High Winds Buffet Pontiac

80-Mile Blow Cuts Off Power in 1,150 Homes

Storm Brings Relief to County; Fair Weather
Forecast Wednesday

Hurricane strength winds of 75 to 80 miles an hour blacked out 1,150 homes Monday, broke Pontiac Airport's wind recorder, and heralded relief from Pontiac's tropical heat.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts fair weather with a low of 62 to 66 degrees tonight and a high tomorrow of 83 to 87.

Monday's late-afternoon storm swept down on Pontiac about an hour before summer's official arrival at 5:55 p.m. Temperatures that started from a morning low of 71 had soared to a steamy 91 before the storm yanked them back to 72 degrees in about half an hour.

Thermometers dropped to 70 early this morning, climbing back to 72 at 8 a.m. and 82 by 2 p.m. today.

Pontiac Airport officials said their wind recorder just couldn't whirl fast enough when the short, vicious gusts (hurricane speed is 70 miles an hour) smacked it.

The anemometer did measure winds of 75 miles an hour before it flopped on its side for the second time this year. The instrument gave out under high winds this winter.

A falling limb knocked out a Consumers Power Co. line at Roselawn and Chandler avenues, cutting off power to 150 homes for two hours.

High winds uprooted three large box elders in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis, 48 Charlotte St. The trees were pushed into the yard of Gus Johnson, 145 Edison, who had just planted a garden there.

Ten-inch limbs were snapped off trees at 90 Chamberlin St., dumping them on owner Adam Hensel's car. It was not badly damaged.

An auto owned by Mrs. Helen Shaver, 3845 Oakland Ave., Birmingham, was struck four hours after the storm by a limb that apparently was weakened by the high winds. The limb caved in the top of her car.

Slashing winds and lightning put six Detroit Edison Co. power lines out of service, cutting off electricity to some 1,000 homes in West Bloomfield, Commerce and Troy Townships, Maceday Lake and Lake Argus.

Some 500 homes were without service after lightning hit the line connecting the company's Bloomfield and Milford substations, putting them and the Commerce, Drake and Walled Lake stations out of order. Another bolt knocked out the Harris station in Troy Township.

Up to Stockholders

Studebaker and Packard Merger Vote Due Aug. 17

NEW YORK (AP)—Stockholders of Packard Motor Car Co. and the Studebaker Corp. will vote Aug. 17 on whether to combine the two pioneer auto companies.

A consolidation of the two remaining "independents" among the car makers has been approved by their directors.

The plan, scheduled to be announced today, calls for election of James J. Nance, 53-year-old president of Packard, as president and principal executive officer of the new company.

The new organization would be known as the Studebaker-Packard Corp. Technically the program proposes the purchase by Packard of Studebaker's assets.

Paul G. Hoffman, 63-year-old Studebaker board chairman, will become chairman of the new company. Harold S. Vance, 63, president of Studebaker, will

Three B47 Jets Make 6,700 Mile Hop to Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Three American B47 jets, built to carry the H-bomb, touched down today at the huge Yokota Air Base after a 6,700-mile nonstop flight from California—more than the distance from Minneapolis to Moscow.

It was the first flight to the Far East for the six-jet, swept-wing Boeings.

The stratojets were slightly more than 16 hours in the air from March Field, Calif. They were refueled in the air twice, over Hickam Field, Hawaii and over Midway in the Pacific.

Truman Progressing as Well as Expected

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Harry S. Truman's physician said last night the former President is getting along as well as expected after his emergency operation but added "It's a pretty rough situation."

Dr. Wallace Graham said he had not allowed his patient to walk yet and he was not yet out of danger. The 70-year-old Truman, however, was talking about getting out of the hospital.

He underwent the operation for removal of his gall bladder and appendix Sunday.

He is expected to remain in Research Hospital for at least 10 days.

Mrs. Truman, who spent much of her visit to her husband's room reading the many telegrams he's received, said, "I think he is progressing. He was comfortable and he wasn't bothered by the heat today."

2 City Convicts Caught in Break Now in Hospital

One Brother Shot and Other Leaps 40 Feet in Ann Arbor Escape Bid

Two Pontiac brothers, awaiting sentence in Ann Arbor for a supermarket holdup, are in University Hospital there, after a bullet and a 40-foot leap ended their desperate and unsuccessful bid for freedom yesterday.

Gordon Ervin, 27, of 88 W. Mansfield Ave., is in satisfactory condition with a bullet wound in the chest. His brother, Charles, 37, of 470 Oakland Ave., is being treated for back injuries suffered in a 40-foot leap from a ledge of the Washenaw County Courthouse into the arms of the sheriff's deputies.

The two, both ex-convicts, were locked in a court ante-room while attorneys consulted with Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr., about sentencing.

Moments before, a jury had convicted them of the $4,826 holdup of an Ann Arbor supermarket last Feb. 26.

They took the knob off the door and barricaded it, pried a heavy screen from the second floor window, smashed the glass and climbed onto a six-inch ledge.

Sheriff's deputies heard the noise and rushed to the sidewalk outside the courthouse when unable to break their way into the ante-room.

Charles worked his way along the ledge for about 15 feet, then leaped 40 feet to the ground, practically into the arms of waiting officers.

Gordon edged his way toward the new county building, now under construction, and jumped down 15 feet to the adjoining roof.

He ignored orders to halt and was struck by one of two bullets fired by deputies Gregory Katsopolis and Virgil Harrison.

He fell and rolled about 30 feet to the ground. Deputies surrounded and captured him after he had pulled himself toward the construction area and tried to scale a board fence.

The brothers' father and Gordon's wife and two children were sitting in the courtroom when the pair made their daring break.

Both had served previous terms for robbery and were described as desperate.

Bingo Backers Seek Signatures

234,000 Sign Petitions, 53,000 Needed to Put
Issue on Ballot

Backers of charitable, non-profit bingo and raffles, seeking to place the question on the state November election ballot, have amassed 234,000 signatures on petitions, but need another 53,000 by Thursday.

Robert White, chairman of the Oakland County chapter of the Michigan Association of Non-profit, Charitable Organizations, said today he is confident enough signatures already have been collected, if the petitions are turned in on time.

The group is seeking a revision of the state law which forbids lotteries, raffles, and bingo.

If the required number of signatures are presented, and the petitions successfully checked, the question of amending the law to allow non-profit, charitable groups, such as churches, lodges and veteran organizations, to hold the games will be placed on the ballot.

"We must file the petitions with the secretary of state's office in Lansing by July 2," White said, "and all petitions, even with only one signature on them, will help." He emphasized that petitions do not have to be completely filled in. They may be mailed to the organization in Lansing, or dropped off at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

A Pontiac man and his Dearborn companion were sentenced to long prison terms today by Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle of Detroit for the $33,000 holdup of the Manufacturers National Bank in Dearborn last April 2.

Hugh T. Cox, 21, of 88 W. Mansfield St., was sentenced to 15 years and James J. Minder Jr., 24, received a 13-year sentence.

The pair was arrested April 7 by FBI agents and Dearborn police on a tip supplied by two Oakland County detectives.

Cox jumped 18 feet to the ground in an escape attempt when police surrounded the hide-out at 24900 Dunning, Dearborn, and Minder was taken at gunpoint from an upstairs bedroom.

FBI agents said about $45,700 of the loot was recovered.

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit Police were on the lookout today for a stolen garage.

Louie Chaffee, 31, reported somebody walked away with a large, white, frame garage from back of a vacant home he owns.

Benson Plans Rigid Curbs on U.S. Farm Crops in '55

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government plans to swing the weight of its multi-billion-dollar farm price support program next year behind a drive to enforce perhaps the strictest crop controls ever.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson so characterized the controls which he announced yesterday in a move to reduce overall agricultural production and avert further surpluses of the type which have tied up 6½ billion dollars of federal funds.

Under the new system, a farmer will not be eligible for price support aid on any crop unless he abides by controls on all individual cash crops he raises. Farmers have leaned heavily on price supports the past two years.

The new program is designed to reduce total plantings by about 40 million acres, or one-eighth, below 1953.

Controls are in effect this year on wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and some other crops.

But a farmer who diverted land from the production of wheat, for example, could use it to grow other surplus or non-surplus crops without losing price support aid on his main crop. Thus some wheat land was put to corn, although corn farmers themselves had been asked to cut production.

The effect, Benson said, was to enable farmers to "shift the surpluses" from one set of crops to another. Planting surveys indicate that much of the land diverted in 1954 from wheat and cotton is being used to produce what may turn out to be excessive supplies of soybeans, flaxseed, oats, rye, barley, grain sorghums, dry beans and vegetables.

In 1955, the department plans to issue individual planting allotments for wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, peanuts and sugar crops. A farmer must comply with all such allotments that may be assigned to him or lose all price support loans.

In addition, farmers asked to reduce plantings of these allotment crops by more than 10 acres in all will be given "total acreage allotments" for their cash crops. To get price support aid, they must (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

U.S. Search Request Rejected by Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norway today became the third nation to reject formally an American request for special U.S. search powers on the high seas to check Guatemala-bound arms shipments.

A Norwegian government note to the U.S. Embassy here described the request as contrary to international law. Britain turned down the State Department bid Friday, and the Netherlands followed with similar action yesterday.

Most of western Europe's other sea powers were reported preparing polite rejections.

The Norwegian note stressed that Norway will "support all moves aimed at containing the hostilities in Guatemala, in accordance with the (U.N.) Security Council resolution of June 20." But it added Norway's laws do not empower the government to bar her ships from carrying arms to other nations in peacetime.

Sen. Smith Renominated
by Republicans in Maine

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Maine Republicans overwhelmingly renominated Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in yesterday's primary and cut down in crushing defeat the challenger she said Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently put up against her.

Throughout a lackluster campaign and on through the balloting itself the only question was how big the landslide would be.

And in the end it was a crunching victory, by a margin of more than 5-1, over political novice Robert L. Jones, McCarthy's 34-year-old apostle.

GOP nomination normally assures victory in Maine.

An early complete count, from 613 of Maine's 626 precincts, showed 96,139 votes for Mrs. Smith, 19,203 for Jones.

Perhaps an even more accurate gauge of the magnitude of Jones' defeat was the fact that he carried only four of those precincts, one of them his home city of Biddeford. In 19 others he failed to gather in a single vote and was almost shut out in many more.

While the balloting bestowed a heavy vote of confidence on the silver-haired, 56-year-old Mrs. Smith and the record on which she ran, the Jones defeat scarcely (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Threaten Link Between Capital and Seaport

Major Battle Looms
as Both Sides Mass
Troops Near Zacapa

(From AP & UP Dispatches)

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras—Anti-Communist Guatemalan rebel forces today opened a major drive for control of the Puerto Barrios-Guatemala City Railway, linking the capital with its principal Caribbean port.

Rebel headquarters claims, and admissions in a government communique, indicated the rebel forces now threaten a 45 mile section of the railway, about 25 miles inside the country from the Honduras frontier, and extending from Morales to Gualan.

President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-backed government claimed a success for its armed forces at Gualan, east of Zacapa about 20 miles inside Guatemala. It said the rebels were run out of town after a brief skirmish, but mentioned no casualties.

The "liberation radio" speaking for the anti-Red invasion forces of exiled Guatemalan leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas claimed the rebels held 25 towns in Guatemala.

Associated Press dispatches from Guatemala city said Arbenz' troops were massing in the area of Zacapa, a city of some 8,000 on the main rail line between the capital and the Caribbean port of Puerto Barrios.

A rebel flier interviewed near the Honduran border said Castillo Armas men also were moving by truck towards Zacapa. He said the invaders headed for the rail center after seizing the cathedral town of Esquipulas in a five-hour battle. Three Guatemalan soldiers were reported killed in that engagement.

An informed source at Tegucigalpa indicated a fight for Zacapa was shaping up. He predicted the rebels would abandon their guerrilla tactics within the next 24 hours and seek a pitched battle with Arbenz' army.

The source also said:

1. At least two Guatemalan pilots have fled their country in training planes since the invasion began Friday.

2. Two railroad bridges at Gualan had been destroyed; sabotage along the line between Gualan and Puerto Barrios has increased; a train which left Guatemala City for the port of San Jose has "simply disappeared."

3. The rebels have taken over the rail town of Morales, some 50 miles from Puerto Barrios.
4. A rebel plane machine-gunned and dropped grenades on San Jose. The rebels also announced that their planes had bombed Coban, a garrison town in central Guatemala, from a base inside the country.

Passenger Dies After Accident

O. F. Vorce Was Riding
With Son When Cars
Collided Saturday

Ora F. Vorce, 63, of 1220½ Baldwin Ave., who suffered serious injuries Saturday in a 2-car accident, died in Pontiac General Hospital Monday.

Vorce, who was a passenger in an auto driven by his son, William F. Vorce, 37, of 180 S. Paddock St., suffered neck injuries, a broken collar bone and a leg fracture.

Pontiac Police yesterday charged the younger Vorce with drunk driving. He pleaded guilty and furnished a $150 bond, pending sentence June 29 by Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

Meanwhile, Vorce is scheduled to make a statement to Oakland County Prosecutor's office today.

Pontiac Police quoted the driver of the other car, Donovan E. Kidd, 26, of 722 W. Flint St., Davison, and three other witnesses in the auto, as saying Vorce made a left turn in front of Kidd's car at Telegraph Rd. and Orchard Lake Ave. without signaling.

Birmingham Commission Approves $1,000 to Speed Home Fire Investigation

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—To expedite an investigation by a three-man board of inquiry into possible negligence or poor judgment on the part of the Birmingham fire and police departments at a June 14 blaze which took three lives, the City Commission appropriated $1,000 last night.

Mrs. Thomas Couper, 40, and her sons, Lawrence, 14, and Daniel, 12, died of suffocation in the fire which flashed through their home at 1189 Brookwood. Mrs. Couper's father, Lawrence W. Cross Sr., who was rescued by firemen, has been released from Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

James Spencer has been appointed chairman of the investigating board. Also on the board are Jonathan M. Hall and Charles D. Kase.

In other action, the local firm of E. J. Swink and Co. was awarded the contract for the $95,000 west-side fire station to be erected at W. Maple and Chestfield. Swink's bid of $69,317 was $6,000 under the next lowest bidder.

Voters approved a $225,000 bond issue in April which will also finance construction of the city's major fire station at Adams and Bowers.

Annual appointments to the Building Code Board of Appeals and the Planning Board were made by the Commission.

Wallace E. Reid of 2106 Northlawn was re-appointed to the appeal board for a five-year term, with William Burgum of 1875 Winthrop Lane named to serve another three-year term on the Planning Board.

A new face at planning board meetings will be that of Bennett Root of 1931 Webster. He replaces George F. Green, who did not seek re-appointment.

A lengthy, new taxicab ordinance was also passed by the law makers.

Georgina Mitchell, president of the American Council of Venture Clubs, will install the new local officers at a dinner to start at 7 tonight at Devon Gables.

Nancy Dickson will be installed as president, with Maryann Poole as vice president. Sally Hubbard as treasurer and Gail Rowe, secretary.

One of the activities conducted at last week's course on juvenile problems at Michigan State College, was a visit with inmates at Jackson Prison. Police Lt. Henry Timm, head of the local police juvenile division, said yesterday.

Group discussions with six prisoners who started their crime careers as juveniles or have youngsters following in their footsteps, brought the following criticisms and advice, Timm said.

Crime programs on radio and television and crime comics put thoughts into children's minds they might not have had otherwise.

"The best part of these programs is the last three minutes when the criminal is caught," one man said.

Better parental supervision was stressed, along with the recommendation that schools play a bigger part in helping juveniles just beginning to get into trouble. In this same sense, they were against vocational schools or juvenile homes where help could be administered first.

Finally, one man remarked to Timm, "You don't come to prison for going to church."

Included on the agenda for tomorrow's YMCA Day-Y program is an all-day trip to Camp Ohiyesa. Youngsters will leave at 9:30 a.m. for a day of boating, swimming and hiking, and will return at 5 p.m.

Dr. Robert T. Hall, director of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, said yesterday there are still openings in the summer lapidary course with evening classes starting tomorrow and continuing for a six-week period.

Richard Wintermeister will offer students instruction in gem cutting and polishing in all stages, from the rough rock to the finished gem for display or decorative purposes. Registration will be taken at the science institute, MI 4-1600.

Rev. Robert Dewey, minister of the Congregational Church, will attend the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches tomorrow through June 30 in New Haven, Conn. The Rev. Mr. Dewey is one of 16 delegates representing the Detroit Area of Congregational Christian Churches.

Stuart R. Macomber
Private service for Stuart R. Macomber, 52, of 124 Rembrandt, Royal Oak, was scheduled for 4 p.m. today at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Crematorium at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery will follow.

Head accountant for a Detroit advertising firm, Mr. Macomber died at his home Sunday. He was born in Battle Creek and was a graduate of Hillsdale College.

A member of the Fifth Church of Christ Scientist, Detroit, he is survived by his widow, Eileen P.; two daughters, Betty Lynn and Mary Lou; a son, David and his mother, Mrs. L. W. Macomber of Battle Creek.

$500,000 FLOOD DAMAGE AT FORT DODGE—Muddy waters of the flooding Des Moines River were up to eight feet deep yesterday as they rolled through the southwest residential section of Fort Dodge where damage has been estimated at $500,000. Picture was taken from Bennett viaduct which was closed to vehicular traffic when it was feared it would collapse.

Water Pollution Nearly Licked

Silver Lake Residents Helped to Get Sanitary Sewage Connections

Through the cooperation of residents, the pollution of Silver Lake is practically ended, Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main reported today.

"We have been very successful in getting sanitary sewage connections out of the lake," Main said. About 20 homes have changed their septic tank sewage flow to nearby fields, and 10 more are being changed over.

Sewage from some homes was flowing directly into the lake. Main said each home was checked with dye, to study the sewage flow and determine whether it went directly into the lake. The Oakland County Health Department is sampling the lake for pollution today, he added.

Voters Renominate Sen. Smith in Maine

The Wisconsin senator never was a solid issue during the campaign and neither contestant contended he was.

Furthermore, it wasn't until the eve of the primary that Sen. Smith came out and said that it appeared McCarthy deliberately planted Jones in the race against her. That was at a time when she herself said the people already had made up their minds how to vote and "last-minute appeals and charges" could have little effect on them.

The Smith-Jones battle was the only statewide contest in the primary.

In the September general election, it will be Sen. Smith vs. Democrat Paul Follmer, Colby College history professor, who had no competition in the primary.

The only other major races were both in the 1st Congressional District. Rep. Robert Hale snowed under two opponents and won re-nomination for a seventh term. A former Republican, James C. Oliver, captured the Democratic nomination from a single rival. It was Hale, in the 1942 primary, who ended Oliver's tenure as a GOP House member.

tion will have about 6 1/2 million shares of stock outstanding.

Two distinct and separate sales organizations will be maintained to handle Packard's medium and high-priced lines and Studebaker's low and low-medium priced cars and over-all truck line.

The projected Studebaker-Packard combination is the latest move among the smaller concerns in their fight against the almost overwhelming competition of the industry's larger concerns. Last year Kaiser-Frazer and Willys-Overland joined forces. A few weeks ago Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson combined to become American Motors Corp.

All six of the small car companies together have been able to garner less than five per cent of the auto market so far this year. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have accounted for more than 95 per cent.

Pontiac Deaths

Gary Lee McGowan

Funeral was held today at 2 p.m. at the Oak Hill Cemetery for Gary Lee McGowan, infant son of Patrick and Esther Willis McGowan of 1455 Vinewood St. The child had been ill since birth on June 3, 1954, and died yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Burial was at Oak Hill Cemetery with the Rev. D. B. Pauley of the Collier Road Community Church officiating.

Surviving besides the parents is one brother Patrick McGowan Jr., at home. Grandparents surviving are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Willis and Terrance McGowan all of Pontiac.

Lincoln V. Rhodes

Lincoln Vance Rhodes, 88, of 2771 Garland Ave., died here yesterday after a brief illness. He was born in Bethel, Ohio, on Dec. 26, 1865, the son of Alfred and Lucinda Rhodes. He married Martha Brashore, who died in 1931. Mr. Rhodes was a retired farmer.

Surviving are five daughters and a son, Mrs. William Doss of Sylvan Lake, Mrs. Gunner Carleman of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Joseph Smith of Mount Clemens, Mrs. Charles Knorr of Birmingham, Mrs. Harry Steiger of Adrian, and Clifford Rhodes of Detroit.

Other survivors include 10 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, a sister and brother, C. D. Rhodes and Mrs. Peter Jansen both of Chicago.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel with burial in Hillsdale. Elder Boothby of the Grand River Avenue Seventh Day Adventist Church will officiate.

Rigid Crop Controls Planned for 1955

stay within these total allotments and also comply with all individual crop allotments.

This requirement is designed to prevent increases in 1955 acreages of such non-allotment crops as soybeans, flaxseed, oats, rye, barley, grain sorghums, potatoes, dry beans and vegetables above the '53 levels. Thus many farmers would be under pressure to cut back on some of these latter crops as well as the allotment crops.

In announcing the controls, Benson voiced dislike for such crops but said he had no other "immediate" choice. The government must take steps, he said, to reduce production to the size of declining post war markets.

He said he had no idea how long it may be necessary to continue rigid controls. Benson said flexible price supports advocated by the administration would hasten the day when agricultural production matched markets. He said the present high, rigid supports have encouraged overproduction at a time when it was not needed. The issue of flexible versus rigid supports is pending in Congress, where there is strong opposition to the flexible plan.

Sanilac GOP Women Hold Marlette Meeting

MARLETTE—The Sanilac County Republican Women's Club sponsored a luncheon and afternoon program last week in the Carsonville School auditorium.

Vote Scheduled at Sylvan Lake

All Have Say on Plan for Water System but Bond Ballot Limited

Qualified electors of the city of Sylvan Lake go to the polls Thursday to decide whether the city should issue $225,000 in bonds for the construction of a municipal water system.

All $25 registered Sylvan Lake residents may vote on whether to construct a system, said Manager Ernest Ethier, with a three-fifth "yes" vote needed for approval.

A three-fifth vote of qualified electors who are property owners will be required to approve the two bond issues. They would be for $125,000 in general obligation bonds and $100,000 in bonds to be paid off by special assessment of property owners.

Ethier said a municipal water system would bring better fire protection, increased property value and a constant source of water. Only qualified electors who are property owners assessed for taxes in the city, or the lawful husbands and wives of such persons are entitled to vote on the second proposition, issuing the bonds.

Manager Ethier said that in the past Sylvan Lake where water mains are already in and being supplied Pontiac city water, it is not the present plan to include these property owners in the special water assessment levy of $2 per front foot. These installations on Telegraph road, James K boulevard, Pioneer and Tilden avenues were paid for some years ago.

Another death threat was proposed by the Evans against Cox, Minder said, because they were afraid he'd be picked up by Pontiac Police and talk about the Ann Arbor holdup.

Yesterday's escapade didn't come as a surprise for Oakland County Sheriff's authorities, who said the brothers have been involved in a series of scrapes with the law for the past 12 years.

School Employees Escape Storm by Only an Hour

Some 250 Pontiac Public School employees and guests at the annual school picnic at Cass-Dodge Park 4 escaped Monday's storm.

The picnic, attended by maintenance men, cafeteria workers, bus drivers, school clerks and employees of the school system's offices at 40 Patterson St. and their families, broke up about 3 p.m.—about an hour before the storm struck.

George Jones, electrician, was chairman of the all-day picnic.

With official summer scarcely 24 hours old, June here has already had half as many as summer's quota of 90-degree days.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says each summer season usually carries about 10 such days. Five have been reported in June.

The Pontiac area "moved into the tropics" about two weeks ago, Mercury sailed to 88 on June 8. Temperatures hit 90 or above on June 10, June 12, June 14 and 15 and again Monday. High humidity and readings in the high 80s kept people steaming the rest of the time.

The weather bureau's long-range just a little above the normal 60 forecast says temperatures will be to 81 degree range for the next five days, with less humidity and only a few scattered showers. Rainfall recorded yesterday amounted to .04 of an inch.

A choice grade steer will dress out to about 700 pounds of meat from 1,200 pounds liveweight.

'Base Verdict on Top Issues'

Hearing Chief Mundt Urges Subcommittee to Ignore Side Topics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) urged the Senate Investigations subcommittee today to base its verdict in the McCarthy-Army dispute on "salient issues" only. He made the comment in an interview in advance of a closed-door meeting of the subcommittee to consider narrowing the areas of controversy as to what the evidence shows.

Mundt presided at 36 days of televised public hearings which sifted the welter of charges, countercharges and denials which Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides exchanged.

The hearings wound up Thursday with Sen. Potter (R-Mich) declaring that each side had proved its main misconduct charges against the other. These were:

1. By Stevens and Army Counsel John G. Adams—that McCarthy and two subcommittee aides used improper pressures in seeking special favors in the Army for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

2. By McCarthy and his aides—that Stevens and Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to "blackmail" McCarthy into halting an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army.

Mundt has notified all subcommittee members that Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel for the inquiry, has agreed to assemble material to aid the senators in writing their report if the subcommittee asks him to do so. Indications so far are that there will be at least two divergent sets of findings.

"We're not asking Jenkins to add up the totals and say 'guilty' or 'not guilty' for us," Mundt said. "He would list the evidence for us and we would sit around the table like members of a supreme court and reach our own conclusions."

Mundt said he is pretty thoroughly convinced there are "some areas where unanimous agreement would not be possible." Sen. Potter, who has urged the firing of some "employees" on both sides of the controversy without naming any, called on President Eisenhower last yesterday.

He would not say what they talked about, but on his return to Capitol Hill he told newsmen he still believes McCarthy's subcommittee should undertake no new hearings before staging a "clean-up."

Potter himself heads a McCarthy subcommittee inquiry into reports that many U.S. citizens listed as dead or missing are captives behind the Iron Curtain. McCarthy has said this is one of the next hearings his group will hold, but Potter said he would not care to start hearings before "the staff situation is straightened around."

Green Tent Stolen

A 10x10-foot green wall tent was taken from a park area near Richardson road in Commerce Township early Monday, the owner, Al Mariotti of Detroit told Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday.

2 Wait Arraignment on Holdup Charge

Two Detroit men, accused of holding up a Farmington confectionery Sunday night, waived examination before Farmington Justice John J. Schulte Jr. and are in Oakland County Jail under $5,000 bond.

James Robertson, 35, a World War II amputee, and Robert Kipfer, 28, will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court June 28 on charges that they held up the Nezhetti Confectionery Store and fled with $41.50.

Farmington Police Sgt. Gordon Mincer captured the pair eight minutes after the hold-up when they ran down a dead end street, according to Police Chief Joseph DeVriendt.

Robertson entered the store and herded two employees and a customer to one side and took the money from a cash register, DeVriendt said, while Kipfer waited outside in their car.

Thieves Take Cigarettes

Thieves Steal $90,000 in Gems

Two Gunmen, Wearing Black Netting on Faces, Get Unset Diamonds

CLEVELAND (INS)—Cleveland police are hunting for clues to a job in the jewelry store holdup which netted two bandits $90,000 worth of gems.

Unset diamonds and other precious stones were taken late yesterday afternoon by two gunmen—both wearing black netting over their faces—who invaded the jewelry store of Albert Fine on the seventh floor of the Ninth-Chester building in downtown Cleveland.

Fine and Jacques Hauser of Queens Village, New York, a diamond salesman, were in the store when the bandits came in. They forced the two men to face the wall while they took the diamonds on the desk and a tray of jewelry from an open safe.

Hauser said the diamonds were insured. He also lost $200 in cash to the gunmen.

It was the second jewel robbery in the Cleveland area in less than a month. Albert Stern of New York lost $32,000 in gems in a holdup in suburban Lakewood last May 22.

1,000 Homeless in Iowa Flood

feet above flood stage, strikes late Thursday. The previous record stage was 7.3 feet in May 1903.

National Guard companies were doing emergency duty at Fort Dodge, Webster City and Boone, where a battle to save the water works is being made.

At Sioux City a crest two feet higher than the 20.8 level of Sunday was expected today. The Floyd rolled near the tops of levees but officials were optimistic they would hold. Trucks loaded with 3,000 sandbags stood by if a leak should occur.

Another series of flood crests surged down tributaries of the important Cedar and Iowa rivers in northeastern Iowa. Waterloo and Cedar Rapids prepared for crests later this week.

The Iowa office of the federal Soil Conservation Service estimates 725,000 acres of crop land has been under water during the last three weeks from torrential rains. However, this figure does not include the overflows of the last two days.

Lange Trial Reaches Last Arguments Today

DETROIT (INS) — The first degree murder trial of milkman John P. Lange, 52, reaches its final stages this morning with final arguments being presented in Recorder's Court.

Lange is accused of the murder of John W. Mattson, 53, who was shot from ambush in his office where he worked as a steel executive.

The case is expected to reach the jury before the day is out.

Outlines Program for Road Safety

BENTON HARBOR (UP)—Owen J. Cleary, secretary of state and chairman of the Michigan Safety Commission, outlined a five-point program for highway safety in Michigan at a meeting of the fraternal order of police chiefs here Monday night.

Cleary's safety proposals included strict enforcement of driver license tests, use of more officers and patrol cars, prosecution of violators, increased driver-education programs and highway development.

Publisher Hits Atomic Group

'Scandalous Conditions Exist Within AEC Itself,' Block Says

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Paul Block Jr., a newspaper publisher who has repeatedly called on the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to release more information to the public, said last night he believes "scandalous conditions must be existing within the AEC itself."

Block said this belief was inspired by a recent request by a member of the AEC that the wording of the Atomic Energy Act include, as Block phrased it, "a provision that all commissioners should have equal access" to information.

And, Block said, the mere fact that a member of the commission "thinks there is a possibility of any commissioner being denied information, suggests that 'scandalous conditions' must be prevailing within the commission."

Block is publisher of the Toledo (Ohio) Blade, co-publisher of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and chairman of the subcommittee on atomic energy of the American Society of Newspaper Editors Committee on "freedom of information."

He made the remarks in addressing an international congress on nuclear engineering assembled at the University of Michigan.

He led up to the subject by recalling that a recently proposed amendment to the atomic law called for naming the AEC chairman the "principal officer of the commission," Block said.

"Congress compromised by changing that phrase to 'spokesman of the commission.'"

"That seemed to go well with all the commissioners except one," said Block, "and he wanted to add the provision that all commissioners should have equal access to all information."

Criticizing the AEC's informational policies, Block said "under present conditions they (the AEC) don't want discussion about anything at all."

Dairy Workers Vote Today on Strike

DETROIT (INS) — Secret balloting by 3,500 dairy workers gets under way today in a vote which will determine whether 80 per cent of the milk supply in Metropolitan Detroit as well as in suburban communities will be cut off.

If the driver-salesmen and inside workers approve the strike, it will mean the first milk strike in the Detroit area since 1946.

Union leaders already have said milk will reach persons whose health is dependent upon it.

PROUD — Chester Cole, of El Dorado Springs, Mo., is mighty happy about the sturdy corn crop he planted in April. Cole is off to an early start in the 1954 Missouri Farmers' Association corn yield contest.

Dewey Falters Over Candidacy

Governor Talks With Party Chairman, May Decide to Run

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey left the door slightly open today to the possibility he might change his mind and seek a fourth term.

Dewey indirectly revealed his reluctance to run when he announced yesterday he was "deferring any statement" on his plans because of the "strong feeling" of the Republican state chairman and others that their views should be given "further consideration."

The governor's announcement followed a 3½-hour conference with the GOP chairman Rep. Dean Taylor, who frequently has expressed the hope Dewey will be the candidate.

Taylor, in a separate statement, said he had agreed not to push a draft movement while Dewey was making up his mind.

The two had met with the announced intention of discussing persistent reports to the effect the governor had decided against seeking re-election this fall.

Dewey's statement, distributed after the meeting, said:

"Last year I indicated that I expected to announce my plans by the end of spring.

"I have expressed my own views to the state chairman and a number of others. Because of their strong feeling that further consideration should be given to views they have expressed, I am deferring any statement at this time."

The two-day Republican state convention is scheduled to convene Sept. 22.

Wyandotte Searches for Revenge Gunner

DETROIT (INS) — Wyandotte police instituted a state-wide search last night for Joseph Lentini, 32, wanted for questioning in the near-fatal shooting of a 42-year-old laborer.

Police said Lentini has been missing since the shooting Sunday of Dominico Manzella, who is in critical condition in Wyandotte General Hospital with gunshot wounds of the chest, forearm and right side.

Police said they learned that Lentini "swore vengeance" on Manzella after a quarrel two years ago during which Manzella allegedly bit off part of Lentini's lip.

Manzella has been in this country illegally for five years and is presently under deportation order to his native Sicily.

Four Die in Crash of Stratojet Bomber

SAVANNAH, Ga. (INS) — Four men who died in the explosion of a B47 Stratojet bomber near Savannah were identified today.

The plane crashed Monday a few minutes after taking off from Hunter Air Force Base on a routine training flight.

The dead were listed as Capt. Clyde E. Copley Jr., of Durham, N. C.; Capt. Robert W. Veers of New Holstein, Wis.; Capt. John Rapp of Weehawken, N. J.; and Maj. Joseph B. Johns of Williams, N. C.

Oakland Gets $15,000 From State Land Sale

LANSING (UP) — Recent competitive bidding for state-owned land in six lower peninsula counties grossed more than $128,000 for county treasuries, the Conservation Department said today.

Counties receiving returns from the auctions:

Wayne, $85,000; Oakland, $15,000; Macomb, $13,000; St. Clair, $11,000; Monroe, $2,200; and Washtenaw, $1,900.

AF Will Delay Action on Base

Rep. Paul W. Shafer Protests Site for Jets Near Interlochen

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Paul W. Shafer (R-Mich) gained ground today in his fight against location of a jet air base near the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich.

Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott announced last week the base would be located at the homestead site about eight miles from the famed music camp in Benzie County.

However, the Air Force has notified Shafer that action on the announced site would be "held up a couple of days" in view of his protest.

The Air Force was forced to abandon an earlier site selected for the jet base after Shafer protested it also was too close to the music camp. That site was about eight miles north of Interlochen.

In his protests, Shafer said he believes noise from jet flying will drown out the music.

Air Force officials said their agreement to delay action on the announced site did not mean they were backing down on the selection. They said as far as they are concerned the site is definite.

Six High-Up Chinese Reds Lose Jobs in Purge Move

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The Chinese Communists have carried out one of their most drastic shake-ups since they won control of China in 1949.

Six top men have lost their jobs. What will happen to the men involved is not known.

It looks as if they are to be blamed for the miserable failure of the grandiose "five-year plan" of economic development.

In any event, the effect of the shake-up is to centralize power in the Peiping government. The six men controlled the six big administration areas of Red China.

Indications are that the Peiping government feared they were getting too much power in their areas—that they might turn into the Communist approximation of the traditional "war lord."

These "war lords" used to be the real powers in their provinces. They had their own armies and collected their own taxes.

But the real reason for the shake-up announced by the Peiping radio seems to be that somebody had to be blamed for the failure of the great five-year plan.

This plan called for enormous increases in agricultural production, industrial development, and production of coal, iron, steel, pig iron, copper, lead, zinc and other minerals.

But floods, drought, locusts and general inefficiency have combined to defeat the ambitious aims of the Peiping government.

Agriculture was the chief problem—the Reds admit that 200,000,000 people in China are going hungry.

Evidently, the Peiping government decided the time had come to do something about it; and in Red-ruled countries, scapegoats must be found to blame for every failure.

The prominence of the men who lost their jobs shows how important the shake-up is. They are:

Kao Kang, a vice chairman of the government, in control of the northeast zone. He used to be called the Chinese Stalin and was regarded as a possible rival to dictator Mao Tse-tung.

Gen. Peng Teh-huai, in control of the northwest zone. He formerly was commander-in-chief of the Chinese Communist forces in Korea, and was a signer of the armistice.

Gen. Lin Piao, in control of the central-south area, also a former commander-in-chief in Korea.

Cpl. Jett Was POW,
Army Says He Is Also

RICHMOND, Ind. (U)—Cpl. Richard Jett, 22, a Korean veteran who was a prisoner of the Communists 20 months was held today as a deserter.

He was in a cell at the Wayne County Jail, not far from the victorious parade route over which he rode last Sept. 5 when Richmond welcomed him and two other former POWs home.

FBI agents and Richmond police seized Jett yesterday a few blocks from the home of an uncle with whom he had lived since boyhood.

Leonard Blaylock, agent in charge of the Indianapolis FBI office, said Jett had been AWOL from now-closed Camp Atterbury, Ind., since Jan. 27. He had been enlisted in the Army for a six-year hitch last October. He had married and planned to make the service a career.

Blaylock said Jett told agents he and his wife lived for a time at Lexington, Ky., after the alleged desertion. Jett got a job in a dairy there and then lost it. Blaylock said. They returned to Richmond.

Jett will be returned to military control probably Wednesday and taken to Ft. Harrison at Indianapolis, the FBI said.

WCTU Leader Hits Beer Ads

Testifies in Support of Bill That Would Ban Media Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Glenn G. Hays, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, said today beer advertising is spreading alcoholism "to the right side of the tracks."

Mrs. Hays, in testimony prepared for a Senate Commerce subcommittee, said the United States Brewers Foundation has prepared a guide for its members which "reveals the brewers' plans to enlist mother's help for more home drinking, by getting her to buy and serve beer and by always depicting 'nice people' drinking."

The temperance leader's testimony was in support of a bill by Sen. Langer (R-ID) which would ban interstate advertising of alcoholic beverages on radio, television, newspapers, magazines and other media. A similar measure is awaiting action by the House Commerce Committee.

Mrs. Hays said, "we cannot make young people into sober citizens by allowing them to be begged from every radio and television to step to the ice box and get a drink."

"Let us ban the beer jingles from our radio and TV," she urged, "and see what a profound change it can make in our national thinking."

Mrs. Hays contended enactment of the bill would cut alcoholism and drink-induced crime in half, adding that "alcoholic beverage advertisers have spread alcoholism from the so-called wrong side to the right side of the tracks."

The subcommittee yesterday took testimony from Glenn Cunningham, famous Kansas miler of the 1930s, Cunningham, father of six children, said youthful minds have become "infatuated" with the attractiveness of alcoholic beverages on radio and television. He said the "liquor people" are looking to their "real new customers from youth."

May Issue Warrant in CIO-UAW Bingo

DETROIT (AP)—Ralph W. Garber, assistant Wayne County prosecutor, says he will decide tomorrow whether to ask for a warrant resulting from bingo game staged Friday by a Detroit local of the CIO United Auto Workers.

Although no arrests were made, Edward S. Piggins, Detroit's new police commissioner said he wants a warrant issued because bingo is illegal in the state.

Red POW Aids French Troops

Tip Prevents Vietnam From Stringing Mines Across River

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Tipped off by a Vietnam prisoner of war, French commandos early today wiped out a rebel guerrilla force trying to mine the Song Van Uc River southeast of Hanoi.

A French army spokesman said the Vietnam were stringing huge mines on wires across the river channel to trap French gunboats.

It was one of a series of small clashes at various points in the delta yesterday and before dawn today. Several small patrol fights exploded less than 10 miles from Hanoi.

French Union infantry raiders, supported by tanks, planes and artillery, swept across more than a dozen Vietnam-infested villages 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, killing 116 rebels, capturing 28 Vietnam and arresting 130 villagers suspected of giving aid and shelter to the guerrillas.

The action centered on Vance Island, in the Red River, used by the Communist-led rebels as a transient base for anti-French operations.

French warplanes continued their intensified bombing and strafing attacks of guerrilla bases in the delta. They also hit invasion routes 12 and 41 west of the delta, used by Vietnam rebels to bring up supplies and ammunition for a possible all-out assault against Hanoi.

Reds Need Only 3.5 Points to Beat U.S. Chess Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Russian chess tournament, hailed as promoting cultural understanding between the two countries, erupted early today into a heated and wordy argument over time clocks.

Two protests were lodged, one by a Russian player and one by the top American. Referee Hans Kmoch overruled the Russian, but argument on the other protest went into the wee hours of the morning. A final decision was left up in the air until later today.

At the same time the Russians pulled into a commanding 13.6 point lead midway through the third round of the six-day-old tournament, which had been completely decorous and polite up to this point.

They need just 3 1/2 points more to clinch the 32-game tourney.

The American protest was lodged by Samuel Reshevsky when it was discovered that a faulty time clock apparently gave his opponent, No. 1 Russian player Vassily Smyslov, 35 extra minutes. The game still is not completed.

Reshevsky, as the five-hour evening session neared its end, had to move feverishly to get in his required 40 moves. The Russian, because of the out-of-kilter clock, was not pressed for time at all.

In the other protest, Russian Yuri Auerbach forfeited his game to young Donald Byrne because he made only 39 moves when the time ran out.

He said he hadn't understood that his 40 moves had to be completed before a small flag on the face of the clock dropped down.

Kmoch, who is an American, overruled him on the basis that the flag signal was plainly described in the written ground rules.

A cluster of gesticulating officials, players and even spectators crowded around the referee.

American chess authorities and Russian players and officials carried their argument over the Reshevsky dispute upstairs to the Russian suite in the Hotel Roosevelt, where the tournament is being held.

Dmitri Postnikov, nonplaying Russian team captain, did most of the talking through an interpreter.

The American captain, Alexander Bisno, suggested the game be called a draw, but the Russians didn't consider this fair. The matter was referred to a committee of Russian and American team officials.

Besides Donald Byrne's decision over Auerbach, the Americans drew one game and lost two. Byrne is the only U. S. player ahead of his opponent at this point.

Mice and Cigaret Smoke

Many years ago when Dr. CLARENCE COOK LITTLE was named president of the University of Michigan he took his mice with him to Ann Arbor. A campus legend of those days was that Prexy LITTLE would leave an important meeting to walk across the diagonal and look in on his precious mice.

Dr. LITTLE was a scientist. He was developing strains of mice to see if cancer was hereditary. Eventually he helped prove it wasn't.

But Dr. LITTLE was so much of a scientist that he resigned from a great State university and took his mice back to Maine, whence he had come.

Today he is one of the outstanding researchers on cancer. Probably he is a lot happier tending his mice than he was when he was tending to students.

Again Dr. LITTLE has been given a new job. The Tobacco Industry Research Committee, made up of eminent scientists, has picked him to direct a study on lung cancer.

Some medical men say that inhaling cigaret smoke over a long period of time may be a cause of lung cancer. Naturally, that has made smokers apprehensive. A group of cigaret manufacturers has donated a half million dollars to find out the truth. The money was turned over to the committee of scientists, which picked Dr. LITTLE to do the study.

"I'm boss," said Dr. LITTLE, accepting the job. That meant as a scientist, he's going to find the answer.

If it's yes, he's going to find what chemical in smoke is to blame. If there is one, the industry is determined to get rid of it.

Curbing Horror Comics

While Detroit is having a court test of the power of its police department to prevent the sale of horror and salacious comic books, another remedy for this evil has just turned up. It came out of hearings held by a Senate subcommittee under Senator ROBERT C. HENDRICKSON, New Jersey Republican.

Probing juvenile delinquency, the Hendrickson committee unearthed a new racket. It's something like block booking, a practice in the movie industry outlawed by the Supreme Court. Under block booking the local theater manager had to take the Grade B pictures in order to book the hits.

Senator HENDRICKSON reported that the neighborhood drug store sometimes faces a kind of block booking. To get good magazines and good comic books, the proprietor is required in some places to buy a certain number of bad comic books.

Unscrupulous distributors who put the squeeze on dealers have been curbed, however, by the law. Idaho, New Jersey and New York have all passed State laws outlawing the practice.

While there are a few unscrupulous dealers who hope to profit by "under-the-counter" sale of sexy, vicious and depraved comic books to kids, there aren't many. In any neighborhood the parents can spot them.

The legitimate dealer, who justifies the confidence of parents, deserves protection.

Perhaps the Michigan Legislature ought to take a look at the laws passed in these three States. If they are sound, Michigan dealers ought to have such protection.

Papou's Winged Victory

There is down to earth romance in the story of how an American agricultural expert's knowledge and the labor of skeptical Greek farmers made Greece a rice exporting country.

Back in February 1949 PAPOU (grandfather) as he was called by the Greeks, but known at home as WALTER EUGENE PACKARD of Berkeley, Calif., launched his program. He believed that he could transform the arid 15,000 acres of the Plain of Anthele into productive farm land.

He told the farmers, who knew that the plain never had been productive, that it could be made to grow rice by washing its alkali impregnated soil with fresh water. To obtain the water American tractors and bulldozers were used to divert the Sperchios River.

The first pilot planting covered only 100 acres but it was enough to convince the farmers. At the end of PAPOU PACKARD's six year assignment 15,000 acres of the plain had been salvaged. As a result Greece, which formerly imported rice, has become an exporter. According to our Government's own figures the original U. S. investment in this operation was $43,000, and Greece is richer by $10,000,000 a year.

More important, for the first time in human memory farmers of the Anthele district know what prosperity is. Small wonder that they erected a statue of 70 year old PAPOU. It is especially fitting that the marble in this statue came from the same quarry which supplied material for the Parthenon and the Winged Victory of Samothrace.

The hardest thing for a woman to remember about her past is the length of it.

Preparing a brochure that covers a lot of history in connection with the Telegraph Road and West Boulevard county buildings site is Director George N. Skrubbs of the Oakland County Planning Commission.

Now that he has withdrawn from the race for the Republican nomination for Governor, there are plenty of predictions that Oakland County's George N. Higgins may come out for a nomination on the state ticket in that party's August convention. George himself isn't saying just yet.

Working on a larceny case the other day in which they were involved themselves were Detectives Delos Anderson and Leo Hazen of the sheriff's force. Somebody stole their Pontiac Press. They had few clues, but circumstantial evidence pointed to an inside job.

Early strawberries so large that 18 of them make a heaping quart are reported by Angus Dickerman of Auburn Heights, who has only enough for his home consumption.

My farmer friends tell me that these rains would do more good and less damage if the water wasn't dumped in such downpours. Many fields are badly gullied as the water runs off. If it came more gradually the ground would soak it up as it fell.

McCarthy Controversy Was Instructive in Giving Insight of Government Methods

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In the June 16 issue it was stated that Senator McCarthy had signed an application for the Schine commission bid.

Army counsel, Joseph Welch, produced a photo of said application. This evidently was brought out in the morning session for during the televised afternoon session it was made clear that the paper signed by Senator McCarthy was a loyalty oath and not a commission bid that had been attached to the loyalty oath after being signed.

I searched the June 17 edition for coverage of this important fact but did not find it in my edition. Could it be that I misunderstood the testimony of Senator McCarthy and Mr. Welch concurred on the evidence and testimony?

While each of the millions of listeners will form his own opinion of this controversy, it has been very instructive in the fact that we have a wonderful government and have men in all branches of it who will guard this country against all the threats and dangers of changing it. That it is a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Mothers Should Include 'Horse Sense' When Preparing Infant's Feeding Formula

Wives, take a lesson from Eli, who passed his 91st birthday. Yet as a child he never tasted spinach or cod liver oil. He had no orange juice. So don't get unduly alarmed if you slip up with a dose of vitamins to your baby.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case L-338: Eli Miller, aged 91, is my father-in-law.

A few months ago, he celebrated his 91st birthday. So Mrs. Crane and I drove down to our farm home in Indiana to stage a celebration for him.

He lives alone in the farmhouse, except for his bird dog named Bud.

"What does Cora want me to do for her birthday?" he grumbled on the morning of his birthday.

My wife had gone to town to arrange the surprise luncheon to which a number of his friends and neighbors had been invited. I stayed with him to prod him, along.

"Oh, she said a man at town has a new flash camera and will take your picture at noon," I added. "She wants to send a picture to Lee (his son in Texas)."

After he finished shaving, he saw a new pair of trousers and sweater that my wife had laid out for him on his bed.

Aunt Het

I like to see men provide for their wives, but I hate to see so many workin' themselves to death just to leave rich widows.

"What'd Cora buy those for?" he demanded. "I'll never live to get any use out of them. I already have enough pants now."

"Oh, you'll wear them out and several more pairs," I added with assurance. "Remember, I've told you that you'll hit the 100-mark, so you still have at least 9 years to go."

"Humph, I'll never even live to go fishing with you this summer," he replied.

"Baloney!" I scoffed, slangily. "That's what you said when you

My father-in-law is spry at 91 and never even tasted spinach or cod liver oil or oranges, except one orange at Christmas.

He didn't even drink milk as a child, except for a little on his oatmeal.

So don't grow unduly hysterical about modern vitamins and child care. Use your gumption. Mix "horse sense" with your infant's feeding formula.

What really killed babies in pioneer days was chiefly lack of vaccination and impure water and unpasteurized milk, plus typhoid fever, but not lack of modern infant foods.

Therefore, mothers, use common sense. Don't make a modern idol out of the present vitamin craze and the excessive worship of rigid infant feeding schedules. An occasional slip-up is not fatal.

Brady Believes in Disease Prevention by Right Diet, Not Use of Wonder Drugs

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
Some readers may have noticed that the "wonder drugs," which come thick and fast nowadays—and go in the same way—get little mention here.

I'm skeptical of the remedial value of these "wonder drugs," particularly penicillin and other anti-biotics.

The evidence that these constantly changing drugs are more efficacious than ordinary and much less costly drugs seems to me mainly hearsay and circumstantial (uncritical weighing of the fact that somebody used the drug in 17 cases of cariphenia balosis with gratifying results in all but nine of 'em).

David Lawrence Says: Scientists Like to Make Own Rules, Conclusions

WASHINGTON — Generalizations are often harmful, and nothing could be more detrimental to the interests of the United States than any blanket condemnation of scientists because of the peculiar behavior of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who was declared a "security risk" by a special board appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Publication of the official transcript of the hearings of this board reveals some very interesting comments on the subject of scientists where loyalty or security matters are involved.

Thus John Lansdale Jr., now a member of a Cleveland law firm but during the war a colonel in the Army, who was the top security officer for the atomic bomb project, was being interrogated under oath on April 16 last, as follows:

"Q. Mr. Garrison (counsel for Dr. Oppenheimer) asked you some questions about the scientific mind in relation to that interview that you had with Dr. Oppenheimer (1943) and you responded, I think, that Dr. Oppenheimer's attitude might well have been a manifestation of the workings of a scientific mind, is that correct?"

"A. Oh, yes; of which I came up against many examples.

"Q. Dr. Oppenheimer has testified here before this board that he lied to you in that interview. You would not say that lying was one of the manifestations of the scientific mind, would you?"

"A. Not necessarily, no.

"Q. It is not a characteristic—

"A. It was certainly a characteristic to decide that I didn't need to have certain information.

"Q. No. But the question is, Mr. Lansdale, you would not say that scientists as a group are liars, would you?"

"A. No. I don't think persons as a group are liars.

"Q. You were undertaking at the time you interviewed Dr. Oppenheimer to investigate what you believed to be a very serious attempt at espionage, is that right?"

"A. Yes. . .

"Q. And Dr. Oppenheimer's refusal to give you the information that you asked for was frustrating to you?"

"A. Oh, certainly.

"Q. You felt that it seriously impeded your investigation, didn't you?"

"A. Certainly. But he wasn't the first one that impeded my investigation, nor the last."

Mr. Lansdale went on to say that he felt that, to the extent of his knowledge, Dr. Oppenheimer is loyal but added that, on the matter of "security clearance," had he been confined to the bare record he would not have granted it. He said:

"In other words, if Dr. Oppenheimer had not been as important as he was, I would certainly have stopped with the record and used my every endeavor to persuade the general (Groves) that Dr. Oppenheimer ought to be dispensed with."

This is probably as good an example as any of the difficulty that the security officers had with some of the scientists at the laboratory where during the last war the atomic bomb was being developed. The special board which recently heard the testimony on Dr. Oppenheimer and which was headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and formerly secretary of the Army in the last administration, had this comment to make on scientists with particular reference to some who testified in behalf of Dr. Oppenheimer.

The special board in its final report declared: "... The board has been impressed, and in many ways heartened by the manner in which many scientists have sprung to the defense of one whom many felt was under unfair attack. "This is important and encouraging when one is concerned with the vitality of our society.

"However, the board feels constrained to express its concern that in this solidarity there have been attitudes so unpromising in support of science in general, and Dr. Oppenheimer in particular, that some witnesses have, in our judgment, allowed their convictions to supersede what might reasonably have been their recollections."

What undoubtedly is referred to here is a conspicuous instance in which a scientist flatly contradicted the testimony of two other witnesses, but the board chose not to specify publicly which ones were meant.

While scientists as a body cannot be condemned, some of their number didn't show up so well in the hearings as believing in wholehearted cooperation with their government except as they themselves interpreted the obligation.

Tunisian Trouble Looms as Fellagahs Organize

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

TUNIS (U)—A 5-year-old boy was murdered in cold blood, and suddenly Frenchmen wondered if they were going to have another Indochina on their hands.

The boy was the son of a Tunisian farmer who had been a member of a new "army of liberation" but had quit. The child was slain out of vengeance and as a warning to others.

In May this "army of liberation," known simply as the Fellagahs and once considered only bandits, started a hit-and-run warfare against the French with naked terror as a weapon. The terror is still going on.

I have seen Indochina and I have seen nationalist movements in action in many parts of the world. In North Africa there are all the elements for a future bloody hide-and-seek war.

The French say the Fellagahs number only about 800 but admit they are now organized. Tunisians say the Fellagahs number many more, an organized force which can march miles on almost no food under harsh conditions in a type of guerrilla warfare. To match that the French would need equally hardy native troops. Raising such a force is difficult—fear of reprisals against families is fresh in the minds of all Tunisians.

Fellagah reinforcements are believed to train in a school near Tripoli, in Libya. This report came from many sources, both French and Tunisian. They agree that the Fellagahs are being trained with modern weapons, although they use leftover guns of World War II. The Fellagahs are often uniformed and often wear insignia of rank.

Some belief is expressed that North African soldiers captured in Indochina by the Communists have received "political re-education" and sent to Tunisia to train and possibly even lead Fellagahs. French sources say bodies of North African veterans have turned up among the Fellagah dead in Tunisian skirmishes.

Other sources believe ex-Nazis from Egypt are active. Both Tunisian and French sources agree that the Fellagah army is paid regular army pay and is trained by non-Arabs. Arms, say both French and Tunisians, come from Libya.

Until recently the Fellagahs attacked in small groups of 20, slinking away into the night. Now the attacks are growing in strength. A pitched battle with a force of about 100 was reported recently.

The Fellagahs live off the land, forcing themselves on colonists, who are obliged to shelter them or suffer death—as some have.

Many of the things the Fellagahs do are not characteristic of Moslems—wanton killing for political vengeance and the suicide of men facing capture, for instance. But the French say inspiration has been given the Fellagahs from Moslem Cairo and the Arab League, whose stated ambition is to extend Islam's influence from Pacific to Atlantic. Radio Cairo has kept up insistent propaganda against the French in North Africa. It hailed French defeats in Indochina as victories for "liberation forces."

The French also suspect that there may be help from Communists, but they still cannot lay their hands on conclusive evidence.

Fellagah terror erupted suddenly in May after a six-month period without a single major incident in Tunisia. The French at once poured troops into the area. They stationed Foreign Legionnaires at big farms to protect farmers and deny supplies to the Fellagahs.

To add fuel to a dangerous fire, French farmers of Southern and Western Tunisia are talking about organizing vigilantes to fight the Fellagahs.

Meanwhile, nationalists are becoming more and more impatient with French promises and French unwillingness to accord anything more than token autonomy. The French are caught between two fires.

French colonists are angry at the attempts of Pierre Voizard, the resident general, to pacify Tunisians with "reforms." Many Tunisians are bitter too. They say the reforms are no reforms at all. The assembly of 42 elected Tunisians and 42 elected Frenchmen has no real power. There is a Council of Ministers, eight Tunisians and four French, but the French retain over-all control.

Only about 10,000 Tunisians among a population of 3½ million have any conception of what the West is talking about when it speaks of democracy. Moderate Tunisians have wanted French help in a gradual transition to independence.

Not long ago, many nationalists would have been shocked at the idea of complete French withdrawal. But as tempers rise, there are fewer moderates. Many Tunisians now want full independence at once, rejecting any idea of co-sovereignty with French. Propaganda is pouring in on them from several directions, capitalizing on the rising feeling.

Food Dealers Warned to Watch Refrigeration

LANSING (U)—Hot weather has brought too many complaints of food dealers failing to keep perishable food under refrigeration, a state agriculture department official said today.

Miles A. Nelson, chief of the enforcement bureau, also added a warning to hamburger manufacturers not to be tempted to add sugar and water to the product. The practice has been springing up, he said.

Waltham Police Wear Job-Tagged Blouses

Batchelor Faces Court Martial

Former Red PW to Be Tried Publicly in August
on Disloyalty Charges

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 23, former POW who first chose to stay with the Communists but changed his mind, will face a general court-martial.

But Lt. Gen. I. D. White, 4th Army commander, said yesterday the Kermit, Tex., youth's life was not at stake because he was directing that the trial be held on a noncapital basis.

The Army held Batchelor in custody while his case was investigated.

Charges against him include conspiring with the enemy concerning a subversive organization to be established in the United States after the Korean armistice, making speeches and writing articles to persuade fellow prisoners to believe Red propaganda, and writing letters to promote disloyalty.

The 4th Army said the trial, to be open to press and public, is expected to start sometime in August.

Real Cool 107 Gives Presidio Time to Relax

PRESIDIO, Tex. (U)—Shucks, it was only 107—so anybody could tell the reporter was kidding when he asked how people were standing the heat on the first day of summer.

"Aw, this isn't hot," said Oliver Harper, 54, the hardware man and weather observer. "Lots of times it gets up around 112 or 114."

In fact, it got up to 111 June 10, when people most places were still wearing suits to work. So you can see summer started off downright cool yesterday, especially in comparison with places like Phoenix, Ariz., where it was 111. Presidio often is the hottest place in the country.

"Why, I've been to Dallas when it was only 98," Harper said, shaking his prematurely white head. "I tell you, that damp heat hurt me worse than 119 does here."

This is an adobe town of about 1,200 persons nudging up to the Rio Grande in the big bend of west Texas. They grow canteloupes in the dusty fields nearby and lead an easy-going life in the town nobody has ever bothered to incorporate.

At the Starr Hotel, the manager, Mrs. Mae Starr, a middle-aged lady with graying black hair and brown eyes, lugged at questions about the heat.

"We're standing it fine," she said. "Oh, of course the lobby is full of young men who came in here to spend the afternoon."

Heat drove them in for a siesta, eh? "Certainly not," she said. "They—why, they just wanted to get out of the dust. I tell you, it's not hot."

THINK TWICE

BEFORE YOU PURCHASE ANY ARTHRITIS MEDICINE

Read these facts by Mrs. June Chapman, 3272 LaRue S.W., Grandville, Michigan, and judge for yourself why O-JIB-WA BITTERS is best for rheumatism and arthritis.

"I would have saved a lot of time, money and suffering if I had known about O-JIB-WA soon."

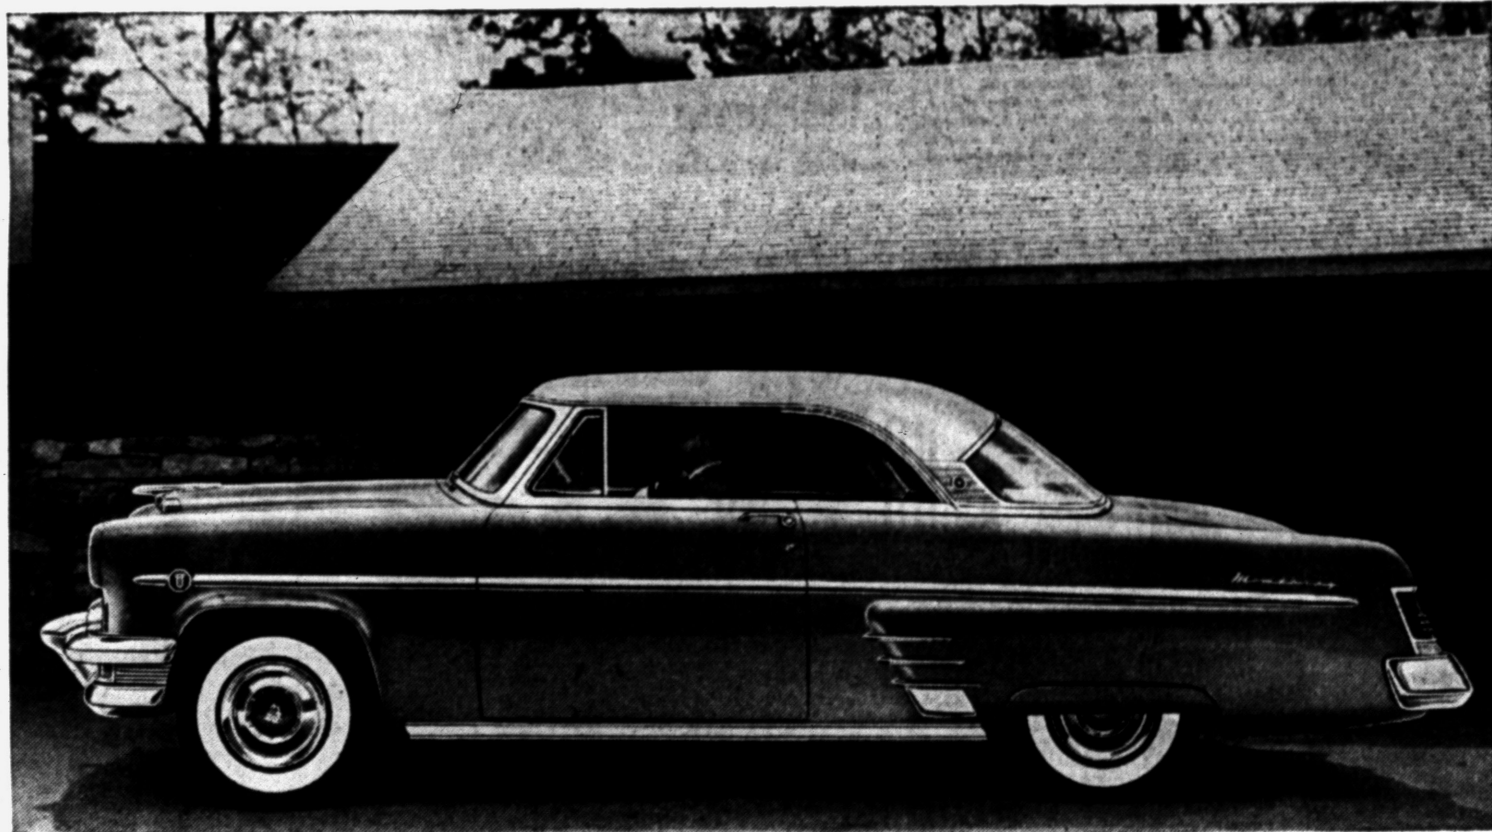

Nobody knows how terribly I suffered during the past five years. I had neuritis and rheumatism in my hips and legs and was right down in bed. I couldn't step on my feet for six weeks, so of course couldn't move about at all. I had such pains and cramps in my hips that I couldn't even get upstairs to bed, so had to sleep on the studio couch downstairs. Why the arthritis was so bad in my toes that I couldn't even wiggle them."

"I tried many things without results, even those tablets advertised highly on the radio and in the newspaper, but they brought no results whatsoever. I was discouraged, but had read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in our paper and decided to try it. I took this medicine for six weeks and now am entirely better. It sure did wonders for me, as I can walk and get around good again, and do all my own housework. O-JIB-WA BITTERS has greatly helped my brother-in-law also, so you can see why I think so highly of your medicine. Thanks to O-JIB-WA BITTERS, I really feel great now and have lots of pep. I certainly recommend that all who suffer from rheumatism, neuritis and arthritis give this famous medicine a fair trial."

Seek Extension of Trade Law

Sen. Morse, 22 Dems Back President's Plan for 3-Year Renewal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-two Democratic senators and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) promised a determined fight for President Eisenhower's basic foreign trade program as the Senate moved into debate today on a bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for one year.

Led by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), the 23-member group planned to try to win extension of the law for three years and to clothe the President with new power to cut tariffs up to 5 per cent in each of those years. One member of the group said privately 8 or 10 Republicans had indicated they would support this proposal.

However, key Republicans and Democrats alike forecast the Senate would vote a simple one-year extension, as has the House, and send the bill to the President.

The law expired June 12, but none of the 42 agreements already negotiated are affected by this. Eisenhower agreed to accept a one-year extension of the law as is when it became apparent that Republican leaders in Congress were not inclined to take action on his proposal of last March in which he urged a three-year extension and asked for more tariff-cutting authority.

However, he has made it clear he still wants Congress to adopt his original proposal after full hearings next year.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) said in separate interviews they would argue against a Senate vote to broaden the extension bill on grounds that House leaders would refuse to accept it and the law thus would stay dead. Millikin said he was confident the Gore substitute would be beaten.

The reciprocal trade law permits the President to negotiate lower tariffs on foreign goods coming into the United States in exchange for trade concessions for this country's goods abroad. However, much of the act's authority to work out new pacts have been exhausted.

Beware of Week-Ends! Says Atomic War Prophecy

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astounding 64 page book analyzing the great world prophecies covering these times. It shows that four of the greatest prophecies could not come true until the present time. But now they can, and world-shaking events are due. The atomic war will begin on a weekend. The prophecy tells even what season of the year to expect it. "The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

The 64 page book is now offering free to the public offers guidance for those who wisely wish to prepare themselves and their affairs for the great crisis ahead. It gives details of what to anticipate, and when. Those who do pull through will have little to fear, because a glorious era will follow. Meantime, it says, "Beware of These Days!"

This liberal offer is made because he expects that many readers will later become interested in the entire system of mind power he learned in the Far East and which is now ready to be disclosed to the western world.

For your free copy of the astonishing prophecies covering these momentous times, as revealed in this 64 page book, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. K257, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard or in an envelope will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of free books have been printed.

Mothers-in-Law Popular; Only 17 Per Cent Disliked

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
By International News Service
Everybody with a mother-in-law may find food for thought in a new survey conducted by two college professors, and the food may nourish some and choke others.

The surveyors were Prof. Paul Wallin of Stanford and Prof. Ernest W. Burgess of the University of Chicago, who published their findings in "The American Journal of Sociology."

Since I don't include "The American Journal of Sociology" in my list of "must reading," I missed the article but I did chance on a pictograph or chart which gave the kernel of the matter, and a pithy thing it is too.

In a nutshell, mothers-in-law aren't as bad as they're cracked down to be.

The professors quizzed 55 husbands and 539 wives, not in cahoots but separately, for greater frankness in the replies. And discovered that mothers-in-law are far more popular with both than you'd ever guess from our cartoonists, radio or TV comedians, and comic strips.

Of the husbands queried 67 per cent confided they liked their mothers-in-law "a lot," 25 per cent said they liked them "somewhat," and only 8 per cent were sourpusses enough to check under "dislike."

Wives are 61 per cent in the "like a lot" column, 22 per cent in the "somewhat" and 17 per cent in the "dislike."

Admittedly, 1094 husbands and wives, in or out of cahoots, aren't a huge cross-section of the population, but I've always been told that scientific samplings don't have to be large in size to be large in accuracy.

These 555 and 539 were all young marrieds, with their fifth anniversary still ahead of them, so it's conceivable that even about in-laws, their honeymoon sweetness and light hadn't had time to turn acid or dim.

Just the same, in a land that's been thoroughly spanked for "momism" and so thoroughly amused by "mom-in-lawism" it's nice to learn of this vote of confidence.

Fathers-in-law figured in the survey, too, and fared even better than their better-halves-in-law.

With all this approval, and minority reports notwithstanding, it must be just a matter of time before Mothers Day and Fathers Day will give birth to two darling little strangers known as Mother-in-Laws Day and Father-in-Laws Day.

In any case, since cartoonists and radio or TV comedians are always such sticklers for sociological truth, maybe this professional survey will ring up the curtain on some brand new humor.

"That's no lady, that's my mother-in-law," or "I love my mother-in-law but oh, you kid!" might be starters for some drastic rewriting ahead.

Jokes aside, these pithy new facts of life should raise the morale of all present and prospective parents-in-law, and what with the high cost of baby-sitters, it's rather a pithy their morale needs raising at all.

Miracle Plot Exposed, Pair Goes to Jail

ANGRI, Italy (AP)—Pilgrims crowded into Salvatore Ferrajoli's kitchen yesterday to see a picture of the Madonna of Syracuse to which miracles had been attributed.

Antonio Tortora led in his friend, 26-year-old Giacinto Gallo, saying Gallo was semiparalyzed and a mute. Gallo stood rigid for an hour, then raised his arms and shouted some words.

A special committee investigating the picture's purported powers insisted Gallo accompany them to a doctor for proof of his "cure."

The doctor's verdict: Gallo hadn't been either deaf or paralyzed to begin with. Angry villagers set upon Gallo and his friend. Police rescued them and led them off to jail. Officials said they confessed they had hoped to take the miracle cure, then pick the excited pilgrims' pockets.

Rhee's Government Cancels Confidence Vote

SEOUL (AP)—Members of President Syngman Rhee's Liberal party today postponed until Monday a scheduled National Assembly vote of confidence in the Cabinet.

New Law Frees 165 Prisoners

But Michigan's Prison Population Continues to Increase

LANSING (AP)—A total of 165 prison inmates have been released from Michigan prisons ahead of schedule in less than a year since a new good behavior time law has been in effect.

But despite this relief, the prison population continues to climb to new heights, Corrections Director Gus Harrison said today.

A new law eliminating Michigan's controversial double standard of good time was passed by the 1953 legislature. Eliminated was the lower rate of good time allowed prisoners serving those than their first sentence and those who had served sentences in other states.

This double standard was said by penologists to be one of the principal reasons for unrest in the prisons.

Since it took effect, 40 prisoners were released on reaching the end of their sentences, less the new high rate of good time.

Another 125 have earned parole ahead of the time they would have under the old law and have been released.

Eventually, Harrison said, a total of some 2,000 who started earning good time under the old law will be released earlier.

But, Harrison added, the prison population today stood at a record 9,452. This compared with 9,404, the high point before the prison riots of 1952. Since May, 1953, Harrison said, the prison population had been steadily rising, and no let-up is in sight.

The over-flow, so far, has been accommodated in prison camps, dormitories, Ionia Reformatory and Marquette Prison, and other expedients.

"If we don't get more space soon, I don't know what we're going to do," Harrison added.

The legislature has appropriated planning money for a $2,600,000 minimum security prison to house 600 men at Ionia, but Gov. Williams and the Corrections Commission have protested the amount is not enough to build the facility.

Pain-Deadening Drug Introduced

'Dolitrone' Will Also Blot Out Remembrance of Suffering

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A versatile new drug that not only deadens pain but blots out all remembrance of it was unveiled today by a noted doctor who was the first to introduce sodium pentathol—the so-called "truth serum"—into medical practice.

Dr. John S. Lundy, Chief of Anaesthesiology at the world-famed Mayo Foundation and Clinic in Rochester, Minn., described the potent preparation to a general scientific meeting at the American Medical Association's Convention in San Francisco.

Christened "dolitrone," the potent preparation produces what the doctor characterized as "controlled amnesia," a sort of numb semi-sleep which allows the patient to assist the physician or surgeon while under its influence.

Dr. Lundy, who ranks as one of the world's foremost anaesthesiologists, said that dolitrone effectively kills pain and leaves no memory of pain in the patient's mind.

So simple is it to administer that the doctor believes it will come into use by dentists in teeth extractions and by obstetricians for painless childbirth as well as by surgeons during major operations.

Dr. Lundy said he has thus far administered dolitrone in 127 cases at the Mayo Clinic and in these instances has found practically no harmful side effects. Only three of the patients had sore veins after the intravenous injections but these responded quickly to treatment. Four or five had feelings of mild nausea as after effects, the doctor reported.

Dr. Lundy stressed that perhaps the chief advantage of dolitrone is its "safety factor." He pointed out that the drug can be administered recurrently by the "drip method" following the initial injection and that adequate dosages can be given without risking dangerous effects such as rapid loss of oxygen.

Airline Patrons Zoom Into Freezing Zone

DETROIT (U)—The temperature was 84 degrees Monday when an American Airlines flight took off from Willow Run Airport, but it didn't take long for the passengers to cool off.

Minutes after the plane was airborne, pilot Thomas Dryer radioed back to the control tower: "The temperature dropped to 10 above zero at 20,000 feet," he said, "and at the request of passengers I turned on the heat."

Sports Fan Celebrates, Fails to See Match

BRISTOL, England (U)—A team of Bristol bowlers who had just finished a match in Weymouth yesterday encountered a fellow townsman somewhat the worse for drink.

They put him in their bus and brought him the 70 miles to his home here, where a neighbor told them:

STATISTICS ON MARLENE—Marlene Dietrich arrived in London to fill a night club engagement and Noel Coward met her at the airport, installing her in a plush penthouse complete with bathtub that spurts water out of the mouth of a golden fish. A London reporter said Miss Dietrich's passport revealed she is 48 years old.

Miss Europe May Lose Beauty Title

BERLIN (U)—A West Berlin fashion designer confirmed today that her star mannequin, elected "Miss Europe" in a beauty contest at Vichy, France, is a widow.

Louis Fontenay, delegate general of the contest committee, was quoted yesterday by the French News Agency as saying 29-year-old Christel Schaak might be stripped of her new title because she was reported to be a widow.

The contest is limited by rules to unmarried women, Fontenay explained. He added that the title might be given to the runner-up, 21-year-old French model Danielle Genot.

The office of fashion designer Ursula Schewe said Mrs. Schaak's husband died seven years ago.

Elephant leather is so heavy that a hide takes three years to tan. But cattle hides can be tanned in only a few weeks with modern methods.

5th Red Suspect Fired at Flint

GM Also Lets Out Four Who Led Protest Acts Against Pinks

FLINT (U)—General Motors has fired a fifth employee at Flint tagged as a Communist party member at recent sessions of a House un-American activities subcommittee.

Murray Borod was fired, like the four before him, after being accused by GM of falsifying his job application. Company spokesmen said Borod, when applying for a job five years ago, had failed to reveal the extent of his college education.

He, and the others already fired, were named as Communist party organizers by witnesses at the subcommittee hearings. The witnesses said the five men had been sent to Flint in 1948.

GM also has fired four other employees for leading demonstrations against alleged Reds in auto plants at Flint.

Harriman May Visit Flint Soon

Commissioners Order Resolution Demanding Apology to City

FLINT (UP)—E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross who asserted that Flint made no attempt to repay $600,000 in tornado disaster aid money, indicated Monday he may visit Flint.

In a telephone conversation with the Rev. Harry W. Berke-meier, pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Roman Catholic Church, Harriman said the pressure of business keeps him from making a definite promise to visit Flint but said he would try to accept the invitation.

The invitation was extended after Harriman charged $900,000 collected by the Red Feather organization in Flint was "frosting on the cake" after the Red Cross had shelled out $600,000 in emergency funds.

Flint officials want Harriman to visit Flint to see what was done with the Red Feather money.

Meanwhile, Flint's city commissioners ordered the legal department to draft a resolution demanding that Harriman make a public apology to the city.

Mayor Donald W. Riegler said "Harriman makes more than the President of the United States but criticizes our distribution of Red Feather fund money to help the tornado victims get back on their feet."

Motorist Arrested After Gun Threat

A Commerce Township resident accused an Oakley Park motorist of threatening him with a gun last night after the motorist lost control of his car and drove onto the Commerce man's lawn.

William Twaddle, 68, of 304 Glen-gary Rd., Walled Lake, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that a man obviously drunk, drove on Twaddle's lawn with his car. When Twaddle approached the car, he told deputies, the motorist drew a gun and threatened him. He then fled in his car.

Oakland County Deputies Everett Fredericks and Lyle Walmsley found a car matching the description given by Twaddle at the Glen-gary Inn on Glen-gary road and arrested Van T. Well-man, 35, of 3154 Woodrow road, Oakley Park, who admitted having been at Twaddle's home.

Deputies arrested Wellman on a drunk and disorderly charge. Walmsley and Fredericks found a cap pistol in Wellman's car.

Search for Light Plane Narrowed

Craft, Bearing Indiana Businessmen, Is Sought in Michigan, Wisconsin

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—The search for a missing light plane with four Indiana businessmen aboard narrowed to two states, Michigan and Wisconsin, today, but Civil Air Patrol feared they were down in Lake Michigan.

Indiana and Illinois search patrols were abandoned last night after a belated report came from Sheboygan, Wis., that the four had landed there for gas Saturday, then headed across the lake for Crystal Falls, Mich.

Aboard the plane were pilot Stephen Buck and Ed Parkham of Bedford, and two Crawfordville residents, Eli Demaree and Lloyd Lestwich.

CAP and air sea rescue authorities were handicapped in their search because Buck failed to file a flight plan when the four took off from Crawfordville. They made a stop at Chicago, but failed to follow Buck's usual route around the lake to the upper Michigan peninsula.

Instead they flew up the other side of the lake to Sheboygan, apparently to fly across the water.

At Time of Mysterious Death Inquest Reveals Thorne Was Probing Father's Will

CHICAGO (INS) — An inquest into the mysterious death of 20-year-old Montgomery Ward Thorne, heir to a Chicago mail order company fortune, has revealed that the youth was probing his father's will at the time he died.

His fiancée, Maureen Ragen, 18, to whom he had willed half his estate a few days before he was found dead Saturday in his near north side apartment, testified at the inquest yesterday that despite the discovery of two hypodermic needles Thorne was not a narcotics addict.

Further testimony disclosed that:

1—Thorne had confided in his attorney, Jay Stough, that he was being followed and that he was certain he would not live to be 21 years old.

2—He had sold his blood on two occasions because he received only $150 a month from his father's $2,600,000 estate.

3—That Thorne had been arrested by his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, as "a dope fiend and drunkard."

4—That his fiancée and her mother "never saw any needle marks on Thorne's arms" and that he never smoked, only rarely drank a highball and never touched coffee. Stough, the youth's attorney, said that Thorne was investigating the handling of his father's estate and that he learned the original will was missing from the Probate Court's file.

Miss Ragen said that narcotics paraphernalia found in Thorne's apartment and puncture marks discovered on his arms were "planted."

Other developments at the inquest included Miss Ragen's statement that "now I'm afraid that they'll get me too."

Authorities learned that after leaving his fiancée Friday night, Thorne attended a party across the street from his apartment until 4 a. m. and that he was last seen by Suzanne Rooks, a champion water skier whom he met in Florida.

It was learned that Miss Rooks telephoned Thorne's mother shortly after the youth's body was discovered, offered her sympathy and informed her that she had seen "Monty early this morning, about four o'clock, at a party at my house across the street ... he looked well and normal."

The inquest was continued until next Monday.

Police who had originally found a hypodermic needle in the youth's apartment returned for a second search yesterday and discovered a second needle and a girdle.

Convicted Man Granted New Trial in Robbery

Russell J. Courtney, 31, convicted by a jury May 7 of the $4,098 armed holdup of a Huntington Woods supermarket, was granted a new trial yesterday by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty. Courtney, of 1765 Woodward Heights, Ferndale, was granted the new trial because a witness in the original trial failed to admit he had a police record.

Dedicate Island Memorial Soon

Beaumont Building on Mackinac Has Medical Museum

MACKINAC ISLAND (U) — Michigan will add another tourist attraction with the dedication July 17 of the Beaumont Memorial on this historical island.

The memorial, largely financed by the Michigan State Medical Society, will mark the site of a dramatic experiment in medical history in 1822.

The accidental shooting of a French-Canadian voyager, Alexis St. Martin, in the American Fur Co. store caused a gunshot wound which would not heal.

An army surgeon, Dr. William Beaumont, seized the opportunity to observe the functioning of the human digestive system, reportedly the first time in history such functioning was observed directly.

The medical shrine consists of a restoration of the old fur company building, fitted out as a replica of the store and with one section reserved as a medical museum containing surgical instruments and other mementoes of the early 1800s.

Rebirth of West Germany(Editor's note—From total collapse and chaos at the end of World War II, Western Germany is back again as a leading economic force in Europe. How the Western Germans have accomplished this comeback is one of the most remarkable stories of the post-war era.
It is told in three articles, of which the following is the first.)By TOM AGOSTON BONN (INS) — It used to be
"blitzkrieg."Now it is "blitzarbeit" — work, feverish work!This emphasis on "produce or perish" is the keynote of a great West German economic comeback that in 1954 has made the Bonn Republic an important economic force on the European Continent.Some said she would never "make it." Even recently some qualified German and foreign economic experts predicted that the boom would grind to a halt.It hasn't.
Day after day, newspapers are cramped with "jobs vacant" ads.
And there are other signs.This is how a member of a western trade delegation to Bonn summed up trends in a recent report to his home office:
"In Frankfurt, Dusseldorf, Munich—where only a few years ago the half starved population scrambled through the rubble in search of salvageable building materials—rebuild skyscrapers, hotels and apartment houses are springing up like mushrooms."The air is filled with prosperity. The Germans welcome this new chance to earn and live well, they are tired of controls, recalling the Nazi rule."The shops are full of merchandise, the streets choked with cars.
"In the Ruhr, once dismantled or bomb-damaged factories are in full swing, their competition cutting sharply into British and to some extent American order books.Germany's economic rebirth has followed a path as exacting as a military operation.At a time when most European countries were leaning toward Socialism, Germany shed every vestige of planned economy and struck out on the road of free enterprise.In the place of a manipulated industry came a new dynamic capitalism, accomplished despite almost total ruin of its cities and industries, despite Soviet control of major German industrial wealth east of the Elbe.While West Germany's neighbors preached wage and price controls to halt inflation, tight foreign exchange regulations, rigid export and import curbs, nationalization of industry and state planning, Bonn's economists—instead of trying to "manage" inflation—went to work to eliminate it.They eliminated price and wage controls.They returned more and more industry to private management and relaxed foreign exchange and trade curbs.Impartial reports by such bodies as the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) confirm the spectacular advance.First they give full credit to free enterprise which enabled West Germany to increase its industrial output by seven per cent in 1953, compared with a decline in France and only a slight increase in Britain. March exports were almost a third above those of a year ago.Chief Architect of the German economic revival is jaunty professor Ludwig Erhard, 57, federal minister of economics.Working closely with Erhard is Finance Minister Fritz Schaeffer, 65, a Bavarian lawyer-economist, whose move to impose a four per cent turnover tax on sales on every level has gone down as one of the biggest boosters of the German economy.He also reached into the extra-territorial American community by making every GI pay the regular $15 a year dog tax on pets.Not burdened with having to support an army of its own, Bonn was able to cut other taxes by fifteen per cent.What most western businessmen want to know, contemplating possible investment, is how stable is West German economy.An American banker, long resident in Germany, put it this way:
"My answer is that optimism is fully justified, even though the spectacular boom may give way to steady progress."In considering the overall picture, factors of strength are a building boom, rising foreign trade surplus, and increases in disposable income and private consumption.However, there are certain indications which carry a warning.
The coal and steel industries, basic to the German economy, are complaining of a slack demand.

In some fields, investments have been leveling off, prices have fallen and there has been talk of too much competition and firms selling without regard to production costs.The result has been a growing demand in several industrial sectors for a revival of cartel-like agreements or at least some government protection.The brightest spots in German industry are concentrated in fields which reflect a rising standard of living, such as leather, food industries, etc.The field of foreign trade also promises new records, even though Germany is still running a heavy deficit in its trade with the United States, while at the same time it is a creditor to its European trade partners for a total of almost 100 million dollars.The German mark continues to gain strength, and has now reached an almost steady parity in the legal exchange rates on the free markets of Zurich and Geneva. (It is one of four free currencies selling on the Swiss market, the others being the dollar, Belgian franc, and Dutch guilder).One thing West Germany is not worried about is Communism.Aware of the disastrous impact of Communist influence in unions, the German workers have no intention of allowing the Reds to bring off any coup that could result in loss of produce and markets.DIRECTOR—Dr. Clarence Cook Little speaks at New York news conference after being named director of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee's newly organized scientific research program. He is a cancer scientist and a former president of the University of —Reds have not been allowed to infiltrate the unions.Most Germans have experience of Communist rule or have relatives living under such conditions.They know there is no such thing as a Communist in a non-Communist country who serves the workers' interests.They can always see the Kremlin behind the man.Tomorrow: West Germany's export industry will win contract concessions which ultimately could mean higher prices for the thousands of articles made of steel.David J. McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, prepared to report to his Executive Board and the union's powerful 170-man Wage Policy Committee on contract talks with U. S. Steel Corp.The union, which received an 8½ cent hourly raise last year, asked for an unspecified wage hike.McDonald also urged liberalized hospitalization and pension programs, as well as other contract changes.Big steel kept mum on what it would offer, if anything. And union leaders didn't comment on what progress, if any, they made in the bargaining talks which recessed last Friday subject to recall at any time.There has been considerable speculation that big steel would not agree to a wage hike—at least not a large one—but would goalong with better pensions and liberalized hospitalization programs.The union also demanded a guaranteed annual wage. It was thought big steel might agree to study the proposal.Contracts with basic steel pro-

Strong Sun Is Death to the Hair

Only Shampoo With Lanolin Base Can Undo Damage

By BARBARA BRENT

No question about what's the beauty blessing of summer—it's the sun. However, Old Sol is often a mixed blessing.

The damage that too much sunning can do to the skin is all too well known. What is less celebrated is the harm a succession of days at the beach can cause to your hair.

The nightmare of most beauty experts is the big floppy beach hat with the crown cut out.

The fact of the matter is that sun is extremely hard on hair—any hair. Most of the stars of Hollywood have discovered this, to their sorrow, and their advice on sunning your thatch is worth noting.

"I'll never forget my first days in Hollywood," says Dorothy Lamour. "I spent all my time toasting in the sun and, although my skin turned to gold, my hair turned to steel wire."

"It wouldn't curl or shape—well, I rushed to my hair dresser in a panic. He explained that I had simply baked all life from my scalp, and that it would take several weeks to repair the damage."

"He also said it takes just three in strong sun to injure hair. I've never forgotten that sad experience. When I tan my skin—I cover my hair!"

Anne Baxter has another bit of information on the sun-versus-hair problem. She had to dye her hair blonde for her recent role in Carnival.

Anne reports that the weekend after she'd gone blonde she spent many hours on the beach. To her horror, her hair changed to 15 different colors of gold—none becoming.

Her hair stylist explained patiently most hair dye fades slightly in the sun and changes to different shades. No one who dyes her hair should expose it to strong sunlight for long periods of time. It's death to the color.

If you have already a burned your hair, can anything be done to restore it quickly?

June Allyson says there is something. "I love a sun-streaked look in my hair, but on occasion, I've gone too far, and baked my hair rather badly. When this happens, I've learned to sprint for the shower and a shampoo."

"For several days I give myself three to four thorough latherings. The lanolin in a good shampoo gradually works back into my oil-starved hair."

"Pure hair oil won't work, since the scalp won't absorb oil unless it's both wet and perfectly clean. Reconditioning my hair usually takes about three days, but I try to avoid needing it. No question—too much sun is very hard on my hair."

6 European Princesses Eligible

Who Will King Baudoin, Ruler of Belgium, Choose for Queen?

Five of the six eligible princesses include Margaret of England, Margaretha of Sweden, Isabelle of France, Marie-Christine of Italy and Alexandra of Kent (left to right).

BRUSSELS, Belgium (NEA) — The eight million people of Belgium think it's high time their 24-year-old king got serious about marriage.

The Belgians want a queen. They've wanted one ever since Baudoin ascended the throne. A young wife, they say, would lighten his burden, dispel the cloud of sadness that hovers over him, and finally, put an end to what is known in Brussels as the "royal uneasiness."

Both his grandfather and father were married before they were 25. But the marriage of a king is hedged in with all manner of hurdles. Who can Baudoin marry?

Matchmakers in royal circles have a ready reply to that question. They list no less than six eligible European princesses, all young and attractive, who could become the bride of the serious young king, sometimes called the "Melancholic One."

First in line comes Margaret of England, followed by Margaretha of Sweden, Isabelle of France, Marie-Christine and Dona Sandra Vittoria, both of Italian royal houses, and finally Alexandra of Kent.

At the moment, however, Marie-Christine holds the lead in royal rumor circles. There have been recent reports that Baudoin had requested the hand of the daughter of the late Duke of Aosta.

The Belgian court immediately denied such reports, although there were similar rumors two years ago when Baudoin went to Italy, sent Marie-Christine a magnificent bouquet of red roses—and a note of regrets.

As for Princess Margaret, some people believe there are too many obstacles.

First there is the "estrangement" between the two royal families which stems back to the late King George's criticism of King Leopold (Baudoin's father) during the last war.

That is why Baudoin did not attend the British king's funeral and sent his brother Albert to represent him at the coronation of Elizabeth II.

In Belgian court circles, the answer to that one is that Leopold would consider the marriage of Baudoin and Margaret a happy solution to the "estrangement." But there are two other factors: Margaret is a Protestant, and Baudoin a Catholic—and there is handsome Peter Townsend who is said to have won Margaret's heart.

Baudoin could, like his father, marry a Princess of the Snows. Margaretha of Sweden is 20, a typical Nordic beauty, and the most democratically educated European princess.

She would be received with open arms by the Belgian people who today still remember and venerate their dearly-beloved Queen Astrid.

Twenty-two-year-old Isabelle of France is the eldest daughter of the Comte de Paris, pretender to the French throne. She, too, has much to please the Belgians. She was born on their soil when her father was an exile. She is known for her utter simplicity, is gay, charming and good-looking.

As a child she played with Baudoin and today they have many tastes in common, particularly horseback riding and the study of history. The announcement of their engagement was denied four years ago, probably because it was then considered premature.

Brussels issued another denial last February to the report that Baudoin was to go to Rome to meet Dona Sandra Vittoria, eldest daughter of Don Alexander Torlonia and the Spanish Infanta, Beatrice of Bourbon.

This princess is 18, a beautiful blonde, and has just completed a convent education. She is also the richest Italian heiress. Dona Sandra was said to have cast a spell over the melancholy young king.

While Princess Alexandra, daughter of the Duchess of Kent, is only 17, this would not be considered too young in royal circles where princesses often marry in their teens.

Baudoin's "entourage" considers she would be an ideal wife for him. This marriage would also fulfill the dearest wishes of Queen Mother Elizabeth of Belgium, who has never hidden her deep pro-British feelings.

From such a bevy of beautiful fairy-tale princesses, which one will Baudoin eventually choose?

The only statement the young sovereign is said to have ever made on that point is: "I will marry when I meet a woman as beautiful as my mother."

Ella Vaughan Married at St. Patrick

Ella Ann Vaughan, of Voorheis road, daughter of the Charles H. Vaughans of Toledo, O. spoke her marriage vows Saturday noon in St. Patrick Church with Donald S. McManus, son of Charles McManus of Wise road.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza. A scroll pattern of iridescent beads outlined the deep neckline. The fitted bodice was finished with short shirred sleeves.

The waistline dipped in front to a full skirt which extended into a train. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet edged with iridescent beads. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Eugene Giglio of Mayfield Heights, Ohio was matron of honor, and Helen Huffman was bridesmaid. They wore matching dresses of aqua mist tissue tulle. The strapless gowns featured fitted bodices and full skirts. They wore the bride's gift of yellow flower circlets at the neck, wrists and as earrings.

William C. Featherstone was best man and Park Vaughan, the bride's brother from Miami, Fla. was groomsmen. Ushers were Charles Vaughan Jr. and Gale Vaughan, brothers of the bride from Toledo.

MRS. DONALD S. McMANUS

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Vaughan wore a dress of peacock blue silk and lace with white accessories and a white orchid shoulder corsage.

After a reception in the couple's new home on Leota drive, the new Mrs. McManus changed to a white cotton dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of white roses for the wedding trip to northern Wisconsin.

Talk to Baby Often, He'll Speak Sooner

Though baby can only utter meaningless sounds, you can prepare him to learn to speak by talking to him often. He won't understand in the beginning, but gradually he'll learn by listening and observing.

As soon as he shows an interest in words (at about one year old), hold regular daily talking lessons. Point out such objects as furniture, animals, flowers and repeat their names for him. And when he starts talking, don't encourage baby talk.

Use Warm Oranges for Baby's Juice

Every mother knows baby should not be given chilled drinks. But, unlike milk, orange juice cannot be heated without risking the loss of valuable vitamins. And, of course, it's not wise to allow the juice to stand at room temperature until it's right for drinking since exposure also will reduce the vitamin content.

The solution, however, is simple and guarantees baby getting all the vitamins nature provided.

Books Should Make Both Children and Grownups Wonder About Life

Mother Of Grown Family Sells Tots' Clothes Her Love of Children Put to Good Use

By ANNE HEYWOOD
"When my children left home," a motherly woman from Michigan writes me, "I was desolate. I love kids, and I missed mine and their friends so very much. I felt almost as if I were out of the swim of life."

"Meantime, my husband was busier than ever, because by this time he has a job of great responsibility."

"I dabbled around with this and that in an effort to keep busy, but it was just plain busywork and meant nothing to me at all."

"I thought of going to work in a nursery school, or something like that, but had no training, not having ever finished high school myself."

"Finally I got desperate. I knew I had to find something important to me, but all I could think of was kids."

"In desperation, I took a walk down Main street. I passed our best department store, and before I could think twice, I went in and applied for a job selling in the children's wear department."

"To my astonishment, they told me that while there were no regular jobs, they did need extra sales help on Saturdays, and I could come then if I liked."

"At first they tried to put me in another department, but I was surprised to hear my own voice with great firmness telling them no, it had to be with the children. And they let me!"

"Well," she continued, "I loved it from the beginning. And all the kids, even the little hellions, loved me. So of course I began to make a lot of sales."

"After a while the store asked me to come Tuesdays too, which I did, and now I work Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. I can hardly call it work—it's so much fun—but they do pay me for it!"

"And it makes all of my life more interesting. I don't mind the housework and things that used to bother and bore me, because my life has a real purpose now."

"I know you like to hear from readers who have solved their problems, so I thought I'd tell you."

"And keep on urging women to do something when their kids have grown! It makes all the difference in the world."

"Besides," she concluded gaily, "there's one other interesting thing about my job. I always know, ahead of the whole town, who is expecting — because they come to me for the layette!"

"And you know what fun it is to be in on secrets like that!"

Stick cologne concentrate, available in several lovely fragrances, was designed to make you feel cool as a cucumber on ice, despite the summer heat.

Peach Fluff Dessert Is Refreshing Mrs. Beauchamp's Recipe Made With Whipped Cream

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

This is the kind of weather that calls for a cool dessert like this Peach Fluff. Mrs. William G. Beauchamp is today's contributor.

Mrs. Beauchamp is a Girl Scout leader and does church work. She says that since she moved to the suburbs she hasn't had enough time to pursue her hobbies of sewing, knitting and silversmithing.

Thank-You Addressed to Husband Wife Rather Miffed Since She Did All the Work

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "Recently my husband's cousin and her husband and daughter came to this city from the West Coast for a visit. They spent a weekend with us at our house. Yesterday my husband received a note from this cousin thanking him for the hospitality shown them while they were here."

"The note was addressed to my husband alone, and although she did make mention of me in the note, I felt rather put out over this as I was the one who did all the work."

"I think the note should have been sent to me—or at least to Mr. and Mrs. Wasn't this improper?"

Answer: No, addressing her letter of thanks to him and mentioning you was quite proper since her relationship to him was the reason why she was given your hospitality. Also general public opinion considers the husband the head of the family.

I personally would have written to you, but I am sure that many of those who read this letter will think that addressing your husband was right.

Dear Mrs. Post: Who writes the first letter—the boy or the girl? We've been arguing this question and I said that I thought the girl might write first as she is supposed to speak first to a boy she doesn't know well.

Answer: Between old friends there is no rule. The one who goes away is likely to write first because his (or her) surroundings suggest subjects to write about. On the other hand, any especially interesting happening at home produces an even greater impulse to write.

When a new friendship starts, it is better that the girl wait for the boy's letter, just as she waits for him to ask her to go out with him.

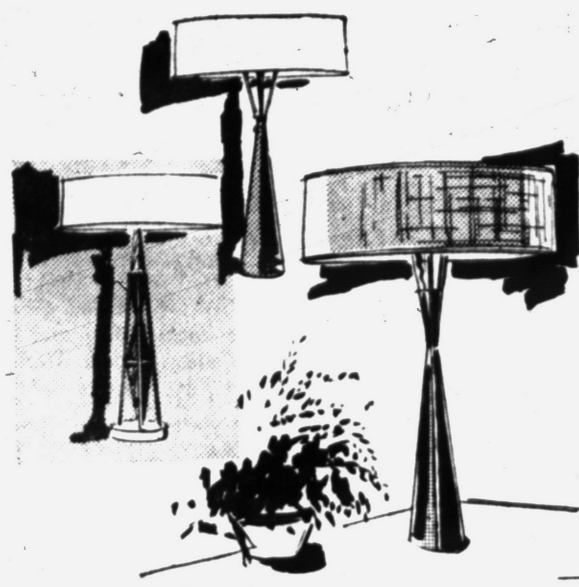

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be impossible for a young woman, 21, to go away to a resort town for a two-week holiday alone? There is absolutely no one who can go at the time I can and I need a vacation badly.

Answer: Any self-reliant young woman of today can quite properly go on a holiday alone—especially if she stays in a "family-type" hotel.

Carefully Launder Cool Transparents

Cooliest idea in summer accessories is the "transparent" look. You'll see it in sheer organdy or nylon collars, in cotton lace boleros, in gloves of cotton lace, combined with nylon sheer and in clear plastic handbags—either plain or combined with carved designs.

But remember that to look pretty, these transparent accessories must be kept spotlessly clean. So dunk fabrics in and out of soap-suds frequently. And wipe plastic off, inside and out, with a soapy cloth—then with a clean, damp one, and polish with a dry cloth.

With Distinctive Silhouette Lamps Elegant but Simple

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

It isn't too often that elegance combines with simplicity in a lamp—elegant lamps tend toward the over-elaborate and simple lamps make too little use of interesting materials.

But Paul McCobb, who knows very well how to design outstanding, elegantly simple furniture, has new ideas which are attracting attention this week in the Chicago market previews of home furnishings for fall.

Of the three lamps sketched, the top design may feature either wood or leather, the center base is wood and the lower base brass.

A new pierced brass reflector almost as big around as the shades stops upward glare from the light source.

He gives his new lamps a distinctive, silhouette, slender and tall with shallow shades, and uses leather, brass and polished wood for their columns.

Colors are subtle, natural walnut or the grey-beige Sand Drift which watches McCobb furniture for the wood, and white, beige, sand and treebark for the shades.

The only slightly brighter hues are old gold and moss green which are added to tan and gray in the leathers.

For extra protection, roll each one into a separate zippered plastic storage bag. Since these bags are transparent, you'll be able to identify any rug at a glance with no labeling necessary.

Painted furniture can be washed in a solution of warm water and baking soda. Add a teaspoon of the soda to a pint of water.

Mary Margaret McBride Says: She Hopes Young Folks Continue to Read Classics

The guardians of the young have been busy lately putting the classics under the microscope.

A while back, a grade school survey revealed that "Alice in Wonderland" wasn't popular with the children who evidently didn't understand or appreciate Lewis Carroll's sly, gentle fun.

Then somebody in the Middle West took off on Robin Hood, suggesting that the mighty archer and his merrie band in Sherwood Forest might be subtly spreading Communist philosophy. And just the other day a friend told me that a psychologist he knows has diagnosed Huck Finn as schizophrenic: "A compulsive liar."

Remembering my own youth when I took "Alice in Wonderland" in dead seriousness and was particularly fond of the part about the school under the sea, although it was years before I knew that reeling and writhing were a word play on reading and writing, I hope children who are getting to know the joys of books will calmly go on reading.

I devoured every scrap of printed matter that came within reach. My first novel was "John Halifax, Gentleman," a volume that a girlhood suitor of Mama's had given her. I sneaked the book from the parlor center table and read it all the way through before Mama found out.

She was rather horrified at first. For Lady Caroline in John Halifax is definitely a "bad woman," and Mama was afraid I might have learned the facts of life too rudely.

A little conversation with me, though, evidently convinced her that, after the way of the avid child reader, I had simply skipped over what I didn't understand and fastened all my attention on the detail that appealed to me most—the hungry hero eating raw turnips to keep body and soul together.

However, I did get one grownup tip from John Halifax, and that was an inkling of puzzling social distinctions as they existed in the outside world. Up to then, one Missouri farmer had seemed to me very much like another and since none of us had much cash, money as a social factor hadn't entered my calculations either.

Yet—"He's not her equal," the English countryside said about John Halifax and there was great excitement because Ursula, the heroine, was marrying beneath her. To save my life, I couldn't understand why poor, noble John had to struggle so hard to bring himself to the level of those people, most of whom seemed to me no better than they should be.

But Mama explained that in England ways were different from ours. And with that I had to be content, though I went on wondering. Which is what books ought to make children as well as grownups do—wonder!

Beauteous New Member Endangers Unity of Gang

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
"Dear Miss Woodward: Our little crowd was the leader in our grammar school, but this year in high school we've been just nothing. One of us did get elected to a freshman office and that helped to make all of us noticed more."

"We have added several new faces to our group—one of them the most beautiful girl you ever saw. The trouble is she has to be the most everything."

"I overheard one of the teachers say that her sense of competition is over-developed. There's a saying that goes: 'If you can't beat them, join them.' Well, if she can't beat you, she shows you down."

"One moment she's your very sincere friend, the next she's laughingly making a cruel joke about you. She worms her way into your confidence, then blabs all over. The awful part is you still like her!"

"Our old gang has broken up twice over things she said we'd said about one another. Now she has the tale going around school that I said our crowd was going to 'snag' more than one office next year and take over the sophomore class and run it."

"Right now I'm bewildered. So is our gang. But she seems to be gunning for me. How, Miss Woodward, do you get along with people like that?"

Your little crowd got along famously in grammar school. It seems obvious that your troubles and dissensions have been caused by the newcomer in your midst. It's possible you were all so attracted by her good looks that you made an intimate of her before you knew her well enough.

But summer vacation will break the chain of events and give your original gang a chance to close ranks again. Your strength is in your unity. Depending on your own initiative and planning and not because you're thrown together at school every day, you'll be able to patch up the chinks in your armor.

Another girl who is as beautiful as your troublemaker would be content to get by on her looks, to sit still and let favors and honors drop in her lap. Your friend's competitive spirit makes her drive at everything everybody at everything. And the rest of you must have made her feel that you begrudge her superiority.

In the fall, as I see it, there are two things to do about her. One is to continue your indifference, which you can launch well and firmly during the summer. Just "include her out" and let her find another gang.

If she refuses to be dropped, include her really and truly in your gang without telling her any of your secrets. Nominate her for office, campaign lustily for her, give her a push out into the middle of the big pond.

Make her feel that you're for her all the way. If she loses out she'll be against the rest of the sophomore class. You'll have deflected her shots from you and scattered them widely. It might make her a changed girl.

Should Your Brick Home Be Painted?

By HUBBARD COBB

One of the things that worries people who live in brick homes is whether or not the bricks should be painted, and if so, with what.

Well, if you like the natural color of the bricks and they were installed properly, they don't require any sort of finish.

If you would like a change of color, then they may be painted with any good grade exterior masonry paint.

The same question comes up in connection with wood siding finishes. These can be left unfinished but in time they will discolor unless you happen to live by the sea, in which case they will in time take on a very attractive silvery appearance.

Our personal feeling is that it's best to give shingles other than those by the sea a coat of shingle stain in any color you want. Stain is better for shingles than paint because it's less expensive, easier to apply and won't blister or peel.

If the shingles have been painted, however, you can't use a stain unless you first remove the old paint. If you should decide that you prefer a paint to a stain, be sure that the shingles have not been previously stained with creosote for this will tend to bleed through the paint.

You can get by here by first sealing the creosote in with a coat of aluminum paint, followed by the finish paint. Wood roof shingles, of course, should never be painted, only stained.

Asbestos cement shingles on side-walls and stucco don't require any protective finish, but for decorative purposes they can be coated with a good masonry paint.

Audience Hails 'Darling Marge' in Stock Play

MOUNTAINHOME, Pa. (U)—Margaret Truman was hailed as the "darling Marge" of the summer theater circuit following her dramatic debut in the Pocono Playhouse last night.

Miss Truman appeared in the role of Katie Grey, a young American schoolteacher who finds love briefly and unhappily on a European vacation, in the play "Autumn Crocus" by Dodie Smith.

Her performance drew such audience comment as "smoothly done" and "very professional." She was greeted off-stage by cameramen and newsreel crews.

A critic for Variety magazine said, "Her character portrayal and acting was gracious and honest. She made the character she portrayed truly shy and drab as it should have been." The critic, who declined to be identified, predicted Miss Truman would become the "darling Marge" of the summer theater circuit.

The daughter of the former President remained in hourly telephone contact with her father, recovering from an operation in a Kansas City hospital.

She had decided to go on with her scheduled performance after a check with her mother Sunday.

She plans a full nine weeks of similar stock appearances, winding up at Philadelphia Playhouse in the Park late in August.

Dedicate Chapel Near Grayling to Kiwanian

GRAYLING (UP)—Dedication of a chapel to Donald A. Johnston, co-founder and first president of Kiwanis International, was held Monday at the Hartwick Pines State Park near Grayling.

The $15,000 structure was given to the state by an anonymous donor.

The Australian government is a federation of six states established in 1900.

Col. Mitchell Script Awaits Wife's Okay

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
 By International News Service
 HOLLYWOOD — The story of Col. Billy Mitchell, whose report to the government asking for a better Air Force led to his court martial, is being written by a well known local writer.

The colonel foretold that the Japanese would attack Pearl Harbor and begged that the Air Force be kept separate from the Army and Navy.

Backing this motion picture project is Arthur Godfrey, Frank Parker and Roy Speckler. The picture, however, cannot be made until Mrs. Mitchell, who lives in Virginia, okayes the script.

Jimmy Stewart has expressed a desire to do the picture, but there will be no casting until the script is approved.

"There's not one word of truth in the report that I have sold 'Heaven Knows Mr. Allison' to 20th Century for Clark Gable," said Charlie Feldman. "I suppose because I'm doing 'The Seven Year Itch' at that studio with Marilyn Monroe this rumor started. Matter of fact Eugene and I have already discussed with Gary Cooper the possibility of his playing the lead in 'Heaven Knows Mr. Allison' and we hope to get him."

So let me say again that Clark's first will be "Soldiers of Fortune" with Grace Kelly.

Somebody told Clark that of all the men in Grace's life she had liked him the best. Clark's reply was, "I don't believe it. I'm twice as old as she is."

Dan O'Herlihy's "Robinson Crusoe" is a one-man show. The entire picture was made in Mexico and took six months. Dan tells me much of the picture was shot without sound because he went into such a deep jungle it was impossible to take sound tracks.

Later, the voices were dubbed in. O'Herlihy is completely alone on the screen for 60 of the film's 90 minutes.

Daniel Defoe's classic hasn't been changed, only it's better than any of its film predecessors.

It shows Robinson Crusoe alone as a young man and then later as a grown man with only his dog for a companion. His man Friday doesn't enter until the end.

Just before Gregory Peck took off for the High Sierras and June Lake with his two oldest sons, he stopped by my house to see me. He said he and the kids were taking frying pans, food and all sorts of camping paraphernalia.

Said Greg, "The two boys want to camp and live outdoors, but I'm told it's pretty cold, so we will probably live in a cabin. The little boys, age nine and seven, can hardly wait to rough it."

Greg leaves in about two weeks, but he'll return after he finishes "Moby Dick" for John Huston.

The bounce of the rubber ball comes from its elasticity, which is the ability of rubber to restore itself to shape after it has been deformed.

Actress Facing Narcotics Count

Marie McDonald Was Arrested After Hitting 4 Other Cars

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (INS)—Hard-luck screen beauty Marie (the Body) McDonald faces a charge of driving a car while under the influence of narcotics in the latest incident in a chain of misfortunes that has dogged her for years.

In a jail tantrum after her arrest late yesterday, she screamed, kicked and bit policemen and shouted at her estranged husband, wealthy Harry Karl, that "you caused all this."

She was released to Karl without bond and is to appear in the Beverly Hills Municipal Court tomorrow to answer the narcotics charge plus the added accusations of misdemeanor hit-and-run driving and driving without a license.

The 30-year-old blonde was jailed after she sideswiped three cars and crashed into the rear of a fourth as she drove along Camden Drive in Beverly Hills.

Arresting officers took her to the Receiving Hospital for examination for drugs when they said they noticed she was acting peculiarly.

Police Chief C. H. Anderson said the star told him she took six mebutal and several tablets after a meeting with her attorney, Bentley Ryan, over "matrimonial troubles."

She and Karl, a shoe manufacturer, separated recently but reconciled a few days later. Her statement to Anderson indicated that the marriage is off again.

Vietminh Radio Reports 9,200 Men Annihilated

HONG KONG (INS) — The Communist Vietminh Radio claimed today the Red rebels in Indochina had "annihilated" 9,200 French Union troops between May 7 and June 15.

The broadcast heard in Hong Kong said the Vietminh also had captured 80 posts along the whole Viet Nam battlefield.

The period covered by the claim includes the fall of the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

President Rene Coty said after the performance he was sorry he was unable to tell Miss Bergman how much he had been moved by her characterization of the legendary French heroine.

Red Radio Blames U.S. for Revolution

LONDON (AP)—Moscow's newspapers joined in a bitter new propaganda blast today against the United States, accusing it of touching off the fighting in Guatemala.

The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda also renewed the perennial Russian theme that the United States is conspiring to start a new world war.

Moscow radio quoted articles from Pravda, Izvestia and Trud blaming the United States for the Guatemalan fighting.

"No matter how U.S. propaganda distorts the facts," Pravda asserted, "the whole world sees that the armed attack on Guatemala has been instigated, prepared and carried out by the U.S. ruling circles who are using their hirelings for this purpose."

"Before world public opinion, American ruling circles stand exposed as aggressors against little Guatemala."

Eden Wins Military Cross; One Wife Sad, One Happy

(Editor's note: Anthony Eden's little known heroic exploit in World War I is detailed in the following second chapter of a three-part series on Britain's foreign secretary.)

By MILTON L. KALPAN

LONDON (INS) — Anthony Eden was born with an oversized silver spoon in his mouth and an overpowering political heritage.

Through his mother, Eden could trace his ancestry back through one prime minister, Lord Grey, and dozens of titled aristocrats.

On his father's side, the Eden line is studded with history-makers going back centuries—in the 18th Century one Eden was a member of Parliament, two brothers were ambassadors and another royal governor of Maryland.

But there never had been an Eden quite like Sir William, Anthony's father.

In the Doric grandeur of Windstone Hall, in Durham County, where Edens had dwelled for nearly 400 years, Sir William ruled like a medieval monarch, exercising his whims and his uncontrollable temper.

The "bloody Baronet," as he was known in Durham, terrified family and neighbors alike.

Once he ripped from the wall a barometer set "fair," hurled it out the window into the rain and roared, "There, you damned fool—see for yourself!"

From his father, who died in 1915, Eden inherited the love for water colors and 100 fancy waistcoats, which started him along the road to being a latter-day Beau Brummel. But he inherited little of his father's character.

Anthony, according to his mother, Lady Sybil, one of the most beautiful women of her time, "was always the quiet one."

When World War I came he was commissioned a lieutenant in the King's Royal Rifle Corps and sent to France, where he grew a mustache to avoid the jibes at his youth. He was a captain at 19.

On Aug. 14, 1916, field grey German hordes were pounding away at the British lines in the battle of Ypres. A British sergeant was hit and lay writhing in pain in no-man's land.

Eden crept out from his trench under bursts of German machinegun fire, reached the sergeant, applied a tourniquet and dragged the man back to the trench.

For his valor Eden was awarded the Military Cross.

The next day, he wrote in a letter to his mother, "Another bit of bad luck. My new platoon sergeant has been badly hit in the thigh. He was very brave about it, poor man, but I'm afraid he suffered terribly."

There was no mention of his rescue, and he rarely has spoken about it. But once, many years later he admitted, "My personal terror was quite inexpressible."

Back from the war, where at 21 he had become the youngest brigade major in the British army, Eden resumed his career.

Eden's first wife was Beatrice Helen Beckett, the dark, attractive daughter of a banker and publisher. They married on Nov. 5, 1923.

From 1926 to 1929 he was parliamentary private secretary to Sir Austen Chamberlain, who was then foreign secretary. He became foreign undersecretary in 1931, lord privy seal in 1934, then minister for League of Nations affairs, and in 1935, foreign secretary. At 38, he was the youngest British foreign secretary in a century.

Helen Eden campaigned with her husband in that first election and she still was campaigning for him 22 years later in 1945.

But two years later Mrs. Eden left her husband and went to the United States. Eden obtained a divorce in June 1950, on grounds of desertion.

Eden risked his political career again two years later when he married Clarissa Churchill, 31-year-old daughter of Sir Winston's only brother, Jack.

The Church of England, the established church, officially frowns on the marriage of divorced persons. No Church of England minister would marry Eden, despite a personal plea by Sir Winston to the Archbishop of Canterbury. Eden and Clarissa Churchill were wed in the Caxton Hall registry office in London in an eight-minute civil ceremony.

Not long after the wedding Eden became ill and last year underwent three operations, including one in Boston, for gall bladder trouble. It was nearly four months before he returned to duty.

In the meantime, he had become very thin and very gray.

Another difficulty for Mrs. Eden is that she is shy and does not take easily to public life.

But, unlike the first Mrs. Eden, Clarissa Churchill could see exactly what the future would bring when she married.

Chou En-lai Set to Quit Geneva

Red Chinese Delegate to Leave for Meeting With Nehru

GENEVA (AP)—Red China's Chou En-lai—last of the big-name figures still at the Far Eastern conference—prepared today to quit Geneva and leave the parley mainly to the French and the warring Indo-Chinese factions.

Reports from New Delhi said Chou will stop off in the Indian capital en route home for a huddle with Prime Minister Nehru. The Indochina peace problem was expected to loom large in their talks. Indian sources said Chou and his party were scheduled to leave Geneva Wednesday morning, arriving in New Delhi on Thursday.

By the time Chou departs, direct talks between the warring parties in Indochina probably will be arranged, and the major military problems of halting the conflict will be in their hands.

Another secret session of the full nine-party conference was scheduled for this afternoon. France's delegations hoped by then to have arrangements completed for the additional direct military talks, including one of French, Vietnamese and Laotian representatives, and the other of Vietnamese and Cambodians.

Problems of a cease-fire in Viet Nam already are being negotiated by French and Vietnamese military leaders here.

After the other top diplomats left Sunday, Chou stayed on for private talks with representatives of Laos and Cambodia. Finally, he brought them together last night with Pham Van Dong, vice premier of the Communist-led Vietnamese.

No information leaked out immediately from these latter talks, but the fact that representatives of the two kingdoms agreed to meet with the enemy was a radical departure from the early days of the conference when neither side would recognize the other.

Because of the influence of the Japanese currents, sections of the Alaska coast have temperatures that seldom fall below zero in winter.

Technical Information Will Be Unclassified

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The man who helps the Atomic Energy Commission decide what technical information should remain secret predicts that "it is inevitable that peacetime nonweapons technical information will in time be essentially completely unclassified."

In fact, declared Dr. James G. Beckerley, director of classification for the AEC, "at the present time it is apparent that a restrictive policy on the publication of nonweapons technology is of questionable value," because of demonstrated Russian progress in the weapons field.

The drug sarsaparilla comes from dried roots of several kinds of smilax plants that grow in Central and South America and Mexico.

300 District Boy Scouts Join Agawam Camporee

Despite thunderstorms that upset schedules and ripped down decorations, the Pontiac Boy Scout District's weekend camporee at Camp Agawam was termed a success.

Some 300 boys from 20 troops and explorer posts took part in the biggest camporee ever held in the district.

Camporee Director Robert N. Webb said the Indian-style program was given an authentic touch by articles provided by Cranbrook Institute of Science and Pontiac Motor Division.

The Institute loaned Indian relics for a camp museum and Pontiac Motor provided two totem poles and a Chief Pontiac statue.

High winds and thundershowers Saturday afternoon sent the Scouts running to double-check ropes and tent stakes of teepees and tents dotting the camp grounds. Five large teepees used as a

Resume Hearing on Food License

Proposed Courthouse Site, Sunday Sale Ban on City Agenda

Pontiac City commissioners will continue their hearing on the revocation of the food license of the Honey Bee restaurant, 19 W. Pike St., tonight.

Last week they heard three hours of testimony from police officers, regarding disturbances there. Police Chief Herbert F. Straley has requested that the license issued to owner Frank C. Monnett be revoked, charging the restaurant is a "hangout" and the site of numerous fights.

Witnesses in defense of the owner will be called tonight.

Annexation of the Waterford Township site picked for the proposed county courthouse will be the subject of reports by City Manager W. K. Willman and City Attorney William A. Ewart.

The 111-acre site lies between Telegraph road and the city's West boulevard boundary.

Also scheduled is the second reading of an ordinance prohibiting the Sunday sale of furniture and household appliances, including radios, television sets and carpeting and linoleum.

If passed, the ordinance would not apply to "work of necessity and charity" or to persons who observe Saturday as the Sabbath, and don't do business on that day.

Action was deferred on the ordinance last week when commissioners failed to receive the customary copies to examine. A communication concerning the rezoning to commercial classification five lots on South Woodward Avenue adjacent to St. Joseph's Hospital also will be considered.

Rendon May Be in Rebel Army

Is Man Who Predicted Guatemala Revolution in June 10 Letter

By JULIUS GOLDEN
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Joseph Rendon, who disclosed Guatemala's revolutionary D-day eight days before the battle trumpet sounded, today was somewhere in Central America with warring political exiles.

Although his exact whereabouts remained unknown, all indications were that the former New Mexico congressional candidate was working closely with exiled "liberation army" leaders either in Guatemala or Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

Rendon disclosed the exile's invasion plan in a letter postmarked June 10 from Honduras. Written to an Albuquerque friend, it said:

"Plans are to start an invasion for the weekend of the 13th which means your pal will be in the middle of blood and thunder about Friday, Saturday or Sunday, June 18, 19, 20."

The invading forces stormed into Guatemala June 18.

Rendon during World War II, was an OSS agent in Central America for the United States. He stayed in Guatemala after the war and later returned to New Mexico. In 1952, he attempted to gain the Democratic nomination for land commissioner but was disqualified when it was discovered he was a registered Republican. He was defeated in his bid for the Republican nomination in the New Mexico primary last May 4.

He is believed to be highly regarded by the Guatemalan exiles. It was reported last week Rendon was aboard a plane which dropped pamphlets over Guatemala City several weeks ago, forcing a closing of the airways. Rendon said, "That is a fact I can neither confirm nor deny."

In Washington, the State Department said it "looks with disfavor" on any U.S. citizen who gets involved in the Guatemala civil uprising. In its most drastic action, the U.S. government could cancel the passport of a U.S. citizen fighting as a soldier of fortune. This would remove the protection of the United States in the event of capture.

Otherwise, except for censure, there is little the United States can do.

Cartoonists Invite Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has accepted an invitation of the National Cartoonists Society to attend its breakfast here June 24.

ARRANGE DISPLAY — Jim Spring of 101 Illinois Ave. (left) and Bruce Gillies of 329 Michigan Ave., members of Explorer Post 13, arrange Indian articles loaned to camporee officials by Cranbrook Institute of Science. ### Flying Twins Sentenced to Year in Prison

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The flying twins, denied bail, were grounded in jail today waiting for counsel to appeal their conviction on federal charges of forcibly interfering with a government officer.

George and Charles Finn, 40, accused of placing the U. S. attorney here under citizens' arrest, were sentenced yesterday to a year in prison. U. S. District Judge Edward P. Murphy chided them for "utter disregard of the due process of law."

The Finns became embroiled with the government when they purchased a war surplus C-46 from Vineland school district, near Bakersfield. The government contended the school district lacked authority to sell the ship and filed suit to quit title.

There followed a long period of legal fencing between the Finns and the government for possession of the plane, and finally the twins publicly took U. S. Atty. Laughlin Waters into custody last Jan. 21. They claimed the government had deprived them of their civil rights.

The government retaliated by charging the Finns with conspiracy and forcibly interfering with a government officer.

Yank Pitching Undecided for Series With Tigers

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

While the New York Yankees stagger five games off the pace, the Cleveland Indians confidently awaited an invasion by the Philadelphia A's tonight. In fact, they weren't greatly concerned about the A's. The weekend series with the Yankees occupied their thoughts.

Casey Stengel's New Yorkers also were thinking about the big Indian series on tap. But they were far from confident. If anything they were skeptical at the thought of running head-on into Al Lopez' tough Tribe.

This is the year Lopez has been waiting for. No one in Cleveland thinks the club will fold as it has an annoying habit of doing in the late stages of the race. Silenced are the critics who have been howling for Lopez' scalp because he insisted on Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia both as starters and relievers.

Now, when the stretch run comes Lopez will have a couple of good relievers to send in when the going gets hot. Both Don Mossi and Ray Narleski have filled a big void in the bullpen.

The club knows it can win and thinks it can.

As for the Yankees, Stengel is saving his aces, Allie Reynolds, Whitey Ford and Ed Lopat for the Indians, but he doesn't know who is going to take the hill today against the Detroit Tigers, ordinarily a club the Yanks hit well against.

Jim McDonald probably will start, but he's not feeling right. He says he'll be glad to go "But I don't know if I can finish." The pitching situation of the defending champions is so acute they recalled Bob Wiesler from Kansas City yesterday, despite his far-from-sensational 1-3 record.

Besides McDonald, Stengel doesn't have a first-line pitcher to throw at the Tigers. He said Wiesler will start one of the games, and he may be forced to send Tom Gorman to the firing line in the other. Gorman has been so undependable that Stengel hasn't even used him in relief lately.

In the National League, the first place New York Giants pulled a game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers with an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. This was the only major league game scheduled yesterday. Willie Mays hit two home runs, but the Giants still required the services of three pitchers—Jim Hearn, Windy McCall and Marv Grissom—to dump the Redbirds.

In recent weeks the Giants have been whipping the top contenders, while the Dodgers have been drubbing the second-raters. Leo Durocher's team eventually will catch up with the Brooks in the number of games played against the second division clubs and will be given an opportunity to widen the spread.

Sacrifice Fly Helps Several Over .300 Mark

Hodges Leads Majors With 8; House Among Those Aided

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (U)—The sacrifice fly, revived after 14 years to boost baseball's batting averages, is doing the job in a big league way.

An Associated Press survey showed today that the restored rule generally has increased hitting percentages three points over what they would have been were the regulation not in effect.

A total of 314 sacrifice flies have been hit in the majors, lifting the overall average in both circuits from .257 to .260. The National League has accounted for 160 SF's and the American 154.

Three players—Gil Hodges of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Milwaukee and Mickey Vernon of Washington—owe their better-than-.300 averages largely to the sacrifice fly.

Hodges, the Dodgers' strapping first baseman, has hit the most sacrifice flies in the major leagues, eight. He is 11 points to the good, with a current mark of .309. He would be batting .298 under last year's rules.

Pafko, with four sacrifice flies, is batting .303 and Vernon, also with four, is at .301. Andy without his sacrifice fly total would be at .297 and Vernon at .296.

Others who show a decided profit from sacrifice flies are Al Rosen of the Indians, Red Schoendienst and Ray Jablonski of the Cardinals, Frank House of the Tigers, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, Grady Hamner of the Phillies, Gus Bell of the Redlegs and Sid Gordon of the Pirates.

State Senior Links Title Round Begins

FLINT (U)—Annual Michigan Senior Golf Assn. spring tournament gets under way at Flint today with the 1st of two 18-hole rounds.

Final round will be played tomorrow.

Play in the 36-hole tourney is based on a handicap in several divisions starting at players who are 50. Winners will be decided both for low gross and low net scores.

Some 120 players took part in a warmup best-ball tournament yesterday. Dr. D. J. Jaffar and M. T. Patterson, of Detroit, won low gross honors with a one-over-par 73.

Low net honors ended in a tie. O. C. Frost and C. B. Johnson, of Detroit and C. J. Strobel and P. E. Allen of Port Huron, turned in 69s.

Tigers End 2 Days Respite

Return to Action Today in Start of Three-Tilt Series With Yanks

DETROIT (U)—It was back into action today for the Detroit Tigers after a much needed two-day rest.

A doubleheader series finale with Philadelphia was rained out Sunday and the Tigers had an off-day yesterday.

New York Yankees invade Briggs Stadium today for a three-game series that is important for both teams.

Manager Casey Stengel's world champions are busy closing the gap that separates them from the top of the league. The Yankees now are only five games behind league-leading Cleveland and one game back of the Chicago White Sox. They are 10½ games ahead of the 4th place Tigers.

The series is a crucial one for the Tigers too, since a sweep of the three games by New York could well send the Bengals sliding into the 2nd division.

Tigers, who have won only two of eight games from the Yankees this year, are perched precariously in fourth place 15½ games behind Cleveland and only a single game ahead of the Washington Senators.

Joe Frazier of Oklahoma City led the Texas League in batting in the 1953 season with a mark of .332.

Hodges Takes Over Lead in Balloting

CHICAGO (U)—Gil Hodges of Brooklyn toppled Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati from the lead for the National League's first base position in the All-Star baseball poll today.

The 30-year-old Hodges took over with a total of 58,327 votes to Kluszewski's 56,492.

The ballots will name starting lineups for the annual inter-league game in Cleveland July 13. Voting ends July 3.

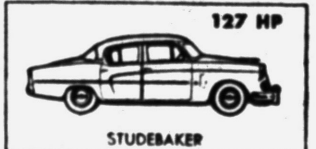

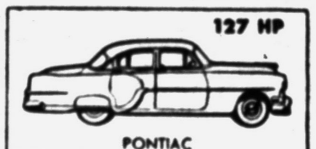

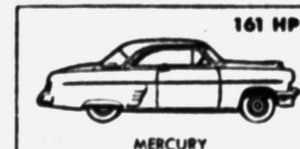

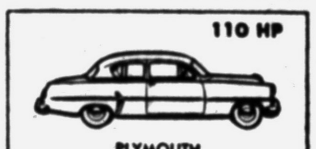

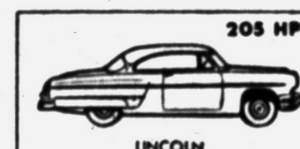

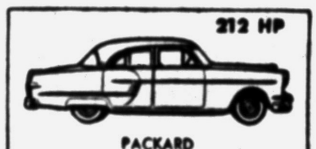

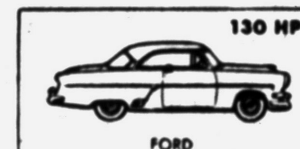

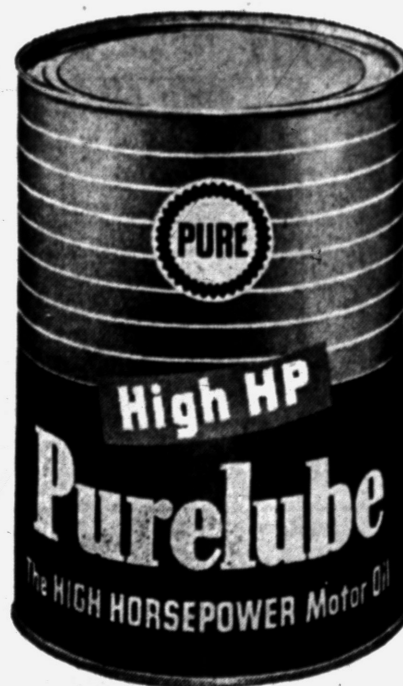

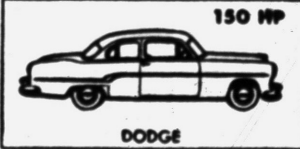

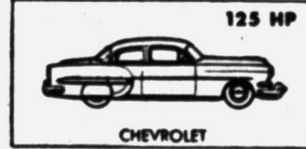

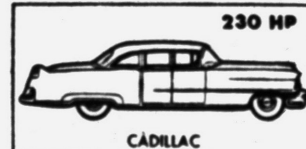

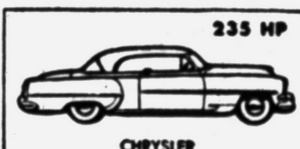

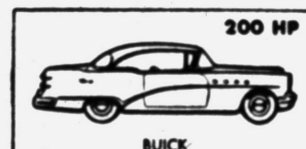

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals continued to lead individual vote-getters with a total of 71,414.

There have been 142 no-hit games in the major leagues since 1876.

Hal Boyle Says:

Enchanting 'Drinks' Offer Hal Chance to Remember

PARIS (U)—It was twilight, my favorite hour in Paris, when I came to dear old Le Petit Pied Chaud, my favorite left bank sidewalk cafe, and sat down wearily in my favorite chair.

"Will m'sieu have a bit of his favorite wine?" inquired Macques, my favorite old sommelier (we call him "Mac"), who paints postcards for tourists in his off hours. Clean postcards, too—not a speck of dust on them.

"At the moment, Macques, I don't know which is my favorite wine," I confessed. "My mood is mixed."

"Perhaps m'sieu desires the crimson excitement of Burgundy, or the nutbrown wonder of Anjou," suggested Macques. "Does the burrled sunshine of Bordeaux call to m'sieu, or the crunchy goodness of Alsace? No? Perhaps, then, the clangor of Cotes du Rhone?"

"Ah, no, Macques, I do not wish to be difficult, but their sounds pull upon my palate."

"No, Macques, I am weary of all known pleasures. A million taxi horns resound in my ears, and I have barely escaped death this day from 10,000 maddened bicyclists. I feel insecure. Have you no wines that will wipe away the present, bring back my youth and summon up sweet remembrances of things past?"

"Ah yes, but two brands in all our cellar," said Macques. "They are very rare. But I do not like to see you troubled, and since you are a true connoisseur I will bring you them."

"Well, bring me a glass of each," I said. "I might as well be broke as feel the way I do."

When he put the glasses before me, the rising aroma swept the air with softness. I sipped from one glass, and remembered the day I ran crying to my mother and she put a bandage on my knee. I tasted the other glass. The vision of my curly-haired kindergarten sweetheart swam before me. Swell kid, even if she did have to marry her way out of grammar school.

With each sip the barnacles of time fell away from me, and when old Macques came to pick up the empty glasses I felt as warm and happy and young as a grasshopper in a hayfield.

"They are marvelous," I told him.

"How about selling me a couple of bottles to take back to America?"

"Impossible! It is a sacrilege even to suggest such a thing. If Americans knew there were such wines they would come here in such numbers as to crowd all France."

"At least let me have the corks as souvenirs," I begged. Macques agreed—for a fee.

"Do not show them here where the other patrons can see them," he said when he returned. He slipped two small objects in my hand. I got up, strolled casually around the corner, and there, under a lamplight, studied the two tin caps in my fingers.

One said "Coca-Cola." The other said "Pepsi Cola."

Detroit Gets Probation for Nighttime Breakin

Three years probation and $200 costs were imposed on Lawrence Piskowski, 18, when he appeared before Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Piskowski, of 1835 Keystone St., Detroit, pleaded guilty June 11 to breaking into a Pleasant Ridge home at 18 Poplar St. and stealing $10 worth of jewelry. He was stopped on suspicion by Detroit police and arrested when they found the jewelry.

Grains Falter, Mart Drifts

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains faltered after getting off to a firm start on the board of trade today. Buying power noticeable at the opening quickly slackened, after which the market was allowed to drift.

Only commodity to show real eagerness was soybeans, in which the July future dropped a couple of cents at one time. Visible supply in soybeans declined only 115,000 bushels at Chicago during the past week, which apparently was something of a disappointment to holders of July futures.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher, July $1.92, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, July $1.57 1/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, July 73 1/4, rye 1/4 higher, July $3.79 and land 2 cents lower to 28 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $16.05.

Two College Professors Visit Plants

Two university professors this week will observe engineering and manufacturing techniques at the General Motors' Pontiac, and Truck & Coach divisions.

They are participating in the GM conference for engineering educators as guests of GM Vice President Charles A. Chayne, in charge of engineering staff, and John J. Cronin, in charge of manufacturing staff.

The conference is a major phase of GM educational relations activities to develop closer working relationships between educators and industry.

The professors visiting Pontiac are from a group representing 16 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

They are Associate Professor James L. Leach of the University of Illinois, assigned to Pontiac Motor Division, and Associate Professor Paul G. Hausman of the University of Kansas, who will work with GMC Truck & Coach.

Prof. Leach teaches courses in metal casting, material processing and welding. His industrial experience has been with GM's Central Foundry division and Pacific Bridge Co.

Prof. Hausman, chairman of Kansas University's department of engineering shop practices, teaches courses in general engineering, heat treatment of metals, foundry technology and special welding problems.

He is author of a number of shop manuals and has had earlier industrial experience with the Diley Aircraft Corp., Lincoln Electric Corp. and GM's Fisher Body division.

Stolen Suitcase Contains 60-Lb., 10-Foot Python

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Someone sneaked a suitcase from a car in front of a hotel here yesterday, probably thinking it was full of suits, but what he actually sneaked was a snake. And what a snake!

Harry Albacker, a traveling entertainer, said the suitcase contained a 60-pound, 10-foot python he uses in his act. He said he had just fed the snake and that it probably won't move until it gets hungry in a couple of days. He said he would remain in Hagerstown awhile in hopes his snake turns up.

Engineers, Handy With Slide Rule, Don't Govern

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The new president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers says that engineers do all sorts of things with the slide rule but do next to nothing about governing their country. A. C. Monteith of Pittsburgh told the institute's convention yesterday that only 2 of 96 senators are engineers and none of the 48 governors is an engineer. One outstanding exception, he said, is Charles Wilson, secretary of defense.

New Pumping Station Operating at Vicksburg

VICKSBURG (AP)—John H. McCarthy, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, pushed a button Monday, starting a $15 million pumping station of the Wolverine Pipeline Co. into operation at Vicksburg. The pumping station serves a 295-mile-long pipe line running from Hammond, Ind., to Detroit and Toledo, Ohio. The 16-inch line is capable of handling four million gallons of petroleum products daily. Wild canaries cannot sing as well as tamed birds.

Fears Reds May Stage About-Face at Geneva

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith was reported today to fear that the Communist negotiators at Geneva may stage a dramatic about-face and offer Indochina peace concessions, perhaps in an effort to feed neutralist sentiment in France. Smith returned yesterday after seven weeks as chief U. S. delegate at the Asian peace conference. The under secretary was said to be drafting a gloomy report for President Eisenhower.
