Tough Schedule Confronts State Legislature

The FBI Story

Teddy's 'Stick' Was the Lever That Lifted FBI

(Editor's Note: The following article is the third in a series of excerpts from the book "The FBI Story," by Don Whitehead. Today's account is one of 30 chapters about the fabulous history of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, appearing daily in The Pontiac Press.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

The crusade in which the Federal Bureau of Investigation had its beginning on July 26, 1908, was President Theodore Roosevelt's fight to curb the "public be damned" greed of big business combines and to halt the outrageous thievery of public lands in the western states.

From the time he entered the White House in September, 1901, Roosevelt was roaring against political and business corruption and demanding stronger federal controls over the excesses of the rich and powerful.

He was thumping heads with his "big stick," and he sometimes included heads in Congress.

There was ample reason for the Rooseveltian roars. There was, in truth, a "mess in America."

There was a mess in which the industrial combines, the "trusts," were flouting the Sherman Antitrust Act and in effect thumbing their noses at the federal government and the people.

There was a mess, too, in which men of high repute were conniving with federal officials to rob the government of valuable land in the West, where almost 40 million acres had been set aside by previous administrations as forest reserves.

This green and tempting treasure was supposedly being watched over by a government agency, the General Land Office, which was more interested in selling land for private use than it was in Roosevelt's policy of conservation.

The thieves were busily dipping into this treasury even as Roosevelt took office after the assassination of President McKinley.

Roosevelt was determined to halt the thievery and the antitrust violations.

But in the midst of his fight Congress suddenly balked at the Department of Justice's use of "detectives" in its investigations and passed an amendment to the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act, which left the department without an investigative arm with which to collect evidence for prosecutions.

Roosevelt was furious. But his fury could be understood only against the background of what had happened in the past.

After the Civil War, Congress had passed several laws encouraging homesteading and making it possible for families and individuals to buy land and settle in the West.

One of these laws was the Timber and Stone Act of 1878, which provided for the sale of lands in California, Oregon, Nevada, and the Washington Territory.

The lands were considered unfit for cultivation, but they were covered with virgin forests worth millions.

Enforcement of the land law was lax. People fenced public lands—sometimes innocently—for their own use. Others bought huge acreages through fraudulent schemes to turn a quick and easy profit in resales to lumber companies.

Anthony Eden Resigns Post

London Speculates on Night Confab of Queen With Prime Minister

LONDON (INS) — British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden resigned tonight.

LONDON (INS) — Speculation arose today that British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden may be resigning or at least making a major Cabinet shuffle.

The swiftly-rising speculation was based on the news that Queen Elizabeth II undoubtedly had left Sandringham House in Norfolk for London by Automobile this noon.

The Queen went to Sandringham on Dec. 21 for the Christmas holidays and at that time it was said she would remain until some time the last week in January.

Sir Anthony and his wife returned to his home and office at No. 10 Downing Street in London from Sandringham by train at noon after what official circles continued to insist was a "routine" overnight visit with Her Majesty.

Eden had been under pressure by Laborites and some of his own Conservative Party members to resign since the ill-fated invasion of Egypt.

The Queen's sudden change of plans and lack of any official explanation from the palace caused speculation to center on Eden's own future.

Wins U.S. Senate Position

Vessel Escapes Clogged-Up Suez

OUT TO SEA — The second of 13 ships to steam out to sea from Port Said was the Liberian-registered tanker "Statue of Liberty," pictured yesterday as it left the embattled Suez Canal. Vessels of seven nations were caught in the international waterway by the British-French invasion and Egyptian countermeasures. With the Southern portion of the canal still blocked, the south-bound ship was turned around by tugs for the trip back north.

Prize Job Goes to Kennedy, Not Kefauver

Estes Holds Seniority but Is Squeezed Out for Committee Spot

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) has been selected over Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) for a prized post on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Senate Democratic Steering Committee picked the 39-year-old New Englander despite the fact that Kefauver held seniority and also had applied for the Democratic vacancy on the group.

Outcome of the fight for the foreign affairs job was a direct reversal of the Democratic national convention last summer when Kefauver squeezed out Kennedy for the vice-presidential nomination.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, in announcing the committee assignments, said that vacancies were filled with the idea of trying to give each region representation on a major committee as well as on the basis of qualification and seniority.

Johnson said the steering committee also sought to give each Senator a major committee post.

Kefauver, who is now on the Armed Services and Judiciary Committees, said of the action passing him over for the Foreign Relations Committee:

"I am disappointed. Of course I do not blame Sen. Kennedy for trying to better his position. I am interested to learn that seniority is a rule that may or may not be applied in determining questions."

Asked if he would carry his fight for a seat on the Foreign Relations Committee to the Senate floor, Kefauver replied: "This is the first I have heard about it (the assignment). I haven't made any plans (for a floor fight). I haven't anything further to say."

The appointments must be confirmed by the Senate but this usually is a routine matter.

Kefauver has applied at the start of other Congresses for a post on the Foreign Relations Committee without success.

Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-RI) formally was named chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee by the steering unit, succeeding Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) who resigned his Senate seat.

Accused

JOHN R. McALPINE

McAlpine Mute on 'Hate Letters'

Innocent Plea Entered for GOP Leader After 2-Count Indictment

A 41-year-old Pleasant Ridge man and 1956 Republican campaign worker stood mute yesterday when arraigned on two counts arising from a Federal Grand Jury investigation of Detroit's "racial hate letters" mystery.

A plea of innocent was entered for John R. McAlpine, 29 Cambridge Blvd., a former Detroit advertising man and 1952 state GOP campaign manager.

McAlpine was indicted yesterday morning on two counts involving the alleged distribution of 6,000 letters sent to Detroit Negroes urging them to vote Democratic Nov. 6 because "the Democratic party keeps the colored in their place."

One count charged he caused anonymous campaign material to be distributed and the other that he caused it to be distributed in interstate commerce.

If convicted, McAlpine faces a maximum sentence of up to one year in prison and a fine of up to $1,000 for each misdemeanor charge.

State Republican Chairman John Feikens today described McAlpine as "sincere, honest, hard - working and completely trustworthy."

"I believe he is innocent of the charge made," Feikens said. "He has a fine record of service in World War II, in many civic projects and is a loyal citizen."

Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman will hear the case.

Solons Convene in 1957 Session at Capitol Today

Major Financial Issues Will Be Taken Up by Lawmakers

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Legislature formally convened its 1957 session at noon today, faced with one of the toughest financial problems in years.

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart brought the gavel down in the Senate sharply at noon. Clerk Norman E. Philleo followed suit in the House four minutes later.

In the Senate, only Sens. Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing) and Charles T. Prescott (R-Prescott) were absent for the opening session. Hittle is ill and Prescott suffered from smoke inhaled in a hotel room fire earlier in the day.

In the 110-member House, only Rep. Clyde E. Cooper (R-White

Cloud) missed the opening roll call. Cooper is recuperating from injuries received in an automobile accident.

The lawmakers are expected to stay in session only until Thursday afternoon, following Gov. Williams' opening address to the Legislature.

They are then expected to take a 10-day recess in order to permit a recount in an upper peninsula senatorial race.

Rep. George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) wielded the gavel as speaker of the House.

Van Peursem, 44-year-old lawyer starting his fourth term, won the top post in the House by defeating Rep. Rollo G. Conlin, Tipton farmer, in a close contest.

The Republican caucus gave Van Peursem the nod last night by a vote of 34 to 26. His selection then was made unanimous.

Chairmanship to Sen. Lodge

Drayton Plains Man Accepts Post to Head Elections Committee

Oakland County's State Senator L. Harvey Lodge was named chairman of the Senate's elections committee today as the organization of the Legislature got underway.

LODGE

Lodge, 54, of 6610 Longworth St., Drayton Plains, is no stranger to the state capital. He served a term in the legislature in 1947-48.

Yesterday he took the post formerly held by Clyde F. Geerlings, (R-Holland). He will also serve on committees for conservation, and veterans affairs.

Under long standing custom, all committee chairmanships went to Republicans, who control the upper chamber 23 to 11.

Sen. Lynn O. Francis of Midland was promoted to the chairmanship of the corporations committee, replacing former Sen. William S. Broomfield of Royal Oak, who went to Congress representing the 18th district.

Lodge won the senate post vacated by Broomfield in the November election, amassing 138,559 votes to opponent Fred Elias' 108,975.

Eye-Witnesses Testify in Killing

To Arraign Rash on Murder Count

Four eye-witnesses testified yesterday they saw a Rochester man shoot his wife to death as she returned from a weekend of drinking.

L. J. Rash, 52, of 313 Woodward Ave. was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court after testimony was examined before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

Rash was remanded to jail, where he has been held since the shotgun shooting early Nov. 26. He will be arraigned on a first-degree murder charge before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

The four witnesses testified they were with the wife, Nina, 48, during the weekend. They had returned home to the Rash home about 2:30 a.m. Monday morning, they said, and Mrs. Rash was opening the front screen door.

Rash opened the inside door, they testified, with the shotgun in his hand, saying, "I've had enough of this." Then he fired once, striking his wife in the chest, they testified.

Rash did not testify. A factory worker, he called police and admitted the shooting. Explaining his wife had a record of "running around," he said: "I couldn't stand it any more. Killing her was better than letting her break up other homes."

He said earlier he fired when his wife refused to order her friends away from the door. This was not mentioned in yesterday's testimony, nor was the point pressed by Rash's counsel.

Assistant prosecutors Walter R. Dennison and Jerome K. Barry brought out the testimony of the wife's friends. They were identified as Evelyn DeLaire, Charles Alverson, Michael Klein, and Russell Harvey.

Blanket Bundling Turns Out to Be Blanket Bungling

DENVER (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Martin confessed somewhat sheepishly today the joke was on them.

Among their Christmas gifts was an electric blanket — a double one, with dual controls.

They quickly put the blanket to use. Mrs. Martin, who shivers more than most, set the control on her side for moderate warmth. Her husband, who's somewhat warmer natured, turned the heat low.

Mrs. Martin subsequently switched on full heat — and shivered. Her husband, growing too warm, turned off the electricity. Finally, they gave up and snuggled back under an old, non-electric blanket.

Daylight came, and examination disclosed the switch on Mrs. Martin's side controlled her husband's share of the blanket, and vice versa.

Owosso Judge Gets Jury Probe in Flint

FLINT (AP)—The one-man grand jury probe into alleged police bribery and corruption in Flint has been placed in the hands of an Owosso circuit judge, serving his first six-year term.

Michael Carland, whose circuit includes Livingston and Shiawassee Counties, was told of his selection yesterday by Meredith H. Doyle, State Supreme Court Administrator.

Judge Carland said he expects to come to Flint Thursday to open the probe. Some 70 subpoenas have been issued for two former high police officials and 68 persons listed as gamblers.

Just in case you missed it yesterday, the 12th answer of this week's Pot-O-Gold puzzle will not be counted in the judging for winners. If you have it right, wrong or leave it blank, it will make no difference. You can still win if you have all the others right.

Mergers Brought Suburbs Into Fold in '56

City of Kalamazoo Expands 2½ Times

KALAMAZOO — In a series of mergers absorbing surrounding suburban areas, the City of Kalamazoo expanded nearly two and one-half times in geographical area in 1956.

The annexations have increased the city's population from 59,000 to 82,000 as the area within the city's boundaries expanded from 9.48 square miles to 23.1 square miles.

Citizen groups in the suburban areas initiated the "grass roots" moves to come into the city.

One motivating factor was the need for municipal services available in the city which could not be easily obtained under the township structure of government geared to once rural areas that have become urbanized centers.

OUTGREW SCHOOLS

Another factor was the need for school facilities in some of the suburbs where soaring enrollments are showing the greatest impact and bringing pressure for more classrooms.

Suburbanites found that school facilities could be obtained at lower cost to the home owning taxpayer as part of the city school system than by remaining as independent school districts with limited sources for financing. This was particularly so in providing high school facilities.

In the last two years seven of 12 suburbs have merged with the City of Kalamazoo. Moves are now under way in two of the remaining five suburbs for annexation, and a similar move is indicated in a third suburb in mid-1957.

Petitions also are in circulation in the City of Parchment at the north limits of Kalamazoo for an election this spring on merger with the City of Kalamazoo.

The mergers were given momentum after a citizens' committee representing a cross-section of the suburbs then in the township made an impartial study of the problems faced by the township and means by which they could best be solved. Findings led the committee to recommend merger of the City of Kalamazoo and Kalamazoo Township into a single community municipality.

This was followed by three suburbs voting annexation which became effective on Jan. 1, 1956, and four more voting to merge later in 1956.

Need More Circuit Judges, Says County Clerk Allen

The need for a fifth circuit judge this year and a sixth within the foreseeable future is seen in figures reflecting Oakland County's booming growth last year, County Clerk Lynn D. Allen said today.

"Our population is just getting too big for four circuit judges," Allen aid.

"The population in 1950 was about 396,000. Today we figure conservatively about 550,000. That's a tremendous increase.

"Although a fourth judge was appointed at the beginning of last year, we're going to need another this year and a sixth one within four years at the most, in order to keep pace with the tremendous load of cases building up."

LYNN D. ALLEN

In examining official county totals for last year's transactions in the clerk's office Allen found that just about everything had increased in volume.

There were almost as many cases pending in court Dec. 31 as were started throughout the year, and the backlog, he said, is expected to grow larger as time goes on.

By this fall, he felt, the advantage gained by having a fourth circuit judge will be buried under the increasing case load.

The figures show 1,999 law cases started in 1956. There were 1,840 pending at year end. There were 612 chancery suits and 2,356 divorce petitions filed. But at the end of the year, there were still 622 and 1,958 cases pending, respectively.

Comparative figures have 1,698 law cases started in 1955, plus 615 chancery suits and 2,334 divorce petitons. There are no figures for the number of cases pending at the end of 1955.

Other county statistics were up. In 1955, there were 9,447 births reported; in 1956, there were 10,830. There were 3,937 deaths in 1955 and 4,419 last year.

During 1955, there were 3,477 marriage licenses issued, while in 1956 there were 3,584.

There were some slightly lower figures last year, too. Only 146 persons were naturalized compared with 193 two years ago. In 1955, there were 1,202 honorable discharges recorded, and last year 906.

The Board of Supervisors met 10 times in 1955, an unusually low figure. Last year, they met 14 times.

sured of ratification when formal legislative organization took place today because Republicans have control over Democrats, 61 to 49.

As the session prepared to get under way with a series of formalities, the only question remaining unanswered was whether Sen. Harold M. Ryan or Sen. John B. Swainson, Detroit Democrats, would emerge as minority Senate leader.

Ryan held the post at the last session.

Nothing of consequence was on the agenda for first legislative meeting, with expectations that it would be consumed by assignment of seats and adoption of routine resolutions.

Introduction of a few bills was a possibility. One of the first slated for presentation was a measure by Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) calling for elevation of Western Michigan College to University status.

It was a foregone conclusion that Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit would be renamed Democratic minority leader in the House.

And Republican senators chose Morris, Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair and Sen. Frank Andrews of Hillman for leadership positions at a pre-session caucus last month.

Morris was returned to his post as majority leader, Beadle was picked as caucus chairman, succeeding Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), an unsuccessful aspirant for Congress, and Andrews was chosen to replace Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing) as president pro tem. Hittle has been ill.

Teddy, 'Big Stick' Spell Birth of FBI

that his own department was involved in the land frauds.

He detected a bad odor in the General Land Office, and he began an inquiry. The attorney general arranged for an agent to resign from the Treasury's Secret Service and take a quiet look behind the scenes in the West.

His suspicions were confirmed when the agent reported that some of the General Land Office's own detectives were so deeply involved in land manipulations that they were actually tools of the land thieves.

Afraid to trust his own people, Hitchcock decided the frauds should be investigated by the Department of Justice. He arranged to "borrow" agents from the Treasury's Secret Service to make the investigation.

CONGRESSMEN NAMED

The roundup in the land-fraud drive was a sensation. Scores of people were indicted and convicted on charges of "conspiracy to defraud the United States out of public lands."

Tens of thousands of acres of public lands were recovered which had been fenced illegally or bought by fraudulent representations.

The shocker came when U. S. Sen. John H. Mitchell and Rep. John N. Williamson, both of Oregon, were charged with conspiracy to defraud. They were indicted in 1905 and convicted, Williamson on his third trial.

It was learned years later that some of the prosecutions were so corrupt and politically tainted that the agents of justice appeared without doubt to be guilty of actions far worse than the crimes charged to the prosecuted.

The chief prosecutor in the case was to have been U. S. Atty. John H. Hall, until it was discovered that Hall himself was involved in the illegal fencing of public lands.

Hall was thrown out of office, indicted, convicted and later pardoned because of jury box manipulations.

Sen. Mitchell appealed his convictions but his death came before higher courts had ruled on his guilt. Williamson appealed and won a reversal in the Supreme Court, which led to the subsequent dismissal of the charges.

The Roosevelt administration's use of Secret Service agents in the cleanup campaign came under attack.

Stories were circulated that the President was using detectives to spy into the private lives of members of Congress and to collect information to be held as a political club.

NEVER SUPPORTED

The rumors were never substantiated, but they helped to cast a shadow over the investigative methods used in the land fraud and antitrust cases.

The Secret Service had been organized after the Civil War primarily to combat a wave of counterfeiting of U. S. currency and securities.

Over the years, the Justice Department and other government departments had adopted the policy of "borrowing" agents from the Treasury Department's Secret Service.

But these agents-on-loan continued to report to the chief of the Secret Service. Thus departments for which they were working had no real check on the agents' activities.

This makeshift arrangement continued until May 27, 1908, when Congress forbade the Department of Justice—and all other executive departments—to use Secret Service agents in investigating law violations.

ENFORCEMENT CRIPPLED

The action was a crippling blow to Federal law enforcement and Roosevelt—a former police commissioner of New York — was keenly aware of the fact.

He knew that if the laws of the land were to be enforced, there had to be investigators to gather the evidence of wrongdoing.

Word spread through the Department of Justice that Roosevelt had called Atty. Gen. Charles J. Bonaparte to the White House and directed him to organize an investigative service.

And on July 26, 1908, Bonaparte issued the order creating an investigative agency within his department—the order which was the beginning of the FBI.

One of the new bureau's first drives was against white slavery. Over the objections of many who considered the law an invasion of the states' police powers, Congress in 1910 passed the Mann Act, making it illegal to transport women across state lines for immoral purposes.

The Supreme Court upheld its constitutionality, thus establishing the Federal government's responsibility in controlling interstate crime. Since 1910 FBI investigations have led to more than 15,000 convictions on white slave traffic charges.

Big Brothers Hold Out Friendly Hand, Help Troubled Boys to See True Values

By PETE LOCHBILER

A troubled boy, running afoul of law and authority, suddenly finds acceptance and understanding from a solid businessman, a top executive or an outstanding professional man.

That's how the Big Brother way of curbing juvenile delinquency starts. Friendship is built between man and boy—real, deep friendship lasting sometimes for life.

At the Pontiac office of Oakland County's new Big Brother agency, 15½ E. Lawrence St., executive director William L. Clark explains:

"Give a boy headed for trouble a mature, successful man as a friend to trust and admire. You'll find the boy changing to his friend's socially approved way of life."

That tells in a nutshell, Clark says, what takes usually from nine months to two years to accomplish.

It's accomplished here by a dedicated group of 27 volunteer men who love boys. They want to encourage more men into their group as Big Brothers to help set bad boys straight.

They're using National Big Brother Week, which lasts through Sunday, as an opportunity to call attention to their different approach to juvenile delinquency. Newcomers to the group would find the Big Brother system works like this:

A boy's case is referred to the agency by a social service, juvenile authority, school, or sometimes by a priest or minister. The boy is headed for trouble unless he gets a certain kind of help, the kind Big Brothers give.

"We have a series of conferences with the boy's parents, explaining the Big Brother idea," Clark says. "We make it clear that a Big Brother is only a friend. He's got no legal control over the boy and he's not interested in that.

"He wants only to be a friend, to accept the boy and his problems, to understand and be sympathetic. He's not there to punish or chastise a boy. He just lets the boy know he's got a friend, a good one, and usually an all-important one."

FILLS ROLE OF DAD

Psychologically speaking, Clark explained, the Big Brother fills a role in the boy's life something like a father. In this case, however, his influence is not direct but indirect.

The boy persuades himself to be like his Big Brother. He's not disciplined into doing so.

"If the boy's case is accepted," Clark said, "a Big Brother is chosen who has been thoroughly trained by us and orientated of the problems he'll come up against."

There are three considerations in the Big Brother choice:

Like religion (not denomination); like interests and hobbies; and the distance a Big Brother would have to travel to meet his "little brother." The distance is usually less than 15 minutes driving time, Clark said.

BOY MEETS BROTHER

At a final meeting, the boy is there with his parents. They meet the new Big Brother. He is a well-dressed man, obviously successful, and openly friendly.

His openness is not phony. On the contrary, the Big Brother knows he is about to take on a long, hard task. He won't get paid for it. The reward lies in the possibility that the worried, hostile lad in front of him will someday become a happy, friendly boy.

After the first meeting, the Big Brother drives the parents home and then goes for a ride with the boy. It's the beginning of the hard job of convincing the boy he is willing to become a friend.

"He makes a date to see the boy the following week," Clark said, "and after that the Big Brother is on his own. Usually he sees his friend once a week for an hour and a half. They might attend a sports event, take a hike, go hunting or fishing, or whatever they like to do. Sometimes the boy even goes over to his Big Brother's home to do work around the house—he wants to help his friend."

The boy can get in touch with his Big Brother anytime, day or night, though. If he has problems, the Big Brother has to listen and "accept everything," Clark said. "He doesn't tell the boy what to do. The big thing to a boy is not what his Big Brother does, but what he means emotionally."

However, the cardinal rule in the Big Brother relationship is what makes the present drive for more members so important to the Big Brothers, Clark said.

The rule is: "One man to only one boy."

"This is because a boy wants to feel a Big Brother is his friend and his friend only," Clark said. "The friendship is all-important if it's going to change the boy. He doesn't want to feel he shares it with another boy."

Since the Pontiac office was organized full time last September with Clark as its director, there have been 35 boys accepted. Of that number, two have backtracked and fallen into trouble again.

The agency is affiliated with Big Brothers of America and is partly supported by charitable funds. A part-time branch was here three years.

Refugee Couples in Dual Marriage at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM — A wedding of unusual interest will be performed at the First Baptist Church of Birmingham this evening at 6:30 when two young couples, all Hungarian refugees, are married by The Rev. Emil Kontz, D.D.

The first couple is Miss Terres Papp and Istvan Kerekes. The second couple is Miss Clara Karsai and Szilard Kish. The ceremony will be performed in the Hungarian language.

Ignac Pinter, another Hungarian refugee, will give the brides away. The attending couple, members of the church, will be Mr. and Mrs. Victor Almas, both of whom speak Hungarian.

The young couples arrived in this country, landing at Camp Kilmer, N. J., about three weeks ago. They came to Birmingham last Friday and are making their temporary home with Dr. and Mrs. Kontz.

Hills to Get Machines

Delay in counting paper ballots in the November election brought so many protests that the Bloomfield Hills City Commission last night voted to buy four voting machines for use in the April election.

Van Peursem Rises Swiftly in Politics

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker George M. Van Peursem, genial and athletic looking, said he doesn't consider himself a "conservative" Republican, "but there are some who do."

Smiling and a little excited, the 44-year-old Zeeland lawyer stood amidst a knot of newsmen in the spacious House chamber following his election for the top leadership post last night.

It was the climax to a speedy climb in Michigan politics for the youthful-appearing barrister who left his native state to complete his education and returned here less than eight years ago.

He appraised his place in the Republican political spectrum in response to a reporter's question.

"What about taxes?" a newsman asked. He referred to what many observers expect to prove the No. 1 issue of the session.

"Well," was the reply, "so far you've seen guesses all the way from that we'll need 80 million dollars in new taxes to (Sen. Carlton H.) Morris' statement about no new taxes.

"It's too early to tell."

Van Peursem is identified in many minds for two roles he played last year as chairman of the House Labor Committee and a leading spokesman for Republicans on labor matters.

He spearheaded the successful Rebuplican effort to block steep increases in unemployment benefits sought by Democratic Gov. Williams at the special session beginning last June.

Van Peursem said Michigan benefits already were higher than those of any other state, and besides that the higher taxes needed to support more liberal payments would drive industry out of the state.

During the regular session, Van Peursem carried the ball for his party in a campaign to place restrictions on supplemental unemployment benefit agreements worked out by unions and employers. This failed.

Despite stands on these questions widely received as "anti-labor," Van Peursem nevertheless has friends in labors ranks.

The new speaker, successor to retiring Rep. Wade Van Valkenburg of Kalamazoo, was born in Holland and grew up in western Michigan, attending school in Holland, Kalamazoo and Zeeland.

License Plate Sales Lag as Deadline Draws Near

Sale of 1957 license plates at the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State office is lagging, Willis M. Brewer, branch manager, said today.

"We've sold only 10,000 out of 60,000 since they went on sale in November," Brewer said. "As we do every year, we urge motorists not to wait until the Feb. 28 deadline to get their plates."

The Pontiac office is located at 53 N. Parke St. It is open weekdays from 9 until 5 and on Saturdays from 9 until noon.

Brewer warned motorists not to forget their titles as no plates may be purchased without them.

The Day in Birmingham

Zoning and Alley Closing Issues Draw Big Audience

BIRMINGHAM — Two public hearings here gave city commissioners the largest audience they have had in several weeks.

Action on rezoning the Lambert property on the north side of 14 Mile road, east of Woodward avenue, has drawn sharp line of dissent between the property owners and nearby residents.

The Lamberts desire to have a Business A zoning on the property, while residents object strongly to the idea of large stores or other "active" businesses brought into the area. The clinics, or professional type businesses and churches which now function there are not objected to, however.

After several voiced their opinions, and commissioners heard the planning board recommendations again, urging the latter, or Business C type zoning, they accepted this proposal.

In the second hearing, four out of the six parties concerned with the closing of alleys running east from Elm street in the Adams-Forest-Hazel-Elm section of Campbell's subdivision objected. No action was taken Monday night.

Some claimed that closing the alleys would stop them from using garages at the rear of their properties. It was brought out that the alleys are eyesores to the area and have had but little usage for some time.

City engineers will study the situation this week and see if some arrangement can be made to permit closing the major portion of the alleys, leaving sufficient room for garage approaches. The discussion will be continued next Monday evening.

Dr. Ralph Latt, nuclear scientist, will make his second appearance as a Birmingham Town Hall guest when he speaks Thursday morning at the 11 o'clock program. Like all Town Hall programs, it will take place in the Birmingham theater.

Building in Birmingham took a nose dive for the month of December, when only five new construction permits were issued. Total for the month was 17, including one razing, one moving and 10 alterations to existing buildings.

The year's total shows 607 permits were issued, with September's figure of 91 leading the score. Permits for the year dropped slightly from the 620 issued in 1955. Total figures for the two years were $4,914,370 for 1956, and $5,653,469 for the preceding year.

Square dancing and waltzes have been occupying the feet of skaters at the Eton Park rink lately, bearing out the statement of Virginia Heard, instructor, who says, "anything suitable to the ballroom is suitable to skates."

Rehearsals are starting Thursday for the city's first ice show and excitement is running high.

One small figure makes a lot of difference. Notices sent to interested groups gave Jan. 7 as the public hea.ing date on Birmingham's sign ordinance. It was, however, slated for Jan. 3, and adopted at that time.

Commissioners Monday night promised that, since publication of the ordinance had not yet taken place, making it official, it would be brought up again in another two weeks to give all a chance to be heard.

No heat—no lights—no school.

Derby Junior High School students came up with a half day off yesterday when a trench digger severed the main electric power cable supplying the school while working on landscaping.

The break was repaired and classes are back in session today.

Ex-Patrolman Sexton Charged With Assault in Off-Duty Shooting

Former Pontiac patrolman James B. Sexton, 31, faces trial next week for the drunken, off-duty shooting of two friends almost a year ago.

Sexton's trial, on a charge of felonious assault, has tentatively been set for Jan. 16 before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said.

The officer is charged with wounding Robert K. Stephens, then 30, and Archie McCowen, then 24, with his service revolver in a parked car early Jan. 27.

The only explanation offered by the two men was Sexton went "berzerk" after an all-night drinking spree. Both men recovered.

The trial comes after a long series of legal delays. Sexton, who admitted the shooting, police said, was not fully examined on criminal charges until May 2.

At that time, Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan reduced a charge of attempted murder, ruling there was no intent or malice in the shootings.

Standing mute at his original circuit court arraignment, Sexton later changed his plea to guilty. Before sentencing, he changed his plea again, and on Aug. 9 was freed under $1,000 bond pending a jury trial.

The case was not heard during last fall's jury session.

ITHACA (AP)—Gratiot County sheriff's men and State Police today hunted a man they said enticed an 8-year-old Wheeler girl into his car and raped her while on her way home from school. It was the second crime of its type in Gratiot County since last October.

DETROIT (AP)—Five Greyhound bus drivers rescued seven elderly men from the second floor of a flaming rooming house in downtown Detroit (2215 Lafayette West) early today. The drivers turned volunteer firemen after completing their runs at the nearby Greyhound garage.

Dearborn Man Hurt in Truck-Car Colision

A truck-car collision in Springfield Township last night sent a Dearborn man to Pontiac General Hospital with rib injuries and multiple bruises.

Colin C. Joslyn, 54, operator of the car, is in satisfactory condition today. The truck was driven by Henry Mill, 47, of Flint.

Investigating Pontiac State Police said the accident happened at U.S. 10 and Oakhill road. The truck was reportedly hit from behind by Joslyn as he tried to pass.

Dividends now are taxed in Argentina.

Pontiac City Affairs

Name Willman CD Delegate

City Manager Walter K. Willman last night was appointed as Pontiac's representatvie on the newly-formed Oakland County Civil Defense Council.

The council was established Dec. 20 by the Civil Defense Dept. of the Board of Supervisors. Its primary goal will be to coordinate the various functions and activities pertaining to Civil Defense in the county.

The City Commission approved Willman's appointment at last evening's short meeting which lasted only 28 minutes.

Willman reported that after conference with the police department and traffic engineer, parking has been restored to the west side of East Boulevard between Whittemore and Elm, except during heavy traffic hours of 6 to 8 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m.

This restriction does not apply to Saturday, Sunday, or holidays, Willman said.

At last Tuesday's session, some 25 angry citizens protested the ban along with City Commissioner Gilbert W. Long.

"The friendly armistice has been signed and peace prevails in the east," Willman jokingly told the commissioners.

In other action, commissioners approved a request to be sent to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission asking that a surplus of $34,866 from a $700,000 revenue bond act of 1952 be transferred toward a new fund for the city's planned sewage treatment plant.

WILSON COMMENDATION

The money is the unused portion from the sale of the bonds which financed the present plant off West Boulevard.

A commendation resolution expressing the city's appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson for the gift of their Avon Township estate for an Oakland County branch of Michigan State University, was adopted last evening.

The city manager asked that a request from the State Highway Dept. that the city establish and abandon portions of M-58 at the southern limits of the city, be referred to him for further study.

A new amendment to the personnel rules permitting partial payment to employers of accrued sick time upon retirement, was carried over one week upon the request of City Attorney William A. Ewart.

Thirty school children attended the meeting as part of their civics class training.

Engineer estimates were read by the city clerk and public hearings set for Wednesday, Jan. 16 on the following two-inch blacktop paving projects in the city:

Alton street from Franklin to Motor; Astor street from Maines to Michigan and from Auburn to Pike; Beverly avenue from Laurel to Highwood; Bondale and Cedardale avenues from Earlmoor to Howland; Clinton River drive from the easterly line of Robert Herndon's Pontiac Apartment Subdivision to the westerly line of lot 65 of the subdivision; First avenue from Joslyn to Highwood; Grandie avenue from Baldwin to Kimball; Hazel street from Telegraph to Starr; and Herndon avenue from Clinton River drive to Orchard Lake avenue.

Trades Social Frivolity for Serious Interests

Vanderbilt Concentrates on Public Service

By LEE CARSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Something very curious has happened to the playboys of the Western world—they are quitting the debutante balls for the somber and resounding halls of public service.

The latest is Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, 44-year-old multi-millionaire sportsman and sophisticate. He has sold his stable. He and his beautiful socialite wife were divorced. And he is embarked on a life very seriously dedicated to his fellow man.

His interests, once strictly in the Palm Beach-Saratoga-Newport circuit, are now entirely consumed by world peace, war veterans and the best way to be of active and effective use to his country and the cause of democracy.

The shift is not so sudden or inexplicable as it might seem. As the possessor of a fortune estimated at upwards of $30,000,000, A. G. Vanderbilt showed signs of self-questioning and responsibility while still an undergraduate at Yale.

He carefully but quietly shunned the inevitable sycophants, chose his own friends, refused the role of social lion. The magical name and millions of Vanderbilt affected many—but not A. G.

Behind the boyish exterior lurked a strong-willed and doubting young man. His wild oats and many glamorous girl friends made juicy gossip items but touched the maturing young millionaire not at all.

Probably the best key to Vanderbilt is found in the remark of a very close friend:

"Al just never should have been born a rich boy. He basically never fitted into the picture. So he's been frustrated all his life. Now it looks like he's going to do something about it."

Vanderbilt's own comment on his glittering, high-social upbringing and many romances:

"It was fun—it was part of being young—that's all."

"The first' turning point came when I went into the Navy. I started seriously wondering about myself—you're inclined to do that if you think you're going to get your head shot off—and about my responsibilities to and relationship with the rest of the world. After all, everything had been a piece of cake for me."

SERIOUS HORSEMAN

When he took over the Vanderbilt racing stables from his mother, Mrs. Margaret Emmerson of the Bromo Seltzer millions, he not only built up their reputation and earnings, but gained the respect of horsemen throughout the world.

After the war, in which he earned the Navy Cross, Vanderbilt decided that one way to a permanent peace was through the men who had been "shot at in anger and knew what war was."

So he, again very quietly began looking around for the best way of organizing and supporting a worldwide fund for war veterans of all nationalities. As founder and president of the World Veterans Fund, he did a lot of traveling, became even more convinced that "something must be done to prevent another war."

For the future only one thing seems certain — Vanderbilt has a gleam in his eye and it's beamed directly on the United States Congress. If he envies anyone, it's Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy, a life-long and respected friend.

"Jack," he says somewhat wistfully, "is leading a really constructive life. He's a fine public servant."

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Scientific Testimony for AEC on Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC), Detroit, sought to prove by expert testimony today that the nuclear reactor it is building near Monroe, Mich., would not endanger the public.

Several hundred pages of scientific and technical testimony were prepared for a hearing (10 a.m. EST) called by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to decide whether there is "reasonable assurance" the proposed plant can be operated without risk to the public health and safety.

The case is expected to have major importance in the development of fast-breeding reactors—the kind that produces more nuclear fuel than it consumes. Liquid sodium heated by the reactor would be used for the production of steam to generate electricity through a conventional turbine.

The Detroit Edison Co., which owns the Lagoona Beach, Mich., site, is building an electric power generating plant adjacent to the reactor.

Afghan 5-Year Plan to Cost $300 Million

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The kingdom of Afghanistan, one of the most undeveloped countries in the world, is emphasizing development of industries, agriculture and communications in a 300-million-dollar five-year plan.

Bolstering the plan is a 100-million-dollar credit given Afghanistan by Soviet Russia.

The United States and the Export-Import Bank have loaned Afghanistan lesser amounts for irrigation and power projects.

The Afghan Embassy said about 50 million dollars is earmarked for agriculture; 48 million for industry; 38 million for roads and airfields and 12 million for telecommunications. The plan also provides for improvement in schools and clinics of that nation of 12 million persons.

Get Your Income Tax Form Yet? Better Take a Look at It Now

By RICHARD A. MULLENS

Now that the flood of holiday mail has subsided, taxpayers should soon be receiving their 1956 income tax returns in the mail.

Right after Christmas, the Revenue Service began sending out a return to every taxpayer who filed for 1955. The idea is to have the blank returns in the hands of the taxpayers by the first of the year so that those who wish to file early can do so.

And it makes a lot of sense to fill out your return early. Those of you who have a refund coming can file early and expect your money much quicker than if you delay filing until the last-minute rush.

If you owe additional tax, you will have plenty of time before the April 15 deadline to dig up the amount of money which must be paid with your return.

Although the last day for filing a 1956 tax return is not until April 15, there is an important tax date in January for those of you who have filed, or should have filed a declaration of estimated tax (Form 1040-ES) on your 1956 income.

This date is Jan. 15 unless you are a farmer, in which case it is Jan. 31.

If you previously filed a declaration of estimated tax, you will receive from the District Director of Internal Revenue a bill for the last installment on your estimated tax.

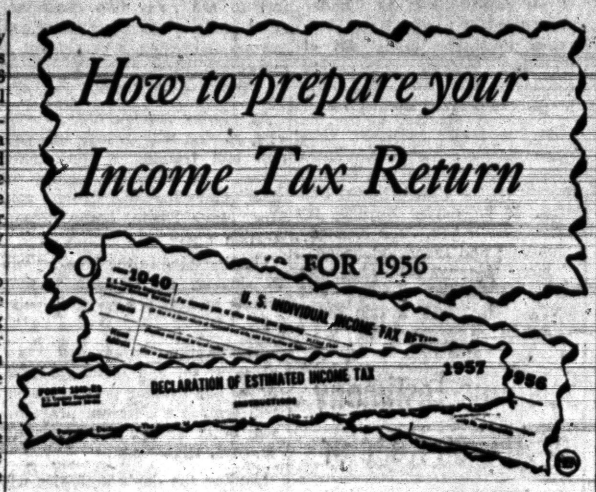

Before paying this bill (which is due Jan. 15), you should make a rough computation of your 1956 income tax. If your payments of estimated tax for 1956 plus tax withheld from your wages is less than 70 per cent (66 2-3 per cent if you are a farmer) of your 1956 tax, then you should increase the payment of the last installment of estimated tax so as to equal or exceed the percentages given above.

Unless you do this, you will be subject to a penalty for underpaying the last installment of your estimated tax. The penalty (6 per cent interest per year) will not apply, however, if your estimated tax payments plus tax withheld is equal to or greater than either the tax shown on your 1955 return or a tax computed by using your income in 1955 and your exemptions in 1956.

There is one way you can forget about whether to file either your first declaration of estimated tax for 1956 or an amended declaration on January.

If you file your final 1956 return on or before Jan. 31, 1957 (Feb. 15, 1957, if a farmer) the return will have the effect of a declaration of estimated tax filed on the due date of Jan. 15 (Jan. 31, if a farmer).

Industrialist 'on Job' at 91

GRAND HAVEN (UP) — "Early to bed, good habits and let the second drink alone" is J. Edgar Lee's formula for a happy long life.

Lee, dean of Grand Haven industrialists, was 91 Monday and on the job as usual.

President of the Challenge Machinery Co. for the past 39 years, he has been associated with the firm 75 years. As chief, he has seen the company's employment rolls double to more than 200 workers.

Commenting on industry outlook, he said:

"If anything, competition is a little easier these days — with more engineers to invent products and improvements."

CITES IMPROVEMENTS

Lee credits more interchangeable parts as one of the biggest improvements in manufacturing processes in recent years.

Lee has no thoughts yet of retirement. He rises daily at 6:40 a.m., and puts in up to nine hours of work at the upstairs office desk in his home. He works there because of a hip fracture in 1939 which ended his walking.

Relaxation during evening hours is devoted to canasta with Mrs. Lee.

They Wanted Tools!

WACO, Tex. (UP) — L. N. Dunn caught two men breaking into his tool shed, but they jumped into their car just as he arrived. Dunn said he threw a shovel, blade-first, through the windshield of their car as they sped away.

Thin, Sickly Cattle Can't Stand Unusually Severe Winter

(This is the third article in a series describing the human drama and economic devastation President Eisenhower will see when he tours the great plains drought area Jan. 13-15.)

By CHARLES DENTON

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS) — Traditionally taciturn cowmen of the Southwest are watching the progress of winter nervously, fearful that it may bring them the worst calamity in their history.

Although it may at last bring the water they so desperately need, a cruel winter, sweeping along behind seven years of drought like the second wave of an invasion army, could mean final defeat for already stricken ranchers.

Until a month ago, drought was the chief concern in this country where the cowman has become such an institution that his rugged dress is emulated by bankers and butlers.

Drought has stripped the ranges as bare as tabletops, increased the cost of livestock ranching far beyond its rewards and forced cattlemen to sell off many of their cattle —some 500,000 in Texas, 250,000 in New Mexico and perhaps 200,000 in Arizona.

CATTLE SICKLY

But about 10 million cattle remain on the ranges of the three drought-ridden states, eight and one-half million of them in Texas. They are in no condition to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

Thin and sickly from improper and inadequate feeding during the drought years, they are susceptible to fatal illnesses, and particularly to the chill of snowstorms or the freezing mists that have afflicted portions of Texas in past winters.

Charles A. Stewart, quiet, conservative executive secretary of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Assn., stated flatly that the general condition of cattle in his state is "the worst in recorded history."

"If we have an unusually severe winter," he warned, "it's going to be a calamity. The cattle are so thin they just couldn't stand it.

"They're like exhausted men. They couldn't survive something like a blizzard."

A secondary problem, but one felt acutely in Arizona and New Mexico, is that the drought has caused the oak brush, a hardy shrub of the higher ranges, to wither and die at a rate unknown before this year.

Without it, cattle wintering in rugged country will have no feed except what their owners can take to them, which might be nothing. In many cases the chances of providing supplementary feed would be negligible, and the cattle would have to be sacrificed—along with their owners.

WINTER TOO MILD

Fortunately, the winter has begun mildly and shows signs of remaining that way. Actually, it is far too mild. Thus far it has failed to bring the rain or snowfall in the high mountains that would help to break the fearsome drought.

If moisture does not come by late spring and the cattlemen must face another year or two of drought, catastrophe will be slower in coming but almost as certain.

If the rain does come to bring life-giving grass sprouting from the now barren and seared ranges, however, most authorities see a bright future for the cattle industry.

With the mounting cost of supplementary feeding removed from their shoulders, cattlemen will be eager to replenish their breeding herds, and those who have liquidated their holdings entirely will be shopping for thousands of cattle.

This demand, coupled with that of farmers who will find themselves with revitalized pasturelands on which to graze a few head, will force the depressed price of cattle upward and inject new life into the business of growing beef for the nation's dinner tables.

But this promise of prosperity looks like a mirage to the cattlemen now as the rough hand of the drought forces them inexorably backward toward the chasm of despair.

As one New Mexico rancher remarked:

"Once, years ago, I was fighting a grasshopper plague up in the Midwest. We just couldn't control them, and all at once an old man near me dropped down on his knees.

"He clasped his hands together and started to holler, 'The Lord sent them, and the Lord will have to take them away.' That's about the way it is with the drought."

How to Pick Out the Safest Lakes

There is no hard and fast rule to determine whether or not the ice on our lakes is safe for skating or ice fishing.

Freshly frozen ice of only a couple of inches often will bear a larger weight than ice of several inches that has become honeycombed through varied freezing and thawing.

The so-called "rubber ice," which goes in waves under your weight, or any ice so thin that you can puncture it with the heel of your skate, never is safe, nor is ice that becomes whitened through temperatures above and below the freezing point.

Regardless of what some other careless person may do, it never is safe to drive your car on anything but ice that is clearly frozen in a transparent manner, and at least four inches thick. Even at that, you're taking a chance.

The biggest hazard among the more than 400 lakes in Oakland County is the possibility of the ice being too thin where a stream flows through them, although safe elsewhere. This is because moving water freezes slowly.

Among our larger lakes that DO NOT have streams flowing through them are: Orchard, Pine, Square, Elizabeth, Hammond, Forest, Angelus, the three Straits, Union, Cooley, Walled, Wolverine, Long, Crescent, Walnut, Wing, White, Maceday, Duck, Pleasant, Woodpecker, Island, Harris, Terry, Osmun, Judah, Sixteen, Tommy's, Fagan, Tipsico, Bush, Watkins, Williams, Scott, Turtle, Gilbert, Bald Eagle, Narrin, Fagan, Tan, Stony, Walters, Mud, Crooked, Bogie, Sears and several others.

Among the other larger lakes in the county that DO have streams flowing through them, and should have a cautious approach, especially where the stream enters or leaves them, are:

Cass, Sylvan, Crystal, Pontiac, Kent, Commerce, Proud, Orion, Lakeville, Louise, Cemetery, Deer, Loon, Woodhull, Oakland, Silver, Ox Bow, Cranberry, Bevins, Crotched, Green, Whipple, Bridge, Rappallee, Big, Dixie, Sugden, Buckhorn and some others.

American Communists in Complete Confusion

A committee of the Communist Party of the United States has prepared a new constitution to be submitted for approval at its national convention in February.

It will be approved, of course, on instructions from the higher-ups in an effort to show that American Communists are independent of Moscow.

Russia's brutality in Hungary dealt a body blow to Communism all over the world. Our Communists are uncertain whether to line up with Tito, Khruschev or Molotov. The Hungarian revolution discredited all of them.

Now, our home grown Reds are making patriotic noises. They are talking of "various roads to socialism" and that their own road lies "through the political and economic struggles of the American people within the developing constitutional process."

Between now and the February meeting the constitution may have to be revised hurriedly. It all depends on what orders come through from Moscow!

Hungarians and Others

Our preoccupation with Hungarian refugees has made us forget for the moment that there are others who have fled Red tyranny and are awaiting entry into a free land.

Refugees continue to move in an endless line from East Germany, Albania, Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia. In the south of France there are even some Spanish Civil War refugees. Greece still has displaced Armenians and White Russians.

West Berlin alone is taking care of about 26,000 from East Germany and 5,000 cross the line to freedom every week. Primitive living conditions in camps and poor food is all that can be offered them at present.

Most of the refugees are looking to North and South America, Australia and New Zealand for asylum. These as well as the heroic Hungarians should get the attention of our State Department as well as Congress when the Immigration Act comes up for revision.

The Man About Town

Was the Intention

Men Who Pioneered State Parks Wanted Them Free

Mother country: What some people call England or France—they're always expecting.

Here in the county that has the most state parks of any of Michigan's 83 counties, it is difficult to believe the findings of a recent survey. It alleges that 85 per cent of the people who visit these parks would be willing to pay a fee for the privilege.

A quiet survey made by ourselves fails to find anybody in favor of a fee system. It would be in direct contradiction to the intentions and desires of the man who conceived the state park system. He was the late of Orchard Lake. He fathered the project, and put much of his own efforts and financial worth into it, and persuaded the late and others to put millions into it. It was the intention of all of them that the state parks were "forever to be free to all."

Well known throughout Oakland County where he was pastor of the Oxford Congregational Church for 20 years, is retiring from active work in that line. He recently preached his farewell sermon at Belding. When here he was president of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, held a like position with the East Michigan Tourist Assn., and was connected with many other civic projects on a county and state wide basis. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will live in Lakeview, near Belding.

Rev. H. B. Johnson

There's a local angle to the $200,000 Throop fire at Grand Blanc Sunday, as

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Throop are former Oakland County residents, and

Dr. Gail L. Canfield,

whose dentist office was damaged, lives at Holly.

"When a certain Adlai E. Stevenson suggests that the Democrats keep up a 'sustained offensive' against the Republicans," phones of Rochester, "he overlooks the fact that he was so offensive himself through two presidential campaigns that the voters gave him big turndowns."

Pontiac's windiest corner is claimed to be at Saginaw and Lawrence, but we feel that the heated sidewalk installed by the helps matters a little.

Community National Bank

As the busiest time for issuing the 1957 license plates is upon us, I learn from

David Lawrence Says:

Knowland Stands on Convictions

WASHINGTON — Politics and the ambition of men to serve in high office sometimes lead them to surrender convictions to expediency or to resort to artificial ways of seeking to gain prestige.

It is, therefore, refreshing to note the forthright way in which Senator William Knowland of California, at present Republican leader of the Senate, has announced a year ahead of time that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate in 1958.

This gives Mr. Knowland the opportunity to steer an independent course in the present session—to express himself in support of administration policies when he agrees with them and to dissent when he feels impelled to do so. The post of Senate leader was never intended to be a "rubber stamp" affair.

Both in the Democratic and Republican parties in the Senate during the last half century, the elected leader has reserved the right to transfer to a committee chairman or to a deputy leader the task of guiding an administration measure through the Senate when he feels conscientiously a difference of opinion.

BARKLEY DIFFERED

The late Senator Barkley in 1944 differed with President Roosevelt on an important tax bill and, when a veto came, the Kentucky Senator resigned his leadership position—only to be re-elected by an almost unanimous vote of his party in the Senate in one of the most striking examples of a vote of confidence to a Senate leader that has ever been witnessed.

For a United States Senator does not cease to represent his own constituency just because he happens to be elected leader of his party. Senator Knowland, for example, must vote as he thinks the people of California want him to vote or as he himself feels he should, even though it may not seem on the surface to be popular.

But behind the announcement of Senator Knowland that he doesn't intend to run for the Senate again is no circumstance in any way related to differences he may have now or have had with the Eisenhower administration. In fact, he has supported the President's position on major policies more frequently than any of the so-called conservatives in either party.

NO USE DISSENTING

Also, if he nurtures any presidential ambitions of his own for 1960—after possibly a period in the governor's chair in California—it would serve no useful purpose for him to be known in the political world as a dissenter from the Eisenhower policies. Whoever is nominated in 1960 for the presidency on the Republican ticket will have to run on the Eisenhower record anyway or else be in the position of offering an alternative that necessarily implies a divided Republicanism.

Mr. Knowland is one of the most conscientious men who ever entered public life. He candidly says what he thinks and is not given to wishy-washy statements of evasion so common in present-day politics. He is unquestionably presidential timber. He has the mind of a great statesman, for he is not unwilling to risk popular disapproval again and again by expressing himself forthrightly in accordance with deep-seated convictions.

This correspondent has not discussed with Senator Knowland his recent announcement or his reasons for making it at this time. But from a knowledge of the California Senator's record in public life, it is natural to conclude that he didn't want to wait to make his announcement until early in 1958 and in the interim give the impression that he had not made up his mind. He preferred to let other candidates for the Senate seat in California know far in advance that the field is open.

Will Mr. Knowland try for the presidential nomination in 1960? To answer that question requires an answer to another one—what will the political situation be in 1960? Will the administration have proved popular? Will the voting public want a change? Will Vice President Nixon, if considered a logical nominee for the presidency, represent in the public mind a continuance of Eisenhower policies, and will the voters want him or someone else who has somewhat differing views on major issues?

To put it another way, maybe the country three and a half years from now will be in a far more conservative mood than it is today. Maybe the international situation will have created issues that could conceivably affect the trend in the next presidential election.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Blame Dearth of Calcium for Overdose of Ailments

That calcium "regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres" means it steadies the nerves.

Besides these physiological functions, calcium, in my opinion, and I can't say "humble" because I'm sure it is as sound as any other opinion bearing on the question, has yet another function: it raises the pain threshold.

In an empirical way physicians have recognized this function of calcium for half a century. But only empirically—that is to say good observers found that "abdominal pain in mucous colitis or gallstone colic may, in some instances, be instantly relieved by the intravenous injection of calcium guconate or calcium chloride"; and that injection of calcium chloride solution into a vein is the most effective emergency treatment for excruciating pain of black widow (spider) bite; and "pains may exist which completely disappear after a sufficient amount of calcium is taken. Some of the pains of cancer may be completely relieved by giving calcium."

This observation remained empirical, nebulous, and impractical until the science of nutrition began to rationalize our thinking back in the twenties and thirties.

NOT COINCIDENCE

It is not just coincidence or chance, I am sure, that thousands of readers have obtained so much relief, if not cure, of such painful ailments as rheumatiz, bursitis, neuralgia, migraine, low back pain, leg cramps, or what the gullible ones call "arthritis" by following the high calcium diet and/or supplementing their diet with an adequate daily ration of calcium and vitamin D (the vitamin is alway necessary to insure good utilization of calcium). For instructions send stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c for booklet The Calcium Shortage.

Anyway it is well to remember that the individual who complains too much of aches and pains is not necessarily a "neurotic." More likely the poor soul doesn't get enough to eat, enough milk, cheese, eggs, peas, beans, greens, nuts and peanuts to supply the calcium required for well being and functional efficiency.

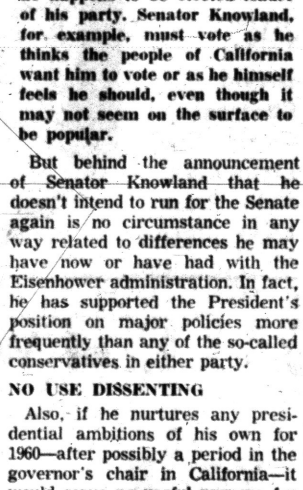

Or, if he will not or cannot take enough of these high calcium foods and get enough sunshine or skyshine on his skin to supply the vitamin D required to utilize calcium, then let him do the next best thing—take a good daily ration of calcium and D as a supplement, not for a week or a month but the year around unless or until he learns to like a high calcium diet.

Voice of the People

Says Value of Wilson Gift Can Never Be Estimated

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A little over a year ago I wrote a letter to this column concerning the need of a community college in Pontiac. This fall my husband and I attended a meeting at the high school to hear a discussion of all the problems involved in such a project.

Teachers and parents all seemed more than eager to have a college but they did not know just how to get the project started. Now, thanks to the Wilsons, all these problems have been solved. Their wonderful gift has given us more than we ever dared to wish for.

Their gift is said to be worth ten million dollars, but its actual value can never be estimated. It will be worth several thousand dollars to any one family alone. I have four daughters I plan to send there.

So I wish to thank the Wilsons for the gift they have given to me, the county, the state, the nation and the world.

Rejection of British Help May Doom Little Jordan

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Little Jordan is one of the many danger points in the volatile Middle East and may collapse soon.

A Jordanian mission is expected to leave soon for Cairo to negotiate replacement of the $33,600,000 annual British subsidy by funds from Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia. It also will visit Syria and Saudi Arabia.

The mission reportedly will include Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, chief of the general staff, and Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Abdullah Rimawi.

Jordan has announced its intention of breaking the pact with Britain whereby it gets the annual subsidy in exchange for bases at Mafraq and Aqaba in Jordan.

But some observers doubt if Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia are actually ready to foot the bill in Jordan. Syria is pressed financially by its own sabotage of the oil pipelines from Iraq, the single Arab member of the Baghdad Pact and a bitter enemy of Syria.

ALSO IN TROUBLE

Egypt also is in financial difficulties stemming from the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion and the blocked Suez Canal. Saudi Arabia's oil royalties have tapered off greatly because of the transportation crisis that enforced lower production.

Jordan, without oilfields and other money-making resources, is propped up only by the British subsidy which is paid in monthly installments.

Without the subsidy the Jordanian army of about 18,000 would collapse because it is financed entirely out of the subsidy.

Despite this dependence even the Jordanian army officers publicly seem to be eager to end the treaty with Britain.

The country which adjoins Israel on the east is considered ripe for Communist infiltration and is hostile toward Britain despite decades of British influence.

It absorbed thousands of Arabs who fled from Israel during the Israeli-Arab War. These refugees and other extremists are influenced by pro-Soviet agents and could topple the present government.

The government rests on several bases: The 21-year-old King Hussein; the queen mother's advisory capacity; the army commander, who already is supposed to be officially under orders from Egyptian Commander-in-Chief Gen. Hakim Amer; and Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, who arose as leader of anti-British street mobs.

An American objective is to try to keep Jordan in its present pact with Britain and keep it from being carved up by its stronger Arab neighbors.

Should the Arab neighbors try to split Jordan territorially another instant danger would occur. Israel probably would strike to grab former Palestine territory annexed by Jordan in the 1947 conflict.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Encourage Child's Independence

Melba has a high I.Q. but her emotional quotient (E.Q.) rates her as an immature kindergarten girl. A brilliant brain is not enough to insure success at college or in marriage. You must be mature emotionally. Take the test outlined below and then send for the "Teen-Agers' Test" offered today. Don't waste money on college if you aren't mature enough to live apart from mama.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-369: Melba G., aged 18, has been attending the University of Michigan.

"Dr. Crane, she is failing in her grades," one of her professors informed me.

"And it isn't because she lacks intelligence, for she is very smart.

"As I see it, however, she is emotionally immature. She still is tied to mamma's apron strings.

"Although she has been at college for almost four months, she has spent only two week-ends here.

"All the rest of the time she has run back home to mamma.

"Meanwhile, she has missed the college social events scheduled on the week-end and thus fails to feel well integrated into the campus life of her classmates.

"If she flunks out, that will be a double blot on her personality. So can't you warn parents in general to help train their children for emotional maturity?"

PARENTS, BEWARE

Melba not only is heading for failure in college, but she may also be a failure in marriage because of this same emotional immaturity.

The job of being a good parent involves tempering your love with "horse sense."

Don't be too possessive with your children. And don't feel that it is a compliment because your grown children can't stay away from home longer than a few weeks.

Instead, it's an indictment!

Thousands of letters come to me from readers who are newly married, yet spend at least 50 per cent of all week-ends with their in-laws.

It is perfectly proper for college students, as well as newlyweds, to visit their parents on Thanksgiving, Christmas and other special holidays.

But learn to establish your own social roots in the community where you now reside.

TEST OF MATURITY

Emotional immaturity is one of the chief causes of divorce, as well as failure at college.

Parents can help their young folks grow up emotionally by getting them used to a baby sitter in infancy or the toddler stage.

Send them to nursery school, too, and by all means see that they are in Sunday school, not only for its moral influence but also for the psychological value of teaching the youngster to mingle with his own age group.

In the teens, see that your child attends a church camp, or a YMCA, Scout or Camp Fire Girls Camp.

Cushion the shock of this separation by letting your child have a pal with him, for it is unfair to launch a coddled youngster too suddenly into living alone, even for only one week at camp.

Indeed, you should accustom your grammar schoolers to spending a week-end with their cousins and to sleeping for at least one night at the home of their pals.

READY FOR COLLEGE?

Too much stress has been placed on I. Q. tests as regards college entrance.

We should also be sure the prospective students are sufficiently mature emotionally to live apart from their parents for a semester.

So test all teen-agers with this social yardstick:

Have you spent a night at the home of a pal prior to high school?

Have you vacationed away from your parents for a week, as at camp or with your cousins or grandparents?

Have you travelled alone on a bus or train or airplane?

Have you earned your own money working for others than your parents?

For other items, send for my "Behavior Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use it to see if your are sufficiently mature emotionally to go to college. Many people past 21 still are kindergarten kids emotionally.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Asks Lansing to Approve Tax

Alderman Urges Council to Push for 1 Pct. Levy on Net Income

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing city council has been asked to push for a one per cent city income tax.

Alderman Robert Klock submitted a resolution asking that voters be asked in the April 1 election to approve a one per cent tax on their net income.

"Lansing has reached the cross roads in seeking new sources of tax revenue," Klock said. "The property owners have been taxed to a point where they should be given relief."

Klock said a one per cent levy on the earnings and incomes in Lansing would produce about $3,000,000 a year and would result in a reduction on local property taxes to about $10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Klock claimed the local tax plan would not need enabling legislation from the state legislature and could be authorized under the home rule act allowing cities to levy excise taxes.

The proposal was referred to the council's taxation and elections committees.

Student Kills Coed, Self in South Dakota

VERMILLION, S.D. (AP)—A University of South Dakota coed was shot to death at her home last night by her former fiance, authorities said. The young man then shot himself in the temple. He died early today.

Jeanne Bruyer, 21, a drum majorette and campus beauty candidate, was shot by Donald Steele, 20, a sophomore at the university, Clay County State's Atty. Theodore Dolney said.

Steele, son of Dr. D. S. Steele, Robbinsdale, Minn., veterinarian, died at a Sioux City, Iowa, hospital.

Miss Bruyer and Steele were engaged until a month ago when she broke off the engagement, the Bruyer family priest said. Steele had roomed at the Bruyer house until just before Christmas.

The priest said Steele had "mistreated" Miss Bruyer. He did not elaborate.

Howard Connors, university dean of men, said Steele, a 1955 graduate of Atlantic City (N.J.) High School, had an "emotional problem," and had been advised to go home before Christmas.

Over $63 Million in Federal Funds for Land in '56

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government spent more than 63½ million dollars for land in 1956, largely because of jet plane and guided missile needs, a Justice Department official said today.

Asst. Atty Gen. Perry W. Morton said the government acquired about the same amount of additional property in 1955, also largely for the same purpose.

Morton, who heads the Justice Department's Lands Division said both 1955 and 1956 acquisitions were the largest since the World War II emergency.

Sitters Care for Babies While Mom, Dad Ski

MANISTEE (INS) — Skiing in Michigan has definitely become a family affair with the inauguration of a baby-sitting service for parents at the Manistee ski area.

The service was brought about because many skiing parents were unable to make trips to ski resorts because they had babies and small children and didn't want to leave them at home.

In addition to the baby-sitting service, Manistee has a new children's area on an open, gentle slope close to the clubhouse and well away from tows and major ski runs.

Hal Boyle Says:

Curved Eyelashes Indicate Calm Character

NEW YORK (AP)—The oddity almanac:

Do your eyelashes tell your character? Grace Downs, head of an air hostess and modeling school here, believes so. "If you have curved eyelashes," she says "you are a calm person: if your lashes are short and straight, you have a nervous temperament; if your lashes are thin at the outer corners, you are lazy."

Forestry Digest estimates that a single porcupine will destroy $6,000 worth of timber in its lifetime. Americans are getting more seashore conscious: New York public beaches served five million people in 1934, but in 20 years the number increased to 61 million annually.

Tips to hunters: Don't target shoot at objects in the water—your bullet may ricochet off the surface. Never leave a loaded gun leaning against a tree; your frisky dog may bump against it, knock off the safety, then step on the trigger and bag his master! Experts say proper care could avoid 95 per cent of all hunting accidents.

Stupefying statistics for the uninformed: It takes six to eight weeks to make one of those one-minute TV commercials many folks complain about — but only one to two weeks to put on the dramas between them. Americans use 500 billion matches a year, or nearly 3,000 a person. A fish called the eulachon is so oily that, if it is dried and a wick is stuck to it, it will burn like a candle. You could probably do the same thing with a whale, but it would take longer, and the neighbors might holler.

The almanac abroad: His own people are more of a long-range problem to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than either the British or the Suez Canal. The population increased 105 per cent between 1897 and 1949, but the land under cultivation increased only about 14 per cent. More than 96 per cent is desert. The population density along the Nile is 1,670 per square mile. Moslem pride in having large families makes difficult the task of curbing Egypt's birth rate, one of the highest in the world. Watch for further explosions.

The almanac editorial: How many bald men have nicknames for their remaining hairs?

During the last election campaign President Eisenhower was quoted as remarking he had so few left he had names for them—"Helen, Edna, Ellen.'

While the editors of the almanac hesitate to disagree with President Ike on a question of purely personal privilege, we question his wisdom in giving his dwindling hirsute souvenirs feminine names, as the Weather Bureau does hurricanes.

After all, they have not gone with the wind. These thin grey faithful survivors have shown none of the fickleness often attributed to women. Do they not deserve a higher renown?

We ourselves are balding rapidly. Faced with the same problem as Ike, we are naming our few scattered hairs as the British do "Courageous," "Repulse," "Indefatigable" and "Redoubtable."

We have even reserved a special name for the hair that makes a last lone stand. It will be called "Custer."

The almanac's annual don't-do-it-yourself hint: Many suburban husbands have written in to ask how they can keep from getting poison ivy while spring cleaning their acreage. There is only one sure way. Stay indoors yourself and hire your wife and children to do the work for you. The have more time to scratch and apply lotions.

Almanac long-range crop forecast: Strong winds on Capitol Hill should create record production of corn in Washington, D.C., area. Marked seasonal pickup in ham output in same vicinity. Also, despite heavy slaughter of lambs in last November's political harvest, no decrease in wool-gathering is foreseen.

Deaths by drowning exceeded highway accident deaths in New Zealands's latest vacation season — 32 drownings to 17 deaths on roads — Wellington reports.

Gets in Brush With Law, Loses in Close Shave

PARAMUS, N. J. (INS) — State police charged that Theodore Hildebrandt, 29, of Westwood, had lather on his face and was shaving with a safety razor while driving on a heavily traveled highway in Paramus.

Trooper Joseph Walkomir, shocked by what he saw, gave Hildebrandt a ticket on a careless driving charge. Hildebrandt said he didn't know the motor vehicle laws forbid shaving in the car.

President to Ask Tax Extension

Solons to Give Priority to Corporation, Excise Levies Expiring April 1

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower told GOP congressional leaders Tuesday he will ask Congress to extend three billion dollars in excise and corporation taxes scheduled to expire April 1.

The legislative chiefs agreed to give priority to the tax extension and six other administration recommendations, including the Middle East resolution and extension of the refugee relief act.

Eisenhower also disclosed that he will ask for three million dollars to help finance an extensive study of juvenile delinquency. This was included on the priority list.

Excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes and automobiles would expire April 1 unless extended by Congress. The corporation income tax rate also is scheduled to drop from 52 to 47 per cent on that date.

The administration previously had hinged its forecast of a balanced budget in the next fiscal year on the continuance of present tax levels.

The priority list was drawn up at the President's first meeting with GOP congressional leaders since the convening of the 85th Congress. Eisenhower customarily meets each Tuesday with them when Congress is in session.

Dig That Meter Gold

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP)—Selectmen have decided to sell at auction the $2.50 gold piece which a motorist accidentally dropped into a parking meter. The decision to sell was reached after newspaper stories failed to turn up the owner. Coin dealers indicated the gold piece might be worth $11 — or 13,200 parking minutes.

Statehood Issue Already Doomed for This Session

WASHINGTON (INS) — Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii is already dead for this session of Congress, even before it gets a hearing, and the White House will exert no pressure in its behalf.

That is the word from a top administration official who disclosed yesterday that although President Eisenhower will "go through the motions" of recommending statehood, he has been assured that a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats will kill the measure.

The death-knell for statehood during the 85th Congress was struck last fall when:

1. Hawaii for the first time in 24 years elected a Democratic delegate, John A. Burns, to Congress.

2. Alaska staged a "rump" election and sent two Democratic senators-elect and a Democratic representative-elect to Congress to lobby for seats from the "forty-ninth" state. Democratic delegate E. L. Bartlett was also reelected.

DEMOCRATIC CONTROL

If statehood for Alaska and Hawaii were voted, Republicans who narrowly missed winning control of the Senate last week would be hopelessly outnumbered, 47 to 53, in the upper chamber. Such a lopsided vote would dim for many years their chance to assume leadership. As it is now, the death of a Democratic senator in a state boasting a Republican governor would hand the reins to the GOP.

The specter for Dixie Democrats is even more ominous. Two years ago, only 21 Senators voted to outlaw the filibuster which invariably kills civil rights legislation. In last week's showdown, the number had swelled to 38.

Should four new Senators join the most exclusive club in the world, northern liberals would be in a much more advantageous position to end the filibuster.

TURNED TABLES

Traditionally, Hawaii has voted Republican, and Alaska Democratic. Last fall, however, Hawaii turned out delegate Betty Farrington in favor of Burns, a realtor who won the enthusiastic endorsement of Harry Bridges' I.L.W.U. labor union.

This political upset put an end to previous arguments that the admission of Hawaii and Alaska would balance off each other in Senate organization.

Rep. A. L. Miller of Nebraska, a GOP member of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, agrees with the White House that Alaska committed a "bad mistake" by sending an elected Senate and House delegation here to lobby for statehood.

GROUP REMINDS

The group's embarrassing presence around Capitol Hill serves as a constant reminder to all Republicans that the Democrats would win overwhelming control if Alaska were admitted to the Union this year or next.

Ernest Gruening, long-time governor of Alaska during Democratic White House regimes, captured the "election" as No. 1 senator-elect, with William A. Egan cinching the short-term nomination. Ralph J. Rivers is the "representative-elect."

Because of this unprecedented action, Bartlett, the only legally elected Alaskan delegate, cannot be expected to give whole-hearted support of the statehood drive, since he personally would be out of a job after 12 years, if Alaska won the right to seat its delegation.

Both political parties endorsed planks at their August conventions supporting statehood, but except for northern Democrats, neither is expected to give more than lip-service to the bill, if it ever reaches the floor.

FAMOUS HORSES — 3

The Centaur

The centaur was a mythical creature, half-man and half-horse, who was supposed to have lived in the woods of the Ancient Greeks.

One centaur was Chiron who had been educated by the god Apollo and was famous for his wisdom and learning. Apollo entrusted to Chiron the education of his son, Aesculapius, who became the patron of physicians.

Here is a centaur for your stable. Paste this picture on cardboard and color with crayons. The mushrooms in the grass are red with white spots. The scarf can be any bright color. The lyre is golden and the grapes purple with green leaves.

Fold back the left panel of the base and the figure will stand. Cut around the right hand along the dotted line. Cut a slit in the left hand. Rest the lower end of the lyre, or the bunch of grapes into the slit under the fingers of the left hand. The small sketches of the hand will show you how.

Now the centaur can play on the lyre or hold the grapes, whichever you like. Put him in the corral with the other horses.

Paris Election to Show Trend

Sunday Voting 1st Test of Red Strength Since Suez, Hungary Crises

PARIS (INS)—Political passions are rising in Paris with the approach of Sunday's crucial bi-election to the National Assembly.

Twenty-five candidates, representing every shade in the complex French political spectrum, have entered the race to fill the parliamentary seat vacated by the death of famed trial lawyer and politician, Vincent de Moro-Giafferri.

Qualified to vote are approximately 580,000 citizens from six Paris wards, embracing both residential and business districts.

The election, coming exactly two months after the Suez and Hungary crises, has assumed the appearance of a sampling of the French people's political mood.

The campaign is being fought on broad national, rather than local, issues reflecting the significance being given to the test by all political parties.

REDS IN SPOTLIGHT

Particular interest is centered on the voting strength the Communists will be able to muster on Sunday.

French popular disapproval of the brutal Russian military intervention in Hungary extended to both the intellectuals and the workers, who have provided the bulk of the votes cast for Communist candidates.

An analysis of Sunday's vote is expected to show whether French revulsion over Soviet methods in Hungary has had lasting and concrete political repercussions.

Sets Courtroom Scene —in State Legislature

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Rep. Matias Chacon, Democratic floor leader of the state house of representatives, found it a bit difficult to adjust to the opening of the legislature. "If the court please . . ." he started, in addressing the chair. Speaker Donald Hallam, like Chacon an attorney, grinned and remarked understandingly: "It takes a few days."

Donated Tape Recorder a Godsend

Blind Puerto Rican Passes Bar Exam on First Attempt

NEW YORK (INS) — Gilberto Ramirez-Hernandez, 35, of Brooklyn, heard Tuesday that he had passed his examinations to become a lawyer on his first try.

It was typical of the man that he should get the information by ear — because that is the way he learned his law well enough to complete the four-year course in three.

Gilberto is totally blind.

The new lawyer, married to the former Elba Hernandez, 30, and father of two children, Iris, 3, and Gilbert, 2, came to the U.S. from his native Puerto Rico in 1948 on an English scholarship to New York University.

Three years earlier his sight failed him completely within weeks of his graduation from the University of Puerto Rico at San Juan. Physicians said both retinas were detached.

"I went to NYU for about two years," he said, "But succumbed to a nervous disorder and had to quit. I found odd jobs and taught languages for a while and then I got a job as a transcribing typist at the welfare department.

"That was in 1952, the year I met my wife and got married.

"With marriage came the rebirth of ambition. My wife and I decided I could and should study law. We knew it would be a grind, but we went ahead with it on a do-or-die basis. It paid off."

There was a catch in Ramirez' voice when he was told his classmates chipped in twice to buy him a tape recorder. The first was stolen with four hours of lessons recorded by friends so the budding lawyer could study them.

Ramirez, who speaks perfect English, called the recorder "a godsend . . . I could take it to court and listen to the best in jurisprudence over and over again," he said.

Thief No Speed Demon

DENVER (AP) — Dream car features? Jet age design? Nope. They hold no allure for the burglar who broke into a Denver garage and towed away a handsome vehicle the other night. The stolen auto was a model T Ford, vintage 1925.

Austria's Trade Union Federation now has 1,398,446 members, Vienna reports, about 25 per cent of whom are women. Austria's total population is about 7 million.

Thieves Admit 'Firewater' Had Burnt Flavor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two defendants were hauled into police court on charges of stealing $61.75 worth of liquor from a tavern, closed after a recent fire.

Police said the burglars drank seven fifths of whisky on the spot.

Frank Williams Jr., 38, and James Richardson, 35, admitted breaking into the place and were held in $3,000 bail each for grand jury action. Williams told the magistrate:

"We did go in that place, sir, and take some drinks but we didn't think anybody'd mind. We didn't think it was any good, sir."

"If it wasn't any good, why did you drink so much of it?" magistrate John A. Janetzke asked.

"It tasted burnt, sir," Williams replied.

ARTHRITIS
I KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR IT!

"I believe that people are put on earth to help others, and that is the reason I offer this true testimonial," says Mrs. Anna Knack, Flint, Michigan.

"I am glad to tell others of my experience with O-JIB-WA BITTERS, as I have suffered so much for over 30 years, and have found the medicine that brings the relief that you want. I had rheumatism and arthritis in both knees, but especially the right one, and was often forced to sit down because of the severe pain; but I just wouldn't stay in bed. I also had it in the back of my neck, and the pain was so fierce that I couldn't sleep nights. I discovered years ago that O-JIB-WA BITTERS brought results where other medicines failed, and besides, it seems to build me up and gives me lots of pep too. I sew for others, baby sit and keep up my house, and I am strong and healthy for a lady of 76. I also find that by using your tea with the medicine, that it's good for indigestion, as before, I couldn't eat cabbage, beans, onions, etc., as these foods would upset me but now I can eat anything and enjoy it. I have read in the Bible how God created herbs for the service of man, and after trying other medicines, know that nothing compares with O-JIB-WA BITTERS. That is why I offer this true testimonial, so that others who have rheumatism or arthritis may know of the wonderful results obtainable from this herb medicine."

Put Your Name on $300 Check for Pot-O-Gold

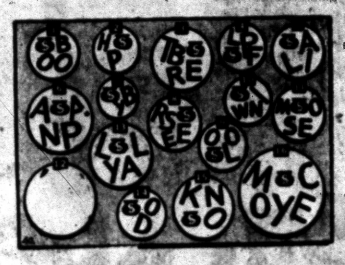

Make your leisure time pay off for you by trying your hand at this week's Pot-O-Gold puzzle. The clues below will help you decide which word will best fit the solution, and the rules will tell you the deadline for entry and the proper mailing procedure. Read both carefully and send us your answers. $300 may be your reward.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Kavanagh Makes Ruling on Child Welfare Agencies

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh holds that the state has no right to deny a license to a child welfare agency practicing racial discrimination.

The ruling affects the right of the state Social Welfare Commission to ban racial or religious discrimination by some 90 privately operated nurseries, day camps, boarding homes and adoption agencies.

The opinion was addressed to W. J. Maxey, director of the state Social Welfare Department. Maxey asked whether the Social Welfare Commission could legally deny licenses to private agencies practicing discrimination.

Kavanagh said he based his opinion on a 1944 state law outlining licensing powers of the commission.

The law, he said, was designed to establish adequate standards for child care in private agencies — not to "dictate their admission policies."

Kavanagh added that the opinion "in no way affects the duty of the public governmental agencies to operate on a basis free from racial discrimination."

GIVES FIREMEN OPINION

In a second opinion, Kavanagh said off-duty firemen could be called to duty to fight any fire which "constitutes a peril to the well-being of the community."

The opinion, requested by Iron Mountain firemen, revolved around a definition of the word "conflagration."

Under state law, off-duty firemen can be called back "in case of public necessity arising from great conflagration."

The Iron Mountain firemen asked for a "definite statement" on what constitutes a conflagration—preferably in terms of financial loss.

"It is not necessary to judge the size of a conflagration in the terms of the value of property destroyed," the opinion said.

"A major purpose of maintaining a fire department is to prevent the spread of fires. Its function is to act before the destruction and for the purpose of preventing destruction and not after the fact . . ."

"The public necessity arising from great conflagration exists as soon as there is the threat of a fire of such magnitude that the resultant destruction to property or loss of fire will likely affect the well being of the community in which it occurs."

"New Tablet Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps . . . Brought Me Greater Relief Than Aspirin!"

{"Couldn't sleep, was all on edge, could hardly put up with my 2 babies," adds Mrs. H. Y., Russell, Ky. "But Pinkham's Tablets were a real blessing! Gave soothing relief the first day!"}

Model Photo

Relief for 3 out of 4 tested!

Doctors report amazing results. For 3 out of 4 women tested, pains and cramps were stopped or strikingly relieved. Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, backaches, other functional distress. Were less jittery before their period.

This new discovery offers more relief than aspirin because it contains not just 1 or 2 ingredients but a unique combination of medicines. Unlike "general purpose" remedies, it acts on the cause of distress. Has remarkable power to calm uterine contractions; also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," they're at all drugstores without prescription. Try handy Pinkham's Tablets. See if you don't feel worlds better! See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—before and during those "difficult days." (Also liquid Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

Seek to Bare Budget Figures

Senators Renew Drive for Better Measurement of U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-five senators from both parties renewed today the drive for legislation designed to give Congress a better yardstick for measuring government spending.

They joined in signing, for introduction today, a measure calling for the departments to submit estimates of money needs on the basis of requirements for a single year. Budget figures now often include obligations over a period of several years.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), chairman of the Senate Reorganization subcommittee, which will hold hearings on the bill; Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee; and Sen. Payne (R-Maine) were joined by 42 other senators in sponsoring the measure.

It is designed to implement one of the recommendations of the Hoover Commission, a task force of which estimated several billion dollars could be saved if the plan were made effective.

It would convert the entire governmental financial structure to an nnual accrued basis.

* * *

Kennedy said the proposal has the endorsement of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the comptroller general and the Budget Bureau, as well as President Eisenhower.

Seeks to Become City

Mayor States Problem

Storm Water Discussed

OAK PARK — This city's demands for positive assurance that Southfield storm water be kept from flooding into the Oak Park area is still in the discussion stage.

Coordinator of the 12 Town drain Ashton J. Berst, meeting with councilmen here explained the condition existing in the Southfield area with regard to storm waters.

Mayor Richard V. Marshall said "Our greatest concern is of spending some $5 million (for the city's share of the 12 Town drain) and then finding that the storm water problem has not been solved."

Marshall explained that the worst area was between 10 and 11 Mile Roads at Greenfield where there is a natural flow of water from Southfield into neighboring Oak Park.

He went on to say that as much as 20 per cent of the city would still face the possibility of basement flooding even after the 12 Town drain is completed unless something is done to take care of the flooded water pouring over Greenfield.

Berst said surveys of drains in this area are under way and said a series of drains will be built parallel to Greenfield to "intercept storm water in Southfield before it crosses into Oak Park."

Marshall said "We don't want to delay the 12 Town drain one day longer than necessary but we want to be assured that alternate solutions will be built if Southfield isn't included in the 12 Town project.

Seek City Vote on Trial Board

Officers Given Petitions in Effort to Unite Force Under Civil Service

The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. will make another move tonight towards gaining civil service in the April city election.

Petitions will be distributed to officers, who will seek sufficient signatures to gain a referendum election on the change, vice president Orville Johnston said.

The meeting at 8 p.m. in the Amvets' Bemis Olsen post 113, 570 Oakland Ave. also will hear a report of a liaison committee meeting with Police Chief Herbert W. Straley yesterday, Johnston said. The meeting was a regular monthly session.

Proposals on the April ballot would amend the City Charter section concerning the present Police Trial Board, and unite police and firemen under a code based on state civil service laws.

Officers say that under civil service instead of the trial board, they would have more job security and the right to appeal disciplinary actions to circuit court.

The trial board and an officer's committee are tentatively scheduled to meet to discuss "mutual problems" Jan. 24.

The State Board of Canvassers is expected to refuse to certify McWilliams when it meets in Lansing on Monday.

Only one of the 11 other candidates faces possible elimination because of insufficient qualified signatures. He is Attorney Robert J. Wojcinski, whose petitions will be checked today.

Pontiac Student at U. of M. Works on Special Research

Two Oakland County men, one from Pontiac, are among 15 University of Michigan law students studying the impact of private atomic energy development on traditional legal concepts, a course believed to be the first of its kind in the Middle West.

The two students, Glynn D. Barnett, 184 Norton Ave., and Loren E. Hancuff, 33110 Grand River Rd., Farmington, are among students working with a top level faculty team in the project.

Under examination are many topics which as yet have few hard and fast guiding legal principles. Such subjects include licensing and commission control of atomic enterprise, state regulation, liability for radiation injuries, patent law and international law as it is affected by atomic development.

Chairman of the American Bar Assn. special committee on atomic energy law, Dean E. Blythe Stason, is one of the five faculty members teaching the seminar.

Others include Prof. Samuel D. Estep, Associate Prof. Eric Stein, Associate Prof. William Pierce, and Assistant Prof. Rinaldo Bianchi. All have worked extensively in this fast growing field of new legal concern, university authorities say.

The seminar which was offered for the first time this year drew nearly three applicants for each opening in the course. To date the only other university offering such a subject is Harvard.

Events at Last Moment Slow Ike's Proposal, Says House Member

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINTON (AP) — Rep. Gordon (D-Ill) said today "developments at the last moment" are causing a slowdown in House Foreign Affairs Committee action on the Eisenhower Middle East resolution.

Gordon, the committee chairman, indicated hearings on the resolution may last through next week. That would be a week later than he previously planned. "Too many people are asking to testify," he said.

But Gordon said it is still possible that the House will pass the resolution by the end of January, a target date Secretary of State Dulles expressed hope for after a closed session with the committee yesterday.

Eisenhower has asked a four-point program including authority to use U.S. troops if necessary to help defend against Communist aggression any Middle Eastern nation which asks help. Military and economic aid to the area also would be authorized.

The removal proceeding was ordered by Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn, the one-man grand juror probing alleged graft in Detroit area communities.

Patterson was accused of a series of election law violations.

Harold Rippe, Taylor Township supervisor, resigned after removal proceedings were initiated against him.

Immigration Office Returns 10 Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government says 10 Hungarian refugees have been returned to Austria — eight of them for making false statements or misrepresentations to get into the United States. The other two asked to go back.

* * *

In making this information public yesterday, the immigration service declined to identify the 10, or to say whether communism or subversion was a factor in any of the cases.

Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing said the action came as a result of a continuing investigation of the 19,000 Hungarians who have arrived so far at Camp Kilmer, N.J.

Last month, immigration officials said they were confident no Communists or members of the Hungarian secret police had reached this country under the refugee program.

17,625 Enroll at MSU, Peak for Winter Term

EAST LANSING (INS) — Michigan State University's registration deadline is still five days away and already a record 17,625 students have begun the winter term.

MSU Vice President Thomas H. Hamilton expects several hundred more students to sign up before the deadline.

Last year's fall term had a record enrollment of 20,125. The winter drop is normal, according to Hamilton.

NO BOMBING, THIS — It looks like the aftermath of a blockbuster bombing raid, but this scene in Miami Beach, Fla., results from the work of professional house-wreckers. The rubble marks the fate of the once-proud McFadden-Deauville Hotel, a landmark for 30 years. Built at a cost of $500,000, the hotel spanned 500 feet of valuable ocean frontage. The late Bernarr McFadden, eccentric publisher of health magazines, was one of the original owners.

Plan to Raise Taxes in Taylor Township

DETROIT (INS) — Residents of a subdivision in Taylor Township were informed yesterday that taxes on their homes will be increased 100 per cent, effective Feb. 1.

The home buyers, most of whom are veterans who purchased their homes under GI-insured mortgages, said the increases probably would force them to sell.

Some said they were led to believe their taxes would be about half the amount they will be boosted to the first of next month.

Both the Veterans Administration and Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission have asked the home-buyers to discuss their complaints with the two agencies.

Winter Survival Kits

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) — Oil and gas field workers in this booming San Juan Basin area are being provided with survival kits. Several petroleum firms have equipped their men with the kits for use in working in remote sections during the severe winter months.

Hollywood Headlines

Joanne Woodward Gets Exciting Film Assignment

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — A fabulous assignment has been given Joanne Woodward by 20th Century-Fox—probably the most exciting for an unknown since Jennifer Jones was chosen to play "Bernadette."

Joanne will star in "The Three Faces of Eve" by Dr. Corbett Thigpen and Dr. Hervey M. Cleckley, which is the strange case of a girl who has three distinct personalities.

The story was widely discussed and commented on when it appeared in the American weekly. Nunnally Johnson intends to make it as a documentary—and it could well be.

Joanne, who has been on the 20th lot for about two years, will play Eva Black, a very wicked woman; Eva White, a mousey type, and Jane, a well-adjusted girl.

Any edition you'll read that Dean Martin is going to Mexico to co-star in "Machine for Chuparosa," an independent setup for Robert Aldrich. A deal is being worked out with Warner Brothers to release it.

Dean told me today that he likes the story very much and that if he goes to Mexico, Jeanne (Mrs. Martin) will spend as much of the time down there with him as possible.

Tony Quinn has one of the top roles, too, and an offer also went to Michel Ray, the little boy in "The Brave One."

Dean tells me that he won't sing a note in "Machine for Chuparosa." That, I'm sorry to hear.

NEW-STYLE CASTING

A perfect example of what's happening in Hollywood regarding virtual unknowns being handed top roles on a silver platter is that young Rick Jason is almost a certainty for the role of the Mexican bus driver in "The Wayward Bus" opposite Jayne Mansfield.

Charles Brackett tested Rick, who is a tall, good looking, leading man type. Come to think of it, he's not exactly an unknown, either. He won the Theater Award in 1954 for his performance in "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep."

Dan Dailey has the lead opposite Jayne, and Joan Collins gets the other top femme role.

I finally got around to hearing June Christy at the Crescendo. The misty Miss Christy has great charm and sings like a nightingale. I've been listening to her records and seeing her on TV, but this was the first time I ever caught her in person.

She was No. 2 on Downbeat's list of favorite femme singers. The magazine listed Ella Fitzgerald No. 1.

The misty miss has had any number of motion picture offers but right now she is so busy singin' and singin' that she hasn't even listened.

ILLNESS DIAGNOSED

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Carol Haney's illness has been diagnosed as diabetes. "Pajama Game" is at a standstill pending her recovery. All scenes have been filmed with the exception of Carol's.

Monty Clift is getting his health back at his sister's, Mrs. Robert Macginnie's, home in Dallas.

Mrs. Edward Arnold, hit over the head by romance, acted like a woman in love at the Eldorado, where she dined with her bridegrom - to - be, druggist Max Marks.

Harry Karl and his attorney, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Mrs. Jolie Gabor were having dinner at the Luau Sunday night. Harry's trying to forget the nightmare kidnap thriller of Marie McDonald.

Jack Entratter, in town for a few days, talked to Dean Martin about a Sands engagement.

Tomorrow the Ira Gershwins are guests of honor at Howard Keel's opening at the Sands. The MGM brass and many stars are headed Las Vegas way.

In nothing flat, Cobina Wright wh'pped up a cocktail party for Perle Mesta, who has been here conferring about her TV life story. Perle wore a white mink—she said to be able to take her little white poodle into places where poodles aren't invited.

Charged in Lake Death

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—A truck driver from South Holland, Ill., Howard Rynberk, 33, has been charged with manslaughter in the boating death of 10-year-old Gloria Bania of Chicago. The girl was thrown from a rowboat following a collision with Rynberk's powerboat in Paw Paw Lake Sept. 8. Rynberg stood mute at his arraignment in Berrien County Circuit Court and was freed on bond to await trial.

Oil in Millions Spouts Out in Navajo Country

DENVER (NEA) — On a cold, snowy November day, oil men from 30 of America's biggest companies sat in the circular, theater-like building which houses the Tribal Council of the Navajo Indians at Window Rock, Ariz.

They watched and listened, sometimes in suspense, sometimes with exhilaration, as G. Warren Spaulding, general superintendent of the Navajo Reservation, opened sealed bids requesting the right to drill for oil on Navajo lands.

Before that day was over, bids totaling 27½ million dollars on 100,000 acres of tribal lands had been read.

It was the biggest dollar sale of Indian leases in history. The high bid of $3,102 for a 2,560-acre tract in Utah and the record high average of $275 per acre provided spectacular testimony of the oil industry's faith in the oil future of the desolate Four Corners area, where New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and Utah touch.

Since then, the Navajos have received another six million dollars in oil bonuses. A year ago, the Ute Indians of southwestern Colorado collected five million dollars in a lease sale.

Cold facts and shrewd reasoning underlie the sensational rush of the oil industry to the Four Corners.

Last spring, the Texas Co. brought in a discovery well near the isolated Utah-Colorado border, just west of a lump-like mountain known as the Sleeping Ute. This, the first producer in the Aneth Pool, flowed 1,704 barrels of oil a day—an initial potential comparing favorably to initial wells of the great West Texas Field.

Since, a half-dozen more wells have been tapped, flowing 1,000 barrels a day and up. And oilmen know that 200 barrels is a good well.

Further, geologists estimate proven reserves in the area contain more than 225 million barrels, worth half a billion dollars plus at present prices.

The Four Corners play is the latest in a series of good oil finds in the Rocky Mountain West since World War II. Such discoveries, principally in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota, have brought mountain region production to more than 600,000 barrels a day. Development already has cost the industry a billion dollars, and they're drilling wells at the rate of 5,000 a year.

The Four Corners oil rush, concentrated in much of the same area as the uranium boom, has seen the dusty little village of Farmington, N. M., grow from 2,500 to 15,000 since 1950, and Cortez, Colo., boom from 2,000 to 5,000.

The industry says now that major development will be delayed only by the lack of pipelines.

The Suez crisis has spurred talk of at least three such lines, running to the West Coast; to Salt Lake City, and to southern New Mexico and west Texas.

The Navajos, 80,000 strong and scattered over a 15-million-acre wasteland the size of West Virginia, long have been the diseased, half-starved, ill-housed, illiterate stepchildren of the Southwest.

Now, they have 23 million dollars in the till from the series of three November sales — and every penny of it is to be spent for overall tribal benefits.

According to a long-range program outlined by Tribal Council Chairman Paul Jones (in effect, the chief), the tribe will use at least part of these funds for:

1. A major program of water development and distribution.
2. Construction of a huge sawmill, processing products from the Navajos' 850,000 acres of forests, and employing 1,200 persons in a new town of 3,000 population.
3. A five million dollar scholarship program for young Navajos.
4. Continued development of new industry, comparable to the furniture factory in Gallup, N.M., which now employs 100 Navajos.
5. Major new facilities for recreation, housing, fuel, education, and welfare programs.

Suits Appear Easy - Going

NEW YORK (INS)—Suits this spring, says master coat and suit maker Ben Zuckerman, should "look easy-going."

"Unbuttoned jackets that show the blouse," adds Zuckerman, make for that easy-going appearance—and that's exactly what he has in his new line.

Zuckerman today showed visiting fashion editors the neatest suit silhouette of the season: A cutaway jacket over a slim gored skirt, accented by silk bow blouse, usually dotted.

The cutaway jackets, shaped but not fitted to the figure, curve away from the waist to show the blouses and belted skirts underneath. They are short, generally stopping just under the waistline, but some drop to the hip.

In skirts, Zuckerman has some fresh ideas. He combines his cutaway jacket, for instance, with tunic skirts—the tunic stopping just over the hem of the overskirt. There are also all-rounded pleated skirts.

Zuckerman's coats have cape-like back fullness for spring, often because of unpressed box pleats. Newest coat idea for a floating back view: Hemlines longer in back than in front.

Longer hemlines in a series of individual designs is what Patullo-Jo Copeland offers for spring.

Miss Copeland likes pleats and prints this season, and for everyday wear, suits. Each of her suits looks like something special—and there seems no one overall trend, except for slim skirts alternated with all-round pleated skirts.

There are slightly fitted, semi-fitted and boxy jackets, most of them hipbone length.

Pleats pop up anywhere Miss Copeland likes—on suit skirts, in little capelets and jackets over dresses, in the back panels of evening dresses and in necklines.

Her prints for spring feature fruits and flowers: Pink roses on green silk, tea roses on brown, yellow roses on black crepe de chine, pink and-purple all-over posies, and tulips and cherries, too.

Slim skirts, with short jackets accented by lingerie touches, make up the suit story at Elfreda-Visioni.

This house likes young-looking suits that have trim lines and a gay frill. Dotted silk and white pique are two favored suit fresheners.

Capes at this house come with dresses rather than suits. One costume combines a navy and white polka dot silk dress with a long navy wool cape. Another navy wool dress has its own cape stole lined with checked wool.

Criss-crossed tiers are featured on this slim-skirted dress designed in navy crepe from Elfreda-Visioni's collection. Navy and white dotted surah lines a kerchief scarf softly tied at one side of the neckline.

Here's the cape dress of navy sheer worsted for spring from the Pattullo-Jo Copeland collection. The detachable cape is banded with navy grosgrain to match horizontal skirt bands and back bows.

Sorority Elects New Officers

Members of Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority elected officers at the Tuesday evening meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Klausmeyer on Oakwood drive.

Serving as officers for the coming year are Mrs. Thomas Moffat, president; Mrs. Ralph Behler, vice president; Mrs. Klausmeyer, recording secretary; and Mrs. William Ford, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Moffat appointed Mrs. William Reuter as house chairman. Members discussed plans for their March 30 dance.

Refreshments were served to 14 members by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Roscoe Lund. Mrs. Brace will open her home for the Jan. 22 meeting.

Promenaders Greet Members

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Kintz, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Drum were welcomed as new members of Promenaders Square Dance Club at the recent dance held in Daniel Whitfield School.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rosie, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fairchild, Charles Callahan and Eileen Wheeler.

Musicale Studies Opera

By CHRISTINE GAENSBAUER

Opera was the topic for the day when members of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale met yesterday in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

Specifically the opera was "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni, and the program was a satisfying combination of instruction and entertainment.

Mrs. Luther K. Hertler, vice president of the Michigan Opera Company, told briefly of the struggles of the young composer Mascagni.

She also told of the enthusiasm with which the first performance of his "Cavalleria Rusticana" was received in 1890, when it was presented in the Rome Opera House as the winner of a competition for one-act operas.

She then showed the audience a small model of the set and described in some detail the characters, the story and action of the opera.

Mrs. Hertler speaks with the ease and fluency of one who knows her subject well, and has a talent for choosing the most apt and descriptive words so that the audience gains a clear mental picture of the emotion-packed action.

ASSISTED BY ARTISTS

As she related the story, Mrs. Hertler was assisted by three members of the Michigan Opera Company who performed musical portions of the work. These artists were Naomi Taylor, Paul Labadie and Mrs. Maria Arrata Guerra.

Mr. Labadie has a clear tenor voice with that timber one thinks of as characteristic of the operatic singer. He sang the opening aria of Turiddu Sicibana and joined Miss Taylor in a stirring duet between Turiddu and Santuzzo.

Miss Taylor has a mezzo range and supplemented the dramatic quality in her voice with appropriate dramatic action and expression which enhanced her characterization of Santuzzo. Her solo number was the well-known aria Voi lo Sapete.

Mrs. Guerra provided the piano accompaniments and also played some interludes including parts of the familiar Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," a very popular orchestral concert piece. It is to be performed by the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra in the January program.

Francesco Di Biasi, who is director of the Pontiac Symphony, also is director of the Michigan Opera and will conduct "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" which will be presented in Ford Auditorium Feb. 23.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. V. Todd and Mrs. F. G. Schlichter. Serving on the social committee were Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Charles Scribner, Mrs. Horace Hall, Mrs. Addison Oakley, Mrs. Charles Buck, Mrs. James Briney, Mrs. Collis Scott and Mrs. Robert Greenhalgh.

On the floral committee were Mrs. Byron Cole and Mrs. James R. Ladd. Tea hostesses were Mrs. J. K. Helvy and Mrs A. F. Bhehre Jr.

Silk linen and printed batiste are combined for a dress and jacket costume from the Herbert Sondheim spring and summer collection. In watermelon red, the slim skirt is attached to a red and pink printed blouse with a shirred cummerbund.

This spring ensemble of brown worsted and brown and beige silk surah is designed by Beni Claire for the Paul Parnes collection. Tabbed and banded high at the waistline, the coat covers a slim sheath.

Called the "Necklace" coat, this gold-embroidered white fleece is from Originala's spring collection. This was shown to the visiting press gathering in New York.

Look Years Younger in 8 Weeks

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Would you like to look from 5 to 10 years younger at the end of eight weeks? This isn't something I am dreaming up, but an entirely possible goal to shoot for. I have seen it happen over and over again in my classes and thousands of letters from readers tell of their success.

I am talking about my eight-week self-improvement Marathon which I offer to my readers in January of each year. Eight weeks is such a short time that anyone can stick to a routine for that long, yet it is long enough to lose 20 pounds and minimize, or lose completely, any defects in beauty you may have. You actually can look like a different person just eight weeks from now.

Remember that the first two weeks are the hardest part of any diet or exercise program. After the first week you will find your routine easier. After two weeks you will be over the hump.

Unless there is some reason for not doing so, exercise should be a part of your reducing or self-improvement program. This tones while the pounds drop off, and it speeds the loss in inches as well as in weight.

Not only that, but there are such wonderful byproducts. Many women who exercise with figure improvement their only goal find that stiff joints disappear, constipation becomes a thing of the past and they have much more energy than before.

SEE YOUR DOCTOR

You should ask your doctor to check your heart and blood pressure before beginning exercise and should follow his advice in this matter, but if he gives you the green light, make it a part of your self-improvement routine.

If you are overweight generally you will have to count calories, but if you are the correct weight you can lose, by exercise, inches in some measurement which is too large. You also can increase proportions through exercise.

Today I want to give you two easy ones. Do not be fooled because they seem simple. They are most effective.

1. Stand with your left side toward the wall. Extend left arm so fingers touch the wall. Raise your right arm up by your right ear. Hold it there while you bend, touching the fingertips of your right hand to the wall. Raise your trunk, arm still by ear. Continue.

You should be far enough away from the wall to feel a good pull at the waist when you bend your trunk toward the wall. After a while turn your right side toward the wall, raise your left arm up by you ear and continue.

2. Lie on the floor on your back. Arms rest on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to your abdomen and grasp the knees with your hands. Return legs and arms to the floor and continue.

If you would like to join my eight-week self-improvement Marathon to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks time, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Increased Attractiveness Will Improve Your Outlook."

This exercise for the waist can be found in Josephine Lowman's Marathon booklet. Bend left as you push fingertips of both hands down left leg as close to ankle as possible. Drag hands up leg as you raise trunk and pull back to right.

Wife Shows Poor Taste in Invitation

Asks One Couple to Dinner, Ignores Other Pair

By EMILY POST

Today's first letter asks: "Will you please tell me if I was wrong in the following situation: The other night as we were leaving a friend's house, and my husband and I and another couple (also friends of ours) were standing in the doorway saying oud goodbyes, I invited the host and hostess to our house for the following week.

"I did not, however, include the other couple in the invitation and my husband thinks I showed very bad manners by extending an invitation in the presence of the other couple without inviting them too. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: I'm sorry, but I agree with your husband that you were very tactless.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A new rector has recently been assigned to our church. He is quite a young man and very popular. I have heard quite a few of the parishioners call him by his first name.

"To me it is very lowering to the standard and dignity of his position. I know first-name calling has become very widespread in the present day, but isn't this going a little too far?

Answer: I agree with you. To hear your clergyman called by his first name would be most shocking.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If the men in our wedding wear formal day clothes is it necessary that they wear gloves? My fiance objects to the formal clothes on these grounds. He says he knows he will be very awkward with them."

Answer: Gloves would be necessary only if the wedding is very large and very formal in every detail of preparation. In such a wedding he would put his left glove on his hand and place his right glove in his gloved left hand.

Keep Iron Clean

The real purpose of an iron cover is to protect your iron from moisture, dust and rust. But a gay cover made of washable quilted plastic looks nice too if you leave your iron out. To do a good pressing job, wipe the sole plate of the iron often with thick hot suds.

PTA Council Discusses Student Dropouts

Pontiac Council of PTA convened Tuesday afternoon at Wilson School to hear a panel discussion on "Student Dropouts."

Serving on the panel were Mrs. Ralph Forman, teacher at Pontiac High School; James Hunt, director of children services in Oakland County, and Russell Curtis, coordinator of secondary schools.

Mr. Curtis pointed out that schools have children in their charge for a maximum of six hours out of 24 during 10 months of the year, so the responsibility is therefore shared.

He noted that the parents' attitude and expectations of a child completing school have much to do as to whether a child drops out of school before graduation; so the responsibility, therefore, for attempting a solution to this problem rests in a combined effort of schools, home and other community groups.

Mr. Curtis also pointed out that only 57.9 per cent of those who begin the first grade in Michigan schools complete the 12th grade, and even of those who enter the ninth grade, only about 71 per cent remain and graduate from the 12th.

PROBLEM STUDIED

A steering committee of Pontiac High School has been set up to find out what happens to graduates and to study the dropout problem in Pontiac.

Mrs. Forman commented on this committee's findings on a particular class which was followed through the four years of secondary education, the 9th through the 12th.

This group consisted of 936 students entering the ninth grade. Of this group, there were 266 involuntary withdrawals, for reasons such as families moving away, leaving 670 students available to graduate. Of this number, 58 per cent graduated and 42 per cent were dropouts.

The majority of these dropped out to go to work, or because they were over school age, or to get married. A large percentage of these dropout students came from broken homes or homes with both parents working.

Mr. Hunt emphasized that many of the delinquent youngsters brought into court were the ones that had problems in school and were retarded in grade achievement. A program has been set up by the court in which the winterized Camp Oakland is being used to help the court wards.

Ten thousand dollars has been appropriated by the Board of Supervisors to help operate this camp. Wards of the court live in the camp nine months and attend school in the morning hours. In the afternoon a work program is followed.

Aides from Michigan State University help in the teaching and guidance of these wards, and it is hoped that this program will provide the desire for them to re-enroll in their respective schools to finish with their classes.

FOURTH SCHOLARSHIP

It was recommended as an outgrowth of the citywide meeting of scholarship chairmen that "Pontiac Council sponsor a fourth PTA Scholarship for 1957-58 under the same policies as amended last year."

* * *

The annual Founders' Day Banquet and Pageant will be held at Lincoln Junior High School at 6 p.m. on Feb. 5. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lyle Dusenbury or Mrs. Anton Koenig before Feb. 1.

Webster School will be the scene of a meeting featuring Dr. Al Loving speaking on "Human Relations" Jan. 18 at 8 p.m.

The Association for Childhood Education will present a program Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. in Webster School. The speaker will be Mrs. Rachel Andreason, discussing UNESCO.

Mrs. William Mihalek, President of Pontiac Council of PTA, extended greetings of welcome to two new locals, the Washington Junior High School PTA and the Walton Boulevard PTA.

Members of Wilson PTA were in charge of the social hour.

Sensible Mothers-in-Law Have Regard for Privacy

List of Taboo Subjects Will Ward Off Reputation for Being Meddlesome

By RUTH MILLET

For mothers-in-law: You won't have a son-in-law or daughter-in-law convinced you are always butting into their affairs if you'll make yourself a list of all the things they are bound to consider their private business.

Make your own list, of course. But don't forget to include these points which apply to any young couple:

Don't ask them what they paid for anything. If they volunteer the information, that's their business.

Don't tell them how you think they ought to bring up their children. They are responsible for their children and they will have to take the consequences of their decisions. They ought to feel free to do as they think best.

Don't tell them how or where you think they should spend their vacations.

LET THEM LEARN

Don't criticize their friends. You may be right in sizing them up because you have lived longer and may be a better judge of people. But the young people will have to learn just as you did. You can never choose anyone else's friends.

Don't give them financial advice. They may not be managing their money as you would manage yours but that's all right. You spend as you see fit; let them do the same.

Don't offer advice to either a son or daughter on how to handle his marriage partner. What worked in your marriage might not work in theirs, and such advice is really no more than meddling.

Don't ask questions when you suspect things aren't running as smoothly as they might. If either of the young folks wants to talk about the situation you can be sure the subject will be brought out in the open without any prodding from you.

That list is just a starter. You'll be able to think of a lot of other things that really aren't your business. Make the list and abide by it and you will never be regarded as an interfering in-law.

Presbyterian Women's Group Holds Meeting

Mrs. H. H. Pattison led the opening prayer when the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church met recently in the church parlors. Letters of appreciation from families assisted during the holidays were read by Mrs. John Heitch.

Announcement was made of the Presbyterial Wednesday at Calvary Presbyterian Church, Detroit. The future lessons on "Education and Action" were outlined by Mrs. George Beauchamp.

Mrs. Asa Drury was program chairman assisted by Mrs. Roy Fosbender, Mrs. William H. Marbach, Mrs. Edward D. Auchard and Mrs. B. B. Kimball. The theme was "Christ's Way, Every Day of the New Year." Mrs. Ted Koella Jr. and Mrs. Allan Monroe conducted the memorial service.

Why Dad Is 'The Forgotten Man'

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

In the approximately 400,000 divorces which will be granted this year in this country, custody of children will be given to mothers in virtually every case.

Is this custom of automatically handing children over to mothers just another indication of the low esteem in which we hold fathers?

Reporter Howard Whitman thinks so. In a study titled "Father—The Forgotten Man" which he prepared for the Kirkbride Fund for Research in Psychiatry, he writes:

"The beating down of father has penetrated our courts in a vital sector. In the frightful business of divorce, the tendency to underrate father, to treat him as though the child had hardly any need of him has become dangerously commonplace.

This is true. But our new contemptuousness for fathers goes back beyond divorced parents' arrangements for care of children. It reaches back to their disappointment in marriage; and back of that to what they thought marriage was.

PRIVATE CONTRACT

When we get there, we find that they thought it was a private contract to provide each other with sexual satisfaction and the thrills of romantic love.

It is in this widespread refusal to recognize marriage as a primarily social contract that lies the real cause of fathers' new unimportance.

Fathers make society. They are the parents who have traditionally explained it to children. They teach them how to get along in it and help them locate their own places in it.

When marriage is viewed as a purely private arrangement instead of a serious social one that affects many people, fathers' prestige as social teachers at once begins to shrink.

In a home founded on the instabilities of mere personal feelings, fathers' masculine sense of law and order simply can't function. Their usefulness to children dies with begetting them just like that of drones in the sticky-sweet matriarchate of the beehive.

MORAL COMPACT

So what I find of top interest in Howard Whitman's interesting study is this statement: "A man and a woman entering marriage make a moral compact with life and with God to care for the fruit of their union."

* * *

When we can recover from our spoiled view of marriage as a private affair and know it again as a public one, fathers will at once recover their great dignity as leaders of families. They are public people and the managers of public affairs.

Green Beans Can Become Glamorous

Bacon, Soup Used by Mrs. Niggeman to Top Vegetable

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Anyone can open a can of vegetables, heat them and put them on the table. But dressing them up to make them look glamorous and taste different takes imagination and sets the creative cook apart.

Mrs. John P. Niggeman is such a cook. She cooks "by ear," and we had to do some discussing to get a recipe down in black and white.

With their only son away at college, Mrs. Niggeman finds that her home duties have changed somewhat. She still belongs to a child study group and her church group. Her favorite sport is bowling.

GREEN BEANS GOURMET
By Mrs. John P. Niggeman

1 can whole green beans
4-5 strips bacon
1 small onion, chopped
1 can condensed mushroom soup
Buttered bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Fry bacon crisp and crumble into pieces. Cook chopped onion in bacon fat; let cook until yellow, but not browned. Mix soup with bacon and onion and pour over beans. Season to taste.

Top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven 20-30 minutes or until dish is set. Serves 4.

Janice Moriarty Speaks Her Vows in St. Michael

Three hundred guests attended the Saturday wedding of Janice Lee Moriarty and Adolph Lee Ayotte. The 11 o'clock ceremony was solemnized in St. Michael Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Moriarty of Augusta avenue are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ayotte of Robinwood avenue are Adolph's parents.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin. She carried a bouquet of white carnations on a white prayer-book with a white rosary.

Violet Moriarty was maid of honor wearing a pink lace dress with silver accessories. She carried pink carnations. Marlene Ayotte wore yellow lace and carried yellow carnations for her duties as bridesmaid.

Clifford Paul Ayotte was best man, and usher for the ceremony was Bob Hastings.

For the reception held at the Union Hall on Baldwin avenue, Mrs. Moriarty wore a white and gold satin dress with gold accessories. Her corsage was composed of white carnations.

Mrs. Ayotte chose an aqua dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

GLENDOLIA M. WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hart of Bathurst street announce the engagement of their daughter, Glendolia M. White, to Michael Lauinger. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lauinger of East Rutgers avenue. The couple has set no date for the wedding.

Sun Colors Offer Style Cue for 1957

Watch the Inaugural Ball's color cues: It will be a toss up, to which will go the credit for launching 1957's sunny yellows into your wardrobes—the President's Inaugural Ball or "Happy Hunting," the Broadway musical in which Ethel Merman has herself a ball.

Buttercup yellow and jonquil yellow are the two top favorites for ballgowns of Washington' first ladies. In "Happy Hunting" the whole cast romps around in none but sun colors, ranging from sunrise yellow to sunset orange.

MR. and MRS. JAMES J. HUNT

Married Saturday evening in First Presbyterian Church were Luella Claudia Bell and James J. Hunt. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bell of Waterford. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunt of Lincoln avenue are James' parents.

Luella Claudia Bell Weds in Presbyterian Service

A gown of chiffon velvet styled on princess lines was worn by Luella Claudia Bell for her marriage to James Joseph Hunt on Saturday.

A veil of nylon and lace was gathered at the back of a small velvet hat, and she carried Eucharist lilies and stephanotis on a seed pearl-covered Bible. Her only jewelry was a strand of seed pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The Rev. William Marbach performed the 7:30 p.m. ceremony at First Presbyterian Church in the presence of 150 guests.

Luella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bell of Waterford, asked Joan M. Dean to serve as maid of honor.

Her other attendants were Barbara Konopka, Connie Niedziyka and Pat Fawcett, students at Ferris Institute.

Harold Hoduett served as best man for James, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunt of Lincoln avenue. Ushers were Charles McKinnon, Al Smith and Wayne Leeser of Big Rapids.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the church reception. The couple left for a wedding trip through the Southern states.

Kitchen Shelf Handy Place for Beauty Aids

A shelf in the kitchen is a handy place to keep a few beauty aids for a quick touch-up. You should have hand lotion and you should use it after each dish-washing session.

You should keep a mirror on or above the shelf so that when the doorbell rings, you can check on your appearance. Keep a brush and comb there, too, for a quick hair smoothing.

Add lipstick, powder and puff and you'll never be caught at your own door looking like something out of a comedy.

Whatever else you may want to add to the shelf is a matter of personal chiose but the things just named are basic needs for a neat appearance.

Wash Ashtrays Daily

Messy ashtrays are a mark of poor housekeeping. Best plan is to see that all ashtrays are emptied each night and rinsed, too. Then wash them, along with the breakfast dishes, in hot, soapy suds.

How to Behave During Interviews

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Almost no one is born with a natural flair for job-hunting. It's something that develops with practice, but most of us don't have a chance to get very much practice.

You have a job, you lose it or resign from it and you get another job. Maybe you have three or four interviews, and that does it.

Then one day, when the dream job opens up and you are interviewed, you're all hands and feet.

How to behave on an interview is a subject about which I'm asked every day in the year, particularly in January, when there's more job-changing than at any other time of the year.

Here are some pointers on how to put your best foot forward during the all-important interview:

1. Find out as much as you can about the company, and the executive who will interview you, before you go.

Check your local library and see if he has ever written a book about his field. Check the kind of ads the company runs.

The better informed you are, the more poised you'll be during the interview.

2. Wear the most comfortable clothes you have. If the old basic black, or the good old navy suit, makes you comfortable and at ease, wear it instead of the fancy outfit that still feels too new.

The prospective employer will be more impressed with an easy manner than with a high-fashion costume.

3. Have a typed resume with you, giving the details of your previous experience. This will keep you from going blank when he begins asking questions about your work history.

4. From beginning to end of the interview, keep your mind off yourself by keeping it on him and the company. Pretend you're a newspaper reporter and really "case" the place.

Study the reception room, observe the receptionist, study the Great Man's office, watch his facial expressions and really listen to what he says.

This will prevent you from showing any trace of self-consciousness. It will also give you some basis for judging whether or not you want to work for the company.

5. Answer any reasonable questions, such as why you left your last position and what kind of salary you want. But don't feel you have to answer the cute questions which some employers throw at you.

For example, if he says "What makes you think you're worth hiring" simply say, "That would be for you to decide."

You obviously can't know what the job requires—or whether you could fill it—until he outlines it in detail.

If you're on a job-hunting campaign, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelop, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of good books on the subject.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The Detroit Tigers held their annual shindig for press, radio and club brass last night and amidst the party laughs there was a chuckle from Spike Briggs and Fred Knorr who considered Chuck Comiskey's offer for Al Kaline as a bit of "needling."

"Because Kaline turned down his first 1957 contract offer from the Tigers, Comiskey was just making a mock proposal," said Briggs.

MUNN WINS A ROUND

Biggie Munn, Michigan State athletic director, took a round from his old boss, Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director.

Munn insisted on a home-and-home series starting in 1959-60 instead of the 4-to-1 ratio in favor of Ann Arbor.

He got what he wanted, but we doubt any threat to replace Michigan with a Minnesota series would have been carried out.

Can you imagine what public tempest would have come about if the "M"-MSU series was broken.

ENGEL STAYS AT BAY CITY

Bay City Central was reported to have given football coach Elmer Engel a three-year contract after it was rumored that Western Michigan College was seeking the Wolves coach as a successor to Jack Petoskey who resigned recently.

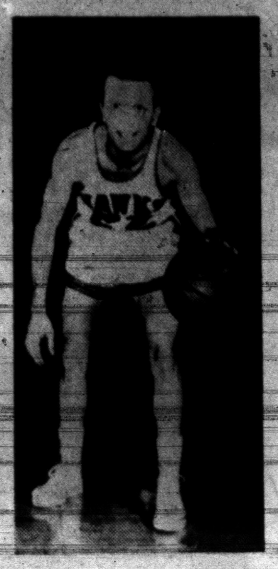

Engel has lost only two games in the past two years at Central and had the 2nd ranked team, next to Flint Northern, last year.

GAMES START TOO LATE

Many high school educators complain about mid-week basketball games because they keep students out too late the night before a regular class day.

Yet, varsity games often never get started until 8:30 or even later than 9:00 p. m. because of the lateness of junior varsity games.

Why can't reserve games start so as to complete them early enough to permit varsity games to get started by 8:00 p. m.?

NAMED COACH — Slater Martin will make his debut as coach of the St. Louis Hawks against the New York Knickerbockers this week. He was named head coach of the Hawks yesterday by Ben Kerner, club president.

Tigers Laugh at Offer for Al Kaline

Kaline Adds Pounds, Becomes Hockey Fan

(One in a series of articles on Detroit Tiger players and their off-season activities.)

DETROIT (AP) — The skinny kid who used a bonus contract to jump from the Baltimore sandlots to the big leagues in the summer of 1953 will put some added poundage into his already-hefty swing this season.

There are a dozen more pounds on Al Kaline since the Detroit Tiger centerfielder wound up the 1956 campaign. But there are no worries about conditioning — from Kaline or from the management.

"I just hope I can keep this weight I've picked up," says Al. "But I always have a tendency to lose weight during spring training and during the regular season."

He's up to 186 now. Kaline believes his best playing weight would be around 182. The Tigers think so, too.

"I'm an expert at loafing now," said Kaline, "and of course Louise is a real good cook." This, of course, means his attractive wife, who with her husband will be moving into a new brick ranch home by the time the 1957 season gets underway.

The young outfielder — he just passed his 22nd birthday a week before Christmas — admits "it's been a real easy winter." Kaline adds:

"We haven't done a thing except hunt for a house. That was our first concern. Of course, we haven't missed a Detroit Red Wing home game. And we went to a lot of football games. Outside of that, about all I've done is watch television.

How about conditioning?

"I'm in pretty good shape now. Reno Bertoia and I have been playing some basketball over in Windsor and I feel great . . . haven't even had a cold all winter."

STILL CASTING — Billy Hoeft is spending the winter fishing daily through the ice on Lake Winnebago, hard by Oshkosh, Wis. The Detroit left-hander is getting plenty of exercise, but not many perch and wall-eyed pike so far.

Chicago Makes $250,000 Cash Bid to Detroit

Bengals Turn Thumbs Down on Proposal by Chuck Comiskey

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox are in the market to purchase Al Kaline but the Detroit Tigers don't want to sell their young star outfielder — at any price.

Vice President Chuck Comiskey of the White Sox yesterday offered Detroit $250,000 in cash or players for the 22-year-old Tiger star but Detroit turned thumbs down on the deal.

Detroit General Manager Spike Briggs said "Chuck started about $150,000 short in his offer. But we aren't going to sell Kaline for any kind of money."

Briggs also put a damper on any possible further deals with the Sox by saying there is nothing on the fire at the moment.

Comiskey thought he might pry Kaline loose from Detroit since he and the Tigers were having contract troubles. Al wants a bit more than the Tigers are offering, an increase over his reported $26,000 salary for 1956.

Kaline contends he didn't receive that much. Kaline says he wants about $32,000.

"He wouldn't have any trouble coming to terms with us," said Comiskey, who is still searching for a clean-up hitter.

Comiskey would not identify the players he offered for Kaline, American League batting champion in 1955 with a .353 average, but said they included "a front line outfielder, a utility player in whom Detroit has expressed interest and a pitcher they would like to have."

Kaline last season batted .314 and was second to New York's Mickey Mantle with 128 runs batted in. Mantle had 130.

Comiskey, more or less, admitted it was wishful thinking that the Sox would get Kaline. After learning the brilliant outfielder was not on the trading block, Chuck said "I don't blame them. Kaline is a very valuable piece of baseball property. I doubt very much if they (Detroit) would part with him so we can safely say there'll be no deal."

* * *

Fred Knorr, president of the Tigers, said none of Detroit's officials even heard of the Chicago bid but even so Comiskey would be $150,000 less than an offer made by Kansas City.

"He (Comiskey) would have to raise a little even to get into the bidding," said Knorr.

Wolverines Gain 4-3 Hockey Win as Teams Exchange Punches

EAST LANSING (AP)—The fighting Spartans of Michigan State managed to draw in the fighting but lost 4-3 to Michigan in the scoring of a punch-punctuated Western Intercollegiate hockey game here last night.

Three brawls, two minor and one major, marked the 30th meeting between the two teams. State still has to win a game from Michigan since the Spartans revived hockey as a varsity sport in 1952.

Michigan State went briefly ahead in the scoring in the first period with a goal by Al Devoune.

Michigan scored a three goal flurry in the second period with scores by Dick Dunnigan, Neil McDonald and Neil Buchanan. Don McIntosh added another for the Wolverines in the third period.

In the fighting, preliminary bouts featured Don Gourley, U-M versus Ed Pollesel, MSU, and Tom Rendall, U-M, versus Bruno Pollesel, MSU.

Junior Quints Resume League Race Thursday

The Pontiac Junior High League basketball title race resumes Thursday afternoon with defending champion Washington and unbeaten Jefferson in the spotlight.

Jefferson, figured to be Washington's stiffest challenger for honors, invades Lincoln to meet the dangerous Railsplitters. The Warriors boast a 2-0 record.

Washington, winner over Lincoln in its only previous start, plays host to the Eastern Redskins. Madison Junior High is idle.

Junior varsity teams will open tomorrow's schedule with preliminary games at 3 o'clock.

Tar Heels, Jayhawks Unblemished

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten North Carolina had its 12th college basketball victory neatly tucked away today and the road ahead appeared even smoother for the Talented Tar Heels.

The Tar Heels, ranked second nationally, got past William and Mary last night. Despite the shackling of Lennie Rosenbluth they finished strong to win 71-61. The Tar Heels and the Kansas Jayhawks alone boast unblemished records among the major schools. Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain and Co. are 11-0.

Now, North Carolina can point to its Atlantic Coast Conference games against Clemson Friday night and Virginia Saturday night. Since Clemson has won only two of 10 games and Virginia is 1-7, neither figures to give Frank McGuire's club much trouble.

There was one mild upset last night. Dayton's Flyers surprised 14th-ranked Canisius 65-58. In other games, Southern Methodist (No. 4) tripped Texas A&M 62-53 as Jim Krebs scored 30 points. Hot Rod Hundley registered 32 points to lead West Virginia (No. 18) to an 89-86 victory over Pittsburgh. And although Chet Forte rang up 34 points, Princeton turned back Columbia 100-96 in an overtime Ivy League tussle.

The North Carolina triumph was not an easy one. The Tar Heels trailed 28-26 at halftime but they hit for seven straight free throws to grab a lead they never relinquished. Rosenbluth, who had a 26.5 points a game average, managed only 10 points, eight via the free throw route.

Dayton's "iron men" put a zone defense to good advantage against Canisius. The Flyers, using the same five players throughout, hit with 49 per cent of their shots. Dayton, now 6-6, held a one-point lead at the half. The setback was only the second for Canisius against 10 triumphs.

Hundley connected on 13 field goals and six free throws for West Virginia, which broke a 69-69 deadlock with eight straight points late in the game. The Mountaineers are now 10-3. Pitt got 29 points from sophomore star Don Hennon.

With three regulars out on personal fouls, second stringers turned the tide for Princeton. Robert Bowen entered the game at the start of the overtime and sank a layup and two fouls in the first 38 seconds. Walt Blankley and Art Klein, two more subs, then pumped in nine points between them and sent Columbia down to its first league defeat. Forte's production was a new record for the Princeton gym.

In other league games, the Texas Longhorns, shooting at a 55 per cent clip, dumped Texas Christian 85-76 in the Southwest Conference and four foul shots in the final 30 seconds by Lee Marshall enabled Washington and Lee to nip The Citadel 72-69 in the Southern Conference.

Jay Matmen Defeat Farmington, 24-23

Southfield and Farmington High Schools opened their first wrestling seasons in sparkling style with the Bluejays pulling out a hard-earned 24-23 decision at the SHS gym last night.

The visitors missed a chance to pull out the verdict in the final match despite a decision win by heavyweight George Fawlett over Dave Marsh because a pin was needed to overcome the Southfield lead.

Little 95-pounder Dave Butler and Dan Caverly (103) scored pins for Southfield as did Farmington's 138-pounder Jerry Cassell. Sheldon Beckwith (175), and Bob Dwyer (133). Decisions were posted by Bluejays Garry Dobbert, Bill Johnson, Tom James, and Larry Selinsky. Nick Staudt, a 112-pounder, was the other point-getter for the losers.

Thanks to Flint Central and a poor shooting night for Flint Northern, Pontiac High School's basketball team sits all alone atop the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Northern had its coldest night of the season in losing a 38-35 decision to city rival Central yesterday. The Vikings made only 14 to 79 shots for a percentage of .179.

Central decided to play for the good shots, taking only 47 while hitting on 15 for a .319 mark.

As result, Northern, Central and Saginaw are now knotted behind Pontiac in the SVC standings with 2-1 marks.

The Chiefs could pad their 1st place standing Friday night against Northern on the PHS court. The Vikings have been a long standing jinx for Pontiac, having beaten the Chiefs seven of the last eight regular season games.

Lone victory for Pontiac since 1950 was a 55-38 win in 1954. However the Chiefs did tumble Northern in post-season tourney play last year in the regionals.

One of the teams which SVC members figure will be tough this year is Saginaw, a veteran team with plenty of height. The Trojans will visit Pontiac a week from Friday.

The Vikings have several good veterans from last year's championship squad, headed by 6-foot-4 Al Miller. Miller had one of his poor games last night bagging only 11 points.

The continuous problem for PHS coach Art Van Ryzin has been at forward. With Roosevelt Alexander playing with the reserves, Van Ryzin has not decided who will start up front from the three leading prospects, Dick Whitmer, Terry Zellhart and Jim Skinner.

Skinner played his first game against Bay City Central and although he was not effective in hitting his shots he gave Hudson Ray some assistance on the boards.

The Chiefs will be aiming for victory number six in overall play. The present string of five is the first time in history a PHS cage team has recorded such a streak to start a season.

Amateur Fencing Tourney Here Sunday in PHS Gym

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's Fencing Club and the Michigan Division of the Amateur Fencing League of America will conduct a prep class tournament this Sunday at the Pontiac High School boys gymnasium.

Competition is open to all fencers, both men and women, who have never fenced in an open amateur tourney before. Participation in this style of tourney is required before fencers are eligible to compete in other type tournaments.

Between 50 and 60 fencers are expected to take part in the event. Entries will come from Detroit, Dearborn, Lapeer, Ann Arbor, East Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Birmingham and Pontiac.

Top contestants from Pontiac are Richard Bell and Emmanual Johnson in the men's division and Barbara Martin and Mary Lee McGinley in the women's division.

Robert Derderain president of the Michigan Division of the AFLA, is the tourney chairman. Assisting him will be Eldon Gardner, Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department fencing instructor.

Tournament officials, not yet named, will be ranking fencers from the Pontiac area.

Sunday's tourney is open to the public and there is no charge. Competition runs from 1 to 7 p.m. Plenty of seating room is available.

Brown Starter for West Pros

Driscoll Puts Bears' Quarter in No. 1 Post for Sunday Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Paddy Driscoll of the West team that will face the East in the seventh annual Pro-Bowl football game Sunday, said today that Ed Brown, his Chicago Bears quarterback, will be the starting signal caller

"He was picked as the No. 1 quarterback, and he's more familiar with our way of doing things," said Driscoll, "but it's too bad we aren't playing six quarters because the fans would get a kick out of seeing all three quarterbacks — Brown, Tobin Rote and Bobby Layne."

* * *

Jim Lee Howell, coach of the East, is pleased with the workouts of his squad, but he says the West has "more striking power than any other football team ever assembled."

"There is one thing I like best of all about that team," Howell continued. "That is we have to play it only once."

'Hurricane' Accused of Forging License

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Hurricane Jackson, No. 1 heavyweight boxing contender who fatally injured a pedestrian with his auto, was arrested last night on a charge of forging a driver's license.

The 26-year-old Negro boxer was held overnight in a police station detention cell pending arraignment today in Felony Court.

The man he struck, Charles Balga, 60, died yesterday in a Queens hospital. He was hit Monday night while chasing his dog across a street in Edgemere, Queens.

Skating Rink Opens

Dedication at Cranbrook

Cranbrook School will formally dedicate its new outdoor skating rink Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Built at a cost of approximately $100,000, largely raised from public subscriptions, the artificial rink will provide day and night skating facilities six months out of the year. It will also permit Cranbrook School to have a varsity hockey team.

The Detroit Skating Club will then present a half hour figure skating exhibition, followed by a hockey scrimmage by one of their sponsored teams.

Construction of this rink was a significant step in Cranbrook's history, since it was the first effort to add to the school's plant by raising outside funds.

It is expected that skating on this rink will be available not only to Cranbrook students but also, through a membership program, to persons from other Cranbrook institutions and nearby communities.

Hillite Swimmers Sink Trojans 60-36

Arthur Hill's tankers Tuesday added another link in their chain of straight victories this season, with a 60-36 swamping of the cross-town Saginaw High Trojans. Win was Dave Gainey's 4th dual meet victory. Four records were set and another was tied for the new Jack pool. Hillites are tops in the Valley circuit and appear headed for another title.

Flint Central and Northern tangle today at Vikings' pool. Pontiac faces Northern Friday at Flint, still seeking its first SVC win.

Royal Oak defeated Trenton, at Royal Oak last night, 56-19 in a non-league match. One of the top performances was the 200-yard freestyle 2:11.5 effort by freshman Barry Johnson. Win was Acorns' fourth.

Aids Argonaut Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Los Angeles Ram halfback Tommy (Cricket) Kalmanir has signed a contract to assist Hampton Pool as coach of the Toronto Argonauts.

Kalmanir played at the University of Nevada and after finishing his three-year stint with the Rams in 1952 he went to Canada.

Daugherty Sought at Cal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michigan State's Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty heads the list of possible successors to Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf as football coach at the University of California, the San Francisco Examiner said today.

The Examiner said in a front page story that the list of candidates for the California job has been narrowed to three, with one preferred.

It said that close observers at Berkeley were almost unanimous in the opinion that Daugherty is the man.

Without naming its sources, the paper said that California is prepared to go as high as $20,000 to obtain its choice.

Waldorf was receiving $17,500 when he resigned after 10 years at the UC helm.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Heavyweight Wayne Bethea, who lost a decision to Zora Folley in New York last month, is nevertheless a 7-5 favorite to win their rematch tonight.

They meet in the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium in a 10-rounder that will be televised nationally, ABC, starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Bethea also relinquished to Folley the No. 10 spot in the heavyweight division of the National Boxing Assn. standings.

Skipper Rally Beats Avondale, 62-44

By BILL CORNWELL

A sizzling second half sent Waterford High School on its way to a 62-44 victory over Avondale last night at Avondale in the 11th renewal of their basketball rivalry.

Waterford's 3rd triumph in four starts was not as easy as the score would indicate, however. The fired-up Jackets completely outplayed the visitors in the 1st half and held a 26-22 lead at intermission.

John Herrington should receive a lion's share of the credit for Waterford's win. The junior forward finally started living up to the expectations of coach Don Beedle.

Last season's No. 1 point-maker for the Waterford reserves, the promoted Herrington began burning up the premises in the 2nd half.

He wound up the evening with 18 points, good for runner-up honors, and 16 of them were fired in the final two quarters. Ten markers came during the 3rd period when rallying Waterford moved ahead to stay.

Center Chuck Gillis performed his usual yeoman-like chores for the Skippers. After Avondale's defense kept him pinned on the outside for two quarters, he maneuvered inside and took command of the boards.

The ace shot-maker poured in 10 field goals and five foul shots for 25 points. It was a pair of free throws by the 6-foot-4 southpaw at the 5:07 mark of the 3rd period that put the Skippers in front for the 1st time since early in the 1st stanza.

Avondale briefly regained the advantage, 35-34, on a field goal by Fred Hyten, but successive buckets by Herrington and Gillis handed the Skippers a lead they never relinquished.

It was a game of contrasts in two ways. The Skippers were as hot in the 2nd half as Avondale was in the 1st. Dick Gronski, the Jackets' scoring star, was as cold in the 2nd half as Herrington was in the 1st.

Gronski led the Avondale attack with 16 points, all fielders. He tallied 14 of his total in the 1st half.

Utilizing an alert defense and a racehorse offense, the Yellow Jackets got off to a fast start and threatened to run Waterford right out of the gymnasium. But superior shooting eventually told the story.

The Skippers showed excellence at the foul line, making 12 out of 16 tries. Avondale missed 11 charity tosses in 21 attempts.

Steve Saunders took runner-up laurels for the Jackets with 10 points. It was Avon's 3rd loss in four games.

Waterford's junior varsity defeated the Avondale reserves, 44-39, in the preliminary game. Chuck Akers netted 18 points for the Skipper JV's while Avon's Allan Swanson scored 14.

Dragons Blast Oxford, 75-56

Neira Hits 33 for New Record; Orion Romps After Trailing 17-1

A record-setting performance by sharpshooter Nick Neira sparked the Lake Orion Dragons to an impressive 75-56 walloping of neighboring Oxford in a meeting of old rivals at Orion last night.

The slim guard tallied eight field goals and 17 of 20 free throws for 33 points breaking the former mark of 31 set by Jim Bradley in 1953 as the home forces posted their 3rd triumph in five games.

It took a remarkable comeback in one of the most unusual first quarters ever seen anywhere to turn the tide for the Dragons. Oxford, which has now lost four straight, started like wild romping to a 17-1 first period lead in the opening five minutes only to have the Green and White bounce right back to hold an amazing 18-2 edge for the next three minutes to gain a 19-19 tie at the end of the wierd session.

The rest of the contest was all Orion with two 20-point quarters making things easy. Jim Drake and Ralph McLachlan were other key figures in the attack with 18 and 11 points, respectively.

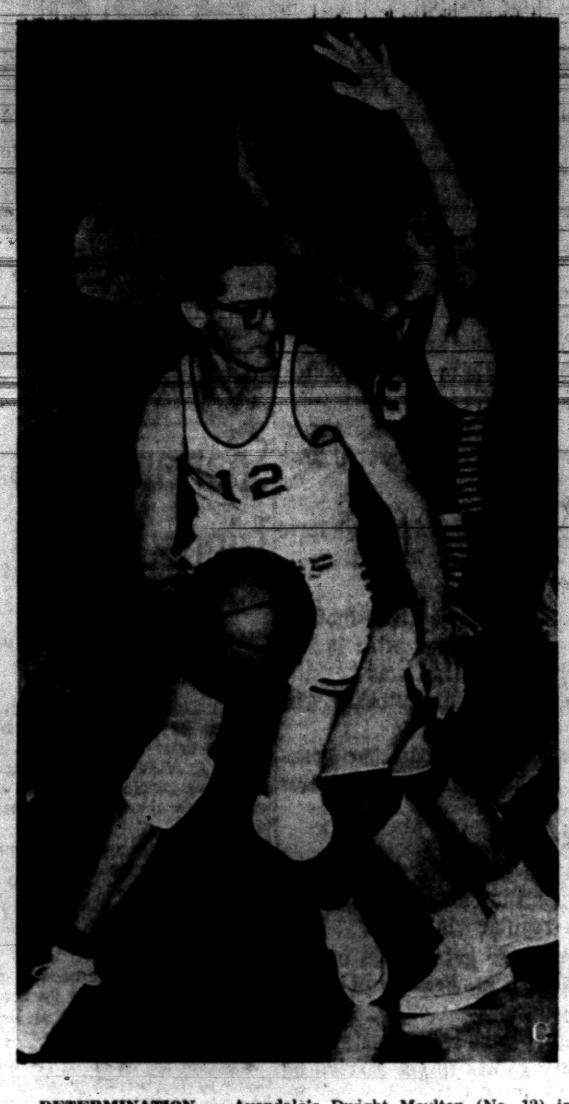

Bill Noles starred in the losing cause with 19 digits with Bob Brannon adding 14 and Carl Roland 13. Hitting 60 per cent of foul shots was a big part of the Lake Orion surge following the slow start.

DETERMINATION — Avondale's Dwight Moulton (No. 12) is a picture of grim determination as he tries to maneuver around the defensive threat of John Herrington of Waterford in the 2nd quarter of their basketball game last night at Avondale. Waterford rallied in the 2nd half to gain a 62-44 decision.

Citizens Rally to Save Team for Schenectady

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — A "citizens committee for baseball" was in operation today in a move to save the Schenectady Blue Jays Eastern League baseball team.

The team's owner announced last week he was withdrawing the club from the Class A league, in which it won the 1956 championship. He said it had been losing money since 1953.

The citizens' committee of 134 members was organized last night at a meeting of business and professional men, sports leaders and baseball fans, including some women.

Popular Skating Area

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville is catering to record crowds this season with a third skating rink providing more space than ever. The rinks are in a sheltered valley and are bordered by tables, benches and fire rings, with a warm shelter nearby. The lights are on each night until 11 p. m.

Lakers Beaten; Dryden a Winner

Clarkston 2nd in W-O Loop, Holly Wins

By CHUCK ABAIR

"I wish we could play all our games at home," was the comment of Clarkston High Coach Dom Mauti last night after his Wolves copped their fourth straight at the CHS gym by whipping West Bloomfield, 72-54 in a renewal of Wayne-Oakland League action.

The triumph moved Clarkston into sole possession of 2nd place in the loop with a 3-1 record. In other games, Northville continued on top by tripping Clarenceville for win No. 5 and Holly dumped Brighton, 78-64.

Ten boys took part in the scoring for Clarkston with Dick Lippert emerging as a new offensive star by garnering 16 to lead the pack. Dependables George Lang and Leroy Parks were close behind with 15 and 11. John Lucadem and Ralph Gordhammer matched 14-point efforts for the Keego Harbor cagers.

The Wolves had things all their own way after a 15-12 first quarter. The scoreboard read 31-23 at halftime and a 22-point third canto led by the Lippert-Lang combination wrapped things up for the home club as West Bloomfield went down to its 5th straight loss, four of them in the league.

Clarenceville turned in an outstanding showing in almost upsetting the leaders despite a final score of 54-47. The host quintet trailed only 48-47 with only 1½ minutes left before the Mustangs rallied to ice the verdict aided by key foul shots.

Three boys hit double numbers for the victors led by Bill Yahne, who hooped 16. Clarenceville is now 2-2 in W-O play.

Holly's Broncos piled up a 44-33 first half lead and coasted the rest of the way to their 2nd triumph in four loop starts despite a 32-point scoring show by Brighton deadeye Brian Watson. Big George McDaniel topped the well-balanced winning attack with 19.

In the Southern Thumb League, Memphis and Dryden gained ground on idle Almont with victories in close contests. Almont tops the standings with a 5-0 record.

Ed Miller converted two fouls with 50 seconds remaining to give Memphis a 56-55 triumph over Brown City which dropped its 2nd loop tilt in a row after winning the first four.

Dryden held the edge most of the way but had to stave off a gallant final period bid by upset-minded and winless Capac for a 55-50 victory. Norm Soroko paced DHS with 16 and Max Howell caged 17 for Capac.

Elsewhere around the area, Ray Rieti hit the hoop for 21 point to spark Ferndale St. James to its 1st win in four starts in a 56-50 decision over Hazel Park St. Rita in Suburban Catholic loop; South Lyon dropped a heartbreaker in overtime after leading most of the night as fowlerville pulled out a 38-35 verdict; Imlay City stayed unbeaten making Kingston victim No. 7, 59-42; Troy upended Lakeview of St. Clair Shores, 55-42; and Tom Wilson tallied 22 but Lapeer dropped a 68-63 game to Flint Bendle.

Tuttle Stays in Shape as Basketball Official

DETROIT (AP) — About 45 or 50 high school basketball games are keeping Bill Tuttle, Detroit Tiger centerfielder, busy during the off-season.

Bill's evening schedule is jammed as he travels around central Illinois officiating.

"These kids are plenty fast," said Bill. "It's tough to keep up with them but so far I haven't fallen behind."

The officiating, plus plenty of hunting—for ducks, geese, quail and rabbits—keep Tuttle's legs in shape. He's done some work in a lumber yard around his home in Farmington, Ill., and chops a little wood for his own fireplace.

The Tuttles have three children and expect another one in mid-March. Mrs. Tuttle will accompany her husband to training camp in Lakeland, Fla. Bill is another player who plans to report early "to get a good start."

A little excess weight bothered Tuttle last season. After he was injured, he never got started again and was the club's major disappointment.

"I'm taking off some weight and I'm going to show everyone I'm ready to have a good season. I didn't like having a bad season any better than anyone else.

"I know I can't be as bad as my record for last year shows (it shows a .283 batting average.) Then I was hanging out on a limb for a while . . . everytime I picked up a paper I read that I was about to be traded.

"Then I read that the manager (Jack Tighe) announced he planned to keep me. The fact that Jack had some confidence in me helps a lot. I had a couple of good years for him and he's a great manager to work under."

No Softening Plan for NCAA

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has indicated it doesn't plan to soften its penalties against member schools put on probation for infractions of the recruiting rules.

Walt Byers, executive director, said last night the 18-man NCAA council hasn't discussed and doesn't plan to discuss any changes in its basic penalty structure.

The council has been meeting in connection with the NCAA's 51st convention, which opened today.

The Byers statement seemed to squelch the hopes of schools on probation in the Pacific Coast Conference that the ban on their participation in NCAA events might be softened.

The Pacific Coast Conference last week modified its own penalties against Washington, California, Southern Cal and UCLA, limiting their application to football.

But the schools still are barred from 27 post-season tournaments and other events either sponsored or blessed by the NCAA.

Coaches generally have joined in a plaint that basketball teams, tennis players, golf teams and track stars should not be penalized for recruiting violations by the football staff.

The NCAA position has been that a school has "institutional responsibility' for all its athletic departments and all of them must bear the brunt of penalties.

Byers declined to say if any appeals had been received from the Pacific Coast Conference. He pointed out there is an NCAA policy of secrecy on such matters until the council announces its action on them.

The council did lift yesterday the probation which has barred Miami, Fla., University from NCAA events for two years.

It also confirmed the lifting of a wrist-slapping probation it had put on St. Louis University.

Rumoring about football coaching jobs was the main sport as athletic officials gathered for the convention.

The grapevine had it that Pete Elliott of Nebraska is ticketed to go to Washington, which recently lost Darrell Royal to Texas.

Bill Orwig, athletic director at Nebraska, said he was worried about the possibility of losing Elliott, who has been at Nebraska only a year after assisting Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma.

One rumorer predicted Bill Jennings, another former Wilkinson assistant who went to Nebraska with Elliott, will be the next head coach at Nebraska.

Frank Broyles, assistant coach at Georgia Tech, was rumored to be the leading candidate to succeed Don Faurot, retiring at Missouri. But several others still figured in the Missouri rumors. Among them were Charles Moser of Abilene, Tex., High School and Phil Bengtson, a former Faurot assistant now with the San Francisco '49ers.

Today's program included a football coaches' luncheon, with Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee getting the coach-of-the-year award and a speech by Morris Frank, Houston Chronicle columnist.

* * *

The rules committee of the American Football Coaches Assn. agreed to recommend to the NCAA rules committee some liberalization of the present regulations on substitutions. It reported it was satisfied on the whole with the present rules.

Wonders Where He Will Play

Littlefield Is 'Other Man' in Trade

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Littlefield looks with envy on those major league ball players who fire back their contracts unsigned and ask for more money.

Dick has a pretty little contract from the Brooklyn Dodgers he'd like to sign but can't.

Littlefield, a 20-year-old pitcher, was the "other man" in the much publicized baseball trade of several weeks ago that sent Jackie Robinson to the New York Giants from the Dodgers.

Brooklyn got Littlefield, a southpaw who has worked for eight major league teams since he first hit the big time in 1950, and $30,000 cash in the Robinson deal.

And then Robinson stymied everything by announcing that he was quitting baseball absolutely.

For the present Robinson is a member of the Giants and Littlefield is a Dodger. But all that probably will change when Jackie gets around to writing President Warren Giles of the National League to make his retirement official. The Giants, of course, could keep title to Robinson in hopes they might persuade him to change his mind. But Jackie says his mind is made up.

Meanwhile, Littlefield, who makes his home here, is sitting, waiting and hoping.

"Sure I'm disappointed,' he admitted, "I've always wanted to pitch for a pennant winner. But what can you do? I can't blame anybody."

The Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox put up a battle to sign Littlefield to a minor league contract when he came out of the Navy in 1946. He pitched the Red Sox but they traded him to the White Sox at the end of the 1950 season, his first in the majors.

Since then he has toiled for the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns, Baltimore Orioles, Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals and the Giants. His over-all major league record is 31 victories and 50 losses.

* * *

"I haven't heard from anybody,' Littlefield said. "All I know about the deal blowing up is what I've read. I've got this contract and I'd sure like to sign it. But what good would it do until things get settled?

"I suppose I'll be hearing from the clubs sometime soon. After all it's not long until spring training.'

Red Wings Edge Cleveland Club in Benefit Tilt

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A late third period goal by Dutch Reibel led Detroit's National Hockey League-leading Red Wings to a free-scoring 7-6 exhibition victory over Cleveland last night.

Detroit held a 3-1 lead going into the second frame, but Gordon Vejprava hit for two of his hat trick goals to bring Cleveland even. Then Norm Ullman scored for Detroit and Cleveland evened it again.

Two third period goals by Gordie Howe helped Detroit pull up to the Clevelanders before Reibel ended it. The game was a national polio foundation benefit.

Michigan State's four home football games drew 203,051 fans in 1956.

Star Aussie Jockey Makes Coast Debut

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—The Australian jockey who has three Epsom Downs victories to his credit, W. Rae Johnstone, makes his debut at Santa Anita today in the fifth race aboard Louis B. Mayer's Irish-bred Trailmond's Slipper.

Johnstone is 51, lives in Paris, has ridden at tracks all over the world, and will remain at Santa Anita to ride Master Boing in the $100,000 S.A. Handicap and the San Juan Capistrano Handicap.

Today's feature at Santa Anita, the $15,000-added La Centinela at six furlongs, drew 16 fillies, including Molly Maid, full sister to Swaps. It is a race for 3-year-olds and Royal Rasher is the likely favorite.

Houston Eyes Sam Baugh

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Former professional football star Sammy Baugh, who says he wants to better himself in the coaching profession, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Bill Meek at the University of Houston.

Meek, 34, quit Houston for a 10-year-contract at Southern Methodist in the Southwest Conference.

Baugh, former Texas Christian All-America and a pro star for 16 years, said yesterday he has not applied for the job, "but if they are interested in me I certainly would like to talk to them."

"I'm definitely interested in improving myself in the coaching profession and the University of Houston job would be a big step."

Baugh has been head coach at Hardin - Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., for the past two years. He has three years to go on a five-year contract.

Two other names were mentioned as a possible successor to Meek; Tom Nugent of Florida State and Charlie Waller, former backfield coach at Texas. Waller is now out of a job because of the resignation of Ed Price at Texas. Darrell Royal, who took over Price's job, took all his assistants from Washington State.

Harry Fouke, Houston athletic director, was in St. Louis, Mo., for the NCAA meeting. He declined to comment on newspaper reports that Waller, Baugh and Nugent were being considered for the post.

"We are of course interested in anyone who is interested in us,' he said. "But I have only been exploring the problem so far."

He said no candidates would be visiting Houston about the job until at least next week.

Dog Obedience Training Again Offered by SMOTC

Winter and spring obedience training classes for dogs will be offered owners of canines of any breed, size or age by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training club, for many years the top source for such training in the southeastern part of the state.

The club, formed in the Pontiac area, has grown to such an extent that it now operates training courses in many communities as well as in this area.

The 1957 series of classes will begin Jan. 24 in the Daniel Whitfield School gymnasium, scene of the club's first class. However, a demonstration of what obedience training offers, has been arranged for Jan. 17 (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the Whitfield school. Public is invited. There will be no charge.

Interested dog owners are requested to leave their dogs at home, for the demonstration night. Regular training work begins the following Thursday night, with veteran trainer John Eicher in charge. Information concerning the classes may be had by calling Eicher at FE 2-4867.

Clubmen Help Habitat Work

OCSC Group Has First Work Bee Saturday at Two Sites

First of several work bees designed to aid in improvement of local area game habitats, has been set up for Saturday by the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

It was expected today that about 50 clubmen, armed with axes and saws would be on hand for a visit to Ortonville and Bald Mountain recreation areas to cut brush, trim trees and prepare brush piles for game covers.

The group will convene at OCSC headquarters at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, and operate at the two areas under direction of conservation men, district superviseor Tom Osmer of Imlay City, Ted Fairnake of Holly, and Bob Boss of Ortonville.

Charley Mills is the OCSC work crew boss and will have Walt Mason, Bill Perry, Fred Herman and Bob Porritt as aides.

A hot lunch will be served the workers at noon.

Pistol Club Elects, Plans New Matches

Fred T. Mayer has been named president of the NRA affiliated OCSC Pistol Club, in the club's first annual election, held recently. At the same time the club moved to install heavier backstops on its indoor range to permit use of all caliber handguns. At present only .22 caliber is fired.

Shoots are held each Wednesday night at OCSC clubhouse. Several new matches are being set up for the near future, with Multi-Lakes and Lake Orion Rifle & Pistol Club marksmen. Visitors are welcome.

Other officers for 1957 include: vice president George Forstrom; secretary-treasurer, R. Kayga; executive officer, H. Phillips and range officer, C. Schmidt.

New York — Andy Carey of the Yankees struck out five straight times in the 1956 world series, bowing to four pitchers.

Kent Lake Reports Four Inches of Ice

Four inches or more of ice on Kent Lake in Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson offer a good base for fishermen and also for skaters. The rink is lighted each night and a warm shelter is nearby.

Wildwing Lake, smaller of Kensington park's two lakes, is also popular with ice fishermen.

Annual Piscatorial 'Fling'

Ice-Fishing Derby Jan. 26

Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair announces plans for the 5th annual Ice Fishing Derby to be staged Saturday, Jan. 26.

The perch-fishing derby is under the direction of Frank "Curly" Burch, executive secretary, Detroit Sportsmen's Congress and member of the Conservation Commission.

A weekly perch fishing contest with two prizes each for men and women catching longest perch started Monday, and will be continued through the season, closing at noon each Saturday. The park's bait and tackle shop is headquarters.

James Pompo, beach manager, said 1,200 skaters used the free, lighted skating rink on New Year's Day. Closing hour for the rink and adjacent food bar is 10:30 p. m.

"Derby" judges include prominent sportsmen's clubmen, the mayor of Mt. Clemens, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, and others.

Eighteen trophies will be given men, women and youngsters for longest perch, poundage of total catch, for most original tackle and to the oldest man and woman participating. Rule sheets and entry blanks are available at the beach.

Beach offers parking for 6,000 cars, warm shelters, a bait and tackle shop, food bar and skating rink. Everything except food, bait and tackle is free.

Currently there is fishing on two Black Creek boat basins and officials said they expected Lake St. Clair ice to be thick enough for fishing after a few more cold days.

Taste for Haggis!!

Highland Meal Preamble to Curling

By JACK PATTERSON

We've long cherished the notion that our dyspeptic nature can largely be laid to the efforts of various guides to prove the proposition that a hungry man can eat anything. As food "butcherers," guides stand supreme. Or so we thought until we came face-to-face with a haggis.

It was at the PATTERSON Detroit Curling Club the other morning and about halfway through the pre-breakfast hour it was announced that because it was the first Sunday of the New Year, a technically special occasion, a haggis would be piped in to breakfast.

Well, for the benefit of those whose ancestors come from somewhere other than in the hi'lands, a haggis is a culinary horror compounded of chopped liver, oatmeal and other unmentionables, boiled in a sheep's stomach.

Once settled at table the stately procession began. First the piper, skirling away at what might have been "Sweet Annie O' Argyll" and again might have not. Then borne high and triumphantly by a sombre dignitary, came the haggis. A stirring scene that raised our neck hairs.

The trap had sprung. It was too late for flight. On the advice of the gentleman to our right, a man of broad experience in such matters, we liberally splashed our portion with Mr. Dewar's highland gravy, and eyes straight ahead, put it down.

We have only two comments to make on the pride of Scotland. First the original author of this gastric fright must have suffered many thin days before being driven to its creation. Second, we doff our hat in deep respect to ancestors hardy enough to skylark around the hills all day in drafty kilts and then have strength left to down such fare. We would, anyway, if we had a hat.

What we are leading up to in this rather wordy preamble is that the ancient and honorable game of curling, first practiced in the U. S. on Oakland County's own Orchard Lake, is an undeservedly neglected winter sport in these parts. Four pairs of stones and a stretch of ice are the essentials. Ice we got and stones are easily obtainable.

Particularly for the lakefront resident, a curling "sheet" would add another dimension to local winter activities. A game of skill and finesse (and exercise) combining the better angles of lawn bowling and shuffleboard, curling is an ideal winter conditioner for those too itchy to ice fish, too pear-shaped to cut graceful figures-of-eight on skates or too brittle to survive the ski runs.

Long popular throughout Canada and the cold countries abroad, curling is a sport that could and should get a big play on local lakes.

Grains Decline to Small Losses

CHICAGO (AP)—In an atmosphere which was predominately bearish, grains dipped for small losses on the board of trade today. Dealings were fairly active.

Resistance to the downturn was shown at the start by the distant corn futures, largely influenced by planting prospects for the 1957 crop, but they soon joined the decline. In no case however did the losses run far because good resting order demand appeared.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ⅝ lower, March $2.39⅝, corn ⅛ to ⅝ lower, March $1.35¼, oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, March 78, rye ¼ to 1¼ higher, March $1.47¼, soybeans ¼ to ½ lower, January $2.48, and lard 7 to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $15.25.

Fire Guts Building in Groveland Area

The second fire within eight months nearly destroyed the Dixie Mushroom House at 14366 Dixie Highway, Groveland Township, this morning. Firemen estimated the damage would reach several thousand dollars. There were no injuries.

A boiler situated between two connecting buildings was believed to have caused the blaze which took the Holly Fire Department five hours to extinguish. Investigators reported there was no one at the company when the fire broke out at approximately 6:15 a.m.

One building was gutted and the other about two-thirds destroyed, according to firefighters. The majority of the equipment and contents were also lost.

The corporation which owns the plant has not yet decided on rebuilding plans. The business had reportedly been operating successfully since the last blaze occurred last spring.

Heavy Trading Boosts Steels

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were heavily traded early this afternoon as the stock market moved up slightly on average.

Gains among leading issues ran to around 3 points but there was a scattering of losses going to 1 or 2 points.

The market was somewhat mixed at the opening but a higher tendency became more pronounced pushing the list to the upside.

A burst of activity hit the steels and the prices of U.S. Steel and Bethlehem gyrated momentarily. This movement ended with leading steels on the upside and nothing in the news to warrant the performance.

In the absence of outstanding news affecting prices, brokers said the market was being guided by technical considerations mainly.

Ford Donates Land for Dearborn Center

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. today announced the gift of a 50-acre tract of land to the city of Dearborn as a site for a community civic center development.

Henry Ford II, company president, said the gift was a "dividend of appreciation" to the city. Ford Motor Co. home offices have been located in the Detroit suburb for almost 30 years.

According to plans submitted to Ford, the proposed civic center will include buildings to house city government offices, police departments, courts, library and health center, as well as recreational facilities.

Work on the center is expected to start in 1957. Bond issues for financing the project now total more than $2,300,000.

Board May Ask for Bids

Waterford Awaits School OK

If plans and specifications for two new elementary schools are approved by the Waterford Township board at a special meeting tonight, the board of education will probably receive bids by the end of the month.

These two buildings are a part of the school building program approved by the Waterford Township electors last February. The bond issue voted on at that time for 3½ million included four elementary schools, and a new junior high as well as school sites.

The two 12-room schools will be located on Maceday Drive near Williams Lake road, and one on Elizabeth Lake road at Lochaven. They should be ready for occupancy by next fall, according to William Shunck, superintendent of Waterford Township schools.

The new schools will be constructed along the same lines as the recently completed McVittie, William Austin Burt, Eliza Seeman Legget and John Monteith schools, with the exception of minor changes.

Contractors will be asked to submit two bids for the schools, one on a 12-room building, and another with two alternate rooms.

Eugene Cleland, representing the George E. Mason Architectural firm of Detroit, will present the plans and specifications at the meeting.

State Largest GM Supplier

Firms' Goods, Services First in Dollar Volume, Survey Shows

Michigan ranks first among the 48 states in the number of General Motors suppliers and their dollar volume of business, according to a recently-completed GM survey which covered the 1955 period.

The corporation bought goods or services from 6,357 Michigan firms for a total of nearly $1,749,000,000, the study revealed.

The preponderance of small businesses among GM suppliers held true in the state where only 503 of the 6,357 employed more than 500 persons. A total of 4,767 had fewer than 100 employes each.

Ohio was second and New York was third in the number of suppliers and dollar volume, according to the survey.

The company said that its dollar volume reached nearly $4 billion to 15,224 firms in the East North Central States for goods and services.

Sixty-five per cent of GM's Michigan suppliers — 2,490 — have done business with the corporation for more than five years. Another 2,584 have been suppliers for more than 10 years and 1,180 for more than 20 years.

MSU Research Enables Farmer to Clarify Costs

A new Michigan State University device called "mail-in farm accounting," is enabling 18 county farm families to determine the strong and weak points of their farm program, says Jay Poffenberger, assistant county agricultural agent.

The system which is a research project of the university encourages participating families to record their expenses and receipts and mail them to the university monthly.

Researchers tally and classify each individual family's records. Final classifications show them if too much of the farming budget is going for the wrong items, Poffenberger said.

Fred Allen's Death Darkens the 1956 Comedy Scene

Borge Reaches Television Peak

Year Just Ended Sees George Gobel Slipping and Kovacs Rising

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — The past year was a tragic one for comedy. Fred Allen died on St. Patrick's Day and left a void far beyond the impact his final TV days would indicate.

For he had made a far greater reputation in the general cause of comedy than rightly could be appreciated in anything but the total view of his inspired satirical lunacy in Vaudeville, on Broadway and on radio . . .

Fred was more than a buffoon, more an observer who looked at his world through rose-colored sarcasm . . .

Victor Borge set the newest peak of showmanship — two one-man TV shows for which he was paid $100,000 apiece, twice as much as Phil Silvers made for a whole CBS-TTV year as Sgt. Bilko . . .

George Gobel started to slip . . . Groucho Marx signed an NBC lifetime contract, with provision for his dotage as a "consultant," or perhaps "insultant."

OUT OF BUSINESS

The TV private eyes were finally and definitely chased out of their ridiculous business . . .

Ernie Kovacs' inspired but woefully undisciplined comedy started to take slightly more purpose, if no more form than before, and he even won a few of the year's big awards.

TV convention coverage confirmed many suspicions about Walter Cronkite—that he is the best TV anchor man in his nervous trade . . .

But what the ABC network lacked in manpower and money it made up in sheer dogged nosiness about what went on at the conventions (John Daly led the ABC bulldogs into political battle) and did a masterful job.

CBS paid $20,000,000 for 725 MGM movie classics, to fill the air of its owned-and-operated TV stations with the best old celluloid money can buy . . . Its prizes include "Philadelphia Story," "Camile," with Garbo and "Mutiny on the Bounty' with Gable.

DARLING LITTLE STAR

Kay Thompson's "Eloise," a brief and delightful cartoon story for sophisticates, was turned into a TV specatcular which did not fill the air for 90 full and important minutes, but it gave us Evelyn Rudie as a darling little star, and she was a joy, repeating her adorable performances on other TV shows thereafter . . .

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor appeared on "Person to Person" giving that clumsy question bee its top rating, showing the duchess playing jacks as it went off the air on a portentiously trivial note.

Eddie Cantor fooled his critics by turning in a sprightly, touching performance as an aging textile tycoon anxious to have his son follow in his footsteps to the bank, in Playhouse 90's "Sizeman and Son," a richly humorous and moving tale of New York's teeming cloak and suit business.

TV borrowed the movies' brilliant William Wyler to produce-direct "The Letter," with Siobhan McKenna, and it was a rousing and satisfying old-style meller-drammer on NBC's "Producer's Showcase."

'Capsule Criticisms' Missing in Columns

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—When the play, "I am a Camera," was dehooded on Broadway a few seasons ago, some witty critic commented, "No Leica."

What, oh, what has happened to those "capsule criticisms,"

There are those who remember when George Jean Nathan wrote, "The costumes looked as though they'd been selected by Helen Keller" . . . When Brooks Atkinson said, "Guido Nadzo was Nadzo Guido," and the late Wilella Waldorf observed that "The Murtah Sisters murtahed several songs."

Today our drama critics are so serious—and nobody refers to Jan Kiepura and Marta Eggerth as "Ham and Eggerth"—as Irving Hoffman once did.

Irving rated one show as "No. 1 on the best-seller list" and mentioned a comedian who "skunk up the show with immaterial material." He often felt as a British reviewer did about a certain boy singer:

"He exudes a beaming, boyish charm which I find absolutely resistable."

I suppose that, since Faye Emerson blasted two critics on a TV show and said they weren't entitled to their pay checks, we'll have even less humor from now on.

Faye had a perfect right to ask them to criticize her play—and not brush it off.

But in defense of the critics—I hate to defend a critic, it's so unpopular—these morning paper aisle-squatters have only 45 minutes to an hour to compose their philippics.

A French visitor here points out that Dick Watts Jr., Walter Kerr, and the other drama destroyers—in their seriousness—have Broadway actors more alert than any in the world.

Now I'm getting serious. Criticism's supposed to be hard to take, but I claim to have enjoyed it once when the same Irving Hoffman told me he didn't like me much on a TV show.

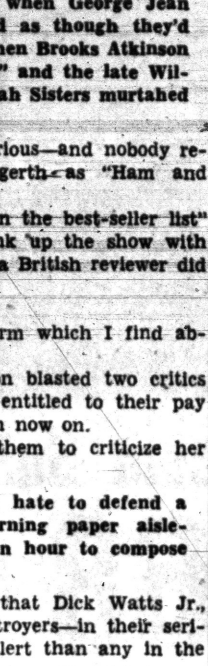

"What was wrong with it?" I asked—trying to sound like I meant it—and he replied, "You were."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joe Louis took singer Sarah Vaughan to Billy Eckstine's opening and admitted to me that he and his wife Rose "are just so-so" and may separate. " So much's been happenin' I don't know what's gonna happen," Joe said.

Sammy Davis Jr. reserved a table for every midnight show of Frank Sinatra's 2-week Copa performance starting Jan. 10 . . . Billy Eckstine, dancing and impersonating Louis Armstrong, was at his very best there. Comic Alan Drake said Grace Kelly was sneaky: "Gave up pictures, then went to Monte Carlo to make a short subject."

Jimmy Durante's Christmas gifts to Margie Little: an 8-carat diamond ring and a mink coat . . . Elvis is arriving by train—he doesn't dig airplanes . . . Wiggler Nejla Ates was nabbed for speeding and said, "Next time I kees de cop, he lat me go" . . . Sultry Valerie Allen gets to play a harem honey in Paramount's "Omar Khayyam."

VALERIE

Lena Horne switched from Miami's Fontainebleau to the Eden Roc; she'll get more loot . . . Denise Lor of the Garry Moore show makes her local cafe debut Feb. 6.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

A doctor has discovered that radio is sometimes beneficial in cases of deafness. On the other hand, deafness is sometimes beneficial in cases of radio.—Charley Jones.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A woman has reached middle age when she can comb her hair without looking in a mirror." —Jan Bart.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle admits that landing a man is a lot like hooking a fish—it helps if you wiggle the bait a little.

It's one man's philosophy: "Hard work never killed anybody—but then again, resting is responsible for very few casualties." That's earl, brother.

Oak Park Teenager Quits Quiz With $16,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Sandler, 13, of Oak Park, last night decided to take home a victory purse of $16,000 from the $64,000 Question television show.

Susan quietly said she would rather take the $16,000 than attempt to ride her knowledge of horse racing to a possible $64,000.

She said she planned to spend part of her prize on a sports car and set aside part of her college education.

Eire will place a plaque on the house at Ballysampson where Commodore John Barry, founder of the American Navy, was born.

Marie McDonald Signs Crime Report

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Marie McDonald's signature is on a police crime report today, the law's summary of her account of being kidnaped from her Encino home and pushed out of a car on a desert highway 24 hours later.

Once again there was a Hollywood touch to the latest incident. The signing had some of the flourishes of a movie contract agreement ceremony.

Detectives took the report to the actress' home. She received them in her living room late yesterday. She wore a silver brocade Mandarin robe with jewelled collar, not to be confused with the robe she was wearing when she said she was kidnaped last Thursday night, nor the one she wore for a Hollywoodish, police - directed, filmed re-enacement at her home Monday.

Believed Missing 300 Million Years

Find 'Extinct' Animal?

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—A Danish scientist believes he has found live specimens of an animal considered extinct for more than 300 million years.

The animal was described as "a mollusk about the size of a silver dollar." It was dragged out of the ocean at a depth of 11,000 feet "somewhere off the shore of North America."

Dr. Henning Lemche, of Copenhagen's Zoological Museum, said he had investigated four or five specimens.

He said fossils of a mollusk "very much like this one and probably the same" was known from Cambrian age rock formations generally considered 500 to 300 million years old. The mollusks were found alive in a drag, made by the oceanographic research vessel Galathea in 1955.

Dr. Lemche said he had worked on the find "for many months" and that only two specimens were left.

"One of them is to be preserved for the museum, the other carefully dissected," he added.

Scientists compared the find with coelancanth, the "blue fish," found some years ago off South Africa which is believed to have existed virtually unchanged since prehistoric ages.
