte Smithsonian Institution and various federal and state cooperating agencies.

A large number of archeological sites, eventually to be flooded under the government's river development program, have been investigated in order to salvage scientific material of value.

In the course of this archeological work, evidences of what apparently was an early human occupancy of the area were found in the basin of the Angostura Reservoir on the Cheyenne River in South Dakota.

Official Predicts A-Power Electricity for France

DETROIT (AP) — The boss of France's National Electric Company says his country will have atomic power before it has an atomic bomb.

Flouret's firm is the second largest public utility in the world. It is exceeded only by the Central Electric Authority of Great Britain in scope of operation. Flouret is touring this country to study American methods of expanding power production.

At least one automobile is owned by 71 per cent of U.S. families.

Hollywood Headlines:

By BOB THOMAS

Jayne admits it is a fantastic story. She was a Bryn Mawr girl, but that doesn't mean she got an elegant education; she was born in that Pennsylvania community. Her family later moved to Dallas, and she grew up telling everyone she was going to be a movie star.

"Ridiculous!" they scorned.

Regardless, she studied acting at the University of Texas, SMU and the Dallas Institute of Performing Arts. Also UCLA. A year ago, she stormed the studios, informing them she was ready to be discovered. The Paramount people were startled enough to give her a test. Nothing. It was the same story at Warners.

It was a photographer's holiday. Jayne stole the spotlight from Jane Russell, Debbie Reynolds, Mala Powers and other glamor girls. How? Well, her measurements are 40!-21!-35½! — the exclamation marks are used advisedly.

Besides, she was wearing a Bikini. And there's nothing that stirs the interest of a red-blooded American photographer like a Bikini.

She was doing an independent film in Philadelphia when a deal for a play came up. It was George Axelrod's "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" a Hollywood satire that required a blonde star with a show-stopping figure.

"A lot of girls wanted the role—Sheree North, Barbara Britton, even Marilyn Monroe asked for it," said Jayne.

But she won out, and the movie offers started to pour in, even while the show was breaking in on the road. They came from MGM, Paramount, the first studio to turn her down, and Warners, which dropped her. Also 20th Century-Fox. Jayne said she's up for two roles once designed for Monroe —"Bus Stop" and "The Revolt of Mamie Stover."

That's a long way for a girl to come in a year and Jayne can thank her lucky cheesecake.

"That trip to Florida started everything," she admitted. "I don't mind posing for leg art; I think it's good for your career. If you get too Grace Kellyish, you're overlooking a large audience of men."

Frozen-Minded Culprit

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Somebody broke into Louis Moore's home and stole a wire basket filled with frozen steaks from his food locker. A week later the freezer again was raided. This time the culprit returned the basket—empty.

Big Tax Claims Settled by U.S.

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. George Rieveschl Jr., the physician who discovered the anti-histamine, Benadryl, settled a $608,647 back income tax claim for $84,250 yesterday at a hearing before U.S. Tax Court Judge Graydon G. Whithey.

The Grosse Pointe Farms physician and his wife, Clara, were charged for 1951 and 1952.

The doctor said the government's claim was based on payments to him by a drug manufacturer for his patented durg. The government claimed the payments were royalties and should be regarded as ordinary income, not capital gains.

In another case, a $33,216 claim against drug store chain owner Nate S. Shapiro of Detroit and his wife, Ruth, was settled for $21,500. Shapiro filed claim when the government disallowed a bad debt deduction in 1950.

Also, a $440,000 claim against the state of Detroit auto dealer Louis Rose was settled for $95,130.

Adroit Islanders Enact Historical Biblical Dramas

SYDNEY — Rarotonga, in the Cook Islands of the South Pacific, recently held its big annual event, the Nuku, or Biblical play.

Introduced about 1918 by the Rev. Bond-James, the Nuku is an attempt to give Rarotongan chill dren a clearer insight into Biblical history.

It is enfacted by adult members of the London Missionary Society and the islanders' natural talent for singing and improvisations offsets any lack of stage props.

This year they portrayed Greek soldiers wearing armor. No armor of any kind being available, the soldiers appeared in what seemed to be dazzling suits of freshly burnished steel.

Asks Court to Bar GM From Politics

DETROIT (AP)—A Circuit Court suit was filed yesterday asking that General Motors Corp. be restrained from engaging in political activity of any kind.

Thomas L. Poindexter, Detroit attorney who was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress a year ago, charged in the suit that GM "uses its power and wealth to participate politically and illegally in local, state and national elections."

Poindexter said the big corporation spends $4 million dollars a year on advertising and public relations. He said it "has used the power of its advertising expenditures to force newspapers and other media to slant news coverage to General Motors' advantage and purposes."

General Motors did not comment.

AM Executive Sees Industry Aiding Public

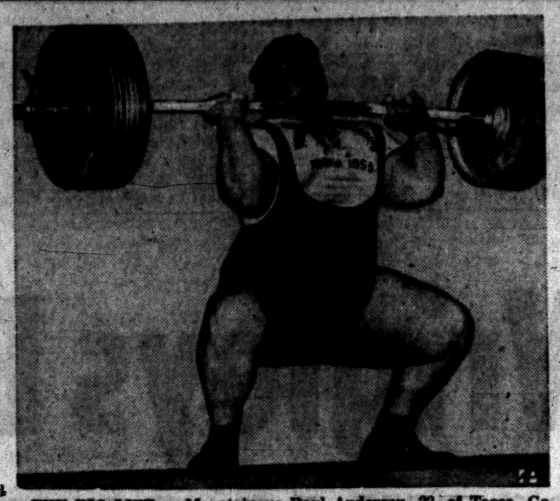

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Vice President Edward L. Cushman said yesterday that the auto industry is in a position to "give the most it has ever given to its employes, dealers and stockholders."

Addressing the Financial Analysts Society of Detroit, Cushman, who heads American's industrial relations department, said auto firms, under new three-year labor contracts, have geared themselves "to a constant increase in benefits derived from the industry by every segment of the public."

23 Caught in Police Raids to Face Gambling Charges

MARSHALL (AP)—Twenty-three persons, arrested in a series of weekend raids against what police said was a three-county, million-dollar-a-year numbers racket, were scheduled to be arraigned today.

Fourteen pleaded guilty yesterday to frequeting a gambling house and were fined $50 and assessed $4.90 cost each. Any who doesn't pay will serve jail terms, said Justice of the Peace R. D. Scott.

State Police Sgt. Carl W. Robinson said that 18 of those to face Scott today would be charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling laws and five with possession of gambling equipment.

State police carried out simultaneous raids in Battle Creek, Albion, Kalamazoo, Allen Park and Lincoln Park on what Robinson described as syndicate-operated houses.

LEADER SURRENDERS

Harry Koneke, 46, of Lincoln Park, who Robinson accused of being "one of the leaders of the syndicate," surrendered yesterday and was brought to Marshall. Robinson said Koneke would be charged with conspiracy today.

Robinson declined to name the other alleged "boss," pending his arrest.

Robinson said police confiscated nearly $6,000 cash, thousands of bet slips, seven cars, two safes and gambling records and equipment in the raids.

Allegan Man Finds Prime Beef in Garage

ALLEGAN (AP)—Harold C. Jones, 33, of Allegan, has a lot of fresh beef he didn't want on hand today.

The beef came from a Holstein cow, which Jones left in a two-car garage with her week-old calf and two goats when he left home yesterday morning.

Shortly after returning home around 4 p.m., Jones went to the garage, where he found someone had knocked the cow in the head and started to butcher her. There were fresh tire tracks running away from the garage, he said.

Jones quickly turned to and completed the butchering, then he called Sheriff Walter Runkel with "to report a cow muder." He said he valued the animal at $175.

Sooners Vault to Top, Spartans Jump to 3rd Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oklahoma, a later day power in college football, took over as the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll today, much in the same style as the 1950 club brought the Sooners their one and only national championship.

It's the first time Coach Bud Wilkinson's crew has held the top rating this season, although they've been near the top in each of the seven previous weekly polls. Similarly, Oklahoma's 1950 champs didn't make the top in the weekly poll until Nov. 21 on the next to last ballot of the season.

Oklahoma's new role adds even more luster to the Orange Bowl clash which undoubtedly will send the Sooners against Maryland — the club they ousted from the No. 1 spot.

Maryland, even by extending its winning streak to 13 games by beating Louisiana State 13-0 last weekend, couldn't cope with the shift in favor among the nation's sports writers and sportscasters that gave Oklahoma a whomping 115 first place votes in the heaviest balloting of the season. The Terps, who had 74 first-place votes to Oklahoma's 54 last week, pulled in 89 from the 283 ballots cast in this week's poll.

On a point basis, however, the Sooners — who ran their winning string to 26 by whipping Missouri 20-0 Saturday — had a much smaller edge over Maryland. On the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., the Sooners totaled 2,466 to Maryland's 2,415.

Oklahoma and Maryland are all by themselves at the top of the rankings now that Michigan has been shelled from the unbeaten list. The Wolverines, the one-time leader and third last week, tumbled to seventh after being upset 25-6 by Illinois.

Michigan State, beaten only by the Wolverines, replaced Michigan in a move from fourth. The Spartans got 44 first-place votes and 2,051 points. UCLA, Notre Dame and West Virginia, the only other major unbeaten - untied clubs left, followed the leap-frog advance past Michigan.

Texas Christian, 10th last week, jumped to eighth although idle last Saturday while Texas A&M and Ohio state moved into the Top 10 to replace Georgia Tech and Navy. Tech was tied 7-7 by Tennessee. Navy was held to the same deadlock by Duke.

Maryland, West Virginia and TCU appear to have the toughest assignments this week among the Top 10. The Terps face Clemson to make good their bid for the Atlantic Coast Conference title and the Orange Bowl bid; West Virginia takes a big test against Pitt, and TCU, hopeful of the Cotton Bowl host berth, meets Texas.

Oklahoma, which clinched the Big 7's Orange Bowl spot last week, shouldn't have much trouble getting No. 27 against Iowa State.

The leading teams with first-place votes and won-lost records in parentheses based on 10 for first place, 9-8-7 etc):

1.	Oklahoma (115) (7-0)	2,466
2.	Maryland (89) (8-0)	2,415
3.	Michigan State (44) (6-1)	2,051
4.	UCLA (9) (7-1)	1,762

6.	West Virginia (18) (7-0)	1,049
7.	Michigan (6-1)	970
8.	TCU (3) (6-1)	551
9.	Texas A&M (6-1-1)	448

15.	Miami (Ohio) (7-0)	121
16.	Illinois (4-3)	35

Dozen Tilts End Prep Year

The curtain will come down on the 1955 Oakland County area gridiron prep season this week.

Titles have been decided in previous contests and the 12 games on tap are merely wind-up affairs for most of the schools involved. Top battle most likely will be the clash of two champions—Van Dyke of Inter-Lakes and Center Line of Bi-County League.

When both schools kick-off at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Center Line, behind the brilliant passing of Larry Bielat, will attempt to revenge a 7-0 loss to Van Dyke last year. That loss was the sole setback barring Center Line from registering a perfect season. It is a traditional contest for the Brown Jug.

In eight games, senior Bielat is establishing what is labeled one of the fine passing marks in Michigan high school records. He has attempted 120 aerials and has completed 67.

In another old rivalry, EML champions from Birmingham will meet a hapless Berkley Bear aggregation that has lost eight games. Bears scored 6 points in doing so while having 234 scored against them. Game is scheduled for the Maples' field at 8 p.m.

In the only league encounter, Northville seeks to better its 3rd place finish in the Wayne-Oakland loop when it tangles with West Bloomfield Lakers at Northville. Two other W-O teams, Clarkston and Holly, battle St. Fred's and Oakland-B Lake Orion respectively.

Inter-State League champion Cranbrook will host Fitzgerald Friday afternoon. Rochester travels to Avondale, St. Mike's is at Oxford, Utica entertains Romeo and Eastland is at Roseville.

Big Seven Conference Elects Sooners to Go to Orange Bowl Game

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma today was sitting on top of the college football world.

The undefeated, Sooners are ranked by The Associated Press as the nation's No. 1 team and are bound for the Orange Bowl on Jan. 2, the first school to definitely grab the ring for the post-season merry-go-round.

Oklahoma's opponent for the Miami classic hasn't been determined yet, but the second-ranked Maryland Terrapins appear to be the choice to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference. That would make the game a "natural."

Oklahoma earned its right as the Big 7 representative by whipping through four conference rivals while stretching the nation's longest current winning streak to 26.

The Sooners are tied for the conference lead with Nebraska, which also has won four without defeat. But the Cornhuskers went to the Orange Bowl a year ago and the conference prohibits a team to go two straight years.

Even if Oklahoma were to lose its two remaining games with Iowa State and Nebraska—an unlikely occurrence—only Colorado would be eligible if it wins two more games. The Sooners already have defeated the Buffaloes.

So, mathematically the Sooners are "in." Reaves Peters, executive secretary of the Big 7, made it official last night. "It's clear cut," he said. "Oklahoma goes to the (Orange) Bowl."

The 1955 edition of the Sooners may well be the finest team ever developed by Coach Bud Wilkinson in his nine years at Oklahoma.

That takes in a lot of ground. There have been several stellar grid aggregations in Wilkinson's amazing tenure at the Norman school. The 1950 Sooners (10-0) were the national collegiate champions and the year before (11-0) were runner-up. For eight years, Oklahoma has been among the Top 10 teams in the country.

The Sooners have speed, depth, a solid line, and a set of hard-running backs. Defensively, Oklahoma applies the pressure all the way, forcing its opponents into tactical errors, fumbles and misdirected passes. The Sooners take advantage of all "breaks," many of which they make themselves.

Two in Running for Oriole Post

Terry, Keelty Named as Likely Successors to Miles

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Sun said today Bill Terry, former New York Giants great, and Jame Keelty, Baltimore building contractor, were being mentioned as possible successors to the retiring president of the Baltimore Orioles.

Clarence Miles, the prominent attorney who now heads the American League team, announced yesterday he would resign effective Nov. 18, date of the next annual meeting of the Baltimore baseball club stockholders.

The newspaper said the name of Keelty, vice president of the club, "loomed high" among the prospects to replace Miles. But it added that "speculation also linked" Terry with the vacancy.

Terry, president of an auto business in Jacksonville, Fla., expressed surprise that he had been mentioned. But he told the Sun he could not say he "wouldn't be interested" if approached and "if the proposition were right."

Keelty told the Sun he would "accept the position without pay . . . under a proper business setup" if asked.

Traffic Heavy at Top of NHL Point Column

Beliveau Sets Pace With 19, One Ahead of Olmstead

MONTREAL (AP)— With only 40 games in the National Hockey League season in the books, the loop's list of point-getters are jammed together like Sunday traffic.

Young Jean Beliveau of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens with 5 goals and 1 assist last week, regained the top spot with 19 points on 8 goals and 11 assists. Teammate Bert Olmstead, with 7 assists, moved into second place with 18 points.

Dave Creighton of the red-hot New York Rangers, leader a week ago, collected a goal and 3 assists but dropped to third place with 17 points. Ron Murphy of the Rangers and Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings follow with 15 points apiece. Murphy, Ted Lindsay of Detroit and Toronto's Ted Sloan lead in goals scored with 9. Olmstead had the most assists with 14.

Goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal has the best goals-against average of 1.78 compared to 2.00 for Terry Sawchuk of Boston, but is placed second in the official statistics. The lead is based on the number of goals against. Sawchuk has 24, Plante 25.

Top Heavies Set for Elimination Bout on Dec. 7

Valdes to Meet Baker in Cleveland; Winner Fights Marciano

NEW YORK (AP) — Nino Valdes and Bob Baker, about the best the heavyweight division has to offer as a challenge these days, will decide who gets the next shot at Rocky Marciano's crown in an elimination bout at Cleveland Dec. 7.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, revealed last night that the winner would be the next to have the privilege, if not the pleasure, of trying to whip the Brockton strong boy.

No date or site for the title match was indicated, but after Marciano's last title defense—in which he TKO'd Archie Moore Sept. 21—it was thought fight fans probably would next get a look at the Rock in action in June.

Baker, No. 3 among the contenders in the last ring ratings, and Valdes, No. 4 have figured along with the unpredictable Hurricane Jackson and the promising young Floyd Patterson as the only likely challengers after Moore failed to dent Marciano's unbeaten record.

Patterson, just 20 years old, wasn't considered seriously since he's the top challenger for Moore's light-heavyweight title and is being groomed for a heavyweight try no earlier than 1957. Jackson, 23, took a powder from the eligibles when he was beaten recently by Jimmy Slade.

Valdes, a big Cuban managed by Bobby Gleason, was considered the No. 1 contender a year ago. But then the 6-3, 31-year-old husky was toppled by losing decisions against Moore and Bob Satterfield. Valdes has been fighting since 1941 and has won 34 of 47 bouts.

Baker, 28 and 210 pounds, supplied one of Valdes' defeats. The 6-3 Pittsburgher decisioned the Cuban in a 10-rounder in May, 1953. That was one of nine straight victories for Baker, who's been around since 1949. Three of his five successes this year, however, have been over the not-so-hot Rex Layne.

Baker has won 42 of 48.

It was Al Weill, Marciano's manager, who named Valdes, Baker, Patterson and Jackson as the next possible opponents for the Rock.

UD's Prexy Says Titans Aim for Big Time Grid Program

DETROIT (AP)—The Rev. Celestin J. Steiner, president of the University of Detroit, says he is trying to build a football program that he hopes will enable future Titan teams to play opponents of the stature of Michigan, Michigan State and Notre Dame.

"As a university of 9 or 10 thousand students, I think we are being realistic when we strive to attain the same excellence in football as in other activities of the university," he told the Michigan Football Writers Assn. yesterday.

"We compete with schools of our size or larger in other sports, why not in football and basketball?" Father Steiner asked.

The University of Detroit is a member of the Missouri Valley Conference.

"For many reasons," Father Steiner said, "you must belong to a conference. . . . But these ties aren't like wedding vows . . . till death," he added.

He said the campaign to bring the Titans up to major level is progressing according to schedule.

"We planned to be better although not spectacularly so this year," the priest said. 'We hope to be even better, more colorful and more aggressive next year. Then in the following years we should be in a position to play schools of our size or larger."

"Football must be played with a determination to win, regardless of the odds," Father Steiner said.

Strader Joins Coaches 'Union' in Far West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"It's nice to know I'm in the coaching union," said Norman (Red) Strader, head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, when he learned he had been hanged in effigy yesterday.

Strader's 49ers lost 27-14 to the Los Angeles Rams Sunday — their fourth defeat in seven National Football League games.

This season's "union" of hanged in effigy coaches in the Far West includes Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf of California, Jess Hill of USC, Al Kircher of Washington State, John Cherberg of Washington, Warren Woodson of Arizona and Bill Schutte of San Diego State.

Senate Votes Praises for Dales' Grid Record

The resolution, sponsored by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), paid individual tribute to coach Frank (Muddy) Waters, former Michigan State University player, and to Nate Clark, a junior halfback from Benton Harbor, who is rated the highest scorer in Michigan Collegiate football this year.

Eddie Dugan, West Virginia senior, holds the school record touchdown run. He ran 90 yards for the Mountaineer freshmen in scoring against Waynesburg in 1952.

Third Dynamite Explosion Hits Track at Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Another charge of dynamite was set off at midnight at Sunshine Park Race Track 20 miles northwest of Tampa. Sheriff Ed Blackburn Jr. reported.

Blackburn said damage from the latest blast did not appear extensive. He said the charge of dynamite was set off on an outside stairway leading to the jockey room.

The June 14 dynamiting was never solved and no arrests were made.

Giovanelli Wins Over Danny Perez

NEW YORK (AP)—"You gotta keep busy. If I get enough fights I'll be up there fighting for the welterweight title in a year."

Braves' Reserve Team Downs Crary Club, 7-0

Em Ghianni's Braves scored in the 2nd period on two long plays. Fullback John Roush galloped 40 yards to the Crary 25, then quarterback Fred Staley passed to end Ron Joyner for the touchdown. Roush plunged across for the extra point.

No 9th grade players were used in yesterday's game. Both squads consisted of 7th and 8th graders who were not regular performers during the current season.

Signs Long Contract to Air Tiger Games

DETROIT (AP)—Van Patrick has been signed to a new contract to broadcast baseball games of the Detroit Tigers for the next three years.

Announcement was made yesterday by President Walter O. (Spike) Briggs of the Tigers.

Patrick, 39, has been boradcasting Tiger games since 1952.

No. 2 Position Takes Six of 8 at Tanforan

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Deuces were wild at Tanforan race track yesterday—horses breaking from post position No. 2 won 6 of the 8 events.

No. 2 horses—Stardarity ($93.20) One Trust ($19.10), and Eve's Dream ($4.70) won the first three races. The first two paired for a $476.60 daily doubles.

Then along came War Galley ($15) in the fifth, and Liveitup ($6.50) in the sixth. Mountain Guide ($22.90) in the eighth sent a lot of fans home happy.

Johnny Klippstein's 2nd shutout of the 1955 season was a masterpiece. The Cincinnati veteran blanked the champion Brooklyn Dodgers with one hit.

Report Drop in Grid Fatalities

AFCA Official Says Only 4 Listed, One From Colleges

Dr. Eastwood, associate dean of students at Los Angeles State College, said yesterday only four direct fatalities have been reported to Nov. 1 this year, three of these high school players in Southern states. The other was a Colorado A&M player. The total reported at the comparable time last year was 12 and in 1953 it was 11.

Dr. Eastwood, chairman of the Coaches' Injury and Fatality Committee, said all fatalities this year were caused by blows to the head, causing injuries to the brain, skull or spine. This is by far the most common type of severe injury in the game, he added.

The four players fatally injured were listed as Phil Lewis, 16, Sheridan, Ark.; Max Campbell, 18, Danville, Va.; Steve Thompson, 17, Nashville, Tenn., and Ray Dennison, 26, Collins, Colo.

Seals' Buyers Eye Possible Park Site

The 40-acre tract—20 miles south of San Francisco—has been offered on a lease basis at nominal cost by Bay Meadows General Manager William P. Kyne.

Benny Pointing for Michigan's Last Two Tilts

Isn't Too Unhappy as Wolverines Slip Down Rating Scale

ANN ARBOR (AP)—As one of the nation's top teams for six wobbly weeks, Michigan had to fight every hot-headed Big Ten football squad that came its way.

It was enough to send Michigan skidding from 3rd to 7th place in the weekly Associated Press poll, making room for Michigan State in 3rd place behind Oklahoma and Maryland.

It isn't likely that coach Bennie Oosterbaan is unhappy about the fall. He probably wishes it had happened sooner. He said before his primary quest was the Big Ten title, not national ranking.

But being rated as one of the top teams, forced Michigan to face inspired opponents every week—even teams like lowly Northwestern and Minnesota fitted themselves out to kill the giant.

Michigan took over 1st place for a brief period by pummeling Army 26-2. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan frowned and said, "we shouldn't be there . . . we're not a great team."

Now with a 4-1 record in conference play and a 6-1 tally overall, Oosterbaan wants to pull his boys together for Indiana and Ohio State, their last two opponents, in that order.

Both those games will decide whether Michigan can take the conference title and the trip to the Rose Bowl that goes along with it.

"But Indiana's a great team, Oosterbaan said, "definitely not a pushover—I wish I could have the boys all together for this one.

Ex-Cincy Red Star Becomes Redleg Coach

McCormick, 42, was the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1940 when the Reds won their last World Series.

He led the league in number of hits in his first full season with the Reds in 1938 and repeated his performance in 1939 but he had to be satisfied with a tie in that department in 1940. His first base fielding was tops in the circuit for four years.

McCormick replaces Dick Bartell on the Redleg coaching staff. Bartell resigned before the close of the season saying that he wanted to get a manager's berth in the minor leagues. He hasn't landed one.

Hartack Riding to Turf History

Eyes Shoemaker Mark of 400 Wins; Has 373 to Lead All Rivals

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—William Hartack could throw his saddle on a saw-horse at Laurel these days and it would shortly be nothing worse than a 10-to-1 shot. The betting folk just aren't arguing with success.

For success belongs to the 22-year-old Pennsylvanian. His score for the Laurel meeting is 19 victories in 34 rides. Six winners Saturday and four more yesterday boosted his 1955 tally to 373, considerably ahead of all rivals.

Seeks to Outlaw .22's During Bow Deer Season

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Kenneth O. Trucks (R-Baldwin) said today he will introduce a bill at the next regular session of the legislature to prohibit hunting with .22 caliber rifles during the bow and arrow deer season.

Trucks said there have been instances of hunters shooting deer with rifles and sticking arrows in the wounds to make it appear they were legally killed.

Rough Stuff!

Graham Says NFL Still Plays 'Dirty' Football

ATLANTA (AP)—Pro football keeps on getting rougher and rougher, says Otto Graham, veteran quarterback of the Cleveland Browns.

"Things haven't got out of hand yet," Graham told the Atlanta Quarterback Club last night, "but unless something is done, it will."

The 34-year-old player, who suffered a head injury in Sunday's game against New York, recalled that a year ago he pointed out that the game gets "rougher and rougher," and he added last night: "That still goes."

"Commissioner Bert Bell says that the National Football League plays rough and tough but not dirty," Graham declared. "But I know it isn't true."

He said game officials were allowing players to get away with too much rough stuff and that Bell and the club owners could do something about it "if they wanted to."

Graham also said last night that he plans to retire after the current season, and that he would never be a coach, not even if Northwestern, his alma mater, sought to hire him.

"A coach can't control the things that affect his job, and that's why I'll never coach," Graham said.

He said he could have had the job at Northwestern this year if he'd wanted it—"and now I thank the Lord I didn't."

Mexican Horsewoman Defends Place in National Show; Says Women Are as Good Riders as Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Eva Valdez' dark eyes flashed today when it was suggested that maybe she was out of place competing against men in the international jumping competition at the National Horse Show.

"Women are just as good riders as men," she snapped. "The last time I was here five years ago, I won two events. And those American women who used to compete—they were pretty good, too."

Miss Valdez, whose dark hair matches her eyes, admitted that she hasn't been making anyone sit up and take notice at this show. She was pressed into service on a few days notice when two of the Mexican riders were injured in an automobile accident.

"But I've been having bad luck," she shrugged. "It's not that the men are better riders than I am. There's an awful lot of luck when you go over those courses and if you don't have it, you don't win."

She pooh-poohed the notion that she was out of condition and unfamiliar with the mounts.

"I ride every day in Mexico," she commented. "I know the horses. I've been jumping almost 15 years, so nothing bothers me. When I was called to compete here, I was just keeping my house—doing nothing. I was happy to get a chance, but, of course, I was sorry for the boys who were injured.

"I'm tired now after seven days. But that's just because we women don't have the endurance of men. It's not because they are better on a horse."

Miss Valdez has won one test, while her famous brother-in-law, Gen. Humberto Mariles, has taken three as has Billy Steinkraus of the American team. All told, the two countries have won five apiece and tonight's finale will be all the more important for that reason.

The international championship, both team and individual, is mythical—something like the national college football title. If Gen. Mariles wins, he'll be the individual champion and Mexico will be the team victor. If Steinkraus takes it, he'll be king and the Americans will be the team titlists.

Gen. Mariles won the Individual Championship Challenge Trophy last night after a double jump-off when he gave Chihuahua II a clean ride over eight fences. Bob Ballard of Canada, riding Oregon Duke, the only remaining contestant, had 4 faults for second.

The working hunter championship went to Reno, an aged chestnut mare owned by E. R. Sears of Pride's Crossing, Mass. Reno had to fight it out right down to the final event with another Sear entry, Sidonia. Reno won the final for his third victory and it gave him 18 points. Sidonia, shut out, was reserve with 13.

Jones Faces TV Cameras Again Against Saxton

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who earned his chance to vie with cowboy films for the home TV audience by battering Sugar Ray Robinson savagely in January, takes on ex-welterweight champion Johnny Saxton. The scheduled 10-rounder will be fought at the Oakland Auditorium, starting at 10 p.m. (EST, ABC radio-TV).

It'll be an overweight bout as far as Saxton is concerned. Jones is the sixth-rated middleweight in the world and Saxton has the promise of a welterweight title shot this winter. The word is that he will go against the winner of the Nov. 30 Boston battle between champion Carmen Basilio and Tony DeMarco.

If the number of teams entered equal or exceed the 15 squads entered a year ago the league may be divided into two divisions. To be eligible for "D" competition, players must be 18 years of age or under and cannot reach their 19th birthday on or before May 1, 1956.

Vandy's Horton Called Better Than Bill Dudley

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "Just say he's the best, the greatest back I ever coached; use either word you like but just be sure it's in the superlative degrees."

Guepe rates the 185-pound senior from St. Petersburg, Fla., a superior all-'round back to both Bill Dudley and Johnny Papit, whom he coached at Virginia before coming to Vanderbilt in 1953.

Some Southern observers are calling Horton the finest all-purpose back Dixie has produced since Charlie Trippi at Georgia in 1946—and his equal on defense.

The fleet Commodore is a master maneuverer, once into the secondary, who makes prime use of his blockers. He calls on an extra burst of speed to shoot him past tacklers and has never been overtaken in the clear. Powerful, too, he often is used for clutch yardage slams into the line.

Horton's three touchdowns, including a 62-yard punt return, in Vanderbilt's astonishing 21-0 upset of Kentucky last Saturday gave him 9 for the season and boosted his rushing yardage total to 457 in 71 carries, a 6.4 average.

With three games remaining on Vanderbilt's schedule, Horton has gained a grand career total of 2,623 for his school by every method of advancing the ball.

Baker Bobcats Finish Second Spotless Year

Troy Township Junior High Team Has Posted 11 Straight Wins

Last Thursday night the Bobcats, coached by Joe Bechard and Bob McElreath, defeated Madison, 21-0, to post their 11th straight victory over a span of two complete seasons.

Win over Madison also handed Baker gridders, comprised of 7th and 8th graders, their 2nd straight Oakland-B Junior High League championship. Bechard and McElreath's charges have amassed 198 points while allowing only 13 during their undefeated, untied reign.

Grid Briefs From Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest football briefs:

Viking Contest on Friday Night Closes Season

Wisner Tilt Will Be Scrap Between Rivals of Long Standing

One of the most interesting, year-in-year-out, gridiron rivalries for Pontiac High School, Friday night at Wisner Stadium, closes out the 1954 season for the Chiefs.

For many years Pontiac and Flint Northern have tangled in what have usually proved hard-fought battles. That's what Coach Ed Graybiel of the Chiefs figures will be the case again, come Friday night.

With neither Pontiac, nor Northern having compiled any happy record this year, both will be shooting to salvage at least this one for the books. For Pontiac it is the "last chance." Chiefs have gone winless in the Valley Conference, and the game here this week provides the only opportunity of evading a no-win SVC year.

Graybiel does not plan any changes in his lineup against the Vikings. "I figure we'll go with the same crew that played against Saginaw last week."

"We're going to have a tough time with the Vikings. They have Bruce Campbell back. He's their best quarterbacqk, who was out most of the season, until last weekend. Rutherford, a halfback, also out since early in the year is now ready to go. He's good, and with this pair in there I'm afraid we're in for lots of trouble."

As far as condition goes Chiefs are okeh. Last night's workout, also, might be cause for some optimism. The squad showed a lot of fight and determination, Graybiel reported today "If that is any indication, we're going to give Northern a real battle," he added.

Fear that Bob Casteel, top quarterback, would not play was dispelled yesterday, and that boosts the hopes of the club considerably, observers say.

Higher Purses Expected to Help Florida Racing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Horsemen today saw a little better chance to "break even" during the Florida racing season with the announcement that Hialeah Park will offer $555,000 in added money for 16 stakes and handicap races.

Eugene Mori, president of Hialeah, said purses for 8 of the track's 16 stakes races would be increased during the 40-day meeting opening Jan. 17 and that total purse distribution would exceed $2,000,000.

The three tracks in the Miami area will distribute more than $4,000,000 in purses during the 126-day racing season starting Nov. 28 at Tropical Park and closing April 21 at Gulfstream.

Hialeah will have two $15,000 stakes for 2-year-olds, the Florida Breeders and the Hialeah Juvenile. At $20,000-added will be the Inaugural, Jasmine, Hibiscus, Palm Beach, Bahamas and Columbiana, upped from $15,000.

The Royal Palm was jumped from $15,000 to $25,000, the Black Helen from $25,000 to $30,000 added, while the McLennan and Hialeah Turf Handicaps carry purses of $50,000 each and the Widener and Flamingo $100,000 each.

State 'Blooming' as Big Ten's Finest

EAST LANSING (AP)—Whether or not Michigan State carries the Big Ten colors to the Rose Bowl in January, there is a growing conviction that the sophomore studded crew from East Lansing represents the best the conference has to offer.

Before the season opened Michigan State was considered a team with good potential but lacking the needed experienced personnel to carry it beyond a fair-to-middling season. The opening game against Indiana, a 20-13 conquest for MSU, seemed to bear out the pre-season forecasts.

But in the battle with arch rival Michigan the ensuing weekend, the Spartans cut loose with an offensive show that carried several times past the Wolverine 20-yard line. Only the determined goalline stands of the Michigan line prevented the Spartans from rolling up a string of touchdowns. Michigan lost the game in the statistics department, but won on the scoreboard, 14-7.

A week later Duffy Daugherty's outfit took on a Stanford team fresh from a 6-0 victory over defending Big Ten champion Ohio State. MSU won in a breezs, 38-14.

Notre Dame, unbeaten, untied, uncored upon, went into the game a heavy favorite. Some two and a half hours later the Irish goal line had been crossed three times, and the Spartans, in their finest game of the year, left the field with a 21-7 victory. Irish haven't lost a game since.

With the season four weeks old, reasons for Michigan State's power were obvious — a small but sturdy line, speedy and fast on the charge, and a host of fleet backfield men: Gerry Planutis, Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk.

And from the quarterback slot Earl Morrall, a late-starting senior, revealed a passing arm that quickly boosted him into contention for All-American honors along with Notre Dame's Paul Hornung and George Welsh of Navy.

Since the Notre Dame meeting, Michigan State has beaten Illinois, 21-7, and two of the Big Ten's top powers, Wisconsin and Purdue, by identical scores of 27-0.

Michigan, meanwhile, though still the favorite to win or at least tie for the conference title if only because it plays more loop games than MSU has had to come from behind to beat Minnesota and Iowa after taking a listless battle with Northwestern, 14-2. Last Saturday an aroused band of Illini upset the Wolverines, 25-6.

MSU closes out its conference schedule Saturday with improving Minnesota. Both teams expect to be at top strength. A victory for the Spartans would give them a 5-1 Big Ten record.

Michigan still has two conference foes to meet: an Indiana team that gets better every week, and Ohio State, undefeated in conference play, which can be counted upon to use everything but dynamite in an effort to blast the Wolverines in this ancient rivalry.

A loss or tie for Michigan in either game would send the Spartans on the road to Pasadena for the 2nd time in three years.

Hill Expected Trouble After Trojan Losses

USC Mentor Attacked by Alumni for Three Defeats This Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Beleaguered Jess Hill, University of Southern California football coach, says he knew he'd be under fire when his Trojans blew football games.

They've lost three this season — to Washington, Minnesota and Stanford — and the alumni are howling.

"I fully expected this when I accepted the job," Hill told the Trojan club yesterday. "I never made the claim of being the greatest football coach in the country. This is my 21st year in football and I'm still learning."

Hill promised that between now and Nov. 19, when the Trojans take on fourth-ranked UCLA, he will get together 11 men "who want to play the type of football we should be playing."

"I won't predict a victory, but I think we're going to give UCLA a heck of a ball game. Remember, every underdog has his day."

Hill was asked if his feelings were hurt when he was hanged Sunday in effigy.

"Who has time to worry about effigies when I have UCLA and Notre Dame coming up?" he replied.

Hill pointed out that California Coach Pappy Waldorf also has been "hanged."

"Waldorf is one of the best football coaches in the country and one of the finest gentlemen," said Hill. "He won 37 straight Pacific Coast Conference games and went to the Rose Bowl three times.

"Yet he loses a few this year and they hang him. He's still as good a coach as ever, maybe even better."

Field Grows to Thirteen for Laurel Turf Classic

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Alfred G. Vanderbilt's acceptance of an invitation to run his Social Outcast in the Washington D. C. International has swelled the field to 13, largest yet in the short history of Laurel's turf classic.

When the invitation was first proffered a week or two ago, Vanderbilt hedged. He said he wasn't sure Social Outcast could run against Traffic Judge, another International starter.

He said he wanted to see how Social Outcast performed in the Trenton Handicap at Garden State last Saturday. He said he would accept for Social Outcast only as an alternate.

Social Outcast romped home an impressive winner at Garden State. Traffic Judge, meanwhile, was running fifth in the Roamer Handicap at Jamaica. Vanderbilt apparently spent Sunday pondering these facts, then accepted without reservation late yesterday.

The field for the mile and one-half grass test for 3-year-olds and up now includes four U. S. horses, two each from England, France, and Venezuela, and one each from Germany, Ireland and Canada.

However, El Chama, the Venezuelan horse whose owner offered to pay his own expenses getting him here to compete, now is listed as a very doubtful entry.

But even without him, the field walking up in European fashion for the start this Friday will be a record one.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

KNEE ACTION MEANS LIFT— So coordinated is the entire body in correct bowling form that the left knee may be the answer to a "stuck" thumb. The thumb, of course, should be released ahead of the fingers at the time of delivery. This gives the fingers a chance to apply a lifting spin to the ball that causes it to hook properly.

Breaking the left knee in the approach to the foul line helps accomplish this. By bending the knee, the ball is kept in a low groove close to the body. If the weight of the ball is permitted to take the body down into a comfortable crouch, the arm lift follows easily.

Knee action is part of fundamental footwork starting with an unhurried first step with the pushaway. The body is brought into a position that encourages arm lift. The result is a natural tendency to release the thumb ahead of the fingers. Only then can the fingers perform their final function of spinning the ball as it is released.

Lane Eyes Bout Against Dupas

Pounds Out Decision Over Centella; Hopes to Avenge Loss

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— Southpaw Kenny Lane, the No. 6-ranking lightweight who battered Kid Centella to a unanimous 10-round decision last night, has raised his sights but not too high, and now he's after Ralph Dupas.

Dupas, the No. 3 man in the division, owns one of the five losses Lane has received in 40 fights.

"I'd like to fight Dupas now," said Lane after last night's lopsided victory.

Lane joined the chorus of high-ranking lightweights who have been singing "Don't bring on the champ." Frankie Ryff, the No. 4 man, after last week's defeat of Paddy DeMarco decided he wanted no part of champion Bud Smith. Ryff, like Lane, wants more fights with other high rankers.

Lane showed last night he can slash a man into helplessness without a knockout punch. The 23-year-old from Muskegon, Mich., was expected by some to be a doormat for Centella as the Nicaraguan stepped into national ranking.

Instead, Lane's unorthodox style and speed kept the 24-year-old sluggish Centella under control. Lane pounded at will but couldn't bring Centella down.

Phils Sign Old Pro Westlake to Pact

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have signed Wally Westlake, 34-year-old long-ball hitter who has played previously with five major league clubs.

Roy Hamey, Phillies general manager, said yesterday in announcing the signing that he watched Westlake play for Oakland and Portland in the Pacific Coast League last year.

Hamey said he feels Westlake still can help a major league club. He said Manager Mayo Smith probably will use Westlake as a utility outfielder.

Titans Will Honor Memory of Dorais

DETROIT (AP)—A plaque dedicated to the memory of Gus Dorais will be dedicated between halves of the University of Detroit-Villanova football game at U.-D. stadium Friday night.

Dorais, a Notre Dame teammate of Knute Rockne, was University of Detroit coach from 1925 through 1942. He died in 1954.

The commemorative plaque will be installed in the U. of D. Memoral building, adjacent to the stadium.

The Pygmy twins — Don Smith, 5-4 and 140 pounds, Nat Brazill, 5-5 and 142—buzzed a giant Washington line Saturday like a pair of mosquitoes and produced enough sting to give the Bears their first Pacific Coast Conference victory. Cal's PCC mark is 1-3-1 and overall record 2-5-1.

Respect of Boss Fosters Loyalty of His Workers

CHICAGO (INS) — A management official says employes who are respected by the boss respect the company they work for.

William E. Bright, Jr., chairman of the employe development committee of Pure Oil Co., in Chicago, told a conference sponsored by the Office Management Association of Chicago and Northwestern University:

"The challenge to management today is in properly motivating employes through proper attitudes of respect and good human relations."

Bright said an ideal boss:

2. Is fair with employes.
3. Knows that fear is unnecessary to maintain discipline.
4. Listens to employes without prejudging them or their ideas.
5. Permits employes to operate under their own initative, aware that the best results are not obtained through close supervision.

Americans Consume More Meat Yearly

NEW YORK—According to a survey by the First National City Bank of New York, more Americans are eating more meat than at any time since 1908.

The bank's study of livestock production and demand indicated a 1955 per capita consumption of 160 pounds of beef, veal, lamb, mutton and pork.

Controversy Ensues Over Nude Mermaid

The figure is to be moved six miles along the sea walk to Mablethorpe where, Mayfield said, "they go in for that sort of thing." Councilwoman Mrs. Alice Fowler of Mablethorpe said her town moves with the times.

"I think the mermaid is quite respectable," she said. "Girls do not go on the beach swathed in clothes nowadays."

Till Witnesses to Testify Today

Youth, Uncle of Slain Boy Called to Appear Before Kidnaping Jury

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—An elderly Negro sharecropper and a teen-age farm hand, who said they fled to Chicago for safety, are expected to testify today before a grand jury considering kidnaping charges in the famous Emmett Till case.

Testimony of Mose Wright, 64-year-old uncle of the 14-year-old Chicago Negro abducted by two white men, and 18-year-old Willie Reed forms the heart of the state's case against the two men.

The two Negroes arrived in Greenwood Sunday night from Chicago and said they had no fear of being harmed, although both said they fled Mississippi earlier for fear of being killed.

The Leflore County Grand Jury, working through a heavy docket yesterday, delayed until today consideration of kidnap charges against 24-year-old Roy Bryant and his half-brother, 36-year-old John W. Milam.

The 20-man, all-white grand jury will decide whether Bryant or Milam will stand trial. No Negroes were called on the 64-man jury panel from which the grand jury was picked.

Dist. Atty. Stanny Sanders said the jury's decision will be released in its final report, probably Wednesday.

TWO MINUTES THAT CHANGED MY LIFE

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

One day, not long ago, I read a newspaper ad about The Wall Street Journal. It told how The Journal helps salaried men earn more money — how it helps owners of small business concerns — how it benefits ambitious young men.

"Can it help ME?" I asked myself.

Well, I tried it, and it has been wonderful. The Journal tells me about the changes that are taking place in America — about new inventions, new industries, and new ways to earn money. When I first subscribed to The Journal I was earning $9,000 a year. Last year my income was $14,300. It took only two minutes to mail a check for my first subscription to The Journal, but it has changed my whole life.

This story is typical. Reading The Journal can give you a real lift. It is like adding an extra locomotive to a train of cars. The reports in The Journal give you quick warning of any new trend that may affect your income. You get the facts in time to protect your interests or seize a profit.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all four big press associations. It costs $20 a year, but you can get a Trial Subscription for three months for $6. Just tear out this ad and attach check for $6 and mail. Or tell us to bill you.

Published daily right in the Midwest to bring you vital business and Washington news immediately. Address: The Wall Street Journal, 711 W. Monroe St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Auto Pay Surprises Guatemalan Leader

DETROIT (AP)—Guatemalan President Carlos Castillo Armas visited Detroit yesterday, talked with a Ford Motor Co. assembly line worker about wages and then said:

"Salaries and standards of living of auto workers are beyond what I had imagined."

Armas talked briefly with Hardy Newton, 34, of Dearborn, an assembly line worker. When Newton told him he averaged $6,200 yearly, the President said: "Those are good wages."

Castillo Armas later told newsmen that Communists, whose government he overthrew to become President in 1954, are under control, but still a problem.

"I said to the Communists, 'You can talk and say what you want, but if you act against the government I will shoot or cut off the hands or neck if necessary to show that we will be tough,'" he said.

Packard-UAW Contract Ready

Source Predicts Details Will Embrace Layoff Pay Provisions

DETROIT (AP)—A source close to negotiations says a new three-year contract between the CIO United Auto Workers union and some 10,000 Packard division workers of Studebaker-Packard Corp. is expected to be announced tomorrow or Thursday.

While neither union nor company officials would comment, the two sides were reported virtually in agreement on a contract similar to those granted by Ford, General Motors and Chrysler Corp. which include layoff pay plans.

It was reported Packard and the union had come to terms and were putting the contract into writing. The old pact expired Sept. 1.

However, a contract to cover some 9,000 Studebaker workers at South Bend, Ind., still has not been settled. Local disputes over seniority, production standards and working conditions have bogged these negotiations down.

Chamber Seeks Space for Yule Parade Floats

An appeal for the use of private garages in which to store floats was issued yesterday by planners of the annual Christmas Parade.

The Rev. Edward Auchard, chairman of the December 3 event, stated that storage problems arose this year when it was learned that the downtown garage used in former years would not be available.

The buildings will be needed between November 17 and the parade date, the chairman said.

According to John Hirlinger, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, nearly 40 floats have so far been entered by civic and religious organizations. As last year, Hirlinger said, the parade will have as its theme the portrayal of the "true Story of Christmas."

Area residents who have space to donate have been asked to notify Hirlinger at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Speaker Calls 'Know-How' Top Weapon Against Reds

Business and industrial "know-how" is the United States' most effective weapon against Communism, members of the American Forging & Socket Management Club were told last night.

That was the opinion voiced by speaker Donald Bolt, former NBC commentator and free-lance correspondent, during an address following a banquet in the Waldron Hotel.

"Because America possesses a greater ability in the fields of technology, medicine and agriculture, the backward peoples of the world are looking to us to show them the way to a betterment of their condition," Bolt said.

"The danger," he contended, "is that this country may, as Britain did during the Nineteenth Century, decide it has a good thing and let up in its efforts to help others, not through charity, but through the fair exchange of raw materials, which they have, and which we need in ever-increasing quantities to bring about a still-better American way of life."

Citing South America's contribution's in raw materials during World War II, Bolt declared that the U.S. might have lost its designation as "the arsenal of Democracy" had it not been for its southern neighbors.

Currently in a nationwide lecture tour, Bolt has traveled extensively in Europe and various Latin American countries.

YPSILANTI (INS) — Robert Wilson, president of the Terminal Service Co., said today that major air lines "don't agree" with the idea of moving to Wayne Major Airport from Willow Run.

Wilson reported on a meeting of six of the big commercial airlines that use Willow Run. American, which already has announced plans to move to Wayne Major, wasn't invited.

However, the six air lines wrote Wayne County Highway Engineer Leroy Smith, who operates Wayne Major, asking his proposals "so we can consider them in a business-like manner."

The Federal Air Use panel recommended that the commercial air lines shift their Detroit base.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Campbell have been indicted by the Muskingum County grand jury in the Memorial Day abduction of their own two young sons. The man who authorities said took the children at gunpoint also was indicted.

The grand jury last night indicted Campbell, 30, and his wife, Nancy, 19, on charges of conspiracy to abduct. They also were indicted on two counts of issuing bad checks dating back to May, 1954.

John J. Fitzpatrick, 32-year-old Detroit cab driver, who authorities said was paid $200 by Campbell to abduct the children, was indicted on charges of conspiracy to abduct and child-stealing.

The three will be arraigned next Monday in county common pleas court.

Curtice Says October Record Was the Best in Firm's History

DETROIT—Retail sales of General Motors passenger cars in the United States during October were the highest in history, President Harlow H. Curtice announced today.

Curtice said new October records were set in sales of both new and used GM cars.

New car sales by GM dealers during October totaled 231,283, or 117 per cent of the total for October, 1954. During the final 10 days of the month, new car sales were 71,583, or 106.2 per cent of the figure for the corresponding period a year ago.

October used car sales by GM dealers totaled 408,849, or 132.2 per cent of the October figure last year. Used car sales during the last 10 days of the month were 151,855, or 138.8 per cent of the figure for the same period in 1954.

For 1955 through October 31, sales of new GM cars totaled 3,191, 731 or 140.4 per cent of the corresponding period last year.

Used car sales during the same period totaled 4,200,669, also an all-time high and 130.9 per cent of the total for the same period of 1954.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear husband and Father, George R. Horsley, who was taken from us Nov. 8, 1954.
Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all.
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
It was to part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you
And wonder why you had to go;
To think you couldn't say goodby
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us you did your best.
Oh God, grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by wife, children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CLAUDE (Happy) Kirkham, who passed away Nov. 8th, 1953. Sadly missed by Mrs. Mildred Kirkham and family.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see.
That meant so much to me.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF DARwin E. Gazette, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 8.
I cannot say and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—oh you, who the wildest years
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Sister Uldine Sheridan and mother.

Doctor Praises TV for Patients

By CHARLES MERCER

CEDAR GROVE, N.J. (AP)—"Television is God's gift to the mental hospital patient."

So says Dr. Joseph G. Sutton, superintendent of Essex County Overbrook Hospital, the largest county mental institution in New Jersey. There are now about 50 TV sets installed in wards where 2,850 patients live.

"Since we've completed installation of a set in each ward," says Dr. Sutton, "There is one definite generalization I can make: Patients are calmer. We haven't had disturbances such as we used to have sometimes on some wards."

Visit a woman's ward and you'll see 30 or 40 women sitting about in comfortable chairs watching soap opera. Some seem entranced by the program and others appear only mildly interested. Theirs are the reactions you would expect to see in an equivalent number of women outside the hospital.

Go to a men's ward and you'll see 20 or 30 men sitting around watching a variety program. Several laugh approvingly at jokes, as if cued by the performer on the screen. Others look as bored as a jaded television critic.

"It's difficult to find much difference between the tastes of the hospital audience and the general viewing audience," says Dr. Sutton. "Here the men are especially fond of ball games and the fights. The women like home programs. The older folks enjoy the look-up and lift-up type of program.

"Variety programs are general favorites. But there seems to be little interest in heavy drama programs. Subtlety, character development, the ramifications of story plot—that sort of thing fails to hold interest."

He specifically named the Ed Sullivan show, the Arthur Godfrey programs and "The $64,000 Question" as among the most popular with patients.

Music is the most beneficial entertainment TV brings to patients, he believes. "Its soothing effects, even the effects of hill-billy music—the most popular form here, can not be over-emphasized."

NBC Sets $12 Million Color TV Expansion

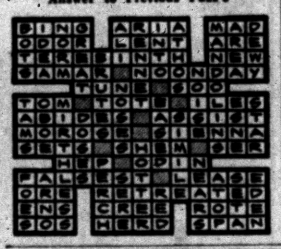

NEW YORK (AP) — A 12-million-dollar color television expansion program has been announced by the National Broadcasting Co.

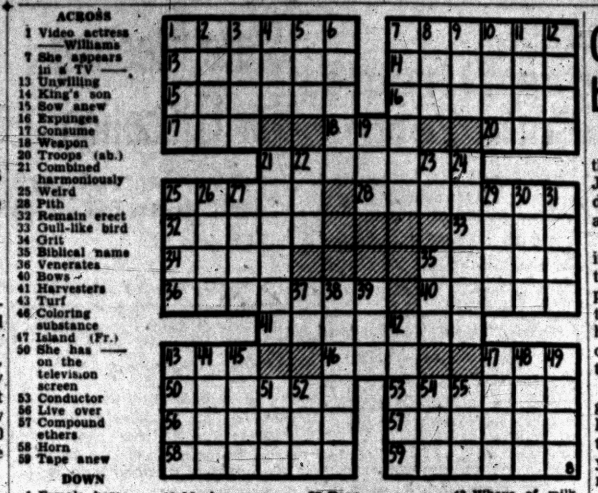

Robert W. Sarnoff, NBC executive vice president, predicts the expansion of facilities will be a "powerful stimulus" to the development of color TV.

The expansion, Sarnoff said, will enable NBC to double its present color TV schedule of 40 hours a month by next fall.

Federal Agency Labeled 'Arrogant' in Giving News

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House group called on the Civil Service Commission today to explain what a publisher's spokesman described as its "arrogant" attitude on making commission news available to the public.

James S. Pope of Louisville said yesterday the commission's reply to a questionnaire was indicative of what he called an "arrogant" attitude by some agencies.

Commission officials, headed by Chairman Philip Young, were the first of a group of government executives summoned by a special House subcommittee investigating government information policies. The committee, a subgroup of the House Government Operations Committee, is headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif).

GENERAL AGREEMENT

It opened its hearings yesterday with a general discussion of federal news policies by a panel of leading executives in the news dissemination field. After listening to the editors all day, committee members voiced general agreement that some kind of legislation is necessary to curb unnecessary suppression of information about federal activities.

* * *

Pope is executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times, and a member of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

CITES RESPONSE

He cited this part of the commission's response to a committee questionnaire:

"The authority of the commission to deny access to or furnish information from its records and files is based on the inherent power of the executive branch of the government derived from the Constitution, to enable it to carry out its administrative functions, and the power granted the commission by Congress to make an issue such regulations as may be necessary and proper in the administration of those laws within its jurisdiction."

Three other government agencies will be questioned later this week about their information policies. They are the Post Office, Treasury and Agriculture Departments. Quizzing of several score additional departments and bureaus probably will be put off until next year.

Although some newsmen complained that Congress itself is guilty of news suppression through secret committee proceedings, Moss said the committee is "not studying the availability of information from Congress."

Harold L. Cross, Freedom of Information counsel for the ASNE, was among those suggesting changes in the law to lower barriers to news.

NOT ONLY PROBLEM

James B. Reston, chief of the Washington Bureau of the New York Times, said news suppression is not the only problem. He reported "a growing tendency by government officials to slant or "manage" news, and said "considerable effort" along that line was made by U. S. officials at the Big Four summit conference in Geneva last summer.

* * *

He said the same situation existed under the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He said newsmen must have access to the news "along with access to the responsible officials."

Indian Student Still Searching for 'Home' Food

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (INS)—One of the toughest problems for a resident of India in the United States is to find the kind of food he likes.

So reports Kuttalan Arayanan, who enrolled at Oregon Technical Institute.

The 26-year-old student is a pure vegetarian and for a long time he looked for an eating house that serves plain boiled rice. In his home town of Shiyali in South India almost everybody is a practicing Hindu and eats rice thrice a day.

At the same time he reported that communism is losing ground in India. He pointed out that it thrives on poverty and explained:

"In India the industrial and economic development of the country is very rapid. A great change has come about. Fine roads and highways are being built, dams constructed and more land is coming under the plow."

Big Whale of a Farm

Couple Left at Altar by Absent Preacher

A young couple stood at the altar in his church which was full of their friends. No preacher appeared to marry them. Phone calls to Dr. Jones' home and various hospitals failed to locate him. Another preacher was located and the wedding knot was tied.

Dr. Jones said he was so engrossed in the difficulties of a family in his church that he forgot the time of the wedding. "Those youngsters were good friends of mine," said Dr. Jones. "Fortunately, they still are."

Carbon Filament Bulb Stops Lighting Dome

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) — An old carbon filament light bulb has been found inside the county courthouse dome. Still in operating condition, it probably was placed there when the building was built in 1911.

Television forced its retirement because carbon filament bulbs create interference which appears as a band across the TV screen.

WEST BLOOMFIELD — Betty Murphy and Mrs. Margaret Schwindler, members of the faculty of West Bloomfield High School, attended the Board of Education eeting last night at Roosevelt Elementary School to represent the faculty in a discussion of the North Central Association.

Faculty members wanted to know if the Board would back them 100 per cent if they were willing to put in the necessary time to study North Central Assn. possibilities for the high school.

Board members said that they were very interested in accreditation and they felt that it was needed in the system. They said that it would be valuable in time, effort and money even if they didn't obtain accreditation this year.

B. W. Layman of the Layman and Sons Drilling Co. was present to report on the progress of the new well at Roosevelt School. He stated that the well was 96 feet deep with an 8 inch casing and tha it was pumping 75 gallons per minute.

The board approved a $150 maximum to be given to the high school to pay one half of the cost to charter buses for athletic events. This fee would be for student use only.

A report was submitted by Attorney Dell on the progress of a road through West Bloomfield Park and also through some of the West Bloomfield High School property. Board voted to dedicate the portion of the road that was on the school property for public use.

Slate Meeting for Education

Ask Lot Owners, Experts and Growers to Dec. 13 Session

ROMEO—The first step in a program to remove degenerate apple trees in the Romeo area was taken by the Macomb County Fruit Council yesterday.

An open meeting to educate lot owners in subdivided orchards where neglected trees are located will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 13, in Romeo High School auditorium.

The fruit growers have scheduled the session in an effort to save their '56 apple crop, now in serious jeopardy from the menace of codling moths.

A report drafted by commercial fruit experts and MSU Horticulture officials was made public at yesterday's meeting. This group had toured both neglected and producing orchards to determine the cause and extent of damage.

800 ACRES OF APPLES

It was pointed out that there are "600 to 800 acres of apples in the Romeo area," representing a half million dollars in new wealth each year.

The report further stated that 500 acres of new lots are located in the two new subdivisions outside Romeo village limits.

The majority of trees in these lots are neglected, allowing the codling moth to hibernate and disperse, creating a menace to producing orchards nearby.

Dean Lovett, Bureau of Plant Industries, Michigan Department of Agriculture, was contacted before the meeting, and assured the fruit growers that his department would begin immediately on a program of tree removal in the area.

A survey of neglected orchards would necessarily precede the program, which will probably begin in early spring.

Those invited to be present at the Dec. 13 meeting in addition to the lot owners in the new subdivisions are the growers themselves and C. A. Boyer, head of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Michigan Department of Agriculture. The experts' report will be read, followed by an elaboration on the problem by Boyer. A question and answer period will be conducted before the close of the session.

HOLLYWOO Dun—Singer Mario Lanza's wife Betty is recovering today in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital from bronchitis and a slight fever. Doctors say her condition is not serious. She was admitted yesterday.

Raid on Shelter Nets Dog-Lover 'Beaucoup Loot'

If you should run into a man walking three dogs, call the police. They're looking for him.

If the three dogs are a brown and white collie, an Irish setter and a black and tan coon hound, they may be the ones stolen from Oakland County Animal Shelter sometime last weekend.

Police say the dogs, valued at $35, were taken after someone had broken the padlock on a side run of the shelter. The dogs, they say, were locked up for the weekend at 3 p. m. Saturday, and stolen between then and Monday morning at 11 when an attendant noticed the loss as he was cleaning runs.

$500,000 Blaze Destroys Market

HAZEL PARK — A flash fire that routed 50 customers and 20 employes destroyed a Food Fair Supermarket at Nine Mile and Stephenson Roads in suburban Hazel Park last night. No one was hurt.

Fire Chief Frank Durbin estimated damages at between $500,000 and $700,000.

Firemen from four other suburbs, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Roseville and Oak Park, joined in battling the spectacular blaze for two hours before controlling it. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Durbin said the cool leadership of Wilfred Teets, assistant manager of the store, averted a tragedy.

"He was so intent on seeing that everyone got out of the store that he didn't even take time to save the money," the fire chief said.

Teets said he first saw smoke coming from a rear room.

"I was in the middle of the store but by the time I got towards the rear the smoke started to billow out," Teets said. "One lady customer froze with fright in one of the center aisles and had to be aided to one of the doors. Thank goodness there wasn't any panic."

Mrs. Sue Ross of Ferndale, a cashier, said a cloud of smoke rolled across the ceiling "like a tidal wave."

"I just grabbed for my hat and coat from under the counter and told the customers in line to follow me outside," she said.

Once outside, she thought of the money in the cash register.

"But who could think of money at a time like that," she added.

Witnesses said flames enveloped the entire inside of the store within 15 minutes.
