'Christmas on Wheels' Brings Santa to Pontiac

Today Is Moving Day

Monday to Mark Opening of Public Safety Building

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Pontiac's magnificent new Public Safety Building will be open formally for business Monday morning.

Today and tomorrow moving vans will be shuttling from the ancient police station and municipal court buildings to the $950,000 structure in the Civic Center, next to the City Hall.

MOVING DAY — File cabinets containing police records are moved into the new Public Safety Building this morning. Along with the police department, the municipal court will move today to complete occupancy of the $950,000 structure. Both organizations will be open for business Monday morning at the new location.

QUARTERS SPACE

The new building, completely paid for from the city's capital improvements fund, will offer spacious quarters to the police department, an office for the fire chief, offices for the two municipal judges and their clerk, two courtrooms, a violations bureau and a new city jail.

The building has a stone front and light buff brick sides which blend it with the neighboring City Hall. Utilizing the hill site, the basement is below grade in front, but ongrade in the rear.

In addition, it has two stories, making a three-story building of reinforced concrete. Partitions are of painted cinder block, with floors of asphalt tile. Pale green is the dominant color throughout, with yellow as an alternate. Aluminum window sashes are used, with removable screens.

The first floor houses the major police department offices. Included are a huge detective bureau, traffic violations bureau where drivers licenses will be issued and traffic tickets paid, and offices for the top police officials and the fire chief.

A large desk in the front lobby will be used by the desk sergeant to receive the public. Separate offices for the traffic division and the identifications bureau are provided.

Off the detective bureau is the show up room where prisoners can be seen but cannot see witnesses. Smaller interrogation rooms also are provided.

On the second floor, the prison occupies a large part of the space. Here are cells for men and women, some for single occupants and others that hold up to six prisoners apiece.

A kitchen will provide food for

Thousands Jam Downtown Area to View Parade

Bands, Floats Starred in Colorful Spectacle Two Hours Long

By PETE LOCHBILER

The Christmas season bowed into Pontiac today as the 1957 "Christmas on Wheels" parade started rolling on South Saginaw street this afternoon.

Thousands jammed Saginaw and Oakland avenue as the first units of the colorful spectacle moved out from the Turk street marshaling area to begin a two-hour-long pageant through downtown Pontiac to Sanderson street.

Church bells were ringing and smartly uniformed bands prepared for the first notes of their stirring marches and carols while hundreds of participants on the eye-catching floats took their stations.

★ ★ ★

When the 2 p.m. signal was given, the motorcycle escorts kicked over their engines and the first strident notes were sounded by the leading Pontiac High School Band, one of eight bands that began the mile-long trek before the cheering, waving youngsters and their parents, who lined the curb three and four deep at places.

Right after the motorcycles came a smart-stepping Army Reserve color guard, followed by the brilliant Pontiac band and the official car of the Downtown Pontiac Assn., sponsor of the parade this year.

Then came the first of the 26 floats, all towed by brand new, glittering 1958 Pontiac automobiles.

Church floats dramatically depicting Nativity scenes led this section of the parade. There were 14 floats with 15 churches participating (St. Vincent de Paul and St. Michael Churches combined their efforts.)

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

Such familiar scenes as the "Star of Bethlehem," "Angels and the Shepherds" and the "Prince of Peace" vividly recalled the Christmas story.

Other churches with floats were First Free Methodist, Reorganized

Navy to Launch Orb Wednesday

Plans for Sending Test Satellite Into Sky From Florida

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy today set next Wednesday as the target date for rocketing the first American Earth satellite into space.

It was learned that key personnel throughout the Navy's $110,000,000 "Project Vanguard" have been alerted to expect the launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., on the third working day of next week.

If completely successful, the launching will place a 6.4-inch radio-equipped aluminum sphere in an orbit varying from about 300 to possibly 1,500 miles in altitude.

Such a satellite would continue to circle the earth every 90 minutes for approximately a year. With its solar batteries, the U.S. sputnik may continue to broadcast on 108 megacycles until it "decays" into the atmosphere.

In event of delay, the Navy is determined not to permit loss of more than a week.

Ike Roots for Army; Progress Excellent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower, reported making excellent progress recovering from a mild stroke, roots today for his West Point alma mater in watching the Army-Navy football game on television.

Eisenhower arrived at his farm from Washington by automobile early yesterday afternoon, just four days after suffering a blockage of a small brain artery.

Continuing to snap back, Eisenhower prowled happily around the farm and enjoyed a visit with his four small grandchildren.

At dinner time, the President's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, sent word to newsmen that his patient's recovery progress "continues to be excellent."

There still was no word whether Eisenhower will remain at the farm for the weekend or plan a more extended visit. His doctors have ordered several weeks of rest before he returns full time to his White House desk.

There was advance word, however, on Eisenhower's plans to pull up a chair in front of his

BULLETINS

LONDON (AP)—A British scientific research ship with about 58 persons aboard struck an iceberg and may be sinking today in lonely Antarctic waters. Nearest rescue ships were hundreds of miles away.

The last messages from the research ship Shackleton said she was in the area of the South Orkneys and was headed for a cove for beaching. But she said water was rising between her decks and boats were slung out ready to abandon ship.

The ship carried supplies for 7 of the 11 British bases in the Antarctic which can be reached by sea only during the short summer of the ice world. She left England Oct. 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO officials said today the separate central labor organizations in 15 states, which have not yet merged, will not be able to send delegates to the AFL-CIO convention opening Dec. 5.

The states involved are California, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.

Cold for Weekend, Warmer Monday

Snow flurries, beginning early this morning, covered the Pontiac area today. This afternoon it will become colder as snow flurries end and skies clear.

For tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts clear and cold for the Pontiac area. The low is expected to be around 20 to 24 degrees.

The outlook for tomorrow is partly cloudy and cold with a high near 32. Monday will be partly cloudy and warmer.

★ ★ ★

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 30. At 1 p.m. the reading was 29.

Flu Reported Declining

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Public Health Service today reported a sharp decline in influenza cases — including the Asian type—throughout the nation.

He Talks Turkey to Judge

Off-Beat Alibi Beats Rap

Johnny Johnson, 31, had one yesterday when he answered a charge of drunkenness. He said he had been chasing his rooster when officers arrested him in front of the small downtown hotel where he lives.

"I might have looked drunk, but I was just tuckered out," he explained. "That rooster was hard to catch."

"Are you sure?" asked the judge

"Yes, sir, judge," said Johnson. "That rooster had just been given to me as a pet. He was nervous, it being Thanksgiving and all, and he got loose."

★ ★ ★

The judge pondered. "That's the most outlandish alibi I've ever heard," he said finally. "It's so outlandish I'm letting you go. Case dismissed."

Churchill Celebrates 83rd Birthday Today

LONDON (INS) — Sir Winston Churchill observes his 83rd birthday today by breaking with tradition and inviting an outsider to the family celebration—his old comrade, Field Marshal Lord Montgomery.

Sir Winston's family and Montgomery will gather with the portly and now slow-moving World War II leader at his home in Chartwell, Kent.

There won't be enough room for 83 candles atop the 15-pound special cake so a single one will light the sentimental inscription with which most Britons will agree:

"Of ambitious hopes we yet may sing while England still has men like you."

★ ★ ★

All of the family will be on hand with the exception of actress daughter, Sarah who is in the United States. Most of his nine grandchildren are expected to visit the aged leader during the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Churchill, who has lived to see himself become a legend and even to see the legend attacked, will turn an hour of his birthday evening over to watching a telecast of a documentary paying tribute to him.

The press trotted out its warmest salutes to "Winnie."

Said the Daily Express:

"On his 83rd birthday the old lion has more surely than ever

Rocket Plunging Earthward Fast

Huge Radio Telescope Finally Sights Doomed Sputnik Carrier

LONDON (INS) — The world's largest radio telescope succeeded today in locating Sputnik I's rocket carrier. It was plunging earthward—fast.

★ ★ ★

Scientists manning the Nordell Bank radio telescope—after being unable since yesterday to track the rocket which carried the first earth satellite into the heavens Oct. 4—had thought it might already have come down.

The rocket's position yesterday was described as "critical"—not more than 120 miles above the earth.

The rocket, which was very close to Sputnik in their orbits about the earth for several days after the launching, has been dropping little by little. As it came more under the influence of gravity, its speed increased, making precise tracking difficult.

Scientists around the world have been expecting the fiery earthward plunge for many days. They expected to see the display as the rocket burned up in the heavy atmosphere in its fall toward the earth.

The rocket shell was expected to be completely burned, but an American scientist, Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, has said the rocket's heavy motor might survive.

The Russians have made no announcement to indicate that the rocket has fallen.

Pot-O-Gold Now at $1,200

Cash for Yule Shopping

Out of almost 11,000 entries for last week's Pot-O-Gold contest, several came within an answer or two of being winners, but none hit the nail right on the head.

That means the pot for the current puzzle is worth $1,200.

That much extra cash at holiday time would be a great blessing to most people, and you're just as apt to win it as anyone else. Be sure to have your entry for this week's puzzle (which appeared in yesterday's paper) postmarked by midnight Tuesday.

Navy Missile, Launched Underwater, Threat to Enemy

Polaris May Remove Bull's Eye on Cities

By DARRELL GARWOOD
Atomic Science Editor, INS

WASHINGTON — The dark horse among America's 5,100 mile missiles, the Navy's submarine-launched "Polaris," is closing fast in the race to match Russia's intermediate rocket potential.

★ ★ ★

The promise of the Polaris is that it will "remove the bull's eye" from American cities in case of nuclear attack by drawing the enemy's fire toward the menace from the sea. The underwater launchers may also take some of the heat off missile bases the U.S. plans abroad.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

That is the word from Rear Adm. William F. Raborn Jr., chief of the Polaris project, who said in an interview today that the Navy's long-range "bird" is "ahead of schedule" and is "closing fast on the operational dates of the Air Force Thor and Army Jupiter."

The Jupiter and Thor are to be deployed in England in 1958 and in continental Europe in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Raborn declared the navy, starting later, will get "a very much smaller, more compact, faster-firing" missile that can be launched "without loss of accuracy" at deep inland targets from beneath the surface of the sea.

CARRY A WARHEAD

The Polaris will carry a smaller but "most adequate" nuclear warhead. Its unique feature among the long-range missiles is that it will burn solid fuel instead of the highly-volatile liquids that propel the Jupiter and Thor.

★ ★ ★

Raborn, who works closely with those in charge of construction of submarines to launch the missile, said "the beauty of our plan is that it will take the bull's eye off our country."

He continued: "These missile carriers deployed over the seven seas cannot be ignored by an enemy. He must return their fire; he will not know where they are until they fire.

"We think the uncertainty factor here will make our missile subs more of a deterrent to war than the land bases an enemy can see and plan to destroy.

"And if necessary, we think we can get missiles into the air before an enemy's long-range rockets can reach their targets."

The two-star officer said "our flight test program using flight test vehicles" has been under way "for some time" at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

★ ★ ★

Whereas liquid fueled rockets rise gradually, he said, the Polaris takes off at much greater speed, more like a bullet. "If you're looking the other way," he said, "they're gone before you see them."

★ ★ ★

Raborn said an "expanded program" for both missiles and subs will be presented to Congress. The Polaris is to be built by Lockheed of Sunnyvale, Calif., which received a $62,000,000 "further development" contract Oct. 23.

The project director said the gap between the power-per-pound of liquid and solid rocket fuels has been "considerably narrowed," and that in any case the solid type was essential for subs because of greater reliability and safety.

"In launching a missile from a submarine or surface ship," he said, "it's like firing a rocket from your housetop with the family inside. You can't be a quarter of a mile away when the thing goes off."

One of the main reasons the Polaris is smaller and more economical than other intermediate range missiles, he said, is that the Navy's later start made possible the use of "more advanced components."

But he also made clear he believes solid fuels may eventually replace liquid types in land-based missiles.

Straley Denies Rooms Bugged

Says Intercom Systems in New Quarters Are Just Too Sensitive

Pontiac Chief of Police Herbert W. Straley denied yesterday persistent rumors in his department that the new public safety building is "bugged."

A number of officers said the building is equipped with intercommunications systems so sensitive that those at the master controls can hear even a whisper in almost every room and cooridor.

★ ★ ★

Straley, in whose office one of the five master controls is located, said "We have a fine communication system designed to page persons all through the building and through which they can answer without going to a box."

"If any background noise can be heard, it is purely unintentional. The system has to be fairly sensitive to pick up replies."

The officers claimed that the five master stations could overhear private talks between officers, between attorneys and clients, or between officers and the public.

The chief pointed out that due to last minute changes in the building some of the intercommunication system needed revision. "We have several crossed wires and other things to iron out. How can anyone judge the system before it is in proper working order."

Errol Flynn Sues Policeman in His Drunk Arrest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn has filed a $250,000 damage suit against a policeman who arrested him on a drunk charge.

Flynn charged in the action, brought yesterday, that officer William Friedman made the arrest "maliciously and with intent to oppress and injure" him.

Friedman was off duty when he arrested the 48-year-old actor Oct. 19 at the Screen Publicists' Ball at the Riviera Country Club. Flynn was taken to jail and released on bail.

The charge subsequently was dismissed.

The country club also was named a defendant in the suit.

Moroccan Monarch Rests Up in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — King Mohammed V of Morocco maintained silence on international developments affecting his homeland today as he rested here before flying to visit the giant King Ranch in south Texas.

★ ★ ★

Sources with his party said the visiting ruler had received no official dispatches and therefore felt unqualified to discuss reports of fighting with Spanish forces in Ifni, the troubled territory on Morocco's west coast.

Mohammed V was expected to have something to say later today, however, about two votes of confidence the French Assembly yesterday gave Premier Felix Gaillard on plans to retain French rule in rebellious Algeria—proposals already rejected by the rebels.

After a busy day in which he saw a sample of America's industrial might, the King decided to stay in Dallas until midafternoon. He had planned earlier to leave this morning for the King Ranch. A spokesman said Mohammed was a bit weary and wanted to rest.

One source with the King's party said there was reason for grave concern in a reported order by Morocco Crown Prince Moulay Hassan for the royal army to fight back against Spanish troops he accused of attacking Moroccan territory.

★ ★ ★

Spanish officials have claimed that Moroccan irregulars bent on freeing their colony of Ifni, on the western bulge of Africa, attacked Spanish outposts. Morocco laid the attacks to Ifnian tribesmen.

Before the French Assembly votes of confidence, Premier Gaillard rejected a Moroccan-Tunisian offer for political mediation in Algeria, but welcomed help in achieving a cease-fire in the three-year-old North African war.

While none with the visiting King's party was willing to be quoted, reaction to the Paris developments appeared to be a feeling that France was unwise in turning down a determined effort by Mohammed's government to ease tension in Algeria, Modocco's closest neighbor.

The King flew here from Williamsburg, Va., yesterday on a 16-day tour of the United States. In south Texas his visit will be at the state's largest ranch, covering more than one million acres.

the prisoners and there are separate offices for the turnkeys.

Also on the second floor are offices for the juvenile and women's divisions.

One end of the building is for the use of the municipal court. Here are two modern courtrooms with the judges' chambers directly behind them.

★ ★ ★

A large separate room with a counter will serve the court clerk and his girls. Here the public can transact court business. The constables also have separate facilities and a room for attorneys is provided.

In the basement is a small gym for workouts by the officers, a shooting range which is being left incomplete for now as an economy measure, and locker rooms for 125 officers.

The sergeants also have a room in the basement for making out reports.

Other basement rooms are for the communications and radio repair squad and an ammunition loading and storage room.

The basement features, too, the new police garage where repair on vehicles will be done. There is also an indoor area where prisoners can be brought into the building from the rear.

The sole elevator in the building picks up prisoners from the basement and can take them directly to the detective bureau on the first floor or the jail on the second.

The elevator contains a special security door inside which seals the prisoners off from the detectives while the car is in motion.

A public elevator was deleted from the plans to cut costs, but space for it is provided.

Designed by the late Leo J. Heenan, working closely with Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, the building was started in March of 1956. It replaces a conglomeration of rented and city-owned buildings.

TOKYO (AP) — The wheels of justice literally froze to a halt today in Japan's austere Supreme Court.

The courtroom is not heated until December and no one is permitted to wear an overcoat during the session.

A recess was called, blankets were brought in for all involved in the proceedings and the bailiff gave spectators permission to don overcoats. Then court resumed.

Accused Slayer Flags Hearing

Bay City Man Charged With Murdering His Ex-Wife With Ax

BAY CITY (AP) — A 68-year-old Bay City man has been charged with first degree murder in the ax-slaying of his forme. wife.

Louis Boyat waived examination when arraigned on the charge before Municipal Judge Leon Dardas. He was bound over to Circuit Court.

Boyat is accused in the death of Mrs. Helen Boyat, 55, of Bay City. She had been bludgeoned with the hammer end of an ax while examining Boyat's new house trailer. Prosecutor James Wood said she had been hit five times.

Mrs. Boyat had been visiting a married daughter, Mrs. LaVern Reno, who lives near Boyat's. Wood said she was invited by Boyat to look over his new trailer.

★ ★ ★

State Police Sgt. Lyle Hall said Boyat, who had been divorced from Mrs. Boyat since 1940, told troopers he found her "snooping through the trailer and beat her over the head after an argument."

Reno said Boyat came to his home in a dazed condition after Mrs. Boyat had left and said: "I guess I must be crazy. I think I've killed her."

Boyat then surrendered to state police.

Then the youngsters' special section arrived, eight floats with toyland themes, all prepared by children to honor childhood's favorite holiday.

The toyland display was introduced to the crowds by floats sponsored by the 4-H Club and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The first six Toyland spectacles were sponsored, respectively by Mark Twain School, Bagley School, Will Rogers School, Pontiac Boys' Club and Eastern Junior High School.

Setting them off were bands from Clarkston and Waterford Township High Schools, the Detroit Edison Company's calliope, the Dreyer sister majorette team, floats sponsored by Pontiac High School and the YMCA, and the Oxford High School Band.

Two further appearances, by the Pontiac junior high schools' massed band and the Waterford Saddle Club, cleared the way for the parade's climax.

On a dazzling float prepared by pupils at Wever and Hawthorne Schools came the star of the parade, Santa Claus, complete with red suit, white beard and a friendly wave to every child.

Youngsters, some standing on shoulders and others leaning out of upper floor windows in the crowded downtown area, hailed Santa's appearance with a final burst of cheers.

The Day in Birmingham

Will Name Co-ordinator for Community Services

BIRMINGHAM — Charles B. Kass, Council on Community Services president, has announced the approval for an executive secretary of the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin Chapter. He said the sanction on the local coordinator came from both the United Foundation and the CCS of Detroit.

The new secretary, as yet unnamed, will work from a Birmingham office as a liaison between welfare, health and recreation organizations. Kass explained that the post will eliminate much duplication of effort as well as bring to light many unfilled needs.

Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham, active in the local family service agency, has been named to the committee which will attempt to find the CCS director.

Kass estimated that the budget for the new post will be at least $10,000 a year. He said the new director would work as much as the office demanded, even up to full time.

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will hold an officers' training session at the church Tuesday. Guest leader of the 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. session will be Mrs. Maude Pino.

The session is for all officers and leaders of guilds and circles making up the association. Each is asked to bring the handbook used in its work and a Bible. Luncheon reservations will be received at the church office until noon Monday.

Carol August Pacquard

Service for Carol August Pacquard, 45, of 2755 Coventry Rd., Columbus, Ohio, are pending at the Manley-Bailey Funeral Home. He died at William Beaumont Hospital yesterday noon following a heart attack.

He had come to Birminghanm to attend a football game and to visit friends.

A native of Texas, he was a graduate of the University of Arizona and a member of Sigma Chi. He had lived in Columbus for 11 years and was manager of the Pallock Paper Co.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia; a son, Greg, his mother and two sisters.

Mrs. Sophie B. Peters

Service will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. for Mrs. Sophie Peters, 90, of 3755 West Maple Rd. She died yesterday at her home after a brief illness. Burial will be in Chicago.

A native of Norway, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Damon S. Gall, with whom she had lived the past 17 years, and Mrs. Lee R. Hayes of Toledo; two sons, Harold A. of North Tonawanda, N. Y., and Walter B. of Springfield, Mo. A sister, Mrs. Emil A. Stavick of Denver, Colo., also survives.

Attorney, Wife Take Lives

She Picks Same Fate Without Knowing How He Died

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A prominent Detroit attorney was found hanged in his room at University Hospital here yesterday. Six hours later his wife, who wasn't told how her husband died, ended her life the same way in the couple's home in Grosse Pointe Park outside of Detroit.

Both bodies were found hanging by bathrobe cords.

Physicians said G. Leslie Field, 64, who entered the hospital 10 days ago, was suffering from "severe depression." His body was found in the bathroom of his private room.

Mrs. Pauline Field, 63, had not been informed of the manner of her husband's death. A family friend told her only that Field had died "of a heart attack."

Her body was found a short time later.

Field was defense counsel in the trial here last spring that resulted in the acquittal of Phillip J. Singer on a charge of murder in the 1953 slaying of an 18-year-old Detroit coed, Jo Ann Gillespie.

A graduate of the University of Michigan law school, Field practiced law since 1919.

TV set and watch the Army take on Navy in Philadelphia. As commander in chief of all the armed forces, Eisenhower publicly takes no sides.

The talk around the White House always has been, however, that the reason Eisenhower never has gone to an Army-Navy football game as President is that he would find it difficult, if not impossible, to be impartial in the stands.

ON FOR ARMY

He has made it a practice each year to telegraph best wishes to both teams the day of the big game. But he has been known to add a line to the West Point wire, leaving no doubt he's still pulling for the school where he played football more than 40 years ago.

Snyder traveled from Washington with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, and is staying at the family's country home. The doctor will make a daily check on Eisenhower's condition and make up his mind soon — along with consulting physicians—whether to let the President go to Paris for the Dec. 16-18 NATO summit meeting.

On arrival at the farm yesterday, the President had lunch, napped for about an hour and then walked and rode around his acreage for about 70 minutes.

The President's grandchildren and their parents, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, are at the farm for the weekend. They are staying at their own small home about a half mile from the main farm house.

James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, said Eisenhower planned to stop at his son's home to visit the grandchildren, but changed his mind and had the youngsters come to the big house when the President found that photographers had cameras, equipped with telescopic lenses, trained on him from a distance.

Hagerty appealed to the photographers to refrain from such efforts while the President "is in this recuperating period . . . particularly when he wants to visit his grandchildren."

Aides will put before the President during his stay at the farm any government business which must have his attention. But every effort is being made to keep his work load as light as possible.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Which is heavier—snow, sleet or rain?

Snow is the lightest of the three kinds of precipitation. Sleet is next and is much heavier than snow. Rain is the heaviest of the three.

Some people do not realize that a foot or two of snow is not an unusually heavy fall. Snow is so light that a fraction of an inch of rain is often the equivalent to more than a foot of snow!

Sleet is the most damaging and most dangerous of the three types of precipitation, causing slippery highways, foliage damage and adding excessive weight to wires, etc.

One can actually keep warm in snow, if he burrows down deep and takes advantage of its insulation—in very cold climates.

Lakes southward to the mid-Mississippi Valley.

An area stretching from the central Rockies and northern plains to the Great Lakes was turned into a vast icebox.

Fraser, Colo., high in the Rockies, had a reading of 18 below zero. Generally, temperatures ranged from 10 above to a few degrees below zero from the eastern Dakotas eastward into northwest Wisconsin.

There was a tongue of warm southerly wind which eased the freeze in Idaho and western Montana, but temperatures still were in the 20s and 30s.

Temperatures in the extreme southeast were in the mild 60s and 70s. This area had widespread showers and thunderstorms and some severe thunderstorm activity was in store for much of Georgia and extreme northern Florida as the cold air seeped into the region. Friday night, a tornado struck near Alma, Ga., a rural community, hurting 12 persons, destroying some property and killing some livestock.

★ ★ ★

Snow flurries fell in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley region.

In the far West, nighttime temperatures in interior portions ranged from 10 to 20 degrees. Skies were fair into California but the Pacific northwest had cloudy skies and showers.

Southern California was whipped by winds reaching 80 m.p.h. Friday night. The big blow fanned bush fires and raised dust storms.

Opera Tenor Gigli Dies of Heart Attack

ROME (INS) — Famed Metropolitan Opera tenor Beniamino Gigli died today at his home of a heart attack.

The 67-year-old singer gained fame on three continents for his opera and concert appearances.

Gigli created the tenor role in Mascagni's Lodoletta at the Metropolitan and sang many other roles at the New York Opera house as well as in major houses of Europe and Latin America.

He was born in Recanati Italy in March 1890 and studied under Prof. Enrico Rosati at the Rome Conservatory.

Gigli was married and had two children.

Science Group to Work With White House

Tighten Unity on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has moved to tighten White House coordination of the U.S. effort to speed scientific and technological progress.

★ ★ ★

The White House announced yesterday that the 12-member Science Advisory Committee, organized initially under the Office of Defense Mobilization, will work directly with the White House hereafter.

★ ★ ★

And the statement — issued in Gettysburg, Pa., where Eisenhower is convalescing from a slight stroke—also said the group would be expanded to a membership of 17.

★ ★ ★

The White House announcement came as U.S. specialists continued final preparations leading up to the launching of the first American satellite, expected sometime next week.

The announcement also coincided with predictions from some U.S. scientists that the rocket from Russia's Sputnik I may plunge to earth tomorrow, and that it might fall in North America.

Dr. John P. Hagen of Washington, director of the U.S. Navy's satellite program, told a St. Louis audience last night:

"For those who feel critical of the United States position in the satellite effort, I might suggest the proper course is to wait until the end of the International Geophysical Year (December 1958) and tally the significance of the scientific advances which have been made in our satellites."

The first U.S. moonlet will be a small 6.4-inch test sphere, the forerunner of larger and more fully instrumented globes which are scheduled for launching beginning in March.

★ ★ ★

The White House statement on the advisory committee change explained the move in these terms:

★ ★ ★

"This action was taken in order that there would be a more direct relationship between the committee, the President and Dr. James R. Killian Jr., his newly appointed special assistant for science and technology. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Killian is on leave from his job as president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Eisenhower announced Nov. 7 he was naming Killian his aide with the assignment of eliminating delay and interservice rivalry in the missiles and related fields. But the scope of Killian's authority has not been spelled out publicly.

★ ★ ★

The committee, headed by Dr. I. I. Rabi, Columbia University physicist, formerly was known as the Science Advisory Committee. It now will be designated the Committee.

The five new members added to the advisory group are:

★ ★ ★

Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, chairman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and a vice president of the Shell Oil Co.; Dr. R. F. Bacher, physics professor at the California Institute of Technology; Dr. E. M. Purcell, physics professor at Harvard University; Dr. Herbert York, director of the Livermore Laboratory at the University of California; and Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, chemistry professor at Harvard.

Mother of Met Star Renata Tebaldi Dies

NEW YORK (INS)—Mrs. Josephine Barbieri Tebaldi, mother and constant companion of Metropolitan Opera star Renata Tebaldi, died today of a heart attack she suffered Nov. 21.

Her daughter, who is considered perhaps the greatest operatic soprano in the world, immediately cancelled her scheduled performance this afternoon in "Aida," which was to be broadcast on a nationwide radio hookup.

Boat Reaches Safety

MANILA (INS) — A 120-ton Philippine fishing boat which flashed distress signals that it was sinking reached the Philippine island of Batongong safely today with 100 Filipo fishermen.

Scientist Slaps Loyalty Policies

Dr. Condon Charges Ike Administration With Persecution

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon last night accused the Eisenhower administration of having been "committed by policy to persecution of scientists or, at the very least, to a callous indifference toward what others were doing to attack and discredit them."

★ ★ ★

The controversial former head of the U.S. Bureau of Standards said Russia's scientific progress has not surprised "those who have known dozens of cases of scientists who have been hounded out of jobs by silly disloyalty charges."

"The evil consequences of bad policies have come home to roost in a way that is plain for all to see," Condon told a meeting of the American Physical Society.

He reviewed his own security hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities a decade ago and said dozens of scientists had been "hounded out of jobs by silly disloyalty charges."

★ ★ ★

Singling out Vice President Nixon, who was a member of the House committee at the time, Dr. Condon said:

"While we are rich and powerful, we have not been true to the principles of freedom for which we stand.

"We have allowed those principles to be undermined and weakened by men like the one who may move into the White House, in case the illness of the President proves to be more serious than we have been told."

★ ★ ★

Condon is now head of the physics department at Washington University here.

Rain Drenches Field

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Intermittent rain drenched Municipal Stadium in advance of the Army-Navy football game today. But the weatherman hopefully predicted it would end by game time. Windy, clearing and colder weather was forecast for later in the day. Temperatures ranged in the 50s.

the devotion of the nation he saved."

CRITICISM CRITICIZED

The Daily Telegraph pointed a finger at wartime commanders responsible for recent books and articles criticizing some aspects of Churchill's wartime leadership.

The paper said no better birthday present could be given Churchill than a "self-denying ordinance among the writers of vinegary memoirs to refrain from publication for at least a year."

A solitary candle will flicker atop Sir Winston's cake, but the rich contents are sure to be to his liking.

Hungarian-born Madame Maria Floris of the London confectionary firm which designed the cake noted:

"It's a good cake with plenty of brandy and fruit."

Manzipan and laurel leaves will be entwined around the candle, and the cake itself will be decked with marzipan, autumn leaves and crocuses.

HE'S STILL ACTIVE

The years show on the former Prime Minister, but he is still active with pen and brush, and his occasional speeches can still provoke arguments.

Even a stroke in 1953 shortly before he was to confer with President Eisenhower and the then French Premier in Bermuda has failed to leave telltale signs.

It was not until nearly two years later that the nature of his "rest" leave became known generally when he told the House of Commons that "I was struck down by a very sudden illness which paralyzed me completely, physically."

His slowness in moving doesn't bar frequent appearances in Commons, but he now leaves the speechmaking to younger men.

He has made a regular habit of spending part of every year in France enjoying the sun. He also makes occasional visits to Monte Carlo and Italy and even turns out for some club meetings in London.

Plane Crashes in South Pole

No One Hurt as Navy Transport Hits Snow at Little America

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica (AP)—A Navy Super DC3 transport plane carrying Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, scientists and newsmen crash-landed on fire late last night after a flight here from McMurdo Sound.

★ ★ ★

All aboard escaped injury as the plane skidded in on a cushion of snow.

The trouble began when a ski on the starboard side dipped forward as the transport approached for a landing.

★ ★ ★

As the two-engine plane bounced roughly in the air, Cdr. Vernon Coley of Oakland, Calif., the pilot, and Cdr. Edward Frankiewicz of Rutland, Vt., co-pilot, threw an extra load on the starboard motor in an effort to restore the balance.

★ ★ ★

The motor blew three cylinders and caught fire from leading gasoline.

The plane struck soft snow about two feet deep, skidded at a slant across the runway and stopped with the tip of the starboard wing buried in snow and the port wing high in the air.

★ ★ ★

The crew leaped from the plane to fight the blaze, and a station crash wagon arrived to complete the job.

Burial Vaults Deal Out Death to 3 Men

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) — Burial vaults became death-dealing instruments in a strange accident at a railroad crossing last night.

A truck carrying three concrete burial vaults slowed down for the crossing, but a car behind it did not, sheriff's deputies said.

★ ★ ★

The impact of the car colliding with the rear of the truck sent the burial vaults sliding to the pavement. Fragments of the vaults crashed through the car's windshield, decapitating the driver and crushing his two companions.

The three dead men, all from Lima, Ohio, were identified as Edward Eugene Short, 33, the driver; James Oliver King, 42, and Frank Willard Keller, 37.

The accident happened on U.S. 127, three miles south of here.

The truck driver, William F. Meyer, 60, of Rt. 1, Jackson Center, Ohio, was hospitalized with minor injuries.

Waterford Eagles to Hold 1st 'Youth Guidance Day'

Tomorrow has been proclaimed "Youth Guidance Day" in Waterford Township, by supervisor Elmer Johnson.

A nationwide organization known as the Youth Guidance Commission, under the auspices of the Waterford Township Fraternal Order of Eagles will conduct a drive to raise money for activities for all youngsters from 7 to 14 years of age, living in the area.

An old covered wagon will transport canvassers through Waterford Township streets for the door-to-door campaign, and an illuminated copy of the Ten Commandments, in color, will be given all those who contribute to the fund.

Although the project has been carried on throughout the United States every year, this is the first time that Waterford Township Eagles have attempted such a program.

★ ★ ★

They plan to make this an annual event, to be undertaken during the first week in December.

All funds will go to advancing youth activities and buying new equipment, which will be installed on the acreage behind the new Eagles Hall now under construction on M-59 near Crescent Lake road.

Many young people have been participating in the Eagles activity program, but because so many more youngsters have become interested, it is necessary to acquire additional funds to expand the program, according to chairman Dick Morin.

So far, the program has included hikes, educational trips by bus, safety classes, baseball games, first aid classes and other child guidance activities.

Are Your Answers Like These?

The following are the correct answers and explanations to the Pot-O-Gold puzzle that appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (1) BUBBLE. A beautiful soap BUBBLE could be quite important to a child as an object of his own creation. As for Bauble, a trinket or child's toy, there is no reason to stress beautiful. All his toys are important to a child.

B. (3) SPOTTY. "After a while" is the clue that points to SPOTTY, for sooner or later, clothes with stains that defy cleaning will become annoying. Shoddy (poor quality) clothes, will be annoying from the start, even to someone who is forced to put up with them.

C. (5) DEFEAT. A DEFEAT is what the manager hopes to avoid. Even a winning team is bound to have more than one Defect.

D. (8) PORTAGE. With Postage, guessing can really be eliminated. There is no reason why the object can't be weighed and the postal charges figured accurately from the established rates. With PORTAGE, a varying human element is involved, with an uncertain amount of time, too. These factors prevent guessing how much a PORTAGE (carrying of goods or boats) will cost.

E. (10) CHUCKLE. A CHUCKLE or laugh is contagious. Kids will readily respond to one with at least a smile. Chicle, the substance from which chewing gum is made, is not yet ready for chewing, so would not elicit a smile from a child.

F. (12) SUPPLE. A SUPPLE performance, in which the acrobat appears flexible and lithe, would definitely look as if it were easy. A Subtle performance would be an artistic one, the finer points of which could go beyond the average viewer's powers.

G. (13) BOUNDER. Toleration of a Blunder doesn't lead to mismanagement but rather actually is mismanagement. Toleration of a BOUNDER leads to such a situation. A BOUNDER, or insufferable boor, is an invitation to trouble in an office.

H. (16) CONCERT. Whatever else they do to get a tough project going, people can't Conserve (save) their strength. They must expend it to get the ball rolling. They may well have to CONCERT their strength, by using it in harmony with others, to achieve the project's start.

I. (16) SCRAMBLES. A team that Shambles (moves clumsily or wearily) won't win at all on the football field. One that SCRAMBLES (runs or fights frantically) is doing so because it is difficult to win with less effort. The clue suits this choice.

J. (19) CREST. Someone with a CREST (an impressive coat of arms) may use it to take advantage of others. It is a possibility. A person with Crust (aggressive assurance) is already taking advantage of everybody he can: There is no doubt at all, as implied by the word "may."

K. (21) FLOSSY, in the vernacular, would be stylishly elegant. This fits the clue very well. A Glossy finish would be a sleek and shining one, which would also be covered by the word FLOSSY.

L. (24) ACCENT. Once a person is your friend, you have already been willing to Accept his traits, peculiar or not. It is quite possible that it doesn't pay to ACCENT or put stress on them, as such traits can prove embarrassing at times.

M. (25) COMPOUNDED. When a felony is COMPOUNDED, a consideration has been accepted for not prosecuting the case. If it works, the job of the court is lessened. On the other hand, if this offense is discovered, it can be prosecuted also, and the court's work can be increased. With Confounded, we know for sure the court's work is increased, for this means the crime has been thrown into great confusion. It is bound to take a great deal more time than an open-and-shut case.

N. (28) PROPRIETY. Sobriety, or habitual temperance is too subjective a thing to be measured by the company one keeps. Such a condition is usually common to the entire congenial group, and thus taken for granted. It is PROPRIETY, or proper behavior, that is always subject to the critical eye of even one's friends.

O. (29) PROJECTOR. Because the PROJECTOR has not yet been assured of the program's acceptance, he can't be too careful. Any mistake can doom his chances. The Protector of a program is guiding it after acceptance. He can be too careful. Fear and caution may cripple the success of a program that calls for boldness and heavy expenses.

P. (31) SHOAT. A SHOAT is a hog in one stage of life, i.e., the early months. A Stoat, or brown-coated ermine, can be in many stages, as many as there are summers in his life, since he is white in winter, brown in summer.

Q. (33) GRAND. GRAND, a piano, is right for a concert pianist. A good GRAND would naturally be a good Brand of piano. A good brand could be any irrelevant product.

R. (35) CORSAIR. A CORSAIR or pirate definitely expects to get the prey, or he wouldn't attack. He will not attack someone decidedly stronger. His prey would be weaker than himself. A Courser, or hunting dog, can be on the hunt and not find anything. There may not be any prey.

S. (38) VERVE. VERVE, Dash or spirit, will stand a stuntman in good stead as it is this that makes his work convincing. Too great a display of Nerve, or daredevil courage, can result in a serious accident, and put him out of the stuntman field permanently.

T. (39) EMPATHY. With EMPATHY, a man projects himself into the consciousness of another, as much as to say "There, but for the grace of God, go I." The unhappiness of others must make any normal man ponder his own comparative good fortune. Sympathy is more personal, such as man's feeling of suffering for a friend or loved one. The clue was general, however, so EMPATHY suits it better

Security for You

6 Months Disability Needed to Draw SS

By RAY HENRY

From P. C. of Fall River, Mass.: "My husband has retired and is getting Social Security every month. I'm still working and plan to continue for another year until I reach age 62. When I reach that age will I be entitled to receive Social Security for my work and a share of my husband's payments?"

No. You may take the higher of the two payments, but not both.

From E. J. of Lansing, Mich.: "How long must a person be disabled before he can receive Social Security disability payments? That's presuming, of course, that he's at least 50 and meets all the other requirements to get the payments."

He must be disabled at least six months.

From A. F. T. of San Pedro, Calif.: "Do Social Security payments have anything to do with a person's unemployment. What I mean is: Can a person collect the payments just because he's unemployed?"

No. Unemployment insurance is a different government program.

From F. H. of Clinton, Iowa: "My Social Security problem is very involved and I'm wondering if you think it's wise for me to get a lawyer to help me solve it."

You probably won't need a lawyer unless you intend to appeal a decision of the Social Security Administration. Otherwise, your local office will be glad to go into your situation. Incidentally, a lawyer cannot charge above $10 without government permission for any work done before your case reaches the court stage.

From H. O. of Emporia, Kans.: "My husband is 47 years old. He worked from 1937 to 1954 under Social Security. Since that time he's been disabled and will never be able to work again. Is there any form he should fill out now?"

Yes, there certainly is. He should file an application to have his Social Security earnings record "frozen" because of his disability. Then his Social Security payments when he reaches 50 and becomes eligible for them will be based on the average of his earnings only up to the time he became disabled.

He should get in touch with the local Social Security office immediately to be sure this is taken care of.

From M. F. J. of Albany, N. Y.: "My husband passed away two years ago at the age of 61. I received a lump sum of $170. Will I ever get any more Social Security?"

If you haven't remarried at 62, you'll be eligible for a widow's payments.

From W. S. of Hagerstown, Md.: "I will be 65 on January 14, and have worked under Social Security for 15 years. How much Social Security will I draw now?"

Without knowing your earnings while you were working under Social Security your question can't be answered. Your payments are based on your average monthly earnings and may be as low as $30 a month or as much as $108.50.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Orchestra Does Number Twice for Latecomers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When conductor Eduard Van Beinum of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra returned to the podium after an intermission following the first number, he turned to the audience and said:

"I know that traffic is bad today and many of you missed the opening number from Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G minor.

"I know many of you would like to hear that beautiful music—so we will play it again," Van Beinum said yesterday.

And the orchestra did.

South Africa's Leaders to View Race Problem

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Religious and political leaders of South Africa's rigidly segregated races— designated as black, white, colored and Asiatic —will face up to their perilous problems on the same platform here next Tuesday.

They will meet for three days at the University of the Witwatersrand, into whose halls and classrooms the government policy of total separation, or apartheid, has not yet penetrated.

★ ★ ★

It will be the first time in South Africa's history that South Africans of all races have been able to meet in a relaxed atmosphere for appraisal of the entire troubled complex of racial antagonism here. Approximately 500 delegates and observers are expected to attend.

★ ★ ★

Its sponsors do not expect the conference to result in a detailed program for the future of South Africa. But they hope attention will be focused on the wide field where agreement can be found.

Button Sewed on Tightly Causes Boy's Death

FENTON, Mo. (AP)—One button on the three-button coat of 2-year-old Steven Wilkinson was sewed on too securely.

The child fell into a basement stairway opening at a neighbor's home yesterday, and the collar of the coat snagged on a piece of wood.

Two of the buttons snapped off but the third held the jackets folds tightly about the boy's throat. He died of strangulation before he was found.

Pays $1,082 for Tires

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles P. Gleb, a retired grocer, happily reclaimed $900 he overpaid for four tires. Gleb, 64, of Dittmer, Mo., bought the tires for $182. He thought the money he handed store owner John Noel included a $100 bill. It was a $1,000 bill.

Flint No Longer Listed With Labor Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flint, Mich., has been removed from the Labor Department's list of major areas with substantial labor surpluses.

The area was reclassified as a result of improvements in employment conditions.

In a special listing of smaller areas with substantial labor surpluses Iron Mountain, Mich., was removed from the grouping and Jackson, Mich., was added.

Sen. Humphrey Lauds Speedup

Speaks as Air Force Shifts Missiles to SAC for Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), applauding recent moves to strengthen U.S. missiles capability, said today he hopes "the sense of urgency will not evaporate as time goes on."

Humphrey called on the Eisenhower administration to "come to Congress with a program that is equal to the demands of national security and survival, and commensurate with the scope of the Soviet menace"—even if such a program should require higher taxes.

The Minnesota senator spoke out in an interview after these developments:

1. The Air Force announced a number of organizational shifts in connection with efforts to put long range U.S. missiles on an operational basis. One of the most important of these moves was transfer of responsibility for both intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles in their "initial operational capability phase" from the Air Research and Strategic Air Command. SAC has charge of this nation's retaliatory striking force, including long range nuclear bombers.

2. Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, also announced the Air Force is working on an anti-missile missile called the Wizard. White said its perfection "will be a terrifically difficult problem, but I think we will lick it."

Humphrey welcomed these new moves, along with a recently-announced decision to order production of the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor, both of them intermediate range ballistic missiles with a planned range of up to 1,500 miles.

Swordfish Hits; It Pulls Man In, Then Spears Him

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A fisherman who was yanked overboard by a swordfish and then speared by the big sea creature was hospitalized here today after a 500-mile flight up the coast from Baja, California.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate report on the condition of 47-year-old Miguel F. Pereira of San Diego, but the Coast Guard said he rested well on the flight from Bahia Santa Maria.

Pereira was fishing from the lower racks of the tuna clipper Sun Glow yesterday when the fish struck his bait. The Coast Guard said the fish broke loose after pulling Pereira into the water, then speared him clear through and swam away.

The Coast Guard said there was no drainage from the wound.

Swordfish usually weigh from 200 to 500 pounds.

Light, Bright for Space

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Whoever becomes the first human to go rocketing off into space will have to be light, bright and emotionally stable, says Dr. John P. Hagen, who heads Operation Vanguard at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington. He lists intelligence, emotional balance and scientific training among the prime requisites for the first "space man."

CHRISTMAS SEALS

J. L. VOORHEES

Christmas is a time of giving — Christmas seals give hope and life to human beings.

In the life-span of men living today TB has been taken from the realm of certain death to almost certain happy living. To participate in this laudable undertaking is one of the privileges of everyone in the United States. It is a National endeavor, a National project and one which has accomplished more wonders than ever conceived by the original sponsors. Christmas Seals cancel fear, put hope on the banner of victory.

M. E. SIPLE

Use Christmas Seals as your emblem of civic pride, as a badge of honor, as a bridge to life and happiness to countless thousands of your fellowmen.

Big 4-H Show Starts Tomorrow

1,300 Buoyant Youths Come to Chicago for National Congress

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's biggest, most select teen-age party—a five-day affair—drew some 1,300 buoyant, effusive youngsters to Chicago today.

★ ★ ★

Officially, it doesn't get under way until tomorrow—the 36th National 4-H Club Congress.

But hundreds of boys and girls, generally in the 14-to-20 age group were already on hand—many of them for a peek at the International Live Stock Exposition before their own round of assemblies, luncheons, dinners, dances, and sight-seeing tours begins.

The 4-H'ers have earned their fun—as state and national winners in competitions among some two million youthful rural dwellers throughout the nation, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Their projects all come under the heading of useful work—domestic arts, livestock raising, farming, mechanical aptitudes and the like.

Some 218 boys and girls will claim college scholarships worth $82,430 as prizes for excellence in their work. These awards, and most of the visitors, are paid for by business organizations, foundations and individuals who have provided nearly $850,000 to support the event.

The theme of this year's 4-H Club congress is "improving family and community living."

11-Year-Old Boy Wins Own Case in Traffic Court

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Chief counsel for the defense was only 11 years old but he won his case today in Traffic Court.

Frank Gigliotti appeared after a parking ticket was placed on the family automobile which had been left on a street on which temporary no-parking regulations had been posted for street-cleaning.

★ ★ ★

Frank told Recorder John E. Holt-Harris Jr., that his family had come from Italy only a year ago and neither of his parents could read English.

Even if they had understood the sign, Frank said, it wouldn't have done any good. The only member of the family who can drive is a 19-year-old brother and he was in bed with measles.

Frank produced the brother's claim for disability insurance as a defense exhibit.

The judge waived the $5 fine and told the youngster:

"You'd make an excellent attorney."

Props Slice Whale

YARMOUTH, N. S. (AP) — The motor vessel Bluenose was on time on her run from Bar Harbor, Maine, despite the "bump" near the Lurcher Lightship. A large whale trying to surface in the ship's path was slived up by the propellers.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

CONCLUSION

Mason said, "Didn't I . . .?" Suddenly, the lawyer stopped in the middle of the question, jerked erect as though he had been stabbed with a pin, then blinked his eyes thoughtfully.

"Proceed!" Judge DeWitt said.

"May I have the indulgence of the court for just a moment," Mason said.

"What is it, Mr. Mason?"

Abruptly Mason grinned and said, "Thank you, Your Honor, I think I understand the situation now."

★ ★ ★

Mason whirled to the witness. "Isn't it a fact that your wife, Rose Calvert, wrote and told you that she wanted to go to Reno and get a divorce?"

"Yes."

"That she wanted you to hire counsel to represent you so you could make things easier for her?"

"Yes."

"And when I rang the doorbell early on the morning of the seventeenth of October and told you that I wanted to talk with you about your wife, that I was an attorney, didn't you tell me that you wouldn't consent to anything, that you wouldn't do anything to make it easier for her to get a divorce?"

"Yes."

"And didn't you tell me that you had answer the letter she had written and told her something to that effect?"

★ ★ ★

"I believe I did, yes."

"And didn't I tell you that letter was in the mailbox at her apartment?"

"I don't remember."

'I'LL KILL YOU'

"Oh yes, you do," Mason said. "The reason you didn't go to the Elsinore police station to find if your wife had been murdered until considerably later on the morning of the seventeenth was that you suddenly realized that this letter you had mailed your wife would direct suspicion to you. You had told your wife in that letter that you would kill her before you'd let her marry anyone else, didn't you?"

The witness looked at Mason with consternation on his face, then slowly shook his head.

"No, I didn't say anything like that."

"And," Mason said, "the minute I told you that the letter was in the mailbox, you knew that that was a clew pointing toward you that you had forgotten, and that you had to go in and get that letter out of the mailbox before you asked the police to find out if your wife had been murdered?"

"That's not true!"

Mason turned to the courtroom. "Will Myrtle Lamar please stand up?"

The elevator operator stood up.

"I'm directing your attention to this young woman who operated the elevator in the Redfern Hotel on the afternoon of the sixteenth, and who recognized you as a passenger she took up to the seventh floor. Now are you prepared to say that you do not recognize this young woman?"

Before Hamilton Burger could object, Myrtle Lamar pointed a finger at him and said, "That's the man!"

★ ★ ★

Abruptly, the witness collapsed, as though someone had suddenly punctured his ego.

'NOW, TELL US'

"And," Mason went on, "remember that Mrs. Farrell was having your wife's apartment watched by detectives who can identify you as being the man who came there and got that letter. Now tell us what happened."

Suddenly the witness started to cry. "I killed her! I loved her! I couldn't live without her. I . . . I was going to give myself up and then I walked out of the hotel and it was so easy, I . . ."

The court became a wild uproar of noise.

Judge DeWitt pounded in vain with his gavel. "Court's adjourned!" he said at length. "Let the officers take this man into custody."

Spectators milling in the aisles were thrown to one side by newspaper reporters who dashed through the door to the corridor telephones.

Mason settled back in his chair with a grin.

★ ★ ★

Mason, Della Street, Paul Drake, Jerry Conway, and Myrtle Lamar sat in the courtroom after the commotion had subsided, after the judge had instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "Not Guilty" in the case against Jerry Conway, after Calvert had been taken into custody.

"Where did you get the bright idea of what had happened?" Paul Drake asked Mason.

"That," Mason said, "was the simplest part of it, the mathematics of the whole business which had been in the back of my mind but didn't come out until something suddenly clicked.

"The pathologist stated that Rose had died almost two hours to the minute after she had eaten lunch. He thought that lunch had been eaten at four-forty. Actually we know from Mrs. Farrell that lunch had been eaten at about twelve-forty. That fixed the time of death at about two-forty. At that particular time, Mrs. Farrell was out telephoning you, Conway.

"I suddenly remember that I had told Calvert about locating him from the return address on the letter that was in the mailbox of the apartment house where Rose was living. Yet the police told us no such letter was in the box when they searched the place. Shortly after I told Calvert about the letter, he went all to pieces and insisted that I leave him alone. I felt certain that he would go to the Elsinore police almost immediately. He didn't. He didn't get in touch with them until some time later, just about enough time for him to go and get that letter.

"The rest of it was just plain bluff, based on the information you gave me about Myrtle noticing the guy's shoes."

"Well," Jerry Conway said at length, "I'm going to ask you to appear before that stockholders' meeting, Mason, and tell them the whole story of this murder case. Will you do it?"

Mason nodded.

"I have an idea," Conway said, "that will settle Gifford Farrell's hash as far as any attempt to take over is concerned."

Mason nodded, turned to Drake with a grin, and said, "Well, Paul, having bought Myrtle Lamar a good lunch I think we now owe her a good dinner."

Myrtle Lamar's eyes instantly became hard and calculating. "It should be worth more than that," she said. "It should be worth a . . . a fur coat!"

Jerry Conway grinned happily, said to Perry Mason, "Buy the gal a fur coat, Perry, and charge it to me . . . Put it on your fee as an expense."

Artist Put on Probation for Decorating Room

DETROIT (IN3)—Daniel Schey, 19, an art student, was placed on a year's probation by Detroit Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen today because of some of his paintings.

Schey, found guilty of painting pictures on the walls and door of his rented room, blamed his action on tranquilizer pills. He told the judge:

"They affect me like whisky."

Zimbalist Home Burns

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Fire fanned by 60 m.p.h. gusts of wind destroyed the ranch style home of movie producer Sam Zimbalist. Firemen said the loss, including furnishings, probably would run between $75,000 and $100,000. The producer's wife, Mary, said the blaze apparently started at the top of some drapes.

It Seems to Me.....

City Wants Facts About Police

All of this community is awaiting the report of the outside study group which has been investigating the police situation here.

★ ★ ★

The usual rumors have started to pop up. These seem to be a necessary evil in connection with any such event and as a rule, they are meaningless and not worthy of serious consideration.

However, our boys at The Press have heard several times that the current investigation is concentrated largely on office routine and procedures.

★ ★ ★

This is hardly worthy of mention in the investigation that the bulk of this community expects. We aren't interested in whether the printed forms are the most modern or a bit archaic. We hope they're modern, but we aren't interested in the details at this time.

Our community wants to know whether the Police Officers' Association is attempting to dictate to the Chief.

This community wants to know whether it's true that the City Manager is really the Chief of Police according to the legal setup. The City Manager hasn't enough time to act as Police Chief in addition to his other duties.

This community wants to know whether Chief Straley has the authority he deserves.

★ ★ ★

This community wants to know whether the Chief commands the respect and confidence of his men — and vice versa.

This community wants to know whether it was sold a bill of goods in the new Civil Service Commission.

Is it true that only the Civil Service Commission has the authority to hire and fire? Such a set up would be unworkable and unthinkable, for the men must be responsible to the Chief.

★ ★ ★

If a discharged man thinks he has a grievance, he can appeal to the Commission but the Commission is largely for unusual cases and not for mine run police activities.

This report is costing the taxpayers $9,000 and it should analyze these problems primarily and come up with findings and recommendations.

★ ★ ★

At the moment the community isn't concerned with whether search warrants need a new clause or whether a darker blue uniform would look better in winter. Those points may be important, but that isn't what the voters want now.

We urge the investigating organization to concentrate on things that are vital to the problem at hand.

★ ★ ★

The citizens of Pontiac are not interested in Police procedure, but they have a vital interest in the morale and consequently the effectiveness of the Police Department.

And in Conclusion .....

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter: GEORGE ROMNEY, automotive prexy, played a round of golf before breakfast nearly every day last summer.....Overheard at a local pub: "Now that you've had one for the road, how about another for the ditch?".....A reliable scout tells me that everyone has heard about a Stradivarius violin, but that a Guarnerius is just as good.....Few people know it, but BOB EMERICK, Pontiac Motor Division, played a year of pro football. After looking at those shoulders I don't want him to get mad at me, even now .....Not many men have a bigger speaking acquaintance among downtown males than PERKINS, impresario at the City Club. He really knows the boys and their foibles and idiosyncrasies.

★ ★ ★

Last summer we ran a photo of Judy Knudsen when she won a spelling contest of difficult, hand-picked words. The next day we received a letter charging us with running the picture "merely because she was a GM executive's daughter." Judy Knudsen is one of the brilliant youngsters in this section. I expect to run her picture in about three years announcing she has made Phi Beta Kappa at Smith. She can probably do mental problems in eight different classifications that the writer of the back biting letter couldn't even comprehend..... I go for Daisy Colbert, wife of Chrysler's prexy. She's absolutely straight forward, levels with everyone and plays no favorites.

★ ★ ★

Overheard after last Saturday's chilly Michigan-OSU football game: "My idea of a perfect sport is to sit in a darkened, well furnished cocktail lounge and blow smoke rings over the cute, little pink ear of a soft, yielding red head".....Everybody has a good word for TED SLOSSON .....The Department of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—Old Man MARTIN of the Lions; the J's—WWJ's Michigan football announcer last Saturday. Phooey!

Expect Morning Plunge

Downfall Near?

Believe Sputnik's Rocket May Tumble Tomorrow

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — History's first rocket-satellite may tumble to its doom Sunday morning.

The final stage rocket that thrust Sputnik I into an orbit last Oct. 4 over Russia is in its last hours, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reported today.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, emphasized that it is impossible to predict at this time where and when the rocket satellite might make its flaming plunge toward earth.

However, he said the rocket is traveling nearest its low point on its morning southwest-to-northeast passages. Friday it was approximately 120 miles above the earth, on its morning passages over the United States, or within 10 miles of its lowest, or perigee, point.

The Smithsonian sticks to its prediction of several days ago that Sunday, Dec. 1, is the most likely day for the descent of the rocket.

★ ★ ★

The rocket has picked up about 400 m.p.h. over its original 18,000 m.p.h. velocity due to the increasing tug of gravity as it is pulled lower.

The rocket was sighted Thursday night by moonwatch teams in Tucson, Ariz., and Sacramento, Calif. Most other parts of the United States were blotted by clouds.

Reports from Australia and Japan also have confirmed that the rocket is still orbiting as predicted.

Dr. Whipple said the present regular tumbling action of the rocket might be altered as it hits denser atmosphere. If the atmosphere forces the rocket to maintain a sideways position, its drag would increase rapidly and its death would come much sooner.

On the other hand, if the rocket maintained an endwise position, its resistance to the air would be much less and its life correspondingly longer.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The gentle faith of St. Francis of Assisi, who loved all men and creatures and the sun and wind as members of God's family, gave him the power to withstand personal suffering and to inspire his fellow men with acts and with words, such as—

"O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console; to be understood, as to understand; to be loved, as to love. For it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned; it is in dying that we are born to eternal life."

Days of All Faiths

Almost-Forgotten Advent Begins

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow is the first Sunday in Advent, the beginning of the four-Sunday season leading up to Christmas. In our time this ancient season has lost most of its original character and significance.

It used to be a period of fasting and penitence in preparation for Christmas just as Lent is a preparation for Easter, but for some reason the church has never been able to keep people very quiet or serious at this time of year. This is really too bad, for there would be deep spiritual benefits for everyone in a Christmas for which serious preparation had been made.

★ ★ ★

Here and there Christian people are realizing the neglect of Advent means real spiritual loss, and are making efforts to revive its proper observance. An interesting revival is taking place in one of the Roman Catholic parishes in New York City, where a group of lay people each year make and distribute Advent wreaths. (The wreath actually belongs to Advent rather than to Christmas.)

WHO IS SANTA CLAUS?

St. Nicholas, fourth-century archbishop of the Asia Minor city of Myra, is, of course, the prototype of our modern Santa Claus, but the evolution of the dignified, saintly archbishop into the jolly little Christmas Eve chimney climber is a most interesting one.

Nicholas, whose day is celebrated Friday in the Church calendar, was a great friend of children and a wealthy man with a reputation for spreading gifts around among the needy. With these two facts to go on, his popularity grew and spread, and by the Middle Ages it was generally accepted that on the eve of Dec. 6 (his own feast day not Christmas Eve) he appeared in every household—to examine the children in religious subjects, to inquire about their behavior since his last visit, and to reward the virtuous and punish the guilty. He was a religious figure entirely.

When the Protestant Reformation came in the 16th Century we almost lost him. The Protestants would have nothing to do with saints in any form, and Nicholas was in danger of going the way of all the others.

But it proved easier to put him out of theology than out of the hearts of children. The Dutch preserved even the old name, and those who came to New York (New Amsterdam it was then), in the 17th century brought with them their stories of Sinterklaas.

Santa Claus, as we now know him, is an Americanized version of the Sinterklaas of those early Dutch colonists. In 1809 Washington Irving wrote his humorous history of New York. Irving made him the patron saint of the city, but changed him into a jovial, pipe-smoking Dutchman riding through the air.

The Country Parson

"A fellow who's planning to reform is one step behind—he ought to quit planning and get on with the job."

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Prognosticator in Misery; Tells Weather by Sinus

"You say, in "Call it CRI," that the weather has nothing to do with sinus trouble. Yet I can predict the weather better than anyone on the radio and I am absolutely miserable. One doctor said my trouble is an allergy . . . nose stuffed all the time. . . (A.G.F.)"

DR. BRADY

Answer — Nonsense. Many invalids or semi-invalids are more sensitive to slight changes in environment than healthy persons. I meant only that weather changes or unpleasant weather cannot be blamed for sinus trouble, rheumatiz, the willies or what ails you.

I say in "Call It CRI," for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, that one with chronic sinus trouble should boost his calcium and D intake. If this doesn't jibe with your notion that high calcium intake would endanger the arteries or something, forget it. This is a free country.

"Son, 11, had tonsillectomy in December, '56. Dr. — said his bad tonsils caused him to lose his voice every time it got damp or wet outside for a day or two. Removal of the tonsils, he said, would correct that . . . Now the boy's throat always seems to have a lot of mucus and he has little voice left—too quiet and low. Doctor says he'll outgrow this . . . (Mrs. K. M.)"

Answer—The doctor says more than his prayers. There are still far too many such operations. As professional singers and speakers know or should know, removal of the tonsils, no matter who does the operation, is not unlikely to injure the voice. Your doctor's assurance that the boy will "outgrow" his trouble is sheer bunk. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Tonsils Are Not All Bad.

"Does orange juice, an eight-ounce glass a day, cause arthritis? (Mrs. H. G.)"

Answer — I don't know what you mean by "arthritis." A glass or orange juice every day is good for anybody's health, though not so good as eating the oranges from which the juice is obtained.

"Had my druggist mix up the solution for excessive sweating as directed in your pamphlet. Used it as you suggested. Haven't ruined a dress since. Wish I had years before I ruined all of my nice clothes, even with shields. (Mrs. D. R.)"

Answer—Instructions in pamphlet on Excessive Sweating, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Plain cooked wheat is my husband's favorite breakfast food. I'd love to have other recipes . . . (Mrs. H. W. D.)"

Answer—Recipes for numerous appetizing ways to serve wheat, contributed by readers, are given in pamphlet Wheat to Eat available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelop and SIGN your request.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

DR. CRANE

"Do you remember what you told me about prize contesting when I was in your office a few months ago?" and I assented.

"Well, I went home and started going through some magazines. I found three prize contests announced in them, so I asked Joe if he had ever known anybody who had won a prize.

"He said one of his buddies once won a pony when he was a boy, so with that as an entering wedge, I casually asked Joe if he thought we'd have a chance on a limerick contest I showed him in one of the magazines.

★ ★ ★

"He said it wouldn't be worth our time to fool around with contests, but I bided my time.

"Later, I got our dictionary and some paper and started working at the dining room table.

"Joe became curious and wanted to know what I was doing, so I showed him some of my limericks.

"He grunted and didn't say much. But the next day I started working on the contest once more, and I laid an extra pencil and pad of paper near him.

CONTEST BUG

"Well, rather sheepishly he started scribbling some words that would rime with the key word in the limerick.

"And after a few minutes he wrote a last line for the limerick.

"Dr. Crane, I figured he was growing interested, so I told him I had obtained your booklet on contesting. He wanted to see it. For the next half hour he read it carefully.

"Then he pushed his wheel chair back to the table beside me and wrote several more last lines for the limerick.

"Two of his were really very good and I praised him highly for them. So I let him read mine, and he thought I had a few good ones, too.

★ ★ ★

"We decided to send in several. He made sure I walked down to the post office to get them into the mail right away.

"Well, the contest 'bug' had bitten us for sure by that time. And the very next day I found some contest entry blanks at the grocery store for another contest.

"We entered it and for a week we read history books and consulted our encyclopedia.

"This contest involved identifying some pictures of historical events. A few hints were given under each picture.

"Actually, we began to get so interested that I forgot to get our lunch that day.

"And Joe would prod me to bring home more entry blanks the next time I went to the grocery, for we were permitted to send in as many entries as we wished.

PROOF OF PUDDING

"Dr. Crane, we must have mailed at least a total of 100 entries to a dozen different contests before the winners in that first limerick contest were finally announced.

"And I was so excited I could hardly speak when the mailman handed me a letter one morning with a check for $10 on one of Joe's limerick entries.

"Since then, we have won two more prizes. One for $5 but one was for $50, so we are now an enthusiastic team and spend most of our spare time contesting.

"And you can't imagine the change in Joe's morale! It's wonderful!"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Reader Denounces NCAA Ruling Against Hillsdale

Why is it the NCAA is always fouling up some school's or individual's athletic program? It almost looks as though they sit back and watch for some way to stir up trouble. The latest is the ruling against Hillsdale playing in the Holiday Bowl. I still can't figure any good reason for the ruling, but I understand it would take a year before the NCAA could sanction it. What nonsense "Muddy" Waters was right in dropping out.

Writer Was Certain They'd Dump Him

I just learned that Paul Butler is still Democratic National Chairman. I was sure he'd be dumped at the first opportunity after the last election, and can't understand why he wasn't. He was the most frightening sight to watch on TV because he always appeared to be on the verge of a severe nervous collapse. His reasoning even seemed to be affected at times. I don't have any doubts we'll do all right in the next election, but I'd be a lot more confident if we chucked Butler before then.

Asks Volunteers for Handicapped

I have a handicapped son, 14. He is mentally retarded. I went from one place to another trying to get help, but to no avail. Finally a kindly man understood him and took him in his school. We're paying tuition, but we don't mind as we hope someday Oakland County will do more for its mentally retarded and handicapped children. I'm doing my part for the Jack and Jill handicapped room at Emerson School and I'm sure they could use more volunteer teachers. Just a few hours spare time in the morning or afternoon would be of great help.

Has Suggestions for Hospital Fund

Why not let everyone help pay for the hospital by taking a couple days parking meter money, say during the holiday season, such as Friday and Saturday before Christmas? County people and non-taxpayers could help, too, as everyone uses the hospital.

Also, every church in Pontiac could donate their collections for the Sunday after Christmas to the hospital as a thanks offering for the healing powers God has given our doctors.

Please, Pontiac citizens, don't let past workers' dreams fade away. Let's finish the building that's needed by everyone at some time. When you need it you will give thanks that you had a small part in the building. I'm sure non-taxpayers will pay, too. And I'm sure Mayor Donaldson would be glad to proclaim a Hospital Day and sell tags as on other days. God bless you all.

'There's No Need to Worry Now'

So many people seem to be worried about a depression just because the economy doesn't keep rising. Just because each year doesn't top the last isn't a sign we're headed for the bleak bottom.

Dean of Education Questions Intellect

Dr. Lester S. Vander Werf, dean of education at Northwestern University, says teachers are of a lower mental caliber than members of any other profession and are not intelligent enough for the functions they perform.

I know from experience that many teachers are outstandingly intelligent, but it was my understanding that the average I.Q. of students in the education department at my out-of-state alma mater was the lowest of any school in the entire university. If it's true, it must be true other places, and Dr. Vander Werf is in a position to know.

At one time it could be blamed on poor salary prospects, but that isn't so true any more. Whatever the reason, it certainly is a lamentable fact.

Tells Activities of Young Adults

Pontamix is the name of our club for young adults, and our membership is composed for Catholic young people from 18 to 33. Although only Catholics are eligible for membership, we have many swell activities to which we invite everyone of any religion. These gatherings include dances and parties, which seem to be the best way to meet other young people. We have a real great time and the next time you're bemoaning the fact you're bored, look us up. We'd love to have you aboard.

The Emmanuel Baptist Choir, directed by Mrs. Tom Malone, will be the central robed choir at the Crusade for Christ Rally which is being held in the Ford Auditorium in Detroit tonight at 7:30.

All other participating choirs will be wearing white blouses and skirts.

The Emmanuel Choir will sing two special numbers, "Praise Ye The Lord" and "Love of God." It will join the other choirs in singing "How Great Thou Art."

Dr. Dallas Billington, radio and pulpit preacher, will be the guest speaker.

Ruth Priest will be playing the organ; Gary Moore, baritone soloist, will bring special music and Frank Floreck, violin soloist, will play as will the Royal Oak Salvation Army Band.

Chaplain Dave Martin is the director of Crusade for Christ.

Dr. Helen Prince, Speaker at Men's, Boys' Breakfast

DR. HELEN D. PRINCE

The traditional Corporate Communion for men and boys will be held at 7 a.m. Sunday in All Saints Episcopal Church.

★ ★ ★

Speaking at the breakfast immediately following will be Dr. Helen Dodson Prince, professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan. Her subject will be "The International Geophysical Year."

For the past several years, she has been working in astronomical research at the McMath-Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus.

Mrs. Prince has received many honors in the field of science and lectured, both in this country and in Europe. In 1955 she received the Annie Cannon Prize, an international award in astronomy.

Starting Tuesday, the Rev. Donald Bodley of the Diocesan Christian Education Department, will conduct a 16 week Bible survey course at All Saints. Meetings are scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held Thursday beginning at 10 a.m. with a service of Holy Communion. The business session will start at 10:30.

The Rev. David K. Mills, curate, will speak on "Our Youth Program." All women of the parish have been invited.

The December Parish dinner will be Thursday. Families are asked to bring one dish to pass, dishes and silverware.

Public Schools Support Urged

Protestants should review conditions affecting the public school system and the nation's low-income farmers, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches, urged in two recent addresses in New York City.

Speaking before the Protestant Teachers Association of New York City, Dr. Blake declared that "unless Protestants as Protestants support the public school system in the United States, no one else will."

He also warned that while "nothing is more futile than to try to make scientists out of artists or physicists out of preachers" the public school system must discover and train those children with "a good scientific potential."

Those attending the first major conference in New York on problems facing migratory laborers and low-income farmers heard Dr. Blake warn that "the prosperity of American life in the long run will depend on the prosperity of the American farmer."

As long as any persons in our society lack adequate income for the basic essentials of bread, clothing and housing, he said, there must be general Christian concern for their plight.

Dr. Blake was joined by a Roman Catholic priest and Jewish rabbi in pleading for better working conditions and a greater share of the nation's prosperity for its agricultural workers.

Thoughts

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance—against such there is no law.

★ ★ ★

The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.

★ ★ ★

But the Lord shall endure forever; He hath prepared His throne for judgment.

★ ★ ★

And He shall judge the word in righteousness; He shall minister judgment to the people in uprightness.

★ ★ ★

Put them in fear, O Lord; that the nations may know themselves to be but men.

★ ★ ★

What is man, that Thou art mindful of Him? and the son of man, that Thou visitest him?

★ ★ ★

For Thou, Lord, wilt bless the righteous; with favor wilt Thou compass him as with a shield.

Confident Living

Real Enthusiasm Makes Disagreeable Day Better

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

You can never know when you are going to have an unforgetable experience. I had one on a cold, blustery morning last January in Muncie, Indiana. I had made a speech there the night before, and I arose early and went down to the dining room for breakfast.

DR. PEALE

Everyone else apparently had the same idea, for there wasn't a free table. But one man, sitting alone, looked up at me, seemed to recognize me, and courteously asked if I would sit with him. I had never seen him before nor have I seen him since, but I was very happy to join him. And I'm glad that I did, for he certainly had something to transmit.

"It's a great morning, isn't it, Doctor?" was the way he started out our conversation.

I looked out the window and answered: "It sure is: That's the greatest rain and slush I've seen in a long time."

"Oh," he said, "but it's cool and fresh. It's really a glorious morning."

"How's business?" was the only question I could think of to change the subject.

★ ★ ★

"Business is wonderful," he said, and started to tell me enthusiastically about a product he was selling.

"Tell me about your family," was my next suggestion.

And then he told me about how wonderful his wife and children are, and got me to talking with equal enthusiasm about my own. In no time at all, I forgot about the cold, rainy, slushsy day outside. This man had real vitality and dynamism in every sense. He made the morning seem good.

"Do you know, my friend," I told him, "you actually do me good. You're a real tonic. You're alive and you're making me come alive also. How is it that you're so full of enthusiasm?"

DESIRE TO LIVE

He then pointed to a long scar on his forehead. "Not too long ago," he said, "I had a bad automobile accident. They took me to the hospital and I heard someone say, 'He won't live.' That thought kept turning over and over in my mind and I kept thinking, 'I'm going to die.' But in that daze, more than anything else, I knew I wanted to live. And although I was conscious only part of the time, I kept concentrating on wanting to live. And then one day I heard a voice say, 'He's going to live!'

"You have no idea of the sharp burst of happiness that went through me. I knew I would see my children grow up, have more years of happiness with my wife, see my friends, and move about actively in the good world. I was going to live! It was so wonderful.

"Then, I began to think and to ask myself whether I had really lived before. And I had to admit that I hadn't—not to my fullest. So I decided to dedicate to God this new life that I had been given, and I asked Him to help me make more of it. And He did. Now, believe me, I can hardly wait to get up in the morning to enjoy this reprieved life, and actually I hate to go to sleep at night for fear I will miss something fascinating."

This remarkable man had learned how really to be alive. Like him some people are very much alive, but others seemingly are crawling through life on their hands and knees.

Now of course, I am not primarily referring to being physically alive. That is only part of it. I'm talking about the quality of being alive in which every element of your body, mind and soul are in vital harmony and communion with the Creator and the world and people.

How do you get to be alive in that complete manner? The Bible points the way: "In Him we live, and move, and have our being." That means, of course, that you are incomplete unless you are in tune with God, that you've never been fully alive unless you've found God and experienced spiritual vitalization. God is life, and only in Him can you profoundly be alive.

Council of Churches Sets Theme 'Oneness in Christ'

Thousands of church people in the nation are preparing to converge in St. Louis, Mo., where they will make their voices heard during week-long deliberation of the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches, Dec. 1-6.

Under the theme, "Oneness in Christ—Across the Nations, Across the Races, Across the Denominations," delegates and visitors of the 30-member churches of the Council will also hear outstanding speakers, among them Dean Liston Pope of Yale University Divinity School, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., of Montgomery, Ala., Bishop Rajah B. Manikam of India and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief-of-Staff of the United States Army.

Center of most assemblies will be the huge Kiel Auditorium where impressive programs of music by the Bach Society and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra are also scheduled.

The election of a new president of the council and of other officers whose 3-year terms expire this year will also take place here.

Other events include the luncheons of United Church Women, who will be addressed on "Womanpower" by Margaret Hicky, lawyer and contributing editor to the Ladies' Home Journal, and of United Church Men, who will hear Howard Pyle speak on "Oneness in Christ—In Spirit and in Fact."

Mr. Pyle, a former governor of Arizona, is administrative assistant to President Eisenhower.

Men who know danger—armed forces chaplains and a young French minister who fought with the Resistance forces—and men who do not compromise with their convictions—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, the Rev. Clarence L. Jordan of the Long-persecuted interracial Koinonia Community in Georgia, Dr. King and others — will be heard in St. Louis as the delegates study and work together in the spirit of the "Oneness of Christ."

Church Reports on Hungarians

Refugee Schools Serve 3,000 Teenagers; Most Wish to Enter U.S.

A year has passed but more than 3,000 Hungarian youngsters between 14 and 18 are still in Austria, a National Council of Churches executive reported on his recent return to New York.

★ ★ ★

Ben E. Wilbur, program director of the Council's Broadcasting and Film Commission, visited several refugee schools and interviewed World Council of Churches refugee workers in Vienna and other towns.

"One of the most perplexing problems refugee workers are faced with is training these youngsters," he said. "There are 450 Protestant teen-agers in the World Council's program of 'middle schools' which are providing shelter, food and clothing as well as an education," he reported.

He added that most of these supplies have been given by America's Protestant churches through Church World Service, which also provided all the textbooks for these schools.

Other training centers are being conducted by the Austrian government, the United Nations and other agencies.

"During the exodus a year ago," Mr. Wilbur said, "more than 4,000 teen-agers crossed the border from Hungary without their parents and, in most cases, also without their consent. Of them, 800 or so went across to Yugoslavia and 175 returned home. The others are still in Austria."

At a small Methodist church he visited in Linz, Mr. Wilbur said that 30 boys are being trained by the assistant to the minister, the Rev. Emil John, from Providence, R. I. "Most of the young people I talked with wanted to come to the United States," Mr. Wilbur declared, "but they cannot do so under our present immigration and refugee laws."

World Prayer Program

From Thanksgiving until Christmas people in 50 countries are uniting in a worldwide Bible reading program. This is the 14th year for the program, which consists of reading a recommended passage from the Bible each day.

Florence Schlesser, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Norton, will be hostess to the Leah Emes Group Wednesday evening.

The annual Christmas meeting of the Women's Association will begin at 4:30 p.m. Friday with dinner served by women of Bethany Baptist Church.

Following the installation of officers, Mrs. Robert Anderson will present the evening program.

Church Council to Aid Integration in Tennessee

A resolution that "the Tennessee school system be brought into harmony with the letter and spirit of the Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954" on integration of the public schools was adopted Nov. 22 by the Tennessee Council Churches.

"In terms of the Christian perspective," declared the resolution, "it is our desire that we may be of service to the state and local agencies in working within law and order toward the fulfillment of the requirements of that decision."

Delegates of member churches in the council also proposed that its Division of Christian Life and Work, directed by the Rev. Oswald Schrag, sponsor conferences on Christian faith and human relations in each section of the state.

SPEAKING SUNDAY — Dr. and Mrs. Owen Murphy and daughter, Glenys Ruth, will speak and sing at the First Free Methodist Church at 11 a. m. Sunday. The Murphys, known as the London Revival Crusade Party of London, England, conducted meetings in New York city prior to the Billy Graham Crusade. Dr. Murphy will speak to the men, Mrs. Murphy to the women and Glenys to young people during the Sunday School hour at 10 a. m.

Dedication Ceremonies at 3:30 Sunday Afternoon

St. Trinity Lutheran Church will dedicate the new Education Building Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

★ ★ ★

The pre-dedication services will be at 8:30 and 11 a.m. with Pastor Ralph C. Claus officiating.

St. Trinity has begun a school building program which will include five classrooms, a kitchen and gymnasium. At the present time they have completed four classrooms which will be dedicated tomorrow.

S. J. Roth LL. D., superintendent of Christian Education for the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, will be the speaker.

Pastor W. A. Heyne of Berea Lutheran Church of Detroit, a former pastor of the local church, and Pastor George Mahder of St. Paul Lutheran Church, will serve as liturgists.

The building will serve both the Christian Day School and Sunday School as well as church service groups.

Erected by Schoolmaker Inc. of Ann Arbor, each unit of two classrooms is complete in itself. The classrooms have tile floors. The walls are yellow, pink, charcoal and green.

The four teachers, Paul F. Stohlmann, principal, Catherine Zessin, Marian Zollman and Mrs. Ruth Upward, are in charge of classes beginning with kindergarten and continuing through the eighth grade.

Lawrence Hannewald, chairman, has been working with Ben Ehlers and Bruce Burmeister on the building committee.

Walter H. Kresge has headed the building finance committee. Assisting him are Leslie Jansen and Ernst Mar.

Says Cooperatives Essential to Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Friday purchasing cooperatives are an essential tool for the modern farmer.

★ ★ ★

A booklet prepared for distribution among farmers said the average producer spends $3,000 a year for supplies and services in producing his commodities.

"It is only natural that he turn to his cooperatives to get the necessary jobs done in providing for the growing volume of production supplies and services needed to carry on his farm operations efficiently," the department said.

"He obviously is unable to know everything about all aspects of his farm operations. Through experience he is finding that his cooperatives—purchasing as well as marketing — are efefective hired hands in looking out for his needs.'

Church to Study New Legislation

Georgia Council Plans No Lobbying; to Serve as Educational Tool

At its regular meeting last week in Atlanta, the Georgia Council of Churches, an integrated council representing nine denominations, voted to set up a committee to study legislation brought before the state General Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick, who heads the new committee, declared that its function will be to study laws on marriage and divorce, movie and literature censorship, sterilization, race relations, voting, liquor and capital punishment.

★ ★ ★

"This legislative committee will not act as a lobby or pressure group," he said, "but will serve as an educational tool to inform people on the issues before the legislature."

During the council luncheon at the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Philip, white and Negro ministers and laymen were disturbed by the intrusion of a Georgia State photographer who has been showing special interest in photographing interracial meetings.

★ ★ ★

Criticizing the photographer's activities, The Atlanta Constitution commented: "For the information of . . . the Capitol, the doctrine of separation of church and state still holds good."

In other action, the Georgia Council voted to endorse the recent six-point manifesto on race relations drawn up by 80 Atlanta ministers recently.

★ ★ ★

The Council's Social Relations Committee also asked ministers to encourage interracial and interdenominational meetings in their home towns not to discuss the race issue primarily but "matters of civic concern." The Rev. Dr. Herman Turner, minister of Covenant Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, was elected to a third one-year term as council president.

Ann Arbor Pastor to Speak at Bethel

The Rev. J. Edgar Edwards of Ann Arbor will preach on "Prophets of Doom, Prophets of Hope" at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church (United Church of Christ).

★ ★ ★

Under the direction of Lee Hohner, the choir will sing "Who Is on the Lord's Side?"

The Sunday School is beginning rehearsals for the Christmas play, "The Littlest Angel" by Tozewell. The program will be presented at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 22. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stickley Jr. are directing the play.

Milestone for Church

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Church of the Nazarene, preparing for events celebrating its golden anniversary year in 1958 marking the 50th year since its founding, has appointed 100 pastors in key areas to serve as publicity chairmen.

REV. PAUL COLEMAN

Flint Minister Slated to Speak at Services

Special guest speaker for the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene, will be Rev. Paul Coleman of Flint. He will preach at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services, Sunday.

Rev. Coleman's home is Hammond, Ind., where he served as associate minister and director of Christian Education for four years. He attended Michigan State College and was graduated from Olivet Nazarene College at Kankakee, Ill.

★ ★ ★

The newly organized church is holding services in the Williams Lake School at 2525 Airport Rd. The public has been invited to attend.

Migrant Ministry Receives Grant to Aid Workers

New assistance for the people whom Edith E. Lowry has called "the loneliest and most inarticulate group in America," will be made possible thanks to a grant from the Schwartzhaupt Foundation of Chicago, she announced last Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Director of the Migrant Ministry program of the National Council of Churches, Mrs. Lowry described the problems facing these people "who, without a vote, have to depend on others for help."

Speaking at the third annual Migrant Luncheon in New York city, Miss Lowry told more than 400 church and civic leaders that the foundation's grant of $112,500 will make possible a three-year educational project.

"It will help us teach migrant agricultural workers their rights and responsibilities as citizens," she said, adding that some funds will also be used to train communities in a better understanding of the problems facing these million or more homeless people.

★ ★ ★

The Migrant Ministry is now active in 31 states, Miss Lowry declared. "Six more states are begging for help," she added, and listed good housing, "catch-up" classes for children and schooling for illiterate adults as current concerns.

For there is no faithfulness in their mouth; their inward party is very wickedness; their throat is an open sepulchre; they flatter with their tongue.

16 Members at Convention

Rev. Joseph Chapman to Speak on 'I'm Third' at Vesper Service

Sixteen officers and committee members of the Senior High Youth Fellowship of Bethany Baptist Church are attending the annual Baptist Youth Fellowship Convention of Michigan held at the First Baptist Church in Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Also attending the convention are Miss Reita Smith, adviser to the Senior Baptist Youth Fellowship, Percy Walley Jr., minister of education and Dr. Joseph Irvine Chapman, pastor, who attended part of the sessions.

The Service of the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services. Dr. Chapman will speak on "The Eternal Insomnia of God."

★ ★ ★

At the 9 a.m. service, special music will include a duet by Jean Hilton and Charlotte Loomis, students at Kalamazoo College.

Special music at the 11 a.m. service by the Senior Choir under the direction of Miss Elda L. Sutter will be "He, Watching Over Israel" from Mendellsohn's "Elijah."

At 7 p.m. adult discussion groups in the second series of the Lay Development Program will be concluded. Three Baptist Youth Fellowship Groups will meet at the same time.

Pastor Chapman will speak on "I'm Third!" at the 8 p.m. vespers.

This coming Friday at 7:45 p.m. the Young Adult Class, taught by Judge H. Russel Holland and Mrs. Joseph Irvine Chapman will hold its annual monthly meeting at the Bethany parsonage, 73 Henry Clay Ave.

★ ★ ★

There will be a fireside chat with the pastor as well as business fellowship and refreshments.

Gifts of Goodies Always Welcome

Small gifts of homemade goodies let friends and relatives know you're thinking of them. And they'll think of the giver with each bite.

★ ★ ★

A specialty such as pungent and racy chutney is delicious with hot meats or cold cuts. To package such a food gift, collect an assortment of empty pickle, salad dressing and baby food jars and decorate them gaily.

To make an applesauce - tomato chutney, wash and drain 12 ripe tomatoes; scald. Peel tomatoes; remove core and chop. Peel 3 medium onions, 1 cucumber and 1 clove garlic, and chop. Chop 3 green peppers.

★ ★ ★

With these combine 4 cups canned applesauce, 1 cup seedless raisins, 6 cups dark brown sugar, ½ teaspoon crushed red pepper, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt and 3 cups vinegar. Boil until thick. Pour boiling hot into hot sterilized jars. Seal at once. Makes 11 cups or 5½ pints.

Outdoor Creche Lighted Tonight

Delegation of Elders to Attend Presbytery Meeting, Tuesday

The Kuples Klub is sponsoring the annual lighting of the outdoor creche at Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian tonight.

★ ★ ★

Following the pot luck dinner, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard will tell the Christmas story to the children of the congregation.

The men, women and children will gather outdoors around the creche during the lighting to sing Christmas carols.

The creche will be illuminated every night until after Christmas.

Advent Communion will be celebrated at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services tomorrow. A class of 30 new members will be welcomed at the service. Baptism of adults will be part of the service.

TRIO TO SING

The Chancel Trio, composed of Hazel Drake, Jean Urquhart and Gloria David, will sing "Poor Mary" at the 9 a.m. service.

At 11 o'clock, the Chancel Choir will present Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

A delegation of elders will attend the Presbytery meeting at Royal Oak on Tuesday.

At the evening session, the Rev. Harold Martin of Bloomington, Ill., moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church USA, will speak.

The Council of Men will meet Wednesday evening in the Fellowship Room of the Orchard Lake Church. William Duckwitz will present recordings of the national council meeting and the film, "Second Chance" will be shown.

Choir of 40 Voices at Sunday Service

The Lincoln Junior High Ninth Grade Choir of 40 voices will sing four anthems at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Jerry Smith will be directing.

"Make Your Life Count for Christ" will be the theme of the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach's sermon. Following the service, Bill Coffing will lead the singspiration for 30 minutes. Refreshments will then be served.

The pastor will speak on "What Should We Believe" Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

At the quarterly meeting of the Women's Association at 7:30 Monday evening, officers for 1958 will be installed.

Plan Religious Study

NEW YORK (AP)—A study to determine the influence of religion on America's comic strips, soap operas, jazz and other popular arts has been launched by the Department of Worship and Arts of the National Council of Churches. Psychologists, theologians, musicians and artists will aid in the study.

Ministers' Salaries Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Findings of a survey by the Rev. Albert C. Hoover, director of the Methodist statistical office, show that the cash salaries of 499 young ministers over a period of 10 years rose from an average $1,769 to an average $4,517—a 155.6 per cent increase.

Churches Study Pastoral Duties

Services Now Include Work With Narcotics, Crime, Mental Illness

The man "doing time" in a federal prison, the young gang leader in a detention home and the discouraged bedridden patient are increasingly the concern of the churches, an executive of the National Council of Churches declared last week.

"The Department of Pastoral Services has looked at grief, mental illness, narcotics, and crime," the Rev. Mark Shedron declared, "and studies pastoral care wherever people are in distress with mental, physical and social ills." Mr. Shedron is executive director of the department, which held its annual meeting Nov. 14 in New York City.

"State after state is adopting the standards set by our Commission on Ministry to Institutions from experience growing out of its cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Prisons," he said. This commission recommends qualified chaplains to the Bureau. He also reported a developing cooperation with the U.S. Public Health Service in the field of religion and health.

★ ★ ★

To help meet current needs in the various fields of pastoral services, the department voted unanimously to set up a Commission on the Parish Pastoral Office to be made up of denominational leaders, local pastors and members of seminary faculties to "reinterpret to the churches and the American people the Protestant views of the pastoral office." To do this, it was voted to undertake a major research project to collect a body of literature on the pastoral office as study material for both minister and laymen.

BIBLE QUIZ

QUESTION: What prophet was fed by birds?

ANSWER: In the days of King Ahab, the Bible tells us, a great prophet appeared from the land of Gilead. His hair and beard were long and his clothing was the simplest kind of tunic with a rough fur robe over it. At God's command this prophet—whose name was Elijah—hid alone in a wilderness near a brook with only the clear water of the stream to refresh him. But every day food was brought to Elijah by ravens.

The birds brought him bits of grain or fruit which they carried in their beaks. So Elijah was able to live. Then, when the brook ran dry, the Lord told Elijah to travel to a place which had been prepared for him. That was the beginning of Elijah's long service in bringing the people of Israel back to a true worship of God. You will find the story of the prophet in First and Second Kings in the Bible.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color this picture with crayons for your Bible scrapbook. Or mount it on cardboard, fold the ends forward on the dotted lines and you can stand it up on your desk.

(Carlton Livesay of Rocky Mount, N.C., won $10 with this question. Send yours on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Monday: Was there a real Mother Goose?)

800 Young People Expected at Central

More than 800 young people are expected to attend the annual Flint District Methodist Youth Fellowship Christmas Hymn Sing at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Central Methodist Church.

George Putnam, choir director at Central, will lead the singing of Christmas songs, both old and new, with Mrs. W. Henry Sink at the organ.

One of the high points in the youth program for this area, the Hymn Sing will usher in the Advent and Christmas season.

The Central Youth Group will serve refreshments following the sing.

Problem for Adults

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP) — The founder of the Catholic Youth organization, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, says juvenile delinquency "is basically a problem for the adult conscience." Writing in the current issue of the weekly, The Ave Maria, he says that the conditions that lead to delinquency "have been created, not by children but by adults."

Changed Her Mind

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Alma Locke Cooke, a woman doctor who served 30 years as a Congregational Christian missionary in China, was about to retire. Then she heard missionary doctors were needed in West Africa. By mid-November she had packed her stethoscope and was off for the dark continent—at the age of 70.

Christ Church Displays Books

'Christmas Mood,' Long Playing Record, by Late Alfred S. Burt

Started two years ago as a small table display, the book table at Christ Church Cranbrook has grown until now books fill four specially designed stalls.

★ ★ ★

It not only serves Christ Church parish but other Episcopal churches as well as other denominations.

Bibles and prayer books are sold, also current religious books and classics of many denominations. Books recommended by Christ Church clergy have notations to that effect.

From the beginning, there has been a great demand for children's books and prayers. Books are on sale after church, Tuesdays and after many special services.

Besides the books, Christmas records are being shown. "Christmas Mood," a collection of carols, is a long playing record.

The late Alfred S. Burt in collaboration with Wilha Hutson wrote the words and music. Alfred was the son of the late Rev. Bates G. Burt, former rector of All Saints Episcopal Church. Miss Hutson of Detroit, was the organist of All Saints.

Some of the carols are "The Star Carol," "Caroling, Caroling," "Bright, Bright the Holly Berries," "All on a Christmas Morning" and "We'll Dress the House."

The carols are now being published for use by choirs, schools and soloists.

The book table committee consists of Mrs. William S. James, Mrs. Lewis C. Keenan, Mrs. Murray S. Kice Jr., Mrs. Roy E. Stringer and Mrs. N. Bradley Higbie.

★ ★ ★

Others are Mrs. Robert Hatt, Mrs. Donald Whitfield, Mrs. Thomas A. Farrell, Mrs. Harold M. Armstrong and Mrs. Dwight C. Ensign.

St. Andrews' Mission to Observe Communion

At an 8 a.m. service Sunday, National Men and Boys Communion will be observed at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Waterford Township.

At a special service at 7 p.m. the Ede Chapter of Brotherhood will install the Coulthurst Chapter. Members of the National Council of Brotherhood have been invited and there will be a brief social hour for members following the service.

Wealthy Widow Finds Money Plus Men Adds Up to Facts-on-the-Line Problem

"DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive widow with three children and naturally I would like to get married again. Many friends have introduced me to eligible men, but I am troubled about this one point. I am well-fixed financially, and everybody knows it.

ABBY

"Would it be smart to come right out and tell them exactly how much I have when they ask me? So many of them have ideas about investing it for me or my setting them up in business.

"I would like a man who is well-fixed himself, but I wouldn't have the nerve to ask HIM for an accounting of his finances. How should I handle this?

AVAILABLE WIDOW"

DEAR AVAILABLE: You have a right to know all about a man's financial status (if you intend to marry him) and you should be willing to divulge yours. Lay all the FACTS on the table — but not the CASH!

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is my best girl friend at school. She has every boy in the class chasing her and I don't know why. She is skinny and is taller than most of the boys. She wears bands on her teeth and is not pretty.

"All the boys think I am too fat but I am just built funny. You should see my mother. I wish you could tell me how to get the boys. Thank you.

DESPERATE 11-YEAR-OLD

DEAR DESPERATE: Don't be too anxious. Be yourself and act natural. Time does wonders for 11-year-old girls.

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: When I married Margaret she was the prettiest girl in Atlanta, Ga. and also one of the nicest. We had a good life together until our daughter was born. Then she went off her rocker. She has been off it for about sixteen years.

"She ran away with a kid young enough to be her son and the police located her for me. She absolutely refuses to see a doctor. What can I do? A man can't be both father and mother to a 16-year-old girl. VERY UPSET".

DEAR VERY: One does not ask a person who is obviously mentally ill if she wants to see a doctor. Her actions indicate that she isn't capable of making her own decisions. Make this one for her.

* * *

"DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married man who has been married for sixteen years and goes with a married woman for nine years and then drops her and goes with a single girl for five years. Then when his wife dies he goes with another married woman for seven years. CURIOUS"

DEAR CURIOUS: I think he must be a very old man by now.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO DUBBY: He sounds like a fellow who starts things he can't even begin. Lose him.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Eleanor O'Neil Married in Birmingham Rite Today

Eleanor Carol O'Neil and John William English were united in marriage this morning in Holy Name Church, Birmingham. Msgr. Eugene Paddock performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louis O'Neil of Birmingham, and the bridegroom is the son of the Patrick Gerald Englishes of Tribes Hill, N.Y.

IN SATIN GOWN

The bride was gowned in a white satin dress fashioned with a scoop neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves and a court train. She wore a waist length veil of Brussels lace and carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids with stephanotis.

* * *

Serving as her sister's matron of honor was Mrs. Henry Hale Wood. Ellen O'Reilly of Kingston, N.Y., Denise Malaney of Larchmont, N.Y., Joan Gilday of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Eleanor Wilson of White Plains, N.Y., were bridesmaids. All wore moonstone blue satin frocks with net overskirt and carried arrangements of American Beauty roses.

* * *

Best man was Robert A. White of Kingston, N.Y. The guests were seated by Richard English, Phillip Fesney, Paul Butler, all of Kingston, N.Y., and Arthur Hutton of New York City.

BREAKFAST GIVEN

For a wedding breakfast at Birmingham Country Club, Mrs. O'Neil chose an azure blue peau de soie gown with a bronze chrysanthemum corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray silk faille dress with pink accessories and a pink orchid corsage.

* * *

Before leaving on a trip to Florida, the new Mrs. English had changed to a royal blue wool sheath dress with black Persian lamb jacket.

The couple will live in Salem, Va.

Children's 'Smock'

When children clamor for something to do, dress them in one of dad's old shirts, buttoned on backwards, and let them play "artist." The pretend smock keeps smal-fry clean, and watercolor paints spots quickly disappear when you toss the shirt into your washer and automatic clothes dryer.

For perfect drying resulth when using you rautomatic clothes dryer, remember that synthetic fabrics dry much faster than heavy cottons, and should enerally be dried in a separate load.

Pointed-Toe Shoe Needs Careful Fit

The pointed toe . . . and very . . . is the footwear fashion story. Have you tried a pair of the slim, slim shoes? Or have you tried them on and worried that they might not fit? In either case here are a few tips on tips.

As a devotee of the open toe shoe, you may find you need a longer size than you've been wearing. The key to "fit" is that the ball of your boot and the ball of the shoe must dovetail perfectly. Your foot hasn't been reshaped but the last on which the shoe was made has been.

Chubby toes don't always lend themselves to this new style. The long nailed pedicure is not for the pointed, narrow footwear either.

The loving care which you give your hands is seldom lavished on your feet, and now is the time to indulge them in extra creaming, preening and exercises. Toes stretched full length, then retraced rising up (heels in air) and down again before or after your bath or shower, gives your toes and arches a chance to breathe and relax.

While reading you might gently massage one foot and then the other on top of a small rubber ball.

When you are ready to try the intriguing narrow shoes, maybe a mild heel pattern is a good first rather than an extremely high heel. A lightweight or a very soft caressable leather helps, too.

In the footwear industry it is said there are two kinds of shoes, walk-around shoes and sit-down shoes. Keep this in mind for your experiment in pointed toes.

Married Saturday in Royal Oak were Mary Ann Porter and Richard T. Jordan. The Warren F. Porters are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Marshall Jordan.

MRS. RICHARD T. JORDAN

Mary A. Porter Becomes Bride of Richard Jordan

Mary Ann Porter became the bride of Richard Thomas Jordan this morning in a ceremony performed at the Shrine of the Little Flower.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Frederick Porter of Royal Oak, and Richard's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. Marshall Jordan of Clarkston. The double-ring service was performed by the Rev. Thomas Rodgers.

* * *

For the ceremony, Mary Ann chose a gown of white velvet and a jeweled crown headress. She carried a spray of white roses.

* * *

ASSIST BRIDE

Mary Anne Gardner of Royal Oak was the maid of honor, gowned in a red velvet dress and a red velvet headdress. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

Patricia Check and Sharon Chapman of Royal Oak also attended the bride, in forest green colored velvet gowns. They wore matching headdresses and carried red and white roses.

* * *

Serving as best man was Francis B. Bettendorf of Royal Oak. Ushers were William G. Luther of Berkley and Felix Charlier of Birmingham.

* * *

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Porter chose a French blue taffeta gown featuring a lace bodice and matching feather hat. She wore a corsage of pale pink roses.

Mrs. Jordan's choice was a cocoa brown crepe dress with a lace bodice and a matching hat. Her corsage was of yellow chrysanthemums.

RECEPTION HELD

A reception was held at the American Legion hall in Royal Oak following which the new Mrs. Jordan changed to a brown wool dress with matching accessories.

* * *

After a honeymoon in New York City, the couple will reside in Royal Oak.

Test Eyes Yearly

A child may score 20-20 on an eye chart test while in the second grade. But the next year, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, he might need glasses. Because children's eyesight varies from year to year, they should have annual eye examinations.

Worth the Cost to Be Whistle-Bait Blonde

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

NEW YORK (INS) — To bleach or not to bleach? That's a question a lot of women ask themselves.

Bleach and be happy, is my answer.

I just did—and for the first time in my hitherto brunette life, taxicabs stop when I whistle, policemen smile, and men take off their hats in elevators.

* * *

It's worth the $45 and the seven hours in the beauty parlor, the wisecracks from your friends and the farewell note from your steady.

* * *

That "Gentlemen Prefer Blonde" propaganda is all too true. They do, even when they're protesting that you shouldn't have bleached your hair. The tip off is that they're anxious to take you to cocktails, dinner and the theater just to tell you they really don't care for blondes.

STARTED YOUNG

Subconsciously, I started my switch to blondeness at the age of 12, when I had brown pigtails held by rubber bands and the girl I most envied had long blonde curls that had to be wrapped in paper nightly.

I got pushed over the peroxide edge when my scattered gray hairs started getting close to each other.

The transition from brown to ash blonde turned out to be far more painstaking than expected.

* * *

No reputable beauty parlor, hairdresser Albert of Fifth Avenue informed me, tries a bleach without testing. So first you get tested for possible scalp reaction, because some women are so skin-sensitive that bleaching means blisters.

* * *

If the test is okay, then comes the bleaching—a process that can take from one hour to one day, depending on the pigment of your hair.

YOU'RE A FRIGHT

You sit in a peroxide pack and keep sitting until you're sort of a ghastly orange tint. If you're more orangey in one spot than another, you get bleached again until the hair is one horrible shade all over.

* * *

Now you get washed and rinsed, and on comes the dye. "Don't pick your own color of dye," says Albert. "The beautician has a much more honest opinion of your skin tone than you do.

So you put yourself at the mercy of the operator until she considers you dyed properly. Then you get washed, rinsed, set, dried and combed.

And there you are, blonde and bewildered.

It takes a couple of days to get used to the stranger in the mirror, but moral support is plentiful. All of it comes from other bottle blondes, who whisper, "Keep it up. You'll love being blonde."

I do.

Holiday Visitors Return

Mr. and Mrs. Glenford M. Shibley and their four sons, Glen, Kevin, Scott and Brett, have returned to their home in Parma Heights, Ohio, after spending a week with Mrs. Shibley's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Shearer of Cherokee road.

* * *

Spending Thanksgiving with Mrs. Carolyn DeGrace of Monroe street were 17 relatives from Saginaw, Birmingham, Dearborn and Detroit. The evening was spent at the home of Mrs. DeGrace's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William DeGrace of South Edith street.

* * *

Mrs. Ruth G. Smith of Pontiac, Ill., spent Thanksgiving Day with her sister, Mrs. Lucy Smith, and niece Mrs. Lucy Adams of Crescent Lake road.

* * *

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding today of Mary Ann Porter and Richard Thomas Jordan are Genevieve Hayes of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Mary A. Davis of Cheboygan, Mrs. Mamie Cromer and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haehl of Elyria, Ohio.

* * *

A son, Paul James, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Glowzinski Jr. (nee Patricia Zielinski) Nov. 8 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Glowzinski of Kingston road and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Zielinski of Williams Lake road.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duross of Springfield, Ohio, are announcing the birth of a daughter, Ann Marie, Nov. 20.

Patrick Lawless of Pioneer drive is the maternal grandfather and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Duross of Marquette street are the paternal grandparents.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Fraser (nee Arline Anderson) of Roundup, Mont., announce the birth of a daughter, Diane Michele, Nov. 26. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Anderson of Williams Lake road.

Singing in Operettas Fun for Area Man at U. of M.

By ROSE PERLBERG

ANN ARBOR — Peter Cartwright marked his fifth season with the University of Michigan's Gilbert and Sullivan Society when he appeared in the men's chorus of "Trial by Jury" and "The Sorcerer," Nov. 21, 22, 23.

CARTWRIGHT

The husky brown-haired junior in the school of Business Administration has been singing light, lyrical G&S music since Cranbrook High School days. Pete is the son of Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Cartwright of Birmingham.

* * *

He's identifed on campus these days by his conspicuous, if well trimmed beard. Stroking it lightly, he explains with a grin: "It's something the society likes you to grow — if you can — to make productions more authentic," admits more confidentially, "Actually, I rather like it!"

TO PLAY IN DETROIT

But the beard comes off and his gaudy 19th Century costume goes back on the rack after the cast tours Detroit Dec. 7, when it will perform the twin bill in Rackham Auditorium. Both operettas were enthusiastically received at the university.

* * *

It takes a long time and a lot of work to put on a G&S show, Pete declares. "Trial by Jury" and "The Sorcerer" rehearsals started a good month and a half before opening night.

* * *

Singers and dancers spent three hours a night, two nights a week perfecting parts. Final week before curtain time saw them practicing for five hours every night.

* * *

Pete just received the coveted G&S pin, awarded to performers after they've reached the fifth season plateau, and as far as he knows now, he'll be back with the society this spring.

He has "a lot of fun" in each show, likes the music — "It's light, gay, relaxing" — enjoys working with the good friends he's made among fellow players, and meeting new people.

ACTIVE OTHERWISE

Away from the hustle and bustle of the theater world, Pete is an active member of Sigma Phi fraternity, in which he's held several house offices. He also has raked in the laurels in scholastic endeavors and as a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society.

After graduation, Pete plans on law school, with his eye on a career in corporate law.

* * *

Music and acting — he was a member of a high school acting group and spent a few months at Cranbrook Summer Theater — will remain a hobby. But it's a hobby Pete really enjoys, as anyone who talks to him, or watches him on stage can tell.

All Job Hunters Should Appear Well Groomed

NEW YORK — Every job hunter should remember that the first impression he makes may be his last—unless he is neat and well groomed from head to toe.

This is especially true of young people just out of school. Typically, they have little experience to offer. They must make an immediate good impression in an employment interview.

* * *

"A job-applicant's shoes are one of the first things many employers look at," the National Shoe Institute was told recently by Walter W. Leland, New York employment agency president.

"Sloppy shoes on a person otherwise well dressed may suggest sloppy work habits to an employer," Mr. Leland said. "On the other hand, a good-looking pair of shoes can improve the appearance of a neatly but averagely well-dressed applicant.

"Shoes must be right. They are an important part of the over-all impression that a job applicant makes in an interview. That first impression can make or break his chance of a job," Mr. Leland said.

* * *

Good shoes that fit well help to reduce fatigue as job hunters make their rounds. The feeling of being well dressed from the ground up builds self-confidence in interviews, according to the National Show Institute.

Employers look while they listen, and what they see tells them a lot.

* * *

So for job hunters—especially young people seeking their first job—a new pair of shoes is a smart investment.

Handy Laundry

"A place for everything and everything in its place," is a good motto to remember when planning your laundry room. In addition to washer, ironer and automatic clothes dryer, a well-equipped laundry room should include counter space for sorting laundry, a shalf for such supplies as soapflakes, water conditioner, bleach and detergent, and a mending kit for emergency repairs.

Robert Kerns, Ruth Meckler Slated at Cranbrook

Concert to Feature Guest Artists

Guest artists for Cranbrook Music Guild's concert Tuesday will be Robert Kerns, baritone, and Ruth Meckler, pianist.

* * *

T. Sgt. Kerns who recently won the Detroit Grand Opera Association's $2,500 annual Opera Scholarship is a graduate of Cranbrook School and is currently on active duty as soloist with the U. S. Air Force band.

* * *

At Tuesday's concert he will sing a group of Schubert and Strauss songs, several American songs arranged by Aaron Copland, the "Soliloquy" from "Carousel," and "Urna Fatale" from "La Forza del Destino" by Verdi. He will be accompanied by Robert Bates of Cranbrook.

ROBERT KERNS

* * *

Ruth Meckler, the 1957 winner of the $1,000 Grinnell Foundation Piano award, is a Detroit pianist acclaimed for her sensitivity and mature understanding. A student of Mischa Kottler, she is now a scholarship student at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia working under Rudolph Serkin.

Her program at Cranbrook will consist of "Partita Number 2 in C Minor" by J. S. Bach and the "Mephisto Waltz" by Liszt.

Wash Blue Jeans

Unglue your teenager from his favorite blue jeans and give them a fast laundering with your washer and automatic clothes dryer. Even heavy blue jeans dry in less than an hour. Because they generally aren't colorfast, however, be sure to wash and dry them separately the first time or two.

Clean Mop Often

It's smart to clean your mop each time you scrub the kitchen floor. Mop heads made of sturdy nylon or cotton yarn may be slipped off their frames for laundering in washer and automatic clothes dryer . . . and the dryer-dried mop will be as soft and fluffy as new when it emerges from the dryer!

Husband's Health Fails Him 2 Years Before Retirement

By BEULAH STOWE

"What happens when retirement is in sight, and then a man's health fails?" asks Mrs. P.H.

* * *

"My husband is 63 and has had two heart attacks. He does not think he can get his pension until he is 65, and we have no other savings except for a checking account which we use for current expenses and which never rises above $200."

FOUR CHOICES

What happens next depends on his company and his wife.

Mrs. P. H. can do these four things:

1. Check with her husband's doctor for her own personal report on how much or how little work her husband can do with reasonable safety.

* * *

2. Check with her husband's company to find out if it will pay him a pension if he retires two years early. Find out, too, what his full pension at 65 would be.

* * *

3. Check with her husband's company to see if it will place him in an easier job for the next two years, even if this could be done only at a reduced salary. (She must sell this idea to her husband's pride, as well as his pocketbook.) His salvation on a job lies with his own company—a 63-year-old man with a heart condition would have little chance of finding an easier job elsewhere.

* * *

4. Check into jobs for herself, in case her husband's condition should remain so serious that he should be quiet and home-bound from now on.

All these things should be done sensibly and soon. A sick man can do some serious worrying about his job while he is stuck in the hospital or at home.

SETTING UP TRUST

Q—"I would like to leave what money I have to my children, husband and grandchildren, but would like to leave it in trust. Could you tell me what it would cost and how it could be done?"— C.L.L.

A—Go and see a lawyer and he will help you make a will and set up trust arrangements with a bank or trust company.

A trust can be established for small estates—but may take out too big a bite to be worth it. If you have a quarter of a million dollars, you'll probably want a trust.

Older people with money often make a big mistake by refusing to get expert help on their affairs. They are still leaving homemade wills and causing family feuds by failing to spell things out so that there can be no legal misunderstanding.

Mind Manners

When swimming in a public pool, be sure your manners are good. It is not good manners to monopolize the diving board, splash water on others, jump into the water close to someone who is swimming, or yell and scream and push and shove around the pool.

First color photographs were made by James Maxwell, a Scotch physicist, in about the year 1861.

Invited to Wedding

If you are invited to a reception after a church wedding, take your time driving there. You want to let the bride and groom and their attendants and their families arrive before you do.

In the crater of Mt. Ruapehu, a 9,175 foot peak located in North Island, New Zealand, is a lake of hot water surrounded by ice and drifted snow.

How About Forming Figure-Moulding Club?

Competition Makes Exercise Fun

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sports are fun because we have championship and also because the element of competition enters in. That's why a figure-molding class is so much more fun than doing exercises alone. You have company in your "misery" and also compete to see who can lose inches most effectively.

In many cities there are exercise clubs, stimulated by this column. In these groups, neighborhood women get together and exercise five mornings a week after the children are off to school.

In some instances the women meet only once a week to compare notes and have a social get-together. On other days they exercise alone in their own homes.

This weekly meeting is a great help. It puts the pressure on because you hate to meet your friends and report no progress when they are dropping inches each week.

★ ★ ★

There are several exercises it is fun to do together. For instance, one woman lies on the floor on her abdomen with her arms resting on the floor in front of her.

The second woman holds the feet of the first down as the first raises her trunk, head and arms up as high as she can. She slowly returns her trunk, head and arms to the floor. After a few times the two reverse positions.

The following exercise is a splendid toner and reducer for the abdomen: Two women sit facing one another. Both bend the knees and each woman locks her toes about the ankles of the other woman.

Sit fairly close together. Keep the legs and feet in this position and lie down, arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise trunks and clap hands. Return trunks to the floor, arms overhead. This is fun to do.

★ ★ ★

If any of you would like to form a neighborhood exercise group and would like to have a collection of my exercise leaflets send 25 cents and large self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

11-30

Essential to large figures going south, is an eased thigh-line; add a loose split-panel to suggest a skirt for front only of swimsuit.

Percolator Brush Will Clean Chopper

To remove food particles that get caught in the small openings and blades of a food chopper, use a well-lathered percolator brush.

After brushing, wash quickly in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses, wipe with a towel, and air dry before ressembling the parts.

Protect Those Hose

Don't risk snagging those precious, sheer nylons. In the summer, when legs are bare, a little bit oof stubble doesn't seem to matter, but now that the nylon season is back, stubble means trouble. Shave often. Avoid redness and after-shave irritation by splashing the skin with good quality witch hazel.

Most of the delicate pastels have given way to bold colors, vibrant combinations and, to rich-looking all-over prints. There's a smooth and shapely build-up at front, with panel becoming a pleated skirt to slim the thighs.

A good start wins many a race. This is true in the beauty department, especially in applying make-up foundation. A foundation should be light. A heavy layer brings out lines and furrows. Excess cream or oil may be removed with a tissue.

What Are Obligations of Employe?

Secretary Invited to the Wedding of Boss' Daughter

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's daughter is going to be married soon and I have been invited to the wedding reception. I have worked as his private secretary for the past year. Because of a previous engagement I will be unable to go to the wedding.

"I have met the daughter just once when she came to the office. The two men who are employed here know the family quite well and will each send the bride a present.

"I would like to know what I should do under the circumstances. Shall I send the bride a gift, send her a check, or just what?"

Answer: If you would like to buy a small gift you may, although it is not expected. Under no circumstances send a check.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine has just adopted a baby which is only a few days old. Would it be proper to send her a printed card of congratulation such as the ones sent to new parents on the birth of a baby?"

Answer: If you can find one with suitable wording, such as "the arrival of the baby" instead of "the birth of the baby," it would be both proper to send and pleasing to receive.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Some time ago I was going to have a baby and the club to which I belong gave me a stork shower at which I received many lovely presents. Unfortunately I have had a miscarriage. Should I return the gifts?

Answer: The only thing to do is to give them back to the donors so that they can give them to someone more fortunate.

"Dear Mrs. Post: As is customary in this company, I'm being given a dinner when I retire, which will be soon. I'd like to know what is correct when the guests rise to drink a toast to me. Should I rise too, or remain seated?"

Answer: You remain seated and rise at the end of the toast. Then you merely smile, bow briefly, say "thank you" and sit down.

A hostess often thinks more of her aching feet than of having a good time at a party. Hours of standing can be a pain. But one way to cut down on footaches is a proper stance. Place the heel of one foot against the arch of the other. Occasionally shift the position. In this way, the heel supports the arch.

BEAUTYREST

MATTRESS . . .

A Wonderful Gift for Someone in the family . . . or for yourself!

TWIN OR FULL SIZE

Matching Box Spring $79.50

Eleven years of research with actual sleepers proved that Beautyrest Mattresses give longer periods of deeper, unbroken sleep!

If you've always thought the Beautyrest a luxury, consider this — with Simmons 10 year guarantee, you are assured of the "best in rest" at a cost of not over $7.95 per year! And there's no doubt of its luxurious comfort. The famous 837 individually pocketed coil springs cannot sag. Each one "gives" just enough for body-fitting support, making the mattress as restful for a sylph as for a heavyweight!

Research was conducted by the United States Testing Co. in laboratory sleep rooms. Actual people slept on all the leading types of mattresses. Electronic equipment recorded their brain waves . . . heart beats.

The findings: Beautyrest gave longer periods of sounder, deeper, unbroken sleep. Beautyrest independent coil construction lets you sleep relaxed. . . awake refreshed!

Excel in Basketball

Many of the outstanding gridders named today will be sparking their schools in basketball during the next few months, such as Dick Whitmer, Jim Drake, Bob Filar and John Lucadam.

One-Man Attack

Milford's Terry Anderson, a 2nd team choice in Class B ranks, pulled an unusual feat of scoring all his team's points in a 19-0 victory over Brighton while playing end. He also led the Redskins in scoring for the season.

Meet the County Stars

HEWITT HORNBECK, Royal Oak Dondero...end...6-1...175...senior...moves up to the top echelon this year after making The Pontiac Press Class A team in 1956...excellent pass receiver with a sure pair of hands...a tower of strength on defense.

★ ★ ★

FRANK CLAPPISON, Farmington...end...6-0...170...junior...the only gridder below senior status to crash the 1957 squad...strong blocker on offense...his coach, Jack Hayes, calls him "as good a defensive end as I've seen this season."

★ ★ ★

LOU PAVLOFF, Hazel Park...tackle...6-0...185...senior...voted Oakland County's No. 1 player by area coaches...a deadly blocker and savage tackler with fine speed...shrewd judge of enemy strategy from defensive linebacking post...an all-A student.

★ ★ ★

ANDY SNEDDON, Hazel Park...tackle...5-11...180...senior...teamed up with Pavloff to form the county's best tackle combination...made more than his share of the stops defensively...stalked opposing ball carriers relentlessly and usually got his man.

★ ★ ★

KEN NIKKILA, Farmington...guard...5-10...160...senior...the key blocker in the Falcons' T-formation attack...tackled with certainty and had a hand in a lion's portion of stops on defense...a durable performer.

★ ★ ★

JIM McCANN, Southfield...guard...5-9...180...senior...mighty on defense and could be found at the bottom of the pile after nearly every play...the pulling guard in the Jays' T-formation offense and a vicious downfield blocker.

★ ★ ★

TODD GRANT, Southfield...center...6-3...190...senior...the tallest gridder on the All-Star team...defense his specialty ...backed up the line...keen at diagnosing enemy plays...rarely made a poor snap from center...a steady standout.

★ ★ ★

LARRY CLYMA, Hazel Park...quarterback...5-10...150...senior...the clever field general of a Viking squad which went through a nine-game schedule undefeated and untied...talented passer and tricky ball handler...imaginative signal-caller.

★ ★ ★

JIM DRAKE, Lake Orion...back...6-1...160...senior...his blazing speed sparked the Dragons to a perfect 8-0 record...scored 17 touchdowns...averaged 11 yards per carry and ran for a total of 1,412 yards...did not play football last year due to an injured arm.

★ ★ ★

JOHN VOLK, Clawson...back...6-1...170...senior...the heart of the Trojans' powerful ground attack...always a dangerous and versatile touchdown threat...equally at home hitting the middle or swinging to the outside...averaged 10 yards per carry.

★ ★ ★

CHUCK GIBSON, Birmingham...back...6-1...205...gained over half of his team's yardage this season and averaged better than five yards every time he carried the ball...bolstered the Maples' defense at a tackle position whenever needed...consistently strong.

★ ★ ★

BEN BURKLAND, Troy...defensive lineman...6-2...215...senior...the heaviest player on the 1957 honor team...a rough and tough giant who anchored the Colts' bruising defensive line...a solid blocker and punishing tackler.

★ ★ ★

DICK WHITMER, Pontiac...defensive back...6-2...190...senior...started the season at quarterback...switched to fullback after two games and became one of the most outstanding linebackers in the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference...a crushing tackler.

★ ★ ★

MONTE CHARLES, Southfield...Oakland County Coach-of-the-Year...guided the Jays to their first Inter-Lakes Conference football championship in the school's history as well as an unbeaten campaign...developed a winner from a squad depleted by graduation...he received stiff opposition for the award from Chuck Skinner of Hazel Park and Ted Sela of Lake Orion.

AUTO CRASH VICTIM — Charlie Sidwell, William and Mary football star, was killed Friday in a highway crash six miles east of Richmond, Va. Sidwell, 25, recently signed a contract with the Cleveland Browns pro football team.

Deer Contest Closed Today

Behrend's 214-Pounder Still on Top; Deadline for Entries Dec. 3

The 1957 Pontiac Press "big deer derby" is all finished, or will be, by tonight when the regular gun season for Michigan bucks concludes a 16-day period.

Current leader is Don Behrend's 214-pounder, shot near Escanaba in the Upper Peninsula. It carried an 11-point rack and displaced a 205-pound specimen for the top spot.

However, the Walled Lake hunter isn't yet the champion. Hunters still in the north country, have until Tuesday noon (12 o'clock) to get in entries. No entries will be received after noon today, and none will be accepted Sunday. Hunters getting back during the weekend, or taking deer Saturday may file Monday between 7:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., and up to noon, Tuesday.

A $150 U.S. Savings Bond awaits the winner.

Vaughn Edges Jones With Strong Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn and Ralph "Tiger" Jones, usually the hard luck guys of the middleweight division, each had something to be happy about today after their hard fought scrap in Madison Square Garden.

Willie finally had a Garden decision—and a unanimous one at that—to his credit and a promise of another International Boxing Club main event soon. The Tiger keeps his date with contender Joey Giardello for Miami Beach, Dec. 27.

Vaughn, of Los Angeles, staged a rousing rally in the last half of the telecast Garden fight last night to earn the nod from the three officials.

Coon Hunters' Annual Meeting Set for Dec. 14

Fifteenth annual meeting for the Pioneer Coon Hunters' Assn. has been set for Dec. 14, at Bald Eagle Inn, Ortonville, at 8 p.m. Election of officers for the 1958 period, and reports of hunting success for last year will be major items of business.

Tickets are limited, but may be secured now from the following committeemen: Freeman Peace (Holly) PCHA president; James Berden, Lewis M. Wrenn, Harold Smith (all Pontiac); Ernest Latimer (Drayton Plains); John Feldman (Orion) and Jack Hamilton, Carl Kennaday and Arch Rodenbough, all of Ortonville.

Veteran Hunter Adds Another Buck to List

Frank Stoner, 280 Draper, Pontiac, has been hunting deer since his 12th year. He's done all right too, he says. Usually brings home a buck on his annual north Michigan jaunts.

His latest prize was one of his biggest, 10-point, 185-pound (dressed) deer, taken opening day near Crystal Falls. Stoner, and 11 other Pontiac men, stayed at a motel near the Michagamme river, where the buck was downed. Snow fell, knee-deep, after the opening day, Stoner reported.

Five Games on Tap Sunday

NFL in 10th Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League season hits the 10-week mark with two to go tomorrow and the conference-leading Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts have excellent opportunities to secure their top positions.

Both pacesetters will be at home, the Browns against the Chicago Cards and the Colts against the Los Angeles Rams. In other games, San Francisco will be at New York, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia and Washington at the Chicago Bears.

Cleveland holds a half game lead over the Giants in the Eastern Conference. The Browns beat the Cards 17-7 earlier in the season and off their 45-31 victory over Los Angeles last weekend and the Cards' 2-6 record should have little trouble boosting their mark to 8-1-1.

The Giants (7-2) figure to have a much tougher opponent in the 49ers, who are locked in a three-way battle with Baltimore and Detroit for the Western Conference lead. San Francisco lost 27-21 to the Colts last Sunday and must get by New York to keep pace with Detroit, which upped its record to 6-4 by beating Green Bay Thanksgiving Day.

A Baltimore defeat and San Francisco victory will make a three-way deadlock. The Colts' present margin is a half game over the Lions and one game over the 49ers. Baltimore has won its last three while Los Angeles with four victories in nine starts is tied for fourth place in the Western Conference.

Pittsburgh knocked off the Eagles 6-0 four weeks ago, but the Steelers were on home ground in that one. The Eagles surprised Washington 21-12 a week ago while Pittsburgh lost to Green Bay 27-10.

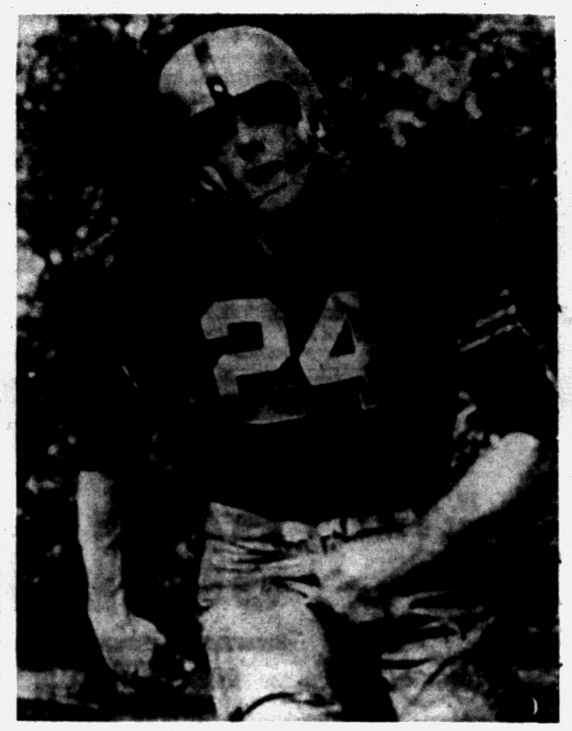
The Bears looked good in upsetting Detroit last Sunday while the Redskins have not won since they walloped the Giants 31-14 five weeks ago. Washington shares the Eastern's cellar spot with the Cards while the Bears are deadlocked with Los Angeles for fourth place in the Western.

Wyoming Coach Blames Police for Fracas

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Bob Devaney, Wyoming football coach, said today an early morning fracas involving himself, an assistant and two players in a Denver hotel yesterday "could have been avoided if the police hadn't lost their heads."

Charges stemming from the fracas against Devaney, 42, and his star quarterback, Larry Zowada, 21, were dismissed. Assistant coach Michael M. Corgan, 39, and guard Paul Muratore, 24, drew suspended fines of $10 each.

The four were arrested in the Shirley-Savoy Hotel in Denver after a policeman fired a pistol shot into the ceiling of a third-floor corridor. The fracas started after a hotel detective, Joseph Holeman, 36, was called to the third floor when a guest complained of noise in the corridors.



ARMY HALFBACK — Royal Oak's Pete Dawkins will be one of Army's chief scoring threats as the Cadets battle Navy in the traditional service game today at Philadelphia. Dawkins, a former Cranbrook star, will start at halfback.

Pistons Lose to Royals in Overtime, 99-96

CINCINNATI (AP) — Six straight points by Harry Gallatin pulled the Detroit Pistons to a deadlock with the Cincinnati Royals at the end of regulation play last night but a 12-point outburst in the overtime period hoisted the Royals to a 99-96 victory.

It was Detroit's ninth loss against six triumphs in the young National Basketball Assn. season. It left them 4½ games behind front-running St. Louis and two games back of the Royals in the Western Division standings. There were no other games last night.

The Pistons meet Cincinnati tonight at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The Royals, after their 500th victory, piled up a 10-point lead early in the last half. But the Cincinnati touch went cold near the end of regular play and Detroit crept to 87-81 before Gallatin pulled the Pistons to a tie.

★ ★ ★

George Yardley, who compiled 26 points for Detroit, fouled out in the middle of the overtime period. Gallatin ended up with 23 points.

Maurice Stokes headed the Royals' scoring with 20 points and big Clyde Lovellette had 19.

The Royals, playing before 4,103 fans, had set up a 45-42 halftime lead.

★ ★ ★

The victory moved Cincinnati to within two games 1st place St. Louis. The Hawks have won seven straight but have been unable to gain on the Royals.

Hydroplane Record Set by Regas

SEATTLE (AP) — Roaring out of the semidarkness after a day of frustration, Jack Regas drove his huge unlimited hydroplane Hawaii Kai III to a world's record 194.649 miles an hour yesterday evening on Lake Washington's lightly ruffled surface.

★ ★ ★

The big coral colored boat traveled the first measured kilometer at 199.726 miles and then averaged 189.571 on the required return run for an average 10 miles faster than the record set Nov. 1 by Miss Supertest on Canada's Lake Ontario.

★ ★ ★

Regas wasn't satisfied with his speed and said he would return today, weather and other conditions permitting, for a crack at the hydroplaner's dream — 200 miles an hour.

His time yesterday also was faster than any propeller driven hydroplane ever had been clocked on the measured mile, averaging 183.350 miles an hour. The previous fastest mile was 178.497 by Slo-Mo-Shun IV in 1952, also on Lake Washington.

★ ★ ★

The timing of the mile accounted for his variation in speed. His first trip, the kilometer was at the end of the course, by which time he had reached top speed. The kilometer was first on the return trip and he had not had time to bring it back to full throttle after the turn.

His mile lap times were 178.218 and 188.482 miles an hour, respectively.

The run capped a day of much roaring about the lake by the Kai, the Thriftway too and the Sunnee Brand, all out with the hope of setting a record.

RARE PRIZE FOR HUNTER — What was described by conservation officers at DeTour, on the extreme eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula, as an extremely rare occurrance, was the 10-point antlered doe (above). Deer was shot at Pickford, a few miles northwest of DeTour.

Downs His First Buck

Public relations man Norman Dunn, 4172 Waterloo, Waterford village, downed his first buck in several years of hunting this year. Hunting with real estate man Roy Knauf of Pontiac and son, Karl of Ypsilanti, Dunn took his 8-point, 185-pound (dressed) deer near Oscoda county. Others are still at Mikado, trying for their bucks.

100,000 Fans See Army, Navy at Philadelphia

Cotton, Sugar Bowl Bids Major Prizes in Today's Contests

NEW YORK (INS) — Invitations to the Cotton and Sugar Bowls will be the major prizes today when the college football season closes with a flurry of traditional games highlighted by the Army-Navy clash in Philadelphia.

Although a few scattered games remain to be played next week, for the most part the moleskins and shoulder guards will be packed away tonight until next fall.

Outcome of the Army-Navy battle, along with the Rice-Baylor and Mississippi - Mississippi State contests, could just about decide the participants in the Cotton and Sugar Bowls come New Year's Day.

If Navy, favored by six points, manages to beat the Cadets in their nationally televised game (NBC), the Middies are almost certain to get a Cotton Bowl invitation.

Rice, a 2½-point choice, will clinch the Southwest Conference title and the host role at the Cotton Bowl by beating Baylor. But if the Bears win, then Texas, which hung a 9-to-7 upset on Texas A & M Thanksgiving, will get the postseason assignment.

★ ★ ★

Mississippi, sixth-ranked in the nation, will be gunning for a Sugar Bowl invitation and will undoubtedly earn one with a win over State. The other team at New Orleans in January probably will be the Southwest Conference's No. 2 team.

At least one team, Auburn, will have a double chip on its shoulder. The Plainsmen, ranked second in the nation and the only major undefeated and untied team still kicking, will have its last chance to prove that it should be the No. 1 eleven.

Auburn is favored by 13½ points over Alabama.

A crowd of some 100,000 is expected at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium for the 58th renewal of the inter-service clash.

Army, not too deep in manpower, pits its hard-running halfback combination of Pete Dawkins and All-America Bob Anderson against the very deep Navy squad.

Navy itself has a fine running attack built around Capt. Ned Oldham, Harry Hurst and Ray Wellborn.

Fifth-ranked Oklahoma, which was dumped from its customary No. 1 spot by the Notre Dame upset, can close out the regular season with a 9-and-1 record by beating Oklahoma State. The Orange Bowl-bound Sooners are favored by 18 points.

Sugar Bowl Has Eye on Today's Southwest Victor

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl cast an anxious eye toward Houston, Tex., where the winner of the Rice-Baylor football game could affect the selection of a team to play here in the New Year's Day game.

General Manager Fred Jidby of the Sugar Bowl yesterday denied an invitation had been issued to Texas A&M, a 9-7 loser to Texas Thursday.

Paul DeBlanc, president of the Sugar Bowl-sponsoring Mid-Winter Sports Assn., said his group had "not extended an invitation to the Texas Aggies."

Gomulka Cracks Down in Poland

Press Freedom Ending

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Poland's period on intellectual freedom under Communism is drawing to an end after a year of experiment.

Even before Polish Red leader Wladyslaw Gomulka went to Moscow for the Communist "unity" proclamation — which Yugoslavia did not sign — he had begun cracking down on party rank and file and the press.

CUTS MEMBERS

Gomulka is engaged on a program to cut in half the 1,300,000 party membership in the name of his "new course" policy.

He wants to get rid of both the left-wing intellectuals and the Stalinists. The intellectuals complained that his policies were not proceeding quickly enough. The Stalinists want a return to old Moscow dictation days.

Gomulka also is weeding out those accused of being morally corrupt, the dishonest, the bureaucrats and the careerists whose membership is only opportunistic.

CONTROL TENDENCIES

In this way he hopes to control political tendencies which many observers have regarded as inclined more toward anarchy than to Communist orthodoxy.

Hopes ran high late in October last year when Gomulka had a successful showdown with Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev in demanding a more independent line for Polish Communism.

Gomulka won political and economic concessions from the Soviet Union. But geography he cannot change. Poland still is dependent on Russia, hemmed in as it is between that powerful neighbor and Germany on the west.

★ ★ ★

Poles began talking and writing with a great deal of freedom after last year's violent dispute with Moscow.

But now Gomulka is drawing a sharp line between what is called constructive criticism and political "oppositionism."

If Gomulka has his way, observers expect that he will evolve a new type of Communism which will have some points in common with Marshal Tito's brand in Yugoslavia but still be closely linked to Moscow and which will encourage more ties with the West.

★ ★ ★

He also will take more steps to control the general tone of news.

The tip-off of things to come occurred in September when the student newspaper Po Prostu was closed. This action touched off anti-government riots by student demonstrators. The police cracked open numerous heads to end those demonstrations.

Wales Sees Sputnik as Wheeling Fireball

LONDON (AP) — Watchers reported seeing a ball of fire wheeling high over Wales and the west of England yesterday.

★ ★ ★

This touched off a spate of rumors that the carrier rocket of the first Russian satellite was about to end its 56-day flight through space. But this was discounted by a spokesman at Jodrell Bank Observatory.

★ ★ ★

"We think the ball of fire was really Sputnik II circling its orbit," he said.

This view was backed up by Moscow radio, which said in an overseas broadcast that the second satellite can be seen with the naked eye.

★ ★ ★

Russia has said the carrier rocket of Sputnik I will re-enter the earth's atmosphere and be destroyed in about 10 days. The giant radiotelescope at Jodrell Bank made radar contact with it around noon.

★ ★ ★

Moscow said the carrier rocket will complete 862 orbits tomorrow and Sputnik I 851. The radio added Sputnik II will finish its 367th trip around the earth at the same time.

U.S. Monkey Who Flew to Record Height Happy

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The holder of the American record for rocket flight—a 25-pound monkey—sat in a cage today munching on a carrot—apparently unconcerned by all the publicity given to the dog that flew in the Russian Sputnik 2.

He's a male monkey named "Stratosphere" who has been on exhibit at the Smithsonian's National Zoo here since Nov. 5, 1953.

★ ★ ★

That was more than a year after he, another monkey and two mice were shot some 36 miles into the upper atmosphere in an Air Force Aerobee rocket.

As far as Air Force people know, that historic flight marked the highest any living creature had ever been shot aloft up to that time. And no animals have been sent that high by American scientists since that time.

The Russians claim they had sent dogs to heights up to 180 miles in rockets and retrieved them via parachute before they launched a dog in Sputnik 2 to heights up to more than 1,000 miles. That pooch, however, died after awhile.

MONKEY HEALTHY

"Stratosphere," who also is called "Mike," is rated by zoo officials as a perfectly healthy monkey despite his experience more than five years ago when he:

(1) Travelled at speeds up to 1,909 miles an hour; (2) was subjected to gravitational forces almost 15 times normal for his weight for about one second at take off and to forces of three to four "G's" for about 45 seconds; (3) experienced the "weightless" state of "zero gravity" for a minute or so; and (4) was parachuted to earth in the nose of the rocket.

Says Dr. Theodore Reed, acting director of the zoo:

"There has been no evidence of any ill effects of the flight that we here at the zoo have been able to observe. He has just led a perfectly normal monkey life."

BOTH RETIRED

Both monkeys were originally "retired" to the Smithsonian Zoo, but one of them died there a couple of years ago from a cause "bearing no relation to the flight" according to an Air Force doctor.

The animal rocket experiments, together with some human observations in aircraft, the Air Force said, allow the conclusion that "the weightless state, as it is likely to be encountered for brief one-to-two minute periods in contemporary rocket and jet aircraft, will not seriously interfere with proper performance of a pilot's duties."

★ ★ ★

Thus, "Stratosphere" still is a scientific big-shot even though he didn't get as high in the world as the pooch did in Sputnik 2.

New York Schools to Teach Russian

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Journal American said that the teaching of Russian in New York City public schools will be started on an experimental basis during next semester.

An in-service course in elementary Russian for high school teachers, beginning in February 1958, has been submitted for approval. Experimental projects in one junior high school and one senior high school also are in the planning stage.

The steps to put Russian into the curriculum come as a result of recent American awareness that the U.S. school system has fallen behind its Soviet counterpart, a board of education official said.

Dr. Theodore Huebener, director of foreign languages of the New York City Board of Education, said "something must be doone — and done immediately — to strengthen our foreign language program. I am hoping that these preliminary steps will not meet any opposition."

An average freight car is loaded about 20 times a year.

Your Neighbor's House

Thompsons Improve on First Model

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the past few weeks we have had several homes that were do - it - yourself projects. Most of the builder-owners have said, "Never again!" Not so with today's family.

John N. Thompson, a teacher at Waterford High School, has now built two houses. He is willing to do a third one, but his wife puts her foot down. She likes what she has and intends to stay at 3776 Lakewood, Watkins Lake, for some time.

★ ★ ★

Actually, Mr. Thompson did only about half the actual building of their new home and subcontracted the rest. He did, however, draw plans to fit the lot just as he had done for the first house. When the Thompsons moved, they merely went next door.

Judy, the eldest daughter, was allowed to come home from school to have her picture taken with her sister, Nancy. Judy is six and Nancy is four.

Both are delightfully poised little girls who carry on a conversation with strangers as well as grownups would. Anxious to have their bedroom photographed, they worked willingly to put it in order. "Unusual," said their mother.

BOSS CAT

Smudge, the black and white kitten, shared the limelight with his two young mistresses. Smudge is only six months old, but already is mammoth and gives promise of soon being the neighborhood's chief cat.

The Thompson house is white frame with brick trim on the lower part. Mr. Thompson adapted it to the lot by making the front section two story. There are exterior entrances on two levels.

A wide driveway leads up to the two-car garage and curving steps go up the side hill. Garage door and shutters are painted turquoise. At the left of the garage is the door to the recreation room.

A two-piece sectional sofa occupies one corner of the "rec" room. It is white plastic covered with black and gold lines. There are tan flowered drapes at the full length front windows. At the end of the room nearest the outside door

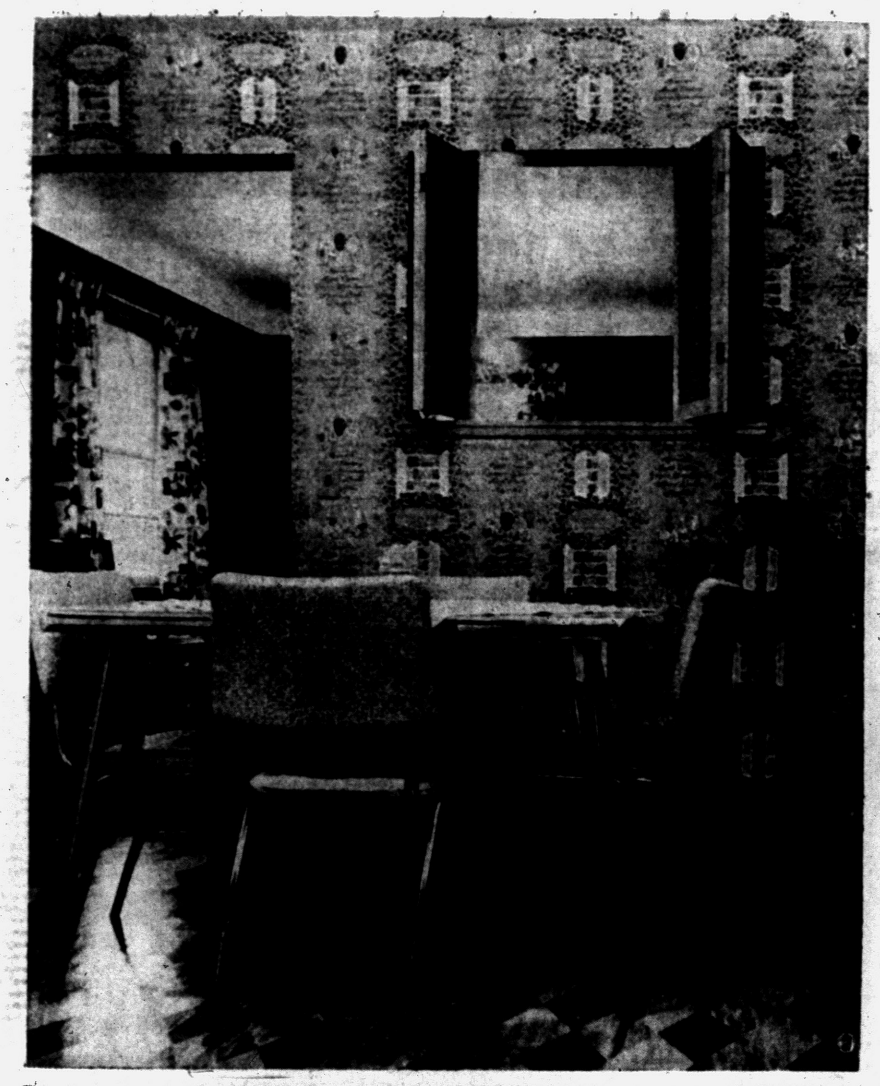
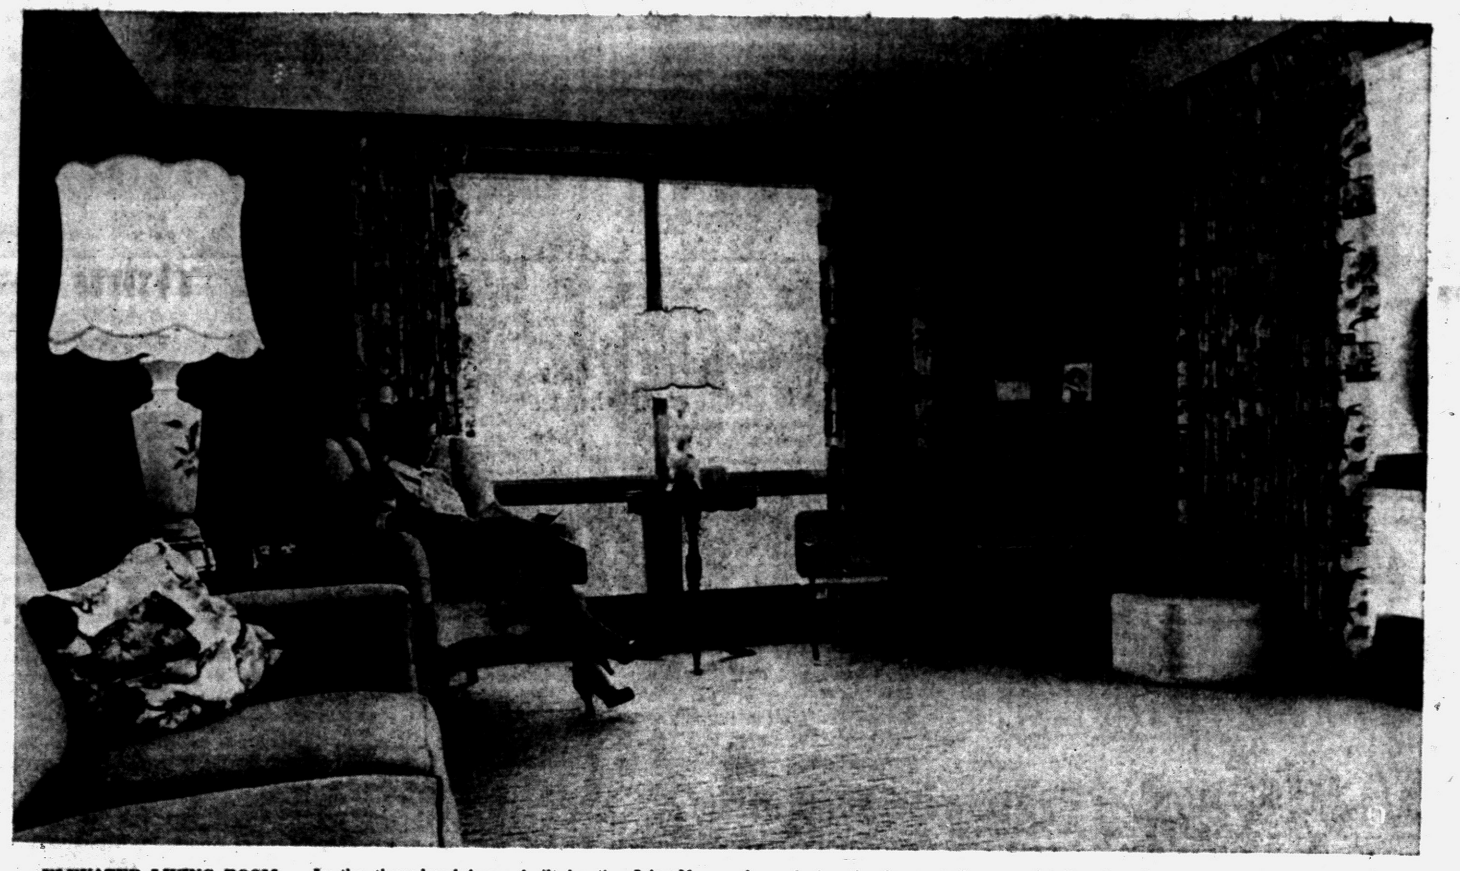
TWO GIRLS WITH CAT — That might be the title of this picture if it were an eighteenth century painting. Judy and Nancy pose on the hearth with Smudge, the cat, cuddled close by. The sofa and armchair in the picture are both gold color. In the picture below Mrs. Thompson is taking it easy in a damask covered arm chair. Walls and carpeting in the living room are sandalwood. From the windows at the right there is a view of Watkins Lake.



LOUVERED OPENING — This opening cut in the wall between the dining room and kitchen can be closed with louvered shutters. On the aqua wallpaper there are pictures and lists of foods sold in old-time sweet shops — "Ginger marmalade; rock candy; spiced peaches; and bonbons" are but a few. The tile floor is beige, tan and gold. The steel and plastic breakfast set is yellow and gray.



ELEVATED LIVING ROOM — In the three-level home built by the John N. Thompsons, this spacious living room is located on the second level, with windows opening at the front and end of the house. Mrs. Thompson is shown at the side windows, facing the front window area. A fireplace is another feature of the room, although not shown in this view.

"REC ROOM" — Just a wonderful place for the children to play and the parents to hold informal parties. There's even a fireplace at the end of the room from which this picture was taken. Walls are light sandalwood. The floor is beige and brown tile. At the foot of the stairs there's a storage cabinet with planter box on top. Above is a panel of ribbed glass. The louvered doors at the right open into the laundry room.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderwerp

FEMININE PINK — Judy and Nancy share a pink and blue room. Walls are aqua, but curtains, spread and lamps are all pink. They each have a chest for their belongings as well as a toy box. Stuffed animals and dolls, toys dear to the hearts of little girls everywhere, are all around the room. The girls have their own lavatory.

Ingenuity Pays Off Well in Fixing Up Basement

The fact that a basement is drab and dingy does not mean that it must stay that way. Ripping out a partition or building a better placed one can make all the difference in the world, separating useful play and service sections.

One ingenious homemaker had her work space partitioned off, hung bamboo screens over it and used the remainder of the basement as a place for small parties. She turned an old worn-out rug upside down, spray-painted the flat surface with her vacuum cleaner, made curtains out of Japanese print material, and hung Japanese lanterns from the ceiling. She had enough of them wired to give the required light.

Christmas fixings are fun to make. Pattern 321, which gives actual-size cutting guides for this sled candle holder also a hardboard tree for cards, and directions for wreaths, is 25 cents. This pattern is included in packet 43 which gives guides for a crib set with 21-inch figures and many other decorations all for $1. Orders less than $1 add 10 cents service charge.

Seed Packets Help Decorate a Home

Many lady gardeners collect seed packet envelopes just because they do not like to throw them away. If you haven't used these little packets with their brilliant blossoms to perk up some little area of your home, give it some thought now.

A border of flowers or vegetable packets in the kitchen can look lovely. Use them around a window, just below the ceiling or around a door for a special effect. Harness the little packets to your color scheme so that if the kitchen is yellow, you will choose colors that harmonize—corn, carrots, nasturtiums, golden chrysanthemums.

Another place where the little seed packets may be used is in a youngster's room. Paste them to a lamp shade or some other item in the child's room. Cover with a light layer of clear shellac or varnish for protection.

TIP-UP WALL TABLE — For the tiny apartment where space is at a premium, a dining table which tips right back into the wall, but is large enough for two people, can be a real jewel. Notice inset showing table folded into wall. The entire storage wall has been built of natural grain Douglas fir lumber, finished with a clear varnish to a corn gold color. The table unit is deep enough to provide storage for electric toaster, coffee pot and waffle iron. Drawers are for linen, silverware and dishes.

Be an Expert Tree Shopper

Person Doesn't Need Luck to Pick Out Fine Christmas Pine

KENT, Ohio — A person doesn't have to trust to luck to pick out a fine Christmas tree. Anybody can be an expert tree shopper by following some simple rules.

★ ★ ★

Select a tree that has pyramidal form, attractive spire and color. But remember you can't tell a three's freshness by its appearance, according to Martin L. Davey Jr., president of the Davey Tree Expert Co. So feel twigs and needles!

If they are dry and brittle to touch, beware. The most beautiful tree, if dry, is a menace and can burn like tider. Carry testing a step further. Bang the tree butt sharply against the floor.

★ ★ ★

In picking the right kind of tree, first decide how long you want it to last. If it will adorn a living room for only a few days, Norway spruce is the logical choice. It is both attractive and inexpensive.

A prolonged stay indoors calls for balsam fir, Douglas fir or one of the long-needle pines. These are more expensive.

Any cut tree will survive its ordeal indoors better if put in water, like a flower.

New Ideas Add Glamor to Retirees' Homes

Where will you live when you retire?

Unless you are planning to move in with one of your children, it's a good idea to begin making plans for a home to retire to well in advance of that 65-year deadline. And don't forget, advises Walter Gordon, a member of the American Institute of Architects, that this home will probably differ somewhat from other houses you have lived in.

"No matter how hale and hearty you are at sixty-five," the prominent architect pointed out, "you must be honest and take into consideration a life of less activity, thus plan your home for a minimum of fuss and upkeep and a maximum of pleasure.

"You should choose a level lot to build on so that the home can be kept to one story in order to avoid stair climbing. Compactness is another big item, and modern design has a lot to offer the retired couple in the way of storage walls and storage dividers which can be built to harmonize with any scheme of interior decoration desired.

"Upkeep is most important, so materials for the home must be chosen with care. For example, wood paneling, finished with clear varnish or lacquer, is an easy type of wall to take care of, for only an occasional dusting is needed and repainting and repapering jobs are eliminated.

The warm, cheerful tones of woods such as west coast hemlock are important in themselves, and are neutral enough to compliment any color scheme or style of furniture the couple may want in the home.

"Remember, too," Gordon pointed out, "that people over seventy usually need higher temperatures maintained in their homes than they did at forty and fifty, so plan for a heating system which is thoroughly adequate, easy to maintain and to adjust."

Because there are usually children and grandchildren who come to visit granny over holidays, the basic house plan should include two bedrooms and baths, one, of course, the master bedroom, and the other the guest room, possibly with a separate entrance. The additional bath should be a small affair, possibly adjoining the kitchen or utility room. Extra sleeping space can be had with convertible furniture — a divan in living or dining room which folds out into a bed, for example.

"Don't forget to provide bookshelves for that beloved collection of volumes," Gordon warned. "These will take up less room and be easier to get at if they are built right into one of the living room walls.

"And one last item — do have a good amount of window space to let in light and air, and to bring the outdoors inside during those months when you can't get out to enjoy it."

Wooden Cabinets Dress Up Bath, Add Storage

One important feature that was neglected badly in the old-fashioned bathrooms was storage space. Modern bathrooms make full use of the room around and under the wash basins with built-in cabinets and drawers.

At least a portion of one wall probably can be found for a shallow cabinet or shelf unit. By making maximum use of opportunities for built-ins on the floor and on the walls, enough storage space may be created to free a nearby closet that otherwise would have to be used to store soaps and other toiletries, medicines, towels, and many other items that are normally used in a bathroom.

★ ★ ★

In fact, a good do-it-yourself project for the home handyman is a cabinet enclosing the lavatory. Besides providing useful storage space, such a cabinet can cover up a sink that may be out of style but still serviceable. This is a way of achieving a modern looking bathroom at small cost. An added attraction could be the wall behind the wash basin paneled in a matching wood.

In the installation of pine paneling in a bathroom or any place where humid air prevails, the wood should be treated with a good commercial water repellent before it is installed. Care must be exercised to make sure all edges and ends are covered.

Two or three coats of lacquer or varnish followed by several applications of wax will provide a finish that will outlast the fixtures. It will also be easy for the housewife to keep clean.

Precise Power Sawing Calls for Cutting Margin

If you always find that board lengths cut for precision woodworking projects are undersize, a leading manufacturer of power saws, Thor Power Tool Company, Chicago, has a suggestion.

When using your power saw, remember that cutting through the scribe mark that has been drawn to exact measure will leave you with a piece shorter than your requirement. Avoid this by cutting alongside the scribe mark on the "unwanted" side of the board and not through the mark.

Split Level Ranch Has Economy Family Room

A distinctive economy feature of this split level ranch style home, aside from the appeal of seven well-planned rooms on a 75-foot plot, is a sunken family room and sunken vestibule.

Being two steps below the main section of the house, which is a simple rectangle over a basement area of the same shape, the family room wing including the garage can be built on slab concrete, considerably cutting the overall construction costs.

★ ★ ★

The keynote of the plan is its simplicity and sound arrangement. It has dramatic interior features and its exterior is a model of restrained but handsome styling; yet a major attraction is compactness and wise use of all available space.

SPACE ECONOMY STRESSED

Seldom have we seen such economical use made of the space which is so valuable to the homeowner. The design is by Architect Herman H. York, one of America's foremost architects in the small homes field, and has been selected as HW-78 in The House of The Week Series.

The overall dimensions of this seven-room house are 54 feet by 50 feet 10 inches. Thus it would fit comfortably on a 75-foot-wide plot. Approximately half of this breadth is used by the main wing, which includes three bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath.

Under the main wing, the basement area offers space for an optional recreation room 17 feet 10 inches by 25 feet 8 inches plus an optional lavatory, closet space, a bar, a shop and work bench and a large open cellar.

PLUMBING COSTS LESS

The cost of the plumbing for the basement lavatory and the bar is minimized because they have been placed directly under the bathroom upstairs.

What normally would be a breezeway has been designed as the foyer and the family room, the latter an ample 13 feet by 21 feet. The family room also has been centrally located for maximum convenience and utility.

The foyer leads directly into the family room and also up two steps to the living room.

Stairs lead from the family room to the basement. Two steps at the far end of the family room lead to the kitchen. There also is direct access to a rear terrace from the family room, through sliding glass doors.

CENTRALLY LOCATED ROOM

There is an additional convenience to the central location of the family room — it is possible to go through it from the front door to the rear terrace without disturbing the living room.

Both the dining room and the kitchen, overlooking the family room, have a modified balconied effect and are separated from the family room by wrought iron open railings.

For economical use of space, notice the location of the laundry and its lavatory off to one side of the family room and between the garage and the rear terrace.

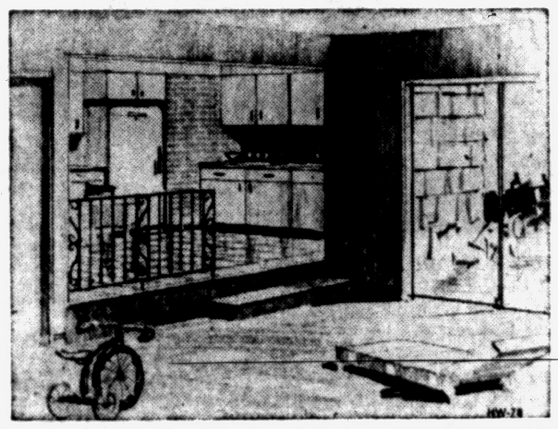
Should a two-car garage be required, it can be built easily as shown on the floor plan.

The living room, with a fireplace at the front, has large untraveled areas making possible a variety of furniture grouping arrangements.

Half of the main wing's rectangle is occupied by the living room, dining room and kitchen and separating these rooms from the bedrooms is a hall opening into all bedrooms and the bath.

Notice, too, the economical way in which closet space for the bedrooms has been arranged. The rectangular space between the two front bedrooms is divided equally for closet space; all closets have sliding doors.

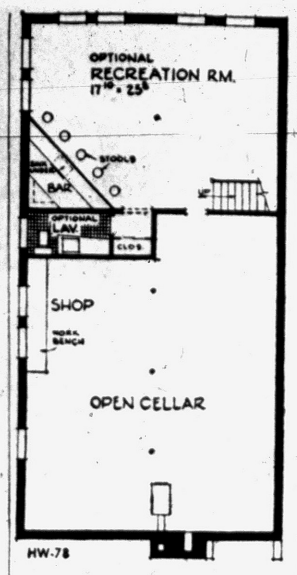
The same economy-of-space idea has been used in the area separating the bathroom and the rear bedroom, roughly half of this space being used for bedroom closets and the remaining part for the bath.



FAMILY ROOM — This view of the family room looks up into the slightly elevated kitchen and out through sliding glass doors into the rear terrace. A wrought iron railing sets off the upper room.

Statistics

Excluding the garage, the square footage of The House of The Week HW-78 is 1,840; add 273 square feet for the garage. The overall dimensions of the house, 54 feet by 50 feet 10 inches, make it possible for this seven-room dwelling to fit on a 75-foot plot.



OPTIONAL RECREATION ROOM — An optional recreation room is provided in the basement area under the main wing of the house.

Favor Certain Colors in Asbestos Siding

Green, gray and white are the most popular colors in asbestos-cement siding shingles, according to a recent survey of home owners who have this type of sidewall covering. A preference was shown for light and medium shades.

Also in demand, according to trade reports, are various shades of brown and yellow and two-tone effects.

Asbestos - cement siding, manufacturers report, are now made in a range of colors and color tones to suit every taste.

Whenever possible, keep the table saw in the center of your workshop so that large pieces of wood can be conveniently maneuvered.

Sprayed Cocoon Method Used

CHICAGO (AP) — The technique used to "mothball" ships now may be applied to construction.

★ ★ ★

Richard E. Baringer, head of shelter design of the Illinois Institute of Design, developed the method of spraying quick-drying vinyl "cocoon" onto a tabular steel frame.

★ ★ ★

He believes the technique may lead to better and less expensive shelter.

Some of the advantages of the new covering are that it is cheaper to use, faster to apply, moisture proof and does not need rigid framework. Two students erected one of the shelters, 12 feet high and 20 feet in diameter, in 15 hours.

The technique also has been used to make furniture, lighting fixtures and sculpture.

Cloth tape, meshed at 6-inch intervals, gives the vinyl something to cling to. The vinyl fibers can span a two-foot space if necessary, after the addition of webbing agents.

White pigment is added to a second coat of pure vinyl to keep the sun's rays from deteriorating the plastic.

Trucks Boast Good Paint

When on the new super - highways, do you notice how often you are passed by trucks of certain companies which are spick and span with a new paint job? Trucks are the travelling billboards for their owner's products. Clean and well-painted—with lettering distinct and clearly visible—they serve as roving "commercials," but are less noisy and more pleasant.

NEWS VIEWS

A scientist at U. C. L. A. claims he can rig a football so that it can receive messages. The doc says he can fix it so the coach can talk to the ball. Whenever he wanted to give the boys on the field any instructions he'd just broadcast the word . . . and it would be picked up by the specially tuned football.

This would save wear and tear from having substitutes trot back and forth like earth-bound carrier pigeons. The quarterback lifts the ball up alongside his ear to pass, and the football says, "O'Slovnick is open in the end zone" . . . or "Run with it, stupid!" I guess the next step is to make the ball a guided missile, controlled from the bench. Then the coach could route kicks out of bounds or passes into the hands of receivers. We'll see.

Agricultural experts have developed a watermelon about the size and shape of a basketball. Now how about a small square one for the apartment-sized refrigerators?

If you're tired of trying to make things fit into apartment - sized living quarters, come in for a cup of coffee and a chat . . . and let's see what can be done toward the full - sized new home that'll suit your needs. For choice residential properties throughout the Pontiac area, remember Realtor Partridge is the "bird" to see, 1050 West Huron St., FE 4-3581.

New Type Ceiling Tile Applied Over Old Material

Unsightly ceilings seem to be a universal problem. A plaster ceiling is likely to crack long before a home requires general remodeling, while other types of ceilings, such as gypsum board or composition sheets, show a tendency to stain or sag.

★ ★ ★

Rather than fuss with a messy repair job, many homeowners are applying new types of ceiling tile right over cracked, broken or stained ceilings to conceal the unsightly finish.

★ ★ ★

The ceiling tile is the same product that modern builders are installing in new homes across the country, and it serves a two-fold purpose.

First, it provides an attractive, permanent ceiling — one that won't crack. Second, it eliminates the mess that a wet plaster patch-up job can create when handled by the average amateur repairman.

There are two general types of ceiling tile: regular ceiling tile and acoustical, or noise-quieting, ceiling tile. Both types have the advantage of being decorative, non-cracking, easy for either the home handyman or the remodeling contractor to install and simple to keep clean and attractive for years of service.

★ ★ ★

The acoustical ceiling has the additional advantage of soaking up excessive sound by means of noise-absorbing crevices or holes in the surface of the material. In an area treated with ½ inch thick, wood - fiber acoustical material, these small noise-traps absorb as much as 70 per cent of the noise that strikes the ceiling, according to tests conducted for the Armstrong Cork Company, a manufacturer of ceiling materials.

This sound - conditioning has been used for years in offices, schools, hospitals and commercial buildings where noise control is essential to comfort and to the efficiency of those working in the building.

More recently, builders and remodeling contractors have been installing sound-conditioning ceilings in homes, too, to provide the advantages of quiet along with the other comforts of modern living.

HANDY HOME OFFICE — Give a gal a cozy spot where she can curl up with a book out of the way of the family, or a place she can turn into a small home office, and you have made a friend. Even hubby gets into the act in this lovely library-office made of friendly western red cedar paneling and shelving. Finish the wood naturally with clear varnish for best results.

Home Office Easily Made in Alcove of Room

Can you lay your hands on your insurance records, your birth certificate, school diplomas? Or are they filed away in a shoe box somewhere in the attic, or in a truck you've lost the key to?

Every home needs an office where these valuables can be kept at fingertip reach and a place where the children, bless them, with their smeary little hands can't mess things up.

Your home office needn't be big, in fact, an alcove of the living room, dining room, or bedroom might be appropriated for it. But it should be an area which has a definite atmosphere of its own, one which invites the grown-ups to partake of its comfortable surroundings while balancing the next month's budget.

You might want to take a hint from downtown executive offices and design your home office in wood. Western red cedar is a delightful, red-brown wood widely used for wall paneling and built-in shelving. Finished with a coat of sealer to bring out its rich coloring and a couple coats of clear varnish to protect it, it's a dream to take care of. Just an occasional dusting over shelves and walls does it, and you'll never have to worry about future repainting or repapering.

Naturally, you'll need a desk in this nook, and it's a good idea to build one in. The same cedar should be used for the desk to carry out the decorative scheme, and its dimensions will depend on your needs and the size of the room. For these purposes, it rarely need be over three feet wide.

Be sure to provide locks on one or two drawers, and you might think of designing one drawer deep enough to hold manila file folders. Tabbed file folders makes the easiest way to keep papers separated. A pull-out shelf in the desk for a typewriter is also a good idea.

Bookshelves are a must, too, and one wall can be devoted to these. Locate them close to the desk, either right above it, or alongside of it so that reference books are within arm's reach. You'll probably want to keep books for pleasure reading here, too, for this will prove an excellent spot to snatch a few moments of leisure away from the family brouhaha.

The only furniture needed in the office nook, in addition to the built-in desk and the desk chair, is a sofa or an easy chair. Here the wife can curl up and keep hubby company while he's doing battle with tax statements, and it will make a comfy corner where the two of them can relax while going over bank statements and budgets.

★ ★ ★

It would be a good idea to install a telephone here, too, so that discussions with insurance brokers and the family lawyer can be held with records right handy for reference. And don't forget to provide for good lighting. A desk lamp is a must to combat shadows cast by overhead lights.

★ ★ ★

You'll certainly find that all-important record keeping a more pleasant task when a special, comfortable nook is designed for it in your home.

Several Pale Shades Will Dress Up Room

List the colors to be used in your room before you decide on a new paint color. If you have several colors in your furnishings, the paler more unobtrusive shade is best for your walls. You cannot go wrong on a very pale gray, You will never tire of it. It is a soft unobtrusive background for gay chintzes and curtains.

If you are doing over a room completely, try two or three shades of beige with a soft pinkish beige on the walls. Pale beige carpets and bleached wood furniture will harmonize well with this type of decor. Include a few accents of a vivid color. Use white or pale pink flowers in tall vases.

Keep Painting Memos

When you have finished painting do you make sure that all remaining paint is stored in an air-tight container and clearly marked? Put on a nice label telling where you used it, whether it is a mixture or one or more tinting colors and, if so, how much of each color was used. This information will be useful when you need a touch-up job or when you want to use the same color in another part of the house.

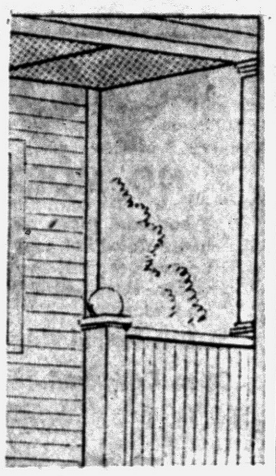
FACING WATKINS LAKE — The John N. Thompson house is on Lakewood, facing Watkins Lake. Buff brick trims the lower part of the exterior, while the upper story is white frame with turquoise shutters. Garage doors are also turquoise. The door at the left opens into the recreation room. There is a second exterior door up the hill. Mr. Thompson designed his house and did a great deal of the actual work on it himself.

Vermiculite in Grill Provides Evener Heat

A layer of vermiculite spread under the charcoal in an outdoor grill will help provide even heat for barbecuing, according to engineers. The mineral, which norly is used as an insulating materiterial, also will absorb grease drippmally is used as an insulating mapings and reduce flare-ups.

★ ★ ★

It acts as a wick so less fire-starting liquid is needed to ignite the charcoal. Vermiculite usually can be obtained from lumber dealers and hardware stores.



PORCH POINTER—Here's a tip for owners of older homes. If the ceilings on your porches need replacement, cover them with asbestos-cement board. The smooth, durable panels not only are attractive, but they are extremely durable. Plus features include fire-safety, resistance to weather and immunity to damage by insects.

Thompson Home Fits Land Contour

is a fireplace of buff colored bricks.

To shut off the end of the stairway going up to the kitchen there is a storage cabinet with a planter on top. Above the planter is a panel of ribbed glass.

YELLOW KITCHEN

The kitchen is a compact square room. The working area is concentrated in one corner with a yellow Formica counter top. Next to the stove is a built-in cutting board. Appliances are white. The cafe curtains and top ruffle are yellow. Beige, tan and gold in diamond pattern make up the tile floor.

In the opposite corner there's dining space. Here the walls are papered in aqua to contrast with the plain aqua walls elsewhere. This paper pictures and lists items found in an old-fashioned sweet shop. The breakfast set is stainless steel with gray and yellow top and chairs.

In the wall above the table an opening has been cut. Louvered folding shutters can be used to close this interior window.

TRADITIONAL FURNITURE

Although the dining room is separate from the living room, it has the same sandalwood walls and carpeting. Draperies in both rooms are white with coral, gold, green and black designs. The dining room is on ground level; the living room is on the second floor; both really are on the same floor.

Traditional mahogany furniture is used in the dining room. There's a corner cupboard between the two windows. Chair seats are chartreuse.

A second buff brick fireplace takes up much of one living room wall. Above the stone mantel Mrs. Thompson has placed two bronze and black zebras. Nothing is on the stone mantel.

Facing the three large front windows is a gold sofa and matching lounge chair. Lamp tables are mahogany. A second lounge chair has a damask type covering of beige and green. A large TV is in one corner; its smaller counterpart is in the recreation room.

There are three bedrooms. One Mr. Thompson now uses as a study. But there is warning that he will soon be dispossessed. A waiting crib stands in one corner. This room is green.

The second bedroom is blue. White curtains have pink and blue stylized flowers. Furniture is mahogany. The bedspread is hand crocheted.

Nancy and Judy share an aqua room with a tiny matching lavatory. All bedroom floors are natural finished oak and are bare except for scatter rugs.

★ ★ ★

Their furniture is gray mahogany with a bookcase headboard on the bed. Curtains and bedskirt are pink and white diamond patterned material. The spread is pink corduroy. Smudge consideres this room his too and spends many hours dozing on the rug next to the bed.

★ ★ ★

The Thompsons' lot is 90x250 feet. That means lots of play space for the youngsters. They have lived here just over a year.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—We're trying to choose a home to build from a book of house plans. The one with the most features we want has a flat roof. Is it true that flat-roofed houses are hot in summer?

A—In general, yes. The sun beats directly down on the roof and is radiated into living areas. A house with a pitched roof normally is cooler in summer because it has an attic space large enough for proper ventilation. Air passing through carries heat out through louvers.

Another advantage of a pitched roof is that it can be roofed with asphalt shingles in a color of your choice, adding greatly to the appearance of the house, and giving you a "color key" from which to plan other exterior colors. Perhaps the house plan you like can be altered to give it a pitched roof.

Q—Can putty be softened and reused once it has hardened?

A—Yes. Soak it with linseed oil, let stand overnight, and then knead it with your fingers until it returns to its original consistency.

Q—How can I get dust-free ventilation for my photographic dark room?

A—A fan blowing through one or two warm air furnace filters installed in one wall should do the trick. Blowing air in, rather than out, will avoid bringing dust in around doors and windows.

Subtract a Little From Outside Size

When an advertisement gives the square footage of a home, what does it mean?

★ ★ ★

The question is asked by many a prospective home buyer, the West points out.

★ ★ ★

Floor area, the lumbermen explain, is measured by the outside dimensions of a home, so that the actual living space inside the home depends on how much room your walls take up.

★ ★ ★

A wood frame house that is wood sided will give a home buyer about 40 extra square feet of living space, the lumber experts state, since wood stud walls are much less bulky than masonry and brick.

How much is 40 extra square feet? About as much as an extra large bathroom.

Remember that a tilting arbor saw is adjustable so that the blade can be angled to make a bevel cut, while a tilting table saw is adjustable so that the top can be angled for the same purpose.

Renew Surface With Tile to Regain Beauty

Yes, it is perfectly possible to set a new layer of ceramic tile over an old layer. If the original tile floor, wall or countertop has been defaced beyond recall, you can regain its beauty and practicality by installing new tile.

★ ★ ★

This can be done with either the approved adhesives (bearing U.S. Dept. of Commerce hallmark CS 181-52) or the conventional cement method. Before you start the job, though, make sure the floor, wall or countertop is structurally sound, level and free of old materials that might interfere with the bond of the adhesive.

To make a small room seem dramatic and important, use historic murals that fool the eye into seeing depth, refreshing scenes depicting mountains and streams, or the luxury of textured coverings simulating damask, stone, marble or bamboo.

Radiator Efficiency Increased With Barrier

No matter how much we appreciate the warmth that comes from registers and radiators, we can't help thinking what a nuisance they can be.

Any man who's lugged furniture around every time his wife gets a yen to see how it looks some other way knows that he dare not leave a table or chair in front of a warm-air radiator no matter how heavy the furniture.

★ ★ ★

She'll remind him that the piece will block the heat, and besides—she'll add vaguely—the heat will hurt it. It will, too, drying out wood and warping glued joints.

And what do you do when your wife points out dirty streaks on wall or ceiling and tells you to do something about that radiator?

First: appearances. Many of us still have homes that have large heat risers for warm-air furnaces, or huge steam or hot-water radiators.

Warm-air radiators present little difficulty. They're generally painted to match the woodwork or walls, or else some neutral color.

If streaks appear around heat risers, they may indicate dirty pipes. Or they could be indications of an inadequate seal around the riser where it meets the wall.

Dirty pipes yield best to professional cleaning. It's a very messy job.

You can solve the problem of an inadequate seal by gluing felt weather strip or sponge rubber strips around the edges where riser meets wall.

Those steam and hot-water radiators are another matter. Somewhere along the line, someone must have become confused about the reflective qualities of metallic paints.

They went and painted radiators with aluminum paint. That made them look bright and new, but the hapless painter lost heat values, too.

If the radiator could be left in its natural state, that would be best of all. But if you must paint, choose something other than a metallic paint.

It reflects heat all right—right back into the radiator. If you have a radiator painted a bright, handsome, silver color, you have also a 15 per cent heat loss. Get some paint and varnish remover and spread some newspapers under the radiator to catch the drippings. Wear rubber gloves and go to work with steel wool until all the old finish is removed. Do this with heat OFF.

Next, paint the radiator with some neutral shade, dull finish alkyd base paint if you feel it must be painted. Only paint the parts that show.

★ ★ ★

You can save yourself further heat loss by placing a reflective barrier behind the radiator. A thin wood panel covered with aluminum foil or paint will throw heat into the room that might otherwise be absorbed by the wall.

To make use of the space that radiators take, you can purchase in most hardware stores adjustable metal caps that fit over the radiator tops.

Folks like to use these as extra shelves. But be careful what you place on top. The items should be able to withstand heat without damage or danger of fire.

★ ★ ★

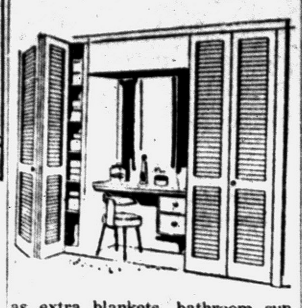
Some people like to construct fancy covers so that the radiator resembles a piece of furniture—a small cabinet, generally. Those are of doubtful value, since they should be removed during the winter to get maximum efficiency from the radiator.

Built-In Closets Used to Create 'Beauty Nook'

Built-ins can solve almost any storage problem in the home, but they can work other wonders as well when used with a little imagination.

A good example is shown in the drawing of two built-in closets arranged to create a "beauty nook" in the bedroom, bath, or dressing room.

One closet houses linens, and the other can be used as a wardrobe, or for storing sundry needs such as extra blankets, bathroom supplies, and small appliances, or perhaps to hide a clothes hamper.



The louver doors of ponderosa pine serve two special purposes. They give a modern, textured appearance to the room, and permit circulation of air in the closets, important to prevent mustiness and discourage moths.

Wardrobe closets of ponderosa pine with hinged louver doors can be obtained in "knocked down" form. They are easily assembled at home.

The closets in the drawing were built by a carpenter. Four stock louver shutters of ponderosa pine were hinged at one side and in the middle, permitting them to fold compactly when opened.

A wall of glass block has insulating properties equivalent to an eight-inch brick wall and insulates more than twice as well as an ordinary window.

Repairs May Be Deducted

Did you make any repairs or renovations in your home during 1957? If so, it might be rewarding to check a reliable tax return guide book or to query your Internal Revenue office. You may find the money spent on your home can be deducted from your taxable income. Whether it is exempt from taxation or not, any money spent on improvements is a sound investment.

Glamor Coatings Please

Glamor is added to the chemical coatings used on household equipment by mixing metallic flakes in the finish. Another intriguing chemical coating used industrially is a pearl-like finish made by incorporating pearl essence in the formulation of the finish.

'My Show's Not in Trouble'

Frank Sinatra Don't Dig Gray Flannel Suit Guys

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Those guys in the gray flannel suits—I just don't dig 'em."

This was Frank Sinatra's comment to reports that his TV show was "in trouble." There have been recurring items that his sponsors and network are worried over the quality of Sinatra's Friday night show and the ratings it has drawn.

★ ★ ★

Concern was expressed over the fact that Sinatra has done several shows in a few days. A news story said ABC has asked the crooner to do more shows live instead of on film.

Sinatra remains calm through it all.

"You'd think they'd give a show a chance to build," he said between scenes of "Kings go Forth." "But no. The show wasn't on two weeks before the complaints started coming in.

"Do more live shows? I said I'd do one (last night's). But that's all. If they want an audience reaction, I'll film the shows before an audience, the same as I Love Lucy does.

"But I'm not going to gimmick up the show. I loathe those phony laugh tracks and canned applause. I'd rather quit than submit to them. My idea in planning the show was that it was a singing show. I don't think you need an audience for that."

He added that the speed with which he films the shows has nothing to do with their quality: "That's the way I work — fast. That's the way I'll continue to work."

Said Sinatra: "I realize there was something wrong with the show, and I'm going to correct it. It has nothing to do with an audience or with speed.

"It's the fact that I only have a piano on the stage with me. The technicians said they couldn't record the band on the same stage. That's bad for me. I need the spark that I get from singing with the full band. When the band was dubbed in on the sound track later, it just didn't sound right."

★ ★ ★

His deal with the nervous sponsors is for a year, and his multi-million-dollar contract with ABC extends three years. He indicated he's willing to cooperate with them—within reason.

Prices Paid, Received by Farmers Move Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices rose eight-tenths of 1 per cent in the month ended Nov. 15, but the average of prices paid by farmers jumped to a record high at the same time.

The figures, released yesterday by the Agriculture Department, showed the prices received by farmers for their products advanced to 242 per cent of the 1910-14 base, an increase of two points over the mid-October figure.

But the prices paid by farmers for goods and services rose to 298 per cent of the 1910-14 period, two points higher than the previous record of 296 in mid-October.

Discover Arms in Oil Drums Bound for Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A search by U.S. customs agents turned up machine guns, carbines, shotguns, pistols and ammunition concealed in 16 drums of oil and grease consigned to Santiago, Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The federal men said the barrels were labeled lubricants but one gun's wrapper was labeled "Viva Castro." They said the shipment, seized yesterday on a dock where it lay waiting to be loaded on a freighter, evidently was destined for rebel chieftain Fidel Castro's army in Cuba's Oriente Province.

It was the second such seizure in 10 days. Agents grabbed 31 men and a quantity of arms being loaded on a boat in the Florida Keys Nov. 19.

Customs Inspector C. C. Williamson said the sender of the arms seized yesterday was a Ramiro Ramades.

SINGING COUPLE — Pat Boone and Shirley Jones fall in love during a scene from "April Love," currently playing at the Oakland. The conversion of a "hot-rodder" to harness racing is colorfully told in the 20th Century-Fox film also starring Dolores Michaels and Arthur O'Connell.

Educational TV Stations Given Some Worthy Aid

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Educational television stations, long the financially poor nephews of the TV channels, are receiving some worthy aid this year.

★ ★ ★

While 252 educational channels have been reserved by the Federal Communications Commission, only 31 are in operation. Lack of money is the chief reason.

There are many indications that the viewing public is interested in education. For example, the quiz shows.

A better example is "Sunrise Semester" over CBS-TV's New York station. Many viewers have been rising at 6:30 a.m. and several hundred have paid a $75 entrance fee to get college credits in comparative literature.

★ ★ ★

Now NBC-TV has resumed its educational television project, begun last season. It is sending out live to the nation's educational stations a new five-program series —free to the stations.

The production cost—$750,000 —is shared equally by the network and the Educational Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Of further encouragement to educational TV is an announcement by a new group called ONSET (Organization for National Support of Educational Television).

★ ★ ★

With the aid of a grant from a drug company, ONSET has produced its first TV program series called "World of Medicine." First showings began last month over educational stations.

Report Mild Earthquake Rattles Portland Area

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A mild earthquake of about one-minute duration rattled the Portland area and southwestern Washington at 8:46 p.m. yesterday.

Bill Geitz, who operates a seismograph in the basement of a Portland Hotel, recorded the minor quake.

Police and newspapers received several calls reporting "floors trembling and houses creaking."

Noted Lawyer's Widow Marks 100th Birthday

SEA CLIFF, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Ella Guthrie, widow of the late William D. Guthrie, internationally known lawyer, celebrates her 100th birthday today with a family party here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur W. Rossiter.

Mrs. Guthrie's health is reported excellent. She is listed in the New York Social Register.

False Alarms Cause Big Rush to Grocery Store

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Everybody's wondering who started the big rush at Brown's Grocery yesterday.

Police said they received a call saying a fight had broken out at the neighborhood market. At the same time, firemen were notified of a blaze there.

And a third call urged a funeral home to dispatch an ambulance to the store where Mrs. Maxie Brown reportedly suffered a heart attack.

A patrol car, fire truck and ambulance converged in a matter of minutes.

They were all false alarms.

Hammarskjold Flies to Mideast

U. N. Chief on Mission to Ease Tension Along Israel's Borders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was flying to Beirut today on the first leg of a Middle East peace mission.

★ ★ ★

He left New York last night to begin a week of on-the-spot conversations designed to ease tensions that have flared up in reborders.

The secretary general planned to leave Beirut tomorrow for Amman, capital of Jordan. He expected to go to Jerusalem on Tuesday and possibly to Damascus, Syria, afterward.

★ ★ ★

Hammarskjold's principal busjness in Amman will be to discuss a Jordanian charge that U.S. Marine Col. Byron Leary, acting head of the U.N. Truce supervisory organization, showed bias in handling a recent Jordan-Israeli convoy incident.

★ ★ ★

As he left New York the secretary general did not designate what other subjects he might take up with Arb and Israeli leaders.

Diplomats at the United Nations said earlier that a visit to Damascus might include talks on Turkish-Syrian border tension.

Adenauer's Flu Delays Official Visit to London

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has postponed an official visit to London next week because he has influenza, it was officially announced here today.

The 81-year-old Chancellor was scheduled to begin a three-day visit to London on Wednesday.

A government spokesman said that Adenauer's cold, which had kept him at home for the past three days, had turned to influenza.

Clarkston Wants Caribou Site

Eyes Condemning Inn

CLARKSTON—When the Clarkston Village Council holds its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 9, attorney Milton Cooney will present condemnation proceedings against the Caribou Inn for off-street parking.

Recommendations from the Zoning Board of Appeals put the wheels in motion for the proceedings to be drawn up, and council members are expected to take action at the meeting.

Situated in the heart of Clarkston, the Caribou Inn has been a controversial issue since early this year when owner Ernie Felice petitioned to tear down the building and lease the land to an oil company for a gas station.

Approximately four months ago, the Caribou Inn site was seriously considered as an answer to the off-street parking problem, when Felice failed to get the required 80 per cent of the signatures of adjoining property owners, Cooney said.

The Inn has now been leased to a group of Negro business and professional people, to be used as a private club, according to Felice.

Just before the lease had been signed, all of the necessary signatures were procured for Felice to go ahead with the gas station plans.

Clarkston officials have been working on a solution to the off-street parking problem for more than three years, Cooney said.

One recommendation, which had been considered by council members and businessmen, was the purchasing of property behind stores on the east side of Main street.

After careful consideration and study, these plans were discarded, and the search for another parking lot continued.

If the village council decides to attempt condemnation, Cooney said, advantage will probably be taken of a little-used state statute which would allow the proceedings to be filed in an Independance Township justice court.

"In that day, the jury will be selected from among villagers living in the vicinity of the property to be condemned," Cooney said.

Condemnation proceeding usually are filed in Circuit Court, which draws its jury panels on a county-wide basis.

If the proceedings are filed, Cooney said, a summons would be issued for the owner of the Inn to appear within 30 or 40 days, meaning that trial could begin sometime in January.

Novi Firm Sues Over Annexation

Contends That Entire Township Should Have Voted Nov. 19

NORTHVILLE — Annexation of some 200 acres of Novi Township by Northville was challenged Friday in Oakland County Circuit Court. Northville and the township area involved voted Nov. 19 for the annexation.

Warren Products, Inc., located in the area annexed, has filed suit contending that all of the township should have participated in the election.

Last summer the company won a similar suit when the court held that there had been irregularities in the election.

There are 14 eligible voters in the township area affected. They voted 9-5 in favor of the annexation Nov. 19. Northville electors approved the move 159-32.

The land involved is bounded on the north by 8½ Mile road, on the south by 8 Mile road, on the east by Novi road and on the west by a line 1,000 feet west of Taft road.

DESIGNER'S MODEL OF NEW ROCHESTER HIGH — This was the artist's conception of the prize-winning Rochester High School which will be dedicated Sunday. A two million dollar structure, designed by H. E. Beyster and Associates, Inc., Detroit architects and engineers, the school was awarded a citation of excellence by the American Association of School Administrators.

New Rochester School Cited for Design

ROCHESTER — The two million dollar Rochester High School, to be dedicated Sunday, has been acclaimed as one of the outstanding new high schools in the country.

Designed by H. E. Beyster and Associates, the school was awarded a citation of excellence by the American Association of School Administrators.

The school is designed around a natural amphitheater of green grass. This amphitheater will be used for graduation ceremonies, pageants and concerts by school and community groups.

Within the building itself is a central student's lounge. Here students can meet and exchange information and ideas gleaned from the day's studies.

The basic philosophy behind the design is to stimulate the student to his greatest effort through outstanding tools and environment, according to John T. Hilberk, chief designer for Beyster and Associates.

Some parts of the building have been in use the past year and several music rooms have been added to the original plan.

The dedication culminates a building program begun four years ago following the consolidation of 15 area school districts.

Blaze in Southfield Trailer Burns Man

SOUTHFIELD — Ralph Littleton 30 is in serious condition in the Redford Receiving Hospital following a fire which this morning completely destroyed the house trailer he was living in.

The Southfield Township Fire Department was called at 7 a.m. today to the burning trailer, parked adjacent to the AAA Sanitation Trailer Co., 19424 West 8 Mile Rd., Southfield Township.

Littleton, who lived in the trailer, was believed to have been preparing breakfast when the blaze began.

Investigating Southfield police say details about the fire were lacking this morning and that the cause was still unknown. The trailer is a total loss, they said.

Slower Car Sales Bring Cautious '58 Predictions

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—By most normal indicators the year ahead should be a good one for the auto industry. Yet in many areas demand for the industry's newest products has been slower than the car makers expected.

★ ★ ★

Higher prices may have slowed demand to some extent. Another factor could be the heavy sales pressure in the closing days of the 1957 model year. Some analysts say this borrowed something from 1958.

But 1958 will borrow from the future, too. Of increased prices the sales chiefs properly may say the advances were not very large. The experts have figured the average increases were only about one-half of the amounts added to prices a year ago.

But several independent surveys —by agencies not connected with the car industry—take a cautious view of the year ahead. While agreeing 1957 will count 6,200,000 car assemblies, they predict a possible drop of 10 per cent in output for 1958. One such appraisal is made by Arnold Bernhard & Co., Inc., New York investment advisers.

★ ★ ★

In its Value Line Investment Survey it says "the industry has run largely on the strength of salesmanship for the past several years. Thus the number of cars sold exceeded any real demand.

This survey is in line with the forecast made earlier by Look Magazine which took over the annual Crowell-Collier survey.

As indicators pointing to a high volume year in 1958 the industry optimists put stress on a big replacement market. They say that close to four million cars will be scrapped in 1958.

★ ★ ★

They say, too, that many persons who bought cars in the big year of 1955 (7¼ million retail deliveries) will have them paid for in 1958 and will be back in the market. Of course, it does not follow that all will buy in the new car field. Higher prices could send some into the used car market.

Car Output to Reach 122,404 This Week

DETROIT (AP)—Motor vehicle output this week in U. S. factories will consist of 122,404 cars and 16,887 trucks, Ward's Automotive reports said.

Last week 151,846 cars and 23,604 trucks were built. In the like 1956 week, assemblies consisted of 159,976 cars and 25,062 trucks.

Canada's output, the agency said, will be 7,900 cars and 1,281 trucks this week against 7,671 cars and 1,344 trucks last week. In the like 1956 week, Dominion factories built 9,405 cars and 2,128 trucks.

Ward's estimates November U.S. output at 586,000 (T) cars against 580,803 in November, 1956.

★ ★ ★

The Ward survey noted sharp production and sales upturns by General Motors and American Motors. It said, however, that Chrysler's DeSoto division curtailed output to adjust its production with dealer inventories. "Industrywide programming for December and January," it added, "is being softened in line with sales trends."

Stephen Still Wasn't; Parents Must Pay $300

WARREN — Because three-year-old Stephen Still wasn't, his parents or their insurance company likely will have to pay an estimated $300 in damages of a restaurant.

★ ★ ★

Stephen was left in the family car with his mother while his father ran into a grocery store. Before Mrs. Still could stop him, he stepped on the accelerator, backing the auto over a curb and through the restaurant's front window.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, DEPARTment of Agriculture, Drain Section.

Notice of Meeting of Drainage Board. To whom it may concern:

Notice is hereby given that on the 8th day of November, 1957, an application was filed with the drainage board for the Underhill Inter-County Drain affecting the counties Oakland and Washtenaw asking for the permission to connect sewage in the form of effluent from a private sewage disposal system to the Underhill Inter-County Drain, located in the Township of Lyons, County of Oakland, Township of Salem, County of Washtenaw.

And whereas, a copy of said application was served upon Daniel W. Barry, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Oakland, John H. Flook, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Washtenaw and the Director of Agriculture, by Dale D. Libby, attorney for Paul Clark and Irene Clark, Freeholders of Lyon Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

Now, therefore, in accordance with Act No. 40, P.A. 1956, as amended a meeting of the Drainage Board of said drain will be held at 58200 West Eight Mile Road, in the township of Lyon, county of Oakland, on the 12th day of December, 1957, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon, to determine the practicableness of granting permission to connect sewage in the form of effluent from a private sewage disposal system to the Underhill Inter-County Drain.

Now, therefore, all persons owning lands liable to an assessment for benefits or whose lands will be crossed by said drain, or any municipality affected, are requested to be present at said meeting, if they so desire.

Dated at Lansing, Michigan, this 21st day of November, 1957.

G. S. McINTYRE,
Director of Agriculture
By JOHN HUDSON,
Deputy in Charge of Inter-County Drains
Nov. 30, Dec. 6, '57.

Visit the home that won the 1957 award from Home Magazine for outstanding design. It features 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. The other home has 3 bedrooms and 2 baths, and a large family room. You'll be amazed at the matchless features which are absolutely too numerous to mention. Just a few are: a Hotpoint built-in oven and range, hood and fan, dishwasher, disposal and lifetime tile roof. Plastered walls. Fireplace. Sliding window wall. Both homes have a thrilling view from their large wooded lots over-looking Van Norman Lake where you can swim, fish and skate. Enjoy a preview of the new addition to the present subdivision. Unsurpassed panoramic views unequalled in any other residential community. Waterford Hill Manor. Showplace of Oakland Co. Both new homes located on Wellesley Terrace. Priced at $29,000 complete.
For the thrill of a lifetime visit Waterford Hill Sat. to see these new homes.

Unemployment Rises in Production Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose in most major production and employment centers during the fall months, the Labor Department reports.

The most significant jobless increases were reported by areas with worker concentrations in aircraft, machinery and primary metals, the department said yesterday.

Some increases were attributed to seasonal lulls in food processing, lumber and construction.

The department said in its report that three-fifths of the 149 major centers experienced increased in unemployment, but that generally the increases were small to moderate.

Conditions in some areas were helped by seasonal hiring in retail trades, and by hiring in automobile plants now producing new models.

Gale Storm Describes Lunch With Zazu Pitts

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Gale Storm, who in person's a very amusing, 35-year-old mother of three, was regaling me the other day with some tales of her TV accomplice, Zasu Pitts.

"I had to stop her fixing my lunch," giggled Gale. "And she's such a good cook, too—even makes her own bread.

"First day, she brought me a meat loaf sandwich. She said to me, 'This is all filet.' Next day, she brought me my lunch, too; uh huh—a meat loaf sandwich. Third day—meat loaf sandwich. Fourth day I said, 'What's lunch going to be today?' Zazu said, 'Why, a meat loaf sandwich.' I said to her, 'Zazu, that's the FOURTH DAY. Please don't bring it—I am SICK of meat loaf!'"

WILSON

"Did you figure out why she did it?" I asked.

"I guess," shrugged Gale, "her husband hadn't eaten up all the meat loaf!"

But Gale gave plenty of credit to Zazu for the fact that her show, "Oh! Susanna," tops even the wondrous Lawrence Welk in some of the ratings.

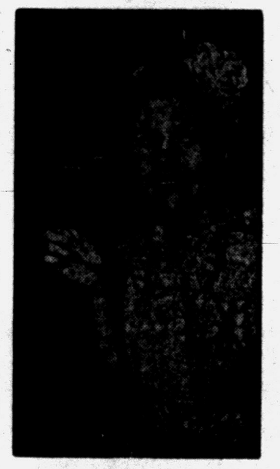
Gale, who's from Houston, manages to have weekends with her four children and her husband, Insurance Man Lee Bonnell, the ex-South Bend actor whom she met when both won a talent contest back in 1939.

There's only one thing I don't like about Lee," Gale said. "Being an insurance man, he figures you're a year older after six months after your birthday."

★ ★ ★

"Do you film all your programs?" I asked Gale.

She smiled. "Oh, yes," she said. "We're on dead from Hollywood."



GALE

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Singer Frankie Lymon, 15, bought an $8,500 sports car—but isn't old enough to drive. So he just polishes it . . . Ten years ago the sales of vodka in the U.S. totaled $2,000,000; in '58 one company will spend $6,000,000—just for advertising . . . Rossano Brazzi, who'll do the film bio of Georges Carpentier, is taking boxing lessons.

Deering Firm Files Bankruptcy Petition

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Deering Air Conditioning Co. has filed a petition in bankruptcy, listing liabilities of nearly a half million dollars.

Through A. J. Frank, secretary-treasurer, the petition, filed in U. S. District Court yesterday, stated that $477,747.17 were unsecured among liabilities totaling $480,477.17.

Assets were given as $430,964.73. Of that amount, stock in trade was listed at $308,381; $56,388.60 in machinery and tools, and $64,307.13 in debts due to open accounts.

Louis H. Frank and sons of Adrian, Mich., own 98 per cent of the stock, according to the petition.

A large creditor was the Aimcee Wholesale Corp. of New York N. Y., for $16,380, it was stated.
