Burch Denies Story
Informer Bribed at Communication HQ

WASHINGTON (AP)

—Democratic charges that the Republicans paid a Democratic party employee $1,000 for supposedly confidential information have been labeled "a nonsensical story" by GOP National Chairman Dean Burch.

Burch called the story, unfolded at Democratic National Committee headquarters yesterday, an attempt by Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey to divert attention from the Bobby Baker and Willie Sol Estes cases and the indictment of former Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts.

But Bailey said earlier in a statement: "I never thought I would see these bizarre ideas put into practice by the Republican National Committee in the midst of a presidential campaign — particularly a campaign where the Republican candidate has had so much to say about morality and ethics."

The payoff charge was leveled at the office of Wayne Phillips, assistant publicity director for the Democratic Committee. He called newsmen to his office to meet Louis Flax, a 39-year-old teletype operator in the committee's communications center.

Then he passed out a copy of an affidavit signed by Flax and dated Oct. 12.

AFFIDAVIT CLAIM

The gist of Flax's affidavit: He was contacted on Sept. 29 by an unidentified caller who hinted he would be paid for turning over information on Democratic campaign plans; then he was threatened, presumably by the fact that he had a prison record which he hadn't told the Democratic party about; he met with two high-ranking Republican officials, one of them executive director John Grenier.

On Oct. 1, Flax told Phillips about the contacts and a promise he had received for payoffs. Phillips told him to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Isbell Lashes at Key West After Ripping Across Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Isbell smashed into the picturesque island city of Key West today after leaving a trail of death and destruction across western Cuba.

The savage storm struck a glancing but powerful blow at the Florida Keys, toppling trees, power lines and signs in Key West, southernmost city in the continental United States.

Behind it in Cuba, Isbell left thousands homeless, vast areas flooded, homes and buildings destroyed, possibly four persons dead and the Communist nation's rich and important tobacco crop in ruins.

As Isbell roared between Key

West and the dry Tortugas, about 100 residents and visitors were evacuated from Flamingo, a tiny resort on the coastal side of Everglades National Park.

Rangers flew over much of the park's 1,400,000 acres looking for other tourists, fishermen and others who might be trapped by high tides in the swampy wilderness.

PARK DESERTED
By noon, the park service reported the park virtually deserted.

Two Cuban workers died when farm buildings collapsed at Gine, in southwestern Cuba, Havana Radio said.

A third person was killed when his home crumbled in the same area. Earlier reports mentioned the death of a child.

Isbell's highest winds of more than 100 miles an hour passed Key West, but the city reported hurricane-force winds of more than 74 miles an hour, towering waves and a high tide.

DARK CLOUDS
At midday the city, much of it without electricity, was in a sundown-like darkness caused by a heavy blanket of swirling dark clouds.

The Weather Bureau warned that tornadoes might strike ahead of the storm in south Florida and predicted tides of five to 10 feet above normal along the southwestern tip of the state.

Eighty-mile winds hammered at Ft. Jefferson in the Dry Tortugas at midmorning.

As Isbell passed about 30 miles west of Key West on a northeasterly course, hurricane warnings were hoisted over giant Lake Okechobee and from Fort Lauderdale to Vero Beach on the Atlantic.

WARNINGS UP

Hurricane warnings remained in effect through the Keys and on up the Gulf coast to Fort Myers, with a hurricane watch extending all the way to Tampa on the west coast and Cape Kennedy on the east.

DR. KING

Nobel Prize Given to King

Minister Third Negro
to Win Peace Award

OSLO (AP) — The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded today to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Georgia-born Negro who became a civil rights crusader in the United States.

"Martin Luther King has consistently asserted the principle of nonviolence," the Oslo Nobel Institute said in its statement announcing the award.

King, son of an Atlanta Baptist minister and himself an ordained minister, provided his fellow Negroes with a powerful, new weapon modeled and shaped from the teachings of India's Gandhi in the fight for Negro civil rights.

King's award, rumored for months, will amount to 273,000 Swedish kroner, ($53,123) this year. The cash prize and the Nobel gold medal and diploma will be awarded to King at ceremonies in Oslo Dec. 10.

King was born in Atlanta, Ga. in 1929 and went to the Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa. He took his doctor's degree in theology at Boston University and served later as a Baptist minister.

LED BOYCOTT

In 1955 he was chosen to lead the Negro boycott of the Montgomery, Ala., city buses. Since then, he has served as a leader in the Negro fight for civil rights, as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King was made "man of the year" by the American news magazine, Time, in 1963 and this year he was made an honorary doctor at Yale University and was awarded the John F. Kennedy Prize by the Catholic Council for Cooperation between the Churches in Chicago.

He was the 12th American to be awarded the peace prize. In addition, the American Friends Service Committee got it once.

King — the third Negro to be awarded the peace prize — will receive the award in a solemn ceremony in the University of Oslo on Dec. 10, on the anniversary of Nobel's death.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, U.N. aide, was the first Negro to win the peace prize.

The Nobel Committee never announces who else has been proposed for the prize. Neither does it, at the time of announcing the award, give the full reasons for the choice. That which he does when the Nobel speech is held in December.

Commission Acts on Income Tax for City

Proposed Ordinance
to Get Final Action, Hearing Next Week

Pontiac City Commissioners introduced a city income tax last night by unanimous vote.

Surprisingly, the commission's action drew no public comment. Final action and a public hearing on the proposed ordinance are scheduled for next week.

Calling the present "inadequate" tax system which relies on the property tax, Mayor William H. Taylor, Jr., issued a public statement on the proposed tax.

Similar to that adopted by Detroit and other Michigan cities, Pontiac's proposed tax would be a one per cent levy on the income of city residents and corporations.

A one half per cent levy would be made on the income of non-residents working in the city. Pontiac residents already paying an income tax through employment in another city would pay the nonresident rate.

Mayor Taylor said that implementation of an income tax would accompany a reduction in the property tax rate, which would benefit retired persons and those on a fixed income.

ESTIMATED CUT

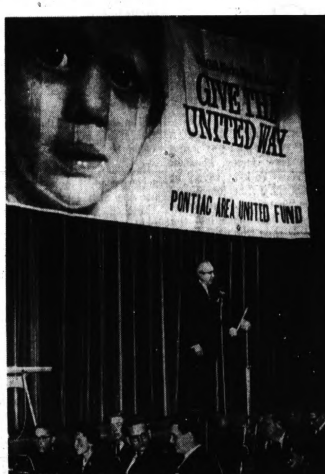

The best estimates right now are that the property tax would be cut by about $3 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

In a "Pontiac at the crossroads" statement, Taylor said that the city's revenue picture was basic and vital to the city's future.

"We must decide whether our city will move forward or fall back into a second-rate community," he said.

He added that a better community means good streets, new sewers and drains, improved fire and police protection, assistance to the unfortunate and the removal of urban blight.

"Only an adequately financed city can stand on its own feet (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

UP DRIVE OPENS — Bruce J. Annett, general chairman of the 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund Drive, officially opened the campaign last night with ceremonies at Pontiac Central High School auditorium. The drive extends through Nov. 6.

LBJ Forced Delay in Baker Quiz--Barry

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged today President Johnson has forced a new delay of a Senate investigation "because Bobby Baker's affairs laid right straight into the White House itself."

And the Republican presidential nominee found himself in the middle of a lively word battle with Democrats after an off-the-cuff charge last night that the rival party was "a fascist organization that will not even allow a member to speak his mind in favor of a member of the other party."

A Democratic spokesman quickly snapped back with a charge that the Republicans

were guilty of totalitarian tactics "organized boogie groups to keep the opposing point of view from being heard."

With election day less than three weeks away, Goldwater returned to the attack on the Baker case in a prepared speech.

The issue he said Monday, "is hurting the President more than anything else."

As a springboard for his new charges, the Arizona Senator used the announcement yesterday by Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., that the Senate Rules Committee, which Jordan heads, would delay its probe of Baker until after the election because of the difficulty of getting enough senators to come back to Washington to form a quorum for the committee.

'LBJ Exposed'

Best Seller, but Dems Don't Mind

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Some 750 Republicans unwittingly contributed to the Brown County Democratic campaign fund last night.

Rushing into the arena to hear GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, Republicans paused as they passed signs which read, "Exposed Johnson."

William Peck, treasurer of the Brown County Democratic party, said about 750 persons bought a book — "My Hope for America," by President Johnson. The paper-back normally sells for 95 cents.

"We sure appreciate this Goldwater money," Peck said as he and Democratic friends headed home. "It's hard to get in Brown County."

'May Be Too Old' —Ike on Viet Trip

HST Comfortable
After Injuries

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Observing his 74th birthday today, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suggested that he might be too old for a trouble-shooting mission to South Viet Nam.

Eisenhower said he did not think the Republicans wanted a retired general and a retired president for such a mission which Sen. Barry M. Goldwater mentioned several days ago.

Eisenhower made the remark at a surprise birthday salute given him by the GOP at his farm here. Goldwater said recently that if elected, he would ask Eisenhower to go to South Viet Nam.

The Research Hospital medical report issued this morning said he has some pulmonary congestion on the left side, but it added it is "not unusual in injuries of this type."

Truman was taken to the hospital late Tuesday after he slipped on a bath mat and fell into the tub as he was ready to bathe.

Cards, Yanks, 1-1, in 6th Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, a victory away from their first World Series title in 18 years, were tied with the New York Yankees 1-1 today in the sixth game.

A defeat on top of their four straight losses to the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963 would mark the first time the Yankees have lost two postseason classics in succession since their back-to-back losses to the New York Giants in 1921 and 1922. Since then, they've won 29 out of 28.

The Cardinals haven't fared badly in World Series play, either. A victory would give them seven of 10 and three of five against the Yankees.

A Busch Stadium crowd of about 30,000 watched the Cardinals bid for a series-clinching victory in mild, sunny weather.

First Inning

NEW YORK—Linz lined first pitch to Brock. Richardson singled to left. Richardson stole second. Maris fanned. Mantle fanned. No runs, one hit.

ST. LOUIS—Flood singled to left. Brock singled to center; Flood went to third. White bounced sharply into double's play, Flood scoring. Boyer flied out. One run, two hits.

Second Inning
NEW YORK—Howard popped to Maxwell. Tresh grounded to Boyer. Peppone lined deep to Shannon. No runs, no hits.

ST. LOUIS—Groat called out on strikes. McCaver singled to right. Shannon struck out. Maxwell flied to Mantle. No runs, one hit.

Third Inning
NEW YORK—Boyer flied out. Bouton and Linz fanned. No runs, no hits.

ST. LOUIS—Simmons singled. Flood and Brock flied out. White grounded out. No runs, one hit.

NEW YORK—Richardson singled. Maris fouled out. Mantle forced Richardson. Howard bounced out. No runs, one hit.

ST. LOUIS—Boyer struck out. Groat flied out. McCaver singled. Shannon fanned. No runs, one hit.

Fifth Inning
NEW YORK — Tresh was credited with a ground rule double on a drive that landed inside the left field foul line and bounced into the stands. Peppone struck out, missing a pitch far outside. Maxwell threw out Boyer, Tresh taking third. Bouton singled to left center, scoring Tresh with the tying run. Right-hander Ron Taylor began warming up for the Cardinals.

Linz flied to Brock. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Precinct-Level Vote Battle Hot in South; Varied Elsewhere

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Whatever opinion polls may indicate, it's the number of voters brought to the polls that tells the crucial story. Bringing out voters is the job of precinct workers. How energetic they are in this campaign, when reported voter apathy may put on extra premium on their efforts? Here are the results of an AP survey, first of two articles.)

By LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are working at the grass-roots level in the South as never before, an Associated Press survey shows.

But the same survey shows mixed effort by GOP workers elsewhere — warm support for the national ticket in some places, cool in others.

Democrats have been slow in reacting to the Republican challenge in the South. Elsewhere they are concentrating on registering friendly voters and, in some areas, trying to battle overconfidence.

These views stemmed from interviews with party leaders and precinct workers in more than 40 states. They are summed up best, perhaps, by the Arizona precinct worker who mused, "It's a really funny year."

ACTIVE PRECINCT?

It's a year in which Republicans appear to have far and away the most active precinct organization in Georgia, a state which has never deserted the Democratic party.

It's a year in which a GOP precinct worker in always Republican Vermont says he doesn't know of a single committee in his town working for the presidential nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

And it's a year in which precinct activity in most states is reported at its highest level ever by one or both parties — against a background of reported voter apathy in some states.

Leaders in both parties say precinct activity, the efforts of grass-roots party workers, is what spells victory or defeat in an election. They add this especially true if the reports of voter apathy are translated into a light turnout on election day.

SAME TACTICS

The tactics of precinct work are much the same regardless of party or state. Identify the voter. Get him registered. Work on the undecideds. And, come election day, get your man's supporters to the polls.

To find out how these efforts are going, Associated Press newsmen talked with scores of state, county and precinct leaders of both parties in more than 40 states.

—In the South, particularly in the big cities, Republicans are organized as never before down to the grass-roots level. Democrats, long accustomed to closing shop after their spring primaries, are slow in reacting.

—Elsewhere across the country, Republican activity is closely tied to feelings about Goldwater. Party leaders in some areas report a dedicated zeal. In other areas leaders frankly admit they have lost playing the nominee.

FEAR OVERCONFIDENCE

—Democrats for the most part, are concentrating on registering voters and taking advantage of their edge in registrations. But some openly express fears of overconfidence among their troops.

In historical terms, the Republican party's increased activity in the South may be the most important. For years the GOP structure was more name than fact. Now thousands of precinct workers are beating the bushes, carrying the gospel of a two-party system.

Even Democrats say it's so. An Arkansas Republican estimates 5,000 volunteers in the field working for Goldwater. Another group, working for GOP gubernatorial candidate Winthrop Rockefeller, is reported to be even farther ahead in organization.

ALWAYS STRONG

The GOP, always strong in the eastern third of Tennessee, has been lining up potential voters in Memphis and Nashville for months. Willard Yarbrough, a Democratic candidate for Congress in the normally Republican Knoxville area, said "the Goldwater people are working their heads off."

In some parts of the South, Democratic organizations rusty with disuse are slowly grinding into action. Florida Democrats say the party is working harder there for Johnson than it did for the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

In Georgia, which never has gone Republican, the GOP activity has spurred Democrats to form committees in all 159 counties — many for the first time.

But Ed Kelly, managing editor of the Thomasville Times-Enterprise, says of the GOP drive: "It's a militant campaign. The Democrats have nothing that will touch it."

LITTLE OPPOSITION

In Alabama, where President Johnson isn't even on the ballot, there is little to counter the Republican thrust. The GOP is concentrating on getting lesser candidates elected. Elsewhere around the nation the picture is mixed.

Democrats claim, and some GOP leaders concede — particularly in New England and the northeastern states — that there has been some defection, or foot-dragging, by GOP workers not enthusiastic over Goldwater. A Kansas City Republican ward leader reports that generally "enthusiasm is not at the same high level as in 1960" and predicts a third of the Republicans in his ward will vote Democratic.

AREN'T TALKING

In the normally Republican Negro wards of Harrisburg, Pa., GOP workers reportedly aren't even talking about Goldwater.

Rhode Island GOP Central Committee Chairman John Conley says "our prime interest here is to reelect the governor."

And Democrats in several states, including California and New Jersey, claim that Republicans are pouring in to work for Johnson.

ORGANIZED STATE

Democrats in Washington

State, for instance, say Goldwater backers have organized the state "to a gnat's eye," doing a far better job at the precinct level than the GOP has done in years.

St. Louis Republicans have just completed their first full canvass of the normally Democratic city in 24 years.

Tulsa, Okla., Republican Chairman Jack Nelson, reporting that city's best GOP voter canvass, said "We wouldn't have the enthusiasm, we wouldn't have the issues without Goldwater."

In Michigan, where Republican Gov. George Romney has refrained from endorsing Goldwater, neutral observers say they can see no foot-dragging among Republicans. A GOP precinct worker says "Their resentment of Romney has just made some of them work all the harder."

LOTS OF HELP

Republicans in several states claim they are getting a lot of help from dissident Democrats, but few Democrats report any lack of enthusiasm by their precinct workers for the Johnson ticket. However, in several states they say that bitter Democratic primary fights for other offices have slowed the party's organizing efforts. Missouri, Tennessee and Maryland are among them.

Democratic leaders in Johnson's native Texas and neighboring Oklahoma say their workers are more enthusiastic than in 1960 when Kennedy was the nominee.

And the increased registration figures rolling in from the major Democratic bastions across the nation — outside the South — would seem to buttress the quiet confidence expressed by many party leaders.

Two examples: A 7-3 Democratic edge in new registration in California and a new 2-1 edge in Pennsylvania.

NEVER SO GOOD

"We never had it so good," said Philadelphia Democratic Chairman Francis Smith.

But there's also a fear of overconfidence.

Abner Mikva, a Democratic candidate for the Illinois Legislature, painted this picture of Chicago, an area Democrats count on to carry Illinois: "Precinct organizations just aren't in gear. There's no question where the Negro vote will go, but it has to be brought out."

In Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Chairman Albert S. Porter said "There's also a general feeling of apathy among the Democrats — that it's in the bag, particularly in this area."

chairmen, and Al Formicola, external vice president. The club has been given the blessing of the Village Council to proceed with its pledge drive for funds to build the rink.

Rochester Council Okays Hockey Rink Fund Drive

ROCHESTER — The weather may be warm now but that doesn't stop the Rochester Jaycees from hoping for a cold winter — the colder the better.

They need the weatherman's help — along with the Village Council's — to make their over-year-long dream of a village hockey rink come true.

And they haven't been sitting back dreaming about the project, they have been working hard on plans ever since they found out last year that they started too late to build the rink before the skating season opened.

So Monday night they made their presentation before the Village Council and were given the green light to start their pledge drive to raise about $1,000 for the project.

Several issues still remain to be settled before erection of the rink on Halbach Field — but the Jaycees have been assured of council support in most areas where it is sought.

SIZE DETERMINED
The service club will build the 86x190-foot public rink out of half-inch exterior plywood boards, four feet high and eight feet long, which will be supported by 2x4's bolted together.

There already are lights and permanent bleachers at the field and a fence on the Woodward Street side.

The Jaycees want to erect a fence in the area of the goals at each end of the rink for further spectator protection.

They have designed the rink according to National Hockey League specifications, and will supply the money for building it and do the actual construction work themselves.

NEED VILLAGE HELP
They said they need village help in the grading and surveying and permission to use the village garage for storage.

They also want the village to erect the boards each year.

Another matter to be settled on a cooperative basis is that of supervision of the hockey program once the rink is ready for use.

But the Jaycees and the council are agreed on one other point — that by moving hockey away from the Municipal Pond, that facility will be much safer for the younger children.

The tentative target date for the 30 Jaycees members to complete their fund drive is Dec. 1. They say they intend to recognize any organization or business contributing — probably by placing their names on a sign near the rink.

Cochairmen of the project are Donald Edwards and Donald Bennett.

WALLED LAKE — The board of education has called a special election for Dec. 14 to seek approval of a $1.5-million building program and additional one-mill operating levy.

The price tag and election date were affixed by the board to recommendations made by the Citizens School Study Committee in June.

Committee members had urged the construction of a new elementary school, addition to Keith Elementary School and board renovations to existing buildings.

They also had sought purchase of three or four elementary school sites and property for a secondary school.

The board put the proposition on the ballot after receiving cost estimates for each project.

ALSO ONE MILL

It also will seek an additional one-mill levy to operate the new facilities.

The most immediate project, according to Schools Supt. Clifford H. Smart, would be construction of an addition to the 13-room Keith school, which was opened in January.

The seven-room addition is expected to cost $140,000.

Also needed by September, 1965 are libraries at Commerce, Walled Lake and Decker elementary schools, Smart said.

INCLUDES RENOVATION

The proposed bond issue includes $100,000 for these projects not completed under the last building program and for renovation at other buildings.

Another $600,000 would be set aside for construction of a new 28 - room elementary school, to be completed by the fall of 1966.

Purchase of additional sites would account for some $370,000 and legal fees, architect fees and capitalized interest about $130,000.

Location of the new school and sites have not been determined, Smart said. However, he noted that most of the district's growth has been in its eastern portion.

District enrollment, now at 7,600, jumped some 450 over last year. The figure is 128 more than anticipated, Smart said.

The superintendent noted that approval of both the building issue and the additional levy would cost district property owners an extra $2 per $1,000 of state equalized assessed valuation.

They now are paying five mills for retirement of bonds and 19.23 mills for operation, including 11 mills voted extra.

Smart said the next step in the bond issue and millage campaign is to organize committees to do a selling job in all sections of the district.

Rochester Kiwanis Set to Light Up Halloween

ROCHESTER — Flares will again light the way for large and small trick-or-treaters this Halloween, as Kiwanis members prepare to sell them to area residents.

Money from the sale of the flares will provide cider and doughnuts for the hungry small fry at all the public and parochial schools in the area, with the exception of Avon and Brooklands elementary schools.

The Brooklands Exchange Club will provide refreshments at these two locations.

Kiwanis flare sale chairman Walter Jackson said that the goal for the combined village and suburban sale is $2,000.

Money left over after refreshments are provided will be used to employ entertainers and provide prizes for parties at the high schools.

1 TO 5 P.M.

The suburban flare sale, under the direction of Roger Weymouth and Cyril Borst, will be conducted Oct. 24 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Three teams of Kiwanis members will cover the territory outside the village. Sirens on accompanying fire department vehicles and calliope music will signal the arrival of the Kiwanians in the neighborhoods.

Four teams will go out for the village flare sale Oct. 26, again to the tune of sirens and calliope music.

Downtown businesses and industries will be contacted between Monday and Halloween by committees headed by Ed Forbush, Mill Weaver and Vern Houghton.

CONTRIBUTORS

The Rochester Village Council and the Avon Township Board are contributing to the parties.

Kiwanians are urging all area residents to support the sale, and to light their flares at 7 Halloween night.

Milford Water to Get 'Cure'

Program for Hydrant Flushing Due in '65

MILFORD — Some relief for Milford's water problem is forthcoming.

However, it will be next spring before a proposed program to systematically rid Milford water of its rust and odor can be put into effect.

Engineer George Hubbell of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., has recommended that the village establish a schedule to flush regularly hydrants at the dead ends of water lines.

Expense to the village would be the time of one man who would flush specific hydrants every two or three days, Hubbell said.

Flushing of about 25 of the village's 100 hydrants would clear much of the problem, according to Village Manager Donald Weidner.

He said one mass flushing project will be undertaken before the first freeze this year, probably early in November.

AREA NEWS

But any continuing program will have to wait until the spring thaw.

Hubbell was asked to speak before the Village Council because of the large number of complaints about the rust in the water and the odor it causes.

He noted an iron filtering system for the village probably would cost $150,000.

Weidner said Milford's problem is universal among communities which draw their water from ground sources rather than lakes or rivers.

OK Zoning for Utica Inn

UTICA — It's only a matter of time before a Holiday Inn motel and restaurant rise on the north side of Hall Road east of Territt.

At its regular meeting last night, the City Commission voted unanimously to approve the rezoning of about eight acres in that area to C-2 (commercial).

The application, filed in August by Hall-Sterritt, Inc., asked that part of the land be reclassified from R-3 (residential) to C-2 and the other, major part from C-1 (local commercial) to C-2.

A public hearing on the issue a week ago saw little opposition to the rezoning application.

Representatives of the Holiday Inn chain and Hall-Sterritt, Inc. will submit a plan showing the proposed construction to the zoning board as the next step in the project.

Janitor to Get His Pension

FARMINGTON — Emil Pyrola won't retire for another two and a half months, but he's already gotten more than a "gold watch."

Pyrola, of 28685 Greening, Farmington, will get his pension after all.

There for awhile, it looked as though the state had been shortchanged and the 65-year-old custodian at Kenbrook Elementary School wouldn't qualify for benefits.

But the Farmington Board of Education came through for the man who has spent 25 years as janitor at Bond and Kenbrook schools.

The board wrote a check for $340.50 to cover back payments and interest in the state pension program for public school employees.

Pyrola's problem stemmed from a misunderstanding when the program was initiated in 1941.

At that time he was employed for the Bond School District, incorporated into Farmington in 1944.

"It wasn't his fault," Farmington Schools Supt. Gerald V. Harrison said.

"It was a small district with four or five teachers and a custodian. When the law changed, they apparently didn't understand it. He just wasn't told."

FIRST 3 YEARS

So for the first three years he qualified, Pyrola had nothing put into his pension account.

The board has made up the difference and, according to Harrison, feels it's money well spent.

3 Red Spacemen in Debriefing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's three space heroes were debriefed with medical and scientific experts today as Moscow prepared a weekend welcome for them.

The three were checked over and questioned at a base east of Moscow where they were flown Tuesday after their 16-orbit flight aboard the spaceship Voskhod.

Informants said they would be brought to the Soviet capital Saturday or Sunday for a celebration in Red Square.

Premier Khrushchev's cabinet and other top Soviet officials already have hailed the world's first flight of a three-man space vehicle. Soviet scientists echoed the praise, ignoring speculation that the flight may have ended sooner than intended.

ANOTHER DAY

The government newspaper Izvestia said, however, that the cosmonauts had asked permission to stay up another day and were refused.

When the Voskhod blasted off Monday from a site near Baykonur, 1,250 miles southeast of Moscow, the Russians billed it as a "long flight."

Soviet officials said better, more powerful rockets made possible the 16-orbit flight by pilot Vladimir Komarov, scientist Konstantin Feoktistov and Dr. Boris Yegorov.

"The program of scientific research designed for 24 hours of flight was accomplished in full," an official announcement said.

EVERY VICTORY

"Every victory of the Soviet people in space shows convincingly that Soviet science is in the van of world scientific thought," the Kremlin declared. This was an obvious reference to Russia's space lead over the United States, which hopes to orbit a two-man capsule next year and to launch a manned laboratory on the order of the Voskhod in 1967 or early 1968.

A Soviet delegate to a United Nations outer space committee said knowledge gained from the Voskhod flight would be made available to all mankind. Yuri M. Vorontsov made the statement at U.N. headquarters in New York after U.S. delegate Leonard C. Meeker congratulated the Soviets and said all nations looked forward to learning more about the flight.

Kuo Mo-Jo, president of Red China's Academy of Sciences, sent congratulations to the Soviet Science Academy. The Communist party organ Pravda complained, however, that only one Peking newspaper mentioned the space feat and it devoted only 20 lines to the event.

He quit counting at 318.

A police constable listened for 21 minutes before calling the sexton to silence the town's alarming clock.

Fourth Estate in Tune With American Ideals

This is National Newspaper Week. There are 1,754 newspapers in the United States with a combined daily circulation of 58,905,251. Those newspapers constitute the world's finest organ of current information.

They employ thousands of skilled craftsmen, and a host of writers covering every facet of journalistic output: breaking news and its editorial treatment, interpretive pieces on the domestic and international scene, human interest features, whimsical pieces.

The industry, moreover, enlists a multitude of bright teen-agers to deliver its product, giving them valuable basic business training and an understanding of the dividend-paying concept of serving the public.

Besides staff coverage of local events, newspaperdom is served by vast news-gathering agencies whose reporter's fingers reach into every corner of the globe.

Needless to say, newspapers face criticism on the part of those who disagree with their columns. In the highly volatile atmosphere in which we live today, many partisans recognize little but praise for their viewpoint as fair comment, and are quick to vent displeasure over news handling that runs counter.

Newspapermen make no claim to perfection, though constantly aspiring to it, and none claims immunity against justified criticism.

They ask no other reward except that you read their newspapers, for knowledge is the key to liberty and liberty is their goal.

Eddie Cantor

Show Biz lost one of its all-time greats in the death of EDDIE CANTOR at 72.

A top singing comedian who hit the Broadway stage nearly half a century ago, he went on to success and fame in radio and TV.

Cantor, who rose from the slums of New York, was a devoted husband and father to the five daughters about whom he lovingly jested. His personal life was an exemplary one, in commendable variance with many of his amusement-world contemporaries.

The comedian's private and public beneficences were numberless, and he raised vast amounts for war bonds during both World Wars and for other causes in which he was interested.

EDDIE CANTOR will long be affectionately remembered by the multitudes whom he entertained and now mourn his passing.

Observers Seek 'Why' of DeGaulle's Visit

The moves of French President CHARLES DE GAULLE are not always discernible to the naked eye—and the motives of his extensive move into South America are by no means crystal clear.

Ignoring security guards to mingle with admiring crowds, a la LBJ, le Grand Charles is engaged in a 20,000 mile swing through 10 Latin American countries while delivering 50 speeches. He took off Sept. 21.

Various answers are advanced as to why the 73-year old leader who only last April underwent a major surgery will embark upon such a grueling undertaking.

In Paris, the trip is seen as part of de Gaulle's 1965 election campaign, providing a solid month of newsworthy exposure on French television, which otherwise would be branded as gross propaganda.

Other sources view it, as part of a plan to "liberate" the world from what de Gaulle considers the necessity to align with either Russia or the United States.

He is careful, however, to avoid anti-U.S. pronouncements while he urges the Latins to look to France and Western Europe for help. And he is making offers of aid along the route. But it will be in the form of long-term credits tied to French industry, or in low-cost technical and cultural assistance.

In the eyes of some observers, the wily Frenchman is counting on America to carry the main burden of economic aid, while he capitalizes on the theme "independence for everyone."

But you can bet your last franc on one thing. The international junket has but one object: the aggrandizement of French interests and those of Charles de Gaulle.

Reds Interfering in U.S. Politics?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—The Russians stick their nose into American presidential campaigns every four years directly, indirectly or accidentally.

It was direct enough last July when Sen. Barry Goldwater won the Republican nomination and Premier Khrushchev accused him of trying "to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anticommunism and war threats."

And the Russian leader likened the Republican convention to a Nazi party rally.

Khrushchev has been quiet since. But now Russian has shot three men aloft in a space capsule circling the earth and outdoing anything this country ever attempted.

It isn't clear whether they had to do this right now for scientific reasons, hoped it might add to the wrangle between President Johnson and Goldwater, or just didn't care.

NOT FIRST TIME
It's not the first time they did this kind of thing in the midst of a campaign.

In 1960 President Eisenhower and a Khrushchev not only exchanged Happy New Year greetings but arranged for Eisenhower to visit Russia in June. Then the roof fell down, or rather the American U2 spy-plane did.

The Russians shot it out of the sky over their motherland in May.

In quick order that month, Khrushchev broke up the Paris summit meeting with Eisenhower, denounced him, called off the President's trip to Russia, and called Democratic party leaders in this country.

SERIOUSLY CONCERNED

He said "Broad sections of the American public and many prominent political figures in the United States are seriously concerned" about the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy.

One of those receiving the cablegram was Lyndon B. Johnson, then Democratic leader of the Senate.

Johnson denounced the Khrushchev message saying it was an attempt to divide Americans and cripple their bipartisan foreign policy. This didn't keep Khrushchev from getting further mixed up in the American political pot which was coming to a boil.

He indicated neither Kennedy nor Nixon was the man and said it was as difficult to choose between them as between left and right in a pair of boots. He called them both "lackeys of monopoly capital."

Encore

Seven-year-old Albert performed so well in the local concert, he was required to give an encore. "Well, Albert, how did you get on?" his father asked later.

"Why, I thought I did all right," replied the youngster, "but they made me do it over."

The New York Herald Tribune

For the Presidency: Lyndon B. Johnson.

Travail and torment go into those simple words, breaching as they do the political traditions of a long newspaper lifetime. But we find ourselves, as Americans, even as Republicans, with no other acceptable course.

For many Republicans, this has been a season of soul-searching—whether, out of loyalty to the party and the two-party system, to embrace Goldwater; whether to defect to Johnson; or whether, caught between two unpalatable alternatives, to abstain from choice.

For us, as we suspect may be true for others, abstention is impossible. Office-holders, a n d candidates beholden to the party, are limited by their obligations in what they say. A newspaper cannot take refuge in this; and no agony of indecision can make the choice go away, unless we maintain that the White House should be vacant for the next four years. The choice is only which, not whether.

We opposed Barry Goldwater for the nomination. We felt that his simplistic views on world affairs, and his appeal to ugly racial passions in this climactic year of the struggle for equal rights, were alone enough to rule him out. But he won.

We then hoped that he might rise to his responsibilities as nominee, show himself equal to the office he sought, and make it possible to close ranks behind him.

He didn't. Two things became ever more evident: 1) that Senator Goldwater, for all his obvious sincerity, simply does not have the combination of personal talents necessary for the Presidency of the United States; and 2) that his course, if pursued as he has pursued it, would wreck not only the Republican party but the two-party system.

The more he discusses foreign affairs, the clearer it becomes that his vision is limited. He has shown himself, in sum, a poor risk for the most personal and most awesome of a President's responsibilities, the conduct of foreign relations in an age when survival may, in crisis, depend on his judgment—and his judgment alone.

At San Francisco his first response to victory was one of unabashed arrogance. He rejected all moderate counsel; much worse, he raised a banner for the extremists, the bigots, the implacable "antis," even while issuing, in effect, a manifesto for a new party, taking the Republican name but the Republican soul.

In supporting Lyndon Johnson, we do so with our eyes open and our fingers crossed. We hold no brief for the Democratic doctrine of ever-enlarging Federal authority; we fear a continued spending spree; we despise the traditional Democratic practice of buying votes by the bloc, with special-interest legislation wrapped in compassionate slogans.

But in Mr. Johnson we are offered a man of vast experience and manifest competence. In the Senate he proved himself one of the ablest legislative leaders. As President, he has moved with sureness and responsibility through almost a year of crises.

Moreover, Lyndon Johnson's greatest talent is the one needed now as never before in our history: that of reconciling the seemingly irreconcilable, and pulling opposites into a consensus. In a nation torn by racial and sectional strife, its divisions exacerbated by the ugly passions stirred up (on both sides) by the Goldwater candidacy, the nation needs a President who can bind up its wounds and let it find its soul again.

So far as these two candidates are concerned, our inescapable choice—as a newspaper that was Republican before there was a Republican party, has been Republican ever since and will remain Republican—is Lyndon B. Johnson.

Dead Serious About Politics

Young Bus Hostess Plugging Democrats

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Another report by a UPI correspondent who is touring the country by bus to take stock of talk and trends in this election season.)

By LOWRY BOWMAN

REDDING, Calif. — It will be three years before blonde, gray-eyed June Stinson is old enough to vote, but the Democratic party would do well to keep her in mind for 1968.

"What I would like to do is find a real leader and work for his election to some political office — so long as he's a Democrat," Miss Stinson said. June, a hostess on an interstate bus, is dead-serious about politics — and more partisan than she realized.

"I don't want to hold any office myself. I'm not qualified for that. But too many people think politics is something dirty, and that's why we can't get the real leaders who can do something for our country like President Kennedy did."

The pert and pretty 18-year-old is a living reproof to any who believe all of today's youth is searching only for financial security or is politically naive. She is neither. Republican or Democrat, there are probably a lot of Junes.

June calls herself a Democrat by logic rather than sentiment, although she's not completely sold on President Johnson. Barry Goldwater, she said, is "just a well . . . he's just plain old-fashioned, of of date."

QUESTIONS DRIVERS

When she sees a "Goldwater for President" sticker on an automobile she waits for the driver to ask him his reasons and then try to argue with him.

"Nobody has yet given me one good, logical reason why Sen. Goldwater should be president," she said. "They don't really know why they're for him. They're all either afraid of something or mad at something. They just don't have reasons."

June, whose father is a schoolteacher, won a four-year College of Education scholarship. But after two years, she decided that was "just playing it safe, and it wasn't really what I wanted to do in this life."

The college would not change her scholarship to law school, so June set out to make it on her own. Now she is working as a hostess aboard a bus running between Eugene, Ore., and Los Angeles to pay for three years of law school at Montana State. Politics is her major interest.

HUNTING FOR SECURITY

"Everybody says a girl ought to get married or be a schoolteacher or something like that," she said. "But so much of the time that seems to be just hunting for security fast so you won't have to find out what you are really capable of doing."

"I think this country lacks real leaders, because so many people are afraid of politics. People like President Kennedy don't come along very often, but I'd like to find one and have the knowledge to help him get elected."

Between serving meals to her bus passengers, adjusting pillows and cheering fretful children, she also found time to throw out some scathing criticism of newspapers in regards to politics.

"How do I know what to believe about Viet Nam?" she demanded. "Every columnist and every newspaper says something different, and I can't call up the Pentagon and ask them." Two elderly women passengers listened intently to the conversation.

"You know," one of them said "when I was 18, I don't believe I even knew who the President was. These young people learn fast today."

Episcopal Unit: Jews Blameless

ST. LOUIS (AP) — In one of the bluntest pronouncements of its kind, a major church was on record today as repudiating any special blaming of Jews, now or in the past, for Christ's crucifixion.

The action, taken by the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, dealt with an issue that has locked Roman Catholicism's second Vatican council in prolonged discussion.

MISUNDERSTANDING

"The charge of deicide against the Jews is a tragic misunderstanding of the inner significance of the crucifixion," the Episcopal bishops declared. Deicide means "killing of God."

"Furthermore, in the dimension of faith, the Christian understands that all men are guilty of the death of Christ, for all have in some manner denied him," the bishops said.

This is standard Christian doctrine, but throughout the history of the faith, popular thinking and much church literature often has tended to point an accusing finger at Jews for Christ's death.

"Since the sins that crucified Christ were common human sins, the Christian knows that he himself is guilty," the bishops said.

SIMILAR DECLARATION

They also pointed out that "Jesus was a Jew, and, since the Christian church is rooted in Israel, spiritually we are Semites."

A similar declaration, absolving Jews of any special blame for Christ's death, was proposed last year before the Vatican council, but subsequently was altered to refer to subsequent generations of Jews.

At the current council session, however, a strong force of Roman Catholic bishops and cardinals have demanded restoration of the original position, denying that any particular blame rests on Jews of any time. The matter remains unresolved.

As the Protestant Episcopal convention went into its fourth day, its lay-clergy branch, the House of Deputies, authorized trial use of a new collection of prayers and scripture at special weekday communion services.

Officer Saves 30 Marines

Helps Men Escape
Fiery Landing Craft

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — Marine Corps officers today credited a California lieutenant with saving 30 leather-necks when their 40-ton landing craft burst into flames.

Nine Marines were burned seriously in the fire, following an explosion yesterday aboard the amphibious landing craft which was carrying them toward a beach in an assault exercise.

The enclosed LVT (Landing Vehicle Tracked Personnel) exploded in flames about 3,000 yards offshore as it approached the beach in the first wave of Exercise Hard Nose.

The blast happened when fuel splashed on the LVT's hot engine as the crew tried to change a filter. It blew a 7-by-10-foot metal hatch off the craft's top deck.

Second Lt. Jerome Paul, Oceanside, Calif., stayed aboard the burning vehicle and helped his troops climb through the deck opening to safety, officers said.

LEAPED INTO OCEAN

Some of the combat-equipped Marines leaped into the ocean and others were picked up by other craft that rushed to the scene.

The rescued and injured Marines were returned to the amphibious transport Vancouver, which had launched them on their ill-fated assault.

The injured then were transferred by helicopter to the naval hospital here.

Confab to Hear Editor

MIDLAND (AP) — A speech by Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, will highlight a regional meeting of the Michigan Education Assn. at Midland Oct. 22-23. He will speak on "Education and Our Future Foreign Policy." Some 1,500 teachers are expected to attend.

Cuba Decision Told by Bobby

Says Brother Feared to Bomb Civilians

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy says President John F. Kennedy rejected a proposal to bomb Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis because his military intelligence advisers told him that 25,000 civilians would be killed.

The brother of the late president also says that the 12 key presidential advisers meeting at the time were split almost evenly on whether to bomb the missile sites and air bases or to blockade the island.

Kennedy, Democratic candidate for U.S. senator from New York, told of the meetings Tuesday while speaking to about 1,000 nuns at a meeting of parochial school teachers in the Rockville Centre Roman Catholic diocese.

SENSE OF VALUES

He was discussing his brother's sense of values.

Questioned by newsmen after the meeting, Kennedy said that to his knowledge this was the first time the 25,000 estimate on civilian fatalities had been made public. He would not say whether the majority of advisers favored bombing or the alternative, the blockade.

The former attorney general said he opposed bombing and favored the blockade.

He was a member of a group of 12 advisers known as the Executive Committee. It was an informal group made up of top officials drawn from the cabinet and the National Security Council that met during the Cuban crisis.

Kennedy said in his speech that bombing would have been "the safer way."

"We would have gone in and knocked out all their bases — there wasn't any question about it — and then started bargaining," he said.

But he said such a bombing would have been a "Pearl Harbor in reverse."

He said the president chose the blockade because "of his education, because of his moral training and because of his belief in what is right and what is wrong."

Plan Aids Detroit on Delinquents

LANSING (AP) — State Controller Glenn Allen Jr. today reported to Gov. George Romney that representatives of the state, Detroit and Wayne County have unanimously agreed on a five-point program for relief of Detroit's juvenile delinquency problem.

Allen reported on a meeting of the joint state-city-county committee of 10 appointed by Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Allen and Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin are co-chairmen of the committee.

Allen said the juvenile waiting list from Detroit is being reduced and the crime rate is falling because of a state policy of accepting eight boys a week from the Detroit area at the boys training school at Whitmore Lake.

The number of assaults by juveniles in Detroit and the number of false alarms both have dropped in the past four months, Allen said.

5 MAJOR POINTS

Allen reported the five major points of the program as:

—The acceptance of eight Detroit-area boys a week, an increase from the present quota of four a week, at the Whitmore Lake school for at least a year. Officials said this would be a total of 200 additional spaces a year at the school.

—Agreement of the State Department of Mental Health to accept into state hospitals immediately the mentally ill children presently housed in the Wayne County Youth Home who are agreed to be in need of state hospital treatment.

—Agreement of the State Department of Social Welfare to admit at least 10 additional girls to the girls training school at Adrian within 90 days.

—A recommendation that the governor appoint a committee to evaluate and submit recommendations on 16 resolutions by the Michigan Association of Probate Judges on the problem. A continued study of the use of the Maybury Sanatorium or alternative facilities for juvenile rehabilitation.

Pontiac City Affairs

Bus Service Is Set Until End of Year

Pontiac will have bus service at least through the end of the year, according to City Commission action last night.

City Commissioners gave formal approval to an agreement with Pontiac Transit Corp. for local bus service.

The agreement provides for the city to pay the bus company's losses up to $1,715 per month. This is the same basis that bus service has continued month-to-month since the bus firm's annual contract expired in June.

Commissioners previously had agreed to the bus contract with the stipulation that a fare increase be instigated to help offset losses.

The fare increase of five cents for adult riders was to have gone into operation Monday. Other fares remained unchanged.

TOKEN SYSTEM

Accompanying the fare increase was a token system of five tokens for $1.40.

The commission last night also approved a change order on the Wide Track paving project. The change allows for repaving a portion of the west leg.

A two-block strip between West Huron and Pike will be completely repaved. Previously, plans had called for only partial paving by use of the concrete base from the old Cass Avenue. State Highway Department of-officials, who had requested the change, said that the original concrete base was not serviceable for continued use.

NORTH END

Projected General Motors Corp. expansion in the north end of the city moved ahead last night.

The City Commission received several rezoning recommendations from the City Planning Commission, all related to plant expansion.

The rezoning to manufacturing the area bounded by Highland, First, Joslyn and Madison was approved. Similar rezoning for the east side of Highland from First to Columbia was also okayed.

Democrats Pick Leader for State Veteran Drive

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — The national Democratic headquarters has announced the appointment of Max McCarr of Mason, a former state commander of the Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chairman of Michigan Veterans for Johnson and Humphrey. Former Gov. John B. Swainson has been named honorary chairman of the group.

The number of people out of work in England now is close to half a million.

Bids to Be Open Soon on Highway Projects

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department will open bids Nov. 5 on six highway projects with an estimated construction cost of $9 million, including two major highway improvements in the Detroit area. One is preliminary work on the final 6.5 miles of I-94 between Detroit and Port Huron in Macomb County, to cost $4.8 million. The other is for slightly more than a mile of I-75 in Melvindale, just south of Detroit, to cost $3 million.

Caracas Police Hold Society Artist as Leader in U.S. Officer Abduction

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police held today a society artist they said masterminded the kidnapping of U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Smolen. They said six other members of the Castro-Communist kidnap gang also were under arrest.

Luis Vera Bomez, director general of the Interior Ministry, said Angel Luque, 30, a Spanish-born abstract painter, was "the brains of the kidnapping." He said Luque's littered two-room studio had been used to hide Smolen during the 86 hours the gang held him.

Gomez said Luque's studio also was used to hide Argentine soccer star Alfredo Distefano in another propaganda kidnapping by the Red underground last year.

Police said they suspect Luque also was connected with the kidnapping of American

PAINTING THEFT

They also thought he might have been involved in the theft of five French impressionist paintings valued at $650,000 in January 1963.

Distefano and Chenault were released unharmed and the paintings were recovered.

Smolen, 45, of Chandler, Ariz., was released unharmed Monday night after two of the gang were arrested. The arrests of three other gunmen accused of abducting Smolen and of Luque and his wife, Titania, identified as a Russian or Yugoslav, came Tuesday.

Police said Smolen, a World

War II combat pilot who is deputy chief of a U.S. Air Force mission in Venezuela, identified one of his captors.

FEARED HARM

Security Police Chief J. J. Patino Gonzalez said his men learned on Sunday that Smolen was being held in Luque's studio but did not move in for fear that shooting would follow and the American would be hurt.

Luque, a slender man of medium height, was arrested with his wife in the studio. Their penthouse residence is half a block from Smolen's residence, where the colonel was grabbed as he left for work Friday.

Luque has been active in commercial and society art circles in Caracas in partnership with another native of Spain, Arsenio Pasarin, 26, who was one of the first two gang members taken by police.

Smolen attributed his release partly to a plea for his freedom by his mother in Brooklyn, N.Y.

He also said his kidnapers told him he was being freed because their "publicity purpose has been served."

Kentucky Blue Laws

Wedding Unnecessary

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's Sunday closing law is putting a crimp on weddings in Lexington.

It's not a question of getting a clergyman, it's the decorations: City officials, enforcing the blue law, have told florists their activity on the Sabbath must be confined to work of necessity, like delivering flowers for funerals.

Contest for Photos: 'JFK in Germany'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A recent amateur photography contest entitled "Kennedy in Germany" drew 1,000 entries from 500 participants. The pictures had to be related to the late President Kennedy's visit to Germany in 1963.

Awards were announced June 25, 1964, a year after the American President's visit.

An exhibition was made up of the winners and of the pictures taken by the youngest entrant—a 9-year-old who photographed Kennedy and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard riding in an open car—and by the oldest—a 63-year-old pensioner confined to his home who photographed Kennedy on his TV screen.

'No Intention of Bringing Out Facts'

GOP Solon Raps Dems on Baker Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Republican senator charged today that Senate investigators had no intention of bringing out the facts on an alleged $35,000 political kickback involving Bobby Baker.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Democrats on the Senate Rules Committee are "merely going through the motions of pretending to investigate" the case of the former Senate Democratic secretary.

Committee Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., ruled out hearings in the Baker investigation until after the Nov. 3 election. He suggested that fair hearings could not be held "in the heat of a bitter political campaign."

Curtis, ranking Republican member, immediately sent a letter to Jordan asking him to hold hearings before the election. He promised to be present with 48 hours notice.

The accusation by Curtis followed a charge by Republican National Committee Chairman Dean Burch that Jordan was acting on "orders from higher up."

'SHAMEFUL ADMISSION'

"This action is a shameful admission by the Johnson administration that it is afraid to face the truth about this major Democratic scandal," Burch said. "It underscores the major issue in the presidential campaign, the moral rot in Washington."

Jordan's decision was certain to lend impetus to Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater's use of the Baker case in his charges of corruption in the administration.

Goldwater has made the Baker case a major point in his campaign. Senate Republicans predicted in advance that no hearings would be held before the election.

In putting off hearings until November, Jordan said there was a definite feeling among committee members that the sessions "cannot be conducted as fairly as they should be in the closing weeks of an election campaign."

MORE JUST

"I am sure that the committee can be much more just and fair to all concerned if we conduct our hearings at a time when we are not in the heat of a bitter political campaign," he said.

"Some very serious charges have been made in connection with certain actions taken about four years ago and there are strong indications, based on the staff investigations so far, that there was a conspiracy to withhold very material evidence from the committee in its hearings during the year."

MUN'S

AND BOYS

Many people think they know the most important thing about owning a charge card. They think the whole idea is to buy something and then tell the salesperson, "Charge it." That's what they think.

But there's much more to it than that. Especially with an Osmun's charge card. Look:

You get a written record of your purchases. You get a choice of different charge plans to fit your payment schedule. You get advance notice of sales for better selection. You get the important names in men's clothing, like Martinelli suits, Jaymar slacks, and Stanley Blacker sport coats.

All this, plus the people of Osmun's. Nice people. Courteous. Fast, too. They can help you open a charge account in three minutes flat. And in case your card gets lost or torn in half, they'll give you another one free.

A whole card.

Romney Concentrates on Wayne County

By The Associated Press
Republican Gov. George Romney continued to concentrate his reelection campaign in vote-rich Wayne County Tuesday, with numerous plant gate and shopping center appearances.

And he seemed to find his crowds agreeing with his refusal to endorse GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater. A typical response came from a group of Wayne State University students, who cheered when Romney said "the Republican Party is not a goose-stepping party of conformity."

Democratic Congressman Neil

Staeblin, Romney's opponent, also toured Wayne County, attacking Romney's fiscal policies, praising Michigan for the aged legislation and attacking the so-called Massachusetts Ballot.

With Staeblin was former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs. Staeblin said more state funds should be devoted to meeting the needs of "our troubled youth."

SCHOOL DROPOUTS

Some 75 per cent of our welfare cases and most of our unemployed are these desperate high school dropouts," he said. Staeblin said the Massachusetts Ballot is "aimed at late voters"—people who must vote after work, when time is at a premium. The plan would list candidates by office rather than party, making it impossible to vote a straight ticket by pulling one lever. Democrats argue it takes more time to vote such a ballot.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., carried his reelection campaign to the Upper Peninsula Tuesday. At a Democratic rally in Houghton, Hart said the economy of the U.P. "has turned the corner, and a new period of economic growth is clearly on the way."

He said the federal government has poured over $17 million into the area, in what he termed "a perfect example of the remarkable progress that can be made when federal and local governments work closely together."

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Hart's schedule for today called for campaigning in Jackson County. Included were shopping center tours and speeches to United Auto Workers Local 666 and the Jackson County Young Democrats. Meanwhile, his Republican opponent, Mrs. Elly Peterson, issued a statement saying she was concerned about Hart's "reluctance to campaign on the issues of this Senate race."

She said Hart "has been campaigning against Sen. Goldwater rather than discussing the problems and needs of Michigan and how he would approach them."

Staeblin planned to spend another day in Wayne County, touring Detroit's City-County Building, visiting a steel plant, meeting with Lawyers for Hart-Staeblin-LBJ, and speaking briefly at a banquet of retired workers.

DEM DINNER

Staeblin was also to appear at a fund-raising dinner for Robert A. Derengoski, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, who planned to accompany Staeblin on part of his Wayne County tour.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley was to carry his reelection bid to Monroe County. He was expected to discuss the case of Thomas Novak at a medical meeting. Novak of Livonia is accused of practicing medicine for some time without a license.

Romney planned more campaigning in the Detroit area today. Included were auto plant visits, a student rally at Ford Community College, a one-hour radio appearance, numerous hand-shaking appearances in and around the city, and a meeting with students at Wayne State University.

Hubert Rests After East Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey got a bit of rest at home today after a hectic foray into New England where he ran into some of the stiffest heckling of his campaign.

Humphrey returned to Washington Tuesday night and planned nothing earlier than an afternoon appointment today.

His trip through New England Tuesday took him first to Northampton, Mass., where he spoke at Smith College and put himself way behind schedule by lingering to chat with hundreds of students.

After stops at Rutland, Vt.; Concord, N.H., and Lewiston, Maine, where he spoke in outdoor appearances during a steady rain or drizzle, the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency visited New Haven, Conn., the home of Yale University. He was met by loud heckling.

Irritated by the jeers and noise as he tried to speak, the Minnesota senator fired a few bars at the youthful supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

"There's not a thing wrong with these boys that a little thinking wouldn't help," he told his audience.

ATTACKS RECORDED

Humphrey attacked the Senate record of Goldwater, saying the Republican presidential nominee "had been content simply to vote 'no' when he is around—and much of the time he hasn't been around."

He added, "Just as Sen. Goldwater has been half-in and half-out of the Senate, so he is half-in and half-out of the 20th century."

Humphrey said Goldwater has had 12 years in the Senate to learn, but "his attitude toward college—of which he once said, 'I wasn't exactly lazy, but I preferred doing something else'—"

Humphrey said Goldwater missed 58 of 192 roll calls in 1960, 65 of 207 in 1961, 63 of 141 in 1962 and 66 of 163 in 1963.

The senator stood in a drizzle during a 20-minute talk at Rutland where he said he considered Goldwater a decent man and a patriot but "I don't want him to be my president."

Governor's Crowds Cool to Goldwater

By DICK BARNES

DETROIT (AP)—Crowds that greet Gov. George Romney appear far more enthusiastic about his candidacy than that of Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

A standard day of Romney campaigning Tuesday produced, as it has during the past several weeks, general approval of his declarations of nonsupport for Goldwater.

A questioner asked how Romney could run as a Republican in view of his refusal to endorse the party's national ticket. Scattered applause followed the inquiry.

But waves of hand-clapping and shouts of agreement greeted Romney's answer that "The Republican Party is not a goose-stepping party of conformity."

MORE ENTHUSIASM

Additional enthusiasm met these follow-up comments:

"No individual and no political leader can amount to anything if he compromises his beliefs and principles. An effective political organization doesn't require this. Candidates recognize this, but a few persons seem not to this year."

"I said before the convention that the platform was more important than who is nominated. I think subsequent events have shown that to be true."

At many stops, Romney, always in answer to questions and never on his own initiative, said he will not endorse Goldwater. At two meetings with Negro groups, this drew the biggest response to any comment he made.

Romney's remarks at most stops drew no Michigan endorsement. In the 21 months of his administration and what he said were accomplishments in fields such as education and mental health.

He told a group of state insurance commissioners the ultimate solution to medical care for the aged will be a public-private combination. And he said Michigan insurance companies are studying a proposal to pool their resources to supply major medical insurance for older persons.

Civil Service-Insured in State Up by 1,100

LANSING (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission reports a substantial enrollment gains in the commission-sponsored group health insurance programs for state employees.

Coverage has been extended to more than 1,100 new persons as a result of a recent open enrollment period to bring the total number of workers and retirees insured to more than 26,500.

Symphony Starts 11th Season

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

"Looks like an interesting program," is what these Pontiac Symphony enthusiasts might be saying. Waiting for Tuesday's opening concert to start are (front seats) Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas Jr., Shoreview Drive; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Hayes, Rochester, behind them.

The evening was mild enough so that concert lovers could go without heavy wraps. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hough Jr. of Scott Lake Road hurry into Pontiac Northern High School from the parking lot.

Patrons of the symphony turned out for the first concert. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Estes, Wadlington Road (right), chat with Mrs. Felix Resnick of Detroit before the concert. Mrs. Resnick is the wife of the symphony director.

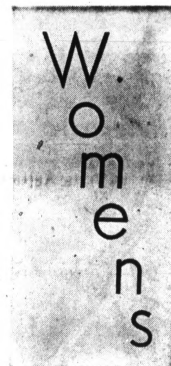

"Do you understand this abstract art?" Dr. Walter Collins, professor of music at Oakland University and a member of the symphony board of directors might be saying.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Duane Bigsby, Middle Belt Road, examine the art exhibit in the lobby with him. Dr. Bigsby is president of the Pontiac Symphony.

Mr. and Mrs. Collis Scott, Cherokee Road, get their programs from Diane Hutton, Depew Street. Mrs.

Scott is president of the symphony women's association.

Panhellenic Plans Fall Luncheon

Plans for a 12:15 p.m. Saturday "Luncheon is Served" in the First Federal Savings of Oakland building were made at a recent meeting of Pontiac Panhellenic.

Proceeds from this luncheon will go toward the Panhellenic scholarship fund. Each year Panhellenic gives a $250 gift to a young woman in college.

Last year's scholarship recipient was Francis Hoopengardner of Pontiac.

Mrs. Glen Dick told of the luncheon plans. Following the business meeting Mrs. Robert Grayson of Mimco Galleries presented a talk on "Jewels for the Home."

HOSTESS

Mrs. Robert Anderson hosted the meeting in her Silverdale Drive home, assisted by Mrs. Wayne Pyke and Mrs. Robert Settelind.

Anyone interested in joining the group may contact its president, Mrs. Stuart Jeske of Union Lake.

Zonta Will Meet

Janet Odell, Pontiac Press Food Editor, will speak at the 12 noon luncheon meeting of the Zonta Club of Pontiac Thursday.

She will discuss the recent Food Editors' Conference in New York at the meeting to be held in the Holiday Inn.

Young people turned out to hear teen-ager Rebecca Pennys play at Tuesday's symphony concert. From the left are Monika Knab, 18-year-old exchange student from Germany who attends Pontiac Northern High School; Jane Sauk, 13, Valencia Drive; Tom Barnes, 12, Scottwood Avenue; and Linda Shelton, 12, East Tennyson Avenue.

Pontiac Symphony

Teen Pianist Exciting to Hear

By CLIVE HENERY
Last night a capacity audience witnessed the first concert in the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's 1964-65 Series.

Under the able direction of its resident conductor, Felix Resnick, the orchestra gave a performance reflecting sound musicianship and good discipline.

The featured soloist for the evening was Rebecca Pennys, a native Californian, who will perform next in Philadelphia before returning to Los Angeles. She has been invited to play in the Chopin Festival in Warsaw next year. In an exciting rendition of the Piano Concerto No. 2 by Chopin, the 18-year-old Miss Pennys exhibited a sound technique and a sense of pulse rarely found in one so young. The orchestra fulfilled its supporting role in a sympathetic and tasteful manner.

The concert began with the lesser known Overture to "Anacreon," by Cherubini. Anacreon, the bibulous Greek poet who choked to death on a raisin in seed, emerged unscathed in last night's performance. The Suite by Purcell, colorfully arranged by Albert Coates brought to us many familiar melodies from England's great composer. The concert ended in the jazz idiom of Gershwin's "An American in Paris." The performers responded eagerly to the many deft strokes of Mr. Resnick's baton as this light-hearted essay, still fresh as in Paris in the 20's, danced us to the end of a memorable evening.

Clothing Is Baffling Problem in Budget

Dear Miss Feeley: I would like help in working out a clothes budget. My husband earns $15,000 a year and our clothes budget is $65 monthly. This is for clothes for me, our 15-year-old son and my engineer husband. Our college daughter gets $100 a month for clothes, etc.

I am in debt every month and can never stay ahead of the bills. D. I., Dallas

Dear D. I.: With so many different items tucked into your clothes budget, I'm not surprised you get in a muddle. But I'm not unsympathetic, either. Tracking down the amount spent for clothing, plus upkeep—shoe repair, hose, dry cleaning—is one of the most baffling problems in any family budget.

Garments and accessories are often bought on impulse. A woman who knows to the penny what she pays for food and rent can rarely estimate with any accuracy what her family spends on clothes.

The first thing to do is put those gifts and house purchases where they belong—under the heading of Miscellaneous. There should be a separate category in your budget to allow for them. Also, break down the various items your daughter's $100-a-month allowance is expected to cover.

Then you can get a better look at what you're really spending for clothes alone—and compare it with what you should normally be spending.

NORMAL RANGE
The normal percentage range for family clothing is 8 to 15 percent of the annual take-home income. If your husband's earnings are $15,000 gross, I assume $13,400 is nearer what he actually receives.

Suppose for instance, you allot 12 percent of that for family clothing—or $161 a month. If it were evenly divided, each of you would be entitled to $80 a month to spend. But that would hardly be realistic, since one or two members of a family usually have greater demands on their wardrobes than the others.

Also, age brackets influence the cost of clothing.

You will have to decide which member of the family has first call on the clothing funds and hold the others in line. Once you know exactly what you have in the kitty, the rest is a matter of discipline.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband will be 65 next month. I am 59. We have both worked very hard through the years and between savings and wise investments, have a net worth of about $150,000.

This is divided: $60,000 in U.S.

Government bonds and savings accounts, $70,000 in A-I growth stocks (on which income is small) and $20,000 in our home.

Our life insurance is small, about $5,000 between us. Neither of us will get a company pension when we retire.

My husband feels we both should retire when he can get social security, and using some capital plus interest and dividends, live very nicely.

I have a good position and feel I would like to continue working until I also can get social security. My husband feels we should start to enjoy the fruits of our hard work and not put it off until we are too old.

We have no family. Would appreciate having your thoughts on the above. Thank you. M. K., New York City

Area Pair Is United in Troy

A recent candlelight ceremony in the Troy Methodist Church marked the vows of Danielle Marie Lettner and Lemuel Anthony Jessee.

Their parents are the John P. Lettners of Ruby Street, Avon Township and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Jessee of Troy.

A Watteau chapel train of Chantilly lace highlighted the bride's gown of white peau taffeta styled with basque bodice and lace-appliqued skirt.

WHITE ROSES
Her veil was silk illusion and her bouquet included white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Margaret Smith attended her sister as matron of honor and Mrs. Larry Stallard, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid.

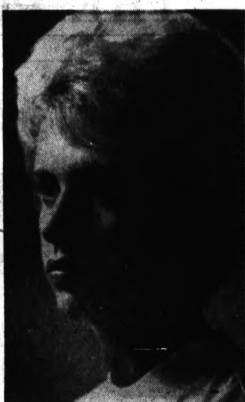

With Larry Yeager, best man, was Clarence Robinson who seated guests at his nephew's wedding.

A reception in Avon Township Hall followed the double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Ralph W. Janka.

MRS. L. A. JESSEE

The Marshall Glaser of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter Joan Marie to William James Viniano, son of the Peter Vinianos of Detroit. Both are University of Detroit graduates. A June 1965 wedding is planned.

Polly's Pointers Thank His Mother

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — While preparing to celebrate our seventh wedding anniversary and thinking, gratefully, of those happy years enjoyed with a wonderful husband, it occurred to me that the person I should thank for this good fortune was my mother-in-law.

I wrote her a letter of appreciation. This seemed to mean more to her than any gift I have ever given her.

Too often we fail to say the things that are really the most important to us.

Perhaps this letter will remind other daughters-in-law to do the same thing at anniversary time.—KAY.

DEAR POLLY — One of my pet economies is to save butter wrappers.

I fold them in squares with the butter side in and store them in the refrigerator to use for greasing cookie sheets, cake tins and baking dishes.

To hard boil a cracked egg, wrap in foil and twist the foil to make a handle to lift the egg out when done.

When showing movies without a screen, I use a large sheet of white poster paper that can be bought for 10 or 15 cents.

I punch a hole in the top, reinforce with notebook reinforcement rings and hang it on any picture hook. For storage, it can stand behind a sofa against the wall.—MRS. J. L. B.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas... send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Observing a 50th wedding anniversary are Mr. and Mrs. George Clack of Pleasant Street, Oxford. An open house in their honor will be held Sunday in the Oxford Methodist Educational building from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. The couple, married inortonville Oct. 20, 1914, has lived in Oxford for 50 years. They have three children, Mrs. Kenneth Acheson of Oxford, Mrs. John Ousnamer of Lake Orion, and Lyle Clack of Lapeer. There are 11 grandchildren.

TIPS WITH SHEDD'S FRENCH DRESSING

An attractive buffet table is certainly one of the challenges we homemakers face. The garnish on the ham and the colors of the molded salads make a pretty picture and everybody helps themselves.

If molded salads are a problem for you, try these tips. Use slightly less liquid than usual when preparing the gelatin, and be sure fruits and vegetables are well drained. If you fill the molds as full as possible, it's easier to unmold them on the platter, and don't try to unmold on a bed of greens. Tuck the greens under the edges of the salad at the last minute. Of course, the food must taste very good as it looks and that's where Shedd's French Dressing comes into the picture. Your salads will all be just right with Shedd's French Dressing because the spices and oils used in Shedd's French Dressing are specially blended to give that bright flavor that enhances the taste of everything else. In fact, a simple salad of greens becomes a gourmet treat when you use Shedd's French Dressing. Try tossing an unusual combination of greens such as curly endive which has a slightly bitter flavor and Bibb lettuce which is bland and mild. Or add some spicy watercress to your next head lettuce salad. It's really the dressing that counts and Shedd's French Dressing does wonders with any salad. Incidentally, try mixing 1/4 cup of Shedd's French Dressing with 1/4 cup melted margarine to spread on sliced French bread.

Wrap the loaf in foil and warm the oven before serving. Oh yes, one more tip... a spoonful of Shedd's French Dressing in the tomato or vegetable soup makes magic!

Area Medical Auxiliary Hosts District Meeting

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society was hostess to the District One meeting of the State Medical Auxiliary Tuesday at Oakland University.

Mrs. John Simpson, Mrs. Robert Lyons and Mrs. James Read.

Presidents and guests gathered in the Gold Room for a workshop discussion. Mrs. Frank Prather of Milford, District One director, presided.

Members from Lapeer, Macomb, Sanilac, St. Clair, Wayne and Huron counties emphasized on nursing scholarships and the AMA educational fund which is given to help students in colleges of medicine.

STATE LEADERS
State officers attending were Mrs. Milton Weed, president; Mrs. Rufus Reitzel, president elect; Mrs. Henry Scovill, first vice president and Mrs. W. G. Gamble, second vice president.

Mrs. Paul T. Lahti of Birmingham was chairman for the day. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles Leach, Mrs. James Ladd, Mrs. Gilbert Hague, Mrs. Edward Elder.

Red and Green

Slice small radishes paper-thin and add to cooked green beans that have been marinated in French dressing; serve on a salad greens. Don't marinate the radishes because they should be crisp to lend texture contrast.

But, Which Country?

Custom Is European

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I saw the bride's shoe passed at a wedding reception after the groom's best man knicked the bride over, sat on her, took her wedding veil off and put it on the groom's head backwards.

I had no idea what was going on, and neither did the bride, but she looked very frightened. Later we learned it was an old German custom. This was at our daughter's wedding.

We told her we didn't want anything passed around to take up a collection, but her husband took over and did things his way.

We had nothing to do with what went on at the wedding. We just paid for it. Love your column.

BRIDE'S MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Passing the bride's shoe is an old Polish custom. There are other customs, too.

My father, age 75, tells me that years ago a piece of the bride's china was set up against the wall and the guests threw silver dollars at it, trying to break it. (The silver dollars went to the bride and groom.)

Each nationality has its own customs. I've attended Greek weddings where candy was passed in church, Italian weddings where they threw money instead of rice at the bride and groom, and German weddings where the bride was "kissed" and the groom had to pay to get her back. Instead of criticizing these customs, we should enjoy them. It's all in fun.

J. V. I.

DEAR ABBY: Passing the bride's shoe to collect money is an old French custom.

It originated years ago when the wedding supper took place in the bride's home.

The money collected is not for the bride and groom; it is for the cook!

This is the way the guests show their appreciation for the fine wedding dinner. MRS. K., LOWELL, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: Dropping coins in the bride's slipper originated in Yugoslavia many generations ago.

Only small coins were donated as the object was not to collect "big" money.

The purpose was to have the groom match the amount of money, and it was all a gift to the bride.

It was to show that the husband was not flat broke and could well afford to take a wife.

Bride Wears Blue Knit for Marriage

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Louisville, Ky., was the setting for the recent vows of Mary Katherine Sherle and Walter J. Barkham Jr.

Parents of the couple are the William J. Sherles of Louisville and the senior Barkhams of Voorheis Road.

For the informal ceremony, the bride wore a white orchid corsage with the suit of royal blue wool knit and matching accessories.

Attending the couple were Mary Anne McIntosh and a nd James Blackthorn.

The reception was held in the Community Center Hall, Louisville.

The new Mrs. Barkham is a senior at Nazarene College, Louisville.

Concert Is Set for Thursday

Soprano Lois Marshall will be soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in the third subscription concert of the Golden Anniversary Season of the orchestra at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the Ford Auditorium.

Sixten Ehring will conduct. Miss Marshall will sing the "Seven Popular Spanish Songs" by de Falla. The orchestra will perform the Overture to "The Ruins of Athens" by Beethoven, the Symphony No. 1 in E minor by Sibelius, and excerpts from the ballet "The Falla."

Miss Marshall is appearing in this concert instead of Victoria de los Angeles, who cancelled her Detroit performance because of her extended commitments in South America.

Tortoise Shell Is Turning Up

The lowly tortoise who usually appears on the backs of hair brushes is being sought after this season as a decorating accessory.

According to the United Wallpaper Company the rich blending of black, brown, gold, brass and copper found in tortoise shell is turning up in wallpaper, table tops and chair arm moldings.

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Begins

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, in its new setting at Central Methodist Church, had its first meeting of the season Tuesday afternoon.

Special reports were given by Mrs. J. G. Haviland, Mrs. J. T. Radenbaugh and Mrs. R. H. Austin.

Mrs. F. Gaensbauer introduced the artists of the day, violinist John Dailey, flutist Nancy Dailey, and Henry Harris, accompanist.

The program consisted of the Sonata for two flutes by Johann Sebastian Bach, one of which was played on the violin; two Caprices by Paganini for violin alone; six Roumanian Dances for violin and piano, by Bartok; sonata for violin flute and piano by Martinu, and finally Tziguna by Ravel.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale is a member of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, and takes part in all the community cultural services set forth by the parent organization.

Serving on the social committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. L. Belaney and Mrs. R. Irwin, were Mrs. Stuart Austin, Mrs. N. W. Strait, Mrs. J. H. Raube, Mrs. G. Watson, Mrs. Philip Kemp, Mrs. Gelston Poole, Mrs. D. L. Harrison, and Mrs. Ralph Beebe.

Greeting guests at the door were past presidents Mrs. G. H. Putnam, and Mrs. J. B. Forman.

At the tea table were Mrs. C. C. Braid and Mrs. E. M. Wilmot. Others helping were Mrs. A. D. Esler, Mrs. C. E. Galloway, and Mrs. G. C. MacDougall.

A record 1,029 conventions and expositions were scheduled for New York City during 1964.

SMOOTH WHITE SAUCE IS UNIVERSAL BASE

Everyone has at some time in life known a really superb cook. If you know more than one, you are indeed fortunate, and it just might be that you are one of these people yourself. Cooks perform their magic with a minimum of pots and pans, the simplest of ingredients and plenty of imagination. One kitchen magician I know says she starts off with a white sauce and continues from there. A good basic white sauce can go on to be cream soup or a base for the casserole. It can be gravy or the difference between plain green beans and Green Beans Parisienne. Let's start with the white sauce itself, remembering that the magic is in the choice of ingredients. You use Keyko on the table and use it for baking. Make the white sauce with Keyko, too!

Melt 1/4 cup Keyko in saucepan over low heat. Blend in 1/4 cup flour. Gradually add 2 cups milk. Always use low heat or make the sauce in a double boiler to keep the delicate Keyko flavor. Use a large spoon for blending the flour and keep stirring as you add the milk. When thickened, keep the sauce hot over boiling water. Add salt and pepper as needed, of course. 2 cups cooked, diced potatoes, 1 cup chopped chives and a little more milk makes potato soup. Slice up some sharp cheese in the sauce and pour over cooked macaroni for a casserole. For gravy, simply add the basic sauce to the pan drippings after the meat has been removed. Put a little curry powder in the sauce and serve on left-over lamb curry. Those beans? The white sauce plus 1/2 cup chopped onion and a small can of drained mushrooms with cooked green beans. The white sauce must be smooth which means stirring constantly and you must start with the best ingredients, which simply means using Keyko Margarine. You supply the imagination yourself.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear-Eunice Farmer: How can I keep my winter coat from gaping open when I walk? I'm one of a "lost race" of persons who still enjoy walking, but would prefer not to freeze to death.

MRS. C. T.

Der Mrs. C. T.: Instead of the usual 1/4 inch between the center front and the front seam line, add an extra inch to the front of your coat, remember to add the same amount to the facing. The buttonholes will still be spaced at the center front, don't move them.

Another solution that works beautifully with a winter coat is to choose a pattern that is double breasted. Not only are they very fashionable this season, but that extra lap in front will make the coat warmer and it won't gap. Double-breasted coats are not as satisfactory in warm weather climates because they must be buttoned to look well, you can't wear them casually open like you can with single-breasted coats.

"KNIT TOO" NOTES

Correct dropped stitches by using a crochet hook to pick them up. Catch the loose stitch and work it up on the horizontal thread of each successive row until you reach the row you are working on.

If your stitches have come off the needle accidentally, or if you have ripped back part of your knitting, carefully put stitches back on the needle by inserting the needle from the FRONT to BACK through each loop. This will avoid twisting the stitch.

Dear Eunice: I am going to make a sequined sheath out of 18-inch stretch fabric. Do I make darts in this kind of fabric?

MISS N. T.

Dear N. T.: Darts will not work well in sequined fabric. I would suggest you make the dress as simply as possible. Instead of darts, you could achieve a slightly blouson look by using a narrow tie belt at the waist.

Be especially careful when pressing any sequin fabric. The iron will dull the sequins. Instead of pressing, open the seams and loosely hand whip the raw edges to your dress.

LONGER SLEEVES

With the new longer sleeves so fashionable this season, I wanted to lengthen the sleeves of my fur jacket. I removed the fur cuffs, replacing them with velvet cuffs which added the width of the cuff to the length. I then covered the velvet cuff with the original fur cuffs. Neat!

Mrs. Martha Pike, Scotia, New York, is this week's winner of a Tailor Tris pressing board with this helpful suggestion.

Dear Eunice: Every time I make a suit, the front edges swing to the side instead of hanging nice and straight. I love to sew, but am getting discouraged.

MRS. W. H.

Dear Mrs. W. H.: You didn't mention your figure measurements, but I imagine the pattern you have chosen is styled for someone with a larger bust than you have. This could also happen if you didn't walk erect or were slightly round shouldered. The front of your pattern is too long between the shoulders and the waist. Make a fold in your pattern at the bust line, tapering the dart or fold to nothing at the underarm. (It would be a good idea if you would make a muslin pattern with this correction and check it carefully before cutting your garment.)

Some of you have been asking about the Tailor Tris pressing board which is awarded each week for the best sewing tip of the week. If you want more information about it, send your request to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press. Also, mail all questions and sewing tips to the same address.

Tolerate the Scornful Teen--He's Upset

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My 17-year-old son and I shopped for his college wardrobe and it was a terrible time. He walked out of one store and left me flat because I said that his legs were too long for a short jacket he was trying on. He sneered at every remark I made to salesclerks.

If I said I was only trying to help him, it made him worse. When I think of this strain between us now that he is away...

ANSWER: He's wild at you because he trusts your judgment of the appropriate clothes more than he trusts his own.

I don't know how much use it is to keep reminding parents that the adolescent uses scores of us to relieve himself of his intolerable burden of self-concern.

Our first experience with his scornful treatment is bound to shock and confuse us.

We don't know whether to try to soothe the son who is so humiliated by his trust or his disapproval of a too-short jacket—or to yell, "For heaven's sake, do your own deciding! I'm going home!"

NEITHER SATISFACTORY

We know that neither response will be satisfactory. If we try to soothe him, he hates us for patronizing him. If we walk out on him, he hates us for leaving him.

In our bones, we know that we're going to be resented no matter what we do.

In view of what's going on in him—the battle between his dependence on us and his rage at the dependence—we couldn't be more correct. There's just no pleasing him, period.

So it is our ability to sustain his inevitable reproach which becomes the inevitable answer.

INWARDLY ANXIOUS

He is actually so inwardly involved with anxiety about himself that external realities can disappear for him.

It thus may have been impossible for this college-bound youngster of your concerns to be the comforting realities which in fact exist. But you might have said to him:

"Going to college is a brand new experience for you. How can you be absolutely certain of the right kind of clothes to buy? You'll be able to judge that only when you get there. We're just flying on instruments now. I certainly can't be sure that we've selected the right things."

"We've just been doing our best, both of us—and as far as I am concerned I am settling for that."

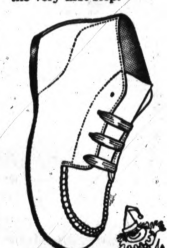

Two-Way Cake

Design Decorations for a Political Party

Now is the time for all good people to come to the aid of their party. With election day drawing near, many political "parties" are being held everywhere in the nation. These range from morning coffees and afternoon teas to evening cocktail parties.

If you are campaigning for the party of your choice, why not make these simple but meaningful decorations. They will generate enthusiasm and be a good conversation piece and ice breaker for any political gathering.

The animals are simple and inexpensive to make and teenagers can be enlisted to help create them. Each "designer" will give individual personality to the donkeys or elephants he makes. You may wish to use only "your" party or you might use both, emphasizing the superiority of the "better" party.

Play clay made in your own kitchen from cornstarch and soda is used to form the "standard bearers." All purpose dye, tempera paint or food coloring can be added to make colored clay or it can be painted when modeled items are dry.

PLAY CLAY

1 cup cornstarch
2 cups baking soda
3/4 cups water
Combine ingredients in saucepan, mixing thoroughly. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and cook until mixture reaches doughlike consistency. Turn out on work surface; cover with a damp cloth and let stand until cool enough to handle. Knead as you would dough.

Use clay immediately or store in plastic bag or tightly covered container. For larger recipe use one 1-pound package of cornstarch, three 1-pound packages of baking soda and 4 cups of water following above directions.

EASY TO USE

Play Clay is pleasant to handle and gentle on hands when modeling it. To mold animals, use a can somewhat smaller than the size you want body of animal.

Mold clay around can for basic body, then form head, legs and other details from clay. Pencils or small sticks should be used in center of donkey legs and pieces of rolled lightweight cardboard in the elephant legs to make them sturdy.

A pipe cleaner can be used to help shape elephant's trunk. Donkey tail is string and elephant tail is stiff cord fringed on the end.

Donkey in picture is approximately 7 inches long and 8 inches high and requires one and one-half batches of Play

Clay. Elephant is 9 inches long and 5 inches high and requires about the same amount of clay. The animals will dry at room temperature in 24 to 36 hours. To hasten drying, place animals on wire rack in oven which has been heated to 350 degrees F. and turned off. When dry, paint with water colors or tempera paint and add desired patriotic effects such as red, white and blue ribbons or a flag.

Group's Annual Gift Mart Is Held Locally

Mrs. Alfred Braun of Bloomfield Hills will host the annual gift mart of the Women's Auxiliary of Crittenden General Hospital next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Profits from the sale will be included in the auxiliary's gift to the hospital for 1965.

Making preparations for the midweek affair are Mrs. James Risdon, auxiliary president and Mrs. Edward Warnica, Mrs. Ormund Wessels, Mrs. C. W. Coffin, Mrs. William Brunet, Mrs. William Gossett and Mrs. Harry Day.

Working jointly with the Birmingham effort are Mrs. C. D. Cline, Mrs. George Thosteson, Mrs. Lucas Miel and Mrs. Herbert Gaston.

3 From Here at Workshop

Three members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital are attending the 16th annual workshop of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

They are Mrs. Edwin L. McNamara, Mrs. Forest R. Wood and Dr. Mary J. Guthrie.

Theme of this year's workshop which will be held through Thursday, is "The Challenge of Growth and Development."

Guest speaker today is Mrs. George Romney.

A computer system has been developed that has a cycle of a second.

Local Girls Will Travel to Meeting

Eight local Camp Fire girls will journey to Cincinnati Friday to take part in a regional Horizon club meeting.

Representing several clubs in the Pontiac area, the girls will make the trip under the supervision of Mrs. Melvin Norberg.

They are Leslie Rollison, Susan Bryant, Linda Thomas, Debbie Talbot, Carol Taylor, Susan Norberg, Nancy Appleton and Ellen Stickney.

High school girls from six states will convene to share ideas and attend workshops as well as enjoy a boat trip on the Ohio River.

OLDER GIRLS

Horizon clubs are the high school organization of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. Their primary program consists of service, self-study and socializing.

The girls have raised part of through several money-making projects, including a movie for Camp Fire groups in the council.

These unique decorations help urge citizens to "get out and vote." They are made at home from an inexpensive Play Clay made from corn starch and baking soda.

'Hypocritical' Rights Stand by Barry Cited

11 Southern Governors Say Their States Will Go for Johnson

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Eleven southern governors say their states will turn back Republican Barry Goldwater's campaign to capture the traditionally Democratic South and will give their votes to President Johnson in next month's election.

An Associated Press survey of the 16 governors attending the 30th annual meeting of the Southern Governors Conference showed that three governors believe Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, will carry their states.

One of these was Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, only Republican member of the Southern Governors Conference. The others were the governors of Mississippi and Louisiana. Governors of Virginia and Alabama would make no predictions.

NO APPEARANCE
Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus,

the 17th member of the conference, has not appeared in San Antonio. He said earlier his state would go Democratic. Late Tuesday, North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford became the fifth Democratic chieftain to tell newsmen that Goldwater is slipping in the South. As did three of the other four governors, Sanford said Goldwater has backtracked or altered his stand on racial issues that first attracted segregationists and states' rights.

"This man is trying to insult the South by striking one pose down here on civil rights and another pose somewhere else," said Sanford. He exhibited a GOP pamphlet which he said described Goldwater as a strong civil rights supporter.

"He (Goldwater) has not taken that position in the South," Sanford said. "He has been totally hypocritical."

Delaware Gov. Elbert N. Carvel told newsmen that Goldwater's campaign tactics have been "contemptible." He predicted that Delaware, "which is generally thought to be Republican," would cast 63 per cent of its vote for President Johnson. Carvel said he believed Johnson would carry 48 states, all except Alabama and Mississippi.

In a round-table discussion of governors' problems, Alabama Gov. George Wallace said states rights are in danger of complete destruction from federal domination. "I think we ought to overcome this inferiority complex the states have," Wallace said.

Mississippi Gov. Paul B.

Johnson complained that news media have distorted his state's image. He said Mississippi is progressive, hospitable and has a low crime rate despite out-of-state charges that it is a lawless state.

Texas Gov. John Connally, Florida Gov. Farris Bryant, and Johnson said earlier that Goldwater's southern support is dwindling.

GAINING STRENGTH

Connally said he understood President Johnson is trailing in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida, but gaining strength every day. Bryant said he believes Florida will go Democratic.

The conference ends at noon today after action on a resolutions committee report and election of officers.

Resolutions committees decided unanimously Tuesday to send all proposals out to the full conference membership for a final decision, including two controversial suggestions.

One would call on Congress and state legislatures to back a U.S. constitutional amendment that would let one state legislative house be elected on some basis other than population. The other, by Wallace, seeks an amendment barring federal intervention in control of public schools by the states.

Garage in Antarctic Destroyed by Fire

flash fire destroyed a large garage and three snow tractors Tuesday at the Navy's southernmost scientific station on the Antarctic. Pacific headquarters announced.

The Navy said the Amundsen-Scott South Pole station's 23-man population fought the fire in temperatures 67 degrees below zero.

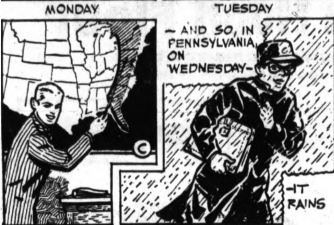

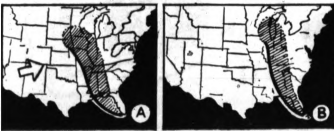

Crash Kills Author

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Dr. Richard Hayward, 72, Northern Irish author and folk singer, was killed Tuesday in an automobile accident. Hayward had been making records of traditional Irish ballads, some with his own harp accompaniment, since 1925.

Fisherman Missing, Presumed Drowned

HOUGHTON (AP) — Oscar Emshwiler, 35, of New Boston, Ohio, was missing and presumed drowned after a small aluminum boat carrying him and two fishing companions capsized Tuesday on Rice Lake near here. The other two men swam to shore. Emshwiler was a seaman for Interlake Steamship Co. of Cleveland.

Junior Editors Quiz on WEATHER

QUESTION: How does the weatherman know what's coming?

ANSWER: Weathermen don't guess in their predictions. Back of weather forecasting is the gathering of facts about weather from many stations all over the country—whether it is warm or cold, how hard or in what direction the wind is blowing, what the pressure of the air is like, how much humidity (water vapor) there is in the air, and so on.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, through a large chain of weather stations all over the country, collects such data every hour, day and night. Summaries are sent to various Weather Bureau centers in different regions, where weather reports, forecasts and maps are made available to those who need them, such as newspapers and radio and TV stations.

We haven't the space to explain about the high and low pressure areas, warm and cold fronts, etc., on which weather men make predictions, but our illustration shows a simple case of forecasting.

A mass of warm air has been shown on Monday's weather map (A) moving eastward with rain (shaded area) ahead of it. Tuesday's map shows this "warm front" (dark line) still moving eastward.

From his knowledge, the forecaster knows such a front will probably keep moving and sweep up northeast. He therefore predicts rain (C) for most of the eastern states, and be will be right about 85 per cent of the time.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get used to reading the weather forecasts in your newspaper. If it has a weather map, see if you can make forecasts of your own.

But Mind Remained Sharp

Attacks Slowed Cantor in Final Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — A last visit with Eddie Cantor—
Cantor in his final years was far from the vital, kinetic figure who had danced across the Ziegfeld stage and the screens of movie houses.
His speech had grown slow and heavy, tongue-tied, evidence of the heart attacks that had drawn him from the entertainment scene. When he moved, it was with a deliberateness or a man who knew he was existing on borrowed time.
But his mind was sharp as ever. As I visited at his Beverly Hills home one day, his memory seemed unimpaired as he reached back to those days he liked to recall, when he was first flashing across the horizon of the entertainment world.

WHISKY ORDERED
Cantor's doctor had prescribed a shot of whisky each day to assuage his ailments, and the comedian still didn't enjoy taking it.
"I never enjoyed drinking," he reflected, "and I think I know why. My first roommate

In the "Ziegfeld Follies" was C. Fields. He never drank before the show—he couldn't and he juggled. But when the show was over, he got plastered.
"I saw him three days before he died, and he said to me, 'I sometimes wonder what I could have been if I hadn't been on the stuff.'"
Cantor felt a mellowness toward Fields, as he did toward all his old fellow performers: Fanny Brice, Will Rogers, Bert Williams, Marilyn Miller, etc. But for Fields he had a special affection.
EDUCATED HIM
"He helped educate me," Cantor said. "Fields always carried books with him, and every day he would read the New York Times and several

Crowds Meet Queen After Canada Visit

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth received a warm welcome home last night upon her return from Canada and the most closely guarded journey of her life.
The queen was driven past crowds three and four deep en route from London Airport to Buckingham Palace.
An estimated crowd of 5,000 at the palace sang "For she's a jolly good fellow."
London newspapers had urged Britons to turn out in a salute to the queen's courage in facing the anger of separatists in Quebec.

New Buoy Tender Due for Upper Lakes Area

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A new 45-foot Coast Guard buoy tender is expected here late this fall to replace the 32-year-old vessel, Cherry, which is to be decommissioned, according to Rep. Victor Knox, R-Mich.
The 75-foot Cherry services buoys in the St. Marys River area, Lake Superior and in the Straits of Mackinac area of Lakes Huron and Michigan. The new vessel will operate with a four-man crew.

AF Tanker Crashes

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A U.S. Air Force tanker crashed in central Thailand today after its six-man crew bailed out safely, U.S. Embassy sources reported.
Unconfirmed reports said the plane caused some casualties on the ground.

other newspapers. Each night he would get out the dictionary and pick out three words that he made me learn and use in sentences. By the end of two years with the Follies, I had amassed a pretty good vocabulary."

Cantor refused to let his heart disability end his good work. He was using "all his efforts to line up a big television spectacular to raise money for Dr. Jonas Salk's Research Foundation."

"I can no longer raise money retail: I have to go after it wholesale," said Cantor, who had collected millions of dollars for the March of Dimes and other causes.

He reminisced about the great names he had worked with. He spoke affectionately of Samuel Goldwyn, who had brought him to Hollywood for a series of film extravaganzas. One was "Whoo-pee." In which Cantor had starred on Broadway for Flo Ziegfeld.

The stage producer wanted his star to stay in the show and make the movie version on Long Island during the daytime. Goldwyn argued that the film could be made cheaper in Hollywood, "because I can get the Indians right off the reservoir."

Eddie laughed at his joke, but there was little mirth in his voice. I didn't realize the measure of his loss of Ida, his beloved wife for 48 years who had died in 1962. At the mention of her name, he dissolved in tears and had to leave the room. He returned composed, but it was obvious that the great zest for life he once possessed now had departed. He was compliantly serving out his time, which ended last Saturday night at 7:20.

Tuberculosis Scare at Oklahoma Jail

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — The Lawton city jail was cleared for fumigation and disinfection today after it was learned an inmate was a tuberculosis carrier.

The prisoner, about 50, was described by Police Chief Pete Fuller as an alcoholic who has been in the jail numerous times. The chief said the man may have exposed any number of persons to the disease.

The man was transferred to a Clinton Hospital and some 20 prisoners in the jail were released with warnings to see their doctors or moved to the Comanche County jail.

BIKE BATTLE — Mrs. Roger Edwards (left) and Mrs. Merwyn Pasco engaged in a 15-hour tug-of-war over a bicycle on sale in Glen Falls, N.Y., and neither woman gave in — the discount store manager did. He decided to sell both women a bicycle at the sale price. The women had held onto the prize for 12 hours Monday and returned to the store for three hours yesterday before the store manager called a halt.

Labels Humphrey a Big Spender

Miller Warns of 'Economic Suicide'

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Republican vice presidential nominee William E. Miller hit at his Democratic opponent today as an advocate of "economic suicide" for the nation.

Moving into Indiana for appearances at Richmond, Lafayette and Terre Haute, Miller issued a statement saying Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic candidate for vice president, was "one of the biggest spenders in Washington."

He said Humphrey had supported or advocated, during his 16 years in the Senate, "programs which would have cost the American people more than $100 billion."

Miller said "a vote for Lyndon Johnson on Nov. 3 is a vote to put Hubert Humphrey just one heartbeat away from what would surely be economic suicide for our nation and for the free world."

BLASTS LBJ

Miller flew to Indiana from Philadelphia where he issued a statement charging President Johnson favored "a double-cross standard" on civil rights problems.

The Republican nominee said Johnson had to share the blame for "bringing the ethics of the jungle into society."

He quoted Johnson as having said in 1960 that members of the National World Electric Co-operative Association should "ask no quarter and give none" in pressing their demands.

"This is the same man who today warns against extremism," Miller said. "What does he recommend as a solution to knotty problems, throw beer bottles?"

DOUBLE STANDARD

Miller said the Johnson Administration had sent U.S. marshals and FBI agents into Mississippi "to protect the civil rights of a few people" but had taken no action when race riots broke out in August in Philadelphia.

He said this was "the double standard — I might better describe it as the double-cross standard."

Miller quoted Johnson as having told the electric association:

"I don't know how many beer bottles you folks have but the time has arrived when you must ask no quarter and give none."

Car Rams Scouts, Killing 1, Injuring 6

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A car rammed into a troop of Boy Scouts marching along a road Tuesday night, fatally injuring one scout and hurting six others.

Thomas Daugherty, 12, of nearby Lakemont died of a head injury about two hours later in a hospital.

Police charged the driver, Samuel C. Lingenfelter, 37, of Williamsburg, with drunk driving. The charge was made before the boy died.

Strong Anti-Integrationist Lives Subdued Life in Southern City

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — John Kasper, once the symbol of defiance to integration, now lives quietly in this Southern city that prides itself in its amicable race relations.

Except for the fact he is a candidate for president of the United States, he leads a quiet life. His views are unchanged, but in his own words he struck a wall on the integration issue.

Kasper, 34, insists he has not given up the fight but adds that "any man who runs his head against a wall three times without moving the wall one inch would not be courageous or heroic to do the same thing a fourth time. He ought to start looking for a gate, or a ladder to climb over."

Kasper twice landed in federal prison for urging citizens of Clinton, Tenn., to resist school integration in 1956. Similar activities when schools were integrated landed him in the county workhouse.

ATTENDS TO BUSINESS

Now Kasper attends to his auto repair business, plays a little chess, attends an occasional musical concert and reads the conservative authors who gave him his personal philosophy.

He no longer makes speeches. He is some 200 pounds heavier than the 180-pounder who worked on a prison road gang.

Kasper did not attend the national States Rights party convention which nominated him for president, and says he has given strong consideration to withdrawing his candidacy.

A supporter of Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, Kasper says: "If I didn't think it would have a detrimental effect, I would go out and make some talks for Goldwater."

STUDY IN IRONIES

The John Kasper of 1964 is a case study in ironies. In settling in Nashville, he chose a city that rejected his preachments and put him in jail.

In his choice of a livelihood he discarded a Columbia University education in philosophy and English and a background as a bookstore operator in New York and Washington.

When racial violence flared briefly here last year and early this year, Kasper lent no support to the few businessmen who held out unsuccessfully against integration.

A man who once appeared to seek out the limelight, Kasper seems even more subdued now that his uncollected nomination for president has given him what could be a forum for expounding his views.

Kasper says he neither seeks nor shuns public notice. He retains his views on what he considers the evils of integration and talks freely about them.

His actions here and at Clinton "were correct at the time," he says. "People were doing a lot of talking, but nobody was doing anything. I think my tactics were okay."

"Even if no one else understands the meaning of what I did, to my own satisfaction I was able to expose the iron hand in the velvet glove which the federal government wielded for the first time in Clinton, Tenn."

His fight was for adherence to the Constitution, Kasper says.

"I never had any personal animosity for Negroes," he says. "If Negroes would look at the Constitution they would see that patch which they seek to gain they would destroy by getting the government to change the Constitution."

He says he does not belong to organizations that would seem to share his views, although he once organized a White Citizens Council.

"I am not a joiner," he says.

ASSISTS MECHANICS

Most of his time is devoted to his business, Grease-smudged, he assists his two mechanics in some minor repairs. His office is a little counter in a corner of the building his business occupies.

When his work day — usually 12 to 14 hours — ends, he goes home to his Norwegian wife, Berit, whom he met three years ago when she visited here as a tourist.

Kasper's name may crop up in the news occasionally, as when the Volkswagen company brought action recently to enjoin him from using its name. He is fighting that, on grounds he calls himself an "independent and unauthorized" dealer.

The New Jersey native, reminding about his youth, recalls that as an amateur boxer he lost his first fight, "to an Indian boy who was really a pro."

Kasper has fought other battles since then, and as he himself said, is tired of butting that wall.

Requirements Cut for Game Warden

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — High school graduates can now apply for jobs as state game wardens. Two years of college formerly was a requirement.

The Montana Fish and Game Commission approved the change after Orville Lewis, chief of law enforcement for the Fish and Game Department, cited a study of prospective wardens.

"The extra two years of schooling now required add little to the man's value as a warden," Lewis said.

Water Supply Down Drain

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A 315-year supply of water for Harrisburg rained down the flooded Susquehanna River in the first half of March 1964, according to a U.S. Geological Survey.

With it went more than 2.5 million tons of sediment washed from fields and mountains — enough to equal five feet of soil from a 220-acre farm, or a half-acre pile twice the height of the Empire State Building.

The survey was conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil and Water Conservation Commission in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Garnishes Up Eye Appeal

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

We eat with our eyes as well as our tongues. Food that is attractive tastes better. Sometimes it is the one thing that tempts an invalid to eat.

This is something I was aware of all last week at the Food Editors Conference. I can pass on to you some of the garnishes used and you too can have glamorous food.

One of the breakfasts we had was really a brunch—featured individual omelets. These were made right at the table over an alcohol stove.

Fresh strawberries, sautéed briefly in butter, were served on top of the omelet. With it was a stuffed mushroom cap and a tomato half filled with puréed avocado. It was a colorful plate.

The fruit dish we had for another breakfast would make a delightful dessert. It was a fruit compote topped with soft cinnamon ice cream.

Powdered cinnamon had been stirred into softened vanilla ice cream.

There is nothing particularly exciting about salmon canapés. But made with nuts or water chestnuts and attractively presented, they took on new interest.

Each one was garnished with a small piece of fruit: a wedge of fresh peach, a tidbit of pineapple, a slice of apple or a fluted banana chunk. The combination of fruit and fish was delicious.

CHEESE AND FRUIT
One of the courses served at the party given the food editors by the Danish Pavilion at the World's Fair was a cheese and fruit course.

Little cubes of cheese had fruit attached to them with tooth picks. This is an excellent combination and looks so pretty on a platter. Finger food, of course. Parsley is called the home economist's friend. But you don't have to put it on everything!

Other green garnishes are pepper rings or slices, olives, watercress, chives or slices of avocado.

Pomegranate seeds which we had in one salad make a good red garnish. Other red pretties are cherry tomatoes, unpeeled apple wedges and radishes.

If you want a yellow garnish, try mandarin oranges, carrot curls, cantaloupe, lemon or sieved yolk of egg.

Try something new to take the monotony out of food preparation. The cost is minimal, but the lift in meal morale is priceless.

You can use either a moderate or a hot oven when you are roasting Cornish game hen. Take your choice!

Lady Finger Dessert

Made With Pudding

Line a mold with lady fingers widely available, packaged in large food markets. Fill the mold with chocolate pudding made with half milk and half cream. Refrigerate until set and ready to serve.

If you line the mold with waxed paper leaving the ends overlapped, the dessert will be easy to remove.

They Swell!

Note to new cooks: Never forget that poultry stuffings expand during roasting and that the dressing should never be tightly packed when the bird is stuffed.

French-fried potatoes, home-made, on the menu? Be sure to fry the potatoes in a single layer in a frying basket.

Serve Fruits in Gingerale for Dessert

Golden-hued fresh Bartlett pears added to the many warm colors of harvest time make Autumn a gay season. In this refreshing compote, wedges of Bartlett pears are combined with other seasonal fruits in an appealing dish for a cocktail or sparkle.

For an appetizer, serve Sparkling Pear Compote with crisp saltines; for dessert, pass a plate of buttery rich cookies.

Sparkling Pear Compote
2 or 3 fresh Bartlett pears
2 bananas
1 large cantaloupe
Concord grapes
1 lime
Gingerale

Wash and cut pears in wedges, removing core. (No need to peel Bartlett pears with their thin tender skin.) Peel and score bananas lengthwise with fork, slice into rounds. Scoop cantaloupe balls with melon scoop or measuring spoon. Add grapes and lime slices.

Chill fruits and combine in compote. Cover with chilled gingerale. Makes 6 servings.

SPARKLING PEAR COMPOTE—Fresh fruit served in gingerale makes an interesting beginning or end to a meal. This combination blends pears, bananas, grapes and melon. Garnish with slices of lime.

Roast and Pilaf

Party Lamb Has Two Appearances

NEW YORK—The hostess with the most time and money saved is the one who follows a "Two-Party System," according to Cece Allison, home service director for Scott Paper Company. Reporting on a time and money-saving system developed using food wraps, Mrs. Allison said it is possible to save as much as 25 per cent on food costs and 30 to 40 per cent on preparation time when the hostess plans two parties within the same week.

The story was given newspaper food editors at their annual conference, at a dinner given by Scott at New York's elegant Four Season's Restaurant.

• Vegetables and greens for salad may be washed, dried on paper towels and stored in plastic bags ready for both parties.

• If menus are coordinated, appetizer foods from the first dinner may be held in plastic bags in party-perfect condition for the second function a day or two later.

• Frequently, the dessert may be the same at both parties, permitting one-time preparation.

A recipe for refrigerator homemade yeast-raised rolls might be prepared for baking fresh before each party or an assortment of brown-and-serve rolls might be baked fresh for the first party, with the remainder of the package sealed in plastic wrap and refrigerated for baking for the second function.

If a dinner is planned for the first party and a luncheon or dinner scheduled for a day or two later, the Scott Home Service Center suggests that a big leg of lamb be the meat for the first dinner and cooked lamb remaining be used in an exotic Lamb Pilaf with interesting accompaniments for the second party.

TWO PARTY SYSTEM—Homemakers who plan a "Two Party System"—two parties within the same week—may effect great savings in time, money and effort. A big roast leg of lamb may be planned as the entrée for the first dinner party. Following the meal, the meat is trimmed from the bone, packed in clear see-through plastic wrap or plastic bags, and refrigerated. The result—an exotic gourmet Lamb Pilaf as the conversation piece main dish for the second party.

Simmer Apple Halves in Sugar Syrup

Cut 3 small apples into halves crosswise; remove cores. Dissolve 1-3 cup granulated sugar in ½ cup water; add 1 teaspoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Pour into heavy skillet; add apple halves. Turn heat very low; simmer, covered, about 15 minutes or till tender, turning apples once or twice and basting occasionally with syrup. Serve cold or warm, as is, or with cream, whipped cream, or ice cream.

Brown Pineapple

Ever brown drained canned pineapple slices to serve with sliced ham and cheese sauce on toast? The combination is of the "ladies' tearoom" style, but men seem to like it!

Dried Dill Flavors

Tuna and Soup Dish

A dilly of a tuna recipe — Here's a quick, nutritious tuna main dish with a delightful touch of dill. Combine 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, 1 can condensed tomato soup, 1 can (3 or 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms with liquid from can in saucepan.

Bring to a boil simmer gently 5 minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in ½ cup sour cream. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon dried dill and serve over hot cooked noodles or rice.

Mix It Well

Always shake or beat French dressing before serving to emulsify it; in this state the dressing does a good job of evenly coating the salad ingredients.

Which Are You?

It has been said, you can tell a Southerner by the way he eats his "hot-ones." A true Southerner splits the hot biscuit, slips the butter in and clamps it together quickly so that all the melted butter soaks into the biscuit while a Northerner, on the other hand, breaks the biscuit in two, and butters each bite as he eats it. Which way do you like yours best?

Pakistan Diplomat Is Expert Culinary Artist

Every diplomat has an intriguing secret or two. In the case of Ali Murtaza, sent from Pakistan's foreign office to take charge of the pavilion at the World's Fair, it's the fact he loves to cook.

It has to be a secret because he firmly believes cooking is beneath his dignity.

In Asian countries there is still a prevailing feeling that cooking at home is the job of a woman, who is definitely inferior to a man.

Murtaza, as soon as he got the present assignment, packed nearly three dozens of different kinds of spices to bring along.

When he cooks, he adds "a dash of this and a speck of that" to the pot, depending on the mood he is in.

"I've never come up with the same result. I cook thousands of different dishes on one recipe."

Chicken Farooq is a recipe from the kitchen of the famous restaurant Farooq of Karachi. The cook claims "Pakistani dishes are shared by many, but the recipes are secret."

Chicken Farooq
1 medium-sized chicken
8 ounces yogurt
1 teaspoon ground ginger
2 medium-sized onions, chopped
1/2 teaspoon ground red pepper
1 teaspoon vegetable shortening salt

Make a paste by mixing together the yogurt, ginger, crushed garlic, onions, ground red pepper and salt. Marinate the whole chicken in this mixture for 4-5 hours.

Remove chicken from marinade. Heat shortening, add chicken and fry to golden brown. Add the remaining marinade and cover pan.

Cook on a very slow fire for 1/2 to 3/4 hour until any water evaporates and a thick gravy remains. Serve hot. Makes 2-3 servings.

Eggplant Relish Is Really Unusual
A delightful new recipe!

Eggplant Relish
1 green pepper, diced
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, halved
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 eggplant (1 pound), peeled and diced
1 cup coarsely diced tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1 tablespoon drained capers
Pimiento, rolled anchovies and olives

Cook green pepper and onion with garlic in oil until tender — about 10 minutes; remove garlic. Add eggplant, tomatoes and salt. Cover and cook slowly until eggplant is tender — about 15 minutes. Add pepper, oregano and capers.

Increase heat, and cook until almost all liquid is absorbed. Cool and chill. Garnish with pimiento, anchovies and olives. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

When you are making whole-wheat yeast bread you can use honey, molasses or brown sugar for the sweetening.

Place under broiler 5 inches from source of heat, and broil about 5 minutes or until top is browned. Makes 6 appetizer servings; 3 to 4 main dish servings.

Lobster Gets Lovely Taste of Apples

French cooks are known for their interesting uses of wine in cooking. But in Normandy and Brittany, where there are no vineyards, a great deal of cooking is done with dry or draft cider. The flavor is slightly different, but nevertheless intriguing.

Cooking lobster in a mixture of apple juice and apple jack are a Breton specialty. The alcohol cooks away, leaving a distinct apple flavor which, the lobster, is absolutely delicious. Rock lobster tails prepared in this manner may be easily made in your own kitchen.

Rock Lobster Tails Breton
2 pounds frozen rock lobster tails (about 5-6 oz. tails)
8 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups apple juice or apple cider
1/2 cup apple jack or Calvados brandy
1/2 cup chopped mushrooms
3 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
1 cup light cream
1/2 cup grated Swiss Cheese.

Thaw lobster tails slightly. In a large pan with cover, measure 5 tablespoons of the butter, apple juice and apple jack and heat to boiling. Meanwhile, using kitchen scissors, cut undershell of lobster tails in several places.

Add lobster tails to boiling apple mixture, cover and simmer 20 minutes, turning tails several times. Remove tails and cool. (Save pan and cooking liquid.)

Melt remaining 3 tablespoons of butter in small skillet and add mushrooms. Cook until browned, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, cut away undershell of cooked lobster tails and remove meat in one piece. Rinse shells thoroughly and set aside. Flake lobster meat.

Prepare sauce by adding flour to sauteed mushrooms, season with salt and pepper to taste, and stir into boiling apple juice mixture. Slowly add as much cream as is needed to make a smooth mixture. Add flaked lobster meat and pile into lobster shells. Top with grated Swiss cheese.

Place under broiler 5 inches from source of heat, and broil about 5 minutes or until top is browned. Makes 6 appetizer servings; 3 to 4 main dish servings.

TWO-PARTY TOPOVERS — Appropriate refreshments for morning and afternoon work sessions of the League of Women Voters are "Two-Party Topovers." For morning serving, serve them with a sprinkling of sesame seeds in an interesting cinnamon popover batter. For afternoon serving, the same "Topovers," without sesame seeds, are filled with mincemeat and dessert whip topping and served cold.

Spinach Dish

Spinach Biz: Make circle of hot chopped spinach on individual plate. Fill center with hot canned apple sauce and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs. Children like . . . you'll see!

One large onion, chopped, will make about one cup.

Apple Spread

Chunky Cracker Spread: Combine 1 cup chopped canned apple slices, 1/4 cup chopped stuffed olives, 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Now mash an 8-ounce package cream cheese or neufchatel cheese. To this add the apple mixture and mix well. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Freeze in Pairs

When you are putting chicken breasts in your freezer, arrange them two to a package. Then you'll be able to use the number you want without having to thaw a whole batch.

Two-Way Popovers Feed Hungry Voters

For many years, dedicated members of the League of Women Voters have been exerting as much energy for their non-partisan activities in behalf of better government as the hardest-working politician exerts for his campaign.

In their efforts to increase voting participation — in 1960 only 64 per cent of all eligible persons in the United States actually voted — the women hold many morning and afternoon work sessions in homes, where much of their public-spirit programs are centered.

Energy is used up fast in these meetings and it is greatly appreciated when the thoughtful hostess refreshes the members with food and beverage.

Suitable refreshments for "double-duty" meetings of this sort are suggested in a double-duty recipe developed in the Lever Homemaking Center featuring "Two-Party Topovers," keyed to our two-party political system.

The double-duty recipe is equally well suited for coffee klatches and other forms of political entertaining.

Two-Party Topovers
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening, melted
1 teaspoon sesame seeds
Sift together flour, salt and cinnamon. Beat eggs until foamy. Blend in milk and shortening. Add sifted dry ingredients and sesame seeds. Blend until smooth.
Fill well-greased custard cups half full. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 20-25 minutes, until golden brown.
Turn off heat; prick popovers with sharp knife. Leave in oven 10 minutes to dry out. Serve immediately.

Lucky Whip Filling
1/2 cup cold milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 envelope dessert topping mix
1 cup mincemeat
Pour milk and vanilla into deep 1-quart bowl; add dessert topping. Blend; then whip at high speed on electric mixer until soft peaks form. Fold in mincemeat. Fill cooled popovers.
If desired, heat buttered syrup and pour over popovers before serving.

When you are serving roast turkey, always put an extra serving plate beside the carver so that he can fill this plate as he slices.

Americans Lack Imagination in Use of Food Seasoning

EAST LANSING — The herb garden has been replaced by the two-car garage, and American food has suffered as a result, according to an internationally known food consultant.

"The poorest peasant in Europe has an herb garden by his kitchen door," said Miss Frances B. Floore, consulting dietitian for the North Carolina State Board of Health. She spoke recently to a national hospital food service supervisors conference at Michigan State University.

"In Colonial America, the homemaker raised herbs, brought from the old country, used them in cooking her meats and soups," she said.

"The East Indian has his curry with 50 herbs, his chutney; the Mexican has his chili powder; the Italian, his spaghetti sauce; the Chinese, his soy sauce; the Puerto Rican, his peppers — and they cook with them."

"Today's American has only his salt, pepper, mustard and catsup, and he sits down to the table and puts them on after the food is cooked."

The French and other European cooks, she told her audience, prepare a high quality dish by using an inexpensive cut of meat, seasoning it well, making it attractive, palatable, appetizing.

The American buys an expensive cut — such as, steak, ribs of beef or chops — and uses little imagination or care in its preparation, she declared.

Miss Floore recommended French sauces to add glamour to the inexpensive cut — Bechamel, Veloute, and Brown. To these sauces, she said, one can add chives, eggs, cream, curry powder and a variety of other enchanting flavors.

Wine is the finest of all seasonings, she proposed, and if the homemaker is concerned because of the alcohol content, she should consider that lemon and vanilla extract are 80-proof, while cooking wine is only 10-proof.

There are as many kinds of salad dressings as there are salads, she told her listeners, yet most Americans stick to mayonnaise and French dressing, with an occasional sally into the unknown with Russian, Italian or blue cheese dressing.

Miss Floore, onetime catering dietitian at the Carolina Inn, renowned dining spot owned by the University of North Carolina, has served as food consultant with UNRRA in Greece and with the United Nations in Germany.

Wife of Missionary Planned Table Talk to Calm Guests

American women planning dinner parties might make them more interesting by taking a tip from Mrs. Lillian Dickson, wife of a Formosan missionary, who plans topics for conversation in advance as carefully as the menu when entertaining hostile

Chinese family groups together. She started this when her husband, Dr. James I. Dickson, was involved in the work of a local church where there were two tonges, or family groupings, that carried on a brisk feud. This is reported in a new book, "Angel At Her Shoulder," by Dr. Kenneth L. Wilson, just published by Harper and Row. Even in the church work the tonges sparred for power and for position on committees. Sometimes members of opposing groups served on the same committee and were present together at meetings in Dr. Dick-son's study, where hot arguments developed. "They can fight in there," she told her husband. "But they're not going to quarrel at my table when they come out for lunch!" She describes in detail how she worked out the topics of conversation to be "served" with each course. "Right after grace, I would begin introducing subjects of universal interest on things people could not possibly fight about," she said. "For example, typhoons are a good topic which took one course at lunch. If you have twelve men, each one, or many of them, can contribute something about the last typhoon. Typhoons hit our island almost every year. Sometimes to get the stories started, I would tell of the typhoon that hit when my daughter was just two weeks old."

"I always saved snakes for dessert," she said. "I might comment on the fact that at the Taipei compound — floods seemed to hit it especially hard — high water brought out the snakes and rats. In a typhoon they are friendly to each other and even to humans — all they want to do is climb up on you to get out of the water! They see a human being as an island of safety. All things grow tame in the face of natural disaster." With just a bit of such encouragement, each one of the committee members would tell his own snake story.

Celebrate Centennial of Potato Chips

The 150th anniversary of George Crum's birthday is being celebrated on Oct. 23. George Crum is the man who discovered the delicious crunch potato chip.

In 1883 he was working as the chef of one of the outstanding places in his era, Moon's Lakehouse in Saratoga Springs, New York. His sister, Kate Weeks, sliced a potato almost paper-thin, and by accident, dropped it into a frying pan. George Crum noted, in surprise, the curled crispiness it curled into, and tasted it. The delicious mouthful immediately told him there was an extraordinary new taste delight.

The new potato chips were an instant success with the discriminating patrons who came to the famous restaurant. Such distinguished visitors as Presidents Chester A. Arthur and Grover Cleveland as well as diplomats from foreign nations tasted the potato chips and praised them highly.

The foreign dignitaries, on returning home, told of the potato chips, with the result that George Crum was invited by royalty to their European courts where he prepared his new delicacy.

Returning in triumph to the United States, George Crum continued to prepare potato chips whose popularity was growing like wildfire. Potato chips during their early years were known as Saratoga Chips.

The creation of potato chips lifted George Crum, an unknown chef, to a position among the great chefs of the world such as August Escottier.

Official recognition of the new potato chips came when the White House Cook Book of 1887 included a recipe for their preparation. This official acceptance gave great impetus to the delightful new food item.

Today, George Crum's delicious discovery is the most popular food snack in the world and is widely used as a food ingredient in main dishes. Potato chips are made in every country in the world.

A statue to commemorate George Crum's contribution to the culinary arts will be unveiled in 1965 at Saratoga Springs, New York by the Potato Chip Institute International.

For the Children

Pineapple chili buns are marvelous for children's lunches and they're made in minutes. Blend 1 can pork or beef luncheon meat, chopped, with drained 8½-ounce can pineapple tidbits and chili sauce to moisten. Pile into buttered hot dog buns; wrap in foil. Bake in moderate oven until piping hot.

Nectarine Tarts

With Spanish Rice

Did you know that pork chops cook nicely with Spanish rice? After the chops are browned place them in a casserole with the rice-tomato mixture, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 1½ hours or until the chops are tender.

NEW BANANA PIE — Top Banana Pie has double filling made with a new banana cream flavor pudding and pie filling mix. The new banana cream mix was introduced at the Food Editors Conference in New York City.

New Banana Pudding Makes Elegant Pie

A homemade dessert served with fragrant coffee is a hospitable form of entertaining that fits any budget. And it becomes a special occasion when you can introduce your guests to a new dessert.

Your new dessert-of-the-week might be a creamy banana pie. The surprise? A golden banana filling flavored with real banana flakes. The filling is made with a new mix, banana cream pudding and pie filling.

The delicate banana-flavored mix can also be used in puddings, parfaits, tarts, and chilled fruit desserts. The smooth flavor blends well with fresh bananas and with strawberries, raspberries, oranges, and coconut.

Here the mix is dressed up in an elegant Top Banana Pie — banana slices layered between a double filling. Bottom layer of the pie is the new banana cream filling; top layer is filling blended with fluffy prepared whipped topping.

Top Banana Pie
1 package (2½ oz.) banana cream pudding and pie filling
2½ cups milk
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 envelope whipped topping mix
1 banana

Prepare pie filling with 2½ cups milk as directed on package. Remove from heat. Cool 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Measure 1 cup of the filling; cover surface with wax paper. Pour remaining pie filling into pie shell. Place measured filling and pie in refrigerator; chill 2 hours.

Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package. Blend 1 cup of prepared whipped topping into the chilled measured filling. Remove pie from refrigerator. Slice banana; arrange slices over top of filling.

Spoon whipped topping mixture on top of banana layer. Chill at least 3 hours. Garnish with remaining prepared whipped topping and additional banana slices, if desired.

Good Stew Is Meaty, Tasty

If you want to be an expert stew-maker, here are some basic rules from the American Meat Institute.

1. Use any meat desired — beef, veal, lamb or pork — and cut into cubes.

2. Dip meat cubes into seasoned flour and brown in a little hot fat over medium heat. For best results, brown only a few cubes at a time.

3. Add interesting seasonings, such as celery tops, a few whole cloves and a bay leaf. Then add liquid to nearly cover meat.

4. Cover and cook over low heat until meat is nearly tender.

5. Add the desired vegetables and cook until they are done. Favorite choices are peas, green beans, cauliflower, whole kernel corn, lima beans, kidney beans and cabbage.

6. Remove meat and vegetables to a hot platter and thicken liquid with a flour and water paste. Season gravy and pour over meat and vegetables.

Carving Across Grain Best for Roasts

One way to make a roast seem more tender is to carve it across the grain, reports the American Meat Institute. To carve a rolled pot roast, slice across the face of the roll.

When cutting round, chuck and other 2-inch thick pot roasts cut into 2-inch strips, then turn each piece on edge so that the slices can be carved across the grain.

Some cooks like to add a little hot water to the regular butter, sugar and flavoring combination for hard sauce.

Heat in Sauce

Beef for Veal Stuffing

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Here's an economical dish, a stuffed breast of veal, that is prepared ahead and reheated at the cook's convenience.

Stuffed Veal Breast
2½ pounds boned breast of veal (4 pounds before boning)
½ pound chopped beef chuck
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper to taste

1 egg, slightly beaten
10 green olives, pitted and chopped
¼ cup olive oil
3 cloves garlic, peeled
1 medium onion, quartered
1 small carrot, quartered
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons tomato catchup
½ cup white wine
1 cup water
Lay veal flat; trim any ragged edges. Mix beef with ¼ teaspoon of the salt, the pepper, egg and olives. Press beef mixture flat over veal to within ¼-inch from edges.

Roll up veal, tucking in edges; tie with cord. In a pressure pan, brown veal in the olive oil with the garlic; discard garlic. Add onion, carrot, bay leaf, catchup, wine, water and remaining 1 teaspoon salt.

Cook in pressure pan at 15 pounds pressure for 20 minutes; allow pressure to return to normal. Remove meat, cover and chill.

Puree vegetables and liquid in electric blender. Slice cold meat thin and reheat in sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

There's a Difference in Refrigerator Areas

Although temperatures in the cold-storage areas of most of refrigerator-freezers were adequately low in a recent study, USDA scientists noted that food packages stored on door shelves in the freezer compartment generally averaged several degrees warmer than packages stored in the main freezer compartment.

Forced-air circulation units—commonly called the frost-free type—had the smallest temperature difference between the main compartment and the door. The ice-cube compartment was only cold enough for temporary storage of frozen food—never for long term storage.

Marine Becomes First U.S. Gold Medalist at 10,000 Meters

Lt. Billy Mills Breaks Record in Big Upset

Favored Ron Clarke Places 3rd; Injury Slows Teen-Ager

TOKYO (AP) — Lt. Billy Mills, a courageous Marine from Coffeyville, Kan., turned in one of the greatest upsets in the history of the Olympic Games Wednesday when he sprinted away from a field that included world record-holder Ron Clarke and won the 10,000-meter run.

The 25-year-old crew-cut marine first lieutenant was timed in an Olympic record 23:24.4 as he scored the United States' first victory ever at the distance, the first in any long distance race since 1908 and provided the biggest shock since Horace Ashenfelter won the 5,000-meter steeplechase in 1952.

The triumph pushed the U.S. harvest of Olympic hardware to 11, including three gold, five silver and three bronze medals.

STAYED CLOSE

Mills, considered far out of his class against one of the finest 10,000-meter fields ever assembled, stayed with the leaders all the way, took the lead to stay on the 20th lap of the six-mile plus test of courage and endurance, then sprinted home, winning by about four yards.

In the vast confusion surrounding the finish, Clarke, the Australian world record-holder, was believed to have finished second, but the official results placed him third behind Tunisia's virtually unknown Mohamed Gammoudi.

FAR BACK

Mills was considered a rank outsider in the field while the top U.S. hope was little Jerry Lindgren, 35-year-old Spokane, Wash., sensation.

Lindgren, however, was badly hobbled by an ankle he twisted just two days earlier in practice. He competed, but finished far back in the pack.

Mills, on the other hand, joined the leaders immediately and stayed there. Through the various maneuvers, he stayed close and held the lead at one time or another five times.

It was on the 20th lap that he went ahead to stay and hustled home to the cheers of nearly 80,000 people to the finish line of 4:21 for the last mile.

Probably the biggest disappointment came in the javelin where Norway's world record holder, Per Jørgensen, failed to make the finals. The event was won by Paul Nevala, a Finn, with a throw of 271 feet, 2 1/2 inches. Gergely Kulcsar of Hungary was second and Yan Lusis of Russia third.

WORLD RECORD

England's Mary Rand broke the world record with a leap of 22 feet, 3 1/2 inches in winning the women's broad jump. Irma Kirszenus of Poland was second and Tatjana Schikhanova of Russia, whose record Miss Rand broke, third.

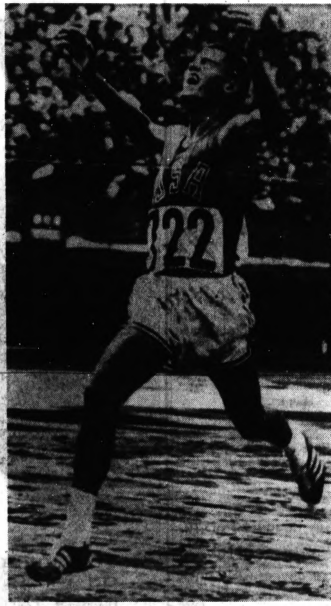

Yankee runners, however, placed a maximum complement of three in two other track semifinals, the 100 meters and the 400 meter hurdles.

Bob Hayes, the Florida A&M flash; Trent Jackson of Rochester, N.Y., and Mel Pender, a former Army sergeant from Atlanta, Ga., went through two rounds of 100 meter trials, with Hayes, best time through steady drizzle a 10.3, well off his best performance of 10.1.

Tex Cawley, Farmington, Mich., Billy Hardesty, Baton Rouge, La., whose father won the event in the 1936 Games, and Jay Luck, a Yale graduate, qualified for the finals in the 400-meter hurdles, with Cawley's time of 50.8 seconds the best among the Americans.

The U.S. basketball team, which has never lost in Olympic competition, racked up an 83-28 rout of little Uruguay, its fourth straight in Tokyo.

OLYMPIC UPSET — Marine Lt. Billy Mills of Coffeyville, Kan., throws his arms into the air as he hits the finish line to win a gold medal for the United States in the Olympic 10,000-meter run in Tokyo. Doctors Check Cyclists for Use of Stimulants

TOKYO (AP) — For the first time in Olympic history, medical tests to check for use of forbidden stimulants were taken Wednesday on cyclists competing in the team time trial race.

The issue of doping, a hot argument in professional sports, was brought into Olympic amateurism by a motion of the International Cyclist Federation suggesting that "appropriate measures should be taken to detect whether Olympic cyclists are subject to unlawful drugs before a race."

During the Rome Olympic Games four years ago, a Danish cyclist, racing in the open road event, collapsed allegedly from sun stroke and died after hours in a hospital. It was learned later that the rider took pep pills before the race.

Each rider was carefully inspected for signs of injections in his arms and in other parts of the body.

"It was almost a strip-tease," commented a German doctor, "but orders were orders. If we had examined the athletes in some secluded place, away from the course, this would have allowed them time to get a shot before the flag-off."

The doctors also inspected the bags each cyclist was carrying in the race and confiscated, he said, one of the doctors said, "mysterious looking pills" to be examined in a laboratory.

When you find a tall quarterback who can pass, he's an asset to any football team. When you find the rare one who can pass, fake expertly and call a game that confuses the opposition, he's a prize beyond value. When a quarterback does that against a team that upset major opponents in its last two games — he's Steve Tensi.

Tensi, the 6-foot-5 Florida State senior quarterback did all those things against Kentucky last Saturday and as a result he was named The Associated Press Back of the Week today.

Former Piston Hits 31 in Baltimore Conquest

MONTGOMERY, N.Y. (AP) — Don Ohl scored 31 points Tuesday night as the Baltimore Bullets closed out their NBA exhibition season with a 116-109 victory over the New York Knicks.

The defeat snapped a four-game winning streak for the Knicks in pre-season play. They wound up with a 4-3 record. Baltimore won nine exhibitions and lost six.

Initial Victory for Montreal

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that he's solidly entrenched as goalkeeper for the Montreal Canadiens, Charlie Hodge says he's more jittery than ever.

"Yes, I'm more nervous than I was last year," the little goalie admitted Tuesday night after blanking the New York Rangers 3-0 as the Canadiens opened defense of their National Hockey League regular season championship.

"When I was called up from Quebec early last season after Gump Worsley got hurt, I had nothing to lose and everything to gain. Now it's the other way around. The only way this year could be better than last would be if I won the Stanley Cup."

VEZINA TROPHY

The 31-year-old veteran of 12 professional campaigns spent part of five seasons with the Canadiens but only won a regular job a year ago. He played in 62 games, led the league with eight shutouts and captured the Vezina Trophy as the NHL's best netminder with a goals against mark of 2.35 per game.

The 5-foot-4, 150-pound Hodge was called upon to make only 14 saves while his teammates peppered New York's Marcel Paille with 48 shots. It was the only NHL game and left the Canadiens and Rangers tied for first in the 2-day-old season with two points apiece.

Claude Provost put Montreal in the lead midway through the opening period with a 20-foot backhand and scored a goal in early in the second period when he tipped in Jacques Laperriere's long shot with New York two men short. John Ferguson added a power play late in the game.

SKATING BETTER

"We should be improved over last year," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake. "I'm training camp we had four or five guys skating better than last year."

"We have pretty much the same team, although we lost Boom Boom Geoffrion. You can't lose a player like that and not feel it."

"But we have four newcomers — forward Yvan Cournoyer and Claude Larose and defensemen Ted Harris and Jim Roberts — and they're all hard workers. Cournoyer should be a pretty good replacement for Geoffrion."

"It's only a kid but he can really put the puck in the net." Boston is at Chicago in the only action tonight.

BALTIMORE (AP) — What's the success secret of the Baltimore Colts is the top question around the National Football League. The answer in a nutshell seems simple: Hit harder.

That doesn't sound like much of an explanation until you probe a little deeper. Perhaps Charley Johnson, quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals, clarified it best after the Colts gave the Cards their first defeat Monday night, by a 47-27 score that might have been worse.

"We gave a 100 per cent effort out there," said Johnson. "But a 100 per cent effort is just not good enough to win in this league."

The Colts proved that. They were giving it at least a 110 per cent effort.

Bobby Boyd, defensive half-back for the Colts, confirmed the attitude.

"We just wanted to out-tackle and out-block them," Boyd said. "We wanted to hit people and did."

That word "hit" kept popping up from both sides.

"Did you notice how the gang was hitting out there?" Coach Don Shula of the Colts kept asking interviewers.

IT WORKED. "We figured they were coming after us right at the start."

After catching a pass in the first quarter, Conrad related: "Boyd hit me from the back. Then a second guy Bill Pellington hit me and then the third guy Jerry Logan and the ball popped up."

SECOND TD. Stonebreaker recovered the fumble and it set up the second Colt touchdown.

"In football there's just no way you can win without wanting to hit," Boyd expanded on the theme. "You either block or tackle with all the power your body can command or you just don't win."

The Colts may have learned the lesson the hard way. When they lost their first game 34-24 at Minnesota, their blocking and tackling came in for severe castigation.

Since then, they have blasted through Green Bay, Chicago, Los Angeles and St. Louis. Same players, just hitting harder.

NEED SPEED. "I know I didn't want to go with off speed pitchers in New York. Curt Simmons was good enough to get away with it. But a fast ball pitcher is better there. That's why I came in with Ron Taylor in St. Louis's game, rather than Barney Schultz."

The shadows didn't seem to bother Tim McCarver much. The Cardinals' young catcher leads all the hitters with a plump .471 average. Bobby Richardson, 391, Mickey Mantle, 353, and Elston Howard, 313, are the three Yanks over the 300 level.

Set to Open Practice. DETROIT (UPI) — The University of Detroit basketball team will start practice Thursday as Bob Calihan starts his 17th season as Titans' head coach.

Clay Predicts KO in Ninth

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, still as talkative as ever, held a press conference Tuesday and predicted he would knock out Sonny Liston in the ninth round when they meet in Boston Nov. 16.

Clay said he would beat Liston. "Just like Johnson is gonna beat Goldwater," and said the fight would end in the second minute of the ninth round.

Clay won the title last Feb. 25 at Miami Beach when Liston failed to come out for the seventh round. Before that fight, Clay said he would win in eight.

Clay said Liston would last a little longer in their rematch "because he's in better condition."

Then he added: "But when I get through with him, there won't be any challengers left around for me."

Clay said it would be the "greatest fight of all time" and cheap too. Only $50 ring-side. Top price for seats at the Miami Beach fight was $250.

Record Erased in Utah

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — A jubilant Craig Breedlove has regained the title as the fastest man on wheels and obviously was determined today to keep it as long as possible.

For the 25-year-old Los Angeles speedster said he would try to improve on his land speed record of 408.72 miles per hour, set Tuesday in his jet-powered car "Spirit of America."

For another, he said he had reserved the track at these western Utah salt flats until Oct. 26 and plans to keep it every minute of that time.

Oxford, OLSM Harriers Triumph

Oxford and Orchard Lake St. Mary cross-country teams continued their winning ways yesterday afternoon with comfortable victories over Kettering and St. Anthony.

The Wildcats handed hot Kettering a 22-33 loss by taking first, third, and fifth-seventh places — led by Tom Swett's 11:01 clocking. Dave Arcand was second for Kettering.

OLSM's Dennis Hackett set a course and school mark of 9:53 as he led the Eagles past their Detroit visitors, 20-36. The winners took five of the first six places, losing only third place to St. Anthony's Gary Powers.

Lanes Squad Wins 5th City Touch Contest

Orchard Lanes won its fifth in a row and Motor Mart's Bandits racked up their fourth decision in action last night in the Pontiac Touch Football League.

Orchard Lanes whipped Emmanuel Christian, 24-6, the Bandits stopped the Packers, 27-0, and the Zephyrs downed Tom's Bar, 35-7.

Bill Herrington scored for the Bandits on a five-yard run and lofted scoring passes to Chuck Graves (25), Tom Durocher (30) and Jack Agee (30). The win pushed the Bandits into second place in the league race.

John Lucadam connected on five TD pitches for Orchard Lanes. He hit Bill Bryce with losses of 50 and 30 yards and pitched strikes to Earl McKee (15), Walt Poe (20) and Fred Davis (25).

Braves' Board Boss Slates Statement

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bill Bartholomay, board chairman of the Milwaukee Braves, said Tuesday that directors will meet "sometime next week," probably in Chicago, to decide the National League baseball club's future.

The Braves reportedly plan to move to Atlanta in 1965. Bartholomay, who has refused to either confirm or deny the rumors, said he will submit a recommendation to the board.

Bartholomay, the leader of a Chicago area group which purchased control of the Braves two years ago, declined to comment on whether he had been in contact with Milwaukee businessmen reportedly interested in buying the club.

Pistons Meet 76ers in NBA Opener

DETROIT (UPI) — Charles Anthony Wolf will be known this year as "the man who brought the two-planet system to professional basketball."

The new style is the two-planet system and Wolf decided to let it.

He also hopes to be known as "the man who directed the Detroit Pistons to the National Basketball Association championship."

But he knows you can't have everything and partial recognition is better than none at all.

Wolf will be starting his second season as coach of the Pistons when the club opens the season Friday night in Philadelphia against the 76ers. And he hopes his sophomore year is more noteworthy than his rookie campaign.

Detroit finished fifth in the five-team Western Division last season with a miserable 23-58 record and 25 games out of first place. The Pistons misfired so many times that Wolf began to wonder if his boys were shooting beachballs at the hoop.

NEW STYLE

"Things will be different this season," Wolf warned at a practice session. "We'll have a lot of new players and a new style of play."

Guy Rodgers Stars as Warriors Beat Lakers

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — San Francisco's Warriors, led by the play-making and shooting of Guy Rodgers, defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 102-97 in an exhibition National Basketball Association game Tuesday night.

Rodgers scored 22 points, 12 in the first half, and continually set up his forwards as the Warriors broke through Los Angeles defense.

BOWLING

Huron Cleaners and A n d y's Service will attempt to disassociate themselves tonight when the Huron Bowl Wednesday night "A" League resumes action.

The former took six points from the servicemen last week as Tony Ledesma bowled 698 and now are tied for first place.

Also last Wednesday night at Huron, the Fisher Body Office League listed a 225-223-235 — 698 for Norm Keeley and a 182 triplicate for Ray Vancannon.

Huron's Wednesday morning

Hi - Lo's had 221-213-618 by Mary Wood. Ted's Team leads the loop by winning 18 of 20 points to date.

Primrose Lanes reported a 240 game last week for Stan Larkin in the Thursday House League.

The Wednesday night circuit at Auburn Lanes saw Jim Foster roll a 235-602; and the Peoples Market team remained tied with the house squad as both took four points.

WOMEN TIED

The Auburn Wednesday Coffee loop had a 222-539 effort by Fran Ginter and a 518 by Bonnie Stockard. The Four Nuts and Butterfingers are tied for first place.

Auburn's Ladies League last Wednesday was led by Laura Hallenbeck's 201-523 for the Sinclair Oil team.

Cliff McGinnis' 211-224-235-817 paced the four-game action in Mountain Bowling Center's Doubles Classic last week. Lou Valland had 202-223.

Thursday at Airway Lanes there was a 220-592 by Shirley Pointer in the Ladies Major Classic. The Airway First League Wednesday was paced by Betty Bourcard's 546 and Betzi Walsanen's 202-530.

West Side Lanes reported a 225-594 in its Pontiac Housewives circuit by Marilyn Wood. Sunday's Loafers Club Mixed League had a 577 by Marge Billingsly.

Last Wednesday's North Hill Classic had a 731 by Keith Johns. The same night Sam Robbins bowled 728-683 for his first sanctioned 600.

Not so fortunate with the sanctioning were Bob Gronzo and Carl Hartman. Both had 300 games recently while waiting to get in or bowling in match games.

Waterford Hills CC Decides Club Titles

The annual Waterford Hills Country Club championship was settled over the weekend with James Stevens of Clarkston firing a 71-73-144 for the championship.

In the women's division of 18 hole play Bobbie Cruikshank of Clarkston had an 87.

Only two teams are unbeaten in Michigan collegiate football — Albion and Michigan.

Coach Morley Fraser's Albion team has a 4-0 record and seems to have fairly smooth sailing in its quest for an outright MIAA championship. Only Olivet (3-1) appears to pose any threat after the Britons defeated Kalamazoo last Saturday.

Michigan, fifth-ranked in the latest AP poll, is 3-0 after up-ending Michigan State.

U-M Crew Works on Ground Attack

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Wolverines' offense concentrated on its ground game Tuesday while the defense practiced against Saturday opponent Purdue's long pass pattern.

The offensive unit worked on sharpening up its handoff plays and sweeps around end. Defensive halfback John Rowser, hobbled three weeks by a leg injury, twisted the injured leg while working out to test its soundness. The extent of the re-injury has not been determined.

Indiana Team Worries MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Don't look at the scores but the statistics, Michigan State coaches are warning their players in advance of Saturday's football game with Indiana.

The Hoosiers have lost three straight and are cellar-dwellers in the Big Ten. But two of the games have been lost by a single point each—14-13 to Northwestern and 21-20 to Iowa last Saturday. Powerhouse Ohio State won 17-9 over the Hoosiers.

Three Patriots Hurt in Two-Car Collision

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Three defensive backs for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League were injured early today in a two-car collision.

Ron Hall and Chuck Shonta, both 27, and Dick Felt, 27, were released from Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after treatment for cuts and bruises.

Soccer Grows at Prep Level

Barons, Cranbrook Set Varsity Match

Bloomfield Hills and Cranbrook will engage in an apparent first for Michigan High School athletics this afternoon at the Hills Junior High School soccer field.

The two soccer teams will clash at 4 p.m. in what is believed to be the first interscholastic varsity match between two state schools.

Bloomfield Hills is competing at the varsity level for the first time and already has a win and tie against Canada's Sarnia Collegiate.

Cranbrook has competed for several years against schools in Canada and in other states. The Cranbrook team is 3-0-1, after losing to their alumni.

Chet Schultz coaches the Barons' eleven and Bob Ussell handles Cranbrook's team.

The sport is also catching on at Grose Pointe University School, Hamtramck's Emmanuel Conception and Detroit Country Day. Some competition has previously been staged at a reserve team level.

Falcons Host to Clawson

Rochester Favored in O-A Tilt

Rochester's unbeaten record in the Oakland A League will be at stake tonight when it plays host to Clawson in a rescheduled contest.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday but was advanced due to the county teachers' meetings tomorrow and Friday.

O-A contests — Warren Cassino at Lake Orion, Madison at Avondale and Troy at Warren Fitzgerald — will be Friday night.

Clawson earned its first win of the season and moved into a four-way tie for fourth place by blanking Lake Orion last week.

FAVORITES

The Falcons will be favored based on their 2-0-1 loop log, a 26-13 victory over Madison and a 6-4 tie with Fitzgerald — both of those teams having beaten Clawson.

The Avondale contest will mark Frank Crowell's return.

The former Yellow Jacket men's left for the Madison coaching reins this past summer. Both teams are 1-2, and deadlocked with Clawson and Cassino.

Under coach Dick Bye, Avondale has been inconsistent on both offense and defense. Madison has slumped after being the pre-season pick to win the title.

The Troy (3-0) trip to Fitzgerald (2-0-1) will pit the top offense against its best defense. Cassino will attempt to be the fifth squad to hold Lake Orion scoreless in their Friday encounter.

'Big O' Paces Royals

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Oscar Robertson dumped in 29 points and led the Cincinnati Royals to their 12th NBA exhibition victory Tuesday night, a 121-113 decision over the St. Louis Hawks.

Cliff Hagen sparked a late spurt by the Hawks, who narrowed the score to 101-98 in the closing minutes.

SUCCESSFUL HUNT — Frank Spitz (right), 106 Indian-side, Lake Orion, is congratulated by hunting partner Bill Sigler of Inlay City after downing a bull moose. The bull's antlers had a spread of 56 inches. It was shot eight miles south of Chapeau, Ont.

Game Avoids Short Grass

"Where sheep graze, you find no deer,"

This was the observation of Thelmer (Buck) Throndest after he returned to his home at 1800 Airport, Waterford Township, from a hunting trip to Wyoming.

"Those people who hunted where sheep pastured were wasting their time," he said. "Sheep eat the grass so short there's no food for the deer or antelope."

Throndest and his brother, Rudy Throndest, 61 E. Princeton, hunted "back in the hills" near Medicine Bow.

Buck bagged a 5-point (western count) mule deer and his brother took a 3-pointer. Both dressed out over 200 pounds with 12-inch horns and Buck bagged a 14-incher.

"I saw eight fair mules in a day and a half before shooting the five-pointer," said Buck Throndest.

ONE LICENSE

Frank Spitz, 106 Indianwood, Lake Orion, and Bill Sigler of Inlay City bought one moose license between them and headed for Chapeau, Ont.

Spitz came across a bull moose first, took three shots from his 270 with 150-grain bullets, and the hunt ended.

The bull carried 56-inch antlers.

"Bill was disappointed that he didn't get the moose," said Spitz. "But this is all the more reason why he should go back next year. I'm going, too."

Five men pleaded guilty before West Bloomfield Justice Elmer Dieterle last week to violation of state hunting laws.

Each hunter paid fines and costs of $13.

Frederick L. Thorp, Plymouth, and James Sullivan, Garden City, were charged with hunting without licenses. Gerald E. Smith and Robert A. Wolgat, both of Detroit, were charged with shooting at ducks before the sunrise opening time.

Jack J. Barron, Clyde, was ticketed for possessing a firearm during a closed hunting period.

Antlerless Deer Draw Set Oct. 22

Automated drawings have been set for Thursday, Oct. 22, to machine select nearly 200,000 applicants who will receive permits to hunt antlerless deer during Michigan's November firearm season.

The Conservation Department reports that a record number of hunters should be in the running for permits when this month's "luck of the draw" gets under way.

As of Oct. 8, one day before the deadline for postmarking permit applications, it was estimated that about 250,000 entries had reached the department's Lansing office.

The previous high of 262,000 was in 1963.

Although the bulk of the incoming cards were still to be processed, some of the special season areas had already become oversubscribed and many others were filling up fast.

By the time department workers wind up their chore of checking and sorting applications, entries are expected to exceed hunter quotas for most of the 67 areas which will be open to taking antlerless white-tails.

SENT TO PRINTER

As soon as drawings have been completed for all oversubscribed areas, cards will be sent to a commercial printer where they will be marked as valid permits or unsuccessful applications.

If everything goes according to schedule, all hunters will get their cards back by Oct. 31.

Registration Cards for Camps Available

Deer hunters planning to stay at state forests this season can again take care of two get-ready details with one trip to local license dealers.

At the same time they buy their firearm licenses, hunters can also pick up free registration cards which are required for camping on these publicly-owned lands.

Pontiac Press Contest Starts, Too

Hunters Ready for Pheasant Season

The sudden increase in the booming of shotguns coming from public and private trap ranges can mean only one thing: The pheasant season is just around the corner.

Next Tuesday, Oct. 20, at 10 a. m., an army of hunters will march across the Southern Michigan's huntable lands with the wily ring-neck the primary targets.

Rabbits, squirrels, grouse and woodcock also become legal targets in the lower third of the state that day.

PRESS CONTEST

The Pontiac Press Pheasant Contest also gets under way the same day.

All residents of Oakland County are eligible to enter ring-neck pheasants taken in Michigan. Pheasants shot on game preserves are not eligible. The hunter bagging the longest bird will receive a $50 savings bond. A $25 bond will be awarded for the heaviest pheasant.

Entries must be brought to The Sports Department of The Pontiac Press for measuring or weighing between 7 a. m. and 2 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

The pheasant population appears to be at one of the low points of its natural population cycles.

Conservation department experts predict a kill of between 600,000 and 750,000 ring-necks. This is about the same as last fall's estimated kill of 720,000.

Veteran hunters are predicting that the majority of pheasants will be found near water.

Some of the better expected locations are around Armada, Brown City, Port Huron and northwestern Macomb County.

An eight per cent drop was noted in the central part of Southern Michigan. The count was about the same in the southwestern area.

Substantial gains were reported in the northern fringe counties, principally Gladwin, Macomb and Osceola.

Summary of Viet Story Shows Nation's Plight

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Viet Nam's future and what the United States can do about it have become an issue in the United States and a problem affecting U.S. relations with allies. Here is an effort to clarify basic questions. Answers are based on information gathered by Malcolm W. Broome, chief AP correspondent. Another installment will appear tomorrow.)

By The Associated Press
Q. How did the Viet Nam situation come about?

A. The Indochina states—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—were a French colony. When the wartime Japanese occupation ended, Communist Ho Chi Minh proclaimed a republic in 1945. Later he mounted a guerrilla war, with Soviet and Chinese aid, against France. When the French jungle fortress of Dien Bien Phu fell in the north, it was the end for France.

A Geneva conference partitioned Viet Nam at the 17th parallel into Communist north and non-Communist south, Laos and Cambodia also became independent. A referendum in South Viet Nam deposed Emperor Bao Dai.

CHIEF OF STATE
N. Dinh Diem became chief of state. Later he proclaimed a republic with himself as president.

Q. Where did the Communist guerrillas come from?
A. Many stayed in the south after partition. Many went south with a flood of refugees. Communists were strong in rural areas as long as 10 years ago.

Q. What kind of war is it today?

A. Nightmarish, with no front, no rear against an elusive enemy difficult to identify. The Viet Cong hit and hide, raid and ambush, infiltrate and terrorize, propagandize and cajole peasants, constantly recruit manpower.

The Viet Cong fights in jungles, marshes, rice paddies, villages. It is a political as well as military struggle, a contest for popular support.

Q. How did the United States get involved?

VIET NAM REGINS—Overwhelming attack by the Vietnamese forces in 1954 (top) stopped the French Empire in Indochina. Setting up the South Viet Nam, with Ngo Dinh Diem as president in 1955 (bottom) followed Geneva partitioning of the country.

A. The fall of the French made South Viet Nam a dangerous vacuum in U.S. eyes. An American program of advising South Viet Nam, though on a small scale, began quickly, with the object of keeping southeast Asia out of Communist hands.

Q. What administration started this?

A. In 1954 President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent Ngo Dinh Diem a letter pledging U.S. efforts to help stabilize his government.

lional Liberation Front of South Viet Nam" stepped up pressure on the Saigon government. U.S. aid personnel had been in most numbers until then.

Q. What is the Viet Cong?

A. It's the name the south gives to the guerrillas, implying derision. Reliable estimates place its main fighting force at 34,000, supported by 80,000 armed regional guerrillas who fight at times and also serve as labor or supply forces.

Q. How do they recruit?

Armed Viet Cong squads, often no more than 10 to a squad, work in agitation-propaganda teams.

HIGHLY EFFECTIVE

Totally indoctrinated, they are highly effective with the peasants and know how to live with them. They may have done the Saigon government more damage than the fighting battalions.

Q. How much territory does the Viet Cong control?

A. It almost wholly controls the rich, food-producing Cao Mau peninsula in the south, claims complete control of 77 of South Viet Nam's 237 administrative districts.

They no longer need recruiting squads in these. In other areas, by night, the Saigon government controls little.

320 TEAMS
In the 160 districts where the Viet Cong does not claim full control, about 320 Red agitation-propaganda teams are working constantly.

Q. Why does the Viet Cong fight?

A. The Communist propaganda is effective, plotting the enemy as foreigners and puppets of foreigners. When that fails, there are such methods as coercion and terror.

The ordinary Viet Cong irregular is concerned with his crops, works with guerrillas only when

Q. What is the Saigon government's manpower situation?

A. Yes. The Viet Cong does not use planes, helicopters and modern arms. But the Viet Cong hit and run, stage elaborate ambushes, deal in jungles.

A. Yes. The Viet Cong does not use planes, helicopters and modern arms. But the Viet Cong hit and run, stage elaborate ambushes, deal in jungles.

A. About 200,000 regulars, about 200,000 paramilitary forces.

Q. What about U.S. forces?

A. In December, 1961, there were 1,000 U.S. military personnel. By the end of 1963 this had risen to 15,500. This month it is 19,500.

Q. Didn't U.S. officials say last year the program would be phased out to just a handful by 1967?

A. Yes. But the situation changed. More U.S. personnel are expected, including military police to protect close to 4,000 U.S. civilians and their families.

Q. Why did estimates change?

A. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, after repeated trips to South Viet Nam, finally reported the situation had worsened since last fall and the road ahead would be long and frustrating.

Q. What was the matter with Saigon's war effort?

A. Coups, attempted coups, political unrest in the cities even greater Viet Cong efforts.

Q. Is there any more talk of cutting back the U.S. program?

A. President Johnson says the United States "cannot fail to do its full share to meet the challenge" in Viet Nam.

The United States is pledged to stay as long as necessary and give what aid is needed to hold back the Communists.

City Man Hurt in 5-Car Crash

A Pontiac man is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following a five-car pile-up on the city street yesterday afternoon at Dixie and Telegraph.

Frank Peques, 51, 336 Prospect, was injured when the car in which he was riding collided with a second vehicle.

The impact of the crash caused both cars to rebound into three other cars.

Peques was a passenger in a car driven by Eugene Cummings, 40, 359 Prospect.

The second vehicle was driven by Mary Teasley, 192 E. Wilson, Cummings, the only other injured person, was treated and released from the hospital.

Claims Truth on Nazi Party Kept Back

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Americans have not been told the truth about the American Nazi Party because the nation's mass media are controlled against it, its commander told a University of Michigan audience Monday night.

Speaking before an audience of students, Nazi Party leader George Lincoln Rockwell said Jews have gained control of the media and suppressed his views.

'JEWISH PROBLEM'

He said the "Jewish problem" was that too many Jews had tried to suppress discussion about themselves unless it was laudatory.

People try to stop me by hissing or punching my nose, Rockwell told hecklers. "No one will stop me by violence," he said.

There was scattered heckling during the speech. Two eggs were thrown at the stage of packed Hill Auditorium during a question and answer session. No one was hit. Some 30 extra policemen were on hand.

Meningitis Claims

14th Ft. Ord Victim

FT. ORD, Calif. — Meningitis has claimed its 14th victim at Ft. Ord.

Pvt. Gordon H. Baker Jr., 22, of Whittier, Calif., died yesterday of the type of meningitis that had killed 12 other army trainees at Ft. Ord. The other victim was the infant daughter of a soldier stationed at the camp. Baker was the 85th case of meningitis at the camp.

2 in Czech Orchestra

SCHWABEISCH-GEMUND, Germany — Two members of the 19-man Czechoslovak Chamber Orchestra of Prague on tour in West Germany have defected and asked for political asylum, police reported Tuesday.

The musicians, identified as Josef Picha, 28, and Jiri Bunata, 21, left the orchestra after a concert Sunday at Ludwigsburg, near Stuttgart.

Boyle Bends Some Ears

Candid Quips for Candidates

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —Remarks a political candidate gets tired of hearing: "Remember, Jerry, if you lose this one the only thing left you can run for is — dog catcher."

"The printer says that if we don't get up the money for your election cards now, he'll throw them down the sewer himself."

"One of his troubles is that he gives his speech better when he talks in his sleep than he does when he's awake."

"I think the only votes he's sure of so far are those of people who read billboards aloud with their lips."

"Maybe if we got him to speak in a cemetery we could corral a few ghost votes."

"Now try to get this through your head: At the first stop you munch on Italian sausage and some pizza pie. You ask for some bagels when we hit the garment district. And when we pause at Yorkville you say a few kind words about the sauerbraten your mother used to make."

"You don't campaign on issues anymore. You campaign on your stomach. Why should anybody vote for you if you don't eat the same kind of food he does?"

BOTH KNOW LITTLE

"Why should we let our tiger debate his opponent on television? That would only let the public find out how little either of them know."

Acres Charges Ex-Spouse With Kidnaping Son

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Pier Angeli has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of her ex-husband, singer Vic Damone, charging him with kidnaping their 9-year-old son, Perry.

The warrant was signed yesterday by Judge Simon Silver of Criminal Court in New York City.

Miss Angeli told Judge Silver that Damone took the boy to California. Damone has filed suit in California to gain custody of Perry.

A Showgirl Shows Vendor Secret of Selling 'Dogs'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I hadn't had a guest columnist in many years

then in the mail came "The Diary of Darlene."

It was written by a stunning Latin Quarter showgirl, a bawdy beauty, Darlene Larson, in long-hand, on the stationery of her hotel in Times Square. I think this kooky beauty has a gift.

Anyhow, here's her first story:

THE HOT DOG MAN

By Darlene Larson

One day in June an agency needed girls for model bikinis. Since I apply for jobs dressed to the part, I wore my bikini under my coat. When I came in, the agent said to two men already there, "I don't know what she's got under that coat. Be prepared for anything."

When I opened my coat, I was hired immediately.

Afterward, walking up 8th Av., I saw a hot dog vendor about 30 ft. and asked for a hot dog and cream soda. Suddenly, for no reason I began to call out, "Get your hot dogs here, best hot dogs in town."

The little old hot dog man smiled. But not one person stopped.

"I know how to sell your hot dogs!" I said. I removed my coat and stood only in my bikini. Soon there was a cluster of people but they weren't buying.

The little old man said, "Put your coat on!" He began putting my coat on me.

"Don't put it on!" said the crowd. "Show us your bikini!"

"Only if you buy a hot dog," I said.

"Buy" was the magic word. People did start buying. I would just open my coat as each person bought a hot dog...

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Tony Martin signed a fat 7-yr. contract with the Americana act, said kiddingly. "It's really not the same, being here without Steve Lawrence — it's BETTER! But he's already phoned the three times — once to wish me luck and twice to tell me how great he is in his show!" Steve arrived later, joined Eydie in a song.

The party honoring Anna Maria Alberghetti at Shepherd's had an absentee — Anna Maria didn't show up. Sammy Davis will be the Friars' guest of honor at a Nov. 13 luncheon. Sen. Keating brushed off praise for his new book: "Washington has more authors than Congressmen."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A woman who can keep a secret never gets told one.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "One way to curb delinquency is to take parents off the street at night." —Morrice Gallant.

EARL'S PEARLS: A World's Fair visitor sighed, "I've waited on lines at the Fair longer than Bobby Kennedy has been a New Yorker."

With liquor now being served in theaters, we notice there has been less coughing in the audience—but considerably more hiccupping. —That's earl, brother.

Bunny Tale Features Unique Cast in NY Playboy Bribes Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A tale about beautiful "bunnies," boogie and politicians is unfolding in the Playboy Club liquor license bribery conspiracy trial in State Supreme Court.

The cast ranges from scantily clad waitresses with "rabbit ears," to an alleged grafter in high office, to a Republican state chairman who quit without explanation.

The plots within a plot grow more complicated in the day-to-day chapters related from the witness stand.

CONSPIRACY CHARGES

Ralph Berger, 58, former Chicago nightclub operator and public relations man, is on trial on conspiracy charges. The principal accusation is that he was the key man in a plot to obtain a Playboy Club liquor license by paying a $50,000 bribe to Martin C. Epstein, chairman of the State Liquor Authority who later was ousted and indicted.

There has been testimony that L. Judson Morhouse, former GOP state chairman and political confidante of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, sought a minimum of $100,000 for legal advice to Playboy Magazine enterprises.

Arnold J. Morton, vice president in charge of Playboy Club chain operations and a prosecution witness, testified that Morhouse proposed that the club pay him an annual retainer of $20,000 for "at least" five years, and give him a gift-shop concession in the chain of clubs and an option to buy $100,000 worth of stock.

The jury also has heard testimony that the Playboy Club operators rejected the gift shop and stock purchase ideas but agreed to pay Morhouse $20,000 a year legal fees as "additional insurance to stay in business in New York."

NOT CHARGED

No criminal charge has been made against Morhouse. Berger allegedly recruited Morhouse to help get a license for the club. Morhouse has testified that the club agreed to pay $50,000 to Epstein to spring loose a license after he had held up an application for a year and stalled the promoters' $3.9-million investment to establish a sumptuous club on the fashionable East Side.

The indictment against Berger names Morton as a co-conspirator but not a defendant. He is the first witness at the trial. Defense counsel Joseph Brill cross-examined Morton Tuesday about the 1961 negotiations and subsequent events.

OVER BALLYHOO

Morton testified that Epstein had been holding up the license after becoming "disturbed" over ballyhoo about the abbreviated costumes of the waitresses and the "key" club idea in mail advertising addressed to the "so-called sophisticated male." Private memberships in the club-to-be were being sold at $25 a "key" to prospective customers.

Brill asked what a "so-called sophisticated male" meant. Morton gave this definition: "He purchases the type of clothes Playboy (the magazine) advertises. He enjoys good food, good entertainment, hi-fi, stereo — enjoys driving sports cars." Brill asked if there were "any other appeals" to such males:

"Yes," Morton replied.

"Beautiful women in a bunny costume."

DESCRIBED COSTUME

He described the costume as "a silk fabric bathing suit with bunny ears, cuffs and collar." Brill asked: "With the largest portion of the female body exposed?" Morton said: "It didn't expose as much as a bikini."

India Reads Mostly in English

NEW DELHI (AP)—English-language dailies and periodicals continue to command the largest readership in India, 17 years after freedom.

Fifty-four English dailies, with a readership of 1,452,000, have 26 per cent of the circulation of all the 503 dailies in India.

Hindi, which is the state language and is spoken by the majority of the Indian people, came next with 142 dailies but with only 764,000, aggregate circulation.

Annual figures released by the Registrar of Newspapers for India said newspaper readers in 1963 increased by 5.4 per cent over 1962 — from 19,255,000 to 20,291,000.

But India still has a long way to go to reach the standards of the West or Japan. India's newspaper reading public is less than 5 per cent of the total population.

LARGEST

The largest daily circulation in India is that of a Bengali newspaper in Calcutta (Ananda Bazar Patrika) with 146,819. Only nine dailies have a circulation of more than 100,000.

GOP Leader Says Dem Spy Tale Nonsense

Burch Denies Story
Informer Bribed at Communication HQ

WASHINGTON (AP)

—Democratic charges that the Republicans paid a Democratic party employee $1,000 for supposedly confidential information have been labeled "a non-sensical story" by GOP National Chairman Dean Burch.

Burch called the story, unfolded at Democratic National Committee headquarters yesterday, an attempt by Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey to divert attention from the Bobby Baker and Billie Sol Estes cases and the indictment of former Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts.

But Bailey said earlier in a statement: "I never thought I would see these bizarre ideas put into practice by the Republican National Committee in the midst of a presidential campaign — particularly a campaign where the Republican candidate has had so much to say about morality and ethics."

The payroll charge was leveled at the office of Wayne Phillips, assistant publicity director for the Democratic Committee. He called newsmen to his office to meet Louis Flax, a 39-year-old strategy operator in the committee's communications center.

Then he passed out a copy of an affidavit signed by Flax and dated Oct. 12.

AFFIDAVIT CLAIM

The gist of Flax's affidavit: He was contacted on Sept. 28 by an unidentified caller who hinted he would be paid for offering information on Democratic campaign plans; then he was threatened, presumably with the fact that he had a prison record which he hadn't told the Democratic party about; he met with two high-ranking Republican officials, one of them executive director John Grenier.

On Oct. 1, Flax told Phillips about the central theme of a promise he had received for payoffs. Phillips told him to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Guns, Nazi Flags Seized; Suspect Plot to Kill LBJ

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)

—Officers quizzed today an ex-convict plumber, at whose home they seized guns and Nazi flags, about a reported plot to kill President Johnson here Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Julius Schmidt, 28, at his Corpus Christi home last night and took Jerry Bird, 27, of Calallen, Tex., into custody here several hours later.

They said both men would be charged with violating the National Firearms Act.

Word from informers about guns being collected in this city on the lower Texas coast prompted simultaneous raids on the home of Schmidt and that of his mother, Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said.

Informers reported there was "a lot of loose talk about assassinating the President" and quoted unnamed individuals as saying they would try to obtain guns from Schmidt, Mitchell said.

After questioning Schmidt for more than three hours, the sheriff said he at first doubted there was a plot on the life of President Johnson.

MAY BE SOMETHING

"Now that we have looked into it," Mitchell said, "there might be something to it. However, a plot has not yet been uncovered."

"I plan to arrest two more people."

The sheriff said Schmidt admitted buying machine guns and automatic weapons illegally but denied any knowledge of an assassination plot.

Schmidt, blond, blue-eyed and ruddy complexioned, was questioned at the sheriff's office. Newsmen were not permitted to talk to him.

Pontiac City Commissioners introduced a city income tax last night by unanimous vote.

Surprisingly, the commission's action drew no public comment. Final action and a public hearing on the proposed ordinance are scheduled for next week.

Citing the present "inadequate" tax system which relies on the property tax, Mayor William H. Taylor, Jr., issued a public statement on the proposed tax.

Similar to that adopted by Detroit and other Michigan cities, Pontiac's proposed tax would be a one per cent levy on the income of city residents and corporations.

A one half cent levy would be made on the income of non-residents working in the city. Pontiac residents already paying an income tax through employment in another city would pay the nonresident rate.

Mayor Taylor said that implementation of an income tax would accompany a reduction in the property tax rate, which would benefit retired persons and those on a fixed income.

ESTIMATED CUT
The best estimates right now are that the property tax would be cut by about $3 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

In a "Pontiac at the crossroads" statement, Taylor said that the city's revenue picture was basic and vital to the city's future.

"We must decide whether our city will move forward or fall back into a second-rate community," he said.

He added that a better community means good streets, new sewers and drains, improved fire and police protection, assistance to the unfortunate, and the removal of urban blight.

"Only an adequately financed city can stand on its own feet," he said.

LBJ Forced Delay in Baker Quiz--Barry

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater charged today President Johnson has forced a new delay of a Senate investigation "because Bobby Baker's affairs lead right straight into the White House itself."

And the Republican presidential nominee found himself in the middle of a lively word battle with Democrats after an off-the-cuff charge last night that the rival party was "a fascist organization that will not even allow a member to speak his mind in favor of a member of the other party."

A Democratic spokesman quickly snapped back with a charge that the Republicans

THURSDAY FORECAST:
Sunny and Warmer

Sunny and slightly warmer with a little fog in the early hours is tomorrow's forecast. Skies will be clear tonight.

Temperatures will fall into the low 40s tonight and shoot up to near 75 tomorrow.

Warm Indian summer days will continue until Monday when showers and cooler temperatures are predicted.

Forty was the low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the mercury had soared to 68.

As a springboard for his new charges, the Arizona Senator used the announcement yesterday by Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., that the Senate Rules Committee, which Jordan heads, would delay its probe of Baker until after the election because of the difficulty of getting enough senators to come back to Washington to form a quorum for the committee.

REOPENED PROBE
The Rules Committee recently responded to the probe of the business dealings of Baker while he was secretary to Senate Democrats, a post he resigned under fire a year ago.

In his speech today, Goldwater said, "The man who now occupies the White House could, by lifting a finger, start the Bobby Baker case on its way to full exposure."

"Instead he is standing firm and coldly on the side of deceit and cover-up."

"The man who now occupies the White House is, in effect, telling the American people to go whistle — that so long as,

Drive Gains Impetus From First Donations

Enthusiastic Audience at Kickoff Program in PCH Auditorium

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)

—The 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund drive officially got under way last night amid speeches, entertainment, band music and a parade capped by the annual torch-lighting ceremony in front of City Hall.

The drive gained impetus today with the announcement by UF officials that $71,066 of the total $815,500 goal has already been contributed.

The announcement came at a UF report meeting at noon.

Last night's kickoff program, at 7 in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium was attended by an enthusiastic group made up of campaign officials and other volunteers. What it lacked in size was made up for with applause.

The Salvation Army Pontiac Citadel band supplied opening music, followed by introduction of officials.

HUMOROUS SKIT
A humorous skit by the UF Players group entitled — "Will the Meeting Please Come to Order" was introduced by Mrs. Robert C. Anderson.

Bruce J. Annett, general chairman of the 1964 campaign, and Mayor William H. Taylor, spoke briefly.

Participating in the parade were Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Pontiac Central High School's cheerleaders and band, campaign chairman, UF volunteers, the mayor and city commissioners.

CARRIES TORCH
Robert Wiggins, 49 Nevada, captain of the PCH track team and a cross-country runner, carried a torch to general campaign chairman Annett, who used it to light the huge UF torch which will burn during the drive.

Annett brought the brief ceremonies to a close with the following wish:

"May the light of this torch symbolize the burning desire of our community to be a better place in which to live and work. And may its glow reflect on all people who helped make this a reality by participating in the work of the Pontiac Area United Fund and its 55 affiliated agencies."

'LBJ Exposed'
Best Seller, but Dems Don't Mind

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Some 750 Republicans unwittingly contributed to the Brown County Democratic campaign fund last night.

Rushing into the arena to GOP presidential nominee J. Edgar Hoover, Republicans paused as they passed signs which read, "Exposed Johnson, $1."

William Peck, treasurer of the Brown County Democratic party, said about 750 persons bought a book — "My Hope for America," by President Johnson. The paper-back normally sells for 95 cents.

"We sure appreciate this Goldwater money," Peck said as he and Democratic friends headed home. "It's hard to get in Brown County."

Nobel Prize Given to King

Minister Third Negro
to Win Peace Award

OSLO (AP) — The 1964 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded today to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Georgia-born Negro who became a civil rights crusader in the United States.

"Martin Luther King has consistently asserted the principle of nonviolence," the Oslo Nobel Institute said in its statement announcing the award.

King, son of an Atlanta Baptist minister and himself an ordained minister, provided his fellow Negroes with a powerful, new weapon modeled and shaped from the teachings of India's Gandhi in the fight for Negro civil rights.

King's award, rumored for months, will amount to 273,000 Swedish kroner, ($53,223) this year. The cash prize and the Nobel gold medal and diploma will be handed to King at ceremonies in Oslo Dec. 10.

King was born in Atlanta, Ga. in 1929 and went to the Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa. He took his doctor's degree in theology at Boston University and served later as a Baptist minister.

LED BOYCOTT
In 1955 he was chosen to lead the Negro boycott of the Montgomery, Ala., city buses. Since then, he has served as a leader in the Negro fight for civil rights, as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King was made "man of the year" by the American news magazine, Time, in 1963 and this year he was made an honorary doctor at Yale University and was awarded the John F. Kennedy Prize by the Catholic Council for Cooperation between the Races in Chicago.

He was the 12th American to be awarded the peace prize. In addition, the American Friends Service Committee got it once.

King — the third Negro to be awarded the peace prize — will receive the award from Gunnar John in a solemn ceremony in the University of Oslo on Dec. 10, on the anniversary of Nobel's death.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, U.N. aide, was the first Negro to win the peace prize.

South African leader Albert Lutuli was the second.

The Nobel Committee never announces who else has been proposed for the prize. Neither does it, at the time of announcing the award, give the full reasons for the choice. That will be done by John when he holds the Nobel speech in December.

Bathroom Fall Puts Truman in Hospital

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman had planned to hold a news conference today, but instead the 80-year-old former president was in Research Hospital nursing two cracked ribs and a banged-up right eye.

He fell into a bathtub yesterday at the big Truman home in nearby Independence.

A severe cut over his right eye required stitches. His glasses shattered and sliced his right eyelid in several places. He had bruises on the right eyebrow and forehead.

Aides had said President Johnson will return to his ranch in central Texas to spend Friday and Saturday nights and then undertake two days of formal campaigning in his home state.

On the other hand, Cardinal Manager Johnny Keane's pitching is in fine shape.

NORMAL REST
Simmons, of course, will be pitching with his normal four-day rest. Should a seventh game be necessary, Keane has the choice of one of three pitchers — southpaw Ray Sadecki, right-hander Roger Craig or Bob Gibson, who struck out 13 in a brilliant winning performance in the fifth game Monday.

Ford's condition has been worried. The veteran southpaw, who aggravated an old heel injury in an opening game loss in St. Louis, hasn't worked since.

He did no throwing at all in New York's game at Yankee Stadium yesterday and must remain a doubtful quantity.

If Ford cannot make it, young Mel Stottlemyre undoubtedly will get the pitching nod in the seventh game, if needed. The 22-year-old rookie right-hander pitched a tough seven-inning Monday, but wasn't charged with the 5-2 10-inning defeat.

2ND FINE EFFORT
It was his second fine effort, coming four days after he had beaten the Cardinals 3-3 in the second game.

A defeat on top of their four straight losses to the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963 would mark the first time the Yankees have lost two postseason classics in succession since their back-to-back losses to

Cards Can Wrap Up Series

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The proud New York Yankees, straining to avert their second straight World Series disaster for the first time in 42 years, were hoping for a near miracle as they faced the front-running St. Louis Cardinals in the do-or-die sixth game today.

Dowry three games to two — just one away from elimination — Yankee Manager Yogi Berra pinned his hopes on the right arm of 25-year-old Jim Bouton in a return mound engagement with Cardinal veteran southpaw Curt Simmons.

The two looked up in the third game with Bouton the winner, 2-1, on Mickey Vernon's dramatic ninth-inning home run at Yankee Stadium. The blast came off reliever Barney Schultz' first pitch.

Isbell Aims at Florida

Hurricane Slams Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Isbell smashed homes and buildings in Cuba, drove thousands of Cuban families from their homes, and slashed savagely on toward Florida today with tornadoes possibly striking ahead.

The Miami Weather Bureau warned south Florida of the possibility of one or two tornadoes such as those that smacked out of Hurricane Hilda and killed 21 of 36 persons who died in that storm in Louisiana.

Havana radio broadcast a flurry of reports of houses and buildings collapsing under the battering force of 100-mile winds, torrential rain and raging tides.

Only one death, of a Cuban child, was mentioned in broadcasts monitored at Miami, but they indicated that Isbell finished a job started by Hilda in August — destruction of Cuba's second biggest money crop, tobacco.

Lashing rains not only struck at the tobacco fields of Pinar del Rio Province, but destroyed many government warehouses in which tobacco was stored.

Untold numbers of homes were reported smashed at Sando, Boca de Galafia, Limones, Las Martinas, Matlahore, La Colorado and other towns. The broadcast did not make clear whether the destruction was done by wind or the waters of many rivers and streams that surged out of their banks.

The broadcasts told of populations being evacuated from one town after another along the beaches and flooding rivers. Havana itself, the radio said, "will be battered by howling winds and torrential rains" before the hurricane is entirely through with Cuba.

The eye of the storm entered Pinar del Rio over Cape Corientes, emerged into the Gulf of Mexico at Julia Key, and whirled around on a track that would take it near the picturesque island city of Key West.

The Miami Weather bureau said the eye would pass through the 70-mile stretch of water between Key West and the Dry Tortugas, site of famous Ft. Jefferson, where Dr. Samuel Mudd was imprisoned for his part in treating John Wilkes Booth, President Abraham Lincoln's assassin.

LBJ Charges GOP Berates America

PARAMUS, N. J. (U) — President Johnson said today that control of the Republican party had fallen into the hands of "Men who want to repeal the present and veto the future."

Without mentioning his Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater by name, Johnson belabored him with vigor as he launched a two-day campaign swing into New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

His first speech was prepared for delivery at the Bergen Mall Shopping Center here which is in the state's Republican stronghold.

In the speech, Johnson said the American people are "Weary of those who preach that America is falling in the world and at home."

"The people are tired of being told that their character is in question, their moral fiber ridged with rot and decay."

WANT TO BE RESPECTED "The American people want leadership which respects them — not leadership which berates them."

"Above all else, I believe the American people know that we need not — and we cannot — live as a nation torn apart by factions."

"Good Republicans and good Democrats are good Americans first and last."

"This year good Americans of both parties are determined to put their country first. They intend to vote to preserve the traditions of our country."

Following his speech here, Johnson moves into Pennsylvania for a speech at a Democratic rally at the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Airport in which he put heavy stress on bread-and-butter issues.

In his speech at the shopping center here, Johnson said the nation's traditional two-party system "dangles by a slim thread when the faction that controls one party wants to renege the policies that have built our progress step by step over 30 years."

But, Johnson went on, "I do not believe responsible Republicans are going to let control of their party rest for very long with men who want to repeal the present and veto the future."

Stressing national unity, as he so often does, Johnson said, "Americans do not want their land divided. They do not want region set against region, religion turned against religion, race incited against race."

Keego Will Open Bids on Municipal Building

The Keego Harbor City Council will open construction bids on a new municipal building tomorrow morning.

Bids on the work, expected to cost about $45,000, will be accepted at the City Hall at 10 a.m.

Jail City Man in Car Deaths

A 2½- to 15-year prison term was ordered yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court for a Pontiac man found guilty of manslaughter in the traffic death of three friends.

Sentenced to the state prison at Jackson by Judge Frederick C. Ziemi was Donald R. Adkins, 34, of 60 Monterey. He had been found guilty by Judge Ziemi on Sept. 18.

Adkins was the driver of a car that smashed into the rear of another auto at West Huron and Franklin Boulevard early in the morning of March 13.

The impact killed Adkins' passenger, Robert J. Gipson, 22, of 8230 Cooley, White Lake Township, and the occupants of the other car, Jessie Henderson, 52, of 5763 Pickbourne, and his son Jerry J., 30, of 311 Grand Traverse, both of Commerce Township.

The four had been drinking together earlier in the evening, according to police. Adkins was following Henderson's car when it stopped for a red light at the intersection.

Differences Arise Over Profit Sharing

UAW, AMC Not Apart on Economics

DETROIT (AP) — Moving toward a strike deadline less than 48 hours away, American Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers had reached today on major economic issues.

But on the No. 1 question they were poles apart, that is: Will their new contract carry for-profit sharing in the auto industry's only profit-sharing plan?

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president who proposed and got profit sharing in 1961, told newsmen he feels "profit sharing is still dead" so far as any new contract is concerned.

Douglas Fraser, the UAW's American Motors department chief, said: "We think it is still alive. We'll know by Thursday midnight."

PARALLEL PACTS Economic settlements parallel those in national contracts already reached by the UAW with the automotive big three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

AMC says the union is demanding the same money package it got from the big three plus profit sharing. It also says the union is unwilling to gamble possible wage gains in event of a profitless year.

While conceding AMC workers would get more than others in high profit years, the union says it is willing to risk losing a new week's vacation and two added holidays in a poor year. It estimated this would amount in company costs to what it agreed to forego in 1961 if profits were nonexistent.

The UAW has threatened to call out its 25,000 AMC production workers at midnight Thursday if there is no new national contract by that time.

STRIKE THREAT This strike threat came on top of a nationwide walkout at General Motors plants 20 days ago, which still has the world's No. 1 auto maker shut down. The strike stems from local-level issues.

In addition, some 700 members of the Pattern Makers League (AFL-CIO) have struck at Ford plants in Detroit and Cleveland, Ohio.

At Detroit there has been no interruption at Ford, with UAW members crossing through pattern-maker pickets. At Cleveland, reluctant UAW members got orders from international headquarters Tuesday to begin crossing over.

But the UAW also told Cleveland members to perform no work normally handled by pattern makers or members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, also on strike there at two engine plants and a foundry.

In striking GM, the union told members to remain out until local-level working agreements, which supplement the national contract, are worked out.

Indict Ex-Governor in Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Former Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts has been indicted for allegedly conspiring to arrange a bribe.

The 53-year-old lawyer, who was governor from 1955 to 1959, was accused of conspiring with four members of the governor's council in 1960 to arrange payment of a bribe to gain reappointment of Anthony Dinatale as state commissioner of public works.

The four councilors also were indicted yesterday in the closing minutes of the life of a special grand jury that has returned more than 150 indictments against 40 persons, most of them present or former state officials, and 10 corporations. The jury was in session 8½ months.

One of the 40 indicted has been acquitted.

Furcolo said the charge against him was "obviously political" since it was brought three weeks before the election.

AIM OF PROBE The aim of the investigation by the Massachusetts Crime Commission, which compiled the evidence presented to the grand jury, "was to get something on at any cost," Furcolo said.

Justice Chief G. Joseph Tauro of the Massachusetts Superior Court promised that civil sessions would be closed down if necessary to provide judges for speedy trials.

Furcolo first entered public life in 1948 when he was elected to Congress at the age of 37. He was reelected in 1950 but resigned during 1962 to accept appointment as state treasurer. Elected to a full two-year term in that post in the 1952 election, Furcolo then tried for the U.S. Senate. He was defeated by Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

After his two terms as Massachusetts governor, Furcolo tried again for the Senate but failed to win the Democratic nomination.

Furcolo returned to private law practice after his 1960 defeat. His wife, Katherine, died early this year of cancer.

Oxford Backs Opposition of Dump Plan

The Oxford Village Council has put itself on record as willing to join hands with other organizations in totally opposing the grand jury's "ridiculous" statement, a charge born of guilt and desperation.

A response came quickly from the Democrats in Washington. Sam Brightman, deputy national Democratic chairman, called the charge a "ridiculous statement, a charge born of guilt and desperation."

Kilgore explained the resolution as meaning that the council is opposed to the project as it was proposed by the DMAPPC.

He added that "if any governmental service or other organization wishes to pass a resolution expressing objection to this thing, the village is willing to support it."

Bloomfield Twp. Sets School-Safety Program

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A program to protect children at busy school crossings is being developed by township officials. The township board has authorized Supervisor Homer Case to begin negotiations with schools in need of additional safety devices.

The move comes at the end of a long battle with the Oakland County Road Commission, which has stalled installation of lights at schools in the township would be against its policy.

The township will pay for traffic lights at the crossings if the school will hire a guard, the board has decided.

Case now is determining which schools are most in need of the safety devices.

WORKING TWO YEARS "Mr. Case has been working on this for two years and we've gotten no results," Township Clerk Mrs. Deloria V. Little said.

Township officials decided to stop arguing and start protecting children, she said.

The board also has set a policy regarding construction of sidewalks in front of schools. It will pay for two-thirds of any such project if the school pays for the other third.

In other board action, the township's swimming pool ordinance was amended to require that pools be enclosed within 4-foot-high walls or fences. Walls shall be of brick or masonry construction and fences chain link or its equivalent.

SWIMMING POOLS

Swimming pools cannot be built within 16 feet of rear or side lot lines or within public easements. They also must be at least 20 feet from a street right-of-way, except in the case of side streets where the limitation is 25 feet.

The board upheld a planning commission decision in denying a rezoning request for property on the northeast corner of Woodward and Hickory Grove.

Dr. Clark D. Matthews, Dr. James A. Reed and Glen T. Frost had sought to have 22 acres changed from single-family residence to multiple residence zoning to allow construction of 30 apartment units.

A similar request for a triangle of property bounded by Telegraph, 14 Mile and Bingham was tabled for further study. The two parcels containing some 24 acres are owned by Helen Traumer and Betty T. Beatty.

Mrs. Carl E. Huyette Memorial service for Mrs. Carl E. (Ruth H.) Huyette, 84, of 3280 Bloomcrest, Bloomfield Township, will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cranbrook. Graveside service and burial will be in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Clinton, N.Y.

Mrs. Huyette died yesterday after a short illness. She was a member of the Louisiana St. Clair Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Bloomfield, Beacon Hill, N.J. and Capital divisions of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

She also belonged to the Washington, D.C. Club, the Founders & Patriots Society and the Michigan Weaver Guild Society. Her body is at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. John E. Clutch, Mrs. C. Ashmead Biddulph, both of Summit, N.J., and Mrs. John C. L. Cowen of Bloomfield Hills; and a sister.

John Mouradian Service for John Mouradian, 77, of 2100 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Township, was to be held at 3 p.m. today at the C. J. Goodhardt Funeral Home, Keego Harbor.

A retired Illinois Foundry employee, Mr. Mouradian died Sunday.

Income Tax Proposed for Pontiac

The city's need for added revenue leaves only two alternatives, an income tax or a voter-approved hike in the property tax limitation, he explained.

Taylor said that five other Michigan cities, including Detroit and Hamtramck who already have income levies, are moving toward similar income tax proposals.

These are Saginaw, Muskegon, Kalamazoo Heights, Jackson and Lansing.

SHIFT FORWARD

Using income as the basis for determining a revenue tax was described as a major shift forward and a more equitable tax source.

The mayor said that Pontiac citizens would see the "stability" of requiring nonresidents working in the city to participate in the financing of city government.

Taylor promised citizens the facts on financial problems faced by the city. Informally, the commission has directed the city manager to compile a report on the city's financial condition by Oct. 30.

Since taking office last April, the seven-member commission has repeatedly cited Pontiac's need for added revenue.

EFFECTIVE DATE

The mayor's "crossroads" sign also pointed out that the commission must act now if an income tax is to be effective in 1965.

Should the commission approve the income tax levy after next week's public hearing, city elections would have until Dec. 15 to file referendum petitions.

Such petitions must have 10 per cent of the total vote in the immediate past municipal election or 1,450 signatures, according to figures from the city clerk's office.

If a referendum is called for, the commission must set the election for some time between Feb. 1 and March 30, 1965.

An election would delay the effective date of any income tax ordinance from Jan. 1 to July 1.

3 Red Spacemen in Debriefing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's three space heroes were debriefed with medical and scientific experts today as Moscow prepared a weekend welcome for them.

The three were checked over and questioned at a base east of Moscow where they were flown Tuesday after their 16-orbit flight aboard the spaceship Voskhod.

Informants said they would be brought to the Soviet capital Saturday or Sunday for a celebration in Red Square.

Premier Khrushchev's cabinet and other top Soviet officials already have hailed the world's first flight of a three-man space vehicle. Soviet scientists echoed the praise, ignoring speculation that the flight may have ended sooner than intended.

ANOTHER DAY

The government newspaper Izvestia said, however, that the cosmonauts had asked permission to stay up another day and were refused.

When the Voskhod blasted off Monday from a site near Baykonur, 1,250 miles southeast of Moscow, the Russians billed it as a "long flight."

Soviet officials said better, more powerful rockets made possible the 16-orbit flight by pilot Vladimir Komarov, scientist Konstantin Feoktistov and Dr. Boris Yegorov.

"The program of scientific research designed for 24 hours of flight was accomplished in full," an official announcement said.

EVERY VICTORY

"Every victory of the Soviet people in space shows convincingly that Soviet science is in the van of world scientific thought," the Kremlin declared.

This was an obvious reference to Russia's space lead over the United States, which hopes to orbit a two-man capsule next year and to launch a manned laboratory on the order of the Voskhod in 1967 or early 1968.

A Soviet delegate to a United Nations outer space committee said knowledge gained from the Voskhod flight would be made available to all mankind. Yuri M. Voronov made the statement at U.N. headquarters in New York after U.S. delegate Leonard C. Meeker congratulated the Soviets and said all nations looked forward to learning more about the flight.

Kuo Mo-Jo, president of Red China's Academy of Sciences, sent congratulations to the Soviet Science Academy. The Communist party organ Pravda complained, however, that only one Peking newspaper mentioned the space feat and it devoted only 20 lines to the event.

BATH, England (UPI) — It was like waiting for the other shoe to drop, and then finding out the upstairs neighbor was a centipede.

Landlord Richard Courtis was counting the chimings from the local abbey clock at midnight.

They struck 10, 11, 12 and 13, 14, 15 . . . 27, 28, 29 . . . 109, 110.

He quit counting at 318.

A police constable listened for 21 minutes before calling the sexton to silence the town's alarming clock.

Marine Becomes First U.S. Gold Medalist at 10,000 Meters

Lt. Billy Mills Breaks Record in Big Upset

Favored Ron Clarke Places 3rd, Injury Slows Teen-Ager

TOKYO (AP) — Lt. Billy Mills, a courageous Marine from Coffeyville, Kan., turned in one of the greatest upsets in the history of the Olympic Games Wednesday when he sprinted away from a field that included world record-holder Ron Clarke and won the 10,000-meter run.

The 26-year-old crew-cut marine first lieutenant was timed in an Olympic record 28:24.4 as he scored the United States' first victory ever at the distance, the first in any long distance race since 1908 and provided the biggest shock since Horace Ashenfelter won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 1929. The triumph pushed the U.S. harvest of Olympic hardware to 11, including three gold, five silver and three bronze medals.

STAYED CLOSE — Mills, considered far out of his class against one of the finest 10,000-meter fields ever assembled, stayed with the leaders all the way, took the lead to stay on the 200 lap of the six-mile plus test of courage and endurance, then sprinted home, winning by about four yards.

In the vast confusion surrounding the finish, Clarke, the Australian world recordholder, was believed to have finished second, but the officials refused to place him third behind Tunisia's virtually unknown Mohamed Gammoudi.

FAR BACK — Lindgren, however, was badly hobbled by an ankle he twisted just two days earlier in practice. He competed, but finished far back in the pack. Mills, on the other hand, joined the leaders immediately and stayed there. Through the various maneuvers, he stayed close and held the lead at one time or another five times. It was on the 20th lap that he went ahead to stay and hustled home to the cheers of nearly 80,000 people in the excellent time of 28:24.4 for the last mile.

The first big disappointment came in the javelin where Norway's world record holder, Perje Pedersen, failed to make the finals. The event was won by Paul Nevala, a Finn, with a throw of 271 feet, 2 1/2 inches. Gergely Kulcsar of Hungary was second and Yan Loris of Russia third.

WORLD RECORD — England's Mary Rand broke the world record with a leap of 22 feet, 2 1/4 inches in winning the women's broad jump. Irna Kirszenstet of Poland was second and Tatjana Schelenkova of Russia, whose record Miss Rand broke, third.

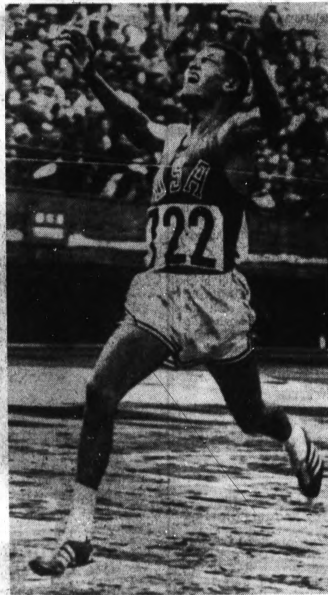

The United States was not expected to place in either event.

Yankee runners, however, placed a maximum complement of three in two other track semifinals, the 100 meters and the 400 meter hurdles.

Bob Hayes, the Florida A&M flash; Trenton Jackson of Rochester, N.Y., and Mel Pender, a stocky Army sergeant from Atlanta, Ga., went through two rounds of 100 meter trials, with Hayes, best through steady drizzle a 10.3, well off his best performance of 10.1.

RACE CRAWLER — Farmington, Mich.; Billy Hardin, Baton Rouge, La., whose father was the event in the 1936 Games and Jay Luck, a Yale graduate, qualified for the finals in the 400-meter hurdles, with Luck's time of 58.8 seconds the best among the Americans.

The U.S. basketball team, which has never lost in Olympic competition, racked up an 83-28 rout of little Uruguay, its fourth straight in Tokyo.

OLYMPIC UPSET — Marine Lt. Billy Mills of Coffeyville, Kan., throws his arms into the air as he hits the finish line to win a gold medal for the United States in the Olympic 10,000-meter run in Tokyo. Mills posted a time of 28 minutes, 24.4 seconds and became the first American to win the Olympic event.

Doctors Check Cyclists for Use of Stimulants

TOKYO (AP) — For the first time in Olympic history, medical tests to check for use of forbidden stimulants were taken Wednesday on cyclists competing in the team time trial race.

The issue of doping, a hot argument in professional sports, was brought into Olympic action by a motion of the International Cyclist Federation suggesting that "appropriate measures should be taken to detect whether Olympic cyclists are subject to unlawful drugs before a race."

Oklahoma Lineman Takes AP Award — Norman, Okla. (AP) — "I'd feel lots better if we had won the game," said Oklahoma University's Carl McAdams when asked how it felt to be named The Associated Press' Lineman of the Week.

McAdams, 6-foot-3, 215-pound center-linebacker, referred to the Sooners' 27-7 loss to Texas last Saturday.

When you find a tall quarterback who can pass, he's an asset to any football team. When you find the rare one who can pass, fake expertly and call a game that confuses the opposition, he's a prize beyond value. When a quarterback does that against a team that upset major opponents in its last two games — he's Steve Tensi.

Tensi, the 6-foot-5 Florida State senior quarterback did all those things against Kentucky last Saturday and as a result he was named The Associated Press Back of the Week today.

Former Piston Hits 31 in Baltimore Conquest — MONTGOMERY, N.Y. (AP) — Doc Osl scored 31 points Tuesday night as the Baltimore Bullets closed out their NBA exhibition season with a 116-109 victory over the New York Knicks.

The defeat mapped a four-game winning streak for the Knicks in pre-season play. They wound up with a 4-3 record. Baltimore won nine exhibitions and lost six.

Initial Victory for Montreal

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that he's solidly entrenched as goalkeeper for the Montreal Canadiens, Charlie Hodge says he's more jittery than ever.

"Yes, I'm more nervous than I was last year," the little goalie admitted Tuesday night after blanking the New York Rangers 3-0 as the Canadiens opened defense of their National Hockey League regular season championship.

"When I was called up from Quebec early last season after Gump Worsley got hurt, I had nothing to lose and everything to gain. Now it's the other way around. The only way this could be better than last year would be if we won the Stanley Cup."

VEZINA TROPHY — The 31-year-old veteran of 12 professional campaigns spent part of five seasons with the Canadiens but only won a regular job a year ago. He played in 62 games, led the league with eight shutouts and captured the Vezina Trophy as the NHL's best netminder with a goals against mark of 2.26 per game.

The 5-foot-6, 150-pound Hodge was called upon to make only 14 saves while his teammates peppered New York's Marcel Paille with 48 shots. It was the only NHL game and left the Canadiens and Rangers tied for first in the 2-day-old season with two points apiece.

Claude Provost put Montreal in the lead midway through the opening period with a 20-foot backhand and scored a goal early in the second period when he tipped in Jacques Laperriere's long shot with New York two men short. John Ferguson added a power play late in the game.

SKATING BETTER — "We should be improved over last year," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake. "In training camp we had four or five guys skating better than last year."

"We have pretty much the same team, although we lost Boom Boom Geoffroy. You can't lose a player like that and not feel it."

"But we have four newcomers forward: Yvan Cournoyer and Claude Larose and defensemen Ted Harris and Jim Roberts — and they're all hard workers. Cournoyer should be a pretty good replacement for Geoffroy."

"He's only a kid but he can really put the puck in the net." Boston is in Chicago in the only action tonight.

Pro-Am Tourney in Second Round — LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A field of 104 pros and 312 amateurs headed into the second round of the 36-hole pro-am tournament at the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament today, led by 23-year-old Randy Glover.

The pros take over exclusively on Thursday, competing for $70,000 prize money as the main event of the tournament gets under way.

Glover, a slick fellow from Florence, S.C., finished the first round Tuesday with a 6-under-par 32-34-66.

The doctors also inspected the bags each cyclist was carrying in the race and confiscated, as one of the doctors said, "mysterious looking pills" to be examined in a laboratory.

Record Erased in Utah — BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — A jubilant Craig Breedlove has regained the title as the fastest man on wheels and obviously was determined today to keep it as long as possible.

For one thing, the 29-year-old Los Angeles speedster said he would try to improve on his land speed record of 468.72 miles per hour, set Tuesday in his jet-powered car "Spirit of America."

For another, he said he had reserved the track at these western Utah salt flats until Oct. 26 and plans to keep it every minute of that time.

WEATHER FACTOR — It's possible winter weather could set in by that time, forcing other contenders to wait until next year. The salt flats is one of the few places in the world that are suitable for record speed runs.

Even if Breedlove can keep the record for only two weeks, that will be longer than the past two record holders—Art Arons of Akron, Ohio, and Tom Green of Wheaton, Ill.

Arons, who had the old record of 434.02 m.p.h., said Tuesday he is confident he can beat Breedlove's mark. He has another reservation for the flats for Nov. 8 but wants to come sooner.

Breedlove, who set one land speed record last year, sped across the salt flats Tuesday in times of 42:59 and 49:13 in two runs over the one-mile track. The record time was computed from total time and distance of both runs.

St. Louis' Fences Please Sluggers

BALTIMORE (AP) — What's the success secret of the Baltimore Colts is the top question around the National Football League. The answer in a nutshell seems simple: Hit harder.

"That doesn't sound like much of an explanation until you probe a little deeper. Perhaps Charley Johnson, quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals, clarified it best after the Colts gave the Cards their first defeat Monday night, by a 47-27 score that might have been worse."

NOT ENOUGH — "We gave a 100 per cent effort out there," said Johnson. "But a 100 per cent effort is just not good enough to win in this league."

"The Colts proved that. They were giving it at least a 110 per cent effort."

Bobby Boyd, defensive half-back for the Colts, confirmed the attitude.

"We just wanted to out-tackle and out-block them," Boyd said. "We wanted to hit people and did."

That word "hit" kept popping up from both sides.

"Did you notice how the game was hitting out there?" Coach Don Shula of the Colts kept asking interviewers.

IT WORKED — "We figured they were coming after us right at the start."

So we went in with the idea of hitting hard and quick."

Coach Wally Lemm of the Cardinals agreed it worked. "They outgassed us in the first half in offensive and defensive line charges," he said.

"That's what they pay you for, to hit people," said Steve Stonebreaker, Col. linebacker. "There are plenty of guys on our club hitting."

Bobby Joe Conrad, Cardinal flanker back, attested to the Colt urge.

After catching a pass in the first quarter, Conrad related: "Boyd hit me from the back. Then a second guy Bill Pellington hit me and then a third guy Jerry Logan and the ball popped up."

SECOND TD — Stonebreaker recovered the fumble and it set up the second Colt touchdown.

"In football there's just no way you can win without wanting to hit," Boyd expanded on the theme. "You either block or tackle with all the power your body can command or you just don't win."

The Colts may have learned the lesson the hard way. When they lost their first game 34-24 at Minnesota, their blocking and tackling came in for severe castigation.

Since then, they have blasted through Green Bay, Chicago, Los Angeles and St. Louis. Same players, just hitting harder.

INDIANS HEAR SEATTLE PLEA — SEATTLE (AP) — City and county leaders say they are legally stymied from spending $800,000 to entice the Cleveland Indians here, but late Tuesday a group of businessmen indicated it might raise the money.

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce said business leaders telephoned Gabe Paul, president of the American League baseball team, to ask him not to rule out Seattle.

The chamber spokesman reported the businessmen, about 10 strong, feel certain they can raise the money. The $800,000 is considered necessary to enlarge Sick's Stadium to accommodate 25,000 persons.

Then he added: "But when I get through with him, there won't be any challenges left around for me."

Clay said it would be the greatest fight of all time — and cheap too. Only $500 single. Top price for seats at the Miami Beach fight was $250.

BOWLING

Huron Cleaners and Andy's Service will attempt to disassociate themselves tonight when the Huron Bowl Wednesday night "A" League resumes action.

The former took six points from the servicemen last week as Tony Ledesma bowled 698 and now are tied for first place.

Also last Wednesday night at Huron, the Fisher Body Office League listed a 225-225-235 — 686 for Norm Keeley and a 162 triplicate for Ray Vancannon.

Two State 11s on Unbeaten Gridiron List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only two teams are unbeaten in Michigan collegiate football — Albion and Michigan.

Coach Morley Foster's Albion team has a 4-0 record and may have fairly smooth sailing in its quest for an outright MIAA championship. Only Olivet (3-1) appears to pose any threat after the Britons defeated Kalamazoo last Saturday.

Michigan, fifth-ranked in the latest AP poll, is 3-0 after upending Michigan State.

U-M Crew Works on Ground Attack

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Wolverines' offense concentrated on its ground game Tuesday while the defense practiced against Saturday opponent Purdue's long pass pattern.

The offensive unit worked on sharpening up its handoff plays and sweeps around end.

Defensive halfback John Rowser, hobbled three weeks by a leg injury, twisted the injured leg while working out to test its soundness. The extent of the injury has not been determined.

Indiana Team Worries MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Don't look at the scores but the statistics, Michigan State coaches are warning their players in advance of Saturday's football game with Indiana.

The Hoosiers have lost three straight and are cellar-dwellers in the Big Ten. But two of the games have been lost by a single point each—14-13 to Northwestern and 21-20 to Iowa last Saturday. Powerhouse Ohio State won 17-9 over the Hoosiers.

Three Patriots Hurt in Two-Car Collision

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Three defensive backs for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League were injured early today in a two-car collision.

Ron Hall and Chuck Shonta, both 26, and Dick Felt, 27, were released from Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after treatment for cuts and bruises.

Soccer Grows at Prep Level

Barons, Cranbrook Set Varsity Match

Bloomfield Hills and Cranbrook will engage in an apparent first for Michigan High School athletics this afternoon at the Hills Junior High School soccer field.

The two soccer teams will clash at 4 p.m. in what is believed to be the first inter-scholastic varsity match between two state schools.

Bloomfield Hills is competing at the varsity level for the first time and already has a win and tie against Canada's handles Cranbrook's team.

Cranbrook has competed for several years against schools in Canada and in other states. The Cranes this year are 3-0-1, after losing to their alumni.

Chet Schultz coaches the Barons' eleven and Bob Ussell handles Cranbrook's team.

The sport is also catching on at Gross Pointe University School, Hamtramck's Emmanuel Conception and Detroit Country Day. Some competition has previously been staged at a reserve team level.

Falcons Host to Clawson

Rochester Favored in O-A Tilt

Rochester's unbeaten record in the Oakland A. League will be at stake tonight when it plays host to Clawson in a rescheduled contest.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday but was advanced due to the county teachers' meetings tomorrow and Friday.

O-A contests — Warren Cusino at Lake Orion, Madison at Avondale and Troy at Warren Fitzgerald — will be Friday night.

Clawson earned its first win of the season and moved into a four-way tie for fourth place by blanking Lake Orion last week.

FAVORITES

The Falcons will be favored based on their 2-0-1 loop log, a 26-13 victory over Madison and a 6-6 tie with Fitzgerald — both of those teams having beaten Clawson.

The Avondale contest will mark Frank Crowell's return.

The former Yellow Jacket mentor left for the Madison coaching reins this past summer. Both teams are 1-2, and deadlocked with Clawson and Cusino.

Under coach Dick Bye, Avondale has been inconsistent on both offense and defense. Madison has slumped after being the pre-season pick to win the title.

The Troy (3-0) trip to Fitzgerald (2-0-1) will pit the loop's top offense against its best defense. Cusino will attempt to

'Big O' Paces Royals

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Oscar Robertson dumped in 29 points and led the Cincinnati Royals to their 12th NBA exhibition victory Tuesday night, a 121-113 decision over the St. Louis Hawks.

Cliff Hagen sparked a late spurt by the Hawks, who narrowed the score to 101-98 in the closing minutes.
