

Howler Cuts Devastating Path Across State

By United Press International
Five persons, including a Farmington man, were dead today in the wake of a late summer storm which howled across Michigan Thursday smashing buildings and cars, starting fires and plunging communications into near-chaos.

One of the dead was an eight-year-old girl who was crushed by a falling tree while she was picnicking with her family.

Hospitals were treating numerous injured and damage was expected to be near into the millions.

Most of the death and destruction was caused by winds which roared the length of the state at speeds up to 80 miles an hour. In addition, torrential rains and hail pounded wide areas.

The storm, one of the worst summer upswells in Michigan history, abruptly slammed into the Upper Peninsula about 10 a.m. and had slashed a diagonal path down the state to the Detroit area by 4 p.m.

Tornadoes were forecast for the Detroit area and Livingston, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties during the afternoon. But the U.S. Weather Bureau issued an "all clear" when no twisters had developed by early evening.

Among the dead was Debra Speight, 8, Detroit, who was killed on Detroit's Belle Isle when she was crushed by a falling tree.

Harold Blatz, 32, of 2656 Gilechrist, Farmington, collapsed while trying to make shore in a boat on the Detroit River when the storm struck. He apparently died of a heart attack.

Robert Groby, 56, of Cadillac collapsed and died of a heart attack while he was pulling a raft to shore on Lake Mitchell near Cadillac to secure it against high winds and rough water.

An Elkhardt, Ind., man, Fred Roads, 64, drowned when he was pitched into the wind-whipped water of Ryerson Lake in Newaygo County as his small boat capsized. Roads' wife made shore safely.

Henry Bekker, 64, Detroit, drowned when a rainbow from which he was fishing capsized on Lake St. Clair near Detroit.

Worst hit by the onslaught, which had spent itself by early evening, were the Cadillac and Saginaw Bay areas.

Merritt Chandler, general manager of radio station WATT at Cadillac, who saw the storm approaching, said it "came across Lake Cadillac like a wall of water."

TOWER BUCKLES
At Bay City, a 300-foot state police radio tower buckled in the wind and smashed three unoccupied cars.

THE WINDS CAME—The dark clouds loomed nearer and nearer and then the first blast of winds began bending trees. This tree in the front yard of Raymond Lingie, 569 Nichols St., Auburn Heights, was typical of the scene just before the storm yesterday.

Near-Hurricane Storm Slashes Through County

Many Injuries, Extensive Damage Reported Here

One of the worst summer storms in Oakland County history swept across Oakland County and Pontiac yesterday with sudden, squall-like fury, toppling hundreds of trees, downing wires and causing extensive property damage.

Numerous injuries were reported and some near-escapes. But no deaths.

Winds of near hurricane strength inflicted greatest devastation west of Pontiac, especially in and around Cooley-Lake, Union Lake and Lower Straits Lake.

Whirlwinds with the furious force of small tornadoes were reported in scattered locations. There were reports of winds of at least 60 miles per hour.

The storm burst into the county on a northwest to southeast course shortly before 3 p.m.

Tornado forecasts already had been sounded by the Weather Bureau.

Accompanied by a brief, driving rain but little lightning, the howling winds had swept past Pontiac by 3:35 p.m., leaving a wide swath of damage in their wake.

Falling trees and limbs had smashed into houses, cracked across automobiles, struck victims running for shelter, snapped power and telephone lines.

Several thousand homes in Western Oakland County were without power for a number of hours, although most service was restored by midnight.

More than 150 telephones were knocked out by broken lines, mostly in the Walpole Lake and Commerce areas.

A White Lake Township man was hospitalized with severe head injuries caused by a falling branch, and four other persons sought emergency treatment at Pontiac General Hospital.

Lake dwellers watched boats founder helplessly as boaters struggled helplessly to bring them ashore in the face of the swift onslaught of driving winds.

Saliboats were capsized on Orchard Lake, row boats on Wolverine Lake, Cooley and East Lakes. A six-inch-thick limb fell 30 feet through the air at the height of the storm, striking Frederick Forsythe, 24, of 7234 Capri on New Lake, White Lake Township, a glancing blow on the head.

The White Lake Township volunteer fire department rushed 300 men from their homes to Pontiac General Hospital, where he was listed as still in poor condition after surgery.

Among other victims was Frank Bevington, 3, of 121 Exmore St., Waterford Township.

Frank had six stitches taken in his scalp after a tree fell on him at an Elizabeth Lake beach as he was running out of the water in seek shelter from the onrushing storm.

A half-dozen other children had been standing under the tree seconds before it fell.

The south shore of Cooley Lake was littered with fallen trees. Eight fell in the yard of Kenneth M. Kiner, 808 Cascade Rd.

A half-mile to the east, a tall tree crashed across the road.

Ike Won't Lead U.S. to U.N.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said today he expects to head the U.S. delegation to the United Nations for the first week after the General Assembly meetings opens Sept. 20. This apparently means President Eisenhower will not be at the U.N. session at that time. If the President did go, he automatically would be head of the U.S. delegation.

Herter spoke briefly to news men before taking off from National Airport for a Labor Day weekend at his Manchester, Mass., home.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev announced Thursday that he will attend the General Assembly meeting. Other Communist chiefs also are expected to attend the meeting.

Herter declined comment on the Khrushchev announcement.

Eisenhower is expected to address the U.N. Assembly later this month. But he will try to avoid any personal meeting with Khrushchev.

Weather Warm for Next Five Days—80-83

Although yesterday's storm dropped temperatures from a high of 94 to 88 degrees, the mercury reading for the next five days will register a high of 80 to 83, the weatherman says.

The low for the period will be near 60 to 64.

The low is expected to dip to 56 tonight. Saturday's high will register near 78.

Little or no precipitation is indicated Saturday through Wednesday.

Morning winds northeasterly at four miles per hour will become light tonight and southeasterly at 8 to 12 miles Saturday.

The lowest recording in down town Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 64 degrees. The temperature had climbed to 80 at 2 p.m.

270 Killed and Mutilated in Latest Congo Flare-Up

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UP)—A flareup of bloody fighting between Congolese soldiers and partisans in Kasai province has claimed at least 270 lives in the town of Bakwanga, the United Nations reported today.

U.N. officials reported scores of corpses strewn on the streets of Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist so-called Mineral State in Kasai. Many were mutilated by blows from knives and machetes.

The U.N. spokesman said one U.N. plane transported two wounded Congolese soldiers from the scene. The U.N. spokesman said Gen. Carl von Horn, gave a categorical order that all such transport be stopped.

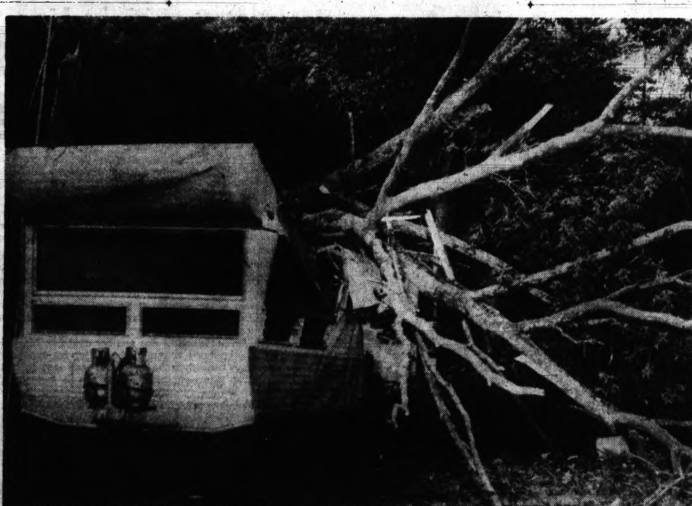

The U.S. spokesman said Congolese soldiers from the opposition, supporters of Kasai leader Albert Kalonji, "have access to supplies of arms and ammunition."

A garrison of 125 Tunisian United Nations soldiers barricaded the local club where 110 surviving Belgian residents huddled in panic. According to United Nations reports, almost constant firing went on in Bakwanga.

"There was shooting for hours on end," a United Nations official said. "Both sides were heavily armed. They even had mortars."

U.S. Snags 4 Firsts in Track Comeback

ROME (UPI)—Favored Ralph Boston of Laurel, Miss., smashed James Owens' Olympic record with a leap of 26 feet, 7 1/2 inches today to win the broad jump.

and give Uncle Sam his fourth Olympic gold medal of the day.

ROME (UP)—Glenn Davis led an American sweep in the 400-meter hurdles today and Tennessee State's Wilma Rudolph swept to a gold medal instead of a competitor from a non-Communist country.

The two gold medals, added to the first place won by Bob Webster of Santa Ana, Calif. in the 10-meter platform dive boosted the U.S. total to 10, only two short of the Russians. In the unofficial point standings Russia had 723 1/2, the U.S. 157.

Davis, the defending champion from the 1956 games at Melbourne, broke his own Olympic record with a 45.3-second clocking, one-tenth of a second off his own world mark. He won by about four feet from Cliff Gubman of Grand Forks, N.D., with third place and the bronze medal going to Dick Howard of Albuquerque. It was the second U.S. track sweep of the games, matching the shot-putters.

Miss Rudolph, a 20-year-old student from Clarksville, Tenn., was clocked in the amazing time of 11 seconds flat as compared to the world record of 11.3. She had tied the world mark while taking a semi-final heat. She was the first American woman to win an Olympic sprint since Helen Stephens in 1905.

However, the Italian Olympic Committee announced later the record was unacceptable because of the trailing wind.

Cause for Sorrow and Cheers at Rome

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press
ROME — Thursday blew hot and cold in the Eternal City.

In the afternoon, our track and field athletes bowed before superior competitors but our swimmers really poured it on in the evening.

If the United States had banked on one gold medal for sure, it was in the high jump.

But John Thomas was whipped by two Russians and the U.S. contingent was stunned.

We lost out in the 3,000 meter qualifying rounds of the steeple chase and all three of our men were shut out of the semi-finals of the 800 meters. And we suffered a catastrophe in the 100 meter final.

The six greatest sprinters in the world faced the starter and three were ours. Nearly 100,000 spectators were absolutely silent as the men toed their marks. But they roared in unison as the pistol cracked.

Armin Hary, the German mechanic who holds the world's record broke the tape ahead of our Dave Sime by inches — just inches. Frank Budd was fifth and Ray Norton, our prime hope, was sixth and last.

The high jump dragged on until the sun sank behind these historic old Roman hills, and deepening shadows filled the stadium. Four men were left, our record holder, Thomas, and three Russians.

Finally they turned on the lights and although all track events were finished, no one left the stadium. A Russian failed at 6 feet 11 and the others made it. The bar went (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Oakland GOP Plans Ox Roast and Picnic

Oakland County Republicans are going to roast an ox.

Plans are under way for an all-day outing Saturday, Sept. 10, on the John F. Ivory estate in White Lake Township, the highlight of which will be a free ox roast.

Appearing at the picnic will be Congressman William S. Brownfield, R-Oakland County, who is seeking re-election; Congressman Alvin M. Bentley, R-Oakland County, GOP senatorial nominee; and Paul D. Bagwell, the party's gubernatorial candidate.

County candidates will serve as chefs at the outing.

The outing will be open to the public. At least 3,000 persons are expected to attend.

friends will participate in dancing, shuffleboard, cards and organized games.

When You Meet Shark, Just Give Him Good Shove

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Capt. Jacques Cousteau, the inventor of the aqualung, says if you meet a shark face to face, the best thing to do is keep it that way.

"I choose to face them at all times," said the veteran of 34 years of diving.

"I usually carry what we call a shark billy," Cousteau said. "It's just a stick about three feet long and I use it to shove the shark away."

"Sharks are really very stupid," he said, "and they don't get hurt very often. But when they do, do, watch out."

Britain Studies Students Suffering Mental Illness

About 15 per cent of Britain's university students are suffering from severe symptoms of mental illness, according to a survey published in the Cambridge Review, a scientific journal of the Cambridge dons.

From observations of 10,500 students during a 10-year period, Dr. Ronald Sill, head of the student health department at Leeds University, found that one in every 100 students is under a psychological handicap.

About 10 per cent of France's railroads have been electrified, he said, "and they don't get hurt very often. But when they do, do, watch out."

First Streamliner Retires to Museum

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (UPI)—The Pioneer Zephyr of the Burlington Railroad, billed as the nation's first streamliner when it started service, has been retired.

The diesel-powered, stainless steel train made its first trip from Lincoln, Neb., to Kansas City with stops at St. Joseph and Omaha Nov. 11, 1934.

The train toured the nation before starting its regular Lincoln-Kansas City run, and it was the subject of a Hollywood film. The Pioneer will be taken to Chicago for museum display.

Police Calls Loud, Clear

Guitar Squawks Back

DONCASTER, England (AP) — Brian Kenig stopped strumming his electric guitar when it suddenly started talking to him.

The words from the guitar—loud and clear—turned out to be police calls, then a message from a Royal Air Force plane.

Sensing, a draftsman, explained a quirk in the wiring of the guitar's amplifier must have turned it into an occasional radio receiver for broadcasts on certain frequencies.

Castro Sets Up Another Gigantic Show of Force

By RICHARD VALERIANI
HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—An air of tense expectancy gripped Havana today as Fidel Castro mobilized his followers for another show of unity to rebuff what he called "aggression" against his revolutionary regime.

The fiery Prime Minister appeared to be setting the stage for a dramatic move. Speculation ranged from an open diplomatic break with the United States to an announcement of recognition of Communist China.

Castro called the rally in Havana's Civic Plaza to answer the Organization of American States, which last week at San Jose, Costa Rica, denounced Communist meddling in the Western Hemisphere.

Castro was certain to lash back at the Declaration of San Jose, in which the OAS foreign ministers lined up solidly against Cuba to condemn interference in the Americas by the Soviet Union and Red China. But many thought he would go farther.

Observers suggested several possibilities.

1. Seizure of the remaining U.S. property in Cuba—estimated to be worth 250 million dollars. The Prime Minister's brother, Arnold Forres Minister Raul Castro, indicated earlier this week such a move was imminent.
2. Announcement that Fidel Castro is going to head the Cuban delegation to the U. N. General Assembly opening Sept. 20 to bring "aggression" charges against the United States with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on hand to support him.
3. Announcement that Cuba is pulling out of the OAS. This possibility was seen as remote, however, since it was felt Castro does not want to provoke a diplomatic break with other Latin-American nations where Cuban embassies serve as an outlet for spreading the revolutionary gospel.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Forres heightened the suspense when he told a TV panel that America by the Soviet Union and Cuba would answer the Declaration of San Jose with a "Declaration of Havana."

Roa dodged a question about Cuba's future relations with the United States. He merely reminded the panelists that U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had labeled the San Jose declaration a condemnation of Cuba as a Soviet spearhead in the hemisphere.

Castro supporters predicted more than a million persons would turn out for today's rally.

Newspapers, radio stations, TV stations, hotel loudspeakers, airplane public address systems and caravans of horn-blowing cars have appeared in every Cuban who can walk to turn out.

DR. FRANCIS TOWNSEND

Pension Promoter Dr. Townsend Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, pioneer pension promoter for senior citizens, is dead at 83.

Tireless leader of old-age clubs which once claimed 20 million members, he died Thursday night in St. Vincent's Hospital. Doctors said death was due to pneumonia and complications of old age.

Only last month the sprightly physician left his organization's Washington, D.C., headquarters for another tour of Townsend Clubs, still campaigning for a federal program which he said would provide dignified and adequate security for the elderly.

This was the battle he waged unrelentingly for nearly three decades. And to the end he believed that, sooner or later, Congress would heed his plea.

Over the years his plan took various forms, but basically its principles remained unchanged. Most recently he advocated a 1 to 2 per cent tax on gross personal income.

SAME OLD PLAN

Of his program in general, he said lately: "It's the same one we've had in Congress for the past 20 years without being able to get it out of the Ways and Means Committee."

When the pension group was organized in 1935, Dr. Townsend advocated a 2 per cent tax on all business transactions to finance $200 million pensions for such persons who retired at 60. At various times he changed the total amount sought and the means of producing it.

His political encounters frequently were stormy. In 1937 he was sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt because he refused to answer questions asked by a congressional investigating committee. President Franklin D. Roosevelt granted him what Townsend afterward called "an unsolicited pardon."

The old crusader's monumental diadems for the present Social Security system was typified by his comment: "It's an inadequate and unsafe patchwork which pays the most to those who need it the least."

Held in Slaying at Gas Station

Flint Area Youth Gives Up Without a Struggle at Roadblock

BRIGHTON (UPI)—An 18-year-old rural Flint youth was held today in the shotgun slaying of a young service station attendant.

Vernon Hoover, 21, was found shot dead late Thursday afternoon at a service station on U.S. 23 in Livingston County about three miles south of Flint.

About three hours later, Joseph Babay, 18, was arrested at a roadblock in Flint.

Flint police, who turned the suspect over to the state police post here, said Babay surrendered without a struggle and readily admitted shooting Hoover.

Police said Babay told them he shot Hoover with a shotgun he was carrying in the trunk of his car after he and the victim had argued.

An alert for a car such as Babay's was issued after police received reports that a youth driving such an automobile had been seen arguing with Hoover at the service station shortly before the slaying.

Robbery had been ruled out as a motive. Police said the contents of the station's cash register had not been touched.

Dr. Hubert H. Curson

Pontiac Doctor Joins Affiliate of Podiatry Assn.

A Pontiac foot specialist, Dr. Hubert H. Curson, has been inducted into membership of the American College of Foot Surgeons at its annual meeting in Chicago.

Dr. Curson, of 909 Jackson Blvd., has offices at 157 W. Huron St.

He received the honor on the basis of recognition that he has met specific qualifications for advanced training in foot surgery.

The college is an affiliate of the American Podiatry Association. Both groups are holding their annual meeting.

THE STRIKE AGAINST THE GRAND TRUNK WESTERN RAILROAD!

EVERYBODY LOSES...SHIPPERS, PASSENGERS AND EMPLOYEES!

So that all of our valued clients and the general public may understand the facts behind the shutdown of operations forced upon us by union action, we are publishing this letter which has been sent to each of our employees by Francis A. Gaffney, Vice President and General Manager of the GTW:

TO ALL GRAND TRUNK WESTERN EMPLOYEES:

Knowing that you are beset with tensions of many kinds pertaining to your jobs and to the railroad in general, I am for the first time sending a message to you in your homes to tell you that a condition has arisen that may cause you and your family additional anxiety—indeed, your jobs with the Grand Trunk Western are being placed in jeopardy.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is causing the suspension of Grand Trunk Western operations by calling an unwarranted strike over certain local rule changes which have been under negotiation for the better part of a year.

I want you to know that during the negotiation period the railroad has agreed to the National Mediation Board's offer of arbitration and to their suggestion that the dispute be submitted to a one-man fact finding panel. Both of these efforts to find a solution were refused by the union.

As you know, the union issued a strike call to become effective Sunday, August 28, but after discussion withdrew the strike notice, and negotiations were resumed on Saturday. Some of the working rule disagreements were then resolved tentatively, and your officers earnestly sought complete settlement. These negotiations were continued on Sunday and until 5:30 a.m. Monday, at which time the union representatives walked out over an issue which they later withdrew. However, no request was received from the Brotherhood for resumption of negotiations until 4:00 p.m. Tuesday. At this meeting we were informed that the strike had been reinstated for 11:00 a.m. Thursday, September 1, and the union issued an ultimatum that unless all issues were settled prior to that time they would go through with the strike.

Another meeting was called this morning, in which we offered to settle 14 of the 28 items in dispute and to make partial settlement on seven additional issues, if the Brotherhood would withdraw the remaining seven. We regret to tell you that this offer was rejected by the union.

The rule and agreement changes which are still under dispute would increase our costs to the extent that we would be faced with the necessity of eliminating nearly 200 jobs.

I have always been conscious of my responsibilities in connection with the welfare of the GTW employees, and I am greatly concerned because the incomes of all 6,400 are being affected by this action on the part of the 14 per cent who are Railroad Trainmen members. In one month, the payroll loss would amount to $4,000,000.

If the strike should continue over an extended period, there would be a permanent loss of traffic through diversion to other forms of transportation, resulting in the need for abolishing a great number of jobs permanently.

It is my personal desire to keep the wage level of our employees as high as is possible on a sound business basis. Incidentally, you no doubt are aware that the employees represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were granted a 2% increase in July and an additional 2% increase next year.

I am sending you this information personally because I want you to know that the company is bending every effort to working out a reasonable solution to these difficulties. However, I believe you will agree that since the union has refused to accept the Mediation Board's offers of arbitration and of submission to a fact-finding panel and since it would be economically impossible to grant their demands, we are faced with no other alternative but to let the strike become effective in spite of its unfortunate consequences, which will increase in adverse effect as time goes on.

Alabama Senator Sees Solid South Weakening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., feels the "solid South" probably never will be solidly Democratic again.

The 1962 Democratic vice-presidential nominee said in an interview Thursday the Democrats would carry the South in November, but some states.

Johnson to Embark on Campaign Trails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex., shed his congressional mantle today and announced he would embark next week on a 31-state campaign swing as the vice-presidential nominee.

Johnson will formally open his back-breaking campaign next Thursday at Boston, the home grounds of his running mate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass. He will leave here by plane for Boston and complete his travels back in Washington, Oct. 22.

Fresh Cement Traps Grocery Store Burglar

OZONE, Ark. — Grocer C. W. Melton couldn't catch the burglar who had been looting his cash register at night, so he poured fresh cement around the entrance to the store. The burglar struck, left his footprints, and police arrested a 16-year-old youth with fresh concrete on his shoes. The money was recovered.

BRIEF REUNION — Linda Sue Beasley, a 13-year-old mother who was jailed for six months in Tampa, Fla., on a forging charge after giving her age as 23, has a brief reunion with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Beasley of Paducah, Ky., and brother Mickey. She is being held in a juvenile home at the request of Kentucky authorities who do not want her released to her parents. She told the story of leaving home in May 1959, having a baby in Lexington, Ky., marrying a 22-year-old man in Cincinnati and finally being arrested in Tampa with her husband who was given a year in prison on the same forging charge.

Prince as Negotiator Seems to Be a Flop

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip's bid to settle a strike looked headed for the rocks today.

Peace talks have broken down between the Automobile Association and a union representing 20 girl clerks fired for going on a one-day strike.

The prince is president of the AA and the girls asked him to intervene. He sent discreet letters to the AA and to the clerical and administrative workers' union expressing the hope that the dispute soon would end.

The AA agreed to negotiate but the talks failed Thursday night when it refused to reinstate the clerks.

Weather Bureau Plans 2 Flights Into Storm

MIAMI (UPI) — The Weather Bureau's national hurricane research project in Bermuda planned to fly two planes early today into a large low pressure area in the Atlantic.

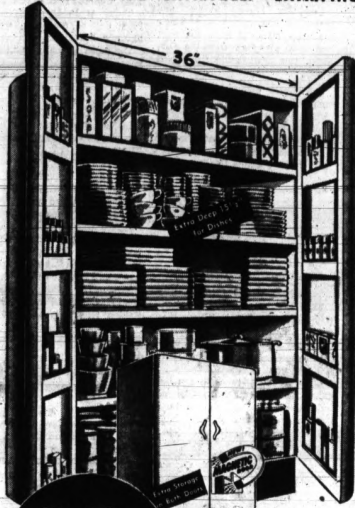

The Navy's hurricane hunter planes flew into the depression Thursday and reported they "found evidence of a weak circulation area" with winds up to about 40 miles an hour.

Approach Labor Day Weekend Moderately

Labor Day weekend is here. It's the last real fling of the summer. According to all reports it will be the end for some 500 Americans. Traffic accidents, boating mishaps and drownings will take their lives.

Why be one of the 500? Slow down and think.

Most of us take great pride in playing as hard as we work, so it is not at all surprising that the excesses in fun often lead to accidents. If the three day holiday weekend could be approached in a spirit of moderation at least half the accidents could be avoided.

Last Labor Day's record: 438 persons died on the highways.

91 lives lost boating and drowning.

84 persons perished from other causes.

Do we really need this awful killing? All of us agree in conversation that it is unnecessary and could be eliminated. Let's give it an honest try this year.

Organized labor for the second year is waging a special campaign to turn Labor's own holiday into a day of safety instead of tragedy. AFL-CIO President George Meany says the deaths of hundreds of men, women and children and the injury of thousands more "desecrate" the purpose and meaning of the occasion.

Mr. MEANY is correct. We can only add that a little common sense, plus keeping the companions Drink and Speed apart, will do much to prevent these futile deaths.

There's No Accounting for Louisiana's Voters

It's hard to believe that Louisiana has picked former Governor Earl Long to represent it in Congress. The run-off election on Aug. 27, means election to the House in November.

While governor of his state Long headed the most corrupt political machine in the country. He boasted that he didn't "buy" people to get his own way, he merely "rented" 'em — it's cheaper that way.

Barred by law from succeeding himself as governor, Long was defeated last December for lieutenant governor. But he got 150,000 votes even after staging an unbelievably shameful two months debauch. In that time he was in and out of three mental hospitals, went on buying sprees, indulged his penchant for the lower strata of society and acted like a lunatic.

Eight months later Louisiana voters put him back in public office. They apparently were made for each other.

Personal Income Rise Shown in OBE Report

Under the impetus of expanding industry, says the Office of Business Economics (OBE) of the U.S. Department of Commerce, the flow of per capita income rose to new highs in nearly every state in 1959.

Personal income totaled $381 billion, a rise of $23 billion or six per cent over 1958, while consumer prices went up about one per cent for the same period. Last year the dollar volume of nonfarm income in every state was four per cent or more greater than in 1958.

Per capita personal income, that is total income divided by total population, says OBE, was $2,166 in 1959, about $100 more than the $2,069 recorded in 1958. With only a one per cent consumer price rise, most of the per capita increase represents an improvement in buying power.

On a national basis earnings from manufacturing accounted for $9 billion of the $23 billion rise in personal income. Factory wages in every region were chiefly responsible for the 1959 upturn in income. In the heavily industrialized Great Lakes states, nearly two-thirds of the total increase came from the manufacturing division.

According to the OBE Michigan's per capita income amounted to $2,253, an increase of six per cent. The state's total personal income in 1958 was $16,581 million and rose to $17,594 million in 1959.

Business usually is slow in a presidential election year. Such doesn't appear to be the case this time.

September Heat

Unseasonable Climate Brings Variety of Unusual Results

Rainy day: What our farmers cannot save up for unless we have more.

These high temperatures may seem unusual at this time, but according to that long time weather watcher, Gene Vanderhill of Pontiac Trail, we've had at least two years in the last quarter century when our hottest weather was in September.

Even the honey bees lose their traditional industrious activity in hot weather, according to George Phillips of Lake Orion, who reports that those in his hive are listless — but more diligent with their stingers.

That usually very versatile parakeet in the home of Mrs. Anna Haslett in Auburn Heights has succumbed to the heat, probably because it is too mannerly to use words in good company to properly express itself.

That the heat is killing the butterflies is the claim of Mrs. Gregory Polham of Drayton Plains, who has found several dozen in her yard.

Several of my readers have come forward with the annual assertion that a tablespoon of rolled oats to the quart of cold water is the best hot weather drink.

This column is in absolute agreement with the sentiments expressed in a letter from

Mrs. Virgil Pritchey of Rochester, who writes: "My only complaint about life is that my peaches, cantaloupes, blueberries, green corn and other super delicious products are with us at the same time, so we cannot do justice to all of them."

The tall sunflower honors now rest with Edward Felcher of Lake Orion: 14 feet and still growing.

Coming forward with a peach that weighs 10 ounces is Lawrence Millhouse of Clarkston. It is of the Golden Jubilee variety.

An albino hollyhock blossom has been produced by

Mrs. Lois Fresney of Birmingham, growing on a stalk of red blossoms.

There seems to be no limit to the size of leaves on castor bean plants. Now

K Nothing but an Unwelcome Boor

WASHINGTON—So Nikita Khrushchev is coming to the United Nations General Assembly in New York later this month. Maybe, since he is trying to get lots of publicity, he might even go on Jack Paar's television show!

As the Soviet boss will be arriving in the midst of the presidential campaign, he will have an opportunity to add to his laurels of the outgoing president of the United States by insulting the next president.

The Soviet dictator just a few days ago called both Vice President Nixon and Sen. Kennedy "representatives of big capital" and "lackeys of monopoly capital." He has personally attacked contemptuously of Nixon as "the son of a grocery clerk."

Khrushchev continually shows his lack of understanding of the rules of common courtesy. Because the United Nations buildings happen to be located inside the United States and enjoy a kind of diplomatic status, the Soviet premier can come to this country as the head of the Soviet delegation to the Assembly without requiring any invitation or other action by the United States government.

One thing is clear. President Eisenhower is under no obligation to welcome the Soviet propagandist-in-chief or to take official notice of his visit to America. Eisenhower can make any speeches on disarmament that he wishes to make to the world. It is unlikely that the President will attend those sessions of the United Nations at which the Soviet premier is present.

Just what is Khrushchev's game or real purpose in coming to the United Nations meeting? Propaganda, of course. He believes that his speeches will get wider publicity than those of the Soviet viewpoint toward disarmament which might have otherwise been made by his foreign minister.

The premier, in his own clumsy way, may think also that perhaps he is making a gesture of good will.

He may still be under the illusion that Eisenhower doesn't stand high in the opinion of the American people. In fact, Khrushchev's speeches all along have given the impression that he believes the people of this country are blindlier to communism than is their own government, and that it's only a question of time—perhaps a generation or two—when American "liberalism" will be indistinguishable from communism.

By coming to America now, Nikita Khrushchev may be compounding the blunders he has committed in his previous handling of the United States government's policies and pronouncements.

The Country Parson

"Changing your ways is like a girl getting married — the longer it's put off the less likely it is to happen."

He made a gross error by wrecking the annual senate isn't going to get chummy with the Soviet premier.

What will the people of New York City do or say about the Khrushchev visit? He isn't officially visiting America, but he will have to move to and from the U.N. buildings in the Russian-owned U.S. Long Island where he will probably stay.

Representations are inevitable. The representatives of the "captive" countries will doubtless parade the streets with "welcome, murderers!" signs.

For the thousands of those who were murdered on Khrushchev's order in Hungary cannot be polite to the man who is responsible also for the tyrannies being suffered today by the people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, East Germany, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Normally, Menstruation Should Not Be Painful

A woman, like a fine watch, is delicately, but sturdy constructed, and with care, should function normally for 30 years.

A girl becomes a woman when menstruation begins. It is a regular occurrence at intervals of approximately 28 days (a lunar month) and lasts three days, more or less.

There may be some discomfort from cramps in the first two or three periods, but not enough to warrant the use of drugs.

"Take a girl in whom pain continues to the family physician for examination and advice. Or if you prefer, the family physician will refer you to a gynecologist — a specialist in diseases of women.

Some girls begin menstruating at the age of 12. If a girl has not menstruated before her 18th birthday, she should consult a physician, although 18 is the normal age for girls in Far Northern countries to begin menstruating.

If a girl menstruating finds it necessary to change napkins or pads more than three times a day, the flow is excessive and she probably needs medical treatment, say for anemia.

As external napkins or pads is preferable to any internal or absorbent dressing.

Every dose of nortin for menstrual cramps or pain does some damage to the heart, destroys some red blood corpuscles and interferes with the carrying of oxygen by the hemoglobin (iron coloring matter) in the blood to the cells throughout the body.

Any girl who suffers from painful menstruation, which doctors call dysmenorrhea, should make the Mother exercise an essential part of her daily routine.

This is a method devised by the medical adviser to women at Stanford University and used by her (Dr. Chella Deel Member) with happy results in the prevention and cure of menstrual troubles in university women.

Instructions are given in the pamphlet Hygiene for Girls and Health for Women. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for it.

It is a great mistake for a mother to request that her teenage daughter be excused from physical education or gymnasium class because the girl has a menstrual difficulty.

Voice of the People

'Analyze Both Candidates, Then Vote Intelligently'

Congratulations, Mr. Coubert, your concept of true Americanism was most refreshing. Wish those 2,000 ministers in Tennessee who voted against electing a Catholic president could have read it. We spent 20 years and billions of dollars to build a Communist Empire abroad; we succored the Pink Reds, Socialists and gangsters at home; we demoralized our courts, misinterpreted laws and turned a great people into a bigoted, hateful rabble. Striking our break like the Pharisees, we thank God we're not like other men.

Nixon and Kennedy are brilliant and distinguished gentlemen, surely we can analyze them and their platforms and vote intelligently. Let the bigots form their own party.

Cambodia Presses U.S. for More Military Aid

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — Cambodia is pressing the United States for more arms aid.

The present aid is compared unfavorably with that of the United States given Cambodia's neighbors. This viewpoint has been expressed by The Nationalist, a newspaper voicing the policies of a powerful group headed by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state.

Talks on further aid are expected soon. The U.S. embassy in Phnom Penh is ready to discuss possible improvements in the aid program.

Cambodia is not a member of SEATO, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, but has agreed not to accept military assistance from Communist countries.

Cambodia claims threats and territorial incursions are being made by Thailand from the west and South Viet Nam from the east, using arms furnished by the United States.

Cambodia doubts the seriousness of the Communist threat on the American aid to neighboring countries is based. In any case, The Nationalist says, the situation does not justify giving French aid which has been three times as much aid in 1959.

The quality of arms furnished Cambodia claims threats and territorial incursions are being made by Thailand from the west and South Viet Nam from the east, using arms furnished by the United States.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Salesmanship in Sunday School

"I want to feel important," is figuratively tattooed on everybody's chest.

TEACHER SALESMAN A good teacher is simply a good salesman of ideas. He tries to coax his pupils into accepting his mental merchandise instead of trying to force it down the latter's throat.

Many of our college professors, however, substantiate this realization of the helplessness of their pupils, so they give spontaneous lectures, knowing the students have no choice.

Here at Northwestern we have a large evening department on our Chicago Campus, with thousands of students in attendance. The latter pay their own tuition. They are usually older men and women who know what they want.

A professor from our day-time campus tries to give them the usual lecture, in direct and remote from practical matters, these adult students will go to the dean's office and lecture and demand a refund of their tuition.

As a result, many professors from our Evanston daytime campus have been blackballed from teaching downtown because the students refuse to patronize their tuition.

And this is admirable. For if a professor cannot "sell" himself and his subject to his students, he ought not be allowed on the lecture platform.

A Sunday school teacher, moreover, must be a better salesman than a college professor. For the latter has the cubicle of a transient officer at her elbow, whereas the former must rely almost entirely on good psychology.

It would be a boon, moreover,

Herter Says Russia Undermining Congo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has accused Russia of seeking a "collapse of order" in the Congo and of trying to complicate rather than help United Nations efforts there.

Herter, who addressed the American Bar Association last night, challenged the Soviet Union to work with the west toward "a rule of law" to maintain peace in the world.

"In this age," he said, "there must be created a world order in which the will of individual nations, expressed in force, gives way to the will of the international community, expressed in laws."

Herter's charge coincided with authoritative reports that more than a hundred "technicians" from Russia and other Iron Curtain countries were advising the troubled Congolese government of Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Working for Peace... or Self-Attention?

Nikita Grabs Limelight Again

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the fantastic Russian who seems to beguile any other human being the limelight very long, has suddenly grabbed it back again.

He is now doing his best to look the presidential campaign off the world's front pages—and may interfere in it—and could even wind up at dinner in the White House with President Eisenhower whom he belittled and insulted.

Look at what he got in motion Thursday night with the Moscow announcement he and the heads of all the Iron Curtain Communist nations except Rod Chou will go to New York for the United Nations meeting opening Sept. 20.

1. This invasion will occur in the midst of the presidential campaign.

2. With Khrushchev going, Cuba's Fidel Castro may go to the U.N. as a world forum for Communist propaganda. President Eisenhower will almost certainly have to go to New York to make a major reply.

4. If Eisenhower goes, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan may also go. Likewise, French President Charles de Gaulle.

5. This sets the stage for the possibility of a super-super summit conference, although Khrushchev wrecked the summit meeting with Eisenhower last May and said another would be useless until there was a new president.

6. Such a summit meeting in New York would first require some evidence of good will on both sides. Instead, it's possible the U.N. sessions will turn into an international shouting match and an ugly one at that.

DOOR HALF OPEN
7. If there are no explosions, Eisenhower might invite Khrushchev to Washington. The President at his Aug. 10 news conference didn't foreclose the possibility. He said he'd invite the Russian if he thought it useful.

The major lie before the U.N. is disarmament. The Communists have already indicated they want to discuss more than that. The discussions could go on for weeks. Meanwhile, who is going to no-

Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy by that time will probably be repeating what they had said before?

Khrushchev could create a sensation if he asked to meet the presidential candidates in public and got into a wrangle with them or showed a preference between them.

The real purpose of his visit has the American government puzzled. There is even speculation that it may simply be timed—to follow some new and spectacular Soviet achievement in space.

But there are other possibilities. 1. That he has such contempt for the United States, it delights him to barge in just at a time when this country thought it was to be free of foreign crises for a while and could concentrate on the presidential race.

2. Or, that it is part of Khrushchev's psychology to keep the world confused and in turmoil by sudden, unpredictable performance which make the Soviets look like well-wishers and the West like villains.

3. Or, that this and previous Khrushchev actions have had their roots deep in his own personality: an ungovernable thirst for attention, with the eyes of the world forced to watch.

Over RO Township School

Williams, Ginn Enter Tiff

Goy. Williams and James M. Ginn, Oakland County Democratic chairman, have entered the growing conflict over Royal Oak Township's school problem.

Williams has suggested that the township's Carver School Board resign en masse and be dissolved. Ginn has urged the Ferndale and Oak Park School Districts to accept 24 ninth-grade students from the Carver School District. In a statement on behalf of the Democrats' Executive Committee, Ginn said:

"This is an Oakland County problem and must be met and solved by the people of Oakland County."

He cited the national Democratic platform plank that "Every child, no matter where he lives, should be guaranteed residence in a school district which provides comprehensive educational opportunities from the kindergarten through the 12th grade without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin."

The committee, said Ginn, "strongly urges" the two adjoining districts to take "immediate steps to admit these students, and insure that their education is continued without interruption."

The township currently has no program for ninth graders. Detroit, which accepted the township students for many years, refused this year, saying the city schools are overcrowded. Ferndale and Oak Park have also refused to take in the 24 youngsters.

Williams contended that dissolving the board would permit the county to re-district the area and assign pupils to schools in Oak Park or Ferndale.

Williams met yesterday with representatives from the Carver and Detroit school boards and from those of Ferndale and Oak Park.

He also suggested providing a sixth-grade classroom in Royal Oak Township or persuading another school district to enroll the 24 students on a tuition basis.

Williams said later the Carver representatives at the closed meeting felt there would be some people in their district who wouldn't go along with the dissolution solution. "I can't see how anyone who has the interest at heart of the children could refuse to go along with the suggestion," said Williams.

Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said if nothing else works the board can be removed for nonfeasance in office and the district dissolved. The Oak Park School Board held a regular meeting last night and discussed the matter, but took no action. School opens next week.

Congressmen Call It Quits

Wind Up Sessions With Both President, Dems Disappointed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 86th Congress has adjourned after a postconvention session that cracked with politics and produced disappointments for both the Democrats and President Eisenhower.

The House quit Thursday night at 6:32 p.m., the Senate at 11:51 p.m. after spending more than three hours trying to round up a quorum of 51 members to complete its business.

The final flurry of Senate debate whirled around a proposal to provide more money for a watchdog subcommittee to check on whether radio and TV stations give fair treatment in political broadcasts. The proposal died with adjournment.

Also left in the legislative limbo was a measure that would have given Eisenhower a free hand in cutting or eliminating a special sugar quota assigned to the Dominican Republic, with which the United States has broken diplomatic relations.

It was a Senate-House dispute over the sugar bill which had blocked adjournment a day earlier. Each side held firm and the bill died.

Facing each other in the Senate chamber through much of the four-week session were the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, and the Republican standard-bearer, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer.

Leaders in both political camps were less than enthusiastic when the windup came.

Artillery Shot Streaks Astray in Germany; 28 Others Injured

GRAEFENWOEHR, Germany (AP)—Fifteen American soldiers were killed and 28 injured today when an artillery shell exploded among them during a training exercise here, the Army announced.

It was the worst training accident for ground troops ever registered by the 250,000-man American force stationed in Germany. An Army announcement said the shell landed outside the "artillery impact area" and exploded in a tent camp in this training area.

The announcement described all casualties as members of a 3rd Armored Division cavalry unit. An investigation is under way.

Names of the dead and injured were withheld.

Graefenwoehr, situated in northern Bavaria about 25 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier, is the biggest training area for the quarter of a million American soldiers in Germany.

Pontiac police detectives said the thief apparently had entered by an unlocked side door. Mrs. Blumeno's purse, placed behind a curtain on the coffee table, went unnoticed by the thief.

Khrushchev Is Offered Freedom Tour

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans were assured today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev won't have to go away mad after his next U.S. visit just because of being deprived of a chance to tour a famed amusement park.

Operators of Freedomland, the recently opened Bronx amusement park, have seen to that. Hours after it was announced Khrushchev would visit the United Nations later this month, he was formally invited to tour Freedomland's U.S. map shaped acres.

During the Soviet leader's visit last September, he actually threatened to cut short his trip after security officials canceled his planned tour of another amusement park, Disneyland, near Los Angeles.

White Group Pickets Against Racial Move

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Nearly 40 white men, women and children picketed a department store Thursday night to protest the integration of lunch counters and the failure of local news media to report it promptly.

Segregation of lunch counters in several large department stores, grocery chains and variety store chains was quietly ended eight days ago.

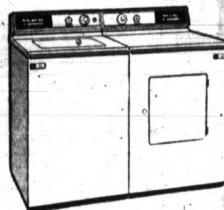

The city's three daily newspapers carried brief accounts of the integration only Thursday.

Rosario, a city 225 miles upstream from Buenos Aires on the Parana River, is a port in general use for many ocean-going vessels.

Is Facing a Charge of Assault With Attempt to Murder Boy Friend

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—An ex-convict, once imprisoned for murder, was arrested today by FBI agents in connection with the kidnap-slaying of a waitress and ordered held in jail on $20,000 bond.

Joseph Harry Milani, 33, of near Herrin, Ill., was charged in a federal complaint with assault with attempt to murder John Bryant, 20, "dance" of the slain girl, Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, 17.

After his arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Everett Lewis at 2:30 a.m., Milani was ordered confined to the Jackson County jail at nearby Murphysboro.

Milani, a husky construction worker, has served eight years in prison on a murder conviction and five years for auto theft. He was released from prison last April 5 on the auto theft conviction.

Mrs. Roberts' body was found last Sunday in a well at an abandoned farm house near Herrin. She had been shot through the head. Authorities had questioned and released Milani twice. A blond gunman kidnapped Mrs. Roberts from a lover's law near Carbondale, Ill., on the night of Aug. 25 after seriously wounding Bryant.

The FBI said Bryant, a Carbondale barber, had identified Milani as his assailant.

She Saved Her Money

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—When he died at the age of 84, Fannie Spratt, a charwoman for 25 years, left an estate of about $18,000 saved from her small salary. She willed $2,500 to Patrolman Franklin Cook, the cop on the beat near her home; $1,500 to those whose offices she cleaned at the County Hall of Records; and the rest to other county employees and friends.

Opposition Congo Chief Arrested

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese government charged today that the opposition Puna party threatened to assassinate President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

A government spokesman said Jean Bolikango, 60, leader of the Puna party and one of Lumumba's principal political rivals, was arrested Thursday night near Laala in his native Equateur province and personally ordered his arrest.

Bolikango, who is leader of the Bangala "river people" tribe, was brought by plane to Leopoldville and held.

The government spokesman did not say how many members of his party were arrested with him. Lumumba charged two weeks ago that Bolikango was trying to start a secessionist movement in Equateur province and personally ordered his arrest.

The spokesman charged that "a group of Bolikango's party has threatened to assassinate Kasavubu and Premier Lumumba and several of them have also been arrested."

He gave no details of the alleged plot.

Last Pigs Depart

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP)—Not a link is to be heard in this town famous for its pigs for half a century. Thursday was the deadline for all pig farmers to be out under a Superior Court order signed last May. Farmer John Henkel, who moved his pig farm to south Jersey a few days ago, was the last to leave. Secaucus, within sight of Manhattan's skyline, once had a pig population of over 300,000.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

VERONA, Italy (AP) — Mario Riva, 49, roly-poly comedian who was master of ceremonies of Italy's most popular television show, died Thursday. He fell on a flight of stairs leading off a theater stage 11 days ago and suffered several broken ribs. Later he developed pneumonia.

Iran Deputies Design

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Melioun party of former Premier Manuchehr Eghbal has announced the resignation of its 104 deputies recently elected to the 200-seat National Assembly. The action automatically invalidates the election, which opposition leaders charged had been rigged in favor of Melioun candidates.

Kennedy Picks Oakland County Man for Post

Sen. John F. Kennedy today chose an Oakland County man as chairman of the Michigan Citizens for Kennedy organization.

He is Averro Cohen, 2580 Dundas St. W., Royal Oak. Cohen is presently finance chairman of the Kefauver for Congress Committee. He is an attorney and director of the Bank of Livonia.

Kennedy appointed William K. (Sam) McInally of Jackson as chairman. Mrs. Theodore Buhl of Grosse Pointe Farms, co-chairman, and George C. Cruse Jr. of Grosse Pointe as executive secretary.

McInally, an attorney, is a member of the University of Michigan Board of Regents and Board chairman of the National Bank of Jackson.

State Industries Moving Forward

Ford VP Hill Declares Michigan Progressing to Continue to Gain

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Michigan is again making great industrial progress, Meritt Hill, a Ford vice president and chairman of the Michigan Industrial Ambassadors Corps, declared here Thursday.

Speaking before 60 Upper Peninsula business and industrial leaders, Hill said there is more evidence every day that Michigan will continue to gain new industries.

The Ford executive said the chief purpose of the regional ambassadors meeting here is to create greater force of business to sell Michigan.

Hill said the Corps was formed to assist the Michigan Economic Development Department and local industrial development groups.

"No product, regardless of its merits, sells itself. It is our job to be the sales force for Michigan. Bad publicity our staff has received is tragic and deplorable. It is high time that we build our state and reveal our people on its greatness."

China Wants War to Kill West; Soviet Has Patience, Will Wait

By WENDELL S. MERRICK
HONG KONG (UPI)—Let's reduce the Sino-Soviet discord to simple terms.

Soviet Russia figures war is not inevitable because it will not be necessary. Attrition and subversion will collapse capitalism without a shot being fired and Russia is economically capable of waiting.
Communist China regards war as inevitable because it may be the only salvation for communism in Asia. Faced with economic chaos, Peiping cannot afford to wait too long for the West to surrender bloodlessly.

It is a situation fraught with danger. Nikita Khrushchev cannot support peaceful coexistence while rattling his rockets as a reminder to the West that war would be disastrous for all.

China's Mao Tse-tung has no rockets to rattle.

What he needs is some calamity to befall the West that would eliminate capitalism while China, the world's most populated country, survives.

It was the vital need to take the minds of the Chinese people off tribulations at home that war at least partially responsible for Mao's "War is inevitable" stand.
Now he is more or less stuck with it.

Much of the blame must fall on Mao's shoulders. It was he who decided in 1955 that the emphasis should be turned from agriculture to heavy industry.

Then he suffered a series of changes of heart and, in the intervening years, the Chinese first herded farmers off the land into factories, then sent them back to the farms, then back to the factories and now, in 1960, back to the farms.

These 180 degree turns could hardly be expected to accomplish anything but what has happened.
The country's population, and thus its economy, has been so severely dislocated that economic chaos is approaching.

And as it comes nearer, so do Mao and his lieutenants become more desperate for a solution. To the Communists the answer apparently is to destroy the West now so that Red China, which Mao believes would be the only substantial survivor of a nuclear war, can march onward to victory.

Khrushchev disagrees. He thinks that war would destroy everyone — hardly a solution for China or anyone else — and stands by his conviction that the Communists, as a result, will collapse under its own weight.

From the dispute resulting in slowdown or stoppage of Soviet aid to Red China, it may wind up with Khrushchev giving the Chinese even greater assistance in an attempt to preclude impetuous military adventures by Peiping.

Despite the Communists' exhortations to the Chinese people to stand on their own two feet and forget about outside help, it is an economic reality that Russian aid is vital to Mao's blueprints and will be for some years to come.

Young Drivers Need Not Take School Training

LANSING (UPI)—Persons under 18 years of age can obtain drivers' licenses provided they take a course of instruction from any agency which gives training equivalent to that offered in the public schools, the attorney general's office has ruled.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams issued a ruling at the request of Lynn
M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, on whether driver education programs offered by other than public schools would be recognized under the state requirement for persons under 18.

Adams said the law specified licenses would be granted if the person passed a driver education course and examination given by the public schools or an agency which offered a course equivalent to the school instruction.

Charged With Setting Fire

Oxford Man, 21, Held by Police

OXFORD — A 21-year-old Oxford man has been charged with setting a fire which did an estimated $20,000 damage here Wednesday.

Fred Hanna, of 20 E. Burdick St., yesterday admitted the arson as Detective Ralph Warrington of the State Fire Marshal's Dept. charged police on a today.

Hanna waived examination in his arraignment before Justice of the Peace George E. Meads. He will appear in circuit court at 2 p. m. Sept. 12.

Bond was set at $5,000 for Hanna who is being held in Oakland County Jail.

Oxford Police Chief Albert Roberts said that the suspect had been drinking the night of the fire which gutted the interior of Jim's Bar at 13 S. Washington St.

A put-typist street flare was used to start the blaze. The fire was found at the rear of the building after the blaze was brought under control.

No one was hurt in the fire, but three families had to be evacuated from upstairs apartments which were damaged by smoke.

Police said Hanna had been thrown out of the bar a week previous to the fire when he was involved in an argument there.

The blaze occurred early Wednesday morning, about an hour after the bar was closed.

Firemen, called to the scene at 2:48 a. m. by Oxford-Pontiacman Ray John, arrived to find the back of the building in flames. They brought the fire under control before it could spread to nearby businesses.

Families in apartments adjacent to the burning building and an elderly couple living directly above the bar were roused from sleep and evacuated.

ESCAPES INJURY — Reginald Goodrich, 40, of 627 E. Mansfield Ave., Pontiac, miraculously escaped injury yesterday when the roof of his infant Dupey Service truck was saved in by a falling tree. He was driving along Commerce Road just east of Union Lake Road when violent winds toppled the tree. Here Goodrich examines the shattered windshield. He already has restored the baby stator to its rightful perch. It had been knocked across the road.

Married at Perry

Newlyweds Honeymooning in Canada

COLUMBIANVILLE—Now honeymooning in Quebec and Niagara Falls are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Ward who were married in a candlelight ceremony at the Perry Methodist Church, Perry.

The newlyweds, both teachers in the Lakeville School System, will reside here when they return.

The bride, the former Ruth Anne Harmon, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Harmon of Webberville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Ward of Columbus.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of Schiffler embroidered tulle with a bouffant skirt and scalloped embroidered detail at the Sabrina neckline.

The fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of Ward, the bridegroom's brother, pearlized orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was made up of baby chrysanthemums and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

The bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Buell Ward was matron of honor.

Best man for his brother was Keith Ward of Columbianville.

Offer Low Bids for Village Hall

Architect Can See No Reason Building Can't Start Soon in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Most bids for construction of the proposed Rochester Village Hall are under the $100,000 budget set for the work, it was announced today.

Henry M. Denyes Jr., architect hired by the village to design the building, said he could see no reason that construction should not start soon after individual bids are accepted Sept. 12.

Denyes is studying the bids and will make recommendations to the Village Council on that date.

Denyes reported that the 10 architectural bids opened yesterday ranged from $71,000 to $102,000.

The highest bid for mechanical work was $23,300 and the lowest, about $19,000. Electrical bids went from approximately $8,400 to $15,000.

With an immediate start in construction, the village hall could be completed by May.

The new building will be at Oak and Sixth Streets in Stone Park. The H-shaped structure will contain about 6,700 feet of floor space and will include council chambers, village offices and police headquarters.

Bonds will not be required to finance the new village hall since funds to pay for construction have been accumulated over several years.

Criminal Law Class Is Set for Area Police

NOVI — A class in criminal law for police officers will be held here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Village Hall, Police Chief Lee Be-Gole announced.

All area police can attend the instruction class. It will be conducted by Oakland County Asst. Prosecutor Edward J. Shipley.

Wixom Begins Road Project

FIRST ROAD PROJECT—Wixom started its first road-paving project yesterday since becoming a city with the "stabilization" of Potter Road. The huge machine is an asphalt road plant and

Work Started on Potter Road

$200,000 to Be Spent on Improvements Over Next 10 Years

By JIM LONG

WIXOM—The first project of a $200,000 road improvement program that includes rebuilding nine miles of main arteries here got under way yesterday.

The initial project is a one-mile stretch of Potter road from Wixom to Beck roads.

Cost of the Potter road rebuilding is $11,600.

The type of work on Potter is known as stabilization, according to Robert J. Trombley, administrator of the department of public works.

"With this process we are able to use the gravel and sand that is already on the road and mix it with asphalt. After the mixture is rolled several times, it is covered with a seal coat."

He said Wixom is fortunate in having the proper type of dirt to mix with the asphalt because most communities doing this type of roadbuilding have to have the gravel and sand trucked in making the work expensive.

Possibly the road might be open to traffic later today, he said, if construction continues at the pace set yesterday.

The stabilization job is being done by the Cadillac Asphalt Co. of Detroit.

The paving program was inaugurated in May when the City Council approved a plan whereby $18,000 a year would be allocated in the budget for asphalt paving only.

"With this method we can continue to pave all of our roads and streets," said Mayor Donald Brock.

Other main roads to be paved with asphalt in coming years include Beck, which will be undertaken next year, Loon Lake, West Evans Corp. of Plymouth, is Maple, West and Charns.

Beck road will receive an asphalt coating from Pontiac Trail to 21-Mile road, a two-mile stretch, Trombley said.

Sharon Kay Wilkes Wed

AVON TOWNSHIP—St. Paul Methodist Church, Rochester, was the scene of the recent wedding of Sharon Kay Wilkes and Harvey J. Applegate. The Rev. J. Douglas Parlier performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John V. Wilkes of 1290 Greenridge Road. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs.

Harvey E. Applegate of 580 Utah Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of imported Italian silk with a delicate edged with beaded Alcon lace motif ending in an appliqued and puffed train. It had a bolero neckline and long, tapered sleeves.

Her fingertip veil was fastened to a matching headpiece of French silk illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis centered with a white orchid. Janet Louise Wilkes, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marianne Doane and Verlene Hines, both of Detroit, and Margaret Applegate, sister of the bridegroom.

Assisting his brother as best man was Charles V. Applegate. Ushers were Douglas Engler, Roger Kewold, Jerry Dismat, Martin Kitchen and Vance Jones.

Cynthia Hesketh was flower girl.

The reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. After their 10-day honeymoon trip through the West, the newlyweds will reside in Sacramento, Calif.

U.S. Supreme Court Getting Tough on 7-Year-Old Integration Orders

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Supreme Court has moved to step up the pace of public school integration in several areas at the start of the seventh school year since the desegregation ruling.

Thursday the court rejected pleas for delay at Houston, Tex., largest segregated school system. In the South, at New Orleans, where state and federal officials have been at odds for weeks; and in Delaware.

The action led Dr. Henry A. Peterson, president of the Houston School Board, to say he hoped Gov. Price Daniel would formalize integration of the first grade Sept. 7.

The first grade at New Orleans was ordered integrated Sept. 8 by U.S. District Court Judge J. Earl Wright. However, he granted a delay until Nov. 14 when the board contended it could not implement the ruling at the start of the school year Sept. 8 instead of Nov. 14.

The court also rejected a plea for delay effectiveness of a July 19 ruling of the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia that Delaware's grade-a-year plan was too slow. The appellate court Monday ordered a modified plan be prepared for full integration of all grades by the fall of 1961.

While the court was acting in Washington, a NAACP regional director, Ruby Hurley of Atlanta, told a Jacksonville, Fla., news conference that five Negro gangs with 2,000 to 3,000 members were behind most of the vandalism which has taken place in that racially troubled city.

She said Negro leaders were working around the clock to calm the gangs.

For the third day in a row, seven Indian children were thwarted from attending classes with white pupils at a high school in Dunn, N.C. They were taken into custody twice by police and later released without charges.

In Virginia, seven Negro pupils were turned away by school officials when they attempted to register at white schools in Stafford and Portsmouth. In Alabama, a riot brigade was reported ready for action if violence erupts when the state's segregated schools reopen next week.

The Supreme Court denied a plea by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that integration begin in New Orleans at the start

Storm in Tokyo Causes 36 Fires

TOKYO (UPI) — A severe electrical storm Thursday night caused 36 fires, 36 fires, and blacked out more than 200,000 homes throughout Tokyo.

Police said 18 persons were injured, 10 of them in the collision of two trams. Trains, bus and streetcar services were suspended because of power failures and 40,000 valued out baseball fans had no way of leaving Korakuen Stadium.

A record three inches of rain fell, lightning struck at places, burning out electrical transformers.

Teen Baby Sitter Shot Accidentally by Boy, 13

YARDLEY, Pa. (UPI) — Carol McKinnock, 15, was critically wounded last night when she was accidentally shot in the head by a 13-year-old boy for whom she was a baby sitter, police reported.

The boy, whose name was withheld, was showing Carol a 22-caliber revolver when it discharged, police said. He told police he didn't realize the gun was loaded.

Fluoridated Milk Cuts Tooth Decay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team of scientists reported today that children who drank fluoridated milk with their school lunches showed an 80 per cent reduction in tooth decay.

Five Louisiana State University scientists reported to the fifth international Congress on Nutrition that the decline in dental decay was noted during a 4½-year research project, in which another group of children drank regular milk.

The children in both groups had similar sociological, educational and financial backgrounds and lived in the Baton Rouge, La. area, scientists said.

Rocky Plans 120 Speeches

Visits Disabled Nixon;
VP Starts Nationwide
Tour Starting Sept. 12

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller plans about 120 campaign speeches throughout the country for the Republican ticket.

Rockefeller announced his campaign plans Thursday after visiting Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, at Walter Reed Army Hospital. The vice president is being treated for a knee infection.

Nixon himself will leave Sept. 12 on a six-day, 9,000-mile tour of 14 states, his office announced.

Rockefeller, who was anything but a Nixon booster during the early stages of the pre-convention political maneuvering, predicted the Republicans will carry New York and the nation in November. Although he will stump coast to coast, Rockefeller will concentrate on industrial states. He said he probably will average two speeches a day.

The governor will accompany Henry Cabot Lodge on a tour of New York area points this week-end. Lodge, Republican vice-presidential nominee, will be free to campaign after his resignation as U.N. ambassador becomes effective Saturday.

Nixon, who is responding well to treatment for his infected knee, plans to leave the hospital Sept. 11 and take off the following day on an intensive campaign trip.

Famed Gunner Dies in Fall at A-Project

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — A man known locally as the gunner who fired the last shot in World War II will be buried here Tuesday.

Earl Harry Minshew, 47, a painter, was killed Wednesday when he fell from a scold at the Atomic Energy Commission's national reactor testing station north of Pocatello.

Minshew was a member of a rifle gun crew on the USS Concord. The gun which fired the final salvo on Aug. 12, 1945, is preserved in the Philadelphia naval yard.

Paging. That Diet List! Curves Definitely Out

PARIS (AP) — Here's the new Paris silhouette. Now where's that diet list? You've got to look tubular to be a mode, as shown by the season's first fashion photos from France, released for publication this week.

Curves are out, and the flat-as-a-board figure is in. Worse, you can't count on stiff foundations to conceal anything. They've put the padded skirt in mothballs. The new cut is usually bias, and the materials are almost always drapy, so even when the outline is loose, it takes a skinny figure to wear it.

Daytime colors are so dark as to be almost funeral. You can take your pick of black, brown, plum, purple or steel gray.

The girls with good legs still have the advantage. For hemlines cover the knees with just an inch or two to spare. Probably on purpose, the designers have made it tough for the do-it-yourself brigades. With the new bias drapes, everything depends on the cut and the hang of the thing. Copying will be a tricky business.

But if you've always longed to look like a flapper, or a clinging vine, here's your chance, sanctioned by high fashion. Most of the designers dipped liberally into the lore of the late 1920s and early 1930s for a new silhouette to usher in the 1960s.

Line Closer

The general trends include wraparound envelope dresses, mid-pink suit jackets, back-bustling, high ring collars, fur trimmings, lightly flared or bag-bottomed skirts, and high-collared blouses or jackets worn with a shingle bob and dark eye makeup.

To nobody's surprise, Dior was different. Dior's designer Yves Saint-Laurent's creations showed half the knee-caps.

His little lemon of a skirt, starting at a mid-pink and ending at mid-ankle, was tucked on to a long torso tube or about bustlines and waistlines. In the evening version the top was a loosely flaring, often transparent trapezoid, worn mid-hip length over a sheath skirt. Much praise for the success of the Paris fall fashion season went to three designers whose names begin with C—Cristian Dior, Nina Ricci, Pierre Cardin, and Castillo of Lierre-Castillo.

Crayon's "boy-ard" collection, inspired by the garb of the old Russian nobility, was full of flare and drama. His knee-length capes designed to be worn over one shoulder, were paraded with cloak-and-dagger swagger. Crayon's evening hemlines, up to the knees, in front, touched the floor in an asymmetric point behind.

Castillo's teardrop skirts were a handsome version of the new bag-bottom. Their slight fullness was caught into a narrow, falling bias band just below the knees.

Perhaps the most — the most — Thirtyish show of all was Crayon's, featuring wrap-around, accented by a wide, semicircular tube silhouette. Guy La Roche pleased the buyers, too, with a charming Charleston-era collection.

"He could still get a deferment," the Dior press office said. "All of us here are fervently hoping for it. But we're not counting on it, though." He has already been deferred twice.

The Dior people reacted with shocked looks when asked who might replace Saint Laurent. "There is no one scheduled to replace him," they said with some confusion. "We know of few people who could; maybe no one could."

Actually, Saint Laurent has already been working on the next season's collection. In addition, the house will still largely be in the administrative hands of a female triumvirate — Mrs. Raymond Zelnicker, Mrs. Marguerite Carre and Mrs. Miss Brizard — with the house since it opened.

One thing, the press office said, London reports that top design spot could go to 32-year-old Guy Duvouvier were not correct. Duvouvier was recently named to head the London branch of Dior.

St. Laurent Headed for Army? Dior House Glimpy Fights Rear-Guard Maneuver

PARIS (AP) — The high-fashion House of Dior acknowledged Thursday it is fighting a rear-guard action to keep designer Yves Saint-Laurent out of the French Army.

"We're not counting on it, though," Dior's press office conceded somewhat glumly.

The 24-year-old designer remained behind the delicately perfumed curtains of the fashion fortress he took over after the death of Christian Dior in 1957. The defense ministry stood on its previous position. Saint Laurent has been called up as of Thursday for a 27-month hitch, but might be delayed a few days in reporting. The army would not say where Saint Laurent had been directed to report for his physical. Like all recruits, he will undergo four-month basic training as a foot-slogger, rifle and all.

Abby Says: Be a Lady!

Better Get His Wife Buried Before You Work on Attack

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I heard that the wife of my former minister was very ill and fading fast. I've lost all contact with my friends in that city. I moved away and want to know how I can find out if his wife is dead yet.

You see, I am his age and have been widowed for several years. I have always thought this minister was the most wonderful man I had ever known and I can't get him out of my mind.

Can you tell me (1) How I can find out if his wife is dead yet?

(2) How can I let him know I am interested in him without appearing too forward?

DEAR INTERESTED: For information about your former minister I suggest you inquire of a mutual friend. There is no way a lady can let a man know she is "interested in him" without appearing forward, particularly when she is so "interested" she can hardly wait to bury his wife.

DEAR ABBY: We are four sisters. All married. When it comes Mother's Day, Father's Day or Christmas, we all pitch in and buy something real nice from the four of us.

One of the sisters has just been putting in her share for the last two occasions. She says, "Put my name on the card and I'll pay you later." She has no money, and manages to have a party for everything else.

Should we skip her next time and put down our names and let our parents know how cheap she is?

SISTER IN CHARGE OF MONEY

DEAR SISTER: Don the slow paying sister and be done with it. Why hurt your parents' feelings?

At Kingsley Inn

Fashions by top designers and manufacturers will be shown by Arthur's Women's Apparel Shop at Kingsley Inn Wednesday.

Robert Baldwin, Paula Dean, Polly Bergen, Bobbie Brooks, Miss Sally Victor, Mr. John Jr. and Michael Torre of California are a few of the notables who have sent the finest in their lines for the fall season.

Furs, especially in vogue this season, will be seen on coats, dresses, suits, hats — even blouses and gloves. Included will be fox, white fox, Saga Norwegian Blue and silver fox.

Guests at the 12:30 p.m. public show also will see the popular corduroy coat in various lengths and colors. "High rise"

The chorale will present its final concert at 3 p.m., Sept. 11, in Ann Arbor's Hill Auditorium. Tickets are available from members or at the offices of the University Musical Society in Burton Tower or the Council of Churches, Ann Arbor.

Why Not Phone Her and Ask?

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I received a very lovely engagement present from a friend who signed the enclosed card, "Helen." It so happens that this same name and I don't know which of the Helens sent the gift.

I want very much to write a thank-you note for the present but I don't know to whom I should write it. Will you please tell me how I can properly handle this situation without causing embarrassment to anyone?

Answer: As you evidently do not recognize the handwriting, the only thing you can do is to telephone the one you think is likely to have sent you the present and ask her, "Did you send me the lovely whatever-it-was?"

Dear Mrs. Post: It is proper for a guest to leave a party before the guests of honor? We have had a discussion on this and some of my friends think it is the height of rudeness to leave a party before the guests of honor; and others think it is quite all right. Will you please tell us what is correct?

Answer: In former times it was a fixed and unbreakable rule that no one should leave before the guests of honor. But today it is no longer considered ill-mannered to fail to wait for the guests of honor to leave, unless he (or she) is a very important personage.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been told that when taking a boat trip, passengers do not dress for dinner the first night out. Is this true?

Answer: There is really no difference. If the hour of the sailing is early in the day, many people dress for dinner. Very often, however, the boat does not sail until late in the afternoon, and in this case passengers find they have too little time to unpack and put on their evening clothes before dinner.

Dear Mrs. Post: If a friend should call me on the telephone when I am not at home, is it necessary, in order to be polite, to return that person's call when I have time to do so? I think it is, unless of course I was asked to do so. But some members of my family disagree with me.

Answer: The fact that your friend leaves her name indicates that she hopes you will call her, and to be polite, you should do so.

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to spend several days with friends, does a guest have the privilege of going to the ice box for a snack or a cold drink whenever he (or she) feels like it?

Answer: Very definitely not! A guest is not free to forage in the icebox or take any other similar liberties unless the hostess gives him (or her) permission to do so.

Dear Mrs. Post: I live with my invalid mother. When the doctor leaves, or her comings, should I go out with them to the apartment elevator with her? Is seeing them to the front door sufficient?

Answer: Seeing them to the front door is sufficient unless they are elderly, in which case it would be more courteous to go to the elevator with them.

Notel necklines are being introduced in the autumn collections of Paris designers. The sleeveless wool dress at left actually fastens across the back under the two carved plastic buttons. The cocktail dress at right is of black nylon and silk draped to the throat.

Ceremony in Parents' Home

Patricia Ballard Marries

Patricia Ann Ballard exchanged wedding vows and rings with Robert R. Anthes Saturday afternoon in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bruestle on Lakewood Drive, Watkins Lake.

The Rev. Theodore R. Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church officiated at the candlelight ceremony performed beneath an archway of white gladioli and huckleberry foliage.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anthes of Orchard Street, Watford Township.

Seed pearls and sequins highlighted the ballerina-length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over satin, styled with sweetheart neckline. The bride also wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls.

Tiers of waist-length silk illusion veiling were caught by a cap of heirloom lace embroidered with seed pearls. A hand-cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy rested on the white prayer-book held by the bride.

Honor maid Carole Lee Anthes, sister of the bridegroom, wore ballerina-length yellow organza over matching taffeta. Her picture hat was yellow organza and lace. Yellow, gold and brown chrysanthemums were arranged in her cascade bouquet.

Patricia Susan Ballard was her sister's junior attendant. She wore pale blue organza over taffeta with pink slippers and pink headband. She carried a colonial nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Duties of best man were performed by Mark Boe, James Anthes ushered at his brother's wedding with Charles B. Stark of Howell, uncle of the bride.

Receiving some 250 guests after the home ceremony, Mrs. Bruestle chose a dress of powder blue lace

Class Hears Word From Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Brady Adams opened their home on Sinclair Drive, Watford Township, Wednesday evening to members of the Friendship Class of the First Christian Church.

The hostess read cards from members who are attending the world convention in Scotland.

A picnic is scheduled for Sept. 28 at the home of the Clyde Milliken of Keego Harbor.

The Question Box

Slim Down Those Hips

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am 16 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall. My measurements are bust 32 inches, waist 25 and hips 37. I think that I am a little 'hippy', but my mother and friends disagree with me. I would appreciate your opinion."

A. You did not tell me your weight but there is too much difference between your bust and your hips. I suggest that you take hip-slimming exercises for a box of two inches anyway, and give exercises for increasing your waist measurement an inch or so.

THINK SHE'S FAT

Q. "I would like your advice about a weight problem. I am 40 years old, 5 feet tall and weigh 136 pounds. I think I am too fat but want your opinion."

A. If you have a small build, you should weigh about 107 pounds. If your frame is medium, you should weigh about 119 pounds, and if you have a large build you are just a little overweight. I think the chances are that you DO have quite a few pounds too many!

Q. "I am a male 19 years of age, 1 am 5 feet 11 tall and weigh 177 pounds. I have a medium frame. Am I the right weight?"

A. If your frame is medium, you are about 15 pounds overweight. If you have a large frame you are just about right. Perhaps you are in between. However, a 10-pound loss seems indicated.

HAS FAT FACE

C. "I am 5 feet 6 tall, 15 years old and my measurements are bust 36, waist 27 and hips 37 inches. I weigh 130 pounds. I have a fat face and feel I could stand to lose at least 15 pounds. My mother says that I should not try dieting and that I could never lose in my face."

A. If you have a medium frame, at 15 you should weigh around 125 pounds, so you are just about right. If you have a large frame, you are underweight. When you lose weight generally, you usually lose in the face. I imagine that your mother meant that if you should lose enough to become as thin in the face as you would like, you would be a walking skeleton. Be glad of the fat face! It will keep you looking younger than your years for a long time and some day you will be happy to have it.

What makes a Diamond Sparkle?

CUTTING - Yes! A diamond cut in proper proportions shows an equal distribution of light and brilliancy at all distances from the eyes. It refracts the rays, which hit the diamond, back through the top. In a poorly cut diamond, however, the light rays leak through. Let our Diamond Experts show you the difference scientifically.

They will further explain the importance of color and absence of inclusions or flaws.

Emerging as an Individual Involves Crises

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In your Sunday newspaper you favorite department store advertises a strikingly attractive sheath dress for $20. It comes, says the ad, in pale blue linen with dark red piping.

Your 15-year-old daughter wants it. It is exactly, she tells you what she's been looking for to wear to the club's tennis tournament next week.

You give her permission to buy it — and on Monday Fran comes home from the store, not with the blue linen sheath but with a pair of new white shoes, a new white bag and a pink gingham dress marked down to $5.

In your view it's no bargain. Disappointed, you criticize its carelessly sewn seams and skimpy hem. Fran, grabbing her choice away from you shouts:

"I don't care whether you like it or not! It looks lovely on me. And I like my new shoes and bag too! If you don't think I got my money's worth, I do!"

However, despite this assertion, Fran isn't sure of her judgment. For the rest of the day anxiety makes her so irritable you can't get a civil word out of her.

She feels this anxiety not because she is an adolescent but because she is human. Like us she is experiencing the kind of crisis that comes to us all when we are left alone with a decision that displeased other people.

We find this kind of anxiety exhausting in our teen-agers because we have avoided lonely decisions ourselves. If we have made them, we are not astonished at the irritable uncertainty that besets Fran in the process of becoming an independent person.

"Becoming a person, an identity in our own right involves crises that cause tremendous anxiety, no matter how old we may be. No wonder many persons repress the conflict and try all their lives to run from the anxiety!"

This is a quotation from a book I cherish — "Man's Search for Himself" by psychologist and psychoanalyst Erich Fromm. By special permission of its publisher, excerpts from Dr. Fromm's book will be appearing in this space for the next two weeks.

I have chosen them not just for their application to our relationship to children but for their meaning to us and our own development.

We cannot allow children the crisis of anxiety involved with their development unless we have emerged from our with greater strength and courage.

Use Up Extra Egg Yolks in Golden Brown Crullers

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Knowing what to do with extra egg yolks can be a problem. This recipe for crullers calls for a dozen yolks, but you can make a smaller amount, of course.

Mrs. Robert Drouin, today's cook, is a homemaker who thoroughly enjoys her job. She has a married son and two grandchildren.

CRULLERS

By Mrs. Robert Drouin

12 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Mix ingredients together, adding enough flour to make a soft dough that you can roll very thin. Cut diagonal strips two inches wide. Cut a slit in one end and pull the other end through.

Fry in deep hot fat until golden brown. Drain while hot, sift confectioners sugar over the crullers.

DAR Group Has Picnic, Sees Slides

Opens Season at J. L. VanWagoner Home

General Richardson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, opened the fall season Thursday with a picnic luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. L. VanWagoner on Andersonville Road.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Earl L. McHugh, Louise Harper, Marguerite Butolph, Mrs. Charles Ball, Mrs. Elmer Baderbaum and Frances Backenstoe.

Mrs. Walter Kleinfert of Birmingham, state chairman of DAR schools, told of the work in several of these schools which are maintained to serve children otherwise deprived of any educational opportunities.

Slides were shown of the Kate Duncan Smith School at Grant, Ala., and Tamassee School, at Tamassee, S.C. The Michigan DAR has recently built and furnished a dormitory for small boys at Tamassee.

A sculptured knit sheath goes everywhere. It washes, packs and reappears fresher than ever with its horizontal pearlized stitch bands and deep V wing collar.

Wed at Grace Lutheran Honeymoon Down South

Honeymooning in the South are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neuendorf who were married Saturday at Grace Lutheran Church by the Rev. Donald C. Orner.

White trunks and gladiolas banked the church altar. Only the immediate families and friends attended the ceremony which united the former Barbara Elaine Terry, daughter of the Harry Terry of Adelaide Street, and the son of the Fred Blanton of Toronto, Canada. The bridegroom lived on Putnam Street.

The new Mrs. Neuendorf chose a light blue suit with the arch from her bridal bouquet for traveling. Following their honeymoon the couple plans to live on Lansdowne Street, Drayton Plains.

Pontiac Couple at VFW Confab

Representing City of Pontiac Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1370, C. D. Birdsell of Lynette Lane Waterford Township attended the recent VFW national convention in Detroit.

Mrs. Doreen La Rachelle of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, attended as matron of honor. She carried pink and white carnations.

Serving as best man and usher, respectively, were Carl Loomis and James Terry, brother of the bride.

Check 8 Items Before Your Tot Goes to School

LANSING (UPI) — Parents of more than 188,700 children who will enter school for the first time this fall are told of eight items which should be taken care of before school starts.

Dr. Eugene Crawley, pediatric consultant of the State Health Department, said parents should take a copy of the child's birth certificate to school on the first day and provide proof that the child was immunized against small pox, tetanus, diphtheria, whooping cough and polio.

Crawley advised complete physical and dental examinations before school.

A pre-school visit by the parents, education in the basis of safety and self-care are also recommended, Crawley said.

Parents should also keep the child's clothing simple enough to enable the students to take care of buttoning or zipping outer clothing.

Finally, Crawley said, the school should have the names of several persons, including the family physician, who could be called if the child is hurt or sick and his parents aren't home.

Educator Appeals for Multi-Level Writing Ask Notables to Fill in 'Reading Gap'

NEW YORK (NEA)—If educators like Miss Dorothy J. Andrews have their way, grade school pupils will be reading books like "Syntax for Beginners" by Ernest Hemingway and "Simple Science" by Werner Von Braun.

These books haven't been written yet but textbook firms already are calling upon noted writers in various fields to help close "the reading gap."

Making reading sense for youngsters is Miss Andrews' regular job as director of developmental reading at the University of Connecticut. This summer, she's one of several persons educating other educators at reading institutes throughout the country.

Enlisting top-notch talent to write textbooks for grade school pupils is one step in Miss Andrews' appeal for "multi-level reading materials."

"Each student should be allowed to progress at his own reading rate of speed, competing against no one other than himself," she says. "But one reason he can't do this today is because of the many gaps in too many subjects which have not been filled by understandable reading materials."

Miss Andrews suggests that too many textbook writers today approach their subjects without keeping the comprehension levels of their readers in mind. This is particularly true of those writing in science and mathematics.

Each subject also has its own reading idiosyncracies. Miss Andrews observes that an industrial pupil must follow directions and memorize details while the social studies student must learn a sequence of events as he reads "much of the interesting forgettable detail."

T mathematicians' world is involved with "strange symbols"; a scientist's with numerous charts and graphs.

REQUIRES SKILL

Each of these areas requires a particular reading skill, Miss Andrews says, noting that "reading is not a subject; it is a tool." She adds:

"The trouble is that reading is taught as a single entity; most students learn to read everything like they would a novel."

"We only pay lip service to individual attention, particularly in reading. Generally, everything is taught on a group basis."

"That might be fine until you consider that textbooks rarely cover more than three or four general reading levels throughout the school period."

"Meanwhile, an average seventh grade class may include students whose reading abilities range from the second to the eleventh grade."

"Half the seventh graders in the U.S. have reading abilities below their grade level; one out of five of them can comprehend nothing higher than fourth grade."

No Need for Salt

Salt is used in canning for flavor only. Home economists at Michigan State University state that salt is not necessary for safe processing of home-canned foods.

Woman Doctor Claims Antiaging Drugs

NEW YORK (AP)—An anti-aging woman doctor from Romania is getting accustomed to being a controversial figure in international medical circles.

Ever since word of Dr. Anna Alina's age-reversing experiments with an H3 procaine formula began to filter through the Iron Curtain a few years back, she has been the center of heated dispute.

Doctors in this country and England have said there is no real evidence that H3, which has been injected for 13 years, is any good at all as a rejuvenating drug.

Dr. Alina says: "It's very good. I've learned so much about my work if I had not had to discuss it with so many people. And as a woman, I know I throw a stone at an apple tree without any apples."

"Besides, it makes me very happy to have done something others said was impossible."

With the aid of a proud mother, Dr. Alina produces snapshots of patients at the Institute of Geriatrics in Bucharest, of which she is director.

There's a hearty-looking fellow she says is 115. A man of 87, who she says was crippled with arthritis when he started on H3, is doing a headstand on a table in one picture. In another he's posing with his bride, 78.

LOOKS YOUNG
Dr. Alina is 63 and has been experimenting on herself with procaine for a decade. She looks an attractive, active 55.

"That's the only thing everyone is in accord on," she says, "that I look younger than my age."

She is on her way back to Romania from San Francisco where she presented a paper on

At the fifth congress of the International Association of Geriatrics.

This is her first trip to America. She finds it "very interesting," but she shakes her head because "everything is so easy." And there are too many automobiles.

Her mother was a widow, and the young Anna put herself through medical school on scholarships and "I don't think it's good physiologically for people to lose their feet," she says. "It's bad for the arterial circulation not to walk more."

Her mother was a widow, and the young Anna put herself through medical school on scholarships and outside work. She became the first woman to practice internal medicine in Romania.

Forty-five doctors work under her at the institute, but she doesn't know if there's any antagonism because of her sex.

"I've never been interested in the competition between men and women," she says. "But I am absolutely sure that in medicine women have as much talent as men. Medicine should be a woman's trade because it's a woman's job to take care of the sick."

Husband Is Chummy With Pretty Divorcee

By RUTH MILLETT
"My husband is getting entirely too chummy with my next-door neighbor who is a divorcee," writes a wife.

She is about five years younger than I am, good-looking and definitely looking for a husband. I think she would like to have mine.

"She usually 'just happens' to be in her yard when my husband drives in our driveway and she always has some excuse for starting a conversation that may last anywhere from 20 to 45 minutes while dinner gets cold.

"She pretends to be too helpless to drive a nail and so she is forever running over in the evening to ask if she can 'borrow' my husband to do something for her."

"So far I have held my tongue, been nice as pie on the outside while seething inside. But I'm getting worried—as my husband is always telling me how brave she is, what a raw deal she got from her husband, what a rough time she is having trying to go it alone, and so on.

"Am I doing right in pretending I don't know that this woman is making a play for my husband?"

"I hate to act like a jealous wife—but that is exactly what I am at the moment, though in nine years of marriage I have never felt this way before."

If you haven't the courage to tell your neighbor to leave your husband alone or to tell your husband how you feel about her obvious plays for him, at least try to outsmart her.

When you see her waiting to stop your husband before he can get in the house, wonder only and join her, instead of worrying about keeping the dinner warm. When she asks to borrow your husband for a job tell her that you'll come along and visit with her while your husband fixes whatever she wants fixed. She'll get the idea.

Why wives think it is better to play dumb than to play smart in this kind of situation is a mystery.

(NEA) — Summer is the time when all of us take lots of pictures, whether on vacation, at the beach or just at leisure. And these pictures can turn up some interesting things. Used in a positive fashion, they can provide a measure for self-improvement.

For instance, how does your posture come through? Shouldered and round-shouldered? If so, it's time to straighten up, consciously before the slump, becomes permanent.

What about the hair? Is it really becoming or is it just out of date? If it doesn't do something for you, it's time to get a new change. R. And that flower print you bought at a summer clearance sale. Was it really a bargain or should it go out of your life forever?

Don't destroy the unflattering pictures of yourself. Keep them and study them carefully with improvement in mind. Toss them out when you've made the improvements. And don't ask your friends and family what they think. Few people have the courage to be honest when confronted with a question of this sort. Just go ahead on your own.

Gifts Received at Shower
Phyllis Raymond of East Ypsilanti Street was feted with a delicious social shower Sunday by her prospective mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Sonnenberg of Stout Place.

Miss Raymond will marry Leo Vandenberg of Stout Place Sept. 17 at St. Michael Parish.

Attending besides Mrs. George Raymond, the bride-to-be's mother, were Mrs. Gerald Moloney, Mrs. David Droppa and Sarah Raymond, all sisters of Miss Raymond and Mrs. Michael Cleave.

Guests from Mount Clemens included Mrs. George Esamaker, Mrs. Hugo Blank, Mrs. Max Patrick, Mrs. Ralph Durst, Mrs. John Presley, Barbara Esamaker, Mrs. George Esamaker Jr., Mrs. William Esamaker, Mrs. Harold Esamaker, Mrs. Art Schutt, Julian Schutt and Angelo Schutt.

Jeanne Preville, Carol North, Mrs. Marguerite Pierce and Mrs. William Adams also attended.

Jeanette Ball Married
Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Ball of Virginia Avenue announce the marriage of their daughter Jeanette Lenore to Richard Rompa of Sylvan Court, son of the Florin Rompas of Jackson, Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. M. F. Boyd of the Columbia Avenue Baptist Church performed the double-ring ceremony at the bride's home.

The bride wore a pastel blue chiffon organza street dress with matching headpiece. She carried a white carnation corsage on a white ribbon.

Immediate families and relatives attended the wedding and reception following the ceremony for which Mrs. Ball dressed in blue lace. Mrs. Rompa appeared in an olive green sheath. Both mothers had light pink gladiolus corsages.

Pray for Next President
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A minister and newspaper editor have launched a "Prayer for the Next President" movement. The Rev. Robert W. Life Among the Fiats

Pontiac Looms Gigantic in Rome

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
 Publisher, The Pontiac Press
 ROME—Our Pontiac is about the biggest car I've seen in Rome. There are a few larger ones, of course, but they're a hopeless and uneven mishmash. The Pontiac attracts a lot of attention because of its size and beauty. Nothing made in Southern Europe touches it.

I've seen more close wraps than I ever saw in the United States but they're always good. Some have better accidents than any city in Europe. I don't see how my friend Leonard Lewis survived. Knowing his phobia for riding with other drivers, a stage of the which he just arrived, should have been his ending. I've crossed my fingers until they ache, but apparently no one ever hits anyone.

Rome is over run with the Alfa Romeo, the Lancia and the Fiat. The first is a very small car but the Lancia is smaller and greater profusion. The Fiat's chump. It's the tiniest of all and they're everywhere. They scuffle around like mechanical mice and you're always in the middle of a swarm of 15 or 20 in the giant-sized Pontiac.

Newspapermen here have been against tough obstacles. With 15 different nations competing, the demands for space in the press box were terrific. It runs the length of the stadium on one side. Wilfrid Smith, sports editor of The Chicago Tribune, has a badge numbered more than 5,000. Me!

It was the real McCoy and never originated in Japan. The girls' my hotel room, plus ready access didn't turn, they smiled at each

These are the pictures of death. They show only a few of the many tragic highway accidents across the nation last year.

These grim scenes should never have occurred. They wouldn't be appearing in today's newspaper if all Labor Day drivers had exercised due caution last year.

Don't cause us to have to run such a picture in Tuesday's edition telling the story of your death.

If you are driving during the Labor Day Weekend, use good judgment as a constant guide, and allow for possible poor judgment on the other driver's part.

In addition to the life-saving warnings to drivers—don't speed, obey traffic signs, and stay on your side of the white line—here are some footnotes to fatal accidents over the last holiday weekend:

Almost three out of five death-dealing holiday crashes occurred on roads with which the driver was familiar, indicating that familiarity does breed contempt—for signs, for signals, and for life itself.

Half the fatal accidents happened within 10 miles of the driver's home.

More than a third came within five miles of home. Two-thirds came within 25 miles.

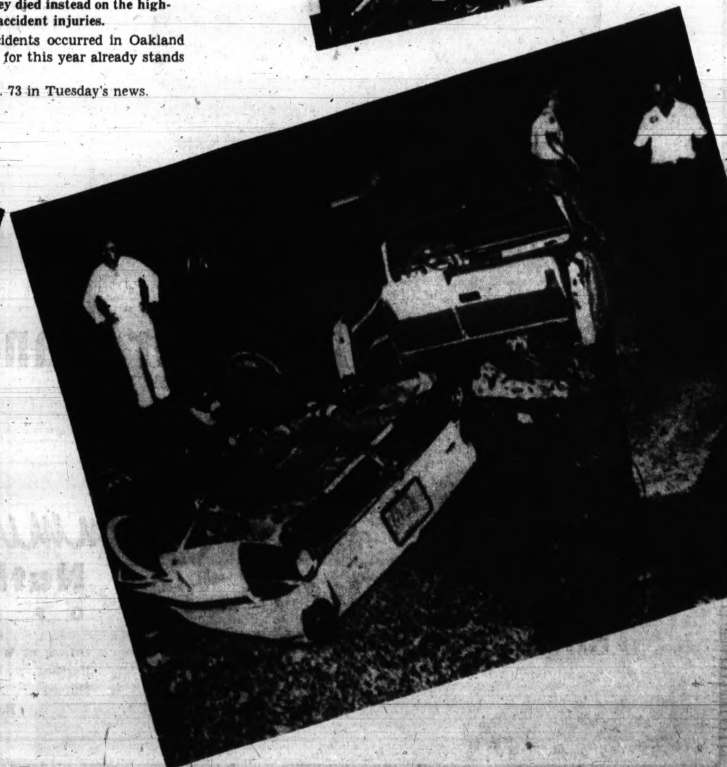

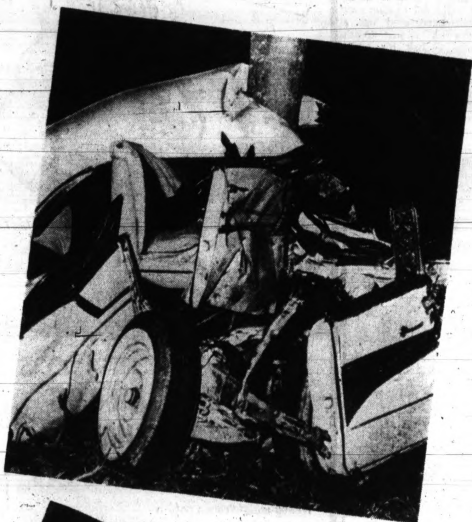

Three-fourths came within 50 miles, dispelling the notion that short trips are less dangerous.

Twenty-five per cent of the trips which ended in death were to visit friends or relatives, 12 per cent were for picnic outings, 11 per cent for shopping, and five per cent for going to or from work.

On the latest three-day weekend—the Fourth of July holiday—442 men, women and children didn't make it home. They died instead on the highways or in hospitals of accident injuries.

Two of these fatal accidents occurred in Oakland County, where the record for this year already stands at 72 killed.

Lyndon Johnson in Deep Trouble at Home

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON: Lyndon Baines Johnson, long the idol of the Lone Star state, is reportedly in deep political trouble at home.

This is the word from a group of Texas lawyers, here for the American Bar Association Convention, who unanimously agree that if the election were held tomorrow, Texas would wind up in the Republican presidential column.

The attorneys, all registered Democrats, said they will vote for Johnson in November, but only for U.S. Senator. Their national vote will go to the ticket of Nixon and Lodge.

It Dick Nixon carries Texas this fall, "one of the group declared, "Lyndon Johnson will suffer a blow from which he will never recover politically."

"He has been all-powerful since 1948, when he captured his Senate seat by only 47 votes, but if he can't carry his own state when he's on the presidential ticket, he's through as a real power."

Gov. Price Daniel, a former senator who temporarily bolted the party to vote for President Eisenhower in 1952, has reluctantly agreed to support John F. Kennedy in November, because of his long-time friendship with Johnson.

His lawyer friends say his heart is not in the campaign, however, and that he has refused to speak for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket outside Texas borders.

The visiting Texans insist that "Nixon is a cinch to carry Houston and Dallas—our two citadels of conservatism," and that he could probably carry the state by as large a majority as the die, if he would "get some real press to heat up the statewide campaign."

Chairman Barry Goldwater of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee has returned from a one-man invasion of Texas with much the same report.

No, like the group of lawyers, said: "Texans are complaining that Lyndon double-crossed them by taking second place on the ticket. They believed him when he repeatedly said he would never trade a vote for a gavel, and then he did it."

Goldwater said his visits to Dallas and Houston convinced him that "Johnson will either have run for the Senate, or for the vice presidency—he can't do both successfully."

Up for re-election to the Senate, Johnson is opposed by an attractive, articulate college political science professor named John Tower. A West Texas in his late 30s, he is the son of a Methodist minister and son of a Texas Republican family.

TEXANS ANGRY

No one is seriously predicting that Tower can oust the Senate majority leader, but as Goldwater phrased it: "He can keep Lyndon so busy that he's not going to have much time to campaign for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket outside of Texas."

"I have never seen such resentment against Kennedy and the Democratic Party as I saw in Texas last week," Goldwater continued. "It's not just the Civil Rights issue. The Democratic platform also knocks out the 57½ per cent oil depletion allowance and destroys the right-to-work."

Texas has one of the strongest right-to-work laws of any state, and many of the biggest campaign contributions come from oil millionaires who want the depletion allowance continued on the statute books.

"Johnson is telling Texans that the Democrats are not going to pay any attention to that plank on the depletion allowance," Goldwater shrugged, "but look at the harm this is doing the Kennedy ticket up North, where labor demanded that plank."

It is obvious that Goldwater is enjoying the quandary in which the Senate majority leader—simultaneously running for two jobs—apparently finds himself.

It is equal apparent that some of Johnson's former admirers are not. One of the visiting attorneys sadly twirled his Stetson as he muttered: "Why did Lyndon ever get himself maneuvered into a position like this? It just doesn't make sense to risk his whole house-of-cards on the vice presidency that he didn't want, anyway."

Big News Item Might Be Motive for Nikita's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials suspected today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has arranged his visit to the United Nations to boast of some spectacular new Soviet scientific achievement—perhaps putting a man in outer space.

A search for Khrushchev's "real motive" is under way within the Eisenhower administration in the wake of Moscow's announcement Thursday that the Soviet leader will head the U.S.S.R. delegation to the U.N. Assembly session beginning Sept. 20.

Nearly all informed officials familiar with Khrushchev's unpredictable nature, refused to believe the stated reason for the trip—that Khrushchev wants to talk about the urgent need for world disarmament.

They recalled that only a few days in advance of his goodwill visit last September the Soviets suddenly announced that they had shot a rocket to the moon, planting the Soviet flag there. Khrushchev came equipped with a chrome-plated model of the nose cone and presented it to President Eisenhower as a reminder of Soviet scientific might.

Diplomatic authorities are looking for a similar surprise package this time. By ballyhooing it in the heart of the capitalist world, Khrushchev could hope to press his current diplomatic offensive which pictures communism as the way of the future.

Liberte Strikebound; 1,050 Left Stranded

LE HAVRE, France (AP)—The French Line today canceled the New York sailing of the strike-bound liner Liberte, stranding 1,050 passengers, mainly Americans homeward bound from European vacations.

An engineers strike halted the sailing of the liner Thursday night. When negotiations failed, the French Line said the voyage was canceled and the 800-man crew would be laid off for 15 days. Efforts were being made to get the passengers to New York via planes or other ships.

'Had No Trial' Is Accusation

Mrs. Aadland Shouts 'It's a Frame-Up' When She Gets 3 Months

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I didn't have a trial," cried Florence Aadland as she left a court under a 90-day sentence for contributing to her daughter's delinquency. "This is a frame-up," she shouted.

Her daughter Beverly, now 17, was the late actor Errol Flynn's last girl friend. Beverly was made a ward of Juvenile Court after a young boy friend was shot to death in what she said was a struggle over a pistol.

Mrs. Aadland, 53, was sentenced Thursday to a year in jail, but Superior Court Judge Lewis Brucker suspended nine months of the term. A probation officer said is a report to the court that Mrs. Aadland's ex-husband, Herbert once accused her of "seducing" Beverly to Flynn when she was 15.

Beverly is now living with a Hollywood minister and his family.

Gov. Williams' Bow Tie on Vacation

LANSING (U.P.)—Gov. Williams showed up at the executive office Thursday with a new-type tie—a bow tie—the heat-measure, he explained.

Williams has been faithful to a bow tie nearly all of his 12 years in office.

The new tie is a continental—a loose-fitting, cross-over, button-clasp type frequently worn with formal summer jackets.

"It's more comfortable than a bow tie," he explained. "Not as binding around the neck, doesn't strangle you."

The color still was the familiar green and white polka dot favored by the governor as a trademark.

Studio greeting cards, the log "off-beat" type, are so named because they were introduced by small art studios. They now account for about 10 per cent of the greeting-card industry's production of cards.

CATCHES LEAKS—Peeking inside the trunk of what is probably a 1961 Chrysler Imperial, Mrs. Stella Homescyn checks for leaks. Most of her checking is done, however, as the cars roll through a water-spray chamber with her inside the vehicle. Because of her size—5 foot 3½, 118 pounds—she can peer into each corner of the car easier than a larger person.

Still Poor Relations

KITWE, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—"Race Relations Day," lifting the color bar in Northern Rhodesia, brought rioting by whites in this rail town. Police fired tear gas Thursday night to disperse white demonstrators who threw several Negroes off the veranda of the Nkana Hotel and chased others off the streets.

More than one-third of the movie theaters in the U.S. are located in towns of 2,500 or less population.

Bunche Confers With Successor

Says Worst Over for Congo; Calls Reports of Strife Exaggerated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche conferred today with India's Rajeshwar Dayal, his replacement as top United Nations official in the Congo.

Bunche, who had been in the Congo since June 25, drawing the wrath of both Premier Patrice Lumumba and the Soviet Union, told a news conference Thursday he believed "the worst is over" in the African country.

He also described as exaggerated the reports of atrocities during the Congolese army mutiny and said he believed the issue of racism was overplayed in the world press.

Bunche, the grandson of an American slave, said "My race didn't help me any." He once was routed out of his Leopoldville hotel room, at the point of a gun, by mutinous Congolese soldiers.

As for atrocities, Bunche said it was "almost a miracle" that with a mutinous army running wild without any authority to control it, "nothing much happened."

"Nothing was stolen," he said. "There was no pillaging, no looting. Nobody was murdered. A few people were injured, but not seriously."

As for reports of widespread raping of white women by Congolese soldiers, Bunche said:

"With a bow to eloquence and descriptive ability of the press, there certainly were atrocities, but not on the scale they sometimes were publicized to be."

Bunche said Congolese soldiers, police and at least one provincial official were beaten by their fellow Congo citizens when they sought to rescue American airmen manhandled by a mob at Stanleyville Airport last week.

Hawthorne Park Suggested

Eye Go-Kart Track Site

Hawthorne Park in Northwest Pontiac looms as the city's choice for a go-kart race track site.

The spot was recommended by a three-member committee which scoured the city for a possible location.

The recommendation met general acceptance by the City Commission at an informal meeting last night.

City Manager Walter K. Williams got the nod to sound out private business that might want to build a course.

The city, he said, could lease land to a private concern at a nominal fee.

Commissioner Winford E. Bolton, who represents the Hawthorne Park district, urged a speedy solution to the go-kart problem.

Parents who have purchased go-karts for their children have asked the commission to authorize go-karting somewhere within the city.

Because of excessive noise and traffic dangers, the city has banned go-karting in the streets, on the sidewalks and on school playgrounds.

The committee was comprised of David R. Ewalt, director of parks and recreation, Dr. Otto C. Hul-stiger, assistant superintendent of schools, and Sgt. Robert Gaines of the police department.

Girl's Slayer Surrenders

Tells Police He Just Wanted to Stick Knife Into Someone

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Leon Pinkowski, 19, a husky, tattooed machine hand, said he stabbed Diana Mae Ziblosky, 14, because he wanted "to stick the knife into someone."

Pinkowski admitted the thrill slaying about an hour after the nearly nude body of the girl was found Thursday in a cluster of bushes in a West Allis park.

Ironically, while the girl's body lay hidden in the bushes, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ziblosky were in a Milwaukee court obtaining a divorce.

Pinkowski walked into a Milwaukee police station and gave himself up after he had learned from a radio broadcast that the girl's body had been found.

HAPPY AFTER NEAR-TRAGEDY — Little Watt Attaway's expression was quickly transformed from terror to smiles in Dallas Thursday after the 2-year-old was snatched from a sinking family car and put into the hands of his mother Mrs. Charles Attaway. Little Watt climbed into the family auto that was parked on an incline and somehow released the brake, allowing the vehicle to roll down the drive, across the street and into a private pond. He was pulled from the car by his heroic uncles, Jay Wayne Tansy, 9, center and Marvin Tansy, 12. The car sank in 15 feet of water.

Decree Shortens, Simplifies

Vatican Makes Changes in Mass, Breviary Text

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The official Vatican bulletin, "Acta Apostolicae Sedis," was divided in three parts and included 530 canons (articles).

Most of the changes were minor. They included the suppression or shortening of some special prayers hitherto said on certain days of the year.

The new code superseded all earlier sets of rules, which successive additions through the centuries had turned into a rather complicated pile of regulations.

The new code gave individual bishops a certain power to make changes in the liturgy according to local conditions.

The streamlining of the Mass and breviary had already been announced by Pope John XXIII in general terms in a decree earlier this year.

But details of the reform became known only with Thursday's publication of a new "Code of Rubrics" for the breviary and Roman missal.

The rubrics are rules laid down for the conduct of the services of the church and the carrying out of any liturgical rite.

American Firm Finds Tea-Break Is British 'Must'

One American firm that has been operating for 14 years in Great Britain is just learning that the British working man's tea break is sacrosanct, London reports.

Nearly half of the 4,500 workers in the harvester manufacturing plants of this American-owned company recently laid down their tools because, they said, they were not allowed to sit down to drink their tea. The workers have organized a union and the tea-break was promptly brought up.

Some observers say that if the company would give the men "a proper sit-down tea break" with freedom to chatter as much as they like, nine-tenths of the plant labor trouble would be over.

Race Relations Topic for Urban Leagues

NEW YORK (UPI) — Race relations in America in the 1960s is the underlying theme of the 50th anniversary conference of the National Urban League which opens today and will continue through Sept. 8.

About 1,100 social workers, business and labor leaders, and members of civic organizations, are assembling in New York to discuss "Race Relations in the Sixties: What Course for Americans." Representatives from urban leagues in 63 cities across the nation are expected to attend.

Jerry Wadsworth Basically a Trouble-Shooter

New U.N. Ambassador Genial but Tough

By United Press International
James J. (Jerry) Wadsworth, who takes over Saturday from Henry Cabot Lodge as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, is one of the best liked delegates in U.N. history.

A massive 6-foot-4, 240 pounds of affability, he has been Lodge's deputy, sharing the rank of ambassador, as number two man in the U.S. mission to the United Nations since the Eisenhower administration took over in January 1953.

For much of that time, however, he has been occupied with disarmament negotiations and for most of the past two years he led the U.S. delegation to the Geneva talks on nuclear test suspension, where the Russians found him as tough as the conference table as he is affable at the dinner table.

A boyhood friend with rock-ribbed Republicans forbears—even though his sister is the wife of Missouri's Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington—he was hand-picked by Lodge as his deputy in 1953.

Wadsworth, 55, was born in Groveland, N.Y.; the son of the late Sen. James W. Wadsworth, R-N.Y., whose distinguished congressional career included co-authorship of the 1940 Draft Act.

The son, Jerry—from a middle name of Jeremiah—served 10 years in the New York State Legislate, beginning in 1931, spent four years as an assistant industrial relations manager of the Curtis-Wright Corp. at Buffalo, N.Y.

Then he became, in order, director of the public interest division of the War Assets Administration, director of the civil defense office of the National Security Resources Board and senior U.S. representative on the U.S.-Canadian joint-civil defense mission.

For two years, he was special assistant to the administrator of the economic cooperation administration.

Wadsworth basically is a trouble-shooter. He was assigned as the U.S. representative to help set up the International Atomic Energy Agency proposed by President Eisenhower in his "atoms-for-peace" speech to the General Assembly in 1956.

Highly popular with both diplomats and newsmen, a diplomatic colleague summed up Wadsworth thus:

"He is the perfect negotiator. When Lodge is tough in public, Wadsworth, without giving an inch, is amiable in private talks. He makes you believe you would be doing yourself a favor to agree with him, he is so pleasantly persuasive."

Wadsworth was graduated from Yale in 1927. He looks as if, with a little pre-season conditioning, he could go in at tackle for the Elis now.

He married the former Harry Tilton in 1927. They have one daughter, Mrs. Trowbridge Strong, and four grandchildren.

He is an Episcopalian.

Michigan Maps Will Be Studied by Eskimos

LANSING (AP)—Alaska's Eskimos are going to learn about Michigan from the state highway maps.

The Highway Department reported it has sent three copies of the 1960 state highway map to the Kasliug school at Kasliug, Alaska.

"They will be used with pride in our Eskimo classrooms," the request for maps stated.

1,402 Chinese Leave

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A total of 1,402 overseas Chinese left Indonesia aboard the Japanese ship Koan Maru Thursday for the Formosan port of Keelung. The repatriation of this group followed Indonesia's ban on alien Chinese trading in rural areas.

Dutch Elm Disease Is Still Menace in State

By WAYNE BICKERT
County Horticultural Agent

Dutch Elm Disease was so prevalent in 1959 that it seemed the disease must certainly be on the down hill during 1960. Yet this year Dutch Elm is again a very serious problem.

How does the disease spread? A small dark beetle carries the fungus from dying trees to nearby healthy trees. The disease starts in the small twigs in the top of the tree and progresses toward the trunk. As the disease spreads, the symptoms show up as wilting and browning of the leaves in the top of the tree and on one side. Do trees ever recover? Where trees are tested through a laboratory, these proven trees rarely survive. Isolated cases seem to survive for more than one year, but seem to gradually die. In most cases a tree completely dies in the first year.

Many citizens wonder what the state or county does about dying or dead trees. Neither the state, nor the county is involved in actual tree removal. The state has a laboratory which processes samples of suspected trees. The state also assists communities with a program of inspection and identification. The county road commission does not spray trees on highway property, but will check suspicious trees and remove all those trees which are dead and dying.

What about diseased trees? Once a tree is diseased, it cannot be saved. Because bark beetles multiply in dying trees, the best way to prevent the disease from going to nearby trees is to remove the infected tree. Burning the fallen trees is recommended. However, the wood in the trunk and large limbs can be used as firewood, if the bark is peeled off. Once the bark is gone, the wood is harmless.

Does spraying work? Recommendations for spraying have been changed in the past year, but DDT is still the most satisfactory material to control Dutch Elm Disease. The summer spray is no longer recommended for Dutch Elm control because it is relatively ineffective. The dormant spray is a still very effective and recommended where valuable elms are present.

TOWERING FLOWERS — Dahlias in the garden of John McCulloch, 3008 Hazel Street, Elizabeth Lake Estates, grow taller than the house. If you look closely at the left of the picture, you'll see McCulloch, all but dwarfed by his flowers.

There are about 37 million people in the United States. The Amazon River has about 1,100 known tributaries.

Lawns at Army Base Get Trimmed by Goats

FORT JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—The ammunition storage area at this Army base is far too explosive to permit the use of power mowers to cut the grass.

So the lawns are trimmed by a herd of goats, which do a neat job and don't give off sparks.

Dempsey vs. Crockett

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Amateur candidates to fill for constable in the Houston area this year are Jack Dempsey in Precinct 1 and Davey Crockett in Precinct 2.

About 5,000 schools in the U.S. offer instruction in the operation of motor vehicles and many of the courses also include actual driving in behind-the-wheel practical experience.

A Cool Little Pool Can Be Just the Thing

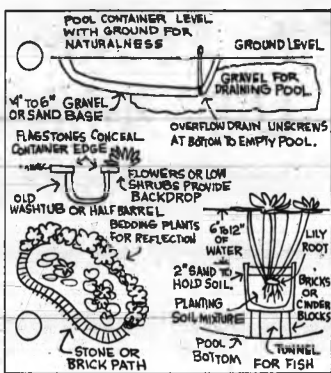

By ALLAN KRENSON

Writers for Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Pools and ponds reflect your garden's beauty. A tub of water lilies or a sparkling pool can add refreshing coolness to your garden.

Water itself is beautiful. Combined with flowers and shrubs, a small pool can become a highlight of your garden. Its size and shape is limited only by your taste and space available.

For patios or apartment terraces, a tub of night or day blooming lilies is easily maintained. You can make private areas attractive in the garden with a well-planned pool.

Like any landscape feature, a pool should be located with its surroundings. It need not be expensive. Wooden tubs, plastic or new glass fiber units or even old bathtubs can be used. Sunken in the ground, rimmed by flowers and a brick or flagstone path, the most prosaic container becomes a lively pool. Concrete also can be shaped to fit special areas.

Your pool should be located in the sun. Water plants thrive in full sun and nearby flowers will be reflected more beautifully.

For most pools, prepare a foundation about six inches deeper and wider than the pool itself. Fill this with crushed gravel or sand and tamp it firmly. If you want a self-draining pool, dig a lateral trench or two. Fill this with gravel as you would a dry well. When you open your pool outlet, water will flow easily underground.

To achieve naturalness, place the pool almost level with the surface, allow an inch high rim to keep out surface runoff water.

To make a concrete pool, mix one part cement, two parts sand and three parts stone or gravel. A two- to three-inch thickness is desirable.

Chicken wire is helpful to shape free-form pools and hold the concrete. For angular pools a form is necessary. Remember that concrete should "cure" for several days before you fill the pool.

Flowers, ivy or low shrubs complete the natural look. A border of foliage will set the background for more beautiful reflections. You may prefer a stepping stone border to conceal the container underground and to alter the pool's outline.

Water lilies will complete your pool or tub garden. Day or night blooming types are available in dozens of bright colors. One $2.50 plant will easily fill a three-foot pool with blooms for months.

Hardy lilies should be planted in early spring. They can be set in the bottom of the pool or placed in individual tubs beneath the water surface. However, water lilies do best with between six to 12 inches of water overhead.

Make a planting mixture of three parts good top soil, one part well-rotted cow manure or commercial aquatic fertilizer. Press the hardy type lily roots horizontally into this soil. A two-inch layer of sand holds the soil in place.

Add water gradually. A few, inches daily. Flea can be introduced later if you enjoy them. They help prevent algae or mosquito problems.

Hardy lilies can remain outdoors through winters, if the roots are kept from freezing. Tropical types require more care and must be stored indoors in winter or replaced each year.

Quartet of New Roses to Be Introduced Soon

The Conard-Pyle Company, growers of Star Roses at West Grove, Pennsylvania, announces that it will introduce this fall four new rose varieties which represent the work of three well known rose hybridizers, two Frenchmen and one American. Two of the new roses, "Supreme" and "Polka," are originals of the late Francis Meiland; another called "Simone" is from Charles Mallin. The fourth new introduction, named "Fascinating," was hybridized by Gladys Fisher of Massachusetts.

All the new roses are Hybrid Teas except "Polka," a Floribunda. "Supreme" is an enormous rose, a beautiful bi-color in rich, red velvet with a lovely, soft, fawn tinge on the undersides of the petals. This is an exhibition type rose that comes on long, strong stems in outstanding beauty, form and size. It is likely that Supreme will make a name for itself at rose shows.

"Simone" is also exceptionally large, its blossoms reaching a good 6 and even 7 inches across. This newcomer is unusual, too, in that its clear, pastel-lilac coloring is unlike that found in any other Hybrid Tea. It is a double rose, high centered, lightly fragrant and admirable in every way.

"Fascinating," like Mrs. Fisher's Love Song and Tapestry, is highly colorful, its suffused and blended crimson and empire yellow offering a rare kind of rose beauty. The colors are exceptionally sharp and striking in spring and fall when nights are a bit cool.

"Polka," the third of the new Meiland roses, is a great, new pink Floribunda that's unlike any rose available. It has from 40 to 45 large petals which make a big, shapely flower. Its color—claret-rose or medium pink—is different from any other in this classification. Polka's flowers come in glorious clusters.

Beach Gets Tryout With Pro Giants

Wall Beach of Pontiac, the Little All-America halfback from Central Michigan University, will begin workouts Monday with the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Beach was released earlier this week by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Big Four League. He was in Detroit last night to visit relatives.

The fleet halfback, who wrote practically every scoring and rushing record at Central, originally was drafted by the Giants but accepted a bigger offer from the Canadian team. He was the last American player to be released by the Tiger-Cats, who are permitted to carry only a dozen Americans on their roster.

"I guess I just didn't fit into their plans," said Beach. "Mr. Trimble (Jim Trimble, head coach) was very nice about it and I was treated very fairly. But I am looking forward very much to the tryout with the Giants."

Beach said Trimble apparently decided to go mostly with veterans after the Tiger-Cats lost their first three games. The all-state halfback said he played in only one of the three games and never got to carry the ball.

"I didn't ask why," Beach said. "I was in fine condition and they knew it. But it's their team and I figured Mr. Trimble has been around a lot longer than I have and knows a lot more than I do about the game, so he must know what he's doing."

Beach said he had had no trouble with injuries and that he weighs 180 pounds, a little more than he did during his collegiate days. He said he played in the defensive backfield in the one game in which he participated.

He said he was contacted by the Giants immediately after his departure from the Hamilton camp, and was told to report to the Giants' training camp in Connecticut Monday.

Mrs. LeClair twice held 1-up advantages, but Mrs. Hume fought back and finally closed out the match with a birdie on the 17th hole.

Mrs. Gamble, who won this event in 1957, gained her shot at the crown by defeating Mrs. Bruce Hiltene of Indianwood, 4-3.

She went 3 up by winning the 12th and 13th holes and the match ended on the 15th when Mrs. Hiltene needed six strokes to reach the green on the par four hole after knocking her tee shot into the bushes.

It's only fitting, perhaps, that Mrs. Hume and Mrs. Gamble are fighting for the title today. They were co-medalists in Monday's 18-hole qualifiers with Tse.

Hume vs. Gamble in Final

By BILL CORNWELL

The defending champion has faltered, and there will be a new winner this year in the Women's District Golf Association match play tournament at Pine Lake Country Club.

Two former champions of the WDGA match play title, Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex and Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmoor, clashed at 9:15 a.m. today for the 1960 crown following victories in Thursday's semifinals.

Mrs. Hume, who won the championship from 1941 through 1943 as the former Marjorie Row, was the one who eliminated the defending champ yesterday.

National Tennis Tourney Starts Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The National Tennis Championships opened today on the polished turf of the West Side Tennis Club and from an American standpoint almost anything would be an improvement over the last four years.

Starting in 1956, no native-born U.S. player has made the finals. Except for Alex O'Brien, a Peruvian who attended Southern California and lost the final to Neale Fraser last year, Australians have taken over in the title match.

It could happen again this year. Fraser is seeded No. 1, followed by Rod Laver, who has swept all four U.S. grass court tournaments. The main hope of the Americans is that Fraser has not regained his form of last year, when he was easily seen the champion, but led Australia to victory over the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round.

Fraser was idle today, but Laver met Bob Barker of Manhattan, N.Y., in a first-round match.

Main U.S. hopes are big Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, seeded third; Earl (Ruth) Burchholz of St. Louis, seeded No. 4, and unseeded Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo.

But Adrian Panu, lead of the Australian delegation, didn't think much of the Americans' chances.

"After all," he pointed out, "Fraser and Laver are seeded 1-2. Burchholz is a good boy with a big game, but I'm afraid he's about 18 months away from his potential."

Ready for World Series

(CHICAGO UPI)—The Chicago Transit Authority announced today that elevated subway facilities near Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, will be expanded and "ready for the fans on the first home game of the World Series." Chicago is four games out of first place.

Labor Day Offers Reprieve

Rail Strike Effects Put Off

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—The railroad's board chairman, when a reporter asked him to state the effects of the Pennsylvania's first complete shutdown in its 116-year history.

"Wait until after the holiday," said James M. Symes, So far only scattered delays have been reported as a result of the strike, which began early Thursday.

City Rejects Bid for $1,500

Turn Down Straley Pay

A bid for $1,500 in compensatory pay for former Police Chief Herbert W. Straley fell on deaf ears last night.

At an informal meeting of the City Commission, the four-member majority held firm in its refusal to consider new compensation.

William J. Straley, who argued the city owed him for 48 accumulated vacation days he claimed but was not paid for when fired in June. He was paid for 30 accumulated vacation days—$1,041.

Straley claimed he had accumulated 78 days in all during his eight and a half years on the job.

He also claimed the city owed him compensation for 131 leave days he was entitled to take off, but didn't; and for 30 accumulated sick days he never used.

City administrative officials have denied the validity of most of the claims.

They said that under personnel rules he was entitled to compensation for no more than 30 accumulated vacation days.

Police Think Children Started Fire in Home

Troy Police today are searching for a group of juveniles who they believe started a fire which gutted the interior of a home here yesterday.

No one was hurt in the fire. Youngsters were seen playing nearby when the blaze hit the home at 2720 Woodland about 7:45 p.m. The owner, Cecil Palmer, a Clavon city employee, was at work when the fire struck.

Firemen said all the burners on a gas stove were turned on when they entered the burning house.

There also was extensive burning in a large overhauled car, which they removed.

No estimate of damage was available.

The F&S still will rate under the Lark V8 and the Rambler V8, which have been in the compact field for several years.

The new Oldsmobile is 15 feet 8 inches long overall with a 112 inch wheelbase. This is bigger than Corvair, Falcon and Valiant but smaller than the Comet.

The F&S is one of two new small-engine General Motors cars equipped with an aluminum engine, which is in the Buick Special which will go on sale next month.

General Manager Jack Williams told a national press preview audience Thursday that a power pack, including a four barrel carburetor, already is being developed for the small Olds, but he did not disclose the added horsepower.

The Chrysler Corp. stamping plant near Akron, Ohio, laid off 2,000 of its 2,300 employees and considered a complete shutdown today for lack of freight transportation. That seemed to be the worst side effect for the moment. Many industries prepared for the long-heralded strike by stockpiling raw materials and stepping up shipments of finished goods.

Normally the nation's largest railroad handles 118,000,000 tons of freight a day.

The Labor Day weekend was a special blessing for commuters, and 73,000 of the Penn's 136,000 daily passengers are commuters. They had surprisingly little trouble getting to work on the first morning, but getting home was another matter, especially in Philadelphia and New York, where most of the commuting is done.

In New York, with the temperature at 38 degrees, cars flooded down and bridges and tunnels from Manhattan were clogged. About 18,000 New Jersey commuters were left on Long Island because the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Manhattan was shut down.

In Philadelphia, the Reading Railroad absorbed some of the extra load, and—as in New York—transit systems maintained rush-hour schedules far past the usual hour. Highways were clogged.

All direct rail service between New York, Philadelphia and Washington was cut off, and passengers who make connections in Washington for Southern points were hard hit. The Pennsy serves the New York-to-Washington run exclusively.

Bus companies and airlines did a heavy business and they made plans to handle not only holiday travel, but also the heavy September travel of students returning to school and vacationers returning home. If the strike should last that long.

All Major Exchanges Will Close Labor Day

By United Press International Major securities and commodity exchanges throughout the country will be closed Monday, Sept. 3, in observance of Labor Day.

Canadian markets will be closed also for the traditional end-of-summer holiday but markets abroad will operate as usual.

The blaze is believed to have been caused by an overheated pipe from the incinerator, which was too close to the stair landing. The fire reached up the stairs into the kitchen.

He estimated the loss. Hall is staying with his brother at 913 Kenilworth St.

A Beverly Hills man, Paul A. Switzer, has been promoted to director of the newly created planning and schedules section of the manufacturing staff of General Motors Corporation, Switzer, of 1830 Devonshire Road, has been a member of the staff since 1947. He joined General Motors in 1947.

Willman Told to Find Architect for Building at Civic Center

The City Commission tentatively has agreed on a $380,000 price ceiling on the forthcoming main fire station at the Civic Center.

Recommended by City Manager Walter K. Willman, the ceiling is based on a price formula of $13.50 a square foot for a building of 25,000 square feet. Included is the usual 5 per cent architectural fee.

Willman was told by the commission at an informal meeting last night to search out an architect that could design a fire hall at the price ceiling.

Willman said construction might begin later this year if financing can be arranged.

He outlined a financing plan last night that involves borrowing $300,000 next year from the city pension fund. The pension board has not been approached yet, he said.

Success in obtaining a $500,000 price ceiling on the Pontiac Public Library has made commissioners eager to try the same method again.

The ceiling on the library was set last year before architects were invited to submit proposals. Final construction of the library will be only a few thousand dollars over the ceiling.

Selling Pressure Depresses Grains

CHICAGO (AP)—Fairly heavy selling hit soybean futures today, and prices trended decidedly weak during early transactions on the Board of Trade. The grains were estimated at 548 million bushels.

Normally the nation's largest soybean was ascribed to lower prices for soybean oil and some soybean meal contracts but brokers said it was related mainly to a private crop report which estimated the 1940 yield at 562 million bushels.

The report by Francis I. D. Post & Co. and T. W. Caldwell estimated the soybean crop at about 55 1/2 million bushels in their Aug. 15 report while the government estimated it at 548 million bushels. Trade in other pits was rather slow although there appeared to be a fairly good export demand for wheat.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog is covered with ticks. What is the best way to remove them? F. D. of Plena, Canada.

A. This problem seems to be increasing every year. The tick, a relative of the mite and spider, not only bites and bleeds the dog. It is an insidious carrier of disease. I have no objection to removing ticks individually when a few are present, but often the head is left buried in the dog and this can cause abscesses.

1,200 Retarded Children 'No Issue for Campaign'

LANSING (U) — Gov. Williams today in sharp terms warned Republicans against making a campaign issue of inadequate facilities for mentally retarded children. The governor hit into the Republican platform on this matter.

Special Session May Be Called

Decision Due Today on Aged Health Benefits Machinery in State

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan lawmakers should learn today whether they will have to interrupt campaigns for a special session to set up machinery for bringing federal old-age health benefits to the state.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will decide on ordering the session after a meeting with advisers scheduled for 3 p.m.

"In my opinion—and I'm not an attorney—we've got to have enabling legislation to establish this category of aid," said State Welfare Director William J. Maxey, one of the participants in the session.

Others scheduled to attend the meeting were Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic nominee for governor, Atty. Gen. Paul J. Adams and Wilbur J. Cohen, proponent of social work at the University of Michigan.

Cohen said the state could get about $15 million a year through the bill passed this week by Congress.

He said "minimum benefits" under the bill could be had without state legislation, but to qualify for some $1 million in matching funds for medical payments to older persons, action would be needed.

"We could use existing machinery to distribute the funds," Maxey said.

He said distribution would be handled by the County Bureau of Social Aid, but that money for more personnel would have to be provided by the legislature in order to take care of the increased work.

Michigan platform adopted last week.

S-P Fills Chairman's Vacancy

NEW YORK (U)—Clarence Francis, former chairman of General Foods Corp., today was elected chairman and named chief executive officer of Studebaker-Packard Corp.

He has been a director since 1958.

Marcel K. Churchill will continue as president.

The chairmanship of the South Bend, Ind., auto firm has been vacant four years.

Directors named Francis at a special meeting in New York. He was president of General Foods nine years and chairman 11.

Churchill, president since 1958, said that "this realignment of responsibilities will permit me to concentrate my efforts in the areas where I can make the greatest contribution to the growth of our company."

Match Play Crown Won by Mrs. Hume

Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex, won the 1960 Women's District Golf Association Match Play Championship today at Pine Lake Country Club with a decisive 5-1 victory over Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmore.

Shooting brilliant two-under-par golf, Mrs. Hume forged into a 4-up lead at the turn and the match ended on the 14th hole as both players made birdie strokes for a half.

It was the fourth WDGA Match Play crown for Mrs. Hume, who won in 1941, 1942 and 1945 as the former Marjorie Rose. She also won the 1946 Match Play title earlier this summer.

Mrs. Gamble was Match Play champion in 1957 and this was her second trip to the final.

Between 1946 and the end of 1956, about 12 million immigrants came to the U.S., or about one-ninth of the total population increase.

Continue Talks in Rail Strike

Grand Trunk Walkout Forces One Chevrolet Plant to Close

Negotiations went back to the bargaining tables today as Grand Trunk Western Railroad broke a 10-day strike in four states.

The strike by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen started Thursday and idled 6,000 workers.

The without by 800 men also forced Chevrolet to shut down its engine plant in Flint and send 1,500 workers home because of a plant of engines assembly shipped via Grand Trunk to Montreal assembly plants.

About 1,500 passengers on Pontiac-to-Detroit commuter trains had to find other means of transportation.

The strike was the first in more than 40 years.

Of the 16 plants in time in the dispute were working, 10 have been notified, Union says, company spokesman said, and progress was made on several Thursday.

Two Grand Trunk freight yard employees were arrested Thursday, police said. Marvin Kammer and James Deal, 21, of Farmington, Mich., were arrested Thursday for allegedly tampering with a train car.

Police said Henry M. Velasquez, 37, of Detroit, an alderman of the train to the crew headed out of the yard.

They said he occupied the locomotive from the first car, halting the train for a time.

Hurricane-Like Storm Whips County

Street at the height of yesterday's violent storm.
FLAT TOP — This car was flattened by a big tree falling across Cooley Lake Road near Canton.

The driver, George R. Hall, 34, of 363 Lake Angelus Rd., Pontiac Township, barely escaped injury.

Several Persons Hurt as Trees, Wires Topple

One of the worst summer storms in Oakland County history swept across Oakland County and Pontiac yesterday with sudden, squall-like fury, toppling hundreds of trees, downing wires and causing extensive property damage.

Numerous injuries were reported and some near-escapes. But no deaths.

Winds of near hurricane strength inflicted greatest devastation west of Pontiac, especially in and around Cooley Lake, Union Lake and Lower Straits Lake.

Whirlwinds with the furious force of small tornadoes were reported in scattered locations. There were reports of winds of at least 60 miles per hour.

The storm burst into the county on a northwest to southeast course shortly before 3 p.m.

Tornado forecasts already had been sounded by the Weather Bureau.

Accompanied by a brief, driving rain but little lightning, the howling winds had swept past Pontiac by 3:35 p.m., leaving a wide swath of damage in their wake.

Falling trees and limbs had smashed into homes, cracked across automobiles, struck victims running for shelter, snapped power and telephone lines.

Several thousand homes in Western Oakland County were without power for a number of hours, although most service was restored by midnight.

A White Lake Township man was hospitalized with severe head injuries caused by a falling branch, and four other persons sought emergency treatment at Pontiac General Hospital.

Sailboats were capized on Orin Lake, row boats on Wolverine Lake, Cooley and Cass Lakes.

A six-inch-thick limb fell 50 feet through the air at the height of the storm, striking Frederick Forsythe, 34, of 724 Capri on Nevada Lake, White Lake Township, in glancing blow on the head.

The White Lake Township volunteer fire department rushed him from his home to Pontiac General Hospital, where he was listed as still in poor condition after surgery.

Among other victims was Frank Bevington, 5, of 121 Exmore St. Waterford Township.

Frank had six stitches taken in his scalp after a tree fell on him as Elizabeth Lake beach as he was running out to the water to seek shelter from the onrushing storm.

A half-dozen other children had been standing under the tree seconds before it fell.

The south shore of Cooley Lake was littered with fallen trees. Eight fell in the yard of Kenneth M. Kiner, 4668 Cascade Rd.

Relief Came From Heat Hard Way

Pontiac area residents looking for relief from the hot, humid weather got it — the hard way. The storm struck Pontiac at 3:07 p.m. It was sudden, short and violent.

The temperature plummeted 25 degrees in 20 minutes, from 94 degrees to 69.

HIGHER ELSEWHERE

Winds were clocked at 50 miles an hour in Pontiac by The Press weather instruments, and 60 miles an hour or higher in other parts of the county.

At Midland, airport officials reported winds "over 100 miles an hour," and winds of hurricane force (75 m.p.h. or more) were reported in many Michigan cities.

Shortly after 1 the first indication of a storm came from the weather bureau in Kansas City.

A warning of "severe thunderstorms, damaging winds, and hail" was issued.

Then word came from Cadillac that the storm had hit. They called it a "hurricane." Areas southeast of Cadillac began subsidizing this.

At 2:32 the weather bulletin read: "Possible tornadoes." This was lifted at 4:40.

None were ever sighted, but the black clouds cut a path of destruction slowly southeast through the state striking at Bay City, Saginaw, Flint, and then Pontiac.

It was swift, not lasting more than 20 minutes. And then the sun came out, and it was cool and pleasant.

A beautiful evening — for cleaning up the debris.

Ask Return of Workers

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers have applied to the Kohler Co. of Sheboygan, Wis., for "immediate reinstatement" of 1,700 members fired during the union's protracted strike against the plumbing fixtures firm.

The six greatest sprinters in the world faced the starter and there were ours. Nearly 100,000 spectators were absolutely silent as the men took their marks. But they screamed in unison as the pistol cracked.

Armin Hary, the German who broke the tape ahead of our Dave Sime by inches — just inches. Frank Budd was fifth and Ray Norton, our prince here, was sixth and last.

The high jump dragged on until the sun sank behind these bizarre, old Roman hills, and deepening shadows filled the stadium. Four men were left.

Our record holder, Thomas, and three Russians. Finally they turned on the lights and although all track events were finished, no one left the stadium.

A Russian failed at 5 feet 11 and the others made it. The bar went to 74 feet and all three cleared it quickly.

Now it went to 7 feet 11 and a Russian did it on his first jump and the other on his second.

Thomas missed and missed again. You could have heard a pin drop as he advanced for his third try. But he failed as the stadium groaned.

Howling Storm Whips Through State, Kills 5

By United Press International

Few persons, including a Farmington man, were dead today in the wake of a late summer storm which howled across Michigan Thursday, smashing buildings and cars, starting fires and plunging communications into near-chaos.

One of the dead was an eight-year-old girl who was crushed by a falling tree while she was picnicking with her family.

Hospitals were treating numerous injured and damage was everywhere near into the night.

Much of the damage and destruction was caused by winds which reared the length of the state at speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

In addition, torrential rains and hail pounded wide areas.

The storm, one of the worst summer upswings in Michigan history, abruptly slammed into the Upper Peninsula about 10 a.m. and had slashed a diagonal path down the state to the Detroit area by 4 p.m.

Tornadoes were forecast for the Detroit area and Livingston, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties during the afternoon. But the storm, abruptly slammed into the Upper Peninsula about 10 a.m. and had slashed a diagonal path down the state to the Detroit area by 4 p.m.

"all clear" when no twisters had developed by early evening.

Among the dead was Debra Speight, 8, Detroit, who was killed on Detroit's Belle Isle when she was crushed by a falling tree.

Harold Blair, 53, of 2548 Gilchrist, Farmington, collapsed while trying to make shore in a boat on the Detroit River when the storm struck. He apparently died of a heart attack.

Robert Groby, 56, of Cadillac collapsed and died of a heart attack while he was pulling a raft to shore on Lake Mitchell near Cadillac to secure it against high winds and rough water.

An Elkhart, Ind., man, Fred Roads, 64, drowned when he was pitched into the wind-whipped water of Ryerson Lake in Newaygo County as his small boat capsized. Roads' wife made shore safely.

Henry Roboz, 48, Detroit, drowned when a boat from which he was fishing capsized on Lake St. Clair near Detroit.

Continue Talks in Rail Strike

Grand Trunk Walkout Forces One Chevrolet Plant to Close

Negotiators went back to the bargaining tables today as Grand Trunk Western Railroad trains stood idle in four states.

The strike by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen started Thursday and idled 6,400 workers.

The walkout by 200 men alone forced Chevrolet to shut down its engine plant in Flint and send 4,200 workers home because of a plep of motors normally shipped via Grand Trunk to scattered assembly plants.

About 1,500 passengers on Pontiac-Detroit commuter trains had to find other means of transportation.

The strike was the first in more than 5 years.

Of the 20 points at issue in the dispute over working rules, 11 have been settled, Union and company spokesmen said, and progress was made on seven more Thursday.

Two Grand Trunk freight yard employees were arrested Thursday by Police Officer Marvin Kammer said he saw James Deel, 21, of Ferndale, try to throw a switch that might have derailed cars being moved by a New York Central crew in the Grand Trunk yards.

Police and Henry M. Velasquez, 37, of Detroit, an alleged trainman as the crew headed out of the yard.

They said he occupied the locomotive from the first car, halting the train for a time.

CLOSE CALL — Mrs. Edwin Stevens escaped injury when a tree smashed into this trailer yesterday. The trailer, at Bob's Mobile Home Estates, Waterford Township, is owned by Russell Love. A neighbor, Mrs. Stevens had rushed over to close windows in Love's trailer and was inside when the tree struck.

THE WINDS CAME—The dark clouds loomed nearer and nearer, and then the first blast of winds began bending trees. This tree in the front yard of Raymond Lingie, 569 Nichols St., Auburn Heights, was typical of the scene just before the storm yesterday.

Exciting Day

U.S. Hot and Cold in Olympic Games

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

ROME — Thursday blew hot and cold in the Eternal City.

In the afternoon, our track and field athletes bowed before superior competitors but our swimmers really poured it on in the evening.

If the United States had banked on one gold medal for sure, it was in the high jump.

But John Thomas was whipped by two Russians and the U.S. competitor was fanned.

We lost out in the 3,000-meter qualifying rounds of the steeple chase and all three of our men were shut out of the semi-finals of the 800 meters. And we suffered a catastrophe in the 100-meter final.

The six greatest sprinters in the world faced the starter and there were ours. Nearly 100,000 spectators were absolutely silent as the men took their marks. But they screamed in unison as the pistol cracked.

Armin Hary, the German who broke the tape ahead of our Dave Sime by inches — just inches. Frank Budd was fifth and Ray Norton, our prince here, was sixth and last.

Artillery Shot Streaks Astray in Germany; 28 Others Injured

GRAEFENWOLFER, Germany (AP) — Fifteen American soldiers were killed and 28 injured today when an artillery shell exploded among them during a training exercise here, the Army announced.

It was the worst training accident for ground troops ever registered by the 250,000-man American force stationed in Germany.

An Army announcement said the shell landed outside the "artillery impact area" and exploded in a test camp in this training area.

The announcement described all casualties as members of a 3rd Armored Division cavalry unit. An investigation is under way.

Names of the dead and injured were withheld.

Gräfenwölfer, situated in northern Bavaria about 25 miles from the Czechoslovak frontier, is the biggest training area for the quarter of a million American soldiers in Germany.

The loss is expected to dip to tonight. Saturday's high will register near 78, the weatherman says.

Little or no precipitation is indicated Saturday through Wednesday.

Morning winds northeasterly at four miles per hour will become light tonight and southeasterly at 1 to 12 miles Saturday.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 65 degrees. The temperature had climbed to 73 at 1 p.m.

When You Meet Shark, Just Give Him Good Shove

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Capt. Jacques Cousteau, the inventor of the aqualung, says if you meet a shark face to face, the best thing to do is keep it that way.

"I choose to face them at all times," said the veteran of 24 years of diving.

"I usually carry what we call a shark stick," Cousteau said. "It's just a stick about three feet long and I use it to shove the shark away."

"Sharks are really very stupid," he said, "and they don't get hungry very often. But when they do, watch out."

British Studies Students Suffering Mental Illness

About 15 per cent of Britain's university students are suffering from severe symptoms of mental illness, according to a survey published recently in the Cambridge Review, semi-official journal of the Cambridge dons.

From observations of 30,502 students during a 10-year period, Dr. Ronald Stili, head of the student health department at Leeds University, found that one in every 100 students is under a psychological handicap.

About 10 per cent of France's railways have been electrified, he said, "and they don't get hungry very often. But when they do, watch out."

First Streamliner Retires to Museum

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (UPI)—The Pioneer Zephyr, of the Burlington Railroad, billed as the nation's first streamliner when it started service, has been retired.

The diesel-powered, stainless steel train made its first trip from Lincoln, Neb., to Kansas City with stops at St. Joseph and Omaha Nov. 11, 1934.

The train toured the nation before starting its regular Lincoln-Kansas City run, and it was the subject of a Hollywood film. The Pioneer will be taken to Chicago for museum display.

DONCASTER, England (AP) — Brian Senig stopped screaming his electric guitar when it suddenly started talking to him.

The words from the guitar—loud and clear—turned out to be police calls, then a message from a Royal Air Force plane.

Senig, a draftsman, explained a quirk in the wiring of the guitar's amplifier must have turned it into an occasional radio receiver for broadcasts on certain frequencies.

Herter Says Russia Undermining Congo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has accused Russia of seeking a "collapse of order" in the Congo and of trying to complicate rather than help United Nations efforts there.

Herter, who addressed the American Bar Association last night, challenged the Soviet Union's work with the westward "rule of law" to maintain peace in the world.

"In this age," he said, "there must be created a world order in which the will of individual nations, expressed in force, gives way to the will of the international community, expressed in laws."

Herter's charge coincided with authoritative reports that more than a hundred "technicians" from Russia and other Iron Curtain countries were advising the troubled Congolese government of Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Working for Peace ... or Self-Attention?

Nikita Grabs Limelight Again

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the fantastic Russian who seems to begrudge any other human being the limelight very long, has suddenly grabbed it back again.

He is now doing his best to knock the presidential campaign off the world's front pages—and may interfere in it—and could even wind up at dinner in the White House with President Eisenhower whom he belittled and intimidated.

Look at what he set in motion Thursday night with the Moscow announcement he and the Soviet Union would not attend the summit conference of all the Iron Curtain Communist nations except Red China will go to New York for the United Nations meeting opening Sept. 20.

1. This intrusion will occur in the midst of the presidential campaign.

2. With Khrushchev going, Cuba's Fidel Castro may go to the U.N. as a world forum for Communist propaganda, President Eisenhower will almost certainly have to go to New York to make a major reply.

3. If Eisenhower goes, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan may also go. Likewise, French President Charles de Gaulle.

4. This sets the stage for the possibility of a super-super summit conference, although Khrushchev wrecked the summit meeting with Eisenhower last May and said another would be useless until there was a new president.

5. Such a summit meeting in New York would first require some evidence of good will on both sides. Instead, it's possible the U.N. session will turn into an international shouting match and an ugly one at that.

6. If there are no explosions, Eisenhower might invite Khrushchev to Washington. The President at his Aug. 19 news conference didn't foreclose the possibility, he said he'd invite the Russian if he thought it useful.

7. The major item before the U.N. is disarmament. The Communists have already indicated they want to discuss more than that. The discussions could go on for weeks, the presidential campaign. Meanwhile, who is going to no-

Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy by that time will probably be repeating what they had said before?

Khrushchev could create a sensation if he asked to meet the presidential candidates in public and got into a wrangle with them or showed a preference between them.

The real purpose of his visit has the American government puzzled. There is even speculation that it may simply be timed—to get maximum publicity—to follow some new and spectacular Soviet achievement in space.

But there are other possibilities. 1. That he has such contempt for the United States, it delights him to barge in just at a time when this country thought it was to be free of foreign crises for a while and could concentrate on the presidential race.

2. Or, that it is part of Khrushchev's psychology to keep the west confused and in turmoil by sudden, unpredictable performances which make the Soviets look like well-wishers and the West like villains.

3. Or, that this and previous Khrushchev actions have had their roots deep in his own personality: an unquenchable thirst for attention, with the eyes of the world forced to watch.

Prince as Negotiator

MAKE OVER PAGES

Peace talks have broken down between the Automobile Association and a union representing 30 car clerks fired for going on a one-day strike.

The prince is president of the AA and the girls asked him to intervene. He sent discreet letters to the AA and to the clerical and administrative unions, asking them to settle the dispute.

when it refused to reinstate the clerks.

Johnson to Embark on Campaign Trails

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Tex., shed his congressional mantle today and announced he would embark next week on a 31-state campaign swing as the vice presidential nominee.

Johnson will formally open his back-breaking campaign next Thursday at Boston, the home grounds of his running mate, Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass.

He will leave here by plane for Boston and complete his travels back in Washington, Oct. 22.

Fresh Cement Traps Grocery Store Burglar

OZONE, Ark. — Grocer C. W. Melton couldn't catch the burglar who had been looting his cash register at night. So he poured fresh cement around the entrance to the store. The burglar struck, left his footprints, and police arrested a 16-year-old youth with fresh concrete on his shoes. The money was recovered.

BRIEF REUNION — Linda Sue Beasley, a 12-year-old mother who was jailed for six months in Tampa, Fla., on a forging charge after giving her age as 23, has a brief reunion with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Beasley of Paducah, Ky., and brother Mickey. She is being held in a juvenile home at the request of Kentucky authorities who do not want her released to her parents. She told the story of leaving home in May 1959, having a baby in Lexington, Ky., marrying a 22-year-old man in Cincinnati and finally being arrested in Tampa with her husband who was given a year in prison on the same forgery charge.

Today Anyone Can Have Butler

NEW YORK (NEA)—Big trend, New York's fanciest employment agency reports a record week in butlers—four placed and no complaints from either side.

Now, this may not mean much to you, as American economists have not yet figured out any significance in the butler market. But to our leading social historian, Cleveland Amory, and to butlers everywhere, it is a fragment of evidence that the U. S. may, after all these years, finally be approaching social - graceville.

According to Amory:

"There are probably hundreds of butlers employed in the U. S. today. But this fact does not make it widespread or mean that more people will be hiring butlers."

Butling, he said, is in such a state of decay in the U. S. that most Americans think of Jeeves or some other valet when they picture a butler.

Historically, the true flowering of butlerhood in the U. S. lasted only a brief hour—the end of the last century and beginning of this. Tremendous but grubby fortunes had been made here and needed spending. At the same time in perfect-mannered old England, protocol and impeccable teas were not nearly enough to beat out America's higher salary offers.

And so they came, their bags full of credentials, letters of reference and birth certificates to prove they were butlers in every way. In the beginning, Amory points out, there were certain indignities (i.e. teaching employers how to deal with butlers), but Americans learned fast.

Besides, a smart butler could count on certain extra tips (i.e. $100 per month from housekeepers who wanted to supply the household with goods and services).

"Today," an elder statesman of the Butler's Staff Association said, "the situation is disgusting. Today anybody can have a butler—and worse, anybody can be one."

This retired butler does not want his name used "as it would embarrass his friends on Wall Street." But he says:

Praise undeserved is satire in disguise.—Broadhurst.

U.S. Supreme Court Getting Tough on 7-Year-Old Integration Orders

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Supreme Court has moved to step up the pace of public school integration in several areas at the start of the seventh school year since the desegregation ruling.

Thursday the court rejected pleas for delay at Houston, Tex., largest segregated school system in the South; at New Orleans, where state and federal officials have been at odds for weeks; and in Delaware.

The action led Dr. Henry A. Petersen, president of the Houston School Board, to say he hoped Gov. Price Daniel would forestall integration of the first grades Sept. 7.

The first grade at New Orleans was ordered integrated Sept. 8 by U.S. District Court Judge J. Skelly Wright. However, he granted a delay until Nov. 14 when the board contended it could not implement the ruling at the start of the school year after Gov. Jimmie Davis seized control of the school system Aug. 17.

A three-judge court returned control of the New Orleans schools to the School Board Saturday. But the governor asked the Supreme Court to stay the order.

NO COMMENT

Davis declined comment on the Supreme Court's refusal to do this. But a statement issued through his press secretary declared: "Nothing has happened which has changed the determination of the public officials of the State of Louisiana to continue our system of public education on a basis of separate but equal facilities for both races."

The Supreme Court denied a plea by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that integration begin in New Orleans at the start of the school year Sept. 8 instead of Nov. 14.

The court also rejected a plea to delay effectiveness of a July 13 ruling of the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia that Delaware's grade-a-year plan was too slow. The appellate court Monday ordered a modified plan be prepared for full integration of all grades by the fall of 1961.

While the court was acting in Washington, a NAACP regional director, Ruby Hurley of Atlanta, told a Jacksonville, Fla., news conference that five Negro gangs with 2,000 to 3,000 members were behind most of the vandalism which has taken place in that racially troubled city.

She said Negro leaders were working around the clock to calm the gangs.

For the third year in a row, seven Indian children were thwarted from attending classes with white pupils at a high school in Dunn, N.C. They were taken into custody twice by police and later released without charges.

In Virginia, seven Negro pupils were turned away by school officials when they attempted to register at white schools in Stafford and Portsmouth. In Alabama, a riot broke out during the first day of school in Birmingham when the state's segregated schools reopened next week.

WHAT A CARD!—A Seattle Civic Auditorium sign changer came up with this startling announcement. He had substituted Sen. Kennedy's name for four tag-team wrestlers and then had time to lunch. An hour later the rest of the wrestling card had been replaced with the notice that Kennedy, Sen. Jackson and Gov. Rosellini will appear next Tuesday—but not as a tag team.

Dem's Scored a 'Goose Egg,' Says Halleck

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck says the Democrats scored a "goose egg" during the post-convention session of Congress.

"If it was designed to put the Kennedy-Johnson ticket into orbit, the whole thing fizzled on the launching pad," the Indiana Republican said Thursday.

Asked for a one-word description of the session, Halleck termed it "huttle."

Girls Rate Better Than Boys, Says College in Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Girls are smarter than boys—at least at the University of Florida.

Sorority girls averaged 2.47 grade points during the 1959-60 school year. Fraternity men averaged 2.28. Non-sorority girls averaged 2.35; non-fraternity men 2.21.

Honor points are tallied by using "A" as 4, "B" as 3, "C" as 2 and "D" as 1.

President of His Union for Fifth 2-Year Term

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — James A. Campbell, former Veterans Administration officer here, began his fifth 2-year term today as president of the 75,000-member (AFL-CIO) American Federation of Government Employees.

Iowa Sheriff Continues Holiday Rest Stop Idea

CLARION, Iowa (UPI) — Wright County Sheriff Bob Blecker has invited Labor Day weekend motorists to drop in for a cup of coffee and a "rest stop."

Blecker, who started his coffee break campaign on holiday weekends four years ago, said the stop for rest and refreshment lessens driver fatigue and aids highway safety.

Fluoridated Milk Cuts Tooth Decay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team of scientists reported today that children who drank fluoridated milk with their school lunches showed an 80 per cent reduction in tooth decay.

Five Louisiana State University scientists reported to the fifth International Congress on Nutrition that the decline in dental decay was noted during a 4½-year research project, in which another group of children drank regular milk.

The children in both groups had similar sociological, educational and financial backgrounds and lived in the Baton Rouge, La. area, scientists said.

Storm in Tokyo Causes 36 Fires

TOKYO (UPI) — A severe electrical storm Thursday night caused flash floods, 36 fires, and blacked out more than 300,000 homes throughout Tokyo.

Police said 33 persons were injured, 26 of them in the collision of two trains. Train, bus and streetcar services were suspended because of power failure and 40,000 rained out baseball fans had no way of leaving Korakuen Stadium.

A record three inches of rain fell, lightning struck 51 places, burning out electrical transformers.

Teen Baby Sitter Shot Accidentally by Boy, 13

YARDLEY, Pa. (UPI) — Carol McKissack, 15, was critically wounded last night when she was accidentally shot in the head by a 13-year-old boy for whom she was a baby sitter, police reported.

Summer Shows Over; ... Isn't It Wonderful!

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Hi, September.

The parched, bleak months of network TV — July and August — are behind us at last. Until next July and August, at best, and sooner at worst.

I sometimes have the feeling that the summer rerun cycle is indicted upon TV viewers in order to make us look with eager, panting anticipation to the so-called "new" shows that will comprise much of the so-called "new season."

It's a little like hitting your head with a hammer because it feels so good when you stop.

However, as a public service, I propose to look on the brighter side of things. I'm handing out small puffs of appreciation for July-August programs that displayed some greenery and a little general summertime delectation.

My "cactus" awards go to the following:

Best summer variety series — "The Spike Jones Show," CBS.

Best detective series — "Diagnosis Unknown," CBS.

Best sets — "Moment of Fear," NBC.

Best musical program — "Music for a Summer Night," ABC.

Best public affairs show — "Lippman on Leadership," CBS.

Best full-hour drama — "Shadow of a Pale Horse," on the "U.S. Steel Hour," CBS, with Dan Duryea and Frank Lovejoy.

Best rerun series — "Silent Please," ABC.

Most welcome summertime rerun — "Hollywood Sign," NBC, with Tammy Grimes and Eddie Albert.

Nicest horse — The spotted animal that Jason Evers rides on "Wrangler," NBC.

Stupidest series — "Chevy Mystery Show," NBC.

Worst casting — Red Buttons as a comedy detective in "U.S. Steel Hour" play.

Sickest play of the summer, non-Western variety — "The Third Party" on "Moment of Fear" series, NBC.

Worst doggy pilot — "Maggie," with Margaret O'Brien, seen on

"New Comedy Showcase," CBS.

DIALING AND FILING: Many of the out-of-season reruns in last night's "Wrangler" episode were shot through foliage by director James Yarbrough's cameras. The pity was that the foliage wasn't thick enough. We could still see and hear the actors.

William R. Hart's 25-year-old farewell-to-film speech, included in Thursday night's "Silent Please" on ABC-TV, struck me as a remarkable use of the motion picture medium.

Hart's intensely personal speech blazed a trail for today's TV performers. Come to think of it, so did his cowboy movies.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Teenage idols Frankie Avalon and Fabian will join dancer Gwen Verdon and comedian Shelley Berman on the opening Pottery Commemorative, Oct. 5 on NBC-TV.

Come is taping a show with Bob Hope in Hollywood next Wednesday for viewing on Nov. 16.

Click that! That Saturday night show for ABC-TV, on Sept. 18, will include filmed highlights of the series.

"World Series Special," a half-hour preview honoring the 1960 baseball classic, is set for Tuesday, Oct. 4 on ABC-TV.

Jackie Gleason hopes to star in a one-hour CBS-TV sports special in which he would play golf against Arnold Palmer and billiards against Willie Mosconi.

WILSON: The militia was called and two young militiamen were assigned to watch the body on the road until next day when an inquest could be held.

"One militiaman eventually went hunting for some tea. His partner got bored and went to sleep.

"When the first militiaman returned, the body was gone."

"The farmer's relatives had watched their chance and stolen it."

A fine fix," said Reggie, recounting the story. "They had to have a body."

"Darkness was coming. By chance, along the road came a farmer on a donkey. The farmer was holding on the donkey's back a sack of tomatoes, the current crop."

"They chased the farmer into the trees, murdered him, threw stones at the donkey, and put the dead farmer on the highway, to replace the body that had gone away. They were happy!"

"Next morning the sheriff arrived to conduct the inquest."

"The sheriff said to the militiaman. This doesn't look like the same body that was here yesterday."

"They said, 'Are you crazy, sheriff? Where would anybody get another body?'"

"The sheriff took them aside and said, 'Now this is not the same body. Who is this man?'"

"By promising them leniency, he got them to confess, but he said, 'Wait, there is one thing weak in this story. What about the sack of tomatoes? Where is it?'"

"The militiamen laughed at his new doubts and led him to the weeds in the woods. There was the sack. They opened it. It contained the dismembered body of the farmer's wife which he was planning to bury that night."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . . Millette Alexander'll play Jackie Gleason's secretary on his "Million Dollar Incident" TVer. . . . Baseball magnate Bill Veeck's around town, the only guy allowed in the plush spots minus a tie. . . . Veteran comic Ray Atwell, a pioneer in radio and now in his 80s, will try a showbiz comeback.

EARL'S PEARLS: Taffy Tuttle says she's gonna vote a straight ticket this year — as soon as she decides which party is going straight.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The rich Texan had trouble finding a place to park his Cadillac. So he gave it away and bought one that was already parked.

Sad Tale From Egypt Where Life Is Cheap

By EARL WILSON

LONDON — When you talk about the Third World War coming up, you should remember that a single life doesn't mean much in Russia, or Red China, or even the Middle East.

A British gentleman, Reggie Brammel, long a big landholder in Egypt, and a friend of mine for 10 years, has just told me a true short story about life and death around Cairo.

"Poetic Justice," he calls the tale. "Late one afternoon near one of my farms, Reggie, who is now visiting London, told me, 'a fight broke out between some nomads and the farmers — and a farmer was killed.'"

"The militia was called and two young militiamen were assigned to watch the body on the road until next day when an inquest could be held."

"One militiaman eventually went hunting for some tea. His partner got bored and went to sleep."

"When the first militiaman returned, the body was gone."

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog is covered with ticks. What is the best way to remove them? F. D. of Pluma, Canada.

A. This problem seems to be increasing every year. The tick, a relative of the mite and spider, not only bites and bleeds the dog, it is an insidious carrier of disease.

I have no objection to removing ticks individually when only a few are present, but often the head is left buried in the dog and this can cause abscesses.

In the case of your tick-laden pet, he should be dipped once a week in a good tick-dip, and powdered or sprayed every two or three days during the tick season.

Your veterinarian or pet-store can supply you with these preparations.

Of course, it is practically impossible to rid the woods or your yard of these pests, but if they have invaded the woodwork in your home, I'm afraid they often do, they can be destroyed only by a professional exterminator.

Police Chief Fixed Her Ticket, All Right

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A woman driver cut across two lanes of traffic Thursday, parked her car in a bus stop facing the wrong way and tripped into headquarters where she asked Police Chief Joe Kimsey to fix a traffic ticket.

Kimsey ordered a policeman on duty to give her another traffic citation for illegal parking.

Stevenson Pushing for Atlantic Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adlai E. Stevenson says the time for diplomatic talk is over and the time for action is here in meeting the rising Communist economic and political challenge.

The 1962 and 1966 Democratic presidential candidate proposed as a major step the formation of a new Atlantic council to map a common Western policy against Russia.

In a speech to the American Bar Association Thursday night, Stevenson said such a council could outline new common policies for defense, disarmament, space exploration and a massive effort in underdeveloped areas.

Two Boys Exonerated in Ann Arbor Blaze

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Ann Arbor police have exonerated two boys, aged 8 and 9, in the $500,000 Montgomery Ward fire here Tuesday night.

The boys admitted starting a fire behind the store on the day of the blaze, but it was determined that this did not touch off the flames which gutted the interior of the store.

Fire department officials were unable to agree, however, on just what caused the blaze.
